NINTH YEAR. TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 21, 1888. PRICE ONE CENT

QUEBEC'S CONVERSION ACT.

AN EXPLICIT STATEMENT BY PREMIER MERCIER.

He Declares that the Government Will Renounce the Scheme if it Cannot be Carried Through With the Consent of the Bondholders.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—In reply to enquiries made by Hanson Bros., financial agents of this city, at the request of their London agents regarding the Conversion measure of the Quebec Government, Hon. Mr. Mercier has sent this reply:

"QUEBEC, Aug. 18, 1888.—Your letter of yesterday received with copies of cables exchanged between you and your London agents, and in answer I am authorized to state that the position which you have taken in your cable of Aug. 16 is correct and you may declare positively that the Government will renounce its conversion scheme if it cannot be carried through. When the measure was introduced in the Legislative Assembly the treasurer and myself made virtually the same declaration and on July 12 when the second reading of the measure was under discussion in the Legislative Council Hon. Mr. Starnes, one of the leaders of the Opposition, submitted in writing the following question to the Government.

"'I am opposed to compulsory conversion and before giving a final decision I desire to know whether the Government intends, yes or no, to make such conversion in spite of the bondholders' consent.'

"After consultation with me and other members of the Government, our colleague, Hon. Mr. Garneau, leader of the Legislative Council, made in writing in the name of the Government the following official declaration in answer to Mr. Starne's question:

"'I am authorized to answer 'no' and to state that the Government will abandon the conversion scheme if it cannot be carried through with the consent of the bondholders.'

"After this Ministerial declaration Hon. Messrs. Starnes and Champagne, two opponents of the Government, being satisfied with this engagement, voted for the measure, which was carried. The Government considers itself pledged by that declaration, which as far as it may be necessary I hereby ratify in the name of the Government, and I declare again that my Government will abandon the conversion scheme if it cannot be carried through with the consent of the bondholders. Of course speaking of having the law vetoed or withdrawn is purely ridiculous, as the law is perfectly constitutional and necessary to make a voluntary conversion possible.

"In conclusion I may add that we are much surprised to see that some first-class business men in London should have been led astray by our political opponents here, and this is all the more surprise as other first-class business firms in England, France and Canada have already proposed to us to undertake such conversion.

"Yours truly,
"HONORE MERCIER,
"Prime Minister."

Thereupon Messrs. Hanson sent the following cable to their London agents:

"MONTREAL, Aug. 16, 1888.—Much more than facts justify is being made out of the Quebec Government's conversion scheme. Before passing the Act the Upper House demanded and received from the Government positive written pledges not to force redemption but to leave it to the voluntary consent of the holders."

FISHERMAN'S LUCK.

Good Catches of Mackerel on the Nova Scotia Coast—Prices Ruling High.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—Hon. C. H. Tupper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has returned from his trip to the Maritime Provinces during which he visited portions of the fishery grounds and inspected the fisheries protection service. He expresses himself well satisfied both with the manner the officers are performing their duties and with the manner in which American fishermen are complying with the modus vivendi. The fishing in the gulf so far this season has not been up to the average but on the outer Nova Scotia coast the catches have been very good, 200, 300 and 500 barrel fares of Mackerel being common. The quality of the fish this year has been exceptionally good and as the prices which have been ruling in Boston, $18 to $20 per barrel for number one, the profit of the season will be excellent.

The Minister also investigated the sawdust question as tending to the destruction of fish in the river in Cumberland and other counties, and as a result it is understood that what is known as the Sawdust Act passed about sixteen years ago, but which has been practically a dead letter on the statute book, will be more rigidly enforced in future. Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works, will lay the corner stone of the new postoffice at Aylmer on Sept. 1, when there will be a grand picnic, after which Sir Hector will inspect the site of the proposed new interprovincial bridge above Deschene Rapids. On Sept. 3 he will leave for Cayuga, where he will lay the corner stone of the new postoffice, on the following day.

This afternoon Sir Adolphe Caron authorized the statement that no increase of militia force was contemplated. When asked if he could state when the Defence Committee would meet, he said: "No; I am awaiting instructions from England. Until we get word from them we can't move. The British and Canadian Governments are to move jointly in the matter."

Hon. John Carling, Minister of Agriculture, has been sticking very close to work this summer and devoting a good deal of time to the experimental farm. So far he has had no holidays, but expects to attend a number of fall fairs.

Collingwood Schreiber is expected to return on Friday from British Columbia, where he has been engaged on the Onderdonk Contract Commission.

The Public Works Department will receive tenders for elevators for the new Departmental Building here up to Oct. 17.

A BIG BLAZE AT ST. JOHN, N.B.

Fire Breaks Out in a Dry House, and $40,000 Goes Up in Smoke.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 20.—The worst disaster in the shape of fire that this city has experienced since the memorable fire of 1877 occurred this afternoon about 2 o'clock. Fire was discovered in the dry house of A. Christie & Co.'s Wood Working Company on Waterloo-street. The shed where the fire started was in the rear of the main building. It was composed of wood and was like a tinder box. Before the firemen could get the apparatus properly at work the fire was roaring like a furnace and taken complete possession of the main building of the factory. The entire building which covered a large area was burned to the ground. Wm. Farren's three-storey wooden dwelling house was destroyed, also the three-storey building owned by the Dooley estate, and the four-storey wooden building owned by Mrs. Dugan. The Dockrill block, in which is the hall proposed to be turned into an opera house, also caught fire and the block was badly damaged before the fire was subdued.

There was a high wind at the time, but the St. John and Portland firemen, assisted by the citizens, worked shoulder to shoulder and prevented the fire from getting into the adjoining blocks. Several times the flames leaped across Union, Waterloo and Peter-streets, but before they could get a foothold they were subdued.

The losses and insurances are: A. Christie & Co., loss $20,000, principally machinery, insured for $1,500 in Commercial Union; Wm. Farren, dwelling, $3000, insurance $1000; City of London, $1000 Quebec; Scott Bros., grocers, $1500 insurance, $1000 in Citizens; A. & S. L. Garbell, picture frames and fancy goods, $3000, insurance $1000 in City of London; Dabuy & Walsh, safe makers, $400, no insurance. There are several others whose loss ranges from $100 up to $200, the aggregate being placed at $40,000.

SENATORS STILL SPEAKING.

But the Fisheries Debate Will Close at Noon To-Day.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Fisheries Treaty was up in the Senate again to-day. After Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) had spoken for two hours in support of the treaty he yielded the floor, in accordance with the agreement of Friday, so that the opponents of the treaty might present their views up to 4 o'clock, the two hours up to 6 being reserved for its friends.

Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) said he had already stated briefly and with care the opinion which he entertained and which the fishermen of Massachusetts entertained in reference to the effect of the proposed treaty on their interest. Nothing which he had heard from Senators on the other side had changed his convictions or made it necessary for him to add to or modify the argument which he had made. He took the floor at this time only to call attention to three or four catch words by which the friends of the treaty sought to fasten on its opponents views which they had never entertained and which they had constantly repudiated. One of these was that there was a proposition for retaliation on the Republican side. Another was that somebody had said that the time for negotiations had passed—in any such sense as the Senator from Alabama had put upon it. Another was that the grievance of which American fishermen complained could not occur again if the treaty were ratified. What the opponents of the treaty proposed to say to Canada was this: We do not desire to interfere with your discretion as to the degree or measure of hospitality, but that measure must be equal in the ports of both countries and as somebody must initiate the rule in the first place the opportunity and prerogative would be conceded to Canada. If Canada said it was not fitting that American fishermen should go into her ports with a catch of fish to be transhipped to the United States then no Canadian vessels should come into a port of the United States with a catch of fish which it proposed to sell. He did not understand that was retaliation. He supposed there was not a Republican senator who was not willing to have the claims of American fishermen for damages admitted to negotiation for arbitration.

Mr. Payne, (Dem., O.) enquired whether Mr. Hoar forced the motion submitted by Mr. Gibson (Dem., La.) looking to arbitration.

Mr. Hoar replied that he had not examined the motion enough to wish to be directed from what he was saying. He did not propose, however, to enter on a question of international arbitration until he was satisfied that it would be entered into on the other side in the same spirit in which the United States entered into it. He did not propose to put this country again to the risk of a Halifax award or of a judgment by Mr. Defosse.

Mr. Evarts (Rep., N. Y.) said it could not be important for him to restate or rearguе the positions which he had taken when he addressed the Senate in opposition to the treaty. He had reached a stage in his observations when he should take up the articles in detail, not perhaps with much precision but to express a general and peremptory condemnation of them.

Mr. Blair, (Rep. N.H.) asked Mr. Evarts in connection with the first article whether, as it was substantially an agreement that the Treaty of 1818 was thereby construed, it was not an abandonment of all American claims for damages and an admission that there was no ground for such claim.

Mr. Evarts: "Undoubtedly, if with our eyes open we sign such an article." Mr. Evarts went on to discuss each of the articles briefly.

At 4 o'clock the presiding officer, Mr. Morris, called attention to the agreement under which the last two hours were to be given to the friends of the treaty but as Mr. Evarts had not completed his argument it was agreed that he should continue it and that as much time as he should occupy after 4 o'clock would be allowed to the other side to-morrow in addition to the two closing hours. Mr. Evarts then resumed his argument against the treaty and closed by saying that if the treaty were rejected, as it would be, its rejection would be an opening to quiet and repose.

Mr. Gray (Dem., Del.) said in reference to to-day's speeches against the treaty that he felt like the old Scotch lady who was asked by her minister whether she had understood his sermon in which she seemed so much interested. He (Gray) had not the presumption to suppose that he understood the speech of the Senator for New York, but he had understood him to say distinctly and categorically that his objection to the treaty was that the eleventh and twelfth articles proposed to give to English and Canadian fishermen complete, full and absolute rights of fishing along the Atlantic coast from Eastport to the most southern point of Florida. He (Gray) proceeded to argue against such interpretation of the articles. He feared there were some Senators figuring largely in the debate who were like the men of Ghent in the old song who trod on the tail of the lion of Flanders and when the lion growled at the gates of Ghent

"They banded low when they saw him awake
And said they had trod on his tail by mistake."

Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) closed the discussion in favor of ratification.

What William Said.

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—A semi-official report of the speech of the Emperor at the headquarters of the first infantry guard on Saturday says: The Emperor expressed pleasure at seeing the regiment. The anniversary of the battles of St. Privat-la-Montagne which led to the eventual triumph of Germany was, he said, of importance for the whole army. It was a day for thinking of the many who were now no more. His Majesty said he was convinced that should the regiment's time come again it would not be behind its achievements of that day eighteen years ago. The speech was received with enthusiastic cheers.

TALL TEMPERANCE TALK.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE DEPUTATIONS ATTEND PARKDALE COUNCIL

A Squabble Amongst the Councillors—Their Elegant Language and Unfailing Courtesy—Total Abstinence Declared Anti-Christian—The Question of Shop Licenses.

The meeting of the Parkdale Council, held last night, was of the lively character which usually makes the proceedings highly interesting. There were present: Mayor Lund (in the chair), Reeves Goodman and Terry, Deputy-reeve Gowanlock; and Councillors Babe, Bateson, Edwards, Gander, Hewish, Miles, Sinclair, Tait, Threlkeld, and Willoughby. After a four week's vacation it was naturally expected that there would be an unusually large amount of business to dispose of, and it was known for a fact that the question of rescinding a by-law prohibiting the issue of shop licenses for the sale of liquor would be brought up for discussion. Consequently the Council chamber was crowded by anxious and curious Parkdalians, and among those who attended the meeting was a deputation consisting of a dozen ladies who represented the Parkdale Women's Christian Temperance Union.

A communication from the Provincial Secretary notified the Corporation that he had received a petition from the City of Toronto praying for the annexation of the Parkdale water lots to the city. The letter was filed.

The Council then went into Committee of the Whole, Councillor Tait in the chair, to consider reports of the various committees. The Board of Works recommended that Wm. Cawthra be awarded the contract for block-paving Frederick, Garden and Cherry-avenues at 69c. per yard for paving and 14c. for kerbing. On motion of Councillor Sinclair the work on Cherry-avenue was awarded to Mr. D. L. Van Vlack, the tender being for the same amount as that of Mr. Cawthra. This motion created a great deal of discussion, the voices of Councillor Miles being frequently heard as usual.

The Chairman called attention to the presence of the deputation from the Parkdale Women's Christian Temperance Union, and said that some of its members desired to address the meeting on the subject of Mr. John Emeler's letter. In this letter the writer stated that the License Commissioners had refused to renew his shop license for the present year. They had said, however, that if the resolution of Messrs. Cochead & Stewart passed last year, was rescinded, they would grant the license. Therefore, Mr. Emeler asked the Council to reconsider the resolution which requested the Commissioners not to issue any shop licenses in the municipality.

The Council having intimated its willingness to be addressed Mrs. Rich, McDonald became the spokeswoman of the deputation. She stated that the W. C. T. U. desired to protest against any interference with the license system then prevailing in Parkdale.

Mr. Buchanan, representing the Royal Templars, protested, in the name of the society, against the issue of a shop license for the sale of liquor in Parkdale.

Mr. Munro, representing the Good Templars of Parkdale, also protested against any interference with the existing license system. Some members of the Council, he said, were trying to bring about the rescinding of the Cochead-Stewart resolution, so that shop licenses would again be issued.

Deputy Reeve Gowanlock: "Give us the names of those Councillors you refer to."

Mr. Munro: "Mr. Gowanlock is one."

Mr. Gowanlock: "I desire to give an unqualified denial to that statement."

The Mayor: "There is some misapprehension. The Council has not the power to interfere with the License Commissioners."

Mr. Munro believed that the council could give the Commissioners to understand that the granting of a shop license would not meet with no opposition from it. Mr. Euisler had no claim upon the Commissioners. He was a violator of the by-law, and had been fined by the Police Magistrate. He had been granted a three months' permit but continued to sell off his stock of liquor he had bought on an almost the last moment. He had sold illegally and sold to minors. He (the speaker) wanted to see every liquor shop closed, and he believed that if a vote was taken he would be seen that a majority in Parkdale felt the same way.

Mr. Gowanlock announced that a representative of the Liberal Temperance Union was present in the person of Mr. Robert Gilray.

Mr. Gowanlock responded by stating generally that Mr. Miles was undoubtedly a gentleman but that he was not responsible for what he said.

Mr. Miles retorted that he was always sober and that Mr. Gowanlock could not say as much.

Mr. Gowanlock was just as indignant as the presence of ladies would allow him to be. He tried to answer but his rage prevented his utterances from being distinct. He was heard to say, however, that he was sorry to see a representative of total abstinence (Mr. Munro) applaud a brutal insult. To such men a human soul was as nothing. He left his character in the hands of the electors who had given him the largest vote ever polled in Parkdale and not to such a man (Mr. Miles) as at opposite to him.

Mr Miles: "I beat you in St. Mark's. It was mean and contemptible of you to call Terry a liar."

Reeve Goodman thought that temperance was the grandest institution in the world. Himself, his father and his grandfather were temperance men. For 14 years he had never passed a tavern. [Loud and prolonged laughter.] He meant to say he had never entered a tavern for 14 years.

It was moved by Reeve Terry that Mr. Emeler's letter be filed.

Councillor Bateson could not see what good could be effected by cutting off all shop licenses and granting two new hotel licenses. He moved in amendment that the resolution be received.

Mr. Gowanlock asserted that all anyone had to do was to go into the Tea Company's store, opposite Dunn-avenue and he would get all the "stuff" he wanted.

The discussion was prolonged for a little while longer, but finally Mr. Bateson's amendment was put to the meeting. It was declared lost, Messrs. Bateson and Gowanlock alone voting for it. Reeve Terry's motion was then put and carried.

Some unimportant business was afterwards transacted, but not until Councillor Miles had been several times called to order by the Mayor.

Councillor Miles, with a suspicious air, asked who were the officers of this association, and why it was formed.

Mr. Gilray said it had been in existence since the passage of the Scott Act, and that its chief officers were Mr. Goldwin Smith, President, and Mr. Gordon Mowat, Vice-President. He (Gilray) was a temperance man, but he was not a total abstainer. The total abstainers said that liquor was not good for him, that consequently it was not good for anyone else, and that he would not let anybody have it. Statistics proved that the total abstainer was not as healthy a man as the moderate drinker. Total abstinence was anti-Christian, as could be shown all through the Bible from the 1st chapter of Genesis to the last in Revelation. God had never said "remove temptation," but bade his creatures appeal to Him for strength to resist. He (Gilray) knew of advocates of total abstinence whose advocacy of the principle was merely an advertisement for their business.

Cries of "name," "name."

Mr. Gilray: "Mr. Munns." [Hisses and applause.]

Some further discussion took place, Mr. Gowanlock taking a prominent part in the debate.

Councillor Miles, with the politeness for which he is distinguished, informed Mr. Gowanlock that he never believed any statement made by him.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Living with a Broken Back—Toronto Youths in Trouble in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 20.—Several weeks ago The World mentioned the remarkable case of Pat Mulligan, a recent arrival from Ireland, who fell off the elevator at Bayview and dislocated his spine last June. Mulligan shows no signs of dying as yet and is as well as when brought to the hospital. His body is paralyzed from the waist down and devoid of feeling but he keeps strong and believes himself that he will recover although the physicians say that is impossible.

Mark Simpson, a respectable-looking young fellow from London, was jailed yesterday afternoon for walking off the Pacific express with a fan belonging to the news agent. Simpson claims that he purchased the fan for 25 cents.

The little child, Lilie Parker, who was crushed on Friday morning by a boiler casing falling on her while she was playing in rear of Gartshore's foundry, was better yesterday, and the doctors think she will recover.

Stephen Clarkson of Ancaster, who was committed for trial some days ago on a charge of stealing a quantity of silverware, was arraigned before Judge Sinclair this afternoon. He pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by the Judge. Trial was set for next Friday.

Mr. W. Towell of Toronto, had one of his shoulders dislocated through falling when competing in the sack race at Dundurn Park on Saturday afternoon.

Two Toronto youths, W. J. Robertson and M. Heeky, were arrested by Constable Campaign on Saturday afternoon, at the corner of King and James-streets, for furious driving. They were each fined $4.

Nothing has yet been heard of the missing boy, Alex. Gibson, whose disappearance was reported to the police on Thursday. He is the 16-year-old son of Conductor Gibson, 143 Robert-street. On Thursday he had eight teeth extracted, and it is thought that the operation has affected his brain.

BRATHER WITH A BLACK-SNAKE.

A 14-year-old Lad's Story of His Cruel Treatment near St. Catharines.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A 14-year-old boy named Joseph O'Brien walked into the Charles-street police station last night and asked for a night's lodging. He told the sergeant that his parents died in Liverpool when he was seven years old. He was then placed in the Kirk-dell Orphan Asylum in Liverpool. Soon afterwards the authorities shipped him and fifty others to St. Catharines, Ont. All were put in an asylum there, and afterwards bound out to farmers. He went out to work for a man named Neeson as a cow herder and milker. The lad related a story of fiendish cruelty experienced by him at the hands of Neeson, and his wife. He remained with them three years, and he frequently his entire body was covered with sores, the results of welts made by a black-snake whip. Eventually two lumbermen interfered and placed him in a hospital. When he left that institution he worked for another farmer. When he had earned $32 he asked for it, but was chased off the farm without a cent. He eventually reached Rochester, where he worked until yesterday. He had $18.50 coming to him, and intends to sail at once for home to see a dying sister, his only relative. In Jefferson Market Police Court to-day the boy repeated his story to Justice Patterson. He will sail for home to-morrow, and in the meantime will be well provided for.

FRANCE KEEPS COOL

But Apparently Does Not Relish William's Recent Remarks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Herald's Paris correspondent says: The defiant shouts of the young German Emperor at Frankfort find no answering echo on this side of the Vosges. The moss-ite Kaiser swells his boyish voice and bluster in more reserved and guarded grow the French. The experience of the last two years has taught them the wisdom of meeting the calculated menaces of the enemies with coolness. They know their policy at present is to play a waiting game and show no inclination to be drawn into a quarrel. Most of the Paris papers content themselves with publishing the Frankfort speech with little or no comment.

The National says: "Our duty is to answer this violent language by coolness, but we must warn this younger prince that a countryman of our own once said: "Not one ounce of our soil nor one stone of our fortress." As it happened his hope and trust were dissipated.

The Journal remarks: "Here we have a short haughty defiance of a despot replying 'never' to those who dare even to speak of historic necessity or equitable contests."

The Intransigeant, usually so intemperate, only says: "This clearly means that conciliation is out of the question. Now, more than ever, we must watch and get ready."

La Liberte: "The imperial declarations are those of all conquerors; but who knows what unforeseen things may come if circumstances and chance arise. No suppression of the irritating speech in the Reichsanzieger is attributed to Bismarck. The chancellor seems likely to have his work cut out for him in restraining the impetuosity of this school boy sovereign."

I came in to pay for the half-dozen shirts that you sent home on Saturday. I must say they fit admirably, which is more than I can say for some who call themselves shirtmakers. We get these congratulations offered to us often that we are getting used to it. We can only account for it by our giving the orders our personal attention, supplying the best material and charging only $11.50 the ½ doz.—A. White, 65 King-st. W.

Much Elected Boulanger.

PARIS, Aug. 20.—Gen. Boulanger was elected to the Chamber of Deputies yesterday from three departments besides Somme, where he received a majority of 34,723 votes. He was successful in Charente and the Nord, receiving in the former a majority of 15,060, and in the latter a majority of 3,585. At Amiens, the capital of the department of the Somme, there was rioting at the polling places during the whole day. The disturbances continued until midnight, when the military were called out and were compelled to charge the people at the point of the bayonet in order to clear the streets. Similar scenes were witnessed at Lille, the capital of the department of Nord, and fourteen arrests were made.

The Republican papers declare that Gen. Boulanger's success in the elections was caused by the Reactionists, who lacked the courage to advance candidates of their own. The Republique Francaise holds the Intransigeant, M. Rochefort's paper, and the Radicals responsible for the result of the elections. The Conservative journals state that the vote which elected Boulanger was directed against the republic.

Eldorado.

Gally by night a gallant knight
In sunshine and in shadow,
Journeyed along singing a song
In search of Eldorado;

So wrote Edgar Allan Poe. This gallant knight might not have discovered the coveted Eldorado, but had he gone to P. P.'Beaty's, the great St. Lawrence market grocer, he would have found the largest, best assorted and cheapest stock of groceries in Toronto. 246

Sudden Death at Paris.

He was an implement agent for Harris & Son, of Brantford.

AN OFFENDED ALDERMAN.

THE COURTESIES EXCHANGED BY TWO CIVIC FATHERS.

Last Night's Council Meeting—The Amenities of Debate—The Re-organization Scheme Carries by a Majority of Two.

There were present at last night's Council meeting the Mayor, Ald. Carlyle (St. Thomas'), Maughan, Carlyle (St. Andrew's), Harvie, Baxter, Jones, Johnston, McMillan, Piper, Dodds, Shaw, Hill, Pells, Gibbs, Gilbert, Gillespie, Morrison, Macdonald, Verral, Barton, Hallam, Denison, Bell.

When the report of the Executive Committee was brought up, the Council went into Committee of the Whole with Ald. Bell in the chair. The first point to raise a breeze was the question of the re-organization of the Works Department on the basis proposed by the special committee appointed for that purpose.

Ald. Carlyle (St. Andrew's), led the attack on the scheme. He characterized the report, as presented, an outrage. The whole department needed a change and half of the present officeholders to be removed. The Assistant City Engineer was no assistance to the Engineer. There was something radically wrong with the proposed reorganization when it did not go further. "Look," he said, "at Detroit with 210,000 more inhabitants than Toronto, and its Works Department costs less than Toronto's by $10,000 a year."

Ald. Gillespie followed on the same line. He thought it wrong to interefere with the Works Department until the County Judge had handed in his report on the Works Investigation. "When we get through with that" concluded the alderman, "there will be lots of vacancies in the department, and the members of the Council will then see that no partial re-organization scheme will be necessary."

Ald. Baxter for once fought on the same lines as Ald. Gillespie, but did not neglect the opportunity of getting a blow in at the enemy from St. George's. He told a story that when the Aldermen were striking the committees for the year, the member for St. George's came to him and begged him to use his influence to secure him a chairmanship, or, failing that, a directorship on the railroad. He was told him I had no influence that way," said Ald. Baxter, "and ever since the poor fellow has had his knife in for me." The Alderman then attacked the local improvement system, and complained bitterly that it was next to impossible to get any sidewalks laid down.

Ald. Maughan: "And sometimes you do not keep to them."

Ald. Shaw went on in a flowery speech in support of the reorganization scheme.

Ald. Gillespie followed, and referring to Ald. Baxter's little story, said he had had his joke.

The discussion went on smoothly enough, Ald. Jones and Hallam speaking for and against the scheme respectively. Matters were pretty lively, however, when Ald. McMillan got up to speak. He favored the scheme and went for Ald Carlyle (St. Andrew's) without gloves. He characterized the statements of that member as perfect in the press as untruthful, false and misleading. It was evident that the worthy Alderman had been packed. He did not know whether Ald. Carlyle had been wined and feted in Detroit, but there was no doubt that he had been filled with a lot of false statements.

Ald Carlyle: "I rise to a point of order. It is not right that Ald. McMillan should question my remarks without bringing proof that they are false."

Ald. McMillan: "I claim the right to question Ald. Carlyle's remarks as I think fit. I say again that his statements as published in the papers were untruthful."

Ald. Carlyle: "I look upon Ald. McMillan's conduct as contemptible. I have a character to sustain and he has no right to accuse me of giving false information."

Ald. McMillan: "I had no intention to make my remarks personal."

Ald. Carlyle: "You had."

Ald. McMillan: "Well, if you want to take it that way you can. All the aldermen present except Ald. Carlyle of St. Andrew's and know what I mean when I say that your remarks are untruthful."

The discussion continued for some time, Ald. McMillan having the floor. When he concluded, up jumped Ald. Carlyle of St. Andrew's once more. He said he was sorry to see the change in Ald. McMillan. He is not the man of independence he was twelve months ago. He has sold his independence. Why, this very night he is riding two horses.

Ald. Verral moved that the report be referred again to the Board of Works. The whole fight was really one against the appointment of the Street Commissioner and the decapitation of the wood foremen. Finally, after another half hour's sweety combat, the whole report of the reorganization Committee was referred back to the committee on a close vote.

The Executive Committee's report passed through Committee of the Whole with the exception of the re-organization scheme, which got amendment. When the committee rose and the Mayor took the chair, Ald. Jones moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Shaw, that the report of the sub-committee in reference to the reorganization of the Board of Works Department be re-inserted. The vote was taken and the amendment was carried on the following division: Yeas—the Mayor, Carlyle (St. Thomas'), Dodds, Gibbs, Hallam, Hewitt, Jones, Macdougall, McMillan, Pells, Piper, Shaw, 12.

Nays—Barton, Bell, Carlyle (St. Andrew's), Denison, Gillespie, Harvie, Hill, Johnston, Maughan, Verral, 10. Majority 2.

Ald. Piper, in the name of the Island Aquatic Sports Association, invited the Council to attend the water carnival in aid of the Hospital for Sick Children on Saturday the 25th.

THE ALLEGED MUDDLE

In the Affairs of the Episcopal Corporation—About St. Patrick's.

Very Rev. Father Laurent, Administrator of the Archdiocese of Toronto, was seen by The World yesterday with reference to certain statements which have appeared in various city papers as to the financial affairs of the Episcopal Corporation. "All I have to say," he remarked, "is simply this: There is no diocese on the continent of America in as good financial standing as the Archdiocese of Toronto. With reference to the mortgage on St. Patrick's Church, all I have to say is that when I turned it over to the Redemptorist Fathers I left it entirely out of debt and on a sound financial basis."

Another priest told The World, that there was no truth whatever in statements about there being a mortgage on the church. Anyone who may wish can examine the registry office and see for himself. The World's informant added that he would not be surprised if the Redemptorists were using the mortgage fable as a bugaboo with which to frighten the parishioners of St. Patrick's into contributing more money, and that further the money so contributed does not go to the improvement of the parish, but to the support of the members of the Redemptorist Fathers throughout the province.

Several parishioners of St. Patrick's have told The World that they are about tired of the endless collections which are being taken up in the church. There is scarcely a Sunday but some special demand is being made and people are getting weary of putting their hands in their pockets and giving up without any appreciable result.

Ald. Baxter yesterday fined Wm. Green $5 and costs or 30 days for assaulting Mrs. Hannah Crane. The charge against John McMeekin of embezzling moneys of the Manufacturers' Insurance Company was dismissed as Manager J. B. Carlile withdrew the charge. For swearing on the public street John Parker was fined $2 and costs or 30 days. George Hewson arrested in Toronto on a telegram from Cobourg charging him with horse-stealing, was sent to that town for trial. George McCabe was committed for trial on a charge of theft. William Dorsey, who bears an unenviory reputation, was fined $5 and costs or 30 days for beating the woman with whom he lives. Lydia Allen, arrested at Hamilton on a warrant charging her with having stolen $34 from Jas. Silverwood, was remanded for the 24th inst. Arthur Porter was fined $5 and costs or 30 days for having in his possession a ferocious collie dog, which bit a boy named Fred. Brown about the neck. Two charges of permitting horses to stand loosing and a number of other cases were adjourned.

Modern Sicilians Demolished.

The Stars of Syracuse walked into London town on Saturday with a haughty strut, but the "Cockneys" put a peg in their gaiters and squelched them as effectually as the Saracens did the soldiers of ancient Syracuse. This victory which places our favorites in the lead of London our hearts are thoroughly as the possession of quinn's new shepherd plaid neckwear.

Congregationalism in Canada.

A large audience assembled in Zion Congregational Church, College-street last evening to welcome Rev. W. S. H. Fielden, secretary of the Colonial Missionary Society, of London, Eng., and Rev. Thomas Hall, Local Missionary superintendent, on their return from the North West and British Columbia. Rev. John Burton, B. D., presided.

Mr. Fielden advised the establishment of new mission stations at a point between Port Arthur and Fort William and at Calgary. Having paid a glowing tribute to the resources, achievements and hospitality of Canada, he prophesied that Congregationalism, if properly managed, would enfold the people of the Great Lone Land in a firm and profitable embrace.

Rev. Thomas Hall spoke of the progress Congregationalism had made in the west, of the noble spirit in which their efforts were viewed by missionaries of other denominations, and of the pressing demand for other vigorous workers and the funds necessary to sustain them.

Rev. Wm. Scott, of Hull, Eng., promised on his own behalf to second the efforts of the Rev. Mr. Fielden on his return to England, to arouse a deeper interest in Canada among the clergy of the Mother Island.

THE RYERSON MEMORIAL.

The Statue of the Late Superintendent Nearly Finished.

The statue, which is to be raised to the memory of the Rev. Egerton Ryerson, D. D., in the plaza in front of the Normal School is rapidly approaching completion. The statue is in cast, and is receiving the finishing touches. The pedestal, however, is not likely to be completed this fall, owing to the enormous demands upon the quarries which render it impossible to get the order for suitable blocks of stone filled. The base and crown of the pedestal are of Connecticut brown stone, while the die or centre block will be red granite. These are to be dressed and placed in position by Sculptor Gullett of Queen-street Toronto. Mr. McCarthy, the designer of the statue, leaves shortly for New York to supervise the perfecting of the cast.

The total cost of the statue when in position will amount to about $8000, which has been raised by subscription with the exception of $2000 granted by the Government. Some $400 are urgently needed now to complete the worthy undertaking.

The ceremony of unveiling the statue will take place at as early a date as practicable and leading educationists from all quarters will be present.

Party Leaders Who Defy Good Counsel.

The Monetary Times has already drawn attention to the following words of good counsel, which are credited to Mr. Buchanan, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, as part of what he said in the course of a recent interview at Vancouver, British Columbia: "What we want now is a period of rest and freedom from any anxiety as to any great or revolutionary fiscal changes, so that we may have the opportunity to consolidate and build up the many and diverse industries which have sprung into being under the policy of the present Government. The Canadian Pacific Railway has opened a communication across the Dominion. With a judicious extension of branch roads bringing traffic to the main line, new life will be infused into the whole country, and Canada's prosperity within the next decade be far greater than during any similar period in the past."

It is remarkable that we should have at this very time a combination of party leaders and newspaper managers who appear determined that the country shall not enjoy the rest and quietness which Mr. Buchanan thinks so desirable. The Mail and its crowd of avowed Winnipegers are out with their Commercial Union "fad" full blown. They "make no bones" of saying that the commercial union which they want now means political union by and by. But we scarcely think that the country is seriously disturbed by them, after all.

The case is different, however, with the agitation which is carried on by Mr. Wilfred Laurier, Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. James D. Edgar, and their confreres. These men are the acknowledged leaders of a great party, and the great Globe is their organ. And it is clear that the leaders and their newspaper organ are bent on precisely the thing Mr. Buchanan thinks it particularly desirable we should avoid. Just now Mr. Laurier is making a tour of Ontario, for the purpose of taking counsel with his friends, and speaking to them words of cheer. What may strike even a careless observer, in connection with his and Sir Richard's speeches, is—the the exceptional prominence given to the agitators for Reciprocity with the United States. The time was when Reform leaders, laying themselves out to move the country, did so with questions which really stirred men's souls, though still without creating alarm in business circles. Something very different is what we see now. The efforts of our present agitators are all towards creating the impression that a commercial revolution is at hand, and that everything is about to be turned upside down. But perhaps we are exaggerating. Well, The Montreal Herald, a friendly critic, says of Mr. Laurier's and Sir Richard's speeches at Oakville, that they "deprive the Tory organs of any remnant of excuse for declaring that the Liberal party is not united in its policy. Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States, Mr. Laurier said, is the policy of that party, and he showed why it was and why it should be." The Herald rightly understands the party leaders, not a doubt of it, but here is something more. The World yesterday morning published a despatch from Parry Sound, giving a brief account of a reception tendered Mr. Laurier there Saturday evening. Replying to an address from the Liberal Association, the hon. gentleman stated that Unrestricted Reciprocity is to be the main policy of the Liberal party. In other words, what he has to say to the Reformers of Ontario is from first to last one grand "disturbing speech," and the policy he has to hold up to the party is just about as disturbing a policy as the leaders dare propose.

We would not claim that Mr. Buchanan must be right and that the Reform leaders must be wrong. But we fancy that nine business men out of ten will admit that they cannot help taking that view of it. The view namely—that what the country needs now is, not the disturbance of a revolution in commercial policy, but peace and quietness in which to improve the opportunities that are already within our reach. We desire to put in contrast together the wide counsel to give the country a rest from revolution in commercial policy; and the disturbance and agitation which are being worked up by the advocates of Reciprocity at all costs. It should scarcely be at all doubtful which of the two the business man's view must be in favor of.

Divisions at Democrat Headquarters.

There need no longer be any doubt of the fact that there are serious divisions at the headquarters of the Democrat party over the border. The end of last week there were serious consultations at the headquarters aforesaid, which were participated in by several of the "heavy weights" of the party. It appears equally undeniable that the real cause of trouble is—a want of unanimity as to what the party's position on the tariff question should be. To appearance that was settled at the St. Louis convention, on which occasion the freetraders carried nearly everything their own way; and the protectionist minority was pushed away to the back seats and out of sight. This was owing principally to the fact that their great champion, Randall, of Pennsylvania, was disabled by ill health; and it has appeared unlikely that he will ever be able to take the field again. At first the free trade leaders seem to have thought that they could continue to carry the party with them; but as the campaign progresses this does not seem so sure as it once did.

Among "Tariff Democrats," who have at least a leaning towards Protection, these are named: Calvin S. Brice, chairman of the National Democratic Election Committee, ex-Senator Barnum, of Connecticut, an "old stayer" at election work, and Senator Gorman of Maryland. Among the extreme Free Traders who are in prominent position are mentioned the renowned Henry Watterson, of Louisville; Horace White, of Chicago, Morrison ex-speaker of the House. Chairman Brice became so pronounced that it is said Cleveland himself had to be appealed to, with the result that Brice goes into honorable retirement on a western tour; while Gorman and Barnum are left in control at the headquarters in New York. This means, we suppose, that they will endeavor to draw a medium between the two extremes, and will not offend the free traders, though it is well known that they lean a little to the protectionist side. To show how difficult it is to get the party to pull together, it is even said—though this is surely an invention of the enemy—that Chairman Brice had been considering the plan of sending free trade documents into some districts and protectionist literature into others, to suit the prevailing opinions in different localities respectively. It appears that Mr. Cleveland has never yet sent his formal letter of acceptance of the nomination; and Chairman Brice is said to have demanded that the letter, when it comes, should be such as will be satisfactory to the tariff Democrats. But whether Mr. Brice is now chairman of the National Committee any more than in name may be open to question.

Meantime, Canadian readers are getting such one sided statements of the way the great contest over the border is going that it seems necessary to say at least something on the other side of the story. And we think we dare venture to assure our readers that the present reports of serious divisions on the tariff question as Democratic headquarters are no mere romancing, but are really founded in fact. We shall hear more of this are we are much older.

The Agricultural College.

The vacancy in the staff of the Ontario Agricultural College caused by Professor Brown's resignation has not yet been filled. As a likely successor Mr. Thomas Shaw of Hamilton is the only person who so far has had frequent mention. The owner of a model farm in Binbrook township, the editor of a successful agricultural paper, The Live Stock Journal, the experience accruing from an untiring activity in promoting farmer's institutes—These are some of the salient points in Mr. Shaw's career which make it highly improbable that a more competent teacher could be found within Ontario. From his accumulated knowledge of the needs and aptitudes of the province, and by reason of his long connection with agricultural associations and institutes throughout the country he would be more in touch with the pupils than any of his predecessors, or than any one from abroad. His figure has become familiar to farmers' meetings and gatherings and he has thus been brought into personal contact with a large number of the class for the benefit of which the college at Guelph has been established. From this point of view Mr. Shaw would supply for the first time in the history of that institution an effective link between it and the farming community generally.

Confiscation Does Not Pay.

As will be seen by our despatches, Mr. Mercier, Premier of Quebec, has seen fit to abandon the "Conversion Scheme," by which he proposed to break faith with the English holders of Quebec bonds and force them to take a rate of interest lower than that which was guaranteed them at the time of purchase. The energetic action of certain leading London banking houses brought this about. Had not Mr. Mercier retired when he did, there is no doubt that the Dominion Government would have vetoed the confiscatory legislation of the Province of Quebec, and there would have been good enough reason for it in the fact that Quebec, by playing fast and loose with her own reputation, would be damaging every other Province of the Dominion as well as the Dominion itself. Mr. Mercier has evidently discovered before it was too late that confiscation does not pay. Virginia and other States of the U nion which attempted confiscation or repudiation at various periods of their history also found out how unprofitable such transactions are.

Ontario Must Move.

This province cannot afford to drop railway development in its unopened districts to the north. The Province of Quebec has got to Lake St. John and to Lake Temiscamingue, and Ontario must keep pace by pushing the new road up to Hudson's Bay. There is a country immense and rich lying north of Lake Nipissing that it will pay well to open up. We cannot afford to let Montreal get possession of our own territory. Some reasonable assistance in the way of a land grant, or a provincial guarantee of a limited sum per mile would secure the construction of the road from North Bay to James' Bay. The press and the people must urge it on the Legislature and the Government.

Those who have been keeping Henry Taylor, the London bank manager, in jail ought to consent to his permanent release when the motion comes up this week. He was temporarily freed on Saturday.

At first a little, hacking cough,
'Tis nothing but a cold."
They say, "Will very soon wear off."
Alas, the story old!
The hectic cheek, the failing strength,
The strict then confined have,
And life's wan flame goes out, at length,
In a consumptive's grave.

If persons would use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, when irritation of the lungs is indicated by a cough, it would be an easy matter to avert consumption. Be wise in time.

He is Proud of Canada, Especially of Toronto.

Editor World: The World deserves great credit for publishing its clipping from The Philadelphia Evening Star on Toronto and its attractions. I should think we, as Torontonians, should feel proud of our city and use every honest endeavor to make it known throughout the world, so that travellers from all lands may be attracted to visit us, when on their tours to this vast continent. "Away," I say, "with imaginary defects of our city and of our country, and get down to the real ones, and have them rectified, so that our hands may be clean as citizens to offer and to welcome strangers who may come to visit us." There is not a city on this continent better blessed by nature than Toronto. Surely we ought to have brains enough to develop its resources and make it one of the most attractive and prosperous cities on this continent. Let us, as Canadians, stand firm and not cry as the lost "Babes in the Wood" for fear of the bear coming, but let us be men and show to the world that we are able to manage our own affairs without the help of outsiders, however much they may intimidate and sneer at our supposed weakness. We have a grand country; let us prove worthy of it, and not lead others to suppose that we are tired of it, and cannot any longer manage our affairs. Let it be understood we appreciate our birthright and intend maintaining it, in its integrity to the glory and honor of our much favored country.

A Health Drinking Bird.

Aubrey, in his "Miscellanies," relates that "at Stretton, in Hertfordshire, 1648, when Charles I was prisoner, the tenant of the manor house there sold excellent cyder to gentlemen of the neighborhood. Among others that met there was old Mr. Hill, B. D., parson of the parish, quondam Fellow of Brazennose College at Oxford. This venerable good old man one day (after his accustomed fashion), standing up, with his head uncovered, to drink his Majesty's health, saying, 'God bless our gracious sovereign,' as he was going to put the cup to his lips, a swallow flew in at the window and perched on the brim of the little earthen cup (not half a pint) and sipt, and so flew out again. This was in the presence of the aforesaid Parson Hill, Major Gwillim, and two or three more that I knew very well then, my neighbors, and whose joint testimony of it I have more than once had in that very room. It was in the bay window of the parlor, and Mr. Hill's back was next to the window. The cup is preserved there still as a rarity."

Mr. C. E. Riggins, Bainsville, writes:—"A customer who tried a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery says it is the best bottle he ever used; to quote his own words, 'It just seemed to touch the spot affected.' About a year ago he had an attack of bilious fever, and was afraid he was in for another when I recommended this valuable medicine with such happy results."

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Tecumseh's defeated the Chamions this morning in a game which was exciting from first to last. The fielding of both teams was good, and both Atkisson and Geiss were batted hard. Toronto made seven hits in the first, scoring four runs. London scored one and three in the first and second, but after this the fielders settled down to sharp work and neither got more than one man across the plate in any one inning. In the ninth, with two men out, Donovan got first on balls, stole second and came home on a passed ball and an overthrow by Decker, tieing the score, amid the greatest enthusiasm. Dickerson was caught out at left field ending the side and Toronto went in for their tenth. Kearns flew out to Laroque. Rickley and Mansell followed each other in flies to Donovan. London followed and went out one, two, three, all flies to the left and center. In Toronto's eleventh, McLaughlin went out at first and Hartnett and Atkisson flew out. For London, Alcott got first and stole second. Murray flew out to Burke, and Alcott then scored the winning run on Shiebeck's daisy cutter past second. The last four innings were intensely exciting. The outfield for London, Donovan, Sowders and Laroque, made some beautiful catches; Donovan alone taking six. Murray, London's new catcher made his first appearance here to-day. Score:

Toronto Turns the Tables.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The game this afternoon was another exhibition of heavy hitting on both sides, but the Toronto fielders supported their pitcher better than the Tecumsehs did theirs and the result was a score of 11 to 8 in favor of the Queen's City.

Shiebecks two errors in the fifth and one in the ninth were very costly, giving Toronto several runs. Prince at first base played a very pretty game with nine put-outs and no errors. London had poor luck towards end. In the eighth the bases were full with live men and when Dickerson came to bat and struck a short hit along the third base line forced the runner and the side out.

Alcott was loudly applauded for securing a very difficult running catch. Toronto played a splendid game in the field some fine catches being made while Hartnett deserves special mention for his faultless play on first base. There were five thousand spectators present. The score:

A number of the Toronto Bicycle Club took a run to Long Branch on Saturday last, and although the regular club runs have closed for the season, yet there was a good turn out, and a very pleasant afternoon was spent.

Messrs. Brimer, West, Robins and Bowers start this week on a tour through Quebec. They take the steamer for the Ancient City and then intend riding about 500 miles below that city, through the magnificent scenery of the lower province. They will call at Belleville on their way down.

The reports from the various committees in connection with the tournament on the Civic Holiday, are all in, and have proved that meeting to be an immense success financially.

The T. Y. C. Races.

The postponed sweepstake race for deep draught yachts and the fifth class of the T.Y.C. were sailed on Saturday. The former event was won easily by the Alert while the Maid and Christobel made a capital struggle for second honors, the latter being successful. The Alert thus wins the championship flag presented by the club for this event.

In the race for fifth class yachts there was no time allowance. It proved a very exciting race the Puritan winning with the Irene second and the Ruby third. The following is the time;

As the Chesley team failed to put in an appearance at Lucknow yesterday the game was given to the Sepoys by default.

St. Matthias Defeats Deer Park.

The St. Matthias Cricket Club defeated Deer Park by 32 runs on the grounds of the latter on Saturday. The score was St. Matthias 72, Deer Park 40. The bowling of Redway and Smith was well on the wicket for St. Matthias as was also that of Warren and Foster for Deer Park. C. Carmidy 22 and J. H. Perrin 10, batted in fine form for their respective scores for St. Matthias, while Dr. Foster 18 not out and F. Snider 15 were the only batsmen to make any stand for Deer Park.

An Early Fire at London.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Dominion oatmeal mill on Talbot-street, now advertised for sale under a chattel mortage held by the Molsons' Bank, was badly gutted by fire about 3 o'clock this morning. The two upper storeys were completely destroyed, the basement escaping with a slight scorching. There was very little stock on hand. As the mill has been shut down since last Wednesday, all fire being then extinguished, it is a mystery as to how the fire started. The loss cannot at present be estimated, but there is about $15,000 insurance on the building and machinery.

WM. LACKIE REINSTATED.

A RESOLUTION CARRIED RESTORING HIM TO HIS POSITION.

The Works Investigation Passes Through Another Phase—Ald. Gillespie's Dark Hint—Inspector Lackie's Letter to the City Council.

The Board of Works Investigation passed through another phase in last night's Council meeting, when by a sweeping majority His Worship the Mayor was requested to restore Lackie to his position pending the result of the Works Investigation. The subject was introduced through the following letter which the Mayor submitted to the Council.

TORONTO, Aug. 18, 1888.

To His Worship the Mayor.

SIR,—I respectfully request that an opportunity be given me to show that I am innocent of the charges that were brought against me at the recent investigation by the witness Cooper. I am told that it will be many months before the appeal will be argued in the Court of Appeal, and a long time will elapse before I can have an opportunity of showing my innocence. In the meantime I have been suspended from my position, and although I have had no chance of being heard in my defence, I am being punished in the same manner as if I had been found guilty of the charges that were brought against me.

I am an old servant of the Corporation, and have always tried to do my duty faithfully and no complaint was ever brought against me until the witness Cooper laid his charges before the Council. I respectfully ask you and the Council to give me a hearing, and if I can satisfy you that the charges which were disclosed in the evidence taken by the investigation are untrue, I ask that my suspension be removed. Trusting, Mr. Mayor, that yourself and the Council will think proper to grant this request, I remain, your obedient servant,

W. LACKIE.

Clerk Bell had scarcely concluded reading the letter when Ald. McMillan caught the eye of the Mayor and sprang to his feet, to move that the rules be suspended to admit the passage of a resolution which he was desirous of submitting. The resolution was seconded by Ald. Baxter, and was as follows:

That whereas, on the day of William Lackie, of the Works Department, was suspended from duty by order of His Worship the Mayor on account of certain evidence in an investigation then pending before His Honor, Judge McDougall;

And whereas an injunction has been made by His Lordship, Mr. Justice Robertson, on reference to said application for prohibition, and whereas an appeal is being taken from the judgment of the Honorable Mr. Justice Robertson to the Court of Appeal, and it is uncertain when such appeal will be disposed of;

And whereas, it seems unreasonable to have said William Lackie under suspension during the time that the said investigation may be stayed by such appeal;

And whereas, the city may have to pay Lackie's salary while under suspension without any services being performed by him in case the investigation results in the said Lackie being restored to his official position;

Therefore, be it resolved that His Worship the Mayor be respectfully requested by this Council to restore the aforesaid William Lackie to the said William Lackie to enter upon the duties of his office until the appeal now pending is disposed of. This resolution to be construed not to be considered a waiver of the right to remove Lackie from office in case it is afterwards found by the investigation that he ought to be so removed.

Ald. McMillan, in moving the resolution, made an eloquent appeal in behalf of Mr. Lackie. He held that it was an injustice to a citizen and old corporation official, who had lived a blameless life, that he should be published before being found guilty on such evidence that had been presented.

Ald. Maughan: "I hold we should give him a chance. I have known Mr. Lackie, and have known him only as an honest man."

Ald. Gillespie: "I am opposed to this motion. I believe that it is an interference with the Judge's conduct of the investigation. Mr. Lackie need not be in a hurry. The opportunity for him to clear himself may come quicker than he thinks."

Ald. Harris: "As far as I know Mr. Lackie he has led a Christian life, and has been honest in all his deeds. I for one am not desirous of burking the investigation, but at the same time I hold that he should be reinstated, otherwise he will be suffering an injustice."

Ald. Johnston followed in the same strain. Ald. Carlyle, of St. Thomas, had nothing to say, but Ald. Carlyle, of St. Andrew's, expressed himself as strongly opposed to the removal of the suspension. Ald. Jones and Dodds made strong appeals on behalf of Lackie. Ald. Gillespie again returned to the charge and threw out hints that there was a surprise in store for the parties alleged to be implicated in the statements of John Thomas Cooper.

The motion was finally carried on the following division: Yeas—Barton, Baxter, Bell, Dodds, Gibbs, Gilbert, Hallam, Harvie, Hewitt, Hill, Johnston, Jones, Macdonald, Maughan, McMillan, Morrison, Pelis, Pinder, Shaw, Verral, 20. Nays—Carlyle, (St. Thomas,) Carlyle, (St. Andrew's) Gillespie. Ald. Macdougall did not vote.

Joseph Busan, Percy, writes:—"I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and I found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me."

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Gov. We and Our Neighbors.

Editor World: Not being much versed in politics, I write to you for some information. By what warrant is "Unrestricted Reciprocity" made the policy of the Liberal party. There was not a word about such a thing during the last elections, and consequently the present members of parliament have no right to adopt it. Neither has there been a convention since of any kind, and I am therefore at a loss to account for it. Possibly the leaders Laurier and Cartwright developed it out of their own inner consciousness. Then I can understand it. This would be on a par with the usual Liberal leadership—the most wretched that was ever heard of.

Fancy such a policy as the present moment when the fisheries treaty is about being rejected, when all kinds of abuse and threats are fulminated already against Canada by both houses of Congress. It is really midsummer madness. The results already show what the people of Canada think of it. Archibald elected by a plurality of over 500; Haggart elected by acclamation and Halton as good as lost.

There is no scope for the Grit party—its American element is fast hurrying it to destruction. We, Canadians, must look to ourselves in the approaching crisis. You have not said anything lately about the James' Bay Railway. Hurry up the directors. We must get a northern base at once. The Americans could cut the St. Lawrence in spite of us, but with a few English men-of-war holding Hudson's Straits open we can defy them. Any amount of supplies could come in that way and a Canadian army could fall back on Moose Factory as a last resort. The conditions of our defences are therefore now almost entirely changed and the Dominion Government should see at once to the speedy completion of the James' Bay Railway. MILES.

Anti-Poverty and Georgite Theories.

Editor World: Will you allow a workingman to say a few words to the Anti-Poverty and Georgite orators of the Queen's Park? It is a fact that the great majority of their audiences are not poor people, but the speakers assume that they are and try to persuade workingmen who eat three meals a day, have houses to sleep in, and good clothes, that they are the victims of bad land laws, capital and monopoly and that they are suffering from want of land. Poverty will not be cured by possession of corner lots, but generally by work and temperance. If our Government divided up this Dominion so that each Canadian should have 400 acres, and, casting away all present social and political arrangements, let us have a fresh start, does the most rabid Georgite imagine that monopoly and capital would no more be seen? Would a Lombard-street tough suddenly made a landholder, put away his toughness because he had land? Would he not at once put a fine mortgage on it to produce lager ad lib.? The truth of the matter is that (perhaps unfortunately) some men have more brains than others, and until this is remedied land and cash will get in big lumps. If the Georgites can produce a community free from idleness and selfishness and with equal brain power then I think an equal division of the earth could with safety be made.

Toronto, Aug. 10, 1888. GEO. ROBERTS.

The Vacant Archiepiscopic.

A correspondent who is evidently very well posted writes to us demurring strongly at what he calls an "advertising dodge" to keep certain priests before the public as likely incumbents of the vacant Archiepiscopal see. He says: "It looks very much as if these people either had bazaars on hand or intended to have them in the near future. They surely cannot imagine that we are gullible enough to believe that either athletic accomplishments or country produce will suffice for the energy, learning and holiness that should be the chief characteristics of the next Archbishop of Toronto. Dean Harris is a polished gentleman and takes a high jump with ease, but he will scarcely attempt to clear the bar raised between himself and a mitre. He is hardly as active as he was when he won his prizes at Rome, and he knows very well that just at present it is all hard ground and no feather beds on the other side. Dean O'Connor is a very good country priest, well known to his confreres for his unusual prudence; but that he possesses the qualities that should appertain to the successor of Archbishop Lynch is simply ridiculous. He has lived his life in the little town of Barrie and confined his researches to his breviary, Hoyle and the Irish Canadian. "What we want is a live man, young, active, energetic and abreast of the times, one who is thoroughly individual in feeling and sentiment, and capable of raising up Catholics and Catholicity. Such a man is the Rev. Father Moyna, of Stayner. There are few in Toronto who are not acquainted with the tall, robust and rather awkward figure. For years he bore the heavy burden of running St. Paul's parish, while at the same time he was the most prominent figure on the Separate School Board. The reward that was meted out to his sterling honesty and fierce opposition to outside influence on the board is known to every Catholic voter in Toronto. What was intended to withdraw him from the public gaze and cause him to wilt in exile or rather break him on the old-fashioned Archiepiscopal wheel of changing about, so often and so effectively used in the cases of others, merely served to bring forward more conspicuously his capacity in every department of ruling and gave him opportunity to display a quality which few of those in high ecclesiastical positions can boast, namely, a thorough knowledge of "finance." Within the short space of a year he has cleared off a debt of thousands on the Stayner church. Add to this, he is a solid theologian, having studied his theology under the shadow of the Vatican; an interesting and successful preacher; a man, in fact, whose title to merit rests on good deeds and not on physical accomplishments or carefully studied country prudence. Pope Leo loves a clever priest and naturally so. No one sees more clearly than himself that the time is fast coming when mere "judicial position" or "the possession of a little authority" will not suffice to roll back the advancing intelligence of the age and keep it within proper limits. We are pressing forward fast into realms of knowledge hitherto unknown, and it is the express wish of the Holy Father that our Catholic leaders should be found in the van. If he is in earnest then, let him give us young blood, fresh hearts, keen intelligences, and with such guides there is no fear of the future of Catholicity in Ontario."

The Chairman of the Board of Works.

Editor World: You would oblige by setting Ald. Carlyle, chairman of the Works Committee, right before the Trades and Labor Council, whose Municipal Committee made a mistake only stating in its report last evening that the chairman was opposed to have the stone for the King-street subway dressed in the city, when recognized to so by the Mayor and the deputation of stone masons. That the worthy chairman was in favor of complying with the request, will be seen from this statement as placed in my minute book at the time. "Although Parkdale and the railway companies interested may object to the extra cost, they having to bear a portion of the same, I shall be pleased to comply, if I possibly can, with the request of the deputation." By giving this daylight in The World you will be only doing justice to Ald. Carlyle, who seems to be too modest to defend himself through the medium of the press, however willing and able he is to do so on the public platform.

MRS. DART'S TRIPLETS.

President Cleveland's Prize for the three best babies at the Aurora County Fair, in 1887, was given to these triplets, Mollie, Ida and Ray, children of Mrs. A. K. Dart, Hamburgh, N. Y. She writes: "Last August the little ones became very sick, and as I could get no other food that would agree with them, I commenced the use of Lactated Food. It helped them immediately, and they were soon as well as ever, and I consider it very largely due to the Food that they are now so well."

TH

THE SPIRIT OF MEHETABLE.

I would not have anyone think that I was ever in love with Matilda Adams; such was never the case. She was too old for any such [illegible]. I was two years her senior. Besides, even in her better days Matilda was the opposite of a handsome woman, and age had not improved her looks in the least. This may account for her never having secured a husband, though I presume she had a different theory. Be this as it may, not long since Matilda Adams and Macomber Sbillis—the latter being himself—were joined in the bonds of matrimony. The circumstances which led up to this event were so peculiar that I cannot forbear to relate them.

My first wife, Mehetable, was Matilda Adams' own sister. Mehetable lived her 60 odd years, and I don't recollect of her having a sick spell, barring an occasional attack of the rheumatism, which she inherited from her family on her father's side. But at last she was taken down and died almost before we could find out what ailed her. The doctor said it was pneumatic enlargement of the throatal muscles—or something sounding like that—anyhow it caused her death. I was left with a house and a middling good sized farm on my hands. I soon found that I couldn't run the house and farm both. If I gave my attention to the house nothing was done on the farm. I tried letting the house take care of itself for a while, but it failed to work. What could I do? I thought it over and said to myself, "There's Matilda, what's to hinder my getting her to run the house? Mind, I hadn't any idea of marrying her.

I found her perfectly willing to come, and I felt quite easy when she remarked, as we rode over from the "Ridge," the day she came—Macomber, I'm glad you come to me. Mehetable is mighty peculiar, and I'm sure she would have opposed you getting a stranger into her place." Matilda took up the affairs of the house. But mind I didn't have a thought of marrying her!

Things went on well enough till one night in August—Mehetable died in May—when I had an unearthly visitation. I hope I may never see the like of it again. I had been mowing in the wheat lot all day, and I was powerful tired. I slept heavily till about 12, when I awoke with a start. On my oath, I tell you I saw a figure in a long, white robe, at the foot of my bed. Now I have never been of a superstitious turn, nor am I given to strange dreams. My neighbors will testify to my fortitude under trying circumstances—in short, many would call me something of a brave man; but I'll own that I was a trifle scared. I didn't move. I thought, "Well, if it's a spirit, and it has anything to say, why, let it say on."

It soon did "say on" and the whispering voice in which the words were uttered, I'll vow, was the whisper of my dead wife, Mehetable. She had a kind of husky whisper which was unmistakeable, and the spirit—if it was a spirit—had exactly the same whisper. The figure in the long, white robe swayed to as it and fro and;

"Macomber, I am the immortal spirit of your dead wife. I have come to you on a message of importance. I'm gone, and I want you to marry my sister Matilda. It don't look very well to see you two a-living together alone in this house. It is justice to me that you marry Matilda, and I want it to be done before twenty-four hours pass away."

I'll admit that I was a good deal taken back. It was so unexpected. In fact, I was so frustrated that I didn't stir, as I saw the figure walk slowly out of my bedroom. I was so nervous I didn't sleep much the rest of that night. I reviewed the affair over and over, and by the time morning came I had come to the conclusion that the whole thing was hokus-pokus. But when I got downstairs Matilda was turned with her face towards the stair door, cutting the slices of pork for breakfast. I got a good view of her face, and—there was no getting round it—she looked powerfully haggard. I stopped and looked at her. She seemed to turn pale. She looked up at me sort of scared like.

Said I, "What ails you, Matilda? You look sick this morning."

"I guess you'd look sick, too, if you'd passed through what I did last night," she replied in a shaky voice.

"May be I did, Matilda. Tell me what happened." I said, as kindly as I could, though I had many misgivings as to what was coming.

"It ain't so easily told, Macomber. I tell you it is a delicate thing to speak of, coming as it did," faltered poor Matilda.

I was surer than ever of serious trouble, and I exclaimed reassuringly—"Come, speak out, Matilda! If its bad, I might as well hear it first as last."

"You?" I gasped.

"Yes," she continued, pensively. "I could never mistake her whisper; and—I might as well say is now as any time—Macomber, she wants you and I to be married."

Matilda looked at me in a bashful way that made the color leave my face.

"Do you feel sure it was Mehetable?" I stammered.

"I am sure of it," she replied firmly.

I then told her about the visit I had had. We put the facts together, and it did seem it was Mehetable's own self. We talked the whole thing over calmly and candidly; we resolved to think over the matter till after dinner.

Two o'clock came and I went to the house. Matilda had just finished washing the dinner dishes.

"Well," said she, "Macomber, what do you conclude?"

"I don't know what to think," I replied forcibly.

"Well, it seems as if the Lord must have allowed Mehetable to come," mused Matilda.

I saw at a glance that the Lord was against my remaining single, and I could not say that there wasn't a whole host of spirits leagues against me to make me and Matilda man and wife. What was I to do? Don't be hasty and call me a fool. Just think what you yourself would have done if you had been in my place.

"Well, Matilda," I finally said, "I guess we'll have to go and do as Mehetable wants."

So Matilda put on her brown poplin dress, and I harnessed the horse to the democrat wagon. We drove down to Parson Hibbard's and had the knot tied.

Since that day there has been a feeling of uncertainty hanging over me. I have thought that perhaps we were too hasty; still Matilda don't seem to feel so. Beside I have heard little hints from my neighbors, which would seem to show that the spirit's visitation was nothing else than a trick played on Matilda and me by Lawyer Bond's good-for-nothing son—Bob. I have my suspicions that I have been the victim of a put-up job. Leastwise, Matilda and I are man and wife; what's done can't be undone, and I won't say I am sorry.

They Exchange Wives.

From The Cincinnati Enquirer.

There is a big sensation in Cleveland, Tenn., over the swapping of wives by Wm. Van Patten and R. E. Brooks, which has just came to light. Their trade took place three weeks ago. Van Patten and Brooks came South two years ago from Michigan, and bought farms three miles from Cleveland. The families have always been on the best of terms, there being two children in each family. By the consent of both husbands and wives the two men traded partners three weeks ago, and the trade has proved very satisfactory until yesterday, when Van Patten went to Cleveland and consulted a lawyer to ascertain if he could not compel Brooks to trade back. Mrs. Brooks is entirely satisfied with Van Patten, and is willing to live with him. Brooks is said to have got the best of the bargain, as Mrs. Van Patten is a beautiful woman. Prominent citizens of Cleveland threaten to take a hand in the matter to-morrow by having all the parties arrested.
