FOLLOWING FOOTSTEPS.

Daily I scan the green sweet-brier,
Dew hangs the rose,
As I follow where her footstep,
Lightly printed, goes.

Sun, that cometh up to meet me,
Was there ought to see
Down beneath that gray horizon
Half so fair as she?

Down this path she careless wandered
Where the lilies drooped;
Here her garment brushed the dew off
As she, gathering, stooped.

Here she turned and paused, uncertain—
Ah, I hear it now!
Over stone the full brook singing,
Faintly, far below!

Leadlon on to greet the roses
Ruth the footsteps flees!
Red, and white, and pink she gathered,
Dropping one for me!

Then to where the honeysuckle
Climbs to scent the air—
No, she stepped and left it climbing,
Turning otherwhere.

Where then? Oh, adorn his pathway,
Where her heliotrope—
Makes the air with perfume heavy,
Purpling all the slope.

Sun, that maketh shadows shorter,
As I follow still,
Where were you at early dawning
When she climbed the hill?

She shall climb to wait your coming,
She, my own, my sweet,
When her gracious presence only
Makes your day complete.

Here she left her blossoms lying
In a hawthorn's care,
And the dewy steps go springing
Up the rocks so bare.

Higher, higher, ever leading,
Follow I and Hope—
Sunny hair lit up with sunshine—
Ah! my heliotrope!

Anne C. Brackett, in Scribner's for March.

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

A Chicago clergyman preached a sermon in a billiard saloon last Sunday. He made nineteen points.

New York proposes to establish a commission on lunacy, to prevent unprincipled men from obtaining certificates of insanity against sane persons.

The umbrella makers of New York propose to establish a secret society. There was always something mysterious about umbrellas.

A Nevada boy bought a new calico for his girl and a pair of corduroys for himself. He delivered the wrong bundle and the engagement was broken off!

A few nights since an unknown person fired three shots through a window of the house of Rev. Mr. Fairchild, President of Bereare College, Madison Co., Kentucky, while that gentleman was sitting in his room. None of the shots took effect, and the assailants escaped.

Ladies often threaten to die of laughing, but seldom fulfil the threat. In Jersey City, however, on Thursday night, a Mrs. Simmons besought her husband to stop some humorous talking, because he "made her laugh too much," and on the instant fell to the floor lifeless. She literally died o' laughing.

A Mr. Hoffman of Dubuque took out his wife's false teeth before burying her, whereupon a Louisville paper remarks that this was very reasonable, "because in the world to which Mrs. Hoffman has gone there may be weeping and wailing, but Mr. Hoffman is determined that, so far as his wife is concerned, there shall be no gnashing of teeth."

The Chicago Tribune says there is a case in the Minnesota courts in which the title to 450,000 acres of swamp lands depends on the definition of the single word "each." A land grant was made to the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Company, and the question is whether seven sections per mile "on each side of said line" means on both sides in the aggregate, or seven sections on one side and seven on the other.

They had a ball in Philadelphia the other night, and this was the effect of it upon a Press reporter: "Such scenes must long linger lovingly in the memories of all who saw them, for with Youth at the helm and Pleasure at the prow, the gondola of Enjoyment swept swiftly along on the azure sea of Hope, heeding nothing of shoals, and deeming the purple horizon and the rocks of after life too far away to demand a moment's care."

Lotta's recent benefit for the New Orleans newsboys witnessed an affecting little episode. At the close of the second act the curtain was rung up, and amid the wildest cheering, a representative of the newsboys stepped on the stage, and in a handsome speech tendered to Lotta a gold medal, appropriately engraved, and a magnificent bouquet of flowers. During the delivery of the address Lotta was so deeply affected that her emotions found vent in tears, and she actually kissed the young orator, to the uproarious delight of the assembled gamins.

The newest swindle which has come to light in New York city is an attempt to obtain money from inventors and owners of patent rights by offering large sums by circular for an invention for a term of years. To make the offer tempting, a royalty to the holder is proposed. Then $5 is asked to pay for attorney's fees for examining titles to the patent. To their circular the signature of a fictitious manufacturing firm is affixed, and at the top is a finely executed imitation copper plate wood cut of the company's buildings, suggesting the immense amount of capital invested. Hundreds of persons in all parts of the country have been duped by this clever and audacious swindle.

A Mississippi judge evidently thinks that paupers are not a part of the human race. A man was brought before him on a charge of selling spoiled bacon. The fellow was convicted and sentenced in these terms: "You, sir," said he, "have been guilty of a crime which endangers the lives of your fellow-beings. That meat, sir, would kill any man, and I know it, and you know it. Now, sir, it is ordered by this court that all this meat before us, and all similar meat in your possession, be forfeited by you, and that it be sent to the county poor-house." This was rather hard on the tenants of the poor-house.

New Jersey is emulating that royal worthy whom Charles Lamb designated the much calumniated King Herod. Saturday was a bad day for Jersey children. One boy stole a railroad ride and lost his hold and his life at the same sad moment. This was at the Erie tunnel. At Newark a little child fell into a wash-tub and was drowned while its mother happened to be out of the room. And at Sandtown a little girl in trying to get out of a school-room by the window, dislodged the prop which held up the sash and thus brought down the latter on her neck, choking her to death. How would it answer to look a little more carefully after the children still left alive there?

Not long since a very nervous lady took passage at the Tip Top House, White Mountains, to descend by the almost perpendicular railroad. Her fears were apparent to every one, and the following unique dialogue took place between her and the conductor. Lady—Mr. Conductor, how do you hold these cars when you want to make a stop? C.—Madame, we apply the brake, which you see there. Lady—Suppose, Mr. Conductor, that brake should give way, what would you do then? C.—Madame, we then apply the double-acting brake, which you see at the other end of the car. Lady—But, Mr. Conductor, suppose that brake should not be sufficient to check the cars, where will we go then? C.—Madame, that depends entirely upon how you have lived in this world.

GENERAL.

Queen Victoria has nine children and twenty-one grandchildren.

Married ladies now have their husband's, in addition to their own name, on their visiting card, a custom of long standing abroad. The fashionable card just now is almost square, the engraving being in old English and otherwise plain.

False sovereigns, chiefly composed of platinum, says the London Times, are in circulation, and are not to be distinguished from the genuine coin except by the process of ringing, when the difference in sound can be immediately detected.

About thirty feet of the masonry of the Column Vendome have been covered with bronze plates and in a couple of months time the monument, pulled to the ground a few days before the army of Versailles took Paris, will have been restored.

An Irish miser died in Cork recently and left his widow only a broken pitcher. She testified her indignation after hearing the will read by kicking over the pitcher, which enabled her to discover the value of the contents, which was, of course, immense.

Germany is to have a signal service bureau. Old Probs and all, for the benefit of the maritime ports and of all persons engaged in agricultural and other pursuits dependent upon atmospheric conditions. No doubt it will be found there, as here, a bureau of signal service.

Street dresses are now lined on the bottom with black leather, which preserves the silk, prevents the skirt turning up, and also prevents the material being cut. This is a French idea, we believe, and certainly a good and sensible one. The leather comes prepared especially for the purpose.

Scientific men say that if pianos stand north and south the tone of the instrument is much improved. This is true—especially when the piano is thumped by a learner. About one hundred and fifty miles north and south of you is the proper position for the instrument to stand when being manipulated by a young thing taking her first lessons.

Evening calls are now in order, as is always the case during Lent, and the young ladies are supposed to be "at home" informally at least two evenings of the week. To many ladies who have been dissipated since Christmas, Lent is a boon, for it gives them a rest and freedom from the perplexities of fashionable life for a period of forty days and forty nights.

Considerable anxiety and eagerness is manifested among the fashionable girls of the period to know what the style and shape of the spring bonnet will be. The milliners are reticent, and say they cannot divulge secrets until after the "opening." The models are expected by the next French steamer. Those who ought to know all about it say the coming bonnet will not differ much from the peculiar affair now in vogue.

A series of experiments made by Prof. Ville, in France, show that the diseases that attack the potato are in part the result of a deficiency in the supply of potash in the soil. For five years in succession the Professor planted potatoes in the same soil without any fertilizer; to other plots of ground he added fertilizers that did not contain potash. In all these cases the fruit became diseased in the month of May, while on the other plots where potash was supplied in sufficient quantity, the plants were healthy and yielded an excellent product.

Details of the disturbances in Havana, on the evening of the 12th, state that it was more serious than hitherto reported. A large body of volunteers assembled in front of the Captain General's palace and demanded that the recent conscription proclaimed should be modified. They were willing to take the field as volunteer organizations, but not willing to be conscripted to serve under Spanish officers. The Captain General refused to see the delegation appointed to wait on him. Thereupon an incipient riot began and there were evidences of an outbreak in various quarters. The troops fired upon the crowd, killing five persons. Upon the following day, Martinez, an ex-editor, and Father Castro, ex-Cure of the Cathedral, were arrested among others, and it is reported that they two are already condemned to death.

The Quebec Temperance and Prohibition League is in session at Montreal. Reports of the General Committee recommend that all ministers of the gospel deliver at least two sermons each year to their congregations on temperance, and that congregations hold meetings often to discuss the subject; that public meetings be held in all the school houses for the same purpose; that united meetings for prayer, to invoke divine blessing in the cause, be held, and that all Sunday School teachers be urged to impress temperance principles on the minds of their scholars. The question of holding a convention of the Ontario, New Brunswick and Quebec Temperance Leagues at Ottawa during the ensuing session of Parliament was left in the hands of the Executive Committee. Mr. Manning assured the meeting that the subject would be taken up by the Dominion Government on the meeting of Parliament.—N. Y. Sun.

The New Atlantic Cable.

A new light telegraph cable is, we are informed, to be laid across the Atlantic during the present year, on the principle resulting from the valuable discoveries made in electric science by Mr. Highton, on whom the Society of Arts has conferred a special medal for telegraphic improvements. Mr. Highton applies what may be called magnetic batteries to the points of indication at each end of the cable, and by these means and the use of sensitive instruments, obtains rapid and powerful signals with a tenth part of the force now in use. The cable is covered only with prepared manilla, practically indestructible in sea—weighs only 14 cwt. per nautical mile in water, will sustain 20 miles of its own length, and can be laid by means of ordinary ships without machinery. So enormous will be the saving that messages between England and America will be reduced to one shilling per word, whereas they are now charged four shillings.—Lloyd's Weekly.

MRS. LESTER—Dear Madam, I have been troubled for the last fifteen years with Biliousness, and have tried many of the different kinds of medicines recommended for the cure of the above complaint, but received no material benefit until I commenced using your DINNER PILLS, (now about eight months since.) I continued their use according to directions for about three months, and must say that I have enjoyed better health since taking the Pills than I have for the last fifteen years, and would recommend them with all confidence, to any person similarly troubled.
