BRITANNIA
LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,
No. 1, Princes Street, Bank, London.
CAPITAL—ONE MILLION STERLING.
Empowered by Special Act of Parliament, 4 Vict., Chap. 9.
REDUCED RATES OF PREMIUM—HALF CREDIT RATES OF PREMIUM.
THE great and decided success which has attended this Institution, has induced the Directors to REDUCE the RATES originally required in British North America, to the ordinary European Rates. The result of such Reduction is to enable parties to avail themselves of the important benefits to Life Assurance at much lower Rates of Premium than those of any other Assurance Company transacting business in Canada.
The Directors have also resolved to extend to British North America the advantages afforded by the HALF CREDIT RATES of PREMIUM which have been so highly approved, and are so generally adopted by Policy Holders in the United Kingdom. The most liberal conditions are likewise offered to the Assured in the limits to which they may proceed by sea or land, to other parts of North America without affecting their interest in their respective Policies.

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1851.

A circumstance of perhaps minor importance, but fruitful of remark, came up to be discussed in the House of Assembly on Monday last. Mr. W. H. Boulton moved a series of resolutions relative to the Union of Upper and Lower Canada, which he prefaced with a speech of considerable length and vehemence; and the Patriot, Mr. Cauchon got up, and moved the previous question. To make such a motion appears to be, in some cases, vexatious; but when doctors differ it would not become us to decide, and we have only adverted to it at all for the simple purpose of pointing it out as the only question that has come to a vote during the whole Session, in which the Members have voted collectively according to their judgments. On no subject that has ever been discussed within the walls of the House has there ever been found such an array of names upon one side—such a conjunction of hostile elements arrayed together—as this little debate exhibits. Think of Badgley and Cauchon, Baldwin and Mackenzie, McNab and Nelson, joining together and voting together upon any question, though it had been only about the tying of a shoe string. We hope the political lions and the wolves, after assuming sheep's clothing, will at last lie down in peace together.

A sort of nonsense motion—as we used to designate certain Latin verses at school which had no meaning—was made by Mr. Notman, hearing, as he said, upon the Clergy Reserves. He said "that there were many good people who, from conscientious scruples, did not partake of the Sacrament of their Churches—he did not blame them, but he wanted to see how many loaves fish there were." Oh! no, I'm be it from Mr. Notman to blame such good people who had conscientious scruples about doing an impentive Christian duty. Mr. Notman is himself, we apprehend, one of those good people who has conscientious scruples which prevent him, at all times, from advocating anything like stability of religious principle. His wish to see how many loaves fish there were, was merely the very natural desire to find out how many were on his own latitudinarian side. Mr. Boulton pointed out plainly enough that the religious and public spirited Mr. Notman's idea, as expressed in his motion, was an argumentum ad absurdum, and his hitherto friend, Mr. Hincks, moved "that the Bill be read that day six months." Mr Price and Mr. Badgley successively pointed out the absurdity of this motion, and after Mr. Notman replying that his "plan" would only require the ruling of an additional column, the amendment was carried—31 to 5—"to perish all Queen Elizabeth's enemies."

We are indebted to Mr. J. H. Daly, of the Vermont Central Railroad, for Boston papers of July 9.

We remind our readers that the Panorama of the Mississippi closes to-morrow evening.

THE HERON FAMILY.—This is the last night but one of the performance of this talented family in Montreal, on which occasion they will be assisted by several of the Officers of the Garrison, and, by the kind permission of Lieut. Col. Hons, the splendid Band of the 30th Regiment will be in attendance, so that the play-going portion of the community have an evening's amusement of a very varied and attractive character awaiting them. The evening's amusement will, we understand, commence with the Semi-Comic play of the "Serious Family," in which Miss Fanny and Agnes Heron's power of face will be put in requisition to the utmost extent, great as that decidedly is. After which, a musical interlude will be performed, in which the young ladies will sing several of their favorite pieces, including, we perceive, by dates, "The Canadian Boat Song." The whole to conclude with the laughable farce of "The Original," which we have no doubt, from the peculiar qualities of the young ladies, will be performed in a very laughable and original manner.

We have received the list of prizes and the names of the pupils who received them at the High School Examination yesterday, but too late for insertion. It will appear to-morrow.

FIRE.—A fire broke out at a quarter to seven o'clock, yesterday morning, in a carpenter's shop, on Agnes street, Quebec, and occupied by Mr. Smith. The fire originated, we understand, through the carelessness of a boy, who put a lighted pipe into his waistcoat pocket. The premises, which, together with two frame houses adjoining, owned by Mr. Burns, proprietor of the factor, were speedily destroyed. Mr. Burns is a active exertion of the firemen, the fire was in a heavy lossy, as there is only a small insurance upon the property, valued at £300. The premises occupied by Mr. Burns, also much damaged, and insured for the full value.

In consequence of the great dispatch from an engineer, it was agreed that the Public Offices would be contracted for, which, it is in the power of the Committee to carry, by the erection of an engine room on or near Yonge Street—in the week of which we hope to direct the attention of the subscribers.—Toronto Patriot of Tuesday.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, June 27, 1851.

Parliament has been actively employed with business during the past week. Mr. Malling's Landlord and Tenant Bill has gone through Committee. Its object is to allow the landlord a claim of the improvements on a farm where a tenant dies after having sown the land. At present the executors take the produce, and the landlord has no remedy of distress for his rent—in fact, the property which pays the rent is gone. To remedy this, the Law of Distress is proposed to be rendered more stringent. The Bill, somewhat amended, will probably receive the sanction of Parliament. The Smithfield Removal Bill, after an ineffectual struggle in Committee, has been reported; but it is generally believed that the matter will be thrown over till next Session. Mr. Hume has fixed his Betting Bill for the 16th July. Although entertaining no doubt as to the piratical character of the native chiefs by the order of Rajah Brooke, I do not altogether oppose of that gentleman holding a vast grant of land in Borneo, and shall jealously watch any attempts to make English power and money protect his individual interests. There is an ambiguous character about the nature of Seward, which is not satisfactory. [illegible] our Colonial rights by treaty in that quarter. Mr. Heywood's similar motion to abolish the test oath at Oxford, Cambridge, and Dublin, has been brought forward, but the House was counted out after Lord John Russell had expressed a qualified objection to bringing forward the matter at this inopportune moment. Friday evening was occupied in the consideration of the Ecclesiastical Titles Bill in Committee. There were no fewer than five divisions. Mr. Monsell's amendment to prevent the new Bill from interfering with or restricting "in any way" the free action of the Roman Catholic Church in spiritual matters, was rejected by 160 to 42. A second division, that the second clause stand part of the Bill, was carried by 150 to 35. Mr. Sharman Crawford next made an attempt to alter the wording of the Bill, so as to exclude Bishops, &c., to take the title of some city or district, which, in fact, would have neutralized the whole Bill; but his motion was rejected by 118 to 20. Mr. Gladstone tried to make a difficulty by suggesting that Wesleyans might assume the titles of Bishops; but Sir George Grey scarcely deigned to answer, he said, that the case put was an imaginary one, and that even Scotch Bishops had of late years only partly assumed those titles. Mr. S. Crawford next moved that "this Bill shall not extend to Ireland." A debate arose, during which Mr. Drummond once more angered the Irish party by one of his spicy speeches; after which, upon a division, the amendment was rejected by 205 to 60. Sir R. H. Inglis next offered a clause declaring it unlawful to give rank and precedence on occasion of any public state or ceremonial, or to use in any public document any title or appellation of honor in respect of any ecclesiastical dignity in the Church of Rome to any person not having Her Majesty's license. Lord John Russell observed that the clause might render him liable to impeachment, if he happened to meet Archbishop Murray at a public dinner, and civilly offered him to take precedence in going out of the room, as the offence would be a question for a Jury. The clause, however, was only rejected by a majority of 166 to 121. On Monday the House again went into Committee on the Ecclesiastical Titles Bill, when Mr. Walpole proposed two amendments to the preamble. The first was an alteration of the wording of the preamble, declaring that this "Kingdom is and has been at all times so free and independent, that no Foreign Power, Prelate, or Potentate, hath, or ought to have, any authority or jurisdiction therein," and then, going on to declare that the late rescript pretended to create a hierarchy of Bishops named from Sees, &c., in England. The Premier opposed the amendment, which, however, was only lost by 140 to 131. A second form of words to similar effect was proposed by Mr. Walpole, but objected to by Lord John Russell, upon the ground that the words of the preamble were quite enough to affirm the illegality of the Pope's brief. The amendment was lost by 141 to 116. A third division then took place on the question, "that the preamble stand part of the Bill," when the ayes were 200, and the noes only 39, which numbers elicited great cheering. The Jews' Oath Bill has passed through Committee. In the Committee of Supply, Mr. Hume, with that obstinacy for which he is so remarkable, persevered in objecting to the vote for the Kaffir war, to which he refused to accede until the constitution was sent out to the Cape, when he assures us that the Cape people will defend themselves and pay for their own wars. Mr. Hume wants to remunerate us that Sir Andrew Stockenstrom and Mr. Fairbairn are wholly right in this business, and everybody else wholly wrong. Nothing can be more inexact. It was only the factious opposition of these gentlemen which prevented the outline of the Constitution which was sent out from having been filled up, and from being at this moment in full operation. These two gentlemen were elected to serve on the Constituent Council; and when convened, and properly entrusted on an essential point, they resigned, and made the Constitution and contemplated Ordinances impracticable. The French have got a spick and span new Constitution, and it does not prevent them trying to cut each other's throats. The two Colonies at the Cape would do the same thing. When the Cape people say they will defend the Colony, they mean the Cape Colony. Further than that they will not budge an inch. They say, give us a Constitution, and we will keep the Eastern Districts in our sward and at arm's length, at a distance from our homesteads, and we—i. e., the Cape people—will do matters over all. Lord Lyndhurst, with his usual legal acumen, has discovered that Lord John Russell's new Chancery Bill is a violation of the Lord's privileges, inasmuch as the clause which provides that the new Chancery Judges should attend the House of Lords ought to have originated in their Lordship's House. The clause is doubtful to be withdrawn, otherwise the Duke of Richmond pledges himself to move, "that it shall be lawful to the Lords to appointed to consider the privileges of the Lords to appointed to consider the subject."

The contest for the vacant seat at Bath has ended in a very close and exciting contest, the Liberal, has only been opposed by a majority of 27 (as of 1,150 votes, 589, the Mr. Scott, Conservative, Free Trader. The Conservatives claim this place as their property. The fight is between Alderman Wire and Alderman Salomons, the latter being a Jew, and a worshipper both. Mr. Wire's adverts in the morning papers, and London has gone, and such a thing of assuming jargon was never seen before in print.

On Monday last, a splendid piece of plate was presented to the Prince of Wales, in the presence of 100 of the old Eton and Cambridge, and at Willis' Rooms, in commemoration of His Grace's conduct in presiding the Dukedom of the Fair Rebel upon its present recipients. The value of the testimonial is 1500 guineas.

The Exhibition is now full of attraction, and overflowing with visitors. The rage of visitors now from 35,000 to 70,000 on the shilling days, and the daily receipts often exceed £1000. The town is certainly crowded, but such is the ordinary power of London to adapt itself to all things, that no one heeds the mighty throng to and fro. The Queen visits the Crystal Palace almost daily, and the crowds now go early for the chance of being able to gaze on Royalty, Her Majesty takes the deepest interest in the interesting success of the undertaking, and is furnishing daily from of jects for the Exhibition.

Monday afternoon, one of the most extensively destructive fires which has occurred in or about London for many years, took place in the Borough of Southwark; four immense hay warehouses, standing near the foot of London bridge, close to St. Saviour's Church, were wholly destroyed, and a fifth so much burned and injured, as to render it doubtful whether its entire demolition will not be required. The flames burst forth at half past three in the afternoon, and all attempts to subdue them were in vain. St. Saviour's Church and the bridge hatch narrowly escaped. The fire raged on Tuesday in the ruins throughout the morning [illegible] been the work of some incendiary. Tremendous quantities of hays were stored in the floors of the warehouses, and most of these were destroyed, together with white linen rags, valued at £9,000. Some days must necessarily transpire before the amount of losses can be accurately ascertained. According to the present estimates, it can be little short of £150,000. The warehouses consumed are the property of Alderman Humphrey, and cannot be rebuilt under £35,000. This loss will fall on the Sun Fire Office. The principal sufferer appears to be the firm of Messrs. Wigan & Co.; their property was insured for £60,000. As far as can be ascertained, the Offices interested in the losses are the following, and to about the extent named:—Sun Fire Office, £30,000; Royal Exchange, £30,000; Guardian, £30,000; Union, £10,000; other Offices, £10,000.

—All parties in France are anxiously watching the proceedings of the Committee appointed to report upon the revision of the constitution; but, apart from the speeches delivered by the members, explanatory of those opinions each of them was well known, to entertain, no light has yet been thrown upon the great question which France has next year to decide. The Reporter of the Committee has not yet been named, and I decline to repeat the speculations of the Press upon that point. Without pretending to guess anything about the matter, I should not be surprised if the Duke de Broglie is chosen. The Royer papers count upon either M. de Tocqueville or Odillon Barrot. The favour shown by certain English journals to the personal cause of Louis Napoleon, is unwarranted by anything the President has done for us. I leave out of the question the intervention of the army at Rome, inasmuch as that act was; but I have not forgotten—whatever my opinion on the justice of our intervention—the Greek affair, nor the yell of the war party in France, the majority in the Chamber, who shouted so loudly when they fancied they had humbled Lord Palmerston. I remember, too, the deliberate statement made by Thiers, which cannot be contradicted, that Louis Napoleon, to consolidate his power, prepared to him to plunge into a general European war, "to reduce the imagination of the millions!" Ponder over this, ye members of Peace Societies, and then ask yourselves whether Louis Napoleon is the man after your own hearts? I am very sorry to see that there is a sort of panic in the French Corn Market, prices having suddenly jumped up from their recent low figure, owing to the reports which prevail of the probable deficiency of the next harvest. God grant that no such frightful calamity as that of a scarcity of food may fill the cup of misfortune which the French are distilled next year to drink off to the very dregs. I have said, over and over again, that a short harvest is one of the greatest calamities a nation can experience. When political enthusiasts point out the imports of Corn as proof of a country's well-doing, at the period when those imports take place to compensate for the deficiency of the home produce, it is a frightful instance of the lies which designing men will invent to veil their own folly or iniquity. The loss which England suffers under such circumstances, terminates, ordinarily, in a commercial panic. In France it is otherwise—it ends in a sanguinary revolution. Amidst all the intrigues, squabbles, and personal encounters, which the excited state of France unfolds day by day, nothing strikes me of greater importance than this anticipated want of food. If the computation of a deficiency of more than a month's consumption become a fixed fact, the history of France, during 1852, will be written in characters of blood, let who will come uppermost.

I am glad to hear that the settlement of the Danish succession, and the re-organization of the Government of Holstein, is about to be satisfactorily settled. The Sonderburg papers state that the Danish and Schleswig members of the Flensburg Assembly are agreed upon accepting the Danish succession, flag, coinage, customs, and excise.

There is very little news of interest from the rest of Europe. Nothing of importance has further occurred in Spain and Portugal. A French fleet of six ships of the line, and a steam frigate, was at Cadiz on the 12th, about to sail on a cruise.

—The weather is variable; on Friday and Saturday the heat was intense. In fact, Saturday was one of the hottest days that we have experienced for some years past; it, however, turned cool again on Monday, and now again the weather has become intensely hot. Fruit is still very backward, but is yet expected to be plentiful. Peas, however, are most abundant, and the price ridiculously low. Peas, which last year at this period cost 20d. per peck, can now be obtained at five-pence! or even five-pence! Free-Trade cannot cause this decline. I attribute it mainly to the increased supply brought by railways.—The Corn Market in Mark Lane, owing to the serious rise in the French Markets, has again advanced a couple of shillings, and quotations is rife at all the chief markets. When a natural demand causes higher prices, all parties benefit, but when this arises from lessening or anticipated scarcity, it is much to be deplored.

P. S.—Country N. M. representation. Mr. de Tocqueville has been elected Reporter of the Committee of Revision at Paris. The nominees of the Committee are, M. de Broglie 9, and M. Odillon Barrot 8. The Committee have adopted, by a majority of 8 to 7, a Resolution recommending a total revision of the Constitution. I have already observed that M. de Tocqueville's mind is a position which shall not put the Republic to peril.

The Burmese papers state that the Maung, Governor of Rangoon, and two other powerful officers, are on the N. E. frontier, in [illegible] and transferring the Shans to the British and Shan-land, to take the place of the Pa-[illegible] tribe.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

(Abridged from Hansard's Parliament.)

Monday, July 7.

Several petitions from Inhabitants of the House for Incorporating of Corporations, were referred to the Committee on Canal Navigation.

POST OFFICE BILL.

Hon. Mr. Morris moved the second reading of the Bill to amend the Post Office Act. He said, as at that it referred merely to items of Legislation, it would be referred to a Committee of the whole House to-morrow.—Motion carried.

PUBLIC WORKS BILL.

The Bill to amend the Public Works Act was passed through Committee of the whole, with some trifling amendments.

FIRST READING OF BILLS.

The Bill to extend the powers of the British American Fire and Life Insurance Company; the Bill to amend the Act incorporating the Montreal Firemen's Benevolent Association, and the Bill to amend the Act 12 Vic., relative to Notaries, were brought up from the Assembly and read a first time; a Bill introduced by the Hon. Mr. Morris to define the boundary line between the first and second concessions of the township of Caister was also read a first time.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Hon. Mr. Delisle presented the first report of the Committee on Contingencies, recommending that the payment of James Fitzgibbon for remuneration for superintending the printing of the Journals, previous to the expiration of his term of office as Clerk, be not acceded to; recommending further, that £12 be granted to Mr. Amtruther, a Messenger attached to the House; and that £50 be made from Montreal to Toronto; and that £50 be tendered to Mr. Bouhet of Montreal, as compensation for losses suffered by him in 1849, in consequence of the printing of the Parliament House, set by the conflagration of the Parliament House.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

JULY 7th, 1851.

On motion of Mr. Methot the house went into committee of the whole on amending the Act "to consolidate the laws relative to the powers of the Trinity House of Quebec, and for other purposes," and to alter the rates of tonnage imposed on vessels in certain cases. The hon. member made some explanations, but was inaudible in the gallery. He moved,

1. That it is expedient to amend the Act passed in the twelfth year of Her Majesty's reign, chap. 114, intituled "An Act to Consolidate the Laws relative to the powers and duties of the Trinity House of Quebec, and for other purposes," and notwithstanding any thing in the 58th section of the said Act, to declare that there shall be payable by the master or commander of any vessel, which shall leave the Port of Montreal, or the Port of Quebec, after the same shall have proceeded to the Port of Montreal, for a Port situate beyond the eastern limits of this Province, a sum of five pence for every ton measurement of such vessel, instead of the sum of two pence, as provided by the said section of the said Act.

2. That the Master or Commander of any new vessel, constructed in this Province, shall not be required to pay a higher sum than three pence per ton measurement for such vessel, when such vessel shall be proceeding on her first voyage from the Port of Quebec to any Port beyond the eastern limits of this Province.

Mr. Lafontaine said a few words, but was entirely inaudible.

Mr. Christie moved an amendment to the effect, that it is expedient that all vessels leaving Montreal and Quebec should be relieved from all light dues; and that the revenue of the lights be charged to the consolidated revenue.

Mr. Hincks stated that the Government had had the matter under consideration, and would be willing to accede to the hon. member for Gaspé's views, but for apprehensions of the effect it would produce on the revenue. They felt the importance of relieving the trade of Quebec.

After a few remarks from Mr. H. Sherwood in favor of charging the light-dues to the general revenue, the Committee rose, with the understanding that it should sit again on Monday next.

Mr. Boulton intimated a Bill to require Annual Reports from the Heads of Public Departments.

2nd SITTING.

Mr. W. H. Boulton moved his series of resolutions relative to the Union of Upper and Lower Canada. He regretted that some hon. member of more weight had not taken the matter up; but, as none had done so, he deemed it his duty to introduce the subject. He did not bring the matter before the House with a view to an immediate severance of the Union that exists, but that an expression of opinion might be elicited as to the propriety of perpetuating the alliance or [illegible] solving it at some period of future remote. He wished to learn the opinion of the hon. Attorney General East and West, as both these gentlemen had expressed their desire to retire from public life. He believed there was a general opinion abroad, that the Union had not worked well, and that its dissolution was only a matter of time. There was a example of so large a country as Canada being under one Executive, unless perhaps Russia or China; so that on the other side of the Line the same extent of country formed the border of seven distinct States. Not only had there been no attempt to make the Union permanent, but every thing was done as if it were well understood to be merely of a temporary character, like the arrangement of the shifting seat of Parliament. The early desire of the British Government evidently was to make Canada a British colony, and it was very improbable that there would have been two separate provinces in Canada, but for the breaking out of the American revolution, which led to attempts to conciliate the French of Lower Canada. The last conciliate the French of the two Provinces, and with it the misfortunes of the Province commenced; but for that cause, by the time both classes of the population would have done so they have done in Louisiana—they would have devised due uniformity in the entire Province. Recently, a considerable movement was taking place in Upper Canada, to assimilate the laws of that part of the Province to the French system—Mr. Boulton then gave a short account of the Union of the two Provinces in 1837, when it was done in opposition to the people of Upper Canada, as well as to those of Lower Canada, and without any previous opinion formed in the imperial Parliament that such an union could have the effect of amalgamating the two populations. One object indeed was clearly seen to be, not to amalgamate but to entrench the French population by the British population of the two Provinces. The crowd of intuitive, however, of the Government was to amalgamate the people of the Province, though both parties still contended to if they adopted the union only as a matter of temporary expediency. Whatever it might be of both parties, therefore, it would be reasonable to expect the Union would be dissolved. Even the English language has not been retained to the extent which who M. Bouhet intended; and yet only was this true, but every act of legislation was now partial and separate, every act the same important point, he was sure, was this, that the other night a gentleman in the other branch of the Union Law, if the repeal were applied to U. C. only. This, however, was not the worst; for it certainly happened that the Lower Canadian majority actually prevented the will of the Upper Canadian from taking effect. The Union was the Union Law and the Chancery Court was examples of this fact. It was, in fact, then, that the Union should be dissolved, of that it would be the wisest course. He thought it quite possible for the Provinces to be divided on a matter of convenience into a number of Provinces; but the people of the two provinces were too different in character to allow of a good amalgamation. In L. C. they were in favor of the emancipation of religion by state from Government; in U. C. they were opposed to that system. Upper Canada the people were in favour of a Universal system of education; in Lower Canada they were opposed to it. Upper Canada opposed to the Seigniorial system; Lower Canada, in fact, he said he would not say, if the Union were dissolved, it would not be good, but he felt that he was justified in saying, it would not be half so bad as the part of the subject, and relative to U. C., it was into Mexico with the exports to U. C., it would be found that the profits of the whole amount of duties, or CANDLE against Sheepskin. Caledonia Springs, 2nd June, 1851.

(Extract of a letter from P. J. Lamoke, Esq., of Montreal.)

I beg to state that in July, 1848, I went to the Springs for the purpose of trying their efficacy in a case of the most obstinate Dyspepsia, under which I had been suffering for several years previous. After remaining at the Springs for about three weeks, and making free use of the Water, my health completely rebuilded from all the Waters, my limbs were entirely relieved from all pain, and my health perfectly restored. Several of my friends, in whom I have confidence, have assured me that they have experienced remarkable relief from the use of the Waters of the Caledonia Springs, in cases of Rheumatism.

To the proprietor of the Caledonia Springs.

MONTREAL, 4th June, 1851.

DEAR SIR,—In compliance with your request, I have much pleasure in giving you my opinion of the extraordinary efficacy of the Waters of the Caledonia Springs, in the Winter of last year, I was very much reduced in health and spirits, and was induced to try the Caledonia Springs, which I had been assured by many persons, had been the means of restoring them to health. I was induced to take a course of the Waters, and I have pleasure in stating, that I was well at the end of the Season, and have continued so ever since, even through the severe Winter of last year, which I spent in Montreal, and I have no hesitation in ascribing the cause of my good health to the Caledonia Springs.

Yours, very respectfully,
JAMES CRAWFORD, M.D.

☞ A FRESH SUPPLY of the above WATERS has been received at the Depot, which can be had at the Counter, or sent to order to any address in town or country. Price of the Water very moderate.

Extract from the British Army Despatch, March 29th, 1851.

BLACKWOOD & Co.'s INK-BOTTLES.—This is decidedly the age of inventions. Man's genius seems ever on the stretch to fashion something new: something that will supersede and cast into shade for ever what our forefathers acknowledged as permanently staple, and unsurpassable of improving. Among the multitude of needful adjuncts to our comfort which refinement has rendered necessary, how many trifles, insignificant in themselves, but troublesome by mismanagement, are of necessity resorted to daily, and yet though the inconvience experienced by the ill-fashioning of the article is loudly commented on, how seldom a rectifying principle is attempted. It is but every one who would turn their attention to the manufacture of an ink-bottle, and yet we may venture to assert, that not one of our readers but has at some period stained their fingers and their linen with the sombre liquid, through difficulty in pouring it forth from the awkwardly rounded mouthed jars in which this particular substance has been vended from time immemorial. Many events, we can answer for ourselves, and many a malediction have we uttered on the stone bottles, impervious to the most searching scrutiny of curiosity on the person extracting the contents so alluring on the eyes, of a color anything but a certain emersion in a color anything but desirable or generally regarded as improved dip for a lady's fingers. To rectify this abominable nuisance, Messrs. Blackwood & Co. have invented an ink-bottle, elegant in form, yet extremely simple in construction, which wholly obviates the annoyance complained of. This capital article can be procured at any price, and from the smallest to whatever size may be required, and as articles are constructed of glass as well as others of a more durable material, the evils we have experienced can readily be guarded against. "There is a time for all things," we are told, and assuredly the obnoxious stone ink-bottles have had their day; and in brief time, when Messrs. Blackwood's patent becomes more generally known, the ancient receptacles for the "dingy fluid" will be numbered among the inventions of a by-gone age.

LIVERPOOL, 1851.

We beg to bear testimony to the excellent quality of your Writing and Copying Inks. The latter gives us great satisfaction, and, as regards its fluidity and copying qualities, is equal, if not superior, to any we have ever used. We need hardly say that your new description of bottles cannot fail to be considered an advantage to all who use them.

Yours, very respectfully,
FEVER LEICESTER & Co.

FURNITURE BAZAAR, Great Saint James Street.—The Subscriber begs to inform the Public, that he

All the Forest in the best Medical School!

That professorship which equips the sages from the Laboratory of the Forest, and gives the diploma of Health to the disciples of the Science of Life, is the Medical Laboratory of the great Herb Doctor of the Western Hemisphere,

DR. HALSEY'S
GUM COATED FOREST PILLS.

These Pills are prepared from the vegetable productions of this Continent, and are, perhaps, the most active and powerful medicine of the kind ever offered to the public. They are warranted to contain no Mercury or any other mineral substance whatever. Four grains of them will be found more powerful than a dose of Calomel, and yet they are as mild as any vegetable pill.

But a short time has elapsed since these pills were introduced to the public, and yet their good qualities are already known and appreciated by thousands. Numerous testimonials have already appeared of their power in the cure of Fever and Ague, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Rheumatism, Piles, Fits, &c. &c. Indeed, great pains have been taken to bring them into notice, and the result has been, that they have gained a reputation for curing the above diseases, which no other pill ever attained in so short a time.

TO THE FATHERS OF FAMILIES,

We do not fear a portion of the public, who are afraid of disease patronizing Quackery. In the latter part of June and July, when the air is so charged with Miasma, and Autumn, when the air is everywhere so polluted, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Fever and Fever, and other diseases, all proceed from a single feeling, are taken down by Hallowell Forest Pills. Fever and Ague and other dangerous diseases, all proceed from a single feeling, a billious and foul state of the stomach. No person can be so ignorant as not to know the great evil resulting from billiousness—no parent would be guilty of causing the DEATH OF THEIR OWN CHILDREN!!!

Yet the mind of children and infants die every year or two, through the ignorance of their parents, or through their fear of giving them a little early relief.

Superfluity of bile may always be known by some unfavorable symptom which it produces, such as sick stomach, headache, loss of appetite, bitter taste in the mouth, yellow tint of the skin, languidness, costiveness, or any other symptoms of a similar nature. Almost every person at this season of the year is bilious, the neglect of which is sure to bring on some dangerous disease, generally terminating in death. A single 25 cent box of Dr. Halsey's Gum-coated Forest Pills are sufficient to keep a whole family from bilious attacks, for the space of two months to a year. A single pill is a dose for a child, from 3 to 4 for an adult bilious and worm cattle, and taken the energy of all bilious and worm cattle, and taken the energy of all bilious and worm cattle, and taken in manner of bilious attacks and many other disorders.

SALTS AND CASTOR OIL.

No reliance can be placed on Salts or Cast. Oil. These, as well as all common purgatives, pass off without touching the bile, leaving the bowels costive and the system as much in need of a cathartic as before. Dr. Halsey's Forest Pills act on the gall bladder, and clear every all morbid, bilious matter from the stomach and bowels, purifying the system, giving permanent good health.

Dr. Halsey's Forest Pills are unlike all others. They act directly on those vital organs of the stomach, Liver, Kidneys, &c., which govern the health of the body and separate the impurities from the blood. While they purge all bilious and morbid matter from the stomach and bowels they cleanse and renew the blood, thereby purifying the seats of disease. The Forest Pills are not weakening, but give strength to the constitution to both body and mind. They do not gripe or cause griping, nor are they nauseous to taste or smell, and the patient is never able to attend to business while under their influence than before taking them. They are mild in operation, yet powerful in restoring health.

The great amount of good these Pills have done for the sick and afflicted, is evidenced by thousands to commend them to their friends and the public. Individuals of worth and integrity in almost every place of the country have testified to the world in favor of their great effects in curing disease.

Testimonial after testimonial shows the great powers of curing in almost every class of disease have been published to us by individuals of unimpeachable character and responsibility. The following testimony is from a responsible and leading business man Utica, New York:—

UTICA, November 9, 1848.

DR. G. W. HALSEY,—Sir:—Self, for several years past, I have had a bad case of Dyspepsia, accompanied by Bilious Fever and Ague and Fever. In the fall of 1846 two of my sons were taken at the same time with Bilious Fever. In former seasons, when sickness occurred in my family, I had always employed a Physician. But at this time having two boxes of your Forest Pills in the house, I concluded to try them. I gave to each of them six Pills, one four hours after I gave them three Pills each. They vomited, bringing away great quantities of green matter. On the following day they taken two of them, and they both recovered without any more medicine. Since this time I have always kept your Pills at hand, and in all cases of sickness we have used them with the most happy results.

(Signed) ISA S. GOODHUE.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

In 1843 Dr. Halsey's Pills were first made known to the public, under the denomination of "Halsey's Sugar-Coated Pills." Their excellent qualities soon raised for them a high reputation, and an annual sale of many thousand boxes. This great success excited the envy of imitators. Pills, which they are intended, were in their place of the Pills, which they were intended to take place of the Pills, which they were intended to take place of the Pills, which they were intended to take
