WEST LONDON

DUNDAS STREET BRIDGE IN NEED OF REPAIR

Nails Sticking Up Make the Footpath Practically Impassable These Days.

Many west end citizens are asking the question, Why does not the city put a new plank walk on the Dundas street bridge? For months past the residents of West London have grumbled about the condition of the Dundas street bridge, and, in fact, it has become almost impossible for pedestrians to use it on account of the nails, which are an inch higher than the wornout bits of boards which remain. If the city engineer could spare a man for half a day the nuisance could easily be abated. West London is going ahead faster than any other portion of the city. Many new residences have been erected during the past season and many building permits have been granted recently. This section of the city has grown wonderfully in the last few years. Hundreds of workingmen have purchased homes in this district, owing to it being near the city. The city should do everything possible to improve the entrance to West London. Property owners pay a large amount of taxes into the city coffers, and are entitled to some consideration.

Mrs. B. Aikin, 14 Argyle street, who has been ill for some weeks past, has recovered, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Dan Aikin, who had been attending her, has returned to her home in Cobblehill.

Mrs. Richard Johnson, Wharncliffe road, West London, has for the past few days had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. and Mrs. J. Broderick, Mr. William and Miss Lydia Kestle, of Fairview Farm, Exeter.

Hydro-electric poles, in great numbers have been erected along the breakwater in the West End. The work is rapidly being pushed to completion. Gangs of men are on the job steadily.

A gang of city laborers were out at work repairing the breakwater between the Oxford street and Blackfriars bridges yesterday. Loads of earth are constantly being hauled and dumped, which tends to strengthen the already substantial wall.

The annual sale of work of the ladies of the St. George's Anglican Church commenced last evening. A large number of people turned out to view and purchase handiwork, which has been completed after several weeks of earnest labor. The ladies are assured of a big success. The affair is an annual undertaking of the church workers, and is always looked forward to and attracts many people. The sales continue this afternoon and evening.

The west end of Wyatt street, in the vicinity of the breakwater, is badly in need of an electric light. The residents are wondering if one will be installed when Niagara power arrives. Several persons have had narrow escapes of late, while driving at night. Should an accident occur at this spot a damage suit would no doubt be entered.

A correspondent writes: Proceedings will be taken against certain West London residents in the vicinity of Dundas street and Wilson avenue for violating the city health act bylaw if the nuisance is not soon abated. Certain persons have made it a habit lately of dumping ashes and refuse on a vacant lot on Dundas street west, and closeby property owners claim that the action is a great detriment to the health of the neighborhood. The nuisance should be put a stop to at once. If an epidemic of fever should, by chance, break out in West London then, when it was too late, steps would immediately be taken to bring the guilty parties to justice."

SICK AND STARVING BESIDE HER DEAD

Paralyzed Dundas Woman Has Terrible Three-Days' Experience.

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—To be alone with the dead body of her husband for three days and not be able to secure assistance was the fate of Mrs. Cronin, wife of Michael Cronin, who lives in Dundas. This morning a tradesman going into the house found Cronin dead in bed, with his wife lying beside him. She is paralyzed and bed-ridden, and when the husband died on Sunday night she could do nothing. She was also bordering on starvation.

MR. LANCELEY TACKLES THE HAT PROBLEM

Proposes That Men and Women Sit Opposite Sides of Church.

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—Rev. E. B. Lanceley, pastor of the First Methodist Church, says that at the next meeting of the trustee board he will bring up the suggestion of reviving the old custom of having the men sit on one side of the church and the women on the other. He says that the men of the congregation are complaining that they cannot see their pastor because of the big hats of the ladies.
