WINTON ISN'T CAUGHT YET

Detective Cuddy Returns From New York, Where He Investigated a Story.

WAS THE BANK ROBBER ROBBED?

No Reason to Disbelieve Bertha Searles Story That $1800 Was Stolen From Him.

Detective Cuddy, who went to Pittsburg and New York last week after two of the $100 bills reported to have been stolen by Cheque-Raiser Winton, turned up at the first-named place, returned to the city yesterday morning. Altho he did not bring either man or money with him, it is stated that he has secured plenty of information concerning the case. The officer went to Pittsburg, and there had a long interview with Bertha Searles, the colored woman to whom one of the bills was traced. To the Pittsburg authorities the woman told a story of having got the note from a New York gambler named Chappell, but when Detective Cuddy reached that city she denied this, and related what she says is the truth concerning her connection with the case.

Colored Woman's Story.

Mrs. Searles lived with friends in Indianapolis until three years ago, when she removed to New York and secured a position there as a domestic. After working steadily for about two years, it is asserted, she stole from her employer, and was given 11 months in the States Prison. Her time expired about two weeks ago, and for several days subsequently she frequented disreputable resorts in New York. One afternoon, according to her story, she was walking down Broadway, when a man supposed to be the cheque-raiser spoke to her and accompanied her to a building on that street, kept by a negro nicknamed the "Black Prince." The keeper of the resort was not at home at the time, and Bertha Searles and her newly-made acquaintance were received by a woman who passed as his wife. Winton, it is claimed, hung his coat near a curtain which concealed a sliding panel, and when his back was turned the panel was opened, and his pockets, where the $5000 from the Toronto banks was lying, were rifled.

Says $1800 Was Stolen.

Bertha Searles says the amount stolen was $1800. Subsequently Winton left the place, and, after finding that he had been robbed, returned and threatened the inmates of the place with arrest. He, however, was not in a position to execute the theft, and so did not cause them any annoyance. Before he went out he remarked "You haven't got it all. See what you missed," and at the same time displayed a roll of $100 dollar Canadian bills. The keeper of the resort returned to the place after Winton had gone, and it is stated was given the stolen bills by his paramour. That night the "Black Prince" handed over to Miss Searles two $100 bills, and suggested to her that she secure a female acquaintance named Williams, and pay a visit to a woman in Pittsburg whom he knew, and whose address he gave. The two women reached Pittsburg the following night, and the day after their arrival Miss Searles changed one of the bills at a bank. Next day the woman gave the other bill to her companion, Miss Williams, and told her to change it at a broker's office. It was here that the note was detected, and the woman who presented it was placed under arrest. Miss Williams told that she got the bill from Miss Searles, and the latter was also taken into custody. Believing that the Williams woman knew nothing about the case, the Pittsburg police let her go.

Believes the Woman's Story.

Bertha Searles was held until the arrival of Detective Cuddy, who took her to New York to investigate her story. The officer now says that after conducting the investigation in New York, he has no reason to disbelieve the woman's story, despite the fact that the man who goes by the name of the 'Black Prince" says it is absolutely untrue.

The case has been left in the hands of the Metropolitan police, and the authorities here are confident that something of importance will develop within the next few days.

The clerks in the local detective department have completed their work of sending out the circulars offering the reward of $1500 for the capture of the cheque-raiser, but so far no replies have been received. The police believe the circulars will at least put a stop to the circulation of the stolen notes.

THE ROBLIN DEAL GOES.

Yesterday morning, afternoon and night the opponents of the Roblin railway deal, which was sanctioned by the Local Legislature, endeavored in the House of Commons at Ottawa to block ratification by the Federal Parliament, but at 2 o'clock this morning the effort to talk it to death collapsed, and the bill passed the committee and was read a third time. Thus the bill only awaits the Governor-General's signature to become law. A report of the debate appears on another page.

PAN-AMERICAN ON SUNDAY.

New York Presbytery Asks Managers to Close Gates on Sabbath.

New York, May 13.—At the regular May meeting of the New York Presbytery today a resolution was passed requesting the managers of the Pan-American Exposition to close its doors on the Sabbath. Godfrey Chabot, a candidate for the ministry, was dismissed at his own request to the Presbytery of Utica.

Famous Horse Case.

Woodstock, May 13.—The noted horse case, McNally v. Lossing, has been revived again, owing to the application of Mr. McNally for a new trial. Some very strong affidavits have been made in favor of the plaintiff. The counsel for Mr. McNally claim that his evidence had been wrongfully rejected in the last trial.

UNKNOWN MAN STRUCK BY TRAIN DIES FROM TERRIBLE INJURIES

Senate Reading Room 5feb 01

Only a Peculiar Mark on His Right Ear Can Lead to Identification.

The body of a young man lies on a slab in the mortuary of the Emergency Hospital unidentified. He met death thru injuries sustained by being struck by a train near Islington early yesterday morning.

About 7.30 o'clock George Butcher, a C.P.R. track foreman, on going to his work, found a man lying beside the track about a mile and a half west of Islington. The man was unconscious, and his head and left leg were terribly mangled. Mr. Butcher procured a hand car, and with the assistance of several workmen had the man removed to Lambton. A physician was summoned, and, after temporarily dressing the injuries, the ambulance removed the injured man to the hospital. There it was found that he had sustained a severe fracture to the right side of the skull, his left leg was almost severed above the knee, and his body was badly bruised. Despite all attention, he gradually sank until his death, which occurred at 2.30 o'clock.

There was nothing found on the clothing worn by the deceased by which he might be identified. In his pockets were found a faded red handkerchief and a small quantity of thread wound around a piece of wood, in which was a needle. This constituted the entire contents of his pockets.

The dead man is 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighs between 135 and 140 lbs., is about 19 years of age, has brown hair and brown eyes. He was dressed in a dark grey coat, black trousers, blue sweater, dark grey underclothing, leather suspenders, black stockings and tan shoes, badly torn. He wore a peak cap of dark material, which, when found, was almost in threads.

DEAD MAN'S PECULIAR EAR.

There is one mark on his body by which he might be identified. It is a peculiar mark on his right ear. Part of the ear is missing, as is seen by the accompanying picture.

It is believed that deceased was run down by a train and thrown over to the side. Several trains had passed the spot where the accident occurred, prior to the finding of the man, and it is generally supposed that one of these struck him.

Coroner Powell, who was notified, has issued a warrant for an inquest, to be held at the Emergency Hospital to-night at 8 o'clock.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER STEAMER STRUCK A SNAG AND WENT DOWN

Two Passengers Were Drowned and 22 Members of the Crew, Mostly Negroes, Are Missing—The Boat, Which Was the City of Paducah, Sank Very Quickly.

St. Louis, Mo., May 13.—A special to The Post Dispatch from Grand Tower, Ill., says:

The steamer City of Paducah sank in 25 feet of water 5 minutes before 10 o'clock last night in less than 5 minutes after striking a snag and while backing out from Brunkhorst Landing. The bodies of two passengers, who were drowned, have been recovered, and 22 members of the crew, most of them negroes, are missing. All of the officers were saved. First Mate Tobias Royal of St. Louis says only about 12 passengers were on board, and all were saved except two.

The body of Dr. J. W. Bell of Bell's Landing, Tenn., was taken out of his stateroom. The remains of a young woman, on which was a visiting card reading, "Mrs. Harry L. Allen, 3430 Eads-avenue, St. Louis, Mo.," was recovered from her stateroom. Two friends traveling with the drowned woman, who started back to St. Louis on the steamer City of Clifton, said that the young lady was engaged to marry Dr. G. A. Meredith of St. Louis. Several hundred dollars worth of jewelry was found on her body.

The passenger list has not been recovered. A diver is searching for it.

Staterooms Filled With Water.

Only the Texas and hurricane decks are above water, which reaches to the skylights of the cabins. All the staterooms are completely filled with water.

The steamboat drifted a third of a mile below the landing before she sank. The first mate says the boat went down within 3 minutes after striking the snag. He was on the cabin deck and escaped by climbing thru the skylight. It is supposed that most of the missing deck hands, who were on the lower deck, were washed down the river. The boat lies down about 100 feet from the Illinois shore, the forepart of the hurricane deck being under water. She appears to be a total wreck.

The coroner, C. E. Knauer of Murphysboro, Ill., is now holding an inquest, while the diver is searching for more bodies.

Thomas Johnston, watchman of the boat, who is said to be among the lost, was 85 years old, and had been a steamboat man for 60 years. He lived in St. Louis.

GREAT DISTURBANCE AT ALBANY STRIKERS STONED NON-UNION MEN

Officials of the Street Car Companies Brought 200 Men From Philadelphia to Run Cars and They Had a Warm Reception—Housed in Car Barns for Night.

Albany, May 13.—Under the escort of a platoon of mounted police, and surrounded by a mob of two thousand Albanians, 200 non-union men were taken at midnight to the Quail-street car barns of the United Traction Company, which is the main station of the Albany City Line of the United Traction Company.

Stones were thrown at the non-union men, and oaths and derisive epithets were hurled at them from the West Shore Railroad Station to the barns, a distance of three miles.

This is the first step taken by the company to operate its lines with non-union men. The officials of the company announce that traffic will be resumed in the morning.

The non-union men arrived on the West Shore Railroad, it is said, from Philadelphia, and were met at the station by a platoon of mounted officers and two patrol wagons full of policemen.

The men were loaded on trucks, and, amid a scene seldom witnessed in any city, were taken to the car barns and housed for the night.

Strikers Would Not Accept.

The company has made every preparation to resume the operation of the road to-morrow. The directors of the company remained in session all afternoon, awaiting a reply from the strikers to the proposition made at the conference this morning. The strikers of the three cities met and unanimously agreed not to accept the proposition.

At 6 o'clock the directors gave orders to the officers of the roads to operate them to-morrow. Notices were sent to the sheriffs of Rensselaer and Albany counties and the mayors and chiefs of police of Albany, Troy, Watervliet, Cohoes and Rensselaer of intention to operate, together with requests for police protection. Forty-five inspectors of the company were sworn in as deputy-sheriffs.

A crowd of several thousand people are in the vicinity of the car barns, where the non-union men are housed, but the barns are protected by large forces of police.

WILL MORGAN AND HILL PART? IF SO, WHAT WILL IT AMOUNT TO?

Should These Magnates Part Company it May Mean That the Motive of the Excitement of Last Week Will Fall Thru—Hill Will Hold His N. P. Stock.

If J. J. Hill and J. P. Morgan, as indicated in the despatch printed below, are to part company, the much-talked of "Burlington deal," on which the recent bull movement in Northwestern Railway stocks was built up, may fall thru. It would seem that the "community of interest" idea, which was to reduce operating expenses and prevent rate-cutting among the great railways and thus increase net earnings and dividends, is in danger of not being realized.

New York, May 13.—The Evening Post says: It is believed that some arrangement will be worked out by which Burlington will be held, so that it cannot possibly be operated to injure any of the western railroads. That is, the Union Pacific will not only get an interest in the property, but the St. Paul, which, next to the Union Pacific, was most seriously jeopardized by the passing of Burlington control to the Northern Transcontinental lines, which share in the Burlington's contract, so that it will be removed absolutely as a disturbing factor in the railway situation.

It is not believed that J. P. Morgan & Co. will be displaced as the interest responsible before the public for that property's management, but there was some suggestion to-day that the alliance between Mr. Hill and Mr. Morgan, which has only been of a six months' duration, will be ended. There is good ground for saying that, while Mr. Hill has probably retained the large interest in Northern Pacific which he acquired last summer, when the stock declined below 50, on the reduction of the dividend, the most influential of Mr. Hill's friends in the directorate have liquidated their holdings. They were, with Mr. Hill, who is now a Northern Pacific director, the most enthusiastic advocates of the Burlington deal. This was long opposed by the older Northern Pacific people.

DECHENE MADE A SENATOR.

Ottawa, May 13.—Alphonse Arthur Miville Dechene, M.P., has been appointed to the Senate in the place of late Senator Ross.

Mr. Dechene was first elected to Parliament in 1896. He is 52 years of age, a lumberman and a large land owner, who has taken an active interest in the municipal and political affairs of his province.

The Liberals, who started in 1896 with nine supporters in the Upper Chamber, have now 36 out of 81, which leaves the Conservatives with a majority of 9.

BRODRICK'S ARMY SCHEME

War Secretary's Motion in the House of Commons Met With Liberal Opposition.

MR. WYNDHAM, IRISH SECRETARY,

Defended the Government and Showed British Soldier Cost Less Than American.

London, May 13.—War Secretary Brodrick, in the House of Commons to-day, moved his army scheme providing for six corps with 50,000 militia as a reserve, and increasing the Yeomanry from 12,000 to 35,000 men.

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, moved as an amendment that, while desirous of improving the efficiency of thearmy, the proposals largely increased theexisting burdens without adding substantially to the military strength of Great Britain.

Sir Henry complained that the proposals of the Government were "showy pretensions, extensive and ineffective," and he asked for figures and definite statements.

Mr. Wyndham, the Irish Secretary, in defending the general economy of the military establishment, said that while the British soldier cost in all £111 annually the American soldier, not taking into account the pensions, cost £287 annually before the war with Spain, and prior to the date when the United States had foreign stations.

The civil list resolution was adopted by 248 to 49 votes, and the Civil List bill passed its first reading.

The only really interesting speech was made by Mr. Winston Churchill, who, following in his father's footsteps, entered a strong protest in behalf of economy and against "every growing military extravagance."

The House listened in impressive silence to Mr. Churchill's eloquent appeal. His style of speaking is still unequal, but he has the power to dominate Parliament.

MORE BOERS TAKEN.

London, May 13.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria, dated May 12, says:

"Grenfell has occupied Louistrichart, capturing 50 Boers, with rifles. Louistrichart was previously held by six British with 40 surrendered Boers.

"Other columns report 8 Boers killed, 20 wounded, 132 prisoners, 24 surrendered, and a machine gun, 6400 rounds of ammunition, 150 wagons and 870 horses captured."

TO SEE KRUGER.

Durban, May 13.—Mrs. Louis Botha, who has obtained consent to interview Mr. Kruger and urge him to advocate peace, sailed to-day for Europe on the steamer Dunvegan Castle.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

London, May 13.—At a banquet of the Cornish Association, held in London last night, Gen. Pole-Carew said:

"At the beginning of the war had the Boers fully realized their strength and our unpreparedness we would have been driven in to Durban and Cape Town, and we would have presented the spectacle of reconquering South Africa from the sea coast."

MORGAN AND BEAVER LINE.

No Negotiations for a Sale, But Beaver Line People Would Sell if Price Was Right.

London, May 13.—(Montreal Star cable.)—There is no confirmation whatever at the offices of the Beaver Line here of the report which seems to have originated in Manchester, that J. Pierpont Morgan is conducting negotiations for the purchase of the Beaver Line.

In Anglo-Canadian business circles, however, it is believed that the Beaver Line would not be at all averse to accepting an offer similar to that which brought about the purchase of the Leyland Line.

VISITORS FROM THE ANTIPODES.

Gentlemen From Tasmania and South Africa in Toronto on a Round-the-World Tour.

Two visitors from the other side of the world, travelers together, and yet when they are at home are separated by thousands of miles, are registered at the Queen's, Robert A. Robertson of Hobart, Tasmania, and Robert Niven of Johannesburg, South Africa. Mr. Robertson left Hobart about a year ago, and has journeyed thru South Africa, England, Scotland, the United States and Canada, purchasing appliances for his extensive timber industry in Tasmania. Speaking of his visit to Canada and of his far-away home in the Antipodes, Mr. Robertson said he was a native of Montreal, but had resided in Tasmania for 21 years. Tasmania is the "Isle of Beauty" of the Southern Seas, he said, in picturesqueness and climate, and is a famous tourist resort. There is a great wealth of minerals, and the country boasts the largest tin and copper mines in the world. The island is now a part of the great Australian Commonwealth, which has just entered upon its existence under favorable auspices.

Mr. Niven has also been a year away from his home. He spent most of the time in England, and is waiting for events to cal mdown before returning to Johannesburg. He had hoped that the war would be concluded, so that he could get back by July, but he has given up that idea now. He is a mining engineer.

Nothing to Eat—Refused to Work.

Quebec, May 13.—On the complaint of the captain of the steamer Manchester-Corporation, 15 seamen were arrested at 5 o'clock this afternoon by a detachment of the police force and put in jail for having refused to work. The prisoners claim that they refused to work because they had not anything to eat this morning and at dinner-time. They will appear to-morrow morning before the police magistrate.

ARCHBISHOP LEWIS DIES AT SEA WHILE ON WAY TO SEEK HEALTH

Never Recovered From An Attack of Pneumonia and Passed Away May 4.

London, May 13.—Archbishop Lewis of Ontario died May 4 on board the Atlantic Transport Line steamer Menominee. He had embarked seriously ill as the result of pneumonia, and had intended to stay in London a short time and proceed to Egypt. He was accompanied by his wife and a trained nurse. During the night of May 3 he sank rapidly. He died at 4 o'clock the next morning. The body was embalmed and taken to his residence here.

The Most Rev. John Travers Lewis, Honorary Metropolitan of Canada, was born in Shandon, near Cork, Ireland, in 1825. He finished his education at Trinity College, Dublin. In 1848 he was ordained deacon at Christ Church College Chapel, Cambridge. A year later he became curate of Newtonbutler, in the north of Ireland. A year later he visited Canada and was appointed a missionary at West Hawkesbury, on the Ottawa. In 1834 he became rector of St. Peter's, Brockville, and in 1861, at the age of 36, the first Bishop of Ontario. He was made Metropolitan in 1893 and Archbishop in 1894.

The late Metropolitan was the originator and promoter of the Lambeth conferences, now so important in the Church's work. He attended all the conferences. He was an author of some distinction, and contributed many articles to The Journal of Sacred Literature. Archbishop Lewis married first in 1851. Annie Henrietta, daughter of the late Hon. Henry Sherwood. She died in 1886, and in 1889 he married Ada Maria, daughter of Mr. Evan Leigh, Manchester, England. Miss Leigh was a well-known church worker and founder of the British and American Home for Young Women and Children at Paris. She survives her husband.

Bishop of Ontario.

Kingston, Ont., May 13.—The title of the Bishop of Kingston hereafter will be Bishop of Ontario. Dr. Mills does not become an Archbishop, as that title was associated only with the office of Metropolitan, which the late Dr. Lewis held from 1893 to April, 1901.

MRS. WHITE CHARGED WITH MURDER BEING TRIED BEFORE MAGISTRATE

Druggist Testifies That He Sold Arsenic to Her on Several Occasions—Former Boarder Swears She Talked to Him of Getting a Divorce—Doctor's Damaging Evidence.

Brantford, May 13.—(Special.)—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. White, charged with poisoning her husband, was held here to-day. A. J. Wilkes, K.C., is acting for the Crown, and L. F. Heyd, K.C., for the defence. The prisoner was accompanied to the court room by her son, George White of Hamilton.

Doctor's Testimony.

The first witness called was Dr. Marquis. He said he had been called to see the deceased, Mr. White, between 10 and 11 o'clock on the morning of his death. He had seen him some six weeks before, when he had been called to the house. Mr. White was apparently suffering from la grippe. On the Sunday morning of the death, when the witness arrived at the house, the deceased was lying on the bed upstairs. He was lying very quietly. "I spoke to him," said the witness, "and told him that he was not lying very comfortably. He replied that he was very sick and was going to die. Then he went into a convulsion. Afterwards I lifted him on his back, and he went into another convulsion. His heart had almost stopped beating and I sent out for whiskey. I took a glass of water and tried to see if he could drink anything, but the contact of the glass with his lips caused a spasm. As soon as I saw the first convulsion I made up my mind that he had strychnine poisoning."

Poisoning Symptoms.

The witness described the symptoms of strychnine poisoning, saying that these indications were present. "I remained with him about 20 minutes," continued the witness, "and it was evidently useless for me to remain longer. I thought that he was dead after the first convulsion, and I saw that it would be impossible to counteract the action of the poison. Half a grain of strychnine is sufficient to cause death, and in some cases less. The length of time in which the poison will act depends upon the manner in which it is administered and the condition of the stomach. If administered in liquid in the morning, the sensation would be felt shortly, and the convulsions would come on afterwards in from 10 minutes to half an hour. When I first saw him he was perfectly conscious, except for the characteristic fear. I had to hurry away to another case, but was there when he died.

Mrs. White's Opinion.

"I also performed the post-mortem with Dr. Bier, making a complete examination. The organs were in a healthy condition, and there was no organic disease sufficient to cause death. The viscera were sealed in a jar and delivered to P. C. Chapman. When I was going into the house, Mrs. White met me at the door and told me to

MABEL VAUGHAN STILL MISSING, SEVERAL "SOO" MEN ARRESTED

Former Policeman Herman Honorably Dismissed, With Regrets—Daniel Raevie Also Discharged—"Doc" Carrick Tells a Lurid Tale and is Thought to Be Insane.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 13.—A fresh flame of excitement with regard to the mysterious disappearance of Mabel Vaughan broke out last week, when it was learned that Nelson Harmon, formerly policeman at Michipicoton, had been arrested by Provincial Constable Irving on the charge of knowing something of the missing girl.

Harmon appeared before Magistrates Thompson and Turner and was given honorable dismissal. Crown Attorney Kehoe explained that the arrest had been made upon information which it seemed impossible to disregard, but which, upon investigation, proved to be utterly unreliable and altogether contradictory. Mr. Harmon was therefore discharged and regret expressed that he should have been inconvenienced in the matter.

"Doc." Carrick and Daniel Raevie were then brought before Magistrates Turner and Campbell, and as no evidence had been adduced to show that Raevie was implicated, he also was discharged. Carrick was remanded for one week. Attorney Kehoe appeared for the Crown, M. McFadden for Raevie and G. H. Hayward for Carrick. Barrister Hayward asked that the jail surgeon examine Carrick as to his sanity.

The stories told by the prisoner are quite conflicting. When he first approached Mr. Vaughan, he said that the girl was alive and on this side of the river. In a later story, he gives a harrowing account of the alleged murder of the girl, and states that he is able to point out the spot where the body is concealed. There seems little doubt that the prisoner's stories are but the vaporings of a diseased mind.

OVATION TO MR. CLARKE WALLACE.

The Orange Grand Master Was Received With Remarkable Warmth at Quebec.

Montreal, May 13.—(Special.)—One of the most extraordinary events which newspaperdom has recorded for years past has been the cordial, aye, the enthusiastic, reception accorded to Hon. Clarke Wallace by the people of Quebec Province. The French-Canadian papers have all noted the fact that Mr. Wallace received an ovation at Quebec, Joliette and at other points along the railway. At Joliette the Orange chieftain extolled the virtues of the French-Canadian women, and received great applause, especially when Mr. Wallace announced his candidature in Joliette at the next general election.

EITHER DEATH OR TRANCE

Doctors Pronounced Wallaceburg Girl Dead Last Friday, But Burial Was Delayed.

BODY REMAINED WARM FOR DAYS.

Peculiar Pink Flush Overspread it—Now, However, She Will Be Buried.

Windsor, May 13.—(Special.)—After lying in a condition of trance for five days and seven hours, physicians have at last pronounced Miss Dora McDonald, aged 23, of Wallaceburg, dead. Last Thursday Miss McDonald was taken suddenly ill with an acute attack of peritonitis, which medical treatment did not allay. On Friday morning the physicians found the patient's vitality very low and a few hours later declared her dead.

Miss McDonald's sister, with whom she was visiting in Detroit, however, refused to believe that death had come, at the same time calling the doctors' attention to a peculiar pink flush which had overspread the entire body. Altho there was not the slightest fluttering of the heart, the body remained warm. This strange condition kept up until last midnight, when the body became cold and decomposition set in. Then, only, was the undertaker permitted to do his work, and prepare the body for burial.

Two years ago Miss McDonald fell into a similar trancelike condition. The body remained warm for several days, and burial was deferred, and the girl suddenly recovered and regained her health. A dread of being buried alive had always possessed Miss McDonald, and it was decided to keep the body until every possible sign of life had vanished. The remains were taken to Wallaceburg this evening for interment.

What Doctor Says.

Miss Dora McDonald apparently died from peritonitis at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, yet she was not pronounced dead by her physician, Dr. George S. Field, who said it might have been a case of suspended animation. Dr. Field said that, aside from the condition of the body, which became warm in the region of the heart at irregular periods, the former history of the young woman tended to make him sceptical.

"Two years ago," said Dr. Field, "the young woman remained in a state of unconsciousness for four days and then regained her senses. I felt that I must not be hasty in concluding that she was dead. Apparently she was dead. Her eyes were set and her body was cold, yet late yesterday afternoon, hours after pulsation disappeared, I found that her body was warm near the heart."

STEEL BARGE FLEET.

Minister of Public Works Says Important Developments Are on Foot re Transportation.

An Ottawa despatch to The Globe says: Hon. J. I. Tarte, in conversation with The Globe correspondent this morning, intimated that important developments were on foot in regard to the transportation problem. The Minister hinted that, in addition to the employment of grain carriers of the largest size on the Upper Lakes, a fleet of steel barges, each costing $100,000, would before long be placed on the route between Port Colborne and Montreal. "About these matters I am unable to speak at present," said Mr. Tarte, "but something definite will be evolved."

COURAGE.

It takes a strong man to face an issue squarely. It is usually easier to ignore or to mock at the power of temptation than to admit and fear it. Before a man can realize his weakness in the presence of an enemy, he must recognize the enemy. And it takes courage to look and to be afraid, and to decide to resist unto death.

THE WRECK.

A wreck is at the crossing,
The iron rails are red,
And loud a frenzied woman
Is wailing for her dead!
Men, horror-stricken, hurry,
And something limp they lay
Beside the towering engine,
And sadly turn away.

The ballast that was grimy
Is wet and streaked and red,
And loud the frenzied woman
Is wailing for her dead—
A score of trains are waiting
While great men, far away,
Impatiently are counting
The cost of "the delay."

Away Again.

"He left for New York last night," said the genial Chris. Hohl of the W. & D. Dineen Co. "You see it is more satisfactory to see the goods and purchase them that way than to select from sample, and we have got rid of so many of our spring styles that we must renew for the race week. All the winners get a Dineen hat, and it keeps us busy fitting them. They always keep abreast of the times, and their stock is always an enormous one, that is why they are the leading hatters, and properly so."
