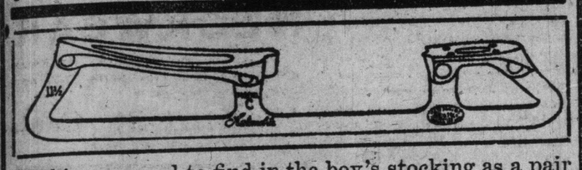
PUT A PAIR IN HIS STOCKING



Nothing so good to find in the boy's stocking as a pair of good skates.

A good skate puts a whole lot of additional pleasure into skating. You may have been using "the old-time reliable," and thereby overlooked the fact that within the last two years great improvements have been introduced into the skate. Ours represent the last word in the manufacturing of high-class blades.

Ask about them — examine them. They're all guaranteed made of the best of hardened steel. The "Automobile Hockey Skate" has an aluminum alloy top and a blade of nickel steel. The lightest and strongest on the market.

Soccer Referees Enjoy Themselves.

A jovial company sat down to a sumptuous repast at Williams' Saturday night. It was the annual supper of the Referees' Association. The members of the T. and D. Council were their guests. After regaling the wants of the inner man, President W. S. Murchie proposed "The T. and D. League," coupling with it the names of President Parsons, Secretary Robertson and Treasurer Lloyd. The toast was drunk with enthusiasm, and replied to in a happy strain. President Parsons then gave "The Referees' Association," to which W. S. Murchie and W. D. Hannah replied. The meeting adjourned to the reception room, where a few hours were spent very pleasantly. Music, recitations and songs made the hours pass too quickly. One enjoyable feature was the presentation to Secretary-Treasurer W. D. Hannah of a very handsome carving set. At the conclusion of a very interesting program, the meeting broke up with "God Save the King." The committee in charge—Messrs. Buckingham, Presley and Millsip—deserve great praise for their work. It was decided to meet twice a month during the winter for social purposes.

CASEY BALDWIN ON RUGBY HERE AND IN THE STATES

Offside Interference the Barrier Preventing International Play —English Rugby.

OTTAWA, Dec. 20.—"Offside interference is the barrier between the Canadian and American games," says F. W. (Casey) Baldwin, who is associated with Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in aeronautic experiments at Baddeck, N.S. Mr. Baldwin, who is thoroly familiar with both the American collegiate and Canadian Rugby schools of football, expressed the liveliest interest in taking two Canadian teams to New York to exhibit the Canadian game to American football men. The recent visit of the Governor-General of Canada, Earl Grey, to Baddeck, where he witnessed one of Mr. Baldwin's flights, prevented Mr. Baldwin from earlier giving his views on the Canadian game.

In a letter just received here, Casey says:

"Offside interference is the barrier between the Canadian and American games.

"The Canadian rules do not permit men to run ahead of the ball and interfere for the runner. This ensures wide passing, clever running, and puts a premium on individual judgment, without sacrificing team play in the slightest degree.

"Offside interference does not make American football any more scientific, but obscures the real play, so that only experts can follow what is happening behind it. With offside interference barred, as it is in the Canadian rules, etc., the game is open and easy to understand.

"The average spectator sees clever running and passing, interspersed with unexpected kicking and quickly executed mass plays. The expert sees as much, if not more, inside football as he does in the American game. He appreciates the individual judgment or lack of it, the timing of the passing, the cleverness of a defence in breaking up the attack, and the thousand and one niceties which make football what it is.

"Take an end run, for example, and compare the two styles of play. Suppose three backs go around the end in the American game. The outside one would carry the ball and the two inside men interfere for the runner. If the play is successful one unsupported runner gets around the end, and the spectators have probably seen two men interfere and dispose of two effective tackles by the defence. If unsuccessful, the interference is quickly broken up, the runner falls over them, and spectators have seen what may have been a well-executed, if unsuccessful, play.

"Did the interference fail? Was it a brilliant tackle? Did he get the runner, or did the man with the ball simply trip over the wreckage?

"In three cases out of five it is by no means clear even to the closest observer.

"Now, compare this with a typical end run in the Canadian game. The inside, and not the outside, back carries the ball to the end. It is his duty to draw the first tackle of the defence and give the next man the ball as he is tackled; the next man draws the next tackle, and the outside man is thrown free, with a comparatively open field ahead of him. Open or close passing is used, according to the formation and style of the defence.

"If the play comes off, the spectators have seen three or four passes and two or three tackles. Unless the play is blocked before it reaches the end, the spectators see one or two passes and as many open tackles.

"The more men who handle the ball the more the game will appeal to the crowd, and to the players themselves when educated to it. A double or triple baseball play, for example, is more interesting than an ordinary play, because it generally calls for quicker judgment and more skill.

"Play behind the goal line is another feature of the Canadian game which must appeal to player and spectator alike.

"The ball is not 'dead' if kicked over the goal line by the attacking side. The defence can either run it out, kick it out or rouge it by touching it down behind the line. A rouge is also scored by kicking the ball out of bounds across the goal line, either over the dead line or into the touch in goal.

"It must be at once evident that this means of scoring opens up a field of play which the American game lacks. It calls for the best judgment to decide whether to attempt to clear or give your opponents one point by rouging. It puts a premium on accurate kicking, as it takes an accurate punt to put the ball across the goal line and into touch in goal if the kicker is twenty or thirty yards from the line. Goal kicking also is more encouraged, because the ball is not 'dead' if the goal is missed, and your opponents have not the privilege of taking it out to the 25-yard line unless they rouge it first, counting one point for the attacking side.

"The English game is a game of individual opportunities and little team play, whereas the American game is just exactly the reverse. In the English game there is no possession of the ball. One side is as likely as the other to get the ball from a scrimmage, so that preconceived team play is almost impossible. On the other hand, the American game leaves as little to the individual as possible and everything to team play.

"The Canadian game is a happy medium between the two. It gives opportunities for the brilliant passing, running and kicking so often seen in the English Rugby, combined with the excellent team play.

"Giving one side what is practically possession of the ball ensures team play, and not allowing offside interference makes the play fast and open.

"Last, but not least, the number of personal injuries is comparatively small in a game where offside interference is barred."

Boston Terrier Show.

Owing to repairs being made to Wolseley Hall, the Boston Terrier Club of Canada have made arrangements to hold their second annual specialty show on Jan. 1 in the large double store building recently vacated by the Nasmith Company, King and Bay-streets. This show is to be held under the rules and regulations of the Canadian Kennel Club. The prizes in the regular classes will be handsome ribbons, and about 100 special prizes have been donated. A large entry is assured from Buffalo, Montreal, Hamilton and other outside points. The entries will close on Thursday, Dec. 23, and anyone wishing a premium list should write to P. O. Box 14, Toronto.

Parkdale Gun Club.

Owing to the high west wind on Saturday last at the regular weekly shoot of the Parkdale Gun Club, the birds were certainly "going some," resulting in scores that, altho highly creditable under existing conditions, were not quite up to the usual high standard at these shoots. Awley was out for the first time this season, looking picturesque in his Stanley-in-Africa helmet, and, as is usual when he is around, there was something doing all the time in the way of fun. In the spoon contest, the genial president, F. A. Parker, who shot from 18 yards, carried off the honors, likewise the spoon.

Denault Still Leads.

The standing of the National Euchre Club's tournament to date:

	Won.	Lost.	Tied.	P.C.	Pts.

L. Bolduc	39	44	7	.470	558

To-night's games will open with La Belle, Gravell playing Vezina, Sirois and Denault, Paradis opposing Bolduc, Renaud, Sauriol a bye.

Hans Holmer Wins Race of 5¼ Miles Record on Sunday

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Hans Holmer, the Canadian professional runner, who is now attached to the Mohegan Athletic Club, easily won the five and a quarter mile run of the Mohegan Club over the usual course in the Bronx on Sunday. Holmer had an advantage of over 300 yards at the line on Dick Devlin, the track captain of the Mott Haven Athletic Club, who was second. Holmer's time of 27.47 establishes a new record for the course. The Canadian had an easy task, keeping an eye on his Mohegan comrades until the third mile, when he set sail for the leaders, overtaking them in a short time. Devlin challenged Holmer a half mile from home, but he was easily shaken off. The summary follows:

Pos.	Name and club.	Time.
1	Hans Holmer, Mohegan A.C.	27.47

Sporting Notes.

G. F. Prescott, an English tuxman, has just returned from a trip to the City of Mexico, where, he says, a new race course is about to be built by the Mexican Jockey Club.

A. Henry Higginson of Boston was elected a steward of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association at its meeting held last week in New York. Mr. Higginson is an amateur rider and is the owner, among others, of the well-known steeplechasers Sir Wooster and Ballocalla, for which he paid $10,000 last July.

Alex. Taylor, trainer of Bayardo, in a speech to his tenants a few days ago, offered to race either Miniolu, the Derby winner, or any other 3-year-old in England and give his opponent fourteen lbs.

Thomas JJ. Lynch, the newly-elected president of the National Baseball League, was the recipient at his home in New Britain on Sunday of many telegrams congratulating him on his election.

George L. Tex. Rickard of Ely, Nev., has left New York for the west. As a member of the combination with Jack Gleason of San Francisco, that won the chance to hold the Jeffries-Johnson fight with a bid of $101,000 and two-thirds of the profits from the picture films, Rickard was emphatic in declaring for Salt Lake City as the battle ground. He admitted that Gleason had a preference for California. Rickard may return east next month.

Willie Hoppe has placed himself under the management of Charles Tenney of Chicago and started a campaign that he declares will result in his being the undisputed billiard champion of the world. It is Hoppe's intention to go, not only after the 18.1 and 18.2 balk-line championships, but to seek the three-cushion title as well.

If the wishes of the members of the Business men's Club, one of New Orleans' representative institutions, are consulted, repeal or modification of the anti-racing laws of Louisiana will be made. Correspondence has been carried on with 5000 merchants, etc., in New Orleans, asking co-operation in hopes of restoring racing. It is claimed the business interests have suffered as a result of the anti-legislation.
