STEAMER VALENCIA left New York at 3 o'clock this morning. She is due here Saturday morning.

CHANGE OF CAPTAINS.—Captaiu Finlay, who has been in the schooner Jennie Parker has left that vessel and the old master, Captain Corbett, will assume command. Captain Holder will take the schooner Eva Maud in place of, Captain Hotendorf, who is going in the schooner Eri now lying up the bay.

THE WATER FELL about two inches yesterday, and to-day it is about at a stand still. It is too high yet to allow the mills to start. The owners have had a long wait of it, and some of them are getting discouraged. Mr. Estey's mill, at the West end, has been idle for fourteen working days now.—Fredericton Gleaner.

THE BOSTON POST has earned a deserved reputation as a faithful and reliable newspper. It gets the news and tells the truth about it. Its political reports are peculiarly trustworthy, are presented without political bias, and are discussed editorially with courtesy and ability. All the news of the day is carefully edited and presented in compact form, while nothing puerile, indecent or purely sensational is ever found in its columns. It aims to be independent, enterprising and clean—a newspaper in the truest sense of the word.

KILLED BY THE FALL.—A little son of Daniel Coughlan, janitor of the City building, fell over the balustrade on the second floor to the tiles below, yesterday afternoon, and was killed. The lamentable accident occurred about 6.30 p. m. when the mother and father were working in the lower rooms. The child struck on his head, and the skull was broken in. He expired shortly after the sad occurrence. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all in the loss of their bright little son.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT.—The men who have just returned from the 'drives' report the drowning of a young man named Hogan. While breaking a jam on Whalen's 'drive,' at Blake's Falls, on the south branch of the Renous River, he met his death by drowning. The jam broke unexpectedly and before Hogan had time to turn around he was precipitated into eternity. The circumstances of this particular case are extremely sad, as the deceased was the only remaining one of five sons, the other four having died of diphtheria some time ago.—Chatham World.

THE BLANCHE.—The portwardens held a survey on the schooner Blanche on Willson & M cLaughlin's blocks yesterday. They found the foremast head broken; inside, the hooks and pointers started; outside, caulking slack.

They recommended the foremast be taken out and the head fished; the hooks, pointers and stem be rebolted, about 500 trenails driven into the bilges and forward; that the bowsprit, jibboom, cathead, knightheads, cutwaters, figurehead, stanchions, thick woods, bulwarks and iron work, stays, running gear, forward and blocks be replaced by new; the jibs martingale and block chains be repaired; vessel caulked outside and all other damage made good.

A False Alderman.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE:—

The electors of Brooks ward are justly indignant at present on account of the contemptible conduct of Ald. Lockhart in connection with the Leary dock matter. Previous to the civic elections held in April last, the irrepressible Lockhart, with hat in hand, canvassed for votes-pledging his aid to the dock project, assuring those who gave him their support that he would use all his influence towards getting the dock for Carleton. The next day after the election Mr. Lockhart was found working against the election of the present mayor, who is known to be favorable to the scheme. In short, Ald. Lockhart has simply acted in a manner inconsistent with his promises, and has deceived those who have placed him in his present position. The speech made at the last session of the council by Mr. Lockhart in re this matter showed the true position of this many-sided official.

THE MONCTONS.

The Moncton Transcript publishes an interesting interview with Mr. Geo. F. Fair, on the baseball prospects in that city. Mr. Fair says: "We have no reason to doubt that it will be the liveliest base ball season ever known in the Maritime provinces. Last year won't be fairly to hold a candle to it. We have more games, better players and another good club in the League. The teams seem to be pretty evenly matched, and an exciting race for the pennant may be looked for. * * * *

The management of the Moncton team has had a great volume of correspondence with players, and has gone to a great deal of trouble to get men who were not only first class players but had good habits as well to recommend them. * * * Our whole team is now selected and I have no hesitation in saying that Moncton will have a team it will not be ashamed of. Our last capture will be the best pitcher in the League and the contract will be forwarded to him tomorrow. We have two good batteries and it is proposed to play our exchange battery in the out-field, leaving the infield permanent. This will be a point in our favor."

With reference to the other league clubs Mr. Fair expresses himself thus:—"Well, I think they are a very good crowd all through. The Fredericton have secured a good batting team, but having five pitchers it is hardly likely they will put up a very brilliant fielding game. The St. Johns have a well balanced team, but the infield may require a little strengthening before the season closes. The Shamrocks are playing some new men this year who add considerable strength to the team, and they are an element which will require to be taken into consideration in any speculation as to the probable pennant winners. But we feel confident the Moncton team will be able to hold its own even in this assemblage of talent."

The playing team of the Moncton club described by the Transcript will be as follows:

"Stick" Aldrick, of Boston, who will do the principal work in the box for the Monctons this season, is one of the best known ball players in New England. That he will meet the expectations of the local management there is little doubt. He is probably the best twirler ever engaged by a New Brunswick club. He is also a good batter.

E. Burke, Moncton's new change pitcher, is a rattling player with lots of pluck and endurance. Last season he pitched for the Lovell Arms, Mass., team, and won every game. This season he has pitched six games for the Boston Athletic Association team, winning five. He is also a fine batter and fine fielder.

F. J. Bassett is not only a fine catcher, batter and outfielder but a gentleman and a scholar. He comes highly recommended as a fine all round player. He will catch Burke. He is one of the best players in Massachusetts and, played in last season's Lovell's Arms.

Jim Keegan, who will play short stop, is a "dandy" fielder and batter. He is at present playing with the Stoneham, Mass., team. There is little doubt that he will meet expectations. He throws and bats left-handed.

Fred Lake, a Boston player, who will catch Aldrich, is another reliable, player who can handle the stick and play behind the bat with the best of them. Fred and Aldrich will make a good combination.

Last but not least is the brillant little second baseman from Maine, W. E. Keith. This player covered second bag for the Bangors last season in fine shape. He is also a strong and safe hitter.

Of the local players, John McLean, John Burns and F. Crandall, little need be said. Their work last season was up to the mark, and even better playing is expected from them this season. McLean plays first, Burns covers third and Crandall, as usual, will operate in the field.

Thos. Rippey, W. Rippey and Geo. Ackman will be the substitues.

A large whale was seen in the Minas Basin a few days ago.

The docket this morning was made up of six Scott Act cases, all of which were adjourned.—Charlottetown Examiner.

The Fredericton Farmer says it is stated that it cost the Scott act party about $750 to convict the six violaters of the third offences and over $1,000 was spent in their defence.

It is intended soon to establish a new French Acadian paper in the county of Digby. It is to be called the L'Acadie Liberale, and, as its name denotes, will be Liberal in politics.

The Millmen will hold a mass meeting in Berryman's Hall this evening with a view to the adoption of the nine hour system. It is expected that the attendance will be very large.

An Indian named Ned Metallick is missing at Campbellton and is supposed to have fallen over the wharf Sunday morning while intoxicated. His hat was found on the beach.

We regret to hear that C. B. Record, Esq., one of the oldest residents of Moncton and the pioneer in manufacturing, is seriously ill. Mr. Record has been in poor health for some time.

Daniel L. Keith, of Kinnear Settlement, Kings Co. lost a valuable 5 year-old mare Friday night. She threw herself over the wagon tongue and striking her head against an apple tree broke her neck.

The wife and three youngest children Mr. Nathan Kinney, of Comeau's Hill, near Tusket., were all lying dead in the house on Saturday last, victims of diphtheria. One of the children was only 10 days old.

Mrs. R. J. Hill of Truro, died in the public hospital in Boston on Sunday last. Mrs. Hill had been in a delicate state of health for some time and went to Boston last winter, and had some medical attendance there.

Says the Summerside Agriculturalist: A mare belonging to Mr. James Darling, Campbellton, Lot 4, fell over a cliff, sixty feet high, near his house, on the 10th inst., and, strange to say, escaped without injury, though in foal at the time.

Alderman Boak received a telegram from Georgetown, P. E. I., this afternoon announcing the wreck of the schooner Riverdale at Grand River. The vessel struck while entering Grand River, and is now full of water and will likely prove a total wreck. The vessel was to leave the latter place in a few days for Halifax.—Halifax Mail.

Theatrical.

Crowded to the very doors was the condition of the Mechanic's Institute last night, when the curtain rung up on "Jim the Penman." Hundreds of people, who were unable to get admission, thoughtfully secured their seats for the second production of the piece tonight.

"Jim the Penman" is the most successful play that Sir Charles Young, its author, ever gave to the public—it might be said it was his only success. It is a peculiar play, not only in respect of its underlying idea, its ingenuity, its crispness of dialogue, the circle of society where it is worked out, but it is peculiar also in this respect, that the attention of the audience is held fast, is rivetted, so to speak, on the players, and it is necessary to hear every word and see every gesture so that the beauty and the thoroughness of the whole may be fully enjoyed.

The cast was an excellent one and furnishes further testimony, if such were needed, of Mr. Harkins' appreciation of the talents of the different members of his excellent company, and his earnest desire to give our citizens an honest equivalent when they patronize his entertainments.

Miss Grace Huntington in the role of Mrs. Ralston, demonstrated her power as an actress of an undoubted high order, Some of her scenes were very strong indeed, particularly that when she has the interview with the lover of her youth—her acting—without a word spoken—when she compares the treacherous letters with the signature on the subscription book and when, doubt giving away to conviction, she at last denounces her husband as the criminal. Miss Jessie West, Miss Helen Creswick, Miss May Pierce were severally good in their lesser but equally important roles.

Mr. Bradley played the title role, and his task was a truly onerous one, of which he acquitted himself in such a manner as to secure almost universal commendation. Mr. Harkins in the role of Captain Redwood, a detective, was in a new field for him, but his early appearance gave pleasure and he rendered the part for all there was in it. Mr. Snader, Mr. Melville and the others all rendered efficient support, but Mr. Lindsay Hurst as the keen, clever, sardonic Baron Hartfeld, always true to character and never overacting, was the cultivated villian to the life. Curtain calls and applause were in order during the evening. "Jim the Penman" will be given its last production this evening, and to-morrow night also, in compliance with general request, numbers being unable to secure seats for to-night.

An Ocean Steamer's Narrow Escape.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The new ocean steamer Beacon Lights, which arrived here today from Newcastle-on-Tyne, collided with an iceberg 600 feet long and 90 feet high during a dense fog on the 14th instant on the Grand Banks. The vessel was moving very slowly but the crash was tremendous. A large layer of the berg was torn away and 50 tons of ice fell upon the vessel, smashing the iron deck near the forecastle head and filling the foredeck. The steamer went on her beam ends and the ice worked up under her fore foot, tearing the iron plates to pieces and penetrating the hull to its very skin. The locks of the air tanks gave way, and a number of men were overpowered by the gas. There was a momentary panic among the men. Water poured into the tanks through the broken bows with great force, and in five hours there were 8 feet of water in the hold. The vessel reached this port with 2,500 tons of water under deck. The steam pumps, and the fact that several tanks remained intact kept the ship from sinking.

THEY EXPECT A SAVIOUR.

Indians at Western Agencies who Hope to Join a Supernatural Being.

ST. PAUL, April 26.—Gen. Ruger of the Department of Dakota received a letter from Major Carroll of Fort Custer, Mont. saying that the Indians of the Tongue river agency were greatly excited over the expected appearance of a Saviour. This is a peculiar case, and presents many strange features. The accounts that can be gathered of this coming of an Indian Christ are very fragmentary, but the belief is thoroughly grounded in the minds of the Indians, and under the leadership of their medicine men they have worked up quite a revival, and are confidently awaiting the appearance of their Saviour.

Some time ago the Indian interpreter at the Cheyenne and Arapahoes agency, in the Indian Territory, wrote in a letter to the interpreter at the Tongue River agency:

"Chayennes and Arapahoes here are greately excited about a Christ coming among some of the Northern tribes of Indians. The Arapahoes have been getting letters from Northern Arapahoes in regard to it. My friends here wish me to ask what there is about it, and what do you know about it? They sent two of their young men to the Shoshone agency in Idaho a month and a half ago to find out all about it, but those two have not returned yet.

The Tongue River interpreter made an investigation among the Indians there, and reports as follows:

"The Indians say Christ is in the mountains, and he wants all the Indians to come to him. He will put them behind him, and, having all the white before him, will roll the world over on the whites and destroy them. He is a white man."

The above has been told by Indians at the Shoshone agency. In addition the Indians say that this Christ showed some Indians scars on his hands and feet and a spear wound in his side. He wants all the Indians to come there giving up firearms and use only bows and spears. He is to roll the world on the whites in case they abuse the Indians. Where this white man lives the sun is very close and the earth is so hot it burns their feet. No grass grows there.

Gen. Ruger says that it is not unlikely this repost originated from the teachings of missionaries among the Indians, which they have mixed with their mythology. The Indian medicine men have all taken up the new religion, and are making themselves very popular. One of the difficult things to explain, however, is the wide distribution of the story which seems to have been brought out independently at two places, over 1,000 miles apart. In order to prevent trouble which might arise from some white man pretending to be the Christ, Gen. Ruger has detailed Major Carroll of Fort Custer to proceed to the Tongue River Agency at once and thoroughly sift the matter.

What he Died Of.

From the New York Herald.

"I don't know what to make of my husband," said a young wife, tearfully; "he begs me not to cook anything, but to allow our trained cook to prepare the meals."

"My husband was different," said a lady in deep mourning; "he was emphatic in his orders that the food should always be prepared by my hands."

"And your husband—where is he now?"

"He is dead."
