"THE YELLOW TYPHOON"

Women who are interested in beautiful gowns, in perfect millinery creations, in wonderful pearl necklaces and jewels of every form conceivable should see "The Yellow Typhoon," a First National photoplay which stars Anita Stewart in Harold MacGrath's greatest adventure story, which picture will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next.

Miss Stewart, who plays a dual role in the picture, wears some of the most wonderfully artistic creations ever seen. They were made specially for her for this picture and imported from Paris. As the Yellow Typhoon, the woman who lives for pleasure and excitement, she has a new gown on almost every time she appears. And every one of them are up-to-the-minute and the last word in style and artistry.

It is a thrilling melodrama of twin sisters, one good and one bad, who finally cross each other's path in the Great War, one as a spy for an alien government and the other in the secret service of the United States.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS

The prospects as to who will be in the field in the mayoralty and aldermanic campaign next week are so far rather indefinite. Mayor Henderson is not extremely enthusiastic about seeking re-election and has made the declaration if any competent candidates offer themselves for this office he will gladly step down. He, however, has likewise stated he does not propose to step down and make room for anyone who aspires for the honors but lacks sufficient knowledge to properly conduct municipal matters. As far as can be ascertained the only name mentioned as candidate for mayor is that of Ald. Rutledge, but at the civic meeting last evening Mr. Rutledge made no announcement to this effect, and the trend of his remarks would rather lead to the impression that he was not coming out in any capacity. In this event it would be a pretty safe bet that Mayor Henderson will retain the office by acclamation, and even if opposed by Mr. Rutledge, there apparently is but little doubt as to the result.

Of the old council, Aldermen Tully, Harrison, McEwan and Robichaud will run again, with possibly Ald. Bean again entering the field. Three new names mentioned are those of H. E. Douglas, A. Corrie and Wm. Currie. These three gentlemen are well known as successful business men and of irreproachable character. In the past the city has been somewhat unfortunate in not having men of this calibre offering themselves for civic office and now that the opportunity offers itself to give them the chance to display their ability in this line, the ratepayers would make no mistake in supporting them.

There will also be three vacancies on the school board. The retiring members are Messrs. Herchmer, Cummings and Phillips, all of whom are expected to offer themselves for re-election. The other members who have another term in office are A. Corrie and J. S. Irvine. The record of the Fernie School Board for years past has been exceptionally good, and whether there are any new aspirants or not, it would appear that the administration of our local educational affairs will be quite safe if allowed to remain in the hands of those who have so unselfishly undertaken the work.

One police commissioner is to be elected, Major Moffatt's term expiring at this time. It is understood that Major Moffatt has been urged to stand for re-election and he may do so. No other names have been mentioned.

THE DISTRICT BONSPIEL

THE EIGHT HOUR DAY

Kitchener Telegraph: This year the Labor leaders repeat their request for eight-hour legislation. There was an insistent demand last session from members of the Labor group for such a law, but the request was sidetracked, and it was intimated at that time that a commission would be appointed to investigate. This has not been done, but it is likely that an eight hour law will be brought in by the government at the approaching session. The Labor conference of the League of Nations, held in Washington last year, agreed that the eight hour day should be made the law in the signatory countries. Canada was one of them, but it has been held since by the Dominion government that such a measure can only be enacted by the provincial governments.

INVERNESS MINES WORK ONLY THREE DAYS WEEK

Glace Bay, Dec. 30.—Silby Barrett, International Board Member of the United Mine Workers, returned home from Inverness last evening and reports the mines there only working three days a week. The operators find it impossible to sell coal at present, he said.

Before the coal embargo was put on, the Inverness Company had a contract with overseas firms to supply annually 150,000 tons. When the Dominion authorities placed the embargo on Nova Scotia exports, the Inverness contract with the overseas people was abandoned and taken over by an American concern.

Collieries numbers 5, 10, 14, 15 and 16 of the Dominion Coal Co. here are idle today owing to shortage of shipping.

THE ANNUAL CIVIC MEETING

The annual civic meeting was held in the Grand theatre last night. W. W. Brown acted as chairman, while all members of the retiring council occupied seats upon the stage. The amazing feature of this occasion was the very small number present, not more than one hundred, while in former years the theatre was usually packed to overflowing. It would appear from questions by some of the spectators and remarks of one or two of the aldermen that the calling of the meeting had been in a sudden manner and without any publicity. Be this as it may the facts are that at the last council meeting the date for the meeting was fixed and notice advertised and this week hand bills were distributed about the city further announcing the meeting. His Worship Mayor Henderson explained that the civic meeting was called prior to nomination day to give the ratepayers an opportunity to hear the report of the past council, as well as those seeking office again and if dissatisfied they could cast about for new municipal administrative timber and nominate them. If after nomination day the ratepayers were obliged to take whatever might be offered.

The Mayor's address was as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—A year ago when I appeared before you as a candidate for the office of Mayor, I expressed the opinion that the affairs of the city had been conducted in an indifferent manner for the past few years. I also expressed the opinion that the business of the city could be conducted more economically. After hearing the figures which I have to place before you, I am sure you will agree that I was right at that time.

I will first deal with the Waterworks Department. In 1919 the operating expenses amounted to $3941, with a gross revenue of $19,145. In 1920, the operating expenses amounted to $3630, a saving of $311. To this saving of $311 should be added another $372 paid for a power pump, which was purchased for this department, making a total saving of $683. The waterworks in the fall of 1919 was in a deplorable condition, the water pressure on the main street being only about 30 pounds. The dam at the intake on Fairy Creek had not been cleaned out for five years, so that about six feet of vile muck had accumulated in the dam. This necessitated an expenditure of between two and three hundred dollors. A great many leaks in the mains were allowed to go unfixed in 1919 and a great many more developed during the year. The City Engineer claims that the power pump purchased for this purpose saved the city not less than $1000. The Waterworks revenue for last year amounted to $22,029, as compared with $19,145 in 1919, leaving a net surplus of $8850 as compared with $5663 in 1919, a difference of $3200 in favor of 1920. This was accomplished largely by careful administration in the operating department and partly by increasing the rates of large consumers who had previous to 1920 not been paying their proper share as compared with the small consumer.

The waterworks is in better shape today than it has been for some time. In 1919 the hydrant pressure on Victoria avenue was only 30 to 35 pounds. Today and for some months past the pressure has been 70 to 75 pounds. This was accomplished by stopping leaks and making other repairs to the pipe line. I am afraid that in the near future there will have to be a large expenditure in this department. It may surprise many of you to know that for two or three years there has not been a drop of Fairy Creek water in the City reservoir. In fact until last summer it had been entirely dry for more than a year. Through the courtesy of the General Manager of the C.N.P. Coal Co., it is now full of Coal Creek water, which is held in reserve for fire purposes. None of this water reaches the city, although Coal Creek water is perfectly good. During the past year the city's water supply was threatened with serious pollution. As soon as I learned of this I took immediate steps to prevent this, and with the assistance of the Medical Health Officer, Dr. Corsan, succeeded in having the whole watershed above the intake pipe on Fairy Creek gazetted in such a way as to do away with any future danger.

The cost of operating the Electric Light and Power plant in 1919 was $21,208, with a gross revenue of $31,570. In 1920 the operating of this department amounted to $25,850, an increase of $4600, with a gross revnue of $36,915, an increase over 1919 in revenue of $5,345. The increased cost of operating this department was caused by large increases in wages, which amounted to $176 per month, or over $2100 per annum, and a large increase in the cost of coal, which amounted to over $2500, and also increases in the cost of other supplies. The net profit in this department after paying all expenses amounted to $4680, an increase of $750 over the previous year. This large increase in wages and cost of coal necessitated increasing the cost of light and power to consumers one cent per kilowat. Another item which increased the cost of operating this department was the government inspection of meters, which cost the city $580.

It is fully expected that before the end of this year the city will be supplied with hydro-electric light and power from Bull River at a cost to the city of 2½ cents per kilowat. At present this is costing the city over 9 cents per kilowat.

In 1919 the Fire Department cost the city $6352. In 1920, despite an increase of $50 per month in wages, the cost to the city was $6032, a saving of $320. This was largely due to the saving in horse feed owing to the purchase of a truck for fire purposes. During the year there was an opportunity to make a larger saving in this department, but the Fire, Water and Light committee declined to take advantage of this opportunity. For the present year the cost of this department should be even less than in 1920.

In 1919 the Public Works department spent $9461. In 1920 we spent $5826 or $3635 less than in 1919. In 1919 they spent $1876 on street grading and such like. In 1920 we spent very little more than half this amount, $977, and did more work and graded more street. In 1919 they spent $1255 on sidewalks, laying down 370 lineal feet of new cinder walk and repaired old board walks. In 1920 there was spent on sidewalks $1235, or $20 less than in 1919. There was constructed 3600 lineal feet of cinder walk as compared with 370 the previous year. In addition to this gravel was furnished for 210 lineal feet of 12 foot cement walk and 72 feet of 6 foot walk. From this it will be seen that in 1920 there was spent something like $1000 less on streets and sidewalks than in 1919 and a great deal more work done.

The Police and Justice Departments in 1919 cost the city $8585. In 1920 these departments cost the city $7500, over $1000 less than the previous year, despite the fact that the increases in officers wages was $110 per month. This saving was accomplished largely by reducing the force by one man and the economy practiced in conducting the city jail. Although the force was reduced, I do not hesitate to say that during

12 MONTHS FOR ASSAULT

The first session of the County Judge's Criminal Court in this city this year was held on Tuesday and Wednesday when three cases were disposed of. One J. Gordon pleaded guilty to breaking into the barroom of the Fernie Hotel and purloining $$7. His Honor investigated the character previously borne by accused and as this was in his favor, while sentenced to 12 months, the sentence was suspended. The accused was warned that at any future time should he get into trouble or be found guilty of having committed a crime, the 12 months' sentence would then have to be served and any additional punishment inflicted for any subsequent crimes.

Rex vs. Macdonald and Robbins, charged with assault with intent to do grevious bodily harm upon one Enoch Nieurt in the King's hotel on Dec. 27, were required to answer a further count of intent to rob the said Enoch Nieurt. F. C. Lawe represented the Crown, D. M. Mitchell appearing for the accused. They pleaded not guilty. Some six or seven witnesses testified for the prosecution, while the two accused took the stand in their own behalf. From the evidence the court found them guilty of the assault charge but not guilty on the other counts, and forthwith passed sentence of 12 months in Nelson jail on Robbins and six months for Macdonald.

B. C.'S NEW GOVERNOR

Hon. Walter Cameron Nichol, who has just been elevated to the post of Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, is one of the most widely known and successful of Canadian editors and publishers. But a fact not generally known is that he was the original projector and founder of Saturday Night. Though the name of Mr. E. E. Sheppard, now of San Diego, Cal., is permanently identified with the early years of this publication, that gentleman did not figure in its columns until its second issue. Vol. 1, No. 1, of Saturday Night, issued 33 years ago, was actually produced by Mr. Nichol, and the general form of publication, which has been followed more or less consistently, though with a vastly extended range of appeal, was of Mr. Nichol's devising. The potency and value of Mr. Nichol's idea may be judged not only by the growth and prestige of this, the original publication, but by the fact that the form and name of Saturday Night have been copied in many other cities of Canada and the United States. It is also a circumstance illustrating the fertility of Mr. Nichol's mind as a young man, that he was but 21 years old when he conceived the idea.

Mr. Nichol was born at Goderich, Ont., in 1866, the son of a barrister of old and distinguished family. At the age of 15 he went to Hamilton, Ont., and secured a job on the staff of the 'Spectator," under the late John Robson Cameron. His verses and local skits won him fame in Hamilton while he was still a boy and when still under 20 he came to Toronto and joined the staff of the Toronto News, in which writers like Mr. Sheppard, and gifted newspaper men, now deceased, like Louis P. Kribs, Thomas A. Gregg and John A. Ewan, had greatly enlivened the journalism of the eighties. It was while working as a reporter on the News that young Nichol came to the conclusion that there was room in Toronto for a publication devoted to independent political criticism, various other urban interests like society, music and the theatres, and dealing with them in a lighter vein than was habitual in the daily press. Perhaps the happiest thought in connection with the birth of Saturday Night was that of making the advertising it carried conform to the standards of good taste, a policy which has become traditional.

In promoting the plan Mr. Nichol had the active co-operation of the late W. E. Caiger, an advertising man on the staff of the News; but both were handicapped by lack of capital. Though presented to a good many men, the project did not meet with a favorable reception; but events entirely unrelated to the plan were working in its favor. The News had gotten itself into deep water through an expensive libel suit based on an imputation against the conduct displayed by the 65th French Canadian regiment of Montreal in the Riel rebellion of 1885. Mr. Sheppard was blamed for this article, but as a matter of fact it was written by Louis P. Kribs, and the editor-in-chief never saw it until too late to undo the mischief. The News had rendered itself liable to pay individual damages to every member of the 65th Battalion, and the long legal fight that ensued so exhausted Mr. Sheppard's resources that it became evident that the News must revert to its original owners, the Riordon company. Confronted with the prespective loss of their positions, Messrs. Nichol and Caiger resolved to take the plunge and issue Saturday Night. They scraped together enough money to get out Vol. 1, No. 1, but though the first issue caught on like wild fire, they had not capital to carry on with. It was then that Mr. Sheppard, who saw that the News was lost to him, decided to throw in his lot with his two enterprising juniors. Friends had come to his assistance with sufficient funds to give the idea a real trial, and from the second issue and for nearly twenty-five years thereafter he was editor and manager of Saturday Night. Under the arrangement arrived at, Mr. Nichol became assistant editor, and Mr. Caiger, advertising manager. Within a short time, however, financial differences developed between Mr. Sheppard and the two original projectors. The latter parted company with their journalistic child and jointly established a rival publication of similar form and purpose, entitled "Life." "Life," under Mr. Nichol's editorship was a very witty and breezy sheet, but there was no room for two such weeklies in one city and it could not overtake the lead obtained by its predecessor. Saturday Night was soon able to grimly announce that the name of its rival had been changed to "Death."

Mr. Nichol subsequently returned to Hamilton and was one of the original staff of the Hamilton Herald on its foundation in 1889. The gold boom of Rossland, B.C., in the middle nineties and the Yukon gold discoveries, drew a great many young men from Ontario, among them Mr. Nichol, but after a few months' following the lure, he returned to journalism and secured an interest in the Province, then a weekly published at Victoria, B.C. Subsequently he removed the headquarters of the newspaper to Vancouver, changed it to a daily and in a few years built up the enterprise into one of the chief newspapers and publishing enterprises of the Pacific coast. Although a real humorist and able writer, Mr. Nichol has long since laid down his pen to devote himself to his ever-increasing business interests, but certainly the gubernatorial office at Victoria will be adorned by a versatile and gifted man. — Saturday Night.

REVIVING THE HOLY LAND

The announcement that a party of Jewish farmers in Saskatchewan will leave for Palestine to take up land is a reminder of the trusteeship which the British have undertaken on behalf of the Jewish race. All reports agree that Sir Herbert Samuel, the British Commissioner, is meeting with success in his great task of rebuilding the country on a new foundation. As a member of the Campbell-Bannerman and Asquith governments, he made his mark as an administrator of energy, ability and progressive views. He has now the opportunity to win new laurels by performing an historic service for people of his own religion.

An agreement recently concluded between the British and French governments puts an end to a dispute which involved the economic future of Palestine. An area embracing all the Jewish colonies in Galilee is conceded to Palestine, though other and larger territorial claims are rejected. Palestine, however, is to be given the use of certain waters outside her borders, in Syria, for irrigation and water powers. When the provisional boundary line between the two countries was drawn during the war the British agent was apparently unaware that these water powers were vital to the development of Palestine. Without them a large region would have been doomed to sterility. The new agreement will enable Sir Herbert Samuels to proceed with the plan of colonizing this region as rapidly as possible with Jewish agriculturists. Under the provisions of the mandate he will recognize the Zionist organization as one that should be consulted with regard to industrial questions and contracts for public works. It is an experiment which has excited the ardent interest of Hebrews throughout the world, and they are rejoicing that it is being carried out under the aegis of Great Britain. The Holy Land may yet flow with milk and honey and blossom like the rose. — Globe.

SUCCESSFUL SOCKEYE EGG COLLECTING SEASON

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—A most successful sockeye egg collecting season has come to a close at Kennedy Lake, Clayoquet Sound, Vancouver Island. A total of 9,577,500 sockeye eggs were collected for hatchery purposes between October 23 and Nov. 13, and in addition thereto, the natural spawning grounds were well seeded.

This condition is particularly encouraging when taken into account with the increased pack of the cannery which in 1916 was 1600 cases of sockeye and in 1920 a little over 4500 cases.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

AIR SURVEY OF B.C. TIMBER

Aeroplane service for forestry work is proving a continued success in British Columbia—which province has the credit of making the initial experiments in the use of air machines for that work. The Dominion Government Forestry Branch has just completed a topographical reconnaissance of the Kamloops and Shuswap Lake area of the Railway Belt, in which they own the timber. The work was carried out under the supervision of Mr. Roy Cameron, district representative for the Dominion Forest Service at Kamloops, and the Vancouver air station of the Dominion Air Service supplied the flying machine, an H.S.2L. plane Major McLaurin, superintendent of the Vancouver air station, was the pilot who conducted the work. This may be looked on as the first real attempt at air survey of forestry in British Columbia, and the results from both forest service and air service were eminently satisfactory.

In all more than 1800 miles of flying was done, and Major McLaurin, in discussing the reconnaissance said that the work would have been continued longer only that those lakes over 3000 feet altitude were beginning to freeze and as the machine was not equipped with skids for landing on ice, the operations had to be suspended for the season. Aside from that no difficulties were experienced at all. Major McLaurin said: "The country around Kamloops and the Shuswap Lakes is admriably suited for seaplane work. Landings are easily made on the large number of lakes that are found throughout the district." He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the survey, which had demonstrated in the most practical manner the value of flying to the government in mapping out in a mountainous or heavily wooded area. Work was thus accomplished that would otherwise take much time to complete.

Mr. Cameron, Dominion Forest Branch representative, who was with Major McLaurin during the progress of the air survey, was also much pleased with what had been done. He has been able, as a result of the flights, to make reports that would have taken months of time and a large expenditure of money to gather such an amount of information by any other method. And no other method could have been so complete. From the nature of the photographs and other data secured, the department is now in possession of detailed, definite in formation respecting locations for trails, large areas of timber hitherto unknown, burnt-over areas, and watersheds, which it had not before. Regarding burnt areas, all that had previously been known in some cases was that fires had done a good deal of damage. But the exact location and size of the areas damaged had been unrecorded. Exact information has been obtained which should be of great value in handling future fire-fighting campaigns.

After the reconnaissance work was concluded the big seaplane was dismantled at Sicamous and shipped to Vancouver, to be stored at the Jericho Beach station, in readiness for duty on any coast service during the winter.—Lumberman.

THE BONE DRY VOTE

Brantford Expositor: Ontario will vote on the "bone dry" proposition on April 12 and if strict prohibition carries, as is expected, the new order of things will go into force in July. This certainly is a long time to wait before an end can be put to the free importations of liquor which are now being made. Nor would the present loose state of things have arisen had the Dominion government put an end to the importations of liquor in Provinces which had already enacted prohibition without making it necessary to have provincial plebiscites with all the accompanying delays.

Every trace of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustless Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. THE ANNUAL CIVIC MEETING the greater part of last year the city was more efficiently policed than it has been for many years. If I have not accomplished anything else during the past year I have given the city the best police chief it ever had. The city is cleaner today physically and morally than it ever was, and a mighty sight cleaner, morally at least, than any of the adjoining cities. I do not hesitate to say that Mr. Lawson is one of the best police officers in Western Canada today. He is not a grafter. He is clean, honest and efficient.

The city hall and office expense in 1919 amounted to $2584. In 1920 to $2040 or $544 less than in the previous year. In this connection I wish to say that the city has a valuable man in the city clerk, A. J. Moffatt.

In 1919 the city paid the bank $3156 in interest on current account overdraft. In 1920 this amounted to but $758—a saving of $2398 over the previous year.

For the past six or eight years, almost every department of the city's affairs closed the year with large deficits, until at the end of 1919 the current account overdraft at the bank amounted to $30,000 in round figures, on which the city was paying interest. In 1920 every department closed the year with a surplus in place of the usual deficit. All these savings have naturally made a big difference in the financial standing of the city. A year ago when I was elected mayor, the city had an overdraft at the bank of approximately $30,000. Today the city has a credit balance at the bank of $14,715—a difference in favor of last year of over $44,000.

It is true that the tax rate for 1919 was about 4 mills less than last year. It is also true that the city's general tax rate, which is the only rate over which the city council has anyq control, was two mills less than in 1919. The net increase of four mills in the total rate was due solely to the very large increase in school rates, which was six mills more than in 1919.

In order to enable the 1919 council to place the tax rate at what it was they used $5385 of sinking fund interest which had been accruing for several years and which should never have been used for this purpose. They also used for the same purpose some $2300 profit derived from the sale of short term War Bonds.

Another matter which clearly demonstrates that the 1919 council were poor financiers is the fact that they used $5000 more from the city's sinking fund to buy War Bonds than there was available for this purpose, and in May last we had to dispose of these at a loss of eight points in order to meet matured debentures.

During the past year the city bought back $30,000 worth of City of Fernie bonds at 78 cents on the dollar. By doing this the city will eventually save $33,700. This may appear somewhat amazing but it is a fact nevertheless. When money is borrowed on long terms the interest invariably amounts to more than the principal.

There are many other matters I would like to touch on but you hav several speakers to hear after me.

For 1921, the new council should make provision for considerable repairs to those streets already paved and also for the gravelling of those streets already graded. For this purpose I am sure the city will save money by buying a good motor truck. Work of this kind done with horses is too expensive. Provision should also be made for a place to shelter the tools, implements and such like belonging to the city. At present most of them lie out year in and year out. During the next two or three years if the affairs of the city are properly looked after, with the assistance promised by the government Fernie can be made a different looking place. Streets can be graded and gravelled, sidewalks built, sewers extended and such like, and the ratepayers feel it but very little, in fact even less than at present.

Now, Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, if you approve of the way in which the affairs of the city have been conducted during the past year, it is up to you to see to it that a mayor and council are nominated and elected who are possessed of business ability and experience and who will take a wholesome interest in the city's affairs. I understand that Archie Corrie, Harry Douglas and Wm. Currie have been prevailed upon to allow their names to be placed in nomination. These are all good men and should be elected. If any of them will agree to run for mayor I will gladly retire, but I am not prepared to make way for some one with no business ability who will allow things to go on in the same old come easy go easy way.

Following the Mayor's speech Ald. McEwan very briefly addressed the meeting, devoting his remarks chiefly to lauding the work performed by the Mayor, whom he said was the best Fernie had ever had. Mr. McEwan will be a candidate for re-election.

Ald. Tully defended his attitude as member of the Health committee on council and the Garbage Disposal Bylaw, over which there has been endless criticism and complaints from various ratepayers, which to a large degree may be characterized as some people considering the 50c per month charged for this service of greater moment to them than their own general health and the maintaining of proper sanitary conditions within the municipality. Ald. Tully said he was proud of having been instrumental in enacting such regulations and while there might exist some defects and discriminations in certain instances, these in time would be remedied. Mr. Tully will allow his name to go before the electors again. Ald. Harrison followed and reiterated the views of Mr. Tully in connection with enforcement of the health regulations. He said this committee had virtually policed the city in this connection and during the past year had been subject to more abuse than during the preceding 16 years he had resided here. He has not definitely decided whether he will stand for re-election.

Ald. John Bean in opening stated he had not made up his mind whether he would run or not. He compared the cost of producing electrical energy during 1920 to that for 1919, which showed a favorable decrease. He also pointed out that for the year just closed only $1.20 had been paid for overtime at the plant while in years gone by extravagant sums had been expended in this manner. He suggested that his personal knowledge of the practical end in this department was to some extent responsible for the more economic operation.

Ald. Rutledge thanked the electors for past favors and forthwith took issue with His Worship in connection with certain figures quoted by him, the effect of which was to depreciate the accomplishments the Mayor had endeavored to show the 1920 council had brought about. Mr. Rutledge's remarks against the mayor were of the nature that his strong dislike was due to the fact that Mayor Henderson wanted to be the whole cheese, in other words the mayor had been boss and not nominally holding the office.

Ald. Robichaud received a warm reception and addressed the meeting in his usual manner and will be back for another term if wanted.

The Chairman called upon prospective candidates, H. E. Douglas and A. Corrie, who were present, the former only, however, responding. Mr. Douglas stated if he allowed his name to go before the ratepayers it was with the view he had certain knowledge pertaining to figures and accounting and he would do his best for honest and upright administration of civic affairs.

The Mayor replied to the criticism of Ald. Bean and Ald. Rutledge, following which a crossfire arose. Reflections upon the 1919 council brought Mr. Uphill, M.L.A., and mayor during the term mentioned, to his feet with a vehement explanation, to which Mayor Henderson replied by reiterating his former statements and emphtsizing these by producing additional facts to support his contention. Mr. Bryant directed a number of questions to the Mayor to which replies were made. Other spectators directed questions to the mayor and some of the aldlermen and the meeting adjourned.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mrs. H. F. McLean is seriously ill.

There will be no skating at the rink tonight.

Mrs. King, aged 90 years, a citizen of Elko, died on Monday last. The funeral took place on Wednesday.

The I.O.D.E. dance on New Year's eve was a huge success, the floor being crowded to capacity.

Arthur Anderson, while skating at the rink last evening fell and dislocated his shoulder.

Billy Ingram was laid up several days this week with inflammation of the eyes.

If some sort of a checking system were inaugurated at the local dances there would not be so many mixups about wraps after every gathering.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies Guild of Christ church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Lowe, 82 Jaffray St., on Wednesday, at 3.30 p.m.

The mines at Coal Creek are idle today and tomorrow owing to a dropping off of orders. This is the first time the mines have been closed for this cause in a year.

We wish to thank Editor Hayes of the Creston Review for a beautiful box of apples at Christmas time. Editor Hayes is certainly some booster for the big red apple country.

Word was received in the city today of the death of Mrs. Jas. Miller, of Cranbrook. Mrs. Miller was a daughter of R. Hirtz, of Elko and a sister-in-law of Mrs. J. Dufour, of Fernie.

The regular monthly meeting of the I.O.D.E. will be held on Saturday afternoon in the city council chamber at 3.30. All members are requested to be present. Business: Nomination of officers.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Shorthouse wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Milly, to Mr. Harold Minton. The marriage will take place on Thursday, Jan. 20, 1921, at 146 McPherson Ave.

A dispatch from Toronto says that the cellar of Foster Ambrey was burglarized to the extent of forty bottles of catsup. Knowing Foster as we did for ten years in Fernie, we think the report a malicious falsehood.

Paddy Hughes received a wire this week from Springfield, Ill., stating that a brother had been killed in an accident there. This is the first death to take place in a family of ten boys. Paddy Hughes has a family of ten, but five are boys and five girls.

Ald. Robichaud wishes to state that he is in the field again for aldermanic honors and appeals to the electors on his record. He has given more of his time to the city's business in the past year than ever before and is in a position to give the city good honest service.

Not a word was said at the public meeting last night about the election of school trustees, although this was one of the most important matters that could have come up .Three trustees, Messrs. Herchmer, Cummings and Phillips, whose term expires, will likely again enter the field for reelection.

There is quite an agitation being raised among some of our citizens because the school board refuse to employ teachers who graduate from our local schools. It seems strange that the board should take this stand. There is little encouragement for a man to put his daughter through for a teacher if they have to leave the city to receive employment.

Fernie will lose two good citizens tomorrow in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Bonnallie, who are leaving for Vancouver. Mr. Bonnallie, manager of the Bank of Commerce here for the past few years, has always taken a keen interest in the public affairs of the city and his departure will be keenly felt. He has been promoted to the management of one of the branches of the Bank of Commerce in Vancouver city.

A meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United church will be held on Tuesday at 3.30 p.m. in the basement of the church.

Died—In Fernie, on Friday last, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stewart. The funeral took place on Sunday.

W. J. Claridge, of Blairmore, was in town several days this week. He says he will have a rink in the spiel from Blairmore.

Joseph Smith, of Natal, was fined $75 and J. McDonald $50 for having too much hooch aboard on Monday of this week.

The entrance of Archie Corrie, H. E. Douglas and Wm. Currie into the municipal field shows that the business men of the city once more are beginning to take a little interest in municipal politics.

From all appearances it looks as if Mayor Henderson will be elected by acclamation. He has proved himself an A1 man for the city and the finances have never been in as good shape as they are at present. All right thinking citizens should give him their hearty support.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Jan. 9, 1921.

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—Permit me to use a little of your valuable space regarding the wonderful improvement in our local moving pictures. I had the pleasure of seeing "Once To Every Woman" on Wednesday night at the Isis Theatre, and I want to say that it was a splendid picture. The picture itself was well played and the characters were all well chosen for their respective parts. It was very well presented and the unknown singer added considerably to the effect of the picture. The music was very adaptable and while I always knew Mr. Bass' orchestra was excellent for dancing, the way they played to this picture shows that they are quite capable of handling other branches of the musical profession.

Mr. Orner is to be congratulated upon the manner in which he caters to the public. A picture that is staged well and brings tears to the eyes of the audience is a good picture, and I, for one, would like to see more of them.

Thanking you for the space, I am,
Yours truly,
A Lover of Good Pictures.

PUNCH AND UNITED STATES

London—Punch dedicates the epilogue of its 159th volume to a 'candid appreciation of the United States."

The epilogue takes the form of an interview which Mr. Punch supposes himself to give to an American reporter as the liner on which he is approaching New York goes up the bay. He answers the question, "What do you think of the American nation?" by saying:

"Well, I think a good deal about it, and it nearly always makes me smile. Of course, you won't understand why. It nearly always makes me smile because we don't see fun in the same things. You don't appreciate our humor and therefore you say that we haven't any, and if we don't appreciate your humor that proves again that we have not any. So you will never understand why it makes me smile, sometimes gently and sometimes rather bitterly, to think about your nation, but I'll tell you just the same.

"In the first place, what you call America is only a small fraction of the American continent, not even as large as British North America and in the second place what you call your nation—well, some rude person once said of it that it is not really a nation at all, but just a picnic. I won't go as far as that, but I hardly suppose you will be much better pleased to call it a league of nations. That is a phrase that you know. because your President Wilson loves it.

"By the way, I must be very careful how I speak of your President, because you are so sensitive on that subject. You allow yourselves to advise him as the head of a political party, but if other nations so much as question his omniscience he suddenly becomes the head of a sovereign state. An English cabinet minister once told me how an American gave vent in conversation to the most violent language in regard to the policy of the President of the day, and when at the end the Englishman very quietly said, 'I am inclined to agree with you,' the American turned on him in a fury, saying: "'Sir, I did not come here to have my country insulted.'

"However, to return to your league of nations. In England, where I come from, they are just now reviving a play by Zangwill in which, if I recall it rightly, he makes out your country to be a melting-pot into which every sort of fancy alien type is thrown and turned out as a pattern of the American citizen, a member of a united family. I wish I could believe it. It seems to us that your German, even after passing through the melting-pot, remains a German, and that your Irishman, however much he Americanizes himself for purposes of political power and graft remains an Irishman.

"You never seem to get together as a nation when you go to war, and even then you do not keep it up, for you are not together now, although you are still at war with Germany. The rest of the time you seem to spend in having elections and placating (I think that is what you call it) the German interest or the negro interest or the Sinn Fein interest.

"And this brings me to a point that makes me smile; most of all when it does not make me weep. Isn't it a pathetic thing that a really great and strong people like you should be so weak and so little as to let your press sympathize gallantly with the campaign of murder in Ireland, to suffer that campaign to be actively assisted by American gunmen, to look on while it is being financed by American money, here employed in conjunction with the resources of that very Bolshevism which you take care to treat as criminal in your own country?

"Indeed, your memory is not very good. Your Monroe Doctrine, which insists that nobody from outside shall interfere with your affairs, escapes you whenever you want to interfere with other peoples. You even forget. at convenient times, your own Civil War. Just as there was not a protest made by you against the methods of our blockades of Germany for which an answer could not be found in some precedent set by you in that war of the North and the South. so now the best answer to your sympathy with the preposterous claims of the Irish Republic is to be found in those four years in which you fought so bloodily to preserve the integrity of your own Union.

"Yet you let men like De Valera go at large proclaiming the brutal tyranny of the alien Saxon and advertising his country as a sovereign State. all because you have to placate the Irish interest. I should very much like to hear what you would think of us if. at our elections, we ran an anti-United States campaign and made an intervention plank in our platform as one of your parties did, for the sake of placating the niggers or Cubans or Filipinos or any other sort of dago in our midst."

Mr. Punch concludes by hoping that, "In my desire to be genial I have not been too flattering. No true friend ever flatters, and in my heart, which has some of our common blood in it, notoriously thicker than water, I cannot help loving your country and would love it better stiff if only it gave me a better chance."

WAS WAITED ON JUST LIKE CHILD

Vancouver Woman Was Down In Bed With Rheumatism When She Began Taking Tanlac

"When I started taking Tanlac I was so bad off I just had to be waited on like a child, but the medicine has so restored my health that I'm up doing my housework now, and am feeling just fine in every way," said Mrs. W. Wager, of 1821 51st Ave., East, Vancouver, B.C.

"Before I got Tanlac I had rheumatic pains all over my body, especially in my back and neck, and suffered more than words can express. I was down in bed just almost helpless, and at every move the pain was almost unbearable. Some days I managed to sit up, but I couldn't even lace my shoes and just had to sit in one position. My appetite was so poor I had no desire to eat, and I had such awful headaches and at times became so dizzy, I could hardly see what was going on around me. I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep, and was suffering so much I was just about ready to give up.

"Well, the way Tanlac has relieved me of my troubles and restored my health is nothing less than remarkable. I have a splendid appetite now and have picked up wonderfully in weight and strength. I never have an ache or pain of any kind and am now looking after my housework with perfect ease. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing to me, and I just can't praise it enough."

WOMEN STOOP TO SMUGGLE

When woman sets out to reform various "abuses," it is interesting to observe that she invariably side-steps smuggling. It is difficult to convince, even a member of the W. C. T. U., that it is illegal and wrong to defraud the government, in the matter of duty on a beaded blouse or what she is pleased to call a "perfectly adorable" afternoon gown. Women who invariably pay street car fare and who contribute to the anti-tuberculosis cause have been known to resort to fantastic manoeuvres, in order to avoid a dollar of duty. "Getting things past the customs officer" is one of the most enjoyable pastimes of the woman whose home town is Sarnia, Windsor or any other border community.

If there is an unloved woman, now residing in the County of Essex, Ontario, it is Mrs. Martha Ogilvie, special customs officer, who recently examined many fair shoppers, returning from Detroit, and obliged them to enrich the customs to the extent of thousands of dollars. Loud and long were the wails of the shoppers, who considered themselves despoiled and betrayed. What business had the government with such trifles as silk hosiery and filmy lingerie, It was positively indelicate to pry into the prices of such "accessories" and —just wait till the next election and Windsor women will vote for the member who favors a low tariff on fluffy ruffles. Mrs. Ogilvie is still busy in her little office at the Windsor ferry dock and occupied herself in Christmas week with sending out formidable lists of persons living on this side of the river who are known to have in their possession articles of American manufacture, upon which no duty has been paid. Isn't that an un-Christian task for the last week of the year— and how can any reasonable and humane government expect every Canadian woman to pay her duty?—Saturday Night.

DAYS OF READJUSTMENT

Whether it be for good or ill, the war standard of values for all commodities, including labor and the products of labor, is passing. The purchasing public has determined the value of products by setting the prices, to some extent at least, at which it will buy. That action automatically determines the price of the labor which enters into the production of the goods. Thus a law is proclaimed which cannot be set aside by the decrees of any court in the land or of the world. In some cases the matter is being adjusted by amicable arrangement between employers and employees; in others hours of labor are being reduced or manufactories are being closed temporarily.

Owing to the conditions now prevailing in the industrial world there is bound to be a period of what is called "deflation," leading to readjustment and resumption of activity. There is a great scarcity on the continent of Europe of almost everything produced in Canada. Re-establishment of credits is the one thing needful to set the wheels of industry in motion. All these things will be accomplished in due process of time. Canadians have no reason to peer into the future with misgivings. No country in the world has a greater assurance of prosperity.—Colonist.

THE LYONS FAIR.

Showing of Canada at the Historic Exhibition.

The British Dominions have earned particular credit at the Lyons Fair, and so successful has been the effect of their enterprise that we may expect their regular appearance in the future. There is, of course, every reason why Canada should be especially welcome. It was the intrepid French explorers, Jacques Cartier, Frontenac and Champlain, who, in the 16th century, first settled in Canada, and the bonds of custom, language and history form an additional tie. Canada's participation is largely due to the active co-operation and help of Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce; the Hon. Mr. Doherty, Minister of Finance, and the Hon. Mr. Sifton—all of whom are now in France as members of the British Peace Delegation. The Dominion exhibits — including those of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways—occupy 72 stands covering the manufactures or industries of sixty firms. Agricultural machinery forms a prominent display in this section.

The Canadian manufacturers have set themselves the task of capturing German trade. In the case of spelter, the principal supply of which had previously been acquired by the Germans, the Canadians have established plants at Trail, B.C.; tungsten, necessary for the hardening of metals, another German monopoly, has been found in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and the Yukon. The display of commercial minerals covers 267 varieties, and includes several specimens of asbestos. Quebec now furnishes 80 per cent. of the world's supplies of this commodity. The largest output of nickel comes from Ontario. The Province of British Columbia will soon house the immense shipbuilding yards of Yarrow (Ltd.), of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who are moving to Canada mainly to avail themselves of the unlimited supply of timber there, and also, no doubt, on account of labor troubles at home.

Considering that this is the first time that Canada has participated in the Lyons Fair, the Dominion's display is altogether commendable. Much of the success is unquestionably due to the energy shown in the undertaking by the Export Association of Canada, of British Columbia House, Regent street, London. Another asset has been the presence of the Canadian Trade Commissioner, Mr. Wendell McL. Clarke, as superintendent. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to secure a really good display — and has succeeded. The Canadians have had more advertising in France than any other foreign nation, and it has been due to the efforts of the General Publicity Agent of the Canadian Pacific and the Western Lines Railways, Sergeant Rankin.

The Canadian exhibits range from condensed milk, shown in attractive form by the Laing Produce & Storage Co., Lt., of Brockville, and canned vegetables and fruits and the macaroni of the Dominion Canners Co., of Hamilton, to the massive engineering plant of the Frost & Wood Co., Ltd., of Smith's Falls, and the railway cars and brake beams of the Canadian Car & Foundry Co., Ltd., of Montreal. Some remarkably good specimens of agricultural machinery are in view from the workshops of Maxwells, Lt., of St. Mary's; the Frost & Wood Co., Ltd., of Smith's Falls; Tudhope, Anderson & Co., Ltd., of Orillia; and the Massey-Harris Co., Ltd. Iron and steel manufactures are shown by E. T. Wright & Co., Ltd., of Hamilton; the McClary Manufacturing Co., of London, Ont.; electrical supplies by the Duncan Electrical Co., Ltd., of Montreal; axes, edged tools, saws, and farming implements by the Welland Vale Manufacturing Co., Ltd., of St. Catharines; iron and steel products by the Steel Co. of Canada; white lead and lead products by both Brandram-Henderson, Ltd., of Montreal, and the Pacific White Lead Co., Ltd., while the textile trades are represented by the Montreal Cottons, Ltd., and the Dominion Textile Co., Ltd., also of Montreal.

Some very beautiful and remarkably low-priced wall papers are displayed by the firm of Stauntons, Ltd., of Toronto; if these could be introduced into the United Kingdom there would be a great demand for them. It is understood, however, that in the present condition of the trade the entry of these beautiful Canadian productions is impossible.

The ready-made houses shown by W. H. White, of Montreal, are extremely well designed, and there should be a large demand for them by settlers in Canada. They would also be welcome in France.

A Quarrel.

Even the school children suffer from it. A teacher in one of the Toronto schools looked up from her desk the other day to find a little girl standing before her bathed in tears and sobbing away as if all the sorrows of the world had descended upon her. "Why, Gladys, what's the matter?" she asked. "I—I want my seat changed," wailed the youngster, and she pointed at the mischievous urchin who sat beside her, "he called me a bad name!" The teacher began an investigation. "Aw, he didn't call her nothin'," volunteered another of the male species. "He just told her she was a Bolsheviki."

Slang Explained.

The saying, "not worth a continental," came from the fact that the Continental currency, issued by the Continental Congress, was worthless, or nearly so, during the American revolution and after. As the Continental Congress had no power to levy taxes it was unable to redeem its promises to pay. Besides, the country was flooded with counterfeits which could not be detected.

A Farmerette.

A farmerette was doing her bit as a hired hand on the farm, and found her work somewhat arduous. The second day she came to the boss and said, "Please, Mr. Farmer, it's so hard to milk a cow. Couldn't I start learning it by beginning with a calf?"

In accordance with the provisions of sub-sections 19 and 20 of section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, we report as follows:

We have audited the above Balance Sheet and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and are of the opinion that the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

We have checked the cash, and verified the securities representing the investments of the Bank, at its chief office and principal branches at a date other than that of the verification at the chief office on the 30th November, 1920, and found that they were in agreement with the entries in the books of the Bank relating thereto.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Bank according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

Vancouver, Dec. 31.—Mayor Gale did not mince words in discussing the unemployment situation with six members of the unemployed committee of twelve at a session in his office this morning. Representatives of the Dominion and Provincial governments were present and the city council.

Summarized, the Mayor's attitude is one of helpfulness to the unemployed men, but he wishes to be assured that the citizens are not imposed on in so far as the actions of certain leaders of the men are concerned. This he made plain in objecting to the phraseology of a letter to him from the committee, which he construed as a virtual demand that the city force General Ross to throw open the drill hall for mass meetings.

He flatly declined to take such action, and followed this statement with the assertion that it had been found that at least one member of the committee of twelve had gone direct from meetings of the men to the headquarters of a secret organization where the "red flag waved."

This organization was hopeful that serious trouble might be started in Vancouver, using the present state of unrest and idleness as a means to that end.

The authorities, the Mayor added, were not idle, and had been "scouting around."

"I can see no good reason for continuing these mass meetings two or three times each week, although I grant it is quite proper for you to discuss your matters among yourselves," he said. "But when at these meetings the speakers take the platform to discuss the 'rottenness of the social system' and the 'splendid condition of Russia,' I say these discussions have no bearing upon Vancouver's unemployment solution, and they do not help in the least.

"In view of these facts, further meetings of this kind must not be held. I am asking you of this committee to continue the co-operation we have had from you, and see that such meetings are eliminated.

"If such things go on we will know what to do," concluded His Worship, "and we will do it."

The 13th Commandment

Stories about young married life are always interesting. Rupert Hughes' "Thirteenth Commandment" created quite a stir when it ran serially in a popular magazine and later as a novel. Now it has been adapted to the screen and will be shown with Ethel Clayton in the leading role at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

The heroine is the pampered daughter of a middle western merchant. She has always had all she wanted and, when she becomes engaged to a young New Yorker, supposes him to be rich because he spends lots of money on her. But a trip to the metropolis shows her that he is really poor and is making tremendous sacrifices in order to satisfy her whims. Other dramatic developments convince her of the injustice of the attitude of the pretty woman who demands a heavy financial tribute from her husband for simply being idle and extravagant.

She pursues an independent career and when he fiance is ready to wed her, goes to him on a "fifty-fifty" basis. Miss Clayton is supported by a fine cast, which includes Anna Q. Nilsson, Monte Blue, Charles Meredith and Irving Cummings. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture directed by Robert G. Vignola.

MINERS WANT COLD SNAP

(Lethbridge Herald)

Coal miners of Southern Alberta are not wishing anybody any hard luck but they would like to see some real winter weather set in on the prairies. The California brand being served out to date has resulted in a glut of coal in the hands of the dealers with the result that mines al. along the Crow are beginning to take half time. One of the local mines is working on half time today and others will be in the same boat within a week. The Taber mines are only running part time while some of the steam coal mines in the Pass are having idle days though the Pass mines have a somewhat better market owing to the fact that the railway companies are beginning now to build up their reserve dumps as protection against a possible shut-down during the summer.

The outlook for a summer run is not any better at present than it has been and ide times in the mines are feared unless something is done to bring down the price. Just now the miners all over the district are getting a cost of living bonus of 117 cents per day, which amounts to about $30 a month. Were this taken off, and the operators are beginning to argue that it should be wiped out owing to the decreasing cost of living, the cost of coal at the pit mouth would be reduced about 70 cents from the government price of $7.26 per ton. A reduction of 770 cents a ton would help matters in inducing dealers on the prairies to stock up during the summer, and it would also help, it is argued, in helping to meet the competition of American coal.

ELECT NEW CITY COUNCIL

Yesterday the ratepayers of this city demonstrated very clearly that when the opportunity is afforded to elect a responsible council they are only too willing to exercise their franchise in that manner. The re-election of Mayor Henderson by a majority of 54 over Mr. Rutledge is an emphatic demonstration that the record established by him during one short term in office has increased the confidence reposed in him to conduct the administration of civic affairs. During the past term he has fulfilled these duties in a fearless manner. Oftimes in the performance of public duties he has had to sacrifice personal good feeling towards those who from selfish motives desired gain at the expense of the community, but the result has always been the same. Mayor Henderson has stood at all times for clean, honest and efficient service for the city. In fulfilment of his undertaking voiced a year ago that this city could be made cleaner and better and its affairs administered more economically, he has devoted far more time and given personal attention to each and every branch than almost any of our former mayors. This he has done gratis and so far his only reward is the more sound financial condition of this city for some time, and his victory yesterday.

With regard to the council elect, in men of the calibre of Messrs. Corrie, Currie, Douglas and Irvine, elections have come and gone for half a decade without nominees such as these gentlemen even considering assuming to offer themselves as aspirants for civic office. The decision of the ratepayers yesterday again is most decided that, given the chance, they are intelligent enough to choose accurately. This new blood injected into our city council, out of 402 votes cast, Messrs. Currie and Douglas headed the poll with 75 per cent of the electors marking their ballots for them. Archie Corrie was only a trifle below this percentage, having 290 votes and J. S. Irvine received 64 per cent with 265 votes. The old veteran councillor, Wm. Robichaud, ran fifth with 190 and Ald. Bean next with 158, and this completes the slate for 1921 council. Ex-Aldermen McEwan, 145; Wm. Harrison 106 and M. Tully 104, were the totals arrived at last evening, for all candidates.

For the ensuing term Mayor Henderson having the support of a council composed of successful business men, as it now is, should have no difficulty in administering the affairs for 1921 in a more creditable manner than during the past year. In certain civic departments the nucleus of proficient servants have been appointed and in these cases the marked improvement is noticeable to all. It will undoubtedly be the duty of the new council to expand this efficiency and they also have the further and more difficult duty to perform to educate the minds of the citizens that the institution of necessary reforms, while they may be unsatisfactory to the selfish few, when once permanently put into effect to the welfare of the city and community at large, the improved conditions will be such that none will have the slightest desire to revert to that which might be termed as slipshod on the surface but putrid at the core.

SOME COMPARISONS

Last year Mayor Henderson had 20 majority over Thos. Uphill. This year he has 54 majority.

Last year Bean headed the poll for aldermen with 302 votes. This year he is at the bottom of the list of those elected with 158 votes, very little more than half the vote he had last year.

Last year McEwan had 265 votes. This year he has 145.

Last year Harrison had 265 votes. This year he has 106—considerably less than half.

Last year Tully had 204 votes. This year he has 104.

Last year, with a hundred more votes polled, the largest number cast for any candidate was 302. This year two candidates have exactly the same number.

BURGLARS ROB LOCAL STORE

A. C. Liphardt's jewelry establishment was burglarized on Monday night and goods to the value of three or four hundred dollars stolen. All the real valuable stock was in the vault, which the robbers did not try to tamper with, but contented themselves with gathering up the silverware, cheap watches, small ornaments, etc.

Entrance to the store was effected by way of the coal chute to the cellar from where the marauders got to the work shop at the rear of the store by prying up the trap door which was held down by two slide bolts. These facts would indicate that the perpetrators of the deed were acquainted with the premises and the kind of goods taken indicates novices at the trade.

The robbery was not discovered until the next morning when the store was opened for business.

The police, as yet, have no clue to follow, but it is probable that the guilty parties will be discovered.

THE BIG SPIEL STARTS MONDAY

With the exception of the weather everything looks bright and prosperous for the District Bonspiel which opens in Fernie on Monday next. Every day the secretary is receiving entries from outside. Lethbridge alone has asked for hotel reservations for six rinks, so at present writing, weather permitting, it looks as though there would be at least twenty-five visiting rinks present. The local curlers and their wives are making every preparation for the entertainment of the visitors and Fernie intends to live up to its reputation for hospitality. Alan Graham and A. Watson, not to mention Bob Young, are oiling up their pipes in anticipation of the big event. The skating rink has been secured and if necessary four additional sheets of ice will be added for curling purposes, making nine in all.

London, Jan. 14.—Official announcement that famine exists in several districts of India has occasioned concern in England. Mere mention of famine is freighted with terror for the natives of that country, who look back to times when scores of thousands of their fellows perished from stravation, which has often been attended by plague. The present scarcity of food in India comes at an inopportune time for the British government, which is already grappling with serious unrest among the natives.

London, Jan. 14.—Severe fighting between Bedouins and Druses in Syria is reported from Cairo. The Druses are said to have lost 1000 killed but it is asserted the remnants of their forces are preparing for a counter offensive. Williws, Cal., Jan. 13.—A sharp earthquake shock, lasting about three seconds, was felt here at an early hour today. No damage was reported. A similar shock was felt here on Dec. 29.

Tononto, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Constance Ann Doughty, wife of John Doughty, former secretary to Ambrose J. Small, missing theatre owner of this city, has begun an action against her husband for alimony.

Belfast, Jan. 13.—It is reported that incendiary fires have occurred at Dungloe and Burtonport in reprisal for the ambushing of a troop train yesterday in Donegal. No direct confirmation of the report has been received as the telegraph wires have been cut.

Melbourne, Jan. 13.—In a series of tennis matches here today Norman Brookes and O'Hara, Australians, beat William T. Tilden and William Johnston, the victorious U.S. tennis club players in doubles. Capt. Watson Washburn, U.S., beat G. F. Patterson of Australians, and Tilden won from J. B. Hawkes, Australia.

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Jack Kearns, manager manager for Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, said today the match between Dempsey and Jess Willard in New York might be called off because of the recent ruling by the New York Boxing Commission fixing $15 as the highest admission fee to be charged at championship matches.

Munich, Bavaria, Jan. 13. — Gen. Ludendorf, former first quartermaster general of the German army, today denied that he had presented a memorial to the Allies containing a plan for a joint offensive against Rusia, by Great Britain, France and Germany.

OLD AGE ONLY A POSE

London, Jan. 10.—"Old age is only a pose," Sir James Cantlie, famous Harley street physician, said in commenting upon his announcement that tomorrow he would preside over the inauguration of a class in physical training for business and profesional men of more than 50 years of age.

"A man usually grows old because he thinks it is dignified," he said. "He sits back and lets the years do what they like with him. I shall be 70 in a week, but I rise every morning at 4.30 o'clock and soon after that dance for a quarter of an hour. I prefer step dances, the Highland fling and strathspeys. There is not enough exercise in the modern dances for me."

LAST MEETING OF OLD COUNCIL

The last meeting of the city fathers for 1920 was held on Tuesday of this week with all members present.

Minutes were read and adopted.

Moved by Aldermen Harrison and Robichaud that the report of the fire chief be adopted.—Carried.

The city engineer's report was also adopted.

McEwan—Tully—That the sum of $3430.19 be transferred from general depreciation to over expenditure, reducing the latter to $1500, and that any surplus then remaining on the year's operations be then carried to general surplus account.—Carried.

Harrison—Bean—That the report of the city clerk on finance be accepted.—Carried.

Tully—Harrison — That the account for D. Cragg's board at the King's Hotel for $48 be paid.—Carried.

A large number of accounts were passed and the meeting adjourned.

FIRE IN THE ANNEX

Fire broke out about 2 o'clock this morning in a stable belonging to Hugh Gale in the Annex, and quickly spread to a neighboring barn. The city fire brigade turned out promptly but the flames had gained such headway that both buildings were destroyed. Two horses and about ten ton of hay belonging to Frank Santoni were consumed in the fire. A cow belonging to Mr. Gale was also burned. There was no insurance on the property. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

PUBLIC WILL BACK MR. HANNA

When President Hanna of the Canadian National Railways refused to have anything to do with any board of arbitration in respect to his order that no employee of the system can be actively engaged in politics and at the same time keep his job, he is on absolutely sound lines and the people of Canada, taken as a whole, will back him up.

The precedent, long established, that public servants must abstain from political activities is one that in the general good must be maintained. Why should the man in the service of a government railway be an exception to the rule which has held through many years. A fine nest Ottawa would be with thousands of government employees messing in politics, and surely if a government railway employee has such a right then the members of the Civil Service have the same right.

Stick to your guns, Mr. Hanna, and the public will stick to you. Government ownership is on trial in this country and it will only succeed if operated on a business basis.—Saturday Night.

CARD OF THANKS

H. P. Gregson wishes to extend his sincere thanks for floral tributes and for the kindness extended to him during his recent bereavement.

BRITISH COAL MINER TODAY

According to Mr. Smillie the pitman, miner and collier, as he is variously styled in the North and in the South, is a "wage-serf" and a down tredden individual enchained by the blood-sucking capitalist. But nothing can be further from the truth than this presentation, for there is no freer, heartier, healthier, more hospitable, or more independent man in the world than the pitman, and none with a greater capacity for enjoying life or a keener love of sport. As every one knows, "Geordie's" thoughts of a future life, where he was to achive "wings," were concentrated on "fleeing the priest for a sovereign."

Far from being down-trodden he is more like to treat you to a scornful pity than to suffer any "impittance" from yourself, and if you engage in argument with him 'tis you, no he, who will cry "touche" or "a moi." Once you have recognized his incontestable superiority he will become your friend and patron and give you "wrinkles" as to the art of life "Champions" abound in the pit villages of the north and are infinite in their variety. Thus in a single village you may come across a "Pansy" Champion," a "Quoits Champion," in "Draughts Champion," and the writer, who lived years ago close beside various pit centres, employed a pitman as a sort of assistant game-keeper or watcher. He was, according to his own account, the champion "sparrwe (sparow) shutter," and when he sustained defeat attributed it to his being "tarrible trashed oot wi' wark," and boldly maintained his title to the championship.

Pit villages are not beautiful, and in some Scottish districts the housing is scandalously inadequate and insanitary, yet the interior of some of these small and ugly houses is often warm and cosy to an extroardinary degree. We may hate other people's "froust;" we enjoy our own. The writer remembers one cotage in particular that was well lined with books. The owner, an overman or deputy, was an authority on social questions, and once when it was suggested that the late Principal of Newnham would like to call upon him, he evinced no sign of gratification, for he "knew what she was after—she wants to pick maa brains." Another cottage we remember which was lit with electric light—one of the sons was an engineer or electrician and obtained power from the colliery, and another son had musical tastes and had fitted up a small organ, whilst the father had made for himself a fine collection of fossils. In another colliery centre, a few miles eastward, the writer well remembers giving an address on George Merdith in an excellent institute, the chairman being the then mine's manager, later to become H.M.'s Chief Inspector and a K.C.B. This is mentioned because the general public knows nothing of "Geordie," and, relying on Mr. Smillie's speeches, would naturally believe such an incident, over twenty years ago, to have been impossible. "Geordie" in short, resembles the Maid of Dove in that he lives so remote from big towns that there are few to know him and "very few to love." It has been said that "Geordie' in Northumberland plays the violin, while south of the Tyne, in the ancient bishopric of Durham, he keeps a greyhound or a whippet, but in either event the like heartiness prevails in either district, though with its teeming population a greater admixture of "furriners" is found, a number of Irishmen and "Cousin Jacks" (Cornishmen) etc., being employed in Durham County.

The writer was some years ago on his way to attend the Durham Miners' Gala and beside Framwellgate Bridge within the shadow of the great Cathedral of St. Cuthbert, chanced to speak to one who was evidently of the mining fraternity. Alert, well-built, clean-shaven as a Poilu, he was a fine speciman of humanity. "Ho-way in and hev a drink," said he, with a jerk of the thumb towards the public house. This offer of hospitality having been meanly evaded on the score of indigestion. Geordie exclaimed "Indigestion! Aa divvn't knaa what the ward means. Wey, aa cud digest a paving-stone," and he pointed to the coble supon the street. Another magnificent figure recurs to the mind's eye of a burley veteran hewer, six feet high and broad in proportion, who could hew coal with the best of the young men. Though over sixty years of age, he was in no mind to "take the cowl." he had still, he confessed, several "follies" to get through and still had his "favorytes" amongst women kind. He could demolish a leg of mutton at a sitting! and as for the "gills" he could dispose of he would have delighted Rabelais.

Though ths calling is ardous and dangerous, none can deny that it keeps a man in excellent physical "fettle," and the writer for one would far sooner be a hewer of coal than an agricultural laborer. Many improvements in housing are of course overdue, as is now generally recognized, and an increase of wages could be admitted if an increase of production were assured. What one fears is that the preaching of "ca' canny" and discontent with his caling inculcated by the President of the Miners' Federation may sap the heartiness, the independence and the former fine morale of the pitman as a class.

To maintain as some do, that there has been no improvement in the conditions under which the pitman lives is stark nonsense. A hundred years ago he was indubitably a "serf," being truly adscriptus fossœ. "The youthful portion of a pitman's life." wrote Thomas Wilson in his "Pitman's Pay" (first published in "Mitchell's Magazine," 1826), "in those days was passed in the most galling slavery. Eighteen or nineteeen hours a day for weeks together being spent in almost insupportable drudgery."

"Thou knaws for weeks aw've gyen away,
At twee o'clock o' Monday mornin',
And nivver seen the leet o' day
Until the Sabbath day's returnin.'

"The slav'ry borne by Blackymoors
They've lang been ringin' i' wor ears,
But let them try a luik at wors,
And tell us which the warst appears."

In short, when Mr. Smillie compares the present-day pitman to a "serf" he is a hundred years behind the times. —London "Spectator."

In a Monastery Garden — Ketelbey
Minuetto and Barcarolle — Offenbach

IMMEDIATELY on hearing this superb rendition one can picture oneself within the wall of this peaceful garden. The monastery bells peal forth the hour of matins and the voices of the choir are heard to chant the Gregorian "Kyrie Eleison" (Lord have Mercy.)

This selection by Ketelbey is certainly a wonderful piece of music and "His Master's Voice" Orchestra and Chorus have given a superb rendition.

Offenbach's Minuetto and Barcarolle is the accompanying selection and Henri's Orchestra interpret this with delicacy and beauty of tone color resulting in a sterling piece of expressive playing.

AMERICAN JINGOES

LONDON, Jan. 10th—The London Times Washington correspondent in reporting the speeches of Senators McKellar and Phelan in the senate on the oil policy of Great Britain says:

"Those that realize that Irish agitators in America have long looked and still look with comfortable certainty to the oil interests for the wherewithal to support their camaign, will be surprised that Senator Phelan referred to the Irish question."

The correspondent adds: "These speeches, with their mixture of invective and distortion of facts, are typical of much that is now going on. One might search the vast field of American publications without finding any hint of recognition of the fact that the immensity of the British debt to America is largly due to the exhaustion of our credit by the American demand for our endorsement of the American loans to France, Russia and others.

"Much is heard of sinster British oil activity in Mesopotamia, but nothing of American concessions in Palestine; much of British oil intrigues, but nothing of Standard Oil. Much of this criticism is haphazard, but much is deliberate.

"Not without reason do we find in the published appeals by the American-British Federation of Massachussetts the statement that the promotion of a breach and possible war between Great Britain and the United States has become one of the cardinal objects of a general revolutionary program, and that various racical and political groups which make this country the theatre of their agitation, are working with a common understanding in a movement lavishly financed and powerfully organized.

"England must remember that there is a great mass of sober citizens unlikely to be cajoled or coerced, but the extent and bitterness of anti-British propaganda should not be under-estimated.

Sir Chas. Greenway, chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil company, interviewed by the Daily Express on Senator McKellar's proposal that American oil should be denied to Great Britain unless Americans were permitted to exploit Mesopotamian fields, said:

"It is too absured to be worthy of serious consideration, and I am convinced the good sense of the American people will prevent them from regarding it as anything but an exhibition of childish petulance. The absurdity of the proposal lies in the fact that the American oil interests, if it were carried out, would be cutting off their nose to spite their face.

"They would be depriving themselves of their best foreign market and of enormous annual profits. At the same time it would reduce the balance of trade in favor of United States to the extent of not less than £50,000,000 a year. Moreover, such action would still further encourage, in fact it would compel, military and economic interests to make every possible effort to render themselves independent of American oil and thus permanently deprive the American producers of the profits they are now drawing from their export oil trade. But then, as I said before, I refuse to take the proposal seriously. It can only be Senator McKellar's idea of an international joke."

The Vienna correspondent of the Labor paper, the Daily Herald, sends a despatch which the paper published under the heading:

"The Standard Oil Rule, New Polish Dictator Their Servant."

The new Polish Dictator, according to the Herald correspondent, is Finance Minister Steczkowski, who is declared to have been invested with far-reaching authority to float Polish concessions on foreign markets.

"Thus," says the correspondent, "he has already enabled the Standard Oil trust to gain control of the Polish Naptha Corporation, a huge concern possessing about 15 per cent of all the Galician oil fields.

"t is reported on good authority that durng his visit to Warsaw last week, the American senator McCormick conducted negotiations with the Pilsudski government with a view to securing the whole Polish Railway system for Amercan capitalists.

"These negotiations were carried on secretly, and, I am informed, led to a result highly satisfactory to McCormick's Wall Street friends."

THINK THEY HAVE KICK

(Cranbrook Courier)

Tuesday evening a meeting of the Cranbrook Poultry Association was held in the council chamber, when important resolutions were passed for submission to the B.C.P.A. convention, which will be held at Vancouver January 12th and to which William Harvey has been named delegate.

"That the Cranbrook association view with disfavor the practice of Fernie association in insisting that exhibitors at the District show when held in Fernie must always become members of their local association, as we feel that providing an exhibitor be a bona fide member of any association affiliated to the Provincial Poultry Association he should be eligible and show on payment of entry fees. This has always been the practice when Cranbrook held the District show, and local fanciers have largely refused to show at Fernie because they do not reciprocate in this; and that Mr. Harvey is instructed to bring this matter up at the directors' meeting at Vancouver and at the convention."

"That the Cranbrook Poultry Association wish to express their sense of the serious need for the services of a poultry expert permanently established in the Kootenays and trust that the department of agriculture will be able to fill this need at an early date, and that Mr. Harvey be instructed to do all in his power to get the support of the convention for the same."

The annual meeting of the asociation will be held Tuesday evening, January 25, when efforts will be put forth for the carrying into effect of regular meetings and effecting a permanent show again in the district. The first week in December has been selected as the time of holding the next district show at this place.

J. F. Harbinson has been asked to address the members at the next meeting on some topic of local interest to district poultrymen. — Cranbrook Courier.

PASSING OF CRANBROOK LADY

(Cranbrook Courier)

The Courier this week chronicles the death of Mrs. J. T. Millar, the circumstances of whose passing is the most pathetic this paper has been called on to record in a long time. Last Sunday at noon a child was born. A day or two later complications set in developing acute inflammation of the liver, death occurring at 4 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Eugene hospital.

Deceased was in the 31st year of her age and had been a resident of Cranbrook for a number of years, previous to her marriage being stenographer in the employ of Harvey, McCarter & Macdonald, barristers and solicitors, and later at Fernie with Lawe & Fisher. The late Mrs. Millar was a daughter of Richard Hirtz, of Elko, an old and respected resident of East Kootenay and for years engaged in business at Fort Steele.

The bereaved husband, who has been for a number of years day operator at the C.P.R. yard office, will have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in this, his hour of affliction.

Two brothers and one sister are also left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Ray, of Elko, and Harold of St. Louis, Missouri. The sister, Esther, of Boise Idaho, arrived in the city Friday evening to be present at the funeral obsequies.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the famly residence, Burwell avenue, to St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, where an impressive funeral service will be conducted, the deceased being a devoted Catholic and faithful worker for the diocese.

THE MORE PAY THE LESS THE PRODUCTION

James Vick, business agent of the Bricklayers' Union, Toronto, denies the report that bricklayers are now putting up 1000 brick per day in place of 650 as has been the custom for the past year or so. Presumably union bricklayers are very much alike throughout Canada. Such being the case they are not earning their union wage of $1 per hour, and, of course, will not reap the benefit of full employment for the people are not all fools. Back in 1909 bricklayers at any ordinary straightaway work were accusttomed to lay from 1100 to 1200 brick in the eight hour day and received 55 cents per hour. In 1916 the wage was around 65c per hour and the output was cut to 900 brick per day. By 1920 the wage rate had been advanced to $1 per hour and production had been cut to 650 brick per day or less. Of course, this is merely being at work without working, and means high production costs without any accruing benefit to anybody or anything.

If this is going to be the general disposition of the building trades the people who would build under anything like normal conditions will merely continue to keep their money out at interest and remain content with things as they are.

The philosophy of the man who will stay on the job in place of working at the job is beyond understanding. Certainly he can be no happier and no more contented with his lot. In any event he is merely standing in his own light, and incidentally beating himself out of many a good job.—Saturday Night.

I desire to express my thanks for the confidence reposed in me by the electors on Thursday, and will at all times do my utmost to merit that confidence. Thanking you,

Wm. Currie.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our daughter Bertha Reuter, who died Jan. 9th, 1920.

A bitter grief—a shock severe,
We little knew death was so near;
Only those who've lost are able to tell
The pain that's felt at saying farewell

—Mr. and Mrs. John Reuter.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of William Taylor Stewart, beloved son of James and the late Mary Ann Stewart, of Fernie, B.C., who died at Nordegg, Alberta, Jan. 17, 1918.

We mourn the absent voice and face,
That made home doubly dear;
But memory fills the vacant place,
And keeps him ever near.

WIFE DIES BLAMES SOVIET

BERLIN, Jan. 11—"Communism in Russia is robberism; it tolerates imprisonment, persecution and execution without trial; it has brought Russia starvation, disease and death. There is no government. It is a worse autocracy than czaristic government and I lived for over 20 years under the czar." Mr. Schwartz, American Socialist, of San Francisco, recently released from four months imprisonment in Moscow, declared today. With his wife, known 20 years in America as a socialist worker under the name of Jesse M. Molle, he went to Russia last June and attended the second congress of the third internationale.

The couple were thrown into prison August 6th because they failed to approve conditions in Russia. They were released December 3 after Mrs. Schwartz went on a hunger strike, and sent word to Lenine, Trotzky and Tchitcherin that she preferred to have her death advertised to the working classes of America rather than suffer further hardships.

Mrs. Schwartz died at Reval December 20 from the effects of her experiences and her husband is returning to America to give even worse pictures of conditons in Russia than many Italian, British and German delegates to the congress of the third intarnationale have painted.

"Before I went to Rusia," he said, "I came to Berlin and visited Mrs. Karl Liebknecht to express my sympathy with her over the death of her husband. Now I have come to see her again and tell her communist leaders in Russia have killed my wife and that I am going to America to tell the working people the truth about the soviet government which I formerly supported."

"I want to tell them what that second congress of the third internationale was. It was only Zinovieff, Bukharin, Lenine and Trotzky. It was all cut and dried. Members were told what action to take, and they did not dare do otherwise."

Before their imprisonment Mr. Schwartz and his wife visited Samara, Tambov, Nizhni-Novgorod, Tula, Kazan and many other centres. Schwartz was sent to Russia by Otto Branstetter, executive secretary of the socialist party of America, to nvestigate.

Describing the early part of his visit he said:

"Everywhere we went we were met by brass bands and crowds waving red flags shouting for the soviet government. But from the moment we landed in Petrograd we saw misery, dilapidotion and squalor.

"I began talking to persons of all classes and I soon found that the shouting crowds had to shout or their food ration would be reduced or taken away."

"RED FOAM"

Ralph Ince's latest Selznick Production, "Red Foam," is announced for the first presentation in Fernie at the Orpheum theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Back of this statement, which will no doubt be received with much pleasure by those who delight in following the screen and its people, are many facts which should go to prove that "Red Foam" is quite out of the ordinary.

The story, by William H. Hamby, created a great popularity for the author when it appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and in its transfer to the screen it is said to have lost none of its original dramatic power and intensity.

"Red Foam" deals with the people of a typical small Misouri town. Its characters are all true to life and not caricatures. Harry Tighe, in the role of a philandering traveling salesman, is said to have created a part that will stand for a long time as one of the most original and true-to-life portrayals seen on the screen.

The story derives its title from the attitude of the people in the story whose blood boils up and the red foam of passion comes to the surface owing to a series of most dramatic incidents which culminate in a climax of whirlwind ferocity.

OPEN YOUR EYES

A PLAY THAT WILL MAKE A NATION LOSE ITS SLEEP

The Decade's Most Important Picture

A romantic story of LOVE BETRAYED

ITS POWER IS IRRESISTIBLE

"SWEET NELL."

Sir Peter Lely's Brush Makes Her a Rogue and Enchantress.

The new roomful of portraits which the National Gallery has borrowed from its next-door neighbor, the National Portrait Gallery, is astonishing in its range, beginning, as it does, with Henry VII. and ending with Henry James. Between these two Henries are some of the most notable figures in English history, both highroad history and by-way; but no lineaments so remain in my own mind as those of Nell Gwynn in Lely's presentment of her.

The overseas soldiers who seem to be doomed to return home without seeing either the Wallace Collection or the Tate should remember that the National Gallery, even although half of it is still closed, is full of interest. As I was saying in the London Daily Express not long ago, many of the masterpieces are now on view, while this new room constitutes a condensed Valhalla that should not be missed. For it contains not only some of our best portraiture, but our best personages, too.

Lady Jane Grey is here; Henry VIII, and two of his queens: Catherine of Aragon and Anne Boleyn; Mary Queen of Scots, Sir Walter Raleigh and Sir Thomas Gresham; Queen Mary, when a princess, with some miraculously bad spelling across her picture and few indications that her fame was to be so sanguinary; Queen Elizabeth, all resplendent, as usual in her portraits, in brocade and embroidery points; near her her darling Leicester and Shakespeare. The painters of the foregoing were principally foreigners, imported for the purpose (not all of whom to-day would be free from internment) but with Cromwell English artists came in. Robert Walker painted him and Sadler painted John Bunyan. The Duke of Buckingham, Nell Gwynn and the Countess of Shrewsbury are by Lely, and the Duke of Monmouth after execution—a very beautiful head—is by Kneller. Not the least attractive picture is Wolfe, by an unknown, but an accomplished and subtle hand. Sir John Moore is by Lawrence, Nelson by Abbott, Cardinal Manning by Watts, Irving by Bastien Lepage (a fascinating work.) Finally we come to Henry James, who qualified for the National Portrait Gallery by becoming a naturalized Briton just before his death, by Mr. Sargent.

But Mistress Eleanor Gwynn (who was buried in St. Martin's Church, hard by), what of her? Sir Peter Lely's brush makes it abundantly clear that she was a rogue and an enchantress, and also that for all her orange selling at Drury Lane (or herring selling, according to Rochester) she could put on the fine authoritative lady. Boldness, mischief, generosity and love of life are all discernible in those victorious features, but one has difficulty in visualizing her in laughter, when, the chroniclers say, her eyes would almost totally disappear. It is difficult also, looking at this portrait, to reconcile Pepy's constant diminutives—"little Nelly" he so often calls her. She was, as a matter of fact, short and plump. Whether or not it was Nell Gwynn who induced Charles II to establish the Chelsea Hospital for old soldiers the historians cannot determine, but, looking at the portrait, one feels sure that even if she did not suggest it, it was just the sort of humane thing that might easily have occurred to her. Personally I side with the faction that believes her to have done so, anl I hope that all the soldiers who go to see this collection will give her a specially kindly glance in consequence.—E. V. Lucas.

Initial Combinations.

The collection of initials and initial combinations which have become current since the war is a severe strain on the alphabet, and the result is rather perplexing at times.

For instance, "M.P." once stood prominently for Member of Parliament; now it stands equally for Military Police (not to mention Mince Pies). "C.B." is Confined to Barracks rather than Caught Bending. There is a bad double on the letters "C.O.," which may signify Commanding Officer or Conscientious Objector. Inverted, they give Officer Commanding or "Old Contemptible."

To attach "R.A." to your name does not necessarily imply you can paint. It may imply Royal Artillery, and that you can shoot. "W.O." used to mean walk over. It does still, in a sense; but it is the walk-over of the War Office that comes to our mind. And imagine confounding the Army Ordinance Department with the Ancient Order of Druids? "A.O.D." signifies either.

Perhaps "P.C." is the hardest-worked combination of all. It stands for Privy Councillor and Police Constable, Parish Council and Perpetual Curate, postcard and petty cash. To which may be added pie-crust, push-cart, parish church, poor chap, and pickled cabbage.—Tit-Bits.

Gen. Ironside.

According to the newspapers, Gen. Ironside, now commanding in North Russia, passed as a Boer during the German Herrero campaign, and was in charge of native convoys which attacked German forces. His object was to study German methods of fighting in Africa. He was never suspected as he speaks Dutch fluently.

When Gen. Ironside was leaving at the end of the campaign he had a dispute concerning certain payments due him. After one Prussian officer had blustered loudly, another struck Gen. Ironside across the face with his whip. The general controlled himself with a supreme effort because he had complete maps and notes about the whole campaign stitched inside his tunic.

Pessimist vs. Optimist.

Here is another illustration of the difference between the pessimist and the optimist: "A pessimist is a man who believes that it will take centuries for the world to recover from the blow to civilization; and an optimist is a man who retorts that there will be plenty of centuries."

VANCOUVER MAN GETS SURPRISE

Fine Results he got from Taking Tanlac was more than he Expected.

"It certainly is wonderful how quickly the right medicine will get a person to feeling right again," said G. A. Almofsky, of 456 15th Avenue, Vancouver, B. C., well-known motor mechanic for the Province Motor Co.

"About a year ago I first noticed my stomach was getting out of order and I kept on getting worse right along until I got to where I could hardly eat anything without suffering from indigestion. I couldn't eat much, sometimes the smell of food would make me so sick I couldn't eat anything, and when I did eat a little it just seemed to turn to gas. I had a burning sensation from the pit of my stomach clear up into my throat, and the gas bloated me up until I could hardly breathe and caused a terrible pain in my side. I had headaches nearly all the time, sometimes was almost blind with them, and I was so nervous I couldn't get a good night's sleep. I always started the day's work so tired I could hardly move and sometimes I was constipated for several days at a time.

"Hearing so much about Tanlac, I decided to try it and the way it helped me was the surprise of my life. After taking only one bottle my indigestion was gone and now I seem to eat enough for two men and never have the least pain or distress of any kind. I never have a headache, am not nervous any more, sleep like a log every night and get up mornings ready for a hearty breakfast and a big day's work. In fact, Tanlac has releived all my troubles, made me feel just like I wanted to feel, and I want to say Tanlac is the medicine I intend to use in my home from now on."

COMET'S RETURN

AFTER 5893 YEARS, COMET COMES IN JUNE AND MAY CONTAIN BIG SURPRISES

LONDON, Jan. 10—A warnng is issued by Dr. Andrew Crommelin, an eminent astronomer, assistant at the Greenwich Observatory, of the danger to the earth from a comet next June. This Comet's orbit is being pushed nearer the earth in each of its appearances, due to the influence of Jupiter. It makes an appearance every 5893 years, and its pathway extneds from about the sun's ecliptic orbit to a point where Jupiter performs its revolutions.

Astronomers are expecting its appearance in July this year, but Pro. Crommelin says June. It is now travelling hundreds of miles a minute, head-on for the earth.

"If the actual date of intersection of the paths of the earth and comet were June 26, there would be a collision," he says. "We wouldn't be wiped out, but there would be the biggest shower of meteors ever seen, with possible damage to property and life.

Crommelin thinks the chances of collison are not great. He smiles at the beleif of layman in a collision of a comet and the earth as being fatal to the earth. Scientists pointed out years ago that comets are composed largely of gases, while a collision is the cause of tremendous atmospheric disturbances. Yet the comet in the mass does not penetrate earth's atmosphere.

Even as it is, with the comet coming so close to the earth, astronomers are preparing for new discoveries regarding heavenly tramps, and laymen expects an unusual display of meteors.

The Musk Rat.

The musk rat, as its name would indicate, is a species of rat. It is found nowhere but in America. Its body is shaped like that of the ordinary rat, but instead of the short, close hair of the land species, it is covered by a thick reddish-brown fur, and because it lives much in the water it has webbed toes. Although very awkward on land, it is lively and playful in water, and is a great swimmer and diver.

Evolution of Clothes Terms

Dozens and dozens of clothes terms there are that indicate the evolution of clothes among our ancestors. Petticoat, which has been used as a not very respectful synonym for women in general, was a garment for men originally, and was the undercoat worn beneath the heavier overcoat. It was fairly long, and eventually the word came to be applied to the garments that evolved from this "petti," or small coat.

Beliefs Concerning Sneezing.

According to Aristotle, if a man was sick sneezing once forbode his death, but sneezing twice his recovery. If the patient was a woman the rule worked the opposite way. A traveler in the woods was threatened with an attack by brigands if he sneezed once, while sneezing twice presaged a happy journey. As a rule, the person sneezing twice in succession will be lucky, but unlucky if it occurs once.

ROSE FROM THE RANKS

ENLISTED AS PRIVATE AND BECAME ACTING COLONEL.

The Story of Major John Girvan Who Carried the Colors of the Famous "Fifteenth Battalion" Into Germany—He Was a Real Civilian Soldier.

JOHN GIRVAN left Valcartier in 1914 a private in Company A, 48th Highlanders. From August, 1918, until Armistice Day he was in command of Toronto's "famous Fifteenth." He carried the colors into Germany last December, and he returns to Toronto as Major John Girvan, M.C., D.S.O., Croix de Guerre, the respected second in command of the Highlanders' unit.

It is given to few men to "carry on" through four years on the fields in France, but John Girvan has not only fought through these years—he has given to Scotland and Canada a wonderful service—the service of a "charmed" life, the gallantry of a Sir Galahad, the undaunted pluck and grit of his native Island of Bute, and the best of a born brain for leadership.

His career to military glory had a romantic beginning, too. With W. Sparks, manager at the Toronto General Post Office, and father of Douglas Earl Sparks, his best chum, John Girvan was holidaying at Duncan Lake, in the Gowganda district, in August, 1914. The campers heard of the outbreak in Europe, but canoeing and fishing banished the start of the world conflagration from their minds until Mr. Sparks was notified by wire to come home if he wanted to see Earl before he left for overseas.

When Mr. Sparks came home, he found that Earl was at Valcartier.

Later, when the first contingent was about ready to leave, Mr. Sparks confided to John Girvan that he was going to Valcartier to say goodbye to Earl.

"I'll get a day off," said Girvan "and go with you."

It was a lovely fall evening at Valcartier when John Girvan saw his pal swinging down the line of a company in the Scot uniform.

Without a word John Girvan turned to Mr. Sparks: "You take my clothes home. I am not going back. I am going with Earl."

Mr. Sparks brought John's business suit to Toronto, and John sailed away a Highlander under Corpl. Sparks, in the famous Fifteenth.

It was the great sorrow when Earl fell at Ypres in April, 1915, but Pte. Girvan carried on right into Germany.

His decorations give slight recognition of his real service. It is known only to a few. True, he has been specially mentioned in despatches at various times, and his high ability has been recognized in flattering terms on his military papers, but Major Girvan and his parents are of the soldier stock, and they don't talk.

An awful night before a disastrous engagement some of the men of the Fifteenth under Girvan were new to the trenches, dispirited, and somewhat nervous. In the glare of the light from the Hun line the officer mounted the parapet and walked along the "suicide" path, with no thought for himself—with an order here, a word of encouragement there and a cheering, nonchalance that brought the morale of the line to the highest pitch. "It was not the danger to himself that counted with us," said one, "but it was that princely thoughtfulness for the men."

It is the story of a Scottish boy who found himself in Toronto. John Pollard Girvan was born on the west coast of Scotland, on Kilcahatton Bay, Isle of Bute, in November, 1885. After a brief schooling at home he took a short course at Edinburgh, when his father, Archibald Girvan, decided to move to Toronto. John came out in 1906, and that fall went to the post office. It was but a short time before the then Deputy Postmaster recognized his ability, "He made himself at once a very valuable man." On the night shift there had been considerable friction, and John Girvan was picked out over older members to take charge of the city sorting staff on the night side. His judgment, fairness and firmness were demonstrated, for the affairs of the department were soon running smoothly.

His prowess with the boxing gloves and his ability to organize and help in the concerts of the staff were recognized by numerous presentations to him. It was at this time that John began taking an interest in sculling, and, joining the Argonaut Club with Joe Wright and Capt. Sinclair and "Tommy" Carson, he developed into an oarsman of merit. As a bow-man Girvan had few equals. In 1911 he rowed bow in the champion junior eight, and the following year he won the eight-oar at Montreal. When the Argonauts were the champion fours of Canada in 1913 Girvan was a member of the crew.

When the big scrap was called in Europe Girvan dropped the oar here and put on the mitts for a round with the Hun, and he stayed for the "knock-out" count. When he was wounded at Courcelette in 1916, and sent home for three months, his friends urged him to quit. His bit had been done and done well, for he had his field promotions then. He enjoyed his furlough, talked only of his men, and went quietly back to his post in France. He has been there ever since, and it was entirely fitting that the signal honor of carrying the colors from London to Brussels was given to the major who had taken Col. Bent's place last August, and had so successfully carried the battalion's destiny through the big fall offensive. He was also in charge of the Highland troops of the Third Brigade when they were reviewed by King Albert at Liege.

Major Girvan had no military training previous to his enlistment in this war. He is a real civilian-soldier.

NO SKATING AT CSANBROOK ON SUNDAY

(Cranbrook Herald)

The incident at the open air skating rink last Sunday was treated a little incorrectly in an issue of the Nelson News this week. "Police at Cranbrook Take Blue Law View of Sunday Skating," does not reflect at all the rights of the incident. Any decision that was taken in the matter was not arrived at by the police nor in fact by the police commission. At the time the open air rink scheme was advanced the question of allowing its use on Sundays was anticipated by the committee in charge, and if there was no recorded decision on it, there was a tacit understanding that the best thing to do with the vexed question would be to have the rink in operation only six days a week. The police commission, learning that such an understanding undoubtedly existed, were unanimously of the opinion that it should be lived up to.

A debt you owe to yourself, to your family, to the community, to the nation, to mankind, is to see the national film sensation, "OPEN YOUR EYES."

BIG SPIEL HUGE SUCCESS

(The results of the play in the five open events up to the time of going to press are shown on Page Four.)

The Annual Bonspiel of the Crow's Nest Pass Curling Association brought to Fernie the largest attendance of visiting curlers in this history of the Association. Not only are they the largest in numbers but the best set of sports that Fernie has ever had the honor of entertaining.

Fully one hundred outside players have been in attendance and they all seem to have enjoyed themselves every momnt of their stay with us. This beats the record for the Pass and also it can be said that it has been one of the most successful bonspiels ever held west of Winnipeg, Calgary not being able to entice as many visiting rinks to her big rink and other winter attractions.

The weather at one time threatened to spoil the nine sheets of ice, but yesterday and today the sheets have greatly improved and the games being played at this writing for positions in the final-semils are the best of the series.

Th scores have been so evenly divided as to keep nearly all the rinks in the running until last night, thus keeping the interest alive all along the line. Olivier, of Blairmore, dropped out on Tuesday, and McPhee, of Cranbrook, also followed the same night. The withdrawal of Prentice's rink on Wdnesday through the bereavement suffered by their skip in the loss of his child, made the third vacancy in the list of rinks. Rhodes, of Pincher Creek, came in on Thursday to take part in the International competition but was defeated and so was out of the game.

Many exhibitions of splendid curling skill were displayed during the week, and many games were so closely contested as to be in the balance until the last rock was thrown.

From Coleman came three rinks:

J. Paulson, Rev. D. K. Allen, G. Powell, A. Beck, skip.

George Kellock, Alex. Morrison, Sam Moore and McBurney, skip.

J. O'Neil, J. Wilson, Dr. Lillie, and Olivier, skip.

Lthbridge sent us six rinks—

Yates, Freeman, Shepherd and Duff, skip.

M. E. Collins, C .D. Steves, H. R. Miles and C. Carberry, skip.

R. A. Smith, W. L. McKenzie, W. Scott and L. W. Clarke, skip.

J. T. Graham, H. Pilling, Dr. Leech and Kirkham, skip.

Simpson, skip.

C. H. Mesinger, A. E. Quayle, C. W. Cochlan and Crumley, skip.

B. D. Husamore, E. Stitt, R. B. Snider and J F. Snider, skip.

Mocleod had but one rink in the game but it was a rustler:

F. Perkins, J. Baird, A. Dunn and R. W. Russell, skip.

Taber was well represented with four rinks, amongst whom old Fernie acquaintances were glad to see two old Fernieites, Ed. Wildman and Neil McKellar.

The rinks were:

Clarence Hall, John Robinson, E. Wildman and J. A. Ross, skip.

W. Porteous, Ed. Sparks, J. J. Billigniere and H. A. Beard, skip.

E. Veneville, W. Lane, Malson and R. Patterson, skip.

Claresholm sent two good rinks:

R. Brock, T. Dodds, C. D. Walker R. E. Moffatt, skip.

LIQUOR SALE REGULATIONS

The curtain has been raised just a trifle and the public given a glimpse of the regulations under which the sale and consumption of liquors, including beer of a certain strength, will be legal within the bounds of the Province of British Columbia. The order of bygone days is to be completely reversed. Then the manufacturers and the vendors, from wholesalers down, were licensed and taxed in the prosecution of their trade; now it is the consumer who will be licensed and taxed. It hardly could be expected that this or any government would overlook an opportunity of the kind for turning an honest penny. Hotels will be permitted to sell beer of a given standard of strength within their dining rooms as a beverage. Presumably a license will be exacted for such privilege, and doubtless none but reputable houses will be accorded it.

There does not seem to be any question that an enormous revenue will be derived under the operation of such a measure. Money will pour into administrative coffers from several sources, two of them of great potential power — from the persons licensed to consume and from profits on the articles consumed. In the days before prohibition swept all bars out of existence the municipalities controlled the liquor business and derived considerable profit from the sale of licenses to purvey. But they had, as they have today, to shoulder the responsibility and meet the expense of enforcing the law. Their duties will remain the same under government license and sale. Consequently it is fair to assume that municipalities under the new system will be restored to their former status and given, if not the whole, at least a considerable part of the profits derived from the sale of liquor within their boundaries. This suggestion is surely eminently fair and reasonable. Indeed, it is a matter of justice. The government has given an undertaking to restore at least a portion of the revenue it has been taking from the municipalities. It should avail itself of this most excellent opportunity.

Having made such ample provision for revenue-raising in the bill itself, the government ought to be in a position to sell wholesome liquor to consumers at very reasonable prices. There should be no suspicion of profiteering connected with the business. As to the matter of allotting a limited amount to the individual, that will prove a very difficult undertaking. Anyone who indulges to excess easily can be reached and regulated through his permit or license.—Colonist.

INFORMATION BUREAU

Report of Information Bureau for season of 1920:

Letters received between 500 and 600 each asking for literature and information, 240 of which required written answers in addition to literature.

Addressed and mailed out singly 6000 Associated Boards booklets.

Parcelled in lots of 6 to 25 about 150 parcels of booklets which went to the leading Auto Clubs and Chambers of commerce throughout the States and Canada.

Number of tourists who registered 212, whose combined parties numbered 641. This does not represent the total number of callers at the bureau as there were many others who would not register. There is no doubt that if our banner had been in a more conspicuous place the number of visitors would have been considerably in excess of this. Most of them expressed their appreciation of the services of this office.

Placed signs along the road denoting names of the mountains and streams which also caused very favorable comment.

Located five camping sites between Crow's Nest and Morrissey, which the Forestry Department cleared, built fire places in and put up signs.

Took up the matter of trails with the Forestry Department, who cleared the trails up Mount Fernie, Trinity Mountain and Mount Hosmer. They have also promised that during 1921 they will clear trails up to the Lizard Range and also make additional camping sites and still further beautify the existing ones.

Suggested to the President of the Theodore Roosevelt Highway Association that an effort be made to connect up that highway with the Canadian highway at Portal and then come on through here and go south via Gateway to Columbia Falls and again join the Roosevelt highway. He took this up with their directors, who were very much in favor of it. An organization was formed to attend to this—in connection with the U.S. interests—and it was suggested that it be called "The North Star Trail—Chicago to Fernie," and that the Canadian end be left to me to organize. This is now being considered by the communities interested. Correspondence about this at the end of this report.

NEW COUNCIL HOLD SESSION

The first regular meeting of the city council for 1921 took place on Monday, Jan. 17, with all the members present but Aldermen Douglas and Currie.

Chief Lawson reported that he objected to the renewal of licenses for the Royal Hotel and the Imperial Hotel.

Applications were received from Samuel Whitehouse and Angelo Rizzuto for licenses for the Queen's Hotel and Imperial Hotel respectively.

The Department of Labor wrote stating that the Dominion government would be responsible for one-third of the relief granted in connection with unemployment.

The minutes of the meeting held on Jan. 11 were adopted.

Currie-Irvine—That Chief Lawson be authorized to collect hotel licenses forthwith.

The regular meeting of the council for 1921 will take place on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays of each month.

The following comittees were appointed for 1921:

Finance — Aldermen Irvine and Douglas.

Fire and Water—Aldermen Corrie and Currie.

Park—Aldermen Robichaud and Bean.

Assessment—Ald. Currie and Irvine.

Health—Aldermen Douglas and Irvine.

Public Works—Aldermen Currie, Douglas and Robichaud.

The first named in each case to be chairman and the Mayor to be ex-officio a member of all committees.

The following were also appointed as members of the Court of Revision: Chairman, Mayor G. G. Henderson; Aldermen J. Ben, W. Robichaud, W. Currie, H. E. Douglas, A. Corrie and J. S. Irvine.

A rebate of 50c will be allowed all persons who pay dog tax not later than April 30.

Ald. J. S. Irvine was appointed acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Henderson.

Moved by Corrie and Irvine:

Whereas it is a fact that cattle condemned for tuberculosis have up to the present been sold for human consumption,

And, whereas, it is the unanimous opinion of the medical and veterinary associations that such a condition should not exist in the public interest,

And, whereas, there seems to be a conflict of authority between the Federal and Provincial governments in respect thereof,

Be it resolved, that the Provincial Secretary be urged to take up the question without delay with the Federal authorities to make it impossible to have cattle which have been condemned for tuberculosis sold for human consumption.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

HOCKEY GIRLS DEFEATED

(Calgary Albertan)

Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a ladies' hockey game in this city the Fernie ladies went down to defeat before the fast travelling Regents, in a hockey fixture played at the Arena in connection with the winter carnival. The game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, but lack of practice showed up greatly on the Fernie team. These ladies from the west put up a stiff argument and with a little more practice will take some beating. The Regents showed great team play and were in better condition than the visitors.

The game started off at a great speed, much to the surprise of the fans. The goal tender of the Fernie team, Miss B. Hilling, put up a good exhibition considering it was the first time she had ever played goal in her life, and it was only on a pretty individual piece of work by Mabel Shortt that the Regents managed to score in the first period. In the second period the game was very even, both teams missing a few nice chances to score. The third period proved to be the fatal period for the Fernie aggregation as they fell down while the Regents tucked the game away by scoring two more.

These last two tallies were scored by Ethel Loucks who was playing a wonderful game at centre for the Regents. There would not be much choice of stars from the winners lineup all of the team playing an exceptionally good game.

For the losers Florence Miles, the speed demon of the Fernie lineup, played a wonderful game and received round after round of applause from the grand stand for her clever stick handling and hookchecking often bordering on the sensational. This young lady along with M. Dragon proved the greatest obstacle the Regents had to overcome. The rest of the team put up a game fight and lack of condition and team play showed up on them greatly.

After the game the Regents entertained their guests at supper in the board of trade rooms, where a merry time was had by all until the Fernie team departed for home.

The lineup:

REPORTS ON CONDITIONS IN THE KOOTENAYS

Walter Drinnan, provincial secretary of the G.W.V.A., who has recently returned to the coast from a trip through the Kootenays and on through Southern Alberta, reported that he did not find anywhere, excepting perhaps at Nelson, a really serious unemployment problem. At Nelson, he said, there is some need for relief, a number of returned men finding themselves in straitened circumstances. The demand for help is limited everywehere, he says, and what does exist is quickly satisfied, but there is not a serious problem in the Kootenays in this regard as the coast and other places.

The provincial secretary was much impressed with the provincial convention of the Alberta G. W. V. A., which was held at Medicine Hat and which he attended. The provincial members co-operate in a splendid monner with the association in that province, and a number of members were present at the sessions.

Contrary to the general impression Mr. Drinnan points out that the new president of the Alberta provincial command is not in favor of the $2000 bonus scheme, but does favor the issuing of further gratuities as outlined in the plan submitted at the G.W.V.A. Dominion convention at Montreal.

Mr. Drinnan reports the different locals of the G.W.V.A. to be in a flourishing condition.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce

ADDRESS OF THE GENERAL MANAGER AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BANK

Sir John Aird gives a comprehensive review of the affairs of the Bank for the past year, alludes to the difficulties caused by the exchange situation and the instability of prices, but demonstrates the sound and steady progress made by the Bank.

We have now entered upon a period such as has been looked for ever since the war ended—one of lessened activity in business and falling prices—and the statement which we present to you to-day is, except in a comparatively few particulars, curioulsy devoid of important changes from that of a year ago.

Greater Profits.

The net profits of the year amounted to $3,306,243.97, an increase of $231,351.25, although the resources of the Bank have shown little growth. The addition to our profits has been the result, partly of the activity of general business during most of the year and the consequent brisk demand for money which has kept all available funds fully employed, and partly of the fact that we have been fortunate in escaping serious losses. The condition which have prevailed in the markets for all staple commodities since the war ended—the extraordinary demand for goods and the high prices—have caused a strong demand for money. Now that the markets are becoming more normal and prices are faling, that demand is sure to lessen. We may therefore expect easier money conditions and a lower level of profits until business becomes more active.

In addition to the regular dividend we paid last December a bonus of one per cent. We have appropriated $350,000 towards the heavy taxes we are now called upon to pay the Goverments of the Dominion and of the various Provinces of Canada. We increased our appropriation for bank premises from $250,000 last year to $500,000 this year. The high cost of all building operations in this country, and our expenditures on premises for the foreign branches recently opened, make this a prudent step. We have transferred $150,000 to the Officers' Pension Fdnd.

Profit and Loss Account

After making these appropriations we have been able to cary forwad $1,783,979.37, or $356,243.97 more than last year. In view of the unsettled conditions at present prevailing in the business world, and the fall in prices which on more than one occasion has threatened to undermine the security for certain classes of loans, we think it well to carry a large unappropriated balance in Profit and Loss Account as a safeguard against unexpected contingencies. Up to the present we have been extremely fortunate, in that our interest has been negligible in those branches of business most directly affected by the heavy declines which have taken place.

The increase in our note circulation is $669,255., an indication of a large volume of current business, but a very small proportion of the total, which now stands at $30,716,914. As business slackens and prices fall we may naturally look for some reduction in this item. Our deposits stand, as a whole, at almost the same level as a year ago, the increase being only a little more than a quarter of a million dollars, but deposits bearing interest, the most stable part of deposit business, have increased by the large sum of $43,148,818. This is a gratifying and remarkable showing, particularly when considered in the light of the total subscriptions of customers of this Bank to the various Dominion Government War Loans, as reported by our branches namely:

1915..1st War Loan	$8,142,000
1916..2nd War Loan	18,001,400
1917..3rd War Loan	22,059,500
1917..1st Victory Loan	78,551,670
1918..2nd Victory Loan	104,474,950
1919..3rd Victory Loan	90,076,535
	$321,306,055

Notwithstanding the tremendous drain upon the deposits of this Bank which these huge subscriptions involved, we feel proud of the aid afforded by our customers to the Government in its war financing. Courage and foresight were needed by our branch managers when they saw their cherished and hard-earned deposits, gathered over a long series of years, melt away almost overnight, but the fact that the deposits of the Canadian public in this and all other banks are now double what they were at the outbreak of the war justifies the suport given to the Government in its loan campaigns, even from a narrow and selfish point of view, to say nothing of that of the national welfare.

Decreased Government Balances

On the other hand, our deposits not bearing interest have decreased by $42,875,453., an amount almost equal to the increase in our interest-bearing deposits. This is more than accounted for by the decrease in Dominion Government balances, which a year ago included a large part of the proceeds of the last Victory Loan. It must also be remembered that both the demand for money, and the restraint on the further inflation of credit which we have endeavored to exercise, tend to decrease the balances carried by business house and large commercial companies in their current accounts. Another cause which has militated against an increase in deposits has been the slow marketing of last year's grain. This tends also to keep up loans, for if the farmer does not pay his indebtness, the retailer is unable to pay the wholesaler, and the wholesaler must lean on the manufacturer. All along the line they will borrow from their bankers to the fullest extent possible.

Grain and Falling Markets

It is regrettable that the farmer, in this and other countries, should be counselled to hold his grain on a market which has fallen very rapidly since the time the harvest and has every appearance of continuing to do so in sympathy with the general trend of business. It is obviously a highly risky and unprofitable proceeding, and likely to end in increasing class bitterness. Unaware of the real cause that govern the decline in prices, the farmer wil be apt, naturally enough, to feel that all classe are working against him. The truth appears to be that, after so many years of rising prices, it has come to be accepted as an axiom that prices must continue to rise, and consequently in the very year in which all signs point in a downward direction, the unfortunate farmer feels constrained to hold his grain, unconscious of the meaning of the signs around him. There is nothing in the other items of our liabilities which calls for comment, save that we may say, in passing, that the reduction in acceptances under letters of credit no doubt reflects to some extent the difficulties which at the moment confront the foreign trade of this country. To this subject we shall refer again when dealing with the foreign exchanges.

Lines of Defence

During the year our holdings of specie have increased $566,854 and Dominion notes on hand, $3,952,361. There is no change in the amount deposited in the Central Gold Reserves under the heading either of gold coin or of legal tender notes. Total cash on hand has increased $4,519,215 and stands at 15.14 per cent of our liabilities to the public, with so-called quick assets at 44.50 per cent. of these liabilities. There has been a reduction in our investments and an increase in our loans. The reduction in the former consists of $33,763,822 in Dominion and Provincial Government securities and of $9,109,916 in British, foreign and colonial public securities and Canadian municipal securities. In both cases the reductions are due to the payment of war obligations by the Dominion and Imperial Governments. There has been an increase in call and short loans, both in Canada and elsewhere, the increase in the former case being merely a nominal one. In a time of uncertainty and instability sach as the present, it is well to strengthen all our lines of defence, and in the case of loans in New York, the principal call money market of this continent, this has occasioned less sacrifice of profits than is usual, as rates throughout the year have ruled at a high level for that market.

A Commanding Position

This Bank still holds a commanding position in the developement of Canadian trade and commerce, its current mercantile loans in Canada amountng to the large sum of $231,114,772., or $17,9.5,602 more than a year ago. Similar loans elsewhere have also increased by $1,924,956. The other items of assets show little change, except Bank Premises Account, which has increased $758,086 during the year our principal outlays in this connection being on premises for our foreign branches. Owing to the favorable position of the foreign exchanges we have been able to secure premises in Rio de Janeiro, Jamaica, Trinidad and Barbados at a very reasonable cost, and our office in Rio de Janeiro will be situated in the heart of the financial and business district of that important city. There has been an increase in our total assets of $1,116,418 a comparatively trifling amount.

Foreign Branches

In addressing you a year ago we pointed out that up till then we had been occupied with the promising openings for new branches in Canada, but that we hoped soon to give some attention to foreign fields. The policy we have followed in this respect has been one of caution, slow but sure, and we think that our judgment has been vindicated by the course of events, especially the unsettled financial conditions now prevailing in Cuba and South America. Our branch at Havana was the frst to be opened, and we are well satisfied with the progress so far made and with our prospects for the future. Kingston, Jamaica, came next in point of time, and there, too, our business shows excellent prospects. Our office was not opened at Bridgetown, Barbados, until after the close of the Bank's year, while in Rio de Janeiro and Port of Spain, Trinidad, although our managers and their staff are now on the spot, we have not yet opened for business. We believe, however, that our outlook in all these places is bright.

New York Exchange

Probably at no time in the history of this country have questions connected with foreign exchanges occupied so prominent a place in the public mind as during the past year. The closeness of our relations with the great English-speaking nation to the south of us has made the prevailing high premium on New York exchange a matter of moment to a very large number of Canadians. It has come before them not only as vitally affecting importers or exporters dealing with the United States, but also, among other things, as having a direct bearing on many investments which they hold or desire to buy or sell, and even as calling for serious consideration in connection with the cost of a holiday or other visit to that country. The very technicality of the subject, the mystery by which in the popular mind the working of the exchanges is surrounded, only serves to deepen the interest felt in it. In an endeavor to throw some light upon it, especially as connected with the prevailing high premium for New York funds, we issued during the year a series of advertisements dealing in as simple a manner as possible with some of the underlying elementary principles. These attracted widespread attention and were subsequently reprinted in the form of a small brochure for general distribution. The subject has, of course, many bearings and can be discussed from many pionts of view. As an instance we may point out that the premium on New York funds is an assistance to such of our exports as come into competition in the markets of the world with similar goods from the United States. To the extent of the premium the Candian producer can accept a lower price expressed in terms of a foreign currency, and will still receive as many dollars as does his competitor in the United States. During the closing part of the year, as you are doubtless aware, the rate of exchange on New York rose very high, reaching 19¼ per cent. on December 21st, the highest point on record.

Causes of High Rates

In addition to the causes usually assigned for this condition, which were commented on in our report last year, namely, excesive buying from the United States, especially of luxuries, and the payment of interest on our indebtedness to that country, the burden of which increases with every sale of Canadian securities, there are, I believe, one or two others which have played a considerable part in the recent rise. One of these is speculation on the stock exchanges, which has been so prevailent in some parts of Canada. When the stock speculated in are those dealt in on the New York market, calls for margins have to be responded to instantly, and the sudden demand thus created for New York funds has on several occasions been the cause of a sharp advance in rates. There are also at present large sums of money, belonging to banks and wealthy corporations in the United States, on deposit in the Canadian banks, awaiting a favorable exchange rate, and there has been a demand for the transfer of a large part of these in connection with the preparation of financial statements and other end-of-year requirements.

Not Canada Alone

It may, perhaps, be some consolation to reflect that Canada is not alone among the countries of the world in having to seek the solution of an exchange problem vitally affecting her trade. There are other parts of the British Empire with problems of a similar nature, but even more serious. Quite recently Australian banks have declined to remit in London funds for bills sent to Australia for collection or to negotiate commercial bills on Australia in London. The reason is a shortage of London funds, said to have arisen as a result of the suspension of the system of Government purchase and sale of the Australian wool clip. The old machinery for handling the wool has not yet been restored, and in the meantime some difficulty has occured in financing Australian imports. It is hoped that the situation will be relieved before long, wool and meats go forward. The situation in India, New Zealand and South Africa is of somewhat similar character, bpt not so pronounced.

Foreign Trade and Finance

It is unfortunate that these exchange difficulties should arise just at the time when strong efforts were being made to extend the foreign trade of Canada. Undoubtedly the situation as regards foreign trade is a most difficult one at the present time not only because of exchange questions but also because of the instability of the financial situation in many foreign countries. The collapse of sugar prices in Cuba and elsewhere is one instance of this, and in a period of falling prices all over the world it is admittedly a most difficult matter to extend foreign trade. Nor is the problem rendered any more easy of solution by the high level in Canada of all cost of production, including wages. As pointed out recently by a high authority in England, "only the country in which prices are comparatively low can have an export balance in its favor." It is to be feared, therefore, that until some readjustment of the situation takes place, there can be little probability of any material extension of our trade abroad.

Government Ownership

The important experiment has recently been tried by the Dominion Government of placing the management of the publicly-owned railway lines in Canada in the hands of a corporation, the ownership and control of which resides in the Government. The experiment is an interesting one, and bids fair to determine the feasability of successfully carrying on the business of a great corporation under government ownership. There have been many obstacles to overcome at the start, and the traffic conditions of the year have not facilitated the task of those in charge, but it is only fair that they should be given full opportunity to demonstrate their ability to carry on the enterprise and to make the experiment a success.

Hopeful Outlook

The year we have just passed through has been one of surprises. At its commencement the tide of rising prices seemed unchecked, andthe idea that a rapid fall was imminent was considered altogether preposterous. Yet this is exactly what has happened. Once again the seller is having to seek the buyer, instead of being besought by him. Probably one of the principal obstacles at the moment to the re-establishment of business on a more normal basis is the instability which prices have manifested during recent months. This condition, however, cannot be of long duration, and we may hope that before the winter has run its course it may be a thing of the past. Meanwhile we repeat once again what we have so often urged, that the whole world must aim to work hard and avoid extravagance if the damage caused to both property and credit by the late war is to be repaired.

THE "FLU" Dare Not Return

The "Flu" will certainly get a warm reception this winter if it dares show its ugly head in our peaceful midst, for the people are confident now that they can deal it such a smashing blow it will never survive. In every village, town and city in Canada, families are fortifying themselves with the greatest "Flu" ammunition known to science—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Colds, coughs, etc.—the advance guards of Flu—are met with withering fire, and relief from these troubles is sure every time. One hundred thousand Canadians are only too willing to testify to the great healing power this remedy contains. It has conquered coughs of 35 years' standing. It cannot fail to do for you what it has done for others. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, as it is sold under a money-back guarantee to banish coughs, colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma and prevent you from getting the "Flu." It is not a syrup, but a scientific mixture, 20 times stronger than any other cough cure. One dose gives instant relief. Price, 75 cents. Take no substitute. None genuine without my signature. SNIPING AT OUR INDUSTRIES

(Saturday Night)

The game of sniping at the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has become so popular in pulpit, press and platform that a stranger from Mars might imagine that the buccaneers of the Spanish Main were meek and devoted curates in comparison. When they were straining every effort to secure labor and paying higher wages than had previously been known, they were "profiteers"; now that world conditions have rendered readjustments both of wages and production inevitable, they are denounced as something worse. The percentage of people who take the trouble to seriously consider what the industries our manufacturers have created mean to the country as a whole, and what the Canadian Manufacturers' Association has done to help Canada "carry on," during the most difficult period in her history, is lamentably small. The dawn of a new year seems an appropriate time to survey the services of a much criticized class; and material for such a retrospect is to be found in a statement recently issued by the manager of the Intelligence Branch of the C. M. A.

Those who were privileged to know something of the worries which assailed the government of Canada during the long sustained crisis which bgean in the summer of 1914 are aware that the Armistice of November, 1918—though it brought great relief of mind, because slaughter had ceased, and fear of defeat forever ended—created a new set of anxieties for those entrusted with the task of administration. The question of how to weather through the period of reconstruction was an appalling one for mariners in charge of the ship of state. The task would have been an impossibility had they not been able to rely on the strong men of the country to keep their heads steady and render all the help they could. Upon the manufacturers of Canada a special pressure lay, for a sudden abatement of the large export trade that had been created during the war would have been disastrous. Moreover, popular sentiment in Canada as in all other countries, is curiously fickle and inconsistent. Any governmental measures to help and maintain other interests meet with popular approval; but steps to assist manufacturers to maintain production and wages, at once cause the cry of "Stop thief!" to be raised by every crank and every out-at-elbows politician in the land. Nevertheless, the record of the manufacturers in helping Canada to "carry on," have been splendid. If they had been the gross and bloated "profiteers" dear to cartoonists, they might have been expected to hibernate like the bear and live through the time of storm and trouble on their own fat.

They did nothing of the kind. During the two years that have elapsed since the armistice, they have spent more money in efforts to develop Canadian export trade than in any previous decade. Their enterprise was justified, because trade returns show that in the last financial year, exports of Canadian manufactured goods were ten times the total for the year immediately preceding the war. They practically equalled the exports of Canadian agricultural products—the total value of all exports having been about one billion, two hundred million dollars. Such figures are an answer to those who are inclined to regard other Canadian interests as negligible in comparison with agriculture.

How far our manufacturers will be able to keep up the pace during the coming year is, of course, problematical. But in many important lines in which she was not seriously regarded as a competitor for export trade seven years ago, the name of Canada is now established in the markets of the world. Competition is certain to increase as various European countries, in which industrial production was arrested, are restored to a producing and exporting basis.

But Canada is fortunate in one respect. Her machinery and organization for production and marketing are on a broader and more efficient basis than ever in the past. Since 1913 a government fleet of 63 steel freighters has come into existence with the definite purpose of serving as carriers of Canadian goods, and equipped with passenger accommodation and sample rooms primarily intended to assist in the Canadian campaign for wider markets. The factories of this country are much better equipped than they ever were in the past; and the labor problem, long a serious obstacle to trade ambition, is showing symptoms of solution. While it would be foolish to minimize the hazards that a prospective period of deflation hold, Canadian manufacturers if they persist in the same courageous courses that they have developed in recent years, should continue as a great and indispensible factor in Canada's progress.

These boys can raise more than wheat — rocks, for instance, when they are skillfully laid in their way by opposing culers.

From the west came four of Cranbrook's crack rinks, Cameron being one of the best skips on the ice, and Hogarth, Ward and McPhee all doing fine curling, though curlers' luck put McPhee out of the running early in the game.

Not an untoward incident of any kind transpired during the entire week to mar the harmony and good will which was an outstanding feature of the bonspiel. There was not a poor sportsman in the entire aggregation, every one seeming to have the comfort and happiness of everybody else in his special keeping.

Of the officials having the sports in charge, no one of them will dissent from the statement that S. Herchmer, both as a good curling sport and as a host could not be excelled in the work he contributed so much to render successful.

Some of the Blairmore curlers gave the small boys of Fernie something pleasant in the way of a shower of oranges and candies on the street, and it is safe to predict that the Fernie small boy will cherish the kindliest feeling for those generous visitors and will always look forward to the return of the bonspiel as an event worth looking for.

It would be impossible to get together 24 jollier sportsmen or better curlers than the six rinks from Lethbridge proved themselves to be. Every rink was a good one and when they went up against the other rinks the other rinks knew there was work to do, and when they ran up against each other the fight was fast and furious.

As a get-to-gether encourager, these bonspiels are proving of great value t oevery town which participates in them, and the spirit of real sportsmanship which has been so marked a feature ever since the institution of the Association, is growing stronger each year, as has been so evident during the Fernie meeting.

NOTES

The International competition, which is a closed event of one rink from each club, is down to the finals between McNab of Lethbridge and Kastner, of Fernie.

The International competition, which is a match between nine Alberta and nine B.C. rinks, was won by a margin of seven points by B.C. The 16 teams from B.C. are now playing down for the cup. The competition has reached the eights.

The Grand Aggregate is still in doubt with Kirkham and Cameron leading with 10 wins. M. A. Kastner, of Fernie, and Clarke, of Lethbridge, each have nine. Duff and F. C. Lawe are following with 8. No team is in more than two of the open competitions at the present time.

The banquet given by the curlers on Tuesday evening after the annual meeting was a most glorious affair. All the visitors were feeling good and enjoyed the program of humorous songs and speeches to the limit. The ladies of the city provided and served the supper, which certainly did them great credit. Arthur Ward, the newly elected president, of the Crow's Nest Pass Curling Association, acted as toastmaster.

Augmentation Bill Cameron was in the game for blood as usual and won seven straight without a loss, but he has been gradually slipping since. He is still in two open competitions.

Arthur Ward and Geo. Hoggarth the two old reliables from Cranbrook, were here as usual, but luck seemed to be running against them.

Perhaps the most spectacular finish to any game played during the bonspiel was that which was played between McDonald, of Fernie, against Cameron, of Cranbrook, in the McGrath Cup competition on Thursday night. Both Cameron and McDonald are skilled curlers and skips of many years' experience, and both have been playing good games during the week, and when they met last night a large crowd gathered to watch the playing of these two rinks. McDonald set the pace for the first two ends by scoring three. Then Cameron came back with a score of three in the next two ends. Each side added 5 to their score during the playing of the next seven ends, making it eight all coming home in the 12th end. McDonald succeeded in laying two rocks in good position, one on the T and one behind it near the inner circle. Cameron had one rock lying near the four foot circle but so placed that it was impossible to make a draw past it. Studying the rocks carefully he undertook a most difficult shot. He sent his last rock straight at his rock at the edge of the four foot circle and struck it so fairly as to send it against McDonald's rock on the T, knocking it out in the hope of lying shot himself. It was well conceived and so nearly executed that everybody held their breath until it was seen that he had missed doing the trick by a scant inch, McDonald's T rock being driven to one side just far enough to miss his other rock lying behind the inner circle, and Cameron's own rock missing it by a shave and going outside of the circle, leaving McDonald one rock ,which won the game. There have been many very fine plays during the week, but this spectacular ending of the game caused more excitement than any other, and even the bagpipes broke loose, joining the applause which was given Cameron for his skilful effort.

THE POWER OF WOMAN

Woman probably has no influence on the season's styles in pig-iron, or vitrified brick but she has a great deal to say about most lines of production. says the Vancouver World. Indeed it is estimated by a contemporary that she directs the consumption of 85 per cent of the wealth of the Anglo-Saxons commonwealths and probably nearly as much or that of other civilized nations.

Take the average pay envelope. The rent extracted from it is paid for a house built to suit a woman's ideas of what a house ought to be—the man who earned the money being lucky if some small closet in it is labelled "den" and given over to his exclusive use. The items in the grocer's and butcher's accounts which are supplied in part for his benefit, are the selections of the lady who superintends their arrival on the table. What the nominal head of the household spends on his own apparel even is soon spent with one eye on what the life-partner will think of his purchases. He may be allowed unrestricted choice of his cigars and tobacco and of an occasional book, but the newspapers and magazines to which he subscribes in the long run must be the magazines and newspapers the lady of the house wants. As for the destiny of the rest of his income let the department store, the dressmaker and the milliner tell the tale.

Perhaps it is just as well. Left to himself mere man would still be content with a smoky fire in a damp cave littered with the bones his dogs had gnawed. Today he lives in an apartment house with all the comforts of a radiator and no dog at all.

PRAIRIE DRY AFTER 24TH

(Lethbridge Herald)

No liquor will be accepted by the C.P.R. for points in Alberta, Saskatchewan or Manitoba after January 24. Announcement to that effect was made this morning in Superintendent C. D. MacKintosh's office. The announcement read:

"Under orders-in-council passed by the Dominion government at Ottawa on January 1, 1921, the importation of intoxicating liquors into the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba is prohibited after Jan. 31, 1921. Therefore effective Jan. 24 shipments of intoxicating liquors for importation into the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will not be accepted."

It will be remembered that announcement was made from Ottawa recently that importation would stop at the end of January. Since that time, particularly large shipments of liquor have been coming into Lethbridge and this morning a number of government officials estimated that liquor in store in this city now is valued at more than two million dollars. The new prohibition law does not close up these stores of which Lethbridge has four.

They are allowed to ship intoxicating liquor to British Columbia as long as their stock lasts and at present indications are that some of them will be doing business for a long time yet.

Facts are not disguised and words are not minced in this picture. The moralist must stand aside while the health officer rolls up his sleeves! The most daring and thrilling photoplay ever made See "OPEN YOUR EYES."

COSTANZO—TAVERNA

On Sunday last, Jan. 17, at the home of the bride's parents, Rosario, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Costanzo, was united in marriage to Tomasino, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Taverna, by Rev. EFFORT TO KEEP UP ENOUGH STEAM

Was so Run Down He Was Tired Out All the Time —Tanlac Restored Him, He Says

Still another well known railroad man to come forward with an unqualified endorsement for Tanlac, is Charlie Irvins, of 2050 York Street, Vancouver, B. C. Mr. Irvins is employed as fireman on the Canadian Pacific Railway, his run being from Vancouver to North Bend.

"Before I began taking Tanlac," said Mr. Irvins, "I was in a badly run down condition, and my appetite was so completely played out that often even the smell of food would nauseate me. Headaches nearly drove me frantic and at times my back pained so bad that it was an effort for me to keep a good head of steam in the old engine.

"Some days it was all I could do to hold out at my work, and at night I was so restless I could scarcely sleep. Many a morning I would get up feeling as tired as when I went to bed and I simply dreaded to go to work.

"Well, it wasn't but a little while after I started on Tanlac that I began to pick right up, and now since taking six bottles of the medicine my appetite is so big I can hardly eat enough to satisfy it. I haven't had a single headache since I finished the second bottle and the awful pain has entirely dissapeared from my back I've gained in weight and strength until I feel like my old self again and now get real pleasure out of my work. Tanlac has certainly built me and put me in fine condition and I'm glad of the opportunity to let others know what it's done for me."

Valley Lumber Co. who promised that they would not cut it. They suggested that the Board of Trade have a survey made of the timber to be reserved when they would have a blue print made and placed on their records.

Attended the Convention of The Good Roads League of B.C. at Nelson and was elected one of the directors of the league. This is the first time that South Eastern B.C. has ever been represented. The League has been successful in doing a lot of good for the mainland and the coast and now with representation on it's executive this district will have a better chance to obtain more consideration from the Government for it's various needs through the leagues recommendations. Wrote articles varying from 1000 to 4,000 words descriptive of this district which appeared in papers and magazines devoted to motoring and having circulation covering all of the northwest of the American Continent. These articles brought many applications for further information, and several of these papers have requested fresh articles for this year.

Secured the co-operation of the Tourist Bureaus at Yellowstone Park Helena and Great Falls resulting in a considerable number of tourists to Yellowstone Park and Glacier Park being directed this way last summer, and expect there will be a steady increase from those places.

Received from the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association weekly lists of the names and addresses of people asking for motoring, fishing and hunting information in B.C. and during the summer sent our literature to 488 of them and wrote about 50 letters to those who asked for specific details. This in addition to the correspondence mentioned in the first paragraph of this report.

Arranged for a weekly exchange of bulletins on roads conditions with all the large centres which enabled this office to give very accurate information.

Called the attention of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. to their neglect of this district in all their literature and after considerable correspondence secured the definite promise from their publicity department that this district will receive full represntation in their future publications.

Made periodical trips to all the camp sites and met as many of the campers as possible, in this way was able to induce several parties to extend their stay in this vicinity.

Had arranged for a tour from Walla Walla during August and was told that about 30 cars had entered for it. Arrangements had all been practically completed, then at the last minute it had to be abandoned owing to the shortage of gasoline. There is every possibility of the tour being made during this summer. There was also a large party intending to come from New Orleans, they did not come for the same reason.

THE NORTH STAR TRAIL

Minot, N.D., Nov. 22, 1920

Mr. J. F. Spalding,
Fernie, B. C.

My dear Mr. Sgalding:

At a meeting of business men from along the Soo Line Railway in North Dakota, held at this place on the 17th inst. the following officers were elected for the North Dakota Division of a proposed motor trail from Chicago to Fernie, B. C.

Pres. Geo. H. Phelps, Bowbells, N.D. Vice-Pres. W.W.Lyness, Fessenden,N. D., Sec-Treas., Will E. Holbein, Minot, N.D.

Directors-1st Dist. W. A. Heley, Hankinson, N.D., 2nd Dist. I.J. Moe, Valley City, N. D., 3rd Dist. Will Thornhill, Carrington, N.D., 4th Dist. J.F. Strauss, Harvey, N.D., 5th Dist. W. H. Francis, Velva, N. D., 6th Dist. Theo. Kahellek, Kenmare, N.D.

A committee composed of President Phelps, Dir. Kahellek and Sec-Treas. Holbein, was appointed to meet a like committee from Canada at Regina or other point to be selected by the Canadian road boosters in December of this year if possible.

A constitution was adopted, and the name of North Star Trail tentatively selected subject to the conference between Canadians and North Dakotans in December.

The Assessment list was made out for each of the towns through which the trail passes in North Dakota, such assesments to be sufficient for all expences during the year 1921, such as marking and overhead expense.

The mark would be a black star on a white background with the letter 'N' in white. It was thought that this mark would be easily visible at night as well as daytime, and would have a drawing power in that the word north in the summer sounds cool, and that tourists would be hunting cool weather instead of the intense heat of the south. We only got out a limited amount of stationery under the North Star name, and will await our conference in December.

Our people are very enthusiastic over the new trail and will do their full part to put it on the map in good shape. We can hook onto a Babcock Amendment road in Minnesota that will give us a short cut to the Twin Cities, and from there we can follow the Wisconsin Central another diagonal road to Chicago, thus making one of the shortest cuts imaginable.

Let me hear from you as to progress in Canada.

Yours respectfully,
Will E. Holbein
Sec-Treas.

Report of meeting of the North Star Trail Association:

At a meeting of representatives of the towns and cities along the main line of the Soo Line Railway in North Dakota, held at Minot, on Nov. 17th, a permanent organization was perfected called the North Star Trail Association, the objects of the association being to rename, remark, and maintain the old Green Trail.

Each director has under his supervision a certain mileage along the trail, and appoints chairmen in each town and city in his district, and otherwise assists the officers of the association when called upon.

No officer of the asociation shall receive a salary, but the President and Secretary shall be paid their necessary travelling expenses when on business for the Trail, and the President may ask a director to perform a service on account of the director being closer to the place to be visited, and in such case the director shall have his necessary travelling expenses paid. A warning is also issued to all business men along the trail not to pay any money for any advertising or any other purpose to anyone except he has proper credentials signed by the President and Secretary-Treasurer. It has been found that advertising solicitors attempt to 'work' business men or so-called advertising matter along the various trails, and this warning is sent out at this time to save the business men money.

Every effort will be made to assist in securing State and Federal aid for the North Star Trail, anl to the end the officers will cooperate with all agencies that will ensure such aid.

The trail is planned to run from Chicago, Ill. to Fernie, B.C. and ultimately to the Pacific coast. It is planned to make this trail the shortest road from Chicago to the Canadian Northwest.

A meeting of a committee from the North Star Trail in North Dakota will meet a similar committee from Canada at Regina in afew weeks, and settle any questions as to the name and route of this new trail. It may be that the name will be changed, but at the same time it looks as if the North Star Trail is here to stay under that name.

The Secretary-Treasurer will issue weekly news-letters concerning the trail, and to that end wishes all information possible from different points along the route. He also wants the names of those in each town that have shown or will show some interest in GOOD ROADS, to whom the news-letters will be sent gra[illegible] We want to arouse all the enthusiasm possible for this meritorious project, and will welcome any suggestions to bring about this end.

Remember the officers of the North Star Trail will cooperate with any community at any time their services are needed.

Will E. Holbein,
Sec-Treas.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The Scoutmaster on behalf of the members of the 4th Fernie Troop of Boy Scouts wishes to thank the following gentlemen who have donated various prizes to be competed for by the Scouts:

H. F. McLean—Prize for Ambulance Competition.

Mr. Jacobson—Prize for Patrol Competition.

G. C. Evans—Prize for Diary Competition.

No boys joining the Boy Scouts after March 15th, 1921, will be allowed to partake in the annual summer camp.

Word has been received by the Scoutmaster that the Hon. and Rev. T. R. Heneage, of Victoria, the Provincial Commissioner,, will come to Fernie and inspect the Boy Scouts during the coming spring or early summer. Scouts, don't forget your motto, "Be Prepared."

It has been decided to limit the 4th Fernie Troop at the present time to five patrols. There are a few vacancies at the present time. After these have been filled all boys wishing to join will have to take their place on the waiting list. Epilogue: If you are ambitious and a real boy, join now.

A rather mean, sneaking trick was perpetrated at the Scout Headquarters last Friday night, when someone entered the hall while the boys were busy and rifled the Scouts' overcoats. About $1.45 or so in cash was all they got away with, all of which goes to show the necessity of some real work among boys.

"OPEN YOUR EYES" COMING TO ORPHEUM

The motion picture ,in addition to its many other uses, has now been called into play to aid in ending crime. One of the strongest of the several excellent lessons taught by "OPEN YOUR EYES," the flaming photoplay prepared under the supervision of the United States Public Health Service, to be seen at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday, is to avoid the quack doctor, one of the last forms of the criminal medical men, who flourished in many different forms but a few years ago.

Preying upon the ignorance and credulity of inexperienced, frightened young people, the quack can be reckoned not only as one of the worst types of criminal, but also as one of the most dangerous elements in any community. For many years he escaped notice and plied his nefarious trade because the public as a whole did not realize to what an enormous extent he was a menace.

In the early days his methods were numerous indeed. He sold salves, oils and medicants of alleged marvellous properties. He filled teeth at reduced rates with tinfoil. Year by year laws were passed, which, one by one, narrowed his activities within a sphere which annually grew smaller. In the last decade such characters have flourished in the big cities, chiefly upon ignorant youth, suffering from social diseases, to whose fear-stricken mind the blatant advertisements of wonderful and instantaneous cures appeared godsends.

How such alleged physicians actually contributed largely to the spread of social disease and how their activities resulted in lifelong suffering for ignorant young people is shown in "Open Your Eyes." The lesson is an invaluable one for young people of both sexes, for while the stringent laws of this commonwealth have largely put an end to the quack and his trade, in some sections this alarming source of danger still flourishes, bringing desolation to many homes. It was to combat this evil that "Open Your Eyes" was prepared under the supervision of the United States government,, as it was realized that the motion picture today is one of the most powerful influences for good in the way of propaganda.

Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. FORMER PROVINCIAL CHIEF AT FERNIE DEAD

Victoria, Jan. 24—Arthur Sampson, house detective at the Empress Hotel, was found dead in bed on Saturday in a room at the Douglas Hotel. He had taken the room on Friday and on Saturday evening hotel employees broke in when they got no response to repeated knockings. Mr. Sampson had been dead for some hours and apparently had succumbed to a fit.

The late Mr. Sampson was 53 years of age. He came to the Empress Hotel from the Hotel Vancouver, where he was house detective. For several years he had been a member of the provincial police force and had been stationed at several up-country points. He was married recently, and Mrs. Sampson is at present in Vancouver staying with friends.

Arthur Sampson was for a number of years Provincial Chief at Fernie and had many friends here who sincerely regret his death.

Mrs. R. W. Wood spent a few days in Vancouver last week.

ASSAULTED WITH AN AXE

Stipendiary Magistrate Stinson presided at a preliminary hearing on Wednesday and Thursday in the case of Rex vs. Edwin Hornby, of Caithness, charged with unlawfully wounding two Finlanders named Isaac Neimi and Ed. Lahti at the residence of the mother of the accused on Tuesday last. According to the evidence for the prosecution three Findlanders visited the establishment operated by Mrs. Hornby, where they allege they purchased liquor, two bottles at least being the quantity, and this was consumed by a party of five or six. The victims admit they became intoxicated but until the assault was made upon Lahti there had been no disagreement of any kind. The first intimation of trouble was when preparing to return home Neimi heard a noise outside the room where he was and upon investigating discovered that young Hornby, the accused, was waving a vicious looking broad axe towards Lahti, who had been the first to depart. Lahti at this time was bleeding profusely from about the head and hand and called upon Neimi to take the axe from Hornby, which he did, and during this mix-up received a nasty gash on the head. Neimi on the stand stated he did not really know whether Hornby had struck him with the axe or whether he had wounded himself in forcibly taking the weapon from Hornby. Dr. Garner testified as to the wounds sustained by the victims and characterized those received by Lahti particularly as dangerous, and all of them could have been caused by the broad axe. According to the testimony of Neimi, after taking the weapon from accused he and his friends immediately departed, taking the axe with them for some distance and then throwing it away. The evidence for the Crown has not all been submitted but will probably be closed this afternoon. Inspector Dunwoody is conducting the prosecution, while A. J. Fisher represents the accused.

Arising out of the above affray it has been intimated by the authorities that a prosecution will be brought against Mrs. Hornby under the Prohibition Act for selling intoxicating liquor.

We had a letter from Dr. Simmons, late of Fernie, the other day. The doctor, who located in Vancouver after leaving here, about six months ago, went up to the Peace River country, but has returned and is now doing business at Anyox, B.C.

FERNIE WINS FROM WALDO

Before a crowd of fans who lined both sides of the ice, Fernie took Waldo in tow by a score of 8-2 in the return hockey game on Wednesday night. The week previous the teams met on the Waldo open air rink, and after 20 minutes of overtime Fernie emerged with the long end of a 3-2 score.

The game on Wednesday was not nearly as one-sided as the score would indicate. The consistent back-checking, hook-checking and stalwart defence was instrumental in holding Waldo's score down to 2. The boys from the south were in the game all the time and time after time were stopped on the verge of a rush by consistent back-checking by the Fernie forwards or else lose out when they met the defence.

For the visitors Wilde, their goalie, was easily the star, and despite the eight tallies against him, drew round after round of applause from the fans, being bombarded incessantly the first two periods, only to turn off numerous and difficult shots with ease. Johnnie Hume, an old time Fernie lad, put up a good game, but was unable with the rest of the forwards to penetrate the defence put up by Commons and Kirkpatrick. Bishop Wilson, with his hook-check, Dicken with his deadly right wing shot, and Kirpatrick, who was almost impregnable on defence, were the outstanding features of the local boys.

Fernie scored two and Waldo one in the first period. In the second Fernie bulged the net three times, and in the last Fernie got three more to Waldo's one. In the first and second Wilson bored through almost from the centre-off, and scored twice on each occasion before the Waldo boys were hardly settled down, but when they did they put up a good fight.

Scoring: 1st period, Wilson 2, Peterson 1; 2nd period, Wilson 2, Dicken 1; 3rd period, Commons 1, Dicken 1, Kirkpatrick 1, Hume 1. Fernie 8, Waldo 2.

The line-up was:

Waldo.		Fernie
Wilde	Goal	Colton
Anderson	Defence	Kirkpatrirk
Sharpe	Defence	M. Commons
Ross	Centre	B. Wilson
Hume	L. Wing	Commons
Peterson	R. Wing	Dicken

MUST CARRY ON PUBLICITY

(By J. F. Spalding)

There are many reasons why we should do this, but we will take the most important of them in this article. If you will read it through you will see for yourselves why this and next year are—in my opinion — so important.

Publicity campaigns are being carried on now, or are about to be launched by Nelson, Trail and Rossland (combined), Kelowna, Penticton and Bend, Ore., on the South; Helena, Great Falls, Yellowstone and Glacier Parks on the East; and Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise and Invermere on the North. The last three by the C.P.R.

The tourists from either East or West to reach either of these places does not have to take the route through here.

The Ymir road is to be built this year, which will give direct connection between Nelson and Spokane and draw a considerable amount of travel that way into the Okanagan.

The Banff-Windermere Road will be finished this year I have been reliably informed, and this road, instead of being the great benefit to this town we had expected it to be, will be our biggest competitor. If you will study a map for a few minutes you will see the reason why. There are thousands of American motorists only waiting for this road to be opened to come up this way. They will come from the East and take in Yellowstone and Glacier Parks then go through to Calgary, Banff, Windermere and Cranbrook, then through to Spokane and continue on West from there. From the West they will come as far as Cranbrook and go to Windermere, Banff, Calgary and on East by Galcier and Yellowstone. Those from California will come up through Oregon and Washington to Cranbrook and then over the Banff-Windermere Road and return to California by Glacier and Yellowstone and then through Bend, Oregon.

The California-Banff, Bee Line Highway Association was formed last year and have offices all over the country from which literature about the road is being sent broadcast. They have published a booklet which shows a one way map from Los Angeles up to Cranbrook and then to Calgary and back through here to Cranbrook, over the circle tour. This would be fine if they want to go back from Cranbrook to Los Angeles, over 2000 miles of the same road, but they will not do this. They will be informed by the tourist bureaus all the way along, and especially at Banff and Calgary, that they can go home by the two parks and through Bend, Oregon, and 99 per cent of them will do this. They are out to see as much of the country as they can and will not want to see more than they are obliged to the second time. If we want to get them to come and see what we have here, it is imperative that we let them know about it. We must tell the tourist that when he gets to Cranbrook, he should make the detour from there to here, which is only 62 miles, and that he will only have to retrace 39 miles of it back to Wardner to continue his trip if going East or all the way back to Cranbrook if going West. Unless we do this we are going to miss the cream of the whole travel, as there will be ten Californians to one from elsewhere.

There will be only a few in comparison who will make the circle tour from Calgary and they will be composed of people from Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, whereas it is estimated by the Park authorities that there will be 20000 American cars over that road the first year it opened.

In addition to the Banff-Windermere road, there are four Transcontinental highways to the South of us, which are all competing for this business, so that is why I say that unless we carry on a vigorous campaign this and next year, we may as well make up our minds to be content with the hurry up through travel which will be nothing compared with what we can have if we get after it properly.

Last year there were between 1700 and 1800 cars through here. These tourists will all be boosters for us. This year I hope to see that number doubled and next year this year's doubled. If we can do this we shall then have enough live boosters to permit us to let up on our advertising and sit back and watch them come.

I think I can safely say that I have put Fernie on the motoring map of America to stay. There is not a motor club, tourist bureau, chamber of commerce or board of trade of any consequence in America, Europe or Britain which does not know of us, but if we not keep ourselves before them, they will soon forget us, with all the literature they get from other places pouring in on them all the time. To keep in their memory we must shoot our stuff to them also.

You all advertise in the local paper to the extent you feel your business justifies, varying in amounts from $100 to $1000 or more a year. Everybody in town knows you and what merchandise you sell, yet you feel that is is necessary to do this, and it is. Then isn't it more necessary to advertise amongst strangers if you want their business? Publicity is simply collective advertising and of the cheapest kind. An additional $20 to $200 advertising appropriation will hardly be noticed, yet it will bring results tenfold, and I am of the firm opinion that if our business men will subscribe that much each year for the next two years, our live advertisers will do the rest for us, and our only

OLD TIMER PASSES OUT

(Prince George Times)

There died at Penny, on Thursday last, a picturesque character in the person of John Narboe, one of the old-time guides of British Columbia. Deceased has been guiding parties for many years, both in the Kootenays and later in Northern British Columbia. He had a strong connection with big game hunters from the United States, and one of his regular employers has been L. A. Robinson, General Passenger Agent of the New York Central railroad.

The death of Mr. Narboe was directly attributed to a seizure. This is the second Narboe brother who has died within a year, his brother having been drowned at Slim Lake. He was a very popular and interesting character.

GREAT ATTRACTION

LESLIE GROSSMITH PROMISES BIG SUCCESS

Expectation is at a high pitch in anticipation of the performance offered by Leslie Grossmith and Party on Monday, Jan. 31, at Victoria Hall.

A more attractive offering could hardly be conceived including as it does a first class variety Concert, an extremely funny Play and a dance with special music all included on the admission ticket. It is only on rare occasions we are visited by artists of the calibre of Mr. Leslie Grossmith, whose name is well known all over the world, and he will be assisted by Hugh S. Barbour, Solo Violinist and Mlle. Georgette (Mrs. Leslie Grossmith) in Chic Songs. It is to be hoped the event will meet with the success it deserves.

CRANBROOK HAS RECREATION CLUB

Cranbrook, Jan. 24.—An event of some interest in the city takes place on Wednesday of this week, in the official opening of the Cranbrook Recreation Club building. This organization is taking hold of the old Men's Club building of former days, and the hope is to effect something permanent in the way of a regular club body, with athletic, social and other departments. Upwards of a thousand dollars has been spent in renovating and repairing the building and quarters are also being provided for Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mirams, the instructor and his wife, who will reside right on the premises. The Recreation Club now has over a hundred members on its roll, and more are coming in, the membership varying from two to five dollars per month, so that at present an income of about $300 per month is assured. Mrs. E. L. Staples is the president of the club, and a body of eleven, including the officers, form the governing body of the institution.

MUST CARRY ON PUBLICITY

expense from then on will be the maintenance of our Information Bureau and a good camp site, so as to be able to treat them properly when they are here.

A good Municipal Camp Site is one of the finest advertisements a town can have and through not having one last year I know that there were a lot of tourists who pushed on to Cranbrook instead of staying here and that we lost a lot of good business in consequence. Mr. Wilson told me only a few weeks ago that some of the campers stayed there several days at a time doing laundry and loafing generally.

Continued publicity is a matter of supreme importance to every business man and property owner, not only in this town, but in the whole district. The time is coming, and this in a very few years, when the lumbering industry here will naturally die out. That will throw open a lot of land for farming undoubtedly, but hardly to a sufficient extent to keep a town of the size of this going during our time. The mining industry may, or may not, be permanent. We have a concrete instance of the uncertainty attached to that, just eight miles away, which should bring home the fact to all of us that unless we have something else to depend on besides these, the consequences of a shut-down would be ruin to most of us. The tourist industry already is the second largest in this province and in a year or two will be the largest. It is the easiest handled class of trade, and for the outlay the biggest percentage producer. I have always maintained and even more emphatically do so now, that the continuance of our publicity for another two years will assure Fernie's future independent of all else.

After six years intensive study of, and association with, tourists all over the west, I have obtained a knowledge of what they want, and again say that Fernie is in a better position to meet their desires than any other town in the country. Most of the other places have had to make their attractions; nature has done that for us. Now let us make capital out of it. The town of Walla Walla, stuck out on the prairie, with competitive highways and not even being a natural stopping place, last year had tourist business there to the extent of at least $25000 a month. This was accomplished by a campaign of four years, a good camping site and an excellent Information Bureau.

I am preparing a program and budget for this year which will be submitted to the next meeting the Board has. It was late last year when we made a start and by the time our literature was sent out, undoubtedly a large number of those who received it had already made their arrangements. To be really effective our advertising should be sent out not later than early in March, and it is especially necessary that this should be done this year, because, in spite of the hard times, all the big tourist associations are preparing for a large increase of motor travel. The Yellowstone and Glacier Parks are preparing for a hundred per cent increase and the C.P.R. are building large additions to their hotels at Banff and Lake Louise in anticipation of the same. Most of the other resorts all over the Northwest are adding to their accommodations also, so it behooves us to get in our bid for some of it and as early as possible.

Several of our business men have come forward voluntarily with offers of financial support for further publicity, and I am reasonably sure that if the larger interests will subscribe a little more generously this year, we shall have no difficulty at all in raising ample to cover all our needs. Let them set the example.

Read the following letter and all turn out to the Board of Trade meeting next Thursday:

Seattle, Jan. 10, 1921.

J. Fred Spalding, Esq., Chairman, Fernie Board of Trade, Fernie, British Columbia.

My Dear Mr. Spalding—I feel inclined, at the beginning of a new year, to write you a few things in reference to your section of our glorious Province of British Columbia.

The people of East Kootenay must not neglect one of their principal industries .The business men of Fernie, say, would be very indignant if the mines were shut down by the owners for no apparent reason except apathy, and yet the people of East Kootenay are apt to do that very same thing with an industry which they own and control.

The mountain ranges; snow-capped peaks; the rivers and streams, which offer some of the finest trout fishing in the world; the highways; the forests, all form the raw material of an industry which takes very little capital to develop. A few thousand dollars judiciously spent will bring in greater returns if applied to this industry than any similar amount spent in any other way. I refer to the tourist industry.

Millions of dollars are now being brought into British Columbia, Oregon and Washington through the activities of this association, but the principal tourist centres are not resting wholly on our advertising in the south and east for the benefits they derive from it, but are spending some money in getting out literature that applies to their own locality and for giving information which will help turn the tide of tourist travel through their own communities. In our annual report particular stress was laid upon te need of information bureaus in the following paragraphs:

"It is suggested that one of the primary factors in securing the best results from this travel is for each community to open an information bureau as to places of interest, etc., and particularly for the purpose of drawing the attention of those whom they think would be interested to the outstanding natural resources and opportunities of their section. In every case where possible it should be in connection with the local commercial organization or automobile club."

Communities are instituting and developing automobile camp sites and in other ways catering specially to the tourist and it is paying better than any other investment they make. The press of Walla Walla in Washington, which is an agricultural town, claim they get in the season not less than $25,000 a month from this increased tourist travel.

My New Year wish for your section is that the excellent bureau of information that has been maintained under your efficient management will be continued, only that if possible its scope be enlarged. I have recently returned from a long trip through the east and got in touch with the principal automobile clubs and information bureaus, and there is nothing they needed so much as information. I will be able to materially help your section by having your information bureau place your literature where it will do the most good. This is an opportunity that should not be neglected. Remember, you have the goods. All who have visited your section are loud in their praise of its wonderful tourist attractions and recreation features. Keep up the good work.

Might I say that for one year's work the people of East Kootenay have accomplished a great deal, but I would remind them of the fact that the value of an advertising campaign is rarely seen after the first year's operations. The results, say, of 1919 would not be felt in 1919, but more in 1920 and 1921; of 1920 in 1921 and 1922; therefore, it is imperative that such work be continuous. Both East and West Kootenay are a paradise for automobile tourists and for the fisherman and mountaineer.

I would remind you of the fact that Seven Hundred Million Dollars are spent by vacation seekers in the United States. I want British Columbia, Washington and Oregon to get the big share of it, but our work will be much more beneficial if we have the support of such organizations as you people initiated a year or so ago. Keep it up and extend it.

It is only a few weeks ago that two of our directors referred to your work on behalf of East Kootenay and said what a splendid example your people had shown in giving you the opportunity to bring that section before the travelling public. May I refer to an old, old adage, but the truest that was ever uttered, "God helps those who help themselves," and if your merchants will help themselves in this respect, together with the work this association is doing through its affiliations all over the continent, they will find that they will receive a steady and ever increasing volume of business from people who live all over the United States and Canada in the money visitors leave with them when travelling through your section, and who will go back living advertisers of the wonderful things they have seen, and this trade, like a rolling stone, will gather momentum year after year.

I hope to have the privilege of making a visit to Fernie, Cranbrook Nelson and the Okanagan during the coming spring. I hope you will have an organization at that time for me to get in touch with which will help me to do great things for Kootenay, and which will be able from its own local knowledge to supplement the work of this association so that immense benefits may come to every part of East and West Kootenay and the Okanagan distsict.

With kind regards and best wishes for the coming year, I am,

Yours faithfully,
Herbert Cuthbert,
Executive Secretary Northwest Tourist Association.

Hearing of your most marvelous remedy she decided to give it a trial and I am glad to say one bottle has made her well. You are at liberty to use my name and should be only too pleased to answer any inquiries. Sincerely yours, John Holmes, Yorkville Ave." The original of this letter may be seen at W. K. GRIFFITH'S "BROKEN BLOSSOMS" AT ORPHEUM

Of extraordinary interest, not only to lovers of the motion picture, but likewise to all, who appreciate the highest in art in its various manifestations, is the announcement of the Orpheum theatre that it has secured David Wark Griffith's superb screen creation, "Broken Blossoms," to be shown next Wednesday and Thursday.

Never has a motion picture been accorded a reception comparable to the triumph that has followed every showing of this production. Newspapers have devoted column after column to its beauties and wonders. Everywhere its success has been instantaneous and it is safe to say that in bringing "Broken Bossoms" to our city, the management of the Orpheum has to its credit the biggest accomplishment in artistic entertainment that we have yet enjoyed.

Mr. Griffith, it will be remembered, together with Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks, early in 1919 organized United Artists Corporation—popularly known as "The Big Four"—for the making and marketing of their own productions. It is through this organization that "Broken Blossoms" is being placed in the theatres of the country.

The story of "Broken Blossoms" Mr. Griffith adapted from a tale by Thomas Burke called "The Chink and the Child" which is part of that autor's famous volume "Limehouse Nights." Around this story, and we speak from the opinion of dramatic critics the country over, Mr. Griffith has built the most alluring, yet pitiful, beautiful, yet tragic love story ever filmed. It has become habit, almost, to look upon a Griffith production as some thing more than a motion picture, yet even the most ardent admirers of the art of this master of the films did not dream of the wonders that he would reveal in "Broken Blossoms."

"Broken Blossoms" should prove the crowning achievement in the splendid gallery of film presentations that we have enjoyed at the Orpheum. A special program has been prepared, including the music which Mr. Griffith personally arranged and some of which he composed. All in all, we look forward with keen anticipation to the presentation of the Griffith masterpiece, for a film that has been so sensationally successful elsewhere is asured of more than a hearty welcome in Fernie.

Introduced Chrysanthemums.

It was in the autumn of 1808, that the first bunch of chrysanthemums was seen in Paris, brought by a Frenchman from far-off Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Prentice wish to thank all their friends for kindness and sympathy shown during their recent sad bereavement; also those who sent floral offerings.

The engagement of Mr. Thomas Kirk and Miss E. Sinclair, of Flagstone, has been announced. The wedding is expected to take place on June 20.

The members of the G.W.V.A. and the W.A. of the G.W.V.A. will hold a social evening in Hawthorne's Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 3, from 7.30 to 11 o'clock. Cards and dancing. Ladies will please bring refreshments.

T. Reid of the Coal Creek Sunday School was presented with a beautiful clock by the scholars of the school. He wishes to thank the scholars for this, and also the parents and friends who have helped from time to time to keep the school going.

The night of the curlers banquet in Victoria Hall a ladies silver mesh purse was mislaid, thought to have been dropped into the wrong bag, and being small in bulk has not been noticed. Any lady discovering it will please notify Mrs. E. K. Stewart or Mrs. Herchmer.

The family of the late Wm. Phillips wish to thank their many friends for sympathy and kindness during their recent bereavement; also to thank the Ancient Order of Foresters, R. E. Dixon, the Brewery Workers, the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association for floral tributes.

Pat Dally, formerly manager of the Bush Mine property at Stewart, partly owned by local Fernie people, has commenced civil action in Spokane to recover a one-fifth interest in the property, which he claims was promised him by R. W. Wood and associates. Funny how it happens that as soon as a property turns out to be good everybody in the country seems to have an interest in it. Pat will no doubt have a hard time to convince the court at this late date that he is telling the truth.

There have been nearly a hundred applications to the city council for relief. Considering that nearly everyone in the city has had steady work up to within the past couple of weeks, the number seems altogether too large. There are no doubt many cases of actual need but when a man who has been drawing down $7 a day up to within a couple of weeks ago applies for assistance, there must be something wrong. The city council have asked the Ladies Benevolent Society to make an investigation and those in actual need will be taken care of.

Salt Superstitions.

Superstitions concerning salt are among the earliest known to mankind. There is much evidence in holy writ for the ceremonial uses of it, and the old Mosaic law commands that every sacrifice of a meat offering shall be seasoned with it. Homer calls it divine, and many of the old Teuton races looked on salt springs as holy and worshiped at them. The origin of this superstition seems to be that since salt cannot corrupt it should be regarded as a symbol of immortality.

Novel Dance.

The word "ball," as applied to a dancing party, came to be used in the first instance from an ancient "ball play" given in church by the dean and choir boys of Naples during the Feast of Fools at Easter. At subsequent dancing parties in Naples the dancers threw a ball at one another to the sound of their own singing. They whirled about in measured time and the sport consisted in loosening hands in time to catch the ball.

Pretty, Isn't It?

There is no altar on earth which vies in marble majesty with the altar of heaven—Tien T'ian—in the south of the Chinese city of Peking, which Emperor Lung-le of the Ming dynasty reared in A. D. 1420, with its triple balustrades, stairs and platforms of pure white marble carved miraculously, its great circle covering a wide area in the midst of a vast inclosure. There the emperor knelt once a year.

Palestine's Salt Mountain.

Palestine possesses a remarkable salt mountain situated at the south end of the Dead sea. The length of the ridge is six miles, with an average width of three-quarters of a mile, and the height is not far from 600 feet. There are places where the overlying earthy deposits are many feet in thickness, but the mass of the mountain is composed of solid rock salt, some of which is as clear as crystal.

Give Him a Goatskin.

The professor is the goat.

"If it were not for one trivial thing," mused Professor Cranium, the famous memory expert, as he stroked his chin in par, "I could give young Stewpidd his diploma. His record as a student of my course is almost perfect."

"What is his little trouble?" asked Dr. Hackem-Uppe.

"He forgets to pay for his lessons."

Kindness Makes for Service.

It was once commented upon by Joseph F. Smith that, wherever men are kindest to their animals, there do those animals give the best service to men. As example, the writer cited Holland and Denmark, where the utmost affection and care are bestowed upon the cows, which there give freely of their milk, and the dairying industry flourishes.

Hardener of Steel.

Molybdenite, chiefly found in Tasmania, is used for a variety of purposes, but its principal value is in the manufacture of steel, to which it gives a hardness and toughness that makes the steel suitable for use in propeller shafts, guns and boilers.

Reviving Picture Frames.

Often the gilding on picture frames that are otherwise good has become cracked or soiled. Buy a bottle of liquid gold and apply it to the frame. If large bits have chipped off, remove all before retouching, otherwise the renewed surface will be uneven.

Cooling Air in Mines.

To cool the air far under ground, and thereby permit the miners to work longer shifts, the owners of a European coal mine compress air at the surface of the ground and pipe it through the workings.

Telegraphing Pictures.

A French inventor's process for telegraphing pictures uses a system of hollows and reliefs, the passage of a stylus over which determines the intensity of the current transmitted.

No More Rudders.

A British patent has been granted for apparatus to steer vessels by pumping jets of water out of either side of the stern, thus doing away with rudders.

Use for Broken Glass.

There is a use even for broken glass. Some of it is ground into fine powderlike particles and used for various purposes. Some is melted and made into new glass objects.

Labor Saving.

A novel device which feeds tacks into position to be driven by a hammer is equipped with claws to draw carpet or anything that is to be fastened tight.

Possibly He Had.

A strange bequest was that of Jabez Hollister, an Englishman, who left a set of albatross toothpicks to his sons "in order that they might never have occasion to sit in a dentist's chair."

Daily Thought.

Applause is the spur of noble minds, the end and aim of weak ones.—C. C. Colton.

AFTER a trying day in the stores — or at your teaching — or your other duties — just sip a cup of FRY'S COCOA.
See how refreshing, how nourishing it is — and how nicely it tones up your nerves.
Its distinctive and delicious flavor will charm you.
See for yourself what a wonderfully concentrated and economical food-drink FRY'S COCOA is.
Of course, remember

"Nothing will do but FRY'S"

SON IS NOW LIKE A DIFFERENT BOY

Mother Doesn't Worry About Him Now, For He Is All Right Since Taking Tanlac

"Since Tanlac has helped my young son so much, no one shall ever persuade me to buy anything else in its place," said Mrs. M. Richmond, 319 Vernon Drive, Suite 6, Vancouver, B.C.

"For about two years my son James was in a badly run down condition. His appetite was so poor he was hardly eating enough to keep him up. He was nervous and restless, never slept well, and always complained of feeling tired when he got up in the morning.

"He was very weak and had hardly any life or energy and I was afraid he was going to be laid up.

"My father had always been a great believer in roots and herbs, and when I learned that Tanlac was made of them I thought of giving it to him, but was persuaded to give him another medicine instead, none of which did him any good.

"Finally a friend of mine told me of how much good Tanlac had done her so I got James a bottle, and now he is just like a different boy since he started taking it. It has given him a wonderful appetite, he sleeps fine and gets up every morning feeling good and all through the day he is full of life and energy. I have quit worrying about his health now, for I can see he is all right and I am certainly grateful to Tanlac for what it has done for him."

NEILL WINS PREMIER MINE ACTION

Suit for an accounting of a quarter interest in the Premier mine near Stewart, brought against R. E. R. Neill by Maurice W. Bacon, a mining engineer, was decided in favor of the defendant in an opinion filed by Federal Judge Rudkins, at Spokane.

The suit was brought on an alleged partnership agreement and the quarter interest was estimated by the plaintiff at $2,500,000 and by the defendant at $250,000.

The opinion was a lengthy one and featured the statement that in two cases the plaintiff, Bacon, had influenced witnesses and had lacked good faith in not bringing the suit in 1917 when he first knew of Neill's operations, but waited until December, when the mine had proved to be of worth.

In rendering his decision, Judge Rudkin's opinion states that he has "deemed the conduct of the parties at the time safer than the uncorroborated testimony of either party."

The opinion rules that Neill undertook the examination of the Bush properties, later to become the Premier mine, on a joint account with Bacon as evidenced by the fact that he presented and was paid a bill for his expenses. "Whether the joint venture extended beyond the Daly and Bush property is not material, but inasmuch as the defendant refused employment as manager of the Hudson Bay Co. at $250.00 a month" it would appear that they ceased at that time.

Judge Rudkin ruled that the $3000 held by the plaintiff to have been paid for expenses to Neill, but said by Neill to be payment for stock in the Hudson Bay company, appeared to be, as the defence alleged, since a further payment on expenses if $250 was given afterwards, although there was no evidence to show that the $3000 had been expended.

PROVIDE RELIEF FOR DISABLED VETERANS

An order-in-council has been passed allowing relief for disabled veterans who are unemployed. The relief assistance will not be in cash but in orders for the purchase of groceries, fuel, or to pay rent or lodgings. The local President and Secretary of the G.W.V.A. have the forms which must be filled in.

The order in council states that applicants entitled to relief are to be as follows:

(1) Necessitous cases among former members of the forces who are in receipt of pensions due to or aggravated by service in the Great War, or former members of the forces who have received vocational training under the department of S. C. R. for a war disability which prevented trainee from following his pre-war occupation.

(2) Former members of His Majesty's Imperial forces and former members of His Majesty's Allies' forces who are in receipt of pension for a service disability due to or aggravated by service in the Great War and have been resident of Canada for three months prior to making application for relief. This is not to be considered in any way to include minors who have received vocational training, except in cases where they are in receipt of pension for a war disability.

Certificates may be issued under the following conditions:

(1) If there is no employment available to which to refer the man.

(p) Although there is employment available, yet the applicant alleges that his circumstances are such that he is urgently in need of assistance until such time as he receives his first remuneration from the work he has been referred to.

Before issuing a certificate, the applicant is required to register for employment and in no case will a renewal or new certificate be issued unless that applicant calls at the office at intervals as directed by the government employment section.

Highway construction this year in connection with the Act granting $20,000,000 for federal aid, or forty per cent. of the total cost, promises to go ahead much more expeditiously than last season. Then there was much difficulty in getting labor. This year no trouble in that score is anticipated. The progress is such that there is no doubt of the various provinces finishing and linking up their systems within the five years prescribed by the act. The estimated total cost of the entire Dominion wide system including federal and provincial expenditures is $81,000,000.

KILLED ON THE TRACK

Last Monday morning while the eastbound C.P.R. local was travelling towards this city, at a point about 4 miles east of Elko, a man was struck and instantly killed. The victim was laer identified as John C. Smith, a locomotive engineer who had been employed in the lumbering industry of this district for a number of years, more particularly in the Waldo district. Coroner Duthie was advised by C.P.R. Master Mechanic McFayden upon arrival of the local here and then went down to visit the scene, following which an inquest was ordered. The jury, comprised of Jules Andre, foreman, Ed. Johnston, A. D. Logan, H. Sharpe, C. J. Riley and J. McAlpine, convened to hear evidence on Tuesday evening at the court house. Only two witnesses were called in connection with the matter, namely, J. H. McFayden, divisional master mechanic and trainmaster, an eye witness, and H. Hughes. Mr. McFayden testified that he was driving the locomotive at the time, as it had only recently come out of the shops and in the pursuit of his duties he was giving it a test. Leaving Elko a little late they were travelling, when reaching mileage 51.4, the point designated as where the fatality occurred, at about 50 miles an hour. Approaching the point from the west there is a curve and on the engineer's or right hand side is a rock cut. Upon rounding the curve, just prior to which the whistle had been blown, the track was clear, but when within a couple of hundred feet of a high rock, according to this witness, a man suddenly stepped out, looked toward the approaching train, then stepped on to the track and dropped himself across the rails. After he had done this, stated Mr. McFayden, the unfortunate man again looked towards the train. The emergency brakes were instantly applied but the acts of the man had been done so quickly and the fast moving train so close to him at the time, that it was impossible to stop before he was struck; it did, however, come to a standstill within 450 or 500 feet after application of the brakes but too late to save the life of the man.

Harry Hughes stated he knew the deceased very well and while he, the witness, had been stationed at Waldo as provincial constable, an incident occurred last summer, the effect of which had led him to believe that Smith, at times became irrational, particularly following periods of inebriety. The incident referred to was that Smith had been brought back from this city by a camp foreman for one of the Waldo camps, and while a temporary stop had been made by the party near the Kootenay river at Waldo, Smith had jumped into the river and had to be fished out.

Coroner Duthie advised the jury that the two witnesses produced were all that he had been able to find who could throw any light on the matter. He had interviewed the engineer and fireman of the local at the time the incident happened; the former had seen nothing except as he described it, "the flash of a man on the track," while the fireman saw nothing and upon the emergency brakes being applied inquired as to the necessity. They therefore could not assist the jury had they been called.

The jury thereupon retired and after deliberating for nearly two hours brought in the following verdict: "That John Collins Smith met his death by accident between Elko and Morrissey on January 31, 1921, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, by local passenger train, which ran over him."

Young vs. Black.
G. Johnston vs. Lancaster.

CRANBROOK 3—FERNIE 2

The local puckchasers went to Cranbrook on Wednesday and were entertained on Cranbrook's open air rink to the tune of 3-2. The game was rather slow owing to heavy ice and eventually turned out to be more or less of the slugging game of "shinney." A return game is billed for Monday next, Feb. 7, at the skating arena. With good ice the locals should eat them alive. Come along and see if they do. The line-up of the teams on Wednesday was:

Fernie—Goal, Colton; defence, M. Commons and Kirkpatrick; wings, R. Commons and Dicken; centre, B. Wilson. Subs., T. Wilson and K. Colton.

Referee—Lee.

LOCAL SPIEL STARTS MONDAY

The Fernie Curling Club wish to thank all those who assisted in making the District Bonspiel a success, and particularly the following: The Ladies Curling Club, the wives of the curlers, the ladies who assisted at the rink and at the banquet, Norman Reid, "Clerk of the Spiel," the G. W. V.A. Concert Party, Mr. Bass' orchestra, Mrs. Wyatt and C. W. Barrett, Leslie Mills and J. L. Gates.

The Local Bonspiel will commence on Monday, the 7th inst., weather permitting. Draws will be 12 ends and will commence at 6.30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Skips are notified that the rule in regard to rinks not being on time will be strictly enforced, viz.: If one rink is late the opposing rink will count one point for every ten minutes late. If both rinks are late one end will be counted for every ten minutes late. Owing to the draws being 12 ends, skips will understand that there will be no alternative but to enforce the above rule.

If any draws are called off on account of weather a notice to that effect will appear on the notice board near the Post Office and in W. A. Ingram's store by 4 p.m.

Annual Subscriptions—The attention of skips and members is directed to the notice posted in the room at the rink in regard to outstanding subscriptions.

BOARD OF TRADE MEET

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the council chamber last evening and was well attended.

After the reading and adoption of the minutes of the last meeting the retiring President, T. Prentice, spoke briefly and to the point on the general success of the past year's work and of the necessity of the members attending regularly, as the work before the Board for 1921 gave promise of being very extensive.

President—E. K. Stewart.
Vice-President—S. Herchmer.
Secretary—J. F. Spalding.
Trea. and Ast. Secy.—A. W. Greenwood.

Executive—Dr. Gee, T. Prentice, Major Moffatt, N. E. Suddaby, J. L. Gates, D. G. Harvie, G. G. Henderson, W. Currie, R. M. Young.

The retiring President then vacated the chair and handed the gavel to the new President, who, in a few well chosen words thanked the members for their trust and outlined the extent and importance of the work in hand and assured them of his intention of doing his utmost to further anything for the good of the town.

The reports of committees for 1920 were then read. The financial statement showed a total of cash collected during the year amounting to $2281.00, with disbursements of $2132, showing a credit balance of $149 with accounts which had not been passed to the amount of $85. These were immediately dealt with, being passed, this leaving a balance of $64 to commence this year's activities on. This report was favorably commented on and adopted.

Then Mr. Spalding read the report of the Publicity Committee, which dealt with the activities of the Information Bureau. (This report appeared in the Free Press two weeks ago.) Before putting the motion of adoption of the report the President spoke highly of Mr. Spalding's work during the last two years and of the undoubted value it had been to the town and district, concluding his remarks by saying that "he considered that Fernie was very lucky in having Mr. Spalding with them." This opinion was apparently shared by those present and the report was unanimously adopted.

The Health Committee reported the general conditions during 1920 to have been good.

The Civic, Good Roads and Transportation Committees had no reports for presentation.

Mr. Prentice on behalf of the Rod and Gun Club reported the stocking of various lakes and streams with trout of different varieties during 1920 and stated that the Department intended to further stock the streams this year with cut throat trout.

Sundry other matters of detail work were disposed of and then new business was called.

Under this head Mr. Spalding as Publicity Commissioner went into the necessity of Fernie carrying on its campaign with renewed vigor during 1921 and 1922. He had a large blackboard on which he had drawn a rough chalk map of this district and the approaches to it from all points and also its connections with Calgary and the Banff-Windermere road, and proved even to the most skeptical that the whole of the Crow's Nest from Lethbridge to Cranbrook will be cut off from the cream of the tourist travel unless a very decided effort was made to bring before the tourists' notice that we have the most beautiful scenery of all in this district and that it will only necessitate a very short detour to drive to Fernie to see it.

There was not much doubt left in the minds of those present as to the truth of Mr. Spalding's contention and consequently when he submitted his proposal for 1921's campaign it was carried without a dissenting voice. This plan calls for a booklet the same size as the one published by the Associated Boards of Eastern B.C. last spring, to contain about 36 local pictures, copies of two of the pages in the Tourist Register, a full page cut 7¼x7¼ inches of a new map Mr. Spalding has prepared, showing the routes leading to here from American and Canadian points, and in the back cover a relief map of the Rockies about 4 feet by 18 inches, which the Canadian Pacific have presented 10,000 of to the Board of Trade. This and the expenses in the maintenance of the Information Bureau will entail an expenditure of around $2500 this year, and after discussion regarding ways and means it was finally decided by the meeting to adopt the plan and endeavor to raise $2800 altogether, which will leave a margin for necessary expenditure in other departments of the Board of Trade. The unanimity with which the whole question was adopted was in marked contrast with similar discussions in the past and showed that the results during 1920 were very encouraging. Various other matters in connection with this, but of merely detail work, were discussed and adopted.

Mr. Prentice put a motion forward that the city council be approached in respect to a Municipal camp site, which was carried, the committee to wait on the council being Messrs. Stewart, Spalding and J. L. Gates.

Mr. Prentice also moved that the city council be urged to do all in power to improve the city's sidewalks. This brought forward a rather lengthy discussion, two members of the council (Messrs. Currie and Douglas) taking part and explaining the situation. At the conclusion Mr. Gates, a former member of the council for several years, made a rather pithy suggestion, which showed also that it pays (sometimes) to advertise even if the people you want to read it do not do so. Finally the motion was carried and a committee appointed to wait on the council.

A few other matters of minor importance were discussed and the meeting adjourned after deciding that the Board will meet the first Thursday in every month during the year.

If the businesslike way in which the new President presided and the general optimistic feeling evidenced by the meeting is any criterion to go by the affairs of the Fernie Board of Trade will move with unaccustomed vim during 1921.

SUSTAINS PETITION

At a hearing held at Victoria at 10 a.m., Feb. 1, the objections filed by the West Kootenay Power Co. and by fifty citizens of Elko were withdrawn, after the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., Ltd., satisfied the Water Board that they were financially able to carry out the undertaking and that work would proceed on both the Bull River power site and the Elk Falls power site just as fast as the market demands for electric power justifies the development of these two natural resources. In validating Conditional License No. 1990, which covers Elk Falls, there was a time limit set in which the Power Company was obliged to begin actual construction on this project, and the Power Company had no difficulty whatever in satisfying the Board of its intentions, to not only comply with the requirements in the matter of time limit but also stated that if the various enterprises in the East Kootenay District of British Columbia and the Crow's Nest Pass District of Alberta required all the power that could be produced at both these power sites that the work of development would be pushed simultaneously at both places and the market demands would be satisfied just as fast as it is possible to secure the necessary equipment and install the same.

Work will be commenced almost immediately on the 66,000 volt transmission line connecting the proposed power plants with Cranbrook, Fernie and various coal mines as far east as Hillcrest, Alberta. Due to the warm weather experienced this winter it will be possible to set poles and begin the erection of the necessary copper wires at almost any time from now on, and the Company is merely awaiting the arrival of certain tools and other construction equipment before proceeding with actual work. It has been variously rumored around Fernie that the decision of the Board was adverse to the interest of the Power Company, but we are authoritatively informed by an official of this Company that such is not the case and that actual approval of this transfer, by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, is now only a mere formality, which will shortly be complied with. The indications are that Fernie and other prospective customers of the Power Company will be supplied with electrical energy on or before December of this year.

Dublin, Feb. 3.—Nine policemen were killed and two wounded today when two lorries ran into an ambush in County Limerick.

EXCHANGE MYSTERIES

The value of the British pound sterling and of the Canadian dollar is steadily rising on the markets which determine the rate of exchange. Why the pound and the dollar should have gone down to the point at which they were fuoted is still a mystery considering the rate of security behind them. Experts in the business of estimating values may know all about it, but all others are completely at sea. Therefore, there are more things in business than is revealed to the eye of the onlooker. The value of the pound on the American maket soon will be, if it is not already, four dollars. The Canadian dollar is closely associated with the pound in the minds of expert financiers. The rate of discount in Eastern centres is said to be slowly approaching normal. We are pleased to note the honorable association of the dollar with the pound, but we confess ignorance of the cause which brought them down together. The adverse balance of trade is said to have something to do with the phenomenon, and there is nothing for us to do but accept the explanation and continue the good work of correcting it. Canadians, if they apply themselves diligently to the task, can procure nearly everything that is necessary to existence in comfort. If the depreciation in the rate of exchange is attributable to the cause assigned, the people of this country must have been curtailing their demand for the things that are classed as luxuries and buying more of their necessaries from domestic producers and manufacturers. If they continue on their present course the dollar must very soon be worth its face value wherever it is offered, and business transactions will be carried out upon an equal basis.

However, the more probable cause of the appreciation of the values of the pound and the dollar is the tremendous falling off in American exports. The high rate of exchange, after the first flurry of war inflation is over, carries the antidote within itself. The cost of American products, plus exchange charges, has become so high that the people of foreign countries cannot afford to buy them. The period of adjustment has set in and business between countries which are not practically bankrupt, soon will be normal again.—Colonist.

'BLUE-LAWS,' FORGERIES BY REFUGEE CLERGYMAN

The notion still lingers that the code of blue laws so often referred to was a reality and not a forgery. Published and republished, these imaginary laws were caricatures of fact. Doubtless that very active Tory propagandist, the Rev. Samuel Peters of Connecticut (1735-1826), who penned the forty-five fictitious "Blue-Laws of Connecticut," had many hearty laughs over his literary venture, which proved to be a best seller. When he saw how slickly he had gulled the public, especially outside a certain geographical region, into accepting as truth what was fraud he must have unloosed a button or two on his clerical waistcoat.

Now, tho thousands in Europe suffered death by fire as a matter of fact and known record, no witch was ever burned within the limits of the thirteen colonies or the forty-eight states—except in imagination, hereditary local tradition or the second rate movies. Profound belief in such alleged incineration of heretics by Puritans has long been held below Mason and Dixon's line, in novel and by modern writers defective in the reading of American history, and too often by picture makers.

The blue-laws—note the hyphen—were written in England in 1781 by a Connecticut-born refugee who was an Anglican churchman, says the New York Herald. His reputation for loyalty to the American cause had been so dingy and his zeal in behalf of royal autocracy had savored so much of propaganda that he was thrice waited upon by his neighbors to test his loyalty. One of his intercepted letters showed him to be a traitor to the American cause.

So he fled to England to get there what most of the refugee loyalists received, neglect and snubs. While on British soil he vented his traitorous spite on his former neighbors by his screed. He collected the laws of the New England Colonies—whether in force or dead letters it mattered not—and added others invented. Then he printed what was in some quarters swallowed down whole, just as were later the Moon hoax and other Journalistic skits.

Collating the laws and ordinances of all the thirteen colonies, and not those of New England only, we find in every one regulation which, judged in the light of today, seem Draconic or Mosaic. Are we to judge them by the light of A.D. 1920 or by the ruling ideas of the seventeenth century? In the time of King James I. the death penalties in England numbered thirty-one, but by 1819, 223. Yet even in Massachusetts and Connecticut, the most typically Puritan colonies, there were only twelve crimes, afterward increased to fifteen, specified as punishable by death.

Peters picked out the oddest of the laws on the statute books, most of which were never enforced. To these he added pure inventions of his own such as those which forbade a husband to kiss his wife, or a mother her child, on the sabbath day. This whole fabrication of Peters belongs to that Authentic Jest Book which Professor Brander Matthews hopes to see written. It is astonishing how both the bold Britton and the valiant native have been taken in by this famous fabric of delusion.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE B.C. DIVISION, C. I. M. M.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy will be held in Vancouver, on February 9th to 12th next.

The programme that has been arranged possesses some novel features. Instead of the customary presentation of highly technical papers, there will be a series of informal discussions on matters of timely interest. The subjects selected for discussion include "Metallurgical problems of British Columbia," "Fuel Supplies and Substitutes in B. C.," "Geology in relation to Mining in B. C.," and "The relation of the C. I. M. M. to government." In addition there will be two popular lectures on the theme of "Town Planning, with special reference to mining camps" by Mr. T. B. Adams, of the Conservation Commission, and the other, by Col. J. Leckie, C. B., D. S. O., on the campaign in Northern Russia. 'Jack' Leckie, by the way is a charter member of the Institute, and is most popular with the members from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The social side of the meeting is also receiving due attention. The Vancouver branch of the division will give a lunch to the visiting members and guests on Feb. 9th. On the following day the members will be the guests of the Vancouver Board of Trade at luncheon. On the evening of Feb. 10th, there will be a smoker at which a playlet will be presented by the Dramatic Club of the University of B. C.; and on the evening of the 11th, the Annual Dinner will be held, at which the chief speaker will be the Minister of Mines. The fourth day of the meeting will be occupied by excursions to engineering works in the vicinity of Vancouver. The meetings of the Institute, it may be mentioned, are open to the public, and it is hoped that all interested in our great basic industry whether members or not, will avail themselves of the opportunity of being present.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

ORGANIZED DIS-ORGANIZATION

Unionism, as it is working out, is strangling Britain. Strangling it slowly, but none the less surely. According to the British Ministry of Labor, 592,000 workmen were involved in 1,004 strikes in Great Britain during the first six months of 1920. The aggregate loss from these strikes was 6,418,000 work days. Or to put it another way, it would take a factory employing one thousand hands, twenty-one years, operating at full time and 300 work days per annum, to make up for this loss time. Think of it; and still the last six months of 1920, when the figures are given out, will probably show an equal record.

And now, as I write, there are, according to official estimates, one million unemployed in the British Isles and the government is at its wits end to know what to do to better matters. The Labor Party is out for what they call out-of-work maintenance pay of 40 shillings weekly for all householders, and 25 shillings for all single men and women unemployed, with additional payment for dependants. Moreover, the Labor Party's proposal is that only trade unionists should be benifited. In other words, clerks, servants and all those who are outside the union pale shall receive not a farthing.

On the other hand there is work to do, but the unions do not care to look that way. For instance, there is a demand for a half a million new workmen's dwellings, but the building trades say that none but union men may work upon them. So that is no solution for the unorganized worker, including thousands upon thousands of ex-soldiers whom the unions refuse to admit to their ranks.

The reason for Britain's present position is plain tnough, if one will but look the matter in the face. She grew through the years into a great manufacturing country. She had cheap coal and cheap labor, and she had ships and trading ability, such as no other nation has possessed, at least in modern times. She lived on her external trade. Then the war came, and the after results of the war. Her merchant marine was largely at the bottom of the sea and had to be rebuilt. Her workmen got out of hand. They had heretofore been paid too little, now they demand too much. But worst of all, perhaps, her markets have crumbled to dust. Europe as a whole, has gone broke. Those nations can buy little or nothing, for their paper money is of nominal value, and they have no credit. The war has made a continent of paupers.

To-day British coal is costing more than Canadian or American coal and is none too plentiful at that. The output per miner, in England, is extremely low as compared with either Canada or United States, owing mainly to two causes, inefficient labor and out-of-date equipment. The English miner has been producing 16 cwt. of coal per day; the American miner, 4 tons with the Canadian miner about half way between the two.

How, under these circumstances, can Britain expect to regain her old place in the world's markets. To-day, British ship-owners are having their vessels repaired in the German ports at less than one-half the prices demanded by British yards. British wool is being sent to Belgium and Germany where it is spun into yarn for British mills, all by reason of extreme labor costs at home. In such centres as Coventry, one of the great engineering centres, the whole industry of the place is closed down, or at best, working very meagre hours over a long period of time. No orders on account of high costs. It is admitted that there is no remedy in sight that the government can offer, and, indeed, Premier Lloyd George goes so far as to suggest that they might have to face the problem of organized emigration.

Altogether it is a sorry picture, but the real remedy is in sight if the workmen will but realize it before it is too late.

Trade will not run up hill any more than water. Britain must compete with other manufacturing countries and this she cannot do under the existing conditions.—Saturday Night.

CLOTHES AND MORALS

Ernest Thomson Seton, the well known nature writer, recently expressed the idea that as a first aid to our morals we should go without clothes, or at least, as near that condition as the weather will permit, the idea being that when clothes become excess baggage, like the Turkish costume, for instance, low character developes. In other words, the author is in accord with the present-day "low down and high up" costumes of our women, and wishes it might be still further developed.

Mr. Seton is not the first to declaim upon the immortality of clothes. Certain philosophers many years ago took pains to point out that the swish of the skirt was much more attractive to the male sex than the bare limbs, a statement which will, I think, meet with general agreement among theatre-goers. There is one thing certain the undressed stage beauty fails to attract the average mortal while bare backs are just ugly, and that is all there is to it.—Saturday Night.

PLAYS CHAPERON

By J. S. K.
(Lethbridge Herald)

Dear Sir:—

Will you please listen to my defence. I did my very best. I don't noe what a lot of these women in town expect off me, but I aint no miracle worker. If they was a little more home training of husbands the results mite have been more satisfactory, but with the material I had to chaperon I admit it was more than one lone woman could easily handle. Another time I will refuse absoolootely to be responsible. Talk about men being grown up kids, well a bonspiel is the case in point.

Ballon parties seem all the rage just now, they is fine business while there is lots of buoyancy, but oh, girls, its when you land and try and pick up step with civilization again is where the rub comes in.

We didn't have no pigeon pies like those American chaps, having no carrier pigeons with us, but from all the eggsadgerated tales I hear, ther must have been more than one little birdie whispering in the ears of the gossip hounds. Its a lie and without the remotest essence of truth, that goes carte blanche, sure we had a good time but all the rest is lies, absolutely.

Need I tell you that I, a poor lorne woman, chaperoned a party of 24 ballonists from Lethbridge into the heart of that prohibition state of B.C. I think B.C. refers to the date when prohibition actualy was in force that's a mere guess on my part, however.

When I was elected to the onerous position of chaperon I was more than diffident about accepting. It meant invading the precints of the late Mr. Bassof, and in passing, after paying our hotel bill we know his gang is still active in the pass country, even they had a license and police protection. We didn't bust no furniture, but paid enough to redecorate the whole hostelry.

When it became known that Mrs. Peach was to be chaperon to the balloonists, it was surprising the number of telephone calls she received from ladies whose husbands were members of the rainbow division from Lethbridge. We took this to mean, in all modesty, a compliment to our level headness and a recognition of the sterling chastness of our unimpeachable integrity for exemplary habits. We beleived that these nervous women were over wrought, but we now admit they knew their mates better than we did, then.

Please see that Tom, Dick or Jock don't fall off a mountain, or run away with a waitress, or desecrate a bartender, or catch a cold, or forget to change his socks. Of all the queer requests and instructions we got as to the routine these ballonists were to follow while away from home.

The first night was placid calm till 1.30 p.m., then a couple of young tyl phoons blew into the good ship "Deloraine" and the charmeuse clouds of sleep were rent in twain and stayed rent till the street cars commence running. There was no danger of anybody catching cold after that, everybody had one.

There is certainly no co-operation between the departments of the C. P. R., because just as soon as everybody got settled down to get $1.15 worth of sleep the bandit from the dining car insisted that everybody get up and stand in line for their $2.00 breakfasts. I had to wait so long to eat that I got about $1.65 worth of odour and 35 cts worth of victuals The C.P.R. take from the same foundry as we do, their eggs had the same mouldy taste. (Help! help! Somebody just pointed a loaded razor at our jugglar vein.)

Those dining cars are overstaffed there were 29 waiters, 18 eaters, and one serving meals. I was one of the waiters. They have a simple method of computing charges, he looked at my chin and says 2 eggs eh! 2 dollars. I sed to the con how did you noe I had 2 egs? He said you got two different colors of yoke on your lower jaw. Simple aint it.

They changed the time on us at Crow's Nest, and charged for an hours longer ride than actually received, anyway Fernie runs on the same schedule as we do, even if you do live faster while there.

We arrived at the home of the export houses shortly before noon. We did not curl till late in the evening so had lots of time to study the ladies fashions, a la B.C. They wear the regulation 2 1-2 inches between skirt and spat and green hose. We also see a few of the girls wearing those open faced overshoes, unbuckled, flapping around like they was trying to keep mosquitoes from lunching off their ankles. It seem so unnecessary at this time of the year.

Seeing as our rinks was curling at all hours there is some excuse for Mrs. Peach loosing track of some of the party. Everyone we met however, we cross questioned. Asking them where they got it we learned f 37 addresses and 17 locations where he Dom. Express gets no rake off.

Some were a great worry. One chap resisted in walking in the centre of the road all the time. That is he was aiming to walk in the middle of the highway, but the head wind was gusty and he had to tack considerable. We asked him what was the grand idea. He said Mrs.Peach, after living on the broad flat prairies, these mountains have got on my nerves. I stock to the centre of the street for fear I'll unbalance one of them and it will fall over on the curling rink and spoil the spiel. Considerate chap that. But we put him to bed with a cake of ice for a pillow and a hot curling stone at his feet. His head was aching.

Another bounder, he come from Claresholm. He was all for meeting the "Three Sisters" He said he had heard of the "Three Sisters" of Fernie for a long time, and was keen for an introduction. Mr. Herchmer said Why Ernie, that's the name of the peaks west of the curling rink. This guy went to the hotel and sobbed himself to sleep, moaning piteously, that he was a bachelor, and he thought the 3 sisters was school teachers.

There was a couple of near riots. Allan Graham had a troupe of those cat stranglers out playing "Bill Cameron is coming" and "Donald Dhu" or Duff-I forgot which, and "Ye Banks and Bars," "Scots Well Heeled," etc. Every curler who had a drop of Scotch in his stomach, wanted to be a drum major, lead the bagpipes, using his broom for a baton, but no body was able to keep in step except one and he fainted when somebody said there was a bottle in the waiting room practically untoched. It was a terrible shock to a strong constitution. People should be careful spreading these uncertain rumors.

It was really a wonderful week. The spiel was a grand success. Curlers are always such gentlemen, for instance, Mrs. Peach was the only woman entered in the bonspiel, and thos gallant Lockinvars let her have her choice of the prizes, thats what one must recognize as valorous consideration Even Milt Kastner did so forget himself as to score a six end, when she was five up. He apologised, and so we forgave him. So long as it don't happen again.

But if any one thinks bonspieling is idle pleasure, they had better put on a new needle. Its hard work, four and five games a day, and no pay for overtime, sleep and eat when you can. Hearing the hard luck stories, tales of thriling shots, refusing shots, accepting shots, listening to duets, trios and quartettes, singin its a "Braw Bright Moonlight Nite." The quart-ettes were most freguent, pretty near every one had a quart-ette. At least it had been a quart at one time.

Tired! Wash day, house cleaning aint in it. Your a wreck after a week's hard bonspieling. Nursing a cold, and a cough. Your head feels as if somebody had hit you with the heel of a boot over both eyes. One works for what they win, ask the sweeper.

But oh, boy! Aint it a grand and glorious feeling to bust into the "fours." The jewellry class.

There is no game on earth that pulls them from home, business, comfort and ease, like that grand old game of curling. Poor sports do not exist. They drop out or are rejuvenl ate in sport ideals. Every curler is a regular guy.

Every bonspiel, has a precious chapter of its own, a ready reference for many a good story. Each spiel stands complete in itself. The friendships formed, the acquaintances renewed, the tales of former glorious victories. Each game brings a test of skill, a nip and tuck struggle, with the dizzying uncertainty as to results (ah you 6 ender). The character reading, the real sportsmanship as the loser steps up with congratulations and best wishes for continued success. The pull together of teamwork, the luck, the hard luck and post mortems. Fascinating sport! I'll rise and say so.

The real youth in man is uncovered. The business man who looks to the profit and loss account, with a sinister gaze, mellows up and becomes a regular guy. One gathers altogether different impressions that tend for a better appreciation of our fellow citizens.

Could you resist a man who would stand bare-headed on a corner watching a barometer at the odd houre of he night. You holler out, Jock, its no use the girl has gone home long ago. Jock looks up and says, your daft woman, its no girl, its the wind I am waiting for. I want to see what a real barometer does when the wind changes. Terminating this conversation, a gabage can hurtles into the street from the window of the hotel across the street, faces appear and a familiar voice shouts, hey, Jock, please bring up our consolation cup, it fell off the sill. Jock picks it up and carries it in the opposite direction. Some chorus of disapproval.

Days of real sport. You cannot pay them to stay home from a bonspiel.

Me nuther,
Yours,
(MRS.) IAMA PEACH.

P.S.—The Jack Johnson of our car was quite excited, "Ithought they was all men on board, where is this Mrs. Peach person."

Western coal operators decided at a meeting held at Drumheller on Tuesday that at the moment it was not feasible to adopt a standard screen for lump coal, although there was a general agreement as to the principle. The contention underlying the whole matter was that if some system such as this could be adopted universally that the price of coal could be reduced considerably. This question, however, is again to be brought up at a meeting of operators and dealers which is to be held in Saskatoon next month.

By the departure of Rev. T. Strawbridge and his gifted wife the ranks of the ministry have been sadly depleted. Mr. Strawbridge by his faithful presentation of the truth and fearless denunciation of wrong has earned for himself the respect of all good citizens irrespective of creed, and has left behind him lasting monuments in the shape of his influence for good. Mrs. Strawbridge's ill health on account of the high altitude is the immediate cause of their departure. We tender bon voyage to our friends and wish them much happiness and prosperity in San Francisco, which will be the scene of their future work.

CABINET RANK DEMANDED

Recent reports indicating that Mrs. Ralph Smith, senior member-elect for Vancouver, might be given the office of speaker of the Legislature, have had the effect of stirring up the friends of the popular woman member. They consider that such preferment is not sufficient for Mrs. Smith and they are "boosting" hard for her appointment to cabinet rank.

Quite a number of Liberal workers in Vancouver have been pressing Mrs. Smith's claims. They point out that Vancouver is entitled to two members in the cabinet; they urge that Vancouver had two under Premier Bowser, when Provincial Secretary Dr. McGuire and Minister of Works Chas. Tisdall were honored by Mr. Bowser, and that Premier Brewster recognized the same right to the city which has a third of the population of the Province when he selected Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Ralph Smith in his first cabinet. With two Vancouver members in the Provincial Cabinet, they claim Vancouver interests are bound to be more fully looked after than is possible with but one hard-worked minister from that city.

Some of Mr. Macdonald's friends are urging that he be restored to Cabinet rank now that he has faced the electors and shown that he has the confidence of the majority of the voters of this constituency. If his election cannot be effected at the present time then they are prepared to swing in their suport behind Mrs. Smith to have her made the second Minister from this city.

So far as the Cabinet is concerned, it is said the only difficulty is in regard to creating an additional portfolio. Under the constitutional Act only eight salaried Ministers are allowed. Premier Oliver, who is credited with having originated the idea over a year ago of calling Mrs. Smith into the Cabinet, is said to be averse under existing financial conditions, to increase the number of salaried portfolios, even though the amount of an additional salary makes little difference to the Civil Service total and could be balanced by services rendered.

The by-election in the Delta promises to bring the question of Mrs. Smith's claims to the fore. Mrs. Smith has many women admirers in the Delta, where she has been a frequent speaker. Premier Oliver has announced his intention of stumping the Delta for his candidate, and a number of the ladies have decided so it is said, to heckle Mr. Oliver in regard to his plans for the lady member from Vancouver.

"We intend to find out if the Premier proposes to recognize the women of the Province by giving us a Woman Cabinet Minister," stated one of Mrs. Smith's fair boosters, after the meeting of the Women's Liberal Association. The Ladies say they will make it an issue in the campaign.

Mrs. Smith herself as the party most directly interested is understood to be reluctant to change her place on the floor of the house, in which her debating and legislative abilities have full sway, for the dignity of the speakership and its obligations to abstain from the debates. As the Delta election is fixed for February 3 and the opening of the Legislature for February 8, some quick deciding is likely to take place on the question of what to do with the lady who topped the Vancouver polls.

TUBERCULOSIS IS AVOIDABLE

"The early diagnosis of tuberculosis is of supreme importance, whether it is of the lungs or of other parts of the body," says Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. "In the human animal after the age of young girlhood, tuberculosis is largely confined to the lungs, and hence what I am saying now is particularly applicable to that dominant form of the disease.

"It is not every one who has the means to go from home to a sanatorium for treatment, but there are certain parts of the country that apparently offer most fovorable enviornment. In the east, the Aidrondacks are peculiarly attractive. In Massachusetts, the State Sanatorium for Incipient Tuberculosis is established in a large pine forest. There are many of these sanatoria in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and especially in California. They are all conducted, at the present time, on the same general plan of outdoor life, wholesome, nutritious food containing plenty of vitamines, and complete rest and freedom from work and worry, insofar as this freedom can be secured.

"One does not need, however, to go to a sanatorium, or even to a hospital. It is entirely possible to establish conditions favorable to the eradication of the disease at the home in all climates and at all seasons of the year. Proper food, proper sanitation, proper ventilation, good nursing, and cessation from hard work and worry are the means by which even a humble home may be changed into a well-appointed tuberculosis sanatorium."

NO DOCTOR'S EXAMINATION

The opening of the year 1921 will be notable in Canadian life insurance affairs by the adoption of a plan dispensing with doctors' examinations for policies up to $1,000 in amount. At the time of writing, only a few of the insurance companies are prepared with their arrangements for this, but it is pretty certain that before many weeks have elapsed, many others will adopt the scheme.

What the scheme amounts to is that instead of insisting on an applicant being examined by a doctor, the companies will take the applicant's own testimony, as given in replies to a number of questions in the new application forms, and will determine from these replies as to his insurability or otherwise.

The doctor's report following the examination of a man for life insurance is but one of several considerations upon which the companies judge of an applicant's fitness for acceptance, and in the new scheme the idea is to do away with the medical examination on the $1,000 policy (not on policies of a greater amount) and take the evidence of the applicant himself. The questions devised for him to answer will give the facts the companies require to know before issuing a policy. Incidentally, the plan will relieve these small policies of an expense which the poicies for larger amounts are better able to bear, that is the doctor's fee for the examination.

The idea has been under discussion, more or less, among the Canadian actuaries for the past twelve months. Industrial policies (those issued for small amounts at weekly premiums) do not call for medical examination. Group insurance, which began to be written in this country in November, 1919, dispenses with it too. And as the first year's expenses in connection with a policy are very high, it occured to the actuaries that here was a means of lifting a portion of that first year's burden. Furthermore, in England, life insurance without examination by a doctor has been tried out for some years with satisfactory results. The announcement of the first company prepared to consider without medical examination, applications on men between 20 and 45 years of age, and on unmarried women or widows between the same ages, was given publicity on January 7th. This announcement was made by the Cofederation Life Association.

In place of the doctor's examination report, the applicant must answer questions regarding his present state of health, his past illness, his general habits, and give particulars regarding family health history and the diseases which caused deaths of parents, brothers and sisters. Having filled in all the replies truthfully to the best of his knowledge he signs his name to that effect, the signature being witnessed. This set of questions and answers is part of the consideration upon which the policy is issued, so that it is necessary that full and true information be given.

As stated before, life insurance without medical examination is transacted by several companies in England. The latest plans offer a policy under which one-third of the insurance is paid if death occurs in the first three months, and two-thirds if death occurs in the second three months, with full insurance after six months. In other regards, the policies and benifits are exactly the same as with medical examination. For these non-examination policies in England, which in some cases are issued up to $5,000 in amount, the doctor's report is replaced by a set of questions for the applicant to answer concerning his own history, his habits, and family history—causes of deaths of parents, brothers, or sisters. Our own companies, therefore, are introducing a scheme here which is in use in England; but, whilst limiting it to policies of not more than $1,000, are giving full insurance benefits immediately, just the same as in connection with policies issued after a doctor's examination. No charge is to be made in the premium rates.

THE DOUKHOBOR.

Strange Citizens of the Far West May Move Again.

If the published reports from Western Canada concerning contemplated changes in the ownership of Doukhobod lands in favor of Canadian soldier settlers are true, one more migration, total or partial, of these Russian peasant communities may yet be witnessed. And so the question is instinctively raised. Whither would they go?

One has associated the Doukhobors so long and definitely with Western Canada that the part of their career which has been the most formative in their history is apt to be overlooked. Their manner of life in the sparsely populated prairie sections of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, or amid the partially cleared but potentially fertile valleys of British Columbia, is the direct outcome of those peculiar conditions which they were compelled to endure in their native Russia. An agricultural folk, with the instinct for settlement highly developed, their migratory movements began when Tzar Alexander I banished the Doukhobortsy, as the community is more correctly termed, to the banks of the River Molochnava, in the neighborhood of the Crimea. Their original home was Kharkov, a city several hundred miles to the southwest of Moscow. The movement spread so rapidly from his commen centre that governmental hostility was aroused against them, and their enforced settlement on the Molochnaya was the result.

Just 100 years ago, the Russian Government resumed its hostile measures, which culminated in the final deportation of the community to Transcaucasia; Pobiedonostsev's policy of bringing all religious elements of the empire into conformity with Greek Catholicism being responsible for the severities which attracted the world's attention to the Doukhobors in the nineties. Their refusal to obey the law afforded a pretext for this persecution. In the inhospitable and barren region to which they had been banished, and which was to be their final home in Europe, they nevertheless, by dint of sober living and dogged perseverance in the face of perpetual hardship, managed to prosper. In 1895 they were burning their weapons and refusing to submit to the tyrannies of the Cossack soldiers. Eventually, through the good offices of Count Tolstov and of the Society of Friends in England, some 8,000 were despatched as emigrants to Canada, and there again they not only toiled and thrived, but succeeded, where others indubitably would have failed, in converting to productive uses hundreds of acres of apparently waste land. They amassed comparative wealth as a community, and despised it as individuals. They paid their way. They bought land in province after province, and now they are almost in sight of the waters of the Pacific.

The Doukhobors are a people exiled from their original home, but one cannot live in their vicinity without receiving the impression that they have long lost the sense of country, as the average person understands it. One asks himself: "Are these Russians?" and finds oneself answering: "Scarcely." And if they are not Russians in their allegiance, they seem to be just as improbable Canadians. Standing in their presence, talking with them, watching the men and women at work from morning till night in their fields or barns, or partaking of the rude, rough hospitality of their community houses, this peculiar neutrality does not strike one as difficult to understand. The community is exactly what it is, unprogressive if not stagnant, partly through its odd religious convictions, partly through the stress of political persecution which made its early Motherland impossible to it. The Doukhobors are strangely out of sympathy with the average man's ambitions, or wholly unconscious of them. The one thing certain is that they are peasants. They evidently love work for work's sake, and not for what it may bring to them in this world's goods. They apparently see very little horizon above the furrow which they are ever throwing up. They crave no fortune, no ultimate migration to the city, with its stimulating pleasures, its intellectual entertainment, the thousand and one delights that come in the course of a life spent in the crowded highways of men.

Doukhoborland is truly a topsy-turvy world. Sitting by the great stoves of the Doukhobors, one is strangely conscious that where the Doukhobor is, there is his home. Put him elsewhere, and, like the spider which has found his web rudely disturbed or rent, and mends the torn meshes again and again, he will, out of the compulsion of that simple, primal instinct of his, toil and spin as if nothing had happened, and as if toil were the one thing that counted in the sum total of his universe.

A Glorious Record.

The magnificent record of Canada's national game was made the subject of Brig.-Gen. Gunn in a recent speech. He said that the editor of one of Canada's leading papers had informed him that lacrosse had a larger proportionate representation at the front than any other game played in the Dominion. It was due to the manner in which lacrosse players had responded to the call to enlist that the game had languished since 1914. It had the distinction of being the only game in Canada to be practically killed out by the war.

Young Breeding Cattle for Belgium.

Officials of the Belgian Government are in the West in an effort to buy 50,000 young breeding cattle as part of the plan of that nation to rehabilitate its dairying industry, according to well defined rumors in live stock circles.

Traveling.

It takes a powerful locomotive drawing a train of 10 passenger carriages a distance of five miles to reach a speed of 60 miles an hour on a straight and level track. The brakes will stop the train in 700 feet.

KAISER BRONCHITIS IN EXILE

Thousands Liberated

What have you not heard the joyful tidings? Bronchitis has been exiled—kicked right out of society—and 100,000 Canadians liberated from the bondage of this disease. Every trace of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! No longer do they dread the effects of coughs, colds, asthma, etc., and so anxious are they that others should benefit also, hundreds of letters have been written proclaiming the merits of this wonderful miraculous remedy. Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustbane Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. This mixture, proven in thousands of Canadian households, will give you sure relief. It cannot fail. Seventy-five cents is the price that stands between you and the road to health. Take no substitute—insist on the bottle with the "Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded." Ask your druggist. 19

LONDON ADOPTS VERDUN AS SOUL OF FRENCH FIGHT

London's reason for "adopting" Verdun were eloquently stated by Reginald McKenna at an organization meeting when Lord Derby was made executive chairman of the enterprise.

Verdun was not selected, said the former chancellor, because she had suffered. All France had sufered. Verdun was recommended for another reason. In most case where adoption had taken place or been proposed there had been either some prewar connexion between cities in England and cities in France, or there had been some special association during the war which had rendered those more intimate associations desirable.

But in the case of the city of London it would be impossible to find any town in France which had such special associations with London. Their business ramifications were so extensive that they covered the whole of France. Our gallant men were so numerous that they sacrificed their lives on every battlefied of France. They could not, therefore, have any special connection with any particular town because of its relationship to London.

Verdun had been selected for different reasons. Verdun was the soul of the French fight. As Verdun stood or fell, so victory was won or lost. France stood at bay against the whole might of Germany at Verdun; and the triumph of Verdun was the victory of France.

They expressed their sympathy to the whole of France and wished to show her that the heart and centre of the British Empire had chosen the heart and centre of the French fight in order to bring together the whole of England and the whole of France in the closest and longest enduring association.

WHOSE COUNTRY IS THIS ?

Calvin Coolidge says, in February Good Housekeeping: "On every hand we hear that the quality of immigration is not what it used to be. This is unwisely construed as meaning that we must withdraw our faith in mankind and raise rigid barriers always. Such a confession would declare the weakness of our institutions and undermine our faith in the principles on which the government is founded. The continuance of our faith is not interrupted by our intense conviction that there is no room in our midst for those whose direct purpose is political, social or economic mischief, and whose presence jeopardizes the physical or moral health of the community.

"Certain laws of supply and demand take care, in normal times, of the coming and going of the alien. But it may be that today conditions abroad are so intolerable that the men and women run chances in coming over without knowing the actual conditions they must face. Wise immigration laws would deal with such a pressure.

"Any restrictions, except as a necessary and momentary expediency, would assuredly paralyze our national vitality. But measured practically, it would be suicidal for us to let down the bars for the inflowing of cheap manhood, just as, commercially, it would be unsound for this country to allow her markets to be overflodded with cheap goods, the product of a cheap labor. There is no room either for the cheap man or the cheap goods.

"If we believe, as we do, in our political theory that the people are the guardians of the government, we should not subject our government to the bitterness and hatred of those who have not been born in our tradition and are not willing to yield an increase to the strength inherent in our institutions. American liberty is dependent on quality in citizenship. Our obligation is to maintain that citizenship at its best. We must have nothing to do with those who would undermine it. The retroactive immigrant is a danger in our midst. His discontent gives him no time to seize a healthy opportunity to improve himself. His purpose is to tear down. There is no room for him here. He needs to be deported, not as a substitute for, but as a part of his punishment."

PUBLIC SENTIMENT EXPRESSED

The Ottawa Journal reproaches the citizens because in the city elections only 50 per cent. of the registered voters went to the polls. In Vancouver this would be considered a good record in municipal elections. What would the Journal say if the vote polled was less than 20 per cent. of the posible, as happened this week in Vancouver? The Journal says that a 50 per cent. vote leaves the community uncertain whether the feeling of the people is expressed in the result. A vote one-third of 50 per cent. indicates a cheerful indifference on the part of the large majority. But if that is the real popular state of mind how can it be better expressed?—Province.

The Musk Rat.

The musk rat, as its name woulo indicate, is a species of rat. It is found nowhere but in America. Its body is shaped like that of the ordinary rat, but instead of the short, close hair of the land species, it is covered by a thick reddish-brown fur, and because it lives much in the water it has webbed toes. Although very awkward on land, it is lively and playful in water, and is a great swimmer and diver.

Evolution of Clothes Terms

Dozens and dozens of clothes terms there are that indicate the evolution of clothes among our ancestors. Petticoat, which has been used as a not very respectful synonym for women in general, was a garment for men originally, and was the undercoat worn beneath the heavier overcoat. It was fairly long, and eventually the word came to be applied to the garments that evolved from this "petti," or small coat.

Beliefs Concerning Sneezing.

According to Aristotle, if a man was sick sneezing once forbode his death, but sneezing twice his recovery. If the patient was a woman the rule worked the opposite way. A traveler in the woods was threatened with an attack by brigands if he sneezed once, while sneezing twice presaged a happy journey. As a rule, the person sneezing twice in succession will be lucky, but unlucky if it occurs once.

FOOD EXPERT NOW PRAISES TANLAC

Thought His Days of Usefulness Were Over, But Tanlac Overcame His Trouble

"Tanlac has done me a wonderful amount of good, and I am delighted to give it my endorsement," said A. F. Spawn, residing at the Hotel Angelus, Vancouver, B.C., world-renowned expert in dehydrated food products.

Mr. Spawn has visited every country of importance on the map and three times encircled the globe. He is probably the world's best authority on the dehydrating of foods, having given many years close study to that subject. In addition to his Vancouver residence. Mr. Spawn regards Seattle, Wash., as his home.

"Gastric colic is posscibly the most excruciating trouble from which a man ever suffered," continued Mr. Spawn, "and I contracted it four years ago in South Africa. At first the attacks were not frequent and only mildly severe. However, they grew in intensity and frequency, and two years ago caused me so much suffering I quit my business in Africa and started home.

"The day before I was to leave the steamer I picked up an American newspaper and read an account of some one's experience with Tanlac. On landing I began taking it and before the first bottle was gone I noticed releif. I continued taking the medicine right along until I had finished six botles, but long before that the gastric colic was gone.

"I am now in fine condition, thanks to Tanlac, and although eighty years of age am just as much interested as ever in my life work."

MAKING LINCOLN'S DREAM COME TRUE

There is now before Congress the Smith-Towner Education Bill, which provides that education shall be represented in our national government by a secretary in the President's Cabinet, and that $100,000,000 shall be appropriated annually for the removal of illiteracy, the Americanization of the foreign-born, the developement of a program of physical education and health service, the training of teachers, and the equalization of educational opportunity. This money provided for the encouragement of education must be equaled by the state in order that they may participate in the grants allowed. There are those who have asked whether we could afford so large a sum of money for education. In reply it may be pointed out that we spend eight times this amount annually for cigarettes; that for tobacco in various forms we spend nineteen times this amount; that one-half this much is spent for chewing gum; that we spend ten times as much for candy; that perfumery and cosmetics entail an annual expenditure of sevxen times the amount proposed for education. It may be noted as well that it cost us $40,000,000 a day during the time we were actively engaged in the war to establish democracy in the world. One may reasonably ask whether or not we can afford the amount that it cost to fight for democracy two and one-half days in order to make good the promise of democracy.

We have confidence in the answer which America will give. We understand today better than ever before our independence upon the trained intelligence of all our citizens. Our place in the world, the happiness of our people, the perpetuity of our free institutions—all are dependent upon the opportunity for education which is provided in our public schools. America will make good the promise of democracy. The day is coming when by means of the educational opportunities provided throughout the length and breadth of this land "our country shall guarantee to all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life," the ideal which Lincoln said was the foundation of the Republic.—George D. Strayer.

"Solid Leather Shoes"

CLEVERLY WOVEN STORY IS BASIS OF "EARTHBOUND"

In the quiet of a college room three chums were talking over their pipes, of life and its problems, discussing creeds and debating the thousand and one questions that absorb and fascinate youths about to go forth into the world.

Two of the three finally put upon paper the creed upon which they were agreed, a creed which was to regulate their future conduct. The third man refused to subscribe.

"No God, no sin, no future life; nothing but the survival of the fittest, and every man for himself." This creed was signed by Nicholas Desborough and James Rittenshaw. Under their signatures the third man of the trio wrote his opinion of it: "All tommyrot," and signed his name Harvey Breck.

With the creed as their guiding light the two chums entered the business world. Materially, they were very successful. The creed seemed to have brought to them all that men could ask, of comfort, reputation, worldly goods, achievement. Probably it was not applied as extremely as it was written; until Nick entered into an affair with Jim's wife, Daisy. Then it hit home.

"Every man for himself—no sin—the survival of the fittest—" these principles were part of the creed which Jim and Nick had agreed upon; but when that creed struck at the very vitals of his happiness, Jim brushed it aside—and killed his friend. How the soul of a man wins, through agony and tears, to a wonderful redemption, is the theme of the Goldwyn picture "Earthbound," which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

THE GREAT-WEST LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

In another column of this issue will be found the 28th annual report of the Great-West Life Asurance Co.

In August 1892 this Company began business with headquarters at Winnipeg. The late Mr. J. H. Brock was the leading figure for many years in its upbuilding.

Upon his decease, Mr. C. C. Ferguson who had been identified with the company for years as actuary became general manager and actuary and has proved a worthy successor to the late Mr. Brock.

When financial institutions looked upon investments in the West with some doubt, this company, whose directors were all western men who had an abiding faith in its future, invested its funds from year to year in mortgages which assisted farmers to ultimately become successful and which proved of great advantage to the company.

In the 28 years of its existance it has acumulated assets amounting to over $37,000,000 with an annual income of about $10,000,000.

It confines its business almost exclusively to Canada.

For some years it has done business in North Dakota and during 1920 entered the states of Minnesota and Michigan, but the greater part of its $256,000,000 of business is on the lives of Canadians.

NIMMO—WOODHOUSE

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Woodhouse, 2158 Thirteenth avenue west, Vancouver, a very quiet but pretty wedding took place on Saturday evening, Jan. 1, when their only daughter Elsie, was united in marriage to Mr. John Nimmo, of 2154 Thirteenth avenue west, Rev. G. H. Hamilton, B.A., officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was prettily attired in a dress of white satin trimmed with gold beads. Her bridal veil was of white silk net with a sprig of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations, and entered the archway under a bower of green and gold to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Radcliffe. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Margaret Nimmo, who wore a pretty dress of white voile trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and roses. R. Critchley acted as best man. The bride's mother was becomingly attired in a gown of black silk and georgette, and the groom's mother wore a dress of blue georgette. Following the ceremony a reception was held. The groom's gift to the bride was an ivory toilet set and the bride to the groom a gold watch. The bridesmaid was the recipient of a pendant and the best man received a gold tie pin. Mr. and Mrs. Nimmo will make their home in Vancouver.—Province.

CROSSES DIVIDE

Ex-Fire Chief D .R. McDougall crossed the Great Divide on Tuesday night just as the fire bell was ringing for a fire at the north end of Victoria Avenue. Deceased, who was fifty years of age, had been a resident of Fernie for about 13 years and during that time was one of our best citizens. As a public-spirited man he was always willing to do everything in his power for the general welfare of the city and his death is deeply regretted by the whole community. Death was the result of a cancerous growth in the stomach, from which he had suffered for many years. He leaves three sons and a daughter to mourn his death. Deceased was a member of the Odd Fellows, the Rebekahs and the Moose, and a life long Conservative. The funeral will be held from the Roman Catholic church tomorrow morning at nine o'clock. Those wishing to view the remains may do so at the undertaking parlors after 8 o'clock this evening.

POWER CO. MAY BUILD

The 1921 council held its first real business meeting last night, at which all members were present with the exception of His Worship Mayor Henderson, who is in Eastern Canada. Ald. Irvine is acting mayor and presided at the meeting.

The minutes of the former statutory and special meetings were adopted and the way cleared for deputations.

Mr. Roadley again appeared and reiterated his perpetual complaint on his own behalf and those he claimed he represented, against the Garbage Disposal Bylaw. He strongly objected to the present method of collection of garbage and particularly to the minimum 50c per month arbitrary charge to all householders. Acting Mayor Irvine assured Mr. Roadley the new council would give this matter earnest consideration and endeavor to find a solution that would reasonably meet the situation to the satisfaction of all who desire that proper sanitary conditions shall prevail in the city. This matter will be taken up at a special meeting in the near future. Mr. Vanbuskirk voiced a kick as to the manner in which certain householders disregarded the garbage regulations and urged that the civic authorities enforce the measure. He disagreed with Mr. Roadley finding fault with the manner in which the present garbage collector performed his duties, stating that he believed the work was being carried on as well as it was physically possible for anyone to do, and in fact exceeded what was required of him in order to make complete collections where conditions were abominable.

On behalf of an application from the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co. for extension of electric light and power line from the city limits to that plant and adjacent residences, Jos. Longdon appealed to the council to grant the application. He advised that all cost of installation would be borne by the company and they suggested that the meter registering the quantity supplied should be placed in the city limits where it would be easily accessible for reading and the city would also benefit by any line loss occurring between the meter and the consumer. The application was approved with an understanding that in the event of the overload at the city plant at any time becoming too great the company consumers would be the first to be cut off.

S. Herchmer and D. M. Mitchell, members of the Fernie bar, appeared in support of a written application to the council from Police Magistrate Whimster for an increase in salary The requested increase is from $75.00 to $125.00 per month retroactive from May 1, 1920. On regular motion this matter was allowed to remain in abeyance until the return of Mayor Henderson.

J. C. Donald, resident representative of the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., laid a proposal informally before the council with regard to certain unimproved realty, the title to which is in the name of the city, whereby through co-operation and active unison this property could be improved to equal mutual advantage. In brief Mr. Donald's suggestion was that this vacant lot in Block 17 on Baker avenue facing the C.P.R. depot or immediately in the rear of the King Edward Hotel, be leased to the power company on a 99-year basis for a nominal rental or on such other satisfactory basis as to be later agreed upon. The company then, if the contemplated proposition materializes, would undertake the construction of a permanent office building. While this, Mr. Donald emphasized, was all entirely informal, he had gone to the extent of authorizing the company engineering department to prepare plans of a suitable building, which he had hoped he would be able to present to the council but unfortunately through illness these were not completed. Some idea, however, may be gleaned as to what the power company have in mind as to the nature of the building to be erected from the fact that the cost of it would be at least from $25,000 to $30,000. It would be a two-storey sandstone or cement and brick structure of very imposing appearance. It would further be made more attractive by vertical standard one-light or cluster lights method of street lighting placed along the curb of the cement sidewalk surrounding the building. The building would be additionally illuminated by a row of projecting lights along the second storey of similar design to those on the street; while from the roof a large electric display sign would bear the legend, "Fernie, the Centre of Hydro-Electric Development." However, before the company would authorize this project they desire definite assurance that they will have the earnest and active support of the citizens of Fernie and in order to insure this it undoubtedly will be necessary to extend certain concessions of a more or less material nature and thereby awaken a keener interest than if only given moral aid. Such concessions as would be considered ample may be enumerated possibly as first, the 99-year lease at nominal fee; second, exemption from taxation on improved property for a term of years, and free water. On this basis the company would reciprocate, it is understood, to the extent of furnishing all electrical energy required for the premises and street lighting in its vicinity, heat the building and allot to the city ground floor space for display and use as an electric supply department; also corresponding amount of space in basement for store room purposes.

It was pointed out that the location in addition to being so convenient to the business section of the city the advertising value to the city as the centre of hydro-electri power development for this district would be well worth at least some substantial support, as not only would it be the first thing to attract attention of those coming into the city by way of the C.P.R. but would also leave a lasting impression upon the thousands of transients who annually pass through the city by that route. Innumerable instances can be quited to show that following the development of hydro-electric energy industrial and commercial activities in the natural course follow. Mr. Donald took occasion to announce to the council that in view of the satisfactory conditions in regard to closing contracts and the prospects for greater demand upon the company for electric power, recently the capitalization of the B.C. and Alberta Power Co. had been doubled, and they were now going ahead with their two projects simultaneously, viz., Bull River and Elko. While in all contracts executed to date, Dec. 31, 1921 is specified as being the date upon which the company guarantees to deliver power it is expected hydro-electric power will be in Fernie a couple of months earlier or some time in October or early November of this year.

The council listened attentively to Mr. Donald's tentative proposal, and although there was evidence of a keen desire to consider anything which would tend to the advancement and prosperity of the city, it was the concensus of opinion that detailed consideration be left over until plans of the proposed building and all other data were in a more concrete form. Positive asurance was given that the matter would be given most earnest attention.

The Acting Mayor made reference to a report in a previous issue which specified there were 100 applications for relief made to the council whereas there had been only one. The confusion occurred through the statement that 100 cases of unemployment were reported to the council.

The Union of B.C. Municipalities communicated with the council advising that the association were taking up with the provincial government the matter of more improved legislation regarding the administration and financing of schools and hospitals. The council authorized the payment of the $25 annual membership fee to this organization.

Telegraphic advice to the effect that $20,000 worth of city debentures repurchased according to an arrangement made some time ago, had been shipped from the old country, was received, and this advice also contained the information that $8000 or $9000 more city debentures on the same basis were available. On the former transaction by the end of the term for these debentures through the city buying them back now at the favorable figure offered, a saving of $33,000 is the astounding calculation. In view of this the council authorized the repurchase of the additional $9000 on the same basis and subject to the approval of the city bankers.

The Public Works committee submitted two recommendations for approval; the first was authorization for the purchase of a minimum carload of hay and the second that the council furnish gravel gratis to all desiring to construct permanent and standard cement sidewalks within the main part of the city, such standardization to be subject to the approval of the city engineer. Both recommendations were sanctioned.

The annual report of the Medical Health Officer was received and adopted. In this report were a number of recommendations to the council and these were referred to the Health committee to consider and bring in a report at a later meeting. On one matter, however, arising out of this report in connection with the prevalence of smallpox in adjacent localities, the council took immediate action. On a regular motion it was ordered that the school board be notified that all children of school age should be vaccinated by Feb. 28.

The customary batch of accounts was approved for payment.

On request the City Treasurer furnished the following financial statistics: For 1921 to date the cash receipts had been $12,349.58; expenditures $8851.33. Bank balance Jan. 1, 1921, $14,716; Feb. 9, $20,863.

Bylaw 216 being Tax Sale Property Bylaw, received its three formal readings.

In connection with the housing of the Ambulance during the winter season, Ald. Currie announced that S. Graham had complied with his request for permision to house this vehicle in the shed at the rear of the 41 Market. The city clerk was instructed to communicate with Mr. Graham thanking him for extending this privilege to the city.

HOCKEY

In the return game on Monday night Fernie took Cranbrook's measure by the score of 5-0. At no time during the game were the visitors dangerous, the Fernie goaltender never being contested throughout the entire game, while the superiority of the Fernie players kept the Cranbrook defence in hot water all the time.

The game turned out very disappointing to the fans, being anything but hockey; rough tactics ensued, fathered in the Cranbrook game and grew in intensity until players began to clash, resulting in a "merry melee" between spectators and players during the latter part of the game. The ice was finally cleared and the last four minutes of play resumed with five men to each side. Penalties were handed out to five players for a total of 17 minutes.

Bishop Wilson was again the leading goal-getter, adding three more to his string, while Wicken and J. Commons got one each. Wilson netted the first two on rushes: the net was on a nice piece of combination down the ice, Wilson to Dicken to Commons. The second period was scoreless, while in the third Wilson and Dicken each added one on individual rushes. Taylor of Cranbrook, received a nasty gash in the cheek, having to visit the hospital.

Fernie—Goal, Colton; defence, M. Commons and Kirkpatrick; centre, B. Wilson; wings, Dicken and J. Commons. Subs., Glover and Wilson.

Referee, Rod McLeod.

On Wednesday afternoon Waldo invaded Cranbrook and played a tie game, each team scoring 3 times. We have meagre particulars but Waldo reports having run up against a rough aggregation.

The Fernie Ladies Hockey Team Wednesday night defeated the Waldo ladies in a return game here by a score of five goals to nil. The ice was very heavy and consesuently slowed down the speed of the local sextette but they were easily the superior aggregation. Miss Nelson in the Fernie goal was never tested during the entire game.

The scoring started early in the first period when Miss Dragon found the net. Shortly afterwards Miss Hammil made a nice run from centre ice and added the second tally.

The second period was blank of scoring most of the play being confined to the Waldo half of the ice, but Waldo packed their goal and the Fernieites were unable to penetrate the defence.

The third period was of a more lively character, Waldo endeavoring to break their goose egg and Fernie determined to increase their score. After ten minutes of play Miss Fenwick in a splendid run in which she passed every player of the Waldo team, finished with the best shot of the game and added another tally. Miss Dragon and Miss Schagel both scored for Fernie in the last few minutes of the game. Miss Richardson of Fernie was the official "bad man," having to serve two terms in the penalty box.

Outstanding for Waldo were the Misses Ross and Miss Henderson.

The line-up was:

Waldo—Goal, Mrs. Lund; point, Miss Henderson; cover, Miss Peterson; wings, Miss McKay and Miss G. Ross; centre, Miss E. Ross.

The Sunday previous the teams met at Waldo, Fernie emerging victorious by a score of 4-1. After the game the Fernie players were the guests of Mrs. W. McKay, of the Waldo Hotel, who ably looked after their wants before returning home.

Next Wednesday, weather permitting, the Calgary Regents will play their return game here. Owing to the Regents having to return on the evening train, the game will be played during the afternoon and will be started at 4.30 sharp.

FERNIE VS. CRANBROOK

South Ft. George, Feb. 7, 1921.
Editor Fernie Free Press:

I have a little news item that may be appreciated by your local readers, in the way of a curling game played at Prince George on Feb. 6, between teams representing Fernie and Cranbrook, Fernie winning by a score of 13 to 7.

The following were the teams:

Cranbrook—J. Pidgeon, skip; J. D. Corning, Robt. Garvie and William Golder, all residents of Cranbrook a few years ago and are well known there.

P. E. Wilson, late county judge of East Kootenay, was to have skipped the Cranbrook rink but owing to a call out of town was unable to do so. Through his and other Kootenay people's efforts here a curling rink with two sheets of ice was built this winter and has proved to be a good drawing card.

Trusting Fernie is doing as well at home and with best regards.

Sincerely,
A. McNeill.

WHY CHANGE YOUR WIFE

Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount Artcraft production, "Why Change Your Wife?" will come to the Orpheum Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 16-17. It is described as a striking drama of married life lavishly presented. Gloria Swanson and Thomas Meighan are the featured players. The story is by William DeMille.

The plot centres around Robert and Beth Gordon, married for ten years but now beginning to drift apart. Beth was a charming girl. She has become a too wifely wife and bores her husband with her excessive solicitude for his comforts. He finds diversion in the company of vivacious, pleasure-loving Sally Clark. Literal-minded Beth imagines them in love. A divorce. Too late Beth discovers why she lost her husband and, blosoming like a rose, developes into society's gayest figure. Sally, on the other hand, is transformed by marriage into a worse household drudge than ever Beth was. Robert's eyes are opened when he again sees Beth, and through a dramatic series of events they are brought happily together.

The picture has been produced with all the beauty of setting, mastery of screen technique, and admirable attention to detail that was characteristic of Cecil B. DeMille in "Male and Female" and his other cinema classics. Sada Cowan and Olga Printzlau furnished the scenario.

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter:—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing cough has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corri, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. NORTHERN FURS BEST

Furs have their orign in perhaps the lowest class of society, and end at the top. Owing entirely to fashion, a skin looked on as being common at one time, in a few months or years may be regarded as most exclusive and pretty.

The most beautiful furs are native to North America and are most fit for furriers' purposes when thoroly prime. There are four seasons—spring, summer, fall and winter. When the first sign of spring comes, the fur loosens and gradually falls out, until, in midsummer the animal may be nearly bare of fur and when the fall comes, a new coat comes out and is a beautiful rich, glossy color, improving in length and destiny until January or February, when the color commences to fade out and the life leave it.

The character of the country inhabited has much to do with the color. If the country is heavily wooded, the fur is darkest and best, and when the partly open country is reached that sleek, lustrous look is gone, and when reaching the Arctic reigons, where there is no shelter, all furs are white or of a light shade. This is the reason why northern British Columbia to Labrador killed furs are preferred.

Amphibious animals differ from land animals, as the cold water does not allow the seasons to be so noticeable. Take for instance, the fur, seal. He inhabits waters that are always of about the same temprature. In the summer he is in Alaskan waters, but as soon as the water commences to get cold in the fall he starts south then in the spring when the water warms, away he goes back to the north, consequently his fur falls out so gradually that it is not noticeable.

When land furs are thoroly prime, all substance is drawn from the hide to the fur so that the leather is thin and papery, while on the other hand, when the fur is shed the leather is at least four times as thick as the prime leather, and cannot be used for furriers' purposes on account of its weight, until until after being shaved down, and as the top hair of all animals is rutted on the inside of the hide, this shaving process cuts the roots and causes the hair to fall out leaving only the fur, which is only rooted on the outside of the hide. Fur seals are unhaired in this way, also with razor-edged knives.

One can hardly understand why a fur garment may be worth from $10 to $1000, depending first on the season in which it was taken, and second on the color. The reason color is placed in second place is because the dyer's art has been so perfected that if the color is lacking, it can soon be produced, but if the quality is lacking, nothing can produce it. Another feature that influences the value of furs is the way it is handled. Raw fur dealers pay most for skins that have been carefully removed from the animal and air dried. Any other treatment lowers the value of the skin, because all manufacturing processes are arranged to handle furs in just one state, as it was when first removed from the animal, so that the first thing the manufacturer does with a skin is to soak it in water.

If a trapper has dried the skin in the sun, the natural oil will be so congealed that it refuses to soften; or, if the skin was dried by the heat of a stove, the greases in it will be burned, and instead of softening, will break like a soda biscuit; or if properly dried in a reasonable time after being removed from the animal, the hide may have sweated, in which case on it being softened again the hair will fall.

The Indian, contrary perhaps to what most people suppose, did not understand how to trap anything excepting the animal required for actull sustenance. His naturally indolent habits were opposed to work; so that the Hudsin's Bay Company not only found it necessary to clothe the Indian so that he could stand the cold, but had to teach him how to hunt and trap in a commercial wey.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

REMARKS

Pool Rooms—There are seven pool rooms in your city and these have been visited at intervals, no complaints have been received, and no charges preferred. These establishments have been conducted in a fairly creditable manner by their owners, a little more attention can be given to permitting those under age frequenting same.

Theatres—We have two Cinematographs and one Theatre, considerable credit is due to their owners for the manner in which they are conducted.

Hotels—We have eleven licensed Hotels of various classes, and during the eight months in question, convictions have been entered against nine for violations of the Prohibiton Act and Beverage By-Law.

Upon takng over the department, I found the closing of the bars rather slack, but I am glad to be able to report that I now find that the bars close up on time and without being told, which is a considerable improvement I find the hotel proprietors very willing in giving the authorities any information when same is requested, which is a great help to the Department when persons wanted are being detected.

Sanitation—Upon my arrival in your City, I noticed the same very dirty, in that citizens were dumping cans, refuse, etc., wherever they pleased, but during the last few months, the City Fathers saw fit to put a scavenging system into action, and avery good move; while this system

Provincial Prisoners— During the period in question Forty-five prisoners have been received from outside points, costs of keep of same being $367.00

Dogs, Cattle, Etc.,—One Hundred and Twenty-three dog licenses have been issued, and eleven destroyed. Forty-six head of Cattle and Horses is not altogether working to the satisfaction of all concerned, yet I feel sure that in time and with a few changes, it will work out O. K.

I notice a great difference in the cleanliness of the City, and its appearance is good to strangers visiting Fernie.

I earnestly request that householders support and assist this movement along.

Milk—We have 17 Milk Dealers in and around the vicinity of the City, during the summer these premises were inspected by Dr. Corsan and the writer, the stables and surroundings found to be clean and sanitary.

Complaints—Many minor reports have been received and investigated by the Police and arranged to the satisfaction of all concerned without prosecution and inconveniencing citizens further.

Motor Trafic Act—During the period in question, several Motor Accidents have been reported. I am glad to say with no serious damage. I would respectfully request that all owners and drivers of motor vehicles co-operate with us in observing this act, thereby making it safe for all pedestrians; accidents can be prevented by closer observance of the rule of the Motor Traffic Act.

Prohibition Act—This is a subject which I find is very difficult to pass remarks on, but I must say I find it a very hard act to work on, in so far, that it is very unpopular and very little support is given by citizens for enforcement. From the vote taken a few months back the citizens of the Province distinctly stated what they wanted, especially in the rity of Fernie, and until such time as the Province takes some action in putting a new act into operation, the boot legging business will flourish. The Act itself is unfair and it is to be hoped that when the new act is framed and in operation, that the citizens of the Province will support its enforcement.

Second Hand Stores— We have one Second hand store in the City. I would strongly reccommend, that a clause in your License By-Law be entered regulating and governing same, whereby a record of all property purchased and sold be kept, with description of the vendors and buyers, and that a copy of same be turned into the Police Office once a week. This will greatly assist the Police in regard to stolen property.

Pound By-Law—A considerable number of complaints have been received regarding cattle and horses running at large, destroying property and annoying citizens at night. These complaints have been attended to with considerable difficulty; there being only one constable on duty at nights.

However when the spring of 1921 arrives and if complaints continue in this line, the stray animals will not only be impounded and the usual fees charged, but the offenders will be compelled to appear before the City Magistrate and stand the consequences.

Uniforms—The uniforms of both Constables Clarkestone and Dunlap are looking very shabby; in fact are worn out, and I would request that a requisition be granted for the purchase of two Tunics, four pair of Pants and two Caps.

We have three overcoats on hand but none of these fit the members of the force; with the exception of one the others are in good condition, I would suggest that these be sold. At the present your force are supplying themselves with Mackinaws and Raincoats, this should not be.

City Prisoners— During the eight months in question Two Hundred and one prisoners have been received, of this, Twenty-six have served out their time, mhile in charge of special constable Biggs.

During the summer months, prisoners did a considerable amount of work on the streets, and I am of the opinion that the cost of the keep of the prisoners during the year, should be debited to the Works and Property Department and credit given to my Department. have ben impounded, fees collcted for same amounting to $589.00.

Crime—It gives me much pleasure in being able to inform you that your City has been free from crime of serious nature.

I desire to extend my thanks to both Constables Clarkestone and Dunlap for the willing way in which they have carried out their duties.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Inspertor Dunwoody of the Provincial Police and members under his command, for the valuable assistance and courteous treatment received at all times.

In conclusion, I desire to thank your Honorable Board for the valuable assistance rendered to me during the eight months in question, in the work of the Department and many kindnesses and courtesies shown to me at all times, and I take this opportunity of wishing you the compliments of the season.

I have the honor to be, Sirs, your obedient servant
S. O. Lawson, Chief of Police.

"THE DUMBELLS"

No matter what your mood, whether despondent, dejected, downhearted or cynical, the "Dumbells" in their second edition of "Biff, Bing, Bang," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Friday, Febuary 18th, will draw you out of the Slough of Despond and send you away feeling that it's a grand old world after all.

The humor, partly drawn from the fringes of the war and the balance from peace-time pursuits, is irresistable. And ze girls, mon cher ami, ze girls—are what you call it—superb. Ross Hamilton, the famous 'Marjorie' is probably the most delightful, but it keeps him "vamping" overtime to maintain his social prominence over 'Jock' Holand, Fred Fenwick, Charlie McLean and that Sarah Bernhardt of the soldier shows, Leonard Young, whose characterization of the Duchess is one of the finest bits of acting ever done by a Canadian soldier.

The comedy antics of Red Newman, Jack McLaren and Jimmy Goode are enough to bring sucess to any show and the straight singing and romantic acting of Albert Plukett has caused many a maiden's heart to flutter.

The second edition of "Biff, Bing, Bang" is an entirely new version of their original overseas revue, only one or two of the original numbers have been retained.

The setings and costumes for the new show are as bright and new as the show itself, while the lighting efffects are said to be second to none. Captain M. W. Plunkett, under whose direction the "Dumbells" are touring, has made a definite success of the so-called soldier shows and his clever "Dumbells" belong to Canada and are as firmly established here as are Ziegfeld's Follies in New York.

Fernie, B.C., Feb. 8, 1921.

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—It has been brought to our notice that there is an impression amongst the football fans and the general public that the cup known as the "Cooper Cup' was donated and purchased by Wm. Cooper, a former employee of the Grand Central Hotel. This impression should be corrected by a statement of fact which is as follows: Toward the end of the football season it was suggested that a little more zest could be given to the game and the proprietors of the Grand Central Hotel decided to donate a cup, which through some inadventure became known as the Cooper Cup, which gave a former employee of ours undue advertisement, and we, the Perry brothers, think it only fair that the public should know the facts, which anyone who cares to verify can see for himself, in the shape of the original check made out by us to Liphardt, the jeweler.

Yours respectfully,
Perry Brothers.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

BANKS WON'T PAY IN GOLD

There is a high school in Toronto that has for many years given a prize of $20 in gold to the student writing the best essay on a subject designated by the staff. This year, when the prize was presented to the winning pupil, it was not in the shape of a $20 gold piece, but instead two ten-dollar bills were given to the winning pupil; the principal of the school, in a word of apology, stated that he had been to as many banks as he had time to get around to, but could not get any gold.

He could have gone to every bank in Canada—and there are about 4,8000 of them—and he would not have been able to get $20 in gold.

The man who promised to give his daughter $50 in gold when she came of age; the people who got up a subscription to give a purse of gold to a departing minister; they have all learned the same thing. That the scarcest thing in Canada today is gold, and that unless a person owns a gold mine or is in the business of manufacturing jewelry it is just about impossible to get it.

What is the reason for this state of affairs? The answer is: The war.

Before the war bonds of the Dominion of Canada and of our provinces and cities were payable in gold; Dominion Government notes and bank notes could be exchanged for gold at any bank. It was very easy to get gold in any quantity. But when Canada got into the war its national expenditures soared. The government increased the circulation of its notes, ad other nations did the same thing. And to back up the hugely increased amount of paper money in circulation the nations began to grasp for gold, the valuable yellow metal that is the basis of the money system of the world. They wanted the gold to back up the notes they were issuing. Canada had to take strenuous steps to see that none of its gold supply was wasted; that none of it drifted out of the country or was hoarded by ignorant folks, who, under the stress of war fevor, might become frightened of paper money and of the banks and convert their funds into gold to be buried.

Sir Thomas White asked the banks to refuse to pay out gold and steps were taken to see that no gold was put into circulation. Instead, the nation's supply of gold was placed in reserve at the mint at Ottawa. Later it was made an offence to export gold from Canada without permission.

The war is over now; why have gold payments not been resumed? The answer to this is, that if gold payments were resumed and the export of gold permitted, practically every ounce of gold in Canada would leave the country within a few days.

A Canadian dollar bill is only worth about 85 cents in New York at the present time. A Canadian five-dollar bill is worth about $4.25. But a Canadian $5 gold piece in New York would be worth $5, because it is absolute in value an it not effected by fluctuations in the rate of exchange. If it were posible for Canadian business men to get gold from their banks they would not send cheques, drafts or Canadian bills to New York as payment for the goods they import from the United States. Instead of losing 15 per cent. on their money in this way, they would send gold in payment and lose nothing. And because of the balance of trade against Canada in the United States is many hundreds of millions of dollars, while the total gold supply of the country is but a small fraction of that, it is obviously impossible for the Canadian government, thru the banks, to indiscriminately pay out gold upon demand What is fair for one is fair to another, and that is why the rule is not relared even for the man who wants only a $5 gold piece.

Granting that there was enough gold in the world to settle all international trade debts, and that every nation paid its debts to every other nation in gold, exchange rates would become normal again, of course, but there would be a strange condition of affairs existing. Most of the world's gold would be in the United States; there woud be dozens of nations without an ounce of gold in their treasury. As it is, the United States has about half of all the gold in the world and is in the peculiar position of having more gold than it wants. It is paying the price of being at the top of the trade world from a debit and credit standpoint.

But there isn't enough gold in the world to make such a settling up of debts possible.

It may be many years before it will be possible to obtain gold freely in Canada. In the United States gold payments were suspended by the government until 1879, following the Civil War in that country. That was fourteen years. It may easily be that long in Canada, altho much depends upon Britain's ability to bring the pound sterling to somethng around par, which would enable Canada to pay its debts in the United States thru the motherland in the three-cornered manner in which they were settled before the war.

An interesting sidelight on this matter is the way the problem has touched the gold mines of Northern Ontario. Had the export of gold not been prohibited, these mines could have shipped their metal to New York and sold it for the equivalent of New York funds, thus making a big profit in addition to their regular earnings. The government would not permit them to ship their gold out of the country, but instead gave them the full American price for their product delivered at the mint at Ottawa. It is a heavy expense to the government, but it is felt that the mines are entitled to a rebate of what this form of government control has cost them.

The vagaries of the Doukhobors residents of Canada are as notorious as the peculiar notion of the people of the land they came from, Russia. Peter Veregin, the leader of the colonies, has elaborated a scheme for the economic regeneration of Canada which we fear will not appeal to persons who have been accustomed to a different kind of a diet. It is too "Blood-thirsty."

Premier Lenine, although a Bolshevik and not an autocrat, has undergone an experience which was the common lot of all the Czars of all the Russias. He has been bombarded and narrowly escaped with his life. Eight of his guards were killed by the explosion, so that Lenine, apparently, travels with all the pomp and circumstances of an exalted ruler. Republican simplicity perhaps would be dangerous in democratic Russia.

COULD NOT CLOSE FINGERS

Here is another instance of the remarkable reconstructive powers of Tanlac as related recently by Charles Klemmer, of 928 13th Street, Vancouver, B. C., a well-known resident there for the past twenty-one years.

"I'm actually feeling so fine since I got Tanlac," he said "that, although I'm seventy-two years of age, I am going north in a little while to trap during the winter. I had suffered with rehumatic pains in my arms for five years, and at times it was just almost unbearable. Why, I could hardly raise my hands to my head, and my fingers were so stiff I couldn't close them. My appetite was very poor and even the little I did eat bloated me up with gas until my breathing was very difficult. My back pained me terribly and for days I was hardly able to move about. At night my sleep was very restless, and when I got up in the morning I felt worse than when I went to bed.

"Well sir, I found a real medicine when I got Tanlac, for it has simply made me feel like an altogether different person. I have a good appetite now, eat just anything I want and never have an ache or pain of any kind. Why, I'm feeling just fine in every way and I want to let others know how Tanlac has fixed me up in such good health."

MR. A. B. MACDONALD LEAVING CRANBROOK

The decision of Mr. A. B. Macdonald, K. C., to sever his connections with Cranbrook and Cranbrook institutions, after a residence here of thirteen years, will not meet withe the approval of those prominently identified with the business and industrial life of East Kotenay.

Mr. Macdonald came to Cranbrook from Brussels, Ontario, to join partnership with the late Mr. Harvey and M. A. Macdonald, K. C., in May, 1908 and from that date has been an outstanding figure in the community, coming into prominence and achieving success as a company solicitor and advisor. In 1909, upon Mr. Harvey leaving for the terminal city, the partnership was carried on by M. A. and A. B. Macdonald. In 1912 M. A. Macdonald left for the coast and entered a larger sphere of activity. The same year the firm of Macdonald and Nisbet was formed, Mr. Nisbet coming to Cranbrook from Moosemni, Saskatchewan. Mr. Nisbet and Mr. Macdonald having studied law at Osgoode, Toronto, during the same year.

Mr. Macdonald has been identified in an active way, as shareholder, director or solicitor in practically every industrial company in the district. Always reticent about his work and invariably avoiding publicity in connection with his business dealings and his firms large practice in East Kootenay. The Courier labored hard to ascertain the information which made up this story.

The practice will be continued by Mr. W. A. Nisbet, who is well and favorably known and who has arranged a partnership with Mr. Alan Graham, of the firm of Herchmer & Graham, Fernie. The new firm will be styled Nisbet & Graham. Mr. Graham has practiced successfully in Fernie during the last seven years and has many friends in this district, where he is well known.

Mr. Macdonald will remain in Cranbrook for about two months, before leaving for Vancouver, where he will enter into partnership withe his brother, Mr. M. A. Macdonald, K. C., M. L. A.

Mr. and Mrs Macdonald will be greatly missed in business and social circles in Cranbrook, Mrs. Macdonald taking a leading part in the many public functions held here in recent years, giving of her time and talent gratuitously.—Courier.

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES IN "WHY CHANGE YOUR WIFE"

Gowns that for beauty and style outrival anything ever shown on the screen are a feature of Cecil B. De Mille's latest screen masterpiece, "Why Change Your Wife?" Designed especially for this production by one of the world's premier designers, these costumes are the final word in fashion and sheer beauty.

Gloria Swanson and Bebe Daniels, who play the leading feminine roles, display wardrobes which run the full gamut of my lady's wardrobe. Gorgeous negliges, simple and dignified house dresses, and stunning evening gowns are displayed at every angle of the story.

In addition to the principals, a number of leser screen luminaries appear in the picture and the same care has been taken in gowning these characters that was displayed with the more important roles. A scene in a shop of a fashionable modiste and various hotel and ball room scenes furnish opportunities for the display of many fascinating gowns of every variety.

"Why Change Your Wife" will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, February 16 and 17.

GERMAN INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

The Krupps, who were the chief abbettors of militarism in Germany and were therefore largely responsible for the ruin of the country, have completely converted their works. They no longer turn out engines of war; they are producing implements for use in the arts of peace. They did not make a single gun during the past year, but their machinery has been busy and their profits large, according to dispatches appearing in the newspapers. In fact they are said to be making more money than ever they did during the period when Germany was resplendent in "shinning armor" and the sun of the former Kaiser shone in the full effulgence of its glory. So there is one department of Teutonic activity which has not been ruined, notwithstanding protests to the Allied Governments that Germany is economically prostrate and therefore unable to fulfil her obligations under the Treaty of Versailles. Apparently the depreciation in the value of the mark, notwithstanding popuar opinion to the contrary, has been stimulating to the business of German concerns which are in a position to place their products on foreign markets. The Germans, notwithstanding their many objectional attributes are naturally thrifty, and necessity and the obligations they incured because of military defeat, compel them to work. They are not doing business with the great nations who were their enemies in the war except to the extent nominated in the bond, exacted from them as a basis of peace. But their ports are becoming busy again. Perhaps some authority on economics can explain the secret of their increasing industrial activity.

February 11th 1921.

I told you in the paper in the year of 1918 that the man I lived with from nine years old up to twenty-one years old and I were compulsed to drink whiskey in the harvest time, literal whiskey from a flask not as sum have suggested it to be un literal whiskey and the compulsion of a boy to be prohibit from company, half dozen neighbors rebuked that idea and as sum people do not understand yet, understand this paragraph which I written to you in 1918 saying I will write you a paragraph to explain myself in my written of January 20 of 1918 as sum people did not understand it when I stated in my first letter in 1918, January 20 that if any boy be thus prohibited you know that it is lible to produce som injustice even to that production of garish any boy if he be prohibited from company it is likely to this delusion and as I told you of plural false suggested aded to this self delusion which I am as clear of as you and I would tell God the same truth that is what I deny that which I did not do tho it written to think it not. Strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you as though some strange thing happened unto you, see 1st Peter, Chap.4, verse 12 and I have had all my life the name of bein truthful honest and good pay and I have no pleasure in responding to any random as a man whos name is Robersn after he had read som of my religious letters he said in the Elsbury paper that I Sam is alternated and I say I would to God that all the world were alternated from nature to grace I have only time to respond to the upbuilding of God's Kingdom and as Mrs Ahab I have delt with such people, see 1st Kings, Chap. 21, and sum men and many ladys do grasp my hand and consult me of the most high and anointed Kings of Kings it reminds me of the woman who anointed the head of Jesus with very precious ointment and she obtainefd a great memorial, se Matthew, chap. 26, verses 6-13, and in recent years I have often met the banker and his wife on the streets and the banker did doff his hat to me and his wife she did scrape and bowe thus I did see that they were quite civilise and had respect for their self so as to respect any man kind who respects him self so as to confess Jesus Christ before this wicked world and it is written that no man will claim the Lord but he that is of the Lord for man do not like to claim the Lord no how and Hebrews, chap. 10 verse 38 tells us that the just shall live by faith and if the world wonted to believe the truth it would beliefe the word of God through Jesus Christ, tho creed fighting and sluring Gods elect people is not prudent as you can be robed of your property and also of your life tho you can not be robed of your faith, see Hebrews chap.11, verses 1-40, that which we are taughto f this world will soon vanish a way with the flesh and that which we are taught of the other world will abide with the spirit infinitely thus we see that the teaching of the Kingdom of the most high God is the highest school that ever was taught in this world.

MURDERS WIFE THEN SUICIDES

YAHK, Feb. 13.—Saturday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock a shocking tragedy ocured in the kitchen of the Commercial Hotel, resulting in the death of Mrs. Todd and her divorced husband, A. F. Broadhagen, who arrived on the westbound train at 4 p. m.

Going to the Commercial Hotel, where Mrs. Todd was employed, upon hearing shots fired within the kitchen T. C. Lauson, proprietor, rushed to the scene to find Mr. Broadhagen had fatally shot Mrs. Todd and taken his own life. Both died instantly.

Four thousand eight hundred and seventeen electors were disfranchised in Victoria through failing to vote in the recent provincial election and will be required to again qualify in order to vote in subsequent elections. Under the amended Elections Act, those whose names are on the voters' lists must cast their ballot at any provincial election, or, failing this, they must requalify.

OUT AFTER BOOTLEGGERS

The activities of the city police force under the supervision of Chief Lawson in connection with doubtful or questionable characters who sojourn in the city for varying periods, have gradually had the effect of freeing the city from these undesirables, and also in a greater measure curtailed their nefarious practices. The force is continually on the job and particularly the chief, so yesterday morning just prior to the arrival of the westbound passenger, noticing a party of four who, while having conducted themselves in what might be termed a reasonably propes manner, had nevertheless from their exhibitions of desires to lead a mildly gay life, and having apparently ample means to satisfy these desires without any given avocations, had aroused the curiosity of the force. Consequently when the chief saw this party with their hand baggage prepared to leave the city, he decided that the said hand luggage at least deserved official inspection. He made this demand accordingly and was confronted with the somewhat astounding discovery that two grips contained some 18 or 20 bottles, presumably intoxicating liquor, all of which were sealed with private seals, labelled, showing the dates and from whom they had been acquired, and these labels bore initials. The chief was then informed that the party were operatives of a private detective agency and produced credentials to this effect. The chief thereupon retained an exhibit from each grip, and allowed the men to depart, but further took the precaution to communicate with the Vancouver office of the agency and established bona fides of the operatives. Further developments of the matter, which the activities of the police were instrumental in exposing, will undobtedly be awaited with keen interest on the part of those who may have had business dealings with these parties. From information available the operations have been carried on for possibly the past six weeks and without the slightest suspicion as to the true status of the operatives.

ERRONEOUS RUMOR

It has been variously rumored around Fernie that the British Columbia and Alberta Power Company, Limited, has gone into liquidation. The only possible excuse for such rumor is an advertisement which has been running in the Fernie Free Press and Cranbrook Courier to the effect that the Bull River Electric Light and Power Company, Limited, was going out of business and that the affairs of the company were in liquidation. This defunct power company should not be confused with the British Columbia and Alberta Power Company, Limited which has already spent in the neighborhood of $150,000 towards the actual development of power sites on Bull River and Elk River. This new company has ample funds and is backed by years of experience in the operation of hydro-electric, railways, gas, and water works utilities, and it can be definitely stated that they are here to stay, and the ultimate completion of all their plans should give a tremendous impetus to business generally in East Kootenay District.

The Free Press, on hearing of this rumor, went direct to an official of the Company in order to get a positive denial of the rumor which has been current. This rumor was easily disposed of, and the fact that the company has a large amount of business contracted for, and delivery of current by December of this year has been absolutely gauranteed, should be evidence enough that this undertaking is boni fide and will be carried through to a successful conclusion.

N. W. Woodhouse, an alleged dealer in dope, was arrested at the coast this week and brought to Fernie on information supplied by the Mounted Police. The evidence consisted of a suit case left at a hotel in Yahk, which contained about $5000 worth of dope put up in bottles and packages with labels on each. Upon investigation being made, however, it was found that the stuff was only salts and that Woodhouse had been hoaxed by some New York sharps and left the stuff at the Yahk hotel in disgust. He is still under arrest, however.

COMMERCE V. HOME & IMPERIAL

The staff of the Bank of Commerce having challenged the united staffs of the Home and Imperial banks to a game of hockey, the match was pulled off last night. Although the acceptance of the challenge was couched in somewhat insulting language, chiefly to the effect that it was advisable that a relief staff should be held in readiness at Vancouver for the following business day, the Commerce answered the insult in the most effective way by winning easily by a score of seven goals to three.

Probably the most outstanding feature of the game was the fact that although the United Banks were represented solely by male players, the winning team played with three of the fairer sex on the line-up.

The following was the line-up:

Commerce.		Home-Imperial
	Goal
Miss Wood		E. Bawlings
	Defence
E. L. Colton		W. Bird
H. F. Wallace		G. Taynton
	Centre
D. G. Macko		J. McDougall
	Right Wing
Miss Dragon		F. Beale
	Left Wing
Miss Fenwick		K. Colton

Referee—R. Colton.

As a result the staff of the Commerce will be the guests af the United Banks at a supper to be held at the Fernie Hotel.

The two orders were represented by Mrs. J. L. Gates, 1st Vice Regent, I. O.D.E., and Major G. G. Moffatt, chairman of the local branch of the Navy League, who presented the prizes; while Mrs. Herchmer in the unavoidable absence of the chairman of the School Board, acted for the Strathcona Trust. Others present were Mrs. H. McLean, Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Miss Brown, educational secretary, Navy League and Mr. Corbett, secretary, Navy League.

The cordial welcome given them by the Principals, Teachers and Pupils was greatly appreciated. Both Mr. Sheffield and Mr. Beddome expressed the regret of the staff and pupils at losing Lieut. Helmsing from the British Columbia Branch, winning as he did the immediate confidence and attention of the scholars; they felt his worth was of great educational value in the schools. That he had also won their hearts was evident by the way his name rang through the Assembly Hall and the three rousing cheers that followed.

The splendid discipline in marching and the rigid deportment while singing the National Anthem by the pupils was especially commendable.

The winners of the Navy League Prizes at the Coal Creek School were, Ross Workman, Book and Certificate, 1st Prize; Edward Coglan, Book and Certificate, 2nd Prize.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

A. I. Fisher returned from Vancouver yesterday where he attended the Court of Appeal where he was interested in several cases. The Farquharson-G. N. case was postponed until the first week in March. The appeal of D. Mitchell, in the case of Cody vs. a Chinaman was dismissed. The Kerr liquor case was heard and judgment reserved. In connection with the Kerr case the Victoria Times says:-

In the Court of Appeal to-day the appeal of Rex versus Kerr was continued from Friday last. W. D. Carter, K.C., for the Crown, completed his argument. The appeal is one by the Crown from a judgment of his Honor Judge Thompson, Fernie County Court, who quashed a conviction of the police magistrate against Kerr, who was charged with having liquor in other than a private dwelling, under the Prohibition Act.

E. P. Davis, K. C., opened the case for the respondent to-day, endeavoring to show that Kerr had liquor in what was in fact a private dwelling.

The argument turned on the word "dwelling," which counsel held was not to be confused with a building. There might be any number of dwellings in the one building, and each would be private, provided they had a separate means of ingress and egress to the public street, and there was no communication between such apartments or rooms.

The character of one of these dwellings did not affect the others, which in the event of the former being commercial or public, did not make the remainder any the less private, held counsel.

Mr. Davis cited the case of duplex houses, with separate means of ingress for each floor, as distinguished but somewhat analogous to semi-detached houses. The case proceeded all morning, turning in the latter stages on the identity of a common passage between the dwellings in question, as to whether this was private or not. The case is important, as the outcome will affect a point in the definition of dwelling that is at the moment in contradictory use in the law of the country, it was stated. If the Crown should gain the point it will establish an authority for similar cases, and if the appealant is successful it will throw a number of similar convctions open to appeal.

The case of Cody vs. Jang Yee was heard before the Court of Appeal at Victoria on the 14th inst., and the appeal of the defendant dismissed. This was a case in which the plaintiff, Geo. Cody, had brought action for balance due for certain work done under a contract and extras. The contention of the defendant was that the plaintiff had not complied with his contract and therefore could not recover. His Honor Judge Thompson in the court below held that the contract had been substantially performed and gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff subject to an abatement, which judgment has not been affirmed by the Court of Appeal. A. I. Fisher for Mr. Cody; Ian A. Mackenzie, Vancouver, for appellant.

LIQUOR PROFITS MAY BE LARGE

That Government control and sale of liquor, if properly managed, should result in substantial tax relief in British Columbia, amounting to possibly as much as $6 000,000. yearly is the belief of Mr. H. B. Thomson, former food controller of this province.

Mr. Thomson, in stating his views, predicts that the job of effectively administerng the liquor business would soon be recognized as the heaviest confronting the government, and declared that the appointment of a cabinet minister whose sole duty would be the administration of liquor control affairs, would be essential to the efficient handling of the problem.

Mr. Thomson made these statements when asked for his opinion of the proposal of some British Columbia salmon packers that the government assist them in the sale of 750,000 cases of salmon by using the purchasing power aforded by the sales of liquor.

"I have not gone into the present season's situation as regards the disposal of the British Columbia salmon canner's pack, but quite appreciate the difficulties in which they find themselves," said Mr. Thomson. "Any way the government could assist them to dispose of their product, would circulate so much money every year in the country, because if we cannot get the money back into the province for our products, there will be very little to circulate and pay out in wages."

Mr. Thomson was asked what he considered would be the purchasing power in money that the control and handling of the liquor trade would give the government.

"That is a difficult question," he replied. "The control of liquor will be a monopoly, and prices and profits may be fixed to yield almost any revenue. The government, while taking care to make a good round profit, would have to guard against class legislation which would have the effect of allowing the rich to enjoy what the poor could not buy.

"Taking into consideration the requirements and the vast possibilities of expansion, it would be fair to estimate a turnover of about $30 000,000 a year, and this should yield a net profit to the treasury of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 annually.

If the business were economically handled, it should have the result of cutting the individual taxpayer's burden in half, and leave a sufficient amount to provide adequate funds for the maintenance of roads and hospitals and similar institutions," continued Mr. Thomson. "This can be figured out by ascertaining our normal revenue from lands, minerals, timber and other basic sources and only taking into account the individual taxpayer's contribution."

Asked if taxes were likely to increase Mr. Thomson pointed out that the world was now passing through an era of reconstruction, accompanied by conditions entirely different from the old order of things, and he quoted some figures to show some of the vast fiscal changes that have taken place within the past few years.

"The demands on our governments," he said, "are far greater than they were before the war, and the money must be found somewhere. Few people know that the burden of debt upon the 8 000,000 people of Canada, as far as the Dominion is concerned, exclusive of all provincial and municipal indebtedness, is now more than twice the burden borne by the 105,000,000 people of the United States in the pre-war period. The exact figures are most interesting. Canada's federal debt in 1914 totalled $544,391,000. In 1920 it had climbed as high as $2,276,000,000. The United States debt in 1914 was only $1,062,564,000. Last year it was $24,062,510,000.

Referring to the posibilities of developing the liquor business, Mr. Thomson stated that a large income could be expected as the result of the money expended in British Columbia by residents and visitors, the majority of whom being from the United States and other arid spots.

"One would be foolish to overlook the great quantity of liquor which will cross the line," said Mr. Thomson. "It will be humanly impossible to prevent illegal shipments out of the province. When you consider that a bottle of good Scotch whiskey, which nominally cost $1.50, can be sold in many places in the United States for $40, which plus the exchange would bring the price up t o$45, the bait is far too alluring to be resisted by those on the lookout for easy money and are not particular about their methods of getting it.

"When all is considered the handling of the liquor business will be found the heaviest administrative job the government has, and it should be taken in hand by a cabinet minister with no other demands on his time or thought. This point cannot be emphasized too strongly, because the success or failure of the government control plan will mean so much to the people of the province, and the relief from taxation will be so great if the task is properly managed."

The Mayor of Cork has been ordered to be delivered up for deportation. The order probably will not be obeyed, because under certain circumstances orders of the courts do not carry much weight in the United States. But the balance will be adjusted by deportation of several Russians, who are objectional, and whose affiliations carry no political significance over there.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 30, 1919. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Quaker Minister Is Grateful to Tanlac

Rev. Parker Moon

Nearly everybody in Southwest Missouri either knows or has heard of the Rev. Parker Moon, who for a full half century has devoted his life and talents to Sunday school and organization work for the Society of Friends or Quakers.

"Uncle Parker," as he is more familarly known, came from fine, old rugged Quaker stock, and there is not a better known or more highly respected citizen in that part of the state. In referring to his remarkable restoration to health by Tanlac, he said:

"About five years ago I suffered a general breakdown. My principal trouble was nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and my food seldom agreed with me, and I had to live on a very resticted diet. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells; I had sevene pains across the small of my back and was badly constipated most of the time. In fact, I was so weak and run down I was not able to attend to my duties.

"This condition made me very nervous and I could not sleep at night. Frequently I would lie awake most all night and was in that condition more or less for five years. My physician said he could not do anything for me and suggested a change of climate. I then moved to Texas and went back and forth three times but did not get the relief I had hoped for. Finally, I got so bad off I was not able to get around with any degree of comfort. I was also told I had heart trouble.

"I had read about Tanlac and, as it had been very highly recommended to me, I decided to try it. I got a bottle and had taken only a few doses until I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. I noticed especially that I was not troubled any more with sour stomach after eating, which was a great relief.

"I kept on taking Tanlac until I fully regained my health. My appetite is splendid; I enjoy my meals and I do not find it necessary now to take any laxative medicines of any kind. I can sleep much better and am not nearly so nervous.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone who needs a good system builder, or who suffers with stomach trouble. I have recommended Tanlac to a great many of my friends and am pleased to reach others by giving this statement for publication."

PEACE RIVER COMMUNICATION

No way has yet been found to provide railway communication for the British Columbia portion of the Peace River country. Government surveys now reported give some idea of the routes, length and cost of alternate lines extending to the Pacific Great Eastern into that field. Meanwhile a member representing over 100,000 square miles of territory has presented to the Legislature the claims and possibilities of that vast region. At the same time several delegates from that district are giving information and counsel to the Associated Boards of Trade.

It goes without saying that railway connection between the prairie portion of this province and the Pacific seaboard ought to be established as soon as possible. The Alberta portion of this field has one railway to the British Columbia border. So far as this line may serve the settlers on our eastern frontier it will make the territory tributary to Alberta, which is not convenient for the people, and is a commercial loss to this province. The Pacific seaboard is the natural outlet for whole Peace River country.

A large part of the land in this province, which a railway would make available, belongs to the federal government. Since this is land that ought to be opened for settlement within the next few years, the matter is of some concern at Ottawa. As the lands near railways throughout the West are settled, it becomes necessary to build branches into more remote areas. The Canadian Pacific Company is always constructing such branches in its field.

The Canadian Government has two transcontinental lines, either of which would be bountifully fed by extensions into the Peace River area. British Columbia owns one railway which was projected with the view of connecting that district with the seaboard. It is a fact not yet fully grasped that this region, regarded now as remote, is nearer to ocean navigation than the rest of the Canadian prairie country. There should be enough political and economic statesmanship in Canada to give the nation the benefit of this geographical advantage.—Vancouver Province.

The birthrate in England for the past year was the highest and the death rate the lowest on record. The work of reconstruction after the war in one respect at least is proceeding quite satisfactorily.

RAVING AGAIN

The former Kaiser seems to be recovering from the terrible shock of the war and the still more terrible blow the result of the war inflicted upon his estate and dignity. He has given an interview to a correspondent which indicates that he is gradually regaining his old form and still retains a belief in an intimate alliance with the Almighty. Wilhelm declares that the Socialists were directly responsible for the war, implying that it was the unrest in Germany that was the cause of it. But that hardly relieves him from responsibility. A ruler who would deliberately plunge the world into a ruinous conflict even for the purpose of saving his own throne cannot be considered a desirable person to entrust with arbitary powers. If the German people were restless and nothing was likely to pacify them but an opportunity to plunder and loot and annex neighboring territory, some one must have been responsible for their state of mind and undoubtedly it was the late Kaiser and the military system he created and nursed into a state of overpowering arrogance. Wilhelm, in an attempt to justify himself and his conduct, says, "We would never have had the war if the German people had remained true to themselves. I never wished the war; my people have betrayed themselves; it's God and me; the whole world has denied God; notice how God scourges the world; all evil revenges itself here on earth—the sword of peace was struck out of my hands by my best friends." Wilhelm at one time pretended to be a deep admirer of Shakespeare, but the great poet, dramatist and philosopher never created a character who gave more convincing testimony of a completely demented state than the former ruler of the German Empire. The evil he did will live long after him, and the world knows of little good that will be interred with his bones.—Colonist.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SUN LIFE

The year 1921 marks the fiftieth anniversary of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, which in the half century of its existence had grown to be one of the largest and most successful life insurance companies in the world.

A comparison of the growth of the company's business by decades is perhaps the most convincing proof of its management and of the steady development of public confidence towards it.

One year after it was organized, in 1872, the company's income was $48,000; its assets, $96,461, and it had written policies for a total of $1,064,350. By the year 1880 the income had grown to $141,402, with assets $473,682 and insurance in force of $3,897,139. From this time onward the development of the company, not only in Canada but in stretching out to many other countries of the world, proceeded at a rapid pace, as the tables for the next four decades indicate :

Income	$889,000
Assets	$2,473,000
Insurance in force	$16,759,000
1900—
Income	$2,789,000
Assets	$10,486,000
Insurance in force	$57,980,000
1910—
Income	$9,575,000
Assets	$38,164,000
Insurance in force	$143,549,000
1920—
Income	$28,751,000
Assets	$114,839,000
Insurance in force	$486,641,000

Such a record stands alone in the annals of life insurance companies in Canada. Nor after such a great achievement is there any sign of standing still on its laurels, for during the past year there was written in new insurance upwards of $106,000,000, which in itself exceeds by $20,000,000 the high water mark of 1919, which up to that date was a record for the company. It is interesting to note that during its fifty years of existence the Sun Life has paid out to its policy-holders or their beneficiaries over $100,000,000. Details of the financial statement of this company for the past year appear elsewhere in this issue, and will be studied with more than usual interest in this its Jubilee year.

Fernie Free Press, Fernie, B.C.
Dear Sir:

I hope you wil find space in a suitable place in your valuable paper for the following:-

We are very sorry that there will soon be gone from amongst us in the person of Miss De Foe, one whom we would gladly have stay and who during her comparatively short stay in Michel, made a host of warm friends; this was evidenced by the presentation to her of a very handsome Gold Necklet.

The presentation which was in connection with the Methodist Church, was made by the Rector, Mr. Redmond and the event was performed in the Church, Sunday being chosen as the day for such, by force of circumstances.

In a short but very much to the point speech Mr. Redmond thanked Miss De Foe for her services in connection with the Sunday School and Church work generally; asured her of the good wishes of the people of the Church and wished her God Speed

The Choir leader (after heartily endorsing what Mr. Redmond had said) on behalf of the choir, thanked Miss De Foe for her valuable assistance in the choir and expressed regret that she was leaving, after which Miss De Foe in a few heart felt words thanked everyone in connection with the presentation.

The affair was concluded by the singing of a very appropriate hymn.

These are just the simple facts of a presentation which might be made by any congregation to a noted member leaving their midst, but, paramount in this instance and very noteworthy is the fact that Miss De Foe during her stay here, displayed a type of young womanhood not usually found in a girl who is out to fight the world alone, and we wish her to know that she leaves behind a good many friends in whose memory she will linger and who will welcome her should she ever return to Michel.

Dear Sir—Just a note in reply to the bylaws of Fernie in regard to horses and cattle running at large and entering the city. I think it is getting pretty stiff when the city is not satisfied with the owner paying pound money, without being called before the magistrate to stand the consequences and perhaps getting fined the price of the cow or horse. Citizens are very easily annoyed.

Another question I should like to ask the Editor is regarding tuberculosis in cattle. Why is it that the cattlemen in the three provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan will not stand for the test which is performed in B.C. ? They want their cattle tested on the neck and the needle perfectly sterilized, which is not the case in B.C.; but are tested by a small lump on the tail which could easily be caused by the needle not being sterilized. The cow is then turned down. The last time the cattle were tested—four years ago — some of them were opened up and examined; some were found tubercular, and some not. If this goes on there will be no cattle left. The cattlemen are getting disheartened with it all. For a pure bred cow a man will pay as high as $200 or $300 and the inspector comes around and condemns it and allows the owner $100, and for a grade cow $50, which must be very encouraging. I think the cattlemen should get a little consideration also, as when the price of milk goes up the public start kicking right away. They do not consider the difficulties and work the dairyman have.

I think if you would publish this letter in your paper the citizens might consider the cattlemen a little.

I sign myself,

A Citizen of Fernie.

A. E. Wilson, sales manager of the McGillivray Creek Coal Co., is quotted in an interview as saying that unless there is a cut in the price of Alberta coal the Winnipeg and Manitoba market is likely to be lost. Dealers in that province anticipate a cut in American coal and for that reason are not likely to stock up with Alberta coal next summer. The propaganda conducted by the provincial government in making tests in Winnipeg has proved satisfactory beyond expectations. The increase in the amount of coal sold in Manitoba in 1920 over 1919 was in the neighborhood of 220,000 tons and at the present time Alberta coal has gained a preference over the American product, which position, Mr. Wilson claims, will be hard to hold unless there is a drop in the prices. There is talk of the provincial government stopping the tests in Winnipeg.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH OUR YOUTH?

The leaning towards crime of a far too large proportion of our population is such as to give us pause. What is the cause? Where is the trouble? Never in the history of the world has there been such a multitude of orgaizations of various sorts whose purpose is to lead people along the paths of virtue and happiness, and away from the temptations which beset human society and which in due course lead to the prison, the hospital, and often to the morgue. Stattistics recently issued show that the boy criminal has multiplied himself three hundred times over in the past twenty years; and that twenty per cent. of the crime committed in this country has been by offenders under sixteen years of age. And further, that the great majority of prisoners convicted of varying crimes are young men well below the thrity mark. and, incidentlly, the hardened old-time jailbird seems to be becoming extinct. Either they are all safely put away or else they have reformed. Perhaps it is a little of both.

Of course, there are many contributory causes, for this crime wave. First of all, the war unsettled a lot of hitherto well behaved, law-abiding people. You cannot preach killing for four years and then expect to find the public mind as docile as before. Then there is the movie, with all the good and bad pertaining to it. The automobile is another contributing factor, inasmuch as it makes crime far easier for the criminal than it was a decade ago, and at the same time increases the difficulties of the guardians of the law many fold.

That the parents have also "fallen down" in their responsibility can, I think, be generally admitted. Too much indulgence for one thing. Too little home life for another. What is the home life of a couple of youngsters, not out of their 'tens, who become road agents of the Jesse James type and commit murder in process? This is the sort of thing that is happening all too often in different parts of the country.

I may, in thought, be a Mid-Victorian, but the boys of a good family and training did not when I was a youngster, except in very special and outstanding cases, go into the "stick-up" busines as the means of livelihood, nor join organized bands of burglars, and at that I do not recollect one single institution or society, the church excepted, that specialized in projects tending to reform youth. And in those days, perish the thought, our parents sent us to dancing schools, in place of organizing societies for the elimination of the dance and the promotion of doughnut eating and needle-threading contests.—Saturday Night.

ATHLETICS FOR CRIPPLED, DEAF OR BLIND CHILD

Dr. A. K. Aldinger, director of physical training and hygiene for the board of education, holds that most of the ills of the rising generation can be cured by athletic exercises judiciously provided.

"We are interested in the broad plan of giving these children physical education," said Dr. Aldinger in a talk about his work yesterday. "We are working thru the gymnasium, recreational athletics, including morning inspection, the two minute dr'll, the teaching of hygiene—these within the hours of 9 and 3 o'clock. In the afternoon we have the after-school athletic centres. We supervise and direct a broad program of intensive athletics, including baseball football, basketball, soccer, tennis that can be carried on with our facilities.

"We try to teach practical health habits. The boy who goes in for athletics is influenced to train, to eat properly, to sleep sufficiently and under proper sleeping conditions. Athletics apply the direct motive. The boys cannot compete successfully with other boys unless they do train. This serves as the most potent reason for training.

"Thru our courses in hygiene we try to give the boy didactic instruction in hygienic habits. But it is a question of doing more than giving information. It is getting results by doing.

"I would like to emphasize the fact tha our work is so organized and graded that the expert has a chance to take part in athletic activities that are adapted to his physical developement," said Dr. Aldinger. "He makes the representative team. The cripple child, the blind child and the deaf child is segregated and activities adapted to his physical condition are provided—the work runs the gamut from the strong to the weak.

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

BY Firelighter

MR. STATTEN MAKES CHANGE

Taylor Statten has been since 1912 Boys' work secretary of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. On January 19 he was appointed Executive Secretary of the National Boys' Work Board to give full time to the promotion of the work of the board.

The C. S. E. T. for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers is a gift to Canadian boys from Mr. Statten along with a host of other men who have helped greatly in developing and promoting it. The co-operative principle of work is the product of his thought and leadership. He has just resigned his connection with the Y. M. C. A., and will give his full time to the promotion of the co-operative work in the wide field of all the Protestant boys in Canada with which the Boys' Work Board deals.

Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers all know Mr. Statten, the "Big Chief" of Canadian boyhod. He belongs to them and they belong to him. His contageous personality, bow tie, gingery and in spring speeches and capable leadership will be devoted completely in the future as in the past to their welfare.

This change does not mean that the Y. M. C. A. will not be fully a part of the co-operative movement from now on. It will be, just as always. It will stand ready to aid the Boys' Work by every means in its power. The new Secretary who will be honored by an appointment to Mr. Statten's position will no doubt be someone who has served Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Just who it will be, we cannot say at present, but an announcement will be made in this column in two weeks. Watch for it.

Someone added a new one to a list of hobbies for boys-"sifting ashes." Whew! it is a home task though and every real C. S. E. T. boy has a share in carrying the responsibility of the home. February is "Home Month" for Trail Rangers and Tuxis Boys.

—Firelighter.

EIGHTEEN MILLIONS TO COMPLETE P. G. E.

To carry the P. G. E. Railway from Prince George northerly and easterly to the interprovincial boundary between British Columbia and Alberta will cost approxomately $18,000,000 according to the estimates made by Mr. C. Williams, surveyor, employed last year by the Provincial Department of Railways to make a reconnaisance survey of feasible routes.

His report is contained in the annual report of the Department tabled in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Oliver as Minister of Railways. Two routes are reported upon by Mr. Williams, one from Prince George to Swan Lake via Pine Pass, a distance of 316 miles; the other from Vanderhoof to Hudson's Hope (296 miles), from Hudson's Hope to Pine River (48 miles) and from Pine River to Swan Lake [illegible] miles, or 426 miles in all.

The estimate of cost for the first route is $18,000,000; for the second $17,982,000. The report sets forth that on the route via the Pine Pass there are no navigable waterways on which supplies could be got in while that via Parsnip River and Peace River follows navigable waters practically the whole way.

The report of the surveys is replete with detailed information. It will be printed with the balance of the Department's report and shortly placed before the members.

A summary of the operations of the Government under the provisions of the Soldiers' Land Act was given in a report presented by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands. It shows that for the year ended December 3 last, an aggregate amount of $1,403,900 on the nursery and demonstration plot. Details of the work done in developing the settlement areas are given, these showing that excellent progress is being made.

Relative to the South Vancouver better housing plan, carried out by the Government, the report states that eight homes for soldiers were erected, and with the exception of a month's arrears in one instance all the tenants are in good standing.

YOUTH AND OLD AGE

Some Cranbrook men are old at 25 years. Size up the situation in what ever manner you will, age is no criterion of what a man may accomplish. We see men at seventy who are active and alert, going about their daily work, performing an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. We see such men in the busines and industrial world and more particularly in the line of endeavor that call for skill and daring. Railroad men particularly are active at old age. and can hold their own with the younger men in the service. The old saying that a man is as old as he feels applies with striking force to railroad employees. Passengers travelling on railroad systems prefer to ride behind an old engineer, feeling safe when an old "war horse" is at the throttle.—Cranbrook Courier.

I yet proceed in writing those paragraphs and is it prudent that one man should tell the other mans experience in the plan of salvation let every man speak for himself and we see that sum men tells us from which day or which nights experience from which he always had a full gospel of salvation for lost sinners. Now I will tell you from which night I obtained my experience for a full gospel of salvation for Adams posterity, and as I meet a large Ethiopian infedile in Canada who did spurn the name and the works of God and he said that we have a bible that no man knew that we have a God so I did view this plan of salvation over for three days with a sadly view and it come into my mind on the third day that I would not ask any wise man or read any great history, this question have been on hand for six thousand years and now I will know for true if there is a God or not, so on this third day at night when I went to my bed I did entreat God with few plain solemnly words telling him thes things that it have been said that there is not any heaven and a God there in to answer any man kind who may call upon him and now o King of Kings say something speak to me this night in my self so I may know that there in a true God in the heaven and O my God if I can if I can not find you inmylife how can I find you in my death then I went to sleep and apparantely it were about the dead hour of the night when a plain voice come down from God and said whatsoever you do do in the name of th eLord then I awaken and quickly set up in my bed and I felt like a new man in old cloths, and the next night I felt for Jesus Christ in the same way and about the dead hour of the night a plain voice come down from Jesus Christ and said "whatsoever you do, keep the Lord's Commandments", and on the third night I felt into the Kingdom to find the Holy Ghost and about the dead hour of the night apparently I was with many people as if a basket meeting and the Holy Ghost said more than God and Jesus both and the Holy Ghost taken me through such performance as to symbolical of more people who have found God this way or there is at least twelve more people inAmer ica who apparently are of the immortal works and now you can see from which night that I obtained my experience for a full gospel of salvation for Adams posterity this is the night and in a few months later I met an Englishman, a master mechanic who had a fatal epidemic and i and him often did consult of this great plan of salvation and he read many of my religious letters and did die in Jesus Christ and a few weeks before he died he told sum people who did not live here at that time that I had converted him that I Sam did convert this man Dan Steward to the most high God and I will write to youagain if I can and if the station and the postoffice be not moved away from Hosmer as it consulted of as the coal mine is closed in Hosmer. And it shall be noticed that in recent years that the King of England were proceeding in his chariot one day and the king did trundle up to a bunch of laboring men and the King did doff his hat and showed kindness to the laboring men and taught the princes to do likewise thus we see that the King is not only royal in his throne tho royal in his heart, even so likewise are our presidents of America those people do respect every man who regards him himself so as to speak or orthodox to the people on the upbuilding of our country and also the upbuilding of the Kingdom of the Lord asking the world to abstain from killing the people and from robbing trains and banks and to abstain from every injustice and every cruel act which is contrary to the ordinance of the Lord's volume and it shall be noticed that when Jesus were crucified and when his side were pierced with a spear and when the blood of Jesus touched the spear then the spear were sanctified and everything that the blood of Jesus touched were sanctified and the blood of Jesus touched the earth and the whole earth is sanctified. Observance, it will come to pass that you and I will be like our many friends in the bowels of the earth and supposed to be dead tho only snugly wrapped up and sleeping in Jesus sanctified bed.

Nazimova, the brilliant Russian star, in her newest production, "Stronger Than Death," is announced by the management of the Orpheum theatre as the special attraction on Monday and Tuesday next. The presentation of this great artiste in a great photo-drama is described as a particular treat for motion picture-goers.

In "Stronger Than Death," Nazimova returns to powerful emotional roles after her clever impersonation of the chorus waif in her picturization of "The Brat." Nazimova is cast as Sigrid, a London music hall dancer, who finds love in the almost wildernesses of India, whither she goes for rest.

The story is an adaptation by Chas. Bryant of I. A. R. Wylic's brilliant novel of Anglo-Indian life. It is said to be replete with thrills and compelling dramatic climaxes that grow out of an abortive mutiny and massacre of the English planned by the fanatical Hindu natives.

Nazimova's biggest scene is her dance on the steps of the temple—a weird dance in the moonlight which strikes awe and terror to the hearts of the blacks, and causes them to delay their uprising until the British garrison comes to the resuce of the civilian community of Gava. Her sacrifice is rewarded by the devotion of the hermit doctor, the strong male figure in the tense drama.

Biologists and psychologists are said to be agitating for the formation of boards that will officially test all the attributes of man, from his blood pressure down to his mental capacity. Wonder what they will do with the facts after they have assembled them! Is the life of man not sufficiently miserable already as a result of the meddling of a great multitude of cranks?

GRAND AGGREGATE GOES TO FORT WILLIAM

Winnipeg, Feb. 19.—Geo. McDonald, of Fort William, won the grand aggregate in the Manitoba curling spiel, and the governor-general's cup which accompanies that distinction, when this morning he and his rink defeated Alex. Sutherland of the Winnipeg Granites in a special playoff. Last night McDonald and Sutherland tied for the grand aggregate with eleven wins and two losses each and a special game was necessary to decide the champion ship. The final game was very closely contested and was won in the fourteenth end. At the end of the thirteenth the score was tied 11—all.

The visit of the Vancouver detectives to Fernie during the past month is causing a lot of uneasiness among local dealers in the illicit liquor traffic., who think they yet may be gathered in. The case in which they laid information came up on Monday, but was adjourned for eight days.

We are in receipt of a communication from a citizen this week bitterly complaining of the condition of affars that is allowed to exist at the Workmen's Club in the Grand theatre building. However, as the writer failed to sign his name to the article, we are unable to publish it.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT GOOD

The city fathers gathered in official session last evening, Ald. Douglas presiding in the absence of Acting Mayor Irvine.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved.

J. A. Thomas, Provincial Inspector of Insurance, was present and was invited to address the council. Mr. Thomas stated he had been in the city for a couple of days, during which time he had covered considerable ground in inspecting conditions with regard to fire preventon and protection. These, as far as he had proceeded, were very satisfactory. The business houses had been thoroughly inspected from basement to attic and in these Mr. Thomas found conditions excellent and far superior to other interior cities and towns, in fact he thought Fernie came second only to Victoria. The cause for this enviable position the Inspector attributed to the proficiency of our local Fire Chief, backed by wholehearted co-operation of the business men. Although the foregoing very favorable report was applicable generally speaking, all places were not A1, therefore emphasizing the extreme necessity of constant inspection and the council wos urged to support recommendations of the Fire Chief. The fire department, including equipment and quarters, were in good condition, but in a city of this size the principal efficiency depended on the ablity of the chief to prevent, fires. In order to accomplish this his absence from the hall was frequently necessary, at which times a competent man should remain in the fire hall to be immediately available to respond to alarms and take temporary or full charge in handling the fire fighters. It would be quite advisable therefore to have two permanent men in addition to the driver.

The maintenance of a capable and efficient fire brigade brought returns in the way of reduced insurance premiums and Fernie is certainly entitled to a good fire rate at present. Last year in the province of B. C. the total premiums paid into insurance companies was over $4,000,000, while that paid back to cover losses was only about one million dollars.

Since the Balmoral fire in Vancouver more strict regulations are being observed with regard to hotels and lodging places as to proper and convenient fire escapes. Conditions locally pertaining to hotel fire escapes were somewhat dangerous, as in nearly all hotels here these consist of iron ladders attached to the exteriors at the side of windows or doors of the upper stories and virtually impossible of access for women and children. This must be rectified and instructions will be issued immedately for owners to instal iron balconies at the fire escape exits, so that lodgers can easily reach the ladders in case of fire. Under the Insurance Act the Fire Chief is vested with the authority of a provincial officer and in the performance of his duties thereunder is sole dictator, not even being subservient to the city council and any interference in the pursuit of these duties is to be reported by the Chief direct to the Attorney General, who will intervene and enforce the provisions of the Act.

Mr. Thomas will go into the matter of the city water system and any recommendations he may have will be communicated to the council in writing. With regard to outside districts, where the city department has in the past given protection by responding to calls, this is a question which is a burden borne by the ratepayers of the municipality, to offset which the residents in these areas do not make any contribution. The real benefit for this accommodation is received by the fire underwriters, who charge, it was said, premiums double those assessed in the city and at the same time receive protection from the city department without cost. The government has this question under consideration and at the present session the Attorney General has assured the Dept. of Insurance an Act or amendments to the present Act, will be passed whereby those residing in unorganized areas adjacent to cities, will be taxed for fire protection and then civic fire departments will be compensated for service and protection afforded or those districts may purchase their own equipment and handle this entirely themselves. In this connection, to show what the city is up against in affording fire protection outside of the city limits, an idea may be gained when it is known that the last fire in the Annex Extension cost the city $80.00. Subsequently the council dealt with this feature, passing a motion that a communication be directed to the underwriters advising that the city desire to be reimbursed for the fire department responding to these alarms, and if this request is rejected, in future the department will refuse to render any protection outside the city limits.

Mr. Thomas closed his remarks by reiterating that he was delighted with existing conditions and paying high tribute to the demonstrated ability of Chief McNicholas, and announced that at any time the council wished to consult with him on technical matters in regard to buildings or fire prevention, his services were available without cost, and he would be pleased to give them the benefit of his 20 years of experience as fire prevention officer and construction engineer.

A letter from the B.C. Institute for the Blind, with a request for financial support, was laid on the table, as was also an appeal from Mr. Orner of the Isis theatre, for the abolition of the 5 per cent amusement tax and a reduction in license fees for moving picture shows.

Bylaw 216 was finally passed and adopted.

The city will endeavor to collect an amount from a certain party for relief supplied.

The question of rates charged for patients in the Isolation Hospital was referred to the Health Committee for standardization.

THOS. UPHILL SPEAKS IN THE LEGISLATURE

(Colonst)

The question of unemployment was the most important and pressing of all, declared Thomas Uphill (Fernie), who referred to the fact that the House had already been told of the great progress made in British Columbia in the past fifty years. but what did that avail to the man who was only able to get two or three days work in the week. There was little use talking to them of progress. Some people suggested that the workers should provide for a rainy day. He knew cases of men with families who, even with the higher wages which had been paid, were worse off now than in pre-war days because of the increased cost of living. The fact was that if some of those individuals who were wont to give advice to the workers had experienced similar conditions they would have thought it had been raining every day of the week and twice on Sunday.

Mr. Uphill recalled how during the war the workers were termed heroes, but now they were suffering. He held that so long as the principle of production for profit rather than for use was pursued so long would the periodical periods of unemployment be experienced.

Mr. Uphill believed there was one thing the House could do. While immigration was a matter for the Federal authorities, yet the provincial legislature could forward a strong request demanding that temporary restrictions be placed upon immigration until such time as those newcomers already in the country had been properly absorbed.

While approving of the proposal for greater safety measures for the coal miners, Mr. Uphill regretted that no mention was made in the Speech of amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act. It had been the boast that British Columbia leads the Dominion in the matter of its workmen's compensation legislation, but such was not the case. Ontario and Manitoba are now ahead. Under their legislation an injured man received sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of his average weekly earnings, while British Columbia gives but fifty-five per cent. The Ontario act also gave a widow a lump sum of $100 on the death of her bread winner. The three days waiting period called for by the British Columbia act might well be done away with, Mr. Uphill suggested. He agreed that Mothers' Pensions was "a nice piece of legislation" but could be improved upon. Now a mother must have a child under sixteen years of age before she could secure a pension. Yet there were many mothers with no children or with children over that age limit who were in dire need and entitled to consideration.

The year 1920 has been one of great endeavor for reconstruction. Our war work being practically over, the business of re-establishment and War Memorial was the principal work of the year.

There were eleven regular meetings and five Executive, with an average attendance of 16. There were 60 members in good standing at the end of the year. During the ten months of active work the sum of $2640.36 was deposited to the credit of Mt. Fernie Chapter.

In March we catered for the Reconstruction dance. which was a splendid success.

Our Chapter sent fifteen books, which were donated by members, to the Frank Sanitarium.

In May, our Regent, Mrs. Trites, represented our Chapter at the National Annual Meeting in Calgary, and gave us a very full and interesting account of the Convention.

We had a whist drive and dance, which netted us $88.45.

We brought our quota for the War Memorial up to $730.00.

Life Memberships were presented to three of our prominent workers, Mrs. Trites, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Wilson. A musical program helped to make the afternoon very pleasant.

The management of the Isis gave a night's proceeds towards our local War Memorial.

Sent donation of $10 to the National Chapter towards the expense of maintaining same.

Our Chapter has a very efficient visiting committee; and also has a Compassionate Fund from which we were able to help a great many soldiers' wives in sickness and otherwise.

When the Great War Veterans Convention met here, our Chapter gave the delegates a banquet at the request of the local Board of Trade, from which we netted $61.05.

On July 1, our society conducted a refreshment and ice cream booth in the Park, at which we made $629.31, which amount was turned over to the Athletic Association—the proceeds of the day to be divided between the Reconstruction and Playground Trust Funds.

In September we set aside the sum of $25.00 for Secondary Education.

On Oct. 9, we had the pleasure of meeting our Governor General, at which the Daughters of the Empire assembeled and presented flowers to the Duchess.

On Armistice Day, we joined with the Great War Veterans in a Memorial service.

NOMADS OF THE NORTH

James Oliver Curwood has more than repeated—he has surpassed the mastery he achieved in "Back to God's Country" and has given the lovers of the cinema perhaps the greatest animal and human interest story it has ever had in the latest Associated First National feature, "Nomads of the North," showing at the Orpheum, Friday and Saturday. The extraordinary spectacles projected in this picture certainly beggars description—the remarkable performance of a bear and a dog, acting more human than brute, and the realistic forest fire constituting two high spots which one could never forget. Another outstanding feature of this production is the quite unusual photography. many of the scenes being undoubtedly the zenith of pictorial perfection.

As was the case in "Back to God's Country" the locale of "Nomads of the North" is the Far North, where one man's intense love and another man's hot hate combine to make a piece-de-resistance all the most confirmed lover of thrilling suspense could posibly ask. The whole story concerns a villainous opposition first to the marriage and then to the happiness of that married life of a virile Northern trapper and a beautiful [illegible] of a wild trading post. Inevitable hardships are placed in [illegible] by the hand of Fate and [illegible] until the very last that dark cloud of punishment for murder is lifted from the hero's life through the manly sacrifice of a dashing and altogether interesting member of the Mounted Police.

HENDERSON STOCK AT THE GRAND

The Maude Henderson Stock Company opened their engagement at the Grand last night in Charles Kline's four act drama "The Lion and the Mouse." This play gave the company excellent opportunity to display their acting ability and to say that they were a big succes is putting it mild. The Henderson Players are the strongest aggregation that have ever paid a visit to Fernie and deserve all the support that we can give them. Tonight "Our New Minister," a comedy drama of the Eastern States, will be the bill, and Saturday night the great rural comedy drama, "Snug Harbor," is the attraction. On next Monday night "Paid in Full" will be presented; Tuesday night "Kick In," and their engagement will close on Wednesday night with the well known drama 'In the Bishop's Carriage."

THE LOCAL BONSPIEL

The weather tightened up on Monday and for three nights there was beautiful curling weather, which brought the local bonspiel out to the finals as per the schedule below:

On Wednesday evening the first draw in the Consolation took place with 14 rinks competing. The soft weather has again interrupted the play, but two nights of good ice would complete the spiel.

THE NEW LIQUOR LAW

To some extent it was understood that when Premier Oliver spoke on the subject of Government Control last week, the ideas he expressed were his own, and not necessarily those of the government. What he has said, however, has given the people some indication of what will be contained in the Bill as it will be introduced to the legislature. In the main, perhaps, we can agree with a good deal of the outline he gave of the proposed measure, but in some particulars it is to be hoped that further deliberation will alter the purposes in view. One grave defect in the forthcoming legislation may be foreshadowed in the proposal to seal, with a government seal, all private stocks of liquor after a certain time elapses following the enactment of the Government Control law.

To any proposal of the character mentioned there should be a determined and persevering resistance. For one thing, if importation for private purposes is still permitted, it is obvious that any such action as attempting to affix a provincial government seal on private stocks would be ultra vires of British Columbia. It would mean that the province could pass legislation which would supercede privileges granted by the Federal authorities. There is, however, another aspect, more serious still: that is governmental intrusion on the privacy of the homes of the people. Even under the Prohibition Act the legislation dealing with the right of officers of the Crown to enter private dwelling houses has remained a dead letter as the authorities were fearful of arousing a wave of indignation which would have proved inimical to their political interests. We hope that the greatest care will be exercised to insure that the forthcoming legislation does not attempt to infringe on the liberty of the home.

It is possible that in the forthcoming Bill there will be provision made regarding the strength of beer that may be sold under certan conditions. There is no necessity for such restriction. It should be remembered that doctored liquor of many varieties and of immature character have been responsible, in some degree, for the emphatic protest registered by the people against the present Prohibition Act. British Columbia, in voting for Government Control, did not give any mandate for the sale of liquors of strength below what is regarded as standard, and the government Control Bill, in any and all the privileges it may accord, should see that these are available under certain safeguards, to the community as a whole, without discrimination.

The task of framing the Bill is a difficult one and we realize the pressure to which Premier Oliver must be subjected from so many quarters. It is his wish to have the measure before the legislature at an early date and to leave ample time for discussion, criticism and the hearing of delegations. This course is one that will commend itself to the great majority of the people, for we feel assured that more and more there is a desire that a safe, sane and permanent measure should be the outcome of the legislature's deliberations. For this reason there will be a general feeling that all criticism should be constructive, and that no attempt will be made to score party advantages at the expense of putting the people's will into effect.

"THE MAYFLOWER" IN WASHINGTON

The Pilgrims' "Mayflower" comes to America gain. That is, part of the ship does and by means of other ships, of railroad cars and of automobiles. The point of interest to the citizens of this state is that the part in question is to help in marking the boundary between British Columbia and Washington at Blaine.

Last year it was discovered that several of the beams of the "Mayflower" had been used in the frame of a barn at Seer Green in England. Samuel Hill of Seattle, president of the Pacific Highways Association, thought it would be a good idea to persuade the English Quakers who administer the village to let us Yankees have part of one of the beams for the peace portal of the Americo-Canadian frontier at Blaine. The "Friends" and the villagers thought so too, on the grounds of Anglo-American kinship and goodwill. So a block of well preserved oak was hewn from the "Mayflower's" beam on Lincoln's birthday and set into a sheet of heavy steel, while a bronze tablet commemorating the transaction was put into the hewn-out area.

The affair forms a singular linking of significant personalities and influences—the Pilgrims, Lincoln and the century and more of unbroken peace between England and America.

HOW TO ENJOY YOUR RHEUMATISM

By Walt Mason

The country is full of people who are scattering sunshine at so much per scatter. Few of the sunshine experts work for love of the game. And I doubt whether there is one able and eloquent man who makes a business of lecturing on thrift; and what this country and its people need more than anything else under the sun is a thorough grounding in the rudiments of thrift. Most of the old sports in the poorhouse were born optimists.

For years I have been addicted to rheumatism, considering it one of the most attractive diseases in the almanac. I am quite convinced that there is such a disease as rheumatism, and that it hurts like thunder, and I have no patience with professional optimists who say it is but a figment of the imagination.

There is no standard disease that is entirely enjoyable; they all have their little drawbacks. But by being prepared for them you minimize those drawbacks. And the first thing necessary, in the way of preparation, is money in the bank. In the dark hour of affliction and suffering there is no comfort like that of knowng that you have some guilders in pickle.

When I am due for a siege of rheumatism I lay in a big supply of detective stories and phonograph records and other luxuries; and I can do this because I have the price. And I have the bulliest time when I am sick, and my little feet wrapped up in poultices, for then I can read and smoke in comfort and nobody asks me to go to lectures, or visit the neighbors, or attend an uplift meeting at the community house, or anything else. And if the bores come to see me, I have a good excuse for sending them away.

There really is a great deal of fun being sick, if you are properly equipped; and if you have practised thrift, your equipment is all right. It is better to have a bundle in the bank than a noisy faith in the theory that the ravens that fed Elijah won't turn you down.

Optimism urges you to go to the store and have things charged. Thrift impels you to pay for what you buy when you buy it.

Optimism inspires you to buy a piano and an automobile on the installment plan, and from that day forth greasy collectors will make your life a burden; and you'll be so busy making the payments you won't have time to go to church or to ball games.

Thrift induces you to buy nothing you can't afford. Better play a tin whistle amid the jeers of the populace than pay $5 a month on a piano for the term of your natural life. Better walk until your feet need retreading than ride in an automobile bought for $25 down and $15 a month for two hundred years.

OXO Cubes are a wonderful invention they contain just those elements which nature needs to make good the wear and tear of daily life. A cup of OXO, with a biscuit or two, sustains for hours.

ROUND UP THE "SPOTTERS"

It has been suggested that in order to appease the present crime wave a general round-up be made of informers, bootleg detectives, gum-shoe men and others having to do with the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Actual experience has shown that when you shake down a liquor "spotter" you find, in a large majority of cases, a crook. Gun-men blackmailers, barn burners, hold-up artists are plentiful among them, while some have been held for even greater crimes. Not long since one Ontario detective was dismissed on the charge that no magistrate would believe him under oath, and therefore he had become useless to the department. The man appealed for reinstatement on the ground that he was as good as the rest, and therefore worthy of a job. At the present time some of the most distinguished ex-members of the O.T.A. squad are wanted in so many parts of Ontario for alleged crimes of different sorts, that they are finding it very difficult to fill their engagements with the various magistrates.

I take it that what applies in Ontario applies also in the various other "dry" provinces, and that a general round-up of those having to do with the "spotter" business would probably unearth a good many criminals who, for the good of the community, had best not be at large.—Saturday Night.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The British government recognizes the unemployment problem as the most serious that has to be faced during the session of parliament which opened on Tuesday. In Britain the proposal to be advanced to meet the situation is by extending the provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act, though in what manner has not yet been fully explained in dispatches. Britain is suffering from what is a world-wide condition, ascribed in the King's speech to be due to the restriction of trade which is evident everywhere. There are three causes which have brought about this restriction, namely, over production, high prices and adverse rates of exchange. By degrees the situation is being righted, but thousands of people are suffering in the process. The over production problem is being automatically solved by unemployment, prices are steadily falling, and financiers in the United States are gradually realizing that the setting up of adverse rates of exchange is operating just as much against their own country as against any other.

Whatever the automatic solution of a world-wide economic problem may be does not absolve governments from a certain duty in meeting the unemployment situation in their several countries. To some extent administrations have realized this, but they have been slow to find the remedy. Whether or not it lies in unemployment insurance is a moot question, for this method has not been long enough in vogue anywhere to afford a conclusive answer. Here in British Columbia we have had an unemployment problem which has been allowed to drag on too long. Unemployed insurance is a system which could be operated, with advantage under the Workmen's Compensation Board and in that body the machinery already exists for putting it into effect. It was obvious, early last Summer, that this province would, by now be facing just the conditions which are prevalent today, but nothing was done.

During the present debate on the Address in our legislature attention has been drawn to the unemployment situation. Here, just as in Britain, it is the problem of most immediate importance, and one in which the provincial government, because it owns the natural resources of the province, should be deeply concerned. In the Speech from the Throne there was no allusion to unemployment, an omission which we hope does not denote apathy towards the situation. The government here can follow Britain's example and bring in a measure of state unemployment insurance. With the advice of Chairman Winn of the Workmen's Compensation Board a measure could be drawn up, without waiting for the findings of any commission, and could be put on the statute books this session. The government has an undoubted duty in doing what lies within provincial authority to prevent a repetition of the suffering which has overtaken so many thousands of our inhabitants during the present Winter.—Colonist.

SINKING TO UTTER RUIN

The population of Petrograd and Moscow, in Soviet Rusia, has greatly decreased, according to a Rusian dispatch.

The population of Petrograd in 70,000, seventy-one per cent less than in 1917, and in Moscow the population has dropped to 1,015,000, about fifty per cent less.

The death rate, the dispatch said, in Moscow has increased from eight per thousand in 1918 to 22 per thousand last year, while in Petrograd the death rate was two and one-half times as great as in Moscow. The birth rate has also fallen, despite increased marriages.

The report said that about three-fourths of the workers in Russia now were women, aged men and children.

HUB OF THE UNITED STATES

Along a rustic path the centre of population treads steadily westward. In its rusticity Americans, if symbols count, may take comfort.

Luck it is—or it is a providential omen—that the population centre of this nation of 105,000,000, as figured from the census of 1920, did not alight on some urban amusement palace, some abandoned saloon or a police station in some shouting city. Far better that it should alight, as it did, in the yard of an American farm-house.

Close to this farm in southwestern Indiana is the village of Whitehall. A road wanders down a quiet little hill. There is a clapboard house that stands decently behind a picket fence. The village store, with its scantling porch, still sells, no doubt, ginghams and bacon and old-fashioned all-day suckers. This is the population centre of the United States.

The population centre of the British Empire is very likely somewhere in the Pacific ocean or on the storm-whipped waters off the Indian coast. The geographical centre of the United States is miles off in the Pacific, but its population centre doubtless will always be continental.—Chicago News

HOW MANY C. S. E.T. BOYS IN CANADA?

I am going to take you with me on a journey through the reports presented at the annual meeting of the National Boys' Work Board on January 10. Here are some facts that should send every boy reader out with his chest bone high, his head in the air and a proud gleam in his eye because he belongs to the great army of C. S. E. T. boys.

In 1919 there were 225 places in Canada where C.S. E. T. was being done, but for 1920 the number jumped to 389 an increase of 70%.

The number of Tuxis Squares went up from 516 to 656, a gain of 27%, and of Trail Ranger Camps from 585 to 818, an increase of nearly 40%.

Now for the number of boys themselves which is the all-important matter. In 1919 there were 6,546 Tuxis Boys and in 1920 there were 8,701, an increase of 33%. Trail Rangers grew from 6677 in 1919 to 10,122 in 1920, an increase of close to 52%. The grand total of C. S. E. T. boys went up from 13,223 to 18.823, a gain of 42 1|3%.

During 1920, 11,943 boys and men attended Father and Son Banquets. There were 2,809 Honor Badges awarded to Tuxis Boys and 2,089 Special Badges for Trail Rangers.

Can you get in on a Father and Son Banquet this year? February is 'Home Month' for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers.

catessan sale was held, which was very successful, realizing $361.20.

On New Year's Eve, the dance given by our Chapter for the local Boy Scouts proved not only an enjoyable function but netted the sum of $322.70, which amount was turned over to the Boy Scouts.

We have been urgently requested from time to time by our Regent to refrain from purchasing anything in the line of Hearst publications, and to subscribe to the I.O.D.E. official magazine "Echoes."

Several friends and members of the local Chapter were anxious to make Mrs. A. I. Fisher a life-member in the Provincial Chapter, which membership will be presented soon.

A donation of $25.00 was made to the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

The Mt. Fernie Chapter adopted the school at Coal Creek, giving it five framed British Historical Pictures and a library.

The annual presentation of three beautifully framed British Historical pictures took place at the Fernie Central School. The pupil in each of the three higher grades taking the highest mark in history won a picture, which bears the plate of the Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E., and hangs on the wall of the school room, where it was won. Each successful pupil received a splendid hist[illegible] book, which is their [illegible] property. This is the [illegible] year for the competition [illegible] only a matter of a few ye[illegible] each of the three higher grades will have a splendid collection of fa[illegible]ture[illegible]

The local Library was assisted to the extent of $25.00.

Corbin, one of out outlying towns, has always distinguished itself in its splendid assistance given us on Tag Days. As a small token of our appreciation, and realizing Corbin to be a splendid field, the Chapter presented the Corbin Public School with a Library. Mrs. Trites, the Regent, and Mrs. Wood, Educational Secretary, accompanied Lieut. Helmsing, Provincial Sec.-Treas., of the Navy League, to Coal Creek, where he gave his splendid talk on "Sea Power" to the school children there. The I. O. D. E. and local branch of the Navy League work together whenever the occasion presents—so closely are we bound together in our splendid work.

The Executive of the past year feel gratified at the help the other members of the I.O.D.E. have given, and in closing the year, we feel it has been one of work and achievement.

We also wish to thank every one who has helped to make the year a successful one, especially Arthur J. Moffatt, who kindly audits our books from year to year, and also the Press which at all times brings our work before the public.

Regent—Mrs. A. B. Trites.
1st Vice-Regent—Mrs. J. L. Gates.
2nd Vice-Regent—Mrs. J. R. Wallace.
Secretary—Mrs. M. A. Kastner.
Educational Secretary—Mrs. R. W. Wood.
Echoes Secretary — Mrs. A. I. Fisher.
Treasurer—Mrs. S. Graham.

Financial Statement

Feb. 11, 1921.

Dear Madam—I have audited the books of your Society for the year Feb. 1, 1920, to Jan. 31. 1921, and the following is a statement of the cash receipts and disbursements during the period, and of the Bank Balances at Feb. 1, 1920, and at Jan. 31, 1921. In accordance with the requirements of the War Charities Act, I have sent a copy of this statement to Thomas Mulvey, Under Secretary of State, Ottawa.

It should be noted that the report of March 4. 1920, which appeared in the press, did not show the following items: Donations to Navy Leagues, $238.25; Donation National Memorial $500; and I would therefore suggest that when possible any reports be carefully checked before publication.

Yours very truly,
Arthur J. Mofatt, Auditor.

The G.W.V.A. will give a whist drive and dance to the W.A. of the G.W.V.A. in Hawthorne's hall on March 1, from 8 p.m. till 11 p.m. The ladies will supply refreshments.

The Ladies Benevolent Society are badly in need of infant clothing to relieve distress, and would be glad to receive any donations. Same can be left with Mrs. Herchmer or Mrs. E. K. Stewart.

Tom Jennings, an employee of the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co. for 13 years, died in the Fernie hospital last Friday. Hales Ross took the body to Baynes for interment. Deceased leaves a son and daughter in Montreal.

The fire brigade was called out early Tuesday morning to a small blaze in the kitchen of Geo. King's residence in the Annex. The fire was extinguished quickly. The damage, which amounted to two or three hundred dollars, is covered by insurance.

The manager of the Home Bank is peeved at his staff for allowing that Commerce bunch to put it over them in hockey and has challenged the Commerce and Imperial staff to a game of curling to be played tomorrow.

The Fernie snowfall from Oct. 15, 1920, until today, was 83 inches; the rainfall during the same time was 12.9 inches. For the corresponding period last year the snowfall was 70 inches and the rainfall 8.16 inches. As one inch of rain is equal to ten inches of snow there must have been a snowfall up on the mountains of about 20 feet.

Billy Ingram returned on Saturday from a short trip to Vancouver. During his stay there he ran across a few old time Fernieites. He says Tom Whelan is looking prosperous and studying the divorce laws; True Tuttle is looking well but has a horrible tale of woe to peddle; Fred Vance is getting bald; and Con Whelan looks like a million dollars.

Two Cranbrook rinks, skipped by Cameron and Hoggarth, came down on Saturday night and made a strong talk for the Fleishman Cup. The present holders of the cup, Kastner and Herchmer, were on the job and fought them all the way. Kastner lost to Cameron by one point, but Herchmer succeeded in getting away with Hoggarth by a margin of two, thus leaving Fernie a margin of one point in both games. The Cranbrook boys are not very well satisfied and are expected back again in a few days with guns.

Joseph Fisher, the well known Gold Creek trapper, was up from Waldo the other day with a fine bunch of skins. He had a beautiful mountain lion pelt measuring 7 feet in length, on which he collected a bounty of $25 from the government. Joe reports deer very plentiful, but they are being rapidly destroyed by mountain lion, which are also very numerous. He had two of the largest coyote skins that were ever seen here, but refused to surrender them for the bounty, as they were worth more for fur.

What the Development of the Scenic Assets of British Columbia Means In Dollars and Cents

An address delivered before the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, at Vancouver, on February 11th, 1921, by Herbert Cuthbert, Executive Secretary, Pacific Northwest Tourist Asociation.

I appreciate the personal privilege of being asked to address this conference and also the compliment that has been paid to the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association by this invitation.

The people of the Pacific Northwest for thirty years have neglected to avail themselves of a source of wealth that has proved of the most vital importance to Europe and to several state of the Union. This particlarly applies to the province of British Columbia, and as this is a meeting of representatives of all the Boards of Trade in British Columbia, I am sure that our friends in Oregon and Washington will for once forgive me if I speak almost exclusively on the development of this natural source of wealth within this province.

As a people, and as a province, British Columbia has not realized that scenery, climate and sport have a value in dollars and cents equal to the minerals in our hils, the timber in our forests, the fish in our seas, and the fertility of our lands. This may be doubted by the man who has not given it a thought. It is difficult for a hard-headed business man to realize that other worn out business men, men of leisure and wealth, women exhausted and run down thro household cares and the strenuous life of today, will leave as much money each year in the province as can be derived from any of our basic industries.

For, after all, the value of an industry depends upon its market. If the market is weak, the price is low, you know how it affects our mining, lumbering and fishing industries. The market for tourist industry is more constant and more nearly always at a high level than that of any other industry. Please do not forget that the tourist travel is an industry, that your waste places of nature, snow-capped mountains, mighty rivers, enchanting lakes, rugged coast line, sea beaches, big game, turbulent trout streams and your ever-green forests, constitute the raw material for one of the greatest of all industries. And, as I have said, this market is constant, inexhaustible, and the price is whatever you care to set upon it.

There may be some gentlemen in this room who will doubt this statement. Let us prove it from a concrete fact, right at the very doors of this meeting.

When the Canadian Pacific Railway was promoted and in afight that took place in the House of Commons with reference to its subsidy, it was claimed that it could never be a financial success, it would never pay interest on its bonds because, for the last three or four hundred miles, it passed thro a barren country, a sea of mountains, the traffic from which would not pay for axle grease.

Gentlemen, I need not tell you that the Canadian Pacific Railway has spent more money in hotels and trails and roads and amusements in these waste places, in this sea of mountains, than they have on any other portion of their line, and that this sea of mountains, again, waste places of nature, of no economic value, has proved to be the biggest source of passenger revenue to the Canadian Pacific Railway. This fact cannot be denied and it is an outstanding proof of my line of argument. It is an undoubted fact that these tourists features have been the biggest factor in the success of this great Canadian enterprise.

In other words, there has proved to be a bigger market for the sale of this scenery than for any other product along its line.

Let us analize this market yet further. Sir George Paish, when he asked to give the reason for the decline of the Pound Sterling in the early days of the war, gave some startling figures of the loss of revenue from certain sources to Great Britain, and one of them was the loss of two hundred million dollars from American tourists. Thus the tourist became a factor in international finance. In those days American tourists also spent in France and Switzerland, four hundred million dollars, and therefore the tourist travel, at least to Europe from America alone, was worth six hundred million dollars.

It is a well known fact that for years before the war, Italy maintained her rate of exchange between herself and other countries solely by the influx of new money from the tourist.

In the United States it is estimated that the American vacation seeker also spent six hundred million dollars at home. Maine got at least forty million, the New England states eighty million, Colorado forty million; it is the greatest source of revenue next to the tobacco crop in Cuba, and is the third source of revenue in Florida, while figures given to me by the United States Bureau of Statistics state that it is worth one million dollars a day to the State of California in the season.

British Columbia, with its unsurpassable scenery, its four hundred miles of territory, its historic features, and Indian legends, its big game and sport fishing, has neglected wholly this great source of wealth until three or four years ago, which, if it had been developed to the same extent that other natural resources have been encouraged, the province would have been more thickly populated than it is today, its finances would have been very much stronger, there would have been a very large class of independantly wealthy people living within its borders, and it would have an annual revenue pouring in from transient visitors amounting to many millions of dollars a year.

This tourist travel would not only have given the results I have spoken of, but it would have done more than anything else to develope its other natural resources and to have brought settlers, industries and manufacturers into the province.

It is a strange thing that the average man speaks of the tourist travel with contempt. It is thoughtlessness. It is because he has never given the matter a thought. He has not realized the figures that I have given you. He has not realized that Switzerland lives alone, almost, on the tourist. He has not realized that France, just before the war, when the U.S. Congress imposed a luxury tax which largely affected the industries of France, did not quarrel with the government of the United States because she was afraid of losing the two or three hundred million dollars a year left there by the American tourist. Thus the tourist became a factor in international politics.

Just one more illustration. If we were to ask ourselves what city of the Pacific coast is most important, where the largest population is, where there is the most business, where real estate has the highest value, we would naturally, probably, think of that excellent, well-built, imposing city of San Francisco, with its world renowned Golden Gate, and yet, that is not so. There are probably at least fifty-thousand more people in Los Angeles than in San Francisco, real estate is worth a thousand dollars a front foot more than in San Francisco. Yet, it is essentially, without a shadow of a doubt, a tourist city.

When tourists first were attracted there, it had nothing but climate and hot air. It had not even soil until the water was brought on to it. Yet the tourists came, and saw, and liked it and went back again and made it the greatest city on the Pacific coast.

In the wake of the tourist has followed industries so much so that there have been more new industries established in Los Angeles probably during the past ten years than in any other city on the Pacific coast. And, yet, Los, Angeles and California have maintained an ever increasing, transient tourist busniess until it has reached such a magnitude as to overshadow all other economic developments of the state. The tourist crop far exceeds any other crop in California.

Let me quote you some startling figures:

I have a circular before me in which is shown that the annual orange crop is $62,000,000; the delicious fruit crop $15,000,000; lemons 11,000,000, or a total of $88,000,000. The cotton crop is $19,500,000; wheat $14,500,000; barley$11,500,000; beans $14,500,00, or a grand total of the seven products of the soil of $148,500,000.

In the same circular, but not given the same prominence by any means as the figures I have just mentioned, is the statement that the tourist crop per annum is $150,000,000, a sum exceeding the total of their seven principal resources of the soil.

Can I awaken, gentlemen, in your minds, a true conception of the value of the developement of the tourist travel to this province and the Pacific Northwest?

For, again, I say to you, that we have neglected woefully this source of revenue and wealth in British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest, at any rate up to four years ago when the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association was organized. I do not wish to say more about the asociation than I am compelled because I do not wish you to think I am eulogizing an association with which I am connected, but here to give you facts and reasons why the work of the association should be continued.

In four short years we have carried on an advertising campaign which has compelled the most favorable attention and comment throughout the United States and Canada. We have put Oregon, Washington and British Columbia on the map as they were never on before, and it is a matter of fact and of record, which cannot be denied that there has been 100 per cent increase in tourist traffic since the association was formed, last year there being the greatest influx of visitors of any year in history, notwithstanding those years in which the great world's fairs were held on the coast.

And, we believe that this travel is not more than started, that in the years to come it will increase n size and gather momentum, like a rolling snowball, until to a large extent we have wiped out the neglect of former years.

Perhaps you do not know that during the past year 250,000 people have come into the province of British Columbia through the port of Blaine alone. Someone has estimated that they spend $20 each, or a total of $5,000,000. A large number of people have come in through the gateways, especially Kings gate, Banff, Prince George and Prince Rupert. The tourist travel through East Kootenay, especially by automobile, has exceeded all previous years and I give due credit to the East Kootenay Boards of Trade for their enterprise in this matter.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan, of Peabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock-dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awful run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and could not take any interest in my work or any thing else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times, my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

WILL THEY FIND THE GOLDEN MONKEY?

Did man leave any fosil remains of his existence during the 250,000 years between the ape-man of Java and the oldest prehistoric man of Europe? That is one at least of the questions that the representatives of the American Museum of Natural History hope to answer in the course of the explorations that they are just undertaking. The project, in which the Museum has the co-operation of the American Asiatic Association and of Asia (the magazine), contemplates the zoological exploration of regions of Central Asia that are almost or quite unknown to the western world. There are even remnants of nearly thirty living tribes bearing such unfamiliar names as Lolos, Mosos, and Lisos as to whose origin and racial antecedents nothing is known. The fossils of the region have been carefully guarded by the Chinese, who ascribe to them medicinal qualities. Then there are many varieties of animals that have hitherto been little sought by zoologist or hunter; wild horses of the Gobi Desert, and wild camels and asses, and antelopes that can run sixty miles an hour. On the Tibetan steppes, we are told, are enormous yaks, snow-leopards, giant pandas, and the beautiful golden monkeys, some of these species being among the rarest and least-known animals of the world. In the forests of Manchuria is the long-haired tiger of the Amur river; a tiger larger and finer than the Royal Bengal of India, which has furnished sport for kings and emperors; a tiger living in caves amid forests drifted deep with snow.

Such are some of the allurements of the region as recorded in a bulletin of the American Museum of Natural History. The expedition plans five years of work, covering everything of interest, zoologically, anthropologically and paleontologically. Specimens of fossil remains and living animals will find their way in due course to the Museum of Natural History and the New York Zoological Gardens respectively.—Dr. Henry Smith Williams.

IF CORPULENCE WERE DECLARED A CRIME

The man or woman who carries extra flesh is as much an addict as is the individual enslaved to his drug. These slaves to food excesses will not rise up and cure themselves. Sooner or later the community will have to take them in hand and bring them back to normal.

This can be done at any time by declaring corpulence a crime and by assessing the appropriate punishment —incarceration without food.

There are many reasons why corpulence should be declared a crime and punished. The first and obvious reason is that the fat person is consuming more than his share of the food of the community. The second reason is that he occupies more than his allotted space in all public places —that he slows up the flow of normal life for which he is too deliberate. He is a criminal in the third place because he is committing suicde, which is against the law.

When corpulence is declared a crime in the eyes of the law, the perfect crime will have been discovered.

Conceive the satisfaction in preparing the evidence against such a criminal. When he s presented he mutely testifies against himself. His very appearance is a plea of guilty. The evidence may be weighed on a grocer's scale. There will be no wrangling lawyers, no third degree, no cross-examination. The accused steps on the steelyards and rings up his sentence. It is the perfect crime. The punishment is no less perfect.

Experiments have shown that a fat man without food loses weight at the rate of two pounds a day. Therefore, when the scales indicate an overweight of twenty pounds, the sentence is automatically ten days.

"To be released at 150 pounds," the judge might say.

The problem of incarceration would be very simple. The only supplies required for a month's stay in the calaboose would be a jug of water.

Dr. T. J. Glover's claim of having discovered a serum for the successful treatment of cancer is reported upon adversely by a special committee of the council of the Academy of Medicine of Toronto. The committee was appointed some time ago to investigate the claims of the young Toronto doctor and his friends made last summer, that he had found a serum that would releive cancer sufferers, if not positively cure them.

Too long have coughs and colds evaded justice and caused untold suffering to humanity, but at last they have been cornered and overpowered by Canada's famous cough detective—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Did you ever hear of this wonderful remedy? Why, everybody is talking and writing about the great work it is doing in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, etc.

The following is one of thousands of letters received:—"Kindly accept my sincere thanks for the benefit my wife derived by the use of one of your bottles of Bronchitis Mixture. For over thirteen years she has suffered acutely. After spending dollar after dollar upon various remedies, no relief was obtained. Hearing of your most marvelous remedy she decided to give it a trial and I am glad to say one bottle has made her well. You are at liberty to use my name and should be only too pleased to answer any inquiries. Sincerely yours, John Holmes, Yorkville Ave." The original of this letter may be seen at W. K. SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

February 25th, 1921.

The general Epistle of Samuel, Sam Nemore, prophet, sum people say that I am, a prophet and I say that God is the prophet, tho the world's war which did occur in recent years apparently it were a very stily war in comparably to a world's war which appears to occur ultimately. Now I will say something of the Christian people and as it is written that man is as liable to err as sparks is to go upward thus we see that man kind is not supposed to live a Christian life perfectly but practicably keep the decalobue, believe the Lord with all of your heart and love thy neighbor as thy self, upon these two commandments hang all of the law and prophecy, and I have been here for ten years and there is more than ten thousand people here in B. C. and I am seen every day that I do practise this which I teach and now I want to say, that once in Christ is never out. And Hebrews, chapter 10 and verse 10, states that we are sanctified once for all and it is written that we who have confessed Christ here in this world we will not be brought in to the judgment hall of condemnation, we will not be judged with the world as Christ were judged for us, we will be judged only for our stewardship, and it is written that if any man sins he has a advocate with the Father, and we whi have confessed Christ in this world we are developing every day and Jesus has thus been sitting as the refiner and purifier of his people for more than eighteen centuries and we are God's elect people and God will bring us with him in that grat day are we not exceedingly glad.

See 1st Thessalonians, chapter 4, verse 14, now we will see about the un godly people, our prodigal brethern now remember that we know and say frankly that it is much better for man kind to die in Christ and as I have seen by immortal view them who did die in Christ were in a Holy place and I did see them who apparently did die Christless in a un Holy place, apparently for a period of time and apparently they were not in any pang tho so as to reform of sin and obtain faith in God and not a eternal torture. And Isreal and Judah were destroyed for wickedness, those are sum more of our prodigal brothern who died un Godly and it is writen that Israel shall be restored and Judah shall becum the head of the corner and it is written that the iniquity of Israel and the sins of Judah shall be sought for and shall not be found for I will pardon them whom I reserve, see Jeremiah, chapter 50, verse 20, observance have there every been at any tim more of a reserve decree signal flown from the throne of the Heavenly Bliss than this that God have give his only son to redeem us to Godby thy blood out of every people and nation, see Revelations, chapter 5, verse 9, for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that dead that they might be judged acording to men in the flesh but live according to God in the spirit, see 1st Peter, chapter 4, verse 6, and as it is written of Jesus, I will seek diligently until I have found the lost sheep then layeth it on his shoulders rejoicing and returning it back to the fold and if I be lifted up from the earth will draw all men unto me, not any absent, see St. John, chapter 12, verse 32, is it not written that the devil said that sum of these people is mine and is it not written again that the devil is a liar and the truth is not inhim, see St. John, chapter 8, verse 44, and when we say O my sins we speak only of the sins that we were first born in as we were sentence to the first death from our birth and there is no more criminal sentence of death only for blasphem against the Holy Ghost, see St. Mark, chapter 3, verses 29-30, and if any one believe in his or her heart that God is of the spirit of the devil and speak so with his or her mouth then he or she is dead in the second death tho we are glad to say that we do not know any mortal on earth who is guilty of thusblasphemy. And as this world is in a wreck and I am here to help to save Adam's posterity, so that is what I am going to do. And in my immortal views or visions apparently I did see the rupture of the earth, the beginning of the millennium day, three times, and the first and second and third time and every time it appeared to be about 3 or 3.30 o'clock, p.m. And God did show me a vision in recent years how he could convert and baptise the people of the entire world in side of five minutes, well is it possible that Adam's entire posterity can be saved? Yes it is possible, come and see, see St. Matthew, chapter 19, verses 21-26, we see clearly in Jeremiah, chapter 50, verse 20, did have a full gospel of salvation for lost sinners who did die un Godly and di dsave themin that day and in that time and will not Adam's entire posterity be saved in that day and in that time when the Lord comes and bring to light the hidden things of darkness, see Corinthians, chapter 4, verse 5, the evil that God had said that he would do will God not repent of the evil in that day and in that time, see Jonah, chapter 3, verse 10, we know that are breaking God's own breath and we know that we are rought at a price and paid for with the lood of Jesus thus we are God's people, and it is written that God's people come up from the East and West, North and South and come up into the heaven and sitdown.

HOCKEY

The Calgary Regents, lady hockey champions of Western Canada, on Wednesday evening defeated the Fernie Ladies hockey team here by a score of 1 goal to nil. Fernie was extremely unlucky in losing the game, as they kept the puck in the vicinity of the Calgary goal practically during the whole of the game.

The first period opened with a combination rush by the Fernie forwards but they were unable to penetrate the Regents' heavy defence. The Regents broke away but were pulled up short by Miss Schagel, who travelled the length of the ice but finished weak. Miss Dragon and Miss Fenwick both took shots at the Calgary goal but Miss Clarin was there with the big stick. The Regents visited the Fernie goal and Miss Ross was called on to stop a hot one from Miss Short. The save she pulled off was wildly cheered by the fans.

The second period was the scene of some lively encounters, several players from both sides decorating the penalty box. The Regents lead by Miss Short, made an attack on the Fernie goal, but were stopped by Miss Henderson, who returned again, Miss Short taking a shot at the goal. Miss Ross stopped the shot but in the scrimmage, endeavoring to clear, knocked the puck into the corner of the net, scoring for Calgary the only goal of the game.

The third period opened with a rush by Miss Biggs and Miss Miles, but the Regents played a six man defence and it was practically impossible for the Fernie girls to get through. Miss Richardson and Miss Hammil then attacked the Calgary positions and a lively scrimmage ensued in front of the goal, but Miss Ure got hold of the puck and broke away but was pulled up in centre ice. The game finished with Fernie striving hard to get the equalizer but the methods of the Regents were too much for the local girls. The Regents defence was the outstanding feature of the game, but on the summing up of the game Fernie outshone the visitors in every phase of the game.

The line-up was:

Regents.	Fernie
Goal
Miss Clarin	Miss Ross
Right Defence
Mrs. Brownlee	Miss Henderson
Left Defence
Miss Ure	Miss Schagel
Rover
Miss McLatchie	Miss Hammil

Miss Loukes	Miss Dragon

Mrs. Robertson	Miss Miles

Bankers 4—Coal Co. 3.

On Tuesday night the second game of a gauntlet throwing series between local firms was staged by the staffs of the Coal Co. and Banks. After 45 minutes of warfare Messrs. Wilsons et al had to doff their hats to the mixed aggregation of money lenders, by the score of 4-3. The bankers always managed after scoring the 1st to bulge the net every time their opponents did, and came out on top. In the tongue of a movie manager, the game was full of thrills, excitement and mirth. Staff was a Waterloo to the bankers (ask Peanuts). Thompson for the Coal Co. was their big man. Pep tried hard but for lack of wind was unable to catch up. Ere Colton was the star of the game with the fair sex pressing hard for the team honors. Here is the line-up:

Coal Co.—B. Wilson, Harold Wilson, Staff Wilson, Hartley Wilson, Pierpont, R. Colton, Thompson.

Other games of this nature had been planned but soft ice has spoiled further merriment for fans.

The Fernie Juniors left on Monday morning for Nelson, where they defeated the local team by a score of 7-0. On the following evening they were defeated in a return match by an almost entirely different team by a score of 7-2. Following is the report of the first game as given in the Nelson News:

Full of tricks, and pep, and sporting a pearl of a goal tender, the Fernie juniors trimmed the local Vics in fine shape last night at the local rink, winning the match with a total score of 7 goals to 0. About 200 fans witnessed the battle which was as interesting a bit of junior playing as one could wish to see.

Forcing the pace in the first from the drop of the puck the Fernie boys tied right into the locals in whirlwind fashion and dropped four within the net before the end of the period. No scoring resulted in the second, in which the Vics were the aggressors, keeping the puck well up around the visitors' net. They never stood a show of recovering the lost ground however as B. Thompson, the Fernie goalie, was always a shade ahead of the would be scorer, and repeatedly saved the wicked looking shots. Three more goals fell to the visitors in the third. Penalties were handed out freely, during the game Benwell of the Vics decorating the fence for 10 minutes in one stretch, and Alex. Thompson, of, the Fernie boys, being off for one period of eight minutes. The Fernie youngsters claim the junior championship of Kootenay and are billed to meet the Wanderers, the champions of the city junior league after the senior game tonight.

The line-up was:

Nelson—Goal, W. Fresno; defence, H. Pitts, H. Murphy; centre, D. McLean; wings, G. Benwell, P. Rutledge.

Fernie—Goal, R. Thomson; defence, A. Thomson, C. Taylor; centre, K. Colton; wings, J. Davidson, E. Covert. Spare, J. Kasmar.

Fourteen Motion Picture Cameras Used in Recording Great Race

Not only is every detail of the race taken by fourteen men, shown in "The race of the Age," but there are many intimate views of the horse wonder. So important was this picture considered that $10,000 was paid for the motion picture rights and not a single camera was allowed to enter the racetrack except the men in the employ of the company making the picture. Slow-motion figures to a considerable extent in the picture.

JAMES MAGGS WAS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Coleman, Feb. 28.—The sad news reached Coleman of the accidental death of Jas. Maggs at Bankhead.

Mr. Maggs was fatally hurt while mining coal on Friday of last week.

He had resided for a number of years at Coleman and left after the death of his wife, about two years ago. Mr. Maggs was a man highly respected by all, of a quiet and peaceful disposition. He was known as a diligent, cautious and splendid workman. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the children so suddenly and sadly orphaned. The remains were brought from Bankhead to Coleman on Monday morning's train. A service was held in the Institutional church at 4 p.m. There was a large congregation. The Rev. D. K. Allan conducted the service which was largely choral. Mr. Allan made a few fitting remarks on the personality and character of Mr. Maggs. A large number accompanied the remains to the cemetery where after the close of the religious ceremony, the mmbers of the Orange lodge, of which the deceased was a member, conducted their last rites and also the funeral service of the U.M.W.A. was read.

KILLED AT COAL CREEK

On Saturday last Coal Creek and Fernie citizens were deeply shocked by the tragic death of Wm. Simpson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Simpson, of Coal Creek. The young man, who was employed in the mines as a roperider, was coming out with a trip of cars when a fall of rock from the roof struck him and knocked him off the last car. The trip came out as usual, with the boy missing. Immediate investigation revealed the body under a pile of rock in the tunnel. Deceased was one of the most popular young men in the community and the parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all. The funeral took place on Tuesday to the Fernie cemetery and was largely attended, the mines being idle on that account.

SIMPSON INQUEST

The coroner's inquest touching the death of William King Simpson, the young lad employed as a roperider in No. 2 Mine, Coal Creek, who was instantly killed last Saturday morning, was concluded last night after two lengthy sessions of hearing evidence from some twenty witnesses. The facts as related by the witnesses were that Simpson started down an incline with a trip of four loaded cars, occupying his regular position on the rear of the last car. The trip landed safely and intact down at the parting, however, without Simpson, and the first intimation of anything wrong was when another roperider, who had just reached this landing from another incline, went to secure Simpson's trip so it could not proceed further. He then noticed a couple of pieces of wood on two cars and a large piece of rock between the last two. He at once proceeded up the incline, where he discovered a cave-in had occurred and it was still "running," that is, debris still falling. Aid was hastily summoned and the boy recovered, but he was beyond human aid, having expired, according to medical testimony, from suffocation while rendered unconscious from concussion caused from impact by the falling rock and timbers. It was also necessary before the body could be released to saw a large boom timber which was pinning him down. It was estimated about 20 tons weight came down in the cave.

Extensive evidence was heard from all witnesses who might have any knowledge of the accident or condition of the tplace wherein it occurred and after much deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of accidental death, with a recommendation that the mine timbering be given more thorough inspection.

THE LATEST DISPATCHES

Ottawa, March 4.—After a twelve hour sitting of the House of Commons in which not a single supporter of the government was heard in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, the long debate was concluded and the question put at 3.55 a.m. The Campbell sub-amendment calling for a redistribution of seats before a dissolution of parliament, was defeated without a voice being raised in its favor, even the mover and seconder being absent when the question was put. The vote on the King, leader of the apposition, amendment, calling upon the Governor General to dissolve parliament because the government had lost the confidence of the country, was defeated by a vote of 116 to 91, a government majority of 25.

Washington, March 4. — President Harding in his inaugural address today declared that the United States "seeks no part in directing the destinies of the old world and is unwilling to become entangled in European matters." Nevertheless, speaking on behalf of the people of the United States, he expressed "willingness to associate with the other nations of the world in seeking an agreement for the reduction of armament, in sugesting plans for mediation, conciliation and arbitration, in clarifying the laws of international relationship, and in establishing a world court for the disposition of justice of international relationship and questions." Dealing with commercial problems which confront the United States, Mr. Harding declared particularly for the development of trade with the other nations of the American continent.

London, March 4. — Vague hints that discussions were going on between the Allies regarding the possibility of bridging the gulf between them and the Germans, were heard last night. Nothing tangible, however, developed.

Cork, March 4.—John McSweeney, brother of the former Lord Mayor of Cork, was one of ten men who were sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment here today, for waging war against the Crown forces, being in possession of arms, munitions and explosives.

New York, March 4.—Federal receivers were applied for today for Imbrie & Co., securities dealers. Liabilities were placed at $11,810,000 and assets as of December 31 at $13,500,000. Shortage of cash and liquid assets was alleged.

Cleveland, March 3.—Plots which involved the planned assassination of Cleveland citizens connected with the Loyal American Legion, the destruction of down town buildings, and an intensive campaign of anarchy throughout the city, are believed now to have been nipped by the arrest here last Tuesday night of eight men, said to be members of an anarchist group.

London, March 3.—Reports from the Finnish frontier, the Balkan States and Scandinavia with reference to the disturbances in Russia continue to be conflicting. Although it was declared in several quarters today that the movement had been crushed, confirmation of this was lacking in authentic circles.

A GREAT MERIT OF THE MOVIES

When one drops into a moving picture show and finds that, between films, there is some vaudville for a change, he makes a discovery that quite surprises him. He finds out that one of the pleasures of the moving picture show, one of the blessings and comforts of it, of which all along he had been unaware although basking in it and benefitting from it greatly, is that at the movies he has escaped the encore fiend.

This is a big discovery. The success of the motion picture show is assured by that one advantage alone. Every other kind of entertainment is blighted, if not altogether doomed, by those who "encore" everything, good and bad, smash their hands together, and make every performer come back again and again. What they want is quantity. The more they get the better the bargain.

It may be that only one person in six in the audience joins in the insistent applause which brings the performer on again. But the five who keep silent are without influence, and the one has his way. It is not easy to understand this fifth part of the audience. It can never get enough of anything. Sometimes you feel that the applause must originate in sheer good nature, because it is unsparingly given and without apparent discrimination, to the singing that jars you through and through as well as to that which is good or passably so. At times you envy these persons their hearty appetite for entertainment of any kind and every sort. It is all grist for their mill. You look at one of these makers of applause, and he looks all right. He appears to be as intelligent as anyone else. But he is hungry for more of everything. He orders a second helping of everything in the menu from soup to nuts, and he orders a second helping for everybody although others are fed up long before he is gorged.

The motion picture is a house of refuge from the encore fiend. The worst he can do at a movie is to read aloud the words on the screen. And the movie theatres should not forfeit the immense advantage they possess. When they put on vaudeville they should run them like reels—once across and no more.

NO CHANCE FOR REDUCTION

There is no chance for a reduction in the price of coal from the mines in Southern Alberta until there is a cut in wages, said a local coal operator this morning. He was discussing the report from Drumheller that a reduction was being made. However, since the Drumheller report came out it has been denied on the part of some of the mines. A meeting was recently held at which 14 operators were present and only one man was in favor of reducing the price of coal. The others believed nothing could be done until wages drop. At present, some of the operators claimed, they are not making 70 cents a ton on their coal.

INQUIRY INTO RECENT FIRES

The superintendent of insurance for the province, through John A. Thomas, Fire Prevention Officer, Vancouver, this week concluded an official inquiry into the circumstances surrounding fires which resulted in damage to properties owned by C. Lassalle and Mrs. Mary Gales, on Jan. 14, and a dwelling house owned and occupied by Wasyl Tymchuk, the latter originating from unknown cause about midnight of Feb. 9.

Whilst no official conclusion will be made public until the report is dealt with by the Supt. of Insurance, the concensus of opinion held by all the witnesses, including the owners, as to the first named occurrences, was that the two fires were distinctly separate although occurring simultaneously, that is, having entirely no connection between them. The witnesses positively suggested incendiarism took place but did not submit any direct evidence as to the person or persons guilty of such an act.

In the instance of the fire at the Tymchuk residence it appeared that Tymchuk himself was away at the time and his wife and children experienced considerable difficulty in making their escape from the burning building. Questions as to the apparently excessive insurance carried by Tymchuk were raised by the Commissioner and complete evidence on this point obtained by him to the effect that the premises and contents carried $5500.00 insurance placed with different companies through three respective local agents, while the appraisal of the value of building and contents adduced in evidence placed building and contents at approximately $2,000.00.

The investigation was very thorough, and it is felt by the authorities that such official procedure is of benefit to the public as a whole. It was emphasized that within recent years five very suspicious fires have occurred in this city concerning which no official recognizance of this nature had been taken. Police Inspector Dunwoody represented the Crown and H. Thomas, of Calgary, the companies.

POSSIBLE INDUSTRY

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—Some years ago I named and conversed with our late friend Fred Roo, the splendid prospects when the Elko water power became utilized of a calcium carbide plant near there.

There is an inexhaustible supply of the finest limestone right there, and the best coke produced in Canada also at hand.

These are the only two necessary substances, and 3000 lbs. produce one ton of calcium carbide.

This is now used so extensively, especially in the metaliferous lines, that it makes the proposition thorougholy safe. Material, power and markets close together. The chief point inerecting a plant of this description is to be near the power generated. It is unusual to find the materials requisite so placed as in this case. I remember naming the facilities also to Mr. Fisher, our late member. Yours truly,

J. Todhunter.

ENDLESS PRAYER CHAIN

Some religious organization is flooding the country with the following chain letter:

Endless Prayer Chain

God Bless our Soldiers and Sailors and keep them in the shadow of Thy hand.

This was received by me on the 24th Feb., 1921, and has been all over the world. Copy it and see what happens. It is said that those who pass it by will meet with misfortune, while those who write it will be taken care of. Send it to seven people and on the seventh day you will meet with great joy. Start it on the day you receive it and send one every day for seven days. Please do not break the chain, as it was started on Flanders Fields.

A quiet wedding took place at Christ church on Tuesday, March 1, when Mrs. M. A. Gittins, widow of the late Lieut. A. Gittins, M.C., Shropshire Light Infantry, and Geo. Parnell, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Parnell of Calgary, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. Hamilton Brown officiated.

Vancouver, March 4. — The first shipment of creosote arrived recently from Great Britain and it is hoped this importation will aid in the development of Canadan coal bye-products plants.

Budapest, March 3.—A defensive alliance against the Bolsheviki has been entered into by Poland, Roumania and Hungary, according to information from reliable sources.

LAWSON IN LIME LIGHT

We have before now called aatention to the pernicious stuff which is being talked in the labor churches and in other resorts of the Reds. On January 30th at the labor church at Edmonton a Red by the name of Peter F. Lawson started off on a new track. One of Lawson's statements was to the effect that Canada owed two billions of dollars to the United States on which interest had not been paid and that within a year an Amrican army of occupation would be in possession of the country.

Get the trend? Awakening an expectation of an Anglo-American war by cultivating a fable, there, of course, being no truth whatver in the statements made, as every intelligent person is aware.

I am calling attention to this apparently trival bit of froth by reason of the fact that there is good grounds for the statement that we have not heard the last of this new form of propaganda, it being a mixture of Bolshevism and Sinn Feinism which in certain circles can be utilized wth telling effects.—Saturday Night.

EVERYBODY KNOWS THE CAUSE, "WHAT NEXT ?"

A recent issue of the Sunday World carries an article by J. D. P. on the cause of the present widespread unemployment. In it he states that the "stock cause" of lack of work for the unskilled laborer are "completely overshadowed" going on to add that a "passive panic which has taken the form of extreme caution on the part of the general buying public," and the "process of the deflation of tumbled prices and consequent lower profit, manufacturers are turning off men from the payroll. That is all true, but it doesn't seem to let any new light on the subject. If you go a step further and say that the deflation of prices is caused by a "passive panic" or lack of purchasers, what more have you learned? The question deepens very promptly into "Why did people get into a state of panic? What stopped buying?"

Well, the thing that usually stops buying is the lack of cash, or the fear of the lack of it. It is at least a year according to the merchants, since the tide turned. It will soon be a year since the first of the series of sales which marked the beginning of the downward trend of prices began.

At the same time, I seem to recall a year ago one concerted cry from the tillers of the soil: "Come out and help us to house and feed you!" What was the answer?

"Prices are going down. Everybody says prices are going down. The wages are high. If prices go down we can afford to pay you for doing our work for us. No. thank you; we'd rather stay here."

So everybody stayed and the prices went down. Unfortunately, with their eyes fixed on the downward bound prices, most of the people neglected to note who was their travelling companion. Down started prices, but even a little before them in their journey was business.

No movement in business—result, no credit. No capital or credit to tide over the trouble—rest, no work for employees. No work—still less buying power, and really serious trouble. And here we are.

The really live question is: What next?

The constant statements that there are too many people in the cities mean something—they mean exactly what they say. But only bitter experiences and actual necessity seem to teach the truth. The question is, are those who are unemployed ready to do the work that needs doing? Work provided for the occasion does not really solve the problem. It can never be more than a clumsy makeshift, a more or less smooth scab over a sore. But once people start to produce their own food and so become, to a great extent, independent of commerce, industry will begin to call for them again. And with industry's call for assistance will come the thing known as "good times."

A REASON.

"Hard times, you know, hard times."

WHY THE PRINTER LOST HIS JOB

Out in Missouri last year a farmer gave a printing office an order for sale bills. The job was promised for June 30. The date being just before the prolonged drought started, the printer decided to take a few parting drinks. He took several. Then he happened to remember the bills that were promised for delivery that day and staggered to the office to get out the job. The farmer called for the bills, paid for them, took them home and the next day started to put them up. This is what he read when he came down to the list of articles for sale: 25 cows broke to work; 11 head of cultivators, coming in soon; 10 head of shovelling boars with scoops by side; 8 piano mares; 120 rods of canvas belting better than new; DeLaval cow with ice cream attachment; McCormick binder in foal; Poland China bobsled due to farrow in April; 14 head of chickens with grass seed attachment in good working order; 2 J. I. Case riding heifers good as new; Spraying outfit can be ridden by children; 15 billy goats, 70 bushel capacity with spraying nozzle and other attachments; many other articles too numerous to mention, which I expect to get at night between now and sale.

TREATIN 'EM ROUGH IN THE U. S. A.

Some of the States of the American Union are going the whole way in an attempt to curb the present crime wave. The Delaware State Senate has just passed a bill making the penalty for highway robbery forty lashes on the bare back, not less than twenty years' imprisonment, and a fine of $500. The fine under the circumstances seems superfluous.

The Arkansas State Senate has also passed unanimously a bill providing capital punishment for bank robberies. The bill puts the bank robber on a parity with murder in that it gives the juries the right to either fix life imprisonment or electrocution as punishment. This should make attempts on financial institutions in Arkansas few and far between.

While probably many will disagree with the summary manner in which Arkansas proposes to treat her bank burglars as savoring too much of feudal days, when pople were executed for stealing sheep or small sums of money, the majority I imagine are in accord with the Delaware method of tackling the hold-up man. Forty lusty lashes on the bare back would propably cure most criminals of a second offence, not to speak of the twenty years which goes with it.

Crab in Oyster Shell.

A perfectly formed hardshell crab about the size of the end of a person's thumb was once found in an oyster shell. The crab had evidently been swallowed by the oyster, but presumably the crab proved too much for the oyster, as there was no oyster in the shell when it was opened.

Peru Sparsely Populated.

A territory on the Pacific ocean approximately 1,400 miles in length and 900 miles in width is occupied by Peru. The territory extends over 679,600 square miles, with a population that is estimated at 4,500,000, or, approximately, 6.6 to the square mile.

For the Typist.

Instead of adjusting the operator's chair to the height of the table on which a typewriter is placed, a typist may now have an adjustable table. The top of the new stand may be raised or lowered like the top of a piano stool.

To Soften Paint Brushes.

If paint brushes have been allowed to get dry and hard, they can be softened in the following manner: Heat some vinegar to boiling point and allow the brushes to simmer in it for about ten minutes. Then wash them well in strong soapsuds.

Improved Propellers.

A new propeller for either water or air has blades with spiral-like curves at one point and concave at the other, carrying the water or air their full length and overcoming the gyroscopic effect of ordinary propellers.

Rat Ravages on Crops.

There are about 750 forms of rodents inhabiting the United States, and the annual loss they cause in food and feed crops is estimated at $50,000,000.—Indianapolis News.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Non-tidal coal lands on Vancouver Island not exceeding 10 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

THE LIQUOR PERMIT SYSTEM

The permit system, as outlined in the Governmnt's draft of the Liquor Control Bill will no doubt, come in for a good deal of discussion, but after all is said on the subject it may be found that what is proposed has many redeeming qualities. There are those who maintain that it should not be necessary to have a permit but that the right to purchase liquor should be a free one. The truth is that the public have become so used to legislative restrictions in the matter of liquor that they will be satisfied now with such safeguards as will trend to insure against the abuse of the drinking habit. This is one thing the permit system will do, and the principle involved is not likely to meet with much, if any, opposition in the Legislature.

There are some particulars that should be made clear regarding the proposed permit system. For instance, more definite particulars might have been stated in the Bill relating to the privileges to be accorded what will undoubtedly constitute the largest class of permit-holders, namely, those who are entitled, by the residence qualification, to take out a permit for a year for the fee of $5. In that section of the Bill dealing with this class of permit it is not stated how much liquor may be purchased at any one time, or if it is the intention to impose any restrictions on the amount bought monthly, or during the year. On the other hand, in that section wherein the powers of the Board of Control are specified, we find that among these is the right to prescribe "the kinds and quantities of liquor which may be purchased under permits of any class, including the amount which may be purchased at any one time or within any specified period of time."

What we have quoted is an elastic power to give a Liquor Control Board, and it might be exercised to the extent of according special favors and privileges. So far as the quantities of liquor that may be purchased under different permits are concerned, the Legislature ought to decide what should be done, and not the Liquor Control Board.—Colonist.

AFRAID OF ANNOYING THE AMERICANS

The Ontario government has decided to remove "Flag and Fleet," Col. Woods' book, from the list of text books in use in the schools of that province. It appears that "Flag and Fleet" does not give sufficient credit to the Americans for the work done during the war. Could one imagine any state in the union removing a text book from the school list because not enough credit was given to a foreign country in any history concerning the Star Spangled banner? The history of the War of 1812 as taught in the schools of the United States might be quoted as a fair example of how much credit is given to the other fellow.

The Quebec Chronicle comments on the action of the government of her sister province as follows: "Colonel Woods is a historian of international reputation by reason of accurate scholarship and literary merit, while his book possesses undeniable educational value as a whole. If, thereby, any isolated passages in which the facts are presented in a way to which legitimate exception can be taken for use among school children, it is highly probable that the distinguished author would have consented to modify them if he had been approached by Hon. Mr. Grant, instead of exposed to slight.

"Ontario has certainly fallen on altered times when such a thing can occur in a province that has always boasted its ultro-British patriotism. Evidently the sole danger to be apprehended from the neighboring government is not that it is composed of farmers, but that it is also composed of men who, in sentiment at least, are more American than British. The withdrawal of "Flag and Fleet" is a stroke of statesmanship of which William Randolph Hearst will warmly approve." — Kamloops Sentinel.

COMPLETE PERSONNEL OF COAL COMMISSION

With the appointment of Major-General R. G. E. Leckie, C.G.M., to the post of mining engineer, and A. P. Foster to that of accountant, the commission to enquire into the price of coal is now complete.

In order that the time of the commissioner, Alex. Henderson, K. C., shall not be wasted with the consideration of irrevalent matters, F. T. Congdon, K.C., counsel for the people, will go over the evidence and decide upon what shall be submitted. People who come before the commission with no more definite information than that the price of coal is too high will not be welcome. The commission is assuming that the price is not fair, and only evidence that will have some bearing on the case will be heard.

Offices for the commission have been established at 601 1-2 Birks Building, and all information bearing on the coal question can be forwarded to that address.

Owners of canines should recollect that the season has now arrived for renewal or payment of the Dog Tax Licenses, and that the onus is cast upon the owner to voluntarily come forward and make the necessary payment. There is an abundance of the canine species in the city and the police department are about to begin a campaign on them. All dogs not adorned with the 1921 metal insignia indicating their right to exist, will be impounded where they will be retained for a short period before being exterminated unless the owners come forth to redeem their pets, in which instances, the Chief says, it is amazing the petty wrath that is invoked on his department when such owners learn they have been penalized the amount of pound fees in addition to the tax. It would therefore be well to heed the above warning and pay your dog tax forthwith, because the only correct interpretation thereof is that it is an ultimatum.

Veteran of Somme and Vimy Ridge Freed of Rheumatism. Says Tanlac Has No Equal

"For the benefit of my comrades who may be suffering as I was on returning from overseas, I want to tell what a wonderful thing Tanlac has been for me," said Ernest Champagne, of 545 Langside St., Winnipeg, Man.

Mr. Champagne was in France with the Seventieth battalion and was in two of the fiercest battles of the war, Vimy Ridge and the Somme. He is now a valued employe of the Canadian Railway Co.

"After returning from the trenches," he said, "I began to suffer terribly from rheumatism. My legs were so badly crippled up I could hardly walk, and then my arms and shoulders became affcted.

"I had constant and almost unbearable pains in the back. My appetite left me, my stomach became so disordered that whatever I ate upset me and I had splitting headaches. I lost about twenty pounds in weight and got so run down I gave up all hope of ever being well.

"But since taking Tanlac I am as good a man physically as I ever was in my life. Actually, every trace of my rheumatism is gone and all my other aches and pains have left me. My appetite is fine, I sleep good every night and have gained ten pounds in weight. After my experience I know that Tanlac is worthy of all the good things that are being said about it."

NORTH DAKOTA EXPERIMENTS

For two or three years the people of the United States and some Canadians have been watching with grave interest the North Dakota experiment in government. The so-called non-partisn movement attained its greatest triumph in that agricultural state. Under the lead of enthusiastic and persuasive advocates, most of them sincere, the people gave practical effect to their protest against the exactions of railway corporations banks, grain buyers, elevator companies, flour millers, loan organizations, manufacturers, wholesale dealers and all kinds of big business. The non-partisan party obtained control of the state government and legislature, and went boldly into the experiment of public ownership and operation. The most significant of the departures was the reaction from the rigidity of the credit systems of the banks and loan companies. Cheap money and plenty of it was obtained on public credit for those who needed advances. On public credit also the state embarked in various ambitious business ventures, intended to rescue the people from the grasp of the monopolist.

It appears that the North Dakota experiment has fallen upon evil days. Its numerous troubles are doubtless partly due to the fall in the price of farm products. But they are still more the consequence of hasty and ill-considered ventures and to the almost implicit trust reposed in men of little business training. Men without experience or caution, without foresight, without ordinary business vigilance, were entrusted with large affairs. No doubt some were consciously dishonest, but probably the most of them were simply lacking in the honesty which requires men to give close and careful attention to the details of business entrusted to them. People who had been led to expect that the new order of things would provide them with cheap funds, secure for them high prices, and supply them with infinite ready money, made it hard for the officers of the new regime to resist their demands.

All these operations required lenders as well as borrowers. North Dakota is a prosperous state, and contains many people with money to lend. But the farmer with the bank account to his credit has timid moments. The failure or suspension of banks and the discovery of bad business methods in the state banking and loan institutions, caused them to withdraw their money from public investments. The public loan concerns found it hard to collect from farmers who would not sell their wheat at current prices. According to the latest figures forty banks in North Dakota have suspended payment or failed. The authorities have not been able to get money on deposit from thrifty farmers. So they have resorted to the financial institutions which they reviled in old days. The financiers are not resentful. If they have any reproaches to make they find some way of incorporating them in the terms of settlement.

Thousands Liberated

What! have you not heard the joyful tidings? Bronchitis has been exiled—kicked right out of society—and 100,000 Canadians liberated from the bondage of this disease. Every trace of bronchial trouble is blown to atoms by the world's most effective disease-destroyer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. No wonder people are rejoicing! No longer do they dread the effects of coughs, colds, asthma, etc., and so anxious are they that others should benefit also, hundreds of letters have been written proclaiming the merits of this wonderful miraculous remedy. Here is one letter:—To Whom it may Concern: "This is to certify that I had been suffering for over three weeks with bronchitis and was advised to try Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. I purchased a bottle and after the third dose I received relief, and before the bottle was finished, I was perfectly well. In making the above assertion I have no hesitation in saying it is the best remedy I ever came in contact with for heavy colds and bronchitis."—(Signed), Mrs. M. Harding, c/o Dustless Brush Co., Toronto. The original of this testimonial may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. This mixture, proven in thousands of Canadian households, will give you sure relief. It cannot fail. Seventy-five cents is the price that stands between you and the road to health. Take no substitute—insist on the bottle with the "Satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded." Ask your druggist. 19

Salt Superstitions.

Superstitions concerning salt are among the earliest known to mankind. There is much evidence in holy writ for the ceremonial uses of it, and the old Mosaic law commands that every sacrifice of a meat offering shall be seasoned with it. Homer calls it divine, and many of the old Teuton races looked on salt springs as holy and worshiped at them. The origin of this superstition seems to be that since salt cannot corrupt it should be regarded as a symbol of immortality.

Novel Dance.

The word "ball," as applied to a dancing party, came to be used in the first instance from an ancient "ball play" given in church by the dean and choir boys of Naples during the Feast of Fools at Easter. At subsequent dancing parties in Naples the dancers threw a ball at one another to the sound of their own singing. They whirled about in measured time and the sport consisted in loosening hands in time to catch the ball.

Pretty, Isn't It?

There is no altar on earth which vies in marble majesty with the altar of heaven—Tien T'ian—in the south of the Chinese city of Peking, which Emperor Lung-le of the Ming dynasty reared in A. D. 1420, with its triple balustrades, stairs and platforms of pure white marble carved miraculously, its great circle covering a wide area in the midst of a vast inclosure. There the emperor knelt once a year.

Palestine's Salt Mountain.

Palestine possesses a remarkable salt mountain situated at the south end of the Dead sea. The length of the ridge is six miles, with an average width of three-quarters of a mile, and the height is not far from 600 feet. There are places where the overlying earthy deposits are many feet in thickness, but the mass of the mountain is composed of solid rock salt, some of which is as clear as crystal.

Give Him a Goatskin.

The professor is the goat.

"If it were not for one trivial thing," mused Professor Cranium, the famous memory expert, as he stroked his chin in par, "I could give young Stewpidd his diploma. His record as a student of my course is almost perfect."

"What is his little trouble?" asked Dr. Hackem-Uppe.

Kindness Makes for Service.

It was once commented upon by Joseph F. Smith that, wherever men are kindest to their animals, there do those animals give the best service to men. As example, the writer cited Holland and Denmark, where the utmost affection and care are bestowed upon the cows, which there give freely of their milk, and the dairying industry flourishes.

Hardener of Steel.

Molybdenite, chiefly found in Tasmania, is used for a variety of purposes, but its principal value is in the manufacture of steel, to which it gives a hardness and toughness that makes the steel suitable for use in propeller shafts, guns and boilers.

Reviving Picture Frames.

Often the gilding on picture frames that are otherwise good has become cracked or soiled. Buy a bottle of liquid gold and apply it to the frame. If large bits have chipped off, remove all before retouching, otherwise the renewed surface will be uneven.

Cooling Air in Mines.

To cool the air far under ground, and thereby permit the miners to work longer shifts, the owners of a European coal mine compress air at the surface of the ground and pipe it through the workings.

Telegraphing Pictures.

A French inventor's process for telegraphing pictures uses a system of hollows and reliefs, the passage of a stylus over which determines the intensity of the current transmitted.

No More Rudders.

A British patent has been granted for apparatus to steer vessels by pumping jets of water out of either side of the stern, thus doing away with rudders.

Use for Broken Glass.

There is a use even for broken glass. Some of it is ground into fine powderlike particles and used for various purposes. Some is melted and made into new glass objects.

Labor Saving.

A novel device which feeds tacks into position to be driven by a hammer is equipped with claws to draw carpet or anything that is to be fastened tight.

Possibly He Had.

A strange bequest was that of Jabez Hollister, an Englishman, who left a set of albatross toothpicks to his sons "in order that they might never have occasion to sit in a dentist's chair."

Daily Thought.

Applause is the spur of noble minds, the end and aim of weak ones.—C. C. Colton.

"Letters From The Front" Vol. 1

A Record of the Part Played by the Officers of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the Great War 1914-1918

Few books published in any country can compare in excellence of taste and beauty of workmanship with this memorial volume recently published by the Canadian Bank of Commerce; nor have we seen one more thoroughly permeated with the noble spirit which inspired so many thousands of young Canadians to go forth and do battle for the survival of liberty and humanity in this world.

A preface by Sir John Aird, General Manager, shows how heavy a toll the war took of the nation-wide institution whose destinies he helps to direct. The actual number of Bank officers who undertook War service was 1701, and the fallen among thm totals 259. Such contribution from the officers of a single institution, widely ramified though it be, focusses attention on the sacrifices made by the Dominion as a whole.

In scanning the list of names it is impossible to overlook the large number of enlistments from th Western Branches of the Bank, once more illustrating how completely the spirit of the West coincides with the patriotism and sacrifice that was kindled throughout the British Empire by the War.

A very valuable feature is to be found in the many pages of fine-toned portraits, not only of the dead but of survivors who were awarded military honors. The place of honor is rightly given to the late Edmund De Wind, who was posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross for valor and self-sacrifice of the highest order near Grougie during the terrible engagements of March, 1918. Though a Second Liutenant in the Royal Irish Rifles when killed, Edmund De Wind first enlisted at a Private at Edmonton and won his promotion by sheer merit. A glance at the faces of the boys, both from the East and from the West, cannot fail to impress one with admiration for the wealth of the sturdy manhood portrayed.

The volue gets its title from a happily inspired plan which originated with the Canadian Bank of Commerce during the War. In 1915, when its "business family" overseas began to assume an enormous proportion, the idea was conceived of priodically publishing in brochure form, extracts from their letters, telling of their adventures, some grave, some gay, some unimaginably tragic. The number of these brochures total eleven, all of which had been edited as a labor of love by C. L. Foster of the Head Office staff. It was subsequently decided to give these letters permanent form and W. S. Duthie, who had seen service at the front, undertook the task of re-arranging the letters and preparing the necessary explanatory notes. The result is a veritable mine of material for future essayists and historians who may undertake the task of analysing and celebrating the spirit that animated the youth of Canada during those never to be forgotten years 1914 to 1918. In these pages the lads speak with a candour that carries conviction of what they experienced and endured. Their nonchalance is amazing. Here one speaks briefly and without emphasis of being buried alive with several companions, and finding himself the only one left alive when dug out. Another dismisses honors in this wise: "I suppose you heard I was awarded the Military Cross. I have since been recommended for a bar to it. What next? D——m funny world, isn't it? But these ribbons are hot stuff with the girls." Ever the same note of coolness, modesty and resolution. But if one were to undertake the task of making characteristic quotations it would prove very lengthy indeed.

To the lover of well-made books "Letters From the Front" is a joy indeed, and its publication was undertaken as a tribute due to those whose services it records. It will not be placed on sale; but is a souvenir gift from the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the relatives of the fallen, and to those lads of equal bravery who "came through."

A Second (biographical Volume is in course of preparation and we understand will be published shortly. We are informed that the volume will be similar in make up to Volume I. We confidently prophesy that the completed work will rank as a valuable and unique contribution to the military annals of the Dominion. —S.N.

In the 1st period Fernie scored 2, by Kirkpatrick and Glover. Both sides worked hard and it did not appear that the teams were unevenly matched.

In the 2nd period, Fernie scored one goal by M. Commons and Waldo one by J. Ferko.

The last period was the hardest fought, Fernie scoring three times, two by Glover and one by R. Commons and Waldo twice, by Ayres and Ross.

It was noticeable throughout that the Fernie Boys, having practised more togethr did moer team work than the Waldo Boys, who have never practised together at all, and more than one good chance for a goal was lost by not passing the puck.

Wilson for Fernie played his usual good clean game while the Commons Bros., Glover and Kirkpatrick were on the puck all the time.

For Waldo Brownie Sharps was as usual the steady standby while Ayres and Ferko played hard and well.

The game was clean throughout, not one penalty being handed out the whole game.

The line up of the teams was—

Fernie		Waldo
	Goal
R. Colton		E. Wilde
	Point
R. Kirkpatrick		O. Anderson

M. Commons		C. Ross

B. Wilson		W. Sharpe

MARY PICKFORD IN HER GREATEST PLAY

Critics everywhere assert that "Pollyanna" is one of the greatest picture plays ever filmed. The reason for this is that the philosophy upon which the story is based constituted a theme which at the present time has an unusually wide appeal. This production will be the feature at the Orpheum thearte next Wednesday and Thursday.

Undoubtedly Mary Pickford, with characteristic far-sightedness had this in mind when she chose this celebrated work as her first vehicle for the United Artists' Corporation.

There is a great craving at the present time on the part of the public, according to the best informed showmen, for something more than mere entertainment. Of course, diversion is always the paramount thing whenever amusement is considered, but at the same time people want something big and compelling — something that will drive home a few truths without preaching a sermon or spoiling the flavor of a show which is meant to entertain.

Such a story is "Pollyanna" with its cheerful philosophy of gladness. It is believed that this production, coming at a time when the country is upset by a period of readjustment, will have an unprecedented reception from the picture patrons.

Miss Pickford points out in this story that even when things are bad they might be worse. This thought planted in the minds of people who are dissatisfied with wage conditions or who think they are not getting a fair price for their goods, will tend to stimulate a line of mental activity which will result in stabilizing conditions.

The most progressive of the picture stars believe in choosing plays, whenever possible, which will act as a propaganda of good. It is their ambition to have each screen medium serve a definite purpose, and with this in mind Mary Pickford decided to picturize Eleanor H. Porter's famous book. So "Pollyanna" is a picture with a mission.

We had a letter from a men who operates a small mine up the Coast. He says he is glad to know why Pacific Milk is better value than any he has tried.

According to his statement, it is only reasonable that milk put up in British Columbia should be better than Eastern milk because our cows are not subject to the severe weather conditions. — "Besides we all know B. C. is one of the best dairying countries in the world."

There is nothing to add to his statement, is there?

CHIEF ADAMS DISMISSED

(Cranbrook Courier)

Following the regular session of the police commission Tuesday night, a private meeting was held at which the commission decided to make a change in the office of chief of police and accordingly dispensed with the services of Chief Adams. The document addressed to the chief was a simple letter signed by all three commissioners and plainly stated that in the interests of the city they deemed a change necessary. Wednesday evening a special session of the commission was held, when Police Officer Roberts was asked to take temporary charge of the police force, and he is now acting in that capacity.

Considerable comment is going the round as to why the change was made. All that is publicly known is that on several occasions the commission threatened to take action unless certain changes were effected.

Ex-Chief Adams asked for and received a recommendation from Mayor Genest, and left Thursday morning for Vancouver on a short holiday.

JOHN TURNER PASSES AWAY

The sudden death of John Turner on Wednesday night was a shock to the entire community. He had been around during the evening as usual and retired about 11 o'clock. During the night he awoke and complained to his wife of a pain in his heart. A few minutes later he expired before medical attention could arrive.

Deceased, who was 60 years of age, was a real old time westerner, having resided in Fernie for 23 years. He was born in Woodstock, Ont., in 1861, and while yet a young man came out west. Working for a number of years on the north shore of Lake Superior, he drifted west with C.P.R. telegraph construction, and later went to Portland, Ore., where he ran a hotel for a number of years. After that he moved to California, returning to Canada in 1889 and taking up a ranch at Lethbridge. He came to Fernie in 1897, where he resided ever since.

John was an honest, hard working citizen and his death caused great regret among his many friends. He leaves a mother, 87 years of age, residing in Calgary, and his wife to mourn his death.

The funeral will take place from the Undertaking Parlors on Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

GOLF CLUB MEETING

The Fernie Golf Club held its annual meeting on Wednesday night, and reports were presented and recommendations made which indicate that golf is here to stay. The season ended with a membership of 85. Receipts last year were $1830, and the year's report showed that the course as laid out by Smith, the Nelson professional, had been completed with the exception of Numbers 7 and 8, and these are to be done this year. The current expenditures will take practically all the monies ordinarily expected from membership fees, but a note of optimism was sounded by W. R. Wilson, who offered to construct at his own expense one of the new fairways, and suggested that, with this incentive, the Club would no doubt find ways and means to do the other. The question also was discussed of a Club building. The meeting was unanimous as to the advisability of having one, and decided to get plans and estimates of cost, with a view to going ahead with this feature also, if at all possible, during the present year.

Adult fees will be the same as last year, $20 for men and $10 for ladies. Where the parents are members the fee for children under 18 will be $5. Children of non-members will pay $10. Children here for part of the season will pay, boys $3 and girls $1.50 per month.

The new officers appointed were:
Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-President—A. B. Trites.
President—A. Watson.
1st Vice-President—E. K. Stewart.
2nd Vice-President—T. Prentice.
Sec.-Treas.—G. F. Johnson.

NOTICE TO MINERS

Greetings:—

For some time past there has been an attempt by the management of the Blue Diamond Company, at Brule, Alberta, to break a contract which was entered into between the management of the above stated company and the employees thereof. Since the signing of this contract, which was August, 1920, there has been but few grievances, and peace and harmony has prevailed. However, recently there seems to have been an attempt made by the management to break the contract entered into, and to inaugurate an open shop agreement. This office was informed that a dockage system was to go into effect at the Brule mine, which was in direct violation of the contract entered into and now in force.

Upon notification by the management of this dockage system, the miners, at a regular meeting, took the matter up with the end in view of bringing about a proper solution. There has been three shifts at the Brule mine, and it being impossible for all members to discuss this vital question, a special meeting was held on Feb. 21, at which the miners decided that the dockage system was a violation of the contract. Again this office was notified of the action of the management, and the Acting Chairman, Robt. Livett, assigned two representatives to Brule with the hope of adjusting the grievance. Every attempt possible for a satisfactory adjustment was made by the representatives who waited upon the management of the company, pointing out that the present contract does not contain a dockage clause, and offered various suggestions in order that a peaceable understanding might be effected. However, the earnest attempts of our representatives were entirely ignored by the manaement of the Brule mine, who in turn declared that they would put into operation the dockage system, which means in reality open shop.

At present the Brule mine is closed down and there is an effort being made on the part of the management to employ non-union labor. Therefore, we make this earnest appeal to the membership of District 18 to stay away from Brule until this trouble has reached a final and satisfactory adjustment.

We might say further that it is the policy of the Commission, as well as the International, to take no backward steps, neither in the way of wages nor working conditions, as we all recognize that this is a period of readjustment and reconstruction, and we feel that the workers of the world and particulorly District 18, are entitled to every consideration during this period. We wish to state further that the fight to retain the present contract at the Brule mine is on, and that this office will notify the membership of District 18 when the trouble reaches a final settlement.

Yours fraternally,
Andrew Wilson,
for Acting Chairman Com., Dis. 18.

Samuel Marks, who for the past 22 years has been a respected citizen of Fernie, left the other day for the Old Man's Home at Kamloops. For many years Mr. Marks conducted a grocery store in West Fernie and later at the north end of the city.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

An association has been incorporated under the name "Fernie Public Library Association" for the purpose of establishing a Public Library in Fernie for the use and benefit of all residents in the district.

For books the Association draws on the Provincial Library, at Victoria, B.C., 500 volumes at a time, which would be kept in Fernie for 6 months and then exchanged for a new consignment. As the Provincial Library contains 40,000 volumes or more, it is possible to obtain specially selected sets of books, which any reader here desires to have, on practically any subject and in many languages, and the Board will be pleased to receive lists of books any reader wishes to have.

The Board is expected to purchase books to remain in Fernie and for this purpose funds are needed, and to make the library a thorough success a large membership of readers is a necessity. The subscription has been fixed at $2 for a full year, with the privilege of using two books at a time, provided one is a volume of non-fiction, and there is no limit to the number of times books may be exchanged.

The present quarters at the High School are altogether too small and it is desirable to secure a larger room and also establish a reading room. These, however, are matters which cannot be dealt with until the membership is sufficiently large to guarantee an income which will cover the annual expenses.

Membership tickets may be procured from any of the following at $2.00, which covers one year from the date of payment: Dr. E. L. Garner, Arthur J. Moffatt, P. H. Sheffield.

IDAHO OFFICERS MAKE A SEIZURE

Spokane, March 6.—One hundred and six cases of bonded whiskey from Canada, and three large touring cars and a light automobile truck, were seized, and five men arrested by federal, state and city officers, charged with the attempted importation of the liquor into this city from Canada. The men were arrested at Grand Junction, Idaho, when the shipment, hidden underneath a carload of coal, reached that point.

$37,346.13 FOR SCHOOLS

The regular meeting of the city fathers took place last evening with the following members present: Aldermen Douglas, Corrie, Robichaud, Currie and Bean, the first named occupying the chair.

A delegation consisting of Dr. Garner and J. Donaldson waited on the council requesting a donation for the Boy Scouts.

Dr. Garner, on behalf of the Library Association, also asked for a grant.

The Chief of Police wrote asking the council to pass a bylaw regulating second hand stores and junk dealers.

C. H. Burgess & Co. wrote offering Fernie 1934 debentures at 83, which works out at 6.52 per cent interest.

The B. C. Underwriters wrote stating that reimbursement for fires outside the limits of the city does not come within their scope.

The school board submitted an estimate of $37,346.13.

Rahal Bros. submitted a tender for galvanized building on Lot 2, Block 22. A tender was also received from D. G. Alexander re lease on Lot 2, Block 22, with option of purchase.

The Health committee reported that E. A. Kummer be advised that the bylaw must be complied with re Lot 5, Block 38. Also that patients in the Isolation hospital be charged $4 per day. The committee also recommended that the city take over the scavenging work and put the city engineer in charge.

The Public Works committee recommended that the gray team be taken over from the fire department and that the Coal Co. horse be returned to owners.

The city clerk reported that the expense of the Isolation hospital during 1920 was $304.66. Against this accounts had been sent out for $192.

A bylaw re second hand stores was then introduced, given its three readings and passed.

Accounts aggregating over $3000 were passed.

The report of the Public Works committee was adopted and a motion put through thanking the Company for the use of the horse.

Moved by Robichaud and Corrie: That John Reid, scavenger, be notified that one month from March 10, his contract with the city shall cease and that in future the work be handled by the city under the direction of the city engineer.—Carried.

The rate at the Isolation hospital was fixed at $4 per day.

The Health committee's recommendation re E. Kummer's building was adopted.

Corrie-Currie: That the finance committee be given power to act re sale or renting of property next to Rizzuto's livery stable.

Council adjourned.

TOM WANTS GOOD BEER

Thos. Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, came out in the House yesterday afternoon for 'good beer and letting it run as free as possible," under the new liquor act.

"When I mention beer I mean good draught beer and I would prosecute anyone who would brew this 2 per cent stuff," said Mr. Uphill. "I believe that by giving good beer and letting it run as free as possible you would eliminate the hard stuff.

"I am sure that if I found that by taking this stand homes would be neglected I would not take this stand. As for any person who has not got more sense than to go and drink himself to death, the sooner he dies the better. The man that is digging ditches, or who works in the mine or forest fancies a drink of beer would do him good."

"How about his wife?" E. C. Henniger asked.

"Well, she can have a drink too," replied Mr. Uphill. "Only recently I found that coffee is injurious. It makes you nervous and that is why I am so nervous now.

"A person can get loaded up with beer and there are no after effects. Some of these soft drinks are so full of gas that a man has to hold his hat down.

"I would like to see a beer clause in the act to carry the widest latitude possible. I would not restrict it to returned soldiers clubs but give it to workingmen [illegible] it in the h[illegible] have some place [illegible] that are remote from civilization and I contend that these boys in those places are entitled to some civilization as much as the boys living on the coast.

"You will never make people good by legislation and the more restriction you put on anything the more you will encourage it. In reading the Good Book, I take it, that is the reason why Adam fell. You never heard of anyone dying from drinking good beer. It is by drinking the hard stuff that the health of the nation is impaired."

Mr. Uphill said that he could not see how inserting a beer clause in the act would be breaking faith with the people as he believed that if there had been a beer clause in the plebiscite it would have carried with a greater majority than the moderation clause did. He said that Fernie and Alberni "voted intelligently" against prohibition in 1916, because the people of these districts did not want to be put 'under parental' care. — Colonist.

LOOKS LIKE FERNIE BOOZE

With the reported seizure of 1272 sealed quarts of Sandy Macdonald Scotch whiskey and Gordon gin in Idaho, by federal and railway authorities, an interesting disclosure is made by a resident of this city, which would indicate that the shipment in question may possibly have originated from this locality. The incident reported by the local eyewitness is that on Thursday last, while about a mile west of the city at noon, he noticed a westbound freight train come to a stop. This was peculiar inasmuch as the train had only left Fernie and its stopping place was not a regular one. However, while the locality is in close proximity to the city, it was nevertheless reasonably secluded, and at this time of the year almost entirely unfrequented. Immediately following the pause of the freight tran it was seen that from high up the hillside, 200 or 300 feet where the government trunk wagon road runs, gunny sacks containing something were being skidded by gravity down the steep snow bedded incline to the track level, where two men outside a car received them and hastily passed them to two men within the car. The eyewitness estimated at least fifty sacks were in the consignment. Every circumstance of the proceeding aroused suspicion at the time and with the report of the seizure in Idaho the natural deduction follows that in all probability the shipments were identical.

BANK of COMMERCE OPENS UP BRANCH IN TRINIDAD.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce announces the opening of another branch in the West Indies at Port of Spain, Trinidad.

The mutual preferential trade agreement recently arranged opens a valuable field to Canadians, in the development of which Canadian bank branches will play a large share.

Next to Jamaica, Trinidad is the largest island in the British West Indies group and contains the famous pitch lake from which large quantities of asphalt are shipped each year.

Oil, sugar, molasses, asphalt, rum, cocoa, cocoanuts and fruit are the principle exports while the imports, valued at about $25 000,00 annually, include many products which Canada can supply.

Port of Spain is also the point of transhipment for all merchandise brought down the Orinco River from the vast but as yet undeveloped interior of Venezuela and has a great future before it in this connection.

Bob Nolan, of Flagstone, was in town yesterday.

J. A. Broley and family, of Newgate, spent several days in the city this week.

Mrs. James McLean and children are visiting friends in Cranbrook. Jimmy has a worried look.

Some boys playing along the creek bottom at Coal Creek on Wednesday made a gruesome discovery of the body of a new born female babe in perfect state of preservation. The authorities were notified and the remains were brought to the morgue here. Coroner Duthie has ordered an inquest and the provincial police are now investigating the matter. A post mortem examination disclosed the fact that the child had breathed but there were absolutely no marks of violence of any description on the body.

ORES FOUND IN EAST KOOTENAY

A general statement of the various types of ore to be found in East Kootenay might be condensed into the following list, viz:—

1.—Low grade silver-lead-zinc-iron pyrites subdivided into three or four classes, as is being practised at the Sullivan mine.

2.—Higher or medium grade of silver-lead-zinc carbonates as being shipped from the North Star, Paradise and other mines at present.

3.—High grade silver-lead-zinc concentrates as being shipped now from the Monarch-Couvarapee and has been shipped from the St. Eugene, Aurura and other properties that only await sufficient development to be placed upon the sipping list.

4.—Combinations of both high and low grades of silver-lead-zinc with their associates, from which hand sorted high grade ores can be shipped and the returns from such used to provide the necessary heavy investments for the tonnage-producing low grades. This applies equally as well to copper.

5.—In copper ores the district has a variety of types paralleling the silver-lead classes and then in addition there are several combinations of the silver-leads and the copper associates. These are not yet far enough advanced in development, to be shipped and cause of inherent problem to be met in their exploitation they have been passed by, but they are so numerous and the leads are so well mineralized that their tonnage possibilities are attracting certain types of investors who realize that when satisfactory terms are securable that will permit of their development to a shipping stage a fair return upon the necessary investment can be safely expected.

6.—Free-milling gold ores are probably the class that will the first to receive the attention of any outside capital under the present market conditions which within the last year have swung to the advantage of this type of ore, of which East Kootenay has a very attractive field.

7.—Zinc ore practically free from galena has been known to exist in a very favorable locality and has been spasmodically developed during the last twenty years but this type of ore has a peculiar situation to face and requires considerable development and must reach such a stage that definite contracts can be entered into regarding shipments. This type is well worthy the careful study of capitalists.

8.—A graphite ore carrying 20 per cent commercial graphite has been located and tested within the last few seasons and it in conjunction with several other discoveries might be developed to a profitable stage.

9.—The hematite and magnetite irons are receiving the attention of large syndicates and it is but a matter of a short time before something may be expected to happen along that line. The close proximity of coking coal, cheap electric power, the raw ores and their ready accessibility to transportation form a combination of favorable conditions unexcelled by any development area in Canada today regardless of the question of distance from markets. The provincial bounty on ores of this class $3.00 per ton being renewed should be made applicable to ores mined and shipped as well as to ores smelted within the province. If this alteration were made mining of such ores might commence much earlier than to await the construction of an iron smelting plant within the province and such shipments would soon force the situation and lead to smelting facilities being provided as warranted. As it is the bounty serves no useful purpose and will not until greater inducements are made to capital than would otherwise be necessary. It is safe to say that a $3.00 bounty on hematite or bog ore would be the assurance of at least one or two trial shipments being made within the current season if such were in effect. These trial shipments would in themselves provide sufficient data upon which to base an argument that capital could not resist.

10.—Manganese, nickle, cobalt, molybdenum, bismuth, tungsten, arsenoprite and antimony are known to have been found in favorable locations that deserve more serious attention than has been given them up to date.

11.—Among the non-metallics this district has another long list of very attractive deposits, each of which is capable of providing one or more products requiring the employment of considering labor and the investment of capital in various quantities.

12.—Talc of the highest qualities in respect to capability of fineness of grinding or penetrability, perfume-retaining ability, uniformity of grade or assaying, size of deposit, accessibility to transportation and general economical mining and profitable exploitation is one of our most attractive undeveloped non-metallics.

13.—Feldspar in ample quantity to supply several industries is known to be located right on railway lines and within five miles of ample cheap power.

14.—The same applies to gypsum, limestone, marble, freestone and glass sand.

15.—The granites for building purposes are numerous but like all such very few will stand up under the heat test, although some will. These are almost unlimited in quantity but rarely favorably located for accessability. In the ornamental types several splendid deposits have been discovered and are in favorable locations and have been tested out as to polishing features.

Altogether East Kootenay has been proven to possess at least twenty-five distinct types of ores, metallics and non-metallics and as is well known is only shipping silver, lead, zinc and iron pyrites, but its tonnage of these minerals has already brought it the title of "The Land of a Great Many Big Things."

MAKING A START.

"He made a beast of himself last night."

"Yes? Well, it's the first time he ever made anything of himself!"

Staterooms.

There was an old fellow named Shreve who ran steamboats before Jackson fought the redcoats at New Orleans. In Shreve's time the cabins were curtained off just like these new-fangled sleeping-car berths. The old man built wooden rooms, and he named them after the different states, Kentucky, and Illinois and Pennsylvania. So that when a fellow came aboard he'd say: "What state am I in, Cap?" And from this remark the name stateroom has spread all over the world.

Explaining History of Dress.

If one could only know the origin of all the many words we use in our daily talk, one would know much of the history of dress. Many of our most recently adopted clothes words come from France, but five hundred years ago dress terms more usually came from Italy, then the mecca of fashion. Hence, velvet came from "velluto," the Italian word to indicate shaggy. And "camesole," which has recently been revived from an earlier English usage, came from the Italian diminutive of chemise.

First Millionaire.

Stephen Girard of Philadelphia, who lived from 1750 to 1831, was one of the first, if not the first, millionaire in this country. He began as a sailor, became a merchant, shipowner and banker, and at his death left $6,000,000 to found the Girard college, as well as other large benefactions. John Jacob Astor, who established the Astor fortunes by fur trading and land speculation, lived from 1762 to 1848, during which time he amassed about $30,000,000.

St. Agnes' Eve.

The feast of St. Agnes was formerly held as in a special degree a holiday for women. It was thought possible for a girl on the eve of St. Agnes to obtain by divination a knowledge of her future husband. She might take a row of pins and pluck them out, one after another, stick them in her sleeve, singing the while a paternoster, and in this way insure that her dreams would that night present the gentleman in question.

Obstinate Chests-of-Drawers.

E. V. Lucas tells of an innkeeper who in his will set apart the interest on £300 for an annual supper to the newsboys of his town; and of another man who left the interest on £1,000 to pay for "a treat" to certain school children, "to be in the nature of a surprise." Mr. Lucas himself would like to leave the interest on £1,000 "to that maker of chests-of-drawers whose drawers presented least resistance to the user"!

DARE NOT.

"We're going to live in the country, doctor."

"But the climate may disagree with your wife, Mr. Henpeck"

"Oh, doctor, it wouldn't dare!"

ONCE IN WESTERN CANADA

THE people of a great city and its surrounding territory were unable to get their newspapers for a period extending over ten days.

THE business of that city was disorganized and almost came to a standstill—the wildest and most improbable rumors were circulated owing to the fact that the community's source of reliable news was cut off. The newspapers had been forced to cease publication owing to shortage of white newsprint.

THIS condition existed about one year ago and emphasized beyond question the vital importance of the newspaper as a factor in modern life. You cannot live according to modern standards without a knowledge of what is happening in the world. Your newspaper brings that knowledge at a cost to you of less than the white paper the news is printed on.

WITH its discussions of public questions—its great news gathering organizations — its many features and departments THE CALGARY DAILY HERALD has achieved a high place among Canadian newspapers and is well worthy of a place in every Western Canadian home.

TAKING THE 'PEP' OUT OF MOVIES

The widespread distrust of the movies as a possible source of public disorder has led to a resolve among film producers themselves to clean house. Though the writer himself cannot claim a very intimate familiarity with what some persons euphemistically call the "new art," there seems to be a general opinion that it is high time something of the sort was done. Jesse L. Lasky, whose output of film dramas probably exceeds that of any manufacturer in the world, has announced twelve points which he proposes to adhere to in future:

1. No suggestive or improper picturing of sex attraction.
2. No story of irregular love affairs unless to convey a moral lesson.
3. No nakedness.
4. No dances based on improper sex attractions.
5. No unnecessarily prolonged love scenes.
6. No underworld stories.
7. No making of drunkenness or gambling attractive.
8. No pictures instructing in the methods of criminals.
9. No stories or incidents offending any religious traditions or any sect.
10. No suggestive comedies.
11. No exploitation of bloodshed.
12. No suggestively salacious titles or advertising.

The question that arises is, what will be left for the scenario writer to deal with after all these "verbotens" have been established? Apparently nothing but Charlie Chaplin's custard pie and poetic boots, and Mary Pickford's baby smile. Deprived of the resources of pungent dialogue, the personal presence of magnetic actors, and the finer picturesque and intellectual elements that are within the reach of the ordinary theatre, what is the film dramatist to give the public? Even the spoken drama could hardly survive some of the limitations prescribed. Apparently sex attraction and passion in every phase are to be eliminated. Rule 5 would exclude "Romeo and Juliet" definitely; "Oliver Twist" would go by the board with Rule 6; Falstaff comes under the ban in Rule 7.

Rule 9, "No stories or incidents offending any religious traditions or any sect," is a twister. The Lord alone knows what will not offend some religious tradition or sect. "The Merchant of Venice" is, of course, banned, unless, after the manner of scenario writers, the story is remodelled so that Shylock regains his wealth and marries Portia. Allusions to divorce will offend one sect; reference to wine or "rum" another; "single standard" stuff is against Mormon convictions. And then Rule 11 about bloodshed cuts out "Hamlet" and "Macbeth." Generally speaking, Mr. Lasky aspires to create a drama which shall depict life in a sphere in which the Ten Commandments are never broken; nor the modern commands against liquor which many persons in this country deem more important than the prohibition against murder. But hold! Mr. Lasky leaves himself a loophole in the second clause: "No story of irregular love affairs, unless to convey a moral lesson." Under that pretext almost anything in the sex line can be put over.

The resolve to eliminate the salacious in every form, everyone must applaud; though it is going far to assume that all nakedness is salacious. But so far as one can judge, it is the peeks at the salacious (or what some deem to be salacious) which the film dramas sometimes afford, that gives it its drawing power with the masses. Countless perfectly good people who attend church on Sunday, go on Monday to see the suspected film which they suppose will broaden their knowledge of the seamy side of life. It is all very well to talk of cleaning up the movies but where are the audiences to come from afterwards? With the "hot stuff" of every kind cut out, what will the "new art" consist of?" — Saturday Night.

WATCH YOUR CHILD'S TEETH

Cleanliness is next to godliness, but without some outside help, mouth cleanliness, is next to impossible. Prophylactic treatment of the teeth is like golf—it gives them exercise, and it keeps them out in the open air.

Prophylactic work consists essentially of an orangewood stick with a set of teeth at one end and a skilful young woman at the other. This simple devise will prevent many of our dental ills—and bills. An orangewood stick in time saves nine dollars worth of dentist's services.

Gum and teeth should be brushed four times a day with a circular motion something like a buzz-saw, and the spaces between cleaned with floss silk. The mouth should be rinsed with lime-water to dissolve the glue-like mucin which provides a happy home for decay germs.

Soft food is hard on teeth. Crusty bread such as the Italians make is splendid setting-up exercise for teeth and jaws. Pappy, mushy food makes mollycoddles of the bones and muscles of the face and the box where we keep our brains, if we have any left.

Bring up a milk tooth and away it will go. But ifit is treated kindly, it will stay until it is pushed out by its successor and hold the reserved seat for it. Otherwise the permanent teeth will come in crooked.

Thumb-sucking, mouth-breathing, premature loss of the baby teeth, and loss of the six-year molars are the most frequent cases of malocclusion. The jaws are out of shape, and the teeth, present and to come. Neither apparatus is impaired with serious results to the department of the interior

Rubber comforters are ruinous to teeth, present and to come. Neither is the mouth the proper depository for fingers, pencil, money, pins, or odds and ends of juvenile valuables. Far too many children lead a "hand-to-mouth" existence.

The four six-year molars are the first permanent teeth, and they have to do all the work while the baby teeth are being shed. If they are lost through neglect, the jaw grows out of its proper position, and a perfectly good face is ruined.

WE—THE MIDDLE CLASS

Whenever the highbrows want to blow off steam—which is frequently—they start out by saying uncomplimentary things about the middle class. Only they don't call it middle class, they call it bourgeoisie.

Now, since the middle class includes most of us, it might be well to define it. On that point, we should say that the middle class consists of everybody except those persons who can pronounce "bourgeoisie" well enough to get away with it.

Here are some of the marks of identification by which you can tell a member of the middle class:

He doesn't wear spats.

He says afternoon — not "awfternoon."

He doesn't regard suspenders as a disgrace.

He doesn't take much stock in monogrammed cigarettes.

He never parts his hair in the middle, nor his name on the side.

He doesn't think kids have as much fun now as when he was a boy.

He believes in colleges, but he has never been caught sitting up until 2 a.m. chatting with a college professor.

He doesn't play the harp.

He doesn't feel at home in a department store.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Her Well, Strong and Vigorous

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

The sawmill of the Rainbow Lumber Co. was destroyed by fire about 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The plant we understand is covered by about $15,000 insurance. The fire did not extend to the lumber yards. The fire will be a severe loss to the company as their entire cut for the season had been contracted for.

In an illustrated write-up of the Vauxhall district of Alberta, published in the Lethbridge Herald, Monday last, a picture is shown of what is described as the general layout of the "well Equipped Farm of the Otis Staples Lumber Co." They divided their holdings into two farms and set to work immediately to get the land into shape for a crop in 1920. The money spent on buildings and land improvements of this company runs into large figures, and there is no doubt they are in the district to stay. During the past summer, the following permanent buildings were erected on this farm: Manager's residence, garage, bunk house, cook house, large horse and cow barn, implement shed, seed granary. office, blacksmith shop, warehouse, piggery, chicken house and engine house. The entire layout is lighted by electricity and fully equipped with all modern conveniences."

IMPORTATIONS & EMPLOYMENT

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has appealed by circular to its members to assist in the promotion of a national Made-in-Canada campaign. It contends that "there was never a time in the nation's history when the desirability of buying Made-in-Canada goods was more obvious. The country is faced with a situation which must cause concern to all thoughtful people. On the one hand we have continued importation of goods of foreign manufacture on a scale that is far beyond all necessity; on the other hand we see the serious menace of unemployment in our ndustrial centres. The two conditions have a direct bearing on one another, for, generally speaking, an increase in the importation of goods of a kind that can be supplied by Canadian factories will involve a reduction in the operation of these factories, with consequent unemployment, while the reduction in the imports of these goods will tend to keep the factories running and labor employed.

"In this critical time manufacturers are being urged to take the lead n their respective localities in furthering a movement which will bring straight home to the people the folly of buying imported goods when home productions are available."

The national need for an advantages of an aggressive Made-in-Canada movement are recognized by financial and labor interests as clearly as by manufacturers. In a statement from Ottawa. Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, has pointed out that from October 15 to December 31 last, about 133,000 men were laid off in Canada by 4,700 employers. "It is obivously the duty of Canadians," he says, "to buy enough to keep things moving and to buy Canadian-made goods. If each individual does his or her part in this. the unemployment question will be speedily solved."

Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, deploring the great increase in imports, says; "This adverse balance of trade is disquieting and the outflow of returns on foreign capital adds to the difficulties of the situation. The steady increase of American investments in Canada is an equalizing factor, but inadequate, Only by increasing the sale of Canadian commodities can we avoid increasing our foreign indebtedness. Never, even in war time, was it so essential to increase our exports. A duty falls on manufacturers to produce articles of a quality and a price that will compare favorably with foreign makes and on our agricultural interests to increase production."

So, Mr. E. L. Pease, vice-president and managing director of the same bank, says: "Is it any wonder that we are suffering from adverse exchange rates? The only correctives are the curtailment of imports of non-essential articles and the increase of exports."

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter:—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing cough has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corri, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. JOHNSON SAYS ITS HIS DUTY TO TALK

Owes it To Public To Tell of Remarkable Benefits He Received From Tanlac

"When a man has suffered with the worst kind of stomach trouble for ten years, and then finds a medicine that gives him complete relief and builds him up until he feels as well as he ever did in his life, I think it his duty to talk for the benefit of others," said J. Johnson, marine engineer, living at 1728, 6th Ave., W, Vancouver, B. C.

"Everything I ate gave me a burning sensation in the chest and awful pains in my stomach. My food would sour and the gas would bloat me up until I would fairly gasp for breath, and I had such pains in the region of my heart that I was alarmed. I tried all kinds of medicines without getting any help, and I really don't know how I got through those years of misery without breaking down completely.

"Although I heard so many good things said about Tanlac I never had much idea it would help me, but I gave it a trial. I hadn't taken but a few bottles before I had an appetite like a wolf and could eat anything I wanted without fear of sourness, gas or pain afterwards. I can't remember of ever feeling better than I do today and the wonderful change in my health is entirely due to Tanlac."

WORKING OUT DETAILS

At the close of a sharp election contest it is useless to offer counsel of perfection, and say that members of both sides in the Legislature should entirely forget political interests and discuss all public measures in an impartial manner. Nevertheless the fact remains that the electors have given the Legislature a mandate to enact a law for government sale of liquor. It is the clear duty of the legislators to produce the required measure in the most perfect and effective form that is possible by their united efforts. Naturally members will disagree on the merits of many features of this bill. They have their own views of the liquor traffic and of the use and abuse of liquor. Some will favor closer restrictions than others. Some will have stronger opinions than others on private liberty and personal rights.

These differences of opinion are sound equally in both parties and it would be expected that the debate on these questions of principle, or expediency would not follow party lines. The occasion demands reasonable and constructive deliberation, and members of the House are therefore expected to assist the ministers by practical suggestions and fair criticism; ministers accepting in good spirit genuine expressions of dissent and considering reasonable amendments. The measure has passed the second reading without a division, so that its principle has been accepted. It remains now to work out the details.

It may be taken for granted that the government is anxious that a measure shall be enacted giving effect to the wishes of the people and possible to enforce. No reasonable or responsible administration would wish otherwise. If for no better reason the instinct of self-preservation would lead a prudent ministry to promote an effective and satisfactory measure. It may also be assumed that the government at Ottawa will co-operate in any reasonable way to make the legislation effective.

We should say that party interests and public interests alike require the opposition members to do all they can to perfect this legislation. No one can forsee the event well enough to be able to say whether the liquor control measure will make for the party advantage of government or opposition. Any member who tries his best to make the law a good one is not likely to lose by it. It goes without saying that frank and sincere men, working to that end, may come to sharp points of dissagreement, and find it hard to credit each other at all times with the best intentions and good judgment. But out of such severe conflicts of honest opinion sound conclusions are often reached elsewhere, and the same thing might happen in the British Columbia Legislature.

In this liquor program the question of principle has already been answered by the electors. The way to give effect to that decision is mainly a question of business.—Province.

AVOID TYPHOID!

"I venture to explain the greater prevalence of typhoid fever among mature men than is found among mature women by the fact that men are much oftener from home. They have more frequent opportunities to become infected with the typhoid germ. This germ is carried particularly by the water supply. Many of the epidemics of typhoid fever are localized by the area at which the water of a certain district is drunk. Less often it is carried by the milk.

"Men, in travelling from place to place, drink water of all kinds, now more than ever, and eat foods of different kind and with different degrees of sanitary care. For this reason, I think it is not difficult to account for the fact that men who travel are more likely to contract this disease than the women who stay at home.

"Having established the fact that typhoid fever is more commonly carried in the water and in the food supply, the reasonable couclusion as to the best method of avoiding it is that these sources of infection should be guarded against by national, state, and city health authorities. Unpolluted foods and a safe water supply are quit as important to the welfare of a city as good streets, good fire protection, and good police service. If the traveller drinks nothing but boiled water and pasteurized milk, and eats nothing but cooked foods, he may be certain of escaping altogether from any infection of typhoid."— Dr. Wiley in League for Longer Life.

MRS. MAISON LIKES PACIFIC MILK

Mrs. Maison says that Pacific Milk has got her to try several other articles that are made in British Columbia. It suits her so much better than any other kind of milk she has obtained that she thought other goods made with'n the Province might be equally above the average. We have heard of Mrs. Maison's cooking and believe that she is a splendid judge of what milk should be for this purpose. We like to get these letters from good cooks.

WILL INSIST ON LABEL

"If the British Columbia government intends to sell whiskey under a general Government label, the makers of the highest grade of whiskey will not sell to the Government. If, on the other hand, the Government will sell the whiskey with the label under which it is put up still on the bottle, it will get its fair share." This was the statement made this morning by Daniel Henderson, of Edinburgh managing director of Aitken, Melrose & Co., whiskey manufacturers and exporters. Mr. Henderson is also interested in a large London tea house, and is the owner of a tin box factory.

"None of the big distillers are going to loose the advertising value of their good name by having their product sold under a Government label," continued Mr. Henderson, "There is no need for the distillers to chase business. There is not enough good whiskey in existence to fill all our demands."

The distillers, he said, would have no objection to breaking their trade connection to sell direct to the Government provided the whiskey was to be sold in the original package with the distillers' label on.

"If the Government is to successfully handle the trade they must have the services of a whiskey expert," said Mr. Henderson. "It is necessary in buying to be able to distinguish between bad and good spirits. This can only be done by an expert who can make tests."

In spite of prohibition the amount of whiskey exported from Scotland to the United States was larger than ever before, he stated.

Thanks to Government intervention, sobriety is now much more in evidence in Scotland than before the war, in his opinion. No whiskey may now be sold under three years of age, and must not exceed 30 per cent. under proof. Before the war spirits of any age and strength could be sold.

As to business conditions in the Old Country, Mr. Henderson is not very optimistic. He thinks that the recovery will be even more gradual than most people imagine, and that normal conditions cannot be expected for several years.

THE PRINCIPALS IN THE MURDER CASE AT MACLEOD

Macleod, March 14.—Olive McDonald, of Blairmore, for whose murder Jimmy Zitto is being tried for his life, was 32 years of age and a woman of tall, handsome appearance. She married Rod J. McDonald, of Prince Edward Island, 14 years ago. Her husband was killed in action in France.

Mrs. McDonald was born in Toronto. at that time the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Patton. Her father now lives in Cranbrook. He is the guardian of the four little orphans, Clare aged 13, Charley 9, Miriam 6 and Baby Ruby 3.

The Pattons were Protestants, according to the statement of the woman's father, but Olive McDonald received the sacrament of the Roman Catholic faith just prior to passing away.

Zitto is an Italian miner of slender build and dark complexion. He is about 40 years of age. He succeeded in accumulating some little property in Blairmore, the house occupied by the McDonald family belonging to him.

KILLED ON G. N. TRACK

Richard Vette, aged 67 years, section foreman on the Great Northern Railway at Dorr, forty miles south of here, met his death suddenly on Wednesday morning while working by himself gauging track. Coroner Duthie investigated the case owing to some peculiar features, empanelled a jury, and the opening session was held this morning. The deceased on the morning of the day he died was in particularly good spirits and good health. He went to work and travelled by car over the section to Waldo and returning was walking gauging the track. He had gone about three miles when the southbound G.N. passenger going in the same direction as deceased, rounded a curve. Engineer Hart noticed some object on the track some five or six hundred feet distant. The train was travelling about 35 miles an hour according to the evidence submitted, and even before the object was distinguished as being a human being, the emergency air brakes were applied, but the train could not be stopped, according to the engineer and fireman, before it passed over the body. Both members of the engine crew swore that the man was lying face downward with arms outstretched, his feet towards the approaching train, and that in the short space of time their attention was rivetted upon him, neither one noticed any movement of his body. The train pasing over him mangled the body horribly and there were innumerable injuries of which any one might have caused death. but the jury after deliberating over half an hour returned and requested that a post mortem examination be held and medical testimony adduced to prove if possible whether deceased had died from some sudden physical ailment or that death resulted from being struck by the train. The inquest was therefore adjourned until next week.

The jury is comprised of F. Denison, foreman, E. E. Johnston, W. B. Hynds, R. Beeman, P. I. Barnet and W. Winnett

Deceased was a native of Holland and for 35 years a railroad man. He is survived by a wife and son.

WINS CASE ON APPEAL

The Court of Appeal this week heard the case of A. J. Farquharson, lumberman of this district for many years, against the Great Northern Railway, whereby the award in favor of the plaintff was ncreased approxmately to $14,000. This was an action arising out of a fire which occurred in October, 1919, when equipment, large quantity of manufactured posts, poles and cordwood, together with all the merchantable timber on the limits operated by the plaintiff Farquharson were alleged to have been totally destroyed. The railway company admitted liability as to having caused the fire and damages were sought to the extent of about $30,000. The trial was heard at the spring assizes here last year before Mr. Justice Morrison, and judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff in October last for $8,500. An appeal was forthwith taken by the plaintiff to the highest tribunal in this province, but the case was not argued until the sittings in Vancouver this week, when the award for damages was almost doubled. A. I. Fisher, barrister, contested the case on behalf of the plaintiff, while A. H. McNeill, K.C., Vancouver, represented the company.

ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS

It was Irish night in the Catholic Hall on Wednesday. Rileys, Mulligans, O'Neills, Hughes and many other worthy members of the clan scintillated on the stage. A great concert was the unanimous verdict. The Riley Bros., Mulligan and Thomson voices were never in better fettle. Believe me, in All Those Endearing Young Charms, Dear Little Shamrock, the Little Irish Girl, gave our young artists ample scope to use their talented voices. Pete Mulligan in the Tumbled Down Shack scored a decided hit. Al. Thompson, the renowned tenor of New York fame, thrilled the audience in My Wild Irish Rose. The school children, led by Jas. Hughes, did several turns which were most popular. The hidden gem in musical circles has been discovered in A. Klauer. The sweet selectons on that little instrument. the zither, held the audience spellbound. Mrs. Turner, Miss Annie Shulaka and Miss Helen Rudnicki. in solos and trios, were very popular, being applauded and encored many times. Tommy Joinson did several good stunts and funny, which delighted the children especially. B. Caufield, the able chairman of the evening, with his wit and humor, brought forth many a hearty laugh. Mrs. Crumley and Miss Clara Cody ably filled the duty of accompanists.

The committee in charge wish to thank those who so ably took part and helped to make this, the first St. Patrick's concert in years, such a grand success.

INQUEST FRUITLESS

The coroner's jury sitting on the case of the unknown female infant found at Coal Creek recently, found that the evidence submitted did not disclose the cause of death and recommended a further investigation of the case. The evidence adduced before the jury consisted of the two boys who found the body, and medical testimony by Drs. Workman and Garner. This latter indicated that there were no outward marks of violence, nor did the post mortem examination disclose anything abnormal although the tests made with the respiratory organs showed that air had been inhaled into the lungs. The authorities are continuing their investigation, which was begun when the tragedy was discovered.

ELECTRIFICATION IN COLLIERIES

A very complete electrical installation was recently supplied by a British firm to a north of England colliery. The electric haulages include two large main-and-tail haulages of 600 horse-power and 450 horse-power respectively, and three endless haulages, two of 160 horse-power and one of 85 horse-power. A special form of hydraulic speed reduction gear, devised by a British engineer, is used to give a low rope speed from the high speed motors. A ventilating fan installed is of unusual size, being driven by an 800 horse-power electric motor capable of moving half a million cubic feet of air per minute.

Those who attended the Moose dance last evening report a howling success.

PROBING INTO COAL PRICES

Vancouver, March 14. — Probing deep into the innermost details of the coal business, from the capitalization of the companies and the operations of mining right down to the particulars of retail distribution, a set of interrogatories has been sent out to all coal companies by Commissioner Henderson, presiding officer of the coal price inquiry.

These were prepared by Robert Cassidy, K.C., and Donald Downie, of the citizens' committee. It is intended that the answers be compared and the officials of the companies examined orally upon their written testimony. Mr. Henderson and the public counsel, F. T. Congdon, K.C., accepted the committee's suggestion, and interrogatories, having been prepared, are now in the hands of the mine owners.

The questions submitted to the producers ask for the amount of coal mined and the manner in which it was disposed of since 1913, how much went out of the country and comparisons of the prices for similar qualities of coal sold to foreigners and to domestic consumers.

They are asked whether they sell to any purchaser or only to selected customers. and whether they discriminate in prices.

Details of contracts for and of any interest the producing companies may have in the transportation systems caring for the coal supply are asked. The operators are asked whether they have any financial interest in the business of dealers in Vancouver. They are also asked to explain by facts each increase in the price of coal since 1913 and giving also exact details of the increases in price. The relation of wages to production is also inquired into.

Reference to rumors of decreasing cost of production are made and the operators are asked to state the condition of their properties, as to whether the coal is petering out or not.

"Having regard to distance from tidewater means of transportation, why do you say that you should charge higher price for your coal than the mines of Alberta, Pennsylvania, Virginia, etc.?" is another pointed question.

The long ton and short ton mystery is very thoroughly probed, and questions in reference to the proportions of slack.

Questions pertaining to changes in management in recent years and the reason for such changes are asked, while the interrogatories conclude with a demand for information of any agreement with dealers towards keeping up retail prices.

"Have any dealers been penalized for cutting prices to consumers?" is the last question of all.

ZITTO GETS TWO YEARS

Macleod, March 16.—Jimmy Zitto, the Italian miner of Blairmore, who on the night of Dec. 12 last shot Mrs. Olive McDonald, also of Blairmore, with the result that she died a few days later, was this afternoon found "guilty of manslaughter" by the jury after a two-day trial.

Zitto was sentenced by Mr. Justice Ives to two years less one day in the Lethbridge jail, the sentence to run from Dec. 14 last.

It was fairly evident after the conclusion of the case and the retirement of the jury to bring in their verdict that manslaughter would be the verdict. There was no effort on the part of the defence to establish that Zitto had not done the shooting. That it was accidental was the principal plea of the defence, and the fact that Zitto made no effort to escape but did everything he could to help her after having given her the death wound counted strongly in his favor.

WESTERN RODEO IN NEW W. S. HART PICTURE

Those who have not seen a real rodeo, or congress of wild riders and ropers of the west, will have the opportunity of doing so when "O'Malley of the Mounted," Wm. S. Hart's latest Paramount production comes to the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday.

Disguised as a cowboy, seeking a man killer, he crosses the border into the United States, and because he knows that the man who did the deed is a wonderful rider, looks for him at the rodeo which is being held in the cow town surrounded by craggy steeps.

He finds him and follows him into the outlaw's camp—the rest must be left to thrill the spectators; suffice that they will find an amazing situation handled with wonderful skill in this story which is an original by Mr. Hart, adapted and directed by Lambert Hillyer.

The rodeo is a big feature. There are seen thousands of people gathered in a great grandstand around the arena where riders tame bucking bronchos, ride wild steers, rope and play the wild games of the cattle lands.

It is an inspiring picture—one to set the blood tingling. Eva Novak is leading woman and there is a fine cast of players, with one of the most effective villains imaginable.

POWER FROM OCEAN TIDES

A scheme for harnessing the forces of the tides on the Severn and Wye on a scale which will make it the greatest water power undertaking in the world has been worked out by the civil enginerring department of the British ministry of transport. The scheme provides for the construction of a great barrage in the estuary of the river Severn from which it is estimated about 500,000 electrical horse-power per day, could be generated at a cost of little more than a halfpenny per board of trade unit.

This plan has not been definately decided upon, as it will be necessary to get the opinions of independent experts and take all matters into consideration, but it would appear to be the first scheme worked out in detail and brought to a logical conclusion for using the rotating forces of the earth in conjunction with the attractive powers of the sun and moon for the use and benefit of mankind.

If the proposed plan, owing to the situation of the barrage in relation to Bristol, Gloucester and other cities; will in any way hurt Bristol, the question will then have to be decided whether the benefit to the nation will be great enough to run the risk of harming such an important dock undertaking and city as Bristol and certain other Bristol channel ports. This possibility has yet to be investigated.

In any case it may be said that the scheme, if realized, will probably effect a change a little short of a revolution in the industrial life of the west and midlands of England.

Heedless of Wordsworth, the ministry of transport, in putting forward their Severn barrage, road and railway scheme, state that the power available in the Severn river dwarfs into insignificance all the other potential sources of inland water power within the United Kingdom put together. The Severn is unique for combining in itself all the conditions essential to the economic development of tidal water-power on a large scale. These consist of:

An exceptionally high range of tide, an estuary of large capacity, an ideal geographical situation, in relation to the industrial centres of the country, suitable land along the banks of the estuary for the development of industrialism.

The necessity for increased railway communication between South Wales and other parts of the kingdom, the long-felt need of access over the Severn estuary for vehicular traffic, and the possibility of combining these with a large scheme for cheaper power for industrial purposes, led to a deailed study of the whole project being undertaken by the ministry of transport. These studies have resulted in the formulation of a comprehensive scheme which provides over a half a million horse-power during a ten-hour day, with a peak-load capacity of over a million horse-power. In order to appreciate the magnitude of the power to be made thus available, comparsion may be made with the world's greatest water-power installations.

	H.-P.
Amalgamated Niagara Falls Power Co.	385,500
Creek Develop. Pacific Light and Power Co.	350,000
Ontario Power Co.	200,000
Capdella. R. Flamisell, Spain	150,000
Toronto Power Co.	146,000
Keokuk Dam, on Mississippi	150,000
Kinlochleven, (Scotland)	36,660

By the use of this enormous power there would be a saving of about 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 tons of coal per annum, which would thus be available for export and would result in the amelioration of the living conditions in the great industrial areas. In addition, from a transport point of view, the scheme provides for a level road for vehicular traffic over the Severn, which obviates a detour for all traffic between Newport and Bristol of about fifty miles via Gloucester. It also provides for the quadrupling of the Great Western Railway Company's line when required between the west of England and South Wales at a considerably less cost than could be achieved in any other way. Lastly, the scheme creates a gigantic locked basin for shipping purposes on the upper Severn above the line of the Severn tunnel, of over 27 square miles in extent a very large portion of which would be suitable for the accommodation of vessels of the largest size and would be usable at all states of the tide.

It is also stated that this portion of the scheme, combined with the enormous power available at cheap rates, may confidently be anticipated to lead to vast industrial development over the whole of this area, and by bringing the great shipping further up the estuary and nearer to the existing industrial area, thus materially shorten the distance and lessen the cost of transit to inland places such as Birmingham.

The great basin will accommodate large ocean-going steamers, and its configuration will readily adm[illegible] the construction of deep - water wharves at which shipments of all kinds can be dealt with.

The first is that in the immediate neighborhood of the Severn, and would be created by the growth of industries requiring cheap power on the banks of the river, in much the same way as there have arisen a group of power absorbing industries in the neighborhood of the Niagara Falls. The second would be the industrial area of South Wales, which lies within a radius of fifty miles of the barrage.

A third outlet would be found in the midlands. Birmingham is approximately 70 miles and Stoke-on-Trent approximately 100 miles from the barrage. It is anticipated that there will be considerable difficulty in setting up steam super-power stations in the midlands on account of the lack of condensing water available in that area and on this account the supply of the Severn power would be particularly advantageous for the midlands.

The fourth outlet is for the supply of the Thames valley and London. London is 115 miles from the barrage and it may be possible to transmit the energy at 120,000 volts in this instance. The cost and the transmission loss of 10 per cent taken together would only add a small fraction of a penny to the cost of the B.O.T. unit delivered in London.

The method which it is proposed to adopt in order to utilize the power of the tides in the Severn is to trap the water in the upper part of the estuary above the dam at high water, so as to create an artificial difference in the level between the water thus impounded above the dam and the water in the estuary below the dam for a period of several hours round about the period of low tide. During these hours when the difference of level exists between the water inside and the water outside ,sufficient water inside will be allowed to pass thru the turbines in the hydro-electric barrage to generate more than a million horse-power.

The second installation comprises the large high level yoke and tunnel, already alluded to in combination with a mammoth pumping and turbine powerhouse on the banks of the tidal portion of the river Wye. In this power house electrical energy derived from the tidal turbines in the Severn and transmitted by power cables will be used to force water up to the reservoir at such periods as the supply of tidal power permits. At other times the pumping station will become a generating station.

But whether the silting up of the river at Bristol's docks will result is the one great passibility yet to be investigated. Wordsworth and Tintern Abbey do not count .

DEADLY WEAPON IS DEVELOPED

New York, March 14.—The chemical warfare service has discovered a liquid poison so strong that three drops will kill anyone whose skin it touches, it became known today.

Falling like rain from nozzles attached to airplanes, the liquid would kill everything in the aircraft's path, accordin to a high official of the service.

"One plane carrying two tons of liquid could cover an area 100 feet wide by seven miles long in one trip, and could deposit enough material to kill every man there.

"The only limit to the quantity of this liquid which could be made is the amount of available electric power. It would be possible for this country to manufacture several thousand tons per day.

"During the Argonne offensive the first American army of 1,250,000 men occupied an area approximately forty kilometres long by 20 kilometres wide. If Germany had had 4000 tons of this material and 400 planes equipped for its distribution, the First Army would have been annihilated in 12 hours.

"The chemical warfare service is developing protective clothing."

Ever since the builders of the C.P.R. laid the steel rails that linked British Columbia with the rest of Canada, the people of this province have been talking about the "wonderful natural resources of this portion of the Dominion." At the same time they have been seeking capital from the East, South and Europe, to develop the latent wealth of British Columbia. Wherever the subject of the natural wealth of the mines, forests, waters and soil of the province is mentioned, can be heard the expression "All that is required is capital."

Capital will not venture investments in any place where the citizens have no confidence in themselves. Residents of this province to a large extent lack faith in their abilities. This is evidenced in everyday purchasing of merchandise. There exists in the minds of many the idea that if a commodity is produced in B.C. it must of necessity be inferior to the product of a distant community. This attitude bespeaks a lack of confidence in the ability of the workmen of this province. The artisans of British Columbia are as a matter of fact just as capable—and often more so—than those of other localities. The proof is to be found in the goods.

The campaign being conducted to educate the residents of British Columbia to buy the products which they themselves produce, is meeting with success. The movement, which was initiated by the business men of the industrial centres, now includes in its ranks as active workers representatives of the farming interests. The movement is not being carried on for the benefit of any class or section of the province, but for the general benefit of all residents of the province. The efforts of the campaign committee are directed towards educating the buyers of the province to give preference in making their daily purchases to the products of farm and factory—farm and factory— and if this is done to the extent of but only 25 cents a day more than at present, it will mean employment almost immediately for from 12,000 to 15,000 persons.

Recently Manager B. A. McKelvie of the Made-in-B.C. Campaign, received a letter at his office in Vancouver from a resident of the West Coast of Vancouver Island enclosing a clipping from a mail order house catalogue. The writer of the letter explained that he wished to discontinue buying in the East, and wished to give preference to British Columbia products. He asked if a certain kind of building material could be obtaned in the province, of as good quality and as cheap as from the Eastern house. He was informed that he could obtain a superior article at less money, the product of a British Columbia factory within a few miles of his own home. This is but one example of the manner in which residents of this province have been paying more money for inferior merchandise just because they have been attracted by the pretty pictures in a mail order catalogue.

The local merchant deserves to have the first opportunity if supplying the requirements of the district in which he is located. If the buyers at his store would be content to have him conduct his business on the same basis as a mail order house he would be able to compete with them in every respect. If Jones the merchant kept only samples and catalogues on his premises, and sold from these for delivery ten days later, cash in advance, he would be able to undersell the Eastern house.

Imagine going into the corner store for a pair of overalls. Jones exclaims "Yes, we will sell you a pair of overalls. Here is a picture of them. They will cost you the listed price plus the carrying charges from the manufacturer at the Coast, plus the cost of the postal order commission—and you can expect them in ten days. Call here and see if they have arrived in that time, but pay your money now."

If the local merchant conducted his business in that manner his customers would be indignant. But would he not be justified in doing so, for his largest competitor transacts business precisely that way and the same people do not object. They obtain a catalogue every spring. It is filled with pictures and listed prices. They select their purchases, write out an order for them, pay for a money order, wait ten days, go to the express office, pay the carrying charges and pack them home—and think they have done a ood stroke of business.

PANICS AMONG ANIMALS

Flock panics, especially among sheep, are no new thing, though the Cambridgeshire stampede, recently reported in the Danly Mail, is certainly on a larger scale than usual.

Some years ago there was a similar panic in Norfolk, and this also, oddly enough, in December. The ewe flocks over a large area took sudden fright, smashed through their pens, and were found scattered all over the country.

One farmer stated that his ewes had been penned behind iron rails strong enough to keep in bullocks, yet so mad was their rush that the sheep had broken them down.

At that time the general opinion seems to have been that the panic was caused by an aeroplane passing over. But aeroplanes have passed, and do constantly pass, over grazing flocks without any such effect, and in any case aeroplanes are put out of court by the fact that similar panics have been experienced long before any form of flying machines was ever seen or heard of.

Any old flockmaster can tell you of similar cases of sudden and apparently inexplicable panic among sheep, and for that matter, they have occurred also among horses and cattle. On the wide grazing ranges of Western America "stampedes" will occur for no ascertainable reason, but generally in thunder weather.

The suggestion that the recent stampede was caused by a display of Northern Lights is very far-fetched. Sheep, as a rule, pay little attention to any such faint display of celestial fireworks.

It is, of course, possible that sheep and other four-legged animals are more susceptible than human beings to magnetic influences. We know well that both sheep and cattle have instinctive foreknowledge of changes in the weather.

Personally, I am wondering whether these panics may not be traced to earthquakes. Although no earthquake has been felt in these islands lately, yet our instruments have recorded severe earth tremors in other parts of the globe, and all those, who have experienced earthquakes are well aware how extraordinarily sensitive dumb creatures are to these manifestations.

For instance, before the terrible catastrophe of August 16, 1906, the dogs of Valparaiso were all barking themselves hoarse, while both cattle and horses have often been noticed to be desperately uneasy for some hours before a shock.

Panics of this kind are not confined to animals, but also affect birds. In April, 1911, the town of New Ross, in Wexford, was suddenly invaded by thousands of terrified starlings, which dashed against lamps and even into houses. About the same date a similar phenomenon was noticed at Wareham, in Dorsetshire, and many other similar cases could be quoted.—T. C. Bridges.

The Fernie Council of the Knights of Columbus are arranging for a lecture to be given in Fernie on March 31, by David Goldstein, of Boston, on "Bolshevism."

A big slide on the G.N. at Swinton has tied up traffic on the branch for the past 24 hours. It is expected that the line will be cleared this evening.

Prof. Cuddeford, of Cranbrook, teacher of dancing, will arrive in the city tonight and will open a dancing academy in Fernie. Pupils desiring to take lessons kndly phone or call on him at the King Edward Hotel.

Wm. Bailey, charged with breaking and entering, was up before Magistrate Whimster yesterday and was committed for trial. Accused was caught in the meat safe of the Napanee Hotel and the supposition was that he was there with the intention of robbing the larder.

During the week commencing March 28, a lecture will be delivered in the upper hall of the Central school by Mr. Beckett of the University of British Columbia. The subject will be either "The Human Element in Taxation Policy" or "The Incidence of Taxation." The exact date of this lecture will be announced in the course of a few days.

Announcement has been made from Ottawa of some of the census commissioners who will have charge of the 1921 census which is to take place in June of this year. The appointments are being announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Major G. G. Moffatt, of Fernie, is announced as the commissioner for East Kootenay, and C. D. Blackwood, of Nelson, for West Kootenay.

A movement is on foot to start an Old Timers Association in Fernie. Nearly all the towns in the west have organizations of this kind and Fernie should get busy. Calgary is pulling off a big celebration under the auspices of their Old Timers Association this summer. It is estimated that there are nearly a hundred citizens who have resided in Fernie for over twenty years. Fred Spalding has offered to take the photos of all the old timers free in order to get a group picture.

The appeal of the plaintiffs in the case of Farquharson et al vs. Great Northern Railway, was heard in Vancouver during the past week and the Court of Appeal allowed the appeal as to the amount awarded Mr. Farquharson, increasing the amount of the judgment in his favor from $5000 to $10,090. The finding of the court thus gives the plaintiffs a verdict for $13,090, instead of $8000 as found by the trial judge. E. P. Davis, K.C., and A. I. Fisher appeared for the plaintiffs, and A. H. MacNeill, K.C., and A. Macneil for the defendant railway company.

Cranbrook Herald: Five men representing the Dominion Art Co., of Toronto, have been busy in the city during the last few days. They have been soliciting for orders for photographic enlargements, and while the proposition they have to present may be a perfectly legitimate one, the methods some of them have been employing lead one to suspect that everything is not quite as represented. Most cities in the province take the precaution of compelling such to take out transient trades' licenses before they can do any business within the city limits, and this licence is usually stff enough to act as a deterrent to any but the real genuine cases.

The body of Ole Benson, a well known trapper of this section, was brought to Cranbrook on Saturday afternoon from his line cabin at the head of Perry Creek, a distance of about 35 miles out. For many years Benson's figure has been a familiar one around the district, but this winter his health had not been of the best, and he was urged by most of his friends not to go out on his trap line this season. He persisted, however, and about a week or more ago was found by Gus Theis, a fellow trapper, who has a cabin four miles or so from Benson's, in a very precarious condition, and scarcely able, on account of scurvy, to help himself. Theis and Benson frequently saw each other when out in the hills, and it was on account of the former not having seen anything of Benson for an unusual length of time that led him to investigate the reason. Making Benson as comfortable as possible, his friend prepared for the long hike over the snow to Cranbrook for help. About the middle of last week he left again with two others, Isaac Burtch and A. Wise, on the return trip, to bring the sick man in. It is a trip of considerable difficulty at the present time, a good deal of the way the snow being so deep as to necessitate mushing on snowshoes. Benson was past human aid when help reached his cabin, and the three rescuers brought out the body, arriving back in Cranbrook Saturday afternoon. Little is known of Benson, though he had been in the district a long time. He hailed from Sweden, and so far as is known had no relatives in this country.

PLAIN TALK BY A GERMAN TO THE GERMAN NATION

Dr. Walter Simons, German foreign secretary and leader of the German delegation to the London conference, gave his countrymen some hard truths in his speech before the reichstag Saturday. The allies' demands, he frankly declared, "are not inspired merely by the intoxication of victory or lust for power, but, on the contrary, are the result of extarordinarily heavy troubles and distress in their own countries."

Dr. Simons admitted that it was possible to get a better world perspective from London than from Berlin, and thereby realize how general is the opinion that Germany is in the wrong and has not done enough to requite that wrong.

And, moreover, he declared, "our position in the world is not such that it could be improved by a breach."

The frightful war, with all its cost in blood and suffering and wasted treasure, came from the inability of the German leaders and the German people to understand that a correct perspective of world opinion and forces could not be obtained from Berlin. They saw the world through distorted lenses. They plunged half-blinded into the conflict of their seeking. They stupidly drew the United States into it. They thought their position in the world "could be improved by a breach."

The sooner Germany comes to an intelligent understanding of the frank truths spoken by its foreign minister the sooner the German people will start on a road that leads to somewhere. Dr. Simons is giving them acrid medicine, but it s the only medcine that can cure them of their delusions.

The Odd Fellows will confer the 2nd degree next Wednesday night. All members are requested to be present.

The fire chief is busy these days making the hotels and other public buildings comply with the fire by-laws.

Mrs. Clark, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Bonnell, for some weeks, is leaving Sunday for Montreal.

The Reconstruction Committee will hold a dance on Easter Monday, March 28, in Victoria Hall in aid of the Memorial Fund. Tickets $1.50. Extra lady 50c.

Canmore defeated Blairmore Wednesday night five to nothing in a fast game and won the amateur Alberta intermediate horkey championship. This makes 15 straight wins for Canmore for the season. Canmore won the round 10 to 3.

John Eastwood was before Magistrate Whimster this week charged with assaulting his wife. Some months ago the accused was bound over to keep the peace and as this is an infraction of the bond he will now have to appear before Judge Thompson.

Albert Whitehouse had the misfortune to have his hand crushed in No. 1 East mine at Coal Creek last Monday. Albert seems to be particularly unfortunate when it comes to accidents, as this is the third time he has been injured in the mines at the Creek.

Jimmy McLean had a narrow escape from sudden annihilation last week when the water front of his kitchen range exploded, blowing the stove all to pieces. Mrs. McLean and the children are visiting in Cranbrook and Jimmy was doing a little job of panting the kitchen floor when the accident happened. How he escaped injury is hard to understand.

Some one tried to pry the lock off the C.P.R. telegraph office door last night, but it apparently baffled their efforts. What burglars hoped to secure from entering a place of that description is hard to understand. They might just as well try to rob a printing office for all they could hope to secure in the money line.

At an executive meeting of the Cranbrook Board of Trade held on Monday of last week, it was decided among other things, to appoint the secretary of the board, W. M. Harris, as publicity secretary at an added consideration over and above that tendered him for his work heretofore. The new duties to be assumed by Mr. Harris consist of maintaining a sort of information bureau in regard to the district, particularly for the benefit of tourists and others who in passing through the city may desire information either as to road routes, or as to the resources of the district, and along other lines. Much work of this nature has been done in past seasons by members of the automobile club and board of trade, and to such a volume did these enquiries attain last season, that it was felt this year it would require a paid secretary to cope with the correspondence and enquiries that come along. — Herald.

MRS ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of first American soldier killed in France, who gives entire credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

The following remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, the mother of Corporal James B. Gresham, who was the first American soldier killed in France. The statement was made at the Gresham Memorial Home, which was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana as an evidence of their appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son.

The shock of her son's death resulted in a serious breakdown in Mrs. Dodd's health, but every one will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. Mrs. Dodd gives the entire credit for her recovery to the celebrated medicine, Tanlac.

She said: "After my dear boy's death, I had a general breakdown in health. At first it was just indigestion. My food would upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully. I also had rheumatism with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms, and at times I would suffer greatly, and my joints would become swollen and stiff. I was hardly able to do but very little about the house and at times could not even cook a meal. I became very nervous and restless and at night would lie awake for hours.

"A friend of mine advised me to try Tanlac. I am glad I did, for it proved to be the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a splendid appetite and relieved me entirely of indigestion. My rheumatism also disappeared and I am now able to do my house-work with the greatest ease. My nerves are steady and strong. I sleep well at night and my health is better than in years. I shall always be grateful for what Tanlac has done for me."

RUSSIAN TRADE IMPOSSIBLE

Whenever Canadian or American workmen meet for discussion, the desirability of opening up trade relations with Russia comes to the fore. Not long since the International Association of Machinists sent out from Washington a general call urging all labor organizations to advocate the resumption of trade with Soviet Russia as a means of relieving unemployment on this continent.

Now let us reason together. We will admit for a start that Russia's needs are many. In fact, there is little she does not need. Food, clothing, machinery, railway equipment, automobiles, ships, steamboats, drugs of all sorts, and soap—don't forget the soap. But what has Russia to pay with in return for these things? What can she give the Canadian or American workman in return for their labor?

The Lenine-Trotsky scheme of communism aims to do away with all private enterprises. Work for the State, and the State only, and be paid by the State, not in money, but in kind. So much clothing and so much food in return for a day's work. Of course, one does not always get the food nor the clothing, nor the fuel, nor other necessities of life, but that is another story. In any event, that is what the present Soviet government has tried to accomplish, and as a means to that end began printing paper money literally by the ton. Discredit the rouble as a means of exchange—that was the idea. In consequence, there is now in Russia no medium of exchange. Rouble notes are just good enouh to light your pipe with. No better and no worse.

As before pointed out in these columns, Russia has some store of gold, thanks to the late Czar's government. But this is of small value compared with that country's great needs. Of course, Russia could grant concessions to individuals or corporations, mineral, timber, oil and the like. But who is going to trust the Soviets to that extent, in view of the fact that they are frankly out to turn the world upside down and make others as miserable as themselves?

Workmen should not be led astray by this "Trade with Russia" palaver. For one thing, it would be quite impossible for that country, owing to the complete breakdown of its railways, to haul anything which they might have for sale—admitting for the sake of argument that such goods exist—to a point where it could be exported. But more to the point is the fact that the present Russian government has not so far proven itself friendly to other nations, and furthermore, in what trade has been attempted the Soviet administration has shown a disposition to conduct exchange in a manner tantamount to cheating.

Viewing Russia's present position from another angle, it is very questionable indeed if the Bolsheviki can maintain the present government for any considerable period of time. In which event agreements respecting concessions made between the citizens of other countries and the Soviets would, no doubt, be abrogated.

Those most conversant with Russian affairs are the first to predict that the Bolsheviki will be unable to maintain themselves much longer without war and conquest, for it is only outside their own country that life's necessities exist. They have eaten up their own land as would a horde of locusts, and now must prepare to gather in further supplies by conquest. It is for this reason that European military officers freely predict that a campaign of the Reds against Rumania and Poland is not far off.—Saturday Night.

FERNIE JUNIORS BEAT COLEMAN

The Fernie fan fraternity were favored with a fine clean game of hockey Monday night between the Coleman juniors and the Fernie juniors ,when they played a friendly game on good ice.

In the first period, Commons, of Fernie, scored in 15 minutes; Coleman failing to find the net. Neither side scored in the second period, and in the third period, E. Colton scored first in 4 minutes, followed by Evans, of Coleman, who made the only score for the visitors in 7 minutes.

K. and E. Colton added a score each before the bell rang, making the score 4-1 in favor of the home boys.

The Coleman team put up a game fight, their team work and stick handling being far superior to that of the Fernie lads, but they were unable to penetrate the defence and gather the necessary tallies.

The line-up was:

COMIC HOCKEY GAME

On Tuesday night the Ladies hockey team challenged the Seniors to a handicap game. The men were compelled to hobble themselves in skirts and to use one hand only on their sticks. The few that heard of it before hand turned out and enjoyed themselves immensely. It was not until the ladies levied further tribute on their male opponents by having them play the last period left handed that they cut the five goal lead against them. The game ended 5-4 in favor of the Seniors.

Ladies—Pep Colton, D. Schagel, D. Henderson, F. Hammill, E. Biggs, M. Dragon, E. Fenwick and J. Richardson.

Seniors—Miss S. Ross, Mother Hubbard Kirkpatrick, June Elvidge Commons, Consumptive Sarah Jane Wilson, Mary Jane Dicken, Theda Bara Wilson and Sloppy Sue Glover.

Mrs. A. W. Greenwood entertained at Five Hundred on Wednesday evening.

SPORT NOTES

There will be a meeting of the Fernie Football Club on Sunday, March 20, in the G.W.V.A. rooms at 2 p.m. Last season's executive please attend; also all interested. The Fernie club have accepted an invitation from the Cranbrook football club to take part in the G.W.V.A. sports on May 24. A cup and medals will be played for and all the Pass teams will compete, so let us get an early start.

Fernie's young men should start training for the athletic events. The boys in town should clean up the Pass. All interested in running please hand in their names to B. Smith, who is organizing a Cross Country Club. There is good material in town and we should have one of the best clubs in the province. There are medals in sight already, so let us get an early start and "go get 'em."

The fraternal societies are putting a few good baseball teams in the field for the coming season and the local boys will have to steam up.

AUSTRALIAN SOLDIERS NEARLY ALL AT WORK

Senator E. D. Millen, a member of the commonwealth government, stated in an interview with the London Morning Post, that latterly he had been devoting the whole of his energies to the task of repatriating the members of the Australian forces. His department had succeeded, in cooperation with the state governments and the trades unions and the employers' associations, in practically absorbing the whole of the employable soldiers.

The number of men we had to deal with when the armistice was signed, he said, was about 280,000. As demobilization proceeded large contingents of these returned men returned to civil life under abnormal industrial conditions which demanded special action. This took the form, in the first instance, of a sustenance allowance of two guineas per week for single men, with extra allowances for those who had dependents, until they succeeded in obtaining suitable employment.

"When I left Australia we had a little over one per cent on our books as unemployed and even that small proportion were being absorbed at such a rate that by this time I should say there are no unemployed ex-service men except the unemployable," said the senator. "The fact that the claims on the unemployment allowances have practically ceased is, I think, evidence of the moral fibre of the men, while the further fact that when I left there were only 3000 out of nearly 300,000 soldiers unemployed is indicative of the capacity of the country to absorb all who are able and willing to work.

The trades unions agreed to allow unskilled men, who had been trained in the vocational schools up to the point of 40 per cent of efficiency—in practice it was generally 60 per cent — to be employed in the proportion of one soldier to six members of the union, which was usually all that was required. By arrangement with the state governments 17,000 settlers had been established on the land at a cost to the commonwealth government of about £40,000,000, and it was anticipated that this number would be doubled.

In regard to housing, the repatriation department's scheme provided that a returned soldier might buy or build a house up to the value of £800, including land, without lodging any deposit, subject to the payment of interest on the cost at the rate of five per cent per annum, plus one per cent as sinking fund. About 8000 houses had been provided under this scheme and contracts were in hand for another 8000. The arrears amounted to only two per cent of the payments due.

HOUDINI AND LILA LEE IN "TERROR ISLAND"

Lila Lee, the pretty motion picture actress, recently went through the most thrilling experience of her young life. When she was selected to play opposite Houdini the famous self-liberator and stunt king, in his latest Paramount Artcraft picture, "Terror Island," coming to the Orpheum theatre on Friday and Saturday Miss Lee realized it was likely to prove a rather strenuous time for her. It was.

The climax which she was directed to get into a safe have it securely locked and be thrown into the ocean. Houdini was to dive in after her and release her. Miss Lee bravely went through with the program but admitted afterward that she confidently expected her hair to be white when she was safe on dry land again.

"Terror Island" is a thrilling story of love and adventure that offers Houdini ample opportunities to perform many of the under-water feats for which he is famous and several super-thrillers that he has never before attempted.

TOMMY IS ENTERTAINED

(Vancouver Sun)

Victoria.—The most signal triumph of Lieut.-Gov. Walter C. Nichol's administration thus far came on Friday night last, when Mr. Thomas Uphill, Labor member for Fernie, attended an official dinner at Government House.

Hitherto there has always been a great gulf fixed between the Labor members and Government House. As the first of the Labor members to lead th eway, the miner member from Fernie found the atmosphere of Government House distinctly warm and to his liking.

"Well, goodnight, 'Guv.' I've had a great time. If you're ever in Fernie look me up and I'll give you a good time," he assured his honor on parting.

"Sure, Tom, I'll look you up," responded the "Guv." as he shook hands with the genial Tom.

"Go again?'" queried Tom next day, when some of his fellow Labor members quizzed him about his debut at Government House. "Say, if any of you fellows don't want to go when you're asked I'll buy your chance from you for ten dollars."

The engagement of Mr. D. Horn and Miss Alice Manzer, of Coal Creek, has been announced.

GOOD CITIZEN LEAVING FERNIE

The announcement made during the present week that Robert Macbeath Young secretary and purchasing agent of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. had been appointed Commissioner for the Western Coal Operators' Association succeeding W. F. McNeill the incumbent of that position for many years but who accepted the chairmanship of the Alberta Compensation Board, was received with mingled feelings of elation and regret by those with whom Mr. Young has been associated, both in a business and social way, during his residence in Fernie. This successful upward step in Mr. Young's career is only a further demonstration of what honesty a keen intellect and a strict application to business can do for a young man.

Twenty years ago Mr. Young came to Canada from a spot on the map geographically known as Scotland. He first obtained employment with the C.P.R. in a clerical capacity at Winnipeg. He retained this position for a certain length of time, thence moving to Frank, Alta., to accept a position with the coal company there, and he was a resident of Frank when the famous slide occurred in 1903. In 1904 he came to Fernie, purely on a speculative tour for a position, and after being tested as to his ability, secured a position as stenographer for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. here during the time when D. D. Davies was comptroller. Within a period of time which was of such brief duration that the actual facts when related would almost appear to have been a page from fiction, Mr. Young advanced from stenographer to assistant secretary and moved from this city to the head office at Toronto. Here again his ability further advanced him to the position of secretary of the company and a member of the board of directors, which duties he fulfilled until his resignation to accept the Commissionership of the Operators' Association.. In 1910 his duties with the C.N.P. Coal Co. required him to return to this city, where in addition to the secretarial duties, he was made purchasing agent. In all he has served 17 years with the C.N.P. Coal Co., and subsidiary companies, and there is undoubtedly a field for continued success, and basing the prospect upon his past record there is naught to expect but that Mr. Young will achieve the highest degree of success both for himself and those whom he serves.

He is an advocate of wholesome sport—curling and golfing being his favorite pastimes. He was also an active member of various organizations formed for the progress and advancement of the community in which he resided, and Fernie will lose a public-spirited citizen who will be difficult to replace, while on the other hand Calgary, where Mr. Young will reside in future, will be richer to the the extent that they acquire a top notch citizen.

TRANS-CANADA LIMITED TO COMMENCE MAY 22nd.

The "Trans-Canada" service will be inaugurated on Sunday, May 22nd when the summer time-table becomes effective, the first trains leaving Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver on that day.

The "Trans-Canada" Limited will be an exclusive sleeping car train iwth all steel equipment, which has been specially designed and built for this service at the company's Angus shops at Montreal, and mark the hghest degree of excellence and travel comfort.

The fast schedule which proved so popular with the travelling public last summer will be maintained this year.

Trains 13 and 14 "Soo-Pacific Express" will commence operation between St. Paul and Vancouver effective Sunday, June 5th. This will make four trains which the Canadian Pacific will operate to and from the Coast City daily during the summer months.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

The Odd Fellow lodge will confer the third degree next Wednesday evening. All brother Odd Fellows are invited to be present. Refreshments will be served after lodge business is finished.

In the police court this morning a fine of $300 was imposed for contravention of the Prohibition Act, and a quantity of liquor confiscated. This case was prosecuted by the provincial government, who will receive the fine and the liquor so forfeited.

Chief Spiller arrived on Monday from Vernon to resume his duties here.

The coroner's jury, at the adjourned inquest touching the death of Richard Vette, a section foreman on the G.N.R. at Dorr, on Monday evening after hearing additional evidence and the result of a post mortem examination, found that the deceased had met his death by being struck by the G.N. passenger train on Wednesday, March 16, while engaged in the performance of his duties.

The city council will meet this evening to pass the estimates for this year. Owing to the uncertain state of the proposed liquor bill in the provincial house it is hard to say what amount of revenue will be derived from that source and it will be difficult to fix the amount required for the year. However, it is a safe prediction that the rate will be cut down four or five mills, as Fernie's financial condition is in excellent shape.

TO CONNECT UP TELEPHONE LINE

Invermere, B.C., March 23. — The Secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade of South Eastern British Columbia has just received advice from Dr. Saul Bonnell, the member for the riding of East Kootenay in the federal house, that the Department of Public Works have kindly consented to put in the supplementary estimates for this year an appropriation for the extension of the Dominion government telephone system from the present terminus at Fairmont Springs, south to Wasa. Wasa is situated on the Lake Windermere Branch of the C.P.R. It is about 22 miles by road from Cranbrook, with which place it is connected by telephone over the lines of the Kootenay Telephone Lines. Dr. Bonnell expresses the hope that this extension will be completed this year. In the event of that happening it will connect Golden and this central exchange up with lines that in turn connect with Nelson, Vancouver, Calgary and the smaller towns along the line to the west and with Fernie on the Crow's Nest Branch of the C.P.R.

Advice has just been received that the service medal has been granted to Malcolm E. Craik, of this place, for the part he took in the Fenian Raids of 1870 as a full private in the 50th regiment (the Borderers) which were present at Trout River. It is now 51 years since Mr. Craik served in the ranks but in the moving about which he has since done the Department of Militia and Defence have rather lost sight of him.

THE EVENT OF THE SEASON

The most attractive theatrical event of the season is scheduled for Fernie, when the Arlie Marks company appears at the Grand Theatre, for four nights, starting Wednesdoy March 30 to Satuday April 2, with a Special Matinee on Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Miss Marks who heads her own company, is the daughter of that famous comedian Tom Marks. She is an accomplished artist, and the press has praised her for the very clever impersonations and portrayals of different characters, and have crowned her with the title of "everybody's favorite."

With Miss Marks is Jane Lambe, late of the Chicago Opera Company, who is in great demand in the profession; Anna Lynch, prominent in the best stock companies, and Adelaide Secord, known from coast to coast as the Little Stage Mother.

Miss Marks is supported by several well known male members in a manner which leaves nothing lacking; amon them being Dan J. Fendell, Marshall Hale, Bart Crawford, Leon Heverly, Lindsay E. Perrin, Chris C. Allen and James E. Lynch.

One of the features with Miss Marks' show is that there are no waits between the acts (so noticeable in other road shows), as there are five acts, with such features as Madam Salona, who wil tell you anything you want to know; the Great Heverly, the Handcuff King, the only living man who ever escaped from Sing-Sing on a wager; Bart Crawford, the boy with the big band voice; Lindsay E. Perrin, the dancing demon; and Hale and Lambe, that funny team.

H. W. BORING, a well-to-do Kansas farmer, says he has gained twenty pounds and is in better general health than he has been in years, since taking Tanlac. Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straight-forward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kan.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I knew of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor and my digestion was so bad I could hardly retain my food. Nothing seemed to agree with me; in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become upset at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and finaly, became so weak and run-down that I lost weight rapidly, I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of mornings had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after-effects.

"The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well at night I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

C TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS S
E BY Firelighter T

THE BOY

"The only compensation Canada can find for her fifty thousand dead is a policy that will develope a brighter and better race of young people."

Thus remarked a prominent educator before the Canadian Club. Particularly does this apply to the boys of teen age, who are the natural successors of those making the supreme sacrifice for humanitarian and national ideals. The boy of today is the citizen of tomorrow, and as he goes so will in the main go our citizenship. Every movement which regards the boys as a moral factor and a possible good citizen should be studied with care and assiduously cultivated.

"This paper contained a report recently of the annual meeting of the Provincial Boys' Work Board, which is the affiliation of a number of church and other organizations. The report showed that a very creditable volume of work for the boys of the community had been done and larger plans will yet be worked out. It showed also that prominent citizens were identifying themselves heartily with the boys' cause. The program of this board, known as the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training, has been evolved under the supervision of specialists in boy life. The program has made its appeal and challange to the church leaders and to older boys all across Canada. The whole movement was technically explained by Taylor Stattem, of Toronto, at the educational conference there in the fall of 1919. It received very favourable comment from Canada's representative educators, who certainly were not disposed to be hasty or partial in their criticisms.

"Ths movement, as well as others which are sanely featuring the possibilities of boy life, deserve the closer attention and support of citizens — personal as well as financial. Materialism is the besetting sin of these times, and to overcome it stronger emphasis needs to be given ideals which have a basis in man's spiritual nature. One of the first exercises on the years program is the Father and Son Banquets.

"'If you are going to do anything permanent for the average man, you have got to begin before he is a man. The chance of success lies in working with the boys and not the man.' Thus said Theodore Roosvelt, a great lover of real men."—Editorial in Winnipeg Daily.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

FANATICS RULE OUR ROOST

TIRESOME FOLK WHO THINK ALL JOY A CRIME AND SAY IT'S SIN TO LAUGH AT ANY TIME.

Oh, play your games of marbles, lads, right roundly, while you may; for soon, in all our native grads, they'll take your sport away. The Truly good have gone afield to rid this world of sin, they'll pinch the hoops you long have wheeled, and stop your merry din.

The Truly Good are bilious dames, and lank, side-whiskered men, who'll rob us of our harmless games, and put us in the pen.

With skipping ropes, ye little maids, go forth a while, and play; the Truly Goods are making raids on all such games today.

The Truly Good are tiresome folk, who think joy is a crime; they hold it sin to laugh and joke and have a bully time.

Most people work, day after day, to make the kettle boil; they have but little time to play, their stunt is honest toil. But when the Sabbath day arrives, they take their motor carts, and load therein their aunts and wives, and leave the town and marts; they tour the country roads gadzooks, inhale the frarant breeze, and sermons see in running brooks, and in the stones and trees.

It's something they look forward to these pleasant Sunday drives, when Mother Nature they may view, besides their aunts and wives; the children see a thousand things that fill their souls with glee, and they are happier than kings, if happy kins there be.

The Truly good look on and weep, and say, while wagging ears: "The Holy Sabbath they should keep in penitence and tears! Upon their auto seats they perch, with hearts as hard as stone, when they should spend nine hours in church and hear the pastor drone! Their wickedness is coarse and raw, it's worse than a disease! We'll have to pass a dark blue law forbidding crimes like these."

We used to laugh, as people should, at cranks and all their sass; but now, it seems, the Truly Good are really cutting grass. They've cut out all the flowing bowls and beverages pink, and now men seek the swimming-holes when they would have a drink.

Oh, little children, spin the top, and fly the paper kite, for soon the Truly Good will stop all infantile delight!

And, weary father, smoke your pipe, in comfort, while you may, the day's at hand, the time is ripe, when it will fade away. The Truly Good have now decreed a war on all such joys, they say tobacco is a weed that our soul's health destroys.

And take your children to the show, while shows may yet be seen, for soon the censor stern wil throw their blight upon the screen.

And read the novels you adore while novels may be brought, for soon you'll be compelled to pore o'er censored tommyrot. The Truly Good around us chase, they're busy in the land, to make this world a dreary place that no sane man can stand.—Kitsilano News.

A member of the board of directors of the United Farmers of B. C. is to have a place on the executive of the committee conducting the campaign to increase the sale of British Columbia products.

Not only are manufacturers, wholesalers and farmers meeting Oriental competition in the markets of British Columbia, but the printing establishments are now faced with similar trade opposition. Orders are being solicited in British Columbia for printing to be done in Japan. Printing is a highly skilled trade, and Canadian printers cannot be expected to work for the same wages that a Japanese compositor can exist on in Japan. It is likely that an effort will be made to induce the Government to compel all foreign printing to be marked with the place of origin.

A British Columbia inventor has produced a vehicle for berry pickers. It obviates the necessity for the picker working on bended knees. It has a seat fitted on a dropped axle between two wooden wheels. They are being manufactured in Vancouver for this season's berry crop.

Thousands of dollars are sent out of the province every year for canary birds. British Columbia bird breeders are developing strains of birds that are unrivaled, and they have formed an association to supply the demand for singers in the province.

Lodge Regalia is now being manufactured in British Columbia.

Fruit producers in the Okanagan district expect that there will be a heavy crop of apples this year. The moisture in the ground is said to be greater at this time than for many years past.

Paints manufactured in British Columbia are mixed especially to treat British Columbia woods. This should be remembered in buying ready mixed paints, varnishes and stains for the spring cleaning.

If all the suits of clothes worn by men and boys of British Columbia were manufactured or tailored in the establishments of this province, employment would be given to more than 5 000 expert workers. Less than one-fifth of this number are residing in the provnce. The men of British Columbia are supporting the equivalent of a city of 50,000 persons outside of British Columbia by their expenditure on clothing alone. Ready to wear garments, as well as tailored suits, are made in B. C.

INTELLECTUAL TREAT COMING

tion of the subject, showing what the latest manifestation of Socialism in its brand-new Russian dress really is. Mr. Goldstein's appeal is to lovers of God and Country, to those who stand for civil law and ordered liberty.

The address will be followed by a quizzing period, when the speaker will answer questions relating to any phase of the subject whether of the Bolshevism in Russia or of that propaganda in our own country.

Mr. Goldstein is well qualified to speak on the subject of Socialism, Communism, Bolshevism, since he was a leader in the Socialist movement in Massachusetts some twenty years ago having been the first candidate of that party for Mayor in his home city, Boston. His resignation from the Socialist movement, after three years' effort within the party to reform the organization, caused a sensation of the time, and it is considered the prime factor in the decline of its vote in the Old Bay State, causing the defeat of two mayors, the three Cocialist members of the Legislature, and several aldermen and councilmen. It also caused the Socialist vote to be quickly reduced to one-quarter of its strength when he quit the movement. From that day to this the Socialist vote has been kept at a low ebb in Massachusetts.

"David Goldstein, who is a staunch defender of conservative trades unionism, has struck some hard blows against Socialism upon the floor of labor conventions. When a delegate to the Massachusetts State Convention, of the American Federation of Labor at Pittsburg, Mr. Goldstein put a quietus upon Sosialist propaganda at these anual metings by introducing a set of resolutions which concluded with the demand that, 'We hereby denounce as detrimental to our progress, as destructive to our good fame, as disruptive of those personal and civic virtues which is our duty to cultivate, any attitude of sympathy toward Socialist propaganda within our ranks.' (This was the first positive set of resolutions presented in an American Trade Union convention against the 'Red.)."

The following editorial from the Boston Transcript shows the importance of the move made:

"The Socialist propagandists have no love for unionism as such; their connection with it is for the sole purpose, often frankly avowed of capturing the labor movement * * * * * and converting it into a revolutionary crusade against the existing social and industrial order. By adopting Mr. Goldstein's resolution denouncing this propaganda as intellectually unsound, impracticable from an economic standpoint, and demoralizing to the general well-being of society, the State Federation of Labor renders a public service which should be frankly acknowledged."

Mr. Goldstein stands for that one hundred per cent. Americanism that demonstrated in the practical and far-reaching aid given to our government by the Knights of Columbus in the World War, overseas and at home, and in the reconstruction program of this organization during the present period of readjustment.

Speaking of Mr. Goldstein's address in Troy, N.Y., The Record declared defense of American institutions to be "one of the most remarkable demonstrations of a patriotic nature in the history of Troy, from the earliest day down to the present time."

The meetings, both in Michel and Fernie, will commence at 7.30 o'clock. Admission will be free to all, no collection will be taken up, and all questions will be answered frankly and courteously.

He leaves five brothers and one sister to mourn his death.

A local Russian who works for the Coal Co. on the coal delivery, at one time took great pride in the nickname of "Bolshie," which his coworkers tacked on him, but now that name is very much in disrepute. A few months ago his brother gathered all his worldly wealth amounting to several thousand dollars, and returned to Russia, the wonderful land of promise. Not long ago "Bolshie" received a wire, "For God's sake wire me money to come back." If any of those who are of the opinion that Bolshevism should be the rule of the country would interview our friend "Bolshie," they will certainly get some pointers.

A fatality rate of 3.50 for every million tons of coal mined in the United States in 1920 was announced by the bureau of mines today, as compared with 4.24 in 1919. This was said to be the lowest rate in history. A total of 2260 men were killed in the coal mines last year, a decrease of 57 over 1919, while production of coal increased 18 per cent. Preliminary reports indicate that production of coal in 1920 amounted to 645,663,000 tons. The number of employees mining coal in 1920 was 775,000 as compared with 765,000 in 1919.

It would have been a more economical procedure had the defendant paid the original $2.00 road tax and possibly the moral to be gained by his experience may be profitably accepted by various others who decline to make payment upon demand, otherwise they will be assessed the extra penalty of $3.00 when the police court is resorted to to enforce collection.

TOMMY IS CALLED DOWN

Victoria, March 18.—Beer was the subject on which the legislature spent most of the afternoon yesterday. The members were so interested in the matter that they worked half an hour overtime, and, even then, they were reluctant to drop the discussion. Capt. Ian MacKenzile provoked the debate. He did it with his proposed amendment that a liquor should not be considered intoxicating unless it contained more than two per cent of alcohol by weight, which would be approximately 5 per cent proof spirits.

This proposal was easily recognizable as being in substance, if not in form, a motion to allow the sale of beer by the glass openly in public places. The talk throughout was based on this assumption and the members, pond. Suggested amendments for this alized the opportunity to tell where they stand on the beer question and why. The house finally rose at 6.30 p.m. without taking a vote on the question. It was pointed out that if the amendment were adopted, several other clauses in the measure would have to be changed to correspond. Sugested amendments for this purpose will presumably be drafted and offered by the friends of beer.

As a preliminary the house voted down the motion of Mr. R. H. Pooley, who moved that any liquid containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol shall be conclusively deemed to be intoxicating. This was defeated by 24 to 21 on a show of hands.

Capt. Ian MacKenzie then offered his amendment. that a liquor shall not be considered intoxicating unless it contains more than two per cent of alcohol by weight.

He described this as a compromise between the prohibition sentiment in the house and those who want stronger beer. He also suggested that it be called light beer, and that the term "near beer" be eliminated and heard of no more. He contended, that two per cent of alcohol by weight was fairly to be described as a temperance beer.

Mr. Thomas Uphill agreed with the amendment, though he thought 3 per cent by weight would be better than two per cent. What the people wanted was good beer, of palatable quality, and sold by the glass. Mr. Uphill said he had been reading the Bible last Sunday and he found where a "bunch of pussy-footers" had made trouble in Isaiah's time. "There's a cry for beer in the streets; all joy is forgotten; the mirth of the land is gone." Unless a beer clause was inserted in the bill, the comsumption of hard stuff would be encouraged. The proposal to make the percentage one-half of one per cent, Mr. Uphill described as "spoiling good water."

Capt. Ian MacKenzie replied that if his amendment carried, he would propose to eliminate many of the places now selling near beer.

Mr. Samuel Guthrie remarked that the second member for Vancouver had showed no solicitude for the unemployed, nor had he a word to say about the 'dirty, lousy, logging camps in this province." Mr. Guthrie was called to order and not allowed to proceed further along this line. He then said that the argument had been advanced that while the workingman had his head muddled he would not be revolutionary. "I hope every worker in this province will get to hear that," said Mr. Guthrie. "When they are muddled with drink, they are not so apt to see the miseries of their conditions as when their heads are clear."

Mr. R. H. Neelands remarked that he hadn't seen any deputations of warkingmen around the legislature demandig beer.

"The attorney-general enquired if the Women's Freedom League had any connection with labor."

"Not to my knowledge," replied Mr. Neelands, "I never heard of it."

Mr. W. J. Bowser said there was no use in the members trying to deceive themselves. The people had voted for spirituous and malt liquors to be sold in sealed packages by the government. and by the government alone. Nobody wanted near beer. Raising the percentage and calling it light beer would simply make prosecution doubly difficult. It would mean a standard beer, sold on the pretense that it was not beer. Spirituous and malt liquors, no matter how defined, would include near beer. For his own part he intended to vote against the resolution offered by Capt. Ian MacKenzie.

An incident of the afternoon occurred at this stage when Mr. M. B. Jackson rose and protested against the language being used by the member for Fernie, who was seated behind him, and "who is apparently saturated with the subject." M. Jackson announced that he would leave the chamber unless the annoyance were stopped.

The chairman replied that the member for Fernie was clearly not in order in his interruptions. A few minutes later the member interrupted again. This produced a protest from the premier, who said that "the interruptions were a disgrace to this House."

"If the member for Fernie offends again," said the chairman, "I will report him to the speaker."

Mr. Fred Anderson set forth his views at some length. He declared that the bill as it stood encouraged the use of strong liquor. The problem was to provide the most practicable means of giving the people the beverage they wanted.

Premier Oliver said most of the discussion was out of order. It had wandered too far afield. The only point at issue was the definition of liquor and the discussion should be confined to that pont.

Mrs. Ralph Smith said that in a certain sense her constituency was the whole province. She had received letters on this subject from men and women in all parts of the province and she had not received one that would lead her to cast her vote for this amendment. This House would be well advised to stick to what was decided by the plebiscite. Many prohibitionists voted for moderation as aganst the Prohibition Act, but she did not believe they voted in favor of a moderate return of the bar as we used to know it. On behalf of the women and children of the province she would vote against the amendment.

Hon. Wm. Sloan would have preferred an amendment with a higher percentage. In the last analysis he was satisfied the people would come back to open drinking. Education as to the evils of strong liquor was needed. Prohibition had fallen down in every province. The people must have some form of dissipation and he would give it to them in the least harmful way. The bill encouraged hard liquor rather than a more innocent beverage. Give them good wholesome beer and put more faith in education on this question and not so much in legislaton.

Mr. Jackson said that if the plebiscite had any meaning it certainly excluded liquor which would contain two per cent of alcohol by weight. He suggested that the definition of liquor should include "all liquid which may be sold or dealt with under the guise of beer, or near beer, or any name commonly used to describe malt liquor."

The attorney-general thought the house was rather putting itself in the position of straining at the gnat and swallowing the camel. He was informed by his medical colleagues that a lot of liquors contained 30 to 40 per cent of alcohol and here they were debating about two per cent. He pointed out that if the percentage of alcohol that was to be regarded as intoxicating was to be arbitrarily fixed in the Act, the effect would be, as the measure stood at the present, that liquor up to two per cent of alcohol would be withdrawn from the control board. Under the old license system any liquor was held intoxicating if it contained such a percentage of acohol that it could not be considered a temperance drink. That definition had worked very well for many years. In any event, whatever definition was adopted there were a lot of joints flourishing in Vancouver and elsewhere that must be wiped out of existence. They were selling something stronger than one per cent but there was a certain reluctance to interfere with them while stronger liquor was being brought into the province by the carload. If this 2 per cent by weight was allowed, its sale would have to be regulated.

Mr. M. A. Macdonald said that if it was the intention to move amendments that would bring places selling this stronger beer under the control of the liquor board, these amendments should be on the order paper, so that the House could judge of the whole matter at one time.

Premier Oliver thought that before going to the trouble of preparing the amendments, the sense of the House should be ascertained as to whether the amendment before them would be accepted.

Mr. Whiteside—I would like to see the matter stand over until they come out of the bush—until we see them all and know what they are trying to get at.

Mr. A. M. Paterson—We should know how this beer is to be controlled before we vote on it.

Hon Dr. King felt that the near beer traffic should absolutely be wiped out. He understood from the attorney-general that near beer as at present understood could not be within the control of the board, but that it would be brought within such control if the percentage of alcohol was increased as proposed. There would be a traffic in beer up to one per cent uncontrolled. He would support the amendment to increase the percentage to two per cent but he did so on the understanding that there would be further amendments to control the sale. He favored a light beer whose sale was licensed and properly controlled by the board.

The house then dropped the subject for the day. This clause will be taken up again the next time the bill is in committee.

The fine to which a corporation may be subjected was made not less than $1000 nor more than $4000 for a first offence; and for subsequent offences not less than $2000 nor more than $6000.

Mr. H. G. Perry reiterated the contention advanced by him a few days ago that a person convicted of violating the Act should be struck off the voters' list. The attorney-general replied that if this policy were decided upon, the change should be made in the Municipal Act.

The clause referring to the seizure of liquor in transit was allowed to stand. The attorney-general said that a recent decision in Nova Scotia had rendered doubtful how far the province could go in interferring with goods in transit, and he wanted time to consider the matter.

An amendment was inserted giving government power to borrow money from loans to provide any funds needed in connection with the Act, and to issue, as security, treasury notes bearing interest at six percent.

MINING NOTES AT RANDOM

(From the Mining and Engineering Record)

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., has under consideration the installation of a by-product plant at Trail similar to that of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Co., Ltd., at Anyox. The coal used will be obtained from the Crow's Nest Pass or from the Coalmont Colliery. The Consolidated can utilize such a plant to special advantage, using the gas for roasting the sulphide ore and for assaying and other furnace purposes; the benzol for operating motors, and internal combustion engines; the tar as fuel; while the coke would be substituted for that purchased from the Crow's Nest Pass coking plants.

It is to be hoped the Provincial Legislature of British Columbia will not allow another session to pass without steps being taken to change the administration of coal, oil and industrial minerals from the Lands Department to the Mines Department, to which it properly belongs. The Mines Department has the technical men capable of advising the government along sane and business-like lines as to the administration of these minerals. At present this feature of the administration of the Lands Department would be considered a joke were it not that it is having serious and disastrous effects on the province at the very time following the war when the widest field of activity should be encouraged. We know of coal discoveries which have been made, but the discoverers have said nothing about them because they are not permitted to locate and operate them, and the opportunity of providing profitable employment for hundreds of idle men is lost. Then the oil administration of the Lands Department prevents the employment of a large number of men in prospecting and developing the possible oil areas on the Peace River. It is a Bolshevik policy, utterly un-British, holding back development, and blighting the country with its Russian savor.

There are several iron and steel promotions under way, most of them with the usual object of skinning the taxpayer by government guarantees of bonds and other concessions. It would be well if the government and members of the Legislature watched approaches from these quarters with considerable suspicion. One British Company, already the owner of large iron and steel works in another part of the British Empire, is in the field, with ample capital, asking no government subsidies. This is the kind of enterprise that is wanted. The establishment of the industry by the people without capital or experience can only end in dismal failure, which will set the industry and the province back for years. One of the most difficult problems in connection with such an industry is to find a market for the surplus over the small amount required to meet the demands of home consumption. That problem can only be solved by a firm in the business and in touch with the worlds markets. The Coast Iron and Steel Company has had a good deal of newspaper publicity, but its directorate has not a practical man on the board; and certainly some of the publicity matter supplied to the press is utterly misleading. It is stated strong English and American capital is behind the enterprise, but no proof of this has been given and we must say for one of the engineers who came here from England to investigate matters that he left an unfavourable impression. The British Empire Steel Corporation also has the matter under advisement; has selected Union Bay on Vancouver Island as the best site for the industry; and this company, with the other British Company refered to, are the most likely promotions to ensure success of the enterprise.

THE COAL COMPETITION

That the exorbitant demands of the coal miners in Wales have brought into the market a possible formidable competitor is evidenced by the fact that the Chinese government has sold one hundred thousand tons of coal to France, as reported in the London Post.

The coal supply of the Celestial Empire is practically virgin, and it is stated to be almost inexhaustible. The present consumption of coal by the entire human race is computed to be about a billion tons a year, and at this rate it is estimated that China alone could supply the world for probably a thousand years.

The coal bearing areas of that country cover a territory of more than two hundred thousand square miles, which is considerably greater than 25 times the size of Wales. Furthermore, whereas in the little Welsh principality coal is obtained only in certain parts, it is found in every province of the Chinese Empire.

Hitherto, the annual output of Chinese coal mines has been only 20 million tons, as compared with about six hundred million tons in the U. S., three hundred and twenty-five million tons in Great Britain, and three hundred million tons in old Germany. The other coal-producing countries, though to a much less extent, were in order, old Austria-Hungary, old France, old Russia, Belgium, Japan. India has produced as much as China's output, and Canada, New South Wales, the Union of South Africa, and a few other countries have added more or less smaller amounts to the total production.

Canada's unmined coal is estimated to be greatly in excess of that of China, but her output has been even less than China's, being only 15 million tons. Very little of our neighbor's coal is anthracite, whereas China's supply of that grade is the largest in the world.

There are no figures at hand to show at what cost Chinese coal can be disposed of to France, but it may be supposed that the cheaper Celestial labor makes the purchase a desirable one.

A further competitor looms to the front from the Union of South Africa, where the shipping lines are urging the use of coal from the Transvaal mines in which there is a considerable supply available for use. Coal miners the world over have in this something worthy of consideration. The old law of supply and demand has not been abrogated.

The hundred thousand tons of coal sold by China to France is only a trifle; but it is a straw showing how the wind blows. There is a limit to the price that countries as well as people can, or will, pay, and this reaching out into a new and undeveloped market in the Far East may be the first step in an entirely novel arrangement of the world's coal supply.

SALVATION ARMY'S PRESENT NEED

The Salvation Army is, with justice, calling attention to its annual Self-Denial Appeal. Any period of unemployment and consequent distress such as the country has experienced during the past winter, puts an especial strain on the resources of the Army. It truthfully claims that it has never failed the public in time of trouble—whether it be epidemic, war conditions or industrial depression. The poor, many of whom are victims of conditions, seemingly uncontrollable, know that they can always look to the Salvation Army, and in this way it is a genuinely ameliorating factor in times of unrest. The Army does not share in the proceeds of any other drive or campaign conducted in behalf of charity and social betterment; and consequently looks to business men and others able to give, to contribute generously to its yearly self-denial work. The sum urgently needed to carry on its work is $150,000.

WHEN PA IS SICK

When Pa is sick, he's scared to death.
An' Ma an' us just holds our breath,
He crawls in bed an' puffs and grunts,
And does all kinds of crazy stunts.
He wants "Doc" Brown, an' mighty quick,
For when Pa's ill he's awful sick.
He gasps and groans an' sort o' sighs
He talks so queer, an' rolls his eyes.
Ma jumps an' runs, an' all of us,
An' all the house is in a fuss,
An' peace and joy is mighty skeerce—
When Pa is sick, it's something fierce.

WHEN MA IS SICK

When Ma is sick she pegs away;
She's quiet, though, not much t'say,
She goes right on a-doin' things,
An' sometimes laughs, or even sings.
She says she don't feel extra well,
But then it's just a kind o' spell.
She'll be all right tomorrow, sure,
A good old sleep will be her cure.
An' Pa he sniffs an' makes no kick,
For women folk is always sick.
An' Ma, she smiles, lets on she's glad.
When Ma is sick it ain't so bad.

On Thursday, March 24, the city council met and on this occasion every member was present. His Worship Mayor Henderson was again in the chair, he having just returned from an extended tour in the east.

The minutes of the two previous meetings were adopted without comment.

S. Herchmer and D. M. Mitchell again appeared in support of the application of the Police Magistrate for salary increase. This matter was previously brought up but held in abeyance until the return of the Mayor and therefore it was reopened at this meeting. Mayor Henderson assured the delegation that while this question had been fully considered last year when the reduction in salary was made, it nevertheless would be given earnest consideration at this meeting.

The resignation of the fire truck driver was received and accepted. For this position a number of applications were submitted .These were all referred to the fire, water and light committee, who will have full power to act in respect to the appointment.

An application for appointment on the power house staff was received from a resident in Alberta but at present there are no vacancies to be filled.

The request for contribution to the Canadian Institute for the Blind was filed.

Dr. Orner's appeal for repeal of the Amusement Tax Bylaw, after some discussion, was turned down.

J. C. Donald, of the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., accompanied by Mr. Sanborn, gave a very interesting explanation with regard to changing over the electric wiring throughout the city from two phase to three phase and similar alterations to motors installed in the city. The investigation carried on by the company disclosed that when the change over is made there will be available for future line extension a large quantity of wire and that the transformers now installed will be sufficient to meet all requirements for some time to come.

The requested increase of the Police Magistrate's salary was next considered and was discussed at some length. The application was to bring it up from $75 to $125 per month or to an amount which could be deemed a living wage and that it be made retroactive from May, 1920. The matter was concluded by the following motion being passed: "That this council does not feel it is justified in granting the increase asked for by Mr. Whimster." Three aldermen voted in favor of the motion, whereupon His Worship announced he intended voting for the motion. On the call for contrary two aldermen voted and one refrained, all of whom would have been recorded negative, the Mayor breaking the tie. During this discussion, on a question by Ald. Douglas to Ald. Bean as to why he had been a party to the original motion requesting the Attoreny-General to cut the magistrate's salary from $115 to $50 last year, Ald. Bean replied he had done so because he believed at that time that the Attorney General would not sanction such reduction.

The report of the City Auditor as follows was presented:

Fernie, B.C., March 23, 1921.

Gentlemen—I beg to report that I have examined the books and vouchers of the Corporation of the City of Fernie for the year ending Dec. 31, 1920. The balance sheets signed by me are, in my opinion, properly drawn up and are a correct state of the affairs of the Corporation as at December 31, 1920, as shown by the books of the Corporation.

The financial situation of the Corporation shows a decided improvement over 1919. At the close of 1919 the statement shows an overdraft at the Home Bank of Canada of $26,212.52 and unpresented checks to the amount of $3390.87, making a total of $29,603.39, and at the close of 1920 the Corporation has a credit balance of $14 716.33.

It will be noted that arrears of taxes and interest were reduced from $24,465.74 as at December 31, 1919, to $14,690.12 at December 31, 1920, and a decided improvement on previous years.

The Schools Department has kept well within their estimates, after providing for a deficit from 1919 of $3289.61, and has a surplus of $2781.87 to be applied for the relief of taxation in 1921. The above surplus is due to Poll Tax collections, amounting to $2735.00 and applied to schools.

All city general departments were within their estimates and showed a considerable saving in running expenses in each department over the preceding year.

The Revenue and Expenditure statement shows a surplus revenue over expenditure of $19,314.96, after providing for a reduction of $8,430.19 over expenditures on Debenture Construction Account.

The Electric Light and Power Departments both show a surplus of $4365.12 and $8560.77 respectively, after providing for fixed charges.

I would recommend that the electric light deposit be increased to small consumers from $3.00 to $5.00, and large consumers on the same proportion.

In conclusion I wish to thank those officials with whom the performance of my duties brought me in contact, for their assistance on all occasions.

Reported by G. F. Johnson, Auditor.

The Auditor's statement and report were formally adopted and a motion reappointing Mr. Johnson for the year 1921 as auditor received unanimous sanction.

The time-worn subject of the Garbage Disposal Bylaw again received attention and was discussed at some length. Ald. Currie, while favoring

BASEBALL CLUB REORGANIZED

The yearly baseball meeting called for Sunday last met with better response than in previous years, when some thirty enthusiasts turned out and organized the Fernie Baseball Club on a more substantial footing.

The meeting opened at 2.30, with Bishop Wilson in the chair and Rod McLeod as secretary. The following officers were elected to replace the ones acting pro tem throughout last year:

Hon. Pres.—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—H. R. Huntington and A. Klauer.
President—S. T. Wilson.
Vice-President—Dr. Asselstine.
Sec.-Trea.—J. R. McLeod.
Executive Committee—J. P. Graves, Wm. Johnston, J .Garbutt, B. Wilson, J. Dufour, J. Connell, B. Sibald, R. Kirkpatrick.

After the election of officers Mr. Jacobson, who was instrumental in having the meeting called, gave out some useful facts that Cranbrook was hard at work in effort to having a league formed and properly scheduled games played throughout the season, whereupon the secretary was instructed to get in touch with all teams east and west as to such a formation.

Cranbrook, Michel and Blairmore were communicated with and all are heartily in accord with forming a league, thus eliminating the haphazard way of games in the past. Cranbrook informs of a bright outlook for a four team organization, with Kimberley - Wycliffe, Wattsburg and Wardner. Fernie should, with another team besides the two eastern teams mentioned, form such an organization at this end, joining the forces under one body, and having a post season playoff. Some good boosting will put it across.

Before the meeting closed the fans expressed their desire for a city league. Rumor has it that some of the fraternities threaten to invade balldom this season; also the same about the Clerks, Coal Co., and M. F. & M., so it was decided to call a meeting for that purpose. All those desirous of a city league want to get busy and line up teams and be ready for a meeting to be held in the Fernie Cigar Store on Sunday, April 10. Keep the date open.

Through the efforts of manual labor by the fans and the loan of horses by the local liveries, quite an improvement was made on the diamond last year would produce a ball ground diamond only received attention. The outfield could do with a simil r dressing of clay and about three weeks of the same spirit displayed last year would produce a boll ground that would be hard to beat. How about it, Mr Fan?

After the prosand cons as to the nucleus of the team and finances it was decided to leave that entirely in the hands of the executive. The first meeting of this body will be held in the Fernie Cigar Store on Sunday afternoon at 2.00 when matters of importance will be discussed.

BANQUET AND PRESENTATION

On Tuesday evening nearly one hundred citizens attended an informal banquet tendered R. M. Young, ex-secretary and purchasing agent of the Coal Co., just prior to his departure for Calgary, where he will at once assume his newly acquired duties as Commissioner for the Western Coal Coal Operators' Association. A mose delectable repast was provided and a pleasing program supplied by local talent. The function was under the auspices of the Board of Trade, and E. K. Stewart, the president, presided. Speeches were made by Mr. Stewart, Dr. Bonnell, A. I. Fisher, S. Herchmer, W. R. Wilson and the guest of the evening, Mr. Young. While all these addresses were very interesting and entertaining, the outstanding address was made by W. R. Wilson, President of the Coal Co., and under whom Mr. Young has been most intimately associated in a business and social way for over ten years. Mr. Wilson gave a brilliant word picture of how young men entering the industrial and commercial fields can, by steadfast and arduous attention to their duty and honest effort on behalf of their employer, ultimately receive the just and full reward for their earnest efforts and sacrifices. Mr. Wilson stated he had watched Mr. Young's progress since his work came directly under his supervision for a decade, and watched him closely, and during that period never on a single occasion had he found any incident which cast the faintest suggestion of dishonesty or shirking of duty. Mr. Young had always had the interest of his employer before him and used his energy always in that direction. Consequently he had earned the reward that when opportunity for advancement arrived he should be permitted to accept, and while the speaker personally regretted losing such a valuable lieutenant, he was on the other hand pleased to see him achieve success. If, however, at any time, said Mr. Wilson, Mr. Young finds that for reasons of his own he does not wish to remain in the position to which he now goes, and he desires to return here, so long as I live and so long as I amin charge of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Mr. Young may return and take up his duties with me.

S. Herchmer, on behalf of those present, made a pleasing address of presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Young. The tokens consisted of a handsome silver service and a golf bag for Mr. Young personally, so that when on the links at Calgary or elsewhere the sight of this memento would recall, if possible, pleasant memories of his debut in this branch of sport, of which he latterly had become passionately fond.

"ALWAYS AUDACIOUS," AN AMAZING PICTURE

When Ben Ames Williams' story, "Troujours de L'Audace" was published in the Saturday Evening Post recently, it instantly created a sensation. Perhaps millions of persons read the story and now that it has been adapted to the screen for Wallace Reid under the name of "Always Audacious," it doubtless will attract much attention. "Always Audacious" will be shown at the Orpheum theatre for two nights commencing Monday next.

In this remarkable photoplay Mr. Reid plays two roles—those of Perry Danton, a wealthy club man and dilettante, and Slim Attucks, a crook. Both men were born on the same day and both are alike as two peas. The crook conceives the idea of doing away with his double and assuming his place in society and in the business world. He causes Danton to be shanghaied and with the aid of confederates personates him successfully until Danton turns up determined to regain his own. How this is accomplished make a highly interesting story and the climax is one of the most amazing ever seen in a motion picture.

Of course, there is a pretty love story of which Margaret Loomis, the leading woman is the central figure. Mr. Reid doubles in many of the scenes as Danton and Attucks with surprising results.

HORNBY DRAWS $50 FINE

Judge Thompson this week heard the case of Rex vs. Edwin Hornby. This was a charge upon two counts under the criminal code of attempting to wound and inflict grevious bodily harm and unlawful wounding, thereby causing grievous bodily harm. The case arose from a brawl at the residence of accused's mother at Caithness on Jan. 25, when two Finlanders, members of a party of four had visited the place and following an afternoon of carousing the row started, and according to the defence in an effort to protect his mother and sister from assault and insult he had used a broad axe on the Finns, one, Ed. Lahti, being quite seriously injured. D. M. Mitchell conducted the case for the Crown and A. I. Fisher for the defendant. After hearing all the evidence, His Honor held that the ends of justice would be served by finding the accused guilty on the second count and inflicting a fine of $50.

LECTURE ON TAXATION

Mr. Beckett of the faculty of the University of British Columbia gave a lecture in the assembly hall of the Central School on Wednesday evening at which about fifty attended. S. Herchmer, chairman of the school board, presided and after a few brief opening remarks, wherein he informed those present that it was the intention of the Department of Education to have lectures by members of the faculty of the University made at various points throughout the province from time to time, he introduced the speaker.

Mr. Beckett announced his subject as "The Human Element in Taxation," together with a supplementary discourse on "The Incidents of Taxation," and he gratified his hearers in forcibly and graphically dealing with the question of taxation from ancient times to the present day. Today, as in other times, the feeling of the public in general is very much opposed to some of the modern forms of taxation; in nearly all forms it is appealed against and only rarely do we think of it as one of the bulwarks of society and seldom as an important asset. It is viewed as an outlay but never as a source af profit. The speaker captioned his lecture by dividing it into what might be termed historical periods and in each era he went into detail which made the subject most refreshing and not morbidly dry as many would believe. It was shown that the story of public financing is the story of the progress of civilization and also that where certain imperfect and unsound forms or methods of the collection of taxes also wrought disaster upon the empire wherein these had been instituted, but that where the principle was practicable and the system of collecting taxes just in so far as the state received the entire benefit, that progress and stability were always evident.

Regretably space will not permit even an abridged report of Mr. Beckett's lecture, but it is hoped that upon future occasions when educational treats of this nature are available that greater numbers of our citizens will attend.

WILL REVISE TAXATION

Victoria, March 28.—The provincial government intends to revise the whole taxation system of British Columbia and to bring down a bill effecting these changes at the next session of the legislature.

The government intends to continue its plan of allowing the municipalities of the province half of all liquor profits, but it agrees that this is not sufficient alone to cover the needs of the municipalities.

The government feels, moreover, that there should be an investigation into the present financial system as it affects the province and the municipalities and that this investigation should cover the present relationship between municipal councils and school boards.

The government will not collect taxes for the municipalities nor surrender any of its own revenue.

This was the information which representatives of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities elicited from Premier Oliver and Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, Saturday, at a round-table conference at the Parliament buildings, called to consider the present straitened circumstances of British Columbia municipalities.

"It is our intention to revise the whole taxation system ourselves and bring down a new act next year, Mr. Hart told the delegates at the conclusion of the conference. We are unable to bring it down at this session."

"The government is prepared to consider all representations," Premier Oliver stated in the course of a long discussion. We will meet you and consider whether something more permanent than it is possible to discuss here now can be worked out.

"There should be consideration of the whole financial arrangement taking in the province, the municipalities and the school system, the Premier declared. I think that is only reasonable.

"I would not care how we would propose to go about this," he added, but I am not particularly in love with royal commissions."

"I don't think that any system which places the duty of collecting taxes upon one body of men and the spending on the other can work out satisfactorily," Mr. Oliver stated in referring to the complaint that they had no control over school expenditures.

"It is the view of the government," said the Premier, "that it is fair to divide the liquor profits with the municipalities. In the mind of the government just so long as those profits continue the municipalities will get a share of them. I don't look on that as sufficient to meet the financial situation of the municipalities standing by itself, however. There is no reason why other reforms can not be effected."

After a long debate on the whole financial situation the delegates withdrew to consider among themselves whether they would agree to the Premier's proposal that an attempt to find a permanent solution of the present difficulties be postponed; and that in the meantime, to cover immediate needs, the municipalities levy a $5 tax every six months on all adult males irrespective of other taxes.

This is an alternative proposal to the suggestion of the municipalities that the government levy a $15 service tax on all workers and use the money to pay school and hospital expenses.

The Premier made it very clear when the conference began that he was not prepared to discuss a permanent solution of the municipal finance problem or to consider, at the moment, the proposal that the provincial government take over schools and hospitals. Asked whether he would examine this proposal, the premier replied that he could give no off-hand answer as the scheme had not been given consideration.

"We consider there will never be a permanent solution of the question until this is considered," Councillor Jack Loutet, president of the union, declared.

"We're not looking for a permanent solution this morning, but are seeing what we can do to meet an emergency situation," said Mr. Oliver. "We're considering, I think some way of augmenting municipal revenue for the present year. I am not here, either, to discuss turning over to the municipalities part of the government revenue. I have told you already we are not prepared to give up any of our revenue. I am prepared to say that the present method of distribution of taxation is not the best that could be devised.

"I am prepared to say that just so quickly as can be done, there should be consideration of the whole relationship between the government and the municipalities, but I am not ready to discuss that now. The government is prepared to give consideration to the whole financial relationship between the government and the municipalities with a view to arranging a more equitable adjustment, but this is too big a question to be taken up now. I take it the question is to find some legislative action at this session to relieve the situation. Your argument, I understand, is that the burden must be transferred from the property owner to other people."

After a long discussion the question drifted back to the Premier's proposal that the municipalities levy a $5 semi-annual tax on all males irrespective of other taxes.

THE FOX TROT AND SHIMMY ARE DOOMED

Paris, March 28.—Once more the dancing masters and mistresses are meeting in Paris in annual conference in an endeavor to lay down the law as to what the rest of the world shall and shall not dance. Once more they are talking about reviving the waltz and are planning waltzes with variations, which are to take the place of the fox-trot, one-step and the shimmy, and they are curiously confident of coming success, for the waltz has had a great revival both in England and France.

Plain and unvarnished, however, they feel the waltz must not be, else their profession might suffer, so from Amsterdam comes a new "Boston," Southern France has sent a representative to demonstrate what he calls the "Souvenir Waltz" and Mme. Lefort, one of the best known Paris teachers, has designed the "Nantasi Waltze," all her own.

The newest thing of all, however, is the "Czarda." It is said to be a Hungarian peasant dance, though it bears a resemblance to the shimmy. The movement is slower and more dignified. It used to be danced at Sunday fetes by the Hungarian peasants.

Then, with the dethronement of the monarchy and the advent of Bela Kun, it seems to have found its way into the salons of Budapest. Thence it has been brought by no less a person than Archduke Albert, son of Archduke Frederick of Austria.

One evening he danced it in a society drawing-room in Paris with a young and beautiful Hungarian girl and immediately it caught.

Now the dancing masters are being besieged by would-be pupils and they in turn have had to ask the youthful archduke himself to show them the steps.

At the conference now meeting, they will give it their benediction, and the "Czarda" shows every promise of being the dance of the next season.

The Doukhobors increased their holdings around Grand Forks a few days ago when they bought the Topp ranch of 203 acres from Easter B. Perkins for $8500.

MRS. J. M. CRAIG, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says no one can feel more grateful for what Tanlac has done than she does. Has gained twelve pounds and health is better than in years.

"Of all the people who have taken Tanlac I don't believe there is anyone who feels any more grateful to it than I do," said Mrs. J. M. Craig, of 674½ E. 40th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I suffered from nervous prostration and was so weak that I could not even sweep the floor and during the day I would have to lie down four or five times. I tried to walk, but found out that half a block was all I could stand before I would give out. Nervous spells came on me often. Finally my husband urged me to try Tanlac and I am indeed glad he did, for it proved to be just what I needed.

"The first two bottles did not seem to help me. I guess it was because I was so bad off, but on the third bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hope than ever of getting well. My improvement from then on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles I was better and stronger than I had been in years.

"It enabled me to sleep soundly at night and I have gained twelve pounds. That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life. I have told all of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine Tanlac is."

MADE IN B.C. CAMPAIGN

The Hidden Creek mine, operated by the Granby Company at Anyox, and the only copper producing plant operated at the present time, is recording an output of over 2,000,000 pounds per month.

Surf Inlet and Rossland are the only active gold mines at the present time, the latter operated by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co.

The "S.S. West Hartland" loaded 3,000,000 feet of creosoted ties for Bombay, India, last week.

The Manager of the Made-in-B.C. Campaign is asking that a list of the different products of the various districts and communities in the province be sent to his office in order that information may be available for those who wish to know where they can obtain commodities produced in British Columbia.

Major-General Sir Jocelyn S. Percy, K.C.B., late of the general staff of the Second British Army, is in British Columbia looking for a farm. "Picking a farm needs a great deal of care," he said while in Vancouver, "and I am still looking around."

Following the example of a number of eastern cities, Vancouver is to have a Building Trades and House Furnishing Exhibition, it was decided at a meeting of the representatives of all the trades. A committee to arrange the show was recently appointed.

Victoria is organizing the Made-in-B.C. Campaign on Vancouver Island.

The Provincial government is being urged to give preference in all its departments to the products of British Columbia.

An iron and steel plant is to be established on Kaien Island, according to A. C. Garde, M.E., who has taken an option on the Copper or Zymoet River coal deposits in Northern British Columbia.

The Pioneer Mine at Cadwallader Creek, Lillooet Mining Division, which is to be re-opened by A. H. Wallbridge, has produced gold to the value of $135,011.

The Drum Lummon Mines will be in operation again soon, according to Glenville A. Collins, M.E., who says there is a large volume of copper and gold on the property.

Miss B. C. McKelvie, the six weeks old mascot of the Made-in-B.C. Campaign, was presented with a silver cup several days ago by the Executive of the Campaign committee.

The value of minerals produced in B.C. during the past year totalled $20,580,312, which is an increase of $2,384,312, or seven per cent, over the 1919 total, according to figures made public recently by the Department of Mines. Big increases were registered in silver, copper and zinc.

A pulp and paper mill with a daily capacity of 200 tons and costing between seven and eight million dollars, is to be established at Prince George, according to plans now being completed with government officials at Victoria by Robert Tynhurst, a member of an eastern timber and pulp syndicate. The location of the plant is especially suitable owing to its proximity to the big pulpwood deposits in the interior of British Columbia.

Two-fifths of the total catch of fish in Canada was taken in the province of British Columbia waters during 1919, and the industry gave employment to nearly 21 000 people, according to statistics compiled by a prominent fishery operator. The year 1920 was equally strong in financial returns though the actual catch was somewhat lower.

Eleven vessels, ranging in size from gas boats to big stern wheelers over 200 feet in length, with a total value of well over $200,000, will be built in Vancouver for the Hudson Bay Co. for operation on the Mackenzie river during the coming spring and summer months, according to an official of the company undertaking arrangements.

More than 250,000 tourists from the United States passed through B. C. from Washington during the year 1920, according to U.S. Consul General F. M. Ryder.

MYSTERY OF "BIG BERTHA"

Paris, March 28.—The mystery of "Big Bertha," the German super-cannon which shelled Paris at long range during the summer of 1918, has been solved by Allied investigations. Newspapers were complaining recently that a great deal of money and time had been fruitlessly spent in search for the "Big Bertha," and were insisting that Germany be called upon to deliver it immediately or give adequate reason for its disappearance. Indeed, the French press has kept the subject alive ever since the armistice and has repeatedly asked what has become of the monster guns and why they were never handed over to the Allies.

The answer is incredibly simple. To speak with absolute exactitude, there never was such a thing as a super-cannon at all—as an individual new creation the "Big Bertha" never existed. Paris was shelled by ordinary naval guns whose range had been doubled by the use of certain devices. Scores of these guns were handed over to the Allies; scores of others were broken up.

The Allied investigators are in possession of designs showing exactly haw the apparent miracle was accomplished. The long barrel of the naval gun of 12 or 14 inch calibre was made doubly strong by the introduction of a sheath which reduced the calibre to about nine inches. The breech was similarly reinforced by a massive steel jacket. This enabled the double charge to be used, which combined with modifications in the shape of the shell—longer and more pointed, with grooves to increase the effect of the rifling—produced the desired result.

A high Allied authority on ballastics told me that there was really nothing new in all this—any ordnance expert could have done the same, but had never attempted it because, hitherto experts had always been seeking accuracy as well as distance. The reinforced German guns were not accurate at all, but to hit the great city of Paris they did not have to be! "In point of face," he added, "they actually missed Paris itself on eight or ten different occasions."

He said the Germans had informed him that there were never more than four guns in action at the same time, and that a large number were not constructed because reports from Paris described the population as little impressed after the excitement of the first days."

EXTRAVAGANT GIRLS KEEPING MEN SINGLE

Montreal, March 28.—"Our young women are spending as much today on personal dress and decorations as their grandmothers spent on the household, and their demands are becoming so great that young men are unable to contemplate marriage. The rate of living is high, not by reason of prices, but because the standard of living has gone up so that there is nothing left for the works of charity and helping the poor or for the spread of Christ's kingdom," said Bishop Farthing in his Easter message Sunday morning in Christ Church Cathedral.

"The world is facing what I feel is one of the gravest crisis, one far more perplexing than that we faced six years ago. Unless the world accepts and puts into action the principles of Christ, there will be great changes. The people of Christ will today heed His call and give themselves to doing His will and fulfilling His purpose, then the world will be saved by the gradual changing of men's minds and a brighter day will be ushered in by evolution and not by revolution."

INFORMATION RE INCOME TAX

Under the Dominion Income Tax all unmarried persons whose gross incomes exceed $1000 and all married persons whose gross incomes exceed $2000 are required to file returns.

In the case of partnerships each individual partner should file a return showing his share of the partnership together with any other income he may be personally in receipt of. Partnerships are not assessed as such—it is the individual partner who pays the tax.

Incorporated companies whose gross incomes exceed $2000 are required to file returns.

The following returns are required to be filed on or before the 31st of March, and a penalty for failure to file them by that date is $10 a day, that is:

Form T4—Return of employers showing salaries, wages, commissions, fees, bonuses and all other remuneration of directors, officials, agents, etc., who receive $500 during the year or who are paid at a rate equal to $1000 per annum.

T5—Return of dividends paid out by corporations during the calendar year.

T5D—Return of interest, dividends, and rents received by financial and real estate agents, brokers and other persons on behalf of clients.

In addition to the above forms which are required for supplying information to the Department, individual returns must be filed by taxpayers upon which the tax is based.

Form T1—This form to be completed by all individuals other than farmers and ranchers, that is persons receiving salary, wages, persons in business whether individually or in partnership, and retired persons.

Employees should obtain the exact amount of salary or wages earned during the calendar year 1920 from their employers in order that the income reported by them may agree with the amount reported to the Tax Department (on Form T4) by their employers.

Form T1A—Return of farmers and ranchers only. Farmers and ranchers who dispose of their produce through Associations, etc., should obtain particulars of the amount reported by the Association to the Tax Department (Form T4C) as having been purchased during the calendar year 1920.

Note—Returns must be filed for the calendar year in all cases not the period over which the crop was sold.

Form T2—Return of corporations and joint stock companies.

These returns are to be filed on or before the 30th of April, and every person who fails to make a return within the time prescribed shall be subject to a penalty of 25 per cent of the tax.

Under the 1920 Amendment to the Act penalties are imposed for underestimating correct income. The Act reads: "If the income omitted exceeds 10 per cent of the correct income but is under 20 per cent, such person shall pay an additional amount equal to one-half of the deficiency. If the deficiency amounts to 20 per cent or more of the correct income such person shall pay an additional amount equal to the amount of the deficiency." This Amendment will be strictly enforced and persons not reporting all their income will be liable to penalties as stated. These penalties will be added to the assessment and collected in the same manner as the tax is collected.

Payment of Taxes:

It should also be noted that under the 1920 amendment to the Act at least 25 per cent of the tax payable must be remitted with the return—the balance being payable in three further equal instalments, due 30th June, 31st August and 31st October, together with interest at 6 per cent upon each instalment. If a taxpayer pays an instalment of less than 25 per cent of the tax or fails to make any payment at the time of filing returns or at the time the instalment is due, he shall pay in addition to all the other penalties a penalty of $5 or one-quarter of the tax unpaid, whichever is the greater. It is suggested, therefore ,that taxpayers should pay one-half of their tax to allow margin for any error in statement or calculation.

The Department is issuing a booklet which will be available for distribution together with the new forms about the first week in April. These forms should be obtained from the Tax office or from any Post office.

RATE PROBABLY FORTY MILLS

the principle of regulations along these lines is emphatically opposed to the present system. The health committee have been rejusted to go into this question and endeavor to find a solution which will be reasonably acceptable to everyone,, although it is quite readily understood that no matter how workable a plan is put into execution there will still be some who will complain for the reason that apparenty they are more mercenary than sanitary.

An interesting comparison with regard to the collection of taxes last year over the preceding years was disclosed when the compilation showed that 87 per cent of the total assessed taxes were received in 1920 while the highest percentage for any former year since incorporation was 65 per cent.

Two bylaws were considered. The Second Hand and Junk Bylaw was finally passed and adopted, while a Tax Sale Property Sale Bylaw was given three readings.

The estimates for the year 1921 next came up and received attention until adjournment. For fixed charges and schools $53,734.53 is required, and for general expenses of the various civic departments $39,252.38, making a total to raise of $92,926.21. Based on a rate of 40 mills, according to present assessment $95,569.00 will be obtained, thereby leaving an estimated surplus of $2572.00. However in the estimated expenditures a levy of one mill is made with a view of providing a fund for building schools, for which there is before the legislature at the present session a Bill giving municipalities authority to adopt this procedure. Should the Bill not become law and the council decide to allow the mill rate to remain at 40, which is over four mils lower than last year, a further surplus would be provided, estimated at $4532.93.

The estimates on the whole were approved but as there are to be some slight alterations made in certain departments with regard to proposed expenditures and also with regard to estimated revenues, details of these will not be available until after the next meeting.

CALGARY HERALD GIVES BANQUET TO BOYS

Did you ever go to a boys' banquet? Not a cake and sandwich feed but a real honest-to-goodness soup to nuts dinner at night, and sit down with 200 healthy, happy boys with appetites like wolves and digestion like ostriches?

It is not often that an opportunity like this comes to grown-ups, but every year the Herald has its newsboys' banquet at which not only the Calgary newsboys are present but all other newsboys who represent the Herald at its out-of-town points. On March 18, in the Palliser Hotel ballroom, the last and most successful banquet of Herald newsboys was held. J. H. Woods, managing director of the Herald Publishing Co., and president of the Alberta and Eastern B.C. Division, Canadian Press Association, gave the boys a heart to heart talk just like one boy to another. He was cheered to the echo.

The balance of the evening was devoted to amusements and there was plenty of good music supplied by a Calgary orchestra.

The entire expense of the banquet together with the travelling and hotel expenses of all the out-of-town boys is taken care of by the Herald Publishing Co., Ltd.

Among the carriers who attended from out-of-town points are the following: R. Tolton, Taber; Hillyard York, Trochu; Chas. Marin, Howard Marin, Brooks; Cecil Frohberger, Strathmore; Harland Bailey, Jake Bulmer, Stewart Murdoch, Bassano; Allen Leach, Merlin Leach, Drumheller; Marlin, Fairfield, Barons; Lyle Renard, Okotoks; Waldron Mitchell, Nanton; Danagh Smythe, Revelstoke; Ted Pixley, Penhold; Bert Roberts, Castor; Lawrence Mortimer, Drumheller; Billie Mills, Nick Smith, Fernie; Cecil Milley Coleman; Frank Zboya, Canmore; Lawrence Cenenson, Claresholm; Vernon Price, MacLeod; W. Several persons have lately incurhed unnecessary expense in visiting the American consulate at Fernie to take oath to documents required in courts of the United States. Consul Norton F. Brand advises that as a rule it is unnecessary to visit the consulate personally for this purpose. While a few states will require that a document to be admitted in evidence or entered on records must be sworn to before an officer of the American consular service, with most states it is sufficient that the document be executed before a notary and then forwarded to the consul for authentication of the notary's signature. Persons receiving documents to be sent to the United States will do well to write the consul before taking action.

MINERAL SPRINGS OF KOOTENAY

(Consul Norton F. Brand, Fernie,)

Mineral springs, especially thermal springs, constitute one of Kootenay's great potential assets. Up to date a score or more of valuable springs have been located. Nearly the whole of Kootenay's 25,000 square miles of area is highly mineralized and the region doubtless possesses hundreds of such springs, but the district is as yet sparsely populated, much of its area is an yet uncharted, and it will be decades before the last of these springs is brought to light.

In view of the general lack of information along this line the Fernie Consulate will appreciate such data relative to newly discovered springs as residents of the district may be able to furnish. The enthusiastic assistance of the following persons in the compilation of this report is gratefully acknowledged: E. F. Gigot, Secretary of the Nelson Board of Trade; E. J. Scovil, Golden, B.C.; W. M. Harris, secretary of the Cranbrook Board of Trade; J. W. Crawford, Fairmont Springs, B.C.; and Prof. R. W. Brock, Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science, University of British Columbia.

The mineral springs so far analyzed have usually a low salt content, generally soda, with a little lime carbonate, and with carbonic acid gas and some sulphuretted hydrogen. The soda springs give rise to "deer licks," to which the game comes for salt; a circumstance which assisted in their early discovery.

The principal regions of thermal activity seem to be about the headwaters of the Columbia and along the eastern shore of Upper Arrow Lake (there being several improtant springs in each of these localities), while mineral springs are also common in the Fort Steele district of southeastern Kootenay.

Sinclair Hot Springs — These springs locally known as "Radium Hot Springs," though the Fairmont Springs are also said to possess radium, are situated near the banks of the Columbia about ten miles below Lake Windermere, on the Banff-Windermere highway and about three miles from Firlands on the Kootenay Central railway. Post Office: Radium Hot Springs. The district within which they are located constitutes a part of the Kootenay National Park recently established by the Dominion government.

There are three springs with a combined flow of about 1½ cubic feet per second. The temperature averages from 108 to 115 degrees fahrenheit. A hotel and bath have been constructed and the springs are widely visited during the summer season. They are said to possess great curative properties, especially for cases of rheumatism and urinary, liver and stomach troubles. An average sample of their waters showing the following contents in grains per gallon:—Calcium sulphate 34.26, magnesium 10.90, sodium chloride 2.70, silica 2.59, strontium sulphate 3.36, colcium carbonate 6.55. Total 60.36.

Fairmont Hot Springs — These springs are located about two miles from the lower end of Columbia lake and about a mile from the station of Radium; post office Fairmont Springs. These springs like the Sinclair springs are claimed to be strong in radium; in fact both springs are said to be quite as valuable from the medicinal point of view as the English waters at Bath.

The volume of water at Fairmont is given at about one cubic foot per second, while the main spring has a temperature of about 115 degrees fahrenheit.

Halcyon Hot Springs — These springs are situated near Halcyon, B.C., on the east shore of Upper Arrow Lake. They are reached from Nelson by taking the train to West Robson, 27 miles distant, and thence proceeding by steamboat to Halcyon 120 miles. To reach them from Revelstoke, on the main line to Arrow head, 42 miles, and thence a steamboat service to Halcyon, 27 miles.

The temperature of the waters at the springs, which are 1500 feet up the mountain side, is 120 degrees fahrenheit, and at the pools, which are under the same roof as the hotel there, 102 F. The volume of water is estimated at 2500 gallons per hour. The water is bottled and sold commercially. There is a good hotel at Halcyon, close by the lake, and at an altitude of 1450 feet above sea level. The water is piped d rect to the hotel where modern facilities for bathing, comfortable rest rooms and pleasant surroundings are provided. The government analysis of the waters is as follows: chlorine 8.14, sulphuric acid 363.43, silica 73.29 l me 84.57 soda 5.71, magnesia 2 32, lithia .56 sulphuretted hydrogen 32.

St. Leon Hot Springs — These springs are about 3 miles south of Halcyon, and are situated on the mountain side about 2½ to 3 miles from the lake. Post office, St. Leon Hot Springs. There was formerly a hotel near the lake, but lately, presumably for want of capital, it has not been operated. The temperature of the water is about 90 degrees fahrenheit.

Nakusp Hot Springs — These are situated about 8 miles northwest from Nakusp, which is located on Upper Arrow Lake. Nakusp is a railway town and also has steamboat connection with all points on the Arrow Lakes. A wagon road, 4 miles of which are completed, is being constructed from Nakusp to the springs, and the town has already spent considerable sums in their development.

The volume of water is estimated at 20,000 gallons per day, and the temperature of the waters at the source is 131 degrees fahrenheit. They contain sulphur, iron, magnesia, lithia, a small amount of sodium, and traces of arsenic.

Ainsworth Hot Springs — These are the only springs of note in central Kootenay. They are located on the mountain side a short distance from the town of Ainsworth, a port on the west shore of Kootenay Lake with daily steamboat connections with Nelson and Kootenay Landing (where connection is made with the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern railways). The water is piped to a small hotel in Ainsworth where a bath and plunge are provided. With better facilities these springs are sure to take a leading place as a health resort.

The temperature of the water at the springs is given at 118 degrees Fahrenheit; Dr. Brock, in fact, considered them the hottest springs which he has run across, stating that the water is practically boiling as it issues from the rock. The lime carbonate content forms terraces and calcareous tufa at Ainsworth. An analysis shows the following ingredients: Calcium carbonate 32.25 parts per 100,000; calcium sulphate 0.68, magnesium carbonate 0.35, magnesium sulphate 0.74, sodium carbonate 57.60, sodium sulphate 0.31, sodium chloride 6.08, potassium chloride 5.42, lithium chloride 0.28, silica 11.70, iron and aluminum 2.44. Total 120.35 parts per 100,000.

Skookumchuck Hot Springs—Situated at the forks of the Skookumchuk river. These springs can be reached by pack trail from the Skookumchuk station on the Kootenay Central railway, 12 miles, or by pack trail from the Sullivan mine, Kimberley, 18 miles. Both trails are in good condition. The water is very warm and contains sulphur and soda. The spring has been found very beneficial for rheumatism and kindred complaints. There is a cabin at the springs but no other improvements.

Sheep Creek Hot Springs—Situated on Sheep Creek, an eastern tributary of the Kootenay. Can be reached by pack trail from the main auto roadroad to Windermere, B.C., a distance by rail 18 miles. The trail is in very fair condition. The water is very warm—as hot as a person can bear—and contains sulphur. There are no improvements at the springs.

Sulphur Creek Springs — These springs are situated on Sulphur Creek, a tributary of Bull River. The water is cold, but has a very strong sulphur content, being about as thick as cream. The springs can be reached by trail from the C.P.R. logging camp No. 6 at Bull River, distance 6 miles, or by trail from Fernie through the Hartley Creek Pass, distance about 18 miles.

St. Mary's Hot Springs—Situated on the west fork of St. Mary's River, about 46 miles from Marysville. These springs have been but recently discovered and there is no trail within 10 miles of them. It is a large spring with very hot water, so hot as to warm a large creek into which it flows. These springs are surrounded by most beautiful alpine scenery. There are two glaciers within a short distance of the springs, and good hunting and fishing is abundant.

Hosmer Springs—A cold sulphur spring 6 miles north of Fernie and 2 miles from Hosmer station. It is one-half mile from the auto road and Great Northern railway. Abundant flow of water heavily charged with sulphur.

Olson Sulphur Spring—A cold sulphur spring somewhat smaller than the above. One mile from the mouth of Ladner Creek and 1½ miles from Olson station on the G.N. railway.

AN IMPORTANT WEEK

A call has gone forth to all leaders of children's work in the International Sunday School movement to make plans for the effective observance in their respective fields of the International Children's Week, which will begin Sunday, April 24, and close Sunday, May 1. The importance of this movement is suggested by the fact that at least thirteen million American children under twelve years of age are receiving no religious education whatever. Society is menaced by such a condition, for the child that has no religious education all too often grows into the man or woman without religion, and the man or woman without religion is usually one who will trample, either thoughtlessly or with cunning, upon the rights of others. And it is that trampling, through a colossal selfishness, that is at the base of the world's troubles today. An observance of the Golden Rule for forty-eight hours by every one who has heard, it would make a lot of people afraid that the millennium had dawned, for happiness would spread over the earth as the light from an unclouded sun. Labor troubles would cease—for there can be no labor trouble without selfishness on one side or the other; profiteering would wither in all the marts of trade where now it flourishes so — for selfishness is the roots of profiteering; rumors of war, which cause preparations for war would fade into the eternal silences—for war is only selfishness disguised as a noble agency of national necessity; sin itself would disappear, during those two days—for sin, against man or against God, is the very essence of selfishness itself. — W. F. Bigelow.

TOMMY IS GETTING BUSY

Victoria, March 30.—Once more a beer control clause will come before the legislature when tomorrow the liquor control bill comes up for its third reading. Thos. Uphill, Fernie, has given the notice of a series of amendments he proposes to present. He will ask that the bill be re-committed to permit of the insertion of a clause providing that no person shall sell beer by retail unless he is a holder of a license therefor, issued in respect of sales within the boundaries of a municipality by the municipality, and, in respect of sales elsewhere, by the board of control, and that every society, association or club which distributes or divides beer among its members shall be deemed to be a person selling beer within the scope of the section.

Mr. Uphill's amendment would grant power to the board of control to cancel or suspend licenses with or without a hearing and upon the conviction of a holder of a license to sell beer for any infraction of the act the license shall, ipso facto, be cancelled.

For the purpose of the act, it is proposed that beer shall be any beverage containing alcohol to the extent not exceeding 2½ per cent, whether made from malt or hops, or without the use of malt or hops. This percentage would amount to about 7 per cent proof spirits.

Under the Uphill amendments treating is to be prevented, and no intoxicating liquor shall be kept on the premises licensed to sell beer.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of my dear Father and Brother, James and Frank Smith, who were kiled in the Coal Creek explosion, April 5, 1917.

We who love you sadly miss you,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hearts are thinking
How we wish that you were here.
'Tis lonely here without you both,
And sad the weary way,
Noris the world the same to us
Without your smiles today.

Farewell.

—From his loving Daughter and son-in-law, Ada and Tom Thornton.

WANTS BETTER RESCUE SERVICE

Appointment and maintenance of an efficient staff of first aid and mine rescue men at all mining centres throughout the province was urged by Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie, in his contribution to the budget debate in the legislature last night.

"To accomplish this we must bear in mind that efficiency in mine rescue work and the use of apparatus is only possible where some fair recompense is given to those who undertake the work of rescue," Mr. Uphill told the House. "This recompense must not only be for the labor and time involved but must include provision for safeguarding those who may be left behind in the event that fatalities occur and must cover the risk of and loss of working time as a result of such possible accident while so engaged.

"Every person while on mine rescue work, either training or actual work should be insured by the government for $5000," he said. "In the event of a person being injured while on such work, he should be paid his ordinary rate of wages for the time actually lost by such accident and should death occur his dependents should receive the amount that such persons are insured for, in addition to the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act. All persons engaged in saving life or property as a result of a mine disaster, explosion or fire should receive from the province at least $10 a day and expenses. Persons taking a course of instruction in mine rescue work should receive $1 per hour from the province while taking the course, this amount to be paid when the course is completed."

"With all respect to the women who had lost her husband overseas we feel that widows of industrial workers should be paid on the basis of the Canada Pension Act," he went on. "We should have a real Mothers' Pension Act and not a skeleton. A mother at the age of 50 should be as much entitled to a pension, even if she has no children under 16, as a young mother of say 23."

Mr. Uphill pointed out that living costs had dropped only about 12 cents a day while cuts of $1 to $1.50 had been made in wages. "That is wrong," he said, "and if we want a good province we should encourage a standard of wages that will enable a person to bring his family up under some kind of living conditions. The government should be a model employer but when it reduces wages it gives private corporations an excuse for doing likewise. I don't feel proud to belong to a government that will offer to pay a man 27½c an hour with board at $1.25 a day.

"They are paying for government road work $3.50 a day. No one can say that is a living wage. If we want to introduce conditions like that we should not send out advertising to the Old Country telling of our wonderful resources and opportunities. To be fair to ourselves, to God and man we should send out to the Old Country and say we don't want white citizens here and should send to China and get a couple million Chinks who are better adapted to these kinds of conditions."

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of James and Frank Smith, beloved husband and son of Ann Smith, who was killed at Coal Creek, April 5, 1917.

In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same;
We often sit and think of you
And wish you here again.
We think of you in silence,
No eye can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed,
When others are asleep.
Gone but not forgotten.

GOT THEM THINKING

There has been a lot of controversy at Michel in Bolsheviki circles ever since the lecture of David Goldstein on March 30. As an ex-Socialist he seemed to be able to get closer to his audinece, which was largely composed of Reds, than any ordinary speaker could have done, and his arguments have given the Red element at Michel something to think about.

SAD FATAL ACCIDENT

Meagre details of a very sad fatal accident which occurred at Waldo on Monday have just reached the city. According to the report the child was the 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKee, and in some manner as yet unexplained she got into the icy waters of the Kootenay river. She was promptly rescued by Mr. Lund, who, when the alarm was given, put out in a boat and recovered the little tot. First aid was rendered by many willing hands who reached the scene in response to the call for help, and medical aid also summoned Dr. and Mrs. Saunders arrived and strenuous efforts were resorted to in an endeavor to revive the child, but after two or three hours of work resuscitation proved fruitless and the task was given up as hopeless. It is further stated in the unverified report that the cause of death was not drowning but probably due to shock. The local authorities received no official notification of the incident, but since the unauthenticated report has reached here they are now investigating the matter.

THE LATEST DISPATCHES

London, April 8.—Leaders of the National Federation of Transport Workers and of the National Union of Railway men, which organizations have voted to support the miners in the great coal strike, decided this morning upon a strike by the two unions. This brings the entire power of the Triple Alliance of Labor into the greatest industrial controversy in England for many years.

London, April 8.—British mine owners this morning conditionally accepted Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation to confer with leaders of the miners relating to pumpmen and engineers of the mines, pending negotiations for a settlement of the coal strike.

Constantinople, April 8.—The Bolsheviki have occupied Evirann. Odessa and the district for 70 miles around that city however, have been freed of Bolsheviki. This section is without a government, so called peaceful anarchy prevailing. Odessa is said to be the city to which the French purpose sending Gen. Wrangel's army, but to this Wrangel objects. It is even reported that the General may use force to prevent the embarking of his troops.

Winnipeg, April 8. — Telegraph and telephone services leading into Winnipeg were today badly crippled yesterday as the result of the ice storm on Wednesday.

New York, April 8.—Georges Carpentier's $250,000 forfeit money guaranteeing his appearance in the ring with Jack Dempsey on July 2, has been deposited in a local trust company, it was announced by Tex Rickard.

The following clubs will make up the Crow's Nest Pass League: Bellevue, Hillcrest, Corbin, Blairmore, Coleman, Michel, Coal Creek, Fernie. It looks like the biggest season yet. All the clubs are ready for the opening of the season on May 1. If the sporting public support the Fernie Club as they did last season we are sure of success.

Fernie has several new players, so the competition for positions will be keen.

The players are out chasing the pigskin and all are fast getting into shape.

The grounds need a little rolling, so it is up to all players to give what little help they can. J. McNicholas is busy looking up a roller and will have lots of work for the boys.

The committee and payers wish to thank A. Klauer for the able manner in which he looked after the club's finances.

A good reliable executive committee will give all players a fair show If you have a kick send it in to the Secretary and it will be considered.

The Fernie Club will sell season tickets this year and try and avoid begging, so buy one and prevent being hit up for a tag.

LOOKS LIKE WHISKEY STILL

Acting under the authority of a Writ of Assistance issued under the provisions of the Inland Revenue Act, Detective Geo. C. Evans and Detective-Sergt. Pass of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, last week searched the dwelling of John Gydosik in the Fernie Annex Extension, and in the attic discovered what is alleged to be a still, together with other improvised paraphernalia, accessories and ingredients for the manufacture of spiritous liquor. No liquor was actually found but a 20-gallon keg containing "mash" in the process of fermentation was included in the articles seized. Gydosik was placed under arrest and lodged in the city gaol. The preliminary hearing was held before Stipendiary Magistrate R. J. Stinson last Saturday, who, on the evidence submitted by the two detectives and the young daughter of the accused, Sophia Gydosik, held it was sufficient to commit the accused for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. He will come up for election before Judge Thompson on April 13.

BOARD TRADE MEETING

The regular meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade was held last evening with about twenty members present.

It was decided to unite with the Cranbrook Board of Trade in a determined effort to have the Railway Commission compel the C. P. R. to replace the local trains which were taken off on April 1.

The question of a site for visiting campers was discussed at great length and a committee was appointed to visit the different likely places in the neighborhood and pick out one which could be provided with certain conveniences which would be attractive to campers.

Several accounts were passed and the meeting adjourned.

ANNETTE KELLERMAN AT THE ORPHEUM

Annette Kellerman, the modern Venus, who comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday in her first comedy drama, "What Women Love" is supported by a notable cast of favorite players

Playing opposite the star will be seen Wheeler Oakman, best remembered for his work in "The Spoilers," "The Ne'er Do Well," "Mickey," and more recently with Priscilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stambouli."

Oakman plays an unusual role creditably; the role of a man who turns quickly from a mollycoddle to a brute-breaker and proves that the brawniest are not always the bravest.

Walter Long, Carl Ullman, the celebrated Bull Montana and Ralph Lewis are among the best known of the able cast.

The story was written by Bernard McConville, author of many of the successes of Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Lillian Gish and other stars.

COAL CREEK DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENT COMEDY

A delightful comedy, sparkling with wit and humor, wes presented last night in the Club Hall at Coal Creek by the Goal Creek Dramatic Club. It held the audience, or rather the audience had to hold their sides with laughter from the raising of the curtain in the first act until the final drop.

The story centered around Niobe, an ancient Greek mythology, wife, wife of Amphion, once King of Thebes. Niobe angered the gods with her continuous weeping and was for this reason turned into a marble statue, 3000 years ago. This statue was taken from the ruins of Thebes and the play begins as the statue had passed into the hands of a Mr. Thompkins, who had it insured by a Mr. Dunn's company. Mr. Dunn for safe keeping takes the statue for safe keeping to his own house, where during the installation of electric light the wires become entangled with the statue, thus bringing it to life. At this point Mr. Dunn's troubles begin. Mr. Dunn has an adoring little wife but the house is run by her sister, who makes no mistake about the run part of it. For the presence of a beautiful woman in the household, who had to have a place, no matter what else was impersonated, made Dunn a splendid liar. First, the governess who arrived the next day; then his sister whom his family had never seen. The difference of 3000 years made no difference to Niobe, but Dunn had this responsibility. It had its screamingly funny parts as the fashions of that period and this differ somewhat. Thompkins returns to find in place of a statue he possesses a beautiful woman. He is prepared to make her his wife irrespective of loss. When the curtain drops all complications are clear.

Miss A. M. Manzer as Niobe, both as a statue and in the flesh, was very much at home.

Mrs. J. Haile as Miss Mifton, was in the way, but it was necessary.

Mr. J. Graham as Mary in Service was of good service to the family and play.

Miss V. Coughlin as Beatrice Sillocks, played well.

Miss B. Coughlin, as Hattie Griffin, was chic and well adapted to the part.

Mrs. J. Caufield, as Helen Griffin, run her sister's house and Dunn perfectly. Real good.

Miss E. C. Jakes, as Caroline Dunn, was just curious and jealous, but who blamed her.

Mr. M. Horn, as Parker Sillocks, fitted in very well.

Mr. N. Cockburn, as Philip Innings, played admirably.

Mr. W. Cockburn, as Clancy Griffin played a strong part which never worried him.

Mr. T. Prescott, as P. A. Dunn, made the best liar and tailor, where there was no money in it, that Ihave ever seen.

OLD FLAG IS KEPT FLYING

London, April 4.—Labor extremists have found once again that the Union Jack is a dangerous political weapon. Saturday saw a municipal contest in London in the working-class district of Edmonton, in which the main issue was whether the British flag should float over the Town Hall.

The Labor party, having a majority in the district council, declined to fly the Union Jack. Heated council scenes culminated, however, in fixing the Union Jack to the Town Hall mast by an ex-service steeplejack, who broke his leg in the process. gade to remove the flag. Nothing

The council ordered the fire bri-doing!

Each night figures appeared on the roof trying to get the flag down, but failed; hence the flag remained flying through the election contest on Saturday, to fill nine vacancies, which ended in an overwhelming Labor defeat.

Red, white and blue rosettes and hundreds of printed Union Jacks covered the boardings. A blind woman, aged 80, walking with difficulty, insisted on being led to the polling station to vote for "the old flag." An old man of 88, an invalid, left his house painfully for the first time in 25 weeks, to vote for the Union Jack. Women voted in large numbers, many putting down their scrubbing brushes and floor cloths, in order to be whisked off in waiting vehicles. Election literature included pamphlets headed "Bargain Catalogue of Great Sale," dealing with "really choice bargains," thus: "Decorations department have on hand a number of second-hand Union Jacks, formerly flown on Empire Day and other patriotic occasions. It is necessary to dispose of them as certain Labor councillors have lately taken to wiping their boots on them."

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Vancouver, March 28, 1921.

Mrs. A. B. Tries, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Mrs. Trites—During the first week in April I hope to visit some of the larger towns in the southern part of the province, with the object of explaining the Society's Peace-time Programme and forming new branches to carry on the work and enrol new members during our forthcoming Membership Enrolment campaign in May next.

Will it be possible for me to meet you and as many others as you can arrange for during that week? I am writing you as you were such an active Red Cross worker during the war, and feel sure you will be interested in our Peace-time work for "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering" throughout the province.

Fernie is one of the points where we hope to establish an Emergency Depot, so that material will be available for use in any serious disaster or serious accident in the vicinity.

Yours very truly,

A. J. Forsyth,

Hon. Sec.-Treas.

REDS LOSE OUT IN ITALY

The revolution which was confidently predicted for Italy and which Lenin regarded as one of the finest opportunities for the spread of the doctrines of the Third International appears to have been shattered on the rock of common sense. The Italians are noted for this basic quality, if it has time to work. All they desire is time to think. It is true that the revolution took place more or lees as per schedule; that is, after the workmen had seized the various industrial plants and turned out the management the Communists in several places seized the opportunity to burn a few buildings, take possession of a few newspapers, wreck the plants and generally carry out the orders of Zinoviev and his Third International to be as violent as possible.

But something went wrong. To this day it is possible the Communists have no clear idea of what occurred. They are in some cases still endeavoring to make explosive experiments. But if there is one thing more than another they dislike it is to be taken at their face value and for others to practice on them what they preach. As long as they are allowed to talk as long as they may preach violence and sedition, revolution and anarchism under the laws of free speech, they are as happy as any people who fatten on hatred can be happy. In Italy they were having a splendid time and even when they took action they seemed to have some success. They believed their time had come and lashed by Moscow, they sprang to their soap boxes and platforms and manufactured their crowds and their usual scenery. Stage management is an art with most of them. An enthusiastic, almost sympathetic, curious audience waited for the play to begin, but the moment they recognized its crudity and its purpose they started throwing things.

When the workmen seized the factories the people expected them to be ejected with violence. In order to make certain of violence the Communists, led by men like Malatesta and Misiano, set out to follow instructions from Moscow. To their consternation they were promptly suppressed by the very people they thought sure to follow them. The militant nationalists, or Fascisti, took the law into their own hands and served the Communists with their own medicine. Town halls where Communists were in control were burnt and the Communists shot. The Communist meetings were broken up all over Italy. In even the largest industrial centres the people showed they had done their own thinking and acted accordingly. Of course the Communists who had been trying to overthrow the government appealed to the government for protection from the people. In brief, the Italian people revolted against the revolutionists.

Presumably that sort of thing can only be done in Italy where the ground is supposed to be favorable for revolution. The Fascisti, mostly composed of ex-soldiers and students ,were ready to listen and to act but preferred to suppress the Communists rather than be themselves suppressed. The government had seemed to be fraid to act so the Fascisti acted for themselves. The Socialists, under the leadership of Turati, who were badly defeated in the provincial administrative elections despite their large gains in the general elections 12 months earlier, had already split with the Communists and it was only on the latter that the Fascisti poured out the vials of their wrath. During this period the workmen have requested the management of the factories seized to return to their property and manage it as heretofore and the general feeling all over Italy is said to be much better than at any time since the war.

THE PHILOSOPHIC COBBLER

Shoemaking and philosophy go well together. If a man is sewing a new sole, or mending an upper, or pounding away with his mouth full of pegs, he has an abundance of time to think those long thoughts that are the most satisfying and frequently the most valuable of all. A person who writes for a living, or teaches at school, or does anything else that requires more of the head than of the hand, is at a disadvantage in this respect. He must give his full mind to his allotted work. But the shoemaker may busily engage himself on his physical task and at the same time be evolving a helpful philosophy or composing poetry or thinking up a speech to make at the next town meeting. Who wouldn't be a shoemaker, or, at any rate, who wouldn't appreciate the shoemaker's opportunity for mature reflection and its sure reward—seasoned argument.

FIVE THOUSAND GOATS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Reliable and conservative estimates show that there are now around 5000 goats in British Columbia with a value of $200,000. The estimated production of milk for 1920 was 75,000 gallons, which at the low figure, considering the superior value of goat's milk, of 15 cents per quart, is worth $45,000.

If to this sum is added the value of the 1920 crop of kids, there is about $25,000 more, or a total of $70,000 as the value of production in the goat industry in British Columbia for 1920, which is practically equal to the value of the wool grown in the province for the same period.

"When it is considered that importations of goats from European and and Asiatic countries have been practically impossible, owing to severe, though no doubt necessary, quarantine regulations and other handicaps," states a goat breeder, "and when we have had to depend for our new stock on the United States, where there has been a tremendous awakening to the value of the milk goat especially, with a consequent sharp increase in price, the development shown is nothing short of remarkable. Three years ago the estimated number of goats in the province was only about 1000, and the steady increase since then has been made in the face of much ignorance and prejudice regarding goats, which is now happily fast dying out.

"It is not alone from the mere volume and commercial value of milk production that the goat industry should be judged. The real significance of its development becomes more apparent when we reflect that the easier availability of the milk of the goat means healthier children and citizens, and the saving of the lives of hundreds of babies who were unable to assimilate any other food. This is the true measure of the value of the goat, surpassing as it does any merely material calculations."

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

SPRING FOREST FIRES

One of the most dangerous seasons of the year in regard to forest fires is now approaching and it behooves all who go into the forest on any business to be careful with fire. When the snow leaves the forest, last year's leaves, grass and twigs are left as dry as tinder, and a lighted match or cigarette stub thrown down carelessly falls into material as inflammable as a barrel of shavings. After the spring rains come on and the new grass and new foliage starts the danger is greatly reduced. People do not realize that just at the close of winter, through which there is scarcely any danger from fire in the woods, comes on the most dangerous season. Care by all who go into the woods at this time means a great reduction in the fire-hazard.

Forty million dollars will have been spent on the construction work of the Pacific Great Eastern railway by the province by the end of March next year, when the line is expected to be in operation to Prince George, according to the statement made by the the Premier in the legislature.

TRAGEDY OF MARX FAMILY

In view of the remarks of Prof. Goldstein last week on the history of Carl Marx' family tragedy, the following article from a recent issue of the London Chronicle may be of interest:

"How sad has life been all these years," ran the note which Eleanor before she took poison, left behind her in a sealed envelope for Aveling, who would calmly have torn it up had the coroner's officer prevented him. A sad life—of whose disillusions the valiant daughter of a valiant father had allowed the outer world to learn nothing.

In these words the note of tragedy is struck in the story of Eleanor Marx Aveling as related by Edward Bernstein in his book: "My Years of Exile," translated by Bernard Miall, and now published by Leonard Parsons, Ltd., at 15s net.

M. Bernstein spent the greater part of his exile in England and was on terms of close intimacy with Karl Marx, the economist — whose views, by the way, have been so perverted by a certain school of Communists.

Bernstein is, therefore, in a position to tell the terrible story of Eleanor Marx's "free marriage" with Edward Aveling, the brilliant, unreliable, unscrupulous Doctor of Science, at whose hands she suffered the fullest and bitterest penalty for her idealistic folly and for whose welfare she sacrificed herself, as though in atonement, until there came the day when, by his last and basest piece of treachery, he struck her down as surely as though he had plunged a knife into her heart.

In 1880 Eleanor Marx was a blooming girl of 24 summers, with the black hair and black eyes of her father, and an exceptionally musical voice. My wife and I entered upon terms of close and affectionate friendship with her.

In addition to the active work in the new Socialist movement, Eleanir was very devoted to music and drama. With her father and sisters she would walk to old Sadler's Wells Theatre to see the great tragedian Phelps in his Shakespearean repertoire, and would herself get up plays and concerts in the poorer districts of East and South London.

This passion for the stage grew, until she began to learn elocution and acting from the man who was to prove her evil genius.

Dr. Aveling had been science teacher lecturer, actor, and was then something between a professor of elocution and a theatrical agent. He was, in fact, married, but had virtually deserted his wife, and was living as a bachelor. His personal charm was great; his moral sense non-existent. Bernstein suggests that Dubedat in Bernard Shaw's "Doctor Dilemma" was drawn from Aveling.

His passion for having everything of the best; the assured and shameless manner in which he borrowed, to pay for his pleasures, the scanty cash of even the poorest of his acquaintances; his gift of fascinating women by his lyrical and aesthetic affectations and flirtations; these are characteristic features of the man for whom Eleanor Marx sacrificed herself herself as completely in real life as Mrs. Dubedat sacrificed herself for her husband in the play.

Presently Aveling's infidelity, cruelty, dissipations, became shamelessly public.

Many of Marx's old friends would not visit him for fear of meeting Aveling there. He became gradually a moral leper, more and more dependent on Eleanor as nurse, and even breadwinner. She did teaching, copying, translations, anything to earn the money that bought wine and delicacies to save his worthless life.

Writing to an intimate she described his behavious as a sort of "moral sickness":—

There are people who lack a moral sense as others are deaf or short-sighted. We must try to cure them, and if no cure is possible we must do our best. I have learnt this through long suffering — suffering whose details I would not tell even to you.

Later, when the tragic end was approaching, she writes very pitifully:

It is a bad time for me. I fear there is little to hope for, and pain and suffering are great. Why we all go on like this I do not understand, but so long as he needs help I am bound to remain.

A few weeks later poor Eleanor's troubles reached an abrupt and terrible end. Aveling's first wife was dead; secretly he had married again.

The young wife, little more than a child, wrote upbraiding Eleanor. He treated the matter more than cynically. Finally, he purchased some poison, leaving it in the house, and walking out.

When he returned, the greatest tragedy he had ever staged was fulfilled. Aveling tore up and half burned the girl-wife's letter, and sent for the police.

NEW LIQUOR LAW MAY 1

Victoria, April 4. — Government stores, and these only, will sell hard liquor and beer to citizens of and visitors in British Columbia under the new Moderation Act, which will come into force on May 1.

One hears all kinds of opinions, some favorable and some averse, on the new legislation.

"We'll have to try it out for a year anyhow," is the comment that concludes almost every comment.

And in trying it out, the situation stands about like this: The permanent resident of British Columbia may secure an annual permit for $5. He may buy from the government store two imperial quarts of liquor every day, or three ordinary bottles of his favorite whiskey, rum, gin or any of the other members of the famous family. He may consume this only in his own home or in a hotel room, if which he is the registered occupant. But he may not invite his friends up to his room to drink with him. Said friends, however, may register along side him in another room and if the party consists of two or more — the limit being the number of persons corresponding with the sleeping accommodations of the bed or beds in the room—they may each have three bottles of hard liquor.

The clause affording this doubtful protection to hotels was included as the result of a petition from the hotelmen. How it will work remains a problem. Four men might be sitting in a registered guests' room in a popular hotel, chatting about business, or pleasure, and sharing one two or three bottles between them—and one glass. A visit from a police offcial, a house detective or other person delegated by the law to investigate the activities of those in the room might disclose a peaceful party all of whom had absorbed some of the essence of the highlands but with no proof visible to the naked eye even if to a sensitive olfactory nerve, that anyone but the registered guest had more than sniffed the bottle.

"When is a man intoxicated?" is likely to become the greatest puzzle of the day. A householder may not serve liquor in his own home to an intoxicated person. Just who will decide upon the state of intoxication is not known. Budding orators have been known to be as mum as oysters until prompted by the "kick" of a highball or two, but when nicely "mellowed" or completely "in the velvet" have glowed incandescently and descanted upon the fourth dimension or the nebular hypothesis with the fluidity of water tumbling down hill. No mention is made of the course to be followed in enforcing this provision, but the clause is evidently for the purpose of crushing drunkenness in homes, as much as is feebly possible where an almost unlimited amount of liquor is present.

The American cousin will be able to secure an imperial quart or a bottle and a half, of liquor every day for two weeks—if he wants it—by paying $5 for a non-resident permit. He will not have to have a certificate of recommendation from a Canadian citizen, but will have to sign an affidavit stating that he intends to use the liquor according to the provisions of the act. He may drink it in his hotel room, but nowhere else. However, he may have it on his hip, since there is no one to say whether or not with the bottle in that favored position he is en route to his hotel. The liquor must remain in the government bottle, but there is nothing to say that the cork may not be drawn and the contents sampled.

Fishing parties are expected to become immediately popular and the piscatorial denizens of the nearby streams will be treated to many a visit by the new converts to Ike Walton's art of passing the time away.

New stocks of the bard Omar's poems will make their way to bookstore shelves and the revised version of one remembered passage may read:

"A book of verses underneath the bough,
A can of worms, a jug of hootch, and thou,
Beside me near the unfished brook,
Oh, beauteous nature's paradise now."

The brewer sees his business cut to a fraction of its former dimensions. Clubs may not dispense the beverage while the swan-song of the jitney bar has already been sung.

Turning to the question of administration, the government — probably owing to stress of pressing business during the dying days of the session—has nothing to say regarding the personnel of the new liquor control board. Archie Johnson, deputy attorney-general, and J. H. Falconer of Vancouver, are considered well "in the running" for the chairmanship, but not until next week will an announcement be made. There will be a returned man appointed, but who the likely choice is remains a mystery. A dozen well-known veterans are mentioned.

The number of liquor stores in Vancouver will be decided by the board subject to the suggestions of the government, the Premier and attorney-general retaining wide powers of supervision. Certain it is that with the sale of beer permitted only through government stores, there will be more stores needed in the cities than it was formerly expected would be established. Practically every town will have a store, and where places are remote from established centres, the government will pay the express or freight on hard liquor so that a uniform price will prevail. The government, though, will not pay carrying charges on beer owing to its bulk.

The work of the new board is expected to divide itself into three phases, that of general administration, under the chairman, who will have to deal with the strict interpretation of the act; supervision of stores and stocks and enforcement. For the latter task the returned soldier appointee will likely be chosen, because his military experience will be of value to him. The second commissioner will probably be a man with general business experience.

Attorney General Farris, while refusing to make an offcial statement regarding the steps to be taken immediately the session closes, has intimated that May 1 will probably see the new act in force. Until that time persons holding private stocks of liquor may have their wet goods marked with the government stamp, and after that date it will be unlawful to possess any liquor not bearing the government stamp.

"THE INDIAN LOVE LYRICS"

Those familiar with Laurence Hope's "Garden of Kama," that wonderful Eastern drama, will realize with what intensity of sympathy and appealing beauty is the setting given to this tone poem by Amy Woodford-Finden. Of course, these lyrics are typically the Indian of the East, resplendent with Orientalism, that quaint appealng rhythm that only those who have seen the Orient in its beauty can fully realize.

The story is of a lover, an Indian of high degree, who has fallen in love with a maid of inferior class to himself. One can picture the heart's cry as his love bursts forth into a passion, he knowing that the marriage month is drawing near. The Indian maid realizing that on account of his superior class she cannot marry him, throws herself before him in a deep swoon, begging him in such tones as alone come from the heart and offering him his own sword sharpened and cleaned, piteously cries out in anguish for him to kill her as love's last reward, deeming that her life can no longer hold anything worth while without his love and as he performs this last act, she bids him farewell. As he walks around amongst the Gardens (Shalimar), as though in a trance, everywhere her face appears before him and as he gazes into the pool he sees her form in so realistic a state that it smotes his heart, causing him untold grief and pain and so deeply does he mourn for his lost love that at last he also succumbs to his deathbed and in piteous tones cries out in anguish for the touch of her lips on his brow once more and as he stretches out his arms, thinking he sees her by his side he sinks back dead, the tones in his voice dying away at the breath leaves his body.

This is but one of the numbers which Harold Kirby will present on his programme here in his famous "Evening of Songs" Recital at the Grand theatre to-morrow (Saturday) evening, and those to whom the voice has an appeal should not fail to hear this wonderful singer.

INCREASE IN MINING

The year 1920 was successful for the Canadian mining industry, the estimated value of production for the twelve months showing a gratifying increase over the figures of the previous year, and being only slightly less than those of the banner year of 1918 when the war stimulus of production was at its zenith. The government's estimate of production for the year is $200,000,000 as compared with $176,686,000 in 1919, and $211,301,897 in 1918. In all minerals there were substantial increases in production, with the exception of lead and silver which showed small declines from the previous year's figures, and iron ore, where there was a heavy falling off.

One of the notable features of the mining year was the marked recovery in the production of copper, zinc and nickel among the metals, and of coal among the non-metallic products. There was also a small increase in gold products. Zinc, coal and asbestos reached the highest figures of production in the history of Canada, whilst the output of chromite, gypsum, fluorspar, mica, and salt was well sustained.

The total production of nickel is estimated at 1,500,000 pounds, an increase of 38 per cent over the 1919 production, and an output that has been exceeded in Canada only during the four war years. The production of this metal in Canada for some years to come will be limited only by the demands of the market, the developed deposits assuring an ore supply for a long period. Smelting capacity has been constructed in the Dominion during the year considerably higher than any reached during the war.

The production of copper is estimated at 82 500,000 pounds, which shows an increase of 10 per cent over the previous year. Whilst Quebec production fell off, Ontario output increased by about 25 per cent. The estimated value of gold products is placed at $16,000,000, comparing with $15,850,432 in 1919. Whilst the total value has slight increases during the last two years, the production is still less than that of 1916, when the total was more than $19,000,000, or in 1900, when the maximum of nearly $28,000,000 was obtained. Ontario probably contributed about 72 per cent of the total Canadian gold production in 1920, derived from seven mines in the Porcupine district, three at Kirkland Lake and several miscellaneous properties.

Silver production for the year is put at 13,500,000 ounces, or 2,500,000 below that of 1919. The decrease was general. Lead was the other mineral which showed a decline, its 35,500,000 pounds being 8,827,000 less than the 1919 production. The estimated production of refined zinc and zinc recovered from ores is placed at 42,000,000 pounds. The coal output for the twelve months is figured to have been at least 16 000,000 short tons, which is 2,500,000 tons, or 18 per cent over that of 1919. Alberta leads the provinces with an estimated production of 6,700,000 tons. The estimated value of the Dominion's production is estimated at $70,000,000.

Iron ore production fell away considerably during the year, it being estimated that shipments from the mines did not exceed 120,000 tons, coming mainly from the mines of the Algoma Steel Corporation and Moose Mountain, Ltd., in Ontario. The total production of pig iron from blast furnaces and electric furnaces in 1920 is estimated at 1,080 000 short tons and the total production of steel ingots and steel castings at 1,220,000 short tons, both records showing a substantial increase over the production of the previous year.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES FOR OUR UPLIFTERS

If our "uplifters" wish really up-to-date pointers on restrictive legislation they should journey to Utah. In the legislature of that state recently was introduced a bill which has everything beaten, so far as records go. One section dealt with closing at midnight every hotel in the State, no one to be admitted after that hour and no one to be allowed out until daylight. Anybody entering a city or town between these hours being subject to arrest. Still another section was to the effect that a ten-foot fence be built around every vacant lot within the jurisdiction of Salt Lake City, while a third item in the bill prohibited the smoking of cigarettes. What the ten-foot fence is for the Salt Lake newspaper which we have before us does not state. Perhaps it is in aid of the bill posting business. In any event, we pass the news on for what it is worth. Perhaps the Toronto Globe can make some use of it in steering our own "uplifters" into new fields of adventure. We are only wondering what the fellow is going to do who arrives in Utah on the night train a few hours late.—Saturday Night.

THANKFUL FOR FRIEND'S ADVICE

Vancouver Woman Says Tanlac Has Entirely Relieved Her of Nervous Indigestion

"I can't begin to express my gratitude to Tanlac for the wonderful improvement it has made in my health," said Mrs. H. Barnes, of 536 Cambie Street, Vancouver, B.C.

"Even before I came to this country five years ago my stomach gave me a lot of trouble and has been getting worse ever since. I couldn't eat a thing without suffering from gas and palpitation. I was troubled almost every day with fearful head aches and dizzy spells. Pains in my back made it almost impossible to stoop over and I could get but very little sleep at night. I always felt tired and had no energy, fell off in weight and became very weak, and I had tried so many things without getting any help that I had almost given up hope.

"I shall always be thankful that I took a friend's advice and tried Tanlac, for four bottles of the medicine have made me feel like a different woman. My appetite is now fine and I can eat whatever I want and never have a sign of indigestion. Iam no longer troubled with headaches and dizzy spells and haven't an ache or a pain of any kind. I sleep fine all night and get up in the mornings fresh and full of energy. The wonderful change in my health seems almost too good to be true. I owe it all to Tanlac and never intend to be without it after this."

WELSH COAL COSTS ARE MUCH TOO HIGH

Cardiff, March 31.—The financial condition of the coal trade in South Wales as viewed by the coal owners, is strikingly disclosed in a statement issued by Finlay Gibson, secretary of the South Wales Coal Owners association. It shows that on a total quantity of disposable coal of 2,887,-193 tons, the total costs were 53s, 1d a ton, leaving a colliery loss of 13s, 7d a ton.

On the total of 1,076,698 for inland consumption, the total cost per ton was 53s leaving a loss of 15s, 6d. The figures bring out the striking fact that the cost of wages exceeded the average price realized on the sale of coal Thus the average realized price per ton was 39s, 6d and the wage cost per ton 49s, 2nd. The total proceeds on all coal disposed of were £5,719,-240, the total costs £7,688,906, leaving a loss at the mines of £1,969,666, while the average loss per ton was 13s, 6d.

AS THE TIDE TURNS

The pendulum swings backward, the tide turns! For five years the salaried person has been the scum of the earth, from the viewpoint of the selling public. For five years the fixed income from that large and laborious class of citizens shrunk monthly, daily, hourly almost in its purchasing power, and the silk shirts and luxuries were not for him. He, in fact, supplied the grumbling undertone of the war period prosperity; he was the arch sufferer, while the capitalist and the laborer alike earned greatly, and spent with the lavishness of drunken sailors. But oh, what a change is now coming about, and with what glasses the salaried person is coming to be regarded.

The "beer" activities at Victoria are causing havoc among the members of the various clubs of this city and district. A joint meeting of representatives was held on Sunday last but was adjourned awaiting further advice.

The whist drive and dance held under the auspices of the local G.W.V.A. was a great success financially and otherwise. Winners for whist were as follows: Gents: Joe Turner; booby, H. Hughes. Ladies: Mrs. T. Woods; booby, Miss F. Billsborough. Messrs. Bass and Commons supplied the music and the Ladies Auxiliary the refresments.

Tom Beck, who has been in W. A. Ingram's tobacco store for the past nine years, has severed his connection with that business and has gone into fire, life and auto insurance. Mr. Beck has taken an agency for the London Life Insurance Co. of Canada, and also represents reliable fire insurance companies, and will no doubt make good in his new venture.

There will be a meeting of the delegates of the various ball teams on Sunday next. The poor travelling facilities at present makes it impossible to hold the meeting at Fernie as planned. The eastern section, from Michel east, will meet at Blairmore, and from Fernie west at Cranbrook. It is to be hoped that as soon as the roads open up that a joint meeting will be held here.

The local Golf Club have plans out for a new club house for the course. The next step is to finance the propasition and the executive are busy with high finance. It is expected that the club will have a hundred members this year. Work| is proceeding rapidly on the new holes which are being added to the course and the executive committee hope to have everything in good shape by May 1.

In our last issue through an error we stated that the eminent lecturer, David Goldstein, gave his address on "Bolshevism" in Fernie under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. The item should have read "Knights of Columbus." Mr. Goldstein is one of a number of the leading lecturers of the United States who are working under the auspices of that order, which made such a great name for itself during the world war. The order is conducting an educational campaign throughout Canada and the United States on the great questions of the day.

Fernie should take the lead in an effort to secure a visit from the big Scottish football team which will shortly visit this country. The Crow's Nest League should be able to produce a team which could give the Scots a run for their money. A game of this calibre would draw a tremendous crowd. If local football enthusiasts would take this matter up we feel that there would be no doubt in raising a big purse for the match. The Scottish team are already booked to play in Calgary and Fernie would not be very far out of their line of travel. Sports, get busy.

MISS KATHLEEN GRANT IN UNIVERSITY CONCERT

Reporting the fifth anual concert of the University of B.C., Musical Society held in the Vancouver Hotel last Saturday night, the Vancouver World says: "The musical event of the evening was Miss Kathleen Grant's solo, 'May Morning' (Denza). Miss Grant is a young lady whose soprano voice is not yet fully developed or placed, but she sang as if she loved to sing, and has a beautiful, soft quality, that gave very decided pleasure and her final note was as big and clear as one could wish. Miss Grant has a voice that, with good training, will become decidedly an asset in years to come. A daintily rendered encore, 'I Love You,' was given in answer to an ovation. Miss Grant also starred in solo roles in other parts of the program."

Thos. Uphill, M.P.P., arrived home from Victoria on Monday and is looking very prim after a strenuous session.

WILL GET BOOZE BACK

The Court of Appeal this week decided the case of the King vs. W. Kerr, which is one of very keen local interest. The court was equally divided and therefore the appeal was dismissed and in this manner the judgment of His Honor Judge Thompson was sustained, and Mr. Kerr will receive his $100 fine together with the large quantity of liquor that was seized. Briefly the history of the case is that on June 11 last Chief Lawson, under the power of a search warrant visited the premises occupied by Kerr in what is generally known as the Alex. Beck Block, and found 362 cases containing Scotch and rye whiskies, gin, brandy and rum, and also some thirty odd bottles, two ten gallon kegs, one twenty and two forty's containing whiskey, gin and alcohol. The value of the goods seized was approximately $15,000.00. The trial came on first before Magistrate Whimster, who on the evidence adduced found that the quarters occupied by Mr. Kerr were not "a private dwelling" as laid down by the Prohibition Act, and fined the accused $100 and made an order forfeiting the liquor to the Crown. Within less than 24 hours following this decision and in spite of the fact that oral notice of appeal from the magistrate's finding was given by the solicitor for accused, the provincial authorities consigned the entire quantity of goods seized to Vancouver by express, incurring an expenditure of public funds to the extent of about $900. Mr. Kerr carried an appeal to the county court with the result that the conviction was quashed and the order confiscating the seized liquor annulled. The Crown thereupon entered an appeal to reverse Judge Thompson's finding and restore the conviction but failed through the court dividing, Chief Justice McDonald and Mr. Justice Gallagher holding in favor of allowing the appeal, and Mr. Justice McPhillips and Mr. Justice Martin for dismissal.

This is the third case which Messrs. Lawe & &Fisher have won in the Appeal Court this year.

ASSIZES GO TO CRANBROOK

The British Columbia Gazette announced in the last issue that the criminal and civil assizes for East Kootenay will be held at Cranbrook commencing May 10, and Fernie civil assize May 18. This will be the first time in history that the criminal assizes have been held in Cranbrook, and quite naturally this decision on the part of the government has caused considerable consternation among the legal fraternity and business men here. The only conclusion in placing the responsibility for this slight upon the capital of East Kootenay is vindictive political spite — Fernie electors did not send a member to the legislative assembly who supports the present administration. There is, of course, the argument that Cranbrook from a geographical viewpoint should be the city wherein the criminal assizes should be held, but without casting reflections or criticisms upon our sister city of the Kootenays, Fernie is the centre of population and in so far as accommodation is concerned Cranbrook is hopelessly inadequate. It would therefore appear that those in whose hands the power of directing affairs of this nature are placed, are more desirous of satisfying political friends than conserving the welfare or interest of the general public.

MRS. R. E. BEATTIE OF CRANBROOK PASSES AWAY.

With the pasing of Mrs. Georgia Beattie, wife of R. E. Beattie, last Thursday, the hand of death was laid heavily on the City and district. For two or three weeks past her condition had been such as to cause considerable anxiety, and even though for the last few days it seemed that there could be but one outcome to her illness, yet the inevitable shock of death was not lessened when the news of her passing came.

It was decided to remove her from the hospital here to Spokane, where it was hoped by specialist treatment to combat the disease which had fastened itself upon her, or at least stay its ravages for a time. On Thursday last she was taken on the train accompanied by Mr Beattie, Dr. G. E. L. MacKinnon and Mrs. F. Small, as nurse. It was destined, however, that Mrs. Beattie should not reach the end of the journey alive,death occuring when about two hours out of Spokane. Only a few minutes before she was fully conscious, and had spoken confidently in regard to the outcome of the journey.—Cranbrook Herald.

British Columbia smokers use 26,000 000 cigars annually, it is estimated. There are a dozen cigar factories in B.C. employing less than 100 persons—yet the smokers of this province give steady work to 800 cigar makers, strippers and packers.

FERNIE MEMBER ARRIVES HOME

The Victoria Daily Times has the following to say about Thomas Uphill, who arrived home on Wednesday:

Tom Uphill Labor Member for Fernie, left for his home constituency last night after his first session as member of the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Uphill, although new to the game of politics, is placed as one of the six feature members of the British Columbia Legislature. He is a wonderful mixer and both Liberal and Conservative members have vied with one another in chumming up with him. His sense of humor is wonderfully well developed and whenever the word was passed round that "Tom Uphill is speaking" the corridors would empty and the floor of the House fill up with members.

It was because of his popularity that Mr. Uphill turned out to be the only member who dared to bring a "real beer" amendment to the Liquor Act on the floor of the House.

All through the session he fought hard for labor legislation and the Hon. William Sloan adopted a number of his proposals into the Coal Mines Regulation Act. The proposals emanating from Mr. Uphill were the only labor proposals adopted or seriousely considered by the House during the session. Mr. Uphill was not here long before he knew all the Ministers well and was walking up and down the corridors with them like old friends.

Premier Oliver always stayed in his seat when Tom Uphill got up to make a speech as, like the rest of the House, he knew he would miss something if he were not there. Mr. Uphill would never hesitate to attack the Premier or any of the Ministers unmercifully, but as soon as the speech was over there was no bad feeling and the attacker and attacked would often go out in the corridor and have a smoke or drop down to the press gallery or some other place.

The Premier always enjoyed Mr. Uphill's jokes and his witty sallies. The Premier laughed and shook so hard at one remark that he had to get up and change his seat.

Mr. Uphill was the only Labor member to participate in the social festivities in connection with the session. He attended everything from the Government House dinner and dance down to all the cabaret parties and those at the Empress Hotel. To his social popularity, especially with the women, outside and inside the Parliament Buildings, is attributed much of his successs in Victoria. Many young society women here have competed with one another to attract the attention of this coal mining Labor Member.

CAMP SITE FOR TOURISTS

The Board of Trade have selected for a tourist camp site the piece of land on the right hand side of the road between the Mine Rescue Station and the C.P.R. tracks, which the Coal Co. are allowing to be used for the purpose. This is an ideal spot amongst a growth of young trees and in which ever direction one looks nothing but mountains are to be seen. When it is cleaned up it will be one of the finest camp sites in the country. On Monday evening next, April 18, we shall welcome anyone who can spare a couple of hours to help in this work—the more the merrier.

When the clearing is done, buildings of the necessary character will be built and water and electric lights placed in them. Lights will also be placed in the grounds.

To commence with, sites for three separate parties will be prepared, each with its own open fire place. A central building containing a cooking range and laundry tubs will be built and another one with flush toilets.

There is room for a considerable number of parties there and the work done this year will make allowances for the necessary extensions as they are needed.

Don't forget Monday evening at 6.30.

WESLEY BARRY IN "DINTY"

One of the best attractions of a decade will be the entertainment offering at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday. It is "Dinty," in which Marshall Neilan presents Wesley Barry, the freckle-faced boy actor, in the first starring vehicle of his youthful career. Neilan wrote the story and directed the production, which is his latest release through Associated First National Pictures, Inc. It is the tale of a fighting newsboy, who has an old Irish mother to support. San Francisco's picturesque Chinatown is the locale for some of the scenes, and the photoplay is replete with dramatic as well as amusing incidents. Among the unique characters who appear in support of Wes Barry as "Dinty" O'Sullivan are a Chinese younster and a jolly little pickaninny. In the chief supporting roles are charming Colleen Moore, J. Barney Sherry, Pat O'Malley, Marjorie Daw and Norah Beery. Romance, pathos, humor and thrilling adventure makes this one of the most extraordinary cinema productions ever filmed. Wesley Barry's smile, freckles and inimitable acting made him famous in "Daddy Long Legs" with Mary Pickford, and "Don't Ever Marry" and "Go and Get It," but his crowning achievement has undoubtedly been made in "Dinty," under the masterful direction of Marshall Neilan. It is a motion picture triumph for both Barry and Neilan, and cannot fail to delight every man, woman and child who come to the Orpheum to see it. "Dinty" has received the enthusiastic endorsement of the critics throughout the country. 'Nuff said.

WITHDRAW STRIKE ORDER

London, April 15.—Following a refusal of the Miners Federation to reopen negotiations for a settlement of their strike, the executives of the Railwaymen's Union and National Federation of Transport Workers called off the threatened sympathetic strike scheduled for ten o'clock tonight. The only condition upon which the Miners' Federation would agree to re-open negotiations, Premier Lloyd George announced in the House of Commons, was that the principles of a national wage board and a national pool be conceded. These principles have been opposed by the government and mine owners.

BRITISH COLUMBIA HENS THE BEST LAYERS

The Province of British Columbia has amply demonstrated its adaptability for poultry raising. In the egglaying tests caried on over Canada last year, British Columbia gave the highest production. At the Agassiz Farm, seventy miles east of Vancouver, 200 egg hens were quite common, 250 and 270 by no mean rare, and at the Vancouver Island Station, a White Wyandotte flock of 200 pullets gave an average of 195.97, 29 of which were about 175 eggs, 82 above 200. There the highest production was reached by a pullet that laid 300 egs within the year. At the Vancouver Island Station no bird is considered worth keeping for breeding that does not lay 200 eggs in her pullet year. This improvement has been brought about by the pedigree breeding carried on by the Experimental systems, which in recent years has been giving special attention to the devlopment of high producing strains of fowls.

ISLAND PRODUCES TEA AND OLIVES

OTTAWA.—There are now being successfully grown on Vancouver Island, and for the first time in Canada, both tea and olives, according to information given here by the Hon. Dr. Tolmie, federal minister of agriculture. This year, too, on Vancouver Island, there will be a good fig crop.

"This is an astonishing statement to those without our borders who are prone to think of Canada as a land of snow-banks and wild country," he said.

Dr. Tolmie though it would only be a matter of time until Canada was able to buy its roses from Pacific coast towns and cities within her borders, rather than import stock trees from Great Britain, Ireland and other countries.

While in ordinary truck gardening the Oriental had been an aggressive competitor of the Anglo-Saxon, he had not been able to compete successfully with white growers in flowers Dr. Tolmie said.

FT. NORMAN AND BACK BY TRAIL

CALGARY, April 8.—After having covered 2600 miles of the hardest travelling in the world, A. S. F. Rankin returned to Calgary on Sunday from Fort Norman oil fields, where he filed on one section and acquired a similar area by purchase immediately adjoining the property on which the discovery well of the Imperial Oil Company was sunk. Of the total 2600 miles from Fort McMurray to Fort Norman and back Mr. Rankin travelled 2100 miles by foot, riding the other 500 on dog sledges.

Mr. Rankin left Edmonton on Nov. 25, traveling to the end of steel, near Fort McMuray, by rail. He left McMurray on Dec. 2, travelling alone except for an Indian helper with his team of dogs, and arrived at the Imperial Oil Company's well on Feb. 6. He stayed there for three days, staked his lease, and then spent a week at Fort Norman, 57 miles from the well He arrived back at Fort McMurray on March 26, having covered the distance of 1300 miles in 37 days.

The cold during the whole trip north was intense, the thermometer standing at 90 below zero on the day when Mr. Rankin arrived at the oil fields. The dogs belonging to the Indians in the north are poor, and he was able to carry practically nothing but blankets and enough food to make the journey from one post to another. At each post he secured a fresh outfit of dogs with another Indian and a new supply of food.

The trail was bad and general conditions equally so, Mr. Rankin stated. One of the great dangers lay in the fact that the MacKenzie River, over which much of the rout lay, was covered with deep snow during his return journey, underneath which the ice was badly cracked, making pitfalls that were almost impossible to see. In places the ice in the river was jammed for miles to a height of twenty to thirty feet, making traveling by the river rout more difficult still.

Few other travellers were encountered, although at times Mr. Rankin was able to throw in his lot with other parties making their way to the north. Most of the time however, he was forced to break his own trail as he went, with little to guide him to his destination. He made the return trip just in time to avoid the spring break-up, which would have made the journey impossible for some time.

Mr. Rankin is a big man, middle aged, with a remarkable physique, the latter a most necessary attribute for a journey such as he undertook, and it is interesting to note that he gained seven pounds on the trip, arriving back in civilization with nothing worse than a cold to show for his experience. Even the cold was not contracted on the trail for he stated that he was never lame, never sick and never had a pain of any kind until he got back to Fort McMurray and slept in a house for the first time in many weeks.

"You must keep going all the time on a trip like that." he said. "The last thing you think of at night is 'hike' and it is the first thing you think of in the morning."

"How did you make out for grub?" asked the reporter.

"Fine, plain fare, but with a few exceptions I had lots of it all the time. I usually had bacon, beans, bannock, jam, syrup and tea."

"Were yau ever troubled with frostbite?"

"Only once," Mr. Rankin replied. "I had the big toe on one foot frozen."

One of the great things to remember on such a trip, according to Mr. Rankin, is the care of the feet. He took eight pairs of moccasins with him and used them all, with socks and duffles galore.

Some days it was possible to make as many as 35 or 40 miles between halts. He took no tent with him or, in fact, anything but the clothes he reached he and the Indian merely stood up in and his blankets, and when the end of the day's hike was scraped away enough of the deep snow that lay on the ground, with their snowshoes, to build a small fire, cook whatever food they had, cut spruce boughs for beds and crawled into their blankets for the night.

Mr. Rankin saw no wild game all the time he was in the north, with the exception of partridges. Not even a rabbit was visible though he often saw the tracks of those animals, and on several occasions ran across fresh moose tracks.

Some forty claims were staked in the vicinity of Fort Norman during the winter, adjoining the 30,000 acres that are held under lease by the Imperial Oil. Mr. Rankin stated emphatically that the well that exists there now is a good one and he is confident that the whole district will be developed into everything that has been claimed for it as one of the great oil producing fields of the world. He only staked one section while he was there, owing to the fact that he heard of the new federal oil regulations, after he had travelled 900 miles over the ice, from a government official at Fort Simpson, 400 miles from Fort Norman, before he ever got to the field.

Mr. Rankin spoke of the rigid police regulations that are to be enforced in connection with expeditions to the north, and vouched for the need of such precautions to protect the people who might try to make the journey without the necessary physical stamina to get them through. On arriving at Edmonton he reported to the R.C.M.P. and went through a strict medical evamination before he was allowed to start out, and even then he was warned against the severity of the trip, although the police doctor who examined him told him that he had "a heart like a lion and lungs like a mule."

WHY CANADIANS MUST EAT MORE OF OUR SEA FOOD

It is estimated by people in a position to know, that fish consumption in the Dominion on National Fish Day exceeded that of any previous single day on record. What the actual consumption in pounds has been is difficult to estimate, but each of the larger centres throughout the country had extraordinarily large sales on Feb. 9. Montreal is said to have consumed more than 1,000,000 pounds, while Toronto is believed to have used more than half that quantity .Every effort will be made to induce people to hold to this increased fish ration throughout the year.

During the year 1920 Canadian fishermen produced between 800,000,000 and 900,000,000 pounds of fish. Or rather, they landed that amount. Had they been able to bring ashore and sell every edible fish they caught their landings would undoubtedly have reached 1,500,000,000 pounds. It is estimated that one-quarter or less of the amount landed remained in Canada, which would bring the Canadian per capita consumption during that year between 20 and 25 pounds.

The United States lands about 2,000 000,000 pounds of fish each year, about two-thirds of which is taken off the Atlantic coast, or in waters not only equally but usually more accessible to fishermen operating from Canadian ports.

This would seem to make one point clear. We can land more fish in Canada each year. The fish are there, but we have to build up a market for them. Canada is the most important individual market for our fish but as yet she is about the smallest consumer of sea food among the fish-producing countries of the world. Our fish exporters are improving their product each year and our foreign markets are developing. But the home market is stationary and has been practically so for years. If Canada is to forge ahead and take her position of justified pre-eminence in the fish-producing world, we must eat more fish at home.

Of the 58,276 returned soldiers who have applied for training under the soldier settlement act, 42,285 have qualified as farmers and 781 men are being trained at the present time. Loans made to these men by all of the provinces total $82,043 414, of which $12,828,622 was through British Columbia branch of the department. Loans were granted to 20,231 men; of these 230 have been repaid in full. The total acreage taken up by soldier settlers amounted to 3,371,000 acres.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

This privilege is also made retroactive.

I. L. P. PREACH NONSENSE

At the meeting of the Independent Labor Party held at Welland recently, where the sins of omission and commission of the Drury Coalition Government came in for discussion, the Minimum Wage Board which recently brought down a report setting the minimum wage for laundries and like type of work at $12 per week, was the centre of attraction. And it was here that H. G. Fester, one of Labor's appointees to the Board, had the heavy batteries of the I. L. P. turned on him. Fester made the statement that the reason why $12 per week was set as the minimum wage was because the steam laundries had been able to show that anything higher would put them on the verge of bankruptcy. This gave the I. L. P. orators an opening. "It is a strange pass," one of them is reported to have remarked, "when we find a member of the Labor Party considering whether a steam laundry is going into bankruptcy or not." That point, Mr. Fester was informed, was something for the owners to worry about, and was quite beyond his duties on the Minimum Wage Board.

I mention this as indicating what wrong-headed idea the members of the I. L. P. have as to their obligations and duties. I know nothing as to whether or not a higher minimum wage would place steam laundries in the receiver's hands. That is not the point. Fair dealing for instance, and co-operation. The members of the I. L. P. cannot successfully operate without the capitalist any more than the capitalist can get along without labor. Lenine has proved this to his own undoing. No fair-minded man or woman will defend sweat shops, be they laundries or clothing establishments. On the other hand, no industry can be law unto itself. If steam laudry prices go higher than the public thinks they should, the public will turn to the Chinaman and the home washtub. And the white laundry help, in place of a high minimum wage, will find themselves jobless.

This "we should worry" attitude on the part of the I. L. P. has got to disappear, or the party itself is doomed. There are too many straight thinking people in labor's ranks to put up with this sort of nonsense.—Saturday Night.

B. C. NOTES

There appears to be a possibility of the gold bearing sands of the Cariboo again attracting the prospector. Reports from Ashcroft indicate that a rich strike has been made in the vicinity of that famous little city.

Commercial and shipping men in British Columbia have good reasons to be pleased with the announcement that the 8 cent arbitary rate against this port on transcontinental shipments from the east will be withdrawn in a new tariff about to be issued. The province will be saved thousands upon thousands of dollars each year under the revised scale of charges.

There is an increasing demand for British Columbia timber in Eastern Canada, in the manufacture of wood products. These products could easily be manufactured in this province.

TURNOVER TAX FAVORED

Canada's business community, including manufacturers, wholesalers, imporers and retailers, are now pretty well agreed that the turnover or sales tax is about the only way out, and that Sir Harry Drayton should adopt the same in his next budget. Boards of Trade, representing such centres as Montreal and Toronto, have recently expresed themselves as favorable to the project, and now the Canadian Manufacturers' Asociation and other representative bodies have also pronounced favorable, though possibly there is some diversity of opinion as to the details.

At a recent Toronto conference called at the suggestion of the Finance Minister, and attended by representatives of various trade organizations, some interesting figures were quoted. For instance, last year the revenue derived from the business profits, the sales tax and the income tax, all combined, amounted to $112,000,000, whereas it is calculated that a one per cent. turnover tax, spread broadly over the country, would produce at least $180,000,000. These calculations have only been arived at after careful study, by a competent committee of high grade business men, assisted by Professor Mavor, a world-famous economist of the University of Toronto. It is calculated that the trade of Canada taxable under such a plan as proposed amounts to about four billion dollars at its source. Allowing a turnover three times, it would reach a total of twelve billions. With a fifteen per cent. profit added to this, we have a grand total of eighteen billions, which can be taxed under the plan. A one per cent. tax on this amount would bring in a revenue of one hundred and eighty millions. It may be mentioned in passing, however, that Prof. Mavor is of the opinion that this is likely to prove too conservative an estimate.

The decisions of the C.M.A. committee were:

(1) That the Business Profits Tax Act shall not be re-enacted.

(2) That the Income War Tax as regards corporations shall be repealed.

(3) That the Sales Tax now in effect shall be amended and extended sufficiently to provide the necessary revenue.

As before pointed out in thes colums, the chief appeal of such a tax lies in its simplicity, which includes inexpensive collection, and the security which all will feel that the tax dodger is going to have the time of his life trying to get away from it, and in the end will not succeed. And by the same token there is more than a general suspicion that a good many Canadians have not played fair in this respect, particularly as regards the income tax. Last year the farmers of Ontario, the richest province of Canada, paid $67,000 in income taxes, while the farmers of Alberta rang the bell to the tune of $361,000. The explanation of this is, of course, due to the large amount of mixed farming in Ontario, while in the West the farmer exportd his products to a much greater extent. In other words, the egg man and the butter woman, together with innumerable small traders who sell to the cities and towns, and who keep no books to speak of, get out from under. And when all is said and done, it might cost more to collect it under the present system than it would be worth. — Saturday Night.

WORLD DEPENDS ON ANGLO-SAXON AMITY

OTTAWA,—Addressing an international Rotary convention here on Saturday, Premier Meighen said:

"The good of the world for the next century depends on the amity and concord of the Anglo-Saxon race more than on any other single thing. If there was ever a time when civilized people clung with eagerness around the thought to save civilization, that time has now come.

"If, which God forbid, anything ever arose to destroy the friendly relations that now exist between the two great English-speaking nations, then indeed the future of civilization would be black beyond the powers of description. The people of each country have a work to perform in their own country to stay extreme demands of one country to the other.

"The United States is standing in solitude, but in dignity somewhere within the presence of the League of Nations. Whether the United States should join the League of Nations or not, and whether the League should develop and justify the great hopes placed in it, Canada is a member of the great League of Nations, the British League of Nations, and we in our generation, our children and our children's children, will work in this League for the perpetuation of peace and good will in this world."

The convention was attended by some 900 delegates from clubs in northern New York State, Ontario and Quebec.

OMISSION

In the Card of Thanks published last week we overlooked mentioning the special kindness extended to us by the Knights of Columbus.

Mrs. Winnett and Family.

CRANBROOK GOLFERS

A meeting of the Cranbrook Golf Club was held at the Clubhouse on Saturday afternoon.

Reports were received from several committees appointed at the annual meeting last November. The matter of dues, concerning which there has been some little misapprehension, was taken up, and the comittee which had the question on hand brought in its reccommendations, which were voted on. The dues are to remain as at present, it was decided, namely $15 for gentlemen and $10 for ladies.

The present membership of the club stands at a little over eighty, but it is hoped it will be considerably increased this season. The interest of the younger people in the game is especially sought. It may not be generally recognized that this district enjoys splendid natural advantages for golfing, being blessed far above many other places in the province in the matter of climatic conditions, layout of the course, and many other respects. The fine 9-hole course is now being fenced, which will ensure it being kept in good condition. The property was purchased by the club last year from the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., and could provide if necessary an eighteen hole course without necessitating the removal of any of the existing greens. The links are in fine shape at the present time, and the game is already going strong for the season.

Mr. Louis Anderson, the new club profesional, who arived here this week, has already looked over the course, and is greatly pleased with the local golfing conditions, and has expressed the view that great posibilities are in sight in conection with the course. Members and prospective members of the club are reminded that Mr. Anderson brought with him a good stock of clubs, balls, etc., and they will do well to get in touch with him before making any definite steps in the matter of securing equipment for the game.

There is to be a meeting of the Golf Club on Tuesday of next week, at the City Hall, at 8 p.m., to which all interested are invited to attend, whether at present members of the club or not.—Cranbrook Herald.

John Gydosik appeared before Judge Thompson on Wednesday on a charge of having in his possession a still, etc., for the manufacture of spirituous liquor contrary to the provisions of the Inland Revenue Act. The accused was represented by A. I Fisher and pleaded guilty to the charge and a fine of $200 or six months in Nelson gaol was the penalty inflicted, this being the minimum under the Act. The prosecution was conducted by S. Herchmer on behalf of the Dominion government.

Rev. Father Cocola, who recently returned from a trip to his old home in Corsica after an absence of forty-two years, told the story of his life in British Columbia to a large audience in the Roman Catholic church on Sunday evening. Father Cocola is one of those grand old Christian characters whom one only meets once in many years. He says that he counts that day lost on which he fails to bring a smile to the face of a fellow man. The story of his forty years among the Indians and pioneers of British Columbia is one which would fill a volume and every page of it would be interesting.

Complaints come from Crow's Nest that the Alberta police have recently crossed the border into B.C. and forcibly entered certain houses in search of liquor. PLEBISCITE ON BEER URGED

Delegates to the Council of Workers and an educational committee of speakers were appointed by the Trades and Labor Council (International) at Vancouver. The organization also passed a resolution calling on the government to submit a plebiscite to decide whether or not the people wished draught beer on sale.

Delegate Showler introduced a resolution passed by the teamsters, asking the Provincial Government to take a plebiscite on the sale of draught beer, such liquor to be sold on draught meantime, under strict supervision of the Government. Delegate Hardy, as a strict prohibitionist, seconded the motion, declaring that he did so because he believed the recent Moderation Act would be very much modified by the introduction of a beer clause.

The resolution was passed, with some dissenting voices. One delegate, in pointing out the uselessness of attempting to secure a plebiscite, declared that if labor had voted loyally in the last election this would not have been necessary.

"But," he added, "there are no unions in an election. Three parts of the members of unions are in there because they have to be and they do not vote union."

The Council of Workers wrote the Trades and Labor Council asking that delegates be appointed from the council, and that representatives of the Council of Workers would address the trades body if permission was granted. This was done and Messrs. Cowan and Bate appeared. Mr. Cowan told of the evolution of the Council of Workers from the original unemployed committee and said it now represented labor, soldiers and women. The country was facing a crisis in unemployment and next winter did not look as welll as the one just passed, as the workers would not have as much money. The proposal to send 500 men from Vancouver to Edmonton, he said, which was made by the City Council, had brought wired information to him from Edmonton that the unemployed situation in that district was as bad as here. He said that the unemployed were continuing active. They would hold parades and meetings on the Cambie grouds every week.

Delegate Showler asked the speaker what organizations were represented on the Council of Workers, and Mr. Cowan named fourteen. On motion of Delegate Ward of the railway carmen, it was decided to appoint two delegates from the Trades and Labor Council. Nine names were offered in nomination. but all declined excepting Delegate Baker of the painters and Delegate Crawford of the hotel and restaurant employees.

The parliamentary committee reported progress on various bills before it for consideration.

Delegate Ward of the carmen asked for speakers from the international trades to appear before the members of his organization and deliver educational addresses on political and economic questions. They had heard O. B. U. and Socialist oraters, and desired to hear from other speakers. Delegates George Hardy, Ward, Bartlett, and Crawford were appointed with power to select other lecturers.

A GOOD LAW

TheU.S. Dept. of Agriculture estimates that the pasing of the Migratory Bird Law, which forbids the shooting of game birds in the spring, has gained $20,000,000 in food to the country. In many districts where the birds were almost extinct, they are rapidly increasing in numbers, it is said.

HOSPITAL MAN PRAISES TANLAC

Feels Like it Gave Him New Lease On Life, Declares Thomas W. White.

"Tanlac has given me a new lease on life and I'm feeling just fine," said Thomas W. White, of 1960 Bouchier St., Victoria, B. C. Mr. White was overseas for about two years with the army medical corps, and is now employed at the Jubilee Hospital in Victoria.

"About two years ago my appetite failed and I was suffering from all kinds of pains. My appetite was so poor that I ate little more than enough to keep on my feet, and some days I hardly tasted anything at all. At times even the sight of food would nauseate me, and whenever I did eat a little something, it caused a heavy, depressed feeling in my stomach. I often had severe headaches and dizzy spells.

"There was a terrible pain in the small of my back that many a night I didn't sleep more than two hours, and when I would get up in the morning I could scarcely move about or hardly stoop to lace my shoes. I was so miserable I never felt like doing my work, and many a time it seemed like I would simply have to give up altogether.

"When a friend told me about the remarkable good Tanlac had done him, I started taking it myself and I'm now feeling fine in every way. I have an excellent appetite and eat just anything and everything I want at any time and it doesn't trouble me a bit.

"I haven't had a headache since I started on the very first bottle, and that awful pain has entirely disappeared from my back. I sleep like a log every night andget up in the morning feeling refreshed and ready for a good day's work. I owe my present good health to Tanlac, and I'm mighty thankful for all it has done for me."

MINING INDUSTRY

Mr. W. M. Brewer, one of the resident mining engineers of the Provincial Government, who is delivering a series of addresses in the Province, points out that prospectors are becoming scarce. He might have said almost extinct in this province, and the reason he also could have stated if it were not that it would have involved an attack on the Government of which he is an employee. Mineral methods in this province do not tend to encourage prospectors. The claims that have been taken up do not seem to have been properly mapped out, and the information available for would-be prospectors is meagre in the extreme. Government mining recorders and gold commissioners thoughout the province are not able to show inquirers maps of claims staked in their various areas. The result is that seekers after areas to prospect cannot learn what they want to know, or in other words, the cannot ascertain what land is already been staked, and where to go in search of minerals with good prospects of success.

The Department of Mines is to blame because the race of prospectors is almost extinct. There is enough money being spent in that department to bring the knowledge of mining in the Province fully up to date, to devise a policy which would encourage prospectors, and to lead to greater development than is now taking place. There is something radically wrong with mining legislation when it tends to continual action in the courts of the Province. The number of law cases which there have been show that insufficient protection is given to those who are willing to engage in development work, and the possibility of litigation is tnough to quench the pioneering spirit which is exemplified by prospecting, for it means that there will be hesitation about developing claims which have been staked, even if the showings are good. Those who are interested in the mineral industry have made representations to the Government to amend the mining laws to prevent litigation, and to enrourage prospecting along the lines which we point to, but these have not been adopted. Mr. Brewer and any other lecturers of the Government will be more successful in arousing public interest in the mining industry if they can promise, on behalf of the Department of Mines, that some of the handicaps under which it now labors wil be removed.—Colonist.

ADMIT RIGHT TO WORK FOR GAIN

One is not quite sure of all the details of what is happening in Russia, but sufficfient has come out of that stricken country recently to make it plain that the Lenine-Trotsky species of Sovietism has slipped a cog, inasmuch as the pasants have been given the right to trade. This is the first public admision that the Bolsheviki programme is a failure. For three years the peasants of Russia have been able to trade only on the sly, with the fear of running into a murderous Red ever staring them in the face.

Under such conditions the peasants failed to produce, as every thinking person knew would be the case. The average man, even though an illiterate Russian, has too much sense to work for the love of working. A few people do such things, but only in suficient numbers to be rare exceptions to the general rule. In other words, recognition of property and property rights are essential to a nation, as they are to an individual. and the present Russian Government has been obliged to recognize it. Of course, thi sis but one phase of a badly muddled situation. Realizing what they were doing, but not realizing the ultimate consequences, the currency of Russia at the command of the Soviet leaders has been valueless through over-production. This matter which, sooner or later, must be remedied, the remedy possibly consisting in burning up all the present currency that can be gathered in, together with a public declaration that what remains is of no value. This would clean the boards for another start, the new currency being based upon the actual natural assets of the country, with due regard to the amount issued. In this maner it would be posible to produce something in the way of a trade medium that would have some appreciaable value, and could be used for purposes of international as well as national trade.

This programme could only be followed when the country has reached a state of stability far and away advanced from the present order of thing; and probably, will not be possible under the Soviets as they now exist. Anyhow, there is a distinct advance in the present admission that a man may work for gain and once that is admitted the end of the road of Sovietism is in sight.—Saturday Night.

AN ASTOUNDING CRIME

Toronto Mail and Empire

That truth is stranger than fiction, and sometimes even more horrible, has received fresh confirmation as the result of a murder trial in Chicago which resulted in the sentencing to death of Carl Wanderer. More than a year ago he came into prominence in a heroic role. While he and his wife were returning from the movies, they were suddenly attacked by a bandit. Wanderer, who was an ex-lieutenant in the army, accustomed to handling firearms, fortunately had a revolver in his pocket. The bandit fired, striking and killing Mrs. Wanderer. The next instance he fell dead as the result of a shot fired by the husband. Hearing the shots a crowd soon gathered to find the bereaved husband trying in vain to resuscitate his wife. Great sympathy was expressed with Wanderer, who had been recently married and who had apparently lived happily with his wife. An added touch of pathos was the fact that Mrs. Wanderer had expected soon to give birth to a baby. Wanderer continued to live with his mother-in-law for some time, receiving congratulations for his bravery and quickness with hs firearm and condolences for his sad loss. This state of affairs existed until prying police made some discoveries and placed Wanderer under arrest.

One of the peculiar facts they discovered was that the revolver lying beside the dead bandit. the weapon he was supposed to have used against Mrs. Wanderer, was in fact owned by Wanderer, while Wanderer's own revolver was the property of his cousin. Wanderer was asked to explain this curious coincidence, and was unable to do so. Pressed by the police, Wanderer confessed that he had murdered both his wife and the supposed bandit. He revealed the plot so bloodcurdling that even a scenario writer would hesitate to use it. The bandit, he explained, was a "poor boob," whom he had bribed to give him assistance in what Wanderer told him was to be a fake hold-up. He was unarmed. As soon as he appearedWanderer drew a revolver in either hand and shot down his wife with one while he shot the "poor boob' with the other. He threw one of the revolvers down beside the man, and smashed his head against the stone curb in order that life would be extinct before a witness reached the scene. The only explanation Wanderer would or could give for his crimes was that he was tired of married life and wished to re-enlist in the army, in which he had made a creditable war record. Having confessed, he said his only desire was to be led immediately to the gallows. But a trial had to intervene. Lawyers took up his case. His confession was repudiated. He was examined by allenists who pronounced him sane. Eventually a Chicago jury brought him in guilty of murdering his wife. For this crime he was sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment. Then he was placed on trial for murdering the other victim of his plot whose identity has never been established. Found guilty, he has received the death sentence. Not the least astonishing feature of the affair is that for the more shocking crime of murdering a wife who loved and trusted him, he received a less severe penalty than for shooting a homeless hobo, who was willing to connive at a crime for a few dollars to supply himself with dope.

Arising out of some trouble at Yahk on Sunday night, a case was heard before Magistrate Leask on Wednesday morning, a man named Anderson being charged with assault upon Constable Laird of Yahk, who still bears the marks of the affray. A preliminary hearing was given the prisoner early in the week, and on Wednesday, two previous convictions against the prisoner having been registered, he was given the alternative of a $150 fine or six months in goal.—Cranbrook Herald.

In a recent interview in the Financial Post, the attorney general of Alberta stated that last year the Dominion government received from the natural resources of Alberta three million dollars and the province got by grant $650,000.

A Real Bicycle For a Real Boy

"WHY don't you ride your bicycle to school any more, Bill?"

"Well, Dad, everybody laughs at it. The other boys ride rings round me, and call it the old boneshaker."

"Hmm! How long have you had it?"

"Why, it's three years, now. You got it second-hand, Dad —remember?"

"That's right! What kind of bicycles have the other boys?"

"They're nearly all C.C.M.'s. The best ones are, anyway."

"I see. What make would you like best?"

"Why, of course, a C. C. M., Dad, every time!"

Dad Offers Him One for Passing

"Well, now, look here, Bill. If you'll pitch in at school and pass your exams., I'll get you one of those C. C. M. Bicycles. How does that strike you?"

"Dad, I'd do almost anything for a C. C. M. You just watch me!"

"That's the stuff! I've heard C. C. M. Bicycles well spoken of, and one should be a prize worth winning."

"It sure is. C. C. M.'s look so snappy and ride so easy. Pewee Bowman has one of the new models and it has the C. C. M. Triplex Crank Hanger. He loaned it to me yesterday for five minutes. Gee, it was just like riding on air!"

"Why, what difference does the Triplex Hanger make?"

"Well, there's never any looseness or tightness when you're pedalling. You feel that every single bit of weight you put on the pedals counts for speed.

"And the C. C. M. doesn't tire a fellow out, either, Dad, Why young Mac Reynolds—he's only half as big as me—rides around all day on his C. C. M. It never tires him out.

"And there's a special bike that I won't outgrow, Dad. It's equally good for a lad of nine or a youth of twenty. It's called the C. C. M. 18-inch Curved Bar Model."

"That's a fine idea, Bill. Dig in, now, pass your exams., and that C. C. M. bike is yours."

(Bill Passed All Right.)

"WAY DOWN EAST"

In his master production of "Way Down East," which comes to the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28, it is apparent that David W. Griffith has seized upon the opportunity to reflect life in all its moods. He has taken this story of a woman's struggles and the surrounding pastoral element to bring forth all shades of love and life, contrasting the rural simplicities with the teem of city luxury. He brings forth the joy of righteousness only to place beside them the woe of sin and shame. Not content to unfold the moods of life, Griffith in all the mastery of his genius and art takes advantage of Nature's whims and shows her moods also. There is happy Spring bursting into the open Summer, while sombre Autumn turns on the lathe of season to the drab of bleak winter. That this all gives wide range to the photographer's art it is useless to emphasize, but these changing landscape vistas are merely in keeping with the shifting modes of life as brought forth in the incidents of the drama. Fitting Nature's moods to keep pace with the theme of life is art and genius, and in so doing Mr. Griffith has struggled to heights previously unknown even for him.

In his climax the producer ends with his most remarkable scenes which in reality are but a conventional culmination in the crescendo of major mode of the rightful joys of human existence.

To bring forth Nature in her varying and visible forms Mr. Griffith and his staff of assistants expended more than ten month of tedious effort. That an enormous fortune was expended in the filming of these scenes has no bearing on the merits of the presentation. Mention of the scenes of splendor and tremendous power should not be made without reference to the minor details and as concerns the simple yet liberal flashes of wholesome fun enjoyed by the plain inhabitants of countryside. Their barn dances, sleigh rides and community antics bring the glow of youth back to the most jaded city cheek and afford excellent relief in periods for the intensity of the theme that underlies the whole of the dramatic denouement.

Mr. Griffith did not end with his care in production but in the presentation here, as elsewhere, he surrounds the screen unfolding of the tale with an orchestral accompaniment that accentuates these shifting moods he had brought forth in human and landscape expression. An augmented orchestra supplies the thematic and colorful scheme that adds to the richness of this artistic endeavor.

Not the least interest attaches to the long list of unusually capable players who enact the various roles. Among them are Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, May Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Kate Bruce, Vivia Ogden, Creighton Hale, Florence Short, George Neville, Mrs. Morgan Belmont and a host of others.

"Way Down East" will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre for two days only, Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28. The presenting organization is a large one carrying a large symphony orchestra.

MASTER PLUMBERS' CORRECT LINES.

The Master Plumbers' Asociation of Montreal have struck out on the right lines. They propose to gauge wages by the work performed, passing up the present system which is to the effect that a uniform rate of wages is paid to worker and slacker alike, based not on the work performed, but on the time put in on the job. All of which places a burden on the public and is now one of the chief reasons why building operations are sick and artisans out of employment. The committee of the association which investigated conditions in the plumbing trade found that some employees turned out three times as much work as their mates, though getting the same money, the working conditions in both instances being the same. This is considered a hardship to the men whose skill and efficiency enable them to make a larger output, and put a premium on incompetency and loafing. As has often been pointed out in these colums the one great objection, indeed about the only serious objection to labor unions is the tendency, owing to the uniform hourly wage for a given trade, to work down to the least efficient in place of up to the most skilled.—Saturday Night.

THE WHALE

(by Walt Mason)

The other day I saw a whale, the first my old eyes ever viewed; it frolicked on the waters pale, and made me think I must be stewed. For I was gazing out to sea, my mind concerned with fancies light, a book of verse on my knee, and not prepared for such a sight. It seemed a gay and happy fish, a very optimistic whale, and made the water go kerswish, whene'er it flapped its tail. An ancient seaman at my side looked on, with trouble on his brow; "The whales are getting scarce," he cried, "we do not often see them now. The whale you see may be the last, where countless thousands used to lurk; they're killing off the poor things fast—machinery now does the work. The riskey life seemed good to me when I fought whales, in bygone years, but now they butcher whales at sea as K. C. packers butcher steers. The good old monsters of the deep don't have a chance to keep their goats; the harvesters go forth to reap the whales as farmers harvest oats. They used to haunt this sunny coast, you'd see them any winter day; but they have yielded up the ghost, they're killed and canned and shipped away." And still the whale seemed void of care, from every dread and trouble free; it stood on end and leaped in air, and gamboled in a silver sea.

SCIENTIFIC PALMIST COMING

Sergt. Rosen, the celebrated palmist — the man with 10'000 eyes — is expected in Fernie shortly. The Nanaimo Herald and the Nanaimo Free Press publish very satisfactory accounts of him. "The sergeant," they state, "is an expert palmist, and if you are interested in the subject you could not do better than pay him a visit. He delineates incidents in your past life very correctly, giving you details and incidents that had completely slipped your memory. Sergt. Rosen, who served in the war, is a son of one of the greatest palmists of the European continent."

After visiting Penticton, Grand Forks, Nelson and Fernie he will go to Banff, where he has been requested to spend the summer in his professional capacity. He carries with him many credentials, and there is no doubt but that the people of Fernie, if they pay him a visit, will enjoy his scientific readings, which according to all accounts, are wonderfully future, which are not of the fairy-accurate, and his prophesies of the story character.

(b) One-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies, and
(c) All profits earned on no-participating policies and other sources.

THE MUTUAL COMPANY: Is purely a means of mutual protection. There is no capital invested excepting the premiums of the policyholders; so that all profit derived from whatever source, is the exclusive property of the policyholders and is returned to them as dividends.

THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCE: The above statement reveals the essential difference between stock and mutual companies. Just as some co-operative enterprises eliminate "the middleman," so a mutual life company eliminates the "Shareholder," as the late Wm. McCabe, L.L.B., F.I.A., has said—"The mutual principle is the only one by which the participating members of a life insurance company can receive a full equivalent for their money. It gives insurance at net cost."

FATALLY CRUSHED

Last Monday afternoon a sad accident occurred in this city, when Wm. Cole, a long standing resident, suddenly met his death. Deceased had contracted to raise the dwelling house owned by one Mike Barrow, at 369 Mackenzie Avenue. At the time of the accident he, together with his two sons, William, Jr., and James, also Mike Barron, were under the building attempting to raise it up a little higher, when a bystander noticed it start to slip forward and sideways on the supports holding it up. He warned the men engaged at work under the house of the pending trouble and the two Cole boys managed to crawl out from under and get clear. Barron hurriedly crawled towards the rear and dropped down in a small cellar excavation but sustained a broken finger and slightly crushed hand. Mr. Cole, however, was not so fortunate, and before he could reach safety one of the supporting stringers came upon him, crushing him lifeless.

Coroner Duthie was called and after investigating the matter thoroughly decided death was from purely accidental causes and that an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral was held this morning from the Roman Catholic church and was largely attended.

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD

Three gentlemen, selected by the government to carry on the liquor traffic under the provisions of the Moderation Act, are about to enter upon the performance of their official duty.

Only the honest, efficient, fearless performance of this duty will prevent the province being plunged into a sordid, wallowing condition of drunken debasement.

The conditions of the Moderation Act are entirely experimental, but we have certain knowledge of the conditions attached to the illicit traffic in liquor.

Members of the Liquor Control Board will be subjected to every possible temptation—feminine as well as financial—in an effort to break down their morale and give scope for illicit traffic in liquor.

No board has ever had placed in its keeping, in such adirect measure, the good name and fair fame of this province. Correspondingly no public imposed upon it more important public duties.

Citizenship requires that full assistance and support be given to the Liquor Control Board and to the provisions of the Moderation Act, to the end that every effort to carry on illicit liquor traffic fail and that government control get a fair, honest trial. This is of importance to every taxpayer, even introducing the somewhat lower element of revenue, as every illicit transaction in liquor will constitute a theft from the provincial revenue.

In the fierce white light which beats upon a highly lucrative business the members of the Liquor Control Board are likely to receive more criticism than sympathy. We protest in advance and suggest that criticism be withheld until the board has had time and opportunity to make a reasonable attempt to give effective enforcement to the provisions of the Moderation Act.—Vancouver Sun.

VLADIVOSTOCK PAPER ARIVES IN VICTORIA

A copy of The Vladivostock Daily News—overseas weekly edition, and published in English—has been received at the Colonist office, and, coming from the land of disturbances and confused reports, it is of particular interest.

The publication is a four-page one, printed on heavy newsprint. The Echo Publishing Company isues the paper, which was established in February, 1920, and which is edited by Mr. G. A. Firth. The offices are in the National Hotel, on Pekinskaya Street, Vladivostock.

Sidelights on conditions are given by the folowing excerpts:

"Mr. V. O. Kurkutov has again been elected president of Primorsk district Chamber of Commerce, and being requested to state his opinion as to the prospects of trade and industry of this district, replied as follows:

"The existing uncertainty is paralyzing all industrial enterprise. No one is sure that their invested capital is safe, so that it is impossible to depend on any work in the future, until the atitude of the government towards private ownership is decided, in consequence of which foreign capital is not invested here, and there is none of our own, it is all devaluated, all has come to an end."

"According to informants arriving from along the line the 'county supreme Bolshevik Commission' has committed an atrocious act in shooting about 1,000 lumbermen of the union. This union was composed of many intelligent men who could not find other work, and it was recognized by the Bolsheviks. Upon the statement of an informant that this union was producing large quantities of instruments as also collecting firearms, said commission found it necessary to arrest the union organizers and eventually all its members were put under guard. Various fictitious charges were brought against them, and the organizer, engineer Zaitzev, and his coleagues were put under torture. To drown any noise during the process an orchestra played. The first hundred were simply hacked down by Madyars in a cellar of the commission in groups of ten, and the rest were led out of the town and shot. The mass trial of these men depressed the inhabitants of Krasnoyarsk very much. This is the second mass trial since the so-called 'clearing' of the prison, which was also executed by Madyars, who led the prisoners in groups out of the town and shot them."—Colonist.

CONCERT IN AID OF LIBRARY

A well organized concert for which Mrs. A. Watson was responsible was held in the United Church on Friday last in aid of the Library Funds. The concert was a great success and was enjoyed to the full by one of the largest audiences ever seen within the walls of the United Church.

The chair was taken by Dr. E. L. Garner, chairman of the Library Board, who gave a short synopsis of the Board's activities to date.

The following persons took part in the program:

Miss Ada Harper, Miss Anderson, Harold Anderson, Mrs. Osborne, Mr. Owen, Mr. Bass, Miss Hogan, Miss McDonald, Mr. Watson, Mrs. Suddaby, Mrs. Lawes.

By wish of the promoter no encores were permissible but the audience would not be denied a second selection from Mr. Watson and from Mrs. F. R. Lawes, whose splendid rendering of Il Bacio fairly brought down the house. Mrs. Watson is to be congratulated on the progress her pupils have made.

The Library Board has been handed the sum of $145 as a result of the concert, and we are informed that this sum will be used entirely for the purchase of new books.

Mrs. Watson was the recipient of two floral tributes, one from the pupils and the other from the Library Board, which were very gracefully presented by two charming little ladies, Miss Elsie Covert and Miss Jean McKinnon.

MARRIED AT DUNCAN

Duncan, April 16.—A wedding of much interest was celebrated at St. John's Church, Duncan, on Thursday afternoon, when Isabel Hunter, daughter of the late Mr. John Mann, of Fernie, B.C., was united in wedlock to Capt. A. Phillip Pullen, of Cowichan Street, Rev. F. L. Stephenson, assisted by the Rev. A. Bischlager, officiating.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, and has acted as supervisor of the King's Daughters' Hospital here for several months past, was given in marriage by Mrs. Ann Matheson, the matron of the local hospital, and a bevy of nurses were in attendance at the wedding.

POLICE AFTER THE MOTORISTS

Under the civic traffic reguations one Louis Pes appeared before Magistrate Whimster and was fined $25 and costs for exceeding the 15 mile per hour on Victoria Avenue last Sunday. This is the first prosecution this year under the Motor Traffic Act, but it is the opinion of the police department that unless motorists reduce their speed while travelling within the city, and refrain from other flagrant breaches ,such as cutting corners, turning between intersecting highways, driving on the wrong side of the street, and driving without proper lights at night, the police court will be kept fairly busy. Another noticeable breach of the Act is that a great many owners are still using last year's license plates. They should immediately pay the 1921 fees and secure the new plates, otherwise they will be penalized for the carelessness.

With regard to dog licenses, unless payment is made on or before April 30, the 50c rebate now allowed will automatically stop, and the dog owner further liable to fine.

The Chief of Police reports that the city is very orderly, generally speaking, and that the department is not overburdened quelling disturbances of the peace.

THE NAUGHTY BRIDE

(Daily Herald, Prince Albert)

The Eckhardt company provided a delightful entertainment at the Empress Theatre last evening in presenting "The Naughty Bride." The title of the comedy is somewhat of a misnomer, but there is no doubt about its mirth producing qualities. The vehicle was well chosen and the cast well balanced, resulting in a really excellent performance. The farce, for that is what it realy amounted to, circled around the acceptance of a temporary job taking care of a splendid apartment while the owner is away by James Pottlebury, a small town business man. He has a tiff with his wife, who departs, and in the meantime the bride of the real owner arrives. A scheming housekeeper, piqued by harsh comment on servants made by the temporary occupant, hides his clothes and also those of the bride, with the result that one spends the day in a dressing gown, the other in a negligee. A ferocious western brother joins in the affair and the real husband finally arrives. The affair is a rolling snowball of ludicrous situation which pile fast one upon the other until the denouement is reached. The straighting out of the tangle is weakly conceived, but by the time that is reached the audience is in a frame of mind to accept anything funny and is holding aching sides. Oliver Eckhardt as the business man and Miss Letta Carlyle as the bride were very good. Miss Carlyle is a perfect ingenue, with baby ways and taking manner. Miss Kitty Gebler as the scheming housekeeper carried a difficult part creditably. Arthur Burgess as the fire-eating brother of the bride played a convincing role. The offering was well received by the audience, which crowed the theatre to capacity.

"The Naughty Bride" is playing at the Grand Theatre, for two nights, tonight and tomorrow night, April 22nd and 23rd.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary G.W.V.A. the officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. D. F. Markland.
Vice-President—Mrs. E. Wood.
Secretary—Miss Nelly Wood.
Treasurer—Mrs. R. Billsborough.

In handing over the reins of office to the new president, Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, in a neat characteristic speech, thanked the membership for their loyalty and co-operation during her term of office (four years), and asked that the same support be given to the new officers. Mrs. Moffatt gave a brief resume of the work accomplished since the inception of the Ladies Auxiliary. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers.

ROD & GUN CLUB MEETING

The general meeting of the District Rod and Gun Club was held in the city council chamber on April 5.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, and the following officers were elected for this year:

President—G. R. Johnston.
Vice-President—M. Tully.
Sec.-Treas.—J. Carnworth.
Executive—Wm. Baldrey, F. Dennison, E. Reid, N. E. Suddaby, T. Beck, A. Frearson, Geo. Hearn, T. Lawes, Geo. Schupe, Dr. Pickering, R. Crowe, F. Spalding, T. Prentice and Mr. Weir.

A communitaction from the B. C. Anglers, of Vancouver, was read, dealing with the closing of Sunday fishing, hunting, etc. After a considerable discussion a resolution was adopted and the secretary instructed to get twenty lists ready and sent to outlying points, and also solicit signatures in the city, protesting against the stopping of Sunday hunting and fishing. This protest will be sent to the Attorney General at an early date. Messrs. Prentice, Spalding and Tully were appointed a committee to bring this communication before the Board of Trade at its meeting on April 7. This was carried out and every member of the board present signed the petition.

The Secretary was instructed to write Captain Hamer, Supt. of the Gerrard Hatchery, inviting him to visit Fernie and look into local fishing conditions. Also to write Mr. Granger, game warden at Canal Flats, asking him for particulars and facts in connection with game protection for this district, particularly on the winter ranges.

During the evening the retiring President, Mr. Beck, spoke on the general results of the work done last year, and pointed out the fact that the club was responsible for getting the government to appoint two permanent game wardens for the Elk River Reserve, and the consequent conviction of many for killing game out of season.

MADE-IN-B.C. CAMPAIGN

Announcement was made by Hon. F. B. Carvell that the freight rates on lumber from British Columbia would be decreased. This, it is expected, will result in an increased demand for British Columbia timber on the prairies.

-o-

There is enough uncut timber in Brtish Columbia to build a board walk, a quarter of a mile wide, around the equator, and a ladder to the moon.

-o-

British Columbia poultry set new records in the Dominion egg-laying contests, according to announcement made from Ottawa, thus proving the adaptability of the province for poultry raising.

-o-

During the four months from December 15th to April 15th, the sum of $300,00.00 was paid out in the City of Vancouver for relief. This would not have been necessary if the consumers of Britsh Columbia bought the goods they help to produce.

-o-

The people of British Columbia last year used 19 042,884 eggs that were not produced in the province. They aided the local poultry men by importing from foreign countries—principally China, Japan and the United States—1,073,567 dozen eggs. Imports from other provinces amounted to 512,175 dozens.

-o-

During 1920 the citizens of British Columbia increased their imports of farm products from other provinces by $312,767; but they increased their imports from foreign countries by $3,599,175—according to figures complied by the Government.

-o-

British Columbia is a fruit raising country, yet last year foreign imports show that 4,138,704 pounds of apples, valued at $316,656.00, were brought to the province. The previous year the total was 1,005,400 pounds, valued at $45 366.00. Other tree fruits brought into the province in 1920 weighed 3,144,903 pounds—being a decrease of a million pounds over 1919. We imported 6,307,982 pounds of canned fruits in 1920 as against 2,679,751 pounds in 1919 and 1,712,517 pounds in 1918.

If the purchasers of British Columbia will make use of the goods that they produce and manufacture, there will be no unemployment in the country.

A questionnaire was sent out by the "Made-inB.C. Campaign Offces" asking what employment would be given in the vicinity of Vancouver if the people of that locality gave preference to the products produced in B. C. The data has not been completed, but answers to date shows that 34 firms will give employment to 951 workers if the ctizens of British Columbia are loyal to their own products.

-o-

Citizens of Golden are petitioning the Provincial Government to construct a road from 8 mlie to 20 mile. An effort will also be made to induce the Dominion Government to construct a highway from Golden to Leanchoil, completing a circuit from Windermere to Banff and Golden.

-o-

Building permits were taken out for 143 dwellngs in Vancouver during the month of March.

-o-

Reports from different railways received by Mr. W. E. Payne, Secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia, announce the abolition of the 8 cents arbitrary freight rate. Ths means the successful culmination of a long fight to have British Columbia rates equalized with those of points in the State of Washington.

-o-

The interests of the firm of Simon Leiser & Co., one of the pioneer mercantile establishments of Vancouver Island, at Cumberland, have been sold to Messrs. Burns and Brown, former employees.

-o-

The Provincial Government appropriated $200,000.00 for new buildings at Prince Rupert.

-o-

The B. C. Electric Railway Co., will receive $400,000.00 from the Provincial Treasury to assist in the cost of changing their service to conform to the "Rule to the Right."

-o-

A large order for railway ties has been placed with British Columbia mills from Egypt.

-o-

The Canadian National Railways' Station to be built at Prince George will be large enough to take care of the traffic for some years to come, railway officials announce.

-o-

If the strike continues in England, it is considered possible that British Columbia Coal may be shipped there.

-o-

The Allies have demanded from Germany, as indemnity, the sum of 55 billion gold marks. The German Empire has a population of 70,000,000 persons. They have forty years in which to pay the indemnity. This means that the per capita payment is $5.00 per annum.

The per capita payment of the people of this country to the United States in exchange alone last year was $17.25, and the Allies won the war. The only way to reduce our exchange is to buy at home.

-o-

British Columbia Jams, Jellies and canned fruits are equal to any produced in the world—yet hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of these commodities have been imported.

-o-

The manufacture of an unique toy has been commenced. This toy is of constructional character, made entirely of wood. It will sell cheaper and is of more substantial character than any on the market. There are many other wood products that could be manufactured from British Columbia timber.

-o-

If all the cigars smoked each year in British Columbia were placed in one line, they would reach from Vancouver to Edison, Ont. Those produced in British Columbia and smoked in this province would not extend beyond Kamloops.

DISEASE IN NANAIMO DUE TO IMPURE MILK

Alarmed at the large number of children that are sufering from enlarged glands, which condition is mainly attributed to impure milk, Dr. Drysdale, City Medical Health Officer, had Inspector Brooks, of the Department of Agriculture, come up from Victoria to inspect the various dairies selling milk in the city. As a result of the inspection, of 195 cattle owned by the dairymen, 75 were found to be tubercular, with five suspects. Theinspector found that only one or two dairies were immune from diseased cattle. There yet remains several dairies to be inspected and a complete report will not be ready for several days. Sitting as a Board of Health, the City Council met last evening to discuss the situation and receive the report of the Medical Health Officer on conditions of dairies already inspected.

Dr. Drysdale stated that conditions were worse than he thought they were when he requested the Government inspector to come to Nanaimo. The milk supplied Nanaimo will be short two hundred gallons per day owing to the isolation of the diseased herds. Until some arrangements are made for a larger supply of milk, the Medical Health Officer suggested the use of condensed milk.

It was finally decided to ask the dairymen to meet the Council next Monday following the Council meeting, to go over the situation. It was also decided to write to the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association for quotations on the price of milk.

The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

ADVERTISING

A Modern Necessity

ADVERTISING is today one of the greatest forces at work in our everyday life. Governments use it to announce new policies, to raise money and armies, and to mould public opinion. It enables you to judge values, to buy to better advantage. It influences you in what you wear, eat, buy and do.

THE CALGARY HERALD is Alberta's largest and best known advertising medium. It carries all important announcements—changes in railroad schedules, legal notices, the big city stores' bargains, the special sales, theatrical, amusement and sporting events, births and deaths, a directory of Alberta's professional firms, auction sales, new legislation, first word of the new fashions, etc.,—you will find them all in Alberta's Greatest Daily.

THE HERALD'S Classified Advertising pages represent the greatest market place in the west. Here more buyers and sellers meet daily than through any other medium. It's here that thousands turn when they want something,—and they save time and money.

IN addition to giving you a bigger, better paper, and more and better news, The Herald carries all the advertising that is worth while.

U. S. CAN SET BALL ROLLING

(Toronto Mail and Empire)

The war had run more than half its full time before the United States became a belligerent. Is the work of world reconstruction to be equally far advanced before the same country put a hand to it? The years of its neutrality brought a rich harvest to the United States. Britain and her allies were practically depleted of their gold holdings by the time our neighbor entered the war, by which time also they were very heavily pledged to the United States for loans wherwith to buy supplies and munitions from American producers. Eastern Europe suffered from the war more than any part of Western Europe excepting perhaps Northern France and Belgium. At all events the war left a great part of Europe in a state of prostration, in which it has been lying ever since. Never was there greater need for merchandise of all kinds than there is there at the present time, but the countries in which that need is the greatest are least able to stand the demand for the commodities they want. The disadvantage at which they are placed in this respect is reflected in the shrunken rate quoted for their money on the exchanges. If these war-wasted countries were taken in hand by an international syndicate capable of tiding them through their trouble and setting them on their feet,no body would benefit more by their economic restoration than Uncle Sam himself. Merchandise with which his warehouses are now crammed would be well entered into comsumption in external markets, and the great stocks of American goods that are now held in store overseas, such as bacon and other staples, would be ministering to the needs of a population that are now undernourished and largely unproductive.

In his own interest Uncle Sam ought to be taking a foremost part in this work of financing the stagnant industries of some of the countries of Europe. If he had been rendering his good offices in that particular during the last six months, his own trade and industry would be far more flourishing than they are at the present time. He would have fewer men and women in the ranks of his own army of unemployed. His manufactures would not then be constrained to dump goods on this market. Out of the vast wealth the war brought to the United States that country could bring regeneration to some of the ruined countries of Europe. That would give a start to the revival of world trade and set the wheels going everywhere. When, on one side, there are large populations willing and able to work but without financial resources, and, on the other side, large populations who have accumulated wealth in every form but are more or less in a state of standstill for lack of markets, it ought to be easy to produce the spark necessary for bringing about union. Uncle Sam is in a position to do the world and himself great good by producing the electrc shock required. When a large plant of the world on one continent is in a state of want because it cannot get the necessaries of life and the production of which there is a superfluity on another continent, then we must have a like state of affairs within the communities concerned A large part of the population of the United States must be idle and in more or less need notwithstanding that another large part of the same population is desirous to provide employment that will be of pecuniary benefit to all. It is at the toe of Uncle Sam's boot the ball lies. It is for him to set it rolling.

MAY SEND B.C. COAL TO UNITED KINGDOM

It is probable that British Columbia coal will be shipped to England in the course of the next few weeks. As a result of the British coal strike it is felt that a market exists in the old country and Mr. Valentine Quinn, general executive agent of the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, intimated today that enquires are being instituted as to the possibility of making shipments. The Granby Company operates extensive coal workings at Cassidy on Vancouver Island.

Present low freight rates make such a proposition attractive, in the opinion of Mr. Quinn. There are idle bottoms all up and down the coast and in Vancouver the steamship Margaret Coughland is tied up for lack of cargo. If the Granby plans mature it is possible that this ship will again put to sea.

"The American coal exporters will first make a bid for the extensive British export trade and will not bother about the British domestic market, I think. This gives us a chance to literally ship coal to Newcastle. It is all a question of low freight rates, and I can see no reason in this present dull state of the shipping business why these can not be secured," said Mr. Quinn.—Province.

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

GOMPERS IS TOLD FACTS

WASHINGTON, APRIL 17—Secretary Hughes, writing to Samuel Gompers, who asked for a statement of "the facts" regarding Russia, indicates definitely that there is no prospect of a resumption of relations with the United States while the soviet political and economic system remains.

The letter replies to various statements characterized as propaganda which contend resumption of relations with the soviets would open a great current of trade of advantage to the United States and that large shipments of Russian gold have been made to other countries in payment for goods.

Soviet Russia, the secretary declares, is a "gigantic economic vacuum" and he adds that "no evidence exist that the unfortunate situation is likely to be alleviated so long as the present system continues."

Taking up the charge that the scarcity of goods in Russia is due to the blockade, removed last July 8, and the statement that the demand for manufactured goods in Russia is so great and the soviet purchasing power so vast that it is almost impossible to determine the capacity of the Russian market to imports, Secretary Hughes wrote:

"Though there is almost no limit to the commodities needed by Russia, the purchasing power of that country is at a minimum and the demand must remain unsatisfied. * * * The attitude and action of the authorities of Russia have tended to undermine its political and economic relations with other countries.

"The Russian people are unable to obtain credit and are compelled to be deprived of commodities immediately necessary. * * * It should not be overlooked that there has been a steady degeneration in even those industries in soviet Russia not dependent on imports nor in which there has been no shortage of labor. * * *

"Restriction on direct trade with Russia was removed by the United States July 8, 1920. Conclusion of treaties of peace with the Baltic states enabled Russia to enter upon trade with Europe and the United States. Both American and European goods have been sold to Russia but the volume of trade has been unimportant, due to the inability of Russia to pay.

"It is true agents purporting to be representatives of the so-called bolshevist commissariat of foreign trade have placed immense orders for the purchase of goods in the United States, Europe and Asia. It is estimated perhaps six and one-half billion dollars worth of orders have been booked. But shipments have been made only in small volume because the soviet agents were unable either to pay cash or obtain credit."

In reality, the secretary says, transfers of Russian gold to other countries have been small and at the most liberal estimates the soviets have not more than $175,000,000 gold. Even immediate expenditure of the whole amount in the United States, he says, would have no lasting effect on American trade or industry and it might take away the scant hope left of a sound reorganization of the Russian system of currency and finance.

There have been since December 18, Secretary Hughes says, no restrictions on financial transactions between the United States and Russia although there is no assurance that the mint or the reserve banks will accept Russian gold.

"The facts," as to supplies in Russia available for export, he wrote, "completely refute" statements that if the United States recognized the soviets, Russia immediately would export lumber, flax, hemp, fur and other commodities. "The facts," he says show Russia does not have enough export commodities which might be made the basis of immediately profitable trade with the United States and he adds that the Russian transportation system is demoralized. He quotes an official soviet organ to show lumber production in 1920 was one-fifth of the prewar level. A table shows the output of eight principal exporting commodities at from 12 to 85 per cent. of what was expected.

"Furthermore," he points out, "before the war American trade with Russia consisted only one and three-eights per cent. of all the foreign trade of the United States, being in the year ended June 30, 1918, $55,000,000 for both exports and imports while for 1920 it was $13,000,000 and practically all of that was with territories free of soviet domination.

"It is unquestionably desirable," he wrote, "that intimate and mutually profitable commercial relations be established between the United States and Russia and it is the sincere hope of this government that there may be readjustments in Russia which will make it possible for that country to resume its proper place in the economic life of the world."—Spokesman Review.

Orpheum—Monday and Tuesday

'WAY DOWN EAST'

In his master production of "Way Down East" shown at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, April 27th and 28th; it is apparent that David W. Griffith has seized upon the opportunity to reflect life in all its moods. He has taken this story of a woman's struggles and the surrounding pastoral element to bring forth all shades of love and life, contrasting the rural simplicities with the teem of city luxury. He brings forth the joys of righteousness only to place beside them the woe of sin and shame. Not content to unfold the moods of life, Griffith in all the mastery of his genius and art takes advantage of Nature's whims and shows her moods also. There is happy Spring bursting into Summer, while sombre Autumn turns on the lathe of season to the drab of bleak Winter. That this all gives wide range to the photographer's art, it is useless to emphasize, but these changing landscape vistas are merely in keeping with the shifting modes of life as brought forth in the incidents of the drama. Fitting Nature's moods to keep apace with the theme of life is art and genius, and in so doing, Mr. Griffith has struggled to heights previously unknown even for him.

In his climax the producer ends with his most remarkable scenes which in reality are but a convention al culmination in the crescendo or major mode of the rightful joys of human existence.

To bringforth Nature in her varying and visible forms, Mr. Griffith and his staff of assistants expended more than ten months of tedious effort. That an enormous fortune was expended in the filming of these scenes has no bearing on the merits of the presentation. Mention of the scenes of splendor and tremendous power should not be made without reference to minor details and as concerns the simple yet liberal flashes of wholesome fun enjoyed by the plain inhabitants of countryside. Their barn dances, sleigh rides and community antics bring the glow of youth back to the most jaded city cheek and afford excellent relief in periods for the intensity of the theme that underlines the whole of the dramatic denouement.

Mr. Griffith did not end with his care in production, but in the presenation here, as elsewhere, he surrounds the screne unfolding of the tale with an orchestral accompaniment that accentuates these shifting moods he had brought forth in human and landscape expression. An augmented orchestra supplies the thematic and colorful scheme that adds to the richness of this artistic endeavor.

Not the least interest attaches to the long list of unusually capable players who enact the various roles. Among them are Lillian Gish, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Hay, Burr McIntosh, Lowell Sherman, Kate Bruce, Vivia Ogden, Creighton Hale, Florence Short, George Neville, Mrs. Morgan Belmont and a host of others.

"Way Down East" will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre for two days only, Wednesday and Thursday, April 27th and 28th. The presenting organization is a large one carrying a large symphony orchestra.

FRIEND DID HER A GREAT FAVOR

Mrs. Godbout Takes Tanlac On Adivce Given Her. Health Restored

"My friend certainly was right when she told me Tanlac was the best medicine in the world," said Mrs. C. Godbout, Coquitlan, B. C., while telling her experience with Tanlac.

"For more than a year I could hardly eat enough to keep me up, and many days I wouldn't even sit down to a table. I had to eat only the lightest of foods, and even these bloated me until it looked like I would smother, my heart palpitated frightfully and I could hardly endure the pains in my stomach. Every day I had sick headaches which nearly set me wild, and at times the small of my back hurt so bad I could scarcely move around. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep and always felt so tired and worn out I could scarcely do my housework.

"One day a friend called to see me and told me Tanlac was the best medicine she ever heard of for troubles of my kind, so I took her advice and started taking it. Well, I've taken seven bottles now and my appetite was never better, and, although I am eating just anything I want, nothing gives me the least pain or distress. I never have a headache or pain in my back, sleep like a child every night and am feeling just as well as I ever did in my life and my housework is once more a real pleasure. Since Tanlac has done so much for me I just can't praise it highly enough."

THE ISLAND OF YAP

A piece of worthless and barren soil in mid-Pacific is agitating the chancellories of the world and laying the groundwork of international differences between two great nations. The Island of Yap has little or no claim to consideration except for its cable facilities. This Island is now being controled by Japan under a mandate from the Supreme Council. The decision to this effect was reached by resolution in 1919, and the terms of the mandate were decided upon in December last. Japan has since been busy preparing a suitable administration. The reports that she is using the island for fortifications and naval activity are unfounded according to a statement of the Foreign Office at Tokio. The islands in the Pacific which have come under Japanese control, as an outcome of the war and in recognition of her having driven the German fleet from this ocean, have little economic or strategic value. Their total area is less than that of Rhode Island. Japanese occupation has not interfered with foreign rights in these islands. In Yap foreign firms continue to do business. and American missionaries are there preaching their gospel.

Japan has announced her policy regarding Yap as the devotion of attention to peace, developement and the welfare of the native. The United States' attitude is that the island should be internationalized because of its cable facilities, but, since Japan bore the brunt of the war in the Pacific, this is, at least, a question in which she is deserving of some consideration, especially since she is exercising the executive powers in Yap. What America really objects to is Japanese influences extending any more in this direction, and this is either a question upon which the Supreme Council will reverse its decision to gratify the United States, or else leave it to the latter country and Japan to settle their differences.

It is extraordinary that the protest of America should be so belated, and that it should not have been preferred in concise form until Japan was actually confirmed in her administration of the island of Yap. France is now willing that the United States and Japan should decide between them on what the future of the island should be. Great Britain has yet to be heard from on the subject. World opinion will be that there has been but little advance in the direction of international peace when such a subject as Yap can cause international rivolries and jealouses.—Colonist.

BOLSHEVISM AT CLOSE RANGE

It would not be surprising if the guess that the Russian radicals deported from this country were taking a hand in the anti-soviet revolt turned out to be a good one. It is true the deportees were ardent suporters of the Bolshevist theories while they were in the United States, but when they got to Russia and investigated Bolshevism at first hand there is reason to believe their views changed. They were communists in this country, where there was plenty to eat, only the most congenial work to do—consisting mostly of propaganda making—and speech was free. Communism is very attractive in a country where people pay to get into lecture halls to hear about it. But when the deported propagandists got to Russia they found that particular stage of communism had passed. The people over there didn't get it in lectures; they were living it, and from all accounts it was very poor living. The communist soup was thin, the communist fuel scare and the communist work hard.—Kansas City Tmes.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle.

"It's as simple as A. B. C.

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is the power plant of your bicycle.

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you.

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power.

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults.

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade.

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant.

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

THE COAL INDUSTRY

What will be the cost of the Coal Commission, and what will be the outcome of its investigations? Already this investigating body, which was to have reported at the last session of the Legislature, has been given three extensions of time to complete its labors, and each of these has added a very considerably to the expenses involved. All the evidence pertinent to the subject could have been secured in a fortnight's time, yet the Commission will have been sitting for two months by the time its report is ready. Then, when the recommendations are received by the Provincial Government, nothing will be done, for the simple reason that the Province has no authority in the matter. The whole investigation is an academic proceeding to soothe the clamors of certain Vancouver parties who should have been better informed on Provincial powers than to induce the Government to indulge in such an expenditure.

It is in matters such as this Coal Commission, as well as in other ways, that Provincial funds are beng wasted. Had the Province the power to regulate profits it might have been justified, although the truth is that the Commission is probably very little wiser today about what profits are being made in the coal trade than it was when it commenced its labors. the coal industry in British Columbia shares the economic conditions which prevail in other parts of the world and, speaking generally, the industry has fallen on evil days. The conditions in Great Britain are a proof of this. We do not think the industry here has suffered unduly, but it has been by no means as flourishing as in previous years, and this is due to a world-wide situation. The Provincial Coal Commision is hardly likely to find a remedy and even if it possesses the economic wisdom to suggest one on the basis of its investigations, the probability is it will find that profits accruing are not commensurate with the capital that has been invested in the industry. British Columbia should adopt a policy of retrenchment and economy in the appointment of commissions. They may be useful in some instances, but only where the subject matter to be inquired into is one relative to which the Province can legislate if need arises.—Victoria Colonist.

NEW ANCHOR LINER "ALGERIA" A SHIP WITH MARBLE HALLS

A ship with strikingly beautiful interiors and a rather romantic history, is the new addition to the Anchor Line service, the "Algeria," sailing between Glasgow and New York.

Remarkable features about her interior decorations are the marble in her public rooms. The visitor, or passenger, entering the dining room stands amazed at the sight of the golden marble with which all sides of the room are finished. Marble also adds to the beauty of the lounge, smoking room and music room. The decks and cabin interiors are also very attractive in appearance, large windows taking the place of the customary port holes.

The "Algeria" was purchased by the Anchor Line from the British Ministry of Shipping and is a splendid example of naval architecture. She was built at Hamburg in 1914 for the German East Africa Line and was intended for use in "Around Africa" tours.

Shortly after the war was declared, she was taken over by the German Government and carried troops to Russia. Later she was fitted up for the express purpose of taking part in the projected German invasion of Great Britain, her capacity being 8,000 soldiers. It was from one of her signal yards that German naval Officers were hung during the uprising at Kiel. At the end of the war she was allocated to Great Britain and later carried German prisoners of war back to their home country.

The "Marble Ship," as she is generally called, is a twin-screw vessel of 8,156 tons. Her principal dimensions are length 449 feet, breadth, 55 feet, draught, 30 feet. She has accommodation for 397 cabin and 118 third-class pasengers.

For the present the "Algeria" is taking the sailings which would have been filled by the new "Cameronia," if that vessel had not been delayed in fitting out by the unsettled labor conditions. She alternates with the "Columbia" and later will be joined by the newly acquired "Assyria." When the new Anchor Liners now in course of construction are completed the "Algeria" will be transferred to the Company's Eastern service, as she is an ideal ship for tropical or sub-tropical waters.

The "Algeria" should be much sought by North American travellers this Spring and Summer. Her staterooms are splendidly fitted and are located on the upper and promenade decks. There are no inside staterooms in the sense that they are restricted to artificial light and mechanical ventilation. All rooms are connected directly with the outer air.

The decks are wide and long and are ideal places to lounge, sit or stroll.

All in all, the "Algeria" is a most beautiful and picturesque steamer, a ship that lingers in the memory. Could the author of "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls" awaken on this ship, his dream would be fully realized.

NOT THE GREATEST DEFEAT

It will not be necessary for the organized workers of Great Britain to accept the statement of the radical organ, that the withdrawal of the Triple Alliance strike order "was the greatest defeat that has befallen the labor movement within the memory of man." It is not so injurious to the cause of labor in Great Britain as the discovery that the management of this same radical Herald was a few months ago seeking and receiving vast cash subsidies from the Bolshevik government of impoverished Russia. If the breakdown of the Triple Alliance agreement in this matter of a general strike should have the effect of relieving labor organizations from the dominating influence of a certain type of propagandists it would be a great benefit to the cause of labor. Something like this seems to have been needed to give effect to the recent rejection of the Third Internationale or Bolshevist doctrine by the British Labor Congress.

The British Labor movement has produced many sagacious and patriotic leaders, experienced in representative and responsible positions. Such men were among the effective war administrators. They have not wavered in their loyalty to their comrades, while maintaining their loyalty to the nation and to democratic institutions. It would be impossible for labor statesmen who saw life steadily and saw it whole to satisfy extremists. These could only be content with the wreck of matter and the crash of worlds. Mr. Frank Hodges, who has been a miner, and is also a college man is held to be in favor of nationalization. But he was in favor of continuing negotiations even without the preliminary concession of a national mining pool, and his council rejected his advice. Mr. Thomas of the railway workers was never in favor of the general strike.

We do not yet see that the industrial position of the miners has been impaired by the refusal of the other members of the Triple Alliance to join them in a strike which was sure of failure. The prospects of the revolution which some of them had in mind may seem to be destroyed, but these designs could never have been accomplished by the general strike. The dispute between the miners, the owners and the government stands where it was after the miners strike began, except that fear of the success or extension of the strike is removed. It does not follow that the government and the owners will be less just or generous. Where there is no longer real compulsion there is more room for justice and generosity.—Province.

BEFORE DAYS OF PAPER

Papyrus is what the Egyptians wrote on over four thousand years ago, and our word paper is derived from it.

Bladebones of sheep was used by the Arabs when paper was unknown, and many famous sayings have been found on these remarkable "paper substitutes."

"Album," used by the Romans, was a preparation of white chalk, with which they covered the wood upon which they wrote. It is from this chalk, viz., white "album," that the modern word album is taken. The Romans carried tablets of wood or metal and a little bit of pointed iron to write with. The iron point was called a "stylus"—which suggests the present day "stylo." Two of the tablets, sometimes covered with wax, sometimes with album, were often joined together by wire hinges, and the backs ornamented with ivory, gold or precious stones—an expensive substitute for a double sheet of writing paper!

Leather was used by the Jews for writing purposes, and they were renouned for their skill in this respect.

Linen and silk took the place of paper as "writing materials" in many countries.

Thin plates of gold were used in Java in the production of a book before paper was made. It was written on both sides of these gold plates, and great writers, especially Euclid, traced their designs with a stick on a table covered with common dust.

"THE TWO SYSTEMS"

THE STOCK COMPANY: Under this form of organization Capital is involved and naturally must be compensated. Under the provisions of the Dominion Insurance Act the Stock Companies may allot to the Shareholders:—
(a) All interest earned on the paid-up capital.
(b) One-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies, and
(c) All profits earned on no-participating policies and other sources.

THE MUTUAL COMPANY: Is purely a means of mutual protection. There is no capital invested excepting the premiums of the policyholders; so that all profit derived from whatever source, is the exclusive property of the policyholders and is returned to them as dividends.

THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCE: The above statement reveals the essential difference between stock and mutual companies. Just as some co-operative enterprises eliminate "the middleman," so a mutual life company eliminates the "Shareholder," as the late Wm. McCabe, L.L.B., F.I.A., has said—"The mutual principle is the only one by which the participating members of a life insurance company can receive a full equivalent for their money. It gives insurance at net cost."

ATTEMPTED MURDER

The town of Michel last Saturday narrowly escaped being the scene of what might have been a double murder, when a Ukranian by the name of Fred Melosky discharged a shotgun at Constable Hilton and Gumbo Melnik .As far as can be ascertained, Melosky and six or seven fellow countrymen were celebrating in their shack during the day and an altercation of some kind is alleged to have taken place, at which time Melosky is said to have threatened Melnik's life. The shotgun at this time is alleged to have come into play and accidentally or otherwise one of the other members of the party was slightly injured. Melnik became alarmed to the extent that he reported to the police that he was afraid Melosky would take his life but refused to lay an information to this effect. Constable Hilton accompanied Melnik back to the shack to investigate but by this time Melosky had disappeared and it was thought he had left camp on the evening train. The threats against Melnik were verified but he still refused to lay an information against Melosky, and he was offered the protection of the police station until the quarrel was amicably settled and Melosky returned to a rational condition. The officer and Melnik departed from the shack and a short distance away from it stopped and were engaged in conversation when without any warning a shotgun report was heard and they received the impact of the scattered charge, Hilton being wounded in the hands, face, throat and chest, and Melnik receiving the bulk of the charge in his left arm. They were too severely wounded to give chase to their treacherous assailant and he temporarily escaped. Officers of the Mounted Police stationed at Michel took up the case and notified headquarters here and Chief Spiller, accompanied by Constables McNally and Collins left here by motor about 10 p.m. The search for the fugitive was carried on all night in the neighborhood of Michel and Natal and the police dragnet spread to all out points without any result. Sunday morning early, however, he was discovered apparently trying to return to his shack and upon a demand to surrender he bolted. Twice more he was commanded to give himself up, but kept on running, whereupon the constable fired two shots to intimidate him. but this failing the officer winged him with the third shot. He still persisted in trying to escape and plunged into Michel creek and swam to the other side, where he sought cover in the underbrush of the hillside. From his wound and exposure he soon became exhausted and in a short time he was taken into custody but soon revived and apparently is now none the worse from the experience. He is charged with attempted murder.

Melosky has resided in Michel for some years and until a year ago had nothing against his character. Late in the summer it was learned he had moose meat in his possession and the allegation followed that he had slaughtered one of these animals. A charge was laid against him under the Game Act for having game in his possession out of season, and when placed under arrest he viciously assaulted Constable Hilton, one of his present victims. Melnik, the second victim of Saturday's affary, was a witness for the Crown on the former occasion. On these charges Melosky was heavily fined, and it has now been learned that he bitterly resented the treatment he receivd and has on occasions since threatened both the constable and Melnik with harm.

MILK SUPPLY VERY GOOD

The city council held its second regular monthly meeting last night. The meeting opened with His Worship in the chair and Ald. Corrie, Currie, Douglas, Robichaud and Irvine in attendance.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

The Chief of Police reported that Mrs. Wyatt's beverage license for the Fernie Hotel had automatically become cancelled through a conviction under the Prohibition Act. This is the second offence but on motion it was decided that application of the licensee for reinstatement should be granted but notification is also given that if another offence is committed the said license shall be permanently cancelled.

Magistrate Whimster applied for leave of absence. He will be given one month and during that period the stipendiary and local magistrates will handle the police court duties.

Moved by Currie and Corrie—That the city clerk be instructed to purchase ten "Keep to the Right" signs from Guelph at $13 each.

The Medical Health Officer reported having inspected the local dairies and the following is the result of tests of milk:

	Butterfat Per Cent
E. Martenson	3.8
J. Pearson	3.8
Jules Anderson	3.8
John Anderson	3.8
F. Street	3.6
M. Valley	3.6
J. Kosta	3.6
D. Bricker	3.6
A. Bryant	3.6

All samples O.K. as to cleanliness.

The Medical Health Officer, in a further communication referring to a resolution passed by the council recently, stated that examinations of milk at stated intervals had been the practice of his department for many years.

Four Tax Sale Property Sale By-laws received their three formal readings.

The Kootenay Telephone Lines applied for permission to replace poles and erect new poles and lines on certain streets. This was granted on the condition that the provisions of By-laws 62 and 63 be complied with.

It was decided that the fire truck driver be required to handle the new public works department truck between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and keep his regular hours after 5 p.m. at fire hall. Salary to be increased $25 a month for the period so employed outside the fire hal.

A general discussion took place with regard to cleaning up lanes, lots. streets, etc., and the inauguration of an improved garbage disposal system; also street improvements. These matters were considered in a most intelligent manner and if present plans materialize there will be a large amount of work done this summer at a very reasonable cost.

OLD TIMERS ORGANIZE

The council chamber was packed Tuesday evening with a crowd of old timers eager to organize an Old Timers Association. Mayor Henderson was appointed to the chair and Jas. McLean acting secretary.

After a discussion as to the aims and objects of the proposed association, it was decided to organize, and Dec. 31, 1999, was fixed as the date on which a man must have first located in the district before he is eligible for membership.

The annual fee was fixed at $2.00.

Dr. Corsan, Jas. McLean and J. R. Wallace were appointed a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws to be submitted to the organization.

Thos. Beck and M. A. Berigan were appointed a committee to solicit new members.

The meeting was most enthusiastic and every man present who was eligible for membership signed up.

The main objects of the Association are to create a greater fraternal and social spirit among the old timers, and to form a more perfect union among its members and create a fund for charitable purposes on their behalf.

It was decided not to elect officers until a later meeting, which would be called by the membership committee when it has completed its work.

FOOTBALL

The Fernie team travelled to Coal Creek last Sunday and played a friendly game, which resulted in a score of 1-0 in favor of Fernie. It mas a moderate exhibition of football and both sides showed lack of training. The game was a very clean one and Referee Manning did not have occasion to give one foul for dirty play. This is the way we should have all games played. Sawyer played the same old game in goal and saved the Fernie side on several occasions from defeat. J. Manning refereed a good game for his first time and we shall have no kick at his decisions.

Coal Creek will play at Fernie on Sunday afternoon in the first League game. The boys have been out all week training and look forward to a good game on Sunday. Everybody come and boost the sport and let us have a good live town. Good clean sport makes good clean boys. So help us keep it clean.

The Fernie Club had a communication from Cranbrook notifying them that Cranbrook is putting up a cup for the football on May 24. Fernie is out to make this their fourth.

The following is the line-up of the football team which will play against Coal Creek next Sunday, on the North End grounds, in the opening game of the League:

Goal, Sawyer; backs, G. Booth and G. Murray; halves, W. Thompson, W. Riley, P. Robertson; forwards, J. Robson, G. Davidson, H. Hardy, D. Thornton, A. Thompson.

Reserves: A. Dicken, J. Gibson.

The players will use the dressing rooms on the grounds. A shower bath is being put in for the benefit of the players, which will help in the training.

TO GIVE PIANO RECITAL

A piano recital will be given under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. by Harold Anderson (L. Mus.), on Monday, May 23, at the United Church, at 8.30 p.m.

In presenting Mr. Anderson the I.O.D.E. believe they are offering the public not only an artistic event but an educational treat. Piano students who are studying music in the city and Coal Creek will be allowed admission at half price.

After the Fernie recital concerts will be given at Cranbrook and Wycliffe.

Mr. Anderson will use his Heintzman Baby Grand. Tickets will be on sale in a few days.

SEIZE ALLEGED ILLICIT STILLS

Officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and customs officials made a raid upon several residences in the Fernie Annex Extension recently, with the result that three alleged stills and quantities of wash and mash suitable for the manufacture of spirits were seized. The accused are Charles Ihas, John Tymchuk and Marten Drevenuk respectively, all miners by occupation. Preliminary hearings were held this week and all have been committed for trial but are out on $200 cash bail. In connection with the raid as disclosed by the evidence at the preliminaries, the only excitement the officers encountered was when they visited the dwelling of Tymchuk. When the officers swooped down upon this household accused apparently was absent but in some manner advance information as to the visit must have been communicated to the wife of accused because very little incriminating evidence remained within the house. However, on the premises, floating in a creek, was a keg containing a small quantity of mash, while what is supposed to have been the contents of the keg were lying on the creek bottom, and a strong odor of liquor was noticeabe. The wife of the accused man was then discovered frantically endeavoring to seclude an article in the bushes. This was later ascertained to be a still. Two bottles of "liquor" were also found hidden by the fence. These cases make four within the last fortnight from this same locality, John Gydosik recently being convicted under the Inland Revenue Act for having a still, etc., in his possession and fined $200, the minimum under the Act.

WAS IN NELSON WHEN CITY WAS SHACK

(Nelson News)

First beholding Nelson when it consisted of the shack at the landing stage and was known as "the Kootenay Landing," a name later bestowed elsewhere, Rev. Father Cocola, the pioneer missionary in this district, passed through this city again a day or two ago, leaving for his home in Prince Rupert on Monday night, having just returned from six months in Europe.

The veteran priest, who was the guest of Rev. W. B. McKenzie, acting parish priest, and took part in the Convent function Saturday, is nearly 70 years of age. He recalls that the Indians in the days of his pioneer trip here were "very wild," and that the life of a missionary in those days was filled with all the hardships and peculiar experiences incident to real pioneering.

During his holiday Father Cocola visited Italy, Belgium, France, England and Ireland. On the way west he visited a number of eastern cities.

SECOND BATTLE OF YPRES

The Misses Millie F. and Rose Caufield, children of Mr. and Mrs. B. Caufield of Coal Creek, were awarded first prizes in competitions A and B respectively for the best essays on "The Second Battle of Ypres," the prizes being donated by the Nelson Branch of the G.W.V.A.

Meditating upon the subject of the composition which we, the pupils of the entrance class of Nelson, B.C., have been kindly invited to try, my mind wanders over the great events of the Battle of Ypres and I endeavor to behold at this distance of six years the battle which will be ever regarded as one of the greatest on history's annals.

As our generation passes by and a new one fills its place they who search the pages of the past for glorious deeds will regard the Battle of Ypres as the one which must ever stand supreme and which proved the noble and courageous character of our Canadian soldiers.

But now let us visit the fields of Flanders and the ruins of the wonderful little city of Ypres in Belgium which played such an important part in the world's greatest and cruelest war.

Mothers and sisters gave up those who were nearest and dearest to their hearts in order to fight and die for the glory and freedom of the Allies. As this sad news of their heroic death was flashed across the ocean numerous were the broken hearts of those whom they loved. Still they who remained, whose lives had not yet been sacrificed at the hand of the enemy fought on with a willing and undaunted spirit for God and for their countries.

Now return with me to the beautiful, peaceful and quiet little city of Ypres, situated on the border line between France and Belgium and where so many of our heroes fought and died. Ypres, ah! yes, you may wonder why we pronounce that word so often, but each time it is uttered one finds himself possessed with a feeling of reverence which is held sacred to the memory of our beloved dead.

On that memorable 22nd of April standing out in all its glory was buildings of ancient architecture. She little dreamt at dawn that the even- Ypres with its wonderful artistic ing sinking sun, lingering e'er a while in its glory would see the beginning of the fierce struggle which was destined to bring to destruction that glorious little city and its splendid buildings.

As day dawned 23rd of April, 1915, we see, ah! what a sight! Take a long look! A fresh light breeze is blowing and playing thro the leaves. The sun is sending down its warm rays when suddenly those on the street, perhaps some going to work, others going shopping, and still others wending their homeward way, but were destined never to reach their woridly abode again.

Those in the trenches beyond the outskirts of the city stood and gazed in amazement and surprise, for coming toward them was a thick, heavy, yellowish cloud which poured in upon them and as the sweet smelling gas, for it was that deadly weapon, used by the enemy, irritated their nostrils, they turned and the next minute were struggling and gasping for breath, some dying in the act, others immediately paralyzed. Those who survived this deadly foe know awful tales which their honor will not permit them to relate.

The Germans had for the first time brought into operation poisonous gasses and by this means forced the Allies on the Canadian left to retire and the Canadians were forced to meet the onslaught of the German attack. Steadfastly did they resist and so vigorously did they fight that the enemy was held at bay until British reinforcements arrived.

The British, French and Canadians had formed a salient around Hill 60, where the fighting had first begun, St. Julien, Calais and Ypres. The enemy stood beyond.

As the Turcos gave way along the line, the Canadians rushed in and took their places. They it was who held high the honor of Canada and saved the British army. Had they failed the Germans would surely have succeeded in reaching Calais.

Among our brave heroes fell Lieut. Colonel Birchall, Captain Alexander Scrimger, Generals Williams and Mercer, and Captain Hall. To such men as these do we owe our lives, and all we possess, and are grateful for their sacrifice.

The enemy outnumbered our men four to one and this did not discourage them. Stormed at on all sides, they fought on heedless of their own danger, forgetful of themselves, thinking only of their country and those whom they were fighting to save.

Katherine Mac Donald in "Curtain!"

Orpheum Theatre
Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30

Let us not forget the Red Cross nurses and brave doctors. To them, also, we owe a debt of gratitude and affection.

Altogether the war has exerted a powerful influence on Canadian national pride and stirred up in the hearts of all nations respect and admiration for the Canadian soldiers.

During this long and fierce battle, when the soldiers came face to face with death, not a gun was lost. Out of all our noble soldiers 6332 heroes were killed and 252 officers.

Let us now take a sad farewell look at the field of Flanders, where rest our gallant heroes, no longer to be disturbed by the sound of shot and shell, by shrapnel tearing the earth about them. Let us pay a tribute to those who heroically sacrificed their lives for their country's cause. This battle has inflicted on many a loving and tender heart a wound which no power can heal. Still well may their owners lift their heads with pride each time the Battle of Ypres is mentioned, and in their memory let these lines written by one of these same heroes, be quoted here:

An Epitaph

"Dead," did you say? Nay,
Only Heaven-sped.
Just safe in God's Home port,
They are not dead.

"Lost" did you think?
How can such lives be lost?
Just gathered up—His jewels,
Rare of cost.

"Gone?" Nay, just waiting
On God's wide shore line
The coming of life's vessels,
Yours and mine

"Somewhere in France."

SAYS DRILLING FOR OIL PROCEEDS IN FLATHEAD

That the Flathead district of eastern British Columbia is destined to become a great oil bearing district was the statement made yesterday by James Fisher, of Hall, who recently returned from the Flathead, where he took out several holdings for parties impressed with the possibilities of the district. He stated drilling operations were now being conducted by the Crow's Nest Oil Company, under the direction of D. Kealer, of Caspar, Wyoming, an expert with 35 years' experience in oil well drilling.

The work is being pushed at good speed, Mr. Fisher stated, boring being carried on in two shifts. It is the intention to drill to a depth of 2000 feet for eight inch casing, and thereafter to continue a six-inch hole until oil is reached. Ralph Arnold, the geologist, estimates the depth at which oil will be tapped is 2500 feet probably less. Besides its oil possibilities, Mr. Fisher stated that the Flathead district has an abundance of coal and timber. He commented on the difficulty of reaching the district over the trail from Crow's Nest and stated that it was almost obligatory to take the Montana route to get there. He was advised, however, that the government intended putting a bridge over the Flathead river and improving the trail to enable those interested to reach their properties.

Some interesting specimens of shale and oil were exhibited by Mr. Fisher at the lecture given here on Friday by A. G. Langley, resident engineer of the eastern mineral survey district. One sample in particular, which was of cretaceous formation, excited much attention. In it particles of shells of shell fish were plainly discernible to the naked eye. —Nelson News.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

WHEN next you come to Calgary visit the home of The Herald and see for yourself just how a daily paper is made.

OUR Circulation Department will take real pleasure in conducting you through our modern plant and in showing you the different processes that enter into the making of a big daily paper.

WE will take you through the busy Editorial rooms with their clicking telegraphic and typewriting machines, where the news of the day is collected and made ready for the printed page. A step will take you among almost human linotype machines that change the news into type. You can follow the made-up pages into the stereotyping room where marvelous machines and expert workmen cast the pages into leaden plates. Watch these plates taken by automatic carriers to the big 50-ton press, which reels of the printed paper complete faster than the eye can count.

SEE the mailing machines at work, stamping each paper with the subscriber's name and address, see the carrier and the street boys scrambling for their papers, and the big trucks rushing The Herald to post and express offices, for distribution throughout the west.

IT will be an interesting visit, and after you see the army of skilled employees, the costly equipment and the huge outlay of capital and expense necessary to produce a big daily paper, you will wonder that you buy it at the price you do.

GERMAN PROFITEERS

"An old friend," writes a London Telegraph correspondent, "whom I met at the Hotel Adlou, the centre of the social activities of the Schrieber or profiteers in Berlin, laughed at my amazement at the display of jewelry and furs. 'This is nothing,' he said. 'In a few days' time a super-Schrieber is giving a big ball. I will get you an invitation, and then you will see something."

"The invitation, plastered with a coat of arms, duly arrived, and at ten o'clock of the evening appointed I entered the hall of a splendid palace not far from the Tiergarten, formerly the abode of a woman who for a long time enjoyed the friendship of a member of the late royal family.

"The balustrade of the great marble staircase was lost to sight in masses of fresh roses. The magnificent rooms, full of antiques, were lighted with nothing but wax candles, while dozens of lackeys in powdered wigs, purple push and white stockings lent a musical air to the scene.

"But even more surprising than the surroundings were the people. Heavily-bejeweled girls, stout Germans with short, thick necks, bulging at the back with rolls of fat; poles and Russians in large numbers, Turks and Armenians, Scandinavians and Spaniards—each of them in his way a representative type of the national profiteer—mingled with members of the German aristocracy, whose presence is explained by the simple fact that the only people who can afford to give a big ball in Germany today are the new rich.

"Needless to say, on the supper tables were to be found dishes unobtainable at any price by any ordinary mortal in modern Berlin, while the floral decorations consisted of French orchids, priced in the Berlin florists' at 250 marks ($62.50 nominal) a bloom. At the cotillion which is included in the program of every big dance in Germany, presents were distributed in the shape of silver cigarette cases for the men and gold vanity bags for the women.

"The standard of dancing and manners and the loud-voiced conversation were scarcely in keeping with the setting, but all seemed to be enjoying themselves in the Teuton way. As my friend and I walked back to the Hotel after the ball, he said: "This function cost not a penny less than 200,00 marks ($60,000 nominal)."

LOCAL BOY IN RECITAL

An exceptionally fine and interesting musical recital was given last evening at Columbian College by the music students under the auspices of the Women's Educational Club. The assembly hall was packed to the doors with an appreciative audience who enjoyed the programme of unusual merit. Those taking part were May Foster, Margaret Tremeer, Edith Crawford, James Playford, Margaret Fouggner, Elizabeth Keeling, Norman Patterson, Jean Lindsay, Katherine Reid, and Bertha Spencer, pupils of Miss Mary E. Love, L.T.C.M., and Miss Lena Peace, L.A.B., of the piano department; and Dorothy Carpenter, Ailsa Oxenbury, Vernon Cargo, Verile Duncan, George Turpin, Jean Lindsay, May Foster and Mr. G. G. E. Raley, the pupils of Miss Marjorie A. Vincent, A.C.A.M., Mr. Archibald, violin pupil of Miss Cave-Browne-Cave, and Mr. Brynildsen, 'cello pupil of Mr. Herbert Mackness.

A feature of the evenings recital was a pianoforte solo played by Mr. Norman Patterson. His interpretation of the "Impromptu" from "Rheingold" was perfect. His skill in control of the keyboard in the rapid opening passages, and his harmonious tone, blending in the adagio movement, thrilled the audience, who gave him a great ovation so that he was recalled to make his bow to delighted listeners.

The instrumental number by Messrs Archibald, Patterson, Turpin and Brynildsen, with violin, piano, cornet and 'cello, entitled "Songs of the Sea," was also well received.

The whole recital was a great demonstration of carefully cultivated talent, and speaks promisingly for the future of music in the province when institutions like Columbia College are endeavoring to send out into the world music lovers and interpreters of good music such as appeared at the recital last night. — Columbian, New Westminster.

NATURAL COLOR MOVIE FILMS

A new process of cinematography in natural colors was demonstrated for the first time in London in the presence of a large audience of members of scientific societies and of the cinematograph industry. The process, by means of which the colored films can be shown in picture theatres with an ordinary projecting machine, is the invention of Professor Gorsky, who has devoted a great part of his life to the subject of photography in all its aspects.

As long ago as 1907 Prof. Gorsky brought to a conclusion experiments which he had been carrying out for the production of colored lantern slides, and as a result he was commissioned by the Russian government to travel to all parts of the Russian empire to photograph objects of beauty and of historical value. A specially fitted railway car complete with dark room and all necessary apparatus was placed at his disposal, and for eight years this became his headquarters. He made a collection of about 6000 pictures. He never lost sight of the possibility of applying the natural color process of photography to the film. In 1911 he received a patent for an optical color cinema which gave excellent results, but was soon abandoned on the ground that it was too expensive for general adoption, and demanded a specially trained staff for its operation. Later on, however, he discovered a method of applying to film work the more economical process ever since, first in Russia — which country he was compelled to leave in 1918—then in Norway, and recently in the neighborhood of London. An experimental laboratory was fitted up for him, and towards the end of last year he went to Nice and made the picture which was shown for the first time.

It is claimed on behalf of the new process that it has solved many of the difficulties incidental to the production of natural films in large quantities and at a cost which will make them a commercial possibility. The basis is the three-color process, and it is stated that it can be adapted to the photography of all subjects, and not only to those direct from Nature. The films can be produced in a factory in a similar manner to monochrome films. It was explained that the film shown was the first to be produced, and no claim is made for it that it is by any means the perfect article. But it showed clearly enough that it contains the germ of a new method of film production which may be destined to play a very important part in the future development of the industry. The camera takes the picture at three times the normal speed, but, as in the process of developing and printing, the pictures taken in the three primary colors are superimposed, so that for every 100 feet of film that the spectator sees 200 feet of negatives has to be taken. In the film shown the photographer has been particularly successful in getting his grey colors and flesh tints, one of the most difficult tests of all, and there is a striking effect in which a woman wearing a yellow dress is wrapped in a Union Jack. As she unfolds the flag the yellow of the dress is seen through the red of the Union Jack, and the effect is one which it would be impossible to obtain by the hand-colored film. It remains to be seen if Prof. Gorsky's proposal can be made commercially possible. If it can, as he claims, it should have an important bearing on the future of film production.

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

BY Firelighter

HOW HE GOT A START

Even as a small boy Virgil C. Hart was pure grit right through. He had only entered his teens when he made up his mind he would be a missionary. His father was strongly opposed, but Virgil had heard the call of God and was determined that a missionary he would be.

By picking and selling beechnuts for ten cents a quart, he earned enough money to buy his first Greek grammar; by chopping one hundred and eighty cords of wood for a neighboring farmer, he secured sufficient funds to begin a four years' course in Gouverneur Wesleyan Seminary; and, later, by renting an acre of land in Evaston, Illinois, and selling the vegetables he grew upon it, he was able to pay his way through college, from which he graduated in 1865.

By this time several prominent persons had their eyes on the young preacher. A committee from his Alma Mater waited upon him and offered him a splendid position on the college staff, as teacher of Greek and Hebrew. It was a tempting offer and most men would have jumped at it. Not so Virgil Hart. He did not hesitate for an instant. He thanked the college authorities for their flattering invitation, but told them that his mind was made up once and for all. He had answered God's call to go to China, and never for a moment did he doubt the wisdom of that choice.

On the morning of December 20th, 1865, Mr. Hart and his bride, together with several other misionaries, set sail for the far east. It was a long journey. Not until the following May did Mr. Hart reach Foochow, a chinese city, with a population of nearly a million, which was to be his first field of labor.

Thirty nine years later Mr. Hart died in Burlington, Ont. and the monument to remind the world of him is the great work now being done by the Canadian Methodist Church in West China.

GEORGES CARPENTIER AT THE ORPHEUM

(New York Evening Telegram)

Last evening in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Astor, Georges Carpentier appeared for the cinema championship of the world. Beyond peradventure of doubt his is no one-track talent.

We are wise to the way of capitalizing celebrities—hundred thousand dollar name — ten, twenty and thirty scenario acting, scenery and support. It always makes us feel that someone has sold us a toy balloon and then stuck a pin in it.

Robertson-Cole has not so imposed on a hero-worshipping public. They have made it possible for us to see one of the most popular athletes of the day in action. This much we expected, but what we did not expect was to find in Carpentier a real actor, an artist with the finish of a French gentleman and the finesse of an habitual stage star.

M. Carpentier not only lived up to the title — "The Wonder Man"—he did more. He topped it. The Carpentier smile is bound to make the hearts of several million matinee maids skip a beat every time it lights up his frankly winning face.

WHAT TIME IS IT ?

How many hundreds of times a day is the answer to this question required, and how easily is the answer found. Almost everyone carries a timepiece, and this little mechanism, sometimes no larger than a penny, enables one to tell the time at a glance. Of all those who make use of the time, how many know how it is found out, or could find it for themselves?

In order to measure time, we must have some phenomenon which occurs at equal intervals and for the purpose; the rotation of the earth serves par excellence. Moreover, the rotation of the earth divides time into days and nnghts, and as all man's activities are regulated by the hours of light and darkeness, this is a further reason for reckoning time from the rotation of the earth. Probably everyone knows that the sun's rising in the East and setting in the west is an effect of the earth's rotation. The interval of time which elapses from the instant the sun is due south one day till it is due south the next day, is called a Solar day. When the sun is due south, the time is said to be true noon. At this instant the sun has attained, for all practical purposes, its highest distance above the horizon for that day.

One can map out a very simple way of getting true noon. Suppose we measure the length of the shadown which the sun casts of a pole placed upright in the ground, and mark the spot where it appears longest. This point will be best located at the mid-point of two places where the shadow is equally long. This point joined, to the base of the pole, will give the North and South line. It may then be marked in a suitable way, say, by planting a second pole. If we wish to get our watch so that it reads 12 o'clock at true solar noon, we wait until the shadow of the first pole is in line with the second, which will be the required instant.

This seems very simple, but there are many complications if we wish to use this method of getting the time as we use it, for our watches are not set to true solar time.. In order to make the nature of these difficulties clear, let us suppose that we possess a timepiece which runs with great regularity. If one determines in the manner outlined the exact instant at which the sun is due south each day, they will find that it does not always take the sun the same time to come back to the south point. In fact, at some times of the year a watch would indicate the time nearly half an hour fast and at other times nearly half an hour slow, as compared with the sun. So that the sun is not a very regular timekeeper. The reason for its acting in this apparently irregular manner is that the earth in its orbit around the sun describes an ellipse and not a circle, and also the axis of rotation of the earth is inclined to the plane in which the motion of the earth around the sun takes place.

The effect of this factor on the apparent motion of the sun is, that during the year the sun moves north and south. About June 21 it is at its highest point, and on December 22 at the farthest point south. On March 22 and September 22 it is midway between these points, or, as we say, on the Equator. If our watch would keep perfect time indefinitely, we would find that each year it takes the sun exactly the same time to go from the Equator in the Spring to the Equator in the following Spring. This suggests the way, then, to get a good timepiece. On March 21 or 22, when the sun is crossing the Equator, we imagine another sun to start out with him, and we imagine the fictitious sun, which we call the mean sun, to so move that each day it returns to the south point at exactly equal intervals, and at the end of the year will coincide again with the true sun. In other words, we endow the mean sun with the same average rate of motion as the true sun, but with a uniform motion instead of the irregular motion which the true sun possesses. When the mean sun is due south it is mean noon.

Here is another difficulty, however. Suppose we in Victoria have determined the time of mean noon. At this instant it is past mean noon in Vancouver. It is still later farther east. In fact, for every mile one goes east it is nearly three seconds later, because it takes the earth about three seconds to turn through one mile. It obviously will be very inconvenient to have the time in each locality differing from one another. For this reason it has been agreed that there shall be selected certain standard zones, and each zone shall set its time by the mean time of its centre. We call this the standard time. In Victoria we go by (when daylight saving is not in force) the 120th meridian time. In other words, we set our clocks to the mean time of the 120th meridian. So that we have three kinds of time, which, I hope, are clear, the true time, the mean time, and the standard time.

There is another time, which is very fundamental, and that is the star time, or side-real time, as it is called. It tells the position of the stars at any instant. It is meant to help those who regulate the time. It does so in this way: the exact instant that a star is due south may be measured with a great deal more accuracy than the large and rather fuzzy-edged sun. It is, therefore, easier practically to determine the star time when the star time is measured; a very simple calculation enables one to tell the sun time and so the standard time. — Dr. R. K. Young, of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

Vancouver Woman Was So Weak She Could Hardly Move When She Began Taking Tanlac

"When I began taking Tanlac I was so weak I could scarcely move," said Mrs. A. Feldman, of 667 Union St., Vancouver, B.C., "but now I am feeling just fine. For a whole year I had been ailing, and about three months before I got Tanlac I got in an awful condition.

"I could hardly eat anything, and what little I did force down bloated me until my heart palpitated frightfully, and I would get so dizzy I could scarcely stand up. At times I was nearly desperate with headaches, terrible pains racked my body, and at one time the small of my back hurt me so bad for several days I thought I would go distracted. I got to where I couldn't sleep well, and the least little noise would throw me into a miserable, nervous condition for hours. I finally got so weak I could not do my housework and was obliged to spend most of my time in bed.

"Although it seemed that everything possible was done for me, I couldn't get relief, and finally as a last hope I told my husband to get me a bottle of Tanlac. After taking the first bottle my headaches were gone, and five bottles made me feel like a new woman. I eat anything I want now and just as much as I want without the least trouble, and all pains have disappeared, and my housework is a real pleasure. Tanlac certainly deserves the highest praise and I never get tired of talking about it."

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE

The Triple Alliance has split. The British Railway Transport men will let the miners fight out their own battle in their own way. It was a wise conclusion. About this controversy there was something more fundamental than the wages of the men and the profits of the employers. The course as originally outlined by the Triple Alliance carried to its logical conclusion would have meant the overturning of the social and economic life of Great Britain. A victory in the hands of the miners, railway and transport men would have spelled the termination of the system which has made Britain great in the fields of commerce and manufacture. With the Triple Alliance in command Britain's entire industrial life would have been throttled. It is but a step from dictation by the two million men involved in this controversy to rule by the mob. If today the miners of England are to tell the public the price they must pay for their coal, tomorrow the railway and transport men will dictate as to whether or not the public or what portion of the public are to have coal.

This is in no wise a defence of living conditions as they have pertained in the mining districts of England. No defence can be offered for the squalor which has existed and the low standard of living among the mining population, brough about primarily through the avaricious mine owner. These miners are entitled to a living wage; a good wage, for coal mining at best is an ardous, dangerous avocation, but the British public are also entitled to a square deal.

Premier Lloyd George never showed to better advantage than during the present crisis. He proved himself every inch a statesman, and his final challenge to the Triple Alliance to

ABOR TROUBLES OF FORMER YEARS

In conection with the present troubs in the British coal fields it is in rest'ng to recall a strike which ocurred in Durham and Northumberand upward of three-quarters of a entury ago. It was back in 1844 hat differences between the miners nd mine owners arose over the quesion of more idle time, but not more ay. In others words the miners ished to limit the amount of coal ined by the individual and also the mount of pay received. In that year he best paid among miners—the coal ewers—taken as a whole were reiving 15 shillings per week, but from his sum certain expenses had to be deducted powder, oil, candles, etc., amounting to about two shillings, so that the net wage was 13 shillings ($3.25) per week for the best class of labor. However, individuals working under very favorable conditions did earn more than 13 shillings, and it was to this that the miners objected. Their demand was that when 13 shillings had been earned the miner be obliged to "lay off" until the following week the idea being that this "lay off" would curtail production and make the work go around. For six months these miners persisted in their strike, the owners refusing to consider the principle of curtailed production, and the men only went back to work when starvation stared them in the face.

To the modern workman it seems incredible that men should not knock off when they felt like it, but workmen were in a very different footing back in those days. At that period miners were engaged under coneract over a period of time usually one a year, and they agreed to work full time for the mine owner and him only. The breaking of these agreements entailed severe penalties, imprisonment among other things.

It is a far cry, industrially speaking, from that time to the present. From the day when he expresses a desire to own the earth to the exclusion of other peaple.—Saturday Night.

Civil Servants Apply For Increased Participation

Victoria, April 26.—Ninety British Columbia civil servants already have asked for increased participation under the Superannuation Act, W. R. McInnes, civil service commissioner, announced today.

Increased participation means that those civil servants will pay into the superannuation fund every month more than the regular 4 per cent provided by the Act, so that when their time comes for receiving the benefits of their accumulated funds they will have so much more coming to them as the money to their credit will pile up at compound interest.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle.

"It's as simple as A. B. C.

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is

the power plant of your bicycle.

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you.

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power.

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults.

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade.

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant.

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

ARCHIE McKILLOP OF CALGARY, IS DEAD

CALGARY, April 25th—Archie McKillop, shoe dealer and prominent sportsman of Calgary, died Monday morning at 7:24 o'clock at the Congress hotel, Chicago. The body will be brought back to this city for interment.

Mr. McKillop was on his way to New York when he contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia last Tuesday and despite the efforts of several eminent physicians who were called in, he sank gradually, seccumbing after a hard struggle for life.

Mr. McKillop was one of Western Canada's best known sportsmen. He was a prominent horseman, curler and a leading baseball supporter and was recognized as one of the pioneers of the west. For more than 35 years he had travelled throughout this country as a salesman for the Ryan Shoe Company of Winnipeg and 11 years ago he bought out the interest in this city and established the McKillop Company. He was born in Parkhill, Ont., 52 years ago and is survived by his wife, who was with him in Chicago at the time of his death.

EIGHT HOUR DAY SUFFERS DEFEAT

Winnipeg, April 26.—The bill introduced by A. E. Smith, Labor member, Brandon, giving legislative recognition for the eight-hoor day, and the 48-hour week, was defeated on second reading in the legislature today by 29 votes to 12.

The stand taken by Attorney General Johnson in opposing the bill, although he favored the principle, was that it was premature; that there was no pressing need for it; that Manitoba was in advance of what the bill and the international labor conference at Washington recommended, many trades having less than the 48-hour week, and that it would affect the agricultural industry indirectly.

Mr. Johnson announced that he intended to bring about a conference and discussion between the various provinces with regard to the regulation of hours, in order to get something like uniformity of legislation in Canada.

The resolution of Joseph Bernier, Independent, urging the lieutenant-governor to call upon some one to form a government who can command a majority in the house, did not come up.

IT CARRIES THE NEWS OF YOUR DISTRICT

It is encouraging to note the constant efforts that the being made by the Calgary Herald to make the residents of the city familiar with the affairs and the happenings in the towns and rural districts of Alberta. The contact that is thus established cannot but be beneficial to every class in the community. The Herald is publishing country news in commendable volume these days and it is a matter of record that the city people are finding this matter quite as interesting as those more closely concerned. It is also noted that the Herald pays attention daily to the news affairs of the United Farmers of Alberta and that this news is presented accurately and without coloring. H. W. Wood, the head of the U.F.A., figures in the Herald news, probably as much as any other individual in the province, not of course as a personal matter, but as the spokesman of the great agrarian body.

BAZAAR NEWS

Mrs. J. Aiello and Mrs. S. Podbielancik wish to assure the ladies of the city that their display of fancy goods at Holy Family Church bazaar on June 20 and 21 will be a top-notcher in quantity and quality. These ladies already have a variety of handmade fancy articles on hand to suit the most fastidious taste.

The plain sewing booth will be in charge of Mrs. E. Demour and Mrs. Wm. Turner. "Aeroplane values and submarine prices" will be the motto of this booth. A whole list of practical and useful articles will be on sale.

Two days of real amusement on June 20 and 21, at Catholic Church bazaar. Free Concert, Rube's Gallery and Band Concert will be some of the features.

MY LOST FRIEND

There is a sad and lonely home,
A cabin by Sand Creek.
I lost my faithful friend;
He sleeps his last long sleep.

He was a faithful friend and true,
He could not like me more;
His joyous face and wagging tail
Would meet me at the door.

And now I live a lonely life;
No one to welcome me.
Oh, for my honest dog again;
His like I'll never see.

He was a clever dog and good,
And he had many friends;
And ever in this weary world
A good time always ends.

I know that I have lost a friend;
His heart was good and whole;
And now I always will believe
That doggies have a soul.

My dog and I were constant chums;
His was a happy lot.
For many many tricks he knew,
My clever, handsome Spot.

In summer's heat, and winter's cold
When bitter blew the blast,
He was my good companion then
When at my daily task.

I never will forget my friend,
But keep in memory green
When he and I together lived
Beside this mountain stream.

And yet though I have lost my friend
He always liked me best;
I would not call him back again;
I know that he's at rest.

And so I mourn my faithful friend;
I miss his pleasant face,
But nearby to our cabin home
Is his last resting place.

And now alone I face the world,
My partner gone forever;
Yet I will always think of him
Until I cross the River.

"THE TWO SYSTEMS"

THE STOCK COMPANY: Under this form of organization Capital is involved and naturally must be compensated. Under the provisions of the Dominion Insurance Act the Stock Companies may allot to the Shareholders:—
(a) All interest earned on the paid-up capital.
(b) One-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies, and
(c) All profits earned on no-participating policies and other sources.

THE MUTUAL COMPANY: Is purely a means of mutual protection. There is no capital invested excepting the premiums of the policyholders; so that all profit derived from whatever source, is the exclusive property of the policyholders and is returned to them as dividends.

THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCE: The above statement reveals the essential difference between stock and mutual companies. Just as some co-operative enterprises eliminate "the middleman," so a mutual life company eliminates the "Shareholder," as the late Wm. McCabe, L.L.B., F.I.A., has said—"The mutual principle is the only one by which the participating members of a life insurance company can receive a full equivalent for their money. It gives insurance at net cost."

BOARD TRADE MEETING

Owing to poor attendance the regular meeting of the Board of Trade called for last evening was not held, two good shows in town proving the greater attraction.

The majority of the executive committee being present, however, certain matters which required attention were discussed and a few accounts were ordered paid.

The new booklet is meeting with a great deal of very favorable comment. This is what Herbert Cuthbert, the executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association writes about it: "Please allow me as one who has been in the promotion of the tourist industry for nearly twenty years, to congratulate the Fernie Board of Trade and all who have had to do with the publication of "The Scenic Heart of the Canadian Rockies" which I have just received from Mr. Spalding. It is exactly my idea of a successful booklet for the purpose for which it is issued, and I do not think it is possible to improve on it in any way. It will do an immense amount of good to the whole of South Eastern British Columbia, and I desire to express my appreciation of the help that it will be to this Association in bringing this portion of our territory before those in search of a vacation." Those desiring to have any of them sent to friends who might be induced to come here on a trip, please call at the Bureau and have the names put on the mailing list. The supply of these booklets this year is very limited and it will be impossible to give them away indiscriminately.

The camping site has been cleared and straightened up and when the water and lights are in Fernie will have one of the finest sites in the country.

FRANK B. SMITH DIES SUDDENLY

Old timers in Fernie learned with deep regret this week of the death of Frank B. Smith, the well known geologist and mining engineer, of Edmonton. Deceased was a resident of Fernie for a number of years, where he occupied the position of Superintendent and Engineer for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. at Coal Creek.

An old and highly respected resident of the city died suddenly at 1.30 this afternoon in the person of Frank B. Smith. The deceased was taken ill about midnight and Dr. Clyde McDonald was immediately called in. He sank gradually until death took place this afternoon at his home, Wadhurst road. Death was due to heart disease.

The late Mr. Smith was a well known geologist and mining engineer, having formerly held the position of inspector of mines for the provincial government. For the last few years he has been running a mining enterprise at Wabamun. He was a graduate of McGill university.

The deceased was 52 years of age. He leaves a widow and two sons, Clyde and Douglas.

SCIENTIFIC PALMIST HERE

Sergt. Rosen, the celebrated palmist—the man with 10,000 eyes—arrives in Fernie on May 9, and will stay at the Waldorf Hotel. He has applied for a license to practise his talent in the city, and will be in attendance at the hotel parlor until Monday May 16. The Nanaimo Herald and the Nanaimo Free Press publish very satisfactory accounts of him. "The sergeant," they state "is an expert palmist, and if you are interested in the subject you could not do better than pay him a visit. He delinates incidents in your past life very correctly, giving you details and incidents that had completely slipped your memory. Sergt. Rosen, who served in the war, is a son of one of the greatest palmists of the European Continent."

After visiting Penticton, Grand Forks, Nelson, Cranbrook and Fernie, he will go to Banff where he has been requested to spend the summer in his professional capacity. He carries with him many credentials, and there is no doubt but that the people of Fernie, if they pay him a visit, will enjoy his scientific readings, which according to all accounts, are wonderfully accurate, and his prophesies of the future, are not of the fairy-story character.

Football Results

The following are the results of the games played in the Crow's Nest Pass Football League last week:

Fernie 2, Coal Creek 1.
Coleman 2, Blairmore 1.
Bellevue 2, Hillcrest 1.

The Michel-Corbin game was postponed on account of bad condition of the Corbin grounds.

FERNIE VS. COAL CREEK

The opening football game of the season took place on Sunday last. Ideal weather prevailed and a large crowd turned out to see the rivals play a fairly even game. Fernie did most of the pressing and after 15 minutes of play Dick Thornton scored from a cross by Robson. J Worthington equalized with a lovely shot five minutes later, giving Sawyer no chance. A second goal for Fernie came shortly after. Good work by A. Thompson enabled Hardy to score a good goal. The play slowed up somewhat from then on, the players showing signs of fatigue. They will have to practice hard to get in shape if they hope to have a chance of picking off the League honors. The game was very clean throughout, but some of the players seemed to take a delight in rattling the referee. It is the duty of the players to help the referee and to keep the game clean. Referee Porter was at fault several times in giving way to the players, and they took advantage of his decisions. He will do far better if he places the ball for a free kick and thus save argument. We look forward to a much better game when these two teams meet at Coal Creek.

Robson played good in the first half but fell away in the second. G. Davidson was good in his new position and was often dangerous. Young Thompson has the making of a good outside left and played a fairly useful game for his first time in senior football. Fernie missed Bill Riley on the half line, but he will be in shape for the game with Michel. Sawyer made some good saves, and was called a big cheat by one of the fair sex from Coal Creek because he would not let the ball go through.

J. Worthington played a good strong game but did not seem to have his old time dash. Wilson was good at back but did not get much support. Coal Creek outside left played a useful game and with a little more practice should prove a good winger.

A Tip to Spectators—Please control your language. There are many ladies who like to see the game and bad language keeps them away.

LOOKED SUSPICIOUS

The fire brigade was called out early Tuesday morning to a blaze at the home of Steve Workulchuk, at north end of the city. The fire was quickly extinguished before very much damage was done. Upon investigation the fire chief found that coal oil had been spilled around in three different rooms, and as it looked suspicious he turned the matter over to the city Chief of Police, who is making an investigation. The house carried $1200 insurance and the furniture $2000. The damage done by the flames would probably be in the neighborhood of $100.

THE HAROLD ANDERSON PIANO RECITAL

Among the many difficult and interesting numbers to be found on Mr. Harold Anderson's programme, for Wednesday May 18, will be the two famous Rachmaninoff Preludes in G minor and C sharp minor, also the Hungarian Rapsodie by Lisza. When Liszt was a young man, he spent several years among the roving Hungarian gypsies, collecting their music and arranging them for the piano. His fifteen Hungarian Rapsodies have long since been known the world over as the highest in pianistic achievement, each one requiring a tremendous technique. No artists' programme is complete withont Liszt, for reason of his never ceasing popularity and originality. Mr. Anderson will be assisted by Miss J. Macdonald, soprano. Those who had the pleasure of hearing Miss Macdonald sing at Mrs. Watson's concert some time ago will remember her to have a very pleasing voice of good range.

EAST KOOTENAY BASEBALL LEAGUE

The formation of the East Kootenay Baseball League was successfully carried out at an enthusiastic meeting of ball fans held in the parlors of the Cranbrook Hotel, Sunday April 10th, when representatives from Wardner, Waldo, Wycliffe and Cranbrook discussed the feasibility of such an undertaking and definitely decided on the formation of a league. Those present were Mr. O. N. Jacobsen, who was largely instrumental in launching the league; Mr. Nick Dowen, Mr. C. Martin and Mr. Frank Thompson, Wardner; Mr. Rod McLeod, Fernie; Mr. Oscar Anderson and Mr. Cline, Waldo; Mr. Steve Clarke and Mr. Lloyd Crowe, Wycliffe; Mr. Art Crowe, Mr. Bert Sang, Mr. W. F. Cameron, Mr. Frank Bamford and L. P. Sullivan, Cranbrook.

Mr. Jacobsen was on motion voted to the chair and Mr. Lloyd Crowe asked to act as secretary.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. Vice-Presidents — Mr. E. L. Staples, Wycliffe; Mr. A. B. Trites, Fernie; Mr. C. M. Pennock, Wardner; Mr. F. M. MacPherson, Cranbrook; Mr. C. J. O'Neil, Fernie; Mr. C. D. McNabb, Waldo; Mr. F. Adolph, Baynes Lake.

President — Mr. W. F. Cameron, Cranbrook.

Vice-President—Mr. M. A. Kastner, Fernie.

Secy.-Treas. — Mr. Lloyd Crowe, Wycliffe.

Owing to slightly different views as to meeting expenses, etc., the fate of the League was in abeyance ever since the initial meeting. However, ceasless efforts ensued in an amicable arrangement and the League will be launched in earnest on Sunday next, May 8th, when Wycliffe is scheduled at Cranbrook; Wardner plays Waldo and the White Spruce billed to play at Fernie.

The adverse weather conditions is hampering progress around Fernie, so on appealing to the League, postponment of the White Spruce-Fernie game was granted to enable the clubs to get their diamonds in shape and teams properly lined up. (Particulars will be announced later).

All names of players are to be sent in to the secretary on or before June 1st, after which date two weeks notice must be given in writing before any new player may be used, such players to be a resident of the town for two weeks prior to signing on with the team from the respective town with which he intends to play. The object of such rules are to eliminate as far as possible the importing of professional players. Professional baseball rules, however, will govern all games.

The League will appreciate the donation of a prize by any firm, or individual for the best hitter, home run hitter, base stealer or best all round player in the league. Information is at hand from Cranbrook that two firms have already come forward and put up prizes.

The following schedule has practically been approved by all teams:

The purchasing company have agreed to complete the construction of a railway from Sparwood to the company's property within two years, work to commence this year and also to equip the mines for production.

B. C. WAPITI IN LONDON

The Government of British Columbia, through the Game Preservation Board, have presented three Wapiti deer—a stag and two hinds—to the Zoological Society. The animals arrived safely at Regent's Park on Wednesday morning, April 6. The stag is a magnificient young animal, standing nearly 5ft. at the shoulders. For safety on the journey he was shipped with the antlers of last season sawn off, and perhaps will not produce a normal "head" this season But he should certainly do well next year. The hinds are rather smaller and more slightly built, but they, too, look in good condition. The three deer will be kept in the sanitorium for four weeks, in accordance with the regulations of the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, after which they will be placed in the deer yards, which have been without good examples of the species for many years.

Wapiti belong to the red-deer group, and, like their relatives, have a "brow" and a "bez" tine, above which the antler forms a nearly cylindrical shaft, splitting up into two or more points near the summit. The British red deer ranges eatsward to the Caucasus, and is represented in Asia by a number of species, of which the Kashmir and Yarkand stags are the best known, and the Thian Shan stag in East Turkestan, the largest and most coveted. The Wapiti probably entered the American Continent by a land or ice bridge at Behring's Straits. Unfortunately, its common name in Canada is "elk," which leads to confusion with the true elk or moose ,the large ungainly deer with palmated antlers.

General Sir Percy Cox, British Commissioner in Mesopotamia, has sent from Baghdad a pair of young Persian Gazelles. These pretty little creatures have lyrate horns, deeply ringed, but, unlike most antelopes, the female are hornless. They inhabit the highlands of Persia, and range as far east as the Gobi desert, in Mongolia. Although they are usually gentle and become very tame, the males are bold and will sometimes attack even keepers whom they know.

The Barbary sheep on the Mappin terraces have bred again this year, one ewe giving birth to two lambs. Perhaps the words "lamb" and "sheep" are not exact, because these fine creatures are between the goats and sheep. The hills of the terraces have proved very successful breeding places. Barbary sheep, Thar, Caucasin, Himalayan and Grecian ibex have all bred repeatedly on them, and many of the young have been reared. Within a few hours of birth the young of all these mountain animals are active, and perform marvelous feats of climbing on almost vertical serfaces.

Two of the performing sea-lions which have recently been on the London stage are at present "resting" in the sea-lions' pond.

MEASURING BY FRACTION OF ONE HAIR'S BREADTH

Go to your wall safe, remove your jewel-case and take from it one of your smaller diamonds—just the stone without any setting—and then proceed to your jeweler's. Ask him to weigh the gem as carefully as possible; you must know precisely.

"Eigh and fifty-nine hundredths karats," he wil say, after a lengthy and portentous retirement into his workroom.

After this procedure you will leave the shop satisfied that you know with extreme accuracy how much your diamond weighs. As a matter of fact, you have only an approximation—that is, according to the standards of measurement insisted upon by those whose life work in measuring: the personnel for instance, of the international bureau of weights and measurs, under the direction of M. Charles Edouard Guillaune, to whom in 1920 was awarded the Nobel prize in physics.

To the small group of men who, in the quietude of the big white mansion set away among the trees of the forest of Saint-Cloud, give their whole existence up to the perfection of measurement to a degree the layman never has even considered, a hair's breadth of difference is only a rough guess.

Metrology, the study of measurement, is not an arid and unproductive one. It is a factor in science absolutely necessary to discovery and invention. The achievement of an unbelievable precision in the measurement of time, of distance, of heat and of weight is to those warkers in the more spectacular fields of science what the trained nurse is to the surgeon in the operating room: it is the thoroughly reliable assistant.

"Would Newton have discovered universal attraction without the aid of a meridan made by the French astronomer Picard?" Asks M. le Directeur Guillaune. "Thanks to the accuracy of their balances, Lavoisier, Proust, and Dalton threw light into the mazes of alchemy, which was a collection of ivobscure receipts and quaint experiments, and discovered real science: chemistry."

The staff of the bureau of weights and measures takes no great chance on outside influences affecting and so falsifying its calculations. The foundation of every instrument is not the floor of a building, but a post or block of masonry rising directly from the earth. Openings have been left in the floor for the pasage of these foundations, so that were one of the staf in an ungarded moment of exuberance to jig or try out a new fox-trot step, the delicate scales by which he is measuring an object would be no more disturbed by the tremor than is the head waiter at the Ritz by a tip of fifty centimes. In fact not quite so much. This is but one of the inumerable precautions against error.

When a weight, say a standard milligram, is to be tested for accuracy, the member of the staff assigned to examine it places it in a glass enclosure, near the scales, the evening before the test. The next morning he weighs it, operating the balance from a distance of four meters, for the mechanism is so devised that the milligram weight can be lifted from afar and deposited very gently upon the balance. Even then the indicating needle does not come to rest. It swings for many hours; and it has been found that waiting for it to become immobile is unecessary. The observer notes, by means of a telescope, the extreme points of an oscillation and takes the mean. The reason for operation of the balance from a distance is to obviate the effect of the heat of the human body, which might expand slightly the metal used in the construction of the instrument and so render it, however infinitestimally, inaccurate.

Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Money Will Not Buy a Better Paper

THE man of wealth can buy a better car, wear better clothes, eat better food, live in a better house, than those without means. But he cannot buy a better newspaper. Even if he would spend $50, $100 or $1,000 a day—if he lived in the territory covered by The Calgary Herald, he could not buy a paper that would serve his needs better than you can for 2 2-3c a day.

In Buying Newspapers All Men are Equal

THE price of newspapers is the same, or nearly so, regardless of the value they offer—so you should see that you get the best when the best costs no more. In the Calgary Herald you get a paper that averages from 18 to 36 pages,—you get all the news first, and it's dependable. You get a variety and a wealth of special articles, departments and features that are equalled by but few papers in the Dominion. The Herald offers the greatest newspaper value you can buy—and, as for the past 37 years, it will serve you best.

DARWIN DEMOLISHED

In his remarkable book, "From the Unconscious to the Conscious," Dr. Geley demolishes, to his own satisfaction at least, the Darwinian theory of natural selection, riddles the psycho-psychological concepts of the individual and points out the errors of the religious and philosophical theories of evolution. In their place he submits a scientific philosophy of evolution, a philosophy as optimistic as it is revolutionary.

All of which is, as one might say, a large order, but an order which the French scientist fills without hesitation. Dr. Geley declares his work to be only an outline of a wide philosophical generalization., based on facts, leaving the exhaustive study of the questions treated to those who devote themselves to analysis.

It is impossible to give in a brief review much that will justify the conclusions of the author. J. D. Beresford in his preface to the volume says:

'I believe that in fifty years' time Dr. Geley's 'From the Unconscious to the Conscious' will be looked upon as bearing the same kind of relation to the discoveries of the twentieth century that Darwin's 'Origin of the Species' bore to the nineteenth. If. Dr. Geley's theory is, as I believe, a true one, it must inevitably revolutionize our knowledge both of biology and psychology, and may at the same time lay the foundation of a world-wide religion."

In considering the chasm which seperates the perfect insect from its larva, Dr. Geley sums up his case against evolution by selection or adaptation:

"The whole biology of the insect presents the symbol of what evolution is. It proves that the essential cause of evolution should be sought neither in the influence of the enviornment nor in the reactions of organic matter to that enviornment; but in a dynamism independent of that organic matter, directing it and superior to it. It shows us evolution taking place primarily by an internal impulse entirely distinct from surrounding influences, by a primordial effort, unerring, but still mysterious and absolutely inexplicable by classical naturalism."

In discussing the psychological concept of the individual as a complex of cells, Dr. Geley points out that nothinging is more familiar than the functioning of our own organism, and nothing seems more simple to the vulgar mind; but in realty nothing is more mysterious. Normal function, in fact, is just as "occult" as supernormal. Birth, growth, embryonic development, maintenance of the personality thru life, organic repair, all these are so many insoluble enigmas if the clasical concept of individulaity be accepted. In order to understand all these problems of biology, he says, it is necessary to accept the notion of a dynamism superior to the organism and directing it. This dynaism dominates both intrinsic and extrinsic contingencies, the chemical reactions of the organic medium and the influences of the external enviornment.

From this point of view it is important to note that Dr. Geley is the director of the International Metaphysical Institute in Paris, and is well known as a medical authority, as well as a scientist and scholar.

It is in the realm of the unconscious that he finds his solution. Briefly stated, his conclusion is that since part of the contents of the unconscious is constructed out of daily experiences, it is permissable to assume that in place of a single existance the individual has passed thru a series of successive existences. The experiences of these successive lives have been impressed on the essential dynamism of the being and little by little are transformed into a state of conscoiusness—that is, into a remembrance and a capacity.

The complete transformation is not yet, and Dr. Geley declares that it is well for evolution that it is not so. Man would make no effort to progress if the experiences of the past lives were at his command. There may be, he says, in our subconsciousness some slow elaboration of a new form, with an organism less subject to material needs, more free in time and space and reflecting at last our ideals of intelligence, balance, youth, strength and health, our hopes of liberty, beauty and love, a form of life that would dominate matter. But leaving this possibility aside, he predicts a higher evolution in which disease will be vanquished, accidents rare, in which old age will no longer poison existence with its infirmaties; physical beauty will be the rule, and death will be looked upon only as sleep is looked upon—a preparation for the activities of tomorrow.

DEFY DRESS CONVENTIONS

The younger generation continues to startle. Discussion rages in magazine articles and at dinner and at teatables over the manners and morals of the young. The subject of a present violent discussion is about a sort of mutinous use of the Tuxedo. This time-honored-garment was to be worn only at "stag" dinners, at clubs or possibly informally at home—never to be seen at a dinner where ladies were to appear. And now watch the young men as they line up from 11 o'clock on at any debutante dance. How many of them appear in anything but the comfortable tuxedo unless they have been to a formal dinner first, and, even then, how grudging is their donning the swallow-tail! Uuless the ball is a decided exception to most, where numerous other men, "friends of the family" are present, wearing conventional evening clothes, how few and far between are the full dress suits today? The opera seems to be almost the only surviving institution where intrepid youth does not venture in the beloved dinner jacket. There the old-time tradition seems to hold.

To the girls it doesn't matter much if the men come and in sufficient numbers to make a "peppy" party. The general vote of the young girl seems to be: "What difference does it make what they wear? If they want to wear diner jackets—let them. We don't care if they only give us a heavy rush when they get there."

However casual one is about conventions of clothes, one must, admit that some of the young men's costumes are remarkable. Dinner coats with stiff shirts and collars are one thing, but dinner jackets over casually informal polo shirts, soft shirts with collars that button down comfortably—well, certainly these are a long way from the agony of the stiff-collared, white-tied day of these young men's predecessors. One young man appeared recently at a party with a pleasantly informal sport shirt underneath a dinner jacket—a sport shirt with holes punched carelessly through for shirt studs.

A topic of discussion at a recent dinner in New York was as to whether it wouldn't be quit possible for any presentable man, with sufficient nerve and quick sense of catching on to the routine of the thing, to go to almost any dance hall in New York, to give his name at the correct moment, to be announced, and then to drift into the stag line and from there into the heart of the party. Of course, everyone knows that numerous universal guests come in, dance a while and then pick the party to pieces if they are not pleased with their choice, and that nothing can be done by the hostess who has asked so many young men who are to her merely names on lists. But this type of uninvited guest was not the type the discussion centered on. The men who appear at some parties uninvited on the strength of others to which they have received invitations were—so the argument proceeded, eliminated from the discussion. One faction contended that it would be quite possible for a total unknown to walk in, give his name, march down the receiving line, pick out the girl who was being "heavily rushed,' cut in, and from that start, with sufficient savoir faire, make enough acquaintances to establish a very presentable appearance. The other faction contended that the savoir faire and the presence of mind to carry thru the pose of "belonging," would necessitate a certain amount of backbone and training, that anyone without these wouldn't do such a thing and that without them it couldn't be done.

WEDDING AT COAL CREEK

Johanna, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milburn, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Laurie, of Cranbrook, at the Methodist church, on Monday last. Rev. Mr. Burns, of the United Church, Fernie, tied the nuptial knot. Miss Eva Morrison officiated on the organ. The bride and bridesmaids were attired in white crepe de chene and silk. The duties of the bridesmaids were ably carried out by Miss Essie Milburn and Miss Annie Laurie, sisters of the bride and groom respectively. Mr. Edward Laurie, brother of the groom, filled the capacity as groomsman in manner born. The bride was given away by her father. After the ceremony the bridal party and a few personal friends sat down to a sumptuous repast at the home of the bride's parents, ably presided over by Mesdames Corlett and Buchanan. The groom had to disgorge his loose change to meet the insatiable demands of the juvenile "shivaree band" with their attendant implements of noise. Later on in the evening an adjournment was made to the Club Hall, where, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Millburn the residents and friends enjoyed the facilities for an evening's enjoyment. Th patrons of the terpschicorean art had full opportunity to display their ability to the lilting music rendered by Miss May Hughes and Mr. J. Worthington on piano and violin respectively. Refreshments were liberally provided. The happy couple left on the morning train for Spokane for a short honeymoon, the congratulations of the residents accompanying them. WHAT A BOY SHOULD DRINK!

Cocoa and Chocolate,—besides water and milk the liquids most commonly drunk at meals are coffee, tea, cocoa and chocolate. Of these only the latter two have any real food value. They are both made from cocoa seeds which in fat, and are also well supplied with proteid and starch. Cocoa contains less fat than chocolate and is more readily digested.

Coffee and Tea,—from the pleasing aroma of coffee and tea, many think them rich in the useful food elements. This is not true. Both are stimulants, but furnish no building or fuel materials except the milk and sugar that may be used for flavoring. A stimulant is something that increases the activity of the brain, heart, or some other organ for a time. Many medicines are stimulants. As a rule, it is unsafe to take any stimulants unless advised to do so by a doctor.

Coffee and Bread a Poor Breakfast—toast and milk only, or toast and cocoa, might be eaten for breakfast, and one would be fairly well strengthened for a morning's work. But toast and coffee, or toast and tea, furnish altogether too little strength for long continued work or play. School physicians often find that the usual breakfast of pale, weak, nervous children is toast or bread and coffee. A few breakfasts of the right sort quickly start such children on the road to health and strength. We should care too much for our bodies to allow them to start a morning's work so poorly furnished with food that gives strength.

Children and Tea and Coffee—All physicians agree that children should not drink either tea or coffee. No little folk who want to be strong and rosey-cheeked as they can will be so foolish as to use either of these stimulants. Besides water, the very best drink for them is milk, and the next best is cocoa. They are the best, too, not only because they supply the food elements the body needs, but also because they taste exactly as well or better when we have got into the habit of using them.

CLAY PIPES FOR GIRLS HYGIENIC, SAYS DEAN

While the blue laws hover menacingly over college life, some of the deans and students of the New York University are gayly flirting with a radicalism that even the joy killers have not dared to face.

Pipes for women! Dean Joseph French Johnson proposes them.

Of course, as Dean Johnson apologetically explained, if you turn the academic mind away from its beaten course, it is apt to be the most nonsensical sort of mind in the world. This, he says, is why he was led to commit himself to hearty approval of pipe smoking for women. The dear ladies in London are doing it, he added. In fact, visitors from abroad say the fashion is fetching when pearly teeth clinch themselves delicately on the slim stem of a jeweled pipe.

Dean Johnson stipulates, however, that if American girls are going to do it, he would rather they went in for boxes of clay pipes and use a fresh one every day. This would be more hygienic. It would also mean that their pipes would not become the dear, dirty relics that men cherish to the end of time. Besides there would be a grandmotherly touch about the clay "cudy" that would give it an air of decency no diamond-studded briar could achieve.

While Dean Johnson would rather see a girl smoke a pipe than a cigaret, there are other deans at New York University who regard a possible invasion of pipes as an unmitigated horror. As for the girls themselves! Since it was one of their most genial deans who started the argument they are vivaciously following it up. And there is no telling what the sequel may be.

While pipes for women seem a startling enough innovation at the moment, it is only a reversion to the habits of the past. When tobacco first reached England it was freely used by both sexes. In the 17th century it was not only usual for women to join men in smoking, but the children were sent to schools with pipes in their satchels, and the schoolmaster called a halt in their studies while they all smoked. To this day women smoke pipes in the hill regions of Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

POULTRY PRODUCTION ON A LARGE SCALE

(Medicine Hat News)

That a poultry production industry on a large scale is being built up in this city is proved by a visit to the home of Mr. R. Jones, 610 Parkview Drive, who believes that there is great promise here for such an industry.

Mr. Jones now has over 3000 eggs in incubators, and his plant has a total capacity of 5000 eggs. His biggest incubator is a 2000-egg Mammoth Candee, and the next, a Mammoth Buckeye, has a capacity of 700 eggs. Six smaller incubators complete the list of his hatching machines. The lower section of the Candee incubator is a brooder which can accommodate 1000 chicks.

His first batch was off on March 21, and he has already hatched over 900 birds this season. From now on his hatches will be coming off three times a week and the hatching will continue until the second week in June. In addition to the hatching which he is doing for many people in the city and in various parts of the west, he expects to hatch out from 3000 to 4000 birds for himself.

Mr. Jones specializes in white leghorns and in this, his favorite type of bird, he cleaned up the prizes at the last poultry show here.

MACHINIST WAS FORCED TO QUIT

Was So Run Down He Had To Give Up, But Is Back On Job Now —Praises Tanlac.

"I have not only gained thirteen pounds since I started taking Tanlac, but I know what it is to enjoy a good meal for the first time in years," said John Gallic, machinist in the employ of the Canadian Government Railway and living at 99 Berlin Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"For several years I was in bad ah,'tehl' he said, "but ever since I had an attack of the 'flu' I had been very much worse. I just felt tired all the time and became so weak that it was all I could do to stick to my work. My appetite failed and even the little I did force down caused my stomach to be upset and the gas formed and bloated me up as tight as a drum. I was losing weight at the rate of three or four pounds a week and I got so weak at last that I often had to lay off from work.

"Then a neighbor who had suffered in much the same way as myself, was so greatly helped by Tanlac that I decided to try it. I soon noticed a big improvement in my appetite, and now, when I come home from work, I sit down and eat a supper that would surprise you. I'm never troubled with indigestion, pains in the stomach or gas, and my food is doing me so much good that I have gained thirteen pounds and feel like a different man."

EVERY JAPANESE BELL HAS A STORY

Bells are venerated in Japan, and about each bell there clusters a legend or two. To many Japanese the sound of a bell hung in some shrine is the voice of Buddha. There is, for instance, the famous bell of Mii-dera, and the story of the giant Benkei, a fighting priest. He set up headquarters on the forest heights of Hiel-zan. This was in the long ago, when in Japan—as in Europe—knights journeyed thru the land on missions or on adventure bent.

Benkei lay in wait for the traveling knights and challenged each to combat. His ambition was to collect the swords of 1,000 knights. One day he stole the bell from Mii-dera. Carrying it on his pack he plodded thru the woods, and up the hills until he came to a temple where Buddist priests lived. They gladly offered their hospitality to Benkei. When he had finished his dinner he was in such kindly humor that he offered to permit each priest the honor of sounding the bell once. The first priest approached the bell. He raised his arm to strike it. Sudenly the bell spoke with human voice:

"I wish to go back to Mii-dera."

The other priests and even Benkei himself tried to draw from the bell a sound less astonishing. But none succeeded. In a rage, Benkei kicked the bell, and it rolled down the hill, shouting its wish to the trees it struck as it tumbled.

Benkei realized the only thing he could do was to restore the bell to the temple from which he stole it. As soon as it was back at Mii-dera it lapsed once more into bell language.

EQUINOCTIAL STORM MYTH, SAYS SCIENCE

There is still a popular belief that upon the approach of the equinoxes, both in spring and fall, there must be an equinoctial storm, says a weather bureau official in the New York Post, who points out that no such disturbances is actually caused by the sun crossing the line, and there is no reason why a storm should develop on this particular date in any latitude. However, as March (the vernal equinox) is the transition period from winter to summer conditions, and September (the autumnal equinox) is the turning point from summer to winter, the variations in temprature from day to day are so great and one portion of the country may become so much colder or warmer in contrast to another that the results are rapid, and sometimes even severe storms develop during several weeks preceding and following th equinoxes.

Thus the term "equinoctal storms" can be applied to designate series of disturbances which may ocur in our northern hemisphere in six or seven weeks during the transition periods, but the term "equinoctial storm" to designate a single great storm which might incidentally just come along about the time of the equinox would following the equinoxes.

As late March and early April is the transition period, we are subject to a combination of weather of all the elements in a modified form which might occur in both winter and summer, or, in other words, anything from a snowstorm to a thunderstorm, or a cold wave to a warm wave, may develop from day to day, making conditions uncertain and in strong contrast to each other.—Toronto World.

THE SOAP-BOX REVOLUTIONARY

In dealing with the revolutionary and the agitator, Britain's way is perhaps the best way, in giving him the freedom of Hyde Park to tear his lungs to peices in the advocacy of his pet cause, and thereby to give delectation to the many and instruction and conviction to but a few. This license frequently allows these demagogues to get off that something which weighs on their chest and and makes for mental indigestion; and, possibly, the individual feels mentally saner after having thus delivered himself. It often is the wrong policy to take the soap-box orator too seriously in using methods to repress him in the employment of free speech. Often the interference is taken by him to be a compliment, in that it gives him a certain importance which he does not deserve.

Lindsay Crawford, we read, paid Calgary a second visit on his mission of self-determination for Ireland, and was allowed to have his meeting without any disturbance. Perhaps this was just as well, as tending to show that he is not to be taken seriously, however serious he fancies himself in pleading "Ireland's cause." Vancouver has had many meetings where what was regarded as seditious utterances were used. They have not been interfered with in that it has now come to be learnt that really these amount to nothing as far as intelligent men and women are concerned, and who, after all, in the way they view extravagant doctrines and far-fetched views, take them in with that grain of salt which common sense supplies.

Referring to the meetings held in Vancouver, the Vancouver World strikes the right note when, in commenting on the way in which revolutionary and seditious utterances are thrust upon the public in and out of season, and when the absence of either protest from the public or repressive action by the authorities suggest that such sentiments may be gaining wide acceptance. It says: "It is not necessary to minimize this menace in order to emphasize a more comfortable fact. While crowds listen patiently to noisey demagogues in square or park, there is a great and almost silent sentiment which has nothing in common with these agitators, and far outnumbers them. If it were possible to gather in one place in Vancouver all the men who desire responsible and representative government, respect for law, reverence for all that is glorious in our history and tradition, submission to properly constituted authority, and the preeminence of the Union Jack, there would be such an ensemblage as would make any other seem trifling and insignificant. There are very few who either want or will permit Russian soviet conditions in this country. And among those who are clamoring for justice at the present time are many who are very fortunate that they do not get it."—Lethbridge Herald.

WALT MASON'S CORNER

How pleasant are the sounds of spring, when roosters crow and hornets sting, and all the skies are bright! The music of the babbling stream is like a song heard in a dream on some long winter night. The wind that rustles through the trees is singing of the sunny seas from which it doubtless came; there are no wintry blasts to roar a the shaking cottage door, with their cheap arctic game. But all the sounds are sweet and smooth, and they unite to heal and soothe the wounds that winter made; and so we whistle as we go to ply the muzzle loading hoe, and do things with a spade. I hear the honest watchdog bark as he attempts to leave his mark upon the gaile cats; I hear the bearded farmer swear while currying the old bay mare, which kicks him in the slats. I hear the dippy ducks cry "quack," as though so doc were near their shack, all loaded down with pills; I hear the bleating of the sheep, the distant lowing, long and deep, of cattle on the hills. It is a chorus glad and gay, the music of bright spring day, made up of many sounds; the creaking of the rusty plow, the shrieking of the hungry sow, and baying of the hounds.

PRINCESS MARY TO WED BEFORE PRINCE OF WALES

An interesting item of gossip reaches me. This is the news that the Princess Margaret of Denmark and her father, Prince Waldemar, are coming to stay with Queen Alexandra for some little time. The "white princess" has been on an extended shopping tour in Paris. It will be recalled that on the occasion of her visit with the Danish royal party some few months ago some interesting rumors coupled her name with that of the Prince of Wales. Altho it can be stated authoritatively that at present gossip is a long way separated from facts it is impossible to forget that the question of the marriage of the heir apparent is one that must necessarily engage attention in the not very remote future.

I shall not be surprised, however, if we hear of the engagement of Princess Mary before we hear of the engagement of the Prince of Wales. The youthful "personage" who was staying incog. at the Palace recently and went about London with the Prince of Wales' equerry in attendance has let loose a flood of talk in clubland.

SOME KICK COMING

The following effusion from the pen of an irate American subscriber may be of interest. We do not know the gentleman in question or what he is kicking about, but he evidently is of the opinion that he has been slighted by the Free Press in some particular:

Ural, May 2, 1921.

To the Editor of the Fernie Free Press:

Don't send your paper to me any more. I thank God I live in a country where the police can't muzzle the press.

Every time there is anything in the dirty little sheet you don't want me to know you don't send it that week. It is all right in a king ridden country, but there is no room for it in the land of the free and the home of the brave.

J. W. McPherson.

FEAR SERIOUS COAL SHORTAGE.

OTTAWA, May 3.—(By Canadian Press) — Alfred Rogers, of Elias Rogers and Co., Toronto, was called before the parliamentary committee on fuel this morning. He told the committee that wages paid by him were 115 per cent. higher now than in 1915. There had also been tremendous advances in the cost of materials used in the coal business.

Mr. Rogers expressed the opinion that there might be a serious shortage of coal in the smaller towns later on. People were not ordering their coal, he said, and without this demand the mines were not working to capacity.

In answer to D. D. McKenzie, Mr. Rogers said he thought transporting anthracite coal to Toronto by water was more costly than by rail. The degradation of coal by breakage was much greater in water than in rail. He had no hope of a reduction in the price of anthracite coal unless there was a drop in freight rates.

Mr. Drummond stated that there were large quantities of the domestic coal available in Alberta which could be mined cheaper by steamshovel.

FAST BALL GAME AT MICHEL

At one of the best games of baseball ever witnessed in the Pass, Michel defeated the strong Hillcrest nine at Michel last Sunday by a score of 4 to 1.

The game was very fast and clean and but for two errors in the fourth innings by Michel, Hillcrest would have been shut out. With the score 1-0 against them, Michel opened up in the seventh and eighth innings with some pretty hitting and very fast base running, which netted them 4 runs.

"NIOBE"

The Coal Creek Dramatic Club scored a decided success in their production of the three act farcical comedy "Niobe," all smiles, and we are advised that the club has decided to produce the play for the benefit of Fernie playgoers at the Grand theatre next Thursday night. This play rivals "Charley's Aunt" and all other comedies as a mirth producer. It held London audiences for more than a year and New York playgoers enjoyed it for a similar period. They have been very fortunate in the selection of a cast, having several members of wide experience in the play and others whose natural ability more than compensates for their limited experience. The general opinion after the last production was that nothing quite so good had been seen in the district for some time and that the acting, technique, elocution—the production in fact was worthy of a better opportunity.

"THE TWO SYSTEMS"

THE STOCK COMPANY: Under this form of organization Capital is involved and naturally must be compensated. Under the provisions of the Dominion Insurance Act the Stock Companies may allot to the Shareholders:—
(a) All interest earned on the paid-up capital.
(b) One-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies, and
(c) All profits earned on no-participating policies and other sources.

THE MUTUAL COMPANY: Is purely a means of mutual protection. There is no capital invested excepting the premiums of the policyholders; so that all profit derived from whatever source, is the exclusive property of the policyholders and is returned to them as dividends.

THE ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCE: The above statement reveals the essential difference between stock and mutual companies. Just as some co-operative enterprises eliminate "the middleman," so a mutual life company eliminates the "Shareholder," as the late Wm. McCabe, L.L.B., F.I.A., has said—"The mutual principle is the only one by which the participating members of a life insurance company can receive a full equivalent for their money. It gives insurance at net cost."

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

A phone message from Cranbrook says that Billie Chinourd was found guilty of manslaughter at the assize court today.

Toby Adreas pleaded guilty to a horse stealing charge.

Sentences were deferred in both cases.

The Spring Assizes for East Kootenay opened at Cranbrook on Tuesday, with Mr. Justice Murphy presiding. The following comprised the Grand Jury:

C. H. Pollen, Cranbrook.
W. F. Attridge, Cranbrook.
A. C. Cock, Cranbrook.
W. D. Gilroy, Cranbrook.
Albert E. Jones, Cranbrook.
Ben J. Keer, Marysville.
Charles Burgess, Waldo.
A. K. Leitch, Jaffray.
C. J. Little, Cranbrook.
Albert Mellor, Marysville.
R. P. Moffatt, Cranbrook.
Ed. Paterson, Cranbrook.

His Lordship instructed the jury as to its duties and presented eight indictments for their consideration. These for convenience were arranged not strictly in accordance with their importance or degree of their serious nature. The first case upon which a report was requested was the King vs. Charlie Chinourd and Billie Sholter alias Billie Chinourd, charged with the murder of one Taihl Singh, a Hindoo, at Waldo, on July 16 last. The second was Rex vs. Armitage, charged with the commission of an indecent act at Cranbrook. Two indictments were presented in Rex vs. Nicholson, both of which dealt with burglary in varying degrees. Rex vs. Fred Melosky, attempted murder of Constable Hilton and Hnatz Melnik at Michel on April 23 last. The next was a horse stealing case in which an Indian is the accused, and the final case to be heard at the assize will be Rex vs. Nick Cuchiurin, charged with the murder of Steve Grchgren at Yahk on Oct. 3 last.

In Rex vs. the Chinourd boys the jury returned a True Bill and the petit jury were sworn in and two witnesses' testimony taken when adjournment was taken Tuesday evening. Before this trial was proceeded with His Lordship appointed W. A. Nesbit, of Cranbrook, to act in their defence, and immediately upon arraignment of the two accused Mr. Nesbit made application, in view of the alleged incriminating statements made by the boys, he would ask that they be tried seperately. This request was granted and the Crown elected to proceed with the case against Billie Chinourd. On Wednesday some eight or nine witnesses for the Crown gave evidence and as there are still a large number to be heard before the case for the Crown is closed it will possibly be Friday before the case is concluded. If this is the case, with seven other cases to come, the civil assize at Fernie may have to be postponed for a week.

The Grand Jury made the following report:

To His Lordship the Honorable Mr. Justice Murphy:

The Grand Jury wish to draw attention to the lack of accommodation for the children at the public schools. Although the cloakrooms have been converted into class rooms, the accommodation remains insufficient and large numbers of children are being turned away. For sanitary reasons and for safety in case or fire, substantial additions should be made to meet the needs of a rapidly increasing population.

The Grand Jury considers that with regard to the jail accommodation beneath the government building, proper ventilation and drainage cannot be insured in its present situation and the space available is insufficient for both jail and janitor's quarters.

They consequently strongly recommend that the government offices now scattered should be consolidated in the existing building and a new jail and court house should be erected by the province.

LADIES GOLF CLUB

A most successful day was held by the Ladies Golf Club on Thursday afternoon, several prizes being put up. There was a large attendance and all engaged in taking part.

The first competition was for putting, the prize being two golf balls presented by Mrs. Trites, the winner being Miss Constance Bonnell.

The second competition was for driving, the first prize being two golf balls, won by Mrs. Irvine, and the second prize, one golf ball, won by Miss Flora Macdonald. The balls were presented by Mrs. Moffatt.

The third competition was for approach and putting and was won by Mrs. Irvine. This prize is the cup presented by Mrs. Liphardt and is to be played for every two weeks during the season.

After the play the ladies were entertained by Mrs. Liphardt at her home, tea being served, after which the scores were read and the prizes presented to the successful competitors.

A stroke competition will be held on May 24 by the Ladies Golf Club at 3 p.m. Entrance fee 25c. All wishing to enter will please send in their names to Mrs. Fisher. Tea will be served on the grounds by the ladies.

THE LAST ANNOUNCEMENT

You have three days more left to see the Great European Phrenologist and Palmist. He is in No. 1, Waldorf Hotel.

Everybody between the coast and Fernie that has visited me were absolutely satisfied. Enquire of your friends in Fernie that have already seen me, and everyone, you will find, is perfectly satisfied.

I forcast the future, delineate the past and tell you the present in a way that leaves no room for doubt.

People who don't believe in Palmistry and Phrenology change their ideas after being a few minutes in my presence.

Everything strictly private and a private entrance.

CARD OF THANKS

The officers and players of the Fernie and White Spruce baseball clubs wish to thank the G. W. V. A. band for services rendered, making the parade and opening game a success. Also Mesdames Asselstine and E. K. Stewart, and their staff, Misses C. Cody, R. Todd, D. Schagel, E. Fenwick and B. Labelle for handling the tickets for the dance.

FERNIE TO HAVE LIQUOR STORE

J. H. Falconer of the B.C. Liquor Commission, was in the city on Monday looking over the prespects with a view to opening a government liquor store here. He visited all the principal industries and was much pleased with the evident permanent prospects of the city. In conversation with prominent business men he stated that from information he had this district would shortly have a large new industry in the shape of blast furnaces for the big English steel company, which will shortly establish a plant in this province, the concern having decided that it would be much more economical to haul the ore to the coal mines than the fuel to the iron mines. In Mr. Falconer's opinion ion Fernie had a big future ahead of it and he would recommend that a store be located here. He expressed the opinion that he would like to meet the Board of Trade, as while at Cranbrook he had been informed that the people of Fernie did not desre a liquor store located here, and a meeting was at once convened. Nearly all the representative business men of the city were present in force to refute the impression which had been spread broadcast by outside influence that Fernie dd not desire a government control warehouse. The unanimous opinion was expressed that it will be little short of a calamity if Fernie is deprived of this, as the working population of the entre district consider that beer is an essential, and, in view of the fact that Fernie is the centre of the most revenue producing and most thickly populated district in the interior, a committee was appointed to draw up a resolution to the Liquor Control Board to place before them Fernie's appeal.

The meeting was largely attended and the discussion was very open and candid. Tom Uphill, the representative of this district in the house, Mayor Henderson, President E. K. Stewart of the Board of Trade, and a number of others all urged the claims of the city, and pointed out to Commissioner Falconer the proximity of the town to the International border and the inevitable bootlegging it will lead to if one of the warehouses is not located in Fernie.

Mr. Falconer spoke at length, saying that the liquor control would be a straight business proposition and that they desired very much to have the backing of the general public in the enforcement of the Act and that it was the determination of the Commission to carry out their work in such a way as to be fair to all, and meet the general purposes for which the Act has been framed.

In bringing the meeting to a close the President congratulated the government on the appointment of such an astute business man as Mr. Falconer for the position of Commissioner and expressed the opinion of the Fernie Board of Trade that no better appointment could have been made, and assured the Commission through him that the Fernie Board of Trade would co-operate to the fullest extent in their power in the fulfillment of the Act.

After the meeting Mr. Falconer took up the preliminary work of opening a store here subject to the approval of the Commission.

The Pollock Wine warehouse was leased and James McLean will be recommended for vendor, with E. Duthie as assistant.

Mr. Falconer said a vendor would also be placed at the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewery to handle the beer end of the business.

RECITAL AT WALDO

The following clipping from the Cranbrook Courier is an interesting account of Harold Anderson's interesting piano recital at Waldo, April 18th:

"The inhabitants of Waldo and Baynes Lake had a delightful treat on Monday evening last when Harold V. Anderson of Fernie gave a piano recital in the Ross Hall at Waldo.

It is all too seldom that we have a chance of hearing such music so brilliantly interpreted and the large audience present enjoyed a rare treat which they thoroughly appreciateed.

The well selected program included compositions of widely varying type which gave ample scope for Mr. Anderson's great versatility. He appeared equally at his ease in the sonorous harmonies of Beethoven's "Largo' from the 2nd Sonata, in McDowell's fantastic "Witches Dance," the vibrating intensity of Chopin's "Storm" Prelude, or the amazing vivacity of Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsodie." Perhaps his delicacy of touch was best heard in Chopin's "Black Note" Etude which was splendidly rendered.

We hope to hear Mr. Anderson play again, not once, but often, and feel sure that after having the opportunity will be amply repaid. Mr. Anderson's future is, we think, one of great promise, and we wish to assure him that our very best wishes are his."

At his recital in Fernie on May 18, from a program replete with variety, Mr. Anderson is offering three compositions recently composed by himself. Lovers of Edward MacDowell's nature-music will also be glad to find this great modern writer represented several times during the evening Needless to say, Chopin will also have a place on the program. The above recital is under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. and will be held at the United Church. Tickets now on sale.

GET 30 DAYS AT NELSON

Two men, John Berg and Ben Englert, were brought before Magistrate Stenson on Thursday charged under Section 33 of the Immigration Act, with having entered Canada by misrepresentation. They pleaded guilty and were sentenced to thirty days in Nelson jail, and will be deported at the expiration of the sentence.

Evidence furnished earlier in the week before a Board of Inquiry showed that Beg was admitted at the port of Newgate on Saturday, April 16, as a non-immigrant on the strength of his claim that he was coming on a three day visit to Chas. Brooks, of Fernie. The purpose of his so-called "visit" turned out to be a hunt for a job. Work was pretty scarce around Brady, Montana, where Berg came from, but he found no difficulty in finding a job in Canada, as he walked straight out to a lumber camp, was taken on, and started work on Monday morning, April 18.

Englert's case was a very similar one. He entered at Newgate on April 22, claiming to be coming to visit Fred Johnson, of Fernie. However, Fred never received a visit, but instead, Englert walked out to a lumber camp, was taken on by them the same day, and started work next morning, the 23rd.

Both these men, finding no work on the south side of the line, crossed into Canada, and without and trouble and in a few hours secured work in Canada, while thousands of men in Canada are idle through lack of employment, and it was with a view of preventing such possibilities that the Dominion government passed an order-in-council last January prohibiting the entry into this province of skilled and unskilled labor from the States, with the exception of farm labor.

If the above two men had told the truth and had said they were coming to try and get work, they would have been rejected under the order-in-council, and it was on these grounds that the charges were laid that they gained entry by misrepresentation.

Under the Immigation Act heavy penalties are provided for employers of labor or any other person who attempts through himself or another to bring into or land in Canada, or attempts to conceal or harbour in any place, a prohibited immigrant, and under the Alien Labor Contract law penalties are provided for hiring men out of the country to come to work in Canada.

Persons who have entered Canada for a temporary purpose, and have remained in Canada and have thereby become factors in the labor market, without reporting such facts to the nearest Immigration Officer, are in Canada illegally, and are liable to imprisonment without option of a fine and to subsequent deportation. The same penalty applies to persons who have entered by stealth or by misrepresentation.

HUGE BUSINESS WAS RUN BY FOUR MEN

Recent circulation and disproval of an unfounded rumor to the effect that W. C. Macdonald, Reg'd., Inc., has been acquired by the Imperial Tobacco Co., recalls an industrial history which is perhaps the most remarkable in the chronicles of Canadian business. In these days of gigantic corporations (among such the Macdonald company is to be considered as one of the largest manufacturing enterprises of Canada) we seldom think of a "one-man business" otherwise than as a good prospect for the assignee; yet the Macdonald institution has always been, still is and will continue to be during the lifetime of its present owners, at any rate, a one-man business in the strictest sense of the term.

The largest producers of plug tobaccos in this country, and now among the largest, too, of cut tobaccos, it employs an office staff of five persons! Modern business men, recalling personal experiences, may be inclined to scout this statement, but it is none the less true. A business aggregating many millions of dollars annually is transacted by five office employes. This condition, presumably, is a survival of the form of effiency for which the enigmatic, taciturn business genius, the late Sir William Macdonald, was distinguished. In fact the spirit of the late founder still looms large in the conduct of the company's affairs—making rumors of the sale of that which has his character for its foundation all the more ridulous—as was instanced only the other day when, in reply to a veritable bombardment of queries, the owners were finally prevailed upon to make a statement regarding the sales rumor, and did so in these laconic terms:

"No truth in rumor. Macdonald tobaccos will continue to be manufactured by us as independent manufacturers as long as the public calls for our goods.—W. C. Macdonald, Reg'd, Inc."

William Christopher Mardonald founded his business of tobacco manufacture in 1858, and since that time the name Macdonald has been one to conjure with in this country. The founder was a scion of a distinguished Scotch-Canadian family, and certainly he applied all the keen business instinct, and dominating unobstrusiveness for which his race has earned a reputation, to the conduct of his affairs. Though in those days his products never were advertised, though he refused to encumber himself with business correspondence, ignoring all letters save those containing orders, and acknowledging those letters only by shipments, C.O.D., his name was a household word from coast to coast in the course of a few years. Because in his later life he consistently refused to take cognizance of such modern adjuncts of business as the telephone, the office building elevator, the automobile, etc., it has been alleged that he was not a progressive individual; but his success affords ample disproof of such contention — a success unparalelled, perhaps, in the history of Canadian Business, a success such as enabled him to be, next to the late Lord Strathcona, Canada's greatest philanthropist; he gave more than fifteen millions of dollars to the cause of Canadian theoratical and tchnecical education, and which placed him among the world's greatest men. Further, the fact that in 1870, twelve years after his business was established, he employed 1100 men in his factory (a phenominal figure for those days), does not entitle him to be regarded as ungrogressive. Possibly the most progressive business man of his day, he was also the shrewdest and most thorough. He had the business instinct and he developed the business genius. While other companies, expanding their organizations, inclined to departmentization of their businesses, Sir William, with that breadth of vision of his, still could give all the necessary attention to all departments of his business, distribution, manufacturing, purchasing, etc., which were actually incorporated in one sole department, of which he was sole director—a 'one-man' concern if ever there was one. Sir William foresaw that the profitable continuance of his work must be carried on under the same scheme. In the person of his secretary he found a talent like to his, and that talent, transmitted to the sons of the secretary, Howard and Walter Stewart, still controls, solely, the business of W. C. Macdonald, Reg'd., Inc., for to these two men Sir William left the wonderful enterprise he built up.

While the Stewart brothers have recognized the merits of advertising with the results that their company is today one of the biggest advertisers in the Dominion, while they have taken cognizance of the automobile and of modern equipment, it is none the less true that the industry they control is still guided, and will be during their lifetimes at least, solely by the spirit and unrivalled commercial wisdom of the late Sir William Christopher Macdonald. Hence, any rumors of the purchase of this business by other interests are at once untrue and illogical.—Toronto World.

LEAGUE OF RED CROSS SOCIETIES

In December, 1918, with the approval and indorsement of the governments of the five great powers—Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States—a committee of their Red Cross Societies was constituted "to formulate and propose to Red Cross Societies of the world, an extended program of Red Cross Activities in the interests of humanity."

As a result, a League of Red Cross Societies is today organized, and in addition to the five powers already mentioned, it now includes in its membership 26 of the other civilized powers of the world.

This League of Red Cross Societies was created to: Organize and stimulate throughout the world Red Cross peace activities; fight disease and spread health; develop existing Red Cross Societies and build up new ones; serve as universal clearing house for Red Cross work in peace time.

It has developed and directed anti-typhus campaigns in Eastern Europe; organized membership campaigns for Red Cross Societies; instituted nursing services; created public health scholarships; sent out missions to study means of relief.

It is organizing a world campaign against communicable diseases; promoting child welfare; training public health nurses for service where most needed; building up in both hemispheres the Junior Red Cross; spreading health propaganda through publications, films, lectures, etc.

It will enlarge the field of Red Cross work; mobilize relief workers in case of national calamities; keep Red Cross Societies in close touch with one another; ensure the universality of the Red Cross; create a new sense of human fellowship.

For the first time in its history, therefore, civilized humanity as a whole, is declaring relentless warfare against disease, famine and the other devastating forces which are working for its downfall. In this fight, the League of Red Cross Societies serves as general headquarters to direct the campaign.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $500 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

TAXATION PROPOSALS

Ottawa, May 9. — The following gives a bird's eye view of the tariff taxation proposals of the budget:

No general revision of the tariff schedules is to be made now.

Certain changes necessary to implement the trade agreement with the West Indies are made. These affect such products as cocoa, cocoa products, arrowroot, onions, grapefruit, limes, sugar and rum.

Notice is given of two changes to be made in the Customs Act.

The purpose of the first is to secure a more efficient carrying out of the principle of the existing dumping provisions and has to do with the valuation on which duties are assessed. The act at present provides that the value shall be the "fair market value when sold for home consumption in the principal markets of the country whence and at the time when the goods were exported directly to Canada. The amendment will add to this such value in no case to be lower than the wholesale price thereof at such time and place," and in addition, provides that the value for duty shall not be less than the actual cost of production of similar goods at date of shipment direct to Canada, plus a reasonable profit thereon.

The other amendment relates to the valuation for customs purposes of foreign currency.

The present customs practice is to convert the foreign depreciation currency into Canada on the basis of existing exchange rates. It is proposed that no reduction in excess of 50 per cent of the standard or proclaimed value will be allowed, no matter what the exchange rate is. Where the rate of exchange is adverse to Canada, the value for duty will be computed at the rate of exchange existing at the date of the shipment of the goods.

A change in the customs tariff 1907 will also be made, stipulating that all goods imported capable of being marked, stamped, branded or labeled without injury, shall have indicated on them in English or French, the country of origin. This provision will come into force Sept. 1, 1921.

The business profits war tax act will not be reenacted. All the luxuries taxes, those which were, and those which were not remitted last December, will be abolished.

But, in view of the necessities of revenue, duties will be levied on playing cards, wines and spirits. On playing cards not exceeding $24 a gross, eight cents a pack; exceeding $24 a gross, 15 cents a pack. Duties equal to the former combined taxes will be maintained on wines, including champagne and sparkling wines.

Duties on spirits will be increased to a straight $10 a gallon, customs rate and excise on spirits of local manufacture released for sale in Canada $9 a gallon.

In connection with the latter item, however, arrangements will be made for a rebate of 99 per cent of the duties on alcohol to bona fide hospitals on spirits actually used by them for medicinal purposes.

The duties on alcohol used for patent and proprietary medicines and pharmaceutical preparations will be $2.40 per proof gallon, which was the rate in effect before the luxury taxes of last year were impised.

No change will be made in the principle of the sales tax or to extend it to a general turnover tax. Its operation will be confined as at present, to sales of manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and importers. The one per cent and two per cent rates on domestic transactions will, however, be increased to 1½ per cent and 3 per cent respectively, and the import rates will be increased to 2½ per cent and 4 per cent, these latter being one per cent higher than the like domestic rate. The necessity for this lies in the fact that more than one sales tax is included in the finished article made in Canada, whereas on the imported article no sales tax is imposed on the materials entering into it.

A list of special exemptions will be continued, which will cover food stuffs in their natural state, initial sales of farm produce by the farmer of his own production, as well as the first products of fisheries, mines and forests.

STRANGLER LOSES TITLE TO ZBYSZKO

New York, May 6. — Stanislaus Zbyszko, of Poland, won the world's heavyweight catch as catch can wrestling championship here tonight by defeating Ed. "Strangler" Lewis of San Jose, Cal., with a neck lock after 23 minutes of wrestling.

After several minutes of strenuous grappling Lewis tried for his famous headlock and missed, falling on his back. The Pole quickly pounced upon him and pinned his shoulders to the mat. Zbyszko weighed 226 pounds and Lewis 235.

The official time was 23 minutes and 17 seconds.

Both wrestlers were in excellent condition. They indulged in rough tactics from the start but in the first 20 minutes neither seemed to have the advantage. Each tried for a toe hold in the first 10 minutes but without success.

While the men were struggling for an advantageous hold Zbyszko rolled off the mat. Under the rules both wrestlers had to come to the centre of the mat again and take a standing position. In the encounter that followed Zbyszko got out of a half Nelson and broke away from a body scissors. He then secured a combination toe and crotch hold and Lewis wriggled out of it. They were tossing each other about the ring when Lewis got a head scissors holding it for more than half a minute.

Lewis then tried a flying headlock and missed. His arm slipped over Zbyszko's perspiring neck and head and the force of his plunge carried him to the floor. He fell on his back to the mat. Zbyszko then pounced on him, threw the weight of his body on Lewis' chest, locked his arms around his neck and forced his shoulders to the mat, winning the fall and the championship.

B.C. WILL NOT BE THIRSTY

While the Ontario government is preparing to implement the recent plebiscite on the question of importation of liquor, British Columbia is completing arrangements through her Government Liquor Board to see that none of her inhabitants or visitors go thirsty. Her motto might well be: "See British Columbia First and Quench Your Thirst." After June 1st there will be no trouble experienced in securing liquor, provided the transaction can be financed. Even the doughty Oriental is to be supplied with his favorite drink. According to a Canadian Press dispatch from Victoria recently, the Liquor Board is to make a drive after the patronage of both the Chinese and the Japanese living on the coast. Liquor stores are to be opened in the Chinatowns of both Vancouver and Victoria, and special brands of liquors and drinks that appeal to the Chinese palate will be imported. A drive is also to be made to capture all the Japanese liquor business, and large quantities of "saki" are to be imported by the government. The official reason given for seeking out the Oriental trade is to put a stop to bootlegging among the newcomers from the Far East, but the real reason is that the government needs the revenue. If there is any liquor purchased in British Columbia this year—and the hypothesis is absurd—the government intends to profit by it. Fabulous amounts have been suggested as the likely profit on the liquor business in the Coast Province, but at any rate the amount will run into several hundreds of thousands each twelve months. The revenue from permits alone will be huge. Visitors may secure permits good for a fortnight for five dollars and residents will pay the same amount per year. Moreover, the visitor may carry his purchase to his hotel bedroom and drink at his leisure. Nothing could be easier or more comfortable. If British Columbia is not flooded with tourists from across the border and east of the Rockies in the coming months, it will be a matter of great surprise. If she is, her much boasted scenic charms will not be the only attraction.—Saturday Night.

WOMEN AND CRIME

Perhaps the rise of woman to the suffrage and equal rights with men, necessarily implies equality also in the underworld; but a characteristic of the world-wave of crime is the emergence in many countries of the woman criminal. She ranges from the rich shop-lifteress, bridge-whist shark and automoblie and stock swindler down. She lives with the gunman and is caught with him in the blood-streaked taxi. She courteously inquires for valuables at the point of an automatic and kisses the young men good-bye. She feigns to be a street walker to lure men to a waiting automobile full of bandits, or to her men friends in a vacant flat. In Chicago she is a 19 year old Madonna-faced girl, who obtains employment in wealthy homes, chloroforms "the missus," and disappears the night of the thefts, or is "badly frightened" by the burglars and discreetly resigns and goes "home." She organizes the theft of $50,000 worth of sugar from a government warehouse.

In Paris pretty Henriette Miffonne, alias Yevette, is head of a band of apaches. Well educated, slender and attractively feminine, she directs scores of robberies, watches near by against interference, and meets her Waterloo attacking a gendarme with pistol butt and bullet. In London the Daily Herald says that "expert women crooks, specializing in house-breaking, safe-cracking, jewel snatching, and cloakroom thieving have made a busy season for Scotland Yard. Posing as 'ladies of society' and frequenting the best hotels and most exclusive drawing rooms, they are daring to a degree. Scotland Yard detectives believe that the disappearance of the famous $200,000 Mango pearl necklace from the Savoy Hotel is traceable to one of the woman crooks that attended the ball there that night." That an increase of desperate crimes by women may be expected in America is intimated by the architect's plans for a goodly number of rooms for women in the new death house in Sing Sing prison.

THE SAME THING

The drummer looked across the aisle. The seat beside the pretty girl was vacant. Going over, he said: "Is the seat engaged?"

" No," said the girl, "but I am; so it won't do you any good."

DAUGHTERS OF EMPIRE

(Victoria Colonist)

The annual convention of the Provincial Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of Empire, which tok place last week, is always an occasion for reviewing the activities of that organization in British Columbia. The results of the work of the past twelve months must be peculiarly gratifying to the members and that very wide section of the community which is so keenly interested in the patriotic labors which have been undertaken. The influential character of the I.O.D.E. grows from year to year. What it accomplished during the Great War is incoporated in the country's history, and its usefulness, benevolence, philanthropy and virile patriotism are no whit less appreciated in times of peace. It is an educational factor of the first importance for its efforts in this direction reach both the schools and the homes, the public platform and the press. As its membership grows, the scope of its work increases, and the energy brought to bear on civic, provincial, national and imperial problems becomes intensified.

Last week's meeting brought to the attention of the public phrases of the activities of the Daughters of Empire which illustrate the position it enjoys in the community. Withn twelve months it has been responsible for raising a sum of $60,000 to forward its work. Of this amount over $21,000 was secured towards the national war memorial fund of the Order, and, with the $5,000 subscription towards this promised by the Provincial Government, more than half British Columbia's quota will have been secured. We gather from the Provincial Chapter's reports that the interest in this fund is increasing and that its importance as a means of perpetuating the memory of Canada's dead in the Great War is obtaining an ever-widening recognition. There is more support towards it needed in the Province, but when the public realize what has already been accomplished we have no doubt that there will be spirited effort to complete British Colubia's contribution.

The I.O.D.E. is one of those self sacrificing organizations which is bound to prove an influence for good in any state or community. Those ladies who devote their time, ability and money towards the energies of which it stands guardian do so for love of country, and because of their concern for the public welfare. The measure of their accomplishment is an expanding one and that is their reward. As well as bestowing tangible benefits the Order maintains and perpetuates the traditions of the race and sets the ideal of love of country in the forefront of its ritual. How nobly it is operating for the good of the community is shown in the accomplishments spoken of in its annual reports. Lack of space prevented the Colonist from giving an extended account of the Provincial Chapter's convention, but we hope that in due time the most important reports then presented will be published.—Victoria Colonist.

It is interesting to note that our own Mount Fernie Chapter is ever to the fore in the educational work recognized by the Order. Apart from pictures, libraries and prizes, they have established a fund for secondary education, available locally to sons, daughters, brothers or sisters dependent upon men who gave their lives or were permanently disabled while overseas.

They are ever ready to recognize brilliant local talent and are at the moment supporting Mr. Harold Anderson by selling tickets for his piano recital on May 18.

FAIR PLAY FOR THE CHILDREN

On the grounds of the Central School stand various pieces of play apparatus, worth at least $1500 and paid for by Fernie citizens through their taxes. It is a very pretty sight at recess time or noon to see the 650 children who attend that school all engaged in wholesome play. Such play apparatus, wisely used, should last at least five years, and if only school children used it, it would last easily that long.

There are, however, in our city a few young men — possibly a few young women too—who do not respect the playtime of little children. They come along in the evening when the children are in bed—these big, brawny boys with the weight of grown men—and abuse the apparatus, which being built only for children, break with abuse by adults.

In the morning the children find a broken swing here, a broken ring there, where their big brothers have disported themselves in the evening. Childish eyes bear a tragic look when they see their playthings broken by young men, who, having themselves been children, ought to understand. Surely the youth of our city ought to have passed the stage where they would quarrel over the right to use a baby's swing, or break his other playthings!

Mr. Citizen of Fernie, you paid for those playthings! Carefully used they would be an investment that would pay you big dividends in the future manhood and womanhood of our town. Will you not protect your investment? Will you not help to keep away from those playthings the thoughtless youths who deprive your children of their well-merited play? Will you make it your business, and everybody's business, to see that the apparatus at Fernie Central School is used only by children, and so kept for the use of children?—Contributed.

NOT AGAINST SUNDAY FISHING

Vancouver, May 7, 1921.

The Editor Fernie Free Press:

Sir—It has been stated to me that there is being circulated in some parts of the Province a petition of protest to the government against the alleged action of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada in seeking for legislation prohibiting fishing as a sport on Sunday.

Anyone who understands the work of the Alliance knows that it is not its policy to interfere with the use of Sunday either for recreation or for religion, its active efforts being confined to guarding the day as a free day—free from the usual employments of the other days of the week, and free to use as a man's conscience directs. The Alliance has not and does not propose to initiate legislation in the matter of Sunday fishing, the newspaper reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

With relation to Sunday shooting, it is well known that the Alliance discussed with the government of British Columbia the matter of granting to municipalities the power to deal with, and if need be to prohibit, the discharging of firearms on Sunday where it has become a nuisance, as in the more populous rural parts of the province, and we have been informed by the government that this has been done.

The Alliance does not propose any further action upon this matter so far as the government is concerned, but is calling the attention of municipalites, especially those from which complaint has come of this disturbance of Sunday quiet, to the provisions made by the government by which they can deal with the matter. Yours very truly,

Chas. H. Heustis,
Secretary for British Columbia.

Only one man from Fernie is in Cranbrook on the jury. W. W. Brown is the unfortunate individual. All the city police force and most of the provincial staff are down. Constable Collins has charge of both the city and provincial police affairs during their absence.

The city council has given orders that all scavenging rates charged must be paid and that no unauthorized person may remove garbage or ashes from any premises in the city. The latter regulation is made necessary by the fact that unauthorized persons have been dumping garbage on roadsides and on vacant lots. The council trust that all good citizens will co-operate in this important matter and so make our city clean. Any person whose garbage is not being removed regularly should report the matter at once to the city clerk.

A special invitation has been sent to all members of the Fernie Golf Club to be present at the official opening of the Waldo golf course at Waldo on Saturday, May 21. Johnson, the secretary, and the excutive will see that accommodation is at their disposal. The official opening will take place about 3 p.m., so it will be necessary to leave Fernie about 1.30 p.m. There will also be a dance at Waldo in the evening, to which the Fernie golfers are invited.

Cranbrook was to have held its annual Golf Tournament on May 24th, but owing to the Cranbrook citizens holding sports that day the tournament has been postponed until July 1. There will therefore be a golf tournament on the Ferne golf course on May 24, for all those who wish to enter. The competition will be a handicap one for men, who will play in pairs. Two rounds will be played in the morning and two in the afternoon, stating at 9.30 a.m. for the first two rounds and 2.30 p.m. for the second two rounds. There will be an entrance fee of 50c per man and the proceeds will be used towards providng first and second przes. The executive would like the entries to be made with the secretary, G. F. Johnson, not later than 1 p.m. on the 23rd.

POWDERED COAL FOR OUR CANADIAN RYS.

A Study Prepared by J. O. Newton, Managing Director Inter-Provincial Coal Co., Ltd., Winnipeg

As recently as July last Mr. C. P. Herington, formerly assistant engineer in the office of the New York Central Railroad, having spent three years in investigating the possibilities of powdered coal stated that within the last few years this fuel has taken its place as the most promising fuel of the day. Town councils in England are equipping their municipal lighting and power plants with powdered coal systems. France is using it in metallurgical works and under boilers with excellent results. Italy is firing locomotives on her State railways with a local low grade lignite powder, containing in the raw state only 60 per cent. the heat value of Souris lignite. Sweden is successfully burning pulverized peat in locomotives on her state railways and has been doing so since 1916. The Central Railroad of Brazil has been using in locomotives the local coal in powdered form since 1917, a coal containing from 26 per cent. to 30 per cent. ash, that clinkered so badly on grates it was impossible to use by ordinary methods. Japan has already investigated and is now convinced that, in order to save her relatively small supply of coal, it must be burned in pulverized form. Something like 15,000,000 tons of powdered coal are burned annually in the United States and this annual amount is rapidly increasing In the vicinity of Winnipeg the Canada Cement Co., Limited, has been successfully operating on powdered coal for the last eight years and the Manitoba Rolling Mills for the best part of a year. At No. 278, Gary Street, Winnipeg, a demonstration can be seen at any time by appointment, showing the use of powdered coal even in an installation so small as an ordinary domestic furnace. It is not difficult to comprehend why Mr. Herington states that it is the most promising fuel of all and it is the purpose of this article to show that, if his statement is correct, when applied to American coal, it is a matter of such far reaching local importance that nothing but apathy or ignorance can prevent its immediate application to our fuel problem in Winnipeg and in populace centres throughout Canada as a whole.

Before considering the princples upon which the use of coal, or peat for that matter, in pulverized form depend it will be just as well to consider the waste that now takes place and clearly to understand exactly what we should set ourselves to remedy. The present wastage in our western provinces in coal and cost takes place in three seperate directions—in mining, in transportation, and in burning. In mining, even the most up-to-date equipment is installed, thousands of tons of slack are of necessity permitted to go to waste each year, as the demand is nothing like equal to the supply This wastage is paid for by the consumer and it is very evident that any truly economic method of burning coal must embrace the efficient utilization of every ton of coal mined, whether it be lump, nut or slack.

In transportation a further wastage takes place through the present necessity for paying freight and delivery charges on hauling, handling and delivering large percentages of useless moisture. Roughly speaking, coal from the Lethbridge-Aldersyde area—an average distance of 760 miles by rail from Winnipeg—contains 11 per cent. moisture. The freight rate to Winnipeg being $5 per ton involves a loss per ton of 55c. in railway haulage alone, not to mention handling and delivery charges. Coal from the Taber-Bow Island-Drumhellar-Big Valley-Pembina, etc., areas, an average distance of 828 miles by rail from Winnipeg, contains approximately 16 per cent. moisture, involving a loss per ton in railroad transportation alone of roughly 80c. One-third of a ton of Souris coal from Southern Saskatchewan—about 300 miles by rail from Winnipeg—is made up of moisture, costing the consumer 85c per ton in railway freight charges, without taking into account handling and delivery charges.

The heat values of all these coals on the dry basis, after the moisture has been driven off, are all for practical purposes the same, though they vary greatly in the raw state. In every case the moisture can be driven off for considerably less than it costs in freight to haul the moisture alone.

In burning our western lignites on grates four forms of wastage may take place, of which the first two are unavoidable under any conditions, while the third and fourth, though not entirely unavoidable, take place nine times out of ten in practice. They are as follows:

(1) A minimum wastage of 25 per cent. through the imposibility of obtaining in grates an intimate mixture of all the coal particles with the right amount of air.

(2) a wastage of approximately 12 per cent. of heat for every 10 per cent of moisture in the coal, as this amount of heat is required to evaporate that moisture.

(3) inefficiency in firing, caused by a lack of knowledge or by apathy with regard to the requirements of combustion.

(4) Combustion chambers not being constructed to meet the requirements of efficient combustion in burning soft coal, which contains a large volume of volatile gases, and as a consequence differs very materily from hard coal

To return to the principles underlying the use of coal in pulverized form, they are founded on the fact that the finer the coal is powdered the more intimately it is possible to mix the coal particles with exactly the right amount of air and the nearer the ideal conditions for complete combustion are approached. In practice the coal must first be dried as much as reasonably possible—say 1 per cent. moisture—and ground so fine that at least 85 per cent. will pass through a 200 mesh screen—40,000 hole to the square inch—the combustion space in existing furnaces is bricked up in such a way that the right amount is provided and the powdered coal is fed into the combustion chamber completely mixed with air, preferably through a carbureter, into which the powder is delivered by means of a worm screw and the right quantity of air by means of a fan, both being driven by a small electric motor, consuming on the average 2c. electricity in the 24 hours.

As slack does not require any crushing before drying and powdering, it can be more cheaply handled than lump coal and the present wastage is eliminated. As the bulk of the moisture can be driven off at the mine for less than it costs in freight to haul the moisture and, as delivery to the consumer is affected at the rate of a ton in under a minute by means of compressed air from a truck carrying a tank body and connected by a hose from the truck to a pipe running from a container in the basement to the outside wall of the building, the wastage in transportation, handling and delivery is eliminated. As every minute particle of coal powder, free from moisture, is intimately mixed with the right amount of air and, as the flame is produced by automatic means, without dependence on the human equation in a combustion chamber, properly constructed for the purpose, combustion is to all intents and purposes complete and all wastage in burning coal becomes a thing of the past.

There is no other method whereby all the existing forms of wastage can be saved and it is for this reason that pulverized coal is rapidly taking its place as by far the most economical fuel available, especially as the cost of preparing the coal and the cost of the equipment for burning it is infinitesimal when compared with the saving effected. Estimating as closely as possible and taking into account present Winnipeg prices, one ton of Souris Coal powder costing the consumer $15 would supply the same amount of available heat as two tons of Drumheller lump coal costing the consumer $31.20, and allow a reasonable profit to the company supplying the powdered coal. It does not speak well for our national efficiency when we realize that not one solitary public body in the Prairie Provinces, save in the city of Brandon, has ever apparently given this matter a thought, let alone go to the trouble and expense of investigating.

We cheerfully pay millions of dollars to the United States every year for coal, we talk about the development of our natural resources, keeping Canadian money in Canada, establishing new industries and so forth. We abuse the railways for the high freight rates and yet we do nothing to remedy conditions. So many of us seem to be employed in telling the rest of us what we ought to do that there are apparently very few left for the actual doing. Surely the time has arrived when it is imperative that private individuals take the fuel problem seriously in hand, if public bodies will not do so. The remarks of Mr. Osborn Monnett, Consulting Fuel Engineer to the United States Bureau of Mines, who has made on behalf of the government of that country a minute investigation into every economic method of burning coal are well worth repeating. He states that where lignites and other low grade fuels are available at low cost, there is one entirely efficient solution of the fuel problem only, the burning of the low grade fuels in pulverized form.—Saturday Night.

"LUCKY DAY FOR ME," SAYS HARROW

Winnipeg Man States Tanlac Began Helping Him At Once, and Soon Restored His Health

"All my friends know what I think of Tanlac, for I have been recommending it ever since it restored my health," said Robert Harrow, of 368 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, Man., a warehouseman for McDonald & Chapman, wholesale grocers.

"Two years ago I had the 'flu,' and then last year I had a setback and the two together simply knocked me out. My stomach was left all upset and troubled me in one way and another all the time. I hated the though of eating, for my stomach was so sour nothing set right with me and I would have the worst sort of pains and bloating until my heart beat at a terrible rate. My nerves were so shattered I would lie in bed awake for hours and hours. I got so weak I thought I would give out and it was beginning to look like I might as well quit trying to get well.

"It was sure a lucky day for me when I got hold of Tanlac. I saw a change for the better right away and by the time I had finished the fifth bottle I was absolutely well. My appetite is simply fine now and I have picked up several pounds in weight. I feel as fine as I did even before I had the 'flu" the first time, and I am glad to go on record as endorsing Tanlac."

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

BY Firelighter

A TRAIL RANGER IN KOREA

At thirteen years of age William John McKenzie was so tall and well developed he looked like a full-grown man. His giant strength had gained for him peculiar honors among his companions and had made him the hero of many battles.

At nineteen we find him in the Academy at Pictou and later at Halifax, where he graduated in both Arts and Theology. At college, no less than at home, he was a famed athlete, excelling in Highland sports and possessed of irresistible wit. When the students of the college decided to send a missionary to the Labrador coast, a work that called for special courage, resourcefulness and devotion, McKenzie was the man they chose. He responded, and for eighteen months lived and preached the Gospel in every little bay and inlet up and down that bleak shore.

In 1893, when he was just 28 years of age, McKenzie decided to give his life to making known the Gospel in Korea. He sailed from Vancouver and, fifteen days later, arrived in Yokohama. Here his great size caused no little amusement to the jinrickshaw men, who compared him to their monster image of Buddha, and asked an extra price for carrying him in their rickshaws. After spending a few days there, he sailed for Korea, where he landed Dec. 12, 1893.

I have no space to tell you the story of his two years of heroic service before even his great strength gave way and he died in 1895.

When the news of his death reached Nova Scotia, three young men, Foote, Grierson and MacRae, at once volunteered and demanded that they be sent to Korea. Today, about fifty men and women from Canada are carrying on the work that McKenzie began in the "Land of the Morning Calm."

Thirty-five years ago there were no Christians in Korea; today upwards of half a million are either Christian or inquirers after the way of life. Three thousand congregations and groups of Christians meet every Lord's Day to worship God, and four hundred Protestant missionaries, representing seven churches of the United States, England, Australia and Canada are having the joy of helping to develop one of the most earnest missionary-spirited churches in the world.

WHITE HORSE PIONEER PASSES

Invermere, B.C.—Slowly, but with grim precision, the unfailing reaper garners in the pioneers of the district of East Kootenay, B.C., that part the farthest east and last to be settled of the mountain province. Within the past few days Mr. Samuel Brewer, one of the remaining of those who in the early 80's made the Windermere district their home, died in the District General Hospital here. His death was directly due to cancer of the jaw, against the ravages of which he had sustained a long fight and suffered much pain. He is survived by his widow and his only son, Hope Brewer, a prosperous young rancher.

The late Mr. Brewer came to the far west while it was truly primitive in character, but before coming here had led a life of adventure and moment. He was born within eight miles of Indianapolis, Ind., on May 5, 1837. While still under 30 years of age he joined the army of the North, serving under Captain Grierson in "E" Company of the 6th Illinois Cavalry. After his discharge he came west to the state of Wisconsin and in the fall of 1883 entered Canada. Still heading west he travelled by the C.P.R. to Maple Creek and from there by more primitive means of travel continued on through Calgary and into the mountains to the Beaver river, where he spent the winter in trapping. The following spring again saw him travelling until reaching the Columbia River, near where Golden stands. He made a canoe from a huge cottonwood tree and embarking with his belongings paddled up the stream to its source, taking Mrs. Brewer, his faithful companion, with him. The "Old Town" on Wild Horse Creek, near Fort Steele, was still a lode star for many, and between here and the diggings on Perry Creek, he spent some time in mining for gold.

Giving up the life of a miner to return to agriculture, he became foreman to the late, the Honorable Colonel Jas. Baker, who had purchased St. Joseph's Prairie from Messrs. John and Robert Galbraith, of Galbraith's Ferry. It is interesting to digress and picture that at that time that place was a huge stock and grain farm, situated on a large flat, surrounded by distant mountains and that now the site is covered by the City of Cranbrook.

Leaving St. Joseph's Prairie in 1886 Mr. Brewer returned North to the Windermere district and purchased from the late Geo. Geary the ranch on which are the famous Fairmount Hot Springs, where, with his wife, he conducted a road house until 1908. Fairmount being on the main road connecting Golden on the North, and Cranbrook on the south, was the temporary home of many travellers passing to and fro. Mr. Brewer later disposed of the property for a handsome figure which enabled him if he had so chosen, to lead a retired life in comfort. This not being to his taste, he purchased a smaller farm nearer a centre on which he worked with great energy up to within a few months of his death.

Mrs. Brewer before her marriage on the 5th of June, 1877, at Lavalle, Wisconsin, was Miss Helen Bessey, daughter of William Bessey, of London, England.

Mr. Brewer's funeral was held on Tuesday of this week to the cemetery at Lakeside, Windermere, the service being conducted by Rev. C. E. Davis. The pall bearers were all chosen old time friends.
