THANKSGIVING Day was pretty generally observed as a holiday throughout the city. The principal business houses were closed, and trade was almost at a standstill. The weather was not the most propitious. In the forenoon a cold easterly wind blew, and shortly after two in the afternoon snow began to fall. It fell to the depth of about two inches, then giving way to heavy rain which continued well into the night. Similar weather seems to have been general throughout the neighboring Provinces.

IT seems that an unusually attractive CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE DOMINION ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY is to be issued, and the public will await its arrival with interest. If the publishers' announcement be correct, the number will be a remarkably rich one, and speak volumes for Canadian skill and enterprise. Its large coloured supplements will be an especially strong feature, one of them—a 32-page work, illustrating the "Ups and Downs of Canadian Political Life"—will be eagerly looked for in view of recent events.

The factories were erected since the late big fire and had only been in operation two weeks. SHORTLY after dark Saturday night the Gloucester schr. Knight Templar, Capt Spinney, was run into by an unknown vessel 20 miles off Halifax harbor, and the captain says he thought his vessel would sink the next minute. They suffered very much as they paddled about all night on the stormy ocean, and were rescued in an almost exhausted condition Sunday morning by a pilot boat. The tug Whitney, late Sunday evening, towed in the abandoned schooner. There was not a drop of water in her hold, and the only damage was that her rail and stanchions were carried away, and the main boom broken. Those which were found to be grossly adulterated with chicory or roasted grain or both, were challenged, with results that in most cases the vendor paid the cost of collecting and analyzing the sample. In some cases prosecutions have been initiated under the adulteration of foods act. The samples collected at Yarmouth, Windsor, N. S., Woodstock and Fredericton were found to be pure.
