FIRE IN LIVERY OFFICE.

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning a policeman discovered a fire in the office of Luke Dyer's livery on Dundas street, in rear of The Advertiser office, and at once sent in an alarm to the central station. The three brigades responded promptly, but only the chemical engine was used to extinguish the fire, the damage being slight. The explosion of a gas pipe is blamed for the blaze.

Mrs. Wilcox (nee Lewis), of Pall Mall street, had a pleasant surprise last evening in the shape of the presentation by her former Sunday school class. Miss Georgina Hance then presented Mrs. Wilcox with a handsome jardiniere on behalf of the class. Mrs. Wilcox thanked the girls for the kind address and present, and the rest of the evening was spent in various kinds of games. The gathering dispersed, after singing "Auld Lang Syne," and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox a long and happy life.

TROUBLE OVER FISH.

In the non-jury assizes at Toronto yesterday, Mr. Justice Britton heard a case in which 6,000 pounds of fish were concerned. The London Cold Storage and Warehouse Company, of this city, was to have taken charge of a large consignment of smelts, which were shipped by the Doyle Fish Company. The fish became decomposed, and the storage company sold them at a loss. The Toronto firm says that this action was not necessary, and was done without notice being given them. It therefore wants $630, the difference between the value of the firsh when fresh and their actual selling price, and $200 in addition, to cover a possible profit that might have been realized. The London firm says, in defense, that the fish were certainly "smelt" as soon as they reached this city, and that $23 is due for storage.

SUDDEN DEMISE OF AN OLD CITIZEN

Mr. Samuel Smith, South London, Dies Unexpectedly While Sitting in His Chair.

About 6 o'clock last evening death came to an old and respected citizen, namely, Mr. Samuel Smith, of Byron avenue, South London. Mr. Smith was seated in his chair when the attack came, and, although Dr. Ferguson, who was summoned, did all he could. Mr. Smith passed away in a short time.

The deceased was 83 years of age. His wife predeceased him some years ago. He was an enthusiastic member of the Salvation Army, and that body will greatly feel his loss. He was present at one of their meetings on Tuesday night. Deceased is survived by an adult family of eight children, as follows: Messrs. Richard, James and Jacob, of this city; Samuel, of Chicago; Mrs. J. McLaren, of Rat Portage; Mrs. J. Ogden, Mrs. A. L. Langdon and Miss Ellen, at home. The funeral will be held tomororw afternoon under the direction of the Salvation Army.

Injured Fireman Is No Longer On the Payroll

Committee Deals With Case of Fireman Frank Roberton.

Offer of $500 Made Him for the Injuries He Received.

Additional Hydrants To Be Placed in North End — Installation of Firemen's Gongs.

For the partial and apparently permanent disability of a fireman, No. 3 committee of the city council considers $500 ample recompense. At least, this would appear to be the price set if the recommendation of No. 3 committee counts for anything.

The matter came up last night through the report of Fire Chief Clark, who informed the committee that Fireman Frank Roberton, who was injured in the Sterling fire, was still on the payroll; Fireman Robert Robinson had resigned, and Fireman F. Thrower had been dismissed. The latter part of the report did not worry the aldermen, but the first clause did.

Mr. Roberton, who was present, was asked by Ald. Greer what he expected the city to do for him. It was impossible to keep him on the payroll all the time.

Ald. Greenlees, although he declared he sympathized sincerely with a man in Roberton's position, said that Roberton knew when he took a job on the fire department, he was taking big risks. What would a manufacturing concern or a railroad do for a man under similar circumstances? he asked.

Ald. Matthews remarked that a railway would give him a job watching a crossing.

Ald. Greenlees replied that what Ald. Matthews said was probably true, but the city had no crossings to watch. The question then was, what could the city do for Roberton in a financial way? But what the city deemed fair might not meet the wishes of Roberton. However, he moved that Roberton be given $500 in full of any claims he might have against the city, amending his motion later so as to give Roberton, besides the $500, any sum which might be left out of the insurance policy when Roberton's substitute has been paid.

Secretary Bell, being called upon to explain just how much this would mean for Roberton, said about six hundred dollars. The city would then be called upon to pay Roberton's doctor's fees, something over $200 in all.

When asked what he thought of the offer, Mr. Roberton declared that it was not much for a man who might never be able to work again. He did not threaten any lawsuit, however, but left the matter entirely in the committee's hands.

Ald. Greer—Well, we can't start you up in a manufacturing business.

Mr. Roberton—No, I don't expect it. But could you not allow me to remain on the payroll for awhile longer, and see if I will not be able to go to work again.

Ald. Greer replied to this question that the matter must be settled at once, and the other members of the committee, agreeing with him, Ald. Greenlees' motion was carried unanimously. This means that Roberton is no longer on the permanent payroll.

The Gongs Again.

The matter of gongs in the firemen's houses came up again, and it brought forth an interesting discussion. Chief Clark, when it was decided to call for tenders for the installation of the gongs, explained to the committee that the cost of installation now was a mere bagatelle to what the city will be called upon to pay in the future. He cited the case of a certain fireman, who three or four days after his appointment to the permanent force, appeared before the chief and declared that he intended to resign on the 15th. The chief, however, saved him the trouble of resigning, and dismissed him at once. Supposing a gong had been installed in this man's house, the city would have been stuck for the amount of installing the gong, and of taking it out of his house again. Of late there had been many changes in the brigade, and there was no guarantee that the changes will not continue in the future. Each time there was a change, it meant an outlay of quite a large sum to the city.

Some of the aldermen declared that before a man was appointed to the permanent force, he should be compelled to sign an agreement, and that a month's salary should be held back, but the chief said if this was done the city would not be able to hire a man.

Tenders are to be called for the installation of the gongs.

The recommendation of City Engineer Graydon and Fire Chief Clark re the placing of additional hydrants at various places for the purpose of affording additional fire protection to certain institutions, especially St. Joseph's Hospital, the Protestant Orphans' Home and others in that locality, was adopted, and the water commissioners will be notified that the hydrants asked for are absolute necessities.

Better Fire Protection.

Inspector McCallum addressed the committee, informing them that before St. Andrew's Society was allowed to bring the Black Watch Band to the Princess Rink, he had collected a license fee of $80 from the society in accordance with the bylaw, but that he understood that the society was to be given a rebate, as the license for a place of amusement for an entire year amounts to only $80. Now another gentleman was bringing a band to the Princess Rink, and he wanted to know what course to pursue. If no rebate was allowed St. Andrew's Society he would be compelled to recognize the rink as a licensed place of amusement, and would charge the second band nothing for coming to London, but if the society was given a rebate the license would be annulled and the second band would be taxable.

The committee resolved to allow the society a rebate of $60, and have the second band assessed $20 for the privilege of playing in London.

Ald. Matthews reported that he had been offered by a certain local insurance agent a two-year policy for the firemen which would guarantee $1,000 in case of total disability. Ald. Matthews was instructed to open negotiations at once.

The committee also selected winter caps for the firemen, and they will be issued at once.

Chairman Matthews, Ald. Greenlees, Greer and Garratt, Fire Chief Clark, Inspector McCallum, Market Clerk Maker and Secretary Bell were present.

The Greatest Day of the Year at Delaware Village

Annual Fall Show Held Yesterday —Attendance Almost Equaled the Record Year of 1903.

Delaware Village's greatest day of the year was yesterday, when the fall fair of the Delaware Township Agricultural Society was held. The little village presented a very lively appearance. Although the weather was cold and windy, the attendance almost reached in numbers that of last year's record show. Fortunately for a large number of exhibits, which were out in the open, there was no rain. Everything scheduled on the programme was carried out. The town hall was utilized for the exhibits of grains, dairy produce, fruit, ladies' work and arts, and throughout the entire day it was thronged with visitors. The exhibits in this building were very numerous, and the society might well be proud of being able to get together such a high-class lot. The vegetables were particularly good, some of the turnips being the finest ever shown in Western Ontario. The live stock equaled, if it did not, indeed, surpass that of other years, in excellence. The principal exhibitors in this class were Messrs. R. Gibson, D. and H. McPherson, Ackland Bros., J. McEwen, Brodie Bros., George Hill, D. A. Campbell, E. Howlett, Love Bros., F. Poole, Parsons Bros., and D. A. Graham. Some fine Berkshires and Yorkshires were exhibited by Ackland Bros., and Mr. R. Gibson owned some Durham cows and some sheep which were of a very superior grade. The exhibit of live stock is an excellent example of the high-class of breeding the farmers of Middlesex are capable of maintaining. The dairy produce deserves especial mention, as it was unexcelled by those of any other fall show yet held this year. Of the exhibitors in the ladies' work department, the following were the principals: Miss K. Granger, Mrs. R. Pincombe, Strathroy; Mrs. A. B. Douglas, Strathroy; Miss Mamie Hill, St. Thomas; Miss C. Kennedy, St. Thomas; Miss Heatley, Delaware; Miss Rockett, London; Miss Fonger and Miss Hall.

THE HORSE RACES.

The speeding events aroused a great deal of interest and enthusiasm among the large crowd of spectators. Some exciting finishes occurred in a few of the heats. In the third heat of the first event, one of the wheels of the sulky attached to the winner, Clara Bars, had nearly all of its spokes torn out, but, strangely enough, the wheel did not bend until the horse was brought to a standstill. In the lady drivers' contest Miss McCartney won first prize. Miss Fisher was second and Miss Williams third. The running events resulted as follows:

Three-minute class:

Clara Bars	1	1	1
Bob	2	2	2
Branda	3	3	3

Time—3:10½, 2:59½, 2:40½.

Free-for-all:

Although the management did not depend in any way on gate receipts, as no charges were made, the fair financially will be successful. Expenses are light and the entries were very heavy, over 900 being made. The officials who so successfully conducted the show are: H. N. Gibson, president; first vice-president, Donald McPherson; second vice-president, W. M. Baker; secretary, John R. Hammond; treasurer, H. C. Johnstone; R. C. Hammond, William Baker, R. W. Stevens, S. Spiders are not insects, as most people think. The spider has eight legs, whereas an insect cannot have more than six. The nervous system is constructed on a totally different basis, and so are the circulation and respiration. The eyes are different, the insects having many compound eyes and the spider never having more than eight, and all of them simple. Then a spider has no separate head, the head and the thorax being fused together.
