SAYS BISHOP CASEY WOULD NOT ANSWER HIS LETTER

W. C. Gaynor Declares He Has Refuted All Charges Regarding Financial Matters—Concerning the Others He is Unable to Secure Definite Information

Rev. W. C. Gaynor is in the city today and to a Star reporter who interviewed him at the Clifton House, he made emphatic statements of his innocence of all the charges made against him, and made public his movements from the time he left the parsonage in south end until he was again heard from at Spruce Lake. An interesting feature is that although he demanded to know the nature of the charges made against him as a result of which Bishop Casey exercised his prorogative and suspended him from his priestly functions, he has not as yet received any information.

Asked to his future plans Father Gaynor said he had not yet made any decision but that he would probably engage in literary work.

The Star first asked Father Gaynor about his connection with the Roman Catholic church in St. John. In reply the reverend gentleman stated that he had been officiating as a priest for some years in the City of St. John, first in Carleton, and afterwards in connection with the church of St. John the Baptist in the southern end of the city, and his chief work had been carried on principally among the poorer classes belonging to the church, but that he had also in connection with the parish work many others who were intelligent and educated people, and his association with them had been very pleasant throughout.

"You know," said Father Gaynor, "that I am not an extreme churchman. I believe there is good in all men, and I have endeavored to carry this idea throughout my ministry, and keep in friendly touch not only with the members of my own church, but with many members of other churches, and have taken part in any general work for the benefit of the community, such as the Lord's Day Alliance, and other associations, that were formed for the advancement of the moral and spiritual good of the citizens.

"This course of conduct has not been looked upon with great favor by some of the members of my church, but I considered it in the best interests of those for whom I was working.

"Up to within a few weeks past I have been on the most friendly relations with the ecclesiastical authorities, and have not had any reason to complain of their conduct towards me. But, of course, I realized that my liberal views were not altogether in accordance with those of some in higher authority.

"When the rumors to which you refer were first circulated I was taking some holidays. I was advised by those whom I thought were in touch with the head of the church in this city that I might leave the city for a few weeks, until the matters blew over, while my friends endeavored to get at the bottom of the matters and ascertain the source of the rumors, as no one at that time suggested to me that there was any truth in them. In accordance with these views, I made a visit to my sister at Presque Isle, and was absent not quite three weeks, and returned to my house at Spruce Lake.

"Upon my return I found that instead of the rumors having subsided, they had been increased, and I was surprised to receive notice from the bishop of my church that I had been suspended. This, I thought, should not have been done in my absence, while it was well known where I was, and where any communication would reach me.

"As you are aware, many stories were circulated with reference to financial matters, as well as those touching

TRANS-ATLANTIC WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IS ASSURED

Marconi in an Interview With the Star Says the Apparatus is Perfect — Will Send Messages to Clifden in a Few Days—Rates to be Cut

SYDNEY, C. B., Sept. 23.—Signor Marconi, of wireless telegraph fame arrived in the city on Saturday morning and left by special electric at nine o'clock. A correspondent of the Star went with him. After saying that he never felt better in his life, Mr. Marconi told your correspondent that wireless telegraphy was an assured success.

"I shall remain in Cape Breton until the station is opened for commercial work which will be in about three weks. We have a little testing to do before we start. There will be no special ceremony in connection with the opening. We shall have a few friends there and, of course, we shall not forget our friends the press, who have been particularly kind to us. We shall commence active commercial work by sending messages to two or three of the trans-Atlantic papers. We shall make no big show but shall go along quietly.

"We have overcome all obstacles and we are sure of success. The weather will have no effect on our doing efficient work unless our poles or masts should be damaged. Lightning will not bother us at all. We have successfully gotten over the bad weather difficulty.

"We have about a dozen men working on the plant, not including our enginemen. Three operators are all we have now, but when business increases we shall employ more. An ordinary operator can do our work, all he requires is about three months' training. We use the Continental Morse alphabet, but can use ordinary Morse and will adopt the latter if we find it serves better than the continental code. We send about twenty words a minute, but could work much faster. We have made no effort for speed.

"The messager from Cape Breton will be sent to Clifden, Ireland. Poldhu is not as powerful as Clifden, as at the latter place we have built a new station, and we fitted it up with new machinery. It is now in good working order. We shall use Poldhu to help Clifden as a sort of second string as it were. The Cape Cod station is not yet ready for business.

At Clifden, the English Government will take over our messages, collect and distribute them. We have a land station of our own at Clifden. I shall send the first commercial wireless mes-

BODY AT THE MORGUE NOT YET IDENTIFIED

May be That of a Man Who Was ill at Donovan's on Saturday—Hospital Authorities Called on.

Up till this afternoon the corpse found in the ditch near the Three Mile House had not been identified at the morgue. A large number of persons have viewed the remains with the hope of identifying the man. Thomas Hayes saw the body this morning, thinking that it might be that of a stranger who visited his home Friday evening and begged some food, and who said he was walking to Moncton in search of work. The man resembled the tramp, but Mr. Hayes is positive it is not the same person.

The unidentified body is that of a man about 35 years of age, his height about 5 feet 5 inches, his moustache of a sandy shade. There is a scar under the chin ond another across the top of the left hand. His shoes have been worn only a few times. His coat and vest are of a mixed brown and black, and he wears dark trousers nearly new. A brass time check with the inscription "G and D., 295," was found in his pocket, also four keys, a watch and eight dollars. Coroner D. E. Berryman has been making inquiries into the matter, and learns that about two o'clock Saturday afternoon the man called at Councillor Donovan's farm on the Marsh Road and while there he took a fit. It was about a half on hour before he recovered from it and proceeded on his journey out the road. It is thought that he has been again taken ill near the ditch and falling into the mud face downwards, and being unable to aid himself, smothered.

It is thought that the remains may be those of a man who has been under treatment at the General Public Hospital and was discharged on Saturday morning. Dr. Malcolm informs the Star that two or three men were discharged from the institution on Saturday morning, but until he views the body he cannot say if the corpse in the morgue is one of them.

Coroner Berryman intends having some person from the hospital visit the morgue this afternoon.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Emilsonio Arcara, proprietor of an east side ladies' skirt factory, whose love affairs have been the gossip of his thirty men and women employes, was done to death in his factory yesterday and his body subjected to revolting treatment.

His enemy, not satisfied after inflicting nineteen stiletto wounds, any one or two of which would have caused death, slashed the lower limbs and removed the vital organs.

The police clue is two clearly defined prints of a thumb and forefinger on the jamb of the factory door.

THE MIX-UP IN THE BASEBALL SITUATION

Russell Cup Has Not Yet Been Awarded.

Nor Will Anything be Done Until the League Championship is Definitely Settled

The silver cup donated by J. V. Russell for the winner of the city baseball championship has not yet been presented and will be held until the doubtful condition of affairs has been brought to an end. In view of the fact that the St. Joseph's team was not the winner of the Inter-society League when they played their recent series of games with the Marathons, Mr. Russell feels that to give the Greeks the cup would be a premature proceeding. If, however, the St. Joseph's should beat St. Peters and thus become the unquestionable champions of the Society League, the cup will go the Marathons without further debate.

At the time of the recent series between the Marathons and the St. Joseph's it was understood by the public and the press that the games were to decide the championship of the city. It was also believed as a fact that the St. Joseph's were winners in the league of which they form a part.

The Marathon players and management understood that the winning of the series included the cup and the championship, and say that they played with that understanding. It is probable that the St. Joseph's boys had exactly the same idea but that they were reckoning themselves as sure winners of the society series. They probably had no idea that the present dead-lock would result, even though the league executive had not awarded the championship to them nor had they authorized them to play for the city championship.

It has been rumored that the St. Joseph's team do not wish to win but will now endeavor to let the St. Peter's team take the championship in order that there will be a chance of the city championship staying in the Society League. The makers of this statement claim that the fact that St. Joseph's let the game with St. Rose's go by default is an indication that the erstwhile leaders have no desire to win. They claim that it is unreasonable to suppose that after the long hard fight the St. Joseph's have had to get to the top, they would not throw away their lead without a struggle unless they had a motive for doing so more than appears on the surface. These statements are purely rumor with nothing very tangible to support them; they go merely to show how a certain portion of the public look upon the present condition of things in the local baseball world. That the keenest rivalry existed between the St. Peter's team and their ablest competitors is a recognized fact in sporting circles and, in view of this circumstance, and considering the unimpeachable record of the men who are executive heads of the Society League, the gossip in connection with the matter would seem to be entirely unjustified.

Every effort, it is said, was made to get the St. Joseph's team to the team to the grounds in time for the game with the St. Roses and as a matter of fact the men were present but a few of them were unable to be on the spot in time. The rumors in this regard are looked upon as ridiculous by all connected with the Catholic league. They say that, looked upon from a purely business stand point, it would be a very unwise policy to have anything to do with a fiasco of this description as it would materially affect their prospects in time to come.

A representative of Mr. J. V. Russell met Mr. Donald this morning to informally discuss the situation of affairs bearing upon the donation of the cup. Mr. Donald was informed that Mr. Russell had decided that the matter must be definitely decided among the teams during a period of a month from date. They would also consider that one week would be sufficient time for the society league to finish their schedule and declare a winner and would attach that condition to the giving of the cup.

Mr. Russell's representative stated that they wished to be certain that the donation would be of such a nature that there would be no possible chance of debate or argument, and hoped to be able to close the matter up with as much dispatch as possible and with satisfaction to all parties concerned.

David Donald stated that if St. Peters should win the series, the Marathons would be willing to play them a series of games for the city championship.

Mr. Donald incidentally remarked also that the game which the St. Joseph's had lost to St. Rose's last week had not been legally awarded to the Fairville team. He stated that the St. Rose's had not been lined up nor had the ball been thrown, both of which steps are necessary before a game can be awarded. He also claimed that Jas. McLeod, who had been appointed official umpire at the last meeting of the league executive, was not present at the game in question nor had he taken any hand in the proceedings.

OPERVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 23.—The boiler of a locomotive pulling a westbound Pennsylvania freight train, while running twenty miles an hour, blew up at Burton City yesterday. Conductor Rockwell, Brakeman Crum and Engineer Bray were killed and Fireman Frank Riffle was probably fatally hurt

GENERAL BOOTH WILL LEAVE FOR HALIFAX THIS EVENING

Spent the Day in Consultation With Officers—Col. Lamb Visits the Ellinor Home—General's Presence Has Aroused Great Enthusiasm

General William Booth spent the greater part of the day discussing matters connected with Army work with Commissioner Coombs, of Toronto, and Brigadier Turner, of this city.

He will be present at the luncheon of the Canadian Club at Keith's Assembly Rooms this evening and will deliver an address.

General Booth will leave this evening at 11.25 for Halifax, whence he will return to Moncton and will pass through the city on Thursday on the way to Boston, where he begins his American campaign.

A grand Salvation Army rally will be held this evening in Berrymen's hall led by Commissioner Nicol, Colonel Lawley and a number of other prominent staff officers.

An open-air service will be held at the head of King street, at 7.30 and lasting until eight o'clock. The service at the hall will begin at the latter hour. All the city corps will be present and it is expected the gathering will be an important and enjoyable one.

Commissioner Nicol is editor-in-chief of the Salvation Army publications in Great Britain. His participation in the meeting tonight will, it is confidently expected, be a treat to all who are present.

Colonel Lawley is a conspicuous and important figure in Salvation Army circles. As aide-de-camp to General Booth, he has had a wide and varied experience in connection with Army work. His appearance at Berrymen's hall this evening will be an event of dep interest to local soldiers as well as to the numbers who have gathered from other parts of the province.

The gathering which will end this evening with the departure of General Booth, has been marked with the most gratifying success. The results are expected to have far-reaching consequences. Many ladies and gentlemen who have borne important posts in the history of this great religious body have had the privilege of greeting their leader, and that the occasion has been a memorable one, the interest shown and the enjoyment described is a tangible testimony.

Col. Lamb, Major Pugmire and Brigadier Turner, the provincial commander will be present at the luncheon of the Canadian Club this evening.

This forenoon Col. Lamb, who is head of the Army's colonization department in London, accompanied by Brigadier Howell, of Toronto, went to the Ellinor farm at Nauwigewauk to study this method of caring for the surplus population of Britain.

With the close of this evening's functions the most important part of the meeting will have ended and a number of the visitors will disperse to their homes and duties. Some of the Nova Scotia contingent left by boat this morning and others, from upper province points, will leave by train this evening. The territorial staff board went to Sussex this morning.

The activity in local Salvation Army circles will be continued all through the week. Special meetings will be held each evening at Berryman's hall. On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings these meetings will be conducted by Adjutant Carter, of the provincial headquarters. On Friday evening, Major Phillips, chancellor of th maritime provinces, will preside and on Saturday and Sunday evenings Brigadier Turner will lead.

RAILWAY MEN OBJECT TO BEING TREATED AS CRIMINALS

CROWN FINISHED ITS CASE THIS FORENOON

Chief Clark on the Stand in Collins Trial Today—Dr. Addy's Previous Statement Was Received.

HOPEWELL HILL, Sept. 23.—The Collins trial was resumed at 10.45 this morning. Judge Hanington, who spent Sunday at Dorchester, was unable to arrive until the hour mentioned. W. Walker Clark, chief of police of St. John, was the first witness. He told of first seeing the prisoner on August 25th, 1906, having received information that he had left Musquash and was going in the direction of St. George. The witness identified the telescope valise in court, as the one which he had found at Deans and which the prisoner had said was his, as was also its contents. Collins had said in reply to a remark of witness regarding the fine quality of the clothes, that he had bought them at Liverpool, England. The witness said that the prisoner had declared that Miss McAuley was continually nagging at him when he was at Father McAuley's or at least when the priest was absent, and that she would not give him his meals if he displeased her. He had said that he could not stand it and had left the place, leaving Miss McAuley alive and well. Concerning the gold watch the prisoner had said he had thrown it away, but had afterward stated that he had lost it..

Mrs. Ruth Leaman told how Collins had stopped at her place, Kent Road, on the day of the murder and had asked for something to eat. He had two valises. He had told her that Father McAuley's horse had been stolen and that he was seeking it. He had said that he was going to Elgin to take the valises to Father McAuley, whom he expected to meet there. The prisoner seemed excited and nervous.

Charles Leaman, son of the last witness, corroborated his mother's testimony.

Chief Clark was recalled to prove the absence in England of Dr. G. A. B. Addy. The evidence of Dr. Addy will be read at the conclusion of the reading of Father McAuley's evidence.

The crown will probably rest its case this afternoon, and J. C. Sherren, counsel for the defense, will probably open his case.

LATER.

At the close of the reading of the evidence of Dr. G. A. B. Eddy at one o'clock, Solicitor General Jones announced that the case for the crown was closed. The court then adjourned to reopen at 2.15 this afternoon, when Mr. Sherren will open for the defense.

Deputation Will Protest Against Actions Taken to Punish Those Responsible for Wrecks Resulting in Loss of Life—They Want Fuller Enquiries

TORONTO, Sept. 23.—The activity of the Attorney General's department in connection with prosecutions following recent railway wrecks has caused some alarm and resentment among trainmen, and these sentiments will be expressed to the government by a deputation who will wait on them on Wednesday next. A committee of four, comprising Messrs. Harvey Hall, of Toronto; John Malone, of Ottawa; Mayor Lawrence and C. Hastings, of St. Thomas, and representing all branches of trainmen, including telegraphers, was in the parliament buildings on Saturday to complete arrangements for the deputation. The trainmen take the ground, in effect, that in a number of recent instances those of their comrades who have been held responsible by Coroner's jury for railroad wrecks have been treated as criminals, whereas they were guilty only of errors of judgment. This they consider is unfair, and they argue that it is creating a feeling of nervousness in the minds of the men employed on the railroads that cannot but have serious results. They may suggest at the interview that before prosecutions are entered upon, an expert, appointed by the government, if that is deemed desirable, should make a thorough examination of all the circumstances and decide whether the train hands were culpably negligent or whether the disaster was due to errors of judgment or natural, unavoidable causes. Subsequent action by the crowd should be based upon his decision.

JUSTICE IN RUSSIA

LODZ, Russian Poland, Sept. 23. — Seven workmen and one girl were executed by shooting here this morning, without trial, for participating in the murder of Marquis Silberstein, owner of a large cotton mill, who was killed by his employees September 13 because he refused to pay them for the time they were out on strike.

Police and troops September 20 made a sudden descent on the mill and arrested 800 of the employees.

Percy.—Are you still keeping up your deep breathing exercise, old chap?

Ferdy.—I have discontinued it for a time, dear boy. I am rooming next door to a glue factory just at present. —Judge.
