The Fredericton Sentinel doubts the truth of the assertion made by an anonymous writer in the St. John Chronicle that the operations of the persons employed to examine what obstructions exist in the river St. John, had been stopped by a species of Lynch law proceeding, on account of one of the parties being an American. We hope the Sentinel is right, as we should look with very great concern on exhibitions of popular prejudice interfering with official prerogative. We regret to find any vent given to those carping dispositions which catch at every trifling circumstance to find fault with the Executive, and under pretence of guardianship indulge in rhocour and abuse. We are not the apologists of any party, but while we see His Excellency steering a steady course assisted by his Executive Council, and no real grievance unredressed, we think the press is bound to call upon the people to strengthen the measures of such a government by their support and their applause, and we feel confident that in spite of the sinister efforts of a few to recover a fallen dynasty, the country at large will respond to our call and give honor where honor is due.

It is well known in these Provinces that "Joe Howe" repaired to England last spring on a political mission, and that he has since appeared in the prominent circles of London. He has transmitted to his own paper, the Novascotian, a series of articles freely written on occurrences as they spring up before him; in which the discursive flights of his fancy, buoyant humour and acute perceptions are pleasingly depicted. No. 3 of the series brings him within the Lizard and draws forth an apostrophe on his first sight of England, in a rich view of admirable verse.—Not having room for his prose, we shall give his poetry in our next.

Brig Rome, Fowler, at New York, from Gottenburg, reports having on the 24th June, lat. 43. 18. long. 28 40. fallen in with brig Ajax, of Wiscasset, (before reported,) from Philadelphia for Liverpool, with loss of main mast and most of her sails, in a gale, ten days previous. The captain and crew wishing to abandon the brig, they were taken on board the Rome, and brought to this port.

After the abandonment of the brig, as noticed above, Capt. Fowler put his mate and five men on board; lay by her five days, and refitted a mast, sails, &c. lightened her by throwing over 400 bbls. turpentine, and ordered her for the first port in the United States. The Rome parted with her 4th July, all well. The Ajax is about 240 tons—cargo, 200 bales cotton, 1500 bbls. turpentine, and 20 bbls. beeswax. The Ajax was subsequently spoken by barque Fanny, at Boston, 27th July, lat. 43 long. 50, making for Halifax and in want of nothing.
