In view of the vote of last session for tidal observation, the Dominion Minister of Marine has ordered a number of tidal guages to be placed at different stations along the Gulf and Atlantic Coast for the purpose of accurate registry.

Messrs. Blaquier, of Rustico and John A. McDonald, of Johnston's River, from the Grand Seminary, Quebec, and Messrs. McKinnon, of Melrose and Roche, of Montague, from St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, arrived home last evening.

The cod fisheries around the coast of Nova Scotia are reported much better than anticipated. Of the Lunenburg fleet 21 vessels returning from their first trip brought 8,855 quintals, which is 1,275 quintals ahead of the catch by the same vessels last year.

Sir John McDonald and Sir Hector Langevin laid the corner stone of the new dry dock at Kingston on the 19th inst. The ministers were greeted on their arrival by the civic reception committee, and escorted to the Hotel Frontenac, where several addresses were presented to them. They were banqueted in the evening.

We had a business call on Saturday last from Mr. George Gregg, traveller for the firm of J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. This firm expended last year about $600,000 in advertising. As a consequence, they manufactured about $3,500,000 worth of goods. They are printing fifteen million almanacs for 1891. They keep constantly travelling seventeen two horse buggies.

A washout took place 28 miles east of Toronto on the 18th on the C. P. R. A locomotive was sent out, picking up on its way J. Wanless, jr., the bridge inspector, and division foreman Moriarty and one of his men. When they reached the culvert at Myrtle, running at slow rate, it collapsed, precipitating the engine to the bottom killing all the occupants. The killed are: J. Wanless, jr., engineer Allen, fireman Oliver, section hands Moriarty and Lott.

The McLeod poisoning case at Pictou, came to an end on Friday last, and the prisoner, who was charged with having mixed oxalic acid in his wife's tea, left the court, as Judge Meagher expressed it, without a stain upon his character. The Crown prosecutor said he had no evidence to present to the jury, and they immediately returned a verdict of "not guilty." Judge Meagher in severe tones censured W. F. Best, analytical chemist, of St. John. The Judge said his ignorance upon subjects which, as an expert, he should know, was deplorable.

A man named James Daly met with an accident in Halifax the other day which it is feared may prove fatal. He was engaged roofing a house on the Kempt road, and while walking backwards, spreading the gravel on the hot pitch, walked off the roof, and fell about twenty feet. When picked up he was unconscious. The hospital ambulance was telephoned for and on its arrival the unfortunate man was taken to that institution. On an examination being made, it was found the man was very seriously hurt, having, it is feared, received a fracture of the spinal column.

Donahoe's Monthly Magazine, for July, is as interesting as usual. We give a few of the principal articles: The Schoolmaster's Club of Boston; St. Anne de Beaupre, the Auray of Canada; Did Bismarck go to Canossa? The Andover Review and the New School policy. Newfoundland and its Irish Settlers. Irish Lace Industries. The Leper Settlement. Irish History and Literature in our Catholic School-Books. Catholic Press Association. Herr Windthorst. Archbishop Ireland on the Color Line. Cardinal Gibbons' Address on Behalf of Immigrant Girls. Judge Fallon and the Books Used in the Public Schools, together with a great variety of other articles, including the Juvenile Department and notes of the month. Price $3 a year, $1 for six months. Address Donahoe's Magazine, Boston, Mass.

Lovers of Rod, Gun and Canoe, should not fail to secure copies of the book "Fishing and Shooting," issued by the General Passenger Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, for the season of 1890. It is bound in convenient pocket form and contains a vast amount of reliable information concerning the best localities for game and fish in the province of Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Assiniboia, Alberta, and British Columbia, and the states Maine, Michigan and Wisconsin; the whole embellished with numerous handsome illustrations. Covering as it does, the haunts of game and fish from the Atlantic to the Pacific, it should prove invaluable to the followers of Nimrod and Walton. Copies furnished free upon application to C. B. McPherson, District Passenger Agent, 211 Washington St. Boston.

During a thunder and lightning storm which passed over the city of Halifax on the night of the 18th, the inmates of the house owned by John Murphy, contractor, and Edward Kelly, of the Inland Revenue Department, had a very narrow escape from being killed. At midnight the families were startled by a terrible report that shook the house. Immediately came a crash, caused by a chimney being completely destroyed by lightning, the bricks being scattered in all directions. The electric fluid struck the chimney and entered the room nearest the roof, in which two little children were sleeping. It ran along the stovepipe going to the second flat, tearing plaster and smashing pictures on the way. It cut through a portion of the hall wall and entered the pantry, breaking everything in it. The iron sink smashed in pieces, and pipes and appurtenances were destroyed. The current made its escape from the house by going through a window. The plaster in the upper flat of the house, where the children were sleeping was nearly all destroyed, but fortunately none of the inmates were injured.

Queric advices of the 22nd say that the returning officer for Megantic states that since the full returns have come to hand, Col Rhode's majority has been narrowed down to one. A recount will be made before the courts, and the majority will probably be turned into a minority. The majority of the Commissioner of Crown Lands in La Prairie, has been reduced to six.

As will be seen by reference to another column, Mrs. Owen Connolly has made a most generous gift to the cause of charity. In what more worthy manner could any one dispose of surplus wealth than by placing it at the disposal of those who spend their lives in alleviating the aged and afflicted? We trust her noble example may be followed by others who have been blessed with an abundance of this world's goods.

The high Mass in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, on Sunday last, was sung by Rev. J. C. Macdonald, rector of St. Dunstan's college, his Lordship the Bishop occupying his throne. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Alexander McAulay, recently ordained in Quebec. His theme was the establishment and perpetuation of the Church, from the text: "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, etc." This was the rev. gentleman's first appearance in the Cathedral pulpit, and his second sermon, since his ordination. It was one of the most eloquent heard in the Cathedral for many a day. In words of burning eloquence he pointed out the manner in which the Church, from the earliest times, down through the ages, fulfilled her mission of teaching all nations, and proved the divinity of her foundation. Should he be spared, he bids fair to become one of the most brilliant pulpit orators the Island has produced.

The distribution of prizes to the children attending the Cathedral Sunday School, took place on Sunday afternoon. Besides the children and the teachers, there were present, his Lordship the Bishop, Rev. J. C. Macdonald, rector of St. Dunstan's college, Rev's J. C. McLean, J. J. Macdonald, A. McAulay; Thomas Handrahan, Esq., and many others, parents and friends of the children. Many useful, as well as valuable books and other prizes were distributed to the children, who had made the most progress, and who had been most attentive during the year. His Lordship distributed the prizes, having for each recipient a word of kindness and congratulation. After the distribution the Bishop addressed the children, pointing out to them the great opportunities they had of learning the Christian doctrine in the Sunday School, and how they should take advantage of those opportunities. He admonished them to profit by the lessons they had learned during the year, and always to bear in mind the instructions of the Sunday School. Rev. J. C. Macdonald also addressed words of advice and encouragement to the children. Then Rev. Father McLean took occasion, in dismissing the Sunday School for vacation, to thank the teachers who had attended during the year just past, as well as the children for their attendance, and asked them all to be sure to return at the opening of the next year.

HELIGOLAND.

It is announced, though not officially, that the terms agreed upon between Britain and Germany in regard to their respective spheres in Africa embrace the cession of Heligoland to the latter power. It is not the first time in the past twenty or thirty years that this transfer has been hinted at. Nevertheless the rumored cession seems not improbable. The little islet in the German ocean has since the days of fast steamships, which would permit of a quick descent from England on either Germany or Denmark, lost much of its former importance as a naval and military outpost. Situated only thirty-five miles from the mouth of the Elbe, it commanded the whole commerce of Germany, and also made a convenient port of supply for vessels watching the entrance to the Baltic. To England, under the changed conditions of naval warfare, and of continental politics also, Heligoland seems of little value. Yet its possession by a foreign power may appear somewhat of an aggravating menace to Germany. Its transference to the latter power may therefore be regarded as a token of friendship on the part of Britain, and at the same time may answer admirably as a "to boot" in the great African bargain and be of service to the German government in preventing an outcry about the extent of the concessions made to England.

The little island, of course, will not be given up without regret. It will be the first distinct concession Britain has made in a very long time of any territory of which she has had undisputed and absolute possession. Breaking the record cannot appear pleasant to a people with the proud and tenacious spirit of the British, even though it be done as a compliment to a friendly power akin in lineage. If Denmark had been the grantee in the case there would be less regret, for it was acquired from her by conquest in 1807 and by formal cession in 1814, and restoration might seem quite natural. But Denmark is not in a position to make such an act of generosity on Britain's part profitable.

Heligoland is not devoid of interest, or fish. The latter amount to £5,000 annually. As a summer resort it is popular with Hamburgers and with English people who know it. The Island however, is very small, only a mile long and only a fifth of a square mile in area. Most of it is a rock 200 feet high, on which is perched a little garrisoned town of 2,000 inhabitants, who have to descend a flight of 173 steps to buy their fish and enjoy surf bathing. The sandy flat below has two little harbors lined with buildings crowded up against the rock. Germans live above and keep shops and boarding-houses; Frisians live below and fish, and profess to have as little dealings as possible with the Samaritan's on the hill. These Frisians boast that they are "Englishmen," and probably with good reason, for they are descendents in unmixed blood of the English who sent out Hengist and Horsa to establish the English race in Britain. They may not care about annexation to Germany, but the probability is that their commercial dealings with Hamburg will make the wrench to their sentiments quite endurable.

Heligoland—holige (holy) land—at one time was a chief seat of Pagan worship for Denmark. Temples abounded. In olden times the sandy lowland was an extensive country, covered with farms and villages and thickly dotted with institutions. But prior to the year 1900 the rapacious sea ate up the country, leaving only the rock and the little fringe of sand around its base. A map of the old island, showing the towns and temples, is yet extant.—Empire.

Local and Special News.

Poetic Sentiment.—To apply the poetic words "a medicine that's able to breathe life into a stone" to B.B.B. savors of exaggeration, but considering its countless cures and wonderful work even exaggeration seems justifiable if it convinces those who hesitate to try B.B.B. and be cured.

The price of rubber goods has taken an upward bound. This is characteristic of rubber.

What's the Reason?—The causes of summer complaint, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera morbus, etc., are the excessive heat, eating green fruit, over exertion, impure water and sudden chill. Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry is an infallible and prompt cure for all bowel complaints from whatever cause.

Those who get through the world by making the worst of it work hard for poor pay.

Editor Pembroke, of the Delhi Reporter, a well-known journalist, says, "I consider Burdock Blood Bitters the best medicine made, and would not be without it on any account. It should be kept in every house in the land."

The sad lest words of tongue or pen are these sad words, "say, feed me tea."

Tichborne, N. S. R. R. Co.—"I take pleasure in certifying that I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my family for years and find it a sure cure for diarrhoea and summer complaints both for children and adults. Mrs John McMahon, Tichborne, Ont.

The language of the cigarette is doubtless composed of "words that burn."

Plucking Violets.—As "violets plucked will never grow again" so a good name once lost we never can regain. An article which after extended trial won great fame and as time rolls on by good deeds still increases, it is Burdock Blood Bitters the best cure for dyspepsia and all blood diseases.

A howling success—the dog that is locked out all night next door.

Forewarned is Forearmed.—Many of the worst attacks of cholera morbus, cramps, dysentery, colic, etc., come suddenly in the night and steady and prompt means must be used against them. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the remedy. Keep it at hand for emergencies. It never fails to cure or relieve.

SOURIS NOTES.

Lobster fishing is doing fairly in Souris this season, the traps there having escaped the storm which carried so much damage on the North Side. A few mackerel have been caught in nets. The first scmeen of the season appeared here about a week ago, but the "schools" have shown up yet.

Souris is to have a tea party this summer, about the last of July.

The B. I. Society are so building a hall as there is nothing of the kind suitable here at present.

The young men in the western end of the town have formed a base ball club and thereby use their spare time in amusement and not unprofitably.
