The World is the most extensively circulated and widely read newspaper published in Canada. It knows no party or personal allegiance in treating public measures.

The World aims to have the largest circulation by deserving it, and claims that it is unsurpassed in all the essentials of a metropolitan newspaper.

The World is offered at a price which places it within the reach of all: $3 per annum; $1 for four months; 35 cts. for one month.

The Wheat Question.

The article in yesterday's World dealing with the wheat supply of the world from the pen of Mr. C. Wood Davis in The Arena is well worthy of the most careful consideration of all Canadians. That article fairly shows what has been admitted by the students of economic questions for some time back, that while the bread-consuming population of the world is rapidly increasing the production of wheat has not been advancing in equal ratio, and as most of the good land has been taken up there is an almost dead certainty that the supply of wheat which will be forthcoming in the near future will not be equal to the demand for bread, and that the price of wheat and flour will rapidly rise, to the great advantage of the farmers who are wheat growers. As Mr. Davis puts it, in 1895 the United States will not have a single bushel of wheat or a single pound of meat to export, but will herself have to import in order to make up sufficient food for her own population; that the very moment that point is reached then the farmers of the United States who have been living under such depressing circumstances owing to competition will be comparatively affluent.

We have immense wheat fields of our own to be developed, and we may be upon the time comes to take advantage of the increase and of the enhanced demand. With so great a demand for wheat and so limited an area from which it can be drawn we believe that population must of necessity rush into the Canadian wheat fields of the Northwest, and that with this great inrush will come a development of the country that will be the marvel of the century. In the meantime Canada can well afford not to worry herself about the so-called market in the United States for agricultural products. In due time the Americans will be glad to open up their markets to us. In the meantime we have the European market with its ever-increasing demand, and that is where we should extend our trade. The important fact is that Canada will in a very few years be one of the great, if not the greatest, wheat markets of the world. There is but little doubt that Canada will in a very short time also control the timber supply, and it is the duty of our Government by export duties and a proper national policy to prevent the depletion of our forests. We should not allow a single stick of timber to go out of the country without a reasonable import duty, and we trust that the Government will see its way to adopt such a policy wheat and timber will be trump cards.

"The Wiman Conspiracy Unmasked."

Under this heading Sir Charles Tupper contributes to the May number of The North American Review a slashing reply to Mr. Wiman's article in the January number of the same Review, "The Capture of Canada." He places in concise and convincing form before the people of the United States the facts which were deemed so conclusive by the Canadian electorate—the proof that "this man Wiman," as he refers to Ras in the Amherst speech, "was now as for years past acting in perfect concert with certain Canadian Opposition leaders" in an attempt to subvert British institutions in Canada.

Sir Charles states in the same admirably concise way the reason the Government appealed to the people:

The manner in which Mr. Wiman gloats over the McKinley bill as a great object-lesson to aid in "The Capture of Canada" leaves no room to doubt that this measure, so far as it affects Canada, was prompted by Mr. Wiman and his associates, Sir R. Cartwright and Mr. Farrer. True to their vocation of preventing good feeling between the United States and Canada from being brought about by any reciprocal trade arrangement between the two countries, they endeavored to paralyze the Canadian Government in any negotiations with the United States by the declaration that they would be swept from power by the voice of the people in twelve months. Sir John A. Macdonald, seeing the injury that such a statement would inflict upon any negotiations at Washington, promptly remitted that question to the people at the polls.

The answer of the Canadian people to "The Capture of Canada" was prompt and decisive. It buried forever, Sir Charles believes, "the delusion of unrestricted reciprocity":

Brought face to face in the recent campaign with the electors, Sir Richard Cartwright declared that the Opposition would not take the United States tariff and repudiated his own henchman, Farrer. Mr Laurier went further and denied that their policy of unrestricted reciprocity involved discrimination against England. But the ugly fact remained that Mr. Wiman, convicted by the lecters of Mr. Farrer and Mr. Hitt of being engaged in a treasonable conspiracy to subvert British institutions in Canada, still implored for "moral support" from Congress and the people of the United States for the Laurier-Cartwright party, and the Government were sustained by a larger majority than they had at the previous general elections. To complete the discomfiture of the Opposition, this was followed by the publication of a letter from the Hon. Edward Blake, one of the most able and respected members of that party, who, rather than bind himself to their policy, had ceased to be their leader, and who now declares that his refusal to go into the battle with them was because he was "unable to fight under false colors." Mr. Blake, who to-day represents the great body of the Opposition, who, with few exceptions, are loyal to British institutions, has rudely torn the "mask" to which Farrer alluded from the faces of the conspirators, and the delusion of unrestricted reciprocity may be regarded as dead and buried.

Severe colds are easily cured by the use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, a medicine of extraordinary penetrating and healing properties. It is acknowledged by those who have used it as being the best medicine sold for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. Its agreeableness to the taste makes it a favorite with ladies and children.

The Young Liberals.

Vice-President Statten occupied the chair at the last regular meeting of the Young Liberal Club in Richmond Hall last night. Auditors were appointed. The evening was occupied with music by the talented chairman and resolutions. Two special meetings will conclude the work of the year. On May 4 Mr. William Houston will repeat before the club his lecture on "The Quebec Act of 1775," delivered some time ago at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. On May 11 Prof. Goldwin Smith will lecture on "Aristocracy."

Holloway's Corn Cure destroys all kinds of corns and warts, root and branch. Who then would endure them with such a cheap and effectual remedy within reach?

The C.P.R.'s Next Move.

"Oh, yes," said a leading citizen yesterday, "the C.P.R. have their eye on Ashbridge's Bay. They are considering a scheme for a direct lakeshore road to Cobourg as a competitor of the Grand Trunk, with a harbor and docks in Ashbridge's Bay. They will run from the bay along the shore to Balmy Beach, Victoria Park, etc."

WOMAN'S NOBLE WORK.

Their Success in the Science of Medicine—More Lady Doctors—Generous Tributes.

An institution meriting cordial and generous support, and occupying a prominent and unique position amongst the thousand and one educational agencies of Ontario, is the Woman's Medical College in Sumach-street opposite the Toronto General Hospital. Here a pleasant and interesting function took place yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting, when diplomas were conferred and prizes awarded to the successful students.

The New Building.

Before and after this ceremony the many visitors made the tour of the institution and were gratified with the result of their inspection. The new college building is now complete. It is one of the best equipped and most eligible of its kind in America. Among other rooms it contains a large lecture hall, fitted with special student's chairs, movable blackboards, chart frames, and accommodating over 50 students. The microscopical laboratory on the first floor is modelled after the well-known biological department of Toronto University, and each student is provided with the requisite space and appliances for the best work in microscopy. On the same floor is the large chemical laboratory, fully equipped, and with accommodation for 37 students. Adjoining the microscopy room is a commodious waiting-room, set apart entirely for the use of the students, and provided with books and journals; connected with this room is a students' lavatory. The building formerly occupied as a college has been remodelled and now forms the dissecting room, being entirely separated from the main building. Students may proceed to their degree before the Universities of Trinity, Toronto or Victoria. Special inducements are offered to ladies to enter the foreign mission field as medical missionaries.

A Galaxy of Beauty and Talent.

Yesterday afternoon the lecture hall was crowded. Dr. R. B. Nevitt, Dean of Faculty, presided and amongst other persons present The World noticed: Sir Daniel Wilson, Dr. James Beaty, Q.C., chairman of the Board of Trustees; Dr. J. T. Duncan, Dr. A. Stowe Gullen, Dr. James F. W. Ross, Dr. Temple, Dr. D. J. Gibb Wishart, Dr. Alice McLaughlin, Dr. Susanna P. Bovell, Dr. M. T. Bovell, Dr. W. P. Caven, Dr. Primrose, Dr. J. A. Creasor, Dr. Ida Lynd, Mrs. Curzon, Mrs. James Bain, Rev. Dr. Parsons, Rev. A. H. Baldwin and the students of the college.

The Dean made an admirable opening speech in which he sketched in thankful tone the progress and work of the college. Eight years ago the school was in a small cottage, now they had admirable premises and a class of 35. The students and faculty were alike praised for good, thorough, conscientious work.

Then the doctor concisely stated the progress of women's medical colleges in the Old World and the New. In the large cities of the United States such schools are well supported. In England and France similar institutions have been established. Germany, however, is too conservative to admit them. In Edinburgh and Glasgow women's medical colleges have been affiliated with the universities. A lady doctor has this year graduated from Bishop's College, Montreal. In some of the country towns woman doctors are doing well, as some of the male practitioners know to their cost. [Applause and laughter.] Kingston ranks next after Toronto for success in this special work. In conclusion, Dean Nevitt spoke of the success of the students from that college at the various universities. He then read this list of

Distinguished Students:

Diplomas of the College—(An pass, with first-class honors)—Dr. L. Graham, Toronto; Dr. M. A. Gifford, Meaford; Dr. L. K. Meade, Nassagaweya.

Prizes—Final prize (80 per cent.), Dr. Graham, Toronto; therapeutics (3rd year), Miss J. Gray, Toronto; special anatomy prize (3rd year), Miss M. M. Brander, Priceville; passed: Miss Brander, Miss Rodger, Miss Ryan, West Toronto Junction; class prize (1st year, special), Miss Pringle, Fergus; anatomy (1st year, special), Miss Shirra, Caledonia.

The following students passed this examination: Miss Pringle, Fergus; Miss Shirra, Caledonia; Miss Machelin, Stratford; Miss Murray, Strathroy; all over 75 per cent.

Then came the formal presentation of the well-earned guerdons. With dignity, modesty and grace the ladies advanced to the front of the platform. The winners of the diplomas wore the black academic cloak and blushed at the new title of "Doctor." How their friends applauded! and how modestly they bore the ordeal of this public recital of their sterling qualities! 'Twas an animating sight, and a proud hour which saw worthy awards meted out to worthy hands.

Generous Words of Praise.

The venerable president of Toronto University, Sir Daniel Wilson, excelled in words felicitous to the three new lady doctors. Generous and sincere were his words of sympathy with the work of the institution and his endorsation of the higher education of women. As became him, he was academic in recalling the services of women as doctors and nurses in the long bygone ages of history. He coveted the honor of conferring Varsity degrees upon those fair and diligent ones before him, and facetiously said that he had already converted three young ladies into bachelors. [Applause and laughter.]

Dr. Temple testified to the very excellent work of the ladies who had come before him as one of the examiners of Trinity University. Almost without an exception they passed with first-class honors. [Applause.]

Dr. Duncan spoke to a similar effect.

Dr. James Beaty, Q.C., was genial and complimentary. He sang the praises of the college and all and singular connected with it. Touching on finances, he said that in 1883 $2273 was subscribed and expended in the establishment of the school. Since 1889 $3008 had been subscribed. He earnestly longed to see the building free of debt and its usefulness increased.

Little was left for Rev. Dr. Parsons to say. Certes he said nothing in particular and said it very well.

Thus terminated the annual ceremony which marks a "red-letter" day in the history of the Women's Medical College.

Around the Docks.

The Harbor Commissioners met yesterday morning. These were present: Messrs. A. B Lee (chairman), Matthews, Hagarty, Ald. Allen and Graham. A deputation, consisting of Ald. Small, Leslie and Messrs. Beavis and Kingsford, representing the Ashbridge's Bay Reclamation Association, were heard. They submitted plans of the proposed improvements, and obtained a promise from the commissioners that no opposition would be offered to the scheme provided no injury was done the harbor. Requests were received for dredging in various parts of the harbor.

I continued using it, and in a short time my ear was cured and hearing completely restored. I have used this wonderful healer successfully in cases of inflamation of the lungs, sore throat, coughs and colds, cuts and bruises, &c., in fact it is our family medicine.

The North End Club.

Mr. D. J. O'Donoghue, Mr. A. F. Jury and others took part in the discussion which followed, and after a few remarks from the president of the club, the Rev. George M. Wrong, the meeting adjourned. The North End Club has come to stay. The beautiful reading room is well filled every night and the members are enthusiastic about the club and the privileges it offers.

The Glengarry Protest.

At Osgoode Hall yesterday before Mr. Justice Maclennan, Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., for Rory Maclennan, the respondent, moved to rescind an order extending the time for service upon him of the petition. J. A. Maclatosh, for the petitioner, opposed the motion and the judge reserved his judgment. The matter will probably be heard ultimately by the full Court of Appeal.

BOSWELL'S MAJORITY WAS 74.

Result of the R.C.Y.C. Elections—The Ten Committeemen Chosen—Speeches By Lucky Candidates—General Sport.

A. R. Boswell.....221
Thomas McGaw.....147

Majority for Mr. Boswell.....74

The Town Club House was well filled last night at the adjourned Royal Canadian Yacht Club meeting.

Commodore Boswell was given a cheer as he entered and took the chair.

In the assembly there were very few supporters of Mr. McGaw, as it was pretty generally known that the old commodore was re-elected. The ballots had been counted between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the Board of Trade.

Hon. Secretary W. Bruce-Harman read the report of the scrutineers, which was signed by Messrs. George McMurrich, Millar, Jenning, Jackson, Foote and Harman.

"For commodore Mr. Boswell has been elected," he said, and thunderous applause filled the room.

The victorious committee-men's names were read out and the applause given showed that the members present were well satisfied. They were:

E. Jarvis, N. B. Dick, J. E. Robertson, R. F. Stupart, W. H. Parsons, J. W. Morse, J. Mitchinson, George E. Evans, G. D. Boulton and A. A. Gooderham.

A lively debate took place as to the advisability of giving the vote. The honorary secretary declared that the majority was not given at any previous election, so it would not be announced now. Several members stated that many bets must be decided. This was met with a proposition to make Mr. Jennings the referee for such cases. He said this was not necessary and advised that the ballots be not given for any such reason.

Finally a motion by Messrs. Robertson and Tilley that the vote be given was carried. Mr. Harman then announced that 368 votes were cast, giving Mr. Boswell a majority of 74. The result of the vote for committee men was not demanded, but they were chosen in the order given above.

After the applause had died away the re-elected commodore made his speech. He said that Mr. McGaw had been commodore of the old T.Y.C. eight years and it was the custom in England for commodores to succeed themselves frequently. Therefore he was justified in accepting the nomination. If yachting men desired it next year he would step down and out. He regretted that "wretched, miserable kind of tactics" had been resorted to in the protest mentioned yesterday. He gave a history of the proprietorship of the Vreda. When the yacht was first purchased each of the three partners declared that he would not part with his interest without telling the others. Mr. Ball has not parted absolutely with any part of his share. In conclusion, Mr. Boswell thanked all who assisted in his election, and also a committee that he believed worked in his interest. He hoped that the hatchet would be buried on both sides and that harmony would prevail.

Short speeches were also made by Rear-Commodore Brown and Hon. Secretary Harman, two of the officers elected by acclamation. Vice-Commodore G. T. Blackstock was unavoidably absent.

Most of the victorious committee-men were present and spoke, thanking their supporters and stating how they would hustle for the club.

Mr. L. V. Percival was a McGaw man. He made a clever speech, stating that for his part all election excitement would be forgotten and his party would again proceed to assist in boosting the club. The meeting broke up after giving three ringing cheers for Mr. Boswell.

Mr. E. Jarvis, the popular sailor, is a prominent member of the R.C.Y.C. He was elected to the committee at the top of the poll. He promised to assist the club to the best of his ability. Next thing Mr. Jarvis will live here.

He Represented a Committee.

Mr. Charles Millar was seen by The World yesterday. He said he was not objecting to Commodore Boswell's qualification on his own account, but as the representative of a committee of members who wished to see Mr. McGaw elected as well as the constitution of the club maintained. Any protest he had put in on behalf of Mr. McGaw's friends was strictly constitutional. The constitution said that an officer must qualify as owner or part owner of a yacht; if the latter all his co-owners must be members of the club. Mr. Boswell attempted to qualify on a part ownership of the Vreda, and Mr. Millar produced a statutory declaration made by Rev. Clarence W. Ball of Port Burwell that he is fourth owner of the yacht Vreda. Mr. Ball is not, however, a member of the R.C.Y.C., and therefore Mr. Boswell cannot, according to the constitution, qualify on that yacht.

THE SALE OF ROSEDALE.

The Toronto Lacrosse Club Will Receive Half the Profits.

President A. J. Somerville occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Athletic Grounds Company at Capt. Pellatt's office yesterday afternoon.

Among the stockholders present were Messrs. John Henderson, C. R. Wood, A. B. Lambe, Arthur R. Lee, G. A. Chapman.

The secretary was instructed to notify the Toronto Lacrosse Club of the acceptance of the proposition for the disposal of the old Rosedale grounds. The ground will be sold and the profits, after the shareholders are paid 6 per cent. on the paid-up capital for all the years since the money was paid in, will be divided equally between the lacrosse club and the company. The club will expend its share in fitting up stands, etc., on the new grounds north of the present property. The grounds will be ten acres in extent, a space sufficient for the accommodation of the lacrosse and cricket clubs and the Athletic Association, of which will find a home there under one management. President Somerville and the old board of directors were re-elected.

LACROSSE AT UPPER CANADA.

'Varsity Again Victorious—The Score Was Three Goals to Two.

The lacrosse match on the College grounds between 'Varsity and Upper Canada was closely contested all through. Cross scored all 'Varsity's goals, the first in 15 minutes, the fourth in 10 minutes and the fifth and last in 5 minutes. McFarlane, the second in 12 minutes, and Maurice the third in 37 minutes were Upper Canada's scorers. The teams were:

International Intercollegiate Cricket.

A meeting of the cricket club representatives from Ontario law schools and universities was held at Keachie's yesterday for the purpose of arranging the proposed international intercollegiate match with the American team. Every inducement will be given to the American eleven to visit Toronto, where it is proposed to play the initial match. H. B. McGiverin was appointed secretary and given power to make all arrangements.

BOWLING ON THE GREEN.

The Granite Club's Annual Meeting and Splendid Record.

At the annual meeting of the Granite Bowling Club, held at the club rooms, the president, Mr. J. C Kemp, was in the chair. The honorary secretary-treasurer's report was read and adopted. The remarkable success of the club at the Niagara tournament was referred to by the president, they having won the trophy, the second and consolation prizes, also the inter-club matches, the Granites being the champion club, the Victorias, and then by only one game. The president's medal in the club competition was won by W. H. Beasdell, who it was hoped would step down and out. He regretted that "wretched, miserable kind of tactics" had been resorted to in the protest mentioned yesterday. He gave a history of the proprietorship of the Vreda. When the yacht was first purchased each of the three partners declared that he would not part with his interest without telling the others. Mr. Ball has not parted absolutely with any part of his share. In conclusion, Mr. Boswell thanked all who assisted in his election, and also a committee that he believed worked in his interest. He hoped that the hatchet would be buried on both sides and that harmony would prevail.

Short speeches were also made by Rear-Commodore Brown and Hon. Secretary Harman, two of the officers elected by acclamation. Vice-Commodore G. T. Blackstock was unavoidably absent.

Most of the victorious committee-men were present and spoke, thanking their supporters and stating how they would hustle for the club.

Mr. L. V. Percival was a McGaw man. He made a clever speech, stating that for his part all election excitement would be forgotten and his party would again proceed to assist in boosting the club. The meeting broke up after giving three ringing cheers for Mr. Boswell.

Mr. E. Jarvis, the popular sailor, is a prominent member of the R.C.Y.C. He was elected to the committee at the top of the poll. He promised to assist the club to the best of his ability. Next thing Mr. Jarvis will live here.

He Represented a Committee.

Mr. Charles Millar was seen by The World yesterday. He said he was not objecting to Commodore Boswell's qualification on his own account, but as the representative of a committee of members who wished to see Mr. McGaw elected as well as the constitution of the club maintained. Any protest he had put in on behalf of Mr. McGaw's friends was strictly constitutional. The constitution said that an officer must qualify as owner or part owner of a yacht; if the latter all his co-owners must be members of the club. Mr. Boswell attempted to qualify on a part ownership of the Vreda, and Mr. Millar produced a statutory declaration made by Rev. Clarence W. Ball of Port Burwell that he is fourth owner of the yacht Vreda. Mr. Ball is not, however, a member of the R.C.Y.C., and therefore Mr. Boswell cannot, according to the constitution, qualify on that yacht.

Sail and Shell.

Champion McKendrick is having a canoe 16 feet long and 30 inches wide built by the Toronto Canoe and Boat Company. She will have bilge plates instead of a centreboard.

The Donoghue brothers, Joe and Jim, of Newburg, N.Y., have received a handsome paper double scull boat from Waters of Troy. The boys, who are expert oarsmen as well as skaters, will row in a number of races this season.

By mistake yesterday it was stated that the Argonauts' Argo was built at Warin's. The Toronto Canoe and Boat Company built the boat and are now working on the Leanders' war canoe. They are also building a similar machine for the Wanderers' Canoe Club of Montreal.

THE SALE OF ROSEDALE.

The Toronto Lacrosse Club Will Receive Half the Profits.

President A. J. Somerville occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Athletic Grounds Company at Capt. Pellatt's office yesterday afternoon.

Among the stockholders present were Messrs. John Henderson, C. R. Wood, A. B. Lambe, Arthur R. Lee, G. A. Chapman.

The secretary was instructed to notify the Toronto Lacrosse Club of the acceptance of the proposition for the disposal of the old Rosedale grounds. The ground will be sold and the profits, after the shareholders are paid 6 per cent. on the paid-up capital for all the years since the money was paid in, will be divided equally between the lacrosse club and the company. The club will expend its share in fitting up stands, etc., on the new grounds north of the present property. The grounds will be ten acres in extent, a space sufficient for the accommodation of the lacrosse and cricket clubs and the Athletic Association, of which will find a home there under one management. President Somerville and the old board of directors were re-elected.
