

Consider this investment in Beauty

PUBLIC PARKS are not usually regarded as an investment returning dividends in actual cash. The National Parks in Canada last year brought $18,000,000 into Canada through tourists, according to an estimate given by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior. This was twenty times the cost of the up-keep. It proves that large returns can be secured on a comparatively small outlay where studied effort has made these beauty spots really attractive.

Smaller parks in towns and cities can, at low costs be made points of interest to tourists and so bring cash into the community that otherwise would have been spent elsewhere.

Whether your Park be small or large, formal or natural, one of our glass gardens will provide that added attractiveness that will make it a mecca for tourists as well as a source of pleasure to every member of the community. Our glass gardens will make your Park "a thing of beauty" in itself and in addition it will provide for the cultivation of domestic and imported plants and the study of the flora of all lands.

Let us give you an estimate on a greenhouse to meet town requirements or for your private needs. Send for our illustrated booklet describing public and private greenhouses.
