SATURDAY EV'NG, MARCH. 1, 1873.

Our Criminals.

The Chief of Police has laid his annual offering before the Common Council, and has presented a synopsis of the work performed during the past year by himself and the twenty-nine men under his command. The statistics, so far as they are calculated to give a correct idea of the actual number of offenders, especially those arrested for the commission of minor crimes, are somewhat unsatisfactory; for although the arrests are carefully detailed it must be remembered that these are greatly in excess of the real number of criminals. Thus, for instance, there are certain unfortunate individuals classed in the daily reports as old offenders—persons who are periodically arrested, fined, or in most cases imprisoned, and at the expiration of their imprisonment are again arrested, and pass to the same course with a regularity of habit which has become second nature. Yet each arrest helps to swell the figures and convey an exaggerated idea of our actual crime. In the report for 1872 it is stated that 1,905 men, women and children have been arrested, this number being nearly a fourteenth part of the population of the city, whereas it would be possible for one quarter of the number, were they all 'hard cases," to pass through that number of arrests. As this latter is probably not the case we must, in the absence of more minute calulations, allow a reasonably fair margin when it is necessary to contemplate the situation.

Although the list of offences is sufficiently lengthy, it is pleasing to observe that the crimes themselves are not as a rule of a startling character. No capital offenders are mentioned; there is one case of arson—in which the higher Courts have failed to convict—two cases of forgery, one of concealing the birth of child, six of aggravated assault, six of stabbing, two of shooting. The assaults of various kinds number two hundred and forty and the cases of abusive language are only 101, showing the disposition of the British race to use personal force in preference to lingual argument, and the fine force of logic. We have 984 cases of simple and inoffensive drunkenness. seven only were sufficiently demented to fight, and only three, according to the Report, were both drunk and disorderly. So that although the cases of drunkenness are more than two hundred in excess of last year yet they appear to have been an exceeding docile lot of offenders. How far drunkenness, or at least semi-drunkenness, is connected with the 240 assaults and 37 cases of simple fighting is not stated. The larcenies are 42 in number, but only one case of robbery occurred. Only two persons wilfully damaged property, although fifteen broke windows, and seven broke doors, probably by accident. Eighty-six persons sought protection during the year, and only two others choose to wander on the streets; we have had only eight cases of vagrancy. Nine persons have had no visible means of support, and some thirteen have been unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves.

The vigilance of the force has revealed the fact that in forty-two instances have taverns been kept open on Sunday, in ten instances men have sold after 11 at night, and it is refreshing to learn that only one person has sold liquor to a minor; no one has sold it to Indians. Twenty-four persons have been discovered having unlicensed dogs, and two have permitted goats to run at large. Thirteen have driven furiously, eleven shouted loudly, three coasted, and three cursed, on the streets. Nine persons have had no visible means of support, and only one is known to keep a bawdy house. Happy city!

It appears that of the prisoners 265 were of the tender sex, and 1,554 were males. In regard to age it seems that the years of offence are from twenty and thirty as the number in that grade is nearly double that of persons between 30 and 40, and very far in excess of the number in any of the other decades. Age is, however, an uncertain thing, as with old offenders it frequently happens that they are entered in the books according to precedents furnished by former arrests, and a man who ten years ago announced himself as 50 may have continued to be 50 in law to the present day.

The nationality is even more unreliable than the age, as the majority of drunken men are judged by their features, voice and general bearing. In consequence of this, many are rated Ireland who were never out of New Brunswick, and so on through the calendar. No sensible person can believe that while the great United States furnished only 59 cases, the little and much belittled Ireland sent 597 or nearly one third of all arrested, and the Provinces of Canada, apart from New Brunswick, gave only 105. The list of 237 persons under 20 shows that the present system of juvenile reform is capable of amendment, and that if humanitains would decrease the old offenders they must first check the source from which they grow. Considering, however, that Saint John is a seaport town and has only about one policeman to every thousand inhabitants, that there is a large floating population, that bad liquor is freely sold and drank, and that the streets are at night in a state of often absolute darkness, the record is not alarming; and though it is a fact that a number of bold burglaries have taken place, yet altogether, crime against persons and property has been comparatively small. This speaks well, both for the law-abiding character of our citizens and the activity and energy of our well abused and ill paid policemen of Saint John.

Sham Structures.

Another tale of manslaughter comes from Boston. It is but a repetition of hundreds which have been told before and will, it must be feared, be told again. A sham brick building of six stories, in which a large number of helpless operatives are at work, is found to be on fire in daylight, and scarcely is the alarm given when the tinder wood-work, rendered doubly combustible by its thin brick casing, is a mass of flame. A panic is prevented by the presence of mind of one strong-willed woman, and the operatives, with, so far as is known one exception, escape without injury. Then comes the tragedy. Relying upon the supposed strength of the walls, the firemen place their ladders against the building and ascend. The tinder roof falls in, and the miserable, unbraced eight inch walls quiver for a moment, and fall to the ground in ruins. In a instant, two strong men are ushered into eternity, many more are injured, and it is feared that under the confused pile of bricks and mortar other insensible forms may yet be lying. So much for these buildings, which by a criminal parsimony of their owners are constructed as if for the sole purpose of destruction of human life, on the slightest cause being given. When will men take warning by these oft repeated tales of sorrow? When will they sacrifice gaudy appearance to substantiality, and when cease, to be, through avarice, the culpable authors of wholesale manslaughter? A man who builds a brick building six stories high with eight inch walls should be punished by law; but still men are doing it day by day, and it may be will continue to do so. It may be that only when the cries of widows and orphans arouse the active indignation of the people of America will the law show its power of restraint, and by the proper punishment of these placers of man-traps and slaughterers of men, give assurance of some safety, and afford relief from the criminal avarice of greedy capitalists and unscrupulous builders. Let that day soon come.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.—The hair is the crowning glory of woman. There are few moderate defects which cannot be remedied by the proper disposition of the tresses. But when the hair begins to turn gray, in young people, or with those in the prime of life, there is cause for real regret. When this is the case, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer will be found to be a first-class remedy, far superior, as a sound medical medium, to any thing else before the public. It actually restores gray hair to its original color, and in the great majority of cases, causes it to grow again when it is becoming thin. It is not like many popular preparations, a mere wash, but a scientific discovery, indorsed and used by physicians of character. Address R. P. Hall, & Co., Nashau, N. H.—Forney's Weekly Express, Feb. 1, 1868.

During the fever epidemic of last month, the stock of Ayer's Ague Cure in the Old North State became exhausted, and before a supply could be received from Lowell, the suffering from chills and fever became fearful. A few parties were so fortunate as to have it on hand, and in Iredell county, the druggists eked out their slender stocks by selling doses—a spoonful each—for a dollar. Many paid ten dollars for a bottle, when the regular price is but one, and thought themselves favored at that, so valuable are the curative properties of this preparation, which not only expels the poison from the system, but leaves the patient with unimpaired health and vigor—Raleigh (N. C.) Standard.

THE GRAND GIFT ENTERPRIZE.

THIS SIDE AND THAT.

The Evangelical Alliance has published its "PROTEST" against the "EVIL" of "a system of lotteries, under the name of gift enterprises." The public need not be told that the particular object against which this protest is aimed, is the gift enterprize scheme of the managers of the Academy of Music. We presume, moreover, that the gentlemen, lay and clerical, who have signed this "protest" will have no objection to our employing a little criticism on their production, nor at the same time, producing counter evidence in vindication of the morality of gift enterprises. Our object is enlightenment, as we don't feel bound to accept the ipse dixit of any class of men, without having our own minds throughly convinced, and this can only be done by personal investigation, not by pinning our faith on the coat sleeve of others.

The Alliance starts with the declaration that its object is to "correct the immoral habits of society." No good man will ignore the right and the duty of the Alliance in this great work, for, certainly, society in almost all its phases, is a standing reproach on morality and religion; but to discriminate on points of morality may sometimes be no easy matter, while it is equally true that the "weightier matters of the law" may be omitted by following an ignis fatuus. There is a passage in the New Testament which records the language of the Master thus, "Ye blind guides, which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel." We do not accuse the reverened gentlemen composing the Evangelical Alliance with being "blind guides," nor are we prepared to affirm that they are not such. We are trying to find out this now; and perhaps we will be able to arrive at an opinion when this article is completed.

A prominent point in the "protest," which suggests criticism, is the statement that these enterprises "foster the desire to be rich without labor, and without giving any real equivalent." Well, this is only natural, and would our good pastors impugn a law which has been planted in the human breast by the Great Author of our being. What clergyman whose name is appended to the "protest," would refuse to become rich, and having become rich would much care for working any more? Ease and luxury are the principal aims of us all; and we believe that once attained, pastors as well as other folks, would be found shirking labor.

The leading feature throughout the entire "protest," seems to be a fear that the persons becoming rich by the gift enterprise may, at the same time, become ruined—that a passion for gambling may be engendered, etc. We fail to see the point in this. In the first place the individual who receives the grand gift of $10,000 will be in no wise rich. The interest on the amount at 6 per ct., per annum, wouldn't more than be half sufficient for him to live upon; and in the second place, the probabilities of his becoming a confirmed gambler, are as one to one thousand. The merchant who speculates and is successful speculates again, and again becomes successful; according to the high toned morality of our Evangelical Alliance the merchant is a confirmed gambler; but who ever knew of the pastors' meeting in a body and issuing a "protest" against the merchants mode of making money. Oh, no, that would'nt do, because from these gains the ordinances of the church are supported; and if the prevailing system of money-making is destroyed, down must topple all our churches; and then what will we, clergymen, do? "We cannot go about the cities, towns and villages preaching as the apostles did, in fisherman's clothes; nor can we subsist as they did by occasionally taking boats and nets and catching fish. No, we can't do that, simply because the dignity of our profession requires us to wear broad-cloth, and a beaver; and then we are professional men, educated, college bred; we have not learned the art of fishing, nor indeed any other trade." This is an age vastly more intelligent than that in which the apostles preached, and, therefore, we sympathize fully with the clergy regarding the advanced social position they should occupy, over the Fishermen of Galilee; nor do we hold that the merchant is prosecuting an immoral business, when he hazards his wealth to create wealth; and upon the same ground we fail to perceive the immorality of risking five dollars to gain, perhaps, ten thousand. Will any one of the members of the Evangelical Alliance pretend to say that the First High Priest of the Israelites, or any of the people "became infatuated with the vice of gambling" because of the divine command, "and Aaron shall cast lots upon the two goats; one lot for the Lord and the other lot for the scapegoat;" or did the children of Israel become gamblers after they saw Moses divide the land of Canaan "by lot according to the names of the tribes of their fathers." We do not even read that among the impious rabble who cast lots for the garment of our crucified Saviour, there afterward grew up an infatuation for gambling. Here we find ourselves shut up to the conclusion, that, as all things are under the supervision of Providence, so no matter what may be the the results flowing from this "grand gift enterprise" they will be to "His praise and glory."

Now for the question, who are the blind guides? It is a great pity if between two stools we should come to the ground. We have before us a neatly printed circular headed "GRAND NATIONAL CHURCH FAIR, FOR THE ERECTION OF THE BETHESDA MISSION HOUSE, AND THE FOUNDING OF A PUBLIC LIBRARY AND FREE READING ROOMS FOR MISSION PURPOSES, IN BROOKLYN, NEW YORK. TICKETS LIMITED TO 300,000. PRIZES, $86,780. The Fair will be held in Brooklyn Hall; tickets one dollar each, entitling the holder to admission to the Fair during its continuance, and to a share in the grand distribution of Real Estate, Life Insurance Policies, and valuable and useful articles, consisting of Pianos, Melodians, Sewing Machines, Books, Watches, Silver Ware, Oil Paintings, Steel Engravings, Furniture, &c."

We have not space to give the full text of the plea advanced. The following are extracts:

"In looking over the great field of mission work we are seriously reminded of the imperative need of home work.

* * * Private enterprise has been great and noble in the good work, yet in almost every instance success has been reached only through the churches—by their societies, festivals, and especially their fairs. Fairs have successfully accomplished their objects, where private enterprise and contributions have failed. Many of our noble structures for divine worship and benevolent institutions attest this fact.

* * * In presenting this undertaking to our christian brethern and friends, irrespective of sect or denomination, we bespeak their sympathy and aid in the benevolent work.

* * * The idea was suggested, and the PASTOR and a committee of members of the Myrtle St. Church, and prominent citizens decided to inaugurate a GRAND NATIONAL CHURCH FAIR, &c.

* * * To this end we have issued tickets entitling the holder to admission to the Fair during its continuance, and to a share in the GRAND DISTRIBUTION of valuable and useful articles, &c.

* * * We are fully aware of the honest objections which will arise in many minds to distributions of any kind, owing to the deceptions practiced on the public by designing persons in the past, but the worthiness of the object alone ought to be sufficient guarantee, to not only recommend it to our christian brethern and friends, but to enlist their warmest sympathies morally, religiously, and pecuniarily.

* * * We sincerely hope that the Fair, in its Grand Distribution of valuable presents, will be the means of carrying gladness, joy and "good-tidings" to many of the homes of the necessitous and deserving in our land. (This is far from entertaing fears that people will conceive a taste for gambling through the affair.—ED. N. D. & T. H.)

Then follows is a list of the prizes ranging from $12,000 down to $400. The whole scheme is signed by Rev. Wm. C. Clark, No. 34 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

Now this scheme in all its working and details is exactly the same as that of the Academy of Music, with the exception that the one is a Gift Concert and the other a Gift Fair—the one to relieve a public building from pecuniary difficulties, the other to build a church.

The following clergymen of St. John say the scheme is immoral, injurious and unscriptural, viz:

Wm. Armstrong, Rector of St. James.
Geo. Schofield, Rector of Simonds.
James J. Hill, Rector of Trinity.
C. L. F. Hasnsell, Carleton.
G. M. Armstrong, Rector of St. Mark's.
D. B. Panther, Rector of St. Jude's.
J. Frederic Carr, Asst. Min. of St. Mark's.
James Bennet, St. John Presb'tn. Church.
Samuel Houston, Calvin Church.
Henry Pope, Jr., Pastor Germain St. Wesleyan Church.
D. D. Currie, Pastor Centenary Wes. Church.
Howard Sprague, Portland Wes. Church.
Thos. H. Deinstadt, Exmouth Street Wesleyan Church.
S. G. Dodd, Min. of Cong'l. Church.
N. McKay, St. David's Church.
Robert J. Cameron, Minister of St. Andrews Church.
A. McLeod Stavely, Reformed Presbyterian Church.
I. E. Bill, editor Christian Visitor.
W. P. Everett, Pastor Brussels Street Baptist Church.
G. M. W. Carey, Germain St. Baptist Church.
Jas. Spencer, Seamen's Chaplain.
J. P. Parsons, Pastor of F. C. Baptist Church.
Wm. B. Boggs, Portland Baptist Church.

The following divines, who are a committee, affirm the scheme to be in every sense moral and legitimate, viz:

Rev. Wm. C. Clark, Pastor Myrtle St. Church, Brooklyn.
Rev. John B. Bains, No. 743 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn.
Rev. George Pierch, President Boston Conference.
Rev. B. R. Smith, President Pennsylvania Conference.
Rev. Wm. Hastings, President Muskingum Conference.
Rev. J. W. Kidd, President North Indiana Conference.
Rev. R. B. Bookshire, President North Carolina Conference.
Rev. Thomas Shipps, President Indiana Conference.
Rev. C. Cray, President North Illinois Conference.
Rev. S. D. Kingsley, President Genesee Conference, N. Y.
Rev. F. D. Loy, President Kansas Conference.
Rev. W. F. West, President Oregon Mission Conference.

We have now endeavored to give this matter all the consideration our space will admit, and with the array of eminent names for and against,—all ministers of the gospel,—we pause to know on which side are the "Blind Guides."

THE LAST BOSTON TRAGEDY.

Yesterday's despatches contained the announcement of another tragedy from fire, in Boston, by which two lives were lost and some ten or twelve persons were severely injured. The fire occurred on Thursday morning in the six story brick building on the corner of Hanover and Blackstone streets, occupied by G. A. Sammett, manufacturer of hair matrasses. It was first seen in the third story, and the flames burst out with great violence on both sides of the building. Almost immediately the upper portion of the structure was enveloped in flames, which, fed by the combustible material, rushed up the stairways, cutting off escape to the lower part of the building. In the upper story a number of girls were at work, and although nearly panic-stricken most of them retained sufficient presence of mind to ascend through the roof and escape by means of the roof of an adjoining building. Mary Ellen Moore became so frightened that she leaped from the window to the street below, striking with fearful force on the sidewalk, badly smashing the side of her face and injuring herself internally. She was taken up and subsequently removed to the hospital. Although the leap was a frightful one, and seemed as though it must result in instant death, it is somewhat singular that none of her bones appeared to be broken, and though dangerously wounded her injuries may not prove fatal. Had it not been for the presence of mind of one of the girls, Mary O'Keefe, other girls would have followed their more unfortunate companion, but owing to a powerful will she kept them from making what in all probability would have been a fatal leap.

In the meantime during the intense excitement which prevailed the firemen went bravely to work, and in a remarkably short space of time ladders were raised and streams of water were pouring into every window. The building was so situated that it afforded a fine opportunity to fight the flames on both streets, while from the roofs of adjacent stores water could be thrown on the blazing mass with good effect.

The firemen had, to all appearances, got the mastery of the fire, when, at a quarter before eleven, a portion of the roof fell in, and was immediately followed by the crumbling of the thin brick walls of the upper portion of the Hanover street front. At this moment at least a dozen ladders were raised against the burning building, and as many streams were being poured upon the fire. On many of the ladders leading hosemen were clinging as high up as the fifth story, and several were on a level with the roof. A number of persons were inside the building engaged in throwing goods from the windows, and citizens on the sidewalk directly beneath were busily employed in in carrying them away to a place of safety. At the first indication of the disaster, which had been apprehended by those familiar with the character of the building, a shudder ran through the crowd, which had with great difficulty been kept out of harm's way, by the police. Inside the ropes were a large number of firemen, citizens and representatives of the press. These men shrank back from the danger which threatened all who were standing within reach of the falling walls.

The upper portion of the wall forced the ladders backward, and while one or two were broken by the tension of the guys, and the men fell to the pavement and were buried beneath the mass of brick and mortar, which came down with a frightful crash, one ladder upon which Stowell, a hoseman of engine 15, was standing, swung toward the corner of Hanover and Blackstone streets, and Stowell fell against the curb-stone, killing him almost instantly. The walls of the third and fourth stories bulged outward and fell upon the sidewalk. Had they followed the course of the upper portion, the fatalities would inevitably have been much greater.

The firemen immediately rushed to the rescue of their comrades, who were taken up tenderly and carried to the nearest apothecary stores and Station 1. Le Cain and A. C. Scott were conveyed in a pung to the police station and thence to the hospital.

At last accounts two of them were dead and ten or twelve more badly wounded, and it is feared others are beneath the ruins. The inmates of the building, containing quite a large number of girls, it is hoped all got out safely, though it is feared some of them have perished. The walls of the building, it is said, are but eight inches thick.

Dissolution of Partnership.

An animated discussion that resulted in the dissolution of a long established partnership and almost ended in a hand-to-hand row occurred on King street yesterday. The facts are as follows: Messers. Shay and Turner have been working in partnership for some time, in the lucrative occupation of putting in coal and wood, and have also lived together, under one roof. Shay boarded with Turner. On the night before last Shay was at an entertainment in the Lower Cove Market Hall, and after going home, sat up very late, nearly all night he says, and in the morning was rather sleepy. Turner got up and called him, and then proceeded to get breakfast ready. Mr. Shay fell asleep in his chair and Turner told him he had better lie down on the bed and he would call him when he went out. It being Lent, Mr. Shay would not have any breakfast, "for you know," says he, "its not much I can do for my church but mind her rules." Here the stories as told by both parties disagree. Turner says he went out and got some one to assist him to put in some coal, because Shay was tired. Shay says that Turner called him his partner and brother alternately, went out to deceive him and steal from him his share in the proceeds of an operation in coal and wood. At any rate, Turner got out and went to work assisted by another man, while Shay slept. But not long were his slumbers; he waked up and was soon at the scene of operations. He first put an injunction on the capital stock of the firm, consisting of two baskets, threatening to do serious bodily harm. He called Turner a Judas because "he had decaved" his friend, and then and there dissolved the old and established firm of Shay & Turner, among a large crowd of witnesses who had gathered around. Each will in future carry on business in his own name and on his own account.

New Music.

Messrs. Landry & McCarthy have laid on our table several new pieces of music, the latest published and from the most popular authors. Among the pieces are, "He kiss'd me good bye at the gate," song and chorus by James E. Stewart. Another of the same style, "Do not turn me from your door," by Will. S. Hay, is a very touching song. The "Tender Chord March" by Kinkel, is another very pretty piece.

Meeting of Shipowners.

A meeting of shipowners was held yesterday at the Board of Trade rooms. A large number were present, and the discussions were quite animated. The constitution of the society was adopted, D. V. Roberts was elected President, and Douglass A. Smith, Secretary Treasurer. A Committee of Management, consisting of Messrs. W. S. Calhoun, Geo. Gerow, W. E. Vroom, Joseph E. Scammell, John Cotter, D. J. Seely and T. S. Adams, was appointed.

Aground in the Harbor.

The Western Extension got aground last evening at about half past six in making the Carleton floats. She was detained in that position for over an hour detaining the passengers on board. The passengers by train from the West were also kept waiting on the Carleton side until the boat was released.

Body of a Drowned Man Recovered.

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock two young men, Edward Connor and Timothy Cronan, were grappling for old junk at the end of Merritt's wharf, and while so engaged saw underneath them, and wedged in between the logs of the wharf, the body of a man with arms and legs extended. After some trouble the body was removed from its position, placed in the boat, and rowed up to the stairs at the end of the South Market Wharf. A large number visited the body while lying there, but it was so decomposed that it could not be recognized, especially in the dim light of the evening. The body had evidently been in the water a long time, as the fingers had by the action of the water become not more than an inch long, the features of the face were in the same way rendered perfectly unrecognizable. The body is that of a man medium height but rather stout, and the jacket, though covered with mud and slime, appeared blue, a pair of knee boots, one of which was pulled off in the efforts to extricate the body from its position under the wharf, were found on his feet. Corcner Earle was sent for and the body was at once taken to the Dead House.

There are several men missing from St. John of late and the friends of each were present to see if the body could be recognized. Those acquainted with the watchman Callahan McCarthy, who is supposed to have fallen over the North Wharf, said at once the body was not his. It is probably the body of Quinn, the boatswain of the barque Stadacona, who is supposed to have fallen overboard while the vessel was lying at Merritt's wharf in November last. He was a native of Ireland, and after his disappearance his mother sent a description of his body to some friends in this city.

The wives of McCarthy, the watchman for Hall & Fairweather, and of McDonald, for the Water Commissioners, who disappeared mysteriously and were never heard from, saw the body this morning but each pronounced it not the body of her husband. Coroner Earle commenced an inquest on the body at 2 o'clock in the Coroner's Room at the Dead House.

Horse Notes.

The sleighing still continues excellent and the Marsh Road is crowded from day to day with "turn outs" of "all sorts and conditions." A few staid old chaps of quiet sporting proclivities walk out in the afternoon with the ostensible reason of taking exercise, but really, we fancy to watch the trotters speeding. For we have noticed them posted at a corner of the road or "roosting" on the fences eagerly gazing up or down the snowy track.

Dan Godfrey has changed owners, Mr. J. B. Hamm having sold him to Mr. Wright.

The Crookshank colt, sired by old Jehu is improving rapidly in the hands of Mr. Edward Robertson, who gives him pretty regular exercise.

Mr. Stephen Golding appears from time to time with his young stock horse Reformer, and we learn his season will commence on 1st of April.

Black Bear and other recent additions to the St. John trotters are getting their work on the Marsh Road.

Shipping Notes.

The Bark Lizzie Raymond, from Galveston for Liverpool with cotton, was abandoned on the 29th January, in lat. 42 N., lon. 25 W., dismasted with her rudder carried away. The crew were landed at Queenstown previous to the 12th ult. by the Peter Johnson, from Moulmain.

The Bark A. W. Singleton, from Philadelphia for Hamburg, slipped her anchors in Deal Harbor on the 9th ult., and proceeded. The Court of Commissioners at that port have awarded the sum of £1975 to the Deal boatmen for slipping them and afterwards taking off two anchors to the vessel.

Schooner Humming Bird.—Sixteen sixty-fourths of the schooner Humming Bird were sold at auction, at Chubb's Corner, this morning, by Mr. C. U. Hanford. Mr. E. Finnigan was the purchaser for $950.

The Schooner Monsita.—About 50 tierces and puncheons of molasses, a portion of the cargo of the schooner Monsita, lately arrived at this port from Cuba, have been found to be entirely destroyed. The M. experienced very heavy weather on the passage, lost her foretopmast and fore and main gaffs, split sails, had her running gear considerably cut and chafed and other damedone. The vessel is owned by M. Pomares.

Cuban Mail.—Advices to a prominent shipping firm in this city report the arrival of the Cuban Mail at Boston yesterday. It is expected to reach here to-night.

English Mail Train.

It is coming! The train containing the mail was this morning heard off, as being near Dorchester. One or two engines were off the track and the train was unable to pass, until they were removed. It takes nearly as long to get the mail from Halifax to St. John as it does to come from Liverpool to Halifax.

Several Dominion Senators and M. P.'s are on board, and they will have plenty of time to study the postal arrangements between Halifax and here, and to be able in Parliament to vividly describe the Intercolonial as a pleasant rode to travel in winter.

Mr. Graham has introduced into the New York Senate, a bill making commercial agencies liable for incorrect information furnished by them, when the parties to whom such information has been given, have acted on it and thereby suffered loss. This will make such agencies rather chary about giving information.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

FREDERICTON, March 1.

The Legislative Council Chamber was well filled yesterday afternoon with those anxious to hear Better Terms talked over. After waiting some time the members of the Government came in from a committee-room conference with the members of Parliament, and Hon. Mr. Young rose and apoligised for having kept the gentlemen waiting.

He said that communications had been received from a great many members of both Houses approving of the BetterTerms move and promising to aid it in every way and regretting their inability to attend the conference. After conferring with the members of Parliament in attendance, it had been deemed advisable that no public discussion of the question be now had. A meeting would be called at Ottawa and a policy decided on at the opening of the Session.

Lewis moved to go into the consideration of the answer to the Speech of the Governor.

McInerny asked the mover of the Address if the Government had received an order from the Home authorities to apply to the Governor the title of His Honor only.

Mr. Young explained that the Government had continued using the former title of His Excellency, and he did not personally know of any such instructions having been issued. He would enquire and report soon.

The President read the Speech and Reply, section by section.

Mr. Jones said:—"Better Terms originated in St. John, and when I was in the Government the late Provincial Secretary and myself were in accord on the subject. The present memorial of the Government is the best I have seen on Better Terms. Before the Government can expect to make an impression at Ottawa, they must exercise more rigid economy and show a greater saving than $5000 a year. Crown Lands must be protected. Confederation at the time was a fair bargain for us but the Act was opened up for Nova Scotia and we have a right to be relieved in proportion.

Mr. Jones showed the financial standing of the various Provinces, but doubted the statement that New Brunswick expends more than she receives from the Dominion.

Mr. Young said:—I did not know whether the Hon. member was opposed to Better Terms or the Government, but in the Government he opposed Better Terms when I introduced it. I am not of those who gloat over the position now, but I think that there was a mistake made in the terms at time of the Union. Nova Scotia has succeeded, and I think the Dominion will deal justly with us. The meeting yesterday was not a failure, as gentlemen, by letter, pledged their support. New Brunswick is a paying Province to the Dominion. He denied the charge of extravagance; the Government was ready to give an account of its expenditure at any time.

Mr. Chandler said:—Comparing our position with that of Nova Scotia, and the terms now offered to Newfoundland, our claim is clear, and we must get Better Terms. The Union of the Maritime Provinces would strenghen our position and diminish our expenditure. The Government must be ready to guard against hostility on account of the School Act.

Mr. McInerney said: My position is well known and I regret that since the Union I have had no reason to change my views. I objected then to the political as well as the financial terms and I believe that we ought to have still further copied the United States form of government and given each Province equal representation in the Senate.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.

FREDERICTON, March 1.

The enlarged committee on the Debates reported that Day would cancel the contract for $1,000, Dixon for $250 and Robideau, of the Moniteur Acadien, for $250.

The joke comes in at the Frenchman's claim for $250, when he would only receive for a seven weeks' session about $220. The explanation of the enigma is that Robideau's contract was by the week, and he intended spreading his reports over an indefinite number of weeks instead of confining them to the session. This was his "little game," and the spoiling of it will cost $250. So much for the Willis-Alward contracts.

The Committee simply reported the situation making no recommendation, and the matter was laid over until to-day.

The Government and their leading supporters held a caucus at the Queen hotel last night.

Hibbard took his seat to-day.

Donald presented the following Bills: A Bill to exempt certain aged persons from statute labor on the roads; a Bill to establish a Lien for Labor Buildings and other works: a Bill to regulate the election of members to serve in the General Assembly; a Bill to indemnify owners of Lands and Meadows in certain cases, and a Bill to abolish Imprisonment for Debt.

The House then went into a committee of the whole on the Debates, Mr. Blanchard in the chair.

Alward spoke in favor of the Debates. He would guarantee that the cost would not exceed, for a forty day session $3,400. (Cries of "guarantee" oh! oh! and "Take it out of your pay!"

White showed that Robideau might extend his French summary without limit.

Butler referred to the indefinite character of the contract.

Cale wanted the French to have as full Debates as the English.

Hibbard condemned the extravagant demands of the contractors.

Adams condemned the French contract.

Napier rose amid a most profound silence that was only broken by the members and reporters changing their attitude into one of strict attention. He would vote against the Debates.

Landry defended Robideau's plan to spread his summary over a greater number of weeks than the Session.

The Attorney General thought that the contracts should be cancelled but that the demands were too high. He moved that $800 be offered Day, $200 to Dixon and $100 to Robideau, and if they refused the contracts should be fulfilled.

Willis explained the work of the Committee and contended that Robideau could not extend his summary as stated.

Donald would vote for the Debates.

The Attorney General amended his motion increasing the offer to Robideau to $150 and to Dixon to $250, providing that in case the offer be rejected Robideau not to get pay for more than four weeks after the close of the Session.

Tibbets would carry out the contract.

Maher could not, with self respect, vote for the repudiation. The Debates were good value. He didn't think the House should strip itself of its accustomed luxuries.

The Attorney General's resolution carried—19 to 12.

Day says he will not accept the amount.

It was ordered that 500 copies of Journals be printed.

Beckwith was added to Committee on Public Accounts.

Harry moved the reply to the Address.

Adams opposed the motion.

Hibbard said that the Government had taken the head of the Opposition, and should not force on the Debate on the reply till they had time to put a new head on.

Palmer and Landry urged delay.

Tibbets and Alward would postpone.

Alward did not know whether to follow his Leader or take charge of the Opposition himself. (Laughter.)

Kelly wanted to know if there was a difficulty in getting a Leader. The order of the day was carried by a vote of 17 to 10—Brown of Charlotte was among the nays.

Maker first spoke, condemning the statement that no political foresight could have foreseen our financial difficulties.

Landry followed in the same vein, referring to the Debates of 1866. He complained of the use of "Your Excellency" as an insult to the Governor.

House adjourned till half-past two.

Sudden Death at Grand Falls.

A Charnel House Escape.

Carrie Johnson, colored, age about 20 a servant in the house of Alexander T. De Puy, at No. 33 Morton street, New York, was found apparently dead in her bed, by her employer, on Friday morning. Mr. De Puy soon afterward made affidavit to the fact before Coroner Young, who granted a permit for the removal of the body to the Morgue. In taking this action, the Coroner suggested the propriety of permitting the corpse to remain at the house a few hours longer, and to this Mr. De Puy readily assented. At 2.30 p. m. the dead-wagon arrived at the house, but, as the driver, a former hospital nurse, was lifting the body from the bed, he discovered a strange warmth about the loins, which satisfied him that life was not extinct. He declined to transfer the body to the Morgue, and physicians, who were immediately summoned, succeeded, after prolonged effort, in restoring the woman to consciousness at 4 a. m. on Saturday, or about 24 hours after she had been found insensible. Subsequently, the woman, who was not intemperate, walked to the house for Colored Persons, at No. 135 West Thirtieth street, where she is now stopping. She is said to have been subject to fits, and her suspended animation is attributed to catelepsy.

Arrest of a Spanish Editor.

Cirilo and Emilia C. de Velaverde, husband and wife, both of whom are engaged in furthering the objects of the Cuban revolutionists, have brought suit in the Supreme Court to recover $10,000 damages from Jose Ferrer de Couto, editor of El Cronista, the Spanish organ in this city, or the publication in that paper, on the 18th of March, 1871, of an article asserting that Emilia Casanova de Velaverde had, for the ostensible purpose of obtaining means to fit out a Cuban expedition, sold jewels entrusted to her by wealthy Cubans, and converted the proceeds to her own private use; and that the ladies of the Cuban Leagues, having become aware of this fact, had declared her action to be of a traitorous and fraudulent character.

The complaint alleges that these statements in the article are false and malicious, and made with the intent to injure the lady in question.

Judge Faucher granted an order of arrest against Mr. de Couto, fixing the bail at $1,000, which amount Mr. de Couto gave before Order of Arrest Clerk Jarvis. —N. Y. Mail.

"A vast multitude was incessantly passing down King street, because the myrmidons of the law permitted them not to stand on the street corners."—BECKFORD.

Isometimes dream, when shutting both my eyes,
That is, sometimes, especially when I sleep,
And when I've dreamed enough, I always rise
And ope my eyes no longer vigil keep.

With Thomson's Eye Wash for optics sore,
I bathe my eye-lids when I feel the pain,
And suffer ills and anguish nevermore;
But if I do, I bathe them o'er again.

And Quaker Bitters do I drink to kill
Dyspeptic aches, Yellow Jaundice dire,
A sure relief is it from every ill:
Consumption's cured, likewise the hectic fire
Which burns the heart and eats the ebbing life away.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Among the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact, that CHERRY PECTORAL will and does relieve and cure the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its power; and cases of Consumption, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute. As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Coughs, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most sceptical. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attacks of Pulmonary Affections, which are easily met at first, but which become incurable, and too often fatal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, CHERRY PECTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection centred on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer from troublesome Influenza and painful Bronchitis, when they know how easily they can be cured.

Originally the product of long, laborious, and successful chemical investigation, no cost or toil is spared in making every bottle in the utmost possible perfection. It may be confidently relied upon as possessing all the virtues it has ever exhibited, and capable of producing cures as memorable as the greatest it has ever effected.

READ THIS.

ST. JOHN, N. B., July 23, 1869.

Dear Madam,—In justice to you, and that the afflicted may know the great benefit derived from the use of your justly Celebrated Dinner Pills, I send you the following statement:—

My wife was afflicted with the Dyspepsia for one year, and Piles many years, and tried various remedies that were recommended, but nothing did good until a friend told her to try your Pills, which she did, and after taking one box found so much relief that she continued to take them for four months, and now she is really in as good health as she ever was. And for myself, I had a cough for four years, and constant pain in my breast; I was also troubled with hemorrhage for upwards of nine months. I tried almost everything, but no cure was effected, until I used your Pills, which I have been taking for three months, and I have neither pain nor cough, and enjoy as good health as ever I did, and allow me with due respect to remain

Yours, very thankfully,

JOHN FREDERICKSON.
