THE TURF SEASON REVIEWED.

SUCCESS AT SHEEPSHEAD, SARATOGA AND THE GUT.

Some Costly Errors—A Boom On at the Linden Track—Detroit Cricketers Make a Poor Stand Against the Australians—Football Notes and General Sporting Gossip.

The season of 1893 is not likely to be remembered with feelings of pride by many of the leading racing officials, who by their selfishness and disregard of the true interests of the turf have worked great injury to everybody in any way associated with the breeding and racing of thoroughbreds, says The New York Tribune, and continues:

The opening meeting at Gravesend was highly successful financially, although the defeat of Lamplighter in the handicap caused a lot of scandal that had its effect at the very beginning of what promised to be the greatest season in the history of the American turf. The race furnished a theme for comment every time the horse's name was mentioned in a group of racegoers or bettors. The general opinion is that Lamplighter should have won the race without a severe struggle.

The meeting at Westchester that followed had a determined opposition from the North Bergen Association. The meeting showed the effects of this opposition in the number of bookmakers who drew for stands and the attendance. No matter how attractive a card was offered, thousands of persons journeyed to the Jersey hilltop, where they could bet on the races at Westchester, as well as the ones that were being run in their presence. It made little difference to racegoers how much the purses raced for amounted to, as the crowds were as large at North Bergen, where the purses averaged $500, as at Westchester, where the purses were $1000.

Success at Sheepshead Bay.

The same state of affairs existed at the beginning of the meeting at Sheepshead Bay. The stewards of the meeting at that track declined to be dictated to by some persons who wanted to accomplish their own ends to the detriment of the turf. The club, through its officials, determined to conduct its meeting on a liberal basis, and was not drawn into any controversies with conflicting associations. The officials of the club said: "If we cannot give racing that will attract the public, we would better haul down our flag." Arrangements satisfactory to the Western Union Telegraph Company and the club were made so that the meeting was a success.

The first serious dissension among turf officials took place at the Sheepshead Bay meeting. John Hunter, who is the president of the Board of Control, was one of the stewards of the meeting. Mr. Hunter and his associates in the stewards' box disagreed about a technicality in the placing of a horse at the post. His associates overruled him. He became intensely angry and left the box. Mr. Hunter sent in his resignation as a steward, which was accepted, and J. R. Keene was selected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Hunter desired to resign his club membership, but his friends persuaded him to remain.

Beginning of the Trouble.

This was the beginning of the dissensions which have done so much to injure racing in the eyes of the public. The Monmouth Park Racing Association was re-organized under a new management. It was decided to give 46 days' racing. The Brighton Beach Racing Association raced in opposition to the Monmouth for the first 30 days of the meeting. The program at Monmouth Park was not satisfactory to horse owners and trainers, so that they refused to enter their horses. Many of the races were severely criticized by the press, so that before the meeting was many days old the officials were in trouble, as they could not agree on a policy that would make the meeting a success. The men who could assist them they repelled, and listened to the voices of persons who had nothing to lose, no matter if the Monmouth meeting was a complete failure. The expulsion of two turf-writers was the next mistake of the officials, so that many persons firmly believed the meeting would not be finished. The management, however, was in the hands of men who do not give up easily, and the meeting was continued until the program was run out to the last race.

In the meantime the North Bergen officials were racing at the Saratoga track. The programs were attractive, so that large fields of good horses contested for the stakes and purses.

Criticism of the racing was invited, and suspicious riding and in-and-out running were promptly investigated. Many turfmen who visited the Springs attended the races, and were greatly pleased with the manner in which the racing was conducted. The attendance was large, and the leaders of society who were at Saratoga gave aid by their presence to the success of the meeting. There were no dissensions, so that when the flags were hauled down for the season the Saratoga meeting of 1893 went on record as the most successful in its history.

The management returned to the North Bergen track stronger than ever before, and well prepared to give battle to the persons who affected to despise their efforts to come to the front as a factor in the councils of the racing associations in the neighborhood of this city.

The Leading Jockey Club of America.

To return to Monmouth Park and its officials—the Coney Island Jockey Club, through the action of the stewards of the club, refused to abide by the action of the Monmouth Park officials in ruling off turf-writers. There were some stirring scenes in the meetings held by the Board of Control. J. G. K. Lawrence resigned from the Board of Control, and the Coney Island Jockey Club became an independent association. The action of the club received the approbation of the public, and the club regained its position as the leading jockey club of the country by its action. The stewards met the opposition of the North Bergen track manfully. They made their racing attractive and furnished high-class sport for the patrons of the track. In spite of the strong opposition of North Bergen the fall meeting was a success in every feature, as the patrons of racing rallied to the club's assistance, and the glowing accounts of first-class sport written by the leading turf-writers caused thousands of persons to visit the track.

The North Bergen Association's meeting was also a success, and all thinking persons at once realized that the trouble of the summer was caused by the mistakes of the racing officials who control the so-called big tracks. The sale of the Rancocas Stable furnished President Walbaum an excellent chance to force the North Bergen track to the front and to attract the attention of the lovers of high-class racing. Mr. Walbaum purchased Lamplighter for $20,000 and raced him over the tracks of the associations that were racing in opposition to North Bergen. The match between Tammany and Lamplighter was one of the sensational races of the year. It attracted thousands of persons to North Bergen and gave the association just what the management wanted, a reputation for fairness and a desire to furnish first-class sport. The turf officials who have made mistakes see the errors made as plainly as anybody, and the fact that errors were made may prove a blessing in disguise.

A strong and determined effort is being made to reconcile the discordant elements in the councils of the turf and to extend the olive branch of peace over the warring factions. It is likely that harmony will reign supreme before many days and that a great effort will be made by the united friends of the turf to save it from demoralization. It will require prompt action to repair the damage of the season just ended. There should be no holding back or sulking by any person interested in the welfare of the turf. The dignity of any individual should not stand in the way of reform and an entirely new system of conducting racing. The mistakes of the last two seasons have given strength and variety to the North Bergen Association, so that it is likely that a representative from the Hill will have a vote in the affairs of the turf before the season of 1894 begins.

Successful Sport at Linden.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The meeting at Linden Park began Monday, with the prospect of being the most profitable meeting of the season, if the first three days' standard is kept up until the end. The crowd consists of a mixture from all the different classes of turfmen. There are about 75 books in line to attend to the thousands of persons anxious to bet their money on the many sure things tipped to win the races. The officials of the more pretentious racing associations present realized what harmony between racing associations can do to benefit the sport. There are no conflicts to decrease the attendance and to cause dissatisfaction in the betting. To-day's results were:

First race, 5 furlongs—Token 1, Fatality 2, Little Pirate 3. Time 1.02.

Second race, 1 mile—Candiebra 1, Correction 2, Beansy 3. Time 1.42.

THE FOOTBALL FIELD.

Trinity Will Not Force Their Protest Against Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Oct. 18.—The intermediate team of the Hamiltons are scheduled to play at London on Saturday, but it has been decided to default and strengthen the senior and junior fifteens. The juniors will play London II. at London Saturday.

Secretary Ripley says Trinity has admitted that they defaulted on Saturday and the Hamiltons will play Trinity a friendly game at Toronto on Saturday. The match will be started at 1.30, and at the conclusion of it the teams will be driven to Rosedale to witness the Toronto-Osgoode match.

The seniors will play their next senior match with the winner of the Varsity-Queen's series on Nov. 14. If Queen's wins the match will be played at Kingston, otherwise it will take place here.

S.P.C. Football Men Make a Good Start.

The football season was opened on the grounds of St. Michael's College yesterday afternoon, the college team playing a tie with the New Forts.

In the first half the visitors had everything their own way, the college forwards being especially weak, while the brunt of the battle fell on the stalwart backs, O'Brien and Roach, the New Forts succeeding at last in scoring one goal.

The second half opened up with a change on the college side, Roach going to centre forward and Lundy, who hitherto was playing half, going back. The result of the change was at once evident. The college forwards began to make magnificent rushes, but failed to score until McDonagh, with a beautiful shot from centre, succeeded in tieing the score. The play of Lundy, Roach and Stammers was especially noteworthy.

The Lornes Have Protested.

The Lornes have protested their match of last Saturday with St. Catharines for three reasons, viz.: 1. The grounds were not of the regulation size; 2. The goal posts were not of proper height; 3. Interference of spectators. The matter will come before the Union Executive to-day.

The Lornes practice this afternoon. As they play Upper Canada College Friday at 4.30 every member is expected to turn out.

Notes of the Kickers.

The Torontos are the favorites for their match with Osgoode Hall on Saturday at Rosedale.

Varsity and Gore Vale play their Senior Association League match on the Lawn, starting at 4 p.m. to-day.

Hamilton having defaulted in the International series, London goes into the semi-final round and will play St. Catharines on Oct. 28.

Art Sippi, who played baseball in the Southern League last spring, is one of the best wing men in London's intermediate football team.

There will be quite an exodus of Toronto Rugby men to Kingston on Saturday. Varsity senior and junior teams and Toronto's intermediate fifteen are scheduled to play in the Limestone City.

Captain Flint of the Chicago University Football Club told a Torontonian in the Windy City last week that his team would perhaps take an Eastern trip this fall and would like to meet Osgoode Hall in both American college and Canadian contests. Flint was one of Princeton's star half-backs two years ago.

DETROIT'S POOR CRICKET.

Australians Put the 18 Out For 74—Kenny's Good Work.

DETROIT, Oct. 18.—The D.A.C. 18 made a poor stand against the Australian 11 in the game started here to-day. Winning the toss the local men were all out for 74. Kenny, Horsted and Atkinson of Chatham assisted Detroit.

Kenny had a hand in all five of the Australians wickets taken, fielding the ball on which Gregory was run out. His three wickets cost 46 runs. Stumps were drawn at 5 o'clock, with Bruce and Graham still at bat. The score:

The Toronto Quoiter Beaten.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 18.—Frank Claus, quoiting champion of Ontario, and George Wilkinson of Toronto pitched a match here to-day for $100 a side. The conditions were best of three games of 31, 61 and 41 points respectively. Claus won the first game by 31 to 19 and the second by 61 to 24.

Sporting Notes.

Shadow Maber, the Australian, knocked out Tom Beaver of Wisconsin in two rounds at Fargo, N.D., Tuesday.

For 1895 the American Derby, which attracted interest last June on account of the Eastern representatives, will be worth $25,000.

The Wanderers will hold a special club run to Oshawa on Saturday, leaving the club rooms at 2.30 p.m. It will be their last trip of the season.

Dr. W. W. Andrus, well known on the baseball diamond here a few years ago, is now a flourishing physician out in Montana, located in a town called Billings.

Eastern papers are evidently raising an unnecessary ruction over the fact that President Sheppard has not yet turned over the lacrosse trophy to the champion Capitals. Ottawa will doubtless get her prize before long.

The fight between Dan Hurley of Niagara Falls and John L. Sullivan of Buffalo, light-weights, for $500 at Bradford, Pa., was stopped by the police in the first round. The fight was wicked and bloody while it lasted, and Hurley had slightly the best of it when Chief of Police Stanton and his men stopped it.

The entertainment to be given by the Toronto Bicycle Club on Monday next in Association Hall promises to be a grand success, and they are to be congratulated upon having secured the services of so talented a reader as Fannie Steel Anthony, whose ability is above the average, and she literally carries her audiences with her. In her character sketches she has few equals. The music of the Ideal Banjo Club will also be a pleasant feature of the evening.

In an interview yesterday Mr. Harry Davies stated that the suit that was before the courts two weeks ago, and adjourned until yesterday, has been settled out of court by the purchase of the Comet tire by the American Dunlop Tire Company for the sum of $11,000, including plant, stock and unfilled orders to date. The Dunlop Company have already negotiated for the establishment of a factory here for the manufacture of their tires, which they will supply to the Cornet Cycle Company as the market price. Mr. Harvey du Cros has left for New York, and will return in a few days to complete arrangements for immediate delivery of tires.

Twenty-five hundred people witnessed the banjam batle at the Olympic Club at New Orleans Tuesday night between Jack Levy of England and Jim Gorman of New York. In the first four rounds Gorman had the best of the hitting, and he also did the cleanest work in rounds five, six and seven. In the eighth round there was a hot exchange in the middle of the ring. From the midst of a close rally, which was fast and furious, Gorman swung his right on Levy's jaw, and the latter fell on his face in the sand completely knocked out. Neither man was hurt, and not a scratch was on either of them when the fight was over. Gorman received an ovation

OUR POPULATION DECREASED.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH TORONTO?

We Should Systematically Advertise the City—With Beautiful Parks, Unrivalled Railway Facilities, Low Taxation and Good Civic Government Our Population Has Decreased—The Benefit Chicago Derives From the Fair.

Why do those manufacturers and merchants who sell their goods at the lowest living profit, who undersell every competitor, who act honestly, conscientiously and liberal with their customers, who carry the largest and best varieties, latest styles and novelties in their lines, spend thousands of dollars in advertising? Would one not think that the public having once learned where the best and cheapest was to be had need not be told again? This is true in the case of a few, but the merchant must reach the many, and so he must advertise. Now what is true of the individual is true of the community. If Toronto with her beautiful parks, unrivalled railway facilities, low rate of taxation and good civic government was only properly advertised we would not now be lamenting a decrease in population.

No, rather would we be counting on reaching the half-million. To measure the benefit Chicago derives from the Fair one must not only consider the great number of visitors who spent their holidays studying her industries and admiring her vigorous energy, but you must allow for the advertising value she has received from every newspaper in the world. This it is that has helped her, and this it is that will give the impetus to make Chicago the first city of the New World.

To advertise, then, is a real necessity for the city as well as for the merchant. For instance, guinane brothers might continue to sell J. D. King & Co.'s two-strap dongola shoes for one twenty-five till doomsday, and if they did not advertise they would not sell in a month half what they now sell in a day. This is strange since the public know that this line of ladies' shoes are sold every one place for 2.75. Again, every man in this city knows that J. D. King's kangaroo lace boots are usually sold for five dollars, but though guinane brothers are selling them for 2.40 they cannot afford to wait until the news passes around from mouth to mouth. They want the thousand to know it, to hear it, to read it, hence they advertise, hence, too, the thousands who read the boots at guinane brothers for them. Ask any football player in Toronto, "Where can I get the regulation football boot?" and the answer will be: "At guinane brothers, two fourteen yonge-street, the only place in the city."

If you have good merchandise in your store and crowding your shelves and want to keep it why don't tell the public anything about it.

Magazine Literature.

The young author who wins recognition in a first-class magazine has achieved a double success, first, with the editor, and then with the best reading public. Many factitious and fallacious literary reputations have been made through books, but very few have been made through the magazines, which are not only the best means of living, but of outliving, with the author; they are both bread and fame to him. If I insist a little upon the high office which this modern form of publication fulfills in the literary world, it is because I am impatient of the antiquated and ignorant prejudice which classes the magazines as ephemeral. They are ephemeral in form, but in substance they are not ephemeral, and what is best in them awaits its resurrection in the book, which, as the first form, is so often a lasting death. An interesting proof of the value of the magazine to literature is the fact that a good novel will have wider acceptance as a book from having been a magazine serial.—From "The Man of Letters as a Man of Business." by W. D. Howells, in the October number of Scribner's Magazine.

Doing Nothing.

Here lies the guilt and peril of every impenitent sinner. What you do not do, my unconverted friend, is as effectual to destroy your hope of heaven as any wilful transgressions. Repentance, faith, obedience bring salvation; leaving them undone means perdition. The neglect to swing a signal lamp has doomed many a railway train to the wreck of precious lives. How can you escape if you neglect so great a salvation as the loving Jesus is offering to you? As you are treating Him now so will He treat you in the final day of judgment. While those who accepted and obeyed Him will be ranged on His right hand, the doom of those who refuse to serve Him will be to stand condemned "on the other side!" The sin that is likely to send you to perdition is the sin of doing nothing.
