ST. JOHN, N. B. FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1889.

THE MONTREAL OUTRAGE.

We publish elsewhere the Montreal Gazette's account of a discussion which took place in the City Council of that very French City in regard to the arrest of Miss Tibbitts. The matter was brought up by George Washington Stephens, a well known Liberal, who has too much Anglo-Saxon blood in him to approve of the methods of the Montreal Police establishment. Some of the French members attempted to justify the arrest of Miss Tibbitts on the ground that it was quite regular and according to the custom of the Montreal police. This was the ground taken also by Judge Dugas who issued the warrant. On the same ground they also justify the refusal to permit Miss Tibbitts to speak to her friends after her arrest, or to communicate with her counsel. According to the mayor of Montreal and Ald. Jeannotte everything was right and regular, the latter declaring that it had always been the rule that no one had a right to speak to a person who is under arrest. It is a notable fact that in the Montreal City Council no person with the exception of Alderman Stephens expressed the slightest regret that Miss Tibbitts had been arrested. As the victim of the outrage was a native of one of the English speaking provinces of Canada, they seemed to think it was all right that she should be arrested and put to cost and trouble; to say nothing of her exposure to insult at the hands of the ignorant and worthless police of Montreal.

Some of the Montreal papers, however, seem to be alive to the disgrace which their city has suffered in consequence of this exposure of Montreal police methods. The Star sees, what we pointed out when this case was first heard of, that the whole system of procedure under which Miss Tibbitts was arrested and imprisoned was French and not British. The blundering Judge Dugas who issued the warrant, if he had sense enough to understand the meaning of words should have known that there was nothing in the affidavit of Miss Mulcahy to justify the arrest of any woman, and that there was no proof whatever of any conspiracy unless the lunatic imaginings of Miss Mulcahy, who seems to be a crank of the worst kind, are to be accepted as facts.

NOT A MODERN IDEA.

Under the heading "Modern ideas in Toronto," our esteemed contemporary the Sun, has an editorial in which it informs its readers that the Toronto Mail is not in favor of cremation. Now cremation, instead of being a modern idea, as the Sun seems to suppose, is the most ancient of all ways of disposing of the dead. The early Aryans, the Greeks, Romans, Slavs, Celts and Germans all burned their dead, so that cremation may be regarded as the universal custom of the Indo-European races. It was practiced also by the Jews, for we read in 1st Samuel 31st chapter, that after the battle in Mount Gilboa, "All the valiant men arose and went all night, and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the walls of Bethshan, and came to Jabesh, and burnt them there. And they took their bones, and buried them under a tree at Jabesh, and fasted seven days." The graves of northern Europe throughout the bronze age contain only jars of ashes. It was Christianity that gradually suppressed cremation. Possibly it may be thought that the modern tendency in favor of cremation is a proof that Christianianity is loosing its hold on those people who advocate a return to this ancient method of disposing of the dead.

A SHORT WAY WITH TRAITORS.

A day or two ago, we referred to the fact that a certain Mr. C. Dwyer, of Pictou, when he found the British flag flying over his store on Dominion day, tore it down and kicked it. The New Glasgow Eastern Chronicle, a paper published by James A. Fraser, a member for the Nova Scotia Legislature of Guysboro, indorsed this action of Dwyer and says of it:—"We take of our hat to him" and "It did him honor." The Enterprise, which is published in New Glasgow, made some severe comments on Fraser and his disloyal paper. The response of Fraser in the Chronicle is quite a characteristic. He says:—

We have only to add, to what we have already said, that if the people of Nova Scotia had stamped with the "mark of traitors" those who basely sold their country, it would not now be necessary for decent citizens, like Mr. Dwyer, to defend themselves from low skulking blackguards who make their living by defending the base acts of their principals; nor would it be necessary for them, in order to show their abhorrence of confederation, to order down the British flag on Dominion day. If the miserable tribe of parasites, who are now landing the men that sold Nova Scotia to Canada, wish to provoke a quarrel in connection with the subject—let them, we have no objection.

Fraser is the same kind of a thing—a creature without a country or a flag—as John V. Ellis, only he seems to have rather more pluck. According to his view this vagabond Dwyer, who kicks the British flag, is a decent citizen while those who criticise such conduct are "low skulking blackguards."

If we understand Fraser aright he is willing to face a conflict on this question of the hauling down and kicking of the British flag. It has long been the opinion of THE GAZETTE that this is a matter which must eventually be dealt with by the loyal people of Canada outside of any tedious process of law. The liberality of our laws is such, and so much leniency has been shown to avowed traitors like Ellis and Fraser, that they have grown to believe that they can do as they please, and that the loyal men of Canada will always continue to endure their insults. But the time is near at hand, if it has not already come, when all this is changed. Men who haul down the British flag and trample upon it, must be promptly lynched as an example to traitors of the fate they may expect. Mr. Fraser may have the conflict, which he seems to invite, on his hands sooner than he expects. We believe that there are enough loyal men in New Glasgow and Pictou to take care of him and also of his friend Dwyer.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

An exchange says:—

The Montreal Herald says that Sir John Macdonald is "loosing his head." What a melancholy thing it would be for Sir John and for Canada if he should pick up the Herald's head in exchange for his own.

There is little danger of Peter Mitchell the alleged editor of the Herald, losing his head, but he occasionally loses his walking stick in fits of absent-mindedness.

It is announced that Quebec is to be the terminus of the fast mail steamers in summer and Halifax in winter. This is just what was expected and shows that Halifax, which refuses to hoist the British flag on Dominion Day, has far more influence than St. John, which is loyal to Canada. No doubt the fact that this city has sent an avowed annexationist like Ellis to Parliment has much to do with the neglect which our interests suffer.

There seems to be a prospect of Canada obtaining a new ocean cable, which will be independent of all the existing cables, and exclusively Canadian. As a result of this the Canadian press should unite for the purpose of obtaining a cable press service, so that the British news which we receive will not be exclusively of the kind calculated to please and flatter American readers.

In the reorganization of the fisheries Service, and the division of the Maritime Provinces into small districts with divisional or local inspectors, it ought to be understood that no system will satisfy the public which does not give them very different results from the present one. The people of the Maritime Provinces are guarding our fisheries the most of which is absolutely wasted. Our fishing rivers are not properly guarded, except when they are leased to private parties. Poachers do on them pretty much as they please, and it was only yesterday that we had to announce the killing of seventy-five salmon in the Tobique by dynamite.

We trust that no time will be lost in placing the fire alarm in proper condition. THE GAZETTE yesterday showed that in its present state, it is not to be relied on and that the sum necessary to make it efficient would be quite small. The Committee of Public Safety should see to it that the fire alarm is placed in good working order.

The Globe last evening contained a letter, in which the writer was good enough to inform the people of St. John that Canada would never go into Imperial Federation, but the next step would be "in another direction altogether, and the sooner the Earl of Rosebery learns of it the better." We suppose the writer means by his last statement that Canada will join the United States. The letter was probably written in the Globe office. It is signed Anti Humbug a title which suits Ellis exactly. Ellis is an Anti, a very ancient Anti-Confederate, and he is also "a Humbug."

A STRANGE OCCURRENCE.

Attempt to Disinter the Remains of the Late Niagara Falls Victim—What Does it Mean?—The Ghouls Scared Away.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 16.—William Wright, a prominent citizen of Drummondville, returning home about eleven o'lcok Saturday night found his wife so ill that a trip to the drug store was necessary. To reach the store he had to go down the historic Lundy's Lane past the Cemetery, and, carefully scanning the ground, he saw a man hard at work digging into a grave. The sight frightened him and he started to run. Before he had gone far he met a friend named Parnell, and together they stole back to the cemetery. But their coming had been noticed, and they saw a man of large build stealing away through the ghostly place, carefully jumping from stone to stone. They notified Sexton William Dalton, who lives close by the cemetery, and he, taking his revolver went with them to search the ground. They found no one, but quickly discovered that the grave the ghouls had attempted to enter was the one in which rests the body of the man found in the Whirlpool June 27. Good headway had been made in digging, and, without interruption, the body would soon have been disinterred. Close beside the grave lay a large empty sack, in which it probably was designed to carry the body, and also a shovel. These were taken home by Mr. Dalton, and are now in his possession. It is evident from this attempt that some one is deeply interested in the remains of this man. A description of the body has been published far and wide, but no one has put in a claim for it. In an interview with Undertaker Morse, he stated that so far but one inquiry had been received by him, which was by telegraph from Cheboygan, Mich., and was received July 9. It was signed by John G. Loucks, and asked for an exact description.

On a recent visit to Bar Harbour, Martin Cone the renowned horseman of Calais, sold U. S. Secretary Blaine a pair of handsome dark bay mares, with back points. Mr. Blaine will use the team at Bar Harbour during the summer and take them to Washington in the fall.

BRITISH-AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

President Wemyss on the Aims and Objects of the Society.

[Boston Herald July 18.]

About 35 delegates and officers of the British-American Association of Massachusetts were present yesterday in America Hall, No. 724 Washington street, at the semi-annual convention of the association. President James Wemyss occupied the chair, and, after the transaction of preliminary business, extended a hearty welcome to the gentlemen of the council, and requested them to keep the best interests of the association paramount to every personal consideration. The speaker said further: "We must not forget that the people of this country, and in fact, of the whole world, are watching with deep interest the movements of the British-Americans, who are coming to the front, fearless and determined, in support of better government and American institutions, cringing to no one, asking favors of none, free and independent. I desire at this time to call your attention to the fact that I have noticed at times a little feeling of nationality creeping out between the English and the Scotch. It is only in a slight degree, however; but it must not exist. Remember we are organized under one great brotherhood for a grand and noble purpose; United we conquer, divided we fall—"United we stand, divided we fall." It matters not what part of her majesty's dominion we hail from, we are in this great movement as British-Americans, and must be known only as such. We have been called a secret organization. Let me say to the American people in reply that we will use our influence to cultivate a friendly feeling between this country and Great Britain. We will pledge ourselves to stand by the country of our adoption in defence of her rights against any and all. It ought to be distinctly understood that the true position of the British-American Association is one of absolute independence. This is the only ground on which we ought to stand, to be absolutely free from association with or dependence upon any political party of whatever name, and to hold up the white banner of entire freedom from mere political alliance. Such is the state of politics to-day, with its many trades and combinations, that an organization which holds itself studiously aloof from them will soon hold the leading position in political influence. Indeed, it is not only the part of political independence, but the truest worldly wisdom, to hold ourselves free and unapproachably unbribable by promise of office, and uninfluenced by mere temporary party expediency. Add to this a judicious reticence as to our strength, no vain-glorious boasting or even self-depreciation we place our association where those of all parties will seek its influence, and where a few men possessed of ideas and resolutely arrayed for pure American politics can swing ten times their number into line. Ours is to fight for principles dear to the hearts of all lovers of Anglo-Saxon ideas of constitutional law respecting freedom, and while we are true to the principles of liberty taught in our old home, we can never be other than absolutely loyal to their manifestations in this our adopted country. The United States, the state, and the city which is our home, are looking earnestly for men who are beyond the low temptations of office-seeking and personal influence. It is our high privilege to be in a position to hold up a lofty standard in politics, and I believe the British-American Association is capable of and will successfully sustain itself on this proud and impregnable elevation."

In conclusion President Wemyss said: "Important events have occurred since our last meeting, which is a reminder of the danger that threatens the nation. The work of the Clan-na-Gael and the defence of that organization by a low demagogue, unworthy the name of American, are very serious matters for reflection," and referred to the recent controversy over the Egan-Thayer affair.

By the reports of the secretary and treasurer it was shown that the membership and financial condition were good.

REV. DREW'S RASHNESS.

Aspersing the Young Women of A Whole Town.

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 17.—Leclair, a river some twelve miles north of here, is agitated, as it has never been before, by a sweeping charge made by the Presbyterian minister from the pulpit on Sunday night, to the effect that a virtuous woman between 16 and 25 years of age could not be found in the place. The pastor, Rev. Munroe Drew is a young man who came from Chicago four months ago, and has been preaching to growing congregations. He was sensational in his way of puting gospel truths, and many were drawn to his services out of curiosity. On Sunday he was particularly severe, saying that immorality had captured the town. He stated in all seriousness that he had been told that a woman of honor did not live in Leclaire.

At the end of the service the young preacher was surrounded by his congregation who made violent protests. The next day he was waited upon by thirty young ladies and a public retraction demanded. Mr. Drew offered to take back his words privately and apologize to his callers but they would have none of it. Then a mass meeting was held in the largest hall in the town, where 400 indignant women and men met. They invited the minister to attend, but a report from Port Byrom says that he left this state and went to Illinois, fearing personal injury.

A committee, composed of two men and three women, all married, was appointed to prepare a report. After deliberation the report was submitted. It expresses indignation at the statement made from the pulpit, and asserts confidence in the character of the young ladies of the place. It demands of the trustees of the church the immediate discharge of the Rev. Mr. Drew, and avows public contempt for the outrageous insult to the community. All Presbyterian churches are warned not to have anything to do with the Rev. Mr. Drew.

Lawyers have been consulted with the view of instituting suits of slander. Mutterings of tar and feathers are heard, and some of the young ladies declare that they will not let the matter drop until a public retraction is made, coupled with an apology and a promise not to enter the pulpit again.

SAILING IN THE AIR.

The New Air Ship Appears to Stand a Satisfactory Test.

NEW YORK, July 17. A successful ascension of the celebrated Campbell air ship was made in Williamsburg yesterday morning. The air ship was inflated with coal gas from the Nassau gas works, near the Roosevelt street ferry. The gas was turned into the air ship at 8 a. m., and by 10 o'clock it was fully inflated. Prof. E. D. Hogan of Jackson, Mich., was the navigator, and at 10.30 o'clock he started upon his aerial voyage. The ship was steered and run by an Edison electric motor. It ascended at first to a great height, and then the professor brought it down to within fifty feet of the tops of the houses. He then started in a northerly direction, went about five miles in the teeth of the eight-knot wind, and then returned over his course at lightning speed. He next started over Brooklyn in an easterly course, with intention of making a big circle, over a slice of New Jersey, and returning over this city to the starting point.

Later—Nothing had been heard from today from E. D. Hogan, who came up yesterday from Brooklyn in Campbell's air ship. That he ascended there is no doubt, but that he has come down is very doubtful. When seen last night the balloon was sailing along over Long Island. Friends of Hogan do not seem to be anxious about his safety.

A. D. WETMORE, Secretary.

SAINT JOHN SUMMER CARNIVAL!

It will be inaugurated by a Union parade of Temperance Societies this morning. By the official opening of the Exhibition, and the first of a series of athletic sports in the afternoon of MONDAY, July 22. On the following day a gigantic Trades procession, illustrative of the industries of the city, will take place. The evening will be devoted to a military parade and trooping of colors.

Wednesday will be made memorable by the Marine Pyrotechnic display. On Thursday the morning and evening will be devoted to the Carnival Parade, while regattas, horse races, base ball, cricket and lacrosse (by Indian players) free open air concerts, etc., are among other attractions of the week.

No such series of celebrations has ever been seen in this the leading city of the Maritime Provinces. No one who is within reach of the many lines of travel, which centre in this city, can afford to miss the many and varied attractions.

Efficient committees have the details of each day's festivities in charge, and it may be safely said that the results will more than equal the attractions which have been promised.

Attention is called to the specially favorable rates offered by the various railways and steamboat lines in connection with the Electric Exhibition and Carnival.

The Canadian Pacific railway has reduced its fare from all points, giving excursion tickets from Montreal at $10, and from other places in proportion.

Excursion tickets at one fare will be issued at all points on the Annapolis railway, to include the trip from Digby and return. Similar arrangements have been made by the Western Counties railway.

Tickets at one fare may be had at all stations of the Intercolonial, New Brunswick, Albert, Shore Line and Prince Edward Island railways.

The Grand Trunk railway will issue tickets via the Intercolonial and Temiscouata railway, at rates to compare with those offered by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Special cheap excursions in connexion with the Northern and Western railway, have been arranged by the Union Line Steamship company.

A special steamer of the International Line, will leave Boston on Saturday, July 20th, at 6 p. m. charging one fare for the trip and return. The tickets will be good to return up to the 28th.

Visitors requiring rooms, and citizens having rooms to let should apply to Mr H H Distin, Secretary Reception Committee, at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, as early as possible.

W. W. CLARKE, Asst. Secy. IRA CORNWALL, Secretary.

ELECTRIC EXHIBITION

—AT—

Saint John, N. B,

JULY 22-31.

THE arrangements for the Electric Exhibition are now practically completed, and the thousands who will attend are likely to be more than satisfied with the display of wonderful, beautiful and useful appliances illustrative of the progress of electrical science. New exhibits from the leading companies of the United States and Canada, are arriving every day, and it is expected that other attractions will be added from time to time during the exhibition.

Nothing in any way approaching the display has ever been seen in Canada. Electricity as a source of light, as a mechanical power and as a factor in the arts and sciences will be illustrated by the latest and most approved apparatus. All the great companies of world-wide reputation will be fully and effectively represented. Every effort will be made by practical electricians to render the display complete in all its details.

The exhibition is under the patronage of His Honor Sir Leonard Tilley, Lieutenant Governor, by whom it will be formally opened at 3 p. m., on MONDAY, July 22. An exceedingly interesting programme is being arranged for the opening exercises. Immediately afterwards, a band concert will be given, and at intervals during the music, the operations of the various mechanical exhibits will be fully shown.

The interior of the building will be handsomely decorated, and an elaborate display of rare and beautiful plants will add to the attractiveness of the scene. Bands of music will be in attendance at all hours and the windows being covered, the electrical display can be seen as well in the daytime as by night. The exhibition will be open every afternoon and evening until and including Wednesday, July 31.

Further particulars may be had by reference to the official programme. Additional attractions will be announced through the city papers at a later date.
