JABS AT ALL 'ROUND SPORTS.

Promoters of the third race track at Windsor are running up against considerable opposition, and the majority of the people of the Border City are not taking kindly to the thought of this additional track. Speaking editorially on the question, the Windsor Record says in part: "With one good track in operation, as has been for years, and another starting up, it is time to put on the lid. There is no need of a third race track in this district, much less a fourth, as rumor says may be launched also. The time has come to put on the lid for excessive racing operations, especially at a time when the Government is issuing appeals to the people to save their money and assist in financing the enormous cost of the war. Let the Government halt this racing orgy that is not invited by the people of Windsor and district, and would be regarded as a gratuitous affliction of intemperate gambling."

One of the reasons that Johnny Kilbane is always in good condition is due to the fact that he is a great baseball enthusiast. The little scrapper is the particular pet of the Cleveland team, and when the Indians are at home he dons a uniform and practices with them. Incidentally it might be mentioned that Johnny can play short or second better than a lot who are getting real money for doing so.

Manager McGraw of the Giants thinks he has another Christy Mathewson in George Smith, the Columbia pitcher, who made such a successful debut last week. Speaking of the youngster, McGrew says: "The oftener I look at Smith, the greater trouble I have in convincing myself that it is not Matty of 1902. Built along similar lines and resembling Matty greatly in features, Smith, to me, is the Matty of this generation. His position on the mound, his delivery and his cool aloofness also remind me much of Matty. Added to this, Smith delivers a fast ball with the free and easy motion of Matty and has a drop oall that I am convinced can be made to equal the famous Matty fadeaway. Never before have I seen a pitcher in whom I have so much confidence as I have in Smith."

During the past week Detroit gained on every club except one in the American League, and are now back in fourth position. The Tigers won four out of six games played, and the only team to do better than that was the Yankees, which won five out of the six played.

While driving his automobile to the racetrack at Windsor on Saturday, Patsey Drouillard, the lightweight scrapper who recently fought Jack Kilroy in this city, met with an unfortunate accident. His car, which was crowded, collided with another car, and the occupants of both were thrown out, and one of the ladies was instantly killed. Drouillard's car was completely wrecked and he was badly shaken up.

Earl Tingling, the Minneapolis Club's southpaw, has been bought by the St. Louis Cardinals, and will report next spring. Two years ago he was with the Brooklyn Nationals, and was let go because he lacked control. He has apparently found this, as he is considered one of the best twirlers in the American Association.

George and Joe Chip and Bearcat McMahon have arrived in Australia, and are camping on the trail of Les Darcy, and they are a trio that will likely keep the Australian busy for some time. He will meet George Chip first, and if they both fight true to form, it should be a nice, healthy scrap. Chip is one of the heaviest hitters of the American ring, and as Les carries a hefty wallop himself, the fans over there are going to see a middleweight fight that should make them sit up. From advance notices it would appear that they will draw a gate nearly as large as when Jack Johnson won his title from Tommy Burns.

The Finn established himself as just about the best of the old horses in training when he won the Merchants' and Citizens' Handicap at Saratoga on Saturday, beating Ed. Crump, Roamer, Stromboli and Flying Fairy, and going the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:58, equalling the track record for the distance. He ran the best race of his career, and will take some beating in the Saratoga Handicap next Saturday.

The Boston Braves have entered the field as bidders against Brooklyn and Philadelphia for the services of Heinie Zimmerman of the Chicago Cubs, and despite the recent denial of Joe Tinker that Zimmie was not on the market, it would not be a great surprise to see him go to one of these three clubs.

What is probably a record number of claims was made on Saturday when Typhoon won the second race at Windsor. No less than 21 claimants tried for the colt, and in the draw F. T. Shortell secured him for $600.

Glad Graney has replaced Tris Speaker as the second leading run getter in the American League, and now stands next to Ty Cobb. He is hitting .252, and has five home runs to his credit, being next to Pipp of the Yanks, who leads the league with seven circuit swats.

Dodge, the famous three-year-old, who won the Latonia and American Derby this year, has been purchased by William Spurgeon, a Washington, D. C., newspaperman, from Weber & Ward. The price is reported to be $30,000, and it is believed that Spurgeon was acting for the proprietor of one of the capital's largest newspapers.

Pitcher Bowman of the South Bend Club of the Central League has been purchased by the Cincinnati Reds. He will not report until after the close of the Central League season on September 10.

A schoolboy known as Jingling Johnson, who is now with the Athletics, gave the Tigers the toughest game they have had on their trip on Saturday. Up until the time there were two out in the tenth, Johnson allowed only six hits, but at this stage of the game Cobb broke loose and stole second, and this seemed to put the youngster up in the air, and the Jungle tribe got to him for four hits, which netted five runs, before they were retired.

MANY BRITISH ATHLETES IN CASUALTY LISTS

Second Lieut. Arnold, Cambridge Cricketer, in Latest List.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 21.—The latest casualty lists are crowded with the names of men famous in the world of sport—cricketers, football players and other athletes—either killed or wounded in action in the fighting on the Somme.

The most prominent cricketer who is reported missing and believed killed is Second Lieut. A. C. P. Arnold, the old Malvernian, Cambridge University "blue" and member of the Hampshire County Club.

Capt. F. Street, well-known Essex County cricketer, has been killed in action.

Sergt. Ernest Shorrocks, who played both cricket and rugby football for oSmerset County, has been killed in action, while Capt. Robert Hugh Wade Gary, another Somerset County footballer, has fallen.

Soccer players have taken a leading part in the British drive. When the call to the colors was made early last year, the entire team of the Hearts Club of the Scottish League enlisted together.

Bad Matches Spoil Chances of Boxers

Jack Dillon's Bout With Battling Levinsky Costs Him Prestige in Ring—After Eight Years He Spoils Chances With One Bout.

New York, Aug. 21.—Some can never learn; others refuge to be taught. This aphorism—or whatever you would call it—is best applied to the boxing game. Many a prospective champion has blighted his chances of becoming a big wage earner in the ring by making one ill-advised match. The case of Jack Dillon is offered for consideration.

For eight long years Dillon was buffeted about on the rough sea of pugilistic adversity. His one aim was to work himself into a position to demand a match with the world's heavyweight champion. Finally he succeeded in attaining that eminence—after eight long years. And it took just two weeks for him to be toppled from the apex of pugilistic prominence.

One ill-advised match is sufficient to destroy an entire career for a boxer. It is to be hoped that Dillon's indiscretion will not turn out to be as detrimental as it appears at present. Also it is to be hoped that it doesn't take him eight long years to re-establish the prestige he enjoyed only a month ago.

Had Beaten Him Before.

For eight years Dillon has been meeting all comers. Some of them he fought once; others he tackled as many as nine times. The latter was the case of Dillon and Battling Levinsky, the Hebrew light heavyweight. Prior to a fortnight ago Dillon and Levinsky had met in the ring eight times. On nearly every occasion Dillon was returned the popular winner, or gained the favor of the referee.

That should have satisfied Dillon. Everyone else was satisfied that Dillon was Levinsky's superior. At least everyone but Levinsky was satisfied on that score. When Dillon was first matched with Frank Moran, Levinsky bantered with Hoosier Bearcat into signing with him (Levinsky) for a fifteen-round bout, to be held two weeks after the Moran affair.

No one gave this match any further thought. The Moran-Dillon tilt was the match de resistance. It meant the elimination of Dillon as a challenger of Jess Willard or it meant the obliteration of Moran as a champion-ship contender. This was the match Dillon had spent eight years in the ring to secure.

Startled the World.

Dillon won this match in handy fashion, outweighed thirty pounds, and laboring under a disadvantage of some five inches in stature, Dillon pummelled Moran to within an inch of pugilistic oblivion. Little Jack Dillon inflicted more punishment on Big Frank Moran than even the world's champion heavyweight—one considered to be the best that ever held the title—had done three months previously.

Mr. Dillon should have been elated at this happy outcome, and rested on his laurels. Before meeting Moran, Dillon was not considered seriously as an opponent for Willard, but since mauling Moran, who stayed ten rounds with the champion, Dillon was looked upon as the next logical opponent of Big Jess.

Then somebody reminded Dillon of his engagement with Battling Levinsky. As Dillon's word is his bond, he went to Baltimore and permitted himself to be decisively outpointed by the Battler. Flop! went Dillon's stock. Fortunately for Dillon, the duration of the bout was cut from fifteen to ten rounds. If the battle had gone five more rounds, Dillon would have been more severely punished, as Levinsky was in astonishingly good form, while Dillon fought indifferently.

Jeopardized His Fame.

Thus it is that an ill-advised match may cost Dillon a chance for the world's heavyweight championship. His manager made the serious mistake of matching him with a dangerous rival even before Dillon had overcome big Moran. Quite likely Jack's mentor did not expect him to do as well as he did against Moran, and thought he was protecting his interests and that of Dillon by having a $1,500 match in sight.

Now Dillon must practically fight his way back to the top again. He would do well to instruct his manager not to be as industrious in securing matches for him in which a victory means little gain for him, whereas a defeat undermines the entire foundation of Dillon's reputation.

Another instance of poor match-making that resulted in greatly diminishing the earning powers of a title contender was that of Leach Cross. For years the Ghetto's leading lightweight was the best drawing card in Manhattan and environments.

Leach's brother-manager, Sam Wallace, snapped at an offer of some $1,500 to box Young Saylor, a mediocre lightweight. Cross went west for this bout and was knocked out in five rounds. Leachle hasn't fought since.
