STRONGER TONE IN WHEAT PIT

Speculators on Long Side Ignore Huge Shipments from Argentina.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Active speculative sentiment served to stiffen the wheat market today and at the close prices showed a net advance of 1-4c to 1-2c. Corn ended the day a shade lower to 1-8c higher, oats a shade to 1-4c higher and provisions irregular, 7 1-2c to 10c lower to 10c higher.

Wheat was given a lift at the start on the higher cables and the complication of the Balkan situation thru the defiance of the powers by Montenegro. Speculative buying was based also on reports of export sales and the staying strength of coarse grains. Fluctuations were narrow, good buying taking place on each dip. So pronounced was the control of the bull leaders that the fact that Argentine shipments are the third largest on record, at 7,032,000 bushels, had no depressing effect.

Corn was subjected to early selling pressure, but grew firmer on buying by one of the large houses towards the close.

Oats were dull and prices were within narrow range.

Provisions ruled generally lower under selling of May products by longs. Expectation of a weakening of the hog market helped to depress prices.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

On account of bad weather and worse roads, there were no receipts of farm produce on the St. Lawrence market. Prices given are nominal.
