

LADIES' JACKET. (TO BE WORN OPEN AND ROLLED TO THE WAIST OR CLOSED AT THE BUST.) FOR CYCLING AND OTHER OUTDOOR WEAR.

(For Illustrations see Page 295.)

No. 8951.—This natty jacket is appropriate for cycling and other outdoor wear and also for general use. Blue serge was used for it and a stylish finish was given by stitching. A close adjustment at the back and sides is effected by under-arm gores, side-back gores extending to the shoulders and a center seam. The side-back seams are left open below the waist-line, and to the loose edges are joined the side edges of box-plaits that are applied over the side-back seams, this arrangement giving a stylish flare to the skirt. The box-plaits narrow becomingly toward the waist, which is encircled by a belt that is passed under the fronts through openings in the under-arm seams and closed with a buckle. The fronts are curved to the figure by single bust darts and may be worn open and reversed in lapels to the waist, or may be reversed in small lapels and closed on the bust with a button and button-hole, the edges flaring below. At the neck is a rolling collar shaped by a center seam. The two-seam sleeves are gathered to stand out well at the top.

Jackets like this may be made to match the accompanying skirt or independently of chevrot, covert cloth, etc.

We have pattern No. 8954 in nine sizes for ladies from thirty to forty-

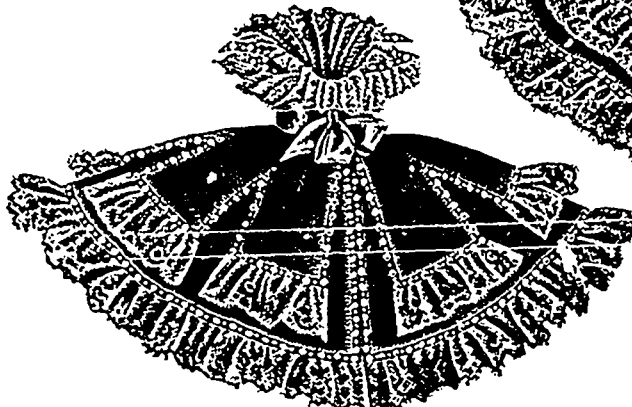

LADIES' SINGLE-BREASTED ETON JACKET. (TO BE MADE WITH A MILITARY OR BOLERO COLLAR.) SOMETIMES CALLED THE HUSSAR OR MILITARY JACKET.

(For Illustrations see Page 295.)

No. 8951.—This Eton jacket, for which green cloth was 8979

8979

Front View.

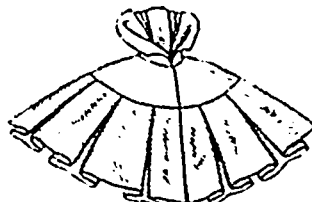

8979

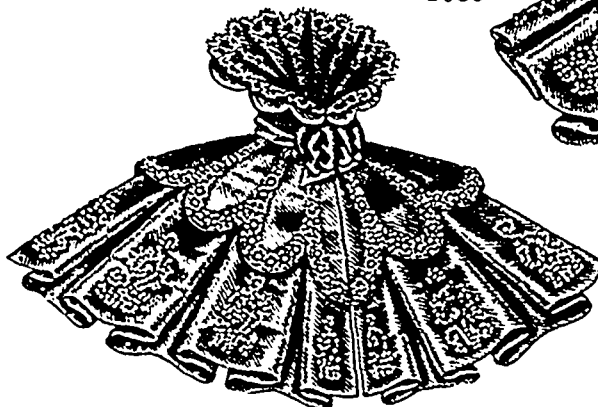

Back View.

LADIES' CIRCULAR CAPE, WITH CAVALIER COLLARS.

(For Description see Page 284.)

8980

8980

Front View.

8980

Back View.

LADIES' BOX-PLAITED CAPE WITH YOKE AND SCOLLOPED COLLAR.

(For Description see Page 284.)

six inches, bust measure. For a lady of medium size, the jacket needs four yards and a half of goods twenty-seven inches wide, for three yards and three-eighths thirty-six inches wide, or two yards and seven-eighths forty-four inches wide, or two yards and a fourth fifty-four inches wide. Price of pattern, 1s. 3d. or 30 cents.

used, is sometimes called the military hussar jacket, and has all the jauntiness which these names suggest. The jacket ends at the line of the waist and its low edge may be plain or may show a notch with round corners at the center. The back is seamless and is joined to the fronts in shoulder at under-arm seams. The fronts are closely fitted by single bust darts and closed invisibly at the center. Choice may be made between a military standing collar and a bolero collar that and flares in a characteristic way, both styles being provided by the pattern. The two-seam sleeves are gathered at the top and stand out in short puffs at the top. An ornamentation of black soutache braid at the lower edges and the military collar and a more fanciful device, also soutache, for the closing edge give an appropriate and attractive finish.

Velvet Eton jackets are very smart and the of fine, smooth cloth or bouclé suitings also accompany dressy afternoon gowns. Passementerie and feather trimming afford stylish decoration.

We have pattern No. 8951 in seven sizes for ladies from thirty to forty-two inches, bust measure. For a lady of medium size, the jacket requires three yards and seven-eighths material twenty-two inches wide, or two yards and a half thirty inches wide, or two yards and a fourth thirty-six inches wide, or a yard and five-eighths forty-four inches wide, or a yard and three-eighths fifty-four inches wide. Price of pattern, 1s. or 25 cents.