McCONKEY'S HOTEL HANLAN.

THE NEW HOTEL HANLAN.

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS MADE BY THE NEW LESSEES OF THE HOUSE.

A Summer Resort that the Citizens of Toronto May be Proud of—The Cafe and Refreshment Parlors—Outside Additions to Attractions.

HOTEL HANLAN.

GEO. S. McCONKEY & CO.,

Proprietors.

The above sign, in smiling golden letters, strikes the eye of the visitor to the Island by any of the Doty line of handsome steamers now plying between the city and the house of the ex-champion oarsman of the world. Mr. McConkey, so well and favorably known in Toronto as a public caterer, has leased the above hotel for a number of years. As nothing succeeds like success, Mr. McConkey is bent upon making his new venture profitable, both to the public and himself. And he has set the right way about it.

Visitors to the Island in the future can go there with the knowledge that they can get every comfort that the leading city hotels afford; they can despatch a succulent steak or chop, a prime dinner at a fashionable hour, or sip a soothing warm-day drink, with the cool breezes of Lake Ontario blowing in upon them. Mr. McConkey has spared neither time nor expense in turning the Hotel Hanlan into a really first-class establishment. Yesterday afternoon he invited a World reporter to inspect the hotel. A great change has certainly come over the scene. Former patrons of the house will scarcely recognize the remodeled structure.

The most important changes and alterations have been made on the main floor. The sample-room, which formerly stood at the southern end of the house, has been brightly painted, papered and frescoed. The tables and chairs (the latter being of Austrian make, and regular emblems of comfort) are all brand new, the linen has never before seen service, the cups, saucers, plates and other dishes are of china, and the cutlery and holloware is of the latest design and of smiling silver. When the tables are dressed a more handsome dining-hall could scarcely be imagined. In this room all the delicacies known to the leading hotels and restaurants of the city will be found—all at city prices. This cafe will be conducted on the European plan, and there will be a 6 o'clock dinner. The waiters in the cafe will be men. At the northern end of the house, fitted up as sumptuously as the cafe, will be continued the refreshment room. Here ice cream, lomonade, tea, coffee, sandwiches, fruit, cakes, etc., can be obtained at all hours. This department is a model of convenience and elegance. As in the dining-room, everything in use is fresh from the shelves of the makers. When dinner is over in the cafe, the latter will be used as an adjunct to the refreshment room. In addition to the cafe and the refreshmeht parlor another elegant room has been fitted up at the extreme north end of the building. Entrance to this apartment is from the outside. Cigars, sandwiches and summer drinks, mixed by city artists, will be dispensed here.

But probably the most interesting part of this floor will be the Museum, adjoining the office, and situated midway between the cafe and the refreshment parlor. This room will contain all the trophies, medals, presents, addresses, championship boats, etc., that Edward Hanlan possesses. The cups and medals will be kept in a large and handsome glass case. The walls will be tastefully decorated with paintings. Stereopticon and dissolving views will be placed at intervals around the walls, and the Museum on a whole will be one of the most attractive features of the Island.

All of the ranges, broilers and heaters in the culinary department are of the newest and latest design, and the services of a chef de cuisine have been secured.

On the two top floors, where the parlors, sitting rooms and sleeping apartments are located, everying is as neat and smiling as a May-day bridegroom. There are a number of cheerful; airy and newly-furnished sleeping rooms to let on these floors. The beds are all double, and are provided with spiral mattresses. The counterpanes, blankets and other paraphanelia are all exquisitely new. These floors will be for the exclusive use of guests.

During the reporter's trip from the cellar to the roof he came across little or nothing that was not new or of the latest design and convenience. Mr. McConkey has exhibited unmistakable signs of competency in selecting and arranging all the appointments of the house. Truly it may be said that the Hotel Hanlan now possesses all the assurances of a metropolitan hostlery.

Outside the house improvements can be seen on every hand. Additional electric lights have been put up. New roller coasters and switch-backs are being erected. Patent swings and the "Coney Island carousal" will afford amusement for the little ones, and the ears of all will be charmed with the music of a monster steam organ, the counterpart of the famous organ in the Atlantic Garden in New York. About a hundred new benches have been added to the stock of last year. A commodious new bifurcated wharf has been erected immediately opposite the hotel—the wharf is double the size of the other two wharves in existence.

One of the most desirable additions to the outside conveniences is a covered Pavilion at the north end of the hotel. Here picnic parties can escape the scorching rays of the sun. Is is quite convenient to the refreshment room, where tea, coffee, milk and lemonade can be obtained by the picnicers. Mr. McConkey intends to have in operation, in close proximity to the hotel a full-blown candy factory.

The Hotel Hanlan will be formally opened on the Queen's Birthday, May 24 (Monday next.)

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AFFAIRS.

Mr. Tully's Claim—Salary Bill—Extension of Streets Stopped.

Chairman Defoe, Ald. Steiner, Pepler, Saunders, Elliott, James, Walker and Irwin attended the meeting of the Executive yesterday afternoon.

The Works Committee reported it had reconsidered Kivas Tully's claim for $100 for professional services in connection with the Queen and King streets subways in 1885, and having been advised by the Solicitor and the Engineer that it was a just one, recommended its payment. The Executive was not satisfied with this, and struck out the clause, pending further information.

It was decided to consider the Salary Bill at the next meeting. Ald. Steiner dropped a remark that the Aldermen were afraid to reduce salaries. Ald. James said he was mistaken. There was a man in the Markets and Health Department who was good for nothing and he (Ald. James) intended to move that his pay be reduced or that he be transferred to another department. Ald. Pepler also resented the insinuation. He wanted Ald. Steiner to understand he never faltered in doing his duty. The Chairman likewise rebuked the representative of St. James' Ward.

The Chairman, Ald. Walker and Ald. Pepler were appointed a sub-Committee to consider a scheme to obtain guarantees from civic officials. Another sub-Committee was named to draft an advertisement for a Commissioner of Works and Health, or, as the Chairman called him, the Lord High Commissioner. The ad. will be widely published.

Petitions for the annexation of East Rosedale, and the section lying between the westerly limit of St. Paul's Ward and Spadina road, north of Bloor and known as the Annex, were considered. The Committee will ask the Council for permission to summon by advertisement all parties interested, whether for or against, before the Committee.

The Committee struck out the Engineer's report recommending the extension of Sheridan avenue to Dundas street, as a local improvement and on the initiative principle, the estimated cost being $5192. A similar recommendation respecting Alien avenue met with a similar fate. Mr. Sproatt's recommendation re the widening of Oxford avenue was sent back for information.

The Brewers Bruised.

The World encountered a sad collection of brewers at their headquarters on Colborne street yesterday. They were one and all denouncing the foolish conduct of Wm. J. Thomas, described in the directory as President of the Ontario Brewing Company [erroneously stated yesterday to be connected with the Robert Davies brewery], the man who attempted to "stump" Mayor Howland at the strikers' meeting on Wednesday night. "He had no authority to represent us, and ought to have been turned off the platform for his impertinence," said a prominent maltster. "Goodness knows we've got enough to carry without having Thomas and his unauthorized acts put on our shoulders," said another.

Recreant Rosedale.

Rosedale is a picturesque suburb with a very sweet name. But Rosedale does not believe in municipal decorum. Last evening, just as it was growing dark, a World reporter found himself in Rosedale on business bent. There is said to be a system of streets and avenues, with names attached, in the suburb. The reporter however was unable to find any signboards bearing the names of the thoroughfares. Half a dozen residents who were spoken to for information did not even know the names of their own streets. The reporter went stumbling over dilapidated sidewalks until he nearly broke his neck. Why don't Rosedale elect a mayor and board of aldermen and hire a police force? Also, why don't they put down decent sidewalks, and why don't the people get acquainted with each other?

Splendid assortment of Ladies' Dolmans, Visites and Tweed and Jersey Jackets, now in stock at Petleys'. 456

Denominational Misunderstanding.

From the Evangelical Churchman.

A curious instance of denominational misunderstanding came to our notice recently. A meeting was held in a Toronto drawing-room in connection with one of our most important philanthropic works. Two clergymen of the Church of England were present, both of whom in the course of the meeting offered extempore prayers, and one of whom, in a short address, spoke very plainly of the necessity of the second birth. A Methodist lady present said to the hostess at the close of the meeting: "Well, I have learned two things to-night, to my great astonishment. One is that clergymen of the Church of England are allowed to make extempore prayers, and the other that they believe in the necessity of the new birth."

The Canadian Pacific-Northerns Rate Dispute.

Mr. E. A. Wells, Secretary of the Board of Trade, yesterday received a telegram from Mr. John Small stating that the resolutions sent to Ottawa on Wednesday night had been safely received, and that the Government would favorably consider the recommeadations of the Board of Trade and embody them in the Canadian Pacific Bill now before Parliament. Mr. S. Barker of the Northerns also telegraphed his satisfaction with the recommendations of the Board. Mr. G. H. Chapman and Mr. D. R. Wilkie were the framers of these resolutions.

Edward Huff, a youngster with a bad record, four years in the Reformatory. John Smith, keeping a vicious dog, ordered to kill the animal or pay $30 and costs. John Middleton, insulting language, $10 and costs. The case against W. W. Stewart for defrauding John McIntosh, his partner, is in process of settlement.

Passengers by the Parisian.

Among the cabin passengers from Toronto going by the Parisian from Quebec, May 27, are: Ex-Mayor Manning, Mrs. Manning, Miss Manning, Mr. Percy Manning, Miss Daniels, Miss Stotherd, Miss Otter, Miss Porter, Mrs. B. Smith and daughter, Mr. Bruce, Miss Cubitt, Mr. R. W. Biggar, Mrs. Kerr, Miss Margaret Kerr, Mr. Brendon, Mrs. Brendon, Mr. F. Hodgins, Mrs. Hodgins, Dr. McMichael, Miss Dixon.

The Underwriters and Incendiaries.

At the Underwriters' meeting yesterday it was resolved:

That this Board has noticed with regret, in the city press, the very light sentences passed upon certain incendiaries who, in this city, were caught in the act and convicted of the offence. That in our opinion such lenient treatment with criminals is fraught with evil consequences to the members of this Board and to the lives and property of the community at large.

A New Firm.

A new fur firm has sprung up in Toronto. Mr. James Harris, who for many years has carried on a successful manufacturing fur business at the corner of King and Bay streets, (over Trebles) has formed a partnership with Mr. George, and the firm is now known as Harris & George. There is no better judge of furs in Canada than the senior member of the firm. He stands on the topround of the ladder as regards practical knowledge. They have entirely refurnished and refitted their showroom, and as seen to-day, it is worthy of either Regent or Oxford street. Fine turkish carpets adorn the well polished floor—massive mirrors hang from the handsomely decorated walls, piles upon piles of manufactured furs; furs that make you wish you had been born in Alaska, lay heaped upon the floor. The firm are manufacturing largely this season, as the business last year was such as to warrant them in going heavier into this department than heretofore. An energetic young firm, well up in a solid knowledge of their business, Harris & George are bound to do a big share of next season's fur business. x
