the business of farming. When the start-ing of a College was first broached, the idea had commended itself to him for three reasons. The institution had been subjected to some very unfair criticism, but he believed that the people wished to get good value for the money expended on it, and so that end he was willing to take suggestions, criticisms and courtesy to increase its usefulness. He was pleased at Mr. Bolert's statement that so large a number of the students were making themselves fair. He was glad to meet there that day Mr. Creelman, a graduate of the College, now Prof. Creelman, of the Mississippi Agricultural College, and things he had no desire to have their young men go to the States, he was proud that they should do justice to the institution. It was right that their training should be judged by its practical use, their knowledge by their practice. The farmers refused to be humbugged; if not polished, they were hard headed. Mr. Creelman had told him that the Mississippi College had so become of $45,000 exclusive of floor; and he was sure an Ontario Legislature would refuse to grant the necessary money, if practical results were shown. His calling was more useful and honorable, he considered; that his own, that of the farmer, and so young man would be sorry that his life was to be spent on a farm. At the College the best of influence surrounded the students, and in the professors they had a staff of men who would impress young men in the right direction, both mentally and morally.

The presentation of prizes was then entered upon, the fortunate recipients present being Messrs. Hare, Whitley, Brown, Rundall and Bayne, many of the attitudes, the chairman explained, having gone to their home.

Mr. D Guthrie, M.P.P., in discharging his duty, spoke a few complimentary words to Mr. Hare, and was pleased at the prosperity of the College.

Prof. Creelman, as the first graduate to present a prize to a student, gave a brief humorous address on the necessity for cheek, which he proceeded to explain by urging the assembled to push themselves to the front and let the people know that they knew something. He aptly illustrated the by giving his own experience. He had been appointed to such one subject, but the Professor got sick and the work of teaching half a dozen other branches was thrown on him. He knew little of some of them, but gallantly filled the breach and did the best he could, with such success that the Board promoted him and increased his salary. Mr. Creelman's difficulties, modestly and naively told, created much laughter.

Rev. W. F. Clark believed farmers had been kept down too much in the past, but this was gradually being remedied. Referring to the departure of Prof. Brown, he said one of this gentleman's most persistent teachings, was your old beef and the grass crop, would be generally adopted. He spoke highly of Prof. Shaw's work, and with an illustration of a calf with no fore legs and four hind legs hit off those people who had more kick than go.

Rev. R. J. Beattie commended pluck and grit, as he understood Mr. Creelman's idea of cheek. The Minister of Agriculture, Prof. Creelman and himself were all Simcoe men; their reputation was established.

Prof. Shaw bore testimony to the hard and intelligent work of the students. He esteemed it an honor to be permitted to lead so noble a band of young men. In their future life work he hoped to visit them, and see them beating their neighbors.

Sheriff Mickin said he also was a Simcoe man, but he had got out of it into a better county as soon as he could. He gave Mr. Bogue some humorous and sound advice, winding up with an amusing gag on the book, which took the students greatly.

Dr. McNaughton, of Erie, urged the study of the sciences and followed out the line of thought suggested by the subject in which his prize was given, Veterinary Science. He talked of drainage, ventilation, exercise, &c, commended wife reading, sticking to the good of the old times and wisely choosing the good of the new.

The audience present were generous in their applause to their fellows and to the speakers, which enlivened the proceedings. The chairman, about 8.45, declared the proceedings closed, and a good many took advantage of his invitation to look over the grounds, and some remained to take tea with their friends.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVEG JUNE 28, 1889.

Toronto World:—Roland Barnett is to spend seven years in the Penitentiary for getting away with about ten thousand dollars of the money of the defunct Central Bank. But what about the men who wrecked the bank? Is the ill-starred "Wandering Jew" to be the only one punished? The indications are that he is. The heavy villains in this monetary tragedy will of course never be brought to book. Another sample of our spotless Canadian justice.

According to a Washington correspondent of the Mail, it appears that the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway for liberty to carry goods in bond on their lines is broader than was at first supposed. The Company asks the Treasury Department at Washington to give it authority to transport from any port or point in the United States through the Dominion of Canada, by railway or by vessel. This application if granted according to its terms, would give the Canadian Pacific Company the right to participate in the coasting trade of the United States. The application asks in fact for permission to enter into the coasting trade of the United States in competition as to the domestic products of the United States with the common carriers of the United States. In consequence there have been applications from American roads since this application was filed for a hearing on the law and the facts of the case before a decision shall be rendered. This is the cause of the delay. The Minister of Customs at Ottawa holds that the refusal of the United States Government is a violation of Section 29 of the Washington Treaty.

The Toronto World is authority for the statements that F. D. Barwick, of Toronto, has been decided upon as Pacific Inspector at Toronto, Mr. Sweetman taking Mr. Dowe's place as Chief Inspector at Ottawa. Mr. Barwick has served the Dominion Government faithfully, but appointments of such a responsible kind, one would think, should require some special fitting.

It is believed in Washington that the British Minister and Secretary Blaine have had informal conferences as to the various subjects at issue between the United States and Canada. These conferences possibly may result in suggestions which will lead to the taking of preliminary steps towards the negotiation of some new treaty, but at present it can safely be said that the negotiations have not progressed so far, and that nothing more than a general conference has been held between the British Minister and Secretary Blaine on these subjects.

The Dominion Government has made another backdown and reduced the export duty on logs from $3 to $2 a thousand. This change of front was scorned in the House last session, but calm consideration of the consequences likely to flow from the continuation of such a policy has brought wisdom. The Baker bill, introduced as a measure of retaliation in the United States Senate last session, may by this concession be averted, although strong pressure will be made to have the amount of the export duty on Canadian logs added to the American import duty on lumber.

There has been considerable talk indulged in lately in Mount Forest relative to the boring of artesian wells for water or natural gas. The Representative says: We cannot lose by drilling a hole as we will find either water or natural gas, which would help to boom up our present prosperous town.

Mr. Robert Mathison, formerly publisher of the Milton Champion, and lately editor of the Chicago British American, has been engaged as Principal of the Billings, Montana, public schools. Mr. Mathison's eldest son and one of his eldest daughters, Mrs. Oldam, have been living at Billings for some years.

The Queen of Perfumes—"Lotus of the Nile."

A novel suit will be tried at the next session of the Division Court in St. Thomas unless settled in the meantime, action having been entered against a M.C.R. brakeman for the price of his marriage license and wedding ring. The bridegroom's father-in-law is the plaintiff in the suit.

Pleasure charming is what the ladies use about "Lotus of the Nile" Perfume.

To expel mosquitoes, take of gum camphor a piece about one-third the size of a hen's egg, and evaporate it by placing it in a tin vessel and building it over a lamp, taking care that it does not ignite. The smoke will soon fill the room and expel the mosquitoes, and they will not return, even though the windows should be left open all night.

The Perfume we consider to be at once the most delicate and most enduring—"Lotus of the Nile."

Cameron Snider preached in the I. O. F. in Mount Forest last Sunday. The Representative says:—The sermon, while appropriate to the occasion, was at the same time characteristic of the speaker. Mr. Snider is improving as a speaker and preacher, and seems to possess more power over an audience than when here before.

The most delightful Handkerchief Odor is "Lotus of the Nile."

A lady in St. Thomas was interesting her child on the lesson of last Sabbath in which the Resurrection of Christ was described and the early visit to the Sepulchre. "Pa wouldn't be much good to go to the Resurrection," remarked the child, having in view the hour at which her parent arises in the morning.

Question of the Hour.

Say, Susan, shall we take in the Guelph Tournament next week?

Well, Reuben, I don't care so much about the Tournament, altho' that will be very good and worth going to see, but, what I want to go for, is to visit for he has so many things I want, and you can get them so much cheaper, fully 25 per cent below any place else. Just fancy, a genuine Irish Linen Painted Window Shade, good to 15 years wear (none of your 10 cent Factory painted up), and only 20 cents.

Well, Susan, is that all you want?

No! I want Milk Pans! Just fancy, 8 quart Milk Pans only 10 cents, and I am sure our old Buggy Whip is played out, and you can get a regular Dandy there, at half the price you pay any one else. In fact, there is nearly everything there, both useful and ornamental, I am sure we can save enough to pay us back our 40 mile railway fare.

All right, then we'll go,
