[From the Cape Breton Spectator, Aug. 7.]

COW BAY CHURCH.

Sunday the 26th of July will be a day ever memorable along the eastern shores of Cape Breton, for the opening of the first Episcopal Church erected along the coasts, at Cow Bay. The zeal and faith of the small congregation there abiding deserve especial praise; poor in this world's riches, and depending on their own labour for support, they denied themselves many comforts, and even necessaries, allowing their own dwellings to remain unfinished, in order that the House of God might be completed. Proceeding into the forest, they hewed the frame, and procured the lumber requisite, working with their own hands, that the temple of God might be prepared for His worship. At one time, despairing, at another, renewed by hope, aided as the servants of God ever are, by the charity of their richer brethren, whose hearts have been softened from above to feel for the spiritual wants of the poor disciples of Christ,—these noble men persevered amidst much discouragement, until the Building was ready for Divine Service.

A bright and sunny moon cheered the assembled throng, who at an early hour came from the adjoining shores to witness the solemn Festival; Churchmen, Dissenters, and Roman Catholics met at once in harmonious concourse to behold an House of Prayer sanctified by the word of God, and the holy Sacraments. The British flag, the sacred banner of the Cross, as it floated in the breeze, reminded all that they professed one common faith, and that without charity they could not fulfil the divine law. Love being the very essence of Christianity.

At half past ten A. M., the procession left the house of Mr. George Spencer, Churchwarden, and slowly ascended the hill, chanting one of the sweet Psalms of David. Two youths preceded, bearing a banner, on which was inscribed the text, "Built on the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone;" then followed a varied crowd—the aged on the verge of the grave, smiling through their tears, as they saw the portal's of God's House open to receive them, and felt with Simeon, that they could now depart in peace—men and women, in the prime of life, youths and maidens, buoyant and happy children and infant's in their mother's arms, showing how the Church embraces all of every age. After this crowd of worshippers came the Churchwardens with their staves of office; then carried by four boys the banners of our Reformed Catholic Church, containing the following scrolls "Evangelical Truth—Apostolic order.—the bulwarks of the Church; the Bible and Prayer Book borne by a gentleman of Sydney; whilst the Rev. W. Y. Porter, Travelling Missionary, closed the procession, arrayed in the priestly surplus, and stole, the vestments of the Church from the Apostolic age!

The Church was crowded, 150 being present; it reminded us of a country church, the raised platform for the altar covered with a neat carpet, the altar cloth, on which was worked I. H. S. surmounted by a cross, and surrounded by a ray of glory, the simple lectern and the shaded windows added somewhat to the solemnity. When a tower and chancel are erected the resemblance will be complete.

After the prayers, Mr. Porter in an eloquent extempore address from Luke XII. 32, vindicated the Church in general from the charge of Puseyism, and inculcated the doctrine of Christian charity; then followed the blessed Sacrament, whereof about 30 were partakers; and in the afternoon two infants were brought forward for the sacred rite of baptism.

Thus closed this joyous Festival; cheered by hope through faith triumphant, and gladdened by the Divine presence, a scattered flock has now become an household in the Faith. Shall we not hope, and hoping pray that the Lord may send labourers into his harvest, so that the wilderness may blossom as a rose, and these desolate shores so long a forest become musical with the voice of prayer and praise! The true christian, animated by Faith, despairs not of God's goodness; but firmly believes, that when through his Almighty Providence a temple has been erected to His Glory, He will in due time provide a resident minister to dispense the word of Life, and point the way to Heaven.

The members of the Church at Cow Bay takes this opportunity of expressing their gratitude to the Venerable Societies for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, and the promotion of Christian knowledge; to the former, for a supply of Missionaries, and to the latter, for a donation of £25 stg. to the Diocesan Church Society, and lastly to the liberal inhabitants of Sydney, and other places, who have aided them in this blessed work, and of assuring them that the Lord will not forget 'their labour of love.'

They would also express to Mr. Porter their deep feelings of respect and gratitude for his ministerial labours among them, and for the untiring zeal, unwearied energy, and firm perseverance, which he evinced in the execution of this pious work, labouring with his own hands, that the temple of the Lord might be rendered meet for his worship. Not an earthly but an heavenly reward will be his, when he listens to the approving sentence, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord."

MONTREAL, Aug. 8th.—In yesterday's Herald appears the following letter from Sir Allan Mc Nab, which that paper informs us was addressed to a relative of his in Montreal.

ON BOARD STEAMER BRITANNIA.
Entering Halifax Harbour, 18th July.

I have just seen a Montreal Herald, of the 14 inst. in the hands of a fellow passenger, stating that I had resigned the office of Adjutant-General, because I would not act without Colonel McDonald. This is not the case. When I agreed to accept the appointment, it was on the express understanding that I should be allowed to strengthen the Department by the selection of the most efficient men to assist. I selected Dr. Tache, because I felt that he was an honest man, who would give such information as would enable me to do justice to his countrymen—the British population in Lower Canada would soon find that their interests were safe in my hands. I named for Upper Canada, Col. E. Cameron, a distinguished and accomplished soldier, familiar, of course, with all the details of military manners, and whose assistance would not be only valuable but almost indispensable to me. The Governor General approved, and authorised me to offer Colonel Cameron the appointment. I did so, and he accepted. The Council not only refused to appoint him but actually appointed another as my Deputy, without even consulting me—the supposed head of the Department. As Adjutant General, I was to have all the responsibility, and the Council the patronage and appointments. This, of course, I could not, as an honest man, submit to,—so I returned the commission, and declined the office. I said not one word against Colonel McDonald—on the contrary, I said I was glad that he had been provided for, although I could have wished it had been some other way—as I did not agree with the Council in thinking that he was the most eligible person for that appointment.

The difficulty has all arisen from the interference of Rowland and George M'Donnell, nephews of Col. M'D., who went about the House, towards the close of the Session, with a kind of Round Robin, recommending their uncle—which many members signed, many of whom afterwards told me, that they would not have signed it, had they not been under the impression that the Government would never establish so dangerous a principle as to act upon such a document.

HALIFAX, August 18.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Soon after ten o'clock on Wednesday night, the alarm bell rang, and the cry of Fire resounded through our streets. On hurrying to the scene of disaster, we found the Carpenter's work shops of Messrs. M'Donough an Mahoney, on O'Brien's wharf, in a blaze, while that of Mr. Wisdom, on the Long wharf was just ignited, and like the others was speedily enveloped in flames. The appearance at this time, and for upwards of an hour afterwards was truly alarming, from the mass of combustible materials in the burning buildings, and the quantity of loose lumber in their immediate vicinity, the continued shower of falling brands on the contiguous buildings, and the spreading of the fire upwards, on both wharves, towards Water street. Happily, however, towards midnight by the combined efforts and the untiring zeal and energy of the Engine, Fire, and Axe Companies, the Military, the Navy, and the citizens, a stop was put to the ravages of the destructive element, though not until in addition to the premises already mentioned a range of stores occupied by Messrs. J. & T. Williamson, a building used as a sailors's boarding house, and a wooden store belonging to Robert M. Brown, Esq., had been consumed.—Considerable damage was also done to a stone store belonging to Mr. Brown the roof of which in particular was destroyed; nor did the granite building occupied by Messrs. Charman & Co., altogether escape, the rent and shattered appearance of the wall on the side next O'Brien's wharf, from the conjoint or conflicting operation, we scarce know what to call it, of the fire and water, is especially remarkable. To the resistance offered to the fire, however, by these buildings on the south, and to its progress to the northward being stopped by the stone store belonging to Robert Noble, Esq., may in a great measure, we believe, be ascribed the confining of the work of destruction within such comparatively narrow limits. We should have mentioned that the steamer from Dartmouth was promptly over with a reinforcement of volunteers from that side of the water who we learn rendered good service, though, as we were not in the immediate vicinity of personally witnessing their exertions. The origin of the fire is enveloped in mystery. It is generally believed to have originated in Mr. M'Donough's workshop, who, we understand is from home, and in which we are informed, there has been no work done for two or three weeks.—We have heard various estimates of the value of the property destroyed, but have not been able to learn with any thing like certainty, either the actual extent of the loss, or the amount insured. The list of sufferers by this calamity, we regret to add, must be increased by inserting the name of Mr. Bentley, mast maker, which we find we have inadvertently omitted. Mr. B's workshop, with its contents, being amongst those which fell a prey to the flames. —Guardian.

Dreadful Mortality and Sickness on board the Vesuvius—H. M. steamer Vesuvius, arrived from Vera Cruz, on Friday night, having on board a mortal fever, which occasioned the death of one Midshipman and 9 of the crew, on the passage, and 39 are at present ill with it. She went round to Melville Island on Saturday morning, to remain in quarantine, until the fever disappears, and those suffering are restored to health.

REMARKABLE SPEED ON THE OCEAN.—During the passage last homeward of the Great Britain from New York to Liverpool, it was ascertained by accurate nautical observation made on Saturday, June 13th, that this leviathan, propelled by the screw, actually ran no less than 330 knots in the course of 24 hours, producing an average rate of going throughout the day, of nearly sixteen statute miles per hour, a speed never before equalled on the ocean by any paddle wheeled steamer, or by any sailing vessel whatever. Such a velocity, had it continued throughout the voyage undiminished, would have brought her across from New York to England in eight days and a half.

POPULATION.—The estimated population in England and Wales in 1836 was 14,906,000; the number of commitments 20,984; the proportions of the commitments to the population, 1 in 710; and the increase in three years (1836 to 1839) was 59 per cent. In 1845 the estimated population was 16,796,000; the number of commitments, 24,303; the proportion of commitments to the population, 1 in 691; and the decrease in three years (1842 to 1845,) 6 7 per cent.

The man Brady, tried for the murder of O'Rorke, has been acquitted, and that in the face of evidence that would have hanged him a dozen times over had he been tried before an English jury. There is evidently something horribly rotten in our judicial system, and until it is thoroughly reformed and means adopted by which more intelligent juries can be procured, there will be no chance of getting justice in this section of the Province. In Upper Canada things are managed better, and rogues get what they deserve. It is our intention to publish the whole of the evidence given on the trial, in our next publication, if possible.—Montreal Courier.

PRINCE EDWARDS ISLAND, AUGUST 11.—On Tuesday night last this Island was visited with one of the most terrific thunder and lightning storms, accompanied with heavy rain, that we ever remember to have experienced. It commenced about 11 o'clock at night, and continued until day light the next morning. We have not as yet heard of any damage being done, with the exception of a horse belonging to Mr. Bryanton, Brackley Point Road, having been killed by the lightning, and setting fire to the fence. The horse when struck was about ten feet from the fence, and the electric fluid which struck the horse on the shoulder, and singed the hair all down his leg, passed to the fence, and set it on fire.—Gazette.

AUGUST 18.—We regret to have to record this week, the melancholy death of two individuals, by drowning, on Monday night last, the 10th inst., at nine o'clock, at Grand River, Lot 16. The particulars are as follow:—

A few days previous to the accident, a new Brig was launched, called the Arion, and on Monday night, the owner, Mr. John Malcolm, together with three other persons, went off in a boat for the purpose of weighing a kedge anchor—it blowing fresh at the time—and just as they had nearly accomplished their object, the boat upset, and, melancholy to relate, Mr John Malcolm, the owner, and a Frenchman, were drowned. Mr. Malcolm who was an expert swimmer, called out to the men to make for the shore, about 100 yards distant, and it is supposed that he was either endeavouring to save the Frenchman, and got entangled with him, or else took the cramp, which he was subject to and the result was as we have before stated.—ib.

"The Church,—the Pillar and Ground of the Truth."—The New Episcopal Church at Manawagonish, Parish of Lancaster, will be opened for public Worship, on Sunday 30th inst., at 11, a. m. The Rev. Mr. HARRISON, Rector of Portland, at the request of the People, conveyed through their Pastor, has kindly consented to occupy the pulpit on the occasion. The seats in this building are all free. There will be a Collection taken up at the time appointed by the Rubric, which will be appropriated to the liquidation of the debt still remaining on the building. As many of the friends of the Church of England, in Saint John and Carleton and all others, as can conveniently leave their own churches, are respectfully invited to attend, and earnestly solicited to contribute of their "Lord's Money" according to the full intention of Tobit iv. 7
