AT OSGOODE HALL.

Yesterday's Doings at the Legal Headquarters—To-Day's Lists of Cases.

The Court of Appeal will shortly hear the appeal against the quashing of the Essex County local option bylaw, obtained by Hotelkeeper John Thrashen some years ago.

The Grimsby Quarry Co.'s action against Contractor John Shields for an account in connection with the dredging of Ashbridge's Bay has been dismissed for want of prosecution.

Application is being made at Osgoode Hall to have dismissed for want of prosecution Contractor W. W. Jones' suit for $18,000 against the Freehold Loan Co., Architect Lennox and Contractor Robert Swan for work done and wrongful dismissal.

The Master-in-Chambers yesterday reserved judgment on a motion to strike out certain paragraphs in Mrs. Pearson's suit for alimony against her husband, James Pearson.

The Court of Appeal has sustained the finding of the arbitrators in the action over ground rent between the executors of the Small estate and the St. Lawrence Foundry Co.

The Divisional Court has reserved judgment on George Kielty's appeal from the Bank of Toronto's judgment for $3000 against him.

THE KOOTENAY DISTRICT.

A Toronto Man Thinks it is the Richest in the World.

Mr. S. J. Mighton, a commercial man doing business for Eastern Canadian houses, has just returned from the Kootenay district of British Columbia, where he spent last winter. He is full of enthusiasm as to the future of that country, which he regards as the richest part of Canada, and the most promising mining country in the world. He says the English syndicate, who own the famous Silver King mine, are raking in $25,000 a week. They have a smelter at Nelson. Another rich mining section is that on Trail Creek, where there is now a steady influx of population. Rossland is a thriving town of 5000, and a railroad is being built from Trail Creek up the mountain to that point. Regarding the Slocan district, Mr. Mighton says it is bound to be busy and prosperous when the new railway through the Crow's Nest Pass is completed. This road will be the making of Slocan City and New Denver. He says the Americans are opening up the country, the purchase of the Noble Five mine at Sandon, by the Cobourgians of Toronto, being about the only investments of Canadian capital. Mr. Mighton returns to the coast in a few days.

The Temperance League and the Pavilion.

Editor World: There is something markedly contradictory in the action of the City Council at times. My attention has been directed to an advertisement asking for tenders for the lease of the Pavilion for Sunday service, being the reply that was given to the Canadian Temperance League's application for the use of this building for Sunday afternoons for the season of 1896-97. There is no reason why this institution, more than any other, should secure this building, and yet let me be contradictory myself, and say there are several reasons why they should have the preference.

For one thing, they have been tenants of the city for six months each year for the past six years, and have complied, I understand, in every particular with the requirements of the lease, promptly paying their rental in advance each week. Whether one will agree or not in the reform that this organization advocates, at a time when the city is expending money to advertise in American journals for the purpose of influencing travel here, it is worth remembering, and the writer speaks whereof he knows, that some of the best advertising that Toronto has ever had has been through the many eminent speakers that this organization has brought here from season to season. These men have gone back to their own country, and as public lecturers and clergymen occupying pulpits of some of the largest churches in the United States, they have been loud in their praises of Toronto, and if the council were seeking for a missionary agent to talk the city's claims, I doubt if they could make a more profitable investment than to give the League the Pavilion free of any charge, much less, than is now the case, to compel them to enter into competition for it. GENEROSITY.

Wheat Outlook in Manitoba.

Elkhorn Advocate, May 14.

Rain, hail and mud puddles seem to be the order of the day at present, and the clerk of the weather office seems to be in a decidedly imitated frame of mind. Frequent storms have occurred during the last week and the town roads seem to be perpetually trying to lay themselves in time for the next flood. Reports from the country round are most disheartening, as on many of the farms the land is far too muddy and soft to permit of the proper work being put in on it yet, which will necessarily mean a late crop. However, one can always find comfort somewhere or other if one only looks long enough for it, and two most comforting facts were brought before our notice the other day: one being that in the last wet year although the crop was very late, it was one of the heaviest that has been seen in the country and therefore we may hope for a large yield than there has been of late, while the other fact, which we consider a most pertinent one, was that this district at any rate there is a good of the crop in already, while in other districts seeding has not even begun yet.
