The Candle Fish.—This is one of the most curious members of the finny tribe. It is caught on the coasts of British Columbia, where it is extremely common, and proves very useful to the natives. Some idea of its marvellous fatness may be gleaned from the fact that the natives use it as a lamp, the light given being very considerable. The fish, when dried, has a piece of rush, pith, or a stripe from the inner bark of the cypress tree, drawn through it, a long, round needle, made of hard wood, being used for the purpose: it is then lighted, and burns steadily till consumed. Any one can read comfortably by its light.

Fires.—A fire occured in the village of Caledonia about six o'clock on Thursday evening 6th inst, by which the barn of Dr. Macpherson was entirely consumed, the barn at the time of the fire had in it a sulky, a cutter and a quantity of hay, all of which were destroyed. The building was insured for $400. On Thursday evening, at the Village of Middleport, the fine dwelling house belonging to Mrs. Hogan, with many articles of furniture, was destroyed by fire. By the efforts of the neighbors, the barn which contained a large quantity of hay, was saved. The fire originated from a stove-pipe in the back kitchen. Mrs. Hogan's loss is estimated at $1,000, and we regret to learn that no part of it is covered by insurance.—[Spectator.

A Woman's Voice.—A young woman, gentleman, said a swaggering Canadian, in an argument, 'the voice of woman, no matter how much some of you may feel inclined to sneer at the sentiment, exercises a soothing, an inspiring a hallowing influence upon the ear of man; comforts him in affliction, encourages him in dismay, and banishes from his mind all those troubles which, when she is absent conspire to sink him into the depths of despondency.' 'Tom! you rascal!' exclaim d his wife, at this instant, bursting into the room, 'come home, you loitering, scamp, and leave those worthless fellows to themselves. Oh! when I get you at home, won't you catch it!'

Grain Passing Detroit.—Since the opening of navigation we find recorded in the Marine Register the names of eight hundred and ten vessels which have passed Detroit with cargoes of grain, the average of which may be safely estimated at 10,000 bushels per vessel. As many have passed down during the night, the names of which never came to hand, the whole number, if on the record, would easily place the total number at one thousand. The season has been for some time past unusually slack, owing to quite a number having laid up for a period varying from twenty to thirty days. Taking the number passing as last noted, which we consider a low estimate, the total quantity, as will be seen, amounts to 16,000,000 bushels.—[Free Press.

Fruit Trees.

Never prop up a tree loaded with fruit to prevent the branches from breaking down.—Any branch or two which requires prop, has more fruit than it ought to carry, either for the good of the tree or the good of the fruit. The first thing to do is to remove the smaller poor, or knotty specimens. If this be done before the growth has ceased, and sometimes after the ripening has commenced, the improvement of the remaining portion will more than compensate for the reduction in number. In those regions where the peach bears only occasionally, the owners attempt to get all they can by allowing an over-abundant crop to remain. They will get quite as many bushels by removing one half or two thirds, and obtain an immense superiority in flavor. Many cultivators have observed that the last ripening peaches on a tree are incomparably better than the first—merely because they are not crowded. How much better would they be by removing the crowding portion before ripening. If you wish to have good, healthy uniformly growing trees, not destroyed by premature age, do not let them overbear.—[Exchange.

Leslie's Tricks on the Rope.

An account of Leslie's last performance says:—The first crossing was made in 5 min. and 19 sec. The second, after receiving the congratulations of his Canadian friends who seemed delighted that an American was successfully contesting the palm with Blondin, and partaking of some proffered refreshments, was made on the full run in 4 min. After a short respite, Leslie again made his appearance in woman's garb, nightcap, petticoats, &c., and for about fifteen minutes astonished the audience by enacting, on the main rope, a drunken scene, staggering, reeling, &c., with a perfect recklessness of life or limb. He wound up his foolhardy, exploits by running out on one of the guy-ropes, without pole or balance, and throwing himself at full length on his back. This, it was admitted surpassed any venture some feat ever performed by Blondin. Leslie seems animated with the spirit that our country shall excel in everything, even to a fool-hardy risk of life,

A Difficult Case.

A correspondent of the Drawer is involved in domestic perplexities. He writes: I got acquainted with a young widow who lives with her step daughter in the same house. I married the widow; my father shortly after fell in love with the step-daughter of my wife and married her. My wife became the mother-in-law and also the daughter-in-law of my own father; my wife's step-daughter is my step mother, and I am the step father of my mother-in-law. My step mother, who is the step daughter of my wife, has a boy, he is naturally my step-brother, because, he is the son of my father and of my step-mother; but because he is the son of my wife's step-daughter so is my wife the grand-mother of the little boy, and I am the grand-father of my step brother. My wife has also a boy; my step mother is consequently the step-sister of my boy, and is also his grandmother, because he is the child of her step son; and my father is the brother-in-law of my son, because he has got his step-sister for a wife. I am the brother of my own son, who is the son of my step-mother; I am the brother-in-law of my mother, my wife is my own grandmother, my son is the grandson of my father, and I am my own grandfather.—[Harper's Magazine.

Important to Magistrates.

By a recent decision in the court of Queen's Bench to Toronto, in the case of Henderson vs. Downswell, tried at the last Spring Assizes in this Town, it is decided that under 6 Vic. Cap. 3. Sec. 3, (Cap. 100 Con. Stat.) all Justices of the Peace when appointed, must take the oath of qualification before some Justice of the Peace for the District or County for which he intended to act. Every person acting as a Justice of the Peace, without having taken the prescribed oath before some other Justice, is liable to a penalty of $100 for every act he performs as a Justice of the Peace. The Act 6 Vic. were passed twenty-two years ago, and consequently applies to all Justices appointed since that time. We understand that all, or nearly all, the Justices of the Peace in these Counties, have taken the oath of qualification before the Clerk of the Peace, who administered the same under a Dedimus Potestatem, but this has been decided by the Court of Queen's Bench in Toronto, as not sufficient under the Statue, and all Magistrates who have been sworn in by the Clerk of the Peace during the last twenty two years are just no Magistrates at all. His Honor Judge Malloch, the Hon. R. Matheson, and the Hon. Jas. Shaw, are Justices of the Peace by Statute, and we believe are the only parties in these Counties qualified to administer the oath to other Justices; and we would recommend all those who have taken the oath before the Clerk of the Peace to apply to one or the of these gentlemen and get properly sworn in without delay. Of course, when one man is properly sworn in he can administer the oath to others, and so on. The Reeves and Deputy Reeves are ex officio Justices of the Peace, but whether they are qualified to administer the oath to Justices appointed by the Governor General, is a question not yet decided; and it would hardly be safe for appointed Justices of the Peace to run any risk with a $100 penalty hanging over their heads.—Under the recent decision, Magistrates in these Counties are rather a scarce article at present.—[Perth Courier.

TAILORING

D. ADAMS,

RETURNS HIS MOST SINCERE THANKS for the very flattering encouragement he has received since he commenced business in Goderich, not being able to execute more than one-half of the orders brought to him last season; having now secured facilities for

Carrying on Business Extensively

and employing none but first-class tradesmen; And as D. A. believes his experience as Cutter is second to none in the Province, having carried on business extensively and successfully in Hamilton, principally first-class customers, and having been Cutter in one of the Principal Establishments in Edinburgh, Scotland, he fearlessly states to a discerning public that at his establishment equal to the best Establishment in Toronto or Montreal.

CLOTHING CAN BE MADE
