Changes in the situation that will reduce costs of freight and treatment on Rossland ores will render available an immense tonnage of ores that are now slightly below the average which the mines can utilize to advantage, and each step accomplished in this direction is of the utmost importance. The completion of the Crow's Nest Southern is one of the links in the chain, and an important one too. Under existing circumstances the Northport smelter can be operated with coke from eastern sources or from Fernie, long hauls bringing up the price in the first instance and the necessity of bringing the product over two distinct and competing lines of road with a transfer from land to water at two points en route, raising the price of the Fernie coke delivered at Northport. When the Great Northern's feeder into the Fernie section is completed—some two months hence—this road will be in a position to handle coke direct from the ovens to the smelter, and the smelting plant has the assurance of such substantial reductions in the cost of their coke supply as will place them on a parity with the Kootenays and Boundary smelters, with the addition of the duty collected by the United States government on Canadian coke, amounting to 80 cents per ton. On this basis the smelter will secure its coke supply at a reduction on the price hitherto obtainable sufficient in magnitude to add a substantial margin to the profits on smelting operations. It is believed, however, that the visit of James J. Hill to Rossland has been productive of an undertaking in respect to rates on the transportation of ore that will further reduce the cost of treatment, and contribute in turn to rendering available immense reserves of comparatively low grade ore.

If the assured reduction in the price of coke and the suggested reduction in freight rates together amount to a net reduction of a dollar per ton—this only—it will be seen that in the instance of a mine like the Le Roi with an equipment and ore reserves capable of producing a thousand tons of ore daily the aggregate profit brought about by the small increase per ton would run into handsome net profit in addition to the profits to be earned under existing circumstances.

With the area of ore availabe for shipment the crews in the mines would naturally be increased largely and the city as a whole be benefited from the increased payroll incident thereto. The concentration problem is regarded as important in Rossland, but the program outlined in the foregoing, and which seems to be in a fair way to be realized in the course of the next two or three months, promises more in the immediate future for the Rossland camp than concentration does.

BORN

KIRKPATRICK—In Fernie, on Monday, Aug. 4th, the wife of Oscar Kirkpatrick, of a son.

RENNIE—In Fernie, on Tuesday, July 5th, the wife of J. A. Rennie, of a son.

DIED.

BOLTON—In Fernie, on Wednesday, Aug 6th, 1902, Vera May Bolton, aged 5 months. Infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bolton.

A STRANGE TRAGEDY

THREE YOUNG MEN START TO REACH THE SUMMIT OF "MIDDLE SISTER."

ONE OF THEIR NUMBER CUTS HIS THROAT ALMOST AT THE GOAL.

A dispatch from Fernie, B.C., dated August 3, says: Early yesterday morning three young men by the names of George Dunsmore, Keith Whimster and Charles Liphardt, started out to try and reach the summit of the mountain called The Middle Sister. No one yet has been successful in their attempts to try and reach the top of this mountain. The summit is some fifteen miles from the town and a very arduous climb.

After dark last night the townspeople could see their camp fire, far up the side of the mountain. These young men started on their climb again this morning at 5 o'clock, and about 9 o'clock they were in easy distance of the summit. Whimster and Liphardt were in the lead, when looking around they say Dunsmore fall with the blood gushing from his throat. They ran back and found he had cut his throat and was insensible. No reason is known why he should do this act unless it was that he was temporarily deranged, the effect probably of the unusual exertion. Lipstardt stayed with Dunsmore, while Whimster hurried back to Fernie for help. He left his rifle with Linhardt and also all the provisions they had in order to enable his comrade to keep watch on the body until help arrived. Whimster arrived in town about 17 o'clock today in an exhausted condition. A relief party of nine men left here at 18 o'clock for the rescue if living, and if dead to bring back the body.

Dunsmore was a bookkeeper in the employ of the Crow's Nest Trading company, and only out from the old country about three months, and was a very popular young man.

FATALLY BURNED.

Clara Ludman Loses Her Life Lighting a Fire With Kerosene.

An attempt to light a fire in a stove with coal oil cost Clara Ludman, a German girl, her life on Saturday afternoon in Winnipeg.

Clara, who was a girl of 17 years, started to light the fire by pouring coal oil on a smouldering blaze. Some of the oil was spilled on her dress, and as the blaze flared up the dress caught fire, and in a moment she was enveloped in flames. The terrified girl rushed out of the back door in her frenzy, but the wind only fabned the blaze, and when her screams first attracted the attention of some neighbors she was in a mass of flames. The neighbors rushed in and smothered the fire with blankets and coats, but not before the unfortunate girl's dress had been almost entirely consumed and her body and limbs fearfully burned. She was taken to the general hospital, suffering the most terrible agony, and lived until about 8 o'clock the following evening, when death put an end to her suffering.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Montreal merchants are elated at the announcement of a direct steamship service to South Africa.

King Edward has invited General Meyers and wife to attend the coronation.

In consequence of an outbreak of smallpox in Barbadoes, this group of islands has been quarantined.

Peasants of Brittany are guarding schools presided over by nuns, and will resist their closing with violence.

The grave-diggers of Chicago are on strike for higher pay,

Women have been drinking heavily at a St. Paul club, causing a scandal.

The pacer Dan Patch went a mile in 2.00¼ at Columbus, Ohio.

The King of Italy has started on a visit to urge upon the world's rulers disarmament.

By an electrical apparatus Dr. M. R. Hutchinson has enabled the deaf to hear.

The 13-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geysleman, of Winnipeg, disappeared on Saturday mysteriously. It is feared she has been kidnapped.

Winnipeg oarsmen won the junior singles and junior doubles at Brockville regatta.

A butcher named Joseph Leplane, of Montreal, was drowned at the foot of Lachine rapids on Saturday afternoon by the upsetting of his boat.

ORANGEVILLE'S SENSATION

Judge McCarthy's Son Assaults the Wife of an Editor.

An Orangeville dispatch says. The most sensational case here for a long time is the assualt case brought against Dr. Dalton McCarthy. The accused is the eldest son of Judge McCarthy, of this town. He returned two months ago from Los Angeles, Cal., where he had been practicing medicine the last five years.

Recently some severe strictures on the judge have appeared in the Dufferin Post, published here. The criticisms, it appears, have been resented, and on the evening of July 23 Dr. McCarthy proceeded to the residence of D. J. Mungovan, editor of the Post, presumably for the purpose of seeing the editor. Not finding him at home, it is alleged by the police, that McCarthy struck Mrs. Mungovan, the editor's wife, knocking her down and later on kicking her. The alleged assault was stopped by the arrival and interference of Judge McCarthy, who persuaded his son to go home. The doctor was arrested later in the evening, and has since been at large on $2,000 bail.

Mrs. Mungovan was too ill to appear to give evidence Saturday, and when the case was again called before Police Magistrate Pattullo today there was a further adjournment for a week, when the preliminary trial will be peremptorily proceeded with. A novel state of things is likely to develop before the conclusion of the case. If the police magistrate commits to the next court of competent jurisdiction, Dr. McCarthy will be arraigned for trial before his own father.

The articles which it is alleged provoked the assault, were printed in the Post on July 16. Judge McCarthy was criticized for failing to turn up at the meetings of the division court at Stanton. Mungovan was out when Dr. McCarthy called on the night of July 23. His wife assured the doctor her husband was not in, but apparently the visitor did not believe her, because, it is said, he used bad language and struck Mrs. Mungovan when she ordered him away. The blow was on the temple and felled the woman.

KILLED UNDER A CAR.

At Montreal on August 2, a dry goods merchant named Paquin met with a sad and fatal accident. He was riding on the Park and Island railway near Black river, with his wife and three children, when the car which was going at a high rate of speed, turned suddenly into a switch. Th? shock threw the car completely crosswise off the track and hurled Paquin under the wheels. He was killed almost instantly and his body was badly mangled.

COLOR OF QUEEN'S ROBES.

Being a Consort, Queen Alexandra will not wear any regal robes in the technical sense of the term at the coronation. That is to say, though her gown will be of royal purple, there will be no badge on it.

Underneath the robe she will wear a white silk dress embroidered with white lace, while the Garter ribbon will be conspicuous.

The Queen does not consider the color of her robe the most becoming that could have been chosen for her. Her own wish was for white or red. But the purple is the prescribed color, and only one shade of that is permissible, despite the wide range of tints which the color offers.

For instance, there is the Tyrian dye, which is as rosy in effect as the "purple" of a cardinal, as the "red" is often called. Her Majesty, however, is not to be allowed this laxity, for the purple in which she is to appear will be of a decidedly violet tint.

White coronation robes, which the Queen is known to prefer, have been worn on three notable occasions, and curiously enough, each royal wearer has come to a violent end.

PICCADILLY, LONDON.

Piccadilly, the famous thoroughfare which will see so much of the Coronation splendour, according to John Timbs takes its name from certain "pickadils," or ruffs with spear-shaped heads, worn by the gallants of the reign of James I. Pennant, however, ascribes the title to dainty cakes, called "piccadillas," sold in the fields about here when London Town was miles away. The name first appears as Piccadilly street in the rate books of the parish of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields in 1675, and the houses then extended no further west than Sackville street. All the ground here is full of historic memories. It was in what is now Piccadilly that Charles II., attended only by the Duke of Leeds and Lord Cromarty, was met by his brother James, Duke of York, who had with him an escort of Guards. James, saluting his brother, expressed surprise to find his Majesty "in such a place" with so small attendance, thinking he exposed himself to too much danger. "No danger whatever, brother," replied the Merry Monarch, "for I am sure no man in England would take my life to make you King."

John Biro, Jr., of Yorkton, N. W. T., committed suicide on August 3 by hanging. He was found in a cellar by his mother. No cause is assigned for the rash act.

BETTER THAN MARCONI.

British Company Will Put a Wonderful New Invention on the Market.

The Westminster Gazette, of the date of July 26 announced that a company had been formed with a nominal capital of £875,000, which has been privately subscribed, for the purpose of operating the Armstrong-Orling system of wireless telegraphy. The company will begin operations on a large scale almost immediately. Two factories will be erected in England and France, at places which have already been selected. Everything in connection with the new scheme, down to an illustrated catalogue and price list is ready. The Gazette says'

A perusal of an advance proof of the catalogue suggests the possibility that everyone will be enabled within six months to buy, for a moderate price, a handy wireless telegraph and telephone apparatus for private installation and use. It will be the simplest matter to connect all the rooms in a house, or to connect a house with the city. Patents have been taken out by the Armstrong-Orlin people, whose system differs in many important respects from that of Signor Marconi.

NEITHER WIRES NOR POLES.

This development, it is said, is the outcome of experiments made at Hughenden in the autumn of 1901, when electrical impulses were sent through the ground without wires, and without the high poles used by Marconi. Among the experiments was one of the steering geer of a torpedo lying at a distance of 500 yards in a ditch filled with water. The torpedo was moved at will to the right or left by pressing or releasing the lever of a small transmitter, into which the electrical current of a small battery had been conducted. In a similar manner an electric lamp, raised on a high pole far out in the fields, was lighted and extinguished.

In all cases the electric current was gaeerated by an ordinary Bunsen carbon and zinc battery, and then led through a transmitter, which was kept in a case no larger than a good sized cigar box into the ground. Thence the impulses speedily travelled to their destination, where the receiver was waiting. In both the transmitter and receiver are embedded the secrets of Armstrong's and Orling's inventions. Last autumn one or two miles seemed to be the limits of telegraphing or telephoning through the ground. Since then Armstrong and Orling, with eleven swedish assistants have enormously increased the power of the transmitter, and the sensitiveness of the receiver.

USE WATER OR GAS PIPES.

The Westminster Gazette says it is informed in their behalf, now that they can telegraph or telephone fully five miles, and by the time the company is in working order they expect to be prepared to sell an apparatus with which everyone will be able to telegraph or telephone anywhere within at least twenty miles. The ground is always used as a conductor. All that is needed is to connect the telephones in a room with the transmitter or receiver by means of a short wire with the nearest gas or water pipe, which will carry the current to and from the earth. The walls of houses do not form any obstacle. When telegraphing at a greater distance than twenty miles, the Armstrong-Orling company is still forced to use the air as a conductor of the shooting electric sparks from station to station. This requires high poles at both ends, but they claim that these poles will be only one-tenth the height of those used by Sig. Marconi in order to be effective for the same distance. They also claim that they are able to send 100 letters in the same time that it takes Marconi to send six.

They say their "relays" or an appliance used for catching or receiving the electrical impulse shot through the air from station to station, is far more sensitive than any ever invented, and is fifty times more sensitive than Thompson's syphon recorder. It is so sensitive that a dry battery consisting of a piece of zinc of microscopic size, and an infinitesimal piece of carbon, will work it. In a test with Marconi's Siemens "relay," the latter, with eight volts recorded electrical impulses at 1,699 miles. The Armstrong-Orling people claim that their "relay," with only one volt, worked even at 1,299 miles.

According to advance proofs of the price list, the charge for transmitters for sending Morse signals short distances will be $50, and for long distances $75, in addition to a royalty of $5 per year. A complete telephone outfit for short distances will cost $20, with a yearly royalty of $5. The prices of the relays are left blank for the present, but will be filled up later on

Miss Norma Leroy, daughter of D. W. Leroy, manager of the Queen's Hotel, Barrie, Ont., was drowned while bathing.

The body of J. W. Eddes, a farmer, was found on the track about three-quarters of a mile south of Scotia Junction, Ont., on July 30. The man is supposed to have been struck and killed by a train.

A TURN IN THE TIDE

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT RECEIVES A SET-BACK AT LEEDS.

A BIG GOVERNMENT MAJORITY CHANGED FOR A MAJORITY FOR THE LIBERALS.

A London cable of July 29 says: The bye-election for a member of the House of Commons to represent North Leeds, resulted today in the election of Rowland Barren, Liberal. Mr. Barren received 7,539 votes to 6,781 cast for Arthur Lawson, Conservative

The seat was made vacant by the elevation to the peerage of William Lawes Jackson, Conservative, who had sat for North Leeds since 1880. The loss of the seat for North Leeds in the House of Commons has filled the supporters of the new Balfour administration with dismay. The utmost ingenuity of the editorial writers of the Conservative press is quite ineffectual in explaining away the conversion of the Tory majority of 2,517 in 1900 into a Liberal majority of 758.

The Morning Post, which is the frankest Conservative critic of the government, admits candidly that outside of the Birmingham area, which it says is the "Chamberlainite preserve," there is seemingly no seat in the house on whose loyalty the present government can absolutely rely, and the paper believes the country is dissatisfied with the government's education bill and its coquetting with protection. The Liberal papers concur in the opinion that the grain taxes and the education bill won them the North Leeds seat, the election having been fougnt on these two points. The result was received by the Liberals with great jubilation in the House of Commons, the members crowding to congratulate Mr. Herbert Gladstone, the Liberal whip.

It is expected that one result of the election is that Mr. Baffour, the premier, will, as far as possible, avoid making changes in the cabinet, involving more bye-elections, Gerald Balfour's seat, among others, being considered rather unsafe.

ANOTHER LOSS.

Another incident which is adding to the Conservative discomfiture is the decision of Mr. John Cathcart Wason, Liberal Unionist member, to rejoin the Liberal party. Mr. Wason supported the government during the war, but he is now so dissatisfied with the government's policy in the matters of army reform, education and Irish land questions that he can not longer support it.

SCANDINAVIAN IMMIGRANTS.

Large Numbers Flocking to America. – Hard Times the Cause.

A dispatch from Copenhagen, Denmark, dated July 28th says: The transport lines here are coping with the greatest rush of Scandinavian immigration to the United States since the eighties. Every outgoing vessel, Scandinavian or American, is crowded. The Oscar II., of the Scandinavian - American line, is taking 1,000 emigrants on each trip. Her two sister ships will now be hurried towards completion in order to handle the traffic. The cause of this rush is the unprecedented hard times throughout Scandinavia as well as the more stringent conscription laws in Sweden. The emigrants are mostly of an excellent class and are bound chiefly to the western States, where they will settle on agricultural lands. The total number of emigrants, which left this port for the United States for the nine months ending with March 31st were: Denmark 3,383, Norway 4,840, and Sweden 15,601.

DROWNED AT PORT DOVER.

Arthur Brock fell into the harbor at Port Dover on July 30th from a small boat in which he and a companion were changing seats. The companion, named Taylor, jumped in to the rescue, and was pulled down and became unconscious. McDonald, a member of the crew of an American yacht, jumped to the rescue, and brought up Taylor, who was resuscitated with great difficulty. Brock's body was brought up by McDonald immediately, but life could not be restored

Canada has at least two systems of navigation which have not been utilized generally, and which may play an important part in the development of the country. They both begin in Alberta. One goes clear up to the Arctic ocean. The other goes eastward to Lake Winnipeg, and there begins another system of communication with Hudson Bay. The opportunity of testing the utility of these will increase as settlement advances northward. When we remember that there was once grave doubt as to whether railways could be run in the winter in northern New York, we feel that pessimism requires as many checks as optimism.—Toronto Globe.

C. N. R. CROP REPORT.

Prospects Are Bright for a Mammoth Yield.

The following is the crop report issued by the C. N. R. on July 31. It will be noticed that in speaking of the prospects all the agents are very optimistic and a bigger yield than last year is expected.

Ste. Anne—Prospects of the brightest.

Steinbach—Grains of all kinds progressing favorably. Yield will be equal to last year.

Warroad—Crops are in excellent condition There is about 20 per cent. in total acreage sown.

Emo—Prospects of the best, probable yield will be about 22 bushels to the acre.

Ste. Agathe—Average yield estimated at 18 bushels per acre for wheat and oats 45 bushels.

Morris—Crop prospects are of the brightest It is expected that the yield per acre will be somewhat higher than last year.

St. Jean—Crops looking well. If fine weather continues yield will be about 25 bushels per acre.

Letellier — General condition of crops throughout district favorable.

Emerson—All crops in excellent condition. Estimated yield about 22 bushels per acre.

Roland—All crops in district looking well. Well headed out and filling rapidly. Acreage 10 to 15 per cent. less than last year.

Miami—Wheat crop very promising. If conditions continue favorable yield is estimated from 23 to 25 bushels per acre.

Altamont—Crops are in excellent later than last year, but prospects were never brighter. Conservative estimate wheat 25 bushels, barley 40, oats, 60.

Somerset — Prospects never better. Estimated yield 25 to 30 bushels.

Swan Lake — Increase in wheat acreage about ten per cent. Crops are growing nicely and prospects are good.

Baldur—Everything is favorable for a yield of about 25 bushels per acre.

Hilton—Everything points to a record breaker. Estimated yield 22 bushels per acre.

Wawanesa—Crops are all doing well. Harvesting will likely commence latter part of August.

Brandon—The weather is favorable for growing crop, which is looking remarkably fine. Yield will be large. About same acreage as last year.

Ninette—Crops in excellent condition, will probably yield from 25 to 30 bushels per acre.

Dunrea—Estimated yield, wheat 25 bushels per acre, oats 40 and barley 35.

Elgin—Crop prospects excellent; estimated yield of wheat 25 bushels per acre, and oats 50 bushels per acre.

Hartney—Crops in this district looking very promising; estimated yield 25 bushels per acre, oats 60, and barley 35.

Methven Junction—Wheat all headed out; prospects could not be better.

Eli—Crops are looking fine; estimated yield from 25 to 30 bushels per acre.

Portage— Crops are coming on splendidly; acreage about the same as last year, but prospects are for heavier yield.

Beaver—Crops in good condition; estimated yield 20 bushels per acre.

Gladstone—Crops are looking fine; and promise a good yield.

Plumas—Crops are looking fine; prospects for heavy yield are bright.

Makinak—Crop prospects are very bright.

Ochre River—Crops in this district are good; estimated yield from 20 to 25 bushels per acre.

Ethelbert—Crops all doing well in this district.

Swan River—Crops looking fine in this district; average yield will be about 25 bushels per acre.

Homewood—Crops have good appearance yield will be 30 bushels per acre.

Carman—Crops in exceptionally fine condition, expected yield from 28 to 30 bushels per acre.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who bought the famous library belonging to Lord Acton, has presented it to Mr. John Morley, M. P., the Liberal statesman.

This year the Intercolonial railway shows a surplus.

Earthquake shocks in Nebraska were generally felt on July 30.

The value of buildings to be erected in Winnipeg this year totals $1,622,800.

Harold H., the fast pacer, has left Winnipeg to race next week in Chicago.

Coronation Day, August 9, will be observed as a Dominion public holiday.

More arrests have taken place at Portage la Prairie, over the C. N. R. strike troubles.

The Anglican missionary at York Factory denies the story that Andre was killed by Esquimaux.

The big mound at Big Forks river, New Ontario, has been opened and interesting relics found.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

The Bell telephone system in Montreal is handicapped by an epidemic of matrimony among the girls in the employ of the company. In one office the company have found it necessary to replace sixty operators within the last few months, and in the majority of cases matrimony is given as the cause.

I bought a horse with a supposedly incurable ringbone for $30.00, cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT, and sold him in four months for $85.00. Profit on Liniment, $54.00.

MOISE DEROSCE,
Hotel Keeper.
St. Phillip's Que., Nov. 1st, 1901.

The longer a man lives the more lost opportunities he has to regret.

Some men are pleasant enough to talk to, but rather disagreable to listen to.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

The man who takes up a lot of your valuable time is seldom able to take a hint.

It is the vaulting ambition of an acrobat that enables him to achieve success.

A big woman can go through a small man's pockets without any sleight of hand business.

STREET CAR ACCIDENT—Mr. Thos. Sabin says: "My eleven year old boy had his foot badly injured by being run over by a car on the street railway. We at once commenced bathing the foot with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, when the discoloration and swelling was removed, and in nine days he could use his foot. We always keep a bottle in the house ready for any emergency."

Good sense—never the product of a single mind—it the fruit of intercourse and collision.

Ill-fitting boots and shoes cause corns. Holloway's Corn Cure is the article to use. Get a bottle at once and cure your corns.

Never put off till to-morrow what you can get someone else to do today.

So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen that often in a few weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough, there is always danger in delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

When a woman throws herself at a man's head she seldom hits the mark

WHY HE CONSENTED.

The Farmer's Reasons Were Certainly to His Advantage.

"We were running a trolley car line along a New Hampshire highway last summer," said the electrical engineer, "and while we had the right of way we tried to be easy with the farmers whose gates we passed. We finally struck one old fellow, a widower, who swore he'd shoot the first man who put pick and shovel into the ground. I used all the usual arguments, but without effect, and finally I said:

"'Perhaps you know the Widow Lampheare, living two miles below here?'

"'I do,' says he.

"'Very nice woman.'

"'She is.'

"'Wouldn't object to marrying again, I hear.'

"'That's what's I've heard too.'

"'I don't see why she and you shouldn't make a match,' I continued.

"'Waal, I've sometimes thought it might come around,' he replied, with a smile.

"'I see only one drawback. There are two or three others after her, and some of them may get ahead of you.'

"'Um! I never heard of that.'

"'That is the case. Suppose you are working in the field some day and all of a sudden you make up your mind to ask the widow to be yours.'

"'Mebbe I shall do that very thing.'

"'Well, it will take you an hour to walk down there after you've got on a clean shirt and greased your boots. What may not happen in that hour? Suppose some other man is ten minutes ahead of you. Suppose, owing to this electric road, which runs right by the widow's door, you were landed there ahead of all others by half an hour. The widow is yours, her farm is yours, and you are made happy for life. Otherwise'—

"'There's no otherwise about it,' he chipped in. 'You jest go ahead with your old railroad, and the quicker you finish it the quicker I'll step aboard and buzz down to the widder's and have this bisness all settled. I don't know much about electricity, but if it's goin' to bring me a wife and a farm let her come by the barrel!'"

M. QUAD.

MARKET REVIEW.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

WHEAT—During the past week the speculative wheat markets in the States have developed considerable weakness and displayed a good deal of nervousness. Prices have resorded a gradual decline every day without any sign of reaction until yesterday when closing prices were ¼c better than the day before. The decline on the week is 1⅜c to 2c per bushel.

There is little to be said about the crops at present. Winter wheat harvest is over in the States and Europe as far north as the north of France. It begins in the south of England this week and the spring wheat harvest in the southern part of South Dakota and Southern Minnesota is beginning this week. In Argentina the weather has been favorable for the new crop which has got a good start. In Australia some rains had fallen in the wheat districts, but not sufficient to make the situation for the new crop favorable, and at present Australia is not counted as an exporter for next year. India has been a good shipper to Europe recently, but the prospect for the coming season's crop is not flattering.

There is very little doing in Manitoba wheat and the business for the season 1901-2 is getting pretty well wound up. Prices are firm and held above export value, but this is owing to the moderate quantity of wheat available to work on. The stock at Fort William is wearing down and shipment from the country points is on a gradually decreasing scale. At the close of last week values were: 1 hard, 76¼c; 1 northern, 74½c, 2 northern, 72¼c, in store Fort William or Port Arthur, spot or delivery first half of August.

FLOUR—Demand is light and the market is unchanged as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian, $2.05 per sack of 98 lbs.; Glenora Patent, $1.90; Alberta, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.60; XXXX, $1.25.

MILLFEED — Bran is firm and worth $15 per ton in bulk. Shorts firm at $17 per ton in bulk, delivered, subject to usual trade discounts.

GROUND FEED—We quote: Oat chop, per ton, $28; barley chop, $24; mixed barley and oats, $26; chop screenings, $15.50; oil cake, $30.

OATS—There is very little doing in the oat market. Offerings are ample for all requirements here, and as the export demand is quiet, there is not much doing. Prices for No. 2 white are firmer and 1c higher. Feed grades are unchanged. We quote: No. 2 white, 41 to 42c per bushel, for car lots on track here; feed grades, 37 to 38c. At country points farmers are getting 31 to 34c for No. 2 white oats.

BARLEY—All offerings are now being taken for feed at 40c per bushel. The movement is very light.

SPELTZ—Dealers are doing a little business in speltz for feeding purposes at 50c per bushel of 50lbs.

HAY—Demand is fair and the market steady at $7 to $8 per ton for carlots on track here for fresh baled.

ROLLED OATS—Milling companies report their prices unchanged as follows: 80lb. sacks, $2.20; 40lb. sacks are worth $2.25; 20s, $2.30; and 8s, $2.60 with cover. Twolb. packages, $3.60 without case. Granulated and standard oatmeal is unchanged at $2.75 per 88lb. sack.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 45c per pair, alive; fowl, 70 to 75c; ducks and geese, 9c per pound; turkeys, 11c, live weight.

BUTTER—Creamery—Factories are turning out considerable quantities of butter, of which there is a good market. Choice grades are worth 16½ to 17c per pound at factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Receipts are moderately large, and the market is steady. Considerable quantities are paying 13c per pound for choicest dairy in tubs or boxes, and from that figure the market ranges down to 10c per pound for low grades, all commission basis.

CHEESE—The market is steady and purchases have been made at 8½c per pound. The range of prices is from 8½c to 9c per pound delivered here.

EGGS—Receipts are moderate, and the market holds at 13c per dozen for choice case eggs delivered in Winnipeg.

DRESSED MEATS—Receipts are improving, and the market is easy. We quote: Beef, city dressed, 7½ to 8½c per lb.; veal, 8 to 9c; mutton, 9c; spring lambs, each, $3.50 to $4 hogs, per pound, 7¾ to 8¼c.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6½c; No. 2, 5½c; No. 3, 4½c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horsehides 50c to $1.

WOOL—Prices range from 6 to 6½c per pound.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—The export movement of range cattle is increasing, and a fair movement has been noted this week. The cattle are in fine condition now, and as the markets are right, a rapid movement may be looked for. The Manitoba cattle are not so fat as those from the west, especially the steers. Choice export steers from the western ranges are worth 4¼c per pound off cars in Winnipeg; butchers' cattle, 3¾ to 4c.

PLASTERS FAILED.

LINIMENTS, OILS AND MANY OTHER MEDICINES DID NO GOOD.

A New Brunswick Postmaster Tells of His Efforts to Cure His Kidney to Cure His Kidney Trouble—He Suffered for Years and Tried Many Medicines, but Only Recently Found the Right One.

Lower Windsor, N.B., Aug. 4. (Special.)—Mr T. H. Belyea, postmaster of this place, has made a very interesting statement of his experience in his efforts to be cured of Kidney Trouble which has bothered him for many years.

At times he would have very bad spells, and when these came on he was almost laid up.

He tried several doctors and used many medicines, but nothing seemed to help him in the least.

Plasters, oils, liniments on the outside and doses of all kinds and descriptions taken internally seem to have but one result. He was no better.

Finally through reading an advertisement he was led to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He says:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended for Kidney Trouble that after reading some testimonials, I concluded to try them according to directions.

"I had tried so many things that I was very skeptical and had but little faith that Dodd's Kidney Pills or would help me. However, I did not use them long before I found that they were all and more than was claimed for them.

"I have received more benefit from them than from any other medicine I have ever used for they seem to have made a complete cure of my case.

"I feel as well as ever I did and have not the slightest trace of the Kidney Trouble that bothered me ever so much.

"I want to say that I believe that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right medicine for Kidney Trouble."

Mr. Belyea is very well known to everybody in this neighborhood and there are but few who have not been aware of his serious illness.

Everyone is delighted at his improved health and his published statement has done much to make Dodd's Kidney Pills even more popular in this neighborhood than they have been.

TO PREVENT MISTAKES.

Employer (to new office boy) — "George, if anybody should ask you, I'll be back in half an hour."

New Office Boy (running after him) "Mr. Jacobs, how soon'll you be back if nobody asks me?"

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to-be-dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended, I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

The cost of battleships is increasing. The Bulwark, built at Devonport will represent an outlay of £1,082,805

A western man has shot his wife because he loved her. Some men are so demonstrative.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Cures Dandruff.

The oldest inhabitant talks a good deal, but he doesn't make half so much noise as the tooth-cutting youngest inhabitants.

Every time a man runs across a lot of old clothes around the house he searches them, although he never finds anything.

Mrs. Smith—"I declare this leg of mutton has shrunk away almost to nothing." Willie Smith—"Perhaps, mamma, it came off the same sheep as my flannel did."

The number of suicides in the French army has become so large that the cause has been investigated by a leading journalist. A system of cruelty and brutality seems to have grown up, which is making life unbearable to young recruits.

During recent eruptions of Mount Vesuvius the clouds of vapor were found to be strongly charged with hydrochloric acid.

To Recognize Purity.

Adulteration has grown to such a fine art, that it is almost impossible for a woman now-a-days to detect the false from the true; but a chemical analysis will always detect adulteration. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 210

THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD.

TRYING TO MAKE HIM STEP

in and order a bag of Ogilvie's flour for her baking the housewife is continually asking of her husband, but if he forgets she will order it herself, for the lover o' good, white and delicious bread will never use any other after she experiences the satisfactory results of Ogilaie's flour. It is made from choice wheat and milled by the best process. Always ask for Ogilvie's.

BY ROYAL WARRANT
Millers to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales

Americans are proverbially wide-awake - that is why they are buying Manitoba lands and Blue Ribbon Tea.

ARE YOU BUILDING?

Eddy's impervious sheathing is the best building paper made. It is very much stronger and thicker than any other (tarred or building) paper. It is impervious to wind, keeps out cold, keeps in heat, carries no smell or odor, absorbs no moisture, imparts no taste or flavor to anything to which it comes in contact. It is largely used not only for sheathing houses, but for lining cold storage buildings, refrigerators, dairies, creameries, and all places where the object is to keep an even and uniform temperature, and at the same time avoiding dampness. Write our agents—

TEES & PERSSE, WINNIPEG, AGENTS.

THE E. B. EDDY CO., Ltd., HULL

The war is over! Dont pay war prices for highly puffed cheap TEA
Buy GOLD STANDARD
—best value in the world.

A FAST CROWD.

"Of course you read about that horse breaking the record. Goodness! I don't see how a horse could be so fast."

"Oh! I don't know. Look at the class of people it has to associate with at the race tracks.

"And was my present a surprise to your sister, Johnny?" "You bet! She said she never suspected you'd give her anything so cheap."

FAGGED OUT — None but those who have become fagged out, know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength is gone and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there is nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

It's well enough to begin at the bottom of the ladder once, but some men make a continuous performance of it.

Truth may be slow, bue it is surefooted.

Lots of girls get married merely to gratify their curiosity.

No artist has ever been inspired to paint a bald-headed angel.

A lazy man never gets ahead unless someone puts a head on him.

The average man is charitable toward all women except his wife.

SEE HIM SMILE!

So will you if you smoke

LUCINA

Cigars. You cannot resist when you get that sweet flavor. Try one

MANUFACTURED BY
GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS, B. C.

Without question the best and most effective springs in Canada for the cure of rheumatism, kidney or liver troubles. The medicinal qualities of the water are unequalled. Splendid hotel accommodation; fine fishing and hunting. An ideal spot for the invalid.

Prince Maha Vajiravuch, son of the King of Siam, will visit America directly after the coronation of King Edward.

W. N. U. No. 388.

The lord chancellor of Ireland is the most highly paid holder of a judicial office in the British empire. His salary is £8,000 per annum.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for:—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING:

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " " "	12.00
Fourteen " " "	14.00
Sixteen " " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 9. 1902.

THE STRIKE SETTLEMENT.

To announce the settlement of the labor troubles, which for several weeks have stagnated the business of the community, is assuredly a very pleasant duty Although, as strikes go, the Fernie trouble was of short duration, it nevertheless occasioned great waste, not only in Fernie, and its immediate vicinity, but throughout the mining sections of the province.

As is always the case in disarrangements of this nature the greatest loss is the unused labor. This is one form of wealth which can never be stored. It must be applied or it is lost. For this reason the loss sustained by the men in all strikes is greater than that suffered by the employing companies. While strikes are in progress it is a favorite pastime with some to figure up just what the operating Company is losing, but seldom do the losses foot up to anything like the proportions assigned to them. As a rule the greatest loss suffered by the company is in the form of deferred profits. The strike causes an interruption to its operations. If the strike lasts a month, and the company is paying dividends at the rate of ten per cent., the company loss will be in the neighborhood of one per cent. But when the strike is over the company resumes practically where it left off. It is different with the striker. During the strike he has lost not only the profit on his labor but the gross value of his labor. For a month he and the members of his family have lived without work, and with them it will be months before they get back to the condition in which the opening of the strike found them.

If the recent trouble brings about a better understanding between the management of the Coal Company and the men in its employ, the loss suffered will not be too great a price to pay. But in summing up the lessons of the strike there is one which stands out too prominently to be overlooked, and this is the urgent necessity of efficient legal machinery for the bringing together of parties to such disputes with a view to their immediate settlement by arbitration. That the Fernie strike has been settled is due altogether to the circumstance that after a needless waste of energy the parties to it decided to get together and see what they could do in the way of a settlement. If this was possible after the strike had lasted several weeks, it would have been much easier on the first day of the trouble, because every day of the strike adds something to the sum total of the bitterness which separates the parties to it.

The abortive effort to induce the Associated Boards of Trade of Kootenay to use their good offices to bring about an arbitration of the strike illustrates most forcibly the necessity for efficient machinery which can be set in motion without delay whenever similar difficulties present themselves. There can not be the slightest doubt but that at the time the Fernie Board of Trade asked the Executive of the Associated Boards of Trade to interest itself in the Fernie situation, the strikers, as well as the officials of the company, regarded the action of the local Board of Trade with favor. Neither side was willing to openly ask for arbitration, because they had little knowledge of that useless statute which masquerades under the title of an arbitration act, and they did not know to what extent they would be committing themselves. And because the parties to the dispute were timorous about requesting intervention, the executive of the Associated Boards of Trade weakened, and declined to take the initiatory step which doubtless would have settled the trouble some time ago.

It is not too much to say that at the time the Fernie Board of Trade took action everything was ripe for arbitration, but the community was robbed of the benefit of a speedier settlement solely through the absence of a compulsory arbitration act.

THE POWER OF JAMES HILL.

There is no man more talked of at present throughout southern British Columbia and the north-western States of the Republic to the south, than James J. Hill. In his capacity as the dominating power in the management of two great transcontinental lines of railway he has been travelling for weeks, familiarizing himself with the possibilities of the sections reached by his lines in the way of providing traffic, and incidentally giving the people an inkling of the great powers of which he is possessed.

He is one of the captains of industry who exerts a power greater than most of the others. To him it is given to say whether the people of large populous States shall have prosperity or adversity, whether large areas of arid lands shall be reclaimed and made productive, and whether the large bodies of low grade ores in different sections shall be given a commercial value or not. It is all done by the fixing of railway rates.

This is truly a great power to vest in any single individual, but in the absence of the application of the principle of government ownership of railway it may be regarded as the legitimate fruit of the present system. Nor can it be said that James J. Hill does abuse to any great extent the powers invested in him. He is doubtless too shrewd a man to make any such mistake.

British Columbia is interested in Mr. Hill to a very considerable extent, since he has become a very potent factor in the development of its great natural resources. He is one of the principal stockholders in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and to extend the market for the product of the mines and coke ovens he has caused to be built the line of railway from the south, which is to reach the American smelting points. He is also the controlling power in the short line of railway which taps the silver-lead mines of the Slocan, controls the lines of railway which reach Nelson and Rossland, and has extensive railway building in prospect in the great low-grade mining camps of the Boundary.

Though much has been written in the press of the Province within the last couple of years in the effort to present Mr. Hill in the light of a buccaneer, it cannot be said that the Province so far has reason for anything but congratulations as the result of Mr. Hill's incursion.

THE STRIKE.

The following article from the British Columbia Mining Record, while it is open for criticism and its attack upon the Western Federation of Miners is altogether unwarranted, nevertheless contains a good deal of commonsense:—

"The coal miners' strike at Fernie was an event of far-reaching importance, because it affected not only the four hundred men, directly concerned in it, the Crow's Nest Pass company and their employees, but the operations of the smelters depending upon Fernie for their supply of coke; and anything curtailing the capacity of smelters must inevitably, after a time, reduce the output of the mines, which send ore to them. Thus the whole metalliferous mining industry of the Boundary district was injuriously affected, and in the event of a prolonged strike might be paralyzed and all its business interests greatly injured by such action as that of the coal miners. So interwoven are the various mining interests, and so fundamental to their prosperity is the production of coal for coking purposes, that nothing of a business nature would have so disastrous a result, so far as Southern British Columbia is concerned, as a prolonged strike of coal miners. It appears that the Boundary smelters, the largest consumers of Feruie coke, were able after some delay to secure a partial supply of coke, but this is a detail only, and does not affect the great principle involved in such a strike as that now under consideration. The following extract from the Phoenix Pioneer of July 12th, states this aspect of the case clearly and forcibly, and is the more valuable because it is from a paper published in the heart of the copper mining district:—

"The chief industry of the Boundary—that of mining—which gives employment to a thousand men, and support to five thousand more, is in a crisis. The men are not dissatisfied with the wages paid, nor the hours of work nor the way in which they are treated. There is plenty of ore, and capital stands ready to do business. Three smelters are prepared to handle from 2,500 to 3,000 tons of ore daily. There is no strike, no trouble here of any kind. And yet the mining business is temporarily at a standstill, because a few men, some 300 miles from here, with whom we have nothing to do, and over whom we have no control, have seen fit to so decree.

* * * *

Let us review the situation, which we hope will be in process of adjustment be-

(Continued on last page)

Still Doing Business

At the Old Stand

where my personal attention will be given to the filling of prescriptions, and generally attending to the wants of the public.

A. W. Bleasdell

Graduate Ontario College of Pharmacy. Thirty-five years' experience in drug business.

Next to Post Office, Fernie.

When you don't get the best of the Market at our store, we want you to let us know.

The preserving season is here, and we are well stocked with

Glass Sealers

Quarts and half gallons.

Granite Kettles

in all sizes,

and everything necessary for the proper and successful putting up of fruit.

You need the best of utensils, and that is what we never overlook.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
—PROFESSIONAL NURSE—

Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C. 5-3m

PLANTS FOR SALE

A number of beautiful house plants for sale at reasonable prices. Apply to
MRS. KATHARINE McKAY.
This side of bridge, near Mott's mill. 3-4t

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Mr. A. McLeod, of Frank, was in town on Thursday.

L. Mills, manager of the Hotel Central, is holidaying at the coast.

Mrs. J. H. Bricker who has been in the east for several months, started for her home in Fernie this week.

The Treasurer of the Fernie Athletic Association wishes to acknowledge the receipt of $20.00 from Mr. Wm. Eschwig.

Mr. F. W. Clayton, of Portage la Prairie, was in town this week. He called on a number of old Portage friends during his stay in Fernie.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

School opens on Monday, 18th Mrs. W. Martin will occupy the position of principal until the board can secure the services of a new teacher to take Mr. Watson's place.

Mr and Mrs. A. E. Warren left Saturday evening for Winnipeg, where they will reside in future. Mr. Warren occupied the position of bookkeeper in the London and Liverpool Co.

Several parties are out prospecting for coal in the vicinity of Lodge Pole Creek. Several valuable claims have been staked and licenses applied for. The claims are situated on the east side of the government's 50,000 acre reserve.

W. B. Ganong, the popular manager of the Royal Hotel, left on Monday for St. Johns, N. B., where he will spend a month's holidays. He expects to bring his wife out with him on his return and make his home permanently in Fernie.

The open season for wild ducks in Alberta comes in on the 23rd of this month and a number of our local sportsmen intend to go down to Pincher Creek and Cowley for the occasion. Ducks are reported to be very numerous this season.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Holy Communion 11 o'clock; Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

The annual picnic of Christ Church, Fernie, was held on Thursday afternoon in the valley near H. J. Turner residence. It was a basket picnic and the friends and members of the Sunday School turned out in large numbers. A good program of races and games was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rennie desire to express their sincere thank to those who so kindly rendered their services during their recent sad affliction. Mr. W. Liphardt also wishes us to thank those who so generously came to his assistance when he was so nearly exhausted in the mountains.

American silver dollars are not finding favor in the eyes of the local bankers at Macleod. The coin is worth but 80 cents at the Union Bank and 90 cents at Cowdry Bros.' bank. This rule came into effect on the 1st of August. The citizens of Fernie are quite willing to take all the American money they can get at face value.

Geo. A. Paulson, of Spokane, has been in town for several days this week. During his stay here he discovered a fraud which a man living in Fernie has been working on him for some time. Mr. Paulson sent an agent here several weeks ago to look up a timber limit, but owing to the high water he was unable to do anything at the time but engaged a certain mountain guide, to make the selection. The Fernie man made several requests for funds from Mr. Paulson to prosecute his search for timber, and he unsuspectingly forwarded the coin, but imagine his chagrin upon his arrival here to find that his advance funds had been spent in booze and nothing done toward the selection of the timber.

Louis Collins, conductor on the branch to the mines, almost lost his life on Wednesday night about 11 o'clock, as it was both his hands were horribly mangled. He was switching in the yard at Coal Creek mines when he slipped and fell in front of the engine and before he could make a move to save himself it passed over him. Fortunately for him he is a small man and aside from several bruises on the back he escaped being crushed, but both hands were partly on one of the rails, the wheels passing over them. He was immediately taken to the Fernie hospital where it was found necesssry to amputate all the fingers on the right hand and two on the left. The operation was performed by Drs. Corsan and Bonnell. Collins has a wife and family to support and the accident renders him useless for a long time to come.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Mr. A. W. Bleasdell spent several days in Fort Steele this week.

Mrs. S. Jennings, who has been ill with melarial fever for some weeks, is able to be around again.

Mr. E. C. Smith, M.P.P., and several members of the local miners' union visited Morrissey on Sunday last.

H. W. Barnes has resigned his position as constable. He refused to occupy a subordinate position under Mr. Forbes after having served on the force in South east Kootenay for over ten years.

Col. Prior, Minister of Mines, and Mr. E. C. Smith, M. P. P. for this district, were in town several days this week. Col. Prior is making a tour of all the mining camps in the Kootenays. He left for the west on Tuesday morning.

All lovers of sport as well as the many friends of Harry Beaubier will be sorry to learn that he has left Fernie. He took departure for his home in Brandon on Monday evening. Harry was a leader in sporting circles, holding important positions on both the lacrosse and hockey teams

Baptist church, Victoria Ave., Lord's Day services: Morning service at 11, Sunday school at 2:30 p.m., Evening service at 7:30. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, prayer and bible study. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, B. Y. P. U. Rev. D. Holford, B.D., pastor. All these services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended all to be present.

H. S. Monkman, who has conducted the Fernie Drug Store for the past two years, left Tuesday evening for Montreal, where he will enter McGill university. Mr. Monkman was one of the charter members of the Angels' Rest and on Monday evening he was presented with a beautiful meerschaum pipe as a token of the regard in which he was held by his brother members.

Mr. Chas. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners left for the west on Wednesday morning. The people of Fernie certainly owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Moyer, as it was largely through his personal influence that the strike was ended. This is the second local union that Mr. Moyer has ever visited in his official capacity. He is now making a tour of all the unions in British Columbia, before returning to his headquarters in Denver, Colorado.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN RUN OUT.

On Sunday evening among others who volunteered to go with the rescue party was James Bryson, but before they had gone far he succeeded in convincing three of the party that he knew a shorter route to the summit and leading them into the woods to the left for several miles soon lost himself and companions. He managed to find his way back to town about dark, but his companions struggled on and by daybreak made the summit of Mt Fernie, just in time to join the second rescue party. The fact that these men carried most of the supplies for the first party, placed the men who had left the night before in a very awkward position as they had little or nothing to eat and they were nearly famished when joined by relief party No. 2.

When Bryson returned to town he informed the citizens that there were two many bosses in the first party and that he would go up in the morning. He started out all right in the morning, but his natural laziness soon showed itself and in the course of a couple of miles he dropped behind and it is supposed spent the day sleeping under some shady tree. At any rate about 5 o'clock he once more made his appearance in Fernie and started the story that he had been up and met the party and that Dunsmore was all right, in fact was walking down. Bryson told this story to at least a dozen people and as the relief party had promised to send back a messenger as soon as they reached their destination, the story was believed. The relatives and friends of Dunsmore were made happy by the report, but imagine their feelings when they learned several hours later that Bryson's story was nothing but a base lie and that he had never been within seven or eight miles of the spot.

Indignation against Bryson ran high when the facts came out and the only wonder is that he was not ordered out of town. Of the many detestable creatures that are permitted to roam abroad on the face of the earth none is more despised and detested that the liar, and a man who will deliberately and without reason circulate a story like the above surely earns for himself that title. He showed not the slightest regard for the feelings of the relatives and friends of the young man, but raised false hopes only to have them dashed to the ground again.

Bell Organ for sale cheap.—This is a second-hand instrument and can be secured at a bargain. Apply to A. H. Cree. x

Do not fail to hear Rev. J. G. Shearer, B. A., in the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening at 8:30. Subject: "The Battle for the Toilers' Sabbath as against Corporation Greed and worldly pleasure-seeking." Mr. Shearer will also take the service in the Methodist Church at 11 a. and in the Presbyterian Church at 7.30 p. m.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce
HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.
Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000
HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.
Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.
FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

I have disposed of my interest in the Fernie Drug Store, and while thanking my customers for their patronage would bespeak for my successor a continuance of their favors.

H. S. MONKMAN

Having taken over Mr. Monkman's interest in the Fernie Drug Store I beg to assure the Public that their wants will receive immediate and careful attention.
The stock is being increased to meet every demand.
I am an honor graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy and have dispensed for several years in the leading Pharmacies of Toronto.
I can confidently guarantee the accuracy and promptness of my prescription work and would respectfully solicit your patronage.

N. E. SUDDABY.

WE FEEL that we can please anyone and everyone with this line of goods for
Made-to-Order Suits and Overcoats.
There's such a variety of handsome designs and the cloth is so good that there is hardly any chance of increasing the one or improving the other.

C. W. LAIDLEY

FIRE! FIRE!

The Dry Season is coming....

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.
Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.
We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

Housekeepers!

The London & Liverpool Co. have the Greatest display of Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Lace Curtains and Linens ever Shown in B.C.

Carpets
Unions all-wool, Axminsters, Brussels, Tapestry, Velvets, with a grand line of Wool, Brussels and Tapestry Art Squares.

Linoleum and Oil Cloth
Tile and Carpet Patterns in all the new colorings, 6 to 12 feet wide.

Lace Curtains
400 pair to select from, prices ranging from 50 cts. to $10.

Rugs In this department it is worth your while to visit even should you not buy. Such a grand collection never shown in the west.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

Full Line of SPORTING GOODS
Savage, Winchester, Stevens, and Mauser Rifles. Shot Guns at special prices. Revolvers, 32 and 38 calibre, Iver Johnson and Browning. Our stock of Ammunition is very complete.
When in need of Mouse Traps don't overlook us. Headquarters for "Out of Sight." The best on earth.
You can get three kegs of Carpet Tacks for 2 bits from

TAKE A BRACE
as a sample of our value giving in the line of Tools.
Here's one at two dollars, and its worth every penny of it. Nickel plated Rachet Brace, long sleeve rachets, well finished steel sweeps and jaws. Walnut head and handle. A strong, heavy brace and very durable. All through our line of mechanics' tools are similar bargains. We can do business on a can't-be-beat basis.

J. D. QUAIL..
Hardware. Furniture.

Important Notice!

Why wear dirty, creased and wrinkled clothes?

when it will cost only the insignificant sum of $3 per month to keep them in the smartest condition possible. I will send for your clothing, and return same to you looking almost as well as when they were purchased. Those wishing to grasp this great opportunity should call at once and leave their names with me. The amount of clothing you possess is of no importance to me.

Yours sincerely,

...H. HILL.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"He didn't much like the talk of the police. I could see that. They might want to know more about him than he chose to tell. That settled him, I think, for he dragged me up to the carriage door, opened it and shoved me in. I saw the lady, the same dona, was there and by her side a big bundle of something, a figure of a man it might 'a'been, all wrapped up in rugs and blankets and things. Might 'a'been a dead un. Then the feller began talking foreign again to the dona, and she answered back the same, and there was a great shindy.

"It was all about me. I guessed that. And the end was that the feller hoisted me on to the front seat and said to me mighty sharp:

"'You stick there. Don't move. If you try to get out, I shall see you from the box, and you won't get far even if you don't break your neck leaving the carriage. Watch him, Susette. She's responsible for you, my lad, and she knows what I'll do to her if you play any tricks.'

"With that he left us, and we rolled on.

"'Who sent you?' asked the dona directly he'd gone. 'Do you come from his friends?' She nudged the bundle alongside. 'Do you know Captain Wood?'"

"Ha, you see!" interposed the American. "You bet that was our man hid up among those rugs."

The others were compelled now to admit the fact, and they did so ungrudgingly. As for me, my heart was beating fast, for I felt that at last I had come upon the track of my love.

"What did you tell her? Go on, my good boy," I said breathlessly.

"You see, miss, I'd never heard tell of no captain, but I wouldn't let on," Joe continued. "The boss 'ere had only told me to watch, saying it was a cross job, but he mentioned no names. So I ups and asks, 'Is that Mr. Wood?' and I could 'a' sworn that the bundle moved, and there was struggling like inside."

"Gagged, of course," put in the American.

Joe went on. "'Anyway, I am his friend,' she says. 'I don't mean he shall come to harm. And I want him'—the bundle moved again—'him and others to know that, and I'd like you to tell 'em so when you get out of this mess.' 'When'll that be?' I asks, a little bit on the hump, you know. 'Now, if you're game to hop out, I'm not a-going to stop you,' and she was for turning of the handle then and there.

"But I considered a bit, and the thought came in my head that now I'd got 'ere I had ought to stick 'ere. There was the gentleman opposite me—as I judged—and if I was to do any service to him 'twasn't by cutting away. I'd got to see the thing right through—where they took him, what they did to him, who and what they were."

"You're a brave lad," I said, stretching out and shaking hands with him, and indeed I should have liked to hug him, dusty and dirty as he was.

"Thank you kindly, miss," he answered shyly, and went on. "The only way out of it was to say I was afeard to jump. The cove on the box was a-watching me, I says, and a lot more. Then the carriage settled it by turning into some yard, a private place it looked like, but they gave me no time to spy, for the feller from the box came down directly we stopped and had me out in a jiffy.

"''Ere,' he says, 'we've got first to do with you. Lay hold on him.' Then two other chaps grabs me by the arms and rushes me head down, jam, ram, straight into a dark hole that smelled of moldy straw and garbage—some sort of cellar—where they locked a door on me, and I was laid up in limbo like a rat in a trap.

"It took me half an hour or so to shake myself together. First thing that gave me heart was a streak of daylight up atop of the calaboose, and when I struck a match I found it comed through an old iron grating, which I soon overhauled. 'Tworn't set so tight that I couldn't soon loosen a brick, although I tore my hands a bit before I got the thing right out. Then I'd a job to lift myself up by my arms, but I'm strong in the arms, and by and by I scrambled through that grating—that's what tore my clothes—and out on to the yard above. It was the one as we'd druv into—a stable yard at the back of a tall house all shut up, windows shuttered, blinds down. No one at home, you'd say. The stables was empty—no horses, helpers, no traps. I couldn't find that the stables joined on to the house neither, but I judged it was better not to hang about too long or they'd be copping me again. So I makes for the yard doors. They was only barred on the inside, and I got out right enough into the back lane. That's about all. I comed on then straight to you, sir, to make my report."

"You were in a monstrous hurry," said Colonel Bannister. "Why didn't you mark down the house, the neighborhood, the exact spot?"

Mr. Snuyzer took his part. "Joe knows his business; yes, sir, as well as the best professionals. Tell us, Joe."

"The stables was in Featherstone mews, No. 7. To make sure I chalked something on the doors. The stables was at the back of Featherstone Gardens and belonged, I should say, to No. 7."

In a few minutes more we had started in cabs—I in a hansom with Sir Charles—straight for Featherstone Gardens. Roy came with us. We were the first to arrive, but the others had gone round, escorted by Joe, to the back of the house so as to verify the mews and the situation exactly. When they joined us at the entrance of the gardens, Colonel Bannister, who now took the lead, dismissed the cabs and said in his brief, ordering sort of way:

"We can't all go up to the house. It might create a scandal. The whole thing may be a mistake. I'll take this lad first. He may perhaps identify somebody, and then we shall be entitled to act."

"And me, please," I added. "Oh, yes, indeed, Colonel Bannister, I shall go too."

He shrugged his shoulders, and we three, with Roy close at my heels, soon stood on the doorstep of No. 7. The house was all shut up, the chain was on the door, and we waited a long time while some one inside fumbled with it and several bolts.

"Well, what is it?" asked an old man who at last opened the door, but held it ajar. He was of very respectable appearance, with white hair under a black skullcap, and wore a decent blue and white striped jacket, the type of an old servant in a good family. "May I inquire"—

"We wish to see your master," said the colonel promptly.

"I am afraid that is impossible, sir," replied the man civilly. "The family have gone out of town. The duke left yesterday for Spain."

"The duke?"

"The Duke of Tierra Sagrada. He is my master, sir. If you will leave your card I will see that it is sent on to him, or any letter. I have his address."

"In Spain?"

"Certainly, sir. Casa Huerta Hermosa, St. Sebastian. They have gone to the seaside. No, please"—this was to me, for I was quietly trying to get Roy past him into the house—"that dog mustn't come in. My orders are strict against dogs."

"Call him back, Miss Fairholme, at once," said the colonel in a tone which I resented, but he cut me quite short. "This farce has gone far enough. I wash my hands of it. Good night"—this to the old manservant as we walked away. "And if you will be guided by me, Miss Fairholme, you will do the same. It's all humbug from first to last, I give you my word. I do not believe one syllable of this story, except perhaps about the papers, and even then I am not quite satisfied, for they were sent to Captain Wood in the dispatch box. That we know"—

"But not at Captain Wood's request," I said hurriedly.

"His man thinks not, and I admit the box was not specifically mentioned in the letter, but the letter said papers, and the expression was seemingly one that Wood used, for the man, as a matter of course, sent the dispatch box."

"But what do you imply?"

"Just this, that Captain Wood intended to keep out of the way—for reasons I do not presume to conjecture—and while out of the way to go on with his work. He'll turn up in good time, take my word for it, and will give his own explanation of his absence. It may not be absolutely satisfactory, his excuse may be bad, but he will make one, and you will have to take it or leave it," were the cynical police colonel's last words.

I hated and loathed him for taking this view, and I turned my back on him. Sir Charles did not console me, for he was thinking more about the official papers than Willie's disappearance.

"By the Lord Harry, we shall be in Queer street if they don't turn up," he said with much emphasis. "Wood or no Wood, we've got to get them, or there will be a jolly row; a cabinet question, egad, and the devil's own complications. The matter can't rest here. So cheer up, Miss Frida. We'll all do our level best."

"Why, certainly," added Snuyzer, "we don't depend entirely on police colonels, and this one is not so almighty clever. I've got to get on the inside track of this business, and I'll do it yet, you bet your bottom dollar."

It was kind of them, but I would not be consoled. When I got to Hill street, I crept up to my room, very sorrowful and sick at heart, and cried myself to sleep.

Next morning while I was dressing they came and told me that Mr. Snuyzer had called. He had something important to tell me, and was rather in a hurry.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

The Facts Coming Out.

"But," said a citizen of Kilkenny, when the original proposition was made to fasten the two cats together by the tails and hang them over a clothesline, "how long will it take them to kill each other?"

"That," replied the purveyor of the entertainment, shrugging his shoulders, "is only a question of tie 'em."

OLD LUNNON.

Census Figures Show Tremendous Growth in Suburban Districts—Female Population Increasing at a Disproportionate Rate.

Some notable figures are presented regarding the huge metropolis, London, in the official census report, which has just been issued. The census was completed on March 31, 1901, and shows that during the century then completed the population of London had increased 3,500,000, and now stands at 4,536,541. In the last ten years the increase was 308,224, but as the births over deaths in that period numbered 491,000, the indications are that the migration from the city in the meantime exceeded 180,000.

For the year ended March 31, the city of London shows a decline of 67,000, but greater London expanded at an enormous rate, the increase being 947,000, of which number the outlying districts furnished 639,000. Of the country boroughs, Wandsworth shows the largest growth, having now 180,000 inhabitants. In 1891 there were only two boroughs with a population of 100,000; now there are nine.

When the census was taken there were ten centenarians in the city, but two have died since then. The oldest of those living is Mrs. Eliza Murtough of Mayall road, Brixton, whose age is 105 years. She has a daughter aged 84.

One notable fact disclosed in the figures is that the female population increases much more rapidly than the male. At the present time there are 250,000 more women than men in London, and of these women 1,403,842 are spinsters, waiting to be asked in marriage, while there are 197,517 lonely widows, 73 of whom are under 21 years of age, who might be induced to take new life partners. As against these unmarried women there are 1,252,594 bachelors, but why they chose to remain single is another question.

Taking the figures from another point of view, it is shown that there are 135,000 foreigners in London, of whom, strange to say, 85,000 are Russians, but it is not improbable that some of them left their country for their country's good. There are 5,000 ministers of the gospel of various denominations and a similar number of physicians, while the city boasts of 6,000 barristers and solicitors, with 9,570 clerks to attend to them.

The school-teachers number 28,000, of whom 8,000 are women, while the journalists and "others connected with literature" number 4,000. The drama contributes 2,234 actors and 2,900 actresses, including, of course, both those who are and those who think they are.

Additional notable figures refer to the barmaids, who are entered on the returns as "barmen." The wants of thirsty London are attended to by 7,600 of these barmaids, and of these 421 are returned as married—that is to say, there are 17 eligible out of every 18. Of the remaining population of London 16,000 are commercial travelers, or "drummers," as they are called in the States; 7,600 are engine drivers or train guards, with the same number of busmen, while 3,700 others are train drivers and conductors.

Du Chaillu's Animals.

In a long review of Paul Du Chaillu's "The World of the Great Forest," The Spectator, London, declares the book's only fault is the failure to supply all the details the reader wants to know about its furred and feathered heroes and heroines.

"Do the hippopotami of the West Coast river really go across country for a swim in the Atlantic on moonlight nights?" asks The Spectator. "Where is the 'land of plenty' to which the monkeys migrate? What are the fish which regularly travel up the rivers from the sea in the dry season to spawn? Where is the place where the forest eagles cross that great continent to rear their young? These questions are among many suggested by the book.

"The description of the bathing of the 'hippo' 'trippers,' from their cautious entry into the sea to their return at 4 a.m., 'when each family went back to its shoal,' hardly bears quoting, but the idea is novel and amusing. The illustrations of the life of these creatures and of their seaside party by Mr. Gleeson are really admirable.

"The native names of most animals are short. An exception is that of the great forest eagle, the monkey-eater. It is one of the crested hawk-eagles, of which the native name is 'guanionien.' The difficulties of these birds' life when monkeys are scarce; their power of soaring to such vast heights as to be invisible to the monkeys, and of dropping down from the blue, whence their keen eyes see the monkeys on the tree-tops, of their hovering over the tops of certain trees on which fruit grows which the monkeys will probably come to gather—are all fresh and vivid."

Has Been.

An Englishman went into a restaurant in a New England town and was served for his first course with a delicacy unknown to him, so he asked the waiter what it was, and the waiter replied:

"It's bean soup, sir," whereupon the Englishman in high indignation responded:

"I don't care what it's been; I want to know what it is!"

NEWSPAPER OUTFITS

¶ We supply at short notice complete JOB PRINTING AND NEWSPAPER OUTFITS.

¶ We sell what Printers want; Printers want what we sell.

¶ We carry a complete stock of Type and Supplies for the composing Room, Pressroom and Bindery.

TORONTO TYPE FDRY Company, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

Knight, the Winnipeg bicycle thief, has been sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

If your children are troubled with worms, give them Mother Grave's Worm Exterminator; safe, sure, and effectual. Try it, and mark the improvement in your child.

July customs revenue in the Dominion increased $329,000 this year over 1901.

C. P. R. land sales for July were three times as great as those a year ago.

HOT WEATHER AILMENTS.

Careful Mothers Should Keep at Hand the Means to Check Ailments

That Otherwise May Prove Fatal.

When the weather is hot the sands of the little life are apt to glide away before you know it. You can't watch the little one too carefully at this period. Dysentry, diarrhoea, cholera infantum and disorders of the stomach are alarmingly frequent during the hot moist weather of the summer months. At the first sign of any of these, or any of the other ailments that afflict little ones, give Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets will speedily relieve and promptly cure all hot weather ailments. Keep them in the house—their prompt use may save a precious little life. Mrs. Herbert Burnham, Smith's Falls, Ont., says: "When my eldest child was six weeks old he had an attack of cholera infantum and was at death's door. My doctor advised me to use Baby's Own Tablets, and in twenty-four hours baby was better, the vomiting and purging ceased and he regained strength rapidly. I have used the Tablets for other ailments since and always with the happiest results. I can sincerely recommend them to mothers as a medicine that should always be kept in the house."

Little ones thrive, are good natured and grow plump and rosy in homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used. Children take them as readily as candy, and crushed to a powder they can be given to the youngest infant with the best of results. Sold at drug stores or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

The United States post office department is doing effective work in various parts of the country in breaking up fraudulent "endless chain" schemes carried on through the mails.

Winnipeg bank clearings for July increased $6,000,000

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

The Scepter.

The scepter was the emblem of power. As the silver wand, so familiar in cathedrals, was once hollow, containing the "virge" or rod with which chastisement was inflicted upon the choristers and younger members of the foundation, so the royal scepter represented the right to inflict punishment. Hence the expression "to sway the scepter" implied the holding of regal dignity. The scepter with the dove possessed the additional signification of the Holy Ghost, as controlling the actions of the sovereign. The same idea was conveyed at Reims by the beautiful ceremony of letting loose a number of doves at the coronation of the French kings.—Good Words.

Encouraging.

Mistress of House—Bridget, do you think that policeman who calls here so often means business?

Bridget—Yis, mum, I think he do. He is begun to complain about my cookin' already.

California in Summer

$50 from Minneapolis or St. Paul
$47.50 from St. Louis
$45.00 from Kansas City
Out and back
August 2 to 8
Quick and cool way to go
Harvey Meal Service
See Grand Canyon of Arizona and Yosemite

Santa Fe

C. C. CARPENTER, Pass. Agt.
393 Guaranty Bldg.,
Minneapolis, - - - Minn.

Canadian Northern Ry

Eastern ....Tours

—via the—

Great Lakes

Tourist Rates to all points in

ONTARIO, QUEBEC, MARITIME PROVINCES and EASTERN STATES

One of the most delightful trips, with every modern convenience for the comfort of passengers.

Ocean Tickets by all Lines

For dates of sailing and reservation of berths apply to any agent of the Canadian Northern Railway, or to GEO. H. SHAW, Traffic Manager, Winnipeg.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

"THE" ROUTE TO

Australasia And the Orient

CANADA'S SCENIC ROUTE

Travel by the C. P. R. and be assured of SOLID COMFORT.

First-class C. P. R. Sleepers on all through trains.

Through Tourist Sleepers - the best.

Tourist Rates quoted to all points

East, West, South,
The Old Country,
The Orient,
The Antipodes.

Those desiring information in regard to any part of the world reached by the C. P. R. or its connections are requested to apply to any C. P. R. representative or to

C. E. McPHERSON
Gen. Pas. Agt., Winnipeg.

The good may die young, but it is clear that the bad live forever—if tombstone epitaphs tell the truth.

It is as difficult for some young men to slow down rapidly as it is for others to make haste slowly.

MINARD'S LINIMENT for Sale Everywhere.

Indian Prayer Sticks.

Those acquainted with Indian customs know of the prominence that feathers hold in the religious and social ceremonies of the red men. Particularly among the Navajoes and Pueblos are these plume emblems believed to have the utmost efficacy for good or bad.

All about any Pueblo town may be seen carefully whittled sticks, each with a tuft of downy feathers, generally white ones, bound at the top of it. They are prayer sticks and are quite as curious as the prayer wheels of Burma and the paper prayers of the Chinese. The feathers, stick and manner of tying the feathers vary according to the nature of the prayer. The Indian who wishes to ask a favor of the "Trues" prepares his feather prayer with great secrecy. Then, taking it to a proper spot, he prays to those above, and, planting his stick, leaves it to continue his petition.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIZZLE

A STATEMENT OF THE CASE BY THE EXHIBITION MANAGEMENT.

WHICH SHOWS THAT THE DIRECTORS OF THE FAIR WERE NOT TO BLAME.

The failure to bring the great free-free-for-all tort or pace at the Winnipeg Industrial Fair on Friday, July 25, caused keen disappointment to the thousands of spectators who had assembled to witness the event, and for the information of the public the board of directors have given out the following particulars for publication :

"The clerk of the course on Eriday afternoon, July 25, brought to the stand his judges book. This book showed in the free-for-all pace or trot that five horses, namely, Tom Ogden, Harold H., Harry O., Democracy and Charles Fewell were entered in said race. Charles Fewell had been drawn in the morning of the race by consent of the judges. The other four as far as matters had progressed when the race was called, were eligible to start. Mr. Carson, the owner of Harry O, came to the judges' stand just about as the race was to be called and filed with the judges, under oath, a protest, stating in substance that the bay gelding Tom Ogden, and the bay gelding, Harold H, had within ten days preceding this meeting been under the same ownership and had been trained in the same stable. According to rule 26, of the American Trotting Association, but one horse having been or being under the ownership or control of the same parties, or having been trained in the same stable within ten days preceding the race, would be eligible to start. As soon as this protest had been sworn to and filed with the judges, word was at once sent to Mr. McKenzie, the owner of Harold H, and Mr. Dingman, the owner of Tom Ogden, (who were both on the grounds) to come to the stand at once. Both of the said gentlemen came to the stand. Mr. Dingman, the owner of Tom Ogden, in accordance with rule 35, made his affidavit that he was in no way interested in the ownership or management of Harold H, that he owned the bay gelding, Tom Ogden, and that said gelding was eligible to start in said race. Mr. McKenzie, the owner of Harold H, said that he did not own or have any interest in the gelding, Tom Ogden. He was asked to reduce the same to writing, in accordance with rule 35, and make his affidavit to said statement. This he flatly refused to do, saying that before he would make an affidavit of that kind he would draw his horse. The judges, thereupon, under rule 35, ruled Harold H out of the said race. Notices were sent to the paddock for Tom Ogden, Democracy and Harry O, to appear upon the track ready to start in the first heat of said race. Positions were drawn and everything in readiness for the starting of said heat. Democracy and Harry O appeared on the track ready to start within a few minutes. Mr. Dingman, the owner of Tom Ogden, accompanied by another gentleman, came to the judges' stand and said that they would not start Tom Ogden and wanted to draw him. The judges asked him if the horse was lame, sick or in any manner disabled as not to be fit to start. He said no, that the horse was all right, but they would not start him. They were told that they should have drawn their horse before 7 o'clock the evening previous had they not desired to start him, that the horse was then in the hands of the judges and if, according to their statement, he was strong and fit to go, that they insisted on his at once bringing Tom Ogden on the track ready to start. They again protested that they would not start the horse. They were fully advised that if they persisted in this manner and did not bring their horse on the track at once, that the most severe penalty permitted by the rules would be enforced. Mr. Dingman answered, "Enforce and be d——d." The judges, thereupon, were obliged to send the other two horses to the barn for the reason that the published conditions under which all trotting or pacing entries of this association had been made or received, explicitly stated that in every trotting and pacing race, there must be at least five entries and at least three horses start. The taking of Tom Ogden out of the race left but two horses in the race eligible to start and for that reason the race was declared off. The judges then consulted together and after carefully deliberating on the matter and referring to the rules, announced from the stand that the bay gelding, Tom Ogden, be expelled, together with his owner, L. Dingman, of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

In a letter to Mr. J. S. Gordon, president of the Exhibition Association, W. W. Taylor the starter of the races says in part :

With an experience covering about 20 years, officiating in the judges stand in various places, no occurrence such as this has ever before come to my observation: Many people had come to Winnipeg from surrounding towns from hundreds of miles distant for no other purpose than to witness this race. The Association had done everything in its power that it could be expected to do. The people were there to see the race; everything was ready up to the time of filing the protest. Of course, under the rules, Mr. Carson had the right to make the protest that he did make. The rules of the American Trotting Association require in all cases that protests must be made in writing under oath and filed the judges; that before any horse so protested against could be permitted to start that their owners, or those in charge, if on the grounds, shall be notified, and required under oath to answer such protest stating in substance that they have complied with the rules of the American Trotting Association in making their entry or that their horse is eligible to start. Mr. McKenzie, refusing to make such affidavit, rompelled the judges to declare Harold H ruled out of said race. The owner of Tom Ogden refusing to bring his horse on the track further compelled the judges to declare the race off, there being but two others eligible.

I personally know that every member of the board of directors of the Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition Association did everything in their power to have this race go on, but matters over which they had not or could not control did not permit of their wishes being carried out, and the disappointment to the Association and to the judges was certainly as great as it could possibly have been to anyone who had come to witness the race.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Two residents of Parry Sound were drowned while bathing on July 28.

A normal school will be erected in St. Boniface to train bi-lingual teachers

Mr. Amos Rowe, ex-collector of customs, Calgary, died July 28th of peritonitis.

Carman lacrosse team defeated Holland in the final game in the Treherne district.

A tidal wave has visited the island of St. Vincent and the exodus from the island continues.

The Grand Forks inquest on the McCormick poisoning case found that deceased died from aconite poisoning.

East Galicia agricultural laborers are on strike to the number of 100,000. Crops and farms have been destroyed.

Montreal shippers are opposed to the C. P R. acquiring the fast Atlantic steamship subsidy.

Jas. McKinney, an ex-convict, shot several persons at Porterville, Cal., and escaped to the mountains.

The Winnipeg Electric Street railway has announced its intention of putting an electric system in St. Boniface.

Canada won the McKinnon Cup at Bisley on July 28th with a score of 1,375; England was second with 1,340; and Scotland third with 1,317. The other teams were snowed under.

Richard Beamish, one of the pioneers of Hamiota, Man., district, died Sunday morning after a lingering illness. Deceased was 95 years of age and was said to be the oldest Orange man in Canada.

A sad and fatal accident occurred on July 28th which cost the life of W. R. Seaton, a brakeman running out of Winnipeg on the C. P. R. He was coming into the city on an extra train, and, while at Elm Creek, got off to couple a car. In some manner his head got caught between two cars and was frightfully crushed.

Two boys while at work in the field recently saw a wolf near a pond in Minnedosa, and gave it chase. The animal ran into the water, but would not go far enough to swim, so that the boys managed to kill it.

A sample of flax measuring over two feet in length and in bloom, was left at the office of the Yorkton Enterprise last week. It was taken from a ten acre field belonging to a Galician, Tudor Cripivivage, at Crooked Lakes.

The little town of Cardston, Southern Alberta, is growing very rapidly. The Mormons make good settlers, and are enterprising citizens. The growth of the town on the north side is unfortunately somewhat circumscribed by the boundaries of the Blood reserve. It is understood that some of the citizens of Cardston are arranging to buy a slice of the north end of the reserve in order to give their town lots of room to expand.

The Denver Ledge states that A S. Turner, of Kansas City, is the first tourist to climb the glacier across the lake from New Denver. With a guide, he explored the glacier on Monday and left here expressing the greatest praise imaginable for the magnificent scenery. The scenery around the glacier is not, Mr. Turner says, surpassed in the world, and when it is properly advertised New Denver will be a Mecca for tourists.

AUSTRALIAN HORROR

EXPLOSION IN A COLLIERY AT WOLLONGONG, NEW SOUTH WALES.

TWENTY-SEVEN BODIES RECOVERED—100 STILL ENTOMBED.

Sydney, N. S. W., Aug. 1.—An explosion, resulting in heavy loss of life, has occurred at the Mount Kimbala colliery at Wollongong, a port forty miles from here. Twenty-seven bodies have been recovered. The buildings at the mouth of the pit were wrecked. One hundred and forty-nine miners are still entombed. A portion of the colliery is on fire.

FATALITY AT LE ROI MINE.

A serious accident occurred at the big Le Roi mine at Rossland, B.C., on July 27th, which resulted in the death of Louis A. Dunkle, mine superintendent, and serious injuries to William McDonald, vice-president of the miners' union, and a miner named Dan Gunn.

The story of the accident is as follows : Soon after the afternoon shift quit work it was reported to Superintendent Dunkle that the timbers on the 500 foot level were cracking and that there was apparently danger of a cave-in. Dr. Dunkle promptly went below to look into the matter. and personally superintend the placing in position of the timbers necessary to reinforce the material already in position. While engaged in this task the cave-in occurred. About midnight McDonald and Dunn were in such a position that they were protected by a heavy bulkhead. The report of the men who came out of the mine was that the slope had filled with broken material.

Fifteen men were employed at the time but fortunately shifts were changing and there were not many at work. Large gangs of men were engaged in the rescue and on Sunday recovered the body of the mine superintendent and rescued the few imprisoned men.

18,300 MEN WANTED.

An Army Required to Garner Manitoba's Big Harvest.

The officials of the department of agriculture estimate that some 18,300 harvest hands will be required to assist in taking off the crop this year. This estimate is computed from returns sent in by the crop correspondents from all over the province. About half of these returns are in, but as they are representative of all sections of the province, the estimate, which is worked out by averages, may be taken as being practically correct. When it is considered that the Territories will also require a large number of men this year, it will be seen that the original estimate of 20,000 men for the entire west, will not be far from the mark.

The first harvesters' excursion from the east will start August 18 from the Maritime Provinces. Two days later the first gathering from Ontario will leave. After that these will be dailyexcursions, Sunday excepted, until August 25 inclusive. "Artisans and clerks, unless strong and accustomed to hard manual work, are not wanted in the Northwest for the harvest," said Mr. C.E.E. Ussher, general passenger agent of the C. P. R., Montreal. "Nor is anyone who is not willing to work at least one month as a farm laborer asked to go out. If all those who intend to take advantage of the excursions keep these facts in mind the dissatisfaction experienced last year will be avoided."

CONDENSED NEWS.

Major Wood, N. W. M. P., is acting Yukon commissioner.

Canon Matheson, Winnipeg, will be appointed Dean of Rupert's Land.

The linemen and operators on the Yukon telegraph system threaten to strike.

Vice-President McNicoll, of the C. P. R., will spend some time in the west studying the transportation question

A sad drowning accident occurred at Westbourne, Man., on July 30, when Roy, the 8-year-old son of Duncan C. Stewart, a farmer of that district, lost his life in the White Mud river. The young lad was playing in a boat and fell overboard,and before he could be rescued life was extinct.

In a collision off Malacca, Straits Settlement, between the British schooners Prince Alexander and Ban-Hin-Quan, the former vessel was sunk and forty lives were lost.

A repot comes from Beaver Lake to the effect that a young man named Colin McKenzie, son of the postmaster, committed suicide on Thursday, July 24th, by shooting himself with a shotgun.

ATTEMPTED TO SWIM CHANNEL.

Holbein Just Failed in Trying to Swim From France to England.

A cable from Dover says : Holbein, who started last night (July 31) from Cape Gris-Nez, France, to swim across the English Channel to Dover, was obliged, after a plucky effort, and when in sight of his goal, to abandon the attempt, owing to unfavorable conditions. He was subsequently landed here.

Holbein was in the water thirteen hours, and was beaten by the strong tide. He was still swimming well when urged to desist, as. as the rate of headway he was then making, it would have taken him 36 hours to complete the journey.

Although Holbein failed in his attempt to cross the channel he covered much more than the distance from coast to coast. At 5.30 in the morning he had covered 30 miles, although then he was only eight miles off the French coast. It had been expected that he would reach the Varne buoy, 6½ miles off Dover, on the western tide, but when he failed in this a consultation was held aboard the tug accompanying him, gnd he was advised to quit. He was bitterly disappointed, but climbed aboard without assistance. Everybody was surprised that he was so fresh and strong. His temperature was normal. He took nourishment frequently throughout the night from a row boat and maintained a steady stroke. He was guided by powerful gas lamps placed on a small boat. The tide threatened to carry him to the open sea when the attempt was abandoned.

WANT A CHANGE IN TARIFF.

Republicans of Iowa are Opposed to a Fixed Tariff.

A St. Paul dispatch says : The purport of the Iowa Republican tariff platform plank is that no rigid law can be effective, owing to the changing conditions of commerce. The plank reads :

"We favor such changes in the tariff from time to time as become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the commerce of the world. We indorse the policy of reciprocity as the natural complement of protection, and urge its development as necessary to the realization of our highest commercial policies."

ROYAL PROCLAMATION.

The following proclamation was issued in Ottawa on August 1 :

"Whereas, having been constrained on account of our illness to postpone the day originally named for our coronation, we now, by the favor and blessing of Almighty God, propose that the ceremony shall tape place on Saturday, the 9th day of the present month of August ;

And, whereas, we are desirous that the said day should be observed as a day of general thanksgiving and rejoicing throughout Canada ; now, therefole, know ye that we have thought fit, by, and with the advice of our Privy Council for Canada, to appoint, and set forth Saturday, the 9th day of August, instant, as a public holiday, to be observed as a day of public thanksgiving and rejoicing by all persons throughout our Dominion of Canada. Of all of which our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly."

The Canada Paper company has placed an order with a firm in Wilmington, Del., for a machine that will turn out a sheet of newspaper over 14 feet in width. This machine will be set up at the company's works, on the St. Francis river, Quebec, and it is expected that it will be in operation about the end of the year. The size of modern paper making machinery may be inferred from the fact that it will weigh close on 400 tons, and will require a train of 25 cars in transit. It will turn out 35 tons of finished newspaper per day. The company expects to turn out about fifty tons of ground wood pulp per day as soon as the new pulp mill is completed.

CONDENSED NEWS.

W. Ray. of Winnipeg, was brutally assaulted by a showman at Brandon on August 1.

Arctic Explorer Baldwin has returned from an extended trip, disheartened by its failures.

During July in Winnipeg there were 85 deaths, 69 births and 49 marriages.

Hon. Wm. Mulock has arranged for a steamboat line from Canada to South Africa.

During the past eleven months 44,000,000 bushels of wheat were inpected at Winnipeg.

Wm. McAdams, editor of the Sandon, B. C., Paystreak, has been released from lail having apologized to the court.

The receipts of the Winnipeg Industrial fair amounted to over $52,000.

THE MOUND BUILDERS.

Archaeological Investigations Near Rat Portage Richly Rewarded.

A rare treat was afforded the passengers on the last trip of the Keenora up to Fort Frances who are fond of archaeology, by being allowed permission to probe into the mysteries of the big mound near the mouth of the Big Fork river. This mound is about 40 feet high, with a diameter at its base of 150 or 160 feet. The kind permission of Mrs. Bailey (the owner of the property on which the mound is situated) being obtained, an army of about fifty were soon following the leadership of Pilot Muckatavis, of the Keenora, who is a lineal descendant of the Mound Builders. The first find was made by Mr. Guy, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Fort Frances, whose labors were rewarded by finding a splendid specimen of ancient pottery in the shape of a perfect vase. Several others were successful in laying bare the skeleton of an Indian giant. The formation of the skull showed a very large brain capacity, while the teeth, which are perfect in every way, were the envy of many of the lady passengers. The furmer, or thigh bone, measures 22 inches, the forearm and other bones are of equally large proportions. From the size of the bones of the skeleton's feet, it would lead one to surmise that an 18 or 20 maccasin would not be at all too large. It is no doubt the skeleton of a warrior (there were giants in those days, centuries before the invasion of the pale face, so we are told). Alongside the skeleton were found part of a stone battle axe, which was claimed by the finder, Mr. W. Wilson, of Montreal, and is now in his possession, while those parts not desired by the relic hunters, are on exhibition on the Keenora. Col. Shadcross, of Detroit, made a very tempting offer for the vase to Mr. Guy, but that gentleman could not be induced to part with it. It is proposed to make a series of trips to these mounds during the tourist season, and there is no doubt that a great many more interesting relics will be unearthed.

RE-SETTLING BOERS.

Excellent progress is being made in re-settling the Boer farms. Already 9,000 families have been reinstated on their lands, although the work of replacing the farmers has been accompanied by many difficulties, especially in securing and feeding horses and cattle.

Much complaint was caused by the military authorities auctioning off live stock, which was bought up by speculators who resold at large profits at the expense of needy farmers.

The disposal of army horses has been accompanied by an epidemic of glanders, which is now raging in Cape Colony.

COL. LYNCH COMMITTED.

Col. Arthur Lynch, the Nationalist member of parliament, who is accused of high treason during the Boer war, was committed for trial at the Bow Street police court on August 1. Before the court committed him for trial he made a long statement in which he said that he went to South Africa under contract with the Paris Journal, and that he did not expect then to stay more than two months. He also arranged to serve the Century Magazine, Collier's Weekly and several other American publications. He denied that he saw Dr. Leyds, the Boer agent, before starting, or that he went on any mission from Leyds to the Transvaal.

Prof. Reynolds, of the Ontario Agricultural college assigns as a reason for the greater destruction of barns by lightning in recent years the disappearance of forests. Trees, he says, are conductors of lightning. Where there are many of them they carry the electrical energy in small currents to the earth and thus prevent damage. That is why it is that you so often find single trees destroyed while there is no appearance of damage in a forest. Where there are many trees together, currents pass through a number of them, in small volume, to the ground, while where one stands alone it may receive a current sufficient to cause its destruction. Trees, according to this theory, are the best protection against lightning, but they should not be too close to the house.

D. E. Shackelon, a member of the Labor party, has been elected to the House of Commons in England without opposition, to fill the vacancy in the seat for the Clitheroe division of Lancashire caused by the elevation to the peerage of Sir Ughtred James Kay-Shuttleworth, who sat for the division as a Liberal.

What undoubtedly is the largest tree in the world has been discovered on the government reservation far up in the Sierras, California. Six feet from the ground it took a line 154 feet 8 inches long to encircle the tree, making it over 51 feet in diameter.

THE STRIKE

Continued from fourth page

fore these lines are before our readers. Boundary smelters require about 350 tons of coke per day for fluxing purposes. This coke must come from the Crow's Nest collieries, where we were told not long ago there are illimitable quantities of suitable coal. Boundary ores are such low grade that the coke must be laid down at the lowest possible rate to admit of the ores being smelted at a small profit. Therefore, only Caow's Nest coke can be used to advantage.

* * * *

Millions of dollars are invested here, and thousands of persons are dependent on the mining industry for a living—none too good a living at the best. Even the C.P.R., great as it is, cannot but lose heavily by such a strike—probably $2,000 or $3,000 per day, to say nothing of the large number of men it gives employment to in the ore and coke carrying traffic. All of these immense interests are dependent upon the whims of a few shareholders or a few employees in the Crow's Nest. This is certainly not as it should be."

It is not intended in this article to inquire into the merits of the question between the management and the miners, nor to express any opinion except to say that the position of the management seems a reasonable one. Indeed, the miners do not dispute his reasoning, but content themselves with saying that the new regulation is "an encroachment upon the rights of laboring men." They call upon the representative of South Kootenay to secure the passage of a law making eight hours from bank to bank a working day in coal mines. Thus we find the coal miners of Fernie "appealing unto Caeser," and as they have done so it is proper to inquire how the legislature should deal with the whole subject matter, including strikes and the remedy for them.

At a mass meeting of miners held at Michel on July 2nd a proposal to inaugurate a strike in sympathy with the Fernie miners was voted down by a ballot of 56 to 12; nevertheless the secretary of the union posted up a notice declaring that the men should not work. Of itself this is not a very serious matter, but it illustrates a principle. The miners have seen fit to subject themselves to an arbitrary authority, which would not be tolerated for one moment in the government of the country. A short time ago the president of the Chicago Teamsters' Union—we are not sure that the name is absolutely correct—stated that he could at any moment order twenty thousand men to quit work, and this led one of the newspapers of that city to remark that this was a greater power than was possessed by the president of the United States or even by Congress. So we see at Michel an absolutely irresponsible individual ordering a strike. Whether few or many of the miners obeyed the order is neither here nor there. The assumption by any one of the right to exercise such a power is dangerous to the community. It is said that the Fernie strike was ordered by the Western Federation of Miners, an organization formed in the United States and controlled there. Thus British Columbia industries are at the mercy of an organization, the managers of which have no interest in this Province, and may be hostile to its progress, who are not amenable to the laws of this country and whose opinions have been formed from conditions, which happily do not exist in this Dominion. The men constituting the Western Federation of Miners in the United States have lost confidence in the institutions of their country, and have set up an imperium in imperio. It is intolerable that such an organization should be able to blight the prosperity of this province. In their published appeal the Fernie miners say:—"Autocracy has reigned too long in this fair land. We love our freedom and appreciate equal rights." What greater or more mischievous autocracy can be imagined than that which places the industries of this province under the control of an alien organization? What a fallacy it is to talk of freedom while owning blind and unreasoning obedience to an absolutely irresponsible authority? It is said that the British Columbia miners contemplate severing their connection with the Western Federation. They will be wise if they do so, for they have sufficient protection under the laws of this country without resorting to methods which have been adopted in the United States to secure common justice, and they are surely competent to decide for themselves what their interests call for without extraneous interference.

That some remedy must, if possible, be devised for this state of things will be admitted without argument. What that remedy should be and how it can be brought about are more difficult questions. Compulsory arbitration appears to be the most reasonable, although it is not a perfect method; but it is to be borne in mind that no remedy for the prevention of evils operates wholly satisfactory. There are laws to prevent smuggling, yet people smuggle and would probably continue to do so under any system of legislation that can be devised. There are laws for the suppresssion of nuisances and crimes, yet nuisances and crimes are by no means rare. But no one argues that because these laws do not secure implicit respect, they are useless. If they fail in accomplishing their purposes, we seek, if we are wise, to secure their better enforcement. Or take a class of laws which are more nearly akin to measure that may be adopted for the prevention of labour troubles, such, for example, as those for the control of railway companies and coming within the jurisdiction of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council in Canada and of the Inter-state Commerce Commission in the United States. No one pretends that these laws are absolutely effectual to prevent the evils against which they are directed; yet it cannot be denied that they are productive of great benefit, and a proposal to repeal them would be resisted by all classes of the community. Why should we approach the settlement of labour troubles and the overthrow of the tyranny of labour unions in any different spirit from that in which the settlement of transportation problems and the overthrow of the tyranny of railway corporations were dealt with?

We concede that in the case of the great corporations franchises exist, which can be rescinded, and there are properties of immense value. which can be attached, if the orders made by constituted authority are not regarded, while in the case of labor unions the subject matter to be dealt with is the right of individuals to labour, and this we all thought, until union tyranny became a feature of the community, was something which the law had no right to touch. But this difference does not affect the argument for the enactment of remedial legislation. The partial success attending the efforts to control the corporations is an encouragement to attempt the control of the workmen, within such limits as are consistent with the exercise of individual liberty, and the fact that no one will pretend that such control will be absolutely effectual in all cases is no reason why the attempt should not be made.

We would not be understood as suggesting the enactment of a law compelling any man to work for any one else under any conditions whatever; at the same time we object to any man being prevented from working for any other on the terms satisfactory to himself. Perfect freedom of an individual to place his services at the disposal of another for any legitimate purpose upon terms satisfactory to them both should be secured by law. Nevertheless there is no valid reason why working men should not form unions and co-operate within reasonable limits to secure better wages and better conditions of employment. On the whole the application of arbitration to the disputes arising between working men and their employers has been satisfactory, and we are strongly of the opinion that the time has come for the enforcement of this method in British Columbia by the strong arm of the law.

Compulsory arbitration is not by any means objectionable to the majority of workingmen, although they would probably all object to any compulsory steps to enforce the decrees of the Court of Arbitration. An argument, which meets with approval among some workingmen, is that the unions depend upon public opinion for their influence, and that while cases may be cited where unions have resisted it, in the majority of instances it will be found that they will not stand out when their case is not supported by the general sense of the community. The strike of the anthracite miners in Pennsylvania, it is claimed, derives its whole force from the fact that the miners have a good case. This aspect of the question is worthy of very serious consideration, and a system of compulsory arbitration depending for its force upon the coercive influence of public opinion might be worth trying."

A LIFE.

I saw the little maiden moon,
She was so shy, so shy,
She hid herself behind a cloud
Till all the stars went by.
As pure as sea foam was her robe
And white as ivory,
And lily buds that blow on earth
Raised timid heads to see.

I saw the moon, the full grown moon,
Leap from the ocean's hold
And bare her beauty to the sky,
Fierce, glorious and bold.
And crimson was her flaunting robe
And red as sin, maybe,
And poppy buds that blow on earth
Raised wicked heads to see.

I saw the moon, the dying moon,
Falter across the sky;
White faced she fell before the morn
That smiled to see her die.
No wave that kissed her feet of old
But mocked her misery;
Only the scar, blown leaves of earth
Might mourn for such as she.

—Theodosia Garrison in Kansas City Independent.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for permission to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the west bank of Elk River, 60 chains southerly from the south east corner of James Ferguson's application, thence running 40 chains west, thence 40 chains south, thence 40 chains east, thence northerly fellowing the said bank of Elk river to point of commencement.

EUGENE WALTER.

Dated at Fernie this 5th day of July, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, John A. Ferguson intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permiesion to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River. thence running west to a point 40 chains due south of James A. McDonnell's south east corner post, thence south 40 chains, thence east to the bank of Elk River, thence following the said bank of Elk River northerly to the point of commencement.

JOHN A. FERGUSON.

June 24th, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land on the north side of Lizzard Creek about four miles from its mouth, commencing at a post planted on the north bank of said Lizzard Creek about 4 miles from mouth marked H. W. Herchmer's south-east corner post, thence north a distance of 80 chains, thence running west a distance of 80 chains, thence running south a distance of 80 chains, thence running east a distance of 80 chains to the place of commencement.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., this 26th day of June A.D. 1902.

H. W. HERCHMER.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land on the north and south side of Lizzard Creek, about three miles from its mouth, commencing at a post planted on the north bank of said Lizzard Creek about 3 miles from mouth, marked S. Herchmer's North East corner post; thence running west a distance of 80 chains; thence running south a distance of 80 chains; thence running east a distance of 80 chains; thence running north a distance of 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at the town of Fernie this 27th day of June, A.D., 1902.

S. HERCHMER.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is heredy given that I, G. C. Foss, 60 days after date intend to apply to the chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 160 acres of land more or less on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post marked northeast corner of Jas. A. McDonell's purchase, thence running west 40 chains, thence north 40 chains, thence east 40 chains more or less to the west bank of Elk River, thence southerly along said west bank of Elk River 40 chains more or less to the point of beginning.

Dated this 30th day of June, 1902.

G. O. FOSS.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land on the north side of Lizzard Creek, about four miles from its mouth, commencing at a post planted on the north bank of said Lizzard Creek about 4 miles from mouth marked T. C. Thompson's south-west corner post; thence running north a distance of 80 chains; thence running east a distance of 80 chains, thence running south a distance of 80 chains, thence running west a distance of chains to the place of commencement.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., this 26th day of June, A.D, 1902.

T. C. THOMPSON.

NOTICE.

In the County Court of Kootenay Holden at Fort Steele, B. C.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the 16th day of July, 1902, it was ordered by J. A. Forin, Esq., Judge of the said Court, that James Ferguson Armstrong, Official Administrator of the County of Kootenay be Administrator of all and singular the estates of the following deceased intestates, namely:—

William H. Brearley,	of Fernie,	Miner
John Owen	"	"
Samuel Hand	"	"
George Beech	"	"
Stephen Morgan	"	"
John T. Stewart	"	"
Dongald Milroy	"	"
James Muir	"	"
Richard Buckle	"	"
Ferdinando Federico	"	"
Gaetano Federico	"	"
Antonio Federico	"	"
Angelo Federico	"	"
Amedeo d' Angelo	"	"
Antonio di Guglielmo	"	"
Antonio Cioitorese	"	"
Steve Zofcsak	"	"
Josef Hrubos	"	"
Daniel W. Flynn	"	laborer
Michael Novich	of Michel	"

EVERY person indebted to the said deceased is requested to make payment forthwith to the undersigned.

EVERY person having in possession effects belonging to the deceased is required to forthwith notify the undersigned.

EVERY creditor or other person having any claim upon or interest in the distribution of the estates of the said Deceased Intestates is required within thirty days of this date to send by registered letter addressed to the undersigned, his name and address and the full particulars of his claim and interest, and a statement of his account and the nature of the security (if any) held by him.

AFTER the expiration of the said thirty days, the Administrator will proceed with the distribution of the Estates having regard to those Claims only of which he shall have had notice.

DATED at FORT STEELE, this 16th day of July, 1902.

JAMES FERGUSON ARMSTRONG
Official Administrator.
Fort Steele, B.C.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that I, Henry W. Petrie, sixty days after date intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 640 acres of land on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post situated 20 chains west of the N.W. corner of R. L. Henderson's pre-emption, thence running 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to the point of commencement.

Dated this 26th day of June, 1902.

HENRY W. PETRIE

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I will apply to the Honorable the Commissioner of Lands and works of the Province of British Columbia for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk Kiver in the southern division of East Kootenay about one mile west of Sparwood Station, thence west twenty chains, thence north one hundred and sixty chains, thence east to the bank of the Elk River, thence down the bank of the said river to place of commencement. The tract described above contains as nearly as possible one thousand acres.

A. D. McRAE.

Dated this 4th day of July, 1902.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FRUIT....

Arriving Daily at

Cuthbert's

J.C.Hutchison

.....MEANS BUSINESS.....

Have you seen his latest stock of goods? No? That is strange. Why, he is becoming the talk of the town. Don't you know that he is now prepared to adorn his customers with the cheapest yet most durable apparel in Ferhie. Not only with up-to-date suitings, but with shirts, ties, collars cuffs, socks, hats and caps. In fact he will fit you out from head to foot at prices within the reach of all. Call and inspect his stock.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

FERNIE, B.C.
Near the Station

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

The IMPERIAL LIMITED

The quickest and best equipped train crossing the continent

TOURIST RATES to Eastern Points via the Lake Route....

Lowest rates to Honolulu, Japan, China, Australia and the Old Country.

For full information apply to C. P. R. agent, or

C. E. McPHERSON,
Gen. Pass. Agent, Winnipeg

Different Eyes.....

Require different glasses, and only a thorough test by an optician who uses modern scientific instruments will determine what the difference shall be.

Free tests of the eyes are made here and we can furnish any kind of lens that may be found necessary.

In simple cases we can draw on our large stock of EYEGLASSES and SPECTACLES.....

but in complicated cases lenses must be made to order. In either case the cost will not be high.

A. C. LIPHARDT.

For Sale

800 fully paid up shares of $1.00 each in the

Similkameen Valley Coal Co.

at 25c. each

For blocks of 200 or more payments may be made at the rate of 20 per cent. monthly.

When wanting to buy or sell stock of any kind write us.

E. B. McDermid,
Chartered Accountant,
Nelson, B.C.

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 1 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, AUGUST 16, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 189

METHODIST CHURCH.
FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:
Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.
REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

W. R. Ross. J. S. T. Alexander
Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - B.C.
Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER,
Barristers, Solicitor, Notary Public,
FERNIE, - - - B.C.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyce's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every WEDNESDAY evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

For Sale

800 fully paid up shares of $1.00 each in the

Similkameen Valley Coal Co.
at 25c. each

For blocks of 200 or more payments may be made at the rate of 20 per cent. monthly.

When wanting to buy or sell stock of any kind write us.

E. B. McDermid,
Chartered Accountant,
Nelson, B.C.

JR. LACROSSE MATCH

LETHBRIDGE JUNIORS DEFEATED BY THE LITTLE FELLOWS FROM FERNIE.

Game Well Contested—Score 1-0 in Favor of Visitors. Boys Jubilant Over Their Victory.

The Fernie Junior Lacrosse team put another feather in their cap on Saturday last by defeating the Lethbridge Juniors in a match at Lethbridge. The little fellows are certainly to be congratulated on their success They went to Lethbridge practically without supporters and two men short, but nevertheless succeeded in winning from their opponents by a score of 1—0. The Lethbridge team is a much heavier one than that of Fernie, two of the senior boys being among the players.

The two vacancies on the team were filled by two boys from Medicine Hat who played very good lacrosse. In consequence of the long program of sports in Lethbridge on Saturday the junior game was put off until the evening, and darkness coming on the game was suspended at the end of the third quarter. The play was very even, both teams giving a splended exhibition of the national game.

The boys lined up as follows:—

FERNIE		LETHBRIDGE
Sunberg	goal	Ritchie
Kanouse	point	Davies
Todhunter	cover point	Jamieson
Dunlop	1st defence	Murray
Kirkpatrick	2nd defence	———
Smith	3rd defence	McCullough
Med Hat boy	centre	C. Freeman
———	3rd home	Taylor
J. Farquharson	2nd home	McBeth
Dunlap	1st home	Kenny
Lawrence	outside home	R. Freeman
Med Hat boy	inside home	Kirkham

The Athletic Association deserve credit for the financial assistance they gave the Juniors on their trip to Lethbridge.

WHEN WILL COKE BE AVAILABLE

Although the Fernie strike is ended the depression arising from the shortage of coke has not been relieved, and will continue to exist for a period estimated at from three to six weeks. Meantine the smelters, particularly the Boundary plants, will be in bad shape so far as operating is concerned. It is regsrded as unlikely that the Granby, Greenwood and Standard smelters will attempt to smelt ore until the Fernie coke ovens are again turning out their product at a normal rate, while the Trail and Nelson smelters, not consuming as large quantities of coke, may be able to pull through for the major portion of the period which must elapse before coke is again forthcoming.

The fact that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company ovens outside of Fernie afforded a certain amount of coke during the strike and that they were not tied up as tightly as at Fernie, makes it probable that the lead smelters will be able to operate.

The problem to the front now is as to when the coke supply will be available on the basis that existed before the strike. The company has said that in three weeks they will be able to resume shipments of coke with the ordinary tonnage. Outsiders who are familiar with the situation and know the difficulties to be overcome assert that if the company is able to supply the demand in British Columbia within six weeks it will be the best that can be expected. Somewhere between the two extremes is the probable date of the resumption of the coke supply.

Those who are interested in the maintenance of the country's coal and coke supply are finding some consolation in the theory that a year hence a repetition of the trouble just concluded will not be possible by reason of the fact that the Blairmore and Frank coal fields will be advanced to the productive stage where they will be a factor in the fuel business of the Kootenays. and that the conditions in the new camps differ from those of the Fernie district to such an extent that labor trouble is not likely to be common to the entire coal industry at one time.

Fortunately the shortage of coke in British Columbia does not directly affect the Rossland camp, as the operations of the LeRoi smelter at Northport will not be interfered with, an arrangement having been arrived at for a supply of eastern coke sufficient to fill the bill until such time as the Crow's Nest Southern road commences hauling East Kootenay coke to Northport. As has been intimated, it is believed that this will be coincident with an increase in the output of the Le Roi mine to about the total possible production of the mine under present conditions—probably not less than 24,000 tons monthly.

The coke shortage has probably affected Rossland in the way of postponing the date of the commencement of shipments on a large scale from the War Eagle and Centre Star mines. The smelter has a comparatively small storage room for gold-coppor ores at the plant, and had the mines commenced sending down ore at the rate of 450 tons daily, the smelter yard would have been speedily congested and the cost of ultimate treatment would be enhanced by a second handling in the case of much of the ore. This is probably the only reason why the promised shipments from the War Eagle and Centre Star mines have not been started, and it will, of course, be useless to expect shipping operations until the smelter has solved the coke problem.

The Granby smelter at Grand Forks was the last of the Boundary plants to succumb to the coke shortage. It went dark yesterday and will remain closed until the company is assured of coke supplies. Hitherto the Granby plant has endeavored to keep running by utilizing wood in the furnaces to eke out the available coke, but apparently the conclusion has been reached that a wiser policy will be to await the resumption of coke shipments.—Rossland Miner.

TARTE ON TRANSPORTATION

Halifax, Aug. 16.—At the banquet given in honor of the Canadian Manufacturers Association last night, Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, was the principal speaker. He dealt at length on the transportation question and declared that Canada must exert herself in order to capture and hold the trade of the upper lakes. Regarding the fast Atlantic line ports he said Quebec was the summer port and Halifax the winter port. That neither Montreal nor St. John could be ports for fast passenger traffic. Canada he declared must be united for cheap transportation and a strong Canadian tariff. Our markets, said Mr. Tarte, must no longer be slaughtered by American agricultural implement makers and our carrying trade must not be done in American bottoms through American channels.

SIR WILFRED ATTACKED.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—The Evening Telegram's London cable says Sir Wilfred Laurier's visit to the Island of Jersey was marked by an enthusiastic welcome from the people and by various attacks upon the premier by the Paris newspapers, La Patrie calls him a renegade. He is more English than Pitt says La Patrie, more imperialistic than Chamberlain, owes his success to the clever way in which he panders to British vanity by vaunting his French origin while proclaiming himself a Briton and Imperialist.

Jas. Schofield, of Pincher Creek, one of the best sporting men in the west, is in town to-day.

Bell Organ for sale cheap.—This is a second-hand instrument and can be secured at a bargain. Apply to A. H. Cree. x

John Blunt, butcher for P. Burns & Co., met with a very painful accident the other day. He was engaged in his work when the knife he was using slipped and the blade passed right through his left hand.

Work is rapidly being resumed at the Coal Creek Collieries and coal is again being mined in No. 1 mine. Owing to the Accident on Thursday the mine were practically closed on Friday, but they are again open to-day. There are still a large number of idle men around town, but every day the Company are increasiug the number of employees and it will not be long before they are all at work again. Two new tunnels are being opened a mile or so this side of the old mines and everything possible will be done to increase the output of coal.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT

ALEXANDER D. FERGUSON INSTANTLY KILLED AND JOHN McAULEY BADLY INJURED IN NO. 1.

Accident Caused by the Roof Caving In. Both Victims Old and Experienced Miners from Nova Scotia.

Another sad fatality occurred at Coal Creek mines Wednesday morning last. The accident occurred in what is known as Barton's Heading, No. 1 tunnel. Two men, A. D. Ferguson and Jack McAuley, both old miners, had been sent in to lay track and warned that the roof was dangerous, however they seemed to have satisfied themselves that the roof was safe as they started work without waiting to timber the dangerous spot, according to McAuley who was still conscious when rescued, the roof fell without giving any warning. Ferguson was directly underneath and instantly killed, McAuley was only partly buried but received frightful injuries, having his back broken and one leg smashed at the thigh. He was removed to the hospital where Drs. Bonnell and Corsan performed the operation of setting the broken bones. The spinal cord seems to have escaped injury, and the delicate operation of setting the broken bones and fastening in place with silver wire was successfully performed. His condition is still critical and it is doubtful if he will ever recover the use of his legs.

McAuley has worked with the coal company here ever since it first commenced operations and has always been regarded as a first-class miner, it is hard to understand why he took such unnecessary chances, it can only be explained by supposing that the roof did not show the the usual signs of cracking and dropping of small pieces which preceed most of the larger "drops." He comes from Glace Bay, N. S., where he still has many friends. His wife and six small children reside in Fernie. McAuley's case seems particularly sad in the respect that he had been sent track-laying, only a few minutes before the accident taking the place of the regular man who was detailed for work with the engineer's party. He left his own work to join Ferguson about 10 o'clock, and was not seen again until rescued from under the mass of rock which had held him prisioner for probably more than an hour.

A. D. Ferguson came to Fernie about eight months ago from Springhill, N. S., He has followed coal mining most of his life and held underground manager's papers. Like McAuley he is well and favorably known to all the miners as well as most of the town people, having at different times helped several of the miners in their preparations for the various examinations they are called upon to pass. His wife and one child arrived in Fernie a few weeks ago, the rest of the family are still living in Springhill, the two oldest being married.

Ferguson must have met death instantly as his head is fearfully crushed. The skull being smashed in two places, just across the forehead and at the base of the brain. The rock that did the fearful work is a slab nearly twelve feet square being about two feet thick at one end and tapering off wedge shape to the other, the roof as left shows exactly the shape and size of the mass which fell, and the wonder is that it has hung so long as it did, as everything looks perfectly smooth where it came from.

The Masons took charge of the funeral the Miners Union and Odd Fellows joining in the procession which was headed by the band. As the procession marched to the cemetery it was followed by a large crowd of citizens who took this means of showing their respect to the deceased.

A jury has been called to investigate the accident, it is composed as follows:—Messrs. A. Joyce, foreman; W. W. Tuttle, W. F. Cuthbert, J. A. Rennie, T. Q. Biggar and J. F. Jarvis. They met at 5:30 p. m. Thursday but adjourned until Monday at 1 o'clock awaiting a reply from the Minister of Mines.

BIG STRIKE TO BE SETTLED SOON

Pittsburg, Aug. 16.—Indications point to the settlement of the anthricite coal strike on or before September 1st. Major John Biddel, engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia, is the authority for the statement. In passing through here tonight en route to Detroit, Major Biddel says an agent of the authiacite operators in Washington, quietly told dealers there to prepare for shipments of anthircite coal after September 1st, adding that the mines will be in operation then. The understanding is that the operators will make concessions and the miners also will make a sacrifice.

LATEST GENERAL NEWS.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15 — The Supreme Grand Lodge of the Sons of England, today elected the following officers:—Supreme Grand President, John Aldridge, Toronto; Supreme Grand Vice-Pres., A. Tattersoll, Montreal; Secretary, John W. Carter, Toronto: Treas., Hinchcliffe, Toronto; Past Supreme President, Mayor Fred Cook, Ottawa; Supreme Auditors, G. C. Cog. and W. Baker, Toronto Trustees, T. J. Davis, Toronto, A. W Stroud, Ottawa and A. E. Miller, Aylmer. These officers were installed this evening.

London, Aug. 15—Portsmouth is now filled up with visitors who have gone to witness the naval review to-morrow. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and Mrs. Chamberlain, Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchner reached Southampton today and boarded the steamer Nigeria upon which the Boer generals, Delarey, DeWet and Botha, will be welcomed on their arrival from South Africa to-morrow and entertained during the review.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Manager Hayes, of the Toronto Carpet Manufacturing company has been served with summons to defend the company in an action brought by the striking textill workers for alleged infringement of the Alien Labor Act by bringing two French-Canadians from Lowell, Mass., to take the place of strikers. The company claims the law has not been broken on account of the nationality of the two men.

A WORD OF WARNING.

Typhoid fever has again made its appearance in town and a word of warning to the general public seems to be in place. Our medical men inform us that the most common cause of this fever is impure water, and few seem to realize what a scarce commodity pure water is during the hot months of July and August when the very best water procurable is unfit for use after standing from twenty-four to forty-eight hours unless it is boiled or sterilized to destroy the germs which are such a menace to health.

At present the danger seems to be augmented by the re-opening of the mines at Coal Creek which has made it necessary to pump out the water which has been accumulating in No. 1 tunnel for nearly two month, this having no outlet except Coal Creek becomes a part of the town supply of water and it is scarcely necessary to tell anyone that water in such a condition is extremely dangerous unless sterilized. No surer method of accomplishing this end can be found than simply to boil the water before using. If this is strictly attended to the danger from this cause will be minimized not only in regard to typhoid but also to many others of the more common ailments which have their origin in the same innocent looking liquid.

The B. C. Furniture Co. trade new furniture for second-hand.

MINERS WANTED at Watson's office. Call and get figures for Life and Accident Insurance. x

A reorganization meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance of Fernie, was held at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening at the conclusion of Rev. Shearer's address. The following officers were elected:—President, O. N. Ross; Vice-Presidents, all the resident clergymen; Sec.-Treas., H. L. Staebler; Presbyterian representative, Jas. Dunlop; Methodist representative, Harry Wilkes; Baptist representative, Deacon Short; Episcopal representative, to be appointed. The Carpenters' and Miners' Unions will each be requested to appoint a representative on the Executive.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"Captain Wood's not in that house," began the American abruptly, when I got down stairs.

"How do you know? Why are you so sure?" I asked.

"Haven't the smallest doubt of it. I know, because I went right through the house last night, every single room."

"What! Did they let you in?"

"No, miss; I broke in—burglary you call it in this country, I believe, and you may give me into custody if you please. But the detective that's not good enough to break the law on an occasion as well as break into a house and stand the racket had better give up the business."

The man's audacity staggered me. I was quite terrified, but I liked him for it.

"You see, miss, I can't afford to stick at trifles. My professional reputation is at stake, and the more I thought it over the more I hungered to get inside that house in Featherstone Gardens, and this is how I worked it: First I set a close watch on the house, front and back, and found before midnight that no one had gone either in or out. I reckoned that there were not very many of them, and we mustered half a dozen, two of them practiced 'crooks'—professional burglars, miss. We got into the house right enough—the crooks managed that—in half an hour. First thing was to lay hands on the caretaker. There was no one else in the house. He swore to that, and we soon saw that he was speaking truth, for we drew every room, ransacked every corner, turned out every cupboard, but nary soul was to be found. They'd all cleared out but this one critter. So I went back to him and threatened his life. He was very stiff, but a revolver is a mighty fine persuader, and presently he outs with the story; lies maybe, maybe truth, but good enough to make him worth keeping till we could get some corroboration."

"What was his story? Anything about Captain Wood? Did he admit that they had taken him?"

"You bet he did. Told us the whole game from first to last. The first we knew pretty well before; the last is that they have taken him out to sea in a steamer. The steam yacht Fleur-de-Lis, auxiliary screw, 274 tons register, cleared from Victoria dock yesterday at 3 p. m. I've been there and verified it this morning."

"Already?"

"Yes," he went on. "The yacht Fleur-de-Lis, Chapman master, left the dock at 3 p. m. yesterday. They knew her well there. She was waiting, ready for sea, fires banked, blue peter flying, waiting only for her owner, and left her berth directly he was got on board. He was an invalid, came in a carriage to the dock side and had to be carried on board wrapped up in blankets."

"Ah! Joe was right then."

"A lady helped him, thought to be his wife, but she did not accompany him to the ship. She staid on shore—very much upset, they told me who saw her, and could hardly be persuaded to re-enter the carriage. But a gentleman at last made her, and they drove away together. So the parties have split up. One lot are afloat with their prisoner, meaning, I've no doubt, to keep him away at sea, incapable of interfering, while the others carry on their spoliation in New York. That's how I figure it now," said the detective shrewdly.

"So I went back to him and threatened his life."

"I dare say you're right," I interrupted him hastily. "But surely these speculations will not help us. We've got to give chase to that yacht. How is it to be done?"

"You see, she has a tremendous start."

"No auxiliary screw can do more than eight or ten knots, I believe. Mother and I were in the Mediterranean last year with one of the best. Let us hire something faster. There must be plenty of steamers. I will pay any price gladly."

"Then we have no idea of what course the Fleur-de-Lis has taken."

"There are signal stations all along the coast, I believe. We hear of ships being reported every hour almost, as long as they are in sight of land."

"She will fly no signals and will certainly get out of sight of land."

"Oh, dear, dear!" I said, almost crying with rage. "You only make difficulties. It's too terrible to think of. Is there nothing you can suggest? Have you no advice to give? I shall go and consult Sir Charles Collingham. He is a man in authority, and can help, I believe. I shall tell him what you have discovered."

"Well, miss, let's each go our own way. But, see here. Take this. I've noted down a description of the Fleur-de-Lis just as I got it from the dockyard. It's the only guide you'll have in tracing her, for she won't fly her number, you bet."

CHAPTER VII.

AT THE ADMIRALTY AND LLOYDS.

Sir Charles Collingham lived out Kensington way in a new red house on Campden hill. I got there in less than half an hour, for my carriage was at the door, and, although I knew something of his ways from Willie Wood, I hoped to catch him before he left home. It was not yet 10 a. m. He was out already on his bicycle when I arrived, but he came up, fortunately, just as I was asking for him.

"Come for news or brought some, hey, Miss Fairholme? If it's the first, I can't help you—worse luck; if the other—and, egad, by the look on your bonnie face I believe you've something to tell! Is that it? Ha!" He hopped off his "bike" with all the alacrity of a young man and led the way into the house.

"Surprising chap, that American!" he cried in his brisk, abrupt tones. "I suppose we're bound to believe him. Actually did break in and all that, hey? Anyhow, he's forwarder than we are, for I've been down to Clarges street to inquire if Master Wood had turned up and drew blank, of course."

"Oh, but, Sir Charles, how could he?" I said quickly. "And ought we to be talking, wasting time here? He has been kidnaped, as you see. Surely it is our business to follow up this clew without a moment's loss of time. He must be rescued, recovered."

"And the papers—they will have carried off the papers with them, you may depend upon that. By the Lord Harry, you are right! But how, how in heaven's name—how are we to overhaul that yacht? I do not see my way."

"By following in another, to be sure. I will pay anything. Only do, please, let us lose no more time. Could not we get a man-of-war?"

"By Jove, you're right! If we could have a fast cruiser now. Upon my soul, I believe it might be done! If I could only persuade them at the admiralty. It's an affair of national importance to recover those papers."

We drove straight to the admiralty in Whitehall, where the general was admitted without question or delay. We were soon introduced to a Captain Pulteney, who proved to be naval secretary to the first lord and a very charming man, I dare say, but I took a great dislike to him, for he began at once to make difficulties, speaking, I thought, in a sneery, put you down sort of way which was very irritating.

"What could we send? There isn't a ship," he said, addressing the others, and seeming to imply that the whole British navy had ceased to exist. "Besides, if I could lay hands on a gunboat or dispatch vessel, what course would she steer? What is she to look for? The whole thing is a wild goose chase. I'm dead against it."

"I think we'll see Sir George," remarked my dear general stiffly. "We can discuss these points better with him," and we again moved on, Captain Pulteney following, grumbling and growling all the way.

But Sir George Fitz Hugh (he was the first sea lord) sided with Captain Pulteney. The information was too vague; nothing was positively known, neither about the papers nor about Captain Wood.

"You see, Sir Charles, you have nothing to go on about those papers, were they stolen, seized, whatever we may call it. Who can be certain of that, or of anything, except that they have disappeared, as Wood has? And you infer that the same people have taken them both. How do we know that? You take too much for granted. Or, let us admit they were taken, how do we know that they were put on board the yacht? It is all pure conjecture. I should be very sorry to act—to take upon myself to act; we must wait for the first lord."

"When do you expect him?" I asked impatiently. I was getting cross at all these difficulties and delays, and I could see that Sir Charles Collingham was dangerously near losing his temper. He only controlled himself by remaining stolidly silent.

"He is always here in the afternoon; takes the office on his way to the house. You might see him, then, Sir Charles, if so minded," said the naval secretary.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

He Knew.

Teacher—Now, Johnny, in this sentence, "John shoes the horse," what does horse stand for?

Johnnie—Horse is a noun, masculine gender and stands for John.

Teacher—Nonsense! How could that be?

Johnnie—So dat John can shoe it, of course.

If you are of a more grateful disposition than your neighbor, don't take credit to yourself. It may be that you are older.—Atchison Globe.

VICTORIA'S CORONATION

How It Was Celebrated in Toronto in 1838—Full Report as It Was in the Patriot.

When Queen Victoria's coronation was celebrated in Toronto, the people had not outgrown the partisan bitterness of the recent rebellion, and the unsettled state of society prevented such a spontaneous and unanimous celebration as occurred on later demonstrations in honor of the Queen. The thirteen thousand people of Toronto, then but four years removed from its still deserved title of Muddy York, contained many sympathizers with the "Patriots," and still apprehended further trouble.

Within a hundred yards of the Church street hotel which was the centre of the Coronation celebration, had stood, but a couple of months before, the gallows on which three rebels, Samuel Lount and Peter Matthews, had been hanged, in the presence of a large crowd and guarded by the military in fear of an attempt at rescue.

The newspaper report of the Coronation celebration was eclipsed by a much more lengthy official proclamation by the Governor, Sir George Arthur, "Lieutenant-General of Upper Canada and Major-General commanding Her Majesty's forces in that province," calling on the people to restrain demonstrations against those who had been connected with the rebellion, and to permit them to return unmolested to their homes. Besides showing the unsettled condition of affairs and the partisan bitterness prevailing, the proclamation would earn for its writer a diploma for efficiency in the use of abusive adjectives in referring to the malcontents.

A record of the celebration is preserved in The Patriot of Friday, June 29, 1838, an ultra-loyal semi-weekly sheet, which referred to the somewhat restricted celebration. The Patriot, which was published by Thomas Dalton, had an account, without heading, and situated at the bottom of a column on an inner page. The firemen referred to in the report had at the time of the rebellion formed a military company and had taken part in the skirmish, having been called out to help repel a party of rebels about to enter across the Don bridge. The firemen were ordered to take their engines to prevent fires lighting through the firing of the opposing force and ropes in one hand and muskets in the other, had repaired to the scene of action. The rumbling of the engine and cistern being taken for cannon, the rebels disappeared before the firemen arrived.

The report of The Patriot is as follows:

"Yesterday being the day appointed for the Queen's Coronation, a general illumination took place, which, considering the culpable shortness of notice by the Mayor, was very brilliant. With due notice the affair would have been perfectly splendid, because all were emulous to testify their zeal and display their taste on so happy an occasion. The Fire and Hook and Ladder Companies walked in procession with their engines and numerous rich banners, and made a most gratifying appearance. At the saloon at the corner of Church street there was a rich display of fireworks which afforded much enjoyment to the numerous beholders. The crowds of men, women and children, in holiday attire, parading the glowing streets from 9 o'clock till near 12, presented a most exhilirating coup d oeil, which, in conjunction with the glorious event which had set the masses in motion, could not fail to produce in the heart of every true lover of his country, the most gratifying reflections on the permanency of British power and the efficacy of British protection for life and property, notwithstanding our vicinity to a faithless, savage and barbarous people."

A Boxer Revolt.

The mild Celestial has long been noted for intellectual subtlety beyond the comprehension of the Caucasian mind. Whether he smuggles opium, evades the poll tax or draws to a pair from his sleeve, he maintains a smile that seems the personification of innocence. But Toronto has shown the Chinaman in a new role, that may explain the apparently incongruous name of the patriotic revolutionary sect. John has shown himself a boxer, not in the heraldic, symbolical sense of the recent uprising that cost his nation the disputed indemnity, but in an actual and substantial mix-up on Yonge street. A young man of the Caucasian race exercised his claim to sovereignty by calling a passing Chinaman a name that can neither be spelled nor interpreted for publication in English, and for fear the Chinaman would be unable to comprehend the words with so foreign an accent he emphasized them with his fist.

According to tradition John should have smiled and passed on. But, alas, for the theories of racial superiority and the hope of Anglo-Saxon domination and survival, the Celestial turned round and hit from the shoulder with such bewildering swiftness that the young white man fancied himself in a street car strike or Pretoria celebration. Spectators say that John never lost his Oriental serenity in the hottest phase of the melee, and that when a friend intervened to save the white man from further damage he accepted it with philosophic indifference.

"The East bowed low before the blast
In patient, deep disdain,
She let the legions thunder past,
Then plunged in thought again."

No representative of constituted authority was in sight, and it is not yet known whether or not John will be asked to pay a war indemnity in the Police Court. It is natural that he should oppose indemnities and the tax on laundries, but that he should object to being struck on the back and called badly accented epithets shows a new trait in his character.—Toronto Globe.

The sun's light is equal to 5,563 wax candles at one foot from the eye. It would take 800,000 full moons to equal cloudless sunshine.

An old book in which were recorded the acts of John Walker, a chemist of Durham, furnishes evidence that he was the first inventor of the lucifer match. In 1827 he sold the first box, the price being eighteen pence.

As Parmelee's Vegetable Pills contain Mandrake and Dandelion, they cure Liver and Kidney complaints with unerring certainty. They also contain Roots and Herbs which have specific virtues truly wonderful in their action on the stomach and bowels. Mr. E. A. Cairncross, Shakespeare, writes: "I consider Parmelee's Pills an excellent remedy for Biliousness and Derangement of the Liver, having used them myself for some time."

A man is usually doing the very best he can or else the very worst he can.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

The World's Large Lakes.

The world has six lakes more than 20,000 square miles. The Caspian is the largest of these, and Lake Huron the smallest.

Not Yet.

"Is your furniture antique?"
"No; only old."

Labor In Japan.

Japan has no laws for the protection of labor or restricting the employment of women and children.

GROWTH OF CANADA.

Picture of the Progress Made by the Dominion.

When Manitoba entered the Confederation its agricultural production found no place in the records. In 1881 it was entered as producing 1,000,000 bushels of wheat on an acreage of 51,300, and 1,270,268 bushels of oats. In 1893 the acreage of wheat was 1,000,000, and the yield 15,615,000 bushels, and the yield of oats was nearly 10,000,000 bushels. To-day Manitoba has 2,000,000 acres under wheat, and there are at least 500,000 acres more in the Territories, and there has been commensurate progress in all departments of agriculture. When it was remarked the other day that Saskatchewan would become a second Manitoba, a local journal said that the estimate was below the mark. Manitoba and the Territories are filled with the sons of Ontario, but the older Province takes pleasure in the progress of its younger rivals, and in the westward movement sees the signs of the growth of our common country. Ontario and Quebec, however, have by no means reached the limit of their growth. Both have territory to the north far exceeding in area the well-settled districts, and possessing rich resources in fertile, wooded and mineral lands. A more rapid growth of population would be acceptable, of course, but this is a matter about which there need be no uneasiness. Habitable land of any kind will be more at a premium every year. The rapid growth of the population of the United States, so far from causing us any uneasiness, indicates a source from which we are already drawing immigration, and shall draw a greater measure in the future. The trade and wealth of the country are increasing far more rapidly than its population. With only one-fifteenth of the population, we have a trade of more than one-sixth of that of the United States, and we have no doubt that the advantages which this country offers to newcomers will in time be fully recognized.—Toronto World.

Two Babies for a Cent.

A novel poster was seen by a recent sojourner in Nova Scotia. It was printed on rough paper with red paint, in a childish hand, and was tacked to a telephone pole in a conspicuous condition: "There will be a concert and fair in Mrs. Larson's sitting room today at 2 o'clock sharp. Admission—Adults, 5 cents, children, 1 cents; babies, two for a cent."

The Universal Postal union was established in 1875, and embraced 22 countries.

Colorado

for your Summer Outing

Peaks three miles high, snow-clad in July-- flashing trout streams-- big game-- camping-- mountain climbing. Ask for our book-- "A Colorado Summer."

Santa Fe

C. C. CARPENTER, Pass. Agt.
503 Guaranty Bldg.,
Minneapolis, - - - Minn.

Canadian Northern Ry

Eastern ....Tours

—via the—

Great Lakes

Tourist Rates to all points in

ONTARIO, QUEBEC, MARITIME PROVINCES and EASTERN STATES

One of the most delightful trips, with every modern convenience for the comfort of passengers.

Ocean Tickets by all Lines

For dates of sailing and reservation of berths apply to any agent of the Canadian Northern Railway, or to GEO. H. SHAW, Traffic Manager, Winnipeg.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

"THE" ROUTE TO

Australasia And the Orient

CANADA'S SCENIC ROUTE

Travel by the C. P. R. and be assured of SOLID COMFORT.

First-class C. P. R. Sleepers on all through trains.

Through Tourist Sleepers - the best.

Tourist Rates quoted to all points

East, West, South, The Old Country, The Orient, The Antipodes.

Those desiring information in regard to any part of the world reached by the C. P. R. or its connections are requested to apply to any C. P. R. representative or to

C. E. McPHERSON
Gen. Pas. Agt., Winnipeg.

Crystalized nitrogen is one of the greatest chemical curiosities. By cooling nitrogen gas down to 367 degrees below the freezing point, and then allowing it to expand solid snowlike crystals are formed.

A 10 cent packet of Wilson's Fly Pads
has actually
Killed a Bushel of Flies

The Salvation Army claims that no divorce has been granted to any one married under its auspices in the 35 years of its existence.

An old bachelor, when he feels blue and discouraged, always regrets that he has no wife to whine to.

TRACY KILLS HIMSELF

SURROUNDED ON ALL SIDES IN A SWAMP IN WASHINGTON STATE

THE DESPERADO TAKES HIS OWN LIFE AFTER A RIFLE DUEL AT LONG RANGE.

A dispatch from Spokane, Wash., dated July 7, says: Harry Tracy, the outlaw, killed himself in a wheat field after having his leg shattered by a rifle ball, near Fellowes, at 4.30 a. m. He was surrounded by a posse.

In a fight with the sheriff's posse last night Tracy was wounded in the right leg between the knee and the thigh. Twenty minutes later, knowing that capture was certain, he killed himself with a revolver. His body was found in a wheat field this morning.

TRACY'S RECORD.

The old adage that "truth is stranger than fiction," finds a new vindication in the wildly picturesque career of Harry Tracy, the escaped Oregon convict. For deviltry and genuine bloodthirstiness, remarks the Richmond Dispatch, this western bandit was not surpassed by even "the heavy villains in the modern melodramas." As for dime novel heroes, adds the Detroit Evening News, "Tracy beats all up to date." He is a real twentieth century "Dick Turpin and Jack Sheppard rolled into one," declares the New York World. The following account of Tracy's remarkable career both preceding and following his confinement in the Oregon jail, where he was serving a twenty-year term for assault and robbery, is given in the New York Times:

"Convict Harry Tracy began his career of crime in Colorado in 1897, by killing Deputy Sheriff Valentine Hay. In 1898, after he had been sentenced to the Oregon penitentiary, he attempted to escape by seizing a railroad locomotive, but the engineer outwitted him and he was captured. In the scrimmage he wounded Detective Rainer of Portland.

Tracy's complete record to July 11, after which until the last news of his death very little was known of his whereabouts, is as follows:

June 9—Escaped with David Merrill from penitentiary in Salem, Ore., after killing three guards and wounding one.

June 10—Returned with companion to Salem, stole team of horses after stripping the owner of his clothing, and proceeded to Portland. Near Gervais held up two members of pursuing party and took from them a buggy and horse.

June 11—Fired upon pursuers at Gervais and drove them off.

June 12—Surrounded by militia, they broke through the line and escaped back to Portland's suburb.

June 14—Stole two horses at the point of guns.

June 15—Compelled two men to row them across Columbia river.

June 17—Wounded a deputy sheriff in charge of pursuing party, stole fresh horses and continued toward Alacenter.

June 23—Robbed a house at Alacenter.

June 26—Stole two horses, but gave them back.

June 29—Escaped from posse which had cornered them.

July 1—Tracy kills Mecrill 40 miles from Tacoma, then rode through Olympia

July 2—Tracy held up six men, crew of a launch; made two of them tie up the others and then take him in their boat up Puget Sound. Told them he had killed seven men since escaping from prison.

July 3—Abandoned launch and took to woods, headed for Seattle, saying he intended to clear out a saloon there. Twice cornered by sheriff's posse, he killed four men, fatally injured two and wounded two others; stole a horse after crushing its owner's head with the butt of his gun, and rode away. Entire militia of state ordered to mobilize to assist in search.

July 4—Five hundred armed men surround woods, with instructions to kill Tracy on sight.

July 5—Escaped from Cordon. Terrorized a farmer into supplying him with food; forced a boy to row him across a river. Entered a farm house, bound and gagged all but one man; made him pack up a bundle of food and clothing, shaved himself and then made the man row him to a point several miles away.

July 6—Seen at Deception pass in sail boat. Two steamers in chase.

July 7—Sheriff's posse, after chase of 125 miles, returned empty-handed to Seattle. Chase on Puget Sound continued by revenue steamers and on land by militiamen and searchers for the $5,000 reward.

July 8—Located in farmer's house near Renton. Pursued by bloodhounds, which he threw off the track by the use of red pepper and again escaped.

July 9—Turns up at house of E. M. Johnson, near Kent, and sends Johnson to Tacoma to purchase a revolver, threatening to murder the family should Johnson fail. Mrs. Johnson cooked him food enough to last him ten days.

July 10—Fights battle near Covington with four men, all of whom fired at him at close range. He returned the fire. No one was injured. Tracy escapes into the bush.

July 11—Sheriff Cudihee with several posses are in vicinity of Covington. No sign of fugitive to be seen.

Tracy committed many feats of daring during his flight, in the course of which he evaded various posses when apparently surrounded. He held up numerous farmers, whom he forced to furnish him with food and clothing. By threats to murder their families he compelled them to cover up his tracks. Perhaps his greatest show of daring was on July 2, at South Bay, near Olympia, where he held up six men, and forced four, including the captain of a large gasolebe launch, to embark with him on Puget Sound and pilot him up stream for ten hours.

In 1897 Tracy murdered Valentine Hoge, a Colorado cattleman, and Wm. Strong, a boy, in the same state. A total reward of $5,000 was offered for his capture dead or alive. The reward for Merrill's capture amounted to $1,500, which has been claimed by Mrs. Wagoner, a berry-picker, and her son, who found the body near their home.

DARING TRAIN ROBBERY.

Six Masked Men Board a Train and Make Off With Six Sacks of Money.

A daring and successful train robbery occurred at Marcus, on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincey railroad, near Savanna, Ill., on August 6. A vestibuled passenger train of eleven coaches, Conductor Emerson in charge, was flagged at the little station, upon which six masked men boarded the engine. The engineer and fireman obeyed the men's orders and the robbers at once uncoupled the engine and express car from the train and ran them a quarter of a mile up the track. They blew up the express car with dynamite and ran the engine north a mile from Hanover, as the engine was dead the robbers abandoned it and escaped.

One of the highwaymen was killed, being shot above the eye and also in the leg. He met instant death while on the engine and his body was dumped to the ground by his companions as they sped away. The express messenger, Bye, claims to have done the shooting.

Six sacks of money were stolen, but the amount is not known. The passengers were not molested.

LOOP THE LOOP FALL.

Diavolo Believed to Have Sustained Concussion of the Brain.

A dispatch from London, England, dated August 5th says that Diavolo, the American bicyclist, sustained a terrible fall just after turning the loop in his act at the Aquarium tonight. He was taken to the Westminster hospital unconscious and is believed to have concussion of the brain.

CHILD LABOR.

The Alabama committee on the employment of children in factories has published a pamphlet entitled "The Case Against Child Labor." The number of children under sixteen years of age employed in the cotton factories increased 140.9 per cent. during ehe decade ending 1880, and 106.5 per cent. between 1880 and 1890. Between 1890 and 1900 the increase was no less than 270.7 per cent. Of the 45,044 textile operatives in North Carolina, 7,996 are under fourteen years of age, while the average wage ofthe child has decreased from 32 to 29 cents per day in that State. In some places in the south the daily wage is as low as 9 cents a day for twelve hours of labor. In all, says the New York Post, it is estimated that there are at least 22,000 such child victims of the rapacity and selfishness of the northern and southern owners of mills in the south, and from 9,000 to 10,000 of these are under the age of twelve. A vigorous agitation is being carried on against the evil.

NEWS NOTES.

Arrangements have been made to increase C. P. R. elevator storage at Fort William by 2,000,000 bushels in time for the season's crop.

For the first half of the present year the number of births recorded in Manitoba was six short of three three thousand.

Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern crop reports issued on August 7 state that conditions are all favorable. Cutting will be general within two weeks.

Most men would rather borrow than be caught begging or stealing.

ROBBED OF $1,565.00

HUGH MILLER, OF RATHWELL, VICTIM OF HOLD-UP IN WINNIPEG.

CRIMINALS ARE ARRESTED AT GRAND FORKS, N. D.—ANOTHER CASE.

Winnipeg, Aug. 8.—Two ex-convicts of the Manitoba penitentiary, Keefe and Jack Bates, alias Woods, were arrested in East Grand Forks last night at the instance of Chief of Police McRae, of this city. The two men are wanted here on a charge of having robbed Hugh Miller, a drover of Rathwell, of over fifteen hundred dollars on Monday night last. The robbery took place in Winnipeg.

The story told by Hugh Miller of the occurrence is as follows: On Monday afternoon he drew the sum of $1,565 from the Union bank in this city. During the afternoon and evening he spent considerable time drinking at the Occidental hotel in the company of men who are known as thieves and thugs of the worst description. After dark Miller was taken by two men across the Louise bridge into the bush and was thrown down and choked by the men. The struggle was somewhat prolonged and Miller was much exhausted when he was finally overcome. The two thugs obtained possession of all the money in Miller's pockets and made a hasty departure. The victim remained in the woods until daylight, when he succeeded in finding his hat and coat and then told his story to the chief of police.

ANOTHER ROBBERY.

A man complained to the police yesterday that while in an intoxicated condition in the Oxford restaurant he was relieved of $350 by two men entered with him.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The Welsh in Patagonia are destitute and anxious to come to Canada.

Homestead entries in the Northwest show a phenomenal increase for the past two months.

Kingston Locomotive Works company has issued a writ for $30,000 against the striking machinists.

Windsor, instead of Owen Sound, may be made the principal eastern lake port of the C. P. R.

The expedition which went to search for the Cocos Island treasure, has returned to Victoria, B.C., having failed.

Hon. Mr. Tarte has announced that a new government office will be created to look after great lakes transportation.

It is said that Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain will urge the British cabinet to contribute one-half of Canada's subsidy to a fast Atlantic line.

A remarkable catch of seals was made off the Falkland Islands during the season just closed by the schooners Edward Ray and Beatrice L. Corkburn. The latter took over 2,000 skins and the former 1,700. The boats are owned in Halifax. The Victoria fleet has not been nearly so successful, 840 skins being the largest individual catch.

There is a strong probability that the embargo against landing Canadian cattle at British ports will be removed when parliament re-assembles in October. The negotiations of the colonial premiers in London have been favorable to that end.

Right Rev. W. C. Pinkham, D.D., Bishop of Saskatchewan and Calgary is seriously ill in London.

Amy Wilson, who disappeared from Copetown, Ont., has been located near Paris, Ont., working in the harvest fields disguised as a man.

An explosion in a coal mine near Trinidad, Col., on August 7 killed sixteen men.

Morbid curiosity seekers stripped the body of Outlaw Tracy while it was lying in the morgue of every rag of clothing and nearly all his hair.

Homestead entries at the Dominion lands office in Regina show a phenomenal increase for the past two months compared with the same months last year, being four times greater.

The people of Amherstburg, Ont., are greatly stirred up over the mysterious disappearance in Cleveland of their townsman Capt. Edward O. Gatfield, master of the steamer V. H. Ketchum. It is ten days since the captain dropped out of sight.

A woman and her two small children were burned to death in a cheese factory in New York state on August 8.

It is reported in London that Mr. Pierpont Morgan's offer to give the British admiralty a claim on all the vessels of the steamship combine has been accepted by the government.

COLORADO MINE HORROR.

An Explosion in a Mine at Bowan Results in the Death of Many.

A dispatch from Trinidad, Col., says: A disastrous explosion occurred on Aug. 8 at No. 3 mine at Bowen, a small camp about ten miles north of this place. Thirteen lives are known to have been lost. The exact number of men working on the night shift and in the mine at the time of the explosion is unknown.

The mine is worked by the Union Coal company of Denver. It is a slope mine, situated on the mountain side and about 400 yards from the Tipple Blow. The explosion occurred about 800 feet from the mouth of the slope, and was caused by fire damp. Immediately after the night shift had started in the slope a startling explosion occurred, entirely filling the mouth of the slope and shaking the buildings and breaking windows a mile distant.

As the mouth of the slope was filled the rescuers were delayed for some time, but succeeded in reaching some of the men through an old slope, and eight dead bodies were quickly brought to the surface.

Mothers, wives and children of the dead and imprisoned miners were almost crazed with grief, and the scene presented at the mouth of the mine was a most pathetic one.

DROWNED AT OLD ORCHARD.

Three Canadians Washed From a Raft While Bathing.

A strong undertow claimed the lives of three bathers at Old Orchard, Me., on August 7. Mr. George Ford, aged 70 years, of Ottawa, Ont., a former member of the board of aldermen of that city; Walter Basham, aged 55, of Montreal, chief train dispatcher on the Grand Trunk railway, and Miss Florence J. Thomas, aged 20 years, of Montreal.

The three persons were the only bathers on the beach at the time. Their prolonged absence from the hotel worried Miss Hazel Ford, granddaughter of Mr. Ford, who had been in bathing with the others and had left them on a raft some distance out in the surf. She induced other hotel guests to go to the beach and Mr. Basham's body was seen in the surf. Later Miss Thomas' body was found. The belief is that all three were washed from the raft. Mr. Basham was an expert swimmer. Mr. Ford was spending the summer at Old Orchard with his wife and granddaughter. Miss Thomas was an elocutionist, and was to have been married this fall.

BRITISH POLITICS.

Balfour to Establish a New Office—Beer War Commission.

The official announcement was made in London on August 8 that Austen Chamberlain, son of the colonial secretary, had been appointed postmaster-general, vice the Marquis of Londonderry, resigned.

The appointment of Sir Wm. Hood Walrond, to be chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, in place of Lord James, of Hereford, resigned because of ill-health, was also officially announced.

Since Austen Chamberlain will have a seat in the cabinet, the rare spectacle will be furnished of both father and son holding cabinet rank simultaneously.

It is said that a new office, that of minister of education, has been created, to which the Marquis of Londonderry has been appointed.

The premier, A. J. Balfour, announced the appointment of the folllowing commission of inquiry into the conduct of the Boer war: The Earl of Elgin, chairman; Sir Henry Norman, Sir John Hopkins, Lord Esher and Sir John Edge.

REVENUE STILL INCREASING.

The Year's Figures Will Likely Show a Surplus of $7,500,000.

The Canada Gazette, issued August 8, has the financial returns of the Dominion for the month of July.

The amount of revenue received for the month was $4,272,587, compared with $3,800,365 in July last year, or an increase of $412,220. There was an increase in all the branches of the service.

The expenditure for the month was $2,936,111. against $2,676,793 for July, 1901, an increase of $259,318.

The year's figures will be as good as stated, and the surplus will be about $7,500,000.

A RECORD SNAKE STUNT.

Reptile Reappeared at Command and Cured Dying Man.

The Bangkok Weekly Times tells a queer story of the cure of a snake bite at Ban Kao-kop, near Saraburi. A young man, bitten by a venomous snake, was evidently dying. The moh called in resolved to try the most powerful remedy he knew. He tried a cowrie shell on to a piece of string, and muttered incantations till it began to whirl round and round, and finally disappeared. In a few minutes the snake that had done the damage appeared with the string and shell round its neck, and, commanded by the moh, put its mouth to the wound for about ten minutes, after which it went away. The dying man speedily recovered.

Contracts for the Liberal Arts building for St. Louis exposition, amounting to $470,000, have been let.

An officer of the Second C. M. R.'s has been disgraced for defrauding fellow-officers while in South Africa.

SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL

NAMES OF ALL WHO HAVE FALLEN IN THE WAR WILL BE

PRESERVED ON THE WALLS OF THE NEW CATHEDRAL AT CAPE TOWN.

News comes from Ottawa that the militia department has been advised of the proposal to erect in Cape Town a building which shall serve as a memorial to those who have fallen in the South African war, and as a thank offering from those whose lives have been spared. It has been decided that the memorial shall take the form of the eastern portion of the new cathedral. This portion of the cathedral will cost $30,000. The names of all who have fallen in the war will be preserved on the walls of the building as far as it is possible. Towards the adjacent portion of the building a sum of $20,000 has been subscribed from colonial sources.

His excellency the governor-general desires that this memorial be brought to the notice of the militia of Canada, in order that those members wishing to do so, might have an opportunity of subscribing towards the fund to be raised for the purposes of the memorial. Donations may be paid, if desired, by annual installments, extending over a period of years. The patrons are His Majesty the King, Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales.

HOME RULE APPEAL.

The Ottawa branch of the United Irish League makes an appeal for home rule in the following circular: "Of the policy of Britain towards other members of the Empire, a significant lesson is taught by the march of events in South Africa. Here, after a sanguinary strife, unexampled in history, and when a victory is achieved, largely accelerated by Irish blood and Irish valor, home rule is granted to the valiant Boers, while Ireland is ruled from Dublin Castle by the hand of blood and aliens not in sympathy. In Canada also our French-Canadian fellow-subjects are loyal, contented and prosperous, through methods founded upon justice, while drastic expedients have been adopted to firmly plant loyalty in the hearts of Irishmen, through the medium of coercion acts supplanted with prison, with gibbets and with the convict ship."

MOUNTED RIFLES' BUCKET.

A board of officers will assemble at Toronto, at a date to be named by the president, to report on the best pattern of bucket for the Mounted Rifles. The proceedings of the board will be forwarded to the adjutant-general at headquarters, together with samples of the various experimental buckets considered by the board.

STORM STRIKES NIAGARA VINEYARDS.

Some $30,000 Damage Done in the Fonthill District—The Losers.

A dispatch from St. Catharines, Ont., says that news reached there from Fonthill that the most disastrous storm in years struck that village on Sunday, August 3rd, causing a loss of between $25,000 and $30,000. It struck the village about the same time as the cyclone struck this city, but greater damage was done by hail. Heavy pieces of ice, which measured one and a half inches through, were piled up several inches high, and fell thick and fast, cutting everything in their way. Fruit and grain farms are badly damaged. Wheat is about all in, but hundreds of acres of oats are ruined. A. Railton and Wm. Platts, fruit-growers, will lose $2,000 each. Large vineyards were striped of fruit, and fully 50 per cent. of the peaches and plums are cut off. Morris, Stone and Wellington's nursery was badly damaged the loss amounting to several thousand dollars. This firm had over four hundred lights of glass broken. Fisher & Son, nurserymen, are heavy losers. They lost over three hundred lights of glass, and their nursery stock was injured.

The Archbishop of Rupert's Land is still seriously ill in London.

Work has commenced on the surburban electric line to Headingly.

Mr. R. B. Van Horne, of Montreal, has typhoid fever in New York.

The corner stone of the new Presbyterian church at Reston, Man., has been laid.

Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow, of South Haven, Mich., have adopted 22 orphan children.

W. Alford, Winnipeg, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for stealing bicycles.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for:—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING:

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " "	12.00
Fourteen " "	14.00
Sixteen " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 15, 1902.

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION.

THE peculiar circumstances attending the strike of the miners employed in the collieries of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company have revived to a considerable extent the interest of the public in compulsory arbitration as a means of settling labor disputes. From what has appeared in a portion of the public press there appears to be a misconception—that compulsory arbitration is advocated as a weapon for use in fighting "unionism." This is not the case, as experience has shown that the more unionism is perfected the less society suffers from it in the way of strikes and labor disturbances.

When differences occur between employer and employees the greatest requisite is a representative who can state the cause of the many employees to the unified interest of the employers. The object of all strikes is to obtain better conditions, or to at least hold existing conditions, the retention of which may have been threatened. The sooner, therefore, that the matters in dispute can be adjudicated upon, the better for all parties Such being the case it is easy to see how greatly the community is benefitted, when in cases of labor disputes the interests of labor are handled by a highly organized body. Such are officered by men who have the full confidence of the membership. The members know their cause is safe in their leaders hands, and they are content to leave it there and abide by the result whether it represents all they contended for or not. It is easy to see that in disputes in which the wage-earners are but imperfectly organized, the chances of a speedy or in fact of any satisfactory settlement are more remote. In such cases the great body of the strikers have no leaders to whom they have pledged allegiance, and it not infrequently happens that the disarrangement of the time forces men to the front who have no hold upon either the confidence or respect of the majority of the men affected. The advantage of the community, in event of labor troubles, is therefore clearly on the side of fully organized "unionism."

But "unionism," no matter how fully it may have been brought to perfection cannot always be relied upon to secure a settlement of labor disputes. There are times when the employers of labor adopt the somewhat familiar attitude that there is nothing to arbitrate as between themselves and the men whom they employ. It is in cases of this kind that the manifest advantages of a system of compulsory arbitration appeal to the people of a community affected by the labor disturbances.

The strike of the miners at Coal Creek and at Michel emphasized the necessity for a compulsory arbitration law more than any other labor dispute in the history of the province, for the reason that it paralyzed the mining and smelting industry of the interior. The men thrown out of work in the collieries by the strike were insignificant in number compared to those who were forced into idlenes at the low-grade mines of the Boundary, and at the smelters at which their ore was reduced. Under the present system what representation have these men in disputes of this kind? They have their work taken away from them and are in a position which is utterly helpless. Should either party to the dispute at the collieries take the position that there was nothing to arbitrate, enforced idleness for weeks is the only prospect the future holds for them.

Compulsory arbitration is the only method that has been suggested so far which promises the state protection from the unreasonableness of employers of lal or as well as the unreasonableness of wage-earners. The present system, which permits one branch of industry to paralyze all others while those interested in it wage war upon each other, is nothing short of barbarous. Compulsory arbitration is the one method by which the employer and employed have anything like reasonable protection against the overreaching tendencies of each other, and it should commend itself to all who are desirous of living, and at the same time are now averse to other living

BEGINNING OF THE END.

ALTHOUGH the press dispatches from day to day reiterate the statement that there is no change in the strike situation throughout the anthracite districts, it is easy by reading between the lines, to see signs of the end of the great struggle that has waged in the hard coal districts by the thousands of miners, rendered despreate by a system of serfdom which gave nothing but the bare necessaries of life in return for their labor in the mines.

This great strike will end as many similar strikes have ended before. The strikers will be starved into submission. This was the policy adopted by the operators when the trouble first developed. From the first the efforts of president Mitchell and his associate strike leader were directed with a view to preventing breaches of the peace, and for a while, before the pinching of famine became too acute, they succeeded, and to a greater extent than most people were inclined to consider possible. But now, after close upon three months enforced idleness, the vicious elements in the strikers ranks have broken away from the restraint imposed by their leaders, and through riots and assassinations the armed authority of the state has necessarily been injected into the trouble, with the resnlt that public sympathy has been alienated from the men who in the first instance were merely asking for such terms for their labor as would erable them to live like humans.

The murder and property loss which have attended the disorders of the last two weeks of the great strike will be charged up to "unionism." It will not be properly so charged, but that gives little concern to those who keep the account as between labor and the great interests which employs it. The foreign element, which has contributed the total of the strike offences of the past two weeks, are the children by adoption of the trust interests they are at present fighting. There was a time when white labor was employed exclusively in the coal fields of Pennsylvania, but white labor resisted wage reductions from time to time and it became necessary to import men from Europe to take its place and as the wage inducement became less and less the European importations were drawn from still lower grades of the human family, until today the coal regions are people to a considerable extent with the scum of Europe, and the United States has become the headquarters from which is directed the warfare that anarchists wage against organized government throughout the world.

It is this foreign element which will lose the strike for the miners of the anthracite regions. They have not been trained to hold their passions in leach. To them the exercise of patience is an exhibition of weakness. They live only in today, and when they see the great conflict going against them their only thought is of vengeance against the representatives of the system which oppresses them. And when they enter upon this stage their strike is lost.

Real estate is beginning to move again. Two sales were made by F. J. Watson this week. x

NOTICE!

Clearing Out Sale AT KERSHAW'S.

All to be sold within two weeks, so come early and get your own share of the bargains offered. Groceries and everything will be sold without reserve.

HY. KERSHAW,
Victoria Ave. Fernie, B.C.

Still Doing Business

At the Old Stand

where my personal attention will be given to the filling of prescriptions, and generally attending to the wants of the public.

A. W. Bleasdell

Graduate Ontario College of Pharmacy. Thirty-five years' experience in drug business.

Next to Post Office, Fernie.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is heredy given that I, G. C. Foss, 60 days after date intend to apply to the chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 160 acres of land more or less on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post marked northeast corner of Jas. A. McDonell's purchase, thence running west 40 chains, thence north 40 chains, thence east 40 chains more or less to the west bank of Elk River, thence southerly along said west bank of Elk River 40 chains more or less to the point of beginning.

Dated this 30th day of June, 1902.

G. O. FOSS.

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

DON'T YOU NEED SOME

FLOOR OILS LINOLEUM.

If you do, call and let us show you our nice assortment of patterns which we have just imported direct from the manufacturers.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

MISS RHODENA TINGLE

—PROFESSIONAL NURSE—

Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

3-3m

PLANTS FOR SALE

A number of beautiful house plants for sale at reasonable prices. Apply to
MRS. KATHARINE McKAY.
This side of bridge, near Mott's mill.

3-4t

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Editor Simpson, of the Cranbrook Herald, was in town on Thursday evening

Miss C. Hall returned on Monday from the east. She has been holidaying at Huntsville, Ont.

A. Smith, teacher at the mines, returned from Revelstoke on Saturday, where he has been for the past month.

Bush fires have been raging on the north and east sides of Fernie for several days and they may become dangerous to the safety of the town at any time.

David Crowley's magic lantern show in Princess Hall the other evening was rather a tame affair. There were quite a number present, but very few of them speak very highly of the entertainment.

Jack Wilson, of Fernie, desires to accept the challenge of Coolgardie Smith to shoot a live-bird contest for the championship of British Columbia. The details can be arranged at the Royal hotel, Fernie.

The many friends of Mr. T. C. Thompson, Land Commissioner for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., will be sorry to lean that he is suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. His son Howard is also very ill with the same disease.

Miss Watson, a newspaper correspondent from Victoria, was in town several days this week looking up material for an article on the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Fields. Miss Watson is a contributor to several leading American mining journals.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bolton wish us to convey their thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly rendered their assistance during the illness of their little daughter. The little one, after an illness of several weeks, died last week, the funeral taking place on Friday.

Several cases of diphtheria are reported in town and it is feared there may by an epidemic. Lalonde's house in the old town is again under quarantine. This place seems to be a public nuisance and steps should be taken by the health authorities to have the building destroyed.

No arrangements have yet been decided upon for the final match between Lethbridge and Fernie lacrosse teams. Lethbridge boys wish to have the game played on neutral grounds, the winners to take all the gate receipts, while the Fernie team are very anxious that the match should be pulled off here.

A very fashionable ball was held in the company's new store at Morrissey on Friday evening last. A large number of guests from Fernie were in attendance, the company providing a special train for the occasion. The store was beautifully decorated and the many handsome costumes worn by the ladies lent a charm to the occasion which those present will long remember.

Bishop Spalding, of Colorado, recently told an audience of Chicago women that women were responsible for three-fourths of the sins of men. The opinion has aroused much adverse comment. The bishop is probably right, but it is only fair to admit that the greater number of the modern Eves play the role unconsciously, and that the resistance of the later-day Adam is not marked by any great amount of strenuousness.

The only sign of a celebration in Fernie on Coronation Day was a baseball game between Hosmer and Fernie. All the stores were open during the day and the people seemed to forget that it had been proclaimed a public holiday. A small crowd assembled in the afternoon to watch the ball game and they were so disgusted with the miserable performance that very few of them stayed to see the finish. The game resulted in a win for the town team by a score of 15-5. Had it not been for an overdose of boozerine imbibed by the Hosmer battery they would no doubt have had a walk-over

The following provisions of the South African Land Grant Act will be of interest to any of our returned soldier boys who desire to take advantage of the Act:

1. Application must be made before July 1st, 1903, to government agent.
2. Stake as for pre-emption.
3. Make an application in duplicate with description & sketch as pre-emption.
4. 160 acres is to measure 40 chains by 40 chains, or 80 by 20 chains.
5. Surveys are to be made at the cost of the applicant and to be completed in 9 months.
6. A volunteer is permitted to appoint a substitute to locate and receive the grant.
7. Land exempt from certain taxation for 5 years if held by the volunteer.
8. Land exempt from execution.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Electric lights are to be installed at Frank in the near future.

Cranbrook defeated Pincher Creek at baseball this week by a score of 16-5. The game was played at Pincher.

If you have any houses, etc. to rent or to sell list them with Watson, the real estate agent. x

The Nelson Lacrosse team are desirous of meeting the Fernie team and have written the Secretary to that effect. All they ask is their expenses! It is to be hoped that a game can be arranged.

Mr. J. A. Rennie is getting material on the ground for the erection of a handsome residence on Howlend Ave. Mr. J. H. Bricker also contemplates the erection of a dwelling on that street in the near future.

Do you intend building a house this season? The B. C. Permanent Loan and Savings Co. offer to help you by advancing 60 per cent. of value of lot and building. This Company is the only Loan Co. that has much money invested in Fernie Real Estate, and puts through its loans much quicker than Eastern Loan Companies. For fuller information call at Watson's office. x

H. W. Barnes, of Fernie, is applying for an hotel license at Morrissey Junction. Thomas Stevenson Elko, is also applying for a transfer of his license from Elko to Foss & McDonald's new townsite. A meeting of the Commissioners will be held on Friday, Sept. 5th in Fernie to consider the ayplications. H. A. Kanouse is also applying for a license for the new town. His application will be considered on Friday next.

A big compound engine and ten box cars were badly derailed in the C. P. R. yards here late Thursday evening. Either through carelessness or with malicious intent some employee of the railway left a switch open near the weigh scales and the engine ran off bumping on the ties for a distance of about one hundred feet and finally careening on its side. Fortunately no one was hurt. The wrecking crew came down from Cranbrook and the engine and cars, after about 24 hours hard work, were again put on the rails.

The Lethbridge senior lacrosse team is improving. In a match with Medicine Hat on Saturday last they defeated their opponents by a score of 4-1. In a previous match the Hat walked over them with a score of 8-1, the same score that Fernie piled up against them here two week ago. There were two or three changes in the Lethbridge team. The News in its remarks on the game says that "If the Lethbridge club can put the same team into the field, in similiar good trim, against Fernie, there is very little doubt as to the winners of the Levasseur trophy for 1902."

A number of additional writs against the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company have been issued at Nelson, concerning the the disaster in May at the Coal Creek mine. The names of the plaintiffs, with the amounts they are suing for, are:—Anna Badi, and her three children, for the death of Joseph Bodi, husband and father, widow sues for $6,000 and children $3,000 each. Mari Petras, and son, for loss of J. Petras, widow sues for $6,000 and son for $3,000. Terresa Seling and daughter, for loss of J. Seling, widow sues for $8,000, and child for $4,000. P. Pepin Barber, and two children, sues for loss of George Barbar, widow sues for $8,000 and children for $3,000 each. Sabi Cupido and three infant children, widow sues for $6,000 and children for $3,000. each for loss A. Cupido.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

We Want Your Trade

and we are confident that we can make it to your advantage to deal at the

New Furniture Store

We are willing to

BUY SELL OR EXCHANGE Secondhand Furniture and Stoves.

We have a full stock of new goods which we will sell at close rates. Give us a call.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Jarvis Keeps The Best

GROCERIES

Canned Fish

Canned Meats

Canned Fruits

Canned vegetables

All kinds of Teas

Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

J. F. Jarvis

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

I have disposed of my interest in the Fernie Drug Store, and while thanking my customers for their patronage would bespeak for my successor a continuance of their favors.

H. S. MONKMAN

Having taken over Mr. Monkman's interest in the Fernie Drug Store I beg to assure the Public that their wants will receive immediate and careful attention.

The stock is being increased to meet every demand.

I am an honor graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy and have dispensed for several years in the leading Pharmacies of Toronto.

I can confidently guarantee the accuracy and promptness of my prescription work and would respectfully solicit your patronage.

N. E. SUDDABY.

Housekeepers!

The London & Liverpool Co. have the Greatest display of Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Lace Curtains and Linens ever Shown in B.C.

Carpets

Unions all-wool, Axministers, Brussels, Tapestry, Velvets, with a grand line of Wool, Brussels and Tapestry Art Squares.

Linoleum and Oil Cloth

Tile and Carpet Patterns in all the new colorings, 6 to 12 feet wide.

Lace Curtains

400 pair to select from, prices ranging from 50 cts. to $10.

Rugs In this department it is worth your while to visit even should you not buy. Such a grand collection never shown in the west.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

For the Miners we have a complete stock of Dinner, Tea and Powder Cans. We illustrate here a Nestable dinner can which will hold a good sized lunch and when empty can be carried in your pocket. Miners' caps, belts and oil flasks always on hand.

DIPPERS—In pressed or pieced tin, gray or whihe enamel.

TEA KETTLES in tin, nickel plated, copper and enamel. Better come in and get a wickless blue flame OIL STOVE.

..IF YOU WANT A GUN..

that can always be depended on to go when you pull, and to shoot as held; one that is good in all kinds of weather, Get One From Quail, it will never disappoint you.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

Important Notice!

Why wear dirty, creased and wrinkled clothes?

when it will cost only the insignificant sum of $3 per month to keep them in the smartest condition possible. I will send for your clothing, and return same to you looking almost as well as when they were purchased. Those wishing to grasp this great opportunity should call at once and leave their names with me. The amount of clothing you possess is of no importance to me.

Yours sincerely,

...H. HILL..

EDWARD VII. CROWNED

The August Ceremony of the Coronation of the King of England Takes Place in Westminster Abbey.

Edward VII., R. I., by the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the Dominions Beyond the Sea, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, was on Saturday, August 9, crowned without hitch or harm.

The whole ceremony was of a magnificently decorative character, and presented a constantly changing panorama around the two central figures enthroned in their robes of velvet, ermine and cloth of gold, amidst the distinguished assemblage of actors, the fulfilment of whose various roles necessitated constant movement. Each stage of the ceremony, with its old world usages, furnished its quota of interest, the interior of the noble church, filled as it was with officiating prelates in vari-colored copes, with princes and diplomats in gold laced uniforms, with heralds, pursuivants and other officers of state in mediaeval costumes, with peers and peeresses in rich robes, with oriental potentates in many-hued raiment, with men of all types and all shades of complexion from distant points of the new crowned monarch's empire, with its dazzling display of jewels and wealth of color, presented a picture, which in its combined brilliancy and distinction has seldom been excelled.

As the hour appointed for the departure of the royal procession approached, the excitement about Buckingham palace was much marked. Punctual to time, the advance guard of the royal cavalcade issued from the archway, the horses of the troopers curvetting nervously as they faced the wall of humanity that cheered their coming. Shortly afterwards came the Prince and Princess of Wales' procession, and finally within a few minutes their majesties' state coach appeared at the gateway, and the King and Queen smiled and bowed in response to the mighty roar of cheers that dwarfed all previous welcomes.

The ovations were taken up by the crowds which thronged the Mall, and were repeatedly acknowledged by the occupants of the state coach.

The King looked pale and rather thin and drawn, and was by no means as brown and robust as previous reports led one to expect, while punctiliously bowing from side to side he did so with a gravity very unusual to him. The Queen, beside him, was radiant. She never looked better.

It was a continued triumph, and reached its climax on its arrival at the Abbey, where there was a scene of unparalleled enthusiasm, which did not cease until their majesties disappeared in the annex.

The service commenced with the reconsecration of the regalia. The procession of the clergy with the regalia then proceeded from the altar to the annex, all present standing up and the choir singing, "O God Our Help in Ages Past." Preceding the regalia came the boys of Westminster abbey, followed by the children of the chapel choir in royal uniforms.

The Duke of Connaught took his place beside the Prince of Wales in the abbey as the procession entered, bowing as he passed the prince. The Archbishop of Canterbury took his seat in front of the coronation chair and the Earl of Halsbury, the lord high chancellor, seated himself by his side. Several minutes elapsed, however, before the King and Queen came in sight of those gathered about the throne.

Suddenly "Viva, Viva Alexandra" was shouted by the boys of Westminster school, and the Queen walking slowly to the left of the throne gained her chair and knelt at a silken prie dieu, her magnificent train of cloth-of-gold being lifted out of her way by the six scarlet coated pages.

Two or three minutes later came the cry from the Westminster boys, "Viva Rex Edwardus" with a blare from trumpets. Yet there was another wait. "What has become of the King?" was asked by people who were shut off from sight of the nave. The Queen waited patiently, the organ ceased and then resumed, and there was another blare of trumpets and chorus of "Vivats," and King Edward appeared and walked to his chair in front of the throne, bowing to the Queen as he passed, and then knelt down in prayer. After removing his cap His Majesty stood up and the Archbishop of Canterbury in a trembling voice read the recognition, beginning: "Sirs, I here present unto you King Edward, the undoubted king of this realm," etc.

Then there was a hoarse shout and the blending of the choir and the people, women and men, in the cry, "God Save King Edward." Several times this was repeated and the abbey rang with loud fanfares.

The administration of the oath followed. Standing before the King's chair, the Archbishop asked: "Sir, is your majesty willing to take the oath?" The King answered in firm, strong tones: "I am willing," etc. His replies were easily heard high up in the triforium near the roof. Then the inkstand was brought and the King signed the oath. He did not advance to the altar but sat in the chair he had occupied since the service began. While the choir sang, "Come Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire," the King remained seated and the Queen stood up.

After the archbishop's anointing prayer, a gold canopy was brought over the King's chair and his majesty diverted himself of his outer robe and then walked to the ancient chair, while the choir sang Seadok's anthem. The anointing ceremony was scarcely seen owing to the canopy. The spectators were just able to discern the Archbishop of Canterbury's motions.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA.

After the prayer the King donned the Colombium sindonis, then resumed his seat, and from a scarlet, silken roll, on which the prayers were printed in large type, and which was held by the Dean of Westminster, the Archbishop of Canterbury read the prayers and delivered the sword to the King, who did not go to the altar, the sword being taken to him by the Dean of Westminster, while His Majesty remained standing. The armilla and the orb were then delivered to the King, according to the programme, when the King held out his hand for the ring, the Archbishop of Canterbury had difficulty in finding it, but finally, with trembling hands, he placed it on the tip of His Majesty's finger, reading the prayer simultaneously. The King himself, completed the process of putting on the ring as he withdrew his hand.

Later the Archbishop had similar difficulty, owing to short sightedness, in placing the crown on the King's head. In fact, the choir started "God Save the King" while the archbishop was still placing the crown on the roler's head, and a great shout went up, and the electric lights were turned on. As the acclamations died away the clanging of the joy bells, the noise of guns, and the shouting of the people outside, penetrated into the abbey, where the king still sat, motionless, his dazzling crown on his head and his sceptre held firmly in his hand.

After singing, "Be Strong and Play the Man," and the presentation of the Bible, the King advanced and knelt while he received the benediction. He then walked to the great throne, where he stood on the dais for the first time surrounded by nobles. The Archbishop of Canterbury followed, the King being obliged to stand while awaiting the arrival of the archbishop.

Having placed the King on his new throne, the archbishop knelt and paid homage, the aged prelate scarcely being able to rise until the King assisted him, and himself raised the archbishop's hand from the steps of the throne.

The archbishop, who seemed to be in a faint, had to be practically carried to the altar. The incident created considerable excitement, and several prelates rushed forward to help the primate.

The next person to pay homage to His Majesty was the Prince of Wales, who knelt until King Edward held out his hand, which he kissed, after touching the crown as a sign of fealty. The Prince of Wales then started to return to his seat when the King drew him back and put his arm around him and kissed him.

After this the King once more gave the Prince his hand, this time to shake, and the hearty vigor of King Edward's grasp showed that his hand, at any rate, had not lost its strength.

The Queen then rose, and, accompanied by her entourage, proceeded to the altar steps, where, under a pall of cloth of gold, she was quickly crowned by the Archbishop of York, supported by the bishops. She was ther led to the throne beside that on which the King sat, and her enthronization was accomplished. The Queen bowed to King Edward, and both walked to the altar and received the communion, after delivering their crowns to the lord great chamberlain and another officer appointed to hold them. The whole spectacle was most impressive and was made more brilliant owing to the electric light.

The service, which was completed with the singing of the Te Deun, was brought to a close without a hitch.

The King exhibited no outward trace of fatigue.

In a speech in London Earl Roberts spoke of Americans as brethren who should all be proud of the Anglo-Saxon race.

The Winnipegs won the senior four-oared race at Worcester regatta on August 8.

MURDER DISCOVERED

BODY OF A YOUNG MAN FOUND AT ST. JOHN, N.B., RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

RAILWAY MAN'S DECAPITATED BODY FOUND IN A CELLAR AT DEVIL'S LAKE.

A dispatch from St. John, N. B., of August 4 says: A boy gathering berries in the uark this afternoon, found the body of a young man covered over with brush. The body was identified as William Doherty, aged 19, missing since Friday. All indications point to murder, as there was a hole in the side as if made by a bullet, and also a hole in the head. There was a deep cut across the forehead and a few other cuts about the face. The coroner said the victim had been dead about 48 hours. He left home Friday to carry dinner to his father and had not been seen since. No theory is advanced as to the cause of the murder.

ANOTHER AT DEVIL'S LAKE.

The mutilated body of Nicholas Nachtshimer was found in the cellar of his house at Devil's Lake on August 4 by a friend who went to call. The man had been shot in the head, and the head was cut off to permit the body to be placed in a small cellar. The crime had apparently been committed ten days ago. Deceased was an old employee of the Great Northern, and had lived in Devil's Lake several years. He was well-to-do, and is supposed to have been murdered for his money. His absence was not noticed, as he had intended going to the coast for a trip, and was supposed to have departed.

KILLED IN WINNIPEG.

A Car Repairer Meets With Sudden Death in C.N.R. Yards.

A fatal accident happened to a car repairer in the yard of the Canadian Northern at Winnipeg on August 4. S. Bown, who lives in the vicinity of Stonewall, was hit and killed on what is known as the rip track, near the machine shops. Bown, with several other workmen, was engaged in repairing a line of freight cars when, according to the C. N. R. officials, the foreman went down and warned all the men to move away as the engine was going to pull these cars out of the yard. Bown, according to the story, moved away from the cars with the rest, but he evidently returned a few moments afterwards for some tools he had forgotten. He was run over and terribly injured and died a few minutes afterwards.

BOERS PLOTTING.

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at The Hague says in a dispatch that it is becoming increasingly difficult to combat the generally accepted Dutch theory that the Boer leaders here are campaigning toward the ultimate subversion to British rule in South Africa. The Boer general Lucas Meyer, who has just reached Holland from London, instead of going to Germany, has stopped at The Hague, and is going to visit Mr. Kruger, while several other prominent Boer leaders are assembling here. Nobody at The Hague, continues the correspondent, believes their story that their mission is to collect funds for Boer widows.

NEW PACIFIC STEAMERS.

The Journal of Commerce in the current issue says:

"Our London correspondent states that the Canadian government has sent to the Allan line, Sir A. L. Jones, Mr. Alfred Holt, and other Liverpool shipowners, asking for tenders for a service of 18-knot passenger steamers between Vancouver, Australia, and points in the Pacific; also a service of commodious and quick cargo steamers."

EARTHQUAKES IN MONTANA.

There was an earthquake at Missoula, Bonner and Clinton, Montana, on the night of August 3. It was short and knocked down several buildings at the latter place. The shock shook the electric lighting plant from its foundation at Bonner and broke considerable glass at Missoula.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

At Clinton, Ont., on August 3, F. Burnett, only son of George Burnett, and Arthur Curry, only son of Jos. Curry, of Goodrich township, with another young lad, were bathing in Bayfield river, when Burnett got beyond his depth. Curry went to his rescue, when, as neither could swim, both were drowned. The third lad dragged Burnett's body out, and went a mile and a half to the nearest house for assistance. Every effort was made to resuscitate the young man, but life was extinct.

KEEP THE BOYS AT HOME.

A farmer had a pair of colts—very promising colts they were. He thought a great deal of them. And they grew up to be the finest in all the country round. He broke them into single and double harness, and trained them for the all-round work of the farm. And then, just when he was looking forward to be able with them to work his farm well, he lost them. He was but a poor, struggling farmer, and had not the means to buy another team. He had to hire one, which took all he could make to pay for the use of, and his crops were poor, for he could not get as good a team as the one he had lost.

This is the story of Canada today. We have our boys. We think all the world of them. We know they are the smartest boys that ever were. We take such loving care of them. We deny ourselves that we may fit them for their life's work. We begrudge them nothing. We feed and clothe and educate them as best we know how. And on the farm, in factory or office train them till they become skilled agriculturists or artisans or business men, and we look forward to the time when they will repay us for all their care by doing their share by developing our country. But no: then they leave us. At least some thousands of the brightest and brainiest do every year. And our fertile lands are left untilled, our plentous store of minerals is left unmined and we have to buy from foreigners what we could and ought to grow and make ourselves.

How can we keep our boys at home? The answer is simple. Protect our industries. Build up our home market. Take "Canada for Canadians" as our watchword. Keep our money in our own country. Clear our woodlands. Open our mines. Build more factories. Develop our export trade. Raise our revenue by duties on what we make ours?lves. duties on what we make ourselves.

ADOPT AN ORPHAN ASYLUM

Mr. and Mrs. John Shandrow, of South Haven, Mich., have adopted a whole orphan asylum, 22 children in all. The 22 children are not all infants. Some of them are bright, rosy-cheeked youngsters, already old enough to go to school. Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow have no children of their own.

To please his wife Shandrow wrote to the Smith Foundling hospital in Minneapolis asking them to send him several children for a summer's outing, with the privilege of choosing from them in case he should want to adopt a boy. The institution is a small one and the management promptly forwarded the visible supply of children over three years of age, no less than 22 boys and girls. Mr. and Mrs. Shandrow have just decided to adopt all of them, of whom they are excessively fond.

AN IDEAL PREACHER

The funeral of Rev. Jacob Weller, an aged Dunkard preacher, took place at Hancock, Md., on August 3. He had been pastor of one church in the village the village for more than forty years during which time he never accepted salary or other compensation and never took up a collection on Sunday. He married more couples and baptized more people than any other Dunkard preacher. He was an orator of unusual gifts. It is said he never wore a cravat in his life.

TEXANS COMING.

C. W. Merchant, J. H. Parramere and R. G. Anderson, of Abilene, and Cape Wallingham, of McMillan, prominent Texas stockmen, hade arrived at Dallas, en route to Canada, where they will engage a range for next season.

Heretofore Texas cowmen have been sending cattle to the Dakotas and the Wyoming country, but next spring they will try the experiment of using a Canadian range, as they expect in Canada to meet with less disturbance from public authorities.

The Texas combination expects to pasture about 2,000 head of cattle in Canada next year.

COLLISION ON GREAT LAKES.

The steamers City of Venice and Seguin were in collision off Rondeau, Ont., at mid-night. The former boat Ont., at midnight on August 5. The former boat sank. Three lives were lost and several people were hurt.

The steamers met bow-on in a fog, the City of Venice going down almost instantly.

Dr. Christie, M. P. for Argenteuil, Que., is dead.

A new Anglican church was dedicated at Arden, Man.

A $30,000 soldier's memorial will be erected at Cape Town.

The catch of salmon this year on the Fraser river is a fair average.

The Emperor of Germany looks upon the disarmament scheme as a dream of the future and fantastic.

R. W. Hilliard, Dominion immigration agent, says that not more than 10,000 harvest hands will be obtainable in the east this season.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

It is claimed that a sure cure for hiccoughs is to inhale as much air as the lungs will hold and retain it as long as possible. If one inhalation is not sufficient repeat the process.

THE BRIGHTEST FLOWERS must fade, but young lives endangered by severe coughs and colds may be preserved by Dr. Thomas. Eclectric Oil. Croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, in short all affections of the throat and lungs, are relieved by this sterling preparation, which also remedies rheumatic pains, sores, bruises, piles, kidney difficulty, and is most economic.

If the young man in the case is in love and the girl isn't he makes a fool of himself; but if the girl is in love and he isn't he makes a fool of her.

I bought a horse with a supposedly incurable ringbone for $30.00, cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT, and sold him in four months for $85.00. Profit on Liniment, $54.00.

MOISE DEROSCE,
Hotel Keeper.
St. Phillip's Que., Nov. 1st, 1901.

Geraniums bloom most satisfactorily when grown in comparatively small pots and soil which is termed rich, but is not rank with excessive manure.

Chronic Derangements of the Stomach, Liver and Blood are speedily removed by the active principle of the ingredients entering into the composition of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. These pills act specifically on the deranged organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease and renewing life and vitality to the afflicted. In this lies the great secret of the popularity of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills.

Ceres games, instituted in 1314 to celebrate the return of the Ceres men from Bannockburn, were celebrated recently in Fifeshire, Scotland.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Cures Dandruff.

By sowing nitrate of soda in small quantities in showery weather under trees a most beautiful verdure will be obtained.

In nearly every street in Japanese cities is a public oven where, for a small fee, housewives may have their dinners and suppers cooked for them.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder dusted in the bath softens the water at the same time that it disinfects. 16

The German Empress decorates with a gold cross every servant who has remained in the same family for forty years.

The Jews in Germany are considerably perplexed that their numbers are receding in the Fatherland.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

For Weak and Sickly Children During the Hot Weather.

Thousands of children die during the hot weather months, because summer complaint and stomach troubles come suddenly and mothers do not have the means at hand to promptly check and cure them. In homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used these precious little lives can be saved, and no home where there are infants and young children should be without them.

Baby's Own Tablets will promptly cute all stomach and bowel troubles, and are a great relief to teething children. The tablets are sold under a positive guarantee that they contain neither opiate nor harmful drug. Crushed to a powder they can be given with absolute safety to a new born babe. Mrs. R. Ferguson, 105 Mansfield street. Montreal, says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have found them the best medicine I have ever given my children. My baby has always been small and delicate and suffered so much last summer with his teeth that I did not think he would live. Then he was attacked with dysentery, a feverish skin and cough. As the doctor's medicine did not help him, I sent for Baby's Own Tablets and they did him a wonderful amount of good, and he is now getting along splendidly. I gladly give my experience for the benefit of other mothers." If your druggist does not keep these Tablets they will be sent by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

A pessimist is a man who believes that every chestnut has a worm in it.

In some parts of South Africa much damage is done by baboons, which go in large marauding parties to rob gardens.

The goats of Naples go upstairs into tenement houses to be milked, sometimes to the sixth or seventh stories.

MARKET REVIEW.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

WHEAT—The wheat markets during the past week have continued to decline daily, with scarcely the least sign of reaction. Crop weather everywhere has been favorable, and the volume of trade extremely light. The consequence is that in the American speculative markets there has only been one way to the course of prices and that has been downward.

If anything should happen to depreciate the present fine prospect for the spring wheat crop a sharp advance in prices would readily take place. At the stage which the spring wheat has arrived, it would scarcely be possible under the most favorable conditions to improve the prospects further, so that any change in weather conditions would probably be for the worse, and much may happen between now and the time when the crop will all be safely gathered. The demand from Europe for wheat has been very quiet for some time, but in the last few days a good deal of export business is reported from the seaboard. Broomhall reports bad harvest weather this week in the United Kingdom, and this with small stocks of old wheat everywhere, and low prices on this side for future delivery easily leads to demand which again may lead to a reaction in the price of futures.

At Liverpool on Friday the price foe No. 1 northern spring wheat was 6s 1½d

The market for Manitoba wheat continues firm, but the amount of business is small. Spot wheat is scarce. There are only three shippers in the market, but they readily take all the wheat they can get for immediate delivery, in store, Fort William. Prices have eased off a little under the effect of the decline in the American markets, and at the close last week prices were: No. 1 hard, 75½c; 1 northern, 73½c; 2 northern, 71½c in store Fort William, spot or delivery first half August.

FLOUR—Demand is light and the market is unchanged as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian, $2.05 per sack of 98 lbs.; Glenora Patent, $1.90; Alberta, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.60; XXXX, $1.25.

MILLFEED — Bran is firm and worth $15 per ton in bulk. Shorts firm at $17 per ton in bulk, delivered, subject to usual trade discounts.

GROUND FEED—We quote: Oat chop, per ton, $28; barley chop, $24; mixed barley and oats, $26; chop screenings, $15.50; oil cake, $30.

OATS—The market is weak and lower, owing to near approach of harvest. No. 2 white oats are offering at 40 and 40½c, in store, Fort William Feed grades are worth 37 to 38c per bushel at Winnipeg.

BARLEY—All offerings are now being taken for feed at 40c per bushel. The movement is very light.

SPELTZ—Dealers are doing a little business in speltz for feeding purposes at 50c per bushel of 50lbs.

HAY—Demand is fair and the market steady at $7 to $8 per ton for carlots on track here for fresh baled.

ROLLED OATS—Milling companies report their prices unchanged as follows: 80lb. sacks, $2.20; 40lb. sacks are worth $2.25; 20s, $2.30; and 8s, $2.60 with cover. Twolb. packages, $3.60 without case. Granulated and standard oatmeal is unchanged at $2.75 per $8lb. sack.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 45c per pair, alive; fowl, 70 to 75c; ducks and geese, 9c per pound; turkeys, 11c, live weight.

BUTTER — Creamery—The demand for creamery butter is not so strong as to justify the advance in prices which some creamery managers hoped for in August. The make is now at high water mark and shipments regular at steady prices. We quote 16½ to 17c per pound f.o.b. at factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Receipts are moderately large, and the market is steady. Considerable quantities are paying 13c per pound for choicest dairy in tubs or boxes, and from that figure the market ranges down to 10c per pound for low grades, all commission basis.

CHEESE—The market is steady and purchases have been made at 8½c per pound. The range of prices is from 8½c to 9c per pound delivered here.

EGGS—Fresh case eggs are worth 12½c per dozen delivered in Winnipeg.

DRESSED MEATS—The market for beef is easy, and the price ranges from 7 to 7¾c; veal, 8 to 9c. Mutton is steady at 8½c. Spring lambs are selling at 12½c per pound. Hogs, 7¾ to 8c per pound.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6¾c; No. 2, 5¾; No. 3, 4¾c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horsehides, 50c to $1.

WOOL—Prices range from 6 to 6½c per pound.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—The export movement is becoming larger and quite a few cattle have been handled this week. Their condition is good. Choice export steers from the western ranges are worth 4½c per pound off cars at Winnipeg; butchers' cattle, 3¾ to 4c. Stockers are not moving to any extent.

GRAVEL CURED.

REMARKABLE CASE OF THIS PAINFUL DISEASE.

Reuben Draper, of Bristol, Que., Who Was a Victim Finds Relief and a Permanent Cure—He Tells of His Sufferings and How He Left His Troubles Behind.

Bristol, Que., August 11.—(Special) No disease can cause more severe and dreadful pain than Gravel. Reuben Draper, of this place, was taken ill with this awful trouble about five years ago. He was cured and so many have asked him how it was done that he has decided to give the whole story for publication:

"About five years ago I was taken ill with Gravel. I suffered great pain so I sent for a doctor. He gave me some medicine and came to see me twice afterwards, but my disease was not gone, and in a short time I had another very bad attack.

"This time I sent for another doctor, with about the same results, only I was getting weaker all the time.

"Then a man advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, for he said they had cured his mother. I thought I would try them and bought a box.

"Just one week after I began the treatment I passed a stone as large as a small bean, and four days later another about the size of a grain of barley—this gave me great relief, and I commenced to feel better and to gain strength right away.

"That was five years ago, and I have not had any trouble in that way since. I have the stones in a small bottle and anyone can see them who wishes. Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly saved my life."

The story of Mr. Draper will be good news to many sufferers who may not have known that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Gravel and Stone in the Bladder.

What has cured this gentlemen and hundreds of other very bad cases should cure anyone, and those who may be afflicted as Mr. Draper was should try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The consumption of tea in the United Kingdom exceeds that of all other European countries and the United States put together. During the 17 years from 1884 to 1900 it has risen from 175 million lbs. to 250 millions, an increase of 43 per cent.

Very many persons die annually from cholera and kindred summer diseases, who might have been saved if proper remedies had been used. If attacked do not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentry Cordial, the medicine that never fails to effect a cure. Those who have used it say it acts promptly, and thoroughly, subdues the pain and disease.

A treatment highly recommended by a scientific magazine for poisoning from ivy is to wet a slice of bread with water, dust it with common washing soda and apply it to eruption, keeping the bread wet from the outside. Half an hour of this treatment is said to be a sure cure.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

A New York paper has been investigating the Four Hundred, and prints a number of receipted bills of the last century showing that a Stuyvesant sold handkerchiefs; a Depeyster, beans; a Rhinelandee, hats; a Brevoort, pewter spoons; a Beekman, molasses; and a Roosevelt, lampblack.

THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS CO., LTD.

TRUE AS GOSPEL

because the statement is unimpeachable: If a sack or barrel of flour bears the mark "Ogilvie's" you may rely on its absolute purity, excellence and nutrient qualities when it is your desire to have good bread—and who doesn't want that?—be sure to order Ogilvie's flour.

BY ROYAL WARRANT
Millers to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales

Not merely the best value, or the best at a price, but positively the best at any price!
Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

"Hello!" Old Chap!
Looking for a good Cigar?
"Yes." Well, try a—
"LUCINA."
It will fill the "bill."
GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP
The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -
ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS, B. C.

Without question the best and most effective springs in Canada for the cure of rheumatism, kidney or liver troubles. The medicinal qualities of the water are unequalled. Splendid hotel accommodation; fine fishing and hunting. An ideal spot for the invalid.

The annual birth rate in European Russia is 46.3 per thousand and the death rate only 33.6 which results in an annual surplus of births of over 1,600,000.

When using common tea you may mistake bitterness for strength. GOLD STANDARD TEA is unequalled for strength and flavor.—

It is interesting to recall that the news of the fall of Sebastopol reached England on a Monday (10th Sept. 1855). It was conveyed by express to the Queen at Balmoral, and she caused a huge bonfire to be kindled on the summit of Craigowan.

Don't Worry! Cheer Up!

USE
SUNLIGHT SOAP

Ask for the Octagon Bar.

Are you going to start a Newspaper?

¶ Then write to us for prices and terms upon TYPE, MATERIAL and MACHINERY.

¶ We carry the only stock in the Northwest, and can furnish complete Job and Newspaper Plants at short notice; also Ready-Prints in all sizes and styles.

Toronto Type Fdry Co'y, Limited.
175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

W. N. U. No. 389.

When the officeholder loses his grip he does less handshaking.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

It is remarkable that the United States, which began its little war some time before the British, is still hammering away in the Philippines. The old country is not so slow as some "dreffle smart" people suppose. —Scottish American.

MINARD'S LINIMENT for Sale Everywhere.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

W. B. Harwood and the Rev. Father Milleux have returned from a hunting expidition in the Flatthead district. They report game very plentiful.

School opens on Monday and it is very desirable that all children should be in attendance the first day. Parents should make a note of this.

If you have any second hand furniture you desire to sell call at the B. C. Furniture Company's store. They are prepared to buy, exchange or sell second-hand furniture. A full stock of new goods always on hand. x

The new townsite owned by Foss and McDonald at Morrissey Junction, will be put on the market in a few weeks. They have made arrangements with F. Simpson of the CranBrook Herald, to open a newspaper there and we may expect to hear of the wonderful advantages of that section shortly.

Harry Thompson, a young Englishman living on the hill, above the coke ovens created considerable excitement early Thursday morning by firing off dynamite and shouting. Constable Comer went up to investigate the row and discoverd that Thompson had gone out of his mind. The constable endeavered to arrest the maniac, but he showed fight, producing a shot gun and firing it at him. Comer however hung around until daylight and at last succeeded in putting him in safe quarters.

More money was raised in Toronto for the relatives of the five firemen recently killed in that city than was raised through out Canada for over one hundred and thirty men killed in Coal Creek mine disaster. Following are the subscriptions to the Fernie Relief Fund which have not yet been acknowledged:—Per J. S. T. Alexander, $398.65; officials and employees of Intercolonial Coal Co., Westville, N. S., $254.25; subscriptions from Kamloops, $11; Anon, Seattle, 75 cts.; J. Malcolm, Collingwood, $1; Arcadia Lodge, Westville, N.S., $127.

A very happy event was celebrated at the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening when H. M. Fullerton, the well known and popular traveller for Wilson Bros., Vancouver, was united in marriage to Miss M. Eaton, of San Francisco, Cal. Only a few of the most intimate friends of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony, but Fernie turned out "en masse" on the street and gave the happy pair a royal send off. The band was in attendance and varied the program by alternating Canadian and American airs. The bride though but a short time in town has become very popular, her pleasing manners and striking appearance at once won the admiration of the crowd and all are most hearty in congratulating the lucky groom, and wishing both every happiness. A sumptuous repast was prepared at the Royal and the crowd dispersed to the strains of "God Save the King"

The importance of the work of the Lord's Day Alliance was clearly and forcibly presented by Rev. J. G. Shearer to the large congregation that assembled in the Presbyterian church on Sunday at the close of the evening service. In developing his subject:—"The Battle for the Toilers' Sabbath." He pointed out the enemies that at present threaten the integrity of the day. Among others he emphasized the greed of individuals and especially the greed of corporations, since by reason of their impersonal character, it is hard to reach the real offenders. Individuals who through greed work on the Sabbath are committing a more serious crime than they themselves realize. The are breaking God's law, and also the laws of their country. The life is a form of lawlessness, their influence is debasing. Corporations however are the greatest offenders, since in many cases they practically compel their men to work on Sunday. The Alliance does not aim at establishing a puritanic Sabbath. All it asks is that no unnecessary work be done on the Sabbath. The working man shall have that day to themself to spend as he sees fit. The loss will be his if he fails to spend it right. It is to be regretted that many who really love christianity are not more alive to the importance of this question. Christianity and the Sabbath stand or fall together. Voltaire recognized this when he wished to overthrow christianity, he began by seeking to destroy the Christian Sabbath. It is to be hoped that all who love the cause of the Master in Fernie will rally around the branch of the Alliance which has been established here and make it such a power that open desecration of the Lord's Day will soon be a thing of the past.

BORN

GLOVER—In Fernie, on Tuesday, Aug. 12th, the wife of Thos. Glover, of a son.

DIED.

FERGUSON—In Fernie, on Thursday, Aug. 14th, Alexander D. Ferguson.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Holy Communion 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

The funeral of Alexander Ferguson took place from the family residence on Victoria Avenue. Deceased was a member of the Masonic, order the Oddfellows, Orange order and the Miners Union, all four of which followed the remains to their last resting place. The procession which was headed by the Fernie band was the largest of the kind that has yet been seen in Fernie. There were fully three hundred men in line.

FIRE! FIRE!

The Dry Season is coming....

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

WE FEEL

that we can please anyone and everyone with this line of goods for

Made-to-Order Suits and Overcoats.

There's such a variety of handsome designs and the cloth is so good that there is hardly any chance of increasing the one or improving the other.

C. W. LAIDLEY

INGRAM & McINTYRE

THE CITY BARBERS.

Shop in the Royal Hotel.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

PREST,

The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction gnaranteed.

Fernie Transfer Co.

N. F. HINCHEY, Mgr.

We beg to inform the public that we are prepared to do all kinds of light and heavy transfer work.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land on the north side of Lizzard Creek about four miles from its mouth, commencing at a post planted on the north bank of said Lizzard Creek about 4 miles from mouth marked H. W. Herchmer's south-east corner post, thence north a distance of 80 chains, thence running west a distance of 80 chains, thence running south a distance of 80 chains, thence running east a distance of 80 chains to the place of commencement.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., this 26th day of June A.D. 1902.

H. W. HERCHMER.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome mahogized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

Fort Steele License District.

NOTICE is hereby given that undermentioned persons have made application under the provisions of the "Liquor License Act, 1900" for hotel licenses at the places opposite to their respective names:—

Henry Wade Barnes, Royal Hotel, Morrissey, on James Macdonell's townsite on the west side of Elk River.

Thomas Stevenson, Hoffman House, Elk, transfer of existing license in the name of Steyenson and McIntosh.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House, Fernie, on Friday, the fifth day of September, 1902, at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES,
Chief License Inspector.

Fernie, August 16th, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for permission to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the west bank of Elk River, 60 chains southerly from the south east corner of James Ferguson's application, thence running 40 chains west, thence 40 chains south, thence 40 chains east, thence northerly following the said bank of Elk river to point of commencement.

EUGENE WALTER.

Dated at Fernie this 5th day of July, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, John A. Ferguson intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permiesion to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, thence running west to a point 40 chains due south of James A. McDonnell's south east corner post, thence south 40 chains, thence east to the bank of Elk River, thence following the said bank of Elk River northerly to the point of commencement.

JOHN A. FERGUSON.

June 24th, 1902.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that I, Geo. H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following lands in East Kootenay District, B.C.: Commencing at a post planted at the north east corner of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt land on the west side of the Elk river about 9 miles north of Michel creek, thence north 20 chain more or less to a point on the Southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application to pre-empt; thence west 80 chains along said southern boundary of Frank Harper's application aforesaid; thence south 20 chains more or less to the northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt; thence east along said northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt 80 chains more or less to the place of beginning, containing about 160 acres more or less.

Dated the 11th day of August, 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land on the north and south side of Lizzard Creek, about three miles from its mouth, commencing at a post planted on the north bank of said Lizzard Creek about 3 miles from mouth, marked S. Herchmer's North East corner post; thence running west a distance of 80 chains; thence running south a distance of 80 chains; thence running east a distance of 80 chains; thence running north a distance of 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at the town of Fernie this 27th day of June, A.D., 1902.

S. HERCHMER.

Baptist church, Victoria Ave., Lord's Day services: Morning service at 11, Sunday school at 2:30 p.m., Evening service at 7:30. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, prayer and bible study. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, B. Y. P. U. Rev. D. Holford, B.D., pastor. All these services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended all to be present.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that I, Henry W. Petrie, sixty days after date intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 640 acres of land on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post situated 20 chains west of the N.W. corner of R. L. Henderson's pre-emption, thence running 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to the point of commencement.

Dated this 26th day of June, 1902.

HENRY W. PETRIE

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I will apply to the Honorable the Commissioner of Lands and works of the Province of British Columbia for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands, Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River in the southern division of East Kootenay about one mile west of Sparwood Station, thence west twenty chains, thence north one hundred and sixty chains, thence east to the bank of the Elk River, thence down the bank of the said river to place of commencement. The tract described above contains as nearly as possible one thousand acres.

A. D. McRAE.

Dated this 4th day of July, 1902.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fine

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FRUIT....

Arriving Daily at

Cuthbert's

J.C.Hutchison

.....MEANS BUSINESS.....

Have you seen his latest stock of goods? No? That is strange. Why, he is becoming the talk of the town. Don't you know that he is now prepared to adorn his customers with the cheapest yet most durable apparel in Fernie. Not only with up-to-date suitings, but with shirts, ties, collars cuffs, socks, hats and caps. In fact he will fit you out from head to foot at prices within the reach of all. Call and inspect his stock.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

FERNIE, B.C.
Near the Station

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

The IMPERIAL LIMITED

The quickest and best equipped train crossing the continent

TOURIST RATES to Eastern Points via the Lake Route....

Lowest rates to Honolulu, Japan, China, Australia and the Old Country.

For full information apply to C. P. R. agent, or

C. E. McPHERSON,
Gen. Pass. Agent, Winnipeg

NOTICE.

'Canadian Contingent Exemption Act, 1902.'

All South African Volunteers entitled to avail themselves of the privileges of the above Act are requested to communicate with the undersigned without delay, as also the next of kin of those deceased, or of those who have not yet returned to British Columbia, or any other person interested in mining properties held by such volunteers.

The latest date for receiving applications for exemption under the above Act is the 21st day of September, 1902.

EDWARD GAWLER PRIOR,
Minister of Mines.

Department of Mines,
Victoria, B.C., 4th August, 1902.

Fort Steel License District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned has made application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act 1900" for an hotel licence at the place opposite his name.

H. A. Kanouse, the "Pioneer Hotel" on the west side of Elk River, about two miles north of Morrissey Creek, near C. N. S. railway bridge.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House, Fernie, on Friday, the 22nd day of August, 1902, at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES.
Acting Chief Licence Inspector.

Fernie, August, 7th, 1902.

In the County Court of Nanaimo

Holden at Nanaimo.

In the Goods of Enoch, Barron, deceased. Intestate.

Take nolice that I have been appointed Administrator of the effects and credits of Enoch Barron, deceased, Intestate. All persons having claims against the estate are required to send the particulars thereof, to me on or before the 15th day of September, 1902, duly verified after which date I will distribute the estate amongst those persons, only of whose claims I then shall have received notice. Any person indebted to the deceased are required to pay the same forth with.

Nanaimo, B. C., August 5th, 1902.

J. A. McALONEY,
Official Administrator
Nanaimo, B.C

Lib. Legislative Ass.
Dec 31 1901

129

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 18 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, AUGUST 23, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 190

METHODIST CHURCH.
FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:
Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER
Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - B.C
Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER,
Barristers, Solicitor, Notary Public,
FERNIE, - - - B.C.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK,
Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every WEDNESDAY evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

For Sale
800 fully paid up shares of $1.00 each in the Similkameen Valley Coal Co.
at 25c. each
For blocks of 200 or more payments may be made at the rate of 20 per cent. monthly.
When wanting to buy or sell stock of any kind write us.
E. B. McDermid,
Chartered Accountant,
Nelson, B.C.

HE WAS RESPONSIBLE

JURY AGREE THAT A. FERGUSON CAME TO HIS DEATH THROUGH CARLESSNESS.

Evidence Shows that Ferguson Had Orders to Prop the Roof.

The inquest upon the death of Alexander D. Ferguson was resumed on Monnay morning at 10 o'clock before Coroner Trites. W H. Herchmer appeared for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company and Alexander Dick for the government.

The first witness called was A. R. Wilson, civil engineer for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company. He produced the plans of No. 1 mine together with a sketch of the scene of the accident.

David Martin was the next witness and upon being sworn said:—I was on duty on the 14th of August. I know deceased, Alex. Ferguson. He was employed in tracklaying and getting the road in condition to work. There were no miners diging coal in that portion of the mine. Ferguson had been warned that the roof was bad. Fire-boss Powell and myself were in that portion of the mine on the day previous to the accident and Powell directed my attention to the rock which was overhanging the roadway. Ferguson and myself both examined the rock and I told him to have it proped and he said he would, and made some suggestions as to the way he should do the timbering. We both sounded the stone with our picks and he said he would put two props on each side of the rock, and I told him to go ahead and do it. There were already two props under the roof at that point, but it was apparent that they were insufficient. John McAuley was with Ferguson at the time of accident, but not at the time I spoke to him about the stone. There were two other men near besides Mr. Powell.

Questioned by Government Inspector Dick he said he had known Ferguson for about eight or ten months. He considered both McAuley and Ferguson the most competent men in the mine. McAuley had only been working with Ferguson a couple of hours when the accident took place. He having volunteered to take the place of Peter Patterson who had been sent out to do some survey work. He did not know whether McAuley knew about the bad roof or not, but thought Ferguson would have told him.

Questioned by the jurymen he said he knew of no reason why Ferguson did not repair the roof. Had the timber been put in as suggested the accident would not have taken place.

Questioned by Mr. Herchmer he said there was a plentiful supply of timber provided for the men in that section. He considered Ferguson a thoroughly reliable man and believed the other miners thought so as he had been appointed a member of the miners' committee to inspect the mines. It was the duty of the workmen to inspect the roof of the places in which they worked to ascertain if all was safe.

Wm. Powell, fire-boss in No. 1 mine, was the next witness. He testified that in company with Mr. Martain he had visited that portion of the mine in which Ferguson was working and had called the attention of both Martin and Ferguson to the bad roof and heard Martain's instructions to have it repaired. Ferguson suggested how he would do the work and this being satisfactory they went about their duties. On the following morning as Ferguson was going in he questioned him about the bad roof. Ferguson said he had not repaired it but would do so that morning. He visited him at nine o'clock and nothing had yet been done toward timbering the spot, but as the men were still about sixty feet from the weak spot there was no pressing necessity to fix it until they reached the place as no one was working further in in that direction. He again left them and expected to see the work done by the next time he visited that part, but before he got around again the accident had occurred. He had no conversation with Ferguson in presence of McAuley about the stone. After the accident he made a careful examination of the spot and found no evidence to show that any timber work had been started. The men had apparently been laying the track under the bad spot when the fall occurred. He knew of no reason why the timbering had not been done unless it was that Ferguson underestimated the danger.

James White, the man who first discovered the accident, was the next witness. He said he was in that portion of the mine after 12 o'clock when he heard a voice call, "For God's sake hurry up with that light." When he reached the spot he found McAuley sitting with his back against a rock and his legs pinned under the rock. He said, "Hurry up and get me out of this. Ferguson is under the fall and I believe he is still alive." He got the rock off McAuley but owing to the pain the injured man suffered he could not move him so went for assistance. He returned with a number of men and removed the rock from Ferguson, who was lying in a crouched position, quite dead. The heaviest part of the rock lay across his back. McAuley said to hurry up that they had been there quite a while. He did not know when the accident took place.

J. Hillaga, sworn said he had been working with Ferguson at the time of the visit of Martin and Powell on the day previous to the accident and he heard Martin instruct Ferguson to fix roof. Ferguson told Martin he would, but after he left he said the roof was all right and he was going to hurry along and get to the face.

There were two other witnesses to coroborate the above statement, but the jury decided that they had heard sufficient to make the case clear. They were out a few minutes when they brought in the following verdict:—

"That the said Alexander D. Ferguson came to his death on Thursday, Aug. 14, at some time between the hours of 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. in No. 1 tunnel of the Coal Creek Mines by being crashed under a fall of rock from the roof of said mine That no blame can be attached to anyone except himself and that according to the evidence he left the rock in a dangerous condition in direct disobedience to orders." (Signed)

A. Joyce, foreman.
W. W Tuttle.
J. A. Rennie.
W. F. Cuthbert.
T. Q. Bigger.
J. F. Jarvis.

It was intended to hear the evidence of John McAuley, the survivor of the accident, but the doctors thought it would be unwise to subject the injured man to any unnecessary excitement.

MINERS ON THE ALERT

COAL COMPANY GETTING MEN IN PENNSYLVANIA TO WORK IN FERNIE, MORRISSEY AND MICHEL.

Men are Uneasy Over Company's Action in Shipping in Men When there are so Many Idle Around Town.

The press committee of the Miners' Union has handed us the following for publication:

"The following telegram has been received from L. D. Nicholl, President of District 1, of the U. M W. of A.:—

'Scranton, Pa., Aug. 18.—To the Sec. of the Local Union of W. F. M., Fernie, B.C.,: Agent getting men for Michel, Morrissey and Fernie. Is strike settled?'

Reply:

'Fernie, B.C., Aug. 19.—To L. D. Nicholl, President of District 1, of the U. M. W. of A.: Went to work for 2 months from Aug. 4 to Oct. 4 on new terms of 8½ hours undergronnd. Manager agreed if men not satisfied at end of two months to return to old system of working eight hours. Men signed agreement.

Then manager cut prices for contract work. Miners cornered, went to work under protest. May be a prolonged fight after Oct. 4th for old wage scale.

By Order of the Executive Board,
DAN MCKENZIE, Sec.-Treas.'

Fancy the company's agent employing men for Fernie when there are so many in Fernie, old hands, not able as yet to get work in the mines."

PRESS COMMIMTEE.

THEY WANT $229,000

FIFTEEN NEW SUITS ENTERED AGAINST CROW'S NEST PASS COAL COMPANY.

Taylor & O'Shea, of Nelson, and W. R. Ross, of Fernie, will Act for Claimants.

The writs have been issued in fifteen additional actions against the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, for damages arising out of the explosion in the Coal Creek mines in May last. The actions are brought by the relatives of the employees of the company who were killed in the explosion, and the damages claimed in the fifteen suits aggregate $229,000. Taylor & O'Shae, the Nelson lawyers, are acting for all of the claimants. The last batch of actions, with the damages claimed in each, are as follows:

Daniel and Sarah McMillan, $6,000 each, by reason of the death of their son, Rennie McMillan, aged 15.

James R. Wilson and Sarah Wilson, $6,000 each, for the death of their son, James Wilson, aged 18.

Margaret McLeod, widow, $6,000, and eight infant children, each $3,000, for the death of husband and father, Malcolm McLeod, aged 46.

Mary Ann Mitchell, widow, $6,000, and three infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of husband and father, Jas. Mitchell, aged 55.

Frances Beaver, widow, $6,000, and five infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of husband and father, George Beaver, aged 36.

Mary Jane Ellyn, widow, $8,000, and two infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of husband and father, Clarence Ellyn, aged 35.

Christina Sangala, widow, $8,000, and one infant son, $3,000, for death of husband and father, Joseph Sangala, aged 26.

Giorgiamina Matteo and Lonetta Matteo, infant children of Antonio Matteo, deceased, aged 37, claim $6,000 each.

Daniel McDonald and Janet McDonald, $6,000 each, for death of their son, William McDonald, aged 16.

Peppina Barber, widow, $6,000, and three infant children, each $3,000, for the death of husband and father, Geo. Barbar, aged 38.

Ella Korlzoez, widow, $8,000, and two infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of husband and father, Albert Corlzoez, aged 38.

Hannah Glover, widow. $6,000, and six infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of husband and father, Thomas Glover, aged 48.

Ida Davis, widow, $8,000, and infant son, $3,000, for the death of husband and father, Arthur J. Davis, aged 23.

Maud Leadbeater, widow, $8,000, and two infant children, $3,000 each, for the death of father and husband, John Leadeabter, aged 30.

Margaret Owen widow $8,000, and infant son $4,000, for the death of husband and father, John Owen, aged 37, and son, Willie Owen, aged 16.

BY WIRE.

Nelson, Ang. 23.— At a meeting of the Nelson Lacrosse Club held this evening it was decided to offer the Fernie team railway and hotel expenses for a lacrosse match in this city, and if the Fernie men are not prepared to make the trip to Nelson the local men will offer to go to Fernie on the same terms.

Rochester, N.Y., Aug. 23.—Leonard Henkle, of Rochester, is to go to Harrisburg to-morrow to confer with Governor Stone relative to the settlement of the coal miners strike. He proposes that the State shall interfere and in time shall acquire the mines paying for the property a price determined by a commission.

London, Aug. 23.—Sir Thomas Lipton was in an automobile accident to-day while coming to town from his country house. His twelve horse power car which he was driving himself skidded on the street rails at Wood Green and crashed violently into the iron railing bordering the road. The car was wrecked and the railing was smashed for a considerable distance, but Sir Thomas escaped with a shock and a few bruises.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The sample rooms of the Royal Hotel are being completed this week.

A telephone line is being put into the residences of General Manager Tonkin and General Supt. Stockett.

John McAuley, the young man who had his back broken in the accident at the mines last week, is slowly improving.

The Cranbrook Herald says it has positive information that operations will be resumed at Marysville in the near future.

Thos. Parker, of Rossland, Inspector of Weights and Measures for British Columbia, was in town this week on his annual tour of inspection.

There are eight or nine applications in for hotel licenses for the new town of Morrissey. The citizens of the new burg will certainly have a plentiful supply of boozerine.

An ice cream social will be held in the Baptist church, Victoria Ave., on Friday, Aug. 29th, beginning at 7.30 o'clock. A real good time will be had. Be sure and come.

The A. D. McRae Lumber Company opened their mill at Coal Creek this week. They have quite a staff of employees at work. The mill will be moved to Hosmer in the spring.

A number of pupils suffering from whooping cough were sent home from school this week. Some people do not seem to understand that this is a very contagious disease and permit their children, who are afflicted, to run about at will.

The subject discussed next Sunday morning in the Baptist church will be:—"The Holy Spirit: His Relation to the Home Life of Parents and Children, Masters and Servants." Evening service at 7.30, subject: "The Broken Column." A cordial invitation to be present at these services is extended to all.

A case of defamatory libel came up before Justice of the Peace Trites on Thursday evening. The plaintiff in the case is Charles Carlser, section foreman, who alleges that on the 4th of August, A. Cash, one of his men, sent a letter to G. Erickson, C P. R. roadmaster, stating that he was guilty of defrauding the company by paying men who were not entitled to the money. The case was adjourned until Tuesday.

A. C. Flummerfelt, assistant general manager of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co., accompanied by A. B. Hodgers, visited the collieries at Michel, Morrissey and Coal Creek last week, leaving for the west Sunday morning. The object of their journey was to size up the situation and to see how soon the coke ovens at Fernie and Michel would be turning out sufficient material to allow the smelters of the Boundary to commence work again. At Michel they found the 250 ovens turning out about one hundred and eighty tons of coke per day, and the mines are being worked to their full capacity. At Fernie the situation, while not as bright, is improving daily and over half the ovens are now in use. While here the two Granby officials met General Manager Tonkin and he took them over the property and showed them the progress that was being made towards the placing of the mines in good shape again.

The town at the mines is again displaying an activity that has been very noticeably absent for the past two months. Considerable building is going on, an addition is being built to the store to be used as a store room or ware house, it will be completed in a few weeks and the company will be able to carry a stock large enough to supply the community domiciled there. The new school-house will be started next week, already the grounds are being cleared up and the lumber placed on the ground for the building which will be rushed to completion with all possible speed. The new reservoir has become a reality and the pipe is already laid from the dam which is about a mile above the mines to a point almost above the old dam. A large force of men will be kept at work until it is finished. No. 2 tunnel is being put in first class working shape and will soon commence its regular output. No. 1 is at present supplying all the coal which is being brought down, but it is not yet being worked to its full capacity. Every indication points to a very busy fall, and work for all.

A FIENDISH CRIME

MEMBER OF A GANG OF YOUNG THIEVES BRUTALLY KILLS A COMPANION.

DISAPPEARANCE OF YOUNG DOHERTY EXPLAINED TO THE CORONER'S JURY.

A telegram from St. John, N. B., dated August 11, says: The coroner this evening resumed the inquiry to ascertain the cause of the death of William Doherty, who was found dead on the outskirts of Rockwood park, August 4. Frank Goodspeed, aged 14, who was captured with Fred. Higgins, at Vanceboro, en route to Portland, was brought before the coroner.

It would be hard to conceive the story he told of the fiendish murder of Doherty. From the lad's story it was shown a number of boys formed themselves into a band of robbers. A few months ago Higgins, Doherty and a lad named Holm, now serving a term in the penitentiary for breaking into a store in St. John, went on a raid through Maine. At Waterville they broke into a place and stole $300 in cash and jewelry. The police gave chase, and in crossing the bridge they were forced to hide the plunder. Some time afterwards Higgins went to look after the booty but it was gone. He blamed Doherty for stealing the stuff, as he maintained no one else knew where it was.

Higgins then made up his mind to kill Doherty. On August 1, he carried out his plans. Getting hold of Goodspeed he asked did he like Doherty, and the latter replied that he did. However, Higgins prevailed upon Goodspeed to accompany him and Doherty to the park to pick berries. Goodspeed and Doherty were walking ahead in a lonely spot when Higgins fired four shots from a 38-calibre revolver, each shot taking effect in the back. Doherty fell, and, lifting himself on his elbow, shouted to Higgins he was shot and said: "For God's sake go for a doctor, quick," and he would swear it was an accident.

Goodspeed said he would go, when Higgins covered him with a revolver and threatened to shoot him. Higgins then went up to Doherty and battered him on the head with a revolver until he was dead. Then he pushed the corpse down into a hollow with his foot, which accounts for the coat being over Doherty's body when found. He then compelled Goodspeed to help him cover up the body with brush and burned trees. Before doing so, however, Higgins rifled the pockets of Doherty of change, about $1.50. He threatened to kill Goodspeed by shooting if he ever told anyone about the deed. The murder was committed about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Higgins threw the revolver into a creek near where the gang gathered.

No other evidence was taken. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Doherty was killed by Higgins. The murderer is only sixteen years old. He still sticks to his story that he was not with Doherty on the afternoon that he disappeared.

A CREEPY STORY.

A Supposed Dead Man is Awakened by a Barber Shaving Him.

A unique and creepy story comes from a township south of Augusta, Ont. A man named Hatinson died at the home of his niece. He was not more than fifty years of age and apparently passed away very suddenly, and was laid out in the usual way.

A barber was called in and proceeded to shave the corpse. He was passing the razor over the curves of the dead man's chin and was so intent upon his work that he did not look at the upper part of his face. When he had finished he glanced up, and to his horror saw the supposed dead man glaring at him with a bright kindle in his eyes.

With a shriek of terror the barber keeled over on the floor in a dead faint. When he regained his senses the "corpse" was kneeling beside him administering whiskey in generous doses to bring him round.

GHASTLY FIND AT DAUPHIN.

The people of Dauphin were thrown into a state of excitement on Sunday by a discovery made by a pedestrian in a secluded spot about a mile out of town. The remains of a woman were found in a boiler over a fire, and the flesh was fast being reduced from the bones.

The officials were at once notified, and an investigation made, with the result that a young medical student who is teaching school in the district was found to be carrying on his studies under difficulties. The body of the woman had been brought from Winnipeg.

DECISION IS UPHELD.

Action of the Judges of Free-for-all at Winnipeg Fair Concurred in.

Immediately after the close of this year's fair, the Winnipeg Industrial exhibition authorities forwarded to the secretary of the American Trotting association, of Chicago, the statement of facts as published in the press containing a recital of the circumstances and trouble which arose over the free-for-all race, and also a copy of a letter signed by Dr. Hinman on the same subject. As the exhibition board wished to get at the facts, they officially requested the secretary of the American Trotting association to go into the subject thoroughly and to send his conclusions in writing.

As there has been a great deal of criticism and discussion over the matter the directors feel that the public are entitled to the fullest information, and, therefore, have asked the press to publish the reply from the secretary of the American Trotting association, which is as follows:

"The American Trotting Association,
Secretary's Office,
Chicago, Ill., August 4, 1902.

"Mr. F. W. Heubach, General Manager, Winnipeg Manitoba.

"Dear Sir,—Your letter of the 30th ult., enclosing printed letter of Dr. Hinman, received. I have gone over the statement made by him; by the facts as shown by you, and by the judges' book, and take pleasure in saying that the judges decided the matter properly in accordance with the rules and regulations of the American Trotting association, and I must compliment you on enforcing these rules notwithstanding the unlawful acts that were attempted and which sdcceeded to a certain extent in wrecking the race.

The judges acted properly in expelling L. Dingman and the horse "Tom Ogden."

Yours very truly,
(Signed) J. H. STEINER,
Secretary."

ANTIPODEAN NEWS.

Effects of the Terrible Drought in Australia—The Notorious Kenniffs Captured.

Advices received by the steamship Miowera from Australia tell of the terrible drought in New South Wales and Queensland, which has devastated the sheep ranches of that section of the southern colony. Millions of sheep have died, and men, formerly considered wealthy, have been compelled to seek employment as bullock punchers. Samuel McCaughy, the sheep king of Australia, lost over a million sheep out of his flock of a million and a quarter, and other large herders have been equally unfortunate. In one district the residents erected an arch of sheep skulls on the occasion of the visit of one of the cabinet ministers.

OUTLAWS TAKEN.

The Kenniffs, the New Zealand outlaws, have been captured after a chase of three months, which cost the government $30,000. These brothers, having committed a murder, took to the woods. Two police officers who pursued them were killed, their bodies burned and their ashes put in the saddle bags of their horses with a note stating other pursuers would be treated similarly. The horses wandered back to the police camp, and the hunt was continued with renewed energy. The outlaws were surprised in their camp, horses shot, so that they had to take to the woods on foot. One stumbled and fell as he was running and was captured without any difficulty. The other was surrounded and surrendered. During their outlawry they lived off the residents of the districts through which they passed, and on one occasion visited a village and robbed a grocery store.

REVENGE ON NATIVES.

The work of wiping out the natives of the South Sea Islands goes merrily on, if the reports in the Australian papers are to be relied on. The papers give an account of an expedition by Germans to the New Hebrides to avenge the murder of a Mrs. Wolff. This expedition completely wiped out a village, the natives from which committed the murder. One hundred and thirty persons were killed, including the native who had led the expedition to the village. A combined German and British expedition has started for Danu, Western British North Quinea, to punish the natives for the murder of seven British subjects.

Col. Buchanan, D.O.C., has sent in to Mayor Howland of Toronto a bill for the services rendered by the militia on the occasion of the recent street car strike. The bill amounted to $1,973.

John McLean, the first settler on the Portage Plains, is dead.

Another body of a murdered man has been found in the Yukon.

The Canadian yacht Trident, won the fourth race and the Seawanhaka cup.

ONTARIO HARVEST

SEASON'S WHEAT YIELD WAS: FALL, 19,356,056 BUSHELS, AN AVERAGE OF 25.9.

SPRING WHEAT, 5,993,695 BUSHELS; AN AVERAGE OF 18.8 BUSHELS.

The bulletin issued by the Ontario department of agriculture gives the following estimate of crops for the leading cereals:

Fall wheat shows an area of 748,592 acres harvested; estimated yield of 19,356,056 bushels, or 25.9 bushels per acre. In 1901 the yield from 911,587 acres was 15,943,229 bushels, or 17.5 bushels per acre. The average yield for the past twenty years was 20 bushels per acre.

Spring wheat—303,115 acres, and 5,993,695 bushels, or 19.8 per acre. In 1901, 358,048 acres yielded 5,498,751 bushels, or 15.4 per acre; The average yield for the past 20 years was 15.5.

Barley—661,622 acres and 21,281,108 bushels, or 32.2 per acre. In 1901, 637,201 acres yielded 16,761,076 bushels, or 26.3 per acre; the average of twenty years being 26.1.

Oats—2,500,758 and 105,540,510 bushels, or 42.2 per acre. In 1901 there were 2,408,264 acres yielding 78,334,490 bushels, or 32.5 per acre, the average for twenty years being 34.8.

On the question of labor and wages the bulletin says: The scarcity of labor during the haying and harvesting seasons is the chronic complaint in all sections of the province, and the present season offers no exception in this respect. Extra help appears to have been difficult to obtain almost everywhere and wages have had a decidedly upward tendency. Many correspondents who state the supply of labor is adequate couple this opinion with the statement but few men are hired, as farmers are doing their own work with the aid of machinery or by exchanging services with their neighbors. Where a reason is assigned for the scarcity of help it is generally attributed to the preference of young men for city life, the emigration to the Northwest and the higher inducements offered by lumber camps being also referred to as causes for the shortage. There are numerous complaints as to the quality of labor obtainable.

C.N.R. ELEVATOR SYSTEM SOLD

An elevator transaction of considerable importance was concluded in Winnipeg last week when Messrs. March Bros. & Wells, of Minneapolis bought the charter and all rights and properties of the Canadian Northern Elevator company, of which T. A. Burrows, land commissioner of the Canadian Northern railway, is president. The company have been operating elevators at Dauphin, Gilbert Plains, Oka River and Grand View, and it is the intention of the new owners to erect a number of new elevators in time for the handling of this season's crop. The points at which these new elevators will be erected will be decided in a few days and work will be pushed as rapidly as possible. It is understood that the new owners contemplate a system of elevators to cover the entire Canadian Northern system.

ENGLISH CHOIR FOR CANADA.

A cable from London, dated August 12, says: The Coronation choir concert party left Euston station by special train this morning for Liverpool, whence they sailed by the steamer Lake Simcoe for Quebec. They will make an extended tour of Canada and the United States.

The party is composed of well onown singers and boy sopranos, all of whom took part in the coronation service at Westminster Abbey prior to their departure for Canada.

LARGEST SHIP AFLOAT.

The new North Aerman Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm II. was successfully launched at the Vulcan ship yard at Stettin on August 12, in the presence of Emperor William. The Kaiser Wilhelm will be the largest and is designed to be the fastest ship in the world. Her length is 707 feet, and her displacement is 19,000 tons. She is to be of 39,500 horsepower and will have accommodation for 1,000 cabin passengers.

DROWNED AT ROSEBUD.

A young man named John Thompson, was drowned in the Poplar slough at Rosebud while bathing on Sunday afternoon.

Constables in London receive £5 a year as a clothing allowance.

The corporation of London receives £190,000 a year in market tolls.

The new Vauxhall bridge in London is to cost £153,000. It will be finished in 1904.

FLESH TURNS TO MARBLE.

Peculiar Transformation in a Michigan Girl Puzzles the Doctors.

A dispatch from Toledo, O., says; Miss Dorothy Stiles, the daughter of William Stiles, a retired chemist, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, is dying at the home of her father, seven miles south of Bay City, Mich., with a disease that has baffled any physicians called in to see her. The girl is 16 years old, and until a few months ago was in perfect health. Her body is slowly turning into marble or a substance resembling it. The affliction first seized the girl at the shoulder blades, hips and feet, and has been slowly eating its way through her body. Her family first believed it was merely a stiffening of the joints that would wear away, but when one night while bathing the girl found that her heels were perfectly white and as hard as stone, and called her mother's attention to the fact, the latter was thoroughly terrified. On examing the girl's body she found that both heels, the tips of her shoulder blades, and her hips were similarly affected.

Physicians were called in, although every effort was made to keep the matter secret and the doctors were unable to account for the condition, which has now spread until both legs above the ankle are turned to marble. The hips of the afflicted girl have no longer the power to bend, and the power of action has been taken from the shoulders. She says she suffers no pain.

Bits of hard substance were chipped from her body and sent by her father for analysis, and were pronounced pure marble.

The doctors say that death must ensue within a few months at the latest and scout the theory regarding the matter put forth by the girl's almost demented father. He says he was experimenting with some drugs in the bathroom, and used the bath tub for the purpose and neglected properly to cleanse it. The same night his daughter took a bath in this tub, and the father insists that the chemicals have produced this terrible disease.

No visitors are admitted to the Stiles house, and the girl takes no nourishment but liquids, and those with difficulty.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The attorney-general of Manitoba announces the readiness of the provincial government to proceed with the establishment of schools for children of Slav and Galician population.

An upturned yacht was found near Brockville, on August 12, and it is feared its occupants were drowned.

T. Denver, of Wolseley, N. W. T., has disappeared, and it is alleged he forged his mother's hand to a note.

Raymond Prefontaine, M. P., says this year's gold output of the Yukon will be about four million dollars less than last year.

Coal has gone up to $9 a ton in New York city.

The Hotel Leland, Winnipeg, has been sold for $70,000.

Four school teachers in Cebu were murdered by Filipinos.

A severe storm visited Delta, the Portage la Prairie lake resort, on Sunday last.

The Western Canada Editorial excursion to the Soo has been cancelled.

The Venezuelan insurgents, after five days' fighting cautured and sacked the city of New Barcelona.

During July Dominion duties collected showed an advance of $200,000 over a year ago. Exports increased $2,500,000.

According to the Fort Steel, B.C., Prospector, large deposits of coal, equally good in every respect as that now being mined by the Crow's Nest Pass Co., have been discovered at the head of Lodge Pole Creek, near there.

WATER UNEARTHS CORPSES.

A cloudburst, on August 11, caused devastation in Hillside cemetery, Madison, N. J. About seventy-five caskets were uncovered by the rushing waters, and many of them were swept from the graves in which they had lain. Some of the bodies were found a mile from the cemetery.

At Honolulu the newspapers on June 27 published copious accounts of the coronation ceremont at Westminster Abbey and of the rejoicing in London and throughout the world. There is no cable to Honolulu.

A new material for table pads has recently been placed upon the market. It is made of asbestos cloth, woven so soft that it cannot injure the most highly polished table; it is absolutely heat proof.

Sleeping after eating is condemned by a German physician, who has shown experimentally that stomach movements are lessened and acidity is induced.

FALL WHEAT IN ALBERTA.

Experiments Prove That it Can Be Grown at Strathcona.

On August 19, of last year, R. Sheppard, a farmer located about two miles south of Strathcona, sowed some fall wheat of the hard variety procured from the Dowling Milling company.

In the spring Mr. Sheppard was so much disappointed with the appearance of his field, and being satisfied in his own mind that the attempt to raise fall wheat was a failure, on the 20th April he harrowed the land and sowed flax. To his great surprise, when growth commenced he found an equal showing of both wheat and flax, and each of excellent quality.

Samples of both were cut on the 7th inst., and sent to the Strathcona fair. Mr. Sheppard appears to have been unfortunate with regard to his experim?nts, for, as soon as this patch of wheat looked promising a bunch of cattle broke in and cropped it well down. In spite of these drawbacks, the wheat now stands breast high, and with ordinary conditions will be ready to cut in two weeks. By appearances the yield will be profitable in both wheat and flax.

The sample of flax exhibited was recommended by the judges for first prize.

Mr. Sheppard gave the above information for the benefit of his brother farmers and urges them not to be discouraged by an apparent lack of growth in the early spring. He also advises seeding not later than August 1.—Plaindealer, Strathcona.

WEALTHY AMERICANS KILLED.

A cable from Evreux, France, of August 14, says: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, Americans, who were related to Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., (Miss Virginia Fair), were returning from Paris to Trouville today, when their automobile swerved and crashed into a tree fifteen miles from here. Both were killed. The Chauffeur became insane as a consequence of the shock.

The fatal accident to Mr. and Mrs. Fair occurred at the village of Saint Aguilin. Mr. Fair was driving his automobile at a high rate of speed when one of the pneumatic tires burst. The machine swerved, collided with a tree with a terrible crash and was overturned. Mr. and Mrs. Fair were killed outright and their chauffeur was badly injured.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS EXCITED.

Public feeling over the Reed arbitration difficulty is growing more intense. In an interview a prominent member of the colonial government, said:

"The solvent existence of the colony depends upon the outcome of this arbitration. The government is prepared to exhaust every legitimate means to ensure the absolute partiality of the arbitration tribunal. Remembering that when the Conservative government passed the Reed contract in 1898, Mr. Morine, the then minister of finance, was at the same time, and without the knowledge of the colony, solicitor for Mr. Reed, the present government feels that the emergency of today is a case of eternal vigilance.

"When the governor of the colony learned the above related fact concerning Mr. Morine, he dismissed the minister of finance from office."

BOMBAY CROPS WITHER.

The agricultural position in the whole of the Bombay presidency is extremely difficult. The rainfall has been so deficient that young crops are withering and unless there should be abundant rains soon the autumn harvests will fail over a wide area. The cotton crop is much impaired. Everything hinges on the progress of the monsoon in the next ten days, but forecasts of the weather are discouraging.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Rev. J. W. Muirhead, of Whitewood, N. W. T., died on August 14, at Kingston, Ont.

The crew of the government ferry Scotia, at the Straits of Canso, is on strike.

A new gold reef has been found in the Transvaal, near Johannesburg.

The New South Wales legislature has passed an act giving women the franchise.

Tracy R. Bangs of Grand Forks, N. D., was elected supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias.

The British Medical Journal announces that there is no truth in the report that King Edward is to undergo a second operation.

W. G. Hooper, of Brandon, won the western trap shooting championship of Manitoba at the Portage la Prairie traps on August 14.

The Shamrock Lacrosse club won the senior championship of the Western Canada Lacrosse association on August 14, defeating the Winnipegs seven goals to three.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

In Texas and Louisiana there are now more than 100 canals and pumping stations, each capable of flooding 1,000 acres of rice. These are owned by irrigation companies, which supply the water as needed to the rice farmers

I bought a horse with a supposedly incurable ringbone for $30.00, cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT, and sold him in four months for $85.00. Profit on Liniment, $54.00.

MOISE DEROSCE,
Hotel Keeper.
St. Phillip's Que., Nov. 1st, 1901.

After a girl reaches the age of 25 her birthday anniversaries occur years apart.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has the largest sale of any similar preparation sold in Canada. It always gives satisfaction by restoring health to the little folks.

A pretty girl is always willing to admit the intelligence of a homely one.

The best brand of resolutions will shrink a little if the occasion requires.

STILL ANOTHER TRIUMPH — Mr. Thomas S. Bullen, Sunderland, writes: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with Piles, and frequently was unable to walk or sit, but four years ago I was cured by using Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. I have also been subject to Quincy for over forty years, but Eclectric Oil cured it, and it was a permanent cure in both cases, as neither Piles nor Quincy have troubled me since."

Deaf and dumb brides are unspeakably happy.

Most women are afraid of a loose dog or a tight man.

A DINNER PILL—Many persons suffer excruciating pains after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

It is easy for a millionaire philosopher to tell a young man how to live on $6 a week and put money in the savings bank.

About one in every 28 earthquakes recorded in the world is felt in the British Isles.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

The biggest casting ever ordered made at Chester, Penn. It was for the propeller shaft of a steamship, and weighed over 60 tons.

Free and easy expectoration immediately relieves and frees the throat and lungs from viscis phlegm, and a medicine that promotes this is the best medicine to use for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all affections of the throat and chest. This is precisely what Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is a specific for and wherever used it has given unbounded satisfaction. Children like it because it is pleasant, adults like it because it relieves and cures the disease.

Chicago's municipal debt has grown from 3½ to 5¼ millions in the past five years.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The "Auto" She's a Lady.

Don't harass the nerves of your motor;
If you do, you are likely to learn
Why it is a she, unexpected,
For, though only an auto, she'll burn
To have her revenge, and her actions
Will induce you to earnestly yearn
(With oaths that are pure mediæval)
To have died ere you caused her to turn!

Avoiding Trouble.

"What are you doing?" asked the justice as the lawyer began.

"Going to present our side of the case."

"I don't want to hear both sides argued. It has a tendency to confuse the court."

Swift.

Mr. Fijjit—Here comes an automobile!

Mrs. Fijjit—Horrors! Where?

Mr. Fijjit—Oh, don't be frightened. It's five miles ahead of us now.

Vacation.

The man who gets a week's vacation
Is feeling blue
And thinking of their glad condition
Who rest through two.
He thinks who gets two weeks' vacation,
"How glad I'd be
If I could have some fine position
Where I'd get three."

Cinnamon as an Antiseptic.

No living germ of disease can resist the antiseptic power of essence of cinnamon for more than a few hours. In destroying microbes it is not less effective than corrosive sublimate. Even the scent kills them. A decoction of cinnamon should be drunk in localities where typhoid fever or cholera prevails.

MARKET REVIEW.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

WHEAT—After a more or less gradual decline in prices since about the beginning of last month, a halt to the downward course took place on the American speculative market last week.

A good deal of the earliest part of the crop from Kansas southwestward is of poor quality and condition, and farmers have been marketing freely of this wheat, and they are keeping their best wheat at home. As we come northward the quality is good and the yield heavier. Harvesting is now well advanced up to the southern part of north Dakota and will be general in the northern part and in Manitoba by the end of next week, if present favorable weather continues. There has been unfavorable weather in western Europe during the past week, cold rains being reported over Germany and also to some extent over France and England. Harvest is in progress in these countries at present. News from Argentina says there is dry weather there, unfavorable for crop.

At Liverpool on Saturday No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at 6s 1¾d.

Manitoba wheat continues firm, but there is even less business doing than there was last week. At the end of this week we quote 1 northern at 74c spot or en route and 2 northern 72c.

FLOUR—Demand is light and the market is unchanged as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian, $2.05 per sack of 98 lbs.; Glenora Patent, $1.90; Alberta, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.60; XXXX, $1.25.

MILLFEED — Bran is firm and worth $15 per ton in bulk. Shorts firm at $19 per ton in bulk, delivered, subject to usual trade discounts.

GROUND FEED—We quote: Oat chop, per ton, $28; barley chop, $24; mixed barley and oats, $26; chop screenings, $15.50; oil cake, $30.

OATS—The market weakens as the season for new oats approaches. The crop promises well and prices will be much lower than at present when new oats begin to offer freely. No. 2 white oats are offering at 40c to 40½ in store, Fort William. Feed grades are worth 37c to 38c per bushel on track Winnipeg.

BARLEY—The market is weak and lower, the decline amounting to from 3c to 4c per bushel as compared with a week ago. The new crop promises well. We quote 35c to 36c per bushel for carlots on track Winnipeg.

HAY—New hay is plentiful. We quote $7 to $7.50 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track.

ROLLED OATS—Milling companies report their prices unchanged as follows: 80lb. sacks, $2.20; 40lb. sacks are worth $2.25; 20s, $2.30; and 8s, $2.60 with cover. Twoib. packages, $3.60 without case. Granulated and standard oatmeal is unchanged at $2.75 per $8lb. sack.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 45c per pair, alive; fowl, 70 to 75c; ducks and geese, 9c per pound; turkeys, 11c, live weight.

BUTTER—Creamery— Receipts are moderately large and demand good. Prices hold steady at 16½c to 17c pound for choice quality f.o.b. factory points.

BUTTER —Dairy—Dealers are paying 13c per pound for choicest dairy in tubs or boxes, and from that figure the market ranges down to 10c per pound for low grades, all commission basis.

CHEESE—The market is steady and purchases have been made at 8½c per pound. The range of prices is from 8½c to 9c per pound delivered here.

EGGS—Fresh case eggs are worth 12½c per dozen delivered in Winnipeg.

DRESSED MEATS—The market for beef is easy, and the price ranges from 7 to 7¾c; veal, 8 to 9c. Mutton is steady at 8½c. Spring lambs are selling at 12½c per pound. Hogs, 7¾ to 8c per pound.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6¾c; No. 2, 5¾; No. 3, 4¾c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horsehides, 50c to $1.

WOOL—Prices range from 6 to 6½c per pound.

SENECA ROOT—Prices range from 40 to 42c, according to quality.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—Fat cattle from the western ranges are moving freely and about 2,500 head have gone east this week. Prices are easier, owing to weakness in the old country markets. Choice export cattle are worth 3½ to 4c per pound at point of shipment and butchers' grades 3 to 3½c.

SHEEP—Receipts are moderate and prices range from 3½ to 3¾c per lb., off cars, Winnipeg.

HOGS—Receipts are moderate and the market is firmer at 6¼ to 6½ per pound for best packing weights off cars Winnipeg.

J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dominion dairy department has received an application from a firm in Vancouver asking him to furnish butter for shipment to Australia. Mr. Ruddick will try and secure what is required. Australia is short of butter this year.

A POSITIVE MAN.

HE SEEMS ABLE TO PROVE THE TRUTH OF WHAT HE SAYS.

Mr. Chalker Makes Some Very Strong Statements—Explains That He is Prepared to Prove the Truth of Every Assertion He Makes.

Housey's Rapids, Ont., Aug. 11.—(Special).—Mr. George C. Chalker, a well known resident of this place, has authorized the publication of a letter containing some very startling statements.

Those who know Mr. Chalker will not ask any proof of the truth of any statement he makes, but to convince those who do not know him, he has announced that he is prepared to substantiate in every detail, the truth of his published statement, which is as follows:—

"It is with pleasure that I certify to the merits of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was laid up with Kidney trouble and was so bad that I could not do a day's work. My back was very sore, I had heavy, aching arms, dull bloated eyes. I was very weak and much reduced in weight.

"After I had used six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I was ten pounds heavier. I often wondered about the powerful virtue of this medicine. I do not know anything about what Dodd's Kidney Pills are said to cure but I know a great deal about what they will actually do for lame back and Kidney Trouble, and I can prove it.

"They are worth their weight in gold to any one suffering as I suffered. The six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely and there has been no return of the old trouble. That is over three years ago, and I still enjoy good health."

This is, indeed, a very strong testimonial for Dodd's Kidney Pills and one which will have very great weight with all who have the pleasure of Mr. Chalker's acquaintance or friendship.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have made many friends and are to-day, without doubt, the most popular family medicine.

The United States received from Germany during the nineteenth century 5,079,362 immigrants.

The newest schooner is 480 feet long and has seven masts. She is being built in Boston.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions on the box under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose, without distressing me in the least." These Pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

A new railway is to be built from Southern to Western Australia. It will cost £4,400,000.

The number of ants in a nest varies from 12,293 to 93,694. These figures are from a recent count of five nests.

The British Houses of Parliament were the most expensive of modern buildings They cost 3½ millions to construct.

In washing woollens and flannels, Lever's dry Soap (a powder) will be found very satisfactory. 18

It is estimated that only one in six of the population of London leave the city for more than a day at a time in the summer.

In 1898 an Australian stockman, kangaroo-hunting, picked up an opal. Since then Australia has exported $420,000 worth of opals.

Indianapolis now holds the record in rapid hog-killing; 3,298 hogs were recently turned into pork sausages, etc., within five hours.

Wages range very low in Spain. Farm laborers get $1.50 a week. Women who work in vineyards get 15 cents for ten hours' work. Even overseers only get 55 cents a day.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Cures Dandruff.

Out of 156,000 houses or flats in Glasgow, 36,000 have one room only, and 70,000 only two rooms.

Horses, giraffes, and ostriches have the largest eyes of land animals; cuttle-fish of sea creatures.

Common soaps destroy the clothes and render the hands liable to eczema.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Bar 211

ASK FOR

Ogilvie's Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure.
Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR.
Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea
and
"Transplanted Mocha and Java Coffee" should be in every home where there is a good housekeeper.

TRY OUR

KING EDWARD

Parlor Matches

The E. B. Eddy Co.
Limited.
Hull, Canada.

The latest and Finest Brand yet made.

There is not room in this small space to say much about GOLD STANDARD TEA—but try it! It will speak for itself.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B.C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur.

The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases.

Its Waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic Troubles.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

ONLY $5.00

The McCrosasn Rocker.

It saves the wife. It saves the time. It saves the clothes. Write for particulars. D. B. Easbrook, 312 Princess St., Winnipeg, Man.

Books, flowers and fruit are nearly always welcomed by an invalid as much for the sake of the kindly thought as for the gifts themselves.

MINARD'S LINIMENT for Sale Everywhere.

Sir Wolfe Barry estimates the loss caused by the congestion of the London streets at £2,154,000 a year.

It is only necessary to read the testimonials to be convinced that Holloway's Corn Cure is unequalled for the removal of corns, warts, etc. It is a complete extinguisher.

If you start out in the morning with a smile on your face you will be surprised at the number of pleasant people you meet.

Many a man makes a fool of himself because he hasn't the moral courage to do otherwise.

The voters' lists for Paris as revised show the total number of electors in the capital to be 605,279, as compared with 550,691 last year, an increase of 54,488.

The father of M. Santos Dumont has an estate on which 9,000 laborers cultivate forty million coffee plants.

"Ah There, Girls!"

Do you know why you are like LUCINA Cigars? Tell us quick. Because you are always the same, sweet and good.

MANUFACTURED BY
GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

W. N. U. No. 390.

Milk of human kindness is usually of a poor quality and little in the can.

The best place for a man to have a boil is in the tea kettle.

A reduction of 41,000 of the total number of cattle in Great Britain is not, on the total herd of nearly 7,000,000, of much statistical importance, but it gives the first check to the progress year by year since 1894.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for:—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING:

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " "	12.00
Fourteen " "	14.00
Sixteen " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 23. 1902.

INCORPORATION.

THE troublesome times of the past three months have given the subject of incorporation a set-back, and it now looks as if the people of Fernie will have an epidemic of typhoid fever before they are permitted to put on city airs. It is all very well for the medical men of the town to give out their notes of warning as to what should be done by the people to avoid typhoid, but when the situation is thoroughly canvassed it will appear to most that present conditions suggest the utter helplessness of the people of Fernie as a community more than anything else.

The doctors appear to agree that the chief source of danger to the health of Fernie this summer is its water supply. The water used by the people of Fernie during the winter months is the subject of jest throughout the rest of the province, and during the warm months it is sufficiently forbidding to suggest the dangers to which it exposes the consumer. But the water is not the sole, though it may be the chief source of danger. Sanitation is one of the lost arts of Fernie.

There is nothing like looking the situation fairly in the face, and the water and sewerage questions present grave problems. If the town is to set up any pretentions as a desirable place for residence for those engaged in various employments in the surrounding district, good water and sewerage systems must be provided. These services are the most urgent for the well being of the community. In fact they are imperative, and the providing of them is the chief difficulty that stands in the way of incorporation.

A careful study of the situation should, therefore, suggest to the people of Fernie the importance of making up their mind as to the nature of community government they are going to have. Although they have no form of municipal government it does not by any means follow that they have no form of government whatever. If it should be decided by the people of Fernie that the time in not ripe for incorporation in some form or other, it will then be the duty of the provincial government to take such steps as may be necessary for the safeguarding of health.

Even a temporary arrangement would be a relief from present conditions, and if the matter is handled properly it is not unreasonable to suppose that the members of the provincial government could be made to see that there are other obligations existing, between the people who make up the community of Fernie, and the government of the province, than that which calls upon the Fernieites to pay taxes. If Fernie has not advanced to that stage at which it might safely embark upon municipal government an arrangement might be arrived at whereby its affairs would be looked after by a committee, subject of course to government control, and a further arrangement whereby the water and sewerage systems so urgently needed could be undertaken by the government, to be taken over by the community whenever incorporation should be decided upon.

WHAT MARTIN EXPECTS.

Joseph Martin, M.L.A., has the faculty for keeping himself before the attention of the people. Just at a time when the electors of British Columbia were beginning to forget that they were possessed of a legisiature, or that they had ever enjoyed the diversion of a political crisis of the first-class, Mr. Martin comes to the front with the hint that another political mix-up is pending, and that when it comes the honorable Joseph does not know which side of the fence he will take.

Not from any direct statements that have come to him, but from deductions made after placing two and two together, Martin has arrived at the conclusion that the return of Premier Dunsmuir to the Province will see the end of the Dunsmuir cabinet, and that Colonel Prior will be called upon to form a Government.

There is an air of probability to the story which the member for Vancouver has contributed to the political gossip of the day. All that he predicts may happen. It is largely a question of when. Prior is easily the best qualified of those who make up the present government for the mantle Premier Dunsmuir has worn with so much impatience during the last two years, but it is not likely that any change will be made in the Government until after the next session of the House. That an attempt will be made to force the next general election upon party lines is generally believed, and in view of the manner in which the faithful are mixed up at Victoria it wil require a deal of hand-sorting to get the Conservative party in presentable shape for an election. Among the Liberals there appears to be very little division, so far as provincial politics go, and Mr. Martin will probably have little difficulty in securing the recognition of himself as leader.

JOHN HOUSTON announces that the publication of The Tribune will be resumed as a weekly. This will be a distinct gain to Kootenay. While John Houston conducted the Daily Tribune it was easily the most attractive daily in the province, and it was also the most readable. The Tribune as a weekly will be looked for.

* * *

THE Rossland World has made the astonishing discovery that in a few exceptional cases the two per cent tax imposed upon the output of the metalliferous mines amounts to a tax of 6 cents per ton upon low grade ores, and from this it advances the argument that the tax should be abolished upon all ores. If this rule were followed with respect to the collection of the royalty upon the tonnage from the coal mines it would mean that because the collections the royalty bore heavily upon one mine it should not be collected from any. What would become of the government's revenue under the operation of such a rule? Under such conditions it would be easier to run a daily newspaper in Nelson than to carry on the affairs of the province. When those who can't afford to pay taxes are eliminated, and then those who can are also excused in order that the incidence of taxation may be as even as possible, there are not left very many from whom the government can collect.

NOTICE!

Clearing Out Sale AT KERSHAW'S.

All to be sold within two weeks, so come early and get your own share of the bargains offered. Groceries and everything will be sold without reserve.

HY. KERSHAW,
Victoria Ave. Fernie, B.C.

Many PRESCRIPTIONS are filled here daily, and our stock of being constantly renewed, is ever fresh. Each drug will act as expected by the physician because pure and efficient. The compounding of medicine is done by experienced clerks, and we guarantee accuracy.

DRUGS

A. W. BLEASDELL.

The Provincial Elections Act, which comes into force the first of next month, provides for a new form of registration and each applicant will have to make oath before a magistrate (or other officer mentioned in the act) that he has resided six months in the province and for one month immediately prior to his application in the electoral district for which he applies to be registered as a voter, and that he is duly qualified to vote. Any applicant who is already registered in any district in the province will be liable to a penalty of $50, and any applicant swearing an incorrect statement will be liable to prosecution for perjury, an offence which can be punished by fourteen years' imprisonment.

Those qualified to be registered may send in applications at any time from Sept. 1st to Sept. 30th.

BORN

FARWELL—In Fernie, on the 15th inst., the wife of Jas. Farwell, of a son.

KREWATCH—In Fernie, on 16th inst., the wife of Jas. Krewatch, of a son.

WILSON—In Hosmer, on Sunday, Aug. 17th, the wife of Jack Wilson, of a daughter.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is heredy given that I, G. C. Foss, 60 days after date intend to apply to the chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 160 acres of land more or less on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post marked northeast corner of Jas. A. McDonell's purchase, thence running west 40 chains, thence north 40 chains, thence east 40 chains more or less to the west bank of Elk River, thence southerly along said west bank of Elk River 40 chains more or less to the point of beginning.

Dated this 30th day of June, 1902.

G. O. FOSS.

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.
The Slater Shoe Agency.

DON'T YOU NEED SOME

FLOOR OILS LINOLEUM.

If you do, call and let us show you our nice assortment of patterns which we have just imported direct from the manufacturers.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

PLANTS FOR SALE

A number of beautiful house plants for sale at reasonable prices. Apply to
MRS. KATHARINE McKAY.
3-4t This side of bridge, near Mott's mill.

131

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Frank lacrosse team will play Medicine Hat on the 25th, at the Hat

As a result of the visit of Sheriff Tuck to Fernie this week, M. Kastner has received the appointment of bailiff.

FOUND —A sum of money, near the London & Liverpool Co's. store. Loser can have same by applying to Mrs Geo. Malone. x

There was a rush this week for houses to rent. If you have a house to rent place it with F. J. Watson, real estate agent.

Mr. H. Kershaw is selling out his stock of general merchandise. We understand Mr. Kershaw has secured a position as a commercial traveler.

We regret to report the death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stork. The sad event took place on Wednesday night. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the public.

The heavy rain of Sunday last wes certainly a blessing. The large bush fires which have been raging in the vicinity of the town for some time were extinguished.

The first gas to be found in the mine at Frank was struck in a shute near the face of the main entry this week. It is anything but bad, but was enough to give W. Williams a slight scorching, igniting from his open lamp. He will lay off for a few shifts.

Mr. A. W. Bleasdell returned from the Fort Steele mining district this week. He has been holidaying there for the past three weeks and at the same time looking after the assessment work on several claims he is interested in in that locality.

John Houston has completed arrangements to resume the publication of The Nelson Tribune. The first issue will appear on Saturday. For the present the Tribune will be published weekly, the subscription price being one dollar a year.

Messrs. H. Hebeinstreit and Joseph Thorpe played with the Cranbrook baseball team against Medicine Hat and Pincher Creek last week. The Cranbrook boys are very anxious to build up a good team and have offered the two Fernie men inducements to move to Cranbrook.

The Mercantile Agency of R. G. Dunn &. Co., in their report of Aug. 15th announced that the Nelson Daily News had discontinued publication. This report is not correct and the proprietor of the News, F. J. Deane, has instituted a suit for damages against the Agency.

The Coal Company at Lethbridge complains of being crippled in its operations, being unable to fill orders for thousands of tons of coal in consequence of cars not being obtainable. If this is the case before the Northwest harvest is reaped what must the Crow's Nest collieries expect when the grain begins to move.

Frank is to have another industry. The Fort Steele Brewing Co., of Fernie, have decided to put in a branch in the new coal town and will proceed with the erection of a large brewery at once. The building will be situated on the bank of Gold Creek, just above the railroad bridge. Work upon the building will be commenced as soon as the plans can be got out and the material placed on the ground.

Sheriff Tuck, of Nelson, was in town several days this week. He was here at the instance of the coal company to remove several squatters off their property in the old town. There were three or four of these who absolutely refused to get off or lease the property, and in consequence harsh measures were used. One blessing derived from the visit of the Sheriff is the destruction of the old boarding house conducted by Mrs. Lalonde. This place had become a veritable pest house and its removal will be for the benefit of the public health. The government at one time offered Mrs. Lalonde $250 for the building, so that it could be destroyed, but it was refused.

September 1st is Labor Day. Is anything being done towards holding a celebration on that day? Why not have the final match for the Levasseur Cup pulled off here on that occasion? Cranbrook baseball team have been winning glory for themselves in conflicts with Pincher Creek, Medicine Hat and several other teams. Fernie has material for the best ball team between Nelson and Brandon and with a little practice could easily show the Cranbrook boys how to play the game. Why not then have a game on Sept. 1st. It is also high time for our football team to play the return match of July 1st with the Cranbrook boys. Fernie never had better material for football than this year and yet the boys do not seem to take hold of the game as they should. Practice is what is required.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Snow fell at Michel on Monday to the depth of about two inches.

Wm. Eschwig, proprietor of the Northern Hotel, is erecting a cottage on Pellat Ave., near the Methodist Church.

Pianos for sale at F. J. Watson's at reasonable prices for cash or on the instalment plan.

The Harry Lindley Co. will show in Princess Hall, commencing Monday evening. The show will remain in town four nights.

Mrs. A. D. Ferguson wishes us to thank the friends and acquaintances who so kindly assisted them through their late sad affliction.

Dentist

Dr. Barber may be found at his office over Liphardt's jewellery store for the next week or ten days. Call early and make appointments, office open until 8 p.m.

The date for the Nelson assize court has been set for Oct. 1st. The most serious criminal case is the charge of murder against Rose, of Nakusp. It is likely that a date will be fixed about the 10th of Oct. for the trial of the civil cases, in which a large number of the people of Fernie are interested.

In the case of Barber vs. the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, one of the cases growing out of the recent disaster at the Coal Creek mines, application was made at Nelson this week by W. A. Macdonald, on behalf of the defendant company, to set aside the writ and service. The application was opposed by S.S. Taylor, and was refused by Judge Forin, with costs in the cause.

School opened for the fall term on Monday. The attendance was small, as is usually the case on the first day of school after the summer vacation, but a marked improvement has been noticed as the days go by. During the vacation the school has been thoroughly cleaned and repaired and is in excellent sanitary condition. The school opened with a staff of four teachers, viz. Mrs. W. Martin, Miss M. Lawrence, Miss C. Hall and Miss Fernie.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

A. H. CREE RealEstate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

We Want Your Trade

and we are confident that we can make it to your advantage to deal at the

New Furniture Store

We are willing to

BUY
SELL OR EXCHANGE
Secondhand Furniture and Stoves.

We have a full stock of new goods which we will sell at close rates. Give us a call.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Jarvis Keeps The Best

GROCERIES

Canned Fish
Canned Meats
Canned Fruits
Canned vegetables
All kinds of Teas
Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

J. F. Jarvis

ENVELOPES...
FOR LADIES' USE

are made in such a variety of tints and dainty shapes that one can get almost any shape desired. The assortment here certainly permits of a pleasing choice. Everything that's correct style is in our stock.

OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES, also, we have a full line. Call on us when in want of INK, PAPER, PENS, ETC., ETC.

Fernie Drug Store.

Housekeepers!

The London & Liverpool Co. have the Greatest display of Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Lace Curtains and Linens ever Shown in B.C.

Carpets

Unions all-wool, Axministers, Brussels, Tapestry, Velvets, with a grand line of Wool, Brussels and Tapestry Art Squares.

Linoleum and Oil Cloth

Tile and Carpet Patterns in all the new colorings, 6 to 12 feet wide.

Lace Curtains

400 pair to select from, prices ranging from 50 cts. to $10.

Rugs In this department it is worth your while to visit even should you not buy. Such a grand collection never shown in the west.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

CROWBARS.

and other tools for farm garden and building work. This is a "cheap" time of year to buy such things. The stock of is being inspected with a view to sending out orders for fall goods. Broken lots and summer goods must go. Their room is better than their company. Little prices is the motive power that will take them from our hands to yours. Here's things of iron, wood and steel that you want:— Ice Cream Freezers, Garden Hose, Coal Oil Stoves, Hammocks, Hoes and rakes.

HARDWARE

Our stock of FURNITURE is now complete in every line; better come in and see what we can do for you. Special values in Cheffoniers.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

N. B.—Our floor oil dressing is an article that should be used by all. It is applicable to the home, office or store.

Important Notice!

Why wear dirty, creased and wrinkled clothes?

when it will cost only the insignificant sum of $3 per month to keep them in the smartest condition possible. I will send for your clothing, and return same to you looking almost as well as when they were purchased. Those wishing to grasp this great opportunity should call at once and leave their names with me. The amount of clothing you possess is of no importance to me.

Yours sincerely,

...H. HILL.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"The afternoon! Probably four good hours hence. Absurd!" I cried hotly, "when every moment is precious. Why, this pirate yacht has already had 24 hours' start. Oh, come, Sir Charles! Let us go somewhere else. There are other ships besides warships—steamers, yachts in dozens, for hire. Why do you hesitate? Will no one help me?"

I asked this possibly with some warmth, for I heard some one say as we went off, Sir Charles and I:

"My word, what a little fury!"

From Whitehall the general took me to Lloyds. He knew the secretary, he said, and something of the ways of the place—its wonderful organization and the vast machinery at its command for knowing all about ships, almost from hour to hour. But the secretary, a grave gentleman, with a sly twinkle in his eye, shook his head very doubtfully when he heard the whole story.

"I fear we shall not be able to lay our hands upon that yacht—at least for some time to come—if she wishes to keep out of the way. We can track her down the river, of course, as far as Southend on one side, the North Foreland on the other. But if after that she steers a straight course eastward till out of sight, she will be lost in the German ocean."

He touched a bell on his table and gave instructions to a clerk.

"Communicate with signal stations down the Thames, and then with those on the east and southeast coasts, and inquire for a yacht answering this description—it is the Fleur-de-Lis, in fact. She is registered here; you can verify her from the books. Ask if she has been seen or spoken with, and if so, what course she is on. That won't take half an hour. In the meantime, you might be inquiring for a steamer to send in chase. That is your idea, is it not?" and again he signaled in a desk tube, summoning another subordinate.

"Can anything come of it?" asked Sir Charles doubtfully.

"Why not? You will, of course, have to send a posse of police in her. It will not be enough to overhaul her; you will have also to overawe the abductors—always supposing you come up with and can positively identify the Fleur-de-Lis, neither of which is very probable."

"It is just what I tell this young lady. We've got first to catch the boat, and then to be sure it is the Fleur-de-Lis, before we go a step farther."

"Exactly. Ah, Trevor"—this was to another clerk who now came in—"let me know with all dispatch what steamers could be hired for a special mission. Class of no consequence, but she must have a speed of 15 to 16 knots, and be ready for sea this afternoon. Price of charter by week or month, all found—crew, captain, coals on board. Sharp's the word, you understand? Who is going in her? You should have some police officers, in case there is any arrest to be made. Perhaps you will see to that, Sir Charles?"

"I should like to go in her," I now said.

"My dear child," protested Sir Charles, "that is pure nonsense. In the first place, I think it is highly improbable that she will catch up the yacht. But if she does there will be some rough and tumble work—fighting perhaps. Those villains, after going such lengths, will not be very willing to give up their prize. It would never do for you, Miss Fairholme."

"I cannot bear to remain inactive. I want to be doing something," I contended.

"I expect you would be inactive enough on board the steamer," said the secretary. "Ranging up and down the waters probably, a wretched sort of cruise and always in ignorance as to what was going on at home. I think you would be wiser to find some other outlet for your energies."

At this moment the first clerk came in with a slip of paper in his hand.

"'A small steam yacht, flying no colors,' he read aloud, 'was reported passing the North Foreland about 8 p. m. last night, and a steamer, the same no doubt, was seen from Beachy Head this morning at 5 a. m. Her course apparently W. S. W. westerly. Nothing seen of her since. Start Point and Lizard have been warned specially to look for her and report.'"

"She is making for the Atlantic, I expect," was the secretary's commentary. "At least that would be a fair inference. But once in the wide ocean, who shall say what will become of her?"

"Could she not be intercepted from Plymouth or Falmouth?" I suggested. "What would you calculate her rate of steaming at the progress she has made?"

"It's a good suggestion, Miss Fairholme. I should imagine the yacht would be off the Start soon after midnight and Plymouth by early tomorrow morning. I could wire instructions to Lloyds' agent to send out a tug, and no doubt Sir Charles could arrange for police constables with search warrants and authority to detain the Fleur-de-Lis."

"That will I, by the Lord, and send an officer of my own besides. I have other reasons—official reasons—for

Mr. Snuyzer was pleased to express his approval when he heard what I had done.

wishing to come up with that yacht and detain her for search. On the whole, I think that this is the most prompt and sensible course. You would hardly get a steamer off from this or any other port under 24 hours, and that would be a fatal loss of time."

"Can I go in the tug?" I still stuck to my point.

"Quite impossible," replied the secretary. "They have no proper accommodation, and you would have to pass the night in utter discomfort on the open deck."

"I should not be afraid of that. But some one who knows Mr. Wood and everything else must accompany the tug." I argued.

"My officer, Swete Thornhill, knows him, doesn't he?"

"Yes, but not the others, or the meaning of the whole thing."

"Send the Yankee then. He will be quite equal to the emergency. Can you get hold of him?"

"Easily. He is on the telephone. Besides, I know his address."

Then we left Lloyds, having given carte blanche as regards expenditure, and with full assurance that all proper arrangements would be made.

Later Mr. Snuyzer answered my summons, and was pleased to express his approval when he heard what I had done.

"I don't admire another night out of bed," he said grumblingly, "but it is in a good cause. There's sense in the plan and it may succeed. The chase was mere idiocy. You could never have caught up the yacht. Besides, I can be back in London on Saturday at latest, which is most important."

"Yes?" I asked, rather indifferently.

"Yes truly. Sunday I sail from Southampton by the Great River line's steamer Chattahoochee for New York."

"What! Why is this? What reason—have you found out anything?"

"Here is a preliminary list of passengers by the Chattahoochee. Run your eye over the names. See? Duke and Duchess of Tierra Sagrada.'

"You are indeed wonderful, Mr. Snuyzer," and in sheer admiration I gave him my hand.

"But that isn't all. Have you gone right down the list? Well?"

My eyes swam, my head turned round. I felt giddy and faint, for there at the end of all, was the name of—

"Captain William Wood!"

"I was pretty right, you see, miss. I see all their cards as though they were on the table. The right man held up, the wrong paraded with full papers of identification to make a clean sweep of all they can acquire. It's time some one should go over. Perhaps it will be Mr. Wood himself. If I can pick him out of that hooker and bring him on shore, I shall put it to him that he had better cross the pond right away to protect his own interests. That would be far the best. But some one must go."

"Mr. Snuyzer," I said, with a sudden, irresistible impulse, "if you do not return on Friday night, I will go over to New York."

Directly we sat down to lunch I broke it to mother.

"I am going to New York on Sunday," I said very quietly.

The words had no meaning for her at first. I had to repeat the statement more than once, when at last it dawned upon her.

"Of course I cannot go alone," I continued, in the same matter of fact voice, "at least, I'd rather not; so you will have to come with me. Now, darling," I went on, "don't be disagreeable. It is a matter of the utmost importance. I must go. I cannot help myself."

"It is something to do with that wretched Captain Wood, of course? Dear, dear, how I wish you had never settled it that way. I don't know what to think of him; whether we ought to trust him. Suppose he is deceiving you; suppose he has run away?"

(To be Continued.)

RENUNCIATION.

The lips we love and may not kiss,
The self we love and cast aside,
The flowery ways we choose to miss
For paths where rue and thorns abide;

The wistful eyes that see the shore,
They may not seek beyond the seas—
Ah! Life to Come, hast thou in store
A fit exchange for gifts like these?

—Margaret Ridgely Schott.

WHEN A BOAT TIPS OVER.

It Is Well for Women to Know What to Do in an Emergency.

On the question discussed at the public bath, whether a girl's skirts if she fell overboard would buoy her up or drag her down there seemed to be a diversion of opinion. Finally, it was agreed that they might buoy her up for a few seconds, until the air that was in them escaped, but as soon as they were wet they would tend to drag her down, and make swimming practically impossible. Of course, how soon they got wet would depend on the material of which they were made. Miss Clark, the teacher, pointed out that when a woman dived into the water the air under her bathing skirt formed a big bubble which hampered a swimmer, so that she reached back and pressed it out as soon as possible. But this same bubble would undoubtedly tend to buoy up a non-swimmer for an infinitesimal space of time. On the other hand, this air chamber lasted much longer in a wet bathing suit than in a dry one, for in the former the pores of the material were to a certain extent filled with water and the air escaped slowly.

The suggestion of an undressing drill seemed to particularly please Dr. Mosher, says The Brooklyn Eagle. Its practical value was evident, as in nine cases out of ten the drowning accidents are the result of an overturned boat, and its occupants are not in bathing suits. The children used to swimming there in the lightest possible attire, for except with the teachers, the skirted bathing suit is unknown, would be hampered almost to rendering their knowledge of swimming useless if they were called upon to save themselves with their high shoes, two or three petticoats on, and in the case of the older girls, long skirts and probably corsets.

It is not that undressing in the water is particularly hard. Most of those who swim for pleasure have probably done it, but the youngsters should be taught that they can and that in an emergency they must undress sufficiently to be able to put their knowledge of swimming to practical use. One or two lessons would be all that would be needed. The matron suggested, and the suggestion was a good and practical one, "At least teach them to pick up the front of their skirts and hold them in their teeth to keep them out of the way. I always do that even with my bathing suit if I am swimming any distance."

A New Ape.

I believe there has been deposited in the London Zoo a specimen of a chimpanzee which is said to represent a new form, or it may be a mere variety only, of that species of manlike ape. It figures under the scientific name of anthropopithecus troglodytes, is said to have been brought from the Gold Coast, and has been presented to the Zoological Society by Captain D. A. Donavan. The creature is described as singularly tame and intelligent, and possibly in it we may find a successor to that highly-educated ape, the late lamented Sally. Unhappily, the manlike apes are all delicate of constitution, that is, as represented by a life spent in captivity, and subject to marked variations of temperature. Whether this new specimen is to be referred to the ordinary chimpanzee species or not will, no doubt, be duly determined by the authorities at the Zoo. The question of specific differences in the chimpanzee branch of the ape stock is not settled. Hartmann remarks that it is a difficult question to decide, though he, himself, adds that he is inclined to admit a certain constancy in the varieties he has examined. The new ape at the Zoo may possibly turn out to represent one of the varieties. It is a notoriously difficult matter to decide where we leave the limits of a mere variety behind and where the boundary line of a new species begins.—London Chronicle.

The Duke and the Soup.

Here is an episode related by M. Jacques Kraemar, now maitre d hotel at the Carleton, respecting his experience at the Savoy:

I was waiting on the Duke of Fife one night when his grace was giving a small private dinner party in the Patience Room. There was hardly room to pass behind each guest. The soups were Bortch—a costly Russian "potage," made from boiled duck, and served with sorrel, vegetables and cream, and just as I was serving it round, an accident happened. In one hand I had a plate of soup, and in the other my cream. The Duke was talking earnestly to me, and so intently did I listen to him, that I did not know I was dropping all the cream in a hideous thick stream down his back.

I made no fuss, I gave no alarm. The Duke went on talking and laughing with his guests, with the back of his exquisitely-fitting dress one mass of thick cream. I got two or three soft serviettes, and as I served his grace with each course I gave him a rub. By the time we had come to the ice, there was nothing left of the cream except certain faint traces, for which I fear, his grace's valet was unjustly blamed. —London Daily News.

Prince of Wales Has Opinions.

Contrary to general opinion, I hear that the Prince of Wales is a person of most decided opinions, and that his "yea" is "yea" and his "nay" most distinctly "nay."—Lally Bernard, in The Globe.

ALMOST IN DESPAIR

THE CONDITION OF MRS. JOHN SHOTT, OF ORANGEVILLE.

Suffered From a Burning Sensation in the Stomach—Food Became Distasteful and She Grew Weak and Despondent.

From the Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

The Sun is enabled this week, through the courtesy of Mrs. John Shott, a lady well known and much esteemed by many of the residents of Orangeville, to give the particulars of another of those cures that have made Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a household remedy throughout the civilized world. Mrs. Shott, in conversation with our reporter, said:—"About three years ago, while living in Ingersoll, I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. The trouble first began with severe headaches, dizziness, and sometimes vomiting. Next I suffered continually from a burning sensation in my stomach; food distressed me; I did not sleep well at night; lost flesh and became very weak. I was continually doctoring, but it did me no good. In fact I was gradually growing worse and despaired of ever being well again. One day a friend who called to see me strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She spoke so highly of them that I decided to take her advice, and I soon discovered that they were not like the other medicines I had been taking and that I had at last found something to help me. I continued using the pills for perhaps a couple of months when I found myself fully restored to health. I have always since enjoyed my meals with relish, and have had no return of the trouble. With my experience I feel certain that if other sufferers will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial they will find a certain cure."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich and nourish the blood and strengthen the nerves. It is thus that they cure such troubles as dyspepsia, kidney ailments, rheumatism, partial paralsis, heart troubles, St. Vitus' dance, and the ailments that make the lives of so many women a source of misery. These pills never fail to drive away pain, bring a glow of health to the whole body and make despondent men and women, bright, active and strong. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BEARDS AND GLASSES.

Two Ornaments That Are Rarely Found Upon Hotel Waiters.

"Ever see a waiter wearing glasses?" demanded the inquisitor.

No one could remember, although just why a waiter should not be seen with glasses as well as any other man was not apparent.

"It's just like the wearing of beards," went on the inquisitor. "The proprietors of our important hotels, restaurants and cafes will not permit either beards or glasses to be worn by their waiters. It is possible that in some old fashioned family or commercial hotel the servitors may be found with their noses straddled by optical helps, but you won't find 'em along Broadway.

"Now, this is a fact worthy of note because in every other calling in life the number of persons wearing glasses is on the increase, and even in our schools a considerable percentage of very small children will be found wearing glasses, and while, as I say, hotel, restaurant and cafe proprietors are opposed to the glasses, still I have seldom found a waiter whose eyes indicated that he was in the slightest need of them.

"You may argue that restaurant waiters are generally young men. Grant you that instantly, but all the same thousands of men of similar age have to wear them in almost every other occupation.

"The majority of those servitors commence in boyhood, and the demand of their vocation causes no strain on the eyesight. Consequently that may account in a measure for the absence of any necessity for the use of specs. Moreover, the steam from hot viands would render them useless probably."

A Summer Invocation.

Oh, light your living fires,
Great sun, and let her roll!
We've spent the dreary winter
In freezing limb and soul!
And, growling here
And howling there,
Have prayed for brimstone and hot air!

Shine out and lure the summer
From many a dim retreat;
Let slip the rolling thunder
And bolt the rains that beat!
For growling here
And growling there,
We prayed for summer everywhere!

And then when summer strikes us,
Her fiercest names unrolled,
Just hear us howling, growling
And crying out for cold!
And, winter gray
Or flowery May,
We'll grown our way to judgment day!

NEWSPAPER OUTFITS

¶ We supply at short notice complete JOB PRINTING AND NEWSPAPER OUTFITS.

¶ We sell what Printers want; Printers want what we sell.

¶ We carry a complete stock of Type and Supplies for the composing Room, Pressroom and Bindery.

TORONTO TYPE FDRY Company, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

Any man can make his wife do anything she wants to.

Much of the charity that begins at home is too weak to travel.

The London postoffices are now using girls as well as boys for the express messenger service. The girls must be over eighteen years old, and they get thirteen shillings a week.

HOT WEATHER AILMENTS.

More Little Ones Die During Hot Weather Months Than at Any Other Season.

It is a lamentable fact that thousands of little ones die from hot weather ailments, whose lives might be spared if mothers had at hand the proper remedy to administer promptly. Hot weather ailments come suddenly, and unless promptly treated, a precious little life may be lost in a few hours. Baby's Own Tablets promptly check and cure diarrhoea, stomach troubles, cholera infantum and other hot weather ailments. They also give relief to teething troubles, and prevent the ailments that come at this period. Every prudent mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house at all times. No other medicine acts so promptly and so surely, and the Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. They always do good and cannot possibly do harm, and crushed to a powder you can give them to the smallest, sickliest infant. Mrs. Geo. Foote, St. Thomas, Ont., says: "My baby was troubled with diarrhoea and was very cross and restless, and got so little sleep I hardly knew what to do with her. I got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and after giving her some her bowels became regular and she could sleep well. I think the Tablets a splendid medicine."

You can get the Tablets at any drug store or by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

There is a wide difference between the self-made man and the self-inflated man.

Anybody who has ever employed a lawyer can give you lots of advice.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

Superb.

"What a regal carriage he has! There is surely royal blood in his veins. Do you know him?" whispered the enthusiastic woman.

"Yes," replied the man, "he comes of a long line of janitors."

Much In Her Name.

Church—She is a Russian countess.

Gotham—Indeed! Has she much in her own name?

"Has she? She's got nearly the entire alphabet!"

Bad Beginnings.

A bad begginning makes a good ending sometimes, but more often it makes a very quick ending.—Syracuse Herald.

Not Home-Killed.

An English resident of Shanghai, having made a good dinner from a tasty but unrecognized dish, called his cook, Wun Hoo, and congratulated him on the excellent meal.

"I hope you didn't kill one of those dogs to provide the soup," jestingly remarked his daughter, referring, of course, to the pariahs which haunt Chinese streets.

Wun Hoo made a solemn gesture of dissent.

"No killee dawg, missie," he explained. "Him alleddy dead when I pickee up!"

SMASH-UP ON C.P.R.

TWO FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE NEAR MAPLE CREEK—THE CREW ESCAPED.

DEAD BODY OF A YOUNG MAN FOUND IN THE WRECK—FLAGMAN BLAMED.

On Thursday night about 10.40 a serious smash-up occurred on the C. P.R. at Maple Creek, N.W.T., when an incoming freight, in charge of Conductor Pettit, crashed into a freight under Conductor Elson on siding No. 2.

The latter was unloading way freight into the warehouse and the tail-end, including about five cars and a caboose, were on the main line. A flagman had been sent out to signal the incoming train, but through some negligence the signal was not noticed in time to avert the disaster. Engineer Allot put the engine into emergency and jumped, as did also the fireman, and both escaped without a scratch. The front brakeman preferred to take his chances by staying in the cab, and he also came through unhurt. Fortunately none of the trainmen were injured in any way.

While searching the wreck early on Friday morning the body of an unknown man was taken from the debris, cold in death. Two fingers were severed from his right hand and his face was bruised and cut. The body was that of a young man about 23 years of age with fair complexion, curly sandy hair and clean shaven. He was evidently making his way west in the usual hobo style when his sudden end came in the awful crash.

NEWS NOTES.

Fuel oil has been discovered near Vancouver.

Canadians have been invited to tender for supplies for the British army in South Africa.

George Craig, a Baptist theological student was drowned in Stewart lake, near Carling Port, Ont., on August 15.

Several schools in Perth county, Ont., will be unable to open after the holidays, owing to the scarcity of teachers.

Judge Lount, of Toronto, gave judgment on August 15 establishing the right of a posthumous child to a portion of its father's insurance.

The insurrection in Siam has been suppressed.

American mill men of the Pacific coast want a heavier duty on Canadian shingles.

The International Typographical union has decided to fight for the establishment of the eight-hour day throughout its jurisdiction.

Natural gas has been struck at Carievale, Assa.

Neepawa has carried off all the Manitoba football honors.

COAL LAND LEASES.

Regulations for the issue of leases of school lands in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories for coal mining purposes, wherein it is stated that such leases shall be issued for a period not exceeding ten years, are amended by providing that the lease of school lands in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories shall be for a period not exceeding twenty years.

ONE THOUSAND DROWNNED.

In a dispatch from Hong Kong the correspondent there of the London Daily Express says there have been terrible floods in Kwang Hai province in which a thousand persons were drowned. Several houses have collapsed at Hong ffiong and twenty persons were drowned.

A SCOTCH STORY.

"Well, aunty, what are your thochts aboot marryin'?" asked a young Scotch lady the other day of her aunt, a decent body who had reached the shady side of life without having committed matrimony. "'Deed, lassie," frankly replied the old lady "I've had but three thochts aboot it a' my days, an' the last is like to be the langest. First, then, when I was young like yoursel', I thocht 'Wha'll I tak'?' Then as time began to wear by, I thocht, 'Wha'll I get?' An' after I got my leg broken wi' that whumel oot o' Saunders M'Drunthie's cart, my thochts syne have bin, 'Wha'll tak' me?'"

The number of women students at the German universities is increasing. At Berlin 365 have inscribed their names this summer, as compared with 303 during the same term of last year. The number of male students is always higher during the winter in Berlin, and so it is with the women. Last winter there were 611 of them—the highest figure as yet attained.

BRITISH POST OFFICE.

Annual Report Shows That Motor Cars Are Not So Reliable as Horses.

The annual report of the postmaster-general of Great Britain shows that the large total of $3,375,000 was found in letters undelivered during the past year. The undelivered letters totalled no less than ten millions, while the delivered missives amounted to 2,451,500,000, an average of 58.9 for each person in the United Kingdom.

The postmaster-general also reports that fresh experiments with motor cars showed that they cannot be relied upon to carry heavy loads of mail with the same regularity as wagons drawn by horses.

A TENNESSEE TRAGEDY.

Desperate Affray Between Three Men and a Woman.

A Knoxville dispatch of Aug. 16, says: Authentic details have been received of a desperate affray in which three young men and a woman—all of them prominent in Scott county, Tenn.—were involved, and which is said to have resulted in the death of one and the possible death of another, and the flight of both the woman and the other man implicated. Jarrett Trammel was killed, but by whom is not definitely known.

Mrs. Trammel and Whig Duncan, one of those involved, escaped oper the border into Kentucky. The scene of the tragedy was at Winfield, a small town in Scott county, Tennessee.

THE "CORPSE" WAS ASLEEP.

Quebec Newspaper Canvasser Revives in the Presence of a Coroner's Jury.

A Quebec dispatch of August 16 says: Dr. A. G. Belleau, the coroner, yesterday summoned a jury to inquire into the sudden death of Mr. Edward Marois, a newspaper canvasser, who was found apparently dead at his boarding house on Wednesday, with his head resting on his arm on the table. When the jury were brought into the room where the "deceased" was laid out, and Dr. Belleau began his examination, he discovered the hands were still warm, and there were other evidences that the "corpse" was asleep.

The coroner decided that his services were necessary as a medical practitioner rather than as coroner, and discharged the jury.

SAD END OF A SINGER.

A dispatch from San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 15, says Carl Friederich Willibald Peter Mosbrugger, of Baden, died last Monday at the county alms house. He was to have been buried in the Potter's field, but a telegram from a cousin to Rev. Mr. Vogel, of the Swiss church here, provided for his suitable burial.

Mosbrugger, ten years ago, was one of the world's most famous tenors. At Berlin, at St. Petersburg, at Paris and at Moscow he made his mark. For a time he was a favorite of the crowned heads.

The first session of the Parliament of federated Australia is in a fair way of breaking the record for the longest session of all popular assemblies. It was opened by the Prince of Wales in May, 1901, and is still in session. During Sir Edmund Barton's absence in England the federal senate is busily engaged in modifying the tariff bill which passed the House of Representatives, or rather in preparing suggestions for its modification at a conference between the two houses, which is the method provided in such cases by the Australian constitution. Even should an agreement be reached on this subject the rather novel proceeding will follow when the government will introduce their second budget during the same session, and the discussion of this will extend the sitting for fully 18 months from its ceremonious opening.—Toronto Globe.

The London Express states that a subsidy of £30,000 a year is to be paid by the Canadian government, and another subsidy of £15,000 a year is to be paid by the British government to combine a running service of steamers between Canada and South Africa. The inauguration of the new line will mark the beginning of a huge imperial shipping and railway scheme which is being organized with a view to drawing the British colonies closer together.

The agricultural book of the Northwest Territories shows that in four years the productions of wheat has increased from 5,542,478 bushels to 12,808,447 bushels, and of oats from 3,040,307 bushels to 9,716,132 bushels.

Perhaps, after all, babies do understand the language women talk to them—and stay awake night to get even.

CRIME DECREASING.

Statistics For the Year Ending September 30, 1901.

The annual report of the criminal statistics for the year ending September 30, 1901, has just been prepared by the Dominion statistician for publication and distribution. The number of charges for indictable offences was 1.28 less than in 1900. The convictions in 1901 numbered 5,638, or 130 less than in 1900. There is a decrease in the percentage of convictions to charges, which indicates less care in bringing charges or less care in investigation. In 1901 there were 2,532 acquittals, compared with 2,576 in 1900. There is a slight increase in the detentions for lunacy, which agrees with the of the last census. There has been a decrease in Canada as a whole in the number of convictions compared with the population; this is due to decreased ratio of crime to the population in Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Manitoba, Ontario, Yukon and British Columbia. The Territories show considerable increase, while Nova Scotia and Quebec show a small increase. The decrease in the Yukon is from 35 to 14 per cent, showing that the reign of law is well well established there.

Crime among the agricultural commercial and domestic classes has decreased. It has increased among the industrial classes, while the professional and laboring classes show decreases.

The proportion of females among the criminal classes is steadily decreasing. Those who gave their religious views as Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists or Roman Catholics are fewer in number than their proportion in the whole population warrants, while Anglicans are larger. There is an increase of 1.7 per cent. of summary convictions in 1901 as compared with 1900.

A LITTLE BOER HERO.

Why Willie Fisher is Loved by the Men of Driscoll's Scouts.

Willie Fisher, who is just fourteen years old, is the pet of the colonial camp at Kensington Gardens, and the men of Driscoll's Scouts love to tell you why their baby was recommended for the Distinguished Conduct medal.

On his father's farm at Boomplaats he was Schalk Willie Visser, but he has been Anglicized since then. He is a bronzed, sturdy little fellow, with dark eyes that look out brightly from still darker eyebrows, and tell of any amount of boyish daring. When the Boers took his father's horses and cattle because he would not fight for them, Willie Fisher joined Damant's Horse as a guide. That was in March, 1901. In December of the same year he was transferred to Driscoll's Scouts, and it was then that he won distinction.

Though only thirteen, he was entrusted with a dispatch to Colonel Hamilton, who was 10 miles away, in the neighborhood of Fauresmith. At nightfall he left the camp, but had only gone four miles when a party of Boers opened fire upon him, killing his horse and shooting him through the leg' He crept away among some rocks, and lay there until the Boers had gone. Then, after walking a distance, he found an old Boer pony, which he mounted and rode without further mishap to Colonel Hamilton's force. Sergeant J. W. Stiglingh, who takes a paternal interest in the young scout, tells you with pride that he is a teetotaler and non-smoker. "He is a fine shot, too," said the sergeant, "and has accounted for many a springbok with his rifle." In London he is having a very happy time seeing the sights. He was deeply interested the other evening in the antics of a bucking mule, which was being exhibited at one of the halls. The animal succeeded in throwing everybody who attempted to ride him. Young Fisher could not resist the temptation, and, slipping away from his friends, mounted the animal and clung on tenaciously. But the mule proved the victor. A specially vigorous buck shook Fisher clean off, and a smart kick sent him back to his friends, rubbing himself, but laughing.—London Express.

A PREHISTORIC FIND.

Eustace L. Furlong, student assistant in the theological department of the University of California, has discovered embedded in the floor of one of the famous limestone caves of Shasta county, Cal., almost the entire remains of an arctotherium Simum, the gigantic primeval bear that was the first of his kind to roam the two American continents. Because only fragments of the skeleton, until now incomplete, have hitherto been discovered by geologists, the work of Furlong ranks as one of the most notable achievements of the University of California explorers in recent years.

All the Mormons do not live in Utah. There are 2,000 in Germany.

ON ARMY REMOUNTS

CHIEF VETERINARY INSPECTOR RUTHERFORD ON BREEDING FOR ARMY USE.

VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THOSE WHO DESIRE TO PRODUCE THESE HORSES.

An interesting Dominion government circular has been issued by Dr. J. G. Rutherford, chief veterinary inspector, on "The Breeding in Canada of Horses for Army Use." The circular says in part:

While the supply of horses suitable for military use has always, even in times of peace, been a serious question, the experience of our South African troubles has given it an importance altogether new and somewhat startling. It has now been clearly shown that troops under modern conditions of warfare must be able to move rapidly from place to place, and that the mounted soldier has thus an immense advantage over the less mobile infantry man.

In view of the strong probability that the demand hitherto lacking will in the future be such as to warrant the breeding in fair numbers of the horses needed for military use, a brief description of those now being sought for and purchased by the agents of the British war office, and a few hints of how they may be produced, will not be out of place.

They are of three fairly distinct types, for artillery, cavalry and mounted infantry.

THE ARTILLERY HORSE.

The artillery horse asked for by the army buyer is really a smart, active van or express horse, on short legs, with plenty of bone and substance, and enough quality to ensure staying power in fairly fast work. He should stand from 15-2 to 16 hands, weigh not less than 1,300 pounds, and measure at least eight inches below the knee and 72 inches in girth. Considerable variation in type is permissible, the work of the horse artillery demanding greater speed and therefore more warm blood than are necessary for ordinary field artillery, while in all batteries properly horsed the lead and centre pairs are slightly taller and more rangy than the wheelers, the latter requiring greater strength and substance.

This kind of horse may be produced by the judicious use of the thoroughbred horse on mares of size, substance and action, or by stinting good half-bred or strong roadster mares to a biggish hackney or breedy coach sire. So long as they show sufficient quality to ensure activity and endurance, and at the same time meet the requirements as to size and substance, the pedigree is of secondary importance.

THE CAVALRY HORSE.

The cavalry horse is of a somewhat different type, and one at present too rare in Canada owing to the preference shown by many light horse breeders for the American trotting sire, an animal possessing but few of the qualities and characteristics of the riding horse.

To get good cavalry horses the thoroughbred sire is almost indispensable, as in no other way can the lengthy rein, sloping shoulder, deep chest, strong loin and long quarter so necessary in this class be obtained with any certainty or regularity. Freedom of movement is essential, but high action and great trotting speed are neither required nor wanted. Horses of this class should stand not less than 15-1 nor more than 15-3, and should measure at least 8 inches below the knee and 70 inches in girth.

Horses of this stamp can best be procured by the use of selected thoroughbred sires on strong half-bred mares, on the better class of roadster mares, or on mares from hackney or coach sires, provided they show some blood and quality. On mares having a preponderance of warm blood or those showing any inclination to weediness, a good hackney horse might be advantageously used.

MOUNTED INFANTRY HORSE.

The mounted infantry horse, for which such an unprecedented demand has recently arisen, and which is likely to be even more sought after, is a smaller and cheaper animal than either of those already described. He is, in fact, a cob, a strong pony on short legs, with as much quality as can consistently be looked for in conjunction with the substance required to carry an armed man. He must have a fair shoulder and a good back, be deep through the heart and stand squarely on good legs, well furnished with bone. In height he may be from 14-1 to 15-1, but 14.3 is the favorite standard. Strength is the great desideratum, but a reasonable amount of activity is indispensable.

Such horses can be obtained by a stout thoroughbred sire from French Canadian or other strong pony mares or by the judicious use of the hackney horse on the smaller roadsters and on those little mares too common in Canada, resulting from the ill-advised use of the racing or rather sprinting type of thoroughbred on light mares of trotting blood or other mixed breeding.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS.

In times of peace no horses are bought at less than four nor more than seven years old.

As regards color, bays, browns, chestnuts and blacks are preferred; a few greys are required for special corps, but odd-colored horses are not wanted.

No unsound or seriously blemished horse will be taken; the veterinary examination is fairly strict, but is also strictly fair. Undocked horses are preferred and no horse with a very short docked tail will be taken.

Breeders on the western ranges will no doubt find it profitable from this time forward to devote considerable attention to the production of horses especially adapted for military use.

MURDERED HER DAUGHTER.

Mrs. John Fleming Split Her Daughter Pearl's Skull Open.

A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., of August 16, says: A frightful murder was committed here this morning. Mrs. Fleming, an old woman, over fifty years of age, whose husband died seven months ago, was laboring under an hallucination that her husband had called to her to take her daughter, twenty-four years of age, and join him in heaven. The crazed woman stole to her daughter's bed as the girl was sleeping and crashed her skull in with an axe. After killing her daughter the old woman went into the garden and tried to bury herself. The girl was to leave this morning for a little town up the island where she had received an appointment as school teacher. Both mother and daughter were very devout churchgoers.

KING RECEIVES BOER LEADERS

They Meet His Majesty on Board the Royal Yacht at Cowes.

A London cable of August 17 says: Generals Botha, DeWet and Delarey, who reached here yesterday from South Africa, left London at 9.30 o'clock this morning for Cowes, Isle of Wight, to see King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

The hour of the generals' departure was kept secret. The streets were deserted when the three generals, accompanied by their secretaries, but by none of the ladies of the party, left. Upon arriving at Southampton the visitors were welcomed on board the commander-in-chief's yacht Wildfire by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener.

Immediately afterwards they visited King Edward on board the Victoria and Albert, and were then taken for a trip around the fleet in the Wildfire. They returned to London, accompanied by Earl Roberts and General Lord Kitchener, who took leave of them at Waterloo station.

In an interview, Gen. Botha's secretary described the visit to His Majesty. He said that when they boarded the royal yacht, King Edward came forward and after they had been introduced, shook hands with each of them. After a brief talk of a non-political character with King Edward, they were introduced to Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria. The generals were highly pleased with their reception.

The reception by His Majesty lasted a quarter of an hour. The King spoke of "the gallant manner in which the generals had fought the long and arduous campaign, and for the consideration and kindness with which the generals had treated the British wounded." His Majesty expressed his good wishes for the future. It was at the King's suggestion that the Boers took the trip around the fleet on board the Wildfire.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

In Holy Trinity church, Winnipeg, on Sunday Ven. Archdeacon Lofthouse was consecrated bishop of the new diocese of Keewatin.

The United Brotherhood of Railway Employees deny statements to the effect that the C. N. R. strike is off.

The C. P. R. expect to have in the neighborhood of 10,000 cars and 400 engines, available for shipping out this year's crop.

The representative of an eastern American colonization company are in Winnipeg. They propose to buy 1,000,000 acres of land for settlement.

Souris has won the intermediate lacrosse championship.

Telephone and acetylene gas plants are being installed at Moosomin.

Col. Asa Westover, of Durham, Que., a veteran of the Fenian raid of 1866, is dead.

Ten thousand harvesters leave Ontario this week for the west.

FUEL OIL VERSUS COAL

Washington, Aug. 15.—The navy department is awaiting with great interest the report of Lieut. Ward Winchell, who accompanied the steamer Mariposa which has been fitted recently with appliances for burning fuel oil on her trip from San Francisco to the Society Island and return.

Admiral Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering of the navy department, has given much considertion to the possibilities of liquid fuel on our warships and for some time experiments have been carried on by him at the Washington navy yard.

When oil burning appliances were first installed on board the Mariposa, Lieut. Winchell, at the admiral's request, was detailed to accompany her on her voyage of over 7,000 miles to Tahiti and return. The length of the voyage, it was thought, would furnish opportunity for a pretty thorough test of the appliances, and Lieut. Winchell was instructed to obtain all possible information concerning the installation and operation of oil burning devices aboard the Mariposa. He will furnish details upon every feature.

Data relating to the size and character of the atomizing agents for spraying the oil are particularly desired by the department, as well as the effect of the flames upon boiler castings, etc.

Lieut. Winchell will also report upon the temperature of the fire room, the number of men employed, character of work exacted, etc. It is expected his report will be of great value, not only to the navy but to the merchant shipping interests, which are constantly beseiging the department for information relative to the results of the department's experiments.

OIL DON'T PAY.

A despatch to the San Francisco Chronicle from Bayonne, N. Y., dated Aug. 12, says:

Two months trial of fuel oil as a substitute for coal, burning about 1,000 barrels of crude oil daily, has been ended by the Standard Oil Company at Bayonne. According to trustworthy authority the company has decided that the cheapest grade of coal from its refining stills—is both cheaper and better than fuel oil. The company has obtained a supply of soft coal and abandoned the use of fuel oil here.

OIL AT VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, Aug. 15—Emil Gunther is interested in a discovery of fuel oil or rather unmistakable evidence of its presence in North Vancouver, across the Inlet from Vancouver City. The land on which oil was discovered has been secured and operations started in development.

OIL HOLDS SWAY.

The following is a report of the San Francisco coal market for the week ending Aug. 16, issued by J. W. Harrison:

Since the Ventura left, there have been the following arrivals from Newcastle, N. S. W.,: Colony, 2,250 tons: Viking, 1,206 tons; Eulomene, 4,000 tons; Earl of Dunmore, 3,470 tons; Commandent Merchant, 3,016 tons; Laura, 1,595 tons; Gen. Gordon, 2,465 tons; J. B. Brown, 2,167 tons. Total, 20,169 tons.

During the past thirty days sixteen vessels have discharged their cargoes of Australian coal here, in all amounting to 44,617 tons. At present the engaged list of vessels, en route and loading at same port, numbers 14 cargoes with less than 40,000 tons of coal, which is all the coal that can possibly arrive here in the next ninety days. This should serve to make the spot colonial coal good property up to the end of this year. Coal freights from Newcastle are reported firm, and but few engagements are being made.

A large proportion of the Australian deliveries here for the past several weeks have been to the Southern Pacific railway company. It was reported in the daily papers of last week and has since been confirmed, that there will be a material shrinkage in the shipments of Nanaimo coal to this port. As the grade of coal has been a large factor in the past, in establishing local values, its being somewhat withheld from the market should somewhat help values. Still so long as fuel oil holds its present sway, coal has almost a hopeless case so far as any marked advance in value can take place.

CRUSHING BLOW TO LOTTERIES

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Judge Choquet dealt a crushing blow at the lotteries yesterday, when he delivered his judgement in the case of five directors of the Dominion Colonization company, who were charged with keeping a disorderly house by running a lottery. Geo. Giguere, who was the organizer of the scheme, and was practically manager of the whole business, was sent to jail for three months without the option of a fine. Arthur Rivet, Albert Desjordy, Elie Sicotte and Ernest David were each fined $100 and costs or three months. There is no appeal from this judgement. Judge Choquet said in delivering judgment, that there was not the slightest doubt in the world that the accused had manipulated a scheme for the disposal of certain tickets by chance and that the scheme was illegal.

PERSONAL COLUMN.

W. A. Prest, of Cranbrook, is in town this week.

Mrs. A. K. Farquharson has been very ill during the past week.

J. H. Bricker was in Michel several days this week.

Mr. S. Herchmer paid Macleod a visit this week.

P. McMurphy, freight clerk, leaves today for Frank, where he has secured a situation with P. Burns & Co.

Constable Forbes, of Fernie, has been gazetted as Chief License Inspector for this district.

Thos. R. Stockett, General Supt. of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, is at the coast on business this week.

Mrs. J. L. McIntyre and Mrs. R. Hammond are spending a month visiting relatives at Pincher Creek.

The Misses Todhunters gave a social evening to their friends on Wednesday of this week. A pleasant time is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crane, of Cowley, Alt., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Farquharson.

Mrs. John Herron and Mrs. E. G. Ambrose, of Pincher Creek, were in Fernie several days this week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Gordon.

Miss Maude Hackett left for Winnipeg on Monday evening. She will visit there for some time and then proceed to her home in Toronto.

Miss Mary Whimster left for Toronto on Monday evening, where she will take a course of study in the Presbyterian Ladies' College of that city.

Mr. Fred Vance, who has been holidaying in the east for the past two months, will open his barber shop in the Alberta Hotel on Monday next.

Jas. McMaster's old friends are pleased to welcome him back to Fernie. He has resumed his old situation with P. Burns & Co. Frank Paddock, whose place he takes, expects to go to Nelson.

Miss B. Maltby, of Spokane, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. B. Trites, for several weeks, left for home Friday morning. She was accompanied as far as Nelson by Mr. and Mrs. Trites.

G. H. Thompson, of Cranbrook, was in town this week visiting his brother, T. C. Thompson, who is suffering from typhoid fever. Mr. Thompson is slowly improving but little Howard is still very ill.

Fred Mitchell, of Greenwood, is in town this week. He is here looking up a site for a tailor shop. Mr. Mitchell is well known throughout Canada as an athlete. He holds the championship of Canada for the 100, 220 and 300 yard races.

The Cranbrook Herald is agitating for a system of waterworks in that town.

There was a potato famine in town for several days this week.

All lacrosse players are requested to turn out regularly for practice during the next week.

The vacant store in the Cuthbert block is being fitted up and repaired for C. W. Laidley, merchant tailor. He expects to move into the new stand in a few days.

A case of scarlet fever has made its appearance in Fernie and the victim is under quarantine in one of the shacks near the river.

A washout on the Macleod-Calgary branch has cut off P. Burns & Co's. supply of meat several days this week. They are getting a supply in by express from Frank.

Sudden departures are becoming too numerous in this locality for the benefit of our business men. Two young men left town very unexpectedly this week forgetting to leave their future address.

Geo. Malone, the Fernie band master, left town very unexpectedly on Wednesday morning last—at least it was unexpected to his employers, Messrs. Ingram & McIntyre and the Fernie Band, of which he was treasurer.

The subscriptions received for the Fernie Relief Fund during the week ending August 22nd were:—Proceeds of Union Picnic, Sintabeta, $12.46; Miners at Glace Bay, C.B., $2,597.14; Proceeds of concert and lecture by Rev. E. W. Hazleford at Frank, $65. The total subscriptions since the fund originated amounts to $29,235.14, not including one subscription of the coal company. The total amount paid out amounts to $3,108.27, leaving a balance in the bank of $26,126.87.

A petition has been in circulation in Fernie during the past week asking that this part of the district be set aside and that Chief Constable Forbes be appointed Government Agent and Stipendiary Magistrate. A petition is also in circulation asking that H. H. Trites be appointed Stipendiary Magistrate for the new district.

The Frank lacrosse club has made an offer to our lacrosse club to play the final with Lethbridge at their town on their annual celebration day, Sept. 10th. It promises railway and hotel expenses and fifty dollars to the winning team. The Frank people are true sports and a most comprehensive program is being prepared for the day. A meeting of the local club will be held this evening at 8:30 at the skating rink to discuss the above proposal and other important matters. A large attendance of those interested is desired.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FIRE! FIRE!

The Dry Season is coming....

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

WE FEEL

that we can please anyone and everyone with this line of goods for

Made-to-Order Suits and Overcoats.

There's such a variety of handsome designs and the cloth is so good that there is hardly any chance of increasing the one or improving the other.

C. W. LAIDLEY

INGRAM & McINTYRE

THE CITY BARBERS.

Shop in the Royal Hotel.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

Six newly furnished rooms to let, 3 doors west of Hospital. Terms reasonable.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that I, Henry W. Petrie, sixty days after date intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 640 acres of land on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post situated 20 chains west of the N.W. corner of R. L. Henderson's pre-emption, thence running 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to the point of commencement.

Dated this 26th day of June, 1902.

HENRY W. PETRIE

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fine

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

J. C. Hutchison

.....MEANS BUSINESS.....

Have you seen his latest stock of goods? No? That is strange. Why, he is becoming the talk of the town. Don't you know that he is now prepared to adorn his customers with the cheapest yet most durable apparel in Fernie. Not only with up-to-date suitings, but with shirts, ties, collars cuffs, socks, hats and caps. In fact he will fit you out from head to foot at prices within the reach of all. Call and inspect his stock.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

FERNIE, B.C.
Near the Station

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

PREST,
The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction guaranteed.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

In the County Court of Nanaimo

Holden at Nanaimo.

In the Goods of Enoch, Barron, deceased. Intestate.

Take notice that I have been appointed Administrator of the effects and credits of Enoch Barron, deceased, Intestate. All persons having claims against the estate are required to send the particulars thereof; to me on or before the 15th day of September, 1902, duly verified after which date I will distribute the estate amongst those persons, only of whose claims I then shall have received notice. Any person indebted to the deceased are required to pay the same forthwith.

Nanaimo, B. C., August 5th, 1902.

J. A. McALONEY,
Official Administrator
Nanaimo, B.C

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for permission to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the west bank of Elk River, 60 chains southerly from the south east corner of James Ferguson's application, thence running 40 chains west, thence 40 chains south, thence 40 chains east, thence northerly following the said bank of Elk river to point of commencement.

EUGENE WALTER.

Dated at Fernie this 5th day of July, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, John A. Ferguson intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, thence running west to a point 40 chains due south of James A. McDonnell's south east corner post, thence south 40 chains, thence east to the bank of Elk River, thence following the said bank of Elk River northerly to the point of commencement.

JOHN A. FERGUSON.

June 24th, 1902.

NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I. George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following lands in East Kootenay District, B.C.: Commencing at a post planted at the north east corner of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt land on the west side of the Elk river about 6 miles north of Michel creek. thence north 20 chains more or less to a point on the Southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application to pre-empt; thence west 80 chains along said southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application aforesaid; thence south 20 chains more or less to the northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt; thence east along said northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt 80 chains more or less to the place of beginning, containing about 160 acres more or less.

Dated the 11th day of August, 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Fort Steele Licence District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned persons have made application under the visions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for hotel licences at the places opposite their respective names:—

1. Jules Hurel, transfer from Kootenay hotel, Boundary Line, Tobacco Plains, to Morrissey hotel, west side of Elk River, two miles north of Morrissey Creek, known as James Macdonell's townsite, Morrissey.
2. Robert Schram, transfer from the Morrissey House, Morrissey, to Morrissey House, two miles distant.
3. W. M. Stewart, Grand Union hotel, Morrissey
4. R. E Beattie, Australian, Morrissey.
5. A. F. Geddes, Morrissey.
6. Myles A. Beale, the Imperial hotel, Morrissey
7. Andrew Johnston, East Kootenay hotel, Morrissey.
8. H. A. Kanouse, Waldorf, Fernie, transfer from Waldorf, old town.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such applications at the Court House, Fernie, on the fifth day of September, 1902. on Friday at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK R. FORBES,
Fernie, 22nd Aug. 1902. Chief Licence Inspector

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 19 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 191

Lib. Legislative Asst. Dec 31 1901

133

METHODIST CHURCH.

FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:

Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.

Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER,

Barristers, Solicitor, Notary Public,

FERNIE, - - - B.C.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...

Meets every WEDNESDAY evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

For Sale

800 fully paid up shares of $1.00 each in the

Similkameen Valley Coal Co.

at 25c. each

For blocks of 200 or more payments may be made at the rate of 20 per cent. monthly.

When wanting to buy or sell stock of any kind write us.

E. B. McDermid,

Chartered Accountant,

Nelson, B.C.

DENIES THE CHARGE.

GEN. SUPT. STOCKETT SAYS HE KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT MEN BEING EMPLOYED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Hopes That Men and Company will Work Harmoniously Together in Future. The Company's Side.

Thos. R. Stockett, jr., General Supt. of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's. mines, in an interview with a newspaper reporter at Nanaimo the other day, regarding the statement that the Company were employing men in Pennsylvania to work in the mines here, said that he knew absolutely nothing about the attempt to hire men in Pennsylvania for the Fernie mines, and if such an attempt was being made he would know of it. At the present time he was not needing any men at Fernie and only a few men could be given employment in the other mines.

So far as the company was concerned they had made an agreement with the men and were acting in good faith, and if at the expiration of two months a majority of the underground employees voted to return to the old system the company would comply with the request.

The company was working in anticipation that the miners at Fernie would continue working, and had no intention of making an attempt to violate the agreement when the two months expired. In thus acting in good faith the company expected the men were doing the same, and if they would keep their heads and act reasonably he had no doubt an amicable agreement would be arrived at by which the miners and company would work harmoniously together.

Mr. Stocket was in Nanaimo attending a meeting of the Mine Managers' Association of British Columbia.

COMMISSION APPOINTED.

Coal Creek Mine Disaster to be Investigated by a Commission.

A despatch from Victoria dated Aug. 25th, says:

"John Bryden, ex-M.P., former manager of the Wellington mines, Tulley Boyce, a miner of Nanaimo, and Peter S. Lampman, barrister, of Victoria, have been appointed a commission to enquire into the recent disastrous explosion in the Crow's Nest mines at Fernie, B.C.

The scope of the commission as outlined by the act, is to enquire into the causes of explosions in coal mines and to recommend means to be adopted for their avoidance. Sittings will be help in Cumberland, Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Fernie.

The commission will probably begin its sittings as soon after Sept. 1st as they can make convenient.

LATEST BY WIRE.

Halifax, Aug. 29.—Hon. R. L. Borden leaves on Monday on his trip to British Columbia. Twenty leading Conservatives will accompany him, these will include A. C. Bell, M.P., New Glasgow; and either Mr. Hackett or Mr. Leforce, of Prince Edward Island; P. A. Powers, M. P. for Westmoreland, N.B.; and G. E. McInerrey, M.P. for Kent, N.B. Quebec will be represented by T. D. Monk, M.P., and three others. From Ontario there will be E. F. Clarke, M.P., Toronto; Jas. Clancy, M.P., Bothwell; Dr. Sproule, M.P., East Grey; W. H. Bennett, M. P., Simcoe; R. Bean, M. P., Grey; W. B. Northrup, M.P., East Hastings. The first meeting will be held in Victoria on Sept. 8th.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—Having exhausted every other means for preserving the peace and of protecting the non-union men from violence on their way to and from the mines, Brigadeir General Gobin, in command of the troops now in the coal fields, to-night issued an order that the soldiers shoot any persons detected in throwing stones or other missiles and if any mob resist the authorities or the troops, that they should freely use their bayonets and bullets. The Panther Creek district has been almost continual turmoil this week and the troops stationed there have had a difficult time in protecting the lives of the workmen. To-night the situation in that locality has improved considerably and it is hoped by the military authorities that the lawlessness and abusive language directed toward the soldiers will now cease. The other sections of the coal regions are comparatively quiet.

Victoria, Aug. 29.—Baynes Reed, son of E. Baynes Reed, Dominion Meteorological observer here, shot and killed himself at Banff last evening. He was bookkeeper for the law firm of Drake, Jackson & Helmcher, of this city and dissappeared a week or two ago, taking the key of the safe. His wife who is the daughter of Mr. Hope, of Hope & Temple, brokers, of Toronto, has been east all summer visiting friends. Reed was 30 years of age and was married three years ago. Just before coming west he had previously been in a bank in Hamilton. The trouble seems to have been his addiction to drink. An examination of Reeds books discloses no shortage. He returned the key of the safe a day or two ago.

Toronto, Ont., 29.—To a reporter yesday T. J. Blackstock, Vice-President of the War Eagle and Centre Star mines, said that a reduction in charges of treatment has been secured from the smelter and under the new contract made 1200 tons of high grade ore a month. It is to be shipped from the War Eagle and Centre Star mines. Mr. Blackstock also stated that he believed the mines were were now able to handle $5 ore profitably and a mill had been secured to experiment with these low grade ores.

WENT BACK TO WORK.

Threatened Labor Troubles at Michel Averted.

General Manager Tonkin went down to Michel this week to settle some difficulties which had arisen between the coke oven men in that town and the coal company. The men claimed that Fernie coke pullers were receiving ninety-five cents a ton while they were only getting 75 cents. They quit work for two or three days but eventually went back at the old scale. The General Manager refuses to be interviewed on the matter.

No. 1 mine is now turning out some six hundred tons of coal a day.

Rev. G. M. Campbell will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday evening next.

W. H. Aldridge, Manager of the Trail smelter, was in town several days this week. He was here on business in connection with the coke supply.

A drunken Swede tumbled off the express the other evening just this side of Morrissey. He appeared to be badly injured and was brought down to the Fernie hospital, but upon a careful examination it was found that there was nothing seriously the matter with him.

The following subscriptions to the relief fund have not yet been acknowledged:—Rev. Father Verbeke, Ladysmith, $2; Anon, Atlin, $3; T. W. Naylor, Yorkshire, Eng., $5; Cumberland Reg. & Coal Co., Springhill, $500; Employees of Cumberland Reg. & Coal Co., Springhill, $569.50, and Merchants of Springhill, $61.50.

For the first time in the history of the town a public demonstration will be held on Labor Day. The different unions of the town have taken hold of the matter and will do all they can to make it a success. The main feature of the day will be the Union Parade. All union men are requested to meet on the recreation grounds at 9:30 a.m. where the procession will form and march down Main street to the Free Press corner, around by Gem Restaurant, down railway street to the park, then down Main street to the recreation grounds. The procession will be headed by the Fernie Brass Band. Addresses will be delivered at the recreation grounds by a number of speakers.

NOTICE— Carpenters are warned to keep away from Frank, as there is a strike on.

Dentist

Dr Barber may be found at his office over Liphardt's jewellery store for the next week or ten days. Call early and make appointments. Office open until 8 p.m.

HAD A WARM TIME.

LITTLE PAUL SHINGARA NEARLY BURNED TO DEATH.

Fred Burns Arrived Just in Time to Save the Lad.

On Thursday Fred Burns, bookkeeper for P. Burns & Co., had occasion to visit the firm's slaughter house, which is located about a mile south of the town. When a short distance from his destination he was startled by cries for help coming from the direction of the river. He immediately rode in the direction from which the voice came until stopped by underbrush. He then dismounted and rushed toward the river banks when he found a little lad, named Paul Shingara, with his clothes on fire. Soon as he saw the boy's condition Fred shouted to him to jump into the river, which he did. When reaching the bank Fred saw the little fellow being rapidly carried out into deep water. He sprang in and after some difficulty succeeded in bring his now insensible burden out on shore. After a long time the boy recovered consciousness, but he was suffering such intense agony that Fred was afraid to leave him so picking the lad up he carried him back to town. The boy's parents are Slavonians living in the Old Town. The mother seemed paralyzed by the boy's mishap and could do nothing to help him, so Fred rustled some English speaking women and they soon had little Paul as comfortable as possible.

It appears that the lad had got hold of a can of powder some place and proceeded to the woods with it intending to have a celebration. He poured out a large quantity on a rock and lying down beside it set fire to the explosive. In a moment his clothes were in flames and his little face and hands horribly burned, and had it not been for the timely arrival of Fred Burns he would soon have perished. As it is the little fellow has suffered a shock and received scars that he will carry with him through the balance of his life.

James Falconer left last evening for the Edmonton district where he will spend a couple of weeks.

Tenders Wanted

Tenders will be received up to Sept. 6 for putting up frame of log house 30x30. Apply to box 4, town. 1

The Customs Collections made at the outport of Fernie for the month of August, 1902, were the largest in the history of the town.

Value of Imports, Dutiable.....	$21,291.00
Free.....	536.00
Total.....	$21,827.00
Duty collected.....	$ 6,037.00

Inland Revenue collections for the month of August amounted to $871.04.

The license commissioners meet in Fernie on Friday evening next to consider the following applications:

1. Jules Hurel, transfer from Kootenay hotel, Boundary Line, Tobacco Plains, to Morrissey hotel, west side of Elk River, two miles north of Morrissey Creek, known as James Macdonell's townsite, Morrissey.
2. Robert Schram, transfer from the Morrissey House, Morrissey, to Morrissey House, two miles distant.
3. W. M. Steward, Grand Union hotel, Morrissey
4. R. E. Beattie, Australian, Morrissey.
5. A. P. Geddes, Morrissey.
6. Myles A. Beale, the Imperial hotel, Morrissey
7. Andrew Johnston, East Kootenay hotel, Morrissey.
8. H. A. Kanouse, Waldorf, Fernie, transfer from Waldorf, old town.

The Canadian Pacific railway is to be greatly improved, the route shortened, and every department of the service perfected. The changes and improvements will involve the expenditure of millions of dollars. Contemplated improvements on the main line of the Canadian Pacific, embracing a radical reduction in grades and a straightening of curvatures, will be commenced next year, and the engineers of the company will be engaged during the coming winter in working out the details, which are of great magnitude. The schedule will be curtailed from the Atlantic to the Pacific, so as to make the run within 70 honrs, while the haulage power of the locomotives will be increased by at least 25 per. cent.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. S. Herchmer was duck hunting on the prairie this week.

Mrs. J. Breckenridge, of Cranbrook, is the guest of Mrs. Amos Purdy this week.

The Greenwood smelter resumed operations yesterday. The regular supply of coke is now being received.

Jas. Belanger has been appointed yard master in the C. P. R. yards here in the place of J. D. Sullivan, resigned.

Miss J. Thompson, who has been visiting her brothers, Andrew and Wm. Thompson, left for the east on Monday.

Fred Kirkpatrick left on Tuesday for Watford, Ont., where he will attend the High School.

Mrs. J. H. Bricker, returned home on Monday last after spending several weeks visiting in Stratford and Detroit.

Mrs. F. White and her son Harold, who have been visiting friends on the prairie, returned home on Saturday.

Miss L. Evans, of Gueiph, Ont., who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs A. C. Liphardt, for some time, left for the east on Monday.

Bank of London $10 bills are said to be in circulation in western Canada, The bills are worthless as the institution has been out of business for some time.

It has been settled that the final game between Lethbridge and Fernie will be played in Frank on the 10th of September. The winning team gets $50 and expenses, besides the Levasseur Cup.

The Nelson lacrosse team will play the Frank aggregation in the latter town at their celebration on the 10th. A game with Fernie team will likely be arranged upon their return.

D. V. Mott, of Fernie, was in town Thursday. He was chock full of tales and his infectuous smile made thing pleasant around the Cranbrook hotels for a while that morning.—Cranbrook Herald.

Another gas well has been struck in Medicine Hat. Gas has been struck wherever borings have been made which goes to show that the quantity of that valuable illuminant is not limited.

Frank lacrosse team have not yet ceased boasting of their victory over the Fernie lacrosse team. If they ever have the misfortune to go up against Fernies regular team their glory will end very briefly.

The junior lacrosse team have been requested by the Lethbridge juniors to play a game at Frank on the 10th, but the boys are unwilling to this, and contend that the Lethbridge boys should come here for the return match.

T. Mackie, M.P. for Pembroke, Ont., the millionaire lumberman, was in town this week calling on his old friends Abe. Joyce and "Sandy" McDougall. Mr. Mackie is the member of parliament who refused to wear a dress suit upon the occasion of the visit of the Duke of York.

Medicine Hat lacrosse team have recovered their lost laurels from the Lethbridge team by defeating them on Thursday last with a score of 6-1. Fernie defeated Lethbridge 8-1. Judging from these scores a game between Medicine Hat and Fernie would be worth seeing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith have the sympathy of the people of Fernie upon the death of their little boy. This is five children that the unhappy couple have lost within a brief period. The little fellow was aged two years and six months. The funeral which took place on Thursday was well attended.

A nasty accident happened in the mine at Frank, on Wednesday, J. W. Watkins, formerly of Fernie, being the victim. He was working in his room when a piece out of the hanging wall fell on him, knocking him into one of the chutes. Fortunately this was nearly full and he was soon taken out rather shaken up and with a severe scalp wound. He was taken to the hospital and his injuries dressed by Dr. Malcolmson. Fortunately Watkins is not so badly hurt but that he will be around again in a few days.

DIED.

SMITH—In Fernie, on the 25th inst., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith, aged 2 years and 6 months.

RICE—In Fernie, on the 27th inst., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rice, aged 5 months.

MUTZ—In Fernie, on Wednesday, 20th inst., the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mutz.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

WORLD'S DISPATCHES CULLED AND CONDENSED FOR BUSY READERS.

HORRIBLE CRIME OF A KANSAS FATHER—THREE PERSONS KILLED IN DAKOTA.

A Chicago bank manager has decided his clerks cannot marry unless earning $1,000 a year.

Five tons of fruit will be sent from British Columbia to the Winnipeg horticultural fair.

Joseph Anderson, a farmer, of Salina, Kansas, drowned his four children in a cistern, and then committed suicide.

A British cruiser has left hurriedly for Buenaventure, where the Colombian government is trying to force a ship to carry troops.

Winnipeg aldermen have selected a site for the Carnegie library and decided to send City Engineer Ruttan to New York to consult with Mr. Hering on the city's water supply.

W. Coffey, a stoker in Kingston penitentiary, suicided at Napanee.

Canned salmon is likely to be dear this year owing to shortage in the catch.

James Donnelly, of Seeley's Bay, Ont., died as a result of an attack by a mad bull.

Lindsay, Ont., electors defeated a by-law to raise $2,000 to purchase a site for a Carnegie library.

The Conductors and Railwaymen's association of Montreal, has refused to use or hanble non-union coal.

The agents of the Canadian-South African service have decided on rates five cents lower than from New York.

Cold weather in eastern Canada has delayed the harvesting there,and as a result many who had intended doing so, may be prevented from coming west this year.

Dominion Fruit Inspector McNeill, in an interview, said that Ontario growers will be unable to export this year's peach crop owing to the lack of shipping facilities.

Three persons were killed near Rolla, N. D., in a storm on August 19.

Strained relations exist between the United States and Turkey.

A report from Holland says that Mr. Kruger is about to abdicate his position as Afrikander chief.

Rose Coghlan, the actress, mistook carbolic acid for a face lotion, and barely escaped ruining her eyesight.

Charles M. Schwab has denied the stories of his illness and contemplated resignation from the presidency of the American Steel corporation.

Jennie Baillie, an English girl employed with John McMachens, near Lyndhurst, Ont., committed suicide last Sunday by taking carbolic acid. She had told some friends a few days before ending her life that she was tired of living.

British Columbia forests are now being devastated by a series of bush fires, which are alarming the authorities.

Dresden, Aug. 19.—War Minister Plantz died this morning at Hosterwitz.

CHINESE CRUISER GOES UP.

All But One of the Officers and Men Lost, Some 130 All Told.

The United States navy department has received information concerning the explosion which completely wrecked the Chinese cruiser Kai-Chih on June 22, last, while the ship was lying at her station off Nan-King. The vessel was blown to pieces and all of the officers and men, about 130, were lost, with the exception of a seaman who was picked up slightly wounded.

NAPTHA CAN EXPLODED.

A painful accident occurred near Gananoque on Saturday, August 16. Mrs, Parmenter, of Toronto, who has a summer residence on one of the islands, is the possessor of a naptha stove that got out of order. The son proceeded to fill the tank, but an explosion resulted, and Parmenter and his mother were enveloped in flames. He rushed to the river, carrying his mother, and jumped into the water with her, completely extinguishing the fire. The poor woman was very badly burned and her recovery is uncertain.

The number of ships in the American whaling fleet has fallen in the past twelve years from 97 to 40, and much the same is the case with the Scotch whaling industry.

A single pair of rabbits can multiply in four years to 1,250,000.

WILL NOT GET MEDALS.

War Office Issues an Order Which Excludes Last Detachment of Canadians from Gratuity.

Owing to an order which was issued by the war office all troops who landed in South Africa after May 31 were not entitled to the war medal and gratuity. This would exclude the whole of the last contingent, the first portion having landed in Durban on June 5. As several appeals have been made to the militia department for the medal it is likely that representation will be made to the war office requesting that these men be at least granted the medals.

CANADIANS UNRULY.

The Canadian Mounted Rifles, who formed the last contingent, were evidently a lively "bunch." While they were in northern Natal they had nothing to do and consequently took to looting for amusement. They raided in general, and one day swept down on Newcastle, taking everything before them. Their reputation for unruliness, it is said, was such that when they were leaving Newcastle to entrain for Durban the Newcastle merchants put up their shutters and stopped business for the afternoon. As a result of their depredations a claim has been filed with the Canadian government for £18 for damages incurred. The Australians and New Zealanders were included in the lot, and a total of £200 was withheld in all from the colonials in northern Natal, where the depredations took place.

GIRLS WANTED.

South Africans Are After Servants—They Offer Big Wages.

South Africa is apparently afflicted with the same lack of domestic servants that exists in this country. Judging by the efforts they are making they are even much worse off than the Manitoba housewife. A dispatch from Johannesburg states that the government will contribute $25 towards a girl's transportation, advancing the remainder, which is payable in monthly instalments. The government also provides free railway transportation through Cape Colony. Twenty-five dollars a month is the ruling wages for domestic servants.

It is not hard to account for the fact that so few girls emigrate to Canada when better wages prevail and better inducements are offered elsewhere.

POLES WILL NEVER BE SLAVES

Kaiser Cannot Germanize a Part of His Empire—Fervid Scenes.

Berlin.—A fervid assemblage of 2,000 Poles here Sunday cheered what was called the Polish democracy. There was a scene of extraordinary enthusiasm. Herr Wrobel, editor of a Polish newspaper, published in Berlin, during the course of a speech exclaimed: "Prussia will disappear from the map before they succeed in Germanizing the Poles and destroying their hope of the resurrection of Poland. The new Poland will be not the prey of the aristocracy and clergy, but a free, democratic reality." The speaker added that all Germans were the hereditary foes of the Poles.

Wonders of Our Language.

The construction of the English language must appear most formidable to a foreigner. One of them looking at a picture of a number of vessels, said: "See what a flock of ships." He was told that a flock of ships was called a fleet, and a fleet of sheep was called a flock. And it was added, for his guidance in mastering our language, that a flock of girls is called a bevy, and a bevy of wolves is called a pack, and a pack of thieves is called a gang, and a gang of angels is called a host, and a host of porpoises is called a shoal, and a shoal of buffalos is called a herd, and a herd of children is called a troop, and a troop of partridges is called a covey, and a covey of beauties is called a galaxy, and a galaxy of ruffians is called a horde, and a horde of rubbish is called a heap, and a heap of oxen is called a drove, and a drove of rowdies is called a mob, and a mob of whales is called a school, and a school of worshippers is called a congregation, and a congregation of engineers is called a corps, and a corps of robbers is called a band, and a band of locusts is called a swarm, and a swarm of people is called a crowd.

Sowing Buckwheat.

Buckwheat likes a dry or well drained soil. Sow the seed at almost any time when convenient from July 1 to July 15, and we have seen good crops where it was sown both earlier and later, but the above is a time when it is generally sure to do well, and there should be from twenty to thirty bushels of grain to the acre. In sowing buckwheat to plow under we should sow earlier, in June at least, and plow under while in bloom or just before any seed ripened, then follow by sowing winter grain.—American Cultivator.

DROWNED LIKE RATS

WATER BREAKS THROUGH A SHAFT IN THE JOSIE WORKINGS AT ROSSLAND.

IT DESCENDS LIKE AN AVALANCHE ON FOUR MINERS—TWO PERISH.

Charles Hoskins and Josiah Lobb were drowned in the Le Roi No. 2 group on August 23 under circumstances that are rarely paralleled.

The two men were at work at the bottom of the Josie shaft, 900 feet below the surface, where they were sinking a continuation of the shaft. In another section of the mine on what is termed as the Annie Ground, a disused shaft was located, and this had filled with water until it contained many thousand gallons.

The water broke through the wall of the Annie shaft, penetrating a seam of talc and the greasy clay for a distance of no less than sixty feet into the workings beneath, a circumstance that is fortunately rare.

From the workings immediately beneath the Annie shaft the water flowed in a cataract along the three hundred foot level to the Josie shaft and dropped six hundred feet into the bottom of the Josie shaft, where four men at work. A shower of boulders was carried down in the cataract and it is presumed that Hoskins and Lobb were stunned before being drowned. Their partners, J. Hocking and Thomas Strick climbed the shaft through the falling water and escaped alive.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Hon. Joseph Royal, formerly lieutenant-governor of the Northwest, died at Montreal on August 23.

At Windsor, Ont., on August 23, Darby Travers was sentenced to 22 years in jail for burglary.

H. R. Forsythe, formerly of the Northwest Mounted Police, was arrested at Medicine Hat on August 22, charged with burglary.

Parliament will be asked to authorize the building of a railway and waterworks system in the Yukon.

The Japanese consul general in Canada has asked the immediate disallowance of the British Columbia anti-Japanese regulations.

Miss Vivian Sartoris, grand-daughter of President Grant, and Frederick Roosevelt Scovil, cousin of President Roosevelt, were married on Saturday at Cobourg, Ont.

The United States commissioner, appointed to investigate the stories of the destruction of Alaskan bounary marks by the British, found that there was no truth in the stories.

Striking dock laborers at Havana, Cuba, cheered for Spain and General Weyler.

The government of St. Vincent has erected 116 houses for those left destitute by the eruption of Souffriere.

A Vienna paper credits Gen. Botha with the opinion that the Kaffirs threaten serious trouble in South Africa.

President Roosevelt, speaking of trusts, said it was necessary for the United States government to control them, and would do so.

The British authorities have issued regulations prohibiting the landing in South Africa of persons not having with them $500, or means of self-maintenance.

Mr. J. D. King, shoe manufacturer of Toronto, died on August 24.

A Pennsylvania wagon works will be removed to Toronto.

A number of Indiana residents have laid clain to a portion of Philadelphia.

Major Howe, superintendent of the N. W. M. P., Maclead, Alta., is dead.

The Canadian Pacific will build a fast line of their own if not given the Atlantic contract.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER DROWN

Sad Accident at Blackstone Lake, Near Parry Sound.

A double drowning occurred in Blackstone lake, ten miles in the country from Parry Sound on August 23. The victims were Mark Mackelvie, settler on Blackstone lake, and his little daughter. The two started to cross Blackstone lake in a canoe to meet and take Mrs. Mackelvie home from the residence of her father. When part of the way across the lake a thwart in the canoe on which Mackelvie was sitting,broke throwing him forward and on the side of the canoe, causing it to upset and throwing both the father and daughter into the water. Mackelvie's efforts to save his daughter resulted in the death of both. The bodies were recovered in about seven feet of water the evening after the accident, not far from shore.

BEAR DEVOURS A BOY.

Six-Year-Old Boy Disappears From and Search Reveals a Portion of Remains.

The strange disappearance from home of the six-year-old son of Mr. Dupuis, who is the only resident at Les Cave, four miles from Mattawa, was the cause of a search party being formed and a search instituted for the missing child. All were fearful of the result, as never in the past history of that portion of the country have so many huge bears been seen at this time of the year.

While searching in a pile of brush the searchers were horror-stricken at the sight of a child's arm and leg, undoubtedly those of the missing boy.

Blueberry picking has been suspended in consequence; in fact, the advent into that part of the country of bears in such large numbers has become a menace to public safety.

FAST TRAIN FOR ILLINOIS

Electric Railway on Which 90 to 100 Miles an Hour Will Be Made.

An electrical company at Lynn, Mass., is building a train which is to soon be used in Illinois, and which the engineers estimate will make 90 to 100 miles an hour. It is added that the track for the train in Illinois is almost completed; that the line is about 150 miles long and is remarkable for solidity and strength. As far as possible grades have been eliminated. Electricity will be the motive power, and the third rail system will be used.

A train of three cars has been built for the first trials. The train will be equipped with twelve motors of 120 horse-power each. Instead of the high speed increasing the danger, it is claimed that the train will be safer and run less risk of leaving the rails than an ordinary street car. The theory held by electricians is that the train is practically electrically welded to the track and cannot leave it while the power is on. The location of the track is not given.

PEASANT FOR A KING.

The Servian crown is without prospect of an heir, and King Alexander, realizing that Queen Draga can never bear a son, to prevent his enemies from seizing the throne, has decided, according to a dispatch from Belgrade, to adopt a healthy peasant boy and educate him so as to be his successor. The king mentioned the project at a recent reception at the royal palace at Belgrade, saying: "The Obrenovitch dynasty sprang from among the people. Why should not a child of the people be my heir?" It is thought that it is doubtful if the Servians will accept the idea, despite the fact that the founder of the present dynasty was a swineherd.

Hard Lessons in Good Manners.

School chaff is wholesome in most cases, but it may cramp what should not be cramped. As to the chaff which a man gives and gets at a university, however, we do not think there can be two opinions. It must do good, and it has not the opportunity of doing harm. Only those receive it who lay themselves open to receive it. The quiet man who wishes to read or to think apart need hardly ever come into contact with his fellows unless he so chooses. The swaggering or bumptious man, the opinionated man, the offensive man—these are certain to be chaffed, and the chaff usually goes home; not at once perhaps, but it usually gets there in the end with satisfactory consequences. The personal remark may be rude, but rudeness is often a very salutary weapon. It is certainly one of the most valuable instruments of English education. Indeed it may seem a strange thing to say, but it is surely true that continued experience of calculated, formularized and well intentioned rudeness teaches people to be polite.—London Spectator.

Chances of Life and Death.

The following table is one that is used by the London assurance companies, showing the prospect of life at various ages. It is the result of several years of careful calculation and is said to seldom prove misleading or incorrect. Of course sudden and premature deaths, as well as lives unusually extended, occasionally occur, but this is a table of average expectancy of life of the ordinary man or woman: A person 1 year old may expect to live 39 years longer; of 10 years, 51; of 20 years, 41; of 30 years, 34; of 40 years, 28; of 50 years, 21; of 60 years, 14; of 70 years, 9; of 80 years, 4. Readers can easily gather from the above statement facts which will tell them, approximately at least, how many years longer they may reasonable expect to live according to the law of averages.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier called upon M. Delcasse, the French minister of foreign affairs, and discussed mutual tariff concessions between France and Canada.

NATURAL GAS AT EDMONTON.

A Petrolea Oil Man Visits and Reports on the Athabasca Region.

Mr. D. C. Chamberlain, of Petrolia, Ont., who has been in the Edmonton district for some time past looking into the possibilities of the district with regard to natural gas and coal oil, returned to Edmonton recently from a trip to the natural gas well at Pelican Rapids on the Athabasca, which he made by canoe from the Landing in company with Count Von Hamerstein.

He says that the gas well there is a wonder. The flame from it shoots all the way from 85 to 100 feet and does not consume one-hundredth part of the escaping gas. The waste of cheap fuel is deplorable, but the cost of the pipe which would convey the volume of gas escaping to the nearest centre of civilization at Edmonton would be enormous, as can easily be calculated when the average cost of a two-inch pipe laid under the ground to carry the gas from an ordinary gas well is stated as being $10,000 per mile. Mr. Chamberlain believes from observations made on the trip that the prospects of Athabasca River valley as a coal oil region have not been at all overestimated. He regrets that he was unable to pursue his journey to Fort McMurray, but he intends to return and go up that far another year.

Mr. Chamberlain considers that prospects for striking gas by boring on the flats below the town here are excellent He thinks gas ought to be struck at about 3,000 feet, and has left an offer to bore for it behind him for the consideration of of our local capitalists. It is certain that hardly an enterprise could be mentioned which would be more conducive to the progress and prosperity of Edmonton than this would be should the result prove successful, as there is every reason to believe it will.

BOERS AND THE BLACKS.

The Negro Problem Growing More Acute in South Africa.

Mail advices received in London from Johannesburg indicate that the negro problem is growing more acute and is causing the authorities infinite worry. To quote the words of one of the foremost South African authorities:

"On the question of the natives depends the whole future of the new colonies—whether the Boers will loyally accept British rule or continue in a state of sullen resentment. Among the immediate dangers native attacks on Boers returning to their farms and attempts of natives to assault women are threatening to lead to serious conflicts between Boers and blacks. Under the old regime the crude but simple retribution for assaults on women was shooting on sight. Now, however, there is no legislation on the subject, and the English authorities are hesitating to enact laws until all the parties concerned can voice their opinions. The hesitancy to deal summarily with the natives is causing both Boers and Afrikanders intense irritation and encourages the blacks to truculent effrontery.

"Another phase of the problem is the unwillingness of the blacks to forego their lazy existence in the concentration camps, where thousands were gathering during the war. But far more serious is the fact that a great many blacks in the country have managed to secure arms. There is, therefore, the anomalous situation of unarmed whites and armed blacks, living in proximity on out-lying farms. Experienced British colonials strongly favor disarmament of the natives and prompt legislation making assaults on women a capital offence."

A VERY FAT PRISONER.

Owensboro, Ky., August 22.—Because a prisoner is too fat to get through the court room doors, United States Commissioner Lindsay has telegraphed to Washington for permission to hold court in the open air.

The prisoner is Jane Woolsey, of Litchfield, arrested for making oonshine whisky. She was hauled to this city in a wagon, but it was discovered that she could not be taken up the narrow stairs leading to the court room. She is 5 feet 5 inches high and weighs 430 pounds.

TERRIFIC STORM IN ONTARIO.

Bothwell, Ont., and vicinity were visited on August 21 by the worst electric and hail storm ever known there.

The storm lasted about 45 minutes, and cut everything in its course the hail lying on the ground two or three inches in depth.

Matthew Graham, who lives near Florence, was killed by lightning,and his barns and crops destroyed.

The jewels which the Princess of Wales took with her on her recent tour of the world were insured for £75,000.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

Such has been the increase of population in civilized countries that the space occupied by one person a century ago must now contain three.

Monkey Brand Soap cleans kitchen utensils, steel, iron and tinware, knives and forks, and all kinds of cutlery. 20

It is well to remember when papering a small room that blue in all light shades makes a room look larger. Dark colors, or paper with large patters, have the opposite effect.

I bought a horse with a supposedly incurable ringbone for $30.00, cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT, and sold him in four months for $85.00. Profit on Liniment, $54.00.

MOISE DEROSCE,
Hotel Keeper.
St. Phillip's Que., Nov. 1st, 1901.

There appears to exist a greater desire to live long than to live well! Measure a man's desires, he cannot live long enough; measure by his good deeds and he has not lived long enough; measure by his evil deeds, and he has lived too long.—Zimmerman.

SKEPTICISM.—This is unhappily an age of skepticism, but there is one point upon which persons acquainted with the subject agree, namely, that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a medicine which can be relied upon to cure a cough, remove pain heal sores of various kinds, and benefit any inflamed portion of the body to which it is applied.

Leeds corporation is to supply gas cooking grids free of charge to customers having automatic meters.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

The longer I live, the more I am certain that the great difference between men, between the feeble and the powerful, the great and the insignificant, is energy, invincible determination—a purpose once fixed, and then, death or victory.—Fowell Buxton.

Sleeplessness is due to nervous excitement. The delicately constituted, the financier, the business man, and those whose occupation necessitates great mental strain or worry, all suffer less or more from it. Sleep is the great restorer of a worried brain; and to get sleep cleanse the stomach from all impurities with a few doses of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, gelatine coated, containing no mercury, and are guaranteed to give satisfaction or the money will be refunded.

The youngest monarch who ever ascended the British throne was Henry VI. He was 8 months and 25 days old at his accession.

Some men seek justice and some have it forced upon them.

MINARD'S LINIMENT for Sale Everywhere.

If at first some women don't succeed they marry a second time.

Some girls give up a kiss as if they were having a tooth pulled.

Success first makes the name—after which the name makes more success.

There is always something coming to us that we should like to see sidetracked.

Lowell's First Client.

James Russell Lowell studied law and took an office, but never had a case at court. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale told, however, the story of Lowell's first client. The poet had laid aside his law book for the novice and was polishing off a sonnet when the door opened and a strange man appeared with a look of doubt or trouble in his eyes.

Lowell hastily hid the sonnet in a pocket, sprang up with all the alacrity of courtesy he could command, offered a chair to the visitor, took his hat and put it on the table with as much reverence as if it were a retainer, drew up a chair opposite, pulled out a brand new note book and, waving his pencil in a soft, inviting, confidential way, began: "Well, sir, I am all ready to take notes of your case. Please tell me everything, even the most trivial circumstance."

The stranger stared at him with open mouth for a minute, then grinned most amiably as he answered: "I'm the painter of your sign, sir; come to get my little bill."

China's Faith Is Weakening.

No town in either Siam or China is considered complete without a pagoda, and many large cities have several. There must be nearly 2,000 in the two empires, among which Wat Chang is perhaps the most celebrated. It is rare to see a new pagoda, and the ruinous condition of most of them indicates the weakness of the faith which erected them. They vary in height from 5 to 13 stories and are built mostly in so solid and substantial a manner that they are likely to remain for centuries.

Distance of the Stars.

To find the relative distance of the sun and stars, suppose the earth and sun but one inch apart. At the same relative distance the nearest fixed star would be just eleven miles away.

AT SMITH'S FALLS.

WONDERFUL CASE OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

So Weak He Couldn't Stand—Terribly Broken Up and Unable to Find a Cure—Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Him Well.

Smith's Falls, Aug. 25.—(Special)—The cure of Mr. Theodore Young, of this place, is a wonderful example of the progress that medical science has made in the last few years.

Up till a short time ago the doctors claimed that Bright's Disease was absolutely incurable, and in fact there are a few who still adhere to this theory.

But Bright's Disease is not incurable. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure this terrible malady and have done so in thousands of cases.

Those who are skeptical need not go farther than this town to find proof. Mr. Young makes this statement.

"I was afflicted for about two years with Kidney Trouble and chronic Bright's Disease. My urine was very dark and I lost considerable blood, making me so weak I could scarcely stand.

"After using the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I was much better, and when I had used four boxes I was able to resume work, which I had not done for some time previous.

"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to any one afflicted as I was."

Mr. Young's case is only one of a great many where Dodd's Kidney Pills came to the rescue after everything else had failed. They have conquered Bright's Disease and restored to life and health men and women who had not expected to ever again enjoy this great blessing.

Dodd's Kidney Pills having demonstrated their ability to grapple with Kidney Disease in its very worst form—Bright's Disease—can certainly be depended on to cure any of the lesser forms.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that has ever cured Bright's Disease

Every life is a work of art shaped by the man who lives it; according to the faculty of the artist will be the quality of his work, and no general rules can supply the place of his own direct perception at every turn. —Dickinson.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state or morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Disguise thyself as thou wilt, still, slavery, still thou art a bitter draught; and though thousands in all ages have been made to drink thee thou art no less bitter on that account.—Sterne.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Cures Dandruff.

A very poor sort of a man may be wealthy if he has the money.

When a tramp sees an axe it always gives him a splitting headache.

An epitaph on a man's tombstone never indicates that he was a bore.

Every man carries what he believes is a real secret. There are no real secrets.

The quarrels over "principle," are the meanest and most bitter in the world.

Satisfy some people and you are in wrong.

Some men succeed by ability and some rely on their nerve.

Women sometimes feel unworthy of their husbands—in novels.

Wise Ways of Women.

No "prizes" offered with common soaps will long tempt the wise woman to use common soaps. The wise woman soon sees she has to pay dearly for "prizes" in the low quality of soap, in the damage common soaps do her clothes and her hands. The wise woman considers her health—so soon ruined if she were to continue breathing the steam of adulterated common soaps. The wise woman recognizes the difference between such soaps and Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. 212

MARKET REVIEW.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Wheat—The wheat markets during the past week have been characterized by dullness in cash wheat, but at the same time a nervous, mostly active, and uncertain business in the September options in the American speculative markets. Old wheat in position for immediate delivery is comparatively scarce, and up till this week prices for it have kept up well. There is, however, a large crop of Spring wheat in the American and Canadian Northwest, a great deal of which is already saved in the southern districts, and with every day of good harvest weather now there is so much more made safe. The prospect of this large crop has prompted very free short selling by professionals in the speculative markets for future delivery, especially for the months of September and December, and this selling forward has pushed prices down to what seems unnecessary and unreasonable figures.

This week the market for Manitoba wheat has become completely stagnant. In the fore part of the week there was a little demand for wheat at Fort William, available to load on vessels at once, but towards the end of the week buyers had withdrawn altogether. Exporters have been out of the market for some time, and the little that has been shipping has been to the Ontario trade. Evidently this trade is getting alarmed by the drop in cash wheat in the states and the low prices for future delivery, and are quitting taking more in the meantime. Prices at the beginning of the week were 73½c for 1 northern, in store Fort William, and 71⅞c for No. 2 northern; and several smaller lots were worked at these prices. Friday, however, so depressed had things become that 1 northern was offered at 73c, and 2 northern at 71c, without finding buyers. No business to report in new wheat yet. Value of 1 northern September delivery in store Fort William is supposed to be 68c.

At Liverpool on Saturday No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at 6s 3 3-8d.

OATS—Now that new stocks are close at hand the country seems to be full of old oats, and there has been a sharp decline in price. It is doubtful if No. 1 white oats could be sold today for more than 35c per bushel in car lots. The oat market has been held up to an abnormal level by a combination of circumstances which are now rapidly disappearing. The partial failure of the eastern crops and the failure of the United States corn crop last year were the leading factors and had a decided influence upon oat prices here. The war in South Africa and consequent demand for oats there was also an important influence. These factors will not be in evidence when the next crop is marketed, but on the contrary there will be a large eastern and United States crop of oats and corn to compete with. The effect of this must inevitably be to lower the price. Local feed dealers are mostly loaded up with oats, and are not anxious to buy, and there is but little demand for shipment. For No. 2 white oats, the price today on track, Winnipeg, or in store, Fort William, is nominally 35c per bushel; and for feed grades 32 to 33c per bushel.

BARLEY—There is practically nothing doing in barley. Some inferior quality stuff was offered in Winnipeg last week without finding buyers. buyers. About 35 to 36c per bushel for carlots on track is about the prevailing price.

HAY—New hay is plentiful. We quote $6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 10 to 45c per pair, alive; fowl, 70 to 75c; ducks and geese, 9c per pound; turkeys, 11c, live weight.

BUTTER—Creamery— Receipts are moderately large and demand good. Prices hold steady at 16½c to 17c pound for choice quality f.o.b. factory points.

BUTTER —Dairy—Dealers are paying 13c per pound for choicest dairy in tubs or boxes, and from that figure the market ranges down to 10c per pound for low grades, all commission basis.

CHEESE—The market is firmer and higher. For best makes as high as 9½c per pound is being paid in a wholesale way, and the range is from 9 to 9½c.

EGGS—Fresh case eggs are worth 14c per dozen delivered in Winnipeg.

DRESSED MEATS—Beef, 6½ to 7c; veal, 8 to 9c; mutton, 8c; lamb, 12½c and hogs, 8½ to 9c.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6¾c; No. 2, 5¾; No. 3, 4¾c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horsehides, 50c to $1.

WOOL—Manitoba clip, delivered in Winnipeg, 6½c per pound.

SENECA ROOT—Contrary to expectations the price for seneca has advanced, and the price for best root delivered in Winnipeg is 45c per pound. Inferior grades are quoted 1 to 3c less.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie's Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure.
Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR.
Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

It is poor economy to buy ordinary tea when Blue Ribbon Ceylon can be had at a reasonable price.

HOW IS YOUR LIVER?
USE

BEECHAM'S PILLS

For Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Fulness and Swelling after meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c. The First Dose will give Relief in Twenty Minutes. This is no fiction. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be "WORTH A GUINEA A BOX." BEECHAM'S PILLS, taken as directed, will quickly restore Females to complete health. They promptly remove any obstruction or irregularity of the system. For a

Weak Stomach; Impaired Digestion; Disordered Liver

they act like magic—a few doses will work wonders upon the Vital Organs; Strengthening the muscular system; restoring the long-lost Complexion; bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the Rosebud of Health the whole Physical Energy of the human frame. These are "facts" admitted by thousands, in all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the Nervous and Debilitated is that Beecham's Pills have the largest Sale of any Patent Medicine in the World. Full directions with each box.

Prepared only by THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, England.

Sold Everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes, 25c.

GOLD STANDARD is the money standard of the world.

GOLD STANDARD TEA is the standard in TEA.— It's perfection

GASOLINE ENGINES

MINING MACHINERY AND STEAM PUMPS

ENGINES AND BOILERS, STATIONARY AND PORTABLE.

SAW, LATH AND SHINGLE MILL MACHINERY.

HAND AND STEAM LAUNDRY MACHINERY.

TINSMITH, BLACKSMITH AND CARPENTERS TOOLS.

FULL LINE OF MACHINE SUPPLIES.

THE A. R. WILLIAMS MACHINERY CO.,
LIMITED.
Toronto, - - - - - Ontario.

Do not act as if thou wast going to live ten thousand years. Death hangs over thee. While thou livest, while it is in thy power, be good.—Marcus Aurelius.

We have not always an opportunity of doing great things; but we can hourly perform insignificant actions with an ardent love.—St. Francis of Sales.

"Ah There, Girls!"

Do you know why you are like LUCINA Cigars? Tell us quick. Because you are always the same, sweet and good.

MANUFACTURED BY
GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

Wilson's Fly Pads

The Original and only Genuine

INSIST ON WILSON'S

W. N. U. No. 391.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

Without discretion, learning is pedantry and wit impertinence; virtue itself looks like weakness; the best parts only qualify a man to be more sprightly in errors and active to his own prejudice.—Addison.

People who use religion as a cloak in this world will doubtless manage to keep warm in the next without a cloak.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for :—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING :

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " " "	12.00
Fourteen " " "	14.00
Sixteen " " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS.
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30. 1902.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION.

THE provincial government has redeemed its promise which called for the appointment of a royal commission of enquiry into the causes leading up the catastrophe of the Coal Creek collieries. The commission has issued, and the date for its first sitting has been announced for Monday, September 8th, to be held in Fernie.

Not only is the government to be congratulated upon the promptitude with which it has moved in this matter, but also for the admirable choice it has made in the selection of commissioners. John Bryden, the chairman or president of the commission, is one of the best informed mining men in the province, having had charge for a number of years of the Dunsmore collieries on Vancouver island. John Bryden has many good qualities of heart and head which eminently fit him for his place on the present commission. He will doubtless be considered the representative of the collieries.

The second commissioner named is Tully Boyce. Boyce is a man who understands the question from the miner's point of view, an understanding that has been borne in upon him as the result of years of experience as an underground miner. He is in a sense one of the leaders of the miners of Vancouver island, and on one or two occasions went down to defeat as a labor candidate in provincial contests. In this connection it is worthy of note that Messrs. Bryden and Boyce were once opposing candidates.

The third commissioner is P. S. Lampman. He is a rising young lawyer, of Victoria, and will take care of the legal end of the business of the commission.

The commission has serious business before it, and it is safe to say that by the time it has concluded its labors the people of the province will have a very good idea as to the fearful disaster on May last, and that this knowledge will ensure to the miners working in the collieries a greater degree of protection.

It goes without saying that the proceedings of the commission will be followed with interest, and its sittings will doubtless be used as fishing grounds for evidence to be used in the numerous actions for damages which have been started against the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company by the next of kin of the colliery victims. This, however, is but an incidental feature, and important though it be that the responsibility be fixed for the great loss of life, it is of much vaster importance that the government be put in possession of the knowledge necessary for the framing of statutory regulations for the working of collieries which shall set human life above corporation profits.

LEADER BORDEN'S VISIT.

R. L. BORDEN, leader of the Conservative party in the House of Commons, has made arrangements to visit British Columbia next week, in company with a number of silver-tongued orators. The Conservative chieftains will probably be disappointed with the party muster. In British Columbia, the corporation counsel, who invariably come to the front to do the talking on field days, has practically put the grand old party out of business. In British Columbia the growth of the party has stopped. The young men of the province now hesitate to cast in their lots with it. This is especially so in the mining centres.

There was a time when the Conservative party united the manufacturers and wage-earners. It can now claim but a remnant of either party in their allegiance to it. A considerable portion of the manufacturers was won over by the Liberals in exchange for tariff considerations, and so far as the wage-earning portion of the party's following is concerned it has been alienated by the utter indifference of the leaders at Ottawa, and by the open hostility in many cases of the self constituted leaders in local centres.

If the leaders of the Conservative party in the House of Commons are anxious to recover the ground the party has lost in British Columbia during the last few years, and to stop the dry rot which is gradually consuming it, they must give a little more attention to the needs of the province. In the first place they must do something to secure for British Columbia the same measure of protection upon what it produces as they have insisted the province shall pay upon what it consumes. This means a duty upon lead and its manufactures which will secure to the lead producers of the province the market of the Dominion. This is one issue upon which the Conservative leader would be able to unite almost the entire people of the province.

Having done this steps should be taken to put the machinery of the party through out the province in proper hands. What is wanted is men in the little positions who will do what they can to advance the interests of the party. In the past the sole aim appears to have been the advancement of the individual at the expense of the party. It is hardly likely that any disinterested member of the Conservative party would for one moment agree that the party welfare would be promoted by an alliance with the remnant of the family compact at Victoria, known throughout the province as "Turnerites." Yet this is just what some reputed Conservative leaders are endeavoring to bring about in order that they may be permitted to remain in office for a little longer time.

That some such alliance might be patched up is very probable. It would most certainly result for a time in giving the province a nominally Conservative government, and the party leader might go back east and with truth say that he had swung British Columbia back into the Conservative column ; but the Conservative party would never get through paying the price for such folly. To root our Turnerism the electors of all shades of politics joined hands. They won't stand for anything that savors of its restoration, and Conservatives will do Borden a kindness to tell him so.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS,
BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

Many PRESCRIPTIONS are filled here daily, and our stock of being constantly renewed, is ever fresh. Each drug will act as expected by the physician because pure and efficient.

DRUGS

The compounding of medicine is done by experienced clerks, and we guarantee accuracy.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post on the west bank of the Elk River, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, forty (40) chains north, thence (20) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains south, thence forty (40) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains north, thence forty (40) chains west, thence eighty (80) chains south thence eighty (80) chains east, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
JAS. A. RENNIE.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.
Dated August 28, 1902. 191 8

NOTICE.

NOTICE is heredy given that I, G. C. Foss, 60 days after date intend to apply to the chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 160 acres of land more or less on the west bank of Elk River, commencing at a post marked northeast corner of Jas. A. McDonell's purchase, thence running west 40 chains, thence north 40 chains, thence east 40 chains more or less to the west bank of Elk River, thence southerly along said west bank of Elk River 40 chains more or less to the point of beginning.
Dated this 30th day of June, 1902.
G. O. FOSS.

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

DON'T YOU NEED SOME

FLOOR OILS
LINOLEUM.

If you do, call and let us show you our nice assortment of patterns which we have just imported direct from the manufacturers.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry,
We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —

Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

PLANTS FOR SALE

A number of beautiful house plants for sale at reasonable prices. Apply to
MRS. KATHARINE McKAY.
This side of bridge, near Mott's mill.
5-4t

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Harry Lindley Co. left Friday morning for Cranbrook.

C. W. Laidley moved into the stand in the Cuthbert block on Thursday.

The building formerly occupied by P. Joyce has been moved to the north end of Victoria Ave.

Rev. G. M. Campbell and wife, of St. John, N.B., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Bonnell this week. Mrs. Campbell is a sister of Mrs. Bonnell.

Coal oil has been struck on the new townsite at Morrissey and several applications have been entered for licenses to to prospect.

Fred Vance returned from the east Thursday morning. Mrs. Vance accompanied him back as far as Wolsley, Assa., where she will visit for a few days before returning to Fernie.

The lacrosse boys are making arrangements to have Miss Pauline Johnson, the famious elocutionist, give a recital here shortly. The boys are in need of money and the citizens of the town should help them out by patronizing the entertainment.

The Granby smelter, Grand Forks, after a two weeks' close down owing to the coal famine, resumed operations on Monday. Only two furnaces are treating ore but two additional furnaces will be blown in within a week. Coke from the Crow's Nest company's mine is being received daily.

Messrs. F. and E. Stephens received the sad intelligence on Sunday of the death of their father in Methven, Man. Mr. Stephens had just returned from a trip to Ontario, when he was suddenly stricken down. His sons left immediately for their old home to attend the funeral. Jas. Miller is acting as station agent during the absence of Mr. F. Stephens.

The Harry Lindley Co. gave four performances in Princess Hall this week and considering the scarcity of money prevailing around town they played to remarkable good house. Harry Lindley fully sustained the reputation he has made all over America for being a first-class comedian. The company put up good clean entertainments, which were well attended by the concert-going people of the town. During their stay here they played, Monday evening, Tennyson's "Dora"; Tuesday evening, "Little Lord Fauntleroy"; Wednesday evening, "Nance, the Waif of the Mines," and on Thursday the famous "David Harum."

Frank is making preparations for a monster demonstration on Sept. 10th. As yet the program has not been definitely arranged, but the general plans of the committee, if they can be arranged are to have the tie in the Crow's Nest Lacrosse League between Lethbridge and Fernie played there; the champions of Medicine Hat wil be asked to cross sticks with the Victoria lacrosse team of Frank; the as yet unbeaten Cranbrook baseball players and a combination from Frank and Pincher Creek will battle for supremacy on the baseball diamond, and Lethbridge will play a return football match with Frank. In addition there will be a full list for jumpers, runners and other athletes, and a gold medal will be given to the best all-round man in these games.

During the strike the importance of having some other industry besides coal mining for the community to depend on was made apparent to all. The lumbering industry, although only in its infancy, did much toward tiding the business men of the town over the hard times, and it is with a great deal of pleasure that the citizens of the town watch its growth. The Cedar Valley Improvement Co. commenced shipping lumber last week. The large mill which has been in course of erection for several weeks is not yet completed, but the small mill is cutting about 10,000 feet a day. The plant when completed will be the largest sawmill concern in the province east of Nelson, having the capacity of some 40,000 feet a day. The main building, which is being erected under the supervision of John Craigie, contractor, of Ottawa, is two stories, 128 x 32. The machinery which is now being put in position consists of 1 large circular saw with top saw, slash tables, trimmer tables, twin engine, a pair of cylinders for cutting logs, edger, a large trimmer saw, besides a well equipped planing outfit. The machinery will be operated by a 120 horse power engine with two boilers of 75 horse power each. When in full blast the mill will employ about thirty men. The company consists of H. Bentley, H. A. Kanouse and H. Lever, all well-known in Fernie. They are men who have made money in Fernie and have confidence enough in the town to invest it again. They possess one of the best timber limits in the province, having a supply which it is estimated will last at least twelve years.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce
HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.
Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000
HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.
Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.
FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Frank will play the return lacrosse match with Fernie on Monday next at 2:30 p m. Admission to grounds 25 cts.

The first issue of the Nelson Weekly Tribune appeared on Saturday last. It was a very creditable issue.

Complaints are heard on all sides of the conduct of several ruffians who attended the Harry Lindley Co's. concerts this week. The manager of the hall is determined that this sort of thing shall cease and anyone indulging in such conduct in the future will be prosecuted.

The Associated Builders of Michel will give a ball on Monday evening next (Labor Day) in the new store. Every preparation is being made to give visitors from Fernie a good time. The ball is free and all are welcome. Music will be furnished by a first-class orchestra from Fernie and the committee in charge promise all who attend an enjoyable evenin. Refreshments will be served.

Little Kennedy McAuley had the misfortune to have several fingers badly mangled in the spokes of a bicycle on Tuesday last. The little fellow was taken to the hospital where Dr. Bonnell attended to his injuries. This accident coming as it did, just after the terrible accident to his father, Mr. John McAuley, has almost prostrated Mrs. McAuley. Troubles never seem to come singly, and this poor woman certainly seems to be getting her share. Later—On Thursday it was found necessary to amputate the injured fingers at the first joint. The little fellow is now doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. Frederick Keffer, General Manager and Chief Engineer of the British Columbia Copper Co., of Greenwood, B.C., was in town for several days this week on business in connection with the supply of coke for the Greenwood smelter. Mr. Keffer is one of the most important mining men in British Columbia. He has made the famous Mother Lode mine, of Greenwood, one of the best paying investments in the province. He bought the property when it was only a prospect, paying some $12,000 for it. The property is now estimated to be worth $7,000,000. It is estimated that $600,000 has been spent in development work. The mines are worked in the most modern way and ore is laid down at the smelter at a cost of 75 cents a ton. Mr. Keffer is on his way to New York, where he will spend several weeks.

Postmaster Johnson is threatened with a suit for damages, and thereon hangs rather a strange story. Several weeks ago a man from Morrissey called at the Fernie post office and asked for mail for T. J. Kenny and upon being handed a letter said that Kenny was dead and that the letter should be sent to the dead letter office. The man was very positive in his statement about Kenny, saying he had seen his grave at Morrissey just the day before. Mr. Johnson accordingly marked deceased upon the letter and it was returned to Kenny's father in Elmvale, Ont. Upon receipt of the letter the father wired Mr. Johnson for particulars of his son's death, but upon enquiry at the coal company's office and the hospital he could learn nothing and wired Mr. Kenny to that effect. The father was not yet satisfied and a week or so later paid Fernie a personal visit, whereupon diligent enquiry he learned that his son was alive and well. The father now demands some remuneration from Mr. Johnson for the expense he incurred upon his trip to Fernie.

FRUIT....
Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.
VEGETABLES
Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.
....Cuthbert's

A. H. CREE RealEstate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

We Want Your Trade
and we are confident that we can make it to your advantage to deal at the
New Furniture Store
We are willing to
BUY
SELL OR EXCHANGE
Secondhand Furniture and Stoves.
We have a full stock of new goods which we will sell at close rates. Give us a call.
B.C. FURNITURE CO

Jarvis Keeps The Best
GROCERIES
Canned Fish
Canned Meats
Canned Fruits
Canned vegetables
All kinds of Teas
Coffees, etc.
Everything in the Grocery line.
J. F. Jarvis

ENVELOPES...
FOR LADIES' USE
are made in such a variety of tints and dainty shapes that one can get almost any shape desired.
The assortment here certainly permits of a pleasing choice. Everything that's correct style is in our stock.
OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES, also, we have a full line. Call on us when in want of INK, PAPER, PENS, ETC., ETC.
Fernie Drug Store.

Housekeepers!
The London & Liverpool Co. have the Greatest display of Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Lace Curtains and Linens ever Shown in B.C.
Carpets
Unions all-wool, Axministers, Brussels, Tapestry, Velvets, with a grand line of Wool, Brussels and Tapestry Art Squares.
Linoleum and Oil Cloth
Tile and Carpet Patterns in all the new colorings, 6 to 12 feet wide.
Lace Curtains
400 pair to select from, prices ranging from 50 cts. to $10.
Rugs In this department it is worth your while to visit even should you not buy. Such a grand collection never shown in the west.
THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

You know you want a Fishing Rod. The Bristol's JUST THE THING.
BUY
Ask us to show you one. It will please you MUCH...
THE "BRISTOL"
Cheaper ones too, if you want them...
ROD
EVERYTHING in fishing TACKLE...

IT POSSESSES THE PECULIARity of combining the good qualities of both an outside and an inside varnish, while being entirely free from their faults.
IT BRUSHES EASILY, flows freely, dries well, is as durable as the best coach body varnishes, and has a brilliant finish which lasts. It will not crack, chip, turn white, bloom, crawl nor pit. It is designed for either interior or exterior use, on buildings, doors, furniture, bath rooms, and in fact anything and everything you wish to beautify or preserve by varnishing. As it thoroughly closes the pores of wood and metal againts disease germs, it is especially suitable for Hospitals, Public Buildings, Hotels, and wherever sanitary conditions are to be considered. It is put up in the following sized packages only, with brass seal. 1 gal., ½, and ¼ gal. cans, 1 pint, and ½ pint cans.
We have now in stock the GUNN SECTIONAL BOOK CASE; buy this in sections; as your books increase you can add to the case.
J. D. QUAIL..
Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B. C.
The new town at the terminus of the Crow's Nest Southern R'y. The great coal and coke industries of the Morrissey mines will insure its permanency.
Competing railway lines will give its business men low transportation rates.
LOTS NOW ON SALE.
MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"Mother, you must not hint at such a thing. I have unbounded faith in him, as I am sure he has in me. It is for his sake I am going, and, mother—forgive me—whatever you say or do, I shall go."

She could say nothing, and to close the matter I struck while the iron was hot and secured our passage that very afternoon, paying the deposit. Mr. Snuyzer's name was also down on the list of passengers, which was a comfort to me, for I saw that he was confident of success in his present mission. If he intercepted the yacht and rescued Willie, we need not start, mother and I, and I would gladly forfeit the deposit. What Willie would do there was no saying.

But the days passed, Friday, then Saturday, without one word of news. How I got through the time I can hardly say. Mother saw that I was wretched and, thinking I was fussing and fretting over our rash expedition, tried timidly—sweet mother!—to get me to give it up.

But I was only the more determined to go. The day wore on. I was hoping against hope, and in my own secret heart I was becoming terribly frightened, almost out of my wits, but I fought hard against that. I knew that if I gave way one little bit I should break down utterly.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE S. S. CHATTAHOOCHEE.

I never felt so deserted and forlorn as when I stood on the platform at Waterloo on the Sunday morning waiting for the special train for Southampton. There was a great mob of people crowding and clamoring around passengers and their friends to see them off—all strangers to me, many of them talking an uncouth, unintelligible language. The porters were too much overpowered with luggage to attend to me, and I had Roy to look after.

He was very fractious, dragging at his chain, yelping in short, angry snaps, with fierce shows of teeth, and keeping every one at a distance. I cannot say what I should have done but for the kindness of a man, a gentleman who spoke with a strong Yankee twang and who found us seats. He persuaded the guard to allow Roy to remain in the carriage with us, and the dog was for the moment good. I don't know why I burdened myself with him, but I clung to him feebly, desperately, for no other reason than that he was Willie's, the only real living link left me with my dear missing friend.

This new acquaintance was a youth, little more, in a straw hat and a light check suit; he wore no gloves and had a diamond ring on one finger and a great diamond brooch in his slipknot tie. He was not handsome, far from it—freckled face, red hair and ferrety eyes—and yet there were kindliness, good feeling, chivalry in his face, that many a better born gentleman might have envied him.

"Guess you're new to this kind of thing," he said affably as we started. "Never been across before?"

Mother frowned at me from her corner as though to check this forward stranger, but I was so sure he meant well and so grateful to him for his kindness that I smiled and let him talk on.

"You see, there are a lot of big toads in this puddle, and outsiders are left a long way behind. Quite a number of swells on board the train—dukes and duchesses, young millionaires, that Crœsus British captain."

My heart bounded at the names he mentioned, for I knew that he was referring to the conspirators, and I asked him, rather nervously, if he knew any of these people by sight. I dared not tell him, of course, how deeply they interested me.

"Why, certainly; the whole hypothec. There's the Duchess of Tierra Sagrada. The title is Spanish, not much, I take it, like their castles. But she's an amazing fine woman, tall and handsome. Reckon that's won her her duke. She was on the boards once—some Boston variety show. The duke's like a bit of dried root and black as sarsaparilla."

"And this millionaire?"

"Wood. You have heard of him. Is that so? The young English captain who got all the McFaught millions. I needn't show him you; guess you know him by sight?"

How was I to answer this most embarrassing question? Was it put quite innocently? Had this man any suspicion? I looked into his little pale blue eyes, but they never faltered, and I replied that, like the rest of the world, I had heard the story.

"He's no great shakes, you'll say, not for a British officer. Don't fit his fortune quite. It's a good deal to live up to."

When the train ran into Southampton and we left it for the wharf where lay the little tender that was to convey us to the big liner, Mr. Rossiter (my new friend's name) showed us the people he had named. We were crowded now into a narrow space, and sat almost in each other's pockets. It was easy to make out every one, and I soon learned all I wanted to know.

First, there was the arch impostor, the villain who was masquerading as my dear Willie Wood. I saw a short, thickset, vulgar looking man, very much overdressed, smoking a long cigar, holding his head high, as though arrogance and hauteur were in his part. He was not alone; his two companions, the only persons to whom he spoke, were the Duke and Duchess of Tierra Sagrada, as my friend whispered me.

I confess I stared at them with all my eyes, my heart beating tumultuously. If I only knew what they did! They had been with Willie—were the last to see him, probably, in the Victoria dock.

The man, a small man, thin, twisted, snakelike, and venomous, was no doubt the ringleader, one of the prime movers in the plot. As I looked at his dark, sallow face, heavy, brooding, with dull, savage, bloodshot eyes, I trembled to think I might have to measure strength with him—that I, a weak, helpless woman, might be called upon to unmask him, and bring him to account. What chance should I have alone against these unscrupulous, murderous, coldly deliberate villains?

I got some little comfort, however, from my examination of the woman. Duchess or no duchess, accomplice and confederate or hapless tool, willing or constrained, I knew that within her poor means she had been kind to Willie, and would have helped him if she could. She was not wholly bad, I felt sure. A handsome woman, undoubtedly; very tall, with a fine figure and a beautiful face, although with a sad, worn, anxious expression—the face of one who had known some trouble. Was she vexed, harassed, tortured perchance, by a past that was irrevocable, at present hateful and intolerable, which she was powerless to mend? There could be but little sympathy between her and her husband. They hardly spoke to each other; when they did, the man seemed to snarl, and if she answered at all, it was only in sullen monosyllables. When the false Willie Wood addressed her, which he did from time to time with an air of easy familiarity, she disdained to reply at all. It was clear the conspirators were not a happy family.

While I sat looking intently at these people and engrossed with very serious thoughts, I was disturbed by Fanshawe, my maid, who came up and said, in a very fretful, disappointed tone:

"Please, Miss Frida, I'm worrited to death with this tiresome dog. Whatever made you bring him is more than I can say. I can do nothing with him."

Roy had been pretty good till now, and when we got on board the tender I handed him over to Fanshawe. He had followed her very obediently from the train to the quayside, but when once embarked had shown the most unaccountable restlessness. He began questing about the deck, dragging Fanshawe after him, for he had great strength and, besides, he growled so threateningly that she was forced to give in to him. When I took him in hand he displayed the same restlessness. At last, in despair, she appealed to me.

I again took the leash out of her hand and tried to pacify him. As a rule I could manage him. He had taken to me long before, in the early days of our acquaintance, and now, since Willie was gone, he transferred his affection, as I hoped, to me. But now I had lost all control over him. He would not keep quiet, still much less crouch down at my feet. He disdained to obey. I tried all ways with him—spoke to him softly and sweetly, scolded him and cuffed him, but all to no purpose. He stood away from me at the longest distance his chain would allow, as if we were utter strangers and his only idea was to break entirely away at the very first chance.

Then, just as our tender ran alongside the great liner, and I was occupied with mother and all our belongings, he made one great snatch at his chain. It slipped through my fingers and in an instant he was gone. He ran forward to the bows of the tug, and I could hear him raging furiously along the deck through the throng with loud, quite joyous yelps, as eager as if he was rounding up a flock of scattered sheep on the mountain home of his ancestors.

In the end I saw him crossing the gangway at the fore part—that put down for the second cabin passengers. He was thrusting his way through them noisily, and was one of the earliest at the ladder, which he ran up, to disappear hastily into the big ship.

Directly I had installed mother into a snug place in the music room and set Fanshawe to unpack I made inquiries for the dog.

[CONTINUED.]

Streets of New York.

If the streets of New York city were placed end to end, they would reach from Long Island sound to San Francisco bay.

Baked Beans.

Half a tablespoonful of mustard mixed with the water poured over beans in the baking gives a fine flavor and makes the beans more easily digested.

UNCLE ELI'S FABLES.

Why the Goat and the Wolf Failed to Come to an Understanding.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

The Wolf, having made up his mind that he would eat the Goat, left his lair in the forest and made his way to the farmyard, where he soon espied the Goat lying on the roof of a shed.

"I have come," began the Wolf, "to propose a truce between us. I can see no reason why we should be enemies."

"Not a reason," replied the Goat though he knew of a dozen.

"We could have lots of fun playing together."

"Heaps of fun."

"And you could wander in the greenwood any time, and I could come here and feel at home."

"I'm on to all you say."

"But that there may be no cause for distrust between us," continued the

HE ESPIED THE GOAT LYING ON THE ROOF.

Wolf as he smiled in a guileless way, "I have a suggestion to make. I will have my teeth pulled out, and you shall have your horns sawed off."

"That's the ticket, and I'm agreeable," replied the Goat.

"That's what I expected from a fair minded Goat like you. Will you now ask your master to use the saw on your horns?"

"After he has knocked your teeth out with the ax."

"But I am willing you should have the first show."

"And I feel that way toward you."

"You seem to mistrust me," said the Wolf as he began to bristle up.

"And you to doubt me," replied the Goat as he rattled his horns.

"Say, now, but you can't work me for a flat!"

"And I'm no tenderfoot!"

"You hypocrite!"

"You villain!"

Moral.—It's the other fellow who ought to let us take advantage of him.

M. QUAD.

A Fair Divide.

"The American publisher is supposed to be a very thrifty person," said the Bostonian who had been making a European trip, "but in Paris I came across an instance to prove that the Yankee isn't in it. I was stopping at a hotel where a workman was sent for to solder a leaking water pipe, and he had only got to work when he fell dead of heart disease. It was a matter of two hours before his body was discovered, and it had hardly been taken away before the plumber sent in his bill. He had tacked on for the two hours that the man lay dead in the house! The landlord refused to pay, and the case went to court, and the verdict was:

"'As neither the employer nor the landlord was to blame for the man's dying when he did the bill for extra is to be reduced one-half.'"

Italian Assassins.

In Italy thirty persons out of 10,000 die by the assassin's knife.

His Genial Reception.

General Starr, a gallant old soldier, had an irrepressible dislike for young lieutenants fresh from West Point. In 1874 General Starr was in command at Fort Riley, and one day an orderly came to his quarters with the message that Lieutenant Morrison, just from West Point, was at the post ready to pay his respects and report for duty. In response to this message the old general was starting for his office, when his wife, a motherly old soul, plucked him by the sleeve and said, "Now, general, promise me that you won't be rough with that young man."

"Rough?" said the old man, smiling amiably upon his matrimonial companion. "Why, I'll be peaches and cream unless the young dog riles me."

Reaching his office, the general was confronted with a dapper little fellow as spick and span as though he had just come from the hands of his barber and tailor, while he had the half supercilious air that seems inseparable from the first stages of military education.

Looking the young lieutenant over for half a moment, the old general said with great dignity: "How do you do, Mr. Morrison. I am pleased to see you." Then as a flush gradually mounted over his weather beaten features he added: "I am always glad to see you young men from the Military academy. You—you—(here the general ended with a roar) you think yourself so hanged smart!"

FALL PLANTING.

For Strawberries It Gives Good Results With Intensive Culture.

Although not to be generally recommended, the fall planting of strawberries can sometimes be used with good results, say the horticulturists of the Michigan station, but in order to succeed special pains must be taken both with the soil and plants. In the states farther south, where the seasons of growth will be considerably longer, this method of growing strawberries is preferred to planting in the spring. In seasons when the weather is moist during August and September very good results can be obtained in Michigan, but if drought prevails there is danger of a check to the plants, and this will result disastrously.

Upon soil that will not suffer seriously from drought or where water can be applied the fall setting will give good results. As the season of growth will be comparatively short at best, the soil should be thoroughly prepared and enriched. The plants should be of some strong growing variety that will furnish large crowns and that are adapted to hill culture.

Unless water for irrigation is at hand the planting should be delayed until the ground has been well moistened by rain, but if possible the planting should be done before the 1st of September. Good results, however, can be secured if the plants are set out by the middle of September. The rows should be from two to two and a half feet apart and the plants ten inches in the rows. Even though the ground has been well enriched, it will be advisable to mulch the plants by spreading decomposed manure along each side of the rows.

The ground should be occasionally worked during the fall and up to the time of freezing weather so that it will be entirely free from weeds. The ground should then be mulched, and in the spring receive a shallow cultivation. It will be desirable to replace the mulch before the blossoms have opened, and unless the winter mulch is sufficient to cover the ground so as to keep down the weeds and conserve the moisture an additional amount should be employed.

This method of strawberry culture is not recommended for the general planter, but for the amateur and for the home garden, especially where the starting of a new plantation was neglected in the spring.

Relations of the San Jose Scale.

To the current number of The Canadian Entomologist Prof. King of Lawrence, Mass., has contributed a summary of the scale insects, with their localities, known in British America. It comprises 59 determined species. One species has been found only in the Yukon district, forty-eight in Ontario, thirteen in the Maritime Provinces, nine in Quebec and ten in western Canada. As to localities, Ottawa takes the lead, doubtless because that is Dr. Fletcher's hunting ground, while London comes next, probably owing to the industry of Prof. Dearness, after whom two of the new species are named.

The scale insects form an extensive order. They are generally minute, and to the unpracticed eye many of them so much resemble each other as to be mistaken for the same species. It may be noted that they are all parasitic insects, feeding upon the juices of living plants. Of the fifty or sixty Canadian species, native or introduced, only five or six have proved themselves seriously destructive to fruit trees. The best known of these are the notorious San Jose scale, the oyster form scale, the scurfy bark louse, the oyster shell bark louse, the plum scale, and to these may be added the woolly scale of the maple. The only useful species known is the cochinel insect, a scale that lives on the cactus in tropical America, and which yields the carmine dyes.

Harder to Say No Than Yes.

He was a most worthy young man, with a fondness for discussing sociological and moral questions, and once started on his hobby he could scarcely be headed in any other direction. He had been quite devoted in his attention to one young woman for as much as six months, but she had been unable to bring him to his senses, though she was willing to confess that she had tried repeatedly to do so. Of course she had done it in the delicate ways women have in those matters, but what he needed was a club.

Not a great while ago he was calling as usual, and as usual he was neglecting sentiment for something that only made a girl tired. This time he was moralizing on the temptations of life and the proneness of people to yield without making the proper effort against them in whatever form they might appear.

"However," he said in conclusion, displaying a commendable spirit of charity for the weak, "it is a very difficult thing for any one to say 'No.'"

Here was an unexpected chance for her.

"And conversely," she responded slowly so he could get the full force of it, "it should be very easy for one to say 'Yes.'"

He looked her straight in the eyes at last, and a hush fell upon the scene.

"Um-er-um," he hesitated, "Miss Kate, am I a chump?"

"It is very difficult for one to say 'No,'" she said with a pretty little smile, and later she found it quite easy to say "Yes."

The greater a man is the less disposed he is to show his greatness. True nobility of soul rises above and suppresses the love of show.—W. E. Channing.

THEY NEVER FAIL — Mr. S. M. Broughner, Langton, writes: "For about two years I was troubled with Inward Piles, but by using Parmelee's Pills I was completely cured, and although four years have elapsed since then they have not returned." Parmelee's Pills are anti-bilious and a specific for the cure of Liver and Kidney Complaints, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Headache, Piles, etc., and will regulate the secretions and remove all bilious matter.

Women would soon tire of men if men were as good as they think men should be.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

If we cannot lay the foundation, it is something to clear away the rubbish, if we cannot get up truth, it is something to pull down error.—Macaulay.

A fool and her money are soon courted.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Cure all the Ills of Little Babies and Big Children.

This medicine is good for all children, from the feeblest infant, whose life seems to hang by a thread, to the sturdy boy whose digestive apparatus occasionally gets out of order. There is no stomach or bowel trouble that Baby's Own Tablets will not speedily remove and promptly cure, and do it in a natural way, as the medicine is guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. Experienced mothers everywhere praise Baby's Own Tablets above all medicines. Mrs. James A. Wilson, Wyoming, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for both my children, and consider them indispensable in any home where there are young children. One of my children was very fretful, and I always found the Tablets comforting, and a splendid regulator of the stomach and bowels. I think the Tablets have been the means of promoting many a sound night's rest for both myself and children."

Children take these tablets as readily as candy, and crushed to a powder they can be given with absolute safety to the youngest, weakest infant. You can get the Tablets from any dealer in medicines, or post paid at 25 cents a box, by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

There is no lot in life so stern and cold and hard but it has somewhere a warm and secret corner where the human affection can blossom.—Jefferson.

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentry Cordial is a speedy cure for dysentry, diarrhoea, cholera, summer complaint, sea sickness and complaints incidental to children teething. It gives immediate relief to those suffering from the effects of indiscretion in eating unripe fruit, cucumbers, etc. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to conquer the disease. No one need fear cholera if they have a bottle of this medicine convenient.

A man's second love nearly always owns more property than his first one.

No matter how tight a girl's shoes are she never likes to acknowledge the corn.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B.C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur.

The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases.

Its Waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic Troubles.

Are you going to start a Newspaper?

¶ Then write to us for prices and terms upon TYPE, MATERIAL and MACHINERY.

¶ We carry the only stock in the Northwest, and can furnish complete Job and Newspaper Plants at short notice; also Ready-Prints in all sizes and styles.

Toronto Type Fdry Co'y, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

136

M'NICOLL'S ESTIMATE

GENERAL MANAGER OF THE C. P. R. SAYS THERE WILL BE 60,000,000 BUSHELS

THE HAY CROP IS ENORMOUS—BIG TRADE DOING IN SHIPPING CATTLE.

"Well posted people claim that there will be 60,000,000 bushels of wheat as a result of the present harvest, and this will be equal to an increase of 15 per cent, over last year." This was the answer given by D. McNicoll, general manager of the C. P. R., to one of the first questions put to him on his return to Montreal from a tour of inspection over the main line to the coast, the Crow's Nest railway and several of the company's branch lines Mr. McNicoll declared that the crop was practically saved, and he was sure it would be a banner year. Before he left the province of Manitoba wheat had been cut on high and particularly dry land, and he believed that by the middle of next week harvesting would be general in the province as well as in the Territories.

Speaking of the excellent quality of the season's wheat, Mr. McNicoll said that in some places there was probably a falling off in the quantity of straw, but the ears are large and particularly well filled out. There cannot, he added, be any question as to the excellent condition of the country, as there are still one million to two million bushels of last year's wheat in the province, and this, together with the present bumper yield, will answer for the future financial position of the Canadian Northwest, both in the province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories.

"Will there be sufficient harvesters offering to gather the crop in good time?"

Mr. McNicoll replied that the company had every reason to hope that there would be sufficient hands to do the work.

As for ability of the C. P. R. to provide transportation facilities, Mr. McNicoll fully believed that the company would be able to move the crop as it was offered. The company has been steadily engaged since last fall preparing cars and locomotives for the work this year. In fact it had employed all the men available, besides securing a good deal of rolling stock outside of Canada.

The hay crop, Mr. McNicoll proceeded to say, had been enormous, and there had been enough grass to feed ten times the number of cattle now on the ranches. Already the cattle are being exported, as he saw many stock trains en route. These, he added, are all forwarded right through by rail, and at one or two points they are removed from the cars, fed and rested, and rushed along again.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The Cunard line has not entered the Atlantic steamship trust.

Mr. J. J. Hill will establish a gigantic steel plant at Great Falls, Mont.

French capitalists are seeking investments in Western Canada's lands.

The Shamrock lacrosse club of Winnipeg will next year challenge for the Minto cup

The members of the Winnipeg Grain exchange have decided to purchase a site for a new building.

Thomas Hunt, a sectionman, was killed by a C. P. R. engine west of Rat Portage on August 20.

Charles Edwards has been sentenced in Toronto to two years in the penitentiary for counterfeiting.

Eight Sisters of the Holy Name of Jesus and Mary, have left Montreal to open an institution in Winnipeg.

British Columbia collieries may have to close because of the loss of the Californian market, due to the adoption of petroleum as fuel.

The Canadian authorities have decided to put in force the law prohibiting the landing of persons suffering from loathsome diseases, dangerous or infectious diseases.

Joseph Shirk, the inventor of the revolver, is dead.

General Cronje has sailed from St. Helena, for South Africa.

A dispatch says the deaths from plague are increasing in India.

Eight men were killed and six others are missing as the result of an explosion in a paper mill at Wilmington, Del.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Four Casualties Near Rosthern From Two Bolts.

Two fatal accidents caused by lightning have been reported within the last few weeks at Rosthern. The first in the Fish Creek district, where three Galician settlers were instantly killed. The other caused the death of a young Mennonite near Hague.

MARRIED LATE IN LIFE.

Hypolite Bontin, aged 72 years, was married at Arthabaskaville, Que., on August 20 to Miss Adeline Desharnais, aged 76. Their friends tried to dissuade them from taking the step, but they threatened to elope.

The aged spinster said she never had loved before. The couple are stooped under the burden of age, but were lighthearted when united in the bonds of matrimony.

THE WOOD BUFFALO.

Probably the most interesting animal on the American continent is, or was, the buffalo or bison, both because of the vastness of its numbers, the wideness of its range, its utility to savage and civilized man, and its rapid disappearance. The buffalo ranged over the whole of the great east of the Rocky Mountains from the Gulf of Mexico to Great Slave Lake. Up to 1880 they were counted in millions, and in 1885 they had become practically extinct. Indeed in all the vast region from the Saskatchewan river to the Gulf there is not to-day a living buffalo except in captivity. It has been generally taken for granted that the range of the buffalo was bounded on the north by the wooded region lying north of the Saskatchewan river, and that when they were cleared from the great plains no more remained. This is a mistake, and it is a peculiar fact that the only place where wild buffalo still remain is in a region which was supposed to be far beyond their utmost range and in a latitude it which it was not supposed that they could exist. Buffalo formerly existed on Peace river in large numbers, as their paths to water show and as history relates, but not within the past fifty years. It seems strange that buffalo should have survived far north of Peace river, possibly a hundred years after the last one had died in that favored region. But strange or not, the fact is that there still remain bands of buffalo aggregating from 200 to 300 head in the country about Salt river and west of the Great Slave river in latitude 60.

The Canadian government being aware of the existence of these bands some years ago passed a law to prevent their being killed for a term of years At the expiry of the term the prohibition was renewed and is still in force. Joseph Beaulieu, a leading man amongst the native people of the north, and a life-long resident of the country adjacent to the buffalo range, is now in Edmonton, says the Bulletin, having come south buffalo range, is now in Edmonton, chiefly to lay the facts of the case regarding the buffalo and the Indians respectively before the authorities. Mr. Beaulieu informed the Bulletin that the present range of the buffalo is the region lying about the upper waters of the Salt river, and west of Fort Smith, on Great Slave river. He describes the country as chiefly wooded, but with some prairie. The woods vary greatly in size and character In some places the woods are thick, but the greater part is small and light. There are intervals of prairie up to five miles or more in extent, and near the Salt river still larger stretches of flat open grass land. The buffalo range in small bands of twenty or thirty, and graze on the prairie, amongst the small woods, in the thick woods, or on the plains, as whim or the season directs In the summer they sometimes go into the thick woods to escape the bulldog flies, and in very stormy weather in winter they seek the same shelter. Possibly it is the variety of conditions of food and shelter which they find in the Salt river country that has preserved them so long. Of course they frequent the salt springs very greatly, especially in the early spring. Although the winter is severely cold they do not suffer from it, and are generally as fat or fatter in winter than in summer, as they are not bothered by the flies then. The snow seldom falls more than eighteen inches deep, it is never more than very slightly crusted, and the buffalo have no difficulty in nosing through the loose snow to the abundant grass. The Indians of that country have no horses; therefore they only hunt the buffalo on foot, much as they do moose Mr. Beaulieu has hunted them frequently in his younger days when the bands were more numerous than at present. Owing to the habits of the buffalo, the nature of the country, and the lack of improved weapons in the hands of the Indians there was never such wholesale slaughter as that which exterminated the buffalo of the Great Plains. Of recent years, before the law probibiting their killing was passed the Indians killed probably twenty or thirty in a season. Now they do not kill any, but notwithstanding the herds are diminishing from the ravages of wolves. The big timber wolves follow the buffalo all winter long on the lookout for stray animals. Of course, they do not attack the band, but an animal which is singled from the band cannot defend itself. Mr. Beaulieu has seen twenty wolves in a pack. He has seen remains of several carcasses of full grown buffalo which have been killed by wolves, and the Indians frequently report other instances. But the greatest loss of buffalo occurs during the summer. The calves are dropped in the spring, and are quite numerous in the herds in early summer, but by fall scarcely a young animal is seen. This means that the wolves are killing off the young ones and that there is no increase. In such cases there is no doubt that in a very few years, even if the Indians do not kill one, the herds will become extinct. The Indians complain of this. They think that as the herds are being destroyed by the wolves they might as well be allowed the benefit. It certainly seems hard that the buffalo should be protected from the Indians for the benefit of the wolves. A good bounty on wolves in that locality is an necessary to the preservation of the buffalo as the prohibition of killing by the Indians.

SAW MONSTER SEA-SERPENT.

Ottawa Citizen Tells of a Hideous Visitor, Sixty Feet Long in the Marguerite River.

Mr. Wood, of Gloucester street, Ottawa, who just returned from the vicinity of Seven Island, where he is employed in the construction of the pulp works on the Marguerite river, says he has always been skeptical regarding sea serpents and is yet, but there is no doubt whatever that there was something most unusual and extraordinary in the serpent seen disporting itself about Seven Islands. He said that at Seven Islands they have quite frequently seen whales and seals, but this was certainly nothing of so common a herd as that

The story as Mr. Wood gave it is that Dr. Dobbin, a practicing physician at Seven Islands, together with several foremen of the Seven Islands Pulp company, including Mr. Maurice Power, were out for a sail in a row boat, when suddenly they saw what they thought was the head of a seal appear above the surface. They commenced rowing towards it, when the head rose about fifteen feet out of the water, and finally the body of the monster appeared. They state that it was at least sixty or seventy feet long and possessed all the ugly and repellent features of the serpent tribe. As they advanced it began to lash the water into foam and curled itself up into hideous shapes. It advanced to meet them with open mouth and glistening fangs, but Mr. Power, who had a revolver, shot at it and it disappeared, only to rise again on the other side of the boat. Whether the shot Mr. Power fired took effect or not, is not known, but the monster disappeared and was not seen again. The truth of the story is confirmed by Dr. Dobbin and six other reliable persons, whose veracity, Mr. Wood says, cannot be doubted.

NO RUSH TO SOUTH AFRICA.

Lack of Workmen in the Mines is Causing Some Alarm.

A London cable says: There is a decided lack of public interest in the settlement and development of South Africa. The publication of a number of tentative schemes, official and otherwise, has not resulted thus far in any rush of emigrants. In fact, the United States embassy seems to have supplied the foreign office with a large proportion of the applicants for South African passes, many Americans having registered applications during the past week. None, however, could properly be classed as emigrants.

The pro-Boers are quite gleeful at the apparent fulfillment of their prophecies that the wages of the whites would be lower under British than under the Boer regime. The always acute problem of working the mines is now more difficult than ever. It is said that the supply of workmen is 200,000 short of the demand. The Kaffirs, like the Filipinos, are strongly disinclined to settle down to steady work after the comparatively large pay and easy life of army employment. The lack of agriculturalists is equally marked.

LEADS THE WORLD.

With the Colonies Her Total Trade Has Reached Seven Billions of Dollars.

The state department at Washington made public a report from United States Consul Winter at Annaberg, dated July 19, showing the commerce of the world for 1901, according to German statistics. The total import and export trade of all countries is given as approximately $23,800,000,000. Great Britain and her colonies head the list, with the great total of nearly seven billions of dollars. Germany is placed second, with $2,618,000,000, and the United States third, with $2,118,260,000.

OVERWHELMED BY LAVA.

A dispatch from Yohohama says: The little island of Torishima was overwhelmed by a volcanic eruption between Aug. 13 and 15. All the inhabitants, numbering 150 persons, were undoubtedly killed. The island is covered with volcanic debris and all the houses on it have disappeared. The eruption is still proceeding and is accompanied by submarine eruptions in the vicinity, which make it dangerous for vessels to approach the island.

Torishima is one of a chain of islands extending between the Bonin Islands and Hondo, the biggest island of Japan.

Alexander McLaren, M.P., who has just returned from England, says that the purchasing public there is giving Canadian goods the preference.

MET DEATH IN MIDAIR

LIFELESS BODY OF ALEXANDER T. McLEAN FOUND AMONG TELEPHONE WIRES.

HE IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN ELECTROCUTED BY A LIVE WIRE.

Alexander T. McLean, a lineman in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co., was found dead on August 22 hanging from a crossbeam on a telephone pole at the corner of Tache street and River avenue, Winnipeg. Two workmen, also employees of the company, were engaged in passing a wire to the unfortunate man, and on noticing that he stopped pulling on the line, looked up and were horrified to see his body hanging limp and lifeless ovec the beam. They immediately communicated with the head office regarding the ghastly find.

A live wire is run upon the pole near where the man was engaged, but as there are no marks upon the body that would indicate electrocution, the cause of death will probably not be learned until a coroner's inquest is head. Deceased, who resided on Ross street, leaves a wife and six children.

ATTACKS THE TRUSTS.

Russell Sage Says They are a Menace to Good Government.

Russell Sage, in an interview, referred to a published statement quoting J. Pierpont Morgan as saying that the era of great trusts had just begun, and that more gigantic corporations are planned in the near future, some of which may overshadow the steel trust. Mr. Sage said: "Whether Mr. Morgan said that or not, combinations of all industries are a menace to true government; not only so, but they are oppressors of the people."

"What will be the result of such an era?' asked the reporter.

"In such an event the American people will revolt against them, and there will be financial ruin the like of which this country has never seen, or any other."

It was suggested to Mr. Sage that there was a general opinion that combinations at certain times were good things for the country.

"Yes," Mr. Sage replied, "when several industries are starting out in business it is well for individuals to combine for mutual protection until the business is firmly established. When the business is so established the combination should be disrupted and conducted on individual lines.

"Then if one individual became embarrassed it would not mean the wrecking of the industry. I believe it is best to have such industries divided among several individuals than combined into one great combination, the embarrassment of which would mean the ruin of all."

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Horse stealing is causing much loss in Southern Assiniboia.

Sir Thomas Lipton was injured in an automobile accident near London.

Salt has been struck at Bird's Hill, Man., by oil well borers.

A store in Crystal City, Man., was robbed of $1,050 worth of goods on August 22.

Mrs. Harry Richardson, of Seldon, Man., near Minnedosa, expired mysteriously.

Lady Warwick has inherited a million dollars worth of lands by a bequest of the late Cecil Rhodes.

A four-story hotel building will be erected on McDermot avenue, Winnipeg, on property sold for $12,000.

Sevenoaks bye-election in England resulted in the election of a Conservative by a largely reduced majority.

Souris intermediate champion lacrosse players the Shamrocks, of Winnipeg, the senior champions. The St. Paul, Minn., team has challenged for the Drewry cup.

The Ogilvie Milling company will make extensive additions to its plant throughout the west.

The convention of the Epworth Leagues of the Dominion will be held in Winnipeg next month.

The attorney-general's department of Manitoba is investigating the alleged murder of a woman at Hun's Valley.

A crop statement issued by the Canadian Pacific railway company, show that out of 110 places heard from, but nine are unfavorable.

Andrew Carnegie has offered Dawson City a public library.

Mark McKevey and his daughter were drowned at Parry Sound, Ont., by the upsetting of a canoe.

W. L. Griffith, Canadian agent at Cardiff, Wales, says that the Welsh settlers from Patagonia are well pleased with their new home at Saltcoats.

AN AUTO ON THE PRAIRIE.

Preliminary Trial is Not a Success and Conveyance Has a Narrow Escape.

A rancher in the Calgary district recently got an idea that an automobile would be the proper thing for that part of the country. The rolling prairie would be just the place for it; so, before his enthusiasm had an opportunity to cool he placed his order. Anxiously he waited for the arrival of the machine, and when it was finally delivered he thought it best to give it a private trial before he proceeded to astonish the natives. Without unnecessary ostentation his preparations were made. His son and two women, one of them his wife, went with him. The son followed the automobile in a buckboard drawn by two mustangs. The owner of the new automobile wanted to have a horseful conveyance near at hand in case anything happened to the horseless contrivance. In making a short-cut across the country road the automobile became stuck in a muddy hollow, into which the recent heavy rains had been drained. The motor chugged and puffed and the inflated wheels revolved slipperily, but the auto could not climb out.

RESORT TO HORSES.

"We'll have to hitch the mustangs in front and yank this thing out by main strength," said the owner. Accordingly the double-trees were taken from the buckboard and fastened to the front of the auto; the mustangs were hooked up and the owner took hold of the hitching straps and implored the horses to come ahead. They pulled in a desultory and irresolute manner, and the auto simply waggled in the mud.

"I'll tell you what," said the owner to his son. "You crawl up in there and start the motor. They don't like that noise very well, and I think they will pull to get away from it."

IT STARTS.

The boy succeeded in getting into the automobile. He gave the wheel a turn and the motor began to go z-z-z chu-chug, z-z-z chu-chug, z-z-z chu-chug. Both the startled mustangs plunged forward and out came the automobile. Then the alarmed women at the wayside saw a man running wildly and holding to the straps, while behind him came two panic-stricken mustangs trying to free themselves from a puffing monster. The man knew that if he dropped the straps the mustangs would steer the automobile into the ditch and wreck it. If he stopped the mustangs the automobile would run over them, for it was making its own power, and the frightened boy was turning the wheel the wrong way. So he continued to run and hold the mustangs. While he was flying down the road, shouting frantic instructions to the boy and establishing a new speed record for himself, it occurred to him more than once that possibly this was where he would be a martyr to the progress of the age.

SAVED AT LAST.

But at last the machine stopped puffing, the mustangs were slowed down by the increasing weight of the pull, and the owner of the horseless carriage sank to the earth. Then the women came up and told him what he should have done.

The flow of language which followed is not for publication, and is relegated to the realms of the curtain lecture.

FREE HOMES FOR MINERS.

A Toledo, Ohio, dispatch says that George Whitney, homestead agent for Canada, has been authorized by the Dominion government to proceed to the Pennsylvania anthracite region and offer inducements to the 30,000 striking miners and their families to form a colony and locate free homesteads, which the Dominion government will provide in the great wheat belt of the Northwest. It is understood the government will provide bona fide settlers with means to purchase horses, oxen, farming utensils, etc.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Sergeant Church, of the N.W.M.P., who went to South Africa with the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, has been given a captaincy in the British army.

Cape Colony progressionists have repudiated Premier Sprigg.

It is reported that the Archbishop of Canterbury will resign in the autumn.

The high price of coal may lead to the adoption of New Jersey turf as fuel in New York.

Captain Freeman, of the Roddam, has been presented with a silver vase in recognition of his devotion to duty at St. Pierre.

Grain rates in Minnesota and the Dakotas have been reduced.

It is announced that the C. P. R. will not get the fast Atlantic service.

The Winnipeg Elevator company is building twenty new elevators in Manitoba and the Territories this season.

PREACHERS' COLUMN.

DARK DAYS.

Many of the darkest days in history have borne the choicest fruit to the glory of God and the good of man.

It was a dark day when Israel groaned in the bitterness of Egyptian bondage—but if the bondage had been less bitter Israel would have been content in Egypt; out of the bondage come the exodus, the Messiah.

It was a dark day when the ardent, brave, eloquent Stephen, hope of the early church, was stoned; but out of that day came Paul.

It was a dark day when the persecution that arose about Stephen, ravaged the disciples; but out of it came the world wide preaching of the gospel.

It was a dark day when the Puritans, finding no rest for the soles of their feet sailed from the old world; but out of it came America.

Darkest of all days was that on which the sun hid his face from the Divine man expiring on Calvary; yet all our hopes and all our happiness came from that day.

Habit is a cable. Every day we weave a thread and soon we cannot break it.

As you cannot avoid your own company, make it as good as possible.

The small courtesies sweeten life, the greater ones ennoble it.

Children are the to-morrow of society.

If the staff be crooked, then the shadow cannot be straight.

For the benefit of those not informed, we quote the following on Sunday observance, from the statutes of British Columbia. The extract is taken from the English Act on Sunday observation which act is in force in the province of B.C.:

"For the better observation and keeping holy the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday: Be it enacted, that no tradesman, artificer, workman, labourer, or other person whatsoever shall do or exercise any worldly labour, business, or work of their ordinary callings upon the Lord's day, or any part thereof (works of necessity or charity only excepted); and that every person being of the age of fourteen years or upwards offending in the premises, shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five shillings; and that no person or persons whatsoever shall publicly cry, show forth, or expose to sale any wares, merchandises, fruit, herbs, goods, or chattels whatsoever upon the Lord's day, or any part thereof, upon pain that every person so offending shall forfeit the same goods so cried or showed forth or exposed to sale."

THE PENALTIES PROVIDED BY THE BUSH FIRE ACT.

The Bush Fire Act provides heavy penalties for those guilty of criminal carelessness.

Sections 4 and 5 of the act read as follows:

"4. It shall not be lawful for any person to set out, or cause to be set out or started, any fire in or near the woods, within any fire district, between the first day of May and the first day of October in any year, except for the purpose of clearing land, cooking, obtaining warmth or for some industrial purposes; and in cases of starting fires for any of the above purposes, the obligations and precautions imposed by the following sections shall be observed.

"5. It shall not be lawful for any person to set out, or cause to be set out or started, between the first day of May and the first day of October in each year, within any fire district, any fire for the purpose of clearing land, unless the owner or occupier of any land on which fire shall be so made or started for the purpose of clearing the same shall, by himself or his servants, constantly watch over, manage and control such fire, and observe every reasonable care and precaution to prevent such fires from spreading as aforesaid.

"A penalty of $50 for each infraction of the law is provided, and $100 in the case of locomotives not properly equipped with means to prevent the escape of fire."

Section 14 of the act is as follows:

"It shall be the special duty of every Government Agent, Gold Commissioner, Timber Inspector, Forest Ranger, Mining Recorder, and Provincial Police officer or constable to enforce the provisions and requirements of this act, and in all cases coming within the knowledge of any such official, officer or constable, to prosecute every person or body corporate by whom there is reasonable cause for believing any contravention of this act has been committed."

WILL MEET DIFFICULTIES.

Miss Cheong Chuk Kwah, a Chinese lady of wealth and education, is announced to be about to make a tour of the world, and to be especially anxious to see the way the people live in America. She will be allowed to travel through Canada in bond, like a keg of spirits, or can come in duty paid, but when she reaches the United States she will have to be smuggled in, concealed in a bale of hay, or done up in a herring barrel. She will find we are a very exclusive people.—Montreal Star.

The movement of freight on the railway entering Nelson show a decided improvement. This is caused, in a great part, by the resumption of work at the Crow's Nest company's coal mines at Fernie, Michel and Morrissey. The C.P.R. is now operating three 15-car barges from the Kootenay Landing slip. These barges make a round trip a day, and as they carry full loads each way, it will be seen that the tonnage handled totals considerable every thirty days.—Tribune.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 25.—F. B. Hayes, secretary of the Toronto Carpet Manufacturing Co., was fined $50 or thirty days in jail, to-day for an infraction of the Alien Labor Act. Hayes attempted to replace the striking carpetmakers by French-Canadians from Lowell, Mass., seeking in this way to evade the law. One of the men imported, named De Roseches, was born in the United States, and in his importation the verdict was rendered. The fine goes to the Carpet Weavers' Union as informers.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

INGRAM & McINTYRE

THE CITY BARBERS.

Shop in the Royal Hotel.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described lands, situate on the west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district commencing at a post marked D. J. Johnson's south east corner, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's south west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

D. J. JOHNSON.

Dated Aug, 25th, 1902.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FIRE! FIRE!

The Dry Season is coming....

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, about one mile south of the mouth of Michel Creek, west 10 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 10 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 80 acres, more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

A. H. CREF.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum, on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town at Morrissey, East Kootenay, commencing at a post marked William Senkbiel's north-west corner post, close to D. McKenzie's south west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

WILLIAM SENKBEIL.

Dated August 25th, 1902.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay District, commencing at a post marked Daniel McKenzie's south west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to to place of commencement.

DANIEL McKENZIE.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver. x

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

One suite of housekeeping rooms on Pellatt ave., three doors across from hospital, very reasonable. Also six well-furnished rooms to let.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a speciality. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

J. C. Hutchison

.....MEANS BUSINESS.....

Have you seen his latest stock of goods? No? That is strange. Why, he is becoming the talk of the town. Don't you know that he is now prepared to adorn his customers with the cheapest yet most durable apparel in Fernie. Not only with up-to-date suitings, but with shirts, ties, collars cuffs, socks, hats and caps. In fact he will fit you out from head to foot at prices within the reach of all. Call and inspect his stock.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

FERNIE, B.C.
Near the Station

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district, commencing at a post marked John Janiesch's north east corner post, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's south west corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

JOHN JANIESCH.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Public Inquiries Act.

Public Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of this Act a Commission has been issued to John Bryden, of the City of Victoria, and Tully Boyce, of the City of Nanaimo, and Peter Secord Lampman, of the City of Victoria, Esquires, for the purpose of holding inquiry into and obtaining information respecting the causes of explosions in Coal Mines.

The said Commissioners will hold their first sitting at the town of Fernie, East Kootenay, on Monday, the eighth of September, 1902, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, of which all persons interested are hereby to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

J. D. PRENTICE,
Acting Provincial Secretary.

Provincial Secretary's Office.
25th August, 1902. 191-2

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for permission to purchase 160 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the west bank of Elk River, 60 chains southerly from the south east corner of James Ferguson's application, thence running 40 chains west, thence 40 chains south, thence 40 chains east, thence northerly following the said bank of Elk river to point of commencement.

EUGENE WALTER.

Dated at Fernie this 5th day of July, 1902.

NOTICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I. George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following lands in East Kootenay District, B.C.: Commencing at a post planted at the north east corner of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt land on the west side of the Elk river about 9 miles north of Michel creek, thence north 20 chains more or less to a point on the Southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application to pre-empt; thence west 80 chains along said southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application aforesaid; thence south 20 chains more or less to the northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt; thence east along said northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt 80 chains more or less to the place of beginning, containing about 160 acres more or less.

Dated the 11th day of August, 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Fort Steele Licence District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned persons have made application under the visions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for hotel licences at the places opposite their respective names:—

A. E. Brown, Central Hotel, Wardner, B.C.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House, Cranbrook on the 12th day of September, 1902. on Friday at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK H. FORBES,
Fernie, 29th Aug. 1902. Chief Licence Inspector

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River about 38 mile north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains west, thence forty chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence eighty (80) chains north, thence sixty chains east, thence 160 chains south to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

D. A. McRae.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to appiy to the Hon., the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west side of the Elk River about six miles north of Andrew Thomson's initial post, forty chains west, thence one hundred and sixty chains north, thence forty chains east, thence one hundred and sixty chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

J. H. BRICKER.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for special license to cut and carry awy timber on the following lands:

Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, 45 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty chains west, thence 40 chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence 140 chains north, thence 40 chains east, thence 180 chains south following the Elk River to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

ANDREW THOMSON.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber of the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk river, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel creek, one hundred and sixty (160) chains south following the bank of the Elk river, thence forty (40) chains west, thence one hundred and sixty (160) chains north, thence forty (40) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B. C., 29th of August, 1902.

SAUL BONNELL.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

MILTON A. KASTNER.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted about 44 miles from the mouth of Michel Creek on the west bank of the Elk river, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred (100) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred and twenty (120) chains east, thence eighty (80) chains north to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

G. G. JRWELL.

Lib. Legislative Assn. Dec 31 1901

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 10 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 192

METHODIST CHURCH.

FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:

Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.

Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER,

Barristers, Solicitor, Notary Public,

FERNIE, - - - B.C.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

UNITED BROTHERHOOD OF CARPENTERS & JOINERS OF AMERICA — UNITY IS STRENGTH

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...

Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

For Sale

800 fully paid up shares of $1.00 each in the

Similkameen Valley Coal Co.

at 25c. each

For blocks of 200 or more payments may be made at the rate of 20 per cent. monthly.

When wanting to buy or sell stock of any kind write us.

E. B. McDermid,

Chartered Accountant,

Nelson, B.C.

LABOR DAY IN FERNIE.

SONS OF LABOR PARADE IN FORCE ON SEPT. 1ST.

Addresses Delivered on the Recreation Grounds by Friends of Organized Labor.

Monday last being Labor Day the Sons of Labor for the first time in the history of Fernie observed the day in a most befitting manner. At 9:30 the members of the different unions, (the Gladstone Miners' Union No. 76 W. F. of M., the Carpenters' Union, the Brewers' Union, the Cigar Makers' Union and the Painters' Union) assembled on the recreation grounds where a procession was formed. The Fernie Brass Band led the procession. The different Unions carried banners and mottoes, the Brewers Union had a decorated wagon, and the Cigar Makers' Union worked at their craft on a wagon, during the parade. Mr. Rogers was the M. C. for the day. Starting from the ground's the procession went down Victoria Ave., round the Gem Resturant, along Railway St. down Park side, down Victoria Ave. to the grounds. Assembled in the grounds the rest of the morning was taken up with speech making.

Rev. D. Holford, was the principal speaker. The substance of his remarks was as follows:—

"Labor unions believe in law. One of their most righteous efforts has been to secure right legislation. That is one of their objects. They do not ask sympathy. No kingly man takes the attitude of a creeping beggar. They are not crying at the door of society for sympathy, nor are their organized efforts to secure charity. Labor unions do not ask for the rich man's money or any other man's money, but make just demands for the workingman's money. They say give us justice in the hours of work and the remuneration for service, and the respect which every honest man deserves. This is what labor unions ask. They say we are not cattle nor are we machines, but we are men and deserve manly treatment

"They have knocked at the doors of legeslative halls and demanded laws to control factories and mines and every place where men are compelled to work so that life shall not be imperilled nor health sacrificed. Wonderful laws have they wrought out in this respect. It was only a few years ago that all the laws were made by employers and no one can question their partiality. Now the labor unions by virtue of their organization have been and are able to claim attention and respect and representation. I congratulate them upon their attainment and bid them God speed in the securing of complete justice. Justice is the word, do you hear me? Mistake it not, define it, understand it, believe it, live it. It has the greatest circumference of any word in the vocabulary. Give each man his just share is the battle cry of the union and they ought to shout it and fight for it until the last enemy of labor lies dead on the battle field and the last victory for right is won. The cry at the heart of every good labor organization is not a selfish, grasping greedy yelp. It is the soul's cry for simple justice, The employer must learn to recognize it and see in every man some remnant of the image of God which commands his respect or there can be no peace or there will be no peace."

D. McKenzie, secretary of the Miners' Union, was the next to speak. He went into the conditions of the laboring men of a century ago and compared them with the conditions prevailing to-day, showing clearly the wonderful improvement. This change had been largely brought about through the influence of what are commonly known as "labor agitators." These so called agitators were really instrumental in delivering the laboring man from a condition bordering on slavery to that of an independent citizen. He dealt with labor conditions prevailing throughout British Columbia and closed his remarks with an exhortation to the voters of South-east Kootenay to unite and send a labor representative to the legislature at the next election.

Mr. Galvin also supported Trades Unions. Mr. C. O'Brien spoke at some length showing the advisability of all classes of labor being organized; urging the men to support union lador, and buy only union made goods. He sharply criticized all middle men and the action of the store keepers during thr recent strike. Even the editor did not escape Charlie's notice.

Mr. Edwin Neale spoke from an educational standpoint, urging the men to read and think for themselves and not to be led about by any one man. The more a man reads for himself, the more evenly his mind is balanced and the more will all masters realize that their employees are men like unto themselves and will have to deal with them accordingly.

Mr. Crowley occupied the platform for a time, and uttered some scathing remarks against monopolies.

Mr. Wilkes of the Carpenters' Union spoke of the benefits derived by the Carpenters' since the formation of the Union.

Mr. Beck occupied the chair. Thus terminated the first recogonition of Labor Day by the Sons of Labor, and it is the desire of all those interested to make this particular day more useful than ever.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Nanaimo, B.C., Sep. 5.—The vote of the miners taken at the pit head during the past three days resulted in a majority of four against the proposal to reconsider the union's decision to sever its connection with the Dominion Trades Congress. This means that Ralph Smith, M. P. will have to resign his position as president of the Congress unless some other British Columbia Trades Union elects him a delegate to the annual meeting.

New York, Sept. 5.— Eight thousand carpenters of this city won the strike for an advance of fifty cents a day when the Master Carpenters Association late tonight, after a conference of several hours granted the demand. The strikers, in addition, asked the employers to agree not to employ non-union men. This the employers refused, and the carpenters accepted the fifty cent advance. The men will return to work all over the city and neighborhood tomorrow morning.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 5.—Robert Mackie, one of the Natanee bank robbers sentenced to ten years in penitentiary, has been released on parole after four years in gaol.

Nelson, B.C., Sept. 6.— John Bryden, Tully Boyce and Peter Lampman, the commissioners to enquire into the causes of the recent colliery disasters in the province, arrived in town last evening from Victoria, and left this morning for Fernie where they will open the investigation. The work of the commission is by no means confined to an enquiry into the recent Fernie disaster. The object is to gather all the information available in regard to all the recent colliery disasters, and if possible arrive at conclusions that will have the effect, if put into practice, of preventing the recurrence of similar disasters. The commissioners expect to spend about eight days at Fernie.

Montreal, Sept. 5.— The Star's London cable says:—The opinion is expressed here that the attempt to establish a French-Canadian line of steamships will fail owing to the hesitancy of the French capitalists to respond to the invitation to invest in the venture. Sir Wilfred Laurier, despite his appearance, is not well, and intends to seek an interval of rest in Switzerland for a week or two before going to Rome. He may prolong his stay in Europe for some weeks.

Charleston, West Virginia, Sept. 5.— It is rumored that the Kanawata and New River strike was declared off today and that the Chesapeake and Ohio Ry has ordered all equipment rushed back into the coal fields.

IN PENNSYLVANIA STRIKE.

The estimated losses by the strike of the hard coal miners are: Loss to operators in price of coal (normal) $22,500,000; loss to miners in wages, $10,500,000; loss to employees. other than strikers, made idle by the strik, $2,750,000; loss to business men in region, $7,500,000; loss to business men outside of region, $4,425,000; cost of maintaining coal and iron police, $560,000; cost of maintaining non-union workers, $150,000; losses to mines and machinery, $2,000,000; total $50,385,000. Mine workers who have left region since strike began, 55,000; strikers not earning money, 75,000; number of workers, other than strikers, idle, 35,000.

FRANK IS DEFEATED.

FRAIRIE STICK HANDLERS NOT IN IT WITH THE FERNIE TEAM.

An Interesting Game—Score 8-2. Large Crowd of Spectators View the Match.

The Fernie lacrosse team have been very anxious to meet the Frank aggregation ever since they suffered defeat at their hands several week ago. They were so anxious that they did not mind offering the Frank boys big financial inducement to make the trip to Fernie, and the game on Monday fully justified the expense as it was the best exhibition of the national game yet put up in Fernie.

The game was called for 2:30 and the teams lined up as follows:

Fernie		Frank
Miller	Goal	P. McKinnon
MacLean	Point	D. McKinnon
Herman	Cover Point	Austin
Kastner	1st Defence	McLearn
Wrigglesworth	2nd Defence	McIntyre
Lafortune	3rd Defence	F. McLearn
Thompson	Centre	Cavanaugh
Kenny	3rd Home	Snell
Flett	2nd Home	Hamilton
McGuire	1st Home	Ashdown
Black	Outside Home	Ross
Reynolds	Inside Home	Lange

At the start it looked very much as though the game would be rough, and although there was no apparent desire among the players to club each other, yet there were several collisions. The first few minutes of the game resembled a shinty game, but it soon developed into good lacrosse and the playing of both teams reflect great credit upon them. Six minutes after the play commenced Fernie scored. Frank then rushed the play on the Fernie flags, but Miller was there with the goods. Twelve minutes of hard work followed and Lange scored for Frank. At this point the Fernie men got down to good hard work and began to pile up goals against their opponents. First Black, then Flett, then Black scored twice again in quick succession.

The latter half was but a repetition of the first. Frank succeeded in scoring one more while Black, McGuire and Flett each put one in for Fernie.

About the middle of the game Herman had the misfortune to break a small blood vessel in one of his legs and had to be carried off the field. McIntyre was taken off the Frank side to even up things and the game was finished with eleven men each.

Considerable money changed hands over the game. The Fernie people offered 5 to 3 on the home team.

CHASED THE POLICE.

There was an exciting time at the jail this afternoon. Harry Thompson, a prisoner, who is slightly insane, suddenly became violent. He seized a sledge hammer and breaking in the door between the jail and the office, made for Chief Forbes and Constable Koomer. Both men realized that this was no time for argument and leaping over the counter struck a 2:40 gate down the street, pursued by the raving mainac. When he reached the gate he smashed it from the hinges with one blow and throwing down his hammer hurled large rocks at the fleeing officers. At this stage Constable Walker appeared on the scene and dodging the rocks worked up close to Thompson, who again seized the hammer and made a terrific sweep at his head. He dodged this and before Thompson could recover his guard sprang in and soon overpowered him.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

A syndicate of thirteen business men of Fernie has been formed with a view of thoroughly exploring the country on the west side of Elk River with the hope of finding coal and petroleum. The following letter in regard to the recent discovery of signs of oil appeared in the Nelson News the other day:

Editor The Daily News:—On the 11th inst., I sent a piece of shale to the provincial mineralogist to have it examined and I received the following reply:

Victoria, Aug. 18th.

Dear Sir: Your favor of the 11th inst. has been referred to me. The sample of shale contains crude petroleum. The clay sent would not be suitable; they are too fusible.

Herbert Carmichael,
Public Analist and Assayer for B.C.

This petroleum bearing shale is found at the base of the Carboniferous range, lying southwest from Fernie town.

These shales can be traced as far as Morrissey. Knowing something of the habitat of petroleum, with a friend, I went down the valley nine miles, and examined the rocks due west of the C.P.R. depot at Morrissey. Calcareous sandstone and light porous limestone strew the ground at that point. These when struck with a hammer gave off a peculiar oily odor, but different to the odor given off by the shales further up the valley. Finding a fine grained black rock in the "wash," I broke it and exposed the inner surface to the sun. In a short time it sweated oil. Near here the Carboniferous rocks come in contact with the Cambrain, and form with it a synclinal basin or trough.

In my judgement, this portion of the valley is worth the attention of the mining geologist and oil expert.

Daniel McKenzie,
Fernie, August 28 h.

WILL HAVE 10 HOTELS

MORRISSEY PEOPLE TO BE WELL SUPPLIED WITH BOOZE

A License Granted for Every Ten People in the Community

The most important meeting of the license commissioners held for some time took place in the police court office on Friday evening. The large crowd present fully testified to the interest taken in the granting or the Morrissey licenses.

Among those present were two preachers, five lawyers, several hotel men and a number of others who would like to be. The first application that came up was that of H. A. Kanouse for a transfer from his hotel in the old town to the Dill & Hill location in the new town. No objection was raised to this application and it was granted.

Thos. Stephens, of Elko, was also granted license.

The first application to be be considered for a license on the new townsite of Morrissey was H. A. Kanouse, then H. W. Barnes. No objection was offered to either of these, but at this point S. Herchmer arose and protested against the granting of any other applications until the town was sufficiently large to support them.

In support of his contention, W. F. Tranter appeared as a witness and testified that there were not over one hundred residents in Morrissey, and if all the applications were granted there would be a hotel for every ten people residing there.

W. R. Ross, who appeared for R. E. Beattie of Cranbrook, protested that this was very unfair as his client had already 30,000 feet of lumber on the ground for the erection of a hotel.

The other applications, some seven in all, were then received, and the commissioners retired for some time to consider Herchmer's objection. After considerable argument they decided to grant all the licenses.

The application of Robt Schram for a transfer from his present site two miles up Morrissey Creek, was laid over until the meeting in Cranbrook next week.

On Thursday the Great Northern construction reached Morrissey townsite.

New York, Montreal and Toronto contribute to our ready to wear new millinery.—London & Liverpool Co. x

Dentist

Dr Barber may be found at his office over Liphardt's jewellery store for the next week or ten days. Call early and make appointments. Office open until 8 p.m.

Edward Bray, one of those who made a nice fortune out of Crow's Nest Coal Company's shares a few years ago, arrived in South East Kootenay from Victoria last week and is "visiting round" with his numerous friends in this district.

INSTANTLY KILLED

GEORGE MABEE, OF WINNIPEG, HAS HIS NECK BROKEN IN AN ELEVATOR.

WATCHING THE CAGE RISE, HE IS STRUCK BY THE COUNTERPOISE.

Georeg Albert Mabee, an employee of the James Robertson Wholesale Metal and Hardware company, Winnipeg, was instantly killed on Wednesday last by the counterpoise of the elevator striking him on the back of the head.

Mabee, who has been in the employ of the company about nine years, was at work on the second floor shifting goods from a high shelf near the elevator shaft. The counterpoise of the elevator, a metal weight of about 500 pounds, runs between parallel upright timbers, at the end of the counter on which Mabee was standing. These uprights are boarded to a height of about eight feet from the floor, leaving but a narrow space between the boarding and the ceiling. Mabee, it appears, walked to the end of the counter and sticking his head out over the top board, was watching the elevator come up. He evidently had not thought of the counterpoise, which descended, striking him on the back of the neck. There was a space of about six or seven inches between the weight and the boards, which was all that prevented his head being torn from the body. As it was death must have been almost instantaneous, for not only was his neck broken but the strangulation which resulted from his position would have killed him almost instantly.

His position was not noticed at once, but the jar to the elevator called the attention of the man who was running it to the fact that something was wrong. It was stopped at once, and the employees who were near secured an axe and ripped the boarding away to release the body.

BECOME BRITISH SUBJECTS.

Seventy Per Cent. of United States Immigrants to Canada are Naturalized.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture, speaking in Montreal in reply to statements recently made in some quarters that the large influx of American settlers into the Northwest foreshadowed American control and reciprocal arrangements so that American millers might grind wheat raised by American farmers in Canada, Mr. Fisher said it was more likely that American millers would come into Canada and erect mills to grind it. It would make no great difference where the capital came from, whether it was American or not, so long as it came in and developed the resources of the Dominion.

"One thing may be added," stated Mr. Fisher, "and it has not been published yet; 70 per cent. of the American immigrants who have come into the Canadian Northwest from the United States have been naturalized as British subjects. Of the remaining 30 per cent. in many cases there were disabilities which prevented them being naturalized, but the showing is, I think, highly satisfactory.

BIG PAPER COMBINE.

J. Carling Kelly, an Ottawa promoter, has under way an immense paper combine, which will include eleven of the largest paper mills in England, with over £25,000,000 capital. The mills will acquire 2,000 acres of pulp, which is located near Ottawa, and on which the proposed combination holds an option.

MUTILATED ON BINDER KNIVES

Robert Darling, a farmer of Ameliasburg township, was driving a binder on August 27, when the horses became frightened and ran ran away. The unfortunate man was thrown on the knives, and so badly cut and mutilated he died shortly after being rescued.

"SOFT COAL EYE."

With the advent of soft coal in Philadelphia has come an epidemic of what is called "soft coal eye." Two hospital surgeons discovered the disease and gave it a name.

One of them gave his suspicions about the foreign substances he had been removing, so he took a black speck from a patient's eye and then analyzed it. "Just what I thought," he said, "soft coal, and those people we have been treating have had soft coal eye." The name spread. Now it is a familiar phrase in the hospitals, and the existence of a "soft coal eye" epidemic, is acknowledged.

YUKON CANDIDATES.

Joseph A. Clarke, formerly editor of the Dawson News, has been chosen for the Yukon. Fred Wade, crown prosecutor, will be the government candidate, should Governor Ross decline.

CLIMATE OF THE KLONDIKE.

Prof. Macoun, Botanist, Has Made Wonderful Discoveries in the Far North.

Prof. Macoun, of Ottawa, went to Dawson City some time ago at the direction of the government, to study the flora of the country. He has been busy during the past month on Hunker Creek, where he was the guest of J. B. Tyrrell. In an interview, Prof. Macoun says:

"Since I have been on Hunker I have gathered 557 species of plants, and not one of them is an Arctic growth. It is easy to distinguish a plant which is termed thus by various ways. You have no indication of an Arctic climate here. This can easily be told by the plants.

"There is a difference between the hillside growth and the hillsides. In the swamp bottoms there is much frost in the ground which keeps the ground cool all summer, and hence retards the growth of the plants, but on the hillsides where the plants are affected only by climate conditions, the growth is remarkable. I would cite as an instance the blue anemone (prairie crocus), which was found here by Mr. Tyrrell April 16. Mackenzie found the same flower in bloom in latitude 56, which shows that Dawson, although in 64, has a better climate than we have in Ontario. Eastern people will not believe this, but the proof is here.

"I have found 200 of the flowering plants, and three kinds of raspberries grow prolifically on the Southern hillsides. Willows, birch and spruce are all loaded with fruit, which shows that your springs are continuous. Clovers will grow well, but red clover will have to be handled with care. I found white clover in a number of places, and predict that in a few years it will be scattered all over the country.

"I have found a peculiar grass here some of which grows on the street, that I think will turn out to be a valuable feed grass. I have watched the animals on Hunker trail for the purpose of seeing which of the native grasses they seem to prefer. The one I speak of was eaten with avidity. It grows to a height of I should say about three feet. I have never found it anywhere except here, and I think it may prove to be a most valuable feed for the farmers to cultivate. I have also run across a grass which is so similar to the famous blue grass of Kentucky that it would be hard to distinguish it from the real southern grass. It will grow in profusion as soon as the hills are cleared off."

Professor Macoun is enthusiastic over the country for farming, and says he sees no reason why all vegetables consumed there should not be raised in the district.

BIG NATURAL GAS STRIKE.

A huge gas well was struck at Hepworth, Ont., on August 29, while drilling was in progress on the Dreifell property there. The tools penetrated Trenton sand and immediately the derrick cleared. At present it is not possible to measure the output, but the strike is unquestionably the greatest of recent years in Ontaria.

THIS NEGRO MAY TURN WHITE.

A New York dispatch says: William R. Weeks, a negro barber, was sent to Believue on August 14. He had been behaving strangely, and on his arriving at the hospital he was put in the insane pavilion. When the doctors examined him they found that all over his body there were patches of skin which had turned white. Since his admission streaks of white have appeared on his chin and face. The doctors are much interested in him. They say he is suffering from a rare skin disease, a rare form of tuberculosis. If the disease doesn't kill him shortly they say he has a chance of becoming a white man before he dies.

MISSED IT BY A MILE.

Montagu Holbein, the English swimmer, who started from Cape Griz-Nez, France, at 3.30 o'clock on August 28 on his third attempt to swim the English channel, failed in his attempt. He was taken out of the water when a mile from Dover.

Holbein had to be helped out of the water, being too exhausted to struggle any longer against the westward tide. He stayed in the water twenty-two hours and twenty-one minutes.

Frank Holmes, of Birmingham, who started from Dover at 5 o'clock the same morning in an effort to swim the channel, was seized with sickness and abandoned the attempt when six miles out. When Holmes was taken from the water he was found to be suffering from a cramp.

REV. SAM SMALL'S "ILLNESS."

A dispatch from Brattleboro, Vt., Aug. 28, says: The collapse of the Rev. Sam Small, the well known temperance lecturer, who was to speak for the No-License-Local-Option party here last night, by Rev. Mr. Small's own admission today, was due to intoxication. Mr. Small says: "I was drunk. I have no excuse to offer."

CANADA'S VESSEL TONNAGE.

Dominion's Mercantile Navy Leads Many Older Maritime Powers.

Canada stands eighth in the point of ownership of vessel tonnage among the nations of the earth, leading Spain, Sweden, Holland, Denmark, Greece, Japan, Turkey and other countries. As of yore, Britain heads the list, the United States being second, then Germany, Norway, France, Italy, Russia and Canada. The comparative figures are as follows:

	Total Net Tonnage.
British, including Canada and Colonies	10,301,338
American	2,318.876
German	2,106,885
Norwegian	1,393,096
French	961,259
Italian	947,079
Canadian	664,483
Russian	850,695
Spanish	561,668
Swedish	607,862
Dutch	451,949
Danish	387,727
Grecian	320,795
Japanese	510,175

These figures are given in the annual shipping report of the marine department. The report shows that the total number of vessels remaining on the register books of the Dominion on December 31, 1901, including old and new vessels, sailing vessels, steamers and barges, was 6,792, measuring 664,483 tons, register tonnage, being an increase of 57 vessels and an increase of 4,949 tons register as compared with 1900.

The number of steamers on the registry books on the same date was 2,177, with a gross tonnage of 297,421 tons. Assuming the average value to be $30 per ton, the value of the registered tonnage of Canada on December 31 last would be $19,934,490. The number of new vessels built and registered in the Dominion of Canada during the last year was 335, measuring 34,481 tons register tonnage at $45 per ton, it gives a total value of $1,551,645 for new vessels.

JAPAN USES THE BALLOT.

Japan's first general election, accompanied by secret ballot, took place on August 9. The campaign was very lively, although the usual feature of the interference of paid hirelings of the candidates was conspicuous by its absence. On the other hand accusations of bribery flew around, and some of the local prisons were choked with alleged offenders in this regard. The result of the polling is not fully known, but enough has been gathered to show a preponderance of the constitutional party, generally known by Marquis Ito, Japan's leading statesman.

POISONED BY MISTAKE.

Alex. Hunter, aged 53, a division court clerk at Brussels, Ont., for many years past, drank a portion of a mixture of carbolic acid and other poisons August 27 in mistake for medicine and died in a few minutes.

For 25 years Capt. Powers of Victoria, B. C., has told everyone who would listen to him that he had made a great discovery, that if the sides of a ship below the water line were punctured with a passageway for the water to pass through a conduit enough power would be obtained in the passage of the water while the ship was in motion, to work a powerful dynamo. Some expert engineers have declared the scheme feasible, others have declared it nonsense and on the principle of lifting yourself up by your trousers. But for 25 years no one would take the matter up. Now parties in San Francisco have purchased three-tenths interest in the patent, which they assisted Captain Powers to take out, and the theory of Captain Powers is to be practically tested.

The improvements in harvesting machinery of recent years have been many. A farmer, with his three strong horses and binder today does work that would have required eight men cutting with cradle and binding by hand. It is rather startling to consider what would be the result if Manitoba's present crop had to be saved by the old method. Instead of requiring 15,000 men as at present, seven times that number or 105,000, would be necessary. With self-binding, bundle-carrying harvesters, self-feeding pneumatic stacking threshers, and other modern appliances, the harvesting of such an enormous crop as Manitoba has today is made possible.

The Canadian regiment at Halifax will be disbanded.

A tremendous explosion occurred at Dinorwic, Ont., on August 27. No one was injured, but the village had a severe shaking up.

Major H. J. Woodside, late of Portage la Prairie, was married at Halifax on August 27.

Mr. Claus Speckles will establish a $6,000,000 sugar industry in Canada.

GIRLS REPLACE BOYS.

The Western Union Telegraph company has definitely decided that it will, in Chicago, employ no more boys as messengers. The boys have struck three times within the last month. Girls will be used to carry messages in the business portion and residential district. For night work men will be used, and men will also be kept in the day time for the purpose of carrying messages into the undesirable parts of the city. The change will be made at once.

A STRANGE CATCH.

At Toronto James S. Carter, a clerk in the office of the medical health office, went fishing at the eastern gap, using minnows for bait. He had not much more than cast his line when there was a violent jerk at it. His surprise was complete when he found he had hooked a live mink. He landed it all right and hoped to capture it alive, when a bystander became excited and killed it with a blow on the head.

A peddler has been arrested at Virden, charged with attempt to indecently assult two little girls.

Five hundred Dunkard families will settle in Manitoba and the Northwest.

Eight hundred men are engaged at the C. P. R. shops getting engines and cars ready for crop movement.

A Mason's Sign.

A man is known by his motions—if the looker-on has the discerning eye of a fellow-craftsman. Such is the point of a street scene reported by a St. Louis newspaper. A stranger in Boston stood in front of a Columbus Avenue apartment house in process of construction, apparently interested in what he saw, and picked up a brick, which he turned over in his hand once or twice.

"I will give you a job if you want it," said the foreman, who had observed the stranger.

"What kind of a job?" asked the other, as he shook the brick dust from his gloves.

"Laying brick of course," was the answer. "I know from the way you picked up that brick that you are a brick mason, and we are short-handed, with the cold weather on us."

"Thank you," answered the stranger. "Once I would have jumped at your offer. Thirty-five years ago I wandered these streets looking for such a job, and couldn't find it, though I needed it as much as any poor fellow in the city. I took Greeley's advice and went West, where I have laid tens of thousands of bricks and employed men to lay millions for me. I don't need the work, but I am pleased that you recognized in me a member of the craft."

The stranger was one of the largest contractors in St. Louis.

Won by Hustle.

The persistency of a street urchin who wishes to earn money is sometimes annoying, but generally excusable. Now and then it becomes amusing and almost irresistible.

"Say, mister, do you want your bag carried?" asked a boy, running after a man, who was hurrying along to the railway station.

"No, I don't," answered the man a little sharply.

"I'll carry it all the way for a penny," persisted the boy.

"I tell you I don's want it carried," persisted the man, quickening his pace.

"Don't you?" said the boy breaking into a trot to keep abreast of his victim.

"No, I don't," said the man, glancing fiercely at his small tormentor.

"Well, then, mister," said the urchin, with an expression of anxious and innocent inquiry on his round dirty face, "what are you carrying it for? Why don't you set it down?"

In spite of himself his mouth twitched, and with a "There, take it," he passed the bag over to his persistent companion, who staggered rapidly along without another word until the station was reached, where he received twopence with a beaming smile.—Tid Bits.

How Drunkards Are Made and by Whom

A lady happened to be passing a public house in West Kensington just as a little girl was coming out of it with a brimming jug of beer. Seeing the child stop to drink greedily, the lady spoke to her, and, taking the ethical side of the matter as easiest to be understood, asked if she did not know it was wrong to drink her mother's beer. The answer was: "O, but Mr. ——(the publican) told me he had put some in for me, and that mother would still have her full pint left. And it is so nice! Wouldn't you like to taste it? He gave me these, too," displaying a handful of sweets. "I'm to have them when I go in, and Mrs. So-and-So has promised to let me fetch her beer, too!" The child was not eight years old, and, as Mrs. So-and-So lived near, the lady made it her business to call and remonstrate, finally succeeding in obtaining a promise that the little creature should not be sent again. A day or two later the same woman accosted the lady in the street to inform her she had kept her promise, but that the child had "gone on dreadful" when told she would not be allowed to fetch her beer for her any more, "screaming and crying like anything." There, sir, is a drunkard of less than eight in rapid process of formation.

AUTOMOBILE VICTIMS.

Two Persons Killed and Two Qeriously Injured at Long Branch.

A dispatch from Long Branch, N. J., of August 26, says: Two were kiled and three injured in an automobile accident at the Park avenue bridge over the New York and Long Branch railroad tracks. In trying to avoid running down a man, Frank W. Matthews, president of the Realty Trust company, lost control of his machine and it plunged against the railing, broke through to the rails 35 feet below. Mr. Matthews was instantly killed, the heavy machine falling upon him. Mrs. J. H. Cobb, of Richmond, Va., one of his guests, died later at the Monmouth Memorial hospital, and Mrs. Louis Pizzat, her sister-in-law, is believed to be dying. Rev. Father Grant, of the Paulist church, New York, suffers from the shock and bruises. The chaffeur, Rudolph Meyer, escaped with slight injuries, as he leaped to the bridge just as the machine went over the side.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Galician Greek church factions quarrelled over management of church affairs in Winnipeg, and the case was aired in the police court.

Nearly two hundred thousand English settlers are expected to arrive in Canada next year. The commissioner's office is flooded with applications for information.

The salmon catch for the past season in British Columbia is only about one-quarter of last year's.

Canada will pay two-thirds of the subsidy for the Canadian-South African steamship service.

The Montreal board of trade will give a grand banquet to Sir Edmund Barton, premier of the Australian Commonwealth.

Mrs. Samuel Mitchell, of Ottawa, fell down stairs and died as a result of the injuries received.

Father Royer, of Ottawa, has celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his entry into the Oblate order.

Oil has been found in paying quantities in the province of Quebec within a few miles of Ottawa.

On August 26 fire did $35,000 damage to Mount Royal club, Montreal, the residence of the late Sir John Abbott.

The report of the marine department shows that Canada has the eighth largest tonnage in the world.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and and Mrs. Thomas Bryson, of Routledge, Man., had his leg cut off by a binder which his father was driving.

The secretary of the British Columbia Live Stock association is in Ontario with the object of buying 1,500 head of pure bred stock for coast raisers.

Celibert Lefebrere, late of the parish of St. Philippe, county of La Prairie, Que., is suing his late pastor for $400 damages for neglect in not calling upon him.

The promoters of the Ottawa, Brockville and St. Lawrence railway have made the deposit required by the government, and intend to push construction work.

Mont Pelee has had another outbreak.

Robbers held up a Northern Pacific train at Sand Point, Idaho.

Twenty-three Anarchists have been arrested for complicity in an alleged plot to derail King Victor Emmanuel's train.

Ciudad Bolivar, the capital of the state of Bolivia, held by Venezuelan insurgents, has been bombarded by the government forces for days. Some 3,000 British residents have asked for a warship.

ATTACKED BY A BULL.

At Woodville, Ont., D. J. Campbell, of Fairview farm, was nearly killed by a bull. Only that he was near the fence, and the bull pushed him close up to it, he would have been crushed and gored to death. He had four ribs and his chest bone broken and lies in a very critical state.

OLD TIMER DEAD.

An old timer passed away at St. Andrews, Man., on August 26 in the person of Alexander Gunn, aged 73. Deceased was born at St. Andrews, and lived there all his life. He was a brother of the late John Gunn, of Gonor, and George Gunn, of Swift Current. A wife, aged 70, and three sons, Benjamin, Donald, and William, residing in this district, survive him.

In Egypt cheap water-raising apparatus is wanted obviate the existing "shaloof" system, by which isx men are required to hoist the contents of six buckets of Nile water to the top of a bank. The discovery of petroleum near Suez and the cheapness of labor will, it is said, soon enable factories to be started, for which a demand for various kinds of machinery must arise.

The Dominion Iron and Steel company is suing the Canadian government for $196,$67 on account of bounties.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

A WISE DECISION.

"The deacon prayed for rain six days and nights on a stretch, an' when the rain come"——

"What then?"

"Drowned two of his best cows an' washed the foundations from under his house. An' now he says that hereafter he's a good mind to keep quiet an' jest let Providence run the weather to suit itself.

HOW TO CURE HEADACHE.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with Headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally a disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P. Q., writes:—"I find Parmelee's Pills a first class article for Bilious Headache."

Some folks who don't believe in faith cures have unlimited faith in their physicians.

Some men never acquire enemies because they have no money to lend to their friends.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.,

Gentlemen—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist badly bitten by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wound had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever. Yours truly,

A. E. ROY,

Carriage Maker, St. Antoine, P.Q.

It is the polished villain that beats the bootblack out of his fee.

It matters but little if a prophet is without honor in his own country, provided he can afford to go abroad.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

A white lie may be dressed in more fashionable attire than any other colored one, but it's the chalk in the milk just the same.

One of the noblest works of creation is the man who pays for his paper without being dunned.—New Denver Ledge.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Are Nature's Cure For Children's Ailments.

Medicines containing opiates should never be given to children—little or big. When you use Baby's Own Tablets for your little ones you have a positive guarantee that they contain neither opiate nor harmful drug. They are good for all children from the smallest, weakest infant to the well grown child. These Tablets quickly relieve and positively cure all stomach and bowell troubles, simple fevers, troubles while teething, etc. They always do good, and can never do the slightest harm. For very small infants crush the Tablets to a powder. Mrs. J. P. Latham, Chatham, Ont., says: "My baby took very sick. His tongue was coated, his breath offensive, and he could not retain food on his stomach. He also had diarrhoea for four or five days and grew very thin and pale. We gave him medicine, but nothing helped him until we gave him Baby's Own Tablets. After giving him the first dose he began to improve and in three days he was quite well. He began to gain flesh and is now a fat, healthy boy. I am more than pleased with the Tablets as I think they saved my baby's life."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Forty-five tons is the record weight ever pulled by a pair of horses. The load consisted of bark, which was placed on a sleigh and pulled over the ice.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

It is always right that a man should render a reason for the faith that is within him.—Sidney Smith.

DANGERS OF A BURN.

An extensive burn, though superficial throughout, is a deadly accident. Death within forty-eight hours is highly probable if two-thirds of the surface of the body be involved, even though the burn has locally produced little more than an erythema (redness.)

Lifebuoy Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases. 22

INTELLIGENCE IN PLANTS.

Something almost as good as intelligence is exhibited by plants. If, during a dry season a bucket of water be placed near a growing pumpkin, in the course of a lew days the vegetable will turn from its course and get at least one of its leaves in the water.

TOWN TREASURER

QUEBEC MUNICIPAL OFFICER GIVES IMPORTANT EVIDENCE.

Without Fear, Favor or Affection, He Speaks Plainly His Honest Sentiments, Adding Some Words of Advice.

Wolfestown, Que., Sept. 1.—(Special)—Mr. R. Boulanger, Secretary and Treasurer of this town is numbered among the most prominent and highly respected citizens of the country.

Time and again he has been honored by appointments to offices of public trust, and there is no man in our community who commands the universal respect and esteem of all classes of citizens more than Mr. Boulanger.

Those who know him well are aware that for some time he was very ill, and they also know that he was restored to good health, but many of them may not be aware of the means used by Mr. Boulanger in accomplishing the wonderful recovery which he has been fortunate enough to bring about.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him and he has made this fact public in a grateful letter, which reads as follows:

"I desire to say that I was completely cured of Kidney Disease and Urinary Trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was so bad that I was obliged to urinate often, with much pain. They have relieved me of the pain and the results in every way are satisfactory.

"I think it is prudent for every family to keep them and use them."

When a man of Mr. Boulanger's standing puts himself on record so frankly and positively, there can be no doubt but that he has experienced all and more than he states in his letter.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have now permanently established themselves as an infallible remedy for all urinary trouble, and the closing words of Mr. Boulanger's letter are an advice which every household should observe.

Many a man's crookedness is due to his attempt to make both ends meet.

The expenses of municipal government in London last year were £3,400,000 less than those of New York.

Corns cause intolerable pain. Holloway's Corn Cure removes the trouble. Try it, and see what amount of pain is saved.

You can't convince a girl that marriage is a failure until after she tries it.

Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

Virtue will be a kind of health and beauty and good habit of the soul; and vice will be a disease and deformity and sickness of it.—Plato.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constantly receiving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for Dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

The fastest long distance train in the world is run between Paris and Bayonee, in France. The speed is 54.13 miles an hour.

It may be only a trifling cold, but neglect it and it will fasten its fangs in your lungs, and you will soon be carried to an untimely grave. In this country we have sudden changes and must expect to have coughs and colds. We cannot avoid them, but we can effect a cure by using Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, the medicine that has never been known to fail in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest

The Breslau Co-operative society has a record membership. It can boast of no fewer than $78,619 members, and in point of numbers is the largest co-operative society in the world. As regards its trade, however, it is beaten by several English societies.

A knocker is a person full of envy or a seeker after blackmail.

The biggest nugget of tin on record was recently found at North Dundas, Tasmania. It weighed 5,400lb., 67 per cent. being pure tin.

Well Made.

Pure flour and pure yeast do not necessarily mean good bread. It may be spoiled in the making. Just so: material is not everything. Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, after a number of analyses, reports that "Sunlight Soap is a pure and well-made soap." "Well made" means more than you think. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will enjoy the benefits of a "well-made" soap, and will see that Prof. Ellis is right. No one should know better than he. 214

LION STALKING.

Tracking the Monarch of the Jungle Very Dangerous—No Pastime If You May Judge by the Stories Below.

In "A Tale of Several Lions," by Hercules D. Viljoen, in the June Era, the author writes:

"Van Aardt came to me and suggested a little lion hunting. Now, I knew lions as well as he; deliberate hunting for a lion who mourns a murdered mate was a proceeding so temerarious that the most foolhardy of professional hunters would not dare the conflict. But in the near neighborhood of the spot where Madame Lioness had been killed there was one lion with an earthquake voice whose rumblings fascinated the fiery spirit of Van Aardt.

"I am going," he said.

I could not let him go alone, for we had fought too often side by side. We started off, my reckless comrade laying out, in calmest confidence, the artless plan he had of walking up to that tumultuous hell of wrath incarnate and of blowing a few lethal holes in it with his Mauser.

As we came nearer, the roars ceased. The lion, weary with his imprecations of the night, had gone away from the scene of his bereavement for rest and sleep. But we found in the jungle's depths the footway he had trod; in a sentry path of 20 feet he had stalked back and forth for twelve hours, calling aloud for vengeance.

Kristmansen, who had looked upon Van Aardt as a hot-h ded madman for a time, decided he would use the morning for a peaceful springbok hunt, and took his Kaffir boy along. He went in the direction opposite to ours. After half an hour's close tracking, the Kaffir, who had been in advance, appeared at his elbow with impish suddenness, and in a whispered word:

"Baas, a lion!"

Kristmansen started ahead of him. There in a tiny clearing not 30 yards away, the monarch stood, his mane quivering with the intensity of his attention, and his brilliant eyeballs gleaming in the effort to penetrate the single veil of cover that hid the hunter from his view. The Kaffir had a faith in his master that was sublime.

"Shoot, Baas, shoot!"

Kristmansen knew that death stood waiting for him in the clearing beyond. The chances were all against a first fatal shot. The wounded lion would tear him into shreds of mangled flesh before he could have time to fly.

Step by step, his very breath pent up, he made the slow retreat. The Kaffir, fancying all his master need to do was to fire a single shot, accompanied him with an expression of disdain. For 10 good minutes, Kristmansen paced backwards, and then came swiftly to the camp again upon the chance of making up a party whose numbers would mean safety in a concerted attack. But the majority of us were away, and that lion, with all the others among the spouses of Faric's lioness, went unmolested from that day forth.

I was in Pretoria a little later and saw a sight that told me how wise Kristmansen had been. The oldest lion hunter of the Transvaal shook me by the hand—and used his left hand for the greeting. The other arm hung, withered and helpless, at his side. Only half his face was there to speak to me. The other half went into a lion's maw a few months earlier.

He was hunting springbok with his son, and carried an ancient muzzle loader. A dead shot, the old man decried a buck not 50 feet away, and kneeling, fired. The crack of the rifle was answered by the snarling roar of a wounded lion. The bullet, passing through the buck, had struck the mighty beast as he was about to spring. And it had no more than wounded him.

He leaped for the smoke, coming on in flying bounds, while my old friend fumbled wildly with his powder horn. He was too slow. The bullet had not dropped into the barrel before the lion was upon him.

One crunch of his tremendous jaws, and an arm was stripped to the bone. Another, and the side of his face had vanished. The cavernous throat above the prostrate man roared once more, before the teeth should clash together, when the son, running up, put his rifle barrel to the lion's side, and drove a half-ounce bullet through his heart.

The chances are in favor of the lion when accident brings him and man together.

Never Failing Rainmaker.

They watched the sky
For a sign of rain,
But all their watching
Was in vain.

The crops were scorched,
And the grass was brown
And dust six inches
Deep in town.

And when their hope
Was near worn out
A wise man brought them
A waterspout.

He coaxed the rain,
All damp and cool,
With a picnic for the Sunday school.

Fish Caught on the Premises.

In some of the big restaurants of Russia there is a pool of water in which various kinds of fish swim about. A patron of the restaurant who desires fish goes to the pool, points out the particular one he wishes, and in an instant the waiter has captured it with a dip net and sent it to the chef.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie's Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure.
Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR.
Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

If you want to find out which is really the best tea in Canada, buy a package of Blue Ribbon Ceylon and it won't take you long to decide

TRY OUR

KING EDWARD

Parlor Matches

The E. B. Eddy Co. Limited. Hull, Canada.

The latest and Finest Brand yet made.

The war is over! Dont pay war prices for highly puffed cheap TEA
Buy GOLD STANDARD
—best value in the world.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B.C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur.

The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases.

Its Waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic Troubles.

GASOLINE ENGINES

MINING MACHINERY AND STEAM PUMPS

ENGINES AND BOILERS, STATIONARY AND PORTABLE.

SAW, LATH AND SHINGLE MILL MACHINERY.

HAND AND STEAM LAUNDRY MACHINERY.

TINSMITH, BLACKSMITH AND CARPENTERS TOOLS.

FULL LINE OF MACHINE SUPPLIES.

THE A. R. WILLIAMS MACHINERY CO., LIMITED.

Toronto, - - - - - Ontario.

Only 44 persons took out papers of naturalization in the whole of the French colonies last year.

The superiority of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is shown by its good effects on the children. Purchase a bottle and give it a trial.

Vladivostock possesses the only crematorium that has been erected in the whole Russian empire.

Wilson's Fly Pads

(POISON)

One 10 cent package will kill more flies than 300 sheets of sticky fly paper. Clean and handy.

A BIRTHDAY GIFT.

A box of cigars for her hubby. Ten to one they are LUCINAS, because all ladies love their sweet aroma.

MANUFACTURED BY

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

W. N. U. No. 392.

Finding a nine-leaved "shamrock" a farm laborer at Groningen, Holland, sent it to Queen Wilhelmina, who accepted the gift, and rewarded the donor with $10.

TELL THE DEAF.—Mr. J. F. Kellock, Druggist, Perth, writes: "A customer of mine having been cured of deafness by the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, wrote to Ireland, telling his friends there of the cure. In consequence I received an order to send half a dozen by express to Wexford, Ireland, this week."

Queen Alexandra belongs to the ancient family of Holstein-Oldenburg, which for hundreds of years occupied the throne of Denmark. The families of the Dukes of Holstein date tory.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

I have learned to judge of men by their own deeds; I do not make the accident of birth the standard of merit.—Mrs. Hale.

To know what is just and not to practise it is cowardice.—Confucius.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for:—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING:

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " "	12.00
Fourteen " "	14.00
Sixteen " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 6. 1902.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

FORTY-NINE protests have been entered against the return of members in the legislature of Ontario since the elections on May 29th. If they are successful Ontario will come near having another general election.

* * *

IT is said that general manager Tonkin will make an investigation into the charges which the citizens of Morrissey are making against exhorbitant prices said to be charged in the Company's store in that town.

* * *

AT the open air meeting held on the recreation grounds on Labor Day those who were unfortunate enough to be around when Charlie O'Brien turned loose were deluged with such a stream of pent up socialism of the most radical type that they will not soon forget it. Charles is a kicker from away back—one of those red hot individuals who cannot tolerate anyone who has a different opinion to himself. With the exception of the preachers, he waded into everyone he could think of—the merchants, the hotelmen, the miners, the press—all fell under his severe displeasure. What he hopes to gain by his tirade of abuse is difficult to understand.

* * *

There is a good deal of misapprehension in the public mind, over the effect of the measures passed last session dealing with the provincial elections. The idea, more or less prevalent, that all existing voters list will be cancelled on the last day of August and new lists be commenced beginning with 1st of September, is wrong.

There are two acts dealing with this question, the Redistribution Act and the Provincial Elections Act. Section 5 of the former provides that after the coming into force of the Act the register of voters shall be canceled, the date fixed for the coming into effect of the act being upon the dissolution of the present Legislative Assembly (Section 13). Section 6 requires every person desiring to be registered to apply to the collector of votes according to Section 11 of the Provincial Elections Act.

In brief then, the lists will not be cancelled on the 31st inst., those seeking to have their name put on the voters list on or after Sept. 1st must comply with the provisions of the amended Provincial Elections Act; the list as now existing will remain in force until the lieutenant-governor dissolves the legislature, and after the dissolution everyone must re-register according to the same act.

Pauline Johnson, the Indian poetess, who made a tour of this province about three years ago, will shortly be heard by a Fernie audience. She will be accompanied by Mr. Walter McRaye, who has already made a name for himself as a delightful public entertainer. Miss Johnson and Mr. McRaye opened the season in Ottawa, under Vice-Regal patronage. The "Citizens" said that Miss Johnson's work was given in her usual vigorous and energetic style, and Mr. McRaye showed talent, sympathy and insight. Apart from their individual work, these artists present together most delightful little sketches. The St. John's "Herald" says of Miss Johnson: "Her several numbers, grave and gay, fired with passion, touched with sadness, and enlivened by flashes of humor, showed her to be not only a clever entertainer, but a clever exponent of dramatic art." Mr. McRaye has always made a specialty of depicting the quaint humorous habitant characters, immortalized by the Canadian poet and writer, Dr. Drummond, and has been the recipient of a most cordial and encouraging letter from the great author himself. It will be of interest to many who may have the pleasure of hearing Miss Johnson, to know that the silver ornamentalities on the Indian costume which she wears during the recitals are hammered from coin by the native silversmiths of her tribe. The scarlet blanket that completes her costume is interesting from having been used in the ceremony of conferring the title of Chief on H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, on which occassion two of the principals who performed the ceremony were Miss Johnson's grandfather, who fought with the British at Queenston Heights, and her father, the late Chief Johnson, (or Onwanyshau) of the six nation Indians, in Ontario. Miss Johnson and Mr. McRaye will give a recital in Princess Hall, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 16th, under the auspices of the Fernie lacrosse team.

J. C. Hutchison

Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES,
LIQUORS,
BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

Public Inquiries Act.

Public Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of this Act a Commission has been issued to John Bryden, of the City of Victoria, and Tully Boyce, of the City of Nanaimo, and Peter Secord Lampman, of the City of Victoria, Esquires, for the purpose of holding inquiry into and obtaining information respecting the causes of explosions in Coal Mines.

The said Commissioners will hold their first sitting at the town of Fernie, East Kootenay, on Monday, the eighth of September, 1902, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, of which all persons interested are hereby to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

J. D. PRENTICE,
Acting Provincial Secretary.

Provincial Secretary's Office,
25th August, 1902. 191-2

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a 21 year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 5760 acres, situated on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post planted on the east bank o Elk River, which is just north of the 35 mile C.P.R. surveyed line, thence east 60 chains, thence north 960 chains, thence west to east bank of Elk river, thence southward along the river to point of beginning, excepting therefrom any and all timber on the coal claims which will be staked within the next ten days, as shown on location posts.

A. D. MACRAE CO., LTD.

Dated Sept. 1st, 1902.

If Children are to Rise

rapidly in their studies, see that they are supplied with the latest and best

SCHOOL BOOKS

They are made to stand much use aed some abuse. Prices right.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

S. F. WALLACE.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south, west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

DON'T YOU NEED SOME

FLOOR OILS LINOLEUM.

If you do, call and let us show you our nice assortment of patterns which we have just imported direct from the manufacturers.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.

WM. S. KEAY.

Dated August 28, 1902. 191-8

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

MILTON A. KASTNER.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

Miss McBroom ia a guest of the Royal Hotel.

J. S. T. Alexander visited his sister in Kaslo this week.

Dr. Corsan returned on Monday from a trip to Winnipeg.

August Baldauf, Reynoldsville, Penn., arrived in town on Thursday.

Mrs. Fred Stork left last week for Brantford, Ont., where she will spend three or four months.

F. J. Watson and J. F. Jarvis were at Elko this week on a fishing and hunting expedition.

The London & Liverpool Co. in a few days will open the advance style of ready to wear fall millinery.

Miss E. Chambers spent Sunday and Monday in Fernie, returning to her home in Frank Monday evening.

Fred Cuthbert made an excellent catch of fish one day this week. He brought home 47 beauties.

Messrs A. W. Bleasdell, W. S. Keay and J. R. Pollock returned from Michel on Tuesday, where they had been on a fishing outing.

There will be no special train to Frank on the 10th and those who desire to go down from Fernie will have to spend two nights in the coal town.

The lacrosse boys are making every preparation for their game with Nelson on the 11th. The Nelson team anticipate an easy game, but we shall see.

H. W. Herchmer left on Thursday for Toronto. He expects to be gone about a month. It is said that Harry will join the ranks of the benedicts during his stay in the east. The happy event will come off in Lindsay on the 16th of this month.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Holy Communion 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

A number of local business men who are interested in a large placer claim on Perry Creek are putting in a steam shovel. Jas. McDonnell, of Foss & McDonnell, Morrissey, is one of the principal shareholders in the company. He is quite confident that they have a good proposition.

Some action will be taken in the near future by the miners of the town toward fitting up a more adequate and convenient reading rooms. It is thought that an effort will be made to put in a library. This is a step in the right direction. We venture to say that there is not a town in the country the size of Fernie without some sort of a public library.

Constable Farquharson, who has occupied the position of jailer in Fernie for the past year, has been let out, and Constable Koomer put in his position. Mr. Farquharson is a thoroughly capable man, besides being an old and respected citizen and his dismissal has drawn forth consierable adverse comment from the citizens generally.

The ball given under the auspices of the Builders' Association of Michel was the greatest social event ever held in that town. A large number of guests were present from Cranbrook, Morrissey, Fernie, Frank and they unite in expressing themselves as delighted with the hospitality extended to them by the citizens of Michel. The large new store which was the scene of the ball, was beautifully decorated and lighted with chinese lanterns and gas jets. About one hundred couples sat down to a magnificent spread at mid-night.

The few fortunate ones who attended the rally of the Lord's Day Alliance at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon heard one of the most inspiring addresses ever delivered in Fernie. The speaker, Rev. G. M. Campbell, of St. John, N.B., had as his subject, "Our Heritage and Responsibility." With convincing eloquence, he showed how great should be our national pride as subjects of the British Empire with its glorious past, and greater present. He referred to Canada as Greater Britain, greater in its possibilities as well as in its extent. He pointed out that in a new country like British Columbia there was apt to be a greater laxity of morals and that if we would conserve some of our most sacred institutions such as the Christain Sabbath, the work should begin in the home in the training of that rising generation which is some day to have an influence on the destinies of our country, whether it be for weal or for woe. The address was appropriately followed by the singing of the national anthem which concluded the meeting.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

L. Mills returned on Monday from a trip to the coast.

T. J. Mitchell has returned to our city with a large stock of tailoring goods.

Miss Lou Farquharson is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Crane, at Cowley, Alt.

The semi-annual election of officers of Gladstone Miners' Union takes place today.

A number of friends gave Mr. and Mrs. E. Neale a very pleasant surprise party last evening.

Mrs E. Todd will hold her millinery opening on Monday next. The ladies of the town are codially invited.

Miss McBroom arrived in Fernie this week to take charge of the London & Liverpool millinery department.

A number of Great Northern officials visited the new townsite of Morrissey yes- They also paid a visit to Morrissey mines.

We regret to state that Mr. T. C Thompson, who is laid up in the hospital with typhoid fever, has suffered a relapse. Howard is also very ill.

T. J. Mitchell will open up his tailoring establishment in Laidley's old stand on Monday, 8th inst, with a large and well assorted stock of tailoring goods.

Our styles in millinery this fall surpass all other seasons, all new, all better, more room, more light, worth your while to see the first.—London & Liverpool Co.

Look out for the 20th century supper which is to be given under the auspices of the B.Y.P.U. members of the Baptist church, on the 23rd inst., in the church, on Victoria Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. D. McMillan left for Port Moren, N.S., on Saturday evening last. Before leaving they had the body of their son, Raney, who was killed in the explosion, exhumed and sent east.

The shooting season opened on Monday and a large number of citizens took advantage of the opportunity to spend the day in the woods. Grouse are reported to be very numerous, but rather small.

Rev. C. W. Houghton spent several days at Crow's Nest Landing this week. During his stay there he had the pleasure of uniting in marriage Mr. Henry Fitzsimmons to Miss E. Rivers, both of that place.

Messrs. Foss & McDonnell have secured the contract for grading and putting in switches at Morrissey. Mr. McDonnell says that he has positive information that a round house and machine shops will be put in at the new town in the near future.

A new electric light plant will be installed at the mines shortly. Two twenty-five hundred candle power dynamos will be put in and power will be conducted from the mines to the town, thus doing away with the present power house in Fernie. The company intend to put in arc lights at each corner along Victoria Ave.

Cranbrook has got together an aggregation of baseball players that seems to be pretty hard to beat. They have defeated everything in their neighberhood and this week journeyed as far as Calgary in search of glory. In a game in the prairie town on Monday they defeated their opponents by a score of 13 to 9. On Tuesday, however, the Calgary boys recovered their lost honors, wining from Cranbrook by a score of 6-3. This is their first defeat out of eleven games played this season.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

We Want Your Trade

and we are confident that we can make it to your advantage to deal at the

New Furniture Store

We are willing to

BUY
SELL OR EXCHANGE
Secondhand Furniture and Stoves.

We have a full stock of new goods which we will sell at close rates. Give us a call.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Jarvis Keeps The Best

Canned Fish
Canned Meats
Canned Fruits
Canned vegetables
All kinds of Teas
Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

GROCERIES

J. F. Jarvis

ENVELOPES... FOR LADIES' USE

are made in such a variety of tints and dainty shapes that one can get almost any shape desired. The assortment here certainly permits of a pleasing choice. Everything that's correct style is in our stock.

OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES, also, we have a full line. Call on us when in want of INK, PAPER, PENS, ETC., ETC.

Fernie Drug Store.

Housekeepers!

The London & Liverpool Co. have the Greatest display of Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Lace Curtains and Linens ever Shown in B.C.

Carpets

Unions all-wool, Axministers, Brussels, Tapestry, Velvets, with a grand line of Wool, Brussels and Tapestry Art Squares.

Linoleum and Oil Cloth

Tile and Carpet Patterns in all the new colorings, 6 to 12 feet wide.

Lace Curtains

400 pair to select from, prices ranging from 50 cts. to $10.

Rugs In this department it is worth your while to visit even should you not buy. Such a grand collection never shown in the west.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

GUNS
for all kinds of Shooting and ammunition for all kinds of guns can be had from us.

We are fully prepared to equip, from our stock of Repeating Rifles, Shot Guns, Revolvers, Powder, Shot, loaded and unloaded shells, game bags, etc., any kind of a hunting expedition, and the quality of the goods will be found high standard. It will pay you to ascertain our prices.

Have a look in our Window as you pass

Crack Shot Rifles always in stock.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B. C.

The new town at the terminus of the Crow's Nest Southern R'y. The great coal and coke industries of the Morrissey mines will insure its permanency.

Competing railway lines will give its business men low transportation rates.

LOTS NOW ON SALE.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

PLANTS FOR SALE

A number of beautiful house plants for sale at reasonable prices. Apply to
MRS. KATHARINE McKAY.
This side of bridge, near Mott's mill.
3-4t

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"Dog, miss?" said a passing steward. "Is he a passenger? Then the butcher will have him safe. If not, guess he is made into sausages by this time, for the chief officer's bound to have him hanged."

"I have paid for the dog's ticket, and perhaps you will be good enough to di-

When I took him in hand he displayed the same restlessness.

rect me to the butcher," I said sharply. "I wish to see that the dog is made comfortable."

"He'll be that, miss, sure enough, if he's peaceably disposed; otherways Sam McKillop has a heavy hand with the rope's end."

Full of misgivings for Roy, whose cross grained nature seemed likely to get him into trouble, I went in all haste to the far stern, picking my way among all sorts of dirt till some one produced Sam McKillop, a big, burly man, with rough black beard and great, bare, hairy arms.

"That's me. Who wants Sam Mc Killop? Will it be you, mem?"

"It's about my dog, Mr. McKillop," I said sweetly. "A golden collie; answers to the name of Roy."

"I mind him. But did you say you, mem? I was thinking anither person owned him—him as brocht him to me."

"I don't know who that could be. But I am in charge of him, and I want you to be kind to him"—I handed over a sovereign—"and to bear with him, for he has a queer temper sometimes. I hope he will give you no trouble."

"Ma certie he'll give no trouble. I'm no' fashed for that. He's douce and quiet eneuch, I'm thinking. Cam' here like a wee lammie trotting at the heels of the chap that brocht him."

"Was it some one who caught him, do you think? I should like to know."

"Mayhap. But I thocht he owned him, the beast lippened to him so kindly, and he lay down just at a word, as though from an old friend."

"Found out his mistake like a sensible creature, I suppose, and thought it best to settle down till he found me. Will you take me to see him, Mr. McKillop, please?"

"He's yonder, in the hutch under the bulkhead; snug in his straw, and making the best o't—a lesson to mair contrairy Christians."

I followed the indication, and there was Roy lying at ease in his rude kennel; his beautiful head rested on his two fore paws, and he looked perfectly contented and happy. At my approach he barely lifted his large, sleepy eyes, but there was something like a wink of recognition in them, accompanied by a rustle in the straw from the wagging of his ponderous tail.

This complete change in his demeanor was a pleasant surprise. I did not seek to explain it to myself, but speaking a few words of encouragement, I left him. More pressing matters called me aft. The steamer was already beyond the shelter of the land, and the sea had risen under a fast freshening summer gale.

I was not sorry to get back to my berth, and soon had no further concern with mundane affairs or the passage of time. My only recollections of the next three days are a confused memory of acute discomfort. We were all wretchedly ill—mother, poor dear! Fanshawe, of course, and I, although hitherto I had liked the sea.

My own collapse was, no doubt, the reaction from the keen anxieties that had oppressed me before departure. They were as keen as ever now; but when I roused myself from the stupor of seasickness, and crawled up on deck to breathe the magnificent ozonized air of the Atlantic, I felt revived and more fit to face them.

Some one helped me to my deck chair. It was my friend Mr. Rossiter. Some one had placed it in a sheltered corner—Mr. Rossiter. Some one got wraps for me, and a novel, and a deck steward with a cup of invigorating beef tea; this same some one left me in peace to recover health and strength—always Mr. Rossiter. I blessed the kindly, considerate chivalry of American men.

Now, as I lounged there lazily, I began to look into things a little more closely, and to consider how far I had advanced matters or served the cause by this escapade of mine.

I had failed in the very first task I had set myself, that of keeping a watch upon the conspirators. I had seen nothing of them for three days. I knew no more about them than when I had come on board, and I had no clear notion how I should act when I arrived in New York, what would be best, or what would come of anything I did. Despair and despondency seized me; I felt utterly helpless, useless, and was full of self reproach. Yet daylight was nearer than I thought. I now saw Mr. Rossiter approaching and leading Roy by his chain.

"Here's some one you may be glad to see," he said pleasantly. "I got leave to give him a short run."

"Your dog? What a handsome creature!" said a lady seated by my side, and, turning, I saw to my surprise it was the Duchess of Tierra Sagrada. Roy, who was a lump of conceit, perfectly understood the compliment. It was one of his well behaved days. He sat there, solemn and self satisfied, giving a paw and doing all his little tricks almost without asking, while the duchess petted and made much of him without the least protest on his part.

Then with a quick motion of not unnatural curiosity the duchess looked at his collar. It was no doubt a civil way of finding out who I was, but the result was something of a shock to us both. For when she started back in surprise that had terror in it, I remembered that his collar still bore his master's name and regiment, "Captain W. A. Wood, ——th regiment."

"Who are you? What does this"—she began hurriedly, but recovered herself and said, with great self-control: "You know a Captain Wood, then? We have one on board too. I wonder if they are related. You must allow me to introduce you. He is traveling with us."

Before I could answer a man stood over us and a harsh voice called her by name, but in a language I did not understand. She got up with prompt obedience, that I set down to anxiety to tell her husband (of course it was the duke) what she had discovered. But as they walked away together he did all the talking, and from the inflection I felt sure he was taking her sharply to task.

"Yes, he's rating her soundly," remarked Mr. Rossiter. "Reckon not many American women would stand that sort of talk from their husbands. He's telling her she ought not to have taken up with you—that he had expressly ordered her to make no chance acquaintances. It's a queer game about that dog."

"What do you know about the dog?" I asked, quite frightened.

"Everything, Miss Fairholme. More than you do, I guess," he said, with a little laugh.

"Who are you?"

"A friend. But this is too public a place to talk in. Are you equal to a turn upon the deck? We shall be safe away aft there, and it will be supposed we are exercising the dog."

I went readily enough and was greatly comforted by what I heard. This Mr. Rossiter, who had been so attentive, was an ally and agent of Mr. Snuyzer, who had been deputed to take his place in case he could not go himself by our steamer.

"I am one of Saraband's people, too, although not so high in their confidence as Saul J. He is a daisy and has won his place by many fine operations. I am only beginning, but I hope well. Things are moving in the right direction. Before you leave this ship, before many hours pass perhaps, I shall be able to give you some startling surprises, only you must await the right time."

He sat there, solemn and self satisfied, giving a paw and doing all his little tricks.

I could not find words to thank him and went back to my seat tremulous with excitement, yet patient and contented, willing to trust this new and most unexpected ally.

[CONTINUED.]

Joy Poisoning.

A treatment highly recommended by a scientific magazine for poisoning from ivy is to wet a slice of bread with water, dust it with common washing soda and apply to eruption, keeping the bread wet from the outside. Half an hour of this treatment is said to be a sure cure.

Table Decoration.

An attractive way of decorating the table for a small function is to stand a tall crystal vase in a shallow bowl of cut or baccaret glass, the bowl filled with short stemmed flowers and the vase with a few long stemmed blossoms.

A SINCERE TRIBUTE

AN IRISHMAN TELLS OF THE GOOD NATURE OF BRITAIN'S KING.

A Man Who Never Did an Inconsiderate Thing, Who Never Said a Tactless Thing, But Whose Life Has Been of Necessity Devoted to the Non-Essentials of Being—Fond of Popular Liberties.

James O'Donnell Bennett writes thus of King Edward VII.:

His gift for making everybody feel good was positive genius and no figment of a truckling imagination.

When the royalties rode through the streets of London this one and that one was greeted with various degrees of respect and affection— the old Queen with reverence, Alexandra with chivalry, as if she were the sweetheart of the Empire, the Empress Frederick with tender sympathy.

But Edward with cheers, in which there were good humor and good-fellowship. It was amazing to see how instantly his appearance in a royal pageant relieved the tension, and set people up comfortably on their weary legs. His mother received the tribute of awe, his sisters the tribute of respect, but for him was reserved the pleasantest sound that can greet the ears of a prince—cheers with the welcome of laughter in them.

The people would begin to grin amiably as soon as the word ran down the line, "The Prince is coming." When he hove in sight there was nothing perfunctory about the greetings. They vibrated with the spirit of fun, deep-chested, jovial cheers, such as greet a winning sportsman or a popular idol, whom we are glad to see in continued luck.

It was so on Jubilee day of '97, when he rode on horseback directly behind his mother's carriage. The eyes of thousands filled when they saw her— that sad, serene little figure, above whom hovered the brightness of so many glories, the shadow of so many sorrows. Then they saw the larrybuck prince whom they had loved and berated and forgiven for nearly half a century, and they hastily brushed away the tears and gave him once again the deep-voiced welcome that has the laugh of comradeship behind it.

Again, I saw him late one night, when with much rumbling of wheels and clattering of hoofs and jingling of accoutrements, he and his retinue swept out of the narrow Strand and into the broad expanse of Trafalgar-square. He was on his way from a command performance of opera at Covent Garden to Marlborough House. The streets were flooded with light and you could see him plainly through the glass doors and sides of his carriage. He was pale, and I swear his face would have seemed merely stupid had it not been so serene. The Hussars followed his carriage, instead of riding arounn it. I have never seen a man in a position that was in itself so abjectly helpless. Only the will to harm him was required to make his position perilous in the last degree. Yet there was in his eye a placid look of trustfulness and affection that stirred a kindly feeling in more than one republican heart. The wheels of his carriage all but brushed our coats as we gaped at him. He was dressed in a scarlet uniform, and blazing with decorations. He looked just what he was—a splendid, pleasing figure-head, serving an entirely and harmless and, in some respects, a very useful purpose.

The tired, close-packed multitudes cheered him way inside the palace gates and the glimpse of him had so restored the gala spirit of the long-drawn-out, tiring day that everybody scurried for the neighboring cafes to drink his health.

This man, without whom the world could have got on just as well as it has with him, has been the object of intense loyalty and affection for a generation and a half, because he has an intensely loyal and affectionate nature.

He has loved to be loved, and he has worked on the principle that the surest way to receive affection is to inspire it.

More than any other public figure of our time, he has been all things to all men, more than once so complaisantly so as to bring reproach upon himself.

He has made it the business of his life to cultivate the amenities, the genial superfluities, that help to make existence pleasanter, if not more purposeful.

He possesses social sagacity in its perfection and unparalleled adaptability. He can contribute a sane hint or a feasible plan to a family conference in which sit the throned heads of Russia, England, Denmark and Greece, and he can say the pleasant, cheering word at a dinner of London cab drivers.

Consider, in making your estimate of him, the interesting fact every one of his multifarious occupations has had to do with the non-essentials of life.

For a man who has been dilettante-student, traveler, horseman, administrator of social functions, amateur farmer, hunter, yachtsman and connoisseur of pictures — for such a man to have at all impressed his personality on his time is marvelous. This the Prince and King certainly has done to some extent.

Just now it might perhaps be hard to say, and the value, such as it is, of his work can perhaps not be more exactly sum up now than by saying that he made society more genial and less snobbish.

This was the task of only an arbiter elegantiarum, to be sure, and so makes no very great entry in the sum total of the world's progress. But it was a task worth doing, nevertheless, and when he ceases to fulfil it Europe will look in vain among her loftily placed ones for a man to carry on the fosterings of society's elegancies as tactfully and handily as he did.

It may not be much to go down in history as the pleasant, agreeable, Prince, who never did an inconsiderate thing and never said a tactless thing, but it is something.

"Molto amabile," the nuns of the Sepolte Vive call him to this day, and cherish the memory of this visit, for he talked with them sympathetically, and was interested in their handiwork. "Molto amabile" he has been to all the world, patiently and consistently. "Plaisant a tout le monde." Prince Metternich, who had a shrewd eye for character, called him when he was a boy. That sturdy, uncompromising republican, Gambetta, shook his head in bewilderment after he had chatted with him and said: "Oh, those lucky Englishmen! Their very princes are fonder of popular liberties than are our very liberals."

All because the prince had uttered the neither original nor startling, but very tactful remark that every nation had a right to choose its own form of government!

Fond of liberty, and particularly of his own liberty to come and go as he liked, and to amuse himself as he pleased, Edward VII. has been all his life. He has respected the rights of other people and he has debonairly taken it for granted that other people would respect his. It required some courage to do this, for had he invariable truckled to the rigorous exactions of the nonconformist conscience he would have had a poor time. Despite the fact that he has a will of his own, he steered safely clear of scandalizing the possessors of the nonconformist conscience on the one hand and being a prig and a hypocrite on the other.

The English are an intensely materialistic and practical people, in their pleasures, as well as their business and their politics. Edward has been liked and loved by them because he is, in a superlative degree, what they are. They set a great store by material good things, and he has been a frank, breezy, unaffected exposition of their tastes, liking good horses, good wine, good fellows — masculine or feminine—good hunting, good clothes, good manners—liking, in a word, the things a prosperous Englishman likes, and gets, if he can.

As Gambetta said, he is a better democrat than many who profess the faith. He forbade the members of his household and his servants to address his children as their Royal Highnesses. He snubbed the Norfolk gentry unmercifully because they took umbrage at his inviting the sturdy farmers on his Sandringham estates to the same festivities to which he had bidden them. He had his boys trained by old sailors on the Britannia and the Bacchante, to the end that they might know how to do a man's work dexteriously and feel an honest artisan's pride in it.

He has found his keenest enjoyment when he could knock about remote corners of the world with his wife under the alias of "Mr. and Mrs. Williams."

He has made the purple, red and black respected on the great race courses of England, as a token of honest, gentlemanly sport.

He has relieved social life of some of its foolish complexities, by inventing the semi-dress coat and the short dinner.

All his life long he has been gentle, frank, engaging, fun-loving, discreet-speaking—and he has never hurt anybody's feelings—which is a kingly thing in itself.

AFRICA'S SLEEPING SICKNESS.

British Scientists to Study Strange and Usually Fatal Disease.

An expedition organized by the British Foreign Office and the Royal Society recently left England for East Africa to investigate the whole subject of the "sleeping sickness" in Uganda. The expedition consists of Dr. Low, who lately returned from investigating yellow fever in St Lucia, and who recently carried out some highly interesting experiments in regard to malaria in the Roman Campagna; Dr. Christy, who has done valuable medical work on the Niger and in connection with the plague in India, and Dr. Castellani, of the Jenner Institute.

These gentlemen will go direct from Marseilles to Entebbe, the headquarters in Uganda, via Mombasa. It is hoped to conclude the preliminary investigation into the subject in about eight months. The observers will not only study in the various provinces of the Uganda Protectorate the history and causes of the disease, with a view to remedial measures, but also the area within which the malady has declared itself.

"Sleeping sickness," or negro lethargy, is a very fatal disease, which has been long known in West Africa, but has recently traveled along the Congo into Uganda. The fear is that it will spread in this region. It has many features in common with the general paralysis of the insane. Hitherto it has only attacked natives, and three cases were recently under treatment in London hospitals. Latest reports from Uganda indicate that in Busoga alone 20,000 persons have succumbed, and it is said to be still on the increase.

NEWSPAPER OUTFITS

¶ We supply at short notice complete JOB PRINTING AND NEWSPAPER OUTFITS.

¶ We sell what Printers want; Printers want what we sell.

¶ We carry a complete stock of Type and Supplies for the composing Room, Pressroom and Bindery.

TORONTO TYPE FDRY Company, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

King William's Determination.

There are some interesting glimpses of William IV and Queen Adelaide in a volume which Mr. Brimley Johnson has ready for Publication. It consists of the letters and personal reminiscences of the late Miss Clitherow of Boston House. We learn, for one thing, that King William made a "determination never to lay his head on his pillow till he had signed everything he ought to on the day." This caused him "cruel suffering" from cramp, and he had often to stop in the middle of work and "put his hand in hot water." The documents which have to be signed by the King in these days must be many more.—London Chronicle.

A Martyr to Science.

Bootmaker—You'll excuse me, sir, but can I see that those boots are too tight for you. They'll give you corns. Customer — My good man, that's what I require. I'm the clerk of the Weather, and I want to know when to be able to predict rain with certainty.—Pick-Me-Up.

A Lost Opportunity.

"I was bunked in with a lot of cowboys at an Arizona hotel one night," said the Chicago drummer, "and had been asleep for an hour or so when one of my teeth began to ache and woke me up. I went down stairs after whisky, and I nearly burned my tongue out with pepper sauce, and I finally had to dress and sit up beside the office stove the remainder of the night. In the morning the boys noticed my swollen face as they came down, and one of them looked me over and asked:

"'Well, pard, what is it?'

"'Toothache.'

"'Bother you all night?'

"'All night long.'

"'Humph! You must be a queer sort of cuss. Why didn't you say something about it and let one of us shoot the durned thing out by the roots?'"

The Most Mendacious Pastime.

They tell us how George Washington
Made truth his constant mission.
He must have missed a lot of fun
By never "goin' fishin'."

Obliging.

"Please give me something," the tramp said as he came into the office. "Anything will help me out."

So the man gave him his boot.

The Bill.

"That fills the bill!" When first 'twas heard
In use this common term?
Perhaps 'twas when the early bird
Had caught the early worm.

Honest.

"Is he honest?"

"Honest! Why, say, I don't believe that man would cheat an Indian out of his reservation if he had the chance."

A Lost Art of the Hindoos.

The Hindoos appear to have made wrought iron directly from the ore without passing it through the furnace, an art now lost. Elaborate iron pillars made by that system are still seen in India, some of them dating from ten centuries before the opening of the Christian era.

Prussian Forests and Fruits.

Of the 86,151,083 acres of land in Prussia 23 per cent is occupied by forests and orchards.

As a rule the man who gets in a pickle doesn't look well preserved.

White flour is a delusion. A dog fed only on it will die in 12 days.

Daylight and truth meet us with clear dawn.—Milton.

BARTON ON STRIKES

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER THINKS GREAT STRIKES IN U. S. A SERIOUS MATTER.

THEY ARE NEXT TO IMPOSSIBLE IN AUSTRALIA.—A NEW YORK INTERVIEW.

Sir Edmund Barton, prime minister and minister of external affairs of the new Australian Commonwealth, who was one of the members of the recent conference of British colonial premiers in London and who is on his way back to Australia, accompanied by Sir John Forest, minister of defense, Austin Chapman, member of the New South Wales House of Representatives and government whip, has visited the leading financial institutions and met many leading business men.

Sir Edmunh took a leading part in the recent enactment of the arbitration law of New South Wales and is much interested in the progress of the anthracite coal strike in this country. In an interview he considers the frequency of great strikes in the United States a serious matter, one which requires careful study on the part of the people and of congress.

"I think," he said, "that we in Australia are very much in advance of your country in the matter of dealing with industrial conditions. By the terms of our arbitration law great strikes are made practically impossible. Arbitration is compulsory and when disputes arise between employers and employed both parties are required to submit the issue to a board of arbitration, which is under government control. A judge of the supreme court is the head of the board, and two assessors are named to act with him, one appointed by each side.

"A money deposit, sufficiently large to make both the parties to the dispute unwilling to forfeit it, is required to be paid into the court before the arbitration begins. The deposit is a guarantee that both sides will abide by the finding of the board. Since the enactment of this compulsory arbitration law, strikes in New South Wales are unknown."

CROP MOVIEG SEPT. 10.

Threshing Now in Progress—Will Be Able to Handle Crop.

Mr. E. A. James, superintendent of transportation of the C.P.R., returned this morning from Calgary and the west, where he has been sizing up the situation with a view to ascertaining what plans should be adopted in transporting the coming output of grain. It will not be until about Sept. 10, Mr James says, before the wheat movement will commence.

So long as the movement is not crowded into too short a time and the company are not blocked by bad weather he does not anticipate any trouble in getting the crop out of the country. Threshing is now starting all along the line, and cutting through the Territories, where the harvest is later, is now general.

ITALIAN IMMIGRATION.

Report of a Traveller Will Be Prepared.

A telegram from Ottawa says: A. Bendatto De Paoli, an Italian, who has been touring through Canada for some time, has prepared a lengthy report to his government in favor of immigration from that country to Canada. He proposes to being parties who are adapted for agricultural purposes to settle in the Northwest.

NEW WHEAT ON THE MARKET.

The first car of new wheat reached the city Friday from Dominion City. It has not been officially graded yet, but those who have seen it say that the wheat is No. 1 hard, and a very fine one hard at that. Others cars are expected to-day and to-morrow from Dominion City and Gretna.

A LIBERAL OFFER.

Montreal. — The Elder-Dempster Steamship company has made an offer to the Canadian Manufacturers' association to carry agents appointed to South Africa free.

FIRE AT OTTAWA.

Ottawa.—Fire took place in T. Burn's confectionery store on Sparks street, early Friday morning. Loss about $4,000, covered by insurance.

It seems to be in the nature of things that some should be hewers of wood and some should be drawers of dividends.—Puck.

PRIMA FACIE CASE OF LYING.

The latest olive story comes from New York. An Irishman who had recently acquired considerably wealth desired to dine at Delmonico's for the first time. As he sat down his attention was attracted by a man at the next table who was reading a newspaper and eating a dish of olives. When three of four had disappeared the newcomer turned to the waiter and said:

"What's them he's ating?"

"Olives, sir."

"Bring me two dozen."

When they came the Irishman slapped two of them into his mouth and began to chew. Suddenly he spat them out, stones and all. He looked at the man who was calmly eating away. Then he went over, touched him on the shoulder and said: "Excuse me, sir, but do you like them things?"

"Yes, sir."

"You're a liar."

EATING CLAY AND SAWDUST.

Portuguesse Find That Their Bread is Adulterated 53 Per Cent.

The Times correspondent at Oporto says that the Portuguese, who are not allowed to import foreign flour, have just discovered that they have been living on bread adulterated with such things as ground rice husks, china clay and sawdust.

Some specimens of bread analyzed contained 53 per cent. china clay.

The correspondent says that the public is rather amused than indignant. People are talking "earning our daily sawdust."

CROWN OUT OF REPAIRS.

King Edward's State crown, which was placed on his head by the Archbishop of Canterbury in Westminster Abbey, is now in the hands of goldsmiths for repairs. His Majesty wore the crown on his return to Buckingham Palace from the Abbey, and when entering the State coach struck it against the roof of the vehicle, damaging it slightly.

The crown, together with the jewels set in it, is valued at £500,000.

"The Rev. Dr. Knott was just grand, wasn't he?" exclaimed the Chicago bridegroom. "Didn't you like the way he read our wedding service?"

"Indeed I did," replied the bride. "I'm determined to have him on every future occasion of the sort."—Philadelphia Press.

Banff, N. W. T.—Lawrence Baynes Reed, of Victoria, B.C., shot himself dead here.

No reason can be given for his action at present. An inquest will likely be held.

Lombard Architecture.

The Lombard style of architecture, to which our Norman is allied, placed the support conspicuously in the wall. Of great thickness, with large blank spaces unpierced and prominent, the walls plainly tell their work and their capacity to do it. The ornamentation is subservient to the idea. Shallow recesses and paneling bring the surface of the wall into prominence. Where they are pierced for window or door the beveling and molding in perspective increase the idea of strength. The arcading points to the depth. The circular arch indicates the solidity of the wall above. The circular windows were adapted to emphasize the notion of power.

In the Egyptian the wall is unnoticed, in the Greek it receded from view, in the Byzantine it played no part, in the Moresque it is chopped up and scattered, but in the Lombard, without buttress or pilaster, it asserted itself as the main element of support. —London Tablet.

Sacred Nuts of Japan.

Although well known to travelers and collectors of curiosities, the horn nut, or "sacred nut," of Japan was almost wholly unknown to fruit and nut dealers in this country prior to 1888, when a New York commission merchant received the first large consignment. They are called "sacred nuts" because used in certain forms of Japanese worship, where they are placed on the altar and ignited. Being very rich in oil, they burn with a hot, bluish flame and give off a peculiar odor, the fumes being supposed to rise as an acceptable incense to the gods. They grow under water and have a leaf like an American lily, the form of the nut itself being an almost exact counterpart of an Asian buffalo's head, drooping horns and all. In the raw state they are hard and tasteless, but when cooked the flavor resembles that of boiled chestnuts. They are said to retain their edible qualities for upward of twenty years.

Absentminded.

A professor of one of the universities is famous for his absentmindedness. He recently went into a barber's shop to get his hair cut. Taking a seat in the chair, he remarked:

"As it is quite cool in this room perhaps I had better keep my hat on while you cut my hair."

ANOTHER ERUPTION

MONT PELEE AGAIN CAUSES DEATH AND DESTRUCTION IN WEST INDIES.

TWO HUNDRED PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES IN A TIDAL WAVE.

A cable from Castries, Island of St. Lucia, B. W. I., Sept. 1 says: The British steamer Korona arrived here yesterday from Fort De France, Island of Martinique. She reports that a terrible eruption of Mont Pelee occurred at nine o'clock Saturday night and that people who arrived at Fort De France from the northern part of the island report that the village of Morne Rouge (near the district previously devastated) had been entirely destroyed and that Le Carbet (a village on the coast, close to the southern end of the territory, which was destroyed at the time of the great eruption) has been swept by a tidal wave. About two hundred persons lost their lives.

A sloop from the Island of St. Vincent, which reached here this morning reports that Mont Pelee's crater is now quiet, but that the detonations during Saturday night were the loudest heard up to that time and that the inhabitants were terribly alarmed.

Basse-Terrek, Island of Gaudaloupe, French West Indies, Sunday, August 31.—The French trans-Atlantic company's steamer Salvador, which has just arrived at Port Au Prie, has reported that she left Fort De France, Island of Martinique, yesterday afternoon and passed Mont Pelee at 7 o'clock the same evening. The volcano was then in violent eruption. On approaching the islands of Les Saintes (small islands off the south extremity of Gaudeloupe) ashes were falling on the vessel.

Another dispatch from Castries says: Mont Pelee has been in eruption since August 15. It is impossible to approach the ruined town of St. Pierre from the sea. The people of the village of Le Carbet, on the coast, are terror-stricken and flying to the interior. Hot water is pouring down on Lorrain and Basse Pointe villages, to the northeast of the crater. Horrible detonations were heard, the ground rocked and quaked, and articles on tables were thrown to the floors. In addition to the 200 persons reported to have lost their lives at Le Carbet and Morne Rouge, many other persons are said to have been killed all over the northern districts of the island.

CONDENSED NEWS.

The first car of Manitoba's new wheat has been graded No. 1 hard.

About 30 passengers were killed in a railway wreck on the Southern line in Alabama.

A. Botuck, a C. N. R. sectionman, was seriously injured in jumping from a train at Lorette, Man.

Miss Boucher, of Boucherville, Ont., and Miss Mitchell, of Rat Portage, were drowned by the swamping of a canoe in the Winnipeg river.

Labor day was observed in Winnipeg by a monster parade in the morning and sports in the afternoon.

There is uneasiness in British Africa circles over the predominance of Boer sentiment in the government. Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain may suspend constitutional government.

Practically all the Canadian West crop of 1901 has been moved, and the report of the inspector at Winnipeg shows that 46,200,000 bushels of wheat were inspected. The total yield of wheat is placed at 60,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg is expanding most rapidly. Its new buildings this year will value three million dollars.

The carriage makers of Ontario have decided to raise their prices for work.

Quebec province has a surplus of $24,000 for the year ending June 30 last.

It is reported that Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal, will be made a cardinal.

William King, of Hamilton, was injured in a fight with his father, and may die.

Thomas Wilkinson, a plasterer, was killed while at work on a building at the Toronto fair grounds.

A letter received at Ottawa says that plague has killed one-half the native population of Alaska.

The Ottawa fair authorities threatened to arrest a Manitoba government agent for trying to secure harvest hands at the exhibition.

Germany has decided to impose a retaliatory duty of 15 per cent. on Canadian wheat.

A tornado hurled a Chicago & Northwestern train off the track at Waseca, Minn., killing two and injuring others.

MILLIONAIRE SUICIDES.

A. G. Mitchell, of Michigan, Jumps From a Steamer.

A. G. Mitchell, reputed to be a milliobaire from Michigan, a passenger on the steamer Copetic, committed suicide when the vessel was three days out from San Francisco. Mitchell, who was accompanied by C. E. Miller, a nurse, was reported to be on a trip around the world for his health. On the morning of his death he was talking to two ladies on the promenade deck. Suddenly he ran to the side of the vessel and sprang overboard. The steamer was stopped and a boat lowered, but there was no trace of Mitchell. It is believed by the steamship people that he was swept under the propeller. His mind, it is thought, was unhinged by illness.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Nearly 160 new elevators are being built in the west to hold the new crop.

A by-law fixing the rate of taxation at 23¼ mills on the dollar has been passed by the Winnipeg city council.

Michael Berland, of Beliscorners, Ont., was killed by a train at Ottawa.

Cecil Hart, who was accidentally shot near Indian Head, died since of his injuries.

Five tenders have been received for the erection of the royal mint at Ottawa.

It is reported that the C. P. R. are likely to build a tourists' hotel at Fort William.

Peter Fournier and a man named Labelle have been arrested at Dawson for murder.

J. McMillan, of Dawson, has been sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary for burning two steamers.

Fire did $75,000 damage at Rossland, B. C., destroying much of the business portion of the city.

Dr. A. St. Marie, of Gracefield, Que., says there is grave danger of a smallpox outbreak in that district.

Senator Drummond, of Montreal, says Halilax is proper all-year-round terminul for the fast Atlantic service.

John C. Bullitt, who framed the present charter of Philadelphia, is dead.

Premier Combes, of France, has announced that he intends to resign shortly.

Dr. Grace may bring an English cricket team to Canada.

Some 5,000 people will be settled this year in the Temiskaming district of Western Ontario.

The C. P. R. will discontinue the Imperial Limited service about September 20.

Hon. F. W. Borden, it is learned, personally received knighthood from King Edward.

The total number of harvesters to to leave the east for Manitoba and the Northwest Territories was 11,073

EARTHQUAKE IN TORONTO.

The Toronto observatory reports that an earthquake tremor passsed through that city on the night of Thursday, August 21. The seismograph records vibrations as commencing at 22:20 and continuing for two hours, the strongest recorded between 23:00 and 23:20 o'clock. This same tremor has been recorded in European observatories and is thought to be part of an extensive earthquake of the greatest force in the neighborhood of Japan. Observers anticipate news of an extensive earthquake in the east at the hour recorded.

TRIBUTE TO CANADA.

Speaking at a meeting of the Milford Docks company in London recently, the chairman, Mr. Newbon, said he had reason to hope that Milford would become the terminal port of the Anglo-Canadian fast mail service. History, said Mr. Newbon, is now made by millionaires. One of these told him that if the Britishers did not appreciate the advantages of Milford, Americans would form a pool and utilize it. America was showing Great Britain that she must wake up, and Canada in this matter was very much awake.

"BEST IN THE WORLD."

Replying to a correspondent who asked Field Marshall Lord Wolseley if the report was correct that he had described the American army as "the best in the world," the field marshall writes that he believes the quotation accurately describes that army.

WOODSTOCK ACCIDENT.

While exercising a horse near Tolden's, about eight miles south of Woodstock, William Crawford was thrown and had his skull crushed. His recovery is believed to be impossible.

THE PACIFIC CABLE

WORK IS PROGRESSING FAVORABLY AT BOTH ENDS OF THE LINE.

IT IS EXPECTED TO BE IN READINESS FOR OPERATION BY CHRISTMAS.

The steamer Colonia, having on board several thousand miles of cable to drop in the ocean between Vancouver and Fanning Island, will reach the former point about the 13th of next month. This is the latest advice received by Mr. James Wilson, western division superintendent of telegraphs of the C. P. R., who has been inspecting the island section of the great project.

When the cable steamer commences her task of laying the line that will connect two hemispheres she will have entered upon her initial task, and the work for which she was constructed. The contract for building her was awarded in June, 1901, and in about a year she was completed. Singularly enough the Telegraph Construction & Maintenance company, of London, England, obtained the contract for the construction of the ten thousand miles of cable required about the same time, and its task was completed in a similar period.

Already the great insular continent beneath the Southern Cross has drawn considerably towards this coast. The Anglia, the marine colleague of the Colonia, has completed the cable-laying between Australia and New Zealand and the Fiji Islands. The Colonia is expected to complete her undertaking—the connection of Fanning Island and Vancouver Islands—in twenty-five days, and will likely meet the Anglia at the mid-Pacific island. The entire work will be finished by Dec. 1.

Work on the island line to connect with the cable at Bamfield creek is progressing satisfactorily. The working parties are drawing gradually together, the starting place of one being Nanaimo, and the other Bamfield Creek. The former have traversed 20 miles, and the latter 12. They will meet at Alberni about the 15th of next month. The men working from the west coast have the more difficult task, and 54 miles along the Alberni canal to be covered being the roughest kind of country. Trees are utilized for telegraph poles along there, and they fill the bill admirably. They are cut the required height, uniformly shaped, and, of course, being rooted in their native soil, are very secure.

In constructing telegraph lines a great deal of attention has to be paid to menacing trees in the vicinity. These are destroyed along the route, and in some places entail conable cost. The superintendent instanced one section in which this work cost $40 per mile. It is, however, the ounce of prevention which, in this case, is worth a ton of cure, because there is nothing more disagreeable than the interruption of the telegraph service through the vagaries of a monster tree. Occasionally a respectable pine may be spared, owing to its splendid proportions and apparent security, but it turns out sometimes to be a rude deceiver, and comes crashing down on the wires, isolating many communities from the rest of the world.

Cable messages from Australia and the southern islands for United States points will be transferred to the Western Union wire at Vancouver, instead of Victoria.

A dispatch from Montreal, dated August 27, says: "By Christmas the people in Great Britain will be able to send their holiday greetings to their kith and kin at the Antipodes, to Australian and New Zealand colonies and vice versa, by the new Pacific cable," is the important announcement made by Mr. JamesKent, manager of the C. P. R. Telegraph company. R. E. Peake, electrician of the C. P. R. cable, is expected here next week and will proceed at once to the coast to superintend the landing of the cable at Bamfield, B. C., on Vancouver Island.

BREEDER'S HEAVY LOSS.

Mr. James Snell, of Clinton, Ont., the well known breeder of thoroughbred stock, had the misfortune to lose his barns on August 26 by fire, together with their contents, which represented his entire crop for this year. He also lost a thoroughbred bull in the flames. The insurance is about $3,000.

TROUBLE IN TRANSVAAL.

A strong force of British troops has been dispatched to the western border of the Transvaal, ostensibly to relieve troops ordered to India, but it is currently reported that this step is taken owing to disturbances among the natives. Rumors are also current in Johannesburg of an intention to annex or establish a protectorate in Swaziland, where a strong force of constabulary is now posted.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

One suite of housekeeping rooms on Pellatt ave., three doors across from hospital, very reasonable. Also six well-furnished rooms to let.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described lands, situate on the west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district commencing at a post marked D. J. Johnson's south east corner, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's south west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

D. J. JOHNSON.

Dated Aug, 25th, 1902.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF MINING MEN.

Wm. Blakemore, of Montreal, and W. L. Hardie, of Lethbridge, will represent this section.

Mining men throughout the Kootenays are looking forward with great interest to the forthcoming meeting at Nelson of the British Columbia section of the Canadian Mining Institute. Recently it was determined that in connection with the Institute sections should be formed coinciding with the provincial limits of the Dominion, and it is the B. C. section which is now to meet for the first time in its history, consequently the gathering will be of more than usual interest.

Since the provisional program of the Nelson meeting was distributed, some amendments and additions have been made to the order of proceedings, and appended is the final list of papers to be presented before the Institute, together with the order in which they will be heard:

"Notes on Smelting," by R. R. Hedley, Nelson.

"On the Future of the Coal and Coke Supply of British Columbia," by Wm. Blakemore, M.E., Fernie.

Subject not announced, by Frederic Keffer, M.E., Anaconda.

"Coarse Concentration in the Slocan District," by S. S. Fowler, S.B., M.E., Nelson.

"Mine Timbering by the Square Set System at Rossland," by Bernard Macdonald, M.E.

"A Comparison of Costs for Compressing Air by Steam and Electric Powers at Rossland," by Wm. Thompson, M.E.

"Safety Lamps and Mine Explosions," (a) W. D. L. Hardie, C. & M. E., Lethbridge, Alta.; (b) Wm. Blakemore, M. E., Fernie

"Notes on Machinery Constituting a Mining Plant, by Alfred C. Garde, M.E., Sandon

"Mine Signalling by Compressed Air at Rossland," by Bernard Macdonald and Wm. Thompson.

"The Miners Resources of Vancouver Island," by W. M. Brewer, M.E., Vancouver.

The last event of a similar nature within the confines of the Kootenays was a meeting of the Institute at Rossland. It will be remembered that the convention was regarded with keen interest and that the city was visited by a large number of well known mining men at that juncture.

The Nelson meeting takes place on the 10th and 11th inst.

PREACHERS REGISTER A KICK.

The Presbytery of B.C. which met a Grand Forks last week, dealt with the refusal of the Crow's Nest coal company to sell or lease a lot upon which to erect a place of worship, at Michel and Morrissey, and on motion of Rev. W. G. W. Fortune, seconded by Dr. Wright, passed the following resolution:

We, the ministers and elders of the Presbytery of Kootenay, recognizing our obligation as a church to preach the gospel of Christ to all men as we have opportunity, and realizing that fidelity to Christ and loyalty to the denomination with which we are connected, makes it our imperative duty as a Presbytery to preach the gospel in every town, city, village, mining camp and other place where men are gathered, and,

Whereas, we know by much experience and also from those obvious principles of common sense that govern in social, commercial and domestic life, that the work of the church or any denomination thereof, can be most efficiently carried on in a building owned and controlled by the church or denomination, and,

Whereas, there is not within our knowledge a place in Canada where the privilage of purchasing and owning a suitable site for such a building is denied to any branch of the Christian church, and,

Whereas, in the towns of Morrissey and Michel we understand the real estate is all owned by the Crow's Nest company and that no part thereof is on the market for sale to any other party whatso-ever:

Therefore, we as a Presbytery of the Presbyterian church in Canada, respectfully request the Crow's Nest coal company to sell to the Presbyterian church in Canada, at whatever price is adjudged to be fair and reasonable, a suitable site on which to erect a building wherein to conduct public worship.

Baptist church, Victoria Ave., Lord's Day services: Morning service at 11, Sunday school at 2:30 p.m., Evening service at 7:30. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, prayer and bible study. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, B. Y. P. U. Rev. D. Holford, B.D., pastor. All these services are open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended all to be present.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FIRE! FIRE!

The Dry Season is coming....

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

FERNIE, B.C.
Near the Station

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

SANITARY WORK.

NOTICE

Any person having any sanitary work to do, or any garbage to be removed should apply to

NAPOLEON GAREAU,
At the Alberta Hotel.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon afterward as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Levis' north-east corner post, adjoining David Tracy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN LEVIS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of the Elk river, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

CHAS. J. BULGER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked Peter VanDusen's south-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1901.

PETER VANDUSEN.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of Elk river on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. R. Stevens' north-east corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

J. R. STEVENS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked David Tracy's north-west corner post, adjoining Geo. McClincy's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

DAVID TRACY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about four miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked August Baldauf's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D. Quail's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

AUGUST BALDAUF.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range, Commencing at a post marked George McClincy's north-west corner post, adjoining August Baldauf's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

GEORGE MCCLINCY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked W. A. Switzer's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D Quail's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

W. A. SWITZER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. D. Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Clincy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN RUDOLPH.

PREST,
The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction guaranteed.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following lands in East Kootenay District, B.C.: Commencing at a post planted at the north east corner of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt land on the west side of the Elk river about 9 miles north of Michel creek, thence north 20 chains more or less to a point on the Southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application to pre-empt; thence west 80 chains along said southern boundary of Frank Harmer's application aforesaid; thence south 20 chains more or less to the northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt; thence east along said northern boundary of W. Robinson's application to pre-empt 80 chains more or less to the place of beginning, containing about 200 acres more or less.

Dated the 11th day of August, 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River about ⅜ mile north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains west, thence forty chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence eighty (80) chains north, thence sixty chains east, thence 160 chains south to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

D. A. MCRAE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west side of the Elk River about ⅜ miles north of Andrew Thomson's initial post, forty chains west, thence one hundred and sixty chains north, thence forty chains east, thence one hundred and sixty chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

J. H. BRICKER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for special license to cut and carry awy timber on the following lands:

Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, 45 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty chains west, thence 40 chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence 140 chains north, thence 40 chains east, thence 180 chains south following the Elk River to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

ANDREW THOMSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber of the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk river, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel creek, one hundred and sixty (160) chains south following the bank of the Elk river, thence forty (40) chains west, thence one hundred and sixty (160) chains north, thence forty (40) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B. C., 29th of August, 1902.

SAUL BONNELL.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post on the west bank of the Elk River, about 44 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, forty (40) chains north, thence (20) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains south, thence forty (40) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains north, thence forty (20) chains west, thence eighty (80) chains south thence eighty (80) chains east, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

JAS. A. RENNIE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted about 44 miles from the mouth of Michel Creek on the west bank of the Elk river, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred (100) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred and twenty (120) chains east, thence eighty (80) chains north to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

G. G. JEWELL.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum, on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town at Morrissey, East Kootenay, commencing at a post marked William Senkbeil's north-west corner post, close to D. McKenzie's south west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

WILLIAM SENKBEIL.

Dated August 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, about one mile south of the mouth of Michel Creek, west 10 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 10 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 80 acres, more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

A. H. CREE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district, commencing at a post marked John Janiesch's north east corner post, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's south west corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

JOHN JANIESCH.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the foliowing described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay District, commencing at a post marked Daniel McKenzie's south west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to to place of commencement.

DANIEL McKENZIE.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Derr's south east corner post, adjoining J. R. Stevens north-east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN DERR

Dec 31 1901

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 8. FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 193

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.

Office :—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

HERCHMER & HERCHMER,

Barristers, Solicitor, Notary Public,

FERNIE, - - - B.C.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK,
Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...

Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A. H. CREE RealEstate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

J. C. Hutchison

Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

Wanted immediately.— Experienced nurse, woman or girl, to take charge of four months old Child. Apply to Mrs. Archibald McVittee Cranbrook, B.C.

The Hill & Dill store has been purchased by H. A. Kanonse. The deal was put through by F. J. Watson Real Estate Agent. x

FIRE DEMON AT WORK

NINE SHACKS IN THE OLD TOWN BURNED TO THE GROUND.

Hotel Waldorf Badly Scorched—Fire Supposed to be of Incendiary Origin.

About two o'clock Friday morning fire was discovered in the rear of Dragon & Stancik's general store in the Old Town, just opposite the Waldorf Hotel. The alarm was immediately sounded, but the flames spread rapidly and the building with its contents was soon a mass of flames. The fire quickly spread to the buildings on either side. S. Marks, general merchant, occupied the one on the south side. About two hundred dollars worth of dry goods were taken out of the store. but the intense heat soon prevented further work in that direction.

In the meantime the home of Mrs. Balayti on the north side had been reduced to ashes and it looked serious for the Waldorf Hotel, but the men worked hard carrying water and although the front of the building was badly scorched it did not catch fire. At this stage the fire brigade arrived on the scene, but apparently without much organization, Chief Tuttle being out of town and his assistant chief not putting in appearance. The hose would not at first reach the flames, but after a while sufficient was collected around town to reach the flames, but not before nine of the buildings had been burned to the ground.

Among those to suffer from the effects of the fire are:—S Marks, Dragon & Stancik, Mrs. Balayti, John Balko, Steve Ivancho, Paul Novak and Joe Ignots.

Mr. Marks sustained p obably the heaviest loss. He values his stock at $6,000 and only carried $1,500 insurance.

The stock of Dragon & Stancik is estimated at about $2,000 which is covered by insurance.

It will take two or three hundred dollars to repair the damages to the Waldorf Hotel.

The fire is thought to be of an incendiary origin as there had been no lamps or stoves burning in the building for several hours previous to the fire.

FROM THE OPERATORS' STANDPOINT.

New York, Sept. 12.—Mr. John Markle, the head of the firm of O. B. Markle & Co., the largest of the individual coal operators in the anthracite field, to-day made a statement respecting the proposed arbitration between the employees and employers. "There will be no arbitration," said Mr. Markle, "and no settlement of the coal strike in any way. We have not forgotten our experiences on a former occasion. There has been in existance from 1885 an agreement with the miners in our employ, providing for the settlement by arbitration, in an amicable way, of all differences that arise. This was the result of a local strike lasting three months in 1885. In 1887, notwithstanding the existance of this contract for arbitration, the men deliberately broke their agreement and went on strike which lasted six months. Yet we established the arbitration agreement after it was over, and went on. In 1897 there was a widespread strike in the Lehigh region, but our men stood to their agreement and never lost a day's work. In 1900 Mr. J. Mitchell appeared and began a campaign on our property. Our employees presented a list of grievances and I replied to them and suggested that if our answers were not satisfactory, they could demand arbitration under the existing agreement. Mr. Mitchell distinctly oppossed any arbitration, asserting that we were insincere. Father Phillips, a well known priest of Hazelton, of his own volition, urged the men to abide by their compact and suggested Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, as the arbitrator. Mitchell opposed all of this, claiming that it was a bluff. A meeting of our employees was held, to which Mr. Mitchell came unsolicited and made a speech. He asked me publicly if I would abide by the arbitrator's verdict, and when I said I would, he turned to the audience and pleaded with them, nevertheless, to go upon a strike. Father Phillips and I followed him urging the men to stand by their agreement for arbitration and the men refused to follow Mitchell's lead. Then came a round of threats, intimidation and violence. Almost daily rioting parties of several hundred men appeared upon our property led by Mitchell's lieutenants, in the vain effort to compel our men to break their agreement. They inaugurated a reign of terror which finally resulted in the employees breaking away from their compact and throwing the projected arbitration to the winds.

"Then Marcus Hanna came into the dispute and secured some concessions. The strike ended and it was heralded as a triumph for Mitchell. Work was resumed under these conditions in October, 1900. The result has been the establisment of every kind of trades union in the district. From that time on there has been innumerable strikes. Mitchell has become a demigod and alone is obeyed, so that all ordinary and usual means of discipline are practically disregarded. With this history before us I am sure that no reasonable man will ask us to engage in any arbitration with Mr. Mitchell or his immediate followers."

LACROSSE ENTERTAINMENT.

The high-class entertainment given by Miss Pauline Johnson and Mr. Walter McRaye, in Princess Hall, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 16th, under the auspices of the Fernie Lacrosse Club, promises to be the event of the season.

From hundreds of press notices the following are culled:

Pall Mall Gazette: "Her work is both spirited and pathetic."

Athenaeum, London: "The most interesting English-speaking poetess now living."

New York Sun: "She has taken Boston by storm with recitals of her poems; she is perhaps the most unique figure in the literary world of this country."

Winnipeg Free Press: "Of her ability both as an entertainer and an authoress there is no question, Canada can claim no more gifted woman."

Frisco Chronicle: "Walter McRaye made a most excellent impression, and his impersonations may be said to equal any presented in the city this season."

St. Louis, Mo., Despatch: "He is a worthy successor to Mark Twain."

San Jose Mercury: McRaye is a born humorist and his fun is pure honest fun such as everybody likes. At every appearance he was encored again and again."

Secure seats at the Fernie Drug Store, 75 cts. and 50 cts.

For the last four days a large bush fire has been raging just above the cemetery.

Mr. A. C. Liphardt and family moved into their handsome new residence yesterday.

Work on Mr. J. A. Rennie's new residence is proceeding rapidly. When completed it will be one of the finest in town.

Some good chances in Real Estate at F. J. Watson's. Several lots and dwellings for sale in which little cash is asked. x

The price of coke in Chicago has jumped up this week to the unprecedented figures of $12 and $13 a ton. One consequence of the advance is that small foundries are threatened with ruin, or at least, with being forced to close down until prices shall drop.

The B.C. Perm. Loan & Savings Co. is still in the lead in the loaning business. This Company loans 60 per cent. of value of lot and building and give the borrower the option of paying off a part or the whole at any time without paying any bonus. F. J. Watson is the local agent. x

Mine Managers' Certificates

Notices have been issued to the effect that an examination for certificates of managers of mines will be held on the 15th day of October, 1902, at the Court House, Fernie, B.C. Candidates not under twenty-three years of age, desirous of presenting themselves for examination must deliver to Mr. Thomas Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo on or before the 5th day of October, 1902, notice of such intention in writing, together with a certificate of service, from their former or present employers, testifying to at least two years experience underground. The examination will be in writing and will include the following subjects, viz.: mining acts and rules, mine gases, general work, ventilation, mining machinery, surveying and levelling. Any further particulars may be obtained by application to the chairman.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Revelstoke, B.C., Sept. 13.—The Conservative convention was called to order at 9 o'clock by Richard McBride, president. Owing to the non arrival of the Nelson and Rossland delegates, the only business transacted was the appointment of committees on credentials and resolutions. The Kootenay men on the latter committee are: Houston, of Nelson; Green, of Kaslo, and Goodeave, of Rossland. The other members are: Semlin, of Yale; Cotton, of Vancouver; Taylor, of New Westminster; Wilson, of Vancouver; and Prior and Mara, of Victoria. There are about 80 delegates in attendence in person. The convention adjourned till 10 o'clock today to allow the committee on resolutions time to report. The committee were still at work at midnight. They have agreed to recommend that taxation on metalliferous mines be on a basis of a percentage on the net profits.

Montreal, Sept. 12.—Bishop Dart, of New Westminster, is lying seriously ill in Glengarry hospith, McGill College Ave. He recovered sufficiently to attend several sessions, but was to-day taken ill. The symptoms indicate pneumonia.

Victoria, B.C., Sept. 12.—The cable steamer Colonia which reached here this morning has on board four electricians and four cable experts and a staff of 12 assistants. They expect to lay 7½ miles an hour or 150 miles a day. The route was surveyed by H. M. S. Equira. The ship carries 160 men. The Colonia left London on July 10th and came via Singapore and Yokahama here. She has 11,000 tons of wires and supplies aboard.

Nelson, Sept. 13.—The associated press despatches of last night contained no reference to the reported death of Lord Strathcona. It may be taken for granted that there was no foundation for the report.

Houses to rent at F. J. Watson's. x

Government Lots For Sale

On Thursday, the 25th of September, at 10 a.m., part of the government lots on the new townsite of Morrissey will be sold by public auction. The terms of sale are one third cash, one-third in three months and one-third in six months. An upset price has been placed on each lot, below which no sale will be made.

Senator's Visit Postponed

The citizens of Fernie were very much disappointed to learn that Senator Templeman had postponed his proposed visit to Fernie. The Liberal Association was taking the initiation in getting up a banquet for the honorable gentleman, but Mr. Stork, President of the Association, on Wednesday received a telegram from Mr. Templeman saying that it was necessary for him to return to Victoria, but that he would be in Fernie later

Frank Celebration

The big celebration at Frank, which was advertised to take place on the 10th, owing to the committee not being able to secure proper transportation, has been postponed until Wednesday, the 17th inst. Ample railway accommodation has now been secured. A special train will leave Lethbridge at 7 a.m. and Cranbrook at 6:30 a.m. Arrangements have been made for especially cheap fares. This will be the largest athletic tournament ever held along the Crow's Nest Pass and the town of Frank will be filled with visitors from both east and west.

Applications Refused

The licence commissioners met in Cranbrook yesterday to consider the application of A. E. Brown for a licence at Wardner, and Robt. Schram for a transfer of his licence at Morrissey to two miles up Morrissey creek. Both applications were refused. Brown's was refused on the ground that the papers in connection with the application were irregular. The Methodist minister at Morrissey appeared against Robt. Schram's application. He had a petition containing 128 names all of whom he vouched for being householders, but upon cross examination it was discovered that only thirty of those whose names appeared on the petition were qualified to sign it. Mr. Schram had no petition himself. He said that the manager at Morrissey had forbidden him to circulate it. The commissioner rejected his application upon the ground that no definite location had been fixed for the hotel and that he should have had a petition.

Another Denomination

Fernie has another religious denomination. The Christian Scientists have organized and are holding regular meetings.

Took Poison

Little Alice Holford had a narrow escape from death on Thursday. Her parents had been giving her powders for a sore mouth and the little girl happened to get hold of some insect powder which she swallowed. Luckily her mother noticed what had happened a moment later, and Dr. Bonnell was hastily sommoned and soon administered relief to the child.

A Morrissey Man Dead

A man named Brusch, a contractor at Morrissey, was brought to the Fernie hospital last week suffering from brain trouble. He was in delirium all the time he was here and died on Wednesday. Mrs. Brusch arrived in town on Wednesday evening, but only to learn the sad fate of her husband. The body was sent to Spokane Friday morning.

The Judge's Close Call

The "Judge" had an adventure with a skunk the other evening which came very nearly resulting seriously for him. It may not be generally known, but his worship is something of a poultry fancier, and keeps a flock of thoroughbred fowls. Of late they have been preyed upon more or less by a skunk and the Judge determined to put a stop to it. He succeeded in capturing the innocent little animal in a trap and accompanied by a friend repaired to the hen pen. The friend got a bead on his skunkship with a revolver and fired, but the bullet struck the trap and glancing cut off a lock of the Judge's hair. The Judge collapsed and has been suffering from nervous prostration ever since.

Kickers

The Cranbrook Herald in speaking of the baseball games with Calgary says:—

"The Cranbrook boys took their medicine like men, but hereafter when a town offers flattering inducements to play ball they will ascertain whether the people are true sportsmen or flimflummers. To put in paid, professional men in amateur sport is considered the world over as a rank violation of the code of sporting honor. Cranbrook can stand it and wishes Calgary all the joy it can get out of that kind of a game."

The Calgary team have evidently been giving Cranbrook a dose of the same medicine that the latter has often administered to Fernie. They do not mind ringing in all the best players for a thousand miles around, but when the shoe is on the other foot it hurts.

Commission at Work

The commission appointed by the British Columbia government, Messrs. Boyce, Lampman and Dryden, to inquire into the causes of explosions in coal mines, arrived in Fernie on Saturday evening, and have been very busy all week looking into the causes which led to the recent mine disaster. The work this week consisted chiefly in making a thorough examination of the mines and in reading over the evidence taken at the recent inquiry. The reading of the evidence itself is no small task, as it consists of twelve hundred closely typewritten sheets, foolscap size. The commission expect to be prepared to hear evidence on Monday. The evidence taken will not be confined to the recent mine disaster but will rather be the experience of miners in regard to explosions and explosives in mines in which they have worked.

A Wise Member

"Several people deserve credit for the new farce "A Wise Member" which was the attraction at English's Opera House last night, playing to excellent business. These people are James Barrett, who has constructed an entertaining farce built on unconventional lines; C. B. Marvin, who has mounted the play attractively and chooses a thoroughly competent company to interpret it; and the company itself, all of whom give excellent renditions of their respective parts. The comedy abounds in unique and genuinely funny situations, bright lines and exceedingly humorous complications. Mr. Sam Murdy appeared in the character for which he seems to have been fitted by nature, and at once established himself as a strong favorite. Miss Maud Marvin proved herself to be an exceedingly clever actress, whose methods are artistic. She is charming, natural, refined and graceful. The supporting company were the right people in the right place, and the musical features were of a high order."—Indianapolis Journal. At Opera House, Fernie, B.C., one night only, Wednesday, September 17th.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

CHAPTER IX.

IN PURSUIT—MR. SNUYZER CONTINUES HIS STATEMENT TO MESSRS. SARABAND.

I left Hill street in pretty good humor, for Miss Frida Fairholme gave me a draft on account which might have won me from your employment if she wanted my services. Then I went home, and, having warned Joe Vialls to be in readiness to accompany me, I waited for my last orders. I had been told I was to be associated with a British officer, a friend of the captain's, and that he would join me right away, so we might take the cars at once for Plymouth. But my gentleman never appeared till any hour, and when he did appear he showed up as a high-falutin jack-a-dandy whom I thought no better than a dude. But I was wrong there, and I will say at once that I cottoned to him some before we parted.

My instructions came in a letter. It was addressed to me, indorsed "immediate," in an envelope marked "On Her Majesty's Service," which I am not, as you know, and don't want to be, being a freeborn loyal subject of Uncle Sam. The letter inside was headed with the royal arms and signed "Charles Collingham, major general." It was to inform me that the steam tug Jacob Silverton had been secured for a particular business, and would be found same night lying at the Plymouth pierhead, with fires banked, ready to go to sea at a moment's notice.

The letter went on:

I understand from Lloyd's, that it has been calculated from the admiralty, as as the basis of her speed and the progress she has made, that the yacht Fleur-de-Lis should be abreast of the Lizard about dawn or, say, 3:30 to 4 a. m. tomorrow. If the tug leaves Plymouth before midnight, she can gain such a position by daybreak as to meet the Fleur-de-Lis and cross her course. If you do not sight her at once, you must lie to, waiting, for she cannot well have passed.

When you have intercepted her, as you surely will, she will be boarded by an officer of my department, who will accompany you and who carries the necessary authority from the lords of the admiralty to detain and search her. He is empowered to use force if necessary, and a certain number of police and coast guardsmen will be on board the tug.

Major Swete Thornhill, R. A., the bearer of this letter, will travel with you to Plymouth. He is a friend of Captain Wood's and brother staff officer and will be glad to co-operate in the rescue and render any assistance.

I found a tall, military-looking gentleman at the door in a hansom.

"Hop in," he cried pleasantly. "Only just time to catch the 5 express."

I preferred to travel with Joe, but we joined forces at Paddington, where my gentleman had secured a compartment, and we started to talk over our business right away.

"Hang that fellow Willie Wood!" began the major. "Wish he was at the bottom of the sea. I was due this very night at a big feed at the Charlatan club, and I've had to spend it in the train. Got me a jawbation, too, from the chief, for we were all out at lunch when he came in, and as I was the first back I had to take the rough edge of his tongue and came in for this ugly job. Is it all a true bill? Have they really got Master Willie in a tight place? Mean to make him walk the plank and all that, eh?"

I told him the whole story from the beginning, at parts of which he laughed and parts looked very grave.

"Always was a garden ass, Willie Wood, but a good chap—good as they make 'em. He'd give you the shirt off his back and always ready to do all your work if you'd let him. Now, I'll do my level best to pull him out of this mess if I can. What chance have we? Let's see how it stands."

With that he pulled a small chart out of his pocket and a pair of dividers. We went over the points one by one, and he took them all in a clear, quick way that was beautiful to see. It was the first time I'd had to work with a British officer, and if they're all like this major they're a spry, smart lot, and don't you forget it.

"It's all a question of time," he said as he marked a cross upon the chart and, after running out a few more figures, went on:

"That's where the Fleur-de-Lis ought to be by daylight, three or four miles to the westward, steaming at the rate we know of, not necessarily gaining, but possibly with better speed in hand if she wants it. Now, where shall we be? That will depend upon how our hooker steams, and for that we must wait till we get on board."

We found her, the Jacob Silverton, with her steam up, lying alongside the wharf in the Millbay docks, and, as they expected us, we were soon under way. It was then close on 1 a. m. Now the major made anxious inquiries as to her speed, and we found the best she could do was about nine knots. There were no more than three hours to daylight, and then we should have covered a bare 30 miles.

"It'll be a near thing," said the major. "However, let's get 40 winks while they crack on all steam and make her move."

I had not been in bed for a couple of nights and was sound asleep when the major woke me.

"The luck's against us, Snuyzer," he began abruptly. "We've just missed the Fleur-de-Lis; saw her plainly enough, and there was no mistaking her, about three miles to the westward and bore down on her straight. I suppose she did not like our looks and turned on full steam ahead. Doubt if we shall catch her now."

"Of course we must stick to her. Has she the heel of us?" I asked anxiously.

"A little, I'm afraid. Can't say for certain. What's worse, she's changed her course southerly."

"Why worse?"

"Steering for the French coast. Don't you see? If she can make a French port or gain French waters, three miles from shore, you understand, she will laugh at us. Can't touch her, they'll say."

I was ready to let out a big oath, but turned out and ran up on deck to see the situation for myself.

It was a perfectly splendid morning. The sun strong, sky clear, water smooth as glass. There was our chase, leaving a long line of coal black smoke, exactly reflected in the sea.

"They're giving her all they can get," I said to the skipper, as I climbed quickly on to the bridge, where the police sergeant joined us. "Is she drawing away from us?"

"Not much, not much. I much doubt if she does at all. The next hour will settle that."

"Has she made us out, think you?"

"Must have, when she changed her course," said the sergeant.

"How is she steering?"

"W. S. W. southerly," answered the skipper. "Bring up on the Brittany coast, I expect, a little short of Ushant."

"We're some 90 miles from the nearest land, as we're now steering," said the major, who had joined us on the bridge. "Ought to strike it this afternoon early, anywhere between Lannion, Roscoff, or St. Pol, if we keep a straight course at the same speed."

"What sort of country might it be?" I asked. "Any big cities or seaports handy?"

"Morlaix is the nearest, and Brest, the great arsenal, is just round the corner."

"Will she communicate, think you? Hardly suit her, I should say."

"It will depend. She's not the sort to appeal to the French police, gendarmes, douaniers, or what not. No doubt she will fight shy of the law unless we force her."

"As how?"

"See here, Mr. Snuyzer; I've got to board that yacht somehow. I mean to overhaul her and search her from stem to stern by force or stratagem, fair means or foul. She's got contraband on board. But they won't want us, and in the last extremity, to avoid our interference, they may seek protection from the French authorities."

"She'll soon be in French waters, I take it."

"That's why I'd like to head her off and board her in the open sea. But we haven't the pace, I fear. We must take our chance and act as opportunity offers."

We went on deck again to watch and wait, making out the French coast about noon, and as we neared it within a couple of miles we saw the Fleur-de-Lis bear up suddenly as if in search of an opening; some small harbor or haven where she might slip in to lie snug and safe from our pursuit.

"There she goes," cried the major, as the yacht disappeared between two low, rocky headlands. "Take the bearings of that entrance. We must fix it and mark it down on the chart."

The place proved to be a little hamlet, St. Guignon, only a few houses standing under a background of sloping hills at the far end of a small landlocked bay. Farther back the chart showed a road running nearly parallel to the coast, touching St. Pol first and then other villages and at last Morlaix.

"They think we can't touch them; that may be so, but I mean to have a try. What's your idea?"

We talked it out at pretty considerable length and settled:

First.—That we could do nothing much till nightfall, unless they came out again, which was not to be expected. We must, of course, watch for that, lying handy under easy steam off and on, ready if it so fell out to continue the pursuit.

Second.—We must reconnoiter; some one must sneak near enough to spy on them, and, without being seen, try to get at their game.

Third.—If she held her ground, we must cut her out some time in the night. It was a bold move. They might show fight, and we might get into serious trouble with the French authorities, for it would be organized war in neutral waters, a grave breach of international law. But the major laughed and said he meant to do it all the same.

"What I am most afraid of is that they should give us the slip—get ashore and run for it."

[CONTINUED.]

Mohammed's Hair.

The most notable attraction in a mosque at Delhi is a single red hair which is said to have been plucked from the mustache of Mahommed. It is kept under glass, and visitors are permitted to look at it on payment of a sum equal to about 25 cents.

TWO LETTERS.

HAS NOT CHANGED HIS MIND IN SEVEN YEARS.

This Correspondence Tells More Emphatically Than Perhaps Anything Could, the Perfect Permanency of Cures Made by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gelert, Ont., Sept. 8.—(Special)—Mr. Samuel Kernahan, of this place, is a wonderful example of what Dodd's Kidney Pills will do for sick and suffering humanity.

Mr. Kernahan had been very ill, indeed so ill that the doctors had given him up as incurable. He had spent a great deal of money in trying to obtain a cure, but all in vain; until at last a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. This wonderful remedy soon made him a well man, and although this was nearly seven years ago, he has scarcely known what illness has been since, and has never had a return of his old trouble. The following letters which he has addressed to the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills, tell the story :—

Gelert, Ont., Oct. 12, 1895.

In Dec. 1893, I was taken sick and laid up, unable to work for 14 months. I was confined to my house and to my bed. I was attended at various times during these months by five different doctors. Three of them decided that my ailment was floating kidney and incurable. The other two said that it was spinal disease, but all five of them pronounced my case absolutely and positively incurable. My money was nearly all gone, for I was not a rich man. Some one advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and as a last hope I did so. After I had taken three boxes I was able to walk about, but I continued the treatment until I had taken 18 boxes. Now I can say I am entirely cured and able to do my work as well as ever. Samuel Kernahan.

Gelert, April 24, 1902.

I am as sound as I ever was and have not had the slightest return of my old trouble, since Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me away back in '94.

Samuel Kernahan.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure to stay cured.

Parsnips, it is contended by scientists possess almost the same virtues claimed for Sarsaparilla.

Spinach has medicinal qualities equal to all blue pills ever made.

When a man proposes he doesn't seem to realize that it may result in his losing control of himself.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Help Little Babies and Big Children in All Their Minor Ailments.

When your child—whether it is a big child or little baby—suffers from stomach or bowel troubles of any kind, is nervous, fidgety or cross and doesn't sleep well, give Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine is the quickest and surest cure—and the safest, because it contains no opiate or harmful drug. No matter how young or how feeble your little one is the Tablets can be given with a certainty that the result will be good. For very young infants crush the Tablets to a powder. Mrs. George W. Porter, Thorold, Ont., says :—"My baby had indigestion badly when he was about three months old. He was constantly hungry and his food did him no good as he vomited it as soon as he took it. He was very thin and pale and got but little sleep, as he cried nearly all the time, both day and night. He was constipated; his tongue coated and his breath bad. Nothing did him any good until I got Baby's Own Tablets, and after giving him these a short time he began to get better. His food digested properly; his bowels became regular, he began to grow, and is now a big, healthy boy. I always keep the tablets on hand and can recommend them to other mothers."

The Tablets can be obtained at any drug store or you can get them by mail, post paid, at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Celery is an acknowledged nerve tonic.

Railway mileage in the United States has passed the 200,000 mark, which is considerably more than two-fifths of the entire railway mileage of the world.

No family living in a bilious country should be without Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. A few doses taken now and then will keep the liver active, cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter and prevent Ague. Mr. J. L. Price, Shoals, Martin Co., Ind., writes: "I have tried a box of Parmelee's Pills and find them the best medicine for Fever and Ague I have ever used."

An Ohio woman recently preached her husband's funeral sermon. She was bound to have the last word.

When a baby girl is born she at once begins to yell for clothes, and she never gets over the habit.

A Benefit to Farmers.

The benefits that will undoubtedly result to farmers from the recent incorporation of the International Harvester company, which took over the business of the five leading harvester manufacturers have probably not been considered by a large portion of farming community.

The economical necessity of a consolidation of the interests of manufacturers and those of their farmer customers must be apparent to any one who understands the present situation.

The increased and increasing cost of material, manufacturing and selling—the latter in consequence of extreme and bitter competition between manufacturers and their several selling agents—has made the business unprofitable.

The two alternatives left for the manufacturers were either the increasing of the prices of machines or the reduction of the cost of manufacture and sales. The latter could only be accomplished by concentrating the business in one company.

As can readily be seen, the forming of the new company was not a stock jobbing operation but a centering of mutual interests. There is no watered stock; the capitalization is conservative and represented by actual and tangible assets. There is no stock offered to the public, it having all been subscribed and paid for by the manufacturers and their associates.

The management of the International Harvester Company is in the hands of well known, experienced men.

The officers are ' President, Cyrus H. McCormick; Chairman Executive Committee, Charles Deering; Chairman Finance Committee, Gebrge W. Perkins; Vice-Presidents, Harold F. McCormick, James Deering, Wm. H. Jones and John J. Glessner ; Secretary and Treasurer, Richard F. Howe. The members of the board of directors are as follows ' Cyrus Bentley, William Deering, Charles Deering, James Deering, Eldridge M. Fowler, E. H. Gary, John J. Glessner, Richard F. Howe, Abram M. Hyatt, William H. Jones, Cyrus H. McCormick, Harold F. McCormick, George W. Perkins, Norman B. Ream, Leslie N. Ward, Paul D. Cravath.

The International Harvester Company owns five of the largest harvester plants in existence, The Champion, Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee and Plano—plants that have been producing nearly or quite 90 per cent of the harvesting machines of the world.

It also owns timber and coal lands, blast furnaces and a steel plant ; it has a new factory in process of construction in Canada.

It is believed that the cost of producing grain, grass and corn harvesting machines will be so reduced that the present low prices can be continued, and that consequently the results cannot be otherwise than beneficial to the farmer. To maintain the present prices of these machines means to continue and increase the development of the agriculture of the world, for no one cause has contributed or can contribute more to this development than the cheapness of machines for harvesting grains.

No Russian is allowed to return to his native country if he has while away changed his religion.

The German government has decided to start a system of motor cars in German East Africa, supplementing the main railway.

Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

A TOPSY TURVY ROOM.

A Frenchman Who Plays Practical Jokes on His Guests.

A "topsy turvy room," writes a correspondent, not illusory, but actually so built, existed near Paris some years ago and may still exist. One who saw it thus describes it and the use to which it was put: "I was the guest of the owner of the house," he says, "from Saturday to Monday. He was a bachelor, very convivial in his tastes, and we were a very jolly party of men. When we woke up, about 2 o'clock on the Sunday morning, one of our number, sound asleep on the couch in the billiard room, was carried out like a log by a couple of servants. My host gave me a solemn wink and told me that if a sudden summons came I was to rush from my bedroom or else I might miss a sight worth seeing. I wanted nothing but sleep and was relieved when the summons came to find that it was broad daylight.

"Yawning, I followed the valet and found myself, with four others, silently peeping through little holes in the wall. The scene was absurd, ridiculous. A dazed man slowly waking to full consciousness was lying on a plastered floor, looking up in horror at a carpeted ceiling. Two heavy couches, an easy chair, chairs and tables securely fastened stared down at him from above. The man's eyes at last rested on a flowerpot directly over his head, from which a flaring rose, apparently real, was blooming. He gave a cry and, rolling over, grasped with frenzied hands the stem of the chandelier, which came up through the floor. The host burst into the room, with a loud laugh. 'They all do it,' he cried. 'They fear they will fall up to the ceiling.'"

ARIZONA KICKLETS.

Some More Lively Items Turned Out From a Busy Editor's Den.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

All signs point to the fact that this is going to be a great season in Arizona for fools and huckleberries.

It was discovered the other day that the coroner at Lone Jack had entered all his inquests for the last two years under the name of Johnson. The idea was to save himself trouble, but the Johnson family will never be able to get untangled.

Major Harper came over from Paradise Flats so gayly O the other day to boast on the street that he meant to pull our nose and make us eat of the soil of the earth. We set out and hunted him up, and the way the redheaded son of a cannon did lie down was wonderful. He was simply mistaken in himself. He thought he was all fight, whereas he proved to be all brag.

THE WAY HE LAY DOWN WAS WONDERFUL.

We must apologize to George Hopson of the Bon Ton poker parlors. He did not murder his wife while living in New Mexico, as we stated last week, but broke his brother's neck while dwelling in Utah. We sometimes get things mixed up, but give us time, and we will hit the truth plump in the head.

An eastern man named Climber came out here in March to hunt the grizzly bear in his lair and make him afraid, but as all track of the Nimrod has been lost for four weeks past it is only reasonable to infer that he is now a resident of a happier land than this. The grizzly always insists on sharing half the fun and expenses. M. QUAD.

Furniture Polish.

An excellent furniture polish is made by mixing together one-third of alcohol and two-thirds of sweet oil. Apply with one soft cloth and polish off with another.

A Norway Custom.

A curious custom is practiced in Norway, where those in search of a drowned body row to and fro with a cock in the boat, fully expecting that the bird will crow when the boat reaches the spot where the corpse lies.

Curious Accident.

While on the wing a pigeon was guillotined recently in Cardiff, Wales, by being caught between a trolley and a power wire on the street railroad.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS,

CLEANSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;

DISPELS COLDS HEADACHES & FEVERS;

OVERCOMES HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS,

BUY THE GENUINE — MAN'F'D BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50c. PER BOTTLE.

RECEIVED IN SILENCE

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S VISIT TO POLAND.

Merchants and Others Take No Notice of the Event and Refuse to Decorate Their Premises---Nobles Leave Posen For Their Country Estates.

A cable from Posen, dated Sept. 2, says: The Emperor and Empress of Germany entered the principal Polish capital today, the German faction of the city cheering, ringing bells and waving flags and handkerchiefs to welcome them. The Polish majority of the people was silent and looked gloomily at the brilliant show from houses without decorations.

Not one disorderly cry was heard. The vague expectations of insult to the Emperor or tumult among the people of this city which have been hinted at by newspapers and inferred from the unusual police arrangements for the protection of his majesty and which began two months ago were mistaken and not realized. Nothing but a decorous reception was accorded their majesties by the moderate sized crowd which was banked behind the double rows of troops on either side of the streets leading from the railroad station to the residence of the commanding general, about two miles away.

There were in all about 8,000 infantrymen present and Emperor William's entrance to Posen was a German festival. This visit of the emperor is made to give the Germans heart in their passionate race dispute. The Germans of Posen poured out subscriptions for the beautiful decorations, consisting of flower pieces and ropes of evergreen looped from mast to mast along nearly the entire length of the Emperor's line of march. Nearly every German girl in Posen was wearing a black, white and red sash today, but the Polish nobles of the city closed their houses and withdrew to their country estates.

With the exception of Prince Anton Radziwell, not one Polish noble took part in today's reception to the Emperor. Prince Radziwell holds his title from Prussia, and has long been identified with the Prussian court. The Archbishop of St. Ablesey was present when the municipal notabilities received his majesty at the city gate.

The principal hotel of Posen, where the Prussian court had engaged fifty rooms for their stay, refused to decorate in honor of the Emperor's arrival. The principal dry goods store of the city had also refused to decorate, and has consequently been boycotted by the German ladies of Posen.

The Empress, who preceded her husband in a carriage, looked especially well in a light grey costume, and bowed to the people continually. Emperor William, in the white uniform of the Guard du Corps, rode alone, walking his horse slowly. Behind him on horseback or in carriages were fifty of the great personages of the empire, princes secretar- of state and generals.

Nothing was said or done of political import. It is understood that the burgomaster of Posen, Herr Wittig, had prepared a long address in which he reviewed the race question, but when this was received in Berlin everything except a bare allusion to this question was eliminated.

NEW YORK DESPERADO.

A Negro Wounds Four Officers Sent to Arrest Him.

Twenty policemen, armed with Winchesters, surrounded a house at North Beach, in the Borough of Queens, New York, in which a negro desperado was in hiding, armed and defiant. The man was Jerry Hunter, whose reputation is of the worst.

John McKenna, a patrolman, was sent to arrest Hunter, and Hunter shot him from ambush. McKenna is lying in St. John's hospital in Long Island City, dying. Three other patrolmen were sent to effect Hunter's capture, and in attempting to carry the house by storm, Patrolman Arthur Brill received a load of buckshot in the face, destroying one eye. He, too, is likely to die.

The reserves were then ordered out. Soon after the police had posted the guard, Hunter opened fire on them. Four officers were wounded. After at least two hours of shooting on both sides, Hunter set fire to the house or it caught fire. Hunter's wife ran out by the front door and attacked the men with an old sabre. In the excitement Hunter escaped by the rear, but he was run down and captured.

Police Captain Darey and three of his men were sent to the hospital in ambulances. Patrolman Cassidy was over the head with the sabre. Captain Darey was shot in the ear, Patrolman Gregan was shot in the leg. Patrolman Healey also was wounded.

Venice has a cafe which has been open day and night for 150 years.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

During August in Winnipeg there were 176 deaths and 115 births.

Wheat yields at Emerson threshings reached 35 bushels to the acre.

Later reports say that one thousand persons were killed in the recent disaster on the Island of Martinique.

One hundred seamen deserted from H.M.S. Ariadne in Canadian waters within the last three months.

Mr. Jardine, Canadian trade agent in South Africa, has reported to his department that business is at a standstill in that country.

For referring to a parson as a "lobster" a Dakota jury has given a verdict of $870 damages against a newspaper of that state.

During August the C. P. R. land sales amounted to 130,723 acres for $473,064.85, against only 50,747 acres, for $165,871.16 in August, 1901.

The rainfall continues in India and is greatly benefitting the crop. Cotton in Berar (a province of the Deccan) is flourishing; in Bengali it is normal; in the Khandeish district (Bombay presidency) it is below the average, and in Guferat (a district of the Punjab) it is favorable.

It is estimated that seventy persons were drowned in Algoa Bay South Africa, during a severe storm which swept over Port Elizabeth on Sept. 1.

The Dunkards from Iowa will shortly conclude arrangements with the C. P. R. land department for the settlement of a large colony of their people in Eastern Assiniboia, south of the main line. The Dunkards are of Russian extraction, somewhat similar in the social and religious customs to the Menonites, but with broader and more progressive ideas concerning matters in general. The colonists coming to Manitoba will be nearly all young men and women, who mix freely with other nationalities and sects.

A Rock Island cattle train and an engine and caboose collided head-on near Birmingham, Mo., on Sept. 2, killing four trainmen and injuring three others.

The Mounted Police have been notified that Labelle, accused of being connected with the murder of Boothlett and Beaudin in the Yukon, was arrested at Woodsworth, Nevada, on Sept. 1. Fournier was arrested a few days ago in Dawson. He is also charged with being a party to the crime.

A well known and respected fireworks manufacturer died recently in the north of England. His wife ordered an expensive tombstone to be erected in his memory. She was much perturbed, for no epitaph submitted to her did she consider suitable. After a prolonged and diligent search she discovered one she thought to be appropriate on the tombstone of a prominent musician in a Manchester cemetery. Now on the memorial stone of this noted fireworks manufacturer it is stated that "He has gone to the one place where his works are excelled."

Efforts are being made to establish a university at Jerusalem for the Jewish students expelled from European universities.

Mrs. Mercy Merity, of Pratt county Kansas, has been fined for spanking her husband because he refused to cook dinner for her.

A scheme is on foot to provide a more efficient way of taking care of Winnipeg's bad characters, and of boys and vagrants needing correction. Chief McRae has had the idea in mind for some time, and it is understood that Magistrate Baker and he, with the co-operation of the board of police commissioners, are now getting all the details together to work on. The city owns a certain amount of property west of the city that at present is doing nothing. The scheme is to have a farm there to send out all persons who have been sentenced to a term of more than a month with hard labor, and put them to work to maintain this farm. The farm would pay for itself, and there would be no cost of feeding the prisoners.

"Big Glory," one of the largest balloons ever constructed, was successfully started from Denver on Sept. 1 on a trip, the purpose of which is to break the world's long distance record, as well as all previous records for fast balloon sailing. It is expected ultimately to reach New York, if possible.

The revolutionary movement in favor of Mohammed, brother of the Sultan of Morrocco, Moulai Abd-El-Aziz, is spreading among the Berber tribes. Berbers recently attacked the town of Mekines, about three miles from Fez, but the governor managed to pacify the tribesmen.

Col. Montizambert, D. O. C., of Kingston, presented Sergeant-Major Gimblett, C Field battery, and the blind trooper, Malloy, with the distinguished service medals for meritorious service in South Africa. "A" and B batteries were drawn up on the parade for the event.

LINKS WITH THE PAST.

Our "Rude Forefathers"—Where the Old Trail Led—Early Settlers' Homes—Birth of the Village.

Buried in the wilderness, between two steep and thickly-wooded hills, dense with second growth and underbrush, with here and there a charred pine standing silent and forlorn, close to the natural clearing of a beaver meadow, and fronting the old trail from Sudbury to Wahnapitae, stands the ruin of a log cabin. Moss covered, askew, windowless and with one irregular doorway, not one straight line or right angle in its whole composition, grown over and into and through by the encroaching, unchecked bush, the shack remains, forgotten and unknown. Built before Sudbury and the railway and situate two miles east of the town the casual passer-by on the trail would not notice it at all.

No doubt it was built and inhabited by some wandering trapper, long since moved further north in pursuit of the vanishing game and now gathered to his fathers. Possibly later a settler lived here, though no signs of cultivation are to be found in the natural clearing. Now it is doubly lost, for the road and railwat pass two miles to the south, and the old trail is seldom tramped save by a wandering sportsman. Good eyesight he must possess who would follow it now, wandering at its own sweet will along the stream from Sudbury between the hills, always between, and in the easy places, curving sharply round a knoll, stopped short by a wind-fall, and all to guide the traveler, a few bent blades of grass, a scraped rock, a "blazed" tree, a broken branch, until the shack is reached. Then, plunging down a hill it disappears, further I have never followed it.

The hut itself is an interesting study—logs notched together at the ends, and doubtless chinked with moss and mud in years gone by, form the walls; the roof of pine slabs rests on poles, and the floor is terra firma.

Yet this was the class of "home" of the first settlers, the U.E.L.'s, and others earlier. And our great grandfathers lived like their houses—not only three score years, but on into the sere and yellow till centenarians were not curiosities as at the present day. When a settler prospered—and many did—physical degeneration straightway followed, a larger house was built by his sons, clapboarded and of two storeys, the floors were laid and other seeming comforts, the old stone hearth and swinging crane, the iron dogs and spit—synonymous with comfort and hospitality—disappeared, and modern ugly box stoves—dead things with never a blaze to brighten—took their place. The "Dutch oven," an iron box buried in hot ashes, was superseded by the "elevated" abominations of modern times.

But the houses suffered most. After the log shack (to the prosperous) came the rambling homestead, and then high, narrow, comfortless structures, verandahs, became "stoops," and long French windows—open wide in summer to every vagrant breeze were done away, and in their place appeared the "sliding" windows of to-day, which "slide" or not, regardless of one's will. Then came the furnace—lurking in the cellar and filling all the house with dust and heating it until the present generation loathes a draught of pure air from open windows like the plague.

Clusters of huts became villages, a high, square, false front, backed by a single gable ridge assumed the dignity of a store, and can still be seen in any village, though why the necessity of the "front" now nobody can explain, and this collection, growing, was called a town. Here row on row close packed together, like huge square boxes (and as picturesque), comfortless, unsanitary, stand the "modern" houses. Some tried "colonial style," where there was room, and out in front built up tall fluted wooden columns, with rambling rooms, and halls behind, and this was not so bad.

But soon the ever shrinking lots became so small that as they narrowed so the houses rose until replete with all the modern "comforts" of furnace, gas, electric light, and air-tight rooms, with here and there a microscopic "grate" with artificial blaze, and every luxury the heart could wish—but air, a perfect palace from within, but outwardly a glaring eye sore of chopped-off gable ends, of tiny balconies, of jumbled towers, chimneys, doors and steps, and surrounded by the poisonous murk of factory flues and steaming sewer ventilators. A place for money-grubbing creatures, this, for stunted young and feeble babes, but surely not a habitation for a Man!

And our grim old rugged forefathers would smile again to see us now—our narrow shoulders, crooked backs, and babes in spectacles. "This your 'twentieth century civilization'?" they would say; "live as we lived and die as we died in the days of long ago—the good old days of lusty youths and strapping lassies, of grey-haired laborers, who, at sixty, were in their prime, and lived to see their children's children grow up around them, and bless them when they died in white old age, their eighty, ninety winters o'er. In the days—of the spinning wheel, the cradle and the flail."—Hal, in Toronto Mail and Empire.

The Bells.

That steeple clangor I dislike:
It frets me morn and late.
I wish that old clock wouldn't strike;
I wish 'twould arbitrate.
—Washington Star.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

British exports show an increase for August.

On Friday, Sept. 5, 15,000 bushels of wheat were marketed in Manitoba.

A German warship sunk a Haytian gunboat in the harbour of the island.

Three hundred and seventeen miners were fined at Doncaster, England, for striking without giving notice.

A United States government powder magazine at Boston, blew up, killing one man and injuring five others.

Jamaica sugar planters have publicly declared for union with Canada.

Rogers Bros.' mill and elevators at MacGregor, Man., were destroyed by fire on Sept. 6.

John McRae's farm buildings in the Carberry district were destroyed by fire last week.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie at Skibbo Castle.

Dr. Snodbeck, after a visit to every Swedish colony in America, says Manitoba soil is the richest. He predicts that with settlement and cultivation the climate will change.

Sites have been chosen at Vancouver for flour mills and elevators to handle Manitoba wheat.

Walter Jones, of Stratford, a G. T. R. fireman, was killed and several persons injured by a train being derailed near Waterloo, Ont.

Vegetables, grains and grasses grown in the Yukon will be exhibited at all the principal American fairs.

The department of trade and commerce has received a copy of an extract from the report of the British consul general at Marseilles, France, in which he reports to the British government that Manitoba and Ontario wheat has proved to be very superior to American, and he recommends that Canada should compete for supplying Europe with hard wheat.

Street Car Accident.

A St. Paul dispatch says: Twenty persons were injured, some badly, by one electric car running into another at Fort Snelling at midnight on Sept. 7. Ten persons have been taken to the city hospital, suffering from injuries received in the wreck. The accident occurred on the single track line. A motor car and trailer were returning from the Fort heavily laden with passengers. Approaching from the city was a heavy single car, the head light on which had been extinguished. It is not known yet who was to blame for the accident, but the cars met at full speed at Hamline avenue. The motor car and trailer from the Fort were broken to splinters, and the passengers were ground and crushed beneath the debris.

The Case for Canada

Mr. Thomas Hodgins, the Master-in-Chancery, has an article in the Contemporary Review, which is a sharp answer to a long series of hostile American criticism on the Alaskan boundary question. It is almost needless to say that Mr. Hodgins' article bears the marks of extensive research, and the material he uses so authoritatively could only have been drawn from original sources. We venture to guess, says The Toronto Star, that the learned Master-in-Chancery put the British Museum library and the official correspondence between Washington and London under large contribution before he wrote this story. Nothing short of strict accuracy in facts and reasonableness in deduction would suit a precise mind like his. Mr. Hodgins' article on the Alaskan question is, of course, pro-Canadian, but it is quite as logical as it is zealous. He has based his line of argument on the official correspondence, and his law is entirely on American precedents, so that the American adversary is largely convicted out of his own mouth. Urging arbitration in the Alaskan boundary, he trips Uncle Sam up with the uncompromising utterances of President Cleveland, when he was demanding that Great Britain arbitrate the Venezuelan boundary.

Mr. Hodgins' argument not only fatters our patriotism, but satisfies our reason with its judicial perspicuity. He has condensed his plea most adroitly, and marshalled his facts strongly. It answers adequately articles from the American standpoint, which have appeared within the last three years in the Fortnightly, the Geographers' Magazine, and the Atlantic. Mr. Hodgins deals particularly with ex-Secretary Foster's and Dr. Mendenhall's arguments, which were perhaps the strongest presented for the American interpretation of the boundary treaty.

His Teacher Was Satisfied.

Papa—Is the teacher satisfied with you? Toby—Oh, quite. Papa—Did he tell you so? Toby—Yes; after a close examination he said to me the other day, "If all my scholars were like you, I should shut up my school this very day." That shows that I know enough.—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

A MONTH'S RECORD

PHENOMENAL INFLUX OF IMMIGRANTS.

Ten Thousand Settlers Arrived in the West During August--Two Thousand Harvesters Will Settle --- Record For the Year is Over Fifty Thousand.

The report of the Dominion Immigration department for the month of August was completed on Saturday. It shows that during the month 8,630 new settlers registered at the immigration hall and the various other agencies of the department.

These figures do not, however, show the total arrivals, as it is estimated that fully 25 per cent of the immigrants to Western Canada are either coming out to friends or of the independent class who do not require advice or assistance from government officials; these never register, and the officials have no trace of them. The number of immigrants to arrive during August would therefore be considerably over 10,000.

Of the number who registered 2,520 were from the United States, 957 from England and about 2,500 from Eastern Canada. The others were from various European countries.

Commissioner Smith in reply to an inquiry said that the arrivals of last month were of an excellent class and nearly all farmers.

The total registered arrivals from January 1 to the end of August was 53,100, or 85 per cent. more than arrived during the corresponding period of 1901. If 25 per cent. were added to include the unregistered arrivals, it would show an increase to the population of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories by immigration, of over 66,375 souls.

Of the harvesters who arrived from Eastern Canada during September about 2,000 have intimated to the officials their intention of remaining in the country, and after the work of harvesting and threshing is over they will select homesteads and settle on them.

DEADLY MOSQUITO.

St. Paul Girl May Lose Her Arm as the Result of a Bite.

A St. Paul dispatch of Sept. 6 says: Gertie Klos was bitten by a mosquito last Sunday night and may lose her arm as the result of the sting.

She scratched the bite and blood poisoning set in and the infected arm is now twice its normal size. Besides suffering from the inflammation caused by the bite Gertie's arm is also sore from vaccination. Miss Klos is thirteen years of age. The doctor who examined it says that it will probably be necessary to amputate the arm.

"The physician who first examined it," said the girl's aunt, "thought the inflammation was due to the vaccination, but Dr. Cook said that it was all caused by scratching the mosquito bite.

"We did not pay much attention to the arm until it began to ulcerate Thursday, then Mrs. Klos poulticed it and bathed the sore every little while, but the treatment seemed to accomplish very little. The arm continued to swell and this morning was nearly twice its usual size. To add to the little girl's misery she feels very sick and can hold nothing on her stomach. It is all due to the poisoning."

A Strange Accident.

A dispatch from Parry Sound says: One of the most singular accidents that has ever happened in this vicinity occurred in the township of Christie. George Clifford, a young man, 18 years of age, with his father and hired man, was working in his father's field, when he was struck by some unseen object and cried out, "I'm shot," but immediately resumed work. His father went to him and found the young man bleeding freely from the head. He was at once assisted home and medical aid summoned. The doctors found that a bullet had struck the young man in the left temple, had passed through the brain and had broken his skull over the right ear, bulging the broken bones outward, but not enough to permit of the escape of the bullet. Clifford, with a bullet through his brain and part of it still embedded there has not once lost consciousness and is doing well and is likely to recover.

Drowned in a Water Barrel.

A sad fatality occurred in St. Boniface on Sunday morning, when the three-year-old girl of Joseph Gagnon was drowned in a water barrel. The little one was playing with a ball when it fell into the barrel, which contained only a few inches of water. She dragged an empty box to the barrel and presumedly was making an effort to recover her plaything when she overbalanced and pitched forward head foremost. The little tot was only missed by her parents a few minutes, but the time was sufficient to cause her death by drowning. She was quite dead when found in the barrel.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, SEPT. 13. 1902.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT.

THE Conservative convention which opened in Revelstoke yesterday may have an important bearing upon the future politics of the province. Once again have the Conservatives declared for the recognition of party lines in the division of the opposing forces in provincial affairs. This, however is not the first pronouncement of the kind that the electors of the province have received from the conventions of the old-line parties. At different times similar announcements have been made by both of the old parties, but for one reason or other the issue was never pressed. Whether any different fate is to attend this latest proposition remains for the future to disclose. There were difficulties in the way in the past and they are equally as great to-day.

What do the leaders of the Conservatives, or the leaders of the Liberals propose to do with the Labor party which has christened itself the Provincial Progressives? It must be reckoned with. A glance over the constituencies will show that the members of this party can make a very strong bid for at least one-third of the seats in the present legislature. There must therefore be some sort of an alliance fixed up with them, and the control of the next legislature will go to the party with which labor forms its alliance. But this is not the sum of the difficulties which confront the managers of the old-line parties. It is by no means certain that the leaders of the labor party are desirous of making an alliance of any kind. It has within itself elements of great strength. In the first place, throughout the mining districts, it has an organization in the shape of trades unions which the managers of neither of the other parties need hope to attain, and in some of the polling divisions Conservative or Liberal candidates would not receive enough votes to wad a gun.

Unquestionably the labor party is strong, but to add to the difficulties of campaign managers who might seek an alliance with it, the leaders of the labor party think themselves a great deal stronger than they are, and if any swallowing business were suggested they would doubtless insist upon having the role of the whale, and making the other party take the inside seat. Which of the old-line parties will be content to play Jonah to the Provincial Progressive party? This is about all the present prospect holds out for them.

The recent campaign of personal politics has embittered men so much that it will be some time before either the Conservative or the Liberal party can present a united front in provincial politics. True, the breach is widest in the Liberal party. There are the Martinites and the anti-Martiuites struggling for the control of the party machinery, and then there is that eminent Liberal, Smith Curtis, who says he will have no more of the party in provincial affairs, but will cast in his lot with labor. But the Conservatives have also troubles of their own. There is the very considerable element which resents the domination of the Coast politicians, but the Coast men have the whip hand, and in the conventions of the party the only right accorded the numerous though scattered discontents is that of kicking.

Of a truth the Conservative or Liberal politician who enters the next campaign and undertakes to deliver the goods for his party will realize before he is through that he has an impossible task.

The recent discovery of indications of petroleum in this neighborhood has caused more or less excitement and nearly all the land on the west side of the Elk, between Fernie and Morrissey has been staked. The following article from the Nelson News which bears on this important subject will be of interest:

"Recent discoveries of the existence of new oil fields have altogether changed the once popular notion that petroleum was very restricted in its distribution. So far from this being the case, it now begins to look as if the oil areas would rival in extent the vast coal fields that abound in all parts of the continent, but in no part more generously than in this our own province of British Columbia. Mining for oil is as yet not an actuality in British Columbia, but is is only a question of time before the known fields will be exploited, and others found, for it is not likely that its distribution will be any more circumscribed in this province than it is in the United States where the geological conditions are similar.

The importance of oil as a fuel is being rapidly recognized in a most practical way. On many steamship lines it is replacing coal as the fuel for steam making and there are very few uses to which coal may be put that cannot be as easily and satisfactorily met by the liquid fuel. It costs less to produce, too, and in the process of "mining" it, there is much less danger involved. It cannot be considered that this competition is a detriment. It means for one thing that the holders of large tracts of coal lands will not be able to create the monopoly that they hoped and intended to do in this commodity of coal and the rivalry will tend to cheapen the price of fuel to the consumer whether large or small.

Notwithstanding the many uses to which oil may be put, there are some conditions that will always require coal or coke, and the metallurgy of the economic metals is perhaps one of these. Oil may be used for this purpose under certain conditions, but coal or coke will hold its own in this field, at least for some time to come. It is not likely either to be very generally adopted for domestic use unless some efficient means can be first devised for preventing the odor which is always present where oil is used. As an illuminant the refined oil will have a sphere of usefulness for many a day, but even this is becoming more and more restricted as the use of the electric light becomes more universally adopted. The matter of relative cost will not in every case be of prime importance; there will be conditions in which the consideration of price will give way to greater convenience for specific purposes, the economy of handling and theabsence of ash will no doubt make for the extension of its consumption"

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Limited.

Michel, B.C., September 13th, 1902.

Proposals will be received by the above Company, addressed to its General Superintendent, up to and including Sept. 25th, 1902, for the driving of an Airway Rock Tunnel, at its No. 8, Mine, Michel.

Tunnel will be started from a point in the Main Return Level of No 8 mine, and driven across the measures in a Southwesterly direction to an intersection with the Upper Level of No. 9 Mine, a distance of 170 feet, more or less.

Size of Tunnel will be 10 feet wide in the clear between notches of timber, with three inches spread to each leg, and seven feet high in the clear, where timber is required, and 10 feet wide by 7 feet high in the clear in rock. The first 50 feet of Tunnel to be driven horizontally, and the balance on a rising inclination of approximately 30 degrees from the horizontal.

Timbers where required, to be set three feet to four feet between centres and lagged as may be directed by Company's Superintendent.

Company will furnish timbers framed, lagging, boards, sheet iron, nails and brattice material at mouth of tunnel, and also Ingersoll Rock Drill and air pipe, and compressed air for operating same.

Contractor will furnish all steel, tools [other than Ingersoll Drill], explosives, supplies and labor necessary for carrying on the work of and completing said tunnel, and carry on the work continuously with three shifts per day until completion.

The Contractor will also load all material excavated in said tunnel in cars, and deliver same at mouth of tunnel, and the Company will remove the same and furnish empty cars as required.

If the work is not carried on in a first-class workmanlike manner, or with due diligence, the Company reserves the right to terminate the contract, and to retain the 10 per cent. deducted from monthly estimates.

Proposals will be received on the basis of a price per lineal yard, and also a price per set of timbers with lagging.

Payments for said work will be made on Company's regular pay day at Michel, for all work satisfactorily completed during the preceding calendar month, less a deduction of 10 per cent, to be retained until satisfactory completion of said work, or forfeited in the event of sooner termination of said contract.

Further information can be obtained from the Company's Superintendent at Michel, or the undersigned.

The right to reject any or all proposals is reserved. x

T. R. STOCKETT, jr.
General Superintendent.

Approved:
JOHN H. TONKIN,
General Manager.

Fort Steele Licence District.

Notice is hereby given that the undermetioned has made an application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act 1900" for an hotel licence at the place set opposite to his name.

Albert Edward Brown, the Central Hotel at Wardner, B.C.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the court House, at Fernie, on Monday, the twenty-ninth day of September, 1902, at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES
chief License Inspector.

Fernie, B.C., Sept. 13, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum on the following described lands: Commencing at a post marked H. A. Wilkes' south-west corner, situate on the west bank of the Elk river about two miles south-west of Morrissey depot and being nearly west from the mine town of Morrissey, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning.

H. A. WILKES.

Dated Aug. 29th, 1902.

If Children are to Rise

rapidly in their studies, see tnat they are supplied with the latest and best

SCHOOL BOOKS

They are made to stand much use aed some abuse. Prices right.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

A Solid Foundation.....

for Feet lessens the danger of cold. This is the season when

Damp-Proof Footwear...

should be worn. Thaws, rains mud and slush make stout footwear imperative.

Our $4 and $5.50 SLATER Shoes are made of high grade leather, well tanned and put together in the best manner. They are a strong, handsome, and durable shoe.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

DON'T YOU NEED SOME

FLOOR OILS LINOLEUM.

If you do, call and let us show you our nice assortment of patterns which we have just imported direct from the manufacturers.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

S. F. WALLACE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south, west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres. Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

MILTON A. KASTNER.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.

WM. S. KEAY.

Dated August 28, 1902. 191 8

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a 21 year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 5760 acres, situated on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post planted on the east bank of Elk River, which is just north of the 35 mile C.P.R. surveyed line, thence east 60 chains, thence north 960 chains. thence west to east bank of Elk river, thence southward along the river to point of beginning, excepting therefrom any and all timber on the coal claims which will be staked within the next ten days, as shown on location posts.

A. D. MACRAE CO., LTD.

Dated Sept. 1st, 1902.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Hazelwood's ice cream at Cuthbert's.

See Mitchell's up-to-date goods for your fall suit. x

A case of diphtheria has made its appearance at the mines.

Harry Bentley was in Lethbridge several days this week.

Everybody is going to the Johnson-McRaye concert, Tuesday evening at 8:30.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tuttle spent several days in Macleod this week attending the races.

Mrs. A. Joyce left on Tuesday evening for Almonte, Ont., where she will spend three or four months visiting friends.

Harry Thompson, the man imprisoned for insanity, was sent to the asylum for the insane, at Victoria this week.

Mr. A. B. Trites has had Princess Hall fitted up with arc lamps. The improvement in the light is very noticable.

D V. Mott, of Mott, Son & Co., was down on the prairie this week to purchase horses for the use of the company.

Chief Forbes and W. H. Whimster attended the meeting of the license commissioners in Cranbrook yesterday.

Three of our local clergy, Revs, Houghton, Gordon and Dunn, spent two or three days in the mountains this week.

H. A. Kanouse expects to commence work on his new hotel this week. The building will be erected where Dill & Hill's produce store now is.

The lacrosse club has secured enthusiasts of their game to entertain their patrons on Tuesday evening. The club is worthy of every citizen's patronage.

Mr. T. C. Thompson is in a very dangerous condition. The fever has developed to an alarming degree and small hopes are entertained for his recovery.

Mr. W. B. Ganong, manager of the Royal Hotel, on Tuesday morning returned from a month's vacation in New Brunswick. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ganong.

Mr. D. V. Mott, of Fernie, B.C., attended the Calgary Liberal Convention. This meeting, we might add, was a representative one in every way.—Macleod Advance.

The following subscriptions to the relief fund have not yet been acknowledged: Per secretary, $24; J. McEvoy, $50; miners and citizens of Cumberland, B.C., $932.25.

The principal of the Lethbridge public school has been accused of using grossly insulting language to the pupils, and an investigation is being held by the Educational Department.

Dr. Higgins will move his office into the Hill Block, over J. C. Hutchison's tailor shop, in a day or two. The law firm of Herchmer & Herchmer, will occupy the vacated rooms in P. Burns block.

The force of workmen at the mines is being increased daily. There are now some 250 at work. No. 1 mine is running full blast, and the work of cleaning up No. 2 is being rushed as rapidly as possible.

Only one policeman, Constable Tranter, made his appearance at the fire Friday morning and he was kept busy with petty thieves, who seemed bound to get away with the goods saved from the flames.

Messrs. Ed. Wyldman and Neil McKellar, went down to Lethbridge last week on a duck hunting expedition, but the attractions of that city proved to be more enticing than the ducks and they returned on Thursday without having fired a shot.

Editor Simpson, of the Morrissey Miner, Cranbrook Herald and Marysville Tribune, was in town on Monday rustling advertisements for the Miner. The "Old Man" seems to be getting quite a newspaper monopolist He will yet be aspiring for political honors.

Large, well furnished boarding house to rent. Apply to A. H. Cree. x

The Clara Hanmer Comedy Co. gave three performances in Princess Hall this week. The plays put on were: on Tuesday evening, "Master and Man"; Wednesday, "Brother Against Brother"; and Thursday, "A True Kentuckian." The performances, although of a third rate variety, were quite largely attended.

J. D. Jones, M.A., B.D., and E. Smith, J.P., two members of the delegation from the Congregational church in England, which was sent out some weeks ago to make a tour of Canada and visit the churches of that denomination in this country, registered at the Royal Hotel on Wednesday. While there is no Congregational organization here, there are a number of members whom the delegates called upon.

FERNIE OPERA HOUSE.

One Merry Night Wednesday, Sept. 17th

Coming on a guarantee. C. B. Marvin's furiously funny Musical Farce Comedy

A WISE MEMBER

A WHIRLWIND OF FUN.
A CYCLONE OF MIRTH.
A TORNADO OF LAUGHTER

Pretty Girls. Gorgeous Costumes. Catchy Music. Clever People. An event of exceptional merit.

Prices $1.00 and 75 cts.

Seats now on sale at Bleasdell's drug store.

F. J. Mitchell can fit you in a suit of clothes. Give him a trial. x

A. H. Cree went to Elko on Friday to take over the insurance business of C. M. Edwards, who is going to England.

Considerable excitement was caused on Victoria Ave. late Thursday night by a drunken cowboy parading his horse up and down the sidewalk and attempting to ride into the bar of the Northern Hotel. Luckily for him the police were not around.

It is said that the Lethbridge lacrosse team have secured the services of two outside lacrosse players for the game with Fernie on Wednesday. The new men are reported to be "crackerjacks," so our boys will have to keep their wits about them.

Constable Tranter brought a man up from Mihchel on Tuesday charged with having burglar's tools in his possession. The case came up before Justices of the Peace H. J. Turner and H. H. Trites, on Thursday, but the alleged burglar's instruments turned out to be quite harmless and the case was dismissed. Mr. W. R. Ross appeared for the accused.

Dunc. McLean while practising lacrosse on the recreation grounds the other evening, met with a slight accident which threatens to put him out of the game for this season. He twisted one of his feet, breaking one of the smaller bones. The accident coming at this time is particularly unfortunate as the lacrosse team can hardly spare him.

It is announced that the Imperial Limited will be taken off about Sept. 20th. The last Limited train will leave Montreal on Sept. 19th and from Vancouver on Sept. 20th. This is being done that all all availabie engines may be used to haul the wheat. Notwithstanding the fact that the C. P. R. have placed in commission a large number of new locomotives the company is still short of power on this divlsion.

Mitchell, the tailor, is doing business in the Pentley block. x

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE

On Thursday, the 25th of September, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, a part of the Government lots in Morrissey townsite will be sold at Auction.

The sale will take place in front of the townsite office.

Terms, one third cash, one third at three months and the balance at six months, time being the essence of the contract.

An upset price has been placed on each lot, below which no sale will be made. 2t

Fort Steele, September 9th, 1902.

J. F. ARMSTRONG,
Government Agent.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east: thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

We Want Your Trade

and we are confident that we can make it to your advantage to deal at the

New Furniture Store

We are willing to

BUY SELL OR EXCHANGE Secondhand Furniture and Stoves.

We have a full stock of new goods which we will sell at close rates. Give us a call.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

ENVELOPES... FOR LADIES' USE

are made in such a variety of tints and dainty shapes that one can get almost any shape desired.

The assortment here certainly permits of a pleasing choice. Everything that's correct style is in our stock.

OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES, also, we have a full line. Call on us when in want of INK, PAPER, PENS, ETC., ETC.

Fernie Drug Store.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT
FOR THE LADIES.....

Thursday and Friday, Sep. 18 & 19

On the above dates we are going to hold our

..Grand Millinery Opening..

Never before have you seen such a gathering of beautiful colorings, exquisite designs, artistic modelling of headwear.

Miss McBroom has searched the fashion centres for the best, and you have only to visit our Millinery Department to convince you how well the work has been done.

Don't forget the dates: THURSDAY, Sept. 18th, FRIDAY, Sept. 19th. Come and enjoy the pretty sights and have a cup of cocoa.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

A SEARCH FOR STOVES

Should end at this store. We wish to draw your attention to our line of air tight heaters, our stock of which is now complete. Watch for illustrations and descriptions of them next week.

Here is a handy receptacle for flour; we have them to hold 25, 50 and 100 pounds. Prices always reasonable.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B. C.

The outlet for the various districts of South East Kootenay. Surrounded by more natural wealth than any town in British Columbia.

Coal, Iron, Copper, Timber, and the various products they produce. Large mercantile houses are being established at Morrissey in which prices will be right, and fair and courteous treatment the motto.

Lots on Easy Payments

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —

Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

MARTINIQUE DOOMED

ENTIRE ISLAND WILL HAVE TO BE ABANDONED.

Morne Lacroix Falls Bodily Into the Crater---Awful Story by a Survivor of the Last Explosion---A Tidal Wave is Expected at Gaudaloupe.

A New York dispatch says: It is generally believed that the Island of Martinique is doomed to total destruction, and the fear is that when the catastrophe comes Gaudaloupe will be visited by an all-destructive tidal wave.

Business is absolutely at a standstill. Few shops are open and if it were not for the efforts for a small number of more valiant souls, hundreds would starve to death here because of their fear of a more terrible death.

Details that have been received during the last two days prove that the eruption of Mont Pelee of August 30 was far more violent than any of the previous explosions. As the eruptions continue the mouth of Mont Pelee grows in size. It is now of enormous proportions. Morne Lacroix, one of the peaks that reared skyward from the side of Pelee, has fallen bodily into the crater and it has been completely swallowed. There seems to be a side pressure in the crater, and the burning chasm widens perceptibly every day. Clouds no more hang about the crest of Mont Pelee. The terrific heat seems to drive everything away. The column of smoke rears directly into the heavens, so that its top is lost to sight. In the darkness of the night it has the appearance of a stream of molten iron, standing fixed between heaven and earth.

From Morne Capote the relief troops were compelled to make a quick retreat, although they succeeded in taking out a few wounded. The entire country nearly to Fort De France is buried under a deep cover of ashes. This has made it almost impossible to find the bodies of those who have perished while fleeing to the sea coast.

Constance Cara, one of the few who succeeded in escaping from Morne Rouge after the explosion, found refuge on the steamer Esk. She was with twelve others in her house when Pelee gave its first warning of the disaster which it was about to pour upon the village. She said that the first explosion destroyed many houses. She was hurled with great force against the wall of the room in which she was sitting. On recovering from the shock she ran outside, and there saw three separate tongues of fire sweeping down from the mouth of the volcano. The earth shook with so great violence that she could not retain her feet and she was blinded by the glare of the flames. The heat was so terrific that her flesh was blistered. She awaited the death which she believed to be inevitable. Fortunately the fire swept a little to one side of her and she was saved.

At Grand Anz the tide swept 300 feet inshore, destroying many houses and drowning scores of inhabitants. Even at Fort De France the most stout of heart have lost courage. Col. Leceour has reported to his government that it is his opinion that the entire island of Martinique will have to be abandoned. He asks for assistance in transporting the inhabitants to the other islands of the West Indian ocean.

Sociologists were disturbed by the vital statistics issued showing a marked decline in the English birth rate. London shows a decrease since 1881 from 27.4 to 20.6 per 100 of married women under the age of 45. The decline is most noticeable in the fashionable quarters of the capital, while the slum areas, such as Stepney, Shadwell, and Bethnal Green, are almost stationary. Outside of London the decline amounts to 25.8 against 30.3 in 1881.

Decatur, Mich., claims that it has solved the domestic service problem. Twenty-five families there have clubbed together and dine in common. Two competent cooks are engaged, and a sufficient number of waiters. This is about all the machinery. Bills are settled once a week. So far the cost has been found to be about 10 cents per meal per person. Each family, if composed of more than two persons, has a table to itself, uses its own silver, and supplies flowers for the vases, etc.

A dispatch from Shelbyville, Ky., says: Fisher Million, a negro, who was indicted in 1901 for vagrancy and who has been at large since, has been captured in Lawrenceburg and tried before Judge Davis in the county court. The judge returned a verdict of guilty and fixed his punishment at being sold into servitude for a period of twelve months, the highest penalty. He will be put on the block and sold into servitude by Sheriff Briggs, if a purchaser can be found. The officials hardly know what to do in the event of no sale.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

Fire did $25,000 damage at Toronto exhibition grounds on Sept. 5.

Robert Mackie, the Napanee bank robber, has been released on parole.

Gordon Sutherland, of Deloraine, was accidentally shot while out duck hunting.

Joseph Trickey and his ten-year-old son were killed on the G. T. R. track at Beamsville, Ont.

Mrs. Marston, under arrest at Fredericton, N.B., for murder, has been allowed her freedom on $10,000 bail.

The government telegraphers in the Yukon have accepted the reduced rate of pay and will resume work.

William Mackenzie said in an interterview at Toronto that the C. N.R. would carry 15,000 bushels of wheat this year.

The steamer Westphalia and the schooner Mame Anne collided near Quebec, and the captain and crew of the latter were drowned.

The work of re-marking the international boundary between British Columbia and the United States,will take four years more to complete.

Half of the potatoe crop of New York state has been killed by blight.

The British Trades Union Congress passed a strong resolution condemning the Boer war.

Holyhead desires to be the terminus of the Canadian fast Atlantic line.

The degree of D.D. will be conferred on Rev. J. A. Carmichael by Manitoba college.

The Winnipeg City Council Finance committee will enquire into Industrial fair finances.

Cherry Ripe, the Winnipeg horse, was third for the $5,000 stake at Minnesota state fair.

Rudolf Verchow, the celebrated pathologist, anthropologist and politician died at Berlin on Sept. 5, aged 81 years.

Judging from the large numbers of intimations that have been received from mayors of various cities and towns throughout the Dominion, the annual convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities to be held in this city Sept. 16 and 17, will be by far the largest in the history of the union. The committee is busy arranging for the reception of the delegates.

A petition has been presented to the department of Justice praying for the release of Joseph Larkin, who was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in March last for the theft of $500 from the Toronto customs house. Larkin has been in jail since October, 1901, and as the money was refunded it is thought by the petitioners that he has suffered enough.

Eight thousand carpenters of New York city have won their strike for an advance of 50 cents a day, when the Master Carpenter's association, after a conference lasting seven hours, granted the demand. The increase will make the wages $4.50 for eight hours' work.

Because of his attachment for Miss Mildred Mottsacker, of Racine, Wis., Frank A. Omior, of Lasalle, Ill., sacrificed an inheritance of $5,000 and wedded the girl of his choice in St. Paul, Minn. The girl was an actress. The young man's father said he would disinherit him if he married her.

A Chicago dispatch says: From a window of the house, 243 Ward St., Mrs. Theodore Boik Friday afternoon saw small boys performing, in the vacant lot adjoining, an Indian war dance around a baby carriage in which was her eleven-month-old baby daughter, Agnes. For torches they had old brooms, which they had ignited at a bonfire. Almost frantic at the danger of her little one, she shouted to them to desist, and then saw the flimsy trappings of the buggy ignite and flames envelope it. When she reached the child the buggy was a mass of flames, and the laces and frills in which she had attired the little girl before wheeling her out a few minutes before, had been burned away. Before medical attendance arrived the infant was dead.

A dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle from Vienna gives details of the tragic deaths on Wednesday last of an Austrian actor and actress at Samoan-Ujvar, Transylvania,Hungary, as follows: Julia Pakey and Julius Bardos had been engaged but the latter had broken off the engagement. The two were acting the part of lovers in a performance during which Julia was supposed to fire at Bardos. She charged her pistol with bullets and shot him dead. The curtain was lowered immediately, but the first persons who arrived on the stage found that Julia had committed suicide by opening her veins.

The Earl of Ranfurly, whose term as governor of New Zealand is about to expire, is likely to be asked to remain on at Wellington for another year or two. No previous governor of New Zealand has travelled so extensively in and around the colony. Lately he went for a cruise to the islands in the direction of the Antarctic, and he has sent to the Natural History Museum a rare collection of interesting discoveries.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

UNITED STATES PRESIDENT SLIGHTLY INJURED.

The Tally-Ho in Which He Was Riding It Struck by an Electric Car Near Pittsfield, Mass., and His Bodyguard Instantly Killed.

A dispatch from Pittsfield, Mass., dated Sept. 3, says: President Roosevelt on this last day of his tour of New England, narrowly escaped death or serious injury in an accident near this city in which one of his bodyguard, Secret Service Agent William Craig, was killed outright, and D. J. Pratt, the driver of the coach occupied by President Roosevelt, Gov. Crane, Secretary Cortelyou and Mr. Craig, sustained a fractured skull, which it is feared will result fatally.

The coach, which was a regular tally-ho vehicle, was struck by an electric car on the Pittsfield and Lennox street railway at about 9.30 o'clock this forenoon. The accident happened at a point about a mile and a half from this city, near the Pittsfield Country Club house, while the president and his party were enjoying a coaching trip from Dalton, Governor Crane's home, where the president spent the night, to Lennox, a distance of about 20 miles from the Berkshire hills. The car was in charge of Conductor Kelly, with Motorman Luke J. Madden on the front platform. The car struck the coach in the rear and smashed in the back of the vehicle, tipping it over and throwing its occupants to the ground. The car was not badly damaged.

Motorman Madden and Conductor Kelly were at once arrested and brought to Pittsfield. Pratt, the driver of the coach, was also brought here and placed in the Pittsfield hospital. The president, who in falling from the coach, sustained only slight bruises and a few scratches, and Secretary George B. Cortelyou, who suffered in a similar manner to the president, with the exception that he was cut on the head, with the other members of the party went to the Country club nearby, where their wounds were dressed. In a short time they proceeded to the Curtis Hotel at Lennox.

A witness of the accident stated that the motorman was speeding his car in order to reach the club. The president, Governor Crane and Secretary Cortelyou were piled up in a heap. The awestricken crowd which witnessed the accident rushed to the president's carriage, but with no expectation that he would be found alive. The president was cut on the right side of his chin and his face is swollen. He is also suffering from severe bruises. The president retained his complete composure, although he was solicitous for the rest of those in the carriage.

The excitement was intense and rumors flew thick and fast that the president had been killed. After remaining at the scene for an hour the president determined to continue his journey to Stockbridge, where his train was laying at a siding.

The driver of the carriage, D. J. Pratt, was very badly hurt and has since died.

700 PEOPLE KILLED.

Seismic Disturbance In Russia---Twenty Villages Swept Away.

Correspondence received at Vienna from Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Russia, gives a graphic account of a disaster which occurred on August 17, when, as the result of a landslide, supposed to have been due to seismic disturbances, some twenty villages were destroyed and nearly 700 persons were killed.

On the Northern slope of Mount Kasbek lies the watering place of Tmenkau. Early in the morning of August 17 subterranean disturbances were noted at Tmenkau but the hundred of bathers in the hot springs there scouted the idea of a catastrophe, and in spite of warnings continued their bathing. At 7 o'clock on that evening the entire valley where the hot springs are situated was filled with a deafening noise, resembling thunder, and loud underground rumblings were heard. The valley stream swelled to the dimensions of a mighty torrent, and sweeping down it carried with it large blocks of rock and ice. Then the bathers tried to escape, but it was too late. The entire northern slope of Mount Kasbek, with the glacier above, began to move rapidly. Village after village was swept away, and everything in the path of the landslide was destroyed. Within a few minutes the valley, which is nearly 12 miles long, had been devastated by a wall of rock, ice and earth. The valley was completely filled up in some places to a depth of nearly 1,000 feet by the matter which was hurled into it. A fierce hurricane raged at the time of the landslide, and the bodies of people and animals were flung by the wind to a great height and dashed against the rocks.

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

Mrs. Silverthorn, of Lumsden, was accidentally shot by duck hunters last week.

The Dominion government is being urged to set apart a day in October as Thanksgiving day.

Wallace Broad, a native of St. John, N.B., has been made advisor to the Chinese minister of mines.

A big packing concern is being organized in Prince Edward Island and it will have a branch in Winnipeg.

The writ for the election in the Yukon has been issued, nomination being set for November 4, and election December 2.

Lord Connemara (Robert Bourke), who was twice under secretary of foreign affairs, died on Sept. 3.

Mrs. D. Clarke, of Toronto, who was addicted to drinking brandy, suicided on Sept. 4 by taking carboilic acid.

Chief Cheyne, of the Windsor fire department, and several firemen were severely injured by the hook and ladder truck overturning.

Thos. H. Williams, president of the California Jockey club, shot and seriously wounded Frederick Marriott, a newspaper publisher, for reflecting on his character.

A conference of the representatives of various provinces will be held this fall to settle disputes concerning the fisheries arising out of the recent judgment of the privy council.

A westbound passenger train on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railroad was wrecked on Sept. 4 by a defective rail near Brown Wood, Texas. The entire train was thrown down a 20-foot embankment. Thirty persons were injured, but none were killed outright.

Joseph Hoffman, of New York, professional aeronaut, made a balloon ascension over the Minnesota Fair grounds on Sept. 3. At an altitude of 400 feet he jumped from the balloon with a parachute. The latter failed to open, and Hoffman fell to the ground and both legs were broken. He was also injured internally. The doctors think he will recover. A big searchlight was turned on him and showed Hoffman's every movement while falling.

W. J. Gage, the Toronto publisher, who endowed the consumption sanitarium at Gravenhurst, has given a tract of land in the heart of Brampton, three and one-half miles in extent, and worth, with the mansion on the land, $20,000, as a public park in recognition of the excellent opportunities afforded him for study in Brampton's schools when he was a boy.

The department of agriculture at Ottawa has now been officially advised that two parties of Boer farmers have been selected to tour throughout Canada, New Zealand and Australia for the purpose of ascertaining information in regard to agriculture. One of these parties is from the Commandoes which have been at St. Helena with Cronje, and the other from Ceylon. They will leave for Canada at once. The British government is anxious that they should see this country before the winter sets in. Each party will have a guide, and the department of agriculture will furnish an official to select the districts which they will visit and to direct them in their tour.

The official Journal De St. Petersburg of Sept. 3, contains the following announcement: Some months ago certain changes in the condition of the czarina which indicated pregnancy. Now, owing to a deviation from the normal course of pregnancy her majesty has had a miscarriage. There are no complications. Her temperature and pulse are normal.

Seventy-five hundred out of 12,000 carpenters connected with the New York district council of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners struck on Sept. 3 for an advance in wages of from $4 to $4.50 a day. Thirty-five hundred of the strikers won their demands almost immediately. The Master Carpenter's association has decided unanimously to refuse all demands.

The King of Sweden has for the first time conferred the order of the Seraphim on a British subject in she person of the Marquis of Bredalbane, K.G. Several years ago Lord Breadalbane saved from drowning one of his retainers at great risk to himself.

A letter has been received at the Manitoba agricultural department from Mr. Hartney, immigration agent at Toronto, giving an account of the efforts put forth in Ontario and other eastern provinces to secure harvest hands for the west. Mr. Hartney states that there is a big demand for laborers in the east, and if it were not for the desire of young men to see the western country it would be hard to get any men at all. Lumbermen, miners, manufacturers and other employers of labor in the east are beginning to object to thousands of laborers coming to Manitoba every year and are making every effort to induce them to remain at home as the annual exodus has the effect of greatly increasing the price of labor in the east.

CONDENSED. DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

The industrial census shows a large increase in the factories in Canada.

A Boxer proclamation has been posted at Canton inciting the slaughter of foreigners.

Captain Bernier has denied the rumors that he intended to throw up his North Pole trip.

Emperor William told the Poles that their country must remain a part of Germany.

According to the casualty returns nearly 45,000 British soldiers were killed, died or wounded in the Boer war.

An expedition has been sent against the Kaffirs along the Orange river.

A theatre and music hall in Cincinnati, valued at $110,000, was destroyed by fire.

James Wray, of Harvard, has challenged George Towns for the world's sculling championship.

William Houser, employed in the G. T. R. shops at Fort Gratiot, was instantly killed on Sept. 4 by a large wheel falling on him. He was aged 42 and leaves a wife and family.

The Dominion Millers' association has declared in favor of an income tax on wheat to encourage milling in Canada, Newfoundland confederation, and retaliatory duties on German goods.

Upwards of a hundred Americans, in good circumstances, including several bankers, arrived in Winnipeg on Sept. 4 with the object of settling or establishing business in the Northwest.

Trees are to be planted and a general monument erected by the municipality in the quarantine harbor at Odessa, where several British seamen are buried.

An explosion occurred on Sept. 4 at the Tredegar Iron company's colliery, near Rhymney, Monmouthshire, Wales, while 112 men were underground. Thirteen of these are known to be dead and seventeen are seriously injured.

Cyrus Acheson, of Moncton, and Anna L. Briggs, of Sussex, N. B., who have been appointed as teachers in South Africa, will sail on the Tunisian on the 27th inst. Mr. Acheson gets £500 and quarters and Miss Briggs £200.

The income tax returns for the year 1901 show that fifteen persons in Great Britain paid tax on incomes exceeding £50,000, their total incomes being assessed at £1,500,000. The greatest number of payments was on incomes between £160 and £200.

Southern Russia is beset with caterpillars. Swarms of the insects have taken possession of the streets, building walls, gardens, and farm lands in the neighborhood of Kief and all over the province much destruction is being caused. Near Kief the other day an express train took two hours to plow through the barricade of caterpillars that blocked the line.

Captain Prince Victor Duleep Singh (eldest son of the late Maharajah Duleep Singh, of Lahore,) has been declared bankrupt. Prince Duleep Singh is an officer of the First Dragoon guards. He was educated in England, and married the youngest daughter of the ninth Earl of Coventry. The Prince was honorary aide de camp to Lieutenant General Ross when the latter commanded the British troops at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

London newspapers announce that the British steamships Glencoe and Devonshire are loading 8,000 tons of anthracite coal at Swansea for New York, these being the first cargoes of that description. It is further asserted that the shipments were ordered in consequence of the coal miners' strike in the United States.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 4.—Ernest M. Belford, aged 10, was killed by a street car last night; and Maggie Anglin, a girl of 12, was fatally injured. They were coming from the fair and started to jump off a car. J. H. McDermott caught and held them a moment, which caused the boy to fall under the wheels. The girl was carried on the fender some distance and terribly injured.

For thirty days during her trip from London to Adelaide, Australia, the cargo of the Italian ship Pasquale Lauro was on fire, and the crew were in fear of it breaking out at any moment. The fire started in the beginning of July, and it was not until the end of that month that the vessel reached her destination. The hatches had to be battened down and for fear of fanning the fire the ship had to be kept under reefed sails. The provisions were destroyed and the crews' feet were scorched when they walked the decks.

At the Trades Union Congress of Great Britain, in session in London, there was a very heated discussion of a compulsorry arbitration resolution. Many of the delegates opposed the resolution on the ground that under such a system the trades unions would not only use all the advantage they had wrung from the employers, but would die of inanition, since the need for the survival would no longer exist. The resolution was rejected by 961,000 to 303,000 represented votes.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

A record in courtship and proposals has occurred at Lubeck, in Germany, where resides a hotel proprietor with a family of six children—four sons and two daughters—who were all betrothed in one day. The half-dozen happy couples were also married on the same day, and one wedding breakfast served for them all.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other soap powders, as it also acts as a disinfectant.

A man's word in business is better than his word in a love affair.

An optimist is a man who has his winter's coal in.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.,

Gentlemen—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist badly bitten by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wound had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever. Yours truly,

A. E. ROY.

Carriage Maker, St. Antoine, P.Q.

After one man has said a clever thing lots of others wonder why they never thought of it.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

There is more joy over one sinner who makes up a quorum, than over ninety and nine who come regularly.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state or morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

With the present low price of fruit it is no compliment to call a girl a peach. It is equivalent to saying she looks like thirty cents.

TRY IT.—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—with the ordinary unguents, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

In Russia when a weapon of any kind is purchased a permit must be secured from the local authorities. The name of the man who makes the purchase, with the number of the weapon is recorded. If the purchaser ever wants to dispose of the weapon he must notify the authorities and cause the transfer to be recorded on the books of the firm which sold it.

Italy is not the only country that can boast of its buried towns and villages. In Scotland there are the Culbin Sands, covering a large tract of country, under which many dwellings lie entombed; while in Ireland there is the ancient town of Bannon, situated on a once fertile tract between Wexford and Waterford, as effectually covered with sand as ever Pompeii was with red-hot cinders or Herculaneum with lava.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

Germany's annual consumption of beer works out at over 36 gallons per head of population.

A Tramps' Paradise.

A paradise for tramps would be the Brazilian state of Sergipe. There a man can put up his mud hut anywhere. He has an abundance of fruit, such as the banana, jaca, caju, etc. The tidal rivers are full of fish, shrimp, crabs and oysters, and the woods abound with game.

A Tiny Model.

So small is a working model of a steamship made by a mechanic of Frankfort-on-Main that it will go into a matchbox.

Painfully Honest.

Prude—Well, why did you refuse him after you had taken him away from the girl he was engaged to?

Flirt—Oh, I haven't quite reached the point when I will receive stolen goods.

The rack was one of the instruments of torture in the olden time. The music rack is usually used for the same purpose today.

A GRATEFUL TRIBUTE

FROM A MAN WHO LOOKED UPON HIS CASE AS HOPELESS.

Doctors Diagnosed His Case as Catarrh of the Stomach, but Failed to Help Him ---Many Remedies Were Tried Before a Cure Was Found.

From the Bulletin, Bridgewater, N.S.

We suppose there is not a corner in this wide Dominion in which will not be found people who have been restored to health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. There are many such cases here in Bridgewater and its vicinity, and we are this week given permission to record one for the benefit of similar sufferers. The case is well known in this vicinity and the tenacity of the disorder was remarkable. For six years Alfred Vienot, a surveyor of lumber for the great lumber firm of Davison & Sons, was a victim of a serious disorder of the stomach. His sufferings were excruciating and he had wasted to a shadow. Doctors prescribed for him, yet the agonizing pains remained. Many remedies were tried but to no avail. The case was diagnosed as catarrh of the stomach; food became distasteful, life a burden. The trouble went on for nearly six years, then a good Samaritan advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills were given a fair, patient trial, Mr. Veinot using about a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone a permanent cure was effected. Mr. Vienot is now able to attend to his business when it looked as if he was doomed to die. He is grateful to this great medicine for his cure and has no hesitation in saying so.

Because of their thorough and prompt action on the blood and nerves these pills speedily cure anaemia, rheumatism, sciatica, parcial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, scrofula and eruptions of the skin, erysipelas, kidney and liver troubles and the functional ailments which makes the lives of so many women a source of constant misery. Get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box. Sold by medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Prince Charlie's tartan cloak, which he wore during the rebellion in 1745, is now being exhibited in a tailor's window at Pitlochry, Perthshire.

When the millionth visitor passed through the turnstile at Dusseldorf exhibition he was presented with a valuable gold watch and chain.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

Two torpedo boats of the Imperial German navy will always be stationed in future on the Rhine.

Mme. Isacescu, the Viennese swimmer, is training for another attempt to swim the English channel.

COLIC AND KIDNEY DIFFICULTY.—Mr. J. W. Wilder, J. P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney Difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.

Lieutenant Perezel has been expelled from an Austrian Hussar regiment because he did not use his sword on a laborer who struck him.

A whale can remain under water for an hour and a half.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

In the Rock of Gibraltar there are seventy miles of tunnels.

A homing pigeon flew 400 miles, from Listowel, County Kerry, to Ealing, near London, in 9 hours 19 minutes.

It is estimated by engineers that the leakage from the gas pipes of London equal 9 per cent. of the total manufacture.

Wilson's Fly Pads

. . (POISON) . .

Sure Death to Flies

Clean, Safe, Effectual.

MARKETS.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

In Manitoba wheat there has been extremely little doing during the week. There has been a rounding up of all the odd cars of old wheat that could be got hold of in store Fort William for shipment to the Ontario trade at prices better than for September delivery, and we think these are now well out of the way and prices from this out will be on the basis of export value for all wheat, old or new crop. The prices paid latterly for spot 1 northern and 2 Northern have been 71 and 69 cents in store Fort William. In contrast with these the prices for September delivery show a reduction of 3c per bushel. A few lots of wheat for September delivery in store Fort William have been sold, some of them to exporters, but the export trade is not yet taking hold of business to any extent. Shipping of new wheat has begun at towns along the boundary from Emerson to Morden, but it is slow work, as bad weather hinders threshing except at intervals, and cars are also scarce. About 25 cars of new wheat have been inspected this week, the majority of them being 1 hard and 1 northern. The chances are, however, that there will be considerable variety in the grading from many of the later districts and that there will be more or less frosted wheat to deal with. The prices that wheat has been sold at for September delivery, Fort William, during the week have been first at 69½c 1 hard and 67½c 1 northern, but on Thursday 70c and 68c was paid, and on Friday 70½c and 68½c could have been got but owing to broken weather no one would offer wheat for sale. There have been no dealings in No. 2 northern yet, but it may be taken at 2c under 1 northern.

At Liverpool on Saturday No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at 6s 3 3-8d.

FLOUR—Demand is light and the market is unchanged as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian, $2.05 per sack of 98 lbs.; Glenora Patent, $1.90; Alberta, $1.75; Manitoba, $1.60; XXXX, $1.25.

MILLFEED — Bran is firm and worth $14 per ton in bulk. Shorts firm at $19 per ton in bulk, delivered, subject to usual trade discounts.

GROUND FEED—We quote: Oat chop, per ton, $24; barley shop, $20; mixed barley and oats, $22; oat screenings, $14; oil cake, $30.

OATS—There is nothing doing in old oats and the market is steadily declining. Sales of small lots have been made this week at 29c Fort William, for No. 2 white, but it is doubtful if over 28c could now be obtained for this grade at either Fort William or Winnipeg. In the trade is talk of 20c to the farmer for new oats.

BARLEY—There is nothing doing in barley. Crop prospects are splendid. About 35 to 36c per bushel for carlots, in the prevailing idea of price.

HAY—New hay is plentiful. We quote $6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track.

POTATOES—New, 30 to 35c per bushel.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 60c per pair, alive; fowl, 60 to 70c; ducks and geese, 9c per pound; turkeys, 11c, live weight.

BUTTER—Creamery— Receipts are moderately large and demand good. Prices hold steady at 16½c to 17c pound for choice quality f.o.b. factory points.

BUTTER —Dairy—Dealers are paying 13c per pound for choicest dairy in tubs or boxes, and from that figure the market ranges down to 10c per pound for low grades, all commission basis.

CHEESE—The market is firmer and higher. For best makes as high as 9½c per pound is being paid in a wholesale way, and the range is from 9 to 9¼c.

EGGS—Fresh case eggs are worth 15c per dozen delivered in Winnipeg.

DRESSED MEATS—Beef, 6½ to 7c; veal, 8 to 9c; mutton, 8c; lamb, 12½c and hogs, 8½ to 9c.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6¾c; No. 2, 5¾; No. 3, 4¾c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horsehides, 50c to $1.

WOOL—Manitoba clip, delivered in Winnipeg, 6½c per pound.

SENECA ROOT—The root market is again higher, and 60c per pound is being offered for choice root delivered in Winnipeg. Inferior grades are 2c less.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—There is a steady export movement of cattle, and the market is without special feature. Choice export grades are worth 3½ to 4c per pound at point of shipment, and butchers' grades 3 to 3½c.

SHEEP—Receipts are moderate and prices range from 3½ to 3¾c per lb., off cars, Winnipeg.

HOGS—Receipts are moderate and the market is firmer at 6¼ to 6½ per pound for best packing weights off cars Winnipeg.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie's Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure.
Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR.
Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

A few years ago Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea was unknown, today it is a household word. Why?

PERSONAL.

Matrimony—(view to.) Gentlemen should join the British Correspondence Bureau, 154 Ebury Street, London, S. W. England. Particulars free.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

When using common tea you may mistake bitterness for strength. GOLD STANDARD TEA is unequalled for strength and flavor.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS

SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS—$15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

To Assimilate Food

see that your stomach and liver are in proper condition. To do it easily and pleasantly take

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

Notices of dismissal have been served on the colliers in the Bochum and Dortmund districts, Westphalia, where it has been decided to restrict the output of coal.

If you had as many lenses in each eye as the common dragon fly has each of your organs of sight would be as big as a box car.

It costs on an average £40 to put out a fire in London and £138 to extinguish one in New York.

HOW CAUSTIC BURNS.

Take a piece of woollen cloth, or a piece of a blanket, and boil it thoroughly in a strong solution of caustic soda, and you will find the wool will gradually be eaten away, leaving nothing but the skeleton. Women do not realize how "soap substitutes," which are generally surcharged with soda, or how common alkaline soaps destroy their clothing; consequently they, week by week, subject costly fabric to such treatment. The hands also are immersed for hours in such solutions, resulting in eczema, coarse skin, and brittle nails. The caustic soda may loosen the dirt, but it eats away the fabric and ruins the hands. There is no economy in such work. It is so easy for a woman to test the difference between an alkali charged soap and a neutral washing soap, that it is strange that there is room for any but a pure soap on the Canadian market. Sunlight Soap has been tested by chemists and analysts the world over, and its freedom from free alkali or caustic has been demonstrated by the highest medical authorities. Consequently the true saying, "Sunlight Soap reduces expenses." 602.

My Friend

and myself always smoke LUCINA Cigars, just for that sweet flavor.

You and your friend will enjoy them just the same.

MANUFACTURED BY

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

W. N. U. No. 393.

Are you going to start a Newspaper?

¶ Then write to us for prices and terms upon TYPE, MATERIAL and MACHINERY. : : : : : : : : : :

¶ We carry the only stock in the Northwest, and can furnish complete Job and Newspaper Plants at short notice; also Ready-Prints in all sizes and styles. : : : : : : : : :

Toronto Type Fdry Co'y, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

Watercress is a "good, all-round" brace-up for the system.

In Manila most of the houses and offices have tiny window panes made of translucent oyster shell instead of glass. An average window 6ft. high by 4ft. wide contains 260 shell panes which temper the heat and light of the sun and prevent blindness.

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

SANITARY WORK.

NOTICE

Any person having any sanitary work to do, or any garbage to be removed should apply to

NAPOLEON GAREAU,
At the Alberta Hotel.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described lands, situate on the west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district commencing at a post marked D. J. Johnson's north west corner, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's north east corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

D. J. JOHNSON.

Dated Aug, 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a stake planted about five feet west of A. E. Jackson's post E. timber license, about one mile west of the west bank of Elk river, thence running south 40 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains, thence running south 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 27th day of August.

M. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk river, about 21 miles north of mouth of Michel Creek, marked C. J. Digby's south-east corner, thence following the said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

C. J. DIGBY.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked J. G. Coward's south-east corner and about 40 chains north of C. J. Digby's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

J. G. COWARD.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked F. Robins' south-east corner, near J. G Coward's north-east corner post, thence following said bank nortnerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

F. ROBINS.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of L. A. Davis' timber limit and one mile north of McDougall and Procters timber limit, about three miles from Elk river and about five miles from Fernie, along side Hartley trail, thence running east 40 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains thence running east 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 13th day of August, 1902.

A. K. PAULSON,

COMMUNICATIONS.

[We do not necessarily hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.]—Ed.

To the Editor.

The fire on Thursday night left eight families homeless. Although these buildings did not look to be much, yet they were the only homes that the people had and their little furniture, keepsakes and household effects, whose market value would not be much in the eye of the commercial world, were as dear and as valuable to those poor people, who lost their homes, as the mansion and the million dollars is to the millionaire. But I am sorry to say that there are some people who cannot or who do not think that way.

On Friday morning after the fire I went into the Northern Hotel to have my mornings morning, one Charles Welsh happened to be at the bar at the same time and he asked the day bartender if he had heard about the fire in the old town and the bartender said no. "Why" said Welsh, "I have been over there with the team helping to put out the fire, about nine families were left homeless;" "Oh" said the bartender in return, "it is a pity that everything in the old town didn't burn to get rid of the place." Not long ago an officer of the King was run out of town for using a like expression and in my opinion a man who has so little feeling for others and especially those who have just lost their homes—men, women and children left without a place to call their own—such a man is not worthy of being a citizen of our town. For the men who are the back bone of our town—the working men—their only homes are all very much like those that were burned by the fire.

J. DESLAWRIER.

Examination for Certificates of Competency.

RE "COAL MINES REGULATION ACT."

NOTICE is hereby given that an Examination for Certificates of Competency as Managers of Mines will be held on the 15th day of October, 1902, at the Court House, Nanaimo, B.C., and also at Fernie, B.C., on the same date.

Candidates, not under 23 years of age, desirous of presenting themselves for examination must deliver to Mr. Thos. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, on or before the 5th day of October, 1902, notice of such intention, in writing, together with a certificate of service from their former or present employers, testifying to at least two years' experince underground.

The examination will be in writing, and will include the following subjects, viz:—

1. Mining Acts and rules.
2. Mine gases.
3. General work.
4. Ventilation.
5. Mining machinery.
6. Surveying and levelling.

Any further particulars required may be obtained on application to Mr. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, B.C.

EDWD. GAWLER PRIOR,
Minister of Mines.

Department of Mines, 193-5
Victoria, B. C., 4th Septmeber, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.

J. L. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north side of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.

R. J. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.

L. A. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon afterward as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Levis' north-east corner post, adjoining David Tracy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN LEVIS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of the Elk river, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

CHAS. J. BULGER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked Peter VanDusen's south-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1901.

PETER VANDUSEN.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of Elk river on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. R. Stevens' north-east corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

J. R. STEVENS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked David Tracy's north-west corner post, adjoining Geo. McClincy's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

DAVID TRACY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked August Baldauf's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D. Quail's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

AUGUST BALDAUF.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range, Commencing at a post marked George McClincy's north-west corner post, adjoining August Baldauf's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

GEORGE MCCLINCY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked W. A. Switzer's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D Quail's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

W. A. SWITZER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. D. Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Clincy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN RUDOLPH.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District, B.C. commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.

Dated the 8th day of September 1902.

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River about ¾ mile north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains west, thence forty chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence eighty (80) chains north, thence sixty chains east, thence 160 chains south to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

D. A. MCRAE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Commissioner of Lands and Werks for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west side of the Elk River about six miles north of Andrew Thomson's initial post, forty chains west, thence one hundred and sixty chains north, thence forty chains east, thence one hundred and sixty chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

J. H. BRICKER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for special license to cut and carry awy timber on the following lands:

Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, 45 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty chains west, thence 40 chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence 140 chains north, thence 40 chains east, thence 180 chains south following the Elk River to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

ANDREW THOMSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber of the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk river, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel creek, one hundred and sixty (160) chains south following the bank of the Elk river, thence forty (40) chains west, thence one hundred and sixty (160) chains north, thence forty (40) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B. C., 29th of August, 1902.

SAUL BONNELL.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post on the west bank of the Elk River, about 44 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, forty (40) chains north, thence (20) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains south, thence forty (40) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains north, thence forty (40) chains west, thence eighty (80) chains south thence eighty (80) chains east, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

JAS. A. RENNIE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted about 44 miles from the mouth of Michel Creek on the west bank of the Elk river, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred (100) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred and twenty (120) chains east, thence eighty (80) chains north to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

G. G. JEWELL.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum, on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town at Morrissey, East Kootenay, commencing at a post marked William Senkbiel's south-east corner post, close to D. McKenzie's north east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

WILLIAM SENKBEIL.

Dated August 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon, the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, about one mile south of the mouth of Michel Creek, west 10 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 10 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 80 acres, more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

A. H. CREE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district, commencing at a post marked John Janiesch's south west corner post, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's north east corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

JOHN JANIESCH.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, on west side of Elk River, north of and near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay District, commencing at a post marked Daniel McKenzie's north east corner, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to to place of commencement.

DANIEL McKENZIE.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Derr's south east corner post, adjoining J. K. Stevens north-east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN DERR

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

FIRE! FIRE!

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

From Time to Time

something has been said here about ou clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate Time is cheap, so to speak. We ar offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind o clock is here from the hustling littl alarm to the dignified and handsom marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with it musical Cathedral Gong. All thes clocks are made in the foremost factorie and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums
Apples, Oranges, Lem ons, Bananas, Grapes

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes
Cucumbers, Melons,
Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

Notice.

Having disposed of our business i Fernie we have appointed F. J. Watso to collect our accounts,

Hill & Dill Co. Ltd

Lib. Legislative Asse.
Dec 31 1902

145

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 12 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 194

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.

Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER

Herchmer & Herchmer

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK,
Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...

Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

J. C. Hutchison

Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

Wanted immediately.— Experienced nurse, woman or girl, to take charge of four months old Child. Apply to Mrs. Archibald McVittee Cranbrook, B.C.

The Hill & Dill store has been purchased by H. A. Kanonse. The deal was put through by F. J. Watson Real Estate Agent. x

COMMISSION AT WORK

HOW TO KEEP A MINE IN SAFE CONDITION.

Experienced Miners Give Important Evidence.

The Royal Commission appointed by the government to investigate the causes of explosions in coal mines, held their first sitting on Monday last for the purpose of hearing evidence and receiving suggestions from men who have made coal mining their life's work. Very few questions referring to the recent Coal Creek disaster were put to the witnesses. The main drift of the enquiry being directed toward finding out what the miners themselves consider to be the chief sources of danger in a coal mine and how they would mitigate those dangers.

About thirty of the most intelligent and experienced miners were summoned to appear before the commission and the evidence taken if acted upon by the government is bound to lead to several material changes in the law in regard to coal mining in British Columbia. The list of questions put to the witnesses covered a vast amount of ground. They referred to ventilation; how to deal with gas, dust and old working; the best explosives to use in a mine; the best mode of tamping; the best safety lamps; the danger from squibs, electric motors, poor stoppings, double shifts and finally the efficiency of examinations for miners, fire bosses, shot lighters and mine managers Owing to lack of space we are unable to give a full report of the Commission, but will give the evidence of a few of the most important witnesses.

John A. McDonald, fire boss in No. 1 mine, when being sworn said: The proper way to deal with gas is to have good ventilation and the pure air kept well up to the working faces with brattice. He thought the velocity of the air in the main intake should be about 1,200 feet per minute, but at the working faces a much slower velocity would do. In dealing with old working he would have them ventilated with the return air as much as possible. Coal dust he considered to be the worst danger in a mine and this should be guarded against. He thought the best way to deal with the dust problem was to have it removed and the mine thoroughly sprayed. A system of pipes should be put in a mine with a succession of sprays along the main road and up to the working faces as close as possible. He had considerable experience with black powder and dynamite and did not consider them safe where gas was to be found. He believed that safety explosives should be used In tamping, where it was possible to obtain it clay should be used, but he did not think wet coal dust was dangerous. He had seen blown out shots with coal dust but never with clay. The holes should be thoroughly scraped before being tamped. He did not consider squibs safe and thought a battery should be used. He considered the claney lamp safe in a velocity which did not exceed a thousand feet per minute. Electric motors were safe enough in the intake, but would not think of having them in the return air. He thought blocking stoppings the best. Blocks should be about two feet square and four feet long. In regard to the double shift system he thought there was no particular danger attached, providing an interval of two hours was allowed between them. The examination of miners he believed to be a good system, but thought that a miner's certificate should be cancelled if he proved himself unworthy of it by any misdemeanor in the mine.

Thos. Graham, foreman in No. 2 mine, was the next witness. He said his experience extended over a period of twenty-two years. He believed in having the best ventilation possible, safe lamps, the dust should be removed and sprinkled, the stoppings should be such that all times ventilation should be completely under control. Mine should have system of watering with sprays fixed about every hundred yards. He thought black powder and dynamite safe explosives if used with care. Wet coal dust made a safe tamping- Squibs he also considered quite safe. He had used several safety lamps and considered the Wolfe the best. Motors were safe enough in the intake, but not in the return. Abandoned workings should be cut off as much as possible and ventilated with the return air. The air velocity throughout the mine should be sufficient to remove all gases. He believed in the single shift system of working the mine, but thought two in succession perfectly safe. He had seen the panel system used in coal mining and considered it very good. In his opinion a gaseaous mine was one giving off enough gas to make it absolutely necessary to use safety lamps. He believed a law should be put in force compelling shot lighters to examine all holes before they were charged. He did not think it necessary that men should be stationed at the fans all the time. He knew of no possible system to provide against a sudden outburst of gas. Asked by Commissioner Bryden if he had not heard of the system of drilling holes ahead to deal with sudden outbursts, he said he had not, and did not believe that it would be of any advantage. Mr. Bryden said that this system was being used with good effect in a number of very gaseaous mines. Asked if he would favor a law compelling companies to put in a system of waterworks, Graham at first avoided an answer but finally said he thought he would. He thought shot lighters and fire bosses should have the same examination as mine managers. A miners' certificate should be cancelled if he committed a misdemeanor in the mine.

T. R. Morton, Manager of the Morrissey Mines, was probably the most important witness to come before the Commissioners. His evidence was clear and to the point and was listened to with a good deal of interest by the Commissioners. Mr. Morton said he had been a miner for fifty years, and had occupied positions of trust for over thirty-two years. He believed the chief sources of danger in a mine were: poor ventilation, blown out shots, gas feeders, broken lamps, careless miners striking matches, air velocity and most important of all, coal dust. He believed the best way to provided against these dangers was in having energetic mine officials who would spare no pains toward educating the miners. Every miner should understand thoroughly the use of a safety lamp. Many miners thought that a safety lamp was one that could be used to work in gas with, instead of one purposely made to warn the miner where gas existed so that he might leave the spot as quickly as possible. In dealing with coal dust he would have it removed and the mine thoroughly watered. A system of pipes should be laid throughout the mine with hydrants every two hundred feet. He defined a gaseaous mine as one that gave off enough gas to be detected. Explosives might be used where absolutely necessary, but he favored the use of water cartridges, because there was less danger of flame. He had never seen any trouble arise from using gas squibs when in competent hands. Clay or mud should be used for tamping. He said he would favor a law making it compulsory to use clay or mud. He had used a number of different safety lamps, and the best one in his opinion was the Wolfe. He did not believe in having electric motors in a mine, the rope system was much the better and would favor a law prohibiting electric hoists in a mine. He believed in the single shift system. He believes that overmen, fire bosses and shot lighters should have the the same board of examiners—said board to be appointed by the Minister of Mines. He would also compell all firebosses to undergo an examination for eyesight and hearing. The examination for miners, fire bosses, shot lighters and mine managers should be more of a practical nature.

Chas. Sinister, mine manager at Mitchel was then called and gave valuable evidence. He said he had worked in mines for the past twenty-eight years. He believed in working a mine by the split system. Good ventilation should be secured, but too high a velocity of air would be dangerous. Coal dust in a mine was undoubtedly the gravest danger. He would send as much of it as possible to the surface and keep roads in damp condition with a spray system. Too much water was also a danger, as it injured the roof. He had had large experience with safety powder, but preferred black powder, as it brought the coal down better. In tamping wet clay should be used. His experience with safety lamps taught him that the Wolfe was the safest and gave the best light. He considered a gaseaous mine one in which gas had been found at any time inside of a month. He did not think the the system of examinations could be improved on, but the questions might be of a practical nature. He thought a mine manager should have at least five years actual expeirence in a mine and a coal miner one year at the face before they be granted certificates.

D. Martin, overman in No. 1 mine, said he had been twenty-eight years working in mines. He considered a gaseaous mine one in which gas could be discovered with a safety lamp. Dust was the principal danger in a mine, and thought that a law should be put in force compelling companies to put in a system of water works where the Inspector of Mines thought it was necessary. He knew black powder was dangerous, but thought the law in regard to using explosives was all right. He had used four different safety lamps, but perfered the Wolfe. He thought machine holes should be examined by fire bosses before being charged. He also believed in the single shift system, but thought if a law was put in force compelling companies to work but one shift, it should be left to the discretion of the Inspector to say which mine the law should refer to. He held the same opinion as Mr. Sinister in regard to examminations. He thought the rules of the mines should be printed in several languegeg.

Charles Burrows, miner of twenty-one years experence, said he would term a gaseaous mine one in which gas had been found. The greatest danger was from dust. He thought the law in regard to watering the face all right if carried out. A water system should be put in all dusty mines. He knew dust would explode without the assistance of gas. He preferred the Mills lamp to any he had used. The Wolfe lamp was all right without the match, but he did not consider it safe with it. He was opposed to the use of black powder in any mine. He believed in the use of safety explosives. He would have no electric hoists in mine. He would not have the main intake and the main entrance to the mine the same. The main airway should be large and distinct from the other entrances to the mine.

The Commission closed its work on Wednesday evening and left for Cumberland Thursday morning.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

Berlin, Ont., 19th.—At the morning session of the Dominion Trades Congress a motion to discountenance the practice of Government employees during vacations taking situations thus taking bread out of the mouths of the laboring men, was voted down.

A resolution was presented to Ralph Smith expressing deep appreciation of his work as president. The audit committee reported the accounts truly kept.

The committee appointed to deal with the charges of the Phoenix Trades and Labor council against President Ralph Smith has made its report. It styles the charges as absolutely ridiculous, most unjustifiable and untrue, and says it is the bounden duty of the congress in the protection of its integrity and honor, to affirm that the scandalous circulation of falsehoods of this nature is likely to affect the influence and standing of the organization and should be most emphatically condemned.

John O'Donoghue in a speech referred to Mulock's compulsory railway arbitration bill, the alien labor law and factories' act.

The Congress was thanked by the Lord's Day Alliance for the stand it took regarding the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, John A. Flett, Hamilton; Vice-Pres., John B. Mackie, Montreal; Sec.-Treas., H. W. Draper, Ottawa. The chairman of the British Columbia executive is J. D. McNiver, of Victoria.

Held up for Four Bits

A daring hold-up occurred on the track between the Fernie Lumber Co's mill and the town on Tuesday evening last. Frank Bean, who was coming from the mill was set upon by masked men, one of whom presented a revolver at his head and commanded him to deliver up his valuables. Frank was not slow to comply with their request, handing them his gold watch and fifty cents—all he had on him at the time. Two men were arrested late that night upon suspicion but Bean could not identify them as his assailants and they were allowed to go.

CUP LEAVES FERNIE.

LETHBRIDGE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF CROW'S NEST LEAGUE.

Big Crowd Visits the Prairie Coal City.—Interesting Sports.—Fernie Boys up Against Hard Luck.

The long anticipated final for the Levasseur Cup between Lethbridge and Fernie took place at Frank on Wednesday of this week and was a severe disappointment to the citizens of our town as well to those on the Fernie team. They were confident of victory—in fact too confident. Lethbridge had been defeated in Fernie by a score of 8-1 and our boys thought they would have a walk-over, but the unexpected happened and the handsome trophy which was presented to the league by the late Geo. Levasseur will belong to the prairie team for at least one year.

It was a big day for Frank and one that will long be remembered by the citizens of that town. Fully seven or eight hundred visitors came in from the east and west and the resources of the little town were taxed to the utmost to accomodate them. The special trains did not reach Frank in time for the visitors to witness the game between Nelson and Frank lacrosse teams which was considerable of a disappointment. The match took place about 10 a.m. and resulted disastrously for Nelson—the prairie town with the assistance of four Medicine Hat men and James Miller, of Fernie, defeating them by a score of six to two.

The game between Lethbridge and Fernie came on shortly after two o'clock. The weather was cold and miserable and the play on both sides was so slow that the game was anything but interesting. Lethbridge team was strengthened by two or three new players—Gow, of Fergus, Ont., one of the additions, proving himself to be the star of the team. The boys lined up as follows:

Lethbridge		Fernie
Vanhorne	Gool	Miller
Walwick	Point	MacLean
Wallace	Cover Point	Herman
O Ripley	1st Defence	Kastner
L Ripley	2nd Defence	Wrigglesworth
Scott	3rd Defence	Lafortune
Scott	Centre	Thompson
Stewart	3rd Home	Kenny
Myens	2nd Home	Flett
Stafford	1st Home	McGuire
Fraser	Outside Home	Black
Gow	Inside Home	Reynolds
Stanley	Field Captains	Donahue

From the very first the Fernie boys seemed to be at sea, only two or three of them playing their accustomed game. The ground where the game was played is anything but level and Fernie not being used to it the change told upon them. The Lethbridge boys while not doing any very brilliant playing scored three times on their opponents, and effectually prevented our boys from scoring. Kenny for Fernie played a magnificent game, seeming to be always in the right place. Miller and Kastner also did very well but the remainder of the boys seemed to be off-color.

J. Blondel, a commercial traveller, refereed the match and gave the best of satisfaction.

The next event on the programme of interest to the people of Fernie was the hundred yard race. The Fernie sports were out in force and willing to back their man, Mitchell, to any amount, even offering two to one on him against the field, but very little money could be obtained. In facts our sports were very lucky throughout the day. They offered to wager all kinds of money on the lacrosse game, but could hardly get a dollar and the game turning out as it did they are quite thankful that the Lethbridge and Cranbrook people were not willing to back their men.

The race was very interesting. There were five or six entries, but the main interest centered in Nevin, of Cranbrook, and Mitchell, of Fernie. Mitchell would undoubtedly have won the race, but Nevin got fully six feet of a lead on a false start, which he found it impossible to entirely make up. He finished about eight inches behind Nevin.

In the hop-step-and-jump and broad jump McLeod, of Fernie, carried off the laurels.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"They couldn't take the captain, not by force, in broad daylight, and he wouldn't be likely to go of his own accord."

"True for you, Snuyzer. I'm in hope they'll just stay where they are, thinking to weary us out. However, they may stay a little too long. Now, I'm for the shore, and I shall take Joe."

The major was away for a good hour, and he came back alone. He had left Joe on the watch, with one or two signals arranged to keep us up to the time of day. If the yacht moved her berth, he was to wave his cap; if she sent a boat ashore, his handkerchief, and so on.

"They're not very comfortable on board," the major said. "Got a man at the masthead on the lookout, and I fancy he can see our smoke. Their fires are banked. Should not be surprised if they tried to run for it after dark. We must be on the alert, ready to give chase, or they may get away again."

"You'll wait to take the boy off, I hope?" I was anxious about Joe, not wishing he should come to harm.

"That's all right. He understands. If we have to leave in a hurry, he's to make the best of his way back to England on his own account. I gave him money and explained. No fear of him."

We got no sign from him the whole of that afternoon and evening. The time passed quickly enough, for the major and I talked all the time of what we thought to do and how we should do it. The boldest plan pleased us best, and we meant to row straight for the yacht with all hands, picking up Joe by the way, board her and trust to luck and bounce for the rest.

Night came about 8 o'clock, dark and starless. It was best to get to work right away, and we were to start about 9. But a little before that we heard shots and the noise of a rumpus, faint, but distinct, in the distant. Something was up, certain sure, and in the direction of the bay, for the sounds came from the yacht.

"Better not poke our noses into any row, not till we're driven to it," the major said quietly. "The night's young yet. We've got it all before us."

So we waited half an hour, and were on the point of starting out on an expedition when we heard a sound of oars approaching.

What could it mean?

Then came a low "Hello! Jacob Silverton aboy!" in Joe's voice, and he was soon alongside, in a boat that belonged to the Fleur-de-Lis. He said so, anyway, and we were bound to believe him, although it was a confoundedly queer story.

While he waited among the rocks he still kept his lookout on the yacht. Although it had fallen dark, he could make out her hull on the water plainly; there were lights, too, aboard, with streaks and reflections strong enough to show up parts of her.

Suddenly he saw a figure dropping out of the stern into the yacht's dingey, which seemed to have been put there on purpose, and which, anyway, was quickly cast adrift, for it floated slowly and silently away. The tide was making into the bay, and she must have been caught on the current, which carried her inshore. Half way to the land the figure, which had no doubt been crouching in the bottom, out of sight, got up on to the thwarts and began pulling like mad.

Joe soon made up his mind. He must know more about this boat and the man in it; so he got up on to the top of the rocks, where there was a better surface, and ran all he knew to the head of the bay, following the sound of the oars and getting a squint now and again of the black smudge of the dingey. He came upon it at last, high and dry on the shore.

But the man was gone.

Joe was a smart nipper; he knew what he had to do, and that was to

He saw a figure dropping out of the stern into the yacht's dingey pass on his news to us. The quickest way would be to row out in the dingey; so he ran her back into the water and pulled out to the sea, coasting the far side and giving the yacht a wide berth.

When almost off it, a fierce row broke out aboard. Six shooters were let off, several shots, pretty quickly followed by yells and curses. Joe saw that the disturbance was heard on shore; lights began to dance about in the village, and the alarm was given.

"They'll soon have the gendarmes on their backs. Now's our time. We'll take the dingey back; it will be an excuse for getting on board," said the major. "Sharp's the word, skipper. Man the boat, every soul you can spare, cast loose and give way."

A shore boat was already alongside when we got to the yacht; it had brought the authorities, for when we hailed the answer came in French to keep off, that the police were in charge, and if we had anything to say it must be by daylight.

"Anyway, we'd better bring the tug into the bay and lie close handy against the morning," I suggested, and the advice was considered good, although the skipper did not much like the job of entering a strange place in the dead of night.

There were more difficulties made next day, and it was quite late before the major and I set foot on the Fleur-de-Lis. Some more big French toads had come off from shore—a magistrate, one or two doctors, and an officer of gendarmes—and they had begun a "verbal process," as it is called; for there had been wounding and attempted murder, so they said, on board the yacht.

The long and the short of it was that the rogues had fallen out among themselves; with good reason, too, from the point of view of some of them. McQuabe, the colonel from Klondike, had fallen out with Lawford for assisting our captain to escape from the yacht, and loosed off at him directly Wood was missed. He was a quick shooter and had pretty well filled Lawford up with lead, so full that it might go hard with him.

But, at his own request, they let Major Thornhill have some talk with him, in which a little light was thrown on recent proceedings. William Wood has been brought thus far in the Fleur-de-Lis, a close prisoner, but by Lawford's help had broken out and got to shore in the dingey. He, of course, was the man Joe had seen.

Questioned as to the confidential papers, and whether they were on board, Lawford shook his head.

"The duke has stuck to them. There's money in them, a big pile, and he's crossing the pond by tomorrow's mail to sell them to Uncle Sam. Guess you won't overtake him, and if you try to stop him on landing he'll have the American government on his side. They're hungering for those papers, you bet."

"You are positive they are not here?" insisted Thornhill.

"Don't I tell you? I'm likely to get nothing more from this crowd except my death, and it's to my advantage to serve the other side. If you want those papers, you must look for them on the Chattahoochee, and she leaves Southampton tomorrow (Sunday) morning."

It was now only the afternoon of Saturday, and we might have done it well starting back full steam ahead at once. But French police and French lawyers are a sight slower and more interfering than the British, and they wanted all of us to sign a new "verbal process" all about ourselves. The formalities were not completed by Sunday morning, and by the time we were ready to start for England the Chattahoochee must have already left the Solent.

We made, therefore, for Weymouth, the nearest point, and landed late that night. Thence the major and I took the cars for London, neither of us remarkably happy, for the whole blooming business was more or less of a fizzle.

CHAPTER X.

CAPTAIN WOOD RESUMES.

After an interminable drive, still bound and gagged, I at last found myself on a narrow bed, probably a cabin berth. The motion, the noises, the odors around, soon satisfied me that I was on shipboard and at sea. I must have been in a state of semi-stupor, the result of ill usage and want of food, for I only roused myself with difficulty on hearing my name called aloud. I realized then that my bonds had been cast loose; there was no gag in my mouth; I was so far free that I could use my limbs and speak if I choose. I was in a small cabin, only dimly lighted through the closed port; but it was still daylight, and from the wash against the side I knew that the craft, whatever it might be, was in the open sea.

Three men were in the small cabin, crowding up and filling it completely. Two stood over me, one of whom I recognized as Lawford, the American, and when I saw his face I realized how deep laid was the plot against me. Behind was a third, a coffee colored negro, who took no part in the proceedings, except to show his white teeth in a truculent grin from time to time when reference was made to him.

The spokesman was a tall, thin, lantern jawed man, with a goatee beard and a big slouch hat. His accent was strongly corroborative of the land he hailed from.

(To be Continued.)

ZEB WHITE'S TALES.

HE IS UNEXPECTEDLY ELECTED TO THE TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE.

Leaves His Home to Attend a Session at the Statehouse—Takes His Wife With Him and Has a Queer Experience—Why He Resigned.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

"IT was ten or twelve y'ars ago," began the old possum hunter of Tennessee, "when our member of the legislature turned ag'in moonshine whisky.

"That meant that somebody else must be 'lected in his place, and what did the pesky people around yere do but come to me and want me to stand! They come to my cabin a dozen at a time, and they shook hands and called me an honest man and all that, and the mo' I hung back the mo' they wanted me to run. When they got me into a tight co'ner, I says:

"'I can't skassly read, and I can't skassly write, and I can't git up befo' that legislachur and speak ten words, and what good could I do down to Nashville? Besides, I hain't got no good clothes, and thar wouldn't be nobody to talk about b'ars and wildcats with me, and I'd be as lonesome as a sick coon in a holler tree. Then thar's the old woman. If she went along with me, they'd make fun of her, and if she stayed yere she'd be all alone. I'm fur moonshine whisky, as yo' all know, but I can't take no office.'

"WE WAS OUT OF THAT TOWN OF NASHVILLE BEFO' SUNDOWN."

"They purtended to give in at that, but what did the critters do but put me up to be voted fur when the time come, and the fust thing I knowed I was 'lected by 400 majority! When I heard the news, I told it to the old woman and said:

"'Waal, what am I gwine to do about it? I've either got to hunt fur a cave and hole myself up or go down to Nashville.'

"'Yo'll go to Nashville,' says she.

"'And what'll yo' do?'

"'I'll go with yo'. I've bin thinkin' this thing over, Zeb. Thar is sich a thing as Providence, and Providence appears to have picked yo' out to go down to Nashville and keep them critters from incouragin' the revnoo ag'in moonshine whisky. I don't know how yo' ar' gwine to do it, but as Providence has helped yo' out when yo' was tackled by b'ars and wildcats and roarin' bulls it will help yo' out now. When we once git down thar, Providence will p'int the way, and we will foller.'

"I felt purty skeery about it," said Zeb, "but the old woman talked so bold that I made up my mind to give it a try. Heaps of critters come around and incouraged me and offered to lend me money, but I didn't borrow a dollar. Coons and possums was plentiful that fall, and I sold 'nuff pelts to pay our railroad fare down to Nashville. We didn't hev very good clothes, but when I spoke to the old woman about it she said:

"'Zeb, we ar' jest poor and honest people. We ain't gwine down to Nashville to swell around, but to be very humble and to do the best we kin. We'll jest put on our Sunday clothes and let it go at that. If anybody don't like our looks, they kin look the t'other way.'

"Waal, we started off one day and got aboard of the railroad kyars. I was a leetle narvous, and the old woman braced her feet and hung on with her hands, but we got along without any calamity. In about an hour, when she dared to open her eyes and draw her breath, she says to me:

"'Zeb, how many houses hev yo' seen since we left home?'

"'More'n a hundred,' says I.

"'And how many people?'

"'More'n a thousand.'

"'Shoo! Then we must hev got clear around the world and back home ag'in.'

"When we got down to Nashville, thar was so many people and so many houses and such a movin' around that I got the old woman behind me and prepared to fight to the death, but not a critter laid hands on us. Some of 'em laughed at my cowhide boots and some of 'em grinned at the old woman's poke bonnet, but everything was good natured. We went to a tavern to get board, and when the old woman sees the carpets on the floors, the stuff cheers standin' around and the lookin' glasses as big as a tablecloth she turns pale and puts her arms around me and says:

"'Zeb, I kin now see why thar ar' so many sinners in this world. If a critter kin hev all these things, he don't keer a pesky drat about gwine to heaven. I'm afeared we'll be bad 'nuff to steal hawgs in a week.'

"Thar was a good deal of winkin' and smilin' around that tavern," said Zeb, "and I was skeart and mad and narvous all the time, but I hung on and said words to brace the old woman up. At the end of three days the legislachur opened, and I had to go up to the statehouse. Lordy, stranger, but I'd rather tackled three old b'ars to once. I had gooseflesh as I struck that crowd, and the old woman wasn't around to incourage me. I went into the statehouse with the crowd, and I'd just found a seat when a feller comes around and says:

"'Excuse me, but ain't that a rifle yo've got thar?'

"'She be,' says I. 'It's a rifle which has killed mo' b'ars and wildcats than yo' could count in an hour, and she's still ready fur the next varmint.'

"'But yo' can't bring no deadly weepins in yere,' he goes on. 'This ain't no jumpin' match nor hoss race, but the legislachur of Tennessee.'

"I told him I knowed whar I was, but that I should keep tight holt of that rifle till I knowed I was out of the woods, and he goes away growlin' to hisself. Mebbe it was half an hour arter that when a feller stands up on a platform and looks at me and says:

"'Does the honorable member from Beaver Cove expect to find any b'ars on the flooh of this house?'

"'I ain't sayin' as I do,' I answers, 'but if thar is a riot over moonshine whisky I might want sunthin better than a club.'

"With that they all laughs and begins to pick on me. One asks if I brung my dorg along, another moves that I git up and tell a b'ar story, a third wants a pattern of my coonskin cap, and so it goes for ten minits. Bimeby that same feller stood up ag'in and says, as slick as yo' please:

"'Mebbe the honorable member from Beaver Cove would like to be excused for half an hour while he takes his gun home?'

"'Do any critter yere want to pick a fuss with Zeb White?' says I as I stands up.

"Everybody laughs and claps his hands, but no one comes nigh me, and I puts on my cap, shoulders my rifle and says as I walks out:

"'It's an onery crowd, and thar ain't a man among yo' who kin pull a rabbit out of a holler log.'

"I went straight to the tavern, and thar I found the old woman shiverin' and shakin' fur her life.

"'What's the matter?' says I.

"'They've put pillercases trimmed with lace on our bed,' says she, 'and the gorgeousness of it will bring on heart disease. Zeb, fur the Lawd's sake, let's go back home!'

"'But I'm yere to watch moonshine,' says I.

"'Never mind moonshine nur nuthin' else on the face of this airth, but let's be a-gittin'. This world ain't fur us, Zeb. We is like two lost children wanderin' through the woods and expectin' to be eat up any minit, and I'm so skeart and flustrated that I shan't live two days longer. Zeb, if yo' love me, come home.'

"'I'll do it,' says I, and she got on her poke, packed our carpetbag, and we was out of that town of Nashville befo' sundown, never to go back."

M. QUAD.

Helpless.

The Bore—Haven't I met you somewhere before?

The Other Man—If you have, it was entirely unintentional on my part, I assure you.—New York Journal.

In the Beehive.

In the beehive proper there are three personages—the queen, the worker bee and the drone. The queen is of first and greatest importance. She is a fully developed female and is the mother of all the bees in her hive.

Torn Umbrellas.

A good idea for mending a hole in an umbrella is to stick on very firmly black courtplaster inside the cover. This is not so much seen as a darn

Nurses' Experience.

Medical men say that a good nurse in a difficult case is better than medicine, but when we get a good nurse and good medicine, the patient stands a much better chance of recovery. The few words of advice given below by nurse Eliza King, are well worthy the attention of all readers:

"I have constantly used St. Jacobs Oil in the various situations I have occupied as nurse, and have invariably found it excellent in all cases requiring outward application, such as sprains, bruises, rheumatic affections, neuralgia, etc. In cases of pleurisy it is an excellent remedy—well rubbed in. I can strongly recommend it after several years' use and experience. It should be in every household."

Sister Carolina, St. Andrew's Hospital, writes: "I have found St. Jacobs Oil a most efficacious remedy in gout; also in sprains and bruises. Indeed, we cannot say too much in its praise, and our doctor is ordering it constantly."

Sir John Elley, who was Wellington's adviser at Waterloo, was the first British private to become a full general and a knight.

The record price for a clock is £33,600 paid for the clock made by Louis XXI. of France. It was purchased by one of the Rothschilds.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

For Weak, Sickly and Fretful Children of All Ages.

If the children's digestive organs are all right, the children are all right. They will be hearty, rosy, happy—and hungry. Get the little ones right, and keep them right by the use of Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine cures all stomach and bowel troubles, nervousness, irritation while teething, etc. These Tablets contain no opiate or poisonous drugs and mothers who try them once will not be without them while they have little ones. Mrs. D. E. Badgley, Woodmore, Man., says: "When our little girl was about six months old she caught a bad cold, and was much troubled with indigestion and constipation, and very restless both day and night. One of my neighbors brought me some Baby's Own Tablets and in a few days my little one was regular in her bowels and rested well. I found the Tablets so satisfactory that I now always keep them in the house and have since found them valuable when she was teething. I can truly recommend them for the ills of little ones."

Children take these Tablets readily, and crushed to a powder they can be given with absolute safety to the smallest infant. The Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores, or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

There are 4,615 dentists in the United Kingdom, or about 1 to every 8 doctors.

Canada has most holidays of any British colony. Including Sundays, Canadians have 95 holidays yearly.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

Yellow is the only flower-color which is not changed by the fumes of sulphuric acid.

There are 400 sorts of humming birds known to naturalists. They are found only in America.

Frensham Great Pond, in Surrey, covers over 100 acres, and is the largest artificial pond in England.

Mr. T. J. Humes, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I have been afflicted for some time with Kidney and Liver Complaints, and find Parmelee's Pills the best medicine for these diseases. These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required. They are Gelatine Coated, and rolled in the Flour of Licorice to preserve their purity, and give them a pleasant, agreeable taste.

The New River brings water from the Chadswell Springs, in Hertfordshire.

The Australian talegalla is the only bird which leaves its nest full-fledged.

Earthquake shocks travel, as a rule, at a pace of about 16,000 feet per second.

The total income of Oxford University is about £410,000, and of Cambridge £350,000.

The barometer rises higher at Irkutsh, in Siberia, than anywhere else in the world.

Quite Romantic.

Miss Gaygirl—Did you say you have lived in New Mexico all your life?

Mrs. Hansom—Yes.

Miss G.—And been married five times?

Mrs. H.—Yes.

Miss G.—Ever divorced?

Mrs. H.—No; husbands all shot.

Miss G. (gushingly)—How romantic!

THAT CONFERENCE.

REPORT OF BOER MEETING WITH CHAMBERLAIN.

The Burghers Were in No Way Backward in Their Requests.---Great Britain's Generous Treatment of the Vanquished Republic, Without Parallel.

London, Sept. 11.—A parliamentary paper issued this morning gives a full report of the recent conference between Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and the Boer generals, Botha, De Wet and De Larey. Prior to agreeing to the interview, which the Boers asked for August 20, the colonial secretary requested a list of the subjects which it was desired to discuss and the generals replying the following.

Complete amnesty to the rebels.

A yearly grant to all Boer widows and orphans and maimed Burghers.

Equal rights for the English and Dutch languages in the schools and courts.

That equal rights with the British be conceded to Burghers complying with the terms of surrender, including the right to return to South Africa.

The immediate release of all prisoners of war.

The re-instatement of the officials of the late South African republics or compensation for their loss of office.

Compensation for all loss occasioned by the British troops by the use, removal, burning or destruction by other means of all private property.

The re-instatement of the Burghers in the ownership of their farms confiscated or sold under the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1901.

Compensation for the use of the properties of Burghers taken by the British authorities.

Payment of the lawful obligations of the late South African republics, including those incurred during the war.

The rescission of the decision to add a portion of the Transvaal to Natal.

Granting an extension of time for the payment of all debts due by the Burghers of the late governments of the South African republics.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S REPLY.

Mr. Chamberlain, in replying, expressed great surprise at the number and character of the proposals, and pointed out that the conditions agreed on at Vereeniging were duly accepted by the Burghers and the British government, and that they could not be reopened nor could proposals rejected at that time be again discussed. If the interpretation of the agreement was to open discussion His Majesty's government would endeavor to remove all doubts.

At the opening of the conference the generals disclaimed any desire to alter the terms of surrender in any way.

On the subject of amnesty to rebels, General Botha expressed disappointment that after the promise given by Lord Kitchener that the rebels had not been granted amnesty at the time of the King's coronation. In reply to which Mr. Chamberlain promised that the Imperial government would not hinder any generous intentions of the governments of Natal and Cape Colony in regard to rebels. As to the return of Burghers to South Africa, the colonial secretary declared it was the government's intention to retain the right to prevent the return of disloyal persons who had not frankly accepted the terms of peace, instancing former State Secretary Reitz, of the Transvaal, as a case in point and saying that Mr. Reitz was using language on the Continent incomsistent with the declaration he had signed at Vereeniging.

Gen. Botha said he hoped that the "sins of one man would not be visited on others," adding "If one man says foolish things, let him suffer therefore alone."

Mr. Chamberlain informed the generals that there was no truth in the report that the government intended to sell farms belonging to Burghers. Regarding some farms sold in the Orange River Colony under the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1901, Mr. Chamberlain promised that the farms bought by the government would be re-transferred to their former owners.

General Botha criticized the composition of the commission appointed to allot the grant of $15,000,000 (for the purpose of assisting the Burghers and their families to return to their homes and for re-stocking their farms, etc.), and objected to National scouts serving as commissioners.

But Mr. Chamberlain maintained that the government must be true to those who supported it.

WILL TREK TO NATAL.

Relative to the transfer to Natal of part of the Transvaal, Gen. Botha said the Burghers proposed to trek therefrom. He lived there, but he saw no chance of remaining, the feeling of the British in Natal being so strongly anti-Boer.

On the subject of martial law, Mr. Chamberlain said it would not be continued much longer. The colonial secretary refused to recognize as Burghers foreigners who had been naturalized during or just before the war, saying that they had been bribed by the resolution of the Volksrand giving them Burghers' rights as a reward for taking part in the conflict in which they were not concerned.

General Botha concluded with an appeal for the widows and orphans and said he considered that the appropriation of $15,000,000 was inadequate.

BRITAIN'S GENEROSITY.

Replying to this Mr. Chamberlain compared Great Britain.s treatment of the Boers with the treatment of the south by the north after the civil war in America. "I would remind the general," said Mr. Thamberlain, "that we have undertaken already more obligations than have ever before been undertaken under similar circumstances. Remember very well the great civil war in America, and I appeal to that because that stands out as a case in which more than ever before, or indeed ever since, the victor, the conqueror, showed a magnanimous and generous feeling to the conquered. There was good reasons for this, because they were brothers of the same race, the same religion, the same in everything. It was a civil war, but even in that case the northern side, that is to say, the victorious side, made no provision whatever either by way of grant, pension or allowance to the people who had been wounded, or to the side that had been conquered. They gave their lives and their liberty and after a period of ten years gave them votes, but did not give them any money compensation, but we have gone a step beyond that, because we have contributed in addition to all our own enormous expenses a very large sum to relieve those who are really destitute in our colonies. We have done more than, I think, was expected, and we have done all that we can afford to do, and I think it would be undesirable for the generals to press us any further in this matter, either now or in writing. Proceeding, Mr. Chamberlain reciprocated the desire expressed by General Botha that they should all live in peace in future in South Africa. "We want in this country," said the colonial secretary, "to forget and forgive because if you think as you well may that you have something to forgive, we also think that we have a great deal to forgive. But we want to put all that on one side, the war is over. We each fought as well as we knew how, and now there is peace. All we want is to recognize you as fellow subjects with ourselves, working as we shall work for the prosperity and liberty of South Africa. How great that liberty is and how soon complete self-government will be extended to South Africa depends entirely on the rapidity with which the old animosities die out.-"

MCHUGH AT LIBERTY.

Irish Nationalist Leader Meets With a Big Reception.

Dublin, Sept. 10.--Patrick A. McHugh, member of Parliament for the north division of Leitrim, was released from Sligo jail this morning at the expiration of his sentence of three months' imprisonment for contempt of court. He was accorded a great reception in which the mayor, town councillors and 2,000 Nationalists took part. The streets of Sligo were decorated with flags in his honor.

In an interview Mr. McHugh heatedly denounced the methods of his political opponents, which he described as only comparable in malignity to the tribunals which Robespierre set up during the reign of terror. "While I was a prisoner," said Mr. McHugh, "the crown solicitor, Mr. Fenton, who was my accuser at the time of the scene which led to my imprisonment, had me adjudged a bankrupt, looted my premises and closed the office of the Sligo Champion. People do not care to live in a country where their property is liable to confiscation by their political opponents on the award of this grotesque Belfast tribune. This Belfast guillotine will prove more effective than packed juries, coercion courts and Sergeant Sheridans all combined, in rendering the country uninhabitable for Irish Nationalists. So long as this horror is allowed to oppress and terrorize the land under the sanction of the law and judges, men must needs fly from Ireland as from a land where justice is not."

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

Toronto fair receipts are $12,000 ahead of last year.

Four grain boats of a new type are en route to the great lakes and will ply between Port Arthur and Georgian Bay.

J. S. Larke, Canadian trade commissioner in Australia, has reported that the drought has caused an increased demand for Manitoba wheat in the antipodes.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Stolen goods were found under a Winnipeg sidewalk.

Canadian cricket team made a poor showing at Philadelphia.

Thursday 108,000 bushels of wheat were marketed at C.P.R. points in Manitoba.

Vancouver Island and Oregon districts were devastated by fierce forest fires.

The SS. Alberta arrived at Fort William 21 hours late owing to a gale on the lake.

Dominion revenue for the past two months shows an advance of $944,000 compared with 1901.

Leslie Armitage, formerly an operator at Minnedosa, Man., accidentally shot himself.

Exhibits of Manitoba apples are being prepared for United States and London immigration agencies.

Henry Wride and wife, of Leamingtoh district, Ont., have disappeared and foul play to the latter is feared.

During the year ending June 30, 1902, some 7,000,000 acres of Canadian Northwest lands were sold. Western lumber mills cut 165,500,000 feet of lumber.

Winnipeg clearing house returns for last week show an increase of over a million dollars in comparison with the corresponding week of last year. The figures are as follows: Clearings, $3,461,020; corresponding week last year, $2,376,702. Balances, $723,502; corresponding week last year, $465,629. Following are the figures for the corresponding week of 1900, $2,017,380; balances, $304,397.

Lightning struck the house of Martin Shire, Enterprise, Ont., shattering it and setting it afire. Miss Myrtle, his daughter, was also struck, every stitch of clothing being torn from her body, which was painfully burned. Her death is expected.

The weekly cholera returns for Egypt show that there have been 1,380 fresh cases reported, making the totals since July 15, of 20,328 cases abd 16,209 deaths.

INDIAN TRAPPERS.

The going and coming of the fur brigade was the one great event of the year to those nomadic people who stood watching the fast-vanishing flotilla. Were they not bidding farewell to fathers, brothers, sons, or lovers, chosen as the best men from their village of over 400 souls? Had they not had a hand in winning the treasure that was floating away? If only the pelts in those packs could speak, what tales they would unfold! During the early part of the previous autumn the Indians, with their families, dogs, and a few belongings loaded into canoes, had set out for various points in the surrounding wilderness. Then, as the little groups gradually separated, each family independently struck off in different directions, and, at last after many days of paddling, poling, tracking and packing up the wildest of rivers, and with blanket sails skimming over unnamed lakes, they reached their "lands" just as the spirit of winter was sweeping over that great lone country and covering the silent waters and whispering forests with her mantle of white. All winter long they had toiled with sleds, and hunted and trapped on snowshoes. Each family had trapped only on the lands bounded by certain streams, the right to which had been handed down from past generations. Constantly they had moved their bark wigwams as their "marten roads" played out. Sometimes there had been feasting when moose or caribou were near—but oftener fasting. As the short days of that long season passed, the Indians gradually added to their pile of skins. At last the days lengthened, the snow sank away, the lakes opened, and the rivers once more ran free. Sleds were cast aside, canoes were patched up or new onces built, and the long journey to the post begun. But then it was easier travelling in the spring, for the water was high and the current right.

A Quebec shoe dealer recently received the following order from a customer—a French-Canadian.

"You will put some shoe on my little families like this, and send by Sam Jameson, the carrier: One man, Jean St. Jean (me), 42 years; one woman, Sophie St. Jean (she), 41 years; Hermedes and Lenore, 19 years; Honore, 18 years; Celina, 17 years; Narcisse, Octavia and Phyllis, 16 years; Olive, 14 years; Phillippa, 13 years; Alexandre, 12 years; Rosina, 11 years; Bruno, 10 years; Pierre, 9 years; Eugene, we loss him; Edouard and Glisa, 7 years; Adrien, 6 years; Camille, 5 years; Zoel, 4 years; Joseph, 3 years; Moise, 2 years; Muriel, 1 year; Hilaire, he go barefoot. How much?

The steamer Cottage City ran on the rocks at Point of Etoline island, twenty miles south of Wrangel on Sunday night. The 150 passengers were safely landed on the shore 100 yards distant.

DIVIDED THE RECEIPTS.

Jabour, the Side Show Man, Took a Big Share of the Money.

A prominent director of the exhibition discussing the financial result of this year's industrial, said it would be some time yet before the detailed statement will be ready so various were the channels that the receipts and expenditures passed through.

Jabour, the modern Barnum, who provided the platform attractions and the side shows, made a big thing out of the exhibition this year. According to the director, Jabour received $10,000, and the board $10,000. Then the balance of the receipts were divided, 25 per cent. to Jabour and 75 per cent. to the exhibition board. This division included the receipts of the various side shows provided by Jabour as well as the platform attractions.

Hillsworth, in whale hunt took place at last Saturday. On that day a school of herring whales was reported approaching the village and the entire fishing population put to sea aboard everything that would float. They drove the whales ashore and slaughtered 166 of them. The longest one measured thirty-five feet.

In a despatch from St. Petersburg, the correspondent there of the Daily Mail, relates that the commander of the Cossack Station at Wertschinck, anxious that his district should show a preponderance of males, has ordered that the father of every girl baby born in the district shall receive fifty strokes with the knout. Several men, says the correspondent, have already been knouted under this ruling.

Margery Kingdon, a stylishly dressed woman, charged in a police court at Cardiff, Wales, with disorderly conduct, created a great deal of excitement in court by claiming that she had purposely caused herself to be locked up in order to draw attention to her claim against the late Duke of Clarence, brother of the Prince of Wales, and asserting that she had lost her husband and children in order to save the Duke's name, and that now she had come ail the way from India to get her rights.

At the G.T.R. roundhouse, Stratford, Ont., Joseph Phillips met with an accident which caused his death at the hospital a few hours afterwards. Phillips was in the act of coupling cars when they crashed together and he was very badly bruised about the abdomen. He was a son of A. Phillips, G.T.R. station agent at Seaforth, and was about 23 years years of age.

Hugh S. Spender, editor of the London Daily Express and Westminster Gazette, one of the English journalists on tour through Canada, had a narrow escape from death at Rossland. The fire department was called for an exhibition run and the chemical apparatus upset while travelling at a hard gallop down a steep hill on Second avenue. Spender was riding with the driver of the wagon and was hurled to the sidewalk with terrific force. Fortunately a quantity of hose went out first and the English journalist alighted on this, escaping unhurt. Spender had arranged to have himself photographed on the run, and the camera was snapped just as the accident occured.

The Boer generals, Botha, De Wet and De Larey, accompanied by the Messrs. Wolmarans, Wessels and Rietz have arrived from The Hague and were given a hearty welcome.

Replying to an address, Gen. Delarey said he and his colleagues did not come in the character of political personages, but solely to obtain assistance for destitute Boer families.

At the reception of the generals at the town hall, Gen. De Wet, in reply to the burgomasterjs speech, said:—"We have come to ask help for widows, orphans and other necessitous persons. Upon assistance of this kind from England the Boers cannot count." The general also remarked: "If England wishes to have the Boer descendants of the Huguenots as 'subjects before God,' I am willing to be a loyal subject before God until the day God shall come. We wish to be loyal to the new government, hoping that the latter will carry out its engagements."

While threshing on the farm of Wm. Evans, about three miles from Mount Forest, William Mapletoft attempted to put a belt on one of the wheels, when his hand got caught between the belt and the wheel, which, in revolving, lifted the young man off his feet at every turn, twisting and smashing the forearm in a horrible manner. A doctor was at once sent for, who amputated the arm a little below the elbow.

That crab apples unsurpassed in quality or quantity, either, can be grown in this country, has again demonstrated by Mr. Green, of Gomez street, Winnipeg. He has in his garden a tree which, this year, yielded a phenomenal crop of fruit, surpassed by none at the recent horticultural show. The branches are simply loaded down.

HE HANDLES MILLIONS.

Pen Picture of the Treasurer of the Coal Miners' Union.

One man, and he a mechanic, with no special training as a financier, absolutely controls the disbursement of the $2,000,000 a month that is paid out to the miners now engaged in a strike in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. This sum is contributed by the miners throughout the country to aid their brethren in their struggle. The man charged with this great trust is William B. Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer of the Mine Workers' Association of America. For handling this vast amount of money Mr. Wilson receives a modest salary, of which he contributes 25 per cent. to the relief fund. While $500,000 of miners' money passes through his hands every week, probably not more than $2,000 a year goes to his own account for the service he renders. Mr. Wilson is frugal and absolutely trusted by his fellows. He is under bond to the United Mine Workers' Association in the meagre sum of $25,000. He is a round-headed man, with wide open blue eyes, set well apart, and he talks slowly and with great deliberation. He conveys the impression of possessing great caution, application and fixity of purpose.

The life career of Mr. Wilson is as interesting as his present occupation and office. He was born in Blantyre, Scotland, and came to America when he was seven years old. When he was nine years old he was a mine worker. His father was a miner, but owing to an injury to his back was able to undercut a coal bank, but unable to do loading into the cars. This the boy did for him. At the age of eleven years he was a half member of the Miners and Laborers' Benevolent Association. In 1876, when he was fourteen years old, he was local secretary of the union, and he was only nineteen years of age when he was dismissed from employment in the mines because of his active connection with the union. In 1885 young Wilson was elected a member of the District Executive Board in Pennsylvania, and five years later was a party to the organization of the United Mine Workers' Association. He became a member of the National Executive Board of that body in 1891, and is now supreme financial officer of the organization. Mr. Wilson is forty years old, but in spite of the fact that he went to work in the mines when only nine years old he has read much and is a competent mining engineer.

The average approximate wage of the miner is $300 annually, out of which he must supply his own powder, lamps, oil and wicks and the wear and tear of his mining tools. The remainder of the $300 he earns, if permitted to work steadily, goes to the support of his family. No miner is able to save anything for his old age.

The British educationists, who have been touring Canada, have returned to Montreal. They are greatly pleased with the Canadian Northwest and have decided upon the establishment of an agricultural training school four miles from Red Deer, between Calgary and Edmonton, under the supervision of B. H. Fry, of the Birkhampton school, one of the party. Eight pupils have already been chosen, and if the school proves a success, and that is confidently expected, other schools will be established affiliated with some of the other British institutions. Pupils will spend two summers on the farm and one winter at the Guelph agricultural college.

Mexico has a clever bird called the melanarpes, which has discovered a new use for the telegraph pole. At the foot of the post this bird makes a large hole, in which it rears its family; somewhat higher up the post it makes an observatory, from which bored holes permit it to observe the horizon in every direction; still higher this bird makes its storehouse, and thus the pole serves as its home, fortress and warehouse

Inez Borst was shot and instantly killed on the streets of Sioux Falls, S.D., Friday by J. P. Harrington, a former husband. Harrington then shot himself dead. Five years ago Mrs. Harrington was granted a divorce on grounds of drunkenness and cruelty. He has made determined efforts to induce her to re-marry and live with him, but she refused, hence the double tragedy.

Immense bush fires are burning in the districts surrounding Victoria. The town of Alberni is threatened, several houses having been burned at Sooke and the aerial tramway and ore bins of the Tyee mine are in danger. The blue jackets had a hard fight to save the naval hospital. A pall of smoke hangs over the city and ashes are falling in the streets.

A Saving of Coal.—"Yes, I'm encouraging my daughter to keep company with that Arctic explorer." "What's the reason?" "He'll be able to stand it in the parlor without any fire next winter."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, SEPT. 20. 1902.

THAT CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

THE Conservative convention is now a thing of the past. The faithful met at Revelstoke, they elected new officers, issued a new platform, and, failing a provincial general election, they may now be expected to take their right position among the political force of the province. The chief interest the Revelstoke convention created centered around the very gratifying evidence of the increased strength and popularity of Charles Wilson, K.C., as leader.

The convention had two important questions to decide, and on both it must be conceded its election was wise. These were very closely related, and the determination of the one materially affected the other. The first dealt with the time for the recognition of party politics in provincial affairs. There was a disposition on the part of some of the delegates to force this departure, which would have had the effects of bringing into being a rump government made up of the Conservative members who at present make up the majority in the legislature. In this course had been adopted the leadership of the party would naturally have gone to one of the members of the party with a seat in the house. Two strong influences were exerted to prevent a decision by the convention along these lines. One of these was a very manifest unwillingness on the part of delegates from all parts of the province to contribute further to the prestige of certain members of the Dunsmuir cabinet who would be in a position to force recognition if any such change were decided upon at the present time. The second influence was the strength of the Wilson following in the convention. The Wilson men were not open for a comprise of any kind, and they had not been at work very long before they were masters of the situation. The result was the re-election of Wilson as leader, and the fixing of the next provincial general elections as the time for the recognition of party lines.

It is in the platform that the weakness of the party is shown. The opinion of most people who read the document over will be that it would have been just as well if it had never been issued. There is not a clean-out definition of principle in the entire platform. All of the several questions that have been before the people of the province for the past year figure in it, but upon each of them the party plays the straddle. That there were men in convention who are sound upon most, if not all of these questions, is doubtless true, but they certainly failed to give anything like definiteness to the convention's pronouncement upon them.

In this respect the Conservative platform is very much like that of the Liberal party. Just why a large gathering of sensible men should gravely discuss the necessity for reform for a couple of days, and then deliberately chloroform the hope of getting it by potent provisos, is something past our ken. If a party platform stands for nothing to what purpose is it issued? What greater security has the elector who is possessed of a pledge from his candidate to the effect that in the event of his election he will carry out a certain reform "if he considers it politic?" There is something ludicrous in the thing. Yet the Conservative platform goes no further, and both of the old parties go on issuing just such platforms year after year.

The weakness of the Conservative platform is emphasized, however, by the strength of the men who have been placed in charge of the party machine, and if they are given rein, or take it, they will carry the party further along the road of reform that the men who framed the platform dreamed of.

Charles Wilson, K.C., of Vancouver, is one of the most advanced thinkers on social questions in the province, and the thought he has given to such questions has caused his sympathy to go out to the under dog in the fight. It is not necessary for him to be upon the stump to show this. His sentiments are the same off the hustings as on, and his evident sincerity has secured for him a very large following among the wage-earners of the terminal city. A man of this type will commend himself to every section of this constituency and should infuse a wholesome leaven into the mass of inert party matter at the coast. Under Mr. Wilson's leadership the party may fulfil its destiny as an important historic element in the government of the province.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.
L. A. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning. containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.
J. L. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.
R. J. DAVIS.

In the County Court of Kootenay, holden at Fort Steele in Probate.

Notice is hereby given that on the fourth day of September, 1902, it was ordered by J. A. Forin Esq., Judge of the said Court, that James Ferguson Armstrong, Official Administrator of the County of Kootenay, be administrator of all and singular the estates of the following inestates, namely:—

Frank Brunyansky,	of Fernie,	B. C.,	Miner
Aaron Colclough	"	"	"
Miki Kurotor	"	"	"
Peter Lekar	"	"	"
John R. McLeod	"	"	"
John Mihal	"	"	"
Joseph Singala	"	"	"
Joe Shilling	"	"	"
Filippo Tabbi	"	"	"

Every person indebted to the said deceased is required to make payment forthwith to the undersigned.

Every creditor, or other person, having any claim upon, or interest in the distribution of the estate of the said deceased, is required within thirty days of this date to send by registered letter, addressed to the undersigned, his name and address and the full particulars of his claim or interest, and a statement of his account, and the nature of the security [if any] held by him,

After the expiration of the said thirty days the administrator will proceed with the distribution of the estate, having regard to those claims only of which he shall then have had notice.

JAMES FERGUSON ARMSTRONG
Official Administrator.
194-2 Fort Steele, B. C.
Dated at Fort Steele this 18th day of Sept., 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked W. A. Switzer's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D Quail's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
W. A. SWITZER.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum on the following described lands: Commencing at a post marked H. A. Wilkes' south-west corner, situate on the west bank of the Elk river about two miles south-west of Morrissey depot and being nearly west from the mine town of Morrissey, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning.
H. A. WILKES.
Dated Aug. 29th, 1902.

If Children are to Rise

rapidly in their studies, see that they are supplied with the latest and best

SCHOOL BOOKS

They are made to stand much use aed some abuse. Prices right.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

Have you thought

ABOUT FALL UNDERWEAR?

WE HAVE

Have you bought

YOUR FALL UNDERWEAR?

WE HAVE

Five special lines are on display in our window this week, bought direct from the makers in case lots and bought right too. Call in and examine them. They are worth just a third more than we are asking for them.

Others have been surprised at the value, so will you.

JOYCE BROS

The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE

On Thursday, the 25th of September, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, a part of the Government lots in Morrissey townsite will be sold at Auction.

The sale will take place in front of the townsite office.

Terms, one third cash, one third at three months and the balance at six months, time being the essence of the contract.

An upset price has been placed on each lot, below which no sale will be made. 2t

Fort Steele, September 9th, 1902.
J. F. ARMSTRONG,
Government Agent.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.
JOHN OWENS.
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.
HUGH McMILLAN
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Your Dress

Is not quite complete...

without a pair of

Pewney's Kid Gloves.

We can furnish them for any occasion, and for quality and price stand without a peer. A guarantee with every pair.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
S. F. WALLACE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south, west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east. thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
MILTON A. KASTNER.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.
WM. S. KEAY.
Dated August 28, 1902. 191-8

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a 21 year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 5760 acres, situated on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post planted on the east bank of Elk River, which is just north of the 35 mile C.P.R. surveyed line, thence east 60 chains, thence north 960 chains. thence west to east bank of Elk river, thence southward along the river to point of beginning, excepting therefrom any and all timber on the coal claims which will be staked within the next ten days, as shown on location posts.
A. D. MACRAE CO., LTD.
Dated Sept. 1st, 1902.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

To-day is pay-day. The company will disburse sbout $20,000.

Mrs. Keegan has just received a large stock of very beautiful hats for the millinery season. Give her a call.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Procter and family, returned from a trip to Ogdensburg, N.Y. on Sunday last.

Mr. T. C. Thompson is slowly recovering from the attack of typoid fever, which last week threatened to end seriously for him.

Mrs. Moe and her sister, Miss Neilson leave to-night for Montreal on account of the serious illness of her sister. They expect to be absent about four weeks.

To the ladies of Fernie—Miss L. Ralph has arrived from the east and is now prepared to do all kinds of dressmaking at the residence of Mrs. A. K. Farquharson.

H. J. Turner's house and lot in west Fernie for sale and only $300 cash asked for. Apply to F. J. Watson, real estate agent, for particulars.

Mr. Wm. Blakemore arrived in town yesterday from Montreal and will remain in the province on professional business until December. He will be found at his office on Victoria Ave.

Rev. C. W. Stapleford, of Frank, late of Toronto who gives his celebrated Lecture "Critics of Society," in the Methodist Church here, on the 22nd under the auspices of the Young Men's Club, has donated $65.00 to the Relief Fund, the proceeds of this lecture given in Frank, under the auspices of the Miners' Union.

Miss Pauline Johnson and Mr. Walter McRae gave their performance in Princess Hall on Tuesday evening to a very small audience. They put up a first-class entertainment and are deserving of a much greater patronage than it received. The concert was under the auspices of the lacrosse club.

Rock Fell on Him

Russel Ferguson, son of the late Alex. Ferguson who was recently killed from a fall of rock in No. 1 mine, came very nearly suffering the same fate as his father on Monday last. A large rock fell on one of his arms and cut it quite seriously.

The first person to receive a certificate of title for lots in the Blairmore townsite is H. Howard, who has received such for lots 1 & 2, block 4, from the Titles office for South Alberta Land Registration District, at Calgary, bearing date of August 28, 1902. The issuing of this certificate of title is a precedent, settling the question as to whether a clear title could now be obtained to Blairmore real estate, and removes what has heretofore been a check to the growth of th at town.

Married

The marriage of Mr. H. W. Herchmer and Miss Jean McDonald took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John McDonald, of Lindsay, Ont., on Tuesday and the happy couple are expected to arrive in Fernie in the course of a couple of weeks. They will occupy the beautiful residence know as the Green Cottage, which has recently been fitted up for them. The FREE PRESS joins with the people of Fernie in extending congratulations.

Horribly Burned

The little ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Twigg, met with a most painful accident, which almost resulted fatally for her, this week. The little girl was playing with matches and set fire to her clothes. Her father happened to be coming home from the mine just after the accident happened and hearing the child's screams rushed to her assistance, but before he could put out the fire the little one's flesh was badly burned around the breast, arms and face. The father was very severely burned about the hands before he succeeded in quenching the flames.

Attempted Murder

Harry Evans, a machinist, who until recently has been employed at the Coal Creek mines, is lying in the hospital here at the point of death from the effect of a shot which he received in an affair at the Loop last Sunday night. Three Italians had a rough and tumble fight with the Loop blacksmith and a Frenchman at the Looy hotel. After the row the latter two left for their boarding house. The Italians followed the men to the boarding house and one of them fired a rifle through the window at whom he supposed was one of the men he was quarreling with. The bullet which was a soft-nosed one, struck Harry Evans in the groin and passing through the body came out at the hip, leaving a terrible wound. Dr. McSorley, of Michel, was immediately sent for and he brought the wounded man to Fernie Monday morning. The Italians escaped but the police are scouring the country for them and one or two arrests have been made.

NELSON VS. FERNIE.

GOOD EXHIBITION OF THE NATIONAL GAME OF CANADA.

Score 5 to 1 in Nelson's Favor, but They Had to Fight Hard for All They Got.

A first class exhibition of lacrosse took place on the recreation grounds here on Thursday between Nelson and Fernie and although the home team were defeated by what looks to be a big score, they certainly played the game and had they not been badly used up from the game of the previous day with Lethbridge they would have certainly defeated the visitors. Nelson has a good team and they thoroughly understand the art of combination, but for the first half of the game it looked as if they were doomed to defeat. In the first quarter our boys kept the ball continually on the Nelson flags but did not succeed in landing it in the net. The combination work was beautiful. The ball was passed up from centre field repeatedly and the boys just seemed to play in circles around their opponents but failed to make the necessary goal. Cavanaugh, Flett, Lafortune and Herman did splendid work and the first quarter ended with the spectators feeling very confident that Fernie would win.

The second quarter was also very close. Nelson boys made some beautiful plays but could not break through the Fernie defence. A few minutes after the play started Thompson, who played centre for Fernie, made the run of his life passing through the Nelson players like a hurricane and coming right up to the goal passed the ball to McGuire who scored. Nelson tried hard to even up but it was fully ten minutes before they succeeded and when half time was called the play stood 1-1.

The third quarter was much slower than the previous ones and the fast pace began to tell seriously on the home players. Shot after shot was rained on the Fernie goal, but MacLean and Miller were always in their positions and only once did their opponents succeed in getting the rubber in the net.

The fourth quarter was very fast, but our boys had done their best and were now feeling tired. Nelson score twice on them in quick succession. Fernie recovered in the last ten minutes and made a terrible effort to retreve their loss, but in vain. Although they made it hot for the Nelson defence they could not score and just before time was called Nelson got one more goal which brought the score up to 5-1.

The play was quite rough at times and a number of meu were put on the fence.

The teams lined up as follows:

Nelson		Fernie
C Jeffs	Goal	Miller
McLaughlin	Point	MacLean
A Jeffs	Cover Point	Herman
Taylor	1st Defence	Kastner
Williamson	2nd Defence	Wrigglesworth
Ward	3rd Defence	Cavanaugh
Perrier	Centre	Thompson
Hawkins	3rd Home	Lafortune
McNicholl	2nd Home	Kenny
Fox	1st Home	Flett
Blackwood	Outside Home	Black
W Mitchell	Inside Home	McGuire
	Field Captain	Donahue

J. Blondell referred the game.

A GRAND DISPLAY.

The ladies of Fernie during the past few days have had a golden opportunity to inspect one of the most beautiful exhibits of millinery that has yet been seen in Fernie. This magnificent display is on exhibition at the London & Liverpool Co's store and the ladies of the town who have not visited the place since the opening began on Thursday shoud do so at once as the beautiful hats of every variety are going fast.

A FREE PRESS representative enticed by the handsome window display paid a visit to that department the other day and gazed in wonder and admiration at the beautiful selection of hats and trimmings tastefully arranged in the large and commodious millinery parlors.

Probably the most beautiful of the hats on exhibition was a large one trimmed with chinelle and applique, the crown very daintly covered with wings and two long flowing ends of Duchess satin extending from the back, while the facing was tastefully covered with tucked brussels net. Another very beautiful one of the same style next attracted the eye. This was a Castor, the crown covered with shaded castor wings and trimmed with cluster tucked velvet. In this style there there were several shades of trimmings, green, white and blue being possibly among the prettiest.

Another hat very attractive to the eye and one which is becoming very popular is the Victorian. This is of a sea-green hue, with soft drape of embroidered felt with a matted knot of shaded green arranged at the head of drape. The facings were covered with Duchess velvet and a number of beautiful rosettes of white Duchess ribbon on bandeau with a soft velvet end falling on the hair.

The next hat in order of beauty was one of chinelle and camel's hair. This variety is of medium size and are selling very rapidly. The crown is covered with six pair of wings and a drape of torquoise blue velvet.

In Misses hats they have a most beautiful selection. The most noticeable one was a large flop covered with old rose and camel's hair trimmed with sea gull's wings and tied in front with knotted velvet with a bow of cream duchess satin.

To describe half the beautiful things in this display would take volumes. It is a credit to the town as well as to the management of that department,

WE WILL EXCHANGE

NEW Furniture or Stoves

FOR....

Second-hand Furniture or Stoves

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Fortify Yourself...

Against Sickness and Disease. Get well and stay well. Erect a barricade against the ills that flesh is heir to. with some of these standard tonics.

Syrup of Hypophosphites
Beef, Iron and Wine
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla with Iodides
Wyeth's Malt Extract.

There's something here to suit your case exactly. It may be among the Patent Medicines or the Drugs, or it may be in the Prescription Department. Whether you use your own judgement or take the doctor's advice you can rely upon us for first-class goods.

Fernie Drug Store.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. D. Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Clincy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN RUDOLPH.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT
FOR THE LADIES.....

Thursday and Friday, Sep. 18 & 19

On the above dates we are going to hold our
..Grand Millinery Opening..

Never before have you seen such a gathering of beautiful colorings, exquisite designs, artistic modelling of headwear.

Miss McBroom has searched the fashion centres for the best, and you have only to visit our Millinery Department to convince you how well the work has been done.

Don't forget the dates: THURSDAY, Sept. 18th, FRIDAY, Sept. 19th. Come and enjoy the pretty sights and have a cup of cocoa.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

AIR TIGHT Heaters

We illustrate this week two lines—the YUMA and the WILSON. The former has door and damper at bottom; the latter has a tube which some people prefer; however, we know both give satisfaction. For a cheap heater we have the

.SALAMANDER.

Our display is most interesting. Our prices are very low.

TAKE A LOOK
It will puy you.

J. D. QUAIL..
Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B. C.

The outlet for the various districts of South East Kootenay. Surrounded by more natural wealth than any town in British Columbla.

Coal, Iron, Copper, Timber, and the various products they produce. Large mercantile houses are being established at Morrissey in which prices will be right, and fair and courteous treatment the motto.

Lots on Easy Payments

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
—PROFESSIONAL NURSE—
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel,

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, SEPT. 20. 1902.

THAT CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

THE Conservative convention is now a thing of the past. The faithful met at Revelstoke, they elected new officers, issued a new platform, and, failing a provincial general election, they may now be expected to take their right position among the political force of the province. The chief interest the Revelstoke convention created centered around the very gratifying evidence of the increased strength and popularity of Charles Wilson, K.C., as leader.

The convention had two important questions to decide, and on both it must be conceded its election was wise. These were very closely related, and the determination of the one materially affected the other. The first dealt with the time for the recognition of party politics in provincial affairs. There was a disposition on the part of some of the delegates to force this departure, which would have had the effects of bringing into being a rump government made up of the Conservative members who at present make up the majority in the legislature. In this course had been adopted the leadership of the party would naturally have gone to one of the members of the party with a seat in the house. Two strong influences were exerted to prevent a decision by the convention along these lines. One of these was a very manifest unwillingness on the part of delegates from all parts of the province to contribute further to the prestige of certain members of the Dunsmuir cabinet who would be in a position to force recognition if any such change were decided upon at the present time. The second influence was the strength of the Wilson following in the convention. The Wilson men were not open for a comprise of any kind, and they had not been at work very long before they were masters of the situation. The result was the re-election of Wilson as leader, and the fixing of the next provincial general elections as the time for the recognition of party lines.

It is in the platform that the weakness of the party is shown. The opinion of most people who read the document over will be that it would have been just as well if it had never been issued. There is not a clean-out definition of principle in the entire platform. All of the several questions that have been before the people of the province for the past year figure in it, but upon each of them the party plays the straddle. That there were men in convention who are sound upon most, if not all of these questions, is doubtless true, but they certainly failed to give anything like definiteness to the convention's pronouncement upon them.

In this respect the Conservative platform is very much like that of the Liberal party. Just why a large gathering of sensible men should gravely discuss the necessity for reform for a couple of days, and then deliberately chloroform the hope of getting it by potent provisos, is something past our ken. If a party platform stands for nothing to what purpose is it issued? What greater security has the elector who is possessed of a pledge from his candidate to the effect that in the event of his election he will carry out a certain reform "if he considers it politic?" There is something ludicrous in the thing. Yet the Conservative platform goes no further, and both of the old parties go on issuing just such platforms year after year.

The weakness of the Conservative platform is emphasized, however, by the strength of the men who have been placed in charge of the party machine, and if they are given rein, or take it, they will carry the party further along the road of reform that the men who framed the platform dreamed of.

Charles Wilson, K.C., of Vancouver, is one of the most advanced thinkers on social questions in the province, and the thought he has given to such questions has caused his sympathy to go out to the under dog in the fight. It is not necessary for him to be upon the stump to show this. His sentiments are the same off the hustings as on, and his evident sincerity has secured for him a very large following among the wage-earners of the terminal city. A man of this type will commend himself to every section of this constituency and should infuse a wholesome leaven into the mass of inert party matter at the coast. Under Mr. Wilson's leadership the party may fulfil its destiny as an important historic element in the government of the province.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.
L. A. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning. containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.
J. L. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north side of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.
R. J. DAVIS.

In the County Court of Kootenay, holden at Fort Steele in Probate.

Notice is hereby given that on the fourth day of September, 1902, it was ordered by J. A. Forin Esq., Judge of the said Court, that James Ferguson Armstrong, Official Administrator of the County of Kootenay, be administrator of all and singular the estates of the following inestates, namely:—

Frank Brunyansky, of Fernie, B. C., Miner
Aaron Colclough " " "
Miki Kurotor " " "
Peter Lekar " " "
John R. McLeod " " "
John Mihal " " "
Joseph Singala " " "
Joe Shilling " " "
Filippo Tabbi " " "

Every person indebted to the said deceased is required to make payment forthwith to the undersigned.

Every creditor, or other person, having any claim upon, or interest in the distribution of the estate of the said deceased, is required within thirty days of this date to send by registered letter, addressed to the undersigned, his name and address and the full particulars of his claim or interest, and a statement of his account, and the nature of the security [if any] held by him,

After the expiration of the said thirty days the administrator will proceed with the distribution of the estate, having regard to those claims only of which he shall then have had notice.

JAMES FERGUSON ARMSTRONG
Official Administrator.
194-2 Fort Steele, B. C.
Dated at Fort Steele this 18th day of Sept., 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked W. A. Switzer's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D Quail's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
W. A. SWITZER.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum on the following described lands: Commencing at a post marked H. A. Wilkes' south-west corner, situate on the west bank of the Elk river about two miles south-west of Morrissey depot and being nearly west from the mine town of Morrissey, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning.
H. A. WILKES.
Dated Aug. 29th, 1902.

If Children are to Rise

rapidly in their studies, see tnat they are supplied with the latest and best

SCHOOL BOOKS

They are made to stand much use aed some abuse. Prices right.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

Have you thought
ABOUT FALL UNDERWEAR?
WE HAVE

Have you bought
YOUR FALL UNDERWEAR?
WE HAVE

Five special lines are on display in our window this week, bought direct from the makers in case lots and bought right too. Call in and examine them. They are worth just a third more than we are asking for them.

Others have been surprised at the value, so will you.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE

On Thursday, the 25th of September, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, a part of the Government lots in Morrissey townsite will be sold at Auction.

The sale will take place in front of the townsite office.

Terms, one third cash, one third at three months and the balance at six months, time being the essence of the contract.

An upset price has been placed on each lot, below which no sale will be made. 2t

Fort Steele, September 9th, 1902.
J. F. ARMSTRONG,
Government Agent.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.
JOHN OWENS.
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.
HUGH McMILLAN
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Your Dress

Is not quite complete...

without a pair of

Pewney's Kid Gloves.

We can furnish them for any occasion, and for quality and price stand without a peer. A guarantee with every pair.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
S. F. WALLACE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south, west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east. thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
MILTON A. KASTNER.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.
WM. S. KEAY.
Dated August 28, 1902. 191-8

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a 21 year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 5760 acres, situated on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post planted on the east bank of Elk River, which is just north of the 35 mile C.P.R. surveyed line, thence east 60 chains, thence north 960 chains. thence west to east bank of Elk river, thence southward along the river to point of beginning, excepting therefrom any and all timber on the coal claims which will be staked within the next ten days, as shown on location posts.
A. D. MACRAE CO., LTD.
Dated Sept. 1st, 1902.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

To-day is pay-day. The company will disburse about $20,000.

Mrs. Keegan has just received a large stock of very beautiful hats for the millinery season. Give her a call.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Procter and family, returned from a trip to Ogdensburg, N.Y. on Sunday last.

Mr. T. C. Thompson is slowly recovering from the attack of typoid fever, which last week threatened to end seriously for him.

Mrs. Moe and her sister, Miss Neilson leave to-night for Montreal on account of the serious illness of her sister. They expect to be absent about four weeks.

To the ladies of Fernie—Miss L. Ralph has arrived from the east and is now prepared to do all kinds of dressmaking at the residence of Mrs. A. K. Farquharson.

H. J. Turner's house and lot in west Fernie for sale and only $300 cash asked for. Apply to F. J. Watson, real estate agent, for particulars.

Mr. Wm. Blakemore arrived in town yesterday from Montreal and will remain in the province on professional business until December. He will be found at his office on Victoria Ave.

Rev. C. W. Stapleford, of Frank, late of Toronto who gives his celebrated Lecture "Critics of Society," in the Methodist Church here, on the 22nd under the auspices of the Young Men's Club, has donated $65.00 to the Relief Fund, the proceeds of this lecture given in Frank, under the auspices of the Miners' Union.

Miss Pauline Johnson and Mr. Walter McRae gave their performance in Princess Hall on Tuesday evening to a very small audience. They put up a first-class entertainment and are deserving of a much greater patronage than it received. The concert was under the auspices of the lacrosse club.

Rock Fell on Him

Russel Ferguson, son of the late Alex. Ferguson who was recently killed from a fall of rock in No. 1 mine, came very nearly suffering the same fate as his father on Monday last. A large rock fell on one of his arms and cut it quite seriously.

The first person to receive a certificate of title for lots in the Blairmore townsite is H. Howard, who has received such for lots 1 & 2, block 4, from the Titles office for South Alberta Land Registration District, at Calgary, bearing date of August 28, 1902. The issuing of this certificate of title is a precedent, settling the question as to whether a clear title could now be obtained to Blairmore real estate, and removes what has heretofore been a check to the growth of that town.

Married

The marriage of Mr. H. W. Herchmer and Miss Jean McDonald took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. John McDonald, of Lindsay, Ont., on Tuesday and the happy couple are expected to arrive in Fernie in the course of a couple of weeks. They will occupy the beautiful residence know as the Green Cottage, which has recently been fitted up for them. The FREE PRESS joins with the people of Fernie in extending congratulations.

Horribly Burned

The little ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Twigg, met with a most painful accident, which almost resulted fatally for her, this week. The little girl was playing with matches and set fire to her clothes. Her father happened to be coming home from the mine just after the accident happened and hearing the child's screams rushed to her assistance, but before he could put out the fire the little one's flesh was badly burned around the breast, arms and face. The father was very severely burned about the hands before he succeeded in quenching the flames.

Attempted Murder

Harry Evans, a machinist, who until recently has been employed at the Coal Creek mines, is lying in the hospital here at the point of death from the effect of a shot which he received in an affair at the Loop last Sunday night. Three Italians had a rough and tumble fight with the Loop blacksmith and a Frenchman at the Looy hotel. After the row the latter two left for their boarding house. The Italians followed the men to the boarding house and one of them fired a rifle through the window at whom he supposed was one of the men he was quarreling with. The bullet which was a soft-nosed one, struck Harry Evans in the groin and passing through the body came out at the hip, leaving a terrible wound. Dr. McSorley, of Michel, was immediately sent for and he brought the wounded man to Fernie Monday morning. The Italians escaped but the police are scouring the country for them and one or two arrests have been made.

NELSON VS. FERNIE.

GOOD EXHIBITION OF THE NATIONAL GAME OF CANADA.

Score 5 to 1 in Nelson's Favor, but They Had to Fight Hard for All They Got.

A first class exhibition of lacrosse took place on the recreation grounds here on Thursday between Nelson and Fernie and although the home team were defeated by what looks to be a big score, they certainly played the game and had they not been badly used up from the game of the previous day with Lethbridge they would have certainly defeated the visitors. Nelson has a good team and they thoroughly understand the art of combination, but for the first half of the game it looked as if they were doomed to defeat. In the first quarter our boys kept the ball continually on the Nelson flags but did not succeed in landing it in the net. The combination work was beautiful. The ball was passed up from centre field repeatedly and the boys just seemed to play in circles around their opponents but failed to make the necessary goal. Cavanaugh, Flett, Lafortune and Herman did splendid work and the first quarter ended with the spectators feeling very confident that Fernie would win.

The second quarter was also very close. Nelson boys made some beautiful plays but could not break through the Fernie defence. A few minutes after the play started Thompson, who played centre for Fernie, made the run of his life passing through the Nelson players like a hurricane and coming right up to the goal passed the ball to McGuire who scored. Nelson tried hard to even up but it was fully ten minutes before they succeeded and when half time was called the play stood 1–1.

The third quarter was much slower than the previous ones and the fast pace began to tell seriously on the home players. Shot after shot was rained on the Fernie goal, but MacLean and Miller were always in their positions and only once did their opponents succeed in getting the rubber in the net.

The fourth quarter was very fast, but our boys had done their best and were now feeling tired. Nelson score twice on them in quick succession. Fernie recovered in the last ten minutes and made a terrible effort to retreve their loss, but in vain. Although they made it hot for the Nelson defence they could not score and just before time was called Nelson got one more goal which brought the score up to 5–1.

The play was quite rough at times and a number of men were put on the fence.

The teams lined up as follows:

Nelson		Fernie
C Jeffs	Goal	Miller
McLaughlin	Point	MacLean
A Jeffs	Cover Point	Herman
Taylor	1st Defence	Kastner
Williamson	2nd Defence	Wrigglesworth
Ward	3rd Defence	Cavanaugh
Perrier	Centre	Thompson
Hawkins	3rd Home	Lafortune
McNicholl	2nd Home	Kenny
Fox	1st Home	Flett
Blackwood	Outside Home	Black
W Mitchell	Inside Home	McGuire
	Field Captain	Donahue

J. Blondell referred the game.

A GRAND DISPLAY.

The ladies of Fernie during the past few days have had a golden opportunity to inspect one of the most beautiful exhibits of millinery that has yet been seen in Fernie. This magnificent display is on exhibition at the London & Liverpool Co's store and the ladies of the town who have not visited the place since the opening began on Thursday shoud do so at once as the beautiful hats of every variety are going fast.

A FREE PRESS representative enticed by the handsome window display paid a visit to that department the other day and gazed in wonder and admiration at the beautiful selection of hats and trimmings tastefully arranged in the large and commodious millinery parlors.

Probably the most beautiful of the hats on exhibition was a large one trimmed with chinelle and applique, the crown very daintly covered with wings and two long flowing ends of Duchess satin extending from the back, while the facing was tastefully covered with tucked brussels net. Another very beautitul one of the same style next attracted the eye. This was a Castor, the crown covered with shaded castor wings and trimmed with cluster tucked velvet. In this style there there were several shades of trimmings, green, white and blue being possibly among the prettiest.

Another hat very attractive to the eye and one which is becoming very popular is the Victorian. This is of a sea-green hue, with soft drape of embroidered felt with a matted knot of shaded green arranged at the head of drape. The facings were covered with Duchess velvet and a number of beautiful rosettes of white Duchess ribbon on bandeau with a soft velvet end falling on the hair.

The next hat in order of beauty was one of chinelle and camel's hair. This variety is of medium size and are selling very rapidly. The crown is covered with six pair of wings and a drape of torquoise blue velvet.

In Misses hats they have a most beautiful selection. The most noticeable one was a large flop covered with old rose and camel's hair trimmed with sea gull's wings and tied in front with knotted velvet with a bow of cream duchess satin.

To describe half the beautiful things in this display would take volumes. It is a credit to the town as well as to the management of that department,

WE WILL EXCHANGE

NEW Furniture or Stoves

FOR....

Second-hand Furniture or Stoves

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Fortify Yourself...

Against Sickness and Disease. Get well and stay well. Erect a barricade against the ills that flesh is heir to. with some of these standard tonics.

Syrup of Hypophosphites
Beef, Iron and Wine
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla with Iodides
Wyeth's Malt Extract.

There's something here to suit your case exactly. & May be among the Patent Medicines or the Drugs, or it may be in the Prescription Department. Whether you use your own judgement or take the doctor's advice you can rely upon us for first-class goods.

Fernie Drug Store.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Lizard creek river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. D. Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Cluney's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN RUDOLPH.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT FOR THE LADIES.....

Thursday and Friday, Sep. 18 & 19

On the above dates we are going to hold our

..Grand Millinery Opening..

Never before have you seen such a gathering of beautiful colorings, exquisite designs, artistic modelling of headwear.

Miss McBroom has searched the fashion centres for the best, and you have only to visit our Millinery Department to convince you how well the work has been done.

Don't forget the dates: THURSDAY, Sept. 18th, FRIDAY, Sept. 19th. Come and enjoy the pretty sights and have a cup of cocoa.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

AIR TIGHT Heaters

We illustrate this week two lines—the YUMA and the WILSON. The former has the latter door and damper at bottom; some prefer has a tube which we know both give satisfaction. For a cheap heater we have the people prefer; however, the

.SALAMANDER.

Our display is most interesting. Our prices are very low.

TAKE A LOOK
It will puy you.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B. C.

The outlet for the various districts of South East Kootenay. Surrounded by more natural wealth than any town in British Columbia.

Coal, Iron, Copper, Timber, and the various products they produce. Large mercantile houses are being established at Morrissey in which prices will be right, and fair and courteous treatment the motto.

Lots on Easy Payments

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel,

PL

ADVISED TO WAKE UP

BRITISH BOARD OF TRADE MEMORANDUM.

It Officially Warns British Merchants to Bestir Themselves, and Says That Germany and the United States are Rivals to Be Feared.

The British board of trade has issued a memorandum on British foreign commerce, conveying a serious and formal official warning to our merchants to "wake up."

The memorandum takes the form of a comparison of statistics of trade and population between ourselves and our three principal industrial competitors, France, Germany and the United States. In population it is shown that since the year 1870, England has increased by ten million people, France by less than three millions, Germany by 15 1-3 millions, and the United States by about thirty-seven millions.

"The addition to the population of the United States in thirty years," says Mr. Bateman, head of the commercial department of the board of trade, "approaches in absolute numbers the total population of the United Kingdom at the present time. The change in relative population must largely effect all commercial comparisons"; and the character of the new population is an important factor. Not many years ago the non-agricultural people of every other country in the world was smaller than our own. In the United States and Germany this is no longer so.

Mr. Bateman, who has prepared the memorandum, goes on to take the comparative production of coal and iron as the test of national industry. Comparing the years 1896-1900 with the years 1870-1874, he finds that in that time the production of the United Kingdon increased by 74.2 per cent., France by 106.7 per cent., Germany by 203.1 per cent., and the United States by 383.3 per cent.

The quality of pig iron produced in the same comparative period shows an even more unfavorable result to the United Kingdom. England has increased by 39.1 per cent., France by 108.3 per cent., Germany by 311.1 per cent., and the United States by 422.7 per cent.

In coal and iron, if the consumption is taken by the total, this country still leads, but if by relative proportions we fall much behind.

In foreign trade the annual exports of this country have increased, but not nearly so fast as those of our rivals. Comparing 1896-1900 with 1880-1884 this country has gone up 6.4 per cent., but France has risen 8.7 per cent., Germany 23.1 per cent. and the United States 42.8 per cent. Judged by the total figures, we still remain at the head of the list, although very nearly approached by the United States, but our rivals are jumping up by leaps and bounds, and they are rapidly reaching us.

If the amount of exports per head of population is taken, the United Kingdom comes first, although not nearly so much so as in former years. This country exports to the value of $30 per head, France to the value of $18, Germany $17, and the United States $14.

In analyzing our trade with the United States, Mr. Bateman shows that there has been a very large increase in imports, this being mainly made up of agricultural products, timber and petroleum. The imports of machinery have, in his opinion, been to a large extent in new types, to which our makers will easily adapt themselves, there having evidently been no displacement of the home market.

On the other hand, there has been a considerable decline in our exports. "It has been alleged, and probably with good reason, that the United States have been purchasing American securities in European markets to a large extent in recent years, and principally in the United Kingdom."

The memorandum recognizes that the rapid development of manufacture and industrial power in Germany and the United States threatens us.

"We are still ancad of either country in our power to manufacture for export," it says, "but beginning from a lower level, each country is travelling upwards more rapidly than we are who occupy a higher eminence. If peace is maintained both Germany and the United States are certain to increase their rate of upward movement. Their competition with us in neutral markets, and even in our home markets, will probably unless we ourselves are active, become increasingly serious.

"Each year will add to their acquired capital and skill, and they will have larger and larger additions to their population to draw upon. It is necessary, therefore, more than ever that the change of conditions should be recognized, and we can scarcely expect to maintain our past undoubted pre-eminence, at any rate without strenuous effort and careful and energetic improvement in the method."

THE WIDE WORLD.

Telegraphic News of Two Hemisphere Briefly Told.

F. Thieverge was killed at Montreal while scuffling with friends.

The cranberry crop of the Annapolis valley has been destroyed by frost.

Sir Edmund Barton has denied a story that he intended to resign the premiership of Australia.

It is reported that Sir A. P. Pelletier is to succeed Sir Louis Jette as lieutenant governor of Quebec.

Sir Frederick Abell, the noted scientists, is dead.

Turkey has settled the claims of the United States government.

Information has been received at the admiralty in London of a sharp fight in the Persian Gulf between a boat's crew of the British gunboat Lapwing and a slave dhow. A bluejacket was killed and several were wounded.

A dispatch from Santiago, Texas, says: It is reported here that reliable information has been received of the destruction of life at Mapimi, Mexico, by the breaking forth of arsenic springs in the mountains near the city, and that the distributing reservoirs have been thoroughly impregnated with arsenic. This report, which lacks confirmation, says thirty are said to be dead and over 400 seriously ill.

A Chicago dispatch of Sept 7 says: The innovation of a professional whistler in church has attracted to the vesper service of the South Congregational church a crowd that filled every seat in the auditorium and overflowed into the vestibule. Carriages stopped on the boulevard and passers-by waited outside the doors. Three numbers were rendered by Robert Chisholm Bain, Rubenstein's "Voices From the Woods," Lassens' "The Loving Voice of Jesus," and "The Holy City."

The death of John D. Rockefeller's grandson Jack, two years ago, has enabled two students, one of Johns Hopkins, and the other at the University of Pennsylvania medical schools, to discover what is believed to be the organism or germ of a disease that carries off so many little ones every summer, and which is commonly called "summer complaint," says a dispatch. When little Jack died two years ago, Mr. Rockefeller is said to have offered a fund of $200,000 to be devoted to research. The outcome of this offer is the reported discovery of the fatal germ. In forty-two cases the organism found is nearly identical.

For some time there has been considerable sheep killing going on in Haldimand township, Ont., which was thought to be the work of dogs. Recently an animal, prowling around the vicinity, was noticed by a number of persons. On one occasion it followed a man around the field while plowing, and later entered the barnyard and killed a calf. On Saturday night some sheep were killed on the Campbell farm, between Wicklof and Lake Port. The animal was later shot by James McMurray while in the act of killing a sheep. It was taken to Cobourg, and a local taxidermist says it is a common grey wolf. It measures five feet from nose to tip of the tail, and is eighteen inches high. It is many years since wolves have been seen near Lake Ontario.

The Swazis are threatening trouble in South Africa. They are unable to understand that as a consequence of the conquest of the South African republics the administration of Swaziland has passed into the keeping of the British crown. There is no doubt about Great Britain's intentions; she does not mean to allow the Swazis to have independence, but there may be some fighting before her sovereignity is recognized. The population of Swaziland is about seventy thousand, and the people, who speak the Zulu dialect, are well armed and have large reserves of ammunition.

Owing to the heroic exertion of Mrs. Robert Barclay, of Lindsay township, Ont., her 6-year-old son is alive today. The little fellow stepped on a three-foot rattlesnake which was basking in the sun, and the reptile buried its fangs five times in his leg. Mrs. Barclay at once realized the danger, and sucking the poison from the wounds, tied a ligature around the limb to stop the circulation of the blood, and drove her child three miles to Lionshead where medical treatment was secured. The boy is doing well.

Miss Marion Raymond, of Boston, accompanied by two Canadian Pacific Swiss guides, reached the summit of Mount Sir Donald recently. This is only the second ascent of this famous peak by a lady, Mrs. Bierus, an Englishwoman, having clinbed it last season. It is reported that Prof. Collie has climbed Mount Forbes, one of the highest Northern Rockies.

Marion Elliott, the 8-year-old daughter of the Rev. Roy Elliott, of the Sherbrooke Street Methodist church, died at the Victoria hospital Montreal, Sept. 7, as the result of burns received on Friday afternoon. Playing with her girl companions around a fire they had started in Fletcher's field, the child's dress caught the flames.

MYSTERY REVEALED

A WOMAN'S CONSCIENCE FORCES A CONFESSION.

She Tells How She Threw a Man Overboard From a Pleasure Steamer For Teasing Her---She Gives Herself Up to the Police.

A dispatch from New Orleans says: A woman's conscience has compelled her to reveal the mystery of the death of Earl C. Lukens, manager of the New Orleans branch of an eastern correspondence school.

Lukens was believed to have been accidentally drowned on the evening of August 31. On that evening a party boarded the yacht Indian for a sail down the river. On the yacht's return it was announced that Lukens had accidentally fallen overboard and drowned. His body was recovered four days later. Mrs. Katherine Jarreau, the young wife of a travelling man, has confessed to Coroner Richard that she pushed Lukens overboard. She said she had been bantered by Lukens and had warned him that if he kept on she would throw him overboard. He had continued and she had made good her threat.

Mrs. Jarreau went on to say that she had wished to tell the truth about the affair on the night of the drowning, but had been prevented by Hans Reig, a member of the party, who had warned everybody that in justice to her good name they should all stick to the accident theory. Mrs. Jarreau is held by the police as a witness.

Domestic Tragedy.

A dispatch from New York, dated Sept. 10, says: Charles O'Neil, a janitor, died in the hospital early today, and his wife Ida was found dead in their apartments with two bullet wounds in her body.

The tragedy followed a quarrel in which O'Niel accused his wife of having been unfaithful. O'Neil said his wife did the shooting.

A coroner, who went to the O'Neils' apartments, found O'Neil's empty revolver, but he also found a slip of paper, which indicated that O'Neil meant to use the loaded revolver before morning. On the paper was written in a man's handwriting: "Three letters on the gas meter will explain all."

The letters were addressed to relatives of O'Neil, and asked for forgiveness for what he was about to do. One of the letters disposed of his property and life insurance to his sister.

REVOLUTION IS ENDED.

The consul-general of Venezuela at New York has received the following undated cablegram from President Castro -

A fierce battle was fought today at Fina Fuillo, in which the revolutionary army under Generals Luciano, Mendoza and Riera was completely defeated, thus insuring national peace."

George C. Hale, former fire chief of Kansas City, has been invited by the secretary of the British Fire Brigade union to go to London next May and assist in reorganizing the English fire fighting service. He will consider the proposal.

A dispatch from Lesneven, Department of Finistere, to a Paris paper, says that a religious festival which is being held at Foelgoet, is becoming an important clerical manifestation. Thirty thousand peasants from all parts of Brittany attended an open-air meeting. The Bishop of Quimper and 300 of the clergy, headed by a cross and banner, marched from the church to an altar erected on a plain and decorated it with a Breton and a French flag.

During the manoeuvres near Tivoli, Italy, recently, a military balloon burst and sixteen soldiers were badly injured in consequence. Two of the men were fatally hurt. The explosion of the balloon is attributed to intense heat.

A Chicago dispatch says: Surprised while looting the residence of "Patsy" King, a wealthy bookmaker, at 1429 Washington boulevard, a negro leaped over the banisters of the stairs from the second to the ground floor and made his escape with more than $4,000 in jewels.

Mr. James M. Roberts and his two sons, Edward and Kenneth, aged respectively 11 and 9, were drowned in Chemong lake on Sunday night. Mr. Roberts had been attending service at the Indian reserve, and left for home accompanied by his sons. He did not reach home at a late hour and a searching party found his canoe in the lake.

The question of admitting women to Methodist district meetings and conferences was balloted on at the Winnipeg conference and defeated. It received an even vote, but a three-fourths vote is required.

THE GIANT'S CAUSEWAY.

Formation and Appearance of This Odd Freak of Nature.

The Giant's causeway is situated at the northern extremity of County Antrim, a short distance from Port Rush, Ireland. It consists of countless hosts of basaltic pillars, varying in shape from a pentagon to an octagon, the average length of each column or pillar being about eighty feet, the whole stacked so closely together that a knife blade could hardly be inserted between them. But the formation of these pillars is not the least wonderful part about them, for, although they may be counted by thousands and tens of thousands, each column is fashioned with a symmetry that suggests a mason's handiwork. Their composition is a perfect fusion of one-half flinty earth, one-quarter lime and clay, one-quarter almost pure iron, each pillar being divided into regular lengths or joints which come together as a perfect, natural ball and socket union.

Although to be found in small detachments (imbedded in the cliffs, sands, etc.) for some distance along the shore, the principal aggregations forming the causeway proper consist of three projections or tongues known as little, middle and grand causeways. These singular columns are of different lengths and present an astonishing appearance as they stand, an army of at least 40,000 strong marshaled on the shores of Erin as if ever ready to do battle with the rising tide.

The Word "Joss."

"It's a mistake to suppose that 'joss' is a Chinese word," says a retired ship's carpenter. "I've traveled a good bit in the orient in my time, and among the odds and ends of interesting information I picked up was a knockout of the genuineness of 'joss' as a Chinese word. Chinamen only know 'joss' when they come in contract with Europeans. A Chinese priest that I became chummy with in Hankow told me that there was no such word in Chinese. He explained that the word was a corruption of the Spanish word 'Dios' and had come into use through the missionaries. Many early missionaries, he said, were Spanish priests, and their pronunciation of 'Dios' was speedily corrupted into 'joss' by native tongues and applied to the Chinese deities. It's only on the Chinese seaboard that the word is understood by Chinamen. In the interior, the priest told me, the Celestials had no knowledge of it."

Street Etiquette.

In meeting a lady in a public thoroughfare in America a gentleman always waits for her bow of recognition before lifting his hat or addressing her. In Europe, however, the contrary is the established rule, it being the gentleman's place to bow first, when, if the lady desires not to recognize him, she ignores his salutations, thus giving the cut direct. It is not good form in any place for a lady to stop a gentleman in the street for the purpose of chatting with him, though she may with perfect propriety pause to speak if he take the initiative. Prolonged talks in the street are not, however, considered good form, even between persons of the same sex, the better plan being to walk on slowly until the conversation is concluded.

Why Coughing Is Weakening.

The amount of energy expended in coughing is very considerable. Indeed one of the patient statisticians for which Germany is renowned has calculated that a patient who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours expends energy equivalent to 250 units of heat, which may be translated as equivalent to the nourishment contained in three eggs or two glasses of milk. In normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet per second, whereas in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of 300 feet.

Considerate.

Paterfamilias—See here! What does this mean? The parlor clock is stopped. Mr. Nicefellow was here last night, as usual, wasn't he?

Daughter—Yes, pa, and I told him what you said about the cost of coal and gas in the parlor every night, and we began to wonder how we could economize for you, and finally Mr. Nicefellow decided that we could at least stop the clock and save wear and tear on the works, you know.

Wholesale.

A Frenchman was teaching in a large school where he had a reputation for making some queer mistakes. One day he was taking a class which was rather disorderly. What with the heat and troublesome boys he was very snappish. Having punished several boys and sent one to the bottom of the class, he at last shouted out in a passion, "Ze whole class go to ze bottom!"

Relatively Speaking.

"He must be put out of the way," said the feudal king. "But, your majesty," protested the lord high executioner, "he is your first cousin." "I know; but I prefer to have him my 'cousin once removed.'"

THE HUMAN STOMACH.

How It Is Overworked by Three Big Daily Meals.

It requires about five hours for the stomach to work on an ordinary meal and pass it out of itself, when it falls into a state of repose; hence if a man eats three times a day his stomach must work fifteen hours out of twenty-four. After a night's sleep we wake up with a certain amount of bodily vigor which is faithfully portioned out to every muscle of the system and every set of muscles, each its rightful share, the stomach among others.

When the external body gets weary after a long day's work, the stomach bears its share of the fatigue, but if when the body is weary with the day's toil we put it to bed, giving the stomach meanwhile a five hours' task which must be performed, we impose upon the very best friend we have—the one that gives us one of the largest amounts of earthly enjoyment—and if this overtaxing is continued it must as certainly [illegible] itself will if it is overworked every day.

And if persons eat between meals then the stomach has no rest from breakfast in the morning until 1, 2, 3 or 4 o'clock next day; hence it is that so many persons have dyspepsia. The stomach is worked so much and so constantly that it becomes too weak to work at all.

Quick Justice at Ascot.

Not only the horses, but the powers of the law, says the London Chronicle, are swift at Ascot, for the course has a special tribunal for the punishment of evildoers. No sooner is the pickpocket, welsher or ticket snatcher arrested than he is standing in a little room in the royal stand, where the evidence is heard and the verdict and sentence pronounced before the offender fully realizes that he is caught. Nowhere else does punishment so swiftly follow crime as at this court, which is decreed by clause 31 of the indictable offenses act of 1848.

This race course tribunal arose curiously in the eighteenth century from an assault upon a royal personage. In his indignation at the impossibility of instant punishment of the assailant he ordered that in future a magistrate should always attend the royal race meeting. This has ever since been done, and by the above mentioned act the chief magistrate of Bow street was constituted ex officio a justice of the peace of the county of Berks in order to enable him to hold this court at Ascot.

Encourage the Happiness Habit.

The art of laughter should surely be cultivated—in fact, all and everything that leads to joy. The wish to be happy, the love of gladness and beauty, is, I am sure, a thing to be desired. Consequently it is worth a little cultivation. Play is as essential a factor in men's lives as work. Philosophers tell us that no man lives his own life until he plays. Work comes from the exigencies of life, from the "musts" of this world, which often push a man along very different paths from those he would choose to travel by from inclination or capacity. Play is, however, his recreation, and here at his leisure time comes out his whole soul, his power of and choice of play, his greater or lesser necessity for it, to recuperate mind and body from the strain of daily work.

Municipal Bridegrooms.

An amusing story is told of the crowning of a rose queen of a country district near Paris. The selected queen, as one of the formalities of awarding their dower, was asked by the mayor for the name of her fiance. "I have none," she replied. Notified that a sweetheart was indispensable, the young lady added timidly, "I thought the municipality provided everything necessary." Straightway a young swain presented himself as an aspirant, and, being as promptly accepted, all things became regular and in order.

Synonymous.

A French gentleman, rescued from a ducking in the river and taken to an adjacent tavern, was advised to drink a tumbler of very hot brandy and water and thus addressed the waiter who was mixing it:

"Sir, I shall thank you not to make it a fortnight."

"A fortnight!" replied Joe. "Hadn't you better take it directly?"

"Oh, yes," said monsieur, "directly, to be sure, but not a fortnight—not two week."

Second Thought.

"Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am very sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife. Yours sincerely, Ethel Barrows." Then she added: "P. S.—On second thoughts, dear George, I think I will marry you. Do come up tonight and see your own true Ethel."

Truth's Echo.

"Good men, you know, are scarce."

"Yes, I know, and even bad men have to make themselves so at times."

The Kadieuo Indians of Paraguay are skilled potters.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

Royalties paid by miners in England average nearly £2 an acre for all the land worked under, and aggregate about five millions a year.

The number of copies of daily newspapers circulated last year in the United States was 2,865,466,000, and of weeklies 1,208,190,000.

DYSPEPSIA AED INDIGESTION.—C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse N.Y., write: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmeless's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr. Charles A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee-s Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these Pills have cured her.

The large manufactures building at the Chicago World's Fair covered 30½ acres, and was the largest ever put up.

The largest ox in the world was bred by Colonel Singerly. It was 12 feet long, and 5 feet 3 inches high. It weighed 3,840 lbs.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.,

Gentlemen—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist badly bitten by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wound had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever. Yours truly,

A. E. ROY.

Carriage Maker, St. Antoine, P.Q.

The price of an artificial leg varies from £16 to £20. The most expensive one belonged to the Marquis of Anglesea, who lost his leg at Waterloo. It cost £80.

Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

The greatest pay a dancer ever received was £1,200 a year for six years paid to Marie Taglioni. But for shorter periods higher pay has been given. Miss Fuller is said to have received £495 in a single week.

London consumes 11 tons of salt a day.

King Chulalonkorn of Siam has 45 other names.

Parents buy Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator because they know it is a safe medicine for their children and an effectual expeller of worms.

Germany issues a steady average of 23,700 new books yearly.

In Hungary the legal age of an individual dates only from baptism.

4,770 miles of thread have been spun out of a single pound of cotton.

The whole British Isles occupy only 1-1600 of the land surface of the globe.

Frog-skin makes the toughest leather known in proportion to its thickness.

An iron shaving has been cut by the Brush Electric Company which is 237 feet long.

In may, 1893, a cod was caught off Flamborough Head containing 59 fish-hooks, all baited.

St. Paul's Cathedral is insured in ten different offices. The amount is about £95,000.

NEWSPAPER OUTFITS

¶ We supply at short notice complete JOB PRINTING AND NEWSPAPER OUTFITS.

¶ We sell what Printers want; Printers want what we sell.

¶ We carry a complete stock of Type and Supplies for the composing Room, Pressroom and Bindery.

TORONTO TYPE FDRY Company, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

THE POSTMASTER

OLD GENTLEMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH.

A Very Interesting Personal Experience Which Contains Some Good Advice for Others Whose Lives May be Threatened.

Lovett, Ont., Sept. 15.—(Special)—Every man, woman and child for miles around knows Mr. C. R. Harries, the genial post-master at Lovett.

Mr. Harries is a hale old gentleman, 75 years of age, and considering his advanced years is remarkably well preserved, strong and healthy.

But he was not always so. Five or six years ago he was at the point of death, being fearfully run down and a complete wreck with Bright's Disease.

He was so low that no one ever dreamt that he could pull through, and yet he is alive and well to-day. This is a statement of the case in Mr. Harries' own words:

"In 1897 I was at the point of death with Bright's Disease, and was a complete wreck. I could not even dress myself or turn in my bed, but now I am a well man, and I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am 75 years old, and for a man of my years I feel quite strong and healthy. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a good medicine to take in the Spring, as I have found it a great blood purifier.

"As postmaster I come in contact with a great many people, and I know of my personal knowledge that a great many in this country are using Dodd's Kidney Pills with the best results."

Such evidence should be most coning to any one who may still doubt that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease.

The honest, earnest, straightforward testimony of such reputable people certainly deserves the confidence of everyone.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills can and do cure Bright's Disease, which is the very worst form of Kidney Trouble, they certainly will cure any of the lesser forms.

Bristol Cathedral was 582 years in building, and Gloucester Cathedral 425. Peterborough and Durham also took over four centuries to complete.

SORE FEET.—Mrs. F. J. Neill, New Armagh, P.Q., writes: "For nearly six months I was troubled with burning aches and pains in my feet to such an extent that I could not sleep at night, and as my feet were badly swollen, I could not wear my boots for weeks. At last I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and resolved to try it and to my astonishment I got almost instant relief, and the one bottle accomplished a perfect cure.

Queen Alexandra owns a pair of opera glasses, made in Vienna, valued at £4,000. They are of platinum, set with diamonds, sapphires, and rubies.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals. Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa. For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy. Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

The longest bridge in the world is the Lion Bridge, over an arm of the Yellow Sea, in China. It is 5½ miles long, and the roadway 70 feet above water.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

The first meerschaum pipe was smoked at Pesth in 1723. It is still in the museum of that town.

An ordinary heart weighs 9 1-3 oz. yet its power is sufficient to raise its weight 20,280 feet in an hour.

Where can I get some of Holloway's Corn Cure? I was entirely cured of my corns by this remedy and I wish some more of it for my friends. So writes Mr. J. W. Brown, Chicago.

Forty-two different occupations have their patron saint. These include pin-makers, spectacle-makers, tax-collectors, wheelwrights, brush-makers and nurses.

Two ladies—Angelica Kaufman and Mrs. Lloyd—have become members of the Royal Academy.

Wilson's Fly Pads

will kill all the flies in a room in a few hours.

Avoid Imitations.

ENTIRELY TOO CLEVER.

Experience of a Doctor in Prescribing For a Patient.

An anonymous physician who has written some "confessions" for the Independent tells this story about himself:

"I received a request to call from an old patient who was afraid she was taking scarlet fever. I responded at once. The patient was one of two elderly sisters whom I had attended for many years. I greeted her in the sitting room and noted her pulse while in the act of shaking hands with her. By some witty remark I contrived to make her laugh, which enabled me to see her tongue. Then I said in a playful tone: 'If you will get me a glass I will treat you to some of my patent soda water.' She did so. I put a tablet in the water and she drank it.

"I want you to know that I take pride in my original methods. I try to educate my patients to like, and not to dread, the visits of the doctor. In this case all of my work had been done without the direct knowledge of the patient and I felt very good over it. So I bade my patient goodby with extreme cheerfulness.

"She looked surprised, and then said: 'Of course you will come upstairs and see my sister?' 'Not today,' I said. 'Give her my respects.' 'Why,' she said, looking mystified and startled, 'how strangely you talk' 'Strangely?' I echoed. 'Why?' 'Because I sent for you to prescribe for my sister and you decline to see her.' It flashed over my mind in an instant. I had prescribed for the wrong sister. I was entirely too clever."

Where Smoking Is a Sin.

Palgrave, in his interesting book describing his journey to the sacred city of Mecca, gives an amusing account of his conversation with a mollah.

On asking the reverend gentleman which he considered the most deadly of all sins the holy man replied:

"Smoking the shameful."

"And next, O son of the prophet?"

"Drinking."

"Are these the two greatest sins, father?"

"Verily, my son."

"And murder?"

"Ah, that's nothing—nothing. It's forgivable."

"And stealing?"

"Ah, that's forgivable too."

"But smoking?"

"It is the unforgivable crime," replied the mollah sternly and looking keenly at the fictitious Mohammedan.

And this is the Afghan's creed. Murder and theft are forgivable crimes, but for smoking and drinking there is no redemption.

The Man With the Fiddle.

The little old man fiddled very hard as he stood near the curbstone in Twenty-third street. The passersby looked at him curiously. Some of them smiled. No one gave him a penny. Presently he was seen to totter and then to fall, but he kept on fiddling just the same, even when he lay prone upon his back. A man helped him to his feet. He never missed a note. A little boy who had been regarding him with keen interest went up to him Suddenly the bow hung poised and motionless. The little old man had run down. The boy bought him for a quarter, however. The vender showed him how to start the fiddle up again, and the two went off together, happy and contented.

Unconvinced.

A Presbyterian preacher in the central part of New York state tells this story on himself:

"It was Sunday morning, and I had started for church. The family were preparing to follow when the youngest, a five-year-old, protested, "I do not want to go to church."

"'I don't feel much like it myself Fred, this morning,' replied his mother, 'but we must go. Father has to go—has gone already, and he has to preach.'

"'Yes,' said Fred, unconvinced, 'but we have to listen, and that's worser.'"

How Do You Make a Circle?

The intelligence of people may be gauged by asking them to make a circle on paper with a pencil and noting in which direction the hand is moved. The good student in a mathematical class draws circles from left to right. The inferiority of the softer sex, as well as the male dunces, is shown by their drawing from right to left. Asylum patients do the same.—London Family Doctor.

The Suit.

Lawyer (to timid young woman)—Have you ever appeared as witness in a suit before?

Young Woman (blushing)—Y-yes, sir; of course.

Lawyer—Please state to the jury just what suit it was.

Young Woman (with more confidence)—It was nun's veiling, shirred down the front and trimmed with a lovely blue, with hat to match—

The Largest Insect.

The stick insect of Borneo, the largest insect known, is sometimes thirteen inches long. It is wingless, but some species of stick insects have beautiful colored wings that fold like fans.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie's Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

Some advertisements should be taken with a grain of salt—Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea needs only cream and sugar.

TRY OUR

KING EDWARD

Parlor Matches

The E. B. Eddy Co. Limited. Hull, Canada.

The latest and Finest Brand yet made.

GOLD STANDARD TEA

Is a blend of choicest INDIAN and CEYLON. Unequalled for PURITY & STRENGTH

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS—— $15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

PERSONAL.

Matrimony—(view to.) Gentlemen should join the British Correspondence Bureau, 154 Ebury Street, London, S. W. England. Particulars free.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

O'SULLIVAN Business College.

Opp. City Hall, Winnipeg, Man.

Call or write for prospectus E. J. O'Sullivan C.E., M.A., President. Branches at Brandon and Portage la Prairie.

Sixty-five years ago Paris had only one postoffice.

The Vatican has 8 grand staircases, and 200 smaller ones.

Monkey Brand Soap removes all stains, rust, dirt or tarnish—but won't wash clothes.

The Severn Tunnel lies 45 feet to 100 feet below the bed of the river.

Farringdon Street is the widest thoroughfare in the City of London.

Perpetual Motion.

When George Stephenson was asked, "Do you believe in perpetual motion?" he replied, "Yes, if you lift yourself by the waist-band of the trousers, and carry yourself three times round the room."

Just so, and a woman would just as soon believe that she has not to pay dearly for common premium soaps, in the low quality of soap, in ruined hands and clothes. She would be kept in perpetual motion trying to do with common soap what she could so easily do with Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. 216

CHEER UP OLD SPORT

Don't flatter yourself that your high forehead is the attraction. Its the lovely aroma from that LUCINA Cigar we are after.

MANUFACTURED BY

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

W. N. U. No. 394.

In a vessel varnished inside with shellac, water may be heated to 8 degrees above the ordinary boiling point, which is 212 degrees Farhenheit.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

The feathers of the mirasol, an Argentine bird, are worth £220 per pound—five times the price of the most perfect ostrich plumes.

Japan has 255 people to the square mile; China—usually considered the most densely populated country in the East—has only 236.

You need not cough all night and disturb your friends; there is no occasion for you running the risk of contracting inflammation of the lungs or consumption, while you can get Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine cures coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all throat and chest troubles. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which immediately relieves the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm.

The Yorkshire County Cricket club was founded in 1863. Gloucester's cricket club did not come into existence until 1870.

Of the ten open-air pulpits in the Old Country, the most famous is that at Magdalen College, Oxford. It was built in 1480.

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

SANITARY WORK.

NOTICE

Any person having any sanitary work to do, or any garbage to be removed should apply to

NAPOLEON GAREAU,
At the Alberta Hotel.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described lands, situate on the west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district commencing at a post marked D. J. Johnson's north west corner, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's north east corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

D. J. JOHNSON.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a stake planted about five feet west of A. E. Jackson's post E. timber license, about one mile west of the west bank of Elk river, thence running south 40 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains. thence running south 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 27th day of August.

M. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk river, about 21 miles north of mouth of Michel Creek, marked C. J. Digby's south-east corner, thence following the said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

C. J. DIGBY.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked J. G. Coward's south-east corner and about 40 chains north of C. J. Digby's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

J. G. COWARD.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked F. Robins' south-east corner, near J. G Coward's north-east corner post, thence following said bank nortnerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains. thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

F. ROBINS.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of L. A. Davis' timber limit and one mile north of McDougall and Procters timber limit, about three miles from Elk river and about five miles from Fernie, along side Hartley trail, thence running east 40 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 13th day of August. 1902.

A. K. PAULSON.

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

1914 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

FROM A LABOR STANDPOINT.

Last week we printed an article showing the operators' side of the labor problem. In this issue we give Mr. Mitchell's side of the question, as published in the last issue of Collier's Weekly.

On the 8th day of May, four days before the strike was ordered, I sent a proposition to the presidents of the coal railroads, including President Baes, of the Philadelphia & Reading, President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, President Olyphant of the Delaware & Huron and Mr. Thomas of the Erie, together with a note of explanation to Senator Hanna, as chairman of the Industrial Branch of the National Civic Federation. In this document I offered to submit our cause to a committee of Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Potter and one other person whom these two might select.

The proposition was not accepted; nor was it ever given to the press in the exact form in which I submitted it. I give it here in full for the first time, to show the public that there need never have been a strike, that the widespread disturbance to trade and general business could have been averted, and that the resulting loss of millions of dollars was not at all necessary.

My proposition on behalf of the United Mine Workers of America, was as follows:

"Conscious of the disastrous effects upon mine workers, mine operators and the public in general which would result from a prolonged suspension of work in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, and with the earnest desire and hope of averting the impending calamity, the representatives of the anthracite mine workers have authorized us to submit the following propositions:

"First—Inasmuch as the anthracite mine operators have proposed to continue the present wage scale for one year, and inasmuch as the anthracite mine workers have unanimously resolved to ask that an increase of twenty per cent should be paid on present prices to all men performing contract work, that eight hours should constitute a day's labor for all persons employed by the hour, day or week, with out any reduction in their present wage rate, and that coal should be weighed and paid for by weight wherever practicable; and inasmuch aa in our recent conference the anthracite mine workers and mine operators have failed to reach an agreement upon any of the questions at issue, we propose that the Industrial Branch of the National Civic Federation select a committee of five persons to arbitrate and decide all or any of the questions in dispute, the award of such board of arbitration to be binding upon both parties and effective for a period of one year.

"Second—Should the above proposition be unacceptable to you, we propose that a committee composed of Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Potter and one other person whom these two may select be authorized to make an investigation into the wages and conditions of employment existing in the anthracite field, and if they decide that the average annual wages received by anthracite mine workers are sufficient to enable them to live, maintain and educate their families in a manner conformable to establish. American standards and consistent with American citizenship, we agree to withdraw our claims for higher wages and more equitable conditions of employment, provided that the anthracite mine operators agree to comply with any recommendations the above committee may make affecting the earnings and conditions of labor of their employees."

An immediate reply was solicited, but the only response we received was an informal intimation that there was "nothing to arbitrate."

WAR TO THE DEATH AND NO QUARTER

After waiting four days for the coal operators to consider the matter carefully, I ordered a temporary strike on May 12- At the same time I called upon the miners to meet in convention on May 14, in order that they themselves might cast a vote which would represent the wishes of a majority of the workers. They unanimously elected to go on permanent strike.

"We are prepared to continue this industrial war indefinitely." Such is the declared attitude of the officials of both sides of the conflict in this the fifth month of the strike of the anthracite coal miners. Evidently, the mine owners believe they can starve the mine workers into submission and destroy our organization. We doubt this. The miners on strike are, in a material sense, not much worse off than the miners at work under the conditions that prevailed at the time they walked out—a statement which I propose to prove in this article by giving the plain facts.

It is well to pause a moment to emphasize the fact that an innocent victim is involved, namely, the public. Of all coal strikes, the present contest ranks as the most protracted. Moreover, the wages, mining operations and coal hauling alone the loss at the end of August is estimated at more than twenty million dollars. If the loss to manufacturers and in the general business world, and in all branches of commerce which are dependent on a large supply of coal, be added, it is probable that the loss to date will aggregate more than one hundred million dollars. This loss falls equally upon the manufacturer, the middleman and the consumer, the landlord and the tenant, the capitalist and the clerk. In other words, the greatest sufferers are the people.

So serious has the situation become that it is the opinion of all classes that the strike must end. It is inconceivable that the American people will much longer tolerate a state of things that means continued disturbance of business; a prohibitive price for anthracite, which is a necessity of life, the poisoning of the air with the smoke of the soft coal; and general suffering for persons high and low in all communities and in every commonwealth.

What, then, is to be done?

Obviously, since the mine owners will neither yield a single point to the miners nor submit to arbitration, the only way this disastrous contest can be ended is through the mediation of the people. It is not difficult, therefore, for me to foresee that public opinion will surely be brought to bear upon that side to the conflict which has hitherto refused to listen

Continued on Supplement.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon afterward as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Levis' north-east corner post, adjoining David Tracy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN LEVIS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of the Elk river, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

CHAS. J. BULGER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked Peter VanDusen's south-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1901.

PETER VANDUSEN.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of Elk river on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. R. Stevens' north-east corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

J. R. STEVENS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked David Tracy's north-west corner post, adjoining Geo. McClincy's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

DAVID TRACY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about four miles in as southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked August Baldauf's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D. Quail's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

AUGUST BALDAUF.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range. Commencing at a post marked George McClincy's north-west corner post, adjoining August Baldauf's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains. thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

GEORGE MCCLINCY.

Wanted.

A first class blacksmith with helper, can secure steady employment with good wages, at the Morrissey Mines of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company.

T. R. Stockett, Jr.
General Superintendant.

Fernie, B. C. Sept. 20th, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District, B.C., commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.
Dated the 8th day of September 1902.

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River about 38 mile north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains west, thence forty chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence eighty (80) chains north, thence sixty chains east, thence 160 chains south to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

D. A. MCRAE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west side of the Elk River about six miles north of Andrew Thomson's initial post, forty chains west, thence one hundred and sixty chains north, thence forty chains east, thence one hundred and sixty chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

J. H. BRICKER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for special license to cut and carry awy timber on the following lands:

Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, 45 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty chains west, thence 40 chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence 140 chains north, thence 40 chains east, thence 180 chains south following the Elk River to point of commencement, containing 630 acres more or less.

ANDREW THOMSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber of the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk river, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel creek, one hundred and sixty (160) chains south following the bank of the Elk river, thence forty (40) chains west, thence one hundred and sixty (160) chains north, thence forty (40) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B. C., 29th of August, 1902.

SAUL BONNELL.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post on the west bank of the Elk River, about 44 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, forty (40) chains north, thence (20) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains south, thence forty (40) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains north, thence forty (40) chains west, thence eighty (80) chains south thence eighty (80) chains east, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

JAS. A. RENNIE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted about 44 miles from the mouth of Michel Creek on the west bank of the Elk river, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred (100) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred and twenty (120) chains east, thence eighty (80) chains north to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.

G. G. JEWELL.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum, on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk River, near the new town at Morrissey, East Kootenay, commencing at a post marked William Senkbeil's south-east corner post, close to D. McKenzie's north east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

WILLIAM SENKBEIL.

Dated August 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, about one mile south of the mouth of Michel Creek, west 10 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 10 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 80 acres, more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.

A. H. CREE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, situate on west side of Elk river, near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay district, commencing at a post marked John Janiesch's south west corner post, standing close to Daniel McKenzie's north east corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

JOHN JANIESCH.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for petroleum on the following described land, on west side of Elk River, north of and near the new town of Morrissey, East Kootenay District, commencing at a post marked Daniel McKenzie's north east corner, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to to place of commencement.

DANIEL McKENZIE.

Dated Aug. 25th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Derr's south east corner post, adjoining J. R. Stevens north-east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN DERR

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

FIRE! FIRE!

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

Notice.

Having disposed of our business in Fernie we have appointed F. J. Watson to collect our accounts.

Hill & Dill Co. Ltd.

Fernie Free Press

Vol. VIII. SUPPLEMENT. No. 194.

FROM A LABOR STANDPOINT.

Continued from Page 8.

to every suggestion looking to arbitration.

Upon every public-spirited citizen whose standing gives him influence devolves the duty of exerting himself in the interests of the general welfare. Such citizens might organize, form committee; and then, either through personal visits to the presidents of the coal mining companies, or through the Civic Federation, but more particularly through the medium of the press, let it be known that the community has rights which no member of it may ignore without ranking himself as a public enemy. One sido or the other, in this coal war, must in time yield to public opinion. And it will be the side which by common consent, after thorough investigation, is deemed in the wrong.

It has been suggested that the State of Pennsylvania, or even the Federal government, might take possession of the mines and work them. But with such action would enter politics; and politicians will give long pause before taking such a step, refusing to act until the situation becomes absolutely intolerable.

I have had my attention called several times to the Losch compulsory arbitration law. I have been conversant with the details of this law for some tsme past, but have never considered the idea of instituting legal proceedings to compel the mine owners to submit to arbitration. For there is nothing in the law that says the operators or miners must accept the awards of the arbitrators; hence there is nothing in the law to bring about the desired results.

"NOTHING TO ARBITRATE"

Every delay and precaution, every conceivable conciliatory effort that honorable and conservative men could take to avert a rupture, and every means that thought could suggest to bring the matter in dispute to arbitration was resorted to by the union, as above mentioned, before the strike order was issned. Similar overtures have peen made from time to time since the strike order went went into effect, but without avail. The invariable reply of the coal magnates, I repeat, is that there is nothing to arbitrate—and what is there behind this statement? Is not such a declaration equivalent to saying that the coal mine workers have made unreasonable demands and have struck without real or sufficient cause?

The best reply I can give to this is a simple statement ot the facts which for more than twenty-five years have characterized operations in the anthracite coal regions, during which time the coal mine workers of Pennsylvania, especially, have chafed and groaned under the most intolerable and inhumane conditions of employment.

Let us take the issue that must be reconciled, point by point.

The miners ask, first, that the working day for all those who work on a time arrangement shall consist of eight hours with the same wages that are now paid for ten hours work; second, that the minrs who work on a contract, or piece-work, arrangement shall receive an advance of twenty per cent. in the contract price now paid for mining coal.

On these points the operators contend that there is no possible scale that would apply to all anthracite coal mines, as each one is a problem in itself and subject, therefore, to an individual scale of wages.

In regard to this particular contention of the operators, every miner knows that while the general operations in one mine may differ from those in another, the actual individual work of the men is practically the same in all mines. That is to say, the men who drive mules or set timber or take up rock in one, are doing a work that is no harder nor no easier in any other mine. It is therefore obvious that a scale of wages for a similar work in all mines is possible.

Meantime, what about the wages which the men receive in the two great branches of coal mining? In the bituminous regions the men are paid two dollars and ten cents for eight hours' work or twenty-six and one-quarter cents per hour. For similar work in the anthracite mines the workers receive only from thirteen to sixteen cents per hour.

It is a fact that the average annual earn ings of the anthracite miners have been less than those of any other class of workmen in the United States, notwithstanding the fact that their work is more hazardous and the cost of living greater than in any other important American industry. The total number of persons employed in and around the anthracite coal mines may be given in round numbers at about 150,000. They are employed never to exceed 200 days in any one year, and receive as compensation for their services an average of $1.42 for a ten-hour work day. It will thus be noted that they earn annually less then $300.

Such pay may supply a living on a par with some classes of European laborers, but who will contend that it is sufficient ta support American citizenship or enable parents to educate and properly maintain their families? True it is, that a ten per cent increase in wages was granted by the coal operators as a strike concession in 1900; but it is also true that a large portion of this ten per cent was paid back to the companies to buy the suppression of an old powder grievance. Moreover, according to the commercial agencies, the cost of living has increased, particularly in the purchase of foodstuffs, from thirty to forty per cent. Hence the purchasing power of a miner's earnings is less to-day than before the strike of two years ago.

As a result of these conditions, the third issue which the miners ask to be reconciled is: That a minimum wage scale for day laborers at the mines shall be established similar to the scale that exists in the bituminous fields. It should be noticed that we do not ask for a uniform scale, which would place a premium on mediocrity and act as a check upon men of superior ability. In asking for a minimum wage we merely desire that the lowest wage paid to any man shall be sufficient for him to support himself and family as a citizen. This does not prevent men of ability from receiving higher wages, according to their work and worth.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bootled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

Jarvis Keeps The Best

GROCERIES

Canned Fish

Canned Meats

Canned Fruits

Canned vegetables

All kinds of Teas

Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

J. F. Jarvis

PREST, The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction gnaranteed.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Lib. Legislative Asst. Dec 31 1901

150

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. ~~12~~. 13 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 195

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - B.C.

Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER

Herchmer & Herchmer

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...

Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A. H. CREE RealEstate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN

ON VALUABLES

The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.

Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison

Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of

Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

THE NEW POLICY.

It cannot be denied that the most central figure in federal politics to-day is J. Israel Tarte, the energetic minister of public works. He has set the people of Canada talking from one end of the Dominion to the other, and the air is full of signs that there is coming off in Ottawa a heart-to-heart talk among the ministers, and that very shortly, in order that they may know where they are to get off. The new gospel of the man who administers the great spending department has disconcerted his colleagues, and they are puzzled whether to throw to the winds their time—worm political traditions—which belly out so full in their platforms—and come out frankly as opportunists, or to throw over Tarte with the political heresies they have so often denounced, and ride for a fall without him.

Tarte's greatest offence appears to be that of calling things by their proper names. He gets the policy of the Laurier government down as a protectionist policy and frankly calls himself a protectionist whereas his colleagues give their countenance to a policy of protection and call themselves free traders. This is the cause of all the bitterness that has been engendered during the past two weeks. Tarte is simply calling for a little more of the same. To foster Canadian industry he asks for large expenditures for the betterment of transportation, and for a higher tariff which shall shut out the produce and manufactures of the United States. He has made a circuit of the great Canadian waterways and he has found the people, who would be directly benefitted, willing to accept the largest he would distribute under the head of canal expenditure. He has had a number of conferences with the members of the Manufacturers Association and has found them ready to embrace his policy of a Canadian tarriff. This surely should be sufficient justification for the minister of public works to launch his revised gospel and he has done so, but for this he has called down on his head the censure of the hypocritical grit journals which for years preached free trade while in opposition and in the end became opportunists with the men whose political fortunes they had championed

Just how matters will shape out when the premier returns to his post is a development which the future holds to reveal, but it may be accepted that they will be determined with a view to the effect upon the political fortunes of the men who will pass upon them rather than with any regard to the effect upon the country. Those who for the time are in opposition to Tarte have a great deal to say upon the folly of allowing the Manufacturers Association to frame the country's tariff, and to give form to its patriotism, but it does not by any means follow that they will not accept the terms if Tarte is strong enough to impose them.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Wm. Blakemore, who was in town last week, left for the Similkameen country on Monday morning. Before his departure he received a dispatch from his manager Mr P. A. Raymond dated Princeton 13th inst, stating that the boring had passed through two good seams of coal. The first seam being six feet thick and the second four feet thick. The borehole is now down 900 feet.

This will be good news for the shareholders of the Ashnola Coal Co. on whose property the discovery has been made by Mr. Blakemore when he reported on the property last year that workable coal would be found at about 1,000 feet.

The boring operation commenced in May last under the local management of Mr. Raymond operating a plant supplied by the Sullivan Machinery Co. A first hole was put down about 400 feet and temporarily abandoned. A second one was started in July with the above result making 1,300 feet of boring in four months in very difficult ground—a good record. It is Mr. Blakemore's intention to bore the present hole to a depth of 1,500 feet to cut a lower zone of coal measures.

The stock of the Ashnola Coal Co. is held principally in Toronto the Hon. Geo E. Foster being President and Mr. I. W. St. John, M.P., Vice President.

DEATH OF MR. T. C. THOMPSON.

Again the grim reaper has been busy in our midst, and the whole community mourns with the sorrowing widow and child and relatives in the sad death of Mr. T. C. Thompson.

Some weeks ago he was seized with an attack of typhoid fever. At the same time, Howard, the only child, was overtaken by the same malady. By request of Mr. Thompson, both were taken to the Hospital for treatment. For a while the fever ran its course and all promised well. But the strain of the past few months upon Mr. Thompson owing to the disaster at the mines had told upon a constitution otherwise strong, and complications set in which caused intense anxiety amongst his many friends. His mother jurneyed from Totonto, and with his sorrowing wife was in constant attendance upon or near him. Twice before he died it seemed the end had come, and finally, on Monday about 4:50 a. m. he succumbed. The Rev. C. W. Houghton and Dr. Bonnell were in attendence at the time of his decease.

The funeral service was arranged for Wednesday and on that day the Rev C. W. Houghton held a short service at the house, followed by a full choral service at the church, of which the deceased was an officer. The sacred edifice was crowded to the doors by sorrowing friends anxious to pay their last respects to one whose many fine qualities will make him long remembered.

Mr. T. C. Thompson came to Fernie in the early stages of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's work here. Other officials came and went during his term of office as Accountant and Land Commissioner, but he seemed part of the place and his pleasent sunny disposition helped the Company in more ways than the directors or shareholders realize. He was a faithful servant, too faithful perhaps in some respects, for had he spared himself more in serving the Company doubtless he had been with us yet

The Masonic Order, of which he was a charter member, were out in full force to do honor to their departed brother. Many floral tribntes, of beautiful design were sent. The remains were taken to Toronto in charge of George Thompson, a brother of the deceased.

We are pleased to note that little Howard, though still very weak, is progressing favorably and if this continues may be taken home in a few days.

WILL THERE BE TROUBLE.

The sixth of October will be the day on which the members of Gladstone Miners' Union will finally accept or reject the settlement of the recent strike on the eight hour and a half basis. The question is being discussed on all sides and those who depend upon the success of the Coal Creek mines for their living, will watch the result with keen interest. The miner's themselves, from what we can learn, seem to be divided upon the question. In the past two months those working in No. 1 tunnel have been supplied with all the cars they require and have made a good wage as a result. If the present car service continues to be kept up the general opinion seems to be that the men will accept the 8½ hours shift. A large number of the miners, however, are of the opinion that as No. 2 and 3 mines resume their full output the good car service will be weakened. General manager Tonkin assures the men that he intends to take all the coal from them that they can dig.

Get on the List.

If your name is not on the voters' list now is the time to get in your application. Applications will be received until Monday next the 29th inst. The court of revision will be held on the first Monday in November. Application forms can be secured from Chief Forbes.

Mr. Ellis Thompson, of the engineering staff of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., left for his home in Toronto this week.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

New York, Sept. 26—Much comment is heard, says a Rome despatch to The Tribune, over the fact that Sir Wilfred Laurier, premier of Canada, after having manifested his intention to come to some agreement with the government on two questions—that of the Italians emigrating to Canada and the importation of Italian goods into Canada—went away suddenly after a private audience with the Pope seeing none of the Italian authorities.

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—No disturbances of mention on account of the strike were recorded to-day. There was a small riot at Centralia, in the southern end of Columbia county, where some strikers attacked non-union men who were on their way to the mine, and Sheriff Kerr asked Governor Stone to send troops to quell the disturbance. Thus far no troops have been sent. In the Lackawanna & Wyoming regions universal quiet prevaled and the soldiers were not called upon to suppress any disorder, while at Forrest City, Susquehanna County, the extreme northern end of the anthracite coal belt the presence of the soldiers has had the effect of aweing the rioters at Lebanon where the employees of the American Iron and Steel Co. have been fighting against importation of the colored laborers. There is a likelihood that all differences will be settled and the men shortly returned to work.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFAIR.

A Slav Christening Ends in a Free Fight. Victim in the Hospital.

There was a very serious stabbing affair in the old town last Sunday night, which created intense excitemnet for some time. It was at a christening at the home of Joe Sangalla that the row took place. A large number of foreigners of different nationality had assembled to do honor to the occasion and intoxicants flowed quite freely. As the evening wore on the crowd got pretty well filled up and a row commenced. The disputants were hastily hustled outside where from all reports a general fight took place. A Slavonian named Andrew Palko, who had been handled rather roughly lost all control of himself and wiping out a knife sprang upon John Moravich and stabbed him twice in the back. At least this is the crime for which he is now awaiting trial. The screams of the injured man could be heard all over town, and a large crowd quickly assembled. The Slav was arrested and the injured man taken down to the Northern hotel The wounds, upon the examination of Dr. Higgins, proved to be quite serious, and he was taken to the hospital Monday morning. The case came up in the Police Court several times this week, but was adjourned owing to the principal witness, the victim, not being able to appear.

A stone foundation is being put under he hospital this week.

Miss. Lou Farquharson returned this week from visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Crane, of Cowley, Alberta.

A quadrille club has been organized at Michel. The first dance of the season was held in the hall last evening when an enjoyable time was spent.

The lacrosse club contemplate giving a ball in the near future to raise sufficient money to defray the expenses of the past season.

The partnership heretofore known as Joseph Bean & Sons has been dissolved. The business in future will be carried on by John and Percival Bean under the firm name of Bean Bros.

H. W. Barnes is the first applicant for an hotel license on the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company's new townsite at Morrissey, B.C. In all probability their will be another rush for licenses next week similar to the one which took place on the opening of Foss & McDonnell's townsite.

Rev. A. Dunn leaves for the east today. He is going to New Jersey where he will take a post-graduate course in divinity at Princeton University. Before leaving Morrissey Mr. Dunn was presented with a well-filled purse as a small token of the respect of his many friends in that town.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Thos. Crahan, agent for the Morrissey townsite, was in Fernie yesterday.

R. J. Black, left on Saturday evening for Fergus, Ont., where he will visit for the next six weeks

Constable Sampson has resigned from the force and Mr A. K. Farquharson has been again put on the force as jailer.

Mr. H. A. Kanouse has commenced business in the Hill & Dill property. The present building has been fitted up temporarily.

The Government sale of town lots in the new Morrissey townsite took place on Thursday. Five or six lots were sold, all of which brought good prices.

Mr. T. Graham, formerly station agent at Fernie, but now residing in Montreal, was in town several days this week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Graham.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company are surveying a new townsite about half a mile below the mines. They expect to put the lots on the market in a course of a couple of weeks.

R. A. McMordie, of Grand Forks, B.C. has been engaged as principal for the public school here. Mr. McMordie comes very highly recommended and will doubtless give good satisfaction.

Mr. Robt. Macdonald who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the hospital here, was removed to his home at the mines on Wednesday last. Mrs. Macdonald wishes to thank, Drs. Ker, Corsan and Bonnell, also the nurses, for their kind attention.

Some excitement has been caused among local sportsmen by the appearance of a mountain lion on the road between town and the Fernie Improvement Co's mill. The animal, which is reported to be a large one, has been seen by several parties.

The pay on Saturday last, although only a small one, has done much towords relieving the hard times from which the town has been suffering for some months now and the business men of the town generally, feel that they can look forward to better things for the future.

Messrs. H. W. Barnes and J. L. Gates have sold out their interest in their Morrissey Hotel to Eugene Walter. Mr. Barnes will assume the management of the Victoria Hotel here in the near future. He expects to have the building re-modelled and put in first-class shape.

The Rev. F. W. K. Harris, of Michel, will preach morning and evening in the Presbyterian church on Sabbath the 28th. Being childern's day a special service will be held for the Sabbath School at 2.30. An address "Our Sabbath Schools" will be given by Mr. Harris. All are cordially invited to attend these services. All pews are free.

Mr. Hugh Gilmour, M.P.P. for Vancouver, was in town several days this week on business. During his stay here he was made conversant with the facts of the dismissal of A. K. Farquharson from the police force. Whether he used his influence in connection with the matter or not, it is difficult to say, but it is a significant fact that Mr. Farquharson is again on the force.

BORN

FRY—In Fernie, on Friday, 19th inst., the wife of Wm. Fry, of a daughter.

HOLMES—In Fernie, on the 23rd inst., the wife of J. Holmes, of a daughter.

WANTED

3500 R. R. Ties for narrow guage track, size 6 ft. long by 6 inches thick and 5 inches face.

Tenders for same [stating kind of timber, price and earliest delivery] delivered on cars or along side of railroad tracks, will be received by The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Ltd., addressed to the undersigned. Right to reject any or all tenders reserved. THOS. R. STOCKETT, JR.

Fernie, Sep. 27, '02. General Superintendent.

Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Joseph Bean, John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.

The bnsiness will in future be carried on by John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean, under the firm name of Bean Bros.

(Signed) Joseph Bean
John Stephen Bean
195-3 Percival Bean

Dated at Fernie, 20th day of Sept. 1902.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"You'll be mad with us, I guess, Mr. Wood, for this rough handling," he began, slowly revolving an unlighted cigar between his lips; "but we've got our reasons, and they're good—to us, anyhow. I may first observe that you are in our power, and that we can do what we like with you."

"Pshaw! The first ship passing, liner or man-of-war, will set me free," I cried contemptuously.

"That's so, if you could communicate; but we shall prevent that, I reckon, by keeping you below, unless you swear to do no such thing."

"What do you want of me? Money, I suppose? Well—I'll pay anything in reason."

"Now you're talking. That's the caper; only I take it we shall pretty well help ourselves. The scheme, as we've figured it, and I don't mind telling you, is to keep you—right here, in this same hooker at sea—while the rest of us dip down into your dollars. We've a better right than you to your misgotten fortune."

"Nonsense. What can you do without my signature?"

"We've got it, young squire, or a first class imitation of it. That was managed long ago."

"There will be a heavy reckoning for you all—ail, Lawford, you understand?"

The poor wretch looked down, but said nothing. "Guess we can take care of ourselves; anyway, that's our business. Yours is to consider whether you want to be kept a close prisoner down here. It will be mighty unpleasant in a few weeks' time, I calculate. Mayhap you'll think better of it, Mr. Wood, tomorrow or next day. Meanwhile your comfort will not be forgotten. Lysander here is an excellent valet. You will prepare a bath for Mr. Wood"—

"Yes, Colonel McQuahe," replied the mulatto.

"Get him some clean clothes"—

"Yes, Colonel McQuahe."

"And jest wait on him closely, punctually, d'ye see? Never let him out of your sight unless he is here in this cabin under close lock and key."

"Yes, Colonel McQuahe."

I found to my surprise a portmanteau, one of my own, with shirt, linen and one or two suits of dittoes, had been put into my cabin. As I was still in evening dress, that which I had worn on the night of my capture, I was glad enough to change. Before I threw off my clothes I felt in all my pockets and found my watch and my purse. Nothing was missing except a small wallet which I always carried and in which I had placed the letter from the New York lawyers announcing my accession of fortune. No doubt it had been removed for some evil purpose, part of the general scheme of fraud.

"We've no wish to keep you here below the whole voyage."

I could find no fault with the mulatto Lysander except that he was too attentive. His care was that of a keeper or jailer, tempered with the devotion of a personal body servant. He shaved me very skillfully, helped me into my clean clothes, made my bed, tidied my cabing and brought me what I stood most in need of, a hot and sufficient meal.

Save for one ever haunting, tormenting uncertainty, I could afford to bide my time; I might possess my soul in patience, fairly confident that the right would come right in the end.

But what of Frida? When should I see her again? To win her and be parted from her all within a few short hours—it was hard measure, indeed. And how would she take my disappearance? Would she be grieved, annoyed, suspicious—what?

These last rather anxious speculations were broken in on by the appearance of Lysander, my laconic jailer, who brought me a cup of hot coffee, with the brief words—"Breakfast, boss."

He was presently followed by Colonel McQuahe and Lawford. They both inquired most affectionally after my health. Had I slept well, was the food to my taste, the boy attentive?—all as pat as though they were my hosts and we were the best of friends imaginable.

"Say now, Mr. Wood," went on McQuahe, "I dew hope you'll change your decision of yesterday. It was ill considered—yes, sir, you may take that from me. See, we've no wish to keep you here below the whole voyage—mayhap a tarnation long voyage—but we can't let you go on deck unless you promise"—

"What?"

"Jest this. You must promise not to try and communicate with any hooker that may approach us, neither by waving, shouting, or otherwise signaling. Also, never to speak to any soul on board but our three selves; never to signal or make signs to the captain or any man jack of the crew—not that it would help you any, for they believe you to be sick mentally, a lunatic with disordered senses, brought to sea for his health. We two are the doctors, Lysander here is attendant and keeper. Will you give us your word of honor as a gentleman"—

"To gentlemen?" I interjected, and the irony was not lost on Lawford, whose red face grew redder.

"As man to man," corrected McQuahe. "I calculate that's good enough. And don't raise our dander, or you may hurt yourself."

"I will promise," I said, "but conditionally. I claim to withdraw from it when it suits me, when and how I please."

"As how?"

"If I find that I am fairly treated, if circumstances alter, if"—

"You see a chance of making your escape! Waal, sir, when that time comes we shall take the gloves off, and you will feel our fists."

It was a splendid day on deck, bright sun, a brisk air freshening off the sparkling sea. We were under full canvas—she was a schooner yacht—and doing a good ten knots, I imagined, down channel. I judged the direction of our course by the position of the sun, the movement of the shipping and steamers going both ways, yet more by the blue line on either bow.

I have called our vessel a yacht, her name the Fleur-de-Lis, as I saw it marked on the life belts, brass work and compass box; a yacht, as was evident from her fittings, the clear deck fore and aft, the abundant brass work, the absence of hamper, the fairly white sails. But she was not particularly shipshape, not as spick and span, as scrupulously clean, as if her owner was on board; her crew were seemingly a scratch lot, not true yachtsmen, and the skipper, although alert and sailorlike, was in a shabby suit, not the regulation blue cloth and brass buttons.

Then they arranged me in my chair, with quite tender solicitude, I admit, but that was part of the play; gave me books and a pipe and left me, but not to myself. Two of the three were always at my elbow or held me constantly in sight. I was close guarded, but I hardly minded it, for a sort of dreamy, luxurious lassitude overcame me, the reaction, no doubt, from so many emotions, and I dozed on and off pretty well all that day, Thursday. I awoke next morning between 6 and 7, feeling fresh and fit, and would gladly have turned out to enjoy the invigorating air on deck. But no one came for a long time, although I rang and called and clapped my hands. When, after a time, Lysander appeared, he wore a discontented, saturnine look on his dark, ugly face and went on with his valeting sullenly and silently till he left me. By and by Lawford came in, anxious and perturbed, as I could see by his face and manner.

"What's amiss, Lawford? Have your sins found you out? The hangman might be aboard, to say nothing of the police."

"They're in sight anyway," he said in a low whisper. Then, checking my exclamation of delight, he added impressively, "H-sh, man, h-sh, or you'll spoil all."

There was evidently a sudden change in the situation. Lawford had come, no doubt, to temporize and treat, and I snatched at the opportunity, forestalling him in what he intended to say.

"Listen, Lawford! You've behaved scurvily enough to me, but I'll forgive you and pay you £1,000 to come over to my side.

"H-sh, man! Do be careful. It's as much as your life is worth or mine if McQuahe should hear you. You must not be in a hurry. There may be some mistake. She may not be really after us."

"She? What is it you mean? Go on, in the name of goodness."

"A steam tug is in chase. We sighted her at daylight steering our course, and we cannot shake her off. We have shifted our helm twice; so has she. Now McQuahe is bearing down on the French coast, where, of course, nothing English can touch us."

"But I shall appeal to the French authorities."

"Not if they keep you locked up here. That's what McQuahe will do. It's all he wants to do—keep you out of the way while the rest of us fill our pockets with your dollars on the other side. It's all arranged and squared. They leave Southampton in the Chattahoochee on Sunday, and the game is to sweep up everything before you can show a hand."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Bay Rum.

Nine-tenths of the stuff used as bay rum in New York and other places is not bay rum at all, but a mixture of the essential oil of bay with common rum or alcohol.

Are you going to start a Newspaper?

¶ Then write to us for prices and terms upon TYPE, MATERIAL and MACHINERY.

¶ We carry the only stock in the Northwest, and can furnish complete Job and Newspaper Plants at short notice; also Ready-Prints in all sizes and styles.

Toronto Type Fdry Co'y, Limited.

175 McDermot Avenue, Winnipeg.

The lucky man is the plucky one who sees and grasps an opportunity.

CHINESE AMAZONS.

Instances In Which Women of China Have Fought as Soldiers.

Chinese history tells of several women who have acted as generals of armies. One of them was Mou-Len, a Chinese maiden who, taking up The Official Gazette and seeing her father's name among those who were ordered to the front to defend the empire against a foreign invader, determined to follow him to the war, led her countrymen to victory, and returned home a full fledged Chinese general—all this without allowing the secret of her sex to be discovered. Such is the legend embodied in a poem which, according to a writer in a French journal, is learned by heart by the children of the Celestial Empire.

A CHINESE JOAN OF ARC

After the Savings.

"They try all kinds of dodges on you in a boarding house," said the man who had had fifteen years' experience, "and it is seldom you find a landlady who hasn't got a card up her sleeve. My present one has good rooms and a good table, but at the beginning of winter she began turning the gas off in the daytime. I happened to want to use it one day to heat my shaving water, and a little later I spoke to her about it.

"'Mrs. Tompkins,' I said, 'I see you have the gas turned off in the daytime.'

"'Yes, sir,' she replied.

"'I have been figuring it out, and do you know how much you save per month by the move?'

"'I can't say.'

"'You save just one cent a month.'

"'Do I? Well, then, I shall surely turn it off every day for the next year and save a whole shilling.'"

Timely Suggestion.

When from your love you part to meet again,
One little tip for your consideration:
Don't say au revoir nor yet auf wiedersehen
Unless you're sure of the pronunciation.

TWO PERORATIONS.

From Hay's Eulogy on McKinley and Blaine's Eulogy on Garfield.

It is a curious coincidence that on Feb. 27, 1882, and on Feb. 27, 1902, a secretary of state of a murdered president delivered a eulogy of his dead chief before the houses of congress. Mr. Hay, primarily a writer, showed the essayist in his oration on McKinley. Mr. Blaine, primarily a speaker, showed the orator in his oration on Garfield. Here is the peroration of Hay's eulogy of McKinley:

There is not one of us but feels prouder of his native land because the august figure of Washington presided over its beginnings; no one but vows it a tenderer love because Lincoln poured out his blood for it; no one but must feel his devotion for his country renewed and kindled when he remembers how McKinley loved, revered and served it, showed in his life how a citizen should live and in his last hour taught us how a gentleman could die.

Blaine's oration on Garfield ended with this famous passage:

As the end drew near his early craving for the sea returned. The stately mansion of power had been to him the wearisome hospital of pain, and he begged to be taken from his prison walls, from its oppressive, stifling air, from its homelessness and its hopelessness. Gently, silently, the love of a great people bore the pale sufferer to the longed for healing of the sea to live or to die, as God should will, within sight of the heaving billows, within sound of its manifold voices. With a wan, fevered face, tenderly lifted to the cooling breeze, he looked out wistfully upon the ocean's changing wonders, on its far sails, on its restless waves rolling shoreward to break and die beneath the noonday sun; on the red clouds of evening, arching low to the horizon; on the serene and shining pathway of the stars. Let us think that his dying eyes read a mystic meaning which only the rapt and parting soul may know. Let us believe that in the silence of the receding world he heard the great waves breaking on a farther shore and felt already upon his wasted brow the breath of the eternal morning.

A Bet and Its Odds.

A notorious gambler, who died some time ago, once wagered a thousand dollars to one that six would not be thrown with a pair of dice ten times in succession. His offer was taken up by a fellow clubman. The dice were brought, and his opponent actually threw six nine times in succession. The gambler then offered $470 to be free of the bet. The other man declined, had his tenth throw and failed to get another six.

Just to show how very little the average man knows about the doctrine of chances a well known mathematician has pointed out the real odds about this bet. The chances were no less than 60,466,175 to 1 against six being thrown ten times in succession; therefore the real bet should have been about $600,000 to 1 cent against such a thing happening.

A Drawback.

"Well, James, how are you feeling today?" said the minister to one of his parishioners, an old man suffering from chronic rheumatism. "You are not looking as brisk as usual."

"Na, sir," replied the old fellow sadly. "I've been gey unfortinit the day."

"How, James?"

"Weel, sir, I got a letter fra a Glasca lawyer body this mornin' tellin' me that ma cousin Jock was deid an' that he had left me twa hunner poun'."

"Two hundred pounds!" repeated the minister. "And you call that hard luck? Why, it is quite a fortune for you, James."

"Aye," said the old man sorrowfully, "but the stipid lawyer body didna put enough stamps on his letter, an' I had a hale saxpence to pey for extra postage."

Sand Swept Asia.

In the arid lands of central Asia the air is reported as often laden with fine detritus, which drifts like snow around conspicuous objects and tends to bury them in a dust drift. Even when there is no apparent wind the air is described as thick with fine dust, and a yellow sediment covers everything. In Khotan this dust sometimes so obscures the sun that at midday one cannot see to read the print without a lamp.

Varnish From Seaweed.

A kind of seaweed which is plentiful on the coast of China furnishes an admirable glue and varnish. When dried, it is waterproof, and it is employed to fill up the interstices in bamboo network, of which windows are frequently constructed in that country. It is also utilized to strengthen and varnish paper lanterns.

A Cheerful Proposal.

A Scottish beadle one day led the manse housemaid to the churchyard and, pointing with his finger, stammered:

"My folk lie there, Jenny. Wad ye like to lie there too?"

It was his way of popping the question.

Grasped the Inspiration.

Strumleigh (humming an air)—Tum-tu-tiddy-tum-ti-ti-tee—

Friend (interrupting)—What is that thing?

Strumleigh—Why, one of the things they were playing at the classical concert last night, by—er—what's the man's name? You know—er—something you catch hold of?

Friend (with sudden inspiration)—Handel?—Washington Times.

COMPLETELY LAID UP

A CONTRACTOR CONFINED TO HIS BED WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE.

He is Better Now and Writes an Interesting Letter Telling of His Recovery and How it Came About.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 22nd.—(Special).—There are few men in the west end of this city who are more widely and more favorably known than Mr. W. J. Keane, 86 Lippincott street, who far years has conducted a business as builder and contractor.

Some five years ago Mr. Keane was a very sick man. He had Kidney Trouble, which developed until he was absolutely unable to leave his bed.

Mr. Keane found a cure where so many sick and suffering ones have found it, in Dodd's Kidney Pills, and has given for publication the following written statement:—

"I deem it a great pleasure to give my experience of Dodd's Kidney Pills and the good they have done me. I was a great sufferer with pains in my back, and used to be often so laid up as to be unable to do my work.

"A friend advised Dodd's Kidney Pills, but as I had used so many other medicines without any good results, I had little faith in anything. However, I got some of the pills and commenced the treatment. I had only used part of the first box when I was able to resume my work.

"I used altogether seven boxes, and I can say that I was completely cured, and as this was over four years ago, and the trouble has not returned in any form, I feel safe in saying that my cure was perfect and permanent.

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from death. They are certainly worth their weight in gold to a sick man."

What has done so much for Mr. Keane and many others is certainly worth a trial by those who may be suffering from Kidney Disease or any of its consequences.

One of Milton's biographers says that nearly twenty years elapsed between the time he sketched out the plan of "Paradise Lost" and the completion of that work. The actual labor of composition was condensed into two or three years.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals. Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa. For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy. Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

During the past ten years immigration to America from Germany, Ireland and England has decreased, while that from Italy, Austria and Russia has increased.

There are 6,000 monks on the promontory of Athos. They pay to the sultan 2,000 pounds a year for the privilege of being allowed to govern themselves.

The number of ships in the American whaling fleet has fallen off in the last twelve years from 97 to 40, and much the same is the case with the Scotch whaling industry.

Happy are they who don't want the things they can't get.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS,

CLEANSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;

DISPELS COLDS HEADACHES & FEVERS;

OVERCOMES HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS,

BUY THE GENUINE—MAN'F'D BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50c. PER BOTTLE.

A TRAGIC ENDING.

A MARRIED MAN SKIPS OUT WITH A NURSE.

Ethel B. Dingle, a Canadian Nurse found Dead With Her Throat Cut, in a Rochester Hotel.---L. D. Kent, Her Paramour, is Under Arrest.

A dispatch from Rochester, N.Y., says: Ethel B. Dingle, a rarely pretty girl, is dead from a gaping wound in her throat, while Leland Doorr Kent is at the Homeopathic hospital, his throat also slashed, but not so seriously but what he will live. Kent's statement to the coroners has not been made public, but he claims that the girl wounded him and then killed herself. His story is doubted.

The couple came from Buffalo late last night and registered at the Whitcomb House as L. D. Kent and wife. They were found in their room this morning, the girl dead, the man wild and raving. A razor was in the girl's left hand and several powerful drugs were found in small bottles in the room. Detectives are guarding Kent, who would have graduated from the Riverside hospital at Buffalo, next year. He has a wife and little son in that city, and his father is a general manager of the Masonic Life Insurance Co., of Buffalo. The girl was a Canadian by birth and had been a nurse in Riverside hospital most of the four years past, but was discharged from there a few weeks ago. The intimacy of the two dated back only two months, and according to what can be secured of Kent's story, the two agreed to die together.

Daniel Matthews, a farmer near Waterford, committed suicide by taking arsenic.

A carriage containing four people ran over Fireman John Hutton's little boy at Hamilton. The child is seriously injured.

Fire broke out early Saturday morning in the stables of the Light, Heat and Power company, on Ottawa street, Montreal, and spread so rapidly that the stablemen were unable to rescue the horses and 27 of them were suffocated. The total loss is about $15,500. The origin is unknown.

John Roberts, employed in the Lachine Rapids Hydraulic company, was found drowned in a canal. He leaves a widow in Toronto.

Walter White, aged 36, an upholsterer, son of George White, was drowned in the Humber this afternoon. He was walking on the bank with a companion and fell in.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

Lord Strathcona is in good health.

The British team won the Palma trophy.

The SS. Numidian is aground in the St. Lawrence river

James Dean was severely injured in a Rat Portage mill.

Owing to crop failure Australia will need Manitoba wheat.

Two threshing accidents are reported from High Bluff, Man.

The Canadian cricket team was badly defeated at Philadelphia.

Twenty-seven horses were suffocated at a fire in a Montreal stable.

King Edward's convalescence is complete. Hs is now in Scotland.

Preparations have begun to sink another well at the Winnipeg waterworks.

The R. C. Archbishop has appointed a spiritual adviser to all trades unions in Quebec.

A big lumber firm of Prescott, Mich., will remove to the Georgian Bay district of Canada.

Willie Freeman, 15 years of age, was murdered by Charles King, a hired man, on a farm near St. Thomas.

Mrs. Albert Atcheson, of Woodstock, Ont., district, was killed by an express train. Her husband is in Manitoba.

Mounting a Horse.

A careful bicyclist learns to mount from either side of the wheel, since the emergency may arise at any moment, says the London Chronicle. One would think that the horseman would be equally careful to provide for possibilities and accustom himself to mounting indifferently from the off side and the near side. But if he were to venture to mount on the right side—which is the wrong side—in a hotel stable yard the hostler would probably demand the price of a gallon as the statutory fine, and the horse would collapse with surprise. What is the meaning of this convention? It appears in odd places. Not only does the trick horse in the circus canter from right to left, but the after dinner wine passes the same way. "The way of the sun" is the current explanation, which is absurd.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

A movement is on foot in England to expel the Jesuits.

The Mormons in Canada dave selected a new president.

British manufacturers have organized a steel rail trust.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is in good health, and will sail for Canada on Oct. 7th.

Winnipeg Chinamen presented Rev. Jos. Hogg with a handsome testimonial.

Crop reports from all parts of Western Canada indicate splendid yields.

Noah Seigler, a farmer of the Edmonton district, dropped dead while in the fields.

In a fight at Fort Erie, Ont., "Kid" Caster was knocked out by Tommy Ryan.

One man was fatally injured and another seriously by a boiler explosion in a mill near Warroad, Minn.

A woman was brutally assaulted by a man near the C.P.R. bridge, Winnipeg. The culprit was caught after an exciting chase.

Mr. C. C. Castle, warehouse commissioner, and Mr. Horne, chief grain commissioner, have no fears of a grain blockade this season.

Bessie, the one and a half year old daughter of Horace Wilson, was drowned at Arnprior by falling into a tub of water while playing in the yard.

Twenty-five villages have been swept away and six thousand persons have been rendered homeless by floods, due to the overflowing of rivers in the southern part of the presidency of Bengal.

William Cook, superintendent of the Kingston cotton mill, while duck shooting up the Rideau, received a charge of shot in his left side and arm through the accidental discharge of his gun in the bottom of the skiff he was hauling ashore.

A fire occurred in the brass manufacturory of Chadwick Bros., King street, Hamilton, and the loss to Chadwick is estimated at between $8,000 to $10,000. The building is owned by James Scott, whose loss is about $1,500 or $2,000, fully covered by insurance. Loss by fire in Mr. John E. Brown's wool and furniture warehouse amounted to nearly $10,000.

Yesterday afternoon a young Englighman named H. Briggs, an employe of the Kamloops sawmill, while out walking to view Bridal Veil Falls, near the Old Men's Home, was climbing a precipitious rocky formation near the falls, when he lost his balance and fell backwards to where he had left a companion below. He lived but a few moments after entering the hospital. It is understood deceased leaves a wife in England.

A boiler explosion in a sawmill, situated about seven miles east of Warroad, Minn., injured two men severely and perhaps one of the victims may die. The explosion took place at 5.30 and the injured workmen are William Walker and William Smith. Both were brought here on a hand car to receive medical attendance, but the doctor holds out no hope for Walker. The sad event has cast a gloom over the community.

Fire broke out about midnight in a building occupied by J. E. Stendal, tailor, and the Rat Portage Drug Co. The building was one of the oldest in the town and is owned by Mrs. Oliver. The fire is supposed to have originated from a stove used by Mr. Stendal to heat pressing irons. Stendal's stock was ruined; his insurance was $200. The drug company's premises was badly damaged by the water on which there is insurance of $600. Mrs. Hughes with her three sons and one daughter lived overhead and came near suffocating with smoke. She loses everything, having no time to carry anything out. There is no insurance. The brigade were very prompt in responding to the alarm and in five minutes from the time of the alarm a good stream was pouring on the burning building.

When a girl gets an engagement ring it is painful to see the habit of feeling to see if her hair is fixed right grow upon her.

Man was created to serve his creator, but since woman came upon the scene the question has been somewhat unsettled.

Have you ever noticed how a mosquito sings while he bores? And, again, have you ever noticed how some people bore while they sing?

The magnetic pole in northwestern America is supposed to have shifted considerably since its discovery by Ross in 1831. Taking with him seven companions in a small schooner, Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, expects to make observations on the present site of this pole from 1893 to 1895.

A HIGH OLD TIME.

SAID MARRIED LIFE HAD "REVOLUTIONIZED" HIM.

A Wealthy British Columbia Gold Miner Creates a Sensation in Saginaw, Mich. ---He Dragged His Bride Through the Streets and Disappeared in the River.

Charles B. Rabson, a wealthy gold mine owner of Atlin, British Columbia, who on Friday evening was married to Miss Phoebe Grant Stephens, of Saginaw, Mich., became violently insane early the next morning, dragged his bride from their bed chamber half clad through the streets, broke into a house, then, after his bride fled screaming down the street, leaped into the river, cursed those who tried to rescue him, and was drowned.

Rabson, who owned two of the richest gold mines in British Columbia, became acquainted with Miss Stephens through a newspaper advertisement. They corresponded and early this week Rabson came to the city to claim his bride, whom, it is said, he had never seen. He proved himself to be the member of a well-known family in Kent, England, and the girl agreed to carry out her promise of marriage.

Miss Stephens is the daughter of the late William Grant Stephens, who was a cousin of Gen. U. S. Grant. She taught in the public schools at Elkhart, Ind., and in Saginaw and was well known there, having done considerable newspaper writing. For a time she was a clerk in the office of the auditor general at Lansing, and several years ago horsewhipped Col. Pond, of Lansing, whom she accused of making slighting remarks regarding her.

Rabson insisted on an early wedding, and the ceremony was performed on Friday evening by the Rev. W. H. Gallagher. The groom presented the bride with a pink diamond set in virgin gold from his mines, as an engagement token, and a plain band of the same gold as a wedding ring. He carried a large amount of money in gold nuggets and in currency.

Yesterday the couple received congratulations from the bride's friends and prepared for the journey to British Columbia. At 3.15 this morning Rabson leaped from bed, roused his wife, and insisted that she light the gas. He was acting wildly and the girl was frightened. Rabson declared she had "revolutionized" him and insisted that she should go with him to the residence of the minister who had married them and tell all about it. She wanted to dress, but Rabson, becoming violent, insisted that she should go as she was. He became furiated because the door was locked, and broke it down, cutting his hands in smashing the glass.

Rabson dragged the frightened woman through the street, holding to her arm, until he saw a light in Frank Flewelling's residence. He said the Flewelling residence was the parsonage and insisted on entering. He tore down the screen door and broke in the front door. Flewelling, supposing burglars were at work, grabbed his cane and attacked the mad man, knocking him down. During the struggle the bride escaped and fled down the street.

The insane man then went to the river, waded in, and started to swim across. The bridge tender and several others rushed to the scene and tried to aid the man, who screamed curses at them. He swam nearly across the river and then disappeared.

The police dragged the river all day in search of the body without results. Rabson was only partly dressed, but had several pounds of gold nuggets in his pockets, and these probably aided in dragging him down.

A young man named Jean Vaillincourt fell from the second story of a new building which is being erected near Palace Hill, Quebec, as an enlargement of the cartridge factory, and broke his neck. The unfortunate man was standing on the flooring which had been temporarily laid when one of the boards shifted position, allowing him to drop to the ground below, a distance of about thirty feet. The injured man fell on his head and showed every sign of having his neck broken, but up till the time of writing is still alive, though unconscious.

The steamer Virginia Lake reached St. John from Labrador to-day. She reports the loss of ten fishing schooners, with their cargoes of fish and outfits during the last fortnight. The crews of the lost steamers were saved and brought in by the Viginia Lake. Officers of the steamer report also the finding on Belle Isle, the remains of a woman, supposed to be Mrs. Bates, of Montreal, who was a passenger on the ill-fated Scotsman, which was wrecked on Belle Isle in October of 1899.

FARMERS WERE "EASY"

Some 2,000 Western Ontario Agriculturalists Will Have to Pay $80 Each.

A case of great interest to farmers was decided this week by Judge Morgan. In 1887 J. J. Daly commenced the publication of what was known as the Canadian Farm Advertiser. His plan was to sell farms in Ontario to British immigrants. He sent agents all over the province and succeeded in inducing many farmers to advertise their farms in this journal by signing a contract, under a seal providing that the farm should be advertised by Daly or his assignee for three years, unless sooner sold. In case the farms were sold before the expiration of the contract, whether through the agency of the Farm Advertiser or not, the contract provided that Daly was to receive two and one-half per cent. upon the price for which the farm was sold, and in case the farm remained unsold at the expiration of the contract, the farmer agreed to pay Daly two per cent. upon the price for which he had advertised his farm for sale. After securing several of these agreements, Daly obtained loans on them from prominent men in Ontario. In the test case the judge holds the contract binding. Some 2,000 farmers, chiefly in Western Ontario, went into the scheme, and they will have to pay on an average of $80 each or $160,000 in all.

The Toronto train due at Ottawa at 6 o'clock Thursday morning, was four and a half hours late. At Maberly the train left the track by reason of an open switch, and a fireman named Ross was killed. He was smothered to death. Alex. Rose, the engineer, was badly bruised, but was thrown clear of the engine and escaped with his life. A young man, who was along with the engineer on the engine, was also injured, but not seriously. The passengers got a shaking-up, but no one was hurt. Six baggage cars, as well as the engine, were badly wrecked. Ross belonged to Smith's Falls and was about 21 years of age.

Owing to the failure of the crop in the south, the consumers of plug smoking tobaccos and the cut varities will probably have to pay considerably more for their luxury until next season. A leading tobacconist stated that the "T. & B." brand of plug smoking has already been advanced in price and that he is retailing it now for 30 cents a plug, instead of 25 cents, as formerly. He is of the opinion that other smoking tabaccos will also be increased in price.

Jacob Selby, 26 years of age, colored, is lodged in the county jail at Woodstock charged with assaulting Charles Clark, a West Oxford farmer, who now lies at the point of death in his home, as a result of blood poisoning setting in in a wound inflicted on the side of his head by a blow from a bottle, struck it is alleged by Shelby, who had a row with the injured man at an hotel in Beachville.

Judge Flavius Marius, chief justice of the French Island of Tahiti, was a passenger on the steamer Mariposa from Tahiti. He is a native of Martinique, and his entire family was destroyed by Mont Pelee. His wife and children had gone to the West Indies to visit relatives. The steamer, upon which he was expecting them home, brought him the news of the eruption of Pelee and its results.

Four thousand eight hundred snipe have been seized by Deputy Game Warden Fisher at the Union Depot, Detroit. This game was being shipped from Chicago to Montreal and Quebec over the Wabash railway. The shipments are said to be contrary to Illinois statutes. This is one of the largest seizures of snipe ever made in this section.

The saw mill owned and operated by the Wiarton Lumber Co., at Barrow Bay, was destroyed by fire last evening. The lumber stock was saved. Loss $6,000 and insurance is $2,000.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

Thos. Shaw, the oldest man in Nova Scotia, a veteran of the Crimean war, died at Halifax, aged 104.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford is in New York.

A large family hotel may be erected in Fort Rouge.

Wheat prices advanced but the market is inactive.

The massacre of native Christians in China by Boxers continue.

Hood & Co., have thrown up their contract on a Fort William elevator.

Mr. Tait was nearly killed by a maniac on a Lake Winnipeg steamer.

Mr. George Towns, the champion sculler, was married at Southsea, England.

The branch of the Bank of Commerce at Skagway was wrecked by dynamite.

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

Wheat prices are falling.

Hog cholera has broken out in Oxford county.

Martial law has been repealed in Cape Colony.

Woodland municipality wants a promised railway.

R. E. Wright was elected grand sire of the Oddfellows.

Frank Soor, of Conway, N. D., committed suicide.

Japanese fishermen captured two monster sea serpents.

Sidney Blackwell, aged 12, Winnipeg, fractured his skull.

John Wild, of Osnabruck, N. D., was killed while threshing.

A fourteen year old girl hanged herself at Wayburn, Assa.

Ten acres of wheat near Thornhill, Man., were burned by fire.

The Galicians of Stuartburn district have made great progress.

Grover Misener, of Welland, Ont., was accidentally shot by his brother.

An attempt was made to rob the Dawson branch of the Bank of Commerce.

Three hundred families of Dunkards, will be settled in Eastern Assiniboia.

Miss Annie Hadden and Miss Annie Trawin, of Port Hope, Ont., were drowned.

Mr. Hering, of New York, believes Winnipeg has a plentiful water supply for the future.

The J. Y. Griffin company have decided to erect a large pork packing establishment at Calgary.

A proposal is on foot to increase the salary of the mayor of Ottawa from $1,000 to $2,500 a year.

Lord Dundonald has abolished the use of the sword by the Canadian cavalry and substituted it by the rifle.

CAPE RETURN CARGOES.

Skins and Wattle to Be Sent to Canada as an Experiment.

A copy of The Times of Natal, which was received the other day, contains an interview with Mr. J. G. Jardine, the Dominion Government's trade agent in South Africa. Mr. Jardine enumerates many lines of manufactures Canada could export to South Africa. In reply, however, to the question, "What about exports to Canada?" he replies:

"That is at present the difficulty. When the new direct line is running we shall, of course, want a return cargo, but so far the prospect is poor. We can take any quantity of your goat and sheepskins, and I am in hopes of introducing wattle into Canada. At present our tanners have to use hemlock, and we import American oak leather from the States. Sir Benjamin Greenacre is interesting himself in the project, and the first ship of the new line will take back with her a hundredweight of wattle to each of the principal tanning firms in Canada. If the experimental cargo proves a success, there is no reason why the trade should not develop."

Regarding the feasibility of Mr. Jardine's ideas, Mr. A. R. Clarke of the firm of Clar e & Co., Toronto, large dealers in imported hides, was interviewed. "The bulk of the Cape skins of both sheep and goats," said Mr. Clarke, "goes to London. New York also takes quite a lot. At present Canada doesn't trade in them very much, but conditions would be altered if they could be imported as cheaply as return cargo. The reason London receives so large a proportion of these skins is because of her large trade with the Cape. The skins are return cargoes. It might be advantageous for us to get some also. There is another special reason, however, why the bulk of the Cape sheep skins go to London. Cape wool is very fine, and is largely used in the manufacture of tweeds by the large factories near London. We have not the factories that could handle the wool and turn out such fine cloth. Still, there is considerable trade in Cape sheep and goat skins in New York, and we ought to be able to do something in that way, too.

"I have had no experience of wattle for tanning," continued Mr. Clarke, "but I understand that it gives a fair, light russet color. Yes, that is just what our tanners want. It might be handled as a powder or an extract in order to save freight. It's altogether a matter of cost. The cost is reckoned on the percentage of tanning obtained. Hemlock is used because it is indigenous to the country. It is, however, becoming scarce, but not so scarce that wattle could displace it, supposing both equally good, unless freight rates were very low. Gambia is imported from India and sumac from Sicily. Why not wattle from South Africa?"

Then, after a few moments' thought upon the matter, Mr. Clarke added: "Yes, I think there might be, on the whole, considerable business worked up in those lines."

The connection will be made this week between the Canadian and American ends of the long distance telephone from Winnipeg to the south.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for :—

Per line, first insertion ..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion ..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING :

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " "	12.00
Fourteen " "	14.00
Sixteen " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA

SATURDAY, SEPT. 27. 1902.

IS IT A MISTAKE?

Are the people of British Columbia making a mistake in their acquiescence to the ruling of the leaders of the two old parties in their determination to conduct the government of the province for the future upon party lines? This innovation has been mooted for several years, but it is generally conceded the province is nearer to the change now than it has ever been heretofore. For this reason the findings of Goldwin Smith, on the claims of party government in provincial affairs, have an especial interest. The deadlock in the Ontario legislature suggested the study of the question to Toronto's eminent student of political economy, and in effect he says there is no excuse for the unsettled conditions which the strife between the two political parties have brought about. Leaving out of the question the matter of the controverted elections, and the very serious responsibility which the trail of these will impose upon the courts, the general elections have left the Ross ministry with a majority of one in a full legislature, and the Conservatives, though in a minority, with a majority of the popular vote. This is a position untenable for the continuance of a system of party government, and professor Smith suggests that advantage be taken of it to put an end to a system which has properly no place in the management of provincial affairs. To his mind provincial politics are restricted to the consideration of the best business methods of conducting the affairs of the province, and federal politics, or the recognition of federal party affiliations have no claims for consideration. His suggestion is that an end be put to the dead-lock by a coalition of the best material available among the elected members of the legislature which has just been returned, and which has yet to hold its first session.

There is much force in the conclusions arrived at by professor Smith. That without a broad and perceptable difference of principle the division of the province into parties is irrational, and that parties without a dividing principle become mere factions struggling for place, with the necessary accompaniments of such a struggle in the sacrifice of the general welfare of the country.

In considering the relative positions of Ontario and British Columbia, with respect to the merits or demerits of party government, there is one condition which must not be overlooked, in that it may lead to directly opposite conclusions. Ontario for years has been governed by the party system, and all the defects which the people in Ontaaio see are those of the party system. British Columbia has for years been governed upon non-party lines, and for this reason the party system of government doubtless appeals to its people for the reason that all the faults they have in mind are faults of the non-party system.

There can be no question, that, while admitting the reasonableness of the conclusions of professor Smith, the people of British Columbia look forward to the change in the hope that it will give them a form of government more stable than anything they have had in the past. They have recognized the necessity for some form of check upon the men, who, by reason of the special circumstances attendant upon the present system, happen to secure seats in the legislature. Under a non-party system of government the tendency is for the issues to become so narrow that they disappear altogether after the result of the elections has been determined. The consequence is a collection of men who have won their seats in the legislature whose chief aim in many instances is to secure the fullest measure of advantage out of the positions in which they find themselves. This breeds cabals, and a system of trading and switching from which the people of British Columbia desire to be delivered. They may be wrong, but they are of the opinion that the adoption of the system of party government, with the added responsibility, which under it the members elect would owe to their party as well as to their constituents, promises them the speediest relief from a system which has within the past three or four years become unbearable.

In the County Court of Kootenay, holden at Fort Steele in Probate.

Notice is hereby given that on the fourth day of September, 1902, it was ordered by J. A. Forin Esq., Judge of the said Court, that James Ferguson Armstrong, Official Administrator of the County of Kootenay, be administrator of all and singular the estates of the following inestates, namely :—

Frank Brunyansky, of Fernie, B. C., Miner
Aaron Colclough	"	"	"
Miki Kurotor	"	"	"
Peter Lekar	"	"	"
John R. McLeod	"	"	"
John Mihal	"	"	"
Joseph Singala	"	"	"
Joe Shilling	"	"	"
Filippo Tabbi	"	"	"

Every person indebted to the said deceased is required to make payment forthwith to the undersigned.

Every creditor, or other person, having any claim upon, or interest in the distribution of the estate of the said deceased, is rexuired within thirty days of this date to send by registered letter, addressed to the undersigned, his name and address and the full particulars of his claim or interest, and a statement of his account, and the nature of the security [if any] held by him,

After the expiration of the said thirty days the administrator will proceed with the distribution of the estate, having regard to those claims only of which he shall then have had notice.

JAMES FERGUSON ARMSTRONG
Official Administrator.
194-2 Fort Steele, B. C.
Dated at Fort Steele this 18th day of Sept., 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked W. A. Switzer's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D Quail's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
W. A. SWITZER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River, about 32 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains north, thence twenty chains (20) east, thence three hundred and twenty (320) chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
MILTON A. KASTNER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning, containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.
J. L. PAULSON.

If Children are to Rise

rapidly in their studies, see that they are supplied with the latest and best

SCHOOL BOOKS

They are made to stand much use aed some abuse. Prices right.

A. W. BLEASDELL.

Have you thought
ABOUT FALL UNDERWEAR?
WE HAVE
Have you bought
YOUR FALL UNDERWEAR?
WE HAVE

Five special lines are on display in our window this week, bought direct from the makers in case lots and bought right too. Call in and examine them. They are worth just a third more than we are asking for them.

Others have been surprised at the value, so will you.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

Notice is hereby given that 30 days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum on the following described lands: Commencing at a post marked H. A. Wilkes' south-west corner, situate on the west bank of the Elk river about two miles south-west of Morrissey depot and being nearly west from the mine town of Morrissey, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning,
H. A. WILKES.
Dated Aug. 29th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.
JOHN OWENS.
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east: thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.
HUGH McMILLAN
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the west bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.
WM. S. KEAY.
Dated August 28, 1902. 191-8

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a 21 year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 5760 acres, situated on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post planted on the east bank of Elk River, which is just north of the 35 mile C.P.R. surveyed line, thence east 60 chains, thence north 960 chains, thence west to east bank of Elk river, thence southward along the river to point of beginning, excepting therefrom any and all timber on the coal claims which will be staked within the next ten days, as shown on location posts.
A. D. MACRAE CO., LTD.
Dated Sept. 1st, 1902.

TRADE W.G.&R. MARK.

Collars & SHIRTS

We keep only one line, and that is the best.

The W. G. & R. always on top.

They are conceded by good dressers to be the peer of any on the market

Crow's Nest Trading Co

WAIT for them!

Morrissey Townsite Opened

Do not invest your money in wild cats when You can get a SURE THING.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. are throwing open their Morrissey property for a townsite. The land is now being surveyed, and the lots will be put on the market in about two weeks.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES' CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

152

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

C. P. Campbell, of Cranbrook, was in town several days this week.

W. S. Keay was in Cranbrook on Sunday.

Jas. McDonnell, part owner in the Morrissey townsite, was in town yesterday.

Miss Finnis, of Cranbrook, well known in Fernie, is seriously ill with typhoid fever. She is in the St. Eugene hospital at Cranbrook.

Mr. Fred Thompson, who went to Pincher Creek from Fernie some months ago to open a tailor shop in that town, has moved to Frank.

Harry Bentley, the only Harry, was in town last Sunday for a few hours. Mr. Bentley has joined the ranks of lumber magnates.—Cranbrook Herald.

The Twentieth Century supper under the auspices of the B.Y.P.U. on Tuesday evening was largely attended and was a success in every sense of the word.

J. L. McIntyre left for Renfrew, Ont., on Wednesday evening, where he will spend three or four months. Mrs. McIntyre accompanied him as far aa Pincher Creek.

Rev. D. Holford has resigned his position as pastor of the Fernie Baptist church. His resignation has been accepted. Mr. Holford has not yet decided where he will locate.

The trains from the east failed to make connections at Medicine Hat on Friday. The train service on the Crow's Nest branch is a disgrace to the C.P.R.. The express from the east has not been on time twice in six months.

Lethbridge News—"Lost or stolen, a handsome trophy—the Levasseur Cup. Supposed to be somewhere in the neighborhood of Fernie. The rightful owners will be glad to receive news of its whereabouts." Our boys should take the hint.

R. W. Douglas, of Winnipeg, western manager of the Guardian Life Assurance Co., was in town this week adjusting the losses sustained in the recent old town fire. His report will be sent to the head office for acceptance.

The Baptist church, Victoria Ave., is now properly heated, made comfortable and inviting Service in the morning at 11 o'clock ; Sunday school at 2:30 ; evening service at 7:30. Wednesday evening : Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock Thursday evening : B.Y.P.U. meeting at 8 o'clock. All are invited to these services.

On of the local yard engines makes a trip to Morrissey every evening at 8:30 to bring down the slack mined during the day to be coked here. Considerable difficulty has been experienced with the Morrissey coal in getting it to ignite in the ovens. The slack from the Coal Creek mines when thrown into the empty oven will light from the hot brick, but this is not the case with that from Morrissey, a large amount of wood has to be used before it will take fire.

F. J Mitchell can fit you in a suit of clothes. Give him a trial. x

The Italian arrested at the Loop las week for being implicated in the shooting of Harry Evans, came up for trial before Justice of the Peace Turner on Wednesday of this week. Six or seven witnesses were called by the prosecution, but nothing in the evidence went to show that the prisoner was one of the guilty men. The man, Evans, was shot by someone on the evening of the 14th inst. The bullet coming through a window and hitting him in the groin. The shooting is supposed to have been the work of three Italians who were seen in the vicinity just previous to the affair and the prosecution endeavored to show that the prisoner was one of the three. Ross & Alexander defended the accused while Chief Forbes appeared for the prosecutor.

The following from the Frank Sentinel will certainly be a revelation to the citizens of Fernie who visited the prairie town on the 17th inst.

"The task of preserving order among the two thousand holiday seekers on Wednesday was looked after by Inspector Davidson of Pincher Creek and three men of his detachments. The Mounted Police are to be congratulated on the quiet, unobtrusive and satisfactory way in which they did their duty. It must have been a revelation to many of our B. C. visitors, who are used to the blustering provincial policemen, to see how easily and aptly the duty could be performed by men who understood their business."

Most of the visitors from around here seem to be of the opinion that Frank furnished as good an example of the wide-open, go-as-you-please town as could be found west of Winnipeg.

See Mitchell's up-to-date goods for your fall suit. x

Geo. Hoggarth, of Elko, was in town yesterday.

WANTED—Furnished house with five or six rooms. Apply at this office.

Rev. D. L. Gordon will occupy the pulpit of the Cranbrook Presbyterian church to-morrow.

Rev. C. W. Houghton leaves on Monday for a trip to the Similkameen Valley. He has been appointed by the Bishop to visit the churches in that part of the province.

Work at the Coal Creek mines is progressing these days. The force in Nos. 2 and 3 mines is being increased daily and the old time activity is showing itself again.

F. Sheppard has leased the stand formerly occupied by Martin O'Reilly & Co., and will put in a full stock of hardware. He is having the interior of the store remodeled and made suitable for a hardware stock

Work has been commenced on the new electric light line to the mine. The power house in Fernie will be abondoned in the near future and the power will all be furnished from the motors at the mines. The electric plant at the mines will be one of the finest in the west.

Supt. Jamieson was in town on Wednesday investigating charges made against several employees of the C. P. R. at this point. S. J. Hungerford, locomotive foreman ; D. McNeil, the newly appointed trainmaster at Cranbrook, assisted him in the investigation. The result of the investigation has not yet been made public.

The Rev.C. E. Stapleford, of Frank, delivered his popular lecture "Cranks of Modern Society," on Monday evening last in the Methodist Church. Although the attendance was very small the lecture proved to be a great treat as Mr. Stapleford is a very brilliant speaker with plenty of humor to keep his audience in excellent spirits. Mr. D. V. Mott occupied the chair.

Saturday last, Sept.20th was a big day among the Italians all over the world and the citizens of that country residing in Fernie did not forget to celebrate. A monster procession headed by the Fernie band paraded the principal streets and the band played selections in front of the homes of the different Italians. The store of Tony Caravetta, near the station was made the headquarters of the celebration committee for the day and a number of speeches were delivered by Italian patriots present. The celebration was to commemorate the entrance of the Italian army into Rome on September 20, 1870.

Mitchell, the tailor, is doing business in the Bentley block. x

Fort Steele Licence District

Notice is hereby given that the undermentioned persons have made application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for hotel licences at the places opposite to their respective names :—

Henry Wade Barnes, two miles up Morrissey branch, from the junction of the Crow's Nest Southern Railway with the British Columbia southern branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway and lying at a point between said Morrissey branch and Morrissey creek on Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's Land in the District of East Kootenay.

Henry Dimock, transfer from Frank McCabe to Henry Dimock, the premises known as the "International Hotel" at Wardner, B.C.

John Balko, the Muskoka hotel at Fernie.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence district will be held to consider such applications at the Court House at Fernie, on Friday the 10th day of October next at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK H. FORBES,
Fernie, 26th Sep. 1902. Chief Licence Inspector

Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between, J. L. Gates and Eugene Walter, doing business at Morrissey B.C. has been dissolved and all debts contracted since Sept. 24th will be settled by Mr. Walter.

J. L. Gates
195-3 Eugene Walter
Dated at Fernie 24th day of Sept. 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.
L. A. DAVIS.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows :—Matins and Litany 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

WE WILL EXCHANGE

NEW Furniture or Stoves

FOR....

Second-hand Furniture or Stoves

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Fortify Yourself...

Against Sickness and Disease. Get well and stay well. Erect a barricade against the ills that flesh is heir to. with some of these standard tonics.

Syrup of Hypophosphites
Beef, Iron and Wine
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla with Iodides
Wyeth's Malt Extract.

There's something here to suit your case exactly. May be among the Patent Medicines or the Drugs, or it may be in the Prescription Department. Whether you use your own judgement or take the doctor's advice you can rely upon us for first-class goods.

Fernie Drug Store.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range : Commencing at a post marked J. D Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range : Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Clincy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN RUDOLPH.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north side of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains. thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.
R. J. DAVIS.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT
FOR THE LADIES.....

Thursday and Friday, Sep.18 & 19

On the above dates we are going to hold our

..Grand Millinery Opening..

Never before have you seen such a gathering of beautiful colorings, exquisite designs, artistic modelling of headwear.

Miss McBroom has searched the fashion centres for the best, and you have only to visit our Millinery Department to convince you how well the work has been done.

Don't forget the dates: THURSDAY, Sept. 18th, FRIDAY, Sept. 19th. Come and enjoy the pretty sights and have a cup of cocoa.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

Out of all Proportion to the quality of our stock is the lowness of our prices.

We certainly give remarkable value in all lines. Our showing of bedroom suites, in oak, ash, maple and in imitation of these woods is most comprehensive and representative.

And there's much variety in the dining room and parlor furniture, too.

We gather enough good and beautiful things to please all tastes.

We set up

Stoves and Stovepipes

With expedition, neatness, dispatch, and the proper tools, and

WITHOUT PROFANITY

An amateur who sets up a stove will swear even if he has been a deacon for fifteen years.

"Thou shalt not swear."

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

Coal, Capital, Commerce

These three will make

MORRISSEY, B.C.

The most important place in South East Kootenay. The whole people can participate in the grand advantages of Morrissey without paying tribute to any combination or corporation.

Call on us and look over the property.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

SIXTY-FIVE NEGROES KILLED AT A REVIVAL.

Cry of "Fire" Caused a Stampede in a Church at Birmingham, Ala., and the Struggling Mass of Terror Stricken Humanity Blocks the Door.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 19.—In an awful crash of humanity caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Colored Baptist church at the corner of Avenue G. and 18th street to-night 65 persons were killed and many more than that number seriously injured.

The disaster occurred at 9 o'clock just as Brooker T. Washington had concluded his address to the National Convention of Colored Baptists, and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. The dead bodies were strewn in every direction and the ambulance service of the city was utterly unable to care for them. Dozens of dead bodies were arranged in rows on the ground outside the house of worship awaiting removal to the various undertaking establishments, while more than a score were laid out on the benches inside. Shiloh church is the largest house of worship for negroes in Birmingham, and there were at least 2,000 persons in the edifice when the stampede began. The entrance to the church was literally packed and the negroes were trampled to death in their struggle to escape. The ministers used their utmost endeavor to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass. The screams of the women and children added to the horror of the scene. Through mere fright many persons fainted and as they fell to the floor were crushed to death.

FIRST REPORT.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 19.— A stampede occurred to-night in a building in which negro Baptists were holding revival meetings.

Two men got into difficulty, and someone yelled "fight," and the audience mistaking it for "fire" stampeded. Fifty-six are dead and eighty are seriously injured.

The convention was officially known as the National Negro Baptist convention. Negroes of prominence were in attendance from all parts of the country. Two sessions were held in the Shiloh Baptist church. Booker T. Washington was on the program as the principal speaker for to-night.

BELGIAN QUEEN DEAD.

Spa, Belgium, Sept. 10.— Marie Henrietta, Queen of the Belgians, died here suddenly to-night at ten minutes before 8 o'clock. Neither her husband, members of the family nor her majesty's physicians were present at the time of her death. She was seated at a table eating a light dinner, when she was seized with an attack of syncope. Doctor Guallaume, who in the course of the day had remarked upon certain disquieting symptoms in the queen's conditions, was summoned immediately, but her majesty was dead before he arrived. Two members of her suite were with the queen during her last moments.

As soon as the news of the queen's death became known a large crowd gathered outside the palace. King Leopold has left Bagneres-De-Luchon, France, for Spa, and other members of the royal family have been telegraphed for. M. De Smet De Naver, the Belgian premier, will arrive here to-morrow. The late queen was noted for her piety and charity, and in recognition of her devotion to the church the Pope sent her about nine years ago a notable token of his esteem in the form of the golden rose of virtue. She had been ill for about three years past of heart disease, and of late months her condition had been so serious that little hope of her recovery was entertained.

Queen Marie Henrietta was born Aug. 23, 1836, and was the daughter of the late Archduke Joseph of Austria. She was married to Leopold II., Aug. 22, 1853, and had three children: Princess Louise, born Feb. 18, 1858, and married to Prince Philip, of Saxe-Coburg-Gottha; Princess Stephanie, born May 21, 1864, and widow of the late Archduke Rudolph, only son of the Emperor of Austria, and who remarried in 1899, and Princess Clementine, born in 1872. The late queen has been in poor health for years.

Railway Accident.

Jas. Burke, foreman of the C.N.R. ballast train, met with a serious accident near Port Arthur. He was standing on one of the flat cars, when the air brakes were suddenly applied, Burke losing his balance and falling off the end of the car. His left arm was badly mangled and his foot bruised. He was taken to Port Arthur hospital, and it is expected that amputation will be necessary. P. Burke, his father, had to have a leg amputated last winter through an accident.

THE WIDE WORLD.

Telegraphic News of Two Hemispheres Briefly Chronicled.

Queen of Belgium is dead.

Lord Salisbury's illness is due to the gout.

Canada's Thanksgiving Day will be October 16.

A new C.P.R. time table will be issued Oct. 12.

The heaviest fire in many years visited Brantford, Ont., industries.

U. S. capitalists have purchased a big woollen industry at St. Hyacinthe.

After an absence of four years in the Arctics the steamer Fram has returned to Norway.

Mr. R. J. Armstrong, travelling locomotive foreman of the C. P. R., died at Fort William.

Peter Hermia made a desperate fight for freedom previous to being hanged at Hackensack, N.J.

The Turrett line of grain boats will operate on the Great Lakes in connection with the C.N.R. line.

A Vienna cable says: A wealthy farmer, named Leopold Stix, kept his brother a prisoner in a pitch-dark pigsty for fourteen years in order to appropriate the latter's share of his inheritance. The victim of this barbarous treatment lost his reason and became thoroughly animalized by long confinement under bestial conditions. His body was covered with a thick crust of filth, and he lost the power of speech, crawled on his hands and knees, and ate from the ground like a pig. Chance led to the discovery, and the inhuman brother has been arrested.

Rat Portage, Sept. 19.—Provincial Constable Emmons, together with Magistrate Young, journeyed to Eagle River on Tuesday night, information having been laid that one, Geo. La Fleur, a Frenchman, was to be found in hiding there, he being wanted for the serious crime of selling liquor to Indians. He was found in a shack with two other companions playing cards on upturned butter tubs when Constable Emmons walked in upon them. The prisoner tried to escape through the window, remarking he would not be taken alive, when he was told he had better not try to escape, and, after seeing the muzzle of the constable's revolver in close proximity to his head, he thought better of it and gave himseld up. Magistrate Young sentenced him to two months' hard labor. Constable Emmons returned east on Thursday night to make further arrests in connection with this nefarious business.

According to Formula.

Judge Pennypacker was once asked by his brother Harry during a session of court for the loan of $5. Harry walked to the desk and whispered the request in the judge's ear. The latter, looking down over the top of his glasses without the suggestion of a smile, said loud enough to be heard throughout the room:

"Put your application in writing and present it to the court in a proper manner."

Mr. Pennypacker, thinking the judge's insistence upon regularity to be merely regard for the dignity of the court, wrote out the request and handed it to the clerk of the court, who in turn passed it to the bench. The judge read it quietly and seriously and then interrupted the pending trial long enough to say:

"Application for a loan of $5 made to this court is received and refused."

Stopped For Once.

A citizen from the frontier, who never had been in Washington before, was visiting a friend in the nation's capital and was taken one day to the gallery of the senate while an important measure was under discussion.

A senator was delivering a long, prosy and apparently aimless speech, and the visitor soon grew tired of it.

"Why doesn't he say something worth listening to?" he whispered to his friend.

"Oh, he's merely talking against time."

"What's the good of that?" asked the other, aghast. "Time goes on just the same, doesn't it?"

"I suppose it does," replied his friend, looking at his watch and yawning; "but it doesn't seem to."

His Folded Arms.

"Madge, Harry asked me to be his wife last night."

"Oh, I am so delighted!" replied her friend. "How did it happen?"

"Well, you see, he just asked me, and I said 'Yes,' and then he stood up and folded his arms."

"Well, I never! Was he not more interested than that? Whatever did you do at such treatment?"

"What could I do? You see, I was in his arms when he folded them!"

Didn't Know Her.

When the ark was just over Genoa,
Mrs. Noah burst forth at poor Noah:
"Who's this Joan of Arc?
You are keeping her dark!"
"Oh, no! I don't know her," said Noah.

HOMEMADE JELLIES.

HOW A CLEVER WOMAN CREATED A DEMAND AND FILLED IT.

A Profitable Use Made of the Farm's Surplus Fruits—She Has Become an Expert Jelly Maker and It Pays Something Now.

One city woman has found life on a small farm enabled her to add materially to her pin money by utilizing products that otherwise might often have brought but little. A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. H. H. S. Rowell moved to Vine Hill, near Lake Minnetonka, building their home on a small farm already well planted with fruit. They had a taste for country life and chose that to gratify themselves and as affording a desirable environment for their children.

Mr. Rowell's business in the city occupies his time quite fully, but with some hired labor he is able to look after his fruit trees and to keep up a fine garden in his leisure hours. The latter is wholly for his own use, but the former he could not utilize in that way except in small part. In most families, especially of suburbanites, when the men of the family are engaged in other pursuits and merely farm as a side issue and pastime the marketing devolves upon the women of the family.

Mrs. Rowell in considering the matter concluded that it would be easier and simpler to market the fruit product of the place in the form of jellies than to provide a team and take it to market daily. She had had no experience in making jelly except for use in her own home and sometimes found her undertaking a big one, but soon adjusted herself to its wholesale manufacture.

"Before making my first attempt at manufacturing jelly for sale," Mrs. Rowell said, "I went to see several of the leading dealers in this city to inquire if any of them would take homemade jelly and received no encouragement whatever. One seemed much amused at the idea of my thinking I could make enough jelly for him to consider the matter at all. 'You had better make your jelly first before you talk to me,' he said in a manner which implied he did not think I would make more than a dozen or two.

"Strange to say, that dealer has since been my largest patron. I have never seen him since my interview, and I do not think he is aware that he has ever conversed with the woman whose jelly he has been buying.

"I concluded to make the venture notwithstanding, believing a sale could be found for it among private parties if not with dealers. I made 1,121 one-half pint glasses (since then I have always used the one-third pint size), and by the 1st of November all was sold to private parties and dealers, excepting what was reserved for our own use.

"It was not an easy matter to convince the dealers that they needed any, for they would point to their pails of 'jelly,' which they could buy at a few cents a pound. But ever since then one dealer has taken each year all I had to sell him. The most emphatic refusals were from the leading hotels and restaurants, who said they could not afford to pay more than tub jelly prices. The pure food laws are now discouraging the sale of imitation jellies, and I think there will be a much greater demand for pure jellies.

"In making my jelly I am very particular as to the condition and quality of the fruit. It must be either somewhat green or just ripe, but not the slightest degree overripe. Apples must be hand picked to avoid being bruised. Nothing wormy or stale is used. I always try to use fruit the same day it is picked and never use any picked over twenty-four hours. I keep the juice in earthen jars and do all cooking in sixteen and eighteen quart graniteware kettles. I always strain the juice twice and never press the pulp in the least. My method is to cook the fruit with water in the afternoon, mash through a colander and then put all in a bag and leave it to drip over night. In the morning I strain the juice again and put up to boil. After boiling one-half hour (with any amount under four quarts twenty minutes is sufficient) I add heated sugar and again boil fifteen or ten minutes, according to amount. I stir constantly before juice begins to boil, both before and after adding sugar; also skim well before and after adding sugar.

"I never need try it to see if it has jellied. It is poured into glasses and allowed to stand a few days before covering. The past two years I have used paraffin to cover jelly, but concluded this year to again use white paper under the tin lids. I have heard of others complaining of jelly fermenting when covered with the paraffin and to a slight extent have also had the same experience. Two years ago I made 2,548 glasses and used the paraffin. About four dozen glasses fermented. If any one can tell me why those fermented and all the others did not, I would be very glad to know."

Before her marriage Mrs. Rowell was an expert accountant and uses the same exact methods in her domestic accounts. She said.

"I keep strict account of all jelly made as to amount and cost of fruit, sugar and number of glasses and all other incidental expenses, as fuel, labels, cartage, etc., so that I know exactly each year the average cost per glass of each kind of jelly made. By so doing I am enabled to know just what I can afford to sell the jelly for, an essential point in making it for sale."

The maximum record Mrs. Rowell made in 1899, when she made 2,548 glasses. She began her work of jelly making in 1897.—Minneapolis Journal.

Scarcity of Game.

City Sportsman—Have you seen anything worth shooting at around here?

Farmer—Well, no; not till you came

One More.

This strange, eternal cruel fact
Will stick when all of us are still:
There's always one fly left in the room
No matter how many you kill.

PLACEBO PRESCRIPTIONS.

An Old Doctor Tells a Secret of His Profession.

"Never tell a patient that there is nothing the matter with him," said the old doctor, who was revealing the secrets of his profession. "If you do, you make a lifelong enemy and lose your patient, who sends for another doctor. Give him something, if it is only flavored water. If the disease is only imaginary, cure the imagination with a harmless dose, and your patient gets well. In the profession we call such prescriptions 'placebos,' and more wonderful cures are effected by placebos than the world wots of. So, also, when you run across a patient who announces the first thing that he cannot take certain sorts of medicine, don't tell him he must. Agree with him and give him the medicine, if he needs it in a disguised form.

"There are thousands of people who labor under the conviction that they cannot take quinine and will tell you that they have never taken it in their lives, while at the same time they may be taking large doses of it. The taste of quinine is hard to disguise, but if administered in a pill the patient can be made to take it and never suspect what he has swallowed. The trouble is the patient is apt to recognize a quinine pill by its appearance, to suspect, bite into the pill and thus discover your ruse. To obviate this difficulty druggists now have pills of quinine made in odd shapes and colors. Pink pills, containing nothing but quinine and a little harmless coloring matter, are a favorite form for use in cases where an antiquinine crank has to be medicated. In giving a placebo it is not wise to have it taste too well. The patient is apt to suspect if you do. And be sure that you gravely impress upon the patient that only a teaspoonful is to be taken at a time and that at stated intervals. The whole virtue of a placebo exists in the solemnity and importance with which you surround it."

FLOWER AND TREE.

Salpiglossis is a pretty, showy annual, easy to raise and worthy a place in the garden.

The birch grows farther north than any other tree. Next comes the Siberian larch and then the fir.

The dark spot in the center of a bean blossom is the nearest approach to black that occurs in any flower.

Sunflowers may be transplanted quite easily if the work is done on a rainy day or in the cool of the evening.

Preserve a green lawn in the center of the garden, however small. This is needed to set off the flowers and for purposes of relief.

Mignonette is so unobtrusive that its presence is often betrayed by its sweet scent merely, but a large bed of mignonette should be in every garden.

Dissolve fresh lime in water, allow sediment to settle and saturate earth in which small, white worms have been noticed with the clear solution thus made.

That "it is never too late to set out roses" is a true word about gardening. But "the earlier the better, so long as the frost is out of the ground," is a maxim no less worthy of dependence.

A Spiny Monster.

For sheer ferocity of appearance, unredeemed by any milder facial attributes, a lizard called after "Moloch horrid king" Moloch horridus is pre-eminent among reptiles. The body of this Australian reptile is so covered with spines that, as it has been put, nature seems to have endeavored to ascertain how many spines could be inserted on a given area. But, unlike its tutelary deity, who seems really to have spelled himself Molech, the lizard does not demand the blood of children. It is, indeed, vegetarian and only fiery in that it has a curious faculty of absorbing and drying up water. A specimen placed in a shallow dish was observed to attract the water like a piece of blotting paper.

Ancient Trades Unions.

Seven thousand years ago there were trades unions in Nineveh and Babylon, and so strict were their rules that in some cases the penalty of death was inflicted for infringing them. Each man's work was strictly defined, and even the number of hours that he was allowed to work was stated in the charter of his guild or union. Later exactly the same state of affairs existed in Pompeii, and inscriptions have been discovered stating specific appointments of officials to trades unions. The most powerful of these appears to have been that of the Fishermen's guild.

Sheep and Cattle Pastures.

Sheep and cattle cannot pasture over the same territory. Where the sheep wander the grass is cleaned with the devastation of a prairie fire, and the odor is such that cattle will for weeks shun the range.

Coherent Answer.

Helen—I have just refused to marry Mr. Gingerley.

Edith—Oh, did he propose?

Helen—Well, I can't say positively, but that is how I constructed his incoherent remarks.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Norman, Ont., mill property was damaged by fire.

A meat combine has been attempted in the Klondike.

John Clifford, Balmoral, Man., had ten stacks of grain burned.

Phenomenal yields are reported on farms north of Regina.

Attempts to stop Colorado forest fires have proved unavailing.

The license inspector has restricted the sale of hard cider in Winnipeg.

Explorer Peary has arrived at Sydney, N.S., returning from Arctic lands.

Hugh Cameron, of Sarnia, a G.T.R. conductor, was killed at Hamilton.

The International Association of Fire Engineers has been invited to Winnipeg.

Alfred Mascott has been charged in Winnipeg with a crime punishable by death.

The attempt to form a coal and iron trust in Great Britain has bot proved successful.

The increase in Winnipeg bank clearings for the week was nearly a million dollars.

The Winnipeg Parks Board has decided on a new plan for Brookside cemetery and accepted a park in Crescentwood.

At Maberly, Ont., the C.P.R. train from Toronto for Ottawa jumped the track. A fireman named Ross was killed.

The cable ship Colonia, having on board the 3,500 miles of the Pacific cable to connect Vancouver Island and Fanning Island reached Bamfield Creek, B.C., on Friday. The end of the cable was landed safely at noon and the Colonia proceeded to sea at 2 p.m.

At a meeting at Kingston of the trustees of Queen's University, it was decided to set apart a day in November on which to hold a memorial service for the late Principal Grant. An effort will be made to have the foundation stone of the proposed Grant memorial hall laid on the same day.

Hugh Cameron, of Sarnia, a conductor on the Grand Trunk railway freight train, was killed in the Stuart street yard, Hamilton. He was found on one of the tracks unconscious, with one leg cut off and some marks on his face, and was taken to the city hospital. He died about an hour afterward. How he came to be run over is not known, but it is thought he was struck by the midnight express from Toronto, and was afterwards run over by a yard engine while lying on the track unconscious. The caboose of his train was in the west end of the yard, and he would have taken it out in a few hours if the accident had not happened. Deceased left a widow and family. He was about 55 years of age. The remains were sent to Sarnia Thursday afternoon.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, of Brooklyn, who was with Lieut. Peary, on one of his Arctic trips and with the Belgica expedition to the South Pole as chief surgeon, expressed the opinion that Peary's latest endeavor was by no means a failure and that the explorer has added "materially to annals of science; which will be found invaluable, in fact more valuable than the actual discovery of the Pole itself.

All this talk about the terrible dangers to be met before reaching the pole is sheer rot," continued Dr. Cook. "A man, all things taken into account, is just as safe on the Arctic ice fields as he is in New York. There is no danger in traversing the ice fields, nor from the cold, which is not so severe as the cut of the saline blasts on the Atlantia sea coasts. It is the food question," he added, "that was the cul de sac that closes up the way to the pole."

When this problem is solved, reaching the pole, will, in his opinion, be quite a simple undertaking.

The story of the murder of Bouthlette, Beaudin and Constantine in the Yukon and the arrest of Labelle and Fournier on a charge of committing the crime is one of the most cold-blooded acts that has ever taken place in this country. Fournier and Labelle, under assumed names, started out to convey these new arrivals from White Horse and they are charged with murdering them on the way for their money. The bodies of two of the men, with ropes on their waists to which stones had been tied, have been found. Labelle has accused Fournier of the crime and Fournier accuses Labelle. Both seem to be implicated, although Fournier was evidently the leader. The mounted police department has got a telegram stating that the preliminary trial will not take place for a few days. The arrival of Mr. Leonard, M.P., who is a brother-in-law of Labelle, and who is going to defend the prisoners, is being waited for by the authorities. The department says that Fournier and Labelle have partially admitted their guilt.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

Mr. Norther—I've often wondered why so many colored men are lynched down this way. Co. South—Well, suh, I reckon it's because they don't start runnin' quick enough.

No family living in a bilious country should be without Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. A few doses taken now and then will keep the liver active, cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter and prevent Ague. Mr. J. L. Price, Shoals, Martin Co., Ind., writes: "I have tried a box of Parmelee's Pills and find them the best medicine for Fever and Ague I have ever used."

The biggest orchard in the world is near Santa Barbara, Cal. It covers 1,700 acres and contains 31,000 fruit and nut trees.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is better than other soap powders, as it also acts as a disinfectant.

The amount of heat generated by a man's body in a day's work is sufficient to raise 63 pounds of water from freezing to boiling point.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.,

Gentlemen—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist badly bitten by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wound had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever. Yours truly,

A. E. ROY.

Carriage Maker, St. Antoine, P.Q.

Lord Kelvin, who is now 78 years of age, is entitled to place no less than 26 letters, indicating various titles of honor, after his name.

"Just a Little"

Pain neglected, may produce chronic Rheumatism or Gout. Just a little Backache may create Lumbago. Just a little Sprain sometimes makes a Cripple. Just a little Bruise may do a lot of damage. Just a little Headache may be the forerunner of Neuralgia. Just a little St. Jacobs Oil, applied in time cures promptly and permanently Aches and Pains. Just a little caution; just a little cost. Years of Pleasure against years of Pain.

Geraniums bloom most satisfactorily when grown in comparatively small pots and soil which is termed rich, but not rank with excessive manure.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state or morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

In Portugal if the wife publishes literary works without the husband's consent, the law frees him at once from all further matrimonial obligations.

"Jones says he doesn't owe a dollar in the world." "H'm; shrewd tradespeople Jones deals with!"

Every brick that glitters is not gold.

In trying to win a girl's hand a man often loses his head.

Every man is a fortune hunter, otherwise he wouldn't be in business.

It takes a strong-minded woman to keep her calendar torn off up to date.

Some men don't know they are beaten until long after other people make the discovery.

If the beauty of the average man's mind isn't more lovely than his face it is entitled to sympathy.

There is no objection to a woman's having a great command of language if she knows when not to use it.

Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

Speaking of gloves, three of a kind aren't in it with two pairs.

When a small boy gets into trouble there's generally a stick in it; when he grows up and trouble gets into him there are generally several "sticks" in it.

NEURALGIC PAINS.

ARE A CRY OF THE NERVES FOR BETTER BLOOD.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make Rich, Red Blood and Drive These Pains from the System---Read the Proof.

A high medical authority has defined neuralgia as "a cry of the nerves for better blood," and to effectually drive it from the system the blood must be made rich, red and pure. For this purpose there is no other medicine so prompt and sure in result as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills make new, rich, red blood with every dose, and impart new life and new vigor to the person using them. Mr. John McDermott, Bond Head, Ont., offers strong proof of the certain results obtained from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. He says: "A few years ago while working as a carpenter in Buffalo I got wet. I did not think it worth while changing my clothes at the time, but I soon began to suffer for my neglect. I awoke next morning with cramps and pains throughout my body. I was unable to go to work and called in a doctor, who left me some medicine. I used it faithfully for some time, but it did not help me. In fact I was growing steadily worse and had become so reduced in flesh that I weighed only 138 pounds. As I was not able to work I returned to my home at Bond Head. Here I placed myself under the care of a local doctor who said the trouble was neuralgia, which had taken a thorough hold upon my entire system. Misfortune seemed to follow me for the doctor's treatment did not help me, and I think my neighbors at least did not believe I was going to get better. I had not used more than three boxes before I felt that the pills were helping me. From that on I gained day by day, and after I had used some ten or twelve boxes, I had fully recovered my old-time strength, and have since been able to work at my trade as a carpenter without any trouble. I have no pains or aches, and I now weigh 156 pounds. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills an invaluable medicine and shall always have a good word to say for them."

When the nerves are unstrung, when the blood is poor or watery, or when the system is out of order, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the medicine to take. They cure all troubles arising from these causes, and make weak, despondent men and women bright, active and strong. Protect yourself against imitations by seeing that the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," is on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or mailed post paid at 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The longest railway run in the world without changing is on the Canadian Pacific, from Halifax to Vancouver, 3,662 miles.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

WILL RID YOUR HOUSE OF FLIES IN A FEW HOURS.

Madame Isacescu, the Vienese lady swimmer, is training for another attempt to swim the English channel.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A man or woman without benevolence is not a perfect being; they are only a deformed personality of true manhood or womanhood.—Lamb.

TRY IT.—It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—with the ordinary unguents, lotions and salves. They are oftentimes inflammatory and astringent. This oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

Mr. Marryat—I see old Roxley has left an estate worth $2,000,000 at least. Would you like to be his widow? Mrs. Marryat (ambiguously)—No, dear; I'd rather be yours.

"I do believe little Mrs. Higgswarthy loves her brute of a husband so well that she would cheerfully die for him." 'More than that, she loves him so well that she cheerfully lives with him."

"I want you to understand, sir, that my pride forbids me to accept anything from you after I marry your daughter." "How are you going to live?" "Well, I thought you might make some sort of a settlement before hand."

TOOL THAT ALMOST TALKS

Yet its Complicated Mechanism Can Be Tended by a Girl.

The most highly developed of machine tools is the automatic screw machine, and, like many another contrivance for saving labor, its home is New England. It is a development of the ordinary steel working lathe, the intermediate step being the monitor lathe, in which the various cutting tools protrude from the side of a steel turret like thirteen inch guns from a battleship turret. In the nonautomatic screw machine the turret is revolved by the operator so as to bring each tool into play, just as the turret on the old Monitor was revolved to bring one gun after another into action. But in the automatic machine the work is done without human guidance.

In making screws, nuts, bolts, studs and other small pieces that must be turned, drilled or threaded for watches, clocks, typewriters, electrical instruments and other mechanisms all the operator has to do is to feed the "stock"—a long, thin rod of steel or brass—to the machine. The feeding mechanism carries the rod slowly forward into the field of action. The turret advances and puts its first tool at work on the end of the rod. When this tool has done its task, the turret withdraws it, turns and advances a second tool into action. Each cutting tool around the turret has its distinct work to perform—one cutting a thread, another shaping a head, another putting on a point, another drilling a hole, still another putting on knurling. The turret automatically brings each of perhaps six tools into action, and when the work is finished the completed screw drops into a pan, while the "stock" is automatically fed forward to begin the complex operation again. A stream of machine oil pours continuously on the work to carry away the heat, and the little metal cuttings collect in a heap under the machine.

Hour after hour this wonderful automaton goes through its cycle of operations, the turret clicking every moment as it brings a new tool forward. Small brass pieces, on which but one tool cuts, are dropped at the rate of four a second. Large screws of complicated design upon which a whole turretful of tools must work are cut from a steel rod at the rate of one or two a minute. So perfectly are these screw machines constructed that an unskilled workman can operate a row of them. All he is required to do is to keep them fed with "stock." In some shops girls tend the machines.

The Condor.

The condor soars higher than any other bird, spending nine-tenths of its time floating in the rarefied atmosphere at a distance of three miles above sea level.

Fortunes In Toys.

Toys have frequently made millions of money for their inventors.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

Do a man a favor and he will consider you under everlasting obligations to him.

COLIC AND KIDNEY DIFFICULTY.—Mr. J. W. Wilder, J. P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney Difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.

The man who can drink or stop generally stops—at the first saloon.

Amiable old lady, blind in one eye and very deaf, wants to serve as a chaperonne for young ladies. Satisfaction assured.—Detroit Free Press.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

Over a million persons die yearly in Europe of consumption.

Five hundred and eighty-seven distinct languages are spoken in Europe.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

Forty-five hours constitute a week's work for women and girls in New Zealand.

Seventy-eight profit sharing schemes, affecting 53,526 workpeople, were in operation last year in this country.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

$5,000 Reward will be paid by Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto, to any person who can prove that this soap contains any form of adulteration whatsoever, or contains any injurious chemicals.

Ask for the Octagon Bar. 815

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

Americans are proverbially wide-awake - that is why they are buying Manitoba lands and Blue Ribbon Tea.

THE WORLD'S MEDICINE.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

FOR ALL

BILIOUS and NERVOUS DISORDERS,

Sick Headache, Constipation, Wind, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Disordered Liver & Female Ailments.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, Eng. Sold Everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes, 25 cents.

Among those who use

GOLD STANDARD TEA

There is but one opinion: "It leads them all."

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS

SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERM —— $15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

PERSONAL.

Matrimony—(view to.) Gentlemen should join the British Correspondence Bureau. 154 Ebury Street, London, S. W. England. Particulars free.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

O'SULLIVAN Business College

Opp. City Hall, Winnipeg, Man. Call or write for prospectus. E. J. O'Sullivan C.E., M.A., President. Branches at Brandon and Portage la Prairie.

W. N. U. No. 395.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT? WHAT? LEE'S Priceless Recipes, 3,000 secrets for the home, farm, laboratory, workshop, and every department of human endeavor, with full index to contents; 368 pages, bound in cloth; send 25 cents for a copy, and if you think the book is not worth the money send it back, and your money will be refunded; this is a good side line for canvassers. Write for terms if you want to canvass. WILLIAM BRIGGS, Methodist Book-room, Toronto, Ontario.

Many a woman who makes a man a mighty poor wife makes him a rich husband.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

Girls should never flirt in public until after they have a strangle hold on the art.

CHEER UP OLD SPORT

Don't flatter yourself that your high forehead is the attraction. Its the lovely aroma from that LUCINA Cigar we are after.

MANUFACTURED BY

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

Downward Lapse.

First Fish—What's the matter with Finback? He looks seedy.

Second Fish—Yes he's drinking like a human being.

There is a rich sound in closing a back door that only a few people have opportunity to enjoy.

An Abbreviation Explained.

The origin of the symbol "cwt." for hundredweight is as follows: C is the initial letter of the Latin word "centum," meaning a hundred, and wt are the first and last letters of the word "weight" and are used as a contraction for it.

News.

"News" is a queer word—the initials of north, east, west, south—which appeared on the earliest journals as a sign that information was to be had here from the four quarters of the world. The sign was N E W S and gave us our word "news."

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

Examination for Certificates of Competency.

RE "COAL MINES REGULATION ACT."

NOTICE is hereby given that an Examination for Certificates of Competency as Managers of Mines will be held on the 15th day of October, 1902, at the Court House, Nanaimo, B.C., and also at Fernie, B.C., on the same date.

Candidates, not under 23 years of age, desirous of presenting themselves for examination must deliver to Mr. Thos. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, on or before the 5th day of October, 1902, notice of such intention, in writing, together with a certificate of service from their former or present employers, testifying to at least two years' experince underground.

The examination will be in writing, and will include the following subjects, viz:—

1. Mining Acts and rules.
2. Mine gases.
3. General work.
4. Ventilation.
5. Mining machinery.
6. Surveying and levelling.

Any further particulars required may be obtained on application to Mr. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, B.C.

EDWD. GAWLER PRIOR,
Minister of Mines.

Department of Mines, 193-5
Victoria, B. C., 4th Septmeber, 1902.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Canadian Pacific Railway Co'y.

Through daily service to
THE WEST
THE EAST
via all rail or via the lakes.

First class sleepers and dining cars on all through trains

Tri-weekly Tourist Car service east and westbound. The comfort of passengers the first consideration, assured by competent attendants and perfect service.

For full information apply to C. P. R. agent, or

C. E. McPHERSON,
Gen. Pass. Agent, Winnipeg

PREST,
The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction guaranteed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

[We do not necessarily hold ourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents.]—Ed.

To the Editor.

My attention has been directed to a communication in your paper, under date of the 13th instant written by one, Mr. J. Deslaurier, commenting on some remarks said to have been made by me regarding the recent fire in Old Town. I desire to say that Deslaurier's publication is a pure fabrication from beginning to end, with this exception that he came in to the Northern Hotel for what he terms his "morning's morning" or in other words a free drink, and I might here say he is an adept at this. What I did say and still say is that it was a pity all the old shacks were not burned for better buildings would be erected in their stead, which would add to the value and appearance of the town. I think a great number of the inhabitants of Fernie will agree with me in this, at all events I have heard similar remarks.

If Mr. Deslaurier was sincere in his statement why did he not chastise me at the time, instead of rushing into the public press, possibly he wished to see how his name would look in print. So far I have not heard of this would-be Philanthropist's contribution to the relief of those distressed, but then no doubt he may not wish to let the left hand know what the right doeth.

Regarding his remarks abont an officer of the law being run out of of town &c., & c.

I might just say to Mr. Joseph Deslaurier that in onr family there are no sprinters, and before closing would humbly advise Mr. Joseph Deslaurier to use no threats or insinuations.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for space,
I am yours Faithfully.
T. CONN

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend 30 days after the first publication as this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked initial post Mrs. C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 30 chains east of north west corner post of lot 4588, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 12th day of August, 1902.
195-4 MRS. C. M. HENRETTA.

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's north-west corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petrie's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.

Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.
F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the East side of Elk river beginning at the north west corner post of C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of T. W. Bingay, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 23rd day of August, 1902.
T. W. BINGAY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be deard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River. beginning at the south east corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of A. D. MacTier, thence 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north, thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of August, 1902.
A. D. MacTIER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 20 chains west of north west corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of August, 1902.
C. M. Henretta.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of the Elk river, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
CHAS. J. BULGER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked Peter VanDusen's south-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1901.
PETER VANDUSEN.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of Elk river on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. R. Stevens' north-east corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. R. STEVENS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked David Tracy's north-west corner post, adjoining Geo. McClincy's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
DAVID TRACY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about four miles in as southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked August Baldauf's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D. Quail's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chaius, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
AUGUST BALDAUF.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range, Commencing at a post marked George McClincy's north-west corner post, adjoining August Baldauf's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
GEORGE McCLINCY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Derr's south east corner post, adjoining J. R. Stevens north-east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN DERR

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon afterward as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek, on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Levis' north-east corner post, adjoining David Tracy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN LEVIS.

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
S. F. WALLACE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river: Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south, west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District, B.C. commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern bonudary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.

Dated the 8th day of September 1902.
GEO. H. SCOTT.

Noti e is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following described lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River about 38 mile north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains west, thence forty chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence eighty (80) chains north, thence sixty chains east, thence 160 chains south to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.
D. A. McRAE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Hon., the Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west side of the Elk River about six miles north of Andrew Thomson's initial post, forty chains west, thence one hundred and sixty chains north, thence forty chains east, thence one hundred and sixty chains south to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
J. H. BRICKER.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands:

Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, 45 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, twenty chains west, thence 40 chains north, thence 20 chains west, thence 140 chains north, thence 40 chains east, thence 180 chains south following the Elk River to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

ANDREW THOMSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber of the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk river, about 42 miles north from the mouth of Michel creek, one hundred and sixty (160) chains south following the bank of the Elk river, thence forty (40) chains west, thence one hundred and sixty (160) chains north, thence forty (40) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B. C., 29th of August, 1902.
SAUL BONNELL.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post on the west bank of the Elk River, about 44 miles north from the mouth of Michel Creek, forty (40) chains north, thence (20) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains south, thence forty (40) chains west, thence twenty (20) chains north, thence forty (40) chains west, thence eighty (80) chains south thence eighty (80) chains east, thence forty (40) chains north, thence twenty (20) chains east to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
JAS. A. RENNIE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted about 44 miles from the mouth of Michel Creek on the west bank of the Elk river, twenty (20) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred (100) chains west, thence forty (40) chains south, thence one hundred and twenty (120) chains east, thence eighty (80) chains north to point of commencement, containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th August, 1902.
G. G. JEWELL.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Hon. the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following lands. Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of the Elk River, about one mile south of the mouth of Michel Creek, west 10 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 10 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 80 acres, more or less.

Dated at Fernie, B.C., 29th of August, 1902.
A. H. CREE.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of L. A. Davis' timber limit and one mile north of McDougall and Procters timber limit, about three miles from Elk river and about five miles from Fernie, along side Hartley trail, thence running east 40 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains thence running east 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 13th day of August, 1902.
A. K. PAULSON,

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk river, about 21 miles north of mouth of Michel Creek, marked C. J. Digby's south-east corner, thence following the said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

C. J. DIGBY.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked J. G. Coward's south-east corner and about 40 chains north of C. J. Digby's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chaius, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

J. G. COWARD.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked F. Robins' south-east corner, near J. G Coward's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains. thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

F. ROBINS.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

SANITARY WORK.

NOTICE

Any person having any sanitary work to do, or any garbage to be removed should apply to

NAPOLEON GAREAU,
At the Alberta Hotel.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a stake planted about five feet west of A. E. Jackson's post E. timber license, about one mile west of the west bank of Elk river, thence running south 40 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains. thence running south 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 27th day of August.
M. PAULSON.

The Fernie Free Press

VOL. VIII. No. 9. SUPPLEMENT. WHOLE NUMBER, 195

154

METHODIST CHURCH.

FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:

Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

New York, Sept. 23.—Ten thousand persons attended an open-air mass meeting in Madison Square to-night, organized by the Central Labor Union, in sympathy with the striking coal miner in Pennsylvania. A corps of young men and women, preceeded by a brass band, marched aronnd the square all evening, with boxes, for contributions to be sent to the strikers. They were well patronized.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mineworkers, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in their addresses, denounced the coal operators in strong terms. Other speakers were Ernest Crosby, Henry George, Charles F. Adams, John S. Crosby and Benjamin Hanford. Resolutions were passed, which said in part:

"The time has come when no individual or corporation may longer be allowed to remain in the ownership and control of a prime necessity of life for the whole people. We declare for collective ownership and operation by the people of the coal mines and railroads dependent upon them as the only way out of present state of social war between the few capitalists who own all the means of production, and the masses of the toiling people, who used them as the only way to secure to each worker the full product of his labor."

In an interview prior to the Madison Square meeting President Mitchell said the miners are still willing to submit their demands to arbitration and to abide by the decision of the arbitrators. He said he had not come here to meet any of the operators and would not try to see any of them. He denied modified demands to J. P. Morgan or the operators.

The resolutions also favored the formation of a political party "opposed to all parties controlled by the capitalistic class.

President Mitchell in his address said in part:

"I believe that if the coal trust had known three months ago that in order to crush the miners of the anthracite region it would have to crush the American people, its leaders would not have refused to extend fair treatment to the mine workers.

"I wish to say to the American public that the mine workers will never return to the mines until they are treated as every American workingman should be.

"The strikers can and will stand firm all winter if necessary. I do not profess to be a labor agitator, but I an one who stands for living wages for the working man, and by my advice the miners will never accept anything else."

New York, Sept. 23.—A mass meeting of the directors of the Temple Iron company was held here to-day. There were present when the meeting began President Baer, of the Philadelphia & Reading; Truesdale, of the Lackawanna; Fowler, of the New York, Ontario & Western; Oliphant, of the Delaware & Hudson Canal company; Walters, of the Lehigh Valley road; John Markle, of G. B. Markle & Co.; Alfred Steams, of Cox Bros. & Co., independent coal operators.

In the forenoon Mr. Markle went to J. P. Morgan's office and had a long conference with Mr. Morgan. When leaving Mr. Markle was asked if the conference had anything to do with the coal strike. He refused to say what the nature of his business had been. President Baer, before leaving for Philadelphia, said that the meeting today had been entirely informal. After the main meeting President Baer and three others, including Presidents Fowler and Truesdale, held a private conference for half an hour.

Regarding the situation in the anthracite fields President Baer said that every day showed a larger porportion of striking miners returning to work. When asked how much longer he thought the strike would last he said:

"I am not a prophet. The strike will end, that is the one thing we may all be certain of, but I will not attempt to say when it will end."

Washington, D.C., Sept 22.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, said to-day that the striking miners in the Pennsylvania fields were prepared to hold out for months. He said the miners were disposed to make concessions but the operators had refused all overtures from them and that the men now "are not going to yield." The strikers are receiving all the supplies they need and can continue the fight indefinitely. The Federation will do all it can to aid them. One thing is certain, that the strikers will never settle on the basis of dismemberment of their union organization which is all that has raised them ever so little above their desperate condition.

R. A. KERR & CO.

Contractors and Builders.....

Plans, specifications and estimates furnished on application. Shop behind Prest's photograph gallery. Jobbing promptly attended to.

PREST,
The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction gnaranteed.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

Jarvis Keeps The Best

GROCERIES

Canned Fish
Canned Meats
Canned Fruits
Canned vegetables
All kinds of Teas
Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

J. F. Jarvis

FIRE! FIRE!

You cannot afford to have property unprotected from fire during the scorching summer months.

Our fire insurance companies are reliable and reasonable.

We will be pleased to quote you rates on business or dwelling properties.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bootled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

A few furnished rooms to rent at Mrs. Graves' house, next the Methodist church.

7-4-pd. MRS. LOTTIE GRAVES.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES,
LIQUORS,
BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

Lib. Legislative Assy.
Dec 31 1901

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 15. 14 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 196

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - - B.C.
Office :—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave.

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER

Herchmer & Herchmer
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
Offices over P. Burns & Co's Block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE No. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS. Secretary.

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN
ON VALUABLES
The Bannett & Reese Co., Ltd.
Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison
Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.
If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.
Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS
has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...
Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.
OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.
Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.
It will pay you to deal with
C. N. DOUGLAS

NEW MINING COMPANY.

The East Kootenay Placer Company, Limited, held their first meeting in Fernie on Wednesday of this week. The following officers were elected: President, J. A McDonell; Vice President, Dr. S. Bonnell; Sec. Treas., W. R. Ross

The other two members of the company are Albert Banks and Emil Banks.

The property of the company consists of six leases of placer ground on Perry Creek aggregating three miles in length by 400 ft. wide situated about 14 miles west of Cranbrook.

There are several distinct runs of gold on Perry Creek, one of which lies on the true bed rock of the creek and underlies the whole of the company's property. It varies in depth from 20 ft. to 70 ft. The only point where this run is actually worked at the present time is two miles below the company's property where a shaft has been sunk to the bed rock and drifting on the pay streak yields over $20 per day per man. From the true bed rock to a point varying from 4 ft. to 10ft. from the surface, the original valley has become filled with a stratum of tight clay gravel and on the top of this clay or false bed rock a deposit of gold exists which is known by actual prospecting to be generally disseminated over the whole of this false bed rock, on the company's property.

This run of gold has been known to exist for many years, but on account of difficulty of access, until quite recently, it has been impracticable to put proper mining machinery on the ground. From actual tests on various parts of the ground, this pay streak has yielded a return of from $4.00 to $5.00 to the superficial yard. On the top of the false bed rock rests the original wash gravel varying in thickness from 4ft. to 8 ft. which carries values in fine gold from 15 to 25 cents per cubic yard.

The company have purchased a steam shovel which is now being installed and they expect to be able to have the property in operation before the ground freezes up. Some 75 men are now employed in the construction of a waggon road and in moving the machinery in. The amount of gravel which is available for washing has been estimated at over a million cubic yards, and if the method of handling proves a success the propety should pay large dividends. It is not the intention of the company to dispose of any of the stock as they have ample working capital for all present purposes.

The Banks Brothers are the original promoters of the scheme and have worked on the Creek for the last 12 years. They have carefully prospected every part of the company's ground. The ground has yielded an average from $2 to $3 per day for a miner with pick and shovel and they think that, with machinery which can handle the same amount of gravel as 200 men in a day, and which can be operated for the wages of 10 men, the financial results will well warrant the investment.

There are other large bodies of auriferous gravel distributed over South East Kootenay to which the same method of working should apply, if the present venture proves a success. The result of the company's operations will be watched with considerable interest, and it may mean the inception of a new industry for this portion of Canada.

The same class of mining is carried on extensively and profitably in the Western States.

FRANK CATASTROPHE.

A fatal accident took place in the Gebo mines on Sunday evening by which two of the miners lost their lives and five others were more more or less burned, one of them seriously. As nearly as can be learned the accident was due to the burning of a flash of gas, which enveloped a party of miners. Two of them were working at the top of a chamber, and when the fire occurred were enveloped in the flames. They lost their hold and fell down the shaft at the side, a distance of over a hundred feet, being instantly killed. The other men were in the chamber and sustained the heat from the burning gas for some moments. The two who were killed were W. Clark and J. Haines, while David Davis is seriously injured.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Editor.

Owing to some divergence of opinion as to the best means to be adopted for the encouraging of silver lead mining in British Columbia, I desire that the mine owners fix a time and place for the discussion of this subject and also as to the admission into Canada free of duty of all mining supplies and machinery not manufactured in Canada, and the lowering of duties on certain other mining machinery manufactured in Canada.

I shall be pleased to attend any such meetting in order that I may have their views thereon to aid me in my endeavour to bring about conditions most favorable to the mining industries in my constituency.

I might add that the views of the Boards of Trade smelter men and some of the representatives of large silver lead mines in my riding on the question are already before the government.

I would like this matter to be taken up in earnest by the mine owners and to be advised of the time and place of meeting.

By kindly giving this space in your paper, you will oblige,

Yours truly,
W. A. GALLIHER.

Nelson, B.C. Sept. 30th 1902.

To the Editor.

In your last issue you stated that the resignation of Rev. D. Holford of the First Baptist Church Fernie had been accepted. Which is literally true. But what I wish to state through the columns of the Free Press is, that Pastor Holford's resignation was accepted because of his earnest insistance and because of his failing health.

It is a well known fact that Pastor Holford has been a sufferer almost ever since he has been in Fernie, and his present condition is such as to make it imperative for him to get away from the high altitude of Fernie.

The members of Mr. Holford's church regret deeply the circumstances which call him away. Realizing that in his going they lose an able and eloquent Pastor, and earnest worker, and a true personal friend.

We all wish for him a congeniel field of labor, renewed health and the approbation and blessing of Almighty God.

R. M. HUMPHREY.

Fernie, B.C. Sept 29 1902.

A WORTHY TRIBUTE.

Many Rosslanders learned with extreme regret of the death at Fernie of T. Carbet Thompson, accountant of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. He was regarded here as one of the young men of the Kootenays who possessed the ability and energy to rise to the very topmost rungs of the ladder in the Kootenays, and his death after a lingering attack of enteric will be regarded as a personal loss by those residents of the Golden City who new him.

As accountant of the Coal Co. the late Mr. Thompson was in a sence the executive head of the company in the Kootenays inasmuch as the policy of the company in respect to its relations to the public and to the body politic of the province seemed to be committed to his charge. Thus it was that at the last meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, the late Mr. Thompson was a prominent figure in the issues where the interests of the Coal Co. clashed with those of the Kootenays as a whole. His defence of the company at this juncture and the ingenious and skilful manner in which he fought the battle of the corporation against the balance of the convention elicted the admiration and respect of the delegates as a whole. Almost single-handed against the entire convention the late Mr. Thompson fought to the last ditch and succeeded in substantialy mitigating the action taken by the associated boards at that juncture.

Personally the deceased gentleman was genial and entertaining to a degree that made him a general favorite. His demise makes a breach in the ranks of the young men of the interior destined to become leaders.—Rossland Miner.

The Earth Trembled

The residents at the mines were startled on Thursday evening by the terrible shock which almost caused the earth to rock beneath their feet. It was at once thought that another disastrous explosion had taken place, but it was found upon investigation that the shock had been caused by the caving in of the roof in the old workings of No. 1 mine from which the supports had recently been removed. Aside from fright experienced by the miners at work, some of whom never stopped running until they reached home. No damage was done.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Washington D.C. October 3.—The great coal conference between the President and Vice-president Ives of the operators and miners came to an end at the temporary White House at 4:55 o'clock this afternoon with a failure to reach an agreement. Apparently the rock upon which the conference split was reognition of the Miners Union. The President had urged the contending parties to cease the strike in the interst of the public welfare. The Miners, through the President of their union, had expressed a willingness to submit the differences to arbitration of a tribune to be named by the President and to enter into an agreement to abide by the terms fixed by the arbitrators for a period of from one to five years. The employees through the Presidents of the coal companies and a leading independent mine operator, had squarely refused arbitration, denounced the miners' labor organization as a lawless and anarchist body with which they could and would have no dealings, and demanded federal troops to ensure complete protection to workers and their families in the mining region, and court proceedings against the miners union, and had offered if the men returned to work to submit the grievances at the individual collieries to the decision of the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the district of Pennsylvania. Mr. Mitchell tonight said the strike would continue as before now that there had been a failure of the conference and he continued confident of winning. The President, he said, had asked them to see that there was no violence, and they promised him to do all in their power to prevent it. The representatives of the railroads likewise said the fight would continue as before. They said they would demand protection, and if that were given they were confident they would have enough men to mine all the coal that was needed. The president is preparing a statement on the coal conference which it is expected will be issued shortly.

Victoria, Sept. 3.—Premier Dunsmuir is back. He will give no hint as to whether or not he intends to resign. An intimate friend of his is authority for the statement that he will hand in his resignation within a month and that in view of Colonel Prior's relation with the Conservatives, Attorney General Eberts will be recommended by him to the Lieutenant Governor as his successor.

Toronto, Sept. 3—A Collingwood special says the accusation of W. B. Brown of conspiracy to murder his mother for the sake of her life insurance, promises to develop into a most extraordinary criminal affair. The despatch declares the authorities have secured evidence which they believe will warrant the more serious charge of murder being laid against Brown. The alleged victim being no other than his father, John Brown.

OFFICE HOLDERS BUCKING.

THE provincial Conservative organization has encountered the first of its difficulties in the efforts to secure a general recognition for its platform and program from the rank and file of the Conservative party. As might have been imagined the proposition advanced for the recognition of federal party lines found greatest favor from the Conservatives in the legislature who happened to be in opposition, while those who held places in the cabinet, or were close to those who held them, persistently threw as much cold water upon the scheme as they consistently could, and still call themselves Conservatives. In a few words the plan held out a prospect of office for those who were out, and for turning out those who were in It is not surprising, therefore, the news which comes from Victoria, that the two Conservative members of the present cabinet do not take kindly to the plan of the party, and declare they will have none of it. They doubtless see in it their own effacement, and the proposition is advanced at a most awkward time for both of them. It is an open secret that attorney-general Eberts and minister of mines Prior are rivals for the premiership, and that the only thing which delays Dunsmuir from stepping down and out is the inability of the rivals to arrive at an understanding as to who will have his shoes.

The chief trouble with the ministers is that they are back numbers. Neither of them can any longer lay claim to any political strength. Even should they join hands they would constitute but a small fraction. But they belong to the old Victoria set which for years held to the belief that residence on Vancouver island gave them an inherent right to direct the destiny of the entire province. This right it appears has been challenged by the leader of the newly organized Conservative party, and the fat may now be said to be in the fire. Charles Wilson has delivered himself to the declaration that residence on the island constitutes no royal road to the government offices over James Bay, and into this the bucking office holders have read the interpretation that no man who resides on the island is to be permitted to hold a portfolio. They are trying to raise the old island cry which for a long time divided the people of the province, and it is not unlikely that to a limited extent at least they will succeed.

But the end is not difficult to see. Once the Conservative members in the legislature make up their minds that Messrs. Eberts and Prior do not intend to play fair, an end will be made to the present Dunsmuir administration. They have the power to do this, and when they realize that they have to fight the two ministers they will probably start the circus at once so that lively times may be expected when again the members of the present legislature foregather.

THE PREACHERS TAKE ACTION.

New York, Sept. 29.—After a stormy session, resolutions calling upon president Roosevelt to appoint a commission with a view to ending the coal strike were adopted to-day at the weekly Methodist preachers meeting. The resolutions recite that the strike "has reached a stage which calls for the attention of all Christian men; that the interests of many of our people are specially involved as well as those of churches now under our care; that if continued longer the strike will result in unparalled suffering among the poor of our great cities, and the time has now come for honest, earnest efforts to bring about such a settlement as will be acceptable to all parties"

The Presbyterian ministers' association of New York city at their meeting to-day adopted a resolution on the coal strike, to the effect that the ministers of the association be required to offer special prayer for divine guidance, and the right solution of the question.

The coal company are putting a large addition to Dr. Corsan's residence, which will add much to its appearance.

Nearly all the business houses were in darkness for about half an hour last evening owing to some defect in the electric light system.

General Manager Tonkin and Dr. Bonnell were down to the prairie on a duck hunting expedition on Monday and Tuesday of this week. They report a very successful trip.

The application of A. Brown for a license for a hotel at Wardner came up for hearing on Monday, but owing to some irregularity it was laid over until the next meeting.

W. H. Cavanah, of Frank, left this week for Peterborough, Ont., where he has secured a good situation. He expects to play hockey for that town this winter being quite fast enough for any of the eastern teams.

The well known character, "Sailor Jack," who has been in this neighborhood for several years, met with a painful accident while employed at Mott's mill this week. He lost his footing and fell on his right arm fracturing the bone.

The clerks of the town wish to protest against the habit a number of the towns people have of doing their shoping just about 7, o'clock in the evening. They say they are often detained through this thoughtlessness on the part of customers, until nearly eight.

SHOOTING ACCIDENTS

SASKATOON'S M. L. A. SHOT AND KILLED.

Mr. W. H. Sinclair, a Newly-Elected Member, Meets With a Deplorable End While Goose Shooting---Received the Full Charge in His Breast.

A dispatch from Saskatoon, N. W. T., of Sept. 28, says: Mr. W. H. Sinclair, the newly-elected member of the Territorial assembly for the district of Saskatoon, was accidentally shot this afternoon about three miles east of the town. He was replacing his gun in the wagon alter having fired a shot at a flock of geese, and received the full charge from the remaining barrel in the left breast. He lived only a short time. breathing his last before medical aid could reach him. He was a comparatively young man, a widower, with a small family in the east, and was extensively engaged in ranching. He has been a man of great bdsiness energy and will be much missed in Saskatoon. Two brothers-in-law from Toronto were with Mr. Sinclair at the time of the shooting.

Medicine Hat Victim.

A sad accident happened south of Medicine Hat on Friday. Wm. Rutherford was one of a party of duck shooters out for a day's sport. He and a companion were together and while the latter had put a shell in his gun and was closing it, the shell exploded, the contents going into Rutherford's right foot. He was taken to Medicine Hat to the home of his brother-in-law, Wm. Rutherford, and Dr. Calder summoned. The doctor endeavored to save the foot for the young man, but on Tuesday it was found necessary to amputate it. Blood poisoning set in however, and death came to his relief in the evening.

BRITISH CABLES.

England is Becoming More Hostile to the Education Bill.

A cable from London, dated Sept. 27, says: The dissolvent effects of the Education Bill upon the Liberal-Unionist organizations is apparent even in Birmingham, where Mr. Chamberlain's followers are threatening to desert him unless he can secure radical reconstructions of the measure. Old Tories, representing rural districts, are even more alarmed than the Liberal-Unionists. In the Midland counties villages, with dissenting chapels, are pulsating with excitement over what is described as an organized effort for the strengthening of the sacerdotal section of the Church of England at the expense of the local taxpayers. The necessity for a ministerial conference is urged by many provincial organs of the government and predictions are made by practical politicians that Liberal-Unionist organizations will not survive twelve months the agitation over sectarianism in schools with the ratepayers taxed heavily.

It has become the fashion at railway company meetings in this country to compare English and American methods and expressed the fervent hope that British railway finances would never be conducted on the system of American railway finances.

Earl Dudley, the new lord lieutenant of Ireland, was accorded a mixed reception on making his state entry into Dublin yesterday. The students of Dublin university were, as is the rule on such occasions, extremely enthusiastic, and the procession passed the college grounds, but at the city hall the crowd was decidedly unfriendly. On the whole, however, the demeanor of the people was respectful. The Nationalists were well aware that the Earl of Dudley was not responsible for the proclamation of the Irish capital under the Crimes Act.

American manufacturing firms represented by branch houses and agencies in England deprecate the publicity which their energy and enterprise are constantly receiving in the press here and in consular reports at home. They prefer to conduct their business abroad without observation, especially in England, where the power of trades unions is great. Large lines of American manufactures are taken up by English merchants and put on the market without being advertised or known as imported goods. No prejudice is excited against them when they are marketed in this way, whereas there would be outcries against them from trades union agitators if the substitution of American wares were known.

Mr. George Steel dropped dead on Friday last while assisting in threshing on James Wood's farm near Sinclair, Man. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Geese are plentiful on the Prince Albert branch, and cranes are reported as still flying north. Antelope are also to be seen this side of Saskatoon.

HUGGED HIS CHUM'S WIFE.

An ex-Winnipeg Jeweller Shot in California by an Angry Husband.

Harris, the jeweller referred to in the attached clipping from the Los Angeles Daily Times, of September 17, was a former resident of Winnipeg:

Walter T. Harris, jeweller at First and Main streets, was shot in the groin and painfully injured yesterday afternoon by Thomas Morris, who caught him in the act of embracing his wife. The shooting occurred at the home of Morris, on West Twenty-first street, near Figueroa. Harris narrowly escaped death, the bullet passing through the groin and just grazing the femoral artery.

Harris has himself to blame for the trouble, and Morris did only what many another husband would have done under similar circumstances. Mrs. Morris, judging from all the facts that the detectives have been able to obtain, was without fault, but was made the victim of a drunken impulse on the part of Harris, and her husband happened to witness his action. Harris was taken first to the Receiving hospital, and later removed to the Good Samaritan hospital. Morris was locked up, but it is doubtful if he will be prosecuted, because from the first Harris refused to make any statement of the shooting, even after he was taken in charge by the police.

The two men had long been friends, both having come from the same district in London. Yesterday afternoon they met in the Mineral saloon at First and Main streets, and Morris invited Harris to accompany him home to dinner. The invitation was accepted, and Morris telephoned his wife that he would have a guest.

When they arrived at the Morris home both men were intoxicated, and before dinner they and Mrs. Morris proceeded to drink more. The result was that when dinner was announced Morris was almost unable to take his seat at the table. He had had a quarrel with his quest, whom he charged with getting him drunk. Harris and Mrs. Morris went to the dinner, and at the conclusion of the meal Mrs. Morris went to the bathroom to wash her hands. Harris followed her there, and while her back was turned threw his arms about her and hugged and kissed her.

Just at that moment Morris appeared at the door, and witnessed Harris' actions. He became enragtd and ordered Harris to leave his house. In his drunken condition Harris refused to leave, and Morris told him he would put him out, but Harris defied him.

Morris then went to a dresser and secured a revolver, and at the sight of it Harris jumped him. A fight for the weapon ensued, during which the revolver was discharged, the bullet striking Harris in the groin. During the struggle Morris dislocated his thumb and Harris was wounded in the groin.

As soon as he was wounded Harris fled through the rear door and ran to Washington and Figueroa streets, where he telephoned to the police. The patrol wagon was sent for him, but he refused positively to make any statement about the shooting. When he reached the Receiving hospital he told a friend what had happened, and his story was overheard by the officers. This led to an investigation, and Captain Hensley and Detective Auble visited the Morris residence. They found both Mr. and Mrs. Morris asleep in bed, and Mrs. Morris was suffering from a wound in the lip, where her husband had struck her, declaring that she had encouraged Harris, which she denies. Morris was taken to jail and charged with assault with a deadly weapon. It is doubtful if he will be prosecuted, because Harris is not looking for any more notoriety than necessary, and his action in refusing to make a statement shows that he does not desire to see Morris punished. His wound is not serious.

John O'Brien, a resident of Alliston for 27 years, was accidentally killed on Monday by falling from his wagon when returning from Tioga. The accident happened just south of Everett. Previous to the fire of 1891 he was owner and proprietor of the Royal hotel.

The shortage of men for threshing purposes, which is quite noticeable in several sections of the province, will work the greatest hardship on men who have this season purchased new and expensive threshing outfits and have been unable to secure men enough to make up a gang.

Birmingham.—The panic of Friday night at the Shiloh Baptist church, appears to have resulted in the death of not less than 104, and possibly almost entirely from white citizens amount to about $700 so far. This fund is being used to bury the dead. A number of funerals were held on Monday.

London.—Dr. J. H. Tennant, of this city, government veterinary surgeon, last week discovered a very serious outbreak of hog cholera at Tilsonburg East, and in four days 239 hogs were killed, under his direction.

A FIGHT AT BIRTLE.

Uncle and Nephew Have a Scrap---Thos. Bell Seriously Injured.

Birtle, Sept. 23.—This town has become somewhat notorious of late in a small way. Only a few days ago Poundkeeper John Haines had a dispute with one Wm. Flynn over the payment of some fees on the latter's cattle which had been impounded. The outcome of the difference of opinion was an assault on the poundkeeper by Mr. Flynn. Besides being severely pounded Mr. Haines had two sets of teeth badly damaged and was incapacitated for some time. A magistrate's trial ensued and the assaulted paid into the King's treasury something in the neighborhood of $25. A civil suit is now talked of to cover cost of teeth and loss of time.

A more serious affair than the foregoing took place a few miles south of town on Saturday. Some family unpleasantness have during the past few months occurred in the home of Thos. Bell, an old and well known resident of the district. A nephew and neice have lately come out from the old land, the former having served in the South African war and come to Canada to recuperate. It appears that on the day mentioned an altercation occurred between Mr. Bell and the nephew, the outcome of which was that Mr. Bell came into town in the afternoon covered with blood and bearing on his face quite close to one of his eyes two ugly marks, which he claims were made by a knife in the hands of the aforesaid nephew. A charge of aggravated assault was laid by him and shortly afterwards two constables arrested and brought to town the nephew, who also bore several unpleasant looking wounds on his head, which he states were made by a poker in the hands of Mr. Bell. At the trial held yesterday the nephew was committed to stand for trial at Brandon.

Toronto.—To quiet rumors that the city of Winnipeg intended levying a license tax on commercial travellers the Winnipeg directors of the Commercial Travellers Association have notified the head office in Toronto that no such tax is contemplated and that the reports originated in the recent by-law of that city dealing with pedlars.

St. Thomas, Ont.—For the past ten days a single street car has been running on Talbot street and to the railway station. This morning the solitary car was sent to the barn and the busses called into requisition. The tie-up is due to the railway company failing to pay the St. Thomas Gas and Power Co. for the power supplied.

Three Rivers, Que.—The body of Napoleon Corbin was found this morning cut in two by cars on the C.P.R. track, east of the St. Lawrence river bridge. It is not known how the accident occurred.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

The shipper of inferior apples to Winnipeg has been fined.

W. H. Keyes, of Galt., Ont., was murdered at Eckerman, Mich.

Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain favors an 18-knot Canadian-Atlantic service.

The licensed victuallers of Ontario will raise $35,000 for the referendum campaign.

The German match-making business has been ruined by the United States factory.

Lord Dundonald favors a Canadian Aldershot field. The general is now at the Niagara camp.

Troops are guarding Scranton and Lebanon district collieries, owing to violence being rampant.

Major J. W. Powell, the only man who ever thoroughly explored the Colorado river canyon, is dead.

The European powers are not hopeful of any result from Secretary Hay regarding the Roumanian Jews.

The Boer generals have issued a manifesto asking aid for those left destitute by the South African war.

Truth, the London society paper, says the accouchement of the Princess of Wales, is expected in November.

Three hundred cars of wheat were loaded, and 300,000 bushels of wheat marketed at C.P.R. points on Monday.

The G.T.R. and C.P.R. freight officials deny there is a car shortage, but anticipate trouble later on in the season.

The Territorial Grain Growers' association will have a representative in Winnipeg to watch wheat shipments.

Contractor Guthrie's outfit has commenced work on grading the Great Northern line from St. Vincent to Emerson.

C. L. Pabst, a commercial traveller, of London, Ont., drank carbolic acid in mistake for medicine, and may die as a result.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

Grain prices have advanced.

Ontario's Queen's statute was unveiled.

A Scotchman named Gordon was killed at Field, B.C.

The Quebec Southern railway will tunnel the St. Lawrence river.

The list of victims in the Alabama church horror will reach 104.

The funeral of Belgium's queen was held from Spa to Brussells.

An ex-Winnipeg jeweller was deliberately shot in Los Angeles.

Augustus Brownrigg, formerly of Winnipeg, died at Ilamloops, B.C.

Diplomatic relations between Britain and Venezuela are severely strained.

The half-yearly statement of Ontario's mines show a splendid advance in the output.

Troops have been called out to quell violence in the Scranton, Pa., mining district.

The special committee has made a report on Winnipeg's system of bookkeeping.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is discussing improved trade relations with the Italian authorities.

President Roosevelt reviewed the soldiers' parade in Detroit, including a Windsor regiment.

The commissioner of immigration, Winnipeg, has made a statement concerning recent rumors respecting the Doukhobors.

Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., and Mr. Gossell, a Winnipeg delegate, gave their impressions of the results of the recent Dominion Trades Congress.

The city council, Winnipeg, granted permission for a C.P.R. spur track in the rear of Princess street ware houses; voted down Ald. Barclay's library site and passed the William street site. The softening plant will be again tested.

The historic old parliament buildings at Toronto, first used in 1832 for sessions of the legislature of Upper Canada and occupied by the Ontario legislature from 1867 to 1892, have been sold for $5,000 to a paving company and will be torn down and used as a foundation for pavements. The buildings are in a state of extreme disrepair, and the ground is to be cleared by July, 1903. Many of Canada's most famous men—Lyon McKenzie, Baldwin, LaFontaine, and Macdonald, Blake, Mowat and Galt—made themselves a force in public life through debates in the old building soon to be removed.

The handsome steam yacht Carmana, owned by T. S. Carman, of Belleville, was burned at the wharf Monday night. The vessel had been out during the day, and arrived back about 9 o'clock. Fire was discovered about ten o'clock, and is supposed to have been caused by a spark from the smokestack. The vessel, which was one of the prettiest craft on these waters, was valued at about $6,000, and was burned to the water's edge. The insurance is $3,000.

On Monday at the G.T.R. yards at Lindsay, Ont., a section man, Wm. Rogers, lost his life. It was reported that Rogers was between two cars, through which the grain was escaping, these cars having been in the wreck of Sunday. The shunting engine switched back a car, which came with force against the cars being examined by Rogers, crushing his head between the bumpers and killing him almost instantly. Rogers leaves a wife and two children.

A sad shooting accident took place at Garnet settlement, fourteen miles from St. John, N. B., on Monday. Edward Garnet, aged fourteen, and William Rowley, aged eighteen, went out hunting partridges. While crossing a fence Garnet was in the lead with Rowley close behind with the gun. The gun caught in the fence, and the contents went into Garnet, who died shortly afterwards from wounds.

Montreal.—The borings which the Quebec Southern railway company have been making in the bed of the St. Lawrence, with a view to the construction of a tunnel, have now been completed, and plans are being prepared for submission to the government. The cost of the tunnel has not yet been accurately estimated, but it will likely fall much within the $5,000,000 at which the company is capitalized.

A cablegram was received by Rev. Dr. Warden from Honan, China, announcing the death of one of the Canadian Presbyterian church missionaries, Craigie Hood, of Harrow, from cholera, on Friday lasy, Sept. 19. Hood was a native of Harrow, where his relatives reside. He was unmarried. He went to China as a missionary in August, 1899.

Earl Minto left Ottawa Wednesday for the Northwest.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

Lord Salisbury's condition has improved.

The Chicago wheat market closed strong.

Gen. Booth had an insuiring farewell in London.

Judge Fontaine, a prominent Quebec jurist, is dead.

Toronto won the Eastern League pennant Saturday.

Angus McLean, of Regina, was drowned at Rat Portage.

The surplus of the Intercolonial last year was $96,880.

Miss Lillian Stacey died at Cornwall under anesthetics.

Winnipeg's detachment of the battery has left for Deseronto.

W. Davidge, of the Thorold Pulp mill, died by a bullet wound.

Hon. J. H. Ross has accepted the Liberal candidature in Yukon.

Hon. Mr. Borden and party were in a runaway accident near Calgary.

South Africa colonies will pay $400,000,000 as their share of the war.

Archbishop Langevin is building "La Maison Chapelle" in St. Boniface.

The victims of the Alabama church revival service stampede will reach 115.

A new United States cruiser, the Des Moines, was launched at Quincey, Mass.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co.'s capital will be increased to $1,500,000.

Montreal grain men are becoming alarmed at the scarcity of boats on the great lakes to carry wheat out of Fort William.

James Thompson, a Toronto cattleman, arrived in Montreal Thursday morning with $1,313 in his pocket. He had dinner at the London House and then met some young men. He says that that is the last thing he remembers, and he turned up at the detective office and told of the loss of all his money. Men were detailed to work on the case, and three arrests were made within a short time. The men gave their names as John Guynan, Patrick Friere and John Curran. The latter had over $400 in bills in his pocket, which were recognized as part of the stolen money.

Miss Lilllan Stacey, a young girl who had the scalp torn off her head by being caught in the machinery of the card room of the Canadian colored cotton mills about five weeks ago, died at the Cornwall general hospital at ten o'clock on Saturday. A sad feature of the case was that Miss Stacey had undergone several operations of skin grafting, skin being taken from her thigh and arms and grafted on the head. Saturday she underwent another operation for the purpose, and while under the influence of anaesthetics, died.

The steamship Niger, of the Canadian Export and Forwarding Company's line, from Rotterdam for Montreal, with a general cargo, while turning into the river ran into the steamship Hilda from Montreal, which was anchared in the stream awaiting a mate before proceeding to sea. The later is in the coasting trade, and has on board a general cargo for St. John's, Nfld., and way ports. Both steamers sustained serious damages, the Hilda's forepeak being full of water.

The leaves of the ivy, which is grown quite extensively in Winnipeg as a decoration for walls and verandahs, has assumed a beautiful deep tint, which makes the vine even more beautiful than when it possessed its full wealth of dark green verdure. If Manitoba has a short summer there is compensation in the fact that durtrees and flowers are always beautiful.

The body of Wm. Davidge, of the Thorold pulp company, was found by members of his family dead on the floor of his room with a bullet wound in his right temple about 10.30 this morning. It is not known whether it was accidental or a case of suicide. Dr. Lewon deemed an inquest not necessary. Davidge came there from Niagara Falls, N. Y., about two years ago. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a widow.

A stock train on the Great Northern road was wrecked last Saturday morning at 11.30 near Arvilla, twenry miles west of Grand Forks. Twenty-two cars are reported in the ditch. Half of the stock, consisting of horses and cattle, were killed and the rest are loose on the prairie. A wrecking train was sent to the scene from Grand Forks. No person is reported injured.

The Boer generals have issued an appeal to the world.

The supply of anthracite coal in Winnipeg is exhausted.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

The pin machines of England, Holland and Germany turn out an average of 67,000,000 pins for every work day of the year. At Birmingham one factory makes 30,000,000 pins per day.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.,

Gentlemen—In June '98 I had my hand and wrist badly bitten by a vicious horse. I suffered greatly for several days, and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In five hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wound had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever. Yours truly,

A. E. ROY,

Carriage Maker, St. Antoine, P.Q.

Queen Victoria disliked the smell of furs, and especially of sealskins very much indeed, and when she invited anyone for a drive they had to leave such wraps behind.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse, N.Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr. Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with sepere headache, but these Pills have cured her."

Some men think it folly to lay up treasures in heaven, where it's ten to one they would never see them again.

"What's good to eat is bad to cat," says a chronic dyspeptic.

Mr. T. J. Humes, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I have been afflicted for some time with Kidney and Liver Complaints, and find Parmelee's Pills the best medicine for these diseases. Those Pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required. They are Gelatine Coated, and rolled in the Flour of Licorice to preserve their purity and give them a pleasant, agreeable taste.

You never hear one girl say that another is too young to marry.

It is far better to have a policeman call you down than take you up.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant to take; sure and effectual in destroying worms. Many have tried it with the best results.

The horse you get a "sure tip" on is sure, perhaps, but slow.

Wise is the man who can distinguish between his friends and his enemies.

Minard's Liniment Cures LaGrippe.

It has been computed that the death rate of the globe is 68 per minute, 97,790 per day, or 35,717,790 per year. The birth rate is 70 per minute, 100,800 per day, or 36,817,200 per year to be 365¼ days in length.

HELP FOR MOTHERS.

Baby's Own Tablets Are What You Need When Little Ones Are Cross, Fretful and Sleepless.

If a child is cross, fretful and sleeps badly, the mother may feel absolutely certain that some derangement of the stomach or bowels is the cause. And she can be just as certain that Baby's Own Tablets will put her little one right. These Tablets cure all the minor ailments of little ones, such as indigestion, constipation, simple fevers, diarrhoea, worms and teething troubles. They are guaranteed to contain no opiate and can be given with absolute safety to the youngest and most feeble child. Every mother who has used them speaks of these Tablets in the warmest terms. Mrs. E. Bancroit, Deerwood, Man., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for stomach and bowel troubles, for simple fevers and teething, and I think them the best medicine in the world. They always strengthen children instead of weakening them as most other medicines do."

You can get Baby's Own Tablets at any drug store, or by mail post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y.

When a married man falls downstairs he is sure to blame his wife for the mishap.

A New York boarding house keeper attempted to commit suicide recently. Usually it is the boarders who feel like taking a flier into the great beyond.

A railroad between Coalzacoalcos and Salina Cruz, Mexico, which will open a new means of transportation between the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast, has been completed recently.

The scientists have decided that the average workingman requires daily in his food not less than four ounces of proteids, two ounces of fat and eighteen ounces of the carbo-hydrates.

If yod are not satisfied with the world you should hire a balloon and get out.

Clam and Egg Scramble.

For clam and egg scramble chop a dozen steamed clams rather fine, beat slightly four eggs, add clams and four tablespoonfuls clam liquor; turn mixture into tablespoonful melted butter, stir over boiling water until thickened; pepper and serve quickly.

Cancer.

In Germany 70 per cent of male and 68 per cent of female cancer patients suffer from cancer of the digestive organs.

Tinware.

To clean tinware wash it with hot water and soap and then, after drying, polish it with dried flour, using a piece of old newspaper as a polishing cloth.

Swept the Country.

The first epidemic of smallpox in Mexico is estimated to have carried off 3,500,000 people.

To Purify Water.

To prevent a bad smell from water which has been left to stand in tanks a few scraps of hoop iron should be placed in the water. As the sulphur compound evolved from the water combines with the iron it will leave the water quite sweet.

American Shoes.

The American shoe for men is far superior in appearance and comfort to the French article, which is hard and boxy. The American shoe for women is an improvement on the English article, which is provocative of corns.

Nero.

Nero tried to kill himself, but was afraid to do so. He finally gave himself a slight wound in the throat, one of his friends pushed the sword farther in, and a fatal wound resulted.

LOST HIS RHEUMATISM By the Use of a Bottle of St. Jacobs Oil.

Sergeant Jeremiah Maher, of Ardcath, Royal Irish Constabulary, says: "My friend, Mr Thomas Hand, has been a great sufferer from rheumatism in the back and joints for the last four years, during which time he has applied many different methods of treatment, but obtained no relief whatever, and for the last two years has been unable to walk without a stick, and sometimes two sticks, and was in great pain constantly. I induced him to procure a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, which he applied with the most astonishing and marvellous effects. Before he had finished using the contents of the first bottle he could walk readily without the aid of a stick, and after a few applications from the second bottle he was free from pain, and has been ever since; and although fifty years of age and a farmer, he can walk and work without experiencing any pain or difficulty whatever."

The office may seek the man, but the boy looking for a job comes in bunches.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

WILL RID YOUR HOUSE OF FLIES IN A FEW HOURS.

A brave man hazards life, but not conscience.—Schiller.

From the lowest depths there is a path to the highest height.—Carlyle.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props., Toledo, O.

We the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Of course, a woman doesn't care whether her photograph resembles her or not just so it is pretty.

The "smile" of the summer girl is usually ice-cream soda.

Why go limping and whining about your corns, when a 25 cent bottle of Holloway's Corn Cure will remove them? Give it a trial, and you will not regret it.

The Yoho Region.

The Yoho region in British Columbia is of a more majestic beauty even than California's Yosemite.

The Sapphire.

Hebrew tradition says that the tablets of Moses were of sapphire. In Hebrew the word "sappir" means the most beautiful. It symbolizes loyalty, justice, beauty and nobility.

Shark Fishing.

In all the equatorial islands of the north and south Pacific shark fishing is a very profitable industry to the natives, and every trading steamer and sailing vessel coming into the ports of Sydney or Auckland from the islands of the mid-Pacific brings some tons of fins, tails and skins of sharks.

HAD LITTLE FAITH.

HOW A DOUBTFUL MAN WAS CONVINCED AND RESTORED.

A Story that Illustrates the Advantage of Reading and Being Guided by Newspaper Advertisements.

Lower Windsor, N.B., Sept. 29th.—(Special).—"I want to say that I believe that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right medicine for Kidney Touble."

This is the declaration of Mr. T. H. Belyea, postmaster of this place, who for a long time was the victim of a very severe case of this painful disease.

Mr. Belyea reads the newspapers, and after he had tried plasters, oils and liniments and all kinds of external remedies as well as doctors' treatments, with no good results, he began reading the testimonials of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He says:—

"This remedy was so highly recommended for Kidney Trouble that after reading some testimonials I concluded to try them for a short time, but I must admit that having tried so many things and failed to obtain a cure, I had but little faith that Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else could or would help me.

"However, I did not use them long before I found out that they were all and more than was claimed for them.

"I used to have very bad spells, which of late years became so frequent and so severe that I was almost laid up.

"I received more benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills than from any other medicine I have ever used and they certainly made a complete cure of my case.

"I feel as well as ever I did and have not the slightest trace of the Kidney Trouble that bothered me for so many years."

Mr. Belyea is not the first skeptical man that has been convinced by experience of the medicinal value of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The alligator does not attain his full length until he is 50 years of age. When 1 year old his length is about 12 inches; at the age of 15 he has grown to rwo feet.

One to-day is worth two to-morrows.—Franklin.

Minard's Liniment for Rheumatism.

There are 147 Indian reservations in the United States.

A healthy definite purpose is a remedy for a thousand ills.—O. S. Marden.

When washing greasy dishes or pots and Pans, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will remove the grease with the greatest ease.

Perseverance is failing nineteen times and succeeding the twentieth. —J. Anderson.

It is impossible that a man who is false to his friends should be true to his country.—Bishop Berkley.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons so constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, etc. These persons are not aware that they can indulge to their hearts content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicine that will give immediate relief, and is a sure cure for all summer complaints.

The self-made man is often the only one who is satisfied with the job.

The mantle of charity protects a multitude of amateur theatrical performers.

SIX OILS.—The most conclusive testimony, repeatedly laid before the public in the columns of the daily press, proves that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—an absolutely pure combination of six of the finest remedial oils in existence—remedies rheumatic pain, eradicates affections of the throat and lungs, and cures piles, wounds, sores, lameness, tumors, burns, and injuries of horses and cattle.

An old bachelor is a man who admits that he doesn't think he is smart enough to take care of anyone but himself.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

It is generally supposed that when a man's heart pulsations go down to 40 a minute death will follow unless restoratives are administered. Parisian doctors are now, it is said, puzzled over a man, in one of the hospitals, whose pulsations have sunk as low as 18 a minute, although to all appearances he is well and strong.

Thoroughness.

Prof. W. Hodgson Ellis, Official Analyst to the Dominion Government, states that "Sunlight Soap has "a thorough cleansing power, without danger to the clothing or skin." Women who want washing done thoroughly cannot use better than Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar. Unlike common soaps, there is no damage to the clothing, and no danger to the skin; hence the saying: Sunlight Soap reduces expense. Try Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—next wash day, and you will see that Prof. Ellis is right. He should know. 218

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure.
Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR.
Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

"First prize goods!"
Blue Ribbon Tea, Coffee,
Baking Powder, Flavoring
Extracts and Jelly Powder.
Dont forget about them.

ARE YOU BUILDING?

IF SO USE EDDY'S IMPERVIOUS SHEATHING

THE BEST BUILDING PAPER MADE.

It is very much stronger and thicker than any other (tarred or building) paper. It is impervious to wind, keeps out cold, keeps in heat, carries no smell or odor, absorbs no moisture, imparts no taste or flavor to anything with which it comes in contact. It is largely used not only for sheeting houses, but for lining cold storage buildings, refrigerators, dairies, creameries, and all places where the object is to keep an even and uniform temperature, and at the same time avoiding dampness.

Write our Agents, TEES & PERSSE, Winnipeg, for samples.

THE E. B. EDDY CO., Limited, HULL.

Housekeepers must find it difficult to decide which PACKAGE TEA is the best—there are so many.

If you try

GOLD STANDARD

It will settle all doubts.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS

SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS—$15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

W. N. U. No. 396.

T. H. METCALFE & CO.

Grain and Commission Merchants.

Highest prices paid for wheat, oats, barley or flax in carlots. Wire or write me for prices before selling. Liberal advances made on consignments and handled on commission. Licensed and Bonded.

P. O. Box 550, Winnipeg, Man.

GOOD MONEY EARNED

Knitting for us. Other inducements to right parties. We rent new machines. Send for particulars at once. Ontario Furnishing Co. Toronto, Ont

People who are troubled with sleeplessness should drink cocoa instead of tea or coffee at the evening meal.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals.

Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa.

For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy.

Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

In 1890 the railroads of the world were estimated at 370,281 miles.

England has forty ships engaged in the South African traffic, Germany eight and the United States only two.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

"Good men, you know, are very scarce." "Yes, I know, and even bad men have to make themselves so at times."

JUST LOOK at the scramble for our LUCINA CIGARS.

Simply Wonderful.

MANUFACTURED BY

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO.....WINNIPEG

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory.

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT? WHAT? LEE'S Priceless Recipes, 3,000 secrets for the home, farm, laboratory, workshop, and every department of human endeavor, with full index to contents; 368 pages, bound in cloth; send 25 cents for a copy, and if you think the book is not worth the money send it back, and your money will be refunded; this is a good side line for canvassers. Write for terms if you want to canvass. WILLIAM BRIGGS, Methodist Book-room, Toronto, Ontario.

THE ANGLE LAMP

combines the maximum of light with the minimum of heat, the minimum of trouble, the minimum of expense. Used in HOUSES, STORES, CHURCHES HOTELS, FACTORIES Etc., Etc.

It is perfection in lighting. The light that never fails. It uses ordinary coal oil—one quart in 16 hours. No smoke, no odor, no drawing up, no removing of globe or top to light, filled while burning, the only light having no undershadows. Apply to your local dealer or send for catalogue and prices to Hilton, Gibson & Co., P. O. Box 391, Winnipeg.

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control: these three alone lead life to sovereign power.—Tennyson.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

ADVERTISING RATES.

For transient advertisements, i.e., all advertising not of a commercial nature and not specially contracted for :—

Per line, first insertion..... 10 cents
" " each subsequent insertion..... 5 "

Legal advertising, auction sales, and all other advertising not recognized as commercial advertising, will be charged regular transient rates.

COMMERCIAL ADVERTISING :

One inch, per month	$ 1.50
Two inches, per month	3.00
Three " " "	4.50
Four " " "	5.00
Six " " "	6.00
Eight " " "	8.00
Ten " " "	10.00
Twelve " "	12.00
Fourteen " "	14.00
Sixteen " "	16.00
One column " "	18.00

Local or special notices, set in regular body type of paper and inserted amongst pure reading matter, will be charged for at the rate of twenty cents per line for each insertion. If set in black type, the rate will be twenty-five cents per line for each insertion.

Dissolution of Partnership Notices, $3.00.

Liquor License and Mineral Claim Notices, Etc., $5.00.

Changes for advertisements will not be received for publication after 6 P. M. Tuesday.

THE FERNIE FREE PRESS,
FERNIE, BRITISH COLUMBIA

SATURDAY, OCT. 4, 1902.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE attitude of General Manager Tonkin in opening the new townsite of Morrissey has met with the general approval of the public. The land which lies about half a mile below the mines, is now being surveyed, and the lots will be put on the market in the course of a month. This is bound to be a good location for the business man. It is not the intention of the Company that Morrissey shall be a shack town. All lots on the business streets will be sold with the distinct understanding that first-class buildings will be erected. The wisdom of this plan will appeal to every patriotic citizen. Fernie still suffers from the ill effects of what we call the "Old Town."

"Anxious Inquirer"

WE have received an urgent inquiry from one of our regular subscribers as to whether there is still a Board of Trade in Fernie, and is so, if it ever meets and what business is transacted In reply to this inquiry, we are only able to say that we believe there is such an institution, but that recently it has not been very active. As, however, it is the only representative body in town, there is no doubt it will wake up one of these days and attend to matters of importance which are awaiting its consideration. In the absence of incorporation, which is so desirable, and a municipal council, we are dependant upon the Board of Trade to let the world know that we are in existence. Perhaps when they convene once more, they will take up the matter of incorporation and how to improve the present sanitary condition of the town.

* * *

"Our Police Force"

EVER since Fernie has had an existence, it has been noted as the best conducted town in the interior of British Columbia. Nowhere have the streets been so free from the objectionable features of the average mining town and every visitor in the past has commented upon this fact. It is well known that late constable Barnes made certain rules for the regulation of certain matters which had the effect at least, of keeping them in the background and of preventing them from being flaunted in the faces of respectable citizens. Since his leaving these instructions have been countermanded or varied to such an extent that vice is now encouraged to parade itself at almost all hours of the day, both in the streets and other public places. This is a disgrace to the town and a still greater disgrace to the police authorities who permit it. We have received the remonstrances of some of our oldest and most respected citizens and can only express our suprise that it should be necessary for anyone to complain abont such a matter. If the new police are incapable of appreciating the feelings of our citizens in this matter, they will very quickly be taught that their present attitude cannot be tolerated and that Fernie is not prepared to lose its good character because they have not been accustomed to dicipline.

The Knocker

THE editor of the Cranbrook Herald says the Lord hates a knocker. In fact the knocker seems to be "the Old Man's" bugbear. He worries over him in his sanction by day and dreams of him by night. It is said that no matter how vile a man may be he still has some good traits about his character Let us examine the knocker and see if this fact applies to him or is he really as black as painted. In the first place whom do you hear complaining about the knocker? (This, of course does not apply to the editor of the Herald) In our experience the complaint generally comes from the man who has some wild cat investment scheme in which he wishes to entangle the unwary man who has a few dollars to invest. This is the man who lives in terror of the knocker. The man who has a good thing to offer has no fear from this source but the liar and the confidence man who is trying to fleece the public is generally a mark for the so called knocker and if he succeeds in warning some unwary citizen against such a creature he certainly does the public a favor for which they ought to be grateful. The Lord may hate a knocker, but he also thoroughly despises a liar and a hypocrite, who tries to swindle the public.

FERNIE
Real Estate

IS ADVANCING
yet there is no boom.

For sale—several good business lots on Victoria street; a number of dwellings and store properties at a reasonable figure.

To Rent — dwellings, stores and rooms.

Call and get figures at

Watson's, Next the Victoria

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Canadian Pacific Railway Co'y.

Through daily service to
THE WEST
THE EAST
via all rail or via the lakes.

Tri-weekly Tourist Car service east and westbound. The comfort of passengers the first consideration, assured by competent attendants and perfect service.

For full information apply to C. P. R. agent, or

C. E. McPHERSON,
Gen. Pass. Agent, Winnipeg

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or a soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked Thomas Britt south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. K. Neison's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept, 1902.
THOMAS BRITT.

Winter Flowering Bulbs

A great variety.

Bleasdell's Drug Store.

Cars's Mackinaw.

Lumbermen

You should see our stock of the celebrated Cars's Mackinaw Clothing

This clothing holds the same position in its line as the Slater Shoe does in footwear

The only genuine Mackinaw clothing in Canada.

We have it in Pants, Coats, Shirts and Mitts.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.
JOHN OWENS.
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east: thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.
HUGH McMILLAN
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.
WM. S. KEAY.
Dated August 28, 1902. 191 8

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publ cation of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles south-west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. D Quail's north-west corner post, adjoining C. J Bulger's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. D. QUAIL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Rudolph's north-east corner post, adjoining Geo. Clincy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN RUDOLPH.

Collars & SHIRTS

We keep only one line, and that is the best.

The W. G. & R. always on top.

They are conceded by good dressers to be the peer of any on the market

Crow's Nest Trading Co

WAIT for them!

Morrissey Townsite Opened

Do not invest your money in wild cats when You can get a SURE THING.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. are throwing open their Morrissey property for a townsite. The land is now being surveyed, and the lots will be put on the market in about two weeks.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

J. A. Harvey, of Fort Steele, was in town on Monday.

F. J. Mitchell can fit you in a suit of clothes. Give him a trial. x

A. Dick, mine inspector, has been in Cranbrook on business during the past week.

A large shipment of standard and copyright books just arrived at the Fernie Drug Store. See our window.

Mr. W. A. Williams, of Toronto, was in town several days this weeks the guest of his daughter, Mrs. T. C. Thompson.

Walter Harwood shot a beautiful little cub while out hunting near the mines yesterday. It is said to have been a pet of one of the cooks.

Postoffice Inspector W. H. Doran, of Vancouver, visited Fernie this week. He came up to open the new post office on Foss & McDonnell's townsite.

The proprietors of the Royal Hotel barber shop wish to inform the public that they will in future close their shop every evening, except Saturday, at 8:30.

Dentistry

Dr. Barber will return in the course of a few days and my be found at his office from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. He is installing a system of incandescent lights which enable him to do dental work evenings.

Among the distinguished visitor to Fernie this week was Lieut. Col. Pellatt, of Toronto, one of the leading stockholders of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. He only remained a couple of days and left for the east again.

It is said that a game of lacrosse has been arranged between Nelson and Medicine Hat for a purse of $500, the match to be played on neutral ground in some town between the two places Fernie will probably be chosen as the field of battle.

A number of our citizens are talking seriously of organizing a curling club for the coming winter. There are several enthusiasts in the community who are willing to put up money to build a curling rink, and the scheme will doubtless be carried out.

In the lacrosse match between New Westminster and the Shamrocks on Wednesday of this week, the latter were defeated by a score of 10-2. In the match on Thursday, however, the easterners were in better shape and reversed things, the score this time standing 8-4.

The preliminary hearing of the charge against Andrew Palko for stabbing John Moravich came up before Stependiary Magistrate Armstrong yesterday. The case lasted all afternoon, W. R. Ross putting up a good fight for his client, but the evidence against the accused was strong and he was sent up for trial. The witnesses were nearly all foreigners.

Rev. Connor, of Morrissey, takes exception to an item published in the Free Press of two weeks ago, in which it was stated that the reverened gentleman presented a petition at a meeting of the license commissioners at Cranbrook with 128 names upon it, all of whom he vouched for being householders. Mr. Connor says this is not correct. He did not vouch for them being householders

A hundred yard race has been arranged between F. J. Mitchell, of Fernie, and Nevin, of Cranbrook, to take place in the latter town on Oct. 25th. The race is for a purse of $500. Sporting men around town are deeply interested in the event and quite a number will go to Cranbrook on that date. The Cranbrook people have every confidence in Nevin, as he won from Mitchell in Frank on the 17th of Sept. It is said they have erected a little shack out on the recreation grounds for him and he spends all his time training. Mitchell is suffering from a severe cold at present and has not yet got down to work but expects to commence training next week.

Considerable excitement was caused at the mines on Thursday evening when a black bear paid a visit to that community. He was first seen on the flat a short distance west of No. 2 fan house, the report of his appearance soon spread and all the local nimrods, armed with every conceivable weapon ancient and modern, prepared to give him a warm reception. The bear, it appears, had other plans and could not wait for the ball to begin, for with the first fusilade he acted on Horace Greely's advice and started west, all the hunters' persuasion failing to prevent him. He must be as full of lead as the North Star Mine for we have it on good authority, the hunters' themselves, that every one of his pursuers succeeded in hitting him at least once. It will be well for the custom officers to be on the lookout for him as it is possible that he may attempt to smuggle the lead across the line.

J. F. Amstrong was in town yesterday.

See Mitchell's up-to-date goods for your fall suit. x

Mr. and Mrs. Foss, of Morrissey, were in town on Thursday.

Mr. Wm. Eschwig spent Sunday in Cranbrook with friends.

Mrs. F. J. Mitchell, arrived in town from Greenwood on Monday.

WANTED—Furnished house with five or six rooms. Apply at this office.

Mr. A. W. Bleasdell is negotiating for the purchase of the Frank drug store.

The B.C. Permanent Loan & Saving Co. are loaning money on residental property across the river.

Wanted at Watson's real estate office dwelling, etc., to sell or rent. Collection of rent made if desired.

J. R. Pollock, who was confined to the house with bronchial troubles last week, is able to be around again.

Messrs. Foss & McDonnell, have received the contract for excavating for some 250 coke ovens at Morrissey.

Mrs. W. A. Ingram returned last week from a three months visit in Ontario. She was the guest of relatives at Minnie.

John Balko, is circulating a petition around town for a license for a hotel on the Farquharson property, just opposite the Victoria Hotel.

Dr. Higgins is absent this week on a holiday. He is visiting in Spokane. It is said the doctor will bring a bride back with him when he returns.

Mr. H. L. Stabeler recived the sad intelligence on Thursday that he was possessor of a brand new step-mother. He has not been seen to smile since.

J. D. Chipman, of St. Stephens, N. B., one of the Directors of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co ,was in Fernie yesterday, the guest of General Manager Tonkin

The Christian Scientists hold their meetings at the home of Mrs. Raney every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock and Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. All are cordially invited to attend.

The story to the effect that the Morrissey coal will not coke is incorrect. Some trouble was experienced with some old slack which had been lying on the dump for over a year, and this is probably what led to the circulation of the report.

James A. Baker, provincial organizer of the Western Federation of Miners, is in town this week in connection with the vote, which is being taken to-day upon the final settlement of the differences between the Miners and the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. Mr. Baker has been touring the province and has visited nearly all the local unions in British Columbia.

The following gentlemen are applying for hotel licenses at Morrissey, B.C.:—Wm. Ganong, F. J. Dunn, Wm. Shaw, C. J. Digby, and E. J. Peltier & Co., of Fernie; Andrew Johnson, of Moyie; E. Small and Chas. McNabb of Cranbrook; Eugene Walter, and Robt. Schram, of Morrissey; Frank S. Moore, of Elko; J. E. Angers and Wm. Stewart, of Ft. Steele; and H. W. Barnes of Fernie.

Customs collections made at the outport of Fernie, B.C., for month of September, 1902:

Value of Imports,	Dutiable.....	$4710 00
	Free.....	181 00
	Total.....	$4891 00
	Duty collected.....	$1151 45

Inland revenue returns for the month of September, 1902

Spirits.....	$1392 57
Malt.....	473 76
Cigars.....	96 90
Total collections..	$1963 23

Mitchell, the tailor, is doing business in the Bentley block. x

Fort Steele Licence District

Notice is hereby given that the undermentioned person has made application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900" for an hotel licence at the place opposite his name.

Thomas H. Whelan, Oxford hotel, at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's new townsite at Morrissey.

A meeting of the Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House, Fernie, on Friday, the 17th day of October, 1902, at the hour of seven o'clock in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES,
Chief Licence Inspector.

Fernie, B.C., Oct. 4, '02.

A number of local Scotsmen are desirous of forming a St. Andrew's Society and a meeting will be called in a few days to consider the matter.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Litany 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

MILLINERY
SATURDAY, OCT. 5

I will dispiay my fall and winter opening of Ladies' Hats, in the building known as the Auction Store.

Opposite Miller's Bakery
Victoria Avenue.

Mrs. M. Goldstein.

WE WILL EXCHANGE

NEW Furniture or Stoves

FOR....

Second-hand Furniture or Stoves

B.C. FURNITURE CO

Fortify Yourself...

Against Sickness and Disease. Get well and stay well. Erect a barricade against the ills that flesh is heir to. with some of these standard tonics.

Syrup of Hypophosphites
Beef, Iron and Wine
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla with Iodides
Wyeth's Malt Extract.

There's something here to suit your case exactly. May be among the Patent Medicines or the Drugs, or it may be in the Prescription Department. Whether you use your own judgement or take the doctor's advice you can rely upon us for first-class goods.

Fernie Drug Store.

Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Joseph Bean, John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.

The business will in future be carried on by John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean, under the firm name of Bean Bros.

(Signed) Joseph Bean
John Stephen Bean
195-3 Percival Bean

Dated at Fernie, 20th day of Sept. 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first application of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the publication can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steel, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked N. Binns south west corner post, situate 15 chains east of north west corner of J. L. C. Abbott's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

N. BINNS.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT
FOR THE LADIES.....

Thursday and Friday, Sep. 18 & 19

On the above dates we are going to hold our

..Grand Millinery Opening..

Never before have you seen such a gathering of beautiful colorings, exquisite designs, artistic modelling of headwear.

Miss McBroom has searched the fashion centres for the best, and you have only to visit our Millinery Department to convince you how well the work has been done.

Don't forget the dates: THURSDAY, Sept. 18th, FRIDAY, Sept. 19th. Come and enjoy the pretty sights and have a cup of cocoa.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

We have just unloaded a car of

Stoves and Lamp Goods

and can supply any and all requirements. We illustrate this week three seasonable lines, and the price is always right.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

Coal, Capital, Commerce

These three will make

MORRISSEY, B.C.

The most important place in South East Kootenay. The whole people can participate in the grand advantages of Morrissey without paying tribute to any combination or corporation.

Call on us and look over the property.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"Lawford, I will make it two, three, five thousand pounds if you get me out of this trap in time for the steamer."

"You wouldn't be safe on it. They cannot afford to let you up. They've other good reasons for putting a stopper on you and getting first across. You're not perhaps aware that your scheme for the attack on New York has fallen into their hands? The duke has the papers, and he means to trade them with the United States government for coin. Yes, sir."

"I tell you, Lawford, I must recover them. It's a matter of honor, of more than life and death. Name your own price. Only set me free from this."

"It's worth £10,000, and you won't miss it. Here, scribble down an I. O. U. for the amount. I'll take the risks," and I agreed for the amount conditional on release.

I knew nothing of what was in progress above, for Lawford never came near me again. I saw nothing of the chase, for I was not suffered to go on deck or even leave my cabin. The negro brought me my food, but was absolutely dumb, and I was forced to possess myself in patience for what might come to me. It was early in the afternoon that, looking through my port, I first saw land ahead. The outer port had never been lowered, and the deadlight, being too small in circumference to allow a man to pass through the aperture, had not been closed or fastened. So I easily made out rocks and green slopes, but no houses or signs of life.

I realized as I heard the anchor rattle down at the chains that we had entered some quiet haven where we might lie free from interference and prying eyes.

For the rest of the day I experienced all a captive's emotions when escape seems near. I alternated between high spirits and the depths of despair, the latter predominating as the hours crept slowly on to nightfall. I had all but given up hope, believing either that Lawford had sold me or could not see his way to help, when something ticked lightly against my porthole, and I saw a small parcel pendent outside. Opening the deadlight eagerly, I fished in the parcel, which was wrapped around with paper and contained a key. There were also a few brief lines from Lawford:

"This will let you out. It is the key of your cabin. Beware of the black and wait till after dinner, when we are on deck and the darky forward. Slip out through the stern ports. The dingey is astern, if you can only reach her. Cut adrift and paddle your own canoe. That's about the best I can do."

I did the rest easier than I thought. (The movements of the dingey have already been told, and the events that followed the escape.)

I was quite lost, at first, when I got on shore; but I did not care, so long as I was free. I was in France, I knew that much, and after climbing a steep path I soon hit on a road gleaming white and dusty in the darkness. I stood for a moment debating which way I should turn, eastward or westward, my object being to reach some town or place on a line of railway, whether by walking to it or taking a vehicle. As soon as I came upon a milestone I struck a match and read the legend. In the direction I was going Lamballe was distant 15 kilometers, and behind me the road led to Brest, 160.

It was clearly to Lambelle, not Brest, that I must make my way, some eight miles in all, and I reached it before 11 p. m. People were still up as I passed along the narrow streets, seated at the cafe doors, and I took my place at one of the tables, calling for a "bock" and a railway guide. I was not long in arranging my plan. Fortunately I had money, plenty of money, in my pockets, and that made everything easy. I found that a train left at 6:30 a. m. for Paris, the longest, yet the quickest, route to Southampton. I could catch the night express for Havre, and be in Southampton at daylight. By this I should have a couple of hours and more in Paris, enough to buy necessaries and make a considerable change in my appearance; for I was resolved to take passage incog. and in the fore cabin, where I should attract no attention.

CHAPTER XI.

MEETINGS.

All fell out as I had planned, except that, to my extreme surprise, at Southampton, when embarking, I tumbled on friends, the dearest, most faithful friends, and the unfailing instinct of one of them was not to be denied. I met both my love and my dog. The first, I felt certain, was making this voyage on my behalf, and I hungered to speak to her, yet dared not make myself known too soon. I was nearly betrayed, however, for Roy, clever brute, soon penetrated my disguise and was not to be shaken off. Only when I had seen him comfortably stowed away in the fore part of the ship near where my own quarters were would he settle down.

I had no opportunity of meeting Frida, nor was I able to advance my other business, until the voyage was half over. There is a wide gulf set between first and second cabin passengers. My range was strictly limited. I could not go near the hurricane deck nor enter the principal smoking room, the music room or saloon, although I hung about constantly and became at last an object of suspicion to the officers, stewards and quartermasters and met sometimes with rough rebuffs.

The second day out I once more became conscious that I was being watched wherever I went. Recent events had left me very sensitive of espionage. I was no longer disposed to make little of it, but still my feeling was more of resentment than alarm, so much so that I turned sharply on my follower, who was a saloon passenger and quite out of place on the fore deck, our territory, and I challenged him to explain his conduct.

"I am a friend, Captain Wood," he said in a whisper as he took me aside. "Rossiter is my name, and I represent Saraband and Snuyzer, who could not sail with us. He went after you, following the Fleur-de-Lis. How in thunder are you here?"

As soon as I was satisfied of his good faith—and he proved it by his knowledge of every circumstance of the case—I told him my story.

"Miss Fairholme will be real glad, I tell you, sir. She knows nothing yet, although I made you out from the first, through the dog, sir; besides which, I had your description and your photograph. Snuyzer is great, sir, and misses no point of detail. I have had no chance of speaking to her. This is her first day on deck."

"She must be told at once. I must speak to her myself. You must manage that, please, now, directly."

"Why, certainly, sir. I will bring you together, and at the earliest possible moment after dark. It won't do

I turned sharply on my follower.

for that young lady to be seen consorting too openly with a second class passenger. It might spoil the game."

"And that is"—

"Grand, sir, grand, now you're aboard. We'll let them have rope, and just when things look rosiest produce you. These ladies will identify you; Sarabands have all the threads of the conspiracy, and we'll land the lot in state prison, whenever it suits us. Yes, sir, they're about fixed."

"You say Sarabands have all the threads. I haven't. What does it all mean?"

"I got an outline from Snuyzer. The plot originated with one McQuahe."

"I know him. I have reason to do so"—

"Well, he was in with Bully McFaught, the testator; had some of his secrets, and was the first to hear the money was going to you. So he joined in with the Spaniard, who is no duke, and the pair brought over a clerk once in Quinlan's law office. That's the larrikin who's personating you on board. But it will all come right now, and you may trust that to Sarabands."

"There's one thing I cannot leave to them," and I proceeded to tell my new friend about the missing papers. "I must recover them before we arrive in port. If all else fails, we must have the villains arrested on board; but that I'd rather not do, for it might expose the contents of documents that are of absolutely the most secret and confidential nature."

"Don't you suppose this crook will have got them by heart long ago?"

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Saxon State Dinners.

At Saxon dinners slices of bread were the substitutes for plates, and these generally went into the alms basket afterward. Grandees were treated to a silver platter placed beneath the bread, which last in course of time became discarded as people came to recognize the superior advantages of metal and pewter.

A Lawful Order.

Because she refused to wash a baby's face a native nurse at Hongkong has been fined $5 for "disobedience of lawful orders."

MARKET REVIEW.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

WHEAT—The wheat markets have been quiet and firm in tone during the past week and there is little in the routine of the trade calling for special mention. In the speculative markets the outstanding feature has been the position of the September option in Chicago. There is evidently a large short interest in that option which is without the means of delivering the wheat to the buyers, and the consequence is that the price of contract wheat for September delivery in Chicago has advanced from 72c a week ago to 86c on Friday, an advance of 14c per bushel, and it is 11c over the New York price for same delivery. Other months in all markets show scarcely any change from the price they stood at one week ago.

Manitoba wheat has for the most part been dull during the week. Once or twice there have been slight spurts of activity when one or other of the exporters came into the market with orders for a large round lot, but wheat being plentiful and sellers ready to let go freely whenever a fair opportunity presented itself, these orders being few and far between, were filled instantly. Exporters seem to find it difficult to do business at the present prices, and the demand is irregular and never what can be called strong. Prices have not varied much during the week. On Monday there was some advance influenced by the advance in the United States markets, and No. 1 hard for September delivery sold at 70½c in store Fort William. On Tuesday the advance was lost and prices were down ½c. Wednesday showed another ½c decline, and since then there is practically no change. At the close of business Saturday prices were for September delivery 1 hard, 69¾c; 1 northern, 67¾c. For delivery first half October, 1 hard, 69½c; 1 northern, 67½c., and for delivery last half October, 1 hard, 69c; 1 northern, 67c; all in store Fort William or Port Arthur. No. 2 northern is 2½c under 1 northern.

Country Wheat—Farmers' deliveries are increasing at country points. They are being paid 58 to 60c for their best grades, according to rate of freight.

OATS—The market is weak and unsettled. The prospects for a large supply of not only oats, but of all kinds of feed is making it difficult to do business except in a hand to mouth way. No dealer is willing to load up with oats. Receipts of oats have increased considerably this week. No. 2 white oats are worth 26c per bushel in carlots, Winnipeg, or Fort William, and white feed oats about 25c. At country points farmers are being paid 20c per bushel for good oats.

BARLEY—The crop is hardly in the market yet and prices are steady at 33 to 35c for malting grades and 30 for feed, in cars on track. There are some enquiries for malting barley for eastern shipment.

HAY—$6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track, Winnipeg.

POTATOES—30c per bushel.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 60c per pair, alive; fowl, 60 to 70c ducks, 9c per pound; turkeys, 10 to 11c, live weight.

BUTTER — Creamery—Prices are higher at 17½c to 18c per lb. f. o. b. factory points.

BUTTER — Dairy—The market is firm, and receipts of choice table grades are light. Commission houses are paying 12 to 14c for choice to finest dairy, commission basis, Winnipeg, in pails or bricks.

CHEESE—10c per pound is being paid for best makes, delivered in the city.

EGGS—The ruling price is 16½c per dozen for choice eggs, subject to candling.

DRESSED MEATS—Beef 6 to 6¾c; veal, 8 to 9c; mutton, 8c; lamb, 12½; hogs, 9 to 9½c.

HIDES—No. 1 city hides, 6¾c; No. 2, 5¾c; No. 3, 4¾c. Kips and calf the same price as hides; deakins,, 25 to 40c; slunks, 10 to 15c; horse hides, 50c to $1.

SENECA ROOT—There is very little root coming in and the market is quiet at 58c for clean, well dried root, at Winnipeg, with a range of 2 to 3c less for inferior quality.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE.—The export movement from western ranges continues unabated. The cattle show fine condition. Best exporters are worth 4c per pound f. o. b. point of shipment, and butchers' grades 3 to 3½c.

SHEEP—Receipts of sheep are ample for all requirements of the market and prices hold steady at 3½ to 3¾c per pound off cars Winnipeg. Lambs are worth 5½c per pound.

HOGS—Demand is very active owing to the good sale for cured meats. Packers are mostly quoting 6½c though we hear of 6¾c for some. Inferior grades ½c to 1c less.

MILCH COWS—Cows are scarce. Good milkers readily bring $45 in this market, the range being from $35 to $45 each.

HORSES—There is a good demand for work horses and an active trade is doing in these. Driving horses are also in good demand.

MOVING THE MANITOBA CROP.

A Herculean Task, But it Will Be Done in Due Time.

The correspondent of a Winnipeg paper writes:—

Let us see how the Northwest harvest, which furnished England with 7,000,000 cwt. of wheat last year, her total importation from foreign countries and colonies being 70,000,000 cwt., is being handled this year. The figures I am about to quote have been prepared from official sources. Unfortunately I am not able to obtain any data relating to the business of the Canadian Northern.

The elevator capacity on the Canadian Pacific west of Winnipeg is 16,500,000 bushels. At Winnipeg, Meewatin, Fort William and Port Arthur, on the Canadian Pacific, there is an additional capacity of 7,000,000 bushels. At each station in the grain-growing district the agent keeps an order book, accesible to the public, in which applications for cars are entered, the rule of first come, first served, being observed. Cars are also furnished to the farmers for loading at grain platforms, and where grain platforms have not been built he is supplied with cars to enable him to load direct from his wagon. The average load per car this year is 880 bushels. A wheat train bound from the grain district to Winnipeg consists of from 30 to 50 loaded cars. At Winnipeg the trains are re-arranged, the number of loaded cars hauled to Fort William being usually 45, containing 40,000 bushels. Not counting the host of switchmen and others engaged in making up trains at shipping stations and in receiving them at terminals, or of the agents, operators, etc., who have to do with directing the traffic, there are at this writing, 215 Canadian Pacific train crews, engine drivers, firemen, conductors and brakemen, averaging 5½ men per crew, at work running the trains from the wheat fields to Fort William. It takes from eight to ten days to haul a full car from the wheat fields to Fort William and bring it back empty in readiness for another load.

Last session the Canadian Pacific obtained power from parliament to issue new stock, the proceeds to be applied in part to the acquisition of new rolling stock. The company's shops at Hochelaga were at once enlarged and since early in April 3,000 men have been employed in constructing box cars, while 600 machinists have been building locomotives. Further, a great number of cars and locomotives have been built for the company in other Canadian shops as well as in the United States. The upshot is that this year the Canadian Pacific has 35 per cent. more rolling stock on the Western Division than it had this time last year and 40 per cent. more motive power. The season for getting out the crop, is however, very short. Wheat does not begin to move freely till the end of September and navigation usually closes at Fort William about the end of November; indeed for all-water shipments to Kingston and Montreal it closes in the first week in November. Under such circumstances a tremendous crush is inevitable towards the end of the season.

Some day, perhaps, the Manitoba farmer will seriously ask himself if is wise to shove all his wheat on the market within the space of six weeks or two months. In times past, when his crop was but an insignificant item in the world's production, his haste to get it sold and shipped before the close of lake navigation had little, if any, effect upon the price. But now that the total yield is approaching 75,000,000 bushels a year, and that he will soon have that quantity and more for export, it would be well for him to consider whether he should not store at least a portion in his granaries until the spring, instead of rushing it all out in the Fall. In other lines of business, men take care that the market for their goods is not swamped by a sudden and excessive supply, and the Northwest wheat-grower ought, I should think, to be equally cautious in that respect.

Rates by the Canadian Pacific to Lake Superior are as low as, in fact are an appreciable shade lower than those charged by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific to the farmers of Dakota and Minnesota. If the reader will look at the map he will see that the wheat belt in these two States is considerably nearer the lake than the wheat belt of Manitoba. But, mile for mile, Canadian Pacific rates are lower. For example, from Brandon to Fort William, 560 miles, the rate is 16c per 100 lbs.; whilst from Manitoba, on the Great Northern, the rate to Duluth, a distance of 561 miles, is 20c. The rate from Carman to Fort William, 484 miles, is 16c; from Norwich, on the Great Northern, 481 miles from Duluth, 18c; from Deloraine, 629 miles to Fort William, 18c; and from Trenton to Duluth, 627 miles, 25c. Take Emerson, Man., and St. Vincent, Minn.; Gretna, Man., and Neche, Dak.; Snowflake, Man., and Hannah, Dak.; Boissevain, Man., and Bottineau, Dak.—places facing each other on the international boundary—and it will be found by reference to the tariffs that while the distance in each case from the Manitoba points to Fort William is greater than from the American points to Duluth, the rates by the Canadian Pacific to Fort William are just as low as those by the Great Northern to Duluth. Inasmuch as the Great Northern rates are pronounced fair and reasonable by the State Railroad Commissions and the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, I for one do not see why we in Manitoba should "holler" so loudly about railway oppression.

NEWEST GERM DISCOVERY.

How the Bacillus of Summer Complaints Was Found.

Physicians and parents the world over were deeply interested the other day in the announcement that through the philanthropy of Mr. John D. Rockefeller there had been discovered in the Thomas Wilson sanitarium, near Baltimore, the germ of the infantile disease commonly known as summer complaint, which for many years has defied the skill of medical science and has swept hundreds and thousands of small children to death every summer, says The New York Herald. Two years ago little Jack McCormick, the two-year-old grandson of Mr. Rockefeller, died of this disease at Mr. Rockefeller's summer house at Tarrytown, N. Y. Shaken with grief, Mr. Rockefeller demanded of the physicians to know the cause of so great mortality among young children.

"We only know that this disease in infants is probably caused by some germ," they told him, "but what that germ is or how to reach it we do not know."

"Then it is time you found out," replied Mr. Rockefeller, "and I shall put you in the way of finding out."

Within a month Mr. Rockefeller had set aside $200,000 for the establishment of an institute of medical research. Under the direction of Dr. William H. Welch the work was taken up in earnest at the Wilson Sanitarium For Children near Baltimore. Here each summer from 300 to 500 children are treated. With the opportunities thus afforded the germ was isolated. Experts are now at work to learn some method of destroying the germ and thus curing the disease.

The discovery of the "summer complaints" germ is regarded by physicians in New York as of great importance, though not unexpected. The bacteriologists of the health department think it will prove of value for use in the tenement house districts. Dr. Ernest J. Lederle, health commissioner, said that the discovery was most valuable, and he was deeply interested in it. The death rate among infants in New York had been cut down this summer, but he could not say whether this was because of the department's concentrated labors or the mild weather.

Dr. George F. Shrady said that the discoverer deserved great credit for isolating the fatal bacillus. He added that most antitoxic treatment, except in diphtheria, was a failure, but he hoped that the discovery, which might be a protozoan instead of a bacillus, would be of practical value.

Public Speakers Contrasted.

Australia may have in Sir Edmund Barton a speaker who is greater than Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the heavy movement of solid argument or the steady march of parliamentary controversy.

Sir Edmund Barton is not the equal of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the fine art of platform oratory.

It may be that Sir Edmund Barton prefers strength to art, but strength and art are united in some phases of Sir Wilfrid's genius.

Give Sir Wilfrid Laurier a queation which enables him to spurn the earthen expediencies which govern his public life, and his genius for words shines bright and clear.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's style of proposing the health of the French Republic was a perfect example of his art. There was an appearance of unstudied sincerity, and yet the deft hand of a master craftsman was in every touch of his reference to his own descent from a French monarchist, and his own allegiance to the British monarch, who was still the friend of Republican France.—Toronto Telegram.

Since Fifteen Years Ago.

Sir John Forrest, Minister of Defence in the Barton Government, and formerly Premier of West Australia, while in Toronto recently, spoke of the changes noticeable since his last visit some fifteen years ago. To his mind the most striking development has been that of electricity and transportation. Great strides have been made both in Canada and the United States because attention has been paid to their transportation facilities. This has enhanced the value of the millions of bushels of wheat of the west. During his tenure of office he had been a firm believer in the utility of railways and waterways, and endeavored to construct the same wherever practicable, even in advance of settlement. Speaking of trade, he thought they already had in Australia almost all we had here—wheat, apples, pears and other fruits. Corn, however, was not very extensive, except in Queensland.

A Jury Coincidence.

A panel of jurors was summoned in a London court. Sixty-two of them answered to the name of Clark. A jury of twelve was drawn and eleven of them were named Clark. The twelfth man was G. H. Clarkson.

PRES. ROOSEVELT.

UNDERGOES AN OPERATION AT INDIANAPOLIS.

An Abscess on His Leg Breaks Out as the Result of the Recent Accident at Pittsfield---He Was Compelled to Abandon His Western Tour.

Indianapolis, Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt underwent an operation in the city owing to the development of an abscess on his left leg following the Pittsfield accident. He has cancelled his western tour and turns immediately to Washington for rest.

The operation, which was a slight one, was over by 4.45 o'clock. The president was not put under the influence of ether and remained in good spirits while it was being performed After the operation the president was placed in bed.

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 24.—President Roosevelt passed an excellent night, in fact the best he has had since he started on his Western tour. His leg is free from pain and his temperature is normal.

Galt, Ont., Sept. 23.—John E. Keyes telegraphed from Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, that his brother's (W. H. Keyes) body would reach Galt on Wednesday or Thursday, and that he had been shot. A letter received from Sault Ste. Marie, addressed to J. E. Keyes, said:—

"Your brother was shot at Eckerman, Mich.; $300 was on his person when found."

A second message says H. Keyes was murdered at Eckerman, a short distance from Sault Ste. Marie. His murderer has been arrested and came up yesterday for his preliminary hearing. The people are enraged at his crime and it was with difficulty that the police could place him safely in jail."

London, Ont., Sept. 23.— C. L. Pabst, a commercial traveller, who lives with his family at No. 14 Victoria street, South London, made a sad mistake to-day. Pabst, who is about 40 years of age, had not been feeling well lately, and procured from his physician some medicine, which he carried in his valise. To-day he went to his grip for medicine, but got hold of the wrong bottle, drinking a couple of spoonsful of carbolic acid before realizing his mistake. His mouth, throat and stomach were badly burned, and he now lies in the hospital in a serious condition, but has a fair chance of recovery.

An ingenious mode of insurance against theft is reported from Russia. The peasants of Samara, having lately lost a large number of horses, have insured their animals with the thieves, who have formed themselves into a syndicate. A payment of 2 to 3 rubles per horse insures the animal. Should it be lost the company undertakes to recoup the proprietor. At the same time the syndicated thieves will proceed against any "blackleg" who does not belong to the union, and has the impertinence to carry on business on his own account.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 24.— B. H. Ballou and Will Hicks, the two negroes charged with precipitating the fatal panic in Shiloh church by engaging in an altercation, have been released from custody. Several negro ministers appeared before Judge Feagin when the cases were called and asked that they be nolle prosequied. They said that a prosecution of the men would cause a disruption in the church.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 24.—The whaling bark Platina, of this port, Capt. McKenzie, about May 10 captured a pure white whale, which made one hundred barrels of oil. In his 25 years' of whaling, Capt. McKenzie writes that he never before saw a white whale. The Platina had been only three or four days out from Barbadoes when the big fellow was captured.

The details of the attempt on the life of the czar, while he was returning by train to St. Petersburg, show that four conspirators, dressed as railway workmen, unscrewed the rails. The discovery was made by the merest accident.

The egg of a Griswold hen the other day measured 6½ by 8½ inches in circumference.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Pittsburg defeated Toronto's ball team.

St. Thomas, Ont., car line is tied up.

Wheat prices were dull and inactive.

Dan Patch equalled the world's racing record.

President Roosevelt has cancelled his western tour.

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

Another fort has been added to the defences of Esquimalt.

The linemen of the Toronto Street railway company have struck.

The store of S. Hilson, Snowflake, Man., was burglarized on Sept. 26, and $5,000 secured.

Robert Simsers, of South Gowen, Ont., had his arm chopped off by a corn cutter.

James Russell, of Elmwood, Ont., committed suicide on Friday last by hanging himself in an apple tree.

Shipments of Coal from Swansea, Wales, are being made to Quebec and Montreal.

Russia has begun the evacuation of Manchuria.

Several fishing schooners have been sunk off the coast of Labrador, and the crew of one of them was drowned

Several families were drowned at Modica, Sicily, by the inundation of the town by a river.

Quebec has the largest hay crop in its history this year.

Farmers have been seen threshing by lantern light in the west.

Five hundred thousand bushels of grain were marketed at C.P.R. points on Saturday.

Wesley college, Winnipeg, has instituted a course of instruction in agriculture and kindred subjects designed for young farmers and farmers' sons.

Thomas Tait, C. P. R. manager of transportation, says prosperity of Manitoba and the Territories is favorably affecting every part of Canada.

Rev. C. W. Gordon, preaching in St. Stephen's church, Winnipeg, on Sunday, said that a great need of modern life was public men with the courage of their convictions.

Archer Baker, C. P. R. European traffic manager, says fares of three-quarters of British immigrants are prepaid by people in the United States. He speaks of the benefits that will come to the country with the fast Atlantic service.

Fred. Jackson, en eastern harvester was arrested in Winnipeg on a charge of stealing a gold watch and $20 from Newton Simpson, of Sydney, for whom he had worked, and also on a charge of forging Mr. Simpson:s name to his railway return ticket certificate.

Mrs. J. Allen Edgar and Miss Agnes Gourlay were killed by a train near Paris, Ont., on Sept. 28.

Alderman Foster, of Toronto, has given 6,000 cords of wood to the poor of the city.

Collingwood Schrieber, deputy minister of railways, has reported that there are sufficient cars in the west but there is a lack of motive power.

President Roosevelt has undergone a second operation.

The coal famine is now being seriously felt in New York.

Nels Johnson, of Wilwar, Minn., was shot by an Indian during a brawl at Park River, N.D.

Sir Michael Herbert has sailed for New York to take up the position of ambassador to the United States.

The Winnipeg Shamrock lacrosse team defeated the St. Paul players at the latter city on Saturday by a score of 7 goals to 2. The match was for the international trophy.

Glenboro business men have complained about the wheat rates to the Winnipeg board of trade.

The Atlantic shipping combine has been completed. The British part will fly the British flag.

Clark, alias Wilt Gibson, a negro, who confessed to the murder of Mrs. Carrie Whitfield, was burned at the stake in Corinth, Miss.

LOTS OF GAME.

The Riding and Duck mountains and Porcupine Hills in northwestern Manitoba are overrun with moose, deer and other large game. A number of gentlemen from Winnipeg who went into the region to hunt this fall have secured some fine trophies of the chase. Mr. F. W. Stobart and his brother Mr. D. W., from England, shot five splendid moose bulls at their Riding Mountain camp, south of Laurier last week. Several large black bears have been shot by settlers in the Minitonas and Swan River districts. These animals are numerous in the Duck mountains. Mr. "Reddy" Campbell, of Minitonas, shot a 350-pound bear close to Minitonas town a few days ago. It was his first experience with a bear and as he came upon the animal suddenly on a trail it took him two weeks to convince himself that the animal was not as large as a cow. That's the way bruin's size impressed itself on his mind as man and bear were deploying for position.

AUSTRALIAN RAILROADS.

Three Lines Will Shortly Stretch Across the Continent.

A wonderful impulse has been given to railroad building in Australia by the merging of colonial intersts in the union formed by the Commonwealth. There is as yet no line of raiload stretching across the continent, but it is already certain that in the near future there are to be three such lines, and that each of them may be used to thorten the journey between Europe, Sydney and the southern ports by several days.

Sir John Forest, the first postmaster-general of the Commonwealth, is the author of the project, now authorized, to extend the southern system of railroads clear across the southern part of the continent, forming a connection between Sydney on the east and Perth on the west coast. Port Augusta, at the northern point of Spencer Gulf in South Australia, is now the western terminus of the South Australian railroads. It is tne outlet for the pastoral regions to the west and the wheat lands northwest of it. A line 1,068 miles in length is to be built along the coast on the southern edge of the Great Victoria Desert to Port Eucla, the frontier town between the states of West Australia and South Australia, and thence northwest to the well-known gold mining centre of Kalgoorlie, which already has a railroad connecting it with Perth, the capital of West Australia, on the west coast. It is expected that this line, built along the level coast, may be quite cheaply constructed, the cost being estimated at something over $10,000,000.

A railroad has for a long time been in operation between Port Augusta and the town of Oodnadatta, far north in the State of South Australia. The best harbor on the north coast of the continent is Port Darwin, the outlet for the neighboring gold and tin mines, and the landing place of two of the cables that connect Europe and Australia. A railroad from Port Darwin, 145 miles long, extends to Pine Creek, in the heart of the mining region. Pine Creek and Oodnadatta are to be the terminal points of the new north and south railroad across the heart of Australia. When the road is completed the journey may be made by rail north and south through the middle of Australia from Adelaide on the south coast to Port Darwin, the distance being 1,896,- miles.

The second transcontinental road north and south will have the same terminus on the north coast, but will lie to the east of the central route. The town of Bourke is now the terminus in the northwest of the railroad system of New South Wales. A railroad will be built in a comparatively straight line between Bourke and Pine Creek, its direction being northwest and southeast. It will be 1,600 miles long and its completion will link Sydney with Port Darwin by a continuous railroad 2,247 miles in length.

The first of these two north and south continental roads will be the shorter, but it will have the disadvantage of running through the uninhabitated and worthless desert of Central Australia. The longer route between Sydney and Port Darwin, however, will have the decided advantage of running through a great region of grazing lands whose utility may be largely enhanced in value by the development of artesian wells. It may also be reached easily by the extension of the Queensland lines, which now connect the east coast ports with the interior, and as the line will form a part of the shortest route to Europe, it will probably draw some part of the east coast trade. It is expected that the opening of this railroad will have a great effect upon the fortunes of Port Darwin, which now merely serves the needs of a few thousand miners in the most isolated part of the continent, but when connected with the most populous parts, both of south and southeast Australia, has every prospect of developing into a port of large importance.

The plans of these three great railroads have been completed, the building of the roads has been authorized by legal enactment, and the beginning of the work is within sight. These facts show that in spite of her small population the Commonwealth of Australia is determined to do everything in its power to advance the industrial and commercial facilities of the continent which it embraces.

Eye to Eye.

A person with good sight can see another person's eyes at a distance of eighty yards.

National Art Treasures.

Some very interesting works of art have recently been acquired by the National Portrait Gallery. One of the latest is Sir Arthur Sullivan's bequest—his own portrait painted by Millais in 1888, and exhibited in that year at the Grosvenor Gallery. The composer faces the spectator, and the likeness is remarkably good. A feature of the acquisitions of the year is their artistic merit. It distinguishes in a marked degree Mr. Val Prinsep's picture of the lamented George Mason, one of the most gifted of Victorian artists so widely known by the reproduction of the poetic "Harvest Moon." Sadler's presentment of "The immortal dreamer," John Bunyan, too, is admirably painted. Equally interesting are the portraits of the Countess of Blessington and Charles Kean, the actor

ALFONSO GROWING POPULAR.

Young Spanish King Possesses Good Will and Great Energy.

The New York Herald's European edition publishes the following from its Paris correspondent:

One of the most constant questions one hears to-day is, What is the King of Spain doing, how is he developing, and what impression is he making on his country?

In the Rue de la Paix the other day I met a gentleman who has lived many years in Madrid and whose business is to watch the development of matters in Spain. He had also just recently come from San Sebastian. No one could give a better or more reliable answer to the above questions than he. I put them to him without delay. His reply was:

"The young King is earning large popularity. If left alone, he would be more popular still. Left to his own way, he loves to go everywhere, to talk with the people and to hear what they have to say. There is no country more democratic than Spain, and a King to be popular must mix with the people.

"The young King is full of dignity. While he thus loves to mix with the people, to try to understand and make friends with them, he never for one moment loses sight and sense of his position and what is due to himself. But he is very often surrounded by old generals, men who do not go with the times and do not understandthe needs of the country. He got rid of the old generals on his Asturias trip."

"How?"

"He simply tired them clean out. He is very energetic, and they had to give up."

"But has he not good advisers?"

"Yes, the Duke de Sotomayor and the Duke de Mina, both the kind of men who may be counted upon as the very best advisers and up to date. The Duke de Sotomayor, although of the old nobility, fully realizes the wants of the Spanish people and the calls of modern times."

"Then has the young King got rid of the old generals?"

"Only for a time. It was noticed that when the Queen mother returned they all formed a ring around him again, a ring which has for its object that he hears nothing and does not come into contact with the people."

"But you think he has character?"

"Yes, plenty of it if left alone, and lots of good will and energy, rare qualities in Spain."

History as She Is Wrote.

How the Duchy of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha secured its ruler-elect is told by a correspondent of Outlook, who quotes a young relative who was at Eton with Prince Arthur of Connaught, the rightful heir of the duchy, and the Duke of Albany, now Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha. What happened the day the news of Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha's death was announced is best told in the young Etonian's own words:

"Connaught met Albany, who was a jolly, decent chap, and much more popular than Connaught, and said to him:

"'Look here. You have heard, I suppose, that they want me to go off to Germany and be Duke of Coburg?'

"'Yes,' said Albany.

"'Well,' continued his cousin, 'I am going into the British army, and I am not going to turn German. So that's all about it. You can go and be Duke of Coburg. It will just suit you.'

"'But,' said Albany, 'I do not want to go to Germany and I do not want to leave Eton.'

"'Look here, young chap,' said Connaught, who is a year or two older, 'you've got to be Duke of Coburg, and it is no use talking rot. Next Sunday you are going up to Windsor, to lunch with grandmamma, and mind you tell her it's all right, and that you'll agree. If you don't, look out for squalls, and take care I don't kick you jolly well all around the school yard.'

"So, of course, Albany had to give in, because he is supposed to be a rather delicate chap, and Connaught could have easily kicked him if he had wanted to."

Gillette Rude to Irving.

William Gillette, the actor playwright, was popular in England, but that was before the following story was told:

An Irving worshiper was raving about Sir Henry's genius at the Players' Club a little while ago, and at last, seeking endorsement, turned to Gillette.

"I suppose you have seen Irving lots of times, haven't you?" he asked.

"Several times," replied Gillette.

"Ever see him in 'Macbeth?'"

"Yes."

"That was the greatest piece of acting since the days of Garrick," raved the enthusiast. "It baffles all criticism. What did you think of it, Mr. Gillette? Don't you agree with my estimate of Irving? Give us your honest opinion of him?"

"I think," drawled Gillette gravely, "if he could only sing he'd make a grand comedian."

A Wealthy Citizen.

"That man Moneybags has so much money he doesn't know what to do with it."

"Indeed. How much has he?"

"Well, I don't know exactly, but he's got so much he doesn't have to endow colleges to get his name in the paper."

SCIENTIST'S NOVEL TEST.

Carried Larvæ Next His Skin and Hatched Out Moths.

Carrying the larvae of peach moths around next the skin of his body in order to prematurely hatch the insect is the sacrifice to science which Entomologist Warren T. Clark of the University of California made in order to conduct an experiment, says a San Francisco special to The St. Louis Republic. The result was a success, and the loss of fruit from this pest, it is estimated, will be reduced from 60 to 11½ per cent.

Prof. Clark recently returned from Newcastle, in the northern part of the State, where he went to study the means of checking the ravages of the peach moth. He noticed that the winter spraying the orchardists did had no influence on the pest, since the worms were buried beneath the bark. Then in order to determine whether the warmth of spring would bring out the larvae he transformed himself into an incubator, with the happy result that the worms did appear.

Since the experiment demonstrated that spring spraying was the most effective that period of the year will henceforth be the spraying period, and the loss to the peach crop, which has heretofore been enormous, will be greatly diminished.

A Tale of the Town.

A little woman dressed in black sat in Judge Morgan's private office. Her face was not as bright as it was fifty years ago, when she and her husband were in business on Yonge street, and enjoyed the pleasures of one of Toronto's best homes. Now all her wealth may be summed up in two figures.

Her husband!

There is a slab up in one of the city cemeteries. It's bent by the sun and seasons, but if you bend over you can make out the one word "John."

The blue papers that the constable hands over explain the secret of her being here

"Mary," asks the judge, "are you sure that you are quite strong in your head?"

Then the little old woman answers: "I am not strong, sir, but my head is quite clear, and I am well enough to work and keep myself. I am not insane, and have a little money and a room that is all furnished, if you will only let me go."

"You do not appear to be able to see well."

"Yes, I know that I can't see very well, for one eye is gone, but I am sure I can make enough to keep me. Won't you let me go?"

So Judge Morgan lets her go, and she hobbles out on a stick, seventy-five years old, and alone.

Alone?

Yes; she hasn't a relative in the world.

Fifty years ago a well-known lady, now almost penniless and friendless, and some day perhaps the city will lay her beside the spot that is marked by that one word—"John." —Charles F. Raymond in Toronto Star.

The 1901 Crop of Manitoba.

Practically all of the Manitoba crop of 1901 has now been moved. The last twenty-two cars were inspected at Winnipeg on Saturday, Aug. 30, and almost to a bushel it is possible to give the exact figures on the wheat and other grain shipments from last year's crop. This last month, added to those from Sept. 1, makes the total amount of grain inspected at Winnipeg for this year from Sept. 1 to August 31, 57,500 cars, or 46,200,000 bushels of grain, calculating on only 800 bushels to the car. This amount is greater by nearly five times what was moved in 1900-01, when only 15,405 cars were inspected there, and nearly double that of 1899-1900, when 33,663 cars were inspected. This amount shown as inspected there does not include flour or any feed milled west of Winnipeg, but does include wheat milled there or at Keewatin, and all shipments, whether via Emerson or Winnipeg. About 7,000,000 bushels has to be added as having been used in the country for seeding, and another million for milling purposes, bringing the total crop up to 60,000,000 bushels, including 2,000,000 bushels still in the country. Taking an average of 55 cents per bushel for all of this the country has realized on last year's crop about $33,000,000.

About Mungo Park.

Mungo Park, the African traveler, was born Sept. 10, 1771, at Foulshiels on the Yarrow, and studied medicine at Edinburgh. Through Sir Joseph Banks, he was named assistant surgeon in the Worcester, bound for Sumatra, and in 1795 his services were accepted by the African Association. He learnt Mandingo at an English factory on the Gambia, started inland, was imprisoned by a chief, but escaping, reached the Niger at Sego in July, 1796. He felt ill, but was brought back to the factory again by a slave trader, after an absence of eighteen months. His adventures were related in his "Travels in the Interior of Africa." He undertook another journey in 1805, and reached Boussa, where the canoe was caught on a rock, his party were attacked by natives and drowned in the fight.

The Yukon.

When free from ice, the Yukon river is navigable for large steamers 1,965 miles, a distance more than twice as great as that from Chicago to New Orleans.

PC

WHEN BINGHAM OILED THE BRAKE

A story I would like to tell,
Don't think it all a fake.
'Tis all about what happened us
When Bingham oiled the brake.

It happened that in Coal Creek mines,
In tunnel number two,
To reach a lower seam of coal,
A slope was driven down.

A hoisting engine stood above
The coal away to take.
The engineers who run this hoist
Had never oiled the brake.

Two shifts had worked here all along,
Three shifts they did put on.
They had to have an engineer,
Jim Bingham was the one.

Now Bingham was an engineer
So skillful and so great.
That mighty engines did his will
And yet he oiled the brake.

McDonald went on Jim's first shift
That he some points might take,
Mac showed him how to run the hoist
But not to oil the brake.

This lever's the reverse you see,
This is the throttle here.
That is the brake ; the other is
To throw it out of gear.

Oil cups and oil holes Bingham saw
Where the engine oil did take.
Mac thought that any fool would know
'Twas wrong to oil the brake.

Mac stayed awhile upon the shift.
About two hours or more.
He saw that Bingham knew it all,
And wished he'd gone before.

When Bingham lowered down a car
He found a screaching brake.
What awful noise, and then he said
I'll have to oil the brake.

Now trips were slow on Bingham's shift,
He could not keep awake.
So after using all the chalk
He really oiled the brake,

Macdonald with a joyful heart
Came on his shift to make
Ere long, alas, he came to grief
Bingham had oiled the brake.

There was much water in the deeps.
That's what they called the place.
If left alone it soon would be Filled half way to the face.

The foreman asked another boss
Is that water very deep?
I do not know, was the reply,
Suppose we take a peep?

So on a trip they both went down,
A little look to take.
They found how deep the water was.
Bingham had oiled the brake.

The trip went speeding down the slope
Into that blooming lake.
And both the bosses had to swim
When Bingham oiled the brake.

McDonald could not stop the thing,
Was in an awful state,
He gave them both a chilly bath ;
That brake he thonght a fake.

When he had time he looked, he saw
Oil dripping from the brake.
'Twas plain of course that Bingham had
Most liberally oiled the brake.

Like drowned rats the bosses both
Stood shivering on the shore.
They cussed the water, earth and stars.
They cussed McDonald more.

Then in a rage they started off,
Went to McDonald straight.
Says Mac.. Just look ! See for yourselves ;
Bingham has oiled the brake.

The foreman knew not what to do,
His life had been at stake.
Yet he could not bounce McDonald,
For 'twas Bingham oiled the brake.

The other engineer he thougnt
No fear his heart could shake.
That was before the fellow knew
Bingham could oil the brake.

Besides a heavy timber train
Three empty cars he takes.
The trip of course just went to smash
Through Bingham oiling brakes.

Now Bingham thought a little oil
Again that brake would take.
He got the can and went around
And poured some on the brake.

A heavy car of rails had he
To lower to the face.
Four men rode on the trip that day.
The day he oiled the brake.

Four men there were who rode the trip
Upon that fatal date.
But they never knew what struck them
After Bingham oiled the brake.

Now these four men are down below,
Down by the brimstone lake.
With red hot pitchforks waiting for
The man who oiled the brake.

If ever he shall meet them there,
And it may be his fate,
They'll surely make it warm for him
Because he oiled the brake.

Dear reader should it be your fate
That awful port to make
You'll find that Bingham has a job,
He's down there oiling brakes.

For down in h'll there is a slope
Down to a burning lake,
And every time a trip goes down
Bingham must oil the brake.

And when lost souls of mortal men,
That fearful ride must take.
"Old Nick" shouts through the telephone,
"Now Bingham oil that brake."

A red hot can of boiling oil
To oil a red hot brake.
I know poor Bingham is sorry
That he ever oiled a brake.

Yes, Binhgham's fate is very sad
But thousands share his fate.
Who never try to stop a trip
But simply oil the brake.

—MOXIE

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend 30 days after the first publication as this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked initial post Mrs. C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 30 chains east of north west corner post of lot 4588, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 12th day of Sept., 1902.
195-4 MRS. C. M. HENRETTA.

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's northwest corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petrie's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.
Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.
F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the East side of Elk river beginning at the north west corner post of C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of T. W. Bingay, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 23rd day of Sept, 1902.
T. W. BINGAY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River. beginning at the south east corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of A. D. MacTier, thence 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north, thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 20th day of Sept, 1902.
A. D. MacTIER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 20 chains west of north west corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chairs, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 20th day of Sept., 1902.
C. M. Henretta.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. F. Miller south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. F. MILLER,

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, S. G. Blaylock south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of J. F. Miller's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
S. G. BLAYLOCK.

Notice is hereby given that I the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east bank of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. L. C. Abbott south west corner post, which is north west corner of S. G. Blaylock's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. L. C. ABBOTT.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. R. Nelson south west corner post, situate 10 chains east of north west corner of W. H. Aldridge coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. R. NELSON.

BIRDS FOR SALE

Beautiful canary birds for sale. Also house plants and flowers.

MRS. McVEIL,
196 Opposite Central Hotel.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of the Elk river, on Lizard range : Commencing at a post marked C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
CHAS. J. BULGER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked Peter VanDusen's south-west corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
PETER VANDUSEN.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, opposite Coal Creek, about three miles west of Elk river on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked J. R. Stevens' north-east corner post, adjoining C. J. Bulger's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
J. R. STEVENS.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range : Commencing at a post marked David Tracy's north-west corner post, adjoining Geo. McClincy's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
DAVID TRACY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Reed Wilson south west corner post situate about 3 miles north of lot 4588 and on the east side of Elk river about ½ mile east of the river thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. REED WILSON.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. H. Aldridge south west corner post which is the north wert corner of J Reed Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902.
W. H. ALDRIDGE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Labarth south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of Thos, Britt's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. LABARTH.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon afterward as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about six miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek, on Lizard range : Commencing at a post marked John Levis' north-east corner post, adjoining David Tracy's north-west corner post, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
JOHN LEVIS.

Notice is hereby given that, I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river : Commencing at a post marked S. F. Wallace's south-west corner post adjoining Peter VanDusen's north-west corner, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
S. F. WALLACE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on west side of Elk river, close to Sand creek pack trail on Lizard range, about three miles west of Elk river : Commencing at a post marked C. A. Klingensmith's south-east corner post, adjoining S. F. Wallace's south west corner post, thence north 80 chains thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.
C. A. KLINGENSMITH.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands : Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk river, about 21 miles north of mouth of Michel Creek, marked C. J. Digby's south-east corner, thence following the said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.
C. J. DIGBY.
Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands : Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked J. G. Coward's south-east corner and about 40 chains north of C. J. Digby's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.
J. G. COWARD.
Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands : Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked F. Robins' south-east corner, near J. G Coward's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains. thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.
F. ROBINS.
Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a stake planted about five feet west of A. E. Jackson's post E. timber license, about one mile west of the west bank of Elk river, thence running south 40 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains. thence running south 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 27th day of August.
M. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north side of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains. thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.
R. J. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.
L. A. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning. containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.
J. L. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of L. A. Davis' timber limit and one mile north of McDougall and Procters timber limit, about three miles from Elk river and about five miles from Fernie, along side Hartley trail, thence running east 40 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains thence running east 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.
Dated at Fernie this 13th day of August, 1902.
A. K. PAULSON,

Notice is hereby given that 30 days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a license to prospect for Petroleum on the following described lands : Commencing at a post marked H. A. Wilkes' south-west corner, situate on the west bank of the Elk river about two miles south-west of Morrissey depot and being nearly west from the mine town of Morrissey, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning,
H. A, WILKES.
Dated Aug. 29th, 1902.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I. George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District. B.C., commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.
Dated the 8th day of September 1902.
GEO. H. SCOTT.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods
to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies
casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

Examination for Certificates of Competency.

RE "COAL MINES REGULATION ACT."

NOTICE is hereby given that an Examination for Certificates of Competency as Managers of Mines will be held on the 15th day of October, 1902, at the Court House, Nanaimo, B.C., and also at Fernie, B.C., on the same date.

Candidates, not under 23 years of age, desirous of presenting themselves for examination must deliver to Mr. Thos. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, on or before the 5th day of October, 1902, notice of such intention, in writing, together with a certificate of service from their former or present employers, testifying to at least two years' experince underground.

The examination will be in writing, and will include the following subjects, viz:—

1. Mining Acts and rules.
2. Mine gases.
3. General work.
4. Ventilation.
5. Mining machinery.
6. Surveying and levelling.

Any further particulars required may be obtained on application to Mr. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, B.C.

EDWD. GAWLER PRIOR,
Minister of Mines.

Department of Mines, 1935
Victoria, B. C., 4th Septmeber, 1902.

Lib. Legislative Ass.
Dec 31 1901

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 15 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 197.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER
Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.
Office :—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER
Herchmer & Herchmer
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joienrs...
Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS. Secretary

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN
ON VALUABLES
The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.
Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison
Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.
If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.
Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS
has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...
Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.
OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.
Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.
It will pay you to deal with
C. N. DOUGLAS

THE MINERS' VOTE.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM TO HAVE WON.

108 Miners not Voting Leave Room for Disagreement.

For 8½ hours underground... 33
For 8 hours underground..... 129
Cast no vote..... 108

The above is the result of the vote taken on Saturday last, as to whether the men employed at Coal Creek mines, continue to work 8½ hours underground as they have been for the past two months, or go back to the old system in force before the strike, of 8 hours underground, according to the agreement between the miners and Mr. Tonkin two months ago.

As will be noticed by the figures the result is not satisfactory to either side. The miners claim that they are now entitled to the old system, but the management maintains that those not voting show by their indifference that they are perfectly satisfied with the present. A committee of the employees met Mr. Tonkin on Wednesday evening with a view to finally settling the matter and the committee will report to the Union to-night. The General Manager went into the question thoroughly. He showed the committee that the miners at Fernie were making better wages than in any other mining camp in the country. During the month of Sept. there were fifty-seven miners employed in No. 1 mine and the amount earned by them reached $6,760.60 averaging $120.71 cents per month for each man. The total number of shifts for the month was 1,295, making an average of $5.18 6-10 cents a shift for each man. The highest wage earned by any miner during the month was $172.50 and the lowest the handsome sum of $101.90. The highest wage per day earned by any miner was $7.06, while the lowest was $4.08.

How the matter will end it is difficult to say. Some of the miners are not satisfied with the way the vote on the question was taken, but it is the opinion of most of the those who are willing to express themselves on the subject that the union will let the matter drop and the present system will continue. A number of the men are afraid that the car system now in force will be weakened as soon as the mines are in full operation, and that the present wage scale will be cut down. Mr. Tonkin assures us that he has no intention of doing anything of the kind. He has already purchased four hundred cars to be added to the present stock, and in regard to the wage scale he is prepared to enter into a two year agreement with the men on that matter.

AN UP-TO-DATE MILL.

The Cedar Valley Improvement Co's New Mill now Running.

One day this week we paid a visit to the new saw mill of the Cedar Valley Improvement Co. This mill was started cutting only a few days before, and we were expecting to see many stoppages, and hear of some breaks, as is usually the case with a saw mill at the start. But we didn't. Mr. Craigie the millwright who superintended the putting in of the machinery, may well feel proud of the way it started of, as everything is running without a hitch.

The mill is a two storey structure built beside a bank. Logs are loaded on a skidway built from the bank to the top storey, and from there are conveyed to the carriage by means of a jack ladder, which can be operated by one man.

Steam is furnished by two new 75 horse power boilers. The work of firing has practically been done away with, carriers being so arranged that all saw dust and cuttings are carried from the saws direct to the fire boxes.

The engine is of 120 horse power capacity, the make of the Waterous Engine Works of Brantford, Ont., as is all the other machinery, which is equivalent to saying that the mill is fitted throughout with the most modern, labor saving machinery that could be procured.

The main body of the mill is 30x160 ft. It is provided with a 50 inch Hoe circular and top saw, which will cut any of the largest timber in this part of the country. The carriage is 32 ft. long and is run by independent steam feed. The "nigger," which is used for turning logs on the carriage, is worked in the same way. Either of these two machines can be worked after the engine is shut down.

Live rollers carry the lumber from the circular to a four saw edger. From the edger the good lumber goes on one side to the trimmers, where it is cut to uniform length, and from there on to the planing mill. The rough lumber is carried from the edger, by live rollers to the end of the mill, where it is piled on cars and drawn to the lumber yards. The slabs run along rollers to a six saw slash table, on the other side of the mill, where they are cut the proper length, dropped down a chute to the lath mill, and manufactured into lath.

The mill has a capacity of 40,000 feet per day, and is, we believe, one of the best in the Kootenays. Men are busy cutting roads in different directions from the mill and the timber all around it for miles is of the first quality, and as fine an assortment as one could wish to see.

A gang of carpenters are at work finishing a large stable and as soon as possible boarding houses, bunkhouses and offices will be rushed to completion, when everything from the old site will be moved up.

Anyone wishing to see an up-to-date mill in operation will be well repaid for their walk, by taking a trip to the new mill of the Cedar Valley Improvement Co.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.

The saw mills are taxed to their utmost capacity, running day and night, to supply the demands of the contractors here and elsewhere for building material, yet a number of carpenters were laid off work last week, on account of a shortage of lumber.

Mr. Rennie's house has been rushed through in a remarkably short time The first coat of paint has been put on, and the inside is ready for the finishing coat of plaster. The building presents a very tidy appearance.

Mr. Bricker's new residence, adjoining Mr. Rennie's, was also started only a short time ago, yet the frame work is completed, and the lathers are at work. The plans of this building were evidently drawn with a view to convenience, and we believe Mr. Bricker will have one of the most comfortable, as well as one of the most handsome homes in town.

Messrs. Rutledge and Colclough are building a pretty two-storey residence on the corner beside the Methodist church. It will be completed before cold weather sets in.

The residence of Mr. McDougall, on Victoria Ave., has been moved back, and a building 26 x 40 is being erected in front. This will improve the appearance of that portion of town considerably.

Mr. J. Carmichael and Mr. Broley are each building a neat little cottage near the skating rink.

Coward & Son are building a nice large office on their property beside the planing mill.

Chief Constable Forbes has under construction a nicely laid out cottage near Mr. Turner's residence, across the river.

Work on Mr. A. Joyce's new residence is also under way and when completed it will be the most beautiful structure in town.

There are a number of other cottages being built, and several houses erected this summer, which are now occupied. There has been no boom, yet this steady growth shows that the people have confidence in the town, and are quietly making homes for themselves, thereby doing their share to make the town better.

FRANK MINE IS SAFE.

Committee of Miners Make an Examination of the Mine.

Last week a committee of ten practical and experienced miners, appointed by the Miners' Union of this camp, accompanied by two fire bosses selected by themselves, visited the Company's mine here. They were given full permission by the mine officials to inspect and all courtesies extended to them. They made a full, complete and thorough inspection of all the underground workings and have pronounced the mine in first-class shape and one of the safest mines to work in in Canada.

This finding of the miners' committee was endorsed by them upon the book of the Company kept for mine records. — Sentinel

FAREWELL SOCIAL

The officers and members of First Baptist church Fernie, gave their retiring Pastor Rev. D. Holford a Farewell Social last evening. A suitable programe was rendered, consisting of music, recitations and addresses.

The Rev. D. L. Gordon B.A., in a very able address made special reference to the good work done in Fernie by the Baptists and congratulated them upon their success and lamented with them the loss they are now about to sustain in the departure of their beloved Pastor whose ability and untiring energy is felt and appreciated by the residents of our town.

Mr. D. McKenzie a representative of the Gladstone Miners' Union said in his remarks that the working men of this town deeply regret the departure of Rev. Holford knowing him to be the champion of right and justice and the friend of the wage earning classes.

Deacon B. H. Short in a brief address spoke of the failing health of the Pastor and the way in which he has suffered for many months. He, as also the church as a body, deeply sympathize with their Pastor, and are grieved to be compelled to sustain the great loss of his spiritual advice and teaching.

The suprise of the evening was the reading of the following address by Miss Dunlop, and the presentation of a purse by Miss Beck, Vice President and President of the B. Y. P. U.

To Rev. and Mrs. D. Holford.

We, the members of the Baptist Young People's Union in Fernie, desire on this the eve of your departure from our midst, to express our appreciation of the good work done by you while with us.

We deeply regret your removal, yet we try to keep in sight the fact that while it is our loss, it will be gain to others.

We beg of you to accept this slight token of our regard and esteem which is accompanied by our prayers and wishes.

Signed on behalf of the Fernie B. Y. P. U.

The Pastor in his reply referred to the fidelity, integrity and loyalty to the truth and conviction, not only of the B. Y. P.U. but the entire church. Heartiest thanks were given for presentation and profound regret expressed in their union being broken by failing health.

After the programme a dainty lunch was served and a social chat enjoyed by all while the retiring Pastor was made the recipient of the well wishes of his members and friends.

The following letter from Gladstone Miners' Union shows the esteem in which Mr. Holford is held by the members of that organization and voices the sentiments of the majority of the residents of Fernie. Mr. Holford is a man who has the courage of his convictions, and consequently has made enemies as well as friends, but his earnest efforts to better the condition of the laboring classes have made for him very warm friends of all working men here.

To the Rev. Mr. Holford.

Just to night we learn for a fact that you are leaving our town, and we hasten to say that we are sorry to lose you from our midst, for ever since you have been in our town you have willingly and fearlessly advocated the rights and necessity of organized labor. We do not wish to be selfish, for we know wherever you may go that your voice will be heard in behalf of down trodden humanity, but we feel that this community is more in need of such an able advocate of socialism than any other community we know of. Ever since we have known you you have never overlooked an opportunity of advising the people to educate themselves on the economic questions of the day, in order that they might see the necessity of scientifically organized society which means the abolition of corporations, trusts, monopolies and wage slavery, and the inauguration of the collective ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange. The advice you have given will be highly appreciated when the people realize the necessity of a re-organized society on a scientific basis. We wish to most sincerely thank you for the good work you have already done along these lines in this community, and we hope that success may crown your efforts wherever you may be.

With best wishes to you and Mrs. Holford and the family, we remain yours in union.

C. M. O'BRIEN,
On behalf of Gladstone Miners' Union, No. 76., W.F.A.
Fernie, B.C., Oct. 4th, 1902.

MICHEL.

Mr. Wm. Moon, postmaster, was in Lethbridge last week.

Mr. Chas. Stritch, of Dublin, Ireland, has taken the position of car checker for the C. P. R. here.

Mr. John Nesbitt, of the Loop hotel, was taken to Lethbridge hospital on Sunday evening of last week, sick with pneumonia. From last accounts he was slightly improved.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie on Wednesday of this week, a large number of their friends calling on them in the good old surprise party fashion.

The course of Michel creek is being changed about two and a half miles west of town to prevent the railway track from being washed out. Breckenridge & Lynd are doing the work.

Remarkable improvements in the appearance of Michel have taken place the past few months, notably the grading of our streets. All stumps have been removed and a general movement towards the better appearance of the town is rampant.

The weekly dance in Michel hall, under the auspices of the Michel dancing club, provides a pleasant evening for those who care to indulge in the gay fantastic. The club gives lessons on Thursday evenings and their regular dance on Friday evenings.

School opened on Monday morning last in the new school house built by the coal company, the first session since the ninth of June, when the old school house was burned. Miss Laura Marshall, of Vancouver is in charge. Some 30 pupils are in attendance.

Geo. Dowling, a native of Moncton, N. B., died on Saturday morning last in one of the boarding cars of the C.P.R. bridge gang He appeared to be considerably improved from an illness of a few days when his comrades went to work on Saturday morning, but about eight o'clock when visited by one of the crew, he was found cold in death. The remains were interred in Michel cemetery on Sunday afternoon. The immediate cause of death was heart disease.

An interesting debate took place on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Young Peoples Society of Michel, the subject being, "Is Woman's Influence on the Wane?" The affirmative was led by Mr. Fred Brown, assisted by Messrs. Farrow and Craig, and the negative by Miss Annie Evans, assisted by Messrs. Turner and Sparkman. Mrs. E. P. Miller and Messrs. Clark and Henderson acted as judges, then [illegible] of [illegible] regard[illegible] e [illegible] Peo[illegible] e [illegible] by any means, a [illegible] of Michel are looking forward to many interesting evenings under the auspices of this growing society.

IT IS DANGEROUS.

The advice contained in the following paragraph will be of interest to all those who have any desire to go mountain climbing:—

"Two men started to ascend a mountain near Vancouver the other day and before reaching their objective point were so thoroughly played out that they were seized with cramps and had to give up the attempt to accomplish what they set out to do One managed, after strenuous efforts, to retrace his way in search of help, leaving his companion, who was too [illegible] back with him, on the mountain side [illegible] night in the rain and cold. Had these men been in even fair condition they would not have suffered the way they did. There is nothing more stupid than for persons who are in a condition best discribed as "soft" to attempt a task which requires sound wind and muscles. When they do so, they demand more than can be rendered, they merely throw a strain upon the system that nature resents and some damage, it may be merely temporary, but is frequently permanent in character, is sure to ensue. The moral of all this is that there should be more exercise taken than is usually the case. It matters little as to the exact form of exercise adopted so long as there be enough of it to cause a stimulation of the blood supply and the practice of deep breathing, with the calling into play of the muscles of arms legs and trunk. Walking, boating and in fact all outdoor sports, fulfill all the requirements for keeping the body in a condition of mild training and if exercise be regularly and judiciously taken there would be fewer cases of profound exhaustion such as happened at Vancouver."

COLD-BLOODED DEED

FARMER SHOOTS HIS SON AND CLUBS HIS WIFE.

Domestic Trouble Causes Noah Hale, of Sault Ste. Marie, to Commit a Terrible Crime---Murderer Believed to Have Suicided in the Woods.

A dispatch from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., of Oct. 3, says: Early this morning Noah Hale, who lives east of Korah, about six miles from the Soo, shot and killed his son, and broke his wife's arm with the same shot. The tragedy was the climax of a series of domestic troubles, which had their beginning many years ago, Hale having been placed in jail here about two years ago for threatening his wife.

Only two weeks ago he was bound over by the magistrate to keep the peace. At this time Mrs. Hale was invited by her son Frank, whose home is located a short distance from the family homestead, to go and live with him, with the object, presumably, of keeping her out of harm's way. This, it is thought, enraged the father, who bears a reputation of being hot tempered.

He left home before breakfast, telling his daughters that he was going to drive some cattle out on the farm. He took with him a loaded shotgun, and went immediately to his son's home, where he found Mrs. Hale and son sitting at breakfast, with their back towards the door, through which the desperate man entered.

Without a word of warning, the old man fired the contents of the gun at the young man, the charge entering the left side over the hip. A portion of the charge struck and broke Mrs. Hale's arm. After being shot, the young man rose, and, with a cry, ran out of the house a few steps and fell to the ground.

The murderer then turned on his wife, clubbing her with the butt of the gun, almost into insensibility, after which he returned to his home, ate breakfast, and then, it is supposed, started for the bush, and up to a late hour has not been caught. Some neighbors in the vicinity claim to have heard a shot in the woods adjacent to the scene of the murder, and they are inclined to believe that the fugitive has committed suicide.

With an Axe.

George Reid, a young man living about a mile and a half out on the Northern road, made a desperate attempt to end his life. Several times recently Reid has said he wanted to leave this world, and even went so far as to invite some of his friends to do the job for him. Failing in this the man took an axe and with it chopped at his head a number of times. With blood streaming down his face and body, Reid went to the house of Patrick McQuillan, where he boarded, and with the axe still in his hands, asked Mr. McQuillan to finish the job.

Mr. McQuillan hurriedly hitched up his horse and took the injured man to the Canadian Soo hospital. Reid's chances of living or dying are about even.

KILLED IN WINNIPEG.

Trying to Steal a Ride on a Freight, A Man is Decapitated.

An unknown man while trying to board an outgoing east freight train on the C. P. R. at Winnipeg on Friday afternoon, fell under the wheels and was instantly killed.

It appears that the man, who was evidently an eastern farm laborer, was seen hanging around the spot some time before the accident occurr-ently waiting for a chance to secure free passage, and with the appearance of the freight train tried to board it, but missed his footing, with fatal consequences. His head, right arm and left hand were completely severed from his body.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

President Roosevelt failed in his attempt to end the coal strike.

A company has been formed in Vancouver to develop oil wells in Alberta.

This has been a disastrous year for the Canadian sealing industry on the Pacific coast.

A dispatch from St. John's, Nfld., says: The revenue of the colony for the quarter ending September 30, reached a total of $550,000, which is $20,000 more than the revenue for the corresponding quarter of last year. The revenue for this quarter of 1901 was the highest ever collected during any three months of the colony's fiscal history. The prosperity of Newfoundland is now greater than ever, and all branches of business is booming.

The leech is the only animal which possesses three separate jaws.

OGILVIE CO. ANNUAL MEETING.

Business For the Past Year Is the Greatest in the History of the Institution.

The annual meeting of the Ogilvie Flour Mills company, Limited, was held at the head office of the company in Montreal on October 1. The directors' report for the year ending August 31, 1902, showed that the gross business of the company during that period was the largest in the history of the Ogilvies, and that the net results were eminently satisfactory. The report was unanimously adopted.

In commenting upon the report the Hon. George A. Drummond remarked that the statement submitted were sufficiently clear to intelligent business men to show that the company was in an exceptionally strong position and well managed. Speaking in a reminiscent way, Mr. Drummond stated that he was probably the only person at present connected with the company who could look back to the early days of the Ogilvie flour business, and although it seemed a long way back, yet he remembered when the business was first carried on by the late Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, John Ogilvie, and the late owner, W. W. Ogilvie. It began in a small way, and was administered by these gentlemen with exceptional prudence and sagacity, and under the present management, so far as he was able to judge about a business that was more or less foreign to him. He confidently believed that the company's affairs would be equally as well conducted in the future as they had been in the past. Had he thought otherwise he should not have become interested in the stock of the company, nor joined the directorate. He was of the firm conviction that the business was being well and ably managed, and felt satisfied that the company had a brilliant future.

James Crathern, in moving the appointment of George Creak as auditor of the company for the ensuing year, paid him a high tribute as to integrity and ability, having known him for a number of years in connection with various other companies.

Mr. Creak, in accepting the appointment, stated that the system adopted by the Ogilvie Flour Mills company was not only excellent in all respects, but was carefully and thoroughly carried out, and that he considered it due to the managing director and his staff to express his high opinion of the way the business was conducted, and that, in fact, he knew of no company among the many with which he had been connected, where the system was more complete and more carefully watched in every detail.

F. W. Thompson, in moving a vote of thanks to the officers and staff of the company, which was seconded by E. S. Clouston, stated that he could not too strongly testify to the loyalty and devotion extended to him by the employees from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and which characterized the business during the lifetime of his late lamented chief, W. W. Ogilvie.

Col. Labelle, one of the oldest emcees of the company, in acknowledging the vote of thanks on behalf of the staff, said he was very happy to have the privilege of thanking the vice-president for his kind words, and begged to assure the management that the well known loyalty of the employees toward the head of the business existed now as it did in the days of their late employer, W. W. Ogilvie, and he felt sure that, if it only required the close work and attention of the staff to make the business a success, this was assured.

The following directors and officers were elected for the ensuing year: Charles R. Hosmer, president; F. W. Thompson, vice-president and managing director; Hon. George A. Drummond, H. Montague Allan and E. S. Clouston, directors; Shirley Ogilvie, secretary; S. A. McMurty, treasurer; W. A. Black, western manager.

A Lovesick Girl Suicides.

London, Oct. 3.—Minnie Gooday, the 17-year-old daughter of John Gooday, of this city, committed suicide by drinking laudanum and carbolic acid. She had kept company with Richard Howard, a young cigar maker. Lately she had been displeased with him because of the attions which she accused him of paying to another girl. Three weeks ago she went as a domestic to a Central avenue residence. She went out last night with Howard and came in crying about 11 p. m., and told her mistress that she had just been shown a letter which slandered her. The lady attempted to comfort her and the girl went to her room. On going to call her her mistress found her lying on the bed fully dressed with her tongue protruding. Doctors were summoned but the girl died at 10.30 a. m. She had taken laudanum. Letters said she was broken-hearted and did not wish to live, but that no one was to blame. In a letter to her lover she asked him not to marry the other girl, and expressed the hope that she would meet him in heaven.

An eagle can live twenty days without food, and a condor forty days.

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

Noah Hall, the Soo murderer, has so far eluded his pursuers.

General Booth preached to 8,000 persons in New York on Sunday.

James Fleming, of Toronto, inspector of legal offices for Canada, is dead.

J. R. Costigan, K.C., of Calgary, was painfully injured while out shooting.

A company is being organized in Paris, France, to invest in property in the Northwest.

A conductor on the Ottawa electric street railway was arrested on Saturday on a charge of using a digger and has confessed.

Martial law has been repealed in Natal.

Coal by the pail is selling in New York at the rate of $37.50 a ton.

Several manufactories in the United States have been closed owing to the shortage of coal.

Brandon's coronation bell has commenced to ring.

The Winnipegs defeated St. John's at Rugby football by 18 points to 17 on Saturday.

Dreyfus attended Zola's funeral, but was not noticed.

Patrolman Alex. McLeod, of the Winnipeg police force, is missing.

The wheat laden steamer Ottawa is aground on a bar near Port Arthur.

Edward Carrariere, of Winnipeg, dropped dead at Swan Lake while threshing.

The Westminster lacrosse team shut out the Montreal Shamrocks on Saturday.

William Girdlestone, who was supposed to be the man killed at the C. P. R. station, Winnipeg, on Friday, has turned up alive.

The C. P. R. has completed the grade of its extension of the Northwestern branch 34 miles past Yorkton, and will soon commence laying rails.

It is announced that Rudyard Kipling has joined the volunteer automobile corps being got up by the war office. The corps already has 120 cars at its disposal.

After having made exhaustive trials of American and British built locomotives on the government railways the New Zealand officials report that the best results have been achieved with the former.

Dr. Joseph Parker, pastor of the City Temple, London, who was seriously ill last spring, but who reported to have recovered, has experienced a sudden relapse, and was unable to preach last Sunday.

The Belfast correspondent of the London Daily Mail says that he has heard that an American syndicate, with a capital of $20,000,000, proposes to erect large mills on the waterside at Belfast, Dublin, Cork, Waterford, and Galway, with a view of importing corn and wheat in bulk, milling it and distributing it by the means of coasting steamers owned by the syndicate.

A Copenhagem dispatch says the strictest precautions are being taken to guard the life of the Dowager empress, Marie Dagmar, of Russia, who is now there with her father, King Christian, owing to what the police consider to be an authentic report that several Italian anarchists are coming to Denmark in order to make an attempt to assassinate her. A number of Russian secret service men have been brought here to aid the Dutch police. ...

During a violent thunderstorm at Toronto on Sunday afternoon lightning struck the roof of the city hall and made a hole in it, sending the huge tiles flying in all directions. The fire brigade was called out, but its services were not required. The only damage of consequence to the building was the splitting of one of the large wooden beams, used as the trusses of the roof. Other buildings were struck in various parts of the city, but no one was hurt. Over one and a quarter inches of rain fell.

Counterfeit $5 bills of the Bank of Montreal and Molsons Bank are reported to be in circulation. Bills of this denomination issued by the Bank of Montreal are numbered in each series up to 300,000, while the counterfeits are numbered up from 900,000. The bogus Molson bill bears the date of July 2, 1901.

Doctors from the Montreal civic health department are visiting all the schools insisting that marks of vaccination be shown. In most cases evidences are forthcoming, and where not guarantees are given that it will be remedied. In some convents the superiors refused Dr. Laberg, city medical officer, saying the young ladies would not bare their arms in the presence of gentlemen. The doctor then said that the young ladies must produce evidence by showing their arms. Finally a compromise was arranged by which the young ladies bared their arms in private and covered them up again, leaving only the vaccination mark bare for the doctor to examine.

SHE TOOK CARBOLIC

A WINNIPEG GIRL DISAPPOINTED IN LOVE.

Lizzie Gibbons, a Girl of 16 Years, Employed at a Wholesale Drug House, Attempts to Take Her Own Life By Drinking Carbolic Acid.

Disappointment in love was the cause of Lizzie Gibbon's attempting to take her own life on Saturday morning last. She is a good looking girl of sixteen years and works in the laboratory department of the Martin, Bole & Wynne Drug company at Winnipeg.

The girls who work in the department usually report for duty at 8 o'clock in the morning. On Saturday morning Lizzie Gibbons was evidently the first to arrive, and when the woman who has charge of the department walked into the room she found Lizzie there alone apparently very sick. She was deathly pale and when her superior entered she said: "My God, I am dying; I have taken carbolic acid." Her tongue was black and she was evidently suffering great agony. A bottle of carbolic acid on the table verified her statement. About an ounce was gone out of a freshly opened bottle. The cork had not been extracted and in her hurry to commit the deed before anyone could arrive she had driven the cork into the bottle.

It was not more than a minute or two afterwards that the woman in charge of the department appeared on the scene. When she realized that the girl had really taken acid she administered an antidote in the shape of a liberal dose of sweet oil. A physician was immediately summoned and he administered the best remedies available, with the result that the girl's life was saved. Her home is on Logan avenue, and she was sent there to recover.

The cause of the girl's rash act is not apparent beyond that she has been disappointed over a love affair. Her idea of suicide would also appear not to have been premeditated as she was familiar with various poisonous drugs used in the laboratory, and laudanum, prussic acid and other deadly drugs were close at hand. The act would appear to have been done on the impulse of the moment. It will probably be weeks before she has entirely recovered, as the lining of her mouth, throat and stomach is badly burned with acid.

THE BOER DELEGATES.

A Commission Arrives at Montreal and Will Tour the Dominion.

A Montreal dispatch says: Messrs Jooste, Lane and Rood, a commission of Boers, who have come here to study Canadian farming methods with a view of adapting them to South African conditions. arrived in Montreal on Saturday on the Lake Champlain from England. The party is in charge of Capt. Kirkpatrick, of the South African Constabulary, and was joined here by W. W. Moore, of the department of agriculture, who will accompany the visitors throughout Canada. The party will first visit the maritime provinces and afterwards go west to the Pacific coast, inspecting the government experimental farms and private properties. On their return to South Africa they are to deliver lectures to their fellow countrymen.

The visitors said that there is a big market in South Africa for live stock, food products and manufactured goods. At present the country is bare and there is a demand for every necessity, and there is plenty of money to pay for them. Good milch cows fetch from £40 to £70 at Pretoria, and the country requires thousands of the Shorthorn species with a milk strain.

Mr. Lane said: "The country will not be restored to its former condition for ten years. The people are satisfied with the present state and are friendly. There is no desire for emigration."

A Queen's Misery.

Vienna, Oct. 5.—The Neues Weiner Tagblatt publishes two letters written by the late Queen Marie Henrietta to her painting master, Franz Xavier Petter, since deceased, showing a half century of matrimonial misery. In one letter, dated September 20, 1853, a month after her marriage, the queen says: "I am an unhappy woman. God is my only support. My poor mother begins to perceive what she did when she arranged my marriage. She only sought my happiness, but she now sees the contrary is the case. If God will hear my prayer I will not live longer."

In the other letter, written later, she said: "Nothing now remains for me but a splendid remembrance of my youth. Separated from my beloved mother and friends, I spend my remaining days in tears."

THE WIDE WORLD.

Telegraphic News of Two Hemisphere Briefly Told.

A big strike of oil has been made at Wheatley, Ont.

Ottawa will probably adopt the automatic telephone system.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. will erect a mammoth mill in Manitoba.

Rev. Dr. Cleaver, of Toronto, believes the rule regarding amusements in the Methodist church is useless.

Ottawa and Toronto city councils have made large purchases of coal for the benefit of citizens.

Sister Dugas, of St. Boniface, has been elected mistress of the novices in the mother house of the Grey nuns at Montreal.

Sir Charles Parsons has presented two old cannon, weighing two tons each, to Winnipeg. These will be placed in the city hall gardens.

The Winnipeg city council has taken the initial step in submitting a Sunday street car bylaw before the ratepayers at the next civic election.

T. G. Davis, of Napanee, Ont., was found dead in his bed.

Storms off the Labrador coast have caused the loss of several fishing vessels.

Louis McIntowney, a workman, was run over by a train at Fort William and killed.

F. C. Wade is mentioned as the Hon. James H. Ross' successor as governor of the Yukon.

A wreck occurred on the C. P. R. Soo line east of Fort William last week in which one man was killed and several injured.

Lady Henry Somerset, president of the W. C. T. U., has arrived in New York.

Three hundred and twenty Barnardo boys have reached New York en route to Canada.

The section of the Pacific cable between Bamfield Creek, B. C., and Fanning Island, has been completed.

"Barbarian" Brown, who mediated between the Jameson raiders and Kruger, died on October 6 at Phoenix, Arizona.

A New York society belle committed suicide in Minneapolis rather than meet her parents from whom she ran away.

An elderly woman, Mrs. Charles Tomlin, of Asheville, Man., met with an accident by falling in the cellar on Sunday morning, which resulted in her death.

It is promised that coal from the new mines now being opened at Frank, Alberta, will be offering in Winnipeg by the 15th December.

The London Daily Mail states that the amount which the new British colonies in South Africa will be called upon to pay as their contribution toward the cost of the war has been fixed at £100,000,000. There will, however., be no attempt to hurry payment, as it is not desired to lay an overwhelming burden upon the resources of the country before they are thoroughly recovered from the shock of war.

Principal Caven's Jubilee.

The Premier of Ontario, most of the university chiefs of Toronto, and many distinguished scholars from all over America, assembled at Knox college, Toronto, on Monday night to do honor to Principal Caven on the occasion of the celebration of the jubilee of his entrance upon the Christian ministry.

The venerable principal, who is the greatest figure now left in the Canadian Presbyterian church, was one of the leaders in the church union movement of 1875. He was ordained pastor at St. Mary's, Ont., in 1852, and remained there 14 years, coming to Knox in 1866. He was professor of exegotical theology seven years, and has for almost thirty years been principal. At the banquet Principal Caven told, in graphic words, the story of the condition of Presbyterianism in Canada, of the union, and of the gceat opportunities offered by it for work in the west.

The principal made an eloquent appeal for a union of the evangelical churches of Canada, which he held could do far more effective work in supplying ordinances to newly settled districts if they were not placed in antagonism by each church competing for a foothold with the others. The principal said the time was ripe for action along this line.

A Washington dispatch says: The secretary of the treasury has received a communication from the collector of customs at Portland, Me., in which he states that the Dominion Coal company, of Canada, is about to export to the United States 100,000 tons of anthracite "run of the mine" coal, and asks that increased facilities be given the company for handling the same. The department will extend every facility within the law and its discretion. The coal pays a duty of 67 cents a ton.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

The Sicilians say that fire will not burn a man born on St. Paul's day (January 25), but that if a woman be burned on that day the sore will never heal and will eventually cause her death, according to the St.Louis Republic.

Dyspepsia or indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the billiary ducts, lots of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also being the principal cause of Headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed for a while never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."

Where a fire burns upon the hearth the Germans say that lightning never strikes

Paper is used as a substitute for rubber on bicycle tires.

$100-REWARD-$100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the Best.

There is a similarity in the making of salads and jokes. They are more likely to suit our own tastes than the tastes of others.

OUT OF SORTS.—Symptoms, Headache, loss of appetite, furred tongue, and general indisposition. These symptoms, if neglected, develop into acute disease. It is a trite saying that an "ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," and a little attention at this point may save months of sickness and large doctor's bills. For this complaint take from two or three of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills on going to bed, and one or two for three nights in succession, and a cure will be effected.

When a Russian family moves from one house to another they always rake all the fire from the hearth of the old domicile and carry it in a closed pot to their new residence.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

In Devonshire, England, if a fire burns blue and dead, it is thought to be a forerunner of death or disaster in that house.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.

Gentlemen,—My daughter, 13 years old, was thrown from a sleigh and injured her elbow so badly it remained stiff and very painful for three years. Four bottles of MINARD'S LINIMENT completely cured her and she has not been troubled for two years. Yours truly,

J. B. LEVESQUE.

St. Joseph, P.Q., Aug. 18, 1900.

Love may be blind, but small brothers see everything in sight.

CAN RECOMMEND IT.—Mr. Enos Bornberry, Tusearora, writes: "I am pleased to say that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is all that you claim it to be, as we have been using it for years, both internally and externally, and have always received benefit from its use. It is our family medicine, and take great pleasure in recommending it."

It is said that only Mecca, in Arabia, and Thessa, in Thibet, are now closed to Christian preachers, but 100 years ago nearly the whole world outside of Europe and America was shut.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise head) Disinfectant Soap Powder is a boon to any home. It disinfects and cleanses at the same time.

An expert is a man whose ignorance overshadows that of ordinary men.

The coabab tree continues to grow in length after it has been felled.

What a shock it would be to most people if they could see us as we see ourselves.

Swallows fly low before a rain because the insects they pursue are then nearer to the ground to escape the moisture of the upper air.

After Over-Indulgence get your stomach and liver into proper condition by using this renowned old family remedy

Beecham's Pills.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

MARKET REVIEW.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

WHEAT—The wheat market the past week has been marked by a declining tendency during the last three days of September, ending with Tuesday, and then a stronger and advancing tendency the first three days of this month up to Saturday. In the American speculative markets moderate activity has set in and a more confident feeling seems to prevail. In last week's review we noticed the position of the September option in Chicago, the price of which had gone up to 86c on the 26th ult. This was further advanced until 95c was the closing quotation as the month went out. The exit of the September option seems to have a steadying effect on the different markets, as during the last three days the fluctuations in quotations have advanced or declined more in unison than previously. The closing quotations on Friday, although they show about 1c advance on three days are very little different from what they were a week ago, except on the May delivery, which shows ¼ to ⅜c advance. Cash trade in the States and export trade at the seaport is called moderate, at the same time there is a considerable movement, as shown by shipping statistics.

Liverpool Prices—No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at Liverpool on Saturday at 6s. 7d.

Manitoba wheat has been fairly active during the week, and a considerable business has been done. At the beginning of the week the feeling was dperessed and buyers held back and would only take wheat when the price was shaded. Latterly, however, buying has been on a better scale. Prices have fluctuated from 68⅛c to 69½c for No. 1 hard, delivery first half of October, and from 67¾ to 68¾c, delivery last half October, the outside price being obtainable Friday. No. 1 northern sells at 2c less than No. 1 hard, and No. 2 northern at 2½c under No. 1 northern. There is almost nothing doing in lower grades yet, but No. 3 northern has been sold at 62c, October delivery, and No. 4 wheat at 58c. All prices are in store Fort William or Port Arthur.

Country Wheat—Farmers are delivering freely at all points, and the market is steady at 58c to 60c per bushel for best grades, according to rate of freight.

OATS—Receipts of oats are increasing and the market is weaker. Local dealers are quoting 23 to 25c per bushel for No. 2 white in carlots on track, Winnipeg, and 23c for feed white. At country points from 18 to 20c is being paid for farmers' loads, according to location.

BARLEY—Deliveries are increasing and the market is easier. Malting barley is worth 33c per bushel in cars on track, Winnipeg, and feed grades 27 to 30c.

FLAXSEED—The market is opened at $1.15 per bushel to farmers at country points

SPELTZ—This grain is beginning to offer at 30c per bushel of 50 lbs. to farmers.

HAY—$6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track, Winnipeg.

POTATOES—30c per bushel.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 60c per pair, alive; fowl, 60 to 70c ducks, 9c per pound; turkeys, 10 to 11c, live weight.

BUTTER — Creamery—Prices are higher at 17½c to 18c per lb. f. o. b. factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Receipts of dairy butter are not sufficient to supply all the demand and the market is firm. Commission houses are paying 12 to 14c for choice to finest dairy, commission basis, in pails or bricks.

CHEESE—10½c per pound is being paid for best makes, delivered in the city.

EGGS—The ruling price is 16½c per dozen for choice eggs, subject to candling.

DRESSED MEATS — Beef, city dressed, 5¾ to 6½c, country stock ½c less; mutton, 8 to 9c; lamb, 11½c; hogs, 9 to 9½c.

HIDES—Dealers are now paying 6½c for No. 1 hides, 5½c for No. 2, and 4½ for No. 3. Calfskins same price as hides. Horse hides 50c to $1 each.

SENECA ROOT—Dealers are talking lower prices and are not willing to pay over 56c for best root delivered in Winnipeg, which is 2c less than last week's prices. Inferior grades are ranging from 2 to 3c below this figure.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—There is a good export movement of range cattle, the shipments amounting to over 2,000 head per head. Best exporters are still ruling at 4c per pound, point of shipment. Butchers' cattle 3 to 3½c.

SHEEP—Receipts of sheep are ample for all requirements of the market and prices hold steady at 3½ to 3¾c per pound off cars Winnipeg. Lambs are worth 5½c per pound.

HOGS—Demand is very active owing to the good sale for cured meats. Packers are quoting 6½ to 6¾c. Inferior grades ½c to 1c less.

MILCH COWS—Cows are scarce. Good milkers readily bring $45 in this market, the range being from $35 to $45 each.

HE WAS PARALYZED

Unable to Walk or Raise His Hands to His Head.

A More Unfortunate Case Could Scarcely be Imagined Than a Husband and Father in This Wretched Condition.

Oshawa, Ont., Oct. 6.—(Special)—The experience of Mr. Joseph Brown, an employee of the Oshawa Malleable Iron Works, should be a lesson to every sick person.

Some five years ago Mr. Brown, who is a hard-working, industrious and sober man, began to feel a stiffness and soreness in the calves of his legs. This gradually increased till he had lost all power in his limbs and arms. He could not have raised his arms to his head to save his life and for over four months he could not stand or walk alone a single step.

All the doctors treated him and gave him up. Then he consulted a Bowmanville doctor who told him he could do nothing for him and advised him to go to the hospital in Toronto where they might be able to help him a little.

To the hospital he went in January, 1898, and remained under treatment for over four weeks. Twelve doctors told him he could not recover and that nothing could be done for him. He was getting worse every day and when removed to his home in Oshawa was live a baby unable to move.

His father-in-law, Mr. John Allin, had heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and suggested that Mr. Brown try them. He did and he says:

"I used altogether twelve boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and by the first of May I was able to start work again in the shop and I have never been sick or off work a day since.

"I am sure I owe my life, health and strength to that great remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If the wife is a slave to fashion the poor husband must of a necessity be a slave to the almighty dollar.

Diamond Brooches.

EACH ONE of the nine Diamonds in the Brooch shown here is a faultless gem.

This is our No. 4704, which we sell for $175—We guarantee the quality.

Write for our new catalogue. It illustrates an unlimited variety of choice jewel prices.

Ryrie Bros.,
Jewelers,
Yonge and Adelaide Streets,
Toronto.

Few women know how to grow old gracefully, and even they do not want to Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Though the ostrich may not be a gambler he has tips on many races.

From a cat's point of view a saucer of cream is the lap of luxury.

Platinum has been drawn into wire so fine that eighteen strands of it twisted together could be inserted into the hollow of a human hair.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, Etc.

Drums made of aluminum are used in the German army. They are lighter and give a louder and more musical sound than those made of other metal.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

Unless the soap you use has this brand you are not getting the best

Ask for the Octagon Bar.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

Not merely the best value, or the best at a price, but positively the best at any price!

Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

GOOD MONEY EARNED

Knitting for us. Other inducements to right parties. We rent new machines. Send for particulars at once. Ontario Furnishing Co. Toronto, Ont

T. H. METCALFE & CO.

Grain and Commission Merchants.

Highest prices paid for wheat, oats, barley or flax in carlots. Wire or write me for prices before selling. Liberal advances made on consignments and handled on commission. Licensed and Bonded.

P. O. Box 550, Winnipeg, Man.

No doubt the TEA you are using is good TEA, but if it is not

GOLD STANDARD

it is not the best.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS

SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERM — $15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

LUCINA

Is stamped in plain letters on every cigar, look for it then for that sweet flavor for which the cigar is noted.

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO., Winnipeg

AFTER THIS IT IS YOUR FAULT

if you suffer with what is generally known as a bad liver.

Fleming's No. 9, Liver Pills.

will effectually relieve the worst case of bilious headache, constipation, indigestion and by cleansing and purifying the stomach relieve the system of many of the poisons that bring on fevers. Ask your Druggist for them, if he has none send us 25c for a bottle, or $1.00 for 5 bottles.

FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, BRANDON,

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory. - - - -

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT? WHAT? LEE'S Priceless Recipes, 3,000 secrets for the home, farm, laboratory, workshop, and every department of human endeavor, with full index to contents; 368 pages, bound in cloth; send 25 cents for a copy, and if you think the book is not worth the money send it back, and your money will be refunded; this is a good side line for canvassers. Write for terms if you want to canvass. WILLIAM BRIGGS, Methodist Book-room, Toronto, Ontario.

In Cambridgeshire, England, there is a curious belief to the effect that a fire started by a lightning stroke can only be quenched by milk.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals.

Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa.

For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy.

Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

A man is often reminded of something he has forgotten only to discover he can't remember what it was.

There are cases of consumption so far advanced that Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will not cure, but none so bad that it will not give relief. For coughs, colds and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest, it is a specific which has never been known to fail. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, thereby removing the phlegm, and gives the deceased parts a chance to heal.

The more we do the more we can do. The more busy we are the more leisure we have.—Hazlitt.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

No, Cordelia, a plagiarist isn't necessarily the author of a play.

W. N. U. No. 397.

Some men make a specialty of being honest only because it pays better than dishonesty.

WILSON'S FLY PADS

WILL RID YOUR HOUSE OF FLIES IN A FEW HOURS.

Laugh, and the world laughs with you; growl, and the world laughs at you.

Agitation is the method that plants the school by the side of the ballot-box.—Wendell Phillips.

In Greece, when one peasant borrows fire from another's hearth to kindle his own, the owner of the fire must accompany the borrower to his home "to see the fire blaze," otherwise the one making the loan will have his house and goods destroyed by the devouring element.

Beauty is inly skin deep, but ugliness is built up from the bone.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, OCT. 11, 1902.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

WHAT has become of the agitation in favor of the incorporation of the town? Now that matters are resuming a normal condition it would not be amiss on the part of the members of the board of trade to take this matter up. It should not be very difficult to get the opinion of the property holders of the town upon the question. The FREE PRESS is of the opinion that a plebiscite would show a very large majority in favor of some measure of local control. A public meeting would probably be the easiest method of of arriving at a conclusion upon this point. This done it would be quite within the province of the board of trade, as the only public body in the town, to give the wishes of the people shape, and direct the effort to secure incorporation along the proper channels. The existing conditions, under which local requirements are either ignored or mis-directed from the seat of government at Victoria, is becoming more unbearable each day.

That there are difficulties in the way cannot be denied but they are not such as should cause the people of Fernie to become faint-hearted. If the board of trade would take the initiative in the matter, at least of half of the difficulties which loom up so threateningly at present will vanish. That Fernie is large enough for some measure of local self-government cannot be denied, nor is there any question but that the growth of the town within the next two years will be as rapid as it has been in the past. Incorporation will facilitate this growth rather than hamper it.

The present condition holds out nothing but the prospect of starvation of local improvements. Past experience has shown the policy of the government at Victoria to be that of securing the maximum in the way of taxation from the people who make up the community of Fernie, and of giving in return the minimum in the way of desired improvements. This is rather the fault of the system than of the government. The requirements of the unorganized section of the province are very much in excess of their revenue. This means that populous centers like Fernie are taxed to pay in part for expenditures carried on in the more sparsely settled portions. But unequal as the system is in its incidence, so far as Fernie is concerned, the provincial finances show a deficit year after year. Nor can it be said that there is any prospect of appreciable betterment. Self-interest should therefore prompt the people of Fernie to break away from so undesirable an alliance.

The health of the community demands a system of drainage, assuming for the moment that an adequate system of sewerage is beyond the immediate financial ability of the community. There is clearly no prospect of securing this so long as the people put up with existing conditions. The town is in need of sidewalks. It cannot grow so long as conditions require its citizens to live within a block of the main business throughfare, or wade ankle-deep in mud in the wet weather, and knee-deep through snow in the winter season, in order to reach their homes. These are a few of the things which stand in the way of the progress of Fernie as a town, but there are others.

The provincial government's system of police is quite out of touch with the interests of the town. It is framed for unsettled districts, and the special circumstances presented in a town the size of Fernie receive no consideration whatever. To this may be added the desirability of placing the fire department upon a more satisfactory basis. That the measure of fire protection afforded is inadequate is apparent, but the demands in this respect have got beyond the stage where they can be even approximately met from such funds as are secured by the passing of the hat. They should be met by a general tax rate, and the only way this can be done is by securing incorporation.

It is useless to hide the fact that there is a disposition in some quarters to fight incorporation for the reason that it will mean incresed taxation, but this objection is fairly met with the statement that the tax rate will be just what the people of Fernie choose to make it. But granting that the taxes will be heavier, it must be conceded that a measure of municipal government, with the local improvements it would bring, would give an added value to all forms of property within the limits of the corporation, and then to this must be added the resultant benefits from the conveniences which will make Fernie a much more desirable place of residence for families.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE miners employed in No. 1 mine during September averaged $5.18 3-5 per day. We venture to say that there is not a mining company in Canada paying as high wages as the above. The miners should consider this when discussing the change of system at their meeting tonight.

* * *

THE statement of General Manager Tonkin that he is willing to enter into a two-years' agreement with the men in regard to a wage scale, and that he has purchased 400 cars to be added to the present supply, should do a good deal toward showing the men that Mr. Tonkins is acting in good faith with them.

* * *

THE question as to whether the new system inaugurated by General Manager Tonkin two months ago has proved a success or not, is receiving a great deal of attention from all quarters. A look at the figures showing the wages earned by the men during the month of September, which are given in another column, will lead the most prejudiced to the opinion that from a money-making point of view the men have no complaint to make. In act that they should be well satisfied.

* * *

THE survey of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's new townsite at Morrissey is nearly completed, and the lots will soon be placed on the market. Morrissey is bound to be one of the leading towns i the Crow's Nest Pass. The Company has a large staff of miners at that place already, and is advertising for another hundred. While it has not been definitely settled it is the opinion of the management that the first day's sale of lots will be conducted by public auction.

FERNIE Real Estate

IS ADVANCING
yet there is no boom.

For sale—several good business lots on Victoria street; a number of dwellings and store properties at a reasonable figure.

To Rent — dwellings, stores and rooms.

Call and get figures at

Watson's, Next the Victoria

PREST,
The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Winter Flowering Bulbs

A great variety.

Bleasdell's Drug Store.

Cars's Mackinaw.

Lumbermen

You should see our stock of the celebrated Cars's Mackinaw Clothing

This clothing holds the same position in its line as the Slater Shoe does in footwear

The only genuine Mackinaw clothing in Canada.

We have it in Pants, Coats, Shirts and Mitts.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm. S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.

WM. S. KEAY.

Dated August 28, 1902. 191 8

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Port Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about five miles in a southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard range. Commencing at a post marked George McCliucy's north-west corner post, adjoining August Baldauf's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

GEORGE McCLINCY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or a soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked Thomas Britt south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. R. Nelson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept, 1902.

THOMAS BRITT.

FALL GOODS

This is the time of the year you are looking for fall and winter goods.

We have just received a shipment of Ladies' Blouses
which are strictly up-to-date, and the prices are within the reach of all.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

100 Miners Wanted
At the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Mines
—AT MORRISSEY—

THE SURVEY is almost completed in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Townsite at Morrissey, B. C. In the opening of the new townsite at Morrissey, the business man will have an opportunity for money-making that has never been presented in British Columbia. Get in on the ground floor.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

Next Thursday, Oct. 16th, is Thanksgiving Day.

F. J. Mitchell can fit you in a suit of clothes. Give him a trial. x

Car of the best American coal oil received to-day at Quail's x

A pair of canary birds for sale—good singer Apply at this office.

Mr. D. Wilson, of Nelson, Public School Inspector, was in town this week.

A. Smith, teacher at the Mines and C. W. Laidley, merchant tailor, spent the week on the hills near Michel.

H. G. Watson is in charge of the school at the Mines this week during the absence of the regular teacher.

T. Lawson, merchant, of Kelowna, B. C., spent Sunday and Monday in town the guest of J. A. Rennie.

W. J. Twiss, of Kaslo, general agent for the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada, was in town this week

Mr. Jas. R. Wilson and family left town Saturday night for Pennsylvania where they will make their home for the future.

Mitchell the tailor pays the only Union wages in Fernie. x

Dr. Barber arrived on Thursday's train from Cranbrook. Those requiring dental work will find him at his dental parlor opposite the Royal Hotel.

The sidewalk around the Catholic Church property was much improved by being levelled, and broken boards replaced by good ones. Several other places around town could stand the same treatment.

THE editor of the Cranbrook Herald intimates that the FREE PRESS is controlled by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. The utter silliness of such an insinuation will be apparent to anyone who has watched the attitude of the paper toward the Company during the past six or eight months.

The London & Liverpool Co. received from Mr. Terry, of the Calgary Tent and Mattress Co., two nice mattresses, as their donation to the Relief Fund. The mattresses have been disposed of, and after defraying freight and cartage charges, the sum of $12.00 remains, which Mr. Trites will be pleased to hand over to the Relief Committee.

The first ball of the season will be given in Princess Hall by the Lacrosse Club. The date has been fixed for Friday evening, Oct. 24th. The Fernie orchestra has been engaged for the occasion and those who attend may expect to hear a grade of music never before attempted at a ball in Fernie. Refreshments will be served. Tickets may be secured from any of the members of the Lacrosse Club.

A. W. Bleasdell & Co., of Fernie, B.C., have purchased the drug business of D. M. Ross and will carry on the business here. This branch of the firm will be managed by W. A. Bleasdell, one of the firm. They have also secured a lease on the whole of the Fisher block and will continue to occupy part of it for their drug store. The drug firm of A. W. Bleasdell & Co. is well and favorably known throughout this portion of the West as reliable druggists.—Sentinel.

In our issue of two weeks ago we stated that Mr. H. W. Barnes would assume the management of the Victoria Hotel here in the near future. We were misinformed, as we have since learned that the Victoria will be run in future, as it has always been, under the personal supervision of Mr. Gates. Mr. Barnes is not interested in hotel property in Fernie, but we understand he will shortly have a building under way in Morrissey, which when completed will compare favorably with the best hotels in the district.

If you want the Union Label on your fall suit you must go to F. J. Mitchell x

We received this week from Mr. Jan Podbielancik, merchant, of this town, a copy of a special English edition of the Slovensky Daily, published at Pittsburg, Pa. The paper is made up with illustrations on many interesting subjects, and contains several well written articles on the condition of affairs in Russia, which are very interesting reading. Lack of space prevents us from reproducing them, but at some future date we hope to be able to give some of them in full.

The concert to be given on Oct. 21st under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church should be well attended in view of the fact that Miss M. Louise Mawhinney, of Toronto, has been secured as soprano soloist for the occasion. Lovers of good vocal music should not fail to be present as soloists visit Fernie seldom. The remaining numbers on the programm are being contributed by some of our Fernie musicians including the Fernie orchestra which makes its first public appearance at this concert.

Get your coal oil at Quail's x

Mr. J. S. T. Alexander is in Lethbridge this week on business.

Oct. 24th. Don't forget the date. Its the Lacrosse Club ball.

Read the new adv. of the London and Liverpool Co. this week

The Alberta Hotel is being much improved in appearance by a coat of paint.

Dr. Walkers is attending to Dr. Higgins practise during the latter's absence from Fernie.

Mr. Sheppard's stock of hardware has arrived and is being opened up. He will be in position to do business in a few days.

L. L. Knight, of Winnipeg, arrived in town this week to take a position in the London & Liverpool Co's store.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church will give a Thanksgiving Social on Thursday, Oct. 16th. Admission 25c.

On account of illness Prest's studio will be open only three days next week, Thursday, 16th; Friday, 17th; Saturday, 18th.

Mitchell our sprinter, is being put through his paces daily, preparing for his race with Nevins. Local sports are confident they will have the winner on the day of the race.

A. W. Purdy, furniture dealer and upholsterer of Nelson, has accepted a position with the B.C. Furniture Co. here. Mrs. Purdy and child are also in town. They are at present making their home with Mr. Purdy's brother Mr. A. Purdy.

We have received an anonymous communication from some one, in regard to police matters. If the writer will be good enough to sign his name to the communication, we will be pleased to publish it in next week's issue.

F. J. Mitchell has the only Union Tailor shop in town. x

The cottage belonging to Mr. A. Miller was moved last week from the rear of the Gem restaurant to the vacant lot next to the Baptist Church. The building was raised with jack screws, a heavy piece of square timber which served as a reach pole for a waggon placed under each end, and drawn down the street by two teams.

Mr. Jas Johnstone, formerly general manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., accompanied by Mrs. Johnstone and their little daughter passed through Fernie on their way to Nelson yesterday. They have just returned from an extended tour on the continent. Mr. Johnstone has invested considerable money in real estate in Nelson and is also experimenting in that district in fruit farming.

The license commission met last evening in Fernie for the purpose of considering the application of H. W. Barnes for a license for the new townsite of Morrissey. There was no opposition to the application, but for some reason which they refused to make public, it was laid over for one week. A. E. Brown was granted a license for the town of Wardner. The application of J. Balko, for a license in Fernie, was laid over until the next meeting.

Huggins—Higgins

Miss Josephine Huggins of Grand Forks N D,, and Dr. Charles P. Higgins of Fernie, B.C., were united in marriage in the chapter room at All Saints' cathedral Spokane, Wash., by Dean Perrine, on Thursday of last week. The happy couple arrived in Fernie yesterday and are registered at the Royal Hotel. The people of Fernie unite in wishing the young couple long and prosperous married life.

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

Mott, Son & Co. have the foundation laid and the framework started for a new saw mill which they expect to have in running order before the end of the year. They are crowded with orders, and are running day and night to fill them.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Litany 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

MILLINERY
SATURDAY, OCT. 5

I will display my fall and winter opening of Ladies' Hats, in the building known as the Auction Store.

Opposite Miller's Bakery
Victoria Avenue.

Mrs. M. Goldstein.

WE REPAIR

FURNITURE

AND DO

Upholstering.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

All current magazines of the following 36 periodicals constantly on hand at the

FERNIE DRUG STORE

Pearson's, Argosy, Strand, Sketch, World-Wide, Field, Black and White, Scribner's Illustrated London News, Ainslee's, Everybody's, Vogue, Designer, Delineator, Recreation, Scientific American McClure's, Cosmopolitan, Frank Leslie, Canadian, Forum, Graphic, North American Review, Review of Reviews, Cassell's Weekly, Cassell's Journal, Tit-Bits, Answers, Black Cat, Ladies' World, Ladies' Home Companion, Ladies' Home Journal Literary Digest, The Philistine, Will Carleton, Current Literature and St. Nicholas.

Fernie Drug Store.

Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Joseph Bean, John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean has this day been dissolved by mutual consent.

The business will in future be carried on by John Stephen Bean and Percival Bean, under the firm name of Bean Bros.

(Signed) Joseph Bean
John Stephen Bean
195-3 Percival Bean

Dated at Fernie, 20th day of Sept. 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first application of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the publication can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steel, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked N. Binns south west corner post, situate 15 chains east of north west corner of J. L. C. Abbott's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

N. BINNS.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

60 Days 60 Days
60 Days

The greatest selling time ever known in the Kootenays. We are over-stocked in some lines, and are going to turn them into MONEY. Only one way to do so — make prices that will loosen the purse strings. The first week,—just to tempt you

Fast Black Sateen Shirts — Two Lines.
One at 55c.——— A Better One at 85c.

Both at about half price. Watch for hand bills and posters.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

—THE—Browning
Automatic Pistol....

is the simplest, surest, and strongest of all. It represents a perfect weapon.

A full line of Reed Goods in Stock.

J. D. QUAIL..
Hardware. Furniture.

Coal, Capital, Commerce

These three will make

MORRISSEY, B.C.

The most important place in South East Kootenay. The whole people can participate in the grand advantages of Morrissey without paying tribute to any combination or corporation.

Call on us and look over the property.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"They are so strange that no one would believe him on oath unless he could back them up by the papers themselves. I don't mind telling you that much."

"Then I guess you must have them, only I don't see a way short of lifting them from the man's stateroom, and that sort of thing has an ugly name—if it's found out."

"It would be theft—for you, not me. They are mine or my employer's, and I tell you I should not hesitate to take them openly or secretly, to fight over them if I could get anywhere within reach."

"Reckon, captain, you'll be likely to qualify, too, for state's prison," said Mr. Rossiter, laughing.

I had been promised news of Frida by my new friend Rossiter. But day followed day, and yet he had nothing to tell me. It was always the same story: "Missy's still under the weather, like the rest of the women folk. Not able to leave her stateroom. Stewardess thinks she'll be laid by till we make Sandy Hook. But I'll let you know soon as I hear."

At last, on the fourth day at sea, a superb day, fresh and sunny, my dear girl made her appearance on deck, and, as I was ever on the watch, I saw her from my distant second class station long before Rossiter came with his report. Indeed he was too busy, good soul, in seeing to her wants and dancing attendance upon her to think very much of me. When he did appear, it was only to get Roy. "Missy was mad to see the dog." There was not a word about me.

When he returned, it was with rather a scared face.

"All the fat is in the fire! The duchess has read your name on the dog's collar"—

"And guesses I am on board?"

"I don't say that, not yet anyway, but they're likely to ferret it out pretty slick unless you cache down below for the rest of the run."

"I shall not hide, my friend, not till I've seen and talked with Miss Fairholme, and that I'm going to do with or without your help or leave."

"Right now?"

"Right now, over there on the poop deck, in the face of them all. I can pay for a first class passage, and I'll do it under another name."

"So as to call attention to yourself and bring those toughs on top of you again—spoil all your hand."

"What can they do to me? And if they chose to try I'm man enough to meet them. I'm not afraid of anything straight and aboveboard."

"That's just what it wouldn't be. If you come out now, you will be playing their game—will put them on their guard anyhow. Don't be wrong headed, captain, and wait, won't you?"

"How long? This is the fourth day out—Wednesday. We shall make port by Saturday, at latest, and then what am I to do?"

"See here, captain. I'll bring Miss Fairholme to you my own self this very evening about dusk, or you to her. How's that for high? There's a snug spot right aft over the steering gear—just room for two, if they're fond of each other"—

I did not know whether to be angry with him or not, but I began to see the force of his argument, and I agreed eventually to wait, as he advised.

"Have you told her I am here? If not, I think—you will understand—I should prefer"—

"A nod's as good as a wink, captain. Never a word has she got from me as to your being on board, and she shan't. Whether she has any suspicion of it or not I cannot say. But I don't know why she should, and if she did cart ropes wouldn't hold her, I reckon. But maybe I am making too free."

I am not ashamed to confess that for the rest of that day, so long as Frida kept the deck. I staid in the place from which I could best see her, and I borrowed a pair of glasses from Rossiter to spy the better on her beautiful face. I saw that many emotions agitated it in turn. It was wistful, expectant, sad, downcast, now flushing bright with some vague hope, now tender with soft memories, with thoughts of me, as I was conceited enough to believe, and rightly, to judge by the glad welcome she gave me when I was once more by her side.

How the time passed I cannot say. We sat there hand in hand gazing out across the long track of the steamer as it sparkled and foamed under the moonlight and taking no thought of it, of why we were there, what might be in store for us or what I should do next. We should have sat on far into the night, I believe, perfectly unconscious and unconcerned, except with ourselves, had not a tall figure suddenly thrown its shadow over us, and we were addressed in a low, nervous female voice:

"Pardon me, but I knew I could not be mistaken. It's Captain Wood!"

The Duchess of Tierra Sagrada!

"I could not rest till I had spoken to you," she went on hurriedly. "Yet I felt de trop. I did not like to disturb you, to interrupt you. May I ask one word? You escaped?"

"As you see, duchess—uninjured, too, except for the discomfort and rough handling. You shall hear the whole story some day."

"I would gladly have spared you this suffering from the very first. I tried hard, I did indeed, even that first night in the opera box, and afterward I would have warned you, but I dared not be more precise. Again, in that terrible house I was on your side."

"Indeed, duchess," broke in Frida, "you have made us your friends. We are grateful, and we will show it yet, I hope."

"But why are you here?" went on the other woman impatiently. "How did you come? I have never seen you during the voyage nor have the—the others. It is fortunate. They would certainly try to do you an injury."

"They have done so already—an injury that may be irreparable. They have robbed me."

"Yes, yes, that I know," she said, "but it will be a small matter, and you would have your redress. You could protect yourself against worse, now you are free, if you were only careful. I cannot think why you should risk so much now. You are within their reach again."

I laughed. "That has never weighed with me, nor do I care for the money. It is my honor that is at stake, duchess. I must recover certain papers that you—your people have stolen or I shall be eternally disgraced."

"Papers? Are they yours? I have heard of them. State papers, belonging to your government and worth a fortune to any one who will give them to ours. You are concerned?"

"Closely. I would give a large sum—any sum—to get them back."

"I need no bribes, Captain Wood." She spoke with dignity. "You cannot mean to offer me money surely! I have not fallen so low as that, I hope. I am ready to make restitution. It is the least I can do for you. You shall have the papers. I will fetch them."

"You are a good woman. I feel for you, indeed I do," Frida said as she staid her for a moment with a gesture as though to kiss her, but the duchess brushed past and hurried away.

"Yes, she is a good woman," I repeated, echoing Frida, only to find that the remark was not exactly pleasing to her.

"I do not quite see why she is so much interested in you, and I shall want to know more about that."

But why need I set down in words the gleeful badinage of a pair of silly lovers? And it was ended abruptly when the duchess returned.

"Here, take them, if they are yours. I leave that to your honor. I knew where he kept them, and I have secured them—no matter how."

A single glance under the nearest electric light satisfied me that these were the missing papers. They were still in their official "jacket," a broad band of bright green paper, on which was printed the label, "Strictly confidential."

"Be on your guard, I implore you," she went on. "There may be trouble about them. If your identity is discovered, they will suspect you, and it will be another reason to attack you. Put them by. Lock them up securely."

"Let me have them," interposed Frida. "No one would think of mixing me up with the business, and I'm not afraid of anything they can do to me."

"You shall run no such risk, Frida," I protested. "It is entirely my affair. I came for them, I have got them, and I will keep them against all comers. In the last resort I would throw them overboard. They are of no actual value except in the wrong hands. We have copies of them."

It was so settled, and the party broke up. I was the last to leave the stern, having given my dear girl a rendezvous in the same place at the same time the next evening. But as I passed along the now deserted deck, making for the companion ladder that led to my second class quarters, I was met by a quartermaster in the full light of an electric lamp, who hailed me roughly.

"Hello, my hearty! Vast heaving and run alongside. What brings you in these waters? You've no right here aft, and you know it. I am going to bring you in front of the officer of the watch. He wants you."

"Here, take them, if they are yours. I leave that to your honor."

"If he does, he knows where to find me—in the second saloon forward."

(To be Continued.)

WASTING AWAY

THE SAD CONDITION OF MANY YOUNG GIRLS.

Mothers Should Be Very Careful When Their Daughters Complain of Headache, Fickle Appetite, Dizziness or Heart Palpitation.

Many mothers neglect the health of their growing daughters. Not wilfully, of course, but because they think the occasional headaches from which they suffer, fickleness of appetite, and pale cheeks, are the natural result of the merging of girlhood into womanhood. This is a serious mistake. There is no period in a girl's life when she needs more attention, and unless the little troubles are successfully treated, more serious ones—perhaps decline and consumption—are sure to follow. What every young girl needs at this period is a tonic medicine that will give her a rich, red blood, strong nerves and bring her safely through a critical period in her life. For this purpose there is no other medicine in the world can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thousands of girls throughout Canada owe their present health and happiness to this medicine, and thousands of others who are suffering would soon be strong if they would give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. Among the many young ladies who have proved the great worth of this medicine is Miss Jessie Beamer, of Boyle, Ont. Miss Beamer says: "Some years ago I became very ill, and my friends feared I was going into a decline. I was pale; suffered from terrible headaches; my appetite was poor and I grew very thin. I became so weak that I could hardly walk. I remained in this condition for several months, during which time I tried several medicines, but none helped me in the least. Then my mother got me some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and almost from the outset they helped me. As I continued the use of the Pills, the severe headaches left me; my appetite returned and I gained in weight. In fact, I was soon enjoying perfect health, and have since continued to do so. I attribute this entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and will be glad if some other weak and ailing girl will profit by my experience."

Pale and sallow cheeks, dizziness, headaches, palpitation of the heart, and the feeling of weariness that afflicts so many young girls will soon disappear if Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are used. These pills also cure rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney ailments, St. Vitus' dance, and the other troubles that come from poor blood and weak nerves. Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Petroleum is derived from vegetable and animal substances that were deposited in and associated with the forming of rocks.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state or morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

In chasing the ideal one often succeeds in catching up with the material.

Some men never give up until after they break down.

Some women are good looking until after they find it out.

ST. JACOBS OIL

For Stiff and Swollen Necks.

Mr. Hooper, 57 Grosvenor street, Belfast, writes:—"Having from a cold got a very stiff and painful swollen neck, I tried all the usual remedies without effect. I was almost giving it up, when a book was placed on my counter describing St. Jacobs Oil. I procured a bottle, and had scarcely rubbed it on my neck when I felt better. In a short time the pain left me and the swelling went down. Finding it so good in this case, I then tried it on my ankle, which I had sprained, and which was frequently very painful. I soon had the pleasure of finding that pain also disappear. I must say I consider St. Jacobs Oil of great value.

One of Peace's Heroes.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., presided recently at the "Cheshire Cheese," Fleet Street, at a dinner given by pressmen in honor of Captain Freeman, of the Roxdam, the hero of the Martinique disaster. In proposing the guest's health he observed that the story of Captain Freeman had been told often, but he could promise him that it was a story that would be told much oftener in the future, and that long after he and they had passed away future generations of men and women and boys and girls would be thrilled when that story was told. There were some deeds that never die, and the deed of Captain Freeman was one of them. There was a courage which was more valuable than any other kind of courage. It was called by Napoleon "Two o'clock in the morning courage," by which he meant the courage of a man who was brought face to face with an emergency without a second's preparation, and whose skill and presence of mind rose to the emergency. Was ever a man face to face more suddenly with a more tragic and terrible emergency than Captain Freeman? He was a man who descended into hell, and saw all its terrors and its horrors, and yet he was able to look on that awful spectacle. But he did not quail, even before hell on earth, and standing on the bridge of his vessel carried that vessel through an ocean of flame, forgetting his own sufferings, forgetting his own peril, thinking mechanically and automatically, with the simplicity of true heroism, that his duty was to guide his vessel and bring out it and his crew, so far as he could, safe into the harbor, from the ocean of fire. He saluted Captain Freeman as one of Peace's finest heroes, as a man who brought his ship and his crew through fire and through tempest, and in doing so displayed a bravery which would make his name immortal, as long as there were human beings to be stirred by tales of such sacrifice and heroism.

Fall Calving of Cows.

The general rule is for spring calving, but the best time is the fall. There are many reasons in support of this statement. A great many experiments have been carried on during a number of years in various parts of the world, and these all go to show that from fall calving cows about 25 per cent. more milk is obtained than from spring calving. The reasons are obvious. During the winter the cow is free from drouth, heat and flies, and her yield is thus not affected, when right in the flush of the milk as is too often the case. Then the spring grass coming toward the close of her period of lactation serves as an inspiration to her wearying powers and greatly increase the wanning milk flow.

Milk and butter usually bring better prices in winter than in summer. There is usually more time on the farm to attend to the cattle, calves are more economically raised, since by the time the spring grass shoots up they are ready for it, and are in good condition the next winter to begin their duties. Midsummer and "dog days" are a good time for the cow to be dry; stabling is uncomfortable and the handling and care of milk is more troublesome than at any other time. In short four fall-fresh cows have been found to equal five which calved in the spring, in twelve months' product, and at about four-fifths the cost.—Up-to-Date Farming.

Equality of Rights.

If the ladies have been enjoying the sweets of emancipation in Australia and New Zealand for some time and have been allowed to become Parliamentary voters, barristers, stock brokers, insurance agents and cabdrivers, they are beginning to realize that independence is not without its bitters as well. Equality of rights cannot be separated from equality of responsibilities and penalties. Melbourne papers report a case in which a lady named Frederika List was called upon to show cause why she should not contribute to the support of her husband. The latter was an old age pensioner to the extent of six shillings a week, and it was proved that his wife was a landowner in her own right. She was ordered by the court to pay a further six shillings per week for her husband's maintenance.

Boy King Has 2,000,000 Subjects.

The British Government has recently accorded the title of highness to the 7-year-old King of Uganda, a little African chieftain, whose territory is now part of a British protectorate. He is a grandson of the celebrated Mutessa, and descendant of a long line of kings, but has never been far away from Mengo, the native capital of Uganda, where he was born. The territory over which the King or "Kabaka," rules, is nearly 20,000 square miles in extent, and has a native population of between one and two million people.

South African War Dates.

In reply to a correspondent it may be stated that the South African war formally commenced on October 11, 1899, and formally ended on May 31, 1902. Ladysmith, Kimberley and Mafeking were besieged by the Boers and were relieved by the British on February 28, 1900, February 16, 1900, and May 24, 1900, respectively. Among the principal towns captured by the British were Bloemfontein, March 12; Kroonstad, May 12; Johannesburg, May 31, and Pretoria, June 5, all in 1900.

Blood will tell

When an animal is all run down, has a rough coat and a tight hide, anyone knows that his blood is out of order. To keep an animal economically he must be in good health.

DICK'S BLOOD PURIFIER

is a necessity where the best results from feeding would be obtained. It tones up the system, rids the stomach of bots, worms and other parasites that suck the life blood away.

Nothing like Dick's powder for a run down horse.

50 cents a package.

Leeming, Miles & Co., Agents, MONTREAL.

Write for Book on Cattle and Horses free.

If brevity is the soul of wit some of our modern jokesmiths must be soulless

BABY'S FIRST TOOTH

A Family Event That Does Not Always Bring Unmixed Joy.

Baby's first tooth does not come unannounced. Inflamed gums and impaired digestion produce a feverish and fretful condition about which the mother often feels concern. The baby boy of Mrs. George McGregor, of Hamilton, Ont., was troubled with diarrhoea while teething and was cross and restless. He did not sleep well and matters became serious. The mother writes as follows: "My sister had used Baby's Own Tablets for her baby and advised me to try them. I got a box and after giving the Tablets to the baby a few times he began to improve and was soon well. He is now a big, healthy baby, and whenever he gets fretful or does not feel well I give him a tablet and he is soon all right again."

Baby's Own Tablets replace with great advantage castor oil and other nauseous, griping drugs. They sweeten the stomach, quiet the nerves and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to contain no opiate and to be absolutely harmless. If your druggiest does not keep them you can obtain a full-sized box by mail, post paid, by sending 25 cents to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Think of it! A trolley car runs through the streets of Jerusalem!

A ship-chandler in Front street, Brooklyn, bears the high-sounding name of Mr. Westminster Abbey.

Men are becoming scarcer year after year. So says a German statistician; and he predicts that 3,000 years hence there will be only one man to 220 women.

Musical vibrations will cause high explosives to go off.

In Wales and in Cornwall miners burn their hats upon the birth of a male child; if a girl be born his neighbors burn it for him.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS,

CLEANSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;

DISPELS COLDS HEADACHES & FEVERS;

OVERCOMES HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS,

BUY THE GENUINE—MAN'F'D BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE KY. SAN FRANCISCO CAL. NEW YORK N.Y.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50c. PER BOTTLE.

INTER-TRIBAL WARS

NATIVES OF NEW GUINEA IN CONFLICT.

Constant Strife Causes Terrible Loss of Life---Three Thousand Persons Die in One Day From Cholera in the Philippine Islands.

A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., dated Sept. 30, says: Shortly before the steamer Moana, which arrived today, left Sydney, N. S. W., official dispatches arrived from New Guinea telling of inter-tribal fights and massacres. The Tugeria head-hunters had attacked the Sanana villages and killed a large number and carried off many heads. The Sanana afterwards attacked the Tugeri. Sir F. P. Winter, administrator of New Guinea, wires the governor-general of Australia:

"Proceeding down the Morehead, after their raid on the Sanana villages, the Tugeri were encountered by a large hunting party of our natives, among whom were some Sanana men. This party at once attacked the Tugeria, killed several of them, and forced them to abandon their canoes and to take flight in the bush. On my arrival here from Australia I at once empowered J. I. Carr to communicate direct with the Dutch authorities at Merauke respecting the Tugeri, and our police and Dutch soldiers will form a punitive expedition."

With regard to the alleged ruthless massacres by the Tugeri, Sir Francis Winter writes: "Since my arrival in this possession more natives have been ruthlessly massacred by other natives within a radius of thirty miles from the house in which I am now writing than have during any similar length of time been killed in this possession by the Tugeri. A village on the Laroki river, distant not more than six hours' walk from this house, was nearly exterminated."

Cholera in the Philippines.

Manila, Oct. 1.—It is announced that 5,124 cases of cholera and 2,740 deaths from that disease were reported in the province of Iloilo, Island of Panay, on Monday. This is the highest record in any district since the outbreak occurred and exceeds the total in Manila, and in many of the provinces since the epidemic began.

The people are fleeing to the mountains, leaving the dead unburied and the dying uncared for. The government has ordered additional doctors and medicines to be sent to Iloilo. The number of victims makes ordinary sanitary measures impossible.

The totals for all the provinces on Monday were 5,390 cases and 3,091 deaths.

Sailed Through Darkness.

The San Francisco Examiner contains the following account of the passage of the ship Umatilla from Victoria to that city:

"With her decks covered with ashes from the forest fires which have been sweeping through the woods of Washington and Oregon, the steamer Umatilla came into port today from Puget Sound. For three hours on September 12th the sun was obscured from view, and the steamer's lights had to be kept burning. The sky overhead was red and the sea was dyed a bright crimson. The captain and passengers were at a loss to explain the lurid appearance of sky and sea, and not until port was reached was the cause of the phenomenon learned.

Speaking of the occurrence, Capt. N. E. Cousins, of the Umatilla, said: "It was at 6.30 on the morning of the 12th that the sky began suddenly to darken. We were then about twenty miles off shore and twenty-three miles south of Cape Flattery. It grew steadily darker, and at 8 o'clock the sun was totally obscured. At 10.40 the darkness was intense, except for a red glare in the sky, and the lights had to be lit in order to see the compass. Gray ashes sifted down continually on deck, and the sky appeared one mass of fire. From horizon to horizon the heavens seemed dyed in brightest vermillion. The water reflected the glare inthe sky and it appeared that we were cutting through a sea of blood. The air was hot and choking. After steaming for fifty-four miles the sky gradually turned a grayish hue. It was noon when we again saw the sun. I thought that perhaps some volcano had been in eruption on shore. The passengers were somewhat perturbed, though no one was frightened, the crimson sea and the dull black haze spread over all was the most strangely beautiful and awe-inspiring sight that I have ever witnessed.

Citizens who have in hand the care of the Montreal poor, who have no coal, will endeavor to make an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific by which the company will give a low rate on wood brought from the northern counties of the province, where it is plentiful.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

A new comet will shortly be visible to the naked eye.

Coal is selling in small quantities in New York at $25 per ton.

Work has been started on the electric road from Winnipeg to Selkirk, and cars will be running by July 1 next.

Another party of 200 Welsh Patagonians will settle in Alberta next spring.

Montreal shipping and grain men say there is no danger of a shortage of tonnage on the great lakes this fall.

The Newfoundland authorities have asked the United States for a postal agreement similar to the one that country has with Canada.

The C. P. R. is placing new and magnificent first class coaches on its through trains, and will use present main line coaches for branch service.

The New Westminster lacrosse team defeated the champion Shamrocks at New Westminster by 10 goals to 2.

The Cunard steamship line will receive a subsidy of $750,008 from the British government.

Winnipeg bank clearings for September show an increase of five millions.

Eric Sharpe, the youthful slayer of Beatrice Holland at Kingston, has been set at liberty.

President Roosevelt discussed with his cabinet ministers the settlement of the coal strike, but it was decided that nothing could be done.

A sad death occurred on Sept. 30 at Moose Jaw, Ralph, the eldest son of Mr. A. H. Ball, B.A., principal of the school, having succumbed to poisoning. He found a box of neuralgia tablets and ate them for candies.

A man named Rose, of Collingwood, has told an extraordinary story to the crown authorities of an alleged conspiracy to murder for insurance. Rose was approached by a fellow townsman, whose name is withheld, and who asked that Rose drown or poison the man's mother, a very old lady, who has $1,500 on her life. Rose appeared to agree to poison her, and states he brought her to Toronto and told his story to Manager Peck, of the Union Mutual Life, which had the insurance.

Mr. Bourassa, M. P. for Labelle, Que., indulges in more threats in the Monthly Review for October of what the French-Canadians will do if Canada is harried into schemes of imperial defence or tariffs. The French-Canadian is satisfied, and proud of his Canadian citizenship, but if a change is forced upon him by those who aspire to a greater nationality, he would incline to Pan-Americanism, where, under the American flag, he could preserve the self-government of his province. He argues the French Canadians have given the empire quite as much as they received and have nothing to thank British statesmanship for.

The council of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, acting under the by-laws, has fixed the contract grades for the ensuing year. The contract grade will be No. 1 northern for the option market for wheat, and No. 2 white for oats. For wheat No. 1 northern is to be the grade, provided that No. 1 hard may be delivered at a difference of two cents over, but the council after giving notice by posting on the bulletin board for one month, may cancel such right to deliver No. 1 hard; all contracts, however, made prior to such cancellation to stand as made.

As Others See Us.

Mr. H. W. Struben, a South African millionaire and politician, has during a short visit in Canada secured some very practical ideas. He says he does not see any reason why Canada should allow her grain trade to go to the sea through American channels. He also thinks that Canada should have a fast line of steamers running to Europe; faster, if possible, than anything to New York.

Mr. Struben says that he has been travelling through British possessions for the past eight months, and has not seen anything to compare with the wheat fields of the Northwest. They are simply enormous, in his opinion, but he says there seems to be a great difficulty in transportation.

"I do not see," said Mr. Struben, "why some enterprising capitalist cannot invest a few thousand dollars in a ship canal from the Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario. There seems to be a fine opportunity to transport all the grain over this route and avoid all traffic with the United States ports.

"Then," he continued, "there is another thing that strikes me very forcibly, namely, your news service. Here all cable news seems to come through the American channels, and invariably is garbled before it reaches you. Surely, in a big country like Canada there should be enough enterprise to secure a direct and reliable cable service with Britain."

CABLE GOSSIP

CUNARD LINE WILL FLY THE BRITISH FLAG.

The Threatened Opposition of the Irish Nationalists to the Education Bill Is Exciting the Resentment of the English Catholics.

London, Oct. 2.—It was believed in Liverpool last night that Sir Christopher Furness and Sir Alfred Jones will make an offer to the Cunard company, which may end in their taking a hand in the business of the company. It is believed that the new Cunard boats will be the fastest liners afloat. They will be capable of steaming twenty-five knots an hour, and this will mean that Great Britain will wrest from Germany laurels for speed and supremacy on the Atlantic. An order for vessels will be given to two of the best firms on the Clyde. These are expected to be the Fairfield company and the Thomsons. Building will be hurried on with all possible speed, and it is expected that they will both be afloat in less than two years. The Cunard Steamship company remains a British concern and the newspapers are chuckling over what they regard as a defeat for Morgan, and the Atlantic shipping combines. The Cunard company shareholders have been informed of the terms of agreement between the company and the British government, and an annual subsidy of $150,000 will be paid by the government, and the company will build two large steamers for the Atlantic trade. The government will lend the money for the construction of these vessels, charging interest at the rate of 2¾ per cent. and the company will repay the loan of annual payments extending over 20 years. The agreement is to remain in force for twenty years. After the completion of the second steamer, an undertaking is to be given that the company will not unduly raise freight rates.

Reminiscences have dangerous tendencies among the Balkans. While Russians and Bulgarians have been fighting sham battles in the Shipka Pass in commemoration of the victories over the Sultan Pasha, 25 years ago, a formidable insurrection has broken out in Macedonia, and the Turkish government has called out 40,000 reserves to suppress it. The extent of these precautionary measures is the principal evidence of the seriousness of this new eastern crisis, for the rebels, or revolutionists, while they have found a leader in a veteran officer of the old time Bulgarian army, have not yet been reported in great force. They are operating in the mountains along the Servian and Bulgarian frontiers, and are in a position to retreat, if hard pressed, into friendly territory. The Turkish government, knowing how much dry timber is awaiting a torch of flame among the exciteable mountaineers of Macedonia and Albani, is evidently forewarned and thoroughly alarmed, and the revolt will be stamped out by the weight of numerous battalions before the Servians and Bulgarians have time for holding sympathetic meetings.

The threatened opposition of the Irish Nationalists to the Education bill excites the resentment of the English Roman Catholics, who, under the leadership of Cardinal Vaughan and the Duke of Norfolk, have made common cause with English churchmen. It is estimated roughly that the voluntary schools now conducted in England by Roman Catholics will receive £200,000 from the local taxation if the education bill be passed without material amendment. The Irish Nationalists are masters at their own tactics and are now in an excellent state of discipline. Mr. Redmond's views, when the announced meeting of his parliamentary followers takes place, are likely to prevail without dissent.

Manitoba Coal Deposits.

A dispatch from Ottawa says: The latest arrival from the field at the geological survey is Mr. D. B. Dowling, who has been making surveys in different parts of Manitoba with a view to the location of coal, or rather lignite, a mineral having good value as fuel, and similar in many ways to bituminous coal. The surveys were carried on principally in the southern part of the province, and Mr. Dowling found the seams to be greater in number and more widely distributed than hitherto supposed. These investigations result in pointing out exactly the distribution and depth from the surface of the different seams, all of which are matters of immense importance to the southern Manitoba community. The principal result of Mr. Dowling's work is the gain of a large amount of authentic geological knowledge of the minerals of Manitoba which cannot fail to be of inestimable value.

If you would create something you must be something.—Goethe.

FOOLED HER LOVER.

Harold Collinridge Waits at the Morgue For a Married Sweetheart.

A dispatch from Harrisburg, Pa., says: While Harold Collinridge, of Winnipeg, Man., has been sorrowfully seeking his fiancee, Effie Snyder, in the Pittsburg morgue, that young woman has been enjoying a honeymoon with a newly found husband. She has written to a young woman in this city, saying that she had been married to Charles E. Rowe, and that they are living happily together at LaSalle, Ill.

Young Collinridge has never seen the girl. She formerly lived in Chambersburg, Pa., and they became acquainted through a matrimonial agency. Correspondence developed into an engagement and they were to meet in Pittsburg on Wednesday of last week. Two days later they were to have been married. Collinridge faithfully kept the tryst, but Miss Snyder failed to appear. Then he introduced himself to her relatives, who told him she had gone to Pittsburg on the day appointed to meet him.

Hurrying back to that city he could find no trace of her, and finally concluded that she had met with disaster and that he would find her in the morgue. That was almost two weeks ago, and every day since then he has haunted the gruesome place expecting to find her there dead. It now appears that instead of going to Pittsburg to meet Collinridge, Miss Snyder went through to LaSalle, where she was met at the station by Rowe. They were promptly married and the bride writes to her friend, with whom she formerly worked, that Rowe is a kind and devoted husband. She does not mention the name of the sad-hearted Manitoba lover, but she promises to write more fully in a few days.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Louis Chevier, a farmer of Springfield, died Wednesday from the effects of falling on a pickaxe.

Owing to the coal strike public schools in the United States may be closed.

During August there were 135 births, 120 deaths and 71 marriages in Winnipeg.

At the annual meeting of the C. P. R. the shareholders decided that an Atlantic service should be established

On Saturday last, while working near Roland, Man., the boiler of Mr. John Kernich's threshing outfit burst and badly scalded the fireman, R. Ruth. He was removed to Morden hospital.

As the result of an explosion in the coal mines at Frank, Alta., on Sunday last W. Clark and J. Haines were killed and D. Davis was seriously injured. The men were working in one of the chutes when gas was struck and an awful explosion followed, with the above fatal results.

A dispute occurred between two Italian navvies at Kirkella on Oct. 1, when one drew a revolver and shot the other in the back of the neck, the shot passing right through. The affray arose over a dispate about a well of water.

James McEwen, of Galt, Ont., was shingling a house on Beverly street, in that town, and while carrying a package of shingles on the slippery roof, fell over the edge, fully 30 feet. Mr. R. L. Murphy, who lives in an adjoining house, heard him groan, and then the words, "Come quick!" He hastened into the yard and found McEwen lying helpless. "Don't touch me," gasped the injured man, "I am dying; my back is broken." Examination showed that McEwen's back was broken, and he was absolutely paralyzed. He still lives.

One Canadian company has signalnally demonstrated that its prosperity and success do not depend on the tariff question. Far from being unable to meet American competition the Robb Engineering Company, of Amherst, N.S., proposes to carry the war into Africa and invade the United States, and will establish a branch somewhere in the State of New York.

Shot His Sister.

A shocking accident happened at Neudorf, 25 miles north of Grenfell, last Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith were away from home and left their three small children, aged 7, 5, and 3, respectively.

The eldest boy found the shotgun in the room. It was not loaded, but unlocking a drawer where the cartridges were, he took out one and loaded the weapon, and while his little 3-year-old sister was playing about, fired the gun off. The charge passed completely through the little one's breast, killing her instantly. The little boy who did the shooting has always shown a fondness for the gun, and generally accompanies his father when he goes out chicken shooting.

The sower of the seed is assuredly the author of the whole harvest of mischief.—Desmothenes.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

Oil has been discovered at Beausejour, Man.

A prohibition convention in Winnipeg has decided to put candidates in the field for the local legislature.

Leo Markoski, a young Winnipegger, was accidentally killed while at work shunting in the C. P. R. yard at Molson.

Archbishop Langevin, speaking at Ottawa, said the school question was not settled.

A farm laborer named Bertrand was run over by a traction engine near Hartney on October 2 and killed.

Minnie Goody, daughter of John Goody, of London, Ont., committed suicide because of jealousy.

Amy Card, of Woodbridge, Ont., was fatally burned, and her sister seriously by the explosion of a lantern on October 2.

The safe of the Plum Coulee branch of the Bank of Hamilton, was blown open on Wednesday evening, but no money was secured.

Sixteen officers of the disbanded Royal Canadians have been offered commissions in the Fifth Royal Garrison artillery, which is now stationed at Halifax.

Anthracite coal has advanced in Winnipeg to $20 per ton.

Fourteen miners were killed by an explosion at Black Diamond, Wash.

Mrs. Henry T. Smith, of Winnipeg, received burns three weeks ago which proved fatal.

A Winnipeg boy who was shot three years ago by a companion coughed up the bullet a few days ago while ill in a hospital.

John McCorrister, an old man, aged about 80, has been lost in the woods at Gonor, Man., since September 30, and being in poor health and very feeble, there is little hope that he will be found alive.

The Duchess of Manchester, (who was Miss Helena Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, Ohio), gave birth to a son on October 2 at Tanderagee, County of Armagh, Ireland.

The revised figures of the immigration show that during the year ending June 30 last the total arrivals were 67,230, as against 49,149 last year, an increase of 18,081. The arrivals for the last two months were 15,365, an increase of 7,142 over the same period last year. The immigrants from Great Britain for the two months were 3,329, an increase of 317 over the same time last year. From continental Europe, 5,310, an increase of 3,745. From the United States, 6,726, an increase of 3,082.

Chief of Police Ames, of Minneapolis, who was convicted of bribe-taking from women of the town, has been sentenced to six years and six months in the penitentiary. He is a brother of former Mayor Ames, who is under a similar indictment This is the fourth conviction of police officials in Minneapolis.

The Hungarian and Austrian governments have failed to agree on all points of the proposed renewal of agreement as to the cost each is to bear for the administration of the common affairs.

At Camden, N.J., the city reservoir, near the Delaware river, broke on the morning of October 2, and about eight million gallons of water flowed down Twenty-seventh street, flowing into the cellars of many houses and doing other damage.

RUSSIAN ADVICES.

Harvest Excursions That Are Not So Well Ordered As Our Own.

V. I. Jochelson, one of the explorers of the American museum of natural history, has arrived at Moscow on his return to New York. Mr. Jochelson has been making ethnographical studies and observations in the Amur territory for two years. He returns with valuable folk-lore and linguistic materials, notably on the Ukaghirs and Koriaks.

The ministry of finance is about to increase the tarifi on foreign wines and brandies to about 85 cents per bottle for all wines, $1.17 for sparkling wines and nearly $1.50 for brandies.

The annual migration of Russian-Polish laborers to Prussia is well known. Attention is directed by the St. Petersburg Vedomosti to a similar movement on a grander scale within the borders of European Russia. It is calculated that 2,137,000 peasants insufficiently provided with arable land, leave their homes in the central and northern provinces every year to seek work in the south. Most of them start with only about a dollar in their pockets—borrowed from an usurer usually—and it is the exception when they know where work is to be found. Owing to the great variation in the yield many arrive in famine-stricken districts. The writer proposes the organization of an information bureau to communicate to the migrators the government crop reports. The peasants still largely form a separate world and few know that such things as crop reports exist.

GENERAL NEWS.

Counterfeit Bank of Montreal bills are said to be in circulation.

A sugar beet factory is being established in Southern Alberta, near Raymond.

Hard coal is worth $17 in Winnipeg; soft coal $8.00.

In the final lacrosse between New Westminister and the Shamrocks, the former won out with a score of 2-0; making them winners of the series.

Fourteen men were killed by the explosion of fire damp in a mine at Black Diamond, Washington Territory, last week.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier sailed from Liverpool on Tuesday last, on the steamer Lake Erie.

In the lacrosse match at Victoria the Shamrocks were easy winners from the Victoria team. The score was 11-8.

Minnie Goudy, a 17-year-old London, Ont., girl committed suicide last week by taking laudanum. A lover's quarrel was the cause.

Frank Higgins, who murdered his companion, William Doherty, on August last, near St. John, N.B., was sentenced to be hanged on Dec. 18.

Mrs. Jessie Chapman was completely burned up at her home in Calgary, on Monday last, by upsetting a lamp while preparing for bed. She was aged 62, and lived alone.

The trial at Nelson of Henry Rore, charged with the murder of John Cole, near Nakusp, on June 4th last, terminated on Tuesday morning last, when the when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The sentence of the Court was that he be hanged on the 21st day of Nov. The prisoner maintained his innocence to the end.

The cattle, horses and sheep turned loose by the Doukhobors, were gathered up by government agencies at Fort Pelly, and sold by auction on the 24th ult., the proceeds to be devoted to providing food for the Douks. during the winter—if food can be found to suit them. The problem they are up against now is whether or not turnips have life. In the event of the question being decided in the affirmative turnips will be cut off their bill of fare.

FOR RENT.

A five roomed house, near the hospital. Apply to

197-1m JOHN SUNBERG.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Limited.

Proposals will be received by the above company, addressed to its General Superintendent at Fernie, B.C., up to and including Oct. 25, 1902, for the driving of a double track haulage rock tunnel at its No. 8 Mine Michel.

Tunnel will be started from a point in the Main East Level of No. 8 Mine, and driven diagonally across the measures in a southernly direction to an intersection with the Main East Level of No. 9 Mine, a distance of 450 ft. more or less.

Size of Tunnel will be 14 feet wide in the clear between notches of timber, with 3 inches spread to each leg, and 7 feet high in the clear, where timber is required, and 14 feet wide, by 7 ft. high in the clear in rock. The Tunnel to be driven on a rising grade of 2 to 3 per cent. toward No. 9 Mine, and is to be driven from both ends simultaneously.

Timbers were required to be set three feet to four feet between centres, and lagged as may be directed by Company's Superintendent.

Company will furnish timbers framed, lagging, boards, ties, rails, spikes, nails and brattice material at mouth of Tunnel in No. 8 Mine and at Main Entrance to No. 9 Mine, and also Ingersoll Rock Drill and Air Pipes and compressed air for operating same at both ends of Tunnel.

Contractor will furnish all steel, tools (other than Ingersoll Drill) explosives, supplies and labor necessary for carrying on the work of, and completing said Tunnel, and carry on the work continually with three shifts per day until completion.

The contractor will load all material excavated in said tunnel in cars and deliver same at mouth of Tunnel on No. 8 side, and the Company will remove the same and furnish empty cars as required; on No. 9 side, the Contractor will load all the material excavated, and handle cars to the Dump Bank, and dump it outside of the Mine, the Company furnishing the necessary cars, horses and harness.

If the work is not carried on in a first class workmanlike manner, or with due diligence, the Company reserves the right to terminate the contract, and to retain the 10 per cent. deduction from monthly estimates.

Proposals will be received on the basis of a price per lineal yard, and also a price per set of timbers with lagging.

Payments for said work will be made on Company's regular payday at Michel, for all work satisfactorily completed during the preceeding calendar month, less a deduction of 10 per cent, to be retained until satisfactory completion of said work, or forfeited in the event of sooner termination of said contract. The Contractor to be responsible for the wages of all persons employed in the work, and also for any accident to any of his employees.

Further information can be obtained from the Company's Superintendent at Michel, or the undersigned.

The right to reject any or all proposals is reserved.

T. R. STOCKETT, jr.
General Superintendent.

Approved:
JOHN H. TONKIN,
General Manager.

Michel, B.C., October 10, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend 30 days after the first publication as this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked initial post Mrs. C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 30 chains east of north west corner post of lot 4588, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 12th day of Sept., 1902.

195-4 MRS. C. M. HENRETTA.

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's northwest corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petrie's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.

Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.

F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the East side of Elk river beginning at the north west corner post of C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of T. W. Bingay, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 23rd day of Sept, 1902.

T. W. BINGAY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be deard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River. beginning at the south east corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of A. D. MacTier, thence 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north, thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of Sept, 1902.

A. D. MacTIER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 20 chains west of north west corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of Sept., 1902.

C. M. Henretta.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. F. Miller south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. F. MILLER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, S. G. Blaylock south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of J. F. Miller's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

S. G. BLAYLOCK.

Notice is hereby given that I the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east bank of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. L. C. Abbott south west corner post, which is north west corner of S. G. Blaylock's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. L. C. ABBOTT.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. R. Nelson south west corner post, situate 10 chains east of north west corner of W. H. Aldridge coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. R. NELSON.

BIRDS FOR SALE

Beautiful canary birds for sale. Also house plants and flowers.

MRS. RENNY.
196- Opposite Central Hotel.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Reed Wilson south west corner post situate about 3 miles north of lot 4588 and on the east side of Elk river about ½ mile east of the river thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. REED WILSON.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. H. Aldridge south west corner post which is the north wert corner of J Reed Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902.

W. H. ALDRIDGE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Labarth south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of Thos, Britt's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. LABARTH.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk river, about three miles west of Coal Creek on Lizard range: Commencing at a post marked John Derr's south east corner post, adjoining J. R. Stevens north-east corner post, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to the point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

JOHN DERR

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the west side of Elk River, about four miles in as southerly direction from Coal Creek on Lizard Range: Commencing at a post marked August Balduuf's north-east corner post, adjoining J. D. Quail's south-west corner, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the point of commencement contajning 640 acres.

Dated this 9th day of August, 1902.

AUGUST BALDAUF.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of L. A. Davis' timber limit and one mile north of McDougall and Procters timber limit, about three miles from Elk river and about five miles from Fernie, along side Hartley trail, thence running east 40 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains thence running east 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 13th day of August, 1902.

A. K. PAULSON.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District, B.C. commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's pre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 480 acres more or less.

Dated the 8th day of September 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a post planted near the north line of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie and four feet west of R J. Davis' south-west corner post, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 12th day of August.

L. A. DAVIS.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north line of A. K. Paulson's timber limit about four miles from Elk river and about six miles from Fernie, along side the Hartley trail where it crosses the Hartly creek, thence running east 60 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains, thence running east 20 chains to the place of beginning. containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 15th day of August, 1902.

J. L. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land commencing at a post planted near the north side of McDougall and Proctor's timber limit, where the Hartley trail crosses the said north line about two miles from Elk river and about four miles from Fernie, thence running east 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains. thence running west 80 chains, thence running south 80 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 11th day of August.

R. J. DAVIS.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

---

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk river, about 21 miles north of mouth of Michel Creek, marked C. J. Digby's south-east corner, thence following the said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

C. J. DIGBY.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked J. G. Coward's south-east corner and about 40 chains north of C. J. Digby's north-east corner post, thence following said bank northerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains, thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

J. G. COWARD.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special license to cut and carry away timber on the following lands: Commencing at a post planted on the west bank of Elk River about 21 miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, marked F. Robins' south-east corner, near J. G Coward's north-east corner post, thence following said bank nortnerly 160 chains, thence west 40 chains, thence south 160 chains. thence east 40 chains to post of commencement.

F. ROBINS.

Sept. 5th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a special timber license to cut and carry away timber on 640 acres of land, commencing at a stake planted about five feet west of A. E. Jackson's post E. timber license, about one mile west of the west bank of Elk river, thence running south 40 chains, thence running west 80 chains, thence running north 80 chains, thence running east 80 chains. thence running south 40 chains to the place of beginning containing 640 acres more or less.

Dated at Fernie this 27th day of August.

M. PAULSON.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district and commencing at a post marked Thomas Morrison's south-west corner adjoining Chas. Walde's south-east corner post thence north 80 chains. thence east 80 chains thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

THOMAS MORRISON.
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district, and commencing at a post marked Chas. Walde's south east corner thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains. thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

CHARLES WALDE,
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date that we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a twenty-one year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 3320 acres more or less situated on the west side of Elk river about two miles from the mouth of Michel creek, beginning at a post planted on the north side of what is known as Wilson creek about 1½ miles from its mouth, west 640 chains, thence north 60 chains; thence west 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence west 60 chains, thence south 260 chains, thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence east 640 chains, thence north 20 chains to place of commencement.

J. COWARD & SON.

Dated this 8th day of October, 1902.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

Examination for Certificates of Competency.

RE "COAL MINES REGULATION ACT."

NOTICE is hereby given that an Examination for Certificates of Competency as Managers of Mines will be held on the 15th day of October, 1902, at the Court House, Nanaimo, B.C., and also at Fernie, B.C., on the same date.

Candidates, not under 23 years of age, desirous of presenting themselves for examination must deliver to Mr. Thos. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, on or before the 5th day of October, 1902, notice of such intention, in writing, together with a certificate of service from their former or present employers, testifying to at least two years' experince underground.

The examination will be in writing, and will include the following subjects, viz:—

1. Mining Acts and rules.
2. Mine gases.
3. General work.
4. Ventilation.
5. Mining machinery.
6. Surveying and levelling.

Any further particulars required may be obtained on application to Mr. Morgan, Chairman of Board of Examiners, Nanaimo, B.C.

EDWD. GAWLER PRIOR,
Minister of Mines.

Department of Mines, 193-5
Victoria, B. C., 4th Septmeber, 1902.

Lib. Legislative Ass.
Oct 31 1901

163

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. ~~15~~ 16 FERNIE, B.C, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 198.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER
Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.
Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER
Herchmer & Herchmer
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyce's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN
ON VALUABLES
The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.
Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison
Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.
If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.
Opposite the Royal Hotel.

C. N. DOUGLAS
has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...
Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.
OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.
Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.
It will pay you to deal with
C. N. DOUGLAS

THE STRIKE IS OVER.

DIFFERENCES TO BE SETTLED BY ARBITRATION.

The Greatest Industrial War America Has Ever Known Brought to a Close. Great Suffering in Strike Centres.

The great industrial war, which for months past has been waged in the anthracite district of Pennsylvania between the men who mine the coal and the great combination of wealth which controls the coal fields, is over. A day or two more should see the resumption of work in the collieries, and within a week the coal famine will be a thing of the past. Public opinion has triumphed. It has shown itself to be more powerful than all the allied trusts of the United States. It has forced the arbitration of the points in dispute which in the first instance the coal operators rejected with scorn. President Roosevelt has appointed the arbitrators, and the operators and the mine workers have accepted them and have agreed to be bound by their finding. The struggle which has just ended has been remarkable for many things but for nothing more than the remarkable generalship displayed by John Mitchell, the president of the mine-workers union, and for the callious indifference on the part of the operators to the untold hardship and suffering which their obstinacy inflicted upon thousands of innocent people throughout the eastern states.

The awful suffering which this will entail upon thousands of helpless individuals, who are in no sense related to the struggle between the striking miners and the operators, save in their very helplessness, is only beginning to be appreciated, and the strike which was formerly regarded as a domestic question has now been magnified into an issue of national importance.

The developments of the week have given to the people of the eastern states the reason why they are not permitted to purchase fuel. The owners of the coal measures have furnished it. Through their organization they have announced that under no circumstances will they recognize in any manner the organization of the men who mine the coal. Such is the issue in a few words.

The anthracite coal mining of Pennsylvania is not a very old industry. The existence of anthracite in Pennsylvania was little more than known 100 years ago and the real history of the industry did not begin until 1820, when 365 tons were shipped from the Lehigh valley to the city of Philadelphia. But since then the industry has grown, until it furnished employment for over 150,000 hands at the time the order for the great strike went into effect. Estimates of the contents of the anthracite deposits have been made from time to time, and they place the amount at something under 18,500,000,000 tons; and the annual capacity of the mines is given at 67,000,000 tons, while the market will take less than 50,000,000 tons. It has been estimated, and upon a very generous basis, that there have been $700,000,000 invested in the anthracite industry, and that it pays in profits, one way and another close upon $140,000,000 per annum. This is made up in a first profit to the operators of from $85,000,000 to $100,000,000, with another profit of $40,000,000 to the railways in the moving of the coal to the market.

A little figuring will show that there is in the Pennsylvania coal districts a coal supply equal to the requirements of the country for the next 300 years. But short as the time has been since their development was undertaken, and great as the coal areas are in extent, they have been cornered by a syndicate of shrewd speculators, who through their representative—president Baer—have told the people that their gigantic monopoly is in line with the will of God, and that they are his chosen instruments for the administration of the coal measures.

This statement was not made in jest, nor was it made in the heat of extemporaneous speech. It was given to the world in a duly considered and written statement of the operators side of the strike; and if it is to be accepted it means that God has no patience for unions such as mine laborers may form, and that in order to stamp his disapproval of them he has directed the men who hold the coal lands by divine right to inflict a cruel coal famine upon decrepid age and helpless infancy, to the end that the rebellious miners may be starved into a proper state of humanity. And those who would quarrel with the operators must therefore quarrel with God.

The application of this doctrine of foreordination to the coal strike gives a new turn to it. The parties to it, and those who suffer by it, can no longer meet upon commercial ground, and in consequence the tide of sympathy has set in in favor of the strikers. With the approach of winter the materialistic vein in humans who want coal is stronger than the spiritual. A winter without fuel has more terrors for them than the prophetic chastisement held out by the coal barons by divine right, and the people stand ready to risk the displeasure of the barons god if by chance they can secure a supply of his fuel.

The politicians have not been slow to catch the temper of the people, and with the state elections in sight they are all anxious to be of service, and the signs are not lacking that the present strike will leave a greater impress upon the politics of the state of Pennsylvania than any previous labor upheaval in its history. The heads of the Republican party, being in charge of the government machinery at Washington, and also in the states of Pennsylvania and New York, have interested themselves in the matter.

Nor are the Democrats behind. Under the leaderthip of David B. Hill the state convention of New York has declared in unmistakable terms in favor of state-ownership of coal lands as the best means of preventing a re-occurrence of the present state of affairs in Pennsylvania. As the railways of the east are almost inseparably associated with the mining industry this would require the absorption of the railways as well, so that the platform adopted by the Democratic party, in the greatest state in the union, calls for radical departures, if indeed they may not be classed as a complete reversal of former national policies. It means the expenditure of a sum of money beside which that required for the isthmian canal would be a flee-bite, and the taking into the civil service of an army of toilers which would outnumber many times over the forces sent against Spain in the late war.

Truly, the United States will have reason to remember the great strike long after its coal bins have been replenished.

Mr. Geo. Thompson, barrister of Cranbrook, was in town on Wednesday.

The Royal Commission to investigate the causes of coal mine disaster is now sitiing in Nanaimo, B.C.

A meeting will be held in Joyce's hall on Monday evening, Oct 20th, with a view to forming a St. Andrew's Society.

Old Country vs. Canada

A very interesting football match took place on the recreation grounds on Thanksgiving Day between a team chosen among the Old Country lads, living in Fernie, and a team of Canadians. The game was very evenly contested and proved to be the best exhibition of football given here this season. The teams lined up as follows:

CANADA		OLD COUNTRY
Cody	Goal	Piper
Herchmer	Backs	J. Hackett
Scott		Roberts
McModie	Half Backs	A. Colclough
Taylor		Cartledge
Perkins		Johnstone
Staebler	Forwards	Spears
Matheson		Jarvis
Herman		R. Hackett
McKellar		Rutledge
Kenny		Lloyd

At the end of half time Fred Vance took A Matheson's place on the Canadian team.

In the first half it looked very much as if the Canuks would get the best of it. They kept the ball in close proximity to the enemy's goal, but "Billy" Piper, the goal keeper, showed that he had not forgotten the game and stopped some splendid shots. Toward the end of the first half the boys from over the sea got in some good combination work and succeeded in scoring. Three minutes later the natives had evened the score. In the latter half only one goal was scored and this was by the Old Country boys. The Canadians tried hard to make the game a tie, but were unsuccessful. Mr. J. H. Bricker referred the match in a fair and impartial manner and gave general satisfaction.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Editor.

Your last week's issue contained a farewell address from the members of the local miners union to the Rev. Mr. Holford. In case the public at large and the members of the local miners union, who happened to be on shift or for some other reason did not attend the regular meeting, might think that I am looking for a little cheap notoriety. I wish to say that I did not sign my name to it. I signed, "We remain yours in union, the members of the Gladstone Miners Union, No. 76, of the W F. of M." It was almost unanimously adopted and then became the property of the union and the secretary had no authority to sign my name. Furthermore, because I wrote and presented before the union the farewell address, that does not necessarily say that it contains my sentiments or my opinion of Mr. Holford in writing the address I endeavoured to write what I believe to be the sentiments and the opinions of the great majority of the members of the local miners union and as the address was not published as I wrote it I went to the press office to know the reason why. I was given the name of two very influential gentlemen of this town, who pretend to be socialists and who evidently think that the members of the local miners union are not accountable for their actions and that they too are just the proper men to put them right, and they without any authority to do so changed the wording of the address. Now it matters not to the members of the miners union whether Mr. Holford believes in private ownership of property or not. He says he is a socialist and everybody knows that socialists advocate the abolition of private property as well as wage slavery, but who ever heard tell of socialists advocating the abolition of trusts.

And now, Mr. Editor, on Labor day I attempted in my humble way to show that you were unfair to the public and in your next issue you gave your opinion of me, but you did not attempt to defend yourself, and I now take the opportunity of again showing the public of your very apparent desires to distort the truth. If you could so easily get next to what went on between the miners committees and the management, why did you not give the whole truth to the public; why did you not give the average wage of all the miners instead of picking out a few and averaging their wages—and the management had an object in having that few drawing big money, I am told—that in some instances they did not charge them with hospital dues and library fees so as to keep their cheque large. Before Mr. Tonkin came there was some making five, six and seven dollars per day, but there was a great many miners who only made in the neighborhood of $1 a day. Supt. Drinnan said last winter that there was lots of miners working in these mines that only made 40, 50 and 60 dollars per month and had to pay their board out of that. Why not tell the public of all the men that work in the mines for $2.25 and $2.50 per day, and that bosses only get $3 per day. Just think of a man with the necessary experience to be a boss taking the responsibility of being boss in such dangerous mines as these for a miserable $3 per day. Then take all the boys that work in the mine for $1 per day (one of them told me he was nine years old), then all the able bodied men that work around the mine for $1.75 per day, blacksmith helpers $2 per day, blacksmith $2.50 and $3 any other camp in the Kootenays, except Morrissey and Michel, blacksmiths get $3.50 and $4 per day; then the carpenters get $2.75 and $3 for 10 hours, while in town only five miles from the mines carpenters get $3.50 for 9 hours. Hoist men, pump men and men that run the fans and fire the boilers get $2.50 and $2.75 per day, some of them working 12 hours for a day, and then all the men that work around the coke ovens for $1.75 per day, and the man who runs the power house works 15, 16 and 17 hours for a day and gets $2.50. All these men and boys have to pay for their board out of the above quoted wages. And then why not give that portion of the agreement which was drawn up on Aug. 4th, which reads as follows: If at the expiration of two months from the date of this agreement, the union shall signify in writing to the company after a vote by ballot amongst the employees employed by the company, underground, that they are dissatisfied with the extra half hour at noon, stipulated for by paragraph three thereof, the company hereby agrees that this agreement shall be at an end, and that they will forthwith voluntarily return to the system of working the mines, as set forth in this agreement with the exception of the said half hour at noon, which shall be discontinued and hereafter a day's work shall consist of one eight hour shift. Then give the vote as it was taken on Oct. 4th, 129 for eight hours and 33 for eight hours and one half hour, what does it matter about those that did not vote. In municipal or provincial or dominion elections, the candidate who gets the majority vote does not lose because some people did not vote.

And now, Mr. Editor, how does this compare with your editorials of last week. Hoping I have not asked for too much space, I am

C. M O'BRIEN.

Fernie, B.C, Oct. 14th, 1902

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Scranton, Oct. 17—Reports were circulated tonight that the locals of the United Mine Workers in Scranton, Pittston and some other localities, had voted to instruct their delegates to oppose the acceptance of the operators' proposition unless the companies would agree to discharge the non-union men, take back all the old employees, drop the suits instituted against strikers, and recognize the union. It was impossible to verify these reports, but they are persistently and generally circulated. A significant fact in this connection was the concern of District President Nicholl today over a published report that he was at the head of a movement to oppose the acceptance of the proposition.

"This report," said Mr. Nicholls this evening, "is doing no end of mischief. It has caused our men to view the proposition with suspicion, and when they suspected it they commenced to look for the flaws which they supposed I had found in it. I have heard of locals in different parts being disposed to vote against the proposition, and I must admit it is causing some worry at headquarters. I am satisfied, however that the convention will accept the proposition. I want it stated that the report that I am opposed to the proposition is absolutely false and without foundation. I have been in favor of it from the first."

London, Oct. 17.—The daily News today says the offer by Canada of a substantial subsidy for a fast line of steamships from the Dominion to England and a proposition from the British exchequer can no longer be open to doubt.

Quebec, Oct. 17.—Premier Laurier arrived at Levis at 8:30, and immediately embarked on the Government steamer Druid. Thousands of citizens were on the wharf and lined the streets to the drill hall, where an address of welcome was presented by Mapor Parent.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 17—C A. Imbert, of this city fell from a street car to-night and was removed to the hospital suffering from a fractured skull. He is not expected to recover.

Nanaimo, B.C., Oct. 17.—J. H. Hawthornthwaite, M. L. A., representing Nanaimo in the legislative assembly has taken the pledge of all members, signed the constitution and by-laws and became a member of the Nanaimo socialist party, thus severing his connection with the Nanaimo labor party, and if present arrangements are carried out will at the next election seek re-election to the provincial house as the candidate of the revolutionary.

The concert advertised for Oct. 21st in the Presbyterian church has been postponed owing to the fact that the leading attraction, Miss M. Louise Mawhinney, of Toronto, will be unable to get here on that date.

Will Stop Gambling

Chief Constable Forbes has had written notice served on each of the Fernie hotels notifying them that if gambling is being carried on upon the premises it will have to cease. All loose women in town have also been notified that they will only be allowed on the street at certain hours of the day. The action of the chief in these matters is certainly to be commend. Gamblers have been growing very numerous in Fernie for some time and it is time that some action should be taken to get rid of them or compel them to seek some other employment. The Chief evidently has the best interests of the town at heart and his action in the matter will appeal to every right-thinking citizen.

A TIE-UP PROPOSED

WESTERN COAL MINERS. OFFER TO ASSIST.

Telegrams Pass Between Heads of Miners Organizations Regarding Calling Out All Miners on the Continent---No Settlement in Sight.

A dispatch from Denver, Col., says telegrams have passed between the officials of the Western Federation of Miners and President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, looking to a complete tie-up of all bituminous coal mines in the United States and Canada. The telegram of President Myer and Secretary Haywood, of the Western Federation, reads: "Exigencies demand that no coal of any kind be mined in the United States Until the anthracite strike is won. The Western Federation of Miners will co-operate to this end."

Mr. Mitchell responded' "Telegram received. Shall give careful consideration to your suggestion. Many thanks for the proffer of co-operation and assistance."

"The significance of this corrrespondence," said President Myer, "is far-reaching. It means that if Pres. ident Mitchell will call out all his men in every soft and hard coal mine in this country and Canada the Western Federation will immediately co-operate with them and withdraw every man we have in the coal mines of the west, northwest and Canada. And this will mean that the stubborn mine operators in Pennsylvania will have to bring this long strike to an end or the people throughout the country will know the reason why. This is the only way to end the trouble."

The Canadian manufacturers have been offered a supply of British coal.

Mayor Howland, of Toronto, has asked British coal miners to give Canada the preference.

No solution of the miners' strike resulted from the New York conference. The operators refuse to recognize the union. The Dominion government has decided to rebate the Intercolonial freight charges on all fuel ordered by municipalities.

TWO PLUCKY WOMEN.

Mrs. Chamberlain and Daughter Condu ɜ a Ranch in Men's Clothing.

Dr. Patterson, of the Dominion health department, who has returned to Winnipeg from the Wood Mountain district, tells the following story:

"The most industrious family that I met there, and I was in every house, was a refined, good looking, educated, American lady and her daughter. The husband of the elder lady died suddenly about a year and a half ago, leaving considerable debt upon the stock that he then possessed. They have today about 275 head of cattle and forty horses. When I arrived at their ranch these two ladies were dressed in good ntting men's clothing, and they excused themselves by telling me that they were doing men's work and couldn't do it whilst wearing women's clothing. This summer they have milked fifteen cows, filled the contract with the Northwest Mounted Police in the district for butter, and had $150 worth of butter extra in their milk house ready to take to market. They cut, with a mowing machine, raked up, drew in and stacked 100 loads of hay this summer for the use of their cattle. They branded 65 calves; they built an addition to their house (about 16x20), of lumber and shingles drawn from Moose Jaw, 120 miles distant, by themselves. They fenced in with a neat picket fence a garden of an acre in extent.

"At the time I arrived they were removing the manure from their barnyard, and the elder ladt told me that was the sixth load she had taken out that afternoon. One of their steers had its leg broken, the bone projecting through the skin It was sloughing off at the knee, and they removed it. It healed; they made a wooden post leg for it and strpped it on. The animal walked around with this wooden leg, which they said was a very amusing sight. It fattened, and they sold it for beef at a good price. I saw the wooden leg myself, and the sergeant of the Mounted Police corroborated their story of the case to me.

"This was a Mrs. Chamberlain and her daughter, a young lady scarcely out of her teens. Either, the doctor states, can rope a steer and ride a horse with any rancher in the country. They are living as they do now with no male helper save a small Indian boy of eight years of age, until they can pay off all indebtedness on their stock. When they have done that they will continue ranching, but will hire men."

Many specimens of beetles have two eyes on each side of the head, one superior and one inferior.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

David Warwick, a Red Deer, Alta., resident, was dragged to death by a broncho last week.

R. D Herriman, of Winnipeg, was done out of $2000 at Chatham by a confidence man.

Out of ten million bushels of wheat received at Port Arthur and Fort William only 2,432,000 have been shipped out by boat.

One of Toews' victims in the Altona tragedy is dead, and two others are dying. The murderer is in the Winnipeg hospital.

The farmers of Lambton, Ont., are cutting up their fence rails for firewood.

The department of fisheries will ship a carload of parent black bass to the lakes in the Northwest Territories.

The officers of the Lord's Day Alliance asked Sir Thomas Snaughn?ssy to abolish Sunday work on the C. P. R. as far as possible.

Rose Meissem, a Norwegian girl, twenty years of age, was drowned at her brother's farm in Nelson county, N. D., in ten inches of water at the bottom of a rain barrel. The barrel was partly planted in the ground and the water in the bottom had been used for cooling a pail of cream. The girl went to get the cream and fell head first into the barrel. Her position was such that she could not use her arms to free herself, and there she remained until found dead a few minutes later by her brother.

A dispatch from Pittsburg, Pa., says: While laboring under mental aberration, the result of perfecting for patents on an air brake, which are pending in Washington, Charles Cawley, a 17-year-old boy of Homestead, Pa., killed his mother and one sister and fatally injured four other children. He also tried to kill his two older brothers, but was over powered and turned over to the police. The weapon used was an axe, with which he crushed and hacked his victims beyond recognition.

G. B. Scott and Jim Brooks attended a colored people's ball at Sydney, N.S., on October 10 and got into an altercation, both drawing revolvers, the former receiving two bullet wounds in the breast and mouth from which he died 15 minutes later. Brooks ran from the hall as soon as he had fired the shots and made for a friend's house near by, dropping on the doorstep. He has a chance of recovery.

Mrs. A. B. Cameron, one of the leading society women of Toronto died on October 10 as the result of a street car accident. Mrs. Cameron was an enthusiastic golfer and was out at the East Toronto links watching the close contest of the women's golf championship contest in which she was playing earlier in the week. On the return journey, the trolley car on which she was riding, suddenly blew out a fuse, and the explosion so alarmed Mrs. Cameron that she jumped from the car while it was going at a high rate of speed and fell heavily on her head. She was taken home and medical help secured, but she died in an hour of laceration of the brain.

A Great Whale Hunt.

Hillswich, a little holiday resort in the Shetland Islands, was the scene of a whale hunt recently, no fewer than 166 of these monsters of the deep being driven ashore and slaughtered on the beech. Great shoals of whales are frequent in the northern seas at this season, and one of these approaching near the islands, the fishermen at once took prompt measures to turn their finny visitors to profit. Boats were launched and put out to sea, and surrounding the shoal, the islanders, amid a scene of great excitement, succeeded in driving the animals ashore. Then the slaughter began. Knives, harpoons and weapons of every description were brought into play, and when the result of the carnage was counted, it was found that 166, ranging from seven feet to 35 feet in length, had paid the penalty of their temerity. These whales are herring whales and they will only yield some 20 tons of oil, which will be worth about £60. The cost of extracting this will greatly reduce the profit of the catch. It is interesting to note that in former times it was the custom for the proprietor on whose lands whales were driven to claim a one-third share of the proceeds. This claim, however, was often resisted, and in 1889 the Court of Sessions decided in a test case that the exaction was illegal.

Mr. Aird, secretary of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland has sent particulars in regard to the visit of Scotch Curlers to Canada next winter. Twenty curlers, composing five rinks, will arrive in Halifax about New Years. Two days will be spent at St. John, N.B., and they will proceed to other Canadian cities, going west as far as Winnipeg. They will attend the International bonspiel at St. Paul and also visit Chicago, New York and other American cities.

SHOT SEVEN PEOPLE

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY IN ALTONA SCHOOL.

Frenzied Act of Henry J. Teows, a Mennonite School Teacher---Angered at Fears of Dismissal He Shoots Three Trustees and Three Children.

Because of adverse criticism of his management of the school at Old Altona, Man., Henry J. Toews, 38 years old, a Mennonite school teacher opened fire on three of his trustees and afterwards on the children of the school. As a result Abraham Remple, John Heibert and two little girls will die, and Peter Kehler and another little girl are wounded, but may recover.

Leaving the school house, Toews started to walk towards Altona, but after walking half of the distance he turned his revolver on himself and inflicted wounds from which he will die.

The shooting, which has aroused the whole country side, occurred on Oct. 9, and started in the house of Abraham Remple. Toews, who had been conducting the school for the past three years, had from time to time had friction with the trustees on various matters concerning the conduct of that institution. The matters were all of a trivial nature, but it would appear that Toews, who is of a reserved disposition, brooded over them and considered them as personal matters between himself and the trustees.

Early in the week the trustees had again occasion to take exception to some of his methods, and summoned Toews to meet them in Remple's house. The house is situated within a few yards of the school building, and shortly after the noon recess Toews left the scholars at their desks and went across to attend the meeting of the trustees.

John Hiebert, Abraham Remple, and Peter Kehler were the only members of the board present, and from what could be learned from the wounded men, Kehler being the only one who can speak at all coherently on the subject, the discussion had scarcely started when Toews, after a violent personal denunciation of the three gentlemen present, drew a revolver and opened fire.

Outside of his speech Toews' actions were quite cool and deliberate. He took steady aim at John Hiebert, and the latter was writhing on the floor with a bullet in his abdomen. Then he turned his murderous weapon on Abraham Remple and Peter Kehler, who were for a moment paralyzed by his sudden action, and shot Remple through the breast.

Kehler threw off his lethargy, dashed at the desperate man, and grappled with him. For some moments they swayed to and fro in a deadly grip, both striving for the possession of the death-dealing weapon. For a while there was no advantage, but finally youth prevailed and Toews wrenched the revolver free and shot at his older opponent.

The struggle had apparently unsteadied his nerve, for in place of his former deadly shooting the bullet flew a trifle wide of his mark and smashed into Kehler's hand, rendering that member completely useless and causing a stream of blood to flow which put the victim into a semi-unconscious state.

Leaving his three victims helpless on the floor, Toews coolly straightened out his attire and deliberately proceeded to the school house.

Here his deadly animosity to the men whom he thought he had killed was further manifested. Out of all those present he chose for the billets of his bullets the little daughters of the men whom he had attempted to do to death, and thus complete the desolation in the homes which he had already partially wrecked.

With unerring aim he turned his revolver, four chambers of which were still loaded, on the little daughters of Kehler and Remple. Kehler's little ones, 8 and 10 years of age, were first assailed, and again his deadly marksmanship helped his purpose, for successive shots pierced both their bodies, and they were covered with their own blood, mortally wounded.

Apparently satisfied with his awful revenge, he turned and was leaving the room when he espied, shrinking in a corner, the 11-year-old daughter of Abraham Remple, the man whom he had already killed. Despite her cries of terror he never wavered from his dastardly intent, and the sixth discharge of his weapon saw her lying fainting on a bench with a shattered arm.

Toews then left the school house, and started to walk to Altona, which is the nearest railway station, apparently with the intention of boarding the train and leaving the district. The distance to the depot is about a mile, and after walking about half that distance Toews stopped, and turning the weapon on himself inflicted a wound which will prove fatal. He was found there unconscious some time later.

Drs. F. D. Meek and J. McKeaty were at once summoned to the scene, but pronounced the wounds of Remple, Hiebert, and the two Kehler girls fatal. Kehler and the Remple child may live, but are not out of danger.

The murderer Toews was a man of 38 years of age. He was born in Germany on the Russian frontier, and came to Manitoba in 1875. He qualified as a teacher some eight years later, and since then has plied that vocation steadily.

His differences with the trustees were of recent date and were never considered by outsiders to be of a serious nature. He was never known to carry a firearm of any description and his actions have never contained the least suspicion of insanity. He was unmarried.

his victims were all prosperous farmers who have lived in the locality for years, and have always held the respect of their fellow citizens.

NATION OF DRUNKARDS.

Lady Henry Somerset Speaks of the Drink Evil in England,

Lady Henry Somerset, president of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance union, is ashamed of England because it is a nation of drunkards and because the women drunkards outnumber the men three to one. Lady Somerset did not hesitate to express herself freely upon the situation, says a dispatch from New York.

"Drunkenness is one the increase in England," said Lady Henry. "I am really ashamed to tell the American people in what a deplorable state the United Kingdom is. It has become a nation of drunkards. It seems hopeless to work for its reformation. The increase in intoxication at home is due to the spread of the drink disease among women.

"To illustrate to you how women abroad have taken to drink, I want to say that about fifteen years ago the average arrests in London for intoxication was four men to one woman. Now it is three women to one man.

"Why is it? Well, one of the chief reasons is that there has been too much privacy put about public houses of late and women are now able to go to any of them without being seen by the public.

"The increase in drink among women has naturally made a great increase in crime. The reason is apparent. Women are more excitable, sensitive and nervous in drink than men, and in this condition will commit crime more readily. The school bill that was passed, prohibiting the sale of liquor to children under 14 years has stopped drunkenness to some extent, but not enough to count

"There is one thing I will say about England, notwithstanding the fact that she is it the grasp of the brewer and the liquor interested politician. She is doing everything she can to prevent the necessity of sending drunken women to prison. She is trying the open air cure on them.

"We have in Surrey a large farm, to which are sent those women whose drinking habits have got them into disrepute but for whom there is hope of reformation. They are sent into the gardens with the sunlight and the fresh air, and when we think they are reformed we send them back to their families. There is no prison disgrace about this.

"We had a royal commission in England to study the cause for the increase in the use of intoxicants and the attendant increase in crime. This commission sat three years and examined thousands of witnesses, including myself It had for its chairman Lord Peel, a good and honest man, who, with some others, was always at variance with the other members of the commission.

"Lord Peel and one or two others made the minority report. Their recommendations were straight from the shoulder and opened the eyes of the crown, but the majority report carried the day, and shall I tell you why? Twenty out of the twenty-five members of that commission were brewers, brewers' sons, owners of brewers' lands, or other paid social assassins. They were placed on that commission for the purpose of preventing an honest report, and their work is seen today in the thousands of desolated homes in every part of the kingdom.

"I would rather have the soul of the worst drunkard in the world than the soul of any of these men."

Henry Hogan, proprietor of the St. Lawrence hotel, Montreal, is dead.

The Hon. Mr. Blair, minister of railways and canals, announced at Victoria, B. C., that it was his policy to build a government railway across the continent.

A movement is on foot in Toronto to form an Employers' association, with the object of preventing strikes by providing for the arbitration of all labor disputes.

Oxford University has conferred the honorary degree of doctor of civil law on Lord Strathcona.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Winnipegers shoot big game in East Springfield.

Eastern harvesters returning home say there is no longer work for them in the west.

The immigration hall has a splendid display of vegetables from Beausejour and West Selkirk.

Works committee discusses erection of public building with large hall, to be built west of the meat market on Princess street, Winnipeg.

A spur line has been applied for from the transfer track to run along the lane between Market and James street, to Main street, Winnipeg.

Ald. Barclay says public opinion is behind him in his fight for taxation of church properties in Winnipeg. He also discusses Knox church sidewalk.

The C.P.R. has issued a circular respecting penalties for overloading cars, which gives shippers more margin than was heretofore allowed.

The Winnipeg board of trade unanimously resolved to ask the C.P.R. to reconsider their tariff on wheat, and to make it no greater than that charged by the C. N. R.

E. H. Cleveland, of Toronto, suicided in an hotel.

The Australian government has removed the duty on dressed hogs.

The Hon. Mr. Tarte is ill at Toronto and is unable to fulfil engagements.

Thomas Daley, a farmer living near Windsor, Ont., was killed by a train.

Ex-Ald. Thomas E. Kilroy, Windsor, Ont., has been arrested for embezzlement.

Lieut.-Colonel James E. Morin, of Welland, Ont., county registrar, died suddenly.

The Ontario government will make good this year's deficit of the University of Toronto.

Fire did $3,000 worth of damage to the premises of the Alberta tent and matress factory at Calgary.

Frank Higgins, who was convicted of murder at St. John, N. B., has been sentenced to be hanged Dec. 18.

The British government has decided to give the members of the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth Canadian Mounted Rifles, and the Tenth Field Hospital corps, a gratuity of $25 each.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier sailed for home from Liverpool Oct. 7.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier opened the new produce exchange at Liverpool.

President Roosevelt, in a letter to President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, asked the men to return to work pending an investigation.

The cattle exports of the Northwest Territories have increased 60 per cent this season. The number exported east and west will amount to 75,000.

The town of Edmonton is installing its own waterworks, and Medicine Hat a gas heating and lighting plant. Winnipeg contractors will do the work.

The elevator capacity at points on the C. P. R. west of Winnipeg has to date, this year, increased by 3,354,000 bushels, and many other elevators are in course of cobstruction.

There is a good market for Canadian hay in the United States this year.

Fishing companies have asked for permission to use more nets in Hudson Bay and Lake Winnipeg.

J. F. Lynch, a member of the Spokane fire department, was killed at Victoria, B. C., while giving an exhibition with a life-saving ladder.

A general strike of the coal miners of France has been declared.

The anthracite miners unanimously decided to remain on strike until concessions were granted them.

The British Baptist union has voted to oppose in every way possible the education bill now before the Commons.

Earl Euston, heir to the Duke of Grafton, has been declared bankrupt.

Lord Hawke's English cricket team will visit Canada in May next.

The Goderich, Ont., organ factory was destroyed by fire on October 8.

Col. Otter, C. B., of Toronto, believes the Austrian army is the finest in Europe.

The North German Lloyd steamer Kron Prince Wilhelm ran into and sank the British steamer Robert Ingham, during a dense fog off Beachy Head on October 8. The Robert Ingham went down about four minutes after the collision, but the Kron Prince Wilhelm saved all of her crew of thirteen men, with the exception of the mate and the only passenger she had on board.

George Pickenord was killed by a street car in New Westminster on October. He attempted to cross the track and was cut down.

In a well stocked hive there are from 15,000 to 20,000 working bees.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

To make shoes waterproof and make them last a long time, dissolve beeswax and a little sweet oil to thin it. Before the shoes are worn, warm the soles and pour the melted wax on them with a teaspoon, then hold it close to the fire till it soaks into the leather; then add more until the leather ceases to absorb it.

$100-REWARD-$100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the Best.

Remove stains from teacups with a little baking soda, rubbed on with the fingers. Some say a little salt is just as good.

THE HORSE -- noblest of the brute creation—when suffering from a cut, abrasion, or sore, derives as much benefit as its master in a like predicament, from the healing soothing action of Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Lameness, swelling of the neck, stiffness of the joints, throat and lungs, are relieved by it.

"Sticky" varnish may be dried by applying a coat of benzine, and after two or three days apply a coat of good varnish and let dry thoroughly before using the furniture.

There can be a difference of opinion on most subjects, but these is only one opinion as to the reliability of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is safe, sure and effectual.

Postage stamps will stick, and not turn up at the corners if the face is wet after applying them.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, Etc.

Oh that you could turn your eyes toward the napes of your necks, and make but an interior survey of your good selves.—Shakespeare.

Monkey Brand Soap makes copper like gold, tin like silver, crockery like marble, and windows like crystal.

If the wicked flourish, and thou suffer, be not discouraged. They are fatted for destruction; thou art dieted for health.—Fuller.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

Who partakes in another's joys is a more humane character than he who partakes in his griefs.—Lavater.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.

Gentlemen,—My daughter, 13 years old, was thrown from a sleigh and injured her elbow so badly it remained stiff and very painful for three years. Four bottles of MINARD'S LINIMENT completely cured her and she has not been troubled for two years. Yours truly,

J. B. LEVESQUE.

St. Joseph, P.Q., Aug. 18, 1900.

A cultivated reader of history is domesticated in all families; he dines with Pericles and sups with Titian. —Willmott.

Any woman who admits that her shoes are too tight is inclined to be masculine.

To check vomiting, give a teaspoonful of whole black mustard seed. A tablespoonful may be needed in severe cases.

A Common Bred Cow

When toned up by Dick's Blood Purifier will give as much and as rich milk as a highly bred aristocratic Jersey cow gives upon ordinary feed, and a Jersey cow when given.

DICK'S BLOOD PURIFIER

will wonderfully increase her yield of milk. It saves feed too, because a smaller amount of well digested food satisfies the demands of the system and every particle of nourishment sticks.

50 cents a package.

Leeming, Miles & Co., Agents, MONTREAL.

MARKET REVIEW.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

WHEAT—General Situation—Wheat markets have shown some strength during the past week. United States markets have been steady. The tendency of prices in these markets has been to advance moderately and closing quotations Friday showed a gain of ¼ to ⅜c over a week ago.

Local Situation—The weather has continued favorable during the week for threshing and marketing grain and deliveries at country markets in Manitoba and the Territories have consequently been heavy. Complaints of scarcity of cars and full country elevators are becoming more numerous. Elevators at several points were reported to be full, so that farmers were prevented from marketing. These were mostly Canadian Northern railway points, though some complaints of this nature also come from Canadian Pacific railway points With the immense amount of grain which the latter road is now handling, it is, of course, very difficult to distribute cars evenly just where they are wanted at the right time. Shipments through to Lake Superior ports have increased fast. On Tuesday of last week 702 cars of grain passed through the inspector's hands at Winnipeg, this representing Sunday's, or two days' arrivals. On the previous Saturday there were 456 cars for the one day, and on other days during the week between 300 and 400 cars. The average quality of the crop continues very fine. Some wheat is being shipped from Canadian Northern points to Duluth in Northern Pacific cars, probably owing to scarcity of Canadian Northern railway cars to take the grain to Port Arthur Up to the first of the week water shipments from our Lake Superior ports aggregated 2,432,370 bushels since September 1, leaving 1,250,000 bushels in store at these points

Prices have been steady all week with a firm tendency and a fair demand. There have been no sharp fluctuations, but rather a steady appreciation, resulting in a net gain of ½c to ⅝c for the week. Prices at the close of the market Friday were as follows: No. 1 hard, 70c; 1 northern, 68c, spot or delivery first half of October, and 69½c for 1 hard and 67½c for 1 northern, delivery last half of October. No. 2 northern is worth 65½c; 3 northern, 63c, and No. 4 wheat 59c, October delivery. All prices quoted are in store at Fort William or Port Arthur.

Country Wheat—Farmers' deliveries at all points have been large during the past week. The market is a little lower, the average price being about 57c per bushel for wagon loads at country elevators.

Liverpool Prices—No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at Liverpool on Saturday at 6s. 7d.

OATS—The market is firmer, probably owing to the fact that farmers are not willing to team oats just now for a low price. Last week's figures for carlots forced the country market to a point below what producers think they should get. Today No. 2 white oats are worth 26¾ to 27c per bushel at Fort William. On track Winnipeg No. 2 white oats are worth 25 to 26c per bushel, and about 23c is the price for feed white. At country points farmers are getting 20c per bushel at central points.

BARLEY—Demand is good, but as yet receipts are comparatively light. Dealers are paying 33c per bushel for carlots of malting grade on track at Winnipeg, and 27 to 30c for feed.

FLAXSEED — Farmers' deliveries are increasing. The large crop in sight both in this country and the neighboring states has had a weakening effect on the price, and the market is today 5c lower than a week ago. Carlots on track are worth $1.10 per bushel. To farmers at country points $1.05 is being paid. Some report prices as low as $1, but this is for inferior seed.

SPELTZ—This grain is beginning to offer at 30c per bushel of 50 lbs. to farmers.

HAY—$6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track, Winnipeg.

POTATOES—30c per bushel.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 60c per pair, alive; fowl, 60 to 70c ducks, 9c per pound; turkeys, 10 to 11c, live weight.

BUTTER — Creamery—Prices are higher at 17½c to 18c per lb. f. o. b. factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Market is firm. Commission houses are paying 12 to 14c for choice to finest dairy, commission basis, in pails or bricks.

CHEESE—10½c per pound is being paid for best makes, delivered in the city.

EGGS—The ruling price is 16½c per dozen for choice eggs, subject to candling.

DRESSED MEATS.—Beef, city dressed, 5¾ to 6½c, country stock ½c less; mutton, 8 to 9c; lamb, 11½c; hogs, 9 to 9½c.

HIDES—Dealers are now paying 6½c for No. 1 hides, 5½c for No. 2, and 4½ for No. 3. Calfskins same price as hides. Horse hides 50c to $1 each.

SENECA ROOT—The price is 56c for best root, delivered in Winnipeg. Inferior grades range from 2 to 3c below this figure.

FROM DEATH'S DOOR

AN OTTAWA MAN'S WONDERFULLY NARROW ESCAPE.

He Was in Convulsions and the Doctors Told His Wife He Could Not Live Till Morning, but he Recovered.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 13.—(Special)—At 309 Gilmore street, this city, there resides a man who has been nearer the hour and article of death than anyone who has been priviliged to live to tell the story.

He is Mr. George H. Kent, a printer in the employ of the Bank Note Company of Wellington St.

Some seven or eight years ago Mr. Kent was seized with Bright's Disease which gradually grew worse till he had to quit work and was confined to his bed, where he remained for some months.

Physicians were in constant attendance upon him, but instead of improving he gradually grew worse and worse.

At last he got so low that his body became terribly bloated and his skin like tanned leather. He had convulsions which increased in frequency, and the intervals between these spasms found him so weak that he was barely conscious.

One night after a particularly bad spell the physicians told his wife that he could not live till morning.

A messenger was despatched for a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, which were immediately brought to the dying man.

Mr. Kent did not die. On the contrary in about two months he was at work again in the shop and has not since been off work for a single day.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent are naturally very grateful, and as a mark of their gratitude have called a sweet little girl born to them some two years after Mr. Kent's remarkable recovery by the name of "Edna Dodds" Kent.

Mr. Kent has made a sworn statement reciting the details of his case and his cure.

Spots on varnished furniture can easily be removed by rubbing them with essence of peppermint or spirits of camphor, and afterwards with furniture polish or oil.

Diamond Hall Diamonds.

THIS is one of the 'Ryrie' Specials in Diamond Rings, No. 969. Our price for it is $75.

We personally guarantee the quality.

(It is mounted in 18k. gold, for either lady's or gentleman's wear.)

We deliver this safely to any address, and refund the full price if you are not perfectly satisfied.

Write for our new illustrated catalogue.

Ryrie Bros.,
Jewelers,
Yonge and Adelaide Streets,
Toronto.

Pounded glass mixed with corn meal and placed within the reach of rats, it is said, will banish them from the premises; or sprinkle cayenne pepper where they go.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

To clean kettles easily, pour a little boiling water into them and put a cover on; the steam will soften the dirt so that it may be easily removed.

Are you a sufferer with corns? If you are get a bottle of Hollaway's Corn Cure. It has never been known to fail.

To remove grease from broths for the sick, after pouring in a dish, pass clean white wrapping paper quickly over the top of broth, using several pieces, until grease is all removed.

Eve Tempted Adam.

And Adam has been tempting Eve ever since. Imagine a man selling a woman rancid butter while keeping her attention fixed on a "prize" given with the rancid butter! A woman may be tempted by "prizes" to buy common soaps, that she may not know will soon ruin her clothes and hands. But she soon finds out the difference between common soaps and Sunlight Soap. She finds Sunlight Soap—Octagon Bar—a prize in itself. Her clothes last longer, and her hands are saved from eczema. 220

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

If you want to find out which is really the best tea in Canada, buy a package of Blue Ribbon Ceylon and it wont take you long to decide

ARE YOU BUILDING?

IF SO USE EDDY'S IMPERVIOUS SHEATHING THE BEST BUILDING PAPER MADE.

It is very much stronger and thicker than any other (tarred or building) paper. It is impervious to wind, keeps out cold, keeps in heat, carries no smell or odor, absorbs no moisture, imparts no taste or flavor to anything with which it comes in contact. It is largely used not only for sheeting houses, but for lining cold storage buildings, refrigerators, dairies, creameries, and all places where the object is to keep an even and uniform temperature, and at the same time avoiding dampness.

Write our Agents, TEES & PERSSE, Winnipeg, for samples.

THE E. B. EDDY CO., Limited, HULL.

When using common tea you may mistake bitterness for strength. GOLD STANDARD TEA is unequalled for strength and flavor.—

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS

SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS —— $15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

T. H. METCALFE & CO.

Grain and Commission Merchants.

Highest prices paid for wheat, oats, barley or flax in carlots. Wire or write me for prices before selling. Liberal advances made on consignments and handled on commission. Licensed and Bonded.

P. O. Box 350, Winnipeg, Man.

W. N. U., No. 398.

AFTER THIS IT IS YOUR FAULT

if you suffer with what is generally known as a Bad Liver.

Fleming's No. 9 Liver Pills.

will effectually relieve the worst case of Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, and by cleansing and purifying the stomach relieve the system of many of the poisons that bring on fever. Ask your druggist for them; if he has none send us 25c for a bottle, or $1.00 for 5 bottles.

FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, BRANDON

One ounce flour of sulphur to one quart of water. Shake well at intervals for a few hours, and when settled saturate the head with the clear liquid every morning. This is said to cure vexatious dandruff, a disease of the scalp.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals.

Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa.

For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy.

Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

BE CAREFUL.

This fellow got scorched, lighting a bad Cigar. Don't you burn your good money in the same way. SMOKE LUCINA. Your good money gets a good Cigar.

Geo. F. Bryan & Co., Winnipeg.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory.

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

HAVE YOU SEEN IT? WHAT? LEE'S Priceless Recipes, 3,000 secrets for the home, farm, laboratory, workshop, and every department of human endeavor, with full index to contents; 368 pages, bound in cloth; send 25 cents for a copy, and if you think the book is not worth the money send it back, and your money will be refunded; this is a good side line for canvassers. Write for terms if you want to canvass. WILLIAM BRIGGS, Methodist Book-room, Toronto, Ontario.

THE ANGLE LAMP

combines the maximum of light with the minimum of heat, the minimum of trouble, the minimum of expense. Used in HOUSES, STORES, CHURCHES HOTELS, FACTORIES Etc., Etc.

It is perfection in lighting. The light that never fails. It uses ordinary coal oil—one quart in 16 hours. No smoke, no odor, no drawing up, no removing of globe or top to light, filled while burning, the only light having no undershadows. Apply to your local dealer or send for catalogue and prices to Hilton, Gibson & Co., P. O. Box 391, Winnipeg.

A solution of oxalic acid will remove ink stains from books without injuring the print.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, F. C. MALPAS Mgr.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, OCT. 18, 1902.

THE CONDITION AT FERNIE.

THERE appears to be a studied effort on the part of some of the British Columbia newspapers to make it appear that another strike is imminent at the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company's mines at Fernie, Morrissey and Michel. Mischief-makers of this class would do Fernie a service by confining their attention to local affairs. There is not the slightest prospect for further trouble between the local miners union and the coal company and no small injury is done to Fernie by the misrepresentations of the meddlesome editors.

That some differences exist between a portion of the miners at the three collieries and the company may be true but there is nothing to indicate that any one of these differences cannot be adjusted without the recourse to a strike. Fernie has had its strike, but it has passed into history, and the people of Fernie are anxious that it remain there. They are striving to the best of their ability to forget that there ever was a strike, and they do not take kindly to the efforts of outsiders to keep the old sore open.

The people of Fernie realize that the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company is very little different from other large corporations in the matter of striving to earn as large dividends for their shareholders as possible, but the company has shown a willingness to treat its employees fairly, and the great majority of the men appear to be satisfied. There is no disposition on either side to hunt for trouble, and for this reason there is very little chance of getting it.

Those who are indulging in prophesies of further disturbances at Fernie attempt to ignore the present satisfactory condition of affairs with predictions to the effect that the company will not continue its present treatment to its employees. This may be true, but in fairness to the company it must be conceded that this is a matter which can only be disclosed in the future, and when the prediction becomes a reality it will be time enough to prepare to meet it.

AN ELECTION IN SIGHT.

The signs are not wanting to indicate an early general election in this province. From the capital cames the news that the Conservative members of the cabinet are getting their fences in order. Strangely enough, however, the ministers do not appear to be training with their party. They are working at cross purposes, and while the party has declared for the recognition of party lines, the ministers are doing all in their power to frustrate it.

Since his return from London attorney-general Eberts has been getting his forces in line, and it is evident that he has secured at least two of the members who during the last session voted upon all the important questions against the government. There are also talks of losses on the government side since recess, but how far these are true will not be definitely known until the next session of the legislature is well under way. What most people would like to know is where Jos. Martin will get off during the next session. He apparently has not lost his position as a political dictator, but no person seems able to place the Martin programme.

From the report in circulation it appears that the ministers, in order to head off the party line movement have joined hands with the Bodwell faction in Victoria. If these be true, and there is every reason to believe they are true, there would be little choice for Martin but to withdraw his support. But it will rest with Martin himself to say when he and his supporters can with most advantage to themselves throw their weight against the government, but when they do it will be time to get ready for a general election.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

OPPOSITION in any business generally has a tendency to reduce prices, not so with the lumber industry. The price of lumber has advanced nearly one hundred per cent. in the last year in Fernie.

* * *

A communication from C. O'Brien dealing with the labor situation at the Coal Creek mines appears in this issue. So far he is the only one to register a kick as to the present wage scale. The miners are making better wages than ever before and the same can also be truthfully said in regard to a large number of those doing company work. Strange isn't it that a kick should come from one who is not even an employee of the company.

* * *

REPORTS have been persistently circulated that the Crows Nest Pass Coal Co. were negotiating for the purchase of the Foss & McDonnell townsite and that they would abandon the one which they had contemplated opening near the mines. This is not correct. General Manager Tonkin says the proposition has been laid before them, but the company had no intention of making the purchase as they would have little use for that property for ten years to come.

* * *

LAST week we declined to publish a letter in reply to our Editorial remarks on the subject of the Police regulation of vice in our steets. We took this stand because the writer with-held his name and also because we regarded the tone of his letter as a direct incentive to the patronage of immorality. Since then the wrter has furnished his name but NOT FOR PUBLICATION. Under the circumstances we must adhere to our previous decision as in our judgement nothing could be more pernicious than to advocate lax control of what under the most favorable conditions is an evil and under careless oversight soon becomes intolerable. It is chiefly in the interests of the women and children of our town that we protest and shall continue to protest against parading vice. If Fairplay wishes to advocate or defend it he must find some other medium, he cannot do it in the pages of the FREE PRESS.

The old firm of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, have given the agency for pianos for Fernie and vicinity to F. J. Watson. If you want the best he can accommodate you. x

F. J. Mitchell has the only Union Tailor shop in towu. x

For Sale

CORNER LOT opposite the Methodist Church price $20 per foot.

CORNER LOT opposite the Central Hotel, price $1250.

CORNER LOT opposite the Roman Catholic Church, at rear of printing office, price $850.

Lot adjoining the above, with house, price $1150.

CORNER LOT, with house, opposite hospital price $1250.

House and Lot near Baptist Church price $800

House and acre Lot of H. J. Turner's, in West Fernie. This is a decided snap.

Other houses, lots, stores, etc., for sale. Prices on application.

TO RENT—A six-roomed plastered cottage, new also other houses and a store. Terms on application.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

Winter Flowering Bulbs

A great variety.

Bleasdell's Drug Store.

Cars's Mackinaw.

Lumbermen

You should see our stock of the celebrated Cars's Mackinaw Clothing.

This clothing holds the same position in its line as the Slater Shoe does in footwear

The only genuine Mackinaw clothing in Canada.

We have it in Pants, Coats, Shirts and Mitts.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

THE MOTHERS are especially interested in having suits for little boys at this season of the year. 10 different styles at prices from $1.25 up.

Make this your clothing store and you will always have the newest and best.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

100 Miners Wanted
At the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Mines
AT MORRISSEY

THE SURVEY is almost completed in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Townsite at Morrissey, B. C. In the opening of the new townsite at Morrissey, the business man will have an opportunity for money-making that has never been presentcd in British Columbia. Get in on the ground floor.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

John Mangian, bookkeeper for the Fernie Lumber Co., is absent on a trip to Armprior, Ont.

Miss Finnis, of Cranbrook, who has been confined to the hospital for some time with fever, is recovering.

Miss M. Neil, formerly of Fernie, has opened a dress-making establishment at Frank, Alt.

Mr. Wm. Blakemore, of Montreal, was in town for a couple of days this week. He left on Tuesday evening for Toronto and Montreal.

Any person indebted to Alex Beck, will kindly pay the same to McEwing & Slinn. All bills unpaid by the 25 inst, will be placed in a lawyer's hands for collection.

The C. P. R. bridge across Coal Creek, which was almost wrecked by the spring floods, is being permanently replaced. Two large new piers are being constucted under it.

Constable Walker shot two magnificient deer while out on a hunting expedition this week. Harry Lever is authority for the statement that one of them had a bell on.

A number of Great Northern officials of the Pacific division, were in town, this week, among whom were: Superintendent Egan, General Freight Agent Williams, and General Express Agent Marrow.

Mr. and Mrs H. W. Herchmer arrived in town on Wednesday morning after an extended wedding tour. Since their arrival the happy couple have been receiving the congratulations of their many friends here.

F. H. Sheppard, of Nanaimo, is in town conducting an examination of candidates for mine managers certificates. This is the same gentleman who gave such valuable expert evidence at the inquest over the recent disaster. Mr. Sheppard is one of the most competent coal experts in the west.

Mr. F C. Malpas, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to the Cranbrook branch. Mr E. Bird, of Belleville, has been appointed manager here. Mr. Malpas has become quite popular with the citizens of Fernie since his arrival here and his departure is deeply regretted.

Fernie now has Pure Water

On Monday last the system of water main, which the Company have had under construction for some months was completed, and the citizens of the town can now drink the town water without fear of contracting typhoid fever or other ailments. The intake is now situated about one mile above the mines and is conducted by eight-inch pipes to a reservoir about half a mile above the old one, and the old pipes have been extended up to this point. The reservoir is situated forty feet higher than the one formerly used, giving considerable more pressure down town.

Cranbrook Celebration

The boxing contest between J. W. Fitzgerald, of Fernie, and Lewis, of Cranbrook, which will take place in the latter town on the 27th inst., promises to be an interesting event. Both men are in the best of condition and will no doubt give a good account of themselves. The Cranbrook Herald in speaking of the hundred yard race says: "Increasing interest is being manifested in the great foot race between Nevin and Mitchell. Both men are in hard training and each is confident of victory. Aside from the $1,000 purse there will be that much more in side money, as the supporters of each man are waiting to back their opinion with their coin. The foot race comes off in the morning and there is sure to be a big crowd to witness the event."

Thanksgiving Social

The Methodist Church was crowded to the doors on Thursday evening, the occasion of their Thanksgiving social. The ladies of the church had prepared a delightful programme of vocal and instrumental music, not to speak of refreshments. They did everything in their power to give those present a pleasant evening and in this they were most successful. Mr. D. V. Mott occupied the chair for the occasion. Following is the programme:—

PROGRAMME

Quartette. 'Come where the Lillies Bloom' Misses Church and McBroom; Messrs. Colclough and Claxton.
Chairman's Address.....D. V. Mott
Solo.....Mr. A. Colclough
Reading.....Miss Kidwell
Solo.....A. T. Claxton
Reading.....Mr. Connors
Solo.....Mr. F. Ship
Reading.....Mrs. Whalen
Quartette....."Good Night Gentle Folks," Misses Church and McBroom; Messrs. A. Colclough and Claxton.

F. J. Mitchell can fit you in a suit of clothes. Give him a trial. x

J. R. Pollock and W. S. Keay returned on Monday from a trip to Gateway, Mont.

A party of ladies consisting of Miss McBroom, Miss Lawrence and Miss Digby, spent Thanksgiving Day at Elko.

Rev. D. Holford is very ill this week. On Thursday he was in a very dangerous condition, but has improved a little since then.

Rev. D. L. Gordon conducted a Thanksgiving service in the Methodist church on Thursday morning. It was well attended.

R. G. K. Stuart, travelling representative of the British Columbia Mining Record, is visiting the Crow's Nest Coal fields at present.

Mrs. W. A. Prest was in town this week looking after the photograph gallery in the absence of her husband, who is dangerously ill with hemorrhage of the brain.

Geo. Cody completed the recreation ground contract yesterday and he has certainly made a splendid job of it. The new grounds are a credit to the town.

The ladies of Christ Church are preparing to hold a grand bazaar and sale of work about the first week in December and intend to make it a great success.

A meeting of Socialists and their friends with the object of forming a Socialits League will be held in the Common Hall of the Empire House on Thursday next at 7.30 p.m.

Mrs. T. C. Thompson is holding a sale of household goods this week, previous to her departure for the east on Tuesday of next week.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins and Holy Communion 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

Mr. S. Marks, whose general store was burned in the old town several weeks ago, has about fifty odd shoes on hand as a result of the wholesale plundering carried on that night. He would like the parties implicated to call and get the odd shoes as they are one of no use to him.

A Step in the Right Driection

The Government at last has decided to take steps toward the erection of something in way of a suitable court house, and although they do not intend to spend much money on the building it will no doubt be a great improvement upon the old one. Government Agent Armstrong arrived in town with the plans on Thurs. evening and several contractors have been figuring on the work. It is expected that building operations will commence next week. Only $1,200 has been appropreated by the Government for the work.

The license commissioners met in the Court House last evening to consider twelve applications for licenses for the new town which will shortly be opened near the Morrissey mines. No counter petitions were put in and it was thought that at least three or four licenses would be granted, but such was not the case, at least two of the commissioners had come to the meeting prepared to stand the matter off as long as possible and this they did. They adjourned the meeting indefinitely saying that no licenses would be granted until the property had been put on the market.

If you want the Union Label on your fall suit you must go to F. J. Mitchell x

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bootled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale Proprietor.

MILLINERY

AT LESS THAN COST

On account of ill health I shall close out my entire stock of millinery at 50c. on the dollar, consisting of ladies' and children's trimmed and untrimmed hats, walking hats, felt shapes, feathers, birds, velvets, silks and buckles. Come and be convinced

Sale will be held on Victoria ave. in the room formerly occupied by the auction store, opposite Miller's bakery.

Mrs. M. Goldstein, Fernie, B. C.

WE REPAIR

FURNITURE

AND DO

Upholstering.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

All current magazines of the following 36 periodicals constantly on hand at the

FERNIE DRUG STORE

Pearson's, Argosy, Strand, Sketch, World-Wide, Field, Black and White, Scribner's Illustrated London News, Ainslee's, Everybody's, Vogue, Designer, Delineator, Recreation, Scientific American McClure's, Cosmopolitan, Frank Leslie, Canadian, Forum, Graphic, North American Review, Review of Reviews, Cassell's Weekly, Cassell's Journal, Tit-Bits, Answers, Black Cat, Ladies' World, Ladies' Home Companion, Ladies' Home Journal Literary Digest, The Philistine, Will Carleton, Current Literature and St. Nicholas.

Fernie Drug Store.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first application of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the publication can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steel, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked N. Binns south west corner post, situate 15 chains east of north west corner of J. L. C. Abbott's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

N. BINNS.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 246 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.

WM. S. KEAY.

Dated August 28, 1902. 1918

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or a soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked Thomas Britt south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. R. Nelson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept, 1902.

THOMAS BRITT.

Drink the famous Lion Beer.

The Lion Brewing Co. Ltd, Rossland, B.C.

C. GOLDSTEIN, Agent, Fernie, B.C.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

60 Days 60 Days

60 Days

The greatest selling time ever known in the Kootenays. We are over-stocked in some lines, and are going to turn them into MONEY. Only one way to do so — make prices that will loosen the purse strings. The first week,—just to tempt you

Fast Black Sateen Shirts — Two Lines. One at 55c.——— A Better One at 85c.

Both at about half price. Watch for hand bills and posters.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

WITHIN THE RANGE

of everyone. The price of the stoves ranges and heaters we offer secures more value than was ever before sold at such figures. Designed and constructed on new principles they give great heat from a small quantity of fuel. Handsome in appearance and of great strength. Our $45.00 range is a model of compactness.

We always carry full stock of COMPASSES.

STOVEBOARDS and Scuttles always in stock....

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

MORRISSEY, B.C.

Situated on two transcontinental lines of railroad and in the heart of Canada's great coal fields.

Senator Royce, of Vernon, in an interview with a New York World correspondent a few days ago, said:—British Columbia is practically unknown, and its resources, so far discovered, are almost limitless. Development only will produce the results necessary to show that this vast territory contains greater stores than any other country in the world."

Development is now being carrsed on to a greater extent in the coal belt of the Crow's Nest Pass than in any other part of the province, and towns in this section will naturally have a large share of prosperity.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"Aye, aye, that's where you berth. We know that much and more—that you won't stay there. What takes you cruising round the first class deck? That's what you've got to answer for."

"So I will, to the right person, the captain, and no one else. Stand aside!" I cried, for I was nettled by the man's surly speech. "Don't dare to interfere with me! I've good reason, the best reason, for what I've done, and I'll give it, but not to you. Clear out, or I'll put you on your back double quick!"

He retorted angrily, and we should soon have fallen to blows, but a sharp voice interposed, that of the captain himself, for the altercation had occurred just outside his cabin.

"What's this, quartermaster—quarreling with the passengers? And who are you, sir, who talk so big?"

The seaman answered, while I hesitated, doubtful how to act.

"A second class, sir, who's been a-trespassing up here constant, and I'd my orders, sir, from the chief officer to watch him."

"What do you call yourself?"

"Hardcastle is my name on the list, but"—

"A purser's name, eh? Fishy on the face of it. However, this is no time for discussion. I'll see you tomorrow forward in the second cabin. Take him there, quartermaster, and tell the steward to have an eye to him; not that he can get very far."

"Aye, aye, sir. Now, heave ahead, will you, or must I make you?" No doubt he felt annoyed by the support of the "old man." Now I had recovered my temper I did not resent his tone. I had had time to consider that for the present I had better lie low.

So I went straight to my cabin and to bed. I was doubled up with two others, both ocean "drummers," men who crossed every month or two, and they were already sound asleep. But before turning out my light I climbed up into the privacy of my own little bunk, where I quickly ran through the papers and saw with delight that everything was intact. Then I placed the precious packet under my pillow and felt that I had spent a profitable day.

CHAPTER XII.

H. M. S. VICTRIX.

By next morning I had resolved to take the captain of the Chattahoochee directly I saw him into my confidence. He was an Englishman. The liner, although it had an American name, sailed under English colors. On her deck I was on English ground, and I thought I might count on his protection. I was taking too much for granted, as I soon found. The plainest truth does not always prosper when it is contradicted seemingly by a well substantiated lie.

I had not long to wait for my interview with Captain Sherborne. Instead of coming into the second cabin he sent for me, and I was led before him very much like a malefactor, with a steward on one side of me and a quartermaster, my friend of the previous night, on the other. I had the papers on me in an inner breast pocket.

I was not taken to his own cabin on the poop deck, but to the purser's in a central part of the ship, half cabin, half office, and that officer was also in attendance. The captain was a square set, weather beaten sailor man, very bluff and cheery, no doubt, when it so pleased him, but his mottled red face in its fringe of white whiskers could shine fierce and forbidding as a lighthouse through a fog, and it did so just now.

"You are the person calling yourself Hardcastle who has been breaking the ship's rules by trespassing on the first saloon accommodation? I saw you myself."

"I admit it. What is the penalty? To pay first cabin fare, I presume? Then, Mr. Purser, take the necessary amount and give me a receipt. I won't change my cabin."

I tossed a couple of fivers on to the little table in front of which the skipper sat, and the purser, a little, old, spare gentleman with a long white beard, took the money up, but looked at the captain doubtfully.

"Stay, stay, my fine fellow. It's not going to end like that. The trespass is only the smallest part. There has been a robbery on board. It has been reported to me this morning, and, and"—

"You suspect me?" He nodded. "On what grounds, may I ask? I am entitled to be told that."

"I shall tell you nothing. I am captain of this ship"—

"But will not be so very long, I think, after this voyage, if you adopt such a high handed and unwarrantable course as to accuse a passenger of theft, yet give him no reason for it."

This shot told. His fiery eyes faltered for a moment, and there was less assurance in his voice when he went on, "I am answerable to my employers, not to you"—

"And, pardon me, to the public, of whom I am one, and to the British government, whom I represent, Captain Sherborne."

His jaw fell, and he looked rather helplessly at the purser, who stooped over and whispered a few words in his ear. They only seemed to still further stir up his bile and more sturdily vindicate his authority.

"By heaven," he shouted, "I'll not be bounced by every longshore scallywag that chooses to face me out with thundering lies! On board my own ship too! British government be hanged! What have I to do with it in midatlantic and with 50 fathoms of blue water under my keel? Besides, it's what you say. How are we to know it's true? You admitted you were sailing under false colors. What's your real name?"

That moment I had intended to tell him everything, but now I did not trust his discretion.

"You shall know all in good time when it suits me. Meanwhile, I hold you responsible"—

"Yah! You're worse than a sea lawyer, tacking and veering all round the compass. Answer my question. Did you steal those papers?"

"What papers? Whose?"

"The duke's, Terry Grada's, you know. You were seen near his stateroom."

"That's untrue, for I never went there and don't know where it is. But as for the papers— Well, yes, I have them here"—I touched my pocket—"and I mean to keep them."

The skipper all but bounded from his chair. "I think you must be stark, staring mad; a raging lunatic, no less. I shall have to clap you in irons and send you down for safety to Sand alley. Hand them over now in a brace of shakes, or I'll"—

He rose menacingly. "Keep your distance. Don't lay a finger on her don't touch those papers. No one must see them. They belong to the British government."

"Then how came they in the possession of this duke? Yah! Try another."

"He acquired them wrongly and will have to answer for that and other things—he and those with him."

"Including that millionaire youth, I suppose, Captain Wood, who seems even more upset at this robbery—your robbery."

I could contain myself no longer.

"He is not Captain Wood. He is an impostor. I am Captain Wood, Mr. McFaught's heir."

The skipper here burst into an uproarious fit of laughter, which the purser echoed heartily.

"By the everlasting jingo, this is too much! Quartermaster!" cried the captain, and my friend ran in. "Call in a couple of hands with a rope's end and seize this chap down. It's not safe to let him range about the ship loose. But first of all hoist those papers out of him. They're in the inner pocket."

"I am Captain Wood, Mr. McFaught's heir."

Before they could touch me I made one step to the open porthole and with a quick movement threw the parcel out into the sea.

"You desperate ruffian! I'll have the ship stopped, a boat lowered. Run up to the bridge, quartermaster."

"They're heavy enough to sink, Captain Sherborne, long before you could get within a mile of them, and you may do what you like now. My mind's perfectly easy."

"I shall confront you with the boss who owns those papers."

"That he never did, nor will any one else now. But again I warn you to be careful. If you bring us face to face, there will be mischief done."

"No, for I shall have seized you first, made you so fast you won't be able to stir a finger or even look crooked, my fine fellow."

"The boot's on the other leg, captain. The mischief will be done to me, and I tell you whatever happens will be laid on you. I claim your protection. Withhold it at your peril."

The skipper looked nonplused. No doubt he was still inclined to think me a lunatic, but I spoke so quietly and collectedly that he was a little shaken in his first impression.

"Upon my soul I don't know what to say or do. What d'ye advise, Mr. Boffinge?" This to the purser.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Kindred Insects.

The kissing bug's career is through;
No more its pranks we see.
It had to take its hat off to
The good old busking bee.

North American Fish.

There are no less than 3,262 different species of fish inhabiting the waters of America north of the isthmus of Panama.

A POPULAR BELIEF

THAT RHEUMATISM IS DUE TO COLD, WET WEATHER.

Such Conditions Aggravate the Troubles, But It Is Now Known To Be a Disease of the Blood---Outward Applications Cannot Cure It.

The once popular belief that rheumatism was entirely the result of exposure to cold or dampness, is now known to be a mistake. The disease may be aggravated by exposure, but the root of the trouble lies in the blood, and must be treated through it. Liniments and outward applications never cure, while Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always cure because they make new, rich, red blood, in which disease finds lodgment impossible. Concerning the use of these pills Mr. A. G. Lacombe, Sorel, Que., says:—"For upwards of five years I was a victim to the tortures of rheumatism. At times the pains in my knees, shoulders and hip were almost past indurance. At other times I could not dress myself without assistance. I tried several remedies, some of them very costly, without getting any more than temporary relief at the most. At this juncture a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and spoke so highly of the pills that I decided to try them. Almost from the very first these pills helped me, and by the time I had taken seven or eight boxes every twinge of rheumatism has disappeared and I was feeling better than I had for years. I would strongly advise similar sufferers to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, as I am confident they will not only drive away all pains and aches, but leave you strong, active and happy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest tonic medicine in the world. These pills not only cure rheumatism but all troubles whose origin comes from poor blood or weak nerves, such as anaemia, consumption, neuralgia, kidney trouble, St. Vitus' dance, partial paralysis and the irregularities which make the lives of so many women a source of misery. Some dealers offer substitutes, and in order to protect yourself you must see that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Reason can not show itself more reasonable than to cease reasoning on things above reason.—Sir P. Sidney.

Parmelee's Pills possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify that disease of almost every nature are driven from the body. Mr D. Carswell, Carswell, P. O., Ont., writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine and one that will sell well."

A fool who has a flash of wit creates astonishment and scandal, like hack horses setting out to gallop.—Chamfort.

A BABY CHANGED.

The Mother Tells How It Was Accomplished.

"A wonderful change," is the verdict of a lady correspondent, who writes us about her little one. "I take pleasure," writes Mrs. R. B. Bickford, of Glen Sutton, Que., "in certifying to the merits of Baby's Own Tablets, as I have found them a sure and reliable remedy. My baby was troubled with indigestion, and was teething and cross and restless, and the use of the Tablets made a wonderful change. I think the timely use of Baby's Own Tablets might save many a dear little life, and I would recommend mothers to keep them in the house."

The opinion of this wise mother is echoed by other correspondents. Baby's Own Tablets give such comfort and relief to a sick baby, they so infallibly produce calm, peaceful sleep that you would almost think them a narcotic. But they are not. They are only a health-giver for children of any age. They cannot possibly do harm — they always do good. May be had from druggists, or by mail, post paid, at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Politics are full of uncertainties. To-day a man is on the stump and next week he may be all up a tree.

Stella—"Just look at Miss Desplaine and Mr. Baldy over there!" Miss Potter—"Yes; a romance of the middle ages, so to speak."

Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentry Cordial is prepared from drugs known to the profession as thoroughly reliable for the cure of cholera dysentry diarrhoea, griping pains and summer complaints. It has been used successfully by medical practitioners for a number of years with gratifying results. If suffering from any summer complaint it is just the medicine that will cure you. Try a bottle. It sells for 25 cents.

A Mediæval Megaphone.

A curiosity of great antiquity is still to be seen within St. Andrew's church at Willoughton, near Gainsborough, says an English magazine. This is a quaint speaking trumpet with an obscure early history, dating back to the times of the Knights Templars. In shape it resembles a French horn and is more than five feet long, having a bell at the end of the graduated tube. It was formerly six feet in length, but is now telescoped at the joints, where the metal has apparently decayed. Tradition declares it was formerly sounded from the tower to summon aid in case of need, as, when blown at a height, the weird, deep notes the trumpet produced could be heard a great distance away in bygone days. It is believed that this curious instrument has often been used to call together the villagers, thus dispensing with the usual bell; and to give additional power and strength to the choir, being then probably used by the chief singer, as the trumpet intensifies vocal sound to a marked degree.

Henpecked For a Day.

In the little hamlet of Nordhastedt, near Meldorf, a singular custom is observed annually. According to tradition, it dates back to the thirteenth century. During that era the hamlet was on one occasion attacked by a band of robbers, and the men of the village were soon compelled to beat a retreat.

Thereupon the women boldly attacked the robbers and not only vanquished them, but also took the leader and several of the band prisoners. As a token of their gratitude the men have ever since allowed the women to celebrate this great event by holding a festival at stated intervals, and on such occasions they exercise no authority themselves, but submit in all things to the will of the women.

The latter greatly enjoy their temporary supremacy and, as a symbol thereof, never fail to fasten a large wooden slipper to every lamp and chandelier in the hamlet.

A Great Stickler For Etiquette.

Dr. Thompson, master of Trinity college, Cambridge, was an exceedingly cold and austere man, never taking much notice of the undergraduates under his care. On one occasion a Trinity man happened to be out walking and was caught in a storm. He ran across a field and took shelter beneath a large tree. When he arrived there, he found, to his horror, that Dr. Thompson was beneath it seeking protection from the rain. For some time both stood silent, watching the clouds, till at last the undergraduate, growing desperate, ventured to remark that he thought it was clearing up a little.

"Sir," said the doctor haughtily, frowning upon the wretched youth, "all communications to the master of Trinity must be made through the tutors."—Exchange.

A Story of Henry Clay Dean.

A good story is related of Henry Clay Dean, the famous orator of a generation or so ago. Mr. Dean was generally referred to as "Henry Clay Dean of Iowa" even long after he had established a home in Missouri. He explained his change of habitation in this way: "You see, they passed a nefarious prohibition law in Iowa, and there's your whisky gone. Then they abolished capital punishment, and there's your hanging gone, and now the whole population seems to be drifting toward Universalism, and there's your hades gone. I can't live in a state that has neither hades, hanging nor whisky."

Bad Hand Made Him Money.

When Lord Curzon was at Oxford, he wrote an abominable hand. One day he penned two letters, one of them to a relative and one to a chum with whom he always discussed the faults of their respective relations, and accidentally put these letters into the wrong envelopes. He was about to write a profound apology to his relative when he received the following note from him: "Can't read a word of your four pages, but guess you want some money, you young rascal." Inclosed was a Bank of England note for a good amount.

Korean Washerwomen.

The hardest worked washerwomen in the world are the Koreans. They have to wash about a dozen dresses for their husbands, and they have plenty to do. The washing is usually done in cold water and often in running streams. The clothes are pounded with paddles until they shine like a shirt front fresh from a laundry.

Willing to Help.

"You have wounded me," he sadly said as he rose from his knees—"wounded me so deeply that I shall never"—

"Wait," she said, picking a book off the table. "Let me see what 'First Aid to the Injured' says to do in such a case as yours."

Her Position.

Mrs. Parke—What kind of servants do you prefer?

Mrs. Lane—I've got beyond that. I'm looking for servants that prefer me—Puck.

NOTHING LIKE Paine's Celery Compound

FOR CLEANSING AND PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It Eradicates the Seed of Disease, Invigorates and Rejuvenates.

Thousands of men and women who have neglected the work of physical recuperation in the summer months, are now carrying a burden of disease. In the majority of cases impure and poisoned blood and sluggish circulation are the direct causes of suffering and misery. Are you, reader, one of the victims? If so, do not hesitate a moment regarding what you should do. The life stream must be made pure, the health-wrecking laxity of the blood vessels must be corrected, the nerves and tissues must be nourished. Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine that physicians recommend for the increase of pure blood in the arteries, and for arousing the purifying organs to cast off the impurities that give rise to disease. Mr. T. F. Mitchell, New Hamburg, Ont., writes as follows:

"My mother suffered for five years with a sore leg, and her system was so far run down that doctors could not help her. She could hardly walk about the house. She tried almost everything to procure a cure, but no good results came until Paine's Celery Compound was used, which gave her instant relief. She is now using the third bottle and able to do her own work."

Memory is the primary and fundamental power, without which there could be no other intellectual operation.—Johnson.

Everyone has heard of St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism, strains, bruises, lame back, and all muscular aches and pains, but few know that there is nothing to equal it for relieving aching feet, troublesome corns, and for softening the harsh, callous skin which frequently forms on the soles of the feet. Anyone suffering from sensitive spots on the toes, sides of the feet, or between the toes, should rub a little St. Jacobs Oil on the sore spot every night. The immediate relief obtained is simply wonderful.

No household should be without St. Jacobs Oil. It will be wanted after cricket, after tennis, after a day's boating; in fact it is the athlete's friend. All chemists sell St. Jacobs Oil and a 50 cent bottle is sufficient to prove beyond a doubt the above statements.

The pleasures of the palate deal with us like Egyptian thieves, who strangle those whom they embrace.—Seneca.

Color Is One of the Most Important Points in Well Made Butter.

Too many buttermakers lose sight of the fact that "color" is one of the most important and effective points in good butter. The sweetest and richest butter is but half prepared for the critical eyes of consumers, if the color be faulty or objectionable.

Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color gives the natural golden tint to butter in the autumn and winter seasons. It is the favorite color in the Government Creameries, and is used exclusively by the largest makers of butter for export and home consumption. Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color never fades from the butter; it does not turn a bricky shade such as other colors produce; it is pure and harmless; its keeping qualities are perfect; it is the strongest, therefore the cheapest to use. Ask your druggist or dealer for it; take no other make.

True friends visit us in prosperity only when invited, but in adversity they come without invitation.—Theophrastus.

In his Vegetable Pills, Dr. Parmelee has given to the world the fruits of long scientific research in the whole realm of medical science, combined with new and valuable discoveries never before known to man. For delicate and debilitated constitutions Parmelee's Pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

To clean light kids, put the gloves on the hand and rub thoroughly with white corn meal, using a piece of cotton flannel for the purpose.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Uncle—"Tell me frankly, Fred, what is the amount of your debts?" Fred—"Oh, my dear uncle, just as much as you please."

OUR FLOUR IS BEST

HOW TO WORK UP A TRADE WITH THE ORIENT.

Mr. William Hutchison, Dominion Exhibition Commissioner, Talks on the Flour Trade With The Orient and Makes Suggestions.

A dispatch from Ottawa says: Mr. William Hutchinson, Dominion commissioner, has just completed a report on the possibilities of a Canadian grain and flour trade with Japan. Mr. Hutchinson recently made a tour throughout the States of Oregon, Washington and the Canadian Northwest in order to secure information. The varieties of wheat raised in Oregon and Washington, Mr. Hutchinson says, are known as "blue stem" and "club." It has been generally understood that the Orient has been taking a large amount of low grade flour. This was the case a few years ago, but today the mills for this trade in Oregon and Washington are running on the "club" wheat, a shade softer than the "blue stem," making a straight run of 97 per cent. When running on a mixture of the two wheats they take out a patent, the balance being as good as the straight from the "club." They appear to ship three grades to the Orient.

Dealing with Manitoba flour Mr. Hutchinson says that from a trial shipment made to Japan, the complaint came back that the flour was too dark. This is easily explained, as the grade of flour from winter wheat is much whiter than that made from spring wheat, and is used in the Orient for making small biscuits and cakes. In Oregon and Washington, Mr. Hutchinson says, they have a wheat which is both spring and winter, something unknown in any other wheat growing area. While it is generally conceded that in the fall should it become winter killed, the farmer has only to harrow the ground in the spring, sow the old wheat and a crop in the fall is the result.

Another complaint from Japan was the high price of the Canadian produce, when compared with the winter wheat of Oregon. It is against this compalint that Mr. Hutchison has made a practical demonstration. On his return from Oregon and Washington he brought nine barrels of this flour and nine barrels of Manitoba hard wheat flour. These he submitted to the leading Ottawa bakeries to have a practical test as to the relative value of flours for bread purposes. The result shows that the Manitoba hard spring wheat produced twenty-one pounds more bread to the barrel than that of the Oregon and Washington samples. If Canada wishes to obtain the Oriental trade Mr. Hutchison points out that it can either be done by introducing the Manitoba flour or by raising wheat that will produce a flour similar to that being used in Japan and China. Certain parts of Alberta, he thinks, are capable of raising large crops of winter wheat, and if this is possible, an export trade can easily be developed with the Orient. The raising of winter wheat in Southern Alberta has never been sufficiently developed to carry on a trade with the Pacific coast.

"But," Mr. Hutchison concludes, if this were done and a sufficient trade worked up to keep mills running either in Alberta or at the seaboard there is little doubt but that a suitable transportation rate can be secured. So far as demonstrated, the yields of winter wheat in Alberta is something enormous, being, according to the farmers' reports, 50 to 60 bushels to the acre. If it were possible to even raise 40 bushels the yield would be away ahead of the Oregon or Washington yield, where the average is only 23 bushels."

TRAGEDY AT CALGARY.

Mrs. Chapman Burned to Death by the Explosion of a Lamp.

Calgary, N. W. T., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Jessie Chapman was burned to death on Saturday night about 8 o'clock, in her house across the track behind Cushing's factory. The tragedy was a horrible one. The woman was completely burned up. She was aged 62 and lived alone. She went home shortly before 8 o'clock, and it is supposed was preparing for bed. In some way the lamp was upset, and the unfortunate woman was dead before any alarm had been given. Two boys saw the flames, broke into the house, put out the fire by pouring some water on it and informed the police.

F. P. Sargeant, United States commissioner general of immigration has effected an agreement with the management of the Canadian Pacific by which that railway will place Chinese passengers landing at Vancouver in the same position as Chinese landing at San Francisco. This means that Chinese not holding certificates of citizenship will not be allowed to land at Vancouver.

THE WIDE WORLD.

Telegraphic News of Two Hemisphere Briefly Told.

A big strike of oil has been made at Wheatley, Ont.

Ottawa will probably adopt the automatic telephone system.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. will erect a mammoth mill in Manitoba.

Rev. Dr. Cleaver, of Toronto, believes the rule regarding amusements in the Methodist church is useless.

Ottawa and Toronto city councils have made large purchases of coal for the benefit of citizens.

Sister Dugas, of St. Boniface, has been elected mistress of the novices in the mother house of the Grey nuns at Montreal.

Sir Charles Parsons has presented two old cannon, weighing two tons each, to Winnipeg. These will be placed in the city hall gardens.

The Winnipeg city council has taken the initial step in submitting a Sunday street car bylaw before the ratepayers at the next civic election.

T. G. Davis, of Napanee, Ont., was found dead in his bed.

Storms off the Labrador coast have caused the loss of several fishing vessels.

Louis McIntowney, a workman, was run over by a train at Fort William and killed.

F. C. Wade is mentioned as the Hon. James H. Ross' successor as governor of the Yukon.

A wreck occurred on the C. P. R. Soo line east of Fort William last week in which one man was killed and several injured.

Lady Henry Somerset, president of the W. C. T. U., has arrived in New York.

Three hundred and twenty Barnardo boys have reached New York en route to Canada.

The section of the Pacific cable between Bamfield Creek, B. C., and Fanning Island, has been completed.

"Barbarian" Brown, who mediated between the Jameson raiders and Kruger, died on October 6 at Phoenix, Arizona.

A New York society belle committed suicide in Minneapolis rather than meet her parents from whom she ran away.

An elderly woman, Mrs. Charles Tomlin, of Asheville, Man., met with an accident by falling in the cellar on Sunday morning, which resulted in her death.

It is promised that coal from the new mines now being opened at Frank, Alberta, will be offering in Winnipeg by the 15th December.

The London Daily Mail states that the amount which the new British colonies in South Africa will be called upon to pay as their contribution toward the cost of the war has been fixed at £100,000,000. There will, however,, be no attempt to hurry payment, as it is not desired to lay an overwhelming burden upon the resources of the country before they are thoroughly recovered from the shock of war.

Principal Caven's Jubilee.

The Premier of Ontario, most of the university chiefs of Toronto, and many distinguished scholars from all over America, assembled at Knox college, Toronto, on Monday night to do honor to Principal Caven on the occasion of the celebration of the jubilee of his entrance upon the Christian ministry.

The venerable principal, who is the greatest figure now left in the Canadian Presbyterian church, was one of the leaders in the church union movement of 1875. He was ordained pastor at St. Mary's, Ont., in 1852, and remained there 14 years, coming to Knox in 1866. He was professor of exegotical theology seven years, and has for almost thirty years been principal. At the banquet Principal Caven told, in graphic words, the story of the condition of Presbyterianism in Canada, of the union, and of the gceat opportunities offered by it for work in the west.

The principal made an eloquent appeal for a union of the evangelical churches of Canada, which he held could do far more effective work in supplying ordinances to newly settled districts if they were not placed in antagonism by each church competing for a foothold with the others. The principal said the time was ripe for action along this line.

A Washington dispatch says: The secretary of the treasury has received a communication from the collector of customs at Portland, Me., in which he states that the Dominion Coal company, of Canada, is about to export to the United States 100,000 tons of anthracite "run of the mine" coal, and asks that increased facilities be given the company for handling the same. The department will extend every facility within the law and its discretion. The coal pays a duty of 67 cents a ton.

INDUSTRIAL WARS.

STRIKES ARE AGITATING THREE REPUBLICS.

Miners in Pennsylvania Still Standing Firm---French Miners Rioting at St. Etienne---Swiss Soldiers Called Out to Put Down Rioting.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 13.—This is the beginning of a week which it is generally believed will put to a test the claim of the operators that they will be able to start up their collieries if given protection, and the counter clain of the United Mine Workers organization that the strikers will not return to work without concessions even though the entire military force of the United States should be there to protect them.

The American Federation of Labor has issued an appeal to the public asking for funds to support the miners in their struggle, and suggesting ways and means of doing so.

Rioting in France.

A dispatch from St. Etienne to a Paris paper announces that a serious conflict has occurred between gendarmes and strikers at the coalfields at Terre'Noire. The strikers overturned a number of coal wagons, and their guardian wounded a striker with a revolver. Two gendarmes who arrived on the scene were attacked by strikers, who stoned them. One of the gendarmes was felled to the ground unconscious. The wounded gendarme's companion thereupon fired his revolver, and the bullet hit a striker, killed a second man behind him and wounded a third. The strikers then assailed the gendarmery depot and smashed the windows. Four other gendarmes were wounded before the strikers were repulsed. The advices from various coal fields show that the strike is extending.

Swiss Troops Called Out.

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 12.—The Bundesrath yesterday applied to parliament for permission to mobilize federal troops should their services become necessary at Geneva owing to the strike there. Later it was announced that parliament had authorized the mobilization of 2,000 federal troops, and the Bundesrath ordered a regiment of federal infantry, a battalion of sharpshooters, a regiment of cavalry, and two companies of engineers to be held in readiness for eventualities.

Trolley Strike Over.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 12.—The strike of the dissatisfied employees of the New Orleans Railway company was settled last night, the Carmen's union on a secret ballot unanimously accepting the governor's ultimatum. The basis of the settlement is that the men will go back to work at 20 cents, ten hours to be a day's work, with a minimum of seven and a half hours a day, no discrimination to be made against any of the men under charges, and as many to be taken back as are needed for the operation of the company's lines.

THE FUEL QUESTION.

Toronto Manufacturers Wish to be Free of the United States Coal Barons.

A dispatch from Toronto says: At a meeting the Manufacturers' association, Toronto branch, passed a resolution in the face of the coal scarcity, calling on Hon. Mr. Sifton, minister of the interior, to supply the association with any information in its possession touching the existence of undeveloped coal lands in Canada, east of Manitoba. This is with a view of interesting local capital in the development of any mines not yet opened or any that are opened and remaining undeveloped. Many of the members were inclined to think that there was much capital in Toronto that could be utilized for this purpose at a big profit. This will render the manufacturers of Toronto independent of the mine trust of the States. Members thought that the inevitable consequences of the development growing out of the strike would be the loss of the Canadian markets to the coal barons of the States. There were many present who thought no difficulty would be experienced in finding new sources of fuel supply in different sections of Canada adjacent to this province.

Another disptch from Toronto says: Nothing but coal is talked of in the city. Saturday the city clergymen held a meeting to discuss the local coal situation and appointed a committee to watch developments. Rev. R. Atkinson gave an instance in which coal merchants took money for coal when the prices were normal, failed to deliver, and now said they no coal, when, as a matter of fact, themerchants he referred to were delivering coal at increased prices. Dr. Milligan would like to see a vigilance committee at work to watch the dealers, and to make it clear there was fair dealing with the people, which was the only way to retain the trade.

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

Western Canadian grain and vegetables took first premium at the Michigan State fair.

The report that E. A. James is to be general superintendent of the C. N. R., is said to be true.

Three hundred thousand dollars' worth of machinery went into the Klondike from the United States during September.

Mrs. Jane Cleghorn, an elderly lady, was knocked down and killed by a street car in Toronto on Saturday.

The C. P. R. has established a daily train service between Calgary and Edmonton.

The Rev. Dr. D. B. Thomas has resigned the pastorate of Jarvis street Baptist church, Toronto.

The shipments of wheat and dairy products from Montreal for the present year, show a large increase.

The coroner's jury, which has for three months been investigating the death of George Whalley, in Evans & Son's warehouse, Toronto, brought in a verdict of murder.

Cattle are being shipped from Manitoba to Boston via St. Paul.

The Shamrocks of Montreal defeated the St. Paul lacrosse team by a score of 8 goals to 6.

A 1,000 barrel flour and oatmeal mil, will be erected at Fort Frances.

Lord Rosebery unveiled a statue of Gladstone in Edinburgh on Saturday last

A workman named Campbell was killed by the fall of a smokestack at Fort Frances last week.

The Great Northern has shortened the run between Duluth and Winnipeg by several hours.

The infallibility of the Bible has aroused much discussion in Anglican church circles in England.

A train robbbery on the Burlington road near Lincoln, Neb., caused a loss to the company of $50,000.

132 Years Old.

A woman who, according to her own report, was living at the time of the Boston tea party, and the meeting of the first continental congress, is dead at the Home for the Aged and Infirm Colored People, Chicago. If the reports of her age should be correct she was the oldest person in Illinois, and possibly in the United States.

The woman was Ellen Stewart, a slave before the civil war, three times married, and mother of four children, the last of whom died several years ago of old age. According to her story she was born in 1770, and consequently was 132 years old. The officials of the institution in which she died, after investigation as thorough as could be made, credited her statement. Until within the last few months the woman was in complete control of her senses, and told many stories of the men and women of distinguished careers in the early days of Virginia and Kentucky. She was born in Virginia.

Fast Atlantic Line.

A dispatch from Boston says: Sir Frederick Borden, Canadian minister of militia, who is a visitor in this city, in an interview made known the fact that the Canadian and British governments had decided to join and establish a fast Atlantic steamship service between the Halifax, N. S., and Liverpool ports, with an annual subsidy of $1,125,000 for ten years.

Sir Frederick also said that Canada was not seeking reciprocity with the United States, because she was rapidly developing a large foreign trade in other directions.

The statement of the minister in regard to the proposed Canadian trans-Atlantic steamship service showed that real progress had been made in London in the settlement of this question.

"It is practically decided," Sir Frederick said, "to establish without delay a service beginning with 20-knot vessels, to be granted a subsidy of $750,000 a year from the Canadian government and $375,000 additional from the British government. He could not say yet whether the Canadian Pacific railway or a syndicate of steamship companies, comprising the Allans, Elder-Dempster and other lines would get the contract. The steamers will make their terminus, in winter, at least, at Halifax. The terminus in the United Kingdom will probably be Liverpool. The initial twenty-knot service, will be the best for Canada under the present circumstances. This speed, he continued, is not by any means the end of what it is intended to make this service. A new fleet of ships will be built and there will be frequent sailings. The new service will be established at an early date

THE BABY GREBE.

A Beautiful Bird That Suffers to Help the Fashions.

When you see a woman with a band of white plumage almost invisibly tinted with blue and green and more strongly with golden brown ornamenting her hat, know that from one to six of these harmless, lovable, sweet voiced little grebes were stripped from chin to vent to supply it. And when you see that other woman wearing a cape the collar of which reaches above her ears and the skirt to her shoulders and it seems to be made up of almost indiscernible sections the size of your hand know that each section stands for the life of one of these charming little chatterers. The breast of the grebe is its curse. Its feathers are so tiny and fine as to be almost spineless, so thickly set they stand on end and so delicately colored as to render adequate description impossible. Crested grebes are killed without mercy for this little patch of rare feathering, and the little marsh ones do not escape. There is no bird slaughter for plumage more wanton unless it be that of the egret, which takes the life of the brooding bird for a few beautiful feathers found on the shoulders only at nesting time and leaves the young to die as they may.

Catching Book Titles.

Most readers would be at a loss to discover the source of some book titles and would forget if they ever knew that "The World Well Lost" is borrowed from Dryden, that "A Dream and a Forgetting" is Wordsworth's phrase and that it was Othello who loved "Not Wisely, but Too Well." We might add that in spite of the familiarity of the famous "Elegy" not one reader in ten will trace Mr. Hardy's "Far From the Madding Crowd" to Gray or will connect "One of Three" with the mariner who held the wedding guest with his glittering eye. Mr. Hardy's titles, like Howells', are almost invariably attractive. "A Pair of Blue Eyes," "Two on a Tower" and "The Return of the Native" stimulate curiosity.

Often a proverb or any other familiar phrase is as good as a recognized quotation. "Put Yourself In His Place" and "It Is Never Too Late to Mend" were strokes of genius on the part of Charles Reade, and "Second Thoughts," "Dead Men's Shoes" and "The Root of All Evil" are hardly less inviting.

Hot Air In Boston.

Little Emerson—Mamma, I find no marginal note in elucidation of this expression, which I observe frequently to occur in my volume of "Fairy Tale Classics"—"with bated breath." What is the proper interpretation of the phrase?

Mamma—"With bated breath," my son, commonly occurs in fairy tales. Your father often returns from piscatorial excursions with bated breath. The phrase in such instances, however, has no significance as applying to the bait employed to allure the fish, but is merely an elastic term of dubious meaning and suspicious origin, utilized, as I have already intimated, simply because of the sanction which it has gained by customary usage in fairy tales generally. Do you comprehend, Emerson?

Little Emerson—Perfectly, mamma. —Judge.

The Physician's Advice.

Once upon a time a very nervous man called on his physician and asked for medical advice.

"Take a tonic and dismiss from your mind all that tends to worry you," said the doctor.

Several months afterward the patient received a bill from the physician asking him to remit $18 and answered it thus:

"Dear Doctor—I have taken a tonic and your advice. Your bill tends to worry me, and so I dismiss it from my mind."

Moral.—Advice sometimes defeats its giver.

Fame.

There are many kinds of celebrity. When Haydon, the painter, visited Stratford, he held forth about Shakespeare to some rustics he met in a wayside inn. They told him that Stratford then contained another wonderful fellow, one John Cooper."

"Why, what has he done?"

"Why, zur, I'll tell 'ee. He's lived ninety years in this here town, man and boy, and never had the toothache!"

Where the Birds Thrive.

The birds are not forgotten by the Swedish peasantry. At the door of every farmer's house is erected a pole to the top of which is bound a large, full sheaf of grain. There is not a peasant in all Sweden who will sit down with his children to dinner until he has first raised a meal for the birds.

His Method.

First Broker—What do you do when you happen to be short on a certain stock?

Second Broker—Oh, I grin—and bear it.—Exchange.

How much sooner it gets too dark to saw wood than it does to play golf!—

METHODIST CHURCH.

FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:

Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

In mentioning building operations in Fernie last week we omitted to mention the large addition which Mr. H. J. Johnson is putting to his residence on River avenue.

Mr. D. V. Mott is erecting one of the largest houses in town, and when completed will be a handsome structure. It is also situated on River street.

Jas. McAvoy will also have a handsome dwelling. It is located in the park just east of that of Mr. Tonkin. A large force of men are at work on the building.

MICHEL

Work was commenced this week on the tunnel to connect Nos. 8 and 9 mines.

Mr. Thomas Corkhill has deen confined to his bed for some days from a wound on the knee-cap.

Miss Annie Dudley left for a visit to Macleod Friday evening. She will be the guest of Mrs. W. R. Russell.

Rev. R. F Stillman, of Fernie, will address the members of the Young People's Society of Michel next Tuesday evening

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Russell left for Macleod Friday evening. Mr. Russell has been C.P.R. agent here for a long time filling the position to the satisfaction of the citizens geuerally, and his many friends regret his departure. He is now in charge of Macleod station as agent.

Messrs. Sanderson, Marhar and Trojanowski went for a hunt on Sunday morning in the hills north of town. They did not return on Sunday evening, and their many friends becoming anxious, a search party went out on Monday, but found no trace of them. However, all anxiety was overcome when they returned late Monday night, after having the experience of being lost in the mountains. They came out on Elk river about nine miles from Michel.

Harvey Watson spent Thanksgiving day in Frank.

A. H. Cree was in Michel on business on Tuesday.

The change in the C. P. R. time table effects Fernie as follows:— Arrives from the east at 5:55. arrives from the west at 18:17.

Messrs. Foss & McDonnell have had their townsite registered, so that the name of Morrissey belongs to it and the upper town will no doubt be giyen a new name.

The Fernie Relief Committee have this week received a check from the British Columbia government for five thousand dollars. This is the balance of the amount promised by the government at the time of the disaster.

Life Insurance is a systematic saving protection. Why do not young men think and ponder more this fact? Every man written for insurance at the age of 35 sorely regrets that he did not do so 10 or 15 years sooner. Moral:—Insure in the Mutual Life of Canada; the best is none too good for you. The Blue Book shows that the Mutual Life of Canada in 1901 received $252,476.21 in interest from its investments and paid $186,045.60 death losses, leaving a surplus of $66,430.61. What other insurance company can show as good a record? F. J. Watson can give you full particulars. x

WANTED.

Wanted—By young widow, situation as housekeeper, thoroughly competent, excellent cook. Reply to

MRS. MABEL PHILLIPS.
Post Office, Fernie, B.C.

FOR RENT.

A five roomed house, near the hospital. Apply to

197-1m JOHN SUNBERG.

AMETEUR BOXING CHAMPIONSHIPS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Victoria Athletic Club proposes to hold a Tournament of Boxing to decide the championships at the varies weights in the month of November, at the V.A.C. Gymasium. The dates as fixed are Wednesday and Thursday, 19th and 20th. The first night would be occupied with preliminary heats, the finals taking place on the succeeding night.

There are six championships to be competed for viz.:— bantam, feather, light, welter, middle and heavy. The winners of each will be presented with a Gold Medal. and in addition will hold for one year a handsome challenge cup. Forms of entry can be had upon application to the Hon. Secretary of the Victoria Athletic Club, Mr. J. Walter Lorimer, care of Turner, Beeton and Co. Wharf Street, Victoria. In order that none but ameteurs shall compete, the club is taking every precaution, and therefore requires that in case of any one desirous of competing not being a member of an athletic association, he must furnish two references from reliable parties as to his standing as an ameteur. The committee in charge of arrangements reserves the right to refuse any entry unless they are fully satisfied that the requirements are fulfilled.

There are doubtless many individuals throughout British Columbia who are fond of boxing and believe that they can hold their own in their class, who yet are not in the way of belonging to an Athletic Club. These are the men the V.A.C. particularly wishes to invite to come from wheresoever they may be and meet other followers of the manly art. Special rates for hotel accomodation and also for transportation are being arranged for competitors.

The rules to govern the contest will be those of the Canadian Ameteur Association. These will be furnished in full to all who apply for entry forms. The weights are as follows: Bantam, 105 lbs. and under; feather, 115 lbs. and under; light, 130 lbs. and under; welter, 145 lbs. and under; middle, 158 lbs. and under; heavy, 158 lbs. and over. In order to prevent any possible misunderstanding the following is the definition of an amateur which will be strictly adhered to:

An amateur is a person who has not competed in any competition for a stated bet, monies private or public, or gate receipts or competed with or against a professional for a prize, who has never taught or assisted in the pursuit of any athletic exercise or sport as a means of livelihood; who has never directly or indirectly received any bonus or payment in lieu of loss of time while playing as a member of any club, or any money consideration whatever for any services as an athlete except his actual travelling and hotel expenses, or who has never entered into any competition under a name other than his own, or who has never been guilty of selling or pledging his prizes.

WILL BEGIN WORK ON THE BREWERY.

Frank Sentinel.

A. Mutz, of Fernie, was in town on business during the week and while here he closed a deal with the Company for a site upon which to erect an extensive brewing plant, tne erection of which he will commence this fall. A large icehouse is also to be built, which he will have well stored with ice this winter. The sight selected for the brewery is on the south edge of the ball-grounds and a force of men will be at once engaged in clearing it off preparatory to building. The main building will be 40 x 50 feet, two stories high and built mostly of brick and stone. It is to be a most substantial building and built so that it can be enlarged at any time.

Mitchell the tailor pays the only Union wages in Fernie. x

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

Fort Steele Licence District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned has made an application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for an hotel licence at the place set opposite to his name

John Balko, the "Muskoka" Hotel on Victoria avenue, at Fernie.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House at Fernie, on Friday, the 31st day of October, at the hour of 7:30 in the afternoon,

LESTOCK FORBES,
Fernie, Oct. 17,'02 Chief Licence Inspector.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend 30 days after the first publication as this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked initial post Mrs. C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 30 chains east of north west corner post of lot 4588, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.

Dated this 12th day of Sept., 1902.
195-4 MRS. C. M. HENRETTA.

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's north-west corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petrie's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.

Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.
F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the East side of Elk river beginning at the north west corner post of C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of T. W. Bingay, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 23rd day of Sept, 1902.
T. W. BINGAY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be deard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River. beginning at the south east corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of A. D. MacTier, thence 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north, thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of Sept, 1902.
A. D. MacTIER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 20 chains west of north west corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 20th day of Sept., 1902.
C. M. Henretta.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. F. Miller south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. F. MILLER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, S. G. Blaylock south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of J. F. Miller's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
S. G. BLAYLOCK.

Notice is hereby given that I the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east bank of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. L. C. Abbott south west corner post, which is north west corner of S. G. Blaylock's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. L. C. ABBOTT.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. R. Nelson south west corner post, situate 10 chains east of north west corner of W. H. Aldridge coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. R. NELSON.

BIRDS FOR SALE

Beautiful canary birds for sale. Also house plants and flowers.

MRS. RENNY.
196 Opposite Central Hotel.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry,
We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Labarth south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of Thos, Britt's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. LABARTH.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District. B.C. commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.

Dated the 8th day of September 1902
GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district and commencing at a post marked Thomas Morrison's south-west corner adjoining Chas. Walde's south-east corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

THOMAS MORRISON.
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district, and commencing at a post marked Chas. Walde's south east corner thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

CHARLES WALDE.
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date that we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a twenty-one year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 3320 acres more or less situated on the west side of Elk river about two miles from the mouth of Michel creek, beginning at a post planted on the north side of what is known as Wilson creek about 1½ miles from its mouth. west 640 chains, thence north 60 chains; thence west 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence west 60 chains, thence south 260 chains, thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence east 640 chains, thence north 20 chains to place of commencement.

J. COWARD & SON.

Dated this 8th day of October, 1902.

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES,
LIQUORS,
BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

PREST,

The PHOTOGRAPHER

Gallery opposite the Methodist church. Amateur work solicited. Outside work taken. Satisfaction guaranteed.

From Time to Time

something has been said here about our clocks. This is one of the times when a few more words will be appropriate. Time is cheap, so to speak. We are offering a lot of excellent at very reasonable prices. Every kind of clock is here from the hustling little alarm to the dignified and handsome marbleized Iron Mantle Clock with its musical Cathedral Gong. All these clocks are made in the foremost factories and are accurate time keepers.

CLOCKS

A. C. LIPHARDT.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums,
Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes,
Cucumbers, Melons,
Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

MRS. E. SLOAN,

QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Reed Wilson south west corner post situate about 3 miles north of lot 4588 and on the east side of Elk river about ½ mile east of the river thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. REED WILSON.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. H. Aldridge south west corner post which is the north wert corner of J. Reed Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902.
W. H. ALDRIDGE.

Legislative Asse: Dec 31 1902

167.

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. ~~16~~ 17 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 199

Do You Want a Fall Suit or Overcoat??

If so inspect F. J. Mitchell's large and well assorted stock of Scotch Tweeds, Fancy Worsteds, Serges, etc.

We pay the highest and only Union wages in Fernie, and attach the Union label on every garment.

Only first class work turned out, made by Union workmen.

The Union Tailor Shop
Bentley Block.

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER
Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.
Office:—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER
Herchmer & Herchmer
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary.

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN
ON VALUABLES
The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.
Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison
Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

(Opposite the Royal Hotel.

MORRISSEY TROUBLE.

ANOTHER SERIOUS TIE-UP THREATENED.

Miners Demand Higher Wages Than Company are Willing to Pay.

Labor troubles have again made their appearance in the valley of the Crow's Nest Pass. The trouble is at Morrissey where two hundred men are idle through a lockout which took place on Tuesday of this week. The difficulty arises over the wage scale which the Company have recently introduced at that point. The miners, until just recently have all been working by the day, but on the 20th of October at their own request were put on the tonnage system, but the wage scale inaugurated by the Company has not met with their approval. In No. 1 mine the scale was fixed at 40 cents a ton and in the other two mines 55 cts. and 65 cts. respectively the men to lay their own tracks on all branch lines and also move the McGiunty. The McGiunty is a hoist for drawing cars up an incline. The rate allowed for timbering was $1 a set and where it was lagganed $2 a set.

The miners complain that the wage scale throughout is too low and ask that the tonnage rate be 60, 75 and 85 cents, the company to lay the track and move the McGuinty. They also demand $5 for each set of timbers and $14 for breaking off rooms 8 ft. wide and 20 feet deep, but the management only offers 50 cents a yard.

A committee of the Morrissey union visited Fernie on Wednesday and had a long conference with the executive of the local union and it was decided to send for C. H. Baker, one of the British Columbia members of the executive of the Western Federation of Miners. The action of the executive is commended by nearly all the Fernie miners as they have a great confidence in Mr. Baker.

It is not thought that the trouble will extend to Fernie and Michel although their is that possibility They have no authority themselves to declare a sympathetic strike even if they were desirious of doing so without the consent of the Western Federation of Miners. But here the feeling seems to be largely against a general strike. The men have only been at work a short time and are in no position to stand a struggle. A large number also think that General Manager Tonkin will do what he believes to be right with the men.

One version of the trouble is that it is due principally to the men from Pennsylvania, who, now that the anthracite strike is practically declared off, are preparing to return to their work there, and are endeavoring to make all the trouble they possibly can before leaving.

Mr. Tonkin says the wage scale submitted by the men is exhorbitant. No company could afford to pay it. A large number of the Fernie miners are also of the opinion that their demands are much too high. For instance the request for $5 for a set of timbers fs admitted to be ridiculous.

As we go to press a committee of the Morrissey employees are closeted with Mr. Tonkin to ascertain if some peaceful settlement of the trouble cannot be arranged.

FERNIE SOCIALIST CLUB.

To the Editor.

On Thursday night a meeting of socialists and friends was held in the Empire House for the purpose of organizing a Socialist League. A goodly number were present and all were agreed as to the advisability of organizing such a league. Comrade O'Brien was elected organizer and Comrade Neale, Sec.-Treas. The meeting for the present will be held every Monday evening at 7:30 in the Empire House.

As there is no secrecy in socialism the meetings are open to all who care to avail themselves of this opportunity of educating the masses as to their dignity, position and importance in the world.

There are only two classes of people in the world. One is composed of the men and women who produce nothing but live in luxury upon the wealth produced by others.

We can see only too plainly the great inequality that prevails. True it is, that, too a large extent the laboring classes are victims to their own short comings. They have not heretofore asserted their rights, they have allowed themselves to become white slaves, but, now, realizing to what an extreme the money holders are eusurping every privilege and taking away man's blessed freedom, they are convinced it is high time to rise, not as a unit, but as a body, and assert their rights and enjoy the freedom of a free man. This is one of the aims of socialism.

Another aim is to endeavor to educate both classes to the great truth of the brotherhood of man. "Sirs ye are brethren." Another aim is to instil in all men that whilst every man is a free man he is to a great extent dependent upon others, and by being so placed he realizes that as a member of a large family he must do only those things that will promote and further the interest of that family, and abstain from doing anything that will cause another to suffer. We must live and work for a common good.

Every individual who labors is entitled to the product of his labor, and it is the duty of every man who loves his freedom to pause awhile and endeavor to realize the condition he is in, and the condition he ought to be in, and then to join hands and brains with the thousands of intelligent men and women throughout the world who are battling for the abolition of the wage system, and the emancipation of the wage worker from the grasp of the co-operative opposition for the co-operative brotherhood of man. The laboring classes are largely in the majority and they have the power to say whether this present system shall continue to exist or shall it be abolished. Therefore let the working men of this province unite.

You need no longer be afraid of the capitalist. You have nothing to lose but the chains of slavery, and you have the world which is your birthrigh to gain.—Com.

TRIED TO SHOOT CONDUCTOR

Conductor Law, mentioned in the following paragraph is a brother of Mrs. S. Arnold, of Cranbrook, formrely of Fernie.

Rat Portage, Oct. 22.—Conductor E. Law had a rather exciting time with an Italian on Monday night. It appears the man was working on the section at Margach, about eight miles east of Rat Portage, and got on Law's train to ride from Rat Portage to Margach, and not having any ticket, upon the arrival of the train at Garwood the conductor put him off, whereupon he drew a revolver and threatened to shoot. Mr. Law grappled with him, and succeeded in taking the weapon away, when the Italian produced a knife and said he would "do" for the conductor. Having occasion to go to the head of the train Mr. Law locked the caboose, and upon nearing Margach found the Italian riding on the rear end. He was immediately put off the train, when he entered a boarding car at Margach and got a shotgun to shoot the conductor, and to show the craftiness of the man, he was observed by the operator to pick up a stone and go to the caboose and knock, and then to step back into the shadows in order to get a better aim at his intended victim. The conductor being at the front end of the train there was nobody to respond to the knocking, and when the train pulled out the Italian was so enraged that he fired right into the caboose, breaking the windows and otherwise damaging the car. Constable Emmons left on Tuesday night to arrest the man.

Four drunks were up in the police court yesterday. Three of them were fined $10 and costs and the other $5

The London & Liverpool Company have a very unique window display this week, as has also Sheppard & Elliott, the new hardware dealers.

John McAuley, who had his back broken in an accident in No. 1 mine some months ago, and who has been confined to the hospital ever since, has so far recovered as to be able to be removed to his home. Jack's many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Kingston, Oct. 21.—Fourteen boys of the Central school went on strike today because the principal had deprived them of ten minutes of their recess for misbehavior. The principal ordered the boys off the school ground and they left with cheers. The matter will go to the school board for adjustment.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Prescott, Ont., Oct. 24.- Jas. Glasgow, mayor of this city, died this morning.

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Sir Wilfred Laurier left at noon to-day for Quebec. Before leaving he said it would be another two weeks before the name of Tarte's successor was announced.

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 24.—The protest filed against Dr. Jesiph, M. L. A. for Lincoln, was dismissed here to-day. The appelants presented no evidence.

Winnipeg, Oct. 24.—A serious accident happened yesterday on the Canadian Northern railway near Step Rock, Port Arthur. A work train ran into a hand car. Six cars were derailed, one man killed and two brakemen injured.

London, Oct 25.—The Daily Mail says this morning it understands that the government will this week ask parliament to vote a grant of $10,000,000 for the benefit of those residents of the Transvaal who remained loyal to Great Britain during the war in South Africa, in addition to the $15.000,000 granted under the peace treaty.

Scranton, Oct. 24 —All of the mining companies in this region report to-day that large additions were made to their working forces and that by Monday a start will probably be made in all the collieries except those at which extensive repairs undertaken during the strike will not be completed. Superintendent Rose, of the Delaware & Hudson Co., which operates 30 places said he did not know of a single imported workman in the company's employ Other officials say very few remain. The fact that the imported men have quit the coal regions made possible the order of Gov. Stone, directing that the soldiers be recalled as fast as condition would allow.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 24.—An east bound passanger train on the Northern Pacific was held up last night near Drummone, Montana, 45 miles from this city and engineer O'Neal was killed. The train, which included baggage mail and express cars and nine coaches, arrived at Missoula at 10.20 p.m. and proceeded eastward after a short delay at this station. It arrived after midnight at a place two miles west of Drummond. There the train was signalled to stop, and the engineer slowed up. While doing so he saw a man crossing toward him over the tender. The man who was armed called to O'Neil to stop the train instantly. The engineer took in the situation at once and pulling open the throttle tried to start the train at full speed. The robber divining his purpose fired at him, the shot took effect and the engineer fell dead at his post. The robber then proceeded to rifle the express and mail cars. He plundered the mail and blew open the safe in the express car, which was wrecked.

New Club

A new club is being organized by a number of the young men of Fernie. The membership, as yet only consists of ten. The residence of Mr. H. W. Barnes, near the recreation grounds, has been secured for club-room and will be fitted up in a most modern style. The organization is supposed to be very exclusive.

Lacrosse Club Ball

The Lacrosse boys are to be congratulated on the success of the ball given under their management in Princess hall last night. Judging from the number present, there must have been enough tickets sold to guarantee it a financial success and as a social event it certainly was the most enjoyable affair of its kind that the people of Fernie have participated in for some time. The programme commenced shortly after nine o'clock and was carried through, with but a short recess at midnight to allow all to partake of the dainty lunch provided, until after three a. m., almost the entire crowd remaining until the last selection, the thirty fifth for the evening, had been rendered. The music supplied by the Fernie orchestra was of a grade seldom equalled in Kootenay, certainly the people of Fernie have never "tripped the light fantastic" to anything that at all approached it either for quality or scope. The boys have an exceptionally well selected repertoire and their rendition is almost perfect. Fernie is indeed fortunate in having such an organization in its midst and should show its appreciation by a sound financial support, which can best be done by giving the orchestra as many engagements of this kind as the various occasions may call for.

Boston Comedy Co.

The Boston Comedy Co. gave a performance in Princess Hall on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. The company consists of two members Miss Jean Dunell and Cyrus B. Newton The latter is a very clever artist, but of Miss Dunell so much cannot be said. She is very ordinary, to say the least. The Company played to a large house.

Cranbrook Robbery

A daring robbery took place at the Canadian Hotel, Cranbrook, on Monday last, when Joseph Brault, the proprictor, lost over $600 in cash and checks. The theft occurred while the family were at dinner, the theif going in turough a window and carrying off a large box in which the valuables were kept. On Wednesday the empty box was fonnd near the town and W. I. McMaster, a C.P.R. employee who recently lost his job, has been arrested under suspicion, but he disclaims any knowledge of the affair.

Increasing Interest

As the time draws near interest in the Mitchell-Nevin race in Cranbrook on Monday next is increasing. The boxing contest has quite dropped into insignificance beside it. It is advertised to be the leading attraction of the day. The race is timed to come off in the morning. Mitchell has been working hard all month but is now relaxing. He will go to Cranbrook to-morrow. Fernie people have every confidence in their man and are prepared to back him with all kinds of money. It is expected that a large crowd will go down on Monday.

It was no Bluff

From appearances on Saturday evening last some of our local gamblers thought that Chief Forbes was only running a bluff on them when they were notified that gambling must be discontinued. Several games were carried on without the slightest attempt at concealment. The action of the Chief upon learning of this shows that although he does not intent to be hasty in the matter, he certainly means business He went to each one personally and warned them that it must stop or he would enforce the law. Since then, we understand, all games have been closed down.

Robbery at Morrissey

Graham Love, a guest of the Pioneer Hotel, Morrissey, was aroused from his slumbers early Tuesday morning by the presence of a stranger in his bedroom. He sprang upon the man who was just making his exit through the door. The struggle of the two men aroused the manager of the hotel and with his assistance they succeeded in binding the burglar. When Constable Tranter arrived on the scene the man was searched and $36 belonging to Mr. Love besides several watches were found on his person. The prisoner, whose name is Jas. Lawton, was brought to Fernie for trial. The case came up on Wednesday but was remanded until the 29th. One of the watches and $2.50 found on the prisoner has been identified as the property of John Johnstone. The case will come up before Stipendiary Magistrate Armstrong.

Perry Creek

The last week was one of unusual activity at Perry Creek. The moving of the steam shovel which is being installed by the East Kootenay Placer Co. from the spur on the North Star branch is a piece of engineering that is attracting a great deal of attention. The machine is one of the largest built and intended to be operated upon railroad tracks only, and to move it eighteen miles over a mountain waggon road is a task that required considerable skill. Progress is made at the rate of one half mile per day and it is expected to be at its destination in about three weeks. The task of getting the steam shovel up the mountain from Old Town to Sawmill Creek is attracting many visitors, who wish to witness the operation, which is somewhat interesting. Ties and rails are laid on the ground, and the machine propells itself. For some distance there is a twelve per cent grade and people expect to see some fun when it tackles it. The new road is completed to Sawmill Creek, about five miles above Old Town which puts it over all the difficult ground.

Insist on a comparison with the Great West figures before signing your insurance appliction. For instance, at the age of 30 the annual premium in the 20 payment life on $1,000 amounts to only $30.03 and the guaranteed cash surrender value of the policy is $341. R. G. Watson is the agent.

MAD MULLAH ACTIVE

COMPELS A SMALL BRITISH FORCE TO RETREAT.

Two Officers and Fifty Men Killed, and Over One Hundred Wounded in an Engagement in Somililand --- Three Thousand British Troops in Danger.

A London cable of October 18 says: The foreign office has issued an undated dispatch from Col. Cobbe, commanding one of the British forces operating against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland. The dispatch was forwarded through the British vice-consul, at Berbera, Somaliland. The British forces engaged were composed entirely of native troops and levies. Col. Cobbe says:

"My force reached Erego this morning. When about one day's march north of Mudug it was attacked in the thick bush. Two advances were made and the enemy was beaten back in the morning. Their losses were heavy and we captured 100 rifles. Our force then proceeded to collect animals for transportation purposes and to join the detachment at the stockade. In the afternoon a reconnaisance was made, and after sharp fighting the enemy were again beaten off.

"I deeply regret to report the following casualties: Col. Phillips and Capt. Angus and 50 men killed, and about 100 men wounded. The latter included Capt. Howard and Lieut. Everett, but both are doing well. There were severe losses among the transportation and riding camels. The force will reach the stockade camp tomorrow and will advance to attack the enemy."

The vice-consul also telegraphs the substance of a later dispatch from Col. Swayne, who says that as a result of the fighting at Erego on October 6, which was very severe, the Somali levies are considerably shaken. The Mullah, who is said to be in communication with Kail and Inger, in the direction of the Webb river, is bringing up reinforcements from all sides. Col. Swayne is much hampered owing to the necessity of transporting the wounded and water. He is retiring on Bohotle. He asks that 600 other reliable troops be despatched from Berbera forthwith.

The serious reverse in Somaliland places the small British force there of about 3,000 men of doubtful reliability in an exceedingly perilous situation. Since the beginning of Col. Swayne's second camapign against the Mullah last May little has been heard of the expedition. The present dispatches seem to show that he was retreating from the Italian frontier nosthward, when the Mullah attacked him at Erego. Last December the Mullah was reported to have about 12,000 men, mostly armed, a large percentage of which were armed with rifles. It is possible that he now commands about 15,000 men.

With this large force harrassing him. Col. Swayne has to retreat to Bohotle, 150 miles, and probably still 100 miles further to Burao, the principal British frontier post. This march must be made under a scorching sun, and over an arid and roadless desert, even if the retreat is successful. The greatest anxiety will be felt until further news is received. The entire expedition will have to be repeated on a much larger scale. Col. Swayne is accompanied by over 20 white officers, and has with him some Maxim guns, and some seven pounders.

The Mullah's success will set the whole Ogaden and Dolbahanta country aflame. Trade relations at Berbera and Bulhar have shown an enormous decrease since the operations of the Mullah cut off access to the rich markets of Ogaden and Dolbahanta. It was announced by Lord Lansdowne, foreign secretary, in parliament, last summer, that the Italians were co-operating with Col. Swayne, but as the despatches made public today do not mention Italian help, it is supposed that some local difficulty was found in arranging for the co-operation.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is probably the only man who won his position in the British cabinet through a capacity for keeping silence. It is related that in 1868 Lord Beaconsfield happened to sit near Sir Michael at a big dinner, and was much struck by the fact that, though the conversation waxed eloquent on all sides, Sir Michael scarcely opened his mouth. Afterward Lord Beaconsfield asked his hostess who was the silent visitor was, and on learning his name, sent for him the following day and offered him the undersecretaryship of the home department. On being asked why he had made such a choice, LordBeaconsfield replied that he had been attracted to the young politician by the fact of his ability to keep a wise tongue in his head.

Tammerfors, a town of 50,000 inhabitants known as the "Manchester of Finland," was founded about a century ago by a Scotchman named Finlayson. Its mills are driven by water power, and the town, under an imperial decree, has the right to import all its machinery and raw materials duty free until January, 1 1896.

JAMES YOUNGER SUICIDES.

One of the Notorious Band of Robbers Shoots Himself.

James Younger, iormerly a member of the notorious band of outlaws which infested the western country a quarter of a century ago, committed suicide on October at St. Paul,Minn., by shooting. He left a letter to the press, in which he gives as a reason for his act despondency over continued ill-health and separation from his friends.

The door of his room was broken in, and his dead body found stretched on the floor beside the bed, a revolver in the right hand. Younger, since his parole from the state prison has led an exemplary life. His first employment was as travelling agent for a tombstone dealer, and on one of the trips he made about the state he was seriously hurt by a fall from a wagon. Old wounds also gave him much trouble,and although he obtained lighter employment, his health was precarious and this caused him much worry. He was 54 years old. On a bureau in his room was found a long manila envelope, on one side of which was written: "To all that is good and true,I love, and bid farewell. Jim Younger." On the other side were these words: "Oh. Lassie, good-bye, all relations just stay away from me. No crocodile tears wanted. Reporter, be my friend. Burn me up. Jim Younger." The envelope contained a package of letters that had passed between Younger and a lady with whom he is said to have been much in love. The lady, who is prominently connected is said to have reciprocated his affections.

James Younger was the youngest of three brothers, Robert, Coleman, and James, who gained great notoriety through their association with Jesse and Frank James. The band headed by Jesse James, was charged with alomost innumerable robberies of banks and railroad trains, in the execution of which many desperate encounters took place and many were killed. They entered the State of Minnesota in 1876, and committed many depredations, being finally run down and captured. The three brothers were brought to trial, and on November 21, 1876, pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree, this plea, it is said, having been entered to avoid the infliction of the death penalty. The brothers were sentenced to serve life sentences. Robert Younger died in prison. All efforts at securing an unconditional pardon having failed, a bill was introduced in the state legislature in 1891, empowering the state board of pardons to grant paroles to life prisoners, who had served 25 years or more, and on July 10, 1901, upon recommendation of the board of prison commissioners a parole was granted to Coleman and James Younger, and on July 13 they were released from Stillwater. Under the terms of the parole, the brothers were not to leave the state, and since their release they have been engaged in business of various sorts. James Younger has suffered much from old wounds and several months ago had an operation performed for the removal of a rifle ball from his back.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

United States immigration for the year reached 648,743.

Lipton's new challenger will be 15 minutes faster than her predecessor.

Between September 1 and October 15, twice as much grain was shipped from Fort William, as during the same period last year.

General Roberts will visit the United States next year.

A British blue book just issued says that Canada does not produce the proper kind of horses for the British army.

An unusually heavy frost for the middle of October did much damage in the eastern section of the State of Portland, especially to the apple crop, the greater part of which is yet on the trees.

Somerville Beamish, of Toronto, a car repairer, was crushed to death while working in the C. N. R. yards at Winnipeg on Sunday.

After seven days of fighting the Venezuelan rebels were defeated by Castro's forces.

Since October 12 there have been 705 cases of cholera and 636 deaths in all Egypt.

The head and antlers of a magnificent specimen of the extinct great Irish deer have been found in a bog near Limerick. The horns measured 9 feet 6 inches from tip to tip, and the head is the finest ever discovered.

A man whom the official records of Hungary declare to have been hanged and buried fifty years ago is living in Philadelphia today at an advanced age, says the Phildelphia Press. The story of the hanging is only one of a score of remarkable episodes in the life of Colonel Philip Figyelmessy, the bosom friend and counsellor of Louis Kossuth, and the man in whose arms the great Hungarian patriot died.

GOSSIP FROM LONDON

PREPARATIONS FOR KING'S VISIT TO LONDON.

Great Preparations are Underway For the Event---British Iron and Steel Trades Are Flourishing---Balfour Determined to Pass the Education Bill.

London — Arrangements for the King's visit to the city and his progress through the south end of London on Oct. 25 are well in hand. The district to be traversed by the royal procession swarms with carpenters, who are putting up stands at every point of vantage, and decorators are also busy, though naturally there is as yet no very extensive outward display. Householders and property owners, who were so bitterly disappointed when the King's visit was postponed last June, are preparing to reap a rich, if belated, harvest by letting seats.

* * *

The iron and steel trades here have benefitted largely by the increased export trade with the United States, and coal exports are now running up by leaps and bounds at increased prices. The ocean freight business has shared in the advantages of enlarged commerce. Cotton, woollen, tinplate and other industries are looking up, and revenue returns are encouraging from every point of view Sensational half-penny papers no longer seek to frighten their readers with accounts of consignments of American steel to Glasgow, or shipments of American coal to the Mediterranean. The dread of an American invasion of the British and continental market has passed away. John Bull is entirely satisfied with the commercial outlook at home and abroad.

* * *

When parliament reassembles on Thursday Mr. Balfour will propose a resolution giving for the remainder of the session precedence to government business at every sitting. After this motion has been adopted the debate on the Education bill will be resumed on clause eight, which deals with the maintenance of schools and appointment of teachers. Liberal members make no secret of their determination to fight the bill line by line, and the sittings may last until Christmas or well beyond it.

* * *

There is a revival of national interest in politics, one of the oldest industries in the country, and, as religion is mixed up with it, there is a bitterness as well as an earnestness in public discussion. There were two open air demonstrations on Saturday against the Education Bill in London—one in Vauxhall and the other in Walthamstow — and throughout England and Wales there is controversial heat. The cabinet met at noon in high spirits, with the prime minister smiling amiably, and Chamberlain's face wearing an expression of satisfaction over the general effect produced by his frank and ingenious speech at Birmingham. Tories and Liberal-Unionists agree that this speech has cleared the air, and the Liberals and non-conformists are equally emphatic in declaring that it has clouded the entire political sky. These are a tribute to the debating power of the best politician in the United Kingdom.

Dashed to Death.

A cable from Paris, dated Oct. 13, says: Debradsky, the aeronaut, and a companion were killed by falling from a balloon this morning.

Debradsky's balloon started from the aerostatic station at Vaugirard, a suburb of this city, being on a trial trip. After preliminary manoeuvring with a rope attachment Debradsky released the balloon and proceeded southward at a height of 300 to 400 feet. The two propellers of the machine appeared to work well. The rudder, however, was not quite successful.

About 9.20 the balloon had returned to above the point of departure, and then it gradually mounted higher and higher until it gradually disappeared in the clouds.

The prefect of police later received a dispatch announcing the fallen balloon near St. Denis, (5½ miles from the centre of Paris) and adding that its two occupants were killed.

When the ballon was above Stains, near St. Denis, the ropes attaching the car to the balloon broke from some unknown cause, and the car with its occupants, Debradsky and Morin, was dashed to the ground and the aeronauts met an instantaneous death. The balloon disappeared in the clouds.

The Designer for November sets forth a tempting array of fashions and millinery for early winter and late autumn wear. Coats of all kinds for ladies, misses and juveniles are prominent in the display. "Stylish Shirt Waists for Winter Wear" and ladies' outing costumes are also given marked attention. The number is also replete with home hints and bright literary efforts.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

It is reported that the strength of the British forces at Esquimalt will be increased by 800 men.

Mayor Howland, of Toronto, has accepted an offer of 5,000 tons of Welsh coal.

The Dominion government has appointed W. F. King to survey the international boundary from the Rockies to the Pacific.

The coal mines of Lethbridge are idle, awaiting cars.

Homestead enteies during the year show a large increase over 1901.

Clergue's Hudson Bay line will be graded 175 miles this year.

Sir John Bourinot, clerk of the House of Commons, died at Ottawa on October 13.

The coal operators have agreed to arbitrate the grievances of the miners.

C. P. R. lands in Alberta and Saskatchewan have again advanced in price.

Two Winnipeg firemen were injured by being thrown from the apparatus while driving.

A domestic science course will shortly be established in connection with Manitoba university.

Chris. Lindquist, of Hamony, Minn. was accidentally shot at Emo., Ont., on October 13 by a shotgun. A bottle in his hip pocket saved his life.

The wife of Mr. Francis Graham, a farmer, three miles north from Minden village, was killed on October 13 by the falling of a straw stack. She and her daughter Bertha, and a nephew, were milking, when a stack of straw fell on them, killing her and two cows. The daughter was badly injured, but the boy escaped.

A citizen of Toronto, who wishes his name withheld, has given $25,000 for the erection in or near Toronto of a hospital for advanced cases of consumption. The National Sanitarium association must find a suitable site.

Thomas Dufries suffered a painful accident while feeding on George Bevington's thresher at work on the farm of E. Palmer, east of Strathcona, Alberta. A tooth in the cylinder was clicking, and Mr. Dufries signalled the engineer to stop. As the machine was coming to a standstill and his foot slipped in some manner and he was thrown forward, his right hand going into the cylinder. His glove was torn off and his hand terribly lacerated before he could get it out.

FOUGHT TO THE DEATH-

A Quarrel Between Two Young Men Results in the Death of One.

The district of Lowe Farm, Man., was moved to excitement on the afternoon of October 13 by a murder, as a result of which Jacob Weims, Jr., is dead, and Peter Rymer, a hired man, employed on the Weims farm, is held by the local authorities as the perpetrator of the crime. The deed was the result of a dispute between the two, in which blows were exchanged.

It appears that a heated discussion arose between deceased and Rymer over the horses. There was a long and hot argument in which personalities were freely exchanged. The altercation eventually led to blows which developed into a savage fight in which Weims was badly worsted. He was pounded by his antagonist until unconscious, in which condition he was found by members of the family.

A doctor was sent for, but when he arrived young Weims was beyond medical assistance. He was about 18 years of age, and was a son of Jacob Weims. He was a favorite child and his parents are heart-broken over the tragedy.

The murderer was taken in charge by the local provincial constable and is being held awaiting developments. His crime is generally considered to be the result of a sudden outburst of hot and ungovernable temper.

A Complicated Case.

A complicated family affair came up before Judge Street at Osgoode Hall on October 13, in the case of McCutcheon vs. McCutcheon.

James S. McCutcheon obtained a divorce in London, England, June 23 last, on the ground of his wife's adultery with Hon. J. E. P. Vereker. An order was made that the husband should have the custody of the child, a girl about 14.

On July 1st, Mrs. McCutcheon married Vereker at Winnipeg, and they now reside at Rat Portage,still keeping the child. Mrs. Vereker has started proceedings in England to have her former husband declared not a fit person to have charge of the child.

Judge Street granted an application for a writ of habeas corpus and ordered Mr. Vereker to produce the child.

DIED A HERO'S DEATH

BOY GIVES HIS LIFE TO SAVE HIS BROTHER.

Sad Accident at a Laundry in Montreal, In Which a Brave Boy is Crushed and Horribly Mangled Under a Heavy Freight Elevator.

A dispatch from Montreal of Oct. 14, says: Joseph Griffin gave his life to save his little brother last night. With a number of other boys the two Griffins were at play in the yard of the New York steam laundry. Work had ceased for the day in the laundry, but the big goods elevator, which comes down an open shaft to the yard was still in operation.

In the course of the their games the boys were running about in the vicinity of the bottom of the elevator shaft. Suddenly the elevator began to descend. Young Griffin's little brother was standing almost directly underneath unconscious of his danger. Nearer and nearer came the elevator, but the little chap, his whole attention engrossed by the game, never stirred. His back was turned to his brother, who all at once saw his danger. At the top of his speed he rushed across the yard screaming to the little chap as he ran.

Justin time to shove him from beneath the elevator, he reached his side, but the impetus with which he had crossed the yard was too great to be overcome. Suddenly he pushed his little brother to safety, but fell himself underneath the descending elevator, where he was caught and horribly crushed. So tightly was the little fellow's body wedged underneath the elevator and the platform that the elevator had to be lifted aside with crowbars before it could be got out.

Terribly crushed and mutilated, but still alive, he was taken to the hospital, where he died three hours later, with the little brother whose life he had saved crying at the bedside.

Moderate (?) Drinking.

Very broad views on the question of what constitutes moderate drinking appear to prevail in Camberwell, London.

"Was he a heavy drinker?" asked Coroner Wyatt, at the inquest on a man named Gatty.

"No, moderate," replied a witness who had worked with Gatty. "He might have eight half-pints of beer a day."

A little later, when this witness was recalled, he admitted that perhaps Gatty might have as many as twenty half-pints a day, "as well as a drop of gin."

A doctor stated he had come to the conclusion that death was due to apoplexy accelerated by excessive drinking.

The jury were up in arms at once in defence of a Briton's right to a moderate indulgence.

"I do not believe that death was accelerated by drink," declared one.

"I consider it a slur on the family," said another.

The Coroner—The doctor says that excessive drinking is the primary cause of death.

A Juror—We don't believe it.

The Coroner—You are not medical men.

The Juror—Never mind; it's our verdict, and we are going to stick to it.

He knew a man, remarked a juryman, who could drink twenty pints of beer a day; to which the coroner retorted that he was slowly poisoning himself.

Eventually the "good men and true" retired to talk it over. They came back with a unanimous verdict of "Natural death accelerated by overwork."

"We have heard nothing of that," said the surprised coroner, and another animated discussion followed.

At last the foreman announced that the jury were all agreeable to return a verdict of death from apoplexy if the phrase about excessive drinking was left out.

The coroner—That would be an incomplete verdict.

The Foreman—Well, knock out the word "excessive" and say accelerated by drink.

And so, with this compromise, the enquiry terminated.

Souvenir of Manitoba.

A dispatch from Montreal says Mr. F. W. Thompson, vice-president and managing director of the Ogilvie Flour Mills company, is forwarding to H. R. H. the Princess of Wales a beautiful picture of the Ogilvie mill at Winnipeg. It is worked in silk on bolting cloth, which is largely used in the process of milling, and it is the product of the needles of the wives of Manitoba farmers.

The whole design is artistic and forms a beautiful and striking memento of Her Royal Highness' visit to the mill, October 8, 1901.

At the distance of a few paces it looks like a well finished water color color and is an excellent example of the industry and capabilities of the women of the Northwest.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

Ambition never grows old; in fact it seldom gets beyond the age of indiscretion.

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

By buying British coal, which pays a shilling export tax per ton, the United States is helping England to pay the cost of the Boer war, says the New York World.

A WONDERFUL MEDICINE.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

For Bilious and Nervous Disorders, such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Fulness and Swelling after meals, Dizziness and Drowsiness, Cold Chills Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations, &c. THE FIRST DOSE WILL GIVE RELIEF IN TWENTY MINUTES. This is no fiction. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one Box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be WITHOUT A RIVAL.

BEECHAM'S PILLS taken as directed, will quickly restore Females to complete health. They promptly remove any obstruction or irregularity of the system. For a

Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Disordered Liver,

they act like magic—a few doses will work wonders upon the Vital Organs; Strengthening the muscular System, restoring the long-lost Complexion, bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the Rosebud of Health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are "facts" admitted by thousands, in all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the Nervous and Debilitated is that BEECHAM'S PILLS have the Largest Sale of any Patent Medicines in the World.

Beecham's Pills have been before the public for half a century, and are the most popular family medicine. No testimonials are published, as Beecham's Pills

RECOMMEND THEMSELVES.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, England.

Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes, 25 cents.

France was using 256,000 bicycles in 1895 and 987,000 in 1901. She loves the wheel for the peaceful revolutions that it makes.

The wax bullet invented for the harmless Paris duel may be added to the accessories of future war games.

Despite the rainy weather the latest crop reports prove that umbrellas were not the only thing raised this summer.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS,

CLEANSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;

DISPELS COLDS HEADACHES & FEVERS;

OVERCOMES HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS,

BUY THE GENUINE—MAN'F'D BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE KY. SAN FRANCISCO CAL. NEW YORK N.Y.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50c. PER BOTTLE.

A Great Change.

Fond Mamma—Isn't baby getting big? Just see how solid he is.

Papa—He does seem solid this morning, and it's remarkable, because he appeared to be all "holler" last night.

What He Missed.

"I was so angry," said Mrs. Henpeck, "when they mistook me for a shoplifter that I just couldn't speak."

"My!" he exclaimed. "I wish I'd been there."

Initials on Garments.

During the eleventh century a fashion of embroidering the initials of the name and the family arms on the garments began in Italy and from that country spread all over Europe.

MARKET REVIEW.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

WHEAT—The market has been much stronger this week, and there has been increased speculative business as well as a good demand for the commodity. Millers have been fairly liberal buyers in the United States, and the mills are doing a large and apparently profitable business. An actual gain in prices at the close of the market on Friday amounted to 2½ to 2¾c for the week The reports of damage to the crops in Europe, which is making the outturn smaller than was earlier estimated, is a factor in strengthening the market.

Local Situation—The local wheat market has held firm this week, in sympathy with leading outside markets, and prices have shown a gradual appreciation, with an active movement. Favorable weather for threshing, which has prevailed all this season, has enabled farmers to get their crops threshed out rapidly, and this is reflected in the heavy movement of wheat to market. At the end of last week about 10,000 cars of wheat had been inspected, in round numbers, or say 8,500,000 bushels. This wheat has either reached Lake Superior ports or is now in transit between Winnipeg and the lake. Stocks at lake ports have been increasing, notwithstanding liberal shipments by water from our upper lake ports. Stocks at interior points have accumulated rapidly, and many country elevators are reported to be full of wheat. One concern operating a line of 60 or 70 elevators reported that over 20 of these elevators were full. The number of reports of this nature would indicate very much larger stocks in the country than is indicated by the figures given out of the quantity of wheat marketed. At some points in the west, however, very little wheat has yet been marketed. The farmers appear to be helping each other to finish up their threshing before they start marketing. The daily movement ranges from 250 to 400 cars.

Prices are firm. At the close of business on Friday the close was 71⅜c for 1 hard, and 69⅞c for No. 1 northern, spot or October delivery, and for delivery first half November 71¼c for No. 1 hard and 69¼c for 1 northern. The value of 2 northern is 67⅛c; 3 northern, 65¼c; and No. 4 wheat, 61½c, October delivery, and ½c less for delivery first half November. All quotations are for in store Fort William or Port Arthur.

Country Wheat—The average price to farmers at country points is about 57c per bushel.

Liverpool Prices—No. 1 northern spring wheat was quoted at Liverpool on Saturday at 6s. 7d.

OATS—The market is steady and not quotably changed from a week ago. Receipts are moderately large. Today No. 2 white oats are worth 26¾ to 27½c per bushel at Fort William. At country points farmers are getting 20 cents per bushel at central points.

BARLEY—A fair quantity of barley is offering and the market is steady. Dealers are paying 33c per bushel for carlots of malting grade on track, Winnipeg, and 27 to 30c feed.

FLAXSEED—Receipts are increasing. Dealers are still paying $1.10 per bushel for carlots on track, and $1.05 per bushel to farmers at country points.

SPELTZ—The market holds steady at 30c per bushel of 50 pounds, delivered in Winnipeg.

HAY—$6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track, Winnipeg.

POTATOES—30c per bushel.

POULTRY—Spring chickens, 40 to 60c per pair, alive; fowl, 60 to 70c ducks, 9c per pound; turkeys, 10 to 11c, live weight.

BUTTER—Creamery—There is not very much doing in creamery butter and the market is quiet. Dealers are paying 18c per pound, f.o.b. factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Receipts are light and there is not very much to say about the market. Commission houses are paying 12 to 14c for choice to finest dairy, commission basis, Winnipeg, in pails or bricks.

CHEESE—Manitoba cheese is very scarce and mostly of poor quality. One lot brought 11½c last week.

CHEESE—10½c per pound is being paid for best makes, delivered in the city.

EGGS—The ruling price is 16½c per dozen for choice eggs, subject to candling.

DRESSED MEATS — Beef, city dressed, 5½ to 6¼c, country stock, ½c less; mutton, 8 to 9c; lamb, 11½c; hogs, 9 to 10½c.

HIDES—Dealers are now paying 6½c for No. 1 hides, 5½c for No. 2, and 4½ for No. 3. Calfskins same price as hides. Horse hides 50c to $1 each.

SENECA ROOT—The price is 56c for best root, delivered in Winnipeg. Inferior grades range from 2 to 3c below this figure.

There are lots of people who make you want to run and yell just to see them.

A WELLAND MERCHANT.

He Says He is Now Feeling Better Than He Has For Many Years.

An Open Letter in Which a Prominent Citizen Gives a Strong Recommendation for Dodd's Kidney Pills, a Remedy Which He Says Restored Him to Good Health.

Welland, Ont., Oct. 20.—(Special)—Mr. J. J. Yokom, grocer and provision merchant of this place, has given for publication an open letter as follows:—

"For a year or more I had been ailing with Kidney Trouble in all of its worst forms. I had a very depressed feeling in my head and little or no appetite, a constant feeling of langour, and I became greatly reduced in weight.

"At times I was entirely incapacitated.

"I have spent considerable money in medicines of different kinds but did not get any good results. I also doctored with a physician of vast experience, but got no benefit.

"At last I became discouraged and hopeless of ever being well again. One day by luck I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and began to use them.

"From the first they seemed to suit my case exactly, and when I had taken five boxes my old trouble had entirely disappeared, and I was feeling better than I had in many years.

"I am now in splendid health and able to stand great exertion, in fact my general health is better than it has been in a long time.

"Since my recovery I have told many others of Dodd's Kidney Pills and how they cured me to stay cured. Many of them say it seems impossible and yet they know it is true."

(Signed), J. J. YOKOM.

Mr. Yokom has been a resident of Welland for years and is known to every man, woman and child in the town. He was born in the neighboring township of Crowland, within 3 miles of his present home, and is known as a man of Christian principles who would not make a statement that would in any way be misleading.

Many a son of his father would never be heard of were he not fined for speeding an automobile. This is the cheapest kind of fame.

Horse Health is one of the most important things for every farmer to consider.

Dick's Blood Purifier

will build up a run down horse.

It tones up the system, rids stomach of bots, worms and other parasites which undermine an animal's health.

50 cts. a package.

LEEMING MILES & CO.
AGENTS. - - - MONTREAL.

When baking cakes or scones, if the soda is dissolved in a little boiling milk it prevents the disagreeable lumps which are so often seen.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

A document on vellum signed by Guy Fawkes, and relating to a sale of land in 1692, has been sold for £101 at Sotheby's.

It is usually the backbiter that gives affront.

One small portion of the Wankie coalfield in Rhodesia is estimated to be capable of yielding 1,000 tons per day for 100 years.

Marconi, in one respect may now rank with Hannibal and Napoleon. He has conquered the Alps.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals. Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa. For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy. Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best.

HAVE NO EQUAL.

GOLD STANDARD TEA

Is a blend of choicest INDIAN and CEYLON. Unequalled for PURITY & STRENGTH

To clean stone jugs and jars fill them with water, adding a tablespoonful of baking soda to each gallon of water. Let it stand over night. If not thoroughly cleansed, repeat the operation.

$100-REWARD—$100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.
Hall's Family Pills are the Best.

The up-to-date actress is a good artist. At least she knows how to paint.

Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder dusted in the bath softens the water at the same time that it disinfects.

"Good management is better than a good income," but both together are better than either separately.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, Etc.

"He who sings drives away sorrow but often causes sorrow to his neighbors."

Mr. Thomas Ballard, Syracuse, N. Y. writes: "I have been afflicted for nearly a year with that most-to-be-dreaded disease Dyspepsia, and at times worn out with pain and want of sleep, and after trying almost everything recommended, I tried one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. I am now nearly well, and believe they will cure me. I would not be without them for any money."

Some people are afraid, and call it virtue.

Men going down in the new submarines for the first two or three times become almost stupefied by the strong fumes of gasoline used in propelling the vessels.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.

Gentlemen,—My daughter, 13 years old, was thrown from a sleigh and injured her elbow so badly it remained stiff and very painful for three years. Four bottles of MINARD'S LINIMENT completely cured her and she has not been troubled for two years.

Yours truly,
J. B. LEVESQUE.

St. Joseph, P.Q., Aug. 18, 1900.

It is a mistake to think that we can make our homes comfortable with heated discussions.

A dark secret is the kind that usually comes to light.

The railroads employ in the State of Nebraska 18,500 men on their roads.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

Camille Flammarion, the astronomer and social reformer, has introduced a bill in the French Chamber of Deputies for the rationalizing of the calendar. He wants the year to start with the vernal equinox, and to consist of 364 days.

On Christmas every policeman in the city of London receives from Lord Rothschild a briarwood pipe and an ounce of tobacco.

HIGH ABOVE all other Cigars sail LUCINAS

Just because of that sweet flavor we keep telling you about. It's there. Try one. You'll find it.

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO., WINNIPEG.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM

Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS—$15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

Some women come down town so seldom that they are so timid they always suggest a (at that is crossing the street.

Sprained Ankle Cured

Another Remarkable Case Where St. Jacobs Oil Worked a Wonder

Mr. W. H. Allen, jr., of 17 Denmark street, Aston, Birmingham, writes under date of May 29th, 1896: "I am a driver for the Keystone Bottling Co., of Birmingham, and I had the misfortune to be pitched off my waggon, and besides being bruised from head to foot my ankle joint was put out and my foot severely sprained. I tried many embrocations, but received no benefit; I then went to the hospital, but after having been treated for a considerable time, I left, not any better. I then determined to try St. Jacobs Oil, and I can assure you that before I used the contents of one bottle my ankle was as sound as ever, and I was able to go to work as if nothing had happened."

If feet indicate a man's character, a shoemaker ought to have a good chance to study his characteristics.

FAGGED OUT.—None but those who have become fagged out know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength is gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there is nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A COX, President. B. E. Walker, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, E. H. BIRD, Manager.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, OCT. 25, 1902.

COMMISSION COMPLETES ITS LABORS.

THE royal commission appointed to enquire into the workings of the several collieries of the province, as well as into the question as to how far the conditions which obtain are met by the provisions of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, have completed their labors, and their report should be available in the course of a few weeks.

From the summaries of the evidence taken before the commission, which have appeared in the daily press from time to time, it is now apparent that there was an urgency in the matter of the appointment of the commission which was not appreciated at the time, and there is every reason to expect that as the result of their investigation the commissioners will be able to secure such changes in the statutes regulating the operations of collieries as will render much more secure the very hazardous calling of the coal miner. If this is accomplished the scores of unfortunates whose lives were snuffed out in the Coal Creek collieries will not have died in vain, though the price they were called upon to pay to ensure the safety of their fellows was a terrible one.

Perhaps the questions of greatest importance which the commission has determined is the explosive character of coal dust, and the necessity of watering dry and dusty mines. There appears to be but one opinion with respect to these matters, and legislation dealing with them will probably constitute the first fruits of the commission.

Two other findings of the commission, which must be given a place in the report in view of the evidence adduced, is that the organization of the mine-workers makes for the safety of all men employed in the mine, and that the presence of foreigners, who have not a good knowledge of the English language, are a menace to every man in the mine.

A comparison of the death roll from colliery explosions in Great Britain with that of British Columbia is in itself startling—Great Britain showed a percentage of .55 per cent. during the ten years from 1892 to 1901, while in British Columbia the precentage was 6.61. Ralph Smith, the labor leader has given his reason for the high percentage of explosion fatalities in British Columbia, the heavy percentage of inexperienced men permitted to work in the mines in the province. In Great Britain he explained coal mining was a trade; the miners being schooled in it from boyhood, with the result that they were thoroughly trained. In British Columbia hundreds of men were taken into the collieries who had never seen a coal mine. This condition he held to be a menace for the reason that every man in a mine might be a menace to every other man in it. For this reason Mr. Smith strongly advocated educational tests for every man in the mines.

Another interesting point in the evidence of Mr. Smith was the contention he advanced that the organization of the coal miners was their strongest point of safety, and in support of this the witness gave convincing reasons which should weigh not only with the general public but with the operators of the collieries as well. Mr. Smith held it to be of the highest importance that the men should take advantage of the privilege of examining the mine in which they were working, but without organization it was not possible to get this or any factor of safety.

Francis Henry Sheppard, a civil and mining engineer, who it will be remembered was one of the experts who examined the Coal Creek collieries shortly after the explosion in May last was one of the witnesses examined. Much of Mr. Sheppard's evidence was based upon the result of his examinations following the explosions at Cumberland and Fernie, and the following extracts will therefore be of interest.

The condensed result, said Mr. Sheppard, of the two examinations, was that a dangerous condition of the temperature of the mine might exist, and yet be very hard to detect, combined partly with dust in the atmosphere and a low percentage of fire damp. These conditions were very difficult to detect. Probably as low as one and a half per cent of gas, if the other conditions are ripe, is sufficient to cause an explosion under some existing cause, such as a sudden shot, and if very ripe, it has been asserted that the sudden shutting of a door would cause an explosion. Another source of danger is the similtaneous firing of shots or rapid succession of shots, which witness knew to be fully as dangerous as blown out shots. The rapid succession of shots has a result on the atmosphere very similar to the blown out or windy shot. As to dust, the greatest source of danger was the newly created dust along the working faces, this was gathered from observation at Fernie.

Some instrument should be supplied to the ordinary fireman and miner which would detect 1.5 per cent. and also to determine the dusty condition of the atmosphere of the mine, which should be known to the officials. Only by these means could precautionary measures be taken. Under the present system it is simply a matter of opinion, the inspector might determine a mine as dry and dusty which might not be particularly dangerous—it is simply a matter of his judgement. It should not be taken out of the hands of the inspector, but given all the importance it is possible to give. He should have some strong counsel or advice in determing whether a mine is dry and dusty and sufficiently dangerous,

The fact that dust may be created as freely, where blasting conditions do not obtain, to wit, where coal is soft and friable, as in room 7 off McDonald's level, suggests that watering precautions may be necessary, irrespective of those provi'ed for in the mining act, governing blasting conditions.

While the use of the ordinary blasting powder does not appear to have contributed to this explosion, its continued use under conditions prevailing in portions of No. 2 mine will always be a source of danger and the substitution of more modern and safer explosives is suggested. As to the tamping, no dust or similar inflammable material should be used in tamping; but clay or decomposed shale should be always employed; ordinary clay would be too dry. Holes should be entirely clean of cuttings or coal dust. Blown out holes are very dangerous, and a blown out holes would ignite dust even without gas present, under certain conditions.

For Sale

CORNER LOT opposite the Methodist Church, price $20 per foot.

CORNER LOT opposite the Central Hotel, price $1250.

CORNER LOT opposite the Roman Catholic Church, at rear of printing office, price $850.

Lot adjoining the above, with house, price $1150.

CORNER LOT, with house, opposite hospital price $1250.

House and Lot near Baptist Church price $800

House and acre Lot of H. J. Turner's, in West Fernie. This is a decided snap.

Other houses, lots, stores, etc., for sale. Prices on application.

TO RENT—A six-roomed plastered cottage, new also other houses and a store. Terms on application.

Watson's, Next the Victoria

Winter Flowering Bulbs

A great variety.

Bleasdell's Drug Store.

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block
and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN
Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked E. P. White south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C. M. Henretta's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

E. P. WHITE
Dated this 8th day of Oct. 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked I. G. Ogden south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of T. W. Bingay's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

I. G. OGDEN
Dated the 8th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked C. Drinkwater south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C. H. Gill's coal and detroleum claim, thence east 80 chains thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. DRINKWATER.
Dated this 8th day of October 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. R. Baker south west corner post which is the south-east corner post of J. R. Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

W. R. BAKER
Dated this 9th day of October 1902. 199-5

THE MOTHERS

are especially interested at this season in having

SUITS
FOR THEIR LITTLE BOYS

Ten Different Styles
Prices from $1.25 up.

Make this your Clothing Store, and you will always have the newest and best.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

100 Miners Wanted

At the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Mines
—AT MORRISSEY—

THE SURVEY is almost completed in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Townsite at Morrissey, B. C. In the opening of the new townsite at Morrissey, the business man will have an opportunity for money-making that has never been presented in British Columbia. Get in on the ground floor.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

C. W. Laidley spenl several days in Frank this week.

The pay on Saturday last for Fernie amounted to $45,000.

Mr. E. Hazelwood, of Toronto, arrived in town this week. He is looking for an opening for a drug business.

Mi s F. Thompson, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., arrived in town on Sunday last. She is the guest of Mrs. L. M. Proctor.

BOARDERS WANTED—None but those with good moral character need apply.—Pellatt Avenue; opposite the hospital. 9-4

Cranbrook, lik Fernie, is having a reformation. The hotel bars are now closed from 1: o'cloc Saturday night until 7 Monday morning.

An Italian company put on a show in Princess Hall on Saturday and Monday evenings. The performances were not well attended.

The following candidates tried the mine manager's examinations held in Fernie last week:—Messrs. Collville, H. C. Manley, A. R. Wilson, Jas. McEvoy and C. Sinnister.

Rev. D. Holford, accompanied by his wife, left for the coast on Wednesday morning. Mr. Holford, although, not entirely recovered from his recent illness, is convalesent.

The many friends of Miss Andrews, matron at the hospital, will be sorry to learn that she has resigned her position. She expects to leave Fernie in a short time.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Matins at 11 o'clock, Sunday School and Young Men's Bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. The Vicar will officiate. Collection in aid of church expenses.

The coroner's jury on the deaths of William Clarke and John Haines, which occurred at the Frank mines on Sept. 28, found that they come to their deaths accidentally, casually and by misfortune. The jury expressed an opinion that the ventilation in the mine was insufficient or imperfect, and recommended that it be increased or improved.

The spur to the French mines seven miles from Frank will be completed in about three weeks. This work has been rushed with marvellous rapidity having taken only three months. There are over 30 pieces of tressle work on the road. The Company have considerable development work done and will commence shipping coal on a large scale at once.

The recent explosion in the Frank mines has had the effect of driving many good miners from the town, which has upset the operations to some extent. However the report of the experts sent by the Union to investigate the mines has done much to allay fear of further trouble by stating everything in good condition and new men are filling up the vacancies.

The new comet has already become visible in Toronto, but only through a telescope. It is in the north-western sky and may be seen after 10:30 p. m. A Greenwich official says the comet will soon be a striking object for the naked eye; not since 1882 shall we have had a more brilliant one. By the end of October it should be a very cospicuous object, with a long tail that will be visible for a mouth and a half, dating from the end of September, when it enters Cassiopea.

An agitation is on foot in Fernie to establish a branch of the League of American Sportsmen here. This is a step in the right direction. A branch of this league would do more to look after the proper protection of game during the close season than all the government officials in Southeast Kootenay. The indiscriminate killing of game in this neighborhood, and particularly near Michel, is rapidly thinning out the larger game and is viewed with serious apprehension by local sportsmen.

W. H. Blundell, who recently paid an extended visit to Fernie and vicinity, has been talking about this district to a reporter at Nelson. He says that the prospects for a prosperous winter along the line of the Crow's Nest railway are very good indeed. At Morrissey there are 75 cottages in the course of erection and foundations have been built for 600 coke ovens to handle the output of the Morrissey mines. At Frank and Michel there is also great activity and Fernie is looking better than it has for a year past. Coal is being shipped from Morrissey to the coke ovens at Fernie pending the completion of the ovens at the former point. There is very good hunting in the valley of the Elk, about Fernie both grouse and deer being plentiful. The train Mr. Blundell was on surprised a bunch of six deer on the track, killing a fawn, and the train being stopped it was taken on board.

Mr. D. V. Mott is in Winnipeg this week on business.

The new gasolene lamp introduced at the mines is giving general satisfaction.

Superintendent Jamieson was in town on Wednesday evening.

D. McNeil, train master on the Crow's Nest branch, was in town yesterday.

Mrs. S. Arnold, of Cranbrook and her sister Miss Law of Winnipeg, are visiting Miss Church.

Mr. Blake Wilson, manager for the firm of P. Burns & Co, was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. Jas. Elliott returned to his home in Leduc, Alta., after a couple week's visit in town.

Read Sheppard & Elliott's advertisement in this issue. It will interest you. Their stock of hardware is very choice.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Must be good cook. Apply at the London & Liverpool Co. x

The famous "Jerry" Boyce, of the High River Eye Opener, is in town at present visiting his wife.

McAlister, the Scotchman who was escorted from Fernie during the strike paid a short visit to the mines on Thursday.

Mrs. T. C. Thompson, accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams left for Toronto on Tuesday evening.

General Manager Tonkin and Superintendent Stockett visited Morrissey yesterday on business in connection with the labor troubles at that place.

The ladies of Christ Church are working hard to make their annual bazaar and sale of work a success. It is to be held about the first week in December

Mr. D. McKenzie and a number of others have received notice that their applications for licenses to prospect for petroleum on the west bank of Elk river will be granted.

Miss Gobbett is starting a private class to be conducted on kindergarten principles. The class will be opened on the first Monday in November opposite the skating rink. Hours from 8:30 to 12. Terms $2 a month in advance. x

Fred Delzell, of Michel prairie, was in town yesterday. He is one of the ranchers who has recently started a ranch in that district. He says nearly all the land around Michel has been taken up and is proving to be very valuable for farming purposes.

Considerable new work is being started at the Coal Creek Mines with a view to increasing the output. Two new tunnels are being run, one on each side of the gulch. The one on the north side is nearly a mile below the present workings and will be connected by track with the tipple; men are already at work on the grade. It is the intention of the company to tap the seam at several points along this grade and the cars will probably be handled by a small locomotive similar to the ones now used on the coke ovens. There is also a rumor that the company intend building a much larger tipple to be equipped with all the modern improvements to meet the increased output.

BORN

PROCTOR—In Fernie, on October 23rd, the wife of Mr. W. Proctor, of a daughter.

FOR RENT.

A five roomed house, near the hospital. Apply to

197-1m JOHN SUNBERG.

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fne

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bootled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale Proprietor.

Jas. Joyce, of Jaffray, was in town several days thrs week.

E. J. Petier, of Cranbrook, was in town several days this week.

Mr. Hillier, formerly C.P.R. agent here, has been transferred from Moyie to Cranbrook.

Mrs. A. Purdy and Mrs. W. B. Ganong left on Thursday for a trip to the coast. They expect to be gone about three week.

George Mitchell, well known along the Crow since construction time, has been in town the past few weeks as time keeper for the extra gang that has been making improvements about the yards.—Cranbrook Herald.

Ed. Taylor, of Kimberley, has taken over the Royal hotel of that town, which has been run by Mr. Gates, of Fernie. Mr. Taylor took possession on Monday last, and his many friends wish him success.—Cranbrook Herald.

WE REPAIR

FURNITURE

AND DO

Upholstering.

B.C. FURNITURE CO

All current magazines of the following 36 periodicals constantly on hand at the

FERNIE DRUG STORE

Pearson's, Argosy, Strand, Sketch, World-Wide, Field, Black and White, Scribner's Illustrated London News, Ainslee's, Everybody's, Vogue, Designer, Delineator, Recreation, Scientific American McClure's, Cosmopolitan, Frank Leslie, Canadian, Forum, Graphic, North American Review, Review of Reviews, Cassell's Weekly, Cassell's Journal, Tit-Bits, Answers, Black Cat, Ladies' World, Ladies' Home Companion, Ladies' Home Journal Literary Digest, The Philistine, Will Carleton, Current Literature and St. Nicholas.

Fernie Drug Store.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first application of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the publication can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steel, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked N. Binns south west corner post, situate 15 chains east of north west corner of J. L. C. Abbott's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

N. BINNS.

Public Notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, Wm S. Keay, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works, Victoria, for permission to purchase 240 acres more or less, commencing at a post situate on the West bank of Elk River, on the north boundary of W. Bullock's pre-emption, 40 chains east of the aforementioned W. Bullock's north-west corner, thence running 60 chains north, thence 40 chains west, thence 60 chains south, thence 40 chains east to point of commencement.

WM. S. KEAY.

Dated August 28, 1902. 491 8

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or a soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked T. Britt south west corner is 20 chains east of the north west corner of J. R. Nelson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept, 1902.

THOMAS BRITT.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

60 Days 60 Days

60 Days

The greatest selling time ever known in the Kootenays. We are over-stocked in some lines, and are going to turn them into MONEY. Only one way to do so — make prices that will loosen the purse strings. The first week,—just to tempt you

Fast Black Sateen Shirts — Two Lines. One at 55c.——— A Better One at 85c.

Both at about half price. Watch for hand bills and posters.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

By the Gallon
" " Case
" " Barrel

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT — It pays to buy from Sheppard & Elliott — SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT

TO THE PUBLIC OF FERNIE:—

A New Hardware Store.....

The firm of Sheppard & Elliott have opened a complete line of light shelf and heavy hardware, stoves, heaters, paints, oils, glass, graniteware and tinware, at prices that will suit your pocket book. Call in and see, it costs nothing to show goods.

WATCH THIS ADV. FOR SNAPS
IT WILL CHANGE EVERY WEEK.

Tinsmithing and plumbing a specialty; we have no equals. We guarantee all work, or no pay. Try us once, and be satisfied.

Sheppard & Elliott,

Sole agent for the Kelcey furnace; stands the highest test the world over

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —

Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.

Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

"He says he's Captain Wood. We have reason to believe he's not, not according to this"—the purser touched a printed list of passengers lying on the table—"or if he is the other must be an impostor. Ask him, sir, what proof he can give us that he is the real Simon Pure. Can he refer to any one on board who will bear out this monstrous assertion?"

"That's a good idea, Boffinge. Come, my man, what do you say? Can you do it?"

"Easily if I choose. There are two ladies who would bear me out, but I would rather not bring them into it. I am engaged to be married to one of them."

The captain grinned. This was rather against me—a fresh proof of lunacy.

"And a young fellow who is practically in my employ, although one of Saraband's people"—

"The New York detective agency? I've heard of them."

"And he may not care to have you know who he is."

"So that you can offer us no guarantees of your good faith, eh? Strikes me you're in a sinking condition and will soon be a complete wreck," sneered the captain. "The whole thing is ugly—your loafing round where you shouldn't, your unlawful possession of the papers which you make away with when tackled, your claiming another man's name. I don't like it, and I'll tell you what I mean to do with you, keep you a close prisoner till we make New York. There you can answer to the proper authorities. Meanwhile I'll stand the racket. I must look to the name and credit of my ship."

"Where shall I be imprisoned?"

"In a spare cabin the purser will find you. You shall have your meals and all attention, but you'll stay below under lock and key until Uncle Sam sends on board to fetch you after we're alongside the wharf."

"I protest and, as I have already said, will hold you responsible. You will be sorry"—

At this moment an urgent message came down to the captain from the bridge. The officer of the watch reported that the large steamer that had been overhauling the Chattahoochee for the last few hours was now within signaling distance.

"Signals she wants to speak us, sir," said the fourth officer, who brought the message. "Can't make out her number, but she's a new man-of-war cruiser, British, and Mr. Aston says she must be steaming 23 knots an hour."

"She's after those papers, Captain Sherborne, unless I'm much mistaken," I put in, with a little laugh of satisfaction. "Perhaps there will be some one on board who knows me."

The captain glared at me, but his eyes fell before my steady glance, and I could read his thoughts plainly; the growing doubts, the fear that he might be all in the wrong, the trouble that might come upon him if he misused me without clearer proof. Yet he carried it with a high hand to the last.

"I'll settle with you later, my fine fellow, and handsomely. You shan't bluff me."

"If I might suggest, Captain Sherborne, your place is on your bridge. I don't presume to teach you your duty, but a man is apt to forget it when he loses his temper and his self control. We can square our little matter later. But I warn you against using any violence. I may have friends in that ship astern"—

I could see fresh rage gathering in his face at my words, but he restrained himself, and with no more than a parting oath and an order to cast me loose he floundered out of the cabin.

I went on deck without further let or hindrance and took my situation by the fore companion. I was much interested in what went on around. Every one was excited at the approach of this splendid warship. The rumor that she had some business with us had already run like wildfire around, and it was strengthened by the many colored fluttering bunting with which she constantly signaled us. The excitement increased when orders were given to slow down. Any change in a steamer's progress always attracts attention on board, and our decks fore and aft were crowded with passengers. I could see those of the first class talking eagerly together, gesticulating and pointing to the warship. Many glasses were leveled at her, and I could gather that her interference with our voyage was not taken in good part. In these days of record passages across the "ocean ferry" the delay of even an hour is a serious matter.

Now the butcher of the Chattahoochee joined me where I stood, somewhat apart. He was an acquaintance through Roy, somewhat surly and uncommunicative, but I found him suddenly quite garrulous and friendly. He was an old man-of-war's man, and his spirit was stirred at the sight of the white ensign.

"It's grand, yon. Grand to see that iron kettle, 13,000 tons' displacement, riding triumphant like a wee birdie on the surface of the mighty waters. It means man's conquest of nature, science and knowledge and above all pluck. There's a sicht, my man! The finest and newest cruiser afloat—H. M. S. Victrix"—

"You know her, then?"

"Aye, laddie. My own sister's third cousin is fourth engineer aboard, and I was all over her not a week syne when she lay in the Solent. She was under orders then for the China seas. Deil ha' me if I know what brings her into midatlantic."

"Some special order, I suppose?"

"War mayhap. These are fearsome times, laddie, and I read in the papers there was trouble brewing. What if she is sent to warn our shipping?"

"We shall soon know. See, she has lowered a boat, and we're going now under easy steam to take them on board."

The Victrix lay half a mile off, and her boat, looking like a cockleshell compared to her great bulk as it left her side, came bravely along, lifted over the long Atlantic swell by the well cadenced stroke of 16 oars. In the stern was a group of three, and as they got within range of my glasses I saw that one was a naval officer, no doubt in command of the boat, and two other persons in plain clothes.

One was my colleague in the intelligence office, Swete Thornhill. The other—yes, there was no mistaking that rosy, scorbutic visage—the other was Snuyzer, the detective. I decided then and there what I should do. I saw that it was possible by acting promptly to tell Swete Thornhill all he knew and yet preserve my incognito. So I slipped down into the second saloon and wrote him half a dozen words.

Dear Swete—I got the papers and have thrown them overboard. Don't let on about me more than necessary, but make the skipper bring you and Snuyzer down here, forward, for a few words private talk in my own cabin or anywhere out of earshot with others. I have strong reason for still lying low. Yours, W. Wood.

I took this to the purser's cabin and was lucky enough to find him there poring over interminable and voluminous accounts of victualing. They interested him far more than what was going on above.

"You will oblige me by getting this into the captain's hands at once," I said very peremptorily. "It is for one of the gentlemen who are now close under our quarter in the man-of-war's boat."

He took the letter and read its superscription with some surprise, not to say alarm. It was: "On her majesty's service. To Major Swete Thornhill, D. S. O., R. A., c. o. Captain Sherborne of the S. S. Chattahoochee. Confidential and most immediate."

"Certainly, sir," said the purser, his whole manner suddenly changed, and then I returned to my post of observation on deck to wait events.

I saw my friends come on board, the naval lieutenant first, who raised his hat to our captain as he received them at the gangway, then introduced his companions, after which the whole party quickly and silently passed through the crowd of passengers, who were dying to hear what it all meant, and entered the captain's cabin.

I had not long to wait for the next act. Within a minute or two I was hailed by the second cabin steward, who told me a little abruptly, but he knew no better, that I was wanted by the captain below.

"Hallo, Master Willie," began Swete Thornhill after a brief shaking hands all round. "You've led us a pretty dance and no mistake. How the mischief did you get here, and are you certain about the papers?"

"All that will keep, man. As to the papers, ask Captain Sherborne. He knows what became of them."

"I will not be a party to this. I saw you throw certain papers overboard which I still believe you stole"—

"Captain Wood will answer for that to the proper persons, and so will you as to any charges you bring," interposed Swete Thornhill stiffly. "You can rely on that. We shall proceed straight to New York ahead of you, and you shall be met by the British consul and other authorities."

"That is all I wanted to say," I cried. "Get there first and set everything in trim—you understand Mr. Snuyzer. I am in hopes that the others do not know or have no more than suspicion of what has happened, and we should be able to arrest them on arrival."

"We'll do our best, captain, you bet," said Snuyzer, "and take them if the law will let us. Our Mr. Sidney Saraband will work it if it's to be done. But if we save your property from these sharks their only offense was committed on British soil, and there may be a muss. Anyway it's plain we need not detain this fine vessel"—he bowed to the captain—"now things are pretty well fixed. The major here's satisfied. You're safe, for which we may be truly thankful, if I may say so, and there's nothing left to do till we make the shore. Look out for us, captain. Some of us, I guess, will run out to meet you in a special steamer just inside Sandy Hook."

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Ancient Dogs.

At the time of the Roman occupation of Britain five distinct species of dogs were there, most of which can with certainty be identified with those of the present day. There were the house dog, the greyhound, the bulldog, the terrier and the slowhound.

There are two kinds of tea.
Ours, and the rest of them.
Blue Ribbon Tea

Jeweled Brooches.

THE Brooches here mentioned may offer a desirable suggestion for Christmas buying.

Each one is of artistic merit as well as surpassing value.

No. 13320, at $5, is a Star and Crescent design of fine Pearls and solid Gold.

No. 13317, at $10, is a rococco scroll design in solid Gold, mounted with a fine Amethyst surrounded with Pearls.

No. 13369, at $24, is a Pearl "Sun Burst" of exquisite beauty.

No. 13400, at $42, is a Clover Leaf, paved with fine Pearls, having for its centre a beautiful Diamond.

We guarantee safe delivery, and cheerfully refund the full price if a selection is in any way unsatisfactory.

Write for our new catalogue.

Ryrie Bros.,
Jewelers,
Yonge and Adelaide Streets,
Toronto.

One of the greatest drawbacks in Mexico is the scarcity of fuel. Hopes are placed in the probable discovery of oil in paying quantities.

Ontario farmers are having much trouble with foxes which are carrying off their hens. It is very many years since foxes were so plentiful in the east as they are this season.

THOUSANDS LIKE HER.—Tena McLeod, Severn Bridge, writes: "I owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for curing me of a severe cold that troubled me nearly all last winter." In order to give a quietus to a hacking cough take a dose of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil thrice a day, or oftener if the cough spells render it necessary.

A young sportsman had mistaken a calf for a deer, and the calf was breathing its last. "T-Tell mother," gasped the dying martyr, addressing the sympathetic sheep, who stood near by, "t-tell mother t-that I died game."

Mother—"I wonder how this new book got in such a horrible condition?" Little Max—"I heard papa say it was too dry for him, so I poured water on it."

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state or morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, hereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

A novelty in divorce is reported from a little town in Austria, where the parties in a recent case issued cards of invitation to their friends to be present at the trial.

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup stands at the head of the list for all diseases of the throat and lungs. It acts like magic in breaking up a cold. A cough is soon subdued, tightness of the chest is relieved, even the worst case of consumption is relieved, while in recent cases it may be said never to fail. It is a medicine prepared from the active principles or virtues of several medicinal herbs, and can be depended upon for all pulmonary complaints.

Rice Griddlecakes.

Press cup of cold boiled rice through sieve; add tablespoonful butter, melted, and teaspoonful salt; break two eggs into mixture and beat well; add cup milk. Pour this over cup flour; add two teaspoonfuls baking powder. If the butter is too thick, add a little milk. Bake on a hot griddle.

Tricks That Are Old.

Many of the most wonderful feats of magic were known centuries ago. There is the famous trick of making a plant grow instantaneously, for example, which was described in a French paper of the year 1685, but the secret of it was not given.

Ant Nests.

The number of ants in a nest varies from 12,293 to 93,694. These figures are from a recent count of five nests.

WHY WOOLLENS WEAR THIN.

A SCENE IN A GROCER'S STORE.

Sir, I have just come round myself to tell you that you have absolutely spoiled a pair of blankets on me.

I have!

Yes, sir, you have!

Surely you are mistaken, madam!

I am not mistaken. I sent round my little girl a few days ago for a good strong soap to wash out some heavy things. In all innocence I used what you sent me, and the result is that my blankets are just the skeleton of what they were. They are ruined, sir, and it's your fault!

Yes, but I sent what I usually send in such cases.

What you usually send! No wonder Mrs. Moore, my neighbor, complains of her clothes wearing out; I find you usually send her the same soap.

But, madam, I always give my customers what they ask for. Had you named a particular brand of soap you would have had it.

Named a particular brand! How was I to know anything of brands? But I know better now, and I know what ruined my blankets—and my hands are in a nice plight, too!

I can assure you, madam, that it is not my desire to sell anything that will be injurious to either the hands or clothing of my customers, and I shall be glad to know how you prove that what I sold you injured your blankets and your hands.

Well, I was telling Mrs. Neill my trouble, and she lent me a little cutting, and here it is; you can read it:

"Dr. Stevenson Macadam, Lecturer on Chemistry, Surgeon's Hall, Edinburgh, describes the destructive property of soda upon wool very graphically.

"After mentioning how strong alkali such as potash and soda, disastrously affect cotton, linen, and wool, he says:

"On one occasion I employed this property of soda in a useful way. There was a large quantity of new blankets sent to one of our hospitals, which, when given out, were said by the patients to be not so warm as the old blankets were, and that led to an investigation as to whether the blankets were genuine or not. They looked well, and weighed properly, and I got a blanket sent to me for examination and analysis. We found soon that there was cotton mixed with the wool, and the question was as to separating the two, because they were thoroughly woven throughout, and it was only by detaching the fine fibres from each other that you identified the cotton fibre. I fell on the device of using soda. I took a bit of blanket and put it in a vessel with soda, and boiled it there, and very quickly the wool got eaten away by the soda, and there was left behind the cotton as a kind of skeleton—a sort of ghost—of the original blanket out of which it was taken. I mention this merely to indicate to you the pernicious effects of using caustic materials, which, when employed strong by themselves, affect woollen articles in this way, and which, even when not very strong, will more slowly, but with equal certainty, tend to destroy the woollen fibre."

Now, I want to tell you that we neighbors have had a talk over the matter, and we are not going to have our clothes and hands ruined in this way. Several of our neighbors who know have proved to us that Washing Sodas, Potash, Chloride of Lime, and "soap substitutes" are most injurious to clothes and hands. "Free alkali" in soaps is practically the caustic soda that burns the clothes. Why, you dare not keep Caustic Soda in a tin canister; it must be in an earthen jar, or it will even corrode the tin! Now, it's for you to provide us with pure soap without free alkali, or we must find it elsewhere.

Madam, you enlighten me! So many soaps are advertised as pure, that I really took little heed to any difference between them.

I have one, however, that has medical certificates of its freedom from free alkali. It is guaranteed pure; and the makers offer $5,000 reward to any one who can prove it is not pure, and further, I am authorized to return the purchase money to any one finding cause for complaint.

Let me see it! Why, Sunlight Soap! It's a beautiful clean, fresh-looking soap, and this Octagon shape is very handy. Give me five bars.

Note by the grocer.—This whole neighborhood is using Sunlight Soap now. I have no more complaints. I have no room in my store now for resinous concoctions of alkali poisons; but it is not the grocer's fault if the public are satisfied with common soaps. If the public ask for Sunlight Soap—octagon bar—we give it them. 604.

AN ANXIOUS TIME FOR NEURALGIC SUFFERERS.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Only Medicine That Successfully Cures This Terrible Nerve Disease.

Experienced physicians know well that the variable weather of this autumn month decided the fate of thousands in ill health. At the present time, men and women are falling around us like leaves before the chilling north winds.

Amongst the diseases prevalent at this time, terrible neuralgia with its sharp, lacerating and darting pains is doing its intolerable work. The cold, winds, damp air and sudden changes in temperature, favor this pain-racking disease. The best physicians of all schools admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the only known specific for the cure of neuralgia. If you are experiencing the torments of this most terrible of nerve diseases, we counsel you to give Paine's Celery Compound an immediate trial. It has permanently cured others; it will, without fail, meet your case. Mrs. T. McMaster, Toronto, Ont., says:—

"Ten years ago I was attacked with neuralgia, and though treated by six doctors, the disease grew worse and nearly made me insane. Day after day I suffered the most intense agony, and I became utterly disheartened. One day my deliverance came. A lady who had suffered as I had, told me that Paine's Celery Compound had cured her. I used the compound, and it simply made a new woman of me. The pain vanished, I grew well, and I never felt happier in my life. All this is due to Paine's Celery Compound.

THE BUTTERMAKER

Must Use It To Be Successful.

In the autumn and winter seasons the best and most successful buttermakers in Canada use Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color in order to give the butter that lovely and delicate June tint that is so much admired by lovers of fine table butter.

Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color is to-day, almost the only kind that is used in the Creameries and Dairies of Canada. There are other colors sold and sometimes substituted for Improved Butter Color, but wise and experienced buttermakers avoid them, knowing they are not reliable.

When you are buying butter color, insist upon getting the best, the strongest and the most economical. Your neighbors and friends will tell you that Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color is the best. All druggists and dealers.

AFTER THIS IT IS YOUR FAULT

if you suffer with what is generally known as a Bad Liver.

Fleming's No. 9 Liver Pills.

will effectually relieve the worst case of Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, and by cleansing and purifying the stomach relieve the system of many of the poisons that bring on fever. Ask your druggist for them; if he has none send us 25c for a bottle, or $1.00 for 5 bottles.

FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, BRANDON

T. H. METCALFE & CO.

Grain and Commission Merchants.

Highest prices paid for wheat, oats, barley or flax in carlots. Wire or write me for prices before selling. Liberal advances made on consignments and handled on commission. Licensed and Bonded.

P. O. Box 550, Winnipeg, Man.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP

The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory.

ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

Postage stamps don't get licked for sticking to business.

STRANGE DUAL LIFE

AN INTERESTING DRAMA IN REAL LIFE.

Lieutenant Colonel Carter, of the Royal Engineers, Lives Also as an Accountant in a Quiet Way With Wife Number Two.

A London cable says: The death of Edmund Carter Plant, lieutenant-colonel of the Royal Engineers and colonel commanding the second Gloucester volunteers, has revealed a strange story of the double life of one of the best known officers of the British army.

For nineteen years Lieutenant-Colonel Plant was a prominent figure in military and social life in the city of Bristol. He was a Companion of the Order of the Bath and had won the volunteer officer's decoration. He was a leading spirit in Bristol yachting, shooting, football, and cricket, and his home at 10 Elgin park, Redham, in Bristol, was a recognized social centre. The colonel had been a widower since 1890, his late wife having been buried in the Bristol cemetery.

For nineteen years there lived in a house known as the "Old Grange," in the small Dorsetshire village of Osborne, Edmund Hall, an accountant by profession. He had a wife and family. He lived a quiet life, was never known to take an interest in sports, and his only recreation was a bee fancier. He and his family enjoyed the respect and confidence of the entire community. His family consisted of a wife and a son. One son, 17 years old, had died in 1901, and an infant son, 16 months old, died during the present year. Both had been buried in the Osborne church yard.

On Monday, September 1; Edmund Hall drove with his little son to a neighboring farm in the village of Templecombe, where he took some hives of bees. Afterwards he went to a farm house and while taking tea with the wife of the farmer he suddenly fell dead of heart disease. An inquest was held on the following day. It was attended by his eldest son, who testified that his father had knowledge that he was suffering from that ailment. The sympathy of the neighbors about the country was widely expressed for the dead man's family.

No suspicions were aroused, although some surprise was expressed at the news that Mr. Hall would be buried on the following Saturday at Bristol, instead of in Osborne churchyard. On Wednesday the Bristol newspapers announced the sudden death of heart disease on the previous Monday at a small village near Templecombe, while on a holiday, of one of the most distinguished, best known, and respected inhabitants of Bristol, Col. Edmund Carter Plant, C. B., who would be buried on Saturday in Bristol, with full military honors. Some residents of Sherbourne, where Hall was well known, on seeing this, noticed the strange coincidence of the date and the manner and cause of the two men's deaths.

But the editor of the Sherbourne paper suspected nothing more. He made inquiries which convinced him as to the identity of Hall and Plant, but he was unable to prove his case. However, he did not lose sight of the body, which Friday evening was taken to the station, attended by a large number of sorrowing villagers, and was placed in a special passenger coach. The coffin plate was seen to be inscribed: "Edmund Hall, died September 9, 1902, aged 60."

The Bristol undertaker entered the van with the coffin, but at the junction where the car was detached and coupled to another train, this man changed to an ordinary carriage, and when the train arrived at Bristol the coffin plate was seen to be inscribed: "Edmund Carter Plant, C.B., colonel Bristol Engineers; died Sept. 9,1902, aged 60."

On Saturday the streets of Bristol were thronged with thousands of people anxious to see the funeral, which was the finest military spectacle the populace had seen since the late Queen Victoria visited the place in 1897. Eight military colonels acted as pall-bearers. They were followed by a brilliant cortege of officers and troops half a mile long, and also by the lord mayor's state coach, high sheriff in carriages, etc. Thus this distinguished resident of Thus this distinguished resident of Bristol was laid in the cemetery of the town beside his wife, who died in 1900, and to whom he was married in 1865.

Not until the death was the identity of their father revealed to his children at Osborne. The "Mrs. Hall" knew that, and but for clumsy work of his legal advisers, when they notified the Bristol newspapers of the colonel's death, the secret would never have been revealed. The mention of Templecombe gave the clue, however, and resulted in the exposure. The colonel's adsence at Bristol or Osborne "on business" never aroused the slightest suspicion.

NEWS NOTES.

Short Items Culled From Telegraphic Dispatches.

The North American Telegraph Co. has decided to connect American cities direct with Winnipeg.

D. B. Hanna, general superintendent of the C. N. R., is promoted to the position of third vice-president of the road. He is succeeded by E. A. James. C. P. R. superintendent of transportation.

The Toronto city council has decided to continue permanently a civic coal yard.

The Imperial government has placed an order in Canada for 2,000 harrows for use in South Africa.

The Dominion authorities at Ottawa are looking for the makers of bogus bills which are being circulated there.

C. C. Castle, warehouse commissioner, has reported to the government that British dealers find fault with the grading of Manitoba wheat at Toronto, but that shipments from Winnipeg and Fort William are correct.

Sir Michael Herbert has been installed as British ambassador at Washington.

Elevator D at Fort William, and annex thereto, with a 3,500,000 bushel capacity, will be ready for operation by the middle of December.

Russia is said to have a secret understanding with Turkey on the Dardanelles.

Rennie Esterbrooke, of Watford, Ont., has been arrested in Winnipeg on a charge of seduction.

Up-to-date methods in threshing have facilitated the rapid handling of Manitoba crops.

The Dominion immigration department has taken steps to prevent the entrance of paupers into Canada.

President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers union, will not give an answer to the operators' proposition of arbitration until he receives further particulars.

John O'Donnell, the Nationalist member of parliament for the south division of County Mayo, Ireland, has been sentenced by the Crimes Act court at Birr to three months' imprisonment at hard labor, and in addition to three months in default of bail for good behavior. Mr.O'Donnell was convicted of intimidation and to inciting. A summons was issued against O'Donnell last month, but he wrote from Wales refusing to obey it. He was arrested Sept. 25, at Claremorris, County Mayo.

Englishmen are Waking Up.

Toronto Globe: Curious people these Englishmen, and intensely human. For years Canadian agents have been trying to induce them to come and secure free homes in our great west. Indifferent success attended these efforts, but now that the land-hungry of the United States are rushing north, John Bull wants to have a helping of the pie. Here are extracts from letters written by clergymen to The London Daily Chronicle:... The Rev. G. E. Lloyd, Woodgreen, N., deputation secretary of the Colonial and Continental Church society, writes. "Millions of acres of the finest agricultural land in the world are now being offered by the Canadian government (160 acres a head, free) to all bonafide settlers, and yet English people are looking on while Americans (who generally know a good thing when they see it) are rushing over the border by thousands to seize the opportunity, and, of course, the future reward. Why not make up parties of, say, 100 each, and go out and settle by township in company together? Why not a large party for next March? I am willing to do all I can to help." The Rev. I. M. Barr, curate in charge, St. Saviour's church, Crouchill, N., writes:—"All indications now point to such an exodus of people from these isles to the Canadian Northwest next spring as this country has never before witnessed. Next spring will witness multitudes flocking into the Saskatchewan Valley and Northern Alberta, along the north and south banks of the Saskatchewan river, where the settlers will enjoy the double advantage of river navigation and two trunk lines of railway. In view of the above facts, everyone who thinks of bettering his condition by emigrating should hail with satisfaction the movement recently started to organize the first really homogeneous British settlement in the West. It has met with remarkable favor. Hundreds have sent letters of inquiry and a large number have travelled from various parts of England to confer with the originator of the movement. Present indications point to a first party next March of fully 1,000 persons, most of them people of means.

Miss Helen Gould is now an honorary member of the fire department of Tarrytown and Roxbury. While Miss Gould is not liable to active fire duty, she is a full-fledged fireman, and is eligible to a seat in any state convention of firemen.

IRISH CAUSE UPROAR

AT THE OPENING OF BRITISH COMMONS.

John O'Donnell Skakes His Fist in the Face of Premier Balfour and is Suspended---Tim Healey Causes Much Merriment.

The British House of Commons reopened on October 16, the proceedings commencing with a turbulent debate. Premier Balfour moved that the remainder of the session be entirely devoted to government business, which, he explained, would consist mainly of the discussion of the Education and London Water bills, while the Indian budget, the Uganda railway, sugar bounties, and the supply vote would enable the procedure to be carried out. The Transvall, he added, would also require attion.

James B. Rice, leading the Liberals in the absence of Sir HenryCampbell Bannerman, mildly protested, and Mr. Patrick O'Brien, of the Irish members, asked that at least a day between now and Christmas may be devoted to a discussion of the serious state of affairs in Ireland.

Mr. Balfour replied that if the request for such an opportunity came from the Liberal leader, the government would grant it, but they could not notice it from the Irish party.

Wm. O'Brien thereupon made an impassioned speech, warning the House that Ireland was on the verge of revolt: The constitution, he said, was practically suspended, and now the members were gagged in the only parliament they had. Throughout Mr. O'Brien's remarks the Irish members kept up a perfect storm of applause.

When Mr. Wyndham, chief secretary for Ireland, entered the house, they hissed him loudly, and the Speaker, who was frequently on his feet asking for "order," sternly repressed the demonstration.

Mr. Lloyd George, backed up by Irish members and T. P. O'Connor, increased the excitement by bitterly upbraiding Mr. Balfour for declaring that Irish matters must only be discussed by favor of the English Liberals. Only after a heated colloquay with the Speaker was Mr. O'Connor prevented from voicing the abuse of Mr. Wyndham and a description of the alarming state of Ireland, which the other Nationalist members had not touched on.

During the afternoon the Speaker's ruling raised renewed clamor from the Irish benches. Members of the House of Lords, as spectators crowded into the House of Commons in expectation of a scene owing to the threats from the Irish benches, became more and more demonstrative.

The climax came unexpectedly. Mr. Healey, amidst intense excitement, said, in icy tones, "I rise to speak as a native of Uganda." The house was convulsed with laughter. In a speech which on all sides was characterized as one of the finest satires ever heard in the House of Commons, Mr. Healey, always a Ugandan, thanked the premier for his consideration which enabled the imperial parliament to devote time to the discussion of native affairs. He complimented Mr. Balfour on being able to sufficiently detach himself so as to be oblivious to the vital disturbances prevailing "in that most distant and distressful country, Ireland."

In this vein, which irresistibly held the attention of the house, and which caused Mr. Balfour himself frequent amusement, Mr. Healey completed with what a Unionist member defined as one of the "finest satirical indictments the government has ever undergone."

The Nationalist members continued the debate, fiercely declaring that Irish affairs were at present more important to England than any of the matters mentioned in Mr. Balfour's programme.

Wm. Redmond regretted that the Irish people could not with arms in their hands strike a blow against the tyranny with which they were subjected. The present action of the government, he declared, afforded a reason why the Irish members would take the first opportunity of hurling the ministers from office.

Ultimately Mr. Balfour moved the closure and the uproar broke out again with renewed vigor. John O'Donnell stood up and refused to give way to the Speaker. His fellow Nationalists shouted encouragement and cheered vigorously. The Speaker repeatedly warned Mr. O'Donnell that he was out of order and an exciting scene followed. Mr. Balfour moved the suspension of Mr. O'Donnell and the latter crossed the floor, sttod in front of the premier, shouting defiance, and shook his fist in Mr. Balfour's face. The house suspended Mr. O'Donnell by a vote of 341 to 51. Mr. Balfour smiled quietly as the Irish member shouted and gesticulated, and other members of the cabinet fearing that Mr. O'Donnell would actually assault the premier, moved towards him, but Mr. O'Donnell having concluded what he had to say returned to his seat and then left the house.

Previous to the action of the house in suspending Hr. O'Donnell the Speaker made the usual formal request that the offending member withdraw, which drew forth derisive cries of "Call the police," "Muster the Horse Guards," and others similar. The debate then closed by a vote of 263 to 148. Mr. Wyndham again came in for some lively hissing as he returned from the division lobby. Mr. Balfour's motion was then carried by a vote of 262 to 123 and the house went into committee on the Education bill.

Mr. O'Donnell's observations to Premier Balfour which gave offence were as follows: "Your chief secretary has given me six months for speaking in Ireland; now you refuse to allow me to speak here. You are his accomplice, and I despise you both."

DIVISION OF LABOR.

The Unions in the Manitoba Wheat Fields —Schedule of Duties and Wages Absolutely Unbreakable.

The Manitoba harvest field is a fine example of the division of labor. Labor unions are very strong in Winnipeg, where labor sees all around so much cheap land that it hasn't been able to get hold of. But naturally enough the labor union influence has extended to the wheat fields, where a schedule of duties and wages prevails which is absolutely unbreakable. The man who runs a thresher outfit makes a bargain like this: He will thresh for six cents a bushel, for which amount he provides the following staff, whom, of course, he pays out of his six cents to the bushel: A certificated engineer to run the engine, five dollars a day; a stoker, two dollars a day; a tanker, with team and wagon, to draw water for the engine, four dollars a day (if thresher has to provide team and wagon, two dollars a day) a separator man—usually the proprietor of the outfit—two dollars a day; a straw bucker, with team and bucking pole, four dollars a day; and five to seven wheat pitchers at two dollars a day each. The farmer boards the men and horses of the threshing outfit at his own expense, while the outfit man pays their wages. The farmer, who has had perhaps six harvest hands on the binder and following it, puts his men and wagons as stackers, and hires boys to team the tagged wheat from separator to elevator. In short, the thresher does and pays all that appertains to the threshing outfit, while the farmer uses his harvest staff either to draw to or draw from the separator.

There is only one exception to this rule. The bagger draws two wages—one from the thresher, one from the farmer. His business is to keep the hoppers clear and wheat in bags, and for that he gets two dollars a day. If he is expected to lift the bag from hopper to farm wagon, the farmer must pay him a dollar a day for it; and the farmer does. The bagger gets three dollars a day, and is a notable instance of how finely divisions of labor may be shaded.

The farmer's profit on ten thousand bushels of wheat at fifty-five cents a bushel need not be discussed here, but the thresher's profit on the same reckoning is an easier matter to get at. Supposing his outfit paid for, what can he make on five days' threshing? It takes him a day to thresh two thousand bushels, and for that he gets $120. Wages and team hire are the only outlay, because the farmer feeds and houses the outfit. Figuring on the scale of labor already indicated, his daily expenditure is from $25 to $30—leaving a net profit of $90 to $95 a day. There are from forty to fifty days of threshing, and other grains than wheat which must be threshed at lower rates per bushel. But when all is said and done the threshing outfit man makes a big profit for a short season and a small investment. It is not surprising to hear that lately groups of farmers around Hartney have formed syndicates and purchased threshing outfits. After their own crops are in the elevator those outfits will be hired out, and so the Manitoba farmer will reap two profits—one on the wheat and another on the threshing --H. F. G., in Toronto Star.

Bold Robbers.

A Toronto dispatch says: While at dinner tonight the family of John Drynan, Queen's park, heard a movement on the porch, and investigation proved that the whole upper flat had been ransacked, and $2,000 worth of diamonds and other jewelry taken.

The police were notified, and Constable Phillips suspected two men driving in a buggy of being the thieves. He followed them on his bicycle several blocks, finally seizing the horse by the bridle and stopping the rig. He then seized one of the men, who slipped out of his coat. The second man, in the meantime presented a revolver at the head of the constable, who was unarmed, and both got away.

The same men broke into the military institute, rifled the safe of $60, and left the following note:

"We have been here. (Signed) Alphonse and Gaston."

A medal for distinguished service has been awarded Squadron Sergt.-Major Routh, of Strathcona's horse.

MITCHELL ACCEPTS.

President of Miners' Union Will Submit to Arbitration.

The executive board of the three anthracite districts of the United Mine Workers of America in joint session, unanimously decided to recommend to the delegate convention of striking miners the acceptance of the arbitration proposition submitted by the President of the United States and it is reasonably certain that the advice will be followed and the great struggle brought to a close.

The convention will be held at Wilkesbarre, on Monday morning,and it is the hope and belief of officersof the union that the mining of coal will be resumed before the close of next week, after a suspension of more than five months.

The citizens of the entire region are much elated that the strike is almost over because business in the coal fields has been practically paralyzed since the strike began.

If the plans of the strike leaders are not disarranged, a general resumption of mining will take place about noon Thursday. It is expected the convention will last two days and that there will be an interval of one day from the time the convention adjourns till the time set for the men to go back to the mines. If the convention should be in session on Wednesday it is possible resumption will not take place till Friday.

There will not be work at first for all the strikers as it is the intention of the companies not to dismiss non-union men who have stood by them during the strike. The organization will take care of such other men as are unable to find work. It is estimated that all the strikers will not find work until two or three months have elapsed. This is due to the conditions of the mines. Some of them are wholly or partially flooded, and others need repairing.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

The Dominion will be well represented at the St. Louis exposition.

West Indies volcanoes are again throwing out sand and dust.

The British House of Commons reassembled on October 16. A turbulent scene was created by the Irish members, one of whom was suspended by the Speaker for a week.

The Coroner's jury has decided that young Wein's death at Low Farm was accidental, but the authorities have arrested Rymer and he will stand trial.

The mystery of the disappearance of Robert Darrach is troubling the Winnipeg police. Traces of blood from an hotel to the river were found.

Mail for the Peace River country will be despatched from Athabaska on November 15.

The Dominion government has made arrangements for the repayment of the duty on parcels posted in Great Britain.

G. B. Bird, carpet manufacturer, of England, jumped from the fourth story of the Rossin House, Toronto, on Thanksgiving morning, to the pavement below, and was instantly killed, his neck, back and arm being broken. Deceased was a man of 45 years of age, and had frequently visited Canada. He came to Toronto on Sunday last and had been suffering from nervous prostration since.

A revolution in brick-making is promised by Wm. Owen, C.E., London, England, who has just arranged with a Toronto firm to sell the American rights on a machine which, he states, will produce daily 150,000 bricks as hard as granite. That is fifteen times the ordinary capacity of the present day brick machines. The new machine does away with the use of clay and with a brick kiln, as the new brick is not burned. The raw materials are sand and lime. The brick is pressed in a twinkling, and is then put through a hardening process, involving chemical reaction, which occupies about five hours.

Fatal Accident in Winnipeg.

An accident, frightful in its nature and fatal in results, occurred on Thanksgiving Day at the new oatmeal mill in course of construction by the Ogilvie Flour Mills company in Winnipeg.

Two men, named T. Braath and Martin Dahl, both foreigners, were working on the interior of the bins, or hoppers, of the elevator in connection with the new mill. The scaffolding upon which they were working required shifting; one of the men pushed the scaffold from the wall, and in doing so the swinging platform became unbalanced, and the and the men were dashed to the bottom of the hopper, sixty feet down. Here they were forced through an 18-inch chute and hurled to the floor below. On their awful descent Dahl sustained a cut over the eyebrow and tem-

On October 16, the mail train at Woodstock, Ont., struck Edwin Cuthbertson, a carpenter, in front of the platform, throwing him some distance. He died two hours afterwards.

LAURIER DROPS TARTE.

J. Israel Tarte is no longer a member of the Laurier cabinet. It was up to the premier to sacrifice either the minister of public works or the minister of the interior, and he elected to keep Sifton. On the face of the matter Premier Laurier would have it appear that Tarte has been bundled out of the cabinet, because he was disloyal to his colleagues; and on his side the ex-minister of public works would have it appear that his resignation was called for because of the high tariff crusade he has been carrying on for several weeks past during the absence of the premier in Europe. There is possibly an element of truth in both of these pretensions, but they have been put forward with the common purpose of presenting the best possible front to the electors.

For months past it has been common knowledge that the breach in the cabinet between the minister of public works and the minister of the interior has been widening. They doubtless furnished all the elements for their own quarrel. Tarte is energetic; and whatever else may be said of him it must be conceded that he has contributed more to the strength of the Liberal party in the house of commons than any other member of it. Nor had anyone a better appreciation of this than Tarte himself. He always counted that the delivery of a solid province deserved recognition, and within certain limits most of his colleagues were prepared to give Tarte his swing. Oddly enough the man who had the least claim upon the consideration of the members of the Laurier cabinet was the one to interpose himself in the way of the Tarte "expansion", and the breach once started it was not difficult to widen it. Between a man whom they could control, and a man who certainly aimed to control them, the other members of the cabinet had little choice, and the result was Sifton got the long end of the stick in his row with the man who delivered the goods in Quebec.

Those who know Tarte can appreciate how distasteful it would be for him to play the part of a suppressed member in any cabinet, and it is not unlikely that he determined to get out so soon as he found the odds were against him. Tarte is an opportunist; he evidently decided to create his breach with the cabinet on the tariff question, and it must be conceded that the ex-minister has let himself down with dignity.

Just what place Tarte will take in politics hereafter is a matter of very keen speculation. In his new role as a protectionist, who in the language of the late Sir John A. Macdonald, "is prepared to go the whole hog," Tarte can certainly qualify as a leader of the Conservative opposition. He is easily the ablest man in Canada in politics but out of office, but it would be getting around a pretty sharp curve for the Conservatives of Ontario to recognize in "Tarte the Devil" that was, their patron saint that is to be.

No Blurred Type...

or indistinct images. No painful eye strain, or nervous headaches. The troubles vanish when

Old or Young Eyes are Fitted

with glasses eqactly suited to their condition and requirements. Come in and have a test made. It will cost nothing.

We carry a fine stock of eyeglasses, spectacles, gold, gold plated and nickle frames. Prices moderate.

A. C. LIPHARDT.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver.. x

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Reed Wilson south west corner post is the north west corner of C. H. Gill, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. REED WILSON.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. H. Aldridge south west corner post which is the north west corner of J Reed Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902.
W. H. ALDRIDGE.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. Labarth south west corner post situate 40 chains east of north west corner of Thos. Britt's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. LABARTH.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date. I. George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District. B.C., commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's gre-emption. on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.
Dated the 8th day of September 1902
GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district and commencing at a post marked Thomas Morrison's south-west corner adjoining Chas. Walde's south-east corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.
THOMAS MORRISON.
Daniel McKenzie, agent.
Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district, and commencing at a post marked Chas. Walde's south east corner thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.
CHARLES WALDE,
Daniel McKenzie, agent.
Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date that we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a twenty-one year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 3320 acres more or less situated on the west side of Elk river about two miles from the mouth of Michel creek, beginning at a post planted on the north side of what is known as Wilson creek about 1½ miles from its mouth, west 640 chains, thence north 60 chains; thence west 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence west 60 chains, thence south 260 chains, thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence east 640 chains, thence north 20 chains to place of commencement.
J. COWARD & SON.
Dated this 8th day of October, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on East side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. H. Gill south-west corner post, situate 40 chains west of the north-west corner of T. W. Bingay coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
C. H. GILL.
Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publ cation of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked C. W. Spencer south-west corner post which is the south-east corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
C. W. SPENCER
Dated this 14th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. S. Taylor south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of W. H. Aldridge's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
W. S. TAYLOR
Dated this 9th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked T. Tait south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of J. R. Nelson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
T. TAIT
Dated this 10th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River beginning at a post marked J. Oborne south-west corner post which is the south-east corner of Thos. Britt's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
J. OBORNE
Dated this 10th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend 30 days after the first publication as this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked initial post Mrs. C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 30 chains east of north west corner post of lot 4588, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement, containing 640 acres.
Dated this 12th day of Sept., 1902.
195-4 MRS. C. M. HENRETTA.

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I. F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's northwest corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petric's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.
Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.
F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the East side of Elk river beginning at the north west corner post of C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of T. W. Bingay, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 23rd day of Sept, 1902.
T. W. BINGAY.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be deard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay on the east side of Elk River. beginning at the south east corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, marked south west corner post of A. D. MacTier, thence 80 chains east, thence 80 chains north, thence 80 chains west, thence 80 chains south to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 20th day of Sept, 1902.
A. D. MacTIER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend, 30 days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. M. Henretta south west corner post, which is situate 20 chains west of north west corner post of Mrs. C. M. Henretta coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chairs, thence south 80 chains to beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 20th day of Sept., 1902.
C. M. Henretta.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river. beginning at a post marked, J. F. Miller south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. F. MILLER.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, S. G. Blaylock south west corner post situate 10 chains east of north west corner of J. F. Miller's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
S. G. BLAYLOCK.

Notice is hereby given that I the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east bank of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. L. C. Abbott south west corner post, which is north west corner of S. G. Blaylock's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of commencement and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. L. C. ABBOTT.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. R. Nelson south west corner post, situate 40 chains east of north west corner of W. H. Aldridge coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.
Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.
J. R. NELSON.

BIRDS FOR SALE

Beautiful canary birds for sale. Also house plants and flowers.

MRS. RENNY.
196 Opposite Central Hotel.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry,
We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

MORRISSEY, B.C.

Situated on two transcontinental lines of railroad and in the heart of Canada's great coal fields.

Senator Royce, of Vermont, in aninterview with a New York World correspondent a few days ago, said:—British Columbia is practically unknown, and its resources, so far discovered, are almost limitless. Development only will produce the results necessary to show that this vast territory contains greater stores than any other country in the world."

Development is now being carried on to a greater extent in the coal belt of the Crow's Nest Pass than in any other part of the province, and towns in this section will naturally have a large share of prosperity.

MORRISSEY TOWNSITE CO.,
THOS. CRAHAN, Agent,
Morrissey, B. C.

Don't Throw Away Your MONEY

On anything in Clothing, Shoes, Gent's Furnishings. Best goods at half price at

The Bannett Reese Co.

LIMITED.

Opposite Bank.

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES,
LIQUORS,
BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods
to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies
casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

Lib Legislative Asst. 1901

171

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. 18 FERNIE, B.C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER, 1 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 200

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.

Office :—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER

Herchmer & Herchmer

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.

Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47

I.O. O.F.

Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.

ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35

A.F. A.M.

Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

W. J. TIMLICK, Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.

United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joienrs...

Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.

THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS. Secretary.

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....

Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN

ON VALUABLES

The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.

Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison

Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.

If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.

Opposite the Royal Hotel.

Fort Steele Licence District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned has made an application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for a wholesale licence at the place set opposite to his name.

Louis Carosella, wholesale Licence in the premises known as being situate on lot number 4 in block number 9 in the Townsite of Fernie.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House at Fernie, on Friday, the 14th day of November, at the hour of 7:30 in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES.
Fernie, Nov, 1, '02 Chief Licence Inspector.

Miss Gobbett is starting a private class to be conducted on kindergarten principles. The class will be opened on the first Monday in November opposite the skating rink. Hours from 9.30 to 12. Terms $2 a month in advance.

CRANBROOK SPORTS.

MITCHELL-NEVIN RACE THE CAUSE OF MUCH ILL-FEELING.

An Exciting Day in Cranbrook. The Race a Fluke. Jack Fitzgerald Wins Boxing Contest.

Monday, October 27th, will long be remembered by the sporting element of both Cranbrook and Fernie. It was the day on which the much-talked of race between H. Nevin, of Cranbrook and F. J. Mitchell, of Fernie, was booked to take place. In days gone by a somewhat bitter feeling has existed between the towns over sporting matters but this reached a climax on Monday and the only wonder is that their was not serious trouble. The Fernie boys had every confidence in Mitchell and they went down prepared to back him to the extent of their pile. Cranbrook sports were just as confident that their man would win and the result was that by the hour set for the race, 11 o'clock, about seven thousand dollars was up.

The preliminaries of the race was then arranged. H. Haines, of Cranbrook, and Harry Bentley were selected as starters, and James Ryan, G. H. Miner and H. Hunter, of Pincher Creek, as judges, both the former being Cranbrook men

The race was to be with a flying start and it was arranged that Mr. Haines should fire a pistol if the start was right but that if it was not satisfactory to Mr. Bentley he was to fire a second shot to call them back.

The men came down to the mark with Nevin probably eight or ten inches in the lead. Haines fired his pistol for the men to start and in the shout that followed the start the second shot from H. Bentley's pistol was not heard by the runners. For seventy yards the men ran side by side and then Nevin gradually forged ahead and crossed the line fully three feet ahead of Mitchell. The supposed victor was hoisted on the shoulders of his friends and was being carried off the field in triumph when they learned that the judges had declared it to be a false start. Tremendous excitement prevailed. The Cranbrook men thought that they were being robbed of the race and no language was too strong to apply to the Fernie boys. It was finally arranged that the race was to be run over again at one o'clock and Mitchell left for the Cranbrook hotel.

At about 12 o'clock he was informed that the time had been changed until 12:30, but he had strained his leg in the race and desired all the time he could before going out again and as the pain developed as the afternoon came on it was finally decided that he had better not run. The Cranbrook people were furious when they learned that there would be no race and heaped every insult upon the heads of those from Fernie. The judges decided that Nevin had won the race by default and that all side bets were declared off, but later on reversed the latter part of their decision and said they had nothing to do with the side bets.

The Fernie men who had money on the race have entered protests against it being paid over on the ground that there was no race. How the matter will end it is difficult to say. Had the Cranbrook people not been so abusive the chances are the matter would have been dropped, but after the way they were treated the Fernie men are determined to fight the matter to the end and have engaged Messrs. Ross & Alexander to look after their interests.

BOXING CONTEST

The boxing contest was the only other event of the day in which the people of Fernie were interested and it was very brief. Speaking of the contest the Herald says:—"W. W. Tuttle was selected as referee, and a better one could not have been selected and when his name was announced the crowd present broke into cheers of approval. The hall was not crowded yet there were quite a number present, and the seating arrangement was very satisfactory. The prices were $1.50 for general admission, $2.00 for front rows and $2.50 for ring seats. It was nearly 9 o'clock when the men took their corners and stripped for the contest, "Fitz" showed his power in his chest and shoulders but gave evidence of a lack of hard training, as there was too much superfluous flesh. Lewis on the contrary was apparently in fine fettle. When time was called the men stepped forward and the referee announced that it was to be a clean break away and that the pivot blow was barred. After shaking hands, quick action followed, as "Fitz" seemed determined to rush the battle from the start. In fact, there was more work in that part of a round, than is often seen in several rounds of the average boxing contest. Within a few seconds "Fitz" landed a terrific blow on Lewis' chin, sending him to the ropes and to his knees, where he remained until the referee had counted nine. From that time "Lewis" was punk. He attempted to foul on the break aways and three times went after the pivot blow although repeatedly warned by the referee The third time the play was so strong, although "Fitz" was always out of the way, that the referee called off the contest and gave his decision to Fitzgerald before time had been called on the first round.

The Herald goes on to intimate that the affair was a fake but Referee Tuttle says that their was not the slightest evidence of a fake about it. After the first heavy blow on the chin, Lewis did not know what he was doing and was fighting wild.

A DISGRACEFUL ORGIE.

To the Editor.

The contingent of young people from Michel who took in the ball at Blairmore on Monday last presented a rather shocking appearance as they boarded the car on Tuesday morning. Most of them were in a disgraceful state of intoxication and still had bottles of whiskey with them from which they imbibed freely on the journey. The language used was often horribly impure and offensive and ought not to have been permitted by the car conductor in such a public conveyance, especially as there were children present. The conduct of certain of the female portion was to say the least somewhat startling. The party took full possession of the first class car and the other passengers had to patiently endure the ordeal until they reached Michel, when most of the offenders managed to get off in some way. One or two had very narrow escapes of being run over, but with the drunkard's luck they were spared. It was certainly an eye-opener for the spectators as to what takes place at the balls, so called along the line. If some of them could have seen themselves, for very shame's sake, they would have fled the country by this.—Com.

Michel, Oct. 29th, 1902.

A NEW EXPLOSIVE.

An ingenious invention, it is stated, on the authority of an English mining journal, has been successfully tested in several of the excellently worked collieries of Lancashire, Eng., and bids fair to add greatly to the simplification of coal mining. Under existing conditions the coal, after it has been undercut, is brought down by an explosion of gun powder. The new device brings down the coal by water power exercised through a hydraulic cartridge and obviates the wasteful shattering of the fuel.

Made of steel, the cartridge is 20 inches in length. Along its sides are orifices, each of which admits a pressure of three tons per square inch, the total pressure being over 60 tons. When inserted into the hole bored into the coal to be operated upon, the cartridge is connected with a small hand pump. In a few minutes after the apparatus has been at work the coal breaks up and comes down in great blocks. There are no clouds of dust such as are caused by the gunpowder method, and the entire operation is carried on without the slightest danger to the workers. About one and a half pints of water is used in the operation, and as the liquid returns to a tank it can be repeatedly used.

Although the initial expenditure is greater, the cartridge method is much more economical than the system now in vogue. It reduces the cost of labor, prevents waste and secures rounder coal. One colliery proprietor who has adopted the invention for use in three mines computes that each cartridge saves $75 per week.

Just arrived at Watson's, a fine Heintzman Piano. Others are on the way. x

Dr. Bonnell is up at Perry Creek on business in connection with a mining property in which he is interested.

MEN GO BACK TO WORK

TROUBLE AT MORRISSEY IS SETTLED.

Men Accept Company's Scale on Trial. Other Mining News.

The trouble at Morrissey mines between the company and its employees, which threatened to tie up the mining industry of British Columbia again, is over and the people of Fernie breathe freely again. The committee which waited on General Manager Tonkin on Saturday last came to an arrangement by which they were to accept the scale as laid down by the management until December 1st, when a committee of the employees at Morrissey shall again meet the management and arrange any differences which may arise from the wage scale. The scale offered by the company is 40, 50 and 60 cents a ton and yardage allowed.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company have imported a gasoline velocipede for the use of the officials of the company in travelling between their different mining properties. The car has a speed of twenty-five miles an hour, which is about six miles an hour faster than the regular trains make on the Crow's Nest branch. It will be a great convenience to General Manager Tonkin and Superintendent Stockett.

Six hundred Wolfe lamps arrived from Germany this week for use in the Coal Creek mines. The old Claney lamps will be discarded. The Wolfe is supposed to be the best safety lamp made.

The output at the mines is gradually increasing all the time. The record since the explosion was broken on Wednesday of this week, the mines turning out over 942 tons.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Cleveland, Nov. 1.—A sensational scene occurred during a political meeting in the public square to-day in which Mayor Johnston struck Wm. Mylecraide, a Republican Tax Board official, in the face with his fist. According to the statement of the bystanders the Mayor overheard Mylecraide assert that he, Johnston was a liar. Hot words followed and then the mayor struck him. Mylecraide left the square declaring that he would get a warrant for the mayor's arrest.

Montreal, Nov, 1.—Representatives of every cotton mill in Canada attended a meeting held here to-day at which the cotton section of the Manufacturers' Association was formed. Their action is part of a general move to secure revision of the tariff by an increase of duty.

Vancouver, Nov. 1.—There is no marked change in Mr. Maxwell's condition. His physicians hold out very little hope of his recovery. He may linger on for some while yet, but his condition is such that the end may come at any moment.

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—S. Edmund Berch, ex-member of the House of Delegates, was found guilty to-day of perjury in his testimony before the Grand Jury as to the $75,000 boodle fund raised to secure the passage of the suburban franchise bill and was sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary.

Toronto, October 31.—M. A. Harper, proprietor of the commercial hotel, died last night, having strained his neck in a fall down stairs on Wednesday night.

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Genl. Booth of the Salvation Army arrived here last night and was received at the City Hall by the mayor and aldermen.

Toronto October 31.—Judge McDougall this morning sentenced five of the former street railway conductors who were found guilty of stealing from fare boxes they were using.

Stratford, Oct. 31.—North Perth, held by Monteith, Conservative, becomes open by mutual agreement of the two candidates. Negotiations were held by opposing counsel at the hour set for the trial of the election petition. It seems that on scrutiny the majority of one held by Monteith would be reversed and under these circumstances it was decided to abandon the protest and hold a new election.

Married

The marriage of Mr Frank Lander and Miss Charolette Sneddon took place at the residence of the brides' parents, Fernie, on Tuesday evening of this week. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. L. Gordon.

Victoria's Narrow Escape

The Victoria had a narrow escape from the fire demon on Thursday of this week. A little boy who was playing with matches and a candle set fire to one of the window curtains on the second floor. The screams of the child quickly drew the attention of one of the servants to the fire which had reached the ceiling and was rapidly spreading throughout the room. A few well directed pails of water quenched the flames but not before the walls and woodwork of the room were badly scorched.

Adjourned

The case againit James Lawton, charged with robbery at Morrissey, came up for hearing before Stipendiary Magistrate Armstrong on Wednesday evening of this week. Two or three witnesses were heard and the case was laid over until the 7th of November in order to give the accused an opportunity to procure counsel. Some strange evidence was brought out at the trial. It appears that the $36 alleged to have been taken from Graham Love was found in the prisoner's shoes by the hotel bartender. The prisoner says that he knows nothing about the money. He went into Love's room to visit him as one friend would another when he was seized and arrested. He says it is a conspiracy on the part of his enemies.

Hockey

Hockey enthusiasts are beginning to talk of organizing for the coming season. An effort is being made to secure three or four new players from the east. The boys would like very much if any of the business men of the town are putting on new clerks that they secure men who can play the game. The following from the Nelson News shows that the hockey club of that town intend losing no time in getting down to work: "Hockey enthusiasts have started practising already in anticipation of the coming winter. While the game as played on the bare ground lacks many of the more exciting features of ice hockey it still is a most interesting sport and at the first turnout held at the rink on Monday evening over a dozen were on hand."

Unions and Unions

A public meeting will be held in Princess Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th, for the purpose of organizing a sawmill men's union, a teamster's union and also a federal union, which will take in all other forms of labor that have not sufficient number to form a union of their own, such as the stonemasons, bricklayers, brickmakers, hod carriers, painters, foundry men, barbers, clerks, cooks and waiters, servant girls, hotel employees, etc. The meeting is called by order of Gladstone Miners' Union, No. 76; the Rocky Mountain Bartenders' Union, of Fernie; The Fernie Brewers' Union, and the Fernie Socialist League. C. R. O'Brien, who has been appointed organizer for the American Labor Union, will have charge of the meeting.

A Protest

Sportsmen living along the Crow's Nest branch who are in the habit of taking a run down to the prairie on Sundays for a duck hunt will read the following item from the Pincher Creek Echo with interest: "The average pothunter that strikes here every Saturday night or Sunday daybreak displays as little regard for the laws of God or man as he does either in ignorance of or contempt for the game regulations. For the Holy Day he has no reverence and to him the chance of fifty dollars fine for trespass and another fifty for killing game out of season has no terrors. The ranchers here are tired of this sort of thing, and old men threaten the shotgun and young men the boots to those parties if they do not ask permission before entering enclosed lands for game. Last Sunday, Mr. F. Thomas had a narrow escape as the shot scattered around him in his own barnyard. Mr. Marcellus had a valuable colt cut badly by being frightened by shots among his stock, while Mr. Varley caught some of these law breakers shooting chickens in his corral. The police stops a man from stacking his grain on Sundays, but allows these miscreants to go free. The end is not far off."

OLD WORLD CABLES

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE EMPIRE'S CAPITAL.

Movements of Royalty---British Admiralty Awards Contract For Fast Warships---Government to Beware South African Loyalists.

Nearly four hundred recipients of coronation war honors were invested by King Edward at Buckingham palace on October 24. The investiture was carried out in the ball room, with the usual ceremonies. All the great officers of state were present, and the scene was particularly brilliant. All the participants, in accordance with his majesty's instructions, wore all the ribbons, orders or medals they possessed.

* * *

The Prince and Princess of Wales will spend the autumn months at Sandringham, where the royal accouchment will take place in November. All the Princess' children have been born at York Cottage, except Prince Edward, who was born, in the late Duchess of Teck's lifetime, at White Lodge.

* * *

The sentence of the Crimes court, imposed on James P. Farrell, M.P., (who was convicted at Longford on October 10 of publishing intimidating articles in his newspaper, The Longford Leader, and was sentenced to two months' imprisonment at hard labor and to an additional three months in default of bail for good behaviour), has been confirmed by the Longford assizes. Judge Curran, offered to reduce the sentence to a month and to omit hard labor if Mr. Farrell would promise to cease boycotting and intimidation. This the prisoner refused to do.

* * *

The English missionary, Mr. Cooper, who was murdered at Fez, Morocco, recently, had a wife and two children there, and there is considerable apprehension as to their fate, as well as that of four other women missionaries. It is known there has been a considerable recrudescence of anti-foreign feeling.

* * *

Letters from the Kansas mission of Mequinez, composed of twelve Americans, described the situation there as critical. These missionaries say they are shut up "like rats in a hole." More recent telegrams from Mequinez, however, indicate that the rising of the Berber tribes has been suppressed.

* * *

The Daily Mail says it understands that the government will next week ask parliament to vote a grant of $10,000,000 for the benefit of those residents of the Transvaal who remained loyal to Great Britain during the war in South Africa in addition to the $15,000,000 granted under the peace treaty.

* * *

Mr. G. S. Jackson, Mamchester secretary of the Tramway Men's association has been invited by the labor representation committee to oppose either Mr. Balfour in Northeast Manchester or Mr. J. G. Groves, in South Salford. He has asked for time to consider which seat he will contest. He has been promised a salary of £500 in the event of success.

* * *

The Copenhagen correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph describes in graphic language how the sale of the Danish islands in the West Indies to the United States was refused ratification by the landsthing. The result was doubtful until the last moment, as one member had not taken up a definite stand on the question, and it was uncertain whether two others, who are ill, could attend. The excitement had become intense. These two sick members, one 97 years, the other 87, have been confined to their beds for many weeks at a place 150 miles away, and, indeed, are expected to die. On Tuesday, however, some prominent political leaders were sent to transport them to Copenhagen. They were carried into an ambulance carriage, which was placed on the ferry across the channel separating their island from Jutland, and, accompanied by physicians, they travelled to the capital. Here they were met by certain prominent anti-sale agitators and were driven in carriages to an hotel. Wednesday morning they were taken to the landsthing hall an hour before the first meeting, and were carried in and placed in their chairs with a prompter at their side to inform them how to vote. The names of these men are Thygeson and Raben. This story, no doubt, sounds like fiction, but it is literally true. The result of the vote, which was by roll call, was awaited with breathless excitement, and when on the last name being called the president answered it was a tie, the spectators broke out, some into cheers and others into hisses. Pandemonium reigned, and it was impossible to suppress the popular feeling. The more violent opponents of the treaty particularly exhibited their joy like children.

Any man who really knows women doesn't pretend to understand them.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News of the World Chronicled in Short Paragraphs.

Toews, the Altona murderer, is on the road to recovery, and has been sent to jail.

A rich strike has been made at the Mikado mine, at Rat Portage.

The Manitoba government has decided to drain the Beausejour district.

Hon. James Sutherland is looked upon as the new minister of public works for Canada.

A big German-Swiss colony will be established by an Oklahoma resident in Assiniboia.

The British government is desirous of raising and maintaining 5,000 troops in Canada.

A little girl at Toronto had her arm cut off by a train, and ran home to inform her moth?r of the accident.

Latest reports show that Miss Louise Smith was burned to death in the hotel fire at Fairview, B. C., and Manager Mathias succumbed to injuries.

Mrs. John Laine, of Brockett, Walsh county, N.D., poisoned her eight-months-old child and suicided.

King Oscar of Sweden has been summoned to a law court regarding the disappearance of some papers.

A message from Mississippi Station, on the Kingston and Pembroke railway, states that Charles Glenn, an unmarried man, by accident fell on the shingle saw in Allan Bros.' mill, and was instantly killed, his head being almost severed from his body.

Percy Syer, 11 years old, son of S. Syer, of Milton, Ont., died of lockjaw as the result of running a rusty nail into the calf of his leg while playing football.

The average yield of wheat at Moose Jaw is 30 to 35 bushels to the acre.

A lone robber held up the Northern Pacific westbound passenger train on October 24 near Drummond, Mont. The engineer was killed and all of the registered mail was taken. The robber escaped.

Word has been received in Toronto of a sad shooting accident which happened to Mrs. Wm. Lawson, of Beamaris, Muskoka. Her son William was cleaning his rifle and something was caught in the barrel. He was advised to fire it off. While walking towards the door the rifle accidentally exploded, the charge lodging in his mother's thigh.

A dispatch from Parry Sound says: Sunday last the body of an unknown man was found in the bush on Parry Island, near Depot harbor. The man had died from starvation and exposure. The body is probably that of a seaman from the steamer Yuma, an American vessel of Cleveland, which arrived at Depot harbor on the 2nd inst. Evidence was given at the inquest that the man had been a bartender, formerly employed at Ashtabula He had given the captain of the Yuma trouble, being in delirium tremens, and had been placed in irons while on board. It is alleged that the captain of the Yuma allowed the man to desert whilst in a demented condition and afterwards left the port without notifying the local authorities as to the disappearance.

Cured of His Blindness.

A Montreal dispatch says: A marvellous cure of blindness has just been effected in this district. Joseph Brunet, formerly of this city, but now residing in Valleyfied, while undergoing treatment in a hospital 19 years ago was suddenly stricken with with blindness. The best oculists in Canada and the Eastern United States were consulted, but could offer Mr. Brunet no hope and he was condemned to darkness for the rest of his life.

Lately Mr. Brunet, who has been living on charity, heard that his brother, who has been blind for five years, had been cured by Dr. Grandpre, of Valleyfield. He soon made his way to that town, but owing to his long blindness Dr. Grandpre thought it useless to treat him. Brunet, however, persisted, and the physician finally consented to take him as a patient. In one month he was able to read a newspaper, and today he is able to thread a fine needle.

It appears that the cause of blindness of both men was due to some chest affection, which the doctor succeeded in removing. Brunet says people, animals and everything is different from the impression he retained of them in the nineteen years of blindness. Brunet is a middle-aged, thick-set man, and when seen by a reporter his eyes looked bright and clear.

A man may do worse than read poetry. He may attempt to write it.

The British admiralty has given out contracts for the construction of three warships described as "scouts." They will have a speed of 25¼ knots when in fighting trim. Their engines will be of 17,000 horsepower, and their [illegible] qualities will be superior to those of the torpedo boat destroyers.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

TELEGRAMS FROM BOTH HEMISPHERES.

Matters That Will Interest Everybody---Little of Everything Easily Read and Remembered by the Dear Public---World Over Notes.

Coal has been found at Ashnola, B.C.

Gold ore found near Princeton, B. C., assayed $2,700 to the ton.

Lord Strathcona is confined to his room by a sprained ankle.

Izalco volcano in Salvador island, in the West Indies, is in eruption.

Mayor Arbuthnot has decided to enter the contest for chief magistrate of Winnipeg for a third term.

There is a movement on foot among the school teachers of Winnipeg to establish a superannuation fund.

A Springfield syndicate is considering plans for the erection of a sanitarium with mineral baths, and the construction of a railway to Lorne Hill, for passenger service, and the transportation of salt, sand and gravel.

Mrs. John Packer has been arrested at Calgary charged with killing her own child.

The Ontario license department has ordered all bar rooms closed on the day of voting on the referendum.

Miners riots in France made it necessary to call out cavalry.

Col. Swayne's force of British troops in Somaliland has reached safety.

Winnipeg bank clearings for the week ending October 23, increased two million dollars.

Mr. J. Obed Smith, immigration commissioner, Winnipeg, has left for England to study immigration methods.

Sir Henry Strong, chief justice of the supreme court, has announced his intention of retiring. He will be succeeded by Sir Elzear Taschereau.

Fred Germains, a conductor on the Canada Atlantic railway, was crushed between two cars near Pembroke about ten days ago, and died of his injuries.

The first great sky-scraper of Toronto will be built on the corner of King and Jordan streets, for the Metropolitan bank. It will be fifteen stories high.

Grant McLean, the son of Col. McLean of Port Hope, Ont., died on October 23 of peritonitis, which resulted from injuries received in a lacrosse match played at Millbrook a week ago.

A conductor of a C. P. R. freight named Lacasse, was knocked off while standing on top of a car passing through the bridge across St. Maurice river at Three Rivers, Que., and falling under the train, was killed.

The excellent hotel accommodation given by the C. P. R. to Rocky Mountain travellers has attracted visitors from all parts of the world. The road is doubling in size all its mountain chalets and adding largely to its number of sleeping cars.

The supreme court at Olympia, Wash., has decided that a Japanese cannot become a citizen of the United States. The point came up directly in the matter of the admission of a young Japanese lawyer to the bar of that state, the law making citizenship a qualification for admission.

A serious accident occurred at Lethbridge on October 23 to James Stafford, son of the late colliery superintendent. While taking a load of lumber to his ranch, his horses ran away when about 20 miles from Lethbridge, throwing him out, the waggon passing over his body. When examined it was found that both arms were broken, also three ribs, but no internal injuries have been discovered.

A severe electrical storm in the Woodstock district destroyed the barns of Adam Mohr, Tavistock; the loss is $3,000. Mike Clarke, of London township, will also lose $1,200. Wm. Woods, Bryanstown, lost ten milch cows in a fire. Altogether the loss in the district from lightning and fire is over $10,000; insured largely in mutual companies.

A London cable says: A large gathering of the influential persons, representing the agricultural interests, dealers, breeders, co-operative societies, and dock boards met a number of members of parliament on Oct. 23 at the Westminster Palace hotel and urged their views with regard to the removal of the restrictions placed by law upon the importation of live Canadian cattle into British ports. The members of parliament present promised to use every effort to further the lifting of the objectionable embargo and a resolution was unanimously passed to ask parliament to amend the act of 1896. It is expected next session a bill will be produced in the house of commons asking that Canadian cattle be allowed to enter British ports. Every speaker urged that Canada be treated as a part of the empire, not as a foreign nation.

A wise bride always improves the present by disposing of the duplicate wedding gift.

The Island of Cuba was known by that name by the Lucanyan Indians, who were with Columbus when he discovered it.

NOVEL PRIZE OFFER.

The Weekly Tribune Is Giving Away Magnificent Premiums.

The publishers of The Winnipeg Weekly Tribune are this season offering their subscribers absolutely free of charge over 200 prizes, making a total value value of over two thousand dollars.

They are giving away to subscribers who estimate upon the number of letters of the alphabet and figures contained in the Speech from the Throne, which will be read at the opening of the next session of the Dominion Parliament, the magnificent and costly prizes which are announced from week to week in the Weekly Tribune, and which number in all over 200, and aggregate in value over Two Thousand Dollars. The one making the nearest correct estimate of the exact total of the letters and figures in the speech will receive the first prize, which is a magnificent upright Morris piano, valued at $375; the second nearest, the second prize, which is one of the celebrated six-foot cut Massey-Harris self-binder; the third nearest, the third prize, which is a handsome piano-cased organ, and so on throughout the entire list of magnificent prizes, which embraces watches, stoves, plows, guns, silver tea sets, bedroom, dining-room and parlor suites, books, etc., etc.

All those competing must remit with their estimate one full year's subscription to the Weekly Tribune. New and renewal subscribers will compete on the same basis. The contest will close one week before the next session of parliament opens, so that there will not be the slightest chance of any subscriber having in advance the least knowledge of the contents of the Speech from the Throne that will open the house.

The last four Speeches from the Throne contained 3,211, 5,166, 3,795 and 4,538 letters and figures respectively.

What is your estimate of the number of letters and figures of the next speech? Figure it out, or guess at it, and send it in with your subscription and you have a chance of winning one of the magnificent prizes. See The Weekly Tribune for full particulars and estimate blanks. The Weekly Tribune is supplied from now to the first of January, 1904, for One Dollar. Address all orders to The Tribune Publishing Company, Winnipeg.

Sensation in Newfoundldnd.

A dispatch from St. John's, Nfld., says: The topic of the week in St. John's has been the embezzlement of the Reid Newfoundland railway and steamboat employees, which was unearthed by a special detective from Canada, who came here and travelled over the island incog at the special invitation of the railway company. He had been here since August last, and freely fraternized with the officials on the trains and on the Bay steamers. While the latter gave him their entire confidence and supposed him to be an ordinary traveller, not interested in any way in the conduct of the service. The matter was first made public last week by the arrest of the two colored porters on the train from Port Aux Basques to St. John's. As many as twenty officials have been implicated in embezzling sums of money aggregating upwards of $10,000 belonging to the company. They nearly all had deposits of $1,000 in the bank and on giving up their bank books to Mr. Reid were allowed to go quietly out of the country.

One of the colored porters named Wilson, who refused to give up his deposit book, secured counsel and fought the case out in court, with the result that he was sentenced to three months in the penitentiary. A misappropriation of only $4.50 could be traced against him, and on this he was convicted by the court.

A Marvellous Cure.

A dispatch from Butte, Mont., says: What is believed by physicians to be a most remarkable scientific discovery was made in the case of Dr. H. A. Cayley, the alleged victim of Editor J. W. Kelly, of the Inter-Mountain. Cayley, since the shooting a week ago, has been in a continued state of paralysis, with the physicians expecting death momentarily. The bullet was supposed to have lodged near the spinal cord, and all hope of recovery had been given up.

Late last night it was determined to perform an operation and an X-ray apparatus was secured, with a view of locating the leaden missile. The bullet in its downward course had absolutely destroyed the nerves of the stomach, pelvic organ and lower extremities, and this was supposed to make recovery absolutely impossible. The victim was subjected to the rays of the machine for twenty-five minutes, when, to the astonishment of all, the wounded man declared loudly the X-ray had cured him. To increase their great surprise the doctors found the paralysis had wholly left their patient and that the movements of his body were unrestricted. Cayley had been completely paralyzed below the chest. Dr. Hanson late last night made the announcement he firmly believed that in the treatment of Cayley with the X-ray he has made a wonderful discovery, which will be of incalculable value to the medical fraternity. No recent case has elicited so much interest and today, more than a week after the shooting occurred, the interest is unabated.

French ideas of assessing damages cost by cyclists is most amusing. Knocking down a man cost 26 francs; upsetting a woman, 14 francs. Where is the spirit of French gallantry? A policeman or gendarme is dead cheap at 9 francs. The two real bargains are a child, 6 francs, and a postman, 2½ francs. These sentences were all imposed at the same court, by the same beak, within six months.

DOMESTIC TROUBLES

AN INTERESTING MATRIMONIAL COMEDY.

A Winnipegger Arrested in St. Paul at the Instance of His Irate Wife on a Charge of Desertion---An Amusing Climax.

A St. Paul dispatch says: Capt. Hanft of the Central police station figured as stage director in a one-act domestic comedy drama today. The curtain was rung up when the following telegram was received from Shell Lake, Wis:

"Policeman, Union Depot, St.Paul: Hold Neil Gordon on train 61. Conductor has description and will point him out, as he is armed. I will be on "Twilight" to-night. Answer if found or not." (Signed) "Mrs. Neil Gordon."

In the belief that some terrible crime had been committed an order went forth to escort an armed desperado to the bastile as soon as he alighted from the train. Accordingly Mr. Gordon's welcome to St. Paul was somewhat strenuous. His revolver and $90 were taken from him despite his protestations that he had not violated the law, and he was introduced to the unpleasant side of a barred door. Capt. Hanft then telegraphed Mrs. Gordon at Shell Lake, asking if the charge was desertion. This terse message came back:

"Yes, desertion." (Signed) Mrs. Neil Gordon."

"Now tell your story to me," said the captain.

"Well, you see, captain, it's this way," responded Gordon: "We lived in Winnipeg and my wife's folks live at Shell Lake, Wis. Now my wife's been pretty sick and—"

"Neil Gordon!"

"The man's face paled at the sound of that voice, and his knees shook. The figure of a woman appeared in the doorway.

"Do I look like a sick woman? So here you are; you thought you would lose me, didn't you; you——?"

Capt. Hanft faltered: "You—you certainly don't look sick." Then turning to the trembling Gordon he asked: "Is this your wife?"

"Yes," meekly whispered the recreant husband.

Then while the wife glared and her better third cowered behind the captain the latter decided it was up to him to do a small Solomonesque stunt. Taking the revolver and the $90 which had been found on Gordon he presented $80 and the pistol to the leading lady of the sketch and assigned $10 and a bunch of advice to Gordon.

"Give him back his money," said she; "I don't want it, I want him."

"Well, you'd better hold his money and gun and you'll stand a better chance of holding him," replied the captain. "Now, you can both trot along to the Metropolitan hotel over here and then I'd advise you to keep on moving toward Winnipeg in the morning. Good night."

Courtship of Ten Hours.

The St. Paul Globe tells this pretty story: John Gilmore, of Turell, Saskatchewan, and Miss Minnie Hallet, of Minneapolis, were married yesterday after the briefest courtship on record. Gilmore came in from the Northwest Territories on Saturday night. He has taken up half a section of government land, and this summer broke 100 acres. Gilmore lives in Senty, Iowa. He paid a visit to Seney with the intention of marrying a young woman to whom he had been engaged when he went north to extend his fortune. On his arrival in Seney two weeks ago he found that his fiancee had become the bride of a rival named Anderson. Gilmore took the next train out of Seney. He came to Minneapolis to see a married sister, Mrs. T. Carlson, of 1424 Fourteenth avenue south. Visiting with Mrs. Carlson was Miss Hallet, who is the daughter of a Minnesota farmer, also farming in the Saskatchewan valley. Gilmore was introduced to Miss Hallet yesterday morning at breakfast. He married her before supper.

It developed that the father of Miss Hallet and Gilmore had a claim within eleven miles of the latter's property. Gilmore is a giant in stature. He stands 6 feet 4 inches in his stockings. Miss Hallet is an exceedingly pretty girl, but very slight and not over five feet in height.

Fourteen boys of the senior fourth class of the Central public school at Kingston, Ont., went out on strike because their teacher, Principal Greenlees, took ten minutes off their morning recess by way of punishment for what he considered a misdemeanor on their part. The boys claim they were punished wrongfully, and refuse to go back until the board of education investigates their grievance.

* * *

The Hon. Lady Biddulph, who was a life long friend of the late Queen Victoria, died at Windsor on October 23. King Edward visited Lady Biddulph just before her death.

FERNIE FREE PRESS.

FERNIE, B.C.

Why doesn't some genius come to the front with fireproof material for pockets in which money couldn't burn a hole.

In washing woollens and flannels, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will be found very satisfactory.

Idle boasting is the smoke and true courage of fire.

A man is always broad-minded beqaaintance she looks daggers at him.

DIFFERENCES OF OPINION regarding the popular internal and external remedy, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—do not, so far as known exist. The testimony is positive and concurrent that the article relieves physical pain, cures lameness, checks a cough, is an excellent remedy for pains and rheumatic complaints, and it has no nauseating or other unpleasant effect when taken internally.

When a woman cuts a man's accause his head is level.

It is apt to make a young man hot when his rival casts him in the shade

MINARD'S LINIMENT Relieves Neuralgia.

Most women-haters are floor-walkers in departmental stores.

There are few faces that can afford not to smile occasionally.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

It is astonishing how far a few feminine tears will go with a man.

Any young man who is in love likes to say good night the next morning.

If the average man could only sell the advice he gives away it would keep him busy looking after his income.

Some people's lack of sense is more conspicuous than their lack of dollars.

A man may gush over a woman, or vice-versa, but the gushing is seldom mutual.

The Flow of Milk will be increased.

Why go to all the trouble of keeping cows and get only about half the milk they should produce.

Dick's Blood Purifier

strengthens the digestion and invigorates the whole system so that the nutriment is all drawn from the food. It takes just the same trouble to care for a cow when she gives three quarts as when she gives a pail. Dick's Blood Purifier will pay back its cost with good interest in a few weeks.

50 cents a package.

Leeming, Miles & Co., Agents, MONTREAL.

Monogram Paper.

A MOST acceptable Christmas Gift is a box of "Ryrie" stationery, stamped in relief with a monogram.

We engrave a steel die with any three letters, as shown above:

Stamp from it 120 sheets of choice note paper:

And furnish envelopes to match, for a total cost of $4.00.

The "die" will last a lifetime.

Write for our new catalogue.

Ryrie Bros., Jewelers, Yonge and Adelaide Streets, Toronto.

MARKETS.

(Compiled from The Commercial)

WHEAT—General Situation: Wheat has been firm this week, and trading has been on the liberal scale, at a narrow range of prices. While markets have been firm, there has been very little change in values, prices remaining just about where they were a week ago. Business in United States markets in a speculative way has been large.

WHEAT — Local Situation: The marketing of wheat at country points has continued on a fairly liberal scale, though the desire of farmers to get their fall plowing done has kept the movement to market considerably smaller than it would otherwise have been. There is, however, all the wheat coming in that the railways appear to be able to handle, and as it is occasional complaints come in about country elevators being full. Threshing is well advanced in many districts, and in some sections is about finished. The grain movement by rail and water and stacks at principal points are shown in our statistical statements on other pages. Prices in the local market have been firm, with little variation. At the close of yesterday's business prices were almost the same as a week ago, viz., 71¾c for 1 hard, 69¾c 1 northern spot or October delivery. Delivery first half November, 1 hard, 71c; 1 northern, 69c; and delivery last half November, 1 hard, 70½c: 1 northern, 68½c; 2 northern, is 4c, 3 northern 6c, and No. 4 wheat 10c under 1 hard. All prices are in store Fort William or Port Arthur.

COUNTRY WHEAT— Farmers have been delivering very freely and many country elevators are now full of wheat, which has the effect of weakening prices. Complaints that buyers are not paying full prices are numerous, and this is due to their inability to take care of grain owing to want of storage space. From 55c to 57c per bushel is being paid to farmers at country points for their best wheat.

OATS — There is no change in the oat market here as compared with a week ago. A firmer feeling is reported in the eastern markets, but here prices are unchanged. Farmers' deliveries are not heavy. To-day No 2 white oats are worth 26¾ to 27c per bushel at Fort William. On track here No. 3 white oats are worth 25 to 26c per bushel, and about 23c is the price for feed white. At country points farmers are getting 20c per bushel at central points.

BARLEY—Receipts are light. Dealers are paying 33c per bushel for carlots of malting grade on track here, and 27 to 30c for feed.

FLAXSEED — The market has declined. Dealers are now paying 97c to $1 per bushel to farmers at country points.

SPELTZ—The market holds steady at 30c per bushel of 50 pounds, delivered in Winnipeg.

HAY—$6 to $7 per ton for fresh baled in carlots on track, Winnipeg.

POTATOES—30c per bushel.

BUTTER - Creamery—Dealers are paying 18c per pound f.o.b. factory points.

BUTTER—Dairy—Choice qualities are scarce and firm in price. Poorer grades are plentiful and not much wanted. Commission houses are paying 12 to 14c for choice to finest dairy, commission basis, here, in pails or bricks.

CHEESE—Manitoba cheese is very scarce and mostly of poor quality. One lot brought 11½c last week.

EGGS—The ruling price is 16½c per dozen for choice eggs, subject to candling.

DRESSED MEATS — Beef, city dressed, 5½ to 6½c, country stock, ½c less; mutton, 8 to 9c; lamb, 11½c; hogs, 9 to 10½c.

HIDES—Dealers are now paying 6½c for No. 1 hides, 5½c for No. 2, and 4½ for No. 3. Calfskins same price as hides. Horse hides 50c to $1 each SENSCA ROOT—The price is 53c for best root, delivered in Winnipeg. Inferior grades range from 2 to 3c below this figure.

LIVE STOCK.

CATTLE—Exporters are moving freely. Best export steers are worth 4c per pound, point of shipment, and prices range from 3½ to 4c. Butchers' cattle are steady at 3c to 3½c.

SHEEP—Receipts are moderate and the market steady at 3½c per pound off cars Winnipeg. Lambs are lower at 4½ to 4½c.

HOGS—Live hogs are easier, but not quotably changed, and we quote 6½c per pound for choice weights today. Heavy and underweight hogs are ½c to ½c less than this figure.

MILCH COWS—Cows are scarce. Good milkers readily bring $45 in this market, the range being from $35 to $45 each.

HORSES are scarce and the prices which have prevailed for the past two years continue.

A serious stabbing affray took place at Cataraqui on Friday night. William Van Ness, a yardman, interfered to prevent Arley Voa Rodenstein from slashing his wife with a knife, when the husband jumped at Van Ness and stabbed him in the back, penetrating the backbone. Von Rodenstein was placed under arrest.

SEVEN YEARS IN BED

This Wonderful Case Borders on the Miraculous.

Nothing Like It Has Ever been heard of—In Newfoundland, where the Story comes from it has Created a Profound Sensation.

Cottel's Cove, New Bay, Newfoundland, Oct. 27.—(Special)—This part of the island has been thoroughly aroused by the most miraculous cure of a man named Joseph Boon.

For eight years this man had been ailing, and for seven years of this time he was unable to work. He had Back Ache and Kidney Complaint, in fact he was all pains and aches. He had been treated from time to time by several doctors and although he always carefully attended to their several prescriptions exactly as ordered by them, he got no relief, but was slowly growing worse.

Finally he went to the hospital, where he remained for seven months, only to be sent home as an incurable case.

He has tried every remedy he could hear of, electric belts, liniments, oils and other medicines, but all of no avail. No one ever thought he could ever be well again.

However, one day he picked up a newspaper containing an account of how Mr. Richard Quirk, of Fortune Harbor had been cured of Lumbago by Dodd's Kidney Pills. After reading this Mr. Boon made up his mind to try this remedy and at once began a treatment.

He used altogether 21 boxes before he was able to go to work again, but now he is able to attend to his daily duties as strong and vigorous as any man along the coast.

Mr. Boon is a fisherman, and is at present engaged at lobster fishing with no thought whatever of his old time backache and other pains.

The people here regard this cure as little short of miraculous.

As a female entertainer the average man is not in it with a cheap looking glass.

When a man buys a piece of property for a song he may regret his vocal ability later on.

A COMFORT AND A CARE.

If Your Home Is Blessed with a Baby You Will Appreciate This.

A baby is a priceless comfort, but in its utter helpessness is also a great care. Anything that will relieve the tired mother and add to baby's health and happiness is both a help and a friend. This is what makes the statement of Mrs. Thomas Little, of Kingston, Ont., so interesting to all mothers. She says:—"When my baby was eighteen months old he was troubled with a sour stomach and was badly constipated. These troubles made him cross and restless, and I had to be up with him a number of times during the night. I finally got a box of Baby's Own Tablets, and after giving them to him for a few days his bowels became regular, his stomach was sweetened and he slept well. I think these Tablets are just what mothers need for their little ones." Baby's Own Tablets are the best and most convenient form for administering medicine to the very young. They are safe and harmless and free from opiates. Sent post paid on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. A book on the care of infants and children sent free on request. Write for it.

To err may be human, but to forgive is not.

When a sensible man gets the worst of it he makes the best of it.

Whether life is worth living depends a good deal on your wiseness or otherwiseness.

A man may be color blind, but he can always tell a greenback when he sees it.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

So-called honor among thieves is merely traditional; thieves are just as bad as other people.

Her strenuous effort to live up to the expectations of her neighbors is what chases the roses from a woman's cheeks.

Sunlight Soap will not burn the nap off woolens nor the surface off linens.

SUNLIGHT SOAP REDUCES EXPENSE

Ask for the Octagon Bar.

ASK FOR

Ogilvie Oats

Delicious flavor. Free from hulls. Warranted Pure. Put up in all sized packages.

Ogilvie's Hungarian

As now manufactured. The great FAMILY FLOUR. Insist on getting "OGILVIE'S," as they are better than the Best, HAVE NO EQUAL.

Among those who use GOLD STANDARD TEA There is but one opinion: It leads them all.

ARE YOU BUILDING?

IF SO USE EDDY'S IMPERVIOUS SHEATHING THE BEST BUILDING PAPER MADE.

It is very much stronger and thicker than any other (tarred or building) paper. It is impervious to wind, keeps out cold, keeps in heat, carries no smell or odor, absorbs no moisture, imparts no taste or flavor to anything with which it comes in contact. It is largely used not only for sheeting houses, but for lining cold storage buildings, refrigerators, dairies, creameries, and all places where the object is to keep an even and uniform temperature, and at the same time avoiding dampness.

Write our Agents, TEES & PERSSE, Winnipeg, for samples.

THE E. B. EDDY CO., Limited, HULL.

People don't take long to find out the merits of an article. Ask your friends what they think of Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea.

It seems that the beef trust gets everything out of the steer but the bellow—and it gets that out of the consumer.

$100-REWARD—$100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills are the Best.

It sometimes happens that a fool girl will throw a millionaire overboard for a man who can't borrow 30 cents.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, Etc.

Silence may be golden but the golden eagle talks.

It is better to have a turn-up nose than a cabbage head.

Messrs. C. C. Richards & Co.

Gentlemen,—My daughter, 13 years old, was thrown from a sleigh and injured her elbow so badly it remained stiff and very painful for three years. Four bottles of MINARD'S LINIMENT completely cured her and she has not been troubled for two years. Yours truly,

J. B. LEVESQUE.

St. Joseph, P.Q., Aug. 18, 1900.

A tramp can't understand why the Sabbath is called a day of rest; he can't rest any more on Sunday than on week days.

The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely vegetable compound and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

HIGH ABOVE all other Cigars sail LUCINAS

Just because of that sweet flavor we keep telling you about. It's there. Try one. You'll find it.

GEO. F. BRYAN & CO., WINNIPEG.

HALCYON HOT SPRINGS SANITARIUM Arrow Lake, B. C.

Situated midst scenery unrivalled for grandeur. The most complete health resort on the continent of North America.

Its baths cure all Nervous and Muscular diseases. Its waters heal all Kidney, Liver and Stomach ailments.

They are a never-failing remedy for all Rheumatic troubles.

TERMS—$15 to $18 per week, according to residence in Hotel or Villas.

W. N. U. No. 400.

THE ANGLE LAMP

combines the maximum of light with the minimum of heat, the minimum of trouble, the minimum of expense. Used in HOUSES, STORES, CHURCHES HOTELS, FACTORIES Etc., Etc.

It is perfection in lighting. The light that never fails. It uses ordinary coal oil—one quart in 16 hours. No smoke, no odor, no drawing up, no removing of globe or top to light, filled while burning, the only light having no undershadows. Apply to your local dealer or send for catalogue and prices to Hilken, Gibson & Co., P. O. Box 391, Winnipeg.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed.
Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, E. H. BIRD, Manager.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, NOV. 1, 1902.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

IT is said that Mr. Edwin Neale, of Fernie, will be the labor standard bearer for this district in the next election. Mr. Neale has been a member of the executive of the miners' union for a long time and has always taken an active interest in labor issues and will no doubt make a strong candidate.

* * *

THE business men and other residents of the town are again being invited to contribute to a side walk fund in order to make the north end of the town a habitable place during the muddy season. How long, oh how long will the citizens of the town resort to the "passing of the hat" for public conveniences. It is ample time the Board of Trade took some further action toward incorporation.

* * *

THE Secretary of the Underwriters, Chas. R. Gilbert, assures the people of Fernie, that in all probability the insurance rate for the business portion of the town will shortly be raised. With nearly all the business houses paying seven or eight per cent. at the present time the news is far from pleasant. But so long as the citizens are willing to leave the municipal control of the town to the government and resort to the "passing of the hat" for their fire appliances there is little prospect of the rate being reduced.

* * *

There is a general improvement in the feeling in business circles in Fernie this week. Now that the danger of a strike is past the men are spending their money more freely and business is beginning to move again. It was greatly feared that the Morrissey trouble would extend to Fernie but the fairness of the management in dealing with the trouble was quite apparent to the men and they accepted Mr. Tonkin's proposition without a dissenting voice. He informed them that he had no intention of compelling them to work for starvation wages. If they could not make a fair wage on the scale submitted by the company after a reasonable trial he would certainly adjust their grievance.

* * *

THE Doukhobors with their religious fanaticison are not satisfied with the excitement they are raising in Manitoba and the Northwest but are desirous of moving to British Columbia. The Sandon Paysteak commenting upon their desire says:—

"And now the Doukhobors want to move to British Columbia where they would have scope to follow the dictates of their religon uninterrupted by goveronment officials Well, most any old kind of religon goes in this province, and the B.C. government has too much unfinished business trying to keep itself in office to interfere with any one, but when it comes to taking the Doukhobors along with the religion—hully gee."

WILL RETURN TO COAL.

The Carbon Hill Coal Company, operating the mines at Carbonado, the other day received an order from the Southern Pacific railroad for 25,000 tons of locomotive coal per month.

The order is a standing one and will mean the opening up of the locomotive coal mines of the company at Carbonado, which have been closed for the past ten months, since the Southern Pacific cancelled its large standing order of twenty-three years duration

The meaning of the order is that the Southern Pacific is to abandon the use of oil in its engines on the western divisions at once. About three years ago the road first began to experiment with oil. It was thought to be a success and a large number of its engines were equipped for its use.

Prior to ten months ago the railroad company had for twenty-two years and nine months, been using Carbonado coal, but after the oil was substituted the standing order was cancelled and since then the Carbonado locomotive coal mines have not been worked, but the company has confined itself to its steamship and domestic properties.

The railroad company has found that oil in its engines is not a success. The heat is so intence that where the boiler sheets lap the water does not protect the outside sheets and the result is they split. Dead engines have been frequent on the road and where one boiler maker was able to keep up the work on the western division when coal was used, at the present time nine are required.

On some of the other divisions on the road the engines have been changed to fit them for the burning of oil. As fast as possible these will be changed back so as to burn coal, and within six months it is the intention not to have an oil burner on the road. All the engines on the western division will be ready to burn coal by the 5th of November.

Do You Want a Fall Suit or Overcoat??

If so inspect F. J. Mitchell's large and well assorted stock of Scotch Tweeds, Fancy Worsteds, Serges, etc.

Only first class work turned out, made by Union workmen.

The Union Tailor Shop
Bentley Block.

Are You Satisfied

WITH YOUR
Fire Insurance Rates ???????

If not, call and get my figures.

F. J. WATSON
General Insurance, Loan and Real Estate Agent.

Cars's Mackinaw.

Lumbermen

You should see our stock of the celebrated Cars's Mackinaw Clothing

This clothing holds the same position in its line as the Slater Shoe does in footwear

The only genuine Mackinaw clothing in Canada.

We have it in Pants, Coats, Shirts and Mitts.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

DOES YOUR SKIN BURN

or chafe? Do the cold winds cause irritation? It is time before these things happen to purchase some of our soothing

Powders, Lotions & Skin Food

An occasional application of one of these excellent preparations will prevent pain and beautify the skin.

Bleasdell's Drug Store

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block

and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence, running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date, I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east; thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked E. P. White south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C. M. Henreita's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

E. P. WHITE

Dated this 8th day of Oct. 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked I, G. Ogden south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of T. W. Bingay's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

I. G. OGDEN

Dated the 8th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked C. Drinkwater south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C. H. Gill's coal and detroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. DRINKWATER.

Dated this 8th day of October 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. R. Baker south west corner post which is the south-east corner post of J. R. Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

W. R. BAKER

Dated this 9th day of October 1902. 199-5

THE MOTHERS

are especially interested at this season in having

SUITS
FOR THEIR LITTLE BOYS

Ten Different Styles
Prices from $1.25 up.

Make this your Clothing Store, and you will always have the newest and best.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

100 Miners Wanted
At the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Mines
AT MORRISSEY

THE SURVEY is almost completed in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Townsite at Morrissey, B. C. In the opening of the new townsite at Morrissey, the business man will have an opportunity for money-making that has never been presented in British Columbia. Get in on the ground floor.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—
NEW GROCERIES
—GO TO—
J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

173

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

American Coal Oil at Quail's x

Miss Edmonds left yesterday on a trip to the eastern States.

The Michel Quadrill Club gave a ball at Michel last night.

It will pay the miners to read the advertisement of A. H. Cree this week.

Yesterday's train from the east failed to make connection at Medicine Hat.

Mrs. S. J. Thompson, of Cranbrook, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs R. F. Stillman.

Rev. Brown, of Michel, and Rev. R. F. Stillman exchanged pulpits on Sunday last.

Constable Kummar has been around this week drumming up poll tax for the Government.

A large variety of all winter-flowering bulbs at the Fernie Drug Store. Now is the time to plant.

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Must be good cook. Apply at the London & Liverpool Co. x

The Masons of Fort Steele held a grand ball on Hallowe'en. There were a number from Fernie present.

Robt. Renwick, of Nelson, well known in Fernie, has received the appointment of Government Agent at Nelson.

Mr H. L. Staebler, piano teacher, will in future, receive his pupils in his new studio, room No. 4 in Turner's block

BOARDERS WANTED—None but those with good moral character need apply.—Pellatt Avenue; opposite the hospital. 9-4

J. L. McIntyre returned yesterday from a visit to his parents in Renfew, Ont. Mrs McIntyre who was visiting at Pincher Creek, has also returned home.

Rev. D. L. Gordon has arranged to make weekly visits to Michel on behalf of the Presbyterian Church until such time as the mission board can secure a suitable man for that town.

A number of citizens will contribute funds towards putting a six foot sidewalk down Victoria Avenue to the Miller restaurant and a four foot side walk west as far as Rev. C. W. Houghton's residence.

The firm of Donaldson, Ross & Scott doing business under the name of the Fernie Cartage Company, has been dissolved. The business will be carried on in future by O. N. Ross and Wm. Scott.

H. Bentley's store was burglarized on Sunday night, but before the intruder could get off with his selection of goods, he was suprised by the entrance of Mr. Bentley through the front door, and immediately bolted.—Lethbridge News.

Chas. R. Gilbert, Secretary of the Mainland board of underwriters for B. C., was in town this week. Mr. Gilbert says that owing to the congestested condition of some of the blocks and the untidy state they are kept in that in all probability the insurance rates will be increased.

The death of John Storm, one of the employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., took place in the hospital on Thursday morning. The young man had been ill for a long time. The remains were sent east last evening to his former home in Philadelphia.

At a meeting of the Relief Fund Committee held in Joyce's Hall on Friday afternoon, E. H. Bird, manager of the Bank of Commerce, was elected treasurer in the place of Mr. Malpas, who has gone to Cranbrook. Mr. Fred Johnstone, was appointed to take the place of Mr. T. C. Thompson, deceased. If the present claims upon the fund continue it will only last about three years.

Mr. Thos. Stockett, General Superintendent of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., leaves to-morrow for Nanaimo to attend the Board of Appointment for Mine Managers which convenes in that city on Tuesday of next week. From Nanaimo he goes directly east to Illinois and Pennsylvania for the purpose of purchasing some machinery for use in the Coal Creek Mines. He expects to return in about three weeks.

The organization of the Fernie Club was completed this week with the following charter members: Messrs J. H. Tonkin, A. B. Trites, A. H. Cree, R. Coulthardt, W. B. Ganong, W. R. Ross, S. Herchmer, I. Forbes, Dr. Bonnell, E. H. Bird, Jas. McEvoy. At a meeting on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected: Pres., J. H. Tonkin; Vice-Pres., A. B. Trites; Sec.-Treas., R. Coulthardt; House Committee, S. Herchmer and W. B. Ganong. The residence and furnishings owned by H. W. Barnes has been leased and $1,000 worth of new furniture was purchased this week. Chas. Estes has been engaged as steward of the club. The membership of the club will be limited to about thirty until such time as they are in a position to erect a more commodious building.

Car of shingles just received.—J. D. Quail. x

J. F. Armstrong was in town Wednesday evening.

Mr. A. Arnold, of Cranbrook, was in town on Wednesday.

John Mangian returned on Tuesday from a trip to Arnprior, Ont.

J. Dochsteader, representing the Sun Life, is in town this week.

Dr. Corsan returned on Tuesday from a trip up the Kootenay valley.

D. MacLean has resigned his position as conductor in the C.P.R. yard here.

J. S. T. Alexander returned this week from a three week's visit at Lethbridge.

W. R. Ross went east on Monday. He will spend a week or so in Winnipeg and may go as far east as Toronto.

The small boy was very much in evidence on Hallowe'en, but no very serious damage seems to have been accomplished.

The lacrosse boys wish to thank the ladies of the town for the assistance rendered them in making the recent ball a success.

A. E. Warren, of Winnipeg, formerly of Fernie, has received the appointment to a responsible position on the Canadian Northern staff.

Keith Whimster left for Frank on Thursday where he will take a situation with Mr. Chambers, hardware merchant of that town.

Mr. Jas. McEvoy, civil engineer for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., left for the east on Saturday evening. He expects to be gone three or four months.

A meeting of all those interested in the formation of a hockey club will be held at W. F. Cuthbert's on Tuesday evening next. All players are requested to be present.

The large engine on the mine branch at Morrissey was derailed on Tuesday evening and engine No. 342 from Fernie was taken down to assist in putting it on the track again.

Thos. Flett, a popular lacrosse player, had the misfortune to lose one of his fingers while working at the A. D. McRae Lumber Co's. mill on Tuesday of this week. He got caught in one of the saws.

The Blue Book shows that the Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada did the largest amount of business of all Canadian Life Assurance Co. in 1900 and in 1901 it led them all for amount of Dividends paid to Policy holders. x

The firm of Mott, Son & Co. will erect a sawmill at Hosmer in the spring. The mill will have a capacity of 50,000 feet a day, the largest capacity of any mill in this district. The firm have an abundant supply of timber, sufficient to keep them running for fifty years.

Prof. Tyndall Richardson, who advertises himself as the modern magican, up-to-date conjurer and exponent of sleight of hand, etc., will give entertainments in Princess Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 3rd and 4th, consisting of marvellous card manipulation and mysteries of the Indian fakir, etc.

The attention of the Attorney General has been called to the fact that a band of about sixty Indians from the prairie are said to be hunting on the Elk River north of Michel and are fast killing off all the game in that district. If this statement is true it is time some action should be taken by the Government in the matter.

The services at Christ Church, Fernie, to-morrow will be held as follows:—Celebration of Holy Communion, 8 a.m.; Matins and Holy Communion, 11 o'clock; Sunday school and Young Mens bible class at 2:30 p.m., Evensong at 7:30. All are welcome. Collection in aid of the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge.

Mr. and Mrs. John McAuley and family left on Tuesday evening for their home Glace Bay, N. S. A large number of friends were at the train to see them off, and Jack has the best wishes of the community for a speedy recovery. He wishes us to express his sincere gratitude to the people of Fernie for the many kindnesses bestowed upon him during the three months he has been confined to the hospital.

Why Now?

When a man takes a policy of life insurance he should hang on to it. It should be the first investment made and it should be the last to be parted with. Why? Because:—

1. It invariably costs more to buy every year.
2. Its value invariably increases every year.
3. Hard times do not affect it.
4. Government bonds can be bought any day. Insurance can be bought only in good health.
5. Saving ends with death. Insurance is made perfect by death. x

All current magazines of the following 36 periodicals constantly on hand at the

FERNIE DRUG STORE

Pearson's, Argosy, Strand, Sketch, World-Wide, Field, Black and White, Scribner's Illustrated London News, Ainslee's, Everybody's, Vogue, Designer, Delineator, Recreation, Scientific American McClure's, Cosmopolitan, Frank Leslie, Canadian, Forum, Graphic, North American Review, Review of Reviews, Cassell's Weekly, Cassell's Journal, Tit-Bits, Answers, Black Cat, Ladies' World, Ladies' Home Companion, Ladies' Home Journal Literary Digest, The Philistine, Will Carleton, Current Literature and St. Nicholas.

Fernie Drug Store.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, Clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Manufacturers and Brewers of Extra Fine

Beer and Porter

Sold by the barrel, keg or bottled. Bottled beer for family use a specialty. Outside orders given strict and prompt attention. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mutz & Scott, Proprietors.

FOR RENT.

A five roomed house, near the hospital. Apply to 197-1m JOHN SUNBERG.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on East side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked C. H. Gill south-west corner post, situate 40 chains west of the north-west corner of T. W. Bingay coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. H. GILL.
Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902. 199-5

DIED.

STORM—In Fernie, on Wednesday the 29th ult., John Storm aged 22 years.

SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT — It pays to buy from Sheppard & Elliott — SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT

Nights are Getting Chilly

Make your home comfortable and inviting to the whole family by using a heater that will heat and not heat one room, but the entire house. We have them here.

The Good Cheer Hot Blast and the Good Cheer Oak

These stoves are adapted and made especially for soft, clinky coal, such as the Fernie coal is. AVOID ALL THE TROUBLE, the nuisance and bother of other stoves, and have a treasure, a comfort and an ornament as well, which will add to your home a priceless companion of many dreary nights. We invite you to see it. Talk it over—its worth talking about

Sheppard & Elliott,

Sole agent for the Kelcey furnace; stands the highest test the world over

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

60 Days 60 Days 60 Days

The greatest selling time ever known in the Kootenays. We are over-stocked in some lines, and are going to turn them into MONEY. Only one way to do so — make prices that will loosen the purse strings. The first week,—just to tempt you

Fast Black Sateen Shirts — Two Lines. One at 55c.——— A Better One at 85c.

Both at about half price. Watch for hand bills and posters.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

A full and complete stock of Savage Rifles and Iver Johnson Revolvers now on on hand. We are headquarters for

..Sporting Goods..

We also keep on selling

FURNITURE

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware Furniture

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
—PROFESSIONAL NURSE—
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

By MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

Copywright by R. F. Fenno & Co.

Again we shook hands all round, and I promised them, the captain included, who was now very much on his good behavior, the best dinner to be had for money in New York. The Victrix would be there if all went well in some 30 hours more, the Chattahoochee in 48 to 50, and these figures proved to be pretty correct in the issue.

I made no change in my arrangements for the rest of the voyage, but kept to my own part of the ship except in the evening hours, which I spent in blissful tete-a-tete with Frida. What passed between us is no concern of any but ourselves.

We passed Sandy Hook in the forenoon of Sunday, and it was understood that we should be alongside the wharf by 2 or at latest 3 p. m. Already there was a great flutter among the passengers, those of the saloon in particular, and symptoms of coming change. They appeared in their smartest clothes, coming out with extraordinary splendor, as though for a fete or garden party—new costumes, new hats, much jewelry. I heard, too, curious expressions bandied freely about—"dutiable," "what to declare," and so forth, and I was told that the customs examination was greatly dreaded by almost all.

The excitement grew intense when a small steamer was sighted bearing down on us at full speed, and some cried, "The customs boat," as she ran alongside, and we were quickly boarded by a great crowd. I thought the eagerness of these American officials very remarkable and in strong contrast with our slow moving, dignified custom house people. But I soon saw my mistake as these new arrivals ran, raced indeed, to the hurricane deck, pushing and jostling and catching at each other's coattails, laughing and shouting boisterously: "Where is he?" "Trot him out." "We want the young British Crœsus. Give us a sight of fortune's spoiled favorite, William Aretas Wood."

They were reporters, and they were come to interview the wrong man. For I stood aloof, watching and highly amused, knowing that when Snuyzer appeared the tables would be swiftly turned on the conspirators, who had no doubt planned all this by cable in advance. Now my double, the false William Wood, stepped forward and began a set speech, evidently carefully prepared.

I heard the opening sentences as I went aft, determined to end this audacious farce. Rossiter saw me coming and would have stopped me, but I pushed past and, getting in front of the assembled mob, cried:

"This is all a mistake. I am Captain Wood"—

I was interrupted with jeers and loud yells, and some one said, "Throw him overboard!" and others cried, "Order, order!" "Chair, chair!" on which rose a louder cry: "Back to the tug! We'll carry him right ashore." There was a general movement to the ship's side headed by a couple of reporters who had the "other" Wood by each arm and behind in the crowd went the Duke of Tierra Segrada.

The evening hours I spent in blissful tete-a-tete with Frida.

I saw at once what had happened. My brusque and unexpected apparition had no doubt shown the nearness of danger, and the conspirators were trying to make a run for it. They succeeded, too, for although I begged the officers, the captain, the customs officers, any one and every one, to detain the tug she presently steamed off in the direction of New York.

And that, I may say at once, was the end of it so far as I know. Snuyzer came presently in another steamer accompanied by his principal, Mr. Sidney Saraband, a most gentlemanly person, and with him was the United States marshal. When they heard of the escape of the conspirators, they hurried back to New York, but for the moment were unable to come upon the track of the fugitives. Snuyzer is still hopeful, and as his employers have put him exclusively upon this business I do not doubt that some day he will have an interesting story to tell of their pursuit and capture. The duchess had been abandoned, but we owed her too much gratitude to trouble or interfere with her. I gladly liquidated Messrs. Sarabands' charges and have placed myself entirely under their protection.

For the rest it is enough to say that as soon as possible after landing I married Frida, Swete Thornhill being my best man, Snuyzer and Joe Vialls most honored guests at the wedding. No one, Mrs. Fairholme most of all, wished to brave the risks of another Atlantic voyage, so we settled down for the summer and autumn in a charming Newport "cottage."

THE END.

Where Beggars May Ride.

Horses are so cheap in Auckland that pedestrianism bids fair to become extinct. The postman does his rounds on horseback. The butcher, a huge basket slung over his arm, canters up with ordered provender. Schoolboys, two frequently sharing a mount, ride to school, where a paddock is reserved for their ponies. Even the lamplighter performs his duties perched on an ambling nag, while the droves of live stock passing along the roads are always under the care of a mounted escort.

When an outdoor man is sent on an errand that would entail walking a quarter of a mile, he invariably spends ten minutes in catching a horse that he may ride. But more ludicrous than all else was it to see a sweep, his attention to the kitchen chimney completed, canter off on his nag, with the bag of soot perched on the saddle before him.

As an instance of the topsy turvy state of things antipodean it may be mentioned that it is considered smarter to drive in a hired carriage than in your own trap.—Blackwood's.

Advertise In Your Paper.

No paper could live on the money paid for it by subscribers. It gives them more than it gets from them. It pays editors, reporters, correspondents, printers, pressmen, paper makers, inkmakers, landlord, coal dealers, gasmakers, etc., more than its subscribers pay it. It expects to cover its expenses partly by selling its advertising space. If any persons want to use the publicity that the paper has for sale and on which it depends in a measure for its living, subscribers or not subscribers, justice and business principles require them to pay for it. After giving subscribers more than their money's worth it could not also give them free advertising. If its publicity is worth having, it's worth paying for.—Weekly Bouquet.

The Goat.

Originally the common or domestic goat was a native of the highlands of Asia. Naturalists generally regard it as having descended from an animal found in the Caucasus mountains and the hill country of Persia, called in the Persian language the pesang.

Among the Greeks and the Romans the goat was sacrificed to Bacchus because of its tendency to injure grapevines by eating the young tendrils and leaves. All the species of goats are natives of the old world. The Rocky mountain goat, so called, of North America really belongs to the antelope family.

What He Objected To.

At the farewell to Dr. Gunnison in Worcester, Mass., it is said that the Rev. Mr. Phalen, the Unitarian preacher, and the Rev. Mr. Willcox, the well known Congregationalist, met. The three divines, as all ministers will do, got to bantering each other. The pastor of the Church of the Unity said he lived near enough to the Congregational church to hear the clock strike.

"Well," said Mr. Willcox, "we give you good time, I hope."

"Oh, yes!" responded the Unitarian. "It is not your time we object to; it's your eternity!"—Worcester Spy.

Fruit and Poultry.

Fruit growing and poultry raising may be made joint occupations, the one being more or less beneficial to the other.

Unsalted Savages.

The Darnaras, a tribe of southwest Africa, never eat salt.

A Genius.

"Yes, it's his own idea. He's goin' to git it patented an' make a fortune."

An Alphabetical Ad.

The schoolmaster has discovered this alphabetical advertisement in an issue of The London Times in 1842. "To widowers and single gentlemen—Wanted by a lady a situation to superintend the household and preside at table. She is agreeable, becoming, careful, desirable, English, factious, generous, honest, industrious, judicious, keen, lively, merry, natty, obedient, philosophic, quiety, regular, sociable, tasteful, useful, vivacious, womanish, xantippish, youthful, zealous, etc. Address X. Y. Z., Simmons' Library, Edgeware Road."

A MOTHER'S PRAISE

FOR THE MEDICINE THAT RESTORED HER DAUGHTER'S HEALTH.

She Has Suffered from Severe Headaches, Vomiting and Extreme Nervousness, and Feared She Would Not Regain Her Strength.

Every prudent mother will watch carefully the health of her young daughter at the period when she is passing from girlhood to womanhood. This period is the most critical in the young girl's life. It is then that she becomes pale, easily tired and troubled with headaches, without apparent cause. The blood becomes thin and watery, and unless prompt steps are taken to restore it to its rich, red, health-giving condition, decline, and perhaps consumption will follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured more pale, anaemic, easily tired girls than any other medicine, and mothers will make no mistake if they insist upon their growing daughters taking these pills from time to time. Mrs. P. Gage, a lady well known in Rowantown, Que., tells what these pills have done for her daughter. She says:—"My daughter, Catherine, aged fourteen years, was suffering greatly with severe headaches, vomiting and nervousness. She was so completely run down that we feared that she would not recover her strength. We tried several medicines, but they did not seem to do her any good. I then thought we would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result has been up to our fondest hopes. She has fully recovered her health and strength, and I shall be very glad if this experience will help some other suffering girl regain her health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood and give new strength with every dose. They cure anaemia, headache, heart palpitation, dizziness and bring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. These pills are also a certain cure for the ailments that make the lives of so many women a burden. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Remorse is memory that has begun to ferment.

Chronic fault-finders would soon tire of this old world if there was nothing to kick about.

Various Routes.

Some men take the poison route,
While some jump in the lake,
And others get a gun and shoot,
And some gas treatment take.
By cigarettes some get them hence,
Some on the thin ice slide,
While others go to more expense
And take an auto ride.

CANADIAN NORTHERN

Winter Tourist Excursions. . .

Through Tickets. Lowest Rates
Best Time to all Points.
OCEAN STEAMSHIP TICKETS.

For full information consult any Canadian Northern Rly. Agent.

GEO. H. SHAW,
Traffic Manager

CANADIAN PACIFIC

"THE" ROUTE TO

Australasia And the Orient

CANADA'S SCENIC ROUTE

Travel by the C. P. R. and be assured of SOLID COMFORT.

First-class C. P. R. Sleepers on all through trains.

Through Tourist Sleepers - the best

Tourist Rates quoted to all points

East, West, South,
The Old Country,
The Orient,
The Antipodes.

Those desiring information in regard to any part of the world reached by the C. P. R. or its connections are requested to apply to any C. P. R. representative or to

C. E. McPHERSON
Gen. Pas. Agt., Winnipeg.

Some people spend half their lives in making a reputation and the other half in trying to live it down.

THE BEST PILLS.—Mr. Wm. Vandervoort, Sydney Crossing, Ont., writes: "We have been using Parmelee's Pills, and find them by far the best pills we ever used. For delicate and debilitated Constitutions these pills act like a charm. Taken in small doses, the effect is both a tonic and a stimulant, mildly exciting the secretions of the body, giving tone and vigor.

A jeweller says pearls are like women—they require a lot of attention.

Fortunate is the man whose tastes are similar to the tastes of his cook.

Is there anything more annoying than having your corn stepped upon? Is there anything more delightful than getting rid of it? Holloway's Corn Cure will do it. Try it and be convinced.

It sometimes happens that a married man dislikes to visit people who try to make him feel at home.

When a man marries agrass widow don't present him with a lawn-mower if you would retain his friendship.

The horses that are best able to stand hard drains are those which work steadily every day in the week.

The pineapple crop in Cuba for 1902 is estimated at nearly 200,000 barrels, holding an aggregate of 14,000,000.

So powerful is the new electric light in Dunkerque lighthouse that its beams are visible at a distance of forty miles.

The Robin and the Hawk.

It is well known that the hawk, no matter how fierce and big he may be, has no terror for the kingbird. It is a common sight in the springtime, when they are breeding, to see one of these plucky little chaps mercilessly following, pecking and driving away a great bird of prey a dozen times its size. A merchant who was camping out on the Chelsea Hills, says a Lachine correspondent, learned that the kingbird is not the only small bird bold enough to attack and drive away the robbers of the air.

The man was approaching a farmyard one morning for his supply of milk, when a commotion among the poultry drew his attention to a large hen-hawk which was sailing away with a good-sized chicken in its talons. The poor old hen was doing its best to prevent the raid. With much squalling she ran along and tried to use her clumsy wings in flight after the thief.

Just as the hawk rose to the level of the treetops a robin, which had evidently been taking measures to assist the hen mother, sprang from a limb right atop of the hawk, with a shrill cry of rage. So fiercely did the game redbreast use its sturdy bill upon the hawk's back, at times even alighting upon it to peck to better advantage, that after a good deal of manoeuvring, finding it impossible to escape this persistent foe, it dropped its prey and turned upon the robin. But the brave little bird was by no means fighting for fighting's sake, and as soon as the chicken had been restored to its mother darted back to its tree, and began a song of rejoicing.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

The Lady Giraffe.

The lady giraffe for the ballroom was dressed
In the latest decollete style.
When a dashing young beau,
The good looking dodo,
Stepped up to her side with a smile.

"My dear Miss Giraffe," said he, with a bow,
"You're the fairest of maids at the ball,
And yet if your neck
Should grow longer a speck
You would need to wear nothing at all."

In the Days to Come.

The quick puff, puff, puff of an automobile was heard in the back alley.

And then a plaintive, long drawn out voice pealed through the air:

"Ra-a-a-a-ags 'n' ole i-un!"

Under False Colors.

"And you say he was no true son of Kentucky?"

"No, sah! The papah says he died of watah on the brain. He was an impostah, sah!"

Foresight and Anthracite.

He dabbled in stocks and won,
For he was a lucky feller,
Not only did he make his pile,
But he has it in his cellar.

NO. 9
LIVER PILLS

Entirely vegetable. Used for 20 years by leading Physicians. The best pill for every ill of the human stomach, liver and bowels. Ask your dealer for it or send to FLEMING'S DRUG STORE, BRANDON, MAN.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family in the Autumn Season.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble of some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others rundown by worry, overwork and irregular dieting, are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

To the thousands of rundown, sickly and half-dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic tortures; it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

An obedient wife is the real power behind the domestic throne.

Some wire-pullers are telegraph linemen and some are politicians.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

It is difficult to persuade yourself that a man is a liar when he says nice things about you.

Faith-cure physicians are wise guys. They expect their patients to furnish the faith and cure themselves

BUTTER EATERS

Are Particular and Critical.

In the large majority of homes, consumers of butter—old and young—are particular about the color of butter placed before them. Whitish or imperfectly colored butter does not attract the eye or tempt the taste. It is the well made butter colored with Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color, that is looked for and appreciated. The lovely, delicate June shade produced by Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color is well known. It is easy to detect the butter colored with crude and common colors. Such butter is usually bricky in color, sometimes mottled, and often strong and rancid. It pays buttermakers to use Wells, Richardson & Co.'s Improved Butter Color. When used by buttermakers it gives an extra value of from 2 to 4 cents per pound. Don't be deceived by any dealer; insist upon the kind that makes prize butter. All druggists and dealers.

Art is long and time is fleeting—and some artists' time is as valueless as their art.

"KELPION" (A STAINLESS IODINE OINTMENT.)

Endorsed by best English medical journals.
Supplied to British soldiers in South Africa.
For all Throat and Gland Troubles, Lumps, Abscesses, Old Sores, Ulcers, Felons, Skin Diseases, Eczema, Pimples, Stiff Joints, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sprains, Bruises, Piles, Cuts, Sore Feet, Pleurisy.
Sold by Druggists, 25c. Try it once.

After capping a climax one should drive a nail in it to prevent some other fellow from uncapping it.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure, and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

Many a man who believes in giving his santanic majesty his due leaves the other creditors to hold the empty bag.

T. H. METCALFE & CO.
Grain and Commission Merchants.
Highest prices paid for wheat, oats, barley or flax in carlots. Wire or write me for prices before selling. Liberal advances made on consignments and handled on commission. Licensed and Bonded.
P. O. Box 550, Winnipeg, Man.

IMPERIAL MAPLE SYRUP
The quality standard from Ocean to Ocean. Your money back if not satisfactory.
ROSE & LAFLAMME, Agts., MONTREAL.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

AFFAIRS IN SOUTH AFRICA ARE SERIOUS.

British Government Recognizing This Fact and Mr. Chamberlain Will Pro-There and Examine for Himself--British aad Dutch at Loggerheads.

A London cable says: The gravity of the situation in South Africa is at last recognized by the government. Very gloomy accounts of the state of affairs in Cape Colony, Orange Colony, and the Transvaal have been received here from time to time, through private channels, but there has been a tendency to discredit them. The announcement of Mr. Chamberlain's decision to proceed to South Africa to examine on the spot the problems presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new British colonies, has, consequently, caused the utmost surprise in political circles. It is tolerably certain that if the situation had not been one of extreme gravity, the colonial secretary would have left the whole matter absolutely in the hands of Lord Milner.

The feeling between the British and Dutch in Cape Town just now is said to be more bitter than it was in the days before the war. Former Transvaal and Free State colors are worn freely in the Dutch towns of the Cape, and sedition is openly preached. Loyalists are naturally alarmed at this state of things, and Sir Gordon Sprigg is unable to stem the agitation in favor of a suspension of the constitution.

In all probability, however, the situation in Transvaal Colony is causing the government even greater anxiety, and the colonial office announcement must be read in connection with a statement made by the chancellor of the exchequer, in the House of Commons last week, that there is no intention to introduce a Transvaal bill during the present session of parliament. Evidently Chamlain has no intention of making the Transvaal pay more than the colony can bear. Rand magnates have been astonished at the proposed imposition of a tax of 10 per cent. on the gold mines, and they have hinted that they will not use these sources for developments of fresh properties unless they receive better treatment at th? hands of the Imperial government. At present there is an entire absense of enterprise in the Transvaal, and the government is warned against a policy of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

ATTACKS REDMOND.

Parnell's Sister Asks Pertinent Questions of the Irish Leader.

A cable from London says: Mrs. Dickinson, sister of the late Charles Stuart Parnell, has published bitter correspondence between herself and John Redmond, chairman of the United Irish League, and of the Irish parliamentary party, in which she demands an accounting of the funds raised in America to save Avondale, the estate of the late Mr. Parnell, frim the hands of outsiders.

In reply to her first letter, Mr. Redmond wrote to Mrs. Dickinson, saying the object of the American funds were the erection of a monument to Mr. Parnell in Dublin, and the purchase of Avondale house and lawn, which should be available as a residence of the Parnell family. Mr. Redmond's bid was set aside in favor of one from Mr. Boyland, a Dublin butcher, who has made an agreement with John Parnell, brother of the deceased statesman. "Thus," said Mr. Redmond, "it was impossible to buy the house and the committee proceeded with the project of erecting a Parnell statue."

Mrs. Dickinson wrote again saying that Mr. Boyland now offered to accept the $25,000 collected for the purchase of the estate, and would allow the balance to remain on a ten years' mortgage. To this letter Mr. Redmond did not reply.

A proposal being made that the Parnells and Mrs. Dickinson could reside in the park at Avondale, Mrs. Dickinson wrote:

"As to the condition that any member of the family should be allowed to reside at Avondale should they desire to do so, that is to say on sufferance, as either caretakers or gatekeepers, all I can say is that I think the family have suffered enough through the murder of their brother Charles, through pecuniary difficulties, and through the loss of their ancestral home for the good of the country, without the insult of Avondale being placed at their disposal on such terms. It is almost incredible that such an insult should be affered to the family in return for the service of their brother and the sacrifice of his life and his property."

In a letter to the Irish Times, Mrs. Dickinson demands a full accounting from Mr. Redmond, saying his chance of success in America would be better "if he could show that as regards the funds he collected to redeem the ancestral home of his former leader, he had honestly and independently carried out the plans and applied the moneys to the purposes for which they were subscribed."

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Short Dispatches From the Four Quarters of the World.

The German ministry has been defeated on the tariff bill.

Diplomatic relations between Venezuela and Britain are strained.

The New York Yacht club has accepted the Lipton challenge.

Premier Haultain is ill in England and unable to leave for home.

Five million bushels of wheat have been shipped from Port Arthur and Fort William.

Hon. J. Israel Tarte has resigned from the Dominion cabinet, on demand of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Winnipeg aldermen propose to establish an extensive bathing station, three more new fire halls, and a new quarantine hospital.

The Gooderham and Walker whisky interests have formed a company to make liquor from the refuse of sugar beet factories.

Burglars blew open the safe of the Bank of Summit, South Dakota, on October 21, and escaped with $6,000 in cash, leaving no trace.

The coroner's jury in the case of Thomas O'Rourke, of Parkhill, Ont., who died in Manitoba, brought in a verdict that death was due to natural causes.

Al. Coons, treasurer of East Grand Forks, is short over four thousand dollars in his accounts.

Private advices say that the situation of the British force in Somaliland is worse than was at first reported.

Details of Toronto exhibition finances show receipts of $115,785; expenditures of $104,543, and a surplus of $11,242.

The British Miners' Federation has adopted a resolution in favor of nationalization of mines. This is significant, as the British trades unions do not decide in favor of nationalization with the freedom familiar on this continent.

According to The Onlooker, Queen Alexandra has promised to stand godmother to the son of the Duke and Duchess of Manchester (formerly Miss Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, O.), and the child subsequently will be named Alexander.

An English missionary named Cooper was recently murdered at Fiez, Morocco, and his murderer sought refuge in the sanctuary, but on the order of the sultan he was seized and shot in front of the mosque.

The Turkish forces are encountering strong opposition in their operations in the Krensa valley. A large Bulgarian band, in entrenched positions, has stubbornly opposed the further advance of the troops. According to official informations the Turks have surrounded the Bulgarian stronghold, and the surrender of the revolutionists or their dispersal is expected daily.

A. Roy, of St. Jean, Man., met with a gunning accident on October 21. While travelling in a wagon he went to lift his gun, but the trigger got caught and the gun went off, the discharge entering his heart, causing instant death.

The steamer Tartar, which sailed for the orient from Vancouver on Tuesday, had fifteen saloon and 75 steerage passengers, and a full cargo of 2,500 tons of general freight. Amongst the latter was a large consignment of dog salmon, in which a considerable industry is being built up with oriental ports.

A gruesome discovery was made at the Chaudiere, Ottawa, by a number of J. R. Booth's workmen one morning last week, and the general opinion about the district is that a murder has been committed. Two pilers of Booth's who are engaged in piling laths discovered a pool of blood 18 inches in diameter and alongside of it were several broken teeth and a number of portions of brains. The blood and the fragments of teeth were so distributed that it looked as if a struggle had taken place. The pool of blood was about three feet from the side of the bridge over the tail race of the Bronson company's power house.

Red Sea pirates have been raiding the Island of Dhalak, in the group belonging to Massowah (capital of the Italian colony of Eritrea). Two Italian gunboats, which went in pursuit of them, cornered the pirates at the Island of Midia, off the Lohela (Yemen Arabia) coast, which the Italians briskly bombarded. The gunboats afterwards proceeded to Holida (the most flourishing seaport of Yemen), and demanded reparation. The porte has promised the officials of the Italian embassy at Constantinople to take measures to arrest the culprits. In the meanwhile the commander of the Italian gunboats threatens, unless prompt reparation is accorded, that he will himself take the action necessary to obtain it.

Dr. Sproule, M.P., advocates the building of a new road to Hudson Bay.

The world has little use for a man who does his best only when engaged in doing others.

FROM BOTH HEMISPHERES

Important News Condensed Into Brief Paragraphs.

An unknown man was found dead at Cochrane, N.W.T., on October 22.

The miners have returned to work in the Pennsylvania mines by the thousands.

Rev. I. M. Barr, of London, is organizing a colony of 2,000 Britishers for the Edmonton district.

The Landsthing has decided not to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States.

King Oscar, of Sweden, the arbiter, has decided the Samoan controversy against the United States and in favor of Germany.

Good anthracite, it is said, has been located near Sudbury, Ont.

An old man named Jones, 70 years of age, was killed at Okotoks on October 21 by a train backing over him. The old man was deaf and practically blind and was walking on the track. A freight train started to back up, and as he neither saw nor heard it he was knocked down and run over, death being instantaneous.

Nova Scotia has another murder. At Onney Cape, near the shore of the Bay of Fundy, an Arabian peddler brained another in the tunnel of the old Maganese ore mine, and robbed him of the contents of his pack. The tragedy was discovered by a young man out shooting, who saw the peddler carrying loose material in addition to his own pack, and on finding blood spots, gave the alarm.

The month old infant of Mrs. John Packer, of Sheppard, N.W.T., was found dead by her husband last week under peculiar circumstances. The man, who is a rancher, came to the house for dinner at noon and found the child dead and the mother said she had killed it and was going to kill herself. Mr. Packer immediately drove his wife into Calgary, and the coroner was notified.

Lord Fairfax, British peer and United States citizen, has arrived in England to take up his residence permanently in the country. The sixth Baron Fairfax settled in the United States, where he owns nearly six million acres of land in Virginia, and his descendants have maintained a country seat in that state ever since. The present Lord Fairfax was in business in Wall street.

A cable has been received at Ottawa from Hon. Joseph Chamberlain stating that members of the South African Constabulary are entitled to the special war gratuities. All who have served between the 10th of October, 1899, and the 21st of May, 1902, are entitled to this gratuity. It will be paid by the staff officer of South Africa, King's Court, Broadway, London, S. W.

A railway two miles long with rolling stock consisting of a railway and a passenger train is an unusual thing in this land of great distances. But such a railway came into Calgary on Saturday afternoon. It was the Canadian Northern and was for the branch which will run between Strathcona and Edmonton. The railway went north Saturday.—Calgary Albertan.

When Andrew Carnegie presented the famous library of the late Lord Acton to John Morley there was considerable speculation as to what Mr. Morley would do with it. He has now offered the library to Cambridge university. It is a gift of splendid generosity, and as such has been accepted by the Duke of Devonshire, the chancellor of the university.

Glasgow, ever alert in taking up progressive issues of municipal government, is leading the way towards a new system of taxation of land values. The reformers of that city have advocated for a long period the special assessment plan, by which a portion of the expense of local improvement can be charged against the property directly benefited, a principle in common use in the United States but unknown in England. Progressives have also favored the betterment of the present principle and have urged the necessity for taxing great rents and unoccupied buildings. An important conference, summoned by the corporation of Glasgow, was held in London to consider a resolution to parliament subjecting to taxation land values now exempt. It was a most influential body with 160 delegates, representing 124 boroughs, county and urban district councils of the United Kingdom. The first resolution, approving of the principle of the taxation of land values for local purposes was adopted with a substantial unanimity, and the second one, favoring the introduction of a measure into parliament for carrying it into effect, was slightly modified, and passed with only four dissenting voices. A committee was appointed for taking direction of the movement.

A portrait of Charles I., in an art gallery at Oxford, is composed entirely of small letters. The head and ruff contain the Lord's Prayer, the Apostle's Creed, and the Book of Psalms.

There are now twelve miles of asphalt pavement in Winnipeg.

ROYAL PROCESSION

THEIR MAJESTIES ENTHUSIASTICALLY CHEERED.

The King Replies To The Address From The London County Council at Trafalgar Square--Boer Generals Among the Audience.

A London cable of Oct. 25 says: King Edward and Queen Alexandra started on the royal progress toward the city shortly after noon today in somewhat dull weather. The rain, however, kept off, and the temperature was sufficiently mild to make the day enjoyable. Outside Buckingham palace a great crowd had been waiting for hours, watching the arrivals and departures and the forming up of the procession, the brilliancy of the latter being greatly detracted from by the fact that all the troops were cloaked. The only touch of color was from the lance pennants of the lancers and the brass helmets of the heavy cavalry and the hkaki painted guns of the artillery and a naval gun of the same hue, added to the general tone of sombreness.

The roofs of houses near the palace and other points of vantage, giving a view of the picturesque panorama in Green Park and the historical Mall, were filled with spectators, whose cheering announced to the less privileged public the starting of the state carriage with their majesties.

The procession formed up outside the gate, and had already moved off when the first carriages containing royal personages and members of the household emerged therefrom. The veteran Duke of Cambridge, who was in a carriage with Princess Victoria, came in for considerable cheering, but Lord Roberts and his staff passed almost unnoticed.

There was a somewhat tedious interval before the appearance of their majesties, who drew forth the first real cheers of the day as they passed through the rows of bluejackets from the first class cruiser Terrible, laying either side of the main entrance to the palace. The King wore a field marshal's uniform, with the cloak thrown back, showing his decorations. The Queen wore a straw-colored toque and a fur collarette and cloak. Both the King and Queen looked extremely well and continuously bowed their acknowledgements of the warm welcome extended to them.

The King's escort of Life Guards, equerries, etc., were the only detachment of the procession not wearing cloaks, and these troopers made a brilliant display.

Partly in consequence of the length of the route there was nowhere a great crush of people, with the exception of open spaces like Trafalgar square, where the London county council presented the King with an address of welcome, and where the Boer generals, Botha, Delarey and DeWet were prominent among the spectators, and at the city bounbary, Temple Bar, where the lord mayor, sheriffs, and other city officials welcomed his majesty and presented him with the city's sword.

At the Mansion House most of the procession stopped. Their majesties from there being accompanied only by the sovereign's escort and the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and other princes, equerries and aides, to the Guildhall, where they arrived without any extraordinary incidents.

Owing to the King's carriage being the last some confusion occurred at the entrance of the Guildhall in an endeavor to empty the carriages quickly and avoid keeping his majesty waiting. Several of the princesses were rather unceremoniously deposited on the sidewalk, where they tried to throw their wraps into carriages, which were being hustled off down a narrow street, and a confused mass of princesses, ladies-in-waiting and such generals as had time to dismount gathered under the canopied entrance. When the King arrived he looked tired and stepped heavily from his carriage. The Queen threw off the wrap which covered her simple straw-colored dress, trimmed with gold. Her majesty, who looked marvellously youthful and well, accepted a bouquet from the lady mayoress and the King shook hands with her. The procession then started off down a long picturesque row of "Beefeaters."

In the great hall the seven hundred persons waiting about the luncheon tables cheered as the King came in. His majesty accepted the corporation's address and then the members of the royal family sat down and the luncheon commenced. The most interesting feature of the royal progress up to this point was the King's reply to the address of the London county council on Trafalgar square. The Boer generals occupied prominent seats in the centre of the county council stand, immediately facing the King.

His majesty's reply was clearly audible to all in the vicinity. He said: "It gives much pleasure, both to myself and the Queen, to receive in person the loyal and dutiful address of the centre of municipal authority on the occasion of our progress through the capital of the empire, and to receive the greetings of our people on our coronation. Your confidence that my favor will be extended to every measure calculated to ameliorate the conditions of my subjects, is well founded, and of the numerous important questions which come under your consideration, none appeal more strongly to my interest and sympathy than those directly touching on the welfare of the poorer classes of this and other great cities. I thank you for your good wishes for myself and my house. I cordially share your aspiration that it may be granted me by the same Divine Providence which preserved my life from imminent danger, to reign over my firmly established and peaceful empire and in the loyal hearts of my contented and prosperous people."

The interior of the great hall of the Guildhall presented a brilliant scene. It was filled with members of the royal family, diplomats, officers and officials, all in uniform, with their breasts blazing with orders. The King's reply to the address in the Guildhall was much on the same lines as his speech at Trafalgar.

After lunch the common crier called for a toast to his majesty the king, and Madame Albani, stationed in one of the galleries, sang the National anthem, in which the whole company joined.

After other formal toasts the party left the hall, the procession reformed, and it restarted on its progress across the river. The pageant traversed several miles of streets on the Surrey side of the River Thames. There was no special incident, though the heartiness of the welcome far transcended anything heard in the more aristocratic portions of the route.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Telegrams and Cablegrams Condensed for Busy Readers.

An expert estimate of the number of farm implements sold in Manitoba during the present season places the number of binders at between 5,000 and 6,000, and the threshing outfits at 500.

The Ontario Licensed Victuallers are having difficulty in raising a campaign fund.

The citizens of Moosomin have decided to establish a hospital.

Hon. Joseph Chamberlain will leave England next month to tour South Africa.

Sir Anthony Patrick MacDonnel has been appointed under-secretary for Ireland.

Generals Botha and Delarey have abandoned their trip to the United States.

The British Columbia lead smelter experiment at Trail, B.C., has proved a success.

A petition is being circulated and will be presented to the Calgary city council at its next meeting asking for the discontinuance of the curfew bell. It is set forth that the only thing the curfew does is to waken up the children who are in bed and asleep.

The chief constable of Birmingham has issued a warning to all arm and ammunition manufacturers not to sell goods for shipment to the proclaimed districts of Ireland. A special order also has been issued that even to such parts of Ireland as are not proclaimed shipments of arms must be clearly marked as such, under pain of stringent penalties.

Mrs. Mary Ann Mills, eighth concession of Blanshard, celebrated her 117th birthday on Saturday. She was born in the county of Fermanagh, Ireland, October 18, 1785. Mrs. Mills and her husband came to Canada in 1857, and settled in the township of Usborne, in this county. Two years afterwards Mr. Mills died. Mrs. Mills has been a widow nearly half a century. There is a family of five sons and four daughters; the eldest son is 77 years of age.

Application will be made at the next session of parliament for an act to incorporate a company to construct a railway from a point in the town of Macleod in the district of Alberta, N. W. T., thence by way of Stand-Off and Cardston southwards to the international boundary, with power to connect with a railway system of the United States; with authority also to construct branches from any points on the proposed line not exceeding in any one case thirty miles in length.

A weird story of mistaken identity of a dead man comes from Bryson, Pontiac county. Some weeks ago a man died at Trout Creek, Ont. He was supuosed to be Joseph Valliant, of Campbell's Bay, Que.; and on instructions from the widow, the body was sent via Haley's Station to be buried. There was some doubts as to his being the supposed man, but the widow was positive in her identification, as were some former fellow employees. A week ago Joseph Valliant returned home, much to the surprise of his wife and friends, who thought he was peacefully reposing under the sod. He was in Ottawa on the day of his funeral at Campbell's Bay. The dead man's name is said to have been Valliant and he somewhat resembled his living namesake.

METHODIST CHURCH.

FERNIE, B.C.

SERVICES:

Sunday.....11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Sabbath School and Bible Class, 3 p.m.
Prayer Meeting, Wednesday at 8 p.m.
Epworth League. ....Monday at 8 p.m.

Strangers are cordially invited.

REV. R. F. STILLMAN, - - Pastor.

FERNIE SOCIALIST LEAGUE.

The Socialist League will meet in the Empire House on Monday next at 7.30 p. m. All men and women who are seeking to know more of socialism are invited. Submitted are a few thoughts for the working men of Fernie. Labor produces all wealth; under the present economic and political conditions labor's share in the wealth which it creates is merely a mean and uncertain subsistence.

So long as the present organization of industry remains, the capitalist class will monopolize the machines of production and will appropriate, through the wage system, the wealth created by the work-class.

This appropriation of labor's wealth by the capitalists is so complete that it enables them to live in luxury and idleness. As a necessary consequence of this exploitation of the laborers by the capitalists, this expropriation of all property out of the hands of the toilers into the private ownership of the holders of capital, there is an inevitable war between the interests of the working class on the one hand and the interests of the capitalist class on the other. This class struggle between the wealth-makers and the wealth-takers will endure so long as our present system of production for profit continues. There is only one weapon with which the working class can successfully oppose the capitalist class, and that is the ballot. The fact demands that the working class organize into a political party that shall be everywhere and always distinct from and opposed to every political party not founded entirely upon the interests of the working class. The Socialist party is organized to meet this demand and is therefore the party of the working class.

We, the Fernie Socialist League, appeal to all working men to study the principles of Socialism, to vote with their class at all elections until they overthrow the power of capitalism, abolish industrial classes into society, terminate forever the class struggle, and inaugurate the co-operative commonwealth based upon this fundamental principle of justice; "To every worker the full product of his labor."

The subject for discussion on Monday next is: "Socialism, what is it, and what it is doing."

THE SEC.-TREAS.

No Blurred Type...

or indistinct images. No painful eye strain, or nervous headaches. The troubles vanish when

Old or Young Eyes are Fitted

with glasses eqactly suited to their condition and requirements. Come in and have a test made. It will cost nothing.

We carry a fine stock of eyeglasses, spectacles, gold, gold plated and nickle frames. Prices moderate.

A. C. LIPHARDT.

Ask for British Lion or Mainland cigars For sale at all first-class places. Union made. Manufactured by Wm. Lietjan, Vancouver. x

H. L. Stephens has opened his hotel, the Australian, at Morrissey. It is 100 feet long with a frontage of 30 feet two stories high, and plastered throughout. Mr. Stephens has one of the best buildings in the district, and it is being furnished in good shape, and of course with him in charge will be operated as a first-class house.—Cranbrook Herald.

Application

A meeting of the License Commissioners for this district will be held in the Court House Fernie, on Friday, the 14th of November, at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of considering the application of Louis Carosella for a wholesale liquor license.

Nearly Drowned

While a gang of young lads were operating in the rear of the Gem Restaurant last evening one of them met with an experience which he will long remember. He was running across the back yard when he fell into an open cess pool. His companions quickly came to the rescue and after considerable difficulty succeeded in pulling him out of his terrible position. It is safe to say that the lad will not go out looking for trouble again for some time to come.

Saltcoats, N.W.T. Oct. 31.—Five hundred Doukhobors arrived here today. They halted on the main street and sang hymns rather dolefully. They camped 5 miles out last night. They state their mission is to christianize the world. They seem to stand the exposure well although many are barefooted. There are some old men and boys and are quite peaceable. All have now gone east.

Jarvis Keeps The Best

Canned Fish
Canned Meats
Canned Fruits
Canned vegetables
All kinds of Teas
Coffees, etc.

Everything in the Grocery line.

GROCERIES

J. F. Jarvis

Public notice is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, F. R. Delzell, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed land in Southeast Kootenay district, B.C., commencing at a post planted quarter of a mile east of Delzell's north-west corner, thence 80 chains north to H. W. Petrie's south line, thence following said line east 40 chains, thence 80 chains south, thence 40 chains west, to point of commencement, containing 320 acres more or less.

Dated at Michel, Sept. 22nd, 1902.

F. R. DELZELL.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first application of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steel, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked J. W. Leonard south-west corner post, which is the south-east corner of J. F. Miller's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

J. W. LEONARD.

Dated this 14th day of Oct., 1902. 200-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and works at Fort Steele, for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked R Marpole south-west corner post, which is the south east corner of G. G. Blaylock's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

R. MARPOLE

Dated this 14th day of Oct., 1902. 200-5

Dissolution of Partnership.

NOTICE is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between D. Donaldson, Wm. Scott and O. N. Ross, as the Fernie Cartage Co., has this day been dissolved. The business will be carried on in future by O. N. Ross and Wm. Scott. All accounts due said company to Sept. 30th are to be paid to D. Donaldson, and all bills against the company will be paid by Messrs. Ross & Scott.

D. DONALDSON.
WM. SCOTT.
O. N. ROSS.

Dated at Fernie, Saturday, 25th October, 1902. 200-3

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked, J. F. Miller south west corner post which is the north west corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

Dated this 1st day of Sept., 1902.

J. F. MILLER,

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that sixty days after date, I, George H. Scott, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following unoccupied and unsurveyed lands in South East Kootenay District, B.C. commencing at a post planted at the south east corner of Frank Harmer's pre-emption, on the west bank of the Elk River, about five miles north of the mouth of Michel Creek, thence west along Frank Harmer's southern boundary 60 chains to the north-west corner, thence south 80 chains to the south west corner, thence east 60 chains to the western bank of the Elk River, thence North along the western bank of the Elk River upstream 80 chains to the place of beginning, containing 480 acres more or less.

Dated the 8th day of September 1902

GEO. H. SCOTT.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district and commencing at a post marked Thomas Morrison's south-west corner adjoining Chas. Walde's south-east corner post thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to place of commencement.

THOMAS MORRISON.
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept. 30th, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that thirty days after date I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for a license to prospect for coal and petroleum on the following described lands situate about two miles north of Foss and McDonnell's townsite, Morrissey, B.C., East Kootenay district, and commencing at a post marked Chas. Walde's south east corner thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence east 80 chains to place of commencement.

CHARLES WALDE,
Daniel McKenzie, agent.

Sept. 30th, 1902,

Notice is hereby given that thirty days from date that we will apply to the Chief Commissioner of Land and Works for a twenty-one year lease to cut and carry away timber from a tract of land containing 320 acres more or less situated on the west side of Elk river about two miles from the mouth of Michel creek, beginning at a post planted on the north side of what is known as Wilson creek about 1½ miles from its mouth, west 640 chains, thence north 60 chains; thence west 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence west 60 chains, thence south 260 chains, thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains thence east 60 chains, thence north 60 chains, thence east 640 chains, thence north 20 chains to place of commencement.

J. COWARD & SON.

Dated this 8th day of October, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publ cation of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked C. W. Spencer south-west corner post which is the south-east corner of J. Labarth's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. W. SPENCER

Dated this 14th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. S. Taylor south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of W. H. Aldridge's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

W. S. TAYLOR

Dated this 9th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked T. Tait south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of J. R. Nelson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

T. TAIT

Dated this 10th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River beginning at a post marked J. Oborne south-west corner post which is the south-east corner of Thos. Britt's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

J. OBORNE

Dated this 10th day of October 1902. 199-5

BIRDS FOR SALE

Beautiful canary birds for sale. Also house plants and flowers.

MRS. RENNY.
196- Opposite Central Hotel.

MAGIC! MAGIC!

Prof. Tyndall Richardson

The Modern MAGICIAN

Up-to-date Conjurer and exponent of Sleight of Hand, will give a Magical Entertainment in

Princess Hall,

Monday & Tuesday ev'gs

Nov. 3rd and 4th.

Usual prices. Children under 12, half price. Commence at 8:30.

MINERS' SPECIAL POLICIES.

Against Accidents—$25 per week for disability caused by accident, limited to ten weeks, and in fatal cases a funeral benefit of $25. ANNUAL PREMIUM, $25.00.

Against Sickness—$25 per week for disability caused by

Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, Diabetes, Pneumonia, Varioloid, Typhus Fever, Peritonitis, Pleurisy, Measles, Small Pox, Tetanus (Lock Jaw), Erysipelas, Meningitis, Appendicitis, Asiatic Cholera

Limited to ten weeks, and $12.50 per week for disability caused by Typhoid Fever, limited to 6 weeks. ANNUAL PREMIUM $10.00.

SMALLER SUMS IN PROPORTION

ARTHUR H. CREE,

...Agent...

FERNIE, B. C.

P. Burns & Co

Wholesale and Retail

Meat Merchants

Fresh and Cured Meats, Fresh Fish, Game and Poultry, We Supply only the Best. Your trade Solicited.

Markets in all the principal towns and citeis in British Columbia.

Don't Throw Away Your MONEY

On anything in Clothing, Shoes, Gent's Furnishings. Best goods at half price at

The Bannett Reese Co.

LIMITED.

Opposite Bank.

MRS. E. SLOAN,
QUALIFIED MIDWIFE.

Diploma of Obstetrical Hospital. Trained Women's Medical College, Baltimore.

194-4 Address Central Hotel, Fernie.

FERNIE DAIRY

Fresh milk delivered to all parts of the town. . . . . .

Dobson & Willingham,

E. J. PELTIER & CO.

Wholesale Dealers In

WINES, LIQUORS, BEER.

Imported and Domestic

...Cigars...

Sole Agents for Fernie and District:— Schlitz Beer, the Beer that made Milwaukee famous. Henry Irving and Pharoah Cigars.

FRUIT....

Peaches, Pears, Plums, Apples, Oranges, Lemons, Bananas, Grapes.

VEGETABLES

Green Corn, Tomatoes, Cucumbers, Melons, Celery, Cabbage.

....Cuthbert's

FISHING TACKLE

Over 100 Rods

to select from. Hand made greenheart, Lancewood, split bamboo and steel by the best Canadian, American and English makers.

50 Gross Flies

casts, any kind of a line. Long rubber socks to keep you out of the water and all sorts of fishermen's sundries.

A. J. Purdy & Co'y.

Lib. Legislative Ass:
Dec 31 1901

175

The Fernie Free Press

CROW'S NEST MOUNTAIN

VOL. VIII. No. ~~18~~ 19 FERNIE, B.C, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 8 1902. WHOLE NUMBER, 201

W. R. ROSS. J. S. T. ALEXANDER

Ross & Alexander,
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
FERNIE - - - - - - B.C.
Office :—Room 3, Cuthbert Block, Victoria Ave

H. W. HERCHMER SHERWOOD HERCHMER

Herchmer & Herchmer
BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, ETC.
Offices over P. Burns & Co's block, Victoria Ave.

H. Leslie Staebler
TEACHER ON
PIANO and ORGAO

Daily practice periods given to those without instruments.

MT. FERNIE LODGE NO. 47
I.O. O.F.
Meets every Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in Joyces's Hall.
ANDREW THOMPSON R.S.

ELK RIVER LODGE NO. 35
A.F. A.M.
Regular meetings held first Friday in each month. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
W. J. TIMLICK,
Secretary.

Local Union 796, Fernie, B.C.
United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners...
Meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesday evening in Joyce's Hall. Visiting brethern cordially invited.
THOS. BECK, President. GEO. W. WILLIAMS, Secretary

A. H. CREE Real Estate Agent.....
Fire, Life and Accident..... INSURANCE

MONEY to LOAN
ON VALUABLES
The Bannett & Reese Co. Ltd.
Opposite the Bank of Commerce.

J. C. Hutchison
Fernie's Leading Sartorial Artist.
If you want the latest styles and the finest quality of goods for your fall and winter suits and overcoats, you will make no mistake by leaving your order with Hutchison.
Opposite the Royal Hotel.

Fort Steele Licence District.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned has made an application under the provisions of the "Liquor Licence Act, 1900," for an hotel licence at the place set opposite to his name.

James Joyce, Muskoka Hotel, Fernie.

A meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners of the Fort Steele Licence District will be held to consider such application at the Court House at Fernie, on Friday, the 21st day of November, at the hour of 7:00 in the afternoon.

LESTOCK FORBES.
Fernie, Nov, 8, '02 Chief Licence Inspector.

MINERS DEMANDS.

Hazelton, Pa., Nov. 4.—The statement of the anthracite mineworkers case, which was filed with the Strike Commission on Sunday night, was made public to-day. Copies of the statement have been furnished to the operators, who will reply in three or four days.

The miners' statement in full follows :

"To the Anthracite Coal Commission : The mine workers make of the operators the following demands, which were formulated by the Shamokin convention, held March 18 to 24, and for the enforcement of which the strike was inaugurated :

"FIRST. An increase of 20 per cent. upon the prices paid during the year 1901 to employees performing contract or piecework. This demand is made on account of the following reasons :

"1. The present rate of wages is much lower than the rate of wages paid in the bituminous coal fields for substantially similar work.

"2. The present rate of wages is lower than is paid in other occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"3. The average annual earnings in the anthracite fields are much less than the average annual earnings in the bituminous coal fields for substantialy similar work.

"4. The average annual earnings in the anthracite fields are much less than the average annual earnings for occupations requiring equal skill and training.

"5. The rate of wages in the anthracite coal fields is insufficient to compensate the mine workers, in view of the dangerous character of the occupations in relation to accidents, the liability to serious and permanent disease, the high death rate, and the short average life incident to this employment.

"6. The annual earnings of the mine workers are insufficient to maintain the American standard of living.

"7. The increased cost of living is made impossible to maintain a fair standard of life upon the basis of present wages, and has not only prevented the miners from securing any benefit from increased prosperity, but has made their condition poorer on account of it.

"8. The wages of the anthracite mine workers are so low that their children are prematurely forced into the breakers and mills instead of being supported and educated upon the earnings of their parents.

"9. Wages are below the fair and just earnings of mine workers in this industry.

"SECOND. A reduction of 20 per cent. in hours of labor, without any reduction of earnings for all employees paid by the hour, day or week.

"The second demand is similar to the first, in that it is designed to increase the hourly rate of wages of mine workers employed by the hour, day or week, and all the reasons applicable to the first demands, are asked to be applied to the second with repetition.

"In addition thereto, we submit the following :

"10. The ten-hour day is detrimental to the health, life, safety and well-being of the mine workers.

"11. Shorter hours improve the physical, mental and moral conditions of the mine workers.

"12. Shorter hours increase the intensity and efficiency of labor.

"13. The tendency of national and state government of organized trade, and of production generally, is toward shorter hours.

"14. A working day of eight hours is sufficiently long for the best interests of the working men of the community.

"THIRD. The adoption of a system by which coal shall be weighed and paid for by weight, wherever practicable ; the minimum rate per ton to be sixty cents for a legal ton of 2240 pounds ; the differentials now existing at the various mines to be maintained

"1. Measurement by the legal ton, wherever practicable, is the only honest and just system of measuring the earnings of the mine workers.

"2. When the operators sell or transport coal, it is on the basis of a legal ton of 2240 pounds.

"3. The excessive ton was originally intended to compensate the operator for the weight of the small sizes of coal which were then discarded but which are not utilized and sold, and therefore there is no present necessity for the use of any other than the legal ton.

"4. The adoption of this system would remove an incentive, both to the operator and the worker, to cheating and dishonesty, and would allay jealousy among the miners and preveut unjust discrimination and favoritism.

"5. The change of the present system to the one asked for would prove a strong factor in allaying suspicion and discontent among the mine workers.

"FOURTH. The incorporation in an agreement between the United Mine Workers of America and the Anthracite Coal Companies of the wages which shall be paid and the conditions of employment which shall obtain, together with satisfactory methods for the adjustment of grievances which may arise from time to time to the end that strikes and lockouts may be unnecessary.

"In support of this demand we submit the following reasons:

"1. The anthracite miner should not be compelled to make or sign individual agreement, but should have the right to form such organizations and choose such agents and officers as they may desire to act collectively, instead of individually when they deem that their best interests are served thereby.

"2. Agreements between employers and employees through working men's organizations in the ordinary method of regulating product and wages in the bituminous coal fields and in other large industries, and are beneficial, successful and in keeping with the spirit of the times.

"3. Unions of working men tend to the better discipline of the men, and to the improvement of the physical, moral and mental condition, and to the preservation of friendly relations between employer and employee.

"4. Experience shows that the trade agreement is the only effective method by which it is possible to regulate questions arising between employers and employees in large industries, and that a trade agreement is the only possible way "To establish the relations between employers and wage earners in the anthracite fields on a just and permanent basis, and, as far as possible, to do away with any causes for the recurrence of such difficulties as these you (the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission) have been called in to settle.'"

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) JOHN MITCHELL.
Representative of the Anthracite Mine Workers.

SCHOOL REPORT FOR OCTOBER.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Amelia Turner.

DIVISION I.

Jr. IV—Lillie Sunberg, John Snedden, Marcel Bolduc. Sr. IV—Fred Johnson, Muriel Whimster, Ethel Digby.

DIVISION II.

Jr. II Reader—Della Robinson, Percy Clark, Jim Nicol. Sr. II Reader—Harry Harris, Abbie Sunberg, John McDonald. III Reader—Esther Lamb, Chas. Wheten, Harry Hennissey.

DIVISION III.

I Primer, Sr.—Liz. Beaner, Sadie Morn, Nellie Gobbart. II Primer—Harry Wheatcroft, Jean Nicol, Charlotte Rennie. I Reader—Eliza Holmes, Katie Regates, J. McDougal.

DIVISION IV.

IV Reader—Mary McClintock, Wm. Evans. III Reader—Jas. Alber, Nellie Hovan. II Reader—John Hovan, John Seaman. I Reader—Jessie Dick, John McCliment. II Pr.—George Seaman, John Dick. I Pr.—Murray Robertson, John Sapks.

DIVISION V.

Class A—Cecil Cudahe, Maggie Paterson, Marjorie Bradley. Class B—Eva Miller, Marion Corsan, Jennie Cody. I Primer—Lillian Winnett, Geo. Nicol, Annie Puteria.

Total attendance.	4485
Actual attendance	4306
Average daily attendance.	203.86
" actual " .	195.74

P. S. Visitors are always welcome to call at any time.—Prin.

W Switzer and A. Mutz are down at Tobacco Plains on a hunting expedition this week.

A little of present Fernie weather would soon cool the ardor of the marching Douks.

The staff of the Canadain Bank of Commerce has been increased by the addition of J. A. Motherwell, Toronto, and F. L. Rhodes of Vancouver.

MINERS STRIKE AT MICHEL

Trouble Over the Dismissal of the President of the Union.

The miners went out on strike at Michel last Monday owing to a difference between the local union and Superintendent Evans. It appears that the Superintendent dismissed the President of the Union for which he claims to have just reason, and the union accusing him of showing partiality and spite ordered the strike. All has been quiet during the week and it is thought that the trouble will soon be settled.

THEY ORGANIZED.

To the Editor.

In days long ago various trades were united to free themselves from the yoke of oppression and to secure to themselves and their children the privileges of citizenship, the rights of labor and equality before the law. To secure these well merited aims organization was necessary —individuals acting alone were powerless to accomplish anything against the tyrannical aristocracy which was sustained by the sword, by wealth and royalty.

Unions, or guilds as they were formerly called, takes us back into the early Grecian history, when we read of a metal workers' association, whose members had special festival days.

Therefore it was no new object the promoters of last Wednesday night's meeting had in view—a meeting of unorganized men. The time has come in Fernie when the laboring men must assert their rights. As units, as one of the speakers pointed out, they are powerless to accomplish anything, but when that unit was part of a consolidated body the body and not the unit must be dealt with.

Mr. J. Rogers, occupied the chair. Mr. C. M. O'Brein, the commissioned organizer of the American Labor Union, briefly stated the objects of the meeting and then followed Mr. J. R. Galvin, President of the Gladstone Miners Union ; Mr. J. Gethier, of the Brewers' Union ; Mr. Wilkes, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters; Mr. Harding, of the Bartenders Union, and Mr. E. Neale, of the Socialist League, all of whom testified to the benefits to be derived from organization. At the close of the meeting 25 charter members were enrolled in the Lumbermens' Union and two other unions are being organized.

The Federal Union is for all crafts in which there are not sufficient members to apply for a charter of their own. All information will be supplied by C. M. O'Brien, P. O. Box 300.—Com.

EBERTS TO SUCCEED DUNSMUIR.

Kootenay's Representation to be Decreased in the Near Future.

Vancouver, Nov. 6.—It is generally thought that Premier Dunsmuir's long deferred resignation will soon find its way to the Lieut. Governor's hands and a good deal of political speculation is indulged in. Most of the rumors are to the effect that Eberts will succeed him. The knowing ones in fact have a whole cabinet formed as follows :—Premier and Attorney-General D. M. Eberts ; Finance-Minister, R. G. Tatlow ; Commissioner of Lands and Works, R. F. Green ; Provincial Secretary, A. E. McPhillips ; Minister of Mines, R. McBride; President of the Council, C. Clifford. In Government circles at Victoria Eberts' chances seem good and the only man in the way appears to be Wells, whom Dunsmuir regards as his most faithful supporter. It is rumored that Eberts is in favor of lessening Kootenay's representation and that if he becomes premier he will attempt legislation in that direction.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Ontario grapes, 10 lbs. basket for 75c. —Cuthbert's.

Messrs. A. Joyce, J. A. Rennie and A. McDongall returned on Saturday from a few days' visit to the prairie.

The C. P. R. have changed the rates on the dining cars. All meals are now $1 each, or breakfast and luncheon will be given a la carte.

The verdict in the case of Laughton, accused of stealing a watch and some cash will be given to-night.

A. W. McVittie, P. L. S., has finished surveying the remaining 50 acres of the Coal Co. townsite at Morrissey.

Julius Earle, Hotel Keeper, Gateway, has let the contract for a new hotel at Morrissey Junction. Eugene Walter also contemplates building a new hotel on that townsite.

N. E. Suddaby has had an addition built to his drug store, thus giving him a better chance to place his stock which was rather cramped under the former conditions.

Mr. F. C. Malpas came up from Cranbrook on Wednesday evening. His wife and children accompanied him back to Cranbrook yesterday morning, where they will make their home.

A Swede by the name of Johnson was held up at Morrissey and relieved of a watch and two bottles of whiskey. He accuses two Finnlanders of the act and Constable Tranter is looking up the case.

The morning express has been very late every day this week. On Sunday it didn't arrive until night, on Friday it left Medicine Hat without the mail and on the other days it came in any old time between 9 o'clock and noon.

The waterworks system is being rapidly improved. Pipes are being laid to the Coal Company's cottages on Victoria and Baker streets and the system has been greatly extended in the newly built up section below the hospital, where also an under drain has been laid to carry away the water that often stands there during the wet season.

Mr. E. Neale is vacating the Empire House this week and the Fernie Socialist League will meet in his new residence, the last house on Pellat avenue, next to the hospital, on Monday night, when the subject will be : "Resolved that advocating the millenium is more educational than that of petty reform." The meeting are open to the public.

The big grade at Elko is giving the C.P.R. considerable trouble and several of its engineers have been looking it over with the object of devising some way of making the climb easier. There are two known means of overcoming the difficulty, one of which is to change the road and build it further south, and the other is the digging of a tunnel. One of these methods will be adopted and the work proceeded with at once. The employment of a large force of men will give that town another lease of life.

Charles Jagger and Wm. Moody were brought before Stipendiary Magistrate Armstrong on Thursday evening charged with stealing $150 from Myrtle Wicks at the Pioneer Hotel, Morrissey. The accused are defended by Messrs. Herchmer and Herchmer. The prosecuting evidence as given by Myrtle Wicks, her friend Eva Wilson and Drake, the proprietor of the hotel, goes to show that the two girls who are regarded as ladies of questionable repute, came up from Blairmore on Monday morning and put up at the Pioneer. Considerable drinking was indulged in by the four during the day and late at night the door of the girls' room was burst in by the accused and $150 stolen. Information was laid next morning and Constable Tranter arrested the men. The case has dragged on for the last two days and is not yet completed.

Boxing Contest

A ten-round boxing contest between James Burrows and Jack Lewis will take place in Princess Hall on Monday, Nov. 17th. Both men are getting in some hard training and a good deal of interest is being taken in the affair by local sportsmen. Lewis is a heavier man than Burrows but not nearly as active. If Burrows wins the contest it is expected that he will challenge Jack Fitzgerald.

Election of Officers

The Epworth Laague of the Methodist church elected its officers for the ensuing term as follows :

Pres.—Miss Kidwell.
1st Vice Pres.—Albert Colclough.
2nd " —Fred Wilkes.
3rd " —A. T. Claxton.
4th " —Miss Mott.
Secy.—Miss Lawrence.
Treas.—Miss Phillips.

The... SPELLING SCHOOL

By C. B. Lewis

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

When the school board of district No. 5, which included the hamlet of Bebee's Corners, announced that they had engaged a schoolma'am for the winter term instead of a schoolmaster, there was much wondering among the farmhouses as to how she would manage things. For three successive winters the schoolmaster had been thrashed by a gang of bad boys, led by hulking Joe Whitman, and folks predicted that the new teacher would be picked up, carried out and dropped into a snowdrift the first day.

Seth Thomas, a young farmer, drove over to the railroad station to meet Miss Baker when her school was ready to open, and his surprise was reflected on all sides. She was a slip of a girl, less than twenty years old and shy, and this was her first school. She had taken it because her mother was an invalid and her father had failed in business, but that came out afterward. That a good looking, refined young woman like Miss Baker should take a country school at $25 a month instead of getting married was a mystery no one could solve.

Seth Thomas was twenty-three years old, and he also was shy. During the three mile drive the pair did not exchange a hundred words. Seth was awed and scared by the girl's good looks, and she was frightened at coming among strangers. She was driven to the Carsons', where she was to board, and she saw no more of Seth for a fortnight. Her only remembrance of him was that he had a plain, good natured face and a pleasant voice.

During this fortnight Bob Graham walked home with her from school on several occasions, Jim Taylor made two calls at the Carsons', Tom Lane drove her to school one stormy morning, and Charley Saunders, acknowledged the most stylish young farmer for five miles around, escorted her to evening church services and home again. Her school had started off bravely, and she had no idea that it was all owing to the bashful Seth. He had been afraid to call on her, but he wasn't afraid to meet Joe Whitman and his crowd the day before school opened and to say to them:

"Look here, now. You boys have got to behave yourselves this winter.

HE HAD JUST STARTED FOR THE DOOR WITH HER IN HIS ARMS

If you give that little schoolma'am one bit of trouble, I'll thrash every one of you till you can't crawl home!"

There was a difference of opinion until Seth had picked each up separately, shaken most of the deviltry out of him and then driven him head first into a snowdrift. That settled the question of mutiny. Later on, when he had worked up the courage to call on the new teacher, she was lying down with a headache and asked to be excused. Two weeks later, when he called again, she happened to be out. Seth did not try again. He got the idea that she didn't care to see him, and, though willing to acknowledge to himself that he was homely, angular and awkward, it hurt him that she should think so. She must think so, of course, as she was always "at home" to other young men, and they lost no opportunity of boasting of how flatteringly they were received.

Six weeks after school opened Seth was driving past the schoolhouse one day when the sounds of a disturbance reached his ears. Joe Whitman had forgotten his shaking up and decided to break loose. That meant carrying Miss Baker outdoors and ducking her in a snowdrift, but there was a loose wheel in the programme. He had just started for the door with her in his arms when Seth Thomas walked in. Presto, it was Joe who found the snowdrift!

The schoolma'am would have taken Seth by the hand and thanked him, but when he had concluded the performance he drove away without a look toward the schoolhouse. Then the girl's intuition told her that the awkward Seth was an admirer who felt himself snubbed, and for the next four weeks she hoped he might call on her or that they might meet elsewhere and have an explanation. He avoided her, however, though, if he had but known it, she gave more thought to him than to all the others.

There was always a midwinter spelling school at the Corners. Teacher and pupils of other schools were invited, and the victor of the contest was regarded as the smartest thing on earth. At the spelling school the year before the championship had been wrested from No. 5 by No. 6, and the schoolmaster of the latter district had his salary raised $3 per month. This fact invested the coming contest with more than usual excitement.

A day or two before the contest Miss Baker learned that Seth lived just over the line in district No. 6. He would therefore be an opponent, and, no matter how deficient he was in other branches, he was accounted a prodigy in orthography.

"He feels that I have snubbed him, and he is now going to have revenge on me. I wish he only knew how sorry I am."

The schoolhouse was jammed with teachers, pupils and parents, and all recognized the fact that it was No. 5 versus No. 6. The teacher of No. 6 was a young man, but he was there to win if he could, and so were his best spellers. Queerly enough, it came about that Miss Baker and Seth Thomas headed the opposition lists, and they were opposite each other as Squire Jameson took the spelling book and gave out the first word. Things went easy at first, but when he came to the four syllable words the ranks began to thin. Fifteen minutes later there were only five on a side. Ten minutes more and only six in all were standing, four of whom were No. 6's. Then the word "separate" knocked down two of the latter, and the contest went on for a few minutes with two on a side. Then came the word "impecuniosity," and Miss Baker and Seth Thomas were alone on the floor. There were yelling and cheering, followed by silence, as the squire looked for the hardest words.

"I shall be beaten," sighed the schoolma'am, "and the whole district will be humiliated. If it were anybody but Seth, who thinks I meant to snub him, I wouldn't care so much. I wish—I wish"—

"We will now resume," interrupted the squire, and with solemn deliberation he gave out a score of big words in succession. In time he must reach the word "epidemiological." Miss Baker knew it was there, and she knew she always blundered over it, and if it came to her the championship was gone. It came to Seth, however, and for the first time he raised his eyes from the floor and looked into hers. She did not read revenge there, but self sacrifice. An instant later, with the audience holding its breath, he began on the word and at the fifth division of it put in an "a" for the "o" with such emphasis as to give her the cue, and as he sat down she spelled the word right, at which the champions of No. 5 almost lifted the roof with their yells. An hour later as he walked up the road to the Carsons beside her she asked:

"But why did you do it? I am sure you misspelled the word on purpose."

"I—I guess it was for love," replied Seth as he turned his head away and stubbed his toes into the snow.

Neither Fear Nor Favor.

A tactful refusal is sometimes hard to compass; yet a "no" may contain a spicier savor than many an assent. There is a story of Archbishop Whately, who was walking in a London city park one day with a curate and Charles Lever, the novelist.

The archbishop was greatly interested in mushrooms, and he picked one and ate a piece of it, at the same time handing a bit to the curate.

"What do you think of that, Mr. A.?" he asked.

The curate did not especially like it, and moreover he was not sure whether it could be safely eaten. Nevertheless, this was his superior in office, a man who must not be offended.

"I think, my lord," said he, obsequiously, "if it had a little pepper and salt it would be delicious."

"Here, Lever," said the archbishop, "you taste it and see what you think of it."

"Many thanks, your grace," said Lever, calmly, "but I am not a clergyman. It is true that I have a brother in holy orders, but he is not in your grace's diocese."

The archbishop laughed, better pleased with this cleverness of evasion than by a dull acquiescence, and ate the mushroom himself.

A Thirteen Clock.

A clock which strikes 13 is used in the Bridgewater trustees' extensive collieries, Lancashire, England. The employees complained that they were late returning from lunch because they did not hear the old clock strike 1.

HOW RELIEF CAME.

An Interesting Story From An Icelandic Settlement.

From the Logberg, Winnipeg, Man.

The readers of Logberg have long been familiar with the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through the well authenticated cures pubished in these columns each week. Many of our readers are also able to vouch for cures which have come under their own observation. This week "Logberg" has received a letter from one of its readers, Mr. B. Walterson, a prosperous farmer living at Bru, in which he gives his own experience in the hope that it may benefit some other sufferer. Mr. Walterson says: "Some years ago I was suffering so greatly from rheumatism in my limbs that I was for a long time unable to do any work. I tried in many ways to obtain a cure, both by patent medicines and medicine prescribed by doctors, but without obtaining any benefit. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advertised in the Logberg as being a cure for this trouble and determined to give it a trial. I bought a dozen boxes and before half of them were used I felt a great change for the better. This improvement continued from day to day, and before I had used all the pills I was completely cured. Since that time I have never had an attack of this trouble. After this I used the pills in several other cases and no other medicine has been so beneficial to me. I feel it my duty to publicly give testimony to the merits of this wonderful medicine so others similarly afflicted may be led to try it."

If you are weak or ailing; if your nerves are tired and jaded, or your blood is out of condition, you will be wise to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are an unfailing cure for all blood and nerve troubles. But be sure you get the genuine, with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sometimes in our more tolerant and forgiving moods, we don't blame people for what they do; at the same time we cannot help but feel that they ought to have had more sense.

There have been 2,819 people killed and 39,800 injured by the railways of the United States during the past year.

To Sleep Well

get your stomach and liver acting right. The easiest, quickest and safest way to do it is to use

Beecham's Pills

Sold Everywhere. In boxes, 25 cents.

CANADIAN NORTHERN

Winter Tourist Excursions. . .

Through Tickets. Lowest Rates
Best Time to all Points.
OCEAN STEAMSHIP TICKETS.

For full information consult any Canadian Northern Ry Agent.

GEO. H. SHAW,
Traffic Manager.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

"THE" ROUTE TO

Australasia And the Orient

CANADA'S SCENIC ROUTE

Travel by the C. P. R. and be assured of SOLID COMFORT.

First-class C. P. R. Sleepers on all through trains.

Through Tourist Sleepers - the best

Tourist Rates quoted to all points

East, West, South,
The Old Country,
The Orient,
The Antipodes.

Those desiring information in regard to any part of the world reached by the C. P. R. or its connections are requested to apply to any C. P. R. representative or to

C. E. McPHERSON
Gen. Pas. Agt., Winnipeg.

LEARNING A LANGUAGE.

It Is Comparatively Easy to Acquire a Working Vocabulary.

"It doesn't require any great length of time to learn a language if one has patience," said a man who has mastered several languages, "and when I hear a man regret that he is not able to speak French or German or Spanish or some other language unknown to him I cannot conceal my amusement. In nine cases out of ten I might say that the men who express a regret of this sort handle English very poorly if that happens to be their language.

"The chances are that their vocabularies are extremely limited, and it would probably surprise them to know that despite the advantages of birth and education they could not command more than 600 or 700 words in English if their lives depended upon it. Yet they are able to carry on intelligent conversation, and many of them may become forcible and even axiomatic in their savings, and they plunge into discussions of literature, art, music and other subjects of such fine elegance and do it rather successfully too.

"Now, how long ought it to take for a man to learn 600 or 700 or even 1,000 words in any language? Certainly it ought not to take any great length of time, and from my own experience I know that it does not. Of course I am not speaking now of mastering so that one can get the full benefit of all the refinements of speech in a particular tongue.

"But I have in mind the idea of speaking intelligibly in a given language and being able to understand perfectly what is said in return. I have a system which I have worked out, and it has been of vast benefit to me and has enabled me to learn a number of languages. It occurred to me while I was in Mexico a few years ago on important business.

"I could not speak a word of Spanish and could not understand the language. I concluded that I would learn the language. My plan was simply this: I made up my mind that I would not retire at the close of any day as long as I was there without learning at least three words in Spanish, how to pronounce them and what they meant. That would give me ninety words per month, or something over 1,000 in a year's time."

Look Out For Your Pate.

A contemporary says "pate" is slang for head. It is, eh? Wherefore? Surely the word is used in a trivial or derogatory sense, as noddle, noggin, cranium, brainpan, etc., but its origin is eminently respectable. Shakespeare says "the learned pate ducks to the golden fool." Pope's epigram is good:

You beat your pate and fancy wit will come;
Knock as you please, there's nobody at home.

We have "bald pate" and "shave pate." Why, the word is used once in the Bible, and by David, in Psalm vii. 16, "His mischief shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate." Accurately, pate does not mean the head, but the crown of the head.

A Forbidden Topic.

"There is one topic peremptorily forbidden to all well bred, to all rational, mortals," says Emerson, "namely, their distempers. If you have not slept or if you have slept or if you have headache or sciatica or leprosy or thunderstroke, I beseech you by all angels to hold your peace and not pollute the morning, to which all the housemates bring serene and pleasant thoughts, by corruption and groans. Come out of the azure. Love the day."

The quotation suggests that, hard as it is to be an invalid, it may prove almost as painful to be an invalid's friend.

Love and Business.

"Dear," she said during an interval of comparative sanity, "promise me one thing."

"Anything," he answered, with the recklessness of love.

"After we have been married a reasonable time if we decide a divorce is desirable promise that my brothers, who are struggling young lawyers, shall represent us."

Open Road to Fame and Fortune.

"My boy," said the old gentleman in a kindly tone, "there's only one thing that stands between you and success."

"And what is that?" asked the youth.

"If you worked as hard at working," explained the old gentleman, "as you do at trying to find some way to avoid working, you would easily acquire both fame and fortune."

The One Qualification.

"What position will our friend take on this momentous question?" asked the gradiloquent man.

"Position?" echoed Senator Sorghum absentmindedly. "Oh, he'll take pretty nearly any position that's open, provided there's salary attached to it."

Norway Fishermen.

Norwegians do not favor whale hunting because they believe that whales drive the fish shoreward.

Nurses' Experience.

Medical men say that a good nurse in a difficult case is better than medicine, but when we can get a good nurse and good medicine, the patient stands a much better chance of recovery. The few words of advice given below by nurse Eliza King, are well worthy the attention of all readers:

"I have constantly used St. Jacobs Oil in the various situations I have occupied as nurse, and have invariably found it excellent in all cases requiring outward application, such as sprains, bruises, rheumatic affections, neuralgia, etc. In cases of pleurisy it is an excellent remedy—well rubbed I can strongly recommend it after several years' use and experience. It should be in every household.

Sister Carolina, St. Andrew's Hospital, writes: "I have found St. Jacobs Oil a most efficacious remedy in gout; also in sprains and bruises. Indeed, we cannot say too much in its praise, and our doctor is ordering it constantly."

A piece of property at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Market streets in Philadelphia was sold recently for $500,000. The lot had a frontage of 45 feet 9 inches on Market street, with a depth of 112. This makes the rate per foot about $11,000.

If attacked with cholera or summer complaint of any kind send at once for a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, and use it according to directions. It acts with wonderful rapidity in subduing that dreadful disease that weakens the strongest man and that destroys the young and delicate. Those who have used this cholera medicine say it acts promptly and never fails to effect a thorough cure.

In the early morning Leeds workmen can travel five miles for a penny by the municipal electric tramway cars.

Minard's Liniment is the best.

An evening call is productive of pleasure either when you come or when you go.

That woman doesn't live who can lose at a social card game without getting mad.

When a short young man gets sweet on a tall girl he immediately buys a high silk hat.

Minard's Liniment is best Hair Restorer.

At the present ratio of progress 70 years will elapse before Pompeii is entirely uncovered. It is thought that as much treasure remains as has been exhumed.

The time comes terribly soon to people when they quit staying out late nights, and join those who lie wide awake in worrying over those who are out.

Platonic friendship is better than love without honorable mention.

But few men are able to see a sea serpent unless they are half-seas over.

"Conversation is a dead art," says a philosopher. Talked to death perhaps.

Things that make a woman cry make a man swear.

Beware of the man who owns a soft, persuasive voice.

SYRUP OF FIGS

ACTS GENTLY ON KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS,

CLEANSES THE SYSTEM EFFECTUALLY;

DISPELS COLDS HEADACHES & FEVERS;

OVERCOMES HABITUAL CONSTIPATION PERMANENTLY.

TO GET ITS BENEFICIAL EFFECTS,

BUY THE GENUINE — MAN'F'D BY

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS. PRICE 50c. PER BOTTLE.

EXCITING ADVENTURE

ATTACKED BY AN INFURIATED BUCK.

Arthur Gravelle, While Hunting Near Ottawa, Has an Experience Which He Will Not Soon Forget---Arm Broken and Otherwise Injured.

A dispatch from Ottawa says: Arthur Gravelle, of South Indian, who has been up the Gatineau on a hunting trip, arrived in Ottawa yesterday in a rather battered condition.

His face was cut and his arm broken as the result of an attack of a big buck which he succeeded in wounding, but did not kill outright.

Gravelle tells a graphic story of his adventure. He says he had been on the runway from early morning until late in the afternoon, when he saw the buck coming along at a leisurely gait. He took deliberate aim and fired, and much to his delight, the buck came down. He hurried over to where it was and proceeded to bleed the animal, which, however, jumped to its feet and threw him about ten feet away.

Then it reared and drove its forefeet down upon him, fortunately they landed on either side of him, but one hoof struck his arm above the elbow and splintered the bone. The buck made another attempt to trample him with its hoofs, but fell over as it reared and went down and out from loss of blood.

Gravelle lay where he was for an hour or more, being in a sort of stupor from the intense excitement and the pain of his arm. After that he does not remember anything until he found his friends pouring some brandy into his mouth. He suffered a great deal from his fractured arm. Gravelle says he has had enough hunting to do him for a season or two.

He Saw a Real Ghost.

Shotton Colliery is a village in Durham, England. The colliery has stopped, the streets are deserted, and many cottages are in disrepair.

Into one of the renovated houses Mr. Lamb and his family went some 16 months ago. Since then the place has been subject to ghostly visitations. Throughout last winter the unknown visitor, shortly before and after midnight rattled the latch, shook the doors, tapped the windows.

One night at 11 o'clock a "shadow" was seen. Young Lamb followed it. It turned a corner.

As Lamb turned, the creature he was watching turned too, for the first time, and he saw a pair of burning eyes, like living coals, glaring at him from out of the shadowy outline of a face which belonged to no one in Shotton. He fled home trembling, with the tale of how he had seen their persecutor.

This is a plain, unvarnished statement of fact (says the Daily Chronicle) devoid of theories.

Botha's Appeal.

The Contemporary Review has published an article by General Botha, in which the writer insists upon the loyalty of the Boer leaders to Great Britain. He expresses regret that the language of some of their continental appeals has been misinterpreted when scanned microscopically in England, and reiterates his fervent desire to co-operate with the British government in smoothing the effects of the war. General Botha says it is humiliating to have to appeal to foreigners for funds to aid his countrymen, and that he believes if Englishmen realized the pitiable condition of their vanquished foes there would be no need to make appeals for help. In conclusion, the writer urges a general and complete amnesty, which he says would remove the most potent cause of estrangements between Britons and Boers.

Mme. Patti, who has just taken out papers of naturalization as an English subject, was born in Madrid, brought up by an American stepfather in the United States, married a Frenchman and then an Italian, and is finally settled in Wales, the wife of a Swedish nobleman.

Archbishop Ryan, visiting a small parish in a mining district for the purpose of administering confirmation, asked one nervous little girl what matrimony was, and she answered that it was a "state of terrible torment, which those who enter it are compelled to undergo for a time to prepare them for a brighter and better world." "No, no," remonstrated the pastor; "that isn't matrimony; that's the definition of pergatory." "Leave her alone," said the archbishop, "maybe she's right. What do you or I know about it?"

A Norwegian has invented a machine for turning out the tins used for sardines and anchovies. Hitherto a skilled laborer could make about 600 tins daily, but the new machine will produce about 15,000 to 20,000 per day.

NEWS NOTES

Short Items Culled From Telegraphic Dispatches.

Mr. Ebenezer McColl, of Winnipeg, a veteran Indian official, died on October 30.

Santa Maria volcano has been in eruption recently, devastating surrounding coffee plantations.

Secretary Moody, of the United States navy department, favors reciprocity with Canada.

Mr. Frank Pedley is to be appointed assistant superintendent of Indian affairs at Ottawa.

Rt. Hon. W. Hanbury, president of the board of agriculture in Britain, believes the cattle supplies of the future will come from Argentina.

Charles R. Olsen, a carpenter, employed on the new St. Stephen's church, Winnipeg, fell from a scaffold and died within ten minutes of the injuries he received.

Albert E. Round, a Toronto city employee, was found dead on the floor of his room at 57 Cornwall street. Some weeks ago Round injured a knee in a post hole while working for the city. The injury was permanent and since then he has been very despondent.

Frederick Joyce, aged 66 years, of Byron, Ont., was found hanging in his barn on October 30. Joyce was a bachelor, and lived alone. George Sumner, a fireman at the waterworks station, went to the barn, and on opening the door, was startled to see Joyce's body suspended by a rope from a beam.

Wm. Giles, the 14-year-old son of Patrolman Giles, of Windsor, Ont., was run over and killed on Thursday last. He was riding on a waggon, was jolted from the seat, and the rear wheel passed over his head, and death resulted instantly.

The oldest Orangeman in Hastings county, Ont., if not in Canada, died on October 30 in the person of Robson, of Tyendinega, who passed away in his 98th year. Deceased has been in this country 67 years, and joined the Orange order in Ireland, where he was born.

Ambrose Benton, an employee of the Crofton smelter, being operated by the Northwest Smelting and Refining company, was crushed to death on October 30. He was killed by the cover of a converter of tremendous weight, and of the twelve men employed there Benton alone was unable to jump clear. The weight weighed three tons and a half.

Advices from Aden, Arabia, say that the British commissioner in Somaliland has reached Berbera in safety. His wounded are doing well. No further movement of the British troops against the Mad Mullah will be made until a large force is collected, which will be about two months hence. There is no doubt that the Somaliland levies showed the white feather in the recent fighting with the Mullah's followers. Col. Cobbe is in command at Bohtle, Somaliland, where the guns have arrived. The garrison there is not threatened.

A dispatch from Memphis, Tenn., says: David Cross, an old negro, who was arrested on suspicion of killing Mary, Sophie, and May Gibson, young daughters of a negro farmer, who were found dead in their home, is reported to have committed the triple murder. When first caught Cross declared that another negro had committed the deed, but that he had been a witness. A mob, composed exclusively of negroes, formed for the purpose of taking Cross from the authorities and hanging him. The sheriff and his deputies, becoming alarmed at the increasing proportions of the mob, spirited the prisoner into the woods, where they remained in hiding till the excitement had subsided.

Self-defence is claimed by a young man named Veley, of the township of Olden, Ont., who shot a man named Soper, who was demanding the return of his wife, a sister of young Veley. Soper was hit in the hand and side, and is dangerously wounded. Veley has given himself up to the authorities. Soper was married in an American city. His wife left him and returned home. Soper tried to secure her, and several times at her father's home created scenes. In the last one Veley asserts that threats were made with such warmth that he used a gun.

The steamer Hayson, of the China Mutual line, which arrived at Victoria on October 30, made the fastest passage round the world from London to Victoria, via Port Said, Suez, Penang, Singapore, Hong-Kong and Japanese ports. She was 67 days from London. The voyage from Yokohama was very rough. She left with a typhoon prevailing and was badly buffetted, and on Saturday and Sunday last a heavy westerly gale, with mountainous seas, tossed her about considerably, but the steamer sustained no damage.

The national commission to the striking miners has written a letter to Premier Combes accusing the companies of using intimidation to force the miners to resume work individually, and of discharging those who refused to do so. In its letter the commission threatens that if such methods are continued it will immediately ask the trades unions of France to order a general strike.

KRUGER'S MEMOIRS

EX-PRESIDENT OF TRANSVAAL REVIEWS HISTORY

He Sums Up Some Public Men and Accuses Rhodes of Duplicity, Treachery and Bribery---Says Milner Was Tool of Chamberlain.

Advices from London say: It is understood that the "Kruger Memoirs," of which a first instalment of extracts have already been published in The Times, gives a narrative of the ex-president's career, but do not go deeply into political aspects or advise the Boers as to the best policy to be pursued after Mr. Kruger's death. A striking proof of the memoirs is a revelation of the jealousies which existed before the war between inhabitants of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State and the Cape Colony Boers, which prevented anything like a satisfactory mutual undertaking. Mr. Kruger takes pains to prove that he did his utmost to smooth matters over and prevent the war but the Boers' inborn antipathy to foreign interference proved to be too strong for him....

Mr. Kruger closes his memoirs with these words: "I am convinced that God will not forsake his people, even though it often appears so, and I acquiesce in the will of the Lord, knowing He will not allow an afflicted people to perish. The Lord hath all hearts in His hand, and He turn whithersoever He will."

This aspiration is a clue to the contents of the whole book, which is less a source of historical information, throwing new or striking light upon the events dealt with, than a human document of physiological value, revealing the personal traits of the ex-president. The memoirs are but a sketchy summary of past events with Mr. Kruger's personal comments thereon.

The instalment of the memoirs published by The Times contains some interesting light concerning Mr. Kruger's opinion of various men prominent in South African history. The ex-president was once invited to meet Sir Bartle Freere. He replied he would be quite willing to do so if he were told which Freere it was. He declared he knew four Freeres, and explained this remark by describing different aspects of Sir Bartle's character as presented by blue books, saying some of his characteristics were friendly while others were inimical to the Boers.

Mr. Kruger describes "Jesuitical" Cecil Rhodes as the "curse of South Africa." He says: "No matter how base or contemptible, be it lying, bribery or treachery, all means were welcome to him."

Lord Milner he describes as a "typical judge-autocrat" beyond France.

Mr. Kruger declares that Colonial Secretary Chamberlain was undoubtedly the late Cecil Rhodes' accomplice in the Jamieson raid, and that Mr. Chamberlain appointeh Lord Milner British high commissioner of South Africa with the direct intention of driving matters to extremes.

"This tool of Mr. Chamberlain," says Mr. Kruger, "carried out his mission faithfully and turned South Africa into a wilderness."

British policy in general, the former president of the Transvaal sums up in the following sentence: "Lies, treachery, intrigues, and secret investigations against the governments of the republics; these have always been the distinguishing marks of English politics."

Mr. Kruger declares that the Transvaal national union was under Cecil Rhodes' paramount influence from its very inception, and describes it as having, from the very outset, used the demand for the franchise as a cloak for designs against the republic.

He describes how, after the Jamieson raid, when the republic was practically defenceless, he became convinced of the necessity of preparing for war, and gradually accumulated war materials. This was especially the case after the British parliamentary inquiry into the raid, which Mr. Kruger says showed Mr. Chamberlain's complicity. Mr. Kruger contends that his institution of reforms in 1899 probably startled Mr. Chamberlain, and impelled Great Britain to hurry on the crisis, for fear of losing a pretext for war.

The author of the memoirs asserts that the signatures to the petition of the so-called grievances were obtained by the greatest fraud, and describes how the franchise remained the question at issue until, writes Mr. Kruger, in spite of all concessions, all patience, and the indulgence of the republic, war broke out.

Mr. Kruger says that enormous demands were then made upon his industry; all persons came to him for directions, advice or comfort. There was not a night during which he slept undisturbed, and when the burghers grew discouraged, he himself went to the commanders to restore the confidence of the combatants.

The former president writes that he looked upon the war, not so much as an event, but as a sign of the times.

Canada has granted but 116 divorces in the last twenty years.

HE IS NOT DEAD.

A Man Who Was Supposed to Be Decapitated by a Train Is Alive.

Winnipeg, October 31.—Arthur B. Braden, the man whose corpse was supposed to have been picked up on the C. P. R. tracks, just east of the depot about a month ago, has come to life again, and human like, has resented the imputation that he was numbered among the dead.

This is the man who was dead according to the testimony of his wife, who travelled all the way from Toronto to identify the mangled remains. She arrived in Winnipeg in new widow's weeds, and although not at the first recognizing the deceased as he lay on the couch at Kerr's undertaking place, as her missing spouse, she finally decided that it was her late husband, and took the body to Toronto to be interred with proper honors. Now the real husband turns up and is indignant that another should occupy the place that should be his, although he is still glad that he is in Winnipeg instead of in Mt. Pleasant or the Necropolis.

Yesterday afternoon the supposed deceased made a declaration to the effect that he was Arthur H. Braden, a pumpmaker, from Ontario, the husband of Harriet Jane Braden, who lived at 209 Lisgar street, Toronto, and that he left Toronto on August 21 last and since arriving in Manitoba had worked with a threshing outfit at Macdonald, Oakland and Oakville.

"When I left home I told them I wouldn't write," said Braden. "I said the same last year. I don't know what made them so previous as to think I was dead."

The erstwhile dead man says he is going to Toronto to console his widow.

THE ALL-RED ROUTE.

Last Section of the British Pacific Cable Completed.

London, Oct 31.—The last section of the British Imperial Pacific cable was laid at the Fiji Islands yesterday.

A congratulatory cable message to King Edward reached Buckingham Palace this morning, being the first message sent over the line, which links the British Empire together.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Sir Sandford Fleming received today the following cable over the new Pacific cable from Premier Seddon, of New Zealand:—

October 31, 1902.

"Delighted to congratulate you on the completion of the great work of the Pacific cable, thus rewarding your interest and labor in forging a further link to the advantage of our empire. (Signed) SEDDON."

Another cable says: The British Pacific cable has been completed, and will be officially opened today. The event is regarded as of the highest importance, as the completion of the cable brings into being for the first time a British telegraphic girdle around the globe. The cable is 7,900 miles in length, and has been laid in three sections. The southern section joins Brisbane and Norfolk Island, the northern section extends from Vancouver Island to Fanning Island, and the central section, which was completed yesterday, unites Fanning Island to Norfolk Island. The Vancouver-Fanning portion is the longest cable without a break in the world.

THE WIDE WORLD.

Telegraphic News of Two Hemispheres Briefly Chronicled.

Two big beef trusts have been planned in Chicago.

An American company has applied for a charter to build 2,500 miles of railway in Manitoba.

The City of Winnipeg has received word that eastern coal men will sell direct to the city to prevent squeezing by dealers.

George H. Greig has retired from the position of editor of the Farmers' Advocate to become live stock commissioner for Manitoba.

The Doukhobors are encamped at Bredenburg, twenty-five miles from the Manitoba boundary. One has gone insane and several others have given out and are being carried on stretchers.

British officers are co-operating to send returned South African soldiers to Canada as settlers.

A large list of South African war honors and promotions have been gazetted; two Canadians, Lieut.-Col. Fiset and Capt. McMillan being among the number.

The Rat Portage Hockey club has made official application to place a team in the senior league.

The London Morning Leader says: A Canadian fast line is impossible unless the Canadian people or ourselves care to pay handsome bounties for the ridiculous purpose of carrying goods across the ocean by an expensive and dangerous route.

A number of former Boer commandants and British officers have offered their services and those of one thousand men, half of whom are British and half Boer soldiers, for service in Somaliland.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

TELEGRAMS FROM BOTH HEMISPHERES.

Matters That Will Interest Everybody---Little of Everything Easily Read and Remembered by the Dear Public---World Over Notes.

The cotton manufacturers of Canada have formed an association.

Negotiations are under way for the establishment of steel works in Toronto.

P. Rottey, for over thirty years, doorkeeper at the senate chamber at Ottawa is dead.

The Ontario government has announced that the King's birthday will be celebrated in that province on May 25.

A mob of 4,000 burned a negro at at Sardis, Miss.

The Doukhobor pilgrims have crossed the line into Manitoba.

Surgeon-Major Devine, of Winnipeg, has received the D. S. O. medal.

The Boer delegates from South Africa arrived in Winnipeg on Nov. 1.

The United States-Newfoundland treaty consists in reciprocity in fish and bait alone.

Vital statistics in Winnipeg during October totalled: Births, 123; deaths, 76; marriages, 70.

An Ottawa manufacturing concern has completed a $35,000 contract for South African shipment.

A Winnipeg coal dealer predicts that Pennsylvania hard coal will be selling in Winnipeg for $11 per ton in two weeks time.

Mrs. Jane Taylor, for many years a resident of Hamilton, who recently went to Egypt with her daughter, was afflicted with cholera on arriving at Alexandria. She died on Oct. 13. She was 71 years of age.

Amoy, China, has been partially destroyed by a fire, which resulted in several casualties and a loss of $5,000,000 in the native quarters and $300,000 in the British concession.

Thomas Barker, aged 33 years, committed suicide at the home of his mother, St. John, N.B., by drinking shoe dye. Shortly after midnight his mother heard groans coming from the room. She went in and found him in great pain. He died after severe suffering.

A coronors' jury at Liverpool returned a verdict of murder against McKeever, the slayer of John Kensit, the anti-ritualist. John Kensit was injured, September 25, by being struck by a chisel, which was thrown at him after he had addressed a meeting at Birkenhead. Mr. Kensit was brought to a hospital, where he died from pneumonia.

A boy named Zahrenhusen, aged fourteen years, committed suicide in a horrible manner near Pipestone, Minn. He set fire to a pile of straw and jumped into the flames. The cause of the suicide, it is alleged, was ill-treatment by the boy's parents.

The Boer commandant Viljoen has written a letter to Earl Roberts, in which he offers his services to the British army if the Boers are enlisted to take the field against the forces of the Mullah in Somaliland.

Montreal is threatened with an oyster famine. Heavy storms over the oyster beds made the catch this season limited.

A tremendous sensation was caused in London on Nov. 2 by the statements that another scandal of the Oscar Wilde class was about to become public property. It is asserted that the man whose name is connected with the affair, and who is a peer, has fled the country, but there is every reason to believe that he is at present lying ill at an English watering place. A report of this affair found its way into print in guarded language, but every effort will be exerted to prevent further publicity.

Hawk Brooks, a well-known baseball player of Kingston, was arrested on Nov. 1 at the instance of John H. Holmes, of Norwich, for whom he had been working as an apple packer. He is charged with misappropriating certain funds advanced as expenses. Brooks resisted arrest, three men finally overcoming him.

There was a shooting affray in Hamilton on Saturday night. James McKinty is under arrest charged with shooting with intent to kill Fred. Brown. It is not known whether the shooting will prove fatal. McKinty was under the influence of liquor and was being assisted down the street by two men. He fell near Mulberry street and instantly whipped out a revolver. Before the men with him could seize the weapon he pulled the trigger and Brown, who was on the opposite side of the street, received the lead.

Frank and Louis Schutte and Chas. and James Woodrich were killed at Algonquin, Ill., when the milk express on the Chicago and Northwestern railway struck their carriage at a crossing.

The Canadian
Bank of Commerce

HEAD OFFICE—TORONTO.

Paid up capital $8,000,000
Reserve Fund $2,000,000
Aggregate Resources over $65,000,000

HON. G. A. COX, President. B. E. WALKER, Gen. Mgr.

Savings Bank Department
Deposits received and interest allowed. Present rate 3 per cent.

FERNIE BRANCH, E. H. BIRD, Manager.

The Fernie Free Press

ESTABLISHED 1898.

Address all communications to the Editor.

Subscription: $2.00 Per Year in Advance

SATURDAY, NOV. 8, 1902.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The arbitrators appointed to settle the coal miners' strike in France have given a decision against an increase of the present rates, claiming that the rates are proportioned to the selling price of coal. The operators have agreed to raise the old age pensions for workmen. The miners will carry the matter to the Chamber of Deputies.

* * *

Chas. O'Brien is taking a very active interest in the formation of labor unions in this district. It is thought that he is looking for the nomination of the labor party in the coming election. Whether it will be E. Neale or C. O'Brien upon which the choice will fall is a question which is causing a good deal of discussion among the labor party.

* * *

THE voting on the question of the affiliation of the Nanaimo Miners' Union with the Western Federation of Miners passed off quietly this week, the vote cast showing that they were little interested in the matter. After the close of the polls the vote was counted with the following result:

Total votes cast	187
For affiliation	128
Against affiliation	59

Under the resolution providing for the election a two-third majority was necessary to carry the proposition.

This majority was secured, with four votes to spare as follows:

Necessary to carry	124
Majority for affiliation	128

* * *

The anthracite arbitration commissioners have commenced their work in a business-like and practical manner. They believe that the best way to understand the situation from both standpoints is to go to the mines, and into the mines and investigate all the details of the industry from start to finish. Thus they have spent a whole week visiting the different mines in the coal belt, often under personal discomfort but always showing much interest and keen observation. On the 14th the commissioners will meet the operators who will present their side of the story after which the miners will again be heard in rebuttal. The case is one that interests the world and we believe the commissioners feel the responsibility that is placed in their hands and that their verdict will be strictly in accordance with their convictions.

* * *

In another column will be found a full report of the anthracite coal miners' demands over the signature of John Mitchell. The statement is logically arranged and from a miner's standpoint is a strong presentment of the case. The arguments advanced in support of the first demand are with reason repeated in supporting the second as shorter hours raises the average rate of pay. Comparisons with bituminous coal mining in several parts of the report brings the question nearer home, and shows us that the coal miner of the Crow's Nest has much to be thankful for. It is difficult to pass any opinion upon the merits of the first demand as it simply must depend upon the amount of labor required to mine the coal, and this can only be ascertained by careful investigation. The other demands are reasonable and should they be granted the Pennsylvania miners will be nearly as well off as our own miners.

* * *

The completion of the British Pacific Cable this week is a subject for congratulation by all Britishers. The survey was commenced in March, 1901 and the first ship laden with the cable steamed down the Thames only ten months ago. The total length of the "magic cord" is nearly 8,000 miles and its cost will be about $9,000,000, of which sum Australia pays $4,000,000 and Canada and Britain each $2,500,000. The all-British nature of this enterprise will be maintained on this continent by utilizing the Canadian Pacific telegraph system from the Pacific to the Atlantic. Aside from the imperial sentiment which this work fosters, by drawing our Empire into closer communication with all its outlying colonies, its importance in the commercial sense will be almost incalculable. Asiatic and Australian trade will make stupendous strides in the tracks of this modern achievement, and it is reasonable to believe that British Columbia, as the terminus of the British Pacific cable will reap greater commercial benefits than any other province.

* * *

The misguided Doukhobors who recently started out on a mad march in search of Jesus and imbued with the idea that they were especially ordained to christianize the world are last reported below Foxwarren. The first point of attack was Yorkton, and three thousand of these people, composed of men, women and children, many in the last stages of exhaustion, took possession of that town. Here the authorities wisely interfered and detained the women and children, while the men continued on their way down the Manitoba and Northwestern toward Winnipeg, singing and chanting as they marched. They seemed to take no thought of food or clothing, believing that Jesus would take charge of these minor details. A snowstorm at Foxwarren accompanied by a lower temperature is apparently having the natural effect of bringing them to their senses and it is altogether likely that they will soon recover from their strange religious mania and return to their home. A great deal of ridicule has been heaped upon these poor misguided people, especially by the American press. It seems to us that their case calls more for our sympathy. Their fanatical march is causing much suffering but they bear it all themselves, and even the money expended by the Government towards their relief is taken from their funds. These people believe they are following the literal teachings of Christ and when they have gone home and pondered over their mistakes, they will settle down and eventually become good citizens.

Cars's Mackinaw.

Lumbermen

You should see our stock of the celebrated Cars's Mackinaw Clothing

This clothing holds the same position in its line as the Slater Shoe does in footwear The only genuine Mackinaw clothing in Canada.

We have it in Pants, Coats, Shirts and Mitts.

JOYCE BROS
The Up-to-date Furnishers.

The Slater Shoe Agency.

A Mass of Information

Can be crowded into a limited space sometimes, but it is impossible to tell here half what should be told about our books and stationery. A partial list could not convey an idea of the magnitude, variety or value of our goods. Come in and delve through our stock. There's good reading on all subjects for little money. Writing will be a pleasure when you use our pens, ink and paper, all are so good, and the cost is so small.

BLEASDELL'S DRUG STORE.
Next to Post Office.

Removed

From Bentley's block
To Cuthbert's block
and have opened up,

OUR FALL STOCK
DIRECT FROM ENGLAND

Consisting of Tweeds, Worsteds and Serge Suitings, also a nobby line of Pantings and Overcoatings, all of which will be cut to fit men, not prices.

We respectfully solicit a call from all who desire up-to-date, well-made clothing.

C. W. LAIDLEY

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, John Owens, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres more or less of land, commencing at the north-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains north, thence 80 chains more or less east to west bank of Elk river thence following the west bank of Elk river to H. Petries' north-east corner, thence west 80 chains, more or less to the point of commencement.

JOHN OWENS.

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that 60 days after date I, Hugh McMillan, intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, for permission to purchase 320 acres of land, commencing at a post planted at the south-west corner of H. Petries' application to purchase, thence running 40 chains west; thence 80 chains north; thence 40 chains east: thence 80 chains south to point of commencement.

HUGH McMILLAN

Dated this 6th day of September, 1902.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked E. P. White south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C, M. Henretta's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

E. P. WHITE

Dated this 8th day of Oct. 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on the east side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked I, G. Ogden south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of T. W. Bingay's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

I. G. OGDEN

Dated the 8th day of October 1902. 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described lands, situate in East Kootenay, on the esat side of Elk River, beginning at a post marked C. Drinkwater south-west corner post which is the south-east corner post of C. H. Gill's coal and detroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. DRINKWATER.

Dated this 8th day of October 1902 199-5

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on east side of Elk river, beginning at a post marked W. R. Baker south west corner post which is the south-east corner post of J. R. Wilson's coal and petroleum claim, thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to the point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

W. R. BAKER

Dated this 9th day of October 1902. 199-5

THE MOTHERS

are especially interested at this season in having

SUITS

FOR THEIR LITTLE BOYS

Ten Different Styles
Prices from $1.25 up.

Make this your Clothing Store, and you will always have the newest and best.

Crow's Nest Trading Co

100 Miners Wanted
At the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Mines
AT MORRISSEY

THE SURVEY is almost completed in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's Townsite at Morrissey, B. C. In the opening of the new townsite at Morrissey, the business man will have an opportunity for money-making that has never been presented in British Columbia. Get in on the ground floor.

CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO., Ltd.

—FOR—

NEW GROCERIES

—GO TO—

J. PODBIELANCIK

SUCCESSOR TO D. HAYES.

A full line of.....
GOODWILLIES'
CANNED FRUITS
.....Always in stock

Sole Agent for Monsoon Tea.

Plain and Fancy Biscuits.
Plain and Fancy Canned Meats.
Canned Fish, etc.

EVERYTHING AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

One door South of Hotel Fernie

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Fresh Oysters at Cuthbert's.

Mr. Fred Stork spent several days this week at Michel.

Mrs. Lalonde and Geo. Lake were married on Tuesday.

D. V. Mott returned from a business trip to Winnipeg this week.

The Pincher Creek hockey club organized on Wednesday evening of this week.

Messrs. Coward & Son contemplate erecting a large saw mill at Michel in the spring.

H. W. Barnes left town this week for Washington State where he will spend the winter.

The Presbyterian Sunday School is making perparations for a cantata for the Christmas festivites.

Mrs. N. C. Douglas has opened a boarding house in Mrs. Graves large house next to the Methodist Church.

BOARDERS WANTED—None but those with good moral character need apply.—Pellatt Avenue; opposite the hospital. 9-4

Messrs. Harry and Fred Wilkes received the sad news of the death of their mother, which occurred in Winnipeg on Monday.

Rev. Mr. Connors, of Morrissey, will preach in the Methodist church to-morrow morning and evening. Rev. Mr. Stillman takes the Morrissey appointment.

H. L. Stephens, proprietor of the Australian Hotel at Morrissey, is giving a grand ball on the 19th inst. This event is to celebrate the opening of his large and up-to-date hotel.

Rev. D.L.Gordon and wife went down to Pincher Creek on Monday where they will spend a week or two visiting friends. Rev. H. R. Grant exchanges pulpits with Mr. Gordon to-morrow.

The fresh snow on the foot hills simplifies the art of deer hunting considerably. We hear of several successful hunts, among which are Messrs A. Beck and Hilton who each secured two deer.

A man was brought from Michel by Constable Henderson on Tuesday and tried before Magistrates, Trites and Turner on a charge of indecent exposure. He was fined $5 and severely reprimanded.

A number of lottery circulars from one of the European state lotteries are being delivered this week through the mails. The usual tempting offers of big returns for a small outlay will hardly induce any Fernie citizen to exchange his hard earned cash for a handsomely lithographed lottery ticket.

With the re-appearance of snow the dangerous condition of the sidewalks at the crossings is revived. Already the approaches have become so slippery that it takes a brave heart and a steady head to make the ascent. A few dollars right-spent would relieve the situation permanently, save many falls and banish many fears. Such little troubles as these could easily be adjusted if the town were under municipal government and we could not be depenpent on some kind-hearted and thoughtful neighbor to throw a pail of ashes on the slippery spot.

An accident occurred at the Electric Power House about 12 o'clock Tuesday night. The elbow of a steam pipe leading from the boiler and situated within the furnace burst with such terrific force as to loosen some of the brick work of the furnace. The fireman, Gur by name, unfortunately was firing at the time and a great volume of flame, steam and ashes were forced out upon him, badly burning his face and hands; luckily his eyes escaped injury. His burns were dressed at the hospital where he is now doing as well as can be expected. The town was enveloped in darkness the remainder of the night and the damage was repaired on Wednesday.

Quadrille Club Ball

For some time past our enterprising orchestra consisting of H. L. Staebler, piano; H. W. Brown, 1st violin; H. Bell, second violin; T. Mazzanobile, cornet, and J. Marshall, Trombone, has been perfecting the organization of a quadrille club. The club consists of twenty-four charter members composed of popular young men of the town. Each of these members is privileged to issue invitations to his friends to whom the admission fee is 75 cents. It is the purpose of the club to have a ball every alternate Thursday evening throughout the winter. The first of the season took place in Princess hall on Thursday evening and was attended by a large and influential gathering. The music supplied by the orchestra was of the highest order though it was handicapped by the absence of Mr. Marshall, who found it impossible to be present. The ball was a decided success and augurs well for the Fernie Quadrille Club. The next dance will take place on Wednesday 19th owing to other arrangements having been made for Thursday evening.

Skates and hand sleds at Quail's

J. A. MacLean is down on the prairie this week.

D. V. Mott is down to Kootenay Lake on a business trip.

G. Underwood and family have gone to Lethbridge where they will reside.

R. J. Black spent a couple of days in Cranbrook this week looking up friends.

S. K. Smith, traveler for Martin, Boyle and Wynne, Winnipeg was in town this week.

Miss Goubett has successfolly started her kindergarten with an enrollment of twenty pupils.

Mr. J. A. Rennie and family have moved into their large new residence opposite the recreation grounds.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Nina A. Graham and Mr. Geo W. Williams on Thursday, Nov. 20th.

Mrs. Graves, accompanied by her sister Mrs. Bell, left on Monday for Medicine Hat, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. W. P. McLaren, Druggist and Chemist of Watford, Ont., was a guest of Miss Andrews, Matron at the Hospital on Tuesday and Wednesday.

United States election for representatives to the 58th Congress took place on Tuesday, resulting in an easy victory for the Republican party though the Democrats made some substantial gains.

Prof. Tyndall Richardson, magician and conjurer, gave his entertainment before thin audiences on Monday and Tuesday evenings. His performance is clever and for its kind is one of the best we have seen.

Edward Labelle, the Yukon murderer, who is to hang in January for participating in the killing of four men in the north is not unknown in Nelson, having spent several months there three years ago as a tin-horn gambler.

Pincher Creek is agitating for the erection and operation of a flour mill. A joint stock company has been formed, and the stock will be put on the market as soon as the prospectus, which is now being published, is issued.

The "Great West" has done much towards making the west great. Insure in a western company whose interest earnings is 2 per cent above eastern companies and whose premiums are correspondingly lower. H. G. Watson, agent.

The MacLeod Advance says:—"Heavey winds prevailed the whole of last week" and a few paragraphs farther on. "several of the streets were cleared of loose rocks during ihe past week." This doubtless explains why Sandy and his friends came back wearing caps

John Balko who has taken all the preliminary measures towards securing a license to open a hotel in the Farquharson Block has withdrawn his application owing to the fact that he is unable to comply with the new provincial regulation that the names of all licence holders must be on the voters list. Mr. Balko was unable to get his name on by Sept. 29 on account of delay on the part of Nelson authorities in getting out his naturalization papers.

A telegram was received in the city on Monday evening from Captain Gore of the C. P. R., asking to have a doctor meet the steamer at Robson on its arrival that night as there was an injured boy on board. The youngster, who is eight years old, was travelling with his mother, brothers and sisters to Fernie, from the coast. On the Arraw Lake steamer he happened to pull a window down on one of his fingers with snch force that it was severed.—Nelson News

Customs collections at the outport of Fernie for month ending October 31. 1902.

Value of Imports, Dutiable	$7957,00
Free	4848,00
Total	$12,705.00
Duty collected	$ 2095.72

Inland revenue returns for month of October, 1902.

Spirits	$1578.65
Malt	541.62
Tobacco	61.80
Cigars	64.34
Total	$1946.42

Sunday morning's west bound express was ditched two miles west of Pincher. A great bank of treacherous gumbalt 40 feet wide had slidden from the south side leaving a chasm under the track. Tom Drummond, the engineer was on the opposite side and though he had little warning succeeded in almost stopping the train before the engine reached the defective spot. The engine turned on its side and half buried itself in the clay. The fireman escaped by jumping and Drummond was unhurt though he stayed at his post. The train was pulled into Pincher siding and a crew from Macleod had a new track laid by Monday morning when traffic was resumed.

All current magazines of the following 36 periodicals constantly on hand at the

FERNIE DRUG STORE

Pearson's, Argosy, Strand, Sketch, World-Wide, Field, Black and White, Scribner's Illustrated London News, Ainslee's, Everybody's, Vogue, Designer, Delineator, Recreation, Scientific American McClure's, Cosmopolitan, Frank Leslie, Canadian, Forum, Graphic, North American Review, Review of Reviews, Cassell's Weekly, Cassell's Journal, Tit-Bits, Answers, Black Cat, Ladies' World, Ladies' Home Companion, Ladies' Home Journal Literary Digest, The Philistine, Will Carleton, Current Literature and St. Nicholas.

Fernie Drug Store.

C. N. DOUGLAS

has a fine stock of Gents' Furnishings...

Our stock in this line is second to none in town. Call and inspect our stock of Shirts and Ties, Boots and Shoes, Summer Underwear, clothing.

OUR GROCERY STOCK Contains everything that the housekeeper requires, and the prices are away down.

Canned Goods of every description, Dried Meats, and a full stock of SUGARS, SPICES, TEAS, ETC.

It will pay you to deal with

C. N. DOUGLAS

THE EMPIRE Boarding House.

Is the place where you will find all the comforts of a home from home.

Good board and rooms at reasonable rates.

Edwin Neale
Proprietor.

Are You Satisfied

WITH YOUR

Fire Insurance Rates ???????

If not, call and get my figures.

F. J. WATSON

General Insurance, Loan and Real Estate Agent.

Notice is hereby given that I, the undersigned, intend thirty days after the first publication of this notice, or as soon thereafter as the application can be heard, to apply to the Assistant Commissioner of Lands and Works at Fort Steele for license to prospect for coal and petroleum, upon the following described land, situate in East Kootenay, on East side of Elk riaer, beginning at a post marked C. H. Gill south-west corner post, situate 40 chains west of the north-west corner of T. W. Bingay coal and petroleum claim thence east 80 chains, thence north 80 chains, thence west 80 chains, thence south 80 chains to point of beginning and containing 640 acres.

C. H. GILL.

Dated this 1st day of Sept. 1902. 149-5

SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT — It pays to buy from Sheppard & Elliott — SHEPPARD & ELLIOTT

COAL OIL

JET BLACK ENAMEL.....

For Stove Pipes, Elbows, Grates, Registers, etc. One application makes them look like new—free from smoke or odor;

CROSS CUT SAWS

Maple Leaf, Volunteer, Diston.

AXES

Columbia, Perfect, Black Prince, Western, Active Service.

COAL OIL

Sheppard & Elliott,

Sole agent for the Kelcey furnace; stands the highest test the world over

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CO.

60 Days 60 Days 60 Days

The greatest selling time ever known in the Kootenays. We are over-stocked in some lines, and are going to turn them into MONEY. Only one way to do so — make prices that will loosen the purse strings. The first week,—just to tempt you

Fast Black Sateen Shirts — Two Lines.
One at 55c.——— A Better One at 85c.

Both at about half price. Watch for hand bills and posters.

THE LONDON AND LIVERPOOL,

We want you to come in and see our line of REED GOODS You will find the prices interesting .....

Time to Discharge

The worn out and old fashioned kitchen utensils. They make the cook tired and spoil much good food. Many new things here for saving labor, saving steps and saving waste. Cooking utensils scientifically constructed. Hoase furnishings that are really household helps and not pocketbook drains. We have just received a shipment from the manufacturer, stock is now very complete. Prices are as low as are consistent with first quality goods.

J. D. QUAIL..

Hardware. Furniture.

MISS RHODENA TINGLE
— PROFESSIONAL NURSE —
Residence—J. F. Jarvis. FERNIE, B. C.
5-3m

INGRAM & McINTYRE
THE CITY BARBERS.
Shop in the Royal Hotel.

A GRAVE SITUATION.

AFFAIRS IN SOUTH AFRICA ARE SERIOUS.

British Government Recognizing This Fact and Mr. Chamberlain Will Pro-There and Examine for Himself--British and Dutch at Loggerheads.

A London cable says: The gravity of the situation in South Africa is at last recognized by the government. Very gloomy accounts of the state of affairs in Cape Colony, Orange Colony, and the Transvaal have been received here from time to time, through private channels, but there has been a tendency to discredit them. The announcement of Mr. Chamberlain's decision to proceed to South Africa to examine on the spot the problems presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new British colonies, has, consequently, caused the utmost surprise in political circles. It is tolerably certain that if the situation had not been one of extreme gravity, the colonial secretary would have left the whole matter absolutely in the hands of Lord Milner.

The feeling between the British and Dutch in Cape Town just now is said to be more bitter than it was in the days before the war. Former Transvaal and Free State colors are worn freely in the Dutch towns of the Cape, and sedition is openly preached. Loyalists are naturally alarmed at this state of things, and Sir Gordon Sprigg is unable to stem the agitation in favor of a suspension of the constitution.

In all probability, however, the situation in Transvaal Colony is causing the government even greater anxiety, and the colonial office announcement must be read in connection with a statement made by the chancellor of the exchequer, in the House of Commons last week, that there is no intention to introduce a Transvaal bill during the present session of parliament. Evidently Chamlain has no intention of making the Transvaal pay more than the colony can bear. Rand magnates have been astonished at the proposed imposition of a tax of 10 per cent. on the gold mines, and they have hinted that they will not use these sources for developments of fresh properties unless they receive better treatment at th? hands of the Imperial government. At present there is an entire absense of enterprise in the Transvaal, and the government is warned against a policy of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

ATTACKS REDMOND.

Parnell's Sister Asks Pertinent Questions of the Irish Leader.

A cable from London says: Mrs. Dickinson, sister of the late Charles Stuart Parnell, has published bitter correspondence between herself and John Redmond, chairman of the United Irish League, and of the Irish parliamentary party, in which she demands an accounting of the funds raised in America to save Avondale, the estate of the late Mr. Parnell, frim the hands of outsiders.

In reply to her first letter, Mr. Redmond wrote to Mrs. Dickinson, saying the object of the American funds were the erection of a monument to Mr. Parnell in Dublin, and the purchase of Avondale house and lawn, which should be available as a residence of the Parnell family. Mr. Redmond's bid was set aside in favor of one from Mr. Boyland, a Dublin butcher, who has made an agreement with John Parnell, brother of the deceased statesman. "Thus," said Mr. Redmond, "it was impossible to buy the house and the committee proceeded with the project of erecting a Parnell statue."

Mrs. Dickinson wrote again saying that Mr. Boyland now offered to accept the $25,000 collected for the purchase of the estate, and would allow the balance to remain on a ten years' mortgage. To this letter Mr. Redmond did not reply.

A proposal being made that the Parnells and Mrs. Dickinson could reside in the park at Avondale, Mrs. Dickinson wrote:

"As to the condition that any member of the family should be allowed to reside at Avondale should they desire to do so, that is to say on sufferance, as either caretakers or gatekeepers, all I can say is that I think the family have suffered enough through the murder of their brother Charles, through pecuniary difficulties, and through the loss of their ancestral home for the good of the country, without the insult of Avondale being placed at their disposal on such terms. It is almost incredible that such an insult should be affered to the family in return for the service of their brother and the sacrifice of his life and his property."

In a letter to the Irish Times, Mrs. Dickinson demands a full accounting from Mr. Redmond, saying his chance of success in America would be better "if he could show that as regards the funds he collected to redeem the ancestral home of his former leader, he had honestly and independently carried out the plans and applied the moneys to the purposes for which they were subscribed."

CANADA AND ABROAD.

A Budget of Important News in Short Paragraphs.

The total freight received at Dawson this year was over 5,000 tons in excess of last year.

The C. P. R. has bought twelve locomotives in Scotland.

It is said that the details have been arranged for a combine of the Canadian boot and shoe makers.

County Treasurer Shambleau, of Chatham, Ont., has been suspended owing to an alleged shortage in his books.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford in a public speech has predicted a century of peace for Britain.

By the King's special request, Jos. Chamberlain will be conveyed to South Africa in a warship.

British Liberals have joined with the Nationalists in their opposition to the Education Bill.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, prominent in women's work, has died in New York.

The treatment of steerage passengers on Canadian Atlantic liners is said to be scandalous, and the government will be asked to interfere.

An application of the Morden and Northwestern railway to cross the M. & N. W. track near Neepawa was granted by the railway committee of the privy council.

Mrs. Gilbert, of Masfield, Ont., while in a house alone, upset a coal oil lamp and was so terribly burned that she died shortly afterwards.

On Sunday morning Mr. Wm. Quilhan, a farmer, of about 80 years, while in church at Grafton, Ont., was taken sick, and in about ten minutes expired.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Daily Mail cables that there is an epidemic of measles at Khamschatka peninsula. Ten thousand persons have died of the disease and the populations of some country villages have been nearly wiped out.

A distressing shooting accident occurred at St. Catharines on October 28, when Miss Muriel Benson, aged about twenty, was accidentally shot through the head by her young brother, Carl, who is only about fourteen years of age. The boy was examining a small Stevens' rifle at their home on Academy street, when it was discharged, the bullet entering the back of her head. She expired in a few minutes.

William Carroll, an old man living near Kelly's Siding, Thorndale, Ont., set fire to his house and then stabbed himself. He was brooding over the loss of his wife, who died about a year ago. A man named Woods happened to be driving by and saw the fire. When he broke in Carroll was stabbing himself with an old piece of sheep shears. He was rescued and sent to Victoria hospital, London.

Last spring Francis Querin ysteriously disappeared from Robervale, Que., and was thought to be drowned. Search was made, and the river dragged, but of no avail. Sunday two children left their home to set traps in the woods, and about two miles from their home they found the body of a man hanging from a tree. The remains were identified as those of Guerin.

A dispatch from Bear Mouth, Mont. says James Conn, a wealthy ranchman on Willow Creek, was found shot to death in his home on October 28. His mother lay upon the floor with her skull crushed, and can not live. The murderer is believed to be the lone bandit who held up the Northwest Limited last week.

Dr. William Bell Dawson, M. A., chief engineer of the tidal wave survey of Canada, has just been awarded the Watt gold medal by the council of the institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, for an able and valuable address on "Tidal guages in northern climates and isolated situations."

A Galician employed in a threshing gang near Dunrea was horribly burned last Thursday, having gone to sleep beside a pile of straw while smoking, and the straw being kindled from his pipe. He was rescued with difficulty by other members of the gang, but not until he had been severely burned about the lower parts of the body.

A dispatch from Vancouver, B. C., says: In a drizzling rain a large band of Indians from Nanaimo reserve left for Cameron Lake, armed with shot guns, rifles and hunting knives. They are after a whole winter's supply of food. For years they have made a practice of obtaining food from day to day throughout the winter, as in summer, but a bad omen—the recent eclipse of the moon—which was clearly visible from Nanaimo, has caused an alarm among them. They recall the winter of 20 years ago when Nanaimo harbor was frozen over and declare that the eclipse was a warning of a repitition of that hard season, when there was but little game to hunt and it was too cold to hunt.

There are in the United States 30 Berlins, 21 Hamburgs, 23 towns bearing the name Paris, and 13 London.

A QUEER PILGRIMAGE

DOUKHOBORS MARCH IN A BODY ON YORKTON.

They Say They are in Search of "The New Light," and Refuse Shelter for Themselves and Their Families---A Serious Problem.

About thirteen hundred Doukhobors marched into the town of Yorkton on the afternoon of October 28 from their villages in the Northwest. Their objective point was immigration hall, where they were met by Mr. Speers, general colonization agent, and Mr. J. S. Crerar, local immigration agent. A parley followed and shelter to the women, the children and the sick was offered but refused. The Doukhobors were afterwards persuaded that it was impossible for them to go wandering about, and finally all except the men were accommodated in immigration hall.

The mob consisted of men, women and children, including children in arms, and one born during the previous night, whose mother marched in the procession. Some sick were borne on litters. A few were barefoot, many wore rubber boots, and others coarse sandals made of binder twine.

Simeon Tcherninkov, who talks a little English, and whose bare brown feet bore witness to his religious zeal, explained that they were looking for new light—"looking for Jesus." When asked where were his boots, he held up his naked foot and cried, "Jesus' boots," while the flickering light of lost reason gleamed from his eyes.

C. W. Speers succeeded in getting the sick, the women and children housed in the immigration sheds and other buildings, much against their will. Mothers deserted their babes and allowed them to be taken into shelter, refusing to follow them, until forced along.

Corporal J. Junget, N. W. M. P., stopped them on the street, until artil arrangements for their shelter could be found.

The smiles of bystanders were answered by the recitation in Russian of the Twenty-second Psalm: "They that see me laugh me to scorn, they shoot out the lips," etc.

A long, lean ascetic, with unkempt beard, dishevelled hair and bloodshot eyes, stood at the head of the halted procession and prayed. He was protected from the wind by a long freize cape reaching from his shoulders to the ground, while many of his followers had not sufficient clothing to prevent their perishing in a snowstorm.

Two other pilgrimages were on the way to Yorkton at the same time.

WHO THE MAD MULLAH IS.

Shepherd's Son Who Intends To Rule the Interior.

A cable from London says: The Mad Mullah, against whom operations are going on in Somaliland, is the son of a shepherd and is about 35 years of age. Three years ago he was an ordinary mullah or priest. His operations began early in 1899, when he led a raid against a neighboring tribe on the pretext that its members had stolen camels from his people.

After a number of successful raids, he proclaimed himself the successor of the Madhi, and announced that he intended to rule the interior, leaving the coast to the Europeans. Thousands of neutral natives joined him to avoid being raided. He escaped attention to some extent on account of the Boer war, and his followers have increased from 3,000 men with sixty rifles to 40,000, a third of whom are well armed, having secured rifles through smuggling and raiding expeditions.

In March, 1900, the Mad Mullah attacked an Abyssinian expedition of 1,500 men sent against him, and although he lost 8,500 men and retreated, the ferocity of his attack inspired Menelik's troops with such a dread of him that no attempt was made to pursue him.

The suggestion now is that the Abyssinians should hem in the Mad Mullah's forces from the southward, while the British attack them from the north.

Harold Elliot, of Winnipeg, made a ghastly find. Investigating a mysterious object which he saw floating near the bank of the Red River, he was horrified to see that it was the dead body of an infant girl, quite naked.

Berlin possesses no fewer than 35,000 homeless cats. Even the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is aghast, and as the Germans love law-making, a law is to be made to regulate the number of pussies.

There are no fewer than 11,000 rooms in the Vatican at Rome, and many of them never receive a ray of sunlight.

THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS CO. LIMITED

The Largest Flour Mills in the British Empire and the Palace Flour Mills of the World.

To be the greatest milling concern in the British Empire is certainly a distinction for any industry. To have this industry in Canada is a matter of pride and congratulation to Canada and Canadians.

This is the centenary year of the Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., and its history during 100 years has had to do with the growth and prosperity of the wheat producing and flour consuming population of Canada.

Magnificent as its past has been, its magnitude today, and its provision for the future are so great that a sketch of this company will prove of more than passing interest to our readers.

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED ELEVATORS

Ninety elevators scattered over the vast wheat areas of Western Canada receive the bulk of the finest wheat grown in the world.

The buyers are men who have been identified with the Ogilvie Company for many years. They are thoroughly trained in their duties and know both the requirements of the company and the quality and character of the grain. The most friendly relations have always existed between the Company and the farmers of the Northwest. No complaints have ever been made that advantage was taken of local conditions to compel farmers to accept an unreasonably low price for grain. How much the development of the Northwest is due to this great pioneer company would be hard to estimate. The production of a crop, no matter how great, is of small moment, unless there are purchasing, receiving, and shipping depots.

This wheat in turn is ground in the different mills of the company, which aggregate a daily output of 7,500 barrels of flour. It is difficult to realize the immensity of this amount. Great as it is, the management are preparing to add still another great mill, increasing the capacity to the astonishing quantity of over 10,000 barrels daily.

THREE GREAT MILLS.

There are now three mills in operation. The Royal Mills at Montreal, the Glenora Mills at Montreal and the Winnipeg Mills.

A visit to any one of these mills is a pleasure and an education. The writer visited the Royal mills at Montreal, and his preconceived ideas of a great flour mill were destroyed.

The first thing suggested is immense capacity, the next, perfect system, and last, absolute cleanliness.

The Royal Mills and the Glenora Mills are both situated on the Lachine canal, where enormous water power privileges belong to the company, and day and night, except Sunday, without break or cessation the work goes on.

Almost noiseless in its operation the giant power carried and crushed and ground and sifted until the transforming process was completed, and from the choicest wheat in the market the finest flour in the world is made.

The wheat is received in a steady stream from the elevators and the flour is shipped in waiting cars and vessels to the markets of the world, Nothing but a visit to any one of the mills conveys any adequate idea of how Ogilvie's Flour is made.

Even figures convey a very imperfect idea of the magnitude of the work, of the ground area, the millions of bushels of grain bought and the millions of barrels of flour sold. There is an army of employees, including the office staff in the head office, Montreal, the managers and workmen in the mills and elevators, the experts and the buyers, the carters and men in other capacities, and there is a feeling of intense loyalty to the interests of the company amongst these employees most of whom have been identified with the company for many years.

