An athlete who has competed with or against a professional for a prize or where gate receipts are charged or a collection taken up (except as may be specially provided for by the By-Laws of the A.A.U. of C.) or has entered in a competition under a name other than his own, shall be ineligible for registration and competition as an amateur.

NOTE—Such an athlete may be eligible for reinstatment.

(C)

All others shall be considered eligible for registration and competition in the A.A.U. of C. and its affiliated bodies."

The A. A. U. of C. is composed of its Provincial branches and National Governing bodies in hockey, lacrosse, baseball, basketball, rowing, cycling, etc. Football does not belong to the Union and does not officially accept our amateur definition, but, up to date, the fooballers have not broken relations with or against professionals and it is hoped they will eventually come in. Some other sports, such as tennis, are not members of the Union but they officially accept its amateur definitions.

The Executive of the B.C. Branch of the Union is composed of representatives of Provincial Governing bodies in individual sports with district consuls and representatives from Local Boards. Local Boards have been in operation in Victoria, New Westminster and Vancouver for many years and they are now in thorough control of the situation in those cities. It is hoped that this spring at least two new boards may be established, one in the Okanagan-Kamloops District and one in the Kootenays. It may be that some citizen in each of these districts would act as consuls during the preliminary period of organization and that a representative of the Union might tour the Interior at the proper time to explain the work and assist in the definite organization of the Local Board.

Local Boards

1. Local Boards of this Union may be established in any city, municipality or district in British Columbia, as the Executve Committee may determine, such Boards being responsible for the governance consistent with the Constitution and By-Laws, of all amateur sport in this district.
2. Local Boards shall consist of not less than four members of this Union.
3. Each member of a Local Board shall be represented by one delegate, and such delegates shall compose the Board, each delegate being entitled to one vote. Such delegate may be represented by proxy.
4. The appointment of every delegate and alternate shall be in writing duly certified by the chief executive officer or secretary of the appointed member.
5. Each Board shall elect a chairman and secretary-treasurer, not necessary from among its members.
6. Decisions of Local Boards shall be subject to the aproval of the Board of Governors in all cases.
7. Local Boards shall accept this Constitution and By-Laws and be governed entirely by same.
8. The powers of Local Boards shall be as enumerated in the By-Laws.

The officials of the Union would welcome correspondence with any individual or club looking toward the formation of such Local Board.

Everyone will readily understand that in an unorganized district most athletes will have done things which are not strictly in accordance with the amateur law, but it would be understood that all who are essentially amateurs would be given cards at the time of organization and only real professionals refused. This has been the course pursued throughout Canada as the Union has extended its active jurisdiction and there seems to be no reason why the same sensible procedure should not be followed here.

In the meantime, assuming that regular conditions will shortly be established, the Union is doing everything possble to encourage campettons between Interor and Coast teams, for example, the Trail and Merritt Hockey teams are gven freedom to play on the frank understanding that they include no real professionals.

GOLF COURSE OPEN TO EMPRESS HOTEL GUESTS

There are no better known golf courses in the Dominion than those at Victoria on Vancouver Island, no doubt due to the fact that the game is played every day in the year.

One of the delights of the winter visit to the Coast is to enjoy again the favored summer sport. It will, therefore, come as a pleasant announcement to know that the Canadian Pacific Railway has completed arrangements whereby guests of the Empress Hotel at Victoria will be accorded playing privileges on the excellent 18 hole Colwood course.

BARTHELMESS REMARKABLE IN "TOL'ABLE DAVID"

How love and adoration on the part of a carefree mountain youth for his big brother lifts him from boyhood to manhood in a single day and causes him to scale insurmountable heights in behalf of his brother is the story which Richard Barthelmess portrays to the public in "Tol'able David," the star's first picture for Associated First National Pictures, Inc., which is to be shown at the Orpheum next week.

The play, replete with thrilling adventures staged in the mountains of Virginia, is full also of heart thrills wound around simple family life. Mr. Barthelmess, as David, reaches the hearts of his audience through his appeal for sympathy for the ideals of the romantic country boy, and he thrills them with his revelation of indomitable courage and tenacity of purpose at the risk of his own life in defending these ideals.

A new-born babe who pulls at the very heart strings with the message his entrance into the world carries, is among the characters. David's dog, his courageous father, tender mother, pitiful sister-in-law whose life is blighted by the tragedy which befalls his hero-brother, all carry the same message.

Mlle. ANTOINETTE BOUCHER.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The touching love theme which runs through the story, being the basis for many a delightful romantic scene, not untouched by comedy at times, furnishes a beautiful background.

Mr. Barthelmess ,who first appears before the public as a star in this play gives a sympathetic and understanding portrayal of the youth "David," which will bing an answering heart throb from all who see him.

COAL MINING OCCUPIES DAY

Vancouver, Feb. 14.—Importance of the coal mining industry to this province was emphasized today when the entire day at the convention of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy was devoted to coal mining.

Thomas Graham, general manager of the Canadian Colleries at Cumberland, occupied the chair, and gave an address on coal mining on the island.

William Calkins of Seattle gave the experiences of a number of industrial plants now using pulverized coal, showing that where used on a large scale this comparatively modern method was proving successful. In the discussion which followed Col. J. E. Leckie, president of the institute, expressed the opinion that if properly developed the pulverized coal process would go far toward combatting fuel oil, which threatened to drive coal as a commercial fuel from the British Columbia market. Other speakers pointed to the possibility of using considerable material now wasted in mining coal. The general concensus of opinion was that the use of pulverized coal was established so that former objections to its use were slowly disappearing.

Coal mining methods and practices in the Crow's Nest coal fields was the subject of a paper read by Robert Strachan, of Fernie, government inspector of mines. He showed the extent to which the coal of the Crow's Nest district was supplying both Canadian and United States users. Donald McLean presented a paper on coal mining in the Nicola and Similkameen districts. In answer to a question Mr. McLean said that he doubted if the amber discovered in Coalmont was the true Prussian amber.

A paper was read by T. C. Crosby on storage battery locomotives for mine and industrial haulage. Frank Sawford spoke on electrically operated coal mines. P. E. Petersen spoke on the flotation of coal and Prof. W. L. Uglow, of the University of British Columbia gave a talk on the eocene coal basin at Chu Chua.

Complaints are being made that the city ambulance is not being properly taken care of. A prominent official at the mines says that on one occasion this week it appeared at the train covered with ice and snow and the interior was so cold that it was risking the life of the sick woman, whom they were bring down, to put her inside.

Owing to the extreme cold weather of the past two months, work on the B.C. and Alberta Power Co. construction has been greatly retarded, but the company expect to be supplying power not later than April 1. The wires have already reached the city of Cranbrook. It is the intention of the company to put in a duplicate lne of wires over the entire system in order to be prepared for any emergency that may arise.

R. H. Roper, pastor of Fernie Baptist church, is spending a couple of weeks in Creston, conducting a series of old-time revival meetings and with considerable success—seven converts being reported at one of the week-night sessions. Sunday night Mercantile Hall was well filled for a joint meeting with the Presbyterians. Other signs that the spiritual life of the community is improving is found in the commencement of weekly prayer meetings at the Presbyterian church, which are being well patronized.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE WORLD'S GOLD?

Economic conditions are such now that Canadian gold mines are able to produce the precious metal in increasing volume. When more electric power is assured in Ontario camps, greater strides can be made. Under prevailing conditions it is likely that Ontario alone will produce $25,000,000 worth of gold in 1922. When planned additions to plants are completed and come producers, the annual rate of developing mines of proved value beproduction could easily rise to $35,000,000.

The use of gold throughout the world for industrial purposes is commented upon by the trade record published by the National City Bank of New York. After stating that the normal use is large, the record adds that studies of this subject made by the United States Mint Bureau in the years immediately preceding the war, indicated that the world's industrial consumption of gold had aggregated about two billion dollars in the short period 1890-1910, of which about 20% was used in the United States. In the occidental world alone the total consumed for manufacturing purposes was about one and one-half billion dollars in the twenty-year period, and an estimate for the Orient, chiefly India, brings the total world consumption in the twenty-year period up to fully $2,000,000,000. While much of the gold entering India disappears and is reported as "buried," the Indian Government states officially that the uncoined gold imported into India may be considered as being used for ornaments and manufacturers, and the Statesman's Year Book of 1921, in recording the heavy gold imports of India remarks that "gold is used chiefly in the form of ornaments."

These figures, which indicate an average world consumption of about $100,000,000 per annum throw an interesting sidelight upon that much discussed question of "what becomes of the gold." World statisticians estimate the total outrun of gold since the discovery of America at slightly more than $18,000,000,000; while the annual studies of the United States Mint Bureau regarding gold monetary stocks in all the countries of the world have never disclosed the existence of more than eight and a half billion dollars as the grand total of visible gold monetary stock, for which record can be had. With a record of over $18,000.00,000 of gold produced and less than $9,000,000,000 known to exist in monetary form or as a basis for currency, it is quite apparent that the share of world gold utilized for other than monetary purposes is larger than usually supposed.

The Transvaal gold output for December, 1921, amounted to 681,847 fine ounces, as compared with 704,236 fine ounces for November, 1921, and 632,215 fine ounces for December, 1920.

For some time past the considerable reduction in the sterling price obtainable by the Rand mining companies from their produce has caused considerable difficulty in meeting the demand on the part of miners for increased wages. The disputes between employers and employed have reached a crisis and larger numbers of miners have already gone on strike. It is difficult to exaggerate the serious consequences that would arise if the movement were to spread and supplies of gold from the Transvaal were to be cut off for any length of time. The present satisfactory state of the sterling exchange with the United States and elsewhere has been largely brought about by the persistent remittances of gold derived from the South African mines.

BLIND NEWSDEALER'S STAND RUNS ITSELF

He is a blind newsdealer with a stand situated almost down town. Although his working day does not actually begin until 7 o'clock in the morning, he is on hand to receive his supply of morning papers at about 5 a.m. After placing them in their acustomed places and leaving a cigar box to receive the coins of his early-morning customers, Mike goes home and continues his interrupted sleep. When he returns to the stand he finds his papers nearly all gone and the cigar box filled with money.

If you should ask him if he ever found a shortage in his receipts or whether his unguarded cigar box was ever looted, he would become indignant.

"My customers are gentlemen and ladies," he would reply. "The people of Toronto are honest."

RADIUM IS BIG INDUSTRY

It would be indeed difficult to find an industry that underwent similar drastic changes, due to the war, than the radium industry. The assertion that there is such a thing as the radium industry may raise an early point of dispute with the reader. Radium, to the reader, may suggest costly material hidden away in the storage vaults of some pathological institute; costly beyond the value of rare rubies and enshrouded with mystical properties that few understand. Long before this talk is finished I hope to establish the fact that radium is an industry and one of the most interesting that may be studied at the present time. During the past few years the radium centre has shifted from Europe to this continent. Under war's demands new sources had to be exploited and with the general advance of science during the war, new standards for radium and radium applications had to be set. With other commodities the price advanced as the demand increased but at the present time it is a little lower. So much so that the prospective investor may purchase sufficient to set in the centre of a pin head for about one hundred and fifty dollars. The Toronto General hospital recently purchased a small amount of radium. They paid $20,000 for 170 milligrams, or in plain English a fraction over ten grains

I have tried to impress the reader with the costly qualities of radium. It is also endowed with properties which render it extremely dangerous if misused. These two factors are an assurance that the general public have not even received even a speaking acquaintance with this peculiar substance; and this will naturally stimulate the question as to what radium looks like. Radium itself is a metal, but as such it is not used for therapeutic or experimental purposes. It is generally combined with bromine and is then technically known as "radium bromide." In this condition it is doubtful if a layman could distinguish between it and a pinch of salt from the container on the dinner table. And salt contains a metal known as sodium linked in chemical union with the gas chlorine. This suffices to give it the technical title of "sodium chloride." Chlorine and bromine are very similar and when combined with certain metals render them very stable and capable of sustaining severe physical usage.

The bulk of the world's radium is now coming from Colorado. Despite a good supply of ore, modern and extensive equipment, elaborate laboratories and extended research the output of finished radium bromide is about one third of an ounce per year or between ten and eleven thousand milligrams. To get this treasure, thousands and thousands of tons of rock have to be muled across country, crushed, concentrated, washthen be again subjected to a prolonged, tested, freed from impurities and filtered. The collected residue must ed process where every step is watched for the smallest waste. If any thought be given to the foregoing observation it will at once be concluded that radium must possess some remarkable properties to make is so much sought after. This is quite correct for radium is the most active of a group of substances which possess terrific, unharnessed energy which science is just commencing to understand. During pre-war days the German government took a peculiar delight in cramming down the throats of other peoples the idea that German scientists hod given the world everything worth receiving. This theory is false and mere blotant propaganda. Again in our story of radium we find the mantle of originality falls not on a German but on a Frenchman.

Antoine Henri Becquerel is his name, and he was principal of one of the great technical schools of his native country. In 1896 he discovered, through a photographic accident, that salts of uranium were not behaving according to the prescribed ethics of the chemistry book. He investigated and discovered that the substance was throwing off particles that would penetrate paper and thin metals. Relatively he found this energy very powerful, and his communicated papers set the men of science investigating. Two years later Madame Curie noticed that the activity varied in different samples of uranium salts, and, following up a brilliant side path of quick research, succeeded in extracting from uranium salts the active principal, which she named "radium."

The press of 1898 seized upon the opportunity and spread broadcast some wild visions of the future of this substance. Its unmeasured energy was the central theme of thrilling novels. In the 25 years since, radium application has advanced along only certain limited specific lines, and its wider applications are as yet for the future. Its powers lie in its ability to eject particles, at staggering velocity, without apparent loss or diminution. The reader is familiar with the ability of heat particles to hurl themselves through a thick iron pipe. If the pipe is kept full of steam or hot water the heat particles continue to escape. They cannot be seen, but they can be felt and demonstrate to us that there is such a thing as invisible energy that travels as "rays." The heat rays, however, are sluggish compared to the rays darting from radium. The lay mind cannot conceive the velocity of the radium rays, which are measured in hundreds of thousands of miles per second. Hurled forth at this rate, the particles embed themselves deeply into many things that impede their onward progress. Lead seems to be about the only material that can defy them, and for that reason the little tubes of treasured radium are always stored or transported in leaden caskets. Special precautions have to be given to this stored substance, for gases are also evolved, and if confined in unsuitable tubes they may be compressed sufficiently to burst the tube and scatter its valuable contents. So far no practical scheme has been advanced for the industrial utilization of the radium energy, and its service has been practically confined to pathology in the treatment of tumors, both malignant and non-malignant.. In the former class we find carcinoma or cancer.

Before going into the story of this interesting application, we must see something of the rays coming from radium. Investigation has shown them to consist of three classes, which can be separated by a magnet. Science has styled them alpha, beta and gamma. If undisturbed they will move forward together in straight lines, but a magnet will deflect the alpha rays slightly to the left and the beta rays decidedly to the right, but has no effect whatever on the gamma rays. Medical science is not fully convinced or decided upon the action of these rays upon cancerous tissues, although some good work has been done in the curing of this dread scourge in the early stages. Surface tubercular affections have also been cleared up under its action, and ulcerous growth, birth-marks and scars are beneficially treated. For this the radium itself does not always have to be used, as the emanation can be bottled or stored in glycerine, vaseline, oil or water. Of late the practice has been to insert nickel-radium needles in the diseased tissue.

Considerable work has been done in chemistry by observing the action of radium emanations on various material. Glass can be changed in color, phosphorous is altered, oxygen is changed to ozone, nitric acid is decomposed and globulin, present in blood-serum and egg white it coagulated. It has also been calculated that an ounce of radium will give out the equivalent energy of thirty tons of steam coal, but it will require 25 centuries to do this, no method of accelerating this energy rate has been successful so far. Radium is also always a little warmer than the surrounding air.

Contrary to public opinion, radium is universal. It occurs in igneous rocks and sedimentary rocks, in set water and in fresh water. The oceans of the world are calculated to contain no less than 20,000 tons of radium and experiments have shown that it increases as the depth so that the ocean bed must contain well over a million tons of the substance. But it is difficult to extract it from these sources and any commercial workings so far have been in more or less isolated spots where the material appears to be accumulated.

Of late it has been discovered that radium appears to be in a state of transition and a theory has been advanced to show that the lead deposits of the world are merely worn out beds of radium. But if this theory holds it does not affect the commercial sale of radium for the companies offering it are guaranteeing a useful life for their product of over 1500 years. They are also offering a radium service which gives the purchasers the results of the latest physical research and keeps them in touch with the trend of the market.

How Many Objects in This Picture Begin With the Letter "P"?

The above picture contains a number of objects beginning with the letter "P." Just take a good look at the picture—there are all sorts of things that begin with the letter "P"—like pipe, pick, pump, etc. Nothing is hidden; you don't have to turn the picture upside down or at an angle. Make a list of all the objects in the picture, the names of which begin with the letter "P." Have the whole family join in—see who can find the most. Fifteen Cash Prizes will be awarded for the fifteen best lists of words submitted. The answer having the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects shown in this picture starting with the letter "P" will be awarded First Prize; second best, Second Prize, etc.

Young and Old Join in the Fun

The Vancouver Daily World announces today a most interesting and amusing Puzzle Game—a puzzle that is different and a game in which all can participate—from the tiniest child to great grandfather. It really is not a puzzle at all, for all the objects have been made perfectly plain, with no attempt to disguise or hide them. None are so small but that the poorest eyesight can see them; it is a test of skill. Your ability to find "P-Words" determines the prize you win. Right after supper this evening gather all the members of your family together; give each of them a pencil and a sheet of paper—see who can find the most "P-Words." You will be surprised how large a list of words you can get after a few minutes study. Sit down now and try—then send in your answer and try for one of the big prizes.

Costs Nothing to Try

It costs nothing to take part, and you do not have to send in a single subscription to win a prize. If your answer is awarded First Prize by the Judges you will win $30, but if you would like to win more than $30, we are making Special Cash Prize offers during this big Advertising and Booster Campaign whereby you can win bigger Cash Prizes by sending in one or two subscriptions to The Vancouver Daily World.

You Can Win $1000

If your answer to the "P-Word" Picture Puzzle wins First Prize and you have sent in no subscriptions to the Vancouver Daily World, you will win $30. However, if your answer wins First Prize and you have sent in one 6-months subscription to the Vancouver Daily World (either new or renewal), YOU WILL WIN $350, in place of $30.

Or, if your answer is awarded First Prize by the Judges and you have sent in TWO 6-months or ONE yearly subscription to the Vancouver Daily World (either new or renewal), YOU WILL RECEIVE $1000 instead of $30.

How's that for a liberal offer? But look. We will give extra amounts on all prizes in the same manner. If your answer is qualified by TWO 6-months or one yearly subscription (either new or renewal), and you are awarded Second Prize, you will receive $500, and so on down. (See third column in the list of prizes.)

It takes but TWO 6-months or ONE yearly subscription (either new or renewal) to qualify for the big $1000 prize. ABSOLUTELY. Two six-months or ONE yearly is the maximum. Your own subscription will count and we will accept subscriptions to start at any future date.

IS NOT THAT A WITNESS

Jesus said go into all of the world and preach my gospel, the world have not known one mortal to be molecules of death and regret that he were in Christ tho the world have known people molecules of death and did regret that they were not diling in Christ is not that a witness I will be pleased to submit to you the proofs that the hope set before mankind in the scripture is most redically opposed at every point to the evolution: theory but first let me call your attention to a few other facts bearing upon the subject aside from scriptural declarations respecting the divine purposeand plan for man I would have you notice that the world's history does not accord with the theory of evolution as evinced by the following facts, while conceding that this is preeminently the day of increase of knowledge as the scriptures foretold I hold that it is not preeminently the day of increased ability. We do not find that the world is becoming greater in ability but merely as the scriptures declare greater in knowledge which is generally diffused as never before these statements deserve a little amplification as this has been supposed to be the weak side of the Bible yet after a study of the word on the one hand and natural science on the other I believe we may safely challenge any living man to bring one well established fact of science against which the Bible really and irreconcilable militates God led inspired men to use such language as that without revealing scientific facts in advance it accurately accommodates itself to them when discovered the language is so leastic and flexible as to contract itself to the anrrowness of ignorance and yet expand itself to the dimensions of knowledge if the Bible may from imperfect human language select terms which may hold hidden truths till ages t ocome shall disclose the inner meaning that would seem to be the best solution of this difficult problem and now when we come to compare the language of the Bible with modern science we find just this to be the fact for example we are told that the Bible term firmament is but an ancient blunder crystallized modern science says ye have heard it hath been said by them of old: time there is a solid sphere above us which revolves with its starry lamps but this is an old notion of ignorance for there is nothing but vast space filled with ether above us and stare have an apparent motion because the earth turns on its own axis but this word firmoment which has been declared irreconcilable with modern astronomy we find on consulting our Hebrew lexicon means simply an expanse if Moses had been Mitchell he could not have chosen a better word to express the appearance and yet accommodate the reality he actually anticipated science this is one of the mistakes of Moses to which modern blasphemer does not refer the general correspondence between the Mosiac account of creation and the most advanced discoveries of science clearly provs that only he who built the world, built the Bible—is not that a witness.

WHEN SIR ROBERT BORDEN MET AN ENGLISH SERGEANT

It was of the "'eathen" that friend Rudyard Kipling wrote, "'E don't obey no orders unless they is 'is own." Not of the British soldier. My word no. You ask Sir Robert Borden. He can tell you a story to prove that to the British soldier "orders is orders," and that you may take the broad and easy path to the place where there is no bother about Winter, before he will depart from them to the breadth of an eye-lash.

It happened when Sir Robert was Premier of Canada. He was in London attending the Imperial conference that preceded the Peace Conference. On the afternoon that the then President Wilson of the United States was so arrive in London, Sir Robert put on his best topper and hied him to the station to take part in the reception. Until he reached the railed-off circle wherein stood the King and other dignitaries, also bent on welcoming the United States President, Sir Robert had no misgivings. At a was confronted by a handsome rep- drop barred entrance to the railing he resentative of the British Army, wearing a sergeant's chevrons and a number of stripes indicating wounds.

"Ticket, Sir," said the sergeant smartly.

Sir Robert realized something then. "By jove," said he, "I've forgotten it. Left them on my desk in Whitehall Gardens."

"Must have a ticket to get in 'ere Sir," said the soldier.

"But I won't have time to go back and get before the train arrives," protested Sir Robert. "Here's my card—I happen to be the Premier of Canada."

"Couldn't do it, Sir, my orders is to stay 'ere and 'ere I stays."

"Sorry Sir the men is actin' on orders too, I cawn't call 'em away from their posts."

rassing for Sir Robert. He didn't get

The situation became too embar- through the barrier in time to greet the President and he did say some things subsequently that startled those to whom his urbanity and quiet dignity are characteristic.

They do say that about the mildest words he used sounded suspiciously like "Gol darn it." But subsequently he saw the humor of the situation as well as its illumination of the British character. "It's typical," he said: "How could the Germans ever hope to beat a race like that?"—Toronto News.

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

CLEAN SPEECH

If you have made up your mind that unclean speech is wrong, what can and ought you to do about it?

You can and must keep your own speech clean. The habit of clean speech once formed is a safeguard against much that is degrading. But is this enough? What should you do when others use "smutty" language? A group of boys in school drew up and signed an agreement that they would not use vulgar language and would not allow another to use it in their presence without protest. The result was an immediate lessening of the amount of "smut" in that school. Would such a decision and action in your "bunch" make you popular? If so, would it not be better for you to get out of the "bunch?" A certain boy to whom another had made an improper proposal told him never to repeat it, and when he did so, promptly knocked him down. A well-known college athlete at the close of his last football season was given a dinner by his friends. In the course of the dinner one of the men told a vile story, and the guest of honor without a word walked out of the room. These boys valued their own self-honor more highly than any temporary consideration of popularity. No one with the manly courage required to administer such a rebuke as this need fear being called a "goody-goody" or a prig. There are persons to whom an acquaintance would never think of telling a vulgar story. This is the highest tribute to a man's character. Do your friends tell vulgar stories to you?

COUNCIL FIX ELECTRIC RATES

The city council met last night with all members present and a large amount of business was transacted in the three and a half hours it remained in session.

The city of Victoria submitted an account of $100 as this municipality's proportion of the expenditures in connection with the litigation in the matter of taxation of church property. The account was filed.

A grant of $250 was made by the council to the Board of Trade for this year.

The Shops Regulation Bylaw was given its three preliminary readings and will come into effect after the next meeting. In brief the salient features of this ordinance are that all candy and confectionery stores will be permitted to remain open until 11 p.m. daily, Sundays excepted. Barber shops will be required to close at 7 p.m. week days except Saturdays and days preceding holidays, when 10 p.m. will be the closing hour. All other shops and stores will close as at present, namely 5.30 p.m. week days and 9.30 Saturdays and days preceding holidays. The passage of the Shops Regulation Bylaw will have no effect whatever on the present weekly half-holiday.

The new rates for electric current were fixed, same to take effect during the month following that in which consumers commence to use hydro-electric energy supplied through the B. C. and Alberta Power Co. The basis of the new schedule of rates will be:

Electric current for lighting purposes—10c per k.w.h.

In addition to the above charges there will be what is properly termed a minimum service charge, amounting in the case of those using 50 k.w.h. or less (this quantity being that which will cover the major portion of the consumers in this city) of $1.15 per month. The way this is made up is that 55c per month has been the amount set as a readiness to serve charge, to which is added a minimum for current of 60c.

With regard to power for motors on the basis of 7c per k.w.h., the service charge will be 50c per horsepower, with a minimum power consumption of 60c per horsepower, making the total minimum charge $1.10 per h.p. per month.

Domestic cooking will be 4c with a minimum monthly charge of $3.30. It will be noted that the minimum rate permits the consumption of 82½ k.w.h. before any extra charge is made.

All the foregoing rates are as at present subject to the 10 per cent discount if accounts are paid on or before the 25th of the month following that in which the current is used.

The estimates for the year 1922 were presented and adopted. The mill rate has been struck at 40 mills, which is identical with that for 1921. More details with regard to the plan for improvements will be forthcoming at a later date, but it is intended to proceed with these to an equal extent, and if possible, to a greater, if the appropriations will permit.

THE LATEST HOCKEY DOPE

As we go to press we are informed that Blairmore is endeavoring to stage a game between the Calgary Regents and the Fernie Swasika hockey teams at Blairmore next Wednesday, March 1st. In the event of game being closed it is planned to secure a special train leavingo Fernie after dinner and returning immediately after the game is over. This being the case it would be advisable for the seniors to make arrangements to play there also on that day instead of in Fernie as previously announced and have a later game here with the Blairmore team. The curlers also are in line for a return game with Blairmore, and if the three get together a special train should be a decided success. Pending negotiations, any and all who would like to accompany the teams are requested to hand in their names to either J. R. McLeod or L. Ashton before Saturday night. If these arrangements are carried out the announcement in another part of the paper re Blairmore playing here next Wednesday will have to be ignored.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER TO VISIT CRANBROOK

Cranbrook, Feb. 21.—W. J. Bowser, leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia, is expected to reach Cranbrook on Saturday.

There is a great deal of talk in Cranbrook of putting a candidate in the field to oppose Hon. J. H. King, and Mr. Bowser has been asked to go up and consult with the Conservatives.

KING IS NOMINATED

The general nominating convention of the Liberal party of East Kootenay was held here Saturday evening, attended by delegates of both sexes to the number of 60, representing all points in Golden, Cranbrook and Fernie ridings comprising the federal constituency. The name of Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, was submitted at the outset by H. E. Douglas of this city, seconded by E. Tunnacliffe, Wilmer, and immediately received unanimous acceptance. C. D. McNabb, of Waldo, presided, and delegates from respective localities were called upon to address the convention. All speakers expressed gratification at the honor conferred upon Dr. King, a native resident of this district, by the prime minister of Canada, selecting him for the important cabinet office of public works.

The delegates also emphasized that their districts had instructed them to announce to the convention that the supporters of the party were in harmonious accord with the selection of Dr. King to succeed Mr. Beattie, who had resigned the seat.

A resolution tendering appreciation to Mr. Beattie on behalf of the Liberal electors for his personal sacrifice in stepping aside at this time was unanimously passed, with instructions that this resolution be given the fullest publicity. Dr. King, who was in the city, was called to the convention and made acquainted with the decision, which he accepted with profound appreciation, as expressed by him in his address in reply.

TONG WAR IN CRANBROOK

The Chinese upheaval which verges on a "Tong War" in Cranbrook, has advanced to the stage that three have been committed for trial on charges of assault occasioning actual bodily harm, while two others were found guilty of common assault but allowed to go free without penalty being imposed, although they were bound over to keep the peace; and a counter charge of assault affecting four others was withdrawn. The opposing factions are the "Chee Kong Tong," commonly known in the English language as the Chinese Free Masons, on one side, with the Chinese Nationalist League arrayed on the ohter. So far the quarrel has only resulted in two men being attacked, one of whom received a painful but not serious beating up. As far as can be learned the feud arose over a dispute as to the method of collecting funds for the Chinese hospital in Cranbrook, an institution which has been operating there for the last five years. One side proposed that these funds be procured through the levy of $2.50 from each "fan tan" table operated in Cranbrook Chinatown, while the other side objected and suggested a subscription list be circulated. This course was followed as far as the evidence adduced goes to show, but funds were not forthcoming and as a result at a meeting held on Jan. 30 last the storm burst and one man was badly beaten up in a general affray which appears to have taken place. Following this both sides communicated with outside friends, and in short order reinforements began to arrive from the coast cities, interior provincial points; also Lethbridge and Calgary. It was upon the occasion of the arrival of one Wong Tong, who has assumed the English name of "Fred Young," that the second fight took place, and as this was right in the vicinity of the depot at Cranbrook, a charge of common assault was laid, but after a two and a half day trial, while the aggressors were found guilty of a technical assault, the court ruled that the ends of justice would be sufficiently met by allowing accused to go without penalty being imposed. The trial of the remaining three has been set for the week beginning March 20 before His Honor Judge Thompson. Meanwhile accused are out on bail of $1000 each and two sureties of $500 each.

VETERANS HOLD PUBLIC MEETING AT CRANBROOK

Cranbrook, Feb. 21.—C. G. McNeil and W. Drinnan, representing the Dominion and Provincial commands of the G.W.V.A. organization, addressed a very well attended public meeting at the Star theatre on Sunday night, speaking on the work of the G. W. V. A. and its influence on the standing of the returned man in the national life. Mr. McNeil outlined what had been done by the veterans from the parliamentary method of securing adjustment of their difficulties, and stated they had not even in the past insisted that veterans should be members of their organization before taking up their grievances. He also stated that the alliance of veterans' organizations which had been effected last month in Winnipeg ought to be productive of even better results and was bound to give great impetus and weight to the consideration of soldiers' problems.

Major Hicks, president of the G.W.V.A., presided at the meeting, and with him on the platform was Dr. F. W. Green, honorary president of the local branch. There were a number of questions put by veterans in the audience, which Mr. McNeil endeavored to answer, relating to the housing scheme, bonus, amalgamation, disability, etc.

On Monday Mr. McNeil addressed a meeting of the local branch to further discuss matters, and a delegation from Fernie was also in attendance at the meeting.

NATAL DRUG STORE BURNED TO GROUND

Last Sunday morning about ten o'clock the Natal Drug and Book Store, which also housed the post office and telephone office and the postmaster's residence was burned to the ground. The postmaster's wife and child had to get out in night attire. Nothing whatever was saved.

The building, drug store, etc., is owned by Dr. R. C. Weldon and we understand it is covered by insurance.

DEATH BLOW TO ONE BIG UNION

Monarch mine, Drumhellar, belonging to the North American Collieries, the last stronghold of the One Big Union, passed under the jurisdiction of the U. M. W. of A., District 18, tonight, when officers for the newly formed local were elected. This mine employs about 250 men and until recently they have strongly supported the One Big Union. Wm. Ryan, vice-president and Robert Peacock, secretary of District 18., were invited to organize the mine last week and as a result all the miners have agreed to the check off and are now members of the international.

LABOR MAN IN THE FIELD

T. H. Bronsdon, of Cranbrook, was officially nominated by the Progressive party of East Kootenay as their candidate at the forthcoming by-election, at a meeting held in Cranbrook on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Brondson, prior to a wreck on the Kootenay Central line last fall, was an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway, but since that has not been able to resume his duties with that company. He is a returned soldier and member of the G.W.V.A. at Cranbrook. As it is now definitely decided that opposition will be provided Dr. King, at least by the Progressives, an election will be necessary and the forthcoming political war will be watched with great interest.

It is felt in Liberal circles here that Dr. King will have little difficulty in obtaining a substantial majority but the Progressives are ready to put up a big fight and believe they can give the Hon. doctor a close run.

MANY NEW SCHOOLS BUILT

The general public of British Columbia is now more favorable to the construction of new schools than it has been for some years. During the last year many new schools have been built in various parts of the province. In Point Grey two large fireproof schools were opened and construction begun on two more. The ratepayers continue to vote money for the further construction which will be necessary for the rapidly increasing school population, part of which is doubtless attracted to Point Grey by the excellence of its schools and the school buildings.

Two rooms were added to the school at Powell River. The ratepayers of Burnaby carried with a large majority a money bylaw making provision for a four-room building at Kingsway West, a similar one at Edmonds and a four room addition at the Nelson Avenue school. In North Vancouver Municipality the board has completed a splendid four room structure at Lynn Valley.

At Chilliwack Municipality the board has completed a six-room school on the confines of the city. Surrey Municipality has accepted a moderate building scheme. In Kamloops a new eight room school, now almost completed, will provide accommodation for the pupils who are now housed in temporary quarters around the city. The old public school building is undergoing extensive repairs with the object of improving the heating and ventlation and sanitary arrangements of the building. Much credit is due to the Kamloops board of school trustees and the ratepayers as well, for the enterprising spirit they have displayed in the matter of providing every facility for the carrying on of the work in the schools.

New schools at Granby Bay and Telkwa were ready for occupation at the beginning of the year. Prince Rupert has ready for occupation a new twelve room school which compares favorably with any other school in the province. This will relieve the congestion in the city for several years. A three room addition has been added to the Kitsumgallum school, and two rooms are being added at Smithers. At Vanderhoof a new four room building is under construction, and an eight room structure is being provided for at Prince George.

On the whole the school year has been a period of expansion, and generally speaking school boards have been successful in their efforts to provide the accommodation necessary.

C. P. R. GIVES SCHOLARSHIPS

Montreal, Feb. 21.—Three annual scholarships to the value of $500.00 each have been granted to Toronto University by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the purpose of inducing graduates of western colleges in Canada to pursue their post-graduate studies at the University of Toronto.

It has for some time been felt that Canadian national unity would be very greatly fostered by some such move as this.

The universities of Western Canada are growing fast and their standard of instruction is high, the result being that a large and ever-growing class of their students show a desire to pursue graduate and professional careers beyond the stage which is at present offered in their provincial institutions. In the past American universities, by reason of their comparative nearness, and also because of the scholarships which they have been able to offer, have attracted a large percentage of these students for post-graduate work.

Many of the students attending the universities of the Canadian west have originally come from the United States, or even from Europe and most of them know very little about Eastern Canada, the result being they will, when they return to take up their work as leaders in the thought and action of Western Canada, be even less inclined than formerly to become active factors in the welding together of the Eastern and Western sections of the country.

The purpose of these scholarships is to strengthen the intellectual, educational, religious and economical links between East and West, and it is intended by this means to enable a constant succession of the brightest and most ambitious of western university students to become familiar with methods of life and thought in Eastern Canada. There is no doubt that the opportunity to get into first hand touch with older Canada that lies east of the Great Lakes will be eagerly taken advantage of.

University authorities say there is no lack of advanced students eligible for such scholarships and it is stated by E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., in his letter to Sir Robert Falconer, president of Toronto University, announcing the granting of the three scholarships: "The movement is one that will obviously be of benefit not only to the students, but also to the communities in which they will afterwards live."

RUSSIAN COMMUNISTS BEGGING IN THE UNITED STATES

After a searching investigation, Secretary of Commerce Hoover reports to President Harding that more than 200 Russian relief organizations are "frankly communistic committees" that are appealing to the communistic and socialistic sections of the United States and sending their supplies to the communist authorities in Russia.

It seem useless to expect consistency from communists. If these 200 communistic committees had a glimmer of understanding of the fitness of things, they would see the incongruity of their appeal to a nation whose government and institutions they are seeking to undermine, for the relief of the millions of distressed victims of soviet misrule in Russia.

Here in the United States we are feeling some of the distress of the inevitable after-effects of a world-distrubing and exhausting war, but in spite of extensive unemployment there is food and shelter for nearly everybody. Even those who are temporarily out of work and destitute have good white bread and meat. Few go hungry in this land of bounty and democracy.

After all, prosperity is a relative word, If soviet Russia had a little of the prosperity that abounds in the United States, even in its periods of depression, Lenine and other communists would have something to point to in justification of their ruinous experiment.

The fact, as disclosed by Secretary Hoover, that there are 200 communistic committees in the United States that are in sympathy with the soviet folly is not so alarming as it might appear on first consideration These soviet propagandists make no headway among people who are intelligent and educated. Their appeal is almost exclusive to the ignorant foreign elements which we have been permitting to come into this country in the last 25 years in excessive and dangerous numbers. As these infusions are largely non-assimilable, they herd unto themselves and are thus prevented from having contact with American institutions and the intelligent masses of the American people. They are incapable of partaking of our culture. When the soviet agitator comes along they are ready to follow him and to blame America for the inevitable consequences for their own ignorance, prejudices and incapacity.—Spokesman Review.

ONLOOKERS ALSO GUILTY UNDER CRIMINAL CODE

Sixteen citizens of the town and district were taken into custody in the Arlington hotel barroom by Detective Davis, Constable Marjerison and Corporal Ford on Saturday. Some were indulging in their favorite game of poker while others were looking on. They all appeared before Magistrate Gresham on Monday, 6th inst. The players were fined $10 and costs or thirty days, the keepers were fined $25 and $50 or two months in gaol, and the onlookers were let off with the costs of the court, amounting to $6, or fifteen days in gaol, and a warning.

It may be interesting to know that the onlooker is as guilty as the player under the Criminal Code.

The detective was employed as it is necessary in poker games or games of chance to prove a rake-off. —Pincher Creek Echo.

To qualify for jury duty in a Los Angeles criminal case, where a woman is the accused, the jurors are asked to state if they are "vamp" proof. This qualification frequently exhausts the panel and the patience of the court.

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS

BY Firelighter

A RAW DEAL FOR A BOY

"A Chicago jail was full of confusion of curses, screams, groans and obscenity. 'It's a dull night, but noisey,' said the patient turnkey. Suddenly two figures appeared outside the entrance, one was a big policeman, the other, a boy of seventeen, short and slender.

"'Have you got room for our young friend here?' asked the officer with a grin, as the turnkey swung open the heavy door. The boy's face was pale and his eyes had a look of terror in them.

"'Please don't lock me up, mister?' he pled.

"'Haven't you got some friend who'll go your bail? How about the man you work for?' asked the turnkey.

"'Oh, no! If he knows I'm pinched, I'll lose my job. I don't want nobody to know.'

"He opened a cell door and the boy went falteringly in. There were two others in the cell, one was a dope fiend and the other a youth charged with picking pockets. The dope fiend made room for the boy on his wooden bench. For fourteen hours they were confined there together. Now and then the boy would fall asleep only to be awakened by the hideous screams of a prisoner with delirum tremens. Occassionally the dope fiend leaned over and talked with the boy in low tones. Later in the night he began to suffer from the lack of his drug; presently he dropped to the floor; his head fell back and his eyes rolled wildly. All night long, at frequent intervals, there were outbursts of drunken profanity as groups of new prisoners were received and put into cells.

"In the morning the boy was taken in a patrol wagon to the boys' court. It appeared in court that, while riding his bicycle, he had accidently run into a child. He had stopped immediately, had picked up the child and had taken it to its mother. This was his crime. Because of it his self-respect had been asaulted; he had been exposed to both physical and moral disease; he had heard more profanity and vulgarity in one night than most boys hear in a year.

"Conditions in may city police stations are bad; in country jails they are worse. Some are under ground, as were the dungeous of the dark ages. In some cases, the cells are overrun with vermin and rats. In many country jails, no attempt is made to keep boys separate from adult murderers, perverts and other criminals. A large proportion of those detained are innocent."

This is a picture of the raw deal that was given one boy when he was arrested for a slight offence. What happens to the boys of your community who happen to fall into the hands of the law? Do they get on the road to criminal life?

MAY REVIVE MINE AT PASSBURG, ALTA.

BLAIRMORE, Feb 18.—The Enterprise says: W. L. Hamilton, former manager of the Passburg Coal Co., and now a director and trustee, arrived in town Monday morning from Ontario, and in company with a couple of representatives of California capital are this week looking over the extensive properties of that company with a view to purchase.

The mines at Passburg have been closed down for several years and have undergone considerable dismantling during that time. The properties contain some rich seams of coal and capital is all that is needed to ensure development, and it is to be hoped that the present visit of inspection will result in the introduction of the necessary capital that will return Passburg to its former scenes of prosperity.

HOCKEY

FERNIE GIRLS BEAT BYNGS

Playing the finest class of ladies' hockey ever witnessed at the local arena, the Fernie Swastikas overcame a goal lead gained early in the game by the Calgary Byngs and ran out victors by a score of two goals to one.

The first period opened with a combination rush by the Fernie van and Miss Tees' ability was soon tested stopping some hot ones from all angles. Four minutes from the start the Byngs opened scoring through Miss L. Lea, who scored unassisted with a shot which glanced off another player into the net, Miss Wood having no chance. From this point in the game the Byngs played a defensive game to the end of the period.

The second period was a repetition of the last part of the first period, the Byngs evidently relying on the defensive game to win, but had it not been for Miss Tees' excellent work in goal they would have found this style of play extremely costly. The few dashes up the ice by the Byngs were easily disposed of by Misses Schagel and Henderson, the Swastika's invulnerable defence.

Every noise producing instrument in the large crowd got busy in the third period and the Fernie girls seemed to take more heart, with the result that ten minutes from the start Miss Biggs got a nice run up the wing, slipped the puck to Miss Fenwick after drawing off the defence, and with only the goal tender to beat Miss Fenwick made no mistake. With the score tied and but five minutes to go, the play became fast and furious, one of the Byngs going so far as to forget herself and trip up Miss Schagel, who sustained a bad cut over the eye. Miss Lea, the offender, was sentenced to two minutes. Fernie took advantage of her absence, but Miss Tees defied their efforts. However, just before the bell went for the finish, Miss Biggs again drew off the defence, slammed the puck into centre ice, where it found Miss Ross ready. The resultant shot was a high fast one which Miss Tees never saw. When the puck was just about to be faced off the bell went for the end. Fernie 2, Calgary 1.

The line-up was as follows:

Swastikas		Byngs
	Goal
Miss Wood		Miss Tees
	Defence
Miss Henderson		Miss Mitchell
Miss Schagel		Miss Ure
	Centre
Miss E. Ross		Miss W. Lea
	Right Wing
Miss Fenwick		Miss L. Lea
	Left Wing
Miss Biggs		Miss M. Duncan
	Subs.
Miss Dragon		Miss M. Duncan
Miss G. Ross		Miss Doll

Referee—J. R. McLeod.

THE CALGARY GAME

(Calgary Herald)

The Calgary lady Byngs made their initial appearance on local ice at the Arena on Saturday night, and went down to defeat at the hands of the Fernie ladies to the tune of 3-0. The Swastikas found the Calgarians easy pickings, and but for the brilliant goalkeeping of Helen Tees, for the Byngs, the defeat would have quite probably been an overwhelming one.

The B.C. girls started the game with the coolness of veteran puck-chasers, and inside of five minutes notched the opening counter. The locals, on the other hand, seemed to be in a fit of stage fright, and but for one or two lone rushes, allowed the visitors to notch two more before they woke up. Combination on the Byngs side was very conspicuous by its absence, while the Swastikas were displaying the same team play that defeated the Regent ladies at their last game here.

The second period was a little faster and the Byngs tried desparatly to tally but good defence work on the part of Misses Schagel and Henderson and good goalkeeping by Miss Woods prevented this. In the third period the Calgary girls appeared exhausted and the subs might have been used a little freer, while the Fernie outfit was going as strong as ever. Team work might have worked wonders with them but the Byngs relied on individual rushes, and the result was defeat.

Misses Biggs, Schagel and Fenwick were the pick of the Swastikas. Fanny Mitchell, on the defence for the Byngs, played a nice game, and Winnie Lea worked like a trojan, but she seemed all in in the final spasm.

COMING GAMES

Next Wednesday afternoon will see the Seniors in action again when they will play Blairmore. These were the best arrangements that could be arrived at as to play an evening game would mean heavy expense on account of Blairmore having to stay here for full days and the men losing that much time. Arrangements are practically completed with the exception of Blairmore receiving the sanction of the Amateur officials at Calgary to participate, in this respect Fernie has taken out Amateur Cards for all their players and are only awaiting word from Calgary that the game can proceed. The game will start at 4:30 sharp, tickets will be on sale at the Fernie Cigar Store and at W. A. Ingram up till 3:30 on Wednesday afternoon. Get your tickets up town and avoid the rush at the door.

Tomorrow night (Saturday) the Cranbrook and Fernie Juveniles will play a game after skating. Fernie opened up a home and home game by taking Cranbrook's measure two weeks ago by the score of 3-2 so this game here ought to be a good one. Turn out and boost the kids.

On Monday night Fernie will go to Blairmore while a second team will be picked to play Baynes at Baynes on Sunday. Efforts will be made for a return game with Baynes later on in the week.

RITCHIE WINS IN THE POINT EVENT

Fred Ritchie, Nelson	34

M. A. Henderson, Rossland	31

Wasson won the playoff with Henderson for the fourth position.

GET BIG HAUL OF BOOZE

Fifty-one cases or 612 quarts of high grade booze was the reward of the search of a carload of coke at Hillyard by special agents of the Great Northern railway, who turned the cache over to the federal officers. The find is said to be the largest lot of liquor taken in the last year. Federal and county officers, who had received a "tip" that the booze was coming through, had been searching for it for two days.

According to the information received by the officers, the booze was stowed in the car at Troy, Mont., the coke being shipped from Fernie, B. C. The car containing the liquor arrived on a train Wednesday night. Special Agent Holtz of Spokane and Special Agent Lapage of Kalispell, Mont., riding through on the train to see that no attempt was made to unload the liquor en route. Upon arrival at Hillyard the search disclosed the booze.

The liquor is being held by federal officers. No arrests have yet been made.

KIMBERLEY WINS TWO

Kimberley Hockey team, champions of Cranbrook district hockey league, invaded the local Arena here on Friday evening last and defeated the Seniors by the score of 7 to 6. Blundell, in goal for the visitors, played a wonderful game, and for the first twelve minutes of the game he was simply bombarded by the Fernie Forwards, only once during that time did he waiver and allow Fernie the first goal of the game. Mainly through his excellent work between the posts were Kimberley able to lay claim without dispute to the championship of East Kootenay, as this was the only department in which they excelled the locals.

Fernie opened scoring in the first period, Jeff Commons grabbed up a rebound and slamming the puck past Blundell. Dicken added a second for Fernie four minutes later. Kimberley were being completely outclassed by the whole Fernie team, their defence was seldom worried, Kimberley being well confined within their own territory and with the exception of a few individual rushes were kept as busy as bees staying of an overwhelming goal lead. It was during one of these rushes that Jones managed to slip by the defence and tally for Kimberley's first goal. The period ended Fernie 2 Kimberley 1.

The second period was thrilling to watch, ding dong combination by the both teams resulted in heavy scoring. Four minutes from the start, Smith tied the score, three minutes later Swedberg scored Fernie's third, two minutes more and Wilson put Fernie two up. Kimberley then put on a spurt and again tied the score Jones and Griffiths registering counters. Three minutes from time M. Commons put Fernie in the lead again, one minute later Griffiths again sccored making the count five all, from the face-off M. Commons went down and scored Fernie's sixth. The period ended Fernie 6 Kimberley 5.

The third period was featured with fast end to end play, Blundell in goal again proving his mettle, defying the efforts of the Fernie forwards to find the net. Fifteen minutes from the start, Griffiths tied the score and two minutes later grabbed up a questionable pass and slammed the puck into the net for the winning goal. Final score Fernie 6 Kimberley 7.

The teams:

Fernie	Position	Kimberley
	Goal
Colton		Blundell
	Defence
Kirkpatrick		Musser
Swedberg		Caldwell
	Forwards
Wilson		Griffiths
Dicken		Smith
J. Commons		Jones
Glover		Gill
M. Commons

Referee—J. R. McLeod.

On Sunday last, owing to an open air rink, Fernie journeyed to Kimberly and played a return game during the afternoon, Blundell again proved to be Fernie's down fall, and they returned home with the small end of a two to one score. This second win gives Kimberley the undisputed right to call themselves champions of East Kootenay, nevertheless we would like to see the two teams link up again.

Astronomers report the appearance of numerous spots on Old Sol's dial. It is suspected that daylight saving is responsible for the solar blemishes.

William Jennings Bryan asks a poser that might be added to Edison's famous list. He wishes to know why it is that a black cow can eat green grass and then give white milk with yellow butter in it. Question referred to dairy experts.

There is said to be a "skaters' chapel" on the frozen St. Lawrence River near Quebec, where lovers of the popular winter pastime can attend service without removing their skates. It is one of the few places where a lad with a skate on is welcome.

Biggs, of Fernie, was granted a divorce at Spokane, from Paul Lantz, when she testified that her husband deserted her March 7, 1920, and that she has not heard from him since that time. She was given the custody of a child 19 months old. They were married at Fernie, B.C., May 14, 1919.

A. McLean and family had a thrilling experience last Monday morning when their kitchen stove exploded. Fortunately no one was in the room at the time. Mr. McLean a few seconds before had added fresh coal. Mrs. McLean, who had been in the kitchen all morning, had occasion to go into the dining room and had only just stepped within when the explosion occurred. So great was the force that it rocked the whole house, smashing the windows and a door, and causing very considerable damage.

Fred D. Emory, for the past three years Dominion gas and electric meter inspector for the interior of this province east of Kamloops, has moved this week to Bull River, having taken the post of superintendent of maintenance and operation of the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., whose newly constructed power plant is at Bull River, and whose offices are at Fernie.

The new company will supply light to Cranbrook, Fernie and other points and power to the coal mines of the Crow's Nest Pass on both sides of the provincial boundary. Its service line will be 100 miles in length, the newly constructed plant to start into operation in a very short time.

Mr. Emory, who is the elder son of A. D. Emory, is a Nelson boy, and got his primary schooling in this city. He graduated at the Bliss Electrical school, Washington, and then went to the Westinghouse people at Hamilton, Ont. For a period he was assistant superintendent of the Northern Ontario Power & Light Co. at Cobalt, but returned to the employ of Westinghouse, being with that firm three years in all. At the end of that time he received the Dominion appointment from which he has just retired.

Mrs. Emory and family left for the east about three weeks ago.

R. H. Roper, pastor of Olivet Baptist Church, returned this week from Creston, where he has been conducting a two weeks' evangelistic campaign. The Lord has wonderfully blessed his efforts, 21 new converts accepting Christ as their personal Saviour. Mr. Roper attributes the success of the work to the fact that the Christian people of Creston had been earnestly praying for God's blessing preparatory to the campaign.

Mr. Middleton, provincial architect, was in town this week collecting complete data in order that plans may be drawn up for the proposed additions to the Central School building. After very careful consideration and also largely guided by the advice of Mr. Middleton, who has had unlimited experience in matters of this nature, the board decided to have plans prepared for the construction of a two story four room addition, to be erected at the north end of the new wing facing on Victoria Ave. These plans will be exhibited so that all who are interested may view them at the city hall just as soon as they are received.

Chief Spiller, of the Fernie provincial police force, visited Lethbridge on Tuesday as a witness in the trial of the famous Mike Ungarian. The Lethbridge Herald says: Chief Spiller gave his evidence in a very clear and lucid manner. He spoke of going down to Waldo and arresting Ungarian at a restaurant there. At the time he was without his coat or toque, and appeared to be in a tired and dazed condition. After he had been given a meal he brightened up and was his normal self. He warned him as to making any statements and advised him to say nothing, but notwithstanding, the accused started to talk, referring to what had taken place at Lethbridge, saying that he had fired three shots low and three shots in the air and had so scared two policemen that one of them had got under the table and the other through the window of the shack. Witness deposed to going upstairs in the restaurant and finding a mackinaw coat, a green toque and a raincoat belonging to Ungarian. In the pocket of the coat was a .45 Colt revolver fully loaded, produced in court, and in another pocket a quantity of live shells. He identified the revolver, which he marked with his initials, and the six shells taken out of it, which he also marked. He took the prisoner back with him to Fernie. The trial was finished yesterday and the accused found guilty. He was given a sentence of two years less one day.

MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

Established 1869

UNPRECEDENTED PROFIT EARNING

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus Earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face value of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio

The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings

The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality

The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038 being
$46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings

from $38.67 per $1000 of assets to $46.47 per $1000

A MESSAGE TO GARCIA

(By Elbert Hubbard)

In all this Cuban business there is one man stands out on the horizon of my memory like Mars at perihelion.

When war broke out between Spain and the United States, it was very necessary to communicate quickly with the leader of the Insurgents. Garcia was somewhere in the mountain fastnesses of Cuba — no one knew where. No mail or telegraph message could reach him. The President must secure his co-operation, and quickly.

What to do!

Some one said to the President, "There is a fellow by the name of Rowan will find Garcia for you, if anybody can."

Rowan was sent for and given a letter to be delivered to Garcia. How the "fellow by the name of Rowan" took the letter, sealed it up in an oilskin pouch, strapped it over his heart, in four days landed by night off the coast of Cuba from an open boat, disappeared into the jungle, and in three weeks came out on the other side of the Island, having traversed a hostile country on foot, and delivered his letter to Garcia—are things I have no special desire now to tell in detail. The point that I wish to make is this: McKinley gave Rowan a letter to be delivered to Garcia; Rowan took the letter and did not ask, "Where is he at?"

By the Eternal! there is a man whose form should be cast in deathless bronze and the statue placed in every college of the land. It is not book-learning young men need, nor instruction about this and that, but a stiffening of the vertebrae which will cause them to be loyal to a trust, to act promptly, concentrate their energies: do the thing — "Carry a Message to Garcia."

General Garcia is dead now, but there are other Garcias. No man who has endeavored to carry out an enterprise where many hands were needed, but has been well-nigh appalled at times by the imbecility of the average man—the inability or unwillingness to concentrate on a thing and do it.

Slipshod assistance, foolish inattention, dowdy indifference, and half-hearted work seem the rule; and no man succeeds, unless by hook or crook or threat he forces or bribes other men to assist him; or mayhap, God in His goodness performs a miracle, and sends him an Angel of Light for an assistant.

You, reader, put this matter to test: You are sitting now in your office—six clerks are within call. Summon any one and make this request: "Please look in the encyclopaedia and make a brief memorandum for me concerning the life of Correggio." Will the clerk quietly say, "Yes, sir," and go do the task?

On your life he will not. He will look at you out of a fishy eye and ask one or more of the following qiestions:

Who was he?
Which encyclopaedia?
Was I hired for that?
Don't you mean Bismarck?
What's the matter with Charlie doing it?
Is he dead?
Is there any hurry?
Sh'n't I bring you the book and let you look it up yourself?
What do you want to know for?

And I will lay you ten to one that after you have answered the questions, and explained how to find the information, and why you want it, the clerk will go off and get one of the other clerks to help him try to find Garcia—and then come back and tell you there is no such man. Of course I may lose my bet, but according to the Law of Average I will not. Now, if you are wise, you will not bother to explain to your assistant that Correggio is indexed under the C's, not in the K's, but you will smile very sweetly and say, "Never mind," and go look it up yourself. And this incapacity for independent action, this moral stupidity, this infirmity of will, this unwillingness to cheerfully catch hold of life—these are the things that put pure Socialism so far into the future. If men will not act for themselves, what will they do when the benefit of their effort is for all?

A first mate with knotted club seems necessary; and the dread of getting "the bounce" on Saturday night holds many a worker to his place. Advertise for a stenographer and nine out of ten who apply can neither spell nor punctuate—and do not think it necessary to.

Can such a one write a letter to Garcia?

"You see that bookkeeper," said the foreman to me in a large factory.

"Yes; what about him?"

'Well, he's a fine accountant, but if I'd send him uptown on an errand, he might accomplish the errand all right, and on the other hand, might stop at four saloons on the way, and when he got to Main Street would forget what he had been sent for."

Can such a man be entrusted to carry a message to Garcia?

We have recently been hearing much maudlin sympathy expressed for the "down-trodden denizens of the sweatshop" and the "homeless wanderer searching for honest employment," and with it all often go many hard words for the men in power.

Nothing is said about the employer who grows old before his time in a vain attempt to get frowsy ne'er-do-wells do intelligent work; and his long, patient striving after "help" that does nothing but loaf when his back is turned. In every store and factory there is a constant weeding-out process going on. The employer is constantly sending away "help" that have shown their incapacity to further the interests of the business, and others are being taken on. No matter how good times are, this sorting continues: only, if times are hard and work is scarce, the sorting is done finer—but out and forever out the incompetent and unworthy go. It is the survival of the fittest. Self-interest prompts every employer to keep the best—those who can carry a message to Garcia.

I know one man of really brilliant parts who has not the ability to manage a business of his own, and yet who is absolutely worthless to anyone else, because he carries with him the constantly the insane suspicion that his employer is oppressing, or intending to oppress him. He can give no orders, and he will not receive them. Should a message be given to him to take to Garcia, his answer would probably be, "Take it yourself!" Tonight this man walks the streets looking for work, the wind whistling through his threadbare coat. No one who knows him dare employ him, for he is a regular firebrand of discontent. He is impervious to reason, and the only thing that can impress him is the toe of a thick-souled Number Nine boot.

Of course I know that one so morally deformed is no less to be pitied than a physical cripple; but in our pitying let us drop a tear, too, for the men who are striving to carry on a greater enterprise, whose working hours are not limited by the whistle, and whose hair is fast turning white through the struggle to hold in line dowdy indifference, slipshod imbecility, and the heartless ingratitude which, but for their enterprise, would be both hungry and homeless.

Have I put the matter too strongly? Possibly I have; but when all the world has gone a-slumming I wish to speak a word of sympathy for the man who succeeds—the man who, against great odds, has directed the efforts of others, and having succeeded, finds there's nothing in it; nothing but bare board and clothes. I have carried a dinner pail and worked for wages, and I have also been an employer of labor, and I know there is something to be said on both sides. There is no excellence, per se, in poverty; rags are no recommendation; and all employers are not rapacious and high-handed, any more than all poor men are virtuous. My heart goes out to the man who does his work when the "boss" is away, as well as when he is at home. And the man who, when given a letter for Garcia, quietly takes the missive, without asking any idiotic question, and with no lurking intention of chucking it into the nearest sewer, or of doing aught else but deliver it, never gets "laid off," nor has to go on a strike for higher wages. Civilization is one long, anxious search for just such individuals. He is wanted in every city, town and village—in every office, shop, store and factory. The world cries out for such: he is needed and needed badly—the man who can "Carry a Message to Garcia."

Half of the sports who are wagering hundreds of dollars on a long-distance dog race are throwing their money to the dogs, who would much prefer bones.

A bill introduced in the Kentucky Senate requires moonshine stills to be equipped with whistles to guide thirsty wanderers to a place where they can "wet their whistles."

Declaring that there is nothing in the constitution of the state to prevent a free-born citizen from making a monkey of himself if he feels so disposed, the Kentucky legislature has thrown out the bill to prohibit the teaching of evolution in the public schools.

SCORE ATTEMPTED WORKERS' PARTY

CHATHAM, Feb. 18.—Hon. James Murdock, federal minister of labor, addressed a large gathering of the Brotherhood Society members last night on the relations which true brotherhood bears to the solving of the labor troubles at present facing Canada. The minister declared that difference between employers and employees was largely a state of mind and only too often an imaginary state of mind. He held up the principle of a fair day's work for a fair rate of pay as the only principle which could rectify the unfortunate condition which now exists.

He scored heavily the move to form the workers' party of Canada, stating that the movement was on a par with the One Big Union and the I.W.W. asociations which hold a position of direpute in the minds of all right thinking men.

TORONTO, Feb. 20—That the labor problem of today is a 'state of mind'—a 'mental attitude of the worker toward his task' was the view expressed by Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, who occupied the pulpit at High Park Methodist Church last night. Labor, he claimed, often approaches its questions with a somewhat unbalanced mental attitude, due to the fact that the workers and their loved ones had suffered frequently because they had been precluded from obeying the Biblical injunction that 'by the sweat of their brow they should earn their daily bread.'

The minster deplored the fact that 200,000 men were out of work, declaring that such a condition was "all wrong" especially in a country like Canada with its vast resources, which should keep everyone employed. He appealed to everyone for real brotherhood daily. The thing which had to be done now more than any other time in the history of the Dominion was for labor to recognize its responsibilities—to recognize that the employer cannot and should not expect to furnish all the harmony and co-operation incident to the carrying on of business.

Everybody knows where the flies go in the winter time and now it has been discovered what becomes of all the pins. A scientific authority says they disintegrate and return to dust again. "Stick a pin in your onion patch and in 347 days it will have disappeared entirely. Hairpins are even shorter lived. A hairpin lying in the open and exposed to the elements will become negligible in 154 days. If the wife finds a strange hairpin in the garage she should begin her detective work at once. It is probably a fresh lead. In six months the evidence may disappear. It does seem that everything made by man returns in time to the dust of which he himself is composed."

THE GOLDEN LION TRADING COMPANY

IN INTEREST OF AMATEURISM

Sporting Editor:—

Sir:

With the development of sport in the interior cities of B.C., there comes the question of competition between teams from these cities and those of the Coast, either as exhibitors or for Provincial championships. It is well known that there is some semi-professionalism in these Interior towns and this prevents competition since the Coast teams are amateur. It would seem that an attempt should now be made to organize Local Boards of the Amateur Uuion in all the centres of population in the Province. This letter is written in the hope that, through your outside circulation, some useful information may reach public spirited citizens in outlying cities.

We consder it to be fully proved that semi-profesionalism is wholly demoralizing to the boys of any town and to community spirit in general, even though it may create spasmodic enthusiasm and rivalries. In some sports in some countries semi-professionalism is allowed, that is, amateurs are allowed to compete with and against professionals without losing their amateur standing; in others, one who so competes is himself considered a professional and cannot be re-instated. The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada has adopted an intermediate definition which applies to all athletic sports in Canada except Cricket, Golf and Indoor Bowling. The definition is as follows:—

"An amateur is one who has never:

1. Entered or competed in any athletic competition for a staked bet, moneys, private or public, or gate receipts.
2. Taught or assisted in the pursuit of any athletic exercise or sport as a means of livelihood.
3. Received any bonus or payment in lieu of loss of time while playing as a member of any club or engaged in any athletic sport or exercise, or any consideration whatever, for any services as an athlete, except actual travelling or hotel expenses.
4. Sold or pledged his prizes.
5. Promoted an athletic competition for personal gain.

(B)

An athlete who has competed with or against a professional for a prize or where gate receipts are charged or a collection taken up (except as may be specially provided for by the By-Laws of the A.A.U. of C.) or has entered in a competition under a name other than his own, shall be ineligible for registration and competition as an amateur.

NOTE—Such an athlete may be eligible for reinstatment.

(C)

All others shall be considered eligible for registration and competition in the A.A.U. of C. and its affiliated bodies."

The A. A. U. of C. is composed of its Provincial branches and National Governing bodies in hockey, lacrosse, baseball, basketball, rowing, cycling, etc. Football does not belong to the Union and does not officially accept our amateur definition, but, up to date, the fooballers have not broken relations with or against professionals and it is hoped they will eventually come in. Some other sports, such as tennis, are not members of the Union but they officially accept its amateur definitions.

The Executive of the B.C. Branch of the Union is composed of representatives of Provincial Governing bodies in individual sports with district consuls and representatives from Local Boards. Local Boards have been in operation in Victoria, New Westminster and Vancouver for many years and they are now in thorough control of the situation in those cities. It is hoped that this spring at least two new boards may be established, one in the Okanagan-Kamloops District and one in the Kootenays. It may be that some citizen in each of these districts would act as consuls during the preliminary period of organization and that a representative of the Union might tour the Interior at the proper time to explain the work and assist in the definite organization of the Local Board.

Local Boards

1. Local Boards of this Union may be established in any city, municipality or district in British Columbia, as the Executve Committee may determine, such Boards being responsible for the governance consistent with the Constitution and By-Laws, of all amateur sport in this district.
2. Local Boards shall consist of not less than four members of this Union.
3. Each member of a Local Board shall be represented by one delegate, and such delegates shall compose the Board, each delegate being entitled to one vote. Such delegate may be represented by proxy.
4. The appointment of every delegate and alternate shall be in writing duly certified by the chief executive officer or secretary of the appointed member.
5. Each Board shall elect a chairman and secretary-treasurer, not necessary from among its members.
6. Decisions of Local Boards shall be subject to the aproval of the Board of Governors in all cases.
7. Local Boards shall accept this Constitution and By-Laws and be governed entirely by same.
8. The powers of Local Boards shall be as enumerated in the By-Laws.

The officials of the Union would welcome correspondence with any individual or club looking toward the formation of such Local Board.

Everyone will readily understand that in an unorganized district most athletes will have done things which are not strictly in accordance with the amateur law, but it would be understood that all who are essentially amateurs would be given cards at the time of organization and only real professionals refused. This has been the course pursued throughout Canada as the Union has extended its active jurisdiction and there seems to be no reason why the same sensible procedure should not be followed here. In the meantime, assuming that regular conditions will shortly be established, the Union is doing everything possble to encourage campettons between Interor and Coast teams, for example, the Trail and Merritt Hockey teams are gven freedom to play on the frank understanding that they include no real professionals.

Turkey announces that it will not be represented at the Genoa conference. "Nobody asked you, sir, she said."

As the sole representative of her sex in parliament, Miss Agness McPhail, M.P., is to have the privilege of occupying a desk all by herself when the house opens at Ottawa. Although a spinster she can "pair" with another member when a vote is taken.

"THE BONNIE BRIER BUSH" TO SHOW AT ORPHEUM

In the preparation of Donald Crisp's production of "The Bonnie Brier Bush," a Paramount picture screened in England, which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Monday and Tuesday, care was taken to procure a "native atmosphere" for this charming Highland story. The book itself is Scotch and was written by the Rev. John Watson, who for years concealed his identity in the world of letters under the pen name of "Ian MacLaren."

The adaptation was made by Margaret Turnbull, who was thoroughly at home in the atmosphere of the screen story.

Donald Crisp, who directed the picture, plays the role of Lachlan Campbell, a mountain shepherd. Mary Glynne and Alec Fraser have the leading roles. "The Bonnie Brier Bush" brings with it all the fragrance of the Scottish moorside, together with something of the austere grandeur of its mountains, in the types of men and women whose lives form the theme of the simple and moving story.

COMING TO THE ISIS

WE AND OUR NEIGHBORS

Mr. Lloyd George, in the name of the British people, has paid tribute to the "unaccountable debt which the world owes to the United States" for its leadership in the recent Washington conference. The sentiments he expressed in the House of Commons in welcoming Mr. Balfour back to England, will be echoed by all right-thinking people in all British countries.

The primary aim of the British Empire in the conference was to further cement the bonds of friendship and understanding existing between the two branches of the Anglo-Saxon races. The great success achieved in this respect was due in no small measure to the personality of Mr. Balfour no less than his ability to put into clear and forceful English the ideals of peace and justice which actuate the British peoples in all parts of the world.

Leading statesmen in all the Dominions are convinced that the surest guarantee for the peace of the world lies in drawing ever closer the ties which bind the United States and the British Empire.

Any organization which has this work for its object and which aims to combat by the dissemination of sound doctrine and truth the poisonous propaganda of those who would create suspicion and friction between Canada and our neighbors to the south, must have the most cordial support of the community. There has been formed recently in Vancouver a branch of the British-American League, an organization which originated in Victoria. On Monday evening the first general meeting of the League takes place in th Board of Trade rooms when permanent officers will be elected. There is a disposition in the city to give a warm support to this movement. — Vancouver Province.

MINERS' DEMAND OWNERS' REPLY

The long looked for conference between the Coal Operators and the representatives of the U.M.W. of A. opened in Calgary yesterday, when each side presented their demands, which we print below.

The different viewpoints at present seem to be as wide apart as the poles, but we hope that before the first of April arrives an amicable agreement may be reached.

March 2nd, 1922.

Gentlemen—We, the undersigned Conference Committee of District 18, United Mine Workers of America, submit to you the following basic demands for the incoming new Agreement:

We demand that six hours shall constitute a day on all underground work and all work on three shifts outside of the mine.

We demand that the present basic day wage schedule be maintained.

The Operators' Reply.

Calgary, Alta., March 2, 1922.

To the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, Calgary, Alta.

Gentlemen — We have considered the demands which you ask us to agree to at this time.

We had hoped that the press statements outlining these demands were incorrect, but if the demands which you have now made, and which are essentially those of which we already had more or less general knowledge, are put forward seriously as a basis for a new agreement, it is only right to say that they do not offer any hope for meeting you on a common ground.

In the United States, reductions have been put into effect varying from 30% to 60%. In Canada agreements have already been negotiated with marked decreases from the figures obtaining in agreements brought into existence during the war. We are meeting with very serious competition with non-union fields in Alberta, a fact with which you are familiar.

In other industries no less pronounced cuts have been made, and many of these industries have already advanced far along the road towards resumption of normal operations, while we, as already pointed out to you, through the attitude of your organization, have still to take the first step in that direction. There does not seem to be any escape from the conclusion that your demands ignore entirely the economic situation as it exists today, and the condition of the industry brought about as a result. It is unnecessary to say again that that condition cannot continue. The mines in this field must either go back to a point where operation on a healthy basis can be resumed, or they must close down. It is a question today with many of the mine owners whether a revision of the scale made even now, has not come too late.

However that may be, it is the duty of this Association to see that no longer time elapses before the present condition is remedied. We had hoped to have your assistance in doing so. It is obvious, however, that we are not to have this, and, gentlemen ,the only alternative is for us to say to you now the basis upon which we can operate our mines, retain the markets we have, and secure the markets we have lost.

We are submitting to you our proposal that the day wage scale shall be reduced so that the new rates in effect as from the 1st of April shall be those shown on the schedule handed you herewith.

We propose that the contract rates shall be equivalent to those in the 1915 Agreement, together with an addition of 22% for all districts in this Association except District No. 5 (the Drumheller-Wayne feld) and that in that district the contract rates shall be those shown in the attached schedule.

We propose that the deadwork rates shall be those in the 1915 Agreement with an addition of 22% thereon, for all districts in the Association except District No. 5 (the Drumheller-Wayne field), and that in that district the deadwork rates shall be those named in the contract orders immediately following the Green Award.

We propose that the general clauses of the 1915 Agreement, except that referring to the Check-off, shall be the general clauses of the new Agreement.

We propose that a Cost of Living Clause be incorporated in the proposed Agreement, that the Cost of Living be ascertained as of the date when this Agreement becomes effective, and that the rates proposed shall be subject to modification with the findings of the Commission sitting from tme to time.

In this connection we would point out that increases to mine workers since 1913, without considering the reduction of hours per working day, vary from 130% to 175%. Increase in cost of living during the same period has not been more than 90%. That cost has now fallen to a point where the rates proposed are equitable as of this date.

We propose that the Agreement shall be for one year from the first of April, 1922.

In conclusion, permit me to say on behalf of this Association, that we have endeavored to consider every angle of the situation. We are as anxious as you are to see the mines put back upon a basis which will put us on the map in a competitive way. In order that the present abnormally high rate will not prevail a day longer than is absolutely necessary, these rates will be posted at our individual mines, to go into effect as from April 1st, 1922.

JAZZING THE SYMPHONIE CLASSICS

It may seem unbelievable but nevertheless it is a fact that Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra, twelve musicians in all, receive the largest salary of any dance orchestra in the world for discoursing dance music at the Palais Royal, New York. When Paul Whiteman played first violin with the San Francisco Sympthony Orchestra he first conceived the idea of starting an orchestra of his own which was to be run on a different basis from the ordinary Jazz Band. It was to be run on a co-operative basis. The musicians were to be all picked men, and then the methods of a symphony were to be applied. Their first engagement was at the Hotel Fairmont in San Francisco, where their success was instantaneous. Coming east they played at the Ambassador at Atlantic City. From there they came to the Palais Royal, New York, where their contract does not expire for a term of yeears.

THE NOTICE TO MINERS

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Limited, yesterday posted the following notice:

"The contract of employment now existing between the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Ltd., and its employees, made on behalf of the Company, by and through the Western Canada Coal Operators Association, and on behalf of the Employees by the United Mine Workers of America, will expire on March 31st 1922. Therefore, notice is hereby given to all Employees who are not Officials or Salaried Workmen, that their employment with this Company ceases on the 31st of March, 1922, pending the acceptance of a new wage scale."

Asked by a representative of the Free Press the meaning of the notice, an Official of the Company stated that it was simply an intimation of the fact that the present agreement expires on March 31st, and that the present rate will not be paid after that date.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

After much prayerful consideration and preparatory work, the deacons and members of Olivet Baptist Church have decided to hold an evangelistic campaign in their church beginning March 12 and continuing for two weeks.

The services will be under the direction of the Rev. W. T. Tapscott, of the Cranbrook Baptist church. Mr. Tapscott is of pleasing address, and if the more or less conscious impressions of a thoughtful auditor were to take definite expression in words there is no doubt that the following terms would suggest themselves as forceful, analytic, perspicous, resourceful, versatile, tactful, honest, earnest, spiritual, convincing, eloquent; in private intercourse he would quickly commend himself to the discerning as a genuine type of the well-balanced, cultured, courteous gentleman. His speech is seasoned with salt and by manifestation of the truth he commends himself to every man's conscience in the sight of God. He has manifestly taken heed unto himself and is strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus, so that no man can despise him, because he is an example of the believer in word, conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.

The public are cordially invited to attend all the services.

THE WHITE BEAVER

Patricia district is a primitive land of evergreen forests and glistening lakes. In winter time it loses this attractive garment of summer and typifies the grin spirit of the north. Then it becomes a country of dead colorings, of aded green and greying-browns; a wilderness of deeryards and dead-falls; a playground of blizzards and the northern lights; and the place where each night the wolf pack sings the hunting song. Like all the vast hinterland jutting upward from the Grand Trunk Pacific, the snow-carpeted forests of Patricia district are marked by trap lines and spotted by the fur hunters' huts; but, unlike its neighboring north, Patricia district is noted for its unique distinction. It is the home of the White Beaver.

From the wild area, given over to the moose and the grouse in the summer time and to the trapper in the lean days of winter, came the famous white beaver, which forms the chief centre of attraction in the mounted exhibits of the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries. When not on tour with other stately denizens of the wilds, as a valued tit-bit of interest at the various fall fairs, the white beaver sits in a glass case in the office of Deputy Minister MacDonald. For three years it has been the choice specimen of the Department. Before that white beaver lived where he was born, bred and died, in one of those far-off ponds in the background of Patricia district, skirted by the trap lines of some Indian fur hunter. Even in the remote fastness of his native forest the hand of the trapper reached out and seized him. Thus he came to Toronto, where his milky-white coat was carefully groomed by alien hands and where a special set of pink eyes were provided him, for his own, which had closed in death.

The white beaver is cherished above all other Ontario exhibits, because he undoubtedly represents the scarcest type of animal life known to the American continent.

Although Patricia district has been called the "home of the white beaver," this does not mean that many of these forest curiosities have been found. It is estimated that only one white beaver is born in every 20,000, and during the last half-century few more than half a dozen skins have been taken out of the entire Patricia boundaries.

Why there shoud be a white beaver at all, and why they should be native, more or less exclusively, to Patricia district are questions which never have been answered. The mere asking of them brings to mind yet another: What is a white beaver? Not even the most experienced trapper can answer this. Legend has its usual colorful explanation, and in this the Indian fur hunter firmly believes, but for the prosaic furrier scoffs at his red brother's credulity and shrugs a disinterested shoulder.

"The white beaver is a freak of nature," he will say, "and a mighty useless freak, at that." Usually he will conclude his remarks with this enlightening sentence, "I have seen a white beaver skin, but never have handled one." For that fact, he may add, he is duly thankful. It saved him the loss of a price of the skin.

In the world of commerce a white beaver skin is without a value; but as an animal curio it ranks as high as the much-advertised blue tiger. From then on, however, the story is widely different. The skin of a blue tiger is worth a fabulous price. It is made into a handsome rug that only a 20th century Croesus can afford to buy. The skin of a white beaver is too small to be of any individual use, and there are not enough of them in the world even to match into a short-length coat for my lady's back.

It may sound paradoxical to write that any article can be so rare as to be valueless, but such is the case with the white beaver skin. The high value placed upon black fox and silver grey skins is brought about by the fact that while rareties they can be secured in sufficient quantity to give them a strong commercial demand; the white beaver can't. Thus, while from a naturalist's viewpoint, the black fox or silver grey is not in the same class with the white beaver, the skin of the latter usually is given away while the former is worth its weight in gold. Commerce has no use for curios unless they have a place in the scheme of barter.

If it were possible through some lucky chance of fortune to get sufficient skins to make a beautifully matched coat of white beaver, what would its commercial value be?

This question I asked a big Toronto furrier and his eyes glowed at the thought of the possibilities. "I do not know," he said. "It would be worth just what you could get. It would be the only coat of its kind in the world. In fact, I don't think that even a king could buy it. It would come beyond the royal purse. Possibly, it could be purchased by some American money baron, but by no one else. However, there is no use in speculating about that. There are not enough white beaver skins in the world to make even half a coat.

"Let me give you a few facts and figures. It takes approximately 15 skins to make up a beaver coat which sell for $550. To date, only 6 white beaver skins have come from Patricia district; possibly four or five other white skins have come from other parts.

"All told, we have merely some 10 skins that we know of, and even here, no record has been kept of their distribution. Once in a long while we see or hear of one coming into a big fur establishment in a large shipment; but it is never used. We furriers know that it would be impossible to match it; so into the discard it goes. Yes, as a dream, a coat of finely-matched white beaver is a beautiful one to any furrier. He could retire immediately he sold it; but it could be nothing but a dream, for it could never happen."

It remained for yet another furrier to state the commercial status of the white beaver succinctly and to the point. "I have seen one or two of their skins," he admitted. "but they didn't interest me, I am a furrier, and not a freak collector." He stopped and reached into his till for a gold piece. "You see this? It came over the counter this morning. We are all chasing this because there is sufficient supply of it to set our currency standard. Now, let us suppose that all the gold we had were but three or four flakes; not enough to make one five-dollar piece. What value would gold have then? None! It would merely be a mineralogical curio. There would be too little of it to be of any use. We should have adopted a new monetary standard, and while interested in these three flakes of gold, we woudn't go around the block to pick up one. That is just the situation with the white beaver. It is a rarety, certainly the greatest rarety in the fur business, but it is so rare that it is worthless. I wouldn't walk outside my store to look at all of them in the world. They would be of no more use to me than would the three flakes of gold, if that had happened to be the world's gold supply."

"PERJURY" ~ WILLIAM FOX PRODUCTION
COMING TO THE ISIS

KEEPING YOUNG

The New York Times pays a peculiarly apt tribute to the late James Bryce, who is the subject of eulogies in the United States which no foreigner has evoked since the days of Lafayette. "Into old age," says the Times, "he carried the inquisitive mind of a child—the spring of learning. When he was n the United States last summer, delivering his thronged lectures at Williams College he displayed just as much eagerness in finding out the latest developments of American politics as he did when he first visited us. The historian J.R. Green, said of himself, somewhat bitterly, at the end of his life: 'I know what they will say of me: he died learning.' To Lord Bryce this would not have seemed a reproach; rather a virtue and a happiness."

Old age has nothing to do with the number of a man's years. Its tragedy is one that James Bryce averted, though he lived to 83, by "retaining theinquisitive mind of a child," so that he was always adding to his store of knowledge and widening the range of his interests. No doubt a strong constitution, fortified by earlier feats of mountain climbing, was a factor in his freshness of spirit, but an appalling number of people who have good health allow their minds to atrophy. They have lost the child's curiosity, the early impulse to know and learn, and after their adolescence they have no intellectual growth, no addition to their mental equipment or resources. The mind is more apt to harden than the arteries unless it is excercised. Instead of increase of wisdom, age may bring only deeper prejudices and less disposition to take reasonable views and welcome new ideas. Not everyone can be a Bryce, but in these days, when the means of knowledge are within the reach of all, it is discouraging to see multitudes of young people, with their lives before them, taking no serious interest in serious things.

Ottawa was reminded this week that British Columbia is not a silent partner in the Dominion confederation.

BIRTHDAY OF THE MOVIES

The motion picture is going to have a birthday party. It will be ten years old in March, and for all of that month 10,000 picture theatres through out Canada and the United States will unite in a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the youngest of arts.

Of course, motion pictures are more than ten years old. As a matter of fact, they are now nearly twenty years old. But as a dramatic entertainment they actually had their artistic birth ten years ago when Adolph Zukor persuaded Sarah Bernhardt to star in a mulitple-reel feature picture called "Queen Elizabeth."

Mr. Zukor is now president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, producers of Paramount pictures which are distributed in Canada by the Famous-Lasky Film Service, Ltd., of which N. L. Natheson is managing director. But when Mr. Zukor entered the production field ten years ago, the motion picture was a fading novelty—a toy which was beginning to pall on the public's taste.

Mr. Zukor had been an exhibitor of pictures; indeed, he owned and operated a chain of theatres in New York city. A man of vision, he saw that the motion picture had great possibilities and that unless something revolutionary in the use of the new art was introduced pictures would cease to attract anybody. He begged the men who were then producing pictures to make bigger and better films; they laughed at him, saying that the picture was only an amusing toy and was good enough as it was.

But as an exhibitor, Mr. Zukor knew better. He knew pictures were in danger of dying from their own mediocrity. Authors and actors alike viewed the film with scorn. Intelligent, discriminating people condemned the "chase pictures," the two-reel thrillers, the custard-pie masterpieces as vulgar, tawdry and dull. And exhibitors were at the mercy of the manufacturers, who had a monopoly and refused to raise the standard of their productions.

So Mr. Zukor took the bull by the horns and organized his own company. The first picture to be released was "Queen Elizabeth," with no less a celebrity than Sarah Bernhardt in the title role. It was not the first five-reel production ever made, but it was the first production to be released by any company under a fixed policy of making and distributing pictures of that approximate length and quality as a standard. Its release marked the birth of the modern film play—the renaissance of the film industry.

Other features of similar length and starring such people as James K. Hackett, Mrs. Fiske, Mary Pickford, James O'Neill and Lily Langtry followed. their appearance attracted other producers with similar ideals into the field. Among them was Jesse L. Lasky who interested Cecil B. DeMille, at that time a successful young stage producer of the Belasco school who had recently written the still popular play "The Return of Peter Grimm," and others in the organization of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company. Having scraped together a small amount of cauital they purchased the film rights to Edwin Milton Royal's play. "The Squaw Man." So far as is known, this is the first instance on record of the purchase of rights to a play or story for the screen.

Going to California, Mr. Lasky and his associates made "The Squaw Man," with Dustin Farnum in the stellar role. Many interesting ancedotes are told of the difficulties of financing and refinancing which the young men experienced before the picture finally reached the market to reap a harvest almost undreamed of. The Lasky studio, Paramount's huge West Coast production centre of today, was built around the crude litle buildings where "The Squaw Man" was filmed. The present plant affords more than twenty-five times as much floor space, covering two city blocks in Hollywood, while the nearby Lasky Ranch of 1,200 acres afford a wide variety of scenery for exterior backgrounds.

To Hollywood at about that time went also other producing organizations, among them the Oliver Morosco Photoplay Company and Bosworth, Inc., in July 1916. The Famous Players Film Company and the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Company were combined under the name of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. The Paramount pictures corporation had been formed for the distribution of the Lasky and Bosworth companies. On January 1, 1917, the Paramount organization was taken over by the Famous Players - Lasky Corporation, Bosworth, Inc., and Pallas Pictures, the Morosco output. having previously been acquired. Later the Artcraft Pictures Corporation amalgamated with the Famous Players-Lasky, as still more recently the Realart Pictures Corporation.

With the absorption of the Paramount company and the turning of the prodnct of the combined companies for release through the exchanges of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, the former organization disappeared as a seperate entitiy, but the name was retained as the trade name for all the features released by the present corporation. Today, Paramount pictures made in the huge studias of the company in New York, Los Angeles and London, are distributed through thirty branch offices in the United States, six in Canada, nine in Great Britain, two in France, one in Denmark, one in Belgium, five in Australia ,one in New Zealand. one in Mexico, two in Brazil and on contract to every other country in the civilized world.

For March 5, the opening of the anniversary, Paramount announces day and date of some of the biggest productions. These include Cecil B. DeMille's 'Fool's Paradise,' Gloria Swanson in 'Her Husband's Trademark,' Wallace Reid in 'The World's Champion' and 'The Dragon's Claw,' the first of the spectacular U. F. A. production 'The Mistress of The World," to be released as a series of four Paramount pictures.

FAMINE NEARING MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Feb. 27. — The soviet delegation to Genoa will carry instructions to grant all concessions demanded,, provided a big reconstruction loan can be obtained. If this loan cannot be aranged, then, from a Russian point of view, the conference has the moral value only of recognition of the present government.

The basic reason for this attitude is the famine. It is only within the last few weeks that the leaders of the soviet have realized just how desperate is the food situation. So long as the famine starves to death the peasants and the remaining bourgeoisie, though it be on a scale of millions, the soviet leaders are untouched and rather indifferent.

But the famine is now slowly but surely encroaching on and encircling their stronghold—Moscow—and soviet representatives from every part of Russia sent to get food, report that there is less and less to be had, that beginning with March the favored red army will begin to starve, and that each succeeding month will be worse, until July harvests more or less scant, may relieve the situation.

What may happen between now and the summer months is troubling the soviet leaders. If a big loan is arranged the situation can be saved. If not the hundred million or more dollars in the soviet treasury will have to go for food and even that may not save the country from anarchy.

GEORGE ARLISS—STAR EXQUISITE—IN "DISRAELI"

When the patrons of the Isis Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, see George Arliss in "Disraeli," they will have the unique experience of almost hearing the words of a man, long dead, as if resurrected and brought again to attention. Because most of the subtitles in "Disraeli" are actually the words and thoughts of Britain's great Prime Minister. Several months were spent in research work, digging out all the books that might contain any epigrams or famous sayings uttered by Disraeli during his years as Queen Victoria's right hand man.

Forrest Hasley, who wrote the scenario, has carefully interwoven the lines from Louis Parker's play with the results of the research work, so that the finished product has greatly heightened the effects of this splendid photoplay. After seeing some of the subtitles choked down the throat of the long-suffering public, we believe that this innovation will be appreciated and liked.

N. S. MINERS AGREE

REMARKABLE FILM BOOKED FOR ORPHEUM THEATRE

"The Lotus Eater," a novel by Albert Payson Terhune and one of the most unusual and original stories ever written, has been transformed into a motion picture by Marshall Neilan, and with John Barrymore, the famous actor, as the star, will start a two day run at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday, Mar 8th, as an Associated First National Attraction. The titles were written by George Ade.

Barrymore plays the part of Jacques Lenoi, who was born in a villa on the Mediterranean, while his father was travelling the seven seas in search of health. Returning suddenly, Lenoi, Sr., discovered his wife in a compromising situation. Taking the lad with him, he set out again in hs yacht.

Broken by his martial woes, the father ages quickly and the realization comes to him, when the boy is seven years old, that death is not far off. To shield the boy from his own bitter experience, the father compels Jacques to promise him that he will not leave the yacht until he is twenty-five years old.

Educated by private tutors, Jacques does not leave the yacht until the appointed time. Landing in New York, he hurries to the office of his father's attorney. and there meets Madge Vance, young and pretty. It is a case of love at first sight with both. There is a romantic courtship and a hurried marriage on his yacht.

But the father's fears are realized, for clouds appear on the domestic horizon. Jacques, broken hearted, leaves for a dirigible trip over the Pacific Ocean. He is compelled to dive into the ocean when the food and fuel give out, and lands on an island. Then begin a series of strange adventures—and in the end, Jacques finds the love for which his unsophisticated heart yearns.

RHEUMATISM GONE: WALKS WELL AS EVER

Manitoba Man's Legs Were Stiff As Boards And He Ached From Head to Foot —Had Suffered Five Years

"I heard so many people telling what Tanlac had done for them that I tried it in my own case and I am convinced it is a wonderful medicine," said David Wellington, a well-known drug clerk, Harperusa, Manitoba.

"For Five years I had been a sufferer from rheumatic fever. I simply ached all over from head to foot and my bones felt like they were going to crack. My knees were so stiff actually I used to walk like I had wooden legs, and I just dragged one foot after the other. Everything I ate seemed to sour on my stomach and I was bothered a good deal with back ach and headaches.

"I began to improve gradually from the first dose of Tanlac and kept it up until my stomach was in perfect condition and the rheumatism left me. I am in splendid health now and feel that it is only right that I should tell my experience so that others who suffer as I did may know where they may get relief, too."

EDUCATION THE RIGHT OF ALL

In a recent copy of Toronto Saturday Night, E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., has this to say about education:

"What right have we—what right has anyone—to say that a good education is something that we should leave in possession of the few? It is certainly not. And the masses of our people will never be content with a low level of education when they realize the power and pleasure it bars them from. Why should they? Children are not equal in mental capacity, of course. But when they all get an equal chance of a good education, I believe that the average level will be found very high.

"If there are flaws in our present system of education, it is the problem of the higher authorities. It is they who need conversion, more than the teachers who carry out their orders. And these authorities also need public support; for they administer public funds, and a good education for all the people costs money. If, however, the people realize that the education in the popular schools is of real service, they will more readily approve the appropriations made by the educational authorities.

"The pleasure, as well as the use of possessing a well-trained mind is so intense that, if people only half realized it, the schools—the effective schools of our ideal—would be as popular as the movies. It is a pleasure that outlasts all the pleasures of the senses, and keeps the mind young when the body grows old."

"The public schools offer to all the children of Canada the opportunity to prepare for citizenship together—the rich and the poor, those with long traditions of culture and those with long traditions of toil—in the atmosphere and under the inspiration of the community institution. No money can return larger dividends in real accomplishment than that added to budget of our public schools; nor can any community interest more certainly strengthen the best elements in our civilization than that devoted to the improvement of our public education.

"There is a moral responsibility laid upon every citizen not only to work for the betterment, but also to contribute his quota of money and service to the strengthening and improvement of every institution devoted to community service."

MUST PAY CUSTOMS DUTY

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The province of British Columbia will have to pay customs duties to the Dominion government on importation of liquor for sale through the British Columbia liquor commission, according to a judgment handed down in the exchequer court by Sir Walter Cassels, president of the court. The judgment declared that British Columbia was importing goods for the purpose of carrying on business or trade and must therefore pay the customs duties charged by the Dominion for the privilege of importing such goods. The action of the province was dismissed. The case was a test one nad therefore costs were not assessed against either party.

Sir Walter Cassels said that the contention of counsel for British Columbia was that under the British North America Act "no lands or property belonging to Canada or any province shall be liable to taxation." The judgment says: "If the decision is in favor of the province and any province is at liberty to import goods without payment of customs duties, then the province can enter upon any trade of any description. They might import, for illustration, harvesting machinery from the United States and escaping the payment of customs duties, under sell Canadian manufacturers. The practical effect would be, if the province chose to avail themselves of this alleged right that the revenues of the Dominion requisite for the purpose of carrying on the government of the Dominion might be depleted to such an extent as to render it impossible for the Dominion to meet the heavy obligations cast upon it under the terms of the confederation act. It certainly is a startling proposition put forward for the first time since confederation in 1867."

"I think," he states, "it would startle anyone who has any knowledge of the manner in which business has been carried on in the Dominion and the provinces for the last fifty odd years if such a claim as that put forward could be maintained.

MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

Established 1869

UNPRECEDENTED PROFIT EARNING

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus Earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face value of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio

The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings

The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality

The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038 being $46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings

from $38.67 per $1000 of assets to $46.47 per $1000

There will be a meeting of the Fernie Farmers' Institute in the city council chamber on March 14 at 8 p.m. sharp. All members are requested to attend as these meetings are necessary to the future success of the Institute. Members who need seeds are requested to hand in their orders to the secretary on the night of the meeting, to give him time to place the orders with the different seed houses.

Norman F. Brand, Amercan Consul, of this city, has recently completed a book entitled "The Mexican Southland." One of the large publishing firms in whose hands the manuscript has been placed, will have this book on the market in the course of a few months. Reviewers speak in highest terms of the contents. We congratulate Mr. Brand on such a worthy production. The author will deliver a lecture on this work in the United Church on Thursday, March 9.

Mrs. Stabler, director and supervisor of nursing of the Provincial Red Cross Society, spent Monday in Fernie, and in the afternoon spoke to a large number of women in the council chamber under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. Mrs. Stabler gave a very interesting and instructive talk on behalf of a Public Health nurse, and pointed out very strongly how necessary a school nurse was and the great advantage it would be to the children to be under nursing supervision. In the evening Mr. Johnston, of the Orpheum, ran a two reel film entitled "An Equal Chance," which Mrs. Stabler brought with her, showing what can be accomplished by a Public Health Nurse among the children and in the home, especially during an epidemic of any kind. On Tuesday morning Mrs. Stabler left for Waldo, where they already have a nurse.

I.O.D.E. PRESENT ANNUAL REPORT

In reviewing the work of the Mount Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., for the past year, I submit the Annual Report and must record a year of steady progress in these times of readjustment.

There were ten regular meetings and seven Executives with an average attendance of sixteen.

During the ten months of active work, the sum of $2728.70 was deposited to the credit of the Mount Fernie Chapter.

In March, we catered for the Reconstruction Dance, and turned over $301.25 to the Reconstruction Committee.

$150 was transferred to the I. O. D.E. Savings Account for our Local War Memorial, and $125.00 was donated to the National War Memorial.

We made a donation of $150.00 to our local Boy Scouts. z

In June we had a Rummage sale, which netted us $158.50.

On July first, our Society conducted a refreshment and ice cream booth —gross receipts were turned over to the sports committee, which were $777.25—the proceeds of the day to be divided between the Reconstruction and Play-ground Trust funds.

We held a Tag day for the Canadian Red Cross, at which we realized $158.80, and also got yearly subscriptions which amounted to $222.00.

We realized $33.00 from the sale of our Knitting Machine.

In December we held a Rummage sale which netted us $71.20.

We assisted the G.W.V.A. to sell Poppies, and also joined in their service on Armistice Day

The Regent, Mrs. Trites, entertained the members of the chapter at her home to commemorate the twenty-first birthday of the Order. Papers of educational value relating to the prestige of the Order were read. Mrs. A. I. Fisher was presented with a "Life Membership" to the Provincial Chapter by a number of her friends.

The educational work of the chapter has been of a wide range but very interesting. Two outside schools were presented with Libraries, assistance given a high school student —a soldier's dependant—to continue his education, and funds raised by means of a Recital to enable a Musician to finish his course.

Canadian author's week was also observed. An "Echo" tea was given by the Regent at which a musical programme was given and a paper on Canadian authors read. The "Echo" secretary Mrs. Fisher, got one hundred and eighteen subscribers to "Echoes" the official organ of the I. O. D. E.

In conjunction with the G. W. V. A. and the school board, the chapter tok part in a splendid Patriotic session on Empire Day.

The ceremony of presenting the books and pictures to the pupils, who ranked highest in Canadian History, took place on Jan 6th, and was very interesting and instructive. The acting educational secretary, Mrs, Herchmer, gave a very impressive talk to the pupils.

The local Library was assited to the extent of $25.00.

Our chapter has a very efficient visiting committee, and also has a compasionate fund, from which we are able to help soldier's wives in sickness. Hampers were sent out at Christmas time, returned soldier's, who have been sick in the hospital have been visited. We donated $10.00 towards the G. W. V. A. Christmas tree

A Boy Scout uniform was given to one of the Scouts.

The Junior I. O. D. E. have reorganized.

On New Year's Eve the dance given by our chapter—half proceeds to go in aid of the Boy Scouts—proved not only an enjoyable function but realized the sum of $550.00.

In conclusion, may I say, that the members of the chapter have at all times given willingly of their help, and in closing the year we feel it has been a year of work and achievement.

We also wish to thank everyone who has helped to make the year a successful one, especially Mr. A. J. Moffatt, who kindly audits our books, and also the "Press," which brings our work before the public.

Regent—Mrs. A. B. Trites.
1st Vice-Regent—Mrs. J.R. Wallace.
2nd Vice-Regent—Mrs. E. K. Stewart.
Secretary—Mrs. Kastner.
Educational Sec.—Mrs. Herchmer.
Echoes Sec.—Mrs. A. I. Fisher
Treasurer—Mrs. S. Graham.
Standard Bearer—Miss O. Brown.
Councillors: Mesdames Gates, Digby, Duthie, Beck, Bonnell, Moffatt, H. F. McLean, Workman, Dudley and Miss Hogan.

ORCHESTRA INSTRUMENTS INSURED FOR $50,000

Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra, who nightly cause diners at the Palais Royal restaurant in New York to desert their dinners and devote joyous hours to the lure of the frivolous fox trot, probably boasts the finest collection of musical instruments in existence.

The Whitmean aggregation which makes folks, young and old, stand up and dance, play on instruments which are either plated with gold or decorated with precious metal.

Recently, Mr. Whiteman decided to have the lot insured for a sum commensurate with the great value and consequently a policy for $50,000 was taken out.

CERTAIN RICH MEN

The moneymaking instinct has seemed to us a special gift like moving the ears, and not imediately connected with the intellectual faculties. Having reflected lately on the phenomenon we say now that it is rather a moral quality. We are tempted to say that the rich men are the best men; and it is no mere personal vanity that prompts the assertion.

We have been from youth up a reader of the biographical and autobiographical advertisements of men who have greatly flourished, and we have found them on the whole jejune and lacking in practical information. The average modest millionaire invariably acquires the habit of ascribing his prosperity to a dilligent study of the Scriptures. This study was inculcated by his mother who was left a widow when he was a mere lad, his contemporaries being mere urchins. His father had passed away at the time he earned his first dollar. (It seems to be with the greatest difficulty that one becomes a millionaire if one has a father. A decent prosperous father, who can and does give his son an education is a veritable millstone round the future millionaire's neck.) Well, he earns his first dollar, and gives 90c. to his mother and 10c. to the local conventicle, is industrious, saving, virtuous, and presently finds himself a millionaire. How time flies!

Thus the millionaire of the newspaper acquires his wealth. The only millionaire who ever made what seemed to us a profound remark on the amassing of a fortune was James J. Hill, who said that one should ask himself the question: "Can I save?" and if he had to say No, then he would never be rich. But like most other profound remarks, there is more in this than lies on the surface. If you can put a dime or a dollar or a ten dollar bill in the bank every week it does not follow that you will eventually become rich. In fact it is a safe prediction that most of the people in Canada who have savings accounts will never be rich.

Hill meant something more. He meant that a man who with money enough in his pocket would buy a dollar seat in the theatre and hear imperfectly and see vaguely when he thought a dollar enough; who could drop a dime after the sermon instead of a quarter when he thought a dime adequate; who could stay away from a hockey match, that he wanted to see because the speculators had the tickets; who could stop drinking when they cut out the beer chasers; who would lay up his car when the price of gasoline soard—in short, the man who had an idea of what things were worth, and who would in no circumstances pay a cent more—the Man who Can Do Without may become rich.

We have the great advantage of knowing intimately two or three rich men, and the chief thing they have in common is a determination—nay, an instinct—to get value for their money. They are not self-indulgent, though nobody lives who is more indulgent to friends. They are just that way. They would as soon spend three dollars for something they believed to be worth two dollars as they would light a cigarette with a dollar bill—and two of them do not smoke cigarettes.

The fact that for them there no longer exists a necessity of being cautious with money does not enter into their calculations. One might as well suggest carelessness in this respect to them as tell a Methodist minister who has spent forty faithful years in the pulpit that he can ease off now, and take a ticket to Havana and step out a little. One might as well say, "Well, you have read the Christian Guardian for fifty years; better let me send you Racing Form awhile.

What deserves respect in men who have made a fortune is not their money; it is their outstanding ability, though this is often associated with the money-making gift; it is their self mastery. Rich men are their own bosses in more ways than one. They are not impelled and commanded by their own habits any more than they are the slaves of the wills of others. Not all men who obtain self mastery becomes rich, although any man who does conquer himself and directs his energies to the acquiring of wealth can become rich. Sometimes in the process of becoming captains of their soul they lose the desire for riches. Of the two greatest men we ever knew, if by greatness one means power of intellect and nobility of spirit and a certain humbleness before God, one died after more than forty years of unremitting toil, mental and physical, leaving an estate of perhaps $2 000. Though a member of a learned profession, we doubt if he ever earned $2,500 in a single year. The other is on a salary which represents perhaps ten per cent. of what he earns.

But if we think not of the greatest two, but of the greatest half dozen men whom we know well, four of them are rich, and three of them are as remarkable for generosity as for their money-getting powers. Only one of them knows he is as able as he is. All have the keenest sense of humor. Only one is a tee-totaler, and he has the tenderest heart in the world. We might proceed further, but shall desist ,regretting, for the sake of any woman readers, that we must end on a note of sorrow and disappointment. All these rich men are thououghly and adequately married. And they never forget it!

THE DEPARTING MENNONITES.

The first party of Mennonites from Manitoba and Saskatchewan is starting for Mexico this month, and it is said that some thousands are to follow. They have sold their lands at a good price and go south well fortified financially. These people, or their ancestors ,came from Europe to Canada to escape oppression and to obtain freedom of worship, peace and security. They are leaving Canada because the provincial governments have required them to maintain schools and to have their children taught the rudiments of an English education. In the Province of Chihuahua they look for peace, security and ignorance.

No doubt they will find among the native races in Mexico many people as ignorant as they themselves desire their children to be. They may not be required to learn the language of the country and will remain a German-speaking colony. But the history of Mexico for the last twenty years does not suggest that in Chihuahua the Mennonites will find greater peace or more perfect security than they enjoyed on the Canadian prairies. The fact that they have considerable possessions which they do not propose to defend may be quite interesting to some of the predatary or revolutionary bands occassionally seen in various parts of Mexico. If it should happen, after a few years, that our late citizens, instructed by experience out of school, desire to return to Canada, they will come on terms somewhat different from the old understanding.

LADIES WIN SENIORS LOSE

About 200 Fernie fans took advantage of the special train to Blairmore on Wednesday night, in connection with the hockey games at that place between the Fernie Swastikas and Calgary Regents, and between the Fernie and Blairmore seniors. The train left Fernie about 5 o'clock, and picking up fans from Natal, Michel, Crow's Nest and Coleman, was soon taxed to capacity. Returning about 4 a.m. the fans plodded homeward, weary from a night full of excitement but voting the affair one of the best yet.

The ladies took the ice first, getting away about 8 o'clock. The game was a playoff between the two teams, each having won when they met on the two previous occasions.

Right from the drop of the puck the Swastikas carried the battle into the Regents' territory with such persistency that before three minutes of play had elapsed, Miss Fenwick had bulged the net with the only tally of the game for Fernie. The game was fairly even, the Swastikas trying to duplicate their feat in Calgary, pressed consistenly for the first two periods but always found the Regents' defence was on the job. Fernie, after their goal lead, went on the defensive, and try as they might the Regents were always turned back. Fernie had the best of the argument in the opening stages, but the Regents showed up to better advantage towards the close. Both goalies were on the job and outside of the one goal scored, turned many shots aside. The game was fairly clean. Our old townsman, Walter Scott, handled the bell.

Immediately after the ladies game the exhibition game between Fernie and Blairmore was staged. The game provided the fans with some good clean hockey for 60 minutes, Blairmore scoring in the last few minutes of the game after the score had been tied, and carried off the honors 4 to 3.

Blairmore started off by securing one in the first period, when after the goal had been rushed the puck went up over the goal tenders head and from the fans point of view was knocked down out of the air and looked as if either thrown or kicked in. Quite an argument took place and eventually the referee allowed the goal. The period ended without further score but not for the want of trying, as both goalies were called upon numerous times to save.

In the second Blairmore secured two more and by their play looked as if they were going to apply the whitewash to Fernie. This period ended with Blairmore having a lead 3-0. Towards the end of the third period Fernie got their first goal, causing such hilarity among the Fernie fans as to prompt them to get on the ice for more room to let out their pent up volume of noise, held in store for this occcasion. Soon after Fernie scored their second, but when they scored their third, tieing the score, the crowd went wild, only to see Blairmore notch another before the gong and carry off the honors.

The curlers also took advantage of the trip and after the game played the Blairmore curlers a return match. While this was going on the younger set indulged in dancing until train time.

We regret that we have not the line up of the Calgary and Blairmore teams and consequently have to omit Fernie as well.

Blairmore is expected to play Fernie a return game next Wednesday afternoon. The game will start at 5 o'clock sharp to allow the miners to get there at the start.

On Monday night the replay game between the Coal Co. and the Bluebirds will be staged. This game starts at 7 o'clock sharp and full playing time will be used.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST NARCOTIC DRUGS

Because of the publicity which is being given to the campaign against the sale and use of narcotic drugs in Vancouver, some of the drug peddlers are taking to cover in the small towns and rural parts of the province, where they are continuing their nefarious trade. Because of this province-wide mortal and health problem, the provincial division of the Canadian Red Cross is sending this warning to be published in every newspaper in the province in order that not only the officials but all citizens, especially teachers and parents, should be on the alert against the insidious traffic in drugs.

Dance halls need special watching.

Watch the stranger in town.

Close chaperonage of girls is the greatest safeguard, and parents should insist on this.

The habit begins by the snuffing of cocaine, which causes a feeling of exhilaration. After three or four doeses the user cannot sleep and must then resort to morphine.

The German chancellor proposes to "link up" the national industries. He might commence with the sausage factories.

Farmers may have to enlarge their flivver garages to make room for tractors. Henry Ford plans to place a tractor on every farm.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gates wish to express their heartfelt thanks to their friends for floral gifts, services and kind expressions of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement of their daughter Margaret.

CONDITIONS IN ENGLAND

W. R. Wilson, President and General Manager of the C.N.P. Coal Co., returned on Wednesday from a two months' visit in England. In an interview with a Free Press reporter, Mr. Wilson said:

"In passing through England, one may clearly observe that there is but faint signs of a general revival of trade. From well informed people that one encounters, one hears expressions and views freely uttered that impress one with the fact that there are still many uncertain factors in British industries that are retarding the trade outlook. In the iron and steel industries, which are two of the chief basic industries of the country, there appears to be but slow signs of improvement. The general engineering trade also continues to be in a very depressed condition. This applies to nearly all forms of heavy and agricultural machinery. The cutlery trade around the Sheffield district especially has been, and still is, in a very depressed condition through the newly forced German competition largely.

"It was exceedingly interesting to note that in the different sections of England which I visited, that the English workmen generally have a clear and concise grasp of their country's business condition, and the various business influences of other countries that are affecting them at this time. They, therefore, readily express a desire to assist in every possible way to restore the industries they are employed in to their former higher productive capacities. This expressed desire of the various sections and classes of the British workmen is helping to make everybody hopeful that a general revival in business will soon take place.

"Raw material prices generally continue to fall with wage reductions in the various industries, making the lower selling prices in both crude materials and manufactured goods possible, thereby enabling British makers to compete more effectively with their foreign rivals, who are working and producing goods under intense forms of forced production created by the lingering exigencies of the late war.

"The coal trade in England is in a very depressed state in many districts, the general production at this time only being about 60 per cent of the capacity of the normal production, which is due to the curtailed requirements of nearly all lines of manufacture, reduced exports and reduced coal requirements for railroad transportation.

"The tin mines in Cornwall are nearly all closed down through forced competition of other new tin producing countries, which is proving to be a very serious matter for the thousands of good families who live in that section of the country, for while visiting that district I saw numbers of men who are forced to live on the charity of their country and friends, which is a mode of life which I am sure these deserving men dislike to accept, for they are longing for the time to come when the prospects in life will appear to be more inspiring for them.

"While there is in good old England all that is beautiful and inspiring to look upon, the crowded, intensely peopled cities make the impression upon the visitor's mind that the real solution for one of England's greatest problems will never be found until some ten or fifteen million of her good people are encouraged and assisted to settle and make new homes in the colonies that offer such people desirable encouragement to change their place of residence."

EASTERN COAL MINERS AGREED TO REDUCTION

The coal miners of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick under the jurisdiction of the the U. M. W. of A., having endorsed a new wage agreement calling for a cut of 25 per cent in what is known as the Montreal scale, it seems unreasonable for the coal miners of District 18 to ask for an increase.

FIRE AT MICHEL

Michel, March 8.—At 2 a.m. on Wednesday, what is known as the Hotel Annex, a large rooming house of 18 rooms, caught fire in the kitchen end. No wind was blowing fortunately, and when the water was turend on the flames were soon under control. The roomers had to make a quick exit, but have not lost very much. The kitchen and outbuildings are a complete loss.

Federal Ministers Address Electors

On Tuesday evening last a most successful meeting of the Fernie citizens was held in the interests of Hon. Dr. King, seeking the endorsation of the electorate of East Kootenay of his recent appointment as British Columbia's representative in the federal cabinet, as holder of the portfolio of minister of public works. There were also present on this occasion Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, who came direct from Ottawa to East Kootenay, and Hon. Mrs. Ralph Smith, of Vancouver, exmember of the provincial cabinet.

A. I. Fisher, K.C., acted as chairman, and upon request by some member of the audience that Thomas Uphill be permitted to occupy a seat upon the stage, readily gave consent and also invited anyone who might desire to speak in the interests of the opposing candidate, to which Mr. Bronsdon responded in person. A feature very noticeable for a political gathering in Fernie, was the good natured spirit evidenced by the audience and the total lack of ruthless antagonism sometimes displayed on occasions of this kind here. Undoubtedly Mr. Bronsdon had some supporters present but they were very much in the minority as the demonstrations marking the various declarations of Dr. King and his colleagues in advancing the conclusive reasons for supporting the minister in this campaign, indicated complete accord.

Mr. Bronsdon spoke very briefly and confined himself to vicious attacks upon the Doctor, the Minister of Labor, Hon. Mrs. Ralph Smith, and all and sundry except those holding views limited to his own selfish personal desires. He appealed to the labor men to stand as a body and elect him as one of their own rank, but thoughtlessly threatened any of those, particularly the coal miners, who, if they dared to withdraw their support from him, said he hoped would have their wages cut to fifty cents a. day. Mr. Uphill appeared annoyed when the chairman closed the meeting without giving him an opportunity to relate his activities in the legislature at Victoria.

Mrs. Ralph Smith paid high tribute to the ability of the Hon. Dr. King, whom she said she had had the opportunity to observe during the past five or six years on the floor of the hause at Vctoria. She concluded by urging Dr. King's election for the essential reasons: (1) The people of East Kootenay are generous enough to say to the people of Canada, we have a man in our constituency called upon to fill this responsibility and we are proud of him. (2) It is not a party question but it is a business proposition.

HON. JAMES MURDOCK
Minister of Labour

-o-

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I am going to start in at the tail end of my address for the reason that this afternoon I saw posted in writing on a board a couple of questions that Murdock was to be asked tonight, and I understood that it was insolently suggested Murdock should be asked these questions.

Now, in the first place the audience I presume knows I am holding the portfolio of Minister of Labour in the federal cabinet at the present time. For 45 years I have lived in this Canada of ours; I was freight brakeman for eleven years and eight months, then freight conductor for a number of years. I have represented the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, International organization, a sister and associated organization of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Enginemen, to which I understand the opponent of Dr. King belongs to; I have represented that organization for sixteen years. I was asked to come into the cabinet of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and I regard it an honor to so undertake to represent the interests of the laboring man of Canada, whose pulse I think I have had my finger on and have been closely in touch with for a good many years. More than thirty years I have known something about the question of what organized labor wanted; what organized labor was justly and properly entitled to in the Dominion of Canada and I know that organized labor was not fairly and consistently represented or was having information given to them that was unfair and inconsiderate of their interests, and so, as I said a moment ago I am going to start as it were at the tail-end of my discourse tonight by answering the questions it was insisted I should be asked; the first question was: (1) Ask Murdock what salary he gets?

As Minister of Labour the answer is—Murdock gets a salary of $10,000 as a minister of the Crown, representing, I hope, what will be regarded one of the most important portfolios in the cabinet of this government. I don't know whether the individual who wanted to have me asked the question undertook to assume to suggest that I should scab on the job or work for less than some other minister. (Laughter and Applause) If so, take it from Jim Murdock, I decline to work for a cheap salary. (Applause)

The next question that Jim Murdock was to be asked tonight. "Ask Murodck what he is doing here in East Kootenay with the great unemployment question so vital to the laboring men of Canada from coast to coast at the present time, and why is he not on his job at Ottawa?" A very proper question and a question I am glad indeed to answer.

It is true in Canada today for reasons that should not have been, we have some 200,000 out of employment. We have an unemployment situation such as I do not think ever existed in this Canada of ours since we became a nation under the bonds of confederation and it is also true that the Government, which was the mandate of the people of this Canada of ours on December 6th last, were given authority by the votes of the people to undertake to form a government and do for the people, labor, business interests and other things for the proper government of the country, should do its work. In the comparatively short time only a little more than two months since December 29th when it was sworn in, every means has been taken by this government and by the department of which I have the honor to be minister to do what it appears can be consistently done and everything that can be done consistently to uphold the hands of the municipalities and provinces in relieving conditions of unemployment in assisting to secure work for the unemployed. Where work cannot be secured to pay, they have assisted in paying for relief to alleviate the distressing conditions arising from unemployment.

I am in East Kootenay and have been for the last two or three days because of a very peculiar situation as it appeared to me. Notwithstanding that on December 6th last, the votes of Canadian citizenship from the blue waters of the Atlantic ocean to the blue waters of the Pacific ocean indicated the people of Canada were in favor of a certain Government of which I happen to be a member, taking hold of the reigns of power, nothwithstanding the appointment of a cabinet to deal with the affairs of Canada, in which all the cabinet posts as a result of the mandate of Canadian citizenship have to have members, those members of the cabinet being required to govern Canada for well or ill as the future may determine; all of them, my friends have been by the citizens of the various constituencies of Quebec, Ontario and other Provinces, returned by acclamation with one exception, and we find in British Columbia where the Hon. Dr. King had been chosen as a member of that government; we found while he had been assigned to a post in that cabinet in order to accept in accordance with the laws of the land whether proper or not you can judge as well as I, he had in accordance with the laws of our land to return to the people for endorsation, and we find that in his particular case—I learned at Ottawa one week ago tonight while at a meeting of the cabinet council of Canada, that Hon. Dr. King was to have opposition, and that that opposition was to be in the person of a progressive-soldier-labor candidate.

I question not the right of any individual who aspires to secure the franchise of his fellow men, but when I am asked the question what I am doing in East Kootenay her at the present time here is the answer. I am here to undertake to show to the laboring men of East Kootenay that they are being advised against their best interests when anyone undertakes in the name of labor to advise them that they should oppose and vote against the British Columbia representative of this government in the cabinet at Ottawa. That is the reason I am here and I think I would be disregarding entirely the responsibilities that have come to me as minister of the Crown—as Minister of Labour, if I had failed to come to British Columbia to say as best I could to the laboring man that someone is advising them against their best interests. If he undertakes to convince them that they should elect somebody else to represent East Kootenay; somebody to sit on the side-lines at Ottawa instead of sitting in the cabinet of the nation, I don't think that advice is in their interests. You are entitled to your own judgment. I will not question your right to exercise your constitutional judgment, but I would have regarded myself as derlict in my duty had I failed as the representative of labor in the cabinet to come here to East Kootenay and give you my views on the subject. To me the interests of the laboring men of British Columbia are just as dear and will be conserved to the best of my ability equally with the interests of the laboring men in any other province of the Dominion of Canada, and when I find the laboring men of British Columbia being improperly advised; being given information that is on false foundation, in my judgment, I'll undertake to look you in the eye and at least give my version of the true facts of the situation as they appear to me. (Loud Applause)

To me it appears that somebody surely is considering this situation in disregard of the rights of a representative of labor and the laboring men of East Kootenay and British Columbia. What, I ask you, has any laboring man in British Columbia or East Kootenay to gain by undertaking to say to Hon. Dr. King, we will have none of you, or we will not have any representative in the cabinet at Ottawa? Never mind, they might say, never mind the voice of the people on the 6th of December last did determine there was going to be a change of Government or in the cabinet of that government British Columbia wants no minister; East Kootenay does not want a representative in the cabinet we are satisfied to take our chances with somebody sitting on the side-lines and watch the procession go by.

I don't believe the laboring men of East Kootenay can be foiled by any such ill-advice and that is the reason that I am in East Kootenay and in British Columbia today and will remain for the next week at least.

A Voice: "Stay till after April 1."

Mr. Murdock: "Well, I might come back, how will that do? I might come

THE LABOR MEETING

The Progressive candidate held his first meeting in Fernie on Thursday evening, the attendance being rather light. Thos. Uphill, M. P. P. for Fernie riding, accepted the chairmanship and spoke at great length, dealing largely with his own record in the provincial house. In introducing Mr. Bronsdon he referred to him as a fellow worker injured in the service of the master and who required compensation. Mr. Bronsdon characterized the widespread demands from numerous quarters in East Kootenay that the people should have permitted Hon. Dr. King to secure this seat by acclamation, as a concerted effort to deny the workers the right to exercise their franchise. He took occasion to apologize for having made the remark on the public platform here on Tuesday night that if the miners did not support him he hoped they would reduce their wages to fifty cents a day, which he said was made in the heat of excitement and meant to convey that if he was rejected here that the government should be held responsible for such a wage reduction.

Hon. Dr. King addressed a meeting of lumber workers at Wycliffe Thursday evening, while Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, is similarly engaged at Invermere. Mr. Murdock will appear at Golden on Friday and Field on Saturday, from whence he will return to Ottawa. Dr. King will hold three more meetings, namely at Elko, Waldo and Fort Steele, where he will close his speaking tour Saturday evening.

back and we will have a celebration.

I find a lot of peculiar situations understand early when arriving in in this bye-election. I was given to this district on Monday last that politics were taboo in this campaign. It is pretty hard to carry on a political campaign without talking politics isn't it? But it can be done at that. It can be done and I agree fully with the thought on this particular occasion. Politics may be very properly considered as taboo. This is a pure and simple business propostition. We can, however, I am sure without any suggestion of disrespect to the individual opinions of anyone here, we can discuss some important questions that we should be at right now.

We have a government at Ottawa appointed and taking office on the 29th of December last. Yesterday by the way we were charged, although only taking office on December 29th, we were charged with piling up a deficit in the Canadian National Railway last year of Seventy million dollars. That is going some, and in a way that was alright because I suppose we will be expected to devise ways and means in order to avoid repetition in the present year and years to come. We can talk tonight on some of the important things which on December 6th last received the mandate of the people of Canada to govern Canada and which that Government should now be engaged in handling. The Government today as I say has been in charge from December the 29th is now in office. Dr. King and the speaker are for the time being engaged in a very pleasant conflict in East Kootenay British Columbia for the purpose of ascertaining whether this wonderful province of British Columbia, whether this constituency of East Kootenay is going to be left on the side-lines for the next few years or is going to be given every day contact and representation in the councils of the nation; in the councils of Canada. That is the issue before us if only a week ago yesterday Doctor King had been returned by acclamation unquestionably he and I would today be back in Ottawa participating in the function of the opening of Parliament and also sure of sitting at the council table with the other members of the cabinet undertaking to do daily what should be done with the very many important questions that must for a long time confront us. We are unable to be there but we have those questions to deal with when we can get to the point of dealing with them.

What are these questions that are to be dealt with? We can without regard to political leanings, without thought whether Conservative, Liberal, Progressive, Independent Labour or whatnot, we can decide this, that in Canada today there are a number of vast and all important questions that the government in power should deal with, and that we will expect them to deal with.. We will expect them to deal with and you will have the right to expect them to deal with.

Among those questions, shall I say one of the first and most important questions, before this new government, is the Railway situation in Canada. Canada today has some twenty-two thousand miles of Government owned or controlled railways that piled up large deficits, it has been said, and I refer to this without any reflection or disparagement to our predecessors and only refer to it for the purpose of stating a fact. These railways piled up last year a deficit of over seventy million dollars. The citizens of Canada out of taxes have got to make good that deficit. The people expect and they have the right to expect that if possible never again will they be assessed or charged with the responsibility of making good a deficit of that kind, or a larger or a smaller deficit. Something has got to be done if it is possible to do and that is to so operate the twenty-two thousand miles of railroad that they will be regarded as a tangible asset to the people of Canada rather than a millstone around the necks of Canadian citizens. That is ope of the great and important questions that this government has to deal with and should deal with promptly. You may ask some of you, are the citizens of British Columbia particularly interested in that. Let me advise you that within the last three weeks a deputation from British Columbia representative of, I think, some of the most important business interests of British Columbia, came to Ottawa for the purpose of seeing the Prime Minister and other members of the cabinet to place before them, and I don't think I can express it more forcibly, by using the statement made by one of the members of that deputation —"Unless some change was made in the railway policy and in the railway situation in Canada as it effects British Columbia, the industrial life of British Columbia would be practically snuffed out." It was intimated to the cabinet ministers in Ottawa that the present railway situation was stifling the life out of the Province of British Columbia and strong representations were made, it seemed to me with great force and with considerable substance to justify these statements. Strong representations were made that material changes in the past policies of the railways had to be made in order to let British Columbia grow and prosper as she has a right to grow and prosper. My personal judgment is that the plan of British Columbia in regard to a business policy for the railways of Canada is stronger than the claim of any other province in the Dominion and those representations have already been made to the Government at Ottawa and so I claim that is one of the important questions that you are interested in today. You are in East Kootenay and you are citizens of British Columbia and I will ask you now to leave aside for one moment your enthusiasm for a particular individual and a particular party and just as a business proposition decide who is most competent, who is most likely to give you and give the business interests some redress, some assitance in regard to the great railway question — would Dr. King or Mr. Tom Bronsdon, as the Progressive Soldier Labour representative. I am sure you will be fair with yourselves if you think it over quietly.

Now there are other important questions, one is the returned soldier question; an all important question in Canada still. I speak at the moment with no though or disparagement or criticism as to the action that has heretofore been taken in dealing with the returned soldier question. We will leave the discussion of the actual facts in connection with that matter to be argued elsewhere. I do, however, hold this view and I am sustained in holding this view from the fact that the returned soldiers from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans have made claims of various kinds indicating that returned soldiers in many hundreds, aye in thousands of cases, have not been fairly dealt with. Have not been dealt with in the broad spirit of generous liberality which we Canadian citizens promised in 1915, 1916 and 1917 when they were going Overseas. At that time nothing was too good for us to promise to them. We asured them that when they returned they would be taken care of. We promised with full open heart, patriotically and loyally pleased with their attitude and actions in volunteering for service in going Overseas to fight our battles. The question now is whether we have in full measures done the things in the fullness of heart we promised to do during the early years of the war.

It is said by many returned soldiers we have not done so. I was in one of the large cities of our Dominion not long since, during the month of January, on Sunday morning, I saw seventy-five returned soldiers, single men, lined up alongside the cold side of a building, in the bleak wind of winter waiting for a door to open and a bugle to blow to call them to get a bowl of soup, a slice of bread, a cup of tea. They were only seventy-five of five hundred and twenty-nine single men waiting their turn to get a hand-out of the kind. Their fellows, over seven hundred married men with homes, I don't know what kind of homes, I fear in many cases, not the kind of homes we would wish for them. Their fellows over seven hundred in the same city being given rations for three or four days for themselves and families, the married men. That condition should not exost. We never contemplated or dreamed for one moment when with generous enthusiasm and patriotic loyalty to the flag we promised anything and everything in 1915, 1916 and 1917. We never dreamed for one moment that in the winter of 1921-22 any such conditions would exist in Canada for over twelve hundred returned men in one city.

That situation has got to be changed and has got to be taken into consideration when a single thing remains for us to do and it has got to be taken into consideration until we have done everything in a full measure or that can be consistently done to fulfill our promise to the returned men. I don't know what form it may take, but I do know it is a matter that this government has got to grapple with. I do know that the Prime Minister on several platforms during the campaign which occured the latter part of last year, intimated that one of the first actions of the government, if his party were returned to power, would be to see that a committee of the house were appointed to give full and thorough investigation to the returned soldier question. Insofar as I am concerned I will regard it as one of the most important duties that there is to be done. I am talking about twelve hundred men in one city who haven't got any work and who are being maintained and fed by charity and other help. That condition has got to be changed. There are thousands throughout the Dominion of Canada, but I am glad to find it is a fact that possibly here in the interior of British Columbia there is less unemployment among the returned soldiers or other citizens than anywhere throughout the length and breadth of Canada.

Now then one other important question, and a very important question for the government to deal with is the question of unemployment. This government, as I say, took office on the 29th of December; I assumed at that time the duties of Minister of Labor. I found, according to the records of the Department, there were over 200,000 men in the Dominion of Canada out of employment, a condition which should not exist. Someone no doubt will suggest that Canada in that respect is not any worse off than many other countries who were our Allies in the Great War, and even although I were to admit that that statement is correct, I have got to say in the next breath that Canada should be busy settling and keeping her house in order, and Canada with its wonderful resources of the farm, mine, forest and water should not permit it to be said that 200,000 men able, willing and ready to work are unable to secure employment at wage rates which will satisfactorily support and maintain themselves and their families in comfort. That is one question that this government has got to deal with and that is one of the important things which I shall regard as always before me as Minister of Labor. That is one of the questions so long as I remain Minister of Labor in the present government. I should like to have the first hand advice and assistance of the Hon. Dr. King as at least representing and speaking the viewpoint of the laboring man of British Columbia and other citizens in British Columbia. It would be an unfortunate and distasteful situation indeed, because as I have touched upon the great railway question, the great question of doing full justice to the returned soldier, and the great question of dealing with the unemployment situation as it affects Canadian citizenship, if those matters had to be dealt with by Tom Bronsdon only sitting on the side-lines giving advice and voice when the house was in session and after possibly the whole matter had been threshed out in caucus by the government, and a general policy been determined upon it would be an unfortunate thing indeed for the people of East Kootenay and the citizens of British Columbia if they are compelled—if they are compelled as they are not—to accept the kind of representation now proposed for them by Tom Bronsdon and his associates, who ask your support and leave Dr. King at home leaving British Columbia and East Kootenay without any representation in the federal government.

As a business proposition and without any regard to political affiliations whatsoever, you are not going to consider any such question. You are not going to accept any such viewpoint; you are not going to take that advice. The laboring men in this hall or this district are not going to be advised against their own best interests, no matter how enthusiastic they may be now or may have been in years gone by, to support a labor candidate. They are not going to be carried away by any thought of this kind when to do so would be against their every day interests.

Now then, I just want to speak a moment if I may, as to the consistency of some laboring men undertaking to support, as I know in the years gone by some of them have undertaken to support loyally, first, last and all the time a labor candidate. I do not take my hat off to any man in this audience, in this province, when it comes to discussing the representation of labor. I have been in the business of representing labor for enough years, I think, to qualify and I think I have got a diploma to justify me holding the view that I know something about representing the aims, ambitions and contentions of labor. I have taken the post and I want to repeat to you for what it may be worth to you—Labor has, I know, and I have heard in every province of the Dominion of Canada and every state in the union, has contended in the hall, at the fireside, in the lodge room, from the house tops, from the tops of cars and elsewhere, against the unfair representation that big business had in the councils of the nations. They have contended that it was unfair and inconsistent for a special interest to have its own special representative in parliament and I have been with them and I am with them on that claim still and will always be. (Applause). But I hold the view: "Consistency thou art a jewel," and for the life of me I have never been able to see why I, as minister of labor, should undertake to hold a special diploma representing labor only. Whence comes my constitutional right to do any such thing? When was it contemplated that I, as a member of parliament for the county of Kent, representing the business and industrial interests in towns like Chatham Wallaceburg, Blenheim and Dresden or the great farming communities of the banner province of Ontario, whence comes my right because I have always been engaged in the matter of representing labor, that I am going to first, last and all the time have no other thought only for the representation of labor, and without regard for the rights of anyone else? I would not be fair to do any such thing. Let me say, my friends, labor has too often overstepped the mark and has been too individually selfish itself when it proposes to give power to a special representative just for the special purpose of representing, and only representing the interests of labor. That is what labor has clamored against in the ages gone by and let me suggest this: In the ranks of labor there are men, as there should be men, as there will be men, as there must be men; men big enough to represent all and every interest fairly, with due regard for the rights of all concerned, but it is unfair to do, as some suggest—as I have heard suggested since coming into this constituency—represent labor and forget everybody else. I say no! Where would labor be today? Let's be honest with ourselves; if that had been adopted, where would be the development of labor if only they too often benefit had that been the case in years gone by? I do honestly look forward to the ray when we will have in the councils of the nation, men who will understand fully, as many of them have been coming to understand in the years gone by; to understand fully the aims, ambitions, contentions and rights of labor, but not with utter disregard for the rights of other Canadian citizens.

I say one reason why I am here today in East Kootenay—away from Parliament Hill where I am supposed to be, it is said; away from the duties of the Department of Labor — one reason that I am here is because of the firm conviction and belief that Hon. Dr. King, with his long connection with laboring men, and in this constituency, does know something, and does sympathize fully with the aims, ambitions and contentions of labor, and I don't want to see labor ill-advised, improperly led, misrepresented. I hope on Tuesday next the citizens of Fernie, as elsewhere in East Kootenay, will turn out in one accord to the polls and in no uncertain terms make it unanimous for the Hon. Dr. King. I thank you. (Loud and prolonged applause).

Now then, to come to a conclusion, let's see, you have here in this Kootenay District some local troubles of your own, or I have been given to understand that you are liable to have some local troubles of your own within the near future. I have been asked what I am going to do about it and my answer in advance is this: I am going to undertake to do the thing promptly that appears to be fair and consistent and reasonably conserve the proper rights of all the citizens of the country, and it will be time enough for me, as Minister of Labor, to declare myself upon local differences of understanding when I find the citizens of this country, this constituency, this province, either on one side of the controversy or the other, recognize the fact that there is a law in Canada which was intended to be utilized by some one when it was possible, or it appeared imminent that a situation that some referred to, was likely to take place, and so I am not going to say, my friends, to the unfair disadvantage of anyone, what will be done under certain contingencies. I have been expecting to hear some citizen on either side or the other, would recall the fact that there is a law on the statute books of Canada which should be given some consideration in dealing with this matter. And so I can only say that I am glad to be able to secure the first-hand information that I have secured since I reached Calgary on Sunday night, in connection with the pending troubles that may occur in East Kootenay and elsewhere within the future. I hope some means may be taken promptly by those who should take proper steps to prevent inconsiderate and improper interference with the business prosperity of British Columbia or Canada; to prevent interference with the comfort and happiness of the workers of British Columbia. I hope no one will and I am quite sure no one who knows me will question where my sympathies have been and will be, but laboring men, please do not forget that I am in the position of a minister of the Crown at the present time.

Dr. King, for the first time since he has been advanced to cabinet rank from a member of the cabinet council of this province to that of federal minister of the Crown, appeared before a Fernie audience. He told those present that he was back here in his home constituency because the Prime Minister of Canada, in casting about selecting men from the different provinces to assume posts in the cabinet, had selected him. The Prime Minister had extended to the province of British Columbia a major portfolio, and in doing so had shown that he intended to give this province fair and just representation in the highest council of the nation. This also applied to the other western provinces; even in Alberta, where the government party failed at the last general elections on Dec. 6th last, to secure a single seat, these people were not being passed up and denied the privilege of having representatives in the cabinet, but Hon. James Stewart, ex-premier of Alberta, had been given a portfolio in the Dominion cabinet. Dr. King said he had similarly been asked to accept the post of minister of public works. That honor, he said was a highly cherished one with himself, but in order that he might have his appointment confirmed in accordance with the laws of our country, he must be elected formally to a seat in parliament as a minister of the Crown.

In that capacity he was back here in East Kootenay. The question had been asked, "Why should King come to East Kootenay?" "Where should King go but to East Kootenay?" said Dr. King, which remark was greeted with a great wave of applause. The doctor went on to say it was here he belonged, because he had been one of East Kootenay's every own people for the past 25 years, since he first came into the district. He stated he had received offers from other places and people tendering him a seat by acclamation, but he said: "I would rather contest an election in East Kootenay than have an acclamation anywhere else.

Dr. King said that on this occasion he would not talk political issues, although there were numerous provincial matters which could be discussed in their relation to the federal government, and as they affect the department of public works, over which he had the honor to preside as minister, as well as the department of the interior, the department of mines and others. It must be remembered, however, that in the role of federal minister of public works, he would not be as intimately in touch with the people of East Kootenay as had been the case while he held that provincial portfolio, nevertheless, the experience gained by him during the past five or six years had given him unlimited knowledge pertaining to the conditions existing throughout not only East Kootenay, but every nook and corner in the province of British Columbia. He was thoroughly familiar with the desires and needs of the people and when at Ottawa he would undertake to acquaint the heads of every federal department and members of the government as to the actual conditions and requirements so that they could be more fully appreciated and sympathetically dealt with by the government at Ottawa. And having presented these matters for their consideration, Dr. King said he would leave it entirely with the people of Fernie to decide whether or not he was justified and entitled to come to them and ask them for endorsement on the 14th day of this month, and by their sanction alone permit him to be confirmed and enter upon his new official duties of state, which have already been too long delayed.

It was being suggested by his opponent, said the doctor, that he was on easterner and therefore cannot be true to the west. This was characteristic of Mr. Bronsdon, as the audience had just heard tonight, that he was taking a lot of time talking about picayuish things; and also his utter disregard for the veracity of his statements. "Many of you came into the country in the days of 25 years ago, before there was any railroad. There was a trail and I well remember the log cabin bulit up here and the work going on opening and developing the great mine, so I think, my friends, Dr. King had a just right to lay claim that he is one of you people and having resided for a long time in your midst, I know you well and that I truly have your best interests at heart." "But surely the people of Fernie and the people of East Kootenay have a wider viewpoint than that their representative when a member of the federal cabinet must serve none but themselves." It was an insult to them that the opposing candidate should expect them to sanction any such selfish motive. As minister of public works, Dr. King said, while having at heart at all times the promotion and advancement of things beneficial to his constituents, nevertheless the citizens of British Columbia, of Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and all the eastern provinces had also to be considered and he would serve their interests just as conscientiously as those of his own friends.

However, considering the aspect from a more local aspect, there was the question of improvements to the harbors of the Pacific and the navigable waters in this province. Who could gainsay that the people of East Kootenay were not just as much interested in this matter as were the people of Alberta and Saskatchewan? The improvement of these faicilities gave Canada a better opportunity to enter upon the world's commerce and would not each and every community within the whole of the Dominion of Canada correspondingly reap benefit. He would have, as minister of public works, control over the work to be carried on by the federal government in the development of these commercial waterways and would to the best of his ability endeavor to carry it out to the fullest extent.

With respect to this province there was another question coming within the purview of the federal department of the interior, namely the land policy and improvement of conditions for the settlers in the Peace River block and lands within the railway belt. There are thousands of settlers in that area and he was thoroughly in touch with the conditions affecting these people, and would urge that their claims be recognized. In addition to these things already mentioned there is at Ottawa a department of mines and while it would be readily understood that the federal mines department did not come in as close contact with the people of British Columbia as the provincial department, there should be co-operation between the two. Dr. King said he would aggressively pursue the promotion of the spirit of closer co-operation that the work might be carried on more thoroughly. It is a very large field but at Ottawa there are continuously employed by the government highly trained mining experts. These men are attached to the geological survey branch, an all important department in so far as the future activities of mining are concerned. It would be the purpose of the minister of public works to have the work of the geological survey branch in this province carried out in the broadest manner in order that more definite information would be available.

Speaking of the importance of this to the people of East Kootenay, it was a quite well know fact that within a few short miles of the city of Fernie there existed what appeared to be iron ore deposits of considerable magnitude. The provincial department of mines had from time to time made more or less casual investigation concerning these deposits. More recently, however, the district mining engineer had carried out tests, the result of which warranted him in reporting to the minister of mines that there was a sufficient quantity of iron ore to warrant the establishment of the industry here. Dr. King said when this report had been received at Victoria, in view of his own former activities in pressing the department to go into this question fully, he had been communicated with by the minister of mines, who had asked him to urge the federal department to send one of America's most celebrated mining experts to East Kootenay and make a report as to the probable value of the iron deposits and the practicability of inaugurating that industry here, and that if this report confirmed that of the district engineer the government would forthwith commence drilling operations and exploration work on a thoroughly scientific basis, when it would be definitely ascertained what the future would have in store in this respect.

The doctor also recalled to mind that for years there had been a federal appropriation made but never expended for the establishment of a sampling works in the interior of British Columbia, where difficult and refractory ores could be tested and the proper method of treatment worked out.

It had been alleged by his opponents, said Dr. King, that he was not in sympathy or friendly to the cause of labor and that he had never done a single thing in the interests of labor. He gave this direct contradiction and maintained that his sympathies were, he believed, more closely alligned with laboring men in this constituency than those of Mr. Bronsdon. He had in the years gone by shared their joys and their sorrows and in his official capacity had always endeavored to defend them from any encroachments upon their rights. His department, while he was minister of the Crown in this province, had come to some extent at least in direct contact with the laboring men and while accused of never having done anything for them, these critics of Dr. King utterly disregarded the fact that it was at his instigation alone that the eight-hour day was esablished in all branches of the public works department in British Columbia. Dr. King said he did not want any credit for this; it was an improved condition to which the workers were justly entitled, and as minister of public works he considered it his duty to see such benefits as were within his power to grant to the workingmen.

In concluding his appeal to the Fernie electors for support by exercising their franchise in his favor. Dr. King respectfully urged those whom he termed his Conservative friends, that they need not worry about casting a Liberal vote. Let it be thoroughly understood they were casting this vote in the interests of this district and in the interests of the province of British Columbia in order that the government which was returned to power in December last may be completed and go about its business, which is the business of the people here as well as it is the business of any other group of citizens in the Dominion of Canada.

AFTER THREE YEAR' SEARCH

Set a Turk to catch a Turk and he will get him. This explains why Enver Pasha, former war lord of Turkey and the man whom the Supreme Council of the Allies described as the greatest criminal of the world war, and the Constantinople government declared was the biggest rascal, the most despicable thief and the greatest murderer of all ages, is a prisoner after a three years' search. The Allies sought him to try him on the charges made against him, the Constantinople government wanted him in order to hang him, it having already found him guilty in his absense and sentenced him to death, says the New York Herald.

Neither the Allies nor the Sultan's government could find him. But when Enver tried to play the Turkish Nationalists against the Moscow Soviet, Mustapha Kemal Pasha thought it was time to end his shrewd political game and sent for him. Enver, according to the latest report, is on his way to Angora, the Nationalist capital.

After the defeat of the Turkish army and the utter collapse of the Ottoman government at the end of the war, Enver disappeared from Constantinople. He left an absolutely empty treasury. A Constantinople report said that he took away with him $110,000,00 in national funds, and a sum as large amassed in war contracts and profiteering exactions. The Allied authorities held him responsible among other crimes for the death of approximately 1,000,000 Armenians. The Constantinople Government charged him with this crime, with the murder of a prince of the Sultanate house, with looting the imperial treasury and with speculation during the war. Enver went first to Germany; he was heard of next at Moscow trying to ingratiate himself with the Soviet Government.

In a short time he turned up as king of the warlike Kurds, chosen to the throne principally because his wife was a niece of the Sultan. He appeared at Angora, but, embittered by the coolness of his reception, he returned to Kurdistan, and, with a force organized there, he overthrew the small republics of the Transcaucasin region and set up in each of them Soviet government under control of Moscow. His scheme, as the Turkish Nationalist understood it, was to join with Trotsky in the overthrow of Turkish Nationalism and the conversion of Anatolia to Bolshevism. Before he could bring his plans to fruition he was captured. He was started for Angora, not a conqueror as he hoped, but a prisoner.

These form the latest chapters in the most remarkable life story of modren Turkey. Enver was the son of a carpenter of Stamboul, who did odd jobs for Abdul Hamid around the Yildiz Kiosh; as a reward for his faithfulness the Sultan promised the carpenter that his son should be educated as an army officer, Strange as it seems the Sultan kept his promise and the boy whom he put in the army became the chief actor in his overthrow.

Enver was one of the leaders of the young Turks, he soon became the greatest power in the Ottoman Empire by making himself head of the Committee of Union and Progress. Through his acquaintance with General Liman Von Sanders, the officer sent by the Kaiser to train the Ottoman army, he came easily under German influence. He had Turkey aligned with the Central Empires long before she entered the war. It was undoubtedly his orders that brought about the bombardment of Russian ports and forced Turkey into open hostilities.

During the world war he was supreme commander of the Ottoman Empire. His two so-called chief ministers, Talaat Bey and Djemal Bey, were merely creatures who willingly carried out his orders. Both of these men were made co-defendants with Enver in the Turkish court and both fled from Constantinople at the same time he did. Talaat was killed by an Armenian on the streets of Berlin, and his chief counsellor, Said All Pasha, was killed by an assassin in Italy. Djemal Bey, who has twice escaped assassins, is still a fugitive. One of the Enver's friends, Kemal Bey, who was convicted with him, was hanged in Constantinople. At that time three other gallowses were standing at the place of execution; the one nearest to Kemal's was pointed out as held specially in reserve for the once powerful war lord himself.

COAL CREEK NOTES

This camp has received its usual quota of election speeches during hte week, Tom Bronsdon, Dr. King and Hon. J. Murdoch addressing the electors.

The company kindly placed a special train for the convenience of the men desirous of attending the mass meeting held in Fernie on Sunday last.

Joe Worthington has returned home from the Fernie hospital, where he underwent an operation.

W. Reid and family have left camp and taken up their residence in West Fernie.

The notices announcing the Loyal Order of Moose ball to be held on St. Patrick's night, have been deliberately torn down of the notice board on two occasions during the week. Such actions, however, do not alter the fact that the dance will be held as stated. Patrons are assured of a good time as the social activities of the Moose are well established. $1.50 per couple; extra lady 50c. Refreshments.

Several cases of sickness are reported in the camp.

Word was received up here on Thursday noon that Mrs. W. Horner, who has been an inmate of the Fernie hospital for the past two weeks, had answered the final summons of the grim reaper. She leaves a husband and two small children to whom the sympathy of the residents goes out.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES

Science has shown us that flour is as dangerous an explosive as those "hate confections" which the late and unlamented German General Staff had prepared for the "Big Berthas." Likewise, an energetic six-pound sack of flour, if properly distributed throughout a house, can wipe it off the map with just the same deadly accuracy and precision as if struck by a shell. In fact, there would not be a brick of it left standing.

The explosive qualities of flour are generated upon the same principles as that of other dusts. When it is distributed through the rooms of a house every particle of it comes in contact with the oxygen of the air. Consequently when a match is lighted it burns instantaneously, and the great quantity of gas generated at once expands, and, seeking an outlet, bursts through the walls of the place.

As an article in daily use in the kitchen, flour does not look dangerous. In fact, it is one of the most harmless-appearing things that we have seen. But here flour runs true to form. It is not the dangerous-looking and ugly things of life which often causes us the greatest trouble and pain. There is many a young man who meets up with the apparently guiltless "flapper," and in a careless seizure of maudlin love-sickness asks the fatal question. The facial appearance of the "flapper" may look very much like that of flour, but even though the dead-whitness may be talcum powder, it is not the less dangerous to her unsuspecting beau. All too late, the unthinking youth discovers that he has been fooling with high explosives, and very frequently he is blown up so high that he lands in the midst of a first-class breach-of-promise suit before he knows what has happened to him.

Still, though it is not for us to decry such things as flour, flappers and other fatal filigrees. They all have their own place in this world of ours, and if they should prove to be high explosives, then it is through our own carelessness. Also, when such carelessness produces the inevitable disaster, usually it provides most entertaining and interesting reading—when we are not the victim.

EDITORIAL NOTES

-o-

The political contest carried on in this constituency at this time is a question which should be treated with some degree of earnestness. The fact that it is a bye-election and therefore not of nation-wide importance in that regardless of the outcome the federal administration will remain unchanged, should not deter the electors from exercising their franchise to the maximum, and in support of this view a brief analysis of the situation might be opportune at this time.

The issue is between Dr. King, in the role of a minister of the Crown and one T. H. Bronsdon, of Cranbrook, as candidate tendered by the newly born Progressives, which is merely assuming the name of a more generally known element in federal politics, but in truth a body which sprang into existence in this constituency for the purpose of the campaign terminated on December 6th last, then known as the "Farmer-Labor Party" but which too was far from being honestly representative of the parties whose names it usurped.

The retirement of the Conservative Party on this occasion must not be interpretated as any indication of weakness, such is far from being the case. This decision is based entirely upon what it believes is generally accepted as the fundamental principles that promote further progress and achieve greater success in all affairs of state whether civic, provincial or universal—the institution of the most good for the greatest number.

It must therefore be manifestly evident to the majority of the intelligent thinking electorate, as it was to the Conservative Party, contesting the present bye-election is naught but a retrograde step. What is there to be gained by defeating the Government Candidate? It will not by any means force the retirement of Dr. King from the federal cabinet if that is the incentive of his opponents. It is apparent that the Prime Minister of Canada desires he should be one of his first lieutenants and holder of the important portfolio of Public Works. Rejection of that signal honor conferred upon one of our residents by defeating him at the polls on an occasion that is only the formal means by which he can be installed in office will place the electors of East Kootenay in the unenviable light as a community of very little intellectual ability and comprised of jealous or foolish individuals.

The question is quite frequently being advanced in our midst—what good will it do Kootenay East to have the minister of Public Works as its representative? We will not attempt to elaborate upon this phase for fear of displaying our human fallibility and conjuring our requirements for federal public works far beyond our requisite needs, but we do know that a cabinet minister has an infinetly broader scope in the matter of securing recognition from the government of the claims of his constituents than a private member. We do know that Dr. King is an ardent supporter of the completion of the Banff-Windermere road project, and while other sections of this constituency may acquire greater benefit from that federal undertaking. Fernie district as part of the whole will also receive a portion of the fruits the completion of that road will bear. We can also feel perfectly assured that any other question coming within that purview will at least have intelligent consideration.

Politically we are just as strongly opposed to Dr. King and his party as we always have been, but in so far as the main issues are concerned, they were decided on December 6th last, and we are big enough in accepting the mandate of the people of this riding and the Dominion at large, to advocate at this time we have nothing to gain now by sending opposition to Ottawa; common sense should teach us it would be "good business" that our representative in the next parliament should be seated in "Treasury Benches." We should not have been called upon to ballot. Fourteen cabinet ministers were elected by acclamation. Why this exception? Therefore let the people of the district make themselves heard in no uncertain manner on election day. A vote for King is a vote for East Kootenay.

Every thinking citizen should turn out to vote on election day. There has been very little interest taken in the campaign up to the present time, but the interests of the District are vital and it is up to us all to see that we do not overlook the opportunity to secure cabinet representation. East Kootenay needs all the help it can get and a vote for Hon. Dr. King will be a boost for the district.

The Hon. Dr. King in his address on Tuesday evening stated that it was the intention of the Dominion government to send an expert minerologist into this district to test the iron deposits known to exist here and that if the expert's reports were favorable the provincial government would at once take steps to open up these deposits. The development of the iron industry of East Kootenay would be a wonderful thing for Fernie.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

TO THE PEOPLE OF FERNIE

It is the earnest hope of those responsible for the Gospel meetings about to be held in the Baptist Church that they may be a means of spiritual blessing to the people and the churches of our city. To this end we invite all Christians to unite with us in earnest prayer for greater self-consecration and for the repentance and return to God of the people of our community. We believe that the great fudamental need of our time is a personal experience of religion, by which we mean fellowship with God through our Saviour Jesus Christ. We are not alone in this conviction. Statesmen, editors and captains of industry are voicing the same conviction and are saying, as with one voice, that the only hope of the world and the only solution of its problems is to be found in applied Christianity.

Back to God is the slogan of the Daily Express, an English newspaper, which has begun a campaign to restore religion to its old place in the life of the people. This paper has a daily editorial in sermon form pleading with men and women to give up their sins and vices and spend more time in private and family prayer in an effort to seek after God.

Business Needs Religion — Roger Babson, who is probably the highest authority on business relations in America, says: "All we have that is worth while we owe to religion. All our troubles we owe to the lack of religion. The future of our industries depends on the developing of the soul of man. The need of the hour is that salesmen, foremen and technical men give their hearts to Christ."

Politics Needs Religion—The Premiers of the British Empire not long ago issued a powerful appeal to the people in behalf of religion as the only hope of establishing peaceful and diplomatic relations. Vice-President Coolridge of the United States says: "A community without religion goes to pieces."

The Premier of Australia says: "If we have any hope it is through the ministers and the churches."

Lord Bryce, stateman and historian, who has given 60 years of his abounding energy to the welfare of his fellow men, says: "If history teaches anything it teaches that hitherto civilized society has rested on religion."

There is food for thought in these testimonials that come from the leaders of thought and enterprise in both Europe and America. Business has lost its morale and selfishness and suspicion dominate the actions of men. "Back to Religion" is the cry of the leaders of men. It may be a new discovery with the men of business but it is the old truth that the prophets of God in every age have been ringing in the ears of heedless and scoffing men. "O Israel return unto the Lord thy God for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity."

Is it not time, then, for all who believe that the Gospel of Christ is the power of God unto salvation, to get together on the greatest task God ever committed to men? It is ours to give practical demonstration of the power of religion. It is the only power that can save men or regenerate society.

MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

Established 1869

UNPRECEDENTED PROFIT EARNING

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus Earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face value of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio

The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings

The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality

The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038 being $46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings

from $38.67 per $1000 of assets to $46.47 per $1000

A rink of lady curlers from Blairmore skipped by Mrs. W. Bird, however, defeated Mrs. J. S. Irvine's rink by a score of 9—4.

Mrs. Stafford Wilson was badly burned about the arms on Saturday night, the result of an explosion of gasoline. Mrs. Wilson had been cleaning some garments in a gasoline bath. The friction caused by rubbing caused the gasoline to explode and burst into flames. The flames caught Mrs. Wilson's clothing and had it not been for the quick action on the part of her husband and father, who were in the house at the time, in smothering the flames by wrapping a coat around her, the results might have been fatal. Doctors were summoned and it was found that Mrs. Wilson was suffering from extremely painful burns about the hands, arms and head, but will quickly recover. Damage to the building was slight owing to the prompt response to the alarm and speedy action by the local fire brigade.

A plan is being tentatively considered by the Tourist Association of Southern Alberta and Eastern British Columbia to arrange for a tour east for the delegates who will attend the Canadian Good Roads Association convention at Victoria next May. This convention will mark the assembling of a large body of representative business and professional men from all parts of the Dominion, and from an advertising point of view, the Tourist association considers the idea of very great value. The suggested itinerary of the auto party is as follows: Princeton, B.C., to Kamloops, and then on to Vernon; Vernon to Grand Forks and on to Trail; from Trail to Nelson. The delegates would then travel by boat to Kuskanook. From there to Cranbrook and the Windermere district, back to Cranbrook and thence on east to Fernie, the Crow, Pincher Creek, Macleod, Lethbridge and Calgary. Each city and district would supply the necessary cars, and by this means the party would be relayed along the entire route with little expense. The toru will require, it is estimated, an extra ten days.

DESPITE THE FACT that on December 6th last the electors at the polls decided in a definite manner the political issues of the day, a small and unimportant group styling themselves "Progressive,' but which the saner and more representative adherents of that group will resent as a misnomer, has assumed the grave responsibility of again forcing an election upon the electors of East Kootenay, with the senseless and useless expenditure which it entails, as well as the disruption of organized peace and stability.

* * *

IT IS NOT NECESSARY for me to weary you with a lengthy manifesto, nor to insult your intelligence by revamping the issues that were so clearly decided. I need only add that of all the Ministers of the Crown I am the only one who is being opposed, the reason for which unprecedented action I am unable to appreciate, nor the object that is behind the attempt to deprive British Columbia of Cabinet representation.

* * *

TO YOU, the men and women electors of East Kootenay, I leave the issue, confident that you will honour, not myself personally, but the Province, by electing me with such a large majority as to leave no doubt on this occasion as to the issue.

* * *

SHOULD YOU ELECT ME, I shall strive to my utmost power to represent your interests honestly, fearlessly and unselfishly, and subscribe myself,

Your obedient servant.

OPERATORS CONTRADICT

The following statement was handed out Monday at the head office in Calgary of the Western Canada Coal Operators' association: "The statement made by the miners referred to in the press on Saturday is a general criticism of the operators' proposal without any reference to the miners' own demands and in the few instances where figures are cited they are so grossly inacurate as to suggest the intention of being deliberately misleading.

"For example a profit of $3.45 per ton is suggested based on a comparison of a labor cost of $2.70 and selling price of $6.15.

"The labor cost is an Alberta figure where 30 per cent of the tonnage was mined by companies who had not granted the increase of $1.15 per day given by the association mines in October, 1920, and who during 1921 had further decreased their wages by from 13 to 25 per cent. of the rates they were then paying. The selling price is a B.C. figure where all companies were paying the highest scale up to November, 1921, and where the companies in Eastern British Columbia, who are included in District 18 are still paying it.

"No one knows better than the miners' representatives that labor cost is only a part of the cost and varies in different districts from 50 to 75 per cent. of the total cost of producing a ton of coal. No allowance is made in the miners' figures for cost of material for depreciation taxes, maintenace and repair of plant, taxes, insurance royalties to the crown, etc. In Alberta in 1920 the miners got $3.03 as a labor cost. This means a total cost of at least $4.00 and the federal figures of everage value of a ton of coal produces in that year are $4.37 per ton.

"The cost of living figures quoted are equally inaccurate. Percentage of cost of living is given as being equivalent to percentage of wages which it is not and the statement that cost of living in mine camps is 30 per cen. higher than elsewhere throughout Canada is simply an assumption.

"In 1917 when the cost of living commission sat in District 18 the following figures indicate the comparison of the districts with those for Canada covering the same items:

April 1917—
District 18, $16.23
Canada, $17.34.
August 1917—
District 18, $17.15.
Canada, $18.48.
December, 1917—
District 18, $19.11.
Canada, $19.38.
April, 1918—
District 18, $19.87.
Canada, $19.91.
August 1918—
Canada $21.20.

"The impression is further created that the wages go back to a 1914 standard, as a matter of fact the proposition offers rates which are equivalent rates paid during the period from April, 1917, to February, 1918, and excepting the miners own source of information for the 59 per cent. quoted as increase in cost of living over 1914 the increase over December, 1917, is only 18 per cent. to December, 1921, and there have been further reductions since that time. Further, that figure includes heavy increases in fuel and rent which so far as a miner is concerned have only gone up since 1914 about 27 per cent. as to coal and not at all as to rent.

"According to federal figures in 1920, 14 companies producing 95 per cent. of Alberta's output worked an average of 267 days, In 1921 Alberta's output dropped 981,653 tons and that tonnage was lost almost entirely to association mines while the mines which had reduced their wages not only maintained output but somewhat improved it. The natural result was a serious drop in the number of days worked by association mines and nothing emphasizes more strongly than the forgoing the operators' contention the high wage scale is responsible for the stagnation of the industry is correct."

RISKS LIFE TO FILM TRESTLE SCENE IN "SATURDAY NIGHT"

Leatrice Joy and Jack Mower narrowly escaped death several times in the filming of an automobile accident episode in "Saturday Night," Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount picture which will be the attraction at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday. But the narrowest escape came when Miss Joy stumbled accidently and fell on the railroad trestle a hundred feet above the ground.

In this episode Miss Joy and Mr. Mower attempted to cross a railroad trestle in an automobile only to be trapped mid-way across by an approaching electric train. In their frantic efforts to escape they rush for the distant end of the trestle. Realizing that this is impossible, Mower was to force Mis Joy to clamber over the edge of the trestle with him where the pair would hang suspended while the train rushed above them, scrapping the automobile.

While filming the scene in which the trapped pair attempt to outrun the train, Mis Joy stumbled over one of the ties and fell, rolling within a few inches of the edge of the trestle. Dizzy from constant work at that height and surprised by the fall, she was powerless to help herself. Only good fortune saved her from falling to certain death.

Although the stumble was purely accidental, Mr. DeMille retained the scene in the picture on the ground that it was absolute realism. Conrad Nagel, Edith Roberts Julia Faye and Theodore Roberts have important roles.

HOLD CONVENTION OF BOOTLEGGERS

Bootleggers of Spokane have organized, according to police information, and from now on the price of Scotch whisky will remain at a firm figure Practically all the bootleggers in the city are reported to have "joined up" and agreed to raise the price from $8 to $10 a quart, three quarts for $25, and not cut the price. Case lots will be raised from $75 to $85. These prices prevail only for Scotch and gin; American whisky and fancy liquors coming higher.

The first meeting of the "Associated Retail Bootleggers of Spokane" was held last Friday at the home of a prominent south side man, according to the reports. The meeting was not called until members of the fraternity had consulted counsel and been assured of the legality of their action.

When the call went out and the clan assembled high priced and high powered cars were parked in so wide an area around the meeting place on the south hill that a call from wondering neighbors was sent to the police. Officers Alderson and Nordean of the police department responded and ordered the lights switched on of cars parked where a collision might result.

When the meeting was brought to order and the roll called 42 answered to their names, police reports assert. Officers were elected and it was voted to meet regualrly in the future.

A raise of $8 a case in Canada also necessitated the raise here, they say.

BIG NEW YORK SUCCESS COMING HERE FOR RUN

"Perjury," a William For super-special which was the talk of New York while running at a prominent Broadway theatre, will come to the Isls theatre next week for a two days run. It presents William Farnum in a role similar in several essential respects to that of Jean Valjean in Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," in which this famous emotional screen star made a tremendous hit. New York reviewers and theatre goers, during the run of "Perjury" in the metropolis, declared that Wm. Farnum surpassed all former efforts in the expression of human emotion. They predicted that the gripping photodrama will establish itself permanently as one of the classics of the screen.

"Perjury" provides a supreme test of William Farnum's dramatic genius for in the role of Robert Moore he runs the gamut of human emotion. The hero first is seen as an active, ambitious factory superintendent of 45, happy in home life and in the friendships which his engaging personality has won for him. Jealousy and dread grip his mind, followed by red rage and finally despair. Then the prison gates close upon him for twenty years, during which the gentleness and sweetness of his nature develop in remarkable degree. The family is left, outside prison, to misery and pathetic struggle.

U.S. TRADE WITH CANADA SHOWS BIG DECLINE

A heavy drop in trade with Canada during the month of January this year, as compared with January, 1921, is shown by the figures for exports and imports given out by the department of commerce.

For January, 1922, exports to Canada were $32,603,191, as compared with $54,372,822 for the corresponding month in 1921. For the seven months ending Jan. 31, 1922, the exports were $329,989,499, as compared with $547,061,155 in the seven months ending Jan. 31, 1921.

Imports from Canada for January, 1922, were $25,213,796, as compared with $349,231,567 in January, 1921. For the seven months ending Jan. 31, 1922, the imports were $181,616,-532, as compared with $384,616,271 for the seven months ending Jan. 31, 1921.

There is an opportunity for some enterprising promoter in Alaska. Steam is reported to be issuing from one of the mountain peaks. By establishing a pipe line enough heat could be distributed to supply all the Eskimo huts in the territory.

FANS WITNESS FAST HOCKEY

Fresh from their capturing the Charbonnier Cup, emblem of the Pass championship, the Blairmore Crow's Nest Pass Hockey League Club, defeated the home boys in an exhibition game here on Wednesday evening by the score of 5 to 1. The game was somewhat marred by sticky and heavy condition of the ice, and neither team was seen to full advantage; overskating the puck seemed to be the order of the day. Fernie was somewhat handicapped by the non-appearance of two members of their line-up, causing delay in starting and the use of substitutes in awkward positions.

Blairmore got away with a whirlwind start and five minutes from the face-off, Pruden opened scoring. Fernie took on a spurt and Ennis was given an opportunity to show his skill, being called upon to stop several in succession. From one of Ennis' clears, Turner broke away and in an individual rush added a second for Blairmore, after the face-off the Blairmore boys raided the Fernie goal, and it was not long when Goddard caught a rebound and slammed the rubber into the net. This finished scoring in the first period. Blairmore 3 Fernie 0.

The ice was badly cut up when the second period opened and the pace slowed down considerable. Blairmore still showed up to advantage and added two more goals through Pruden and Goddard in the first seven minutes. This was the turning point in the game and Fernie asserted themselves. Wilson, who had been playing a marvelous game, brought the fans to their feet when he took the puck from behind the Fernie goal, zig-zagged up the ice through the entire Blairmore team, and scored Fernie's only goal of the game with a shot that Ennis is still loking for.

The third period was an exhibition of goaltending, both Coste and Ennis defying the opposing forwards to score, even when, on several occasions, both custodians were called upon to stop them alone. The game finished without any scores being registered in this period. Blairmore 5, Fernie 1,

HOCKEY

Last Monday the play-off between the Bluebirds and Coal Co. failed to materialize owing to the Bluebirds notifying at a very late hour that they could not put a team on the ice owing to sickness. The attitude of the Bluebirds throughout this dispute means that there will be nothing more done to have it decided.

Instead of staging the above play-off, four players from each of the city league teams have been chosen to play a wind-up game on Monday night. The players of the 150 and Bluebirds will be matched against a Coal Co.-Northern aggregation, playing under the names of the 150 and Northern. The following players will line up on the two teams:

Northern — Swedberg, M. Com- Commons, A. Thomson, C. Commons, R. Colton, E. Colton, K. Colton. B. Wilson, Capt. Reid manager.

Don't forget the the time, Monday night, game to start sharp at 7.00. An admission fee of 25c will be charged.

CANADIAN CLUB OF NEW YORK

The Canadian Club of New York is the centre of activity for Canadians living in New York and vicinity.

The Club is constantly in receipt of calls for relief for Veteran Canadian Soldiers and other needy Canadians in New York. All worthy cases are being promptly cared for.

For instance: A few days ago a young Canadian girl from Nova Scotia, penniless and without friends in New York, was found dead in a rooming house, having died from asphyxiation. The Canadian Club took charge of the body, gave her a respectable funeral which several of the members attended.

We are endeavoring to get in contact with Canadians in New York, not now members of the Club and request that those having relatives or friends living in New York City and vicinity, also New Jersey, communicate their names and addresses to the undersigned in order that they may be invited to enjoy the privileges and advantages which the Club affords.

Address:— Thomas D. Neelands, Chairman, Special Membership Committee, The Canadian Club of New York, Pershing Sq. and 42nd Street, New York City.

DRASTIC SLASH IN WAGES

Kansas City, Mo., March 8.—Drastic wage reductions will be presented to miners of six states as an ultimatum by the southwestern interstate coal operators when present wage agreements between the operators and the union miners expire April 1, it became known today.

The reduction, which calls for the restoration of the 1917 miners' schedule, calls for a daily wage offer of $3.48. Present union wages are $7.81 a day.

Abolition of the check-off system, it is reported, is also a part of the plan of the operators.

It was also stated that an announcement from the operators cutting the price of coal from $1.00 to $1.50 a ton will immediately follow the adoption of the proposed wage scale.

Let us quote you prices on Buckeye Incubators and Brooders.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FERNIE:

I earnestly appeal for your support on Tueday, March 14th, for the vindication of the principle of true representative government.

A determined effort has been made to "stifle the voice" of the people by the parrot cry of the press from coast to coast for acclamation.

Let us stand steady in the ranks of progress and defend and maintain the liberty of the franchise which has been handed down to us by our worthy ancestors and won by their suffering and sacrifice.

Dr. King's political record is one of inaction and reaction. He is no friend of the common people. He has always opposed measures in Parliament which were in the interests of the working classes. As Minister of Public Works in British Columbia he has failed to merit the confidence of the people. He is opposed in his heart to the principle of the 8 hour day bill, which the Canadian Government is under a moral obligation to deal with in the near future. His Liberal Government turned down Tom Uphill's amendment bill to the Workingmen's Compensation Act, enabling an injured working man to receive pay from the moment he is incapacitiated, an increase from $35 to $40 a week for a dependent widow, an increase from $7.50 to $10 per month for dependent children under the age of eighteen. The people's money is stored up in this fund and therefore they should receive justice in this matter. Dr. King was twice instrumental in raising his own salary and also in decreasing the wages of civil servants and the government roadmen from $4.25 to $3.75. His great wish was to escape from the sinking Liberal Ship at Victoria by immediately taking refuge with a higher salaried position at Ottawa without the consent of the people.

The franchise is ours to exercise and we intend at this time and at all times in the future to do so without hesitation. We will not tolerate to be dictated to by any artful scheming politicians. As a labor man I stand to represent the people in the widest sense. We claim to represent the women working in the home, looking after husband and family, as well as those who earn their livelihood by hand or brain. We stand for the political rights and liberties of the people and the happiness of all the people who give service to the community, in whatever form that service may be given, and we believe that nobody does more important tasks than the women in the home. As a party we appeal to those women, the guardians of the race, for their support. We stand for humane government against the present reign of intrigue, subterfuge, misrepresentation, extravagence and high taxation. We demand fair taxation to be placed upon the shoulders of those who can best afford to pay. Above all we seek peace at home and abroad, the setting free, as far as is reasonable and just, our trade with other countries, and the prevention of unemployment—the greatest curse upon a workingman's home.

Upon Dec. 6th, 1921, you elected your man and he has turned you down cold in order to slip in a political manipulator. At the time the news was first mooted, a terrible hue and cry went up from all quarters. If it was wrong then it is still wrong now.

The moral support of the people is behind our cause. If If Dr. King is allowed to go to Ottawa, then bid him "goodbye" because you will never see him back here agin. The Senate, for $4000 a year, for life, looks good to him. There will be no need for him to come to you for endorsation. I will have to because my home and all my interests are in this district. I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without thanking the many friends and supporters of our cause for the courteous manner in which our principles have been received and also for the exceptional goodwill displayed towards us on all hands. May the good cause of true progress continue to triumph,

Yours sincerely,
Thomas H. Bronsdon.

BLAIRMORE DISTRICT DOES NOT WANT STRIKE

Blairmore, March 8.—The break between operators and the union was received here very quietly. No notices of action or agreement have been posted in any camp here by either party, and all the mines are working quietly and full shifts every day.

The strike, however, is a foregone conclusion here, and while the majority of the men would rather not walk out, they have to support the demands made by the U.M.W.A. They are hoping however that an amicable settlement may yet be reached, but are very determined on the other hand not to accept anything like a 35 per cent reduction in wages. Approximately between seven and eight thousand tons of coal are being mined daily by Hillcrest, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman mines. Some days more than this amount is being mined as it is expected the strike will last for some time, and work is being rushed.

KING GETS A GOOD MAJORITY

The result of the byelection on Tuesday confirmed Hon. Dr. King's elevation to the federal cabinet with a substantial majority. He can now take his seat in parliament and assume the duties of the portfolio of Minister of Public Works with the satisfaction of knowing that the majority of the people in this constituency were entirely willing to give him the opportunity of intelligently presenting the needs and requirements of the people of British Columbia before the new federal administration at Ottawa. The Hon. Doctor gave this assurance on all sides and that the fulfilment of that trust reposed in him will not be abused can only be judged from the record time alone will establish.

It should also be noted that the declaration of the electors from the different polling divisions indicated unity, and the apparent setting aside of political party feeling, with the common object of supporting the government candidate, because only in eight polls out of the total 69 did Dr. King fail to secure a majority. Even at that the larger industrial centres, where Mr. Bronsdon concentrated his activities in an attempt to convince the workingmen that he could serve their interests more successfully than the Minister of Public Works, this delusion was recognized, as both the cities of Fernie and Cranbrook, where the electors in December last declared their opposition to the Liberal administration, in the byelection both of these places gave majorities of over one hundred to Dr. King. Analyzed from the viewpoint of the political divisions of East Kootenay, comprised of the provincial ridings of Ferne, Cranbrook and Golden, in all three Dr. King emerged with substantial leads over his opponent. The process of installation is now complete; it remains for full effect to be given the promises made.

Poll	Bronsdon.	King
Hosmer	1	13
Michel	99	86
Natal	52	86
Athalmer	11	46
Brisco	17	13
Canal Flats	0	8
Castledale	18	14

The curling season closed on Friday evening last with the final games in the Walker and the Fernie Champion ship. A. C. Liphardt, who won the Walker at Lethbridge, has further demonstrated his rght to this trophy by defeating W. Baldrey in the local competition. M. A. Kastner defeated S. Herchmer in the Fernie Championship, edging out in the last end. Herchmer was coming home with a margin of four, when his opponent secured a five end.

SHORT SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

The postponed regular meeting of the city council was held last night. In the absence of Mayor Henderson, who is still convalescing in the hospital, Ald. Irvine presided as acting mayor. Aldermen Aiello, Douglas and Robichaud were the other attendants.

Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, J. T. Mangan advised the council with regard to the proposed power rates, which, in his particular case, he said, works a hardship instead of reducing the cost of power. This will be worked out to ascertain the correctness of Mr. Managan's contention.

A motion was passed making application to the federal Department of Agriculture to send inspectors in and test all dairy cattle scientifically in order to ascertain that the animals from which dairy products are being supplied the municipality are free from any dangerous disease. This also will apply to herds from which milk is being shipped in from outside points as well as local herds.

The Shops Regulation Bylaw was finally passed and adopted, while Bylaw No. 245, being Levying of Rates Bylaw, fixing the mill rate at 40, was given its preliminary sanction.

A statement of comparative data showing the effects of the new hydro-electric power rates to consumers, which in nearly all cases shows substantial reductions, was submitted for consideration by the city clerk.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST KOOTENAY:

On the eve of my departure for Ottawa I desire to express to those who so ably and unselfishly assisted me during the bye-election, my deep gratitude and heartfelt thanks. I am not unmindful of the fact that the decisive majority that I secured was due to the combined support of Conservatives, Labor, Progressives, Soldiers and Liberals, in which Party was set aside for the time being.

The important portfolio of federal Minister of Public Works to which I shall be enabled to return by virtue of your voice as expressed at the polls, is a responsibility which I fully apppreciate, and in the assumption of the duties of which I shall not fail to ever keep before me the welfare and interests of the people of British Columbia, as well as of Canada as a whole, and shall perform those duties conscientiously, honestly and fearlessly, with favors to none but justice and fair play to all.

With my renewed thanks for your splendid support, I have the honor to remain,

Yours faithfully,
J. H. King.

EDUCATIONAL WORK OF I.O.D.E

The educational work of the Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. for 1921 has been of a wide and varied range, and very interesting in its character.

The first work was a presentation of two school libraries, valued at $15 each, one to Corbin and the other to Coal Creek.

The Educational Secretary instituted inquiries as to cost of fees for Normal School and board at a suitable place in Vancouver for a young student who wished to take advantage of the help of the Order for secondary education.

At the May meeting it was decided to assist a musical student to obtain funds in order to continue his musical education. This was done by selling tockets and otherwise patronizing a recital given by the student himself. The proceeds, amounting to $150, were turned over intact.

On May 23, on invitation of the Principal, the Regent of the Mt. Fernie Chapter, attended by many of the members, was present at a splendidly conducted open air patriotic session, held on the playgrounds of the Central School. The pupils from the auxiliary schools, headed by their teachers, marched in order and took their places with the pupils of the Central school, numbering in all 850, of whom 385 were of foreign parentage, speaking 16 languages other than English.

The exercises opened with the singing of "O Canada." Then the Regent, Mrs. Trites, told the children the story of the man without a country, pointing out to them what a privilege was theirs in becoming Canadians. Mr. Corrie spoke on behalf of the school board, explaining the work of the board in taking care of the financial end of the education of each child. Sergt. Bryant gave a stirring address on the Union Jack, ending by asking the pupils to salute the flag and sing "God Save the King."

A High School student, a soldier's dependent, requested help in purchasing books, to which the Order gladly acceded.

The Chapter has been greatly interested in the work of the Boy Scouts, and has helped them both with grants of money and by assisting them in giving their banquet. One scout, son of a disabled soldier, was presented with a full uniform.

The Chapter celebrated the birthday of the Order by a party given at the home of the Regent, at which papers were read relating the many works the Order has undertaken since its inception. On this occasion a presentation of a Life Membership in the Provincial Chapter was made to Mrs. Fisher.

On Nov. 24, during Authors' Week, Mrs. Trites gave a delightful tea in her own home. A splendid program was given, which consisted of music, singing and a paper on Canadian Authors read by a member.

During the tea hour a drive for subscriptions was made by the Echoes Secretary, and she succeeded in obtaining 54.

Miss Gemmil, Secretary for the Nation-wide C. G. I. T. movement, was also present and spoke briefly. The Regent replied and promised the co-operation of the Chapter in such a good work.

The presentation of books and pictures to those pupils who ranked highest in Canadian History, took place on Jan. 6 in the Assembly Hall of the Central School. These books, four in number, were awarded to the following pupils: Miss Mabel Rogers, John R. Wood, Miss Edna Gallagher and Miss May Maltman.

Mrs. Herchmer, the Educational Secretary, gave a short, instructive address on the educational work of the Order, after which the Regent presented the books and pictures.

The Principal then spoke to the members of the Order present, congratulating them on the splendid work being done to bring home to the children a knowledge and love of their country.

The exercises closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

This report was submitted to the Mt. Fernie Chapter at the annual meeting by the Educational Secretary.

COAL STRIKE WILL NOT AFFECT SPOKANE

The prospective coal strike on April 1 will have no great affect in Spokane, according to W. G. Ramage of the Hawkeye Fuel Co. The fuel dealers' credit association held its weekly meeting at the Davenport the other day and discussed the general situation. Eleven dealers were present and Ray Roberts of the Great Western Fuel Co. presided.

"The Spokane dealers are well stocked and the demand is diminishing," said Mr. Ramage. "For that reason Spokane probably will not notice the strike particularly.

"A great deal of our coal supply comes from Utah and the Utah mines, as we understand, are not affected by the strike order, being on an open-shop basis."

ANNUAL MEET. BOARD OF TRADE

We continually read in the columns of our contemporaries the reports of meetings of their Boards of Trade, and when we see that such places as Creston, Grand Forks, Kelowna and Vernon, whose members have to travel considerable distances, have meetings attended by fifty or more, Nelson meeting several times a month and Cranbrook having regularly well attended meetings, we sometimes wonder why it is that the business men of Fernie show so much apathy towards our Board of Trade. They all subscribe substantially to its funds. When they meet on the street they discuss its activities, yet when meetings are called at which they have the opportunity of hearing the reports of the stewardship of its officers, and discussing Their Own Affairs they do not turn out in sufficient numbers and the meetings have to be postponed.

The Annual General Meeting, called for Thursday, the 2nd of this month, had to be postponed for this reason, and is now called for Monday evening, the 20th, at 8 o'clock, in the council chamber. Officers for 1922 have to be appointed, the reports of the different committees heard, and plans for this year made. Unless the steps taken by the executive to carry the affairs of the Board on receive the approval of the business men whose money they have been spending, it is obviously impossible for them to continue, yet if the Board is not to be allowed to die out, they must do so until new officers are appointed, or the same ones retained in office

When outside points, such as Nelson and Lethbridge, are interested enough in the publicity work, in which our Board has been the principal instrument during the last three years, to request to be linked up with us, and be allowed to subscribe to the funds to a larger extent than we, for the privilege of doing so, the least our own members can do is to attend our meeting, and by doing so acknowledge the leadership with which we are accredited, and evince our determination of retaining it.

The regular meeting night is the first Thursday in every month, and the place of meeting, the city council chamber. An hour, or at the most two hours, once a month, surely should not be a hardship for every business and professional man in town to spare for discussion of ways and means for the improvement of our town.

It is absolutely essential that the postponed meeting be held without delay and the steps taken by the executive ratified, so don't forget Monday Evening, the 20th, at 8 o'clock in the Council Chamber.

U.M.W. DEMANDS UNREASONABLE

The Toronto Saturday Night says: "It is quite apparent that the United Mine Workers are engaged in the task—no doubt congenial to them—of preventing the reorganization of the mining industry on a peace basis. This is a subject that most of us are interested in, for it means, if they win out, continued extreme high prices for the coal we must burn, be it in quality soft or hard.

"At the recent convention of the United Mine Workers a six-hour day and a five day a week was voted, this demand arranging for a strike referendum in March. The demand includes the maintenance of the present union scale in the bituminous field, and an increase of twenty per cent. to the anthricite men. In relation to the cutting down of hours the position is worse than would appear at first glance, for the demand for the five day week and the six hour day will create many more jobs for many more men, and as the union's demand takes in all classes of labor in and about the mines, it will mean a vast increase in operating costs. For instance, to name just one occupation that of the pump tenders. The pumps at the mines are in most cases manned throughout the twenty-four hours, month in and month out. If the laboring day is to be cut to five days of six hours each, the increase in wages to pumpmen is all too apparent.

"The union's reason for demanding the shorter day and week are apparent when one considers the general situation. The demand for coal has slumped, owing to various causes, excessive price, and general business reaction. A mild winter in those sections where hard Pennslyvannia coal is largely utilized, would also have some effect upon the situation. This means that the supply of labor is excessive, and the proposal is to take it out of the consumer by manufacturing more jobs, a thing which will not meet with any great amount of enthusiasm among those who are forced by evil cnrcumstances to buy the stuff.

TENSION ON PIANO WIRES

A few weeks ago Benno Boiseiwitsch broke a string of the piano on which he was playing during a recital in Paris. This accident, which is now so rare that the newspapers reported it, used to be of common occurence when our grandparents were in their prime. It was customary to have the piano tuned in the middle of the recital, and a broken string or two on the piano corresponded with violinists' troubles.

"The piano as we know it today would never have progressed if the wire makers had not learned how to strengthen their steel strings," says the Musical Courier, commenting on the incident. "The airoplane could no more have learned to fly without the invention of a light and powerful engine than the modern concert piano could have become a rival of the orchestra without the light and powerful strings which stand in tune and do not break except by accident. Steel piano wire, in fact, is the strongest elastic material known, and Boiseiwitsch is by no means a violent pianist."

According to the "History of the Pianoforte," the tension of the strings of the concert grand piano was about twenty-seven tons to thirty tons If we bear in mind that the average large moor truck is constructed to carry a load of three tons, and that the frame of a concert grand piano must stand the continuous strain of ten motor truck loads, we will get some notion of the engineering feat accomplished in constructing a concert grand. The ideal of the piano maker also is that this enormous strain shall be equally distributed among all the strings, notwithstanding the unequal length and weight of the strings necessitated by the eighty-five different musical notes produced by the piano.

NEW EUROPEAN PLAYGROUNDS

For some time past it has been plain that Switzerland's supremacy as a resort for holiday-makers, invalids, and mountain-lovers is threatened. None have been more painfully aware of this than the Swiss themselves, for the so-called "foreigners' industry" used to be about the second or third in importance in the country. There are more than 9,000 hotels and pensions in Switzerland, and some 45,000 persons have been accustomed to earn a good living through keeping or working in hotels, not to mention the many thousands who earned a livelihood from mountain and other mainly "tourist" railways, steamers, diligences, and "foreigners" shops.

The "Neue Zurcher Zeitung,' the leading Swiss newspaper, is the first frankly to face the facts. "Information reaching us shows," it says, "that in the Tyrol, in Czecho-Slovakia (Carlsbad, etc.), in Trentino, in Savoy, in the Black Forest, and in what are called Bavarian Switzerland and Saxon Switzerland the business of hotel keeping has developed to quite an extraordinary extent. Everywhere the past summer season was excellent; all the hotels were overfilled, and in many places no guests could get rooms who had not engaged these some weeks beforehand. In Switzerland at the same time most tourist hotels were empty, because of the unfavorable exchange and high prices."

As regards prices, Switzerland cannot compete at present with these other countries because of her exchange. A British officer, who has just returned from the Tyrol, showed me some of his hotel bills. He and his wife had a room in a first class hotel, for which they paid 500 kronen a night, or 1.25 Swiss francs. Breakfast cost them 300 kronen (75 centimes), luncheon, including beer, 800 kronen (2 Swiss francs), dinner including wine, 1,400 kronen (3.50 Swiss francs). Total per day, 7.50 Swiss francs for two persons. Even second-class Swiss hotel could not, with the best will in the world, possibly take in people at less than 12 to 14 francs a day now; and in some of the first-class hotels a room alone cannot be had for less than 8 francs per night.—Saturday Night.

KEEPING HIS WORD
(by Walt Mason)

Jinks Jenkins always kept his word throughout his useful years, and when his funeral occured the town was wet with tears. We'd plant bards at sundry times, and famous statemen, too, and plutocrats whose stock of dimes was something fierce to view; and while we grieved to note their doom, and see their projects bust, we only wept around each tomb enough to lay the dust. For gifted gents and famous gents and gents with gorgeous rolls are commoner than twenty cents and oft have tawdry souls. But when you meet that human bird with sunshine on his brow, who never goes back on his word, take off your hat and bow. He say he'll pay you what he owes when clocks are striking eight, and though through storm and fire he goes, he'll promptly keep the date. No promise lightly leaves his lips, but when his pledge is made, he never fails, he never slips, his word must never fade. He's an example to the town, a landmark good to see; and when at last we lay him down beneath a churchyard tree, the briny tears in streamlets roll like waters in a rill, and in the town there is a hole it will be hard to fill.

RESIDENTS FIND FAULT

Flagstone, B. C.
March 3rd, 1922.

Editor, Fernie Free Press,
Fernie, B. C.

Dear Sir:

With your kind permission, we would avail ourselves of space in your valuable paper, to give expression to our opinion of the proposed new road in this district, and to suggest as to the route we think the road should take.

Eminent men say: "That agriculture is the basic industry of any country, and that you must get the people back to the land, and keep them there, as there is no prosperity without this."

We desire those that are interested in the subject of this letter to give consideration to the above statement, when viewing comparitive merits of the road as surveyed, and the road as we suggest.

This country has four industries, namely: Agriculture, stock-raising, horticulture, and lumbering.

The fourth has possibly reached its peak, the first three hav possibilities that are inestimable.

We have in this valley, according to government survey made 1912 an estimated acreage suitable for irrigation of 37,480 acres.

The agriculture and relative industries, and their possibilities do not seem to have been given any consideration in the proposed construction of a new road, but the chief purpose if not the sole purpose, seems to be to make way for the United States tourist, principally those coming in from Glacier National Park, Montana.

Most everyone knows that the Glacier National Park lies south, and east of us, and to have a proper understanding of these roads, we shall have to have under consideration, the precinct, laying between Newgate, Rexford, Eureka and Roosville.

As both roads which will come in for consideration, will pass through Eureka, we may omit from further mention that stretch from Belton to Eureka.

Now we will look at these two roads from Eureka to Elko in the first place entirely from the viewpoint of the tourist.

First consideration, we will give to distance. On the surveyed road or to get on, it, we shall require our friend to go to Rexford, and from there to Newgate, from Newgate we start on the surveyed road, and bear east and north until we are a mile or so from Indian Village, then we carry him back west and north, until we get back on the Newgate, Flagstone, Dorr, Waldo and Baynes road, south of Dorr, and continue bearing a little west and north, until we get into Waldo. Then we bear again east and north, until we get into Elko. A district map will show you to a finish, the series of semi-circles that this survey will take, and will also show you a total distance of about 53 miles.

Now the road we are to suggest is from Eureka direct north, through Roosville to Elko, a distance of 35 miles, which would be at least three miles less, should the road be built along the Elk River canyon by Mr. Ingam's place, a saving in mileage of from 18 to 21 miles, or of about one-third from Eureka to Elko.

Now point No. 2 we will give to a consideration of scenery. It is supposed to be the scenery the tourist is looking for.

From Newgate on the proposed road as surveyed, we are taken out into a range country, which has been mostly logged off, and which owing to summer heat, and lack of moisture, takes on a brown hue early in summer, and contiues so until snow falls. We are kept in that kind of country most all the way to Elko. One gets a look at the Kootenay at Newgate, and an occasional view of same, from Dorr to Waldo.

And an occasional view of the Rockies, whose snows are but mentally refreshing to the tourist, who no doubt now and then needs some of nature's refreshment. To get water from Newgate to Waldo would be a difficult thing to do, that is water fit to drink. there is not or likely to be a farm or habitation of any kind on this road, from Newgate to Dorr. No water for so great a distance, no habitation also, for the first series of miles in this country, this would not be very impressive to the tourist, and it would appear to be far from hospitable. This road presents a continuous series of ups and downs, so that when one may have a distant view in sight, it is lost in a moment by the road leading into a gully.

The idea along this road as far as scenery goes will be to get through and forget about it.

Now for scenery of the first order, (if scenery consists of mountains, hills, rivers, river canyons, waterfalls, streams, flowing through rich fertile soil, fine native trees, fruit trees, hay on the meadows, grain in the fields, cattle grazing on the pasture, farm homes, etc.) we desire to take the tourist along the road we are suggesting.

Leaving the custom house at the line about two miles south of Roosville, we soon arrive at Phillips Creek, through the trees a short distance up the creek can be seen the splendid falls, which to reach, is but a brief walk from the road at this point.

Along an avenue lined with tall trees, chiefly pine, with a good many openings, consisting of farms, from ten to one hundred acres, mostly won out of the forest by the hard-working pioneer, and the present residents, we pass along this secluded valley, the Galton range to the right and east of us. From the line to the Elk River we have this range of mountains for a distance of fifteen miles. And in this distance we have thirteen large streams and several springs.

Each stream has a waterfall tumbling of the mountain into the valley. Here is a valley well watered, cool and shady for the traveller, always presenting a restful green foliage. Now we come to the Elk River canyon, which for impressive scenery has nothing to surpass it on this continent. Here it lies, deep and cool on the warm summer days. Here the Elk in its wild strength, seems to be making its final struggle, to free itself from the mountain walls of the Rockies, foaming and surging to find rest in in the bosom of the Kootenay. No one can fitly describe this canyon, it is constantly presenting varied appearances, occasioned by changing foliage, cloud passage, mists and the rise and fall of the river.

No matter how often one may pass through, and on what errand, the temptation is there to linger and enjoy.

The road from the other side into Elko, in summer is bedecked with flowers of great variety, and pleasing appearance. And in most of this distance, we have an uninterrupted view of the Rockies north of us, the Selkirks west of us and stretching south; the Galton range east of us and the Macdonald range towering behind it. North of us we have the opening in the Rockies through which the Elk pours its waters. Northwest we have the broad valley down from which the Kootenay rolls.

This road is grand for scenery, but will be far surpossed by the proposed new stretch by Mr. Ingam's ranch, which goes as follows:

Leaving the bridge at the canyon, we keep to the left or west bank of the river, following the canyon until we near the lower falls a little out from Elko. This way the road would be shorter by at least three miles, instead of getting a view only of the canyon and river at the grade, and another near Elko, we would travel along same for several miles. And the parts now hidden from the traveller, who follows the road, will have no less revelations of beauty and grandeur than the one he sees.

We think the climax to this wonderful scenery is obtained by standing on the bench overlooking the confluence of the Wigwam with the Elk. Should the reader ever have this privilige, he would without doubt lose nothing of its pleasure, by being familiar with Moore's "Meeting of the Waters," particularly as set to the music of the Old Irish Melody.

It would seem as if we are using up to much space in this letter on pleasure. We must get down to business, and this must be relative between ourselves as farmers in this district and as residents of Elko, Fernie, and the Pass towns.

In the third place we will consider these roads as a utility to the residents of this district. On the surveyed road there is not a farm nor can there possibly be one between Newgate and Dorr. Newgate, Flagstone, Dorr, Waldo and Baynes are served by the Great Northern Railway. They have also a very good road from Waldo to Elko. What good is that part of the road going to be from Newgate to Dorr? And if of little use now, what use at all will it be in the near future?

On the road we suggest, there are now twenty-four farms, and according to the 1912 government report there should be hundreds, and it is up to us to inform the present government that one reason for there not being more, is bad roads.

We surely need a good road for an outlet for our produce. You people in the towns need to encourage us, or at least, see that we get fair play, even in your own interests, as this district is commercially tributary to Elko and Fernie. We want to sell to you, and buy from you. So we appeal to you, particularly those having public influence, to take up our cause.

Fourth, THE COST OF THE ROAD.

The surveyed road will be forty miles or so, as compared to a distance of twenty-five miles on the other or twenty-two by the canyon route. In the forty miles we are not counting the ups and downs, and there are a good many of them. They are very much in evidence from a point about two miles south of Edwards Lake to Waldo. These will make necessary, a vast amount of grading. Out from Newgate is quite a stretch of sandy road. That is why they bear east in our district to get several miles of good road. Were it not for this sand, they would have gone through Flagstone. Then they go back into the sand at Dorr. They have to take in a god many miles of this sandy and uneven road to get into Waldo, it cannot be avoided.

What about the cost of gravelling that road and its upkeep? And to what purpose is this cost being devoted?

Now take the road from Roosville to Elko. All our land down here is not first class. We have a good many acres of bottom land which cannot be beat. We have some land that is fair, and some that is very poor for farming, but first class for road building. Fortunately for us, the road has been run along this land. It has a few inches of soil on a bed of gravel. We do not know how deep the gravel is, but know that it goes down several feet.

No place in this district presents a better chance for a good road, built at reasonable cost.

And this valley for miles, is almost level, we know that by water-surveys made.

The one and only thing we have heard against this road is that some people think the grade at the river is dangerous. The residents down here who use it mostly with teams, and should it be dangerous with a car, it would, we think be far more so with a team.

We know it needs improving, both as to width and geting a more easy grade, and this can be done. We would further say that if those who think it dangerous for the tourist, why should it not be so for us? And if so, why do they not fix it and fix it good? All that we have seen done for several years, apart from repairs to the bridge, is to wait until dirt rolls on, in quantities large enough to block the road from the upper side, then shovel or scrape it off on the other.

We consider that in surveying the proposed road, there has been several hundred dollars wasted, but that is nothing compared to the many thousands that are to follow, should the matter go through, as now planned.

We have peitioned about this, but received no satisfaction. Expect same hit the waste-paper basket. And now we think that through the medium of your paper it should be brought before the public. This is our side of the case, Mr. Editor, we would be pleased to hear from others as to what they think about it, and hope with your permision, there will be many more take up this matter in your paper.

We remain,
Yours sincerely,
James Lancaster.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, FERNIE, B.C.

It seems advisable to once more call the attention of the public to the rules governing travel to the United States. The following classes of persons may enter the United States without passports: (1) American citizens; (2) Canadian citizens; (3) other British subjects domiciled in Canada; and (4) aliens domiciled in the United States who proceed to Canada and return directly to the United States within six months.

Persons not included within one of these four classes can enter the United States only upon passport. Such passport must be secured from the proper officer of the government to which the traveller owes allegiance, and must then be vised by an American Consular officer; the traveller appearing before the consul personally for that purpose. Moreover, the passport must authorize travel to the United States. Travellers are continually visiting the Consulate with passports issued to them in Europe and which merely authorize travel to Canada. Such passports are not good for the United States. They should be forwarded to the proper officer of the traveller's allegiance and a new passport be requested authorizing travel to the United States; or that the old passport be amended in that respect.

When the traveller has his passport in proper form he should, if he resides within the Fernie Consular district, write to the American Consul at Fernie, stating his nationality and the period of his residence in Canada, and the route by which he desires to proceed to the United States. He should also forward a testimonial from the chief of police, postmaster, or some other prominent official of the place of his residence, or from the corporation, if any, by which he is employed, containing the necessary statements as to his character, time of residence, etc.

The Consul at Fernie will then advise him what further steps may be necessary.

The Fernie Consular district embraces East and West Kootenay, a small strip of Alberta east to Pincher Creek, and Similkameen westward to Carmi and Bridesville. Where travellers desire to pass via Vancouver, Calgary, Regina or Winnipeg, and cannot conveniently come to Fernie to secure visa of their passports, it may be possible to arrange for visa by American consular officers at these points; but the traveller should in all cases communicate with the Fernie Consul, enclosing testimonials, and await his advice before proceeding.

A REAL MYSTERY PERFECTLY TOLD IN THIS FILM CLASSIC

That Dickens, master of adroit and quizzical humor, was a master of melodrama is not so frequently remembered, but his last great novel, "Our Mutual Friend," is an excellent example of the extraordinary story-telling ability of this famous English author.

"Our Mutual Friend" is the story of the missing heir to a great fortune left by an eccentric father. This Harmon fortune temporarily diverts to Mr. and Mrs. Boffin, who gave shelter to Bella Wilfer, the girl who was to have married the heir. The Boffins are blackmailed by two delightful rougues, Silas Wegg and Mr. Venus, who discover and make use of a later will to deprive the Boffins of their affluence.

After many tense moments and exciting episodes the story unravels in a highly amusing manner. Those who see "Our Mutual Friend" at the Isis will have a warmer feeling toward the "movies." It will make you like the theatre better. After you see it you will take your friends with you while you see it again.

In other cities where "Our Mutual Friend" has been shown, movie fans have expressed genuine approval of this double-type film which whisks them back to the days of old England, and entertains them in a fashion that is truly delightful.

The showing of "Our Mutual Friend" at the Isis theatre next Wednesday and Thursday will afford movie lovers an excellent opportunity to know Dickens as a drawer of characters for which he attained fame, and also as a story teller of extraordinary ability.

BILLIE BURKE AS CHORUS GIRL IN NEW FILM

Billie Burke, Paramount star, will be seen in her new Paramount picture, "The Education of Elizabeth" at the Orpheum theatre commencing tonight. This presents Miss Burke in the role of a chorus girl and she does some of the most enjoyable work of her career therein.

Elizabeth Banks, a chorus girl in a New York revue, meets Thomas Fairfax, desendant of an old Colonial family. Fairfax falls madly in love with her and asks her to marry him, but first wants her to visit his family so that his sister Lucy may see her. Fairfax is called to Texas and the education of Elizabeth is left in the hands of Lucy and her brother, Harry, a professor of literature. Elizabeth proves a diligent student so that when Thomas returns he finds her quite unlike the gay chorus girl he left. He is disappointed and confesses to her that he loves Lily Kerr, another chorus girl. This is good news to Elizabeth who loves Harry Fairfax and she takes him as a husband instead of Thomas.

DOMINION PRESIDENT OF THE NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA SAYS:

Dear Sirs:

It was with great pleasure that I viewed your screen picture, "The Battle of Jutland." From the first view until the end I was simply thrilled and on the tip toe of expectation and excitement. No amount of written description could explain the vastness and the strategy of the Battle of Jutland like the screen does, and its accuracy is marvellous.

I am sure that if the public realized that it is not an imaginary screen, but something based upon the accurate data gleaned from the ships' logs and from their course charts, they would flock in thousands to see it.

As an education to any child or adult, it is invaluable. Who would not today pay almost any sum to see such a picture of the Battle of Trafalgar, and here is a battle fifty times its magnitude to be seen for a song.

Everyone with a drop of British blood will delight in seeing it, and every naturalized Canadian should see it in order to make them realize the heritage they are enjoying in the protection that such an organization as the British Navy has afforded them.

Yours faithfully,
AEMILIUS JARVIS,

It is with much regret that we are obliged to inform the people of our city that the special evangelistic services started last Sunday in Olivet Baptist church, and which were increasing in interest and attendance, had to be closed Wednesday night and will be suspended until Sunday, April 9. Mr. Tapscott took the train for home on Thursday morning, and we hope for a speedy recovery and return to Fernie.

We have been asked to remind ex-Imperial veterans who were resident in Canada before the war, that they may obtain the difference between the amount of gratuity received from the Imperial Government and the Canadian gratuity, the latter being very much larger. But they must hurry up about it, as all applications must be in on the 31st of March, 1922. It is explained that the applicant does not necessarily have had to reside in Canada when the war broke out so long as he can successfully prove that he was a bona-fide resident of this country at the time of enlistment.

UNPRECEDENTED PROFIT EARNING

A REMARKABLE increase in the surplus earnings of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada was shown by the Fifty-Second Annual Statement, as presented at the Annual Meeting of the policyholders held in the Head Office of the Company at Waterloo, Ontario, on Thursday, February 2nd.

The entire net profits, or Surplus Earnings of the year's operations will be, as usual, ultimately distributed to the policyholders of the Mutual in cash or applied to the reduction of their premiums or added to the face value of the policies, as per policyholders' individual option. Three factors have combined to bring about this red-letter year in the annals of the Company.

1. Decrease in Expense Ratio
The percentage of the Total Income required for operating expenses was reduced from 20.45% to 18.60% in 1921.

2. Increase in Interest Earnings
The average rate of interest earned by the investments of the Company shows an increase from 6.41% in 1920 to 6.60% in 1921.

3. Highly Favorable Mortality
The mortality rate of 1921 was the lightest experienced by the Company in recent years, being relatively 20% less than in 1920.

Surplus Earnings of $2,243,038 being
$46.47 per $1,000 of Total Assets

The combined effect of these three different factors in the Company's experience for 1921 was to increase the surplus earnings

from $38.67 per $1000 of assets to $46.47 per $1000

SCIENTIFIC ACHIEVEMENTS

"In the world-wide hunt after 'the meaning of matter' and the whorls of electrical energy of which it is held to be composed, a glimpse of a new country has perhaps been won by Lord Clifford of Chudleigh," says The London Mail.

"It is too early to know how far his ingenious inquiry into the nature of the electron may help forward knowledge, but it is admirably English that such good scientific work should have been done by such a man.

"Today, as when Cavendish, that brilliant nephew of the third Duke of Devonshire, tested the density of the earth, our amateurs are using their wealth, leisure, and talents for the advancement of science. The late Lord Salisbury was perhaps not less thoroughly at home in his private laboratory than in the cabinet. How much good did the late Lord Rayleigh do privately quite outside the great discoveries for which he is famed in the world!

"Nowhere in the world today are more promising investigations into agricultural science being carried out than the experiments with marsh gas originating from Lord Elveden's wartime discoveries. What fine and subtle work was done in his private laboratory by Mr. Spencer Pickering in connection with his practical experiments on behalf of the Duke of Bedford! A number of private men of means are today lending the greatest aid to the sudden advance in the science of heredity.

"All that is a proper source of national pride. If our state is deficient in appreciation and use of science, we may yet claim an unequalled force of private research workers of high aims and high achievement.

"The result of his work, says Lord Clifford, has established that all wave-lengths that are smaller than 34,360 to the inch are what we term positive electricity, and all wave-lengths above 68,720 and below 103,078 to the inch constitute negative electrons. The intermediate waves, Lord Clifford suggests, should be called 'color electrons,' as all shades of color are produced by these waves of electricity.

"The radiations of the ether which produce color are essential, according to the theory, to the adhesion of the negative and positive electricity which constitutes atoms.

"The new theory suggests that electrons themselves are inseparable from ether waves, and once the wave-length can be found of the radiation responsible for the combination of any one electron with any other, we shall be able to calculate the conditions under which all the elements are formed."

WILL THE MODERN DANCE LIVE OR DIE?

Much has been said and written for and against the modern dance. Whether the dance will continue or be cast into the limbo of forgotten things is for the human race themselves to decide. This cannot be determined by any one individual. The impluse of humanity to dance — or to keep time to music; which is exactly the same thing—is as old as humanity itself. Far from being "savage" or "primitive" or anything of the sort, it is one thing which places mankind above the brute creation. Animals may howl their emotions: men alone celebrates them in rhythmic unison and the dance may be as abstract an expression of these as music.

If you wish to learn something of the older forms of music you will have to seek in libraries and museums, in a thousand forgotten places, but if you wish to know the music of the day, of the hour, of the "moment," you only have to go to the dance, and you will hear in it the utterance, in music, of those who live around you and who can constitute your immediate world—the world you must inhabit until death, with its pleasures, its responsibilities and its pains.

There is hardly any work of music to-day which will not disclose to the musician, or to the "musical ear," its rhythm. The mighty symphonies of Beethoven, with all their intricacy of structure and wealth of detail, are in the main, built upon dance rhythms. Interpretative dancers have actually danced them on the stage. Bach, greatest of modern composers, wrote dance music without end. Even Wagner's music is suffused at times with the dance spirit. There may be a world of diference between the master works of these composers and the "jazz dance" or its successors in popular esteem. But they exhibit, underneath the surface, the working of the same human spirit. Each is an example of composition determined as much by rhythm as by intrinsic melody, and each, in its degree, is a musical masterpiece, a musical idea or combination of musical ideas expressed in perfect or sufficient form. They contain in them the same element of appeal, the appeal to the feeling for rhythm in music and the desire to answer the rhythm with physical movement. Psychologists declare that there is something lacking in the brain of the human individual who fails to undertake to "keep time" to music of a rhythmic nature. Whatever the charm of other music may be the individual who does not feel his pulse stir to the sound of the dance, has missed something of the joy and the beauty of life.

To-day the whole world is dancing; but yesterday if you look into history a bit, you will discover it was dancing too; and it will be dancing tomorrow to graceful measures that to-day has not yet been dreamed of. Thousands of New Yorkers are dancing to the superb music of Paul Whiteman and His Orchestra and millions more throughout the entire world are enjoying his dance records. His symphonic scorings and remarkable travesties are among the features of the "lighter music" to-day, and so long as such music can be heard, just so long will humanity express its desire to dance.

SHE'S NOW THE VERY PICTURE OF FINE HEALTH

Winnipeg Woman Restored By Tanlac After Everything Else Had Failed To Reach Her Case.

"My wife is the very picture of health now and she tells me she never felt better in her life," said Arthur Llewellyn, 428 Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, Man.

"My wife has been in failing health for so long that I was very much alarmed about her, especially since the many things she had tried failed to do her any good. She even spent some time in the country, but this failed to help her and she came home utterly discouraged. I don't believe anybody ever had a worse or more stubborn case of stomach trouble than she did.

"Tanlac certainly was what she needed and she hadn't been taking it long before she was on the road to recovery. It not only has toned up her stomach so that she eats whatever she wants, but she has the color of health in her cheeks now and apparently is as strong and healthy as anyone could wish to be."

NORTH COMING INTO ITS OWN

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—The celebrated Canadian explorer, Vilhjaimur Stefansson, in an article in World's Work in February, presents the case for a cold climate, and says the world has frequently extended its habitable regions, and notably in the case of Canada itself.

We are conquering the difficuties of the North faster as time goes on, he writes. It was more than a thousand years from the time when the Romans thought that no civilization could exist north of the Alps until the civilization north of the Alps was really on a par with that of Italy. But it was only a century from the time when Benjamin Franklin thought that the little island of Guadeloupe was worth more than all of Canada till the time when second-rate cities in Canada had become more important than the whole island of Guadeloupe.

It was only a few decades from the time when even Seward's friends tacitly admitted that "Seward's Folly" was the correct name for Alaska until the Republicans began to "point with pride" to the purchase and to rank it among the glorious achievements of the party. By analogy we may expect that it will require only a decade or two for the same progress in knowledge and revolution in sentiment with regard to the northern prairies, that are still called 'barren grounds' and are still supposed to be worthless.

It seems to be about the most fundamental proposition in aesthetic that we like what we are used to. Being people of southern origin, it follows from this principle that on the average we prefer warm climate, for most Europeans and Americans live in countries where there is summer more than half of the year. There is also in such places as Italy and Florida a carefully planned campaign to "sell climate" to the rest of us. It is, therefore, not strange that the words "a good climate" should be synonmous with "a warm climate" in the public mind. But when one stops to think about it, there appear at once doubts of the appropriateness of this manner of speaking and thinking.

On the principle of 'by their fruits shall ye know them' climates should be judged no less than cabbages and kings.

There are many who have business in Alaska, but who live in San Francisco or other southerly places. It is common to hear these people say that the summer climate in Nome is delightful, but that they would not for any money live there in winter. They have either never tried it or have wintered there only once. No one will like a northern climate the first year who is brought up in a southern one, and it is merely in accord with our principles that these people would not like their one northern winter.

I have talked with hundreds of men who have lived there, but shall quote the typical opinion of Mr. D.A. Cameron, today the manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Toronto, but formerly, for many years manager of the branch of that bank in Dawson, Being a great city, Toronto has a climate that is well known. It is generally considered to be similar to that of Cleveland, which many consider better than Chicago, for instance. At dinner in Mr. Cameron's home I once enquired whether he preferred the winter climate of Toronto to that of Dawson, and received the reply, "there are no two opinions in this family. My wife and daughter agree with me; we all prefer the climate of Dawson." Mr. Cameron went on to say that that was the general opinion of those whom he knew who had lived in Dawson two or more years, or in other words had lived there long enough to get over the predisposition in favor of summer climate they had brought with them from a country where summer is longer than winter.

UNCOMMON SENSE—"TREAT THE DRUDGERY ROUGH"

(by John Blake)

No job is altogether pleasant.

By and by, when you are successful you can get rid of most of the unpleasant work by passing it along to others.

At the beginning you will be the one to whom it is passed along.

It will be dull, hard and uninteresting, but it has got to be done.

And until you have learned to do it, you will never be competent to tackle the more interesting jobs that will come along by and by.

The sooner you learn to shut your eyes and roll up your sleeves and sail into the drudgery, the sooner you will get to the point where there is little drudgery to do.

Do not, however, expect to be rid of it altogether. No man who is accomplishing anything can ever do that.

The boy who wants to be a locomotive engineer thinks it is a glorious life to sit in a cab and watch the world go by.

There are only a few levers to pull, and now and then a little excursion out on the pilot with an oil can at stations.

The fireman shovels all the coal, and does all the dirty work. The only job he has which the boy covets is that of ringing the bell, and that is not nearly as desirable as that of pulling the whistle, which is the engineer's exclusive privilege.

But the boy finds when he tries to get a job as engineer, that he can not begin even as a fireman.

If he is taken on at all he is given a big bunch of waste and set to wiping grease off engines. It is terribly dirty and uninteresting work, but it is the way to begin.

If he does it well, and thinks about it as he goes along, he can become a fireman by and by. But before he can sit on the padded seat at the right-hand side of the cab, and open the throtle and pull the whistle, he has to shovel coal for two or three years.

Most drudgery jobs are just as long and just as uninteresting as those which precede the engineer's exalted station.

But they have got to be done, and if you do them cheerfully and intelligently, time will pas you along to the sort of work you like.

After that progress is not going to be easy, but it will at least be clean and more or less comfortable.

Don't be discouraged with the drudgery. Everybody must do it, and it does everybody good. Do it well, and you will be freer from it in after life than if it is badly done. A half-educated man in any business must constantly go back and do over the things he did poorly in his youth.

"The flow of western grain toward the Pacific has been checked by inadequate elevator facilities at Vancouver. This is a better argument for harbor improvements than some ports have presented in the past," observes the Toronto Globe.

METHUSELAH HIMSELF

The French press has been concerned with Djouro Chemdine, who is said to be 164 years old (says the New York Tribune).

"Is it possible," Parisians ask, "to reach such an age?"

The reason for believing it true is that Djouro Chemdine is a native of Turkey, where centenarians abound. Perhaps the Orientals owe this privilege to the filial respect which is one of their virtues and which most religions have always made a passport to long life.

Unfortunately, however, according to Le Journal Debates, this reason for believing is also a reason for doubting. Precisely because he is a Turk, Djouro Chemdine seems liable to a forgetfulness of his age. The civil administration in his country differs from him himself in that it is still in its infancy, and the records are kept there with an irregularity which formerly must have been even worse than at present. The custom survives of referring to the age of individuals to the reign of the khalif under which they were born, a way of counting very indefinite when the khalif has ruled a dozen lustres or more. The same is true of all the peoples of the East. One day in Cario, a traveller, who visited a mosque under the amiable conduct of a learned official who spoke French as a Parisian, saw his guide approach a robust old man who wore a green turban and so fresh lookin that one would not have thought him more than sixty-eight years of age.

"He is over 130 years old," said the obliging official to the tourist. "And how do they know?" "He recites from memory the list of sultans for the last one and a half centuries."

This by no means indicates that reports of great longevity can never be true. Many persons will be astonished when they are told that the prelate who baptized Napoleon III. had been rocked on the knees of a daughter-in-law of Charles IX. And yet it is the exact truth; such having been the case of Cardinal de Belloy, Archbishop of Paris. Dead in 1808, a few years after the batpism of the future emporer, he was born in 1709 under Louis XV., and had known when a child Francoise de Narbonne, who died in 1715, the widow of Charles d'Angouleme, the son of Charles IX., and Marie Touchet. The duke had married her when she was very young, he himself then being twenty-one years old.—Saturday Night.

BLAIRMORE HAS ANOTHER FIRE

BLAIRMORE, Mar. 14.—Blairmore suffered another fire at 10:30 last night and the loss of this one only comes around $3,500, most of which was lost by Wm. Nicol, boot and shoe repairer; J. H. Davis, tools and electrical fixtures, and Loch and Michalsky, damage to their stock of confectionery and groceries and building. All the above carried some fire insurance except Nicol and Davis, but it will not cover their loss.

The origin of the fire is unknown as yet as it started in the room where Davis had his tools, etc., and there was no stove there. Nicol occupied the rest of the small building for his repair shop and also lived there. Neither he nor Davis saved anything, for the building was frame with a shack roof and was all aflame before they were aware of it. It was only by strenuous work that the firemen saved the Loch and Michalsky store, which stood near the demolished building. The roof is damaged to some extent. Most of the mains and hydrants near the scene of the fire were frozen up and hose had to be run up to Victoria Street to get water.

DONALDSON APPOINTED

Major Hicks, district commissioner of the Boy Scout association of British Columbia visited the city Tuesday and inspected the Fourth Fernie Troop of Boy Scouts.

He highly complimented Scoutmaster Evans on high state of proficiency the boys had attained and was very pleased to note the success of the Boy Scout movement in this city.

Various forms of Scout work were reviewed by the commissioner who expressed appreciation and considerable surprise at the ease in which the boys performed their various tasks.

Later in the evening at an executive meeting of the Fernie Boy Scouts association, Mr. Evans, who has been the Scoutmaster of the troop since its inception, stated that it was with the greatest regret that he was compelled to relinquish his position as Scoutmaster. He stated that his business now forced him to move his residence to Calgary and he would not be able to carry on. The executive expressed deep regret in accepting Mr. Evans' resignation and requested the privilege of making Mr. Evans the Honorary Scoutmaster of the troop. Mr. Evans, in replying, thanked the association for the honor they had placed upon him and assured them that he would always be willing to assist in the work at any time, if it was in his power to do so.

Only one name was submitted to the executive as successor to Mr. Evans as Scoutmaster, J. L. Donaldson, who has been associated with the troop as senior assistant scoutmaster since its foundation, was recommended by Mr. Evans and endorsed by Assistant Scoutmaster Hamer. In appointing Mr. Donaldson the executive assured him of continued support of the association, and were confident that he would carry on the good work among the boys along the lines of the Boy Scout movement.

CARIBOO EXPLORATION COMPANY IS ORGANIZED

The first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Cariboo Exploration Company, Limited, was held Tuesday afternoon in the offices of their solicitors, Messrs. Lawe & Fisher. This company has been organized by a number of people of Fernie, Blairmore, Coleman, Pincher Creek and other tawns along the Crow's Nest Pass for the purpose of prospecting and developing certain leases controlled by them in the Barkerville-Quesnell district of the Cariboo country.

The Barkerville district of the Cariboo has long been known as a gold producing country, coming into prominence in 1858. Difficult transportation facilities has held back development. However, these are eliminated since the P. G. & E. railway has reached Quesnel, and there are now many indications of rapid development. Three other companies are completing arrangements to start active work as soon as the snow disappears, this company making the fourth.

The company intends to thoroughly prospect their several leases before introducing a California type gold dredge, using a Keystone drill for this purpose. One of the latest models of Keystone drill, fully equipped, is now at Barkerville ready to be transferred to their properties as soon as spring opens up. The company has already had engineers on the property and such superficial examination as they could give it, produced very encouraging results.

NOVEL TITLE FOR FILM

When picture fans read the title of "The Hell Diggers," Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, they will doubtless wonder what it means. The title of the picture refers to the enormous gold dredges used in the great gold mining districts of California and elsewhere. This is the first time, so far as can be learned, that they have been featured in a picture. Mr. Morgan, the author, made an intensive study of gold dredging and knows his subject thoroughly. He also wrote the scenario for the picture. It is the first he has written for Paramount which has not dealt with some phase of motoring.

ATTEMPT TO STOP STRIKE

New York, March 23. — In an eleventh hour attempt to halt preparations for a nation wide strike in the coal industry, the arbitration committee of miners and operators will meet behind locked doors today.

The committee will be composed of eight men, four miners and four operators. With them will sit two non-voting neutrals, a chairman and a secretary. Upon today's conference will depend whether the two hundred thousand anthracite workers shall proceed with their four hundred thousand brethren in the bituminous fields, and prepare to drop their toils April 1, while their 19 wage demands are given consideration.

Delegates, chosen yesterday to attend the meeting of the national general policies committee at Cleveland, leave tonight for that city. They, with nearly two hundred delegates from bituminous mines, will decide upon the distribution of the ten thousand men who will be left in the mines to protect property while the strike is in progress.

Questions of financing the strike also will be decided at Cleveland and plans laid for distribution of strike benefits in case the cessation of activities continues until it works hardship on the families of the miners. Plans wll be devised for the assessment of strike dues in local districts to increase the $2,000,000 "war chest" which union leaders estimate is already available.

John L. Lewis, president of the international organization of United Mine Workers, announced today that "the mine workers are still ready and willing to meet with mine owners in any move to decide upon a new wage scale." His organization was in perfect accord with attempts of the government at Washington to urge the operators to change their policy of absolutely refusing to deal with the unions, he said.

Washington, March 23.—Warning that the federal government would tolerate no use of violence to prevent coal production during the threatened coal strike, was issued today by Attorney General Daugherty.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

Wm. Guthrie, provincial assessor for the Fort Steele Assessment District, with headquarters at Cranbrook, is this week sending out blank forms by the thousand in connection with the Provincial Income and Personal Property Tax, which should be filled in by the party receiving same and returned to him by March 31. A careful perusal of the copy will materially assist in filling them out correctly. Any single person whose yearly income for the year ending Dec. 31, 1921, exceeded the sum of $1200 should make a report, and failure to receive the blank form from the assessor is no excuse for not doing so, as the onus is on the individual and any application to his office for blank forms will receive immediate attention. The same remarks apply to married persons with the exception that the amount allowed them by statute is $1500. There is also an allowance of $200 for each dependent. Dependent with regard to any taxpayer means a child under the age of 18 years or a child over that age who is dependent on his parents on account of mental or physical incapacity, or a brother, sister, half-brother, or half-sister of the taxpayer over that age who is dependent on him for support on account of physical or mental incapacity, or a father, mother, stepfather, stepmother, grandfather or grandmother of the taxpayer who is dependent on him for support on account of physical or mental incapacity. The taxpayer is also allowed exexmption on the amount of all premiums of life insurance on his life paid by him, but the amount of premiums so added shall not in any case exceed one-sixth of his gross annual income. The provincial rate of taxation is as follows: One per cent on all net income not exceeding $2500; two per cent when the net income exceeds $2500 and does not exceed $3500; three per cent when the net income exceeds $3500 and does not exceed $4500; and so on up to 15 per cent when the net income exceeds $19,500. The tax on personal property in all instances is one per cent but is only used when the revenue from same is greater than that which would be derived from income. The Fort Steele Assessment district covers the electoral districts of Cranbrook and Fernie and anyone in this area who desires any information in connection with these forms should communicate with the Assessor.

Fernie Board of Trade Hold Successful Annual Meeting

Re-elect Retiring Officers by Acclamation.

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening the 20th inst, and was well attended, about thirty members being present.

The minutes of the preceeding meetings were read and adopted and correspondence was disposed of.

The treasurer, H. Greenwood, then read the financial statement for the past year, which was accepted and adopted. This statement shows that the total collections from all sources during the year amounted to $1,659.-94. A balance in hand of $17.10, and accounts amounting to $244.79 still unpaid. $100 of last years' funds had been allocated for this years' purposes, and the deficit for the year really only amounts to $127.69.

The secretary, J. F. Spalding, then read his report, which was fully discussed and accepted. His report appears at the end of this article.

Mr. Spalding read a letter from Ottawa which stated that it was feared that the appropriation for the completion of the Banff-Windermere road would be cut down, in the event of which the road would not be finished this year, and asking him to take the matter up with the local Boards and try and prevent the cut. A committee consisting of S. Herchmer, J. L. Gates and J. F. Spalding were then appointed to draw up a strong resolution to send to our member, the Hon. Dr. J. H. King, at Ottawa. A copy of same to be sent to the other Boards in this district asking them to take similar steps.

The proposed road to Corbin was next discussed, and it was considered most important that this road be built, the same committee as above were appointed to draw up a resolution to be sent to Victoria about it.

Other road matters received considerable discussion, and as the local road superintendent, Mr. Hayne, was present he was asked to give particulars of the work in prospect for this summer. He stated that the department had sent to him, a letter containing suggestions from Mr. Spalding, with instructions to estimate on the new work mentioned and carry out the repairs asked for on the existing roads. The main road west from town will be torn up and resurfaced with gravel wherever necessary, and the main road east to the White Spruce will be done similarly. The new work which he was to estimate on was a road up to Island Lake, and one from Elko through Ingam's Ranch to Phillips' Bridge, both of which he was going over with Mr. Spalding as soon as the snow was off the ground. Another excellent feature, which will be adopted this year, will be the employment of section men throughout the length of the main road through this district. Each man will have a few miles of road to attend to and keep in first class shape. Mr. Hayne will use a tractor and several trucks on the work, and though his appropriation is much smaller than he needs, he will be able to put our roads in a very much better condition than they have been for several years. He will also put the road between Bull River and Fort Steel in good shape this year, and will be starting work on that very shortly.

This being the finish of the discussion of the work of the retiring officers, the President, Mr. E. K. Stewart, made a brief speech, stating that it had been a great pleasure to work with the other officers and then dwelt on the seeming indifference of many of the members towards the business of the Board of Trade, and the difficulty in geting well attended meetings. He urged that a strong effort be made in the future to meet regularly and said that he had always found that it was a great help to him when he got to meetings and heard the views of others. He hoped the next President would find it less difficult to get well attended and regular meetings. He then vacated the chair.

It was regularly moved and seconded that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to the President and Secretary for their good work during 1921.—Carried.

Nominations were then opened.

By unanimous choice; Mr. E. K. Stewart was re-elected President, J. F. Spalding was re-elected Secretary and H. Greenwood was re-elected Treasurer.

The following were elected to the Executive Committee:

Dr. Garner, Dr. Gee, Mr. Hayne, Mr. Herchmer, Mr. D. Black, Mr. Harvey and Mr. Henderson.

Under the head of new business for 1922, Mr. Spalding was called upon for suggestions, and submitted the plans which appear at the end. These were discussed and it was then moved and seconded "That a Committee be appointed to canvas the town for funds, and if sufficient money could be raised, the plans submitted should be carried out."—Carried.

The committee appointed were E.

HOCKEY

Hockey enthusiasts from coast to coast have their eyes focused on Toronto, where the premier professional hockey event is taking place. Vancouver and Toronto are playing off for the Stanley Cup. So far Vancouver has won two games, the 1st by a score of 4-3, and the third last night by a score of 3-1; while Toronto took the second by a score of 2-1. The teams seem to be pretty evenly matched, as the first two games had to go into over time to decide the winner. Strange to say, each team has been successful under the opposing team's rules, Vancouver winning out in both the games played under Eastern rules and Toronto winning the game played under the Western rules. As the series is to be decided by the team winning three games, Vancouver has but to win one more to carry the cup west.

In the amateur play off for the Allen Cup, which was also staged in Toronto, the Granites were victorious against the western representatives, the Regina Vics, winning the two game series by a score of 13-2.

TO CONSIDER CONCILIATION

Today the Western Canada Coal Operators' association will meet in Calgary to consider the letter received from the United Mine Workers of America, particularly that portion which asks that the present wage scale be continued until such times as the board of conciliation, which the men have asked for, can make inquiries and report. The meeting will likely discuss, also, the letter from the federal department of labor arising out of the request of the men for an arbitration board.

The union has given assurance to the operators that they will instruct the men to remain at work pending the findings of the board, providing the expiring scale is continued. The miners appear to be in a mood for a speedy and permanent settlement if such a thing at this time is possible, but the operators take the position that it is not likely that any new agreement could be entered into by the local unions without further reference to Indianapolis. For this reason they see little possibility of further negotiations at the present bringing about a settlement satisfactory to both parties.

A geological map on a scale of 3000 feet to the inch of the Upper Kitzault Valley, British Columbia, has just been published. It includes the Dolly Varden mine and is intended to accompany a repirt by G. Hanson. Although the report is not yet published a copy of the map may be had by applying to the Director, Geological Survey, Ottawa.

SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

The Russian famine has wrought the most terrible devastation that has afflicted the world for centuries. It is estimated that 35,000,000 need relief. Much has been done by other countries. U.S. congress has voted $20,000,000, but the need is still great. Thousands are starving daily.

Great Britain has decided that the greatest need of the present is to provide for the children of the Volga region. A fund has been started sponsored by the leading men of the nation. Food kitchens have been established and are now dispensing food to the starving children. Canada has been asked to share in this great work. A central committee has been formed. Col. H. J. Mackie is the president and associated with him are such men as Hon. W. L. McKenzie King, prime minister of Canada, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. Rudolphe Lemieux and many other leading men.

Fernie is asked, with other cities and towns, to assist in the great work. The Home Bank is now ready to receive subscriptions from organizations and individuals and will forward the same to the national treasurer, Sir George Burn, of Ottawa.

The need is great. Hundreds of children will perish unless food is immediately sent to them. Twenty-five cents will feed a child for a week. A subscription of $1 will insure food for one child for one month. Five dollar will save one child till harvest comes. Five hundred dollars will make it possible to establish an additional kitchen to feed 100 children until next harvest.

Would it not be possible to have a Fernie kitchen? Surely it would be worth while for the city of Fernie to save 500 children.

This fund is in the hands of absolutely reliable men. Every dollar will reach its proper source and be available in food in Russia in ten days after reaching Ottawa.

STILL MORE AHEAD

East Kootenay in general and Cranbrook in particular may think it has had enough of elections of late. But so far as the provincial riding is concerned this does not avail, for the end is not yet. Dr. King has been translated to Ottawa, and now the matter of electing his successor at Victoria must soon engage the attention of the electors. Some already feel surfeited with electioneering, but it looks as if all that has gone before will pale into quietude and insignificance compared to what feeling the impending provincial by election may engender.

There is a lot at stake. There must be or the provincial government would not find it necessary to put such emphasis on the contests that have raged of late in other constituencies. The situation has led to the waggish remark being made that the provincial capital is moving around with the by-elections, first to Revelstoke, now to Nelson, and later on to Cranbrook. Half the cabinet has been at Nelson this week with Mrs. Ralph Smith as well, and the remainder are expected before the campaign closes next Wednesday. Nelson has been a Conservative seat. If the government can woo and win it the enhanced prestige accruing will probably mean revitalizing the government for a new lease of life. If Nelson remains true to its old love however, it may be expected that the government will use every effort to hold Cranbrook, so the general situation would become worse.

This all means that a particularly heated contest may result here, and whichever parties are found to be contesting the seat, it will likely be a very different campaign to the one which has just closed. It is a life and death struggle for the provincial government, and the other parties will probably feel that the dove-and-olive-branch methods engaged in for the federal by-election will have to give away to something more serious—Cranbrook Herald.

FERNIE BOARD OF TRADE

K. Stewart, T. Prentice, H. Greenwood and J. F. Spalding.

A membership committee consisting of H. Greenwood and J. F. Spalding was appointed to canvas for new members.

It was regularly moved, seconded and carried, "That a hearty vote of thanks be tendered the City Council for the grant of $250 made by them t othe Board of Trade."

A report was made that fishing in Silver Springs Lake was extensively carried on last fall, and that something should be done to prevent it for at least two years, and it was regularly moved, seconded and carried, "That a resolution should be drawn up protesting against it and requesting the Government to declare these 'closed waters' for at least two years." The committee to draw up this resolution consists of T. Prentice, G. Johnson and J. F. Spalding.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Secretary's Report for 1921

-o-

Mr. President and Members of
The Fernie Board of Trade:—

It is with considerable regret that I have to announce that our expenditures have exceeded our collections this year to the extent of $127.69. This would not have been the case however, if all those who had made promises of a definite amount had carried out their promises. These fell short to the amount of $252.50.

Our unpaid accounts amount to $244.79, but with cash on hand and bank balance of $170.10 and $100.00, which has been deposited towards our share of $500 of the Tourist Assaciation funds in that account, which really should come out of this years' funds, we really show a deficit on last year of $127.69.

Last year our tourist travel through here showed a very great increase over former years, much of which was the result of our Publicity work of 1920; many of these tourists had our booklet with them and expressed their apreciation of them. Quite a few of those I met personally told me that they had no idea that the trip through here was such a fine one, and had not allowed sufficient time in which to enjoy it better, but intended coming again this year and allowing more time. Our camping grounds proved a great attraction for them and many parties stayed several days in them.

It is impossible to correctly estimate the number of cars which went through here last year, but I believe 3,500 would be a very conservative estimate. There were just on a thousand cars cleared through Kingsgate alone. I have not been able to get the figures from Gateway, but do not think there would be many less than 750 through there, not counting the bootleggers, and the number of Alberta and Saskatchewan cars which simply came as far as Cranbrook and up to the Winderemere district and returned through here must have been considerably in excess of 2000.

From the time our camp site was opened which was the latter part of June and when it was closed in October, I estimate that between 500 and 600 parties occupied it. The space we had prepared was much too scant for last year's requirements, night after night tourists' cars had to be left standing along the edge of the road outside, and we must see to it that plenty of room is provided there this year. We have three acres of ground there, and I strongly advise that we put the whole of it in a thoroughly satisfactory condition to accommodate at least twenty to twenty-five different parties this year at one time. We have plenty of room to do this, and if we do, I feel quite confident that it will be occupied almost to capacity the whole season. Needless to say, if it is, it will mean thousands of dollars to the merchants of the City.

The Tourist Association, of which Fernie is headquarters, consists of the Boards of Trade of Grand Forks, Trail, Nelson, Cranbrook, Fernie, Blairmore, Pincher Creek, Macleod, Cardston, Lethbrdge and Banff. We expect that Calgary will be joining it very soon. We have in course of production an illustrated booklet which will be in similar get-up to our last, but which will have 32 pages instead of 14. This will be the extent of this year's programme, but we hope during this summer to include the entire Okanagon in our membership and for the purpose of doing this, Mr. Baalim, our president, and I, are going to make a tour of the Okanagon to see each of the Boards of Trade there, sometime during this summer.

I have been too busy recently to go through all the correspondence and tabulate it, but altogether I imagine that I received fully 1,000 enquiries through the mail during last year, and also from the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association in their monthly lists attended to at least 500 prospects. The year before last I went through their monthly lists and replied to those requiring motoring information and specifically mentioning B.C. This accounts for the smaller number on these lists being attended to last year than the previous one. Already this year I have had quite a lot of enquiries.

In respect to the prospects for this year, undoubtedly they are good. I have received letters in answer to my request for information on this subject, all of which are from authorities, stating that there will be from 25 to 35 per cent. increase at the least.

The Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works, suggested to me that we endeavor to arrange a tour through this province for the return journey of some of the eastern delegates to the Dominion Good Roads Association conference at Victoria, which will be at the latter end of the coming May. I have this in hand now, and if it materializes, it will be a great publicity stunt, as these delegates are all prominent men. We propose to meet them at Salmon Arm with autos and bring them all the way through to here and on to Banff. The cars will be supplied by the different Boards of Trade. The plan has been submitted to the President of the Association in Montreal, and his approval is being waited for.

The California State Auto Association has asked again this year for 1,000 maps of this part of the country, and it is my opinion that these should be sent. It is something, however, which should be shared by the whole community, and if the other Boards will stand their share, I think that Fernie Board should do so. The maps will cost $275, and our share of this I estimate at $50.

During last year I managed to get several articles on touring in this district published; one at any rate has already been productive of several enquiries. It was in the Christmas number of the Argus, a Seattle magazine which was devoted to motoring and the article in question given prominence.

Last summer we wrote to the Divisional Superintendent of the C.P.R. requesting that the platform of the depot be extended and that the lighting system improved. The company carried out our suggestion and the improvement is very marked.

The Remington Arms Co. printed a little booklet containing a narrative of a bear hunt written by Mr. Roy Gill, of Spokane, the location of the hunt being right close to Fernie. I asked Mr. Gill if he could get several thousand copies of the booklet for us to use. He referred my letter to the Remington Company and they have acceded to my request. These booklets will be used to send to people who enquire about hunting in this district and I hope will be productive in bringing in a few hunting parties. They will certainly be more convincing than any advertising matter we might put out ourselves.

In connection with hunting and fishing, the C.P.R. are now referring the enquiries they receive to me for attention. It is very evident that they intend to help us as much as they can to make these parts better known.

Dr. King when he was here recently told me that the Banff-Windermere Road would be through this summer, perhaps in August, but this morning I received the attached letter in respect to it, and am writing and putting before the Ministers he mentions, what it means in dollars and cents to both B.C. and Alberta. I had a letter about this in one of the Calgary papers recently, and to give an idea of what it means to us, I give some of my figures here.

It is estimated that there will be at least 10,000 cars from California, Oregon and Washington, come up over that road the first year it is opened. Staticians now class motor tourists in two classes. Those who stay at hotels and those who camp out, and give the comparative numbers as about equal. Those staying at hotels average out in daily expenses $13 each, made up as follows:- hotel bills $8, car expenses $3 and incidentals $2. Campers average $6 a day each, and the average number of pasengers per car is 4. Tourists coming into Canada are allowed a free entry permit of 30 days duration, and it is natural to assume that the great majority of them stay

"MY BOY" EXPECTED TO BREAK RECORDS

Ertensive preparations are being made by Manager Johnston of the Orpheum theatre for the forthcoming showing of "My Boy," an Associated First National attraction, starring little Jackie Coogan, which is to be shwon there for an engagement of two days, starting next Wednesday.

Due to the popularity of this diminutive star, Manager Johnston is anticipating crowded houses. "Peck's Bad Boy," his previous starring vehicle, took the country by storm and "My Boy" is expected to outdo that production.

"My Boy" was written especially for Jackie, and contains a story which is eminently fitted to his talents. Combining humor and pathos, it is a tale which is particularly gripping and effective. It was produced by Sol. Lesser, and the sterling cast includes Claude Dillingwater and Mathilda Brundage.

The story is that of little Jackie Blair, who lands in New York homeless and friendless. He attaches himself to a surly sea captain, who is an enemy of children in general, but he so ingratiates himself into the good graces of the sea dog that he is allowed to share the latter's home.

He had been saved from deportation through good fortune, but the immigration inspectors are on his trail. The captain had intended at first to turn him over to the officials, but the boy had won his heart so thoroughly that when it came time to carry out his intention he was unable to do so. But a good fairy was lying in wait for Jackie, and he was able to return the captain's benefactions.

A Special Matinee for school children will be run Wednesday at 4 p.m. Admission, children 10c: adults 50c.

A Vienna report says that the marriage of an Austrian Prince is on the tapis. The event may not take place until the propective groom sells his tapestry.

FILM MONTE CARLO IN "CAMILLE" SCENE

Probably no spot of world-wi....de interest ever has been more faithfully reproduced for film purposes than has the interior of the famous Casino at Monte Carlo for Nažimova's production of "Camille," a Metro picture coming to the Isis Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition to the construction of the complete Casino on one of the big enclosed stages at Metro's Hollywood studios, the entire movie colony was combed for the picturesque types to be seen in the action depicted within its walls. For this purpose more than five hundred men and women, some of whom never before had worked before a camera, were selected by Nazimova and her director, Ray Smallwood.

The army of tourists who inhabits Los Angeles during the winter months and the movie colony and the wealthy residents of the resort towns about Los Angeles were called upon to furnish their contributions to the lists of those who participated in the production.

Not only the glamour of the famous gaming house, but the tragedies of its frequenters, the sidelights of comedy among the attendants, and the fascinating flashes that characterize all of the gifted Nazimova's productions, are seen in this phase of the story of "Camille."

The Toronto Star chides Ambassador Harvey for referring to Canada's "icy mountains." He should have spoken of "the snow-capped peaks of the Rockies," and all would have been well.

that length of time, but to make it very conservative I cut that in two and estimated on a stay of 14 days only. 5,000 cars whose passengers put up at hotels will average $52 a day each car. This makes a total of $3,640,000. 5000 camping parties average $24 a day per car, and this amounts to $1,680,000. In all $5,320,000. And this stupendous amount does not include a single Canadian motorist, or any who will come from the States south of us apart from those three named. There will be thousands of Canadian cars make this circle trip, and we shall get them all through here, but a big effort must be made to get the people from the Western States familiar with the fact that they will miss some of the best of the scenery if they go direct north from Cranbrook and dont come at least as far as here. The California State Auto Association have promised they will tell every tourist they send to come as far as Fernie, and that will help.

Regarding road work to be done here this year, Mr. Brady the district engineer asked me to submit to him in writing any suggestions we wished to make, which I did, and I understand from our local superintendent, Mr. Hayne, that my letter was sent to him with instructions to estimate on the new work, and also he told me that the main road through this district will be properly surfaced during the summer, and that the work done will be of a permanent nature.

Whilst the outlook for Fernie becoming a popular tourist centre is more promising than ever, it would a great mistake to let up in the slightest in our work this year, though next year, with the Tourist Association on a better footing, they will handle all publicity matters and the expense to the individual Boards will be very little.

Respectfully submitted
J. Fred Spalding, Sec.

Secretary's Suggestions for 1922

-o-

Clear out the entire space we have at the camping grounds and put in individual plots similar to the ones already there, sufficient to accommodate at least twenty different parties at the same time. Extend the water and light connections and put in a shower bath.

The approximate cost should be kept under	$ 400.00
Keep up the Information Bureau cost for year	300.00
Share in the Expense of getting out the maps	50.00
Pay the difference between the City's grant and our assessment to the Tourist Association which is	250.00
Pay up all back accounts....	244.79

This will call for the collection of $1,244.79 for this year's programme, and as we should make allowances for emergencies, I would suggest that we endeavor to raise at least $1,500. I believe that we can do this. There are several sources from which we can expect to get substantial subscriptions, which were not available last year, and it is reasonable to expect that those who made promises last year that they were not able to keep, will try to make up for it, by contributing this year. In saying that we should endeavor to raise $1,500, I do not mean to say that we should stop at that amount if the prospects of more be obtained are not exhausted by then. In the past we have been very considerably handicapped by scantness of funds, for instance our inability on that account to participate in the Sportsmen's & Tourist's Exhibition at Spokane last spring. This would have been a splendid thing for us, and they were most anxious to have us take part, even offering us inducements which none of the others had. This exhibition will most likely be held again this year, and from talks I have had about it with some of the members of the other Boards, they will be more willing to co-operate with us this year.

With the increase in the size and importance of the Tourist Association will come a corresponding decrease in the publicity expenses to our Boards of Trade individually, and I quite believe that after this year, our Board will not find it necessary to rase much more than half the amount mentioned in the foregoing and therefore, I strongly advocate that no effort be spared in making this year a bumper financial term. With the prospect of 1922 being the last time that our members will be asked to subscribe in heavy amounts, and the knowledge that what they have done in the past three years has made possible the formation of such an important Association as we have now, one that will spread the expense more in proportion to where it belongs, is an inducement which I do not think they will fail to respond to. The Members of this Board have had to go on faith for three years, during the experimental stages of our work, and I personally want to take this opportunity of sincerely thanking them for having shown in such a substantial manner their confidence in my ability to carry on the work. If I have succeeded, it is only through the whole-hearted support I have received during the last year, especially from our President, Mr. Stewart, who has helped me very considerably with his advice.

J. Fred Spalding,
Secretary and Publicity Commissioner.

WILL PROTECT MINES IN CASE OF SUSPENSION

CALGARY, Mar. 19.—Should either local or general suspension of coal mining occur at the expiration of the present wage agreement on March 31, the engineers, firemen and pumpmen who are members of the U. M. W. A., will not supend work, but will fully protect the property under their care and operate fans and pumps for that purpose. This was unamiously agreed upon during the second day's session of the U. M.W.A., district No. 18, special scale conference Sunday.

While discussing policies to be adopted in the event of a strike, the committee was hopeful that the operators may agree to reopen negotiations. The miners decided that should all efforts to secure a basic wage scale for the entire district fail, they will be willing to enter into negotiations on April 1 with indvdual operators, a number of whom have already made approaches for ths purpose.

Ignatius Jack, a mighty Indian hunter from Tobacco Plains, was in the city this week with two monster cougar skins, which he took on Wigwam Creek. This makes eight courars which he has killed this winter, and as the bounty is $40 per head he is doing some profitable hunting. In the encounter in which he secured the last two his best hunting dog was killed by one of the animals. Another Indian from Tobacco Plains named Mike McCoy, has killed four cougars this winter.

J. Fred Spalding, commissioner for the Tourist Association of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta, has just received a check from the C.P.R. for $750, as a donation towards the funds of the Association. This clearly shows their appreciation of the work being done by the Association, and that they are reaping benefits from it. Last year this company donated the equivalent of more than $600 towards our local publicity work, and the fact that they have given an increased amount in cash this year proves that they have been satisfied with results.

On and after the first of April, 1922, the rate of postage on money packets addressed to places within Canada, the Empire, the United States and Mexico will be five cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce. As the prepayment required on money packets posted for delivery within Canada, the Empire, the United States and Mexico includes the war tax of one cent, money packets weighing one ounce or less should be prepaid six cents. Money packets weighing more than one ounce should be prepaid six cents for the first ounce and five cents for each subsequent ounce or fraction of an ounce. The registration fee of ten cents is also to be prepaid. Money packets are packets of bank notes, etc., sent mostly by banks or business firms to their branches and to firms or individuals handling money in quantity, which at present pass through the mails at the ordinary letter rate. Under the term "Money Packets" are included bank notes, coin, bullion, gold dust, bonds and coupons payable to bearer, stocks and other securities negotiable by the bearer.

Right now is the time for every business man in the city to get behind the Board of Trade and Mr. Spalding in their publicity campaign to bring the tourist travel this way during the coming summer. With every prospect of a strike coming on this city will need all the outside business that can possibly be secured. The publicity commissioner has a vast amount of work to do and the least that the citizens of this town can do is to furnish their portion of the sinews of war. All other towns along the Crow are doing their share. Let Fernie not be behind.

A venerable old lady of this city, in the person of Mrs. Maria Dominica Carsosella, passed peacefully away at the home of her son, Philip Carosella, on Sunday last, at the age of 93 years. Deceased was born in Agnone, Italy, and came to Canada, where her sons had preceded her, about twenty-five years ago. She resided in Algoma for five years, when the boys moved their families to Fernie, where she has resided ever since. Deceased is survived by three sons, Philip, Frank and Louis, and two step-daughters. The funeral, which was very largely attended, took place on Tuesday from the Roman Catholic church to the local cemetery.

William Henry Perry, for thirteen years a resident of this city, died at the family residence, Victoria Ave., last evening, after a lingering illness of many months. Deceased was born in London, Ont., in 1857, where he resided for many years. In 1899 he moved with his family to Nelson, where he was employed by B. C. Riblet, and later was co-inventor of the Crawford Del Rope Aerial Tramway. He came to Fernie with his family about 1909, where he has resided ever since. Deceased, who was highly respected, leaves a loving wife and one son to mourn his death. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon. The time will be shown on notice boards.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

DEJECTED speculators in mining stocks, real estate bargains, oil shares, etc., bestrew the landscape thick as autumn leaves these days. Their hopes have "fallen in the blast." The lucky man today is the one who invested his money in Mutual Life Endowment policies. These combine household protection with a safe and remunerative investment. Each $100.00 invested has produced all the way from $127.00 to $217.00, according to the term of the endowment, exclusive of the insurance feature. Mutual Life endowments are the thing in which to invest in days of doubt and uncertainty.

TO TAKE CARE OF YOUR HAIR

(by E. F. Bowers, M.D.)

A woman's hair grows normally at the rate of about a half an inch a month. So in a year a growth of six inches might be expected. This rate of growth may be stimulated, however, by a variety of means. Chief among these is to keep the general health at the highest possible point. For hair health depends largely upon general health.

But to expedite the natural growth it is absolutely necessary to see to it that the scalp and hair receives careful attention. If the hair follicles are clogged by dust or dirt, or by the accumulation of sebaceous matter thrown out by the glands ot the skin, the normal processes of hair nutrition cannot be carried out.

However, to maintain the scalp in the best condition of cleanliness, it isn't necessary to wash or shampoo the hair with too great a degree of frequency. A semi-weekly washing might deprive the scalp of its normal amount of oil, which would cause dry, brittle hair, without lustre, elasticity or beauty. Unless there is some special reason, such as eczema or some scalp disease, which might require the frequent use of water and antiseptic solution, twice a month should be often enough to wash the hair.

Pure castile is one of the best of all bases for a shampoo, but an egg added to a jelly made by boiling the shavings of castile soap in water, also is splendid. The shampoo should be rubbed thoroughly into the scalp, adding very little water from time to time, until the desired quantity of lather is obtained. The hair should be parted so that the scalp is thoroughly exposed. After the scalp has been gone over in this way, it should be rinsed several times — or until every particle of moisture.

Both the washing water and the rinse water should be warm, and the cold dash at the finish to close the pores. When drying the hair particular care should be taken to get out every partisle of moisture.

Curly hair should never be brushed immediately after shampooing, as it might make it straight and stringy. However, brushing after the hair is thoroughly dry, and a night and morning brushing every day thereafter until the next shampoo day, is of wonderful tonic value to the scalp, and splendid for increasing the lustre of the hair.

Special care in brushing should be used at first, especially if the scalp is tender, as it may be inclined to produce irritation. A fairly stiff brush should be used to effect the removal of dandruff, after which a soft one may be employed for polishing and arranging.

Direct exposure to the rays of the sun is one of the best hair tonics known to science. Sun baths, taken regularly, impart a lustre and richness of color that can be secured in no other way. Always try a sun bath after washing the scalp and get the full rays of the sun.

Dry hair is another problem of the Canadian girl. It is almost always slow growing. To stimulate hair growth it is most necessary to overcome the scaly condition of the scalp, which is caused, to a large extent, by errors in diet, predisposing to an acid condition of the system. Among the most common of these are the use of demineralized foods, such as white bread and white crackers, "pearled" barley, uncoated rice and scoured oatmeal; over-indulgence in meat, coffee, sugar, candy, pickles and condiments.

Many skin specialists claim that the dandruff or "scruf," which is cast off in large flakes in excessively dry conditions of the scalp, is due to nothing more or less than the excess acids of the system mixing with the oily secretion of the hair follicle.

To overcome the acid condition in the shortest possible time, it might be well to go on a fruit and milk diet for a while. Milk is one of the richest of all foods in lime salts, and, carried into the blood, restores the deficient mineral salts found in all over-acid conditions. Care should be observed, however, to insure that the milk taken consists of whole milk, containing the natural butter fats, to supply the vitamines so badly needed by the system. Filled milk—milk from which the butter fat has been removed, and which, instead, has been reinforced with cocoanut oil, or some cheap substitute for butter fat, is likely to develop certain disorders. It is bad for the health, and by that same token, equally bad for the hair.

Dry, scaly scalps respond remarkably well to this regulation of the diet, especially if reinforced with a daily application of olive oil, rubbed briskly and effectively into the scalp with the fingertips. It may here be observed that oily hair is most generally associated with auto-intoxication from absorption of toxic matter from the bowels.

To help overcome this condition, careful and regular attention must be directed toward securing better elimination, so as to rid the system of the toxins that accumulate and depress the general state of health.

Proper massage is one of the best of all aids in stimulating the growth of the hair. It brings new supplies of blood to the roots and furnishes more nutrition for the hair-bulb, causing the hair shaft to shoot up faster. It is sometimes well, also, to pull the hair gently, lifting the scalp from the table of the skull. This helps the circulation. The elements needed to feed the hair are taken up in larger quantities Hardly anything gives the scalp the feeling of being so thoroughly awakened as does this little "stunt."

Many girls have difficulty in developing any length to their hair because of the tendency of the ends to split. One of the surest ways of overcoming this condition is twice a week to soak the ends or tips of the hair in a shallow bath of olive oil before retiring. Then carefully dry with a warm towel. If sufficiently long, the hair can then be braided loosely or else confined with a ribbon to prevent tangling.

If this treatment is regularly persisted in for six months it is almost a certainty that the tendency of the hair to split will be gone. At least the treatment has "worked" in hundreds of cases, many of which have resisted practically every other form of treatment.

So there isn't any one great secret connected with progressing from the bobbed hair to the long-haired class. Health, cleanliness and a high degree of general and local nutrition should be maintained. Then the girl of 1923 should have her head of hair very beautiful once more.

And, let us hope, she'll have the very good sense to keep it this time. For ,after all, isn't hair woman's "crowning glory?" And, while the short hair style really does make certain types more attractive, does the improvement of the personal appearance of the few justify the sacrifice of the many? I do not think so. I hail, with delight, the return of long hair.—Vancouver Sun.

"All the Boys Want a Ride on My New C.C.M."

TOMMY STEVENS has one big kick—

All the boys want to ride his new C. C. M. bicycle.

Tommy says, "The fellows pester the life out of me. Before one of them has finished a ride, some other fellow is

Coaxing for a Turn

They all seem to like my new C. C. M. a lot better than their own bikes."

Aside from this one kick, Tommy is tickled to death with his new bicycle.

He admits he can hardly blame the fellows for wanting to ride it. It runs so much easier. And when the boys ask him why, Tommy tells them about the

C.C.M. Triplex Hanger

It reduces friction. And there's a freedom from those mean "tight and loose" spots often developed by other hangers.

Tommy says, "It makes a C. C. M. bicycle run so smooth and easy you'd almost think you were riding down grade. And I can feel the Triplex fairly sizzle with power and pull away like mad when I hit her up!"

Boys! Girls! Have you ridden a C. C. M. Bicycle with the C. C. M. Triplex Hanger? Get your father to go to the dealer's with you and see one.

The New Models Are Beauties

The last word in bicycle style and smartness. Wonderfully smooth enamelling that fairly sparkles. And the "bright as sunshine" nickelling is done over copper so it can't rust.

All C. C. M. Bicycles have the New Hercules Positive Drive Coaster Brake — the kind that coasts farther and has no clumsy side arm.

And there's a special one that the boy won't outgrow. Equally good for a lad of nine or a youth of twenty. Step into a C.C.M. dealer's and ask to see the C. C. M. 18-in. Curved Bar Model.

BOARD SEEMS USELESS

CALGARY, Alta., March 20.—The scale committee of the United Mine Workers here are in a quandry regarding a telegram received from the Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, as to the interpretation of section 57 of the Lemieux Act.

The minister states what his wishes are but candidly says they may not be upheld in the court.

The text of his telegram is as follows:

"My firm conviction is that the spirit and intention of the act and of section 57 should be construed and applied so as to maintain conditions unchanged subject to the full investigation of a board and until a decision is reached. This would not possibly be construed as authorizing or permitting unreasonable delay in the application generally intended provision of the law.

"If a board is formed I shall take the position with both the operators and workers that wages and hours should remain unchanged subject to the investigation to be held and until the filing of a decision; but I am not of course, in a position to determine or suggest that the operators will recognize such a postion on my part, nor to say if the position would be sustained in law.

"You of course understand that if application for a board is made, the proceedings can be continued by wire so as to bring about as promptly as possible the formation of a board."

Although the miners' officials are not over sanguine, they state that an application for a board will be made. They will, however, reserve the right of rejecting any findings of the Board assuming that a Board is appointed.

Local operators are not for a moment receding from their position. They say there is not the slightest likelihood of the present scale of wages being continued after Mar. 31, no matter what action might be taken by the parties or government with respect to the formation of a scale after that date. "It is an absolutely foregone conclusion," said one of them, "that we will not continue to pay the present rate a day longer than necessary."

Even if a Board is appointed it is the general belief here that the proceedings are likely to be long drawn out without any guarantee of the continued operation of the mines. Boards appointed in the past have not always operated with the mines running, in fact, in 1911 during the sitting of the conciliation board the mines were idle for eight months.

As the end of the month approaches it is becoming more abundantly evident that coal mine operators in district 18, so far as the union mines are concerned, will be suspended on April 1st.

COST OF MINING COAL IS BLAMED

Chicago, March 22.—The average increase in the cost of coal at the mine since 1914 has been 105 per cent, according to replies to a questionnaire sent to nearly 400 consumers with an approximate annual consumption of 12,000,000 tons of soft coal. The questionnaire was sent by a special committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, which today made public its report. The percentage of increase varied from 30 to between 300 and 400 per cent.

The high cost of coal, the committee said, was due to the high cost of mining, in which the following factors were found to enter: War time wages of miners, constituting nearly 70 per cent of the operating cost; voluntary absenteeism of miners, operators claiming it takes three man to do what two men did before the war; high cost of material and suppiles; more than 100 per cent increase in general taxes in 5 years; increase in general expenses, including compensation insurance, which has advanced more than 300 per cent; increase in office expenses due to requirements of accounting established by the government, and increased selling expenses due to efforts to sell coal in competition with nonunion eastern coal.

The majority of coal operators in 1921 operated at a loss, the report said. The average profit for most advantageously situated Illinois mines for 1921 was given at 6 and 7 cents a ton.

MINERS HAVE APPLIED FOR CONCILIATION BOARD

CALGARY, Mar. 21—As forecasted the miners in District 18, have applied for a conciliation board under the Lemieux Act and notified the Western Coal Operators' Association as to this on Tuesday morning, also D. E. Harrison, local representative of the federal department of labor.

Emphasis is laid in their letter upon the present scale of wages applying during the negotiations, but this is a point not easily overcome, as the operators are absolutely adamant that their new scale shall apply after March 31.

R. M. Young, commissioner of the operators' association stated that a meeting would be called within a few days to consider the situation and to reply to the miners' officials.

"A FOREST PROTECTION SCHOOL ON HEELS'

One of the most picturesque and effective of educational enterprises will soon be at work in British Columbia with the arrival about April 3rd of the "Forest Exhibits Car" of the Canadian Forestry Association. This car has been called "A Forest Protection School on Wheels and is made up of a series of graphic exhibits driving home the common sense facts of forest fire prevention in such an interesting way as to impress not only adults but the youngest school child.

During the past month this car has been completely made over by a staff of workmen and artists so as to adapt its visual instruction to British Columbia conditions. A large working model showing an actual rainfall on deforested, contrasted with well forested, hillsides, will show the onlooker exactly the consequences of forest destruction on the watersheds as regards agricultural fertility. An electrical illusion depicting the transformation of timber stands into areas of waste is also provided. Models of lookout towers and pulp and paper towns and methods of conservative and wasteful logging are shown. The recreational side of forest protection is by no means neglected so that the car interior with its hundreds of electric lights and colored transparencies presents a scene of real beauty.

Daily lectures will be given by members of the British Columbia Forest Service. The first part of the itinerary will cover Vancouver Island and later the Cranbrook, Nelson and Vernon districts will be visited.

AMERICAN CONSULAR OFFICE Fernie, B.C.

It will be of interest to American citizens resident in the district to learn that the commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States has made a ruling which extends the time for filing returns of income for 1921 and subsequent years. The time for filing such returns and paying United States income tax, when due, is extended to the 15th day of the 6th month following the close of the taxable year. The installments of tax actually due must be paid at the time of filing the returns, and other installments as they fall due. An affidavit should be attached to the return stating the cause of the delay in filing.

OPERATORS' VIEWPOINT

CALGARY, March 28—The position of the coal operators in the inpending dispute was clearly outlined by R. M. Young, the commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, in the course of an interview on Tuesday.

"It is a simple matter to suggest that someone else should go on paying certain wages beyond the time agreed upon between the parties," he said, "but there is no suggestion from any source where the money is to be found to pay them. There seems to be an impression that the question is one of either paying the present high wages and continuing to work, or refusing to pay them and closing down. The facts are that a continuance of paying them would mean closing down. The operators' proposal is that the men accept wages which will enable operators to continue operating the mines and selling coal, the permanency of the wages offered being a matter still to be settled.

"Neither the operators or the miners ignore the public interest, but as far as the operators are concerned, they have unmistakable evidence of the fact that the public, which includes the industrial as well as the personal consumer, have no intention of continuing to pay the high price of coal after April 1st. They have already intimated that intention by an apathy with regard to buying which, with the plain probability of idleness after April 1, does not induce more orders than sufficient to keep the mines running at the present time more than from two to three days a week.

"To say that the appeal in the industrial Disputes Investigation Act is due to the respect which the international officials of the union have for the act, is certainly a stretch of the imagination," he continued. "The act has been in effect for some fifteen years, and during that time, although there have been dozens of strikes and a long list of demands for changed wages and changed conditions made by the miners, not only at the end of agreement periods, but during the life of them, on two occasions only have they submitted their cause to the decision of a board under the Lemieux Act, and in both these cases they rejected the findings of the board when made.

"The argument that a stagnant market and consequently reduced working time must be met by the maintenance of high wages or an increase in them will not hold water," said Mr. Young. "After the War, and while the high scale of wages continued, Great Britain found American and continental coal delivered at its ports, for less money than the home product could be produced for. The situation was not met by maintaining the high wages, nor increasing them. Wages were deflated and prices were brought in line with competition, with the result which is well known that Great Britain has regained her home markets, has gone a long way toward re-establishing herself in her foreign market and in some cases has even delivered coal on the Atlantic seaboard in competition with the American product.

"In the United States the same situation has developed. In 1921 the mines whose operations enabled them to reduce their wages and decrease their prices got the cream of the business, and have already made contracts for this year's business at figures which the high scale mines cannot meet. In one of the biggest districts the high scale mines in 1921 did 59 per cent. of their 1920 business, while the mines whose wages had been reduced did in 1921, 89 per cent. of their 1920 business,"

"The operators," said Mr. Young, "have not opposed the operation of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act: they have agreed to the constitution of the board, and named their representative on it. But as stated, the findings of the board in this district in the past, and in Nova Scotia in January of the present year, have not been accepted as a final settlement, and to agree to continue the present scale indefinitely would simply mean that the mines would close, not as a result of any strike or lockout, but as a result of their inability to get orders at prices which would enable them to continue operations.'

Having all kinds of shooting at home, Ireland may not send a rifle team to Bisley this season. Sniping is a more exciting sport than target practice.

CAPE BRETON MINERS CHOOSE A DICTATOR

SYDNEY, N. S., March 28.—A demand for the setting aside of the constitution of the United Mine Workers and the naming of Secretary J. B. McLachlan as "chief dictator" of the miners of Nova Scotia for the period of the present fight with the operators was put forward last night in reolutions adopted at mass meetings of Caledonia, Dominion Number Four, and Dominion Number two locals, all large and influential divisions of the U. M. W. of A.

At Dominion Number One here, President Baxter and Vice-President Delaney were hissed down and refused a hearing while the miners voted for McLachlan as chief dictator.

At Number Four the local refused to endorse the "striking on the job" policy, but called for the appointment of McLachlan as dictator.

SCHOOL LIBRARY FUND CONCERT

For the past three years Mrs. A. Watson has placed lovers of music under a debt of gratitude and this year has been no exception. The concert held in Knox Church in aid of the Public School Library Fund was a splendid success, artistically as well as financially. The platform was effectively decorated with palms cutflowers and shaded lights, which made a very pleasing background.

The opening number of an exceptionally good program was a song "Daffodils Ablowing," given by Mrs. Kirkpatrick in a sweet, pleasing voice. Her encore was entitled "I Passed by Your Window." Mr. McDonald sang the old favorite, "Anchored," followed by "Shipmates o' Mine," which were both well received. Miss Anderson's voice was heard to good advantage in two numbers, "Irish Lullaby" and "Until." Mrs. Osborne delighted the audience with a captivating novelty "The Blackbird Song," with a whistling accompaniment. Her first number was the "Carmena Waltz Song." Harold Anderson rendered two piano solos, "If I Were a Bird" and Kachmarinoff's prelude in C. Sharp Minor, to both of which he responded with encores. Judging by the enthusiastic reception given Mr. Anderson, he has lost none of his ability to charm an audience. Mrs. Lawes sang brilliantly and vivaciously wth wonderful purity of tone, two numbers, the waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet," and by special request "Il Bacio." Mrs. Suddaby's beautiful voice was never in better form than in her two songs, "Calm as the Night" and "Life and Death." In the former number her notes rang forth with an organlike quality that moved her hearers deeply. Wes. Owen gave two songs, "Glorious Devon" and "Come to the Fair." He has a delightfully easy style and sang with no apparent effort. Of Mrs. Watson's singing little can be said that is not already known to her admirers. Her two numbers, "The Enchanted Forest" and "Spirit Flower," were sung with the poise of an experienced artist. Mr. Watson's playing of the violin solo "Berceuse" was remarkable for its fine quality of tone. Mrs. Hayne made an excellent accompanist, assisted by Mr. Watson, who brought a fine musical intelligence to bear on the interpretation of the different numbers.

The artistic achievements of these singers proves what can be done in a small community when the training is under the direction of a musician of the personal qualities of Mrs. Watson.

MICHEL PYTHIAN SISTERS

A farewell banquet and social was given in Michel Hall on Monday, March 27, by the officers of the above order for the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Bentham, Mr. and Mrs. Gullett and Mr. Gale. They are leaving for the old country shortly. Great praise is due to the officers for the special care taken in decorating the tables and providing an excellent repast. Mr. LeRoy acted as chairman and songs were rendered by S. James and T. Critchley; also a piano selection by Miss Annie Gaskell, which deserves special mention.

The rest of the evening was spent in music and dancing, the music being supplied by B. Elliott, D. M. Waddington, Mr. Proctor and H. Parsons.

COMPANY MAKES OFFER

From all appearances it looks as though the mines of District No. 18 would be idle for some weeks at least. The local company in a notice posted today have offered the men work at the new scale with the promise that should the new agreement give them more, such increase would be retroactive to the 1st of April. This would seem fair to the ordinary thinker, but the men demand the old scale and unless there is some change in their attitude the mines will be idle tomorrow.

Arrangements have been made whereby the maintenance of mine men will remain at work until the trouble is adjusted.

R. G. Drinnan, of Edmonton, has been appointed to represent the operators and H. Ostlund, K.C., of Lethbridge, the men, on the conciliation board, but up to the present time they have been unable to agree upon a chairman. It is to be hoped that this difficulty will soon be overcome as it will take the board at least three weeks to go into the different camps and take evidence. If their report is made promptly and adopted by both parties, it will be a month at least before the men will be able to return to work.

NOTICE

The mines of this Company will be open for work on Saturday, April 1st, 1922, on the understanding that the new wage scale posted by the Company on March 2nd, 1922, be accepted temporarily by any employee of the Company on the understanding that the new wage scale finally arrived at through the guidance of the "Conciliation Board" which is now constituted, when accepted will be made retroactive in its application to April 1st, 1922 as above stated. The Company sincerely hopes that its employees will see the expediency of cooperating with the Company in this informal request, and thereby prevent a needless stoppage of work and needless strife that can only result in a financial injury to all concerned in this question.

FOOTBALL CLUB REORGANIZE

A meeting of the Fernie Football Club was held on Sunday, March 19, in the G.W.V.A. rooms, with quite a large attendance. The following officers were elected for the coming season:

Hon. Pres.—W. R. Wilson.

Hon. Vice-Presidents—G. G. Henderson, Thos Uphill, M.P.P., G. G. Moffatt, A Klauer, W. A. Ingram, E. K. Stewart, T. Prentice, H. A. Bryant, Wm. Commons.

President—Thos. Muirhead.

Vice-Pres.—Ned Sherwin.

Sec.-Treas.—Benny Smith.

Trainer—Joe Hamer.

A.J. Carter was appointed as the Fernie delegate to the League meeting, which will be held shortly.

There will be a meeting called shortly to discuss the possibility of a city league. Surely Fernie has enough young men to run a league. Any society or organization wishing to take part in the above, watch for date of meeting and send a representative.

The boys are getting their old boots patched up and waiting for the grounds to clear. Some said never again last season, but watch them when the good weather comes and the old ball gets rolling.

Ottawa, March 30.—Hon. James H. King, the new minister of public works, was introduced in the house of commons at its opening this afternoon. The return of the writ for his election was announced by the speaker and immediately afterward the minister was introduced by the premier and Hon. W. S. Fielding. Hon. J. H. King sits with Hon. HOW THE HOUSFLY AIDS IN CARRYING DISEASE

Although flies feed regularly upon human foods in houses and stores, they are equally fond of all sorts of filthy matter, and will wander back and forth from one to the other.

Dragging their germ-laden feet and bodies over food stuffs, or depositing their excrement as "fly speck," they carry disease germs from infected filth to food. We may thus take into our stomachs any germs accessible to the flies.

Summer complaint, which causes the death of many young children every season, is nearly always the result of germs in foods. These are often carried to foods by flies.

The Board of Health makes regulations to protect the health of all our household, but these regulations will not save us from illness if we allow flies to scatter disease germs over our food.

ANNUAL GOLF MEETING

The annual meeting of the Fernie Golf Club was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.

Hon. Vice-President—A. B. Trites.

President—E. K. Stewart.

Vice-President—T. Prentice.

2nd Vice-President — A. C. Liphardt.

Sec.-Treas.—G. F. Johnson.

Executive—J. S. Irvine, S. Herchmer, J Corbett, G. G. Moffatt, Rev. Burns, A. Wilson, J. L. Gates; Capt. A. Watson.

Handicap Committee — A. Watson and J. S. Irvine.

It was arranged that the executive committee have power to appoint all other committees.

The financial report of last year was read, showing a big deficit, and after a long discussion it was decided to raise the annual fees to $25 for men and $15 for ladies. The green fee for visitors was fixed at 50c.

Owing to the grass conditions which prevail during July and August it was decided to buy a Triplex Mower at a cost of about $700.

A. Watson and S. Herchmer were appointed delegates to attend the East Kootenay and Southern Alberta Golf Association meeting.

E. K. Stewart has donated a valuable cup for competition this season.

DISCOURAGE USE OF SMALL CARDS AND ENVELOPES

It is desired that at the coming Easter season the public should be urged to discontinue the use of small cards and envelopes. The following objection to their use are pointed out by the P.O. department:

1. As a result of the small size of cards or envelopes the post office cancellation mark frequently falls on the address partially obliterating it with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

2. There is difficulty in the post office sortation and handling of small cards and envelopes and this causes delay.

3. There is also difficulty in putting small cards or envelopes through stamp cancelling machines at larger offices, and this too causes delay.

4. The small size of the cards or envelopes makes them apt to fall out of bundles in which they are tied, and there is a possibility of loss as a result of this.

Responsibility for loss, misdelivery or delay as outlined above, arising from the use of small cards or envelopes, rests entirely with the sender.

FINE "CAPPY RICKS" CAST

A cast unusual for even a Paramount production, is seen in "Cappy Ricks," the Thomas Meighen vehicle which come to the Orpheum Theatre, tonight and tomorrow night and the usual Saturday matinee. Agnes Ayres, who is a Paramount star, plays the leading feminine role, that of Florrie Ricks, Charles Abbey, veteran actor of stage and screen who created the role of Cappy Ricks in Peter B. Kyne's play, has the same role in the picture. John Sainpolis plays Skinner, Paul Everton is seen as the unfortunate Captain Kendall; Hugh Cameron as Murphy, Eugenie Woodward, Mrs. Peasley; Ivan Linov as Captain Peterson, and others almost as well known.

C. N. P. RATES CAUSE CONCERN

OTTAWA, Mar. 27.—Appointment by the government of W.E. Campbell of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Freight association, western lines is the first step the government has taken to advise itself and the railway commission in the vital matter of making a decision both in the matter of equalizing eastern and western freight rates and as to the action to be taken in the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. This is, in some respects, the most difficult problem that the government and parliament has to deal with, for in so far as the railway commission is concerned, it can't fix rates above a certain point as long as the Crow's Nest Pass agreement is in the way. And the suspension of the latter automatically comes to an end on July 8th unless the suspension is further extended. Shut off from much trade with the United States by the emergency tariff Canadian business interests are compelled to cultivate more assidously the domestic as well as the European market. The keener competition resulting from this necessity to sell more Canadians compels business interests to leave no stone unturned that will help their particular industry or business. But they claim that the existing rates impose a barrier in the way of much of this business. The sugar refiners and other maritime industrialists, shut off from the United States must ship their products in to Canadian markets west of them. The Montreal refiners must ship both east and west, thus clashing with the maritime people. In Western Canada competition exists as between British Columbia and the prairie provinces.

The railway commission, before whom the question of the equalization of eastern and western freight rates is now being argued, has a difficult case in hand. Chairman Carvel put the situation well the other day, when he said: "The other big problem is to decide whether we are to treat this whole question as a cold blooded proposition as far as the railways are concerned, or whether we are to consider the question in the light of the economic conditions in the various parts of the country. If we were sitting here as politicians it would be a very simple matter. We would try to please everybody." The indications are that the Crow's Nest agreement question is put up to the government for a decision; it will probably try to find a middle way out of the difficulty.

"NOT GUILTY" IS RICKARD VERDICT

NEW YORK, Mar. 28.—George L. (Tex) Rickard, international sports promoter, tonight was found not guilty of criminal assault on Sarah Schoenfeld, 15-year-old school girl, by a jury in the supreme court. The verdict was handed down after the jury had deliberated an hour and a half.

When the verdict was announced Rickard, his face flushed, went over to his counsel, Max D. Steuer, and embraced him.

"This is the happiest day of my life," exclaimed Rickard.

There was some applause when the verdict was announced.

Rickard was told that he would be freed under bail, pending disposal of other charges against him. When court was adjourned many spectators shook Rickard's hand and court attendants had difficulty in preserving order. Rickard was carried almost bodily from the courtroom up one flight of stairs to the sheriff's office, where he posed for photographers.

Turning to newspaper men, Rickard said:

"Thank you all. God bless you. You have all been nice to me. I've never been happier in my life. Boys, I have shot craps for $35,000 a roll and I was never in any greater suspense than when the jury returned to the courtroom. Did you see the poker faces they had on?"

Asked by a cub reporter what he meant by 'poker faces,' Rickard said: "Why, you couldn't read them. You couldn't tell what they had in mind."

When he left the sheriff's office police reserves and court attendants were summoned to keep the crowd moving. He was given three cheers by the crowd as he stepped into his automobile to be taken home. Later Rickard explained that he played a $35,000 crap game with a man named Carstairs in Philadelphia.

Chicago butchers have started a campaign to eliminate the term "hot dog" as applied to an article of diet that has long been a hot favorite at open-air luncheons. They certify that there is nothing suggestive of the canine in its contents, which consists of two-thirds beef and one-third pork or veal. A "hot dog' by any other name will taste the same.

MRS. KENNEDY'S RHEUMATISM IS ENTIRELY GONE

Stomach Troubles Also Overcome By Tanlac And She Is Like A New Person, Declares Vancouver Resident.

"Tanlac has certainly done me a world of good and I'm firmly convinced of its merit," said Mrs. J. Kennedy, 668 Hastings Street East,, Vancouver, B.C.

"I was in failing health for some time and finally became very much alarmed about my condition. My appetitie was very poor and the little I ate seemed to do me more harm than good. I was bothered a good deal with rheumatism, too, and was so restless that I hardly ever got any refreshing sleep.

"I began to get better almost from my first dose of Tanlac and kept on improving until now I am just like a different person altogether. I have a splendid appetitie, my digestion is perfect and I sleep like a child every night. It is just wonderful to me how quickly Tanlac built me up and I just can't begin to tell how happy I feel over my restoration to health."

SEED TIME AND THE OAT SUPPLY

The unfortunate crop conditions in 1921 in many parts of Canada, more especially for oats, led the Seed Purchasing Commission of the Seed Branch at Ottawa, to hold in reserve considerably more than half a million bushels of No. 1 seed oats for this spring's seeding. This grain was stored in government interior terminal elevators at Calgary and Saskatoon. Early in March about 400,000 bushels of this grain had been disposed of, a considerable proportion of it going to Ontario, Quebec, and more eastern points. The Seed Purchasing Commission supplies seed oats in car loads only and at the net cost of the re-cleaned seed. It is understood that during recent months bankers and others have persisted in encouraging merchants to be cautious. Reports reaching the Seed Commission indicate that seed merchants have been so guided by these precautions as to have in many cases an insufficient supply of seed grain to meet the full requirements. So much of the success of a crop depends on the quality of the seed sown as well as the promptness of getting it into the ground when the proper seeding time arrives, that farmers who have not already secured their full requirements of seed should see to it without further delay.

AT THE EN DOF THE CURLING SEASON

"Who's the stranger, mother dear?
Look, he knows us—ain't he queer?"
"Hush, my own, don't talk so wild,
Hes your father, dearest child."
"He's my father? Not at all,
Father died away last fall."
"Father didn't die, you cub,
Father joined the Curling Club.
But they closed the Club, so
Has no place to go, you see—
No place left for him to roam—
That's why he is coming home.
Kiss him—he won't hurt you, child;
All them curling guys look wild."

ROBBED BANK AT LADNER, B.C.

VANCOUVER, March 28.—The branch of the Royal Bank at Ladner, 20 miles south of Vancouver, was robbed early this morning of Victory bonds and other securities, the value of which is as yet unknown. The robbers chopped a hole through the brick wall of the bank building but were unable to get at the cash deposited in the safe. They cut the telephone wires and escaped in a stolen auto. The bonds were taken from the safety deposit vaults.

Forty-nine out of 114 safety deposit boxes were rifled, and it is estimated that sixty thousand dollars worth of bonds and other securities was taken. The bandits evidently planned the robbery with the utmost care. Presumably they escaped eastward and probably across the boundary before the alarm was raised.

JADED JOHNNY IS GIVING JAZZ THE JAUNDICED GAZE

Johnny, who a year ago was cuckoo about the cabarets, has got over it. Jaded Johnny now gives jazz the jaundiced gaze.

Just a year ago the candle in his hand was blazing merrily at both ends and dripping the tallow of dissipation all over the priceless raiment of his physical makeup. Today this cafe cockroach is doing his level best to emulate the house fly.

He, who used to see his bed so little that he almost needed a letter of introduction to it, has given up the night life for the night school. This time last year Johnny only knew of a student's lamp as the nickname for cigarettes. Burning the midnight oil only meant to him a dash through the moon-drenched night with an auto load of assorted "petters."

But it is all changed now. The green eye-shade in the evening—useful adjunct to study—has superseded the dark green taste Johnny used to pack with him to the breakfast table. True the family light bill has gone up, but Johnny is getting hep to a business education.

Various causes have contributed to turn Johnny from dancing and drinking near-bear to imbibing knowledge which is likely to lead to promotion at the office. First, the near-beer has gone, Secondly, it has been a hard winter. Thirdly, Johnny, for all his veneer of cynical man-about-townishness, is just a human being after all, and he got fed up with it. Perhaps it was the little girl with the nice blue eyes and sensible talk that Johnny met at a dance of the Wild Flower Club. She wasn't any great shucks at dancing, but John decided she'd look wonderful in a small house.

However, it hasn't been the girls so much who have turned Johnny toward the long-neglected school books. Clarabelle, who played jazette to Johnny's jazzing, doesn't see this reform business at all. Where once she had a nodding acquaintance with the head waiter in every jazzery in town she now has to content herself with getting to know the minister at the church sociables. She thinks it's a terrible come-down from chicken-a-la-king in a gleaming chafing dish with a blue flame playing underneath it, to homemade chicken salad eaten off a cardboard plate. Her complexion is steadily improving, however.

Twelve months ago if you went down into almost any cellar on Hastings street, between Main and Cambie you'd find the janitor and furnaces crowded into a little cubby-hole at the back. The main part of the basement was given over to a floor on which twice too many people wrestled and fought to the blare of the wicked "sax." and a cornet with an old black kelly drooped over its outlet. Round the floor were tables for the amateur roues and their companions. Everything went from the shimmy to the camel walk.

And then came moderation and the near-beer went, and with it the furniture, the orchestra and the patrons. The janitor can now order in the winter fuel supply all at one crack, instead of, having to buy a sack at a time. There is plenty of coal storage room today.

Now-a-days if you want to get any dancing of an evening you have to go to the Dominion Hall, where the Ancient Order of Goofus the Third holds high revel at 50 cents per rev., ladies half price.

It's all right if you get any kick out of the old-fashioned three-step, and don't mind getting turned out into the street at midnight sharp.

Johnny and Clarabelle frankly can't see it. Johnny has taken to the night school and Clarabelle is a veritable pillar of the church, or rather the church sociable.

Saturday night still retains some of its old-time glamor, but with fewer places for the dancing crowd to go to, the dancing floors are about as comfortable as standing all the way home on a street car.

The drummer still tosses his sticks about, the cornet emits a mean note and the saxaphone gives its well-known imitation of a set of bagpipes calling for its young, but Johnny is not there.

To Johnny the staccato click of a typewriter and the tune you play on an adding machine have syncopation beaten into a creamy froth, as they say in the cook-books.

"AFTER MIDNIGHT"

Entertainment of the most dramatic and thrilling sort is offered in "After Midnight," the latest Selznick picture starring Conway Tearle, which is the feature at the Isis theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

"After Midnight" is a stirring tale with most of the action laid in the underworld, and Conway Tearle is seen to spendid advantage in the roles of the two brothers of different character which he plays. The star does fine work as Wallace Phillips, the brother who has been tricked out of his share of his father's fortune by Gordon Phillips, the evil half of the family. Complications arise when Wallace changes places with his brother so cleverly that even Gordon's beautiful wife is fooled.

The thrilling police raid and an exciting fight in Chinatown climaxed by the sudden death of Gordon brings the story to an eventful close with everything ending happily.

It is just a short time ago that Mr. Carnwath was called east to attend the funeral of a younger brother.

OWNING ONE'S HOME

The owner of his home is a stabilizer of the community. He has an additional stake in its welfare. His property rights dispose him to examine subversive views sharply and thoroughly. Anarchy and communism have no more difficult soil in which to propagate themselves than the man or woman who owns a home.

This ownership is not restricted, as respects its value, to the effect on the owner's outlook on life or to its educational influence. This, to be sure, makes for right understanding of economic and social problems, but there are consquences more driect and practical. The person who builds a home diminishes the shortage of houses and helps to readjust the renting issue. When persons of moderate means build homes, they reduce congestion in cities. The new homes chiefly arise in suburbs or in rural areas further yet from the centre of town. The multiplication of homes owned by their occupants tends toward maintaining supply and demand in its bearing on housing problems as a whole.

The owner of his home has shown the courage that takes a judicious risk, though risk is hardly the word to apply to such an investment, for the purpose of improving his own and his dependants' condition. Thus he renders a public-spirited and social service. Nothing in the situation as to building should be considered as a detrement against building and owning one's home as speedily as can be done.—Spokesman Review.

The small boy has no objection to taking his spring tonic in the form of rhubarb tart.

The attention of the public is called to the fact that the Imperial rate of postage applies as regards letters posted in Canada for Newfoundland, the charge being four cents for a one-ounce letter, and three cents for each extra ounce. SOCIAL DISEASE A PUBLIC PROBLEM

(Vancouver Sun)

"Sociai Diseases" was the topic of the addresses delivered the other evening by the speakers who are carrying on the health week campaign in the city. The addresses covered a a complete discussion of the diseases, their origin and cure.

Following in part, is the summary of the addresses given by the speakers:

"No one would seek to deny that commercialized vice is a large factor in the distribution of venereal diseases. We must improve the social conditions for the unprotected youth in our big cities and towns.

"The years of the Great War have brought a sharp awakening of the Canadian people to the need for facing the greatest present day problem of public health. Almost overnight we seem to have changed from a nation with its eyes shut and its ears stopped, into a country alert, interested, and on the road to the full accomplishment of what had hitherto been declared impossible, namely, the prevention of venereal disease.

"This cannot be accomplished by the medical fraternity alone, but it must have the co-operation of the public. It is our duty to show you that these diseases cause wrecked homes, childless marriages, chronic illnesses, blindness, insanity, and incur a heavy expense to the country to care for them.

"How can you help in this campaign? How can you make it safer for your sons and daughters to lead a wholesome, healthy life? By home education.

"It is the duty of every father to educate his son. It is the father's duty to tell his boys how serious these diseases are. How they will weaken and diable them. How it will render them a source of contamination and possibly cause blindness. A similar responsibility rests with the mother to her daughters.

"Much good can be done by proper speakers giving suitable talks on these subjects to our older children in our high schools and our universities. If our community clubs would become interested in this problem, they would do much good. They are representative men in all branches of life. They are meeting regularly. They are influential men. Men that could personally influence a large proportion of our population. May we see the day when such will be done. The medical fraternity is willing to co-operate by furnishing speakers.

"Why is there such a world-wide campaign going on against venereal disease by the various governments? Because the medical fraternity has shown them that by co-operation they can be saved millions of dollars yearly.

"It is difficult to get accurate statistics from the masses—that is, necessary to resort to figures obtained from more accurate sources. the civil population. It has been This is not because there is more venereal disease among soldiers and sailors, for it is the reverse. It is because these men are regularly and systematically examined. This routine examination has done much to show the value of education.

"Now, let us quote from government statistics. It will impress on you the magnitude of this problem.

"The British Naval statistics for 1912 show for an average strength of 119,510 men, a total number of 269,210 days lost as a result of venereal disease.

"In the army at home during the same year, with a strength of 107,582 men, a loss of 216,445 days. This means that this equals the value of time lost if every man, woman and child of Great Vancouver were earning a man's pay and they were sick for one day, at $3 per day, it means a loss of over $600,000.

"London, England, found 55 per cent. of her blind were due to venereal disease. They found it cost seven times as much to educate a blind child, and the extra cost of keeping it.

"It has been the aim of these papers to present the facts bearing on these diseases, not alone as a medical issue for medical men, but as a problem in human nature, and in the moral strength and weakness of social order in the solution of which each and every one of us has his part.

"Though we may be spared the actual miseries of the sick, their pain must now be our pain, their struggle our struggle, their defeat and death are symbols of our futility. If we as a race can feel our brother's sickness as our own, their lacks, our lacks, their triumphs in flesh and spirit, our triumph, there is in us the stuff of destiny, and there awaits us a future without a limit."

Emma Goldman has given the Russian Bolshevik Government the best credential it has yet received. The Moscow administration has been complimented by her hate. This anarchist, who condemns all government, was driven out of the United States for inciting her following to disobey the law. While she was permitted to carry on her agitation she praised Lenine and Trotsky and reviled the tyranny at Washington. So Washington took her at her word and sent her to the jurisdiction of the government she admired. It did not take Emma Goldman long to find the Moscow government was a real despotism. For some time past she has been sending forth her hymn of hate from her refuge in Sweden. It will be seen that when Miss Goldman seeks personal freedom she goes to a kingdom with an old-fashioned government. The United States will not have her or she would be there.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle.

"It's as simple as A. B. C.

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is the power plant of your bicycle.

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you.

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power.

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults.

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade.

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant.

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

"BIG BILL" IN RUSSIA

Much news from Europe, and especially a good deal that comes from Russia, is not pleasant reading. It is a relief from famine stores to hear from Moscow a piece of good news. This is the information that the Soviet Government has given a concession of iron and coal mines in the Ural Mountains to William Heywood, formerly I.W.W. leader in the United States. This leader, who is usually called "Bill' Heywood, forfeited $60,000 bail and his pledged word and went off to Russia. According to the story he has undertaken to take to Russia four or five thousand American mine workers to operate the Russian mines, in accordance with Bolshevik theories as now interpreted and applied. The men are to take their own tools, and the Soviet authorities are to provide them with homes, rations and clothing, taking part of the proceeds of the production operations. Full details are not given, nor do they matter, so long as they suit the parties concerned.

It will be a good thing for the United States if Heywood can persuade several thousand men like himself to go to Russia and remain there. The country can afford to set the sureties free of obligation so long as the disturbers stay away.

But the best feature of the case is the opportunity afforded for the concessionaire, Heywood, and his companions to put their doctrines to the test and at the same time to obtain some experience of the workings of Bolshevik Government. The world will see how long this mining enterprise can be carried on as a Soviet and I.W.W. undertaking. It will see how Lenine and Heywood get along together and how the Russian proletariat agrees with the Independent Workers of the World. If the project should succeed, the Moscow administration will have an argument and the I.W.W. in the United States will have something to which they can point with pride.

One difficulty may arise at the beginning. Will the leader be able to persuade his friends in the United States to leave the country? On reflection they may prefer the liberty they have enjoyed and the rewards they receive for their labor, when they chose to work at home. They are liable to ask whether they can live as well in Russia with the same amount of physical exertion as in their own capital-ridden country. They may even enquire whether in Russia they will be as free as they are now to agitate and demonstrate and denounce and intimidate. These blessed privileges are not open to all people who have thrown off the capitalistic system and abolished responsible government. The future of "Big Bill" in a land where there is no wage slavery will be followed with a certain interest.—Vancouver Province.

FINE CAST IN LATEST MARY MILES MINTER FILM

Mary Miles Minter, supported by a large and unusually well chosen cast, will appear next Monday and Tuesday at the Orpheum theatre in "Tillie," an adaptation of Helen R. Martin's famous story of the Mennonite maid. Alan Forrest is leading man, and other roles are handled by Noah Beery, Lucien Littlefield, Lillian Leighton, Marie Treboal, Virginia Adair, Robert Anderson and Ashley Cooper. Frank Urson directed the production, a Realart release.

STANLEY CUP REMAINS EAST ANOTHER YEAR

TORONTO, March 28—The Stanley Cup and the world's professional hockey championship will remain in the custody of the Toronto St. Patricks for the ensuing year. This was definitely settled tonight at the arena, when the largest crowd that has attended a hockey game in this city for several seasons jammed the building to its capacity and watched the Irishmen defeat the Vancouver Millionaires, champions of the Pacific Coast League, by five goals to one in the fifth and deciding game of the series. Besides clinching the world's title, the cup, the winners' end of the purse and all other things that come to the champions, the locals demonstrated for the second time in succession that they were a better team than their opponents.

A contribution of $20 "conscience money" was recently received by the department of finance at Ottawa. The incident may serve to remind thousands of other delinquents that the government needs the money.

MURDOCK FACES MEMBERS' FIRE

OTTAWA, Mar. 28.—The labor department was assailed in the house of commons tonight. Ex-Mayor Church of Toronto thought that the country was entitled to better results than were being obtained. There were experts, subexperts, editors and messengers, but if the minister of labor would do something to bring down the cost of living, assistance would be given to the working classes. Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, replied that there were 147 employees in the department when he took it over and this staff would be reduced by 30. William Irvine, Labor, Calgary East, said he had noticed provision was made for an employment specialist at a salary of $2820. "Might I ask if this official is busy at the present time?" Mr. Irvine inquired, while the house laughed.

Mr. Murdock explained that the official was engaged in studying the employment returns from the different parts of the country.

R. M. Johnson, Progressive, Moose Jaw, asked whether the labor department had taken steps in the direction of standardizing farm wages. The west was interested in this question, and labor departments in the prairie provinces had it under consideration The minister replied that no federal wage investigator had authority to act save in an advisory capacity. Asked by Mr. Irvine whether wage investigators had been sent to the Nova Scotia coal districts, he stated that the department had no power to determine what wages should be paid by a private corporation.

The labor estimates under consideration stood over.

CURBING RUM RUNNERS

Washington, March 30.—The situation along the Canadian border created by the activities of liquor smugglers, is improving somewhat, but not as fast as the United States prohibition enforcement department desires, according to J. P. Jones, assistant commissioner, who appeared before the house immigration committee yesterday to advocate deportation of aliens, who persistently violate the law, as a means of breaking up the business of the bootlegger. He also advocated the application of similar measures against offenders under the narcotic laws to curb illicit traffic in drugs, the extent of which is international.

Mr. Jones told the committee that a large percentage of those convicted in drug and liquor cases were aliens who came "from countries where prohibition had few friends."

health officer free diagnostic clinics will be in vogue before long in many towns and cities, where a patient can obtain free examination and can then go to his own physician or private hospital for treatment. The system is now used to a certain extent in that city.

CANADIAN "DRIES" FIND KING COOL

OTTAWA, March 28.—Prohibition advocates today called on Premier King to make all of Canada bone dry.

The premier promised the suggestion for a dominion-wide measure to supplant provincial liquor laws would receive careful consideration by the cabinet, but said that no such measure would be introduced at the present session of the house of commons.

Explaining that his ministers had had barely enough time to familiarize themselves with their problems, the premier added that for his own part he did not favor prohibition in anything, although he favors temperance in everything. He assured the delegation that waited upon him that the government would do everything it could do to foster the temperance movement and in assisting the province to enforce the laws as they stood.

In considering any measure to ban the manufacture, importation and exportation of intoxicating liquors in Canada, the premier indicated that a careful study would be made of how the experiment was working out in the United States.

Ben Spence ,secretary of the Dominion alliance, told the premier that the manufacture of liquor in Canada was on the increase. Importation also had increased since the war time restrictions were removed, he said.

Mrs. Asa Gordon, president of the W. C. T. U., said that the women of Canada had been asking for the measuer for 47 years.

DEAD FOR TEN MINUTES

Cleckheaton — A rae instance of resurrection after a "death" certified by a doctor, lasting at least ten minutes, is the extraordinary experience undergone by Mrs. Hart, of Heckmondwike, near Dewsbury, following a serious relapse after confinement.

Oxygen had been administered without avail, and the woman's heart ceased to beat, while her respiratory organs did not function.

She was pronounced dead by the doctor after examination, but while he was waiting in his surgery for the relatives to fetch the death certificate the nurse summoned him again to the patient, who was showing unmistakable signs of life.

Mrs. Hart, after three or four days of delirium, is now convalescent.

Housewives hope that the predicted drop in the price of sugar will not be deferred until the close of the rhubarb season.

Instead of trickling into buckets, the sap in some of the sugar bush district is wasting its sweetness on the forest air. Windstorms have stripped many of the trees of their branches and the sweet liquid exudes from the wounds.

JOSEPH WALSH, OLD FORT STEELE RESIDENT, BURIED SUNDAY

(Cranbrook Herald)

The passing of Joseph Walsh, which took place on Friday last at the St. Eugene Hospital, occasioned many expressions of regret from among the older residents especially, who knew him well. He had been a resident of Fort Steele for the past twenty years or more, and served as constable on the provincial police force there for fifteen. Three or four weeks ago at Camp 6, Yahk, where he was then employed, he suffered a little mishap to his hand, getting a piece of enamel from a dish embedded in the flesh. Trouble later developed from this trivial happening, and blood poisoning set in, which all the care at the hospital could not arrest. At the time of his death he was close upon sixty years of age.

Going to Fort Steele from Calgary about 1900, he took employment in the town till appointed on to the police force of the province. His wife predeceased him some three years or so ago, but there remains to mourn the passing of their father a family of six, the Misses Lizzie, of Vancouver, Agnes, of Fernie, and Dorothy, and three sons, Eddie, still at Fort Steele, John, of Rock Creek and Walter, of Vancouver.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternon last from the Catholic Church at Fort Steele, Father Evans, of the Mission, being in charge of the services. A number of friends from the city were in attendance to pay their last respects to the deceased, and the pall bearers were old residents of Fort Steele, among them being Messrs. J. Binmore, W. Carlin, A. Doyle and Geo. Watson.

Joint action of the federal and provincial governments in making an intensive geological survey of the ore deposits of British Columbia was forecasted in a letter from W. H. Collins, director of the geological survey in the department of mines at Ottawa, read at the mining bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade a few days ago.

Several weeks ago the bureau wrote asking that the federal government should arrange for an expert geological survey of the iron resources of the province. Mr. Collins, in his letter, states that this matter is already receiving consideration. He points out that from the scattered nature of the ores, especially the magnetite deposits along the coast, a survey would undoubtedly involve a considerable amount of examination by drills. It is doubtful, he added, that any survey less intensive would serve the purpose, and if such a survey was undertaken it would probably have to be done by the geological survey department in co-operation with the provincial department of mines.

He has written to J. D. McKenzie, in charge of the federal office in Vancouver, to get in touch with the provincial authorities and ascertain their views. When this has been obtained, he says, the federal department will be in a better position to know whether and how such a survey of the iron ores of British Columbia can be made.

IN MEMORIAM

In ever loving memory of my dear husband and our father, Richard E. Winnett, who departed this life on March 31st, 1921.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow oftimes flaw;
Memory keeps the loved one near us,
Though he died one year ago.
He is gone, but not forgotten;
Never shall his memory fade,
Sweeter thoughts shall ever linger
Around the spot where he is laid.

PULP AND PAPER MILL PROPOSED

A wave of interest has been aroused locally through repeated reports being circulated that there is a possibility of the development of another branch of the lumbering industry or what in fact may be termed a new industry in the Crow's Nest Pass, with the likelihood of its centre being in close proximity to Fernie. This venture is said to be the establishment of a fairly large capacity pulp and paper mill, and it is known that parties have been investigating conditions as to the supply of timber and its accessibility to a suitable site where cheap power can be had.

Quite naturally the promoters of this project are not proclaiming their intentions in loud terms, but are very quietly carrying on the preliminary work. It is understood, however, that a party of cruisers and pulp mill experts are now engaged in the limits located along the South Fork and Lodge Pole Creek, in from Elko, where an abundant quantity of good quality pulp timber is said to abound. Rumor is also current that those really behind this proposed industrial development are fully responsible financially and otherwise to carry it out to the final stage, provided of course the conditions in this vicinity warrant. It is also understood that they are extremely anxious to secure a permanent supply of pulp products, as there already is ample market for the greater portion of the mill's output with another enterprise, in which these parties are interested and have control, namely, one of the large Chicago dailies. The management of the local end of the matter is under the direction of a prominent lumberman of this district.

"FOREST EXHIBITS CAR" NOW IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

One of the most picturesque and effective of educational enterprises is now at work in British Columbia with the arrival on April 3 of the "Forest Exhibits Car" of the Canadian Forestry Association. This car has been called "A Forest Protection School on Wheels" and is made up of a series of graphic exhibits driving home the common-sense facts of forest fire prevention in such an interesting way as to impress not only adults but the youngest school child.

During the past month this car has been completely made over by a staff of workmen and artists so as to adopt its visual instruction to British Columbia conditions. A large working model showing an actual rainfall on deforested, contrasted with well-forested, hillsides, will show the onlooker exactly the consequences of forest destruction on the watersheds as regards agricultural fertility. An electrical illusion depicting the transformation of timber stands into areas of waste is also provided. Models of lookout towers and pulp and paper towns and methods of conservative and wasteful logging are shown. The recreational side of forest protection is by no means neglected, so that the car interior with its hundreds of electric lights and colored transparencies represent a scene of real beauty.

Daily lectures will be given by the members of the British Columbia Forest Service. The first part of the itinerary will cover Vancouver Island, and later the Cranbrok, Fernie, Nelson and Vernon districts will be visited.

"CONCEIT"

"Conceit" is the title of the latest Selznick Special to be shown at the Isis theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, and in it is to be found a construction of plot and a method of presentation that is a marked departure from the conventional.

The action centres around a man who, up to a certain period in his life, has been enabled, by the power of money, to acquire anything he desired. He is placed in a position where his wealth means nothing and he is forced to revert to the primitive. The change works a great transformation in his character and he emerges a new man, shorn of all petty selfishness and weakness. Michael J. Phillips wrote the story under its original title, "The Toll of the Wilderness,' which has been enjoyed by thousands of magazine readers.

Set amid surroundings of great beauty and photographed in one of Nature's beauty spots, Lake Louise and Banff, "Conceit" has everything that goes to make a photoplay success.

ROD AND GUN CLUB MEETING

The annual general meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club was held in the city council chamber on Tuesday evening last and was very well attended, about thirty being present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted and correspondence disposed of. The secretary's report was laid over until the next meeting.

Ahearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers for the good work done during 1921, after which the following officers and committees were elected:

Hon. Presidents—W. R. Wilson, A. B. Trites and G. G. Henderson.

President—J. W. Carnwath.

Vice President—Dave Black.

Sec.--Treas.—F. Dennison.

Executive — Game committee: W. H. Pickering, chairman; Wm. Baldrey, A. Frearson, G. Larner, Sr. Fish committee: M. Tully, chairman; T. Prentice, Guy Johnston, R. Crowe.

The club's most pressing need is that of new members to carry the work along. The following committee was appointed to solicit for new members: Messrs. Pickering, Black, Frearson, Dennison, Johnston, Brown, and Prentice.

It was reported that considerable fishing was being carried on in Silver Springs Lake. This lake was restocked through the efforts of the club about two years ago and good results are now being shown. It was decided that a strong resolution be drawn up requesting the government to close these waters for a period of two years.

It was also reported that the last herd of Elk in this district is being slowly slaughtered off and in a short time will be extinct. It was the unanimous opinion that to prevent this game wardens should be immediately appointed. This matter was laid over for a short time and will be taken up at a special meeting.

NORMA TALMADGE AS ISLAND WAIF IN THIS

Norma Talmadge shows how a strikingly handsome brunette can be transformed into an olive-complexioned daughter of the tropics in "Love's Redemption," her latest First National attraction which is to be shown at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Talmadge has a difficult part in the role of Ginger, the young girl of Jamaica who is the heroine of the story; but her effective portrayal of the character places it as one of her best screen accomplishments.

It is Ginger's quaint lack of convention and strength of principle that provides the incentive for saving the life of a beach-combing English youth of good antecedents. The story excels in thrills, heart interest and love appeal in which the contrast between the warmth of the West Indies and the frigidity of English social life is strongly drawn.

"Love's Redemption" will be at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

BOOKLET IS NOW READY

The 1922 ilustrative and descriptive booklet issued by the Tourist Association of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta, has just come from the press. This is indeed by far the most compact and pleasing piece of literature compiled in this section, which in itself is certainly very creditable because the various tourist associations and boards of trade throughout this district have in the past issued very attractive pamphlets, setting forth the splendors of the Crow's Nest Pass, West Kootenay and the Boundary from the viewpoint of motorists, anglers and hunters, as well as those seeking health and vacation resorts.

The present booklet has been designed and compiled by J. F. Spalding of this city, secretary of the association, and to whom great praise is due for having so artistically committed in convenient space the exact information desired by intending visitors from distant places, and at the same time equally as aptly in his descriptive word-pictures, presenting the essential features about which strangers should be made acquainted and eagerly desire to learn. The manner in which the 20 pages of illustrations have been distributed is also comprehensive, commencing as they do at the western end at Grand Forks, in the Boundary section, the reader is carried over the route by these reproduced photographs in the identical.. way in.. which.. the trip though to Lethbridge, thence to Banff and back down through the Windermere valley. Each page of illustrations contains from seven to ten miniatures of actual scenes encountered on the trip. In addition there are two reduced engravings of copyrighted maps and one photographed relief map, all indicating the various tours open to transients. The descriptive portion of the booklet is contained in the ten opening pages, with six pages at the back dealing with facts about the towns behind the association. The Tourist Association is managed and controlled by the boards of trade of Grand Forks, Rossland, Trail, Nelson, Cranbrook and Fernie in B.C.; and Lethbridge, Cardston, Pincher Creek, Blairmore, Maclead and Banff in Alberta.

OLIVET BAPTIST CHURCH EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The evangelistic meetings begun last month and interrupted through the illness of the evangelist, will be resumed next Sunday, April 9. The meetings will be held in the Baptist church but they will be evangelistic not polemic. We seek nothing for ourselves that we are unwilling to share with others and our hope and expectation is that our meetings will result in blessing to all the churches of the city, uniting God's people in closer fellowship and a more active enlistment in Christian service and in the salvation of many souls. To this end we solicit the prayers and invite the co-operation of all the Christian people. Rev. W. T. Tapscott will conduct the campaign, assisted by the pastor. His subjects for the first week will be as follows:

Friday, April 14—"The Suffering Saviour.'

B. B. LEAGUE ORGANIZED

The East Kootenay Baseball League organization meeting held at Cranbrook on Sunday last was the most enthusiastic meeting the league ever held since its organization. 26 representatives from the various sections of East Kootenay were present and much important business matters in connection with the league were discussed.

It was decided that, as no less than eleven cities and towns had expressed themselves as wishing to enter a team in the league for the coming season, it would be to great advantage to split the league into three sections. viz: Fernie,White Spruce, Waldo and Wardner as the Eastern division; Cranbrook, Wycliffe, Kimberley and Wattsburg as the central division; and Yahk, Creston and East Port, Idaho, as the western division.

These three divisions will play home and home game from May 7th, the opening day, until August 15th. At the close of the divisional league, the winners of each league will then be formed into a new league and home and home games played to determine the winner of the East Kootenay Amateur Baseball League Pennant for the season.

Considerable discussion came into play on the residental clause and it was finally decided that to be a player on any team in this league, the player must have been a bona fide resident of the town which his team represents for at least fourteen days, must hold some bona fide employment in the same town and no player may be registered after July 15, 1922.

ASK NEW TRIAL FOR GALLAGHER

CALGARY, April 3.—Application for a new trial in the case of John F. Gallagher, sentenced to be hanged this month for the murder of John Coward at Carbon, Alta., is now being heard by the appeallate division. A. M. Sinclair, counsel for the condemned man, is arguing that certain evidence taken at the trial was not properly admissable.

The Great Northern Railway will sell special tourist tickets from Fernie to Eastern Canada and U. S. points from May 25 to Aug. 31, final return limit Oct. 31.

BLAZEK TWINS PUZZLE DOCTORS

CHICAGO, March 30.—Josefa and Rosa Blazek, who came into the world joined at the hips, and who lived 43 years, went out of the world together, with an interval of but a few minutes. Plans to cut them apart immediately after the death of Josefa in the hope that the life of Rosa might be saved, were abandoned because the brother of the twins and the 11-year-old son of Rosa would not give their consent.

"They do not wish it,' said the brother. "They came into life together and want to go out that way. Rosa has repeatedly said she cannot live without Josefa."

Josefa was seized with convulsions at 2:30 this morning and died at 2:42. Two minutes later Rosa died. Telegrams from Mrs. Carrie Hodecker of Wellston, Missouri, foretold the deaths almost to the minute. She said she had consulted the ouija board, which said the first death would occur at 2:35 and 8 seconds, Chicago time, and a second message directed that the bodies be seperated, but not at the base of connection.

The twins were joined at the side and back, by a connection approximately a foot in diameter: It contained a rigid bone about four inches thick, surrounded by soft tissues. Anatomically the sisters were two complete persons, although they had a lower stomach in common.

According to physicians they had different likes and dislokes. Rosa was tall and thin, while Josefa was stout and short.

Their death is attributed to overeating. This caused congestion which ran into yellow jaundice of the worst type, and caused appendicitis in Josefa. Since their arrival in the United States the twins have indulged in orgies of food, usually eating five pounds of meat every day, to make up for the slim fare they subsisted upon in war-ridden Europe. Physicians say their systems were unable to assimilate this amount of food.

Two days before their death Josefa developed pneumonia. Immediately Rosa was stricken with a bronchial affection which speedily ran into pneumoniam.

Rosa was married fifteen years ago to a soldier, who was slain by the Bolshevists on the Austro-Russian front. She is the mother of a boy now nearly twelve years old. In an interview some time ago Josefa said that when Rosa's baby was born she also sufered all the pains of childbirth.

The original Siamese twins were boys conected at the spine. One wanted to marry and they agreed to be separated. Dr. Boyen, of Paris, cut them apart. One died during the operation, but the other recovered and married.

Another case was that of Lalloo, who appeared with Barnum and Bailey's show, about 30 years ago. Lalloo was a fully developed man, but attached to him was a female body, which never developed, however, beyond the age of three years.

The Blazek Twins were considered the most remarkable of all. They were educated, played the violin, climbed trees and romped like other children, and one of them became a mother. Their mother had six children, all the others being normal. The twins were numbers two and three of the progeny. Most of the other children are married and have healthy and normal children. The mother died a year and a half ago, aged 63. The father of the twins is still living at the age of 85.

An investigation of their deaths was started today by Coroner Peter Hoffman.

Following a conference with the doctors connected with the case, however, the coroner abandoned his plans for a post-mortem examination and authorized the issuance of a death certificate.

Frank, Jr., brother of the twins, indicated he would make arrangements for presenting the bodies to some medical college for purpose of scientific study and research.

The twins, according to their brother, left a fortune estimated at approximately $200,000 and a large farm in Czecho-Slovakia, to which the brother and the 11-year-old son of Rosa are heirs, as the twins died without having made their wills.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH SOON ENDED

"I Never Have A Touch Of Indigestion Now," Declares Henry Stone — Is Enthusiastic About Tanlac.

"All my troubles are gone, I hope forever, and I'm feeling just fine now, thanks to Tanlac," said Henry Stone, 379 Hargrave St., Winnipeg, Man.

"Tanlac has done me a good turn and I am enthusiastic about it. I had acidity of the stomach of the worst kind and every mouthful I ate seemed to sour almost as soon as I swallowed it. First and last I spent quite a sum of money trying to find relief, but was getting worse day by day.

"I don't believe I could have held out much longer if I hadn't gotten hold of Tanlac when I did. It suited my case exactly and it wasn't long before I was feeling just like a new man. All the old acidity is gone now and I never have a touch of indigestion. Tanlac is certainly a grand medicine."

THE TROUBLE WITH JURIES

Said a Spokane superior judge, discussing tendencies toward lawlessness and crime. "People say the courts are no good and criminals are never punished. This is due to the laxity of juries. The judge then gave a few instances in support of his contention.

"A man," he said, "who grumbled about police and courts was soon after on a jury. He voted not guilty out of maudlin sympathy. A woman told me she was 'awful glad' that a certain young man had got off. 'He had a good face and I have a son,' she said, Evidence of guilt had no weight with her."

Juries, of course, can not be expected to function always on a basis of exact justice. They are not, like judges and atorneys, primarily concerned with the letter, or even with the spirit, of the law. They are easily swayed by appeals to sympathy and prejudice. The weaknesses of the jury system, which are many, correspond to familiar weaknesses of human nature.

It has been futile so far to suggest substitutes for the jury system, because with all its faults that system offers valuable safeguards to the rights of the individual. It is hard to say just how juries can be made to show more regard for the upholding of the law, and less proness to acquit a criminal for no other reason than that he has a wife and children, or a kind face. In a general way it is true that improvement ought to follow heightened civic morale. If people generally can be made to take law enforcement seriously, and to realize each citizen's duty to aid in that enforcement, juries might give less concern to the officials who have to do the enforcing.—Spokesman Review.

Marconi was asked in 1897 how far a radio dispatch could be sent, and answered: "About 20 miles." In 1922 radio talks are had between Paris, New York and Honolulu. The progress made in 25 years appears marvelous. Yet the instruments which today are considered marvels will soon be discarded for superior ones.

WE ARE ALL SIAMESE TWINS

Josefa and Rosa Blazek, "Siamese twins," joined together at the hips from birth, are dead. One died naturally of jaundice and pneumonia. The moment her heart stopped, the heart of her sister, who had been convalscent, stopped too.

One couldn't live without the other.

The sooner everybody realizes that we are all Siamese twins—nations and individuals—the better.

The United States thinks she can get along without Europe, that she can prosper, live and progress entirely isloated from the Old World. The truth is that the Old World and the New are as tightly joined together as Rosa and Josefa Blazek. When one suffers, the other must suffer, industrially, socially and politically too.

Labor and capital regard themselves as seperate entities, each with its own ideals and purposes. Labor fights capital and capital fights labor—and the consuming public composed of both parties gets squeezed in between.

Labor, capital and the consuming public are nothing but Siamese twins, each dependent on the other, each drawing on the other for life force. Any one of the three without the others would atrophy and decay.

Some people in Canada think that the West is divided from the East in interests. They think that to encourage the West, deveolp Western natural resources, give the West what she wants in the way of transportation facilities and money would impoverish the East.

The West thinks the East is selfish, that Western business can stride ahead without regard for Eastern interests at all.

Every individual depends utterly on every other individual. The present generation takes up its thinking at the place where the last generation left off.

Past and present, religion and science, man and woman, rich man and poor man, master and slave, spirit and matter are all Siamese twins, one and inseparable.

Too much industrial and social surgery is largely what is wrong with the world.—Vancouver Sun.

Wyoming plans a memorial to the late W.F. Cody, otherwise known as Buffalo Bill. An imposing statue of him is soon to be unveiled at Cody, Wyo. It will express the state's appreciation of him as a useful citizen. The Shoshone valley, for instance, learned the art of irrigation from Cody.

TAXATION AND TRADE

Premier Oliver, in his address to the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade, admitted that Governments, both federal and Provincial, are not paying sufficient atention to restoring the "balanced condition of trade." He is right in this statement, but had he plumbed the depths of the present depression he would have informed his audience that one of its main causes is the high taxation which maintains and the growing cost of government. In a province like British Columbia, where the natural resources are so great and where these are owned by the people, it is within the power of the Government to foster prosperity, to promote confidence, to invite investment, and, by the exercise of businesslike administration, to make an aggravated unemployment problem an impossibility.

There is, without a doubt, some cause which has led to a decline in the progress of investment in British Columbia. There are many who believe that cause lies in the taxes that are being imposed Provincially, coupled with a lack of vision in making the natural resources available for development. We agree with Premier Oliver in his contention that development is bound up in production. That is axiomatic, but the question is how to encourage production. This encouragement implies the creation of such conditions as will lead to a more extensive investment of capital in our resources, and to bring this about the conditions must be right and capital must not be taxed too heavily, investors, in canvassing fields of opportunity, are influenced by the cost of government. Wherever taxes are normal and paid cheerfully, and wherever it is found that government protection is afforded to investors, there is encouragement for private capital to come in, with the consequent development of the resources of the community concerned.

Heavy taxation is the greatest known detrement to trade development. It is the chief handicap to a complete return to normal conidtions. In British Columbia, we have dual agencies collecting a dual income tax, a form of taxation which touches the greatest number of people. We see a Province with a population of slightly over half a million costing upwards of $20,000,000 per annum to administer Provincially, costing upwards of $16,000,000 for municipal purposes, and other millions for Federal considerations. These millions, in the aggregate, are an incubus on the people, and the efforts being made to bring about retrenchment and economy are infinitesimal. When governments realize that trade is restricted because people have to pay so many and so heavy taxes, and, when they make a conscientious effort to afford relief, there will be a corresponding reaction in public sentiment. Confidence will speedily be restored, and the response will be experienced in the development of trade. In this way governments have the remedy in their own hands in restoring, what Premier Oliver calls, the "balanced condition of trade."—Victoria Colonst.

Successor to W. J. Goepel as deputy minister of finance for the B.C. government will be F. D. Johnson, who has for the last two or three years been assistant deputy minister. Mr. Goepel's superannuation after 29 yrs. in the service of the government was recently announced.

The time is certainly ripe for the organization of a British Columbia Basketball Association, and it is to be hoped that every district and city in the province will be represented at the organization. meeting. The Vancouver officials are asking basketball leaders in all districts to communicate with Mr. Smith at once, and even if they are not able to send representatives, at least write and say that they are in line with the action. The basketball game has been booming in British Columbia this winter as never before, and if any reason able means of awardding provincial championships is to be arrivin charge.

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of all Nerve Remedies

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health

The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. This, "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvellous in its action.

COAL FAMINE NOT FEARED

CALGARY, April 3.—All the non-union coal mines in the North Edmonton field were working on Monday according to a telephone message from the Hon. Alex Ross, provincial minister of public works. It is estimated that these and other mines not affiliated with the United Mine Workers of America will be able to supply the present domestic requirements. They are working, it is understood, at a scale of wages practically the same as offered by the Western Canada Coal Operators' association.

From the Dominion Government report it would appear that there are a large number of coal mines in Alberta that are not affiliated with the Western Coal Operators' association or the United Mine Workers of America. It is somewhat difficult to say what their output would be, but assuming that they were working to anything like capacity they could more than supply the requirements of the public during the summer months quite irrespective of the mines north of Edmonton which, as already stated, are actually working.

Among these mines are the Ellis Coal Company, the Palisade Coal Co., and the North Star Company, at Threehills. The output of these companies is about 200 to 300 tons a day each, and they employ about 100 men altogether.

The Sanders Creek Company, the Sanders (Alberta) Coal company, and the Alexo Coal Co., at Sanders, turns out from 150 to 250 tons a day respectively, and employs from 30 to 50 men each.

In the Drumhellar district the Callie coal mine is about the largest non-union mine. Its capacity is from 500 to 600 tons a day, and the company employs about 100 men. There are also a number of mines there worked on the co-operative plan. These include the Celtic Coal company, the Sunshine and Ideal Coal companies. They can ship about 100 tons a day, and employ somewhere about 50 men at each mine. The Big Valley Coal Co., and the Vimy Coal company at Big Valley have a capacity of 500 and 100 tone respectively, and combined give employment to about 150 men.

There are also six non-union mines at Carbon, which have an aggregate output of about 300 tons and who employ about 80 men.

In the Hanna district the Alacka Collieries at Sheerness can ship 300 tons a day. The William Anderson company, also at Sheerness, has an output of 200 tons a day. About 50 men work at that mine.

These mines are in what is known as the Calgary district. In addition there are many others in various parts of the province whose total output would run into several thousands of tons a day. These mines are all on the railways. In addition there are a large number of small concerns, supply the requirements of farmers that have no rail facilities and who in their respective districts.

Authority to operate motor stages between Seattle and dancouver, B. C., via Blaine, Wash., was denied by the State Department of Public Works at Olympia, acting upon the application of T. F. Barnes. The department held that the present boat and train service was adequate, and claimed jurisdiction in the case as being local in character. It was understood, however, that the applicants may appeal to the courts, on the grounds of the department's lack of authority to regulate interstate commerce.

Official figures issued by the Mexican embassy at Washington show that Mexico was first among the silver-producing countries in 1921, with a yield of 62,000,000 ounces. The United States comes next with 50,000,000 ounces, and Canada third with 10,000,000. The world production for the year was 161,000,000 ounces.

Pacific Milk is a British Columbia product which finds preference in the home fields, and is fast coming into tremendous demand on the prairies.

This growing desire for a British Columbia milk is due entirely to its exceptionally high quality and natural cream flavor.

MINISTER OF LABOR LACKS DIGNITY

T. M. Fraser, a well known Press Gallery correspondent in the House of Commons, says Hon. Jas. Murdock, Minister of Labor, in handling his estimates in Parliament displayed little tact and less diplomacy. This is believable after reading a telegram he sent the defeated candidate in the East Kootenay by-election. In this message he boasted of the defeat of Mr. Bronsdon and declared it was what was "coming to him." The telegram was purely voluntary on Mr. Murdock's part and it is certain no other Cabinet Minister in the whole history of Canada ever sent a wire to a candidate expressing boastfully pride in his defeat. It bears out Mr. Fraser's criticism that Mr. Murdock lacks tact and diplomacy. It was indeed a most undignified course for a Cabinet Minister to take.—Lethbridge Herald.

There are all sorts of things that begin with the letter "S", like saw, sword and stamp. Look at the picture and you will see lots more, and in a few minutes' time you will be surprised how large your list will grow. Get your whole family to hunt for them. See who can find the most; maybe it will be grandma, or then again it might be little brother. Nothing is hidden and you don't have to turn thte picture upside-down or at an angle. Fifteen cash prizes will be given for the fifteen best lists of words submitted and the person sending in the largest and nearest correct list of visible objects in the picture starting with the letter "S" will be awaraded First Prize; second best, Second Prize, etc.

Costs Nothing to Try

It is not a subscription contest, and you don't have to send in a single subscription to take part, for if your answer is awarded First Prize by the judges, and if you have sent no subscriptions, you will receive $35, absolutely. Our Special Offer to Boosters makes the Prizes much larger when subscriptions are sent in, and if you would like to win more than $35, you can with little effort. In fact, we are putting $1200 within your reach.

Lots of Fun for All

Aside from the opportunity to win a Big Prize, the "S-Word" Game has no rival as a home pastime. Why? That's easy to answer. Because it is a game that everyone can enjoy, regardless of age or education and all the family can gather around the table together and share in the fun. The best way to convince yourself is to try it, and you will have to admit it is the most entertaining game you have ever taken part in.

EASY TO WIN $1200—HERE'S HOW

If your answer to the "S-Word" Picture Puzzle wins First Prize, and you have sent in no subscriptions to The Vancouver Daily World, you will win $35.
However, if your answer wins First Prize, and you have sent in ONE 6-months subscription to The Vancouver Daily World—either new or renewal—YOU WILL WIN $400 in place of $35.
Or, if your answer is awarded First Prize by the Judges, and you have sent in TWO 6-months or ONE yearly subscription to The Vancouver Daily World—either new or renewal—YOU WILL RECEIVE $1200 instead of $35.
How's that for a liberal offer? But, look. We will give extra amounts on all prizes in the same manner. If your answer is qualified by TWO 6-months or ONE yearly subscription—either new or renewal—and you are awarded Second Prize, you will receive $500, and so on down. (See third column in the list of prizes.)
It takes but TWO 6-months or ONE yearly subscription—either new or renewal—to qualify for the big $1200 prize, ABSOLUTELY. TWO 6-months or ONE yearly is the maximum. Your own subscription will count, and we will accept subscriptions to start at any future date.

EXTRA COPY OF THE PICTURE SENT FREE UPON REQUEST

Observe These Simple Rules

1—Any man, woman or child living in Canada who is not an employee of The Vancouver Daily World or a member of an employee's family may submit an answer. It costs nothing to try.

2—All answers must be mailed by Saturday, April 22, 1922 and addressed to Charles Lane, Puzzle Manager, The Vancouver Daily World, Vancouver, B.C.

3—Answers should be written on one side of the paper only and numbered consecutively 1, 2, 3, etc. Write full name and address on each page in the upper right hand corner. If you desire to write anything else use a separate sheet.

4—Only words found in the English dictionary will be counted. Do not use hyphenated, compound or obsolete words. Use either the singular or the plural but where the plural is used the singular cannot be and vice versa.

5—Words of the same spelling can be used only once even though used to designate different objects. The same object can be named only once, however, any visible part of the object may also be named, and where more than one word is equally applicable to an object, any one of the words will count.

6—The person sending in the largest and nearest correct list of words will win First Prize, etc. Neatness, style and handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

7—Candidates may co-operate in answering the Puzzle but only one prize will be awarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group, outside the family, where two or more have been working together.

8—All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless of whether or not a subscription to The Vancouver Daily World has been sent in.

9—There will be three independent judges, having no connection with The Vancouver Daily World, who will judge the answers submitted and award the prizes at the end of the Puzzle Game, and the participants agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

10—The Judges will meet directly following the close of the contest and the prize winners and a list of the correct words will be published in the Vancouver Daily World as quickly thereafter as possible.

WESTERN LUMBERMAN INTERESTING TO TRADE

The March issue of the Western Lumberman, just out, is a number which justifies the claim of the publication which has for over 19 years been a reliable source of information to the lumbering interests of Western Canada, that it is a magazine which appeals to every man connected in any way with the industry.

The number has an interest and message for every British Columbian engaged in the business whether he be an employer or employee in mill camp or getting out timber as an individual. The issue contains about 100 pages with especially handsome colored cover. Every page is full of valuable and up-to-date information. Special articles give a complete survey of B. C. timber resources and markets, covering the local, Northwest, Eastern Canadian and export markets, these being suplemented by reports and market quotations from regular correspondents at all points. The department of Mill and Logging Equipment is, as usual, replete with up-to-date information as to new types of equipment both for the mill and woods as well as the methods which are being successfully followed at many mills and camps, these articles being written in a most practical form. The popular departments, Camp Chatter and Mill Chatter, are full of interesting notes and pointers on operation while the Personal Pages give the news of the men who follow the mill and camp or handle lumber in all parts of the West. The Western Lumberman is published and printed at Vancouver by Hugh C. MacLean Western Ltd.

Not less than 148,000 new settlers will arrive in Canada from the older lands this year and the greater part will settle in Western Canada. This was a statement made by Thomas Gelley, commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg.

MENACED BY ZUYDER ZEE

Holland must get rid of the Zuyder Zee or the Zuyder Zee will evidently at some distant date have absorbed all of Holland. So Holland has decided that if it a case of choosing dry land or more sea; she can quite get along with a little less of the moisture. The Zuyder Zee, which at the time of the Roman conquest was but an inconsequential lake and has since grown into a formidable gulf, will be drained away and its bed turned into farming country. The fisheries on the sea will disappear and the boats which fish in the North Sea will reach the ocean through the Yselmeer. The cost of this colossal drainage scheme will amount to over $100,000,000. Before the work starts an 18-mile outer dyke will be constructed from the North Holland coast to the Island of Wielingen and from the other side of this Island to Piaam on the Frisian coast. The need of such a scheme to end the menace of floods was long ago realized, says the Review of Reviews, and as early as 1848 plans for the systematic reclamation of the Zuyder Zee was made.

The reclamation of the Zuyder Zee will not, of course, merely result in safeguarding the North of Holland against further floods. It will add to Holland an entire province, whose surface will be one-sixteenth of that of the whole country. The soil will be of the best kind, and a prosperous agricultural population will thrive in a few years where at present only a few fishing smacks are cruising. The Dutch Ministry of Agriculture made some calculations according to which the 394,000 acres of new land will produce each year 153,432 hectolitres of grain, 375,124 hectolitres of vegetables, 121,915 hectolitres of seeds, 2,230,715 hectolitres of onions, 13,865 hectolitres of green fodder, 916,088 tons of beets, and 4,391,047 kilograms of flax and hemp.

The question of the ownership of the land has been settled in favor of small holdings. The land will be parcelled out and sold to small owners, special care being taken to prevent accumulation into few hands. In this way during 10 years 10,000 people will settle every year in the Zuyder Zee province.

The works, which will take about 20 years, started during the second half of 1919. The Dutch are a patient people, and they have decided not to overreach themselves in this great enterprise. They have taken great care that only such parts of the Zuyder Zee will be reclaimed as are known to consist of first-class arable soil.—Review of Reviews.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father and brother, James and Frank Smith, who were killed in the Coal Creek explosion, April 5th, 1917.

Often we think of you, dear father and brother,
And our hearts are sad with pain.
All the earth would be like heaven,
Could we but hear your voices again.
Remembrance sweet, so sad to recall,
They were loved by us and respected by all.

—From their loving daughter and son-in-law, Ada and Tom Thornton.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband and son, James and Frank Smith, who were killed in the Coal Creek explosion, April 5th, 1917.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought death was so near,
And only those who have loved can tell,
The pain of not saying the last farewell.
We sit and think of days gone by,
When we were all together;
A shadow o'er our lives is cast,
The loved ones gone forever.
Gone but not forgotten.

—From loving wife and mother, Ann Smith.

CONCILIATION BOARD OPENS

(Calgary Herald)

It was 11 o'clock before the board of conciliation appointed by the federal government to inquire into the coal strike in District 18 opened its initial proceedings publicly in the council chamber of the city hall on Monday.. W. E. Knowles, K.C., of Moose Jaw, chairman; R. G. Drinnan, of Edmonton, representing the operators and H. Ostlund, K. C., Lethbridge, acting for the miners, held a private conference for close upon an hour in one of the ante-rooms.

When the members of the board made their appearance, the chairman expressed regret at the delay, which he said had been unavoidable. He said he wished both sides to understand that the board wanted their assistance in getting all the information possible. The board would, of course, be impartial, and it was their wish to be of practical service in bringing about a settlement of the dispute. Every courtesy would be extended to all witnesses, he said.

Under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act provision was made for three representatives on each side, and upon this being mentioned by Mr. Knowles, Robert Livett, J. R. MacDonald and William Potter were appointed on behalf of the miners, and O. E. S. Whitesides, W. C. Robertson and R. M. Young for the operators.

Robert Livett opened his case for the miners by a preliminary statement, during which he stated that if they accepted the operators' proposed new wage scale it would mean that their standard of living would be reduced much below that of 1915. He presented a budget amounting to $1,865.51, which he said had been corroborated by Prof. Ogbourne, of Columbia Univesity, as necessary for a miner's average family, consisting of himself, his wife and three children. "In asking for a wage scale that will enable us to purchase this dudget," he said "the mine workers do so in the belief that this is the absolute minimum upon which a man can support himself and his family in decency and health. To receive a lesser wage means a steady deterioriation of the health and moral qualities of the family through lack of food and proper housing.

Mr. Livett went on to say that the operators' proposed schedule on he average number of days worked at the various coal fields would mean a large reduction. In Lethbridge it would mean a reduction of $623,25; Drumheller, $404.42; Crow's Nest Pass, $556.77, and in Bankhead $753.52.

The gist of Mr. Livett's statements was that no reductions in wages should be made. He contended that their demands were just.

R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association then followed with a lengthy review of the coal mining situation in this district for the past seven years, going into detail of agreements that had been made. In prefacing his statement, he lodged a protest against the validity of the appointment of the third member of the commission that had been appointed by the minister of labor. Sufficient time had not been allowed the other two board members to make the selection, he said.

Mr. Young gave figures to show how the wages of some of the mine workers had increased as much as 246 per cent, compared with the hourly rate in 1915. The operators, he said, submitted that it meant maintenance of peak war time rates and ignored entirely the economical deflation which had occurred in other industries. The total of the increases since 1915 varied in different occupations from $4 to $5 a day for men, and from $2.66 to $2.75 per day for boys.

When Mr. Young had finished his preliminary statement the chairman of the board mentioned that Mr. Livett had not touched upon the general movement towards lower wages in the industrial market. Mr. Livett in replying to this said that the miners were asking the same rates as two years ago. It was their desire, he said to better the standard of living. The budget he had mentioned only provided for necessities and not for any luxuries.

At this point the hearing adjourned until Monday afternoon.

Calgary, April 11.—Owing to the fact that the miners' representatives were not in a position to call any witnesses in Calgary at the afternoon session on Monday, of the board of conciliation that is probing the coal mining situation in District 18, the sitting was adjourned without making any headway. It was arranged that the board should proceed to Drumheller on Tuesday and take evidence there, Robert Livett stating that witnesses would be ready to give evidence in that mining centre.

Mr. Livett, when the board resumed its session on Monday afternoon, stated that to accept the operators' proposal would mean the elimination of all inequalities that had been adjusted since 1917 by the late W. H. Armstrong, while director of coal operations. These, he said, would affect the majority of the mines in the district.

R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, stated that Mr. Armstrong's orders had been issued during a period of abnormal times. That was why his associates wished to go back to the last agreement made without outside assistance.

Mr. Livett contended that if that were the case, many of the local contracts as to conditions would be done away with and numerous controversies would result.

In reply to a question from the chairman, Mr. Livett stated he was not prepared to call witnesses in Calgary. After some little discussion it was therefore decided to adjourn the sitting and meet in Drumheller the following day.

Drumheller, April 11.—Crowds of miners were at the station Tuesday morning awaiting the arrival of the train with the board of conciliation members on board. The operators are represented by O. E. Whiteside, W. C. Robertson and R. M. Young, and the miners by Robert Livett, N. MacDonald and Wm. Potter.

The coal operators who are present are Wm. Henderson and B. K. Bullock, Drumheller; M. B. Morrow, Canmore; O. E. S. Whitesides, Coleman; L. Stockett, W. C. Robertson, Calgary, and R. M. Young, commissioner for the Coal Operators' Association.

Drumheller, April 12.—There was quite a breeze at the opening session Wednesday morning of the conciliation board here, which grew so heated that there was a partial threat on the part of H. Ostlund, the representative of the miners, to resign from the board.

It arose through the statement of Robert Livett, who is conducting the men's case, hat he desired two of the operators to be put on the stand to tesify as to the cost of production of coal. He said he had subpoenaed Wm. Henderson and D. A. McCaulay, which would be returnable at 2 p.m.

W. C. Robertson, representing the operators, took exception to the request and gave various reasons for his position, the principal one being the production of all books and data to find out the actual cost which was essentially a question for an expert accountant. If the employees would indicate to the board just what information they wanted the operators would do their best to furnish the information, he said.

Chairman Knowles: "That would be documentary evidence esclusively?"

Mr. Robertson: "Not at all. When the information was put in and if the employees or the board were dissatisfied in any way then it could be verified by the examination of books.

It would require a chartered accountant to verify figures." He was willing that such a witness should be cross-examined with certain reservations.

Robert Livett said he wanted to "get to the seat of the trouble" in the cost of coal production.

The chairman asked if the complicated accounts that had been referred to would not be more easily available at the head office of the company than at the mine.

Mr. Livett said there had been much said that the wages of miners were the cause of the high price of coal to the consumer. "We want to try to show that this is not so," he said. The miners had received certain increases through the late director of coal operations which had amounted to 92 cents per day, on the average of three days' production that would amount to a little better than 30 cents a ton, while the increase granted the operators amounted to $1.51 a ton, that, he said should be investigated right there.

Mr. Robertson said Mr. Livett was interjecting a new phase of the situation in asking to investigate the decisions of the late Mr. Armstrong as to whether they were right or wrong.

Mr. Livett insisted that if the miners' wages were responsible for the high price of coal then they would bear the brunt of it.

At this point H. Ostlund, K.C., heatedly exclaimed that it was not fair to place miners on the stand and for operators to sit back and to say nothing so far as their side was concerned. He was going to insist that operators go into the box or perhaps he would resign and have the board cancelled.

Chairman W. E. Knowles rebuked his fellow board member by remarking that the proper place to place his resignation was at Ottawa.

Mr. Knowles said he was not prepared to give a decision right off the bat, but a little later said that the two operators menioned would be expected to appear before the board at 2 o'clock.

NEW POWER TOMORROW

The British Columbia and Alberta Power Co. announce that they will turn on power on their transmission lines on April 15th. This will complete the initial step in this company's big "white fuel" development in this district.

The work of the company has been considerably handicapped by the severity of the past winter, but has been pushed in a determined manner to completion.

Too much stress cannot be placed on the importance to this district of this development. The presence of cheap electrical power cannot help but be beneficially felt by all. It will make electric light cheaper, will make possible the economical use of so many of the household labor seving electrical devices, such as ranges, percolators, washing machines, water heaters and so forth, and will bring these conveniences within the reach of all.

It will make possible the speedy development of the natural mineral wealth of this district, and will offer a great inducement to incoming industry.

These are but a few of the manifold advantages to be derived from this undertaking that has been proceeding quietly at our very threshold. The field is unlimited, and this may be said to be the "opening wedge."

An important business deal took place this week when Mr. R. E. Beattie, of the Beattie-Noble Limited, disposed of most of his interest in the drug business. The firm will carry on as usual, Mr. Beattie still remaining a stockholder in the company. The firm name will remain as at present. Stocktaking is in progress at the big drug emporium. The transaction is being done through the well known realty firm of J. A. Arnold.—Cranbrook Herald.

The big district meeting of Dokies in the Crow's Nest Pass district will be held at Lethbridge, on May 24th. Already a large number from the several towns along the Pass have expressed a desire to attend the gathering, which promises to surpass the gathering held last year. Owing to the large number of Dokies compelled to use Minard's Liniment last summer following their trek across the hot sands of Alberta, the show will be staged much earlier this year.—Cranbrook Herald.

BASEBALLERS REORGANIZE

With the advent of the warm weather, such as it is at this season of the year, the baseball fever began to work with the result that quite a representative meeting of the fans was held in the Fernie Cigar Store on Sunday afternoon last, when about 40 fans reorganized the club for the ensuing year.

The meeting was opened by a few timely remarks by the president, reviewing last year's activities, followed by the sceretary's financial report, showing a very heavy deficit, and after several items were questioned and explanations forthcoming, the report was finally adopted. The meeting was then thrown open to the reorganization process. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice Presidents—T. Prentice, H. R. Huntington and R. W. Wood.
President—S. T. Wilson.
Vice-Pres.—Dr. B. Asselstine.
Secretary—E. H. Connell.
Treas.—J. R. McLeod.
Business Manager—Wm. Johnston.
Playing Manager—J. M. Ault.
Executive—P. J. Hughes, F. Gilbert, J. Garbutt, N. Reed, J. Jerue.

The meeting then busied themselves with the solution of the burden of the deficit as it was undertaken by the new club to do all in their power to clear this before the present season opens up. Upon assertion of several members present to the effect that they were willing to donate to a subscription list to pay this up, it was finally decided to solicit further subscriptions around town, and the following committee was appointed to look after the matter: S. T. Wilson, J. Jerue, Wm. Johnston, J. Graves.

The delegates to the E.K.B.B. League meeting at Cranbrook were then heard and presented a program as outlined in our columns last week, and it was finally decided that Fernie would take part in the league again this year The ruling as to players this year is far more stricter and calls for a resident with bonafide employment for 15 days, and a heavy penalty for any breach.

Grounds were the next topic and S. T. Wilson, Wm. Johnston and J. Jerue were appointed a committee to interview the council at their next meeting as to the possibility of securing the use of the city park this summer, it being agreed that although the distance was a little farther a more suitable place as far as fans were concerned was available there, and the grounds when once fixed up would be in better shape for use during sports days and not need this attention before these special events each year.

After two hours of general discussion on these topics the meeting adjourned to meet again, probably after the next league meeting, which is to be held in Cranbrook on the 23rd.

BECOMING DISTASTEFUL

Any Canadian who travels in the United States at the present time and talks with the people he meets, encounters a dislike for the very name of Ireland that surprises him. The average Englishman's irritation with regard to Irish politics has been migitated by a feeling that Great Britain has more or less washed her hands of the Irish question. But the American is in a less blissful state; he is still getting the Irish question for breakfast, luncheon and dinner, and he is sick of it. Irish interference in American policy is still as active as it ever was. When de Valera acted on a plain hint to get out, after fruitless attempts to bedevil the deliberations of the Republican and Democratic National Conventions, it was hoped that this sort of thing was at an end; but an organization known as the "Friends of Irish Freedom" consiting of enemies of the common peace and international good will, of many stripes and many nationalities, has continued active.

At present these "Friends" are heading a movement to induce the United States to make itself ridiculous in the eyes of the rest of the world on the subject of disarmament. The United States suggested and brought about a disarmament conference at Washington and suggested plans that were later in the main incorporated in treaties. Now a campaign is on foot to induce the United States Senate to repudiate the Harding-Hughes proposals, and advertise their country as a headless, formless nation, which cannot pledge itself to anything, and has no fixed policies on any subject. Foremost in the agitation to induce the republic to publicly humiliate itself are the "Friends of Irish Freedom." In times of peace they are eagre for the maintenance of the British and American Navies as they were for their destruction during the war. Of course no real desire for the well-being of Ireland is involved; since it must be clear even to the most rabid Irish Republican that the reduction of the British navy would assist rather than hinder the cause of Irish nationality. The real objection to the treaties in the eyes of these "friends of freedom," is that they will tend to put an end to that agitation against Great Britain and Japan, which is their stock-in-trade as local politicians. Any step towards peace hurts the business of the professional agitator, no matter what his breed.

The "Friends of Irish Freedom," have carried their tactics to the length of embarking on a campaign of personal abuse against every Senator known to favor the ratification of the treaties. Such men are branded in the literature disseminated broadcast, as disloyal to America and hirelings of Great Britain. Among the persons attacked is Hon. John Sharp Williams, "The Gentleman from the Mississippi," whose ancestors fought on the American side in the War of Independence and the war of 1812.

Among the main contentions of the anti-treaty propagandists in justifying their attacks on the American public men today, is that the Irish-Americans are fighting now for the "liberty and independence' of the United States as they did in 1776. This is too much for the gorge of Senator Williams who says:

"We Americans who fought the war of independence were Scotch and English and Welsh and Scotch-Irish. This crowd had nothing to do with it. We fought the battles of the Revolution. Did they fight them? They were not here to fight them. Most of them came over in the Irish potato panic and the starvation period of 1848 and 1849, long after the Revolution was over."

Senator Williams is unkind enough to expose the fallacy of two stock claims of professional Irish-Americans with regard to their participation in securing American independence, viz. that Patrick Henry and Andrew Jackson were Irishmen. The fiery speechs of Patrick Henry might substantiate the allegation of Irish ancestry, were it not for a fact that his parents were natives of Aberdeen and that he got his Christian name from an uncle who was a clergyman of the Established Church of Scotland. Andrew Jackson's people came from Lowestoft in England. Senator Williams knows the lineage of every prominent leader of revolutionary days and can find no Irish among them. Consequently he dismisses the claim of the Irish-Americans to be the historic champions of American liberty and says he is getting tired of the pretence that the only real American people in America are the hyphenated Americans.

But what chiefly nauseates him is the puerile and craven contention that the United States cannot enter into treaties with other nations without jeopardizing its independence. "What upstanding Southerner or Northerner," he asks "is in the slightest degree afraid about the independence of the United States?" He has plain language for the men who say that as a result of the ratification of the treaties Americans will become dependents of the British Empire. They are all asses or liars. Hear, Hear!—Saturday Night.

MINT SOURCES TOO STRONG

As soon as I read the official announcement that gold coin may—perhaps, possibly, and so forth—return to public use, off I went to the Bank of England clutching my dirtiest treasury note. A perfect itch to feel a "jingling minted quid" possessed me.

"Will you," I said to the cashier, "kindly give me gold for this note?"

He looked at me suspiciously. It dawned on me that perhaps he thought I was a coiner trying to get a model to work on.

"H'm," he said (a sound I always thought peculiar to doctors). "You are ,of course, entitled to a sovereign, but unless you have a good reason I would remind you that the country needs its gold. Have you a good reason?"

Had I? I was unable to think of one, so, looking coy, I whispered in some confusion—

"That," he replied, "is a sentimental reason. Hundreds of people come here every year to obtain sovereigns for babies to cut their teeth on."

"Well, as a matter of fact," I said, in a burst of frankness, "I am becoming a little restless about these notes. Are they — now, honestly, between man and man — are they worth a sovereign?"

This was a shrewd stroke. It touched his professional pride. He smiled: "Do you insist," he asked.

I drew myself up, flattened out the note, and said "I do!"

He opened up a drawer and flung a sovereign at me and I walked out feeling like a traitor.

I went to a clothier's shop, where I selected a tie. I placed the sovereign on the counter casually. The young man said, rather uncouthly, "What's this?" and immediately carried it off to another young man, with whom he held a whispered debate. "This is a sovereign, and the manager's out," he announced. "Haven't you a note — or some money?"

Money! I laughed with joy.

I then went straight back to the Bank of England with my beautiful sovereign. "Nobody loves him," I said, "and I want to do the decent thing by you. Give me back my old pound note.' '

It is not the intention of the government to bring on the by-elections in Cranbrook and Vancouver until after the next revision of the voters' list, and owing to the very large number of names dropped from the list on account of non-voting at the general election, the time for holding the next sitting of the court of revision will be extended for one month to enable a fuller registration to be had.

WATSON HAD NO FAITH BUT NOW IS CONVINCED

Took Tanlac To Please His Wife And Was Astonished At The Way It Restored His Health, Declares Winnipeg Citizen.

"Frankly, I had no faith in Tanlac when I started taking it and only tried it to please my wife, but I have to believe it now, as it has done the work for me," said Joseph Watson, 246 Colony St., Winnipeg, Man.

"I had been losing ground for two years or more and had gotten to where I couldn't relish my meals and was losing weight and strength right along.

"I needed something to build me up and give me an appetite and this is exactly what Tanlac has done. I eat anything and everything I want now, have picked up in weight and feel fine all the time. I am willing to admit Tanlac was a big surprise to me."

The Edmonton board of trade welfare, which has been handling relief to local unemployed threatened to resign in a body as a protest against the relief period, which was originally intended to end on March 31, being extended for 10 days by the city council. Members of the board feel that with warm weather it is time the single unemployed start to look for work especially as many offers of farm jobs have been turned down by these men.

Pacific Milk is a British Columbia product which finds preference in the home fields, and is fast coming into tremendous demand on the prairies.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT" SOON TO BE UNIVERSAL IN CANADA

If all goes well Canada will ere long have a uniform system of road rules extending from ocean to ocean. For many years in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec the rule "Turn to the Right" has governed drivers of vehicles on their roads. It was so in the days of the ox-cart and horse drawn vehicle, and it prevails in these days of the motor car. The prairie provinces from the early days of settlement naturally adopted similar regulations. But for reason which it would be difficult to ascertain, the Maritime Provinces have adhered to the system of "Turn to the Left;" and a similar rule has prevailed in British Columbia. Sometime ago the coast province decided to rectify matters and its government is converting the populace to the "Turn to the Right" rule, zone by zone. Now the Maritime Provinces have followed suit, and by joint action the provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia propose to put it in force on the first of december next. The Legislature of New Brunswick has already passed the measure, and at the time of writing it is expected that Nova Scotia will adopt similar legislation. The change has been postponed until December, because it was felt that it might be conducive to accidents to bring it about at any other time than between seasons. Sleighing usually begins about the first of that month and motor traffic diminishes, so that the public will have all next winter to get accustomed to the new rule.

In the abstract the left-turning or the right-turning is a matter of taste; but practical safety demands a uniform system, and since a majority of the Canadian population is wedded to the "Turn to the Right," as an axiom it is well that the rule should be adopted in all parts of Canada. Road regulations are one of the few things in life in which absolutely unanimity of practice is essential.—Saturday Night.

UNWRITTEN ALLIANCE

(By Sir Philip Gibbs)

"There are not a few Americans, but a great an increasing number, who believe that the United States and Great Britain, united in a common policy for the reconstruction of the world, might form an unwritten allliance, in closer and more intimate friendship to make that policy prevail. I am one who thinks so too."

It is with those words that Sir Gibbs, the noted British journalist, concludes his impressions, on the part United States will play in world peace, in an article in The English Review of Reviews. United States' attitude toward world politics has been in a state of flux. Sir Philip analyses it as follows:

"The education of the United States has been painful but illuminating on the subject of economic laws and their inexorable working in international trade. For some time after the Armistice, the spirit of the American people, in the mass, harked back to the detached and isolated policy of their country in world affairs. They were sick to death of all the war sentiment which had been over worked with wild and false emotions. The downfall of Wilson, partly engineered by political enemies, but largely denounced by public opinion, was due to a variety of psychological causes of which the strongest certainty was a deadly nausea against the war fever and a general depression of disillusioned minds disgusted with European hatreds and politics. 'To Hell with it all,' said the average American. 'Let's get back to America, and back to business.'

"It was quite a long time before the mass of Americans discovered that it was not easy to 'get back,' that indeed there was no getting back to the old American aloofness or to the old adventure of business. It was only when they found great stocks on their hands unsold and unsaleable, when a wave of unemployment swept over their cities, when their capital became crippled because the moving tides of trade had fallen to a low ebb, that they realized the interdependence of nations, the absolute necessity for America to lend a hand, to take a lead even in the reconstruction of peoples exhausted to the point of industrial death, by the strain of war. Now that that has bitten deeply into the brain of every thinking man and woman in the United States, I hear them talking about it all the time on the smoking cars, on long distance trains, which are the conversational rooms of travellers, and where the 'hard cuss' gives tongue to the thoughts that are in him."

He is certain the United States is not impelled by selfish and material purposes, labelling all such assertions as "gross falsities" and "outrages" on the truth:

"On the contrary, I find everywhere a welling up of idealistic sentiment, a craving for impluses higher than self interest, an emotional desire for the United States to act with noble and disinterested purposes in the way of world peace. A great wave of pacifist sentiment has spread over the United States. It became a tidal wave about the walls of Washington, before and during the conference, which were stormed by petition, deputation, adresses, letters and telegrams from thousands of socities and individuals, appealing for an Act of World Peace. Certain books by war correspondents and others like Frederick Palmer, Will Irwin, Irving Cobb, reflect the common belief in the abominable insanity of war. In private conversation, I hear the thought constantly expressed that the only hope for the white peoples is a demobilisation of hatreds and of services. Mr. Hughes expressed the spirit of the whole people, as far as I know them, when he said, 'The thing that matters is that we are working for peace, and not for war.'

"Europe — and Great Britain — are lucky that the United States have that spirit of peace, and I don't think they quite realise their luck or are grateful for it. For what if the United States had imperialistic or aggressive purposes? What if public opinion there had been influenced by minds working not for peace but for war (as some of the Irish Americans were working a year and less ago), particularly with England? In that case I, for one, should abandon the hope of any reasonable progress of humanity and should retire into a dug-out of individualism. It is enormous good fortune for the world that the great democracy of the West is pacific by instinct and conviction and that an immense pressure of ideas is working ever for the peace of the future."

James Crosby, an old and highly respected citizen of Moyie for the past thirty-five years, died at St. Eugene hospital on Tuesday in his 86th year. Deceased had been ailing for some time. Until recently deceased had been engaged in the grocery business almost continuousuly.

"THE FATAL HOUR"

A play to set the heart beating and the blood tingling is this rapid-fire melodrama by Cecil Raleigh, presented by Metro on a magnificent scale with an all-star cast of Broadway players.

Motivated by that most dangerous of all human weapons—a woman's hate—it recounts a stirring story. Against a brilliant background of English high social life is unfolded the tale of Lieut. Nigel Villiers, heir to the title and estate of the Marquis of Deerminster, who, because of a snub to an actress of the music halls, is made the victim of a startling conspiracy to defraud him of his inheritance.

Its swiftly moving episodes heap sensation upon sensation. Beginning with a keenly contested boat race on the Thames between rival collegiate eights, it travels into the heart of London's fashionable fast set, with glimpses behind the scenes and a revelation of brazen intrigues.

Comes the daring attempt to steal the Crown Jewels from the Tower of London; the escape and pursuit of the thief, and then, with kaleidoscopic speed, a sudden transition to the snow covered fastnesses of the Swiss Alps, where the drama reache its breathless climax in a desperate hand-to-hand conflict at the edge of a yawning abyss.

REDISTRIBUTION OF SEAT IN B.C. MAY TAKE PLACE

There is probability of a redistribution of the electoral seats of British Columbia in the near future, according to information given out at Victoria. The suggestion is not new but political expediency of the Oliver government will likely bring about some 'carving' before next session of the legislature. It is planned to make a new seat in the northern part of the province, which will be known as Peace River and will be the northern half of Fort George, which is now the largest riding of British Columbia. In the proposed redistribution, Grand Forks and Greenwood will be amalgamated and it is hinted the Minister of Education would then seek re-election at the Coast, where there is usually little difficulty in finding a seat for a Cabinet Minister. The fact is that it is feared that both these seats might elect opposition members at another election, so that redistribution would be adopting elimination in advance. Trail and Rossland will also likely be amalgamated by which proceedure it is expected representation of Conservatives will be cut down by at least one. Kalso may also be carved so as to bring that constituency back into the Liberal column. The redistribution may be regarded advance election organization.—Grand Forks Gazzette.

CAN WE AFFORD IT?

Here and there an individual is found who "can't afford" to contribute to the Save the Children Fund; yet three cents a day, the price of a newspaper, will save a child in the famine districts of Russia.

Can we afford to refrain from succoring those innocent women and children? The saving of the thirty-three millions of people of Russia is every man's job. A few dollars from each family in Canada will go far to bring life to millions of these distressed people.

We who have never known famine cannot afford to sit idly by and close our ears to the moans of the dying and our eyes to the pictures of emaciated women and children whose misfortune is that they happen to be in a country less favored than our own.

Send your subscriptions to Sir George Burn, treasurer of the Save the Children Fund, Elgin Building, Ottawa, or through your church, or other local organization. All amounts, however small, will be thankfully received.

NATURE CURE FOR RAILWAYS

Ralph Budd, who at the age of 37 years became the youngest railway president in the United States through his discovery by the late James J. Hill as the result of Budd's achievement as a construction engineer on the Panama Canal, now steps into the limelight as the champion optimist of all railway chiefs concerning a tangible solution of the transportation situation which is conceded to hold the key to the nation's ultimate prosperity.

This new feather to the young Great Northern Railway president's cap of fame was added by a strikingly analytical address dealing with the railway crisis, which he delivered before a number of leading commercial bodies of the country. Mr. Budd champions the Transportation Act of Congress and strongly appeals for the public to remain patient while this law is given a fair and thorough trial. Four things are essential to restore the United States railway situation and general prosperity, he says, viz:

"1 Railroad managers must do their utmost to reduce rates so far as conditions will permit and use money and credit to purchase materials, employ labor and carry on improvement work.

"2 Railroad employees must assist in expediting decisions as to what constitutes a just wage, and accept the rulings of the U.S. Labor Board.

"3 Cooperation is paramount between the Interstate Commerce Commission which regulates railway earnings and the Labor Board which fixes wages of railway labor.

"4 The public must be willing to allow the Transportation Act to have a fair, thorough trial during more normal times."

"Reduction of railway rates already are under way and the general trend of reduction is being made by the railways as fast as the situation justifies this downward movement in accordance with natural laws.

"Attempts to correct the situation by performance of a sudden miracle would be creating another situation of worse abnormalcy instead of getting back to normal times.

"Absolute cooperation of all classes is necessary to the ultimate solution of the condition. The railways are the main artery of industrial life. Consequently they must reach a normal condition themselves before a normal condition can spread through our industrial life.

"There is no nostrum of the demagogue that will work a 'presto change' magic cure of the present condition.

"No physician would attempt to lower high human blood pressure in such a hasty manner. No more can your demagogic doctors remedy the industrial situation by their advocacy of instant lowering of railway rates twenty per cent.

"Such instantaneous drastic action would simply kill the patient. Your railways would be bankrupt. You would cease to have any circulation through your main arteries of commerce.

"Once you build a railway you have got to keep it going.

"The prosperity of the railways is the first essential thing necessary. They can only lower rates by getting capital necessary to make improvements, which will enable them to give better service and reduce operating costs. This is the only way rates can be lowered.

"Read twice and reflect upon the fact—that in 1916, when the railways made the largest return in their history, the public paid the lowest rates ever in existence.

"That tells the story. No one ever succeeded in getting blood out of a turnip.

"A word to the radical 'hand over your property type' of mind that clings to the government ownerschip idea as the method for carrying out his dominating confiscation obsession.

"If government ownership ever should come it never will be because of a rate situation. Inadequate service on the part of privately owned railways is the only thing that would bring it about.

"It is time this soaring type of mind came down out of the clouds and faced the situation honestly and in a logical way.

"The idea of the railways suddenly lowering their rates 20 per cent is not within reason, for it would spell ruin. If they made this arbitrary reduction the railways would have to have an immediate 25 per cent increase of business in order to put the country back upon a normal basic at once. Stop! Think! Listen! Such a combination of quick transformations is not to be expected by the most sanguine person. It simply could not occur, as we are not living in an age of miracles.

"Two government bodies acting independently regulate the railway businesses. The Interstate Commerce Commission fixes the railway earnings and the Labor Board fixes the wages to be paid. So the railways are in the peculiar position of having one government board regulating and limiting their earnings, while another government body regulates and fixes a very large proportion of their operating costs.

'After two years' experience of operating under this Transportation Act and after having been convinced at times that some provisions in the act were not working at all satisfactorily and should be changed, I have come to the conclusion that it should have a thorough trial during more normal times before changing it.

"During the war every person in some measure served the general cause. There was minimum of complaint and the maximum of service given then. Now that peace has returned I think we need only to be patient and to exercise some of the good qualities so manifest during the war, to assure ourselves of the enjoyment to the utmost of the fruits of victory in peace and prosperity.

EVE AND TIME

Out in the world of harsh realities Eve began to introduce system into the lives of herself and Adam. You remember that it was not until the expulsion that man and woman thought of the necessity of wearing clothes. A little later the practice of dressing for dinner began. With the aid of her watch Eve made the meal at a fixed point in the day. It came every evening at practically eight o'clock, and Adam had to eat it then or not at all. The more primitive and pleasing practice, of dining only when, and if, you feel like it, was abandoned. It was about this time that indigestion came into the world. Adam regretted it, but Eve was rather thrilled. Illness gave her an opportunity to bring schedule even more fully into the life of her husband by providing certain remedies to be taken three times every hour. But there were no remedies to stave off getting old ,and because minutes and seconds and hours had come into the world the years followed. They fell upon Adam and Eve presently and they died. It all came from the unfortunate eating of the apple upon the tree of knowledge. No sooner had Eve taken the first bite than she learned to tell time.—Judge.

STAINLESS NICKEL SILVER

Sheffield—Following upon the discovery of such an undoubted labor-saving device as stainless steel for cutlery, and subsequently stainless iron, from which over 30 useful domestic articles were made, there now comes the intimation that research chemists have found how to make stainless nickel silver.

This discovery has been made with the help of research workers in the laboratories associated with Sheffield and Birmingham electroplate works.

Spoons and forks of the new product can now be brought at the factories in the two cities, and it is intended to extend the use of the improved nickel-silver to the manufacture of cruets, knives for fish, fruit and cake, and, in fact, everything that is used in metal table ware. It will also be extended to kitchen utensils.

In appearance the new product is much more like silver than the old style nickel-silver. It is dearer than ordinary nickel-silver, but the wearing properties are greater, because of the greater proportion of nickel in the contents..

Moreover, the first expenditure is the last; the costly process of replating, as in the case of electroplate, is avoided, a very big item that adds considerably to the cost of maintaining in good order the table-ware used by steamships, hotel and railway companies.

Stainless nickel-silver ware costs about a third less than similar ware of stainless iron or steel.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism and similar troubles invariably yield to this T.R.C.'s (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules) treatment. Many doctors and many hundreds of druggists from coast to coast will confirm this truth. The hundreds of testimonial letters in our files show that T.R.C.'s have successfully treated Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, Sciatica and acute Neuralgia of all kinds. PULLMAN CARS TO OPERATE ON GREAT NORTHERN RY.

Pullman sleeping car service will be operated on the Great Northern Railway beginning in May, President Ralph Budd today announced.

Hitherto the Great Northern road has used its own sleeping cars. The contract with the Pullman Sleeping Car Company provides for the installation of complete new service, and the transfer of the Great Northern's privately owned sleeping car equipment to other use. The Pullman equipment will be entirely new and of the most modren type in every particular.

Arrangements are nearing completion for the placing in service of sufficient new steel cars to provide the Great Northern Railway with all-steel passenger trains for its transcontinental service during the coming summer. The addition of this new equipment, together with the unusually low passenger rates that will be put into effect, is expected to bring heavy summer tourist travel to Glacier National Park and other Great Northern points of tourist interest this season.

BIG BILL HAYWOOD HAS MINING CONCESSION

Big Bill Haywood, who until he skipped his bail bond of $65,000 and left the United States between two days, was the leading spirit of the I. W. W., has all of a sudden become a capitalist. According to Moscow despatches, Haywood heads a group to whom Premier Lenine has granted a concession to operate the Madezhdinsky iron works in the Ural Mountain region, part of the coal mines in the Kusnetz basin and auxiliary factories. The Rusian Government has also assigned $300,000 towards financing the undertaking.

The agreement stipulates that some five thousand qualified American workmen, with technical personnel shall be brought into Russia to operate the properties, and that each of them must purchase a hundred dollar's worth of tools or instruments for their own equipment, and sign an undertaking to observe all the rules of the soviet labor code, whatever that is. The production of these concessions is to go to the government, which undertakes to supply the workmen with a ration and allow them part of the production as their pay.

Here is a glorious opportunity for members of the I. W. W. to follow their leader to far off Russia. Of course, there are not many who would take that big loafer Bill Haywood seriously when it comes to work. No doubt he will at the first opportunity sell out to some hated capitalist and end by dying rich.—Saturday Night.

PARAMOUNT BLUE RIBBON

The Famous-Lasky Film Service Limited, distributors throughout Canada of Paramount Pictures, announce the Second Annual Paramount Blue Ribbon Week, April 17th to 22nd inclusive, and in Fernie this event will be celebrated at the Orpheum Theatre.

As the name Paramount Blue Ribbon Week implies, this annual celebration was devised in order to bring to the Canadian public immediately following the lenten season, the very finest array of motion picture attractions that could possibly be programmed within a week, in each and every city and town of the Dominion containing a theatre. To this end the Booking Department of the gigantic corporation has been working night and day for the past month arranging these programs so as to include the greatest variety of productions and stars, eliminating those that could not be classed among the very highest grade, and ordering many additional copies of the films that have proven in most demand.

In order to acquaint the public with Blue Ribbon Week, the Famous-Lasky concern is now in the midst of the most far reaching film advertising campaign in the history of Canada. This includes pages in many of the nationally circulated magazines, advertisements in 60 of the principal newspapers from coast to coast, posters, etc., and each theatre playing Paramount Pictures during Blue Ribbon Week will distribute novelty folders to their patrons showing the latest photographs of all the Paramount stars and containing a rhyme about each one. This is styled the "Paramount Alphabet."

The design used in all Paramount Blue Ribbon Week announcements was created by Miss Fern Thompson of Brantford Ontario, on the occasion of the first Blue Ribbon Week last year, Miss Thompson winning a trip to the Paramount studios on Long Island, N.Y., as her prize for the best design submitted from all over Canada.

Paramount Stars that will shine their brightest during Blue Ribbon Week include Gloria Swanson, Wallace Reid, Wm. S. Hart, Eliott Dexter, Theodore Roberts, Agnes Ayres, Betty Compson, Rodolph Valentino, Dorothy Dalton, Thomas Meighan, Lois Wilson, Marion Davis, Ethel Clayton, Lila Lee, Bebe Daniels, Wanda Hawley, Constance Binney, Jack Holt, Lionel Barrymore, Conrad Nagel Leatrice Joy, Mildred Harris, Edith Roberts, Theodore Kosloff, Monte Blue, Will Rogers, Ann Forrest, David Powell, Elsie Ferguson, Matt Moore Mary Miles Minter, T. Roy Barnes, May McAvoy, Forrest Stanley, James Kirkwood, Seena Owen, etc. The The public is urged to see at least two Paramount Pictures next week.

Mr. N. A. Wallinger, government agent at Cranbrook, has been relieved of his duties. Mr. E. T. Cope, of Nelson, assistant agent, arrived in the city Friday to take over the duties until the appointment of a permanent man. It is understood Mr. J. S. Alexander, of Ashcroft, government agent at that point, will be transferred to Cranbrook.

SAYS MEN HAVE RIGHT TO LOAF ON THE JOB

There is a man down in Nova Scotia that needs tending to. His name is McLachlan, and he is secretary and apparently general Pooh Bah of the United Mine Workers of America, District 26. Not liking the adjustments arrived at between the mine workers and the British Emprie Steel Corporation over wages, etc., as set out in what is known as the Montreal Agreement, McLachlan has been advising the miners to "work with their coats on." In other words establish a species of sabotage which will prevent the mines from delivering the usual quota of coal.

According to McLachlan's figures he has been fairly successful in his campaign, bringing up the labor cost from $1.62 to $2.25 per ton. All of which is an excellent way of killing the coal business, the steel business, and all the rest that puts Nova Scotia on the map as an industrial centre.

Throwing out his chest, McLachlan makes the boast that the men have a right to loaf on their jobs, and wants to know what the Minister of Labor is going to do about it. Hon. James Murdock may not be able to do anything, but the company may. They can fire the loafers.

In his communication to the Minister of Labor, McLachlan says: "I strongly advise the miners to cut down production to a point where all profits of the British Empire Steel Corporation would vanish." Well, if the quotations for the stock are any criterion as to profits this McLachlan person already has his wish.—Saturday Night.

WANTS STRIKE SETTLED

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A congressional effort at settlement of the coal strike, particularly as it involves the bituminous fields, was begun today when Chairman Nolan of the house labor committee was authorized to telegraph invitations to a number of represtative operators and officers of operators associations in the central competitive coal field to attend a meeting with the miners' union leaders in Washington April 10th and attempt to reach an agreement.

At the same time Senator Borah, Idaho, took occasion to say in the senate "that drastic public action" might be demanded and to charge the operators with contract breaking in precipitating the strike.

A possible divergence between the views of members of congress and those of the administration, however, was seen when Attorney General Daugherty issued a statement reiterating that "the government is not underaking to do anything in the present situation of the coal matter." He declared that "men have a right to quit work and men have a right to employ other men," that the public was not menaced with coal shortage and that it was the duty of local authorities to maintain order.

The government would not look with favor upon coal price increases, Mr. Daugherty said, adding that he "saw no reason at this time to believe that disorder need be feared," but asserted that the government "will perform whatever may be its duty in the premises" if local and state agencies cannot maintain peace.

The house committee action came after its members had spent two days listening to its discussion of the strike from the miners' viewpoint by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. Mr. Lewis assured the committee he would advise his associates to negotiate with any "representative groups" of operators from the central field, which indludes Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, even though not all the operators could be induced to deal again with the union. The union, he insisted, would not and could not settle the dispute in other states until this basis had been established for a national wage level.

The committee decided to appeal direct to the representatives of operators' groups in the states named and Mr. Lewis declared tonight it "had put forward a proposition worth considering."

"However, I have no notion of what the operators will do," he said.

NOTHING IS CENSOR PROFF, SAYS STAR

Mae Murray, star of "Peacock Alley," the Tiffany production for Metro presented by Robert Z. Leonard, coming to the Orpheum Theatre, says that the picture would be absolutely censor proof if there were an "absolute" in censorship.

"It is not milk and water proof, however, but a photoplay that sparkles with the champagne of the Paris restaurants and grows giddy with the night life pocket flasks of New York," she continued.

"In picturing these things we seek merely to 'hold the mirror up to nature,' just as we do in picturing the contrasting scenes in a 'Main Street' Indiana town and in a poetically idyllic village of Normandy.

"I believe that often the moral is taken from a play when some of the action is eliminated by the censors. The idea of cutting out all misdeeds is wrong. If there is no misdeed shown how can we portray the result of the misdeed to the perfect understanding? I believe that every actor and actress wants to point out a moral. Artists are not in favor of appealing to lower instincts. It would give them no returns and they would be losers in the long run. But the main thing is to be truthful. As St. Jerome said, it is better that all should be offended than that truth should be concealed."

In "Peacock Alley," Miss Murray plays a Parisian dancer who marries an American business man. The story is by Ouida Bergere, with scenario by Edmund Goulding. The picture is directed by Robert Z. Leonard. The photography is by Oliver T. Marsh, the art and settings by Charles Cadwallader and the sub-titles by Frederic and Fanny Hatton.

BOARD IS PROGRESSING

WAYNE, Alta., April 15th—There were some highly strained moments at the concluding sitting of the coal mining board of conciliation inquiry at Drumheller. This centred around the demand of the miners' representatives for all pay rolls to be submitted in order that the average earnings of the men might be ascertained. This was objected to by W. C. Robertson, representing the operators, on the ground that it would mean the divulging of information of a confidential nature, and this plea was sustained by the board.

After much argument the operators made the offer of allowing the men's representatives to select any ten names, from the pay rolls with the object of arriving at average earnings and this was finally accepted. This concluded the Drumheller sittings of the board, the arrangement being that the information mentioned be supplied in a couple of days.

Wayne is the next coal centre to be visited and the sitting there opened Friday afternoon. In the course of the morning the board visited the Rosedale collieries in order to familiarize itself with the class of mines in the Wayne district.

DRUMHELLER, Alta., April 15.—After a somewhat brief session at Wayne on Friday afternoon, the Board of Conciliation inquiring into the mining dispute in Alberta adjourned to meet at Canmore on Monday, June 24. The chairman of the board, W. F. Knowles, K.C., said that in the meantime he and his colleaguec would digest the evidence that had already been given in the investigation.

"We have been very much pleased," he said, "with the courteous treatment we have received from all parties, particularly the witnesses, without any qualification. Most of the witnesses have been miners, and they have given their evidence sincerely and in a very impartial and honest manrer. The audiences have also been very nice and orderly," he said.

To have explored the far extremes of the workings of the Rosedale mine and afterward to complete their journey on a gasoline railroad "speeder" to Wayne in a blizzard were some of the experiences of the board prior to commencing its sesion at this western part of the Drumheller valley on Friday.

This is the second mine that the chairman of the board has so far visited. The previous one being that of the Gibson Collieries.

The manner in which the board has gone about its business in taking on such self-imposed tasks in order to secure first-hand information has been most commendable.

Testimony of several of the witnesses at Wayne went to show that a number of them had homesteads and that they worked these when the mines were closed.

There was considerable discussion at the opening of the sitting between the chairman of the board and the representatives of the miners regarding the nature of the evidence of witnesses. The chair taking the position that this should be strictly confined to the peculiar conditions of Wayne. It was his duty, he said, to see that the number of witnesses was not multiplied unnecessarily.

Much of the evidence bore on the cost of living budget. These were presented to the board by the miners as exhibits. All the witnesses said they were under the impresion that the cost of living at Wayne was considerably higher than at such centres as Calgary and Edmonton.

The miners in this district are paid on the run of mine basis and much of the evidence centred in the comparison of this system with the screened coal basis at Drumheller.

There was closed last week at Invermere the sale of the entire interests of the late Columbia Valley Orchards, Ltd., to a syndicate composed of S. P. Geddes, Dr. W. Thompson and Dr. W. H. Geddes, of Vancouver. Columbia Valley Orchards was one of the subsidiary companies of the Dominion Trust. They held large land holdings just north of Invermere, comprising over 14,000 acres, which they started to develop as an irrigation project on modern lines spending nearly a million dollars. With the collapse of the Dominion Trust and the beginning of the war, the enterprise ceased, work being dormant ever since. It is the intention of the new owners to develop the property as a large cattle and sheep ranch.

OTTAWA, April 16.—Notice of the incorporation of the East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, capital $250,000, Fernie, B.C., is contained in last week's issue of the Canada Gazette.

FERNIE TEAMS LEAVE SCALPS

Nelson, April 19.—Victory, complete and overwhelming, came to the Nelson high school basketeers in the double-header with the Fernie high school teams at the Central school auditorium here last night. The Nelson boys' team just romped away to victory, defeating the visiting five 38-10. The girls' match was a more seriously contested event and went to the Nelson girls only by the score of 13-10. A fair crowd witnessed the games, which were handled by Referee E. C. Hunt to the satisfaction of all.

The Fernie boys ran things pretty close during the first half, holding the Nelson team to a field goal lead. In this period Wasnock, for the visitors, netted six points; for Nelson McVicar netted six and Walley two.

In the second period, however, Bradshaw and Walley cut loose on a wild scoring bee and left the visitors hopelessely out of the running. For Fernie, Wasnock scored two points and Kerr two; for Nelson, McVicar scored two, Bradshaw 16, Walley 12 and McKenzie two.

The teams were:

Fernie.	Position.	Nelson
Wasnock	Forward	McVicar
Carosella	Forward	Bradshaw
Kerr	Center	Walley
Elley	Guard	McKenzie
Rudnicki	Guard	Waldie
Gambell	Spare	Sims

The Fernie girls meant business when they came on to play. They held the local girls tied at 9-9 at the end of the second. They were undone in the 10 minutes overtime play, however, the Nelson girls scoring two field goals to one penalty. The scorers were:

Nelson—First period, K. Black 2. Second period—K. Black 1, V. Walley 2, J. McDonald 4. Overtime—K. Black 2, V. Walley 2.

The teams were:

Fernie.	Position	Nelson
Dicken	Forward	Black
Culleton	Forward	Walley
Coughlan	Center	McDonald
Golightly	Guard	Scott
Graham	Guard	Barker
Sewell	Spare	Dill

J. A. Ferguson of Nelson was the official scorer. The timekeepers were C. Cryderman, of Nelson, and the chaperone of the Fernie girls.

After the matches the Fernie boys were escorted to the Y. M. C. A., which has been their headquarters while here, and the visiting girls were escorted to the homes of their hostesses. They leave on the boat this morning and will play a double-header in Cranbrook on their return journey.

Elated with their success the Nelson high school boys were last night seeking fresh worlds to conquer and issued a challenge to any high school boys' team in the province.

NEWGATE NOTES

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Corporal and Mr. Jones on Tuesday evening, when 25 members of the International Social Community Club, Gateway, Mont., and Newgate, B.C., gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Jones and presented them with a handsome club bag. Mr. Macdonald made the presentation while Mr. Hart spoke a few words, voicing the regret of the community at losing Corporal and Mrs. Jones. Both the Corporal and Mrs. Jones replied in a few well chosen words. The evening was then spent in games, charades and music, after which refreshments were served.

The community club is planning a masquerade ball for the near future.

Dr. Edwards has built a new garage.

Mr. Macdonald has been making improvements inside his house.

Mr. Williams has turned the hall into a store, which is much appreciated.

Mrs. Young served afternon tea to the ladies of the village Monday afternoon.

The Bull River power, which was to have been turned on last Saturday, has been delayed owing to some flume trouble which developed when the water pressure was turned on. It will be several days before things will be in perfect order.

MEMORIAL UNVEILED

Sunday last, the fifth anniversary of the taking of Vimy Ridge by the Canadian Army, one of the most spectacular episodes of the war, was very fitingly observed in this city by the unveiling of the memorial monument which has been erected by the combined efforts of the people of Cranbrook and district, supplemented by a substantial grant from the city council. The monument has been in place for some weeks, but it was deemed wise to wait till weather conditions allowed of an outside service before unveiling it, and hence Vimy Day came to be very appropriately chosen.

The G. W. V. A. had full charge of the arrangements for the day, one committee, Messrs. George Childs, W. Kay, and A. F. Crowe, having charge of the general arrangements, while Messrs. H. B. Hicks, A, Ashworth and Rev. E. W. McKay had the drawing up of the program in charge. But this does not mention any of the others of the organization who worked hard to get everything arranged properly. The result must be considered very satisfying, for the services of the day seemed to go off with all the proper solemnity, and were attended by large crowds.

It is estimated that close upon a thousand people were in attendance in the afternoon at the G. W. V. A. grounds when the monument was unveiled. Seats for several hundred were provided immediately outside the enclosure where the monument stands, while inside seats were provided for relatives of the soldiers, the local minister, and others, the members of the city council and other public organizations, while to the right of the monument were gathered the veterans, officers and men, a number of them in uniform. The band was also present in force, and took part in the services. The weather was fairly propitious for the event, being warmer than the previous day had given promise of, and at the close of the service the sun came out brightly as if in keeping with the moment.

"THE GREAT IMPERSONATION"

George Melford, whose special Paramount productions have a world wide reputation, is responsible for the superb production of "The Great Impersonation,' the E. Phillips Oppenheim story featuring James Kirkwood which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre Friday and Saturday this week.

Mr. Oppenheim writes for a big public—probably the largest claimed by any English or American author. "The Great Impersonation" is one of his latest tales of mystery, love and intrigue, and it has already gone through several editions. The plot deals with a mysterious mixup in identities and is concerned with incidents immediately preceding the Great War. There are many extras used in the various scenes which include episodes in German East Africa, the royal court of Berlin and the palatial drawingrooms of an English mansion.

James Kirkwood, the featured player, has a dual role, appearing both as an Englishman and as a German. In the leading feminine role is Ann Forrest, while Alan Hale, remembered for his fine work in the stage play, "Friendly Enemies," is seen in the chief heavy part. The deposed Emperor Wilhelm is portrayed by Lawrence Grant. Others in the cast are Fontaine Le Rue, Bertram Johns, Winter Hall and Truly Shattuck.

WHY ONE SHOULD OWN HIS OWN HOME

"Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace and plenty; where supporting and supported polished friends, and dear relations mingle into bliss."

Every man is endowed by his Creator with certain inalienable rights. Among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

A man is contented when he is at home, when he is independent of others for a shelter. It is most advantageous to own a house that we may call our own, not to be subject to the often harsh treatment of the landlord. It does not require a beautiful mansion to make a person feel he is at home; a little cottage or an ordinary building that is cozy, is all that a preson requires. While a man owns a home, he never will fear of being turned adrift into the street. He will not need to pay the heavy sum of money to the landlord for rent.

A man having a farm that he may call his own and on lands that are his, will never perish through misery. Even if his crop happens to fail totally one year, he is almost certain to live while waiting for another year, to have sufficient money laid by to make his family live for he must have laid up money reaped from the preceding year's profit.

It is most disadvantageous not to own a home. It means that when a person does not own a home, that he is subject to the landlord's iron hand. It means that he must pay often very heavy sums of money to satisfy his master. If he cannot meet the requirements ,very often he is turned out.

If a man through no fault of his, is employed only six months in the year, he earns barely enough to give his family support. Nevertheless, he must pay rent for twelve months just as if he worked all the year through.

A strike occurs in a factory in which a man is working. He is completely without work. Where does he get the two or three hundred dollars to pay his yearly rent? If he cannot pay, will he nevertheless stay in the house? Probably he will receive a polite invitation to leave the house. Where will he go? He must not depend too much on the charity of the people.

Ownership is a kind of freedom that appeals to the human heart. If we own a home of our own, we pay taxes, but it stands to reason that a tenant will pay far more for his rent than an owner for his taxes.

Yes, every man should own a house that he may call his own. It is for the welfare of his family, it is for his own welfare. A man that owns a home will never perish for want of a shelter.

FOR TEACHERS' TOUR TO GREAT BRITAIN

VICTORIA, April 17—The "Teachers Tour to Great Britain and the Battlefields of France and Flanders" is to be a memorable event for some teachers throughout the country ,and the plans, which are nearing completion, promise a "pilgrimage" unexcelled in interest by any of the previous six annual tours under the Overseas Educational League. Teachers from Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland will join with those from this Dominion in the arrangements for this summer.

A special feature of this year's plans is the chartering of the whole accommodation of the S.S. "Scotian," which carries with it all those privileges which guarantee the social and vacation pleasures of the seven-day Atlantic voyage. Another attractive item of the year's itinerary is the visit to Oxford, Stratford-on-Avon and Warwick, for during that period the teachers have the unique privilege of hospitality in the Oxford colleges by generous permission of the college authorities, through Sir Herbert Warren, president of Magdalen College. Mrs. Haldan and other Oxford friends of the league.

The arrangements have been made to accommodate the gentlemen of the party in Balliol College and the ladies in Lady Margaret Hall and St. Hughs College, where, as temporary resident students, they will dine in the college halls and be given the freedom of undergraduates. In addition, while at Oxford, specially arranged visits will be made to Blenheim Palace by invitation of the Duke of Marlborough and to tea at Headington by invitation of Mrs. Morrell.

It is also confidently expected that a civic reception will be accorded to the visitors this year by the Lord Mayor of London in the Guildhall, with luncheon and address by the Lord Chancellor of England, Lord Birkenhead, one of the foremost and one of the youngest leaders in the public life of Britain.

The programme for France will, of course, includea stay in Paris, which promises the utmost interest, for the arrangements are being directed by La Bienvenue Francaise, of which Marshal Foch is president and Prince Roland Bonaparte the vice-president It is through their interest and influence and by the good offices of Madame Boas de Jouvenal, the secretary-general, that the University of Paris will extend the hospitality of the colleges during the stay in Paris.

Teachers and clergymen desiring to take this tour may obtain application forms from the department of education, Victoria.

SPIRITUALISM ACCORDING TO CONAN DOYLE

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is strategically well situated to make a spring drive on the American front in behalf of spiritualism. His name is a household word as the saying is, in this country, and while as a writer he is essentially a romantic, most people do not realize it. To the average person Sir Arthur is the keen, businesslike, coldly deductive and logical Sherlock Holmes, who in his pursuit of the solution of mysteries fitted one fact to another fact with unerring accuracy of purpose.

Why, say we to ourselves, should the same thing not be true of Sir Arthur in his pursuit of the mystery of the human soul? If as Holmes he could reconstruct a murder from a cigar butt, is it not reasonable to suppose that from vastly more conspicuous clews he can correctly anticipate what happens after death? That is why Conan Doyle will get more attention and more credence from our people than would almost any other spiritualist campaigner Even Sir Oliver Lodge, for all his scientific attainments ,does not carry as much weight—in America at least —as does Sherlock Holmes incarnate. Sir Oliver has never demonstrated to us that he knows how to go about elucidating mysteries.

It is not lack of willingness to believe in life after death that will be Conan Doyle's chief obstacle in arguing his thesis before Americans. Most people are not only willing but eager to believe that the soul survives the dissolution of the body. The trouble is that there has been so much fakery and charlatanism practiced in the name of spiritualism that most people have given up hope of seeing survival demonstrated in terms preceptible to the senses. It is one thing to believe in immortality on the basis of, for example, the 15th chapter of First Corinthians; and quite another thing to believe in it on the basis of the seance phenomena of Paladino. Still, no one who with an appearance of sincerity claims to have new facts to offer on this supreme subject of speculation will ever lack a hearing.—Spoksman Review.

STRIKE SITUATION IN CENTRAL COMPETITIVE FIELD STILL UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, April 18—Efforts of anthracite miners and operators to settle the pending strike were resumed here today when members of their joint sub-committees on wage contract negotiations resumed the series of conferences which began two weeks before the strike was called, April 1.

The issues of the strike have not yet been defined, according to members of the sub-committee. Although the operators have refused point blank to grant the miners' nineteen demands for higher wages and altered working conditions, they have thus far declined to make specific their counter demands. All of the nineteen demands, have been submitted one by one, by the miners' delegates. In turn, the operators have challenged four of the demands, leaving fifteen to be considered. The crux of the strike situation is expected to be reached the latter part of the week, when the operators indicate they will make known the percentage of reduction in wages they will ask the miners to accept.

In the meantime, the public demand for hard coal, which operators had predicted would develope as soon as the strike became a fact, has failed to materialize. The reserve stocks, first estimated to be sufficient for about ten weeks, remain almost intact, producers announced today. Prices have actually been reduced by some distributors without stimulating the market, it was reported.

The bituminous situation, it was reported at operator's headquarters here today, remains at the deadlock into which it was thrust by the refusal of producers to confer with the strikers at the invitation of the house labor committee. Although unionization of non-union fields have been rapid, they assert last week's production of 3,600,000 tons was more than half sufficient to supply the current needs of the nation.

SEE TOM MIX'S LATEST AND HOLD YOUR BREATH

The question that probably will come to the minds of every person who sees Tom Mix's latest William Fox thriller, "Sky-High," at the Isis Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, "If he's still alive, why and how come?" Mix must have more lives than the time-honored cat to do the stunts he does and come up smiling and handsome every time for a new picture.

"Sky-High" is billed as a thrilling story of the Grand Canyon of Arizona. It certainly is that. What is more, it is blessed with an eminently satisfactory cast and some of the best photography that has ever slid over a local screen. The shots of Mix, as an immigration officer, riding an airplane through the Grand Canyon is a delight to the eye; but the hazard of making such scenes is so palpable that the audience is worked up to a high pitch of suspense.

Seriously speaking, however, this is a picture that ought not to be overlooked. The Canyon scenes alone make seeing it worth while. Flying through this territory is said to be so dangerous on account of air pockets and the necessity of almost superhuman skill that only one interpid aviator ever before attempted it. Mix preludes this event by some very sensational riding on Tony, his horse, up a steep trail and around the Canyon's rim where a single misstep would probably have meant death to horse and rider.

Lynn F. Reynolds directed the picture and wrote the story. Eva Novak plays an eastern girl whose guardian is the leader of a gang engaged in smuggling chinamen from Mexico into California.

200 STEEL CARS MODERNIZED DRESS OF ORIENTAL LIMITED

St. Paul, April 16.—On May 15th the Oriental Limited, the "Crack Transcontinental Train" of the Great Northern Railway, will start its cross country trip from Chicago in brand-new dress from engine to observation car. The new steel equipment for the Oriental Limited replaces the equipmetn which was specially built and placed in service for the Seattle Alaska Yukon Exposition in 1909. At that time this was the most up-to-rate train operating on the north transconinental route, and the new steel train now replaces what was then regarded as the "last minute luxury eqiupment." The new transcontinental steel trains will require about 200 steel cars.

The Great Northern Railway has for many years operated its own sleeping cars, but on May 15th the Pullman Company will take over the service on the Transcontinental runs, and they, too, are furnishing for this service the latest type of up-to-date steel Pullman sleeping cars.

The new steel cars have many improvements. The underframe is so constructed as to make these cars not only exceptionally strong, but to give a resiliency which makes them very easy riding cars, The mail, baggage cars and coaches are products of the steel car builders' highest ability. The new dining cars are exceptionally attractive, the interior being finished in old ivory. They were fabricated in the Great Northern car shops in St Paul, these being the first steel cars to be constructed at Company owned shops anywhere in the Northwest.

The upholstery of the sleeping cars is the standard Pullman design. The plumbing and lavatory fixtures are of the latest improved patterns. The most modern heating and ventilating systems are used. The color of the exterior of the new steel cars is the standard Great Northern dark green with gold lettering. The new equipment is commencing to arrive now. The first train was assembled in the Dale Street shops of the Great Northern Railway at St. Paul on April 5th. The first complete new steel train will leave Chicago on May 15th, departing from St. Paul the next day, May 16th, and arriving at Seattle, May 20th.

WANT $2637 A YEAR FOR EACH FAMILY

The impossible nature of some of the present demands of organized labor was brought out in a hearing at Chicago Friday before the United States railroad labor board. The railroad shop employees had argued that a yearly income of $2637 was necessary for an employee to maintain a family in reasonably comfortable circumstances. The answer was made, and it is entirely true, that if every family in the country lived on a yearly budget of that size there would not be enough money to go around, and the railroads would be plunged into an annual deficit of over $1,000,000,000.

"The country does not produce, and never did, for such a budget," declared J. W. Higgins, speaking for the western roads.

"At that rate of distribution it would take $66,000,000,000 of new wealth every year to provide for the nearly 25,000,000 families in the United States.

As a matter of fact, it would take a great deal more than that, for no distinction is made in labor union scales between the wages paid to single men or women and to the heads of families. If a married man were paid $2637 a year, a single man in his class of employment would have to be paid $2637 a year. It would therefore take at least $100,000,000,000 a year if the distribution of new wealth were made on the proposed basis.

But the nation does not produce anywhere near $100,000,000,000 of new wealth a year. Before we had run long on that schedule the country and its industries would be bankrupt and we should be eating up the accumulated wealth of the centuries. We should soon find ourselves in the plight of soviet Russia.

The highest estimate we have ever seen of the national wealth is $300,000,000,000, and that was based on the peak of wartime prices. Two hundred billion dollars would be an outside estimate of the present national wealth. So at the rate proposed before the railroad labor board, this nation would run through its accumulation of the ages in about two years.

The United States is a rich and favored country, but it is not so wealthy as the European peoples think it or some of the labor leaders would try to make the public believe in their argument for the maintenance of war-time wages and conditions.—Spokesman Review.

C. J. Lewis has returned home from a long stay at the hospital and it is hoped will be benefitted by the treatment of his injured foot.—Cranbrook Herald.

The B.C. Compensation Commission, consisting of E. S. Winn, Parker Williams and J. Millar, M.D., and R. B. Fulton, arrived in Fernie last evening to investigate several cases. They left today by car for Michel.

Mineral production in British Columbia in 1921 amounted in value to $28,066,641 as against $35,543,084 in 1920, according to the annual report of Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines, made public recently. The total tonnage of ore mined in the province during the year 1921 was 1,562,645, having a gross value of $12,920,398 and with the placer gold a total value of $16,153,598.

Considerable quantities of coal are being produced by the non-union mines, especially those west of Edmonton. Even in the Drumheller valley, the Jewell mine is getting out about 150 tons a day. This mine is at the present time being run on a co-operative basis. It is possible that the board appointed under the Industrial Disputes Act will not meet at Canmore until Tuesday next and not on Monday as previously announced. It is stated that the chairman, W. E. Knowles, K.C., of Moose Jaw, is presently engaged on a legal case which will demand his attention longer than at first anticipated.

Volunteering to coöperate with the Nelson board of trade in stimulating tourist traffic by giving the manifold attractions of British Columbia as a tourist resort the widest possible publicity, the Vancouver Publicity bureau has offered to distribute through its office data on the district, free of charge. The offer, which was received by E. F. Gigot, secretary of the Nelson board, has been accepted. Mr. Gigot forwarded a parcel of the beautifully illustrated booklets compiled and published by the Southern British Columbia and Southern Alberta Tourist association, for distribution. The booklets give a wealth of information as to routes, camp sites, natural beauty spots, facilities for sport, distances, and much useful data on the towns between Penticton and Calgary that are members of the association. — Nelson News.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

MRS. PENNINGTON
NEW ROCKLAND, P.Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered with it during the winter. I began having Choking Spells—gasping for breath and could not speak. I would have one of these bad spells in the evening, one during the night, and one in the morning. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

"In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and in a few days, the choking spells stopped, and I have had none since May 7th, 1920. I have so wanted to tell other sufferers who have the same trouble about "Fruit-a-tives" for I know how they must suffer.

Some thought the Asthma would come back on me as winter came on but it has not, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives" Mrs. J. M. PENNINGTON.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PUT LOCAL COAL OPERATORS ON THE STAND AT HEARING

(Lethbridge Herald)

When the conciliation board appointed to arbitrate the points of dispute between the coal miner and operators in District 18, U. M. W. of A., and to endeavor to find a basis for the negotiations of a new wage agreement, sits in Lethbridge, local operators are certain to be placed on the witness stand, H. Ostlund, K.C., solicitor for the miners, told the Herald this morning.

It is expected that the sessions here will be one of the most important held The commission will come here from Banff, the exact date not being known at this time. Mr. Ostlund thinks they will reach Lethbridge late next week or early in the folowing week.

The point as to the calling of operators as witnesses was debated and disposed of at a warm session in Drumheller, when Mr. Ostlund threatened to resign unless the company's representatives gave some light on the cost of production, a very vital point, according to his contention. He won his point, and already two operators have given evidence. At the Lethbridge hearing, it is quite certain that a number of witnesses from both the miners and operators will be placed on the stand.

Mr. Ostlund, who is home druing the week's adjournment, states that evidence will probably be taken for two months. "The board is just getting its stride, and launching into the information it desires. However, I feel that much good work has been done," he observed.

J. A. Broley was in Cranbrook on Wednesday.

The body of Thos. Rahal, who died in Tuscan, Ariz., last week, will be brought to Fernie for burial.

The annual At Home of Mt. Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F., will be held next Friday evening in Hawthorne's Hall.

Percy Bean spent several days at Gateway this week. He sold a Ford car while in that town.

Mrs. W. Harrison, of Toronto, who has been visiting her daughter, left this week for home.

The Catholic Women's League will hold a social in the Parish Hall, Friday, April 21. Cards at 9 sharp. Refreshments; dancing. Admission 50c.

M. Burke, of Elko, was fined $10 on Monday for theft and B. Singh, of the same town, was fined $50 for being drunk.

The city will spend a large amount of money this summer on the waterworks plant, which is badly in need of repair.

Be sure and take in the Hockey Dance on Tuesday night, April 25th. Dancing at 9.30. Bass orchestra. A good time is assured.

The baseball boys are making a grand rustle this week to raise money enough to clear up last year's deficit. They are doing fine. A contribution will be appreciated.

It is stated that it is the intention of the government to open up a liquor sore at Yahk, to carry a full line of liquors, though not as large as at this point.

A hypnotist played in the Grand Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The crowds were very slim. The picture shows have made it almost impossible for a road attraction to get a crowd in Fernie.

On Tuesday of this week, Joe Matick, an alleged gambler, was fined $50 and costs or 60 days in jail on a charge of vagrancy. He worked one day on the street and then decided it was cheaper to settle.

Word was received in Fernie the other day of the death of Thomas Rahal, at Tuscasi, Ariz. Deceased, who resided in Fernie for many years, left here about six weeks ago in quest of health. He was 30 years of age and leaves a wife and four small children.

Provincial police have just had official notice from the superintendent of police, Victoria, to issue summons on all auto owners who have been running their cars since the first of the year without a license. Car owners who have their cars in use and have not as yet complied with the law will be wise to get their licenses immediately and save trouble.

Two representatives of the Lethbridge Rotary Club were in town this week looking into the possibilities of a local branch of the club. They consulted with a number of leading citizens, but were persuaded that the present time for organization was inopportune. The Rotary movement, which is symbolical for everything that is progressive, has grown by leaps and bounds during the past few years and Fernie should not be lagging behind in this matter.

E. T. Cope, of Nelson, returned to the lake city last week-end, after relieving here for a week or so in the government office. About the same time J. S. Alexander, formerly of Ashcroft, arrived here to take the position of government agent vacated by N. A. Wallinger. The latter is still without any definite statement from the department as to why he was treated with so little consideration, but from word which comes from other parts of the province it seems that others are being treated in a similar fashion. H. R. Townsend, of Rossland, for 25 years in the government service, is another with a long record to his credit who has been let out, and changes have also been made in the Similkameen and southern Okanagan districts.—Cranbrook Herald.

You can safely bring your children to the Isis.

J. N. Francis, of Victoria, and H. Thomas, of Calgary, fire adjusters, were in the city several days this week.

A special degree practice is called for Esther Rebekah Lodge next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. All officers and members are requested to attend.

Applications for caretaker for the Isolation Hospital will be received by the City Clerk. The position carries free quarters, light and water; no salary except when patients are in the hospital. Persons applying should be capable of nursing.

Word has been received in the city that Fred Smythe, well known among the old timers of this section, is now at Sandpoint, Idaho, and may some time pay a visit to his old haunts here. Mr. Smythe was at one time in charge of the destinies of the Moyie Leader before the changing fortunes of that town caused its demise.

The derailment of the east bound passenger train on Friday night last was caused by a faulty rail, which was found after careful examination to be in the centre of the rail and could not be detected by the men on their daily rounds of examining the track. H. M. Smith, trainmaster, with his crew of efficent men, swung the track to one side so that traffic would not be detained and the whole was cleared away with the track in good order on Monday evening following the mishap. It is considered very fortunate that nothing serious happened at the time.

British Columbia has declared war on gophers, F. W. Laing, editor for the department of agriculture, under the Hon. E. D. Barrow, announces. As gophers have grown worse, more determined have officials become to conquer them, Mr. Laing says. He explained that the pest has been the cause of many complaints recently in various parts of the province. "Bounties will be paid to individuals on tails up to 250 at 2 cents each," Mr. Laing said. "For the next 250 the rate will be 3 cents; for the second 500 payment will be made at 4 cents each, while on all over 1000 the maximum rate of 5 cents each will be applicable. It is anticipated that local farmers' organizations will supplement the sums paid by the department to such an extent that those engaged in the work of extermination will have a further incentive to carry on the destruction."

DANCE and DIVORCE

The home still has its troubles. Although the husband is not wasting his time and substance over the bar at the corner saloon, the wife is wasting her time and reputation at the dance hall. At least that is the way it panned out in at least five different divorce cases heard in this city this week. Now that the husbands are willing to stay home the wife wants to get out. The home gets it in the neck, as usual. Even if hubby goes to the dance with his spouce, the lady finds somebody who can shake a livlier hoof. Presently she is off with a new love. Dancing seems to have taken the place filled by drink in the old annals of divorce. The home is wrecked just the same,—Los Angeles Times.

DYSPEPSIA WAS OVERCOME IN A SHORT TIME

Winnipeg Woman Was Miserable From Stomach Trouble and Was Getting Weaker and Thiner All The Time.

"I speak from personal experience and not from hear-say when I say Tanlac is truley a wonderful medicine," said Mrs. Ray Walrod, 697 Riverton Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"I wasn't sick enough to take to my bed and stay there, but I was truley miserable as a result of stomach trouble and was getting thinner and weaker every day. I needed something to tone up my stomach and build me up and this is exactly what Tanlac has done.

"I am able to eat anything and everything I want now and my health is just splendid. My husband had an experience with Tanlac very similar to mine and we are both convinced that it is the only medicine at least that does everything that is claimed for it."

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism and similar troubles invariably yield to this T.R.C.'s (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules) treatment. Many doctors and many hundreds of druggists from coast to coast will confirm this truth. The hundreds of testimonial letters in our files show that T.R.C.'s have successfully treated Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, Sciatica and acute Neuralgia of all kinds. But the best evidence is your own experience. If you suffer we want you to try this guaranteed non-injurious remedy at our expense. Druggists sell T.R.C.'s $1.00 per box. For Free Trial write T.R.C. BRITISH COAL MAY FIND MARKET IN U. S.

LONDON, April 17.—British coal exporters are beginning to look about for American markets, according to information reaching Amercian commercial interests in London. Concerns in Wales are busy quoting prices to the United States and some business for the Canadian market already has been undertaken. It is understood that Canadian orders were made to insure adequate bunker supply, now that American sources are closed, but there is good prospects of some British coal being sent into the New England markets, where stocks possibly are lower than elsewhere.

British shipping interests are cooperating with coal firms in an effort to reach American customers and there have been instances where freight rates just exceeding two dollars a ton have been quoted for delivery in the United States, while the normal rate on bulk cargo has been about $3 for some time.

So far as can be learned, however, what is going on at present respecting United States buyers is merely an endeavor to find out how much English coal can be sold and what prices can be obtained in the event of the strike lasting sufficiently long to deplete existing stocks.

GETS 100 PROPOSALS DAILY

LONDON—Mischa Elman, the Russian violinist, had a hundred proposals of marriage from English girls in a day in answer to his message in The Daily Express that he wanted a simple, homely, English wife, that paper reports.

The telephone in his suite at the Ritz never ceased ringing, while 50 letters and many telegrams swelled his morning post.

The candidates ranged from dressmakers to wealthy women in Mayfair, and most of them enclosed their photograph. Some declared a passion for music and beleived they could help him with his art; others said they were hypnotized by his marvelous playing.

A young girl wrote a note saying that she would be in the fourth row of the stalls at the Queen's Hall, dressed in a red hat and a cream gown. Would he please look out for her and send a note if he decided to favor her with an interview?

A visitor on his way to see the famous violinist was waylaid by one of the more enterprising of the feminine suitors, who begged him to bear a message that she was only too willing to try her fortune.

STILL A HUGE COAL RESOURCE

If all the coal in the United States were to be collected in one place it would make a cube eight miles long, eight miles wide and eight miles high. Of this huge mass, we have mined less than 1 per cent. or an amount no greater than would be contained in a 300-foot slice from the top of the cube, says Floyd W. Parsons in World's Work. This all seems reassuring, but here's the rub: Of our total deposits of coal less than 5 per cent is fuel that is today regarded as high class coal, and it is almost entirely this better grade coal we have been mining. Already in many parts of our country there is an apparent scarcity of high grade fuel. As time passes, this shortage in high volatile gas coals and other special grades will become more acute, and industries, as well as the public, will be forced by necessity to change from present practices and present equipment to other methods and to different types of fule burning apparatus, which will permit the utilization of coal, gas and oil of a poorer quality.

In 1850 the average consumption of coal by each person in the United States was less than one-fourth of a ton annually. In 1880 the yearly consumption had increased to nearly one ton per capita, while in 1900 it was 2.8 tons. In the years that have followed we have increased our coal consumption to such an extent that at the present time our normal consumption amounts to nearly six tons per person per year. Therefore, it is plain that if during the next 20 years we again double our per capita coal consumption, the country will require more than 1,500,000,000 tons annually to supply its normal fuel needs. In such a case the nation would face a problem indeed, for by that time the bulk of our high grade coal will have been mined, and we will be compelled to burn lignite and other grades of coal averaging high in water or ash and frequently in both.—Spokesman Review.

WE WONDER WHY IT IS?

The Russian Government, if one can call it a government, cannot feed its starving millions, but it can and does find much gold with which to corrupt peoples residing in other lands.

The Soviet Government cannot find means to feed the Russian nation. But it does find the funds necessary to equip, feed and generally maintain a standing army of one and one-half milliom mén.

Lenin and Trotsky found the way to send both men and money—not worthless paper money but gold—to South Africa, in order to foment revolution and overthrow Government and with their tongues in their cheeks beg for alms.

The same pair of birds are able maintain scores of communist agents in the British Isles and act as general bankers for the communist party of Great Britain, but it cannot save its starving population.

As a matter of fact these relief funds are playing right into the hands of the Reds; in proof of which statement we print the text of a Communist circular which has been sent broadcast about London. It is dated March 6 of the present year and reads:

"The Communist International regards famine relief work as of the utmost importance, and the raising of relief funds should therefore be entered upon in the spirit of an ordered revolutionary task, and not merely from the humanitarian point of view. Our first duty at the present juncture as revolutionists is to secure the maintenance of the Russian Workers' Soviet Republic, and in securing this, unconditional famine relief by the workers of the world has the highest political and material value."

Exactly. If the world can only be prevailed upon to feed and cloth the Russian people, the Soviet Government can continue to maintain its huge army which is a daily menace to Continental Europe. Every dollar sent Russia means that Lenin and Trotsky can spend another dollar buying munitions and spreading propaganda.

Here in Canada Russian relief has been but the cloak of Bolshevist propaganda. For months the Reds have been stumping this country, talking relief one minute and revolution the next; and incidentally making a fat living thereby.—Saturday Night.

EIGHT HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

Eight passengers on passenger train No. 68, eastbound, were injured on Friday evening when the baggage car and two day coaches left the rails at mileage 47.5, Crow's Nest subdivision, at Chokis, near Cowley, owing to a broken rail. None of the injuries were serious. An auxiliary train was sent out from Lethbridge to which the passengers transferred. Train No. 68 was five hours late reaching Lethbridge, and Train No. 67, westbound, was held up six hours while the track was being cleared and repair made.

Thos injured were:

Nick Sagoff, Coleman, chest hurt.

Leonard Butcher, 12, Michel, face cut.

F. A. Mahon, news agent, Calgary, left hand slightly hurt.

Later—E. S. Richardson, C. P. R. fireman injured in the wreck near Cowley early Saturday morning, is reported to be progressing favorably. He will be back on duty in about a week. It was early though that his injuries were serious, but they proved to be minor. The other passengers hurt in the wreck following the derailing of the eastbound Kootenay Landing-Medicine Hat passenger, are recovering. Their injuries in every instance were slight.

Railway officials admitted this morning that had the train left the rails a short distance farther west, the wreck might have resulted in a large toll of life as adjacent to the track is a steep embankment. They announce that the damage to the cars was very small.—Lethbridge Herald.

BLAIRMORE HAS BIG ASSORTMENT, BALL TIMBER IN SIGHT

Blairmore, April 14.—A small gathering attended the baseball meeting held in the office of the Crow's Nest Pass Motors on Wednesday night. The weather was more like hockey, but when W. W. Scott, last year's president, called the meeting to order, it was baseball that occupied the uppermost position in the minds of those present. A report of finances was heard from last year and officers were then elected as folows:

Honorary President — Mr. J. Charbonnier.

Honorary Vice Presidents—P. M. Christophers, M. P. P., A. McLeod, and J. E. Gillis.

President—W. Bird.

Vice President—J. P. O'Neill.

Secretary Treasurer—J. McDougal.

The secretary was instructed to write to Michel, Coleman, Bellevue, Cowley and Pincher Creek to get their ideas as to the formation of a league and decided that if the other towns were willing, Blairmore would join them readily.

The club was given the name of the Blairmore Amatuer Baseball Club, and will adhere strictly to its name.

The uniforms and equipment were destroyed by fire when the Alhambra Club was burned, and the secretary was instruced to start a subscription list to buy nuiforms and equipment. The color of the uniforms is to be the same as before, grey, trimmed with red.

The locals are very well fixed for a battery, having Olson, Pruden, Turner and Jenkins for mound duty and Brown and perhaps Tommy Clark for work behind the bat. A good-sized list of prospective other players was also made out.

Fire broke out in a residence belonging to John Perry early Monday morning and quickly spread to the adjoining residence of Jos. Perry, and a large warehouse belonging to the brothers. As the property is outside the city limits there was no fire protection and the buildings and contents were soon entirely destroyed. The loss is covered by $12,500 insurance.

BOARD WILL NOT SIT AT FERNIE

Canmore, April 25. — Economics concerning coal mining was one of the cardinal features when the conciliation board got under way Tuesday afternoon. This was brought about when Chairman Knowles asked a witness what solution he had to offer for the present state of the industry in Alberta. "Nationalization of all mines and all natural resources," promptly responded the witness.

On the other hand, when M. B. Morrow, the operating officer of the Canmore Coal Co., was asked the same question, he suggested that in order that the mines might run the year round the employees should be cut down 50 per cent Around these two views considerable information was tendered to the board

Incidentally the chairman remarked that they had spent practically six days in taking evidence at different towns which, to a large extent, was of a parallel nature It had been all very helpful and had been appreciated, but he questioned if they were getting the best results by their present method and visiting some seven or eight more camps. The board has, therefore, decided, he said, that after the present sitting and visiting Bankhead, "We propose asking the operators if it will be agreeable to hold the sittings at some central point where they will present their case."

It is understood that no objection will be taken to this course, so that after the Bankhead hearing, which will be held at Banff owing to lack of suitable accommodation at Bankhead, the remainder of the hearings will probably be held in Calgary.

MINER'S FAMILY EARNS CABINET MINISTER'S WAGE

Banff, Alta., April 27. — How a Bankhead coal miner's family was earning the salary of a cabinet minister was brought out at the sitting of the conciliation board Tuesday afternoon. The witness was Frank Wheatley, secretary of the Bankhead local of the U.M.W. of A. He admitted that in 1921 he had made $2198 in working 170 days as a contract miner and 20 to 30 days on company work. The mine had worked 255 days on contract work and he could have worked full time but he had other duties to perform which had brought him in a certain salary. Two of his sons he admitted had earned $1920 and $2016 respectively, making the total family earnings $6135.01. Much discussion centered during the session as to the powers of District 18 negotiating a contract without reference to Indianapolis. It transpired that so far as District 18 was concerned it had almost complete autonomy. When Frank Wheatley raised the question of operators submitting cost of production he was told by the chairman that the question of profits was entirely outside the scope of the inquiry. What the board was concerned about was the ascertaining of what constituted a fair wage.

The board reconvened on Thursday afternoon in Calgary.

H. Telford, formerly of the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co., is in the city toady. Mr. Telford has organized a company to take out pulp wood from the Wilson Creek country, about six miles above Natal on the Elk river. The company will flume the logs to the railroad, where they will be cut into pulpwood.

ROD AND GUN CLUB MEETING

A very enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club was held in the council chamber on Friday evening last, April 21, when the meeting was addressed by J. F. Guimont, of Cranbrook, member of the B.C. Game Conservation Board. After speaking on the work of the Board, Mr. Guimont spoke at length on the necessity of protection of game in East Kootenay, and on the open and closed seasons on the different varieties of game in this locality.

Mr. Guimont is a very enthusiastic sportsman, and has devoted considerable time to the study of the wild life of this province in its natural haunts, and is in a position to speak on these matters at first hand, and is a very forceful speaker.

It was recommended by the meeting that the bounty on coyotes be increased to $5.00 owing to the rapidity with which these animals are increasing.

It was also suggested that a recommendation be sent to the Game Board that the deer season in this district open on Sept. 30 and close Dec. 15.

The matter of marking the boundaries of the Elk River Game Reserve was also taken up, and the government will be asked to have the boundaries clearly defined, so that hunters will know when they are on the Reserve.

The meeting went on record endorsing the action of the Cranbrook Rod and Gun Club in recommending that a fish hatchery be established in East Kootenay to replenish our streams with game fish, which are fast being depleted. This matter will be taken up with the proper authorities at Ottawa. The Board of Trade will also be asked to endorse this action at their next meeting.

Every one present expressed their enjoyment of the meeting and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Guimont for his interesting and instructive address and the hope expressed that he would come again.

ALL WRITERS SHOULD SEE "A PRINCE THERE WAS."

Thomas Meighen, Paramount star, plays the role of a kindly young man of wealth who befriends a struggling young writer, in his new starring vehicle, "A Prince There Was," which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre Friday and Saturday. But the young writer happens to be a pretty girl and that is, perhaps, one of the reasons why the wealthy young man poses as an assistant editor and even buys a controlling interest in a magazine in order that she may succeed.

"Every young writer isn't so lucky as to have a guardian prince," observed Mr. Meighen, during the filming of the picture. "Writing is one profession where pull and influence count for nothing. An important point for the amateur writer to keep writing for the screen or for the in mind, however, whether he be short story magazine, is the public attitude. The mind of the people changes very frequently. What hits the public fancy today may in a few months fail entirely to gain its approval. The best encouragement for the young author is a letter from the editor to whom his manuscript has been submitted, no matter how critical or cruel the letter may seem. When an editor takes the time and trouble to write a contributor, he sees possibilities. Otherwise, he uses the printed rejection slip."

Tom Forman directed the picture, which is an adaptation by Waldemar Young of George M. Cohen's stage success. Mildred Harris plays the role of the young writer and little Charlotte Jackson, the child actress, has a clever character role.

J. F. Gallagher, who was given a new trial by the appeal court, after his conviction by Mr. Justice Simmons and a jury of the murder of J. G. Coward, will again be placed on trial at the criminal court, which opens its sittings at Calgary on May 21. A. A. McGillivray, K. C., has again been retained by the attorney-general's deparment, and with James Smart, K.C., will conduct the prosecution. A. McLeod Sinclair, K. C., will defend Gallagher for the second time. Gallagher is being held at Lethbridge jail awaiting trial.

"YESBUTTERS"

We found a new word in a little magazine a few days ago that appealed to us. The word is "yesbutters"—you know, the people who agree to a proposition are in favor of it——"Oh yes, but——" Don't you know them and isn't their name legion? Speak of wet blankets, dashes of cold water! What has a more cooling effect when you are thoroughly in sympathy with a project than a "yesbutter?" And you meet them hourly and probably have one in the bosom of your family and the chances are that you may even belong to the big fraternity yourself.—Missouri Ledger

CARIBOO LOOKS GOOD

Howard Foster, representing the Cariboo Exploration Co., a company organized in Fernie and district, with leases near Cedar Creek, left on Sunday evening for the property. He is very optimistic and recent reports from that district would seem to indicate that the stockholders will have something better than a good run for their money. An article in the Vancouver Province of April 26, says:

For years "Johnny" Lynes prospected the hills and valleys of Cariboo, searching for the yellow metal. He was a smith by trade. But when the anvil did not call, the mountain recesses claimed him and his address was unknown.

Last summer he disappeared. With a scanty "outfit" he prowled around in the hills bordering Quesnel Lake. His Indian blood stood him in good stead. He persisted, but finally gave up the chase. Returning to the "settlement," he was urged by friends to continue. He did so. With new supplies he returned to the heavily timbered areas around Cedar Creek. He was accompanied by A. E. Platt, another old-timer, and the newest placers of British Columbia are the result.

A few miles west of the lake—opposite the mouth of Cedar Creek—lay the famous Bullion Camp, where one of the most famous up-to-date hydraulic plants had been operating for years. But the "Bullion" channel appeared to have been lost, and a reward of $1,000,000 was offered for its discovery. Lynes seems to have found it.

The latest developments in the situation are that D. Spencer & Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, have bought the Platt and Lynes group of claims for $125,000. They will actively commence operations as soon as the snow is off. Crowe Swords, of Vancouver, representing the largest dredging company, who are installing a dredge on the mouth of Cedar Creek, arrived in Cariboo on Monday last, on his way to the claims. Part of the machinery has already arrived and is being hauled out.

"FIGHTING MAD" FULL OF DARING FEATS

For those who love daring feats of adventure and romance filled with swift action, "Fighting Mad," a Metro release for William Desmond Productions which will start a two day run at the Isis Theatre Wednesday night May 3, will adequately satisfy all requirements.

This screen adaption of an original story of H. H. Van Loan, author of "The Virgin of Stamboul" and many other screen successes, is a rapidly moving romance. In the typical whirlwind style of a man of the big outdoors he makes the acquaintance of a young lady on the overland limited. Then he signalizes his advent into the Border Patrol by thrashing his way into the friendship of three buddies and enlisting them in a desperate scheme to rescue the girl of the train who has been kidnapped by bandits.

As a hard-riding, two-fisted adventurous lover, William Desmond played the part to perfection, while Virginia Brown Faire was altogether delightful as the young girl from the city who is suddenly thrown into the whirl of events on the border of civilization. Rosemary Theby, who won fame in the leading feminine role in "A Connecticut Yankee," made a typical brigand's sweetheart while William Lawerence left nothing to be desired as the brigand chief.

"Fighting Mad" was directed by Joseph J. Franz and photographed by Harry A. Gersted.

A scrap of paper came near to wrecking civilization; a flood of white paper may yet finish the job.—The Medford Mail-Tribune.

MINING REVIEW OF PAST YEAR

Official figures just available through the issuance of the 1921 annual report of the Minister of Mines place the value of the mineral production of the Province for last year at $28,066,641. This is $7,476,443 less than the 1920 returns, or a decrease of about 21. 06 per cent.

While there has been a decline, these statistics are considered most satisfactory, showing that British Columbia's mining industry, under adverse conditions, the effect of which has been manifested the world over, held its own better than did the same industry in most of those sections of the United States engaged in mining. The drop in the mining returns of the State of Arizona for 1921 as compared to 1920 was approximately 77 per cent; of Montana, 75 per cent; Utah, 55 per cent; Nevada, 50 per cent; New Mexico 77 per cent; Oregon 43 per cent and Washington 70 per cent.

Comment is made upon the marked drop in metal prices in 1921. As this has an illuminating bearing on what the mining industry accomplished in the past year, it is of special interest. Charts are published showing that silver started in January of last year at 65.95 cents per ounce; that it dropped to 56.02 cents per ounce in March and from that low level climbed to 70.97 cents per ounce in October, and then began a gradual decline until reaching 65.76 cents per ounce in the month of December. Copper was not as violent in its fluctuations, being quoted at 12.59 cents per pound in January and showing a disposition to strengthen to 13.03 cents per pound in November. Zinc and lead maintained a fairly even price of from 4 cents per pound up to a little over 5 cents. Compared with 1920 prices, miners then received nearly fifty per cent greater an amount than for similar quantity in 1921.

Last year all the large copper producers of the continent reduced their output to about twenty-five per cent of normal, or shut down entirely, so as to reduce the stocks of copper on hand, but now some of these companies are beginning to start up again and the outlook is promising. Whether the metal will go beyond fourteen cents a pound for some time, however, is a moot question. While lead and Zinc were not in great demand, the accumulated stock of these metals at the Trail smelter has been reduced, a market having been found in the Orient. Thus many Slocan mines which were compelled to cease operations are expected soon to be working on a normal basis, as the smelter company again is able to make prompt cash payments for ores of these metals.

The Northern Coast district produced nearly seventy per cent of the tonnage of ore mined in British Columbia last year, carrying about 55 per cent of the total value of the metalliferous output. For an explanation of this, it is only necessary to turn to the statistics relating to the gold and silver producion of the Premier Mining Company, Portland Canal District, and to the copper production of the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. at Anyox. While the production of copper in 1921 was nearly 6,000,000 pounds less than in the previous year, the figures would have been different if the Britannia Mill, Howe Sound, had not been burned down late in the fall of 1920. This property ordinarily can be counted on for from 15,000,000 pounds to 20,000,000 pounds of copper.

British Columbia's coal industry has just about been holding its own. In 1921 the collieries of the Province made a net production of 2,483,995 tons (2240 lb) as against 2,595,125 tons in 1920, a decrease of 111,130 tons, or about 4.3 per cent. With the exception of the year 1920, the net coal output for 1921 is larger than that of any other year since 1912, or of any previous year excepting 1910. The Coast district collieries produced no coke last year, but the Anyox smelter plant converted coal into coke for the use of that industry. The Crow's Nest district produced 59,434 long tons of coke, of which about two-thirds was used in Canada and one-third exported to the United States.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Wednesday and Thursday, May 3 and 4.

The aggregate of the value of British Columbia colliery products in 1921 was $12,836,013, this very nearly equalling the gross value of the year's metalliferous products of $13,153,598.

There was a slight increase in the placer gold output, amounting to $11,600 or about 5.2 per cent. Practically all of this came from the Cariboo and Cassiar districts. The steady decline in placer gold production during the past four years is attributed chiefly to such economic conditions as high prices, both for labor and supplies. A shortage of labor is also given as a contributing factor.

The value of the lode gold produced in 1921 was $2,804,154, as compared with $2,481,392 in 1920, an increase of $322,762, or about thirteen per cent. The Boundary-Yale district made no production, the Granby Company having closed down its mines and smelter there. Nor was any production made by the Nickle Plate mine, which was closed down in the month of September. The Rossland mines, too, failed to reach the production for which they were responsible prior to 1917, but showed somewhat of an improvement over 1920. But the output of the Cassiar district, in which is situated the famous Premier mine, is largely responsible. No less than 85,185 ounces are credited to this section. The Surf Inlet mine also made material contributions.

On the question of gold production, the report observes that during each of the last four years British Columbia's output has only been about one-half of what it was annually immediately preceeding the war, and shows "that gold mining in this province, as elsewhere in the world, has been adversely affected by the condition of high cost and a standard price for the Province. Nevertheless from the developments now in progress. It would seem that in a short time the annual production of gold in British Columbia should increase considerably."

With reference to silver production, it is stated that the greatest increase was made in he Skeena district, and is acounted for by new shippers, the chief of which were the Premier and Alice Arm mines. The most marked declne was in the Slocan district, where mining was retarded because of the reduced market value of silver and its associated metals. There was a very considerable output, however, in the Boundary-Yale district, despite the cutting off of the production of the Granby and the Canada Copper Corporation which formerly produced fifty per cent of the silver of the district. The silver output of this district last year was chiefly derived from the Providence, Horn Silver, Salley and Bell mines.

Under the head of "Copper" is published a table that strikingly illustrates 1921 conditions. The Cassiar district produced 34,841,767 pounds and the total for the Province was 39,036,993 pounds. This brings home the splendid achievement of the Granby Consolidated. The Coast district output was about a million and a half pounds, a negligible showing as compared with the usual sixteen and seventeen milliom pounds. The Trail division, however, gave a little better return than for some years, 2,277,392 pounds, as against 1,113,085 pounds for 1920.

Tables dealing specifically with the lead and zinc productions also are noteworthy. It is worthy of comment, for instance, that all but about three million of a total of nearly forty-one and a half million pounds of lead came from the Fort Steele division. This means, of course, the Sullivan mine of the Consolidated Company. Trail. There has been a gradual decline throughout 1919 and 1920 of the quantity of this metal derived from ores having their sources outside the Fort Steele section. In 1919 twelve odd million pounds of lead came from Slocan ores; in 1920 it fell to six odd million pounds; and in 1921 the total runs to a little over a million and a half pounds. Conditions as to zinc are very similar. It may be said that all of the 1921 production of this metal came from the Sullivan mine, so small is the quantity that came from other ores. Fort Steele's output was 49,319,198 pounds, and that from all other sources 100,174 pounds.

Dealing with other minerals the report states that there has been no metallic iron produced in British Columbia, "but it has been strongly advocated in many quarters that the conditions are favorable for the establishment of an iron smelting plant somewhere on the British Columbia Coast. So far nothing definite has materialized, although there is apparently a prospect of such a plant being established. As is well known, there is on the Coast, in the aggregate, an adequate supply of magnetic iron ore quite sufficiently free from impurities as to be within the 'Bessemer limit' to supply ore for such a plant."

The wide occurence of platinum in connection with placer gold deposits gives reasonable hope that it may be found in payable quantities and justifies further investigation. Last year official reports showed only $100 worth produced in the Similkameen district.—Colonist.

STEEL GOLF CLUBS ARE GIVEN TRIAL

CHICAGO.—Comparative trials of steel and wooden shafted golf clubs were made the other day by three expert players before officers of the Western Golf Association at Edgwood Club, but a sixty mile gale with snow on its wing made the experiment unsatisfactory, and decision as to whether the former would be barred as mechanical appliances was deferred for further tests in fair weather.

Jock Hutchison, local professional, who is British open golf champion; Laurie Ayton, of Evanston, another Scotch professional; and Chick Evans, former national champion, played several shots into the teeth of the gale, with both iron and woods. The wind nearly swept the players off their feet, but fair shots were made and they indicated little if any difference between the steel and woods. The best shots against the wind carried only about 175 yards, while with the wind at their backs the balls carried 250 yards with no roll on account of the soft ground.

MINERS TIRED OF VACATION

NEW YORK, April 25.—Anthracite miners' officials returning to New York today to resume conferences with operators in effort to end the strike, declared today they would add another demand to the nineteen already submitted, a demand for more speed in the negotiations of the subcommittee on wage contracts.

The 152,000 idle men in the anthracite region are tired of their vacation and are becoming impatient over the delay in settlement of the strike, it was reported at union headquarters. Delays in submitting an operators' program were reported by some officials today to be caused by their failure to agree upon what reductions shall be demanded. Some operators would cut wages to approximately a pre-war basis, it was said, while others would revert to the 1917 scale.

Members of the sub-committee announced that a vote was being taken by the operators in an effort to agree upon a scale to which all would adhere in case the miners refused to accept and launched the sub-committee into months of further negotiations.

CANMORE, April 25th.—Witnesses testifying at the resumed coal mining enquiry which opened at Canmore on Tuesday morning, claimed that the cost of living there, as compared to such places as Calgary, was sky-high. In cross-examination, however, it was shown, for instance, that miners only paid $3.81 a ton for Canmore screened coal which was retailed in cities at $13.50.

Ernest Mallabone, one of the miners in giving evidence from figures that had been complied, gave the cost of living for a family of ten for one month as $192.62. In another case it had cost, for family of eight, $224.80. Another instance with a family of three the upkeep had totalled $110.62 and in the case of another family of five the total was given as $145.92.

W. C. Robertson, for the operators, roundly challenged these figures. If the items were not given in detail, the information, he contended, was useless. After some little discussion it was agreed that the representatives of the miners would endeavor to submit an itemized statement. The testimony of J. H. McNeill disclosed the remarkable fact that he had assigned his wages, with the exception of $10 a month, to a storekeeper and although the last fortnight's pay up to the time work ceased, had amounted to $85.27, he was still in debt to the tune of $384. In reply to H. Ostlund, K.C., witness stated it had never occured to him that the tradesman's prices were high. "My wife did the shopping," he added, amid laughter.

Witness said he had previously worked as a miner in Nova Scotia, but had a hunch to come west. "Well, you seem to have a very good hunch," remarked W. E. Knowles, chairman of the board, in referring to the very mixed up way this man had conducted his household affairs. The figures given by these witnesses will be produced by the representatives of the operators at the afternoon sitting.

BELOW THE BELT

Far be it from us to asume the role of advisor to the Conservative Party of this Province. If it desires to drop the pilot who has steered the Opposition ship through troublesome waters since the political hurricane of 1916 it is its own business. We are merely interested in the fate that may be in store for Mr. Bowser because the record of duels in which we have engaged him furnishes us with material for surprise that his services to the Party have brought such rewards as demands for political decapitation.

First of all the Young Conservatives of Vancouver decided to retain the pilot by a norrow margin of votes. now the Opposition adherents at Kamloops want him to resign the leadership long enough before the forthcoming convention to permit others to preen themselves in the political mirror. Surely these are blows below the belt. Have British Columbia Conservatives lost their sense of proportion entirely? is this all the reward for indefatigable industry—often misapplied, it is true—a thorough grasp of Provincial conditions, a political and parliamentary records which extends over two decades, a will and capacity to fight any issue to the last ditch?

One can only say that the position in which Mr. Bowser finds himself at this stage of his career is one in which politicians and statesmen in Opposition have found themselves before. Even Sir Wilfred Laurier was criticised by the more impatient and restive members of his party prior to 1896 on the ground that his policies were not sufficient aggressive. One of the groups in opposition in 1909 and 1910 called upon Sir Robert Borden to hand over the reins to a successor—and strangely enough two members of that group are now Conservative Senators from British Columbia—but neither Sir Wilred nor Sir Robert budged.

We do not know what Mr. Bowser will do under the circumstances that appear to exist at the present time. We are not in his confidence. All we can suggest to him is the fairly obvious fact that he is getting all the blame for delay in leading his followers back to the flesh-pots. How he can change matters will have to be left to his own ingenuity.

Fair-minded citizens of British Columbia, irrespective of party affiliations, will approve heartily with the above timely and pertinent comment of the Victoria Times on the "sniping" at Mr. Bowser.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

News despatch says that Dr. Lorenz, famous Austrian surgeon who tried to make up for his country's part in the war by healing American children free of charge, is steadily growing younger.

His white hair is turning brown again. He is more agile and capable than he has been for many years.

Over a year ago, Dr. Lorenz submitted to a monkey gland operation during a severe illness. Since that time his youth has been slowly and steadily returning.

His case is said to be one of the most successful of all the monkey gland rejuvenation operations ever attempted.

If the monkey glands didn't make Dr. Lorenz young again, it is easy to see what did.

Even the years would be kind to a man who would start out to cure little children without thinking of personal reward.

Service is the best rejuvenator in the world. It is selfishness that makes people old most quickly.

Or if WAS the monkey glands that made Dr. Lorenz young again and gave him the impluse to carry cheer and relief across the sea, there is much to be said for monkey glands.

It might not be amiss to put them in the neck of every living being on earth.—Vancouver Sun.

KEEPING BETTER THAN NECESSARY

The Government sets a standard for the richness of canned milk, but we really pay little attention to it, because Pacific Milk is always well above the Government's requirements, so far as richness and purity are concerned.

There is no Government standard for flavor—we wish there was. But then it might lead other makers to study our improved process and obtain the same natural flavor as Pacific.

An earthquake shock is reported from Michel. It is said that three distinct tremors were felt. Possibly the shock was caused by the falling in of old mine workings. This happens quite often at Coal Creek.

The first tourists of the season arrived this week from California and passed through Fernie on their way to the prairie. The road through from Elko is now open and is in fairly good condition.

Wm. Moon, barber at Natal, and for many years a resident of Fernie, died at his home in that town on Tuesday of this week. Deceased, who was widely known, had been in poor health for a number of years. Diabetes was the cause of death.

Constable Collins went to Calgary on Saturday and brought back W. R. Irvine, who is charged with obtaining money under false pretences. It is alleged that he took orders for clothes, accepted money and did not deliver the goods.

A meeting of Trustees, Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction, will be held in the city council chamber on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urgently requested to be present as business of importance will be brought before the committee.

Early Sunday morning the Flathead Hotel at Corbin was completely destroyed by fire. The local fire brigade put up a hard fight, but conditions were against them. However, they succeeded in saving several adjoining buildings which were in immediate danger.

Bert Rutherford, of Athalmer, motored into Cranbrook last Saturday. Mr. Rutherford was the first over the road this season and made the trip between Athalmer and Cranbrook in five hours and a half. He returned home Tuesday night. —Cranbrook Courier.

The first automobile accident here this season occurred Monday evening near Cokato, when an out of town car ran into a four wheeled rig owned by J. Cutts, a local rancher. The car was travelling about fifteen miles an hour at the time of the accident and came up behind the rig which was going in the same direction. The horse evidently took fright and backed across the road. The car hit the rig in the rear before the brakes could be applied and one of the shafts of the rig was driven into the horse's jaw and came out over the eye. The horse had to be immediately destroyed. Occupants of both the rig and the car miraculously escaped injury.

At 12 noon today Canadian Pacific war memorials to fallen employees of the company were unveiled from Atlantic to Pacific. Bronze statues seven feet high, representing an angel carrying a Canadian soldier in his arms, at Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver, and placques of the same metal at every smaller city of importance on the C.P.R. system had been erected.

The B.C. and Alberta Power Co. suffered a heavy loss early this week when the transformers at their Bull River plant were burned out. Temporary transformers have been arranged for and it is expected that the plant will be running again in a couple of weeks. The three transformers burned were worth about $35,000, but it is expected that the salvage will be about half that amount.

A liquor export warehouse will shortly be established in Cranbrook, according to the Herald, with John Diamond as the manager. The firm will be known as the Strathcona Export Co., and will import liquor under bond for their export business. They will do business in the premises formerly used by the Bowness Export Company, and come under the class of business that the provincial government taxes to the extent of $3000 per year.

The miners at Lethbridge have registered a kick about the proposed changes in the sittings of the Conciliation Board, whereby the commission will hear all the remaining evidence in the city of Calgary. The decision of the Board is a wise one. Witnesses can be brought to Calgary from all parts of the district and the whole matter wound up in a few days. Travelling the entire district is a prolonged and expensive job for the commission.

Lethbridge Herald: Should Alberta coal be placed on a standardized basis, Lethbridge coal would be placed in the first class. There are so many grades and qualities of coal produced in Alberta that the government would be warranted in grading the coal in order that the consumer may know the class of coal he is buying. Putting coal on the market simply as Alberta coal is unfair to the mines producing the highest grade coal and to the consumers, who likely pay as high a price for inferior coal as the very best produced.

The arrangements for the use of the park are nearly closed and it is planned, besides the repairing of the grounds and fences, to erect a bleacher directly behind the back stop big enough to accommodate 250 people. The subscription list will be left open a little longer to defray the necessary cost of this. It has been planned to open up this end of the league on May 14, and the boys are busy practicing every favorable evening. As soon as the grounds will permit the work in the park will commence and everything will be put in a good permanent condition. In this end of the league there are four teams, Michel, White Spruce, Fernie and Waldo. Two home and home games with each team will be played. Play will commence on May 14 and close about Aug. 13, when the play-off series will be staged between the winners of each section. ATTEMPT TO BANISH R.C.M.P.

The attempt to banish the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to Canada's furthermost outposts has met the fate it deserved. The proposal in the House of Commons that the R.C.M.P. be no longer employed in the various Provinces, but shunted to the unorganized districts of the Far North, there to be engaged in largely diminished numbers, originated with those who were, and apparently still are, in thorough sympathy with the 1919 Winnipeg 'rebellion.' One Woodsworth, M. P. for Centre Winnipeg, who ran counter to the Mounted Police in both Vancouver and Winnipeg, was the mover of the resolution, which received the support of forty-seven members of the House of Commons, mainly from Red members, though it is to be noted that a baker's dozen came from Quebec.

The intent of the proposal is clear, though it is possible that some members of Parliament who voted for the resolution were not aware of its significance. It was but a means to an end; a first attempt to disband all forces which represents law and order. It is quite natural that men of this mind should first attack the Mounted Police, for of all bodies, armed and uniformed, they have proven the most efficient over a long period of years. That there were sufficient voters in Centre Winnipeg to elect to Parliament a man of the calibre of Woodsworth does not speak well for the intelligence of the electorate in that particular neck of the woods.

Had the Woodsworth motion carried it would have had the effect of disbanding our entire Dominion Police force. In other words there would have been nothing left, not ven a guard for the Parliament Buildings or the Treasury at Ottawa. No doubt this would have suited the book of many who voted for the motion, for police forces of any sort are the last thing they desire. Under the present system which was inaugurated some two years ago the Royal Northwest Mounted, as we have known it for years, ceased to exist. It became the Royal Canadian Mounted and with it was incorporated the Dominion Police. In other words the two forces were rolled into one, and one could not, under the resolution, be dispensed with without doing away with the other. It is quite apparent that our criminals have many friends in high places, the Canadian House of Commons being no exception.

The cables tell us that the Bolsheviks who are in attendance at the Genoa Conference are dressed up like gentlemen, dress clothes and all. In order that the delegates should be thus attired the Soviet Government authorized a grant of 150,000,000 roubles to each member of the party. At pre-war rate of exchange that would make a dress suit worth about $75,000,000. Possibly some of our members of Parliament who voted to expunge the Royal Canadian Mounted would like to trade their good Canadian money for some of this stuff. At any rate that is the way they are heading.—Saturday night.

BOTTLE MESSAGES SHOW FLOW OF ALL CURRENTS

WASHINGTON,—Nearly every day the Hydrographic Office of the Navy Department receives several "bottle papers" picked up in the sea by ships, which while not as thrilling as the famous "MS" found in a bottle and revealed by Poe, nevertheless carry interesting and valuable data to the makers of marine maps and those who seek to make navigation safe.

These botle papers are dropped in the seven seas to study the flow of currents. Thousands of small slips, with instructions printed in nine languages, are sent annually to all mariners, with the request that they be filled out, placed in a well corked bottle and dropped every now and then during voyages about the world. The name of the 'dropper,' the ship, the date and the latitude and longitude are recorded. In another space the finder writes his name, the date and spot in which the bottle was found forwarding the slip to the Hydrographic Office in Washington.

The data thus secured is used in checking currents and in correcting pilots' charts. Sometimes the bottles drift for thousands of miles and are years on their erratic cruises, but when returned the papers inside usually carry a message of value to the hydrographers. Occassionally there is an unusual tale connected with their discovery.

Some time ago a bottle with its paper was dropped in the Indian Ocean and picked up in the Red Sea off the coast of British Somaliland by a Mohammedan named Mohammed Mustapha, who believed the paper of mystic or intrinsic value. Being unable to read its message in any of the several languages in which it was displayed, he mounted his camel and rode miles across the desert to the nearest British agent. After endeavoring to explain the nature of the find the agent filled out the blank with the finder's name and forwarded to the Navy Department in Washington. The native departed still convicted that some great reward was his and about two months later rushed into the same office again demanding further elucidation on a newly acquired paper. In his hand he waved a large pilot's chart of his native waters and a letter from the hydrographer thanking him for his service. The chart, he insisted was a draft on the American government, its size he believed indicated a large sum of money, and he demanded indignantly to know why the local bank would not cash it for him.

RHEUMATISM GONE; WALKS WELL AS EVER

Manitoba Man's Legs Were Stiff As Boards And He Ached From Head To Foot —Had Suffered Five Years

"I heard so many people telling what Tanlac had done for them that I tried it in my own case and I am convinced it is a wonderful medicine," said David Wellington, a well-known drug clerk, Harperusa, Man.

"For five years I had been a sufferer from rheumatic fever. I simply ached all over from head to foot and my bones felt like they were going to crack. My knees were so stiff actually I used to walk like I had wooden legs, and I just dragged one foot after the other. Everything I ate seemed to sour on my stomach and I was bothered a good deal with back ache and headaches.

"I began to improve gradually from the first dose of Tanlac and kept it up until my stomach was in perfect condition and the rheumatism had left me. I am in splendid health now and feel that it is only right that I should tell my experience so that others who suffer as I did may know where they may get relief, too."

RULES FOR HAPPY MARRIAGES

Judge Florence E. Allen, Cleveland's woman jurist, has four rules for happy marriages, They are:

The wife should have a regular allowance. Money matters cause many divorces.

The husband should make a business partner of his wife. She should share his confidence in all matters.

The wife should be sympathetic.

The wife should never nag her husband. She should work with him.

In the last two terms of court, Judge Allen has tried 397 divorce cases.

"Hasty mariages are the most common cause of divorce," she asserts. "Young people today marry hastily, not realizing the personal responsibility. They are ready to quit at the first quarrel.

"I recall one divorce petition where the quarrel was over the naming of a baby. It was their first quarrel, too. I reconciled them Women sometimes make the lives of their husbands miserable by nagging."

Most divorce laws, Judge Allen believes, are not too liberal, but are liberally administered.

"The longer a case is pending the greater chance there is for a reconciliation," she declared. "Often when a case is called I find that the parties have 'made up' and don't want separation."

She has reconciled 101 couples and granted 246 divorces.

FIGHT FIRE FROM THE AIR

NEW YORK, April 23.-Fifty years hence in New York fire engines mounted upon helicopters will hover over blazes and extinguish them with gases; alarms will be sounded by radio and rescues will be made from airships.

This future means of fire fighting was predicted last night by Fire Chief John Kenlon, speaking at a dinner given in celebration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of his entry into hte fire department.

Chief Kenlon first recalled the early days of his fire-fighting career, when firemen had the championship of the noble horse and the fire dogs; when the fire-fighting rivalry was so keen that stern company champions sent their men to surburban outfits when they failed to get out of the fire house within 12 seconds aftre the sounding of an alarm.

The motorization of the department and other modern methods have taken away the sensationalism and the thrills of old, he added.

"Within, say the next 50 years," continued the chief, "I can see a new New York; a new world. Streets will be free from vehicular traffic, such streets as there are being devoted exclusively to the use of pedestrians, and lined from curb to curb with moving sidewalks.

Fire houses as we know them will disappear. They will be located on the roofs of buildings, and the engines, mounted upon helicopters, will extinguish the most stuborn blazes with newly-discovered gases, harmless to human beings.

"Every building will be equipped with radio fire-alarm systems, which will automatically react at the start of a fire. Airships will carry firemen, and persons caught in burning buildings will be rescued from the air."

In keeping with these changes, he said, he could imagine homes and office buildings heated in winter and cooled in summer by electricity broadcast from enormous radio stations, and light and power projected through space, thereby doing away with all wire and cable systems.

HUGE PULP RESOURCES OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

That Canada is the second largest pulp and paper producing country in the world was the statement made by Mr. C. J. Kay, of the Columbia Paper Company, in an address before the Board of Trade of Vancouver this week. The largest paper producing country in the world is the United States, which had a long start of Canada in developing its industries.

It was in 1890 that the paper industry first assumed any importance in this country, that being the year when the first exports, valued at $125,000 were recorded. Since that date the exports of pulp and paper have increased until they reached the valuation of $53,000,000 in 1917, and in 1918 valuation to the amount of $72,000,000, while for the fiscal year of 1920 it had increased to $104,-500,000 and for the first six months of 1921 it had amounted to $87,000,-000.

Approximately 85 per cent of the news print produced in Canada is exported, most of it going to the United States. Canada's total production now amounts to 800,000 tons a year, as against a total production of 1,116,000 tons in the United States. Mr. Kay declared that he expected in the next thirty years Canada's pulp and paper production will exceed that of the United States, because of the fact that available supplies of pulpwood are becoming exhausted in the United States.

The latest statistics indicate that there are 306,000,000 cords of pulpwood available in Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, while there are 225,000,000 cords available in British Columbia alone.

Another remarkable statement made by Mr. Kay was that there are $240,000,000 invested in the pulp and paper industry in Canada, including $42,000,000 in British Columbia, where the mills are turning out at the present time an average of 800 tons a day.

Lauzon told the police he was sought in a number of middle western cities where he was known as the "Million Dollar Jimmy Thief."

WIN AND LOSE AT CRANBROOK

(Cranbrook Courier)

On Thursday evening last the Fernie High School Basketeers invaded our city and met the boys and girls High School Basketball teams in the C. C. R.

The girls' team clashed first and after a strenuous fight Fernie emerged victors to the tune of 12 points to 7. The game was fast and furious from beginning to end, and much brawn and muscle was brought into play to secure that total of 19 points. The two teams did not combine well and long passes were conspicuously absent. The shooting of the fair players was accurate and almost every open shot for a goal was "tagged for a tally." Beatrice Coughlan of Fernie netted four beauties, whilst the following players bagged one goal each: Lily Dicken and Agnes Culleton for the visitors and Marion Drummond, Bessie Woodman and Gertie Hopkins for Cranbrook. The following in addition to the above mentioned players also took part: Dorothy Graham, Violet Golightly, and Helen Sewell for Fernie, and Marjorie Burton, Eva Moir and Evelyn Anderson for Cranbrook.

The boys game followed immediately and the spectators were treated to an expert exemplification of the game for a short time. The Cranbrook team combined well with passes long and accurate. The visitors soon began to tire and the C.H.S. Samsons waded in scoring at will. The final score was 49 to 13. The scorers for Cranbrook were: W. Spence 15 points, R. Beaton 14, A. Gill 12, P. McNeil 8, C Musser and G. Hunter each played a sterling game on defence end for Cranbrook. The Fernie line-up consisted of: George Kerr, Alois Rudnicki, Geo. Wasnock, Fred Elley, Ernest Quail, and Anthony Carosella.

Miss Corbett of the Fernie High School was chaperone and manager for the visitors.

After the game a social dance was held, breaking up at midnight; Jessie Baynes was in charge of the refreshments. All the visitors were billited in the various players home during their stay. M. Smith supplied music for the dance.

On Friday afternoon the Fernie people were taken on a motor trip to Lumberton and were shown round the plant as guests of Mr. Robson, the popular manager.

Owing to the absence of the H. S. staff on holidays F. G. Morris of the Manual Training School was in charge of the arrangements.

THAT SALMON RUN

It may be comforting to know that the House of Commons has authorized an investigation of fishery conditions on the coast of this province. But it is a matter of grave doubt whether Mr. McQuarrie's motion will accomplish anything of material value. As far as the salmon run of the Fraser is concerned it will be remembered that Mr. J. P. Babcock—assistant to the Provincial Commissioner of Fisheries—has presented every phase of the alarming depletion of the sockeye run to more than one international gathering of fishery experts. All that has resulted has been a modified form of prohibition at the vital season. What is necessary is a convention between the governments of Canada and the United States that will take cognizance of the chief features in the disastrous conditions on the Fraser and produce the many-times mentioned remedy. Canada has already appended her signature to such an arrangement, but the United States Senate has always allowed itself to be swayed by interests in the State of Washington. Until that prejudice can be overcome it will be difficult for this country to do anything. —Nanaimo Free Press.

COAL MINERS BETTER PAID

Calgary, May 4.—An illuminative comparison between metallieferous and coal miners' wages was made on Thursday morning when the Knowles board of conciliation reconvened in Calgary. An object lesson was also furnished in the manner in which the Consolidaeed Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada, Limited, of Trail, B. C., assist their employes to beat the cost of living. Incidentally it was claimed that the cost of coke had put the copper industry temporarily out of business.

The witness was S. G. Blaylock, the general manager of the company mentioned, who was asked to compare the proposed new scale of coal miners' wages with what the company were paying its employees. Their rock miners, he said, received $3.50 a day plus 50c bonus. The rate paid day-wage miners under the recently terminated agreement, it was pointed out, was $7.50.

Witness was asked by the chairman how he accounted for such a wide difference in the rates, to which he replied that the coal miners had been mixed up too much with government control. "To use a slang phrase," he said, "we have no chance of 'passing the buck,' we have no control over the market price of metals, whereas the coal operators were granted the privilege of charging so much a ton for their coal.

Mr. Blaylock stated that they had the open shop principle. Some time ago the men were unionized through the Western Federation of Miners, "but when the O.B.U. got in they smashed the whole thing up."

Witness said that about 1800 men were employed at the present time, although the number should be nearer 3000. They had to reduce their copper operations owing to the high price of coke.

As a contrast to the domestic coal fields, Mr. Blaylock stated that the men employed at his company's plant could work constantly all through the year. About 80 per cent of them at the Trail works were married.

"How can these men get along at $4 a day?" queried Chairman Knowles

"We have controlled the cost of living in our camps,' said witness, who related the system employed of owing their own stores. Mr. Blaylock laid emphasis on the remark that only necessities were handled and not luxuries.

In reply to another question, he said that the men were prosperous and most of them had a savings account. When wages in other directions were at their peak some of their employes left the company's service. Some went to Vancouver, others to the prairies, but after a time they drifted back again and were glad to resume their work.

Replying to W. C. Robertson, witness said that he supposed the high wages paid to coal miners was owing to the government telling the operators that they would have to keep their mines running.

The chairman asked Mr. Blaylock if there was not a certain amount of feeling among the rock miners receiving such a low wage compared to coal miners. In reply to this he said their men could make figures themselves, and they knew what the company was getting for their metals.

Questioned by Wm. Potter, one of the coal miners' agents, Mr. Blaylock reiterated his statement that the men at his company's plant would work the full 365 days. They were endeavoring to cut out Sunday work so far as possible.

Witness said he could not state offhand what contract miners were earning. He was prepared to secure the exact rates for the board. He did not think that their wages were more than $5 a day.

Mr. Potter closely questioned Mr. Blaylock as to the cause of some labor trouble in 1919. There was, he said, continual trouble over O. B. U. activities, who wanted to bring about a sympathetic strike.

Witness stated that they had in operation a modification of the English Whitley system, which had proved very successful both from the point of view of the company and the men.

Referring to the stores that the company had opened, they had first called the storekeepers together, but as they were not willing to fall in with the company's views, the company adopted the plan mentioned. It was really to prevent profiteering.

By John Shanks, representing the operators: "If your mine was operating at a loss, what would you do?"

"Close down," promptly replied the witness.

Witness related a system of group insurance that the company had adopted, and also what it was doing in the way of housing the employes.

John R. Brodie, of the Crescent Collieries, Bienfait, Sask., was the next witness, who also gave some astonishing figures paid coal miners there compared with those in District 18. The rate for common labor, he said, was 35c an hour in and out of the mines. Contract miners when wages were at their peak received 85c an hour. The present rate was 55c, and the men worked ten hours a day. A good miner would mine about 12 tons a day.

In reply to a question by the board, witness stated that they were producing more coal today than when the rate was 85c a ton.

A FERNIE BEAUTIFUL

A bountiful Nature did much for Fernie. It gave her mineral wealth and natural beauty; high mountains and sequestered valleys; trees and streams, but, like many a Western town Fernie grew rapidly, houses were built in a hurry, and little though was given to appearances.

Although during the strike many of our citizens are unemployed, everyone has confidence in the future of this city. Have you noticed what a lot of buildings are being constructed or improved? Fernie is the livest town in the Kootenays. It should be the prettiest.

The City Beautiful Contest, announced in these columns, gives Fernie citizens an incentive to improve their homes and grounds. It is not expected that contestants will make large extensions to their houses, but rather that an organized attempt will be made to brighten up the homes with paint, trees, flowers and grass plots. It is wonderful what a change a few cents worth of flower seeds will make in the appearance of a yard. A judicious arrangement of shrubbery will often obliterate many unpleasant or unnatural features of a city lot.

Cities are unnatural and artificial at best. Individual citizens frequently do a great deal to surround themselves with something of natural beauty. Some city men spend time and money lavishly in beautifying their own property. The City Beautiful Contest should induce such a man to continue in his good work, and it should also lead those men who have not made a start in beautifying their grounds to take up the work with a viw. In Class 2, it may be a man with a small house on a thirty foot lot who wins the big prize. In fact, the small property will show more results with less work than the big place.

Perhaps the best feature about this contest is that even the man who is not able to win a prize the first year is ahead of the game. By entering into the sprit of the competition he improces not only the appearance of his place but also its commercial aspects. The slogan is a good one: "Clean Up, Paint Up, Brighten Up, Plant Flowers and Trees. Let's make it Fernie the Beautiful—a City of Homes.'

ODDFELLOWS ANNIVERSARY

Mount Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F. celebrated the 103rd anniversary of the foundation of Oddfellowship in this country by giving an "at home" to its members, their sister lodge the Esther Rebekahs and friends, in Hawthorne Hall Friday evening last.

A most elaborate program had been drawn up by the Good of the Order committee ably assisted by many subcommittees.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing whist. Brother Whitehouse winning the gentleman's and Sister Harvie winning the lady's first prizes. The "booby" prizes went to Brothers Rewers and Sister Taylor.

After the awarding of the whist prizes an excellent supper was served by the Rebekahs, following which Noble Grand Biggs took the chair and in a few brief remarks touched on the vast growth of Oddfellowship since its inception and pointing out the growth of the local organization which received its charter in 1902 and had grown steadily until it was one of the largest and strongest lodges in this jurisdiction.

Songs by Bro. Owen and Sisters Anderson, Whitehouse and Osborne were splendidly rendered, and the audience were not slow in showing their appreciation.

District Deputy Grand Master Harvie was then called upon by the chair to address the gathering. He briefly outlined the history of the Independent Order of Oddfellows from the founding of the first lodge in America right up to the present day.

Dancing was then the order of the evening and was kept up until the wee sam' hours of the morning. Bass' Orchestra supplied the music.

COAL STRIKE BOARD WILL MEET IN CITY

(Lethbridge Herald)

The conciliation board looking into grievances between miners and operators in Alberta will hold a sitting in this city, H. Ostlund, K.C., representative of the miners told the Herald this morning. Mr. Ostlund is in the city for a couple of days, the board having adjourned for a two-day recess following which hearings will be held in Calgary. The board, he said, would probably come to Lethbridge from Calgary, and might possibly reach here by the week-end. Mr. Ostlund looks for the holding of a very valuable series of sessions in Lethbridge, in which conditions peculiar to this field will be revealed. It is quite certain that Lethbridge operators will go on the stand, he said.

Sessions will also be held at Blairmore, Coleman, Nordegg and Fernie, Mr. Ostlund explained. He said the board was making very good headway and that a large mass of highly important evidence had already been gathered. There will be about 12 in the party, and while in the south will visit Cardston for the purpose of inspecting the Latterday Saint temple The consideration of the evidence, he stated, would take place either at Calgary or Banff.

KILLED AT YAHK

George Shaw of Cranbrook met instant death on Thursday of last week in performing his duties on a Shay locomotive engine owned and operated by the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway company at Yahk. The company operates a logging railroad from the camps, some fifteen miles up Meadow Creek from Yahk to the sawmill at the town of Yahk where the logs and ties are unloaded. The spring operations have just lately commenced and the deceased was bringing the locomotive attached to a number of cars loaded with ties down the railway to the mill when, in some unaccountable manner, it appears that the engine could not be made to hold back the load, which was forcing the train down grade at a terrific rate of speed. The engineer, George Shaw, had been instructing a fellow employee in the art of operating the air brake but a few minutes previous to the happening of the accident. Thinking that the train had gotten out of control, the deceased, Shaw, decided to jump, and had just done so when two of the cars loaded with ties got off the rails and went into the ditch. As the first car of ties left the rails some of the ties slid off the top and struck the deceased on the head, crushing his skull and killing him instantly. Strangely enough the Shay logging engine remained on the track and was brought to a stop when the cars of ties went into the ditch.

It is the opinion of those who witnessed the accident that if the deceased had remained on the engine for a few seconds longer instead of jumping for safety he would have been uninjured today. The deceased was 42 years of age and came here from main line points where he was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. as locomotive engineer for a number of years. He has resided at Cranbrok and points near by for a number of years. A wife and small family are left to mourn his loss.

While we are firm adherents to the principle of using made in British Columbia goods at all times, we don't solicit patronage for Pacific Milk on that basis, but because of its superiority over milk put up any where in Canada.

Pacific is rich in pure cream, due, of course, to the natural richness of the fresh milk, and our improved process of evaporation and canning retains the sweet fresh cream flavor. It is better for cooking and baking than fresh milk or cream.

"THE GIRL FROM GOD'S COUNTRY"

Nell Shipman, as star, author and director of a tremendous outdoor photo-play, "The Girl from God's Country," offers the greatest screen attraction of the season. She handles a difficult role in one of the most thrilling action melodramas ever photographed for a motion picture, coming to the Isis Theatre for Wednesday and Thursday of next week. The scenes are laid in the Canadian northwest, where Miss Shipman repeatedly risked her life and limb in the interest of thrills.

The F. B. Warren Corporation will release "The Girl from God's Country."

The story opens in the north woods, where Neeka, a girl of the great outdoors, meets a hunting party that includes J. R. Carslake, millionaire airplane manufacturer, who many years before had eloped with Neeka's mother, and at the birth of Neeka had discarded the mother and her babe.

Unaware that Carslake is her father, Neeka saves his life when he is on the verge of drowning after his guide shoots a hole in the bottom of the canoe in which they are paddling. The guide, Neeka's grandfather, had sought revenge for the affair in which his daughter had paid the penalty.

Carslake adopts Neeka and takes her back to California with his daughter, Marion, who closely resembles Neeka. Carslake is unaware of the fact that Neeka is his real daughter.

The entire country is awaiting the outcome of the proposed trans-Pacific flight, in which Carslake's new airplane and the K-12, owned by Otto Kraus ,are entered. The only obstacle standing in the way of Carslake's victory is the want of a fuel supply that will enable his plane to make the trip sucessfully.

For years Carslake has been cunningly defrauding a crazed inventor of his models, putting them on the market as his own inventions and reaping fortune and fame as a result. This inventor lives in a lonely hut in the sand dunes. Carslake appeals for a formula to be used for the flight and the inventor provides a solidified gasoline which Carslake promptly appropriates for his stolen models.

Kraus, in an effort to learn secrets regarding Carslake's activities, gets work as a butler in the Carslake mansion. While there he gains the confidence of Neeka and cunningly persuades her to obtain the formula for the solidified gasoline from Carslake.

The newspapers of the country carry big stories of the discovery of solidified gasoline and give credit to Carslake The crazed inventor hears of this and tries to see Carslake, only to be refused admittance at the aero works. He swears revenge, which comes even sooner than he hoped. His mind is restored to normal when the hangar of the Carslake plant is set afire, and he is rescued by Neeka in the nick of time.

Neeka, after geting the formula for Kraus, realizes that she has been duped into treason against her benefactor.

Kraus has departed in a plane and Neeka follows in pursuit.

A thrilling battle in mid-air is enacted and Neeka is forced to make a sensational leap in a parachute when the wing of her plane is broken.

The story ends in a manner better seen in the picture than told here.

NINE TEAMS ENTER LEAGUE

(Cranbrook Courier)

At the district meeting of ball fans and enthusiasts held in the Cranbrook hotel Sunday April 23, at which was present representatives from Fernie, White Spruce, Waldo, Michel, Wycliffe, Kimberley, Wardner and Cranbrook. Yahk forwarded a letter, enclosing its entrance fee, which was accepted, and will be placed in the western division.

Duck Creek and Eastport were unable to enter teams in the league, which prevented the formation of a section for that territory and thus prevented Creston from coming into this territory owing to the great distance of travel. This feature of the proceedings was regretted by all ball enthusiasts, who were eager to see Creston into the league.

It was definitely decided that all teams would pay their own travelling expenses and take all the gate receipts of games played at home. Mr. C. M. Pennock, one of the Wardner representatives, was of the opinion that this method would not work to the satisfaction of the Wardner team.

Each Club will be allowed to secure a battery. Both players must be bona fide workers, duly registered. In cases where their salary is under $150.00 a month, the club so engaging the pitcher and catcher can make up the difference. In no case is the salary to exceed $150 per month, unless the position held by the particular player is paying such salary. It was finally put and carried that this portion of the salary clause will not make a club liable to the $100 fine passed at the last meeting of the East Kootenay league.

Spalding's baseball playing rules will govern all games played in the league schedule. The double umpire system will govern. Each club will be allowed to sign up and register fifteen players.

Clubs which have paid their deposit were — Eastern Division: Baynes-Waldo, Fernie, Michel-Natal, White Spruce; Western Division: Wycliffe, Cranbrook, Kimberley, Wardner-Bull River, Yahk.

Arthur Crowe and Frank Bamford were authorized to draw up the schedule for this division, and Rod McLeod and Mr. Jerue were delegated to draft the eastern schedule.

It is the intention to open the league on May 7, but it is likely the date will be changed to about the 15th Kimberley is not in shape for a game, although they are getting their ground in excellent shape and receiving the support of the townspeople.

Mr. Paul Klinestiver and Mr. Wolff, of the B.C. Spruce Mills were delegates in attendance from Lumberton and expressed themselves as being unable to enter the league this season. Their ball grounds were not in any kind of shape. Provision was made for Lumberton coming in about the middle of the schedule.

Harry Reid, formerly with E. A. Hill, gents furnishings,, was the delegate from Michel-Natal. He told the meeting that the ball players of that town were ready to open the league series whenever the teams were ready

Mr. Wm. Johnston, proprietor of the Orpheum theatre, and Mr. J. Jerue were delegate representing Fernie.

The Secretary was instructd to with the B. C. and Alberta Amateur bodies pertaining to amateur cards.

The schedule will be presented to the various clubs for their endorsation or corection.

Vancouver Man Says He Is So Wonderfully Restored He Is Glad To Publicly Endorse Tanlac.

"Making a public statement is something new to me, but Tanlac has helped me so much I am willing to go on record with all the rest who are praising it," said Chas. J Machin, 6031 Beatrice St., South Vancouver, B. C., a well-known automobile expert.

"For three years," continued Mr. Machin, "I suffered the worst sort of indigestion. After meals I would bloat up with gas which pressed my heart until it would race like an engine. These spells left me very weak and I would have perfectly awful headaches. Rheumatic pains were also all through my body.

"I read a number of statements about Tanlac and decided to try it, and it is simply amazing how it built me up. The rheumatism has disappeared, my heart beats normally, and I have completely recovered my appetite. Everybody should know about Tanlac."

The Big William A. Brady production
"LIFE"

Though no one may know what life is—come see the things it is made of! The top and the bottom, the body and soul, the strife, the love and the glory, all woven into a tingling screen portrayal of one of the greatest melodramas ever staged. Based on the World Famous stage play by Thompson Buchanan.

Richard Barthelmess in "THE SEVENTH DAY"

The love-log of a young fishing skipper and a society Lorelei. And on the Seventh Day—For six days he walked as one in a dream—for the wise little city dame had filled his cup of happiness to overflowing—And on the Seventh Day it seemed the heavens opened, for everything became dark—dark blue. Quoth the younk skipper, unlearned in the ways of wise city girls, "I'll weather this blow!" But did he? Ah, that's the sceret of the red letter Seventh Day.

Hundreds of our patrons will remember Richard Barthelmess in "Toll'able David." He scores again in "The Seventh Day."

The following from the Indianapolis Daily News can be applied without alteration to local conditions: "A recent article dealing with municipal golf in Indianapolis speaks of the difficulty in enforcing discipline on the public courses, and blames ignorance of the rules for most of the trouble. That is largely true, but disregard for the rights of others is also to blame. A man who pushes ahead to be the first on board a street car, who drives his automobile in such a manner as to endanger the lives of others, who displays selfishness in ordinary business and social life can not be expected to transform himself into a model of golf etiquette when he goes on the links. There is only one way to deal with such players, and that is by an exercise of discipline that will teach a lesson."

GOLF NOTES

BY CHARLIE OSLER

The 1.62 ball, which was adopted last year as the standard ball, has been no handicap to long drivers. They are hitting that ball just as far as they did the heavy ball. If long drivers are capable of hitting the heavy ball farther than short drivers, it stands to reason that they will be able to do the same with the lighter ball.

It is about time that some plan was devised to handle the large crowds that now attend golf championships. As things are now, spectators often interfere with players.

Davie Black, of Vancouver, who has won the Professional Golf Association Championship of Canada three years in succession, will, if he plays the game he is capable of, go a long way this year in the U.S. open.

Canada should send 8 to 12 amateurs to compete in the U. S. Amateur. A fairly large number is preferred, as it will give the players plenty of confidence and an opportunity of putting away some of the crack golfers who will oppose them.

Canada would do well in the U. S. Open of a member of the team that the R. C. G. A. is sending over this year to compete in that championship, retains the position on the last day that Charlie Murray, of Montreal, occupied last year on the first day of the National Open. Murray was in second place on the first day, but the next day played far below his usual form.

The steel shafted club, now being experimented with by Jock Hutchison, "Chick" Evans and Laurie Ayton, has been in use for a number of years. There is really no difference in the distance that can be obtained by the use of one of those clubs, as compared with that that can be obtained by the use of a wooden shafted club. The steel shafts in the iron clubs have not been a success, but the steel shafts in the wooden clubs are as good as the best wooden shafts.

The Canadian Open this year will be a good drawing card for many foreign golfers, due to the fact that it is being held in Montreal.

Walter Hagen, holder of the Western Open and Professional Golfers Association titles, is the most daring player in the world. In the National Open in 1919, Hagen had to secure a 4 to draw with Mike Brady. There was a stone wall behind the green, and had Hagen played to the pin, he would have been taking the chance of running in the trap behind the green. He played his shot against the wall, and the rebound lighted 15 feet from the pin, enabling him to get the four and tie Brady. Hagen defeated Brady on the following day.

Jim Barnes did not fall a prey to nervousness at any time during the play last year in the U. S. Open. But he showed signs of nervousness when President Harding presented him with the cup, emblematic of the championship. The President, however, soon put Jim at his ease, when he began to say nice things about him.

The Canadian Amateur Championship at Hamilton in June will be very keenly contested. The writer doesn't think that honors will be secured by a "dark horse," but that the cup will go to one of the ten leading players in the country.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Wednesday and Thursday, May 10 and 11

RICH COSTUMES WORN IN "FOOL'S PARADISE"

A million stitches for twelve costumes: That's what it took to make the gorgeously bejeweled costumes of the Siamese dancing girls in one episode of Cecil B. De Mille's latest Paramount picture, "Fool's Paradise," which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre soon.

These costumes, perhaps the most ornately beautiful ever designed for the screen, were created by Claire West, special costume designer for Cecil B. De Mille productions. The twelve dancers appear in reproductions of the famous Temple Dances. The weight of their costumes is considerable as each garment is decorated with at least two thousand set jewels; sapphires, emeralds, rubies, and rhinestones. Counting fifty stitches to each jewel, 100,000 to the garment, it can be easily seen that the original estimate of one million stitches for the twelve costumes is conservative.

And these costumes were for dancers only and to gain a special effect. Going into the costumes of the principals is another story. Marvelous sable cloaks and ermine negligees, startling jeweled Javanese costumes and a succession of interesting Spanish gowns place this newest De Mille picture at an exceptional point in feminine investiture.

KNOWLES SATISFIED

(Calgary Herald—May 1.)

Following the adjournemnt of the miners' board of conciliation of Friday, two of the members of the board, Chairman W. E. Knowles, K.C., and R. G. Drinnan, have left for their respective homes at Moose Jaw and Edmonton. H. Ostlund, K.C., is leaving by tonight's train for Lethbridge.

In the course of an interview with a representative of the Herald the members of the board, which by the way is now officially known as the "Knowles Board," while somewhat regretting the temporary postponement until next Thursday, expressed satisfaction at the progress that has been made. "We have secured much valuable information," remarked Mr. Knowles, "and there is undoubtedly an earnest desire on the part of both the operators and the miners' representatives to give the fullest information. I fully appreciate the fact that much of this is difficult to secure off-hand, and as I stated at the sitting on Friday afternoon I feel that the operators in asking for an adjournment are acting in good faith. Many of the directors of the various coal concerns reside outside of the province and are not immediately available. The operators have promised to have completed data ready when the board re-convenes on Thursday, and it is also hoped that F. E. Harrison, the representative of the federal department of labor, will have figures respecting comparative wages in various industries and how these compare with the cost of living."

Mr. Knowles stated that the board may not have made itself quite clear while at Canmore at to its future movements. He said it was certainly the intention to visit most of the important coal centres after the evidence now sought had been furnished the board in Calgary.

The chairman stated that every effort would be made to expedite the work and to bring in its findings at the earliest possible date.

NEW COAL VENTURE

THREE HILLS, Alta., May 1.—A deal was completed Friday, in the office of J. A. J. Robertson, whereby the Southern Alberta Coal Company. Ltd., becomes the owners of acreage immediately adjoining the MacGilvray subdivision at the north end of town and on the east side of the C. N. R. track, purchased from Mr. G. Carruthers. Mr. W. A. Baudric, of Spokane president of the company, was in town Friday, and closed the deal for this company, leaving for the south the same day.

He will be back in about 30 days to push the work of preparation for the new mine, which is to be in full operation this fall.

Meanwhile, Mr. D. Seibert has been given the job of drilling the test holes on the property, ready for the layout of the workings. He is to have this work done, as far as possible, ready for the return of Mr. Baudric.

The new mine, which will make the fourth operating close to town, is to be run on a large scale, employing between two and three hundred men and will add considerably to the development of the town and district.

CLEANING UP THE MOVIES

Out of the motion-picture scandals which culminated in the Taylor tragedy has come a moral reform of a new and promising order. "Morality clauses," it seems, are now inserted in all contracts with film stars and a procedure has been adopted bonding actors, directors and other principals against scandalous conduct.

Movie morals will thus be safeguarded as respects the character of the personnel and an earnest effort will be made to purge the profession of conditions which tend to bring it into disrepute. That surely is a consummation to be wished and greatly to be praised. And having improved the morals of the performers, will not the logical next step be to improve the intellectual character of the productions? Can not intelligence tests be inserted along with the morality clauses?—New York World.

HISTORIC WORDS

Everyone knows that immortal signal "England expects this day that every man will do his duty." The words conjure before us the greatest of all battles fought by wooden ships; it incarnates again that invincible spirit of Britain's greatest sailor—the incomparable Nelson, who wrote it shortly before he went to a glorious death. It was his last signal and now it has been accepted as his epitaph. Only a great man may have the honor of writing his own epitaph. No man will deny the greatness of Nelson. The Nelson spirit is the spirit of the British race.

It is a long cry from Trafalgar Bay and October 21, 1805, to the Zeebrugge Mole and April 23, 1917; but British courage and British daring had not changed during the passing of the years. On St. George's Day, just five years ago, we see another little armament sailing forth to attack the might of Britain's enemies. But where Nelson led his in the gallant old "Victory" this time the hero is Captain Carpenter on the quarter-deck of that grim old warrior, "Vindictive," and they are going forth on an exploit that would have delighted Nelson's soul. It is the sealing-up of Zeebrugge, Germany's most formidable submarine base, And the signal that sped their going: "St. George for England!" Then there is Captain Carpenter's reply: "May we give the Dragon's tail a damn good twist!" It is needles to say that they did.

We need only to go back two years previously to discover other historic utterances. During St. George's week, in 1915, the great battle of St. Julien was being fought. We all remember that glorious, yet sad epic of the world war. Canada fought against the German hordes as her sons never fought before; and they died where they fought as a nation of Britains should. When the terrible engagement was over the Allies were unstinted in their praise of Canada's fighting men. In the despatches it appeared, "The Canadians saved the day." Later, when an officer of that heroic contingent was on leave in London he was highly complimented upon the fighting capabilities of his countrymen. It was then that he delivered this famous gem: "What the hell else did you expect us to do?"

Here we have the Nelson spirit and the spirit of British people expressed in every-day words. The heroes of Nelson went forth to battle animated by the same motives that filled the hearts of the men storming Zeebrugge and fighting a desperate battle at St. Julien. They were there to fight—and nothing else. All over Canada today Canadians are celebrating St. Julien's Day and Zeebrugge Day. We trust that St. Julien's Day also will be fittingly celebrated. It is well for us not to forget the glorious past and to remember historic utterances which give an intimate touch to the past. But no finer sense of duty can be found than that expressed in the surprised question of the unknown Canadian officer: "What the hell else did you expect us to do?" There is only one answer: "Fight!" And so long as the sense of duty prevades the British race, so long will its people remain invincible among the nations of the world.—Toronto World.

SPLENDID SEA SCENERY IN NEW BARTHELMESS FILM

What Henry King, director of Inspiration Pictures, declares the most marvelous scenery that it has been his good fortune to view will be seen in the photoplay, "The Seventh Day," the First National Attraction in which Richard Marthelmess will star at the Orpheum theatre commencing Wednesday May 10.

"The backgrounds almost defy description," said Mr. King. "Our location was discovered by accident. As this is a story dealing with the live sand habits of fishermen, we started on a search for an ideal location. We had gone all along the New England coast, and if the village was satisfactory, the background was not. We had almost despaired of geting what we wanted when an accident to our machine was responsible for our discovering what we wanted. Nestling down right along the ocean, as if dropped from paradise was New Harbor. It was as primitive and as quaint as it was fifty years ago, and such scenery we could not believe existed on the eastern coast. It was virgin soil, too, for no motion pictures had ever been taken there. In addition, it was the first place in New England that a white man had set foot on. Everywhere we went there was a historical legend to be found. Of course, we at once made arrangements to film "The Seventh Day" there and we are fortunate in being able to convey through the medium of the camera such marvelous scenic effects."

Fault is found with the new Canadian nickel coin because the edge is not milled. As it represents fifty mills in value why grind it?

CALLIE MINE FIRE NOT INCENDIARY

EDMONTON, May 1.—"The fire at the Callie and Drumheller Land Company's mines on April 27, when both mines had their power plants burned, and the tipple at the Callie mine also went up in smoke, was not of incendiary origin," declares Supt. Bryan of the Alberta Provincial Police this morning. Supt. Bryan has received a report on the matter from special investigating officers and says the striking miners were not responsible for the outbreak. The pump men had only left the Callie mine for a few minutes when fire broke out, and men of the A. P. P. were on duty all the time in the vicinity. The fire spread to the Drumheller Land Company's mine, which also suffered.

"The miners are quite and orderly," stated Supt. Bryan, "and the best of feeling prevails between them and the police. The men have expressed thmselves as ready at any time to co-operate with the police should any disorder break out among any section of the strikers, but we do not anticipate any trouble whatever."

CONCILIATION BOARD MEETING

One of the most important hearings of the Knowles Conciliation Board, probing the miners' and operators' disputes in District 18, U. M. W. of A., was held in Fernie on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The meetings were held in the Court House and City Hall and were largely attended. Wednesday afternoon, the Board members, Mr. Knowles, Mr. Drinnan and Mr. Ostlund viewed the Coal Creek mines. Thursday they were the guests of the Rotary Club at luncheon. They left Thursday evening for Blairmore where the closing session will be held.

Opening Session

At the opening session of the probe here Wednesday afternoon, two witnesses only were called by Mr. Livett, representative of the miners. Mr. Robertson early announced that it was not the intention of the operators to submit statements of earnings at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's mines as these had been frowned upon at Lethbridge by the chairman, who pronounced them unrepresentative.

First Witness

Charles Hesketh said he worked in No. 2 mine at Coal Creek. He was married and had four children. His rate was $7.50 and he was a carpenter. He had served overseas.

The witness told of the system at the Fernie field of assigning pay to the Trites-Wood Company, by which he had not been paid in cash but credit at that store. They had given him small sums from time to time. But all his efforts to "get out of the hole" on $7.50 a day had failed so he did not know what would happen if the miners accepted the proposed cut, as he would be reduced to $4.50.

Living costs in Fernie, said the witness, were 10% higher than in Lethbridge or Calgary and 12½% higher than in Vancouver. Witness admitted, on question from Mr. Caufield, that his wages had been advanced 150%, but his standard of living was no higher now than in 1913, when he worked for much less money as he had steadier work and commodities were lower.

"What would happen to the men if their wages were now cut as proposed?" Mr. Ostlund asked.

"They'd have to reduce their living still more, which would bring them down to a condition like slavery days," said the witness.

Thos. Biggs

Thos. Biggs, ex-president of District 18, U. M. W. of A., was next examined. His rate in 1903 was $3.00, in 1917, $3.30, and in 1921, $7.50. His 1921 rate was considered by the witness a just and fair wage. Since 1903 to 1917, the cost of living had advanced 100½.

The effort of a wage cut now, he said, would be very hard on the men who even now were only living decently. He questioned the ability of the operators to give them more work even though they accepted their terms as the markets consumed only a certain amount of coal no matter how much was produced.

Following the session, the Board members and party inspected the Coal Creek mines, going over the entire workings thoroughly. The plant was pronounced the finest yet seen by the board and easily the largest.

Thursday Morning

Pres. W. R. Wilson, of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, submitted an extensive written statement at the Thursday morning session of the commission. Mr. Wilson also took occasion to describe a certain set of figures quoted by Robt. Livett, and coming from the Fernie Free Press, as being unofficial and misleading. Questioned by Mr. Robertson, he stated that his company was not interested in the Fernie Free Press or any other paper.

Closing Session

At the closing session here Thursday, H. Abbot, a contract miner of Michel, said he earned $7.60 on an average. When he made less than the $7.60 minimum his wage was not made up to that figure although he had asked his boss for the minimum. His total earnings in 1921 were $1,134.30. The witness said he would starve on the new rates offered by the employers.

Fred Irvin, secretary of the Michel local union, challenged Labor Gazette cost of living figures as by actual comparison they were 20% below Michel store prices. The miners' co-op. store in Michel sold no lower than other stores.

Overalls at Michel cost $3.50 a pair. Witness said he did not believe operators could give them more work even though they did take a cut. A third of the mines in America working steady could supply the market.

Chairman Knowles ruled out a statement from the operators, setting forth the earnings of boys in miners' families. It was not considered admissable as evidence. Other exhibits bearing on social conditions at the Michel and Coal Creek mines were allowed. These statements showed that there were 1.89 children to the family.

Before the adjornment, President Wilson of the Coal Company, appealed for an honest endeavor to settle the difficulty and to end labor troubles generally. The uncertainty of the output needed to fill large orders destroyed the confidence of buyers and generally demoralized the coal industry. Strikes and lockouts since 1903 had piled up a waste in the two local mines of $3,429.045. "Unless we get down to the basic elements of economic value the outlook for the future is dark," he said.

NEW JUDGE IS D. A. M'DONALD

OTTAWA, May 9.—It is understood that D. A. McDonald, K.C., L.L.B., a member of the firm of Bourne, McDonald & Desbrisay, has been appointed to the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench in Briish Columbia made vacant by the death of Mr. Justice Clement.

Mr. McDonald, who at one time was a partner with S. Herchmer, of Fernie, is a native of Glencoe, Middlesex County, Ontario, where he was born forty-four years ago. He received his early education at Glencoe High School, and before studying law he taught school for three years. He formerly practised in London, Ont., and then came to Fernie, B.C. In Vancouver he was first a partner in the firm of Craig, Bourne & McDonald, but since 1913 the name of the firm has been Bourne, McDonald & Desbrisay.

Mr. McDonald is a man of the highest integrity and held in much esteem not only by his brother barristers but by he public at large. He served for three years overseas, being adjutant of the 10th Battalion Canadian Railway troops under Major-General J. W. Stewart. He is a member of St. John's Presbyterian Church, is married and has one child 5 years of age.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENS

On Sunday the fans will see the lid pried off the baseball season for the eastern section of the East Kootenay Baseball League. White Spruce are scheduled to play at Michel and Waldo at Fernie.

Last week the western section made its debut. Kimberley was scheduled to meet Wardner at Wardner, and Wycliffe was to journey to Yahk. Kimberley romped home with Wardner's scalp by the score of 7-2, while Jup Pluovius won the Wycliffe-Yahk encounter by overwhelming downpour.

The warm weather of this week has rekindled enthusiasm. Officials are hustling with the final arrangements, and the players are busy, taking advantage of the warmth, and getting into condition so there will be no fault from that source for the initial game. All the games this summer will be played in the City Park, that is, where celebration day sports are held, and Sunday's game will take place there. The grounds are being renovated and put in ship shape for this game, while seats will be built for the accomodation of the fans. The game will start sharp at 2:30 and Milt Kastner will handle the indicator.

Have you secured your Club Booster Ticket yet. These tickets have the schedule printed on the back and are very useful in that respect. You can get them at the Fernie Cigar Store or from any of the Executive.

MR. WILSON'S STATEMENT

Statement made by W. R. Wilson in response to the demands of the miners of District 18, to the Board of Conciliation at the Board's meeting held in Fernie, May 10, 1922:

Fernie, B.C., May 8, 1922.

To the Chairman and embers of the Conciliation Board:

Gentlemen—I have read very carefully the statements of the Miners as presented to your Board in writing on the 10th day of April, and on the 4th day of May. The latter statement especially offers statistical information relative to the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's mines that is absolutely misleading to anyone who may be inclined to accept the wording in the deceptive form it is presented in.

Both the papers, to some extent at least, are evidently designed to keep a conflicting set of views between the different parties involved in this controversy, or investigation, which misleading tendency I am sorry to see so evidently manifested. It is not a time for anyone who may be seriously involved in this wage question that we have now under consideration to further attempt to promulgate a further feeling of distrust either amongst those directly interested in the coal industry or the public whose interests are clearly allied with the industry and in consequence are seriously concerned in a just settlement of the negotiatons that are beng carried on.

The public are already educated to the belief that true leadership in all forms of human affairs, industrial and otherwise, does not depend upon our faculties to divert men's attention from the basic facts of life, to a misconception of current events by our making statements of an inferential nature, designed to circumvent the influences that should be given the opportunity of dealing only with plain lucid farts, thereby making it possible for this Board to draw their conclusions from representations that are candidly based upon the economic merits of the industry that wage returns must enure from.

The features of our present problem that appear to me to require our most serious attention at the present time, is the candid and honest need for the people on both sides of this controversy to go sanely into the various economic aspects of the industy as we are engaged in it in this widely diverse district.

I feel sure that a desirable study of the deep and important questions will result in leading each of the parties interested to more clearly comprehend their duty to each other, and the country at large.

The two statemtnts that I have referred to in my preface remarks make it imperative for me as the representative of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, to correct the false impressions that are likely to arise from the erroneous figures and language used in these statements, but before proceeding to do so, I will ask the Board to grant me that privilege. In addition to analyzing the statements as made in the two papers referred to, I will ask for the further liberty of dealing briefly in a general way with some of the principal fundamental factors that affect the coal and coke industry of this district, confining my remarks chiefly to the basic features of the industry that are likely to aid us most in clearly understanding the problems that may be regarded as contingent factors to the new wage questions that we have under consideration.

Before proceeding to discuss the general features of the subject, I will take the liberty of analysing Mr. Livett's statement as presented to the Board on the 4th of May, which statement specially relates to the mines of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, in the following manner:

That in the year 1911 we learned that the selling price of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company was $2.28 per ton. Since that time the selling price at the same mine has been increased to $6.15 per ton, representing an increase of $3.87 over the selling prices of 1911. Labor costs in 1911 were $1.14 per ton, which has been increased 98.12 per cent, making cost of production in 1921, $2.26 per ton, on an average production of three tons per man employed, the labor would be $6.78. The Company would receive from the labor of each employee per day, $18.45, from which the employee would receive $6.78, leaving a balance of $11.67 to the Company to take care of depreciation, material, profits, etc.

We will now take the facts as they were submitted to the Board by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company during the sitting of the Conciliation Board in Fernie during the 1911 strike, which facts at the time of said Board holding its sessions were available to any person who might have been sufficiently interested to attend the Fernie Conciliation Board meetings in 1911. The following statistical information was offered to the Board at that time by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company:

THE TOURIST ASSOCIATION

The fifteen thousand booklets were delivered in Fernie in different shipments which commenced to arrive early in April and continued until the middle of the month. Just as soon as they arrived they were mailed out, and before the end of April over 13,000 of them were distributed throughout Canada and the United States. 10,000 of them went out individually, the balance being sent in batches of from 20 to 50 in each, to the leading Auto Clubs and Tourist Bureaus in both countries. Copies of the booklets were sent to the leading newspapers most of which have given it very complimentary write-ups, which has resulted in requests from their readers from all over the country for copies of it. Most of these letters have expressed the writer's intention of driving through our teritory. From New York State to date, 30 such letters have reached this office, from Florida 5, from Oregon 21, from Washington 16, from California 13, from Illinois 6, from Indiana 2. There have been many from most of the Provinces of Canada. The response has exceeded my most sangsaid that every inch of space had we are justified in expecting to reap direct benefits from the booklet during this year. If we do it will be quite exceptional because the general accepted idea about literature such as ours is, is that results should not be expected until the year after it is distributed.

It had been my intentions to send 12,000 out to individuals, but as there are still a lot of newspapers sure to write it up, I am of the opinion that the balance of about 2,000 should be kept in hand for distribution to enquirers, and also to Tourist Bureaus and Auto Clubs, several of which have already requested additional supplies. They have explained their requests for more by saying that they are getting many enquiries about these parts this year.

Representing this Association, I attended the Sportsmens' & Tourists' Exhibition at Spokane from May 2nd to the 4th. This is held yearly, this being the third. Last year the Associated Boards of Trade of Southern B. C. were alloted space, and did not take advantage of it. The offer was not extended to us this year, but we were invited to send a representative there who would be able to judge of the advisability of us taking part in next year's exhibition. Although they uine expectations, and I believe that my enlargements of our scenic spots been taken up, I took twenty six of on the off chance of being able to find a corner in which to display them. Mr. Frank Guilbert, the secretary of the Inland Auto Association, succeded in securing me a small place next to their booth and the majority of the 87,000 visitors saw them. I had a good supply of booklets as well, and distributed them to those who said that they would be coming up here. To all of these I recommended the Premier Tour which they could reach by driving to Marcus and coming through our territory via Nelson. This was news to most of them and with very few exceptions those who come, will come that way.

I was much impressed with the splendid opportunity for advertising ourselves that this exhibition offers, that I was the first of this years exhibitors to reserve space for next year. I am certain that if members of our Boards of Trade will loan some of their trophies for the occasion, we can have an exhibit that will be better than any there this year.

The exhibits consist of live wild game, live fish of the different game species, and live birds. Stuffed specimans of game, fish and birds, and skins of all kinds. Displays of every kind of sportsmens' equipment and

During the year 1910, the Company only paid a two per cent dividend. From and including 1908 and up to and including 1921 the average dividends paid by this Company have been 2.46 per cent per year on the actual capital invested.

During the year 1910, the Company collected from its employees $81,525.55 Union assessment, which was paid over to the United Mine Workers. A recitation of correct records hereby reveals that instead of this Company receiving outrageous profits from their employees as intimated in Mr. Livett's statement to be $11.67 per shift per employee to take care of all the following current charges, against operation, namely Mine Supplies, Boiler Coal, Liability Insurance, Fire Insurance, Royalties, to B.C. Government, Free Conveyance of Workmen to Coal Creek Mines, Land Taxes, Depreciation, Income Tax, they only received during the year of 1910, 15 2-10 cents per shift worked, and have never since received sufficient net profits from their organization to sustain an average earnings interest of 6 per cent.

In England, for many years, I believe it has been a recognized fact, or necessity, by both the government and the men and owners engaged in the industry of that country, that if capital was to be encouraged to invest in the venture of coal mining, such investors should be assured 17 per cent annual returns on the capital risks they take.

We will now turn our attention to more general matters.

In the year of 1914, when war broke out in Europe, the cost of living had not become a subject for discussion in its relation to wages in this district, but as the war proceeded the immense armies engaged therein began to make growing and increasing demands upon the food stores of all countries, including this country. These urgent army requirements for food steadily kept on increasing from the year 1914 up to the beginning of 1921. From 1916 especially up to 1919 a serious food shortage in nearly all countries of Europe became very apparent, or so serious that the shortage began to affect us in this district, which naturally resulted in the workmen of the district making demands for higher wages to meet the abnormal and constantly increasing cost of living. These demands were responded to by nearly all productive organizations. From the year 1913, when food prices were considered to be normal, up to the beginning of 1922, the Dominion government, for a family of five members, issued statements showing the cost of living changing as follows:

	Food	Fuel	Rent	Clothing	Sundries	Total Base	Week Base	Day Base
Base 1913	$ 7.34	$1.91	$4.75	$3.00	$4.03	$21.03	$00.00	$0.00
March 1914	7.88	1.87	4.22	3.50	4.20	21.67	.64	.10¾
March 1917	10.70	2.27	4.16	4.65	5.14	26.92	5.89	0.98
July 1920	16.84	3.64	6.38	7.80	7.65	42.13	21.28	3.65
Feb. 1922	10.61	3.49	6.93	4.67	6.60	32.40	11.27	1.68

It will be noted from the Dominion deductions on the changing cost of living in Canada as it varied from the normal period in 1913 to the beginning of the year 1922 that the cost of living for a family of five per week in February, 1922, which figures include increases in Fuel and Rent, and do not apply in the government estimate form to these properties, or this district. The scale as presented we will take the liberty of changing to adjust the lower changes in the price of coal and stationary house rents, which correction we beg to submit as follows:

$11.27 total government figures, less $3.76, leaves a figure of $7.51, plus an advance of 27 per cent on coal only brings the increased cost of living down in these camps to $8.02 per week. Then again, British Columbia coast mines in their investigation on the cost of living ascertained that the actual changes that existed at the beginning of this year amounted to about 83 cents per day, or about $5.00 per week, or about 24 per cent above normal.

In corelation to the foregoing presentation, it may here be accepted as revelant to submit a brief comparison of some of the principal wages as they pertain to the years of 1913 and the beginning of this year, 1922:

Coal Miners day wage 1913 to to 1915, per shift $3.30

Difference $4.20

Increase in Coal Miners' day wages from 1913 to April 1st, 1922, 127%, or 103 % over the presumed cost of living in this district.

General Remarks—

In connection with this important question, there naturally arises the reasonable claim from co-dependent industries and transportation companies for consideration in the distribution of economic wage returns. I now especially refer to industries such as we must depend upon for our continued existence. I especially refer to smelters, foundries and transportation companies. The people of this country from one end to the other are persistently appealing for cheaper transportation costs, and cheaper food supplies, which they expect to enure from cheaper transportation charges, or reduced railroad rates. The railroads in turn make the claim that railroad charges cannot be reduced until cheaper fuel suppiles are assured them. In the meantime the opportunities for steam coal mines at least getting back to normal production does not seem to be possible of attainment while the high selling price of coal is maintained.

During the 1911 strike some 600 tons of business per day was lost to this Company by the installation of oil as a fuel.

The metallurgical industries, smelters and iron industries are still in a measure curtailed because of their inability to conduct their business on a competitive basis with other districts who are able to secure fuel at more reasonable prices than suitable fuels can be purchased for in this district. The smelting of low grade copper in the Kootenay district is practically suspended until cheaper coke can be secured from this locality. These industries, as stated, have for the last 18 months been urging upon this Company the imperative necessity for giving them cheaper fuels to help them regain their normal status and start low grade metal mines to work that produce ores of a value that cannot be treated at the present price of fuel. We have been unable to respond to these requests to supply cheaper fuel while living up to our contract obligations with the United Mine Workers of America of this district.

These co-dependent companies, or some of them at least, mine mineral ores from metal mines where hundreds of highly skilled rock miners are employed at wages that have been reduced to conform to the current economic value of the different kinds of metals they are engaged in mining in the various localities they are employed in. The men in these districts who in pre-war days received from 25 cents per day to 50 cents per day more wages than the highest paid underground men at that time in this district, have evidently realized the necessity for their acceptance of wages that will make it possible for the mines to carry on where they are employed, and at the same time aid the smelter industries to again become re-established on a sound and reliable basis, for they recognize the fact that due recognition by all concerned must be given to the world ability to absorb and pay for the products they are engaged in producing.

The following statement shows the wages that have been accepted and are now in force in the industries that are appealing to us for equity in consideration, or reasonably making the request for this camp to supply them with fuel that will enable them to carry on their industries. The statement also shows the wages that have been paid at these mines in corelation thereto up to April 1st, 1922:

Skilled Miners	$4.00	$7.50	$4.50
Miners' Helpers	3.50	6.89	none used
Machinists	4.50	7.61	4.45 to $5.00
Blacksmiths	5.00	8.14	$5.00
Blacksmiths' Helpers	4.25	7.09	$3.75
Underground Labor	3.50	6.89	3.60
Timbermen	3.50	7.50	4.50
Drivers	3.50	7.21	4.00
Surface Labor	3.35	6.58	3.25
Teamsters	3.50	7.08	3.75

The consistency of the request from the smelters and other interdependent industries for cheaper fuel, both coal and coke, cannot be regarded in any other light than a reasonable request when the comparison in the wages that have been paid in this and other co-dependent districts are considered.

In the past normal years the skilled metal miner, or rock miner, has always received at least the highest day wages paid to skilled coal miners of this district. The wages paid to the two classes of skilled miners running as follows:

In the year 1915—	Per Shift
Coal miners day wage	$3.30
Rock Miners, Nelson	$3.75
Rock Miners, Fernie	$3.75
Difference in favor of rock miner, per shift	.45

It may further be stated that a corresponding difference has all through the last 12 years agreement made with District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America been made in favor of the rock miners. These wage figures are simply recited at this time for the purpose of illustrating the economic status of such co-dependent interests who are at least indirectly concerned in this controversy, which in a revelant form for the purpose of more definite examplification may be submitted as follows:

Before the war Coal Miners day wage was, per shift $3.30
Before the War Rock Miners day wage was, per shift $3.75

Difference in favor of Rock Miners, per shift ..... .45

January, 1922—
Rock Miners, per shift $4.00
Coal Miner, per shift $7.50

Difference charged to coal miners, per shift $3.50

Plus 45 cents makes the change $3.95 per shift in favor of Coal Miners.

The preceding figures imply that from 1914 to the beginning of 1922 that the coal miners wages had, through a set of exigencies, not only overtaken the wages of the rock miner, but had overlapped the same to the extent of $3.50 per shift, or increased to the extent of 87.5 per cent over the rock miner. From the illustration presented, we must, in harmony with the facts conclude that our duty at this time is to give revelant consideration to the basic demands of co-dependent industries such as we have mentioned, as they have business claims upon us that we cannot or should not try to ignore. We are obligated to consider such claims for they are based upon economic equity and attended as the wage figures reveal, with that measure of right that entitles the people engaged in other interdependent industries to reasonable equity in the values that come from economic productive distribution. We should voluntarily agree that it is much more pleasant for us to meet the newly created demands that confront us in a voluntary spirit than it will be for us to finally submit to circumstances that will naturally induce us to accept the inevitable.

We will now turn our attention to some of the minor claims set forth in Mr. Livett's written presentation of the Miners' side of the controversy on the 10th of April in Calgary, which we ask the liberty of briefly dealing with as follows:

On page 8 of Mr. Livett's statement, claims are put forth for reducing hours of work from 8 to 6 hours in the mines of the district, with the attending intimation that such reduced working hours will give the miners the opportunity of working fuller time during the year. This proposal simply implies that the coal mining industry of this district is asked to pay wages for 52 weeks work that in some sections of the district can be and must be done in 37 weeks, owing to the seasonal nature of the mining done in such districts. The suggestion vaguely implies that the industry should be further assessed to the extent of 29 per cent upon the seriously high wages that have been paid in this industry during the last year. The irregular working time that has prevailed to a varying extent in this district may be assigned to the following different causes:

1. The physical difference in the character of the coal beds mined.
2. The extreme changes in climate between the summer and winter months of the year.
3. The spontaneous necessity for moving seasonal generation of freight.
4. The varying demands by domestic consumers during the winter months of the year; one winter being more severe than the preceding winter or the reverse—milder.
5. Th fluctuating requirements of the smelters, due to the irregularities of profitable ore production.
6. The uncertainty of railroad requirements through the physical inability of the railroad to forecast correctly at the proper time the amount of the different classes of short seasonal freight they are going to be called upon to move through defined periods.
7. The physical unsuitability of considerable of the coal that is being mined in the district for stocking, which natural physical characteristics cannot be overcome by changing the hours of working from 8 to 6, and working the mines 29 per cent more time during the summer months of the year when coal is not required for domestic purposes.

The change would, I fear, have the opposite effect, as people who may purchase the disintegrating coals under such a plan would be asked to purchase 29 per cent of the house coal they need in winter during the summer months, when it is not wanted by them. The coal so stocked for four or five months, from some of the mining fields at least, would not retain the normal quality while in stock in piles, but on the contrary would to some extent at least disintegrate to a damaging extent.

8. Strike periods that have been so disquieting in this district during the past years have in a great measure destroyed the faith of large consumers whose industries are so situated as to enable them to arrange to purchase their fuels from districts where labor troubles have been less frequent. The solution to this problem as it may apply to some mines at least who produce coal only for seasonal markets and produce coals that are not physically constituted for stocking, seems to be for the miners working at such mines to prepare for mine work in the winter, and for other occupations in the summer, such as farming, lumbering and construction work, which large numbers of the employees of Michel and Coal Creek mines do each year.

The mines interested in this controversy which are largely confined to producing domestic coal, are to a great extent situated in sections of the country that makes it necessary for them to derive their business encouragement and support from the sparsely settled districts of extensive geographical area of country. Such mines are, in their endeavor to give public service, subject to many fluctuating extremes such as climatic conditions, sparsely settled communities and serious competition from surrounding districts. During five months of the year the majority of the class of consumers available for selling a purely domestic coal to may purchase about 10 per cent of their year's requirements, or purchase at the rate of 2 per cent per month. Then during the remaining seven months purchase from 80 per cent to 90 per cent of their year's requirements. Mines that have taken the obligations to serve this class of trade are simply, through force of natural circumstances, compelled to regard their operations as a seasonal occupation. It will, from what I have stated, be seen that there exists natural physical reasons for capital investment in a great many mines seriously overlapping the capital outlay that would, or might be required, to produce the actual tonnage needed by communities that might, and perhaps will, in time become more closely settled, and in greater numbers become employed in lines of manufacturing that may assure a steadier monthly production.

The principle of waste in overhead expenditures does not apply to the coal mines of this district alone. The severe changes in climate affects not only the class of mines we have under consideration, but affects other basic industries, such as agriculture, timber and transportation companies in a relative manner. The difference of temperature between the summer and winter climate also severely affects nearly all construction trades and industries in co-relation to the classes of work they are checked in doing during the winter months of the year. A candid examination of the various industrial influences as they prevail will lead us, I am sure, to plainly see that no undue advantage should, or can be taken by those engaged in one basic industry over those that may be employed in another co-dependent basic industry.

For example, the farmer can only work on the land he may undertake to cultivate during the summer months of the year. The help that his circumstances justifies him in employing during the summer months of the year may select to go to the coal mines to work in the winter months of the year. When the assistant farm hand arrives at the mine office to seek work, would the mine manager be treating the young anxious farm worker fairly if he put this question to him: "Does the farmer pay you enough wages in summer while you work on the land to keep you at the mines all winter?" The young farmer, whose great ambition in life is to get on, through placing his services in any respectable class of employment for the just remuneration that must, and can only enure from the productive nature of that employment would, I infer, answer the coal mine manager about as follows: "Farm work is done in the summer season only; I have done all that climatic conditions would perhave received pay for. Now that winter is here, I desire to work in the mines, where I may secure shelter from the hard winter climate and for the work I do in the mines I expect you to pay me, for it is not reasonable for you as a mine operator to ask the farmer or anyone else to pay me for the work I do in the mine."

Then, turning to the steam coal mines: In this class of production the mine development seriously exceeds the requirements of the markets geographically available at the present high mining and selling costs of this class of coal. For example: The United States mines shipped to Manitoba 260,890 tons of anthracite coal, and 1,975,918 tons of bituminous coal to Fort William during 1921 for consumption between Fort William and other western points in Canada, a total of 2,236,808 tons. A considerable amount of this tonnage might and should be secured to bituminous mines in this Association when it becomes possible for them to offer competitive selling prices for such trade.

On page 8 of the miners' statement the demand is made for men working in what is termed abnormal places, to be made up to the average wage that may be made by the contract miners working in that mine. This claim is based on the showing that a contract miner should not be held responsible for hard coal appearing in his place, or other abnormal difficulties. We agree with this principle. In nearly all cases the contract miner is free from this form of responsibility, so long as he does a fair day's work. The operator is likewise free from blame, and should not be unduly asked to pay more than a reasonable wage to men while they are dealing with conditions that are profitless to both parties. It may be here noted for the purpose of explanation, that when contract mining prices are reasoned out, the terms are generally arrived at after a careful weighing over of all the attending conditions, from which a just medium base for payment is determined. On the operators' side there is no provision made for reducing the contractor's wages that encounters a more favorable piece of coal to mine than could possibly be anticipated at the time when the contract rates were agreed upon. But the operator to do the fair thing readily agreed to pay the miner who encountered a hard, or otherwise abnormal piece of coal that he could not make a reasonable wage in, that such miner would be paid at the same rate that is paid to the highest paid underground workman other than rock miners. It is, therefore, clearly apparent that if the miner who does not make the usual contract wages he is accustomed to make in the same working place should be made up to the average contract earnings, it would in harmony therewith be in order to state that the man who is fortunate enough to meet favorable abnormal conditions that may help him to earn from $1 to sometimes $4 per day more than the average contract wage should have these earnings taken from him. I personally fear that exacting any extreme plans of this nature would be anything but conducive to good will.

On page 8, the demand is made that coal be paid for on the basis of 2000 lbs. per ton, with the accompanying statement that the miners are now at some places paid on the ton of 2240 lbs. and for the 240 lbs. do not receive any remuneration. This charge insofar as it may apply to these mines, is absolutely false. True the contract miners are paid at these mines on the long ton of 2240 lbs. Their tonnage contract prices are all based on these weights, and always have been during the 23 years that the mines have been in operation. If the contract had been based on the 2000 lbs. per ton, instead of as it is on the 2240 lbs. per ton, the prices would have been 12 per cent less than the prices the contract miners here have always rceived.

On page 9 of Mr. Livett's statement, there is a desire expressed to have a weekly pay put in force. I personally cannot see what benefit anybody is likely to derive from increasing the pay days at the mines from 26 pays in the year as they are at present, to 52 pays in the year. The change would necessarily create additional office expense, and to the same proportional extent enhance cost of the clerical part of the operations, which, from our point of view, would be a needless waste of money.

On Page 9, re Management of Mine:—

The miners have in their statement of demands expressed a wish for taking the definite authority as prescribed in the B.C. Mines Act from the responsible management of the mine as it pertains to the direction of the working forces of the mine. The claim or request of Mr. Livett reads as follows:

"The object of this clause is to prevent miners from being changed from their working place for the purpose of giving the place to another miner."

We will here attempt to examine this question as it works out in practice, viz.: It is a common practice for men working in these mines to apply to the management for a change of working places. They sometimes offer the following reasons for wanting to make the change:

(a) Don't like partner. (b) Don't like place; bad roof, which I am afraid to work under. (c) The place is too wet. (d) Don't like fireboss. (e) Don't like driver. (f) Don't like to walk up mountain. (g) Work in present mine long time, want to change. Indicating that with all the various forms of men's applications for a change, the management naturally have to do the best they can in trying to better satisfy the person who desires to make the change.

Then again, the management are sometimes confronted with the following class of problems, which arise from the different classes of experienced miners the company have to employ, which types of experienced men may be referred to as follows:

1. Highly experienced miners capable of dealing with any form of difficulty that may arise in his working place.
2. High class miner with an inherent dislike for careful timbering in difficult places.
3. High class miners in safe working places only.
4. Miner, good workman, but has no instinct or training that safely fits him for contending with local abnormal difficulties or dangers such as may arise in his working place at unexpected moments.

It will be seen, or plainly understood, that if the varying conditions and customs are to be taken into consideration, while dealing with highly important questions of this nature as they relate to the safe and judicious direction of the working forces of the mines, it is our view that the miners themselves will be well advised if they leave this form of responsibility where it is, or in the hands of the responsible management as authorized by the Mining Acts of the provinces.

It is also reasonably apparent that while coal companies are called upon by the government to carry the full responsibility of providing money for paying their employees compensation under the Compensation Act and cost of administration of said Act as it applies to the mines at least, that they (the companies) will naturally expect to remain assured that nothing will be done to impair, or disintegrate the necessary and judicious authority of responsible mine management over the various classes of mine labor.

On page 6 of the miners' presentation of claims to the Board, attention is called to the capital investments as purported to be made in the coal mines of the district, which are set forth in the statement as being $40,000,000.00 invested capital applied to organized operations that only work about six and one-half months during the year. While this statement may in some cases be correctly implied, such a charge does not in fact apply to this district, or against the properties of this company.

On page 10 of the miners' claims, a request is made for the single shift practice to be accepted on the ground that when rooms are worked double shift, the occupation of the workman becomes more dangerous and reduces the earnings of the contract miner.

We may in fairness to all concerned reply to this request as follows:

That we disagree with the statement that the two shifts under general circumstances impair mine wages under the mining conditions we are now working under at these plants. Experience teaches the best informed minds in this district that if the two shifts of men working in the same working room agree to do their duty by their partners that either precede them or follow them in the opposite shifts, there would be no impairment of wages take place. That insofar as the working of two shifts may pertain to the direction of increasing the hazard of the underground employee, this point of view is not verified, or supported by actual operative experience when candidly made applicable to reasonably normal physical coal mining conditions of this district. While in some of the mines there may occasionally arise a set of abnormal conditions that require special care in direction and manipulation, such as may arise from certain sections of mines, or parts of a mine, approaching intense crumpled zones in the coal bedding, local defects of this nature should not for one moment lead to the point of view that isolated abnormalities in one mine, or a small section of any one mine, should constitute a working formulae for other sections of the mine or mines that are free from the special physical defects from which abnormal dangers may be apparent. There would be about as much consistency of real purpose in accepting a guiding theory of this kind as there would be in a driver going along a country road believing that because he had seen one defect in the road he was passing over, that the full length of the road was dangerous.

It may also be added that the wage scales as they have in the past years always prevailed at the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company mines, are all based on two shift work.

In my preceding remarks I have referred to a point of view raised by the miners about unnecessary capital outlay and consequent capital overweighing charges, which implication they follow by making the suggestion that all working rooms be placed on single shift operations. It is difficult for a man like myself to understand the conflicting meaning of these two propositions, for by placing the rooms or wide work at the various mines on single shift, if such a proposal were to be accepted, such an understanding would at least unwisely and unnecessarily increase the already seriously high overhead charges of the industry to the extent of 80 per cent, insofar as such overhead charges would apply to mine development at least.

I trust that those who are specially interested in the problems we are considering will not for one moment think that I am trying to raise ambiguous questions, or questions of a controversial nature, for I can assure you that there is no desire on my part to do anything of the kind. In presenting the statements and figures that I have submitted, which I have offered as a party directly concerned in this serious question, I have only done so with one single purpose in view, and that is to the best of my ability and conception of the problems that we are jointly confronted with, lay before you at least some of the specifci principles that must necessarily carry a guiding influence upon our final decisions on what the wage scale of this district should be for coal mining work, for we cannot separate ourselves from the fact that equity to us can only be that proportion of co-dependent industrial returns that is reasonably possible of obtainment after we give due consideration to the other co-dependent industries that share in making our economic status possible.

Britain's Sheet Anchor

London Morning Post: Apparently the only expeditionary force we have at present is the army of Mr. Lloyd George's experts, and our substitutes for cavalrymen are to be private secretaries. On the British Navy and the French Army depends that settlement of Europe, which we were given to understand was Mr. Lloyd George's life work. The March encyclical held up before Europe the posibility of a Germano - Bolshevist combination. Marshall Foch's sword is the best, perhaps the only, guarantee against such a menace. It is from that point of view that we consider Mr. Churchill's reference at Dundee to the pact somewhat one-sided. We all hope, as he said, that that pact in time will anchor the heart of France to Great Britain, but surely we believe that it will also anchor the heart of Great Britain to France. Without the French Army where would we have been in 1914, and where would we be tomorrow?

FOOD LIKE LEAD ALTHOUGH SHE USED ALL CARE

Little Vancouver Woman Had To Live On a Special Diet For Three Years Befor She Got Tanlac—Troubles Quickly Ended.

"I think it is just wonderful how Tanlac has made me well and happy," said Mrs. A. Violet, 1120 Cotton Drive Vancouver, B.C.

For three years I have been on special diet because of indigestion. Although I was very careful of my food it would lie like a lump of lead on my stomach, causing gas that would give me severe pains and make my heart palpitate and almost cut off my breath. Frequent dizzy spells and loss of sleep made me unable to do my work, and pains around my kidneys made it almost impossible for me to stoop over.

"My troubles didn't last long after I began taking Tanlac. I regained my strength and can now do my housework with ease now. Anything I eat now I enjoy with a fine appetite. I have gained weight and am better in every way. Tanlac has been a blessto me."

LOCATING THE FACTORIES

It was only after a very careful analysis of the different dairying districts in the Fraser Valley that we chose Abbotsford and Ladner as locations for our canning factories. If you know this country at all, you are aware that these two towns are centres of a splendid dairy country, in which are some of the finest herds in Canada. It was to get this rich, pure milk that decided us upon these places, and that is why Pacific Milk is so rich and good.

The residence of Chas. Ihas, in the Fernie Annex, not far from the Fairy Creek bridge, was destroyed by fire early Saturday evening. The fire brigade went out promptly but the building was beyond the reach of the hose and was soon consumed. The residence carried $1000 insurance. The cause of the fire was said to be a defective chimney.

Alex Birnie, of Elko, was badly bruised and is in the Fernie hospital suffering from shock, the result of an accident to his car near the hairpin turn between Fernie and Morrissey. He was proceeding home at a late hour on Tuesday night, when something went wrong with the steering gear while making a sharp curve. The car upset and he was pinned underneath for about six hours until discovered in the early morning by a passing car. He was brought to Fernie hospital, where he is doing as well as can be expected.

Advertising is the backbone of business, and when business is quiet that is the time to increase, rather than curtail on advertising. Do the business men of Fernie ever stop to think that a subscription to the Board of Trade to enable that body to advertise Fernie all over the country, is also extra good local advertising for them, because the members of the Board know who are the public spirited men of the town and patronize them. The suggestion has been made that the subscription list this year be published in the local paper, so that the whole town will know who are, and who are not the boosters for Fernie. Even if you think that you do not get any direct benefit from the tourist travel, and refuse to subscribe on that account, why not reason a little deeper. Your local trade is what you depend on and by bringing a lot of tourists into town business generally must benefit, and therefore every business in town must receive its share, whether it comes direct from the tourist or not. Now ask yourself the question, "Can I afford not to support the Fernie Board of Trade financially.

TOURIST SEASON OFF TO A BELATED START

By J. Fred Spalding

Well they are starting to come at last. This is the latest season we have had for several years, but we are not alone in that respect. From all accounts, it is the same throughout the country, but with the exception of the Snoqualmie Pass all of the roads are open now. The Snoqualmie Pass will be opened on the 15th of this month.

One of the strangest coincidences I have ever known of happened here last week. On the 24th of April the first car through from the West arrived at the camp site and had to stay there for a week on account of the road east being closed by snow. They had driven up from Los Angeles. On the 26th, another car arrived, also from Los Angeles, and on the 27th there was another which had come from Victoria via Portland. It appears that all three cars were from the Lacombe district in Alberta, the people were all acquainted, and none of them knew that the others were on a trip until they met at our camp site on their homeward journey. They had to remain here until the 2nd. All of them said that they will be big boosters for Fernie. One of them, a Mr. Jewell said that he is going to try to make up a party of several cars during July or August to come here for two weeks fishing.

Each day sees added numbers coming through, during this morning and part of the afternoon (the 11th) I counted 15 foreign cars in town. They were from California, Oregon, Washington, Montana and Alberta. The business men will perhaps realize better, the benefit of Tourist Travel to any town, now that a strike is on, and local business very quiet in consequence.

POWERFUL PICTURE STORY

Like so many other successful Cecil B. De Mille successes, the story of "Fool's Paradise" which comes to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, has a two-fold source. The basic theme was suggested by Leonard Merrick's short story "The Laurels and the Lady." This theme was developed and elaborated, the scene of the action transferred to an American setting and a tremendous dramaatic moment constructed by the authors, Beulah Marie Dix and Sada Cowan. The combined efforts of the several writers has produced a story that boasts of both power and originality, the theme—a problem of love and sacrifice as old and as new as the human race—has been presented and solved with the vividness and sharply drawn characterization that is typical of Cecil B. De Mille productions alone. The principal roles are played by Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, Theodore Kosloff, John Davidson and Julia Faye. The cast is large and capable.

The hustling Farmers' Institute of this city are in communication with the Land Setlement Board at Victoria with a view of having more land put on the market under similar conditions as the Land Settlement area north of the city, which was so readily snapped up last fall. Anyone who desires to take up land will greatly facilitate matters if they get in touch with the secretary or any of the directors.

At the monthly meeting of the Fernie Farmers Institute held on the 9th inst., there was a good attendance of members, who evidently took a lively interest in all the subjects discussed at the meeting. The tale of a gopher was graphically dealt with; he did not have one single friend at the meeting to say a word in his favor, and it was unanimously decided to offer a good money prize to the boy, man, woman or child tails; this in addition to the governwho secured the largest number of ment bounty. The tails may be taken to George Morley, Cokato; A. J. Bryant, Jr., Cedar Valley; D. Phillips for the eastern District, or to the secretary, Murray McLeod. It may be stated that a creamery for the Fernie riding is being discussed and may visualise in the near future, but above all keep your eyes and ears open for news regarding Fernie Agricultural Fair.—The Scribe.

CONSERVATIVES ARE OPTIMISTIC

CRANBROOK, May 8.—Interest in provincial politics received a great stimulus last week from developments which took place in conection with the byelection. General opinion is that the government will experience here the most difficult of all the byelections it has yet faced. Premier Oliver's visit last week along with the minister of public works, was generally taken to be in the nature of a trip to size up the situation, decide on what big issues of the campaign are likely to be, and to see what was to be done toward harmonizing all sections of the Liberal party supporters. It is understood that a number of changes on the staffs of some of the government departments here will shortly be announced, presumably to give a greater solidarity to the government position here.

Opinion may be divided as to the personality of the Liberal candidate, but the opposition forces seem united at present on one person, and if united sentiment and strong personality count for anything it will be granted that the Conservatives have good grounds for optimism. Unless anything very unexpected occurs between now and whenever the election is called, it is altogther likely that the Conservative nomination will be tendered to N. A. Wallinger, formerly government agent and gold commissioner here, who was recently summarily dismissed from the service after 18 years' splendid record, and for reasons which cannot be determined, but which there is every reason to believe were merely political.

Mr. Wallinger, although during his term of service holding aloof from politics, is willing to allow his name to be considered, provided the choice is unanimous, and there is little question but that the delegates to the Conservative nominating convention which will be elected at a meeting this week, will unanimously favor the nomination of Mr. Wallinger.

The premier, who is understood while here to have made some cryptic references to Mr. Wallinger's dismissal, alleging some big reason, will likely find that his hand is called, and he will have to make good or lose the seat to the Conservative party. It is not likely that there can be any big issues brought out that can overshadow everything else, as at Nelson or Revelstoke.

An extremely interesting contest is looked for, and it is likely that with a strong and united opposition facing him the premier may decide now to hold off the byelection until the fall.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The annual meeting of the Local Council of Women was held in the council chamber on Thursday, May 4.

During the past year five meeting have been held; also one executive meeting.

The Council has devoted its energies to questions of public interest, for instance, the proper lighting of the C.P.R. platform and station, and a school or community nurse.

Although efforts in the latter direction have not yet met with success, the council is hopeful of having a nurse installed during the coming year. The council has six different societies, each showing very creditable work being carried on.

President—Mrs. A. I. Fisher.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. S. Herchmer.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. A. B. Trites.
Cor Sec.—Mrs. A. E. Cummings.
Rec Sec.—Miss M. E. Hogan.
Treas.—Mrs. E. K. Stewart.
Convenor of Committee on Laws — Mrs J. Wallace.
Convenor of Committee on Health —Mrs. Crossman.
Convenor of Committee on Education—Mrs. C. J. O'Neil.
Convenor of Press Committee — Mrs. E. Heaphy.

COCK ROBIN'S ORCHESTRA

Those who are awake at the peep of dawn these spring mornings have a fine opportunity in rural surroundings of noting the talent for leadership displayed by the robin.

At the first faint coloring of the eastern sky Cock Robin is alert. His first note is short, not unmelodious summons to his orchestra. Thereupon his companions in tree and shrub attune their voices in preparation for the full throated chorus which soon fills the air.

It is a pity that the robin is silent during his travels in southern lands in winter. At certain periods of his migration he was considered a game bird in parts of the south and his red breast was conspicuous in the markets of New Orleans, where he was bought and sold just as the quail and jacksnipe are.

A valiant fighter, a sweet singer and as full of the joy of life as any living creature, Cock Robin is a delight to every lover of nature.—New York Herald.

WHERE'S YOURS?

(By I. B. Street)

Oh, say! Where did you leave it?
Did you send it to be sold,
With the household goods, and treasures?
Did it bear a placard bold!
"For Sale—one good religion;
'Tis been tested, and found true;
I do not care to sell it
But what am I to do!
They tell me that religion
Is not wanted over there;
At least, not true religion,
Just Church, and form of Prayer."

Of course, you might have left it
On the docks at Liverpool.
Though the reason I can't guess it,
'Less you left it there to rool.
We have a colder climate
In Canada I fear;
And so red hot religion,
Should suit us overe here.
Then why in dear old England
Should religion have to stay?
There's quite enough for all of us;
Enough for every day.

Or did some mean old robber
Take your nice hot one away?
And give you back another
Which according to his say
Was best—it would not burn you,
Or wake you up at night;
But give you dreams most pleasant
With everything just right.
Well, stop a bit good comrade;
Ask yourself a thing or two;
Just say, "Is my religion
A thing of talk, or do?

Do I stand for Christ when others
Are shouting, Crucify?
Or do I choose Barabbas,
And let the Savior die"?
You will find that true religion,
Its daily cross must bear;
Must carry other's burdens;
Must plead for them in praper.
Must show itself most eager,
When the battle trumpets call;
For a poor luke-warm religion
Is worse than none at all.

If safely you have brought it
To Canada with you,
Let others know about it,
Just let them see its true.
For real red hot religion
In Canada we need,
To warm our frozen churches;
And "Back to God" to lead.
Should friends of your be coming
To our fair land to live;
Be sure when you are writing,
This good advice to give.

"When you start from home dear people,
Don't leave it out to cool;
Your nice red hot religion,
On the docks at Liverpool."
But if perchance you lost it
On the journey anywhere;
And you feel you'd like to find it,
Just lift your heart in prayer;
Your Father's still in Heaven,
He will tell you where to seek,
For a precious new religion,
And He'll tell you how to keep.

Did I say a new religion?
Yes, for you; but 'tis the same,
Brave Saints and Martyrs died for;
Nor thought to call it shame
To fight beneath its banner
Against sin of every sort.
Pride, lust, and selfish pleasure
Shall at its feet be brought.
Christ led them on to battle,
He was their strength and shield,
And still He safely leadeth
All those, who to Him yield.

And soon shall come the victory;
Though now, the fight seems long.
We know our Lord's Almighty,
And we, in Him, are strong.
For Christ has died, and risen;
Proved Victor in the fight,
Stand firm for true religion,
Stand firm for God and right;
Uphold Love's glorious banner,
Stand firm, from shore to shore;
'Till o'er His foes victorious,
Christ reigns for evermore.

BASEBALL VETERAN STILL IN THE GAME

DANVILLE, Ill., May 4.—"Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, big league and Pacific coast hurler, today has another rivet driven to clinch his title. After 34 years in the pastime he "came back" yesterday and pitched his Danville Theree-I team to a five to three victory over Peoria, just by way of demonstrating that the old arm still retained at least a modicum of its former might.

He hurled seven scoreles innings, weakened a bit in the eighth, when Peoria got to him for three runs, two of them earned, but was strong enough in the ninth to stave off further scoring. He turned back three batters on strikes, walked one man and hit another.

He accepted two chances and got one hit out of four trips to the plate.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN"

Rex Ingram's $1,000,000 production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," made for Metro, is announced by the Isis theatre beginning May 17th. This will be the first showing here of the screen version of Vincente Blasco Ibanez's novel that has been acclaimed in New York, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburg, Detroit and Los Angeles as marking a new epoch in the development of motion pictures. At its New York opening people paid $10 a seat. Critics said the picture had definitely established the screen not only as capable of rivalling the stage at its best, but of surpassing it in its grip upon emotions.

"The Four Horsemen" is the supreme expression of the Great War. Certainly no novel has stirred the universal appeal created by the Ibanez masterpiece. The book, now in its one hundred and sixty-sixth edition, has been read throughout the world. The monumental task of transferring it to the screen was accomplished by June Mathis, who made a scenario that from all accounts has preserved the force of the original and in many incidents hightened it. But it is the director, Rex Ingram, who apparently achieved success. He is reported to have set a new mark in artistry of picturization.

Readers of the novel recall that the story opens on the Argentine ranch of old Madariaga, whose territories are as extensive as those of the great independent barons of feudal times. And Madariaga rules with feudal power. A rioting, roystering despot, he is filled with Castilian pride of family and yearns for a male child to carry on his tradition. His two daughters have married ranch employees—one French and the other German. Madariaga's Latin antipathy to the German son-in-lay brings with it a dislike of his half-German grandchildren, but when a son is born to the Frenchman, Desnoyers, the old man finds his dream realized. The boy, Julio, is selected as heir to the huge estate and is brought up as a spoiled prince of the realm. As a young man Julio becomes the companion of Madariaga's debauched adventures in Buenos Ayres tango resorts. But Madariaga dies suddenly without making a will and the German branch of the family finds itself sharing the estate equally with the Desnoyers. With this sudden wealth, the two families leave the Argentine for Europe.

The Desnoyers settle in Paris, and Julio, an expert tango dancer, becomes the sensation of the fashionable dance places. He meets a fascinating little society woman, Marguerite Laurier, and the two of them are swept into a reckless love affair that takes no count of Marguerite's elderly husband. Their butterfly mentalities do not even respond at first to the sudden shock of war that breaks about them. It is 1914 and the Germans are advancing towards Paris. Marguerite is first awakened to the realization of tremendous events. She joins the French nursing force and sacrifices her love for Julio in order to be the constant companion of her husband, who is blinded in battle. Julio, left without the stimulation of frivolous attractions, hears the call of duty and enlists in the French army, where he meets death at the hands of his German cousin when the two face each other in trench raid.

Through it all are galloping the four horsemen, spoken of by St. John in the Book of the Apocalypse—the grim figures of Conquest, War, Famine and Death.

The photography is by John Seitz and the technical direction by Amos Myers and Joseph Calder. Walter Mayo assistant to Rex Ingram.

Stopping Automobile Killing

Such frequent killings by automobiles in this city ought to be stopped It can be stopped. Detroit has done it.

In that city they have reasonable traffic laws and strict enforcement. When a speeder there is convicted, instead of being released with a nominal fine he is sent to jail. It is estimated that 30 lives have been saved in Detroit each month since that practice was adopted. Detroit had 240 deaths in 1920, and but 134 in 1921. At the present rate this year the death list will be reduced to less than 100, although the number of cars is increasing. One judge in Detroit this year has sentenced 161 speeders and 31 "reckless drivers" to jail.

What Detroit is doing Chicago can do. We need only a slight change in the state vehicle laws. If our speeders' court will send guilty drivers to jail, speeding and reckless driving will be so reduced as to save hundreds of lives and thousands of dollars now lost in wrecks. Action of the court to that end will receive the support not only of every pedestrian in Chicago but of every sane and reasonable motorist. Jail the speeders.—Chicago Tribune.

PEACE FOR COAL MINING DEPENDS ON REORGANIATION

During 1890-1921 bituminous mines have been operated at an average of 214 days yearly. Considering 304 days as a full working year, the lost days average 90 a year. The geological survey of the national government calculates that 37 per cent of the lost days were owing to overdevelopment of bituminous mines. The United States can use approximately 500,000,000 tons of bituminous coal annually, but these mines, according to the statisticians of the survey and the presidental coal commision, could produce between 700,000,000 and 900,000,000 tons yearly.

Except during the war—even then only temporarily—the days of miners' employment during a year have made no noticeable increase. New mines have been opened, some of the old mines have been enlarged and more miners have been employed. But there has been but little if any more of regular work for men in mines already operating.

The Sage foundation believes that a guaranteed minimum of employment rather than higher rates of wages is what the bituminous miners need and should seek. Such a minimum would in effect form a fixed charge on the industry and probably make owners or operators unwilling to open needless mines or unduly expand existing mines. Regularity of work for the miners would conduce to economical conduct of the industry. Economy and efficiency constitute its crying needs.—Spokesman Review.

BUTTING IN

(Wininpeg Tribune)

The Society for Electrical Development announces that an inventor has perfected a radiophone device that enables him to eavesdrop on talk passing over telephone wires.

Inventor Proffitt, experimenting with this radiophone, wired his amplifier in some peculiar way that is being kept secret. Immediately he began to hear local telephone conversations — which he repeated to the talkers, amazing them.

While Proffitt's device still is in embronic stage of development it opens up a vast new field for the wireless.

The listening-in process is carried a step further by Proffitt's radio discovery. It is not impossible that there may soon be a wireless device able to pick up private conversations in distant homes, offices or rendezvous of criminals.

The idea seems uncanny now. So did the wireless telegraph when Marconi first announced its invention.

PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY

Wise men from the east come and go through Vancouver, shedding lights of deep thinking and complex ideas.

Philosophers gone and philosophers present are invoked to produce an idea that will tune up the world.

New religions start up every day, explaining heaven and explaining hell, teaching much about where we go when we're dead, little about what will happen to us while we are alive.

All are very interesting, afford good mental exercise.

But none of them gets down to the plain simple job of telling people how to live and helping them to do it.

Swamis, sex lectures, and mental freaks from all over the globe address big audiences, talk much drivel that no one can understand and go their way.

Christian churches, half-filled, half-supported, offer the simplest, most satisfying and practical creed on earth. But Christianity is TOO simple for many people—they like an ornamented car with noisless concealed engine, well decorated with large colorful question marks to get THEM into heaven.

What this country needs more than anything else is a revival of churchgoing, a return to the simplest precepts of practical Christianity.

The doors of the churches stand open; seats are free; the gospel of service and faith preached by ministers of Christ, will solve every difficulty from world war to quarrels with the neghbors.

Go to church.—Vancouver Sun.

SMALL HAZARD TO THE COAL MINER

The union leaders lay great stress on the hazards of mining and the unhealthfulness of the work. I spent a large part of three years in the underground gallieries of coal mines and while mining is far safer today than it was then, I would like to disagree with any one who pictures the coal miner's work as a pleasant occupation, writes Floyd W. Parsons in the Review of Reviews. There should be a substantial wage differential in favor of the miner, not so much because of the dangers of his job as because of the dreariness of a life in the darkness and dirt of an underground coal seam. But when it comes to the matter of safety, it is just twice as dangerous to be a doctor as it is to be a coal miner here in the United States. According to the miner, with a morality percentage of 0.62, ranks 26th in a list of 35 occupations. He is far below the sailor, who heads the list with a morality percentage of 2.26. The stone mason is fifth at 1.17; the merchant tenth at 1.06, while the clerk is 20th at 0.77. The fact is that the miner occupies an astonishingly safe position betwen the stock raiser and the bookkeeper and each day the danger surrounding him is growing less. The truth is that in mining the hazards really are great, and where the hazards are great every one is forewarned and forearmed; in such a case, the precautoins are great.

Too many patriots claim to be supporters of the government when they are merely holding it up.—Oklahoma City Times.

INVENTIVE PESTS

We are now hearing much of the wireless telephone. We are assured that all the future telephoner will have to do is to unpack a small instrument, put is to his ear and capture the nearest unsuspecting electrical current. Then the damage is done. We object to the proposed invention upon two counts, First, it is cruelty to the confiding current; secondly it is cruelty to the married man.

Imagine, if you can, what will happen to a married man when his wife captures the unsuspecting current and sends it off to find her husband. He may be in the midst of making a perfect putt at the 18th hole and then his contrivance in his pocket rings. He answers it and hears this: 'John, did you mail those letters for me?" Of course, John did not. His whole game is spoiled.

We could write on indefinitely giving reasons why this invention should be nipped in the bud and the inventor chloroformed even if he hasn't reached the prescribed age of 60 years, but need go no further. Just quote one incident to any married man and he can give you a score of others. We recall to mind the applause which greeted the perfection of cold storage. What did this great invention do for us. In the main, it has done nothing except to make the age of an egg a guessing contest. When you sit down to eat a meal of eggs at any place today it is a matter of speculation which is older, the eater or the egg; and we say this without any strict reservation as to age limits.

Yes, we are openly against wireless telephony upon humane grounds. Think of what will happen when every woman has her own portable telephone and suddenly is seized with an uncurbed desire to talk with Anabel or Angeline about fashions, bridge or her friends! Then imagine the way the currents will move when she is seeking out her belated husband from the sanctity of his club or pool room!

There is no doubt of it but that wireless telephony is cruel. The electrical curents will be all tired out at the end of the day; so will be the husbands. Therefore, we opppose the invention on the grounds of inhumanity.—Toronto World.

EGG LAYING RECORDS

The Old People's Home at Vancouver, B. C., goes in heavily for poultry keeping, as is shown by the fact that Report No. 2 of the Record of Performance in egg-laying, conducted by the Poultry Division of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, shown a list of 124 Leghorns at that institution to which certificates were occorded for laying 150 eggs and upwards in 52 consecutive weeks, and 15 to which advanced certificates were granted for laying upwards of 225 eggs in the same period, the highest being 297 and the second 274, both constituting records in the Province for Leghorns. A private breeder at Victoria, B.C., can claim the record of production for White Wyandottes, two producing 274 eggs each and one 284 in the specified time. Taking the records by Provinces British Columbia comes first with 96 advanced Leghorns averaging 238.32 eggs per bird, 42 Wyandottes averaging 242.17 per bird and 25 Plymouth Rocks averaging 241.17 per bird; Ontario second with 44 advanced Leghorns averaging 245 eggs per bird, 27 Plymouth Rocks averaging 234.16 per bird and 18 Wyandottes averaging 233.13 per bird, and Quebec third with 10 advanced Plymouth Rocks averaging 235.3 per bird. The Poultry Division when 67 breeders entered 4,436 birds, started keeping the records in 1919, which numbers increased in 1920 to 81 breeders and 7, 511 birds. The report shows that there was considerable improvement in the second year compared with the first, not only in the number of entries but in the qualifications for certificates.

Anaesthetizing History

Worcester Telegram: The United States of America is the monument to those who founded it. They were extraordinary, but not perfect men. "The schol histories and readers, especially the new histories published in 1919 and 1920, ought to be examined for disrespectful statements," says Mrs. O'Neill. The lady is wrong. Histories ought to be carefully searched for untruthfull statements. Clouding history, whether the clouds be pink or black, is as foolish as it is wrong.

The truth can't hurt.

Anything else is history.

OLD TIMES ON THE RIVER IN EAST KOOTENAY

(From "Columbia River Chronicles" in Vancouver Province)

When "Joe" Bourjouis' great discovery, the North Star mine, got ready to ship ore, two steamers, the "Lilly" and "Annerly," from the American end of Upper Kootenay River went on to take its ore south to Libby or Jennings, Montana. One from Golden, the "Gwendoline," also entered the race. The Upper Kootenay from Libby or Jennings was ordinarily good to Findlay Creek; and at the high water stage to Canal Flats, or about four miles from the steamer landing on the Columbia head. To Mr. Hanson, of Wasa Creek, (12 miles from Fort Steele), is due the credit for bringing up the Kootenay in 1890, the first steamboat to the Columbia head. Capt. Flowers of the "Lilly," made his first trip in April, 1895, from North Star Landing; and next month the Golden "Gwendoline" came into service. The B.C. minister of mines' report for 1892 states that on the very day that the North Star had shipped 2500 tons of ore, the two steamers were wrecked just at a time when most needed. The Revelstoke parer, May 15, 1897, notes that: "The two steamers, 'Ruth' and 'Gwendoline,' plying between Jennings, Montana and Fort Steele were wrecked in Box Canyon, Kootenay River, four miles from Jennings on Thursday last, May 7. They went to the botom with their cargoes, but the pasengers were saved with some difficulty. There are abuot 300 passengers camped at Jennings, waiting to go into Fort Steele country." The "rush" of course, was the building of the "Crow" line.

They had later a counterpart catastrophe in the hoodooed steamer "Farrell.' She was a fine boat for such waters, costing $15,000. She was "jinxed" for the start. Her first trip, instead of taking two days, took twelve. Each succeding trip some minor accident happened her, and she perished June 4, 1898, on her eighth trip, a total loss as no in surance was carried.

The Rights of the Public

Boston Transcript: Granted for argument that the strikers can hold out indefinitely, or that those against whom they strike may benefit by the shut-down—what about the victims who constitute the third party—the community in general and the business public in particular? Here is the question that deserves an answer.

You Have a Right to Expect More

You pay a good deal of attention to your choice of tires—perhaps because you see them all the time. Have you also determined which is the one best battery for your car?

Be critical of batteries, particularly of the Exide. You have a right to expect more than the ordinary lasting-power from an Exide Battery. It was the first starting and lighting battery for automobiles, and is today standard equipment on more new cars leaving the factory than any other battery.

The Exide is a powerful battery; it will not get out of order unless badly abused, and it will last a very long time. That is the kind of a battery you have a right to expect in the new car you choose and in the battery you buy to replace a fagged out battery. For the Exide is a true economy on account of its long life and freedom from repairs.

It is well worth your while to insist on an Exide. If you should have any trouble in getting one, write us or our nearest district distributor.

Ensure HIGH-MILEAGE—DOUBLE-LIFE

- Dunlop leadership in Tiredom is most manifest. Mileage records almost unbelievable are piling up all over Canada.
- The Special Mileage-Making Process, which is the basis of our Fabric Tires, has worked wonders.
- Perfect shape and balance, stronger side walls to resist curb and rut abuse, special wear-resisting anti-skid tread, etc., add the last touch to popularizing to the full a tire that has long stood in high favor.
- Dunlop "Cords" made good from their inception.
- These tires taught motorists to expect more resiliency, greater air space, larger amount of material, better carrying capacity—in short, bigger mileage; and that is the standard by which all Cord Tires are judged to-day.

DEMANDED EXCLUSION

OTTAWA, May 8.—By a majority of 94 the house early this morning adopted an amendment submitted by Hon. Charles Stewart to the motion presented by W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative member for New Westminster, B.C., calling for the exclusion of oriental immigration. The minis- called for the "effective restriction" instead of "exclusion' of oriental immigration, and was carried by a vote of 130 to 36.

One Liberal, Alfred Stork, Skeena, voted against the government amendment, as also did five progressives, Messrs. Lucas, Kellner, McBride, Humphrey and Lewis, and A. W. Neill, independent member for Comox-Alberni, the balance of the Progressives supporting the government The house adjourned at 1:45 a.m.

All the afternoon and evening the house discussed Mr. McQuarrie's motion. For the most part members from British Columbia, where the oriental question is most pressing, held the floor. They painted a dark picture of oriental peneration west of the Rockies. The oriental problem, it was claimed, was no cross to be borne without a murmur. This was no time for "pussyfooting." A white Canada must be preserved and there was a danger that the Rockies would soon be the western boundry of the white race.

Charges were made that the drug traffic was a direct result of the admission of Chinese and Japanese. A. W. Neill, independent, Comox-Alberni, spoke of Japan as a yellow alien, heathen Germany.

In the latter stages of the debate Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister, expressed his strong belief in the restriction of oriental immigration and intimated that the Dominion government had already opened negotiation with China with a view to the more effective restriction of Chinese immigration through a system of passports. He suggested that the resolution should call for "effective restriction" instead of "exclusion" of oriental immigration and, in that form, was ready to acept it.

To this Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, replied that this would merely mean passing a resolution in favor of a system which existed already.

Lenine and Trotsky continue to say bitter things about America. Somebody ought to tell them it's impolite to talk with your mouth full.—New York Tribune.

WHO IS TCHITCHERIN?

Who is Tchitcherin? He is the head of the delegation that comes from Russia to the conference at Genoa. We have heard the story about his silk hat. It gives the impression that he is, perhaps, a rough customer, unaccustomed to the ways of polite society, and filled with the bloodthirsty desires which naturally are associated in our minds with the Bolsheviki. But while he may have participated in some measure in the reign of terror that has brought the great Russian empire to the dust, Tchitcherin is not a man of coarse fibre and disgusting vulgarity.

He is an aristrocrat of the aristocrats; a trained diplomat; an accomplished linguist. It is said that he converses with the press representatives in any language they choose to address him.

He has the reputation of being one of the cleverest diplomats which Russia of the days before Soviet government had in its service. In former years he was secretary to the Russian Embassy at Berlin. From that he worked up by his ability to higher positions. His father was a distinguished Russian and owner of a large estate. His mother was one of the intellectual beauties of the court. His grandfather was a leading statesman in the days of Nicholas the First. He come therefore legitimately by his reputation for statesmanship and diplomacy.

He became foreign minister for Lenine. Like many other educated Russians who were close to the Czar, and who formed the inner circle that terrorized the nation for him, Tchitcherin no doubt decided to secure safe- for himself by transferring his allegiance to the Soviet government, and Lenine was glad to make use of him and others who could give valuable service.

While observing the proceedings at Genoa it will be necesary in these circumstances not to underestimate the skill of the men who are present as Russian representatives.—Halifax Herald.

Cannot Stand Alone

London Observer: Certainly the time has not yet come when Poland can be left to her own resources, without imperilling the cause of European peace. Too many perils compass her about, perils that beset the course of all infant states. The threatening and blustering of Tchitcherin is an indication of what would happen to Poland if a break should occur in the solidarity of the Entente, and by the same token it constitutes an unanswerable argument for the continuance of that solidarity.

GOVERNMENT DONE NOTHING

Parliament has been in session two months, permitting of a fair test of the group system and of the sincerity and progressiveness of the new administration. The last election wrought many changes. A Liberal Cabinet succeded a Conservative; a new party, the Progressives, are numerically an important factor; and is a test of leadership of Messrs. King, Meighen and Crerar. It is a period demanding skilful leadership, decision in policy and firmness in administration. Has the two months' test justified the verdict of December? What progress has been made in implementing pledges? What policies have been formulated to meet national demands? What decision and activity have been evidenced to give confidence and courage to a people wearied with five years' war and three years of the aftermath of uncertainty and depression that inevitably ensued? These are the tests by which the new administration must be judged.

The new administration started badly in the indecision displayed by Hon. Mr. King in cabinet construction. He proposed coalition with the Progressives at the expense of his Montreal following and then weakened at the crucical time, surrendered to Sir Lomer Gouin and left Mr. Crerar and his agrarian advisers in the lurch. This bred dissension in his Cabinet; and has made permanent discord and suspicion prevail where collective responsibility and co-operation is essential to parliamentary control, aggressive administration and effective solution of national problems. This has resulted in repudiation of ministerial policy, administrative stagnation and domestic broils, cabals and revolt. The result has been that Mr. King has lost control of his party; his party control of Parliament; and parliament the confidence of the electorate. Party pledges are unredeemed and there has been a surrender to patronage mongers and partisan desire.

Mr. King was pledged to an additional gratuity to the soldiers, Mr. King has repudiated this pledge. Mr. King was pleged to the elimination of company directors from the Cabinet Council. Mr. King repudiated this pledge. Mr. King was pledged to reduction in expenditure and taxation. Practically, expenditure has been increased; there is no evidence of possibility of lessening the taxation burden. He repudiated the action of his minister of labor, Mr. Murdock, and the party has rebeled against his minister of militia, Mr. Graham. No legislation of any importance has been forthcoming, no attempt has been made to reduce freight rates but rather there has been a clear inclination to shelve this problem; no redistribution bill has been prepared; and there has been no definite announcement of any issue. Strong leadership is essential at all times; doubly essential in periods of unrest; and in such a period as the present where to unrest is combined trade depression, industrial uncertainty, and agricultural dejection, we have a parliament that has proposed nothing, accomplished nothing and projected nothing.

LOSSES IN BIG INDUSTRY

It has been figured by competent authorities that the sum of $7,000,000 slips annually through the fingers of the Canadian pulp and paper industry and is lost. This is due to the fact that only 75 per cent of the potential yield is obtained.

Each cord of wood cut contains a certain amount of paper making material. When made into pulp, 96 per cent could become paper, and when manufactured into chemical pulp, at least 60 per cent ought to be available. But according to the Council of Scientific Research at Ottawa it does not work out this way in practice. Fully one quarter of the yield is lost annually.

In the year 1919, two and a half million cords of wood were consumed by the pulp and paper industry, the value being in the neighborhood of $31,000,000. If all the causes of loss could be eliminated, it would mean a saving of the sum mentioned above. The Council is trying to find a means of solving this problem.—Vancouver Sun.

Why Not Canada?

Financial Post: Meanwhile Australia and New Zealand have been active in co-operating with the British government and in a recent article the London Evening News intimates that nearly 100,000 British emigrants wil reach Australia this year. It declares that Australian House is almost beseiged with would-be-settlers sometimes 1,000 daily. It adds that postal enquiries average 1,200 and at present 2,000 people are awaiting embarkation. There are still 15,000 men, women and children awaiting shipment under the Britsh government's scheme for former service men, and an unlmited number of assisted passages is ofered boy settlers of the right type.

clothing were exceptionally good. Mounted heads of big game such as Elk, Sheep and Goat however, were very scarce, and such splendid trophies of these which are available amongst our members would certainly create a great deal ol interest if they could be induced to lend them for the occasion. I do not think there is much doubt about this because I have been promised quite a number already.

They are keen bunch of Sportsmen across the line, and fishing evidently ranks high in their favor, one of the pictures I had was of a very fine catch, and this one was given more enthusiastic notice than any of the others. If any of our members should happen to have, or get some good fishing and hunting pictures, and will loan me their films to make enlargements from, I believe that a good display of them at next year's exhibition will do some fine advertising for our parts.

From Mr. F. R. Cassell, Decatur, Ill. "Have received your booklet entitled 'The Scenic Heart of the Canadian Rockies' and have just finished reading it and will say that I have never enjoyed reading a description of an auto trip so much as you have described from Grand Forks to Lake Louise ,as much as I have yours. I am starting on May 29th from Decatur on an extended trip to Yellowstone and Glacier Parks and will join the Trail you describe at Cardston and go up to Lake Louise, then back to Macleod and through Fernie and on that way, and your description of what to see along the way will be a great help, as I intend to take the book along and read up on what to see next," etc., etc.

From Waldo Anderson of Albany, Oregon. "Your 1922 booklet on Southern B. C. and Alberta, is at hand and we find it a dandy. We intend to accept your invitation that you so kindly extend, and will make you a call this coming summer on our way through. Is it practical to use a trailer in your country?" etc.

From the Travel Club of America, New York. "Your booklets received. We shall be glad to have these in the display rack in our Travel Bureau as we expect several of our members to visit Western Canada this year. We wish to compliment you on this and might say that it is by far the best booklet we have ever received.

The General Agent of the Great Northern Railway called at my office recently and showed a great deal of interest in the work of the Association. He took specimens of our literature and said that he would send them to head office and endeavor to interest his company on our behalf. I met him again in Spokane last Wednesday, and he told me that he had done this, and that he was expecting the directors of the Company there on the 9th, and he would take it up with them personally. I am in hopes that they will ultimately assist us.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. are certainly taking great interest in us, Mr. Seymour the General Tourist Agent in Montreal has written and sent a list of all their principal Agents in the States and Canada and asked me to send them a supply of the booklets, saying they would distribute them for us. Booklets had already been sent a number of them.

THE CHAMPION

Jack Dempsey has arrived in Berlin and has received an ovation from his enthusiastic admirers.

Exactly four years ago today tens of thousands of his fellow-coutrymen, young like himself and in full enjoyment of the zest of life were also bound for the German capital. They were stopped in their journey at the Village of Villers-Bretonneux, and some of the boys, the very flower of the American nation, got no further than this quiet Picardy village. Their forward progress was barred by the same Germans who are shouting "Hoch Dempsey" and welcoming him so rapturously. The same hands that are now thrust forward so eagerly to clasp the hand of Dempsey, were pulling the triggers of the rifles that killed the boys at Villers-Bretonneux, four years ago.

Jack Dempsey was not one of the party that fought so gallantly along an extended front four years ago. When the Armistice came he was not numbered among the enlisted men. The fact that he did not volunteer was his own concern, but the Germans are wrong when they proclaim him the world's champion fighting man. The champion fighting men were the fellows who were greeted with bullets in place of cheers, who did not have long reports of their individual journeys cabled to the newspapers, who fought for honor and love of country, and not for dollars.

QUEER SCENES PICTURED IN "THREE LIVE GHOSTS"

A wave of excitement recently agitated the busiest thoroughfare of London when a burley policeman held up the traffic to allow the passage of an aristocratic-looking gentleman, immaculately tailored wheeling the latest thing in expensive baby-carriages, to which was attached a sheep which showed an obvious disinclination to cross the road.

Absorbed and quite unperturbed by the amazement caused by his unheralded arrival, the gentleman steered his charge to the opposite side walk, and by the time the crowd had recovered from its astonishment, had apparently vanished into thin ar.

At the same moment two cameras whch had been taking a record of this unusual scene from the inside of a covered motor lorry ceased to grind, and George Fitzmaurice, famous Paramount producer congratulated himself on having successfully secured a particularly effective and difficult "shot."

The episode showed Cyril Chadwick in his impersonation of "Spoofy" in "Three Live Ghosts," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. Anna Q. Nilsson and Norman Kerry are the featured players.

U.S. Immigration in Action

Cincinnati Enquirer: The new immigration law has more than justified the hopes of its friends. It may not be perfect; perhaps when Congress gives the subject the attention it deserves, a more scientific measure will be passed. But the new immigration law is producing results. While it remains in force in the country will be safe from that very real menace which hung over it in the years immediately before the war, when we were receiving immigrants, most of them alien to the mass of our people in blood and in political ideals, at the average rate of more than a million a year.

PAINT BRUSH AND RAKE SURE CURE FOR SPRING FEVER

This is the season of Spring Fever —a disease which affects people in different ways but generally with a severe inclination to suspend all activity except breathing. A paint brush and a rake are the only instruments necessary to perform the operation to cure spring fever, and they may be safely handled by the patient himself.

It is clean up time, the time when human beings follow the course of Old Dame Nature, and leave their dead winter shell for a nice, clean garment of spring. He is indeed a "dead one" in the most extreme sense of the word who does not feel with the advent of spring a desire to clean up the front yard, dig up the back garden plot and touch up the house with paint.

Cleaning up is like a fascinating game of follow the leader. At every corner something new is turning up. Usually the householder begins with the idea of raking up the front lawn. This leads to the inspection of the fence and its ultimate painting. Then the front steps probably attract attention in contrast to the newly pained fence. About that time the spring fever begins to disappear and the most violent activity takes its place. There is nothing so satisfying as the sigh of contentment which Mr. Average Citizen heaves when he sits back on the porch hosing the front lawn, with a knowledge that the whole place has been cleaned up from the front gate to the coal cellar.—Calgary Herald.

The Conciliation Board will resume its sittings in Calgary on May 25th.

VETERANS ATTEND CHURCH

On Sunday, May 14, the members of the G.W.V.A. held a parade at Christ Church. Headed by a band of pipers, the men marched to the church with true military precision. The church was filled to overflowing with a congregation who listened to an eloquent sermon from the Chaplain, based on the mission of the Comforter. The presence of Bishop Doull was greatly appreciated. He kindly waived his right to preach in favor of the Chaplain. The choir, under Choirmaster Alexander, rendered the musical part with the excellence for which they are famed.

The Chaplain of the local branch desires to thank his comrades of the G. W. V. A. for many kindnesses received during his venure of office and especially for the beautiful illuminated address presented at the social on Wednesday.

FERNIE BEAUTIFUL CONTEST ENTRIES BEGIN TO ARRIVE

Entries for the Fernie Beautiful Contest have already begun to be made. If this movement in undertaken in the right spirit it will do much to make Fernie a cleaner and brighter city. Mr. Trites has offered to increase the prize money next year, and has suggested that those who cannot get their properties in shape to enter this year should make plans and preparations for next year, and begin work on their plans.

The "village kicker" has expressed the fear that this contest is being held to induce people to improve their homes so that the taxes can be raised. Wrong, as usual. This contest is being arranged by a committee of the proposed Fernie Rotary Club, the motto of which is "Service not Self." This contest is absolutely a disinterested attempt to make the appearance of the city a credit to the people who live in it. The planting of flowers, shrubs, trees, grass, and the liberal use of the paint pot cannot possibly effect the taxes, or the tax rate. Even if it did increase them—which of course it cannot do—did you ever hear of the man who would not accept a raise in wages for fear that it would increase his income tax?

In the meantime, while we are being amused by the 'village kicker,' let us brighten up the city. Let us make it "A Fernie Beautiful—the City of Homes."

MR. JUSTICE McDONALD

It is a matter of congratulation to the Bench and praise for the wisdom of the Federal Government that the appointment of Mr. Justice McDonald to the Supreme Court of this Province should have been so well received in all quarters. There is no tinge of political preference shown in the appointment. The new judge, according to the unanimous voice of his colleagues, fully deserves and will adorn the position to which he has been elevated. He possesses those qualities of uprightness and balance which are essential on the bench. His career in all its relations has marked him out as one destined to preferment. He enters upon his new duties with the confidence and respect of all his colleagues. The appointment is an admirable one.—Colonist.

Fred Parker, who has been in Edmonton for several months, arrived home on Wednesday. He is suffering from stomach trouble and expects to go to Rochester, Minn., in a few days to consult Mayo Bros.

MEN'S LOSS WAS FOUR MILLIONS

That the loss of $3,429,045 through strikes and lockouts at the Coal Creek and Michel colleries of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company during the past 20 years was the amount lost by the men in wages that they did not receive, and not the loss of the company, as reported by the Canadian Press in connection with the hearings held by the Knowles conciliation board, is stated by W. R. Wilson, president and general manager of the company, in a letter to the press.

Summarizing in brief form the very lengthy and complete statement that he made before the board in reply to the statements made to the board by the miners, Mr. Wilson gives the press the following statement on the particular matter of wage lossses at the company's collieries during the last 20 years of operation:

"Michel mines—From 1903 to 1911, wages lost through strikes, estimated, $760,800; from 1912 to August, 1916, no labor troubles; from August 1, 1916, up to October 18, 1920, loss was $513,195; total wages lost through strikes from 1903 to 1920, $1,273,995.

"Coal Creek mines — From July, 1902, to June 8, 1915, wages lost through strikes, estimated to be $1,161,100; from June 8, 1915, to October 6, 1920, $993,950; total loss in wages by strikes at Coal Creek mines, $2,155,050; total loss in wages by strikes at Michel mines, $1,273,995; total loss in wages at all mines, $3,429,045.

"The average loss in wages for 20 years being about $171,452 per year.

"The average loss in idle days being about 27.6 days per year or about 9 per cent of possible working time.

"This economic waste varying in yearly periods from one day to 195 working days.

"From the year of 1907 up to and including 1921, this company has collected $470,279.70 from their employees for union dues at the average rate of about $33,590 per annum, or made collections from their employees who were members of said union at the rate of $28 per annum.

"By adding the lost wages through strikes, and the union collections together, we have a total sum of $3,899,324.70 used and lost through strikes, simply through a misconception of the basic principles of the industry we are engaged in, or through the joint failure of operators and their employees arriving at a form of understanding that would more wisely enable each party to intelligently understand the economic factors that form the fundamental features of the industry we have jointly selected to spend our energies and intelligence in.

"I may further add that if we continue in our failure to secure that knowledge of the basic elements of the economic values that are accessible to us as our rightful share in industrial returns, our outlook will not be any more encouraging than it has been in the past."

LADIES BASEBALL CLUB

Our local girls have organized two teams to play baseball and expect to put up a first class grade of ball this season. The following girls have agreed to play:

Thirza Johnson, Katie Smalek, Hazel Whittaker, Agnes Walsh, Alice Corrigan, Jean McPhee, Florence Nelson, Agnes Pelletier, Jennie Strachan, Anna McPhee, Rene Duncan, Peggy Patterson, Mary Dragon, Jessie Richardson, Cecele Taback, Edith Biggs, Joan Davidson, Ruth Dicken, Bernice Shorthouse, Gladys Ault, Elizabeth Stevens, Elizabeth Sloan, Edna Johnston, Helen Sewell.

All girls wishing to play, not listed, will please send in their names to Miss Pelletier and will be informed when to turn out for practice. Manager Jerue is well pleased with his material and expects to hear from Waldo, Michel or any other ladies team who wish to play a match game.

The girls will try out indoor outfit (balls and bat) and will play regulation outdoor baseball rules.

Now boys get together and help our girls along.

FERNIE JUNIOR BASEBALL CLUB

For a number of weeks the Junior Baseball team have been quietly working out, and judging by the progress made these boys are likely to put up some pretty fast ball before the season is very far advanced. They are deserving of public support, as should be the case in all clean sports for the younger teams. Tonight the Seniors have very kindly consented to give the boys a bit of practice and the following team will probably line up:

J. Kasmar, c; G. Sikora, p; Keith Colton 1st; Alex. Thompson 2nd; W. Anson 3rd; P. Rushcall ss; M. Kasmar lf; F. Beale cf; A. Kasmar rf.

Other boys who are playing with the club are F. Miscisco, A. J. Hovan, T. Rizzuto, J. Latak, Laddie Kobus and others.

WILL REPORT ON IRON DEPOSITS

That the Kitchener iron deposits and the Sand Creek deposits will receive a thorough examination as one result of an arrangement just concluded for a joint provincial and Dominion survey of the iron resources of British Columbia, is announced.

A complete and thorough survey of the iron ore resources of British Columbia is to be commenced this summer, the Canadian geological survey having agreed to undertake this important work in cooperation with the provincial department of mines. The object is to obtain conclusive information as to the possibility of this province supporting a large capacity iron and steel plant. Dr. G. A. Young, who has been the survey's specialist on iron ore formations for years, having prepared reports on the iron ores of New Brunswick, and on the iron bearing rocks of the Belcher islands in Hudson's Bay, is to be assigned to the same duty in this province, and will begin his field investigations in the course of a few weeks.

There are many large iron deposits that come to mind in considering those that are likely to have special attention.

No doubt those of Vancouver island and the coast sections will be carefully inspected.

In the interior there are the Sand Creek iron deposits, situated about eight and one-half miles from the Kootenay Central railway. This property carries hematite, which makes it of unusual interest in British Columbia, where the magnetites predominate. Some development has been done in the past, but never sufficient to demonstrate the tonnage of commercial ore that may be available.

Another well known interior body of iron ore that, without a doubt, will be explored, are the Kitchener iron deposits, which cross the Crow's Nest Pass railway at a point near the town of Kitchener, and extend in a northerly direction for approximately eight miles. The ore found here, too, must be given every consideration because it is a hematite, and, from reports thus far obtaining and judging by the small amount of development already done, has commercial possibilities.

On Cherry Creek, near Kamloops, there is a deposit of magnetite. There are three distinct zones in the main vein of this ore body, the central one being a high grade dense magnetite free from impurities. This must be explored with a view to ascertaining the tonnage that it may be expected to yield.

In northern British Columbia there are, among other iron ore resources, the limonite deposits of the Zymoetz river section. Various estimates of the tonnage obtainable here have been made in the past.

It will be the duty of the survey, for which arrangements have been concluded, to make a thorough exploration of this area also with a view to determining the extent to which it may be depended upon to contribute to the maintenance of a British Columbia iron and steel industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Barbour, of Bellevue, and Alex. Beck, of Coleman, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. Beck on Sunday.

A petition is in circulation requesting the provincial government to change the road around the cut bank to bring it down on the level. The change would keep the road open between Fernie and Michel at least six weeks longer in the fall as the present high road becomes impassable very early.

SHAUGHNESSY BORN POOR

With the story of Lord Shaughnessy, the Financier and Bullionist, London's oldest financial daily, commences a series of articles on "Men of Mark in Business." In thus inaugurating its series the journal pays a tacit compliment to Canada. However, Lord Shaughnessy is interesting enough to justify any such compliment.

Sir William Van Horne used to say that the greatest thing he ever did for the C.P.R. was to put Shaughnessy into it. The Financier recounts with evident surprise that the future "T.G.," Sir Thomas, the Chief and the Baron—to use only a few of his names— was born in Milwaukee, the son of a poor Irish emigrant.

"It was the proudest moment of my life," he said, "when I carried my first week's wages home to my mother." It was to his mother that he sent his first telegram, stating that he had been knighted, and it was for her birthplace in Ireland that he named the Prince of Wales car "Killarney."

At the age of 15 Thomas went to work for a railway. At 26 he was general purchasing agent under Van Horne. On joining the C. P. R., his chief made a special trip to Milwaukee to get the future chairman of the board of directors to come along as purchasing agent of the newly-completed line.

Succeeding Van Horne, President Shaughnessy used all the economical arts of the purchasing agent in putting through enormous extensions to plant and equipment. He worked hard and inspired others to work hard. Always he kept out of the limelight as much as George Ham would let him.

Baron Shaughnessy is sensitive, retiring and shy, but that is not to say that he cannot be aggressive enough in asserting and enforcing his own views when his mind is made up. He likes honors but not applause, and even when he took his seat in the House of Lords, contrived to leave for his business desk in a few minutes. First of all, he loves his home and his friends. Then comes his love for the railway, which, to him, means transportation and development for Canada.

"Lord Shaughnessy is ranked among the millionaires of Canada, but money has never been his god," says the Financier. "His efforts have been made, primarily, with the desire to develop the railway under his control, but also with a sincere and honest intention to benefit Canada as a whole, and how well he has achieved both desires is engraved in imperishable letters in the history of the Dominion and of the British Empire."

Lord Shaughnessy's way of retiring evidently appeals to the Financier. Having selected his man for the presidency, he moved his own personal belongings into his successor's modest office, and that compelled E. W. Beatty to move into the more pretentious offices, which Baron Shaughnessy, K.C.V.O., of Montreal, Canada, and Ashford, County Limerick, had lately occupied. Thus "Eddie" Beatty was kicked upstairs.

When Devolution Comes

London Daily Chronicle: If and when we get Devolution all round, with local Parliament doing a large part of Great Britain's business the central Imperial Parliament, which would sit at Westminster, though a body of the most sovereign dignity and importance, need scarcely be so numerous an assembly as a Parliament which has to include in its ambit every petty parochial issue. It would gain in efficiency if its numbers, were contracted as well as its duties.

PEACOCK SAYS HE WAS FORCED OUT OF HIS JOB

Now Back At Work In Best Of Health, He Gives Tanlac Full Credit For Recovery From Rheumatism And Stomach Trouble.

"If anything ever was a blessing to anybody, Tanlac was just that to me," said Albert Peacock, Suite 2, 736 Ninth Ave., East, Vancouver.

"I was in an awful fix from stomach trouble and could hardly touch a bite without gas forming and causing severe pains and cramps in my stomach. I was bothered awfully with constipation and bursting headaches and rheumatic pains all over my body kept me in misery all the time. Finally I had to give up my job as I was almost helpless.

"But after taking Tanlac and the Tanlac Rheumatic Treatment, I'm in as good health as I could want. I weigh a good deal more and haven't missed a day from work since. Tanlac certainly set me right, and I'm glad to tell everybody about it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

PLASTIC SURGERY WONDERS

What has become of the men who had terrible facial wounds in the war?

The foreign visitor to Britain often asks this question and finds it hard to believe that great numbers of these men are not still dragging out hopeless and dreary existences in sad homes and hospitals, The 'Daily Mail' learns that of some 10,000 cases of this kind which passed through the main concentration hospital for bad facial injuries, the Queen's Hospital at Sidcup, only 10 or 15 men are regarded as incurably disfigured. The Ministry of Pensions is understood to be contemplating the purchase for these men of a country house as a home for them.

The wonderful number of cures is due largely to the skill of Major H. D. Gillies, R. A. M. C., chief plastic surgeon at the Sidcup hospital. He has grown for the disfigured, new lips, chins, and cheeks, mended and replaced shattered jaws, and even replaced faces that had been literally burned away by terrible explosions. In mending wrecked faces his principle is "bone for bone, cartilage for cartilage, and fat for fat." He has built jaws with bits of bone from the leg, cheeks with fatty tissue covered with strips of skin taken from the body, and noses with cartilage from the ribs.

To a "Daily Mail" reporter, Major Gillies paid high tribute to the skill of his fellow plastic surgeons at Sidcup. "Their success in making good the wreckage of the war is practically complete," he said. "The maimed men are to be found sitting alongside you in omnibuses and trains, working in shop and office, on the land, or back in the Navy or army again. You would not have an inkling of what had happened to them.

"I can tell you of one case, a petty officer in the Navy who had his face burned off at the battle of Jutland. He has had a new face built, is back in the Navy, and recently passed his gunnery tests. There have been other cases as remarkable who are back in civil life again."

"Are the results permanent?" Major Gillies was asked.

"They are," he replied.

Fry's

DR. Andrew Wilson, the eminent British authority, once said of the cocoa bean—"It is a kind of vegetable egg which contains all that is needed to build up a living body." Tea and coffee are mere infusions—but cocoa is an actual food in itself. Business men should remember that.

Cocoa, made the FRY way, from the world's choicest beans, is pure, extremely soluble and of most delicious flavour. Nearly two hundred years' knowledge of the cocoa business stands back of FRY'S. Of course, remember

THE ASIATIC WILL COME

OTTAWA—The hopes of the people of British Columbia of securing any effective handling of the question of oriental immigration were dashed for the present at least, when a resolution introduced by Mr. W. G. McQuarrie, Conservative member for New Westminster asking for the exclusion of immigration of this type was defeated by a combined vote of Government and Progressive members. The Conservative members voted solidly for exclusion; and it was advocated by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Hon. H. H. Stevens of Vancouver, Messrs. Black, Clark, Ladner, MacKelvie, and other Opposition members.

Mr. McQuarrie went into the question very thoroughly, his resolution providing for the exclusion in the future of all alien orientals who may seek to enter Canada in any capacity for permanent residence. He quoted the terms of the treaty with Japan, and referred to the "Gentlemen's Agreement" effected in 1907 restricting immigration, urging that a request should be made to the British Government to give notice to Japan that Canada wanted the treaty terminated, and that the agreement should be directly cancelled. He gave a mass of striking figures showing how rapidly the birth-rate of the Japanese in particular was increasing on the Pacific coast. In 1910, the proportion of Japanese births to whites was only one in 252. In 1921 this had increased to one in 17. He estimated that there were over 57,000 Chinese and over 50,000 Japanese in Canada at the present time. They were beginning to get control of the small retail trade in the cities, as they already practically secured a monopoly of many lines of industry in the country. Truck gardening, potato growing, orcharding, fishing, lumbering, had all felt the blighting influence of their presence; they were exploiting nearly all our natural resources; they were in the hotel, restaurant, dry-goods and other businesses and were crowding white children out of the schools.

To illustrate the feeling of the people of British Columbia he cited the action taken by many organizations, including merchants, farmers, labor unions, and veterans, all urging exclusion, and ended by summarizing the many reason why exclusion should be enforced.

Mr. Black of the Yukon told how they handled the problem there; when it was reported that a large influx were proposing to enter the gold fields of the Klondyke, it was decided that they should be received by a committee armed with pick-handles. The word went forth and the Chinamen stayed out. Mr. Black said that these so-called "little brown brothers" were no brothers of his; a Chink remained a Chink, and he did not like him under any circumstances. In fact, Mr. Black favored not only excluding Asiatics, but deporting them and expropriating their property.

Col. Clarke, of Burrard, dwelt on the aspect of the matter as racical menace, history showing that white and colored races will never assimilate. Mr. Dickie of Nanaimo was much less drastic in his ideas than some of his fellows from the Coast, saying that he believed the matter could be better dealt with by diplomats than by demagogues.

Mr. Ladner from Vancouver South, said his particular part in the debate related to the sociological aspect of the question, and he dwelt particularly on the part played by the Asiatic in promoting the drug traffic. The Chinese were the main factors in the carrying on of this trade, the baneful influence of which was felt all over Canada. The drugs were being distributed by Chinese as a side issue to legitimate retail business places, and thousands of young men and women were being debauched all over Canada. Mr. MacKelvie of Yale, showed in a very telling manner how the Orientals were gaining control of the fruit growing and other industries in the interior of the province.

Mr. H. H. Stevens, Conservative member for Vancouver South, and a member of Mr. Meighen's Government who had repeatedly brought this matter up in Parliament, made a very effective speech, treating the question from its sociological, ethical, and economic aspect. His first opposition to oriental immigration was the magnitude of the source, there were 80,000 orientals facing us on the Pacific slopes in the East and Canada could not absorb any considerable amount of immigration from such a source especially with the modern transportation facilities of moving immense bodies of people. The economic pressure was terrifying; wherever the white is brought into competition with them the standard of living must be reduced or there was no possibility of successful competition. The community where there was a large oriental population was a mighty poor one for the sale of manufactured goods and the food products of the white man. They paid almost nothing into the revenues of the country.. Mr. Stevens then dwelt with the constitutional aspect of the matter claiming that it was the inherent right of Canada to determine the conditions upon which anyone might be admitted within the bounds of the State. This was recognized in the Immigration Act and other Canadian Statutes and the Imperial Government had recognized that right.

Hon. Arthur Meighen took a very emphatic position for the exclusion of the Asiatic. The increase in numbers was alarming; assimilation was impossible; the attitude of British Columbia towards the problem was shared by everyone who had looked into the question. At the conference of Premiers which he attended in England last summer the opinion was expressed emphatically that full and unrestricted control of immigration rested in each Dominion of the Empire, and as a matter of fact, effective exclusion already existed in other parts of the Empire. "Let it be understood," he said, "that so far as I am concerned, I favor exclusion. Restriction will not do. That is the position I take on this motion, and I appeal to the government to help us reach a wording that will leave no doubt in the minds of the people of Canada or in the minds of the people of Japan as to just what the will of this Parliament is."

The debate thus brought those on the government side and every member who had spoken to a point where all were of one mind as to the necessity for exclusion. The resoultion proposed by Mr. McQuarrie would have very effectively expressed this sentiment. But Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of mimigration, was put up to move an amendment which would substitute "restriction" for exclusion." Premier King had previously spoken and held that there "were lions in the path." He thought Chinese could be restricted by a passport system, and that it was to our interest to admit students. Parliament, in considering the question of the exclusion of Japanese should consider very carefully the effect on the possible development of trade with the Orient. He urged that we should negotiate with the Japanese Government and find if they have any objection to the clause in the Immigration Act being applied to later amendments to our laws. He though the Japanese Government had lived up to the Lemieux Agreement. The word "exclusion" too had come to have a meaning which was most offensive to the Oriental people. In short, "effective restriction" was as far as the Government was prepared to go and as Mr. Crerar was lying in wait in the offing prepared to come to the support of the Government, that was as far as the vote carried the matter.

Just how effective this "restriction" will be, and when, if ever. it will be put into operation, remains to be seen; but in the meantime the Conservative party has gone on record in the most effective manner as in favor of absolute exclusion, and the sentiment of practically every member of the House who spoke on the subject supported that attitude. One supporter of the government even went so far as to break away from his party on the vote and supported the resolution of the member from New Westminster.

LIQUOR RESERVE FUND

The report, unofficial so far, that the Provincial Government intends placing $250,000 out of the liquor profits of the last six months into a reserve fund again raises the question of what are the uses of this fund. It has already been inaugurated with a sum of $140,000, the supposition being that it is intended to recoup the Government for any losses that might be incurred by revision on the part of the Province to a policy of Prohibition. In addition, the Government now allows for depreciation of stocks and premises so that its losses are provided for in the process of the operation of the Liquor Control Act. We may admit the necessity of a reserve fund, but why should it reach a total of hundreds of thousands of dollars, and that within the first year's operation of the law, needs a lot of explaining. The money so set aside means that the municipalities are being deprived of their just share of the profits.

Some statement of the Government's intentions regarding the reserve fund would be in order. There is a feeling that beyond a certain amount it is unnecessary. The assets of the Liquor Control Board are such as can be converted into cash under any circumstances, and at the worst it could only be left with a warehouse and some fixtures, which, all told, probably do not represent more than $200,000. The reserve fund is not, so far as we know for the purpose of pensioning employees of the Liquor Control Board in the event of new legislation leading to their no longer being required.. What, then, is the need of an amount beyond, say $250,000 in all, a sum which could be increased in proportion to new holdings in warehouse property acquired by the Board? Before the Government decides on its disposition of the profits on liquor for the six months ending on March 31 we hope that Mr. A. M. Manson, who is the responsible minister, will carefully consider the representations relative to the reserve fund, and that the Government, through building up this fund, will not take more than its due share of liquor profits.—Colonist.

CORBIN NOTES

The hills near Corbin at present are giving up their treasure in the shape of big game. On Sunday, Dr. Elliot started the bear arolling when, with his .303 British bullets he pulverized and macerated a huge grizzly's heart. On Monday morning Val Hobert, another expert with the rifle, killed a big grizzly and her cub. But the hunters were all agog when Art Cody, the miniature high power bull's eye puncturer, who was out on Glacier Creek for four days, came back and says he believes he saw a white or polar bear eating fish on a glacier. His partner says "No; a snowshoe rabbit."

The King's Highway, Fisher's Paradise Lost, Herchmer's Dream, and our present genial member's "All Beer Route," or Corbin road, will soon need another surveyor's outfit to find the much talked of painted stakes. It is high time that the people of Corbin were given their rights and this road built.

FOREST AND FLOODS

If the forests we have are allowed to go, the floods of the future will be worse than the floods of today.

If our states adopt and establish a constructives policy of forestation, they will be less and less destructive. Forests hold the rainfall in suspension and make spring thaws and downpours manageable. They are worth all we can ever be induced to spend on them and much more.

Forestation is a state interest and a state duty, as well as a national. We have neglected it too long.—Chicago Tribune.

Russian Policy

Lonton Times: Tchitcherin and his fellow-Bolshevists know quite clearly what they want. "We want de jure recognition. We cannot submit to any condition which puts us in an inferior position." For the rest, he attaches great importance to Mr. Lloyd George's reference to general disarmament. There are two good reason for this: First, it is a subject on which France is quite determined to have no discussion at Genoa; she will quit the Conference rather than tolerate debate upon it; next, the Bolshevist Red Army, with the exception of a few chosen battalions, is known to be now in a very bad state and its movements are believed to be largely due to a desire to bring it nearer to the food, which, from the utter failure of transport, can no longer be brought to it.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

THE MESSAGE OF THE HILLS

Give me the quiet of the hills,
Where the bluebird flies and the robin trills.
Oh, some may long for the city's thrills;
Give me the quiet of the hills.

Dear one, if you're sad, if the heart aches in you,
Go away to the hills, they've a message that's true;
Go away to the quiet, where sweet wild flowers nod;
You will find solace there, in the presence of God.

During the past number of years sports have been held on the First of July in Fernie, the proceeds to be used for some form of permanent recreation for the children of the town, but, so far, sufficient has not been raised to go ahead with the project. If sports are going to be held on the First of July this year, it is necessary for the citizens of Fernie to hold a meeting at an early date for the purpose of forming committees to do the necessary work. A number of interested citizens have suggested that a meeting be held in the city hall on Monday night, the 22nd inst. It is therefore desirable that all those who are interested in helping along the worthy object attend at the city hall at the hour of 8.30 on that evening.

JOHN BROWN'S BODY

When the coal operators let Charles Town, West Virginia, be chosen as the venue for the trial of the Logan County miners, they made another of those tactical blunders which have marked their conduct previous to and during the coal strike. The right or wrong of the invasion of Logan County by armed miners last year is not affected by the choice of a court house, but popular passion is something to be considered.

The court house at Charles Town was the scene in 1859 of the trial and condemnation of John Brown. Behind its white columns red brick walls and sea green tower the embattled miners are to-day on trial. If one of them be sentenced for murder and hanged, the soap box orators of a continent will quote in a thousand smelly halls

Eight miles along the Shenandoah valley from Charles Town is Harper's Ferry, against which John Brown and his handful of fanatics marched so long ago to "set my children free." And it will be shouted that some modern John Brown marched with a handful of men against armies of thugs to free "the white slaves of the brutal capatilistic system," etc., etc., etc. From a public standpoint the parallel is deadly. It makes no difference that there was a week of terror and bloodshed in Logan County last August and again last November, that much blood was shed and many hundreds of homes wrecked as miners and detectives fought with machine guns and artillery in utter defiance of law and order. Those horrors will all be blamed on the one side, as soap box orators rant the words of the immortal old song. It made no difference that John Brown was a law breaker, popular sympathies and passions made him a hero. National issues were at stake on both occasions. The people have not changed.

Whoever permitted the staging of the "martyrdom" of the raiders at the scene made famous by old John Brown had no imagination and less sense. The wonderful publicity department of the United Mine Workers was thereby given a good opportunity. For years, while the union has used every means to keep its case before the public, the operators have taken it for granted that coal is too deep for the public to understand. The Charles Town blunder is just the climax. It will do much to prevent a sane and cool consideration of the real economic issues involved.—Toronto World.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN WILL BE SEEN IN "PAY DAY"

Charles Chaplin's latest comedy release, "Pay Day," which is being distributed as a First National attraction, opens a run at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday. Advance notices tend to the belief that this vehicle will rank among the best productions the star comedian has ever offered.

Edna Purviance, the star's brother Sydney, who not so long ago blossomed out as a star himself; Mack Swain, who was with Chaplin in "The Idle Class;" Phyllis Allen, Henry Bergman, Loyal Underwood, John Rand and Allen Garcia aid the star's efforts.

Chaplin has transported himself to an atmosphere of toil and horny-handed laborers for novelty situations and new stunts centering around the arrival of the weekly pay envelope. He receives his, promptly spends it and returns home to sing alto to the wife's "O Promise Me," finally plunging into the frigid liquid of a well-filled bathtub to escape her.

In addition to starring in the picture, Chaplin holds the dual role of director and author, for "Pay Day" is an original story by him which he directed.

REAL MAIN STREET IN "THE CONQUEST OF CANAAN"

There's a "Main Street," that runs through "Canaan," the mythical city which Booth Tarkington wrote about in "The Conquest of Canaan." In Canaan were some who were respectable and others who were not. Once you were placed in the latter class, it was next to impossible to live down the disgrace.

Here, the respectables looked up to Judge Pike as their leader. His word was law. The unrespectable accepted him because they knew that he owned their homes, their saloons and had their lives in the hollow of his hand.

As the title suggests, Main Street in Canaan was conquered and by two of the unrespectables, Joe Louden and Ariel Tabor. Ariel was fortunate enough to inherit money which took her to Paris. Joe could not bring himself to conform with the Main Street conventions which aroused such prejudice within him that he was forced to leave town to carve out a better career.

The development of this interesting plot, which brings out the bigness as well as the pettiness of a middle-size town, is illustrated in the Paramount picturization of "The Conquest of Canaan," which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. Thomas Meighen, as Joe Louden, stars in the picture and Doris Kenyon in the role of Ariel Tabor plays the leading feminine part.

RHEUMATISM

Have you given up? Have you resigned yourself to that old, gnawing pain that nothing seems to relieve? Do you think because you can't go to Hot Springs or take some expensive treatment that you have no other alternative? We have many cases considered hopeless, tried everything, baths, serums, electricity, who found recovery in using T. R. C.'s. (Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules). We have thousands of letters that prove beyond doubt T.R.C.'s to be the most practical and successful Rheumatic remedy sold. At druggists, $1.00 per box. For Free Trial write Templeton, Toronto.

ART AND DRUGS

By Dr. Frank Crane.

A man may be very eminent in his own profession and vastly ignorant outside of it.

Joseph Pennell is an eminent American etcher and illustrator. He made a speech the other day, however, in New York, in which, according to the press reports, he stated that "no nation ever produced and maintained art without freedom of thought such as drink implies."

He also attacked those fanatics whom he pictured to be gradually reducing the United States to the point of becoming an artistic and intellectual desert.

"When a group of fanatics takes away such a privilege as wine," continued the distinguished artist, "not only freedom takes its wings, but the Graces are not long in following. You can not have good art or good literature without drink. It is absolutely impossible. Unless something is done toward ameliorating the prohibition laws, art will go to the devil in the United States."

Deduced to its lowest terms and put in simple, understanding English, Mr. Pennell's proposition is that the best work of the human mind is produced by drugs.

Alcohol is a drug, just as opium, cocaine, heroin and the like are drugs. This is nothing against it, as drugs have their human uses.

But it is a drug just the same, for the simple reason that it it not a necessary food. The normal healthy human being can get along without it. The only person who absolutely needs it is one whose system has been perverted by its continued use. The man who simply must have alcohol is precisely the same sort of type as the man who simply must have his happy dust.

The main difference between alcohelic and other drugs is that the use of alcohol has been almost universal for countless generations. It has behind it the tremendous momentum of tradition.

It is also entrenched in that institution known as society, which gives it an enormous power over a vast portion of the human race.

But for all that, alcohol is vastly more dangerous than any other habit-forming drug, for the reason that its effects are so closely parallel to those produced by a perfect state of youth, health and fitness. These effects are temporary and are invariably followed by reaction, which is dangerous and often destructive.

But there are a large number of souls who are willing to throw away life, health and prospects for a high moment. This number includes not only geniuses, but all children, and fools.

Mr. Pennell is not the first who has twanged his lyre and raised his voice in praise of wine. The cult of Bacchus is as old as delusion. which in turn is as old as the human race.

Stephen Crane once said that American literature might be divided into two classes, whisky and opium.

Mr. Pennell seems inclined to restrict all American genius to one class, as he said nothing in praise of hasheesh, loco weed, or the hypodermic syringe.

The State and Unemployed

Winnipeg Free Press: Several times lately the state has been asked to provide work for the unemployed or else provide relief based on trade union rates of pay, in other words, that if a man would be earning $5 a day by working at his trade and there is no work, the state provide him with the $5 just the same.

It would be all very nice, provided the state had the money. But of course the state has no money except what it can get out of the people who make it up. The state has nothing magical about it, in fact it is nothing more than a number of people living in certain territory and providing some form of government for themselves.

It would be excellent if the state could provide employment and that all would be willing to accept such employment as the state might be able to offer. It can only do what it can afford, and with taxes where they are already it is plain that any attempt to pay trade union wages to the unemployed would make it impossible to do any business at all. The public would be unable to pay the taxes and the community would go bankrupt.

The state can only do what it can afford, and it is folly to lead people to believe that it can do more.

IMMIGRANT REGULATIONS

OTTAWA, May 15.—(By Canadian Press)—Announcement is made by the department of immigration and colonization of a change of requirements concerning immigrants entering Canada, the change coming into effect immediately.

Under the new requirements instead of a money test there will be a test to determine the fitness of immigrants by their occupation. The new regulations will, it is claimed, facilitate the movement of Britishers from the old country and the other self-governing dominions to Canada and are framed particularly to encourage settlement in Canada by the agricultural and domestic servant classes, as these are the classes immediately in demand.

In the case of persons of other classes entering from the United States, Canada will freely admit those whose labor is required in the Dominon.

1. A bona fide agriculturist entering Canada to farm and with sufficient means to begin farming in Canada.

2. A bona fide farm laborer entering Canada to follow that occupation and with reasonable assurance of employment.

3. A female domestic servant entering Canada to follow that occupation and with reasonable assurance of employment.

A strict application of the above would mean that only the agricultural and domestic servant classes could land in Canada, but provision has been made under which immigration officers have authority to admit:

(a) The wife and family of any person legally admitted to and resident in Canada who is in a position to receive and care for his dependents.

(b) The national of any country in regard to which there is in operation a special treaty or agreement or convention regulating immigration.

(c) Any British subject entering Canada directly or indirectly from Great Britain or Ireland, the United States of America or any self-governing dominion, or Newfoundland, who shall satisfy the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry that he has sufficient means to maintain himself until employment is secured.

(d) Any American citizen entering Canada from the United States, provided it is shown to the satisfaction of the minister of immigration and colonizaton that his labor or service is required in Canada.

A new passport regulation requires that immigrants (except Britishers from the United Kingdom or any self-governing dominion and Americans from the United States) shall carry a passport issued in and by the government of their own country. It is further provided that immigrants coming from the continent of Europe shall have their passports examined and vised by a Canadian government immigration officer stationed on the continent of Europe. All others requiring passports must have these passports vised by a British consular officer. It is provided that a fee of $5 is chargeable for Canadian examination and vise of passport.

Asiatic immigration (except nationals of a country in regard to which there is in operation a special treaty agreement) must have $250 to land in Canada.

A Ukrainian engineer is reported to have discovered a method by which radio messages may be sent to a definite receiving station without the danger of being intercepted by other stations. It is stated that by means of a simple apparatus the so-called "locked power line" of the magnetic field may be straightened out and grouped into parrellel rays. These rays are said to do away with the necessity of aerials. If this report is true, it seems that we are on the verge of a new epoch in radio. However, we shall have to wait for complete details before passing judgment on the merits of this new invention. —Saturday Night.

It is evident that the radio industry has expanded to undreamed of proportions within the past few months. It is not surprising, therefore, to learn that one American concern expects to do a business of well over $50,000,000 this year, judging by the returns of the past few months. There is an ever-increasing demand for vacuum tubes; it is estimated that by this writing 75,000 tubes are being turned out a month, and that by the time this reaches the reader the production will probably exceed 100,000 tubes per month. Authorities in and out of radio are of the opinion that the radio business as it is now developing is going to be greater than the phonographic industry, which has been doing a business in excess of $400,000,000 per year.—Saturday Night.

"LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY" A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Coming to the Isis Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday is a photoplay that will leave a profound impression on the audience. It is Mary Pickford's "Little Lord Fauntleroy," the most appealing and at the same time one of the most perfect photoplays ever to pass through a projecting machine. The mingled laughter and tears, accentuated by resounding applause, acclaimed "America's Sweetheart" godess of the cinema art. Her interpretation of the roles of Dearest and Little Lord Fauntleroy will probably never be approached by anyone in the picture realm. The fine artistry, the delicate shading, the conviction brought to these widely different parts by Mary Pickford, represents the greatest achievement of all time in the shadow world. The motion picture industry can well express its thanks to this wonder woman for bringing to its highest development, the art of picture making.

Jack Pickford, the brother of Little Mary, and his co-director, Alfred E. Green, are to be complimented for their masterful handling of this vehicle, collaboration seems to guarantee success. Nothing has ever been done to equal the par-excellence of the stupendous settings in this feature. The wizardry of the lens has lent a wonderous charm to both exterior and interior, and Charles Rosher, the photographer has demonstrated that nothing is impossible for the motion picture camera. The double exposure feats, wherein Miss Pickford as Dearest walks with and talks to Miss Pickford as Fauntleroy, are astounding.

The appeal of the story as written by Frances Hodgson Burnett has been accentuated and heightened in the filming by the one and only Mary. She has endowed each episode with the wealth of her genius, and the spectator actually lives in the era depicted by the play. The story has its beginning in New York where Cedric Errol is discovered with his mother in a modest flat. Cedric has his troubles with the boys of the neighborhood all because of his curls, but finds much comfort in the company of his three cronies, Mrs. McGinty, Mr. Hobbs, and Dick, the bootblack.

Although his ambition is to be President of the United States, the title of Lord is thrust upon him most unexpectedly by the solicitor for his grandfather, Earl of Dorincourt, who had discovered Cedric's father before the lad was born. This ascent to the nobility took the boy to England where there developed many amusing as well as tragic incidents which lead to a climax filled with more heartbreaks than anything ever shown on the screen. His three old cronies, however, finally bring back to Little Lord Fauntleroy and his grandfather the happiness that had all but gone a-glimmering.

Among the players whose interpretations do much to make "Little Lord Fauntleroy" the crowning screen achievement are Claude Gillingwater as the Earl, Joseph J. Dowling as Havisham the solicitor, Colin Kenny as Bevis, the Earl's eldest son, and the three cronies, Mrs. McGinty played by Kate Price; Mr. Hobbs by James A. Marcus, and Dick by Frederick M. Maletesta. Others are Rose Dione as Minna, the pretender, Francis Marion, as her son, and Madame de Bodamere in the role of Mrs. Higgins.

FERNIE WINS IN SWATFEST

The opening game of the eastern section East Kootenay Baseball league played here on Sunday last resulted in an overwhelming victory for the home team over Waldo by the score of 27 to 5.

"Salty" Ault started in the box for Fernie, pitching the first five innings, and fanned nine men in these frames. Reardon then took his place on the moond and held the visitors well in hand until the ninth when, after a couple of hits he started hiting the batters with the bases full, hitting three in succession and forcing as many runs for Waldo.

Shay and C. Ross officiated on the mound for Waldo, and were battered unmercifully to all corners of the lot. In one frame, the seventh four of Fernie's men went to bat for the second time. Biggs had the honor of scoring two runs in this frame.

The weather was ideal for the occasion, exceeding expectations for time of the year, and resulted in a very large crowd which taxed the newly-erected seats to overflowing. Previous to the game the Vets Kiltie Band paraded to the park and also provided music at the grounds.

The old stand-by with the indicator, Milt Kastner, officiated in an able manner. Only on a couple of occasions did he get in hot water but his decisions would not materially change the one-sidedness of the game which was anything but interesting.

MICHEL RECEIVES BAD BEATING IN OPENER

MICHEL, — White Spruce played Michel their opening game here last Sunday in the East Kootenay league in ideal weather before a good sized crowd. What should prove to be a good game will be played next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 between Fernie and White Spruce teams seeing that each demonstrated their prowess in the opening league games by decisively showing the way to their victims by overwhelming scores. Both teams are confident of turning in another victory and take the lead in the race.

Michel will take a jaunt to Waldo the same afternon to find out which one really takes possession of the cellar.

FOOTBALL

Fernie seniors opened the football season at Coal Creek last Sunday with a win by 1 to 0. Fernie proved the superior players and fully deserved their win. Both sides showed some good football, but lack of finished training slowed the game up considerably. With more practise both teams will improve as the season goes on. There is some talk of Cranbrook taking the place of Coleman who failed to appear at Michel on Sunday. Should they join the Crow's Nest league, Cranbrook supporters will be treated to some good games this year. We all wish to see them in and link up with the sport of the Crow's Nest Pass. Michel are due in Fernie on Sunday next, May 21, and a good game is assured, everybody come out and boost the sport and help keep Fernie the best sport town in the Pass.

The Fernie team against Michel will be selected from the following: R. Thornton, G. Sawyer, G. Kennedy, G. Davidson, J. Robson, J. Joinson, T. Joinson, A. Dicken, H. Wheeler, G. Murray, F Hamer, J. Gibson, H. Hardy, G. Booth, B. Mitchell.

The executive will meet Saturday, (tomorrow) at 8 p.m. in B. Smith's Pool Room. Business important.

Fernie reserve players played Michel reserves on the local grounds on Sunday last, and a very good game resulted. Michel were by far the best and heavier team and ran out winner by the score of 3-0. Some good games should be given by these reserve teams this season, and should be supported, to encourage the young fellows to take up the sport. Paddy Hughes handled the whistle to the satisfaction of everybody, he is not strong on the whistle and kept the players going all through the game. Paddy should be refereeing in the senior league, we need referees who know how to handle the whistle.

Fernie reserves will play Coal Creek reserves on Saturday afternoon and the team will be selectd from the following players:

D. Costa, J. Hamer, J. Gibson, J. Cairns, M. Nee, P. Costa. T Williams, T. Davidson, J. Davidson, T. Biggs, F. Hamer.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir—We at Cokato have cause to complain against the motor car drivers who use the vicinity of the school to turn their cars, and very often back into and damage the school fence. This has occurred so often that we wish the drivers would find a more suitable place for turning purposes. Will mention one. Some 150 yards west past the school on the right side of the road there is a road leading to the C.P.R. Some 100 yards down this road there is an ideal spot to turn in. The merest novice in driving can make no mistake in selecting this spot and will use no other after trying it once.

We Cokato residents are seriously considering the ways and means to get a serviceable bridge to span the river. Then we shall be pleased to see the motor cars making the round trip to and from Fernie.—The Scribe.

OPERATORS PRESENT CASE

Final arguments on the part of the coal operators in District 18 were presented to the Knowles Board of Conciliation on Thursday morning. This was read by R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Coal Operators' Association, and was an exceedingly lengthy document of 30 foolscap typewritten sheets. It covered the many points raised during the investigation, the general state of the industry, and the operators' reasons why a reduction in wages should be made in an exhaustive manner. "I think all this information will be helpful to the board," remarked Chairman Knowles, K. C., when Mr. Young had finished.

It was pointed out that economically the mining industry was in a bad way. The demand for coal had come down to at least normal, while the industry was admittedly developed so as to supply far more coal than the markets which they had could possibly absorb.

During the war years, when there was little American coal entering the Western Canadian market for railway, industrial and domestic use, the mines reached a production which had already fallen off and which might continue to fall lower for several years. "During that time the industry supported a large number of employees," the operators stated, "and we are now in the unfortunate position of having the same large number of employees looking to the industry for their maintenance. It is self-evident that an industry running at two-thirds of its capacity cannot support the same number of men as the same industry running full time, and that is the situation that confronts us, and that is what we are asked by our employees to do.

"Manifestly a great many of our employes must seek their livelihood elsewhere. This may mean that while our mines may run more continuously, they will run on reduced output. Some of our operators may prefer this condition. Some may not. But we are well aware that if a cure is to be effected, that is the solution we must accept."

It was pointed out that an exhibit had been filed with the board showing that the average daily wage or earnings as the case may be of the miners under this jurisdiction of the United Mine Workers of America for the year 1921 were: Contract miners, $9.61; day wage men, $7.18; day wage boys, $4.82. Taking the number of men and boys in the classifications mentioned, the average earnings of all was $8.166 per day worked.

"With continuous operation, and this is the aim of the members of the association even at the expense of reduced daily output," continued Mr. Young, "we can count reasonably on about 300 days work in the year. The possible average yearly earnings of our employes, therefore, at the rates under the agreement which has just expired, is a matter of simple calculation. These figures give: Contract miners $2883; day wage men $2154; day wage boys $1446, or an average of $2449.80."

Continuing, the operators said: "There is an added argument which we cannot stress too much or too often, that so long as the mines continue paying for say three days' work a wage which is attractive even in comparison with wages for continuous employment in other industries, our industry will continue to be asked to support at least one-third more employes than the demand for the product warrants."

At the opening stage of the operators' arguments it was suggested that the board would not require any evidence to be adduced before it to satisfy it that the coal industry must be self-supporting. In other words, that unless the returns from operation were sufficient to pay all current charges, provide for the upkeep and renewal of plants and equipment, a reasonable return on the investment involved, the result must necessarily be that mining concerns would gradually withdraw from the industry, and the market geographically and economically tributary to the mines in District 18 be supplied with an imported product, and the employes who had a natural right to local employment, be forced to seek for that employment elsewhere.

Summarizing the increases that had taken place since 1915, figures were produced showing that those of boys had been from $2.59 to $2.99 per day; men employed on occupations working 11 and 12 hours in 1915 and now working 8 hours, received increases of from $3.25 to $3.92 per day; men working on occupations of 10 hours in 1915 and now 8 hours, received increases of from $4.03 to $4.21 per day. The average increase in contract miners' wages since 1915 was approximately $4.75 per day. It was pointed out that these increases represented practically 140 per cent on day wage of boys and men, and 90 per cent on contract miners. The increases in day wage men and boys did not take into account the reduction in hours worked per day.

The basis of settlement proposed by the operators corresponded with wages paid per day during a period from April to December, 1917, and the charts submitted through the federal government showing the cost of living substantiated the proposed wage scale. Acceptance of it, the operators claimed, would mean no reduction in the miners' standard of living. It was not a pre-war scale, nor did it anticipate pre-war conditions.

The final arguments of the miners' representatives were to be presented during the afternoon session.

During the morning session, further figures were put in as an exhibit from G. C. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, of Trail, B.C. Chairman Knowles paid a warm tribute to this witness, remarking that his evidence had been of much assistance to the board.

Chairman Knowles stated, in reply to a question, that the board would lose no time in making its finding.

EMPIRE DAY AT SCHOOLS

Empire Day was again fittingly observed at the Central Public School by the citizens of Fernie.

The pupils from the auxiliary schools marched with their teachers to the assembly grounds, where they were joined by the pupils and staff of the Central school.

The exercises were opened by a few introductory remarks from the Principal, followed by the singing of "O Canada" by the children in chorus.

Mr. Herchmer, chairman of the school board, then gave an address on sport. He showed how the principles of clean sport as practiced by the Britisher has placed the Empire in the front rank of the nations today and urged the children to follow in the steps of the men and women who had consolidated the Empire by those same principles. To assist them, he offered prizes for the best essay on sport, the details of which would be given out later by Mr. Sheffield.

A short speech on Empire Day and what it stood for was then given by Mrs. Wallace, Vice-Regent of the I. O.D.E., also offering prizes as formerly for the pupils who ranked highest in Canadian history.

Mr. Bryant, representing the G.W. V.A., spoke briefly on the Flag, remarking that it stood for safety and protection. He then led in the salute and the singing of the National Anthem.

After the closing address the pupils marched back to their different rooms, and then followed an exhibition fire drill. It was remarkable in what an orderly and efficient manner the school was vacated, the time occupied being one minute and a half from the time the gong sounded.

The final events were a baseball match on the school grounds and a picture show put on by Mr. Sheffield for the children of the auxiliary schools.

The moving picture machine was purchased by Mr. Sheffield from the funds obtained through the school concert, and is used in giving instruction in history and geography and nature study.

Representatives of the city council, school board, the I.O.D.E. and the G.W.V.A. were present, besides other interested persons, and enjoyed a very pleasing and profitable hour.

CELEBRATION ON JULY 1ST

A meeting was held on Monday evening in the city hall with a view to promoting sports on July 1st in aid of the Swimming Pool Fund. The turn out was not very large, but a practical start was made. S. Herchmer was elected chairman and A. J. Carter, secretary. It was arranged to hold a further meeting on Monday next in the city hall at 8.30.

If the object of the Children's Swimming Pool is to be attained it is essential that every citizen should lend their best efforts. It is very desirable that a keener interest be displayed and it is hoped that the meeting next Monday will be more largely attended. Mr. Herchmer has promised to present a tentative scheme which should at least be the real starting point towards a practical conclusion of this worthy movement.

A preliminary start was made in forming committees:

Parade Committee—P. H. Sheffield, chairman.

Finance Committee—S. Herchmer, A. Klauer, H. Douglas, P. Hughes and A. J. Carter.

Grounds—S. Wilson, chairman.

Refreshments—A. L. Walker, chairman.

Dance Committee — Tom Graves, chairman.

Sports Committee—J. McNicholas, chairman.

The committees will be completed at the next meeting.

DEATH OF WILLIAM BARRACLOUGH, SR.

Upon the return of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barraclough from their honeymoon trip, the former was greeted with the sad news of the sudden death of his father, which sad event took place at Creston, B.C., on Friday last.

Deceased, who was in his 59th year, was a native of Yorkshire, England, migrated to Canada with his wife and young family about 1900, and for upwards of a dozen years was a resident of Calgary, from which city he moved to his present ranch location about eight years ago.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the body being taken to Christ church where service was held and interred in Creston cemetery, Rev. H. Varley conducting the last sad rites, with Messrs. Robson, Ostrenski, Webster, Crawford, Cherrington and Simister officiating as pallbearers, and a large turn out of friends and acquaintances to pay their last respects.

In addition to the widow, three daughters survive, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. T. Trevelyar of Creston and Miss Mary of Calgary; along with two sons, Will, of Fernie, and John, at home, all of whom were present at the funeral except Will, who was only married at Nanaimo earlier in the week, and whom it was impossible to locate in time.

Besides a splendid reputation which he enjoyed as a thorough horticulturist, the late Mr. Barraclough's outstanding characteristic was his joviality and general likeableness of character. He will be missed by a host of friends particularly in Creston and Alice Siding, and these join in extending deepest sympathy to the widow and family.

BLAIRMORE GOLF TOURNEY

With delegates from seven clubs along the Crow line in attendance, the meeting called for Blairmore on Saturday evening waded through a maze of doubts and finally unanimously got behind the idea of a central golf body and the big idea is afloat.

Whether it will sink or buoyantly sail on remains to be seen. There are roughly 750 men golfers playing the game from Cranbrook on the west to Lethbridge on the east. The need of a governing body that will understand and be sympathetic to local conditions seems the reasonable plan. All clubs are associated with the Royal Canadian and their provincial association, but where there is a geographical situation that lends itself to the furthering of inter-club play and representative taurnaments, it is well, in the interests of the game, to have a distinct association

The first meet will be held at Cranbrook this year, on the week-end which includes Labor Day.

The week-end of golf, with the Blairmore Golf club acting as hosts, was enjoyed by all who were able to attend. Every town along the Crow was represented.

It was the first effort made to get the South Alberta and British Columbia bugs together around one jam pot. and they sure were there a-buzzin'.

The new club house was crowded to capacity all the time and the nine hole course with its several crisscross fairways looked like an ant hill on the march.

Under the direction of D. G. MacKenzie and A. J. Kelly and the executive of the home club, the draw was carefully made and the prize list gave every one a fighting chance to enter the halls of fame.

Open Gross Score—D. G. MacKenzie, Blairmore.

Handicap, Low Score—H. B. Brown, Pincher Creek; second, J. B. Wilson and G. Pasmore, tie; third, L. P. Robert.

Best Nine Hole Handicap—D. Martin, Blairmore, and Howard Nelson, Lethbridge, were tie and Howard had the punch in the play-off and was the only one from Lethbridge to enter the prize money.

The big match of the draw was between D .G. MacKenzie, formerly of Macleod, who has within the month moved to Blairmore, and Sandy Watson of Fernie, both brilliant exponents of the enthralling game of golf.

This pair took the gallery and showed the brilliant stuff in the high wind: MacKenzie played two 40's and Watson had a 42 and 41.

J. B. Wilson was also among the big leaguers, having a gross 84, a 41 and 43.

The ladies event had 20 entries. The scratch cup was won by Miss Marguerite Pearson, a Blairmore school girl, who evidently is the Joyce Wethered or the Cecil Leitch of the Pass country. She stepped out and played a tune of 55 for nine holes gross score, equalling many of the men.

The ladies' handicap was taken by Mrs. Hayne, of Fernie, 68, 35 net 33.

New York Evening Post: The extremely young have been roasted a good deal for their violate conduct. But let us examine: are the elderly behaving with any more dignity? Young ladies bob their hair, wear sporting tweeds and violent-colored scarves, show charming parallels of biscuit-colored stocking (and very gay gallant and charming they look, too). Why is that more disreputable than famous publishing houses wearing purple blurbs and using a lipstick of nonsense in their adveritsing? One of the most honored literary firms in this country uses two quotations to advertise a recent novel—"Like zooming along in an airplane," and, "A whale of a book." That sort of thing gives us horrid sensation of nausea. Even assuming that the book is a fine and powerful work, do such preposterous slogans help it with the judicious? Is there no department of life, sweet patrons, in which the still small voice of moderate statement can yet be heard?

N. S. MINERS IN OWN LIGHT

It is clear that the demands of the Nova Scotia coal miners cannot be met. It is a case of half a loaf being better than no loaf at all. Nova Scotia coal is a drug on the Montreal market, which is the main outlet for the mines of the Maritime Provinces. At the moment soft coal is being imported by water from the United States mines at a less price than it can be sold for from Sydney, C.B., and this in spite of the fact that a goodly share of the American mines are closed down owing to the strike.

Before the Scott Conciliation Board in session at this writing at Sydney, evidence has been produced tending to show that those engaged in mining in Alberta were better paid than were the Nova Scotia miners. This is unquestionably correct, but that is only half the story. First of all the Alberta mines produces more coal per workman than do the mines of the Maritime Provinces; but more important still, Alberta coal does not come in competition with the Pennsylvania and Virginia fields. Then again the Alberta and British Columbia coal mines, in spite of their advantageous position as regards local consumption, have not, generally speaking, been financial successes. Take the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company as an example. Over a period of twelve years there have been five in which no dividends whatever were paid. In 1910 there was a distribution of 2 per cent. and in the following year 1 per cent. All of which is absurd, for capital cannot be attracted for the development of our natural resources with any such showing. And while on the subject it may be mentioned that these losses are mainly attributed to labor troubles, brought on by men demanding more for their work than the industry would stand. In this regard we have an excellent object lession in what has been happening in Australia. A recent number of the London "Times" announces that the Broken Hill Steel Company's Works at Newcastle, probably the most important industry of its kind in the country, is closing down, owing to excessive costs, and thousands of workmen are unemployed.

Getting back to the case of the Nova Scotia miners, it is self evident that they must accept less or do without work. One of the two. Steamers are arriving at regular intervals at Montreal with Virginia coal as cargo, and at the moment there are large supplies on hand. If the United States mines continue to under sell the Canadian product, the outlook is indeed poor.—Saturday Night.

HOW BRITAIN RECOVERS

Publication recently of figures showing the respective gold holdings of five of the principal nations of the world, while showing the United States to have in its possession more than half the gold of the world, have, at the same time, drawn the attention of the financial journals to the splendid fundamental strength of Great Britain.

A table issued recently shows the present holdings of the various countries:

U. S. Banks	$2,976,703,000
Bank of France	1,100,000,000
Bank of England	635,500,000
Bank of Japan	600,000,000
Bank of Germany	230,000,000
Total	$5,541,703,000

Prior to the compilation of these figures it was the view of the uninitiate that Great Britain had lost heavily in her gold reserves during the trying years of the war. For in 1914 England's gold reserve was but $175,000,000. But the above figures will show that instead of a loss the "little old woman of Threadneedle Street" has experienced a gain of $460,000,000.

This must be taken as a fine demonstration of the commercial and financial powers of the Mother Country, for it is well known that she has been sending gold to the United States in a steady stream, totalling hundreds of millions, during the past few years.

Actually, though, between the present year and 1910 Great Britain's gold reserve did drop below the level of 1914, but it is all the more gratifying on that account to note that she is experiencing a steady replacement of what she lost; that the adverse balance of trade is fast vanishing and that the pound sterling is steadily being restored to par; a fine demonstration that the Mother Country has not lost her grip.

BARRING JAZZ BY LAW

The city of Savannah, Ga., must be credited with the possession of really elevated ideals of municipal virtue. It has adopted an ordinance barring jazz from the stage and from all public dances as "indecent and injurious to public morals" and providing a fine of $100 or imprisonment for 30 days as penalty for its violation. Apparently the law prohibits jazz in the home as well as in public places.

Can any northern or western community match this example of moral regulation? Puritanism has a new seat in the south. And whereas laws of this nature are unusually based more or less surreptitiously Savannah takes its heroic stand against jazz deliberately and after public hearings on this ordinance.

But having banned jazz by municipal legislation, the problem remains of defining and identifying it and prosecuting violations, Will the police be competent judges, or must there be official boards of censors?

The worst about moral perils of the kind is their insidiusness and the aspects of duplicity they present as respects keeping official regulation consitent. Jazz is a moral monster of such deceitful mien as to make its certain identification difficult. At all events, Savannah jazz-regulators who show capacity for their job will qualify for positions in national moral regulation.—New York World.

THE STORY OF "TRAILIN'"

It seemed that Fate had dealt kindly with William Drew when the notorious bandit chief, Piotto, and his charming daughter, Joan, took him to their hiding place, for Drew fell in love with Joan.

Drew's partner, John Bard, also held a warm spot in his heart for Joan. In business and in other ways, Drew and Bard were inseparable; but in love they were at odds. They decided to toss a coin for the hand of the girl—the loser to return East. Drew won, and Bard left.

The years passed. John Woodbury, a man of wealth and culture, living in the East, was given to pampering his son and trying to make a man of leisure out of him.

Anthony did not remember his mother and could not find out anything about her. His father was always evasive. So that inquiry availed him little. Anthony was also puzzled about a certain room to which his father refused him access.

In the midst of a discussion with his father, Anthony was startled to hear a man's voice from without cry, "John Bard—John Bard—come out to me."

John Woodbury was deeply agitated as he heard the call. He handed the key of the mysterious apartment to his son, and said, "You will stay in this room, and if I do not return, here is the key to the secret room." John Woodbury passed out to the grounds. A few moments later a shot rang out. As Anthony rushed to his dying father—who had fallen in a duel—he caught a glimpse of the opponent, who had hurried away in an auto.

The young man did not know why his father had answered to the name of John Bard, nor did he understand the absolute secrecy about his father's past. But he swore to kill the slayer.

Days passed. Anthony stood before a grave in the far West, reading the inscription on the headstone, which said: Here sleeps Joan, wife of William Drew." Nearby was the old house shown in the mysterious picture. Anthony asked a passing ranchman to whom the property belonged. He was informed that it was owned by William Drew, who lived on the other side of the range.

William Drew reached his ranch and sent for his selfish foreman, Steve Nash. "Nash" said the rich cattle owner, "there is a young fellow on the other side of the range that I want brought here and tied to that chair; but see that he is not hurt."

Nash started on his errand. At the first ranch house where he inquired Nash was informed that a fellow had swapped his lame horse for one of their wildest steeds, and had ridden away as though he had been born to the saddle. "He looks like a tenderfoot and talks like a tenderfoot, but he ain't no tenderfoot," was the added statement.

If you want to see how this story ends see Tom Mix in "Trailin' " at the Isis next Wednesday and Thursday, May 31 and June 1.

HELPING SOLDIER-SETTLERS

The Soldier Settlement Board advanced nearly $80,000,000 to settlers under the ex-service men's agricultural settlement scheme. There were about 25,000 settlers, and the average loan was about $3,500. The scheme was at its height in 1919 and 1920, when prices for stock, equipment and materials generally were also at their height. The big decline in agricultural prices hit the soldier settlers hard, like other farmers, and in many cases wiped out altogether their equity.

The Board made loans for the purchasing of land, stock, implements, the construction of housing, and required a minimum of ten per cent. cash by the settler. A few hundred dollars sufficed to get a suitable applicant an establishment representing several thousand dollars investment. The interest and principal charges were spread over fifteen years, in most cases. It is a tribute to the vigorous determination and staying power of the borrowers from the Settlement fund that even when their small equities were wiped out by deflation, they did not quit. Very few resales have occured. The low prices last year took away nearly all chance of profit, and only hope for the future kept them going. The Settlement Board naturally has to take account of the changed economic condition. It reports that the depreciation on horses purchased for settlers is $2,070,000; on cows, $1,335,000; on cattle, $560,000. The implement depreciation was $388,000, the lumber depreciation $460,000. Nearly $5,000,000 of equity is thus wiped out among about 25,000 settlers. The Board estimates the total depreciation per settler at $250, and proposes lengthening the term of the loans to 25 years, to reduce the annual payment to a sum much more in keeping with the leaner conditions the settlers are enduring.

As long as the principal is fairly secure, the Government can afford to be lenient as to time for the repayment of these loans. Two years ago no one forsaw the industrial and agricultural slump of 1921. The Board time and again restrained soldier-settlers from paying exorbitant prices for land and equipment. It bought below the market of the day in stock and implements. If it had not been for this carefulness, the depreciation now would have been vastly more damaging. Men who are willing to cling to their farms, notwithstanding a load of debt almost equal to the whole value of the venture, ought to be helped in every reasonable way, and extensions of the terms for repayments is assuredly no overdoing of generosity.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

PREDICTIONS OF WAR

Many friends of France are asking why that country which suffered so much and fought so bravely in the late war, should be in bad odor in English speaking countries at the present time. The answer was unconsciously given the other day in a newspaper interview with Count de Lesseps, who is at present in Canada and whose connections with this country are well known. Count de Lesseps' words were undoubtedly representative of a large mass of French opinion, and as such, justify the criticism to which France is being subjected in Great Britain and the United States. He speaks of war as a possibility of the near future, as though it would not be undesirable, and holds that the Armistice of 1918, which put an abrupt stop to a weekly toll in dead and wounded running far into the thousands, was a mistake.

Such convictions reveal a cleavage between English and French thought that cannot be bridged. British Imperial opinion and such American opinion as takes international questions under consideration, is definitely and overwhelmingly resolved that there shall be no more wars with their consent. The deeply rooted conviction of all men of real intellectual capacity in Canada and other countries where the Anglo-Saxon tradition runs, is that war as a solution of international disputes is the ghastliest of human failures; and that aspirations toward military grandeur constitute a disease which brings disaster to the nation which cherishes them. If the war did not teach France that, then the case of France is hopeless, and her ultimate doom certain.

The nations which continued to fight in the three years and a half that have intervened since the armistice, are those which stand lowest in the scale of average intelligence,—Russia, Turkey and Greece. China's civil war, arising from a bogus republicanism, may be left out of the question, for nobody in Europe can be blamed for that conflict. Even Russia is discerning the error of her ways; and Greece has lost her appetite for war since the Allies left her to stew in her own juice.

It is quite unlikely that there is going to be another war, although the surest way to produce one is to constantly predict it as Frenchman are doing. But one truth is absolutely certain: If it happens it will be a war in which neither Great Britain nor the United States will take part or willingly countenance. With the greatest Empire and the greatest republic that the world has ever known equally resolved on a course of abstention, the chances are small that France will deliberately precipitate a conflict; and it is pretty obvious that Germany has no such desire. So long as the English speaking people are for peace, the peace of the world is relatively safe, even without an Anglo-American Alliance. The present irritation with France is due to the fact that her military leaders and demagogic politicians insist on preaching solutions that the late war has shown to be pernicious folly.—the blind leading the blind.—Saturday Night.

BOOTLEGGING IN SEALSKINS

Bootlegging in sealskins is suspected to be going on on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the Canadian customs here have been warned by the United States authorities. The pelts taken by the Indians are being disposed of to American fishing boats, it is believed, and taken across the border where they fetch a better price than in Canada. Slaughter of the seals by every contrivance is being encouraged by the buyers, who are supplying the Indians with special equipment.

The Indians, by International agreement the only ones permitted to seal, are restricted to the use of spear and club with canoe or sail. Firearms and power boats are forbidden. The pelts taken are required to be shipped out in care of the collector of customs here, who inspects each skin for club marks, and spear holes to satisfy himself it was taken in a legitimate manner.

As the result of the recent patrol of the United States cutter Snohomish, in the course of which several Vancouver Island Indian villages were visited, it was thought that natives had been equipped by United States tarders with devices by means of which spear points can be used with rifles in the same manner as rifle grenades were fired at the front. This is enabling the Indians to work havoc among the herds. A line is attached to each spearhead, and altho the seals sink when hit, they can thus all be recovered.

Orders have been issued by the Customs that an extra careful inspection is to be made of all pelts in future. Two officers and the shipper will together examine each individual skin and should there be anything about their appearance to suggest that the killing has been brought about by the spear being shot instead of thrown, they will be confiscated and the shipper, in all likelihood, will face prosecution. Most of the pelts taken in this manner, however, it is thought, will be sent across the line direct from the West Coast in fishing vessels.

The seals are late this year. Last Spring they were passing the West Coast in April, but so far this season only one pelt has come down on the Princess Maquinna. The movement is just now beginning, it is believed. This Spring salmon are coming now and the seals are always with the springs, feeding on them as they go.

Traders report that the market is very poor this year as compared with the immediate past seasons. Pelts now bring $16 an $18, whereas last year they fetched up to $25. About 2,000 skins were taken by the Indians last Summer on the Vancouver Island coast alone. The Washington tribes and the Alaska Indians made catches of about the same size. This year, with a ring of bootleggers in operation, the toll taken on the swarming herds may reach any total. —Victoria Colonist.

Vancouver Business Woman Says She Tells Everybody How Tanlac Restored Her To The Most Perfect Health.

"I never dreamed a medicine could do so much for anyone in so short a time," is the statement of Mrs. Florence Swires, 4088 Hastings St., East, Vancouver, B.C.

"About a year ago my stomach commenced giving me trouble and after this I had an operation, and I never could seem to regain my strength. What little I ate soured on my stomach and bloated me up until my heart palpitated frightfully. Then I began having rheumatic pain in my left side and hip, and became so nervous I could hardly sleep.

"I'm certainly glad I took Tanlac. It helped me from the start, and I am in the best of health now. Tanlac gets the credit and I never fail to tell everybody about it."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barraclough arrived home from their honeymoon trip on Thursday morning.

It is said that a number of pupils in the public school were kept home by their parents on Empire Day in order that they would not have to salute the flag. The matter should be investigated. It would be a good thing to have the flag saluted every day by the pupils the same as is done in the schools on the American side of the line.

The Dodge car belonging to John Rahal turned turtle on the road a few miles west of Fernie early Thursday morning. It contained a party of joy riders who had been taking in the Cranbrook celebration. It is presumed the driver was dozing at the wheel when the car went over the bank. Fortunately no one was seriously injured and the boat not badly damaged.

CORBIN NOTES

(By Listener)

A very pleasant evening was spent on Wednesday, May 17, when a farewell dance and supper was given by Edith Cavell Rebekah Lodge, No. 38, to sisters Mrs. Geo. Cleough and her daughter Eleanor, who are leaving for Ladysmith, where Mr. Cleough preceded them a few weeks ago. After supper had been served, Sister Reger, D.D.P., presented Mrs. Cleough with a beautiful flower basket and Eleanor with a lodge pin, as a token of the esteem and respect which the lodge held for them. Bro. Wm. Montalbetti, on behalf of the Corbin Lodge No. 64, presented Mrs. Cleough with a check for her husband, who was up till the time of his departure one of the most active members in the lodge. He was also the senior P.G. of the lodge. After a few appropriate speeches the dance was proceeded with and a very enjoyable evening spent by all. The Cleough family was one of the oldest in Corbin, having resided here about 12 years.

The Corbin boys are sure gone crazy over bear hunting. First Doc. Elliot makes a kill. Then Val Hobart gets an old one and a cub. Then Cady and Tim Murphy go to the high hills to get polar bears but seen either a rabbit or a goat and did not stop to investigate, although both are supposed to be first class shots. After hearing the accounts of these hunts, the champion hunters of Corbin, Ferryman and Luck, went out. They sallied forth good and early on Sunday morning so that they could get Mr. Grizzly before he got properly woke up. Wending their way down the track from Corbin so they could see the bear if he tried to attack them and so be able to get their trustworthy blunderbusses in action before the bear could get them, and of course peddling hot air to each other as to what they would do if they saw one, when like a bolt from the blue one appeared running up the track towards them. Of course you couldn't blame them for being just a little bit scared to see a monster like a grizzly bear making straight for them and neither having a shell in his rifle. They both say they were not scared but both made for the tallest tree they could find, and although they are not record breakers in other respects they broke one then, and climbed fast too. They kept climbing to get out of reach because the bear was still following them. After spending about 3 hours in the branches and sizing up Mr. Bear at the bottom, they came to the conclusion that he was not quite so large as he first appeared and gradually came down a little so they could get a better view of him. Of course it was only the cub old Doc Sawbones had made an orphan and he was getting hungry and also wanted company and when he saw these two thought it a good chance to get some friends. Luck has the cub at home now, feeding it with a baby bottle. They say they are going to keep it for a couple of months, then let it go; but that is very doubtful.

RODEO BIG FEATURE IN "HER HUSBAND'S TRADEMARK"

A big feature of the sequence was an old-fashioned Spanish barbecue. For this a group of Mexican barbecue experts were hired by Sam Wood, the director, to cook the meat. Huge quarters of beef were wrapped in burlap, put on the grill, covered with dirt and roasted. When the meat was cooked it was placed on large pancakes of Tortillo, Mexican hard bread, to be eaten. After the scenes were filmed, everybody had a regular feast. Local newspaper representatives attended the barbecue, which was somewhat of an event in the annals of film novelties and the newspaper people, like actors, had excellent appetites.

The city police court has had a busy week in disposing of cases which were of a nature principally arising out of infractions of the Government Liquor Act. The proprietor of a local hotel was assessed $200 and costs, and some four or five individuals drew the minimum penalty of $50 and costs for being in a state of intoxication in a public place. On Wednesday evening a party of joy riders consisting of Mike Coma, John Slemko, John Shulak and M. Chubra, became too hilarious, necessitating their being taken into custody. They all submitted to arrest with reasonable reluctance with the exception of Mike Coma and he was only lodged in the city lock-up after a strenuous tussle, during which it is alleged he became ferocious beyond what is customary in a human being. All three members of the city police force received injuries stated to be caused by kicks, bites and scratches. In addition to having the ordinary D. and D. charge preferred against him, Coma will come up on Monday under the more serious offence covered by the criminal code, that of resisting a police officer in the performance of his duty.

NOTES ON PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA. — The Government is again on the defensive over the naval and militia estimates. Hon. George Graham's serio-comic proposals for "one small ship and two trawlers" on Atlantic and Pacific coasts is the talk of the country, and doubtless, by this time, of Great Britain. The Minister's announcement that the cruiser "Aurora," destroyers "Patricia" and "Patriot" and two submarines, accepted from the Admiralty, are to be laid up, was received in silence in the House. His proposal for a few days' training annually of perhaps 1500 young volunteers, along the lines of the militia system which his own cut in the estimates has reduced below "a point compatible with national safety" is subject of caustic comment in the press, and humorous conjecture as to probability of this shore-keeping force becoming seasick should it have to take to the water. Even in the Progressive ranks there is evidently a certain feeling of humiliation. Rev. Arthur Lewis, of Swift Current, asked questions which brough out the point that Great Britain's fleet, as limited by the disarmament conference, is intended partly for the defence of Canada which takes no share in the burden of the British taxpayer. Lengthy discussion was deferred, at the time the Minister laid down the Government's joke "naval policy," but Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen took occasion to remark that in time of peace, undoubtedly the trawler fleet would be all right, but "in time of emergency and danger we are to depend on the British fleet and British taxpayer—I do not know of what value this Government's service is going to be." A curious commentary on the Government's humiliating position is the publication in the Toronto Globe of Saturday May 13, of an editorial evidently prepared before the Minister's naval announcement, protesting against elimination of sea defence, and describing this service as more important to Canada than the militia.

Hon. W. L. M. King achieved a lot of publicity during the election campaign last fall, and possibly won some votes, by dissemination of what he called "the greatest political scandal" this country had ever seen, in connection with shipments of artillery ammunition from Great Britain to this country. The Liberal leader clung affectionately to the charge, because it was his own personal roorbach. He had discovered a shipload of these munitions while walking on the wharf at Levis. It was promptly explained by officers of the Militia Department that these were shells belonging to Canada, on termination of hostilities, and had not been purchased after the war. Mr. King insisted that there was something suspicious about their arrival just before an election, and only recently, in the House of Commons, made a final stand on the ground that if the Dominion had not drawn these shells, she would have been entitled to $6,000,000 additional credit with the war office. Even this argument was disposed of, finally and emphatically, when the Public Accounts Committee the other day called Col. Gordon S. Harrington of Sydney as a witness. Col. Harrington as assistant deputy minister overseas, had charge of the final settlement with the war office, and Thomas Vien, acting as a sort of prosecuting attorney for the Liberal members of the committee, cross-examined him. It was brought out that, far from being entitled to credit for artillery ammunition, Canada was unable to obtain credit for it. It was a drug on the market after the war and Britain had even dumped some into the North Sea, because it cost more to break up shells than make them. Hon. Hugh Guthrie said: "It has been suggested or stated that this ammunition was valued roughly at $6,000,000 and if it had not been shipped back to Canada, Canada would have obtained a credit of $6,000,000."

Col. Harrington replied: "Not correct. It was not worth $6,000,000, but whatever it was worth was a matter of indifference to me in settling these accounts, because we could get nothing for it.'

And Mr. Vien himself commented: "It is clear we could have obtained no cash credit."

-o-

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, after achieving election on a distinctly "Western" platform, and "jollying" the Progressives along since the session opened, has now come out into the open regarding the Wheat Board. He told the agricultural committee that a federal board was out of the question; a voluntary pool might be arranged by the Prairie Provinces without binding the others, but that was for the Governments of the provinces concerned to arrange. In short, speaking as a member of the Cabinet, he has at last put forward the plan originally proposed last fall by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. Taken in conjunction with a declaration, in the same committee, by F. N. McCrea, Liberal, Sherbrooke, that the western grain growers had no more right to a monopolistic board than potato growers of the east, and Mr. Motherwell's additional statement that increased wheat prices had to come out of the consumer, anyway, this belated candor may show the Progressive section how little it is likely to get out of this government. Even the question of lower freight rates is now dangling before a special committee, in which the Liberals have a majority, with small prospect of anything definite being arrived at this session.

Debate in the House on the placing of orders for steel rails and car repairs last fall, and an accusation from Liberal members that the late Government, in thus relieving unemployment, had sought political advantage, brought an interesting defence from the Liberal side. After Hon. J. A. Stewart had explained that the late Government could not well ignore unemployment conditions merely because an election was forthcoming, Hance Logan, Liberal member for Cumberland, N. S., took the floor and, with splendid reference to the car shops at Amherst, declared the work allotted by the Government was a godsend to that town, and its women and children, in a time of great stress. He pointed out that Sir Wilfred Laurier had sent work there in 1911 for precisely the same reason, and when Liberal members about him showed their annoyance by noise, the member for Cumberland said: "Let us be honest about this thing. I believe the late Government was not only justified in placing this order, but I also believe it is the absolute duty of the present Government to relieve by similar means the unemployment situation existing in these towns today."

-o-

Debate on the Proportional Representation introduced by W. C. Good, Prog. Brant, occupied a day, and drew from the Premier an expression to the effect that the Government was ready to carry out the decision of the House, but was adjourned in the end without a pronouncement on Mr. Good's motion for an experiment with the plan. The Brant member quoted statistics to show that, in proportion to votes cast, both Liberals and Progressives are much over-represented in the present House. On this basis, even "solid Quebec" ought to have 13 Conservative members, for there were 161,134 Conservative votes cast there. Under P.R., as Mr. Good claims, there would have been 73 Conservative M. P's, instead of 50; 97 Liberals rather than 117 and only 54 Progressives in place of the 65 now sitting in Parliament, while Labor and Independent candidates would have numbered 11 enstead of 3.

"THE SEA LION" THRILLS WITH REAL HEART APPEAL

Awakened to the realization that the girl he has sent to destruction is his own daughter, Nels Nelson, captain of "The Liar," is aroused to herculean efforts to effect her rescue. And despite the fact that one of the worst storms of the year is raging, the man who has never known defeat takes on the elements for a finish fight.

This is a situation that marks a climax in "The Sea Lion," distributed by Associated First National Pictures Inc., in which Hobart Bosworth is starred at the Orpheum theatre next week. In the title role, Bosworth is given a powerful character delineation that has never been equalled since the days of the "The Sea Wolf" and is, according to many critics who have viewed the picture, at least on a par with Jack London's famous character.

The central figure is the masterful Scandinavian sea captain who for twenty years, has nursed a fancied wrong, only to let his vengeance fall upon the slip of a girl who has entered his dominion on "The Liar." With the realization of their relationship, the paternal instinct, long dormant, comes to life in the gruff old captain.

It is in the contrast of these dual natures that Hobart Bosworth excels, giving to the screen one of the finest bits of acting that has been seen in a long time. His work has competent support in a cast that includes Bessie Love, Emory Johnson, Carol Holloway, Florence Carpenter, Charles Clary, Jack Curtis, Richard Morris and J. Gordon Russell.

Measure by Your Purse

If you are like most of us you are apt these days to measure things by your pocket-book. If an Exide Battery will really give you longer service and freedom from repairs, you want one when the time comes to replace the battery in your car, and when you buy a new car you want to be sure it is Exide-equipped.

One way to find out is to ask people who own Exides. Not only was Exide the original automobile battery, but more cars leave the factories today equipped with Exides than with any other battery.

Since the beginning of the battery industry Exide has been earning its reputation for ruggedness and long-lasting power. You owe yourself an Exide, not just because of the comfort, but because it is a genuine economy.

Therefore, we say, insist on an Exide and if you have any trouble in getting one, write us or our nearest district distributor.

FERNIE TAKES LEAD IN RACE

Fernie jumped into the lead in the Eastern section of the League last Sunday afternoon by defeating the White Spruce ball tossers by a score of 6 to 3. Cold rainy weather marred the game somewhat but the exhibition given was well worth seeing in spite of the inclement weather. Future games between these two teams will be looked forward to.

For the first four innings, Ault, hurling for Fernie, had only twelve batters face him, and of that number he struck out nine. Peters, for the White Spruce was also very effective and held Fernie to one lone hit for the first five innings. After that the coldness began to tell on both men and the batters were heard from.

Fernie opened scoring in the sixth when Bishop fumbled B. Wilson's grounder; Wilson advanced to second on an error by Crumley when Peters attempted to catch him off first and scored on Shand's hit. Dunlap flied out to Barger, then Shand was granted second on a similar play as Wilson's and scored Fernie second run on McTeer's hit. McTeer was caught pilfering second and Costa whiffed. The White Spruce failed to tally in their half, three batters going out via the strike-out route.

Fernie added another run in the seventh when Colton and Ault connected for safties, Colton scoring. White Spruce got in a couple of tallies, their first, in their half, when Zeith and Ruschal hit safely and scored on Crumley's long hit.

The eighth inning was a blang on both sides but Fernie put the game on ice in the ninth when a couple of errors and two timely hits gave them three more runs. A single by Zeith followed by two more hits gave the Spruce a single run in the ninth.

LONG-DISTANCE TALKER A BORE IN PARLIAMENT

The long-distance talker is an increasing bore in parliament and legislative halls of the country. The Vancouver World would legislate them out of existence. It says: "There should be a definite rule regarding the length of speeches, and no member should be permitted to exceed this without the permission of the house, secured before commencing his speech. This would give a chance to modest men who have something to say. As for the so-called 'silver-tongued orators,' if they cannot make their position clear on a given subject inside half an hour, they are only likely to make it all the more obscure by talking half a day.

LEADING BATTERS

CHOCAGO, May 20.—Ty Cobb, one of the greatest batters of the American League, is knocking at the door for the batting honors of the junior league circuit, according to averages released today and which includes games of Wednesday.

The Tiger leader, who was hitting .347 a week ago, boosted his average to .413 and finds himself safely reposing in second place. Cobb's great batting apparently has been an incentive to his team-mates and as a result the Tigers have been winning consistently.

George Sisler, St. Louis star, who was hitting .402 a week ago, went into the lead this week with .412. He also is leading the run getters. His great batting and base running has enabled him to score thirty-four times He is the best base stealer with fifteen, his closest rival being his teammate, Kenneth Williams. Sisler is also leading Williams for total base honors with eighty-four, Williams having 81, Sisler has made nine doubles ,three triples and four home runs, while Williams' total, besides eleven home runs, include seven doubles and a triple.

Witt of the Yankees, who was topping the list of hitters a week ago, lost three points and fell to third place with an average of .407. Other leading batters are: E. Miller, Philadelphia, .398; O'Neil, Cleveland, .394; Clark, Detroit, .391; Speaker, Cleveland, .375; Jameison, Cleveland, .353; Williams, St. Louis, .339; Pratt, Boston, .339.

Griffith of Boston and Hank Gowdy of Boston are leading Torpercer of St. Louis for batting honors of the National League with .417 and .400. Torpercer is hitting .398, but Griffith and Gowdy have played in only sixteen games, while Torpercer participated in twenty-two. Claude Rowher of Pittsburg, with .393, is fourth, while Roger Hornsby, the Cardinal star, has been having a hard time getting his batting eye trimmed. Horsby, however, is leading in total bases with sixty-seven, which include seven doubles, one triple and six home runs. His batting average is .383.

Bigbee and Carey of Pittsburg are running neck and neck for base stealing honors, each with six. Bancroft of New York is the best run getter with twenty-three.

The Senators and Browns were the first clubs to tally 100 runs in the American League. Both clubs scored their century on May 1.

Motorists and tourists will be interested to hear that a new Ice cream parlor and tea shop is being opened on Sunday, May 21st, at the Club House, Baynes Lake, hours will be from 12 noon to 9 p.m. This should prove a boon to visitors to Surveyor's Lake and the Waldo Golf Club. .1m

HOLIDAY BASEBALL

On Wednesday, May 24th, the fair sex made their initial public appearance when about twenty of the young ladies who have been practicing to make the Fernie Ladies' Baseball Team ever since its inception staged a battle royal in the City Park before a small but gratifying crowd.

Manager Jerue had the players fairly evenly distributed on the two teams as will be noticed by the close score. After seven innings of play, called to allow a second game to take place, the score was 25 to 24. During the play several Ruths, Mathewsons, Archers and Cobbs were much in evidence and it can be counted that more will be heard from these young ladies as the season progresses. They will make an outside team go the limit to hold their own.

The teams lined up as follows—

Red Wings—A. Costa, p; H. Phillips, c; A Walsh, 1b; Mrs Skilling, 2b; H. Smalek, ss; H. Sewell, 3b; D. Thomas, lf; E. Johnson cf. A. Corrigan rf. L. Sloan lf.—24.

Immediately after the ladies game, the Fernie Juniors took the field against the Intermediates. These boys are our coming ball players and even now it is worth ones time to look them over in action. They are a snappy lot of youngsters and deserve far more support than they get. Keep your eyes open for their next game. A little more weight and experience and these boys will be knocking at the door for berths on the senior lineup.

After nine innings of a see-saw game, the Juniors emerged on top by the score of 11 to 9. The game, full of snappy fielding and throwing and good healthy hitting, showed that these lads understand the game from A to Z. A very classy aggregation can be secured from the two contesting teams that will give a good account of themselves against an outside team.

The teams—

FOOTBALL

Fernie football team were at home with Michel on Sunday last, Michel winning a fair game by 3—0. The wind and the rain spoiled the game. The Michel forwards were too much for the Fernie half backs, who failed to hold them, thus giving the full backs too much to do. Sawyer made some clever saves and saved his side from a heavier defeat. Fernie forwards made a few desperate attempts and were dangerous, but were unlucky in their finishing, the Michel goal having some narrow escapes. McCrone scored all three goals for Michel. While he was lucky, he showed the Fernie forwards how to take advantage of an opportunity, and is a good man to have on a team. H. Travers played in his usual style and distributed the ball well to the wings. Fernie, with a little more practice, should give Michel a hard run when they play the return game.

The Fernie Seniors and Fernie Reserve teams will play at the North End grounds on Sunday at 2.30 sharp. The following are the teams:

Reserves — Goal, J. Hamer, Sr.; backs, J. Gibson, J. Hamer, Jr.; half backs, A. Dicken, G. Kennedy, M. Nee; forwards, T. Williams, R. Mitchell, J. Davidson, W. Thornton, B. Smith.

Players will meet at the G.W.V.A. dressing rooms at 2 p.m. All players to bring their football sweaters. Seniors will play in black and white; Reserve team in red and green.

HOOVER SUMMONS COAL OPERATORS CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Administration plans for holding down soft coal prices were carried a step further today when Secretary Hoover issued a general call for a conference of the 1500 operators whose mines are still producing. The conference is to be held in Washington May 31.

The operators will be asked to approve and put into effect the scheme of creating district committees to receive and allocate all orders during the duration of the strike, and with cooperation from a Washington committee, to prevent coal going into hands of speculators and middlemen who may unduly increase prices.

Fifty operators controlling the bulk of present nonunion and open shop production pledged themselves last week to support the plan, using the Garfield prices of the war-time fuel administration as a general basis from which to set up fair price standards. This would establish mine prices of bituminous coal in a range of from $2 to $3 per ton.

"In the meantime the administration expects the coal operators not to sell coal at prices in excess of the Garfield prices with such adjustments as are necessary." Mr. Hoover's statement on the general conference call said: "Furthermore, charges by wholesalers or retailers of larger commissions than allowed under the Garfield scale, or the resale of coal for speculative purposes is not fair to the public, and the government would like to hear from consumers who have been subjected to higher prices than this basis warrants."

The "vast majority of coal operators and wholesalers everywhere" were expressing approval of the voluntary price control plan, Mr. Hoover said.

As to the actual coal production situation, the geological survey reported today that the weekly output, which rose sharply to a total of 4,421,000 tons week before last, would remain approximately stationary at that point or might show a slight decline during the last week. Though the "market has quickened, indicated by rising prices for spot coal," the survey said, demand in some of the nonunion districts "is not yet active enough to call out full time production."

Striking union miners have gone back in considerable numbers "only in southeastern Kentucky and Tennessee," the report added and the production figures "generally suggest no marked change in the number of men on strike." Anthracite production, it was said, "remains at practically zero."—Spokesman Review.

SETTLEMENT NOT IN SIGHT

Calgary, May 29.—Although the members of the Knowles conciliation board, following the joint meeting of operators and miners' representatives on Saturday, held a meeting which extended for the greater part of Sunday, no amicable arrangement was arrived at in connection with the coal miners' dispute in District No. 18. At its conclusion W. E. Knowles stated that the board would adjourn until June 8, when it would again meet in Calgary.

Both sides are very reticient as to what actually took place at the meeting on Saturday. All they will say is that there is no immediate prospect of them getting together; neither is there much likelihood of their doing so pending the adjustment.

The mine owners claim that even if an actual agreement had been reached on Saturday the lignite mines would not operate owing to the fact that this is the "off" season so far as orders are concerned. In other words, even if there was no strike on the mines would be practically closed down as customary until the fall. Again any present small orders are being met by the non-association mines in the West Edmonton field, who claim that if necessary they could supply the normal winter requirements of Alberta by working to capacity. This is one of the most disturbing features in the whole situation both as regards the members of the Western Canada Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America.

PENNEFATHER IS RETIRED

(Lethbridge Herald)

Much to his surprise in that he was not due for retirement until he reached the age of 65 years, as he understood, whereas he is now only 56, Supt. Pennefather of the R. C. M. P. received an intimation by wire on Monday afternoon from Acting Commissioner Starnes at Ottawa that he is to retire on June 1, that is two days following, granting him leave of absence for three months on full pay, with pension allowance to follow. The reason for this action, as given in the wire, was that it was in the keeping of the new policy of curtailment in the R.C.M.P. with certain senior officers retired and the name of Inspector McDonald of Macleod mentioned as one of them. It is learned that the force is to be reduced by 400 men with, in addition to commissioned officers, all senior, non-coms retired, and all others, who are willing, given their discharge free.

Supt. Pennefather has seen nearly 38 years' service with the Mounties, having enlisted as a constable at the age of 19 at Regina on March 16, 1885. He was born at Castle Grey, County Limerick, Ireland, on Jan. 27, 1866, and belongs to the family of the Pennefathers of Carrigeen, Co. Tipperary. His mother was a Fitzgerald of the family of the Knight of Glinn, Glinn Castle, Co. Limerick.

Supt. Pennefather is to be succeeded here temporarily by Inspector Junget of Fernie, who has received instructions to take over.

MONEY IN THE BULK

The circulation of currency in Russia seems to be limited only by the paper supply and the capacity of the soviet presses. Already the total has reached seventeen trillion rubles. At the prewar value of the ruble this would represent more than eight trillion dollars—enough to pay the United States government expenses, even with the bonuses, for about 2000 years.

As 4,000,000 rubles can be bought in Moscow for an American dollar, the seventeen trillions of rubles, reduced to real money are worth only $4,750,000. This situation has a bright side. It suggests the possibilities of retiring the whole mess of soviet paper money at a comparatively trifling expense. If Lenine could get from each Russian family in gold what an ice cream soda costs an American citizen he could buy up the seventeen trillion rubles and retire them to the furnace. —New York Herald.

"Another well gone dry" is a critic's comment on H. C. Wells' announcement that he contemplates giving up fiction writing.

PREPARING FOR JULY 1

A general meeting, held in the city hall on Monday evening in the interests of the Children's 1st of July Sports, was fairly well attended. The different committees reported progress regarding the carrying out of the sports, arranging details in the matter of the program, etc.

The baseball and football clubs, acting in conjunction with the chairman of sports committee, are endeavoring to present a definite report at the next meeting.

There is a very strong desire amongst the most active supporters of the Swimming Pool scheme to promote at a very early date some plans which it is hoped will materialize in this rather delayed worthy object. It is anticipated that matters will be arranged so that a start will be made in the near future to equip the city of Fernie with one of the most substantial and up to date swimming pools in the west.

It was arranged to hold a further meeting on Monday evening next at 8.30 in the city hall.

CORBIN NOTES

Sid Knight has arrived back from the hospital at Fernie, where he underwent an operation following blood poisoning of the knee. He is now improving rapidly.

E. Chisholm is wearing a smile these days. His wife and two boys have arrived from Scotland.

A. McLean, of Fernie, is here to finish the contract on the school grounds and also to put in a new septic tank.

Most of the chicken fanciers are busy hatching chickens, but it sure is a hard job to get them. If you don't believe it ask Virgo or Knight.

Corbin must be getting on the map these days. There is a real wild and wooly west show in town, with real horses, all the trappings and cowboys and bull doggers.

Wonder when the B.C. government is going to start on the Corbin road? It is a pity to see such nice stakes all rot. If they cannot afford the road they might invest in a few cans of paint and give some of their supporters a nice little job painting them.

Joe Matt was one of the hunters during the bear slaughtering mania. Joe says it is too expensive for him. He had to buy a new suit, underwear and all. Did the bear get too close for comfort?

GALLAGHER NOT GUILTY

Calgary, May 30. — John Francis Gallagher was tonight declared not guilty of the murder of John G. Coward near Carbon, Alta., last September. The jury went out at 5.15 and at 8.15 announced its disagreement. Chief Justice Harvey sent them back again. Three-quarters of an hour later it was decided Gallagher was not guilty.

This was Gallagher's second trial. At the first trial he was sentenced to be hanged, and a new trial was granted two days before the sentence was to have been carried out, on the score that the jury had been misdirected by the trial court judge.

Gallagher was a war veteran and in the first trial he did not go on the witness stand. Yesterday he testified he was made stone deaf by the explosion of a shell on the battlefield. He said he did not kill Coward.

Coward was found dead in an automobile along the roadside last fall. He and Gallagher had been involved in a mining deal in which it was said in court that Gallagher had declared he lost all the money he had.

The trial has created widespread interest throughout the country and the Calgary war veterans have taken an active part in Gallagher's defense. Petitions were circulated for the second trial.

"Free as the air you breathe" is likely to become an obsolete phrase. It is proposed to place a tax on radio waves.

WAS NECESSARY FOR MISS DALTON TO BOB HER HAIR

Dorothy Dalton had to cut a couple of inches off her hair which had already been bobbed to some extent, so that she could more easily make up for the role of "Moran' 'in George Melford's production for Paramount of Frank Norris' famous sea story, "Moran of the Lady Letty," showing at the Orpheum Theatre Friday and Saturday.

She dresses as a sailor—the mate on her father's ship—in many scenes and the role is a primitive one, full of rough and tumble fighting and thrills. Rudolph Velentino plays the leading supporting role and Walter Long, famous screen villain, is an Eurasian mongrel and murderous captain of a smuggling ship. The support generally is excellent.

As a result of the high tariff on cigarettes more "pipe dreams" may be expected.

ASSIZE COURT NEXT WEEK

The supreme court assizes will open here on Thursday next, with Mr. Justice Gregory presiding. On the criminal list there are three cases arising out of the same set of facts in connection with the alleged holdup and theft of about $8000 worth of liquors from the premises at Dorr, occupied by Wm. Kerr. The respective charges upon which the crown seeks to have indictments returned are robbery with violence, burglary, and theft from a dwelling. The accused are David Gorrie, Jack Robinson alias Hanson, and Charles Henderson. S. Herchmer will act for the accused ,while W. A. Nisbet, of Cranbrook, will represent the crown.

After the criminal cases are disposed of the civil cases will be heard, of which there are one or two, so that it will probably be June 17 before the assize is concluded.

A band of rebels is reported to be having a hot time in Tabasco. President Obregon refuses to take any of their sauce.

POLICE COURT

Two cases arising under the Government Liquor Act came up in the police court the latter part of last week and the beginning of this week when G. Cazola and C. Lassalle were charged with keeping beer and liquor for sale. Casola was fined $100 and costs or in default 30 days, under the beer clause. Lassalle came under the section where, if guilt is established to the satisfaction of the court, the penalty is imprisonment without the option of a fine. He was sentenced to six months at Nelson. Both accused are out on bail, notice of appeal to the county court having been given by them. Casola's appeal will come on before the end of the month, but it is not likely the Lassalle appeal will be heard before September.

Mike Coma appeared before Police Magistrate Henderson on Monday to answer for the trouble he had brought about when celebrating with a party last week. On the charge of drunkenness the penalty imposed was $60 and costs or 35 days; and also for resisting arrest he was assessed $25.00 and costs or in default 15 days, and in addition 18 days in gaol. So far none of the fines have been paid and Mike is serving the 18 days as a starter.

In connection with the report of this affair in last week's issue, we regret that through an error the name of T. Tubra was given as one of the four in the party implicated in the above disturbance. This name should have been "Stevetz," who was one of the four taken into custody at the time, while Mr. Tubra was in no way connected or even present when the others were arrested.

RAILWAY DEBATE

OTTAWA.—Parliament is presented every week with a new evidence as to the strange mixture of irreconcilbale elements which go to make up the Government side of the Commons. Everybody knew that those ranks were full of men opposed to public ownership of public utilities, and particularly the National Railways, but it was a curious thing, nevertheless, to hear Walter Mitchell (St. Antoine), former provincial treasurer of Quebec, rise in his place and denounce the very principle to which his leader and the Government is pledged to give fair trial. Then, within twenty-four hours, another Liberal, W. D. Euler, of North Waterloo, took the floor and gave the House reasons for his faith in public ownership. He made bold to criticize Mr. Mitchell's stand, and predicted success for the National system under careful management. Mr. Euler urged the Government not to delay coordination of the railway boards, and dropped a significant hint that its supporters who oppose public operation would do well to reserve their opinions to themselves, otherwise, in event of failure, the public would be justified in saying that nothing else could be expected from an administration prejudiced in advance.

Of course the sincerity of the Government can only be accepted "subject to confirmation," in view of the element behind it, but at least it has strength of the anti-public ownership not dared to do otherwise than announce a continuation of the Meighen Government's policy in regard to the railways. During the late election campaign, Liberal speakers declared there was a "railway question" transcending the tariff in importance, and there was quite an imposing section of the official party platform devoted to criticism of the then Government. All that has gone by the board. Hon. W. C. Kennedy has informed the House that it is proposed to coordinate the lines and their boards, as planned by his predecessor, Hon. J. A. Stewart, of Lanark, though there is no indication yet as to whom.

Not the least interesting feature of the debate on railway estimates was the statement of Hon. T. A. Crerar, that the policy of the Meighen Government "was the only sound policy this country could follow—The Grand Trunk system had to be brought into the Canadian Nationals, and in my judgment the Government of the day would have been derelict in duty if it had failed to do so." The Progressive leader wasn't boosting much for Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen during the election, but now the votes have been counted, a belated tribute dosn't cost anything, and is better than none at all.

Hon. Walter Mitchell's stock has fallen considerably since his contribution to the railway debate. The ex-minister from Quebec had been rather a "mystery man," credited with all manner of administrative and political acumen—until he spoke in the House, and disclosed merely the old-time arguments against public ownership. But he only shared the fate of the majority of the Cabinet. The latter looked somewhat imposing when formed. The House has since discovered that many of them are really lightweights. Even the Progressives, who endeavor to be polite and considerate in discussing estimates, have been unable to hide their amusement at the paucity of knowledge in regard to his department displayed by the Minister of Public Works, Hon. J. H. King. Hon. George P. Graham, who might have utilized his experience in the railways department, is admittedly a square peg in a round hole with the militia portfolio. Hon. James Murdock, who ought to have something with the labor department, appears to be as much at sea there as if he had been given Marine and Fisheries. Hon. D. D. McKenzie, solicitor-general, when in difficulties quotes scripture or cracks an ancient joke. Even Sir Lomer Gouin, said to be master of the Quebec wing which controls the administration, sits in silence to the left of his young chief, except when speaking for the justice department, and then restricts himself to typed statements provided by his deputy, Hon. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, might be interesting if anyone could tell what he says. There is some hope for the department of Trade and Commerce, where Hon. J. A. Robb seems at least willing to find out what he dosn't know. Hon. Jacques Bureau is still chuckling over a benevolent joke played upon him by the Conservative Opposition in allowing passage of his estimates without a battle. Probably the one minister who thoroughly knows his work is the veteran Finance Minister, whose influence in the regime of 1896-1911 was so well recognized that the slightly modified version of the old National policy current during that period is still described by liberals as the "Laurier-Fielding tariff." And even Mr. Fielding's great test comes on with the budget.

It is only natural that ex-ministers to the left of Mr. Speaker should be better posted than the new incumbents, and it is amusing to hear them at times, providing information to help out the latter when questions come from the many new members in the Progressive section. And—to refer again to the member for St. Antoine Hon. Mr. Mitchell ran up against this situation in his railway speech, when some of his arguments were challenged by Hon. J. A. Stewart, late Minister of Railways, and shown to be based on entirely wrong promises. In brief, the occupants of the treasury benches are not always able to fight their own battles, let alone extend help to each other. And as for the Premier:

"Gone are the days when his heart was young and gay,
Those good old days when he followed Laurier.
Now he's in power and the arrows round him sing;

Interest in the railway rates question, now before a special committee, received new impetus with the appearance as a witness of E. W. Beatty, in a long, prepared statement informed the members in effect that the country must cease to hope for relief from the burden of high freight rates in the event of the Government allowing the schedules of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement of 1897 to come into effect again. The effect of other concurrent rate reductions would be "too serious to contemplate' the C.P.R. is prepared, however, said its President, to put into effect reductions on basic commodities which would be of greater benefit to the country generally than resumption of the Crow's Nest agreement. All of which is a further blow to the ambitions of the western Progressives. Mr. Beatty's statement strengthens a general impression that the demands of the Progressives in this regard, would serve a sectional interest, at the expense of the Dominion generally, may be accepted, indeed, that there is small chance of the Crow's Nest agreement, with its special low rates on a certain small list of commodities, being restored, and so, denied the wheat board in the compulsory form asked for, the Progressives have little left to hope for from the Government. With the budget proposals reflecting the will of protectionist Quebec, there remains no substantial basis for the Liberal-Progressive Alliance.

An attempt of the Government to sequester a bit of patronage and dodge the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission was frustrated by the Senate, when the Upper House cut out of the Defence Bill a clause giving the Cabinet power to place in new positions such officials as were affected by the amalgamation of the militia, naval and air departments. The Senators also rejected the proposal for three deputy ministers, amending the plan to provide for but one deputy and a comptroller of finance. "We'er always saving the country money," remarked Senator Fowler.

The Housedividing on non-party lines, has declared against restoring the embargo against oleomargarine. Existing legislation expires on August 31st, and there is some conjecture as to who will take the necessary action. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, whose department the matter chiefly concerns, spoke and voted against allowing importation of the butter substitute, while Hon. W. S. Fielding, took the opposite view on the ground of personal liberty. The Finance Minister also took occasion to read his colleague a lecture on his treatment of the question, and remarked that he feared Mr. Motherwell was "a free trader in everything but oleomargarine."

During discussion of Public Work estimates R. B. Hanson, Conservative member for York-Sunbury, caused a fluttering on the Government side by allusion to pre-election promises made by W. F. Todd, who was defeated by R. W. Grimmer, Conservative, had carried on a campaign throughout the island parishes, and promised a wharf or breakwater at practically every fishing hamlet in the country. Mr. Hanson described it as "a straight bid for votes on a bribery principle," and challenged Mr. A. B. Copp, Secretary of State, to name instances, quoted specific instances at Castalia, Welshpool, Deer Island and Seeley Basin. He added that no attempt had been made by the Liberal Government to implement these promises, some of which had no doubt been made in good faith.

SOVIET RULE IN SAMARKAND

Though I already knew full well that Samarkand Bolshevism is of the Moscow brand, I determined to obtain work in some official capacity, so that I might have a still better view of the inner workings of the Samarkand system. When I applied at the Labor Bureau and informed the chief that I was well versed in languages, he offered to accept my services at what seemed an enormous salary, but was equivalent to merely a few shillings per diem. On the following day I was installed at the application office, which scarcely deserved its name; for those who 'applied' there were forced to do so by the Ispolkoms and certainly did not repair to its gloomy corridors because they were wildly anxious to obtain employment in the coal mines of Samarkand or the cotton or oil-fields of Ferghana. The majority of the applicants were either very poor or fairly well-to-do. In the first instance we dealt with them shortly. If they seemed strong enough they were assigned to the coal-mines or the oil-fields and hustled off by soldiers. The well-off, it is true, were permitted to purchase better treatment, but they were not paid for the intensely hard manual labor they were forced to do, and they were wretchedly underfed. It seemed to me that nearly everyone in Samarkand was living on melons. There had been a very large crop and, since it was impossible to export it, it was being used for home consumption. I remained at the Labor Bureau for some weeks, and can honestly affirm that during that period I was always fiercely hungry. I grew to detest the melons and the wretched black bread. The work, too, was tiresome to a degree. It consisted chiefly of assigning the Uzbeks to various mines and filling in countless forms of extraordinary length and complexity in which all manner of data concerning the wretched "applicants" had to be entered in the most minute and tedious fashion.

One day when I was telling a poor Uzbek how to treat an ulcerated condition of his leg, a Bolshevist official, overhearing me, remarked that I must have studied medicine. Incautiously I replied that I had, and the same evening I was asked to step into the office of the manager of the bureau, where I found the local chief of police. The two men put me through a tremendous cross-examination, and asked me the last place from which I had come. I told them Bokhara, and then without delay, and for a cause I could never ascertain, I was made on the instant, to board the train for that place.— Travels and Hazards in Central Asia.

THE STORY OF "GLEAM O'DAWN"

Gleam O'Dawn was living alone in an old cabin in the Canadian woods. His father had been a great artist, and Gleam was trying to follow in his footsteps, getting his material in the wildness of forest and hills. There was another reason for seeking this solitude. His father had deserted his mother before he was born, and the suffering of his mother had been so impressed upon Gleam that he cared little for human companionship.

Not far from Gleam lived Silas Huntworth and his adopted daughter, Nini. Huntworth once had been a famous artist, but was now an invalid. He and his adopted daughter kept to themselves as much as did Gleam. They never met until one day when Gleam heard a scream from the the Huntworth cabin and, making his way hurriedly to the place, found the enfeebled Huntworth struggling with Caleb Thomas, local representative of the Hudson Bay Company, and his son, Gordon. Gleam's appearance ensued Thomas and his son to leave the cabin.

Huntworth told Gleam that the Thomas pair were trying to eject him from the land, claiming it was Hudson Bay property; but Huntworth declared it belonged to him. He had had trouble with Thomas and his son before, and had sent a letter to the North West Mounted Police. This letter, intercepted by the elder Thomas, made him more determined to eject Huntworth, and resulted in the fight which Gleam saw.

Invited to remain a while, Gleam told Huntworth and his adopted daughter that he was an artist and hoped to be as great a one as his father had been. Huntworth promised to help Gleam—an offer the young man accepted, as he found great solace in the company of Nini. In time Gleam and Nini became much attached to each other. A daily visitor at the cabin was Pierre, an old half-breed fiddler, who was believed to be deranged.

One day Nini found a knife that O'Dawn had dropped. On the handle was the picture of a beautiful woman. She was fired with jealousy. She rushed to the woods to dispose of the knife. She met Pierre. In her fury she told Pierre, who looked at the picture carefully and told her he would return it to O'Dawn.

To O'Dawn Pierre declared that he knew who O'Dawn was. He said he remembered the face on the knife. It was, he told O'Dawn, a carving of O'Dawn's mother. Pierre said he had been in love with her, but that the artist had won her love away and had then deseserted her before he O'Dawn was born. Finally Pierre informed O'Dawn that he had vowed to kill that man—and that the man was Huntworth. He had feigned sanity to await a favorable time to "get" Huntworth.

O'Dawn's bitterness grew as Pierre related his tale. At the end he declared he would kill Huntworth himself—that he never wanted to see Nina again.

Pierre paid a mysterious visit to Caleb Thomas. A few nights later the Huntworth house was burned. Caleb Thomas, when he found Huntworth and his adopted daughter had not been burned to death, invited them to his home until they could settle again. Pierre taunted O'Dawn because he had not kept his vow to kill Huntworth. O'Dawn declared he would do it next night.

At the Thomas place the next night Caleb asked O'Dawn to tell Pierre's fortune with cards; Pierre having told Caleb the purpose of O'Dawn's visit. O'Dawn began to relate the sorrowful history of his mother, the effect being heightened by the fact that all the lights had been put out except one candle. Huntworth was overwhelmed by the recital. At its close Pierre blew out the candle to give O'Dawn a chance to get Huntworth. In the darkness O'Dawn caught hold of Nini. This brought him to his senses and he fled from the place. In the excitement, however, Caleb, hating O'Dawn, fired at him. When the lights were turned on Caleb found that his shot had killed his son.

Huntworth and Pierre followed O'Dawn to his cabin. Pierre watched outside. O'Dawn told Huntworth of his true identity, also of his oath. Then he asked his forgiveness. Hearing this, Pierre stole into the cabin and obtained O'Dawn's knife.

Next day Huntworth's body was found by the Mounties and Nini in the woods, with O'Dawn's knife in it. Nini hurried to O'Dawn and told him she believed he was innocent. She asked him to flee, pleading her great love for him but fearing the work of Caleb Thomas. O'Dawn was placed under arrest. As he was being taken from the cabin Pierre, crazed, came running, shouting:

"I have killed the father. Now I will kill the son."

HOW REGISTER MADE GOOD

The man who made the cash register famous—and an actual necessity—died a few days ago. "Printers' Ink" tells in an interesting fashion how the idea of the cash register was conceived and describes some of the early difficulties encountered by its first active advocates.

"John Henry Patterson was born on a farm near Dayton, Ohio, on December 13, 1844. He served under the hundred day enlistment plan during the Civil War. Following this, he was variously employed as a farm hand, canal toll-collector, orchardist, retailer of coal and finally, while running a general store with his brother, Frank Patterson, at Coalton, Ohio, he struck the idea on which his immense manufacturing business was built. It seems that while the Patterson Brothers sold a lot of goods in their store and apparently at good profits, still the business was unprofitable. Mr. Patterson surmised there must be a leak somewhere. He soon found it. A popular clerk had made arrangements with customers to charge them for only part of their purchases, provided they would split their savings with him.

"A short time after this Mr. Patterson heard of a machine called a cash register that was made in his own town of Dayton, Ohio. It was claimed that this device would act as a mechanical check on all sales. He ordered two by telegraph without asking the price. They came and he installed them. After they had been in use for a while the Patterson Brothers noticed that the receipts invariably balanced to a penny with the amount recorded by the machines. Never an error of any kind.

"That struck them as strange; so they spoke to the manager about it, and he said: 'Why of course, they balance.' Asked for an explanation he stated that the way he operated them was as follows. He waited until the close of the day's business; then, after he had counted up the day's receipts, he registered various amounts on the machine until they agreed with the total of the day's receipts.

"There was a nice job waiting the next day for a less scientific manager, From this time forward the machines were correctly operated and the end of that year showed a profit of many thousands of dollars.

"'If that machine is a good thing for our little store at Coalton, Ohio, it would be a good thing for every retail merchant in the world," was the conclusion arrived at by J. H. Patterson. So he went to Dayton, interviewed the company making the registers, and he and his brother Frank bought out the concern.

"Then their troubles began. While the machines would do for any storekeeper just what they had done for the Patterson brothers, the difficulty was to sell them and make them stick after they had been sold.

"You see, the popular idea of a cash register in those early days was that it was a thief-catcher, and clerks resented its introduction into a store in which they were employed. Agents were hard to get—money was harder to secure. There were many manufacturing difficulties. One of these came near breaking up the concern.

"The English agent had ordered 100 machines and they had been shipped. The company at Dayton depended upon the money that the agent was to pay for these registers to tide them over their financial difficulties. Word came by cable that all of the machines were defective, and that they must be shipped back to Dayton—and back they came. This pretty nearly killed the officials of the N.C.R. They scurried around for money and simply forced the banks to help them out.

"Finally, after years of the hardest kind of work, with discouragement, with poor workmanship, bad management on the part of employees and many financial difficulties, the turn came. The National Cash Register properly made, with many improvements suggested by store-keepers themselves, was accepted at its true value and the business grew and grew until we find the immense factory of today and a product which goes to every civilized country of the world."

That Wild Horse Creek is rich in gold was again demonstrated last week, when a Chinaman working up the Wild Horse Gulch brought into the city a nugget valued at approximately $420.00. The piece of precious metal comfortably filled the palm of the hand and averages from a quarter to a half inch in thickness. — Cranbrook Courier.

As everyone in this district knows that the Great Northern Railway is the largest customer the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. has, the following item from the Spokesman Review will be of interest: "Crop prospects and business conditions in the Pacific northwest promise the Great Northern railway its 'biggest year since before the war,' W. P. Kenney, vice-president and director of traffic, said in Spokane yesterday while discussing general conditions. Mr. Kenney stopped in Spokane while en route to St. Paul from California. "If we get the crops and the summer tourist business that is in sight, we will have a big year in the northwest," Mr. Kenney said. "Crops are promising and inquiries indicate the biggest tourist traffic year in the northwest since before the war. This is also indicated by the improvement in the lumber business in the last two months, which is still growing better. We are highly optimistic over business prospects for this year."

SIR GEORGE BURY GETS DIVORCE AT RENO, NEV.

RENO, Nev., May 29.—Sir George Bury, former vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway was granted a decree of divorce in the district court here yesterday from May Saloma Bury. Grounds were given as desertion and the suit was not contested. Sir George was commissioner of railways in Canada and Russia during the war for Great Britain and was knighted in recognition of his services.

Sir George, although he is no longer connected with the Canadian Pacific Railway, receives an annuity from the company the records of the case show. A property settlement provides that he pay his former wife $800 a month for the next four months and then $500 a month during the life of his gratuity from the railway, after which $400 a month will be paid. Life insurance totalling $10,000 also has been taken out in her favor.

Sir George alleged in his complaint that since his wife left him he has been providing her with $10,000 per year for her support.

PEOPLING THE COUNTRY

Bishop Williams of London, Ont., says that Canada ought to stop immigration from the United States and other foreign coutries and redouble its effort to fill the West with people from the British Isles. He adds that in both our immigration and tariff policies the two governing principles should be the unity of Canada and British connection. In the same issues of the newspapers containing a report of Bishop Williams' address appears a cable despatch recording the protest of the Parliamentary Secretary of the National Farmers' Union against any proposal to send agriculturists to the Dominions, says the Toronto Globe. There was no surplus population in the rural areas of Great Britain, he declared.

No Canadian who has discussed the problem with any practical knowledge of it has encouraged the notion that immigrants in any considerable numbers can be brought from the British countryside. Presumably Bishop Williams does not wish to fill the West with city dwellers from the British Isles. The Canadian Government is wisely trying to prevent an influx of people who have had no agricultural experience.

If Canada were to bar out settlers from the United States and hardy tillers of the soil fron continental Europe it would say good-bye to its hope of any substantial growth of rural population. Yet is financial brudens can only be carried if there are more shoulders to bear them. The solution of the railway problem, for example, is the peopling of the empty prairie lands.. It is perfectly safe to predict that no Canadian Government will agree with Bishop Williams' views on this question, and probably few Canadians will share his fears for Canadian unity and British conection.—Vernon News.

A party made the ascent of Castle Mountain during the week-end. This trip is well worth taking. From the summit a fine view is obtained from Coal Creek to the Lizards and from Elko to White Spruce. The climb is easy, a well marked wagon road leading up most of the way, followed by a short walk through the woods with very little undergrowth. Any parties taking this trip should take the trail by the brewery. Near the last house this divides. Keep to the left, then at the next turning keep to the right. This leads to a lumber trail which leads past two shacks and continues for a considerable distance. At the trail end strike to the left through the bush to the second peak, which is in close view. Descending through a small ravine leads to the highest peak, which is easily climbed. The trip each way took the party, which included some ladies, just two hours and a half. One party returned by way of the scarps but this route is not recommended owing to the number of logs and small timber.

ALWAYS WRONG TO BE FAT

By R. L. Alasker, M. D.

How much should one weigh to be healthy, fit and enjoy life to the utmost? Dr. R. L. Alasker, in Success, says no one can say exactly how much a person should weigh, but he gives this rough rule, easy to remember and "fairly" correct:

"Up to five feet (60 inches) multiply the height in inches by two to get the poundage.

"For each inch over five feet add four pounds.

"For example, a man who is five feet eight inches tall should weigh about:

60 x 2 or 120 pounds
8 x 4 or 32 pounds

Total 152 pounds.

"A woman should weigh about five or ten pounds less than a man of the same height."

Fat and health are not companions, he insists. "It takes a lean hound for a long race," he writes. "In the Marathon of life, the fat individuals almost never reach the goal. They tire and drop by the wayside long before the race is run. Ask your insurance agent about the vital statistics regarding the leans and the fats."

But he holds out hope to the "fat of the land." They need not remain so if they will take sensible measures to reduce and avoid attempts to reduce by means of acids and other like treatments which are very dangerous:

"Everybody who is over-weight can reduce. There is no exceptions. However, not everyone who is underweight can gain. Some are naturally thin,, and if they try to force themselves to grow heavy they generally fail to take on weight, but they succeed in upsetting some part of their digestive apparatus. Many thin individuals can gain if they stop worrying, spend more time relaxing and resting, and eat judiciously, which does not mean to over-eat."

The foods that are fattening he outlines as all fatty and oily foods, whether of vegetable or animal origion, including butter, fat meats, fat fish, oily peanuts, all oily nuts, olive oil and other table oils. With this list he includes all foods rich in starch and all sugary and sweet foods.

On the other hand, foods that will help reduce fat are: fresh juicy fruits, berries, melons, succulent and watery vegetables, though green peas, beets, green lima beans, green corn and parsnips, should be partaken of moderately.

It is always wrong to be fat, declares Dr. Alasker; but it is also wrong to attempt to reduce by the use of glandular products, such as thyroid preparations. Some reduce by means of salts, but he doesn't think this method worth while for the reason that such treatment cannot be continued indefinitely ,and when the treatment stops the weight usually returns. He advises that: "The logical way to reduce is to adjust the exercise, the eating, and the drinking. When this is judiciously done there is no danger. Those who need to reduce always get into better health when they reduce correctly. Some exercise strenuously, and in this way manage to lose some weight. The more they exercise the hungrier they become, and they usually satisfy this hunger. As a result, the reduction is slow, a habit of too liberal eating is maintained or acquired, and what is lost in exercising is usually regained through over-eating.

"Those who exercise too much do not long maintain their physical activity but they generally retain the over-eating habit. It is rather common to find people who have reduced through strenuous exercise regain their weight and even add more poundage after the exercises are discontinued.

"It is best to be sensible. Exercise does reduce weight, but it also increases the appetite. Moderate exercise, such as walking a few miles daily, and taking ten minutes of calisthenics twice a day, will not make one ravenous. This is better than to exercise so much that the weight is brought back through excessive eating.

"If there are great bulges of fat on any part of the body, they can be made to disappear in reasonable time through exercise and firm massage.

"Stout persons who have been physically sluggish should start to exercise only one or two minutes at a time, and gradually increase the time so that in about two weeks the exercise periods cover about ten minutes, both morning and evening.

"No one with a tendency to put on fat can remain at the right weight without using will power. This is absolutely fundamental. If anyone promises permanent reduction without this factor there is a mistake, or worse, in the background. Those of us who tend to be stout have to earn our slenderness.

"It is not dangerous to reduce quickly if it is done right. Those who are very heavy should reduce quickly in the beginning. Those who weigh over two hundred and fifty pounds should make as quick reduction as possible the first month. How much should they reduce? With moderate exercise and very modest diet, they can generally get rid of twenty-five or more pounds the first month, much to their benefit. Those who are lighter usually lose more slowly."

COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

SECOND ENGLISH LAD TO REACH PREMIER'S OFFICE

The second English farm boy to achieve a Canadian Premiership within a year is Charles A. Dunning, of Saskatchewan. It is only a few months also since Alberta farmers elevated "Herb" Greenfield to the highest office in the province's gift.

Nineteen years ago, Charlie, a hobbledehoy lad of eighteen years, from Leicestershire, climbed off a tourist car at Yorkton, deposited his carpet bag and cricket bat on the platform, stretched his legs and declared: "Here's where I start to climb the ladder, and in a few years———." Within an hour he had hired himself out to a farmer at $10 a month and board.

A little later Dunning was a homesteader at Beaverdale, twenty-five miles from a railway. That district of Saskatchewan was then a cross section of Europe. Eager, restless immigrants were pouring in from all quarters. It was the "real thing" in the "melting pot" of citizenship. There is therefore nothing second-handed about Dunning's experience of the struggles of immigrants.

Driven from his native England by need for a dryer climate, young Dunning brought with him a love of good books and a taste for political economy. The long winter evenings on the prairie gave him opportunity for study. Debates were organized in the Beaverdale school house and Dunning soon became a leader. By 1910 he was elected a director of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association.

Though prominent in the farmers' co-operative associations, Dunning in politics has maintained his original allegiance to the oldtime Liberal party. In 1916, he joined the Saskatchewan Government as Provincial treasurer. Whether Dunning by reason of his calling, of which he is proud, and his long association with the farmers' co-operative societies, can make a political peace with the Progressives and retain the reins of power remains to be seen.

In any case the newest Premier is likely to be heard from further in Canadian affairs. An unspoiled English-Canadian, fortune has endowed him with a gift of lucid thought and speech, a capacity for hard work, an aggressiveness of mind and manner, a good conceit of himself and a lovable personality.—Toronto World.

Winninpeg Woman Became As Weak As A Child From Stomach Trouble. Is Now Picture Of Health And Has Gained Fifteen Pounds.

"I never would have believed any medicine could bring about such a change as Tanlac has done in my wife," said Harry Gray, of 126 Bryce St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"For many years my wife suffered from stomach trouble and bilious attacks which, of late, were so violent that she had to go to bed for two or three days at a time. She could hardly eat anything and got to be very thin and as weak as a child. She had terrible headaches and suffered so dreadfully that though still a young woman, her hair had turned gray.

"But the way Tanlac has helped her is remarkable. Why she is like a new woman. She has had a splendid appetite and has no trouble with indigestion, bilious attacks or headaches. She has gained fifteen pounds in weight and is the picture of health. We both think Tanlac is the finest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

THE WESTERN MILK

Pacific Milk is the only milk put up in the West that is entirely a Western product, owned, controlled and the factories operated by citizens of British Columbia. Its purity and unusual richness is due to the high quality of the fresh milk from the famous dairy herds of the Fraser Valley. Its rich cream flavor is due to an improved process which retains the natural and very delicate taste of good milk.

Canadian Grain Movement.

Opposition to the St. Lawrence waterway comes quite naturally from New York interests, who fear the Buffalo and Atlantic ports of the effect of a competitive route from United States. Arguments from opposition sources are hardly quite fair to Canada's interest in the great waterway, however, when they misrepresent the volume of water-borne traffic through Montreal.

Of wheat 153,928,816 bushels were transported from the head of Lake Superior to eastern ports, and of that volume only 885,081 bushels went to Montreal by the water route.

But according to the report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, for the same year, 28,400,000 bushels of wheat passed through Montreal by the water route—the Lachine canal. There is a considerable discrepancy between 885,081 and 28,400,000.

The Gazette commercial and financial review for 1921 gives the wheat movement through the Lachine canal route as 27,684,756 bushels. The Gazette's figures are somewhat less complete than the Dominion bureau of statistics. They are near enough however, to indicate that there is an element of carelessness, to put it mildly, in the use of figures by propaganda agencies to discredit the proposed St. Lawrence development. — Ottawa Citizen.

WOULD DIG UP ANCIENT CITY

Dr. Howard Crosby Butler, professor of architecture at Princeton University, is on his way to Constantinople to learn whether the Greeks or Turks control the site of Sardis, the capital of the ancient Lydian Empire, and to obtain permission from the proper authority to resume the search there for ancient sculpture, jewels, coins and other objects for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The latest information received by the museum was that the site was in the hands of the Greeks, but was likely to pass into the hands of the Turks at any date. If peace is restored the excavation of the site may proceed, regardless of whether Greece or Turkey remains in possession of that part of Asia Minor. Dr. Butler holds the title to the site from the Turkish Government of 1910, and his rights are protected by the Treaty of Sevres. This treaty also gives the archaeologist the privilege of taking half of his finds from the country, whereas under the old Turkish law nothing could be taken from the country and all discoveries of value had to be deposited in the National Museum at Constantinople.

Dr. Butler uncovered the great Temple of Artemis at Sardis before the outbreak of war in 1914 and brought to light a great treasure of ancient jewels, inscriptions, pottery and other examples of craftsmanship, some believed to date back more than twenty centuries before the Christian era.

The site of Sardis will yield great treasures of ancient art, relics and monuments throwing light on dark chapters of the history of the races about the Mediterranean and their early relations with the first civilization in the Valley of the Tigris and Euphrates, according to Dr. Butler. Sir William Ramsay predicts that it will be the richest of all sites.

Sardis is situated on the old Royal Road, the main trade route from Mesopotamia to the Mediterranean and has a culture believed to be almost as old as the Assyrian.

As a site for excavation Sardis has one great advantage over all other sites except Herculanęum and Pompeii. The Greek portion of Sardis was destroyed, as far as its population was concerned, but preserved for modern scholars and diggers by a great earthquake in 17 A. D. This broke a mountain of clay, which has been the Acropolis of Sardis, and buried the Greek section of the city under millions of tons of dirt. This was washed down until it formed a plain whose surface was about sixty feet above the city. A few giant pillars of the Temple of Artemis projected from this plain, marking the site for the scholar and serving as quarries for limestone for generations of Turks who lived in a small village partly on the clay plain over the ruins.

Sardis is believed to be three or four thousand years older than Pompeii and the fall of this clay mountain is believed to have sealed in thousands of objects, from gems to tombs, possessing both a historic and an artistic interest. In bringing to light the temple, a site about half the size of a New York block was uncovered, and about 99 per cent. of the site remains to be exposed. The first work brought to light several inscriptions in the ancient language used in the Lydian Kingdom. These have not been deciphered.

Little is known of the history of Lydia, except what is told by Herodotus. Its reputation throughout the ancient world for wealth is witnessed by the fame of Croesus, the last sovereign of Lydia—a wealth then attributed to the gold of the river Pactolus, but now believed to have been due to the superior opportunity of the country for trade, as it straddled the trade routes between the wealthiest and most active peoples of the time.

The first coins known are Lydian and the specimens already brought to light are said to include marvels of the art of the jeweler and engraver. Lydia's position in Asia Minor was on the frontier of early Greek culture. After the fall of Croesus, Lydia was annexed to the Persian Empire for two centuries, was then conquered by Alexander the Great, and was later welded into the Roman Empire. A section of the city which escaped from the earthquake survived until the fourteenth century, when it was completely wiped out by Tamerlane.

Public Health Activity

New Westminster British Columbian: The convention of the Graduate Nurses' Association and the Lower Mainland Child Hygiene Conference, have served to call attention to the extensive community activities for the promotion of health. The Provincial Health Department, the University Health Department, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Women's Institutes have been co-ordinating their activities in this direction for the great good of the community, and the extent of their usful work compels admiration for the spirit of public services that has actuated their efforts. Yet only a beginning has been made, and what greater benefit to the province will result from more extended efforts, cannot be readily estimated Undoubtedly it will be far-reaching and will lay the foundation for a standard of public health that will place British Columbia in the forefront of the provinces in this respect.

Through the influence of the Provincial Public Health Department, and the Victorian Order of Nurses, the child hygiene movement is being extended into the rural districts. By the organization of the Lower Mainland District Council the work in the Fraser Valley will be co-ordinated and linked up with province-wide activities. It will be all very helpful and contribute to making this favored province a still more attractive land for those who would get the best out of life amid agreeable surroundings.

FERNIE RETAINS LEAD IN RACE

Fernie increased its lead by another game, when they journeyed to Michel on Sunday last and defeated Michel by the score of 15 to 6 while the Spruce and Waldo were idle. This makes three consecutive wins for Fernie without a loss. Cold, rainy weather ensued throughout the game and was a discomfort to players and fans alike.

Fernie opened scoring in the first inning. Taking advantage of Michel's errors two men crosed the plate. Michel made a detremined effort to equal in their half and with three safties secured one run and had two men on bases when the side was retired. The next frame, both teams went out one, two, three order, but in the third, Fernie netting five runs, drew away from their opponents and were never in danger the rest of the game.

The chilly weather affected the pitchers of both teams. Krall gave away to Sadlish in the third inning who did not fare much better, while Ault was hit freely in the closing innings after his teammates had piled up a big enough margin to allow him to ease up.

BLAIRMORE WAKES UP BUT TOO LATE

The scheduled baseball game which should have been played here Sunday between Waldo and White Spruce was postponed by mutual consent to give Waldo a chance to strengthen up their team.

The White Spruce secured Blairmore to fill the program. The game resulted in a win for White Spruce 13—6.

Olsen started on the mound for Blairmore and was hit freely, White Spruce scoring 6 runs. Three hits off Peters and a bad error allowed Blairmore to score twice in the first.

Prudden relieved Olsen for Blairmore after two more runs had been scored off the latter in the second innings. Prudden's opening was rather wild and four more runs were added by the Spruce in the second. Prudden tightened up and struck out twelve batters in the remaining six innings, only one more run being scored off him in that time. In the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh Blairmore scored one run in each frame.

Canada's most Popular Car
The Chevrolet 490

PUBLIC favor changes when reasons for a change are obvious. Public opinion as to the most popular car of the future is changing.

Users of low-priced motor transportation are demanding completely equipped automobiles, modern in every respect, with nothing left to buy but the license plate. The new Superior Chevrolet is fully equipped, including modern 3 speed forward and reverse, sliding gear transmission, standard service and hand brakes, electric starter, demountable rims, water and oil pumps and speedometer. In addition to completeness, buyers insist on real econmy in four important essentials. They demand low initial cost; low gasoline consumption; low repair costs; and long tire life. The new Chevrolet excells in these particulars. Twenty-five to thirty miles on a gallon of gasoline is not uncommon. It excells in oil economy as well. Repair costs are low, because every Chevrolet part is built to give long life under hard conditions.

You owe it to yourself to examine the new Chevrolet, the car which is establishing a new standard and has become Canada's most popular car.

FOREST FIRE LOSS $22,000

$22,000 was lost in standing timber in East Kootenay during 1921, due to forest fires, according to Norman Moore, district forester, who was here on an official visit a few days ago. According to the reports received at the district forester's office eighty per cent of these fires were caused by human agencies of one sort or another, and the balance were set by lightning. Mr.Moore further estimates that 23 per cent. of the preventible fires was due to carlessness on the part of cigarette smokers, and to reduce the hazard in this regard instructions have been issued forestry employees that this season all forms of smoking are taboo on active duty.

Notwithstanding this quite substantial loss the records show that it is the lightest in the hstory of East Kootenay district, and this in the face of the fact that 1921 was probably the dryest season the district has ever seen. Another encouraging feature in this connection is that 80 per cent of all the fires reported were controlled without loss to the standing timber.

The providing of camp sites for tourists has done much to eliminate fires, and more of these will be provided as time permits. For all of last year but two fires were caused by tourists failing to thoroughly put out fires they had started for cooking purposes.

Mr. Moore states that the providing of motor cars constructed into truck fashion, so as to carry fire fighting equipment has not only reduced fire losses but had reduced patrol expenses a matter of 60 per cent. as compared with the old horse and cart patrol of a few years ago.

For the East Kootenay district which runs from Kootenay Landing to the Alberta boundary, and from the U. S. line to north of Golden, Mr. Moore claims to have established a forestry district that for accessibility is unequalled anywhere in the province. In the past three years 370 miles of new pack trails have been constructed, many lookout stations established, and telephone connection given with every possible point of vantage for fire reporting. In addition to this over 1000 miles of old trails have been cleaned out in the past three years, and put in travelling condition.

For 1921 the official figures show that 34,000,000 feet of merchantable timber was destroyed by fire last year—enough according to reliable estimates, to erect at least 6300 five-room cottages. In every possible manner the forestry department is improving the fire-fighting system, and by means of special effort at educating the public by every form of publicity, along with the new system introduced this year,, it is confidently expected there will be a material reduction in fire loses from this time forward.

The lumbering industry in East Kootenay is in quite a healthy condition, according to Mr. Moore. After a trip over his entire district he states that the falling off in the 1922 cut as compared with last year will not be more than 35 per cent. and possibly less than that, as there is a decided spirit of optimism amongst millmen. In East Kootenay, however, only 14 of the 42 mills are in operation, but it is noticeable that practically all the bigger plants are running full time, and that some of the smaller ones are being fitted up to be ready for cutting.

The export of poles from all the Kootenay country is quite heavy at present, but Mr. Moore accounts for this on the score of a prospective change in the U.S| tariff rather than to actual needs in the pole line.—Creston Review.

Ideals, Limited

London Daily Express: The reform of the marriage service in America seems at first sight harmless enough. Doubtless it is absured to expect a modern woman to promise to obey her husband, much less to do it. Equally it may be ludicours to expect a modern husband to endow his wife with all his worldly goods, though it seems to us, as ever, the best possible ideal for marriage and the only really satisfactiory basis on which it can rest. Nevertheless we dislike these "reforms." They are the thin edge of the wedge. Why, for instance, stop at "obey"? Can any one promise to love or honor another person forever? Few human beings are capable of the highest forms of constancy. Away then, with the pretence, and let there be no nonsense about love and honor! So one may go on forever, till the marriage service becomes a mere legal asignment of rights, probably strictly temporary. This generation is too literal. It will not bind itself to an ideal, however vague. It forgets that without ideals all the virtues perish.

GREAT TYPES TO BE SEEN IN "PENROD"

For the first time in the history of motion pictures Booth Tarkington's inimitable characters of his "Penrod" stories have been welded into one complete feature picture. Mashall Neilan is the director who has essayed this task, and his latest production, under the title of "Penrod," is the First National attraction that will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre soon.

The picture is said to live up, in every respect, to the characters Booth Tarkington has immortalized in print. For the main incidents of his picture Mr. Neilan has drawn upon the formation of the American Boys' Protective Association, the amateur theatrical "The Children's Pageant at the Table Round;" the drink episode; the encounter with Rupe Collins' tough boy; and the capture of two notorious bandits.

For his settings the director has chosen a typical rural town of perhaps 50,000 population. Penrod's father and mother represent middle class people with inordinate pride in their only son and caustic regret over the necessity for administrating chastisement upon him.

Other characters in the town, the clergyman, constable, society promoters of dramatic events and dancing school enthusiasts, have been retained in the making of the film version.

Freckles Barry plays the title role. Assisting him is a large ensemble of juveniles and a sprinkling of adult actors including Marjorie Daw, Tully Marshall and Eugenie Besserer.

RUSSIA COMING BACK TO PRIVATE PROPERTY

After the French Revolution and the French commune there was a slow return to the restitution of property rights that were annulled by that upheaval, until, eventually, the revolution was little more than a historic memory.

A similar slow return to the beaten paths of the ages is in evidence in soviet Russia.

An Associated Press despatch from Moscow says the soviet government is about to give legalized recognition of private property rights in money, industrial and agricultural products and other personal property, and, to a certain extent, in real estate. Another decree is proposed to give the peasants prolonged tenure of land which they now hold, as well as the right to lease land under certain circumstances.

This recession from the fantastic scheme of the original soviet government was as inevitable as the procession of seasons.

The institution of private property has its root in one of the deepest passions of the human breast. Normal people want things for their very own, and that desire increases with civilization. It is the most powerful incentive to industry, self-denial and provision for the future. It can not long be suppressed or thwarted, not even in soviet Russia, with all the depths of illiteracy, superstition and blind fatalism among her masses.

If the allies stand firm at Genoa, the soviet authorities will have to yield in the end, for they can not put Russia back on its industrial feet without assistance from countries that have maintained their political sanity.

It has been forced reluctantly to repeated concessions to the principle of private ownership, and is still far from the end of the concessions that it will have to make.—Spokesman Review.

EARLY DECISION IS EXPECTED

W. E. Knowles, K.C., of Moose Jaw, H. Ostlund, K.C., Lethbridge; and R. C. Drinnan, Edmonton, members of the Coal Miners' Conciliation Board, passed through Calgary, Thursday morning by the Trans-Canada, for Banff, where, as previously mentioned, the findings of the board regarding the dispute in District 18, will be made. Although neither of the members would make any forecast as to when the findings would be handed out, it is the general opinion among operators and the miners' representatives that these will not be long delayed.

From what can be gathered it is extremely unlikely that there will be an unanimous report; as a matter of fact it would not come as a surprise if three awards are made. In that case the minister of labor would accept that of the chairman.

Robert Livett, the chairman of the miners' committee, does not take a very rosy view of an early resumption of work. In his opinion it will be July before an agreement is reached.

"While I do not want to paint a gloomy picture," he stated in an interview, "I fear that the operators are still bent on a wage scale that will restore the conditions prevailing in 1915."

R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, on the other hand, when seen, stated that the operators were offering rates equivalent to those paid from April, 1917, to February, 1918, which were more than 30 per cent higher than those in 1915.

According to the figures published by the department of mines at Edmonton, the output of coal in District 18 during the month of April was 150,000 tons. This tonnage was produced at mines not connected with the present labor dispute, and came from the West Edmonton district and the domestic fields between Calgary and Edmonton and in the immediate vicinity of Edmonton.

FERNIE WINS IN GOLF PLAY

A team of nine Blairmore golfers arrived in Fernie on Wednesday afternoon to take the measure of the local club and in spit of a heavy rain a competition was lined up as follows:

Blairmore.	Fernie.
D. G. McKenzie	A. Watson
J. B. Wilson	T. Prentice
L. P. Robert	S. Herchmer
Jas. Farmer	J. S. Irvine
W. Bird	N. E. Suddaby
F. Smith	E. K. Stewart
N. MacLeod	A. C. Liphardt
G. N. Elvin	M. A. Kastner
J. Oliviet	J. R. Wallace

Keen interest was taken in the match, particularly as D. G. McKenzie, the former Macleod golfer and a player who has a national reputation, was matched against our own Sandy Watson, who has taught our players all they know about the game. Both these gentlemen at different times have reached the semi-finals in the competitions for the championship of Canada, so that the crowd who followed the game had the pleasure of seeing a real match. The fight, which was for holes, was a close one and was only decided at the 18th when Sandy nosed out on his opponent. This is the second time that Watson has met McKenzie. In the first match, which took place at Blairmore a couple of weeks ago, our champion lost to McKenzie by two strokes.

The result of the entire Fernie match was very much in favor of the home team.

J. A. Broley underwent a surgical operation in Vancouver the other day. He is doing fine and expects to be home in a few days.

Scoutmaster J. Donaldson has been asked by the committee in charge, if he possibly can, to continue in charge of the local corps until a new man can be secured. A recent change in the working hours at the telegraph office where he is employed has made it impossible for him to attend on the nights when the Scouts meet. Since Mr. Donaldson has been in charge of the Scouts the membership has increased from 65 to 82 and it would be a shame if the corps is allowed to go to pieces through lack of an efficient instructor.

DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1921

To the Shareholders :

Your Directors herewith present their Twenty-fifth Annual Report, showing statement of the Assets and Liabilities of the Company, as at 31st December, 1921, together with the Profit and Loss Account for the year ending on that date.

The Balance at the Credit of the Profit and Loss Account brought forward from 1920 was $124,476.53. To this has been added the sum of $341,938.98, being the Company's Net Profits from all sources of the operations for the year 1921, (after paying the Dominion Income Tax for the year 1920, and making provision for the Dominion Income Tax for the year 1921, amounting together to $89,363.09) making a total of $466,415.51. From this amount your Directors have paid four dividends of one and a half per cent each, making a total of six per cent for the year, and amounting in all to $372,690.00, leaving a balance at the credit of Profit and Loss Account to be carried forward to 1922 of $93,725.51.

The Operative Profits of the Subsidiary Companies—the Crow's Nest Pass Electric Light & Power Company, Limited, for the year were $5,008.75, and the Morrissey, Fernie & Michel Railway Company, $18,245.07, and in each case the amount has been carried to Reserve for Depreciation.

During the year the Coal Company spent $105,418.16 on Improvements and Development work, and the Crow's Nest Pass Electric Light and Power Company, $3,582.68.

The coal mined during the year amounted to 774,847 tons as against 779,942 tons mined in 1920, and the coke produced was 66,569 tons as against 75,928 tons in 1920. The decrease in tonnage is owing to depression in trade.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

W. R. Wilson, President.

ROD AND GUN CLUB MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club was held in the city council chamber the city hall on Tuesday evening, June 6, and was well attended by local sportsmen.

A communication from the Minister of Fisheries was read, advising of the closing of Silver Springs, Surveyors and Baynes Lakes for a period of two years from April 1, 1922 to April 1, 1924, against all fishing, in order to give the young fish that were put in these lakes two years ago, a chance to develop.

Letters were also read from the Hon. Dr. King and the Minister of Fisheries in regards the establishment of a fish hatchery in East Kootenay. While this is not obtainable during the present year the Department has promised to send an official during the coming summer to examine the various waters, in order to find out the most suitable places for the taking of trout spawn.

Application will also be made to the Government Hatchery at Gerrard for 10,000 Kamloops Trout fry. These it is proposed to put into Island Lake and other waters in the district.

A number of communications were read and ordered filed.

Many items of interest to the hunting and fishing fraternity of this district were discussed, great interest being shown in these matters by our local sportsmen.

A. J. Shulman, travelling passenger agent for the C.P.R., is in town today.

Mr. Colin Commons and Miss Nancy Wood, well known and highly respected young people of this city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Monday, June 5th. The ceremony was performed at the manse of the United Church. Breakfast was served at the Northern Hotel. They left on their wedding tour for Spokane, Seattle, Vancouver, etc., on the westbound train. A large party of friends were at the station to offer congratulations nad extend good wishes.

ASSOCIATIONS AMALGAMATE

The situation brought about by the formation of Union Government in 1917, when a large section of the Liberal Party joined with the Conservative Party, in support of Union Government had the effect of creating in British Columbia a federal organization in support of that Government seperate and apart from the Provincial Conservative Association of British Columbia.

Notwithstanding the fact that the members of the Provincial Conservative Association have loyally supported the Federal Party, the Associaion has, as such, since the formation of Union Government stood aside in Dominion elections.

The aims and objects of these two organizations in federal and provincial questions are identical.

For the purpose of uniting as one party, conferences have been held between the special committee appointed by the executives committe of the British Columbia Conservative Association and representatives from the federal party with the result that it has been agreed:

1. That a joint convention of the National Liberal and Conservative Party, and the Conservative Party of British Columbia be held at Vancouver on August 21st, 22nd, and 23rd 1922.

2. That those entitled to attend and be delegates at the convention shall be:

(a) All Conservative members of the Legislature of British Columbia.

(bl All defeated Conservative candidates for election at the last General Provincial Election in British Columbia and at subsequent by- elections.

(c) All Senators and members of the House of Commons of Canada representing British Columbia constituencies, supporting the National Liberal and Conservative Party and all defeated B.C. candidates for the House of Commons supporting the National Liberal Conservative Party in the election held December 6th, 1921, and at subsequent Dominion elections.

(d) The officers and executive committee of the British Columbia Conservative Association and two representatives of the National Liberal and Consevative Party in each riding.

(e) Ten delegates from each constituency as the same exist for elections to the Provincial Parliament of British Columbia for each member said constituency is entitled to elect. There shall be five alternates for each ten delegates, such delegates and alternates to be elected at Mass Meetings, to be open to all who attend and sign a pledge to support the Liberal-Conservative Party in both Federal and Provincial Elections. Said Mass Meetings to appoint delegates shall be called jointly by representatives of the Provincial Conservative Association, and the Federal Representatives in the constituency at such times and places as designated by them, the meeting to be held at least two weeks before the date set for the convention. The Credentials of delegates and alternates shall be signed jointly by the representatives of the B. C. Conservative Association in the riding and the Federal Representatives therein. Any delegates or alternates duly elected at said mass meetings,, and who personally attend the convention shall be authorized to give their proxies to some other delegate from the constituency attending the convention, such proxies shall become effective only on exhausting the list of alternates. The credential committee shall determine all questions of priorities among delegates, alternates and proxies.

3. That the convention be called to order by a person to be agreed on by the joint committee.

4. That the said joint committee will recommend to the convention that the name "Liberal-Conservative" be adopted and that a constitution be prepared and submitted to the convention for consideration and adoption.

5. That questions of constitution, policy, party leadership, organization and the appointment of delegates to a Federal Convention, be open for determination by the Convention.

6. That the election of permanent officers and leader of the party in British Columbia be held on the last day of the convention and by ballot after opening nominations.

7. That railway, steamboat and sleeper fares of delegates attending the convention be pooled and the cost of same be borne equally by each of said delegates. The committee estimate that the amounts payable by each delegate will be $20.00.

Committee representing the National Liberal and Conservative Party: H. H. Stevens, S. J. Crowe, Leon J. Ladner, W. G. McQuarrie, J. A. Clarke.

WILLIAM H. STOUT

At the last annual session of the International Lyceum Association—that great gathering of talent, managers and committeemen from all sections of the United States—William H. Stout of Indianapolis, was honored with the presidency for the year 1920.

The distinction was a well merited one. No man has taken a greater interest in keeping up the standard of the platform than Mr. Stout. He is a veteran of Lyceum work, and understands every side of this great business. He is a brilliant lecturer, a man of unusual force, and a splendid executive. It is safe to predict that under his able administration the I. L. A. will flourish as it never has before.

Mr. Stout has long been connected with Affiliated bureaus. Already he has a heavy schedule of lectures which will occupy his time for several years. Like many of the other Affiliated speakers of note, Mr. Stout is typically a "return date lecturer."—Affiliated Talent Review, Feb. 1st 1920.

Seeing Life Whole

Some one has said that the life of a great man is like a diamond that is cut with manw facets, from any one of which the beauty of the stone may be seen and appreciated. Life itself is essentially like the diamond in its unity and the brilliancy of its possibilities, but unlike it in its variety. Life to be seen whole is like the landscape; one must climb the heights for it is from here that we comprehend its wholeness and its holiness.

REGAINS WEIGHT AND 9 YEARS OF SUFFERING END

Mrs. McClanahan Declares Both She And Her Husband Were Completely Relieved Of Dangerous Stomach Trouble By Taking Tanlac.

"I have been rid of stomach trouble of nine years standing, have gained ten pounds and am still gaining," said Mrs. D. McClanahan, of Grassy Bay, B.C.

"I used to be so weak I could hardly get about, my appetite was so poor I just had to force down every mouthful, and even the little I ate fermented almost at once, with intense cramping pains. Gas pressed on my heart until it palpitated dreadfully. I suffered from such severe headaches and got so dizzy it was all I could do to stand up. I couldn't get a good night's sleep and was troubled so with constipation I had to be always taking laxatives.

But Tanlac completely rid me of all my pains, my appetite is fine and I eat anything I want. My husband, who also suffered from a very stubborn form of stomach trouble, has gotten the same good results from Tanlac that I did and we both recommend it every chance we get."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

KANSAS PUTS BAN ON TOBACCO-USING TEACHERS

There is one thing to be said for the State of Kansas, it can usually be found in the news column. That hog and corn country is productive of many things, including much up-to-date legislation. It is in Kansas where all hotel sheets must be seven feet long. And was also Kansas that passed an enactment to the effect that no maiden over thirty-five may use powder and paint. Now there is a stern edict against the use of tobacco by any one connected with the schools of the State. To whom it may concern, writes Lorraine Elizabeth Wooster, State Superintendent of Schools, familiarly known as Lizzie:

Hereafter no recommendations for school positions will be made for teachers, instructors or superintendents who use tobacco in any form.

No State certificate or institute certificates will be issued to tobacco users.

Schools and colleges which permit the use of tobacco by administrative heads, instructors or pupils cannot remain on the accredited list.

Credits sent to the State Department from normal schools, colleges and universities where the heads of these institutions, faculty members or students use tobacco in any form will not be accepted for certification.

This notification is in compliance with the laws of Kansas.

The Chancellor of the Kansas City University pleads in vain with Lizzie. He points out that he can only stop the use of tobacco by teachers and pupils while on school grounds or in school buildings. To which Lizzie retorts: "you can get rid of the undesirables." And there it stands.

NEED CAREFUL EXPENDITURE

Municipalities all over Canada would do well to study carefully the causes of trouble now besetting a number of Saskatchewan and Alberta municipalities, particularly the former, and to take warning from the mishaps that have resulted. More particularly should they take warn- from the increasing volume of uncollected taxes in these municipalities that there is a definite taxable limit beyond which it is not safe to go. Though it is sometimes good business policy for them to undertake works of magnitude during times of industrial depression in order to provide as much employment as possible, it is only good policy when those works are absolutely necessary for the well-being of the citizens and when there is a good surplus of taxable capacity to carry any debt incurred because of them. When there is not that evident surplus of taxable capacity it is safe to say that no municipality should sell debentures for any purpose but for capital expenditures which will produce revenue sufficient to carry the interest obligations and eventually extinguish the debt. In Alberta, where the Provincial Government is helping the municipalities in trouble to get on their feet again, there was some justification for the arrears in paying debts on account of the drought periods and the poor crops. The decline in crop prices may also be used as a justification in Saskatchewan as well as the decline in population of some of the towns. But there has been a tendency in the West, a tendency not entirely invisible in the East, to believe in prosperous times that they will always continue and to spend up to that level.

To efect a change in this situation is as much in the interest of the various municipalities as in that of the debenture-holders who have lent money out of faith in the prosperity of a municipality and the sense of honor to its citizens. The remedies are the time-honored ones, applicable as much to public business as to private, of economy and retrenchment in municipal expenditures, of enforcement of prompt payment of taxes and of the building up of a surplus in the municipal Treasury. It should be a matter of civic pride to have such a surplus in view of the prestige which would obtain in the world of money for a municipality in such a favored position.—Saturday Night.

WHEN CIVILIZATION TOOK THE COUNT

(Heywood Broun in the New York World)

There was a discussion the other night at the Newspaper club about stories which don't turn out according to the scheme of the assignment. Bill McNutt remembered back to the time when a Seattle newspaper sent him over to interview a miner who had just come back to civilization after 20 years in Alaska.

"Remember," said the city editor, he's never seen automobiles. And ask him what he thinks of the Smith building."

Nobody ever came to Seattle in those days without being asked what he thought of the Smith Building, because there were 42 stories and it measured 415 feet to the top of the tower.

McNutt found his miner and came back a couple of hours later.

"Well," said the city editor, in that red-blooded, vigorous way that city editors have, "what did he have to say about Seattle?"

"Nothing much," replied Bill.

"Didn't he get steamed up about the automobile?"

"No, he kept talking to me about the times he's seen the ice start to come down the Yukon in the spring. He says that just before it begins to get going there's a kind of a whang, whang noise that almost takes your ears off.'

"Yes, I know all that," interrupted the city editor, "but what did he have to say about the Smith building?"

"He said it was pretty tall."

"Hell, man, was that all you could get out of him? Pretty tall! Why didn't you tell him that it's 42 stories tall and 415 feet, the largest office building on the Pacific coast?"

"Well," said Bill, "it didn't seem much use. You see, for the last 14 years he's been living in a little shack slam-bang up against the foot of a cliff 5000 feet high.'

Automobile statistics for 1921, recently published by the American National Automobile Association show that in proportion to the number of motor vehicles in operation there were fewer fatal accidents in the country than in 1920. The result was achieved by the combination of more car in the car and greater precaution by pedestrians. A keener sense of responsibility is developing on both sides, with benefit to each.

NEW INDUSTRIES AID PRODUCTION IN WINDERMERE DISTRICT

(Special to Cranbrook Herald)

Invermere, B. C., May 31.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of settlers representing the district from Spillimachene to Canal Flats has been held here. There were also in attendance Col. J. S. Dennis, C.M.G., president of the Columbia Valley Irrigated Fruit Lands, Ltd.; Mr. Henry S. Fleming, New York; and Major W. H. Hayward, London England. Two propositions in connection with the establishment of a creamery in the Columbia Valley were submitted to the meeting, one from the proposed Co-Operative Creamery Association of Golden, suggesting that this district should join in with them in supporting a Creamery project at Golden, to be financed by the B. C. government; and the other by Messrs. Fleming and Hayward, on behalf of their principals, for the establishment at Invermere of a Jam factory, cold storage and other allied industries.

It was unanimously decided to decline the Golden offer, an dto accept the proposals submitted by Messrs. Fleming and Hayward. The following committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements for the immediate incorporation of a company and construction of the plant; Major F. C. Turner, Fairmont; James Sinclair, Invermere; Alex. C. Laird, Invermere.

NEW "MOONSHINE" TRICK REVEALED BY I. R. OFFICER

SASKATOON, June 1.—A cream can with a copper partition across the shoulder, which keeps the cream on top from spoiling the moonshine below, is the latest device discovered by Inspector Denis of the inland revenue department. Mike Hagel was this morning fined $200 with the alternative of two months in jail, for having the container in his possession, together with a large quantity of squirrel whisky. On a complaint laid by the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission, Hagel had the punishment repeated for violation of the Saskatchewan Temperance Act. He told the police he had been making the brew at Zelma and shipping it into the town in the milk can. The later only afforded space for a small quantity of cream, a plug being let into the plate that divided cream from liquor.

"THE LATE SPRING"

Has there ever been a later spring in England? Not at least within recent memory have nothwesterly winds, as now, held off the warm west until late in April, blackened the daffodils, shrivelled the almond blossom, and delayed the bursting of the leafbuds. Last year these islands seemed to have lost the soft amelioration of the sea and endured the dry rigor of a continental climate; a similar change has allowed winter to linger. The sequence may be accidental, and meteorology cannot yet explain the caprices of the winds. But if the cause be unknown, the consequences are plain. The long evenings of Summer-time mock at our Winter coats and our Winter coughs; our health and our happiness are suffering. But let there come a still and sunny day, and we shall enjoy an unwonted spectacle. Here we are accustomed to the gradual awakening of nature—each day through March and April a new flower in the meadow or hedgerow, a new shade from red to green on the trees and bushes until the lush of Summer takes us unawares. Presently we shall enjoy the sudden transformation known on the hills of Norway, the plains of the Middle West, the tundras of Siberia. One day the fields will still be brown and bare, flecked maybe with snow and barren of life; the next a prodigious efflorescence of foliage and flowers and warm air clouded with busy insects. And there is another advantage from a late Spring, to be talked of under the breath lest unkind fates overhear. Is it to be a good fruit year? There is no omen more encouraging than a late flowering of the trees, postponing fertilization and "setting" until a time when there is the least expectation of night frosts.—London Times.

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAMME

Each year the querry comes to the newspapermen and committeemen "What is the Chautauqua Programme like this year?" Frankly, it appears to be the strongest that the Dominion Chautauquas has yet builded—well balanced and complete. We are giving, in order of their appearance on the program, a short description of the various numbers.

The entertainment of the first afternoon and prelude of the evening is presented by the All Sisters Saxaphone Quartette. The music of the "wailing saxaphone" has become more popular than the one time Hawiian music. These ladies play on the soprano, alto, tenor and bass saxaphones. Their program is composed of classical and popular selections and is interspersed with vocal and instrumental combinations and a "playlet."

The lecturer of the first day is T. Dinsmore Upton. He is aptly nicknamed "The Friend of all Kids." His desire is to impart to the kiddies something which will make them "Play the Game." He served during the war as a recreational director with the rank of Captain. For years he has been the supervisor of municipal playgrounds in several large cities. His New Zealand and Austrailian Chautauqua tour was an unparalleled success and the people of the Hamilton district called him back to assist them in raising $10,000 for municipal playgrounds. His lecture "Re-Creation thru Recreation" will leave a lasting impression on young and old. Every boy, every girl, every young man every young woman, every one interested in young people should hear "Dinny Upton."

Ruthven McDonald and his quartet, the Adanacs from Toronto, will be heard twice the second day. This is Scotch day, for the quartet wear kilts. We hear much said these days about jazz supplanting the better music. This quartet is in itself a contradiction of this fallacious assumption. They create an appreciation of the classical type of music and their selections bring out splendid harmony with four voices blending as one.

The lecturer of the second day is Herbert Leon Cope, the humorist. Cope is the "man who came back." He says, "Take it from me, fellows, it pays to be clean. John Barleycorn's poor bunkie. I know, for I've practiced at the bar." He is a humorist lecturer with a serious purpose back of every smile. This man who has seen life—who knows that all is not gold that glitters; who has eaten of the husks with the prodigal—has turned his humor to point an everlasting truth.

The third day is music day and will be long remembered as such. The Eiler-Willoughby Ladies Orchestra, which was an unparralelled success on the Eastern Six-Day Circuit of the Dominion Chautauquas, is returning to this circuit. The orchestra is lead by Patricia Eiler, a finished artist on the violin, with many seasons experience. Miss Willoughby has the distinction of being one of the few lady trap drummers on the this day, Fenwick Newell, Canadian platform today. In the evening of Lyric tenor, will appear. Newell has a remarkable voice and splendid stage presence and personality.

The lecture on this day will be in the afternoon following a prelude by the orchestra. The lecturer is Alexander Tomson, of London, England. His subject is "Present Day Problems of Self-Government Within the British Empire." He is in close touch with the affairs of the Empire and will deliver a clean cut analysis of the situation facing the empire today. He does not attempt to solve the problems but merely points out the details which confront those who are solving them.

On the fourth day the preludes are given by Emory Parnell, the "One-Man Band." And he is a whole band in himself. This versatile entertainer plays five instruments at one and the same time. He is also a character artist of merit and possesses a baritone voice of rare qualities. The "biggest little company on the platform" is the nickname he has acquired. In the afternoon W. H. Stout will deliver his lecture, "Seeing Life Whole." Mr. Stout is a student and thinker and is the possessor of one of the largest and most complete libraries owned by any individual. He was recently honored by the presidency of the International Chautauqua Association. His lecture, will be an inspirational and educational treat. In the evening Moritz G. Hindus, a Russian author, will deliver his lecture "Storm Tossed Russia." Mr. Hindus was born a Russian peasant and received his elementary education in Russian schools but seeing the avenues to higher education blocked, he came to America and was graduated from one of the big universities. He draws a clear concise picture of the conditions in Russia.

The fifth evening, The Reed Metropolitan Players take the stage with the noted English comedy "Mrs. Temple's Telegram." The play was origionally produced at the Oxford Theatre, London England, where it enjoyed a run of one year. After touring the smaller cities of England, and everywhere receiving the highest praise of both press and public, the management brought the production to America. At the Garden Theatre, New York City, "Mrs. Temple's Telelegram" had one of the longest Broadway showings on record, remaining at this playhouse one hundred and ninety three nights without interruption. This is the play in which Miss Marie Tempest accomplished her first great success. It is one of the most humorous on the boards.

The sixth day is indeed a novel one. In the afternoon Chief Strongheart, gives a graphic account of the red man, in "From Peace Pipe to War Trail and Back Again." He is a direct descendant of Chief Standing Rock, who aided Chief Sitting Bull in defeating General Custer in "Custer's last stand." He appears in full chieftan's dress costume.

Then the grand closing entertainment by Davis, Master Magician, "The Man Who Mystifies." Davis carries an elaborate stage setting and one assistant. Young and old will be fighting for front seats on his night. Don't bring your canaries or rabbits if you don't want Davis to turn them into guinea pigs.

THE RICHNESS IS CREAM

THAT smooth richness one finds in Pacific Milk is due to the high percentage of natural cream. We take the milk of the finest dairy districts in British Columbia, evaporate nothing but water, which leaves a big proportion of fresh, sweet cream, and through our improved process the naturalness of flavor is also retained.

STERILIZATION SWIMMING POOLS

In view of the interest that is being taken in the swimming pool project for the city of Fernie, the following article upon up to date swimming pool purification should be of interest. A sanitary pool is of vital importance in its usefulness and attractiveness to the users. This one seems to combine health and economy:

Proper disinfection of swimming-pool supplies is now being recognized as of paramount importance, because all swimming pools are mediums for the transmission of diseases such as typhoid fever, dysentery, eye and ear infections, and venereal diseases.

The operation of swimming pools can be divided into two classes, namely, the "fill-and-draw" system and the "recirculating" system. In either case, sterilization is indispensible.

With the "fill-and-draw" system, the pool is filled and emptied at intervals, the time depending principally on the size of the pool, the number of bathers, the class of patronage and the care taken in enforcing showers and general sanitary conditions. However each bather is subject to pollution from previous bathers. This system can be modified so that a continuous incoming and outgoing supply of water gradually changes the entire supply. If this incoming water supply is properly sterilized, good results are obtained.

With the "recirculting" system, the pool is continuously recirculated, filtered and sterilized; particles in suspension and impurities are thus removed and the water kept in good condition. As filtration and sterilization are both used, the water is not only kept clean and sparkling, but all germ life is killed. Where the supply is pumped from the pool through filters, then sterilized, heated and returned to the pool, the pumps and filters should be of sufficient capacity to take care of the pool content every eight to ten hours. This latter time period varies proportionately with the patronage, etc., as in the previously explained system.

Returning again to the "fill-and-draw" system and looking at it from a financial point of view, every gallon of water added to the pool must not only in most cases be paid for but, in addition, it must be heated from the incoming temperature to approximately 76 deg. F. A fair price for water is 15c per thousand gallons, and for coal, $15 a ton; hence if a 50,000 gallon pool is emptied weekly, the yearly cost should approximate some $2000.

Where pools adopt the "fill-and-draw" system and refill every 24 hours, they may pass a sanitary inspection, but where the water supply is held for a greater length of time, it is necessary to resort to sterilization. Taking everything into consideration, this method is extremely costly to operate even with continuous dilution, and more especially is this the case when the water has both to be purchased and heated.

In the "recirculating" system, the same water is pumped, filtered and sterilized continuously, and the sanitary standard maintained at all times. The water supplies of pools adopting this method have only to be changed after long intervals, as the filters keep the water clean and sparkling continuously, while the sterilizing agent kills the germ life. From a sanitary point of view, therefore, the water is always safe.

Liquid chlorine is the most efficient as well as the least expensive water sterilizing agent. It is effective on turbid water and hence, should the filters at any time become inoperative, sterilization can still be depended on to safeguard the supply. In view of the fact that liquid chlorine is today recognized as the proper sterilizing agent for municipal water supplies, is this not sufficient argument in favor of its use for swimming pools?

There are apparently only two other sterilizing systems which have been used to any extent for this purpose, namely, "ultra-violet-rays" and the "ozone."

"Ultra-violet-ray" is not effective on water supplies where turbity or color are present, as any suspended matter prevents penetration of the rays. Should the recirculating and filtering equipment fail at any time, this system of sterilization immediately becomes worthless. Sterilization only takes place within the apparatus and has no effect on the water in the pool; another disadvantage is that the cost of equipment and operation are extremely high.

"Ozone" has the same disadvantage as to cost and has not proved itself particularly applicable to swimming pool supplies here.

In the chlorination of swimming pools only a minute quantity of chlorine is necessary to destroy the life of the existing bacteria, the average dose being from five to ten pounds per million gallons of water. There are no tastes, odors or other unpleasant features, while the chemical and physical qualities of the water are left unaltered. Last, but not least, chlorination is effective throughout the entire pool.

The California State Department of Health consider swimming pool disinfection an absolute necessity, and liquid chlorine the most efective agent for this purpose.—Canadian Engineer.

THE ADANACS—ALL-CANADIAN QUARTETTE
In two big concerts the second day of Chautauqua

Daily Telegraph, Kitchener, Ontario: The Adanac Male Quartet, of Toronto, made its initial appearance in Kitchener, at Trinity Methodist Church, on Thursday evening, and provided one of the finest musical and literary entertainments of the season. The quartet is composed of four artists of exceptional talent, and their voices blend most beautifully in the various selections which they rendered. Every number on the program was encored, and generally responded to by the artists.

The Quartet is composed of Messrs. H. Ruthven McDonald, basso and entertainer; Marley Sherris, baritone; J. Riley Hallman, second tenor and Albert Downing, first tenor. The audience was particularly delighted in again having the privilege of hearing two favorite vocalists, Messrs. McDonald and Hallman. The former spent several weeks in the city along with Rev. J. L. Gordon's mission about ten years ago, and has also been heard on other occasions. Mr. Hallman is a former Kitchener boy, who was in business here for some years before going to Toronto where he acquired a musical training and is today one of the most popular vocalists in the Queen City. His solos were especially greatly enjoyed, his selection being well suited for his sweet tenor voice.

Among the selections rendered by the quartet were: "Hymn Before Action," by Walford Davis; "Annie Laurie," a beautiful composition by Giebel; "What From Vengeance," from Lucia by Shattuck-Donizetta; and "Good-bye," by Tosti-Parks. All of these numbers were high-class compositions and were rendered with remarkable expression and tone.

In addition to the musical numbers Mr. McDonald played his versatility as a concert artist, by giving a number of impressive monologues, including "Reminiscences of an Old Soldier," by Hastings and as an encore "A Soliloquy of an Old Shoe," the Dickens' monologue and as a further encore "Sweetheart of Mine," by Whitcomb Riley. Mr. McDonald is as accomplished a reader as he is a vocalist.

ARBITRATION OF COAL STRIKE IS PROPOSED

One side in the anthracite coal strike proposes that Presiident Harding be asked to appoint a tribunal to settle the conflict. "We place ourselves unreservedly in the hands of the president, without strings or reservations; we want the mines reopened as soon as possible."

The other side has a different proposal. It wants President Harding to empower the federal trade commission and the interstate commerce commission to make a complete investigation of the coal mining industry, from wages to prices of the product.

The offer to arbitrate and abide by the decision of the arbitrators comes from the owners of the coal mines. The proposal for a joint investigation by the federal trade commission and the interstate commerce commission comes from the miners' organization, the United Mine Workers.

The weight of public opinion will be for the arbitration plan. It is definite, fair and decisive, while the proposal of the miners is vague and indeterminate.

The country has had a surfeit of investigations, usually long drawn out and leading up to little that is beneficial and constructive. What it now wants is decision, and in conflicts like the coal strike an agreement by both sides to abide by the findings of the arbitrators.

The American people always are favorably impressed by the side that brings forward in good faith an offer to arbitrate and to abide by the arbitration. It becomes suspicious of the side that shies away from arbitration, be that side employer or employee.

That was the case in the memorable coal strike when Theodore Roosevelt was president, but in that conflict it was the coal miners who offered t oarbitrate and it was the mine owners who refused arbitration. In that issue the Spokesman-Review was outspokenly on the side of the coal miners and spoke in severe condemnation of the stubborn mine owners. In the end, under pressure from President Roosevelt and the whip and spur of public opinion, the mine owners were compelled to come to arbitration.

It is not improbable that the tide of public opinion will set so strongly against the coal miners who are now refusing arbitration that they, too, will be compelled to yield to this better method of settling a costly and ruinous controversy. — Spokesman Review.

COMPANY PURCHASES CEDAR CREEK CLAIMS

QUESNEL FORKS, B.C., May 31.—An Okanagan company, represented by John F. Guest and Fred Munsen, bought the claims of the Stevens and Sheridan Company on Cedar Creek from the six owners for $200,000.

The new company will commence active operations in ten days. Messrs. Guest and Munsen are from Kelowna, and will have their office in Vernon. Mr. Guest is actively associated with a mining corporation forty miles east of Vernon.

The buyers are highly pleased with the showing of the property, and have a sworn statement, made out before W. H. McDairmid of Quesnel Dam, that pay dirt has gone more than one ounce to the yard, and that on May 29 they rocked out 8 ounces 16 pennyweights of gold from less than one yard of dirt.

UNFIT IMMIGRANTS

London, May 31.—The Western Australian new settlers' league complains that recent batches of immigrants include persons physically unfit and some unable to endure a country life. The league has cabled the West Australia Premier, Sir James Mitchell, who is now in London, emphasizing the urgent need of strict supervision in the selection and examination of prospective settlers for that state.

FOOTBALL

Coal Creek team were visitors to Fernie last Sunday and treated the fans to some nice football. Everybody enjoyed the game, which was fast throughout. Fernie started with nine men and were soon busy around the Coal Creek goal, R. Thornton scoring a nice goal from almost on the outside line. The Creek boys were soon busy and gave Sawyer lots of work, but the old Red was always on the job. After saving several hot shots from the Creek left wing, Hudock met a nice centre and headed past Sawyer, equalizing the score. The second half was fast and full of thrills, but the great goalkeeping of Sawyer saved the Fernie team from defeat. The Coal Creek forwards could not beat him. Referee Manning thought he would like to see if they could beat him alone, so awarded them a penalty kick. But Bill Riley, Sawyer's pal, took the kick and sent it over the bar. Bill says he did not want to hurt Bert. The game was one of the cleanest ever played between these two teams. We did not see a foul play. Sawyer, T. Joinson, Booth and Thornton were the pick of the Fernie team. Wilson, Thompson, Hudock and Morrison played for Coal Creek, with Bill Riley the outstanding man on the field. Bill seemed to be everywhere.

Coal Creek will play Michel on Sunday at Coal Creek and a good game is assured the fans.

SMASHING SCENES IN NEW WILLIAM S. HART FILM "THE WHISTLE"

A drawbridge tender asleep at his post; an open bridge and a motor crashing into the inky waters below; a child's scream and a man's brave plunge to the rescue!

This is one of the smashing scenes in "The Whistle"—a picture produced by William S. Hart and written by Lambert Hillyer who also directed it. The original story is by May Wilmoth and Olin Lyman.

In this new Paramount offering, which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday, Mr. Hart has a new role—that of a factory worker, a man accustomed to 'jump to the sound of the whistle.'

His attempts to mete out justice to a man whose selfishness has resulted in the death of the worker's beloved child, develops a series of situations that come as a completely satisfying train of events which round out to a conclusion that is distinctly compelling.

In every way this is a powerful drama and one that should satisfy the most exacting. Three famous juvenile players appear in the cast. Frank Brownlee has the 'heavy' role.

A Detroit man claims to have invented the most efficient fly trap on the market. The device is an imitation of a bald head.

DUNLOP TIRES

Ensure HIGH-MILEAGE—DOUBLE-LIFE

¶ Dunlop leadership in Tiredom is most manifest. Mileage records almost unbelievable are piling up all over Canada.

¶ The Special Mileage-Making Process, which is the basis of our Fabric Tires, has worked wonders.

¶ Perfect shape and balance, stronger side walls to resist curb and rut abuse, special wear-resisting anti-skid tread, etc., add the last touch to popularizing to the full a tire that has long stood in high favor.

¶ These tires taught motorists to expect more resiliency, greater air space, larger amount of material, better carrying capacity—in short, bigger mileage; and that is the standard by which all Cord Tires are judged to-day.

M'TEER'S HIT WINS GAME

On Sunday last Fernie maintained their undefeated record in the East Kootenay league when they sent Michel back home in their fourth league fixture by the score of 4-3. Michel was considerably strengthened by the services of Carruthers, a portside hurler from the Rainbelt league, who was very effective after Fernie secured 3 runs in the first innings and made Michel fight an uphill battle. Ault for Fernie was in excellent form and with Carruthers hurled the entire 11 innings, granting Michel only one run in any inning.

The fans were well pleased with the play and saw the fastest game so far this season and easily one of the best for some time. The batteries for both teams were in top notch form and during the 11 inning pitchers duel neither slabman granted a free passage to first, while Carruthers sent 17 back to the bench via the strike out route and Ault 15, while the receiving end distributed their share of the battery honors and frustrated every effort of stealing bases. The fielding of both teams showed improvement and the fewest errors of any game so far were in no way responsible for runs.

Fernie's lead-off men got to Carruthers' delivery in the first innings for four singles and a sacrifice which earned three runs. After the first innings, however, Carruthers drew in his belt and was never in danger, holding any hits that were made off him well scattered until the winning run was scored in the eleventh. Ault's deliveries had Michel swatsmen completely baffled and until the sixth innings they had failed to connect. In this frame Irvine led off with a two-bagger and was sacrificed to third, and scored when Krall singled.

In the eighth, with McAlpine on, Krall again connected and McAlpine scored. In the ninth a rather peculiar situation arose. Jones was on first, McInnes hit a pop fly over second base, Fernie second baseman ran back but muffed, recovered the ball, tossed to second, from second the ball went to first, where both Jones and McInnes were holding the bag. McInnes stepped off and was tagged by first baseman.

Both umpires seemed at a loss and Kastner finally decided Jones out and McInnes safe on first, causing considerable argument among the fans. However the game went ahead and McInnes scored the run which tied the score. Fernie failed to tally in their half of the ninth, and extra innings had to be played. Michel were blanked in their sections of the tenth and eleventh innings. Carruthers struck out three batters in the tenth but in the eleventh Shand, first man up, connected for a single, and McTeer following is his footsteps, slammed out a two-bagger, scoring Shand for the winning run.

PREMIER MINE BIG PRODUCER

Victoria Colonist: The success of the Premier Mine, which experts declare is one of the greatest properties of its kind in America, has been such that with dividends amounting to over $900,000 already paid, another substantial dividend will shortly be forthcoming, stated Mr. R. W. Wood, of the Premier Mining Company, who was in the city yesterday accompanied by Mr. H. A. Guess, president of the American Smelting & Refining Company, the owners of the majority interest in the property.

The two gentlemen called upon Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, and stated that the Premier is meeting expectations as a producer. The Northern Light group of claims adjoining the Premier have been bonded by the Premier Mining Company thereby assuring the latter of adequate ore supplies for an indefinite period. Development work on these claims will be proceeded with at once.

Mr. Wood, who is a member of the Trites-Wood Company of Fernie, stated that concern has bonded the Big Missouri claims, also in the Salmon River section of the Portland Canal division, a property formerly held by Sir Donald Mann who did considerable development work.

Mr. Guess, who is a mining expert of wide reputation, has just completed a trip of inspection of the Premier Mine. He stated continued development work will be carried on at the mine and provision for plant additions to that end has been made. It is Mr. Guess' intention to shortly visit Peru, where the American Smelting & Refining Company has large interests which will be developed and extensive equipment installed.

LIVETT SEES NO HOPE FOR EARLY SETTLEBENT

(Lethbridge Herald)

Robert Livett, international board member of the U. M. W. of A., and chief representative of the miners' before the Knowles' Board of Conciliation looking into the strike situation in the Alberta coal fields, made a forecast today that in his opinion it will be July before there would be a return to work in the various fields in the Province. Mr. Livett, who is spending a few days in the city this week and stopping at the Lethbridge hotel, is not very hopeful of an early settlement following the breaking down of negotiations between the operators and miners at the postponed session of the board on May 24 and 25. The situation looked more favorable at the close of the inquiry at Blairmore, but the breach now appears to be wide, he said.

"While I do not want to paint a gloomy picture," said Mr. Livett in an interview. "I fear that the operators are still bent on a wage scale that will restore the conditions prevailing in 1915, which today would be unbearable to the miner. A return to those conditions would only breed discontent and endless trouble. I am hopeful that the operators will appreciate that fact and that a fair agreement can be signed between the two parties in the dispute.

Mr. Livett stated that the board of conciliation would meet again at Calgary, June 9, when it was possible that a unique situation might develop, namely, the binging in of three recommendations. Usually, there has been a majority and a minority report, but in this instance it may mean that each member of the board, including the chairman, will make a recommendation to the minister of labor.

"Whatever basis of agreement is decided upon will be submitted to a referendum vote of the miners of District 18. The men themselves will decide what action their agents shall take," said Mr. Livett.

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS MAY BE PROSECUTED

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Labor organizations, although unincorporated, may be prosecuted for violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law the United States supreme court held yesterday, in an opinion delivered by Chief Justice Taft. The decision came in the celebrated Cornonado coal case, involving strikes in Arkansas in 1919, as a result of which the United Mine Workers of America were found guilty of restraint of interstate commerce and damages of $200,000 were awarded against the organization by the district court which damages were trebled as provided under the anti-trust law.

The supreme court, in an analysis of the evidence presented in the case, found that the fact incident to the strike were not convincing that its object was restraint of interstate commerce. In fact, Chief Justice Taft stated that as much as the court would have been pleased to aid in the punishment of arson felonies commited by the strikers, it was forced to the conclusion that the lawlessness was strictly local, and not associated with an effort to restrain interstate commerce.

EVERYBODY ANXIOUS FOR "THREE MUSKETEERS"

Sixteen duels, a man holding up a broken bridge while three riders cross it, the stealing of a queen's jewels, a desperate fight with a conscienceless woman for their recovery, the smashing of one of the greatest intrigues of history—these are but a few of the dramatic incidents in Douglas Fairbanks' sixth United Artists Picture, "The Three Musketeers," scheduled for a two day run at the Isis Theatre begining next Wednesday.

History retold in celluloid! That's what is claimed for this feature by the management of the Isis. Based on the marvellous adventures and escapades of the dashing D'Artagnan and three of King Louis XIII's Musketeers, this photoplay unfolds the histroy of France in the early Seventeenth Century when that monarchy was dominated by the designing and crafty Cardinal Richelieu, a soldier by training but a statesman and churchman only by virtue of intrigues he devised.

No more vivid and picturesque tale has even been presented on the screen than this From a photographic standpoint it is a work of art, and costumes, and sets, are marvelous. It is believed that this photoplay will go down in film history as one of the classic productions.

Fairbanks' interpretation of the dashing and impulsive D'Artagnan will present him to his admirers in a new light, and the work of the all-star cast that supports him will insure satisfaction to all photoplay goers.

Douglas Fairbanks broke twelve rapiers in dueling scenes during the filming of "The Three Muketeers," featured next week at the Isis.

Edward Knoblock, famed dramatist, estimates that he wrote on hundred thousand words in preparing the screen adaptation of "The Three Musketeers" for Douglas Fairbanks.

Judge Landis is very strict in enforcing his interpretation of baseball laws, but when he attended a game in Washington the other day players stole bases right before his eyes.

ACQUITTED ON ALL CHARGES

The Spring Assizes in so far as the criminal branch was concerned came to a close about eight-thirty on Friday evening last when the jury, after about three hours deliberation, brought in verdicts of not guilty on all counts in the case of The King against David Gorrie, Charles Henderson and J. Robinson alias J. Hanson. The three accused were indicted by the Grand Jury on four counts, viz; Robbery with violence, Burglary, Theft from a dwelling and Theft, but aftre all the evidence was in, His Lordship, Mr. Justice Gregory withdrew the burglary charge from the jury. The Crown's case was entirely based upon circumstantial evidence commencing with the result of investigation at the ranch of William Kerr, at Dorr, following the report of the "hold-up," and proceeding step by step until the arrest of the accused Henderson by Sheriff Martin at Mount Creek, Mont., two days later, at which time accused and Hanson, as he then gave his name, were present. The automobile found in the possesion of the accused was of similar style to that which Mr. Kerr testified contained the two men who held him up at the point of revolvers at his ranch. The tires thereon corresponded identically with imprints left in the earth at the Kerr ranch, and were identical with those traced by Chief Constable Spiller from Dorr to a short distance beyond the International Boundary. The Court congratulated Chief Spiller for the energetic manner in which he had conducted the investigation and gathered the bits of evidence, but after all, as admitted by Mr. Nisbet, Counsel for the Crown, every bit of evidence was circumstantial. However, charged his Lordship, this fact should not direct the jury from fulfilling their duty if the chain of circumstantial evidence directed against the accused was inconsistent with innocence. On the other hand if the jury found that the doctrine of reasonable doubt could be honestly applied, then the accused should always receive the benefit.

His Lordship in discharging the prisoners admonished them for having been engaged in the illicit trafifcking in liquor, but stated he was in accord with the jury's finding. Henderson and Robinson had been in custody about nine months or since their arrest in Montana, but David Gorrie has been out on bail since January last when the three were extradited and committed to stand trial following the preliminary hearing at that time before Magistrate Stenson.

COAL CREEK NOTES

ARTHUR BEEKS BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

The last earthly remains of Arthur Beeks, who departed this life at Tranquil Sanatarium, Kamloops, was laid to rest with military honers in the soldiers' plot at the cemetry on Wednesday afternoon. General manager W. R. Wilson kindly placed a special train at the disposal of the local G. W. V. A. to enable the members of the G. W. V. A. and Ladies' Auxilory residing at Coal Creek to attend the funeral. The local detachment of the R. C. M. P., augmented by troopers from the district provided the firing squad.

The cortege left the home of Mr. T. Wiltshire, on McPherson Avenue, preceeded by the G. W. V. A. band, firing squad, buglers, over sixty members of the Vets and Ladies Auxiliary, and proceeded to Christ Church, wher Rev. Hamilton Brown officiated. After church service the parade reformed and wended its way through town to the strains of Dead March in Saul. The casket was borne on the gun carriage draped with the Union Jack.

Deceased, who served four years in France, leaves a father, three sisters and three brothers in the old land, to mourn his death.

BIG SEIZURE OF WET GOODS IN THE PASS

BELLEVUE, June 12.—Constable Morierty of the Bellevue detachment of A.P.P. made a good catch on Thursday night when he caught a man from Michel, B.C., with 18 cases of the real stuff. He was supposed to be on his way to some points in Saskatchewan when his mission of joy came suddenly to an end for he was confronted by an A.P.P. man on the end of the Frank slide and asked to return to Blairmore where his car and wet goods were looked after by the police. He came up for trial at Blairmore on Saturday and was relieved of $150, and his whisky and car were ordered confiscated. It is thought that his journey into Alberta cost $2500 besides the disappointment to the people that expected him to make connections, but the unexpected sometimes happens.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE NEAR CROWS NEST

COLEMAN, June 13.—There must be a jinx in town. Another motor accident occured Monday evening when a new master six McLaughlin, driven by Tony Cantilina of Bellevue, turned turtle about two miles east of Crows Nest, pinning one of the other passengers under the car and rendering him unconscious. The others in the car, however, escaped without injury. The injured man was rushed to the Coleman hospital suffering from internal injuries.

MARIE PREVOST STARS IN "DON'T GET PERSONAL

The Universal entertainment for Friday and Saturday at the Isis is a new sort of flapper yarn. As "Don't Get Personal," Marie Prevost fits charmingly through the stellar role of a comedy directed by Clarence Badger.

The story is by I. R. Ving and Doris Schroeder concerns a young and fascinating girl of the Great White Way who strays into the peaceful paths of a millionaire's country estate. What she learns there would make the average New York girl look like a piker in the way of worldly wisdom.

The reason for this sudden acquisition of knowledge is that the sweet thing tries to save a harmless young vamp—and Cupid is too mad to talk man from the wiles of an alluring about it. He doesn't like strangers butting in on his match-making profession.

With T. Roy Barnes and Roy Atwell in the main masculine roles and George Nichols—the father of "Molly-O"—in the chief character part, it ought to offer a snappy, free-for-all run in flapper fun.

Barnes has the appropriate role of a wise young man with a strong disinclination toward falling in love or permitting flappers to fall in love with him. But of course that happens.

G. N. IS TO BE ELECTRIFIED

The uncertainty of the supply of coal resulting from frequent strikes in the Crow's Nest Pass has caused the Great Northern Railway to take up the work of electrifying their system wherever possible. The following despatch from Seatle is by no means good news to the people of this district.

SEATTLE, June 8.—Electrification of the Great Northern Railway, involving an expenditure of $20,000,000, in which work Seattle will be established as the western terminal for the distribution of electrical equipment, was announced by J. H. O'Neill, western general manager of the railroad here today, following receipt of advice from President Ralph Budd.

The first step in the electrification, Mr. O'Neill said, would be between Whitefish and Havre, Mont., with the next step over the Cascades between Wenatche and Seattle.

SEE COAL PRICE ADVANCE COMING

CHICAGO, June 12.—Increased bituminous coal production, which, according to figures of the United States geological survey, published today, reached approximately the 5,000,000-ton mark, will have little effect on wholesale prices in the immediate future, dealers here asertted today. Leading wholesalers, some distributing for the entire midlle west, estimated that the normal weekly consumption had reached between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000 tons, with some large users pressing for supplies.

Price increases in the near future were predicted by some dealers, in spite of the Hoover agreement with the operators whereby maximum figures were established for mine deliveries in an effort to prevent profiteering and speculation. Estimates of the above-ground supply now on hand were fixed by dealers here at about 40,000,000 tons, of which 10,000,000 are in transit. At the start of the coal strike, April 1, supplies were estimated at between fifty and sixty million tons.

Increased activity in manufacturing centres, the entry of several railroads into the market and orders for supplies for Great Lake Vessels and the northwest demand have transformed the customary stagnant summer market into daily competition among dealers for shipments.

CAMPERS GUILTY OF KILLING THE FOREST

Apropos of the wholesale destruction of forest areas already this year by careless campers and other users of the woods, the Canadian Forestry Association puts this query to every Canadian lover of outdoors.

Horses couldn't drag you to a hunting trip in a treeless wilderness! a fishing trip by a treeless stream! or camping out in a treeless valley.

Isn't it about true that the call of the Outdoors is the call of Trees? The hospitality of Nature means little to any man except when associated with living trees.

Last summer hundreds of parties of campers struck an unfair blow at the rights and privileges of fellow campers, fellow sportsmen and nature-lovers by starting at least 2500 damaging forest fires.

Camp fires that were not put out, matches and smokes thoughtlessly thrown on the inflammable 'floor' of the woods—these personal acts killed the camping, fishing and hunting in many thousands of square miles of Canadian forest.

Don't be a kill-joy. The forest is made for the fellow who follows after you.

Enjoy the woods; There's nothing to fear except Fire. And mighty few fires except what you start.

Remember: all big fires start as little ones. One Minute's Care may save a Century of Waiting.

Bring yourself and your laugh to "Mrs. Temple's Telegram"—you'll need them both.

Installing home-made radio sets promises to be a popular exercise with the small boy when the school vacation starts. The boy without a receiver will be as lonesome as one without a stonebruise in the barefoot season.

HUGE LIQUOR SALES RECORDED BY PROVINCE

VANCOUVER, June 15. — British Columbia today completed its first year of Government liquor control. Eight million dollars worth has been sold over the counters of the 55 stores in operation in all parts of the province. On this turnover the profit has been 30 per cent or approximately $2,500,000. After deducting a small reserve fund, the government divides this equally between itself and organized municipalities where it is specially appropriated to schools and hospital upkeep.

For instance, Vancouver has received about $600,000 up to date.

Officials estimate that for every gallon of liquor sold by the government the bootlegger sells the same amount so that the total spent for liquor in the province this last year has been sixteen million dollars, almost exactly the same as the total income of the provincial government, from all sources. Admittedly three or four million dollars worth is sold to American visitors.

Of the total sales only $1,500,000 represents beer, ale and stout. For this reason legislation is forshadowed to allow open sale of beer in standard hotels, on the theory that the more beer a tippler takes the less whisky he is likely to consume.

JAMES RENNIE SUPPORTS HOPE HAMPTON IN "STARDUST"

What is declared to be one of the most powerful screen dramas of the season will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday when "Stardust" commences an engagement of 2 days.

Hope Hampton is the star of this production, which was filmed under the direction of Hobart Henley. "Stardust" is based on Fanny Hurst's novel of the same name, Anthony Paul Kelly having prepared the scenario.

It is a fascinating human interest story of Lily Becker, the lily offshoot of an onion family, who, misunderstood and derided for her love of music, flees from the trying environment of her home to the big city, where she struggles for an operatic career and finds tragedy and love, romance and adventure.

James Rennie, of stage fame, appears opposite Miss Hampton as her leading man in the role of a struggling young composer. Noel Tearle, who played a leading part in "Over the Hill," portrays the role of Albert Penny, the shallow, overbearing husband, to whom Lily is tragically mismated.

The story is one of strong emotions and is not without thrills as well as deft touches of humor. A vivid train wreck, in which the despicable Albert Penny is killed, provides one of the most gripping scenes in this production.

"Stardust" was many months in the making, was filmed on an elaborate scale, and is heralded by Associated First National as one of the most interesting attraction of the year.

W. S. FIELDING CRITICIZED

OTTAWA, June 8.—Hon. W. S. Fielding's open repudiation of the Liberal fiscal policy last week caused a sensation in Parliament unequalled in many years. For a Finance Minister to openly declare that he never accepted or had faith in his party's policy is unprecedented in Canadian history. The repudiation came during the speech of the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen on the budget, who drawing the attention of Parliament to the failure of the Government to implement its promises.

"What is thought of the microscopic reductions made here in relation to the pledge of the Liberal party, a pledge endorsed by the present Minister of Finance himself?"Asked Mr. Meighen.

"Mr. Fielding: My Hon. friend has no authority for that statement! I may tell him, he is mistaken. I have never voted for the tariff items of the Liberal platform and never concealed the fact that I did not approve of the platform in that respect.

Mr. Meighen: I accept the minister's word without the slightest reservation, but I fancy that this was the first time, after hon. gentlemen opposite have been in power five months, that any one in this country outside the walls of that convention know that the present Minister of Finance dissented from the tariff plank of the Liberal platform.

Mr. Fielding: My Rt. Hon. friend is the first person to make that statement, and I therefore now correct it.

Mr. Meighen: One would think that the Minister would not need to wait until I should make this statement to make his position clear in the matter. The minister of Finance went to the convention a contestant for the leadership of the party.

Mr. Fielding: My Rt. Hon. friend is hardly correct, but we shall deal with that later.

Mr. Meighen: I was only following the words of the hon. member for Brome (Mr. McMaster) who was there. But if the Minister of Finance differed from the platform of the Liberal party, and refused to be bound by it if returned to power, it was his duty distinctly to say so, to state wherein he disagreed with the platform to make his position perfectly plain so that no one might be deceived."

Here is a Finance Minister, who for three years has been in reality leader of his party openly acknowledges that he never intended to give effect to his party's pledges.

What are the facts? The Liberal party in a great convention in 1919 in Ottawa formulated a policy and selected a leader. Mr. Fielding was there. He was a member of the committee that drafted the platform; he was a candidate for leadership. When the fiscal policy was presented to the convention and adopted, he made no protest. Two hours afterward he presented a resolution on reciprocity and gave utterance to these high sentiments.

"I claim sincerity as a great thing in politics, and so it should be. Politics is not a mere game! it should not be a mere game. Unless there is at the bottom of it a conviction that a man is doing that which he believes to be right; unless there is a conviction that the policy that he has before him is good for the country, then it is a poor, miserable game carried on for the sake of power."

Noble sentiments, but Mr. Fielding according to his own confession had deliberately deceived the Liberal party and the country on the fiscal issue. What is more remarkable is that, as he admits, disagreeing from his party, the next day he made a strong bid for the leadership, and thus gave full approval to the then policy adopted. What more callous regard for political morality was his subsequent remark (after his defeat for the leadership) that "platforms were made to get in on and not to stand on."

Mr. Fielding has justified his own statement that politics "is a poor, miserable game, carried on for the sake of power."

But there is stronger evidence of Mr. Fielding's duplicity. Some of his associates at the Liberal convention declare that on the resolutions committee he accepted the fiscal policy he now repudiates. One goes so far to say that the greater part of the resolution was written by Mr. Fielding. This is the last clause of the fiscal pledge now repudiated.

"And the Liberal party hereby pledges itself to implement by legislation the provisions of this resolution when returned to power."

Some members of the resolution committee objected to this pledge but others pointed to the failure to give effect to their policy after the former convention of 1894 and said they "had to make it strong or the people wouldn't believe them." Probably Mr. Fielding may have objected to this pledge having made and broken the policy made in 1894 and knowing he was going to do the same with the one made in 1919.

The facts are that Mr. Fielding by word and deed subscribed to the Liberal fiscal policy in 1919 and that he has by his own admission never believed in it nor never intended to give effect to it.

ALEX. THOMSON, of London, Eng Lecturing on "Present Day Problems of Self-Government in the British Empire," third day at Chautauqua

Press notice from "The Daily Colonist" Victoria: In an adress before the British-American League, Alexander Thomson dealt with the idea of the Extension of Self-Government in the British Empire.

"The British Empire is now not so much a nation, but a commonwealth of nations. Canada, Australia and New Zealand are all partner nations with the United Kingdom, each sharing in its privileges and responsibilities. India and Ireland have both been accorded the same status which Canada enjoys. The policy of the extension of self-government to the different Dominions, as well as the progress of democracy at home, has helped greatly to bring about more and lasting relations between the two great Anglo-Saxon speaking nations."

"Mr. Alexander Thomson in Canada"

Under the above heading the "British Weekly," one of the foremost weekly papers in Britain, referred to Mr. Thomson's Chautauqua tour in Manitoba and Saskatchewan during 1921, and said he had been "so well known and so highly esteemed as Parliamentary Agent and Parliamentary Secretary in the House of Commons for over ten years." It concluded its appreciative notice by quoting Mr. Lloyd George's letter in which he commended Mr. Thomson for the "Excellent Work" he had done for the Government as chief of Mr. Lloyd George's staff and for his "loyalty and untiring energy in difficult times."—British Weekly, 27th October 1921.

As a preacher, Mr. Thomson has an interesting and forceful style and his wide range of experience of men and affairs gives him a note of authority that one likes to hear in a sermon these days.

Mr. Thomson possesses a singularly attractive personality and is a man of undoubted ability and power. It was my pleasure to have him in my home for a short visit, where his charm seized upon every member of my family.

THE CALGARY EXHIBITION

Prospects are exceedingly promising for the best Exhibition ever held at Calgary to take place June 30 to July 7, when for four days His Excellency, Baron Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada will be the guest of honor in Calgary on his first official visit to Western Canada. Baron Byng will perform the official ceremonies of the Exhibition on July 4th, Governor-General's Day and will take an active part in the Exhibition activities from then until the close on July 7th, Girls' and Boys' Day, which it is expected will be the biggest day of the week. Over fifty thousand invitations have been sent out to the children of the southern half of the province to be guests of the management that day.

Entries close on June 16th and there is not the slightest doubt that the live stock exhibit this year will surpass anything ever seen in Alberta. The fact that His Excellency, the Governor-General, is intensely interested in live stock of all kinds and will be present during the judging of several of the classes at the Calgary Exhibition has atracted a record entry from all parts of Canada. The number of live stock entries received from th Uenited States has been increasing year by year and this year a number of the largest breeding establishments in the Western States are making their debut as exhibitors on the Western Canada fair circuit, opening at Calgary.

In the way of entertainment, the very best has, of course, been obtained. The great popularity of the massed choir at the 1921 Exhibition has induced the management to enlarge on that idea for this year and the best choirs in Calgary have combined for the purpose of singing at the Calgary Exhibition. A massed band will also feature the musical program and several of the best musical vaudeville acts to be secured on the continent have been engaged. Numerous other high class numbers will combine to form the best grand stand program ever presented in Calgary.

The grand stand performance will conclude each evening with a grand fireworks spectacle "Tanks in Action" or "Breaking up the Hindenburg line." This is a most elaborate piece and will prove popular with patrons of all ages.

Horse races will be the big feature of the afternoon on July 1st, 3rd, 4th and 5th and automobile races on July 6th and 7th. A splendid array of race horses have been in training at the Exhibition grounds since early in the spring, getting ready for the opening of the Western Canada fair circuit race meets at Calgary. Many of the entries for the Exhibition races participated in the Victtria Day race meet at Calgary, when they made wonderful records.

A special rate of a fare and a third will be in effct on all railways for th Calgary Exhibition from stations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia as far west as Nelson and Golden. For those who are fond of camping out, the Calgary Auto Club provides a beautiful camping ground close to the Exhibition Grounds which the club places at the disposal of Exhibition visitors free of charge. Every convenience is provided and St. Patrick's Island, on which the camp is located, offers an ideal spot for a week's camping out.

SEVEN CRANBROOK TEACHERS RESIGN

(Cranbrook Herald)

There will probably be at least seven vacancies to be filled on the school staff at the end of the present term. In addition to the four resignations announced last week, those of Mr. Baker, of the high school, Miss Blankenback, Miss Staples and Miss MacKenzie, of the central school, and Miss Wallace of Kootenay Orchards school have also handed in their resignations, and it is not expected that Mrs. Douglass of the South Ward will be here for another term.

CONCENTRATOR FOR KIMBERLEY

(Cranbrook Courier)

The announcement made by the Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power Company of Canada last week that the company will proceed with the erection of a fifteen hundred tons' capacity concentrator near Kimberley, is of the utmost importance to the mining industry of East Kootenay and one that will be heralded with delight by the business interests of this section. It is of particular significance to the people of Kimberley, who have been awaiting the announcement for the past two years. The completion of the new plant practically means the doubling in population of the town of Kimberley.

This concentrator, which will be nearly ten times the size of any existing concentrator in the Kootenays, with the exception of the plant at Trail that it is to relieve, will cost between $1,250,000 and 1, 500,000 and will, it is expected, be ready for operation early in 1923.

Mr. G. F. Chapman, mechanical superintendent of the present plant at Trail, will move to Kimberley to take charge of the construction and the mill will be designed and built according to the company's own plans.

A crew of men are already at work making roads to the new property, which lies about midway between Marysville and Kimberley, the location being one of the best in the whole district, providing for an excellent dump to get rid of the tailings. A force of carpenters are being put to work erecting bunk houses and providing accomodation for the big force of builders, who will be put on the work immediately accomodation is provided. When the new concentrator is ready for commission the output of the Sullivan Mine will be greatly expanded, and very probably the crew will be doubled. Also the Trail plant will become available for the ores of the company's group of Rossland properties, whose output will consequently become greatly expanded also.

Whilst the exact number of men required for the erection of the concentrator has not been definitely made public, it is thought employment for about four hundred workmen will be provided, with fifty to eighty men required to permantly operate the plant.

Further power development at Bonington Falls by West Kootenay Power and Light Company, a subsidary of the Consolidated, will be required as part of the program.

CAN WALK FOR MILES WITHOUT GETTING TIRED

Mrs. Olson Tells How Tanlac Completely Rid Her Of Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble Which At Times Made Her Almost Helpless.

In telling her experience with Tanlac, Mrs. Arthur Olson, 832 Pender St. East, Vancouver, B. C., said:

"Ever since I came from England three years ago my stomach had been out of order and I was always feeling sick. I had no appetite and date scarcely enough to keep a bird alive. I suffered from constipation and was almost frantic with headaches. I had pains in the small of my back and rheumatism in my limbs. For three weeks I could hardly move my arms. I rarely got to sleep before two or three in the morning, was simply lifeless and just wanted to lie down all the time

"Tanlac did what all other medicines failed to do for me. It gave me a fine appetite and rid me of all my pains, and the other day I walked several miles with my husband and did not even get tired. I think Tanlac is just splendid."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CAPTAIN T. DINSMORE UPTON
"Re-creation Through Recreation."
First night of Chautauqua.

It takes a man a whole lot out of the ordinary cast to earn the name, "Pal of All the Kids in Town." It requires a person with a deep understanding of boys and a real boy at heart himself. Such a person is Capt. T. Dinsmore Upton, who is soon to lecture here the first night of Chautauqua.

Capt. Upton was formerly superintendent of Municipal Playgrounds at Grand Rapids, Michigan, and later Athletic Director in the U.S. Army at two of their largest cantonments. In the Middle West there is probably no greater authority on playground work and recreation than "Dinny" Upton. He has given his life to this great work among our boys and girls. He loves the work and his whole heart is in it.

For the past three years Capt. Upton has turned to the field of the Lyceum and Chautauqua platform to further this humanatarian work. He is a splendid speaker and his lecture is a real power for good in every community. It is sane, constructive, inspiring—a message everyone in the community should hear.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Cranbrook and Waldo golf teams are expected to visit Fernie on Sunday.

Another export liquor house will shortly open in the Johnson-Falconer building.

The Fernie Ladies Baseball team have at last received a defy from an outside team when Waldo has offered to contest them for supremacy. The game takes place at Waldo on Sunday immediately before the seniors engage Waldo in their league fixture.

It is said that the Cranbrook bye-election will take place within a month. The Vancouver election will also take place at an early date.

The Knowles Board of Conciliation disbanded in Calgary on Wednesday, following the sojourn at Banff since June 8th, during which period the members deliberated and finally submitted their findings to the Minister of Labour. All members were extremely reticent as to the Board's award and nothing official was given out, however, an intimation from a reliable source indicates that a majority and minority report has been submitted, but the details will not be made public until given out from Ottawa.

On Monday evening, in the basement of the United Church, Angus L. Hay, district agriculturists, addressed a gathering of Fernie farmers and dairymen on livestock, the lecture being illustrated with lantern slides. Mr. Hay brought to light the different countries and conditions under which each class of stock originated, this being very beneficial to those present as practically all are just starting in on farming and up to present have been experimenting with what class of stock would thrive and give the best results in this district; it may be mentioned that since the lecture very little experimenting will be necessary, as all that is necessary is to compare the different climates under which each class has been raised. Mr. Hay also mentioned a number of ways in which the Government was prepared to aid farmers, and from the reports that are being circulated, several are intending to accept some of the aids offered, so Fernie may expect to see some pure bred and real good grade stock brought into the city.

To the Editor,
"Fernie Free Press."

Sir,

Having recently, as a member of the Grand Jury, had the privilege of inspecting your gaol, I must own to a feeling of surprise that a town like Fernie should allow an unfortunately necessary institution of that nature to exist in its present condition. I am far from being one of those who think that the life of the evil-doer, after he has been condemned, should be made easy! but I hold, strongly, that there ought to be much more difference between the treatment of a man waiting for trial and that of a man who has been sentenced than appears to be made in your gaol. British law holds that every man is innocent until proved guilty! but one might be excused for thinking that the Fernie authorities agreed with the idea voiced by the ex-policeman in W. W. Jacobs' excellent story, "Cupboard Love," that "everybody is guilty until they've proved their innocence." It does occasionally happen that an innocent man is apprehended and held for trial! and it is intolerable that such a one should be subjected to the conditions which I found existed in your gaol. If the sufferer mentioned happened to be Mr. Mayor or the Medical Officer, I fancy we should hear of speedy reforms, if only in the supply of decent blankets.

Reading the Prison Rules and Regulations, I found that No. 1., which ordered that each man on entering should have a bath and be provided with a complete change of underclothing, was more honoured in the breach than in the observance! on making enquiry, I was unable to find that any stock of clothing whatever was kept for use. I can conceive no quicker means of introducing insanitary conditions into a prison than the neglect of this very sensible regulation.

I am glad to be able to wind up my testimony by saying that I saw a good bath in the prison, and was informed that prisoners have to take a bath once a week and can bath oftener if they wish.

The Grand Jury's recommendations on the subject were taken by His Lordship to be sent to Ottawa and probably pigeon-holed! but I think that the people of Fernie are sufficiently go-ahead to institute much-needed reforms on their own initiative, and I trust that they will excuse an outsider for drawing public attention to the matter.

John Barnard.

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of all Nerve Remedies

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health

The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. This, "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvellous in its action.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa Ont.

The Editor "Fernie Free Press,"
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir:

May I use a little of your valuable space to call attention to the lamentable condition of the wooden sidewalks of your fair city?

As a frequent and interested visitor I cannot help but admire the well equipped and modern business establishments, the public institutions and well kept grounds, and the personal efforts of the many who are endeavoring to beautify the city by keeping their lawns and shade trees in shape.

The large number of out-of-town cars which I recently witnessed on your streets would seem to indicate that Fernie is not unattractive as a tourist centre. Should these visitors find it necessary to use some of the sidewalks adjacent to the business district, I fear the city would lose some of its glamor for them. Quite recently I experienced the sensation of stepping on a plank that wasn't there and fortunately escaped with a bruised shin. A few planks would remedy the evil and would serve to enhance the attractiveness of an otherwise very attractive city.

Thanking you, I am, yours very truly,

"Progressive."

LOCAL AND GENERAL

The Literary Society held a picnic to Morrissey Creek on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whalley, of Michel, have gone on an extended visit to Livingstone, Mont.

J. A. Broley returned on Tuesday from Vancouver, where he underwent a successful operation.

Inspector Townsend, of Macleod, arrived in town this week to take charge of this division of the Mounted Police.

Quite a number from Fernie attended the dance at Waldo on Tuesday evening.

Two ladies motored through Fernie to the prairie today. They drove all the way from California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Fisher returned on Saturday from a trip to Vancouver.

Rev. H. U. Oswald, of St. Luke's Church, Winnipeg, arrived in town today to take charge of the pastorate of Christ Church.

The strike at the Fernie Fort Steele Brewing Company was called off on Thursday, the company and the men having compromised on an agreement.

It is reported that some persons are persistently picking the flowers that are growing on the graves in the cemetery. Anyone found guilty of this offence will be prosecuted.

Mrs. Morrow, of Halifax, who has been in Vancouver attending the National Council of the I. O. D. E., is the guest of Mrs. G. G. Moffatt in this city.

Lundbreck, the latest town to form a golf club, is making great arrangements for the opening of their new course on Saturday, June 17, at 1:30 p.m. A good sports program has been arranged.

The town just now is full of bootleggers who are taking a holiday while the dry squad across the line is particularly busy. An election is coming off shortly over there and everybody must be good for the time being.

A joint social and whist drive will be given by the Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias on Wednesday, June 21, at Hawthorne's Hall, to do honor to Sister and Brother Billsborough, before their departure to England. Members please invite a friend. Cards start at 7:30 sharp.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. John Mitchell at Ayrshire, Scotland, on May 22nd. Mrs. Mitchell, who was a resident of Coal Creek and Fernie 14 years ago, leaves two daughters, Margaret and Catherine, and four sons, Joseph, Dougald and Robert, all of Fernie, and David, of Michel, to mourn her loss.

On Tuesday evening, the Fernie Farmers' Institute held a general meeting, but owing to the small attendance it was decided to hold a further meeting in about two weeks. The Creamery discussion was held over, also the Government plan on community breeding. Mr. Hay's lecture was discussed for the benefit of those who were unable to to attend. In future, in a case of lectures of this kind, it would be advisable for all to attend as they are very beneficial in every respect, especially to those who are interested in farming. Be on the lookout for a supplementary meeting to be held shortly.

McBains' Lake, a beautiful little body of water situated about four or five miles from Galloway, but very little known to the people of Fernie, was visited on Sunday last by three car loads of Fernie people. Here is an ideal spot to spend a few days, the lake is nearly two miles long and about three-quarters of a mile wide. The water is very deep in places, but there are one or two beautiful gravel beeches which make it safe for bathers. This lake is well stocked with a variety of fish and there are two or three boats which can be used to reach the best fishing grounds. The shores are well wooded and the camping grounds are beautiful. During our visit to the lake last Sunday, Charlie Brown, of the Fernie Garage, pulled off a mile and a half swimming stunt, which greatly interested the spectators.

You can safely bring your children to the Isis.

Miss Helen Rudnicki, who has been attending school in Vancouver, arrived home last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Billings, of Vancouver, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Herchmer.

A very pleasant evening was spent by those who attended the golf club dance at the club house Tuesday evening.

G. F. Johnson has opened a real estate and fire insurance office, upstairs in the Bank of Hamilton Building.

Kenneth Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stewart, who is attending Columbia College at New Westminster was successful in passing his examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parker returned on Thursday from Rochester, New York, where the former was consulting with Mayo Bros., the famous surgeons.

Marriage licences were issued at the local Government office this week to Jacob Kappel and Miss Gretha Dorst and to William Howarth and Miss Ada Elizabeth Cousins, all of Fernie.

Don't forget the social and dance in the Catholic Hall tonight. Cards 9 to 10.30. Dancing 11 to 1. Bass orchestra. Also keep in mind the one for next Friday.

The council held its regular meeting last Friday evening June 9th, when the only business requiring to be tranacted was the granting of the licence for the Kings Hotel to E. A. Johnston, and the passing of the regular monthly accounts.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at Christ Church on Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being William Howarth and Ada Elizabeth Cousins, both of this city. The event was hastened on account of the Rev. Hamilton Brown's imminent departure from Fernie.

His Honour, Judge Thompson, spent a few days this week in Nelson, attending a committee meeting of the Anglican Synod for the Diocese of Kootenay. The regular sittings of the County Court for the month of June have been postponed until June 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pollock returned on Saturday from a four weeks' motor tour through Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon. Before returning to this city, however, their attention was directed to a paragraph in our issue of May 19, wherein we stated that a report had been received from across the line that a "prominent citizen of Fernie was arrested in the state of Montana for having liquor in his car and that the car had been confiscated." This item, Mr. Pollock says, has been the cause of considerable annoyance to both himself and Mrs. Pollock, inasmuch as it appears the general public have connected them with the incident, and this is positively untrue. There was absolutely no justification for the circulation of a rumor of this kind in so far as Mr. and Mrs. Pollock are concerned, and the only possible manner it might have started is that some "gossip-monger" desired to make considerable out of the practice favored by the United States Sheriffs these days in making Canadian tourists suffer the indignity of having their cars searched for liquor, whenever they can do so. We are glad to learn the facts are as above stated.

CHIROPRACTIC

WHAT IT IS! WHAT IT HAS DONE! WHAT IT IS DOING;

In 1895 D. D. Palmer began the crude practice which through his efforts and that of many others has since been developed into the wonderful Science, Art and Philosophy we have with us today. It has evolved into a well defined non-therapeutic health system which accounts for, locates and adjusts the CAUSE of dis-ease.

Today ten thousand Chiropractors are scattered throughout the world, bringing health and happiness to more than a million people who daily take Chiropractic adjustments.

CHIROPRACTIC is based upon a correct knowledge of anatomy, and especially the nervous system. It is not Medicine; not Surgery; not Osteopathy; not Christian Science nor any other of the so-called healing sciences. It is a scientific method of adjusting the cause of disease, entirely different from any other known healing science.

TARIFF CHANGES AFFECT 5 ITEMS

OTTAWA, June 13.—The changes announced by Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, last night, from the budget proposals brought down on May 23, affect five items of the customs tariff and include alterations in the inland revenue taxes and in the special war revenue taxes.

A new tax is introduced to apply on receipts. The tax applies to all receipts of $10 and upwards. The amount of the tax is 2 cents on each receipt, and there is a penalty of $100 imposed on any person who refuses to give a receipt duly stamped.

This tax does not come into force until January 1, 1923. The tax on cables and telegrams is reduced from 5 cents to 3. The rate in last year's budget was 1 cent.

The tax on checks is altered by fixing a minimum of $2. There will be still a tax of 2 cents for each $50 up to this minimum. It is provided that where a bill of exchange is payable on demand or within three days after date, such bill shall be deemed for the purpose of taxation to be drawn for an amount not exceeding $5000.

The tax on the transfer of stocks is reduced from 5 cents to 3 cents for $100, but bonds are now subject to the tax. This tax last year was 2 cents on $100.

The alterations in the tax on checks applies also to express and post office money orders.

The taxes on automobiles are revised. The tax on passenger cars up to $1200 in value remains at 5 per cent. On automobiles valued at more than this amount, the tax will be 5 per cent on the first $1200 and 10 per cent on the value of each additional $1200. The original proposal in this year's budget was to place a tax of 10 per cent on the total value of all cars, valued at more than $1200.

The tax on automobiles will not apply on motor cars purchased by a dealer before May 24 and sold to a user prior to that date, provided that the car is imported before the first day of July.

The tax of 5 per cent on confectionery remains, but it will not apply to "goods packed ready for sale in cartons or other packages bearing the name of the manufacturer and selling at 10 cents or less per carton, not to include candy known as gross goods selling by retail at 1 cent."

The tax on soft drinks is reduced from 10 cents a gallon to 5 cents, but it is made to apply to the soda fountain as well as to th ebottled goods.

The tax on ale, beer, porter or stout is reduced from 15 cents to 12½ cents per gallon.

The tax on beverages does not come into force until the first day of July.

The whole schedule of special taxes on cigar is revised. As now proposed, the tax of 50 cents per thousand applies on cigars up to a value of $40 per thousand! from $40 per thousand to $110 per thousand, the tax will be $3! from $110 to $150 per thousand, the $7 tax will apply! from $150 to $200 per thousand the tax will be $10! when the cigars are valued at more than $200 per thousand the tax will remain at $16 per thousand.

The excise taxes on cigarettes are reduced from $9 to $7.50 per thousand where the cigarettes weigh not more than three pounds per thousand! where the cigarettes exceed this weight the tax is reduced from $14 to $12.50 per thousand.

The outstanding change in the tariff relates to cigarettes. The duty as proposed on May 23 was $5.25 and 25 per cent! it is now reduced to $4.70 and 25 per cent. Prior to May 23 the duty on cigarettes was $4.10 and 25 per cent.

MAN'S TRIUMPH OVER NATURE

LONDON, June 12.—The achievement of the Everest explorers in setting a new mark in the annals of mountaineering was hailed today by the British Press and public as a triumph of man over nature's obstacles.

"I think it was a tremendous feat for the Everest climbers to have reached the height of 26,800 feet," said Sir Martin Conway, member of Parliament and a famous explorer, in an interview today. "This, of course, beats the record by more than 2000 feet as regards the highest point reached by any mountain climbers. I never expected they would climb much above 25,500 feet, and the fact that they surpassed that without oxygen is significant. I would not go so far as to say that this now proves the summit may be reached successfully at an early date, but all events, I am quite prepared to hear they have gone as high without oxygen as with it."

"Even if the climbers of the expedition are not fated to succeed in their attempt, it will be a proud consolation to feel that the men who now hold the honor of having set foot higher on earth than any previous explorer are English. But because of what they have already accomplished it may be said without undue optimism that the prospect of reaching the summit seems much less of a forlorn hope than it did. If further camps can be established at or about the extreme height already reached, it seems well within the bounds of hope, given favorable weather and the absence of violent winds and blizzards, that what the expedition set out to do may be done."

The Evening News says:

"Few will read without an uplift of imagination that three members of the Everest expedition have climbed to the height of 26,800 feet, As a mere accomplishment of human endeavor this great ascent to a point 2200 feet higher than has ever yet been reached by man would command the attention of anyone. But all must feel that there is something more in this than the mere breaking of an altitude record. We can only guess what it means to look out on the Himalayas from this height, but the mere reading of it gives us rich conception of man's life."

FOOTBALL

Fernie Reserves Versus Coal Creek Reserves

-o-

These two teams met on North End Park grounds last Sunday before a good crowd, Paddy Hughes in charge of the game. Coal Creek reserves kicked off, but Fernie took the game in hand right away, pressing around the Creek's goal most of the time, with the result that the score at the interval was Fernie 2 Coal Creek 0.

Shortly after the commencement of the second half, Coal Creek scored their first goal, a few minutes after Fernie scored their third goal, but the Creek never lay down. At this stage of the game, they sure went after Fernie's scalp, rattling in a second goal and a few minutes after, a third, equalizing the score. Fernie team seemed to fall to pieces, the monkey glands that they got treated with earlier on, did not seem to help them any, but still the game went on.

After some midfield play, Corlett, at outside right of the Creek team broke into centre field and beating his man sent in a dandy shot that beat Hamer all the way, this was a beauty besides winning the game for Coal Creek, the final result was Coal Creek 4 Fernie 3.

Coal Creek has a fine young set of forwards and with some encouragement should be one of the best forward lines in the Pass. The best for Fernie were Davidson and Kennedy, with the rest playing good football, they were a trifle unlucky to lose, but starting to change the players around on the football field while winning will never do any good, if they had kept their players in the same position while leading 3 to 1, instead of changing them at that time, chances are they would have won out. Everybody sure enjoyed the game.

Players will meet at G. W. V. A. headquarters at 1 p.m. sharp.

WHEN BIG BILL FORFEITED HIS BAIL BOND

It would appear from official reports forthcoming that the I.W.W. organization was none too well pleased when Big Bill Haywood, the uncrowned king of that crew, skipped his bail bond to eventually land in Russia, there to take up the work of the Soviet. It is not so much the absence of Haywood, but the fact that those who backed the Independent Workers of the World, to give them their full title, are out the amount of the bail bond, which in his case was $15,000, and which the United States Government proceeded to collect. Moreover, Bill's example did not prove at all beneficial, as it lead eight other members of the I.W.W. to follow Haywood's lead, failing to surrender themselves when wanted by the authorities. This meant an additional liability of $50,000 in bail money, a total of $65,000 in all, that the I.W.W. feel obligated to pay to those who backed their favorites by assisting in their release from Leavenworth prison. However, it would appear that up to date nothing has been paid the bondsmen. On this point the following paragraph in an official communication from I.W.W. officials to Haywood is illuminating:

"Every cent of cash and Liberty bonds put up for you has been taken by the Government, and proceedings will doubtless be instituted shortly to collect the remainder on the real estate pledged by your friends. But that is not the full result of the tactics that took you to Russia. Other defendants have jumped their bonds as the result of you going. I enclose a full statement of the situation as is confronts the defense today—a total of $65,000 to raise to pay the bondsmen."

Then follows a plea that Big Bill make good. Of course, Bill will do nothing of the kind, unless he can steal it from Trotsky and Lenine, and as there is little left in Russia to steal, even the church plate having now disappeared, the chances for the bondsmen appear slight.—Saturday Night.

REED METROPOLITAN PLAYERS

Every year brings a new play to delight and amuse Dominion Chautauqua audiences. This year it is the best comedy of the times, that well known and justly popular "Mrs. Temple's Telegram." Fun is the key note, and hilarity reigns supreme. A laugh a minute is the rule, and clean, incisive humor holds unlimited sway. Bright dialogues, comical situations and laughable complications follow one another in rapid sequence. Presented by the Reed Metropolitan Players, under the personal direction of Mr. Joseph D. Reed, the eminent producer and actor, with a high class company of players of undoubted ability—each chosen for his adaptability to his lines—and the entire membership working together like some fine piece of machinery, the whole effect is equalled by few and excelled by none. Particular attention is given to the wardrobe, stage settings and other accessories, and these assist in making an evening of solid enjoyment that lingers long in the memories of those who see it.

Frank Wyatt, one of the leaders among contemporary English dramatists, and William Morris, co-author, are responsible for the keen wit and bright humor registered throughout the reading of the lines. The play was originally produced at the Oxford Theatre, London, England, where it enjoyed a run of one year. After touring the smaller cities in England, and everywhere receiving the highest praise of both press and public, the management brought the production to America. At the Garden Theatre, New York City, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" had one of the longest Broadway showings on record, remaining at this playhouse one hundred and ninety-three nights without interruption. This play is widely known as the one in which Miss Marie Tempest, great English actress, won world wide fame.

AULT KEEPS UP HIS RECORD

Holding the White Spruce batsmen scoreless for eight out of the nine innings, in the East Kootenay League game on Wednesday evening, Ault of Fernie maintains his undefeated record and Fernie won easily by a score of seven runs to one.

Fernie opened the scoring in the first inning when B. Wilson, first man up, got a single, was sacrificed to second, went to third on a passed ball and scored when Barger missed a pitched ball and threw wild to the plate. Fernie added another run in the second. In the third the Spruce made things a little exciting after having two men down they filled the sacks but Ault pulled himself out of the hole by striking out O'Dell for the third out. Fernie got their first really earned run in the sixth when Shand got a single and scored when McTeer doubled to centre. R. Colton, following McTeer, connected for what seemed a sure hit; O'Dell took a flying leap at the ball, grabbed it and then touched second for an unassisted double play. Ault was again in a tight corner in the seventh when the Spruce again filled the bases, but airtight fielding retired two batters, and then C. Colton retired Bishop for the 3rd out when he made a running one-handed catch of his long fly to centre. In the eighth the Spruce broke their goose egg when Barger singled and scored on O'Dell's double. O'Dell went to third when Zeith singled, Crumley popped out then R. Colton relieved the pressure when he caught Ruschal's texas leaguer and tossed to first catching Zeith off the sack. Ferput the game on ice in their half of the eighth, when an error, three singles and a double gave them four runs. In the ninth Peters attempted to start a bating rally for the Spruce by hiting out a two-bogger, but was held at second till the end.

FERNIE PEOPLE 'MIND YOUR STEP'

The following from the Victoria Colonist should serve as a warning to pedestrians to be excedingly careful that no serious accidents happen to them while traversing the wooden sidewalks of our fair city:

The only town in British Columbia where a citizen can break his neck by stumbling on a rotten boardwalk—with any degree of subsequent comfort to his heirs, executors and assigns—is Vancouver. That, at least was the obvious moral of a decision in the Court of Appeal the other day, where the bench unanimously dismissed the appeal in the case of Clarke vs the Corporation of Chilliwack.

The appeal was taken by Mrs. Hannah Clarke from the judgment of Judge Howay, who dismissed her action for damages against the corporation. The facts were that in trying to step over a gap caused by a missing board in the wooden sidewalk of Young Street, she trod on another loose board, which tripped her, so that she sustained a broken rib.

Mr. R. H. Tupper, appearing for the appellant, argued that while there was no statutory obligation on the municipality to keep the boardwalk in repair, there was an obligation to prevent its becoming a dangerous nuisance. An interesting colloquy between counsel and the learned judges developed on what Mr. Tupper described as the artificial doctrine of law which held that municipalities were not responsible for accidents arising out of neglect of their highways.

Mr. Tupper was unsuccessful in his attempt to have the court accept his distinction between municipal obligations as to the highway, and those pertaining to structures—such as the boardwalk in question—upon the highway. The court unanimously dismissed the appeal without calling upon Mr. J. H. Bowes, counsel for the corporation, for argument.

"I sympathize with Mr. Tupper's view," said Chief Justice Macdonald, "that it should be the duty of municipalities to keep in repair sidewalks constructed by themselves! and that they ought to be liable for accidents arising out of neglect of such sidewalks. But the law in British Columbia is that municipalities operating under the Municipal Act are under no such obligation. The law is not so in some other provinces, notably Ontario! nor does it apply to Vancouver, which operates under special charter. Mr. Tupper's view of what should be is a reasonable one! but it is not the law! and until the Legislature amends the law, persons in the position of this appellant will have no redress."

NEW LIQUOR ACT READY

OTTAWA, June h.—A new bill to amend the Temperance Act was given first reading in the House of Commons tonight. This bill takes the place of one which was introduced earlier in the session and which was discharged from the order paper to make room for its successor. The original bill dealt only with a request from British Columbia. The new measure meets the wishes of the authorities of Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

The provision requested by British Columbia asks that the provincial government shall be the sole importers of liquors in that province. This provision is varied as regards Quebec, to give to the commission which has control of the liquor trade in that province similar authority to that given to the provincial government in British Columbia.

For Nova Scotia and Ontario the bill enacts that certain clauses of the Doherty Act shall be read as being included in Part Four of the Canada Temperance Act. This is the part of the act under which plebiscites were held in these provinces.

For Saskatchewan it is enacted that no person shall have the power to export spirituous liquors. This provision coming into force on the passing of a provincial order-in-council so requesting.

McGILL UNIVERSITY CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC EXAMINATIONS

Dr. J. E. Watson, examiner for McGill Conservatory of Music, held an Examination in pianoforte work this week. Seventeen of Miss West's pupils tried and all were successful in passing, four gaining distinction. Miss Janet McKay, of Waldo, is the second pupil from Fernie to pass the semi-final evamination for Licentiate of Music, Harold Anderson being the first. This leaves Miss McKay one more examination before obtaining this coveted degree. Eighty-two per cent. was the average obtained, which Dr. Watson claims is the highest average of any class in his experience.

The following are the pupils who passed: Janet McKay, Waldo; Merle Wallace; Evelyn Austin, Distinction; Madeline Chardon, Distinction; Roswell Garner; Annie Reynolds; Betty Johnson; Lily Wiltshire; Dorothy Bean; Florence Braithwaite; Mary Corlett, Coal Creek; Chrissey Davidsno;Mary Easton, Distinction; Edith Greenwood; Edna Harvey, Dictinction; Andrey Mills; Dane Parker.

At the recent examinations in Theory of Music, Merle Wallace gained distinction in the intermediate grade, being the first Fernie pupil to gain distinction in that grade, with a very high mark. The others who passed were Evelyn Austin; Madeline Chardon; Roswell Garner.

The First of July Celebration is Children's Day, and they will all take part in the parade. How about your car being decorated for the occasion to make it a bumper one.

A team of ten golf players from Cranbrook and Waldo arrived in town on the 17th to meet the local club team. Two events were pulled off, the teams lining up as follows: Visitors, Graham, Stevenson, White, McPhee, Nash, Thompson, Grubb, Robertson, Billings and Beale; Fernie, Watson, Herchmer, Irvine, Mitchell, Stewart, Kastner, Hayne, Wallace, Wood, and Marshall. In both competitions, the visitors were badly worsted. The only Cranbrook man to win his game in the morning, was our old friend, Geo. Stevenson, who won from Sherwood Herchmer by one hole. In the afternoon, Herchmer and Watson also lost to Stevenson and Graham by one hole; all the other Fernie players being victorious. A delightful day was spent by all, the visitors being entertained to a fine luncheon at the Club House.

Conciliation Board Sends Reports to Minister of Labor

(Calgary Herald)

In the report of the Knowles conciliation board, which inquired into the disputes in District 18, United Mine Workers of America, embracing the union coal mines in Alberta and Eastern British Columbia, certain recommendations as to the future of the industry are made, as well as to the wages and working conditions.

There are really two reports, a majority, signed by Chairman W. E. Knowles and H. Ostlund, and a minority, signed by R. G. Drinnan, who represented the operators. The majority report recommends the discontinuance of the war bonus of $1.17 a day and urges a return to the 1920 agreement, with the exception of the closed shop, with a reduction in wages of 15 per cent.

The minority report recommends that the basic rate be that of the 1915-1917 agreement with an increase of 25 per cent. to contract miners and an increase of 40 per cent. over that agreement on underground day wages, and a similar increase on outside day wages.

It is intimated that there are too many mines operating in Alberta in comparison with the demand and that this is the main cause of seasonal employment. With so many mines working the production for part of the year will meet all demands. During the hearings one suggestion made was that there be federal control of the mines to obviate this difficulty and reference is made to this in the report.

The flooding of the Manitoba market with American coal is another reason for part time work in Alberta's mines.

The reports in full follow:

The Majority Report

To the Hon. James Murdock,
Minister of Labor,
Ottawa,

Sir,—A board of conciliation and investigation was applied for on March 21, 1922, by Mr. E.G. Williamson, president, and Mr. Robert Peacock, secretary, of the above mentioned District 18, in the matter of a dispute regarding certain proposed reduction in the rates of pay and other matters, and in pursuance thereof and under your authority the said board was constituted and composed of Mr. W. E. Knowles, chairman, Mr. H. Ostlund and Mr. R. G. Drinnan.

The board met in Calgary on Saturday, April 1, 1922, and having been duly sworn held an organization meeting and adjourned. In pursuance of this adjournment, the meetings for the purpose of receiving evidence began in the city hall, Calgary, at 10 a.m. on the 10th day of April, 1922. After taking evidence in Calgary, witnesses were heard in the following places respectively (with various adjournments intervening): Drumheller, Wayne, Canmore, Bankhead, Lethbridge, Fernie and Blairmore, where the taking of evidence was concluded.

Later the board met at Calgary for the purpose of hearing the argument or summing up, by the representatives of the respective parties to the dispute.

Following this the formal sittings of the board ended, and the real work of the board in an effort to effect conciliation began.

The representatives of the two parties (on the suggestion of the board) entered into a joint conference, With Mr. Knowles acting as chairman, with a view to ascertaining if any settlement was possible in the light of all the evidence and more mature consideration which had come from the different sittings of the board.

These informal conferences were attended by approximately twelve representatives from each side and continued for two and one-half days. The best of feeling and a desire to get together, if possible, were manifested at these conferences—but the result was disappointing and the parties separated without any solution to the problem.

Following this the members of the board went into private consultation for two days to work with a view to arriving at a unanimous decision—the result was all three members of the board decided that it was best that there would be a further adjournment and the same was taken pursuant to which the board reassembled in Banff on June 10, and faithfully struggled with the problem for several days with the result that we have decided that further discussion is profitless, and the board now proceeds to make its report to you:

You are aware that on the 31st March last there expired a two-year agreement under which wages had been paid. You are further aware that many classifications of work are paid for by the day, and others are paid for by contract as to yardage, tonnage, etc., and in addition to these scales of pay, as set out in formal agreement, every one was paid a war bonus or high cost of living allowance of $1.17 per day, this to each man whether married or single, and also to each boy.

It may be frankly stated that while the representatives of the employes did not specifically commit themselves to any reduction, yet none took the ground that there should be no reductions. It seemed rather to be conceded that decreases were unavoidable, and the question (which is a difficult one) was how large or small those reductions should be.

The task which the board has in hand is aggravated by the feature of intermittent employment. The solution of this problem is doubtless one which is not included within the duties of this board, and yet it is so inseparably linked up with the problem of wages that the board feels some comments must be made upon this phase of the case.

Exhibit 06 filed with the board being a statement of days worked by each man during 1921 shows as follows:

THE HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

The High School Entrance Examinations begin at the Public School on Tuesday, June 27. The examiners in charge of this examination this year are Miss E. A. Coles, and Mrs. A. Elley. Besides the pupils from the Central School, there will be candidates from Michel, Coal Creek, and other neighboring towns. The class from the Central School is far the largest that has ever tried here in this examination. It is expected that at least fifty candidates will receive their High School Entrance certificates this year.

The examination system is much changed this year. Instead of writing on eleven subjects, the candidates will only write on five. They will have to attain an average of 60% instead of 50% as heretofore. These regulations make the examination a much more difficult one. The department of education say that they do not wish any student to be kept from High School, but they want the students better prepared to take up High work when they do get there.

William Duncan, of Division I., who has led his class all the year, is competing in this examination for the Governor-General's Medal.

GET CERTIFICATES UNDER MINING ACT

VICTORIA, June 20.—Under the provisions of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, the board of examiners for coal mine officials, conducted examinations for the granting of first, second and third-class, and mine surveyors' certificates of competency, at Nanaimo, Cumberland, Fernie, and Merritt on May 17, 18 and 19.

The following candidates were successful and have been recommended for certificates: First-class: E. S. F. Huntrods, Taber, Alta.; Hugh G. McMerritt. Second-class: Clement Stubbs Kinnon, Cumberland; William Ewart, Fernie; Robert McFeagen, Michel; John Pynd, Nanaimo. Third-class: R. C. Walter, Cumberland; John C. H. Davies, Merritt; Daniel Hart, Merritt; Joseph G. Haile, Coal Creek; Frank Yates, Michel; Wilfred Bradley, Cassidy; Frank Lester, Merritt; John Sweeney, Fernie; Hugh G. Clarkson, Nanaimo; George Y. Linn, South Wellington; Joseph Scales, Natal; E. Pisto Gabriel, Cumberland; Thomas Lloyd, Cassidy; Oliver Winstanley, Michel; James Hall, South Wellington; John Watson, Nanaimo. Mine surveyors: Douglas D. Wilton, Nanaimo; Harry C. Anderson, Merritt.

STRUCK IN EYE BY GOLF BALL

As he turned his head when attracted by a call of "Fore" at the Municipal golf links, on Tuesday afternoon, Allen McCaw, of Kolk & McCaw, local restaurant keepers, was struck in the right eye by a golf ball and painfully injured. He was wearing glasses at the time and the ball smashed the lens, resulting in small particles of glass penetrating the wound. Though the eyelid was gashed, the eyeball was not cut, but severely bruised.

Dr. Salmon, who was on the course at the time, attended the injury and succeeded in removing the glass from the cut. Mr. McCaw was examined by Dr. Hackney, eye specialist, later in the evening, and it is believed that the optic will not suffer any serious effect, though he is receiving further examination, Wednesday afternoon.

The incident happened between the fourth and fifth greens. A lady was driving about 50 yards away with a brassie and sliced the ball, catching Mr. McCaw straight in the eye as he turned on the player's warning.

Only a short time afterwards, James Miller, chief train dispatcher, C. P. R., was struck on the back of the head by a fast-travelling golf ball, driven by a player from the green behind. He received a painful blow on the head and was forced to leave the course.

The members of the Fernie Golf Club should be extremely careful before playing their ball, to see that the players in front of them are well out of reach, as any player can be very severely injured, perhaps for life, by being struck with a golf ball played by a careless player.

The rule in golf is, that before a player plays his or her ball, it becomes their duty to see that the players in front of them are sufficiently far away that all possibility of a ball reaching them is precluded. This very important rule should be very strictly observed by members of the Fernie Golf Club, and as we have a number of players who are not observing this rule, this timely warning is being extended to them because should a person be struck and injured by a golf ball, the party playing this ball can be held liable for damages.

NEIGHBORING FARMS ARE PROGRESSING

If the question was asked, what progress has been made towards permanent and prosperous farming in and around Fernie? Would it be possible that many of the residents could answer, or had taken sufficient notice to be in a position to answer?

It may be safe to say, since the spring of this year, about one hundred and thiry acres has been put under crop in the section east of town and according to the way the farmers are clearing and progressing in that section, they intend to get the stumps off another hundred and thirty and then some.

The above only mentions one section. There is the Cedar Valley and Cokato Districts to consider and a rough estimate would give another seventy-five acres each. All these sections are pressing forward, steadily clearing more land.

A statement of this kind means more toward the prosperity of the city than one can suspect. According to the progress during the past year, it will only take about three more years to have a clear stretch of land for a few miles on either side of the city, yielding each year in abundance. It is the opinion of the farmers that if all the people of the district took a little more interest in the advancement that is being made and the possibilities derived from such progress, it may cause our government to wake up and send out an exploration party and finally discover that this section belongs to the Province of British Columbia and is deserving of as much attention as other parts.

Good prizes are offered to participants of the First of July parade, so decorate your car, plan a float, decorate your bicycle or dress as a clown. Prize list elsewhere in this issue.

The essay contest, among children of the Public Schools, dealing with the subject "Honor in Sport," has been postponed until after the summer holidays. The prizes for this contest are being given by Mr. Sherwood Herchmer, chairman of the School Board, and the contest was announced on the 24th of May, but on account of examination activities it has had to be postponed.

CONCILIATION BOARD

In the Lethbridge lignite mines, of which there are three, the average number of days was 209¾.

In the Drumheller field, which is entirely lignite, the average days worked was only 128½, and in the Drumheller fields the number of mines is 15.

It may be noted that there are 29 mines, or rather collieries, in the association, and it will be noted that the Drumheller field, where only 128½ days' work was provided for the men, includes 15 of these 29.

With regard to the Drumheller field it must be admitted that even under normal conditions it is a seasonal proposition, but even remembering that the fact remains that during what might be called the operating months there was in 1921 a very large part of the time when there was no employment.

The result is that the annaul revenue of the miners is in many instances a miserable income. The board is, of course, not saying that the mine operators are in any way responsible for this—on the contrary it may be said that they, together with the employees, are suffering from this economic misfortune. The extent to which this intermittent employment exists means, of course, that the mine owner is deceiving earnings only intermittently for the capital which he has invested, and the overhead expenses for maintenance, etc., which he is compelled to meet.

One of the witnesses, named Frank Wheatley, a well known miner of Bankhead expressed it — "the employes were the victims of mismanaged industry"—but he added "the operators are helpless to control partial unemployment," and when asked his solution said, "the government must control the industry in this regard."

The board's view is that whatever may be the solution of the problem, the fact remains that part-time employment is the curse of the coal industry, and the miners the chief sufferers—and the consumers pay for it.

The troubles seem to be that in both District 18 and the central competitive field in the United States, the capacity of production was during war times abnormally increased—and that on return to more or less normal conditions the consumption of coal renders opportunity for only partial operation of the mines. The present condition is not economical and results in coal being unreasonably expensive to the consumer. The board quotes with some sympathy the following words of a certain magazine writer:

"But at least the coal operators and unions do something about it. They produce coal and they fight for their interests, and the public pays for the coal—and the fight."

It is to be further noted from the operators' point of view that he has to meet the competition of non-unionized mines where during 1921 the average wages per shift were practically one-third less than the unionized mines. See exhibit 014.

There is another matter of importance, namely, the severe competition in the Winnipeg market of eastern American coal, of which a tonnage of 2,236,808 tons were unloaded at Fort William in 1921, and it is the hope of the board that the adjustment of wages as recommended later in this report may materially contribute to the restoration of this business to the operators and miners of District 18.

We must turn now to what is the main duty of this board, namely, consider all the circumstances and make findings as to a fair wage. Much evidence was placed before the board as to the present cost of living as compared with that of other years when wages were arranged.

It would appear that at present the cost of living statistics are approximately where they were in the early part of the year 1917. The board is not disposed to recommend a reduction of the employes' wages downward with mathematical sequence, such a reduction would be too drastic. We do not consider it either fair to the employe or in the interests of the industry generally that a reduction such as this would involve, which would be approximately 45 per cent. or 50 per cent. be inflicted at one blow.

You, sir, are aware that considerable of the increases were granted as a result of a certain high cost of living commission which functioned while the cost of living was rising but never functioned afterwards. Had this commission continued and gradually made adjustments downward it would have required less drastic action now, and would probably have been more equitable and indeed more pleasant for everybody.

The board desires further to say that even if the reductions had been or were to be, made as gradually as possible, this board would not recommend decreasing in the way which we have described as by "mathematical sequence," for this would involve reducing an employe to his pre-war standard of living, which, we think, would be unfair. We subscribe to what we consider wise words of the Canadian minister of finance in the House of Commons, 23rd of May, 1922, reading as follows:

"We cannot return to pre-war conditions. The working man's position has advanced. His standard of living is improved—he is unwilling to go back to pre-war conditions, and no one would expect him to be content to do so. He has a right to expect better conditions for himself and his family than in former days."

The adjustment of wages which we propose has been decided on by us after most serious consideration of the representations of both the employer and the employe, and after weighing all the evidence pro and con and considering the limitations and hazardousness of the miners' occupation, we have reached a finding which is our best judgment in the matter.

Wage Recommendations

In regard to the wages the board begs to recommend as follows:—

(1) That the wage bonus or high cost of living allowance of $1.17 per day be discontinued.

(2) That the agreement signed on behalf of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and on behalf of the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, dated June 10, 1920, be returned to as a basis, and the conditions therein recited (with the exception of the closed shop) be continued, and that the rates therein set forth be reduced by 15 per cent.

The board recommends that the above adjustment of wages prevail for a period of two years from the first day of April, 1922.

....Our colleague, Mr. R. G. Drinnan, has read our report and expresses himself as in accord with the same generally. His judgment differs from ours as to what reduction is justified.

We have the honor to be, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
(Sgd) W. E. KNOWLES,
H. OSTLUND.

Minority Report

Calgary, Alta., June 13, 1922

To the Hon. James Murdock,
Minister of Labor, Ottawa.

Sir,—Re Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, and re differences between coal operators being members of Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and certain of their employes, being members of District 18, United Mine Workers of America.

As a member of the Conciliation Board appointed by you to investigate the above mentioned dispute, and having failed to agree with the other two members of the board, I beg to report as follows:

The wage agreement between the parties to this dispute terminated on 31st March, 1922, after being in effect for two years. Since then there has been a total cessation of work at the mines involved, owing to failure to arrive at a new agreement.

At a joint conference held in March of this year the mine workers asked for a renewal of the old day wage rates, twenty-five per cent. increase on the contract rates, and a six-hour working day underground. On the other hand the operators offered a new scale of day wage and contract rates based on rates paid in the 1915-1917 agreement with increases from 22 per cent. to 36½ per cent. added to the basic rates.

The coal industry, or at least those companies operating with union labor, was placed under government direction at the termination of the 1915-1917 agreement. This government direction continued from 1st April, 1917, till April, 1921, and during that period increases totalling 70 per cent. on contract rates and 125 to 165 per cent. on day wage rates were put in effect—and remained effective until 31st March, 1922.

Although the mine workers received increases greatly in excess of those granted employes in other industries in Western Canada, and in which was included a high cost of living bonus, when the period of deflation in the cost of living started early in the year 1921, a decline in the wages paid in other industries went into effect but the wages of the mine workers suffered no reduction because of an agreement made under government direction and extending till 31st March, 1922. It would seem justifiable, therefore, that after benefiting from higher wages for a longer period than the employes of any other industry, the mine workers should agree to a substantial reduction in wages at this late date of readjustment.

The high inflation of wages in the coal industry is, to some extent, responsible for the critical condition in which the coal industry of Alberta and South Eastern British Columbia has been in for some time back. Our investigation covered more particularly the year 1921. It was found that all the mines experienced a falling off in business and consequently had only worked part time. This was more pronounced in the domestic coal mines, and in this connection it may be pointed out that, at best, only seasonal employment can be expected in the mines producing domestic coal.

To get the coal industry back to normal—or better still—to place it on a sound economic basis where all connected with the industry can, with due diligence and effort, meet with a fair measure of success, some sacrifices will have to be made. The mine worker, whose interests are identical with those of the industry, must share in bringing about this condition, and the greater his help now, the quicker will be the return to steady employment and more permanent prosperity.

As the 1915-1917 agreement is the last one mutually agreed to between the parties to this dispute, all subsequent agreements being made under government direction and when conditions in cost of living and selling price of coal were generally abnormal! I recommend as a fair basis of settlement the following:

Drinnan's Recommendations

(1) That the day wage and contract mining rates in the 1915-1917 agreement be made the basic rate.

(2) An increase of 25 per cent. on all contract mining rates.

(3) An increase of 40 per cent. on all outside day wage rates.

(4) An increase of 40 per cent. on all underground day wage rates.

(5) That all contract mining rates made subsequent to the 1915-1917 agreement be adjusted to conform to rates in mines in the same district.

We have the honor to be, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
(Sgd) R. G. DRINNAN.

ONE HUSBAND STARTED PACIFIC

It is rather strange how a product finds its way into different homes. For instance, one woman has written telling us that her husband brought the first can to their house because someone told him it made good cakes. She used it to keep it from being wasted rather than to see if it was any better than fresh milk. It did help her baking and now she uses it all the time.

Victoria Woman Says She Suffered So From Stomach Trouble She Would Nearly Scream - Gives Tanlac Full Credit For Her Complete Recovery.

"I was on the verge of nervous prostration, but now, thanks to Tanlac, I feel so well it seems almost too good to be true," said Mrs. F. Sharper, 2436 Quadra St., a lifelong resident of Victoria, B.C.

"I was taken down with influenza and afterwards was all run down with my stomach badly upset. My appetite left me and a few bites once a day was about all I could eat. My back ached so bad that I had to lie down two or three times a day. I was so nervous it was all I could do to keep from screaming, and headaches nearly drove me to hysterics.

"Three bottles of Tanlac gave me such a fine appetite that I can hardly get enough to eat. I am free from pains and my nerves are calm and steady once more. I am only too glad to give a word of praise to this grand medicine."

CANADIAN NATIONAL PARKS PROFITABLE

VICTORIA, June 16.—One of the most interesting addresses delivered before the Canadian Good Roads Association convention was that of J. P. Harkin, commissioner of Canadian national parks. He said that Canada had priceless wealth in her parks, and the following policy has been adopted: "No monopoly, no special privileges for anyone."

"The dominating principle in connection with these parks is based on the noble sentiment of preserving the great natural beauties of our parks for all the people," he continued.

Mr. Harkin said $18,000,000 was spent by foreign tourists in Canada's parks last year. This was the return on an expenditure for the year of only $850,000, and only $6,000,000 had been spent during the past twenty-five years. The parks could well be considered a capital asset worth $350,000,000.

"People are always willing to pay cash for good scenery," said the park commissioner, "and we are in the business of selling scenery. The beauty of selling this commodity is that no matter how much you dispose of you have as much left. Foreign tourists left $1000,000,000 in Canada last year, and this trade should be stimulated to the fullest. The amount is almost equal to the interest on our national debt."

McLACHLAN A MENACE TO NOVA SCOTIA INDUSTRY

The harm that one wrong headed man may do to labor and to industry was never better exemplified than in the case of J. B. McLachlan, secretary of the United Mine Workers. For months that man, through his reckless leadership and diabolical spirit, has had Nova Scotia's coal industry in a turmoil. Charge after charge has been made by McLachlan against the management of the operating company, which upon investigation proved to be utterly false. For instance, he charged that mine No. 24 of the Dominion Coal Company was dangerous owing to gas. The evidence goes to show that there has never been any gas in the mine since it was opened. He charged that mine No. 11 was unsafe, as was also the Princess mine. Both charges were found to be utterly false.

McLachlan challenged the Dominion Coal Company to produce proof that any miner in its employ earned over $1,000 during the year 1921. The Company in response produced a list of 118 men who had during that year earned from $1,550 to $3,686, as well as giving ample proof that hundreds of other miners earned upward of $1,000 during the period named. And 1921, it may be stated, was by no means a normal period, there being much broken time, owing to slackness of demand.

McLachlan is both a dangerous and a destrictive force, and it is to be hoped that the miners as a whole, now that he has been tagged with his proper number, will promptly relieve him of his office and the fees that go with it.—Saturday Night.

FREE PASSAGE TO RUSSIA NO LURE TO BRITISH WORKER

LONDON, June 10.—With resumption of work by the engineers next week, Great Britain will be entirely free from industrial stoppages of any importance, and will have a greater measure of industrial peace than at any time since the armistice.

This week several large unions held their annual conventions, at which labor leaders exhorted the unions to peace. Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes told the General Workers' Union that the extremists' policy was undermining the union leaders and "had caused the men to act more like a mob than a disciplined army, with the result ruinous to themselves."

President Gosling told the Transport Workers' convention that since the armistice no strike had brought tangible, useful results to the workers. The Amalgamated Engineering Union's account showed a loss of one millions two hundred thousand pounds on last year's working.

An official of the labor minstry said that the industrial position was undoubtedly better than at any other period since the minstry's inauguration.

Working men are completely disillusioned concerning Bolshevism. There is a growing, healthy tendency for individual workers to go direct to employers to discuss minor grievances straightforwardly rather than to report to the union.

Though the unemployed still totalled a million, many of whom were suffering hardship, it would be difficult to find one ready to accept free passage to Petrograd.

BANKHEAD CLOSED DOWN

(Calgary Herald)

After 18 years of nearly continuous operation, the Bankhead mines, owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway, have been closed down and will not re-open. This was the statement made by P. L. Naismith, president of the Department of Natural Resources of the C. P. R., to the Herald on Monday, when he was asked regarding the rumor of such action on the part of the company.

"The mine is closed down, as it has been since the commencement of the present strike nearly two months ago, and will not be re-opened," he said.

Mr. Naismith would not make any further comment on the action of the company and said that no decision had yet been reached regarding the possible disposal of the property, machinery and buildings. The Bankhead mines produced the only anthracite coal obtained in any Canadian field.

The company commenced the development of the Bankhead property in 1903, and the mine was opened in 1904, producing from the outset a big tonnage of high grade coal. Since that time, it has been greatly developed and the production has run up as high as 1,000 tons per day. When the mine ceased working before the strike the production was between 500 and 600 tons per day. This has been the average production for the past three years.

The closing of the Bankhead mine finishes a chapter in the mining history of Alberta. It means that this field will cease producing anthracite coal until some of the other properties said to be rich in this grade are opened up. The leases held by P. Burns and others on the Highwood river and Sheep creek are the best known locations where promise of anthracite has been found.

The Bankhead mine lately has employed between 200 and 300 men, and the community which has built up around the industry probably represents 1,000 persons. The town is situated about five miles from Banff, and is owned by the company. All the buildings have been built by the company and then rented to its employees or others who lived in the town. As the mine was the only industry of the place, and is situated some distance from the main line, it is probable that the town will go out of existence, following the way of many of the mining camps of British Columbia and this Province.

The workings at the Bankhead mine are some of the most extensive of any mining property in Alberta. The coal has been won from five or six seams and the entrances run far under the mountain. One of the great drawbacks in successfully working the property has been the tremendous weight to which the coal is subjected, particularly as the workings bore far into the mountain, This caused the coal to break up and a lack of lump and other coarse grades resulted. The company, therefore, put most of the product through a briqueting process, and this form of fuel became well known in Alberta. They used a large proportion of this output themselves.

A large number of the miners usually employed at the Bankhead mine have left the town since the strike was called at the beginning of April. The property has been operated under D. G. Wilson, superintendent, and administered by the Department of Natural Resources of the C.P.R.

Mining men who have given a good deal of study to the question of production and consumption in Alberta fields, are inclined to view the closing announcement at Bankhead as an indication of what may follow in other instances. Many of them maintain that there is a decided over-production of coal in this province and quote the evidence given before the conciliation board as authority for this contention. They say that this evidence showed that Alberta mines averaged about 200 days' work in the last year.

PERFECT PROCESS TO DE-INK PAPER

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—A process to take ink from old newspapers so that they can again be used for printing purposes has been developed by the United States forest products laboratory here, according to announcement.

Already one mill under commercial condition has "de-inked" 500 tons of old newspapers which were then remade into newspaper print of desired strength and color and accepted by publishers as standard. The success of this experiment solves a paper salvage problem that was first considered by Danish paper makers in 1695. It afords a means of saving much of the waste and so decreasing the demand on the diminishing American forests for wood from which the paper is made.

Bentonite, a clay-like substance formed from volcanic ash and found largely in Wyoming, is used in the de-inking process. It has a faculty of dissolving the ink and leaving the paper in a perfectly clear condition.

Because of the cheapness of the new process laboratory officials believe that much of the 2,200,000 tons of news print annually used can be salvaged.

A beautiful little fawn, abut five or six months old, visited the city on Wednesday evening. It came up Riverside Avenue and went over to the Court House grounds, it remained all night and part of the next day. It finally left town by the way of West Fernie.

G. F. Spalding, who attended the Good Roads Convention, held at the Coast last week, is escortiing a party of delegates on a motor trip through the Kootenays. Sixteen of them left Kamloops on Wednesday. They are expected to reach Fernie about Sunday.

Geo. Stevenson, of Winnipeg, visted Fernie on Saturday and Sunday last. George was formerly manager of the Western Canada Wholesale in Fernie and his many old friends here were pleased to see him. He has become quite a gilfer and during his visit here played with the Cranbrook team.

A supplementary meeting of the Farmers' Institute will be held in the council chamber on Tuesday, June 26th, for the purpose of discussing the possibility of community breeding and the means to take advantage of some of the opportunities extended by the Government towards farmers.

The city's street cleaning crew have made a vast improvement in the looks of the streets and alleys. The next work to be started should be on the sidewalks. The board walks in this town are certainly a disgrace. Work on Victoria Ave will be commenced just as soon as the river is low enough to obtain gravel.

It should be remembered that the entries for the Fernie Beautiful Contest must be in the hands of the committee by the last day of June. A good many entries have already been made, but there should be more to make the contest a close one. The committee say that no entry has come in from West Fernie yet. It looks as if some West Fernie man could win a $15 prize very easily. Any member of the committee can give you an entry form.

Bootleggers Boost Rentals in Fernie

-o-

The Editor, Fernie Free Press,
Sir:—

The writer does not take exception to the fact that property owners are getting larger rents than formerly from this class of business people, when they occupy the property, but thinks it is unfair and a restraint to trade in other branches of business, when these places rented are not occupied and held out of use.

For instance, the Fernie Branch of G. W. V. A. have been looking for some time now to secure new quarters, and the most suitable (and in fact, the only vacant suitable place) is the east half of the Turner Block on Wood St., but they are informed that this place is not for rent, that the rent has been paid in advance for some months now by the above class of people, though never occupied by them, held out of use, for what object it would be interesting to know.

Now the Vets are willing to pay the same rental for this property but they cannot get it, and though the Association have a right to expect much more from this city in general and the business people in particular in regard to this matter of fitting quarters, they have been ousted from pillar to post and in all probability, they will shortly find themselves on the street without a home, as their present lease is up and they are just renting from month to month and being allowed to stay on the sufferance of their present landlord.

Speaking of this rental question from a personal viewpoint, the writer had a similar experience recently along these lines, having verbally rented an office place in the main business section the first of this month, agreeing on the amount of rent, term of lease and arranging at what date to move in. On going to the landlord a few days stipulated time of taking possession to arrange some final details he was informed that the place was rented over his head and on asking who was the renter, was told it was liquor people who had boosted the ante and that was what counted with this landlord, and the writer was not further considered in the deal or even given the chance of refusal. This place also is still unoccupied and held out of use.

Trusting these few remaks may have the desired effect of jarring some of these people into a realization of their unfairness to other lines of endeavor and in particular the case of the Great War Veterans.

Yours faithfully,
A "Veteran."

THE CHIROPRACTOR removes the subluxation, (the pressure interfering with the nerve supply) that is causing the dis-ease and Nature Herself instantly responds and through the restoration of normal supply of nerve force brings about health and happiness once more.

THE CHIROPRACTIC idea is that the dis-ease is caused by conditions within the person afflicted, and the correction consists in adjusting the wrong that gives rise to these conditions. The brain is the fountain head from which flows every nerve impulse, action, thought and sensation necessary to normal life. Dis-ease is any loss of function, the result of any interference with these impulses.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC HAS DONE

CHIROPRACTIC has done what all other cults of healing have failed to do. It has given back health to thousands of sufferers whose life was a burden because of constant ill-health.

CHIROPRACTIC has produced startling results in people who have been "given up" as hopeless cases, and as a last resort have come to the Chiropractor and found HEALTH.

More on this subject next week.

This week's reminder. Heart, stomach and kidney troubles and children's diseases respond splendidly to Chiropractic adjustments.

(Victoria Colonist)

Police Commissioner Staneland is on record as saying that the question of enforcing the Lord's Day Act in this municipality is a closed matter following the dismissal in the Police Court of the initial charges brought under this measure at this time. The general public will hope that the agitation of recent months is now at an end. It cannot be said to have served any useful purpose. It aroused the hostility of a great majority of the public. It led to financial losses among a section of our small storekeepers at a time when they can ill afford to face them. The religious element of the controversy, which ought to have been entirely eliminated, was introduced, with the result that the bulk of the people was under the impression that an attempt was being made to dragoon them into ethical submision to a discriminative law.

It was known by everyone that an effort was being made in this community to enforce a law which is more honored in the breach than in the observance throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. It was realized that what it was attempted to prohibit was permitted under Provincial legislation, and on this account the people generally were at a loss to understand the attitude of the Attorney-General in issuing fiats for prosecutions. In dismissing the prosecutions Magistrate Jay specifically stated that the judment finds support both in the exceptions contained in the Lord's Day Act itself, and in the construction of it made by Sir Louis Davies and Mr. Justice Anglin, of the Supreme Court of Canada. This also is the opinion of the best legal talent in this city.

The Police Commission made it plain throughout the controversy that it was governed by motives of an economic character; in other words, it wanted the Lord's Day Act enforced so that the small storekeepers and the very small number of employees whom they engage should have a day of rest on Sunday. Not one of the storekeepers or their employees was favorable to the attitude of the Police Commission. They felt that they were carrying out a legitimate business and should not be singled out as the only set of storekeepers in the Province to have their chief means of livelihood stopped. They felt they were subjects of persecution and that this was never intended by the Provincial law which governs the operation of store within the Province. The Police Court judgment has sustained their stand and they have the satisfaction also of knowing that the attempt to abolish what they regard as their right to earn a livelihood has aroused the public conscience as it, perhaps, never has been aroused before under similar conditions.

The Anti-Blue Sunday League deserves credit for its fight in the interests of this aspect of the people's liberty. We are glad to know that this League intends to continue in existence for its energies will be required again. The attempted enforcement here of the Lord's Day Act has constituted a very bad advertisement for the city which it will take some time to offset. It has aroused, too, bitter feelings which were better left in abeyance, and which, indeed, should be obliterated altogether in any age of tolerance. The history of the past few months leaves a lesson in its wake and that is that intolerance will not advance any cause. The attitude of a majority of the Police Commission was unwarranted in either a legal or moral sense. It had not even the merit of being desirable from an economic standpoint as was alleged by its supporters.

STORY OF "ALIAS LADYFINGERS"

Five years after Rachel Stretherill, a tremendously rich old woman, disowns her only daughter for marrying against her wishes, the girl—a penniless widow with a little son—is killed in a traffic accident. The child, after wandering the streets, in his hunger tries to steal some fruit from an Italian street vendor. He is caught and the punishment administered by the vendor attracts the attention of "English Harry" Ashe, a bank burglar. Ashe shows the boy how to steal the fruit without being caught and then, attracted by the child's delicate hands, adopts and trains him in his own profession.

Twenty years later Ladyfingers is an expert safe-cracker—Robert Ashe, supposedly the son of English Harry. To show his disregard for the police, he opens a safe under the very nose of Police Lieutenant Ambrose, who has been trying to send him up for years, thereby winning a prize offered by the safe company to any one who can open the strong box without the combination.

In his office Ambrose is visited by Justin Haddon, the lawyer for the Stretherill estate, who asks his help in locating a man who resembles the photograph of an elderly man which one of his clients has turned over to him. Ambrose informs him that it is the living image of Ladyfingers, the cracksman.

Strolling in the country, Ladyfingers becomes acquainted with a beautiful girl in the neighborhood of the palatial home of old Rachel Stretherill, but fails to learn who she is. Meanwhile Haddon, knowing that Enid, the old lady's ward, will inherit her money if the grandson isn't found, plans to marry Enid, telling the old lady that the police have been unable to locate anyone resembling the portrait which she has given him.

Haddon determines to lure Ladyfingers to the old lady's home and let her find out that he is a thief, figuring that once she knows, she will never acknowledge him and he will get Enid. It is announced that Mrs. Stretherill will wear her famous pearls at a charity affair and Ladyfingers determines to be present.

The old lady notices his striking resemblance and talks to him while he is admiring the pearls. He sees Ambrose in the crowd, but does not lose his nerve. The policeman excitedly summons Haddon and the two break in on the conversation. Mrs. Stretherill's pearls are gone and they accuse Ladyfingers. He is searched, but they find nothing, and when the angry woman starts to berate them for the indignity to the young man the pearls fall from her handbag.

Mrs. Stretherill invites the young man whom she is convinced is her grandson, to visit, and when Enid, the girl whom he had met on his stroll walks in, he immediately consents. The positive old lady tells Haddon that she does not believe Ladyfingers is a crook, but if he is she will find out.

Mrs. Stretherill gives Ladyfingers money to put in the safe. That night he packs his things and when it is dark slips down to the safe while Mrs. Stretherill watches him. As he closes the safe she confronts him and orders him from the house. Ambrose and Haddon are waiting at the door and refuse to listen to the old lady's pleas to let him off. Haddon opens the safe and finds the money still there and also a note to Enid telling her that he is going.

Mrs. Stretherill informs him that he is her grandson, but he decides that he must take his punishment for the crimes he has committed and confesses and serves two years in the penitentiary. As a free man he starts to run a little farm on shares and is found by Enid, but refuses to renew his courtship, on the score that he is an ex-convict and so unworthy.

One day he returns to find her installed in the house and they begin life's journey together. But the lonely old lady, who has watched the little family, for a baby boy has joined the circle, longs for a reunion and one day, when standing on a hill overlooking the orchard, the ground gives away and she is precipitated into the little group where the longed-for reunion takes place.

JUPITER MAY BE INHABITED

PARIS, June 16.—In the course of an interview with your correspondent, Camille Flammarion, whose eightieth birthday was celebrated at the Sorbonne yesterday, said he thought it possible the planet Jupiter was inhabited by spirits.

"What do you consider your greatest discovery in your sixty-four years of astronomical study?" I asked.

For answer he showed me a volume, "Plurality of Inhabited Planets," which he wrote before he was twenty, and another work which appeared many years later covering his first studies of Mars. He indicated to me the dates of his first maps of Mars and succeeding maps, showing he was the first astronomer to declare and to produce facts concerning its inhabitation. It has been his life work and he is still studying and adding more information to the wealth of data he has already obtained, the greater part of which has never been published.

He entered his observatory where many celestial maps hang.

"Mars is constantly changing its form," he said, indicating a chart. "We do not know what these canals are, nor the why or wherefore of these receding waters—great physical changes which take place within a month. People make a mistake trying to imagine life on Mars is similar to our own. We are only one planet in the universe, and have no reason to suppose the others have anything in common with us."

"You do not think, then, there is any possibility of exchanging signals?" he was asked.

"The Martians may not know what the signals are, or they may have a conception which is above our comprehension," he replied. "These mysteries can be solved by observation and study. It may require centuries, maybe much less."

"And Jupiter is not inhabited?" he was asked.

"No," he said, adding: "It may be inhabited by spirits, but we must not commence studies with a proconcertion, we must learn by establishing facts with an open mind."

"As you did in your study of death and its mystery?"

"As in science," said Mr. Flammarion, "we eliminated all questionable observations—so I did with 4800 statements from which I selected only 100—even a stricter elimination than we make in astronomical or meteorological observations."

"And your conclusion?"

"That the soul is independent from material organism and continues to live after death," he answered.

The celebrated astronomer bears his years well, walking with a sturdy step, his head erect and shoulders square, and appears capable of continuing his studies for some time to come.

An Italian genius has discovered a process for making clothing from feathers. It is doubtful if the feathered garments would be dependable during the moulting season.

LEAGUE RACE UNCHANGED

The standing in the Eastern Section of the East Kootenay Baseball league remains unchanged by the games played on Sunday last, White Spruce defeating Michel at Fernie by a score of nine runs to eight and Fernie maintained their undefeated run by trimming Waldo, in an extra-inning game at Waldo by the score of nine runs to five.

White Spruce Bests Michel

The game between Michel and White Spruce was of a ragged nature, both teams making costly errors at times when errors meant runs. Michel opened scoring in the first trip to the bat when McAlpine reached first on an error was driven home by Estabrook's two bagger who in turn ambled across the plate when Irvine connected. Spruce evened up the score when Zeith was hit, went to third when Satlish let O'Dell's swat go through him, and scored on Barger's long sacrifice fly, O'Dell going to third. O' Dell tied the score by stealin home, being called safe, catcher Irvine stepping across the plate to receive the ball from the pitcher with a batter in the box. Spruce got away to the good in the second when they added four more runs not a single one of which were of the earned variety.

Excitement ran high when Michel came to bat for their half of the ninth and started a batting rally with the score standing nine to six in favor of the Spruce. Michel scored two runs and Estabrook got to second when Peters rose to the occasion and struck out L. Krall for the final out. Carruthers pitched good ball but was not as effective as in his last appearance in Fernie. Peters struck out 15 while Carruthers had 11.

Waldo Makes Fernie Work

Waldo almost broke their losing streak at the expense of Fernie, the mighty, in the League game at Waldo, when after trailing the Fernie team for six innings without scoring, they tied the score and forced an extra inning to be played.

Fernie got off with a four run lead in the second and became somewhat overconfident and after adding one more run in the seventh, figured they had the game on ice. Waldo soon dispelled this notion however, when three two base hits, three errors and a walk gave them five runs making the score five all. Fernie were retired in the one, two, three order in their halves of the eighth and ninth while Waldo in the eighth got two men on bases without any causualties, but Ault struck out the next two batters and R. Colton saved the bacon by grabbing Zimmers long fly to right. Fernie swatsmen came to life in earnest in the first overtime frame, Ault starting the merry-go-round with a two-bagger, the rest figured they had to follow suit, so C. Colton drove in Ault with a second two-bagger and Dunlap treated Colton likewise, Dunlap stole third and Shand walked, went to second on the first pitched ball, then McTeer Clouted out a fourth two-bagger scoring Dunlap and Shand, making four runs to cross the plate before the next three men were thrown out at first by the pitcher. Waldo were easily disposed of in their portion of the 10th. Ault pitched a steady game striking out eleven and allowing only six hits and had Fernie fielded anything like their usual, extra time would have been unnecessary. Gilles for Waldo pitched a good game but he was also handicapped by ragged fielding. Seven strike outs were placed to his credit.

Ladies Suffer defeat

Previous to the Senior game at Waldo on Sunday, the Fernie Ladies' team encountered the Waldo aggregation, in their first game of the season, and suffered defeat by the score of 13 to 2.

The Waldo offensive and defensive proved too much for the Fernie girls, who did not not receive their two runs till towards the end of the game.

We are informed that their next game will probably be at home and that Michel may be the opponents. If the arrangements can be closed, the game will take place next Wednesday afternoon.
