A short time ago we were able to secure a very cheap lot of ribbons. These were put on the counter and sold out completely in three days without advertising, —— in fact we had hardly a chance to advertise them before they were gone.

* * *

Why are we talking to you about these? Have we been able to secure another lot? No! such a chance does not occur every day with any one line of goods, but we have, and you may have on Monday, and as long as they last, just such another bargain, more universal in application than ribbons, as it applies to every one that washes.

This lot is composed almost entirely of Towels, with a few damask table cloths, sideboard and tray cloths.

* * *

We believe that these goods might be sold by merely putting them on the counter, as in the case of the ribbons, without a word from us in the papers, but we prefer that all should know and avail themselves of this opportunity. The prices of the goods are in themselves an advertisement for us, and we prefer that they should be as wide spread as possible.

* * *

We may mention that as the goods are samples there is not more than one of each, in the case of towels—a pair.

MORMON MATTERS.

THE GREAT CASE WILL BE SUBMITTED ON WEDNESDAY NEXT.

Congress Will be Asked to Enact a Law Disfranchising the Whole of the Mormon Sect.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 16.—The excitement here over the great endowment house expose continues unabated.

The Gentiles will close their side of the case to-day and the Mormons will have the opportunity to put in evidence on their side.

It is not likely that the case will be finally submitted until next Wednesday, as the arguments of counsel will be long.

On the decision depends the right in the future of any Mormon to become a citizen of the United States. Those who are already citizens will not be affected, but Congress will undoubtedly be asked, in view of the awful disclosures made, to enact a law completely disfranchising the entire sect.

A DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

After Two Days Hard Work He Managed to Kill Himself.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—"A through bill of lading by the Morphine route to hell" was the message left behind by John P. Hamilton of St. Louis, an old steamboat man, who, after two days hard work, managed to kill himself. Hamilton came to the Pachoux house three days ago. He complained of being sick, retired to his room, and stayed there until the time of his death. He called in the chambermaid, ordered a glass of water, poured some green liquid in it, drank it, and fell over on the bed with a groan. He repeated this performance a dozen times Wednesday and several times Thursday morning, and the girl, thinking it was medicine he was taking, did not report the matter.

He sent Thursday morning for a friend, saying he was dying. When the girl entered the room later his legs were drawn up as if he had died in agony. The coroner was summoned, and found that the green liquid Hamilton had been drinking for two days was vitriol. He had also taken large quantities of morphine, and between the two had managed to kill himself. He left behind letters to his wife and all his friends, death notices for the papers, and a plan for his funeral. Mr. Hamilton came here originally from St. Louis, and was engaged in the river business. He married lately, but separated from his wife, and to this trouble the suicide is supposed to be due.

NORTHERN CAPITAL IN THE SOUTH.

Philadelphia and New England Men Investing Large Sums in the Southern States.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 16.—The past week has been one of activity in the organization of enterprises in the south. Florence, Alabama, has led with investments by Philadelphia and New England capitalists, including a $500,000 cotton mill, a furnace to cost $200,000 to be built by Philadelphia parties, and a $300,000 loan and banking company, while $1,000,000 in cash has been invested in this stock and land of two local improvement companies in Florence by hese northern capitalists. In Florida a contract has been made for constructing a three hundred mile canal, to furnish a water way nearly the entire length of the state. At Bessemer, Ala., two new furnaces to cost $400,000 are to be built. At Bryerfield, Ala., the new works are to be reorganized with $500,000 of bonds and $700,000 of preferred stock. BOGUS MARRIAGES.

Fully 200 Couples Said to have Been Illegally United.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Justice Doctor of Newark is president of the Polish League in that city. Wednesday he arrested a peddler named Samuel Bojast, who it is said, has been performing cheap and simple marriage ceremonies without the license of church or law. Justice Doctor is satisfied that fully 200 couples have been married by a few shrewd Poles of this kind in and near Newark. The ceremony is said to be very simple. The contracting parties stand up in front of the peddler. The bridegroom puts his left arm around the bride's waist; both raise their right hands and announce their willingness to live together as man and wife. Then the trio take sips of wine from a glass, which is afterward smashed on the floor. Bojast is under bail for his appearance in court.

The Ice Business on the Kennebec.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

AUGUSTA, Nov. 16.—The ice shipping season on the Kennebec is about closed, the Knickerbrockers being the only concern which is now moving ice freely. A prominent ice operator estimates the ice unshipped on the river at 150,000 tons, Abram Rich having 5,000; Knickerbrocker Ice Co., 30,000; Orient, 7,000; Berry 18,000, Hatch, 6,000: Clark & Chaplin, 8,000; Maine Ice Co., 12,000 and several other companies small amounts. A small portion of this will be shipped before close of navigation. Taken as a whole the season's operations have been the most profitable for several years, and the operators are encouraged and are making preparations for an extensive winter's harvesting so that the houses will be all filled. Prices have ruled at a good figure but the market has been flat for some time owing to the cool weather, of course. The Haynes & DeWiet Ice Co., have emptied their houses and are ready for the harvest. Men will be in good demand this winter at wages from $1.50 to $2.00.

Life on the "Nordcap."

A witness at one of the adjourned city court cases to-day, gave listeners to the trial some idea of the luxurious fare indulged in by the good ship "Nordcap" now in port. He said that they never had any but sour and uncooked bread and that he had frequently found tea leaves in the porridge, and coal and matches in the soup. In fact it was the invariable rule of the cook, to season his viands with articles of this nature, and the cook was therefore an object of distrust to the rest of the ship's crew.

HALIFAX MATTERS.

HE WAS A MONCTONIAN AND COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER.

A Romantic Story of the Bride who he Now says Deceived him Having Another Husband Living.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 16.—During the past few days it has been rumored that a young woman who bears the name of Annie Maud Cox and whose quarters are at the Seaside hotel, had married a second time although she knew that she already has a husband living. The name of the Moncton man, William Gloat, was mentioned as husband number two, the former husband's name not being given.

She was interviewed this morning, and proved to be a good looking girl 19 years of age. She told a romantic story of her life in which two husbands had already figured with a possibility of a third.

About four years ago, Annie Maud Cox—her maiden name, the girl in question, who was then only fifteen and a resident of St. Johns, N. F.—became acquainted with a sea captain named Raine with whom she fell in love, and, after a courtship of about two week duration Miss Cox, unknown to her family, was united in marriage to the captain. Captain Raine and his young wife were subsequently forgiven by the girl's parents and one day the gallant captain sailed away on the steamer for England. Not hearing from him the girl grew despondent. Her father and mother died leaving her at the mercy of the world. She decided to visit Halifax and came to this city highly recommended.

After living with friends for a while she became acquainted with William Gloat of Moncton, aged 28, who represented himself as a traveller for a large business firm. The girl accepted an offer of marriage made by Gloat and after an acquaintance of four days, and on the evening of the fourth day July last, the Moncton man secured a marriage license and the pair were married.

Gloat sometime ago learned of his wife's first marriage and a row ensued. He left his wife in this city. He now charges her with having falsely represented herself to be a single woman whereas she has been married before. When interrogated relative to the whereabouts of her first husband the girl said she was told by some one that he had been drowned but she was not sure as she had received no authentic news of his death.

William Gloat contends that he has discovered sufficient evidence to show that husband no 1 is still living and it is said will have the girl arrested on a charge of bigamy.

REFUSED BURIAL IN CALVARY.

Body of Another Follower of Dr. McGlynn Denied Admission.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Supt. Brennan of Calvary Cemetery, acting under instructions from the trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, informed Undertaker Kelly of East Twenty-Fifth street on Monday that he must remove from the receiving vault of the cemetery the body of Miss Theresa Kelly, who died October 24. and whose right to be buried in consecrated ground was challenged by the church authorities, because of her affiliation with the Anti-Poverty Society. Mr Kelly will probably remove the body Saturday to Woodlawn. The question in Miss Kelly's case was whether on the day of her death she contined her affiliation with the Anti-Poverty Society, and thus shared in Dr. McGlynn's excommunication. It was her custom to partake frequently of the sacrament, and this made her, de facto, penitent. Miss Kelly died on Oct. 24, and on the Sunday previous she had partaken of the sacrament. Her friends claimed that she was a good Catholic. Rev. Dr. Burtsell, Dr. McGlynn's friend, and the rector of the Church of the Epiphany, certified that she was deserving of burial in consecrated ground, and sung a requiem mass over her body. A Catholic authority to-night confirmed the statement that Miss Kelly's body had been ordered to be removed from the receiving vault, and added: "It was discovered upon investigation that Miss Kelly maintained her allegiance to Dr. McGlynn up to the time of her death. Manifestly she could not be buried in Catholic consecrated ground." The followers of Dr. McGlynn are now asking themselves what will happen to Dr. Burtsell.

A PECULIAR WILL CASE.

No One Shall be Permitted to Profit by His Own Wrong.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A pecular will case absolutely new in the jurisprudence of New York state, if not in that of the country, has just been decided by the New York court of appeals, which has reversed the written statutes in behalf of the unwritten law. Elmer Palmer, a boy living in St. Lawrence county, New York, became the pet of his grandfather, who had a will drawn making Elmer his principal legatee. Subsequently the boy misbehaved, and his grandfather threatened to disinherit him. To prevent this the boy poisoned his grandfather. The young murderer was convicted, but escaped with a term in the reformatory. The dead man's children then sued for the property, but were non-suited, the supreme court finding no statute which would authorize the revocation of a last testament. This decision has been reversed by the court of appeals which, while admitting that the case is not covered by existing statutes, readily comprehends it within these broad principles:

"No one shall be permitted to profit by his own wrong or to found a claim upon his own iniquity, or to acquire property by his own crime.

"A thing which is within the intention of the makers of a statute is as much within the statute as if it were within the letter, and a thing which is within the letter of the statute is not within the statute unless it be within the intention of the makers.

"All laws as well as all contracts, may be controlled in their operation and effect by general fundamental maxims of common law."

Judge Gray dissented from the attitude taken by his colleagues. He admits that morality and equity demand that the murderer should not be permitted to profit by his crime, but he feels that the statutes leave him no choice.

WHIRLED TO DEATH.

A Miner Caught on a Shaft Revolving 100 Times Per Minute.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Nov. 16—Frank Weina a mine laborer, met with a horrible death at Luke Fidler Colliery Thursday afternoon. Martin McLain was engaged in feeding coal into a counter screen, when suddenly a thump sounded on the platform upon which he stood, followed rapidly by others, and several planks were raised an inch. Thinking that the machinery had broken he dashed down a pair of steps leading to the screen shafting, when his blood turned cold.

Wrapped around the shafting was his friend Weina, who had left him a few minutes previous to sweep dirt into the hopper, and had crawled under a heavy timber to brush away a small pile of dirt, when a set-screw caught his coat, which was instantly wrapped around the revolving shaft. This pinned Weina's body securely against the shaft, which was making 100 revolutions to the minute. Between its top and the platform there was a space of three feet, and every time Weina went around he would receive a terrible crushing.

McLain was fascinated on first beholding the startling spectacle, and noticed as the body went around that Weina's boots had been torn off as well as his pantaloons. Through the leg a bone projected. The unfortunate man's face was as white as marble and bore a look of agonizing torture. McLain hurried into the engine-room and gave the alarm. The engine was stopped, and Weina was found to be unconscious with his body and legs frightfully mangled. With pocket knives the men cut off the clothing piece by piece, until, when almost in a nude state he was released and carried into the air. An ambulence then conveyed him to his home in Springfield where his wife and child witnessed his death an hour later.

The Provincial government has guaranteed protection to the members of the Imperial family. Business in the city is suspended but there is no danger to life or property.

Her Homestead Mortgaged and Foreclosure Threatened—She is Reported to be Without Money, Food and Sufficient Clothing.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A Bordentown, N. J. special to the Herald says: While Charles S. Parnell is fighting Ireland's enemies in England, his aged and infirm mother is fighting starvation in New Jersey.

The misfortunes that have followed Mrs. Delia Parnell for many years have culminated at last in this, that she is alone, penniless, and actually destitute of the necessities of life. She has now little more than a roof to shelter her, and unless something is done for her relief she will not have that two weeks hence.

Ironsides, her father's estate, where she lives, is heavily mortgaged, and the company that holds the mortgage has given notice that if the interest is not paid it will foreclose.

If this is done Mrs. Parnell will have absolutely no place of shelter except in the house of a friend. Not only is she without a dollar to her name, but she is without food and sufficient clothing.

Mrs. Parnell has some property in Philadelphia, but that too is mortgaged for all it is worth.

Mrs. Parnell has kept her destitution secret. Mr. Parnell knows nothing of his mother's situation. She thinks he has about all the cares he can stand now. Her friends believe that even if he did know it he could do very little to help her, owing to the enormous expenses of the Times trial and parliamentary work, which have left him almost as poor as his mother.
