Edward Freeman and James Carr tried the speed of their horses and Edward came out best.

Mr. J. Chapman drove home three very fine cows.

Mr. Poulin, as usual, is highly successful in his factory this year.

ELLISVILLE.

SATURDAY, Sept. 13.—Several persons from here attended the Kingston fair last week.

Cottage prayer meetings are being carried on here at present.

Mr. Frank Stevens, of Athens, has been engaged to fill the situation of teacher, made vacant by thr resignation of Mr. Herbison.

Mr. Murphy, of Lambton, Ont., and others, were guests of Mr. C. Pritchard on Tuesday last.

The saw mill is in full blast this week, and the yard is being cleaned out pretty fast.

LYN.

MONDAY, Sept. 15.—J. T. Lillie, high school principal, has been very low with typhoid fever here, but is now convalescent and expects to return to his duties about October 1st.

Lyn furnishes eight pupils to the Brockville collegiate institute.

A few nights ago a gang of Brockville roughs, who had come out here for a dance, made the night hideous with their drunken howls.

H. H. Weeks was pretty sly about it, but it is reported for a fact that he has taken a partner for life.

Everybody is going to John Forth's fair.

ADDISON.

SATURDAY, Sept. 13.—Mr. James Monroe and lady, of Iowa, are guests of Mr. Levi Monroe, his brother of Mt. Pleasant.

Wedding bells have again rung in our village; this time for the marriage of Miss Jennie Lewis of King St. to a Mr. Moore of Hamilton.

Miss Sarah Thomas, of Watertown, is visiting her friends in this section and is the guest of Mayor Wiltse, of Browntown, her brother-in-law.

There seems to be great strife between our mayor and professor, on account of a young lady who resides in this vicinity. Nothing has occurred so far worse than burrs. Whether blood will be shed, your correspondent is unable to say, but as matters look now in that direction, we would advise the parties to keep cool—and let things follow their natural course.

FRONT OF YONGE.

MONDAY, Sept. 15.—The Fortune Bros. are laying in a large winter stock of goods.

Mr. John Leeder has a fine general store at the Fortune mills. John is the great Ballycanoe politician.

Mr. Frank Wiltse, the present mail carrier between Athens and Mallorytown, got shipwrecked one day last week when near Athens.

Is it not quite noticeable, the absence of birds in our climate so early in the season? There is scarcity of food.

The Ballycanoe cheese factory went into insolvency last week and the patrons had to send their milk to the Caintown factory.

Mr. Robert Beatty, of Lake st. has some very fine apples.

Mr. Dudley Acklon will sell his fine farm and go into private life. His farm is beautifully situated, being convenient to Lake st., Ballycanoe.

MALLORYTOWN.

The Methodist church was well filled on Sunday evening to listen to the song service.

Dr. D. H. Judd returned from Montreal to-day to spend a couple of weeks at home.

Rev. Mr. Cross, of Escott, will fill Rev. W. Service's appointments here on Sunday next.

One evening not long since a gentleman from Mallorytown attended a small social gathering not far from here, and whilst there fell desperately in love with a fair maiden (or she with him), and not until the following Sunday did she discover the dreadful truth that he had a loving little wife and daughter at home.

ELBE MILLS.

MONDAY, Sept. 15.—Mr. Wallace Brown is attending the High school at Athens.

Our son of Vulcan treated himself last week to a fine new suit of clothes and celebrated the event with a general jubilee.

On Monday evening of last week the B. & W. train ran into Mr. Wm. Osborne's herd of 21 cows and severely injured three of them, one having a leg broken.

Our west end farmer was doing his stature labor last week and will probably finish cutting his fall wheat some time before snow falls.

Mr. Harry Hillis, engineer at the mills here, recently purchased a young porker from his employer and is having no end of trouble with said shoat. After escaping from its pen several times and wandering quite a distance away, visiting Saginaw on one or two occasions, its owner made, as he supposed, a pen from which it would be impossible for it to escape, and thought he had his pigship secure; but on Wednesday morning last he was again missing and was found enjoying the comforts of companionship in the pen with our merchant's pigs, a short distance from home. The owner, however, blames human agency for the last escapade and vows vengeance, dire and dreadful, on any person meddling with his property in the future.

WASHBURN'S CORNERS.

MONDAY, Sept. 15.—I wonder what has happened to our newfashioned drivers at the Corners. They haven't drove for a long time. It is nice to see how some folks drive when they hit against gates and posts.

People at Sheldon's Corners are putting on great style. Some folks will have to make a change as they are pretty dull there

Messrs. Davis and A. Berney are doing a good business threshing around this section.

DELTA.

MONDAY, Sept. 15.—How will you trade boxes? I'll give you a quarter to boot.

Last Saturday the Lyndhurst team came here to play a friendly game of ball with the I. X. L's. The scores were 9 to 13 in favor of Lyndhurst. The same team meet again at Lyndhurst fair.

On Friday evening of last week the members of the English church gave a box social in the town hall. A well-prepared program was gone through with, after which the sale of the boxes began. The bidding ran up good and the sum of $25.50 was realized.

Hunting is the leading feature of the day. Fishing is second best.

WESTPORT.

SATURDAY, Sept. 6.—Still the interest in the railroad bonus seems to boom, and reports are rife and varied concerning Mr. Hervey's plans to run his road by another route and leave us in the shade. Thank Providence for the abundance of water connection with the outside world, the absence of which, in case these rumors should prove true, would place us in a dangerous predicament.

Mr. C. Deroche, of the Westport Journal, has received a promotion in his journalistic career, and left on Tuesday evening to commence upon his new duties. He is succeeded by Mr. Lett, whom we are confident will prove a worthy successor.

Numbers of our citizens have availed themselves of the opportunities afforded to attend Mr. Horner's camp-meetings at Newboro.

Large numbers attended the Kingston fair this week.

Mr. Jas Judson, of Athens, is again in our midst, attending to the wants of our carriage makers, Messrs. J. Dier and Jos. Shellington.

Rev. Father Twohey arrived here this evening per Rideau Bell from Kingston, where the rev. gentleman has been residing for some time past.

R. T. Kenny, dentist, has been in town during the past week, attending to the needs of the people, in regard to molars, grinders, etc.

Last Sunday morning, on entering the Presbyterian church (remember, though not a regular attendant, we do go to church) we were surprised at the scene which presented itself to our view. Every available space around the altar was adorned with beautiful flowers. On enquiring the cause o such a display, we were informed that it was children's day and that we were in for a treat in the way of addresses by the worthy pastor and others on Sunday school work After the usual preliminaries, Rev. Mr. Ross, the pastor, after spending some time on the attendance of pupils, etc., at the school, launched out on the subject of Sunday school work, and though only a few minutes were allotted, he handled his subject with such ability that henceforth we should judge, more interest will be taken by the parents in the grand work. Messrs. MacDonald, of Newboro, and McKnight and Acheson, of Westport, delivered addresses in the order named, all bearing upon the necessity of the early religious training of the young. We heartily congratulate Mr. Ross and the teachers of the Sunday school on the success of the school.

SATURDAY, Sept. 13.—News arrived in town that Senator P. McLaren and Hon. Justice Haggart had prevailed upon Mr. Hervey to extend the Brockville Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Ry via Perth. Wonder what the next dodge will be.

A decided improvement to the appearance of the Methodist church has been made by removing all the dilapidated building material and refuse from the premises.

We understand that Mr. A. Jeacle intends going to Brockville shortly to follow the trade of a tinsmith. Success, Ab.

A shocking accident befell Mr. A. Hutchings, of Blair settlement, which will likely prove fatal. While on his way to the factory his horse became unmanageable and threw him from the rig, fracturing his spine. He is attended by Dr. Preston, of Newboro, who gives no hopes for his recovery.

Our trustees are advertising for two new pedagogues for the public school.

The new foundry which is being erected by Mr. W. McGuire and a gentleman from Montreal is on a fair way to completion and will soon, no doubt, give employment to a goodly number of machinists, etc. We hear a complaint has been made to the Board of Health against the erection of such a building. We wonder if that man wants to run the town, or is he attempting to be somewhat conspicuous.

UNIONVILLE FAIR NOTES.

Before this issue of the REPORTER reaches the majority of our readers, the Unionville fair will be numbered amongst the things of the past. Everything thus far points to the most successful exhibition in the history of the society. The number of entries on the books up to 10 o'clock last evening (Monday) was 1,820. Add to this at least 800 that will be taken at the office on Tuesday, and the entries will foot up to 2,620. One encouraging feature about the entries this season is that all the old members are making nearly one third more entries than usual. Parties who have been asked why this is the case, have invariably made the answer that the officers acted honorably by exhibitors last season, in paying every cent awarded, and they are bound to do all they can to make the fair of 1890 a success. Entries are coming in from parties from a distance who never exhibited at Unionville before. Notably C. W. Neville, of Newburgh, who makes 36 entries in thoroughbred sheep, besides a number of other entries. John Stagg has 22 entries of mares and colts and 10 entries of cattle. Jas. Bissell & Sons, Algonquin, will show their magnificent head of Holsteins, and McNish Bros. have entered a large number of thoroughbred sheep and swine. The poultry exhibit promises to be the largest ever shown in Eastern Ontario, over 100 entries having been already received. The manufacturers of carriages are availing themselves of the fine building built expressly for their benefit and the entries indicate that the building will be small to hold all their exhibits. The quantity of grain, roots, and vegetables entered is unprecedented in the history of the fair, while the other departments all show a marked increase over former years. In the horse ring the entries are not nearly all in, but from the number of entries from a distance, it is fair to presume that the show in this class will be larger than ever before. One of the novelties that will be an attraction in the horse ring will be the dog race. Manford Pierce, of Athens, will trot his dog "Colly" against any dog owned in the electoral district for a purse of $3. If no competitor offers, he will drive him several times around the horse ring each day.

The 41st Battalion Band will furnish music on the two last days of the fair.

Jas. Stevenson, Brockville, has applied for 40 foot frontage space for an exhibition of choice house plants and flowers. These plants are sent down from Cobourg especially for the exhibition of the fair. They will not compete for premiums, but will be offered for sale.

The Jas. Smart Manufacturing Co. will make a large exhibit of Perfection furnaces and stoves, which will be in charge of their travelling agent and Kincaid & Son, Athens, who will be pleased to show the samples and give all needed information.

All that is now needed to make the Unionville fair of '90 a success, far outstripping all competitors in Eastern Ontario, is three days of fine weather. If dame fortune favors in that respect, the success of the fair is assured. Remember, that if the weather should prove unfavorable on any of days named, the fair will be continued over until the next day.

A Horse Incident.

The horse is man's best friend and so it is not strange that occasionally a truly good man is found to be posessed of an inordinate love for this animal. Such a love is entertained by a worthy Athenian residing at the west end. The passion, we believe, is of long standing, but it is only recently that its fruits have become manifest to the general puplic. So infatuated has he become that he now thinks horse, talks horse or drives horse continuously, and through his every-day walk and talk their runs a vein of free-and-easy affability and joculiarity that is very entertaining to his "horsey" familiars, and they will learn with deep regret that his equine propensities led him into trouble. Last week a man from Harlem swung around Taplin's corner at a pace that captured the heart of our friend at once. He asked the driver if the horse was for sale and was answered in the affirmative, and was further informed that the price was $75. Our friend reached for his purse, saying he would take the horse at the figure named. The man from Harlem said "all right, boss, he's yours, but I'd like to drive him to McIntosh's." This was agreed to and the Harlemite continued on his way. During his absence the aforesaid familiars told our friend of very many things connected with the steed that his enraptured eye had failed to note, so that when the stranger returned to deliver the horse our friend tried to "crawl"—said that he was "only fooling," that he "did'nt want the horse," etc. Then the Harlemite grew indignant and talked big law, but finally agreed to compromise the matter on a basis of $2, which sum was promptly paid over by Van, and everything was lovely once more. Moral:—A man of substance and moral worth should be careful how he traffics with ungodly horse-dealers from Harlem.
