DELEGATION TOO BIG TO SUIT AUSTRIANS

Objections Made to 1,200 Members of Allied Commission Coming to Vienna.

Vienna, Feb. 19.—Recent reports stating that the Allied commission coming to this city would number 1,200 men have led to a storm of protest from newspapers here. It is pointed out the commission will require at least 600 hotel rooms and 200 automobiles, and that gasoline is so scarce that the city is unable to operate its motor ambulances. Demands that the Government request the Allies to reduce the size of the mission have been made by several journals.

DR. HELEN McMURCHY ADVOCATES IMPROVED CONDITIONS FOR TEACHERS

Ottwa, Feb. 19.—Dr. Helen McMurchy's declaration that the betterment of the position of the teacher in the community, both as regards honoring of the profession and salary, was the first charge of the national council on character education struck a responsive chord and received hearty applause. This statement came during the discussion of a report on the matter of introducing propaganda to emphasize the importance of the teaching profession in Canada.

It was recommended that the council secure the co-operation of the press and community welfare organizations to promote the campaign, but Dr. McMurchy, Right Rev. Dr. Richardson, Bishop of Fredricton and others were of the opinion that unless a definite resolution regarding the form of propaganda and the council's stand regarding the teachers' salaries was passed, the work of the council would be in vain.

TO GIVE SHORT COURSE ON THE MILK PRODUCING

Encouraged by the huge success of the short course in farming, that was held here by the local department of agriculture last month, a similar one in dairying will be conducted in this city on four days starting the second day of March. Lectures covering every phase of milk production will be given.

Speakers will talk on the care of milk, bacteriology, sanitation of stables, diseases of cattle, feeding and the care of milk utensils. It is expected that over 60 milk producers and distributors will attend the lectures. If the rooms of the department of agriculture are found to be too small a suitable hall will be secured.

PERSONAL MENTION

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Weekes leave this afternoon for Bermuda.

LISTEN TO THE EVERWELLS

THERE is only one certain way for a man to keep his "pep" and that is for him to keep his health up to the army standard at all times. A step in the right direction is a step in the direction of this drug store. They certainly know how to treat a man politely and give him his money's worth.

LOCAL NEWS

BANK CLEARINGS.—Bank clearings for the past week totaled $3,236,451. This is $962,813 in excess of those of the corresponding week of 1919, which were $2,273,638.

SNOWSHOEING PARTY. — Thirty-five members of the Y. M. C. A. and their friends formed a merry snowshoeing and tobogganing party that was held on the grounds of the London Hunt Club last night. After three hours' enjoyment of the remier winter sport the party returned to the "Y" building for luncheon.

STEAM, NOT SMOKE.—The fire department received a call this morning to the London Club, Queen's avenue. The alarm was turned in by someone thinking the building was on fire by the smoke issuing from the basement, but when the firemen arrived they discovered that the hot water coils in the boiler had burst and it was steam instead of smoke that was the cause of the alarm.

TENDERS FOR CITY'S SUPPLIES.—Tenders for city supplies will be opened at a special meeting of No. 2 committee of the city council this afternoon. The sealed estimates were received at the city clerk's office today up to 12 o'clock. They include tenders on refined asphalt, road oil, Portland cement, limestone dust, broken stone, vitrified and land tile, concrete tile, iron castings and general supplies.

CHECKS FOR ENUMERATORS. — Thirteen checks for $4 each have been received by J. W. Cunliffe, secretary of the G. W. V. A., for members of the association who acted as enumerators during the last provincial elections. The men claimed that they were entitled to pay for work done on Sunday in compiling lists, but the returning officer here thought differently. The matter was taken up by letter with Premier E. C. Drury, with the result that the men received the money today.

CITY CLERK GOES AWAY.—City Clerk Baker will leave for Toronto this afternoon to attend a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Association's executive. Following this, the members will interview the provincial secretary, H. C. Nixon, and discuss with him the motions adopted at the last meeting of the association. Most of them deal with minor suggestions for amending various statutes. Indorsation of a change in election dates and motions favoring a commission government for cities will be discussed.

OFF TO BURWASH.—Record time for removing prisoners from this city was established yesterday when two men, convicted of stealing in the morning, were sent with a party of prisoners taken by J. Ryan, the provincial bailiff, to Burwash yesterday. It was 12 o'clock at noon when the two men arrived at the county jail after being sentenced, but a medical inspection was made, their papers made out, and they were at the C. P. R. depot a few minutes after the clock struck one. Three men were taken from London and a large number from Windsor and Chatham.

A CATTLE SURVEY.—J. Coke of the department of farm management of the O. A. C. will address five meetings that are to be held in the northern part of the County of Middlesex, in the towns of Parkhill, Ailsa Craig, Clandeboye, West McGillivray and Ilderton, on the first five days of March. He will tell of the results of a cattle survey made in that district by Professor A. Leitch last summer. North Middlesex is reputed by the department of agriculture to be the best beef district in Ontario, and for this reason it was considered an ideal place to make a survey on the cost of beef production. Similar surveys on mixed farming and dairy produce were made in the counties of Peel and Oxford, respectively.

JAIL PATIENTS IMPROVED.—Although visitors are still excluded from the county jail, the sickness which has been prevalent there for the past two weeks, has abated to a great extent. According to Governor Carter the two cases of diphtheria have practically recovered, although there are several sick with colds there is no influenza.

J. Raney, one of the men who was stricken with diphtheria and who was being held with a woman companion for deportation to the United States, had recovered sufficiently to be sent on his way to the United States. Both he and his companion are wanted across the border for breaking parole. The other man who had diphtheria is up, but is still weak. It is not likely that visitors will be admitted until the institution is thoroughly fumigated.

UTILITIES HEAD HAS PREPARED ESTIMATES

Construction estimates will be laid before the utilities commission by General-Manager E. V. Buchanan this afternoon. These will include plans for extensions extending over several years. The object is more to provide a definite program this year.

Owing to the absence of some of the commissioners, it is doubtful whether any other then routine business will be transacted. The rate to be charged for fire hydrants is now under discussion again. The present rate charged the city for these is $15. It was suggested that this charge be raised to $32. The commissioners differed on the advisability of this, it being contended that the general rate should be increased as well, and that the whole increase should not be placed on the hydrants alone.

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR GREAT MEETING OF THE RETURNED MEN

Gathering Will Be in Interests of $2,000 Gratuity For Soldiers.

J. F. Marsh, the Dominion organizer of the Grand Army of Canada, and who represented the G. A. C. at the parliamentary committee meeting held in Ottawa last October is in the city making preparations for the mass meeting of returned soldiers that is to be held in the Hyman Hall on Saturday night in the interest of the gratuity question. He is distributing petitions that are to be circulated in the city to gain support for the movement to gain a $2,000 gratuity.

Plans are under way to make the meeting on Saturday night the biggest gathering of the returned soldiers ever held in this city. The fight to gain the $2,000 gratuity is supported by the Naval Veterans' Association, the Originals' Club, United Veterans' League, His Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans' Association, the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada, and the Grand Army of Canada. It is expected that all members of these associations, besides many other returned men in the city will be present at the meeting.

Efforts are being made to get several of the prominent men of the city interested. Mr. Marsh said this morning that James Gray has promised to act as chairman of the big meeting, Capt. J. G. Tupper, otherwise known as the fighting parson, may be one of the speakers.

Besides the fight for further gratuity the Grand Army of Canada in this city will be reorganized on Saturday night. Efforts are being made to have the St. John Ambulance Corps form an auxiliary of the association, Mr. Marsh said this morning that the Grand Army wanted the public to know that they had no intentions of entering politics.

New York, Feb. 19.—The Steamship New York, the first American ship to defy Germany's "submarine lane" edict of February 1, 1917, returned to commercial service today. She was used as a transport during the war, but has been completely refitted as a passenger ship. She carried 500 passengers for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton.

NEW YORK AUCTION OF FURS BRINGS IN NEARLY $4,000,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Today was fox day at the fur auction in the Masonic Hall here, the feature being the active buying of white foxes for English, French and German accounts. Dutch buyers bought blue fox. Muskrats were also sold, bringing up to $4.50 each, and advancing sixty per cent over October sale prices here. Southern "rat" went up 50 per cent. The highest price for the day was reached by blue fox, the best of which brought $270 each.

Grand totals for the first three days' selling reach $3,650,000.

BAKER DEFENDS STAND

Declares He Is Justified in Calling for Essays On Enlistment.

Washington, Feb. 19.—As propaganda in favor of army enlistments, Secretary of War Baker plans an essay competition for school children on the subject "Advantages of An Enlistment In the Army." In reply to protests he declared today that the plan will not foster militarism.

"We are all opposed to militarism," said Mr. Baker, "but we must face the stern reality of facts. Peace, we regret to acknowledge, is not today supreme in the world. The sword is still unsheathed in many places."

DENIES REPORT THAT MALTA IMMIGRANTS ARE TO BE EXCLUDED

Only Settlers From Former Enemy Countries Barred.

Ottawa, Feb. 19. — (By Canadian Press).—The statement that immigrants from Malta are to be denied admittance to Canada on the ground of nationality is denied by the department of immigration here today. An official of the department pointed out that the only nationals denied admittance to Canada at present as immigrants are Germans, Austrians, Hungarians, Bulgarians and Turks. Settlers of any other nationality are welcomed to Canada if they conform to immigration regulations and if there is no economic reason why they should not be admitted as settlers.

Dispatches from New York last night recited Dr. R. T. Rutherford, representative of the Canadian immigration department at Ellis Island, with the statement that the Ottawa Government had issued instructions "that no more Maltese will be received as immigrants in Canada under any conditions whatever." The only ground for such an understanding is a recent request sent to Dr. Rutherford from the immigration authorities here that special attention be paid to the fitness of prospective immigrants for work in Canada under present industrial conditions, a number of Maltese having been recently found in Toronto without work and unfit to engage in any available employment.

FRYATT CASE LIKELY TO BE REOPENED AS RESULT OF NEW NOTE

Berlin, Feb. 19.—Examination of the official text of the last allied note sent to the German Government relative to the trial of men accused of war crimes shows that a significant passage was omitted from the Paris version published here on Tuesday afternoon. This passage refers to a stipulation by the Entente that previous verdicts at trials of German war offenders must be annulled and that they be remanded for new trials.

This provision, the Freiheit says, means the reopening of the Fryatt case, in which a German commission decided the execution of Fryatt, captain of a British merchantman, was not a violation of international law. The conservative pan-Germanic press unites in rejecting the allied note as wholly unacceptable, and the Tageblatt expressed the belief "it is a halting on the road leading to revision of the Versailles treaty."

EX-ATTENDANT

delivered, but if it was there was not enough for the inmates.

Mr. Vining also made Lawder admit that oatmeal as well as cornmeal was served, and that more oatmeal than cornmeal was issued. He also caused hi mto acknowledge that as well as boiled meat, brawn and tongue had been given to the inmates on various occasions.

Lawder had said that the fish was ill-smelling. He was asked if it was not neglect of duty for him as a Government employee to give the patients food which was unfit for human consumption.

The lawyers for the witnesses said that Lawder was making charges against everyone in the place and by them apparently he, the plaintiff, was the only holy man in the whole institution.

They insisted that it was purely revenge that led Lawder to make these charges, and that he took revenge because he was dismissed. It was said that he had an axe to grind against Beamish, the chef, and Heighway, the chief attendant.

Regarding the charges of Dr. Robinson, Dr. Harris and Dr. Biggs gambling, he was asked why he held the information which he gave against them in the back of his head for ten years before springing it. Two of the doctors had left the institution, and one of these two was now dead. Lawder admitted that he always had been friendly with all these men.

This afternoon he went in the box again, and more cross-examination is taking place.

Wednesday Afternoon's Evidence.

Harry Lauder, an ex-attendant of the institution and complainant in the investigation, went on the stand when the afternoon session began yesterday. Previous to 1912 he had been employed at the asylum for eight years. He has in his possession a first-class honorable discharge from the 17th Lancers of the imperial army, with which he served as a sergeant for eleven years. In 1915 he enlisted with the 142nd (London's Own) Battalion, and went overseas. After thirteen months' service in France with the 1st Battalion he was discharged as medically unfit. In 1918 the plaintiff was re-employed at the Ontario Hospital and worked there until October, 1919.

His first charge dealt with the food served in the dining-room on Flat 4, in which he was employed. The soup served almost always was insufficient to go around, so much so, in fact, that on one occasion eight quarts of water had to be added to make enough for all. It consisted of porridge, corn and very little meat. When poured off it was very thin and lacked nourishment.

Meat was not sufficient in quantity either. On one occasion, of the sixteen tables in the dining-room, the persons at but nine of them had meat given them, and only patients who actually had worked that day received some. But twice in eighteen months was roast meat served, and it was supplied only after Mr. Lauder had laid complaint. At every other time boiled meat was issued.

The porridge was very poor. It was as thin as the soup. In in were lumps of raw meal as large as a duck's egg. The pudding was not properly cooked and there was only enough to supply half the patients. No sugar was served with apple sauce.

Potatoes for the attendants' dining-room were sliced on the night previous to their being used and by breakfast time were sour. The bread served in this room was hard and dried out, while the butter was so strong in taste and smell that few of the attendants ever used it. It was not as good as oleomargarine or lard.

Poor Quality of Milk.

At the time that F. Spearin was in charge of the dairy the milk was fair in the morning, but by evening was thin and blue, and almost unfit for use. On two occasions the odor of it was so bad that it had to be thrown away.

Mr. Lauder charged that during his first period of service at the institution Dr. Robinson, Dr. Harris, Dr. Biggs and a fourth party who was not named, gambled on many occasions in the main building of the institution. Dr. Robinson he accused of having kept John Kelly, an inmate, in the cold stable until 3 o'clock in the morning to take one member of the party to his home in the city. At the same time there was a coachman on the staff, but the patient was used instead of him. Lauder himself claimed to have heard them joking over the games.

The witness said that wards had been stripped of attendants in order that they might participate in curling and lawn bowling, in neglect of their duties. In some wards where there were as many as 80 or more patients, only one attendant was at his post. At one time in four halls in which there were 153 patients, nine men were required to do all the work.

In Mr. Lauder's hall there was a daily average of at least seven epileptic fits. There were also fights among the patients. Other patients requiring attention could not secure the help of an attendant.

Asleep On Duty.

Giving evidence in respect to Ex-Attendant James Kite, the plaintiff stated that while this man was night watchman, he worked in the daytime erecting a small building, and was paid for it, and that he spent the greater part of the winter hunting. Lauder asserted that this watchman was unable to fulfill his duties, and at one time in the morning while supposed to be at his work was found sleeping.

A and B toilets in the main hall were alleged to overflow because of the lack of groundpipe. Often they had to be closed while patients with their trousers turned up to their knees were sent in to shovel away the sewage.

Balconies for the use of patients could not be used in wet weather as the roofs leaked.

When electric lights were installed in the buildings the gas was taken out, so that when the electric power failed great quantities of candles were used, the complainant swore.

First-class brooms were used on the curling rinks, but there was a great scarcity of them in the building. Patients were not allowed to bowl or curl. While a rink had been provided for them to skate upon, they could not amuse tnemselves in this manner as very few of them had skates. Lauder had seen some of them come to the rink with only one skate.

At one time the plaintiff had issued six eggs for egg-nogs for all the patients, and four of the eggs were boiled. Another time four boiled eggs were issued for the same purpose.

Charges Clothing Theft.

In June, 1919, Lauder said he discovered ex-Attendant H. Aylsworth locking up a suspicious-looking bundle in a locker. Lauder and Supervisor McDougall opened the locker and found new suits of clothes of the institution and intended for patients. Price tags marked $35 and $37 respectively were still on them. Aylsworth was brought before Chief Attendant R. B. Heighway, who permitted him to leave the asylum. No prosecution followed.

Rod McKay, a patient, was seen by Lauder to carry a number of times each day parcels from the hospital in the direction of and to Heighway's house. One parcel contained bread and sealed bottles of milk.

Shoemaker F. Spearin had repaired shoes for the attendants and nurses, and been paid for it. He even had sold a pair of repaired shoes to Attendant Gilmore, the complainant charged.

He had noticed Storekeeper Jackson leaving with many parcels and baskets of goods.

Head Engineer Walters had been seen to load bags, baskets and boxes full of stuff into his auto at the pumphouse door, and had been seen to drive to his house with two bags of goods.

Assistant Engineer McFadden had carried parcels under his coat from the kitchen to the pumphouse, Lauder told the commission of investigation. McFadden rarely left the building without one or more parcels, he stated.

At 5:30 o'clock one morning Shoemaker Spearin had been seen by Lauder cycling out of the grounds by way of the front gate with a suitcase which appeared to be very heavy. This was a neglect of duty, it was remarked, as he was supposed to be at work with the gang in the dairy at this time.
