ELEVENTH YEAR. FRIDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 24, 1890. ONE CENT.

SCORING GRANDMA GLOBE.

THE OLD ORGAN'S ATTACK ON THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Retiring Chairman Boustead Says He is Going to Draw Up a Scathing Reply—The Claims Fund All Gone—The Troubles in the Art School—Pay for the Chairmen.

The Executive Committee had an animated meeting yesterday afternoon. A variety of subjects were discussed, among them being The Globe's brutal attack on the aldermen and its uncalled-for reference to the city debt. The Globe has been roundly scored all over the city for this article, not only by its political opponents but by Reform property owners themselves. The president of The Globe company, Mr. Robert Jaffray, is an extensive real estate holder in the business district, and it is puzzling other holders of realty how Mr. Jaffray could permit such an injurious attack on the city's credit and standing to appear. It can only be accounted for by the fact that The Globe's president, like nearly everyone else in Canada, knows that the influence of that erratic journal has long since vanished.

There were present Ald. Boustead (chairman), Carlyle (St. Thos.), Saunders, Graham, Frankland, Booth, Vokes, Moses and Mayor Clarke. The chairman had to stand a running fire of twittings over his proposed resignation. "Gentlemen," said the chairman, "I had to come down to-day to bid you goodbye and settle up the different unfinished business in my hands."

Ald. Graham: "They say that when a vessel is about to sink the rats all leave her."

Ald. Saunders: "Oh, rats!"

Ald. Vokes: "We will let him off if he stands the oysters all round."

The Chairman: "Gentlemen, I think the Mayor ought to do that."

The Mayor: "Well, you might leave us a lock of your hair."

The Chairman: "I am sorry, but I have none to spare."

A little bill amounting to $400 for architects' fees for the College-street branch library which was never built was sent in for payment by the Public Library Board. It was Ald. Vokes' child, and although it had met with a defeat in council afterwards he defended the payment of the amount. The Chairman and Ald. Frankland declared that if the people did not take care there would be as many branch libraries as there are schools. Ald. Carlyle and Saunders will wait on the board to see if it cannot pay the amount out of its own appropriation.

The Claims Fund All Gone.

The following letter was received and created some discussion:

GENTLEMEN,—At the last meeting of the Commission on Claims accounts were passed by the body amounting to $3861. In accordance with the bylaw, I have notified the parties of the decision of the commission in each case, and many of them have accepted the offers thus made. The treasurer now informs me that he will not be able to pay the amounts ordered by the commission, as the balance at the credit of the fund is only $670, the original estimate of $10,000 having been reduced by the Executive Committee when revising the estimates.

If claims for damages are not settled the only result will be litigation with costs added to the granted claims that under the circumstances it is for your committee to make provision for are inevitable and practically uncontrollable expenditure. C. R. W. BIGGAR.

The chairman was authorized to secure the funds required, as there was no help for it.

James French sent in a communication complaining that certain property in St. Thomas' Ward owned by him had been assessed at $200 a foot, while other lots on the same street and one next to his was allowed to remain at $125. He thought this was a manifest injustice and prayed for relief. The Mayor thought so, too, and on his motion the matter was referred to the Assessment Commissioner for a report.

Ald. Frankland moved that powers be asked for the assistant to the Police Magistrate to try all cases, criminal and otherwise, within the scope of the court in the magistrate's absence. After some discussion the resolution was adopted and with the consent of council will be sent on to the Attorney-General. In the course of the debate there were some high words between the Mayor and the chairman. The latter claimed that he was as much an acting magistrate as Ex-Ald. Baxter, to which statement the Mayor took issue.

The Art School Troubles.

This letter was filed for future action:

To Worship the Mayor and the Executive Council:

SIRS,—A number of our leading citizens and the members of the Ontario Society of Artists, having formed a corporate body, according to an act respecting mechanics' institutes and art schools, to be known as "The Central Ontario School of Art and Design," the object being the better education of our citizens in art and design, without which we can never hope to attain any reputation as a manufacturing centre; and whereas there is now in our city a school known as "the Toronto Art School," that has been receiving a grant from the government and our city, and that now on account of its not being legally conducted the government has withheld its usual grant;

We pray your honorable body to withhold your grant from that school, as we claim it is both inefficiently and illegally conducted and that our corporation is the only properly qualified to-day, both legally and efficiently, in your municipality.

ROBERT F. GAGEN, Sec. O.S.A.

When the report of the Board of Works came up for consideration Ald. Carlyle attacked the recommendation of the City Engineer for the grading of McPherson-avenue by day labor. He held that it would prove more expensive in the end than having it done by contract. He believed that he was just as good an expert in a matter of this sort as Mr. Jennings. Besides he was personally interested in the property and protested as a citizen and owner.

Mayor Clarke pointed out that being interested Ald. Carlyle should not discuss the matter. However, the clause was sent on to council, Mr. Jennings meanwhile to be instructed to furnish the figures on which he bases his claim for cheapness of day labor.

Pay For the Chairmen.

The report of the special committee re the better administration of the affairs of the city when brought up was adopted down to the following clause:

That the chairmen of the five standing committees be elected from amongst the members of the city council by the members thereof, and be paid an annual salary of not less than $3000.

Ald. Saunders objected to it on the ground that $3000 was an absurdly large salary. He thought $2000 about the right figure.

Ald. Moses: "It is a poor man who will devote his whole time to the city for $2000."

Ald. Carlyle: "How many members are on this reform committee?"

The Chairman: "There are seventeen."

Ald. Carlyle: "Yes, and there were but five at the meeting when this report was adopted."

Ald. Moses: "That is the fault of the members who persistently absented themselves. The report was legally passed."

Ald. Saunders pressed his motion that the $3 00 be struck out, and this was adopted. The report as amended was sent on to council.

Expenses and deputations accounts were presented to the amount of $570. The items were passed after some discussion.

The Globe's Attack on the Aldermen.

The Mayor called attention to the two articles in The Globe on the financial condition of the city. If wrong, they ought to be answered in the columns of the paper in which they appeared. He believed that such a course should be adopted.

The Chairman: "Yes, I have been trying to get such a statement up and will shortly have it in shape. The article which appeared in last Saturday week's Globe, there is no doubt, did grave injury to the property of the city of Toronto, injury incalculable. To show you, gentlemen, how we are described I will read you some of the headings, as probably all of you do not read The Globe. Here they are:

WHAT OUR MASTERS COST.

AN INTERESTING STORY OF THE DEBT OF TORONTO.

Taxpayers' Heavy Burdens.

WORSE THAN CHICAGO WITH ALL HER BOODLERS.

FACTS TO STIR UP THE CITIZENS. RENEWING THE CITY DEBT. JUGGLERS OF FINANCE.

As bad as the much condemned lavishness of and corruption of American cities.

Systematic jobbers and reckless squandering of civic funds.

With failure written on every spot of its ill-shapen policy is the corporation of Toronto.

Honest incompetents and wise knaves.

High time that the traffickers for place and the keen hunters for plunder were driven from the seat of government they have so long cumbered.

Worse than Chicago.

"These are the terms The Globe applies to Toronto," concluded the alderman. Ald. Boustead promised to have placed in the Mayor's hands on Monday night a complete refutation of The Globe's articles.

Before declaring business concluded Ald. Boustead bade the committee adieu, stating that it was the last time he would sit with them.

BOURBON ROYALTY.

The Comte de Paris and Party Make a Very Short Stay in Toronto En Route to Montreal.

H.R.H. COMTE DE PARIS.
H.R.H. DUC D' ORLEANS.
MARQUIS DE LESTAGNE.
DUC D' UZES.
COUNT D' HOUSONVILLE.
COL. DE FAMENVAL.
CAPT. MARBIN.
DR. RECAMIER.

This distinguished party with a cloud ofackeys of the pronounced Parisian type and 45 pieces of baggage invaded Union station from the Falls at 1¼ p.m. yesterday and without wasting any further time than it took them to change cars, continued their journey to Kingston by the Belleville mixed, which by the courtesy of the Grand Trunk officials had been held back for half-an-hour to suit their convenience. They were viewing the Falls on Wednesday, and got into Hamilton at 11.40.

Last night was passed at the Frontenac Hotel, Kingston, and this morning a private yacht, placed at the Count's disposal through the courtesy of the Montreal Reception Committee, will take the party through the Thousand Islands to Brockville, where a deputation of Montreal citizens, both French and English, headed by Mayor Grenier, will meet the distinguished Frenchmen and convey them by special train to Montreal, arriving at the Hotel Windsor by 8 p.m.

Both the Comte de Paris and his son the Duc are fine looking men, especially the former. He told The World that he would have to wait until he reached Montreal before he could give his impressions of Canada. As for the Falls, he believed it was the grandest sight on earth. There was certainly nothing in La Belle France to equal their majestic grandeur. To judge from the opinion of the porters around Union Station the Bourbons must be liberality itself, as one and all dubbed the party first-class fellows. Tips were numerous.

The Old Bourbon Flag Not to Be Displayed.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—The Citizens' Committee have decided that at the banquet to the Comte de Paris the white fleur-de-lis flag of the old Bourbon dynasty shall not appear, and that the banquet hall will be decorated only with the flags of England, France and Canada.

The question was a delicate one to decide, as it was thought the absence of the old flag would not be pleasant to the Comte. It has also been hinted that no political allusion of any kind be made in any of the speeches.

The banquet in point of numbers promises to be a great success. Several Republicans have purchased tickets merely to honor a distinguished visitor.

Confessed His Guilt.

COBOURG, Oct. 23.—John Pelow confessed to Constable Ulyett on Sunday night that he was the man who broke into Routh & Graham's shop in the west end on Oct. 2 and stole therefrom two pair of wool blankets and four pieces of tweed cloth. He claimed that he was under the influence of liquor when he committed the offence. Police Magistrate Dumble committed the man to jail for three months. He is 37 years of age and has a wife and seven children.

D. A. Mathewson of Blenheim, who has been retailing milk and whisky from a churn labeled "Jersey Milk" at all the fairs in the west, was caught by a license inspector at Rodney and fined $61.50.

Antoine Morchez, one of the Italians accused of complicity in the murder of Chief of Police Hennessy, was arrested at New Orleans yesterday. A short time afterwards his son, Aspero, aged 14, was arrested, and with him a negro, who said the boy had told him that on the night of the murder he had been stationed by his father at the corner of Rampart and Basin-streets, with instructions to whistle twice when Hennessy appeared. He did so, and thus warned the assassins that their victim was approaching.

"I AM NOT A SEPARATIST!"

THE OLD MAN ELOQUENT OBJECTS TO THE TERM.

Gladstone Delivers Another Address at West Calder—He Considers the Eccles Election a Forecast of the Triumph of the Liberals—One Man One Vote and Shorter Parliaments.

WEST CALDER, Oct. 23.—Mr. Gladstone spoke here to-day. He referred to the result of the Eccles election as a forecast of the triumph of the Liberals in the coming general election, which, if the present ratio of gains continued, would give them a majority of 90. Recurring to the Irish question he objected to the name "separatist" as applied to the Home Rulers. The appellation, he said, was untrue and unfair. There was now no question among the Liberals about removing the Irish representation from Westminster. Nor did they propose to repeal the Act of Union, but they did propose to delegate to Ireland the control of local affairs.

He advocated the principle of one man one vote and shorter parliaments.

Commenting upon the enormous power workingmen now possess he said it would prove beneficial, as the judgment of the great questions by the masses was more enlightened than that of the educated classes. He would not venture a decisive opinion upon a general 8-hour bill until he saw a definite measure. In spite of the recent vote of trade unions, Mr. Gladstone did not see his way to consider a general legislative proposal. A special 8-hours' miners' bill was on a different footing. He was inclined to think eight hours a day was quite enough for miners.

The Grand Old Man on Strikes.

Referring to strikes, Mr. Gladstone said that down to the present time, when the contest between labor and capital had gone to the sharp issues of strikes and lockouts, the laboring men had in the main been right. Among the means working men ought to select in order to strengthen their position, legal combination was the most valuable. It was a sound system and with only rare exceptions was it harsh upon individuals. The bulk of what workingmen had gained in the contest with capitalists had been through the judicious use of combination. Workingmen ought not to contract the habit of appealing to Parliament to help them out of difficulty by a special act. Freedom of action, reliance upon themselves and unity of policy would lift them to a higher position as individuals and as a class.

SHORTAGE OF CASH.

The National Land League Remarkably Hard Up.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Letters and telegrams from Dublin published in the London papers represent the Irish National League as more closely pressed for money than had been suspected. The special collections taken in the churches will not more than defray the ordinary expenses of the league, which are now being largely increased owing to the numerous recent and impending evictions. It is asserted by Mr. Timothy Harrington and other prominent leaguers that the increased activity of the landlords at this juncture is in pursuance of a concerted plan to embarrass the league at a time when it is believed to be straitened for funds, by throwing upon it for support a much larger number of evicted tenants. The numbers to be supported have certainly greatly increased of late, while the funds, with the closest economy of administration admitted, hardly meet the expenditures. Should this continue it is said a general election, which the Government might at any favorable moment precipitate, would find the Home Rule party disabled in advance of the encounter.

THREE AMERICAN SHARPERS.

The Trio Victimize Nearly All the Big London Jewelers.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Robert A. Wright, a Canadian, aged 52, and two women who gave the names of Condy and Irving, were arraigned in a police court today on a charge of robbing a jeweler in Cheapside of a diamond brooch valued at $550. The police say these three have victimized nearly all the prominent jewelers in London. The man had several thousand pounds on deposit at the American Agency, and all three were plentifully supplied with money. They were held until the women appeared. The women are pretty and were richly dressed. Mrs. "Irving" is about 35 years old and the Condy woman about 28.

Mrs. Irving is said to be the wife of William Burke, alias "Billy the Kid," the American bank thief, who was recently convicted here. The Condy woman says she is single, but refused to give her address. Mrs. Irving, No. 39 West Sixty-fifth-street, New York." Wright had engaged passage for himself and the women by the Allan line steamer which sails Friday.

The Injured Men Carried to the Portsmouth Hospital.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Her Majesty's ship Camperdown, Vice-Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour commanding, sailed from Scarborough for Portsmouth to-day for the purpose of placing in the hospital at the latter place the men who were injured by the slipping of the anchor cable while the ship was preparing to put to sea from Scarborough during the recent heavy gale there.

The other vessels of the fleet, which were also compelled to slip their anchors to escape the danger of dragging them and going ashore, are awaiting at Scarborough the arrival of divers, who will be employed in recovering the lost anchors.

SEVEN DAYS FROM NEW YORK.

Rapid Delivery of the Mails Aboard an Inman Liner.

QUEENSTOWN, Oct. 23.—A remarkable piece of work was accomplished with the American mails to-day arriving on the Inman liner City of New York. The vessel reached Queenstown early in the afternoon, her mails were removed and sent by a special train to Dublin and Kingstown. From there they were transferred to Holyhead by a special steamer and thence again by special train to London, where they will be delivered early Wednesday morning.

This is the first time that American mails have made London on the morning of the seventh day after leaving New York.

Bismarck's Warning Voice.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, in an editorial supposed to have been inspired by Prince Bismarck, points out the danger of the suggested ignoring of the second clause of the Frankfort treaty in connection with the customs union with Austria. The article contains this declaration: "Whatever France does, Germany is bound by her engagements, and her only remedy will be to cancel or modify the clause, which no German statesman will dream of doing." It concluded thus: "It is imperative to dictate a policy which will avoid sowing the germ of differences with Austria. If a dispute is once kindled on account of the Treaty of Frankfort who can foresee the consequences?"

Will Watch the Government.

LISBON, Oct. 23.—A Liberal League has been formed here for the purpose of watching that the Government respects the liberties of the people and safeguards of Portuguese interests abroad. Among the members are a large number of men in political life and military and naval officers and also some prominent members of the Cabinet.

Cable Flashes.

The University of Cambridge has conferred a degree upon Henry M. Stanley.

A vessel with a cargo of gun cotton has sailed from Brest for a Russian port. The gun cotton is for the Russian Government, and was sent from a French powder factory.

Rev. Father David Humphreys, one of the defendants in the conspiracy case now on trial at Tipperary, was found guilty yesterday of committing an assault upon the wife of a policeman and sentenced to pay a fine of $100 or be committed to jail for six months.

It is reported that J. Black, the newly-appointed United States Consul at Dresden, while journeying to that city, commented publicly upon Austrian affairs in a manner which has offended the Government. It is said the government has withheld its exequatur from Mr. Black.

BOTH HAD FOUGHT TO THE DEATH.

A Hunter Stumbles Upon a Tragedy in a Negro Hut.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Oct. 23.—A gentleman hunting in a dense forest in Spottsylvania a few days ago, on approaching a hut in which a negro family lived, was struck with a peculiar odor and observed the presence of vultures in the trees near by. Entering the house he found the bodies of two negro boys in a decomposed state and two others in a critical condition. There were several grown negroes present, but they at first refused to explain the tragedy, but investigation showed that the dead boys had fought and one had killed the other, and was himself so badly wounded that he died shortly afterwards. Another boy of the lot lay upon a cot with his collar-bone broken and in a critical condition. The fourth, it seems, was a sufferer from kidney disease, and had been horribly maltreated by a colored woman in her efforts to alleviate his trouble. The older negroes in charge of the dead and afflicted children were arrested.

NO LONGER IRON-CLAD.

The Secret Oath of the Fenian Brotherhood Abolished.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The bi-annual convention of the Fenian Brotherhood closed at Paterson, N.J., last night. More than 200 delegates were present, representing all sections of the United States. The most important action of the convention was the unanimous endorsement of a recommendation of the general secretary abolishing the secret oath of the organization. Hereafter, all the transactions of the brotherhood will be open, and the public will be free to attend all meetings. In his report the general secretary attributed the disruptions and disasters of the Irish organizations during the past two years to the fact that men with selfish and personal ends to attain had broken through the secrecy clause in the constitution forced themselves into power. A special committee was appointed on the future of the organization and in their report recommended that the Fenian Brotherhood become an open organization and that military and naval companies be organized and ninety per cent of the receipts be devoted to this purpose. The companies are to be known as the Fenian volunteers and will be held in readiness to assist the United States in case of foreign war.

Gold Doubloons in a Coffin.

NEW JERSEY, Oct. 23.—George W. Hughes, who had accumulated a considerable fortune, died in Russia 15 years ago and his widow came to this country with most of his estate in her possession. Mrs. Hughes did not know how to convey the cash to America without being robbed, and so converted about $100,000 of the cash into gold doubloons and had them packed away safely in a coffin. She took passage with the coffin for New York, and it was supposed by those on shipboard that in the coffin were the remains of her husband.

Arriving in this country Mrs. Hughes converted the doubloons into United States securities, which at that time were very low in the market. The will of her late husband arrived in this country and it was found that nearly the whole of his estate had been left to some children of the brothers of the deceased. Proceedings in the interest of the heirs are now being taken.

THE JUNCTION'S SEWAGE.

Mr. Kuichling of Rochester Has Another Conference With the Town Council.

Mr. Emil Kuichling, the city engineer of Rochester, had another long consultation with the council of West Toronto Junction yesterday regarding the sewage question before making any report. He agrees in the main with the report made by Willis Chipman, C.E., last June, though he thinks the pipes recommended by the latter are small in view of a large increase of population. It would be impossible to utilize the Toronto sewers, because only the sewer at the town could be drained in that direction, and even then the Toronto sewers would be too small for the increased volume. The relative merits of the two systems, the "combined" and the "separate," were then explained. The "combined" sewers are those designed to carry both the domestic house sewage and the rainfall, while the "separate" sewers are designed to carry house sewage only, excluding the rainfall. He scouted the idea that the Toronto water supply would be contaminated by emptying the sewage into Humber Bay. The Parkdale waterworks must go in any case, and the sewage would be so spread and scattered long before reaching the island as to be perfectly innocuous. It would cost the Toronto itself drained a large area into the lake at the Old Fort, which was much nearer the Toronto intake than Humber Bay.

Finally the council decided to order Mr. Kuichling to prepare a complete report of the cost of draining the town with an estimated population of 30,000 by each of the "combined" and "separate" systems. Mr. Kuichling expects to have the report ready in about two months.

The council also made a very favorable proposal to the Barnum Wire and Iron Company to locate at the Junction. Mr. Clendenan has promised a two-acre site and $5000, and other citizens have contributed to make a bonus of $14,000 if the company will erect its works there. The council yesterday agreed in case the above offer is accepted (1) to grade and culvert the Weston-road approaching the site; (2) to supply the factory with water at cost for 10 years; (3) to exempt the factory and site from taxation for 10 years; (4) to connect gas mains or electric city to the factory within two years; (5) and to assist the company in obtaining a switch from the G. T. R.

McCabe is the man who many years ago stood his trial in Ingersoll on a charge of poisoning his first wife, being acquitted after two hearings. THE JAMAICA EXPOSITION.

RAPID WORK IN ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE GREAT FAIR.

Details of the Leading Exhibits of Canada and of European Countries—Canada Has the Largest Space and Will Have by all Odds the Most Varied Exhibit of Products.

[Condensed From N. Y. Herald Correspondence.]

PORT MARIA, Oct. 20.—Jamaicans are astonished themselves, not only with the progress made with the buildings and grounds of the exposition, but with the prospect of success. Old residents are amazed at the great variety of home exhibits and the vast and hitherto unexpected resources of the island. Applicants can only be granted a small portion of the space they apply for, and the 20,000 square feet reserved for such purpose would not contain half the goods our people would like to send. The Jamaica Institute has 2500 feet of space, and will make a show of ancient and rare books illustrating the history of the West Indies and the Spanish Main, and also modern publications relating thereto. The British and Foreign Bible Society will show 200 versions of the Bible. The chief West India Islands will be well represented. Barbados takes 1000 square feet, Grenada and St. Vincent 450 square feet each. Turks Island will also have 450 square feet, and exhibit fibres, salt, etc. Their space will be surrounded by a network of seabird feathers ten feet high, the corners being adorned by turtle heads as capitals, and there will be a dado of conch shells.

What Will Be Exhibited.

Seventeen foreign countries will exhibit, but Canada has the largest space, and will probably have the most varied exhibit, as the Dominion Government, as also the Canadian merchants, are alive to the fact that the renaissance of Jamaica means a vast extension of trade with us and the islands adjoining.

With the exception of glazing and painting the main building is complete. British Columbia and the maritime provinces will show fish and minerals; Manitoba and the Northwest provinces, grain, minerals and general produce; Ontario fruits, manufactures and fine art; grain. The United States will be poorly represented. Scotland will have a characteristic display, and also the manager of the Edinburgh Exposition to direct affairs here as general manager.

There has been but one application from Ireland, and that emanated from a Dublin saddle and harness maker. France sends jewelry, fine arts, wines and spirits; Germany, rare books and beers; beers; Switzerland, books, stationery and watches; Austria has a representative exhibit for her 4000 square feet of space; Belgium will send rare embroideries, paintings, etc.; a large amount of space will be filled by Italians with sculptures, bronze statuary, etc., while raw and manufactured silk from India will adorn the building. Russia will be late, but will send a variety of goods.

Arrangements for Steamers.

So far as I can learn no arrangements have been made by the steamship companies whose vessels trade to our ports, as to special reductions of fare to exhibition visitors or to general tourists during the continuance of the exhibition.

The Canadian Government provided a special steamer, and have appropriated $100,000 towards paying the expenses of their exhibitors. What is now needed is information for the traveling public and health seekers, who will want to know how to reach Kingston and "what it costs."

The Institute of Jamaica have offered a prize of $1000 for the best machine or set of machines suitable for treating tropical fibres, such as ramie, manilla, bamboo, agave and penguin. There are other offers by private parties, and the successful exhibitor is sure of a large sale. Will inventors allow this opportunity to pass? There is a sure demand for the inventor. Tube wells and boring apparatus are greatly needed in various parts of the island at certain seasons, and if some could be shown working in the exhibition grounds many plants would be disposed of by the exhibitors.

OVERRUN WITH BRIGANDS.

Bands of Cut-Throats Committing Depredations in Cuba.

HAVANA, Oct. 23.—Since the advent of Cuba's new Captain-General, Don Camilo Polavieja, the brigands have grown more audacious than ever. The eastern part of the island is literally overrun with them, because the troops detailed to accomplish their extermination have so far confined their desultory and futile operations to the western districts. A horde of energetic cut-throats raided the village of Peru on Oct. 5 and severely wounded an influential citizen named Senor Jose Milan, who barely escaped with his life by mounting a swift horse. The same night three of the desperadoes entered the store of Senor Jose Lugo in Arroyo Blanco, where a half-dozen customers had gathered to make purchases and to discuss plans for protection against visits of the bandits. Two of these people had come well armed, but left their weapons lying around the store when they sat down to talk. The first of the three brigands to enter the place put himself between the citizens and their arsenal, holding a cocked revolver in each hand. The citizens did not get out of their chairs until the three unwelcome visitors left, taking all the portable valuables upon which they could lay their hands, and intimating that if Senor Lugo did not present them with $2000 on a specified date he would be a ghost inside of 48 hours. Thirty minutes after the bandits had finished looting Lugo's establishment troops were on their track, but they easily escaped to their mountain fastnesses. These fellows are members of a gang led by one Marcio, a new figure in the annals of Cuban brigandage. Who Marcio is, nobody knows, for he never put in an appearance prior to last summer. Rumor has it that he is a United States citizen, the survivor of some defunct filibustering expedition. In his short career he has made himself a terror to law-abiding people, and his fame as an outlaw bids fair to rival that of the great and only Manuel Garcia, "King of the Cuban Forests." Garcia himself, has remained in dignified retirement for more than a month, presumably fattening on the blackmail which he has levied from various railway corporations. Some say that he has temporarily suspended his forays so as to give some of the other bandit chiefs, notably "Matagras," once the scourge of the island, a chance to earn a living. As the sugar crop is ripe for harvest, and agricultural laborers are so terrified that they will not trust themselves out of the shadow of the military garrisons under any consideration, the planters are in a distressing quandary. They have repeatedly besought the government to protect them, but in vain.

JOHN MURPHY OF TORONTO.

Arrested in Chicago on Suspicion of Robbery and Murder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—John Murphy, who says he comes from Toronto; Thomas Sye, hailing from Montreal, and Frank Burns of Buffalo, were arrested this afternoon on suspicion of having murdered Michael Brazell, one of the oldest and best known residents of this place, whose corpse was found at his barn door in Desplaines-street, the skull cleft open with an ax. Brazell's pockets had been slit with a knife and all valuables abstracted. The murder took place within gunshot of a hall where a large political gathering was held.

The Toronto police know two John Murphys. One is a sailor who has not been in the city for some time, and Detective Burrows does not consider him likely to be mixed up in a murder case. The other, whose pedigree Detective Murray is familiar with, was in the habit of consorting with thieves and was several times arrested here as a suspect but never held. He was in Toronto last just before the exhibition.

PUMMELED TO A JELLY.

Terrible Punishment Inflicted on the Vanquished in a Prize Fight.

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Oct. 23.—The glove fight between George Dixon of Boston and Johnny Murphy of Haverhill, Mass., took place at the rooms of the Gladstone Club in this city to-night. It was won by Dixon, Murphy's seconds throwing up the sponge in the 40th round. It was seen at the start that Murphy was overmatched, but it took Dixon 2¾ rounds to whip him. The fight was for $1000 a side and a $1500 trophy. There was an immense crowd in attendance.

Sports were present from all sections of the country to see the mill. The men weighed in Boston yesterday. Dixon had trained down to 113½ pounds and Murphy tipped the beam at the same weight. Murphy's fighting weight is 108 pounds and when he stripped in the ring it manifested Dixon it was seen that he was too fat, and in build and reach was no match for his dusky opponent, who looked like a sleek, well-groomed horse, fit to win in a canter. Murphy's staying powers were simply marvelous, and it is astonishing how he managed to come up round after round in the face of the terrible punishment he received. It was thought by the way the fight started in that Dixon would make a short order, and up to the 16th round it looked as though the succeeding round would finish Murphy, but he revived considerably after that round and took his punishment gamely.

He was badly used up at the finish, and though barely able to crawl over the ropes protested against his seconds throwing up the sponge, in fact he went over to Dixon's corner after the referee had given his decision and offered to continue the fight. He presented a pitiable spectacle at the close of the fight, his face streaming with blood and his mouth open, gasping for breath.

Dixon seemed scarcely fatigued and was not even sore for a bruise over the left eye and a slight swelling across his nose. Dixon was seconded by Tom O'Rourke and Howie Holske. Danny Gilbane and Dan Powers looked after Murphy. The betting at the ring side before the fight was $100 to $80 on Dixon, but after the 16th round there was one bet made of $100 to $50. After that Dixon money went begging, $50 to $30 being offered on Dixon and no takers. The men entered the ring at 9.35 and the sponge was thrown up at 12¼.

DEATH OF AN EXPERT CROOK.

Pete McCartney, the Noted Counterfeiter, Dies in Prison.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 23.—Pete McCartney, one of the most famous counterfeiters this country has ever known, died at the Penitentiary hospital this morning of consumption, in the 60th year of his age. He had been a criminal from boyhood, and his name has been a byword in the Secret Service Department of the United States Government for years. His last offence was committed in 1888 at New Orleans, where he was caught passing counterfeit fractional currency. He was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for ten years.

Pete once said, to prove that he was not altogether bad, that on two occasions he saved trains from being wrecked by scoundrels. He was an educated man and made a study of the principles of engraving and the application of his knowledge toward criminal ends. He was a fine dentist and a skilled chemist, an expert manufacturer of engravers' and dentists' tools, and possessed of a knowledge of making the paper used by the Government for bonds or money purposes. The last named accomplishment made him the most dangerous man that ever handled an engraver's tools. He made a $1000 United States bond so perfect that it was redeemed at the Treasury and the holder of the genuine one was later arrested and charged with counterfeiting. He leaves a married daughter residing in Columbus.
