Christian Workers.

The members of this energetic organization felt quite jubilant with the success of their social on Tuesday evening, and as there was a goodly supply of refreshments left over it was determined to give a treat to the little ones. Consequently there was a gathering last evening at the Christian Workers' Hall on Richmond street of about 200 poor children, who were served with a bountiful and free tea, which they evidently enjoyed immensely. The arrangements were under the able management of Mesdames Dibbins and Slater, Miss Smith and Messrs. J. E. Fleming, W. Pope, J. McKinley and other members of the committee. Misses Weliwood and Mansfield, who have been in charge of the mission for some time past, leave for Toronto to-day, much to the regret of their many friends. Rev. Mr. Roffe and wife will take charge next Sunday.

Here Is London's Chance.

Hamilton Times: Mr. P. W. Stanhope, of the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, Chicago, and Mr. E. M. Burke, of Toronto, arrived here this morning in quest of a location for a Canadian branch of the harvesting machine business. They were met at the Royal Hotel by Chairman Dewey, of the reception committee; Ald. Ferres and Mr. John Patterson, and a couple of hours were spent in visiting and inspecting the Wanzer and McKechnie properties. The company which Mr. Stanhope represents is said to be worth $40,000,000. The establishment of a Canadian factory is necessary in order to protect their patents. Mr. Stanhope states that a Canadian branch would employ between 300 and 600 hands. The trade in machines for this Province and Manitoba has grown considerably of late, and last fall 500 machines were shipped here. Brantford and London have offered large inducements to the company in the way of tax exemption, free water, etc., and the company's representatives will learn what Hamilton can do along the same line.

London's Proposed Choral Society.

London has for some years been behind her sister cities in the matter of a musical society, and this lack was the primal cause of a meeting of musicians which took place at Williams' music store on Monday night, when it was decided to organize a choral society for oratorio work. In view of the lateness of the season, however, it was decided not to attempt an oratorio this winter, but to give a miscellaneous concert early in April by way of a beginning with a chorus of about 100 voices, and the instrumental parts furnished by the London Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Pococke has kindly consented to undertake the arduous duties of conductor, and all who had the pleasure of hearing the concert given under his baton in Wellington Street Methodist Church a short time ago will be satisfied that under his direction the music will be a success. Work will be commenced at once—the first practice next Monday at Williams' music house—and organization will be completed in the course of a couple of weeks. It is earnestly hoped by the promoters of this enterprise that London's music-lovers will give this organization a reception that will put it in the way of rendering many of the masterpieces of the leading composers of this and earlier days in the seasons to come. Surely none can have heard the grand rendition of the Messiah given two or three years ago by Mr. Birks without desiring to hear more works of a similar character, and there are so many fine compositions which could be presented to a London audience that an organization of the kind proposed has a wide field before it which is fairly bewildering in its richness. Information of the society's progress will be furnished to the public from time to time, and it is hoped that at least two oratorios each winter for the coming years will be within the possibilities.

Chorus of servants, peasants, coachmen waiting maids, etc.

Such was the cast of characters in last night's production of "The Chimes of Normandy," at the Grand, by the Nelson Comic Opera Company. The house was again large and the performance thoroughly satisfactory. This charming opera of Planquette's is replete with pretty airs, which were effectively rendered by the company's admirable chorus. Maurice Hagerman filled the role of Gaspard with fine dramatic ability and sung well. Mr. Nelson's Jeane was also decidedly good. Edith and Essie Barton took the prima donna parts creditably. Mr. Traverner's vocal talents did justice to the role of the Marquis. Altogether it was a clever and bright presentation, more than worth the low price of admission. To-night the ever-popular "Bohemian Girl" will be given, an opera to which the company is said to be specially adapted. Miss Weaver and Miss Harrington will introduce a terpsichorean specialty. To-morrow night "Fra Diavolo," and on Saturday night "La Mascotte" will be on the boards, while a family matinee is announced for Saturday, at which "Erminie" will be repeated. The remarkably cheap prices assure the company a deservedly large run all week.

DRINK WAS THE CAUSE

Of Two Men Being Sent to the Central by the Police Magistrate This Morning—One Drunk Remanded and Another Discharged.

The prisoner's cage was well filled at the Police Court this morning with drunks and minor offenders. Joseph Lynch was charged with stealing a chisel from the G. T. R. A whole box of tools was missing, but this was the only article found on the prisoner's premises. An adjournment until Monday was made to allow of the finding of the rest of missing articles.

Vagrancy, drunk and disorderly, and assaulting a constable, were the charges laid against Edward Walker, a London South man, by P. C. Berryhill. The constable entered the box with his left cheek patched with court plaster, the result, he said, of Walker throwing a piece of ice at him. He threw one more piece, but his aim was unsteady and it went through Dr. Mitchell's window. Further than that, he was insulting everybody he came across, and in one store that he entered, he became so violent, that the young lady in charge beat a hasty retreat, leaving him in full and undisturbed possession. About this time P. C. Berryhill happened along and took him in custody.

The chief gave the man a very bad character. He had spent a term in the Central within the last couple of years, he said, and last September had done 20 days for stealing geraniums from Dr. Eccles.

Dr. Harrison spoke favorably of the man's conduct since coming out of jail in September last.

In defense the prisoner said that he had had a few drinks, then a few more, and that sent him wild.

The police magistrate—Three months.

John Powers was given six months in the Central for drunkenness, vagrancy and disorderly conduct. He is 31 years old, and for the last few years has been living at the expense of a hard-working widowed mother. He could get money to buy drink, but could not buy his clothes or food. He came home last night and smashed the table lamp, throwing it into the back yard.

One drunk was discharged and one remanded until Monday.

The Hop Shortage.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 15.—The New York Homestead in an exhibit of the world's supply and demand of hops for the current season, ending Aug. 31, 1893, says the exact shortage in the world's supply is 3,500,000 pounds, which must be made up by the consumption of old stock, if there be enough on hand for the purpose. There is an estimated shortage of 6,000,000 pounds in the English supply, and England has yet to secure enough hops to meet this demand before the end of the season.

THE WHISKY TRUST TROUBLE.

Danger Threatened at Home—Startling Exposures Looked For.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—While the magnates of the Whisky Trust are laughing at the Congressional investigation in Washington, grave danger threatens them at home. Disappointed ex-members who have incriminating documents are secretly at work planning to bring to justice the conspirators who endeavored to secure the destruction by dynamite of the Shuffeldt distillery here. An investigation may be ordered by the Illinois Legislature. The return of George Gibson, late secretary of the Whisky Trust, who was indicted for complicity in the Shuffeldt case and who went to Canada soon after the Congressional investigation was ordered, is significant. Gibson's presence has been kept a profound secret. He came to furnish important information, in return for which he has been promised that no steps will be taken to reopen his case until he has time and opportunity to return to his Canadian refuge.

The Chinese now on the islands are precluded from coming into the United States. It is proposed that the United States shall assume the debts of Hawaii, but shall receive in return the various incomes of the islands, amounting to about $10,000,000 per year.
