NO, TY COBB IS NOT PROUD NOR PLUTOCRATIC

HE'S WILLING TO KEEP ON PLAYING— $1 A MINUTE.

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB, WHO WANTS $15,000 A YEAR.

Wouldn't You Play Ball at That Price?

Mr. Cobb wants $15,000 a year for playing baseball.

He plays about 125 games a season.

That would bring him about $120 a game.

A game lasts two hours or less.

That means that Mr. Cobb would make at least $1 a minute.

This is a story of Tyrus Raymond Cobb, frequently billed as the greatest player baseball has ever produced and always referred to as the most advertised player in the business. Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit Tigers, the man who has become rich through this same advertising, appears in a minor role.

Cobb's three year contract with the Detroit club expires at the end of this season. Strange as it may seem, Cobb has a pretty good idea of his value to a ball club, of his worth as a player and his ability to make the turnstiles click faster than ever before.

For the last three years Cobb has been playing for a salary reliably reported to be $9,000, probably the highest stipend paid to any mere player. Cobb knows that at that price he is dirt cheap. Navin of course, knows that same thing.

Cobb hasn't said what his salary will be next year, but you can go broke that the figures in the contract will be very nearly what Cobb wants.

He has asked a few of his intimate friends if they thought that $15,000 would be enough for one year's salary. That furnishes a pretty good line on what Cobb will ask for next year.

And he will get it, too. The Detroit team is now the best drawing card on the road that there is in baseball.

Beg pardon! Cobb is the best drawing card, for without the Georgian, the Tigers would be only a mediocre attraction.

In every city in the American league thousands of fans go to see, not the Tigers play, but the Tiger play, that Tiger being none other than Cobb. The statement that Cobb pulls off something startling in every game would be a trifle extravagant but you can never tell when he will score from first on an infield hit, steal second, third and home in quick succession or pull off a wonderful catch in the outfield.

All these things, of course, make Cobb a drawing card. But they aren't the only things. On and off the ball field, Cobb's artistic temperature is always in evidence. Fans in every town want to see the player who became peeved because a mere hotel clerk had the audacity to refuse to change his room when Cobb demanded a switch.

They want to see the man who had the temerity to climb into the stands at New York and pummel a rooter who was annoying him.

They all want to see the man who started the baseball strike, which gave baseball moguls a lot to think about and eventually led to the formation of the players' union.

None of these fans will overlook the opportunity of seeing the man who was stabbed by Detroit thugs, and then methe these same thugs get down on their knees when they discovered his identity.

There is only one Cobb. Probably there will never be another. He probably has more enemies than any other man in baseball. His teammates detest him; players on other teams hate him, but all are forced to admit that as a ball player he is a class by himself.

In view of all these things, Mr. Cobb will, of course, tell Mr. Navin what he expects in the way of salary. Mr. Navin will naturally demur, but in the end he will pay Cobb just what he asks. For the Detroit owner might just as well lock the gates of his ball park as to try to run a team without Cobb.

TEAMS TO PLAY FOR CITY CHAMP

The first game of ball in the city championship will be played this afternoon on the East End league grounds and promises to be very interesting. The game will be the first of a series of three between the St. Peters, the winners of the inter-society league and the Alerts, the winners of the East End league.

Both are fast teams and have hundreds of supporters who will no doubt attend the games and witness the battle. James McAllister has been chosen to umpire the games.

The teams will line up as follows this afternoon:

St. Peters	Alerts.
Catcher.
McGovern	McNutt
Pitcher.
H. Dever	Lawson

Right Field
Howard	W. Garnett.

These teass will play a double-header on Monday.

NOVA SCOTIA LEAGUE

Halifax, Aug. 30.—The Halifax Socials defeated Westville in a game here today by a score of 4 to 1.

Umpire Power had his collar bone broken during the game. He was struck by a sharp foul tip off Dolan's bat. The bone was broken clean off. The accident happened in the fifth inning.

At Stellarton the Standard-Stellarton game was postponed on account of rain.

MARATHONS AND CAPITALS AGAIN TODAY

And another one yesterday.

Two to one, with the Marathons on the long end, is the sort of news the baseball fans want to hear just now, and if the same trick is repeated today there will be much rejoicing in local fandom.

Yesterday's game was conceded to be the fastest played this year, and with both teams keyed up to the pitch of victory there is no reason why the contest today when the Fredericton team and the Greeks will clash again, should not be just as fast.

At present Fredericton is sliding down while the Marathons are climbing. They have already forsaken the cellar with reasonable surety of being able to stay out, and are making designs on the higher positions. They have a fighting chance to win the league and an excellent chance of finishing in second place with either Fredericton or Houlton in the position just below them. Consequently, they will bend every effort to make it three straight from Fredericton, and then on Monday take a couple from Houlton just for luck.

It is realized by the other clubs that the Marathons are a factor to be reckoned with in the final settlement of the league for 1912 and the championship, which a few days ago looked so certain for Fredericton, is now rather an uncertain proposition.

For today's game, it is the dope that Steve White will be given a chance to start the fun with O'Connor and Jordan ready to relieve him if the Fredericton batsmen get too familiar with his offerings. It is likely that the new pitcher will be used by Fredericton. The game will start at 3 o'clock and should be witnessed by a very large crowd.

There will be two games every day next week with the exception of Saturday. Morning and afternoon games will be played with Houlton on Monday (Labor Day) and Tuesday Woodstock comes Wednesday and Thursday. There will be a double header with Fredericton on Friday afternoon, and the league series will be brought to an end with the game with Fredericton on Saturday afternoon. From present indications, the closing days of the N. B. and Maine league season for 1912 are likely to produce great baseball.

GREEKS AGAIN A WINNER; HOULTON 10, WOODSTOCK 1

What is counted as the finest game of ball played in this city took place yesterday afternoon on the Marathon grounds when the Marathons defeated Fredericton by the close score of two to one.

The weather was rather cold and there was considerable delay on account of the rain, but despite these bad conditions the game was hard fought from start to finish and was not a sure win for the Greeks until the last Fredericton man was called out.

The Marathons played an errorless game, while their opponents had four errors but these four did not figure in the scoring with the exception of one and that was in the second inning when Dutton reached first on a fumble of Eddie Ramsey who was playing the second sack for Fredericton. Dutton, however, was sent to second on a sacrifice, and reached third when a foul fly was captured far from the plate and he was scored on Winkler's clean hit to centre field. Three other Greeks reached their base on errors by Ramsey and Wildes, but they did not get near the plate.

Winkler was the pitcher for the victors and his work was never better this season. He struck eight Fredericton men out, gave two bases on balls and was only found for six hits. Of these Ramsey beat out a bunt along the line, Ganley beat out two bunts to the pitcher, while there were two singles to right field and one single to left. Only three Fredericton men reached as far as the third base and only two others got as far as the second bag. It was real work for Winkler and he deserved all the congratulations that were heaped upon him. In addition to his good pitching his support was perfect there being some sensational clean fielding and the Greeks never let one chance get by.

Frank Harrington was the twirler for Fredericton and his work was also of the first class variety as he was only found for four singles and one of these was made by Fraser in the seventh inning when he hit one to Bob Connolly who had a hard run for it and it was too difficult for him to handle. Pinkerton, O'Donnel and Winkler made the other three singles Harrington, like Winkler had eight strike outs and gave three bases on balls. Five Greeks reached as far as third base, and only four others got as far as the second bag during the game.

Of the six hits made by Fredericton Bob Ganley, Fredericton's captain, made three of them, Ramsey, Duggan and Harrington, one each.

The following is an account of the game by innings:

FIRST INNING.

Ramsey went out pitcher to first. Ganley beat out a bunt to the pitcher. Duggan drew a base on balls. The two runners each stole a base. Bob Connolly hit to Winter at third and Ganley was put out at the plate. Larry Connolly flied out to O'Brien at short.

O'Brien went out third to first. Winter drew a base on balls and stole second. Fraser struck out. Pinkerton hit clean to left field and Winter scored. O'Donnell flied out to Duggan in centre field.

SECOND INNING.

Hoyt and Wildes struck out, while Fitzgerald flied out to short.

Dutton hit to Ramsey who fumbled. McGovern sacrificed to first. Riley went out on a foul fly and Dutton went to third on the play. Winkler hit clean to centre for a base and Dutton scored on the hit. O'Brien fouled out to catcher.

THIRD INNING.

Harrington flied out to left field. Ramsey went out second to first. Ganley beat out a bunt to the pitcher and went to second on a balk. Duggan hit safe to right field and Ganley scored. Duggan was put out trying to steal second. Winter flied out to centre. Fraser drew a base on balls. Pinkerton flied out to centre and O'Donnell struck out.

FOURTH INNING.

B. Conley flied out to right field. L. Conley and Hoyt struck out.

Dutton reached first on a fumble of Ramsey. McGovern sacrificed out, pitcher to first. Riley and Winckler struck out.

FIFTH INNING.

Fitzgerald flied out to right field. Wilde flied out to second. Harrington hit safe to left field. Ramsey struck out.

O'Brien reached first on Wildes' miss. Winter sacrificed, third to first. Fraser went out, third to first, and O'Brien went to third. Pinkerton went out, pitcher to first.

SIXTH INNING.

Ganley hit safe to right field. Duggan sacrificed pitcher to first. Bob Conley flied out to centre and L. Conley struck out.

O'Donnell and McGovern flied out to Hoyt at first, and Dutton flied out to Ganley, in right.

SEVENTH INNING.

Hoyt went out, second to first. Fitzgerald flied out to left and Wildes flied out to second.

Riley and Winckler struck out. O'Brien reached first on Wildes' fumble and stole second. Winter drew a base on balls. Fraser beat out a hit to Bob Conley. Pinkerton struck out with the bases full.

EIGHTH INNING.

Ramsey beat out a bunt to pitcher and stole second. Harrington struck out. Ganley fouled out to Winter at third. Duggan drew a base on balls. Bob Conley flied out to Pinkerton at second, and retired the side.

O'Donnell hit safe to centre field. Dutton struck out. McGovern flied out to Centre. Riley hit out to Hoyt at first.

NINTH INNING.

L. Conley went out, pitcher to first. Hoyt struck out. Fitzgerald went out short to first, and the game finished.

HOULTON, 10; WOODSTOCK, 1.

Special to The Standard.

Woodstock, Aug. 30.— The locals were easily defeated by Houlton this afternoon in a fair exhibition of ball by a score of ten to one. Martini and Hanley were the opposing pitchers and the latter was hit hard. Owing to sickness, Capt. Duff was out of the game for the first time this year and his absence had much to do with the loss of the game, although such reliable players as Black and Perley each lost a fly. Houlton played a classy game of ball particularly T. McElwee at the plate, while the feature for the locals was a swell catch by Doherty.

Dr. James Cantlie, Dean o
Unfolds Story of Ur
Presidency Over Fo

(New York Herald.)

Would you have a romance i life—and in the life of your own more wonderful and thrilling that of any writer of fiction? romance which, according to th grams from the Herald's Peki respondent, may be terminated b gedy at any moment? They yo have it in the story of Dr. Su Sen, the first president of the C republic.

Here is a man with a charac markably like that of George ington and with a life story in respects more like that of Ab Lincoln. Not from the ruling cl China has he come, but from o parentage in an out of the way ese village. The son of a C employed in the missionary he became a student of medic Canton and Hong Kong and to practise in the Portuguese of Macao, a day's journey fro ton. A career that began pea enough.

Now for 17 years this Chine sician has been in constant of death from hired assassins Manchu government. More tha an assassin has actually enter room where his intended victi ed. A sum that once reached million dollars has been offer his capture. Had it been acco ed at any time up to within t few months Dr. Sun would ha his ankles crushed in a vise and ed with a hammer, his eyel off, and his body chopped into pieces as the leader of a politic tion.

Not an Exaggerated Fea

The best evidence of the fa this was no exaggerated f found in the fate of Sun's ass While he was practising med Macao he became identified wi was called the "Young China Later he joined the movement ton and was one of eighteen ent members who organized throw the Manchu governmen soon after the organization wa ed seventeen of the leaders w to death, Sun being the only to carry forward th work. in fact nor in fiction," says his European supporters, "ne history nor in the ideals of r has any author dared to end heroes of his creation with tions such as his; for under was he safe; nor in the parts of the earth; for a p well nigh twenty years could that a cruel death was not im

For instance, he was kidna London in broad daylight in imprisoned in the Chinese L Passage on an outgoing stea booked for his captors, who taking him as an alleged lu avoid diplomatic complication day before the sailing he was through the intervention of a physician who had organized lege from which Sun had gr and who happened to be in at the time. The story of tha never has been told in det now, when the physician h Dr. James Cantlie, dean of t Kong College of Medicine, h persuaded to give his person licences of Dr. Sun in bo (The volume has just been p by the Fleming H. Revell C and throws a great deal of li the inner workings of the r nese republic.)

How His Release Came A

The release of Sun from the Embassy in London came a this dramatic way:—

There was an English se the Chinese Legation who Sun's imprisonment and of t fate that awaited him. He wife about it, and she deter save the poor wretch, not h least idea of his importanc Saturday night, about half pa Dr. Cantlie was awakened by ing of his doorbell. He we door, but no one was there. down he saw a letter. It the servant's wife and rea lows:—

"There is a friend of yours ed in the Chinese legation h last Sunday. They intend sen out to China, where it is cer will hang him. It is very the poor man, and unless so done at once he will be tak and no one will know it. I sign my name, but this is the believe what I say. Whateve must be done at once, or too late. His name is, I bel Yin Sen."

Though this was in the the night, Dr. Cantlie mov swiftness. He went first to th bone police and thence to Yard but nobody would take in the story. The officers to had done his duty in repo
