CORN PRICES REACH HIGHEST OF SEASON

Prospect of Railway Tie-Up Too Much for Nerves of Shorts.

Chicago, April 10.—Corn overtopped today previous high price records for the season, and anxiety that shorts evinced in regard to railway strike developments appeared to be chiefly responsible. The market closed nervous at ⅛c to ⅞c net advance with May $1.67, to $1.67⅝, and July $1.60⅝ to $1.60⅝, oats finished ⅜c off to 1⅛c up and provisions varying from 5c decline to a raise of 32c.

Shorts made a general rush to buy corn as soon as the market opened. Their eagerness to get away from any further risks which the railway tie-up might involve was so determined that until the last hour the pit was kept very bare of offerings. The adverse outlook for the winter wheat continued also to stimulate bullish sentiment. Toward the end of the session, however, something of a reaction set in owing to reports of the closing down of big industries affected by the strike, especially an important corn products manufactory which it was announced would remain short until the railway strike was over.

Oats like corn jumped to new high record prices and then underwent more or less of a setback. The railway strike was the main bullish influence.

Provisions most of the time were firmer in sympathy with grain.
