STRONG CAST AND REMARKABLE DOG IN "SILENT CALL"

A story of the High Sierras with all the grandeur and primitive emotions of that region. "The Silent Call" has been announced as the feature attraction at the Orpheum theatre commencing next Monday. It is the first Laurence Trimble-Jane Murfin production, presented by H. O. Davis and distributed by Asociated First National Pictures, Inc. One of the features of interest is the fact that the cast of principals consists of seven men, one girl, and Strongheart, the most intelligent police dog in the entire world, whose performance in this photoplay will doubtless make him the most beloved animal on the screen or stage.

Throughout the dramatic incidents of the plot that involve the human characters of the story, runs the thread of the life of Strongheart; the cross pull between the wolf and the dog natures in him, his final mastery of the former and his vindication in the eyes of all, because of his heroism in rescuing the hero and the heroine from the real danger that confronts them. It is the dog who first realizes the love between Moran and Betty Houston, played respectively by John Bowers and Kathryn McGuire, and who wreaks vengeance on the villain, Brent, portrayed by William Dyer. It is Strongheart, too, who finally brings the parted lovers together to happiness.

Several claims have been made with entire justification for "The Silent Call." It brings as never before to the silver sheet the limitless beauty of the Sierras. In the dog, Strongheart, will be found perhaps the greatest animal actor ever seen on screen or stage, absolutely natural in his performance, great of heart and powerful of strength. In addition to the meritorious characterizations of the other members of the cast, which includes John Bowers, William Dyer, James Mason, and other well known players, this picture gives the first dramatic opportunity to its heroine, Kathryn McGuire, the latest Sennett luminary to graduate from the ranks of bathing beauties and short-reel comediennes into the portrayal of more serious, dramatic roles.

"The Silent Call" was adapted to the screen by Jane Murfin from the story and novel, "The Cross Pull," by Hal G. Evarts, and directed by Laurence Trimble.

(2) An increase of twenty-five per cent. on all contract mining rates.
(3) An increase of forty per cent. on all outside day wage rates.

NOTE—Where Mr. Drinnan's finding deals with other than 10-hour rates in 1915, the figures resulting from a 40% increase thereon are necessarily estimated, and subject to correction.

It will be noted from the above comparison in wages that the companies are not only offering 40% straight advance on all day rate wages, but that they are also offering to pay the higher rates per day on shorter working hours. For example, Outside Unclassified Labor received $2.47 per day for 10 hours work in 1915; they are now offered $3.46 per shift of eight hours, which is an actual increase per working hour of 75%.

In the case of Fan Men, during 1915, this class of labor received $2.90 per day of 12 hours, they are now offered by the Drinnan Report $3.46 per shift of 8 hours or an increase per hour over the wages they received during 1915 of 79%.

It will be plainly seen from above wage statement, as offered by the Drinnan Report, which new wage scale is acceptable to the Operators of the district, are on the average about 18% higher than the wages that are being paid to the Metal Miners of the Nelson or Kootenay districts, and considerably higher than the hourly wages that are being paid to the most skilled lumber workers of the district.

JULY FIRST PROGRAM

All arrangements were practically completed at a meeting held in the City Hall last evening.

The parade wil be asembled at the School and start from there at 9.30 sharp, and proceed down Victoria Avenue to the Orpheum theatre, thence to the Court House where the Queen of the Day will be crowned and children will give a May Pole Dance.

Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Dr. Corsan and Mr. N. F. Brand have kindly consented to act as judges for the parade. competitions and it is anticipated that there will be a very enthusiastic and representative number of competitors keenly contesting for the prizes. The Mayor, G. G. Henderson together with Tom Graves are to be the guests of Billy Ingram in his turnout.

Although the entries are not numerous, it is expected that the competitions will arouse enthusiasm and ardent support of their respective followers.

We have only to get a fine day and we may look forward to one of the most successful days that has been staged in the interests of this movement.

There will be a committee consisting of Messrs. Douglas, Johnson, Hooper and Prentice to hand a ticket to each child in the parade which will be good for one ice cream cone on the grounds.

The baseball and football tournaments will create considerable interest with their respective fans. The football opens its tournaments on the North End Grounds promptly at ten while the baseball will open up in the park at the same hour. Draws will be made at Billy Ingram's at nine o'clock and announced.

STEALING MARKETS

Utah mines that are now largely supplying the Spokane district markets are working 69% time; the mines in Old Virginia are working 84% time; the Pocahontas mines are working 78% time; the Tug River and Kenova districts, West Virginia each working about 82% time. These latter districts are both shipping coal to Winnipeg and Regina markets at the present time.

How much longer are the miners in this district going to sit quietly by and see these more progressive coal mining districts in the United States take the business opportunities from them?

NEW PRESIDENT IS UNDER THIRTY

CALGARY, June 29.—It is conceeded by officials of the United Mine Workers of America here that Wm. Sherman, of Fernie, will be elected president of District 18. All the ballots are not yet to hand but it is almost certain that he will be the successful candidate.

He is the son of Frank Sherman who was president of District 18 at the time of the prolonged strike of 1911. During 1919 the prospective president-elect was active in the O. B. U. movement, but it is stated he has now forsaken that organization and is a staunch supporter of the international labor movement.

If actually elected he will be the youngest president the miners have ever had. He is only 27 years of age.

COUNCIL MEETING

The adjourned regular meeting of the City Council was held on Monday evening last, upon which occasion Aldermen Irvine and Corrie were absent. A communication was received from the Royal Financial Corporation offering debentures and guaranteed railroad bonds for Sinking Fund investment but it was decided not to do anything in this matter at the present time.

Certain residents of West Fernie on behalf of that suburban section of the City made application to become consumers of the City electric light. The council decided to secure estimates as to the probable cost of providing the whole of this area with electricity before doing anything definite in the matter.

W. W. Alton, veterinary inspector for the province reported having inspected 146 dairy cattle in the immediate vicinity of the city. Of this total number, ten head were ordered to be destroyed.

Operators Make Another Offer

CALGARY, Alta., June 27. — The Western Canada Coal Operators Association has now advised the department of labor at Ottawa that as a guarantee of its readiness to re-open its mines if any basis can be found which would enable them to be operated and secure business, to accept the basis of wages proposed by R. G. Drinnan whose minority report as a member of the Knowles conciliation board was recently filed with the findings of that board.

The association in making this proposal advises the department that it is of the opinion that no settlement can be regarded as permanent until a settlement has been arrived at between the operators and employees of the fields in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

It is pointed that in these fields, wages have in the past conformed more or less closely to those in District 18 and that from these districts the major portion of the associations foreign competition originates.

The association consequently offers to accept the Drinnan award as a temporary means of re-opening its mines, an agreement to be negotiated on that basis with a proviso that as soon as a settlement in western Pennsylvania and Ohio shall have been effected the rates in District 18 shall be amended in accordance therewith.

The view has been strongly held that any settlement made here, even if presumed to be permanent, would be subject to the serious probability of change in the event of a settlement in the States being materially different. The full text of the further letter sent by the operators to the department of labor is as follows.

Following is text of letter sent to the department of labor:

"With further reference to our letter of June 22, wherein we advised you of the attitude of the association with respect to the majority finding of Messrs Knowles and Ostlund, and following a conversation between your representative here, Mr. F. E. Harrison, and the president of this association, Mr. O. E. S. Whiteside, in which Mr. Harrison asked if the association had considered the minority report submitted by Mr. R.G. Drinnan, the association feels that it is desirable to advise you of its attitude in connection therewith.

In the majority finding the fact is referred to on page two that informal conferences were held at which representatives of the two parties were present with Mr. Knowles acting as chairman.

At the first of these conferences the association submitted to the men a proposal in the following terms:

"Our association is of the opinion that no rates in any agreement arrived at, at the present time can be considered as stable; in fact the general opinion of our association is that it would be unwise to make any wage scale that was not in some measure based on a wage scale to be arrived at by negotiations between the employees and operators in the fields mentioned (i.e. U.S. central competitive fields).

"We are particularly led to this opinion because of a situation which arose out of the agreement which has just expired. This agreement was entered into in the month of June, 1920, and was expressed definitely as being operative until the 31st day of March, 1922, but a few months after it was entered into an increase was given to day men in the coal fields mentioned and an application was immediately made here by our employees' representatives for the granting of the same increase in District 18. It is true that the employees' representatives stated that they were not seeking to break the agreement, but it was conveyed to us very definitely that, if we were not prepared to grant the increase asked for, they, the representatives of the U. M. W. of A. would not be able to hold their men and that a strike or cessation of work would in all likelihood ensue.

"Needless to say, conditions being as they were, we were forced to meet and did meet, the men's demands. We think therefore that we are justified in acting on the assumption that should we at the present time make a wage scale in District 18 less favorable to our employees than the wage scale eventually made in the United States fields above mentioned, that wage scale would be opened up and the representatives of the U. M. W. of A. in this district would, with the best intentions in the world, be powerless to prevent it.

"On the other hand, should the wage scale entered into here be more favorable to the men than the wage scale eventually made in the U. S. fields is is very doubtful if the operators would be able to secure any readjustment however equal or necessary to put them on an equivalent basis of wages with the fields referred to. It is evident that our association cannot venture to enter any agreement either before or after the findings of the board until an agreement has been reached in the U. S. fields in the question except on the lines of the proposal hereinafter made.

"Notwithstanding what we have stated above, we agree with the board's statement that, if our employees and ourselves can settle this dispute without an express finding from the board, the board would have been an ideal success in its investigation. Having this in mind, we are taking the opportunity offered by the board's suggestion to make to our employees the proposition which follows, and which we think may be crystalized into an amicable and satisfactory agreement. Our proposal is:

"That the mines reopen as soon as business is obtainable on the following basis:

"1. That an agreement be entered into between the Western Canada Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America adopting the rates and conditions as submittted by the association on March 2, 1922.

"2. That as soon as agreement shall have been arrived at between the operators and the employees in the coal fields of Western Pennsylvania and Ohio, the basic rates of wages in the said agreement in District 18 shall be adjusted to conform therewith as and from the date upon which such agreement in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio shall become effective.

"3. That if the foregoing suggestion meets with the approval of the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America a referendum vote shall be forthwith taken in accordance with the constitution of the United Mine Workers of America.

"The representatives of the men did not at that time see their way clear to consider the foregoing proposal favorably, and at a further conference, the association reiterated its offer and gave the following reasons for the conditions in which the industry found itself at the expiry of the agreement in March, 1922, viz:

"1. Competition arising from mines in our own district as well as in the United States.

"2. Rates of wages paid in such competitive fields.

"3. Loss of business and reduced working time as a result of the above.

"4. An instant demand from industries, railroads, and the public for lower prices on coal and coke.

"5. The impossibility of securing business except at prices which can meet competition and which cannot possibly be a price which will enable the continued payment of peak war time wages, or any approximation thereof.

"6. The surplus of men in the industry who remain there by reason of rates attractive even on the reduced time referred to.

"The association also emphasized the fact that no basis which ignored these factors could have any practical

FORTY YEARS OF SUFFERING FINALLY ENDED

Troubles Gone Entirely Now But He Couldn't Have Held Out Much Longer Without Tanlac, Says D. McPhee—Gains 15 Pounds

"When a man has suffered like I have for forty years he knows how to appreciate good health," is the statement of D. McPhee, a well-known miner, now operating his mine at Notham Sound, B.C., Canada.

"My trouble started in 1880, and I have spent lots of money on many treatments but kept getting worse. When I ate a few bites my stomach soured and I hated to see meal time come. Rheumatism set in and I also had to take laxatives all the time. My weight fell way off.

"Well, now I have a fine appetite and everything tastes good. I can't tell I ever had rheumatism and I have gained fifteen pounds. I am going back to work now, and I will always sing the praise of Tanlac" effect in providing work for its employers and securing business for its mines.

"The association desires to point out that Mr. R. G. Drinnan, while suggesting to the department as a satisfactory representative to this association on the conciliation board, was not appointed as its representative but was appointed direct by the minister. Apart from the fact the association does not consider that it is in any way bound to accept Mr. Drinnan's finding on its merits, it desires, however, to say that it does not consider that any possible avenue by which its mines can be reopened should now be ignored.

"It submits, therefore, that it is prepared to negotiate an agreement on the basis of the wage rates suggested by Mr. Drinnan, which agreement shall contain a proviso that, as and when a settlement shall have been effected between the operators and the employees in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio, the said agreement shall be amended as to the rates of wages therein to conform therewith, and as from the date upon which such settlement in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio shall have become effective.

"The association believes that this proposal offers a practical and equitable basis upon which the mines in District 18 may be reopened and business secured without such delay as may be attended upon a permanent settlement between the parties and with the assurance that the permanent settlement of the basic wages rates will be governed by these in the districts referred to, whose rates have in the past confronted more or less closely to this district and from which the major portion of its, the association's foreign competition originates.

"In making this proposal it may be pointed out for your information that Mr. Drinnan's proposal suggested an increase on day wage rate of approximately 10 per cent. over that proposed on contract rates.

"Your truly,
"(Sgd) R. M. Young, Secretary."

BOTTOMLEY COLD-BLOODED

The London correspondence of some Canadian Newspapers has of late contained sentimental allusion to Horatio Bottomley, M.P., sentenced to seven years' penal servitude for fraud. He is spoken of as though he were a good fellow gone wrong; and there is a nauseating insistence on his patriotic services during the war. Inasmuch as his patriotic speeches and articles were handsomely paid for; and inasmuch as it was by creating a legend of intense super-patriotism with regard to himself that he was able to perpetrate the colossal frauds for which he was finall laid by the heels, insistence on this virtue of his, casts ridicule on the sentiment of patriotism.

Those who have any illusions as to Bottomely's character may be referred to the issues of London "Truth" of May 31st and June 6th, where the facts about Bottomley are stated clearly and fully. His indictment and conviction is another of the great services that "Truth" has rendered the people of Great Britain during its long career. Since 1918 "Truth" has been ventilating the facts about Bottomley's Victory clubs, as the details came to them; and in the early part of 1921 the damning nature of the evidence it presented almost weekly have been sufficient to justify his arrest. Bottomley at first tried banter and cajolery in the form of private communications; but the revelations and criticism still went on. In July, 1921, he changed his tactics by launching a series of writs against "Truth" and its editors. So courageous is that journal that this did not avail. Then Bottomley tried another plan of campaign. He endeavored to bulldoze W. H. Smith & Sons and other large distributing agencies into refusing to circulate "Truth" by threatening them with legal actions as parties to spreading "slanders" about himself. "Truth" does not say whether it guaranteed the news agencies against possible imposts, but at any rate Bottomley's efforts to stop the sale and distribution of "Truth" failed. It is quite possible, however, that if he had been more generous toward some of the subordinate crooks he employed in connection with his frauds, he would still be at large.

It has long been the opinion of "Saturday Night" that editors of such journals as "John Bull" should be given penal servitude for life on general principles. The lying journalistic demagogue who habitually poisons the wells of public intelligence is the foulest menace that democracies have to contend with. Even at many thousand miles distance it was obvious to trained journalists who chanced to see "John Bull" that it was a blackmailing sheet. "Truth" touches briefly on this point, and shows that Bottomley's method as an editor was to solicit "retainers" from wealthy concerns,—in other words to offer them immunity from attack by him at a fixed price. He also accepted fees to "boost" crooked usurers and bookmakers. Wherever he could, he capitalized his popularity and power with the London mob. This popularity had been gained by demagogic attacks on men of position and wealth and by his pose as the staunchest Englishman of them all. But blackmailing journalism was but a small part of his activities. His adventures in the law courts in connection with shady finance began in 1892 and during the past thirty years, according to "Truth," he has been associated with nearly fifty company promotions, not one of which was clean, and the majority bubble companies of the worst type.

That such a man should have attained so great a hold on the British public that he could be elected time after time to the House of Commons, and command an enormous figure for flamboyant speeches and sludgy articles, does not reflect much credit on the intelligence of the "man on the street" of whom he professed to be, —and frequently was,—the authentic spokesman. The British House of Commons is one of the most justly honored bodies on earth, but it has never been without a few impudent and shady rascals who would have small chances of election to public office on this continent. Readers of "Our Mutual Friend" and other novels by Dickens must be aware that this state of affairs is no product of modern laxity but an old tradition. But it is probable that the House never harbored a more impudent and transparent rascal than Bottomley. The cynicism with which popular journalism is conducted in London is evidenced not only by the fact that Bottomley was able to secure eminent financiers, a Canadian among them, as his backers on "John Bull," but in the fees he received from Lord Rothermere, brother of Lord Northcliffe, for "religious" articles in the "Sunday Pictorial." His remuneration is said to have been upwards of $1,200 per article and Bottomley, who has professed "conversion" in 1914 made them fairly drip with pietistic unction. Most of them were written by collaborators and Bottomley would express his appreciation of a particularly juicy bit of exhortation with the words: "That's the stuff to give 'em." Now Lord Rothermere must have known that his contributor was a vicious hypocrite, but he paid him an enormous fee because the stuff sold well, and helped circulation, the god of the purely commercial publisher.

Bottomley was a cold-blooded crook who enjoyed being dishonest; his capacity for spending equalled his greed. Characteristically enough, he was rooked on all sides by the gamblers who were his favorite associates. Undoubtedly he had a personality which impressed itself tremendously on the primitive minds of the mob, and he certainly claimed high rewards for his much advertised "patriotism." —Saturday Night.

COAST WOULD HEAD HITHER

That Sam Squire of Toronto, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads association, declared that British Columbia's highways were excelled by those of only one province—Quebec—was the word left by the last of the Good Road party to pass through Nelson — John Cairns' managing editor of the Vancouver Province, Bruce Hutchinson, representing the Victoria Times, and J. Fred Spalding of Fernie publicity commissioner of the Southeastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta Tourist Association.

That Commissioner Spalding had organized a large party, which started off on its motor itinerary through southern British Columbia successfully enough, but that the party simply melted away from point to point as members were handed urgent telegrams from their business associates, was stated by Mr. Cairns, aboard the Crow boat Saturday, en route for Calgary.

The trio was delayed 36 hours on the Washington side of the line, by a broken spindle, in the vicinity of Orient. All the bad roads encountered on the tour, Mr. Cairns said, were on the other side of the line.

"If the coast knew what you had here in the way of roads and of scenery, there would be just one procession of cars headed this way," declared Mr. Cairns. "When the Rossland-Cascade link is completed this fall, and it is no longer necessary to go across the line, you will have a splendid highway system for the motor traveller."—Nelson News.

FARMING NOTES

The meeting of the Farmers' Institute, held on Tuesday evening last, was but poorly attended. This is much to be regretted, because there is much of interest to be learned, especiall to those who intend to clear land, keep cows or stock of any kind. It is not over stating it to say that weeks or even months of hard toil or hundreds of hard earned dollars may be saved by those who can and will attend the meetings, the information gained there will give him a chance to start right and go on to a successful issue.

Community stock breeding was dealt with from many points of view and from many angles. The Ayrshire bred of cattle came out on top as the most suitable for Fernie district and the first steps have been taken to endeavor to get three pure bred bulls here as soon as possible. The creamery question was left over to a more representative meeting.

Having a look around to see what my neighbors and friends were doing at the Land Settlement area, near the White Spruce, I was surprised to notice the large amount of land that has been cleaned and put into cultivation this year. Really the farmers are a blessing to any community, but ours are worthy of all praise, converting as they have a wilderness of stumps, mudholes, etc., into growing fields of grain and vegetables and making this a country fit for heroes to live in.

There is quite a number of new arrivals in Cokato. These new comers are quite busy these days in clearing land, blowing stumps and generally taking first steps to make a home of their own. By the looks of things, these men are working full time and seem to like it, even as the village blacksmith; they have earned a mighty repose.

The crops hereabout are looking well, the rain of this week will ensure a good crop of hay and oats and the residents here feel accordingly.—The Scribe.

SPECTACULAR FILM FROM FAMOUS STORY

David Smith, one of Vitagraph's most prominent directors, and responsible for the filming of the now far-famed "Black Beauty," is responsible for filming an adaptation of James Oliver Curwood's widely read novel, "Flower of The North," which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Henry B. Walthall and Pauline Starke head an all-star cast and an entire town was built upon Vita graph's lot for some mammoth settings of the opening scenes. Everything was conducted upon a most colossal and elaborate scale. The great cannery and river effects were secured some weeks ago when Mr. Smith visited the Northwest, where much of the action of the story was scened. He inspected all the canneries of the state of Oregon and Washington in order to procure the best scenes. It would be difficult to surpass the Curwood atmosphere and scenic splendor which Mr. Smith brought from the Pacific Northwest.

As the hero of "Flower of The North," Henry B. Walthall, the little Napoleon of "The Birth of a Nation," again dons his gray slouch hat. As the heroine, Pauline Starke makes an appealing bit of femininity She plays the title role and it is said to afford her even more opportunity than as the star in "The Courage of Marge O'Doone," "Snowblind" and "The Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

Many of the supporting roles in "Flower of The North" needed types difficult to find and the casting for these roles required much time.

MAN HIS OWN RIVAL— INTRICATE PICTURE AT ISIS

Imagine a man, supposed to have committed suicide, who comes back so changed his wife doesn't know him, who has reasons for concealing his real identity from her, and who, upon making love to her, finds his wooing balked by her loyalty to his own memory. That is the strange situation presented in the Universal picture now being shown at the Isis Theatre. It is called "The Man Who Married His Own Wife," and stars Frank Mayo.

There are no statistics to prove what percentage of men, given the chance to cut loose and begin their lives all over again, would go back and marry the same woman. John Fleming Wilson and Mary Ashe Miller, who wrote "The Man Who Married His Own Wife," for Universal and the Cosmopolitan Magazine, hit upon one of the most novel marital situations ever imagined.

John Morton, the role played by Mayo, wins a wife by heroism and then finds they are on different social planes and that he has lost his wife's love. He does what many men would like to do. He "fakes" a suicide and disappears, leaving his "widow" his big shipping business.

It is his intention to start life all over again. But he cannot forget his wife. But he finally makes a new man out of himself and wins back her love is shown in interesting sequence.

Remarkable sea and ship-wreck scenes, and some novel situations brought about by the attempt of a man to cut loose from his family and other ties and begin life all over again, are included in this picture which will be shown at the Isis tonight and tomorrow.

MEADE-TODD

One of the most popular weddings of the season took place in Christ Church, on the 28th inst, at 4.30 p.m., when Helen Rheta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Todd, was united in Holy Bonds of Matrimony to George Davidson Meade, of Creston, B. C. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. H. U. Oswald.

The bride, a charming picture, attired in white Charmeuse with French bugle trimmings and a veil of French net and orange blossoms fastened with a beautiful pin, the gift of the groom, and carrying a shower bouquet of white bridal roses and lily of the valley, entered the church upon the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Clara Cody.

She was attended by three bridesmaids and two little flower girls, namely: Miss Daphne, sister of the bride, Miss Jeanette Cody, of Fernie, and Miss Blanche La Belle, of Kalispell, Montana, and the little Misses Emma and Katherine Wilson, attired in gowns of blue, orchid and pink taffeta and jade green and maize organdie.

The groom, who is a native son of Vancouver, B.C., was supported by Mr. L. E. Kyle, also of that city.

The ushers were Messrs. Taynton, Colton and Rawlinson.

After the ceremony, relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom partook of a sumptuous supper.

The gift of the groom to the groomsman was a gold tie pin with pearl setting, to Miss Daphne Todd, a white prayer book, to Misses Jeanette Cody and Blanche La Belle, gold bar pins, to the little flower girls, pearl lace pins, to the organist, Miss Clara Cody, and soloist, Mrs. Dr. Asselstine, sterling silver salt and pepper shakers, and to the ushers, sterling eversharp pencils.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the young couple were held.

The bride's travelling costume was of reindeer broadcloth, beautifully embroidered and wearing an ermine cape and feather hat.

Amid shower of good wishes and confetti, the young couple left on the evening train for Banff. On their return, on August 1st, they will take up residence at Killarney, Creston, B. C.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC HAS DONE

The Chiropractor has accomplished with his bare hands what other methods have failed to do; he has given his patients a new lease on life, and the simplicity of his methods are a source of wonderment as to why it was not discovered long before by those who had made a life-long study of man and his ailments. The explanation seems to lie in that they studied symptons rather than causes.

Chiropractic is based on the theory that all ills are traceable to nerve irritation or impingement caused by abnormal positions of the bones of the spine, which may be due to falls, mental or physical shocks, severe illness, etc. After twenty-five years of successful application there can be no legitimate refutation of this theory.

Chiropractic is not limited to nervous disorders only, but is an effective remedy in such cases as fevers, tumors, appendicitis, catarrh, pneumonia and other chronic and acute ailments.

HOW CANADA GOT BUFFALO

When Hunting Dog, a Pend d'Oreille Indian, rode over the Montana boundary line into Saskatchewan one blistering day in 1876, a fugitive from the wrath of his half-breed father-in-law, he did not know that Fate had marked him as a man who should save Canada's great herds of buffalo from total extinction.

Hunting Dog rode blindly across the border. He was bent on a long hunting expedition, so that the rage in his father-in-law's heart might have time to cool before he returned to his lodge on the Flathead reservation. Also, he was keeping an eye open for a suitable present that he might bring back with him to appease the wrath of the great man he had offended. It was this offering, which he was designed to take back from Canada with him, that was to form the nucleus of the great buffalo herd now at Wainwright Park.

Back in the days of '75, the West was vastly different from what it is today. There were no prairie provinces; the Canadian Pacific Railway was not built, and where great wheat farms and towns and cities stand at present, were vast prairie lands on which huge herds of buffalo stampeded and grazed. When Hunting Dog trailed over the border Sitting Bull was in his prime. Next year Hunting Dog was destined to fight for him at the Big Horn and help wipe out General Custer's army. The last Indian war in Western Canada was not to be fought until ten years later. Louis Reil was still dreaming his visions of a great republic in what is now Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and he was not to fight for this impracticable vision until several years had passed.

Hunting Dog hunted the great Western plains until he was successful in capturing four little buffalo calves. These he believed would prove substantial enough a present to win him back into the graces of his father-in-law. He trailed back to the Flathead reservation, presented the calves to the old man and again became a member of the family, without fear of suffering a sudden and wholly undesirable death.

It is to be regretted, indeed, that history does not record what domestic difficulty sent Hunting Dog forth from his home lodge, nor what was the name of the father-in-law. Had it done so, then one could have opened this story at a much earlier date. It would have been enticing to write something like this: "The origin of Canada's present fine buffalo herd, the largest in the world, lies in the fact that Hunting Dog, a big outstanding brave, one dark night stole the pipe of peace from his great father-in-law, Big Chief Butting Bull."

All we know is that Hunting Dog duly returned with the present of four buffalo calves. Fortunately fate decided that two should be heifers and two bulls. The appeased father-in-law accepted the gift, turned loose on a big range and they took kindly to the land and multiplied greatly.

At a later date part of the buffalo herd was acquired by one Michael Pablo, a Mexican halfbreed, who could neither read nor write, but who was worth a quarter of a million dollars. He allowed the herd to range on the Pend d'Oreille reserve until the year 1907. It was then that the United States Government decided to open the reservation to settlers. The buffalo herd had to go. Pablo, though unlettered, was a shrewd soul. He wanted to sell his herd for what he could. He approached the Washington Government to buy the buffalo; but although he had such an influential advocate as the late Col. Roosevelt, Congress refused to act. Next Pablo went to the Canadian Government immigration officer at Missoula, who at once took up the question with Hon. Frank Oliver, then minister of the interior.

Hon. Mr. Oliver was not slow to act. He realized that here was probably the last opportunity to preserve for Canada what had formerly been its most characteristic animal. He strongly urged the purchase of the Pablo herd upon his colleagues, and so successful were his representations that an order-in-council was passed authorizing the immediate purchase. Before the United States realized the loss they had sustained, America's finest buffalo herd belonged to Canada.

It would seem that here the story ended. Canada had now secured a choice herd of animals, which, though they once dotted her fertile Western plains had become practically extinct through wanton slaughter and the blood-lust of man. But fate moves by devious ways. Hunting Dog and his wrathy father-in-law were its first pawns in the great game of saving the buffalo from utter extinction; four unsuspecting calves were the second, and the Mexican halfbreed was third. But the herd, though bought, was as yet undeveloped. Fate, though determined that the buffalo should survive, had tired of the ordinary moves made by destiny. If the years between '75 and '07 had been placid ones, the days that were to follow should be equally exciting. Fate required many pawns in its game before the buffalo eventually found their way into the quiet retreats of Wainwright Park.

The Pablo herd had grown up on the Pend d'Oreille range as wild as if in their native state. Therefore, the task of rounding them up for shipment proved to be more difficult than any one dreamed. In the summer of '07 Pablo got together the fastest horses and best riders in Montana. He started the last round-up of buffalo in history. It was no easy task. The buffalo could outrun the swiftest horse, and when cornered wheeled about and charged horse and rider with the utmost ferocity. Time and again the cowboys were scattered by charging buffalo to the four corners of the range

After much difficulty and many hairbreadth escapes the cowboys rounded up more than 400 buffalo. It was known that many of the most ferocious bulls and cows had escaped. They were the biggest and swiftest of the herd, and therefore were the pick of the range. The Canadian Government wanted these badly to round out the shipment which went north. Although approached by other buyers, Pablo stayed by his bargain. and the following autumn another grand round-up was under way.

After six weeks' hard work the cowboys succeeded in getting the animals corralled, and thinking all was safe, the cowboys lay down to sleep. In the dead of night the herd stampeded and effected a complete escape by scaling an almost perpendicular cliff. They got away to the mountains and were gone. It was the first time that it was known that the climbing capabilities of the buffalo were almost equal of those of mountain goats. While an interesting fact to science, it was not appreciated by Pablo or the cowboys.

The greatest fight to bring the exiled herd back to its native Canada occured the following season. Pablo then decided not to take any chances upon the buffalo again foiling him. He had a large number of big wooden cages built, and as each member of the herd was captured it was put in one of these cages and hauled to the station at Ravalli, where the animal was put into a corral of extra strength to await shipment.

It was at Ravalli where the big battle took place. There were 200 buffalo full of fighting strength. They did not take kindly to being shoved into box cars. The majority of them had to be pulled on by block and tackle, and eight fine bulls killed themselves in their struggles to escape. At length, the last of the herd was loaded and the whole of them started on a special train for Canada.

The foregoing is how Canada's last herd of buffalo came home. Today their descendants, and some of the originals are to be found at Buffalo Park, Wainwright. Though not more than 700 were brought from Montana, the number now is more than 6,000. In 1910 an infusion of new blood was secured by purchasing thirty buffalo from the Conrad herd at Kalispell. This gigantic herd ranges on a reserve of over 1500 square miles, enclosed by a galvanized steel wire fence, 75 miles long and nine feet high, and protected from prairie fire by a strip of bare ground all about it sixty feet wide.

When Hunting Dog crossed the Canadian boundary line he did not know that he was to be the great savior of the buffalo; neither did he dream that he was to lead the way in game preservation by governmental means. Though all unknowingly he worked well. Besides the Wainwright Park, the Dominion Government has two other big animal parks, Elk Island Park, near Lamont, Alberta, and Foremost Antelope Reserve, near Nemiskam. Apart from these three Alberta Parks, there are seven other great scenic parks in the mountains, and here animals also are protected from the hunter.

Thus the mountain sheep, the bear and the mountain goats, together with other wild life, may live in peace and without fear of extinction. The success of these parks needs no comment here. When they were inaugurated the wild animal life had been almost wiped out. Today not only is it populous, but it is overflowing into the neighboring wooded areas and affords excellent hunting beyond the park limits.

It is interesting to note that once within the limits of these government game preserves the wild animals know that they are safe. They do not fear man. The bighorn sheep, the most suspicious and timid of all game animals, may be found wandering about the park roads. They have descended from their rocky fastnesses and gaze with unveiled curiosity upon tourists and pose for their pictures. The moose, more seclusive but not more afraid, rambles about on the edge of the forest. He does not deign to notice curious visitors, but he is not fearful of their presence. The hoary marmot whistles without fear, and the black bear pokes in the hotel garbage piles for some choice tit-bit, totally disdaining any curious eyes which may watch his explorations. The mule deer and the mountain goat, once on the verge of extinction, now ramble about in large numbers, and within the preserve limits ignore the presence of man, provided he comes not too close. Within these sanctuaries the little pika, or chief hare, plays in great contentment, his only enemies being the four-legged ones which look upon him as a fair meal.

Then there is the furtive dweller, who never will accept man as a close companion. The beaver, muskrat, fisher and marten are all to be found in the woods and streams. They are not often seen, but they live well within preserve limits and have their being without constant fear of the hunter and trapper. There are also the coyotes, and their mournful howl may be heard in some of the parks; while in others the wolves sing their hunting song. But coyotes and wolves are not popular and they are not encouraged to remain and multiply. The wily fox is different. He is at home in every sanctuary for wild life, and, so the keepers say, he lives well.

It is in the winter in Banff that the deer enjoy the hospitality of man. They invade the town, wander through the streets, and poke their noses into the back doors of the houses looking for delicacies. If any kind-hearted resident gives the wild visitor a feed of potato peelings, the said wild visitor immediately settles within the neighborhood and is a constant beggar at the hospitable back door. As a mendicant the deer ranks high, once his brain receives the idea of getting something for nothing.

It would be interesting, indeed, were one able to make a computation of the various animals which have sought sanctuary in the various government preserves and parts, but of course this would be impossible. Some idea may be gleaned when it is known that Buffalo Park, Wainwright, there are more than 6,000 buffalo, as well as elk, deer, yak, and that latest man-evolved cross, the cattalo. At Elk Island Park, Lamont, there are 300 buffalo, also moose, elk and deer. At Foremost Reserve there are more than 100 antelope. At Jasper Park there are 5,000 bighorn, as well as the show herds at Banff, and the incalculable numbers of fur-bearing animals which swarm in every park and preserve. But the greatest of all animal parks is the Buffalo Park at Wainwright, and when this is mentioned it is then that Hunting Dog peculiarly comes into his own.

Of Hunting Dog nothing much is known. Whether he has gone to the Happy-Hunting Ground to meet his father-in-law, or whether he still lives on, an aged link with the past, is not known. In his youth fate touched him upon the shoulder and he became a pawn in the great game of buffalo destiny. Yet it is not meet that he alone should have the glory of saving Canada's most typical animal to the nation. He worked unknowingly. Pablo also did his unwitting share. It was the Hon. Frank Oliver who made the exiled buffalo the wards of the nation.

But for Hunting Dog and his father-in-law having a timely little row, the minister of the interior could have done nothing. Yet, fate works out its own plans in devious and strange ways and its pawns move in the dark. Hunting Dog deserves a place in prairie history, for he saved to posterity the West's foremost citizen.

The broad acres of Buffalo Park stand as a living memory to his flying trip to Canada. He is worthy of statue to perpetuate his name.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you.

Dunlop Double-Life, High-Mileage Cord and Fabric Tires Will Save You More Money Than Ever

Compared to a few years ago tire users are getting easily double—and even more than double—the mileage in the tires of to-day.

Ten, twelve and fifteen thousand miles are just average mileages to-day. And the records on the road show that Dunlop Cord Tires and Dunlop Fabric Tires are even exceeding these mileages.

With Dunlop big mileage you have rock-bottom prices and paramount tire quality —tire quality that is accepted as standard to-day, and which other makers are vainly striving to duplicate.

When you can get a tire with prestige back of it like DUNLOP, and with practically an unlimited guarantee, why chance your life on a second-rate tire at any price?

In Dunlop Cord Tires you have "Traction" and "Ribbed" to choose from.

AULT ALMOST GETS SHUT-OUT

Fernie easily disposed of Waldo here Sunday afternoon by a score of eight runs to one in the first game of the second half of the East Kootenay Baseball League, and by doing so scored their seventh consecutive victory, maintaining their undefeated record for the season.

From the start Fernie got to Gillies' offerings, Dunlap connecting with the first ball pitched for a single, B. Wilson following did likewise and Dunlap scored when McTeer drove out a two-bagger. Fernie added two more runs in the second when two singles, Ault's three-bagger and a sacrifice put Ault and T. Wilson across the plate. Two in the fifth, one in the seventh and two more runs in the eighth brought Fernie's total to eight. Waldo were never dangerous until the ninth inning, when J. Gillies slammed the ball to the outfield between right and centre field, the Colton brothers both went after the ball, collided and the ball dropped, Gillies was safe on second, B. Wilson muffed Shay's drive to short, Gliiies going to third. Glover was called from the bench for a pinch hitter and clouted the pill for two bases, scoring Gillies for Waldo's only run.

SHAKE-UP IN THE MINISTRY

OTTAWA—With the first session under the auspices of the King Government at an end, rumor is insistent that there is to be a shake-up in the ministry before the House meets again.

The fact that such reports eminate from, and are discussed chiefly by Liberal members, lends them a color of probability that has been translated into certainty in many quarters.

In the closing days of the budget debate, Mr. Fielding and Mr. Lomer Gouin came into open conflict. The latter declared emphatically that the Liberal party stood for protection for Canadian industries. Two days later, Mr. Fielding repudiated the Minister of Justice on the floor of the House.

"The Liberal party never stood for protection," he said, "and it never will."

Sir Lomer does not relish such a rebuke and the cleavage which was manifest here between the two alleged strong men of the Government runs in varying breadth throughout their followers in the House.

Mr. Fielding, it is claimed, has been convinced that public life can add no honors to those which are now his, and is ready to spend the twilight of life outside the swift-moving current of public affairs—at least outside the cabinet.

The report to this effect is being hailed with enthusiasm by Mr. Gouin's bloc, and it will not be surprising if he moves into the Finance Department to make way for another Quebec member, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, as Minister of Justice. Sir Lomer's own nominee for the Finance portfolio, Walter G. Mitchell of Montreal, is generally recognized as an impossibility. Sir Lomer is probably among those who now admit it. He trained Mr. Mitchell in Quebec and brought him to Ottawa to do what he was told to do. They fixed up a vigorous attack on Government ownership for him to deliver and he made a hopeless bungle of it. All he succeeded in doing was wrecking his cabinet asperations. He did not hurt public ownership as personified in the enforced ownership of National Railways an iota, but he scrambled Mr. Mitchell's reputation both as a politician and a parliamentarian perhaps beyond repair.

With Mr. Fielding it is said Hon. Jacques Bureau will turn over the Customs Department. Its duties are too exacting. Hon. D. D. Mackenzie and Hon. A. B. Copp are scheduled for the bench when openings in the last occur. The general scramble among the hopeful has commenced. At least one hundred private Liberal members are convinced that they are of cabinet timber and no matter what changes are made they can only bring more discord into a minstry already notable for that quality.

One of the most noteworthy events of the session has been the formulation of a concrete plan by the Liberal members to destroy the Civil Service Commision and secure a return to patronage unalloyed. The preliminary guns were fired this month. The real battle is to come next year. Every member has been charged to unearth every semblance of complaint that can be found against the Commission, to muster every pretext that can be found for attacking it. Next session a commission or parliamentary committee is to be demanded to probe it, preferably a parliamentary committee with a comfortable majority of Liberal members in its composition.

To appreciate the situation it must be recalled that these same voices, now raised in violent condemnation of the Commissions and its functions, just one short year ago were equally violent in opposing a suggestion that even the most menial and casual appointments be withdrawn from the Commision. Today they want patronage back and they want to exercise it before another election.

Consistency, in the King party, is a jewel absent from the diadem when it interferes with political advantage.

LABOR AND THE GUARD

Samuel Gompers takes a creditable position when he declares that "the militia, i. e., the citizen soldiery of the several states in our country, supplies what otherwise might take its place, a large landing army," and that "a man who is a wage earner and honorable, working at his trade, or calling, to support himself or his dependents, has not only the right to become a citizen soldier, but that right must not be questioned."

For a long time trade unionism has been charged with lack of sympathy or, if not actually hostile to, the national guard. Anarchists, under whatever name, seeking to dominate organized labor have sought to tar trade unionism with their own defiance of this arm of governmental authority, and have not lost opportunity to prejudice the workingman against the national guard.

Mr. Gompers speaks clearly and pertinently. There is no essential incompatibility between organized labor and the forces of law and government. Service in the national guard is a proper offering of citizenship, with which trade unionism has no conflict. It is only when organized labor forgets its better self and yields to the influence of unworthy elements of leaders which bring it into antagonism to the law that its members find any inconsistency in such service.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

IN MEMORIAN

In loving memory of my dear son, John Horn Hewitt, who lost his life in the Elk River, Fernie, B.C., June 26th, 1921.

Had God asked us well we know
We would have cried, "Oh spare this blow,"
And with streaming tears would pray,
"Lord we love him, let him stay."

But the Lord doth naught amiss,
And since he hath ordered this
We have naught to do but still Rest in silence on his will.

IN MEMORIAN

In loving memory of my dear husband, John Horn Hewitt, who lost his life in the Elk River, Fernie, B.C., June 26th, 1921.

Short and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
And only those who loved can tell
The pain of not saying a last farewell.

In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are ever near;
No one knows the silent heartache,
No one knows the bitter pain,
I have suffered since I lost him.
Life has never been the same.

But since it was ordained on high,
He should be called so soon;
God grant us strength to humbly say,
Oh Lord. Thy will be done.

MOUNT EVEREST BAFFLES ITS HARDY ASSAILANTS

The expected has happened. Mount Everest has baffled its assailants. It is reported that they reached a point within a few hundreds of feet from the summit, but then had to turn back. Mallory, when he last year was only two miles from the summit and observed it through a powerful glasses, discovered that "the final cap is a blunt, steep edge of snow full 200 feet in height" and probably more.

Until the base of this snowbank was reached, the difficulty of ascending it could not be ascertained.

If it were almost perpendicular and unfissured, it could not be surmounted.

If there were a way around, it would be practicable only for the expertest and most experienced of alpinists. Even they might not have sufficient strength remaining at that exalted altitude.

But the actual achievement commands the hearties admiration.—Spokesman Review.

When the American ambassador to the Court of St. James can wear knee breeches it looks like unfair discrimination to maintain an embargo on Canadian calves.

CELEBRATION A SUCCESS

The children's day as celebrated here on July 1 was an exceedingly successful undertaking and as the weather was ideal for open air attractions everyone had a grand time. A complete statement of the financial result has not yet been compiled but the Children's Permanent Recreation Fund will be again augmented by a substantial amount.

The opening event of the day was the parade, followed by the crowning of the Dominion Day Queen, Gladys Corner, on the spacious court house grounds. Both for size and attractiveness the parade this year ranked among the best of any held here formerly. It was headed by an escort of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and then followed the newly organized Fernie Pipe Band. Then came the school children, with the floats, decorated autos and bicycles, clowns and those in fancy dress costumes bringing up the rear. The following is a list of the parade prize winners:

Best Float—I.O.O.M.

Best Turnout—Jass Band, of Coal Creek.

Best Clown—1 W. Lawrence, 2 F. Mousette; 3 Pierettes, Mabel Harper and Madge Buchanan.

The program at the court house grounds, following the coronation of the Queen, consisted of the May-pole Dance by twelve little girls, who executed the dance very prettily. A quartette of yong ladies rendered the Highland Fling, and this with other fancy dance numbers and an address by S. Herchmer, concluded the opening exercises and adjournment was taken to the city park, where the children's sports, baseball and football competitions were pulled off.

The prizes were presented by Premier Greenfield of Alberta, who spoke in great praise of the men who spent so much of their time in training so as to make them efficient with the apparatus. He promised to add another cup for this contest next year, particulars of which will be given later.

In the Senior First Aid eight teams took part, the prizes being won as follows: 1st, Drumheller Coal and Land Co; 2nd, Coleman International; 3rd, Canmore; 4th, Lethbridge.

Seven teams of Boy Scouts were entered for the Junior First Aid contest, th eresult being: First, Lethbridge No. 1; second, Lethbridge No. 2; third, Calgary.

The Ladies First Aid event was won by the Calgary team.

The committee in charge of the contests are to be congratulated on the promptness and dispatch with which the different events were carried out, thus adding much to the success of the program.

WALLINGER NOMINATED

Cranbrook, July 4. — Without a dissenting voice N. A. Wallinger was made the unanimous choice as Conservative candidate in the forthcoming byelection for the Cranbrook riding in the provincial house.

At the nominating convention held this evening out of a possible 34 delegates about 30 were represented.

In addition to 17 delegates from the city of Cranbrook, the outlying points were represented by H. Drew, N. W. Burdette and Mr. Green for Kimberley; Messrs. Trew and Cox for Wycliffe; A. G. James, Marysville; Mr. McFarlane, Moyie; Mr. Murphy, Yahk, and Mr. Jackson for Wardner.

J. T. Servis, president of the Cranbrook Conservative association, was voted to the chair, and W. Stewart secretary of the convention.

Mr. Wallinger's name was placed in nomination by W. F. Attridge, and seconded by Dr. J. W. Rutledge.

Mr. Attridge drew attention to the fact that Mr. Wallinger has been in the district for about 30 years, during a great deal of this time serving in a public capacity and so being thoroughly well known in all parts of the riding. Mention was also made of the fact that at this time unity was absolutely essential, and he felt that with the party united behind one man there would be little doubt as to the ultimate result of the byelection.

It was known that a good deal depended on the result of this contest from the government standpoint and if the Conservatice forces were able to carry the day there was a strong probability that a general provincial election would have to be called before long.

Dr. Rutledge, in seconding, stated that it was a pleasure to know that the party was united in this nomination.

In a few words Mr. Wallinger gave his thanks for the honor tendered him and in promising his utmost efforts on behalf of the cause.

Referring to the matter of his dismissal from the post of government agent here recently, he said he had nothing to conceal, and nothing to be ashamed of. He could recall no action of his during his long service in the government service here that he would have any qualms about repeating again tomorrow.

Steps were also taken toward the formation of a working district association with all points represented. The feeling seemed to generate that the byelection may not be called till some time late in the fall, though what the government may hope to gain by postponing the issue is difficult to see. It is conceded that this riding will present the most difficult problem they have yet faced in the series of byelections, with little hopes of diverting the discussion to any big issue such as was present in the Ymir road in the case of Nelson, and the road and bridges at Revelstoke.

Mr. Wallinger is personally very widely known, and will get strong support from all parties. His extensive mining experience gets support for him from among the prospectors, while those who know the circumstances are one in condemning the summary and unfair treatment handed out to him, when, after 18 years' service with the government in an absolutely impartial manner he was dismissed on one day's notice from Victoria, for reasons which it has taken three months to learn anything of at all and without any opportunity to discuss whatever was held against him.

Who the Liberal candidate will be is uncertain, but four or five names are being mentioned and it is expected the Liberal convention will shortly be held to name the champion who will uphold the cause of the government.

ROTARIANS ARE COMING

(Lethbridge Herald)

The regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club held on Monday night was presided over by Vice-President Doc Rivers in the absence of President Hugh Crawford. The attendance was not up to the usual mark owing to the fact that a number of the boys did not get back to the city from their week-end fishing. The local club, however, made a good showing for the month of June from the point of view of attendance; being first of all the clubs in the 19th District with a percentage of 96.8.

Sam Porter who along with Arthur Baalim, has been responsible to International Rotary for the organization of Clubs in Cranbrook and Nelson reported that the local club is once more to become the proud father of a baby club to be organized at Fernie on July 12th and urged as many of the boys as possible to accompany Art and him to Fernie on that day to take part in the launching of the new Fernie Club. A showing of hands indicated that from 15 to 20 Rotarians will go to Fernie on that day. Vince Gibbons suggested that the ladies be asked to accompany the Rotarians on this trip, and the sugong the members.

FERNIE DISTRICT HAS BEST ROADS

(By J. Fred Spalding)

After driving over 3500 miles during the past month, when I drove from Fernie to Kamloops, all over the Okanagan country and back up into the Windermere district and to the end of construction on the western end of the Banff-Winderemere road, then back through here and down to Watertown Lakes Park, from there to Lethbridge and up to Calgary, Banff, Castle and over the Eastern end of the Banff-Windermere road to the end of construction and back to Fernie, I am quite convinced that the road between Cranbrook and Fernie is by a long shot the best I drove over.

I was unlucky enough to be caught in the cloudburst whilst driving from Cardston to Lethbridge. One experience like that is quite enough. It had not been raining five minutes before it became impossible to keep the car on the road, and after sliding into the ditch on one side of the road and then the other, I finally managed to get to Spring Coulee and stayed there over night. It had dried sufficiently next morning to go on, but between Claresholm and Calgary, nearly 90 miles, it was all low gear work, and from High River to within 10 miles of Calgary the mud was so deep in places that my bumper pushed it along. Incidentally the bumper was broken off finally. Returning over the same ground three days later the greater part was smooth and dry and good going again.

The worst piece of the road in the entire trip is between Crow's Nest and Lundbreck. This stretch of road has always been very bad. Two years ago it was supposed to be graded; now it is worse than ever. The gravel they put on was full of cobble stones, the fine stuff has been blown away and left all the big stuff, which is simply purgatory to drive over. Three times since last fall I have been over it and each time have broken a spring. No wonder that all the blacksmiths in that part of Alberta make a specialty of repairing springs. They must get plenty of practice. One of them at Blairmore got in a machine especially for setting up springs, and told me that he is kept busy all the time. If this road is not put into better shape soon it will make a very material difference to the volume of tourist traffic, and is a matter that the auto clubs and Good Roads Associations of Alberta should take concerted action on, because all the tourists complain about it, and only today one told me that he would not return that way, but would go back from Spokane through Montana. He is certain to tell others about it as he travels along and advise them to do the same, which is sure to result, as the news spreads, in a serious loss to all the towns along this route. I have come to the conclusion that they have got hold of the wrong name for some of the graded roads of Alberta; they should be called degraded roads. Everyone realizes the difficulty Alberta has in respect to roads; still now the tourist travel is reaching such great proportions, and is fast becoming one of our greatest revenue producing industries, the main roads between the larger towns and especially connecting the different provinces, should be kept in a good state of repair.

The Banff-Windermere road is much finer than I expected it would be. The scenery is beyond description and the road is wide and being graveled and rolled, and even now is in such good condition that one can drive over it at any speed one desires in perfect safety. It is so full of wonders that it is hard to pick out any part for special mention, but perhaps the most impressive features are two long tangents, one is just over two miles and the other close to three miles long. Both are straight as a die through magnificent high timber, and at the end of each is a towering mountain peak. Another very striking feature is Marble Canyon, which is about 40 miles from Banff. This canyon is simply a narrow gash through solid rock probably not more than 75 feet wide at the widest part. It is several hundred feet deep with a rushing torrent through it. Where it commences the stream drops straight down for about a hundred feet, and several other falls follow in quick succession until it reaches the bottom.

Big game of all kinds is very plentiful all through. I was lucky enugh to get a fine photo of a big horn sheep right close to the road, but missed to get one of three bears through not having my camera loaded. Deer are nearly as numerous as gophers and there are a lot of moose.

The road will be completed in September, and Mr. Harkin, the Commissiner of Dominion Parks, told me that if the weather then is suitable a semi-official opening consisting of a few officials and those who have taken an active interest in bringing about the building of it, will be held, and the real opening will take place on June 12 next, when it is expected there will be over 500 cars up from California alone especially to take part in the ceremony. For the semi-official opening invitations will be extended to Fernie, Cranbrook, Lethbridge, Calagry, Inveremere, Golden and Banff, and will probably be limited to two cars from each place.

The tour of the Good Roads delegates was not so large as we had been led to expect. S. L. Squire, the executive chairman of the Canadian Good Roads Association, told me to make preparations for at least forty delegates, but many of those who attended the convention told me that they knew nothing about it until I announced it from the platform at the opening session and said that they would have been delighted to have come along if they had known about it before they left home so as to have been able to make plans for the extra ten days. This in spite of the fact that Mr. Squire sent out 20,000 invitations in which the tour was made a special feature. On the day before we were timed to start there were 14 definite acceptances, and when we started from Vancouver only 11 turned up,; the other three staying behind on account of one of them being sick.

Fortunately I had extended the invitation to the Victoria Times and the Vancouver Province to send representatives with us, and Bruce Hutchison of the Times and John Cairns, the managing editor of the Province, both accepted. They are both writing a special page for their papers on the trip, and Mr. Hutchinson besides representing the Canadian Press, is going to write a series of magazine articles which will appear in such magazines as "Motor," "Outing," etc., and several of the leading papers in the States and Eastern Canada.

Mr. Cairns had to leave at Cranbrook, but Mr. Hutchison continued right through and will let Mr. Cairns have the particulars covering what he missed. Both have promised to go strong on the part from Grand Forks to Lethbridge and Banff, which will get us more publicity eventually than we could possibly have obtained if we had a party of fifty and no newspaper men.

I have just received the follwing letter from Mr. Cairns:

Vancouver, July 3, 1922.

J. Fred Spalding, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Mr. Spalding—I am writing to thank you for the opportunity you so kindly accorded me to accompany the good roads delegates on their recent tour of the Okanagan, Kootenay and other districts of this province and of Alberta.

The entire trip was a revelation to me of the possibilities for automobile touring in the mountain districts of Western Canada. The roads were everywhere excellent and once the missing link between the Coast and the Interior is provided I feel sure your communities will experience, and proffit by, an enormous increase in the auto tourist traffic.

I hope you will not mind my saying that it seems a pity that certain communities within the scope of your association have not seen their way to join you as yet. I feel sure they would benefit greatly if they did so and that the general scope and usefulness of your activities would thereby be considerably enlarged.

In conclusion I wish to thank you for your own personal kindness and courtesy during the tour. With best regards and hoping that it will not be long before I am again privileged to visit the beautiful Interior.

I am, Yours very truly,

John Cairns, Man. Editor.

P.S.—I wired you today for the photographs you promised me to illustrate my article and hope they will reach me very soon.—J. C.

Freddie Bass, who for several years has been one of Fernie's leading musicians, will leave tomorrow for the coast, where he has been called owing to the serious illness of his mother. Fred has been offered a job in one of the leading theatres in Vancouver and will not return to Fernie. His departure will be greatly regretted by the young people of the city.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PROMOTIONS

The promotion list for the various classes in the Fernie Public Schools follow. The list of students who have been granted honor promotion to High School, as well as the list of those who have been successful in writing the examinations will be announced by the Department of Education during the latter part of July.

A larger percentage of each class is promoted than last year, due to the longer school year, due to the very few interruptions through sickness, and due to the high standard of class-room instruction. The promotion or non-promotion of each individual pupil has been discussd by a committee consisting of the class teacher, the vice-principle and the principle, and in each case the course has been followed that seems best for the progress of the individual child.

The names in each class are given in order of merit. The mark (*) after the name indicates that that child has been promoted conditional on one subject.

Mrs. Shepard Suffered So Terribly From Indigestion She Thought She Had Heart Trouble—Now Well And Happy.

"I feel I would be doing a positive wrong in not telling others about this wonderful medicine," said Mrs. F. Shepard, of Bishop's Landing, B.C., in giving her experience with Tanlac.

"For three years my life was miserable from stomach trouble. Nothing I ate agreed with me. Gas formed which caused my heart to palpitate so I was afraid I had heart trouble. Often I had to sit up in bed, and got very little sleep.

"I don't know what I would have done if I had not got Tanlac when I did. Soon after I started taking it I was like a new person, eating anything and not having a particle of trouble afterwards. Tanlac is the grandest of medicines."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

SETTING A HIGH MARK

The Canadian Government sets a standard for evaporated milk, which is 7.8 butter fat test. You will find these figures printed on the label of each Pacific Milk can. It is the law. But please remember that this is only the minimum so far as Pacific Milk is concerned. As an actual matter of fact, every 100 pounds of Pacific Milk contains 43 pounds of cream. The richness of this milk has made it the most popular brand in the whole of Western Canada.

PYTHIAN SISTERS PICNIC AT THE BIG RANCH

The Michel Pythian Sisters and their children, on July 5, journeyed up the valley to the Big Ranch to picnic. Shortly after arrival, under the direction of Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Shea and Mrs. Gaskell, lunch was served. A short program was then arranged, the first item being a sack race in which Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Shea arrived at the mark together. The judge, Mrs. McLean, decided that neither had won, so no prize was given. A baseball game beween the Blues and Whites was then pulled off. The batteries were: Mrs. McLean and Miss Littler; Mrs. Gaskell and Miss McInnis. The game was hotly contested, several of the ladies making home runs, and wound up in favor of the Blues 14—7. About 8 o'clock the party started on the return trip, after passing resolutions of thanks to the committee and those who supplied the transportation.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—The wage scale dispute is becoming somewhat monotonous. The fishermen are getting tired of fishing; the hunter of hunting; even the stump blower is getting short of powder or money to buy it with; and those who have been on vacation are returning broke, or nearly so. All these and others are asking the question: When is this blooming trouble going to be fixed up? and echo answers, when?

And now to business. The majority report of the Conciliation Board has been rejected by the coal operators, who offer instead the Drinnan minority report, to go into effect temporarily until the permanent new wage scale is agreed upon for central Pennsylvania and the state of Ohio, the understanding being that when the mining wages are settled in these two districts the wages in this district will be adjusted thereto.

Now as a matter of common sense and good business would it not be better for the operators of District 18 to offer the men the Conciliation Board majority report temporarily until the permanent new scale of wages is settled over the line. The above is offered without comment. There are many good points worth considering.—R. D.

Inspector Dunwoody, who has been in charge of the provincial police office in Nelson for the past month while the Nelson chief was taking his holidays, is home again.

The Customs-Excise collections at the Port of Fernie for the month of June amounted to $46,972.35. This shows a big increase over the collections for June of last year, which amounted to $13,972.44.

Fernie will be visited next Wednesday by a crowd of Rotarians from Lethbridge and Cranbrook, when a local Club will be formally organized. It is proposed to hold a banquet on Wednesday evening in honor of the visitors.

Fred Parker and family are leaving this week for their old home in Nova Scotia, where they will reside in future. Mr. and Mrs. Parker have been good citizens of Fernie and it is to be regretted that ill health has compelled Mr. Parker to return east.

The total taxes collected up to July 1 this year was $61,744.56. The total including previous year's arrears still outstanding is $26,658. The collections for this year were about five thousand less than last, but when the strike is taken into consideration the showing made is very good indeed. The money still outstanding is supposed to be all collectable.

Bryan Ward died in Fernie hospital on June 30, after a severe illness and serious operation for gall stones. Mr. Ward leaves a wife, three sons and a daughter, namely A. Ward of Burnaby! Ernset and Sidney of Fernie; and Mrs. Kocar, of Omaha, Neb.; also a mother, who is 86 years old, and five brothers and two sisters living in England, to mourn his loss. Deceased was born at Crossgates, near Leeds, Yorkshire, England, on Mach 14, 1863, coming to Fernie 14 years ago, where he resided until his death. Mr. Ward was a good citizen, well respected by all who came in contact with him and will be greatly missed by all who knew him, especially by his fellow workmen and the officials at the mine in which he worked at Coal Creek. The funeral took place on Tuesday, July 4, from the United Church. Mrs. Ward and family have the sincere sympathy of a host of Fernie friends in their sad bereavement.

All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are requested to be at Ingram's Hall on Sunday next, July 8, at 2.30 p.m., to take part in the Memorial Day services. Both lodges will march to the cemetery, where the services will be held.

Philip Carosella caused quite a sensation at the C.P.R. depot on Tuesday evening, when he missed a roll of money from his pockets. He called a policeman and charged a well known young man, who was standing near him, with robbery. Search failed to reveal the money, but later on Philip discovered the cash on his own person and withdrew the charge.

Nick Gradzuk, formerly of this city but now residing at Hosmer, was charged by the provincial police under the Liquor Act, with having beer in an inn in other than a private guest room. He drew a fine of $50. John Serek, proprietor of a hotel at Natal. was assessed the same amount for an identical offence, and still another one, John Fental, was included in the round-up by the provincial authorities, but in this instance the charge was for consuming liquor in public, for which he contributed $50 to the public funds.

A sudden death occurred at Coal Creek this week when the body of Mrs. J. Brown, aged 55 years, was found in the waters of Coal Creek. Coroner Duthie was called on the case but after fully investigating the circumstances held that death had resulted from accident. It appears the deceased had been suffering from a chronic ailment and was in the habit of taking long walks about the camp. When she failed to return on Tuesday afternoon a search was instituted, and later the remains located in a shallow pool. At this point the frequently used footpath passes along the bank of the creek and a sloping ledge of rock leads down to the water. The presumption is that the lady missed her footing on the path and in falling down the embankment into the creek was rendered unconscious and drowned.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC IS DOING

Chiropractic has been known to effect permanent results after but one adjustment. On the other hand it may take several, or many adjustments to bring the body back to normal health.

Do Chiropractic Adjustments really restore health? Fifteen thousand successful Chiropractors, scattered all over the world, is our answer. Twenty-seven years ago Chiropractic was unknown; today it is the successful competitor of any health system in existence. If chiropractors had failed to bring health to millions of sufferers where other systems had failed, could the science have progressed to the position it holds today?

Chiropractic does not promise a cure for any ailment; its sole claim is its ability to remove the CAUSE of disease and NATURE cures the ailment in Her own good time and way.

Phone 294 or write Box 873 for further information. Office hours, 10 to 12; 2 to 5.30; 7 to 8, or by appointment. Lady attendant. No charge for consultation.

SHADOW BOXING ON THE STRIKE ISSUE.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The conference of bituminous coal mine operators and officials of the miners' union summoned by President Harding to consider methods of ending the coal strike in unionized fields, adjourned today until next Monday in the same deadlock which had characterized its sessions on two previous days.

Participants apparently considered that only government intervention, going much further than it has to date, would offer possibilities of an early strike settlement. President Harding is expected on Monday to have again direct dealings with the negotiations, but the government's plans are kept entirely secret.

From first to last employers contend in the discussion here that they could no longer negotiate wage schedules with the union in the central competitives field as a unit, or in a national gathering of all union coal operators and coal miners. Miners' officials continued to demand such negotiation as the established practice in the industry and to refuse offers to negotiations by districts, repeated in several forms as they were.

Secretaries Hoover and Davis, who have attended the meetings as representatives of the administration, have offered no propositions outside of a tentative suggestion that a committee of miners and operators might be appointed to consider possibilities of outlining districts.

Meetings of miners and operators seperately were held today, but led to no action. Secretary Hoover remarked after the meetings had concluded that participants might renew their gatherings next Monday with more hope of success after discussing the situation with associates at home.

AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

In accordance with sub-sections 19 and 20 of section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, I beg to report as follows: The foregoing balance sheet has been examined with the books and vouchers at the Head Office, and with the certified returns from the Branches, and is in accordance therewith. I have obtained all needed information from the officers of the Bank, and in my opinion the transactions coming under my notice have been within the powers of the Bank. The cash has been checked and the securities of the Bank verified, at its chief office, both on the 31st of May, 1922, and also at another time during the year, the cash and securities of one of the Branches have also been checked, and in each case they have agreed with the entries in the books of the Bank with regard thereto. In my opinion the above balance sheet is properly drawn up so as to show a true and correct view of the state of the Bank's affairs, according to the best of my information and the explanations given to me, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

SYDNEY H. JONES, Auditor.

URGES RIGID ECONOMY

(Toronto Globe, June 28)

Shareholders of the Home Bank of Canada met in Toronto yesterday, and received and approved the annual statement, which will be found elsewhere in this issue. Addresses dealing both with the position of the bank and with the general business outlook in Canada were delivered by President H. J. Daly and General Manager J. Cooper Mason. Perhaps of outstanding interest was the reference by the General Manager to the increased taxes on circulation and the stamp dues to be applied by the Dominion Government. This burden, he pointed out, was distributed among all banks, and each would have to bear a share according to its business during the year. As a result of its very widespread application, with its reaction throughout the entire sphere of business, the banks, he said, would be under the necessity of paying more attention to what are termed "minor profits" in order to equalize this new overhead expense. There were many small services that banks customarily performed for the public without charge, but at a small incidental loss upon each transaction. While Mr. Mason does not enter into details on the plan proposed to offset this loss, it is understod that the public will pay for this service, and it is presumed that this was decision reached at a recent meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association held in Montreal.

Mr. Daly reviewed the crop outlook, and was optimistic in his judgment of the situation. With an advance toward the realization of the harvest for 1922, he said, it was possible to look hopefully forward to the passing of the depression which marked the close of the year 1921. The reports covering the growing conditions of the crops, he added, were highly satisfactory, and the present condition of growth compared very favorably with the standing crop of 1915 for the same period of that year. He sounded a note of warning, however, against the development of an excess of optimism and the undertaking of heavy commitments on prospect alone. He said: "Even though the crop should be a record one, there is still the same necessity for rigid economy to be exercised in the matter of unproductive expenditure. Our greatest need in Canada is for stimulative immigration of argricultural workers, the erection of comfortable dwellings for urban workers, the increase and extension of manufacturing into the lines of many articles which we now unnecessarily import, and a systematic co-operation between the Government and the manufacturers to create a demand for Canadian products."

In explaining the small decrease in deposits shown in the statement, General Manager Mason stated that it was inevitable that the savings of the community should be drawn upon to meet living expenses in agricultural sections where the crop was disappointing and in industrial centres where factories that were the support of a large portion of the population had been closed or working part time only. The motive of thrift, on the other hand, he said, had prompted the opening of many new savings accounts by persons who had been less cautious with their money when the volume in general circulation was larger. This increase in the number of accounts, however, was offset by the smaller balances maintained in the average account as compared with deposits of two year ago.

"While business conditions are unconcluded, "the application of the doubtedly improving in the West," he protective tariff on exports to the United States has so far had an adverse effect. This enactment has been in operation for a year, and has very materially checked the exports of the products of the Prairie Provinces into the United States, the export of cattle suffering the most serious curtailment."

Reference was made to the appointment of J. F. M. Stewart to the Board of Directors several days ago.

"THE WOMAN HE MARRIED" AT THE ORPHEUM MONDAY.

"The Woman He Married," a First National attraction starring Anita Stewart, will be the next attraction at the Orpheum Theatre, where it will begin a two day engagement next Monday. The production has won considerable praise wherever it has been shown as one of the most human pictures of the year.

The picture has an appeal that grips the heart and wins the sympathy of the spectator for the heroine, struggling against heavy odds for the sake of the love that fills her heart. Miss Anita Stewart gives the role of the artists' model an interpretation that characterizes her as one of the great screen actresses, and the supporting cast is fully adequate.

Fred Niblo, the creator of "The Three Musketeers," directed "The Woman He Married," and to his genius is due the clever handling of the story and the skill displayed in making it flawless.

Miss Stewart plays the part of Natalie Lane, a beautiful model, who repulses the advances of Bryne Travers, a famous artist, to whom all pretty women appeal. She marries Roderick Warren, son of a steel magnate. Both love each other passionately, but when Roderick's father tries to get his son to give up his wife, on the plea that she is below his station in life, the girl determines to fight for his love.

The manner in which she overcomes all odds, and in the end thwarts her father-in-law's opposition gives the story a 'punch' that is interesting and thrilling.

"FINE FEATHERS" A PULSATING DRAMA

Jane Reynolds was a discontented young wife. Her husband, Bob, was a clerk in an engineering office, and the two of them had hard work trying to make both ends meet in their modest little bungalow on Statem Island. And then one day James Brand called at the Reynolds bungalow. He came for a purpose—the purpose of getting Bob to certify an inferior grade of cement in the construction of a dam that Brand is building. Bob indignantly rejects the proposal, but Jane, listening and aflame with the thought of the luxury it will bring, goads her young husband into an acceptance of the offer. But though fine feather make fine birds, riches do not bring happiness, as becomes increasingly evident to Bob and Jane two years later. Bob is haunted by the crime he has committed and has taken to drink and speculation. Losing heavily in the Market, he goes to Brand for additional funds to make good his losses, but Brand laughs at him. And then like a bolt from the blue comes the word that the dam has burst and that many lives have been lost. Knowing that an ivestigation will convict him, Bob slips an automatic pistol in his pocket and again starts for Brand's house. The rest of the story is thrillingly set forth in this splendid picturization of Eugene Walter's great stage play that Metro has produced on the screen. To be shown at the Isis next Wednesday and Thursday.

Baseball Competition

In the Baseball Competition, only three entries were made, Waldo withdrawing. The Junior game between the Fernie Juniors and the Cranbrook Y.M.C.A., was the opening game of the baseball, and was a real good exhibition. The Fernie Juniors capturing the prize money by a score of four runs to one. Sikora, a young Fernie lad, pitching for the juniors, held the Y to two singles and would have been credited with a shut out had it not been for an outfielder dropping a long fly, the runner getting to third and coming home on another error.

FIRST SENIOR GAME

The draw for the Senior Baseball resulted in White Spruce getting the bye and Fernie and Michel took the diamond for the first round, for what was to be the finest baseball game witnessed in Fernie for a number of years.

Ault and Krall in Pitcher's Duel ..

Ault started out in whirlwind style, striking out twelve batters in the first four innings, allowing three hits in the same time but keeping them well scattered. Michel opened the scoring in the sixth frame when McAlpine got on when he singled to right, Irvine following slammed the ball for two bases but McAlpine was held at third. Ault tightened up and struck out Estabrook, McInnes popped out to Ashton then McAlpine scored when a pitched ball hit the ground behind the plate, took a bad hop, giving McTeer no chance.

Louie Krall pitching for Michel was in the finest form he has ever touched this season, holding the hard hitting Fernie swatsmen throughout the first seven innings to four scattered hits, and entirely scoreless, errorless fielding on both sides making the game intensely exciting. In the eighth Fernie came within an ace of busting up the game when with two hands down they filled the sacks but Estabrook saved the situation when he grabbed Colton's grounder and threw him out at first for number three.

Excitment was at fever heat when Fernie came to bat in the last half of the ninth with the score still standing one run to nothing in favor of Michel. Krall must have felt the anxiety himself, for he gave the first two men up, Ashton and Balayti, a base by hitting them. Ault following connected for a single, scoring Ashton, tying the score, Balayti going to third, Dunlap then came to bat and whanged the pill for a single, scoring Balayti, giving Fernie a hard fought victory.

Ault Does "Iron Man" Stunt

In the final of the baseball, Fernie easily disposed of the White Spruce nine by a score of nine runs to three. Ault of Fernie doing the "iron man" stunt and coming through in brilliant style. His record for the two games showing a total of thirty strike-outs and allowing only a total of eleven hits and walking one in eighteen innings.

White Spruce started out by grabbing a couple of runs in the first inning when the first two men up got on bases by errors and the next two singled and drove them home. Fernie recovered this lead in their spasm of the first when B. Wilson, Shand and McTeer connected with Peters' offerings for a two bagger each, scoring two runs. Both teams scored a run in the third and the score stood three all until the last half of the seventh when the Spruce blew up and Fernie collected four counters. Two more in the eighth blasted all the Spruce hopes of tying up the score and Fernie captured the two hundred dollar prize money.

THE FOOTBALL GAMES

In the Soccer Football tournaments, reserve and senior, Michel withdrew both their teams and thus left both competitions to an issue between the Fernie and Coal Creek representatives and enabled all the games to be played in the park.

Reserves

In the reserve game Fernie assumed a lead in the first half scoring two goals to the Creek's one. Soon after the restart Coal Creek equalized and just before time, Corlett of Coal Creek scored a beautiful goal from the corner flag, and Coal Creek emerged victorious by a score of three goals to two.

Seniors

The senior game ended in favor of the Fernie team who took the lead with a penalty soon after commencing. This lead, however, was nulified when Coal Creek was awarded a penalty, which was also converted. This ended the scoring for the first half although both goals ran narrow escapes on several occasions. Fernie broke away soon after the resumption and Davidson put Fernie in the lead. Another goal for Fernie ten minutes later decided the issue and the long whistle found Fernie leading by a score of three to one.

ROTARY CLUB ORGANIZED

The formal organization of the Fernie Rotary Club took place on Wednesday evening in Victoria Hall in the presence of a gathering of 120 odd people, who were the guests of the Fernie charter members at a banquet and dance. This method for the opening function was with the view that the Fernie tyros desired that it might be enlivened to the fullest in the true Rotarian spirit.

While E. K. Stewart, general manager of the Trites-Wood Co., Ltd., of this city, acted as chairman, Sam Porter, the very popular and highly ardent Rotarian of Lethbridge, represented the Governor of this Rotary sub-district and acted as official master-of-ceremonies. With him from the fair Southern Alberta metropolis came 45 members of the Lethbridge Club and their wives, sweethearts and fairer sex friends. Cranbrook Club also sent a delegation 25 strong, including Rotarianettes and Rotarians. The visitors most certainly were a happy throng and their liveliness and rousing enthusiasm made the occasion a gay success, which could hardly have been possible to anything like the degree had they not so cordially and ably assisted.

During the repast mirth and music were the order. Solos were rendered by Mesdames Watson and Suddaby of Fernie, and Crawford, of Lethbridge. Between times club choruses and stunts with orchestral selections made sturdier appetites.

The important business of the evening was entered upon by Sam Porter delivering a brief address relating to the progress of the Rotary movement, which had its inception in 1910 in the mind of a lonely Chicago lawyer, to the present time, when the organization was comprised of over 1200 local clubs under 23 flags. The aims and ideals of the organization—Service Before Self, etc., —was clearly enunciated for the benefit of the new members.

The following 25 names of Fernie professional and business men will appear on the charter of the local club:

MINE RESCUE AND FIRST AID

A meeting of the Advisory Board of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association was held in the Mine Rescue station last Saturday, to complete the plans for the Mine Rescue and First Aid contests to be held in Fernie on Labor Day, Sept. 4. Contests will be held for Mine Rescue work, Senior First Aid, Ladies First Aid and Junior First Aid. Valuable prizes will be given for each event.

Last Saturday evening W. R. Wilson, General Manager and President of the C.N.P. Coal Co., gave a dinner to the teams that took part in the contests held at Banff on July 1. Supt. Caufield, of Coal Creek, occupied the chair. He congratulated both the Fernie and Michel Mine Rescue teams for the high standard of efficiency they had obtained in winning the premier honors in Alberta against such odds. He also cangratulated the First Aid team of Michel for the splendid showing they made, and he hoped they would continue practicing and come out on top on Sept. 4.

The captains of the teams responded. In well chosen words they thanked the officials, instructors and mine inspectors for the valuable assistance they had all given and said they were going to try and maintain the position they had obtained.

Mr. Wilson, in congratulating the teams, said it was not only an honor to the Company but also to the whole district in bringing such honors to Fernie.

SCOUTS TO CAMP AT MORRISSEY

The annual camp of the Fernie Boy Scouts is to be held at Morrissey, B. C., commencing Monday July 17, and continuing until Saturday July 29.

This year, at the invitation of the Fernie Boy Scout Association, the Boy Scout Troops of Corbin and Cranbrook are expected to attend camp, making a total strength of some hundred and twenty-five boys under canvas for the two weeks' outing.

Preparations for camp are being rushed to completion and it is expected that the camp will be a great success, giving the boys of the different troops a chance to mingle with boys from the various other points, and allow them an insight on Scoutwork outside of their own troop. Competitions in the various branches of the work will be held and it is expected that District Commissioner Hicks will inspect the camp some time during the two weeks.

District Scoutmaster G. C. Evans has returned to Fernie to take charge of the camp, having arrived on Wednesday from Winnipeg. Scoutmaster Donaldson will take charge of the Fernie Scouts, while Scoutmaster Clarke will accompany the Cranbrook Scouts.

A. L. Walker, of the Trites-Wood staff, is acting as chief transportation officer at the Fernie end, and it is hoped that a goodly number of citizens owning cars will report to Mr. Walker as willing to make one or two trips between Fernie and Camp Morrissey.

Arrangements are under way for a combined field day on Wednesday, July 26, and every effort is being made t otake care of the visitors both from Fernie and out of town. Picnic refreshments will be available at the camp.

It has been suggested to the Boy Scout Association here, that a number of citizens of Fernie have such things as lettuce, rhubarb and greens going to waste in their gardens, while it could be used to good advantage at the Boy Scouts camp. Citizens who have these things going o waste who have these things going to waste are asked to leave any quantity they wish at Wm. Barraclough's store and they will be sent out to the camp.

The Fernie boys are to assemble at the Scout Hall on Monday morning at 8 o'clock, where cars will be provided to transport them to camp. The following citizens have kindly signified their willingness to be at the Scout Hall at 8.30 a.m.: George Cody, Wm. Johnston, Dr. E. L. Garner, R. G. McEwan, Wm. Mills, M. A. Kastner. Arrangements are being made for a Coal Creek car to take the boys from that point direct to the camp.

FARMING NOTES

At their monthly meeting held on Tuesday evening last in the city hall found the farmers in full force and determined to do something. This was soon in evidence when a few minor matters of business were disposed of.

The Fernie and District Agricultural Fair came on for discussion. Ways and Means were discussed to make this, the first fair a boomer; one that will have to be repeated annually and one that the city folks will look forward to as a thing of beauty and a joy forever. The exhibits will include fruits, flowers, vegetables, grains, live stock, poultry farm produce. No exhibit will be barred that is grown or raised in Fernie district. The day is fixed for Labor Day, this is very appropriate. Nuff Sed.

Vice-President D. O. Bricker invites all the members and wives to his place on Monday next, July 17, to arrive there at 3 p.m. It is hoped that as many members as possible will accept this opportunity to inspect an up to date dairy farm, milking machine and other farm products and to sample the ice cream for which this farm is noted. Above all bring the wife for very often the grey mare is the best horse.

The chairman of the Land Settlement Board is expected to pay a visit to the district shortly when he will receive first hand information regarding the land the Institute is endeavoring to have put on the market to look after the increasing farming activities.

CHILD HYGIENE COUNCIL ORGANIZED FOR KOOTENAYS

At the conference on Child Hygiene recently held at Nelson, there were representatives present from all over the Kootenays. A Kootenay Council for Child Hygiene was formed to cooperate with the Provincial and National Councils, the following officers being elected:

President—Mrs. Wm. Rutherford.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Garland.
Sec-Treas.—Mrs. Ashby.
Executive—Mrs. Hawthorne, Mrs. A. Cummings, Mrs. Hennessey, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Herridge and Mrs. Flynn.

Dr. Young and Mrs. McLachlan represented the government, and the main business was the very laudable project of instituting Public Health Nurses in each community. For places situated like Fernie, which has the contract system of medical service, an arrangement was often made whereby a medical man was retained as consultant, while the nurse really did the work.

Dr. Young urged the importance of parents attending the medical inspection of their children at school.

In answer to a question, Dr. Young said that the law in British Columbia requires that all cattle should be tested for tuberculosis every six months or a year

The following resolution was moved by the Fernie representative, seconded by Mrs. Herridge of Nakusp and Mrs. Hennessey, of Cranbrook.

And whereas the best authorities now say that it is almost always contracted during childhood, children being very susceptible when exposed to adults with lung trouble,

And whereas there are many adults with this trouble in East Kootenay who cannot get into the sanitariums for lack of accommdation,

Therefore be it resolved, as a safeguard to our children, that the government be strongly urged to establish a sanitarium in the eastern corner of the province (probably using some of the large vacant buildings already available).

Dr. Young said, in speaking to the motion, that he himself was not in favor of establishing a sanitarium in East Kootenay, for the reason that when people got lung trouble to a degree that it attracted notice, they were doomed anyway, and very little could be done for them, therefore the money was better spent some other way.

Mrs. McLachlan said that when on various occasions a petition for a sanitarium in East Kootenay had been presented to the government the Minister of Health had demanded to know certain things, e.g., Had the Fernie people already done everything in their power to relieve these patients by supplying them with milk and eggs; did the people really want a sanitarium there, etc ? The speaker was assured that "they had, and they did."

The resolution was laid over to come up before the next meeting of the Child Hygiene Executive at Nelson during the last week in August.

American Federation of Labor's Indictment of Bolshevism

CINCINNATI, Ohio., June 27.—American Labor's strongest indictment of the Soviet autocracy in Russia was adopted by the American Federation of Labor convention here when the report of the Committee on International Relations, headed by George Perkins, Cigarmakers' President, was acted upon.

The action of the convention came in adopting the committee report concurring in resolution 84 and non-concurring in resolutions 25 and 28, the two later being in favor of trade relations with the soviets.

The committee reported that it had made a detailed examination of a large mass of evidence, adequate presentation of which would require a book as large as the entire convention proceedings, having in mind the necessity for absolute accuracy.

Resolution No. 84 was in itself a stinging indictment of the autocracy in Russia, but the bill of particulars contained therein is supplemented by the details contained in the report, which concludes with a reaffirmation of the Montreal and Denver conventions. Proceeding the report adopted say:

"It is possible only to present a most meagre summary of our findings and to assure the convention that we find the statements contained in Resolution 84 sustained in every particular.

"Concerning many of the statements contained in the resolution, there is no dispute. As a matter of fact those points which are in reality most significant and most important so far as American Labor is concerned are not disputed. The existence of a dictatorship over the Russian people is beyond dispute. On the contrary the existence of that dictatorship has been proclaimed to the world as the fulfilment of all of the hopes of those to whom Communism is a gospel. In proclaiming 'the dictatorship of the Proletariat' the Soviet authorities are not always frank in depicting the methods by which that dictatorship is continued in power but it is possible to find in official and authenticated records descriptions of the methods employed and your committee is of the opinion that those methods compare well with the methods of all the great dictatorships and autocracies. No refinement of cruelty has been overlooked.

"The statements that there is in Russia no freedom of the press, no freedom of speech and no freedom of assemblage are undisputed; they are everywhere known to be the facts. Neither do we find dispute as to the abolition of the secret ballot. The economic breakdown of Russia is a matter of world concern. We are aware of the fact that spokesmen for the Soviet Government seek to excuse or explain the economic breakdown and the appaling condition of starvation on the ground of failure of rainfall. It is not necessary to minimize the effects of either of these factors. Nor does the presence of either statement eliminate the disorganization and destruction wrought by the Soviet Government as the direct result of its effort to put into practice the philosophy of Communism.

"So liberal minded a person as Dr. Vernon Kellogg, one of Mr. Hoover's most important associates in Russian Relief Work, speaking after intimate first hand and personal knowledge thus emphatically refutes the Soviet claim in this respect:

> The waste and devastation of war, and the requisitioning by the Soviet Government of the farmer's surplus production, thus destroying all incentive to surplus production, have combined to produce a food shortage all over Rusia in the last two or three years, whatever the rainfall.

> The cause of the famine are such that they will be recurrent every year until there is much further change in the economic system of Russia. The industrial collapse has brought about these conditions. The wide-spread prevalence of disease and famine represents the fruits of this collapse. The drought in the Volga region would not be of such fatal character but for the general decadence of agriculture and the reduction of surplus stocks in other regions, the decay of transportation rendering most difficult the movement of such local surpluses as do still exist.

"It is set forth in the resolution that a propaganda of deception has been conducted under the direction of Soviet authorities and that in addition to other aims, it has been the purpose of this propaganda to undermine and destroy the American Federation of Labor. Numerous authoritative statements might be cited in this connection, but we deem it unnecessary to go at length into a point which has made so thoroughly clear to the world by the Soviets themselves. We call attention, however, to one specific declaration of the Third Internationale, the political propaganda agency of Soviet power, as follows:

> Special attention must be paid to the American Federation of Labor. It must be broken, agitating with the energetic aid of the I.W.W. for the creation of revolutionary trade unions.
>
> "Another official pronouncement of the Third Internationale containing instructions to sympathizers in the United States, contains explicit instructions for the undermining and destruction of the American Federation of Labor in the following language:
>
> First, organize small Communist groups for the purpose of conducting revolutionary propaganda and establishing Communist influence in the component unions of the American Federation of Labor, and
>
> Second, organize in the unions, special bodies, such as shop committees, workmen's councils, etc., for the purpose of opposing the bureaucracy of the unionist leadership and of attempting to bring about the rejection of the old forms of union organization in favor of revolutionary activity and a system of industrial rather than trade unions as well as of organizing strikes wherever possible, irrespective of the decisions of the present-day leaders of the unions.
>
> This work in the old unions must always be connected with the realization that one of the principal aims of the movement in America must be the creation of a new labor organization, independent of the American Federation of Labor. The fact that most workmen in America are not organized; that the unions which are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have a membership of more than a million; that there exists a tendency toward the creation of 'one big union'; that unions seperate themselves from the American Federation of Labor all the time—all this makes it possible and necessary that all these forces be united into a new labor organization, based upon the principles of the industrial union and of class struggle. The Communist party and the I.W.W. should work together for the accomplishment of this great aim.
>
> In order that this should be done, it is necessary that the revolutionary masses in the I.W.W. should take all power away from those union officials.
> Striving to create this new labor organization, the Communist party must at the same time remain in close and continuous contact with the workmen who still remain members of the old unions, and even after the creation of the new labor organization, the Communists must continue their revolutionary work in the ranks of the American Federation of labor, in order to unite and mobolize all class-conscious workmen in the struggle against capitalism. By means of the Communist groups organized in all the unions, as well as special organizations and the new great labor organization the unification of the revolutionary industrial forces of the proletariat will be completed.

"The question of famine relief is touched upon in Resolution 84 and your committee wishes it might have an opportunity to go thoroughly into that subject in its report. Suffice it to say that the Soviet authorities and the friends of Sovietism in America have neglected no opportunity to create propaganda for the Soviet under the guise of securing famine relief. In an article in behalf of this alleged relief quite generally published in the United States, one of its spokesmen brazenly described the desire of the Soviets as follows:

> We ask labor to consign what it sends to the port officer of the Soviet Government, in order that the people of Russia can see that the workers of the world recognize the Russian Workers' Republic; trust it, and hope it will make good.
>
> "It is further requested that such relief supplies be shipped to Russia 'as the Russians prefer to have it done and to send with it the mute message the Russians are hungry to hear—that American labor understands * * * * for it is the sign that the American workers realize that the Russian workers are in a long, long strike for the common good.' A more complete misrepresentation of the actual facts and of the attitude of American labor would be difficult to imagine.
>
> "We cannot refrain here from calling attention to the great relief work conducted by the American Relief Administration, and we are happy to say effectively and conscientiously supported and assisted by the officers of the American Federation of Labor.
>
> "It is advisable to say a word in connection with portions of the resolution dealing with tyranny and brutality under the Soviets. There can never be compiled any adequate statement concerning the number who have died of starvation as the result of Soviet incompetence and blundering, but it is possible to present a partial tabulation of those who have been murdered by the Soviets in pursuit of its policy of deliberate violence and extermination. Because it is in the most convenient form we quote a compilation made by Archbishop Alexander, head of the Greek Orthodox Church in North America, who drew his figures from Soviet sources. Archbishop Alexander found that in the period from November 7, 1917 to July 1, 1921, the following executions were instigated by the Soviets:

Clergymen	1,215
Bishops	28
Professors and School Teachers	6,775
Physicians and assistants	8,800
Army and Navy Officers	54,650
Soldiers	260,000
Policemen, Higher Ranks	10,500
Policemen, Lower Ranks	48,500
Land owners	12,950
Belonging to Intellectual Class	355,250
Manuel Workers	192,350
Peasants	815,100
Total	1,766,118

> "As to propaganda conducted in the United States in behalf of Communism, we find it unnecessary to add anything to the statement contained in the resolution to the effect that it is 'too obvious to need fresh description.' We cannot overlook the fact that in Russia and in the rest of the world, the Soviet powers have made special efforts to exterminate the bona fide trade union movement. In Russia there is no longer a free trade union movement. The trade unions have ceased to exist except in name and as agencies for the carrying out of Soviet orders. In fact, under the most recent decrees of the Soviets in their alleged turn-back toward capitalism, the workers have not only been deprived of the right to speak through their trade unions but have, in fact, been made absolutely powerless against the arbitrary and autocratic orders of Soviet factory managers, who, in many cases, are the same individuals who held those positions prior to the downfall of the Czar's regime. Instead of gaining freedom, the workers have lost even that meagre degree of independence and strength which they possessed under the old autocracy.
>
> "The notorious Cheka which is the old Czarist secret ploice organization made more efficient than ever, possessed of all of the horrible acts of the Inquisition, is and has been the Soviets' main instrument in torturing and exiling those trade unionists who have had the courage to stand for a free trade union movement in the face of the dictates of the autocracy. The Cheka, agent of death and destruction, typical instrument of absolutism has been described by Zinoveff, one of Lenine's principal aids, as 'the ornament and glory of our party.'
> "We feel that it would be trespassing upon the time of the convention were we to extend our report so as to include further details. The evidence, however, is most unlimited. It is not necessary to take the word of those who are opposed to the Soviet government or to the philosophy upon which it is built. It is necessary only to observe the operations of the Soviet autocracy and to study its official pronouncements and the utterance and descriptions of those who are its authorized spokesmen and propagandists.
>
> "Should it be contended that the recent statements to the effect that a return to capitalism is under way in Russia, we can only add that whatever policy may be found in operation in Russia at any moment is a policy defined by an autocracy and, therefore, removable at any moment, by the same authorities. We find it nothing less than amazing that any American trade unionist should permit himself to be misguided in relation to the subject under discussion. The evidence is easy of access and is most voluminous. We find but one explanation for the misleading of any person in this respect.
>
> "The plea for recognition of the Soviet autocracy is- customarily a plea in terms of emotionalism and sentimentalism. Humane sympathies perhaps more fully developed in the trade union movement than elsewhere, are played upon skilfully by those whose business it is to seek support of the autocratic powers that are ruining the Russian nation. The answer to those pleas must be couched in terms of facts and it is a matter of common knowledge that among those whose convictions are determined by considerations of emotion, the facts have little meaning.
>
> "In view of what we have here set forth and in view of everything we have been able to discover, we can recommend only that the position of the American Federation of Labor remain as it was so clearly defined at Montreal and affirmed in Denver, and to that end we recommend concurrence in Resolution No. 84.—The Labor Leader, Toronto.

A FEW KIND WORDS FOR LENINE

The cables tell us that Lenine, or to give him his correct name Ouilianoff by adoption, and Zederbaum by birth, is dying. Have we reason to weep? Has Russia reason to mourn? In his passing (if pass he does) goes a bloody tyrant. For cold brutality and ferocious hate the world never saw his like. In comparison, Ivan the Terrible, was a saint and Nero a hero. Lenine's actions were not guided by any tradition of race nor patriotic sanction. He assumed power not to save Russia but to destroy it, as he would destroy the civilized world had he the power to do so. His proletariat, if from that word we get anything that sounds like democracy, was a farce, a sham, for he drew up behind him an autocracy which shamed the combined work of all the Czars from Nicholas back to the days of Peter the Great.

Nationally, Lenine was a thing of shreds and patches. He was not a Russian, he was nothing. His instincts were those of a brute—a wild man, who takes all a country has and gives nothing in return. Nothing, did I say? I am wrong. He gave misery, death and untold suffering to millions. He has ripped asunder a fair country, and it will take generations to repair the damage when he and all his horde are no more. Who can condone the colossal crimes for which this man was mainly responsible? Let him pass.—Saturday Night.

HOW CAN WE BETTER IT?

A reader of this journal, whose letter appears in another column, complains that we take up space referring to the fate of a private secretary who by the death of a rich employer loses his job and whose only compensation after many years of work was a legacy of $5,000. "How about the great mass of toilers," says our correspondent, "mechanics, miners, factory employees, etc., whose work is much more necessary than that of a private secretary, who after a lifetime of labor at wages which merely suffice to keep themselves and families find themselves jobless and penniless?"

Our correspondent then complains of an unjust industrial system. Well, how are we to better it? There has been a great deal of experimenting in latter years, but without much success, so far as can be observed. Unquestionably the man or woman who works hard through the years is entitled at the end of that laboring period to something more than a dry crust and a hard board. During the latter years of the war and for a year or two thereafter, this continent, from an industrial standpoint, went through a period of unprecedented prosperity. Workmen demanded more and more money, and got it. Wages for both the skilled and the unskilled advanced to a point never before experienced. And with this wave of unhealthy and unnatural business activity fortunes were accumulated by employers. And then what happened? The inevitable reaction set in. In many cases employers lost in a year more than they had accumulated in four years, and employees found themselves jobless and without funds.

The optimism of both employee and employer sadly overshot the mark. The employer overbuilt and overstocked, the employee spent his easy money with easy hand, and when the reaction set in, at the beginning of what was known as the buyers' strike, one was, to all intents and purposes, as badly off as the other. Following this phase came the period when the energy of the country was consumed in strife and dispute over prices, profits, wages and hours, and the end is not yet.

However, such experiences are by no means new. History is but repeating itself. After the downfall of Napoleon in 1815, and world peace succeeded world war, the British Isles would, thought most people, come into a period of great prosperity. But they were wrong. Trade slackened, industries that had fed upon war, just as did our's, closed down, and hunger was abroad in the land. It was not until 1821 that there was a change for the better. On this Continent came an almost exact parallel at the close of the Civil War, and it was some years before the United States, and to an extent Canada, recovered themselves.

Is there any man-made remedy for such occurrences? Over in Britain the Government tried doles to the unemployed. From November, 1920, to the spring of this year the British Government has paid out in doles no less than four hundred million dollars, and provision has been made for further payments to July, 1923, of an additional two hundred and fifty million dollars. One would not go so far as to say that this has pauperized British labor as a whole, but that it has done much to keep workmen away from their jobs there is no doubt.

How are we to differentiate the man who will not work if he can possibly avoid it, and the man who would work if he could, and who, honest and hard working, comes to the end of his usefulness without a home or a dollar? How is one to receive aid from the State which he unquestionably has the right to receive and at the same time deny the parasite who deserves nothing? The cables told us recently that the citizens of Poplar took Government doles and played while industries located in Poplar were unable to get hands. Nay, these idlers, had even the temerity to demand of the authorities rubber soled shoes for use on the free bowling greens, intimating that the money for the same might come from the fund specially earmarked "for babies' boots and shoes." For once the authorities exhibited some spinal column and refused the demand.

Unquestionably our industrial system has many flaws in it. They are obvious on all sides. We have too many rich and too many poor. Too many men willing to laze away their time and too many who are prepared to wing the last dollar out of the individual or the state, as the case may be. But to date it seems to be the only system that has not proved entirely wanting in essentials. Speaking recently in London, W. A. Appleton, secretary of the General Federation of Trade Unions said: "I am often asked whether I am satisfied with the capitalistic system and its results. The system may be defective, but it is the best that the best minds have been able to elaborate since creation started man in the evolutionary race."—Saturday Night.

FRESH, RACY, CLEAN FUN IN "RIGHT THAT FAILED"

A joyous leap away from the conventional run of motion pictures is found in "The Right That Failed," the new Metro picture, starring Bert Lytell, which will be shown at the Isis theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

The author, J. P. Marquard, whose story first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, has got away from the sterotyped plot and developed a set of characters new to the screen with a humorous and fresh observation that holds the audience in its grip. It is good, clean, wholesome fun, with plenty of action and breathelsss suspense.

The story was transferred to the screen by Lenore Coffee, who deserves credit for the sparkling continuity. Bayard Veiller, author of "Within The Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair," who has turned to producing pictures for Mero, has done the best work of his career in making the story live as a merry slice of life, true to every detail.

SPLENDID RIVER SCENES IN "WHITE OAK"

Scenes on a river typifying the first stages of the journey westward the pioneers had to make in the days of gold, have been exceptionally well done in "White Oak," William S. Hart's latest Paramount picture, which comes to the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

The quaint old steamer, resurrected from goodness knows where, was absolutely true to the period and the costumes were equally faithful to the times and types.

Exciting scenes include a drive into the river by several of the leading people including Mr. Hart who swam in icy water and rescued his sister from death. The story was written by Mr. Hart and directed by Lambert Hillyer, with Bennet Musson as scenarist. The photography is the work of Joe August, A.S.C. and the production is a thrilling story of the days when the California pioneers crossed the deserts and mountains, braving untold dangers en route.

As Oak Miller, a gambler with a heart of gold, Mr. Hart is at his best and Vola Vale is a very demure and sweet leading woman.

Railway News

Nakusp, B.C.—As an indication of the increased industrial activity of the lumber mills of Nakusp, the Nakusp Lumber Company find their yarding room so limited that they have cleared about four acres of land near the first mile post along the C. P. R., where a spur will be built and the lumber hauled up in cars and allowed to dry before being shipped to outside points.

Invermere, B.C. — Amongst the many splendid summer publications of the C. P. R. are two of especial interest to this part. The first one deals with "Bungalow Camps," and makes very generous mention of the beautiful Lake Windermere Camp adjoining this place. The other one is a publication given over exclusively to describing the local "Camp." This is a seventeen-page folder, most beautifully illustrated with reproductions of photographs of local scenes. The letter press is by Mr. Frederic Niven.

The gist of the matter is descriptive of the various trails and automobile roads throughout the Windermere district.

Chatham, Ontario. — Wholesale summoning of boys and men who frequently use the C. P. R. tracks as a place for walks, was indicated in County Police court recently, with the swearing out of a number of informations by a C. P. R. detective who conducted an investigation.

It is alleged that the defendants trespassed on the C. P. R. tracks, a short distance from the City in Harwich township.

Informations have also been laid against seven boys under the age of sixteen years.

Montreal.—Edward J. Richel is appointed city passenger agent for the Canadian Pacific at Chicago, succeeding Alfred R. Dean, who has resigned to enter other business.

Mr. Richel joined the service on June 16, 1920, as clerk in the passenger department, Canadian Pacific Steamships, Chicago. Promotions following were: October 1, 1920, chief clerk; January 21, 1921, passenger agent; June 1, 1921, travelling passenger agent; June 1, 1922, city passenger agent.

William I. Balkwill is appointed travelling passenger agent, succeeding Edward J. Richel. Mr. Balkwill joined the Canadian Pacific as clerk in the steamships passenger department Chicago on March 13, 1922.

St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, N.B. — The Canadian Manufacturers' Convention for 1922 is now a thing of the past, and to the almost 200 delegates and others who have been here for a week, attending the sessions, it will be a pleasant memory. So much of a success has been this year's convention that it can be said, without violating any confidences, that the most influential members of the association are anxious to hold future conventions under similar conditions.

The Casino of the Algonquin Hotel provided an excellent meeting place, and the records show more discussion than at any four conventions in the past, while there has been more fraternizing by the delegates, who got to know one another to a greater degree than ever before. During the Convention days delegates played golf on the beautiful links overlooking the sea and indulged in swimming in Katy's Cove.

Calgary, Alta. — After covering six hundred miles in the southern portion of Alberta, at the end of June, J. M. Cameron, general superintendent of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, declares that crop conditions there, generally speaking, are very satisfactory.

Mr. Cameron stated that farmers had been taught an object lesson by grasshoppers. Where these insects had been active had been on stubble-in crops. From the amount of summer fallowing that was now going on, farmers had realized that stubbling-in was a poor gamble and left a breeding place for the hoppers. The hoppers, he said, were now practically under control in the south. Cutworms had done little or no damage on account of the frequent showers.

"I have been much pleased with my visit," said Mr. Cameron. "There is now quite an optimistic feeling among farmers and business men in the south country."

Elkhorn, Man.—Forty years ago Mr. Jas. Rodgers commenced working for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, as a section man, and in about five years, through his ability to give the best he could and also because of his sterling integrity, was promoted to foremanship, holding this position until 20 years ago, when he desired a change of employment, and was transferred to the pumping station staff. For a while he worked at Fleming and Virden in his new capacity and eventually assumed charge of the Elkhorn pumping station, on the retirement of Mr. R. Travis, another old time railroad man who is still with us, as hale and hearty as ever.

A record such as Mr. Rodgers holds is decidedly unique. He is the second senior pumpman in the division, and his regularity and strict attention to his calling have won for him the deep respect of the Company, which places high value on the services of men of such capability. He has stood the rigors of an exacting position in a manner that must reflect great credit.

SPLENDID RIVER SCENES IN "WHITE OAK"

Scenes on a river typifying the first stages of the journey westward the pioneers had to make in the days of gold, have been exceptionally well done in "White Oak," William S. Hart's latest Paramount picture, which comes to the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday of this week.

The quaint old steamer, resurrected from goodness knows where, was absolutely true to the period and the costumes were equally faithful to the times and types.

Exciting scenes include a drive into the river by several of the leading people including Mr. Hart who swam in icy water and rescued his sister from death. The story was written by Mr. Hart and directed by Lambert Hillyer, with Bennet Musson as scenarist. The photography is the work of Joe August, A.S.C. and the production is a thrilling story of the days when the California pioneers crossed the deserts and mountains, braving untold dangers en route.

As Oak Miller, a gambler with a heart of gold, Mr. Hart is at his best and Vola Vale is a very demure and sweet leading woman.

FRESH, RACY, CLEAN FUN IN "RIGHT THAT FAILED"

The author, J. P. Marquard, whose story first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, has got away from the sterotyped plot and developed a set of characters new to the screen with a humorous and fresh observation that holds the audience in its grip. It is good, clean, wholesome fun, with plenty of action and breathelsss suspense.

The story was transferred to the screen by Lenore Coffee, who deserves credit for the sparkling continuity. Bayard Veiller, author of "Within The Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair," who has turned to producing pictures for Mero, has done the best work of his career in making the story live as a merry slice of life, true to every detail.

Mr. Lytell is seen as Johnny Duffey, a "highbrow" prize fighter, who, ashamed of his profession, pays court to a society girl, Constance Talbot, at an exclusive summer resort. The star was never more charming nor deft in characterization than he is as Johnny. It is a singularly subtle portrait of a roughneck who is a gentleman under the skin and a gentleman who has the tough fibre of the roughneck, Virginia Valli, one of the most beautiful and distinguished actresses of the screen, gives an exquisite performance as Constance. The brave old days of Charles Hoyt's farces are recalled by the appearance of Otis Harlan as Johnny's father, the rotund little veteran of the stage rollicking through the role in gurgling gaiety. De Witt Jennings lends authority to the role of Constance's lawyer-father, and Max Davidson, as the prize ring champion, and Philo McCullough, as a young society suitor of Constance, give excelent performances.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Klingensmith, of Elko, were in town yesterday.

Miss Mary Butcher, of Los Angeles, Cal., is visiting her mother for a few weeks.

Mrs. A. B. Trites returned on Monday from a month's visit with friends in Eastern Canada and the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Trotman, of Medicine Hat, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilkes. Mrs. Wilkes gave a tea on Thursday in honor of her guests.

Mrs. J. R. Wallace left on Friday for Toronto, where she will spend a couple of months with her mother, who is in poor health. She was accompanied by her son Douglas.

The postponed meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held on Tuesday evening next, July 18, at the home of Mrs. Harry Snow, at 8 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club in the council chamber of the city hall on Monday evening, July 17, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

The reference ordered by Hon. Mr. Justice Gregory at the conclusion of the trial of Backus et al vs. Pollock, was heard before District Registrar Stenson last week, when expert testimony was taken concerning the values of household and personal effects received by the respective parties to the action.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held tonight. It is understood there will be a delegation in attendance with reference to the new power and light schedule and particularly the charge for service which appears on all accounts in addition to the charge for kilowatt consumption.

The South Fork pulp proposition, according to recent rumors from those who should be well informed, seems to be an assured undertaking. A party of American capitalists who are interested in the proposition, recently paid a visit of inspection to the district, following which the report was circulated that development of the project would go ahead.

It is time that the business men of the city were getting together and providing a fund to have the streets sprinkled. It seems impossible to get the authorities to take any action in the matter. Thousands of dollars' worth of goods are being destroyed by the dust every week, and in spite of the heavy taxes which the citizens pay, the mayor and council pay not the slightest attention to the conditions prevailing.

The Loop tunnel became blocked yesterday through a slip and cave and traffic on the Crow eastward last night was delayed for several hours. The mails came through this morning, so the trouble undoubtedly has been overcome. Some months ago a semi-official announcement was made by the railway officials that it was the intention of the company to do away with this tunnel, which at all seasons of the year threatens to shift and blockade the line, by removing the top covering and making it into an open cut. The trouble yesterday may hasten this undertaking, which undoubtedly will be far more satisfactory than the continued difficulties experienced with the present tunnel.

Three individuals spent a week or ten days in the city recently, and not appearing to have any "visible means of support, they eventually wound up at the police station on vagrancy charges. When pinched, however, they demonstrated their true calibre and announced that they had been detailed to this city under orders from the Liquor Control Board to investigate conditions here with respect to the illegal sale of liquor, and incidentally report on all other degrees of vice, imagined or real, that might be though of while here. The vagrancy charges were not prosecuted and last Saturday morning the trio boarded the G.N.R. train for Vancouver. They reported to the local police that they had material sufficient to lay charges under the Liquor Act against six or seven hotel propriteors but that this would not be done for a few weeks.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies Guild of Christ Church will be held at the home of Mrs. G. G. Moffatt on Wednesday, July 19, from three to six-thirty.

John Riley, aged 68, and resident of this city for a considerable period, died in Calgary on Saturday last. The funeral was held from the Holy Family Church on Friday, the 14th inst. Deceased is survived by a widow and three sons, all of whom reside here.

G. C. Evans, formerly special agent of the R.C.M.P. located here, but now having headquarters in Winnipeg as western representative of the Pratt Stock Food Co., is spending a few days here and incidentally attending the Boy Scouts annual camp, which opens next week. Mr. Evans during his residence here took an active part in the Boy Scout movement and was scoutmaster of the local troop.

The Lethbridge Herald does not believe that the miners of this district would act so foolishly as to call out the engineers and pumpmen who are protecting the mines during the strike. Such action would only mean that the mines would deteriorate, and when the strike is settled the miners would be left without work for some weeks until the debris was cleared up. That happened at Fernie in 1919.

The new city warehouse and equipment shelter under construction on civic property adjoining the fire hall is rapidly nearing completion. This will be a very valuable asset to the city in the way of protecting the machinery and equipment that has heretofore had to be stored outside and in unsatisfactory quarters. It is so arranged that entrances are available from Pellatt Ave. or into a private alley way 15 feet in width left on city property along the westerly side of the building.

A team of fourteen golfers from Fernie, consisting of A. Watson, S. Herchmer, W. Strachan, G. F. Johnson, A. B. Trites, J. Corbett, J. S. Irvine, H. Brown, M. A. Kastner, N. E. Suddaby, E. K. Stewart, Judge Thompson, H. L. Hayne and J. R. Wallace, visited Blairmore on Sunday last and defeated a team from that town. Four Fernie men lost their games, one tied and the remainder won. After the match the visitors were entertained at a dinner at the Green Hill hotel. The day was not very pleasant owing to heavy showers of rain.

RUSSIA BEGS FOR CAPITAL

We are here to talk business. We want credits, and are ready to make concessions and sacrifices," affirmed the soviet commisiars of finance at the conference at The Hague on Thursday.

There is a frank admission of the failure of Russian Communism. The whole communistic, socialistic theory is built around the false postulate that labor and natural resources are a complete formula for wealth production and prosperity; that capital not only is dispensable, but a thing of evil.

If the communistic doctrine could be applied anywhere upon this globe, surely it should be carried out in Russia. Russia has more man power than any other country under the white race; It has greater wealth and natural resources than any other country in Europe, and probably in America.

But soviet Russia lacks capital and initiative. Under the orgy of soviet revolution it has eaten up its reserves of capital and is powerless to go forward with the rehabiliation of its wrecked industries.

That accounts for the interesting spectacle of the soviet delegates appearing at The Hague conference and begging for a capitalisitc credit of $1,500,000,000 in gold.

The Russian Communists have built a crude new kind of automobile, fearfully and wonderfully made, on the theory, now exploded, that it could be made to run without gasoline. They know now, to their grief and embarrassment, that their idea was defective, and that accounts for the willingness to accept the humiliation of a confession of failure and to appear in a half beseeching, half threatening way before the conference at The Hague.

CEASE LOGGING OPERATIONS TO FIyHT FOREST FIRES

A special proclamation by Lieut. Governor W. C. Nicol issued Saturday, calls for the cessation of all logging operations in the Vancouver Island and mainland coast districts, the last mentioned district embracing the territory from the international boundary as far north as Ocean Falls, B.C., of the fire menace. By the proclamation several thousand men employed in three score camps will be released from their regular work and turned to conquering the advancing flames. Many logging camps have already abandoned work.

BELLEVUE CALLS IT "STEAL" AT MICHEL; BUT STOP COAL CREEK

BELLEVUE, July 10. — Belleuve football team journeyed to Michel on Wednesday last to play their return game of football, and came home defeated to the tune of 2-0.

Well, the Bellevue boys received anything but a square deal. At one point the referee gave a penalty to Bellevue and he was so one-sided that he withdrew it. The Belleuve boys didn't ask Archie for any favors and didn't want any, but they do hate to have anything stolen from them.

We are sure that the Michel team didn't get a raw deal when they played at Belleuve.

Now, we would not guarantee that if that referee came to this vicinity he would get a good reception. We fear not, for such referees as that one is the cause of all the trouble at football games. They give a decision and because the people around the field fail to agree with him he alters his decision to please them. If he knew his business, when he made a decision he would stay with it. The Michel spectators were anything but fair. They think that ragging is a good thing. It may go at Michel, but doesn't in the majority of places. Civility costs little and suits everybody. If people attending sports would remember this, everybody would have a better time.

Take Cup Game

Bellevue and Coal Creek met here on Saturday in their cup game and one of the nices games of the season was witnessed. The game was decided with one goal and that was in the first half when Bellevue scored the only goal of the game.

The play was fast throughout and the referee, Thomas Smith, of Blairmore, handled the game to general satisfaction. The second half saw both teams playing better ball. Coal Creek seemed to be working hard to make a draw of the game, but Bellevue were determined they wouldn't. The field was wet and heavy on account of the wet weather, for it rained up to within one hour of the time, in fact, it was raining when the Coal Creek boys arrived in town. The crowd was small and the collection was small, but everybody was satisfied. Belleuve will know in a few days who they meet in the cup draw.

NEW VARIETIES OF GRAINS

The Cereal Division of the Dominion Experimental system does not distribute new varities of grain to the public until their superiority to the older sorts has been proved, and the conditions of soil and climate have been determined under which they best thrive. While a few of the new sorts described in the report of the Dominion Cerealist for 1921 will be available for distribution in the near future, the majority require further study before their exact status can be defined. In addition to the experiments and tests being conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, they are being carried on at upwards of twenty other farms and stations covering every province, four being in British Columbia, five in Alberta, three in Saskatchewan, one as well as the Central in Ontario, two in Quebec, two in Nova Scotia, and one each in Manitoba, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and the Yukon Territory.

Last year there were tried out, according to this report just issued, 112 varieties of spring wheat, of which Garnet Ottawa 652 made the best record, maturing in 86 days from July 16, the date of sowing, and yielding 2,880 pounds of grain per acre; seven varieties of emmer and spelt, of which the best was Early Emmer Ottawa, maturing in 90 days from July 20, and yielding 2,280 pounds per acre; 27 varieties of oats, of which Gold Rain proved the best, yielding 2,460 pounds per acre in 85 days; 103 varities of barley, of which Stella Ottawa 58 proved the best, the yield being 2,940 pounds in 77 days; five varieties of spring rye, of which Common yielded 2,160 pounds per acre in 85 days; 29 varieties of field peas, all sown May 6, of which Early Blue Ottawa 21, was the earliest ripener and best yielder, the record reading 2,400 pounds per acre in 75 days; 14 varieties of field beans, all sown May 26, the best yielder being White Pea with 3,060 pounds per acre in 99 days, taking 25 more days to ripen than Carelton Ottawa 718; 137 varieties of flax, of which the best producer was Blanc Ottawa 62 with 990 pounds per acre in 80 days, and 18 varieties of barley for hay, of which the best proved to be Forage Ottawa 675 with 14,607 pounds per acre in 61 days from July 12, the date of sowing.

Forty-four plots of flax were sown for fibre production, the result being handed for examination to the fibre division. An account is given in the report of experiments in the control of smut, which are being continued, and details of the free distribution of 10,061 samples of seed grains.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE COAL STRIKE

President Harding's plan for settling the coal strike by arbitration is obviously so fair and generous to the coal miners that refusal to go into arbitration would set public opinion against them. The president proposes that the men resume work at the wage scale in existence when the strike was called on April 1, and continue on that scale until August 10, when they would accept whatever award was made by the proposed arbitration board.

Three of the 11 members would be appointed by the United Mine Workers of America, three by the coal mine owners, and five would be named by the president. Thus, nearly half of the board would sit in judgment as representatives of the public and not as partisans of one party or the other in the strike.

This representation is not out of proportion to the public's interest. The coal deposits of the United States are inherently the property of the people. They simply have been passed on to capital and labor on the theory and principle that coal mining can be carried on more economically and satisfactorily in that way than by government ownership and operation.

In return for the privileges thus granted them by the public it is their duty to carry on the industry continously and economically. If differences arise between them, as in this instance, they should be adjusted by arbitration and not by strike or lockout.

Refusal by either side to accept the president's plan would be regarded with suspicion by the public. It would indicate a fear to submit the whole case to the disinterested judgment of five men of the high character that the president would nominate.—Spokesman Review.

WHITE SPRUCE HUMBLE AULT

Coming to life in the eighth innings after allowing Fernie to get a lead of eight runs, White Spruce swatsmen got to Ault's offerings for a row af three-baggers, and before the smoke had cleared ten runners had crossed the plate, resulting the downfall of the hitherto undefeated Fernie ball tossers, by a score of 16 to 14.

The game throughout was scratchy and from the spectators' point of view the teams were apparently in a competition of errors, no less than 17 errors being recorded against the fielders. Fernie scored a run in each of the first and second innings but the Spruce drew level in the third by scoring two. In the fifth Spruce blew up and a row of errors, coupled with some timely hitting, gave Fernie six runs. Spruce got a cauple in the fifth and repeated in the seventh. Fernie put on another spurt in their half of the eighth, hitting Bishop's offerings and scored another six runs. The game was apparently on ice when Spruce came to bat in their half of the eighth. The first man up pasted the pill for three bases; an error let the next man safe on first; two batters were retired; and then the fun started. Seven men faced Ault without the third out being accomplished; eight runs had crossed the plate. Ault gave way to B. Wilson, who walked the first man facing him. Barger connected for three bases, scoring two more runs. Wilson ended the agony by striking out Zeith. Fernie failed to tally in the first half of the ninth, being retired in one, two, three order.

CAN EAT MEAT FOR FIRST TIME IN TWO YEARS

Retired Building Material Contractor Says He Feels Like An Entirely New Man After Taking Tanlac.

"I can eat meat or anything else for the first time in two years. Tanlac is simply great," was the firm remark made by A. Murray, 396 Dufferin St., Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Murray is a well-known retired building material dealer.

"There was scarcely a day that my stomach did not give me trouble from gas after eating, which caused my heart to palpitate badly and bloated me up. My back pained me so much that sometimes it stiffened me so I could hardly get out of my chair, and I was so nervous I couldn't sleep well.

"But now I get up mornings after a fine sleep feeling fine, and the pains are all gone. Tanlac has put me in tip-top shape and I don't hesitate to say it is the best medicine I ever heard of."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle.

"It's as simple as A. B. C.

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is the power plant of your bicycle.

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you.

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power.

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults.

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade.

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that it is really just as important to have a good crank hanger on a bicycle as a good engine in a car."

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant.

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

SUGGESTION NOT ACCEPTED

CALGARY, July 11.—Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, telegraphed F. E. Harrison, the representative of the labor department, urging a further conference of operators and miners in District 18. In this telegram he suggests that the parties reconsider the majority findings of the Knowles conciliation board recently rejected by them, and emphasized the possibility of a coal shortage if the strike was prolonged indefinitely.

When seen on Tuesday, R. M. Young, commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, stated that the association had received a copy of the telegram.

"The minister's anxiety to see the mines resume work can be understood," he said, "but the crux of the matter is that while the operators are prepared to reopen on a basis that will secure them business and give their men work, the Knowles award did not accomplish that result, neither the operators nor the men are interested in accepting a finding simply to comply with what the minister regards as the spirit of the Lemeiux Act. There is a more fundamental consideration: Can the operator sell his coal and give his men employment? It was strongly emphasized by the operators in the sittings before the conciliation board that the adjustment of the wage scale must provide a practical solution which would actually, and not theoratically, provide employment. Under the Knowles finding little if any business could be secured, and consequently little if any work offered to the employees.

"The association has already pointed out to the minister," continued Mr. Young, "the reasons for its inability to accept the finding. It directed the minister's attention to the fact that the evidence placed before the board in support of its case was substantiated in the board's finding, and that the only reason advanced by the board for failing to give full effect to these facts was that 'the reduction blow.' That reason may have been an adequate one to the board, but it affords insufficient grounds upon which to meet the competition of mines now working and selling coal at half the cost of production to association mines when they closed on March 31."

"Has the association any proposal to make other than the original one?" Mr. Young was asked.

We have made one," he said, "We offered to make an agreement upon the basis of the Drinnan minority report with a proviso that when a settlement was reached by negotiation between the operators and the men in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio, the U.S. fields from which the greater part of this district's foreign competition comes, the rates of wages would be amended to confirm therewith, and remain in effect for the balance of the life of the agreement."

"It has been claimed by some of the men's representatives that the Drinnan report reduced wages to a prewar basis."

"That is not correct. The Drinnan proposal is an increase of 40 per cent on day wage rate and 25 per cent on contract rates over the basis in effect in March 1915. That basis would enable us to reopen the mines, get some business and prepare the mines for the fall and winter trade. The men's representatives, however, refused to consider it, although as stated it was made only as a temporary proposal to be changed to the rates which in all probability will be arrived at through the agency of their own international officers in the U. S. fields referred to."

"What about the coal shortage Mr. Murdock refers to?"

"That is referred to, I imagine, as a possibility. It certainly does not exist at the present time, and with all respect to the minister's opinion, the possibility of it is more or less remote. In the months of April, May and June, non-association mines in Alberta produced approximately 150,000 tons per month and worked on an average two days per week. They are not working any more steadily now than when the strike began and their combined capacity, bituminous and domestic, to take care of orders when orders are available is over 7500 tons per day. These figures speak for themselves and indicate plainly the business the association and the work its employees are losing temporarily and perhaps permanently, through an aparent misunderstanding on the part of the rank and file of its employees of the real merits of the situation."

"Is the American situation affecting this field?"

"Yes, no doubt, but I believe its effect is receiving a great deal more consideration from the men's representatives as officers of the United Mine Workers of America than from workmen as individuals anxious to return to work."

MEDICAL EX. OF PUPILS

The Medical Officer of Helth (Dr. Corsan) has made an examination of the children of the High and Public Schools and the results are tabulated below.

	High School	Public School
Defective teeth	16	410
Defective tonsils	8	233
Defective eyes	14	41
Defective hearing	2	16
Goitre	24	186
Heart murmurs	12	127
Defective nasal breathing	00	68
Enlarged glands of neck	00	3
Total examined	67	842

The full report is as follows:

Fernie, B.C., June 12, 1922.

Board of School Trustees, Fernie—

Gentlemen—I have the honor to place before you the results of the examination of the pupils of the Fernie Public Schools which has just been completed.

A consideration of the percentage of the defects in the pupils will emphasize the necessity of a more frequent medical survey of the schools than has been the custom in the past.

During the present examination it was noted that defects which were brought to the notice of parents after the examination in 1918, were still present, much to the detriment of the child in some cases.

Teeth—410 children have defective teeth, varying from one to six or more. Every one of these cases requires treatment. This very large percentage of dental defects can only be due to the neglect or indifference on the part of parents or guardians. Practically all these cases when seen early by a dentist can then be treated at a trifling cost, but when neglected it means the loss of the teeth or a large dental bill. Early attention saves the child many hours of pain to say nothing of the effect on the general health.

Tonsils—233 have enlarged tonsils in a greater or less degree. Some of these require operation and the others should be inspected at intervals. An infective condition of the tonsils is intimately connected with rheumatism, hence the necessity of attention to these glands.

Goitre—186 have goitre, varying from those in the incipient stage to the ones which are well developed. All these should be under treatment. Goitre of the type most frequently seen here in the child and adolescent can be controlled by treatment. The boiling of all drinking water is also recommended.

Eyes—41 have defective vision, requiring well fitted glasses. Errors of refraction in children as well as in adults are a frequent cause of headaches.

Hearing—16 have impaired hearing. Deafness is usually the result of adenoids or catarrhal nasal conditions. The infectious fevers such as scarlatina are also a source of origin of verying degrees of deafness.

Defective Nasal Breathing—63 are suffering from this serious defect. Most of these cases are due to adenoids or nasal obstruction and can be relieved by operative procedure. This state if neglected will tend to impair a child's mental growth and they will probably become the laggards in their school work. It is remarkable how quickly a child's mentality will improve after the removal of these obstructions.

Heart—127 cases revealed heart murmurs either functional or organic in character. Functional murmurs will disappear under treatment but those of an organic nature are permanent.

Organic heart disease is most frequently the result of rheumatism and the above remarks regarding infective tonsils are here applicable. Scarlet fever also plays a part as a causative agent. What has been known for generations as "growing pains" in children is now recognized as a form of rheumatism and many children have acquired a damaged heart from this cause.

Enlarged Glands of Neck — Only three cases of this character were noted and they are probably of tubercular origin.

It is satisfactory to note the entire absence of skin eruptions and in only a very small percentage was there a lack of bodily cleanliness.

For your information, the parents of all children presenting defects have been notified in writing of such.

I am, Gentlemen, Yours truly.

Douglas Corsan.

Gentlemen—The results of the medical examination of Fernie High School pupils are as follows:

Number examined—67.
Defective teeth—16.
Defective tonsils—8.
Defective eyes—14.
Defective hearing—2.
Goitre—24.
Heart murmurs—12.

The remarks made regarding these defective conditions in my report on the public schools applies in the same manner to this.

I am, Gentlemen, Yours truly,

Douglas Corsan.

WILL CHANGE ELECTRIC RATE

The council met last Friday with His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen Douglas, Irvine, Robichaud and Aiello in attendance.

Two estimates in connection with electric light and power extension to West Fernie had been received, but as these were for larger amunts than anticipated, the matter was stood over for further investigation.

A communication was read advising the council that the new pipe for waterworks renewals was expected to land at Vancouver on or about July 16. It would therefore appear that it will be at least another month before the pipe reaches here and the work proceeded with.

A large number of accounts were submitted for approval, but as a number of these required further scrutiny they were held over until the next regular meeting.

The Mayor of Calgary extended an invitation to the Fernie council to have representatives at a general conference of municipal delegates to be held in Calgary on Aug. 4 and 5, to consider the question of unemployment relief for the coming winter.

The schedule of electric light and power charges under the new hydro power came up for discussion. The general trend of this discussion would indicate that certain revisions are necessary but it was decided that before anything could be done the whole matter should be gone into exhaustively. The council will hold a special meeting at an early date when this matter only will receive attention.

PRODUCE COAL AT ALL COSTS

Washington, July 18.—In the name of the common welfare and the paramount need of the American peopple for the production and transportation of a fuel supply, President Harding, through telegrams, called upon the governors of 28 coal states tonight to furnish protection and safeguards to men and employers willing to resume work in the industry, notwithstanding the mine workers' strike. To the efforts of the states in this direction, he said, "the government pledges to you every assistance at its command."

The text of the president's telegram follows:

"The proposal of the federal government to the United Mine Workers and the various coal operators, whose mines are under suspension, to submit all questions in dispute to a national coal commission for arbitration, has been declined. The mine workers declined as a body. The majority of the bituminous operators pledged unqualified acceptance. The anthracite operators filed unconditional acceptance. A minority of the bituminous operators accepted the principle of arbitration but made specifications which could not be considered.

"I had proposed that the operators and mine workers in dispute should immediately resume coal production under the wage scales and working conditions which prevailed at the time of the strike on last April 1; that every question in dispute should go to a national commission to be composed of three representatives of the mine workers, three representatives of the operators and five representatives of the American people. It was proposed to make the commission the final authority of all disputes until next March, and meanwhile the commission was to inaugurate a searching inquiry into every phase of the coal industry in order to recommend the way to maintain understanding between workmen and employers, to promote steady employment and insure a continuous and helpful supply.

"The failure to secure the acceptance of this proposal for a voluntary adjustment left me no other course but to invite the mine operators to return to their mines and resume their work.

"I trust you will find it consistent to second this invitation, if you have not already done so, with the invitation to all miners and operators to resume their work. This invitation should be accompanied by such assurance of maintained order and the protection of lawful endeavor as will give assurance to everybody concerned. I want to convey to you in this message the assurance of the prompt and full support of the federal government whenever and wherever you find your own agencies of law and order inadequate to meet the situation.

"Your state government and the federal government are responsible for maintained conditions under which free men, willing to work, may work in safety. We are responsible for the production and the transportation of a fuel supply ample for the necessities of the American people and the public utilities which serve them, particularly the railways engaged in interstate commerce. We must have ample coal to maintain industrial activity; we must have the coal necessary to the health, security and activity of all the people. I recite to you these details bebecause it is important to have it understood how far the federal government has gone in seeking a voluntary adjustment. Thus far there has been no challenge of the right of workers to decline employment or the right of the employers to hire as they elect.

"Our present duty is to guarantee security in the exercise of these rights and security in all lawful operations and to afford a safe opportunity for the production and distribution demanded by the necessities of the American people.

"There has been no government assumption of a part in the dispute between organized workers and organized employers. I did offer the only available agency which I know to effect a settlement and these good offices have not availed.

"It becomes necessary, therefore, in the name of common welfare to invite protection in the fulfillment of that obligation which attaches to an American industry engaged in providing and public necessity and to afford security to all men alike who are ready and willing to work and serve the common need. No cause is so important as that of common welfare and there must be the suppression of every unlawful hindrance to the service of that cause. To the task of lawful protection and the maintenance of order, the federal government pladges to you every assistance at its command."

OLD TIMERS WILL PICNIC

On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 16, the Fernie and District Old Timers' Association will hold a picnic at the Park. The wives and families of the members will also take a prominent part in this reunion.

All men who were resident of the city or district on or before Dec. 31, 1900, are eigible for membership in the Asociation and it is earnestly desired that all such who are not already members will make themselves known and join the ranks.

The sports committee, Messrs. Kastner and Alton, will pull off a good program of sports for the young people and children, but the great feature which this committee hopes to stage is a 220 yard dash, strictly limited to the "originals." Among those expected to enter for this event are Mayor Henderson, Philip Carosella, Harry Dunlap, John Kobus, Dr. Bonnell, Ald. Robichaud, H. J. Johnson and many others.

The refreshment committee will see that their duties are well attended to. In addition to the baskets, which will be supplied by the wives of the members, the committee will provide tea, coffee, ice cream and lemonade.

Every member is expected to cooperate with the various committees and boost for the success of this reunion of the Pioneers of Fernie. Further particulars next week.

FARQUHARSON VS. C.P.R.

The appeal of A. J. Farquharson, of Fernie, from the judgment of Mr. Justice Murphy, dismissing his action for damages for alleged breach of contract against the C.P.R., came on for hearing in the court of appeal at the coast on July 11. A. I. Fisher, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff-appellant; and J. E. McMullen for the defendant-respondent.

Mr. Fisher said that the trial judge had reserved judgment after making an oral finding as to certain facts, amongst them that the company lost the plaintiff's logs and broke its contract with him. These facts, said counsel, went to the basis of the action. Before judgment was given it was sought to add the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the assignee of Farquharson, as plaintiff in the action. The trial judge was willing to do this but only on condition that the plaintiff pay the costs of litigation up to that time, and that a new trial be held. The plaintiff refused to accept the terms and the judge dismissed the action with costs.

The court holding that Mr. Fisher had made out a prima facie case for reversal of the lower court, called upon Mr. McMullen, who argued that the plaintiff's claims against the railway company were assigned in a general assignment of his assets to the bank and that therefore he had no ground of action in his own name.

Judgment was reserved.

MICHEL PYTHIAN SISTERS

The installation of officers of Alexandra Temple Pythian Sisters went off with a flare. Besides Sister Martin, M.E.C., of Lethbridge, more than twenty visitors from Progressive Temple at Coleman, were present, among whom was Sister Fraser,, P.C., and she was asked to put on the work of installation. After the ceremony addresses were given by two brothers from Coleman and a local brother, allof whom advocated social meetings of all the Pass Temples in the near future. After supper had been served, Sister Littler, M.E.C., presented Sister Fraser with a china berry dish in token of Alexandra Temple's appreciation of her kindness. Sister Fraser made a suitable reply. Shortly afterwars the cars for Colemen were filled and their occupants departed carrying with them the best wishes and kindly regards of all the sisters here.

Do not forget the ice cream social in the Catholic Hall tonight. Ice cream and light lunches served from 5 p.m. Dancing from 10.30.

INVITED TO OPEN MINES

Washington, July 17.—Bituminous coal mine operators were "invited" by President Harding at the White House today to return to their mine properties and resume operations after they had replied to the president's tender of arbitration for settling the national coal strike with a collective offer to put their properties and their service at the disposal of the government "in this crisis."

Speaking as chairman of the group of operators after the White House conference, Alfred M. Ogle said the employers would make the attempt to resume operations as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the miners' union, through an adjournment sine die of its controlling policy committee, made certain its refusal to accept the arbitration proposal and many of its officials immediately left Washington. The bituminous operators were likewise not a unit in accepting the government arbitration proposals, but the president said that "a large majority" of them by unqualified acceptance had given him occasion to express his own and the public's gratitude.

There were intimations in official circles that all the implications of the decision to ask that the mines be opened had been fully considered by the government and that there was a possibility that the protection of troops and the American flag would be furnished in districts where men were willing to work, failing sufficient local safeguards. Employers generally held the view that some coal production would result in union fields in Pennsylvania and Ohio, if nowhere else, even though executives of the nonunion mines south of the Ohio river reported today that output was being cut off sharply through lack of transportation due to the railroad strike.

A day and a night of almost continuous sessions did not suffice to make the bituminous employers a unit for acceptance of the detailed arbitration proposals of the government, even though anthracite operators last week had given quick acceptance. On a final vote a general letter accepting the principle of the arbitration and making tender of mines and services was agreed upon and presented to the president.

In their letter to the president explaining their situation the operators said:

"We have given most careful and most thorough consideration to the proposal submitted by you on July 10, supplemented by your statement of July 15 and we are not only in entire accord with your plan to establish a general tribunal to inquire into all the facts in our industry and make recommendations for the solution of our fundamental problem, but we urge that such a plan be put into effect by you.

"We also wish to remind you that we have already proposed the broad principle of arbitration in our previous conferences with the officials of the administration and with the representatives of the miners. We still stand on that broad principle and are in entire accord with you in that respect.

"We did have in mind discussing with you certain recommendations as to the machinery to make an arbitration plan effective and to accomplish the result which the country and yourself desire.

"In view of the contingencies that confront us and the varying conditions in the different coal producing districts of the country, your conference has decided to answer your proposal by districts rather than as a whole and we attach hereto statements of the positions taken by several districts represented in the conferences of operators assembled at your request in Washington.

"All of the operators of your conference unite in supporting the principle of arbitration and collective bargaining and your high motives in calling us together.

"And finally, they say to you and to the American people that each one of them stands ready in this crisis to put his property and his own services at your disposal and command at any instance."

A delegation consisting of 15 operators took the message to the White House and after their visit a statement explaining the procedure was given out, as well as the text of the president's response.

"At 5 o'clock this afternoon the coal operators made an extended verbal and written report to the president. All of them subscribed broadly to the proposals to arbitrate.

"A minority of the districts joined in the conference in subscribing to the general principles of arbitration and collective bargaining."

President Harding's statement to the operators was as follows:

"I have your decision. I would not be frank if I did not confess a disappointment of your lack of unanimity. To the large majority of you, who have pledged readiness to resume activity under the government's proposal I must express my own and the public's gratitude.

"We have now reached a point owing to the refusal of mine workers and the minority of your operators to accept the proposed arbitration, where the good offices of the government in seeking a voluntary adjustment of the dispute between mine operators and mine workers are without avail.

"I cannot permit you to depart without reminding you that coal is a national necessity the ample supply of which is essential., likewise to common welfare and interstate commerce.

"The freedom of action on the part of the workers and on the part of the employers does not measure in importance with that of public welfare and national security. I therefore invite you to return to your mine properties and resume operations."

In the district actions referred to the delegates of employers from the associations in Illinois, the southwest, Mississippi and the Pittsburg vein operators and other associations of Ohio, voted for an unqualified acceptance of the president's arbitration plan.

Indiana state associations stood out against the plan on the ground that no arbitration commission should have representation of partisans on it either miners or mine operators.

Payment of the wage scale existing April 1 and the continuance of the "check-off" system of collecting union dues while arbitration was in progress, were points raised by the minority. One or two operators in central Pennsylvania, Thomas H. Watkins of the Pennsylvania Coke & Coal corporation, a large producer, being among the number, withdrew from their associations because of their insistence that arbitration should be accepted unqualifiedly.

Officials of the mine workers union faced the situation in complete silence. John L. Lewis, president of the union, intimated that the mine owners might have difficulty in following the president's request for opening the mines, because skilled miners would not be available, but otherwise reserved comment.

Frank Farrington, head of the Illinois district of the union and Mr. Lewis' chief opponent in its policy making, was likewise noncommittal. He denied that he was considering any state settlement in Illinois, though indicating that such a separate settlement might become possible later. He added that the course taken by the national officers would not wholly control him.

This is it—Darken the room as much as possible, close the windows, raise one of the blinds where the sun shines in, about eight inches, place as many Wilson's Fly Pads as possible on plates (properly wetted with water but not flooded) on the window ledge where the light is strong, leave the room closed for two or three hours, then sweep up the flies and burn them. See illustration below.

Put the plates away out of the reach of children until required in another room.

BEGAN AS OFFICE BOY, IS NOW GENERAL MANAGER

John J. Scully Becomes Gen. Manager of C.P.R. Eastern Lines.

The Canadian Pacific operates something like 20,000 miles of railroad and its employees number something like 80,000. On such a long road, and amidst such a large number of co-workers, one can only reach distinction and success by hard work and consistent application.

John J. Scully, who has just been appointed General Manager for Eastern Lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is a typical example of railway men who climb to the top of the ladder. On January 4th, 1887, when in his fifteenth year, young Scully embarked on his railroading career when he joined the Canadian Pacific as office boy in the offices of the Car Accountant at Montreal. In February, 1888, he became a clerk in the same office. Moving to Farnham, Quebec, in June, 1888, he became clerk there to the Assistant Superintendent. In August, 1890, he returned to Montreal headquarters as clerk to the Superintendent. April, 1891, saw him return to Farnham to his former position in that town. Mr. Scully joined the Mechanical Department of the railway at Montreal in March, 1893, as clerk. In September, 1894, he was transferred to Toronto Junction as clerk in the Mechanical Department there. Evidently Mr. Scully made good headway at Toronto Junction, for in March, 1898, he was appointed assistant to the Master Mechanic. In August, 1901, he was promoted to be assistant to the Master Mechanic at Winnipeg. Mr. Scully gained wide experience in Western Canada. In August, 1902, he became chief clerk in the General Superintendant's office at Winnipeg. In June, 1903, he became Assistant Superintendent for the Western Division. Promotions following were: July, 1903, chief clerk to Assistant General Manager, Winnipeg; April, 1904, Assistant Superintendent at Brandon; August, 1904, Superintendent at Brandon; November, 1906, Superintendent at Kenora; May, 1910, Superintendent Western Division; July, 1910, General Superintendent, Saskatchewan Division; April, 1922, General Superintendent at North Bay for Algoma Division.

JOHN J. SCULLY

Some few years ago George H. Ham visited one of the towns where Mr. Scully was stationed. A lady friend was speaking to George about the town, and telling him about its many fine qualities, "and one never need an alarm clock in our house," she continued.

"You are up with the sun, I suppose," said George.

"No," was the reply, "We're up with John J. Scully. Every morning at half past seven sharp, winter and summer, he goes past our door, and that is our alarm."

"John J. Scully is a great worker, and one of the best of men," added George.

Mr. Scully's wide experience in East and West will be a great acquisition to him in dealing with the many problems of his present position. The new General Manager of the Eastern Lines, C.P.R., is very popular, and has received congratulations from all over the country on his promotion. He succeeds Mr. Alfred Price, who after 40 years' service with the C.P.R., has relinquished his duties on the advice of his physicians and has been granted extended leave of absence.

THE WIFE'S HUSBAND

Among the toilers in the mart he wrought till he was old; he labored with a broken heart that he might gain some gold. And gold he won, for he was wise in commerce and in trade, but in his darkly brooding eyes no sunshine ever played. He was the husband of his wife, and she, a social queen, pursued a vain and giddy life that called for much long green. She "entertained" three times a week, bridge-whisted once or twice, and her sad husband, worn and meek, went forth to raise the price. She moved in pomp and circumstance, her hats and gowns were fine; and James, with patches on his pants, would in a chophouse dine. He saved a nickel now and then, and placed it in a can. "Some day," he sighed, "when I've a yen, I'll carry out my plan. I'll buy twelve feet of hempen rope, a broadax and a knife, a pint or so of deadly dope—and thus escape my wife. I'll pack with bombs my old valise, and jump into a pond; for I must have the rest and peace that's billed for the beyond." The foolish woman had no thought of vows her husband swore, until one evening he was brought to her upon a door. And then at last her conscience struck, remorse within her burned: "I might have let him keep a buck," she moaned, "from what he earned."

General Breakdown Entirely Overcome By Tanlac And Nerves Steady As a Clock —Digestion Now Perfect.

"I suffered a general breakdown about a year ago and until the time I started taking Tanlac I was in miserable health," said Mrs. John North, well-known dressmaker, of 631 Prior St., Vancouver, B.C.

"I was so nervous I was almost hysterical and suffered terribly from headaches. Heartburn bothered me a great deal and I had terrible pains in my stomach. I lost so much energy and strength that I was almost a wreck.

"But I am happy to say that things are different now. I am not the least bit nervous and sleep well every night. My appetite is so good I can eat anything. Tanlac has given me back my health and I would be ungrateful not to tell everybody I can about it."

PRISCILLA DEAN COMING HERE IN NEW PHOTO-THRILLER

Priscilla Dean will be seen here in "Wild Honey," a universal picture adapted from Cynthia Stockley's popular novel of that name, on Friday and Saturday, July the 28th and 29th at the Isis Theatre. It is said to be the most thrilling melodrama Miss Dean has ever made for the screen. Those who remember her in "Outside the Law," "Reputation," and "Conflict" realize that "Wild Honey" has to be considerable of a "thriller" to outdo her previous photo-dramas.

PRISCILLA DEAN
UNIVERSAL

The biggest thrill in "Wild Honey" is based on the destructive flood and a series of brilliant rescues. The flood scenes show a pent-up river unleashed to sweep down a narrow canyon and through a valley filled with settlers. The turbulance of the water and its destructive power are said to be shown with a realism never before attempted on the screen. Priscilla is shown in the midst of it, battling her way to safety and happiness with her usual courage and dash.

There are many other thrills in "Wild Honey," including thrills of plot and of situation. Miss Dean is said to do some of the best emotional acting of her entire screen career in the sequence of scenes depicting her wanderings while lost in the desert.

The story concerns an English society girl who passes through a remarkable series of adventures, finally to find her heart's desire on the veldt of South Africa. Universal, in its advance information, promises that the picture has "the sweetest kiss ever screened." It doesn't explain whether it is due to its former fervor or to its footage.

MEIGHAN LIKES KIDDIES

Thomas Meighan, who played the hardenel crook in "The Miracle Man" and will be seen in "The Prince Chap" at the Orpheum theatre this Friday and Saturday, has a warm spot in his heart for children. Meighan's associates at the Lasky are well aware of this fact. Nevertheless, they were considerably surprised one day recently when Meighan came racing into the studio with a pretty, flaxen-haired little girl of about four years perched on his shoulder and announced breathlessly,

"Folks, meet Miss Peaches Jackson, my new leading lady."

And Peaches had to dimple and smile and hide her face against his shoulder, though the introduction was perfectly accurate, since it required three leading ladies to portray the heroine of "The Prince Chap," and Peaches was one of them. The action of the picture shows the heroine at four, eight and eighteen years of age. The other two leading ladies were May Giracci and Lila Lee.

"The Prince Chap" is the first of the William De Mille productions and a Paramount Artcraft picture.

GOVERNMENT BY CLASS

(By Dr. Frank Crane.)

The enemies of democracy are legion.

One of the subtlest enemies of democracy is government by class. Government by any class negatives democracy and destroys it, and it makes no difference whether the class is composed of czars and grand dukes or is composed of bolsheviks and plumbers.

The seed of error is in half understanding what democracy means. It does not mean government for the benefit of the poor man, or of the laborer. It means government for the benefit of everybody. And the college professor and banker have just as much rights under a true democracy as a bricklayer or a coal heaver.

It is in connection with this that we see the danger that lies in labor unions, and in the whole so-called labor movement. That danger consists in the fact that laborers are encouraged to think of themselves as a class whose only hope of getting their share of the good things of the world lies in fighting other classes.

The class spirit in any way, shape or form is an enemy of democracy, for the only true spirit in democracy is enthusiasm for the common good.

Classes, as well as political parties, are symptoms of the childishness and immaturity of the world, of the inability of men to think of themselves as human beings.

Government by rich men or government by hereditary nobles is, of course, unwarranted tyranny. We have all got that far in the world's lesson book. But it is time that we should go on to the next chapter and learn that government by coal miners or steel workers is tyranny just as bad. You have only to carry out the aim of the average labor union to its logical conclusion to see that it would result in the cancellation of all human progress. For that logical conclsion is such a state of affairs as we have in Russia, where the country is run for the benefit of what is called the proletariat.

The end is famine, stagnation and collapse.

The fact is that, important as the proletariat may be, and great as may be the rights of the hand-workers and wage-earners, they are by no means the only pebbles on the beach. They absolutely need the assistance of the other classes of society to ensure any kind of prosperity.

Since the world began the curse of the human race has been its tendency to coagulate, to form in thick lumps.

The cause of this has been that men are not able to grasp so profound an ethical principle as the good of humanity where all their little minds can see is the necessity of working for the good of the cotton spinners and building up a protective tariff, or working for the good of the steel puddlers and organizing a strike, or working for the good of the republican party and wrecking a world to secure offices, or the good of the Baptist church, not for the benefit of the world of lost sinners, but for the sake of beating the Methodists across the way.

All this may be human nature. But it is human nature as measles or tuberculosis is human nature; it is something to be got rid of and grown out of.

COAL MINERS SHOULD YIELD TO ARBITRATION

If, as now seems probable, the United Mine Workers of America shall refuse President Harding's offer of arbitration to settle the coal strike, the strikers will discredit themselves with the American people. There can be no uncertainty about that. The arbitration issue was brought before the nation when Roosevelt was president. At that time the miners' union justly placed itself squarely on a platform of arbitration and was supported by President Roosevelt. The powerful mine owners' organization refused to arbitrate, but later surrendered under force of presidential condemnation and public indignation.

The circumstance that the shoe is now upon the other foot does not alter the principle. The coal mines, for the most part, are idle, the summer is drifting away, the coal resources are diminishing, and unless the strike is settled quickly and mining is resumed the country, including organized labor, the coal miners themselves and everybody else, will be in a bad plight.

President Harding has indicated a purpose to operate the mines in the authority of the government if his proposal for arbitration should be rejected and no other solution be found for ending the strike and resuming mining. If the president should be driven to that drastic action he will have the approval of the nation. For the thought is intolerable that the country's industries should be paralyzed, the locomotives on the railroads stand inert and a large part of the people shiver and freeze simply because the miners' union has taken a high-handed step and refused to come into arbitration, although the request comes earnestly and patiently from the president of the United States.—Spokesman.

DEAFNESS The Sneak Thief

DEAFNESS is a sneak thief; it comes stealthily, destroying little by little until 40 per cent of your hearing is gone before you discover it.

Don't allow it to go on. Arrest the thief with Leonard Ear Oil. The treatment is simple and agreeable. Just "Insert it in the nostrils" and "Rub gently behind the ears."

It not only arrests the disease in its early stages but relieves deafness and head noises no matter how long it has been progressing. Thousands, in all stages, are relieved every year.

COMMUNICATION

Lethbridge, July 19, 1922.

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Sir—The Veterans United Football Club of Lethbridge wish to express through the medium of your paper their appreciation of the sportsmanship displayed by the Michel football club when they visited Lethbridge recently to oppose us.

The team arrived prepared to play on Saturday, July 15, but unfortunately the weather precluded all possibility of the game being played on that day. After consultation, the Michel team, with no guarantee whatsover as to the expenses incurred by their enforced stayover, willingly agreed to bear the expense themselves and remain in Lethbridge Sunday and Monday in order to play on Monday night. This, it seems to us, displays a sporting spirit rarely found nowadays, and their action in doing so has created a warm spot for Michel in the hearts of the Veterans United football club, and, I believe in the hearts of the football fans of Lethbridge.

The game they played was clean and sporting, and enjoyable both to watch and participate in. Particularly do we congratulate the team upon their captain, A. McGovern. This gentlemen stands out as a thorough footballing sportsman. On the rare occasions when any of his team displayed a tendency to become refractory, his "Now fellows, be men among men and sports among sports," never failed to steady them, and we thank him for the implied compliment to us. Both on and off the field Mr. McGovern has made many warm friends and admirers among the Vets here.

We hope to visit Michel in the near future to play a return match, and are looking forward with keen pleasure to renewing the friendly enmity on the field as well as the deepening of an association which has been so well founded. Yours truly

Veterans United Football Club,
H. W. Thomas, President.

CORBIN NOTES

A very succcessful picnic was held here for the kiddies of the place. Prizes for the different events were given out by Mrs. Puck and Mrs. Barnes from the balance of prizes left over from last year's Sunday School picnic. Every event went off to the satisfaction of all, except in one of the boys races, when a mistake was made in giving out the prizes.

Mr. Symonds was asked to judge the babies but he declined, having no experience in that line.

Mr. Brown, Mr. Bean, Road Supt. Hayne and the District Fire Ranger were visitors in Corbin on their way in to the Flathead.

Sid Knight purchased a mare and colt this week. There will soon be as many horses as people in Corbin.

John Virgo has installed one of Grant's Two-Stage Radiophones. He expects soon to be talking to the North Pole.

Corbin's coal dump has all been shipped, mostly to points in the States.

FARM NOTES

The members and wives of members of the Fernie Farmers Institute turned out last Monday in full force to the picnic held at D. O. Bricker's Canadian Dairy farm. On arrival they were immediately taken in tow by their genial host, who welcomed them, and after ice cream was served a thorough inspection was made of the place and surroundings. The ice house and its crystal looking blocks of ice were well worth seeing. The house itself is inexpensive and labor alone is the chief item of its contents. We shall see more ice houses in the near future. The bottle washer and bottle filling machines are time savers; moreover, they are more sanitary than any other system. The milking of the herd of cows by the milking machine process was quite a novelty. Suction is the motive power and many of the visitors were requested and did insert their thumbs to prove what the process was like. Personally I thought it felt as if my thumb was being sucked by a fairly large calf. Cleanliness is assured by this system. But what are we coming to? What are we to do or say when some of our friends sing that old and touching ballad, "Where are you going my pretty maid? Going a-milking, sir, she said." Can we ever imagine a machine producing milk that will nourish a Robert Burns, who sucked poetry with his mother milk, and inhaled the airs she sang when milking as he played around the barn. I doubt it. However, we who have only a cow or two shall continue in the same old way milking by hand, singing as we do so in the same old way. The whole picnic was a huge success.

The much talked of fair was discussed and it was decided that a committee be chosen to see what could be done in the way of raising prize money. We are in hopes of making the occasion a success, so you may expect a call from the committee. Get your donation ready, however small.

Noxious weeds are becoming very noticeable in this section, especially thistles, and we do not think it would be out of place if those in authority were to see the Noxious Weed Act is enforced. When mention of enforcement is made it is not intended that there be any exception to the rule—the government highway is at present bearing a fairly good crop.

With a fund of $25,000 charged off for depreciation on the electric light plant, which will not now be needed for that purpose, and an estimated check for $6000 due to arrive from the provincial government in connection with the liquor fund, it looks like a splendid time to put down a few permanent sidewalks. That ash proposition which the council have been putting in here and there is a miserable substitute for a concrete walk and at the best is only good for a couple of years.

MEMORIAL AT WINDERMERE

There are more ways than one of learning history. A few days ago, when walking over the pine-scented grassy slopes that surround Lake Windermere, B.C., I came upon a quantity of huge dappled tree trunks, stripped of their bark and prone on the grass, making the place look like a comely lumbering camp without any disfiguring details. In a few weeks those tree trunks will commemorate a page of Canadian history. They will form the walls of an exact replica of an old Hudson Bay Fort that is to be built this summer on the shore of Lake Windermere as a lasting memorial to David Thompson.

It needed a good deal of courage to confess my ignorance of Thompson's history. Every British Columbian child knows all about him and will tell you that he was the great explorer and map-maker who discovered the source of the Columbia river and after whom the Thompson river was named. His story sounded like a chapter from Fernimore Cooper, as it was told me beside the waters he discovered over a hundred years ago.

David Thompson was a Scotchman who began his Canadian career in the service of the Hudson Bay Company, and in spite of his primitive instruments the maps which he made of the company's lands were so exact that they stand to this day. He later joined the staff of the North West Trading Company of Montreal, and came down to Windermere in 1807, the first white man to see the waters now known as the Kootenay and Columbia rivers.

He was trying to find a waterway to the Pacific coast. He knew that a certain gentleman of the name of John Jacob Astor, who had accumulated a prodigious fortune by trading in furs, had already dispatched two expeditions from New York. The first went overland and never reached the coast; the other sailed in a schooner called the Tranquille, which, after many wanderings and hardships, finally reached the mouth of the Columbia river, and the men established a fort called the Astoria, after the owner.

This fort had only been built and occupied for a very short time when its inhabitants were astonished to see a canoe, paddled by a white man, coming down the river. It was the intrepid Thompson, whose band of half-breeds had deserted him at Windermere, leaving him to go on his journey alone, knowing that the delay had probobly lost him the prize.

The subordinate officers who had been left to guard the Astoria had their own reasons for depression. Mackay, tthe Scotch-Canadian in charge of the Tranquille expedition, the English skipper and the crew had taken the ship up the coast, and after driving out some Spaniards they found there, moved about doing a brisk trade with the Indians, till they anchored in the bay opposite the present site of Nanaimo. Here the skipper angered the Indians by striking one who refused to sell his furs. They came back the next morning in great numbers. The choleric skipper ignored Mackay's warning to retreat while yet they might, and the Indians promptly tomahawked the entire crew. At the same time the ship blew up, killing a number of the Indians.

By the time David Thompson had arrived at Astoria the officers left there had heard of this disaster. Thompson knew that his half-breeds' disloyalty had prevented him from being the first to claim the country as far south as the Columbia River, but he belonged to the breed of men who wrest victory from defeat. The Americans, dispirited by the loss of their comrades, sold out all rights to the trading post to Thompson and agreed not to trade north of the Columbia river.

In after years when they came to define the boundary line between Canada and the United States, the British showed this agreement, but the decision was given in favor of America on the grounds of priority of discovery and occupation, for, though Thompson had discovered the source of the Columbia in 1807, fifteen years earlier the American sailor Captain Gray had discovered and named the river at its mouth.

This summer the memory of the man who dared so much and failed so nobly will be honored at Windermere in an original but very fitting way by the huge hall built of huge fir logs in an exact reproduction of a Hudson Bay Fort.

The scheme has long been dear to the hearts of Randolph Bruce and Murray Gibson and Col. Dennis of the C.P.R. and it is largely owing to their advocacy that the necessary funds were generously provided by the Hudson Bay Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Mr. Bruce, whose lovely property, "Pynelogs" lies within sight of the Thompson Memorial, has interested himself for some years in collecting photographs of the Old Hudson Bay Forts at Victoria, Vermillion, St. James, Edmonton, etc. From these was finally evolved the plan of a great hall to be enclosed by a stockade on a slightly lower level, with bastion towers at the corners and an alarm tower with bell inside.

The hall will have a gallery to be used for a permanent exhibition of relics of the Hudson Bay Company, the nucleus of a library of Canada, Indian bead work and ather things relating to the history of Canada. The whole place will be a wonderful reminder of bygone days for the younger generation to whom the very name of the Hudson Bay Company was fast becoming a myth. —Elizabeth Montizambert in Montreal Gazette, June 22, 1922.

WILMER GETS PUBLICITY

Wilmer, B.C., July 20. — The increasing importance of Wilmer and its surrounding country from an agricultural standpoint has just been recognized by the establishment here of a selling office of the E. A. Strout Farm Agency, Inc., and the appointment of F. G. Ball as its local manager.

The effect of this step will be to give Wilmer and East Kootenay representation in the largest farm selling organization in the world, having more than 620 agents scattered all over the United States, in Canada and Great Britain and divisional offices in many of the large cities of this country.

The move is an incident in a $1,000,000 sales promotion campaign which the Strout Agency has undertaken to put over in 1922. It means that Wilmer and the farming country around it is in for a big boost for it will share in the benefits of that campaign.

Many thousands of dollars are spent by the Strout Agency annually in advertising farms for sale and this year the expenditure will be increased. Farm seekers all over America and abroad will be told through this advertising campaign of the opportunities for buying farm property advantageously in this section.

In addition a very attractive booklet describing the attractiveness of farming property here will be issued especially for Mr. Ball by the Strout Agency and distributed by him to thousands of farm seekers and home seekers. It will tell these prospective farm buyers what crops are best adapted to our soils and most profitable in our markets and will show what some of our successful farmers have accomplished.

The Strout Agency has on its lists the names of many thousands of persons who are seeking farm homes, many of whom desire to locate in B.C. The little booster for Wilmer will be placed before them. It should help to place Wilmer more prominently on the world's map.

TIMBER SALE X4208

Sealed Tenders will be received by the Minister of Lands not later than noon on the 7th day of September, 1922, for the purchase of Pulp Licence X4208, to cut 206,246,000 board feet of Spruce, Balsam, Lodgepole Pine, Cedar, Fir and Larch timber, located on the Wigwam River, Group 1, Kootenay Land District.

Thirty (30) years will be allowed for removal of timber.

Persons tendering on this pulp licence will be required to furnish a bond of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) and such other guarantees as the Minister of Lands may think fit for the erection and completion of a mill for the manufacture of wood pulp or paper, within three (3) years of the receipt of tenders, and of a capacity of at least one hundred and twenty-five (125) cords of pulpwood per day.

A PRIMEVAL APPEAL.

Readers of Mark Twain, O. Henry and other Transatlantic authors will be familiar with the gentle art of extracting money from "suckers" as practiced in the United States. Apparently the art has now been developed to an almost incredible level of ingenuity in this country. It is, we are told, practiced especially on American visitors. They are induced to purchase imitation diamonds. They are sold faked tips on imaginary horses in non-existent races. The whole gamut of confidence tricks is run for their exploitation. All very shocking and regrettable, of course. But, oh, how orthodox and traditional. The confidence man is always with us. It is fairly safe to wager that even in prehistoric times somebody made a profession of asking the fellow members of his tribe to "spot the lady" or to buy a dummy stone axe for a mere pebble. It is simply the old appeal to the ineradicable cupidity of mankind to get something for nothing.—London Daily Express.

FERNIE LOSES SUNDAY GAME

Fielding behind Ault like a bunch of schoolboys, Fernie made a collection of ten errors, and allowed Michel to win in an exhibition game played in Fernie on Sunday afternoon, by a score of four runs to two. The game was scheduled as a league game but Michel appeared with an imported battery and according to their own ruling they forfeit the game to Fernie as far as league standing was concerned. Ault pitched wonderful ball, striking out 17 batters and allowing only 8 hits, besting Haynes in both these points, Haynes striking out 13 and allowing 11 hits, three of these being for extra bases.

Fernie opened up on Haynes offerings in the third, when Dunlap led off with a two bagger, C. Colton sacrificed him to third and Shand brought him home with a long sacrifice fly to right. In the next frame Ashton singled, stole second and scored Fernie's second run when Ault smashed out a long two bagger. This finished the scoring until the eighth innings. When Michel came to bat McAlpine singled, Estabrook following hit grounder to Wilson and tossed to Dunlap who apparently had plenty of time to effect a perfect double but failed to hold the ball and both runners were safe. Another single and two more errors and a boner let four runs cross the plate. Ault tried hard to pick up lost ground in the ninth when he started out with a single, but was out on a fielders choice when Dunlap grounded to short. C. Colton singled and Dunlap went to second and then to third, when Shand was thrown out at first. Haynes finished Fernie's hopes by striking out McTeer.

The game was somewhat marred in the sixth innings when the President of the Michel club took issue with the umpire on his decision in the double play that retired McAlpine at second and Estabrook at first, and got out on the diamond and delayed the game for about ten minutes. The decision was so obviously correct that even some of the Michel fans were yelling at him to get off the diamond. This "blame the umpire" stunt is getting to be a habit with Michel.

LAST WILD HORSE HERDS

Few British Columbians are aware of the fact that what is considered to be the last herd of wild horses left on the North American continent is now running the ranges in the plateau section of this province south of Spence's Bridge and Lytton. In spite of the fact that the ranchers and Indians of the district have been killing off these animals one by one since the advent of civilization into that area, they have, up to the present, evaded extermination; and the government has been compelled to encourage destruction during the past few years.

Nature stepped in last spring and decimated the herd, many of the animals having died as a result of the long winter. When the snow finally left the ground and the wild steeds got their first long delayed meal of fresh green grass, they suffered an epidemic of dysentery which, in their weakened condition after the long winter, killed them off in large numbers.

Hunters of these animals always concentrate their efforts during early spring, when they are emerging from the winter's short rations. In this enfeebled condition they can be run down by domestic animals and shot by their riders.

But at all other times of the year they are so strong and speedy they are able to kill the swiftest saddle horses on the chase; and for this reason, ranchers and Indians seldom attempt to gain shooting distance on them. When detected the stallions will gallop around and around the herd, gathering all the mares together, at the completion of which they thunder off on their mad race for existence.

The herd would cause little inconvenience to that sparsely settled region were it not for the raiding expeditions of the wild stallions. These adventurous beasts break through pastures at night and steal away mares from the domestic herds in the district.

Members of the wild herd that have been caught from time to time are said to have made poor domestic servants, being of mediocre quality and hard to tame.

The Coteau Indians of that district have used horses for the past 150 years, the animals having been introduced from the south, where they had been brought by the Spaniards.

In the old days such wild herds were plentiful in the plateau strip of this continent stretching from British Columbia to Mexico, the original animals having got away from their owners and multiplied into nomadic bands of rovers.

Wild horse hunting was formerly a great, and also profitable, sport among the Indians of this continent, who converted them to their own uses.

AFFECTIONS OF SOURDOUGHS WON IN GOLD RUSH DAYS RETAINED STILL

Anniversary Celebration Recalls Early History of Carnation Milk—Trail to Klondike Marked by Empty Cans — Old Timers Among Earliest Users — Product Now World-Famous

In '49 a red-shirt who took cream in his coffee was described as a dude. In '98 the fortune-hunter that did the same was regarded as lucky. The luck consisted of being able to get the cream.

This year the men of the North are celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the arrival of the big news from the far reaches of the Yukon and the Klondike, the news of gold, the lure that led thousands out on "The Trail of '98."

Ascending Chilcoot on "The Trail of 98"

Avery's store at Sheep Camp

Strange ships on bleak Lake Bennett

Looking down the Yukon River from Dawson in "The Days of Gold"

Twenty-four years have passed since the great rush started. Those years have wrought wonderful changes. Today wondering tourists reach with luxurious ease those distant goals which once exacted every ounce of stamina and grit a man possessed. Today Dawson takes her place among the queenly cities of the continent, modern, wealthy, influential. Gone are the sod-roofed shacks, the tent-houses, the muddy trails. Gone is Mrs. Lowe's laundry, where mending was done free and fortunes were told for a dollar. Today the cruel Chilcoot is only a memory and Avery's rent-free store at Sheep Camp is closed for all time.

A Severe Test

Out of the North have come great things. The test was terribly severe and the fight went to the strong. And well may the survivors of those who went "Down North" in those exacting times take pride in their experiences.

It is for this reason that the originators of Carnation Milk are proud of Carnation's record in the Far North. Practically unknown before, Carnation followed the adventurers on the long trail, where only what was necessary was transported. It stood the test. It won its way into the affections of the Sourdoughs. And today, while its fame has become world-wide, it retains the much-valued high regard of its first friends, the strong-hearts of camp and creek.

The Sourdough's List

"Bacon, beans, coffee, flour and Carnation." Many a miner's shopping list would have shown that array in the early days of the Yukon. For the Sourdough was no roughneck-on-parade. He wasn't roughing it just for the fun of roughing it. He used good judgment and infinite resource to acquire or create such comforts as were possible; and wonderful was his ingenuity. Thus it was that he formed the habit of creaming his coffee with Carnation, and who can say that its rich food value, its satisfying flavor, did not contribute very measurably to the splendid record of endurance and achievement that stands to his credit?

The introduction of Carnation by its originator, E. A. Stuart, who stands at the head of the vast enterprise today, was almost co-incidental with the Klondike Rush. Mr. Stuart had early realized the value and practicability of the idea of evaporating pure milk and sealing it in cans so that it would keep indefinitely in any climate and withstand transportation for long distances. After many experiments the process was perfected. Fresh cows' milk was evaporated to less than half its original weight. In this form, with nothing but water removed and nothing added, the milk was placed in cans and sealed hermetically. Then, as an additional measure to guarantee its absolute safety, it was sterilized.

Became a Sourdough

Placed on sale where thousands were outfitting for the Klondike, Carnation found instant favor with the gold-seekers. Cheechako and Sourdough alike welcomed the chance to enjoy real milk of creamy richness in a land where there were no cows.

From that time on the trails of the Northland were marked by empty Carnation cans and many an empty Carnation case continued its usefulness in the form of some article of camp furniture. Carnation became a Sourdough. It toiled up Chilcoot and creaked across Lake Bennett on sail-rigged sleds. It plunged through the snowy, flying manes of the White Horse Rapids and sailed the Yukon and the Klondike. It pressed farther on. It was everywhere. It knew the Iditarod; it knew the beaches and the benches and the creeks of Nome.

And then, as invincible civilization marched on the heels of the gold-lured pioneers, as gold camps made way for towns and towns became cities, Carnation continued to hold a prominent place in the domestic economy of that vast northern territory. Today it has no more loyal friends than the Sourdoughs and their families whether they be in the North still or scattered to the ends of the earth. Today Carnation is known practically wherever milk is used. Today its great value is understood. Not only is it prized for its availability where there are no cows; it is preferred for its convenience, its economy, its absolute safety, its fine flavor and its standardized, unvarying quality.

An International Institution

From a local industry with one small plant started on the Pacific Coast, the Carnation Milk Products Company has become an international institution. From the miner's cabin its use has reached to the four corners of the globe. Yet its sterling worth remains unchanged. The demand for it increases from year to year because its value is real and basic.

Looking ahead to an even more brilliant success than it has known, and looking back over the almost quarter century of its earlier career, Carnation appreciates fully the warm friendship and loyalty of the men and women of pluck and daring who, in the thrilling gold days, won the right to the proud title of Sourdough.

WOMAN MAYORS

Mildred Adams writes in the American City of 15 woman mayors in the United States. The towns over which they preside range in size from Rochester, Ohio, with a population of 145 to St. Peter, Minn., where the population is 4435. The 15 woman mayors are well distributed over the country. Some of these women were elected because they voluntarily went into politics and tried for office. Others were drafted. Mrs. A. K. Gault of St. Peter was appointed by a council of men after the man elected mayor refused to qualify. Mrs. Abbie Howe Forest, mayor of Thayer, Kan., and five other women were nominated as candidates for city offices and elected over two other tickets.

Mrs. Grace Miller, mayor of Jackson, Wyo., has a council of five women helping her. Dr. Amy Kaukonen, mayor of Fairport, Ohio, who is 23 years old, is a graduate physician. She had authority to appoint a chief of police, a board of health and a chemist. She took all these powers to herself. In her capacity as chief of police she arrests "bootleggers." As board of health she considers the menace of "bootleg" liquor to the health of the community, and as town chemist she analyzes the stuff. Finding it bad as a chemist she then warns against it as the board of health.

Miss Adams has found, in investigating the work of the woman mayors, that they think in terms of municipal housekeeping. Men think of municipal problems in terms of engineering, she says, but the woman officials consider the town merely an enlarged family to be educated, clothed, fed and kept orderly and in good health.

THE CAMP SITE AND CAMPERS

(By J. F. Spalding)

Though the tourist travel was late in starting this summer, by the way they are coming through now, it bids fair to turn out to be a big season after all. Whilst talking with different parties at the camp recently, I gathered that one of the reasons for the lateness of the start was the rains on the prairies, which delayed some of them and caused others to abandon their trips.

Our camp site is being talked about all over the country now. Many of the campers have told me that they have heard about it on the road and have been told to make for Fernie. One has only to read the register in the building to know how much it is appreciated. It is impossible to please everybody though. One party from Portland which stayed there on Wednesday last wrote: "This is a very nice camping ground, but a few sugestions would not be amiss. Some shade trees would help out as it is unbearably hot there in the middle of the day; and also there is a shortage of firewood. The next party to register said that anyone finding fault with it ought to stay at the hotels. There certainly is plenty of shade there, and probably those people from Portland had been sampling some of the stuff which makes one feel as if they had been in the sun.

There has been no shortage of wood eother—for those who did not find it too much trouble to do a little chopping—and now a supply is there for them.

It would be a great drawing card if we were able to put in the shower baths which we had hoped to do during this summer, but shall have to defer it until next year. If we had these, or a swimming pool, it would be a decided inducement for many parties to stay longer with us, and the expense of putting them in would be amply justified.

The Kuskanook, Nelson, Rossland route is fast becoming a popular one to Spokane instead of through Kingsgate and Bonners Ferry. During the past week I have been able to induce over a dozen parties to change their minds and go that way, at least they said they would do so, and it is their loss if they did not. It is by far the most preferable route though somewhat farther. The road is much better and the scenery wonderful, to say nothing of the fine boat trip up the lake.

Quite a lot of tourists are going up into the Okanagan this summer, and as soon as the Rosland-Grand Forks road is open there will be many more of them. It will make a splendid trip this way through to and around the Okanagan and return via Oroville to Spokane and Kingsgate. Apart from the Banff-Windermere road it is the most scenic trip I know of.

The experiment Mr. Hayne is trying out of having section men every few miles along the highway is a decided success. Our roads never were so good as they are now, and if Hayne heard just a few of the complimentary remarks about them that I have heard lately he would be quite satisfied. I have just one recommendation to make for his especial benefit. On several of the curves brush has grown up which obscures the view. This is sure to lead to accidents eventually unless the brush is cut out.

INVESTIGATING IRON DEPOSITS

Work is now well under way at Kitchener on the survey being made by the department of mines covering the province, to ascertain the extent of the iron deposits that exist in British Columbia, and on the strength of the reports it will be decided whether the credits of the province will be extended in the matter of establishing a huge iron and steel industry at a favorably located point in the province.

Dr. Young, of Ottawa, long connected with the geological survey work of the Dominion government, is in charge of the survey and is assisted by Dr. Hurst, another eastern mining engineering authority of high standing.

The ore in Iron Mountain, as the Kitchener deposits are known, is hematite, and assays taken on various claims show the percentage to run as high as 65 per cent, while over the whole area the average is stated to be not less than 50 per cent. So far about 80 claims have been already prospected and about half of these are now crown granted. The C.P.R. in company with C. P. Hill is actively identified with thirty of these on which some development work has already been done. The B. C. Iron Co., Ltd., have a group of about 30, and the balance are held by various interests, including a number of people of that section, most of whom are doing the usual assessment work each year, some of the claims having shafts down as far as 50 or more feet, and the ore is said to show uniformly high grade all the way down.

At points the veins show a width of 20 feet and it is quite safe to say that over the area worked, 12 miles in length, the vein will overage probably a width of 12 feet, and the showing of ore is as strong at the finish as at the start. Great interest has been stirred up by the appearance of the geologists in the district, following closely on the announcement that the survey would be made, as it is felt that if any effort is made to establish a steel plant in the province the Kitchener area will receive somewhat prominent consideration, as it has a considerable hematite deposit which would be required for fluxing of the other iron deposits in the province.

T. E. Pooley, a representative from Vickers, Son & Maxim, well known iron and steel firm of England, and also representing a body of about thirty other concerns, arrived in the province last week to investigate the opening of branch plants and distributing houses for these concerns. He is also keenly interested in the development of British Columbia iron resources, along with the possibility of the development of an iron and steel industry, spending about three weeks here investigating the situation in this regard.

KIMBERLEY TO GET E. K. POWER

The East Kootenay Power Co., formerly the B.C. and Alberta Power Co., have closed a contract with the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. to supply power to the Sullivan Mine at Kimberley and also for the concentrator now being erected there. This contract calls for 3,000 horsepower to be delivered for immediate requirements of the company at Kimberley, and for additional 5000 horsepower for their needs within the next ten years.

It is expected that this contract will mean the development of the Elk River Falls, where abundant power is available, more than at Bull River falls, from which place power is now supplied to Cranbrook and Fernie.

Commenting on the financial reorganization of the power company, which resulted in the East Kootenay Power Company taking over the former concern, a Winnipeg paper recently stated:

"The two million dollar bond issue of the East Kootenay Power Co., placed on the market by a strong firm of eastern brokers, displayed more activity than any similar offering for many years. It is reported that a third of the issue was subscribed at once. The price was 97½ and accured interest, to yield approximately 7¼ per cent interest. There is a bonus of 2½ shares with each $1000 bond.

"The purpose of the bond issue is stated as follows: The East Kootenay Power Co. was formed for the purpose of acquiring the undertakings and all properties of the B. C. and Alberta Power Co., and of making additions to the properties acquired. The principal assets consist of a water power development on the Bull River, B.C., having an installed capacity of 7200 horse power and an undeveloped water power on the Elk River, near the town of Elko, on the C.P.R. and the G. N.R. This power is capable of developing about 20,000 horsepower."

THE CHANGE IN BOYS

William Allen White has made the discovery that there are things in the psychology of the modern boy of which he was ignorant. His disillusion came with the fiasco of his plan for a Fourth of July parade of boys with dogs at Emporia, Kan., with a prize to reward the youngster who had the largest number of canine pets in line. To the surprise of the distinguished editor and philosopher not a boy with even one dog turned out.

Time changes and boys change with them. The trouble with many writers who pose as authorities on juvenile character is that in creating a fictitious type of boy hero they are apt to lost sight of the variations which occur in youthful interests from generation to generation. They populate the Boyvilles with boyish figures embodying all that is best of traditional juvenile attributes who yet are not true to modern form.

Boys of the present day have so many new interests that going fishing, visiting the old swimming hole and even fraternizing with dogs have declined in the relative scale of importance. The modern boy inclines more to mechanical things. He fools about motor cars and tinkers with wireless telegraphy and has boy scout affiliations, and there are always the movies. Huck Finn would find himself a back number in a group of boys of this day and generation. The wonder is not that no Emporia boys were found ready to parade with their dogs, but that a canny authority on boyish character should have thought they would be.—New York World.

ELECTRIC RATES ARE CHANGED

The city fathers met in special session last Saturday to consider the question of revising electric light and power schedules. When the hydro-electric power first became available here the council reduced the schedule per kilowatt hour for lighting from 15c to 10c—so it was said, but in the schedule on the 10c basis was a "joker" in the form of a "fixed or service charge," ranging all the way from 65c up to $5.15 and over for the larger consumers per month. This when actually applied, instead of reducing the cost of electricity, in the cases of the minimum and small quantities in most cases slightly increased the cost to the consumer. Of course in the cases of the larger consumers they did receive the benefit of cheaper juice, but in view of the great saving to the city when comparing the cost to manufacture its own with that purchased from the company, everyone felt they were entitled to a proportionate share of the more advantageous price, particularly when the home-made electricity was supplied at a cost that almost placed it in the luxury class. Needless to say the complaints were numerous and insistent, with the result that eventually the council decided something must be done, and now we have a brand new schedule for light and power as set out below. One redeeming feature of this schedule is that in residences the current may be used from every light socket for cooking, heating, etc., at 4c. There should be much more used than heretofore.

WILL ERECT TWO SHAFTS

When the Reconstruction Committee holds its meeting on Monday next the report of the treasurer will show that slghtly over $15,000 has been collected in this city and the district for the establishing of permanent memorials. The order has been placed for the two shafts to perpetuate the memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice. One of these will be erected on the court house grounds, the other on the Soldiers' Plot at the cemetery. The cost upon completion of these two memorials will be in the neighborhood of $10,000, leaving something above $5000 remaining in the Memorial Fund. There are also other funds of approximately $4500 which have been created through the efforts of hard working public spirited citizens, who have had as their objective the establishment of a permanent recreation quarters for the young children. This fund is known as the Children's Fund and it would seem that nothing could be more fitting than to consolidate the residue of the Memorial Fund with that of the Children's Fund, which would amount to over $10,000, as a nucleus of a fund for the construction of a suitable community building which could be made to embody all the necessary requirements for the returned men and also provide a more commodious and suitable edifice for the use of the children. This scheme has already been favored by a large number of influential citizens and it is hoped something of this nature is decided upon when the committee has its meeting early next week.

THE SCOUTS IN CAMP

The second annual camp of Fernie and Cranbrook troops of Boy Scouts is now in full swing at Morrissey, about nine miles west of here. All told there are 65 boys participating in this grand event, which is of two weeks' duration. They are under the command of District Scoutmaster G. C. Evans, formerly of this city, but now residing in Winnipeg, who is assisted by J. Donaldson, of Fernie, and S. M. Clarke, of Cranbrook. The organization in camp is most perfect and the duties are entered upon and carried out by the boys with real military precision. The troops are divided into patrols, there being three Cranbrooks troops known as the Beavers, Bulldogs and Hounds; while Fernie has five patrols known as the Beavers, Stags, Bears, Eagles and Foxes.

An idea of the healthful duties and exercise to which the boys are subjest may be gained from the daily orders:

From 8 to 9 a.m. the eight troops in camp are assigned as follows:

Cleaning camp; moving wood.
Sanitary duties.
Sawing wood for kitchen.
Hauling wood for camp fire and kitchen.
Removing leaves and debris from around camp.
General utility.
Cutting spruce boughs and making mattresses.
9.00 to 10.30 a.m.—
Shooting.
Camp loom.
Signalling.
Fatigue.
10.45 a.m.—Bathing parade.
12.30 to 1.30—Rest hour.

The afternoon is occupied by drilling, fishing, shooting and swimming. After supper the boys rest around camp until 8 p.m., when retreat is sounded and around their campfire they hold a song service until lights out at 10 p.m.

When inspected by District Commissioner Major Hicks, of Cranbrook, the boys were highly commended for efficiency in carrying out the tests as Boy Scouts. In the shooting competition in addition to the badges the Crow's Nest Trading Co. cup is the highest trophy. Up to the third elimination series Stewart McPhee, of Fernie, led with a score of 64, while Willie Mills and W. McLennan, of Fernie, and F. Hartmell, of Cranbrook, were all tied for second place with scores of 61.

Wednesday afternoon last the camp received visitors, when mothers, relatives and friends of the boys motored to Morrissey, cars being furnished by the Fernie Rotary Club. On this occasion, as a demonstration test for the visitors, the boys threw up a lean-to shelter in ten minutes. Unfortunately rain marred the greater portion of the special program for the afternoon. The final in the shooting competition resulted as follows:

3—D. Burton, Cranbrook — 56-61-51—168.
4—W. Mills—55-62-46—163.
5—R. Garner—51-68-41—160.

Camp will be broken on Saturday, but during the last days the boys will endeavor to qualify for Scout Swimmers' Proficiency Badges. This test calls for swimming 100 yards breast stroke; 50 yards on back without using arms or hands; swim 50 yards with clothes on; undress in the water; and diving to recover object weighting 5 lbs. in 8 feet of water.

PREMIER TO PAY BIG DIVIDEND

The Premier Gold Mining Co., operating near Stewart, B.C., is expected to disburse a dividend of $800,000 in September, according to a New York report. This would increase the total disbursement to $2,500,000, or 50 per cent on the capitalization of $5,000,000 made within nine months.

A disbursement of $400,000 was made in December last, and two quarterly disbursements, having a total of $1,300,000, have been made since.

Among the beneficiaries of the Premier distributions are R. K. Neill of Spokane, who developed the mine to the point of response; W. R. Wilson, a coal operator, and Trites & Wood, merchants, of Fernie, B. C. The American Smelting and Refining Co. owns 12½ per cent of the stock and large blocks are held by residents of New York. In addition to dividends, the American Smelting Co. has an income from the treatment of the Premier ore.—Spokesman.

JOHN TAYLOR IS LIBERAL CANDIDATE IN CRANBROOK

Cranbrook, July 26.—John Taylor, of this city, was chosen as the Liberal candidate to contest the Cranbrook seat in the provincial legislature at the Liberal nomination convention held here tonight. Delegates from every point of the riding were in attendance and though there were four names placed in nomination the result was never in doubt. John Taylor's name was placed in nomination by George Gardner, of Moyie, and seconded by Wm. Smith, of Kimberley. Chas. R. Ward of this city was nominated by A. A. Mackinnon, of this city, and the nomination seconded by Mr. Fleetwood. J. A. Genest, may or of Cranbrook, was nominated by J. J. O'Neil, of Kimberley; Wm. S. Santo, of this city, was nominated by Chas. Knocke. The result of the first ballot showed Taylor to have received 20 votes, Ward 9, Genest 2, and Santo none. After the second ballot, which gave Taylor 20 and Ward 11 votes, the nomination was made unanimous in favor of Taylor. Jos. Jackson, president of the Cranbrook District Liberal Association, acted as chairman and did not permit his name to be placed in nomination as anticipted. Though predictions had been made that the contest would be very keen, nothing unusual developed and the business of the evening was very quickly attended to.

WELCOME NEW PASTOR

Rev. Don Campbell was welcomed to his new charge, Olivet Baptist Church, Fernie, last Monday, when a very enjoyable social evening was spent.

Rev. J. W. Litch, of Vancouver, Supt. of Missions, gave an address welcoming Mr. Campbell and family to the province, stating that B.C. was larger than Washington, Oregon and California all rolled into one; and where hamlets were today towns would be tomorrow; where towns thronging cities. He also spoke of the great opportunity for Christian service.

Rev. Oswald, of the Anglican church, also spoke.

The soloists of the evening were Mrs. Parks and Mrs. Campbell. An excellent recitation was well rendered by Mrs. T. Uphill. Refreshments were served by the ladies. H. D. Wilson officiated at the organ.

U.S. IMPORTS FOREIGN COAL

An Associated Press dispatch from London reports that the demand for ships to convey coal to America is increasing daily. The American demand for coal has caused a scarcity of vessels in some sections. Cardiff export firms alone have booked 300,000 tons and Newcastle firms 150,000.

Another Associated Press dispatch reports that nearly 20 ships have been chartered to bring coal from Australia to Pacific coast ports, and Philadelphia reports that several cargoes of British coal purchased by local public utility corporations will arrive there within a fortnight.

Thus the anomalous situation is presented of the United States importing large quantities of foreign coal, although normally it has an export production, and moreover, that excess is the basic cause of the present strike.

Under normal conditions this country has more working mines than it needs, and to prevent over-production and hold up prices, the owners close them down for a part of the year. That denies the miners continuous employment, and has driven them to strike for wages sufficient to supply their needs during the idle period.

This economic waste results chiefly from the policy of the mine owners' association of fixing prices that are sufficient to enable the owners of the lean mines to pay profits. The owners of the richer mines, thus enabled to earn excessive profits, are content with that arrangement and the closing down of their properties for a part of the year.

This wasteful method is bad for the coal miners and the American public. A way should be found to stop mining in the high cost properties and fix coal prices and wages at figures that will bring production on a continuous basis in the richer mines. Increasing importations of European and Australian coal should bring the mine owners and the miners to their senses.—Spokesman.

THE PAPER FROM HOME

There lay on a stand in the marble hall
Of a city mansion with towers tall,
A country paper in its wrapper plain,
Almost unnoticed or scorned with disdain
By the liveried servants there.

Amid the splendor of wealth it lay
In its humble garb, through the long, long day;
Till the master came at eventide
Afar from the city's din.

Wreathed his face and for a while
In calm content he settled down
With the paper that came from his old home town
That he loved in the days of yore.

As he scanned its homely pages through
On memory's mirror appeared in view
Familiar scenes and the faces of friends
With the glad delight that memory sends
To a heart that is ever young.

He is back once more in the summer days
With the chums he knew in boyish plays
Diving into the swimming pool
In eager youthful play.

He roamed again through woods and fields,
Through orchards with their fruitful yields;
Through meadows green and won the lane
Where wild flowers still bloomed again
As in the bygone days.

The Sabbath evenings calm and still—
The country church upon the hill,
Where he humbly knelt by his mother's side,
Before his footsteps roamed awide

These treasured memories, kin to tears,
So often lost through passing years,
Crept slowly back with pleasure rare
To smooth the lines that time and care
Had written on his brow.

So the simple sheet with its homely face
Goes forth by times to find a place
In the heart of a man whose eyes grow dim
When the paper comes from home.

The election being over and the harvest about ripe, Manitoba farmers are more concerned about full elevators than vacant cabinet portfolios.

COULD SWING A BIG AX WITH ANYBODY NOW

That Is How Well Alexander Mearns Feels After Tanlac Put Him In Such Good Shape—Gains Ten Pounds

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I could hardly drag myself about, but now I could get out and swing an ax with any of my men," declared Alexander Mearns, Wadhams, B.C., a well-know timberman.

"For six years I suffered from the worst kind of indigestion. I felt bloated and had pains all through my chest after eating. Sometimes I could scarcely breathe. My back often hurt so bad sweat just rolled off me. I could hardly sleep at all, and got up every morning feeling all worn out.

"But Tanlac went right after my troubles. Now I am eating three rousing meals a day, have put on ten pounds in weight and feel fine all over. Tanlac certainly does the work."

AIMING AT COAST STEEL INDUSTRY

Does British Columbia possess sufficient iron ore to warrant the establishment of a permanent steel industry? That is about to be solved.

Under the Couglan agreement between the federal government and British Columbia, Dr. G. A. Young of the geological survey, has been delegated to undertake a survey of the hematite and magnetite resources of British Columbia and has left Victoria after conferring with the provincial officials of the mines department for several days, to commence his work.

Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines, made public recently the agreement between Ottawa and his department. The agreement shows that the Dominion government will be responsible for the examination of natural exposures of ore and country rock, for magnetic surveys,, topographical surveys and analytical determinations requisite for the accomplishment of the above purpose.

Trenching, drilling and other methods of examination of artificial exposures will be made by Dr. Young, as well as all necessary surveys and laboratory investigations. The geological survey will bear all expenses involved in this regard. A written report illustrated by maps, will be provided by the geological survey.

Dr. Young will commence his work in the Kootenays where he will examine the hematite ores. Another party will operate along the Coast studying the magnetite deposits. The cost to British Columbia will be charged against the properties benefited, said the minister, according to the provisions of the Mineral Survey and Development Act. Formerly the act made provision for charging a bonus equal to the cost of drilling, but this was amended by the legislature, so that the properties involved will be charged only the actual cost.—B.C. Financial Times.

A WORLD OF MISERY

Misery faces the world if tobacco is ever abolished as alcohol will be.

The effect of tobacco on the human body is one of those things about which science has little definite knowledge. Scientific opinion differs as to whether it is harmful, harmless or downright beneficial.

Extraordinarily old men have been known to ascribe their health and longevity to abstinence from tobacco, tc moderate use of tobacco and to the fact that they used it freely.

So far as actual facts go it would seem that tobacco, intelligently used, has no effect one way or another on human health or life.

Crusades against its use are based mainly on the perverted instinct that delights in taking away that which provides anything like enjoyment.

The marquis' dreaded "world of misery" will not arrive for a century or so anyway. And the first hundred years are always the hardest.

Uncle Sam is not saying much about the coal situation, but he may saw wood this winter.

PATRIOT SPY IDOL OF FRANCE

A good deal depends on getting away with it, as Mlle. Mistinguett can say and as Mata Hari would have said.

The two most famous among women spies in the Great War served for very different purposes and received very different rewards. Mata Hari faced the firing squad. Mistinguett saved her lover and herself.

Now the Legion of Honor is pinned on the fluttering bosom of the greatest of Parisian dancers, proud twinkler of the most beautiful pair of legs in all France. Now some of her story can be told, as the bold Sir Philip Gibbs would say.

In 1916, when the French secret service had fallen down, Mistinguett was asked to penetrate the German lines, seduce some of Germany's highest officers and gain vital information. It was promised that if she succeeded, the Republic would bring back Maurice Chevalier, a prisoner in Spain. If she failed—bien, c'est fini!

Mistinguett hesitated. This lovely woman loved life. But she loved France and Maurice Chevalier or France and Maurice more. So they gave her false papers and a former chauffeur of Prince Eitel Friedrich of Prussia, whose wife and children France held as hostages, and she motored through Switzerland into Germany.

To what lengths was the pretty dancer compelled to go to obtain the information her country needed? Just what were the wiles she had to practice in order to succeed so brilliantly, and what was the fearful price her womanhood had to pay? And who were the high German officers into whose heart she won her way, only to trick them out of the secrets they guarded so jealously?

These questions a writer in the New York Tribune asks, but does not answer. "Nothing can definitely be said, but not for nothing is a citizen deemed worthy of the great distinction of the Legion of Honor." It is sufficient that Mistinguett returned and likewise her sweetheart.

Not so Mata Hari. She sold out high Entente statesmen and officers for gold. One morning the firing squad shot her in the Vincennes Wood, a sour-officer added a bullet in her heart and the Javanese houri, garbed in her finest, lay like a torn bird. But Mlle. Mistinguett recently insured her shapely limbs for 750,000 francs. Yes, there is quite a difference. Vive Mistinguett and may she never need to collect the insurance.

Charles Ray's latest First National release, which comes to the Orpheum Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, is "The Deuce of Spades" and finds its motive in a sparkling comedy idea revolving about that card, which has been adapted from the story of the late Charles 1. Van Loan's "The Weight of the Last Straw."

In line with his policy of giving his successive screen productions distinctive characters, the star blossoms forth this time as a young, unsophisticated Bostonian who comes to the Montana mining community of Little Butte for business and future. His immaturity makes him a fit subject for all the con games ever invented. He buys a restaurant under rather unusual conditions, the establishment being about to give its expiring gasp when the youngster takes it over and makes something of a go of it by installing a few precepts of cleanliness and business management.

The final straw is packed on his back when he becomes the victim of the oldest card sharper's trick ever invented, the one that Noah is said to have made a clean up with. The hoax wears down the final bit of his passive reserve and he shoots things up, not only winning everybody's self respect, but also regaining his lost wealth, while the girl of his choice looks on approvingly.

The star has surrounded himself with a capable cast for this comedy offering. Marjorie Maurice plays the feminine lead, while other members of the company include Dick Southerland, Bert Offord and William Courtright, who were seen with Ray in "Gas, Oil and Water."

SHOVING BLUE LAWS TO THE LIMIT

There are some people down at Concord, New Hampshire, who believe that what is good for the goose is good for the gander. It seems that complaint was made against some boys for playing ball on Sundays in the fields surrounding Concord, and they were informed that under the old Blue Laws which have never been repealed, their actions were illegal. Thereupon ex-Senator Martin stepped into the breach, laying a formal complaint against the members of the Beaver Meadow Golf Club, who were driving the "pill" about on the Sabbath. He also informed one and all in Concord that if baseball could not be played on Sunday by the boys, he would initiate proceedings to clamp the lid on all Sunday amusements, including the use of the automobile, the selling of newspapers, music, indoors and outdoors, and so on. If people really wanted a dead town, he would make it as dead as a wooden Indian. Senator Martin does not believe in playing favorites in such matters. He maintains that if the blue laws are good for one class of the community they must be beneficial to all. At any rate he is going to try the experiment. — Saturday Night.

REAL JUSTICE IS SPEEDY

Exactly 26 days after the crime was committed, the murderers of Sir Henry Wilson were tried and condemned to death.

This is a record even in England where murder trials are conducted with the utmost dispatch compatible with fairness.

By making justice speedy, justice is preserved. When crime and punishment follow each other very rapidly, the inevitability of justice is impressed on a public mind still malleable with the shock of the crime.

Speedy justice makes law powerful to cope with crime because it instills respect for the omnipotence of law.

The rapid trials of the two murderers of Sir Henry Wilson, culminating in their sentence of death, will do much to quell the spirit of violence, the most virulent after effect of war. —Vancouver Sun.

TORONTO INQUIRES LETHBRIDGE COAL

(Lethbridge Herald)

Canadians are beginning to fear a coal famine the coming winter. Rapidly advancing prices with little coal available are causing enquiries to be received in Alberta coal fields from far away points. With Welsh coal being shipped into the United States, Nova Scotia coal to Ontario, with Manitoba getting no coal at all from any source, the outlook begins to look dark, according to investigations made by the Herald.

"We have Manitoba and Saskatchewan dealers making enquiries every day," said the sales manager of one coal concern to the Herald Monday. "They are anxious to begin stocking up for the fall demand. But outside of what the independent mines can supply there is little that can be done for them."

It is estimated that by the end of this month more than 1,500,000 tons of coal less will have been mined in Alberta this year than last. As against this Alberta mines face the prospect of having to furnish the market not only in Saskatchewan but also in Manitoba, for Manitoba is not getting a pound of coal from the United States fields which usually supply it. In addition, Toronto is making enquiries as to the possibility of securing coal from Alberta if the worst comes to the worst. The chances for Toronto are very slim, however. In the first place the coal is not available, and in the second, the freight rate is prohibitive. Coal at $6 per tons f.o.b. in Lethbridge would cost $28.70 laid down in Toronto, the freight rate being $1.13½ per hundredweight. However, Chicago is paying $18 per ton for small lots today, so Torontonians may yet be reduced to using Lethbridge coal before this winter if the strike should be settled here while it continues in the States.

Railways in the west which piled up large reserve dumps before the strike was called, are beginning now to call on reserves. The C.P.R. is shipping back from the Dunmore dump all the way to Frank to replenish the coaling station there.

There is a feeling among local mining men on both sides of the strike controversy that another attempt will shortly be made to settle the strike in Alberta on a temporary basis. The outlook in the United States for an early settlement is not bright and miners here are known to be anxious to consider some basis for a temporary agreement if the strike leaders will consider it.

"If we were to open the mines tomorrow," said one operator, "we could sell every pound we could mine between now and next spring. The men would be assured of steady work for there is a great demand for coal."

THE EVE OF PROGRESS

The call of those who hesitate about air-travel is not to the organizers of services but to the inventor. His is the mission to give us a machine, heavier than the air, that will not only travel but will remain suspended when it is not speeding ahead. Rumor suggests that we are on the eve of such a discovery. Once the experimental machines have been brought to the practical stage progress will be rapid. We shall see those argosies of the air of which the poet dreamed, big vessels carrying great weights and attaining speeds at present undreamt of. Nobody who considers the subject can believe that we have reached the final stage of development with the aeroplane. That is something serving a particular purpose upon which man has happened in his constant quest for victory over natural forces. It will give place to an invention that will probably depart altogether from the present theories of construction.—Westminster Gazette.

RABBIT FARMING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

'GREY BOY" A NINE POUND FLEMISH GIANT

MRS. McVicker, of "Tisvilde," Prospect Lake Vancouver Island, has one of the largest, if not quite the largest, rabbitry in British Columbia, and for the past year has been developing the idea of making yarn from the fine long fur of the beautiful Angora. Another idea is the weaving of rabbit fur rugs with a loom. Mrs. McVicker has kept rabbits on a commercial scale for the past five years.

"I have long got past the playful stage," she remarked, "and many people seem to think keeping rabbits is child's play, but it requires knowledge and experience like everything else if one is to be successful."

It is not only because she is making a success of an industry she is building up out of her own initiative that Mrs. McVicker is widely known She is a horticulturist and botanist, and has 115 varieties of plants growing in her garden. So remarkable is this garden of wild flowers that the Natural History Society of British Columbia makes a yearly pilgrimage to her home.

But to return to the rabbits. Among the breeds Mrs. McVicker favors are, besides the Angora, the grey, steel, and black Flemish giants, New Zealand reds, Himalaya, and black Siberians. While she began purely for pleasure, Mrs. McVicker has now gone thoroughly into the business. She is doing all she can to promote the industry, because she believes the value of the flesh and fur combined assures good profits.

The fur of the rabbits is very fine and close, and Mrs. McVicker has muffs and stoles made up from the black Siberian, blue Flemish and New Zealand reds, and lined with B.C. wool.

Rugs of woven rabbit fur made by Mrs. McVicker are very soft and pliable. Anyone with a loom can do the same. She has also plans for making other uses of the fur. She spins her own yarn from the pluck fur of the Angoras, and has a spinning wheel and reel belonging to her great grandmother.

In comparison with imported Angoras, the product of the B.C. bred rabbits favors the latter. Angoras are plucked two or three times a year. They must be hutched separately and kept immaculately clean and well combed so that the long fur is not matted. Otherwise they are cared for the same as other rabbits, and their flesh is a delicacy for the table. Mrs. McVicker's breeds are all white.

Some idea of the extent to which Mrs. McVicker goes in for live stock is gleaned by the fact that in addition to the big rabbitry she keeps chickens and pigeons among which are a pair of Blue Runts weighing 4½ pounds; 18 dogs and a Toggenburg goat.

Robt. Livett, Int. Board Member of District 18, paid a hurried visit to the city yesterday and later attended a meeting of the miners at Michel. He had nothing to say as to any probable settlement of the strike.

An informal meeting of the council was held last night, when Messrs. Brodie and Hoff, representatives of the Western Asphaltum Assn. were present and submitted very valuable information in connection with making over our streets in the down town section. This matter has been under consideration by the council for some time and now with the data supplied by these road-building experts more definite plans are under way with a view to undertaking at least a portion of these improvements this year.

Dr. Walter Wrigglesworth, formerly of Fernie, but for the past eight years a dentist in Vancouver, died suddenly in that city on Sunday last. The Vancouver Province contains the following reference to his death:

Dr. Walter Wrigglesworth, dental surgeon, who has practiced in Vancouver for the past ten or twelve years, died suddenly last night. He was born in Victoria 47 years ago, and his father is still liviing there. He was prominent in both Masonic and Odd Fellow circles, having been past master of the Masonic Lodge at Cedar Cottage, and noble grand of Mt. Fernie Lodge Odd Fellows.

Dr. Wrigglesworth was well known in the interior, having practiced dentistry at Fernie for some years before coming here. He leaves a wife, one son, one daughter and two brothers, and his father in Victoria.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie Annex.

Dear Sir—According to an item in your "Locals" column of last week it would appear that the council of this city have a few thousand dollars that are not needed for any particular purpose just at present.

As said item has it, the ash sidewalks, while a decided improvement over the old board ones — generally loose boards at that—are not things of beauty, but if they will last a couple of years, would it not be a waste of both time and money to replace them with permanent ones just now? Let them serve their purpose until it is necessary to renew them. In the meantime, why not use some of the surplus dollars in making "Fernie the Beautiful" and healthy city it should be. Nature has done her share with no sparing hand, and the councillors should do theirs. What say the Rotary Club to this?

Now, I take it, the first duty of council and citizens is to secure healthy surroundings for all, and this brings me to the real purpose of this communication, viz., the sanitary conditions obtaining in Fernie Annex. Why not use those dollars in giving us the sewerage? For my part, I would like to erect a tent in one of the back lanes of this part of the town and compel the Medical Officer, Mayor and Councillors to dwell therein for just one week. I think then those who escaped serious sickness as a result, would make an energetic move towards improving conditions.

I hope you will find place to insert this in your next issue, and thanking you in advance, I sign myself

A Lover of Fernie.

P.S.—This voices the sentiments of most of the Annex ratepayers, and if you need names I could secure a goodly number.

FOOTBALL

Blairmore and Hillcrest met in the final for the Grand Central Cup at Blairmore on Saturday last. There was a large crowd of fans present. The game was very warmly contested, and although not the classiest of football, was exciting and interesting, Bellevue winning by 1 goal to 0. Tommy Smith handled the game satisfactorily. A protest has been lodged by Hillcrest against Bellevue playing alleged ineligible players. This will be decided at next league meeting., which will be held at Michel on Sunday next.

Coal Creek journeyed to Blairmore on Wednesday and were defeated in the first round of the Crahan Cup.

Fernie will meet Michel on the Michel grounds for the 1st round in the Crahan Cup on Sunday. Bellevue and Hillcrest play in the same round at Hillcrest on Saturday.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

HOUSE FLIES KILL CHILDREN

From the Toronto Globe, Nov. 17, 1921.

Milton, Nov. 16.—As a result of a strange disease, the origin of which is baffling the doctors in this part of Ontario, two children belonging to a well known family in Nassagaweya township, near Milton, have died in agony.

Two weeks ago three of the five children became suddenly ill with the disease, which was accompanied by convulsions. Dr. McNiven of Acton was called, but was unable to diagnose the case. Dr. Howitt, of Guelph, was then sent for, and he, too, was baffled, as were other physicians who have since been called.

The first child, a girl of 15 months, passed away a few days ago, and the second, a three year old boy, was buried yesterday. The third child, a boys of five years, is still seriously ill.

Dr. Howitt believes the sickness was caused by a fly carrying a contagious disease, and depositing it on apples which were eaten by the three children. The lining of the bowels of the two children who died came off, and their bodies were reduced to skin and bones.

Dr. Grant Fleming, Deputy Medical Officer of Health for Toronto, stated yesterday he did not think these children were suffering from any unknown disease. The condition of wasting of abdominal tissue, he said, was not unusual in cases of children violently infected through fly-tainted milk or food. He thought their symptoms resembled an acute form of sickness common among children in summer.

In these peaceful days when it is impossible to obtain even an ice cream cone in Fernie on Sunday, one looks back with regret upon the days of real sport of a few years ago when the Greenwood Ledge contained the following reference to our fair city: "Dynamiting the water system in Fernie is the newest form of terror in the hell of Canada. For trouble, horrors, calamities, and evil deeds in general Fernie holds the record for any town of its size in Canada. The altitude, aided by over-stimulating food and drink may have something to do with many of the devilish stunts that have been pulled off in that town since coal put it on the map." "Them days are gone forever."

There will be a meeting of the Fernie District Reconstruction Committee in the city hall on Monday evening July 31, at .30 p.m. A very important matter to come before the meeting will be the disposition of the funds remaining after the erection of the memorials in the city and in the cemetery. It has been suggested by a number of citizens that this money should be utilized along with the Children's Fund and other monies which may be obtained from the city for the purpose of erecting a Community Building, including a swimming pool, library, gymnasium and accommodation for the returned men. It is hoped that as many returned men as possible and as many other citizens as may be interested will attend.

Why Chiropractic Can Be Called a Science.

One reason why chiropractors do not hesitate to say that chiropractic is a science is because it is based on the anatomy of the body, rather than its chemistry. The chemistry of the body is in a constant state of change, but the anatomy, though subject to slight (and often troublesome) changes in details, never varies in general construction.

When the chiropractor takes a case he seeks to find the anatomical cause. He knows that it will be located in the spine. The mechanical relation of one joint of the spine with another will be found disturbed. He is dealing with a condition—a fact—rather than a symptom. His correction is an adjustment, a mechanical restoration of the disturbed joints of the spine to their correct position.

The cause of hay-fever, enlarged tonsils, heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nervous disorders are all found in the spine and generally these respond readily to adjustments.

BRITISH COAL FOR AMERICA

New York, July 24.—Forty-two ships have been chartered to transport British coal to this country to relieve the emergency by the combined coal miners' and railroad shop men's strike, it was announced by the United States Shipping Board.

It is said these ships assure the delivery of more than 350,000 tons of coal in New York within the next six weeks.

London, July 24.—The ill wind of the American strike blows good to British miners and shippers. For months past British mines have worked only 50 per cent capacity and orders have been scarcer and prices too low for living wages or minimum profits. The same applies to shipping. The rivers are choked with boats laid up and the demand of the last few days from the United States and Canada for coal and freightage has been very welcome, though the British seem fearful that the orders are only a flash in the pan and will not be substantial enough to warrant the recommissioning of tonnage laid up and the restarting of mines now closed down.

If the demand is firm, coal and freightage supplies on this side are almost unlimited. Present prices are low. The best Welsh steam coal is 25 shillings a ton and the cheaper grades of small coal as low as 13 shillings. These prices are below the cost of production and sellers will not quote for large future deliveries, as they expect prices to advance. Steamers are being chartered for Montreal and American ports' tonnage at rates of 7½ to 9 shillings, though charterers are holding back because cheaper tonnage from the American shipping board is reported available.

Official figures show that over a million tons of British shipping is laid up in port, while British mines are capable of an annual coal output of 266,000,000 tons. The actual rate owing to poor demand, is below 200,000,000 so that a large potential surplus is available for export. Every kind and grade of coal is available. Large American orders have been placed in the last few days for gas, locomotive and furnace coal.

Efforts to persuade British miners not to allow coal to be mined for export will prove futile, for they remember that during the British strike last year Americans grabbed the British markets. Canada can have all the British coal she wants this winter, if she orders in time. The British are characteristically cautious about restarting their mines and recommissioning tonnage, but if persuaded that the demand is large enough, they will deliver the goods. The present low coal prices and freight rates will undoubtedly advance, but favorable terms can be got if the orders are substantial.

STORY OF "WILD HONEY"

Which Will Be Shown at the Isis, Friday and Saturday, July 28-29

Lady Vivienne Giffard-Carlton, a haughty English beauty, is used by her grandfather to lure Henry Porthen, an uncouth but wealthy business man, into an investment. Porthen learns he has been duped, and in revenge, invites Lady Vivienne to his hunting lodge, accompanied by Fred Sutherland, a society light-weight.

At the lodge, Porthen locks Freddy in a room and then has Vivienne in his power. She fights him in vain, but is saved by a pistol shot from an unseen hand, which kills the lodge-owner. Vivienne thinks Freddy fired the shot, but it really was done by a woman wronged by Porthen.

A year later Lady Vivienne is in South Africa looking into her property holdings. Wolf Montague, a Cape Town political force, falls in love with her, but she is indifferent to him. In a trip across the veldt she is lost. A degenerate teamster finds her. She is faced with life as a white captive, when Kerry Burgess, a young hydraulic engineer, stumbles across the teamster's camp. That night Burgess overcomes the teamster and his two negro helpers and carries her safely to the nearest town. For the first time in her life she falls in love.

Just when she is going to join Kerry and become his wife, she finds Freddy Sutherland, now a drunken wreck. Her conscience prompts her to care for him and so she fails to keep her marriage appointment. Later Sutherland explains he ran away like a coward on the night at the lodge. He slips away again, rather than be a burden to her.

She overhears a plot instigated by Wolf Montague through jealousy and business reasons, to dynamite a dam and drown Burgess and his band of colonists, opening up a near-by river valley to cultivation.

Vivienne rides a race against death to warn her lover. She arrives as the water is sweeping down the valley upon the trapped families. She is in time to save most of them, but she and Kerry are caught in the rushing torrent. Providence alone brings them safely ashore far down the valley. From a haughty English society girl, Vivienne has been changed into a warm-blooded woman, glorying in the love of her engineer sweetheart. She has tasted the Wild honey of adventure and perfect love.

ORPHEUM—FRIDAY and SATURDAY, JULY 28 and 29

METHODISTS PLAN CHURCH IN ROME

Rome—Recent protests against the activities of the American Y.M.C.A. have drawn a good deal of comment in the United States. What happened was that Signor Novacio, member of the Popolari, which is a Roman Catholic party, asked the government, during a session of the chamber, whether it was aware" of the danger of the presence in Italy of the Y.M.C.A.; of the way it got hold of our emigrants and its anti-Catholic propaganda in this country." This member went on to demand that the government turn them out of the houses they occupied and take steps to curtail their activities.

The Under Secretary of State for Interior, Signor Casertano, replied, saying the American Y.M.C.A. had done much good work "in assisting our soldiers during the war and the government had made inquiries into its work since the armistice, and had come to the conclusion that it never tried to exercise any political influence in the country, and further, that any action would bring danger to the country.

Signor Novasio was not satisfied with this explanation and said he regretted very much to hear that no less than fifty Italian army officers at Turin took courses of English lessons given by the Y. M. C. A. in that city.

Lobby gossips have amplified the incident by declaring that the objecting member, when making his complaint, got mixed up between two big American institutions now working in Italy and really meant to criticize the work of the Methodists more than the Y.M.C.A. but thought they were all one organization.

The Methodists have bought up a large site on Monte Mario, one of Rome's highest hills, and planned to build there a church. Neither the Pope nor the rest of the people who live at the Vatican were seriously disturbed at this announcement even when the plan materialized to such an extent that the foundation stone was laid and the walls of a school began to rise on the top of the said hill.

At present the controversy stands thus:

The Italian government, after making an enquiry, have satisfied themselves that neither the American Y. M.C.A. nor the Methodists are interfering with the internal affairs of the country, whereas from a religious standpoint, Italy is absolutely free and every religion and every sect has a right to plant its standard on Italian soil. This standpoint is quite in keeping with Italian ideas of liberty, ideas by which the Church of Rome itself benefits.

The Italian government, through the Ministry of Fine Arts and the Roman municipality, have safeguarded Monte Mario from the erection of any buildings that would be an eyesore.

HISTORY TO SUIT ALL TASTES

The assertion by a southern woman admiringly described by a committee of Confederate veterans as "our great hearted historian," that Abraham Lincoln was personally responsible for the bringing on of the Civil War, is one of the foolish developments of the time, another manifestation of a disposition shown in several quarters to rewrite American history to suit groups.

Die-hard southerners insist on having school histories which handle the Civil War in a way that would not jar the pride of former Confederates, and it is said by those who have examined these books that a child can get little real knowledge of that war from their pages and is likely to experience some surprises, as indisputable facts differing from his teachings are impressed upon him in later life. But for that matter, the school histories that are put into hands of northern children are so skeletonized by the necessity of getting through with the study inside of a fixed period that unless the teacher is so familiar with United States history that she can make it interesting and therefore impressive with or without textbooks, children are not likely to leave the grade schools with more than the merest smattering of information about their country.

And in these days of many frills and fads, few grade teachers can be specialists in any line.—Rocky Mountain News.

BOLSHEVIST PLOT IN FRANCE

The frantic scene in the French Chamber of Deputies on July 5, when ex-Premier Viviani, formerly identified with the moderate socialist party, triumphantly vindicated Raymond Poincare, the present Premier of France, of the charge of having caused the war, is a culmination of the efforts made by the Soviet government of Russia to embarrass the heads of existing governments in France. It will be recalled that Poincare was Premier of France in 1911-13, the period of the Agadir crisis in Northern Africa, and other international anxieties. In 1913 he became President of the Republic and continued in that office for some time after the war broke out; while Viviani became his successor as Premier.

Truthfulness has never been a shining virtue of the Russian politician of whatever school of thought, and the Bolshevist agents who have for three years been endeavoring to bedevil the government in all Allied countries have never allowed facts to embarrass them. The lie that was best suited to local consumption has been circulated to destroy confidence in ruling statesmen. It is part of the policy of the Soviet regime to exculpate Germany from blame for having started the war. In Russia such propaganda serves the purpose of helping to further discredit the old Czarist regime with the Russian masses. In France the endeavor has been to destroy confidence in her more prominent statesmen, in order to create a state of political confusion that would render France more or less impotent in the counsels of Europe. This conspiracy had had a back fire that was unanticipated; for it has aroused such violent feelings against Russia that it is almost impossible to reconcile public sentiment in France to those peaceful settlements which are necessary to the restoration of prosperity in Europe.

In circulating the charges that Poincare was equally or even more guilty than the ex-Kaiser in starting the war, Soviet Russia has utilized a renegade named Rene Marchand, formerly a French officer, who went to Russia and allied himself with the Bolshevist regime. Marchand was given access to the archives of the old Russian Foreign Office and instructed to publish a "Black Book" deduced from secret diplomatic reports fastening blame for the war on the French statesmen of the immediate pre-war period, like Poincare, Delcasse, and other men of eminence. Marchand in March and April last, during the progress of the Genoa conference, published a series of charges in the French Communist organ "Humanite" which aims to establish a Soviet government in France. No doubt these articles were the basis of the charges made by Communist Deputies, which precipitated the moderate Socialist Viviani's vindication of Poincare and his glowing appeal for a return to the "sacred union" among all political parties, cemented in 1914.

In Marchand's articles, the former Russian ambassador to France, Count Isvolskii, figures as the villain of the drama, and the charges are based chiefly on his confidential reports to St. Petersburg, during the three years preceding the war. Marchand's aim seems also to have been to discredit the moderate socialists of France, by branding them as at heart "bourgeoisie," a synonym for baseness with men of his ilk. In the immediate pre-war era there was some alarm lest the growing power of the socialists in France would lead to a breach with the absolute Russia. Isvolkii reported that there was little cause for alarm, since a nation which had invested so heavily in Russian bonds would think twice about imperilling these securities by differences over a mere question of governmental theory. While statesmen might flatter the "disinherited classes" with socialistic utterances, they had no idea of carrying these ideas to the length of siding with the communist party in Russia and destroying the alliance with the Czarist government. It is a curious illustration of the communist mind, that Marchand deems such private diplomatic reports as cynical and sinister.

The charges against Poincare are based on the fact that Isvolkii on the latter's elevation to the Premiership wrote home that he was a man of great ability, though excessively vain, and inclined to resent anything that betrayed lack of regard for his position and opinion. Isvolkii said, "If an international crisis occurs, which God forbid, it is very important that we should have him wholly on our side to be able to utilize his energy and resolution. With this in view, we must constantly keep in mind his morbid vanity. But apart from this defect, you will already have discovered that he is a man of great sincerity and rectitude."

This was in 1912 and by Marchand and the French communists these words are interpreted to mean that Russia was already plotting war and hoped to get Poincare on her side. Shortly after this Russia ruffled Poincare by announcing to Germany her intention of intervening in the Italian-Turkish war in Tripoli, before notifying France. The French premier made it clear that he regarded this as an affront and unofficially promulgated his intention to secure a more complete understanding with the Triple Entente (France, Russia and Great Britain) for naval, military, diplomatic and financial co-operation. Subsequently it was announced that Russia had agreed not to negotiate with Germany, thereafter, regarding any European question, without a previous understanding with France.

The communist contention is that Poincare thus further alarmed Germany and helped to precipitate the war. On such flimsy grounds, greatly elaborated, the Bolshevist intriguers in France have tried to make it appear Poincare was really the author of the war; and in some fantastic way they have tried to bring the United States into the conspiracy too. It is stuff that could only fool the person who is anxious to believe it. —Saturday Night.

Unless you know what Carnation Milk is you do not fully appreciate its great value and convenience.

Carnation Milk is just pure, fresh cows' milk with part of the water removed by our process of evaporation. This reduces the volume but otherwise does not change the properties of the milk. Then it is canned and sealed hermetically and, after canning, it is thoroughly sterilized.

Carnation Milk is full cream evaporated. Nothing is added; nothing is removed but water. Thus, without sacrificing anything, Carnation gains for you compactness and indefinite keeping quality together with the positive assurance of unvarying purity, absolute safety, and true economy. Use it when you need it. Only remember that Carnation is twice as rich as ordinary milk. To reduce it to the consistency of fresh milk, add water.

Keep Carnation on hand always. It has a hundred uses in every kitchen. Cook with it; use it in coffee and tea, on cereals, on fruits. Order half a dozen cans from your grocer and give it a thorough trial.

Makes about 1½ quarts. Serve with strawberries or other fruit.

TRY THIS FOR SANDWICH FILLING

Take 4 oz. of cream cheese; 2 tablespoons Carnation; ⅛ teaspoon salt; 1 tablespoon pimentos and cayenne. Soften cheese with milk; add pimentos, salt and cayenne. Mix thoroughly and spread between thin slices of bread unbuttered.

CANADIANS AND BRITISH GIRLS

Of all marriage intermixtures under the sun, there is perhaps none that can compare with the one between a Canadian man and a British girl, writes "A Canadian" in the London Daily Mail.

By a "Canadian" I mean a Canadian born, not an immigrant whose Canadianism is but veneer, and by British I mean a typical middle-class girl from a London suburb or country town.

As convoy officer in charge of hundreds of returning Canadian soldiers and their brides, and as a Canadian who has encountered hundreds of such marriages in Canada and elsewhere, I have tried to analyze the elements of their success.

The Canadian man is as near 100 per cent male as the British girl is 100 per cent female, and the result of this natural mating has been children as near 100 per cent perfect, and almost invariably of the male sex.

For a new country like Canada this is a "consummation devoutly to be wished." The war, like a pruning knife has cut away a number of the Dominion's finest branches, but it has only resulted in the production of more and better fruit.

Having found the psychological situation to be undoubtedly favorable, it only remained to be seen how the brides would survive the transplanting process from their old to their new homes.

When they first arrived in Canada they found things different; they were inclined to call them "funny" or "queer."

The trains were different, the stations were different, the money was different; there were no 'buses, no hedgerows, and no double-decked tram cars; only fences and street cars.

Canadians know this; they also know the remedy. The brides were sent home by their husbands to revisit old scenes.

At first they were happy in a realization of their dreams, then they became aware that things seemed duller and incredibly smaller than they remembered them; they missed the telephones that were so useful, the electric housekeeping appliances, and most of all they missed "the man."

Finally, often before their time was up, they asked to be brought back. They returned Canadianized; Britain was a pleasant place to visit, but now Canada was home.

These daughters of Empire, as they may rightly be called, are doing more to cement the bonds that hold the Commonwealth together than all the politicians that have ever lived.

They are carrying British courage and stamina to the new Dominions.

They are raising a manhood with British ideals. Their sons will be true sons of the Great Dominion, but they will ever look with affection to the home of their mothers, perhaps in the hour of its need.

GEN. WU PEI FU CHINA'S STRONG MAN

Gen. Wu Pei Fu of the Yangtze River Valley in Central China, where he has been Inspector General of the provinces of Hupeh and Hunan, has attention centered by his victories over Gen. Chang Tso Lin of Manchuria and Dr. Sun Yet Sen of South China, for the reunification of the country and organization of a single government. He is also said to be ready to resign his own military post in the interest of a civil administration. Gen. Wu is an educated man and has favored a people's convention and representative government in the provinces. He has more confidence among the students and merchants than China's other military men, but they are watching him closely to see whether he will now seek personal power. He is an extraordinary man in appearance, with magnetic eyes, and fine presence. He has won the loyalty of such diverse persons as General Cheng, China's Christian soldier, and the old premier, Hsu Shi Chang, a statesman of the old school.

Man born of a woman is of few days and full of trouble. In the morning he knows who will win the 5th race, and in the evening he is in luck if he knows where he can borrow money for his car fare home.

A Canadian trade representative has been appointed to attend a commercial conference to be held in Honolulu. The matter of placing an embargo on ukuleles and grass suits may be discussed.

PIONEER OF KOOTENAY DEAD IN ENGLAND

The old timers of the district will regret to hear of the death of J. E. (Ted) Humphrey, which took place at Leamington, Warwick, England, on the 28th of June last. He came to this district in the early eighties and with the Hon. Fred Aylmer bought the Wolf Creek ranch from William and Peter Fernie. He made a small fortune out of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and retired to England, selling his place finally to Mr. Doyle, after the death of Wm. French, who rented the place from him.

Ted Humphrey's word was his bond and he had the respect of everyone in the country, and the little band of pioneers is the loser by his death of one of its best. His heart was always in the Kootenays although his duties called him to live elsewhere, and he never lost his interest in the district up to the time of his death. He still has considerable property in the district in real estate and mines. — Cranbrook Courier.

CONTINUOUS MUSEUM DECAY

In a civilization that is always changing, always replacing and renewing, there is little that keeps stationary. We try through our museums to keep a hold on the vanishing past and to snatch some few things from oblivion. But even in the museums the common process of decay goes on, though the public knows little of it.

Turner's lose the glories of their colors and have to be jealousiy hidden behind shutters. Chemical changes and miscropic agents of decay, like bacteria, moulds and lichens, have to be reckoned with. Pictures, engravings, fabrics become spotted and disfigured, and bright tints are dulled. The surface of stone monuments flake off; colored enamels break away from their metal bases. An object made of a silver allow may turn into an unrecognizable mass because the metal has changed into its chloride. The seals and other lead objects in one case may turn into a white powder, while another case in the same room may be immune.

Unless the museums can bring science to their aid, there is small chance of our passing on the complete history that we should like. Something is being done by that valuable and insufficiently supported government institution, the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, which has just issued, through the Stationery Office, a first account of recent researches into methods of cleaning and restoring exhibits at the British Museum. Dr. Alexander Scott, the distinguished chemist detailed for the work, here relates how, by perfectly safe means, the "foxiness" or mildewing of prints and drawings can be renewed and the blackened whites of old colored drawings restored. He had also made important investigations into the effect of age on metals, and has brought back ancient silver vessels, corroded and almost rotten, to something like their old brilliancy. His researches show that we are only at the beginning of this branch of applied chemical science. The new methods of treatment may be of great use in salvaging the finds of archaeological excavation, so often ruined by the effects of a few thousand years' burial.

There has always been something melancholy in the thought of how much of the beauty of the "rich proud cost of outworn buried age" has been lost to us through the defacements of decay.

While the school has been in sympathetic touch with this young man's work, he owes his success to a good original mind and a still more original capacity for systematic work. He expects to attend B.C. university next term, where we predict for him a successful career. Incidentally, Wm. Dicken's performance in securing 100 in each of his matric. mathematic classes is an achievement rare enough to justify special mention.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE ON CONDITIONS

The trial of Rex vs. Taylor is proceeding today before His Honor Judge Thompson. The serious charge in this connection was reduced by Magistrate Stenson, when he held he could only commit accused on a charge of indecent assault from the evidence adduced by the Crown. On the trial, however, when it opened this morning, in addition to the charge of indecent assault, the accusation contained a second count which is a more serious offence. The accused was found guilty of indecent assault by His Honor Judge Thompson and the penalty imposed was six months, but operation of the sentence in so far as accused being sent to gaol at Nelson, was suspended, upon the condition that the lad report every week to the provincial police as to his activities, and while remaining in the city must not appear upon the streets or in public after eight o'clock. His Honor instructed both accused and authorities that the conditions of suspension must be rigidly enforced, failing which the gaol sentence will apply.

LEWIS CALLS CONFERENCE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—A joint conference of operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous fields to be held in Cleveland next Monday for the purpose of negotiating a basic agreement designed to end the present coal strike was called today by John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers.

President Lewis gave out a statement in which he said:

"We are able to fight indefinitely, but much prefer the pursuit of peace to the ills of industrial warfare. We feel that the American public will support our offer to meet at the conference table and will encourage the corporate interests involved to have their representatives present."

ARTISTIC PLAYERS IN "THE LAW AND THE WOMAN"

A cast of rare excellence was chosen for the principal roles of Betty Compson's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Law and The Woman," which will be the big feature at the Orpheum Theatre Friday and Saaturday. As Maragret Rolfe, a suffering wife, Miss Compson has one of the finest roles of her screen career.

Cleo Ridgely, former Paramount favorite in such pictures as "The Golden Chance," "The House With the Golden Windows," etc., returns to the screen after several years' absence to play the role of Clara Foster, a vamp. William T. Carleton plays the leading male role. Mr. Carleton is a well known screen and stage player and was seen as the minister in "The Inside of the Cup" and other in other Paramount pictures. He plays the part of Julian Rolfe.

Casson Ferguson, who was in the cast of Miss Compson's former picture, "At the End of The World," and who is regarded as one of the most popular leading juvenile actors, is seen as Phil Long. Henry Barows, Helen Dunbar, Clarence Burton and others also are in the cast.

PRELIMINARY WORK STARTED

A. Watson, manager of the Home Bank, paid a visit to the property of the new pulp company in the South Country on Wednesday. The new townsite, which has been surveyed, will be called McNabb, after the famous Charlie, who has been largely instrumental in interesting American capitalists in this project. Camp buildings are being erected and the preliminary work is under way for the construction of the big dam near Phillips bridge. It is estimated that the company will spend a couple of million dollars before the paper and pulp mills will be ready to ship their product. It is the intention to develop about six thousand horsepower from their water plant, to be used in operating their plant, which will consist of a paper and pulp mill and a large sawmill with a capacity of 120,000 feet of lumber per day. The new townsite will shortly be put on the market, when it is expected there will be a big rush.

COMPETITIONS LABOR DAY

An event of considerable interest to those engaged in the mining industry will take place in Fernie on Labor Day, Sept. 4, when the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association will hold its Annual Mine Rescue and First Aid competitions here. This is the first meet of the kind to be held in Fernie, and from present indications promises to be, from the standpoint of the number of teams engaged, the largest yet held in the Dominion of Canada. The object of the Association in holding such competitions is to stimulate interest and activity in safety measures and precautions among those actively engaged in the industry, as well as to develop such skill in First Aid and Mine Rescue work as may be useful in minimizing the effects of accidents.

The teaching of First Aid methods plays a large part in the work of the Association, and classes are organized throughout the district each winter. However, the necessity for this knowledge is not confined to the mining industry, and the classes are open to all those wishing to take part. In the competitions, while the senior class is confined to men working in and around the mines, prizes are also provided for Ladies and Junior Teams, the age limit in the latter being 18 years. The First Aid problems here published are being sent out by the Association to all teams who intend to take part, and from these problems the tests to be performed on the day of the competition will be selected on the ground by the Judges.

The Mine Reseue competitions have been brought about as the result of the introduction of self-contained breathing apparatus for resuce work following and attendant upon mine fires or other accidents which may render the mine atmosphere unbreathable, and are used to demonstrate the efficiency of different types of apparatus under service conditions, as well as to demonstrate the efficiency or otherwise of accepted methods of training. For this purpose a demonstration mine is constructed in which the team work is carried out, and attached to which is a smoke chamber in which the efficiency of the apparatus is tested.

Considerable interest in the competition is being shown in the mining districts of Southern Alberta, and one of the Government Mine Rescue Cars will be brought to Fernie on that day for accommodation of the visiting teams.

HILLCREST WOMAN CONFESSES MURDER OF BROTHER-IN-LAW

(Lethbridge Herald, Aug. 1)

Mrs Mary Joy, of Hillcrest, gave herself up to the Alberta Provincial Police there this morning confessing to have killed her brother-in-law, Sam Joy, on Tuesday, July 25th, according to a statement given out by Inspector Bavin of the A.P.P. here.

Mrs. Joy confessed that the killing was done at her home in Hillcrest in a fit of frenzy, the victim having endeavored to indecently assault her. "I turned from a woman into a tigress," she said in her confession.

The body of the victim has been lying on a bed in the shack ever since, and when found was somewhat decomposed.

No details as to how the killing was accomplished are available at present but it is presumed that she knocked her assailant down, and beat him, death resulting from internal injuries later.

The husband has just returned, and it is presumed that he used his influence to get his wife to confess to the police.

Sam Villa has been held in custody as a material witness, he having come into the shack just after or during the assault, and assisted in placing the victim on the bed.

An inquest is being held today. Sergt. Scott and Const. Moriarty of the A. P. P. are investigating.

LADIES' GOLF CLUB

An approach and putting competition committee will be held next Tuesday afternoon for handicaps over 30.

Mrs. Herchmer has presented two golf balls for this competition. Play will commence at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Watson won the Wilson Cup Tuesday afternoon, score 50-17 33.

ROBBERY AT FLAGSTONE

A robbery of J. McCabe's premises at Flagstone was reported on Monday this week, wherein it was alleged that some $1500 in valuables had been taken from the residence premises. The stolen property, consisting of cash, cheques, promissory notes and Victory bonds, was contained in a trunk. This was removed from the dwelling. The provincial police investigated and subsequently located the trunk on a sand bar in the Kootenay river. It had been smashed in at one end and the bank notes and cheques removed. The thieves, however, did not carry their investigation of the contents sufficiently far enough to secure all the valuables the trunk contained, as there was $200 in silver, some promissory notes and the Victory bonds left, and these were recovered undamaged when the trunk was found. So far no information has been laid in connection with the offence.

TO SEIZE LIQUOR CONSIGNMENTS

Vancouver, Aug. 2.—In an effort to prevent the operation of any independent liquor dealers, the provincial attorney general has placed government men in every liquor warehouse in Vancouver, with instructions to seize every consignment of liquor sold out of such warehouses and to hold them until their destination can be inquired into.

Attorney General Manson takes the position that the provincial Liquor act of 1921 makes illegal the sale of liquor by any but government vendors, even when liquor thus sold is intended for export. The order affects more than a score of liquor trading companies, operating under legal incorporation and dealing in bonded liquor stocks worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. Most of the liquor sold by them was sold for export to Mexico, and was said to be purchased for ultimate smuggling into the United States.

FERNIE AND MICHED DRAW IN FOOTBALL GAME

Fernie visited Michel last Sunday to play in the first round of the Crahan Cup. The game resulted in a draw, one each. The weather was too hot for football, making the game slow at times. Fernie held Michel easily in the first half, the defence being quick on the ball and giving Michel forwards very little chance at goal. The Fernie centre broke away and Davidson sent the ball over to Robson, who scored after a good run, but to the surprise of the Fernie team the referee gave offside. Fernie were attacking when the whistle blew.

All the players retreated to the water trough, some going in head first, the bath being acceptable and helping them to finish the second period. H. Travers was the only player who seemed to locate the Fernie goal. He tested Sawyer with several good shots but could not beat him. Jimmy Davidson scored Fernie's first goal six minutes before time. Michel were now desperate and changed their team around, which seemed to have the desired effect. Bert Travers, who moved to centre, took advantage of some loose play by the Fernie boys, and shot through a bunch of players. Sawyer was covered and had no chance to save, but saved his side from defeat, stopping many good shots when everybody seemed to stand still. Michel was lucky to equalize, but everybody will be gald to see both teams do battle next Sunday in the replay. Come out and boost at the North End grounds. Kickoff at 6 p.m. sharp. Billy Banks will handle the game and the spectators are sure of a treat. The following team will represent Fernie:

FIRST AID PROBLEMS

List of First Aid problems from which tests will be drawn by the Judges for the competitions.

In all competitions the Judges may require stretcher drill or the carrying of the patient as part of any one of the tests drawn.

The Judges may question any member of a team during the performance of a test with reference to the injuries and the method of treatment.

Ladies First Aid Problems from which two tests will be drawn:

The patient has been struck and run over by a freight car and has the right hand severed at the wrist, a severe scalp wound four inches long from above the right ear to the back of the head, and is in shock—Treat.

The patient is seen to rush from a house with the back and upper portion of her clothing in flames. When examined she is found to be suffering from severe burns of the hands, arms and exposed parts of the neck, chest and back.—Take charge of the patient and treat.

Junior First Aid problems from which two tests will be drawn:

A boy has been knocked down and run over by an automobile and complains of severe pains around the sixth and seventh ribs on the right side when breathing, and is spitting frothy blood. His right leg below the knee is mis-shapen and is doubled under his left leg—Treat and prepare for transportation.

A boy has fallen while kicking a football and cannot get up. He complains of severe pain in the left knee, which, being examined, is somewhat swollen above and below, and has an indentation across the kneecap. RAIL STRIKE FIRST, THEN COAL PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 31.—The rail strike settlement first and then the coal problem; that's President Harding's course this week. And he has a feeling that when the fairness of the rail strike settlement is disclosed the striking miners and operators will find themselves compelled by powerful public opinion to make concessions to each other's viewpoints and bring peace.

Neither the railroad executives nor the railway employees will be able to say that the settlement is what they would have made it left to themselves in a prolonged fight. But the intervention of the president has been on the theory that the American people will not permit the disputants to have a fight to a finish.

And the same is true of the coal controversey. Operators are adamant in their stand, miners' representatives are stubbornly refusing to concede an inch; but both will have to change tactics before the end of this week, when they are brought face to face with the chief executive in the White House and are asked in the name of the American people to accept a compromise.

Neither miners nor operators will voluntarily make concessions. They will not even give in to persuasion from peaceful elements in their own ranks. Both laborers and operators are being urged from within to make a settlement, but when the president of the United States takes the initiative again he is expected to get compliance from both operators and miners.

There were many unfortunate phases to the last effort at peace which emanated from the White House. For one thing, the operators wanted more time to fight; they believed that if the government would furnish troops to protect strikebreakers the nonunion production soon would reach a point where it would scare the union men into submsision. As for the union leaders, they were confident that later on they would get better terms of settlement.

The war of exhaustion has gone on for two weeks since Mr. Harding proposed arbitration. Figures just issued by the United States geological survey show that non-union production since the operators were invited to resume operations has not been sufficient to warrant the nation in feeling comfortable about fuel supplies next winter. The figures are by no means satisfactory to the administration, no matter how indicative they might be to the operators of gradual increase in production.

The operators blame the rail strike and say lack of cars is hindering production. But government information contradicts that assertion.

Not enough coal has been mined and not enough men are at work to insure an adequate supply.

In the face of these facts the government will try again to mediate in the dispute. Further conferences between the leaders of operators' organizations and unions are inevitable before the end of this week. There is a feeling of the utmost confidence that this time a new compromise can be launched and that it will be accepted.

It would have required very little modification on fundamental to bring about a settlement the last time the coal disputants were here. That modification did not come because the pressure of public opinion through the president was not sufficiently acute. Industrial peace may be said to be in sight now. The situation in the coal industry is such that a settlement can not be rejected by either side. President Harding has made the railroad executives see the importance of the public welfare over abstract issues in unionism and the same may be predicted for the coal operators' and miners' spokesmen.

The Tacoma Ledger suggests that Lloyd George be sent for to come over and settle the coal and railway strikes. When the busy British Premier runs short of crises at home he may run over and do that little thing.

EXTINCTION OF SEA MAMMALS

LONDON.— Strong opposition is voiced by W. P. Pycrafe in an article in the Illustrated London News to the wholesale destruction of the larger sea mammals by scientific expeditions and others visiting the polar regions. There is a point, he says, in Commander Wild's recent relation of the adventures of the Quest which gives some of us occasion for a little anxiety. And this concerns his account of the purpose of his recent visit to Elephant Island. This, he tells us, was "to kill sea elephants for fuel, to replace our depleted coal. . . . As we drew near (the island)" he remarks, "we saw that there were numbers of pengiuns . . . and numerous Weddell seals and sea elephants asleep on the beach . . . and, arrived at the spit. I immediately shot all the sea elephants and seals . . ." These were killed to provide the ship's engines with fuel, and the need was, without doubt, urgent, for men's lives depended on the success of the venture.

But those of us who are concerned with the preservation of the world's fauna, and more especially of its rapidly diminishing larger mammals, ask: Was it not posible to provide against this shortage of fuel? The Quest is a notoriously small ship, and consequently her coal-carrying capacity is limited. This, we suspect, was fully realized when the expedition was planned, the seals and sea elephants being marked down in advance, to make good the deficit in coal when the time came. It is a common and thoroughly justified complaint that science and scientific research in this country are starved. We are, therefore, thankful when expeditions of this kind find supporters in generous and public-spirited benefactors. Yet at the same time we deplore the exploitation of zoology to advance the researches of the oceanographer, the meteorologist and the physicist.

It may be urged that there are plenty of seals and sea elephants yet in the desolate regions of the Antarctic—that indeed, they still exist in thousands. This may be true. But, nevertheless, these animals are seriously menaced. They are at the mercy not merely of occasional scientific expeditions, but also of commercial enterprises, out for dividends derived from the sale of oil obtained from the "blubber" which defends these creatures from the icy water in which they live.

It is not long ago that the world was horrified and disgusted by the depredations of one of these oil-producing companies, who had established a station on the Macquarries for the purpose of boiling down penguins for the sake of their oil. In this case the wretched victims were made to "walk the plank" into boiling cauldrons, to save the trouble of "killing" them! Many thousands of sea elephants have already been done to death to furnish oil. And thus it has come about that they have but this one remaining stronghold left. Elsewhere they have been absolutely wiped out. We must take care that a remanant remains. We have many lamentable instances of extermination to serve us as examples of what will inevitably happen unless these animals are safeguarded.

Take the case of Stellar's sea-cow, a near relative of the manatee and the dugong. It was formerly an inhabitant of the shores of two small islands of the North Pacific—Bering and the adjacent Copper Island—on the former of which it was discovered by the ill-fated navigator whose name the Island bears, when, with the German naturalist Steller, he was wrecked upon it in 1741.

During the enforced sojourn there he discovered that this huge creature —for it attained a length of from 25 to 30 feet—was good for food. It was then extremely numerous around the shallow bays around Bering Island, feeding on seaweed. Russian hunters and traders, who followed on the track of the explorers, at Stellar's suggestion, lived upon the flesh of these animals. As a result, within twenty-seven years after, the last of the race was killed! All that now remains to us of this most interesting animal is the account of its anatomy and habits left by Steller; and a few more or less imperfect skeletons recovered in recent times from the frozen soil of the islands around which it dwelt. The list of beasts and birds which have been thus wantonly destroyed is a lamentable long one. Let us see to it that we perform our duty to posterity by petting fetters upon the exterminators. And more especially let us see to it that men of science have no part in such deplorable deeds.

EMBARGO ON U. S. COAL

TORONTO, August 1.—The United States has placed an embargo on the exportation of coal to Canada, according to Tom King, writing from Washington to the Toronto Star, of an interview with Henry B. Spencer, federal fuel distributor.

Asked if he would allocate a certain percentage of coal mined for export to Canada, Mr. Spencer said that the primary purpose of the federal distributing committee was the allocation of coal among the states of the union.

Personally, he had no application for an allotment for coal from Canada and he took it for granted that any representations would be made by the Canadian government. He was very reluctant to say much about the subject of coal for Canada and intimated that it involved a question of policy for the government.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—The action of the government with regard to measures counteracting the impending coal shortage is understood to be under consideration at this afternoon's meeting of the cabinet council. Some announcement as to what is proposed may be available at the close of that meeting. There is not at present any system of fuel control or administration. At the present time it is pointed out that certain sections of the United States are largely dependent upon Canada for their supplies of bituminous coal. Should these supplies be cut off, in the event of Canadian consumers being refused anthracite coal which they need from the United States, a serious situation would be created for many American industries.

Oil has been discovered in Scotland, but the Aberdonians are not falling over each other in the rush to buy shares.

LORD OF THE MANOR AND OF MINERS, TOO

There are peers who shed their family names on elevation, and peers who place the word "lord" ahead of the family name and let it go at that. Of the former class is the Earl of Ypres, once John French. Sometimes those who have been in trade wish to lose the odor of the marketplace; others seem to value the retention of the old name as a bit of good advertising. If one has spent millions to make the name of Jones so popular that one at once links "Jonses" with chocolates and an appetite therefor, then it is the height of business folly to make any distinction between the Jones of the advertising columns and the Lord Jones of the society columns.

Just what Lord Furness thinks of it all has not been ascertained. He has certainly been in trade, if to build and operate ships is trade. Once he was Marmaduke Furness; now he is lord of the manor of Grantley, Yorkshire, West Riding; he is still Furness—Viscount Furness the first of the line. He is not the first Lord Furness, however, for his father was the first Baron Furness.

Having stepped up one in the ranks of peerage, the young viscount is taking quite as much interest in society and sport as in business. He is still chairman of the allied Furness interests on the Tyne and in Weardale and has large interests, both financial and active, in coal, coke, iron and steel and ships. And at the races he can wear a high hat with the most ancient landlord, for is he not a lord of the manor?

Manitoba's next premier is a college professor. In the school of politics experience he is about to enter he may learn that politics is one of the most artful of the fine arts.

PUT YOUR FIRES OUT

Ask Your Dealer For Crank Case Service

"Dead" Oil Removed

Even the best oil you can buy wears out in time and loses much of its lubricating efficiency. It then fails to maintain the proper piston seal. Power goes to waste. Wearing surfaces no longer receive proper protection. It is of the utmost importance that you have the old oil drained out of your crank case frequently.

You probably realize the importance of having your crank case cleaned every 750 to 1000 miles. But it is dirty work. You dislike to do it yourself. Why not have it done for you?

There is an Imperial Crank Case Service dealer near you who maintains a modern crank case cleaning department and he will gladly have an expert do the job properly.

And what is most important--he will use Imperial Flushing Oil for cleaning your crank case. No danger then of diluting the fresh oil which is added later as might be the case if coal oil (kerosene) were used for flushing purposes.

Make it a special point to drive 'round to the Imperial Crank Case dealer's sometime during the next week. Let him tell you more about this service that saves your car and saves you money.

All Parts Thoroughly Cleaned

Merely draining the crank case is not sufficient. Metal particles, road dust, dirt, grit and carbon have a tendency to adhere to the metal parts of your engine when the oil is drawn off. Imperial Crank Case Service dealers use Imperial Flushing Oil, a scientific cleansing agent, which removes all foreign matter and thoroughly flushes out your engine and crank case.

Refilled with Fresh Oil—

No one grade of oil could properly lubricate all different makes and models of automobiles and trucks. Different types require a special grade of oil, suited to their construction and operating conditions. The Imperial Crank Case Service dealer who refills your crank case, will use the grade of Imperial Polarine recommended for your car on the Imperial Chart—an infallible guide to proper lubrication.

Born in Sarnia Township, Oct. 16, 1856, deceased lived the forepart of her life in Ontario, residing at different periods in Sarnia, London and Chatham. In 1886 she was married to W. H. Perry and resulting from this union Fred G., of this city, was the only child. The family resided in London and Ottawa, Ont., until late in 1896, when they moved to Winnipeg and thence to Neepawa, Man. In 1899 they came farther west, taking up their residence in Nelson, where they remained until 1909, when they came to Fernie. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon from the parlors of the Fernie Undertaking Co., at 2.30, thence to Christ Church, where burial service will be held. The remains are on view at the undertaking parlors until the funeral is held.

LON CHANEY WINS IN NEW FEATURE

"The Trap" is a powerful story of the Canadian northwest which gives the versatile Lon Chaney the opportunity to do the greatest acting of his career. He justifies the faith of the Universal Film Company in elevating him to the ranks of stardom. Althou Chaney did exceptional work as the frog in "The Miracle Man;" as the cripple in "The Penalty" and leader of the crook band in "Outside The Law," each role was in support of some noted star. Now Chaney has reached the heights himself.

In this picture, Gaspard, played by Chaney, is a simple, lovable French-Canadian trapper, who goes about the world with a song in his heart and on his lips. Then enters Benson, an American adventurer, who ruthlessly steals Gaspard's mine and sweetheart, without the slightest knowledge of the danger he invites in awakening the fires of hate in the heart of the simple trapper. As he had loved with all his heart, so now he hates with equal fevor. He becomes a wolf in human form and step by step wreaks vengeance on the man he hates. The climax comes with a rush and, under Chaney's deft touch of artistry, lifts a great story into a masterpiece.

With Alan Hale, Irene Rich, Dagmar Godowsky, Spotiswoode Aitken, Herbert Standing, Stanley Goethals, and Frank Campeau playing the chief supporting roles Chaney is backed by an ideal cast. Robert Thornby, the director deserves and receives the utmost credit for his production.

Dagmar Godowsky is the daughter of Leopold Godowsky, the famous pianist, and is making such a record with Universal that must be exceptionally pleasing to her talented father. Watch for "The Trap."

NOVA SCOTIA MINERS IN FAVOR OF STRIKE

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 2.—Ninety-two per cent of the miners of Nova Scotia are in favor of a strike, said President Baxter tonight at the conclusion of a session of the executive of the U. M. W. of A.

"Not quite all the locals of the district have voted yet," said Mr. Baxter, "but the reports from the district board members and other indications show us that the men are almost unanimous for a walkout.

"Now that a majority of the locals have voted to strike, it leaves the actual strike call in the hands of the executive, but, of course, before we can take any such drastic action we want to find out what the operators are willing to do.

"Thursday morning we will send to the Dominion Coal Co. a request for a meeting between our district executive and their managers."

43 POUNDS OF CREAM

When you see 7.8 butter fat test on the label of a can of Pacific Milk please remember that this is the minimum. Actually this good British Columbia milk is unusually rich; in fact, in every hundred pounds of Pacific Milk there is 43 pounds of cream, at least.

We dont believe any dairy district in the world can show better quality fresh milk than that which is evaporated and called Pacific Milk.

IF IT MEETS A GREAT PUBLIC NEED IN THE HOT DAYS

Any enterprise can choose between being a mere business and a business institution. A business can be built in a year, a month or even a day. But it cannot be created unless it partakes of the spirit as well as the intellect, the soul as well as the body. A mere business success, so called, measures that success by the amount of money it amasses. The most precious asset that can accrue to any business institution is the pleasant thoughts which people think about.

CHIROPRACTIC IS SIMPLICITY ITSELF

For every effect there must be a cause, reasons Chiropractic philosophy. Get this clearly in mind. All other methods of alleviating human ills treat only the effect, leaving the cause totally undisturbed, to again produce illness at the first opportunity. Results obtained thru adjustments, however, forcibly send home to the patient's mind the fact that true health depends simply on applying life's fundamental principles intelligently.

THE TRUE CAUSE

Once he realizes that the true cause of disease lies in the abnormal position (subluxation) of the spinal vertebrae, his preconceived ideas are immediately deserted, and he vigorously spreads the news. To the ordinary intelligence, Chiropractic seems rational and its wonderful improvement over other forms of healing is readily appreciated.

Written by Bruce Hutchison

It was only a few years ago, a very few years ago, that the southeastern corner of British Columbia, say from Okanagan Lake east to the Alberta boundary and north to the main line of the C.P.R. was regarded as a good place for the prospector with his gold pan, the lumberjack with his saw and the farmer with his plough. It was wild, rough country where wild, rough pioneers built wild, rough settlements which grew with alarming mushroom-like rapidity and had a habit of decaying just as fast. The Interior was a fine place to work.

The wild rough pioneers thought it was a good place to live. They liked the bracing air, the snow-laden mountains, the silvery lakes and swirling torrents. But they never dreamed that anyone else—Canadians from St.John or Winnipeg—Americans from Boston or Kansas City—would like it, too. Then came the automobile and some of the old timers got into the habit of making trips by car east to the Prairies, over to the border states and down to California. They were amazed to find that the much-advertised scenic resorts to the south were no more, often much less beautiful than the mountains which stood in their back yards at home. They began to tell their friends that the Interior would be a place soon where thousands of tourists would come every year just to see the scenery which the inhabitants had looked upon all their lives as a matter of course.

This idea was treated at first, as most new ideas are, with amusement or contempt. But a few men continued to preach it. Finally they won out. They persuaded the Boards of Trade the Interior towns could make tourist travel into an important industry. In a few short years they have done that. Thousands of cars bearing number plates of nearly every province in Canada and every state in the union, last year travelled the roads of the Interior—and left money that cannot be set down in less than six figures. Still more are coming this year and next year, and with the opening of the road from Windermere to Banff the Interior will be one of the popular tourists' centres of America. In short, the Interior has founded a new and lucrative industry, thanks to the efforts of the Tourist Association of Southeastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta. It is selling its scenery. It has become a good place to play.

What Irrigation is Doing

Guided by the man who is chiefly responsible for putting the Interior on the tourist map—J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, Commissioner of the Tourist Association—the writer headed into the Interior from Kamloops early this Summer and swung through the airy park-like country south to Vernon Here the fruit farmers, who lead an ideal outdoor life with most of the advantages of the city and few of its drawbacks, are rapidly converting the flat, dry valleys into shady gardens. The enormous irrigation scheme which is now delivering water to the ranches about Vernon has brought thousands of new acres under cultivation for with a trickle of water the light soil of the Okanagan will grow anything from potatoes to water melons. Vernon with its valleys stretching from miles out of the town, with its benches of fruit lands, is just one vast orchard.

A Superb Road

Out past the Vernon Country Club, where Vernon people spend much of their time swimming, boating, playing tennis and dancing, the main road swings south on the edge of Long Lake and mounts up to points from which the whole length of the water can be seen. Dropping down again into the valley, we were soon among the orchards outside Kelowna. Here three enormous irrigation pipes bring water from three lakes back in the mountains to change the country from dusty "benches" into terraces of green.

At Kelowna, after driving through miles of fruit lands, we ferried across Okanagan Lake and drove along its shore to its southern end—a beautiful drive on the very lake shore where the cliffs sometimes overhang the water. All along just back from the water are cheerful little towns where long regular rows of fruit trees radiate in all directions. At the south end of the lake and looking straight down the water is Penticton, one of the lovliest spots in the whole Interior.

The country south of Penticton has not been developed as the Okanagan but rapid strides are being made now that the Government has installed a vast irrigatio nscheme which will water the Osoyoos Valley. In a few years the flat country about the new town of Oliver undoubtedly will be as green and shady as the Okanagan itself. At the southern end of Osoyoos Lake we turned sharply to the east, climbed over Anarchist Mountain from which the whole country can be seen, spread out like a map, sped over the mountains through the old mining towns of Midway and Greewood and dropped down to the rich Kettle Valley at Grand Forks, where Government irrigation is making the farmers prosperous.

Crossing the Boundary

To get into the scenic country of the southeast by motor it is necessary to make a detour from Grand Forks through the United States but this loop will be eliminated when the new Grand Forks Rossland road is completed. We crossed the boundary at Laurier swung down the Columbia to Bossburg, crossed on the ferry and turned north again, only to re-cross to the west bank of the river again at Northport. Glimpses of the Columbia swirling southward beautify the journey back into Canada—and the marked improvement of the road clearly indicates, without the necessity of sign posts, that one has crossed the boundary.

J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, Commissioner of the Tourist Association of Southeastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta, whose work is bringing thousands of tourists into the Interior every year. Mr. Spalding is an expert photographer whose mountain pictures are well known, he took some of the pictures reproduced here.

North Into Canada

We crossed the Columbia for the third time at Castlegar where, by the way, we awakened the most efficient and obliging ferryman in North America at two a.m., and he seemed to enjoy it, although it was his third call that same night. North from Castlegar the road swings along the side of the Columbia until it reaches the point where the Kootenay flows into the larger stream (beside the Doukhobor headquarters at Brilliant. From here the road follows the Kootenay, foaming in a rocky canyon far beneath past the two Bonnington Falls, which generates electricity for Nelson and other interior cities, and thence over the mountains to Nelson.

The journey is here broken by a five-hour trip on a fast stern-driven steam boat which runs from Nelson to Kootenay Landing, to connect with the railway. Motors, however, are landed at Kuskanook from which point the road runs east along the lake for a short distance and then through rich forests and valleys to Cranbrook. And this particular piece of road, by the way, was the worst we had found yet. Full of ruts and bumps, it makes the most luxurious limousine feel as comfortable as a milk wagon. The park-like scenry, the fine timber and rugged mountains compensate, however, for the terrible bumping which one cannot escape. And workmen are busy fixing the highway up anyway.

The Heart of Kootenay

By this time we were in the very heart of the Kootenay and its scenery, Along broad rivers, clinging perilously to mountain sides only to drop in gradual turns and switch-backs into the rich timber of low valleys, the highway here is beautiful beyond itself. Soon a strangely regular range of gray mountains appears over to the east and in the flat on this side of it lies Cranbrook which, in the last ten years, has grown into a busy little city of fine homes and shady gardens.

Cranbrook is the southern getaway to the Windermere country which next year, when the road through to Banff is completed, will attract thousands of motorists from all over Canada and the United States. The road northward to Windermere Lake runs through thick timber in the great flat between the Selkirks and the Rockies with little up-hill grade until Kootenay Flats is reached. The Flats, by the way, have a rather interesting history for it was here that an enterprising but too optimisitc group of pioneers attempted to connect the Columbia and the Kootenay rivers with a short canal years ago. They took one boat through the canal—after removing the engines—and then the new waterway was closed for good, and the boat lies high and dry—a pathetic monument to one of the thousand frontier-day schemes that didn't work.

Where the Columbia Rises

From the Flats there is an easy climb upward over low hills and through woods carpeted with moss and bright in the Summer season with scarlet tiger lillies. Soon we wound along the side of Cloumbia Lake where the mighty Columbia river rises, flows northward and then bends south again to empty itself in the Pacific far down in Oregon. Columbia Lake and Lake Windermere, a few miles north, are long, narrow streaks of clear water where the trees and mountains are beautifully mirrored. We turned off the main road which runs north to Golden and in a few minutes, from the brow of a hill, looked down upon the little town of Athlemere, some of the streets flooded at this time by the Columbia. Down the road drops to the town and then climbs up again to the settlement of Invermere which is the holiday resort of Lake Windermere—a terrible confusion of musical names. But when one looks at the broad valley land, the clear lake all cupped in snowy mountains one can't complain much about the lack of standardization in names. The whole place is usually known as Windermere anyway.

The Guardian of the Canyon

It is at Windermere that the real Banff-Windermere road begins—curving over low hills above the Kootenay river, until it reaches the superb natural gates to the park which the Federal Government has created out of all land for five miles on either side of the new highway. Sinclair Canyon, the entrance to the Banff road, it is called but it deserves a more romantic name—two black cliffs which rise on either side of the road and lean together alarmingly at the top while a little stream roars beneath them, gouging strange holes in the rock. On a narrow ledge of rock runs the road itself directly beneath a perfect human face in the cliff far above and twenty times as large as the head of any mortal. They call it Hindu Rock because some people profess to see a turban over the stone man's brow. Whatever nationality the warder may be he guards the canyon well, watching everything that passes through the gates. It is one of nature's queerest pranks.

The Iron Gates

Just on ahead, inside the canyon whose walls rise up precipitously, she has played another prank by coloring a towering shaft of rock on either side of the little stream a brilliant, rusty red. These are what the natives call the Iron Gates and, indeed, they look like rusty, masses of iron. Probably iron in the formation of the rock gives it this vivid and weird hue.

Radium Hot Springs

A little farther along are the so-called Radium Hot Springs where a bubbling stream of clear, odorless and tasteless water rises out of the rocks and fills a cement swimming pool. The cheery little man who operates the pool and loans bathing suits for a consideration will tell you that it is the finest hot spring in America and far surpasses those in other famous resorts because it has no smell or taste of sulphur. Some day, he says, a big hotel will be built here and the springs will be as famous as those at Banff.

The road rises now and soon reaches a point a thousand feet above the Kootenay, slowly winding its way south in the middle of a flat, green valley. In slow, easy zig-zags it drops down to the level of the river and into the middle of the heavy timber which is only a green carpet from above. The engineers who are laying the Banff-Windermere road are as artistic as they are efficient. They have created beside the Kootenay long tangents where the highway runs for two miles in a straight line with trees like those of the Island Highway towering on either side and verging together in the distance. And each one of these long tangents is laid in such direction that at its end, far over to the north, a snowy, blue peak is framed between the rows of forest giants.

A Splendid Road

The road itself fairly cries out for speed and more speed. Built of native gravel and earth, it is almost as smooth as a city pavement. It is easy to see that, in the future, officers of the law will have their hands full restricting cars here to the park speed of twenty-five miles an hour.

For perhaps ten or fifteen miles the road follows the river through the timber and at the base of two ranges of snow-dripping mountains. After crossing the Kootenay river beside the main construction camp it rises again to turn into Simpson Pass where Sir George Simpson, head of the Hudson's Bay Comany in North America, made his way through the Rockies in 1847. At present the road ends on the top of a high thickly timbered hill from which a long vista rounding mountains is visible. On in of the Kootenay Valley and the surfront and a thousand feet down is Simpson Pass through which the highway will run before the end of this year. Thirteen miles away on the other side of the Pass the road is being pushed southward by another force of workmen.

Mystery of Road Building

How they will ever get the road down to Simpson Pass and through it is a mystery. But it is not nearly so serious a problem as many of

This is a corner of Waterton Lake, where the Federal Government is making a new national park which will rank with Banff, Jasper and the most beautiful scenic resorts on the continent. A mile away lie the rolling treeless prairies of Southern Alberta.

Railway News

Prescott.—On retiring on pension, after over 49 years in the service of the C.P.R., Edward Pumple was given a purse by his associates at Prescott.

Lindsay.—The park at the C.P.R. station was laid out a few years ago and is to-day a veritable bower of beauty. Rare taste and originality has been displayed in its upkeep, and the many who have admired it express regret that Lindsay has not a few more parks of this nature.

Vancouver. — The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is calling for tenders for the superstructure of the new pier which the company is constructing here for the accommodation of its ocean liners. The foundation fill for the pier is already in place. The new work will give employment to several hundred men for approximately 12 months. This is the largest work undertaken in several years in Vancouver by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The pier will be 850 feet long and 330 feet wide and its estimated cost is about $2,000,000. It is proposed to have it completed by September 30, 1923. Tenders are to be in by July 17.

Fort William.—One of the finest mementoes of the recent visit to the head of the lakes and district points of His Excellency the Governor General of Canada, Lord Byng of Vimy, and Lady Byng, is possessed by A. A. Smith, trainmaster, Canadian Pacific Railway, in the form of a gold and enamel scarf pin presented to him by the Governor-General. The gift was made to Mr. Smith as a token of appreciation of the splendid arrangements made by him for the comfort of the Governor General's party during their railroad journey from Fort William to Kenora.

Montreal.—Mr. Alfred Price, General Manager, Eastern Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, after over forty years of faithful and most efficient service, upon the advice of his physicians, and to the great regret of all, finds it necessary to relinquish his duties for an indefinite period. Mr. Price has, therefore, been granted extended leave of absence.

Mr. W. M. Neal is appointed General Superintendent, Algoma District, succeeding Mr. Scully.

Galt.—Work is now being started on the construction of the new depot of the Lake Erie & Northern and Grand River railways on upper Main street.

The new station will be 35 feet wide and 75 feet long and will run parallel with the railway tracks. The foundation will be of concrete laid on the piles, while the building will be constructed of rug brick with stone trimmings. The roof will be of slate.

The waiting room will be in the centre of the building, with a ticket office looking out upon the railway tracks. The baggage room and office will be located at the north end and a smoking room and lavatory accommodation at the south end. The best of materials will be used and all the most modern ideas in station construction have been incorporated in the plans.

Chatham, Ont. — Saturday night officer Sinnott was patrolling Lacroix Street near the C.P.R. crossing when he noticed a number of children running out to the track to view trains passing. The children were getting a little close to the tracks, and Sinnott took their names and spoke to one of the parents, George Hardey, and advised him to keep his offspring away from the tracks.

Hardey didn't like this interference on the part of the officer and it is alleged that he proceeded to tell him so in language which is not used in the best of circles. It is also said that the enraged parent took off his coat and wanted to fight. An information has been laid against him and he will explain his action in the police court.

Fort William. — A. F. Hawkins, superintendent of terminals, Canadian Pacific Railway, received framed and autographed photographs of Lord and Lady Byng, as souvenirs of what they characterized as a very pleasant day spent at Savanne, a point a short distance west upon the Canadian Pacific Railway. A letter, written Superintendent Hawkins, read as follows:

"Their excellencies, the governor-general and Lady Byng, of Vimy, desire to express to you their warmest thanks for all the arrangements you made for their comfort and recreation at Savanne last Sunday. They had a most enjoyable trip on the lake in the motor boat provided, and feel greatly benefitted by the rest which they feel was largely due to your trouble. Everyone on the train is very grateful to you for what you have done.

"Their excellencies hope you will accept the photographs of themselves, which accompany this letter as souvenir of what was to them a very pleasant day."

(Signed)—P. E. Hodgson, major.

Nervous citizens of Montreal and Toronto, afflicted with "civic consciousness" fear that if the headquarters of the government railways are removed to Ottawa their respective cities may be made flag stations.

Missouri is said to lead the world in extent of acreage—10,410 acres—devoted to the cultivation of watermelons. The man who says he is "from Missouri" need not be ashamed of a state that is noted for its melons and corncob pipes.

AND SUCH IS FAME

So many people fear oblivion that it may be well to remind them once in a while of the terrors of fame. Many of us are forgotten by history. A few become, happily or unhappily, the "illustrations" of preachers and politicians. And those who are famed are forever subjected to revaluation.

Even Shakespeare has not been immune from the rythmical wave of public opinion. Honored in his own age, he was forgotten in the next, revived a century ago and now is honored everywhere except on the stage.

Francis Bacon, Napoleon and Cromwell are subject to buffetings and venerations. The first Bonaparte, execrated by Englishmen in his own time, is now the subject of great English biographies; in France he is still a political issue and in Germany a veritable "Black Douglas."

The reputation of Francis Bacon became in time so tottery that one blast from Macaulay toppled him from the pedestal. Only this year is the Hon. Sir John A. Cockburn, M. D., K.C.G.M., rehabilitating Bacon as a great founder of empire. To him Britain owes her doctrine of naval supremacy, her enlightened colonial policy and the direct impetus which founded certain great colonies.

The writers of the Smart Restoration were able to cover the great Oliver with the mire in which all things Puritan seemed for a century to have been buried, but Macaulay was able to exalt the Protector and in the Cromwell of Preston the late Colonel Roosevelt found the only rival to Napoleon as a military genius.

Just when Lincoln had become something more than a demigod in the Republic to the south of us, but not too far to the south, along comes one Johnstone, of Georgia, with a pamphlet charging that Lincoln began the civil war by an infamous plot. At once Mrs. Longstreet, widow of the Confederate general, rises chivalrously to denounce the Confederate Veterans' Reunion for endeavoring so to maling Lincoln, and insinuates that "the school book trust" is responsible.

As if 1922 had not seen other swings of the pendulum, Chamberlin, an American lawyer, publishes an exhaustive treatise which raises Queen Elizabeth to a splendid position, clearing her ruffles of all stain of immorality and impropriety.

In war, politics and letters no reputations are secure, or forever insecure. George Eliot, despised by the generation subsequent to her own, has been vindicated by modern psychology and criticism. The giant Victorians had no sooner become history than they became anathema; but, judging by the fates of Shapespeare, Bacon and Elizabeth, even Browning and Tennyson may rise again.—Toronto World.

Carnation Milk

and every year she likes it more!

Significant in connection with the great popularity of Carnation Milk, is the unwavering loyalty of its earliest friends.

Such loyalty denotes unchanging quality in Carnation. Aside from its great convenience and economy this attribute of absolute dependability is the one most valued, perhaps, by Carnation users.

Fresh, whole milk of tested grade, evaporated in modern condenseries to remove part of the water; hermetically canned; sterilized, labelled with the universally-familiar red-and-white label—that is Carnation. Wholesome, safe, delicious as to flavor, economical in use, it is the pure, sure form in which to use milk.

Do you use Carnation? It has a hundred uses in every kitchen. You will find it truly economical for any milk purpose. In baking and cooking it is unequalled. In coffee many prefer its distinctive, creamy flavor to that of fresh cream. It is a delight on fruits or cereals. See directions on label.

Order a half dozen tins from your grocer. Try it. You will never be without it in your kitchen. You don't want less than the best.

Try These Tested Recipes

CREAMED SALMON EASILY PREPARED

Make a white sauce by melting 2 tablespoons of butter in a sauce pan; when bubbling add 1 tablespoon of flour and stir until well blended. Pour in very gradually, ½ cup of Carnation Milk mixed with ½ cup of water. Add ¼ teaspoon of salt and a dash of pepper; beat until smooth and creamy. Pour this over 1 can salmon, shredded and with all bones and skin removed. Serve on soft buttered toast or square soda crackers.

A TRULY GOOD CREAM OF CELERY SOUP

Take 1 teaspoon salt; 3 cups water; 3 tablespoons flour; 2 tablespoons butter; 2½ cups celery; pepper; 1 teaspoon salt; 3 cups water; 1 cup Carnation. Use leaves as well as stalks of celery; wash well and break up; cook in water until soft; add 1 teaspoon salt to boiling celery. Melt butter; add flour; then milk and cook 5 minutes. Strain celery and add liquid to sauce.

AULT SCORES SHUT OUT

Fernie cinches the lead of the east end of the E. K. B. B. League by defeating the White Spruce on Sunday last, shutting them out by the score of 3 to 0, and thereby earns the right to play off with the leaders of the west end of the league when their schedule is completed in about two weeks time. Fernie has still one more game to play of the schedule at Waldo on Sunday but the result will not alter the standing of the teams.

Pitcher Ault has the honor of hurling the first shut out of the season. And the game could be classed among the best that the Fernie fans have seen here. Ault's wonderful pitching and the airtight support he received from his teamates was the undoing of White Spruce. It was a pitcher's duel between Ault and Peters, and up to the fifth inning neither side was able to score.

In the fifth, Peters gave Ashton free transportation to first who was then sacrificed to second by R. Colton, stole third and came home on B. Wilson's two-bagger. Fernie came right back again in the sixth and B. Wilson singled, going to second on Dunlap's sacrifice and scored when Shand connected; Shand pilfers second goes to third on McTeer's sacrifice and scores Fernie third run when Ashton hit safely. In the sixth, Ault pitched himself out of a very tight hole, when with two men on, he sent Zeith, considered a sure hitter, for the third out and the fans nearly went wild. The game was umpired by Jack Hughes who did so to the satisfaction of both players and fans.

AVALANCHES OF HATE

In the French Chamber the other day a member made the mistake of exhorting his fellow deputies to deal with Germany "in the spirit of Christ." The deputy's name is Marc Saugnier and he is now a marked man—a traitor. There are those who think he is mad.

Forgiveness and love toward the enemy were the unforgivable words that he uttered. It was time to cease hating, he said. Men who like Rathenau wanted their fellow-Germans to "pay for the last twig destroyed in France" were to be encouraged. Many were the sentiments he uttered along this line.

And the Chamber became very angry. Although Saugnier is of the Right, the Clerical Right cursed him. Others mocked and some spit at him. Premier Poincare also suggested that hatred should now be put aside, but one deputy cried out that hatred was a force. Except for Poincare, Saugnier stood alone.

The mildest utterance concerning this man who invoked the principle of love was that he was not talked practical politics. That is true. To encourage the Rathenaus and Hardens becomes less practical every day, for the Germans appear to be sickening of the present regime. The more they cringe and whine, the harder the French menace them. If they go monarchist or Communist, it will simply mean that the blood and iron methods are to be tried again by Germany.

Germany and France have alternated in these roles of conqueror and conquered for so long that enmity rolls up like the avalanche that began as a snowball. Where hatred waxes worse and worse the Sermon on the Mount has no chance. Only splendid fools like Saugnier would invoke that doctrine or that Preacher. But the fact remains that sooner or later France and Germany will have to cease hating each other or both will be destroyed and the whole world world miperilled.—Toronto World.

MAY PAVE MAIN STREET

At the weekly luncheon of the Fernie Rotary Club on Thursday, Peter Lund and John Dow, Lethbridge Rotarians, were guests.

Upon this occasion the matter of public interest considered by the members was the question of permanent improvement to Victoria avenue. The condition of this highway for some time has been a source of discomfort to His Worship the Mayor and the council, as also to the merchants and citizens who desire to see our city forge ahead in an up-to-date manner. The present macadam roadway on Victoria avenue was conceived by Wm. Ramsay, then city engineer, now district engineer for the provincial government in West Kootenay, and to him great credit is due because even after some eight years of the most severe test of heavy traffic and abuse there still remains a thoroughfare that is envied by many towns and cities larger than Fernie. However, in its present condition it is not all that is to be desired and unless renewed and improved the benefit of the initial good work will have come to naught.

Mayor Henderson and the council have gone into this question very fully and after having inspected and received reports from other places concerning the many and varied modern methods of permanent roadway construction, have come to the conclusion that concrete and cement should be the favored choice for making Victoria avenue an ideal permanent thoroughfare.

The Fernie Rotary Club, in which membership is represented the major taxpayers of this city, after hearing the suggested program and considering the proposition, yesterday unanimously resolved its support to the mayor and council in undertaking immediately this desired improvement. The cost of laying a substantial concrete base over which will be laid a suitable smooth surface of cement, will be in the neighborhood of $2500 per city block 66 feet in width by 360 feet in length. The initial program provides for completing eight city blocks, a portion of which only can be completed this year.

The really pleasing feature in connection with this civic undertaking was contained in a brief concluding statement made by His Worship in response to an inquiry as to how the council proposed to finance the undertaking. The Mayor announced that during the past two years a surplus of fairly substantial proportions had accumulated out of the general revanue and indications were favorable for a similar result during the current year. In view of this the ratepayers would not be called upon to raise one cent extra to cover the work contemplated.

FUNERAL OF LATE MRS. PERRY

On Saturday last the remains of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Perry were laid to rest in the family plot, St. Margaret's cemetery here. The funeral service was held from Christ Church, at which large numbers attended to pay their last respects to one who during a residence of fourteen years in this city had made a host of warm friends. The beautiful and impressive Church of England burial service was performed by Rev. Oswald, assisted by the surplice choir. In addition to the host of friends and acquaintances who were present at the service in person, the deep and revered esteem in which the deceased lady was held was further evidenced by the vast quantity of gorgeous floral tributes that smothered the handsome gray plush casket and also competely filled an extra auto-carriage.

The cortege from the church to the cemetery was likewise stately impressive. The many automobiles and vehicles carried a goodly throng to witness the graveside service.

The pallbearers were M. A. Kastner, G. F. Johnson, G. G. Moffatt, F. C. Lawe, S. Graham and H. J. Johnson, who slightly over four months previous had acted in a similar capacity when the late William Henry Perry, husband of the deceased, was laid to rest in the same plot.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Perry wish to extend deep and profound thanks to those who so willingly and warmly comforted and assisted them during the illness of mother and their subsequent bereavement.

Acknowledgement for the following floral offerings is hereby given with sincere appreciation: Ladies Guild of Christ Church, floral cross and flowers; Fernie Rotary Club, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. S. OPERATORS TO ACCEPT AWARD

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 8.—In a final effort to bring about a settlement of the coal strike in District 18, the Western Canada Coal Operators' association on Tuesday advised Premier Herbert Greenfiled that they would accept in toto, the majority report of the Knowles board of conciliation.

The majority report is:

"(1) That the war bonus, or high cost of living allowance of $1.15 per day be discontinued.

"(2) That the agreement signed on behalf of the Western Canada Coal Operators' association and on behalf of the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, dated June 10, 1920, be returned to as a basis, and the conditions therein recited (with the exception of the closed shop), be continued, and that the rates therein set forth be reduced by fifteen per cent.

Premier Greenfield had a further conference with the coal operators on Tuesday morning, and the offer now made by the operators is the result of that meeting.

In the course of an interview he expressed satisfaction at the progress that had been made. "I think there is now hope of a settlement," he remarked.

The premier will be officially notified by the operators' association by letter of their last offer. It will then remain for the premier to use his good offices with miners' officials to accept this.

It is generally concluded that the offer is all the more generous in view of the state of flux in the United States coal fields.

HARRY QUIGG DIES FROM GUNSHOT WOUND

The body of Private Harry Quigg, 29, son of Mrs John Shearer, 2324 First Avenue, who died from a gunshot wound at Camp Lewis yesterday, will be brought to Seattle tonight and taken to the Butterworth mortuary. Private Quigg's death is said to have been due to misunderstanding an order of J.A. Arwood, a member of the Camp Lewis military police, who shot him, believing Quigg was trying to escape.

Private Quigg was a member of Camp Lewis Headquarters Company, Fifth Infantry Brigade. He enlisted in 1913 with the 15th Canadian Mounted Rifles and served with one of the first machine gun detachments in France. He was decorated by General Foch for exceptional service and was awarded a number of medals for bravery in action. He was discharged from the Canadian Army in 1919 and immediately enlisted in the American Army. Besides his mother he is survived by five brothers, John, Thomas, Bryan, Dewey and Jewell Quigg, all of whom served in France. Military services were held at Camp Lewis today. A second service will be held here.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Calgary, Aug. 9.—There is a complete deadlock in the coal miners' disput in District 18. Apart from a statement made by Robt. Peacock, Sec. of U.M.W. of A. in Disrtcit 18, that the last offer of the operators will not be accepted, the miners' officials have completely ignored the effort to bring about a termination of the dispute.

Some of the officials of the miners' organization have now left for various coal fields, while the members of the conference committee have gone home.

The last offer of the operators compares very favorably with the scale of wages now in operation in British Columbia. The day wage miners there receive a base rate of $4.20 with a high cost of living bonus of 95 cents making $5.15 altogether. The 95 cents is subject to reduction as the cost of living fluctuates, and under the agreement for two years from last November which they have in that field the miners during that time may be reduced to the basis of $4.20. In offering to accept the Knowles' majority award which, by the way, was agreed to by H. Ostlund, the miners' representative on the board, day wage miners in District 18 would receive $5.40, and this wage would not be subject to any reduction during the life of the agreement.

In view of the position taken by the miners' officials the majority of the operators have now left for their respective homes. From present appearances there does not appear to be much prospect of an early settlement of the strike unless a referendum vote is taken. It is believed in various quarters that if that was done there would be a decided opinion expressed that the miners' were agreeable to accept the award of the Knowles' conciliation board.

LIQUOR DRIVE UNDER WAY

With over 100 informations sworn out against firms and residents of the Lower Mainland, Vancouver and points in the interior, three squads of inspectors under Chief Inspector Miller of the Liquor Control Board have started carrying out the biggest clean-up of bootleggers, blind pigs and illicit liquor dealers in the history of British Columbia.

Every possible man in the employ of the Liquor Control Board has been pressed into service. Provincial police are co-operating to the fullest extent and in the various districts and municipalities the local police officials will also be asked to join in the drive.

In addition to the summonses with which the squads which have left Vancouver are armed, the men in charge of the drive have a sheaf of search warrants which will enable them to enter suspected premises in search of liquor.

The raids are being made simultaneously in various parts of the province and in addition to the various provincial police posts throughout the province have been warned to make the clean-up of the respective districts as thorough as possible.

One of the squads carrying out the work left over the Kettle Valley line on Monday night, travelling on the same train as Attorney General Manson, who is on his way to take part in the Cranbrook by-election campaign. Another party of inspectors armed with search warrants and summonses for past offences are headed for the Crow's Nest Pass section of the province.

Before leaving for the interior on Monday night Attorney General Manson stated that his instructions for the clean-up were issued two weeks ago and that he understood the work of stamping out botlegging was progressing. His instructions were clear-cut and definite, and called for an energetic and effective campaign against all those engaged in the liquor trade illicitly.

In the meantime liquor export warehousemen have received copies of the new regulations which have recently gone into effect, and are making arrangements to comply with them. It is stated by the liquor men that some of the firms engaged in the business broke faith with the government and sold for home consumption but they do not believe that those firms which have respected the law will find the new restrictions irksome.

THE UPPER ELK SULPHER SPRING

The Elk Valley possesses a valuable asset in the sulphur springs situated east of the Elk and about a mile and a quarter from Dutch Charley's (Mr. Weigert) ranch. On Sunday July 30th, a party consisting of Dr. Asselstine and family, Mr. McIntyre and family and the American consul visited the springs and are pleased to report them fully up to expectations.

To reach the springs the party followed the right bank of the rivier to a point about half a mile below Dutch Charley's, where, for want of a boat, the stream was crossed on horseback. Though quite wide the stream at this season of the year is not more than two feet in depth at any point.

Passing up a considerable rise and down the opposite slope, they then skirted a considerable slough formed by the discharge from the springs, which they found at the foot of a high ridge separating the main valley of the Elk from Fording river.

The springs form a pool 120 x 40 feet. It was quite evident that the water was heavily charged with sulphur, both from the steady streams of bubbles of sulphuretted hydrogen gas which broke on the surface of the pool at half a dozen points, and from the taste of the water. The water tasted very strongly of brimstone; indeed, was at least twicie as strong in sulphur as that of Hosmer sulphur spring.

Several of the party bathed in the pool, which was at two points quite deep—from 7 to 9 feet—and here, where the springs welled up from the bottom the water was fairly hot. The effects of the water upon the skins of the bathers was singular; they became spotted, pink spots on a white background.

When a railway line is completed through the upper valley these springs should become quite a resort. They doubtless possess considerable curative qualities, the ruins of cabins in the neighborhood indicating that they have been visited by health-seekers from a remote period.

The springs are surrounded by park-like uplands which afford excellent camping sites. Plenty of timber for building and fuel purposes is close at hand; and even the aforesaid marsh is no insuperable obstacle. It can be readily drained by the removal of certain beaver dams which at present clog the passage to the Elk.

King George and Queen Mary entertained a "few guests" at Buckingham Palace the other evening when 10,000 people attended a royal garden party.

IS LABOR ABOVE THE LAW?

Back of the threatened fuel famine and the transportation crisis which are at present absorbing public attention on this continent remains the graver question, "Is Labor Above the Law?" The assumption that it should occupy such an absolute position lies at the root of all recent happenings; and is the clear teaching of John Lewis, the head of the United Mine Workers of America. Though it does not seem to have attracted general attention, a reference by Lewis to the status of the Governor of Michigan is of the highest significance. The Governor announced that he was going to work the coal mines of his State; and Lewis replied that the Governor was merely in a position of any private employer of labor and must come and make his deal with the United Mine Workers like any other individual. That is a clear assumption that the chief constitutional authority of a greaat industrial state has no prerogative to deal with a natural resource inherent in the soil of that state and of vital importance to the public, except as the United Mine Workers shall dictate. The latter body in Lewis' view evidently stands above the law. Thus America is confronted with a theory far more sinister than that of the Divine Right of Kings.

We had a good deal of the same kind of teaching in connection with the Winnipeg general strike of three years ago. There the Reds, who for a brief period held the city under their thumb, declared that neither the Federal, the Provincial, or the Municipal authorities had the right to intervene to save the community from starvation or death by thirst and pestilence. The only way that such a tyrannical assumption could be met was by military force; and after a great deal of inconvenience to everybody, military force prevailed. Of course military force is the only, and inevitable, answer to any organized minority which claims to be above the law. Such utterances, as that of John Lewis wtih regard to the Governor of Michigan, are merely provocative of civil war.

Every supporter of law and order, every one who desires that peaceful government shall be maintained on this continent, must view with alarm the failure of the Illinois State administration and the Federal Government at Washington to effectively take up the challenge to authority involved in the recent massacre at Herren, Illinois. Many students of American history regard this episode, coupled with the Government apathy that followed it, as the most deplorable in the history of the nation. The indignation that is felt by the major-failure to cope with murder and anity of the American people, at the acrhy in Illinois, was efectively voiced in a sermon by Rev. Dr. Charles Wordsworth, jr., of Philadelphia, widely printed in the Amerircan press. Dr. Wordsworth defined the massacre as an attack on the inalienable right of men to work, and to enjoy the protection in so doing of the Uniited States Constitution, Government and Flag. In his view the destruction of the "Lusitania" was not a more monstrous crime. Indeed he might well maintain that the "Lusitania" episode was a less ominous affair, for it was merely the ruthless act of a foregin foe in time of war; whereas the Herren massacre was an act of defiance of the whole established system of free civilization—a declaration of the right of the union worker to kill the non-union worker without interference from the law.

Dr. Wordsworth said he would like to think of what Roosevelt would have done if he had been in the White House and the news from Herren had reached his ears. "We would not," he said, "have been favored with sapient platitudes and tuphonious generalities, and shameful inaction. There would have been a flash of lightning from Washington and a crash of thunder from the White House . . . . Even if rulers are such mean politicans that they hesitate to attack the most monstrous iniquity, because they have their eyes on the next election would think they would be astute enough to take note of the ground swell of public opinion which is rising against such outrage and horror."

It is perhaps because President Harding has sensed the ground swell of public opinion that he has lately come to the conclusion that Government should take into consideration the rights of the man who wants to work, as well as of those who refuse to work; not to mention the millions of citizens whose very existence is threatened by the prospect of a fuel famine. That the imminence of the Congressional elections, due early in November, should be regarded as a subject which supersedes the protection of life and property, is a sad reflection on the whole theory of democratic government. Aa it is, the long period of pussy-footing at Washington on the question of whether Labor is above the law, is likely to be rewarded in the same way that all manifestations of weakness are rewarded. Congress is now strongly Republican. It is generally believed that it will be strongly Democratic after the November elections. This is a small matter. The fate not of a political party, but of thousands of communities hang in the balance. The United Mine Workers, owing to the inaction of the government have become convinced that the public has no rights which they are bound to respect; that they have the right only to refuse to work the mines themselves, but to slay all others who attempt to do so.—Saturday Night.

ORPHEUM THEATRE
Friday and Saturday, Aug. 11th, 12th

THE STORY OF "THE TRAP" AT THE ISIS, AUG. 11th & 12th

In the little Canadian town of Grand Bellaire, Gaspard Larone has won the name of Gaspard the Good because of his kindness. The children flock about him, men and women trust him. In the intervals of his trapping trips he works the little mine his father left him, to gain enough to wed Thalie, his sweetheart.

To Grand Bellaire comes an American, Benson, who covets Gaspard's land and his sweetheart. Throug craft he takes the mine and through guile he wins the woman.

Gaspard becomes a changed creature, overnight. On the surface he is still Gaspard the Good, but beneath his cunning mind works to the one end of revenging himself on Benson. A land slide wrecks the mine. It seems an act of God, but Gaspard did it. Benson has more ill-luck. Again Gaspard. Bit by bit Benson's fortune sinks until by a final stroke Gaspard works his ruin.

Seven years have now elapsed since Benson came first to Grand Bellaire. His wife, who had been the girl Thalie, is dying of consumption, his son cowers beneath the blows of a brutal father. Benson spends his time in the village winery. But Gaspard is not content. He inflames the mind of the burtal. Pierre, a great ape-like creature, to the point where a clash between Pierre and Benson inevitably follows. Pierre intends to kill Benson, but Benson shoots him down. Benson is arrested and Gaspard goes to the cabin to enjoy the full savor of his revenge. But his taunts fall on the ears of the dying Thalie, her one thought is for her child and she commends the boy to Gaspard's care. The demoniacal gleam in his eyes as he takes the helpless boy, foretells the nature of his care. Gaspard goes to the village lockup and gloats over Benson, revealing that he was responsible for his downfall. Mouthing with impotent rage Benson is taken away for trial.

Gaspard had planned injury and torture to the boy but the boy wins him over step by step. Then comes the news that Benson has been released. All softer thoughts are driven from Gaspard's heart. He captures Toto, the Devil, a huge wolf supposed by the natives to be endowed with supernatural qualities, and plans a trap by which Benson shall walk into the cabin where the wolf is imprisoned and be torn limb from limb. calling for Gaspard. The door shuts Instead the boy walks into the cabin automatically behind him and the child is unprotected before the fierce hunger of the half starved wolf. Gaspard breaks his way into the cabin and hands the child out to the father and in a terrible battle in the dark kills the wolf with his bare hands. As the door opens Gaspard staggers out, a mere travesty of a man, tattered and bleeding. Then comes a reconciliation between Benson and Gaspard and Benson, reborn, starts out in a canoe for civilization with the child to give it an education and a fair chance in life.

Thirty of the candidates for Winnipeg's ten seats in the Manitoba Legislature lost their deposits in the recent election. They had a run for their money but failed to overtake it.

B.C. TO GET NEW INDUSTRY

An iron and steel industry for British Columbia is assured.

Wiithin 18 months a $10,000,000 blast furnace capable of turning out 500 tons of pig iron a day will be employing approximately 5,000 men in the neighborhood of Vancouver. A steel mill will follow within a few years.

Industries manufacturing iron and steel products in Vancouver will be enabled to obtain their metal at low cost and Vancouver will be in position to compete in the world market for farm implements, ship plates, and the multifarious products made from iron and steel.

Such is the significance, according to local men, of the decisiion taken by the Provincial Government yesterday in pronouncing its determination to put through at the next session of the Legislature a bill guaranteeing one-third of the bonds of the Coast Range Steel Company of Vancouver.

"If that is so," stated Nicholas Thompson, "it is the biggest thing that has happened for this province since the C.P.R. built into Vancouver."

Mr. Thompson, who as chairman of the mining bureau of the Board of Trade for many years, has worked unceasingly with other Board of Trade people in the effort to bring about such a development stated last night on hearing the news from Victoria, that he had not been aware that a realization of his hopes was so near at hand.

Mr. Thompson's comment was characteristic of many heard throughout the city.

Members of the deputation which waited upon the cabinet yesterday morning returned to the city on the afternoon boat. They included H. J. Landahl, J. A. Campbell, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.L.A., C. P. Hill and R. H. Gale, all of whom have been active in aiding the new enterprise for the past two years.

"We already have been assured by the advisory committee, under the Trades Facilities Act, of Imperial Government support for one third of our proposed issue of $10,500,000," stated Mr. Landahl. "We have been assured by the Dominion Government that it will do its part. We now have the Provincial Government assuring us of the remaining third. The money awaits us in London, conditional only, upon our receiving assurances. We can now go ahead."

Mr. Landahl said the company has rich ore deposits in the province, and that behind the enterprise are the skill and experience of three of the greatest iron, steel and coke oven firms in the British Empire.

"These three great firms have undertaken to come into B.C. and build up an iron and steel industry," said Mr. Landahl. "The plant will be built under the direction of Vickers, Limited, the greatest manufacturer of steel products in the Empire, as the company's technical adviser."

"The furnaces and ovens will be manufactured by Simon Carvens, Limited, the largest builders of blast furnaces and coke oven plants in the world. The steel mills which are to follow in the course of the next few years will be built by the Weilman, Smith, Owen Engineering Company, the greatest builders of open hearth steel mills, cogging mills, plate mills, etc., in the Empire. These arrangements have already been made and it was this information which we were able to lay before the government in asking for its co-operation."

Major T. E. Pooley, the special representative of Vickers, Limited, who has been in the province for the past fortnight investigating the situation pertaining to the Coast Range Steel Company's project, stated that in his opinion British Columbia would demonstrate that pig iron could be produced here more cheaply than in Eastern Canada.

"This announcement means that industries will spring up at the Pacific Coast for the manufacture of all kinds of iron and steel products for which there is a world market," he said. "Vancouver industries, now able to cater only to the local trade because of the great expense of bringing in pig iron and steel ingots from Eastern Canada and the Eastern States, will be able to cater for trade all over the world.

"Leading firms in the Old Country and other parts of the world wishing to participate in the rapidly growing trade on the shores of the Pacific Ocean will be compelled to establish branches in Vancouver."

At the conclusiion of a two and a half hours' cabinet meeting yesterday morning in Victoria the news of the government's decision was conveyed to the little deputation which had a few days previously laid the proposition before the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, and officials of his department including W. Fleet Robertson, provincial mineralogist. — Vancouver Sun.

SETTLEMENT UP TO U.M.W.A.

Unless miners' officials in District 18 make an amended offer which will put the operators in a position to meet the competition of non-union mines, there is no prospect of a settlement of the strike. As there is no likelihood of this according to a statement made by Robert Livett, international board member of the United Mine Workers of America in District 18, the dispute is likely to continue for an indefinite period.

This is the result, in a nutshell, of the conference arranged by Premier Herbert Greenfield between the operators and men's officials on Saturday and again on Monday morning. The premier, when informed of the result, expresed his disappointment that the two parties had not been able to come together. "There is nothing further that I can do in the matter," he remarked to a representative of The Herald when seen after the adjournment of the conference on Monday.

The offer of the miners' officials an Saturday was to accept 15 per cent. reduction off the old rates. The operators counter-offered 5 per cent. increase in the day wage rate of the Drininan minority report. The difference between these offers amounts to $1.52 a day, the day wage rate asked for by the miners being $6.37, and that offered by the operators $4.85.

At the further conference on Monday it was pointed out to the miners' officials that, on the basis of the latter's offer the operators could not possibly meet the competition of the non-union mines. To operate at anything like the rates asked would mean a big loss.

The miners' officials left the conference without making any further proposal, and the joint meeting was therefore, brought to a conclusion.

Robert Livett, when seen by The Herald said, that so far as his side was concerned it was not the intention to make any further offer and that the members of the conference committee were leaving for their respective homes late in the day..

Several of the operators interviewed after the meeting had taken place expressed regret that the men's officials had taken the course they had. It was pointed out that, as a basis of settlement, in view of the competition of the non-union mines, that their offer was certainly a fair one and if accepted would have resulted in the mines re-opening without delay.

In reply to the question they stated that there was nothing further they could do. To agree to anything like a 15 per cent. reduction on the old scale of wages—which, by the way, were the high peak war scale—would mean a huge loss which they were not prepared to meet.

Premier Greenfiled expressed much disappointment at the way matters had turned out. "I was hopeful that some temporary settlement would have been reached," he said. "It is now up to the operators' and miners' officials to proceed further if they can. I have done all I can to brinig them together."

How long the present deadlock is likely to continue is problematical. For the time being at any rate all negotiations are off. The great sticking point is the competition of the non-union mines, who are paying their men much less than what the members of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association offer.—Calgary Herald.

BASEBALL

Following is the way the teams finished in the Eastern Section of the East Kootenay Baseball League which terminated this week:

	P	W	L	Pct.
Fernie	12	11	1	.917
White Spruce	12	9	3	.750
Michel	11	3	8	.273
Waldo	11	1	10	.091

Michel and Waldo still have a game to play but the result will not alter the standing. Fernie as leaders now await the outcome of the Western Section, when they will pit their skill against the winners for the premier honors of all East Kootenay. Kimberley, Wardner and Cranbrook are battling away for the leadership in this Western Section and it will be either of these teams that Fernie will meet. No particulars as to this play-off are at hand but we hope to hear of definite dates before long.

In the closing league games, White Spruce took their last game against Michel on Sunday last by the score of 13 to 3. Peters was never in any difficulty, holding his opponents to one run until the closing innings while Michel's patched up team was unable to overcome the Spruce lead. The one-sidedness of the game was anything but interesting. On Wednesday evening, White Spruce finished their league fixtures, when the postponed game with Waldo was played and were again victorious by the score of 10 to 6.

"It is my duty to tell you and publish to all what your remedy "Fruit-a-tives" has done for me.

I suffered with Rheumatism for ten months; could hardly move in bed; and was miserable all the time. I tried several physicians and took many remedies, but they left me at the same place, in bed and suffering, the Rheumatism was so bad.

I finally started in taking "Fruit-a-tives" and continued the treatment regularly as I found myself getting better. After using eight boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" (which cost only $4.) I am completely well without a trace of Rheumatism."

Madam J. RICHER.

While the Spruce were winning at Fernie, the Fernie team made sure of their lead and took Waldo in camp at the latter place on Sunday last by the score of 8 to 3. Fernie played an experimental team with the above result. B. Wilson doing the hurling the entire game and proved very effective, striking out 15 and allowing 8 hits while his teammates kept well in front giving him a comfortable margin to work on.

THOMAS—SHERWOOD

Residents of Fernie will be greatly interested in a very pretty wedding solemnized at St. John's Church, East Calagry, on Aug. 1, when Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sherwood, was united in marriage to Edward W. Thomas, youngest son of Mrs. W. C. Cheyne, the Rev. Canon Gale officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March played by Mr. Elliott, and looked charming in a smart costume of embroidered navy blue tricotine with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Miss Rheta Sherwood was the bridesmaid and wore a French blue frock and hat of blue and grey. The groom was supported by Archie Bichan. A guard of honor was formed up as th ehappy couple left the church, consisting of the 9th Calgary company of Girl Guides and Brownies, in which the bride is a lieutenant. After the ceremony a buffet supper was served at the home of the bride and a large number of friends were present, amongst whom were Mrs. C. Reece, grandmother of the bride, and W. Cralford, uncle of the bride, both of Fernie, and Miss Dennison, of Nanton, Alta. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left on the evening train for an extended tour of the coast cities, and on their return will reside in Calgary.

Last week three prosecutions were instituted by the city police under the government Liquor Act. Convictions were sustained in all cases and the city treasury was augmented by the sum of $350. The charges, with the amount of fine in each case were as follows: Fernie Literary and Athletic Association $200; Fernie Branch G. W. V. A., $100; Mrs. Vincent, $50.

Two children, aged seven and nine respectively, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Tully, wandered away from home on Tuesday morning and were not heard from for thirty-six hours, when the provincial police discovered them returning home on the Elko road. The little tots had spent the night in the woods while the distracted parents and neighbors searched the countryside for them.

Miss D. Small sustained a severe shaking up and painful injuries while visiting the dwelling now under construction on the corner of Hanson St. and McPherson Ave. one evening this week. The young lady, accompanied by friends, was looking over the place, when she accidentally stepped backward into an opening to the cellar and fell some 7 or 8 feet upon the cement floor of the basement.

Hunting has always been classed as sport, but when irresponsible persons with guns confine their activities to populated areas it is a menace to life and limb. Only last week while at work in his fields, a farmer in this neighborhood had his horse frightened and it ran away, only to come to a stop after becoming entangled and receiving cuts and bruises, while the bullet passed within a couple of feet of himself.

Owing to the unsettled condition in this district, the Fernie Farmers' Institute have decided to postpone their Fall Fair, which was to be held on Labor Day, till next year. The probable date of the fair will be Sept. 10, 1923.

A big bush fire occurred on the other side of Coal Creek this week. The Coal Co. put a large force of men to work and succeeded in confining the flames to a burnt over section of land and not a great deal of damage was done, although at one time it was thought that the town of Coal Creek was in danger.

J. L. Gates is a lucky man. On Monday he visited the Wigwam country and put in a big day fishing and upon retiring to rest that evening discovered that he had lost a diamond out of his ring valued at several hundred dollars. On Monday next before Police Magistrate Henderson, there will be commenced the trials of the Fernie Liquor Exporters, Ltd., and the B. C. Export Co., charged with keeping liquor for the purposes of sale. It is expected that the defendants will put up a vigorous battle in view of the fact that approximately a quarter of a million dollars' worth of liquor stocks are under seizure by the Crown and in the event of conviction will probably carry with it the confiscation of these stocks. As far as can be learned the case for the Crown will be conducted by W. A. Nisbet of Cranbrook, although the Attorney General is in the district, and it was at his instance, it is reported, these prosecutions are being proceeded with. J. W. deB. CHIROPRACTIC
QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q.—How can Chiropractic affect acid stomach?

A.—At first thought, this would appear to be a condition that demanded chemical treatment The old idea was that an acid stomach demanded a neutralizing chemical or medicine. The new idea is that when the stomach is acid it is nothing more or less than an indication that the nerve supply to the stomach is below normal, there is an interference with the mental impulses by way of the spinal nerves. By chiropractic spinal adjustments this interference is removed and Nature once more prepares the digestive acids in Her own perfect combination.

those that the staff of enthusiastic engineers and workmen already have conquered. C. F. Donaldson is the name of the engineer in charge of the southern end of the highway and he is building a broad, smooth road with gentle grades and broad safe turns that thrill the heart of the motorists and give his engine no excuse for heating up.

"We feel that it is better to make the distance slightly longer with gentle grades than to force a car to climb almost straight up a mountain side," said Mr. Donaldson.

"An automobile doesn't save any time anyway, when it has to buck hard hills mile after mile."

Mr. Donaldson and his crew of a hundred husky road builders, by the way, nearly all returned men and camp life suits them perfectly. The engineer himself came home from the War on the Empress of Asia which docked in Victoria with no little delay and confusion.

Back to Fort Steele

Returning south to the Cranbrook country we turned east at Fort Steele —a group of tottering old houses with nothing but its early history as a Hudson's Bay Post to support it— and headed through thick timber and between high rocky mountains for Bull River where the Canadian Pacific Railway operates a large sawmill to cut lumber and ties for use over its system. The journey east from Fort Steele reminds one very much of the Banff-Windermere road itself with its lofty peaks, fine trees and hair-pin turns on hillsides which command broad views of the Kootenay river, still flowing southward beside the road.

Elko Canyon

We left our old friend the Kootenay soon after we passed the sawmill town of Bull River and Wardner across on the other side of the valley and started for Elko. The only thing wrong with the Elko country is its name. It deserves something musical like Windermere for near the town itself is one of Canada's greatest wonders —the twenty-three mile canyon of the Elk river. The river here in the course of several million years, has battered and thundered and bored its way through twenty miles of solid rock, carving the cliffs into weird forms, fantastic faces and dark caverns where the water bubbles and churns itself into fury as it dashes along over a dozen snow-white falls and keeps the cliffs forever wet with its spray.

A motor road is being built now on the very edge of the cliffs which drop down perpendicularly to the seething water. When it is completed it will be possible to view the torrent with its strange turns and ledges and abutments from above along the whole length of the canyon. Even now from the road which already exists we looked down sickening depths to where the foam dashes high in the air and further along where the canyon—a silver swerving band through the forest—coils its way into the distance.

Dizzy Drops

Several trails lead down to the water's edge and here there are broad flat shelves where the lucky residents of the district hold their picnics a few feet from the swirling white torrent. At other places you can sit out on enormous noses of rock which shoot out from the hillside and almost across the river and gaze down with nothing between yon and the water a thousand feet below. Across on the other side, and plainly visible from one of these vantage points is the Devil's Arm Chair—a perfect bench in the rocks perhaps thirty feet long and forming the exact shape of a well-made seat. Lower down another trail leads out to the point of a tall cliff where, directly below, is the foam of a fifty-foot falls where a rainbow plays forever in the spray which keeps the rocks about dripping with moisture. Below the falls is a broad deep-green pool where fat and heavy trout play about in the eddies.

A Mysterious Cave

Altogether the canyon is the last thing to miss in any trip through the Kootenays. And beyond the canyon there is a beautiful cool park-like stretch into Fernie which, even when the road is completed to Banff, will make the side trip into the Crow's Nest country well worth while. Some of the finest mountains on the trip stand along here. In one of them is a large cave a couple of thousand feet in the air. How it came there is a mystery and the only men who tried to find out and lowered themselves to the mouth of the hole by ropes from the mountain top were nearly killed by angry eagles which were nesting there.

Outside Fernie, at a number of beautiful spots beside rivers, the Tourist Association has established ideal motor camps for tourists and at this season they are comfortably filled with people from places all over the Continent for the Crow's Nest. They call one stretch of the road here Stanley Park because the highway runs through trees which meets overhead, and for a space, almost hide the sky.

Around Fernie

The last few miles into Fernie is worth the entire trip into the Crow's Nest. Ahead and rising from the outskirts of the town is Trinity Mountain, a mass of rock and snow which combines three magnificent peaks into one. On the left is the Lizard Range—an ugly but appropriate name for the fine saw-tooth range which turns and twists like a snake. It is at the bottom of a blue-white cup formed formed by these mountains that Fernie lies—one of the most beautiful towns of the Interior and the headquarters for an increasingly-important tourist trade as well as the centre of the great Crow's Nest coal mining industry.

With the rapid progress which has marked the growth of practically all British Columbia's rich Interior, Fernie has developed during the last decade from a small coal town into a busy little city of substantial business buildings and homes surrounded with shade trees and gardens. On the outskirts of the town is a large and comfortable tourist camp filled these days with campers who are made welcome and comfortable by the live-wire tourist association. At the other end of the town is an excellent nine-hole golf links for the business men of Fernie, in common with business men everywhere, think more of golf than of business.

Through the Crow's Nest

Through a number of coal-mining towns the road winds east from Fernie through the tortuous channel of the Crow's Nest Pass getaway to Alberta. Before long we crossed the Provincial boundary and commenced to swing into the foothills of the Rockies where they drop suddenly down to the Prairies. To the left, one of the finest peaks in the Rockies —Crow's Nest Mountain, s strange, lonely sentinel shaped like a beehive —is visible over the low stretches of timber and closer at hand lies Crow's Nest Lake, a small but crystal-clear circle of shadow-flecked water.

A Buried Town

Just before reaching the Prairies the road passes over the town of Frank, buried with its inhabitants twenty years ago under fifty feet of rock. Above you can see where half the side of a mountain split off and came crashing down in one awful minute and, burying the little town with its people, spread out over the valley for two miles. Boulders as big as houses lying beside the road on top of rock fifty feet deep give one a faint idea of the appaling slide which engulfed Frank and the surrounding country while its people slept.

A short distance more and we were out on the rolling plains which end in the Rockies. And then we headed south for another land of scenic marvels—the too-little-known and too-little advertised Waterton Lake Park which energeitc men are converting into one of the most delightful spots in the Rockies.

Wonders at Watertn

Turning suddenly off to the right and between two fine peaks, which rise directly out of the rolling foothills, we were on the prairies one minute and in the mountains the next. Half a mile from the open prairie and on the same level Waterton Lake lies surrounded by a score of high, snowy mountains which give no hint of the flat miles of grass just around the corner of the rocks. To the west tower the Pinnacles — a group of fine ice-like shafts of rock above the snow line—and nearby is the Sleeping Chief, a mountain which bears an extraordinary resemblance to the upturned face of an Indian. Across the American boundary in Glacier Park you can see Mount McKinley, white under a vast pail of snow, between the peaks on the Canadian side.

Fine Camping Ground

On the east side of the lake the Mountains drop directly into the water and only at a few places is there a foothold. On the west side of the water, however, there is a broad flat stretch of wooded country where a number of camps already have been established and where the parks superintendent's office, the administrative buildings and warden's lodges stand, hidden from the lake by the trees. Here, too, by the way is a sporty nine-hole golf links, at the very base of the mountains, which has just been opened.

Mountain Trails

Waterton is just beginning to show the results of the work which Superintendent C. E. Bevan and his staff of road builders and rangers have been lavishing upon it for the last couple of years and its possibilities as a great national playground are only dimly realized yet. At present there are several beautiful drives around the park land to the west of the lake and a number of excellent bridal paths into the mountains. A trail around the mountain sides through the timber and clear up to the snow line, is under construction now and will be ready for general use this Summer. It leads far into the hills, past a superb waterfall with a drop of some sixty feet and on to Bertha Lake, a little sheet of silvery water in a cup formed by the mountains. Even in midsummer the sides of the lake in many places are deep in snow and glaciers, slowly dripping into the water, keep it ice-cold in spite of the hottest sun.

Plan New Roads

In the opposite direction from the camp headquarters a wagon road which should be fit for motor use next year, winds along a narrow pass through Oil City, where there was an oil rush a few years back, and far into the mountains. The plan of the park authorities is to continue this road westward to the Flathead River country and from there, along the Flathead, down into the United States. When this road is completed and a few miles of highway are pushed south Waterton will be conected by two routes directly with the United States Glacier Park which really is divided from the Canadian playground only by a broad swath in the trees and an occasional boundary monument. These roads are vitally needed to put Waterton on the general route of travel and lift it from the obscurity under which it has existed too long.

Danger of Irrigation

One danger threatens Waterton Park—an irrigation scheme which would use the lake for irrigating the southern prairies. If this project were carried out it would be necessary to dam the bottom of the lake and raise the water so high that it would flood the flat land to the west and ruin the park completely, acording to the park authorities. Thus the Government must choose between irrigation and the park but it is doubtful that the American authorities would allow parts of Glacier Park to be flooded by any such scheme anyway.—Victoria Times.

Falls on the Elk River where the water, gouging its way through the solid rock, has created twenty miles of deep, twisted canyon filled with weird shapes, foaming rapids and churning eddies.

CRANK CASE ATTENTION

ROAD DUST IN CRANK CASE IS MORE COSTLY THAN GOLD DUST. FREQUENT CLEANING OF CRANK CASE HELPS TO KEEP DOWN COSTS.

Manufacturers of motor cars have long recognized the necessity of frequent crank case cleaning. The importance of renewing the oil in the crank case every 500 or 1000 miles is emphasized in most of the instruction books issued by motor car manufacturers.

Through the work of motor manufacturing companies and the work of dealers, who have equipped themselves to take care of the job, a number of motorists have been induced to have their crank cases cleaned regularly, but there are still far too many motorists who neglect to do so.

Road dust and sand work their way into the crank case to mingle with the oil and small metal particles to grind away moving parts and reduce the efficiency of the motor. Then, too, the oil in the crank case will, in time, wear out or become diluted by fuel mixtures and thus lose a great deal of its lubricating value. This dilution is, in some cases, very rapid, due to faulty carburetor adjustment or mechanical defects.

The use of inferior motor lubricants and poor motor fuel, may aggravate the difficulty, but no lubricating oil can maintain a piston-to-cylinder seal over a piston clearance which has been made excessive through wear. Neither can any lubricating oil withstand the cutting of a "too wet' or too rich fuel mixture. The remedy lies in changing the oil frequently, after thoroughly cleaning the crank case.

It is not enough to merely drain the oil out of the crank case and refill with fresh oil. Dust, grit and metallic particles may lodge in the crevices and the congealed oil which adheres to the side of the crank case. The foreign matter thus retained will seriously interfere with the lubricating qualities of the fresh oil. Before refilling the crank case, it should, therefore, be thoroughly cleaned.

One of the best ways to clean the crank case is to flush it out with a light grade oil. There are many objections to the use of coal oil or gasoline for flushing. After cleaning with any one of these fuel oils, it is impossible to drain entirely, a small portion of the coal oil or gasoline is almost certain to remain at the bottom of the crank case. This will dilute the fresh supply of oil and destroy its lubricating value.

Many dealers have prepared themselves to deliver expert crank case service. Cleaning the crank case is, at best, a dirty job and motoriists will be usually better satisfied to go to a reliable dealer to have the work done. Motorists should, however, make sure that who ever does the job, does it thoroughly and uses the proper flushing agent.

A drive which is being put on simultaneously in many cities and towns throughout the Dominion by retailers handling lubricating oils, and garages who are specially equipped to handle crank case cleaning jobs, and which is to be backed by a rather extensive educational campaign, is significant. Through this drive it is hoped that more motorists can be induced to adopt the practice of frequent crank case cleaning. Beyond doubt, all motorists who do adopt the plan will benefit by securing more satisfaction and very agreeable reductions in operating expenses.

According to the report of the department of insurance, Canada's fire losses for 1921 amounted to $49,015,930. or $5.22 per capita. This sum does not include forest fires, which have caused enormous damages this year.

GOLD STRIKE IS CONFIRMED

High-grade ore in a large body has been struck on the Big Missouri mine.

Such is the message brought from the Salmon River country by a group of leading mining men who arrived in Vancouver from the North yesterday.

A. B. Trites, one of the men responsible for the Premier discovery, is again responsible for this important new strike, said W. G. Tanner, president of the Alaska Premier, who will be recalled as the man who sold the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company its rich Howe Sound property now the largest copper mine in the Empire.

The discovery and the circumstances connected with it were confirmed by Grant Mahood, general manager of the Americian Mining and Smelting Company, which is developing the Betty Group, and W. R. Tonkin, president of the Fish Creek Mining Company. A. B. Trites and R. K. Neill also came out on the boat yesterday.

"They have cross-cut 16 feet of high-grade ore and have traced it for 300 feet on the surface," stated Mr. Tanner. "Great credit is due Mr. Trites for having the courage to back Harry Howson, the practical mining man who induced him to undertake the venture, after engineers of high standing have had opportunity to go over the property and have evidently turned it down."

The Big Missouri has had one of the most interesting histories of any property in the province. Staked originally about 12 years ago by Dan and Andy Lindeborg, it has been bonded four or five times, twice to Sir Donald Mann, and has been as many times "passed up." A fortune has been spent in development on it by the various bonders but wihtout avail.

"Mr. Trites was prepared to spend $150.000 on the property but under Mr. Howson's direction the ore was struck within 10 days of the commencement of operations," said Mr. Tanner.

"The fact that Sir Donald Mann had let his second bond on the property go put somewhat of a quietus on the northern properties in the Salmon River district," he said, "but the new strike by Mr. Howson has put a new complexion on things and will bring into prominence a number of other adjacent properties such as the Hercules, in which Major R. F. E. Leckie is interested, and the Anaconda group, which have similar ore occurences."

Mr. Tanner stated that the Fish Creek Mining Company had also driven a new cross-cut tunnel this season and had struck high-grade ore at a depth of 150 feet, proving the mine beyond question. Six shipments averaging from $200 to $350 a ton in gold had been made, this being the only new shipping mine in Alaska last year, according to Mr. Tanner.

The Daly Alaska, Alaska Premier and Stoner claims had also encountered big bodies of good ore this season, said Mr. Tanner, and were increasing their forces.

Mr. Mahood stated that the work on the Betty group was progressing favorably.—Vancouver Sun.

KEEPING THE FAITH FUND

During the sittings of the parliamentary committee on Soldiers Re-establishment, the following statement was made public through the press by C. G. McNeil, secretary, and R. Maxwell, president, of the G. W. V. A.:

Following recent disclosures surrounding parliamentary inquiry, we openly charge the Pensions Board with contemptible and cold-blooded conspiracy to deprive ex-service men of rights previously granted by parliament. There has been deliberate concealment, secret regulations, pensions and insurance in direct violation of the intention of parliament, and a deliberate attempt to disguise facts before the present parliamentary committee. This is the culmination of an unsympathetic policy of increasing severity during recent months. The chairman of the committee has consented to re-open the question, impressed by generally expressed indignation. This plot challenges the basic rights of ex-service men, nullifies in principle established privileges and frustrates further re-establisment efforts required.

The committee feeling that the accusations were serious and that these charges should be investigated with care, recommended to the government that a commission be appointed to inquire into the alegations. The government have appointed a Royal commission to investigate the above charges.

A special appeal has been received from our Dominion headquarters for funds to effectively continue the fight for more adequate re-establishment during the Royal Commission inquiry now commencing. This appeal is the final opportunity to prove the need for further re-establisment legislation and demands the utmost effort of every ex-service man.

The report of this commission will determine the future legislation on our behalf. The Dominion Command seriously warns us that they will have no alternative but to withdraw from active participation in this re-establishment fight unless they have strong financial support without delay. Unless we have proper representation all our interests may be shelved permanently.

A special fund known as the "Keeping Faith Fund," under suitable trusteeship, is being established at Ottawa. Branches are invited to open subscription lists for all ex-service men and the public. The whole welfare of ex-serviice men and the future success of the activities of the organization entirely depend on this effort. For the last four or five years a great many ex-service men have been taking advantage of this organization without contributing one solitary nickle. If the game is worth the candle they must now ante up to sit in the game.

We trust that this appeal will meet with the whole hearted support of every ex-service man who has his own future welfare at heart, and also those of his more unfortunate comrades, as also the general public. All special subscriptions should be forwarded to the Secretary of the G. W. V.A. and marked "Keeping Faith Fund."—D. F. Markland, Sec.-Trea.

OPERATORS MAKE OFFER

The following is the substance of an offer made yesterday by the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, looking to a reopening of the Mines in this District:

That the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association agrees to immediate resumption of work on the following basis:

1. That the general clauses of the agreement which expired on March 31, 1922, between the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America shall be continued unchanged to the 31st day of March, 1923.

2. That all Day Wage and Contract Rates in the said agreement and Supplement dated October 25th, 1920, shall be reduced 20%, effective at once, and shall remain in effect to March 31st, 1923:

Provided that if at any time before the said March 31st, 1923, not less than 80% of the union miners in the Central Competitive Field, comprising Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, shall have negotiated through the Executive heads of the United Mine Workers of America a new agreement with the operators in that field, the day wage and contract rates in District 18 shall, subject to the provisions of Paragraph 3 hereof, be amended so that the same relation shall exist between the new rates and those which expired in this District on March 31st, 1922, as exists in the Central Competitive Field between the new rates and those which also expired on the 31st of March, 1922, there.

3. That the decision as to the time when and the extent to which such an agreement shall have been consummated in the Central Competitive Field shall be left to the Federal Minister of Labor, the Hon. James Murdock, and that amendment of the rates referred to in Paragraph 2 shall become effective as and from the date notification of such decision shall have been received by this Association.

4. That the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, shall meet in conference 30 days prior to March 31st, 1923, to consider the terms of a new agreement for this District.

"KEEPING FAITH FUND"

Do we fight or do we quit? You know that since 1917 the G.W.V.A. has carried on the fight for better re-establishment legislation. During every session of parliament real gains have been made because of the perseverance and aggressive effort of the G.W.V.A. The results far surpass those obtained in other countries. Ex-service men and dependents in Canada would be in a sad state indeed but for this endeavor.

The G.W.V.A. has won another victory. Efforts to deprive Veterans of existing benefits have been defeated. Further remedial legislation has been secured. A Royal Commission with power to deal with the entire question of re-establishment has been obtained.

The fight is not over. Never again will we gain the same opportunity to prove the need of more adequate re-establishment. The inquiry of the Commission will be as thorough and extensive as we are prepared to make it. If we lose by default we will never be able to come back.

Will we fight or will we quit? The decision is yours. The accomplishment will be in exact proportion to the determination demonstrated. It is useless to proceed without the very definite support of ex-service men. Unless you back up the representations made on your behalf, the Commission will report that the ex-service men are satisfied with what they have.

If you want a real fight put up real money. The financial reserves of the Association have been expended in past efforts on behalf of ex-service men. Without funds the fight must now be abandoned.

The general public of Fernie can help. This is the first time the G.W.V.A. has made such an appeal. Why not now turn to the aid of the most important phase of the Association's activities, You can do this much anyway. There is no time to lose. The Commission's inquiry will be under way within a month. Send your subscriptions to D. F. Markland, Sec.-Treas. of the local branch, without delay.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CONVERSION SCHEME

The attention of the holders of the five and a half per cent. war loan bonds maturing December 1, 1922, is directed to the offer of the Minister of Finance to renew the loan on favorable terms. The last Canadian loan was placed in New York at a satisfactory price. The Minister is making his present financial operation entirely a domestic one by offering to exchange maturing bonds for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, running for either five years or ten years as the bondholder may prefer. A further inducement to the investor is that he receives a bonus of one month's interest. The terms offered are decidedly favorable to the investor and it is probable that a large part of the maturing loan will be renewed. Arrangements for the exchange of the bonds can be made at any branch of the chartered banks. Holders who do not wish to reinvest will be paid in cash on the 1st of December.

DEALERS FINED $1000 EACH

Before Magistrate Henderson in the city police court on Monday, the Fernie Liquor Exporters, Ltd., and the B. C. Export Co., both pleaded guilty to charges of selling liquor contrary to the provisions of the Government Liquor Act and were each assessed fines of $1000, and some fifty cases of liquor, which were seized in connection with the sales in question, were confiscated by the Crown.

Upon pleas of guilty being entered, Inspector of Provincial Police Dunwoody formally requested that the secondary charge of keeping liquor for sale be withdrawn. Magistrate Henderson consented and this automatically released the large stocks of liquor in the warehouses of these companies, valued at approximately $250 000, which have been held in seizure by the authorities since the informations were laid.

NOVA SCOTIA MINERS STRIKE

SYDNEY, N. S., August 15. — A general strike of the miners of the South Cape Breton coal fields went into effect at midnight. Disregarding notices that the strike order had been recalled, and repudiating the settlement negotiated by their executives with the British Empire Steel Corporation on Sunday, at Sydney, the men commenced leaving the pits yesterday afternoon.

At midnight, every mine in the Glace Bay and New Waterford subdistricts was reported idle.

District No. 26, United Mine Workers headquarters, stated last night that it looked as if the whole 12,000 members would be out on strike by sunrise.

Coming on the heels of the optimistic announcement of the Sydney settlement on Sunday, the walkout of the Cape Breton miners came as a paralyzing blow to the general public here, although it was far from unexpected in mining circles.

As a bright spot there is said to be the possibility that it may all be a mistake, the result of a misunderstanding, and that the miners' officials may be able to induce the men to go back to work pending a referendum on the Sydney agreement.

At New Waterford, the United Mine Workers' locals met last night and passed the following resolutions:

1. To re-affirm the Phalen resolution calling for a strike for 1921 rates of pay, and to go on strike at midnight.

2. To give company 24 hours notice of intention to withdraw engineers and firemen from the company power plant, which also supplies the town. (This would leave New Waterford without electric light or water services).

3. To give the company 24 hours notice to get the horses out of the pit (presumably in preparation for the withdrawal of the pumpmen and engineers).

4. To give the company 24 hours notice to get its locomotives into the yards. After that time the miners will not be responsible for their proper housing during the strike.

Every local in that district held a meeting last night and all those on the southside of the harbor, 15 in number, voted to quit work.

OLD TIMERS HAD GOOD TIME

Wednesday will long be remembered by the Old Timers of the district as being the first annual picnic of the Association. The weather was delightful and every one of the two hundred present had the best time of their lives.

The Old Timers with their wives and families formed a big parade, and headed by the Fernie Pipe Band, marched up Victoria Avenue and then were driven by automobiles to the city park, where the picnic was to be held.

During the afternoon a large program of races, tug-of-war, baseball and football were indulged in and created a lively interest, some sensational stunts being pulled off to the great delight of the onlookers. As the afternoon wore on a halt in the activities was called for supper, which was one of the "bring your basket" order.

After supper had been disposed of Bob Duthie, "by special request," gave a rendering of the Sword Dance and the Highland Fling in a masterly manner, to the trilling of the bagpipes. Not to be outdone, Jimmy McLean and Philip Carosella rendered their idea of how the Scotch Reel should be danced, and got away with it.

The feature of the day was the 50 yard dash for fat women, in which in which Mrs. Bob Duthie, Mrs. Alex Cameron and Mrs. Wm. Mills participated, the latter winning by a good margin.

A matched race between Bob Duthie, W. W. Brown, Harry Dunlap and Geo. Cody was also worth the price of admission. It was a dead heat until the last moment, when Bob Duthie stubled and fell across the line winning the prize by a nose.

The affair wound up to a glorious finish about nine o'clock and was voted a huge success by everybody, and henceforth will be a yearly event in the lives of our Old Timers.

Four car loads of baseball fans journeyed to Wycliffe on Sunday to witness the game between Wycliffe and Kimberley but returned disappointed, rain marring any effort to start the game. This end of the league is still undecided and although a knock-out competition is being staged and Wycliffe and Kimberley are left in the finals, Wycliffe has to win twice owing to Kimberley being virtual winners before Yahk's demise as a league team upset the dope. However, if Kimberley wins the first game, they will be the team to play off with Fernie. On Thursday the teams met in Cranbrook in an effort to decide the first game, postponed from Sunday and darkness intervened with the score standing 6 all. Enmity runs high and according to reports the game ended in anything but a friendly manner. Fernie fans will have to wait maybe till after the second game is played before the play-off can take place.

Fire broke out early Monday evening in the dispensing room of the Strachan Drug Co., and developed so rapidly that the entire stock was badly damaged before the fire brigade could get the blaze under control. The loss in the drug store, which is covered by insurance, will amount to ten or eleven thousand dollars. The building, which also contains a jewelry and confectionery store, was badly damaged.

SAYS CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET

(Calgary Herald)

The Herald is able today to give the people of Calgary and district some more good news in the announcement that a local contractor has been given the contract for the construction of a news print plant to be located at Elko, B.C.

From the viewpoint of winter unemployment this news is particularly good. The contract it for $13,000,000, the plant being in three units, the first to be finished within one year. Three years will be needed to complete the whole job, and it is estimated that at least one thousand men will be required on construction work, commencing with the early fall and continuing all winter. Most of these construction workers will be ordinary laborers, and the contractor will take as many as possible from Calgary.

These evidences of an immediate revival of building industry in the local and near local field are most gratifying. What it must mean is that the usual unemployment condition over the winter months will be minimized to a considerable extent and general business conditions in the city vastly improved. It looks like the beginning of a return to busy times and prosperity.

WALLINGER WINS EASILY

Cranbrook, Aug. 16. — Wallinger, the Conservative candidate, was elected to the British Columbia legislature here Tuesday by a majority of over 200, in one of the keenest elections that has been held in this province in years. With the returns almost complete the vote stood: Wallinger 1005; Taylor 781. In Cranbrook City, Wallinger had a big majority, the vote standing: Wallinger, Con., 766; Taylor, Lib., 460.

Unlike recent provincial bye-elections there was no side issue like the Ymir road in the Nelson election. Premier Oliver was attempting to justify the dismissal of Mr. Wallinger from his position of government agent here for a period of eighteen years on telegraphic notice. Unfortunately terms were used which aroused the ire of Wallinger's supporters to such a pitch that he was given the largest majority ever recorded in an election of any kind in the city of Cranbrook. They resented the imputations made in the premier's opening speech about a week ago, and in an edition of the local government organ a day later. Though the premier and every member of his cabinet spent about ten days in the riding campaigning for the government candidate, Wallinger was swept into the seat by a handsome majority. In addition to the premier and cabinet,, an ex-cabinet minister, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, Jack Buckam, M.P. from Golden, and R. E. Beattie, ex-M.P. for this riding, were all in the riding. The election shortly after the campaign started was made into a personal attack on Mr. Wallinger in an attempt to prove that he had misappropriated $225 of government funds which was stated to be the government's reason for having discharged him from his position as government agent. The masterly defence of Wallinger put up by Hon. W. J. Bowser, leader of the opposition, who had personally had Mr. Wallinger in his service while the former had been in cabinet positions for a number of years, brought disaster to the government and its forces.

NORTHCLIFFE DIES MONDAY

LONDON, August 14.— Viscount Northcliffe, noted British publicist died today.

Viscount Northcliffe, the son of an Irish barrister, became an editor at 17 years, owner and publisher of the London Times and Daily Mail, the molder of public opinion, a man of powerful influence in the making and unmaking of British Cabinets, and, who with David Lloyd George, contributed in a great measure to arousing England to more vigorous action in the war.

To Viscount Northcliffe is ascribed the arousing of the British public to a knowledge of the fact that the British army in France was insufficiently equipped with high explosive shells, that British guns on the French front were short of ammunition and that Lord Kitchener, then secretary of state for war, was sending the British gunners shrapnel while Sir John French, as commander, was appealing for the same kind of high explosives that Germany was hurling over the lines in vast quantities.

The exposure has been characterized as one of the outstanding journalistic feats of the war. It resulted in the appointment of David Lloyd George as the first British minister of munitions, and put him on the road to become prime minister.

He sent the military correspondent of the London Times, Colonel Repington, to France, and Repington sent and the Times published a dispatch exposing the situation and attributing the failure of military operations and heavy casualty lists to a deficiency in shells.

This was followed by an editorial criticism of Lord Kitchener who up to that time had been regarded as England's greatest war genius. The revelations and criticism shocked England into quick action. Mr. Lloyd George appealed to the British workmen to back up the British army and England became a vast shop for the manufacture of guns and ammunition. Meantime Lord Northcliffe was denounced on all sides by the British press, his newspapers publicly burned in the streets and his life is said to have been threatened.

He supported Lloyd George in a demand for a small and efficient cabinet of which Asquith should not be a member. Mr. Asquith resigned and Lloyd George succeeded him.

At the conclusion of the war he and Lloyd George were characerized as the "two strongest personalities in British life."

Born in Chapelizod, Ireland, July 15, 1865, Alfred Charles William Harnsworth, Viscount Northcliffe started his career as a subordinate editor in a publishing house writing answers to correspondents. This suggested to him a newspaper career which he embarked upon by publication of a weekly magazine called "Answers." Succeeding in this and other ventures in publication, he eventually founded the London Daily Mail, the first London morning newspaper to sell for half a penny. He is said to have been the owner of some 60 periodicals having a circulation of 20,000,000 copies.

HEALTH OF DAIRY CATTLE

How it can be obtained and maintained.

If dairymen in particular, and farmers generally, would know how to have healthy cattle, they should lose no time in sending to the Publications Branch, Ottawa, for a copy of recently issued Pamphlet No. 16 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, prepared under the immediate supervision of the Veterinary Director General. It contains 85 definite questions and 85 expicit answers, couched in plain, straightforward language, regarding the Accredited Herd system and the identification, prevention and eradication of tuberculosis; also relative to the requirements of and provision for official inspecting and testing. The primary principle for the prevention of tuberculosis, or for that matter, any other disease of live stock is cleanliness, accompanied by free ventilation and plenty of light; and the first element in sanitation is cleanliness. That this is a prime consideration is indicated by the statement that the officially appointed inspector will not undertake to test a herd for tuberculosis until he is assured by personal observation that the premises are clean and sanitary.

Besides details of the provisions made for Government testing, explanations are given in the questions and answers form regarding a variety of matters, including municipal testing and classification of dairies, testing by private practitioners with departmentally supplied tuberculin, and the ways in which swine and poultry are liable to become infected with tuberculosis.

BUILDING UP CANADA'S EXPORT TRADE

IN Canada's gradual return to industrial activity and resultant prosperity, the automobile factories of the country are taking a by no means unimportant part. Their shipments to foreign countries, and particularly to other parts of the British Empire are an increasing factor in trade development. The above photograph shows a train of 25 cars of Studebaker automobiles which recently left the Studebaker factory at Walkerville, Ont., where the automobiles were built, on a long journey over the C.P.R. to London, England. This was only part of the shipment, fifteen other carloads having gone forward very shortly afterwards.

Cars shipped overseas require far different treatment than those shipped by rail. In the first place, an export car is enclosed in a huge wooden case, sturdily bound and bolted together so that it has ample strength to withstand the rough handling it must contend with in being hoisted into the hold of a ship, then rehoisted out upon the wharf and perhaps shipped overland if its destination happens to be an inland town.

In order to crate the car, the wheels are removed, top and windshield taken off, and every device employed toward making the packing as compact as possible. Compactness is desired for two reasons. First, to prevent play in the case; and second, to minimize the ocean freight charges, for steamship companies differ from the railroads in that they fix their rates on the basis of cubic feet, instead of so much per pound of weight. Many precautions in export boxing are exercised in order to regulate the contact of salt air with the finish of the car. The surfaces of all metal parts are protected by a coating of grease. The lining of the case with tar paper lends further protection.

500,000 TONS OF COAL FOR WEST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Completion of arrangements with the federal central coal distribution committee whereby more than half a million tons of coal will be moved to the northwest within the next fortnight was announced late today by Senators Kellogg of Minnesota and Lenroot of Wisconsin.

The two Senators after a conference with C. E. Tuttle, in charge of the lake division of the central committee, said it had been arranged to send 50,000 tons of coal to Michigan peninsula ports and 100,000 tons to Lake Superior ports this week and that tomorrow arrangements would be made for the movement of 400,000 tons to the Superior and Michigan lake ports north of Chicago the following week.

Confidence was expressed by the two senators that the priority tonnage later would be increased. The tonnage delivered to the northwest this week and next, the senators said, will be distributed locally by the coal committees recently organized and by the governors of the states.

TWIN PORTS COAL SUPPLY LESS THAN HALF NORMAL

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Aug. 15.—Less than half the normal supply of coal is on the docks at Fort William and Port Arthur, according to a survey just completed with respect to what are known as private stocks, as distinguished from those held for use by the railways. Heavy demands are being made from day to day, for western use, local householders and manufacturers and even shipping companies eating into these reserves. Three vessel loads of soft coal have left within the past week for Sault Ste. Marie, for the purpose of replenishing bunkering stations. Hard coal in store here as at August 1, when dealers completed the check-up totalled 63,600 tons. Last year at this time the figures were 128, 700 tons, which may be considered a normal quantity. Hard coal now here is made up of egg, 15,500; stove, 4,300; nut, 42,200; pea, 1,500. The 1921 stocks were: egg, 26,200; stove, 48,000; nut, 53,800; pea, 700.

Bituminous coal in hand here now is 173,000 tons, made up of: soft, 109,400; slack, 2,200; Pocahontas, 43,800; Pocahontas slack, 7,400; blacksmith coal, 10,200. On August 1, of last year, the stocks of bituminous coal were 266,860, composed of: soft, 155,300; slack, 27,160; Poachontas, 54,900; Pocahontas slack, 9,900; blacksmith coal, 19,600.

How much of the storage coal here is free remains a question. Much of it is said to be held to the order of Winnipeg merchants. The Empire Coal Company of Canada, agents for the principal soft coal exporters of the United States, is said to be the principal owner, and each day sees a considerable dwindling in the amount of "free" coal that is available for purchase by local and district consumers.

Local merchants are urging householders to stock up now for two principal reasons; first, that the increasing demand from Winnipeg and parts of Manitoba is rapidly restricting the amount available for local sale; secondly, the Winnipeg wholesalers' prices are not likely to remain stable. It is estimated by the dealers here that if orders were placed at once, the local demand could be pretty well satisfied, especially if a fair balance of soft and hard coal was used.

Mayor Edmeston, who has just returned from Winnipeg, reports a nervous feeling there which is almost certain to be reflected in heavier demands on the rseerves here from day to day as the thought of winter becomes more pressing.

With respect to the railway supplies, there is not the same accurate tally available, but those in close touch with them estimate that both lines are very far behind their normal holdings, and particularly the Canadian National lines. The Canadian Pacific Railway usually keeps stocked up for a year or so ahead. It is understood their ordinary reserves, therefore, are about half a million tons, while the tonnage now available is down to 80,000. This figure cannot be verified here. The Canadian National is reported to have but five or six thousand tons in sight at the twin ports, as against a safe margin of 350,000 tons, It may be, however, that they have some understanding with the Empire Coal Co. respecting their reserves. While neither line is consuming very much now, the fall grain rush will soon be in full swing, when the demands on fuel will be very heavy.

A writer in the Publishers' Weekly makes an amusing and yet valuable sugestion for the summer reading list. Her theory is that vacation reading, like vacation work or play, should be a complete change from the routine of the rest of the year. Thus teachers should read wild detective stories, stenographers and clerks should read romance and poetry. Weary preachers should read tales of adventure and life in the open air and books of exploration into far lands. Poets should read cook books and garden manuals. Honest lawyers should read fairy tales, and anti-revolutionists should read biology.

NEED ECONOMY IN COAL-MINING

In a thoughtful article contained in the 'Saturday Night' last week on the fuel problem in Canada, Mr. Louis Simpson, the author of the same, throws out the suggestion that coal is not only being rapidly replaced by hydro-electric power and fuel oil, but that the general market for coal may, unless both mine owners and miners watch their steps, be put for a large part, permanently out of business. "It must not be forgotten," he says, "that there is a selling price for all commodities, which, when reached, inevitably curtails consumption."

Substitutes for coal are unquestionably gaining in popularity in a most astonishing manner. Where hydro-electric power can be had at all cheaply, coal is being gradually displaced. For instance, in the heating of water for domestic purposes, and perchance later on this service may be still further extended. Fuel oil is gaining ground so rapidly that the miner of steam coal can well look with anxiety to the future. Millions of gallons of fuel oil are now being burned yearly on ocean going vessels and in locomotives, where a few years ago it was indeed a novelty. Heating with fuel oil is also gaining ground rapidly, and the installations of plants both large and small, is now a matter of every day practice. With oil there is the double advantage of cleanliness and easy control, to say nothing of the smoke nuisance, and the greater efficiency of oil as compared with coal.

There is a lot the matter with the coal business aside entirely from high wages and high freight rates. On the average it is costing too much to produce coal on this continent. Too many miners have been employed, and in consequence work has been infrequent. It has been a case of spreading the work too thinly. Then, again, mines which long ago should have been closed down owing to excessiive cost of production have worked along blindly. It is said that in the United States no less than three thousand bituminous mines should be closed down permanently and 150,000 miners discharged to seek other and more remunerative employment. If this be done the remaining miners will have an opportunity of being steadily employed at a fair wage in place of being partially employed at a hiigh wage and coal will in consequence be produced at a lower price. The fly in the ointment in respect to steady production in the bituminous fields is a matter of a steady market or storage. Unfortunately soft or bituminous coal cannot be stored in the open. It must be protected from the weather, otherwise it wastes away and in time becomes practically useless. As it works out under the present system the mines work full steam ahead so long as there is a ready market, but when this fails, as it does at certain seasons, the mines are either partially or entirely shut down. Storage plants would remedy this, just as grain storage plants take care of surplus wheat until the market is ready to receive it. Surely if it pays to erect enormously expensive grain storage plants and elevators, it should be part of our economic life to see to it that our coal is equally well treated, for our coal bills are much more important than our bread bills, inasmuch as we spend vastly more money annually for fuel than we do for the wheat we use.—Saturday Night.

RICHES

By Walt Mason

I sometimes yearn for coin to burn, for all the brands of money; "this life," I think, "with loads of chink, would certainly be sunny. Now down the road to my abode, the wolf is drawing closer; and I must scheme and plan and dream of how to pay the grocer. The rent is due and landlords too will soon demand their dollars, and baliffs bum will shortly come, with other noxious callers. The whole year round I lack the pound, the kopeck and the shilling; I envy, then, the wealthy men who've made a princely killing." At divers dates with wealthy skates I mingle and foregather, and hear them swear and groan with care until they're in a lather The market slumps a brace of jumps and millionaires are roaring; the prices rise and wealthy guys are busted by their soaring. For discontne the Croesus gent had all the records broken; he gathers up the loving cup and every other token. When I observe his weary curve, his care beyond all telling, I'm reconciled to baliffs wild who drill around my dwelling.

The ballot in the Missouri primary election is six feet long. It is estimated that the amount of paper used would found a Moscow bank.

There is only one way to kill all the Flies

This is it—Darken the room as much as possible, close the windows, raise one of the blinds where the sun shines in, about eight inches, place as many Wilson's Fly Pads as possible on plates (properly wetted with water but not flooded) on the window ledge where the light is strong, leave the room closed for two or three hours, then sweep up the flies and burn them. See illustration below.

Put the plates away out of the reach of children until required in another room.

THE CANADIAN ARCTIC AND ITS OIL SECRETS

Members of the Imperial Oil Company's crews that have spent the winter in the Fort Norman field have just returned to Edmonton. According to them, the net results of the Imperial Company's campaign in the shadow of the Arctic Circle are not sufficient as yet to enable Canadians to express more than hope with regard to prospects for oil in the far north. The company is going straight ahead with its work this summer, and there may be a more definite announcement next winter.

The well at C camp on the left bank of the Mackenzie river, opposite Discovery Well, fifty-three miles below Fort Norman, has been drilled to a depth of 1,735 feet, the drilling being halted there because the six-inch casing proved too light a fit for the tools, and the crew could not proceed without endangering the hole. The well at Bluefish camp, on the right bank of the Mackenzie river, ten miles below Fort Norman, has been tied up at five hundred feet through the loss of a string of tools.

The well on Bear Island, origionally headquarters camp, about 300 feet deep, has been delayed by trouble with casing, but drillers are proceeding, one crew having remained on the ground in charge of superintendent A. W. Harris. Bear Island is about two-thirds the distance across the four-mile wide river, opposite Discovery Well.

Discovery Well is still producing a few barrels of oil per day. The well produced about two hundred barrels of oil during the winter, not sufficient to furnish fuel for drilling at the other wells. A large part of the activities of the men during the winter months were connected to cutting cord wood for the boilers of the drilling wells. Drilling work was suspended from the end of September, 1921, to the end of May, 1922, owing to insufficient fuel and the difficulty of keeping water lines thawed. But so far from being discouraged in its drive for fuel oil under the shadow of the arctic circle, the company is preparing to go ahead.

The company shipped more than fifty tons of food supplies north again this summer for the camps, or two boat loads. Geologist T. A. Link, of the company, is now on the Hay river, just south of where that stream empties into Great Slave Lake, looking over some possible drilling sites in that territory.—Saturday Night.

CHIROPRACTIC

Q.—Do headaches over the eyes come from weak eyes or a bad stomach? I have been told it was both.

A.—It may be both. Most headache victims are restored to health by a course of chiropractic spinal adjustments freeing the spinal nerves to the stomach. But headaches are often due to eye strain. If the employment causes constant eye strain, glasses are often the only solution. On the other hand, many wearers of glasses have been able to discard them after a course of chiropractic spinal adjustments for the eyes.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSS

"Nine million people can not afford to maintain an ash-heap of $45,000,000 a year. This estimate of Canada's annual fire loss does not include the further enormous loss from forest fires that the public does not seem to recognize. The destruction of large areas of virgin timber also means the obliteration to a large extent of our water power, so that the permanency and utilization of this great asset is jeopardized. This in turn, threatens not only the development of our industries, but also our transportation facilities. The criminal part of it all is, that with ordinary care, this destruction could be averted."

This was the statement of Deputy Fire Marshal George F. Lewis, of Ontario, Wednesday afternoon in the course of a comprehensive address on fire protection before the annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Fire Marshals, held in Vancouver. Mr. Lewis dealt specifically with the common match which, he said, was responsible for more than twenty per cent. of the annual forest fires throughout the Dominion.

Deputy Fire Marshal Charles Heath of Winnipeg also spoke on the danger from film-projecting machines and inflammable film. Provincial Fire Marshal J. Thomas of British Columbia and W. Morley Seller of Alberta, and Deputy Fire Marshal Lewis were appointed a committee to draw up a resolution, recommending the adoption by the provincial departments of education of text books on fire protection for use in the schools. Mr. Charles Heath occupied the chair, and Fire Marshal Thomas, Deputy Fire Marshal MacDonald and Superintendent of Insurance Dougherty represented British Columbia at the convention.

Mr. Lewis stated that the majority of forest fires were caused by careless campers and children playing with matches. He illustrated his remarks by demonstrating the effects of various types of safety and non-treated matches. The later type, he claimed, were the most common and the most dangerous, as the after-glow, which lasted for some seconds, often was fanned into a blaze and ignited surrounding timber, causing disastrous forest fires.

"Our lavish heritage of natural forests have not been appreciated as they should have been," he said, "but have been wasted and destroyed in a prodigal manner. To prevent this wholesale destruction we are erecting a national structure, whose motto is 'service' and whose keynote is 'co-operation.' The work in which we are engaged is everybody's business. We must have the support and endorsation of the public.

"To be able to work effectively, we must have a comprehensive knowledge of chemistry, building construction, moving-picture films, spontaneous combustion, lightning, electricity and its latest development, radio.

"One of the most efficient things that we know of in the prevention of fire is lightning rods," he continued.

"A good lightning rod, properly installed, is 99 per cent. efficient. Educating the public to carry only safety matches will also be of material benefit, for they are impregnated with chemical salts to prevent dangerous after-glow. It has been estimated that every day more than 105,000,000 matches are used in Canada, or twelve matches per day by every person in the Dominion, so the danger of poor matches will be readily seen. A frequent cause of fire is the use of matches with frail stems, whose heads fly off and which break in two.

"The most prolific cause of fires is, unquestionably, the careless user of matches. Wherever there is human life there are matches. Children are fascinated by fire and use matches carelessly because they are placed where they can readily get them and because they see them constantly handled carelessly by their parents.

"One of the most frequent farms of volutary incendiarism is that of the thoughtless smoker who throws away his match without assuring that it is extinguished. Although they will spend fifteen seconds igniting their match and lighting their tobacco, they will not take an extra second to make sure that it is out.

"There is one safe way to dispse of a lighted match. Break it in two before throwing it away. If simple, precautionary measures like this were taken, milloins of feet of lumber would be saved annually. The subject of careless smoking is so important that the National Fire Protection Association has appointed a sub-committee to deal with this problem and attempt to reduce the annual enormous waste from this idiotic form of carelessness," he concluded.

Deputy Fire Marshal Heath, in dealing with fire hazards attributable to film-projectors and minature motion picture machines, spoke of the urgent need for government legislation prohibiting the use of highly imflammable nitro-celluloise films, in view of the steady increase in the use of motion pictures for educative and commercial purposes.

The great bulk of film used today, he went on, was of the nitro-cellulose type. Although this possessed a low degree of nitration, it was inflammable and liable to explode, when stored in large quantities. As the result of numerous disastrous fires in theatres before the danger of this type was realized, cinema theatres in all well-governed towns were now provided with every possible safeguard, such as fireproof projection rooms and adequate ventilation.

These rooms were equipped with automatic shutters, to prevent the fire spreading through the focussing port into the main auditorium, and self-closing doors, while all wiring and electrical connections on the machine were, he said, closely supervised by a government inspector.

The great danger of fire and subsequent panic and loss of life was, it would be readily seen, increasing tenfold by the display of these films in churches and schools that were not fitted with fireproof projecting rooms, he continued. There were a number of minature cinematograph machines with so-called safe projectors on the market, but the majority of them had proved veritable firetraps when subjected to close examination.

A number of this type of machine was put on the market in Ontario some time ago, Mr. Heath added. They were equipped with small sprockets, too narrow to hold standard film, and designed to use a slow-burning film of a less dangerous nature. Owing to the dearth of this type of film, however, purchasers of the minature machines fitted them with larger sprockets and standard film.

"I suggest that the various censor boards handle the problem by demanding that all films be of slow-burning type, and that they be subjected to a strict examination before use. We should also strive to obtain the co-operation of the federal and provincial governments and the railways, all being engaged in circulating large quantities of film," he said in conclusion.—Vancouver Province.

The popular belief that "finder is keeper" is not entertained by the courts. In fining a man who had gathered up lost golf balls on the course, a Toronto judge said: "Lost property, be it dollar bills or golf balls should be handed over to those in authority. otherwise it is stealing."

A novel scheme to cause woodchucks to cease chucking is reported by a Haverhill farmer. Annoyed by the depredations of the burrowing pest he sprinkled their abiding places with pepper. According to the veracious relator he found a number of them stretched out in front of their homes the next morning with their necks broken. They had sneezed themselves to death.

TERMS OF SETTLEMENT

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.— The soft coal strike was virtually broken tonight at a closed conference of operators and miners here, although the actual signing of an agreement was delayed until tomorrow.

The agreement, it was said, would provide for reestablishment of the wage scales that were effective last April 1, and the new contract would run until next March 31.

All details of the agreement were accepted in principle by both miners and operators, and the actual draft of the contract was left to a subcommittee, which continued its work into the night. The signing of the contract, President John L. Lewis of the miners said, is expected to follow a meeting tomorrow of the union's policy committee.

It was decided to establish a fact-finding committee with advisory powers for dealing with future negotiations in the soft coal industry. The commission would be chosen by miners and operators, with the personnel to be approved by the president.

As a result of the progress made tonight by operators and miners, Governor Harry L. Davis of Ohio, announced he would call off the conference of governors of five coal producing states that was to have met here to consider the strike situation He also announced that he would withdraw Ohio militiamen, who were sent into the coal fields recently.

Operators controlling approximately 60,000,000 tons annual production were represented in the conference. Their mines were understood to be in central Pennsylvania, western Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, northern West Virginia and Michigan.

Under the decision of the conference, it was understood that any soft coal operators anywhere in the country might become parties to the agreement, the reopening of their mines to follow immediately. These operators, it was said might sign the agreement as individuals or by state or district organizations.

No exact estimate of the number of miners who will be put back to work under the settlement was obtainable, but it is probably between 60,000 and 75,000 men. Altogther there are 450,000 soft coal miners on strike, union officials said. It is expected by them that the other operators will accept the settlement effected, here, but meanwhile the strike will continue at the mines.

The terms of the settlement mark a breakdown in the system of collective bargaining that has grown up in the soft coal industry since 1884. It means the abandonment for the present at least of the central competitive field, comprising western Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois, as the basis for fixing wages in fields outside the four states. In the past, wage contracts have been made for the central field, and those outlying districts have been based on the central field scale.

This is not the first time, however, that the wage-making machinery on the central field basis has broken down. It failed in 1906, and was not fully reestblished until 1910.

The new plan of settlement is a fundamental change in the policy of the United Mine Workers of America and for that reason the union policy committee of 128 members was called to meet tomorrow to pass on it.

White House Conference Held

WASHINGTON, August 14.— The whole coal situation with especial reference to conditions arising from the anthracite strike and phases of the conferences to be held in Philadelphia Wednesday between anthracite operators of Pennsylvania and officials of the United Mine Workers of America, were said to have been discussed at a White House conference tonight participated in by President Harding, Secretary Hoover, Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania and Senator Pepper of that state.

At the conclusion of the conference Senator Pepper expressed the belief that an "adjustment of all differences for the time being at least," would be accomplished at the Philadelphia meeting.

Senator Pepper explained that he had given the president all the details of his recent negotiations with the operators in Philadelphia after he had been "commissioned by the president to induce the operators" to meet in joint conference with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. Tonight's conference it was added, was arranged at the suggestion of Mr. Harding when the latter learned that Governor Sproul was to arrive here this evening.

A bill introduced in the Georgia State Legiislautre provides that "any and all married men who shall go fishing without the consent of their wives shall be guilty of a felony and their sentence shall not be less five five years at hard labor." This is enough to make the worms in the bait can turn.

There are two sorts of women — those who make matches and those who break them; and Jane Morgan is the latter sort. A wilful, fascinating, capricious girl, her principal accomplishment has been winning the affections of other girls' sweethearts. Her Aunt Martha, with whom she lives, says she must stop all this nonsense and settle down. Inasmuch as settling down involves marrying the family lawyer, Richard Van Loytor, Jane leaves home to pursue her own career.

Having qualified as an amateur, she decides to become a professional match breaker. So she inserts an advertisement in a newspaper, guaranteeing to smash any prospective misalliance that may have a family worried. A young broker, Thomas Butler, Jr., becomes her first client. His father has been rushing about with a dashing widow, Madge Lariane, at Coronado Beach, and young Thomas doesn't approve. Father is also worried. His boy has been seen too much with the fascinating Jane. So father hires Jane to break the match. Jane is collecting from both father and son. And they both find it out. But young Thomas has fallen too much in love to fall out again and he tries to make a permanent match for himself.

Jane, meanwhile, has discovered a plot made by the widow, Madge Lariane, to blackmail old Butler. Madge is to go with Butler on his yacht and De Long is to appear as an indignant brother, forcing old Butler to pay for his silence. Jane seeks to frustrate the scheme, but De Long sets her adrift in a rowboat. Young Thomas rescues her and they arrive at the yacht in time to foil the blackmailers. Jane decides she does not want to break her match with young Tom. "The Match Breaker" will be shown at the Isis next Wednesday and Thursday, August 23 and 24.

SENTIMENTALISTS AND MURDERERS

It is noted with some interest that Hon. D. D. McKenzie, Solicitor General for the Dominion, is reported to be strongly in favor of abolishing capital punishment. The Hon. D.D. may have been influenced in this matter by Mrs .McKenzie, who, it was noted the other day in the despatches, had been sending flowers to a murderer. In any event the fact that a Solicitor General is against hanging folks for murdering other folks, and that the matter will be a subject of debate at the next session of Parliament, is important, particularly at a time when crime is rampant and the gunmen stalk abroad in the land.

Mushy sentimentality should not be allowed to enter into the discussion as to whether we hang a murderer by the neck, by the heels or not at all. The question is whether there is a better method of protecting society against the would-be killer than we now have. Hangings do not stop murderers, that we know. Has the gallows a deterring effect upon ruffians who poke guns in your face, and shoot unless you surrender unconditionally that which they are after, usually your money? In all human probability murders by this class of thug, did they know for a certainty that the worst that could befall them would be life imprisonment, would increase.

On the other hand many a murderer has escaped the gallows because of the feeling of a juryman, that while he would not hesitate to condemn a man to prison for life, he balks at turning him over to the hangman. A mock sentiment at best; for that same juryman and many other sentimentalists would, in all probability, order other men into uniform, drill them and send them into the battle-line to be killed, and that without a qualm of conscience.

It would seem that these people who spend their time sorrowing over the fate of a murderer, with little or no thought of the human wreckage and the widows and orphans that the killer has left in his trail, might be better engaged.—Saturday Night.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble —It may be teeth — it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on—Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

Fernie Baseball Team Averages

We herewith publish the complete batting and fielding averages of the Fernie Baseball Team for all the games participated in this season and also show the team average of last year in both departments. Averages cover the entire 12 games played in the league schedule together with the two games of July 1st, making 14 in all, of which only four players took part in all of the games. The averages shows the number of games each player took part in whether playing the full game or not. In weighing up the averages consideration is due the players, although having a lower average than some, who have taken part in the most number of games, looking at them in this light would give McTeer the lead in both batting and fielding on account of longer service and the number of chances for misplays.

What the headings mean. In the fielding averages: G—games; PO—put outs; A—assits; E—errors. In the batting averages: AB—at bat; R—runs; H—hits (with extra base hits as follows) 2B—two base hits; 3B—three base hits; HR—home runs; TB—total bases made; SB—stolen bases; SH—sacrifice hits; SO—struck out; BB—base on balls; HP—hit by pitcher; %—percentage.

FERNIE WINS FROM MICHEL

A decision in the semi-final of the Crahan Football Cup was reached in the third meeting of Fernie and Michel Wednesday evening, when Fernie secured the honors by a score of two goals to nil. The teams lined up as follows:

Fernie won the toss and gave Michel the sun in their faces. From the outset ding-dong cup tie methods were adopted by both sides and both goalkeepers were early tested. About 12 minutes from the kickoff Fernie drew first blood, when after a nice movement up the left, Smith sent a cross to the goalmouth, where Jimmy Davidson trapped and slipped the ball through Martin's legs. From the centre Michel started pressing and Brown forced a corner which proved fruitless. At the other end Fernie looked dangerous but J. Jenkins relieved at the expense of a corner. Smith took the kick and hit the front of the upright with a curving shot. Thornton got the rebound but shot past. Michel then took up the offensive but when Dawe seemed to have nothing to do but put the ball in the net he shot wildly past. Michel again attacked and were awarded a penalty when G. Davidson stopped up McCrome in the penalty area. McGoverin took the kick but Sawyer was equal to the occasion, knocking the ball out to G. Davidson, who shot high over the bar for a corner. The resultant kick went past. One minute from half time Jimmy Davidson trapped the ball mid-field and went off up the field, slipped through the Michel defence and finished off by beating Martin for the second time with a high dropping shot. Half time: Fernie 2, Michel 0.

From the start of the second half Michel were early in on Sawyer but failed to penetrate. Fernie adopted a defensive game and only left three men to do the attacking, and consequently Martin was rarely called upon during the entire period to defend his citadel. Michel kept up the pressure and McCrome skimmed the upright. Play transferred and Robson got away on the right but just as he was shooting Jenkins blocked the ball and Robson sustained an injured foot and from then on was merely a passenger. Play continued in mid-field for some time and Michel were again dangerous. However, Brown, with an open goal in front of him, shot wildly past. McCrome came into the limelight when he had two trys for goal in quick succession. The first Sawyer disposed of, but McCrome got the rebound and slammed the ball straight back for goal, but somehow Wilson's head got in the way and a corner resulted. Three corners in quick succession fell to Michel but without result. In the last five minutes Michel played desperately to reduce Fernie's leeway, but Sawyer and his defence men defied their efforts and the long whistle came without any change being made in the score.

Fernie will now meet Blairmore in the final for the Crahan Cup.

THE STRIKE SETTLEMENT

CALGARY, Aug. 24.—Peace in the strike of coal miners in District 18 was signed last night. It must yet be submitted for approval of the miners but the members of the executive are convinced that approval will be given and the men will be at work next Monday

Settlement of the strike is the outcome of intervention by Premier Greenfield and Hon. Mr. Murdock, federal minister of labor. A couple of weeks ago Premier Greenfield called the miners' leaders and operators together in Calgary, with the result that negotiations, which had been completely broken off following the publication of the findings of the Knowles commission, were renewed. At that time the operators made the offer of a settlement on the basis of the Knowles-Ostlund award until such time as a permanent basis of settlement was arrived at in the United States. This offer was rejected by the miners. A further meeting was called at the request of Hon. Mr. Murdock, resulting in an offer by the operators to consider a 20 per cent reduction. The miners were on the point of accepting this when President Harding's intervention in the soft coal strike in the United States led to many of the operators and miners there signing up to resume work on the basis of the old wage scale until such time as the U. S. government could get a report, with a basis of permanent wage settlement, from an impartial commission to probe the whole coal industry.

Last Friday the operators and miners in session in Calgary came very near to a settlement on the basis of a 20 per cent. reduction in wages until the settlement in theUnited States, but the miners held ou for retroactive pay should the miners in the United States go back to work at the old wages The operators refused to consider a retroactive pay clause. The miners then took a hand in the game by offering this week to go back to work on the basis of 20 per cent. wage reduction until a majority of the miners in the soft coal mines in the U.S. go back at the old rates, but still wanted two months' retroactive pay. Finally the two parties got together, dropped the retroactive pay contention and made a straight settlement on the basis of 15 per cent reduction in wages, but should 75 per cent of the miners go back to work in the soft coal mines in the States at the payold rate of pay, then the old rates are automatically to apply here.

The strike has been the longest since 1911 when it was the end of October before the mines were opened.

In going back to work now the miners are practically averting all possibility of a serious coal famine. There will be a shortage of coal in some parts of the prairies, especially should winter set in early. It may be said that there is not a pound of coal in dealers' bins in any part of the prairies supplied by the Alberta mines, that is those mines represented by the members of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association.

The following is the official text of the agreement between the operators and miners' officials on Wednesday night:

This Agreement made this twenty-third day of August, 1920,

Between

The Western Canada Coal Operators Association, hereinafter referred to as the operators of the one part,

and

The United Mine Workers of America, District 18, hereinafter referred to as the Union of the other part;

Witnesseth that it is mutually understood and agreed between the parties hereto as follows:

1. That the general clauses of the agreement which expired on March 31st, 1922, between the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, shall be continued unchanged to the 31st day of March, 1923.

2. That all Day Wage and Contract Rates in the said agreement and supplement dated October 25th, 1920, shall be reduced 15 per cent, effective at once, and shall remain in effect to March 31, 1923;

Provided, that if at any time before the said March 31, 1923, not less than 75 per cent of the Union Miners in the Central Competitive Field, comprising Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, shall have negotiated through the Executive heads of the United Mine Workers of America a new agreement with the operators in that Field, the day wage and contract rates in District 18 shall, subject to the provisions of Paragraph 3 hereof, be amended so that the same relation shall exist between the new rates and those which expired in this District on March 31, 1922, as exists in the Central Competitive Field between the new rates and those which also expired on the 31st day of March, 1922, there.

3. That the decision as to the time when and the extent to which such an agreement shall have been consummated in the Central Competitive Field shall be left to the Federal Minister of Labor, the Hon. James Murdock, and that amendments of the rates referred to in Paragraph 2 shall become effective as and from the date notification if such decision shall have been received by this Association, and by the United Mine Workers of America, District 18.

4. Respecting the dispute over the construction of the Make-up Clause, it is agreed that the Minimum Wage shall be the same as a miner working on company work, $7.50 per day. This Construction to be effective only from date of this agreement.

5. That the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America, District 18, shall meet in conference 30 days prior to March 31st, 1923, to consider the terms of a new agreement for this District.

6. This agreement shall be forthwith submitted by the Union for ratification by referendum vote to its membership in District 18, and upon being ratified by a majority voting upon such referendum, this agreement and all and every the provisions hereof shall be deemed to have become and to have been binding on the Union and upon each and every ot its members in the said District, as and from the day of the date hereof.

In Witness Whereof the parties hereto have hereunto set the hands of their proper officers this twenty-third day of August, nineteen hundred and twenty-two.

The United Mine Workers of America, District 18:

Witness to all Signatures:
(Sgd) F. E. Harrison.

Calgary, Aug. 24, 1922.

Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, Ottawa, Ont.

An agreement was reached last night between operators and miners to resume work on a reduction of 15 per cent, subject to clauses two and three of proposal Aug. 17, of which you have copy, with exception that percentage applicable to 75 per cent instead of 80. We are instructed on behalf of both parties to ask that you ascertain and advise without delay when the conditions specified have been fulfilled.

BAD FIRE AT CORBIN

One of the most disastrous fires in the history of Corbin occurred Monday afternoon, when fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the roundhouse of the Eastern British Columbia railway company and their machine shop adjoining the roundhouse. Damage is roughly estimated at between $70,000 and $80,000.

The roundhouse was a frame structure and owing to the extremely hot dry weather of the past month was in a very dry, tindery condition and the flames soon took a strong hold, oil and grease in the workshop adding to the strength of the fire, and it was practically impossible to get the blaze under control. .

When the fire broke out there were four locomotives and a steam shovel in the building and it was only at great risk that workmen saved two of the engines and the steam shovel. The other two engines went through the blaze and are expected to be total losses. The flames spread to the well equipped machine shop, which adjoins the roundhouse, and soon reduced it to a mass of smouldering debris. The machinery and tools which were in the shop are also thought to be a total loss.

WILL VOTE TOMORROW

A largely attended mass meeting of the miners was addressed by President Sherman in the Grand Theatre this afternoon, when it was decided that the proposed agreement be submitted to a referendum of the men tomorrow. If the agreement is sanctioned the men will return to work on Monday.

In the meantime the Company have brought their horses in from pasture and are rapidly getting the mines in shape to open as soon as possible.

TO START WORK ON NEW POWER

The East Kootenay Power Company, Limited, successors to the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., Ltd., announce that they will immediately commence work in duplication of the Transmission Line that is already in operation. Engineers on this are already in the field.

The wonderful response in contracting for power which this company has had from the Mining Companies in this locality has made this addition, which involves the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, possible. Practically all the mines in this locality except one have contracted with this company for power which will, in all probability in the near future, require the additional line carrying capacity that is provided for by this work.

That such a decision could be reached in a period of depression speaks volumes for the optimism and farsightedness of this company and the locality is to be congratulated upon having such a progressive public utility serving it.

It is understood that work on the big plant at Elko is progressing rapidly and that this plant will be completed and in operation by fall of next year.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE—FERNIE, B. C.

In General Instruction No. 839, received August 19, the Department of State of the United States adds to the strictness of the rules governing the admission of aliens into the United States. Only the following classes of persons are permitted to enter the country without passports:—

(1) American citizens;
(2) Canadian citizens;
(3) Other British subjects domiciled in Canada, but not those merely passing through in transit;
(4) Aliens regularly domiciled in the U.S., who have proceeded to Canada and return therefrom to the U. S. within six months.

All other aliens desirous of entering the United States, must bear passports issued by the proper officials of their own nationality, authorizing them to proceed to the United States, and such passports must be visaed by an American Consular officer in the Consular district from which the holder first starts upon his journey with the intention of proceeding to the United States.

The Fernie Consular district embraces: (1) East and West Kootenay, (2) Similkameen west to Carmi and Brideville, and (3) Alberta, eastward to Pincher Creek. All persons within this area who desire to visit the United States, and are not within the four privileged classes, should address the American Consul at Fernie; forwarding at the same time a certificate of residence from the local authorities, showing that the applicant is actually a resident of the Consular district and stating definitely the length of such residence.

The applicant will then be notified whether or not to proceed to Fernie for visa of his passport. In order that a possport may be visaed, the person must appear personally before the Consul, bringing with him his passport and two unmounted photographs.

Five or six blocks on Baker avenue have been put in good shape during the past week and work on Victoria avenue will commence in a few days.

Most people consider the 13th an unlucky day, but not the Pythian Sisters. Come and join them for a good time at their dance in Hawthorne's Hall on Sept. 13. Admission 50c.

DISTRICT GOLF TOURNAMENT

The East Kootenay-Crow's Nest Pass District Golf Tournament will open at Cranbrook on Saturday, Sept. 2, and already the secretary has received entries from Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Macleod, Blairmore, Fernie, Waldo and Cranbrook clubs. This will be the first truly representative gathering of the lovers of the royal and ancient game throughout this section and the interest that is being taken indicates its ultimate success and likewise a permanent fixture.

The method to be followed for handling the play will be that the players will be paired and a qualifying round of 18 holes played. These cards when turned in to the committee will be the guides for dividing the players into the respective flights. The first eight lowest scores will be placed in the championship flight; the next ten in the second flight and so on for six flights. The flights will play knock-out match competitions. There will also be a consolation competition in which only those defeated in the first game of each flight will be qualified to play. The tournament will continue for three days, in addition to which the Cranbrook Club have arranged a program of other social events which will ensure a most enjoyable outing.

BANFF ROAD TO HELP FERNIE

(By J. F. Spalding)

Information has just come to hand that it is the intention of the Brewster Transport Co., Ltd., of Banff, to operate a line of magnificent auto stages for the circle trip from Banff round the circuit and back to Banff. The trial trip will be made immediately th eroad is through, which it is expected will be within the next week or ten days. The trip will be auspicious in more ways than one as it will consist of several cars whose occupants will be visiting British journalists.

W. H. Griffin, the President of the Kalispell Chamber of Commerce, was up to see me today (the 24th) and said that he had just returned from Banff and had received this information from Mr. Brewster personally.

Last year I received a letter from a large transportation company in the States asking for information respecting Fernie being made the centre for their company in the operation of a line of first class auto stages for the run from Yellowstone and Glacier Parks to Banff and over the circle back through here. I told them I thought Fernie would be the logical point, and heard nothing more until a few weeks ago when I received another letter asking for further details, to which I have had no reply to date. It looks, however, as if Fernie is still in their minds.

I have also heard that two Calgary firms intend to put on stages for the circle tour. Fernie is so situated that it is the logical overnight stopping place from either direction. There is no doubt at all that there will be a number of stage lines running over it, and if Fernie is selected as a stopping place it will mean quite a lot to the town.

A CONCESSION TO HOME INVESTORS

In offering to renew the five and a half per cent. Canadian Government bonds maturing December 1st at the same rate of interest as is carried by the maturing bonds, and allowing a bonus of one moneh's interest, the Minister of Finance is making a material concession to the Canadian investor, as this rate is higher than was paid on the recent Canadian loan in New York. The high class of the security, which is the very best that can be offered in Canada, and the liberal rate of interest should lead to large investment in these Dominion bonds. Attention is directed to the official advertisement giving details.

The Ladies Guild will hold a dance in Victoria Hall on Labor Day, Sept. 4, from 10 o'clock to 3. Admission $1.50 per couple. Refreshments. Whitehouse orchestra. A25-2

Walter Griffin and S. W. Shortt, business men of Kalispell, Mont., spent a day in the city this week on their return from a motor jaunt through the Windermere Valley, Radium Hot Springs, Banff and Lake Louise.

MINERS RESUME IN SIX STATES

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 21.—(By Associated Press)—Wyoming operaors and mine union officials this evening came to an agreement for the settlement of the coal strike in this state. The employers accepted the union's proposal that the miners return to work under the 1921 wage scale. The check-off system is to be retained. They will be called to work by the operators early Tuesday.

BILLINGS, Mont., Aug 21.—Resumption of coal mining in the morning in the Montana mines of District 27, United Mine Workers of America, was ordered in a telegram sent out this afternoon by M.F. Purcell, secretary of the Montana Coal Operators' association, following the signing of an agreement here, ending the mine strike.

The strike will terminate upon the basis of the terms reached at the Cleveland conference. The agreement renews the wage contract and working conditions on the point of expiring when the men were called out April 1.

DES MOINES, Iowa, August 21.—Fourteen thousand Iowa miners on strike since April 1, will return to work Wednesday morning. Representtatives of the miners and of the operators signed a pact here based on the terms of the Cleveland settlement this afternoon.

DUQUOIN, Ill., Aug. 21.— (By Associated Press.)— Virtually all coal mine operators of the Duquoin field, one of the largest in southern Illinois, today ordered their engineers and shift men back to work, it was made known this afternoon, following receipt of a telegram to the local unions from William Hutton, a district executive board member of the Illinois miners, who is attending the conference in Chicago. Hutton's telegram gave the men permission to return.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 21. — Members of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' association, controling nine-tenths of the coal produced in the state, tonight authorized the association's scale committee to proceed with negotiations with union miners looking toward a settlement of the strike that began almost five months ago. Discretionary authority to close or reject an agreement was vested in the committee, according to the announcement of Secretary Phil Penna.

The meeting of the entire membership of the association came after both its scale committee and that of the miners had devoted the day to discussion and drafting of a report agreeing on the reestablishment of the wage contract that expired at the beginning of the strike. Work on the agreement will be resumed tomorrow, with both sides expectant of an early settlement.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 21.—Miners employed by the Valley Camp Coal company, in West Moreland county, voted late today to return to work tomorrow and cutters were sent into the mine tonight to prepare for the workers.

Oficials of the United Mine Workers announced tonight that work will be resumed tomorrow in four mines at Curtisville.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Aug. 21.—Production of coal at many of the small mines which signed up last week for a return to work was begun today. At probably 25 of the mines production was begun.

Thirty-six independents operating 39 mines, have signed up with the district union officials today.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug., 21.—After a late adjournment by anthracite miners and operators representatives of their conference today, rumors were current about the offices of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation company, where the meeting was held, that possible settlement of the hard coal strike would be effected tomorrow. The conference today lasted about two hours. It will be resumed tomorrow at 3 p.m.

COST JIMMY MURPHY $15,000 TO WIN $35,000 IN BIG RACE

Five hours and seventeen minutes of record-smashing driving netted Jimmy Murphy a total sum of approximately $35,000, the Indianapolis speedway paying him $20,000 for first place, the lap priizes that he won amounting to $6,325, and the balance being contributed by the grateful manufacturers of tires, spark plugs and other equipment that he used.

Almost $7,000 and hour, or better than $100 a minute, is not a miserly income for such a short stretch of labor. Jimmy Murphy frankly admits that, but he adds that his overhead ran into big money, too.

"My car alone represents an investment of $13,000," he said to a representative of Motor Life, in a moment of mental bookkeeping. "I paid $7,500 for it on my return from France and spent about $400 to put it in racing condition again. The new Miller motor that I installed this spring nicked my bankroll for $4,200 more, and I spent, in addition, $900 for such essential new parts as manifolds, driveshaft and radiator.

"Also remember that since I own and manage the car, I have to pay all the expenses of campaigning it. Express charges for example, are no small item, the cost of shipping from Los Angeles to Indianapolis being $489. Then there is the railroad and Pullman fare for myself and mechanic and our hotel bill. I give my mechanic ten per cent. of all the prize money that we win, and pay him $50 weekly in addition. I figure that it cost me more than $15,000 to win the Indianapolis race. I may spend all I've left, perhaps more, in trying to win another race. No. automobile racing isn't any get-rich-scheme like most people imagine. In fact, you've got to finish first or second at Indianapolis to show a profit. If you finish worse than that, the best you do is break even when you take into consideration the cost of the car and the heavy expense of campaigning it."

Even miles driven as fast as Murphy drove them at Indianapolis are costly miles, figured on the basis of car operating cost alone. He used 64 gallons of gasoline and fifteen quarts of lubricating oil and burned up four tires in the 500 golden miles. This represents an outlay of $14.88 for gasoline, $4.25 for oil and $200 for tires, a total operating cost of $219.63 or an average per mile cost of 44 cents.

During the Chicago street car strike a smooth fakir is said to have made a barrel of money selling pills. "Take one of these little pills and wish you were somewhere and presently you'll find you're there," he assured customers. Credulous victims are now a unit in wishing they were in a place where they could lay violent hands on the vendor.

A House With a History

FEW Canadians are aware that among the landmarks of United States history that stand on Canadian soil is the house in which John Brown, of American civil war fame hatched the conspiracy that led to his being hanged and that helped to precipitate the great struggle between the North and South. The house stands at Chatham, Ontario, within a stone's throw of the C.P.R. station, and in plain view of those who pass through. According to local tradition the house was one of the more imposing residences of the town when, 60 years ago, John Brown and his friends met in one of its rooms to arrange his anti-slavery crusade.

To-day somewhat diminished from its original imposing proportion the building houses the towerman who is on duty at the immediately adjacent street crossing.

Sixty years and more ago, says the "Galt Reporter," the present structure was a four-tenement building, and one of the "show places" in the older portion of Chatham. Between 25 and 30 years ago, when the C.P.R. was run through Chatham, half of the building was torn down. Still later, the remaining two tenements were converted into a single residence; and as such the building survives to-day.

Chatham in the two decades preceding the Civil War, was one of the northern terminals of the celebrated "underground railway" organized by American abolitionists to facilitate the escape of negro slaves to Canada. Large numbers of the escaped slaves settled in Windsor, Chatham, and various points in Essex and Kent counties, and several townsites were laid out at that time as model negro communities. These townsites are still shown on old maps, but the communities themselves unlike Topsy, never "growed," or, if they attained any proportions have, with one or two exceptions, long since dwindled into insignificance, with the departure of the greater portion of the colored population.

In the latter 50's, however, Southwestern Ontario contained a large negro element, and many of the escaped slaves had established themselves in business and were ambitious, well-educated and well-to-do. So when "Ossawatomie" Brown, nursing his daring scheme of freeing the slaves at a single stroke, looked about for support, he turned naturally to the negro settlements in Southwestern Ontario for funds and helpers.

The exact date of the conference at which the date was planned is not preserved in the local tradition. It seems probable that John Brown visited Chatham on several occasions in connection with his work for the slaves. The conference probably took place late in 1858, or early in 1859.

The Chatham structure is often carelessly referred to as "the Holden house." The owner, however, was a colored man named Eli Holton. Holton was present at the meeting held by John Brown. So was Isaac Holden, another prominent colored man. Both were big men, physically, and leaders in the colored community. E. C. Cooper and a little man named Harris, with several others, took part in the conference.

To what extent Brown secured support, financial and otherwise, is not known. The details of the meeting were, naturally, kept secret at the time; and what little the public ultimately knew came out, most of it, after the raid.

It was on Oct. 17, 1859, that the Chatham conference bore fruit in the startling raid on Harper's Ferry, in Northern Virginia, where Brown, with several of his sons and a number of other white men, seized the national armory and issued a proclamation calling upon the slaves to rise in insurrection against their master. The raid in a few hours spread consternation, not merely throughout Virginia, but throughout the United States. Lt.-Col. Robert E. Lee, however, arrived with a detachment of marines, the armory was recaptured, and Brown and a few of his companions were taken prisoners. Brown was hanged at Charleston, Virginia, Dec. 2, 1859.

A few months later, Abraham Lincoln, at his Cooper Institute speech at New York, referred to Brown's raid in the following words:

"John Brown's effort was peculiar. It was not a slave insurrection It was an attempt by white men to get up a revolt among the slaves, in which the slaves refused to participate. In fact, it was so absurd that the slaves, with all their ignorance, saw plainly enough it could not succeed.'

Within a little more than a year of that speech, and within two years of the raid, Lincoln was in the White House, and the Southern States were seceding. However thinking men might condemn his folly, the Northern States generally regarded Brown as a martyr, and "John Brown's body lies a-mouldering in the grave, but his soul goes marching on," became the battle song of the soldiers who were destined a few years later, to compel the surrender at Appomattox of Brown's conqueror.

After a visit to New York Professor Edward Sapir, Canadian anthropologist, is convinced that men in the big American cities are losing the art of speech. He found New Yorkers inclined to be economical of conversation. They surrender to the difficulty of talking in the uproar of business. People lapse into silence when they have to compete with loud noise. Boiler factories next door to our legislative halls might produce similar results.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT"

"Turn to The Right," the Rex Ingram production for Metro, which is coming to the Isis Theatre soon, is making a bigger fortune for its producers than it made as a stage play; and as a stage success it broke modern records. Part of this success is atributed to the title.

When John E. Hazzard first presented to Winchell Smith and John Golden the scenario of his play based upon the regeneration of two young crooks through the efforts of a saintly old woman who was famous alike for her piety and her peach jam, he called it "Like Mother Made." By the time Mr. Smith, author of "The Boomerang," "The Fortune Hunter" and "Lightnin'," had rewritten the play, it was decided that another title would be better, but what title neither authors nor Mr. Golden, Mr. Smith's partner, could decide upon.

The final discussion on this absorbing subject was held at Mr. Smith's home in Connecticut, and a silent but much interested listener to the arguments was Mrs. Smith, the wife of the famous dramatist. At least twenty different names were suggested by one and another of the three men, and finally for sheer lack of breath the discussion ceased suddenly. Then it was that Mrs. Smith, who had not spoken a word, handed to her husband a slip of paper on which were written four words.

Smith looked at the paper, first idly, then with sudden interest. With a gasp he handed it to his partner, Golden. Golden's face wreathed in smiles of appreciation, and he handed it to Hazzard. The latter threw up his hands in joyful surrender, and with one accord the three men rose and bowed to the charming young woman who had solved all their difficulties. The slip of paper read, "Turn to The Right," an absolutely ideal title for the play that, with all its humor and its exciting situations, preaches the most powerful sermon ever delivered over the footlights for those who stand at the cross-roads of life wavering between the primrose path and the narrow way that leads to real happiness.

"Turn to The Right" was adapted for the screen by June Mathis and Mary O'Hara. The photography is by John F. Seitz. The technical directors are A. J. Myers and Harold Grieve. The picture is presented by John Golden and Marcus Loew.

THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST

That the Pacific Northwest has at last attained a fixed place in the galaxy of national summer resorts and that its fame has reached even the most conservative centers of the Eastern States is shown by the way it is being featured this season by the established touring companies and summer resort guides-books. Where formerly the big guides issued in the various eastern cities only included the places of easy access, they are now regularly devoting considerable space to this region.

An instance is the Summer Resort Guide issued this season by the Philadelphia Public Ledger, which contained several pages bearing on this district. More than one full page is devoted to an illustrated description of this "land of allurement" as it is called, which portrays vividly the delights of a vacation spent in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

"The travel trails of the Pacific Northwest," it states, "lead from mountain to seashore, each telling its own interesting story of beauty and grandeur, any one of them furnishing an adequate alibi for a vacation in this greatest summer playground of the American Continent.

"Automobiling, camping, fishing, hunting, motor-boating, sea bathing, canoeing, golf, yachting—all these may be enjoyed here amid surroundings unequalled anywhere in the world for majestic beauty. There are good roads, magnificent scenery, including glaciers, mountains, forests, waterfalls, lakes, rivers, sea beaches, fjords and pastoral scenes that will bring a thrill of wonder to the most blase globe trotter. And the entire region, vast as an empire, is easily accessible, for it is served by nine transcontinental railways and a number of national highways for automobile travel.

"A vacation in this land of wanders is the acme of climatic delight, as it rarely becomes warmer than 80 degrees in the middle of the day, while cool, healthy, sleep-inducing nights prevail.

"In its forests and meadows poisonous insects are alike unknown. The mountain summits are high enough and climbs rugged enough to satisfy the most experienced Alpinists, while comfortable camps and hotels, nestling beside highland lakes and rivers, gratify the taste of those who prefer to go mountaineering de luxe.

"In this wonderful land of mountains you will see rushing rivers thundering down from the mountains; mighty waterfalls, hundreds of feet high, like ribbons of beaded foam; translucent lakes mirroring their lofty peaks and fringed with carpets of green; meadows like cultivated parks. with georgous wild flowers. Here in the warmth of sunshine you can snowball like children and coast to your heart's content, climb and explore, camp and rest. Through its unrivalled good roads the Pacific Northwest offers easy access from the large cities to sea beaches, magnificent mountains, great spreading lakes, virgin pine forests, smiling valleys, rolling hills and extinct craters."

This guide also includes a full page advertisement of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association which announces the 28% reduction in summer fares and tells how to spend a vacation that is "different" among the varied attractions of "this great outdoors." This same advertisement also appeared in the Monday evening edition of the Public Ledger and in 43 other important papers in the United States and Canada as a part of the campaign which has been so effective in bringing tourists to the Pacific Northwest this summer.

LIFE IN ANCIENT EGYPT

With the aid of excellent photographs cast on the screen. Professor Flinders Petrie gave an interesting account of his exploration in Upper Egypt, from which he has just returned, to a lrage audience assembled in the lecture theatre of University College. Most of the objects cast on the screen will be included in the annual Exhibition of Egyptian Antiquities, to be held at the College from July 3rd to July 29th.

The scene of the exploration was Abydos and Oxyrhynkhos, the former being about ten, and the latter five, hours' railway journey from Cario. At Abydos, two or three years before tht war, some tombs of the first dynasty had been discovered, and Professor Petrie determined to follow this up. A striking photograph showed the white tents of the explorers pitched under the dark, frowning walls of the second dynasty fortress, built of mud bricks, and standing 30 feet high. The wall has not lost more than one layer of bricks in the 6,000 years it has existed. From 500 graves they recovered eighty skulls in good condition, and a few complete skeletons.

In one photograph could be plainly seen the little trays containing pots of grain for the sustenance of the dead person. Another showed a burial place for cats, a sacred animal in Egypt, and the rows of little pots or jars filled with milk for their benefit are seen on the ledges of the tomb. The Professor explained that at the death of the king his court was put to death, this simple method insuring that those around the throne should have a personal interest in keeping their soverign alive. One photograph showed that some unfortunate courtier had been only stunned instead of killed, for he had plainly wriggled around in his tomb after burial.

At Oxyrhynkhos it was useless to look for anything earlier than Roman time. It has been repeatedly plundered for papyri, of which the explorers obtained a large quantity and these are now being studied. Four are fragments of the earliest Hebrew writings known, and go back to the second or third century.

An interesting series of photographs showed the ruins of the great theatre at Oxyrhynkhos, which seems to have been a most important place. curiously enough, as it was far from the Nile and had apparently little to atract people. Yet this great theatre, with its stage of 200 feet in length, could seat about 8,000 people, as against an accomodation of 6,000 in the theatre at Athens. A strange feature discovered was a spiral stone staircase behind the stage, similar to those often found in our mediaeval castles.—Saturday Night.

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE NERVOUS

"Fruit-a-tives" the Greatest of all Nerve Remedies

This Fruit Medicine Restores Health

The increase in the number of persons suffering from Nervousness is world-wide; due, in a measure, to the reaction following the war. Sleeplessness, Headaches, Mental Depression, Rheumatism, Nervous Dyspepsia, Bad Heart Action, are the results of a disturbed condition of the Nervous System.

The nerves and the blood are so intimately, so vitally, connected that the condition of one is bound to affect the condition of the other. If the blood is laden with impurities, it is impossible to have strong, steady nerves.

The first essential in treating nervous troubles is to purify and enrich the blood. This, "FRUIT-A-TIVES" will do.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" stimulates the bowels, kidneys and skin and purifies the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" improves appetite and digestion and insures food being properly digested, thus enabling the blood to carry wholesome nourishment to build up the body, particularly the nerves.

Men and women who take "Fruit-a-tives" for some form of nervousness—because they cannot eat or sleep or work or enjoy life—say that this fruit medicine is simply marvellous in its action.

In deciding the question of jurisdiction re the closing hours for government liquor vendors' shops the spirit of the law as it pertains to spirits will no doubt receive due consideration.

"After making a survey of over 100 square miles in the Chelmsford and Larchwood area, we have come to the definite conclusion that there is anthracite coal in commercial quantities in the Sudbury district," A F. A. Coyne, the well known geologist, informed a largely attended meeting of the board of trade at Sudbury. Mr. Coyne produced samples of the purest kind of anthracite coal which have been collected over an area of 100 square miles. During the last few days farmers have been chopping up the rock on their farms and have found coal at a depth of 18 inches.

Coming up Victoria avenue this morning our attention was called to the display cases in the doorway of Spalding's studio, in which are displayed about 300 different post cards of the scenery in and around Fernie. This is just about the finest collection of views it has been our lot to see anywhere, and if Fernieites will take the trouble to give them the once over they will no longer doubt the sincerity of the statement made by all the tourists going through that our scenery is a world beater. Fred tells us that most of them are new scenes which he has taken during the last two years and that he has selected the best of them and put them on post cards for the first time, and in the hope that the people of Fernie will do their share in boosting for the town by sending them away to their friends. He has cut the price clean in two and is selling them at five cents each. This ought to resurrect the post card business in Fernie, which was squashed when the postage was raised a few years ago.

Q—I have enlarged tonsils and I have been advised to have them cut out. Can chiropractic help my case?

A.—Chiropractic adjustments have been very successfully used in the removal of the cause of enlarged and inflamed tonsils, thus assisting Nature to restore them to a normal condition. An operation is rarely necessary. On the other hand cutting out the tonsils removes a protection to the lungs; it also affects the voice, often destroying some of its flexibility and tone, and the sore throat is seldom permanently relieved. You would be well advised to give chiropractic a thorough trial before submitting to an operation.

SOON FORGET HOW TO DRINK

A bartender on an American liner, telling what happens beyond the three mile limit, is of the opinion that people of this prohibition continent have now lost the liquor habit.

"As I see it," he has told W. A. Davenport, in the New York Herald, "when booze was to be bought a man went in and bought out of habit as much as taste; No; I'll go that one better. I think habit was two-thirds and taste was one-third. Drinking liquor is what they call an acquired taste with all but the dipsomaniacs.

"Well, Americans have forgotten how to drink. Get me right, now, and don't think I'm trying to say that they don't drink. They do drink, but they've got out of the habit and their ability to drink has suffered. Let me tell you a story that you might call typical.

"Last spring I took my place behind the bar the minute we'd passed the three mile limit and who lines up at it but a man I'd known for years! He's a lawyer with a lot of good clients and a nice home out in Westchester country. I used to make double Bronxes for him almost every night when I worked at the Belmont hotel. He would stop in before catching his train and shoot just two drinks—both double Bronxes—and then he'd blow. Sometimes of a Saturday he'd shoot three. Once in a while he'd vary it by taking a tall Scotch highball with plain water. Perfection Scotch was his favorite.

"Well, we talk over the old times for a minute and he introduces me to a friend of his—a man about 60, who looked like he had seen things. They had double Bronxes. My lawyer told me he'd been obeying the law. Hadn't hardly touched a thing since the country went dry except now and then a shot of hooch at the country club or at an evening party.

"There's a lot of talk about there being more drinking now than there ever was, but that is bunk—ignorant bunk. There isn't as much or nearly as much because it is too hard to get and people can't pay the price and more won't take the chanre of killing themselves drinking the bootleg stuff. I know all about it and we'll let it go at that.

"Well, I notice that the second double Bronx kicked my lawyer below the belt. He used to be able to shoot two, three or four of them, one after the other— bing, bing, bing, like that. And he'd be as sober as Bill Bryan. But the second double Bronx got to him. He began to talk loose like, not like the gentleman he is by birth and breeding and education. He began to talk cheap and loud. It wasn't for me to say anything when he took his fourth and began to get sloppy.

"They put him to bed dead to the world after the sixth and his friend was just as bad. He wasn't used to it. He'd lost his capacity. However, he was all right in the morning and he blew in for a bromo seltzer. Later in the afternoon he dropped in again.

"'Yes sir?' I asks.

"'Please let me have a double orange juice—without gin. Just orange juice.'

"He sipped it and began talking.

"'Queer thing, Joe,' says he, 'but I guess I'm about through drinking. I thought when I started that I was due to have quite a time of it. You know they all kid you a lot when you're leaving for Europe or any wet country. They all smack their lips and tell you to have one on them and all that sort of stuff. And you are resolved to do just that. Well, you saw me make an ass of myself last night. I've lost the taste. I scarcely can describe just how I feel about it.'

"Well, that lawyer was in to see me twice a day, being a good sailor, until we reached the other side. And he didn't take another drink. Used to laugh about it and say all over again he'd lost his taste for the stuff. Drink orange juice instead.

"As I say, habit was the biggest part of the drinking. A man gets out of the habit. There is the feeling in his mind that there's no use doing something that is going to make him feel rotten, and he naturally lets up.

"I have in mind an incident that has a lot of laughs in it. Maybe it won't be so funny to you, but it was funny to see. Once when we opened the bar a party came into the cafe. There were three men and three women. I'd call them the sporty party of, say, the small commutting town's country club. I'd take the men to be little brokers or real estate dealers or something like that. Got into knickerbockers, the men did, the moment they got on the ship. Lots of new looking luggage. Everything seemed new about them — their clothes, money, and themselves.

"I'd say the average age of the six was 30. I mention that only to let you know they weren't freshmen at living. Well, they start a party the minute we open the bar. They start with bacardi cocktails and wind up with champagne. I knew they would drink that way. That sort always does.

"Inside an hour and a half they were all plastered. The next day two of the men came in asking for whiskey sours to cure them of the hangover they had. There was a Britisher on board and he was at the bar. The Americans and he got to talking and after a while he began to josh them a little. And to my surprise the older of the two Americans takes the kidding seriously. He bawled the Britisher out in grand style. It would have made a great temperance speech. It was in pretty poor taste seen and heard from some angles, but it seems that the American thought the Britisher was joshing America when he was only having a bit of fun about the easy way the Americans had been bowled over the night before.

"'What if we are dry in the States?' yells the American a trifle too loud maybe, but I sort of perked up, thinking of some of the barroom arguments I used to hear. 'What if we are dry? We're a dammed sight better off.'

"'Look at the bank deposits and look at the men buying houses instead of hooch. Good thing for everybody to go dry.'"

Railway News

Irish newspapers follow up the careers of Irishmen who leave the Green Isle. The Irish Independent had the following item a few days ago:

Sir Herbert Samuel Holt, of Montreal, whose eldest son, Capt. H. P. Holt, M.C., is to marry Aileen Elizabeth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Cairns, of Montreal, is a man of considerable standing in Canadian commercial circles. He is a banker and railway engineer, and, besides being President of the Royal Bank of Canada, is a director of the C.P.R.

He is an Irishman, being born in the Co. Kildare in 1856, the son of the late Mr. Grattan Holt. Capt. Holt was in the 3rd Dragoon Guards.

J. M. Gilmour, chief clerk in the C.P.R. general offices at Lethbridge, has been transferred to the same position in the superintendent's office at Medicine Hat. J. H. Fairley, chief clerk at Edmonton, will succeed Mr. Gilmour at Lethbridge. The former is being replaced in Edmonton by S. C. Connelly of Medicine Hat. J. M. Gilmour was the first chief clerk in the Lethbridge division, having been placed here to open the office August 1, 1914. He has been with Supt. C. D. MacKintosh since that date. He has always taken a keen interest in the activities of the C.P.R. Social and Athletic club.

No man in Canada has the reputation of equalling Geo. H. Ham, of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., as a raconteur and a wit. Sir Thos. White once called him "a great national asset."

Mr. Ham added that he was glad that Sir Thomas had fortunately not forgotten the "et." Even in the hospital undergoing an operation for appendicitis, Mr. Ham sustained his reputation, as his best story, probably, will show.

When he lost consciousness, he says, his last thought was "This is eternity."

"When I recovered from the effects of the opiate, I found myself in a darkened room, and wondered where I was and what it was all about. The kindly-featured nurse quickly discovered that my consciousness had returned, and came to my bedside, and then I remembered everything. 'But why this dark room? It was early morning when they operated on me, but now it can't be night.'

"'No, it isn't,' she seriously responded, 'but we were afraid of the shock you might get.'

"'Why, what shock?'

"'Well, there was a big fire just across the street, and we were afraid if you awoke, and saw the flames, you might think that the operation hadn't been successful.'

"That shows you what it is to have a reputation."

The Commercial Cable Company and C.P.R. Telegraphs have taken over the Postal Telegraph Service in Newfoundland and are now handling all business over the Newfoundland government's cables and land lines.

Whatever the volume of the coal and grain business this fall, the Canadian Pacific would be in position to handle it. This was the assurance given by Grant Hall, vice-president of the company, at Calgary. Mr. Hall is on his annual tour. He is in a most hopeful frame of mind regarding the crop situation in the three western provinces. Present prospects, he stated, were that there would be a fair average crop.

"No, I do not anticipate any complications arising on this side owing to the strike among United States shopmen," he remarked in reply to a question. "There is no occasion to think this at the present time," he added.

Assistant Superintendent W. M. Neal of the C.P.R., who is leaving Toronto, to become general superintendent of Algoma district with headquarters at North Bay, and H. J. Humphrey, superintendent of the Trenton division of the C.P.R., who is to succeed Mr. Neal, were entertained to dinner by C.P.R. officials at Toronto recently. Mr. Neal was presented with silver candlesticks and Mr. Humphrey with an umbrella.

A meeting of a committee of citizens named to consider the building of a Seamen's Institute at Quebec, on the site in the harbor secured from the Government, was held recently at the Royal Bank building.

Mr. J. T. Ross presided over the assembly, and a letter was read from Commander Elliot of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, stating that he was authorized by Mr. George M. Bosworth, on behalf of Mr. E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R., to say that the latter company would subscribe $5,000 towards the building, provided that the remainder of the amount required for the purpose is obtained from other sources.

The plans call for an expenditure of from $25,000 to $30,000.

It was decided to accept this offer with gratitude, and preliminary discussion took place as to ways and means of collecting the balance of the amount.

When we have need of alcohol for fuel purposes it will be produced commercially in sufficient quantity to meet all requirements, says Henry Ford. There is enough alcohol in an acre of Michigan potatoes to plough the acre of ground that raises them for a hundred years. The 'fuel problem' will take care of itself. It need be no source of worry now.

CAN THEY RAISE THE LUSITANIA?

America has hopes of raising the Lusitania. A salvage company is starting from Philadelphia for the Irish Coast with one of the large wooden vessels that were built during the war, and it is the intention, either before or after it has raised the great liner that was torpedoed seven years ago, to attempt to salve a number of other vessels that have since been sunk. It is not expected, says the message that brings the news of this proposal, that there will be no great difficulty in raising the Lusitania, as her exact position is known.

Naval and salvage authorities in England, however, regard this forecast as too sanguine. In their view it is almost an impracticable project and commercially quite unsound. It is pointed out that there are in the United Kingdom a number of salvage companies well equipped with the best modern appliances for raising sunken vessels, and that if there had been anything commercially profitable in raising those which are still at the bottom of the sea attempts would have been made long ago.

As a matter of fact the Admiralty Salvage Section repaired and took into port during the war nearly five hundred ships, whose value in cargo exceeded sixty million sterling, which had been torpedoed and sunk, or run ashore, or abandoned in a sinking condition. They salved everything that was worth salving. That was at a time when every ship was of great value, and many of them contained foodstuffs and raw material which were of vital importance to the nation. Even then it was not considered praticable to raise the Lusitania, and to-day the value of shipping has so gone down that it would cost a great deal more to raise the great liner, supposing such an enterprise possible, than she would now be worth.

Sir Frederick Young, who was in charge of the Admiralty Salvage Section during the war, and, amongst other great achievements, raised the Vindictive after she was sunk in Ostend harbor, and was formerly chief surveyor to the Liverpool Salvage Association, discussed the Philadelphia project in an interview with a respresentative of "The Observer." He thought it very improbable, although perhaps not absolutely impossible, that the Lusitania can be raised. Certainly, he said, the cost would not be out of all proportion to the value which could be expected to be recovered if she was raised. The first consideration in salvage, he explained, is always whether, from a commercial point of view, the enterprise is likely to prove profitable. In the case of the Lusitania, which has been seven years at the bottom of the sea, she is obsolete and worn out. It would cost as much to reinstate her as to build a new vessel, and, as far as regards specie, we have never heard that there was any on board, or that she had amongst her cargo any valuables that would help to justify the heavy expenditure that would be necessary in any salvage operations.

To build, as some had suggested, a floating chamber nine hundred feet long and a hundred feet wide, and to attempt to raise the wreck by means of steel cables, would involve, Sir Frederick pointed out, an expenditure so considerable as to make the undertaking by that means quite impossible on any commercial basis. There is the alternative method of using compressed air. By this means the big submarine K13, a vessel of two thousand tons, was raised from a depth of fifteen fathoms. But before compressed air can be pumped in to a sunken vessel all the openings have to be closed. And how is this to be done in the case of the Lusitania, lying at a depth of two hundred and fifty feet? It might be possible by means of some bell appliance, but it does not appear to be very practicable. The employment of divers at this depth is out of the question. With the present diving-dress it is much beyond the limit at which they can work. The deepest diving that has yet been done is about a hundred and eighty feet, and that was by an officer in the navy.

It will be gathered, therefore, that the Lusitania Salvage Company of Philadelphia has a very difficult, if not an impossible, task before it, and that in any case the enterprise will require the support of philanthropists or of persons who would not mind what money they lose in the hope of ascertaining all that happened to the torpedoed liner.—London Observer.

a milk label you can trust— your grocer knows

YOUR dealer is glad to supply you Carnation Milk because he knows that the satisfaction Carnation gives will associate itself, to some degree at least, with his store.

For almost a quarter century Carnation has been synonymous with milk satisfaction. Thousands of Canadian housewives now buy Carnation by the case with their groceries. It keeps indefinitely. It is always ready for any milk use.

Twice as rich as ordinary milk, Carnation is economical; hermetically sealed in handy tins it is always available and always wholesome and sweet; thoroughly sterilized, it is always absolutely safe. Its fine flavor is an indication of its quality and purity. Use it full strength as you would use cream; dilute it one-half with water where ordinary milk is called for.

Ask your grocer to deliver a half dozen tall tins of Carnation with your next order. Keep it always on hand.

FERNIE BEATS WYCLIFFE 4 - 3

For the first time this season a team from the western section of the East Kootenay League met a team from the eastern section when, on Sunday last, Fernie defeated Wycliffe in an exhibition game by a score of four ruus to three. This game was intensely interesting owing to the fact that these two teams may meet for the East Kootenay championship as Fernie has won the eastern section and Wycliffe and Kimberley are now battling for the supremacy in the western section.

Stiffy Lewis started for Wycliffe, but was knocked out of the box in the fourth when Fernie ran up three runs, having scored one in the third, making a total of four runs. Hollister replaced him on the mound and held Fernie through the next four innings to two scattered hits. Ault pitched his usual steady game and only in the seventh inning was he troubled at all. In this frame a single, a walk and two bagger and a couple of errors gave Wycliffe three runs. The eighth and ninth innings were easy for Fernie, retiring the Wycliffe batters in the one, two, three order.

THE GRAND NATIONAL STEEPLECHASE

Is always run at Liverpool.

The course is 4½ miles long. There are thirty fences—most of which have to be jumped twice.

Most of the fences are of thick, close-cut thorn, reinforced with gorse or broom—with an average height of about 5 ft. and a width of 3 ft. They are strong and unyielding and must be cleared. To brush them means a spill.

The real test however is the "Water Jump." It is here that the field is "weeded out." The "Water Jump" is opposite the stand and is crossed only once. In front of it is a fence 3 ft. high and 2 ft. 3 in. thick. And the whole jump over all is 16 feet. No wonder accidents are numerous.

No wonder accidents are numerous. Less than one-third of the starters usually complete the course.

Last year Shaun Spadah was the only horse to get round without a spill. Three fences from home Shaun Spadah was running neck and neck with The Bore but at the next fence the Bore fell and the race was as good as won.

From start to finish the race occupies on a naverage under 20 minutes.

Both amateurs and professionals can compete in the Grand National, and many an amateur has succeeded in carrying off the Blue Ribbon of the steeplechasing world. It might be said that any rider stands his chance of winning.

And so does any horse. For an animal named "Moonraker" once won. He had been bought out of a water cart for $90.

There is no fixed stake. The sweepstakes this year was $25,000.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD SESSION

The regular meeting of the city council was held last Friday evening in the city hall with the Mayor and Aldermen Irvine, Graham, Douglas and Robichaud present.

Mrs. A. I. Fisher and Mrs. A. C. Liphardt, representing the Local Council of Women, appeared before the council requesting the appointment of a community nurse.

The Salvation Army wrote requesting the use of the park for their Sunday School picnic on Aug. 30.

The East Kootenay Power & Light Co. notified the city that the work on the duplication of their transmission lines would be commenced at once.

The resignation of Mrs. W. Strachan was received and accepted.

The Great War Veterans wrote asking the city to extend the water pipes to the cemetery.

A communication from the Provincial Secretary was received stating that in reference to diverting the portion of Fernie's share of profits earmarked for hospital purposes, to assist in carrying on waterworks renovations, that an order in council granting the city of Fernie's request had been passed.

It was moved by Ald. Douglas, seconded by Ald. Graham, that 320 feet of six foot sidewalk forms be ordered from the London Concrete Machinery Co., with five or six foot cross sections, at an estimated cost of $250. —Carried.

A large number of accounts were passed.

Moved by Ald. Irvine, seconded by Ald. Douglas, that the council will provide $350 toward the cost of a school nurse for the balance of this year, on the condition that the Minister of Health will give the School Board a declaration that a nurse so provided will be declared satisfactory for the purposes of a school medical inspector. It being understood that this does not constitute any obligaion on the part of next year's council.

BASEBALL PLAY-OFF

Now that a winner has been decided in the western division of the East Kootenay Baseball League, we are able to give our readers the information they are anxious to hear regarding the play-off between the two sections of the league for the championship and incidentally the right to fly the pennant for the coming season.

Ever since this end of the league terminated and Fernie carried off the honors, fans have besieged officials, wanting to know when the play-off would take place. A knock-out tournament was staged in the western section between the remaining teams after Yahk's demise, and after the first round Kimberley and Wycliffe were left to decide the issue. On each encounter during the last couple of weeks, they were unable to decide a winner, the first being marred by rain, the second ending in a tie, while the third hung fire for over a week owing to differences. However, on Sunday last they met again and Kimberley emerged victorious, and thereby earned the right to meet Fernie in the play-off.

Th play-off will be a home and home series, the first of which takes place in Fernie on Sunday, Sept. 3, at 2.30. The second will be played at Kimberley the following Sunday and should a third be necessary to decide a winner the place will be selected later.

The Fernie team has been out in full force all week and Manager Ault is whipping them in shape for the encounter and by reports from training quarters they will give a good account of themselves.

Officials are endeavoring to get Rush Adamson and Mr. Hughes to do the umpiring and if this materializes their record as umpires will leave nothing wanting in this department. Weather at present is very unfavorable but everybody is looking forward for the rain to clear up. Booster tags for this game will be 50c for adults and 25c for children. Your financial as well as moral support is earnestly solicited.

Wm. Marshall and wife will leave on Sept. 22 for England.

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH THE MONEY ?

Many a holder of the Canadian Government Bonds maturing December 1st, 1922, has been asked this question. The advertisement of the Minister of Finance supplies an answer. The investor, by giving notice to the manager of any one of the branches of a chartered bank, can arrange to get new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, the highest possible security and a liberal rate of interest.

EXPLOSION AT CUMBERLAND

Cumberland, B.C., Aug. 31.—Nine men lost their lives and 17 were injured Wednesday afternoon when an explosion caused a small cave-in, in a coal mine operated by the Canadian Colleries, Dunsmuir Ltd. Three of the dead men were white. Their names were Robert Dunsiene, John Gibson and John Johnassen. Four of the dead were Japanese and two are Chinese. Their names are not yet available.

All the men at work in the mine have been accounted for.

Of the 17 wounded, seven are more or less seriously injured, but it is believed all have a fair chance of recovery. John Robert Grey was at first thought to be fatally hurt but physicians now give him a fighting chance.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined. Investigation will be held at once. Repairs to the section of the mine affected are going forward and will occupy a few days only.

No fire followed the explosion. The three white men killed were all married. Dunsiene leaves a widow and four children. Gibson leaves a widow and five children; and Johnassen, who was a Finlander, leaves a wife and three children.

TOURISTS AND THIS DISTRICT

(By Fred Spalding)

Taken from the register in the Information Bureau:

T. K. Parnell, from Vancouver to Invermere: Wonderful roads and trip.

Albert A. Olsen, from Ranger, Texas, here looking the country over with a view to settling: Fernie is absolutely the best place we have stayed at so far. We have travelled 2400 miles on this trip and this place has them all bested by far.

Mr .and Mrs. Loring, from Butte, making the circle trip to Glacier Park: A very enjoyable trip over your splendid roads.

J. E. Preston, from Battle Ground, Wash., to Cassels, Alta.: Your roads are the best for mountain driving, and the scenery is beautiful.

G. F. March, from Marchfield, Ore., to Banff: I read of this trip in a January number of the Portland Oregonian, and must say that it is not exaggerated. It is a grand trip. Your camp is O.K. and a fine example for eastern towns.

Dr. Drake, of Spokane, to Banff and return: Inspiring scenery and beautiful roads.

Mrs. Clyde Smith, from Los Angeles to Yellowstone, Glacier and home: We changed our plans at Glacier when some friends handed us Mr. Spalding's map. We are very glad we came this way, and think we will come again next year and stay longer.

M. F. Ferguson, of Philadelphia to Pacific and return: Have stayed in 38 camps so far and none excel yours.

J. H. Newbauer, from San Francisco to New York: Have made the Yosemite, the Grand Canyon, Crater Lake, Mount Ranier, Yellowstone, Glacier and Estes Parks and consider this the most wonderful scenery of all.

(This gentleman said that he was on his fourth trip from Frisco to New York, and had taken a different route each time. He was strongly advised by the Touring Bureau of the California State Auto Association to come this way and was given one of our 1922 booklets. He said that he was rather pressed for time, but whilst here wanted to see more than he had allowed for and asked me to tell him what to see. I routed him to Banff and Lake Louise, then to Golden and down to Windermere back here and on to Cardston and Watertown Lakes. I missed him when he went through the second time, but

AWARD PRIZES IN CONTEST

The final judging in the Fernie Beautiful Contest, held this year by the Fernie Rotary Club, was finished on Saturday morning. The judges were highly pleased with the response the people gave to the contest, and with the splendid showing made the first season by the contestants. Apparently, even those who did not enter the contest had followed the lead of their neighbors who had entered, and the result has been a campaign of planting and painting that has brightened up the town considerably.

In Class 1.—For the home and grounds of best appearance in the City of Fernie the following awards were made:—

Mr. Alfred Baker, 118 MacPherson Ave., First prize of $35.

Mr. James Maltman, 13 Dalton Ave., Second prize of $10.

Mr. William Reynolds, 98 Howland Ave., Third prize of $5.

In Class 2.—For the home and grounds showing the greatest improvement in appearance during the season, the awards were:—

Mr. Fred Kennedy, 72 MacPherson Ave., First prize of $35.

Mr. W. Golightly, 90 MacPherson Ave., Third prize of $5.

In Class 3.—For the home and grounds in West Fernie showing the best appearance and greatest improvement in appearance during the season, the prizes were awarded to:

Mr. J. Charnock, Colclough Ave.; First Prize of $15.00.

Mr. Walter Woodhouse, Beaver St.; Second Prize of $6.00.

Mrs. John Bella, Hand Ave.; Third Prize of $4.00.

Besides these awards the judges have commended Mr. James Wilson, 30 Dalton Ave., for his very fine garden. Mr. Wilson has one of the finest, if not the finest, vegetable and small fruit gardens in Fernie. Mr. W. G. Arnold, 147 Pellatt Ave., has also had a very good garden but it was a little past its best when the final judging was made.

The awards were made on the basis of appearance of buildings, fences or hedges, lawns, trees and boulevards, shrubbery and flowers and on general appearance. The highest award earned in all classes was that by the home of Mr. Fred Kennedy, which was awarded 83 points out of a possible of 100. The contestants in West Fernie have made a very creditable showing when one considers they have no water for sprinkling purposes. In spite of this there are many good lawns and collections of flowers and shrubbery in West Fernie.

There were, of course, many homes not entered in the contest, that might have been prize winners had they entered. It is anticipated that many of these will be contestants in next year's contest, when the number of classes and the amount of the prizes will be increased. In the meantime, for the benefit of those who will be contestants next year, the men who were judging this year suggest that a walk around the city some evening will show homes which are little beauty-spots. The vegetation on our mountain slopes, beautiful as it is, does not compare with the profusion and variety of flowers, and color harmonies of Fernie's flower gardens.

CRANBROOK IS BIDDING FOR STEEL WORKS

VICTORIA, Aug. 26.—Cranbrook is the logical place for any large steel works established in British Columbia according to statistics which have been laid before Premier Oliver by Cranbrook persons.

Cranbrook, the premier was told, has on its seat the vast coal resources of the Crow's Nest Pass and on the other side enormous iron resources. Lying between the two, it is the one ideal place for a steel mill, Cranbrook people declare.

Information to prove that the idea of an iron and steel industry in British Columbia at present is impracticable, also has been laid before the premier by business men. According to the premier's information it would be impossible to market profitably the output of a big steel industry. They point out that the pig iron manufactured in China undersells in Seattle pig iron manufactured in the United States in spite of a duty of $4 a ton against it.

Monday, Sept. 4, is Labor Day. The banks and all places of business will be closed.

SCHOOL OPENS ON TUESDAY

The Fernie Public Schools will reopen for the Fall term on Tuesday morning, September 5th, at nine o'clock. The fifty-four students who passed their examination for Entrance to High School will go directly to the High School building, where they will receive their Certificates.

All other Public School pupils will go to the school or division in which they were when school closed, except that the pupils who attended in Miss Cowan's Division at the High School, and those who attended Miss Dicken's Division in Olivet School, will go to the Central School.

The office of the Principal at the Public School will be open all day Saturday, September 2, to enroll beginners and to grade pupils who have newly come into the district. It is expected that parents who intend to start children to school for the first time will take them to the school office on Saturday, so that the Tuesday "rush" will be minimized. Beginners for the West Fernie and Annex Schools may be taken directly to those schools on Tuesday morning.

Due to the fact that the public school classes have had to leave the High School Building and Olivet Hall, it is quite likely that no beginners will be admitted at Christmas time this year. As many children, who will turn six years of age during the next school term, will be enrolled now as can be accommodated.—P. H. Sheffield, Principal.

MINE RESCUE AND FIRST AID

The East Kootenay Mine Safety Association competition being held at the City Park on Labor Day is the first of its kind to be held at Fernie, and offers an opportunity to all who might be interested to become acquainted with the methods adopted in dealing with personal injuries and in carrying on rescue work in mines.

The work of the Mine Rescue teams should be of particular interest, as the problems set are to be performed by men who are wearing self-contained breathing apparatus in which they are sealed off from the outside air for the purposes of breathing and all details of the work for the assembling of the machines to the completion of the problem in the mine are shown.

Eleven teams are entered for this competition, as follows: Fernie, two teams; Coal Creek, two teams; Michel, two teams; Bellevue, Alta., two teams; Lethbridge, Alta., two teams; and Blairmore, Alta., one team.

This promises a keen contest, as it will be remembered that the Fernie team, captained by E. Hesketh, and the Michel team, captained by A. Howden, carried off the honors and first and second prizes respectively, in the competition held in Banff on July 1 last, and it is expected that the Alberta teams will spare no effort to defeat these teams.

Prizes are provided for teams securing the 1st, 2nd and 3rd highest scores for efficiency. The Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works, has promised a trophy to be competed for annually, and the team securing first place will be presented with this trophy at a later date.

The First Aid competitions should also develop some keen rivalry, as several expert teams will be on the ground.

In the Senior competition nine team are entered as follows: Fernie 2, Coal Creek 2, Michel 2, and Coleman, Bellevue and Lethbridge one each.

In the Ladies' competition four entries have been received, these being: Coal Creek, 2 teams; Fernie and Michel, one team each.

In the Junior class, eight teams are entered, these being: Coal Creek 2, Lethbridge 2; Fernie, Michel, Bellevue and Hillcrest one team each.

The Mine Rescue competition will commence at 9 a.m. and will continue throughout the day.

The First Aid competitions will be held in the afternoon as follows: Seniors, 1.30; Ladies 3.00; Juniors 4.00.

Prizes will be presented on the grounds at 5.30 p.m.

No charge for admission to the grounds will be made.

The Mine Rescue problems will be drawn from the following, each team performing a different problem:

In all problems the Captain will make a report on the blackboard at the entrance to the mine, covering the conditions existing in the mine or in that portion of the mine his team has travelled.

An explosion has occurred. Explore the mine and restore the ventilation. Bad roof at the face of the back entry requires a set of timber. On the return airway, a little inbye the overcast, No. 3 meets with an accident through stepping on a rock, and sprains his ankle. Give the required treatment and convey to the surface.

An outburst of gas has occurred in the face of the back entry, has displaced the brattice, blown out two sets of timber near the face, and has filled the mine with gas. Restore the ventilation and reset the timbers.

A slight explosion has occurred in the mine, and a miner in the face of the main entry has sealed himself in with brattice cloth. Bad roof on the outbye side of the brattice cloth requires a set of timber. The mine atmosphere is irrespirable. Rescue the miner, who is dazed with gas, and convey him to the surface.

A serious mine fire is discovered in No. 2 crosscut, and caves at the crosscut ends prevent access thereto. The fire is to be sealed off with single board stoppings and the smoke confined to that part of the mine.

Stoppings have been built in the main and back entries to smother a serious fire in No. 2 crosscut, both ends of which are caved so as to prevent access to the seat of the fire. The team is to explore the fire area and restore ventilation.

A blowout of gas has occurred at the face of the main entry. A timber has been blown out at the face and a miner has been caught by the resulting cave, and is dazed with gas. The roof is heavy near the edge of the caved portion and requires a centre-prop. When the miner is rescued from the cave it is found that he is suffering from a fracture of the right leg below the knee. Treat, convey to the surface and apply pulmotor.

An explosion has occurred in the mine and the ventilation has been deranged. Explore the mine and restore ventilation. Two posts are required in the back entry to carry the brattice to within six feet of the face.

A "bump" has occurred at the face of the main entry, and the single board stopping in No. 1 crosscut has been destroyed and the ventilation has been otherwise deranged. Explore the mine and restore the ventilation.

An explosion has occurred in the mine. Explore the mine and restore the ventilation. On coming through the return airway a miner is found unconscious. Rescue the miner, convey him to the surface and apply pulmotor.

A blown-out shot at the face of the main entry has caused an explosion. The ventilation is deranged and the mine is full of afterdamp. Explore the mine and restore the ventilation. The shotlighter is found unconscious in the mouth of No. 1 crosscut on the return side. Rescue, convey to the surface and apply pulmotor.

An explosion has occurred at the face of the back entry. Brattice has been blown down, two sets of timber displaced, and a miner has been caught under a cave. Two props are required to support the roof. The miner is found to be suffering from a fracture of the lower part of the left leg and is dazed with gas. Treat and convey to the surface.

An outburst of gas has occurred in the face of the main entry and has filled the mine with gas. A miner in the back entry attempts to get out through the return airway but is overcome between No. 1 crosscut and the return. He is found lying under bad roof which requires four centre-props to make it safe. Rescue and convey to the surface through the return airway and apply the pulmotor.

There is an underground fire around the stopping in No. 1 crosscut. Team will explore, and seal off the fire with single board stoppings covered with non-inflammable brattice cloth.

An explosion has occurred near the face of the back entry and the ventilation has been deranged. All men have reported out except one miner. Explore, restore ventilation, and search for the missing man.

A "bump" has occurred at the face of the main entry and the ventilation is partially deranged. Explore the mine and restore the ventilation. A miner is partially buried by a cave at the face of the back entry, and the roof is heavy and requires a centre-prop at the outbye lip of the broken roof. The miner is found to be dazed with gas and has a badly lacerated right hand. Rescue, treat and convey to the surface.

There is a mine fire near the face of the back entry. Team will explore and seal off the fire with a double board stopping, for which two posts will require to be set.

Railway News

Port Coquitlam, B.C.—On July 29 the city treasurer received $16,000, the C. P. R. taxes, which were not really payable until August 31. There is jubilation in the City Hall for these taxes are the first paid since the expiry of the by-law fixing the flat rate.

St. John, N.B.—All the C. P. R. employees now living who served in the recent war will have a token to commemorate their sacrifice in the shape of a scroll which is a fine piece of work and is almost a copy of the large bronze tablet unveiled by the C. P. R. here on April 28, 1922. The scroll is signed by E. W. Beatty, President C. P. R., and E Alexander, Secretary. The inscription on the scroll reads:

"In honor of duty nobly done. This scroll serves to commemorate that, while in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway (the recipient's name appears here), relinquished his position in response to the call of King and country and served during the Great War 1914-1918."

The base of the scroll is set off by the names of the following battles: Ypres, Festubert, the Somme, Vimy, Hill 70 Passchendaele, Amiens, Cambrai, Drocourt-Queant and Mons.

Regina.—The Saskatchewan better farming train brought its highly successful tour to a conclusion recently, and Mr. Williams, agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, expressed his belief that this train, the biggest yet operated, with the biggest attendance, also got bigger and better resul' than any of its predecessors.

"Many silos," said Professor Winters, of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture, who was on the train through the whole trip, "will be built as a result of the visit of the better farming train."

Professor Potts, who was lecturing on dairying and who was in charge of the dairy exhibit car, stated that in the southern and eastern parts of the province there is a very noticeable increase in the interest taken in cow testing work, and one result of the tour of the train, he was convinced, will be that a very large number of dairymen will now adopt this method and many others, formerly doubters, are now convinced of the value of this system.

Lubrication, ignition and carburetor troubles were the chief matters upon which farmers sought the assistance of Mr. Josephson in the fa . mechanics car, and he believed that an unprecedented number of power users benefitted by bringing the problems for solution to the better farming train.

Both the household science and the forestry sections were very busy throughout the trip.

In the field husbandry car Miss Brayford's bees attracted considerable attention. This lady has kept bees for many years near Wawota, and last year her output of honey reached well over 900 pounds.

J. K. Finlayson, who was in charge of the poultry car the greater part of the trip, states there seems to be a good deal of doubt regarding the cotton fronted poultry house, some complaining that the birds froze their combs. This, he said, was because the house was overcrowded, and the more hens there are the more moisture comes from the condensing breath. A hen's temperature is 106, and she can stand the cold perfectly well, as long as the air is dry. The cotton fronted poultry house, with insulated walls and properly ventilated, has been found absolutely satisfactory at the College of Agriculture.

The total attendance for the tour was 32,881, and surpassed the former best on record by 107. The difference between this year and last year would have been many more had it not been for the fact that heavy rain spoiled the last day's attendance, when three meetings were scheduled. The average daily attendance was 1,061, and the total attendance was comprised of 9,275 men; 6,332 women; 13,971 boys and girls; and 3,303 babies.

EAGERLY AWAITING COMPLETION OF BANFF-WINDERMERE ROAD

During the first week of September the last mile of the link of 16 miles between Banff and Windermere will be completed, according to an official of the federal parks department, who has been in close touch with the work on this important project for some time. The schedule calls for six miles to be finished during the month of August, which will leave but one mile to be constructed in September.

Asked whether this road would be completed in time to take care of the tourist traffic this season, it was declared that already hundreds of American tourists were clamoring for information with respect to the time of the completion of the "Blue Trail."

Just what this added interest on the part of touring autoists means may be gleaned from the fact that already in California there are 9,000 autoists listed, all anxious to make the trip through the Canadian Rockies. In the Southern California Association, 4,000 are registered, while in the Northern branch 5,000 are desirous of making the journey just so soon as the chain is completed.

Some time ago it was estimated that the completion of the Banff-Windermere road would bring approximately 10,000 additional American tourists to the Canadian Rockies. This estimate, according to this official, is entirely erroneous. In fact, it was impossible to estimate the number that would take advantage of which such a tour offers, he said.—Calgary Herald.

The New Orleans world's champion crawfish eater who disposed of five bucketfuls of the alleged delicacy can boast that he has something under his championship belt.

know that he made that whole trip, because two different parties have told me that they met him—one at Glacier Park and the other at Great Falls—and he was so enthusiastic about it all that they had to come up to see it for themselves. Mr. Newbauer said that if he found it to be as good as I said it was, he was in a position to influence a considerable travel from California points to here).

Waldo Anderson, of Albany, Ore., going to the Peace River: Wonderful roads and scenery. Your advertising brought me this way, and we have enjoyed your wonderful scenery.

(This man also read about it in the Portland Oregonian last January and wrote me for a routing).

C. C. Prammell, of Lebanon, Tenn., to Lethbridge: The roads here are the best mountain roads I ever drove over.

M. W. Rowe and wife, from Joliet, Illinois: Touring the whole of the United States and Northwest Canada: This section beats anything we have seen in one and a half year's trip.

C. E. Logan, of Dallas, Texas, to Los Angeles: Roads are good. We like the people and country very much.

G. J. Lang and wife, Los Angeles to Banff and Yellowstone: I take my hat off to your roads, and will visit you again with much pleasure.

F. B. Wise, of Santa Barbara, Cal., to Peace River: Have heard about your camp site all the way from Seattle.

C. J. Anderson, of Elm Creek, Mich., touring California, Mexico and British Columbia: Aside from the pavements, the best roads are in B.C. This is my experience after travelling over 8000 miles in the United States.

It is natural to assume that these people are advertising us wherever they go. One pleased tourist is better than $50 worth of any other kind of advertising. The citizens of Fernie cannot do too much to help make the visit of these people a pleasant one, and one of the best ways to do this, and at the same time get a considerable amount of personal pleasure out of it, is to visit the camp site and get in touch with them. They like to relate their experiences to willing listeners, and believe me some of them have unique experiences to tell of. Even after all the experiences I have had, I get real enjoyment out of listening to some of them.

In last week's issue I mentioned about having heard of several stage lines running over the Banff-Windermere road and the likelihood of Fernie being made one of the stopping places, which would be a big help to the town. In some quarters there has been a certain amount of scoffing at this. Well, to use an ex-Premier of Britain's celebrated phrase, "Wait and see!" Not so long ago there was scoffing about our Publicity Campaign. It was only the other day, whilst talking about the settlement of the strike with one of our business men, (who by the way, was a skeptic at that time), that he said: "If it hadn't been for the tourists this summer, some of the business men here would have had a pretty slim time of it."

LABOR CONGRESS WONT BACK APPEAL FOR LOAN TO RUSSIA

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—(Canadian Press)—The Dominion Trades and Labor Congress refused to back an appeal to the Dominion Government to make a loan of a "paltry" $15,000,000 to the Soviet Government of Russia.

President Tom Moore, in his fight against the loan to Russia, argued that when unemployment and destitution had been relieved in Canada; when the Russian Government took its soldiers away from the workers' throats, then the Canadian Government might consider making a loan.

The resolution, which suggested that congress prevail upon both the federal and provincial governments to relinquish office, change the present constitutional system of parliamentary representation, and copy the soviet plan, met with brief fate.

A non-current vote was registered the sponsers of the resolution being without representation on the floor.

SETTLE CAPE BRETON STRIKE

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 26,—(Canadian Press)—After a conference lasting until early this morning, the representatives of the British Empire Steel Corporation and the United Mine Workers of America of District 26, arrived at an agreement for the settlement of the Nova Scotia coal strike.

This contract, if finally ratified, will last for sixteen months, or until January 15, 1924.

Acceptance or rejection of the proposed scale rests with the 12,000 striking miners of the province, who will be asked to vote upon it in a referendum on Thursday next.

At 1 o'clock this morning, Gordon Harrington representing the miners; F. W. Gray, for the British Empire Steel Corporation, and Dr. Clarence MacKinnon, principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, who had been called in as an extra mediator, emerged from the conference room and announced that a basis of settlement had been reached.

The outstanding feature of the settlement is the long-term contract, something for which the miners have long been contending. Substantial wage increases are also involved.

So far as could be learned the troops will not be withdrawn nor will the miners go back to work pending the referendum.

The rates and conditions as mediated are:

(a) Minimum datal rates to be increased to $3.20 a day, with a minimum increase of 40 cents a day and adjustments of the higher rates as per an attached schedule.

(b) Datal minimum rate at Sydney mines to be brought up to the Dominion Coal Company minimum rate, namely, $3.20, with increases in the other datal rates corresponding to the increases given in the Dominion Coal Company mines, plus 12 cents a day.

(c) Contract rates to be increased 12½ cents. One-half of 1% to be added for machine cutting; 75% to be added at Sydney mines.

(e) Contract to extend to January 15, 1924, and shall not terminate on that date unless 40 days' notice previously to Januray 15, 1924, be given by either party to the contract. Failing such noice, the contracts shall continue, but may be terminated at any time after January 15, 1924, on 40 days' notice.

(f) Contract to be made retroactive to July 15, 1922.

(g) Provisions for overtime and night work at Glace Bay machine shops to be re-established.

INDIAN DAY AT BANFF

BANFF Indian Day—always the third Monday and Tuesday in July, was this year the most successful of its kind ever held in the thirty-two years since its inauguration. An atmosphere of festivity prevailed the two days the tribe of six hundred Stoney Indians were at Banff, the centre of that most beautiful part of the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

No place in the world could have a more perfect setting for an event such as this, and what could be more picturesque than the Tschantoga Indians "people of the woods," in their native costumes amid these Great Hills. There is a dignity and poise to these people of the woods — calm, strong faces with character written in every line and seam of their countenances.

The parade started at nine thirty, and circled around the main street twice before going to the Banff Springs Hotel. The streets en route to the hotel were thronged with residents and tourists, and the steps of the hotel and court were densely packed with onlookers, for the distribution of prizes for the best native costumes took place here. The Governor General and Lady Byng, who were on their way west over the C.P.R., were among those who viewed the proceedings. Lady Margaret Boscawen, sister of Baron Byng, presented the prizes won.

The parade was most spectacular, and combined with the sports it was well worth travelling hundreds of miles to see. The chiefs rode at the head of the procession and looked picturesque in their costumes of buck-skin and bead work, and gay head-pieces of feathers and ermine. Not only were the natives decked out in their gala attire, but the horses also shared in the pomp and splendour. Their trappings were made of buckskin, with patterns worked in beads, the coloring and designs of superb workmanship. Skins were also used, and trappings of bead work and ermine. A few horses were painted in symmetrical designs of various colors. The higher the rank of their rider the more beautiful and costly the trappings.

The sports were held in the encampment grounds on one side of which the Indians had erected their picturesque wigwams. The grand stand was packed and thousands were present, and never in the history of Banff was this event so well attended. Cars were lined up in all directions, and hundreds of tourists, and many residents were on horse-back, which added to the varied scene.

The sports consisted of races of various kinds; two mile, one mile and half mile dash. There was wrestling on horseback, bow and arrow contest, pitching tepee and a bucking contest. Three money prizes were given for each race. The Governor General, Lady Byng and party attended, and later left for Lake Louise. The cowboy race was the most spectacuiar. There was a pole at each end of the course, which the horses had to go around, and as they appeared to get there almost simultaneously, it was a wild jumble of horses and riders apparently on top of one another.

The setting for this scene was perfect. Hills well timbered with dark spruce and pine, and behind them the mountains in a dull grey haze—due to the distant forest fires. Against this setting the tepees stood, white with the top a cinnamon brown, smoked from camp fires within. Many were of brilliant colors, beautifying the encampment grounds still further. The excitement of the afternoon over, the Indian families returned to their own quarters, and the little played on the green grass in front of their tepees. Some of the men and women reclined on skins or blankets in the cool of the early evening. Squaws went to the brook for water, others came from the woods with armfuls of faggots, and soon fires were started for supper, and their flames leapt into the air, adding more color to this already brilliant scene.

The Indian Day Committee are to be congratulated on giving Canada this annual event, which is so typical of primal days, and the beauty of which is in keeping with these great hills which were theirs till the white man came. Many of the officials of the day were Indian Chiefs, who very efficiently did their share toward making Indian Day the success it undoubtedly proved to be.

INFLAMMABILITY OF COAL DUST

Within the last few decades miners and chemists have become more and more convinced that the factor which makes some mine explosions so terrific is not so much the methane gas as the fine coal dust stirred up by an original minor explosion of methane.

Modern intense coal-getting methods have increased the production of fine coal dust and have thus counteracted the better provisions for safety secured by the insistence on the exclusive use of safety lamps in mines and by the better ventilation of the latter. A hundred years and more ago, when mining operations were carried on more leisurely, coal mine explosions were sufficiently frequent to make Humphrey Davy take up the problem of the safety lamp; yet they were comparatively less disastrous. The workings were less extensive, there were fewer men, and less fine dust was produced. Such dust now enables the explosive wave to travel on in the spacious straight galleries and to gain in speed; the mechanical construction is thus increased, more carbon monoxide is produced by the incomplete combustion of the dust, and the spreading of this gas kills the men whom the explosion left alive.

The probable guilt of the coal dust, which miners have learnt to render harmless by wetting it, or better still, by spreading incombustible and non-gritty stone dust (slate) on it, seems to be obvious. Everybody knows that any combustible substance, even iron, will flash up when finely powdered and ignited. The first disastrous factory explosions were indeed observed in flour and grain mills, and of late explosions of aluminum and zinc dust have become sadly frequent. Although powdered aluminum certainly does not give off appreciable volumes of gases, and flour is hardly likely to do so, some chemists and mining men have suggested that the coal dust particles need not directly unite with the oxygen of the air, but might be sufficiently heated by a spark or flame or by contact with hot bodies to set up an instantaneous distillation of gas which would envelope each dust particle and propagate the flame from one particle to another. That view received support by the discordant result of various experiments, in some of which sparks and hot bodies failed to ignite coal dust. Although the inflammability of gases and vapors displayed similar peculiarities to an extent that renders the definition of their "ignition points" meaningless except when referred to particular local conditions, the question of the more or less ready liberation of gases from coal dust is certainly of interest. That anthracite dust will not propagate an explosion under conditions when dust of lignite or bituminous coal will, does not prove that coal is, as such, in the absence of gases, incombustible. Most people now consider that coal dust is itself explosive; the small quantity of gas evolved from a very small portion of the dust during a small fraction of a second, say 0.01 second, can at any rate not play an important part. But that portion of gas may be additional to other gas which had been slowly accumulating on the coal particles.—London Engineering.

DURABLE ROMAN ROADS

In the third century the Roman rulers of England made a road which ran from Dover to London, and then northward to York and Newcastle, with branches leading to Chester and Carlisle.

They made it so well, laid its foundation so honestly, that a piece of it that has been uncovered in Hertfordshire is pronounced by the county and road surveyor to be as good as any highway today.

Give it an asphalt surface, he says, and it would compare favorably with the best of modern roads.

What a tribute to the work of those Roman road-makers? What an encouragement to all who are trying to do faithful, durable work in any direction!

Watling Street was used for centuries, then its surface began to be covered up by the dust of ages. It fell into disuse; it was covered by meadows; it disappeared even from local memory.

But wherever a piece of it is unearthed, as is happening now in Hertfordshire, there are the foundations firm and undisturbed by the centuries that have passed. Honest endeavor, putting the best of use into the day task, never loses its value.

BURGLARS BLOW UP UNLOCKED SAFE; GET NICKLES AND DIMES

KITCHENER, Aug. 27.—The post office and store owned by N. Devlin was entered early Saturday morning and the safe treated to a dose of nitro-glycerine, badly wrecking it and doing considerable damage to the stock in the store.

A heavy spike puller, stolen from the C.P.R. tool house, was used in an attempt to force open the safe door after the explosion, but the noise made awakened Captain Forrester, who lives nearby, and on his appearing on the scene, the robbers decamped, getting only a few nickels and dimes from the post office drawer for their trouble.

The long distance telephone wires were cut between Kitchener and Yahk after the offence was committed, but not before word had been sent through to the provincial police at Yahk and Cranbrook.

Constable Laird of Yahk was on the scene within two hours and was later reinforced by mounted and provincial police from Creston. The burglars left some plain clues and it is only a matter of time until they are apprehended. The yeggmen went to a lot of unnecessary trouble, as the safe was not locked.

Canada's most Popular Car
The Chevrolet 490

PUBLIC favor changes when reasons for a change are obvious. Public opinion as to the most popular car of the future is changing.

Users of low-priced motor transportation are demanding completely equipped automobiles, modern in every respect, with nothing left to buy but the license plate. The new Superior Chevrolet is fully equipped, including modern 3 speed forward and reverse, sliding gear transmission, standard service and hand brakes, electric starter, demountable rims, water and oil pumps and speedometer. In addition to completeness, buyers insist on real econmy in four important essentials. They demand low initial cost; low gasoline consumption; low repair costs; and long tire life. The new Chevrolet excells in these particulars. Twenty-five to thirty miles on a gallon of gasoline is not uncommon. It excells in oil economy as well. Repair costs are low, because every Chevrolet part is built to give long life under hard conditions.

You owe it to yourself to examine the new Chevrolet, the car which is establishing a new standard and has become Canada's most popular car.

Estimates The Importance of The Spine

"That the human body is a magnificent piece of mechanism is a fact that has been recognized for ages, but there has never been until now a system of correcting human ills, based upon an intelligent recognition of the fact. When man has suffered from some organic trouble, the rule has been to apply a name for the surface play of symptoms, and then attempt to suppress symptoms individually or collectively as they appeared.

If there is any one study that medical men are supposed to be exquisitely familiar with, it is anatomy, being the very groundwork of a medical education. The keystone of the entire anatomical structure is the spine. Without an intimate acquaintance with the spine and that part of the nervous system contained therein, it is impossible for a physician to advise his patient intelligently; for the reason that the nerves proceeding out of the spine, through the lateral foramina (openings at the side), control either directly or indirectly, the functions of every organ within the body."

CRIME IN THE UNITED STATES

One of the reasons why there are so many crimes of violence in the United States is the sentimental attitude towards criminals and the many ways there are of evading the processes of the law. Another reason is the polyglot population, such a large percentage of which has foreign ideals and is not impressed with the law of the country of its adoption. The American Bar Association, through a committee which has been investigating crime in the United States, says that the situation there, so far as crimes of violence are concerned, is worse than that of any other civilized country, and that "here there is less respect for the law." To check such crimes it urges the obvious remedy of regulating the possession of the revolver, with which 90 per cent. of those crimes are committed. Its arraignment of the process of the law is a severe one. The practice in some State of making the jury the final judge, both of the law and of the fact, it believes to be "absolutely subversive of a government by law."

In Chicago there are more murders committed in a month than during an entire year in London, although the English capital contains a population three times as great as the Illinois city. A comparison of murderers found out and punished for their crimes is another illustration of the laxity in the administration of the law in the United States, for it is the exception in Britain when anyone guilty of a major offence is not brought to book. It is obvious that police officialdom has either too heavy a task in the United States or else it is not as efficient as it should be. The introduction of Prohibition in that country does not seem to have ameliorated the situation so far as crimes of violence are concerned, whereas it has multiplied the petty offences of violation of the anti-liquor laws. Lynching episodes and mob violence seem just as prevalent as in the pre-Prohibition days.

Some day the United States will awaken to the fact that it must deal with crimes of violence with a firm hand. The "unwritten law," which operate on behalf of murderers, is nothing more than an official concession to the hysteria of a large section of the public. In a decade there have been 85,000 persons killed "by poisons, by the pistol or the knife, or some other deadly instrument," and we doubt if ten per cent of the guilty parties paid the adequate penalties for the crimes. It is anything but a savoury record, and it will maintain just as long as so much sentimentality is shown towards the murderer and so long as crime is made easy by failure to implement what should be the true process of the law.—Victoria Colonist.

"TURN TO THE RIGHT"

Joe Bascom tingled with shame as he fled into the village street, pursued by Deacon Tillinger's rasping voice, crying:

"If I ever find you around here again, I'll horsewhip you. You young loafer. Don't you ever try to talk to my girl again. Don't try to see her."

The worst of the insult was its truth. Joe was a loafer. He had never recognized any responsibility toward his widowed mother and little sister. He had nothing to offer Elsie Tillinger except his love. Well, they were boy and girl yet. Joe decided to clear out of the village. He would come back for his boyhood sweetheart when his fortune was made. Without a word to anyone, he hopped a freight train and headed for New York.

His first job was at a race track. A few lucky bets and he had money to send home. He wrote from Sheepshead Bay, Baltimore, Saratoga and New Orleans, telling his mother he was going to church and working hard. But the ponies never yielding Joe the big roll that would permit him to return home in style. He kept on knowing luck was bound to change. And one week he had a run of it. Cleaning up $2,000, he got a tip on a horse that would have to fall down to lose. The odds were thirty to one. Joe bet his $2,000 and wrote his mother that he was coming home.

The horse fell down. Joe took a drink — and laughed. He kept on drinking and laughing until he lapsed. A policeman picked him up and found an empty pocketbook. The pocketbook belonged to a horse owner and had contained $2,500 a few hours before.

Joe landed for a year in Sing Sing. The only relief from suffering there was the cheerful companionship of two humorously professional crooks, Muggs and Gilly; one an expert pickpocket, the other a skilled cracksman. Their time was up before Joe's and they left him promising to keep straight. But when, on his release, he found them in an Ossining pawnshop, they were planning "a big killing."

"I thought you were going to keep straight," Joe asked.

"Sure," said Muggs. "We ain't done a thing—except pinch a little change now and then just to eat with. And we have to have a roll to go straight with, ain't we?"

Finally Muggs and Gilly had made a definite turn to the right. They were finding not only that honesty paid in money but in happiness, and, with Joe getting married to Elsie Tillinger, they were successfully courting Betty and Jessie. They got the answer they hoped for on the night that Joe and Elsie returned from their honeymoon, when Sam Martin, now a prosperous salesman, was giving a big dinner for the bride and groom.

Railway News

New Westminster.—According to Mr. Grant Hall, vice-president of the C. P. R., Messrs. C. Murphy, general manager of western lines; George Allen, K.C., of South Winnipeg; F. W. Peters, general superintendent for B. C., and Mr. Ed. Goulet, local agent, who met Mayor J. J. Johnston, Mr. W. G. McQuarrie, M.P., and members of the council and board of trade, recently, in the mayor's office, the C. P. R. will adhere to its promise made some years ago to establish a union depot, joint trackage and wharf facilities in the Royal City, with the Canadian National Railway, formerly the Canadian Northern Railway Company.

Winnipeg. — "We hope to have the missing link in the Estevan-Lethbridge line closed up in plenty of time to haul wheat out of that section this fall by the new route," said D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the C. P. R. western lines, recently.

A local passenger service, he added, would be installed there for the present. There are thirty-seven miles over which no service is being given in the broken link.

Eighteen miles of this distance have rails laid. Nineteen miles must be constructed to link up the long-projected new line through Southern Alberta to Lethbridge connecting with the Crow's Nest Pass line.

Mr. Coleman said conditions through the West were looking better, according to his reports.

Hamilton. — Announcement was made recently by Jas. Lahey, manager of the local office of the C.P.R. Telegraph Co., that in future, the head office here will remain open all night for the transmission and receiving of messages. Telegraph offices are considered the business and industrial barometers of any community, so that it is significant that an all-night service has been found necessary.

"It has been evident to us for some time that business conditions were rapidly returning to normal," said Mr. Lahey. "There has been a noticeable increase in the volume of business in our office."

A "Careful Crossing" campaign is now going on in the United States. The public are advised to stop, look and listen at railroad crossings. An article by J. W. Ludden in St. Paul Pioneer Press says:

"Virtually all accidents at grade crossings could be averted if the public using the highways would exercise reasonable care, the engineers contend.

"The railroads are doing all they can to prevent these accidents. They believe that co-operation of the public is necessary.

"Automobiles were involved in 76 pe. cent of the 1920 crossing accidents; 1,791 persons were killed, 5,07" were injured, of whom 116 died subsequently."

While deaths from railway crossing accidents in Canada are not so numerous as in the United States there have been too many. Some auto drivers thinking they can beat a train to a crossing beat it to eternity.

Montreal. — Not only does the Canadian Pacific Railway recognize acts of bravery by its own employees, but it acknowledges them when performed by those outside its service. This was shown when the Canadian Pacific recently applied to the Canadian Royal Humane Society for recognition for Samuel J. Dixon, of Pendleton, Ontario, for his gallantry in saving Miss Amelia Boudreault, of St. Pauscal, Ontario, from serious injury or probable death.

At the suggestion of Mr. A. D. MacTier, vice-president, C.P.R., several affidavits from witnesses of the incident and others bearing on the courage and presence of mind displayed by Mr. Dixon were supplied to the Royal Humane Society, and as a result the society has decided to grant a medal for bravery to him.

The incident happened at 6.30 p.m. on February 11th last, when Miss Boudreault, who was late for the train, ran after it as it was leaving Pendleton station, and in attempting to board it fell between the end of the platform and the train wheels.

Affidavits of several witnesses pay a tribute to the pluck displayed by Mr. Dixon. They show that as he was walking on the platform he noticed the young lady clinging to the bars of a coach. Just as he reached her she released her hold and fell, her head striking the oil waste box of the car truck. This swung her around with her feet on the rail. Part of the train hit her, throwing her head and shoulders across the rail. At this instant Mr. Dixon grabbed her and pulled her clear of the moving train wheels. While holding her until the train passed out, Mr. Dixon himself was hit on the head by a coach step. The injured woman was taken to the C.P.R. agent's residence and attended by the local doctor. She recovered soon afterwards, and admitted that there was no one to blame for the occurrence but herself

LIQUOR EXPORT SOON TO STOP

OTTAWA, Aug. 26.—More effective regulations of liquor traffic as regards the privileges of export will be exercised as soon as the provinces avail themselves of the legislation known as the McKenzie bill, enacted at the last session of parliament. The operative provision of the act will not be effective until there is a proclamation by the government and this in turn is contingent upon provincial orders-in-council asking for such action.

When this is compiled with, the right of export of any intoxicating beverage is to be limited to distillers and brewers. It is expected the governments will pave the way for the new law next month in preparation for its enforcement on and after October 1, the available date mentioned in the act.

In various places export establishments have been in operation, these, it is claimed, serving little purpose apart from being supply depots for bootleggers engaged in contraband international traffic. Shipments for export even to the "dry" republic to the south are not prohibited nominally, but they are practically, inasmuch as a guarantee bond for double the duty and a certificate that the goods were landed at the port of designed destination are exacted. A landing certificate could not be secured in the United States because the stuff would be seized promptly upon entry. This has been avoided by the operation of private establishments for the export of liquor, which, notably in the West, have supplied the illicit rum runners.

It is impossible to keep check on operations so long as these houses are allowed to flourish. The new legislation which limits the privilege of holding liquor for export to brewers and distillers, who can be checked up, will therefore wipe out a fruitful source of contraband traffic.

The law which, as stated, comes into effect on October 1 if meanwhile it is invoked by provincial orders-in-council, embodies and gives effect to the joint representation of various provincial bodies or officers charged with the enforcement of provincial prohibition enactments.

MUST NOT ABUSE "FREE SPEECH"

The New York court of appeals has affirmed the decision of the supreme court sending to prison as criminals anarchisits Benjamin Gitlow, once a socialist member of the legislature, and James Larkin, the notorious Irish strike agitator. The judge drew a plain line of distinction between the privilege of free speech, which is one of the sacred institutions of the republic and the abuse of that privilege, which these alien disciples of violence had been guilty of. They had not been content to seek changes by lawful methods but had advocated violence for the purpose of overthrowing "capitalistic" government and substituting a "proletariat" regime similar to that which has wrecked Russia.

It is conceded that one of the fundamental rights of any government is the right of self-preservation; hence it is warranted in suppressing those who violate the hospitality and protection of its laws and seek to destroy it. Even the bolsheviks in Russia, who claim to show the world how to run a government on ideal lines, will not allow a word to be said or written against their regime. They kill off even socalists. Hence, logically, those who urge the adoption of Russian methods here should be prepared to take their own medicine. They can't scatter poison and then claim immunity behind the doctrine of 'free speech."—Exchange.

Declaring that death from thirst is more painful than freezing a Quebec paper suggests that Americans be denied the privilege of purchasing booze in Canada or importing the same in the event of the United States prohibiting the exportation of coal to this country.

According to a Smithsonian Institue authority a large head does not always contain a proportionally sized brain. Specimans of the horned dinosaurs that once roamed parts of America have skulls eight feet long. The brain inside was never larger than a man's fist.

Florida and California growers are making a vigorous protest against the clause in the new tariff proposing to admit tomatoes free of duty in the winter months. It is contended that consumers who can afford the delicacy can also afford to contribute to its protection.

MRS. CARPENTER TRIED EVERYTHING

Mrs. S. C. Carpenter says that two of her neighbors recommended another brand of milk, which she tried, not being familiar with the brands on sale in the West. She says they tasted stronger, seeming to be tainted by the tin, though, of course, this is not a fact. Someone mentioned Pacific Milk one day in a grocer's store and she tried that. In her letter she says that not only does it seem much richer, but the flavor is like that of fresh cream and has none of the "can" taste.

SPORT RESULTS LAST SUNDAY

The semi-final rounds of the Mutz Cup games played at Coal Creek and Fernie on Sunday last during the afternon and evening, resulted in Blairmore being eliminated by Fernie by a score of two goals to one and Coal Creek and Michel tying by one goal each.

Fernie vs Blairmore

The teams lined up:

Fernie—Sawyer, Booth, Wilson; G. Davidson, Gibson, Joinson; Smith Hardie, J. Davidson, Thornton and Robson.

Fernie won the toss but there was nothing to be gained in choice of ends. Blairmore raided the Fernie defence from the offset but Ford shot past. A few minutes later Turner had a good try for goal but Sawyer cleared and play transferred, Hardie giving Whitelaw a hot one. Play ranged midfield for some time then Blairmore atacked but Wilson relieved the pressure. Fernie put on a spurt and Hardie sent in a hard drive which Whitelaw partially cleared, Smith grabbed the rebound but shot wildly past.. After about thirty minutes of play a nice combination run up the right let Fernie away, Robson swung across to Davidson who drew out Whitelaw then slipped the ball to Hardie who put the ball into the open goal for Fernie's first goal. Blairmore played hard after this reverse but the Fernie defence held and play finally transferred and Thornton narrowly missed scoring when he headed over. Half time found both teams working hard against the opposing defences. Fernie 1, Blairmore 0.

After the cross-over Blairmore made a determined raid on Sawyer but Yates headed over. Ten minutes later the same player snapped up a cross from Ford and slammed the ball into the net for the equalizer, giving Sawyer no chance. A stiff wind came up giving Fernie some advantage and from then on, Fernie defence were never troubled. Blairmore defenders found thmselves being hemmed in all the time and were forced to send the ball out of play to relieve. Fernie maintained the pressure and J. Davidson snapped up a cross from Thornton and let drive straight for goal. Whitelaw made a dive to save, but failed to stop the ball and Fernie were one up. Blairmore tried desperately to get going but the wind and Fernie's defence were too much for them and the long whistle found the score Fernie 2, Blairmore 1.

Coal Creek vs Michel

The first half was of regular cup tie football, neither team taking any chances although Coal Creek had slightly the better of the play, but no score was registered.

Shortly after the opening of the second period, Michel got in on the Coal Creek goal and when the ball seemed certain to land in the net one of the Coal Crek backs handled giving away a penalty. White took the kick for Michel and scored. Coal Creek kept up a lively pressure for some time but failed to penetrate the Michel defence, and it was not until about one minute from time that Coal Creek was awarded a corner and Corlett getting the cross, slammed the ball into the net for the tying score.

Wycliffe Defeaed

A decision in the western section of the East Kootenay Baseball league was finally reached Sunday afternoon at Wycliffe when Kimberley defeated Wycliffe by a score of 11 runs to 8. This gives them the right to meet Fernie, the eastern section champions, for the championship of the East Kootenays. Home and home games will be played and if no decision is reached then a decisive game will be played on neutral grounds.

A French physician who died recently at an advanced age attributed his longevity to always sleeping with his head pointing to the magnetic north. His idea was that a body placed in such a position was in harmony with the various magnetic currents and thereby induced these electrical impulses to pass through the body, insuring regular circulation of the blood and repair of the bodily tissues. It would be a convenience to have a switchboard at the bedside whereby the sleeper could reverse the electric currents when he changed his position.

There has been an unavoidable delay in sending out the posters with the game regulations for the season what the new regulations will be, in so far as it is possible to ascertain at the present. The large posters will be distributed in a few days and should be examined carefully to see that they compare with the above. The items of most interest are, the closing of trapping of all fur-bearing animals in all the district south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The closed season is maintaind on Elk, Moose and Caribou and a few alterations in the regulations for game birds.

Matches are said to be made in the heavens and marriages are now performed in the air. An Oregon couple were recently married in an airplane by radio.

LABOR DAY COMPETITIONS

The East Kootenay Mine Safety Association held its annual competition at City Park, on Labor Day, Sept. 4, and while the weather was not all that could have been desired, a large crowd witnessed the proceedings and maintained interest throughout the day. The Fernie G.W.V.A. band assisted by playing selections throughout the afternoon.

The Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works, visited the grounds during the afternoon and showed keen interest in the work of the various teams. He has promised to present an appropriately designed shield to the association for annual competition by Mine Rescue teams.

The judges for the Mine Rescue competition were appointed evenly between Alberta and British Columbia. Duncan McDonald, general superintendent of the Mine Rescue and First Aid Departments of the Alberta Workmen's Compensation Board, and H. Miard, member of the Board of Examiners for Coal Mine Officials in B.C., were the judges at the bench, where the teams assembled and put on the oxygen breathing apparatus. N. Howells, district inspector of mines, Lethbridge, and J. Worthington, Coal Creek, were timers and judges of the 117 yards walk and the smoke chamber; and J. Crowder, of Blairmore, and J. McDonald, of Fernie, mine inspectors, judged the work in the demonstration mine.

C. McNay, of Coal Creek, took the pulse of team members; J. Biggs of Fernie assisted as examiner at the mine entrance; J. Smith was in charge of mine attendants; J. Oliver of Fernie acted as recorder with H. Latham of Coal Creek as assistant; and J. McAlpine as field superintendent.

In the Mine Rescue competition 11 teams had entered, eight of whom appeared on the field. The work of the various teams was followed with much interest, and gave rise to considerable speculation as to the possible result. When the judges' reports were tabulated the result showed a very slight difference in points between the scores of all teams, and was not without surprises. The order was;

1. Blairmore — Captain David Martin.
2. Bellevue—Captain T. Bradley.
3. Michel No. 1 Team — Captain A. Howden.
4. Fernie No. 1 Team — Captain E. Hesketh.
5. Michel No. 2 Team — Captain D. McLean.
6. Fernie No. 2 Team — Captain W. Hynds.
7. Coal Creek No. 2 Team—Captain J. Haile.
8. Coal Creek No. 1 Team—Captain J. Caufield.

The individual members of the first three teams were awarded prizes as follows: Blairmore, gold watches; Bellevue, cut glass water sets; Michel, silver carving sets.

The Alberta Mine Rescue Car No. 1 from the Crow's Nest District, was in attendance on the Alberta teams and was stationed in the Elk Lumber Co. yards. A large number of visitors were shown over the car by E. Royle, the superintendent in charge.

The First Aid competitions ran concurrently with the Mine Rescue competitions during the afternoon, 16 teams competing in the various events. The judges were Doctors Corsan and Garner, of Fernie, and Dr. Workman, of Coal Creek.

In the Senior competition the teams were required to perform three team tests, and the patient to perform one individual test. The results were:

1. Fernie—Captain J. Hamer.
2. Coal Creek—Captain H. Puckey.
3. Bellevue—Captain J. Milnes.
4. Michel—Captain J. Strachan.
5. Coleman—Captain W. White.

The B.C. Dept. of Mines First Aid Cup was presented to the Fernie team and individual prizes were awarded to the members of the first three teams as follows:

Fernie, shaving sets, stands and mirrors; Coal Creek, cut glass water sets; Bellevue, sets of cutlery.

In the Ladies competition two team tests were required, the results being:

1. Coal Creek Team No. 2—Captain Mrs. Miller.
2. Michel—Captain Mrs. Whalley.
3. Fernie—Captain Mrs. Murray.
4. Coal Creek Team No. 1—Captain Mrs. Corlett.

Prizes were awarded to the first two teams as follows: Coal Creek No. 2 Team, pearl necklaces; Michel, silver cream and sugar bowls.

In the Junior competition two tests were required and the results were:

1. Fernie—Captain J. Larmont.
2. Coal Creek No. 1 Team—Captain S. Fowler.
3. Michel—Captain J. Beswick.
4. Lethbridge—Captain J. N. Bernard.
5. Coal Creek No. 2 Team—Captain J. Smith.
6. Bellevue — Captain F. Hallworth.
7. Hillcrest—Captain A. Grant.

Watches were awarded as prizes to the individual members of the first three teams.

At the close of the competition, B. Caufield, manager of the Coal Creek Colleries and chairman of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association, gave a short address in which he explained the objects of the Association and the reasons for the competitions, and advising his hearers to take advantage of the First Aid classes that are operated each winter. He also publicly thanked the Mines Dept. and its minister, Hon. Wm. Sloan; the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and the Corbin Coal Co., whose generosity made the competitions possible.

W. R. Wilson, President and General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., presented the prizes, and in a few well chosen words congratulated the teams that had taken part on the spirit of self-sacrifice and mutual assistance they had shown in taking up Mine Rescue and First Aid training. He stated that the world and the times were out of joint largely because men had forgotten their obligations, duties and responsibilities to each other. It pleased him to give some token of recognition to men who were willing to sacrifice time in training to be of service to others who may be in distress. He congratulated the winners on having applied themselves with sufficient determination to succeed, and hoped the others would strive still further to improve.

The day was voted a complete success and augurs well for the further growth and influence of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association.

HON. DR. KING VISITS RIDING

The Hon. Minister of Public Works, Dr. King, visited his home district this week. Speaking to a reporter of the Nelson News he said:

"I have never seen things looking better in East Kootenay," declared Dr. King, referring to the past few days, during which he has visited Invermere, Kimberley, Fernie and Cranbrook.

"The coal strike is settled and the colleries are again busy. The lumber mills are operating. The developments in connection with the Sullivan mine at Kimberley are a big thing. They are talking a lot about this pulp proposition at Elko. Then there are the recent power developments at Bull river, and now they are talking of a new power development on the Elk river in the vicinity of Elko.

"I understand things are also in very good shape in the West Kootenay. The Banff-Windermere highway, the grading of which will be completed next Tuesday, will next year turn a great flood of motor tourists through all this part of the province. When at Windermere I was up the highway for 35 or 40 miles and found it in very god shape. Doubtless it will be opened to traffic next spring, though an official opening may be deferred until July 1."

Dr. King is due to meet the Vancouver board of trade tomorrow. Saturday will be spent on the Fraser river, in connection with the protection of navigation. Monday he will be in the Chilliwack district and on Tuesday he will go up the north arm. Wednesday he will devote to Vancouver harbor, particularly the north shore. The minister then expects to spend a couple of days at Victoria. He will then go up to Prince Rupert and will probably return east by the Canadian National.

So far the new minister has covered Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in his tours, and has spent a little time in Ontario and a little time in Quebec.

Farmer Vice-President Marshall has no ambition to become President of the United States. "Folks think the President is superhuman," he says. "They expect him to perform miracles. If there is a local epidemic of pip in Indiana, people think the President should get busy and stop it." To all of which President Harding cheerfully subscribes.

KILLED AT COAL CREEK

To the long strike can be attributed the death of Dan Bodak, a well known Russian employed in No. 1 South mine at Coal Creek, the untable condition of the roof being caused by the working of the gas during the long idle period. The sad accident took place on Wednesday of this week.

Bodak and his partner, George McAndrew, were employed in digging coal in the seventh right incline about 2.30 o'clock, when a small cave-in fell upon them, burying both men completely. A rescue party was speedily summoned to the scene of accident and within a few minutes McAndrew was rescued and was found to have escaped serious injury. He was suffering only from shock and minor bruises. Bodak was located shortly afterwards, but in a precarious condition, having apparently been hit by a falling boom. Artificial respiration and pulmotor action was applied for nearly two hours, but failed to revive him, and he succumbed after a two hour fight to save his life.

MARRIAGE OF MISS EMILY DAVIES

"Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thornton, whose marriage took place recently in Mount Vernon, Washington, are spending a few days in the city, guests of Mrs. Thornton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Davies, of 10845 86th avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Thornton expect to leave on Saturday, as they sail on Sept. 7 for the Orient for a four months' honeymoon."

"Mrs. Harry Thornton, formerly Miss Emily Davies, a popular bride of the month, was the guest at a pretty miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Mavis Griffith on Monday evening. The guests present were Mrs. Harry Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Davies, Mrs. Reg Henry, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Nicholson, the Misses Armstrong, Mabel, Jean and I. Pecknold, Don Fraser, Irene Sheppard, Veva Hornbeck, Elsie Hays and Ethel Meredith."

ILOTT—WHITELAW

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Thursday morning, Aug. 31, at Knox Presbyterian Church, Calgary, Rev. Mr. Whiteman officiating, when Elizabeth (Betty) Aitken, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitelaw, formerly of Fernie, was united in marriage to William A. Ilott. Mrs. Charles Haig, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor, and Thos. Ward, uncle of the groom, as best man. Breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ilott left for the coast via Seattle to spend their honeymoon, and on their return will reside in Calgary.

Calgary Herald—A pleasing event on Thursday was the shower given by several members of the staff of the Hudson's Bay Co., Calgary, in honor of Miss Elizabeth (Betty) Whitelaw, whose marriage will take place Aug. 31. During the evening two little girls dressed as a bride and groom, presented Miss Whitelaw with a prettily decorated basket containing the dainty gifts. Music and games were much enjoyed, after which a buffet supper was served. The guests were: Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Robertson, Miss L. Meaker, Miss H. Hulton, Miss O. Marchand, Miss M. Cheeseman, Miss L. Godlonton, Miss E. Cork, Miss M. Dobson, Miss D. Rickards, Miss Center and Miss Mulligan. Wm. Ilott, the prospective bridegroom, was also the recipient of some nice and useful presents from the "Boys of the Bay."

The Cranbrook Saw Mills, Limited, owned by Mr. Joseph Campbell and Mr. John Meyers, situated near Fort Steele, suffered a severe loss Thursday morning, when the sawmill and planing mill were totally destroyed by fire.

Fire losses in and around Canal Flats this year have been in excess of other years, according to Mr. W. H. Shira, who is looking after valuable timber leases for a concern with large holdings at Canal Flats. The destruction is mainly to young growth.

FANS TOOK HAND

In a replay of the protested game in the semi-final of the Crahan Cup between Fernie and Michel here on Sunday afternoon, spectators broke in on the grounds and refused to let the game continue. Michel was leading by a score of two to one and some dispute arose as to the claim for a penalty by the Fernie team and supporters, with the above result. What grounds Michel were awarded the decision in their protest seem somewhat hazy as the same Fernie line-up met Michel in drawn games in the same cup tie previous to Fernie team winning two goals to nil and this coupled with the referee's decision apparently aroused the Fernie spectators' ire.

GOOD INTEREST AND ABSOLUTE SECURITY

A liberal rate of interest with absolute security is the attractive offer made by the Minister of Finance to holders of the Canadian Government war loan bonds maturing December 1, 1922. The offer is not made to investors generally, but only to the holders of the bonds soon to mature. The bonds to be retired, bearing interest at five and one-half per cent, will be exchanged for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest. See the advertisement of the Minister of Finance.

SIZING UP MORE TIMBER

(Cranbrook Herald)

The district of Cranbrook is surely entering on an era of prosperity, judging from indications of activity in the lumbering industry.

On Friday last a party left Cranbrook for the headwaters of White river, to survey and make a complete estimate of the timber holdings of C. D. McNab of Waldo. The surveying is in charge of James Laidlaw, C.E., of this city, and the cruising and estimating of the body of timber has been entrusted to C. M. Edwards of Baynes Lake. C. B. Staples of Wycliffe will assist Mr. Laidlaw and Frank McNab of the Baker Lumber Co., Waldo, will act as lieutenant to Mr. Edwards. Arthur Nichol, of Fort Steele, with a pack train of 12 horses is in charge of transportation.

The route taken by the party is by way of Sheep Creek, thence across the divide to White Swan Lake which is within easy striking distance of the big spruce forest which is the party's objective

Some speculation is being indulged in by some of the local lumber men as to what such activity portends. It is rumored that a deal is pending between the McNab interests and the pulp people at Elko who are now busily engaged in development work at the site of their projected pulp mill near Elko.

There may be some justification for the guesses of the men who are more or less in the know. White River is rich in pulp timber. A vast body of excellent spruce is known to exist in the valley of that stream. Part of this forest is held by private interests, but the government also holds a large body of spruce there as well. The latter is situated on the East Fork of the stream and is in an admirable position from a logger's point of view.

In all likelihood the timber of White River will come out to the Kootenay Valley by way of Canal Flats. White River is a drivable stream, and has the unusual advantage over the bulk of mountain rivers inasmuch as it possesses water storage. White Swan Lake empties into White River, and being a body of water upwards of three miles long by an approximate mile wide, some idea may be gained of its value as an aid to driving logs. A dam built across its outlet would ensure an ample supply of water wherewith to drive logs when the summer flood has passed.

If the presence of a surveying party in the White River field presages immediate activity there, Cranbrook has reason to congratulate itself on its good fortune. By rail, the White River country is tributary to this city and without doubt the city would participate in the benefits resulting from such important developments. Other big timber holdings in the vicinity are also being cruised by the owning companies or individuals.

Is it that the city of Cranbrook is about to take a place in the sun? It certainly looks that way.

THE PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN

The Pacific Great Eastern enterprise was undertaken in a highly sanguine state of the public mind. There is now a danger that the reaction may go too far. Though the hope of making this line part of some larger railway system is for the present abandoned there remains the possibility of its service as a local railway. The natural resources of the country through which this line passes are as large as they were five years and ten years ago. Engineers and traffic managers have reported. The business communities have still something to say.

If it is a comfort to know the worst the Sullivan report offers this much consolation. According to this statement the $44,000,000 invested by the province may be written off at once and for all as a productive asset. The engineer offers no hope that the road will ever earn any part of the fixed charge represented by the interest on this expenditure. He does not believe that the financial prospect will be improved by the completion of the line, or by its extension to the Peace River country. In fact he does not believe that the Peace River traffic would follow the Pacific Great Eastern if the connection was established.

Historical discussion and the award of responsibility for the present situation are highly interesting, but the main purpose of the report is not historical or political. The essential feature is the recommendations. Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Hinton and Mr. Dennis give no new information when they say that there is no prospect of the railway paying maintenance and operating expenses and interest on the investment. The statement that the whole railway must be abandoned if the people are not prepared to continue paying $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 yearly on the investment already made and to do what is necessary in the future, does not cover the case.

Unfortunately there is not an alternative between spending this much underaking. The interest charge according to Mr. Sullivan, is $1,912,000. This can not be escaped by closing up operations and salvaging the road. The only loss that can be escaped is the operating deficit, which was last year $293,000, together with the cost of completion and equipment necessary to make the line a going concern. Also we should notice the statement of Mr. Hinton concerning trestles and other perishable structures.

Can the railway be operated by the public without an increase in this deficit? Can it be so operated as to reduce the annual loss? Is the service to the province worth the minimum annual net cost of operation? How much if any additional construction northward would be justified? How much, if any, of the part already constructed should be abandoned if operation is continued? On all these and suggestions. These are probably supported by arguments and explanations in that part of the report which has not yet been made public. The premier and minister of railways has had the full report in his hands for some months, and has not yet reached a conclusion. Naturally the public with a synopsis of the report may require some days to form an intelligent opinion.

Again let it be said that there is not now any question of recovering interest on the original cost. It is shown in the report that the railway must earn some $22,000 a mile gross to meet the fixed charges. The earnings last year were $800 a mile But the fixed charges are fixed whether the road is operated or not. The real question is whether the government is justified in paying the operating charges which now amount to double the earnings. On this point attention will be given to the operating charges which now Mr. Sullivan's plan of operating motor cars, and maintaining only such services as pay for themselves. Some notice should also be taken of the suggestions of Mr. Dennis on local exploration and development.

The matter will stand a good deal of consideration now that should have been given sooner. A public property which cost thirty millions, besides interest, is not to be lightly thrown away. The hopes of the long and scattered line of settlements which this railway was to serve should not be rudely swept away unless it is absolutely necessary. The prospect of development of the resources of a large part of the province should still appeal to us as it did in the past. Even though it should cost the province a moderate sum every year to keep this railway in operation the people might afford it, as they afford to maintain highways. In taking stock of the present situation it is not necessary to guard against an oversanguine spirit. Prudence may now be best shown in trying to make the best of the case.—Vancouver Province.

DO CAMPERS START THE FOREST FIRES?

Some Canadian campers, who know and love the woods, have been complaining lately that they are accused of starting a large proportion of the fires which annually take such a terrible toll of our forest wealth. They say they hav ebeen going into the forest every year for such a number of years, and they defy any one to point to any fire they have started. Their complaint is doubtless justified. Men who go every year into the woods are woodsmen, and woodsmen do not start forest fires. The people who start fires are those who are not woodsmen, who know nothing of woodcraft, who probably were never in the woods before, or who go in only at long intervals. Still there are in the aggregate a large number of these people, and, leaving, as they often do, a trail of fire behind them, they give the whole army of campers a bad name. It is hard on the real camper, sportsman, and woodsman, and the only way out is for everybody who goes into the woods or who has anything to do with forests, to exert all the influence possible to educate these "tenderfeet" and to create a public opinion that will support forest-fire laws and the work of the fire ranger, and ostracize those who by their carelessness burn the forest.

THE INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES ACT

Talk about life's little ironies! The strike in Nova Scotia after two conciliation boards had decided the questions at issue between the coal miners and operators reminds one that the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act was first devised with the object of preventing as far as possible strikes of coal miners. It has been successful in most other departments of industry in averting strikes and lockouts, but it has so far been a failure in keeping industrial peace in the coal mines.

In 1906 there was a coal strike in Western Canada so rivulent in its nature and so severe in its effects on the Western Canadian public that the local authorities appealed for Federal intervention. W. L. Mackenzie King, now Premier of Canada and "The Right Honorable," but then "Mr." and deputy minister of labor, was sent out to see what he could do. He succeeded in effecting a settlement, but he was so impressed by the suffering, the shivering and starving incident to a strike of a coal miners that he made recommendations for legislation which resulted in the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. But coal miners have struck and struck again in happy contempt of the law which requires a 30-day notice of a desire to have changed wages or conditions, an application later for a Board of Investigation and Conciliation by one of the parties and an investigation resulting in a report before a strike or lockout can legally be declared. The compulsory feature of the Act has been a dead letter so far as miners and unskilled workers are concerned, and it has been found practically impossible to enforce penalties. It has not been attempted even as the policy of the Labor Department is conciliation, and it will not attempt brusque measures which might forfeit good will. It is indeed some advance that the coal miners of Nova Scotia have even waited for two conciliation boards to report their findings on this last occasion before striking.

In the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921, there were 84 strikes called illegally, that is, strikes declared without first invoking the aid of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. As usual the coal miners were in the van, calling 34 such strikes. Next came freight handlers with 16 illegal strikes, then metal miners and longshoremen with 14 each, railroad unions of one kind another with four and street-car employees with illegal strikes. In the same time there were 509 applications for Boards of Conciliation, 371 being granted. In only 32 cases did it happen that strikes were not averted or ended by this means. This is a happy testimony to the alleviating influence exerted by the Act on Canadian Industrial Life, and it is to be hoped that it will gradually extend itself to men who, like coal miners, deal with drills and dynamite and prefer to blast rather than argue their way towards the accomplishment of their demands. The Act has been an exceedingly helpful one to the amenities of Canadian urban life by its operation in connection with street car disputes, and it has made Canadian Harbors of much more use to the Dominion because of the very numerous strikes of longshormen that have been averted. On the railroads it has been efficacious in a number of instances, and communication by telegraph would have been interfered with much oftener than has been the case but for it. It is having rough riding just now in the Railway Shopmen and Coal Miners' disputes with their employers, but even here it has been of use.—Saturday Night.

The Neccessary Cables

Wireless has, no doubt, done most to obscure the progress of submarine telegraphy. In so far as it stimulates competition it is to be welcomed. But it is still in its experimental stage. We rely still on cables to keep us more or less in instaneaneous communication with the distant parts of the earth. Were they to collapse we in Manchester would live five weeks removed from news about Brisbane, three weeks from Buenos Ayres. Such a state of enforced provincialism would be intolerable. It would mean the disorganization of orderly unspeculative commerce, and it would make diplomacy almost impossible. For these reasons the cable service should be mentioned honorably when we are going over the structure of our material civilization.—Manchester Guardian.

Community Singing

Thousands, we understand, are meeting once a week to beguile the time with "community singing." But it has an object, a social object—to act as an antidote to Bolshevism. It is to achieve by expression what Prohibition aims at doing by repression, to promote cheerful work and a good spirit.

The merry heart goes all the day,
Your sad tires in a mile-a.

Perhaps that is letting the cat out of the bag. Better not to tell people you are taking away their beer in order to make them work—better not tell them that you are asking them to sing in order that they may earn higher wages. However, if cheerfulness were the only result, the experiment would be worth trying.—London Daily Chronicle.

"Two and One Is Shoe Polish," Little Pat's Answer

Little Pat started at school yesterday, entering the first grade. After he had come home his mother listened to many strange tales of the day's doings. But Pat's reports were not confined to his domain alone, for in the early part of the evening he was walking along the street near his home, when a grownup friend stopped him.

Right away things started. No questions were needed. Pat was wound up like an eight-day clock.

"Say, I went to school today and gee whillikins, what a time we had. De teacher giv us a piece of paper dat was about a yard long and about a foot wide and she made us put numbers all over de place."

"Yes," was the reply, and then the youngster measured off a distance of about 10 inches long and about three inches wide. That was Pat's idea of a yard and a foot.

"De teacher axed me if I end count and I told her yes and I can add, too."

"What is one and one, Pat?"

"Two, and two and two is four and three and three is six," kept on Pat without a letup. He continued this until he reached seven and seven. He could not answer this.

The little fellow's friend then tried him on a lower number.

"What is two an one, Pat?"

"Shoe polish."

"What is two an' one?"

"Shoe polish, I said."

"Why, two and one makes three."

"I can't tell me, mister, cus I knows, two an' one is shoe polish."

Railway News

Vancouver. — When here recently Mr. Grant Hall, Vice-President C. P. R., said his trip was simply in the nature of an ordinary inspection tour and that the company had no undertakings in mind connected with it. The new pier work will proceed as soon as possible.

As far as he could judge from his trip through the prairies and from reports received, there would be a big crop this year, and the company was making its usual preparations to handle its share of the business expeditiously.

Asked if the big harvest and readjustment of freight rates would mean that this company would carry larger quantities of grain here this fall, Mr. Hall replied that it was a matter over which the Canadian Pacific had no control.

"It all rests with the owner of the grain," he said. "We are prepared to haul it either East or West, just as he directs."

Rumor periodically revives the story that the Canadian Pacific is about to electrify its mountain lines in British Columbia. In regard to this Mr. Hall stated, as he has on former visits here, that the company is still conducting experiments with a view at some later date of formulating a policy in regard to the proposed electrification. The impression he gave was that if the plan is pronounced feasible by its experts and the company is ready, it will proceed with the work. In any event this is liable to be a considerable time distant.

The vice-president was accompanied through the British Columbia division by Mr. F. W. Peters, general superintendent. He was met on arrival here by leading officials of the company and several personal friends.

Assiniboia, Alberta. — A further programme of improvement of lines of the Canadian Pacific in the west was announced by D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of Western lines, who is on his way west.

A considerable number of bridges will be replaced with more permanent structures.

With respect to work on new branch lines it was announced that the existing gap on the Weyburn-Lethbridge will be closed; the line from Russell north will be completed; the first fifty miles of the Lanigan northerly line will be fully equipped for traffic; and the grading will be continued on the branch lines from Consul east. In this connection, Mr. Coleman said: "We had hoped to announce a larger programme of branch line construction but until the effect of the freight rate reductions just ordered on the revenues of the railway companies can be accurately determined, it is obvious that an ambitious policy is out of the question."

Port Hope. — The C. P. R. Port Hope bridge is fifteen hundred feet long. It is an interesting question how long it will require to paint it and how much paint will be used on the work. There are at present eleven men swinging the brushes; they will be busy for at least eight weeks and three hundred gallons of paint will spread over the long span. The work of preparing the girders is a big job and a tedious one. Men go over the entire structure with small picks and hammers removing all the corroded parts after which it is brushed down with steel brushes. A graphite paint is used and it comes all ready prepared for the work. The wages of the men for this job will exceed two thousand five hundred dollars, which gives some idea what the painting account for the C. P. R. would amount to each year. There are two cars which provide eating and sleeping quarters for the men. It is just seven years ago that this big structure was given a liberal coat of paint.

Montreal.—Mr. Alfred Price, General Manager Eastern Lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, for over forty years, who has relinquished his duties with the railway for an indefinite period, left Montreal on the C. P. S. "Montrose" recently, bound for England.

Mr. Price, who is accompanied by his daughters Misses Laura and Grace Price, will spend some time at Torquay, Devonshire, England, where it is hoped Mr. Price's health will be restored.

Several of Mr. Price's friends went aboard the "Montrose" to see him off. Amongst the Canadian Pacific officials present were: A. D. MacTier, Vice-President; James Manson, Assistant to Vice-President; John J. Scully, General Manager Eastern Lines; W. G. Annable; W. Ballantyne; Arthur Allan; George H. Ham; John Leslie, C. P. R. Comptroller, who was accompanied by Mrs. Leslie and Miss Leslie. There were several other friends and well-wishers present. Souvenirs presented to Mr. Price included a pair of binocular glasses.

Do you like action on the screen or do you like psychology?

For Mayo's use Leet Renick Brown wrote a story which mixes smashing action and jolting psychology in equal measure. Universal assigned its filming to a director who has guided Mayo many times before, William Worthington.

The leading woman is Lillian Rich and Peggy Cartwright, Lydia Knott, W. S. McDunnough, Wade Boteler, Roscoe Karns, Tom Kennedy, Tom McGuire, Al Kaulman and others handle principal roles.

The story concerns a young man out of a job, half sick from the effort of being gassed in the war and badly in need of money, not only to support a mother and kid sis, but to get the little girl made into a real child, able to play and run about. She's a cripple and the doctor's dictum that an operation costing three thousand must be undertaken within a few months or she will always be a cripple, puts a bad crimp in his silver lining.

Prize fighting is farthest from his thoughts, but the sawdust ring gives him his only chance to get money. With his agreement to fight is a clause compelling him to refrain from any scrapping before the big battle, no matter what the provocation. That is what marks him as "Afraid to Fight."

The chief point in the story is the illustration of a man's soul laboring under the stima of cowardice. Compelled by his word of honor in an agreement not to fight, he is thrown into a situation where a bad egg needs a good whipping and the failure to give it to him puts the hero in a mighty bad light with a good woman.

PRINCE OF WALES SEEN IN DRAMATIC PHOTOPLAY

Motion picture enthusiasts who admired the Prince of Wales during his stay in this country will be afforded an opportunity to witness His Highness' charming personality in the Associated Producers' production "Devotion," starring Hazel Dawn, which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Other features of the picture play are a number of picturesque scenes showing for the first time in motion pictures the wonderful swimming pool of the Pennsylvania Hotel, in New York city, where for two days the prominent members of the cast enjoyed its privileges while fliming scenes for "Devotion." Another magnificent set reveals a society function in which over 2300 people were used as "extras."

A meeting will be held in the basement of Christ's Church on Friday, Sept 15th, commencing at 8 p.m. All parishioners are earnestly requested to be present. Various organizations will be formed to carry on satisfacorily the work of the parish. Everyone will be able to find something to join and something to do. A special feature will be the Guild of play for children, which should be intensely interesting to parents. After business there will be a social hour consisting of a musical program and light refreshments.

The most important subject that will come before the city council this evening will be the introduction of a bylaw authorizing the erection of a four roomed addition to the Fernie Public School. The growth of the public schools attendance has reached such a pass that it is now necessary to double shift six different rooms and this condition cuts off over an hour a day for some 150 pupils. This will in a short time affect the high standard of the whole school and cannot be permitted under any circumstances, so it is up to the citizens of Fernie to get behind the council in this matter and when the bylaw is submitted to the ratepayers for ratification to give it a good big affirmative vote.

PORNOGRAPHIC PERIODICALS

There is incessant talk of censorships for the theatre but to anyone but casually familiar with American periodical "literature" it would seem that there is far more need for a magazine censor. The publication of magazines devoted to pornographic stories and pictures has lately become an established industry of large dimensions in the United States and is constantly increasing. Dirty periodicals are so numerous that they often take the individual unawares. For instance, a charming and innocent young girl was last summer traveling to a Northern summer resort and bought from the "news butcher" a magazine of respectable appearance. It turned out to be almost entirely made up of stories of "red light" habitues; and the girl was terrified at the thought of what people who saw it in her possession might think. The news stands in all big Canadian cities fairly teem with publications fit only for the centre table of a house of ill fame. Their display and sale proceeds unchecked and they are allowed the use of the Canadian mails. It is ridiculous to take pains to "clean up" the movies (even to the extent of permitting King Solomon only one wife) while dirt of a much fouler character than was ever presented in a film theatre circulates everywhere in magazine form.

There has reached this office the August issue (Vol. 1. No. 1) of "True Confessions" a magazine published at Minneapolis, Minnesota by one W. H. Fawcett, who is unabashed in his declaration that he intends to publish the dirtiest material that he can lay his hands on. He deliberately solicits contributions which "illustrate the base in your nature," and announces a prize competition to stimulate the production of such reading matter. We are loath to give "True Confessions" an advertisement but we do so in the hope that it will lead to the exclusion of this magazine from Canada. In his lengthy statement of what he is pleased to learn his "Aims and Ideas" Fawcett expresses his liking for the writings of perverts like Marechal de Retz and the Marquis de Sade as well as for the indecent outbreaks of certain men of literary renown. Apparently the only thing that makes certain great men of the past worthy of fame in his eyes is the fact that they sometimes were indecent according to modern standards. Mr. Fawcett even has the audacity to claim a moral intention by asserting that knowledge of the fouler things of life may help some young people to avoid such error. The moral teaching of every short story in "True Confessions," so far as a cursory glance reveals, is that the only happiness for women lies in unchase behavior. There is hardly a page in the magazine which does not provide an incentive to vice as the true reality of existence.

Apparently Mr. Fawcett has associated with him the Rev. G. L. ("Golightly") Morrill, Pastor of the People's Church at Minneapolis. The Rev. Morrill must be a sweet scented type of parson. His contribution to this magazine is a comic reminiscence entitled "Beating the Stork" in which he tells of a young woman who became a mother five minutes after he had performed the ceremony that made her a bride. The reverend gentleman thinks this was funny and he showed his excellent taste in the emergency by presenting the suffering girl with a red carnation as a suitable emblem. The Rev. Morrill also advertises a book entitled "Mediterrenean Mud" in which he describes in detail all the age old vices of the Levantine and North African ports. Certainly he is a fitting co-adjutor for the perverted Fawcett. It is quite evident that he was amply repaid for the trouble of a trip to Europe by the experiences he enjoyed.

"True Confessions" is making an endeavor to secure circulation in Canada, both West and East, and certainly if our laws against indecency are worth the paper they are written on it should be excluded from the mails, the news stands and the railway trains. It is however but one of many magazines almost as bad, that make it high time a clean up took place in the publishing business. — Saturday Night.

MRS. CARLISLE SAVES BUTTER

In her letter she states that not only does the improved Pacific Evaporated Milk taste much richer, but she finds it more economical for cooking. "In all my baking I find I can do with just about half the butter that I used before."

Quite a number of women mention the same fact, that the 43% of cream in Pacific Milk means that very little butter is required in cakes, or other things where butter is generally used.

PRESS COMMENT

What Will Lead The Way?

In practice every nation would be willing to reduce its forces provided that all the other nations had taken the same step. None will take the risk of setting the example. On the contrary, each finds in the armies of its neighbor an excuse for increasing its own in pursuit of a security that can never be reached. To wait for individual action is the counsel of despair. It will leave Europe permanently as a powder magazine which any recklessness may explode. It will keep the nations in a permanent state of poverty, with unbalanced budgets and increasing debts.—Westminster Gazette.

The Cost of Strikes and the Payers

-o-

There has been loss of life in the mining areas and the number of men who have perished is large enough to make us bitterly deplore this unfortunate circumstance. The loss of a single life in such circumstances as these is surely more costly than the loss of millions in property damage. The sad toll of this strike is to be regretted. Who apart from the men's leaders will have gained by these misfortunes? The public on its side has aided in the contest and it will be called upon to pay the damage as is always the case. It is obvious that strikes are costly and bring little benefit even when a striking victory is gained.—L'Action Catholique.

The Municipal "Boss" in Britain

Liverpool, we see, is the latest provincal city to flirt with the American idea of employing a superman as a municipal "boss." The flirtation springs from a selection committee's dissatisfaction with the list of candidates for its vacant town clerkship, which is worth $16,000 a year. It is suggested now that the town clerkship should be abolished, that the legal administrative work should be relegated to a deputy town clerk, and that a general manager should be appointed. We hope the people of Liverpool will examine this suggestion a little more closely before they consent to its adoption.—Westminster Gazette.

BOLSHEVIST TEACHINGS

To call the Nova Scotia situation an outcropping of Bolshevism is no idle use of a shop-worn phrase. The miners sometime ago repudiated their old leaders and placed themsleves under the guidance of one J. B. McLachlan, a declared Bolshevik. "There are two men I'd like to shake hands with—Lenin and Trotsky" is a typical platform utterance from the lips of this luminary. "They say McLachlan has not much respect for the law. You bet I haven't," is another typical confession. Yet a most emphatic pronouncement of his views is as follows:"We demand a wage big enough to live on, and, if we do not get it from the capitalistic class, then we will organize the workers to sweep that class out of existence." More than two years ago McLachlan proposed that the miners reduce their output fifty per cent. if the employers did not accede to their demands. It is quite plain that his affection for Lenin and Trotsky is not mere lip service, but a complete agreement with the destructive principles that are the basis of Bolshevism. The implication that the wage scales paid the miners are insufficient for them to live upon is rank nonsense,—a mere rhetorical gesture of McLachlan's to justify his main aim, the destruction of the capitalistic class. His admiration of Lenin and Trotsky is clearly not due to any improvement they have made in the condition of the workers, for no such improvement has transpired. McLachlan obviously loves them for their crimes,—the ruthless murder of one million, seven hundred thousand, or more Russians of the "bourgeois" class.

We are to-day, in times of so-called peace, tolerating many evils we refused to endure in time of war. McLachlan's belligerence toward the established institutions of Canada is quite as extreme as that of any Hun in 1914. During the war scores of better and less dangerous men than he were shot and hanged for desertion espionage, and other court martial offences less inimical to public welfare than his inflammatory efforts to destroy the mining industry of Nova Scotia. Why should we tolerate the existence of a man who is plotting against the life and property and well-being of unnumbered Canadians?

It is gratifying to note that the Federal Government has already recognized a military emergency in Nova Scotia and sent a force of a thousand men to protect the mines, But why should Hon. George P. Graham adopt so apologetic a tone in doing a right and proper thing? One of the most mischievous superstitions pervalent on this continent, is that Government has no right to intervene in disputes between capital and labor. It must be clear to everyone who gives the present situation thought that if there is any matter in which Government has an inherent right of interference it is in such disputes, since in nearly all of them a vast third party the general public or the "common people" is the actual victim.—The Saturday Night.

CONDEMNS "STOOL" PIGEON

Lord Shaw's strictures on the employment of "stool pigeons" in the administration of the law are what might have been expected from anyone imbued with high principles affecting the profession in which he occupies such a distinguished place. "Any kind of discovery of crime," he says, "which consists in the conniving at the perpetration of crime, stands self-condemned." Nothing could have been put more succinctly. It is a principle of both law and ethics which Lord Shaw has enunciated. He points out that there is no system of "stool pigeons" in England, and he ought to know. It does not prevail in the country which gave the basis of the whole criminal law to the Empire, simply because it is wrong.

Lord Shaw's condemnation of the system of employing "stool pigeons" will be learned of with satisfaction by every citizen of Victoria who believes that self-respect should be one of the attribute of law administration. It bears out conclusively the criticisms offered in this newspaper against a practice which has been indulged in both by our Provincial Government and our municipal authorities. It should be a warning to both to desist from a course which is opposed by all the dictates of right dealing and all the concepts of honorable administration. Our Police Commission would do well to take the strictures of Lord Shaw to heart. He was merely asked to give his verdict on the principle involved, and in that verdict he has confirmed the opinion of the vast majority of the people in this community, and in any community where the principles of fair play are treasured. The employment of "stool pigeons" is ethically wrong. It stands self-condemned in law. It is an un-Christian procedure. It is repulsive to all honest hearts and should be banished wholly from our methods of law administration.

COCAINE HORRORS

Often the cocaine and analogous morphine and heroin habits begin through curiosity.

A man or woman sees a dejected, morose and utterly miserable companion snuff into the nose a little whitish powder, and in a minute or two become transformed into an elated, sparkling and supremely happy individual.

He or she thinks this magic medicine worth a trial.

The habit is also formed from experience of the pleasant effects of the drug in operations on the teeth or other minor operations.

But the foolish people who begin to take cocaine have no knowledge of the ultimate consequences or they would never make a start.

It is estimated that at the end of one month of daily cocaine dosing the victim is a slave to the drug and has no power to stop its use, although by then he has begun to experience the frightful consequences.

The pleasant dreams present at the outset become horrifying nightmares. Delusions set in and the victim, wide awake, sees and hears people talking to him and replies to them, although he knows clearly that they are imaginary.

He sees little animals walking over his skin — these are such a well-known symtim that they are called in Ameica "cocaine bugs."

The hands tremble, the eyes become sunken, the face pallid, pinched, and sometimes yellow.

The body wastes and appetite becomes capricious; sometimes there is loathing of food and again a ravenous craving.

A woman victim entirely loses her sense of modesty and both men and women become reckless in every way.

To obtain the drug they will lie, cheat, steal and even commit murder.

Fortunately the continuous use of the drug makes them arrant cowards that they would be fit for any crime.

Quite a short period of cocaine taking (and it makes no difference whether it be taken by sniffing it into the nose, injecting it under the skin or swallowing it) makes an absolute physical and mental wreck of the victim, whose will is weakened to the point of imbecility.

I DO NOT EXPECT

I do not expect to live long enough, but I certainly would like to, or I would like to come back to this world some day:

When there are no more cemeteries; When we shall have outlived the fallacy of punishment and the theory that crime is cured by hurting criminals;

When there shall be no more jails and penitentiaries, but only psychopathic hospitals under the care of proper experts, to restrain and, if possible, to heal the morally diseased;

When there shall be no more passports or tariffs, but travel and business shall be encouraged between all nations;

When policemen shall no more be criminal hunters, but welfare officers;

When cooperation shall have reduced competition in labor, in production and in transportation, and competition shall be confined to games, to science and to service;

When taxation shall no more be based upon robbery, but based upon the principle of payment rendered for government service received;

When the calendar shall be reformed so that no calendars will be necessary, but that a given weekday will fall upon the same date every year and every month;

When all weights and measures shall be the same all over the world and based upon the decimal system;

When money shall be the same in every nation and all postage uniform;

When every railroad shall have the same guage;

When every city, county, state and nation shall enjoy independence and self-government, all the disputes between them be settled by a world court, and the only armed force in the world be under control of that court;

When in every school shall be taught self-government, and every school be a training place in democracy;

When democracy shall extend also to industry;

When a school shall be recognized as a drug all over the world and placed under the control of the medical profession;

When every physician shall be a health officer and under the control of the community, as policemen are now, and the state shall recognize that the health of every individual is a communal responsibility;

When religion shall have shaken off the heathenism of the past, shall have freed itself from totem and taboo ideas, and from all autocracy; shall be based upon true psychological principles as established by science and shall be taught in the public schools;

When democracy shall come of age and overspread the earth, so that the last remnants of autocracy shall disappear and the human race shall thus be able to grow its reforms instead of accomplishing them by violence;

And when a woman shall be compelled to date her letters, and shall not be allowed to start in on the fourth page after she has finished the first.

Political Probabilities

The political situation in the Dominion is still confused and cloudy; and the bolt necessity to bring precipitation is not likely to be delivered by design. It will come some day out of a clear sky. Some issue will come up to divide the Liberals into the two camps in which they belong, and the dominant group in the Government will look for support across the gangway to whichever party is in sympathy with the policy which has brought about the showdown.

The chances are ten to one that when this time comes the Conservatives in the Government and the Conservatives in the Opposition will come together and take over the Government of the country. They will join to defend a policy or to promote a policy intended to serve those interests. Nothing divides them but fancies of the mind. They are alike as peas.—Manitoba Free Press.

Baseball is said to be becoming a popular sport in France. The rudiments of the game may be easily mastered, but it will take the French fans years to acquire a working knowledge of the bleacherites' vocabulary.

CANADA'S SEASIDE AND MOUNTAIN LINKS PLEASE GOLFERS

THE history of golf in Canada is a long story. The first game played on this continent took place in this country and the development of the game here has gone forward with rapid strides. To-day the Dominion is dotted with links noted for their excellence from St. Andrews-by-the Sea in New Brunswick, to Vancouver in British Columbia. Guests are welcome everywhere and United States experts like "Chick" Evans and Oswald Kirby are unanimous in declaring that the quality of Canadian golf is very high. Canada's first club was the Royal Montreal founded in 1873 about fifteen years before St. Andrews Golf Club, the first in the United States, was started in Yonkers, N.Y.

Canada's St. Andrews-by-the-Sea is a seaside course on Passamaquoddy Bay, an estuary of the Bay of Fundy so near Maine that a long driver could almost put one over the international fence. St. Andrews is not a name to be taken lightly, and when Sir William Van Horne and Lord Shaughnessy had the 6,100 yard New Brunswick links laid out, they made it worthy of its great Scotch namesake, the mother links of the golf world. Many of the holes are on sloping ground with the picturesque panorama of the bay in one direction, and the green forests in another. In addition to the regular 18-holes, there is a 9-holes course for ladies and the Algonquin is headquarters for golfers.

The Canadian government owns and manages at Banff, Alberta, one of the most interesting and picturesque links in the world. Banff Golf Course, this year expanded to 18 holes, is nearly a mile above sea-level along the banks of the Bow River. From the edge of the fairways majestic mountains tower a mile above the links and the golfer enjoys his favorite sport in a scenic setting of unforgettable beauty. Now and then the "gallery" watching the game is augmented by wild mountain goats who peer down from some lofty ledge at the players. The links are in charge of a competent professional and are a fine test of the game.

Farther west Vancouver and Victoria enjoy golf both summer and winter on links which are a delight to both expert and novice.

It is good! It is pure! It is rich! It does keep fresh! Wholesome! Convenient! Economical! For every milk use!

Order a few tins from your grocer to-day. "A size for every need."

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE:—3 tablespoonfuls St. Charles Milk, undiluted; ½ teaspoonful salt; ¼ teaspoonful pepper; ¼ teaspoonful mustard; 2 tablespoonfuls sharp vinegar; ¾ cupful salad oil.

Combine the seasonings, add the milk, and gradually beat in the oil with an egg beater. Then whip in the vinegar. Use as any mayonnaise. Transfer to a covered jar. This will keep indefinitely in a cool place.

RUTH ROLAND IN "WHITE EAGLE"

THE ORPHEUM

Railway News

Winnipeg.—Claiming this year's record for an early shipment of grain, the Lake of the Woods Milling Company on August 3rd moved the first car of new wheat to the head of the lakes. The grain, which came from the farms of John Siemens and M. Wodlinger, of Rosenfeld, Man., graded No. 1 northern of fine quality. It was shipped from the Lake of the Woods elevator at Rosenfeld over the Canadian Pacific Railway to the Lake of the Woods mill at Keewatin.

August 3 is considered the earliest date in a number of years that grain has been moved east.

Carelessness by automobile drivers at railway crossings is still prevalent. On every occasion the motorists come off second best. The railways are doing all in their power to prevent accidents. If they were only met half way many fatalities would be avoided and many automobiles and limbs saved from the operating theatre.

A few days ago at Ayr, Ontario, a man named W. Zehr was driving south in a Grant automobile across Northumberland Street. He ran into the side of a train, striking it behind the locomotive. As a result of the impact Mr. Zehr's automobile was badly broken, but the injury to the train was slight. The train was switching at the time of the occurrence.

Prescott.—The Canadian Pacific Railway offers two scholarships per year for the faculty of applied science to minor sons of employees. This year there were 16 candidates in the contest, which was held last month, comprising students from Halifax, N.S., to Victoria, B.C. George Harold Kingston of Prescott received the highest number of marks, winning one of the scholarships, which means free tuition at McGill College, Montreal, for five years. Mr. Cyril Nerontses, of Victoria, B.C., won second place.

Calgary.—Ronald W. Greene, of Winnipeg, who was recently appointed assistant general agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway ocean traffic, with headquarters here, has arrived in the city to take over his duties here. Mr. Green will have offices in the C. P. R. depot and will handle all Atlantic and Pacific steamship business in the Province of Alberta.

W. C. Casey, general agent of the passenger department of the C.P.R. ocean traffic recently arrived in the city. While discussing ocean traffic, Mr. Casey said that the addition of the two new steamships, the "Empress of Canada" and the "Empress of Australia" on the Pacific coast run, has ensured a 25-day service between Hong Kong and London and Paris. He said that Orient passenger traffic was reasonably fair at the present time and believed that traffic would be very heavy in the fall, both to and from the Orient.

Vancouver. — With every hotel along the Canadian Pacific Railway taxed to capacity, and with the coastwise steamship offices reporting a greater volume of travel than ever before in their history, Western Canada is enjoying a tourist traffic this year that has never been equalled in past seasons.

During the past few days it has been necessary for the majority of the hotel motor buses to make four and five trips to the hotels from the steamers in order to accommodate the incoming passengers, and the trains both from the east and from local points have been similarly well filled with visitors.

"Tourist traffic over C.P.R. western lines is far greater than it was in 1921," said General Passenger Agent H. W. Brodie on his return from an inspection trip which carried him as far as Banff. "Travel is now at its full height and many Americans are seeing Canada. Trains both east and westbound are well filled, and Western Canada is enjoying a great summer season."

All the mountain resorts along the main line of the C.P.R. are being well patronized, and the Arrow Lakes and Okanagan scenic points are also the Mecca for hundreds of tourists from the American side.

Boats bound for Alaskan ports are being well filled every trip, while the ferry steamers between Vancouver Island and Seattle and Vancouver are loaded to capacity every trip.

The opening of the Banff-Lake Louise road through the mountains has done much to bring a large volume of auto tourist traffic to Canada this year, state C. P. R. officials, and when the Banff-Windermere highway is opened this fall it is expected that there will be another large volume of tourist traffic diverted through British Columbia.

"Many cars are coming from Spokane and Seattle up through Lethbridge into Banff and Lake Louise," says Col. Clarence Lougheed of Calgary, "and when the highway right through the mountains is completed both Alberta and British Columbia will get a large volume of auto traffic annually. Hundreds of cars have come through Alberta this year, and they would continue on and return to the United States by way of Vancouver if the roads were open. Alberta autoists are also anxiously awaiting the completion of the roads through and it will undoubtedly mean a big thing every year to British Columbia."

An expert has furnished a congressional committee with figures to show that gasoline is now produced and sold to the customer at a loss. This reminds a Missouri paper of the current yarn about the boy who saw a wicked-looking muskellunge in a fish market window for the first time, and exclaimend in wonder: "Any man who says he caught that fish is a liar."

WELL STRICKEN IN YEARS

All of us speculate occasionally on the question of how old the earth is. History, of course, cannot tell us but nature reveals the facts from which an estimate can be made. If one goes into a primeval forest, and has the opportunity to examine an ancient tree newly cut, he may easily count hundreds of annual rings, each of which infallibly represents a yearly round of the seasons. And in the redwoods of California the count may run up into a few thousand rings. Yet one looks in vain for the evidence of great changes in the surface during the tree's existence. It stands, apparently, just as it sprouted. How long, then, was required to carve out the mountain valley in which we find it? If we acknowledge, in accordance with erosion estimates derived from the burden of silt in rivers, that a foot of soil has been removed from around the roots of our two-thousand year-old tree, or between the trees, and if the valley is a thousand feet deep, we arrive at a rough measurement of the time required to wear down the valley, of two million years, by a circulation so simple and by a method so clear that its approximately correct value is easily and certainly ascertained by anyone, be he scientist or bookkeeper. And if he is somewhat of a geologist, even if a very amateur one, he knows that the erosion if such a valley is a recent occurrence in a geological record which is vastly longer, says the editor of The Engineering and Mining Journal-Press of New York.

The first reaction—the usual comment—is that conceptions of time, which involve a million years and more are too much for the human brain to grasp. That is only a matter of habit, to be corrected by practise, in thinking. A great many men have concentrated their thoughts until they have a very good idea of what a million dollars is; and, if they are the possessors of that amount, have a very clear conception of its qualities in general. And even if you remind them that a million dollars is a hundred million cents they would still have a perfect comprehenion of what a hundred million means. If, therefore, they would be thoroughly convinced that time is money, they would have little difficulty in thoughtful weighing and appraising all geologic time; of which the best estimate, from the Cambrain period to the present, is about six hundred million years. The dawn of life on earth was much earlier than this; and, based upon studies of radio activity, physicists have granted certain uranium minerals, which have been examined in the Archean rock, an age of one and a half billion years at least .

Developing Canada's Oriental Trade

With its fleet of fast-moving, luxuriously fitted steamers, trans-continental express train services, and chain of palatial hotels, the Canadian Pacific Company have laid an easy highway around the world, and another link between West and East has been established by the magnificent new steamer "Empress of Australia,' which recently joined the trans Pacific service from Vancouver to Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai, Manila and Hong-Kong.

The "Empress of Russia" and "Empress of Asia" are already well known on the Pacific Ocean, and accommodation on these steamers has always been difficult to obtain owing to their popularity. With the addition of the still larger steamers, "Empress of Canada" and 'Empress of Australia," sailings from Vancouver will now be so frequent as to provide in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Atlantic Empresses a fortnightly through service from Europe. It is now recognized that the Canadian Pacific route to the Orient is quite as easy for the traveller as the all-sea routes, and is, of course, much shorter. Yokohama is reached from Britain in less than three weeks, and Hong Kong in four weeks.

The "Empress of Australia" is the biggest commercial vessel to pass through the Panama Canal. The vessel is 588 feet in length, 75 feet in breadth, 46 feet 3 inches in depth to upper deck, and of about 21,500 tons gross. She is of the shelter deck type, with a continuous bridge above, extending the full length of the ship, and the lower and upper promenade decks fully half the length. She has a straight stem, an elliptical stern, three funnels, and two masts, and has a very beautiful appearance. She has splendid accommodation for 400 first class, 165 second class, 360 third class, and 670 Asiatic steerage passengers, and a crew of about 520. The first class dining saloon (with accommodation for 370 sitters), the first class ladies' room, the first class smoke room, and the first class writing room are all decorated in the Louis XVI. style; the first class lounge in the Empire style, and the swimming bath in the Pompeiian style, while there are also a first class card room, a verandah cafe, a children's room, an electric bath, a splendid entrance hall and ladies' and gentlemen's hairdressing rooms — these and all the staterooms being furnished and decorated in the most comfortable and tasteful manner. The vessel is propelled by two sets of Curtis-Parsons turbines, driving twin screws through Fottinger hydraulic transformer gear, indicating about 18,000 s.h.p., and giving the vessel a service speed of 17 knots. Steam is supplied by 14 water tube boilers each fitted with three furnaces, and having a working pressure of 240 lbs. The vessel is an oil burner.

Since 1886 the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Pacific Steamships have been making record after record on the Pacific and are now many miles in the lead of other steamship and transporation concerns operating on the Pacific.

The year 1887 saw the establishment of a regular trans-Pacific service, with three chartered steamships, the Batavia, the Parthia, and the Abyssinia. The latter's first outbound cargo consisted of 40 tons of freight. Three years later, in July, 1890, the Canadian Pacific concluded a contract with the British Government providing for a small subsidy of £60,000 a year, with the services of three twin-screw steamships between Vancouver, Japan, and China. To fulfil the terms of this contract, the Empress of India, the Empress of China, and the Empress of Japan were specially built. These steamers were of about six thousand tons each, gross register, and began their work in 1891.

With the arrival of the Empress of Australia, the company inaugurates a service whereby a steamer will leave Vancouver every two weeks for the Orient.

	Tons.
Empress of Canada	22,500
Empress of Australia	21,400
Empress of Asia	16,907
Empress of Russia	16,810
Empress of Japan	5,940

In Praise of Smoky London

There is some soul of good in all things evil, and the smoke of London does produce atmospheric effects which a purer air would deny. More than that, the sooty fall has a wonderful and merciful effect in toning down crudities of color and in subduing what is garish and vulgar to a sober monotone. If it hides much that ought to be seen, it also hides much that were better concealed; and it will be long before London has not much to conceal.—London Morning Post.

Talkers and Men of Action

The idea that every difficulty can be solved if only we talk about it enough has no foundation. The glib tongue is not always associated with the wisest brain, the sanest judgment and the greatest honesty of purpose. Talking only too frequently brings to the fore the least useful types of men. The prospect of peace as between the two essential partners, Capital and Labor, rests in confidence the one in the other, which can be produced only by mutual understanding.—London Daily Telegraph.

Sheer Lunacy

We can find no other explanation—except sheer lunacy—for the present orgy of destruction. Sooner or later, however, the most ignorant peasant who loots a shop or cuts a railway must face the inexorable fact that he has done the thing at his own expense. The last penny of the already huge bill for devastation must be paid by the Irish taxpayer. High taxes spell high prices, languishing industry, widespread unemployment. Every new day of civil warfare will be responsible for its tale of emigrants and paupers.—Weekly Irish Times.

THE SETTLERS FOR CANADA

More than average interest is being taken in the British press on the question of the kind of settlers that Canada wants. Some correspondents, who claim to know Western Canada, say that European peasants are preferred in this part of the Dominion to Englishmen. One correspondent, a Westerner, rebuts this statement and with emphasis. He points out that the recent Winnipeg riots would not have been possible were it not for the large mass of sheep-like foreigners that agitators of various kinds found ready to their hand. He says that it was precisely because Canada has enough of these people that the Immigration Laws have been drastically stiffened during recent years. The endeavor to create the impression that the average Englishman is not a success as a settler on the land in this country is still persisted in for reasons which, in some cases, are obvious. The plain facts of the situation go far to disprove all assertions to this effect. The British Empire Loyalists, the best settlers that this country ever received were in their origins drawn from South of England stock, and to-day many of the most successful pioneers, professionals and business men in Western Canada are Englishmen and others of the British race.

What Western Canada wants is men of the British race with a little capital and willing to work. There is already by far too large a leavening in the mass of the Western population, of foreigners who tolerate but only superficially respect, our laws, and who are always found in the thick of labor disturbances as well as, proportionately speaking, constituting the chief criminal element in the country. It is no secret that while Summer after Summer the Prairies have to import labor from other parts of the Dominion for the harvesting the Western cities contain many foreigners who refuse to do this work. In the Winter, however, they are not averse to taking the Government doles as being numbered among the unemployed.

We cannot have too many agencies at work in this country to prevent the viewpoint gaining ground that the European peasant is the only type of settler Canada wants. What is needed is a Canada of the Anglo-Saxon race. The touchstone of the country's greatness is not its material wealth, but the manner in which its manhood measures up to its responsibility in a time of crisis. The Great War, and Canada's part in it, should have taught this country a useful lesson regarding an immigration policy for the future. The foreigners of the Prairies contributed little or nothing towards the record of Canada in arms. The great bulk of them live in a segregated way and as a mass are not assimilating with our people, yet the problem of their presence only looms up intermittently, but if that problem is to be accenuated by encouraging European peasants and artisans to come in, in preference to British settlers, we may rest assured this country is bound to be confronted with racial difficulties which it may take a good deal more than legislative wisdom to solve.

CANCER AND COOKING

In a special repart to the Borough of Poplar on cancer, its cause and prevention, Dr. Frederick W. Alexander, medical officer, states that during the last fifty years cancer has shown an extraordinary increase per head of population, annd that all over the world cancer has steadily increased with the intensity of human progress, says a report in the London Telegraph. Cancer is said to be rare, and sometimes almost absent, in primitive, uncivilized peoples. Dr. Alexander attributes much of the trouble to wrong methods of cooking. Vegetables, for instance, he says, should be steamed, not boiled.

Cancer in its most common form, he says, is caused by a deficiency of potassium salts in the body. This deficiency is due to improper cooking methods, allowing as they do, the potassium, the essential constituent of bodily tissue, to escape down the drain, instead of being retained for the table. More than 3,000 persons have died of cancer in Poplar during the past twenty-one years, and every year 40,000 deaths from the disease are registered in England and Wales. Cancer seems to be hereditary in some families only because wrongful cooking methods are perpetuated. Similarly, some houses get a name as "cancer houses,'" whereas only the kitchen is to blame.

As to what we drink, Dr. Alexander quotes the late Dr. F. W. Forbes Ross as follows: "The civilized man, with the exception of water and natural beers and stout, has adopted a form of fluid refreshment totally and absolutely devoid of potassium salts —distilled alcholic spirits containing no potassium, Natural fruit wines and beverages, such as cider, cherry, meads, lemonade, and fruit drinks generally, as well as yeasted ginger beer, are richer in potassium than the finest whisky or brandy money could buy. Cancer becomes more and more prevalent as time goes on, and appears to keep pace in direct ratio to 'improvements' introduced in the preparation of articles of food and drink."

"Thanks to Tanlac, however, I am now feeling as well as I ever did in my life."

FERNIE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Playing in a knock-out game for the championship of East Kootenay, the Fernie Senior Baseball Team defeated Kimberley, winners of the western section, by a score of two runs to one, in one of the fastest and best games witnessed here this season. Both Ault for Fernie and McKenzie for Kimberley were in rampant form, both pitchers showing wonderful control, and curiously enough the only walk of the game, when McKenzie walked McTeer in the fourth, resulted in that player scoring the winning run. Over 1,000 spectators witnessed the game.

Last week we stated that a series of home and home games were to be played to decide this championship, but it turned out to be a sudden death game owing to Kimberley disbanding their team on account of one or two of their players, including their pitcher, having to fulfil further engagemnts that could not possibly be deferred. Consequently this game decides the issue and Fernie will be flying the League Pennant for the next season. However, on Sunday next the Fernie team journeys to Wycliffe to fulfill a return engagement with the lumber town team.

The umpiring of the game was ably handled by Adamson and Hughes and not once was any of their decisions questioned by players of the respective teams. The only incident to marr the game was when Adamson sustained a nasty gash on the nose from a foul tip, which bent a point of the mask back against it, causing the wound. The Fernie team is more than pleased with the support accorded them in this game, when they realized $275 from booster tags.

TO VOTE ON SCHOOL BYLAW

On Tuesday, Sept. 26, a bylaw authorizing the city council to borrow the sum of $32,000 for the purpose of constructing a four room addition to the Central School building will be submitted to the ratepayers. This matter of providing school accommodation has been a live question in this city for far too long a time, and only by tenacious energy and masterly management has the school board succeeded in temporarily surmounting this ever increasing aggravated problem.

Time and time again the citizens and ratepayers have been made acquainted with the urgent necessity of meeting this situation fairly and squarely, but it would appear there are always those who would seek to cloud the issue and selfishly prefer to measure out children's future welfare as a cold proposition of dollars and cents.

In the present instance there seems to be those who, basing their views on an economic ground, advocate the construction of what are termed "cottage schools," rather than an extension to the Central School building. In fairness to the propounders of this theory it possibly should not be classified as of the "red herring" variety, inasmuch as it contains the admission "Fernie must provide greater accommodation for housing its school population." Nevertheless, there is always grave danger from these catch phrase suggestions and the only way to reach a reasonably satisfactory conclusion is to give both sides of a question some analytical comparison.

The term "cottage school" is quaint and pleasing, because it at once pictures to the mind a cosy little frame school house, thereby recalling fond memories of the fading past. It at once conveys the impression that "here is a substitute for our needs and is far less expensive than the majestic appearing modern school institutions." On the mere surface the man on the street would hastily say, "Cottage schools are adequate in limited centres of population such as this," but if given a little closer scrutiny and careful thought the ultimate conclusion will be the reverse and it will be realized that the establishment of cottage schools here in Fernie is naught but the recurrence of the "penny wise" principle.

The school board, with the figures before them in regard to the West Fernie and Annex schools (which are good examples of cottage schools) with which they have become very familiar, having had experience over a number of years, are able to estimate fairly closely the difference in cost of erection and maintenance, and as to efficiency of cottage schools as opposed to the Central School extension idea. The following comparative data is, in the opinion of the Fernie school board, an accurate and fair compilation of costs as affecting the city of Fernie over a period of 20 years:

Addition to Central School—Four rooms—

Initial cost of building	$33,000.00
Site
Equipment, debenture loss and contingencies	10,000.00
	$43,000.00
Less Govt. grant, one third of building only	11,000.00
	$32,000.00
Upkeep for insurance, heating, repairs and janitor	16,064.00
Cost of repeating pupils, 18 per cent	23,040.00
	$71,104.00
Less value of school and equipment at end of 20 years, say	25,000.00
	$46,104.00
Interest and sinking fund difference between $32,000 and $26,424 (end 20 yrs.)	10,371.00
Net cost 4-room addition	$56,475.00

Two Cottage Schools—Two rooms each:

Initial cost of buildings	$16,000.00
Two sites, four lots each, absolutely essential	5,000.00
Equipment, debenture loss and contingencies	9,700.00
Additional equipment unnecessary in addition	1,057.00
	$31,757.00
Less Govt. grant, one third of building only	5,333.00
	$26,424.00
Upkeep for insurance, heating, repairs and janitor	39,640.00
Cost of repeating pupils, 32 per cent	40,960.00
	$107,024.00
Less value of schools and equipment at end of 20 years, say	13,000.00
Net cost two 2-room schools in 20 years	$94,024.00

It is well to note that if the cottage school system were adopted it would mean that suitable sites would have to be purchased, as placing such cottage schools on the present central school site would materially destroy the playground facilities, which even now are somewhat inadequate, although the proposed addition to the present building will not affect the playgrounds to the same extent.

Perhaps an explanation should be made with regard to the item in the foregoing comparative statement — "Cost of Repeating Pupils." The actual cost to the board for each pupil enrolled in our public schools is $40.00 per year. When a pupil fails on examination for promotion in any grade it means in addition to the loss of time to the pupil, the per capita loss to the board, and in all educational institutions the teaching staffs have to be augmented to meet this situation. School statistics in Fernie and throughout the province clearly show there are more failures in cottage schools than under the graded district or ward schooling system. A forcible example by way of comparison in this branch is demonstrated by the fact that in one large city in this province, since it through sheer necessity has built cottage schools, the percentage of failures jumped to 32 per cent, as compared with 18 before adopting the system, and its school standing is this year among the lowest in the province. Hence the wide difference in cost as shown in the above figures for repeating pupils if we introduce cottage schools in Fernie.

DANCE TO AID LIBRARY

The Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. are holding a dance on Tuesday evening Oct. 17, for the purpose of raising funds for very justifiable purposes. One half of the proceeds will be retained by the I.O.D.E. for distribution as that worthy organization deems fit and the remaining half will be devoted to the support of the Fernie Public Library.

The public library during recent months has failed to make satisfactory progress owing to lack of funds. This institution is something that is a credit to the city and deserves a ready response to its moderate appeals for financial aid. Now it is even more imperative than ever that the modest sum of $300 be forthcoming to enable the library to carry on during the coming winter. This amount is used for the payment of running expenses, including rent, light, etc., freight charges on books and to purchase new books. An opportunity will be available to everyone who desires to become a member to secure membership tickets at the I.O.D.E. dance, when they may be had at the following rates: Adults, $2 per annum; juveniles up to 14 years or high school students, $1 per annum.

Membership carries with it the privilege of selecting two books at a time—one non-fiction and the other may be fiction, and these may be exchanged an unlimited number of times during the year.

SAFETY FIRST

"Safety First," is good maxim in most things, but particularly so in relation to the investment of money. The rich may afford to speculate and to take the risks attendant on high rates of interest. Those whose means are moderate must be careful to see that there is absolute security in their investments. For such people there is no other form of investment which takes such a high rank, combining absolute security with liberal interest, as the bonds the Dominion of Canada. Holders of Dominion bonds bearing five and a half per cent, maturing December 1, 1922, can re-invest their money at the same rate of interest by exchanging the old bonds for new ones running for either five years or ten years, as the bondholder may prefer. Arrangements for carrying out this exchange can be made through all the chartered banks.

ENFORCING LIQUOR ACT

The activities of the Liquor Control Board in the enforcement of the Act in the southern portion of the province of late have apparently been directed towards the export houses, as evidenced by the prosecutions at Creston and Yahk, where the officers of the dry squad secured evidence resulting in convictions of the charge of selling liquor. At Creston the firm known as the Dominion Export Co. were charged with selling some three bottles of Scotch whiskey and two pints of bourbon to two men ostensibly from Bonners' Ferry, Idaho. As these two men were leaving the premises of the firm accompanied by its manager, two officers of the Liqoor Control Board took them into costody. Returning to the office of the export house, a search of the two parties from the U.S. disclosed the liquor, while a search of the manager disclosed money in his possession which had been previously marked and the numbers upon which corresponded with a list handed over to the local provincial police prior to the arrest and search. The magistrate found there had been a sale contrary to the Act and imposed a fine of $1000 and costs. The stock of liquors of this company was seized at the time of the transaction and a charge laid that they were being held for the purpose of sale contrary to the Act. The value of this stock was given at about $25,000. The Crown sought to secure a conviction on this charge inasmuch as this would carry with it an order for the forfeiture of the goods. In this they were unsuccessful, as Magistrate Mallandaine held that the Crown failed to establish that the entire stock was being kept for other than export purposes, and that the evidence of the two small local sales in his opinion was not sufficient ground for ordering confiscation. J. W. deB. Farris, of Vancouver, acted for the company, while A. I. Fisher represented the Crown.

The Yahk case was against the Fernie Liquor Exporters, Ltd., Branch No. 1. This company did, through its manager, Ben Riley, sell a case of Sandy Macdonald Scotch whiskey to one A. G. Ferguson, an officer of the Liquor Board. Riley pleaded guilty through counsel, A. B. Macdonald, K.C., of Vancouver, and was assessed $1000 and costs. In this case there was no charge laid that the stock, valued at about $1000, was being kept for sale. Mr. Fisher appeared for the Crown in this case.

HOOT MON !

Name—Alexander Watson.
Address—Fernie, B.C.
Classification—Banker.

Up in Fernie they call him "Sandy." He's a Scotchman and therefore a banker. Sandy is chairman of the Fernie delegation.

Sandy has three diversions: In the summer he plays golf (they say he swings a mean brassie); when winter weather compels him to cast aside his mashie and putter, Sandy takes up curling; lastly, no matter what the time or weather may be, he is a musician.

Although he is strong for his kilts and bagpipes, he is a finished violinist. (No, Lassie, not a fiddler, but a regular violinist).

It is rumored that among his assortment of golf sticks, he has brought to Spokane his bagpipes and violin. His currrling brrrom he left at home. It's no' the season.—Spokane Rotary Hub.

RECEPTION TO HON. DR. KING

(Cranbrook Courier)

The entertainment consisted of a musical program interspersed with short addresses in reply to calls from the chair and refreshments of coffee and sandwiches. After well chosen remarks as to the importance to the district of having a minister at Ottawa representing the locality and the opportunity this gives to bring to bear on the powers that be a number of local problems, the chairman called on Mr. Spreull as president of the Associated boards of trade of East Kootenay.

Other speakers were Supt. Flett of the C.P.R., who in course of his remarks was very optimistic as to the future prospects in business and development in the province. Mr. Robson of Spruce Mills, and Mr. Wallinger who among other things mentioned the past good work of Dr. King as a constant booster for East Kootenay and expressed his certainty that we could still look to the doctor in his enlarged sphere to continue the same good work.

The Hon. Dr. King, on rising to address the meeting was given a hearty reception and during his talk gave evidence of a strong desire to keep his home district in the front of his mind through his work. He felt that times in B.C. and the Dominion and that real progress was due in the immediate future. The new road from Calgary to the Windermere would be officially opened next Dominion day and the district was going to be called upon to prepare for a very large increase in tourist traffic that was bound to react in interest in our many resources, all of which would help the district.

The evening was pleasantly broken by music, Mr. Knight of the Cranbrook Drug and Book Co., and Mr. Hindman, secretary to Dr. King, contributing vocal solos and Mr. Vincent Fink, on violin and Mr. J. K. Chorlton on cello adding greatly to a thoroughly pleasant evening.

FAILURES OF KING GOV'T

Mr. King and The Strike

OTTAWA—Mr. King, during the Nova Scotia strike, gave forth a daily explanation of the presence of federal soldiers in the Cape Breton mine fields. Mr. King has made an issue of "responsibility" for the despatch of soldiers to the mine. No one defends the attempt to destroy the mines by the withdrawal of pumpers to keep the mines from being flooded and if necessary to prevent this their despatch would be as readily supported by sane labor as by organized capital. Soldiers were despatched, but on whose demand? Mr. King says there was an authorized and competent authority for his action in making Cape Breton a military camp. Did the Provincial Government—the supreme authority in such a case—make the demand on Mr. King? Did the municipal authorities of Glace Bay, the centre of the mining industry, ask for military protection? The Provincial Government deny such action. The mayor of Glace Bay protested against the presence of troops as unnecessary and dangerous. Who then made the demand on Mr. King? Who else had authority? Will Mr. King deny that the demand came both directly and indirectly from the British Empire Steel Corporation? Mr. King says that he was forced to send troops under requisition from a constitutional authority. If it was not the Provincial government or the municipal authorities, who was it? So far he has not given to the public a single written request by mail or telegraph from either Premier Murray or the Mayor of Glace Bay. If he had a demand from either, would he not publish them? Mr. King has made "responsibility" an issue. Let him give to the public the correspondence that made it imperative on him to despatch fifteen hundred soldiers to Cape Breton. Let him also show who bears the expense. Expense must be borne by responsibility.

Neither Government or Immigration

In his Toronto speech Premier King declared Canada wanted "less government and more immigration." Statistics show that under Mr. King's regime our immigration has decreased 37 per cent., so that in at least one standard of test, Mr. King has failed and disastrously failed. While every other British Dominion is increasing its British immigration, Canada's has been cut in half. Even from the United States there has been a steady decline since Mr. King took office. Mr. King claims Canada wants less government but no one will believe that this country wants what it has—no government. The present administration are purely office holders, and fearful of office, prefer to rusticate and junket rather than risk power by action. The result is seen in the decrease of immigration, so vital to our welfare as admitted by Mr. King. Since the Liberals came into power there has not been one constructive act in statute, policy or administration. Between letter writing and junketing, they have given Canada so much "less government" as to arrive at "no government."

By-Election Results

By-elections are not bringing much consolation to the Liberal Party . In British Columbia, Cranbrook, the constituency represented by Hon. Mr. King in the Provincial legislature before he came to Ottawa, has gone Conservative by a large majority. Prince Edward Island Liberals with the aid of the Federal government and the promise of a return to the patronage system on the Island government railway could not hold their majorities in recent contests. But it is in Quebec where there have been most significant results. Labelle, a strong Liberal constituency, in reality rejected the Taschereau government candidate. In the general election the Taschereau candidate had a majority of over 800. In the recent by-election the majority was reduced to 400, but so glaring were the irregularities that the result has never been officially announced. Probably never in Canada was such pressure brought to bear upon a constituency to return a Liberal supporter. The Prime Minister and every member of the government were in the constituency. The notorious whiskey ring flooded the riding with booze. Big lumber companies were coerced into government political organizations and it is estimated that over $100,000 was spent to corrupt the electorate. Against such odds the result to the Conservatives was most gratifying and there is yet a strong possibility that the election will be voided. Also in the St. John-Iberville by-election in Quebec, the Liberals received a severe reverse. The machine candidate lost his has deposit. The member elected who owes no party affiliation or assistance to the Liberal government.

The Coal Problem

Premier King is giving the country a "less government" example in meeting the acute coal situation that faces us. This is a national problem and is being met by Mr. King with a series of academic essays. Even the Journal of Commerce, of which Hon. W. S. Fielding is President of the Company although not responsible editor, is constrained to severely criticize the government ineptitude in dealing with the coal problem. Ministers are junketing and the Prime Minister giving the country his "less government" policy from his summer home in the Laurentians while people are wondering where the fuel supply for the winter is to be obtained. The Federal government has dealt with this national problem like other problems by doing nothing. Truly we are getting a taste of the "less government" policy.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

OTTAWA, Sept. 4.—The week has brought no very outstanding events politically, though apparent settlement of the Cape Breton coal miners' strike is good news. Prince Edward Island elections has left the situation in that Legislature unaltered, Conservatives holding five seats as before. J. C. Langlois, who reduced the Liberal majority in Labelle, Quebec, is protesting the return of Desire Lahaie. The by-election for the federal seat of St. John-Iberville created little interest, both candidates having the endorsation of the Liberal organization. The late member, Joseph Demers, was elevated to the bench. Widespread regret is occasioned by the serious illness of Hon. J. A. Stewart, of Perth, M.P., for Lanark, and Minister of Railways in the reorganized Meighan Cabinet last year. Mr. Stewart is in the hospital at Montreal, and latest reports are not as optimistic as his many friends would desire. Mr. Stewart, as an ex-minister, was one of the most active lieutenants of the Opposition Leader last session; his address in criticism of Hon. W. C. Kennedy's railway statement was an exceedingly able effort, showing thorough insight into the technecalities of the department and the national system. He is an energetic representative of his constituency, respected across the floor of the House as an able debater and on his own side holds a high place in the effecetions of Conservatives, at least.

East is east and west is west as far as the price of liquors is concerned. British Columbia Government vendors recently announced a reduction and the Ontario dispensaries have advanced the price. U. S. LABOR DICTATES

Winnipeg, Sept. 16.—Today's Manitoba Free Press says editorially:

"However desirable it be ,from a viewpoint of national pride, that such matters as rates of pay and working conditions upon Canadian railways should be settled upon a purely Canadian basis, this is something which in practice is not attainable while conditions remain as they are. Conditions upon one side of the line affect conditions on the other, and it is the United States end of the combination which dominates the situation by weight of numbers and influence.

"There have been no end of illustrations of this in the past for years. The McAdoo award, in some of its details, was not particularly applicable to Canadian conditions, but it was applied with rigid regularity. We have no need to look further than news in yesterday's paper to see how inseparable are the American and Canadian railway policies. A Chicago dispatch reported the presence in that city of R. J. Tallon, head of the Canadian shopmen, in consultation with B. M. Jewell, the head of the American strike, and the policy committee representing the striking shopmen. The dispatch says: 'Mr. Tallon told the executive of their (that is the Canadian) strike vote against a reduction in wages. He assured the council, however, that no strike call would be issued until some definite action had been taken by the policy committee. Issuance of the call, Mr. Tallon later told reporters, would depend almost entirely on the action decided upon by the committee of ninety.

"The Board of Conciliation in Canada held that it had been called into being not to settle a permanent wage dispute but to decide whether under the circumstances prevailing railways were justified in putting a reduction in effect tentatively pending the fixing of permanent rates, and they found, by a majority report, that the railways were justified. They advise the direct opening of negotiations between the railways and men looking to permanent schedules and yesterday dispatches reported Mr. Murdock's hopefulness that this would be done. It may be open to question whether there will be any outcome to these negotiations in advance of the settlement of the similar dispute in the United States. Neither the Canadian railways or the Canadian shopmen will take the chance of prejudicing the case of their allies across the line. Whether as Canadians we like it or not, we cannot get away from the fact that in these matters we are an adjunct of our great neighbor and must remain so for at least as long a period as the practice of making the railway orders international in their scope continues.

"Meanwhile the difference between the conditions in the United States and in Canada is that there the men, pending new negotiations, are at work, whereas in the United States they are on strike, not over the question of wages, be it remembered, but on the issue of seniority, which has not arisen in Canada. The circumstances would seem to preclude the need of a strike in Canada; and it is to be hoped that the policy committee in Chicago, which appears to have the final say in this Canadian matter, will take this view of it.'"

The following extract from an article in an American paper on its home town has a local application: "Do our school children know their city? Do all the adult citizens know it? Do they know its location, its form of government, its officials and their duties, its population, its schools its churches, its transportation facilities by land and water, its tributary resources, its industries—what is manufactured and where sold—its public buildings, its taxes and how expended, its street and sidewalk mileage and cost, its health conditions, its source of food supply, its protection against fire and waste, its fraternal organizations and the general spirit animating the people? Are the school children taught that it is 'our city?' Do all of the parents and adults speak of it as 'our city?' and speak of it with pride?"

Rheumatism is thing of past he states

The successful treatment of rheumatism by taking Tanlac is one of the outstanding features of that remarkable medicine. Thousands of people everywhere have testified that it has brought them complete relief from this tortuous disease. Mr. J. Prentice, formerly of the Princess Patricia Battalion, residing at 1025 Pender St., West, Vancouver, B.C., says:

"When I came home from France I had rheumatism all over my body. I couldn't put on my coat without help and some times couldn't close my hands. My knees were stiff and my ankles were swollen twice their normal size.

"Tanlac completely restored me and I have gained ten pounds in weight."

When the digestive system, liver and kidneys are not working properly, uric acid and other impurities accumulate in the muscles and joints, causing rheumatism. Tanlac quickly overcomes this condition by enabling the vital organs to perform their function properly. Get a bottle today, at any good druggist.

THIRTY YEARS SUCCESSFUL FARMING

In a period when the profession of farming is more or less stagnant, when the tendency in so many countries is from rural districts to the cities and industrial centres, and the oft-made complaint is that the ardors of deprivations of an agricultural life are not commensurate with its compensations, it is consoling to read the history of a satisfied farmer of thirty years' standing, one of the continent's premier agriculturists, celebrating his seventieth birthday in the tranquil satisfaction of the honors which have come to him in his chosen profession.

Such a man is Samuel Larcombe, of Birtle, Manitoba, who expresses pride in the realization of the signal part he has played in making the possibilities of Western Canada known to the world.

The record of Mr. Larcombe's thirty years of farming is almost phenomenal. In that period, with the products of his Manitoba farm, he has carried off no less than three thousand prizes, including the world's championship for wheat at the Peoria International Fair in 1917, and the sweepsteak for the best individual farmer's exhibit as well as the sweepsteak for wheat in the dry-farming section at the World's Soil Products exhibition in Kansas in 1918. His Canadian successes constitute an aggregate which gives him an average over his farming years of one hundred prizes per year.

Born in a little Devon village and for ten years following the pursuit of market gardner, Mr. Larcombe's experience forms a further addition to the examples of outstanding success achieved by immigrants from the British Isles, unacquainted with Western conditions. He came to Winnipeg in 1889 and proceeded to Birtle, where even then existed a thriving colony of old country farmers. After a year's experience as hired man with a farmer in the district, he rented a farm, which, after five years he purchased and still occupies.

At a time when everyone was engrossed in wheat he concentrated not so much on grains as on vegetables. His first local exhibit won three prizes, and in his first ten years of farming he made forty entries and secured 134 awards. From 1905 to 1908 he grew roots, vegetables and grain for the Canadian Pacific Railway for exhibition purposes in other countries, and produced citrons, cucumbers, pumpkins, squash and marrows for the Dominion Government for the same purpose.

Mr. Larcombe's career as an exhibitor has been one consistent succession of triumphs too lengthy to mention in detail. His international successes have brought considerable renown to Western Canada and widely advertised the wonderful possibilities of intelligent farming with assiduous application. Mr. Larcombe recently celebrated his seventieth birthday on the farm which has been the scene of every one of his achievements. He can look back over his thirty years of agricultural life in Manitoba with supreme satisfaction in the knowledge that in winning renown and prosperity for himself he has pointed the way to thousands of his fellow-countrymen.

A DELICIOUS topping for fruits, jellies, puddings, salads—any dish with which whipped cream is desirable—is made by whipping Carnation, the full cream evaporated milk. The accompanying recipe tells you how.

Whip Carnation for use in a score of ways. It is much more economical than plain cream. Serve it on berries, on stewed fruits, on pies. Add it to each cup of coffee after creaming it with Carnation undiluted.

Always remember that Carnation is doubly rich. For use as ordinary milk reduce it one-half with water. Always absolutely pure, always wholesome, always safe, it is the housewife's dependable, economical milk supply. Order a half dozen tins from your grocer today. Don't accept less than the best.

Recipe for Whipping Carnation

Place a tin in water and heat to boiling. Remove promptly and chill thoroughly on ice or in cold water. Open can and pour contents into chilled bowl set in cracked ice. When fully chilled add little lemon juice and whip with egg beater for five minutes. Sweeten and flavor if desired. Serve immediately.

A FRUIT SALAD DRESSING YOU SHOULD USE

Take ½ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 teaspoon sugar; ½ teaspoon mustard; 1 cup whipped Carnation. Mix first four ingredients, then add Carnation slowly. Serve on any fruit salad.

FERNIE TAKES RAGGED GAME

On Sunday last, Fernie, with a couple of the White Spruce players on the line-up and two Cranbrook men replacing players pleasure bent, journeyed to Wycliffe and engaged the lumber town team, strengthened with three Kimberley players, in an exhibition game. After over two hours of ragged playing by both sides, Fernie carried off the honors by a score of seven to four.

Fernie, taking advantage of Wycliffe's erratic fielding, scored three runs in the first inning. In the fifth, a walk and some timely hitting, when they scored three more runs, earned their only two runs of the game. In the seventh they added one more and brought their total up to seven, and, although at times playing listless ball, they were able to hold Wycliffe scoreless. Ault, who up to the seventh had only allowed two hits, was given poor support during the closing stages of the game when eight of Fernie's nine errors occured, and Wycliffe secured their four runs, two each in the seventh and eighth innings, of which only one was of the earned variety.

Fernie was without the services of second-baseman Archie Dunlap, who, we are sorry to state, entered the hospital on the Friday previous to undergo an operation for appendicitis. The boys all join in wishing him speedy recovery.

Game Next Sunday

Next Sunday, Sept. 17th, the two teams will again clash, this time on the Fernie diamond in the City Park. Wycliffe is endeavoring to field a team that will defeat Ault and will have further strengthened their team by securing, we believe, the Wardner pitcher. We do not know what the Fernie line-up will be, but Manager Ault, no doubt, will place a good team behind himself and endeavor to keep up his string of victories. The game will start sharp at 2.30 and Booster Tags will be the same as for the championship game: 50c for Adults and 25c for children .

MINISTER CHIDES LABOR RADICALS

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 5.—When opening the annual fair of the Belleville Agricultural Society today, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, condemned the radicals in the ranks of labor.

Labor, said the Minister, could sacrifice in a few months what it has taken years of struggle to attain, and he pleaded to labor men not to hazard everything by following a few enthusiastic men. He told labor men what he thought was a living wage. It was what enabled a man to rear his family decently and put away a little against emergency. A living wage was not a living wage, he said, until it conceded these things. He pointed out how in the Western coal strike, through the lack of getting together, men and mineowners had lost months of labor. The operators had served notice of a 40 per cent reduction and the men of a demand for a 25 per cent increase. It was found that neither expected to gain, but they followed a policy which they thought was right, but was misguided.

Canada, he claimed, was practically free from serious labor troubles, this being due to the common sense of most employers and their sense of justice.

BOTH QUALITY AND FLAVOR

Mrs. Eleanor Fletcher says that she cannot speak too highly of the quality of Pacific Milk, and would use it if it were double the price it is now.

She mentions that under our old method it was, by far, the best for cooking purposes and she did not believe it could be improved, but "you have done the impossible," given 43% of rich cream and really improved the flavor as well.

In the absence of the Fernie senior ball team at Wycliffe Sunday afternoon, the Fernie Odd Fellows accepted a challenge from the Michel Odd Fellows and the two teams met in battle royal at Fernie diamond. Fernie soon demonstrated that they had something to show Michel in the baseball line and took the lead in the first innings, and were never headed the score at the finish being 13 to 8. The feature of the game was in the first innings when Joe Langdon of the Fernie team scored a home run without ever hitting the ball. With two strikes on him he took a swipe at the next ball pitched. He missed it, so did the catcher and Joe headed for first. A wild throw let him go to second and, keeping going, another wild heave to third scored him. After the game the Fernie Odd Fellows entertained the visitors to dinner at the Northern Hotel, and were assured that Michel would keep up baseball practice and that the Fernie team would have to travel some to win in the next meeting.

A.—Paralysis is a shutting off of motor power. The Chiropractor adjusts the cause of the obstruction and the life current or power is restored.

Q.—Can you "CURE" my disease?

A.—Let it be understood, once for all, that Chiropractors do not cure, heal, or treat diseases, but by scientific adjustments they correct the cause of disease and thereby open the way for Nature to restore normal healthy conditions to the body.

STANDS SELF-CONDEMNED

In the course of a letter to this newspaper on the subject of "Liquor Finances," Premier Oliver says: "As to the employment of 'stool pigeons' and 'spotters,' if you know of any way in which the statute can be enforced without the utilization of this means of obtaining evidence, you will certainly confer a benefit upon the public by advising as to the methods which might better be employed." The duty of enforcing statutes lies with those who draw up legislation and put it on the statute books, and this is eminently the case where all criminal laws are concerned. The method of enforcement in the matter of experimental legislation is likely enough to be subjected to criticism, and where "stool pigeons" are utilized for the enforcement of the Liquor Control Act, we repeat that the practice is repulsive to the public sense of decency and is unworthy of any government within the Empire. We might reiterate what Lord Shaw of Dunfermline said anent this practice during his recent visit here. "Any kind of discovery of crime which consists in the conniving at the perperation of crime, stands self-condemned."

We have too great a respect for Premier Oliver to believe that in his heart of hearts he condones the employment of "stool pigeons." His request for a suggestion as to an alternative method may illustrate his anxiety to put a ban on a reprehensible practice. Although it is not the duty of any newspaper which has had nothing to do with the framing of a law—and which does not exist for such a purpose—to propose how that law should be administered, we accept the Premier's invitation to propose a legitimate alternative to the employment of "stool pigeons." If the Provincial Government will co-operate with the Federal Government and summon to its aid the services of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police now located in British Columbia, we venture to believe that infinitely more can be accomplished in reducing violations of the Liquor Act than can ever be hoped for through the medium of despicable agencies working in a clandestine way. The forces of law and order are recognized and, when efficient, and properly employed, they are the safeguards against the spread of crime.

The evidence of "stool pigeons" is received with dubiety in every court of the land. The reason for this is obvious. Their practices stand self-condemned in the eyes of the law and the interpretation of law is the duty of our courts, not of a government. There is ample legitimate police protection available in British Columbia to enforce every law on our statute books if it will only be employed. We are reverting to the methods of the Inquisition and the dark ages when it is considered necessary to hire myrmidons to connive at the perpetration of crime in order that crime may be discovered. We say such methods are unworthy of any enlightened government, and we believe that Premier Oliver's well-known sense of decency and his belief in fair play will lead him to wipe away this blot from one of the departments which comes within the aegis of his rule.—Victoria Colonist.

NEW MOON MAKES FISH FEEL SAVAGE

PARIS—French fishing circles just now are arguing with much heat the question of how much effect the moon has on fishing, since a few days ago an old-time poacher, who claims to live by nothing else but fishing, produced a diary purporting to show that at various periods of the moon fish were more plentiful than at others, and the catch was more certain. The poacher says he has the record for the last thirty years to prove that fish bite better during the new moon than at any other period. Every day is a good day for fishing during the new moon, the fourth and fifth days being the best days and from midnight until 3 p.m. being the best hours, according to this authority.

During the first quarter of the moon the sixth and seventh days are best, the biting being good all through the day. During the period of the full moon the seventh is the best from noon until nighafall. The second day is exceptionally bad for the fishermen.

The last quarter of the moon is the worst period of all, with not a single good day recorded, alhtough it is shown that on the seventh day the fishing is fairly good in the afternoon.

Railway News

Montreal.—The Canadian Pacific line announces several appointments to positions in the British Isles and Europe. They are as follows: William Stewart, to be Glasgow passenger agent, with his office at 25 Bothwell Street, Glasgow; J. H. Webb, destined for the post of passenger agent at Southampton, and A. L. Rawlinson, slated for Antwerp, where he will take charge of the passenger offices.

Sudbury.—Tuesday, August 8th, was the dawn of a new day in Northern Ontario railroading, when between seventy-five and eighty officers and employees of the C. P. R. gathered in Sudbury and organized what will be known as the Algoma District Employees' Association of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Every branch of the service, from general superintendent down, was represented. The object of the new association is to meet at regular intervals to discuss all subjects vital to the better serving of the public, and thereby be of greater service to Canada, and naturally, the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Banff.—The American Bar Association, travelling east from its recent convention at San Francisco, spent two days in the Canadian Rockies. The party travelled in two special trains over the Canadian Pacific and Soo Line to Chicago, where it dissolved.

Several notable citizens of the United States were among the party, there being Vice-President Coolidge, his wife and two sons; John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, and John W. Whitman, former governor of New York State. The party expressed delight at the wonderful grandeur of Banff and Lake Louise, where two days were spent.

Montreal.—Despite warnings and the efforts of the railways to prevent them, accidents are occurring at railway crossings. If automobile drivers were a little more cautious they would save themselves a great deal of trouble and save their cars from a great deal of damage. Of course there are some cases where it is difficult to avoid accidents, but most accidents that happen are avoidable. Particulars have just come to hand of an occurrence in New Brunswick:

An Overland automobile, License 12,717 N. B., owned by F. L. Jones, of Perth Junction, and driven by R. Anderson, also of Perth Junction, ran into C. P. R. train No. 152 at the crossing just north of Andover Bridge, N.B. The engine had already passed over the crossing and the auto struck the side of the tender. Mr. Anderson claimed that he did not see or hear the train in time to stop, although his car was going very slowly. The car was considerably damaged, but happily nobody was hurt.

Quebec.—All records were broken at the Chateau Frontenac recently, the hotel being filled to capacity and not a single room being vacant. Many of the passengers who arrived from New York, had to remain on board the steamer for lack of room at the hotel. Tourists from all parts of the States and Canada arrived by motor and the parking ground in front of the Chateau was lined with rows and rows of cars. The Lobby of the hotel was crowded with visitors anxiously waiting for accommodation and in the evening the crowd was greater than ever. The new wing of the Chateau when completed, will undoubtedly be a boon to the city as the additional accommodation thus obtained will satisfy the large demand made on the hotel.

With the advent of the August tourists traffic conditions in Quebec have taken on a new aspect, which has necessitated an extension in the service of the traffic policemen.

Pembroke.—The Canadian Forestry Association's Forest Products Exhibit Car came to Pembroke on the civic holiday, under the management of Mr. Gerald Blyth, assistant secretary of the association, and was visited at its berth in the Canadian Pacific Railway station yard by a large number of interested citizens. The exhibit car contains many novel and interesting models calculated to demonstrate the correct and incorrect method of logging, the result of deforesting the hills, and what happens when camp fires are neglected or burning matches are carelessly thrown away in the dry woods.

One exhibit showing ladies' blouses, stockings and other silk wear made from sulphite pulp attracted considerable attention, and another which interested the visitors greatly showed the various stages in the making of matches. A sign over the latter exhibit pointed out that one tree will make a million matches, but that one match can destroy a million trees. Perhaps the most interesting and attractive model on the car is a large model of a heavily timbered country and a small town close by. When a lever is turned there is a complete transformation. The light goes out and by an arrangement of screens the forest and town are seen to be on fire. This model cost about $1,000 to construct. Another model shows how deforestation causes rivers to flood in spring and dry up in the summer. There is a sprinkler arrangement attached to this.

Beleiving that half a loaf is better than no bread the civic authorities in an Ontario town sell the confiscated underweight bread to poultrymen for chicken feed.

For Mothers—"FRY'S"

For true nourishment in delicious form FRY'S COCOA is supreme. Make it this way and you will find it most appetising and digestible. To 3 good teaspoonfuls of Fry's Cocoa add three spoonfuls of sugar, mix well. Then add one half cup of boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add two cups of boiling water and boil very slowly for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add milk or cream to taste. This will give you Cocoa at its best.

THE FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIETY

Much though some of us may deplore the fact, many of the customs and traditions of the past, customs and traditions and habits upon which the foundations of society appeared to us to rest, are passing away. People of the world are uneasy, restless and dissatisfied. They are groping after some indefinable condition, striving to attain the unattainable—at least thus it appears to some who possibly are becoming old-fashioned in their views regarding the manner in which the affairs of the world should be conducted.

Canadians, we are thankful to observe, are not so much inclined to methods that are nothing short of revolutionary as their neighbors on this continent or even their brethern on the British Isles. There are classes in Great Britain who have gone much farther in their demands upon society than appear to be justifiable to Canadians of sound mature judgment. There the balance of reason only was restored by bitter adversity. In the United States industries still are in a condition of turmoil, brought about by the announced determination of certain elements in the country to maintain the scale of wages that was necessary during the war and which employers declare was artificial and therefore temporary.

Nations are very jealous about the well-being of their citizens or subjects who may be sojourning or doing business in other lands. They boast sometimes about the protecting folds of the flag. Ought they not to be equally careful to preserve the lives and liberties of their people at home? They must be if the state is to endure.—Victoria Colonist.

Postoffice officials note that correspondents are writing much shorter letters than formerly. This conclusion was arrived at after weighing the average letter that goes through the mail. Back in 1907, on the average there were forty pieces of first-class mail in every pound. Now the data show there are forty-five pieces of first-class mail to every pound. The only explanation given is that the feminine habit of adding from one to half a dozen postcripts has been abandoned.

In the matter of color and sheen there will now be little difference between a movie actor's hair and his feet. Patent leather shoes are in vogue again.

LAST WORD IN PSYCHICS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A weird psychic story which eclipses anything in that line put forward by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and his followers, is told in the Times by this world traveller, who is at present contributing passages from his diary to that paper.

Writing from Honolulu, he says: Soon after leaving the Hawaiian Islands, the flower of the North Pacific, the captain of our good ship, the Makura, showed me a letter that had reached him at Honolulu. It contained a sequel to the most singular story in the region of psychic things that ever I heard or imagned.

Honolulu itself had taken us back to "the golden days of good Haroun al-Roshchid," surprised us with its wonders, but the captain's letter touched a remoter date, a more surprising miracle. The facts of it are now being more fully investigated by a great archaeologist, and the details will, in the sequel, it is probable, be published; but I can not refrain from giving the opening chapers.

A British lady—Mr.B.—who lives with her family in one of the Pacific islands, where here grandfather was a missionery, has received within the last few years strange communicatons from persons who lived in distant lands and a remote century. Last summer she was a passenger on the Makura, and the captain of our ship, hearing some rumor of her "psychic" powers, asked her if she would care to make an experiment before him. She agreed to try, and one day she sat down at his desk with a pen in her hand, and while the captain and her husband sat together looking at a book on Samoa, she waited for her hand to be directed, without any greater concentration than, say, the wireless operator exercises when he prepares to receive a message.

After a little while she ejaculated, "What a nuisance! I have got back to this eastern writing." Lately on several occasions, she had found herself writing a strange script—it is largely in straight lines — which vaguely suggested to her and others something eastern. After writing for some twenty minutes she gave the manuscript to the captain, who determined to seek an interpretator and probe the mystery. The first people he showed it to were some Indians, who had come on affairs to Fiji, but they could make nothing of it. When the captain reported his failure to Mrs. B. she expressed disappointment, adding, "I suppose there was nothing in it."

A little later, in November last, Professor G., one of the great archaeologists of the world, was a passenger on the ship, and the MSS, were shown to him, without comment. He at once poured out excited questions, and then gave his surprising verdict. The writing was a very good example of "hieratics," which was the popular form of the hieroglyphics used by the priests. It prevailed up to about 5000 B. C. in Asia Minor. Only a handful of people now alive can read the script, and the professor did not think that anyone could have written the document in the short time taken by Mr. B.

The message began by thanking the lady for having got into communicaton, and went on to describe how differently people travelled now and then, giving a quaint picture of the contrasted motions of a camel and a ship. At the end, an accurate description was given of the scene in the captain's cabin and of the state of sky and sea.

The letter of which I spoke as being delivered to the captain at Honolulu contained a further communication in the same script, and this, too, is going to the professor for translation. He is also, with the help of his books, accurately and in detail translating the first MS. I have seen the second MS., and heard the story, with the full names of the people concerned, and give it for what it is worth. The evidence has been sifted in a scientific spirit and none of the three, in any sense of the phrase, is professionally psychic—neither the professor, who is a man of science, nor the captain, who is a Scottish New Zealander, nor the lady, who is the mother of a considerable family, and depreciates any claim to supernatural powers. She certainly has no conscious knowledge whatever of heiratics.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., referred to J. J. Morrison, secretary of the U. F. O. as "that common old soul with a bald head." Now she charges Premier Drury with trying to take his scalp.

QUEBEC'S NEWEST MONUMENT

TO the many artistic monuments to be seen in the city of Quebec, out of which those of Champlain on the Terrace and Mgr. de Laval in front of the Post Office, are not the least, another will soon be added which will be of no ordinary interest, as it will be erected to the memory of one of the greatest personalities in the contemporary history of French Canada. Cardinal Elzéar Alexandre Taschereau, the first Canadian to become member of the Holy College of Rome, will shortly have his statue in his good old Quebec, the city he loved and cared for during his lifetime, and upon which was reflected so much of the glory he gathered by his rapid ascent in the hierarchy of the Catholic Church. Cardinal Taschereau was appointed to that high state in 1886 and he died in 1897. He was succeeded by Mgr. Begin, who was later awarded the scarlet robes of office.

It had long been the earnest desire of the citizens of Quebec to have the memory of their beloved cardinal recalled in a more material fashion, and for that purpose a public subscription had been organized some time ago to defray the cost of such a memorial. When sufficient funds had been collected, a contest in which many noted sculptors from America and the old world participated, was held, and from the models submitted by these artists, a committee selected the design of the Statue which will later be unveiled on the Place de la Basilique, in front of the famous old temple of Quebec.

Its author is a French sculptor of renown, Mr. André Vermare of Paris, who has been engaged in making many of France's best known monuments erected in recent years. One of them recalling the fame of the "Blue Devils," the celebrated Alpine regiment of France, stands on the summit of Guetwiller and is much admired.

Shortly after the decision of the committee was made known, Mr. André Vermare landed in Quebec with Mr. Maxime Roisin, the architect who is going to design the pedestal of the Taschereau memorial. Mr. Roisin, also, has attained a great reputation in his country as a master of his art. His last work of importance is probably the triumphal arch which will soon be built on the road from Bar-le-Duc to Verdun, to immortalize the glorious stand of the "Poilu" on what was then known as the "Hell of Verdun."

The two French artists, who left Quebec for their own country a short time ago to proceed with their work on the Taschereau memorial, took the opportunity of their stay in the old city of Champlain to collect some valuable information regarding the life, ways and character of the late cardinal, such information being indispensable to give a true interpretation of his personality. The location of the monument was also discussed, and it was agreed that it would stand in the little park stretching in front of the Basilica, at the end of the Rue de la Fabrique.

While in Quebec, Mr. Vermare and Mr. Roison were the guests at a great banquet given in their honour at the Garrison Club, at which most of the prominent people of the ancient capital attended. In answer to various speeches of welcome by Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Mgr. Marois, Mr. Henri Gagnon, and others, Mr. Vermare said how he and his companion were pleased to be in Quebec and how they had been impressed by the welcome extended to them. He also had eloquent words to express his admiration for the picturesqueness of the city and for the congenial hospitality of its citizens. He said he hoped to come back for the unveiling of the statue, which will take place on June 17th, 1923.

MAY REJECT STRIKE PLAN

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Sept. 11.—Rejection of the proposal for a general strike throughout the United States in sympathy with the striking shopmen was forcast as the executive council of the American Federation of Labor took up the matter today.

Instead, the federation will pledge itself to give its utmost financial aid to the shopmen, it is indicated, and will consider the establishment of a "legal defense bureau" at Washington to carry on labor's fight.

Members of the executive council stated Sunday night that the plan for a general strike probably would be rejected. They intimated Gompers was of the same opinion, but that he decided to propose the matter out of deference to labor unions all over the country who have deluged him with requests to do so.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Supported by one of the most formidable legal batteries the government has ever thrown into one court action, Attorney-General Harry Daugherty set his forces in motion today toward the goal of a permanent injunction in the railroad strike.

Arrayed against the government's lawyers and denying their charges of widespread conspiracy of vandalism to cripple the nation's transportation machinery, was Donald H. Richborg, attorney for the striking shopcrafts, against whose leaders and members the government's action was directed. As opposing legal forces drew up for what was admittedly one of the most far-reaching and important court actions of the kind on record, both sides avoided discussion of the day's possibilities.

While preparations for the injunction proceedings were under way in the federal building, the shopcrafts policy committee of ninety was here to meet B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor and leader of the strike.

Two cart loads of evidence, tools of destruction, thousands of telegrams, letters, photographs, blue prints, books and transcripts of statements of some 17,000 individuals were closely guarded by federal agents. Secret service operatives protected Mr. Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson.

SPEED MANIACS WILL LOVE THIS BEBE DANIELS FILM

Every kind of speed—on a sidewalk scooter, on horseback, in fast motor cars on land, in faster planes in the air—is used to illustrate the theme of Bebe Daniels' newest Realart picture "The Speed Girl," by Elmer Harris, which is shownig at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday.

Fortunately, the feature has for its star one of the most versatile girls in pictures. Miss Daniels has been brought up an outdoor girl. Dedicated from her youth to the business of entertaining the public, she has had to learn to ride, to drive a car, to dive, swim, shoot, fish and play every sort of game.

Particularly in moving-pictures, an actress never knows when she will be called upon to do any one of these things, and to do it in an accomplished manner. In other words, play has to be an important branch of Miss Daniels' work, and often she has been taking lessons from a tennis champion or practising strokes with a golf or swimming professional when, if her perference ruled, she would have been curled up in a corner, reading, or—just curled up in a corner!

"Is it the age of speed," says Miss Daniels. "In their entertainment, their sports, their business, even in their love affairs, it seems the American man, woman and child demands ever a swifter pace. "Make it snappy —get there!' is the universal cry.

"Seriously, we may have to change all this at some not-distant time and modify our speed—put on the brake a bit. But for the present there is no sign of abating, and the moving-picture must, if it does anything, reflect life as it is."

The nobility of self-sacrifice forms the theme of "Colleen of The Pines," a highly engrossing screen drama with beauteous Jane Novak in the leading rloe.

"Colleen of The Pines" is a powerful drama from start to finish. The locale is the wilderness of the Canadian Northwest and the action moves with the swift and refreshing sweep of strong winds through tall timbers.

Joan Cameron, her grim old father, Duncan Cameron, and her frivolous young sister, Esther, live in the cold Saskatchewan country. Joan, the little mother to the family, dreams of romance and beauty amid her stern surroundings. Jerry-Jo, a half-breed, is abjectly devoted to her. He plays a violin and has a wolf-dog, both constant companions.

Paul Bisson, sauve but ruthless, factor of the trading post, wants to marry Joan. Duncan Cameron tells her to have him. She, dismayed, goes to the woods to weep. There she encounters two fighting horsemen. One, Barry O'Neill, is a Northwest Mounted policeman; the other, a felon, whom he at last captures with the aid of Joan. That night, at a mask party given by Bisson, Barry and Joan discover their love for each other and are discovered together by the enraged Bisson. From this point on the story rushes through strongly dramatic episodes and builds up to a smashing climax. Joan sacrifices her own good name to save her sister from shame and after under-going a soul-soaring ordeal, comes through with colors flying.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of Mrs. George Moses, who died Sept. 13, 1920.

Two years have passed since that sad day
When the friend I loved was taken away.
God took her home, it was His will,
But in my heart she is with me still.
I loved her then and love her still.
Forget her, no, I never will;

FORMER FERNIE CHIEF IS KILLED

The latest report is that Piccariello has been arrested at Blairmore.

More accurate details of the Coleman murder last evening are now available, when Constable S. O. Lawson, former chief of city police here, met death as a result of gunshot wound from a weapon in the hands of E. Piccariella, notorious Italian character of Blairmore, or that of a female companion with him at the time.

Piccariello and his son, Enrico, Jr., left Fernie about 3 p.m. yesterday afternoon in two automobiles, one of which is reported to have been loaded with liquor. They headed east toward Alberta. When between the towns of Coleman and Blairmore, Pick, Sr., whose car was leading, was stopped by police officers in charge of Sergt. Scott. The second car, approaching from behind, saw the officers apprehend his father and immediately about-turned and speeded westward. On the main street of Coleman a detachment of police, comprised of Constables Lawson and Houghton, attempted to cut off the retreat and endeavored to stop young Pick, but he refused to obey the command. At that time Constable Lawson fired two shots at the escaping car. The officers thereupon commandered a nearby automobile and gave chase, and while passing around Crow's Nest Lake, near the boundary between Alberta and B.C., gained on the escaping car but only temporarily. As it again gradually increased its lead Officer Lawson fired another, his third, shot at the fleeing lad. This hit Pick, inflicting a wound on his left hand, but it failed to halt him and he came into B.C. beyond the jurisdiction of the Alberta officers. Pick, Sr., when learning that the officers had fired upon his son, threatened to shoot every policeman in Blairmore and Coleman if his son was badly wounded. He then, accompanied by a woman, said either to be his daughter or a near relative, proceeded westward by automobile and got in touch with the lad, who had halted at the town of Michel. Piccariello, Sr., still with his female companion, then disappeared from Michel for a short time and was next seen to drive up to the Alberta provincial police barracks or residence of Constable Lawson, whom they hailed out. After a very brief conversation five shots were heard by several, while eyewitnesses state these were all fired by Piccariello and the woman, both of whom were armed with automatics, while Lawson was unarmed. Only one of the bullets found its mark, this entering Lawson's back and passing through his body came out above the heart. He was immediately removed to the hospital but died within 15 minutes.

The alleged murderer or murderers then fled. The unidentified woman has not been seen since but Piccariello, Sr., was again seen at Michel and Natal about 7.45 p.m. or about three-quarters of an hour after the fatal shooting.

Although the alarm was broadcasted throughout the Crow promptly, and forces of city, provincial and mounted police marshalled in large posses within a brief space of time to guard all avenues against Piccariello's escape, and this close vigil was kept all night, the fugitive is still at liberty. The automobile used by him, however, was located by the police during the night at the town of Blairmore. Piccariello was last seen travelling west from the town of Natal, B.C., shortly before 8 o'clock, when he passed an automobile containing some Fernie citizens returning from that place. While they continued their journey here they never again met Piccariello, but the same car he was then driving was later found east of the scene, so he must have doubled on his tracks or else a confederate drove the car back to that locality.

Constable Lawson's untimely death in the performance of his duty is a severe shock to the citizens of Fernie, as he was very highly thought of here, after serving two years as chief constable. He came from Macleod, where his record was of equal high standard. He is survived by his wife and five small children, to whom deep sympathy is extended. Lawson served overseas with the C.E.F. and for meritorious service in the field won the Military Medal.

E. Piccariello, too, is a former resident of this city. He is an Italian by birth and has a large family. While here he was a teamster, dealer in junk and old bottles. A few years ago he moved to Blairmore, where his escapades in connection with the illicit traffic in liquor and his frequent convictions made his a more or less notorious character throughout the Crow. His activities in that section, whatever they were, raised him in a short time to a position of affluence. In that community he is called a generous hearted citizen, always helping the needy. Annually at Christmas he contributed at least a carload of flour and much other provisions to those in poor circumstances. His popularity may be measured to some degree by the fact that he was a member of the council of Blairmore for two years.

FIRE NEAR COKATO

Last evening a fire started up from an unknown cause in or about a hay barn on the property occupied by Ross and T. Constanzo, brothers, near Cokato. It spread to another barn in close proximity but with the assistance of neighbors this building was eventually saved. However, while attention was being directed to this building the sparks from the original fire, fanned by the wind, carried beyond and still another barn in line caught and this with the contents was totally destroyed. A call to this city for help was responded to by the Coal Co. section gang and as a high wind sprang up this force was augmented by members of the city department and volunteers to the number of 25.

From the last barn the fire jumped some distance in the direction of the city into an area of brush and slashing, where it made rapid progress, eating its way up and across the government road into heavier timber on the hillside. On towards morning a welcome shower came and with the wind dropping the fighters were able to get the blaze under control, otherwise heavier damaged might have resulted.

The loss to Costanzo brothers includes the two barns containing hay, some hogs and some chickens, covered by $1200 insurance.

The Coal Co. today have placed a gang of ten men in the vicinity of where the fire spread to its property as a precaution against it reviving and giving further trouble.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE IS MOST POPULAR

LONDON, Sept. 15.—Odd placings have revealed the result of the "golden ballot," whose promoters recently obtained a court ruling that they were not infringing the lottery act.

The ballot resulted in the following being placed in a cabinet of 16 most popular people in this country, in the order of their popularity:

The fewest votes in connection with the golden ballot went to Eamonn de Valera, the Irish republican leader.

Tickets bearing the names of prominent persons included in a list from which the 16 most popular were to be selected were sold by the promoters of the contest, and were issued in serial form. Having chosen the most popular person through the sale of tickets, the promoters next determined the winner among the ticket holders by a drawing competition in which duplicates of stubs bearing the name of the most popular person ase used. In this case the person holding the winning ticket bearing the name of Lloyd George will receive £2,500, and other prizes will be won according to the draw and the standing of the ticket in the popularity contest.

THOSE WHO MAY VOTE

In order that there may be no misapprehension on Tuesday next when the School Bylaw is to be voted upon, below is an attempt to give the qualifications in plain language without the possibly confusing legal phraseology. In this case, as in the case of all "money bylaws"—that is, those under and by which it is proposed to raise funds by borrowing on the credit of the municipality—only owners of property who are British subjects and of the full age of 21 years, and such corporations or companies as have for one month immediately preceding the date of polling been the owners of real estate within the corporate limits of such municipality, are allowed the privilege of voting.

The term "owner" as defined by the Act is the person who appears by the records of the Land Registry Office to be the holder of an estate in fee simple in such land, and in the event of there being registered a life estate in such land shall include the tenant for life. The word owner is further broadened in its meaning by the Act to include an Agreement for Sale registered in the Land Registry Office to sell such land by terms of which the purchaser shall agree to pay the taxes on said land, then the name of the person last registered as the holder of such Agreement is recognized as owner within the meaning of the Act and therefore entitled to vote on money bylaws.

As to a corporation, it may vote by its duly authorized agent, who must have been a resident of the province and a British subject of the full age of 21 years. His authority must have been filed with the City Clerk at least five days before the day of voting. A proviso adds that such agent shall be entitled to vote for the corporation from year to year until his appointment is cancelled and the city clerk duly notified of such cancellation.

HON. DR. J. H. KING'S VISIT

The Minister of Public Works administers the most important department in the Government of Canada. The selection of Hon. J. H. King for the post was, therefore, of considerable importance to the Province and a great compliment to the Minister. Needless to say, the visit of Mr. King has no political significance. The Minister comes to us on a business and not on a party mission. People of all shades of political belief may gather to do him honor without prejudice to any party sentiments they may privately entertain.

It was scarcely necessary for Mr. King to say that he is a friend of British Columbia. Although not a native son of the Province, he is just as closely identified with it as though he had been born here. He cannot be described as a particularly garrulous man. Indeed, his reticence as a public man has been a source of some tribulation to newspaper reporters. No cabinet or party secrets have been extracted from him by the most skilful of interviews. He keeps his own counsel an dthe counsel of his colleagues. Therefore, on this occasion of the present visit no one need look for any very explicit statements regarding the policy of the Government as that policy affects British Columbia. We shall have to be content, probably, with the sententious statement that the Minister is a friend of the Province. The Minister himself, by the way, notwithstanding his mastery silence on every subject of surpassing interest to politicians and other people, enjoys great personal popularity wherever he is known, and that is most intimately in his own constituency.

Facts have demonstrated that the silence of Hon. J. H. King is not due to any weakness of character. The supreme test of this was applied almost immediately upon his translation from the Provincial to the Federal field. No one but the Minister himself and a few others know about the tremedous pressure that was brought to bear upon the head of the Public Works Department to have work upon the Esquimalt graving dock permanently suspended and construction of a new dock begun at a place that need not be specifically mentioned. Great moral courage and considerable strength of character were required to resist demands that were not those of a moment, but were persisted in with intensified determination for a long period of time. Consequently it is but fair to the Minister to accept his statement, that he is a friend of the Province, and to add that his friendliness is not of a quality that can be affected by tremendous political influence. There are not a few votes in Vancouver and neighborhood, and the Mininster of Public Works attaches some importance to votes, being hereditarily and in every respect a strong party man.

We wish Hon. J. H. King a pleasant time during his short sojourn with us. He is entitled to all the pleasure he can get here at this particularly agreeable season of the year, because there is a trying Winter ahead of him at the capital of Canada.—Victoria Colonist.

ACCIDENT IN THE HILLS

Charles Caravetta, aged 50 years, a well known resident of this city, met with a serious accident on Sunday while out berry picking on the upper sloper of Coal Creek mountain, some six miles from the city. The injured man was entirely alone when a large boulder crashed down from the peak and struck him on the shin bone of one leg, inflicting a severe compound fracture and badly lacerated wound. His frantic calls for help attracted a party of mountain climbers led by S. Jentch, a popular barber of this city, who had scaled the summit of the mountain. This party responded and found the unfortunate man some 300 feet below. He was given such attention as at hand and a call for medical aid sent to the city. A relief party headed by Inspector Dunwoody and Dr. Garner was dispatched and returned with the victim in the early hours of the morning. Caravetta's' condition is critical but chances are fair for recovery.

This accident further demonstrates the extreme danger of venturing into the mountains unaccompanied, and only for the almost providential presence of the party of Alpiners another grim mountain tragedy would certainly have transpired.

MICHEL WINS MUTZ TROPHY

Michel football team on Sunday last on the Fernie grounds, captured the Mutz cup by defeating their Fernie rivals by a score of two goals to nil. On the run of play they well merited their win, although the game lacked many of the finer points. From the outset it was easily seen that it was to be a hard fought contest and both teams adopted regular cup tie methods. The first half was scoreless, although both goals ran narrow escapes on several occasions. The second half was about half way through before Michel opened the scoring when they raided Sawyer's territory and McCrone got his head to the ball and gave Sawyer no chance to save. Fernie seemed to go to pieces after this reverse and shortly afterwards Michel made "siccar" when H. Travis again beat Sawyer with a hard fast drive.

DO IT ELECTRICALLY

AROUND THE CLOCK IN AN ELECTRICAL HOME

—o—

If Domestic Wheels Are Oiled With "Juice" Housework Becomes Automatic.

By Alice Carrol

Wise planning and intelligent direction are the main requirements in keeping house electrically. Washing, ironing, cooking, cleaning and the myriad other tasks "all in the day's work" have been simplified and expediated by electricity, so that wife or mother has become more than just a housekeeper and is today taking her place in the social and political life of the community.

It is interesting to visualize, the daily routine in the modern electrically equipped home. In the morning, water for bath and shaving is made hot by a mere turn of the faucet. Hair is curled with an electric curling iron and the vibrator is used after the bath, while baby's milk is being heated in an electric milk warmer.

Breakfast is easily prepared at the table, saving may steps and giving the family that delightful intimacy that only cooking at the table provides. Delicious, clear coffee is made in the electric percolator; crisp, hot toast made on electric toaster or on the grill stove from which eggs, or eggs and bacon, are served, boiled, fried, poached or scrambled as individual taste may direct. A combination waffle iron and griddle may also be used at table and since this does not need to be greased, there is neither smoke nor smell to mar the breakfast hour.

Thus the day starts aright. Mr. Man goes to the office and while baby is engrossed with her toys in the kiddies-koop, the dishes are scraped and stacked in the wire racks of the electric dishwasher along with yesterday's luncheon and dinner dishes. Hot water and soap flakes or powder are added and the current turned on. The hot, soapy water swirls and dashes over the dishes and at the last a clear, hot rinsing water is used which dries them automatically.

Assuming that it is Monday morning, the family washing is done in the electric washing machine. After this operation, the electric vacuum cleaner is pushed over the rugs in dining room and living room, hardwood floors are lightly dusted, beds made and the whole house put in order.

The clothes are now dry, and in some of the spare afternoon hours, if desired, some of them may be ironed with ease and speed in the electric ironing machine. Contrary to current opinion, it is possible to iron ninety per cent of the family wash, including intricate garments with ruffles and tucks, with the ironer. The few fussy pieces that remain may be ironed with a small electric iron which is located near the ironer, attached to its own, individual convenience outlet.

Marketing in the modern home is done over the telephone and luncheon is likely to be cooked at table in grill or chafing dish. The afternoon may be devoted to sewing on an electric sewing machine which may be operated for hours at a time without fatigue.

Dinner preparations in the electric home are quite simple with an electric range with thermostatic control a six o'clock dinner can be prepared without much individual attention. One has only to prepare the food, set the switch and go one's way, confident that at the appointed time the current will be automatically turned on, the food cooked and the current shut off again, as per preconceived plans of the housewife.

In the evening, after dinner has been served and dishes stored away "out of sight, out of mind" in the covered but ventilated concealment of the dishwasher, there is comfort and pleasure to home-staying folk in softly adequately lighted livingroom or porch, where in a cool linen-slipped chair one may lounge at ease, cooled by the breezes from the fan, reading a good book or listening to the strains of an electrically operated talking machine.

Even the clock, by whose reminder one rises and goes to bed, has joined the electric family, and may now be kept running in perfect time without personal attention from housemistress or housemaster. It but remains for Mr. Edison to find a machine which will gently but firmly escort to the kitchen door the family cat, and the day's round of duties performed electrically will be complete.

In home where burglar's aren't liked one sleeps in the peace of electrically protection. Truly, electricity is the universal servant.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "THE PRIMITIVE LOVER"
ORPHEUM THEATRE—MONDAY & TUESDAY, SEPT. 25 and 26

EXCHANGE MATURING BONDS FOR NEW ISSUE

The Minister of Finance is offering, on attractive terms, to exchange Victory Bonds maturing December 1st, 1922, for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest and running for a further period of either five or ten years. As an extra inducement a bonus of a full month's interest is given to those accepting the offer which is open until September 30.

The Minister's proposals carry us to the grim war days of 1917 when these bonds were first put out. Under the impetus of the patriotic appeal and the intensive campaign of the first Victory Loan Organization the issue was successful to a degree that the most optimistic had not dared to anticipate. Literally, hundreds of thousands of Canadians became, for the first time, investors in bonds,—a result of tremendous importance to the country as well as to the investors themselves. Accumulated svaings were invested and surplus earnings for many months ahead were pledged, calling for a very practical response to the "Save and Serve" appeal of the then Minister of Finance.

The 1922 maturity was particularly favored by small investors and, even as it was important to Canada that they should have subscribed in the first instance, so is it desirable now from a national as well as a personal standpoint that their investment should contiue. It would indeed be regrettable if any considerable number of the holders of bonds subscribed to under these circumstances should pass over the Minister's offer with the idea of using the money at maturity for less sound investments or unnecessary expenditure.

Invested in Dominion securities the money is safe, and the interest return sure and profitable. The Ministry makes a generous concession to home investors, as a large issue of Dominion bonds were floated in New York last April at 5 per cent.

It is hoped, and anticipated, that there will be a large percentage of re-investors from the ranks of the small investors who purchased bonds for the first time in 1917.

WOMAN NOW IN QUANDARY

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The action of the American Episcopal bishops in eliminating "obey" from the marriage ceremony is considered by English humorists as an effort on the part of matrimonial customs, but, at the same time, they say the pledge which has been cast out is the only one which it is practically possible for wives to follow, no matter what else may happen.

"The majority of American bishops," says the Daily Mirror, "have declared themselves in favor of the elimination of the word 'obey' from the marriage service. Their decision will strike some people as strong, because this vow of obedience is the only one of three contained in the service which it is practically possible for all wives, under all circumstances, to fulfil. Love sometimes dies a natural death in spite of all efforts to keep it alive. Honor may sometimes be killed by unworthiness. But an order can always or most always be obeyed.

"Perhaps, however, the Episcopal purpose is to bring matrimonial pledges into closer conformity with normal matrimonial practices. In practise, as we all know, character and not sex decide who shall give orders and who shall take them, and, it is said, that there are even Turkish Pashas who have to allow the will of the most favored lady of their harem to be law unto them."

Whole System is benefited by tanlac

Thousands of frail, nervous people and convalescents everywhere have testified to the remarkable power of Tanlac in bringing back their health, strength, and working efficiency. It seems to quickly invigorate the constitution and is a powerful foe of weakness. Mr. J. T. Willitt, a war veteran of Park Rooms, Pender St., Vancouver, B.C., says:

"After being in the hospital for wound and shell shock, I needed something to build me up. I was down to one hundred and twenty-three pounds.

"Tanlac built me up to one hundred and forty-five and I feel like pinching myself to see if I can really be the same man who was almost a wreck a few weeks ago."

There is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac. It enables the stomach to turn the food into healthy blood, bone and muscle, purifies the system and helps you back to normal weight. Get a bottle today at any good druggist.

Message to Garcia

It is said that what Elbert Hubbard wrote twenty-four years ago about the exploit of Lieutenant A. S. Rowan, who carried a message from the United States Government to General Garcia in Cuba, when the war with Spain was imminent, had the largest circulation of any pamphlet ever printed. It reached 100,000,000 copies. Hubbard made plenty of money out of it. In characteristic style he said: "The thing leaped hot from my heart—it came to me like a flash." And the American public bought it like lightning, so that everybody was talking about the "Message to Garcia." In a word it "caught on."

Hubbard's pamphlet was pronounced one of the best things that remarkable man had ever written. So much did it draw attention to that writer that the man who actually carried the message rather faded into the background. He was the most successful peg that Hubbard ever found to hang a story upon, and as such he had his place. But the celebrated "Message to Garcia" suggests to the memory Hubbard rather than Rowan.

This lieutenant of the United States army declined an offer of $1000 weekly to tell his story before the footlights, preferring to remain in the services of his country. He is now a citizen of California, and the United States government has recently bestowed upon him the D.S.C. for his exploit of so many years ago. He has been induced by some of his friends to tell the real story of how he carried the message. He is now Colonel Andrew Summers Rowan, and the little book has been published in attractive form by Walter D. Harvey, Howes Building, San Francisco. It contains a good portrait of the colonel and is a stirring story. At a small price of 25 cents it should have a large circulation, because in plain simple language it tells what actually took place and brings vividly to mind the United States war with Spain which at that time filled every newspaper.

Buying More at Home

The "Buy in Canada" movement to which the Canadian Reconstruction Association, Chambers of Commerce and the Federal Government in recent years lent aid is bearing fruit, too. Customs and excise collections indicate vividly that such is the case. Figures at the port of Woodstock, Ontario, for August furnish a fair example. Collections were $37,373.40, an increase of 85 per cent over the previous August. Yet duties on imports fell from $20,000 to $12,000. Sales Tax, on the other hand, brought in $24,576, as against $8,326 in August of 1921, so that, even making heavy allowance for the higher rate, a much greater volume of purchases at home is indicated. Buying at home, after all, is the ordinary citizen's best means of maintaining our dollar at par abroad.

A turtle with the words, "I won the war," carved on its back was caught in California the other day. Another case of shell shock.

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"I am in my 78th year. About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach. One doctor said I had Cancer; another said, Ulcer of the Stomach; another, Gall Stones; others, Ulcers of the Liver and Inflammation of the Gall Bladder.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives". I found they helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much"

RE-INVEST YOUR VICTORY BONDS

Commenting on the proposals of the Minister of Finance for the conversion of 1922 Victory Bonds into new bonds carrying the same rate of interest and maturing in five or ten years, as desired, the Monetary Times says:

"One point which should be borne in mind by investors in considering the new issue of Dominion Government bonds is that the time is rapidly approaching when good securities will be scarce instead of plentiful. Up to the present year, since the beginning of the war, the investment market has been a buyers' market, interest rates being high and money scarce. Looking back to a time several years before the war, however, investors will recall that it was then quite a problem to find a reasonably 5½ per cent., or even 5 per cent.

"The opportunities to invest in ten-years bonds at 5½ per cent. is therefore a good one. The loan will unquestionably be a success and security prices will, judging by prospects, be carried to still higher levels."

The Minister's offer is open until September 30; see the official advertisement for details.

The Guild of Play is undenominational.

All parents wishing to enroll their children are requested to bring them to the basement of Christ Church at 2.30 p.m. on opening day.

"THE WISE KID" IS COMING TO TOWN

That was the beginning of things for "The Wise Kid." She wasn't "The Wise Kid" then, but that's a part of the story.

The man who leaned apologetically over the cash register and spoke the words to Rosie Cooper, was soulful-eyed and immaculately dressed. And what a gentlemen!

The proprietor smiled in the fashion that properly preludes the exercise of a heavy boot. But Rosie pushed him aside and rang the amount on the register, paying it herself.

Fron that beginning, William Slavens McNutt built the story published in the Metropolitan Magazine as "Kind Deeds" and which will appear at the Isis theatre Friday and Saturday as a Universal Special Attraction. The star is Gladys Walton, the fascinating flapper heroine of many comedy dramas.

Working out a theme of a New York "wise kid" gaining real wisdom through a romantic misadventure, the story provides humanly interesting roles for the star, David Butler—a star in his own right—and Hal Coley.

Others in the cast are Fred Lancaster, Henry A. Barrows, Normand Hammond, and Lorimer Johnstone. Tod Browning, who directed "No Woman Knows" and "Outside the Law," two big Universal-Jewel productions, guided the filming of "The Wise Kid."

The public schools offer to all the children of Canada the opportunity to prepare for citizenship together—the rich and the poor, those with long traditions of culture and those with long traditions of toil—in the atmosphere and under the inspiration of the community institution. No money can return larger dividends in real accomplishment than that added to the budget of our public schools; nor can any community interest more certainly strengthen the best elements in our civilization than that devoted to the improvement of our public education. There is a moral responsibility laid upon every citizen not only to work for the betterment, but also to contribute his quota of money and service to the strengthening and improving of every institution devoted to community service. CHIROPRACTIC QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—Why does a Chiropractor say he does not give treatments?

A.—Because treatment is not the proper word to describe what he does. A Chiropractor does not treat the body any more than a watchmaker treats a damaged watch. He adjusts the cause of the trouble.

Q.—If I have stomach ulcers cut out, would not the cause be removed?

A.—The cause of the distress in the stomach may have been removed, but the cause of the ulcers has not been touched, and they will probably grow again. A Chiropractor adjusts the cause of the ulcers.

THE RIGHT TO STRIKE

By Dr. Frank Crane

No right exists alone. It must always be balanced and limited by other rights.

No law can compel a man to work. Every one has a fundamental right to quit work if he wants to.

The gist of a strike, however, is not the right to quit work, but the right to induce others also to quit.

But there are prior rights to this. For instance, there is the right of contract. If you agree to do a thing, you must do it, and the man to whom you made your promise has the right to force you to do it by law, and make you pay damages if you refuse. The right of contract is the very basis of civilized life. Without it no business could possibly be carried on. Remove it and society would immediately revert to a state of savagery.

Workers have a right to unite and form labor unions. They have a right to quit work when they want to, and by peaceable means to urge others to join them. But with this right goes a responsibility. If a labor union is going to have this power it should be incorporated and held responsible for its use of power. Power without responsibility is a menace to democracy.

Another right that is prior to the right to strike is the right of the general public to live and carry on business.

The general public in the United States could not live as it now lives without the railroads. Therefore no organization has the right to stop transportation.

The people could not subsist as they now do without milk. Any strike that could cut off the milk supply of the city would be tantamount to the assassination of thousands of children.

Neither could the public subsist without coal nor without the postoffice. It is perfectly proper, therefore, that the government sees that such basic industries as these are carried on, and that no organization persuades everybody from ceasing to operate them.

There are other fundamental laws that people forget. One of these is that every worker should be paid wages enough to keep him effective. Employers should seek a maximum wage as a matter of mere common sense.

Another law is that workers injure themselves individually and as an organization unless they seek maximum production. To regulate for minimum production and to bring a whole body of workers down to the level of the inefficient is as vicious as it is silly.

Another general law that is as important as any of these—that is as important in the matter of production—is that without a constant effort toward good will industry breaks down.

All this talk about fight, or theories that are based upon class opposition, or movements that depend upon anger, vengeance, and the like, cut out the very heart of industry, which is good will. There can be no prosperity that is not based upon intelligent cooperation between employer and employed.

MONEY A CURSE—HE'LL HAVE NONE OF IT

"Money is a curse and the root of all evil. I will never touch another penny as long as I live."

This was the extraordinary resolution made by a Brighton man, who, of his own free will, has become penniless and is determined to live without money.

He is Henry Mitchell, who until recently was a commercial traveller employed by a well known firm and was earning £600, or about $2,700 a year and commission.

When Mitchell came to his decision he gave up his job, drew £200 commission due to him and gave it to his wife. He had £28 10s left. This he gave to the local poor, and with his last penny bought a newspaper.

Referring to his action, Mitchell, who is a middle-aged man, said: "I have come to the conclusion that money is the cause of all the unhappiness in the world. Three weeks ago I decided I would never touch it again. In future I shall endeavor to lead the life of Christ on modern lines.

"I believe I possess gifts that the ordinary man does not, and as the result of my experience I shall be able to give advice to people with business or personal worries. In return for my services I shall be willing to accept only food, drink and lodging. All I ask for is bread and water."

SEEKING HIS LOST MASTER

"Billy," Quebec's tramp dog, is still seeking his lost soldier master. When the boys came back on the "Empress of France" he and "Billy" became separated and "Billy" has been looking for him ever since. He meets the "Empress" each time she arrives at Quebec, sniffs at the passengers who come down the gangway, walks away with an air of disappointment and then waits for the next passenger ship. Everybody's friend but no man's dog for long, "Billy" has as many names as he has friends, answering with a wag of his tail to "Bum," "Tramp," "Bijou," "Rags," "Paddy," etc. Now and then an admirer takes "Billy" home, but in a few days the little wire-haired terrier is nobody's dog again—nobody's but the lost master's—and is back on the docks once more to meet the ships and him.

How "Billy" knows when a passenger ship is due is a mystery of the Quebec water front, but know he does. He is as regular and prompt as the customs' men, greets the incoming steamer with joyous barking, and after he has bossed the job of placing the great hawsers which moor her alongside the pier, he dashes to the gangway and looks for a once familiar figure, khaki-clad. Perhaps some day the lost master will return. And if he does, faithful "Billy" will be there

A NEW BRITISH STEEL

One of the most fascinating phases of the steel industry is the development of special alloys in which chromium and nickle are employed. Alloys of this kind have come into fairly general use for motor car and aircraft work on account of their great strength and toughness, but they are liable to become brittle after tempering. This tendency can be corrected by quenching—that is to say, rapidly cooling—the metal in either oil or water. Unfortunately such quenching may cause distortion of the material, which can be straightened out only by mechanical means which strain the metal. In order to remedy this condition of affairs, a British firm instituted a special research which has led to the production of a new alloy which has even better mechanical properties than the ordinary alloys and is not liable to brittleness. It does not, moreover, require any special treatment.

A fruitgrower from the Okanagan visiting the fair says the most amazing spectacle he witnessed was the difference in the prices of fruit in the orchards and at the city fruit stands.

GOMPERS AND UNION GOSPEL

Samuel Gompers in his Labor Day message to the members of the American Federation of Labor states that there are now but few outside their own ranks who sympathize with them. This statement is unquestionably correct, and it would be well if Mr. Gompers and other labor leaders took pains to not only recognize this fact, but make an endeavor to correct the causes which have led up to it. The attitude of the general public toward organized labor has up to very recently been one of friendship. It was generally recognized that abuses, such as starving labor by paying too little, the employment of young children in factories, the continued use of badly ventilated and poorly lighted buildings, those and many other crimes against the workers needed rectifying; and it was partly through these unions that the good work was accomplished. Up to the time of the war, labor unions were as a rule reasonable bodies that earned and carried the respect of the unorganized seven-tenths. With the war, organized labor, through its leaders, began to show the cloven hoof. In all trades having to do with the conflict, direct or indirect, demands, each one more outrageous than the last, were made, and the various countries being practically helpless, granted them each in turn. Oppressive, tyrannical, arrogant, they have dictated terms with a club, until now there is no question, but that they have lost the sympathy of a great majority of the people who were formerly their friends and supporters. They have in various ways abused the power which was theirs, but which is slipping away from them with surprising speed.

If trade unionism is to survive, and survive it should in proper form, it must practice restraint. In the words of Mr. Daugherty, Attorney General of the United States:

"When the unions claim the right to dictate to the Government, and to dominate the American people and deprive the American people of the necessities of life, then the Government will destroy the unions, for the Government of the United States is supreme and must endure."

Labor unions have their lawful functions, but keeping non-union men from making a living is not among them. Nor are they within their rights when they tie up services and utilities upon which the general public are obliged to depend. Clearly these men have the right to quit their jobs when and where they like, but they are distinctly without their rights in their endeavors to keep others from taking up the work which they have dropped.

In April last President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before a committee of the New York Legislature investigating housing conditions, otherwise known as the Lockwood Committee. In his examination by Mr. Untermeyer, counsel for the committee, Mr. Gompers made some surprising statements and admissions. One was that none but union men should be allowed to work at any trade or occupation that was unionized. Another was that unions should be above the law. That is to say union workmen should not be legally held to any contract that they might make with their employers, while on the other hand the employers should be made strictly accountable for any contract made with women. Other interesting statements by Mr. Gompers were to the effect that no man could join a labor union if the union did not want him, and no man could remain in a labor union if the union wanted to expel him. In other words Mr. Gompers believed in making a union a close corporation, the effect of which was that union cards were rented in New York city at so much per week to non-union men who were not allowed in the union organizations, but who in order to work purchased the right from the union. This labor chief also states that no one should be allowed to learn a trade without the sanction of a union.

In a nutshell the gospel of unionism as expounded by Mr. Gompers is to the effect that there shall be no individual freedom, no private or public rights, and no contract which the labor union is bound to respect.

Under the circumstances it is not to be wondered at that Mr. Gompers finds his labor unions unpopular with the average run of humanity. It would be strange if it were otherwise. The white folks of this Continent are not in a mood to accept the mandates of Gompers or any other labor leader in respect to these matters. Czars and Kaisers have had their day, and there is no disposition to raise Gompers, et al, in their places.—Saturday Night.

Railway News

Montreal. — On August 23rd, George H. Ham, "the Grand Old Man of the Canadian Pacific," celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday and received congratulations from all over Canada.

Vancouver.—Railways in Canada are in an excellent position to handle the bumper grain crop of the prairie provinces. There are also 10,000 cars in the western division of the C.P.R. ready to handle grain moving westward from the prairie grain fields, officials of the railway state.

C. A. Cotterell, assistant general superintendent of the C.P.R. western lines, stated that heavy shipments will be made to the Orient through this port.

Toronto.—American tourists last year spent $75,000,000 in Canada, according to an estimate made in an official report of the Dominion Government's Parks Department.

Last year more than 100,000 tourist motor cars entered Canada; that would mean upward of half a million tourists. This year the number will be much greater, for the tide is growing rapidly. The railways are having a very busy season.

Winnipeg.—After a careful survey of reports received from C.P.R. agents throughout the West, it is estimated that this year's crop will approximate 317,000,000 bushels, according to the weekly crop report of the C.P.R. agricultural department issued here.

Reports indicate that the Western crop generally is turning out well. Even in areas where poor yields were looked for, the conditions have proved better than anticipated.

Vernon.—Present indications are that the 1922 British Columbia apple crop will total about 2700 or 3000 cars.

Last season was the province's big crop year, when approximately 3500 cars were packed out.

The C.P.R. has made many provisions to take care of the valley's transportation demands. On nearly every side between here and Calgary refrigerator cars are waiting to be shunted to the packing houses, while houses are well stocked.

Calgary.—While Calvin Coolidge, Vice-President of the United States, was not inclined to talk about trade relations, tariffs or anything of that nature when he arrived here on the Trans-Canada train of the Canadian Pacific Railway, he waxed most eloquent in his praises of Banff and Lake Louise and of the Canadian Rockies along the route by which he had travelled.

"No wonder you Canadians are proud of your mountains," he asserted; "they are magnificent."

The Vice-President spent some time in conversation with J. M. Cameron, general superintendent of the Alberta Division of the C.P.R.

Montreal.—According to a joint circular issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian Pacific Steamships Limited, Mr. Allan Cameron is appointed Oriental manager, with office at Hong Kong, effective October 1.

It is understood that Mr. Cameron will be in charge of both traffic and operating departments. The extensive growth in recent years of Canadian Pacific activities in the Orient, with enlarged fleets and services which have added Manila to the ports of call, has involved also the transfer of the administrative headquarters from Yokohama to Hong Kong. Mr. Cameron is familiar with Hong Kong, as from January, 1901, to September, 1905, he was located there as general agent of the Asiatic business of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's line of steamers.

Mr. Cameron's first connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway was at Winnipeg as clerk of the local freight office in 1887.

Moose Jaw.—D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, was a visitor in the city for a few hours, while en route to Victoria.

Mr. Coleman made the announcement that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company had leased the last of its terminal elevators at the head of the Great Lakes, on a long term lease, to the Consolidated Elevator Co. interests. The capacity of the elevator is eight million bushels. The lessees will assume possession on September 1.

The leasing of the elevator is in conformity with the announced intention of the railway executives to go out of the terminal elevator business.

Asked as to the completion of the Assiniboia-Lethbridge line gap, Mr. Coleman stated that it was anticipated that the gap would be completed late this fall. Much, however, would depend on whether the contractor would be able to hold his men during the harvest season.

Relative to the grading on the line from Consul, east, Mr. Coleman stated that the first thirty miles had been completed and the contractor was now working on the second thirty miles.

RESEARCH IN COTTON

Some time ago the British cotton industry formed a Research Association to carry out experimental and research work for the benefit of the whole industry. This association recently opened a large Research Institute, which comprises, in addition to a council room and library, laboratories for botanical, physical and chemical research, together with work shops and houses for the staff. The laboratories have been built and equipped on the most approved lines, and are expected to produce results which will bring additional prosperity to the cotton industry to Great Britain.

Fry's

DR. Andrew Wilson, the eminent British authority, once said of the cocoa bean—"It is a kind of vegetable egg which contains all that is needed to build up a living body." Tea and coffee are mere infusions—but cocoa is an actual food in itself. Business men should remember that.

Cocoa, made the FRY way, from the world's choicest beans, is pure, extremely soluble and of most delicious flavour. Nearly two hundred years' knowledge of the cocoa business stands back of FRY'S. Of course, remember

According to Professor Pake, who is described as a noted anthropologist, "the world's crust is cracked in many places through misunderstandings between white, black and yellow men and the fissures are growing wider and deeper. Civilization will blow up unless the cracks are stopped up." There is a suspicion that the professor may be "cracked" himself.

The big fairs being over, the weather man is now at liberty to use his own judgment. Vancouver and New Westminster are grateful for his kind considration.

A strange electrical disturbance was witnessed in the sky in California the other night. It may have been caused by the two movie stars crossing each other's orbits.

When a Pittsburg landlord raised a tenant's rent the latter placed a sign, "Baby Carriage Garage" on his front door. Scores of mothers left their perambulators with him while they did their shopping or attended the movies. The squalls of the youngsters drove the other tenants out and the landlord has now offered to reduce the rent if he will close the garage.

SAVING TIME AND WASTING LIVES

EXPERIENCE is a great teacher—sometimes. But it is to be remembered that you may take a horse to water, but cannot always make him drink. Similarly, you may drop a succession of bricks on or about the head of a man suffer from a habit of walking under ladders, but if he has in his head no mental mechanism of the kind that puts cause and effect to[illegible] you will still have difficulty [illegible] him realize that walking [illegible]ders is by no means conducive to normal health or long life.

[illegible]ame thing may be said of the [illegible] who habitually crosses railway [illegible]ks without giving a thought to [illegible]ains. To the vast majority of men and women, the sight of a railway track crossing a road brings to the imagination a moving train which they know moves with unhesitating, undeviating surety according to an unsuspendable law of nature. They know that under that law an object of less weight and force than the moving train will, when struck by it, be brushed aside with results more or less disastrous to that object. In most cases the imagination sees what happens if a frail human body attempts to impede the progress of the train, and reasonable people act with due precaution. As an aid to these the railways have adopted all possible safeguards and warnings at level crossings, but there are still human beings whose imagination apparently can never be stirred and who persist in walking into certain disaster as unconcernedly as they would walk into their own homes.

A curious case of this kind was reported from an Ontario town less than a month ago. As an electric radial car approached a crossing, a team driven by a local farmer came along the road towards the track. Passers-by saw the radial car coming up and heard its whistle as well as the ringing of the crossing bell that automatically warned of the car's approach. Despite the efforts of a witness to stop him, the farmer drove on until the car struck his horses' heads, killing one and injuring the other, and had it not been for the prompt action of the passerby, the driver would undoubtedly have been killed. When it was all over the farmer admitted having heard the warning bell, but failed to say why he had not stopped in time. The amazing thing about the affair was that less than two years ago the same farmer had an almost identical accident at the same crossing at which time his wife and children were with him in a motor car. On that occasion his wife was injured and his car badly smashed. He then sued the company for damages, but failed to get a judgment as it was shown that he had been extremely careless.

A large percentage of level crossing accidents happen in just this way, and railway men are continually astonished by the persistence with which drivers of motor cars and horses dash over the crossings in utter disregard of the possible approach of trains. It is a fact that an amazingly large percentage of accidents are caused by motor cars hitting moving trains, instead of being hit by them, sure evidence of utter carelessness on the part of their drivers. At Mattawamkeag, in May last, a motor car dashed into the last of 23 cars that were moving over the crossing at the rate of four miles an hour, carrying away the rear steps of the car. At Cote Des Neiges, Que., crossing recently, disregarding the engine's whistle, the ringing of the electric alarm bell, and the frantic waving of a watchman stationed at the crossing, a motor car only managed to get across the tracks, with nothing worse than a broken wheel because the engineer had seen the car approaching from a distance away and had been able to stop his train. As the engineer saw the motor approaching, it must also have been possible for the motorist to see the train. In the same month a woman in broad daylight drove a horse and buggy into the rear coach of a four-car train on a crossing near Woodstock, Ont., and was fortunate enough to escape with her life, although she had to spend some little time in the hospital.

It has been proved in a court of law that motorists equally with railroads are expected to observe caution at level crossings. At Cleveland, Ohio, last winter, a train struck a motor truck, and while no lives were lost, the locomotive was damaged. To set an example to careless drivers the railway company sued for the damages sustained and was awarded judgment for the full amount claimed.

In a recent letter to the Toronto Globe, W. J. Moodey, who is one of the pioneer motorists of Toronto, had the following to say on this subject:

"To the Editor of the Globe: Once again we pick up the morning paper and read of another accident. 'Auto hit by fast express.

"Why will motorists continue to take chances? I contend that no driver should attempt to cross a railroad until he has a clear view. Do not place too much confidence in the bell ringing. It may be out of order.

"Here is an instance: Last summer I was motoring east from Cooksville. As I approached the C.P.R. track near Lambton, a long C.P.R. freight was going west. I stopped; another motor came up behind me. When the freight had passed I continued to wait. The motorist behind sounded the horn and called to me to go ahead. I replied, 'Just wait until I get a clear view of the other track.'' Just at this minute along came the Detroit flyer, 40 miles an hour. The motorist got out of the car and said, ''My, but we had a narrow escape.'' I said, ''You mean that you had a narrow escape—not me. Safety first.''

"It is better to wait two or three minutes at a crossing, than spend two or three months in some hospital, or longer in a cemetery."

PRESS COMMENT

A Slow Process

-o-

The development of Australia cannot be accomplished by any waving of political magic wands. It can only be achieved by honest work. If the federal government will, during this third season, give to the people of Australia some earnest of a prospective return to freedom of production and freedom of interchange, with a remission of taxation, there need be no doubt that it will enter upon a new era of power, with the good will of an increased majority of supporters. But at present it is electioneering.—The Australian.

The Debt to America

Whatever the final attitude of America may be, some people do not believe that in any event she will remit our debt for a considerable time, and the state of Europe is far too critical for us to be able to afford to wait for her. If we are to save Europe from chaos and our own trade from consequent depression, we need to act at once and to act courageously; and if we could secure a final settlement at the expense of a surrender of claims which exist only on paper, and which depreciate in value with every shock to the exchanges, it would be no more than business-like to do so. —Westminster Gazette.

Supply and Demand

-o-

If the world's crop is increasing, so, too, is the world's demand. Japan and China are among the wheat-consuming nations, and one of the permanent problems is not merely to get a granary like Russia going again, or to secure good harvests, but to increase the wheat fields of the world. Settlers in the virgin lands and scientific substitutes for nitrates are two practical sides of the question. A third, and the more immediate one, is to get the nations free from their present political troubles, settled down to work, and exchanging the products of their toil, whether in agriculture or industrial pursuit.— Westminster Gazette.

Scotch Tweeds

Black-and-white tweeds are to be favored this autumn—at any rate the manufacturers appear to think so. Some of the newest patterns suggest the old-fashioned shepherd's plaid; in fact, the original design is reproduced. But there are many smart variations of this idea. One good cloth has a grey twill background with broad black stripes; another has broad stripes of grey and black, with narrow vertical over-stripes, which show black on the grey and grey on the white background. There are black tweeds, with a big white double check, the line of which is broken giving almost the appearance of knots. Another good-looking pattern has an arrangement of irregular white stripes run in opposite directions to each other, so that they form a square, a novel and rather uncommon combination.—Manchester Guardian.

An Era of Road Making

Owing to the ever-increasing demands of motor traffic, municipal authorities in the neighborhood of London, England, are now engaged in constructing new asphalt roads at a cost of nearly £5,000,000. Some of these roads are 120 feet in width, the carriageway being 50 feet, with a grass margin of 20 feet on each side in addition to two 15-foot sidewalks. No tramcars will be allowed on them, and all supply services, such as water and gas, are laid under the walks at each side.

These new roads, writes Lord Montague of Beaulieu in the Times, are the first of any consequence since the times of Macadam and Telfer, nearly 100 years ago. The funds are derived from two sources—from the taxes on motor vehicles, contributed through the Ministry of Transport, and from the ratepayers of Middlesex and the surrounding districts, while an Imperial contribution is also to be made out of the past taxes raised in war years from the users of motor vehicles. "It is time," adds Lord Montagu, "that the greater cities in the province also realized their responsibilities for making new or widening old approach and circling roads. Long ago Cathedral building was the mark of the age. Now another human need, the making of roads, is beginning to mark the early years of the twentieth century."—Toronto Globe.

INSECTS IN SEWERAGE WORKS

The treatment of sewerage has become a highly scientific business and one of the most interesting features of it is the use of lowly form of life for the purification of the material. A British chemist suggested some time ago the use of a certain tiny and prolific insect for cleansing the material of sewerage filter beds. Recent experiments in Great Britain have proved the possibility of colonizing filter beds with these insects.

Canadian Dollar At Par.

With the good Canadian dollar back to par in the United States, and folks down in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick even enforcing a little discount on the Yankee equivalent, it is interesting to reflect on the causes thereof. The experts point to grain movement, a huge American tourist traffic in Quebec and Ontario, discovery of gold in the Dominion, and other contributory factors. The new United States tariff undoubtedly figures somewhere in the situation. But it all simmers down to the main proposition of trade activity and returning prosperity generally. All of which is taking place, be it noted, not under a Canadian tariff of "substantial all-round reductions" and a long free list of important commodities, as proclaimed in the Liberal election platform, but under the same tariff for which the Meighen Government was assailed from two sides all during the late campaign. It is histroy repeating itself. Laurier's promised tariff changes were put aside when the Liberal Government came into power in 1896, fortunately for Canada. Now the King Government has retained the Conservative schedules pretty much as they found them—a most wholesome instance of fiscal apostacy, aside from the distasteful spectacle of an administration abandoning its pledges upon acheiving power.

300 TONS OF ICE PER DAY

If anyone were asked to name the largest fishing port in the world he would probably find some difficulty in deciding the question. As a matter of fact, the claim of Grimsby (England) to this distinction has never been disputed. In connection with the fishing industry of that port 1,000 tons of ice can be manufactured, crushed and delivered to the trawlers each day. Th elargest ice factory in the town has a capacity of 300 tons per day. The largest ice factory in the electrically operated direct-expansion ice making plant in the world. Elaborate machinery has been devised for the rapid handling of the ice and a fleet of electric lorries is employed for transportating the ice from the factory to the docks.

A Chicago reporter interviewed a prominent statesman while the latter was taking a bath. All he wanted was the bare facts.

HUNTERS FLOCK TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

Rocky Mountain Goat
He looks lazy, but oh, how he can travel

BRITISH Columbia offers the best still remaining, easily accessible big game hunting territory on the continent. It is not necessary to go far afield from the railway and some of the best hunting grounds are as follows: Beginning at the east, there is the East Kootenay district, reached from Invermere. Two ranges may be hunted here; in the Rockies on the east are to be found moose, mule and whitetail deer, mountain goat, mountain sheep, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear, while among the Selkirks on the west, are caribou, mule and whitetail deer, mountain goat, grizzly, cinnamon and black bear. Very satisfactory wild fowl shooting may be enjoyed on the lakes and flats in the late Fall.

Deer, grizzly and black bear, caribou and goat are found in the country around Chase. Deer are found from 4 miles of the town; bear from 20 miles; caribou beyond the 30 mile mark, and goat from 30 miles. Excellent game bird shooting is to be had here, including ducks, geese, pinnated and ruffled grouse, with some snipe and plover at various points.

Kamloops is the gateway to a rich sporting region where goats, brown, cinnamon, black and grizzly bear, small deer, moose and occasional caribou and sheep (3 varieties) are to be found. From here expeditions to the Fort Fraser country may be arranged—including about 176 miles of canoeing—where deer, bear and other large game may be shot.

A hunting area rapidly growing in favor is the Caribou District, reached from Ashcroft. It is off the beaten path, therefore big game is plentiful, and includes grizzly, black and brown bear, moose, caribou, goat and sheep. Fishing for gamey trout is another attraction of this region.

Of course the Cassiar District to the north stands in a class by itself, for the cost of a hunting trip there prohibits a great influx of hunters, insuring good bags for those who hunt there. Thirteen hunters taken in by Frank Callbreath, the outfitter at Telegraph Creek, in 1921, shot 11 moose, 22 caribou, 21 goat, 22 sheep and 20 bear, ten of which were grizzlies.

AULT PUZZLE TO WYCLIFFE

Playing in what will probably be the last game of the season here last Sunday afternoon, Fernie easily disposed of a team comprised players from the four western teams under the name of Wycliffe by a score of eleven runs to one.

"Scotty" Mitchell, of Wardner, started on the mound for the Wycliffe team and the offerings of this port sider were taken to kindly, the Fernie swatsmen collecting a total of fourteen hits, four of them doubles and two triples, for a total of eleven runs in the first three innings. Musser relieving Mitchell in the 4th proved as effective a relief pitcher as he did the previous Sunday when he stopped the Fernie onslaughter in the game at Wycliffe, held Fernie scoreless the remainder of the game. Ault was in brilliant form and held the Wycliffe boys to four scatered hits. The only run Wycliffe made was when Noble connected for a two-bagger, was sacrificed to third and came home on a fielder's choice.

During the game the East Kootenay league penannt, won by Fernie for this season was unfurled.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "THE PRIMITIVE LOVER"

Constance Talmadge in her latest First National attraction, "The Primitive Lover," will be the feature at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday and Tuesday. This is from an original story by Edgar Selwyn.

The star plays the role of a romance-striken wife who abhors the idea of domesticity and household routine. Her thoughts run to the gallant romance of bygone days which she absorbs from all the best sellers that the library shelf holds. At this opportune time a former lover, who had supposedly perished during an expedition to South America ,returns. His ideas of romance and his caveman methods appeal to the girl who builds air castles of men of his type and stands in striking contrast to the practical every day sameness of her husband.

From this unique situation the picture develops a plot that revolves around an interesting story at the same time that it bristles with comedy and humorous situations. Miss Talmadge's talent at interpreting comedy scenes in such previous productions as "Wedding Bells" and "Polly new outlet for her ability to depict demonstrated, and "The Primitive Lover," offering as it does an entirely new outlet for her ability to dejict humor, promises to be rare entertainment.

Harrison Ford, who was recently seen as leading man in Norma Talmadge's hit, "Smilin' Through," has the part of the husband, while Kenneth Harlan is cast as the novelist. Unusual scenic setings in the Sierra Mountains and a raging blizzard blend with a story of proven appeal to provide a splendid attraction.

DEPARTMENT HEADS RESIGN

The city council held a regular meeting last Friday evening, when all were present with the exception of Ald. Corrie. Resignations were received from the heads of two departments, namely the Fire Department, from which Fire Chief McNicholas desired to be relieved from duty, and City Electrician Tim Boyce. Both resignations were accepted and the city clerk was instructed to advertise on the notice board that applications would be received forthwith. These positions are to be filled on or before Oct. 21, when the one month's notice given by the present incumbents expires.

By unanimous consent a motion went through instructing the city clerk to write Mrs. S. O. Lawson, conveying to her the deep sympathy of the council in her terrible bereavement.

Reports of progress in connection with civic public works that are being carried on were received.

Quotations were called for on cast iron water main, including a sufficient proportion of valves and specials to renew approximately 2000 feet each of 12 inch and 14 inch mains.

SCHOOL BYLAW CARRIES

The bylaw for the purpose of authorizing the city to borrow $32,000 for a four-roomed extension to the Central School was submitted to the taxpayers on Tuesday and received an affirmative response in the ratio of 9 to 1. The total number of votes cast was 260, of which 234 were in favor and 26 against. The aggregate amount necessary for completing the addition, including the furnishings, will be in the neighborhood of $49,0000, the difference being obtained through the statutory grant from the provincial government. Construction on the extension will be commenced immediately.

CONVERSION LOAN SURE OF SUCCESS

OTTAWA, Sept. 26. — With the books in the government's conversion loan closing on Saturday, September 30, there is at present every indication of the 1922 loan being fully converted. Less than one per cent. of the holders of bonds maturing this fall have so far asked for cash redemption of their bonds, it is stated, and in every case this course is followed because the holder needs cash.

Applications for conversion, it is stated, will be received at the banks throughout the country up to an including September 30.

MOUNTIES GET THEIR MAN

The capture of Picariello, charged with the murder of Constable Lawson, has been told and retold with varying degrees of accuracy, according to the viewpoint of the party relating the event or the shade of coloring desired by the chronicler. However, in all published reports of the episode those in at the heel of the hunt have been showered with praise while those actually effecting the coup have only received honorable casual mention. No one wishes to deny any individual or any one of the three respective regularly constituted police forces engaged in that man-hunt of all the laurels they may be able to seize—they each and all should be accredited with a just share because it was entered upon and carried out with unified co-operation. For this reason then when the facts have been sifted and brought to light, as they have, and they again repeat a traditional and time-honored record, it is only fair that they should be given just recognition.

In terse form a dispatch of "Pick's" surrender would be something after the following: "About 3.00 p.m., Constables Tutin and Clark of the Mounted Police, with Constable Bradner, of the Alberta provincial police, having been detailed by their superior officers to jointly search a number of shacks and dwellings on the outskirts of Blairmore, noticed a man some three hundred yards distant walking rapidly away from them. At a command from one of the constables for him to halt, this man proceeded to run. Constables Tutin and Clark, drawing their weapons, gave chase, and after climbing a steep hill came upon the fugitive, whom they identified. He stood with his hands uplifted and greeted them with: 'It's all right, boys, I have no gun.' 'Taking no chances, Pick, keep them up,' ordered Tutin, whereupon Constable Clark rushed up to the captive, searched him and in a trice he was handcuffed Constable Bradner, A.A.P., then arrived and the party brought the accused murderer to the lock up."

The chase was over and without bloodshed but again the old Northwest Mounted had registered. Their standard of effectiveness not a whit diminished and their world renowned slogan upheld—They had got their man!

Only by persistent endeavor were these facts revealed and in keeping with the policy of that reputable force this event too would have been modestly recorded in its inner official history, which is abundant with scores upon scores of untold wonderful deeds.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Sept. 27, 1922, Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, of Fernie, very quietly celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. Several members of the family were unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. John Reid have been residents of this city since 1903; also they have spent 20 years of their married life in Fernie. Owing to Mrs. Reid's very poor health she has been very much confined to her home. They were the recipients of much good will; also a beautiful silver tea service and two sets of Irish linen, which were presented by their family; silver teaspoons from her bridesmaid, who resides in Glenwoodville; silver cake stand from Mr. Triste and silver teaspoons from Mr. and Mrs. Venables of Fernie. A small circle of friends were quietly entertained on the evening of their anniversary. We join with their family in congratulating them and wish them every happiness in the coming years.

A Carleton Place man who is the father of nine, has adopted twenty-two other children. The morning roll-call must sound like a regimental muster.

FINED FOR CARELESSNESS

A fireboss in the employ of the C.N.P. Coal Co., Michel Colliery, appeared at that place before Justice of the Peace A. C. Murray on Wednesday, charged with having committed a breach of the Forestry Act, and was fined $50 and costs. He had been granted a permit by the District Fire Ranger to set out a fire on a piece of land owned by him near Sparwood, in order to destroy debris and slashnig accumulated theron, preparatory to proceeding with clearing the land. After setting out the fire, through neglect of the accused, it is alleged, it spread to adjoining properties and caused considerable trouble before being brought under control. Fortunately it did not reach any of the heavier timbered areas in that vicinity and therefore the actual loss is comparatively light, but carelessness or neglect cannot be tolerated by the Forest Branch, as such practices always lead to dire results.

Two other fires have sprung up within the last couple of days, one on the south side of the Elk river opposite Olson, and the other on the west side of the Elk river towards Elk prairie. The locations of both these fires being remote from human habitation indicate that carelessness alone is responsible for their being started. No serious damage is anticipated from them.

DEBENTURES FOR LOCAL SALE

In connection with the debenture issue for the Central School Extension, authorized when the bylaw passed with such handsome support, an effort will be made to dispose of these debentures direct to the public, preferably among the citizens of Fernie. This method, called "over-the-counter bond sales," has been tested in the past and met with very good success. Some years ago the town of Kaslo sold school debentures to a substantial amount among its own citizens. Nelson quite easily sold bonds of the denomination of $100 locally, while in larger cities throughout this continent in late years very large issues have been taken up by the people at home.

It is hoped that when the council submits its proposal for the $32,000 issue that there will be ready response by the people of Fernie. At the present time in British Columbia there are municipalities that have collateral against loans secured from the banks large issues of bonds. Most of these issues could be sold at a price which would yield from 6 to 6½ per cent to the investor. This is a much larger return than is paid on savings accounts and therefore, considering the reliability of the security, should be a great inducement for local investors to take up the entire amount. As far as can be ascertained the debentures will be issued in denominations to suit the purchaser, principal payable at the end of 20 years. The main thing for the citizens to do at this time is to submit their applications to the city clerk for these bonds.

EXCELLENT ROLE FOR ALMA RUBENS

Alma Rubens, who is the featured player in "Find The Woman," a Cosmopolitan Production released by Paramount, is a descendant of Peter Paul Rubens, the famous Flemish painter. By a peculiar coincidence there was placed in one of the settings in the picture—a drawing room in the home of the character interpreted by Miss Rubens—a bronze statuette of the great painter.

The actress, while not an adept at handling the palette, is thoroughly at home in any art museum; indeed she spends much of her spare time in the Metropolitan Museum in New York City.

In "Find The Woman" Miss Rubens plays a part well suited to her outstanding talents. She is seen as Sophie Carey, a concert singer, who befriends a girl from a country town who is in New York to try to make her way on the stage. The two young women are strangely involved in a murder mystery, one of the most sensational in years. It is known that about the time the victim was killed in his office a woman was seen leaving the room by way of a fire escape. Thus it is up to the police to "Find The Woman."

The picture will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, October 4th and 5th.

GOLF TOURNAMENT AT WALDO

A tournament of 9 holes handicap medal play for ladies and 18 holes medal play for men, starting at 1 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 1, will be held on the Waldo course, and all Fernie golfers are cordially invited to take part. The Waldo golfers are giving lunch to the visitors between 11 and 12.30, so all golfers should make it their business to be on the ground in good time. An enjoyable evening is assured. Any members desiring to go who have not cars will kindly notify A. Watson, Home Bank.

LARGE CORTEGE HONOR LAWSON

MACLEOD, Alta., Sept. 26.—Constable Stephen O. Lawson of the A. P.P., slain in Coleman last Thursday evening in the performance of duty, was honored in death here Monday, his funeral being pronounced by many the largest ever witnessed in Macleod. Business houses closed for two hours out of respect for the constable, who for several years was chief of police and a respected citizen of this town. Flags were at half mast, the day was calm, and nature spread out its lovely autumnal tints to a brilliant Alberta sun, during the last rites over the remains of the departed veteran being borne to their final resting place.

Interment was in the Macleod cemetery, the Masonic lodge officiating at the graveside. The "Last Post" was shrilly sounded as the sun dipped low in the western horizon, bringing tears to the eyes of strong men. It was a most impressive funeral.

At 2.30 the remains left the residence of Mrs. Lawson's parents for the Presbyterian church where service was held. The Lethbridge Pipe Band marched first, followed by a firing squad composed of Macleod veterans. The Masons fell in after the firing squad; then came the gun carriage bearing the coffin and the pall bearers, Corps. Hidson and Frewin, and Consts. Engle, Wilson, Taylor and McDonald. A party of 10 A. P. P. men and R. C. M. P. men were also in the procession, as well as hundreds of mourners and friends. The cortege was the longest ever seen in the city.

Const. Dey, of Blairmore, led the dead constable's charger. Two cars of floral tributes were borne in the cortege. The A. P. P. force was officially represented by its head, Commissioner Bryans, of Edmonton. Supt. Nicholson, of Calgary, and Inspector Bavin, of Lethbridge, were also present assisting with the arrangements.

The sermon delivered by the Rev. Mr. Kennedy was touching. Mrs. Lawson, wife of the murdered constable, was overcome with grief, collapsing during the service. In his sermon, the pastor recalled the years of service performed by Const. Lawson, years of service to his fellowmen and his country, His life at Macleod, overseas and in Fernie was referred to, his joining the A. P. P. five months ago, and his tragic end. His life was given for duty, a fitting crown for a life-time of labor faithfully performed. The Rev. D. K. Allan, of Coleman, and the Rev. Mr. Bryan, of Calgary, formerly of Taber, assisted in the service.

At the open grave a short prayer was uttered by the minister, after which the impressive Masonic rites were performed. The firing squad fired a volley of three rounds, the "Last Post" was sounded, and the remains of a good citizen, a fearless officer and a loyal friend were consigned to Mother Earth.

Inspector Dunwoody, of the B. C. Provincial Police, Fernie, officially represented that body; Sergt. Washford and Const. Pattie, the Lethbridge city police; Supt. Junget and Insp. Mellor, the R. C. M. P., and Magistrate Gresham, Blairmore; Chief of Police Houghton, of Coleman, and Chief of Police Anderson, of Fernie, were in attendance.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

Many a man has saved ten times the price of his subscription to the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal by using advice or recipes given through its columns. If one buys the paper for its stories alone, he saves from eight to twenty dollars a year, which the serials and other tales would cost him if bought in book form. As an investment nothing which yields a better return is on the market. One huge subscription list, with names on it which have been there for fifteen, twenty, thirty, forty, even fifty years, is one proof of that. The subscription price to the Family Herald and Weekly Star is $2.00 per year.

DO IT ELECTRICALLY

ECONOMY IN CANNING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Canning fruits and vegetables is an important factor in the economic conduct of the modern home and the well-managed household is sure to have a well-stocked preserve closet.

Canning by the cold pack method, which is the tested and approved method, is such a simple matter that even the business houswife can find time for a few jars a day during the canning season. The woman who must work in a hot kitchen, will, of course, find canning in hot weather an annoyance and discomfort; but if she is fortunaate enough to own an electric fireless cooker or an electric range she will find canning a very simple matter. Once the fruit or vegetable have been washed and blanched, they need only to be put in the cans, covered with liquid, and allowed to stand in the well of the fireless cooker or oven of the electric range until sterilization takes place. The great advantage of the electric stove is the uniform heat which may be maintained. Once the oven reaches the "boiling point" which is the required temperature for sterilization, It can be kept at an even temperature indefinitely.

MILLER PREPARES TINY MOTOR FOR RACING

Banishing and impression among millions of automobile race enthusiasts throughout the United States and Europe that America automobile manufacturers had not contemplated competition with foreigners when the first 122 cubic inch displacement motors are to appear in 1923, Harry Miller, veteran of the industry and builder of many famous racing motors, announced from his plant in Los Angeles that he had started construction of the first two motors, an "eight-in-a-row" design.

His entrance in the Indianapolis race meet next year, when cars of this type will make their first appearance, was wired to Carl Fisher of the Indianapolis speedway and Miller was informed that his car would bear the numerical "one" as a tribute to his enterprise in making the first American entry.

Indications in Los Angeles point to other constructive efforts being made along the same lines by the Packard Motor Car Company and the Duesenberg interests, which have been so prominent in latter-day racing history, and announcements are expected to be made by those respective manufacturers within a short time.

OUT OF HER HAND

An American writer wants to know whether feminism is not commencing to take real hold of government. "Is the helm of state itself now getting a 'steer' from woman?" asks a sob sister in a recent Sunday supplement. She goes on to metion Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, and Mrs. Medill McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna, as heralds of the new feminine regime in government.

As if to suggest that petticoat government were something new! "In these feminist days, the game of politics is acquiring a new and piquant interest," writes the sister. As if the vote had done it! Did Eve have the franchise when she gave Adam his orders about the apple? Did Jezebel need the suffrage when Ahab annexed Naboth's vineyard?

Petticoat government is one system of statecraft that never goes out of date. It did not begin with Madame de Pompadour nor did it end with Margot or Lady Diana Manners or Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, "the moving spirit in America's first political salon." Uncrowned queens we have with us, even in republics.

About the only way to minimize petticoat power is to have a queen. When Victoria ruled, even the fifty-year-old Prince of Wales broke into sweats at the thought of being late for dinner at the palace. Feminism had nothing to do with either the inauguration or the coronation of woman's rule. Man has to admit her sway. Even Adam admitted that it was Eve who gave him the apple. He did not say that she told him to eat it; her orders need not always be spoken; her gift was a command and "I did eat." He has been eating out of her hand ever since. — Toronto World.

What About Immigration?

Speaking about Mr. Jacobs, the member for Jacques Cartier took a whirl at the immigration laws, one evening last session, and made it plain that he would vote against the Government in favor of relaxation. Recently a compatriot, Rabbi Brickner, of Toronto, delivered an address at Ingersoll advocating relaxation of the immigration regulations. These pronouncements make no special difference, since the King Government's avowed policy is to evade responsibility on this, as well as other issues, and "pass the buck" as far as possible to the provinces and municipalities. Hence the impressive conference between Hon. Charles Stewart and lesser authorities throughout the country. Is it possible that the minister has neglected to consult W. T. R. Preston, at one time head of the Canadian emigration department in the old country? In 1910, during the Laurier regime, when immigration to Canada was very active, Mr. Preston wrote a letter to an official in Ontario, making some suggestions. Donald Sutherland, Conservative member for South Oxford, thought these of sufficient interest to quote, during the recent session of Parliament. Here is an extract:

"I have no hesitation in saying that a good class of foreigners scattered about the old parts of Ontario will do very much more towards preserving a proper agricultural population than those from England. I believe the introduction of a hundred families or so into some of these close ridings, with the connections which could be had and maintained here, would easily preserve for us many doubtful seats in that province."

PARSON'S JOLLY LIFE

The outing days are largely over, except perhaps for the northward journeyings of various gentlemen, with guns and bottles. The time has come to assess the value of holidays, but that is an ambiticus task which others may attempt. One aspect has drawn attention, namely, the relation of the Church to such affairs.

An English clergyman gives his experiences. First he took out the mothers' club and, being the only man among twenty-six women of his parish, was hailed by workingmen as "Ullo, Mormon." Then came the Sunday School picnic, at which he was given babies to hold for five minutes and held them five hours by the watch. At the young people's outing he was cloak attendant,, but that had nothing on the choir picnic, the choir boys "looking like angels and acting like anything else." Of the bell-ringers he would only say that they could smell a pub a mile away.

That is England. Eliminate one or two features, add three or four features of equal terror and you have the Canadian parson's Summer outings, if he be so foolish as not to take a two months' holiday for himself. It is a great life, if one does not permit oneself to become enfeebled. But by the time July comes the Canadian pastor feels that he needs eight weeks in which to recover from the June picnics and to prepare for the September corn roasts. And so away he goes while his dear parishioners murmur "I wish I had a job like he has." If they had they might never come back in September. — Toronto World.

Religions in The Commons

The 1922 Pariamentary Guide, just issued, contains in the preface a comment by Col. Chambers that one result of the recent Federal Election is the introduction of no less than 136 new biographical sketches into the House. In the matters of members' religious affiliation, it is noted that Quebec, which returned a solid bloc of Liberals, is almost equally unanimous as to church denomination. There are 67 Roman Catholics in a House of 235. Two of these are Progressives, one styled as Independent, and one a Conservative; the remaining 63 are Quebec members. That is to say, of 67 Roman Catholics in the Commons, only four sit on the Opposition side. No less than 70 members own the Presbyterian faith,, including all three party leaders. Methodists are next with 38, and Anglicans follow, with 31. There are a half-dozen Baptists M. P.'s, including the Minister of Finance, and three Congregationalists. Five are classified only as Protestants, and in the case of five, the religion is not stated. S. W. Jacobs, K.C., Jacques Cartier, is the only Hebrew, and Miss Agnes McPhail sole representative of the Latter Day Saints.

Caterpillar tractors are to be given a trial in winter transportation in the Yukon. The spectacle of the well known worm turning will then be demonstrated.

CARPENTIER LOSES TO SIKI

PARIS, Sept. 24. — The sun of Georges Carpentier has set. After six vicious rounds of fighting, the pugilistic pride of France went down to defeat before the powerful blows of Battling Siki, the Senegalese scrapper.

From the third round on, it was evident that the burly negro had the measure of the white heavyweight. Georges butted his opponent continually in an apparent effort to get the referee to disqualify him in order that he might not suffer a knockout. For his trouble he was hooted and jeered even by the men who had backed him two to one to beat the dark cloud.

In spite of the fact that the Senegalese had the better of the last 3 rounds, the end came suddenly and sent the crowd of sixty thousand into a bedlam of noise. To make it worse, the referee announced that Siki had tripped Carpentier and that the fallen man would be given three minutes to recover. At the end of that time, Georges still was in a semi-comatose state and unable to respond. He was hustled to his dressing room while the crowd sent up scream after scream that Siki should be declared the winner. The referee hesitated and then the three judges took a hand. After an hour's delay they declared that Siki was the winner.

Then more bedlam. The colored scrapper was lifted to the shoulders of the fans who before the conflict started had backed their white idol to the limit. He was carried about the arena amid the shouts "Siki, the new champion, Siki the new champion"

In his dressing room, Georges Carpentier was just coming to his senses. He would see no one. M. Deschamps, his manager, was white with rage. He couldn't understand how his man had been beaten, or rather how his man permitted himself to be beaten. But beaten he was and beaten by a man who, previous to the battle, was considered a "set up."

When the men entered the ring, Georges seemed drawn. His face was sallow but his body seemed fit to go the limit of twenty rounds called for by the conditions of the mill, His weight was announced at 173 ½ pounds while the Senegalese stripped at 174 pounds. Siki was the picture of a real fighter, and a real fighter he proved.

The battle opened wtih Carpentier and Siki hustling toward the centre of the ring. With cat-like quickness the Senegalese landed first and then the two men went into a clinch. Georges shot in a left uppercut and ended with the Sengalese well hid- seemed to amuse Georges who tried his utmost to make the ebony-hued foe drop his guard. Siki had been stung by the uppercut and the round ended with th eSenegalese well hidden behind his long arms. Georges went to his corner at the end of the round seemingly satisfied he could end the battle whenever he tried.

Siki came up for the second round with more confidence. Between clinches the battlers exchanged rights to the face. Georges showed little judgment of distance in his hitting and with Siki a bit wary, the round ended with little damage to either man.

The third session was different. The round wasn't very old before Carpentier dropped the Senegalese with a stiff right to the chin. The colored boy stayed down for the count of five. Eyeing the champion and apparently in nowise flustered, Siki leaped to his feet, catching the smiling Georges off his guard and plastered a right to the jaw that sent the champion sprawling on the canvas. Georges was up at the count of three, but the least experienced person in the pugilistic pastime could see that Carpentier was hurt. The round ended with the men in a clinch and the crowd wild over the fact that it was seeing a real scrap.

In the fourth round Siki began to plaster the champion. He planted swift rights and lefts to the face and Carpentier came out of the muss with badly split and bleeding lips. They sparred a bit, then Siki shot over a right that closed Georges' right eye. A second or so later another right split open Georges' cheek and he went to his corner tired and bewildered.

Siki followed up his advantage as soon as the fifth round opened. He led the attack and forced Georges into his corner. Then it was that Carpentier began to use all the tricks he knew to lose the verdict on a foul.

Then came the sixth and fatal round for the pride of France. The champion rushed from his corner with the evident intention of "taking" the negro. Almost blind from the punishment received. Georges felt his only chance was to go to it. But the negro met the rush head-on. Carpentier dropped to the floor, whether from a blow or from sheer exhaustion, it is hard to tell, the drop coming so quickly. The referee did not start to count. Georges lay stretched on the canvas fully twenty seconds before his seconds finally swarmed into the ring and carried him to his corner.

It was, at this point in the proceedings that the referee shouted that Georges had been tripped and that he would be given three minutes' rest. At the end of this time Georges was still half unconscious, and unable to resume.

It is expected that observations taken of the recent total eclipse of the sun may conform or disprove the Elinstein theory. Old Sol is about the only thing capable of throwing new light on a relatively obscure subject.

APACHES INVADE CITY OF MEXICO

More sensational to Mexico City than anything since the day of the famous "grey automobile," which became the dread of the captial, is the wave of crime and robbery spread over the city by the Apaches, who have come in numbers. These denizens of the dives of the Montmartre are accompanied by their "cocottes," their painted partners of the underworld who bring the prey into their hands.

Daring and vicious and with uncanny cunning and luck, the Apaches have outwitted the police and have continued their nightly depredations, taking the city by storm.

The women, artists of artists in feminine wiles and makeup, ply the main thoroughfares and frequent the night cafes. The Mexican youth of means delights in a "good time" and the dazzling French girls inveigle these quick companions to elegant apartments, when, after a period of drinking, the Apaches appear and fall on their prey. Americans, too, have been led to these apartments, only to become the prey of the Apaches.

The Apaches also make nightly patrols of the streets in automobiles and have frequent pistol battles with the police.

The Apaches have become the talk of the city and of the newspapers. Following up closely as possible their nightly marauding, one paper carries a daily story of their work, which covers a multitude of crimes.

Following the example of the "Apaches," scores of young Mexicans have started a campaign of robbery.

These nocturnal prowlers, with the blood of the Indian, armed with knife and pistol, without the finesse of the Apache, have killed and wounded more than the notorious French crooks. They work singly or in pairs, and recently they have formed cliques, which have become the bane of the gendarmerie. In one night recently seven bodies were found in different sections of the city, eaih with stab wounds. Many of these "coyotes," as they are known, find their living by stripping their victims of clothing. There have been instances of victims being shoved into automobiles, carried to the city limits, stripped and abandoned.

But the "coyotes" have not the ability to evade the police as have the Apaches. They fall into the hands of the police daily and are taken to prison to remain indefinitely. The famous prison of Belem at present has more than 1500 prisoners.

A New York special to the Toronto Globe says: "The first gold to move to Canada since the signing of the armistice has been shipped from New York. Formal announcement was made by the New York Trust Company that it shipped $500,000 in gold coin to the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Montreal. This shipment follows the recent strength of Canadian exchange and the fact that it had touched par, after a long depreciation, as expressed in the premium offered on dollars amounting to as much as 18 per cent at one time. The movement of gold to Canada is considered particularly significant at this time.

Some of Premier Lloyd George's critics declare that his word is worthless. This is not borne out by the announcement that he is to receive £1 per word for his memoirs. How he found time to write them between crises is equally remarkable.

EMPORER PICK'S RISE TO FAME

(Lethbridge Herald)

Strangely the wheels of fortune turn.

A week ago, Emilo Picariello was revelling in freedom and fortune. Today he is in a prison cell awaiting trial for the murder of an officer of the law—Constable "Steve" Lawson, of Coleman.

A week ago "Pick" was proud and defiant; he walked among the foreign population of the Pass as "Emporer Pick," a terror to many, a friend to some—to all a master rum dealer, powerful and rich. Today, alone and morose, he counts the days until he will be called to the bar of British justice.

The rise of "Pick" from a poor ice cream vendor in Fernie five years ago to a position of wealth and prominence in Blairmore, a town which honored him with office of alderman, is not without a touch of romance. He started business on a shoe string, like scores of other immigrants from southern Europe; today some place his fortune at half a million. It was his boast that he could place his hands on $300,000 in cash at a moment's notice. Was it a spark of genius that enabled him to do it? You must answer for yourself.

The other day after Picariello's capture as he lunged clumsily up the side of a mountain overlooking his home town in a hopeless effort to penetrate the line of police confronting him on every hand, some one remarked: "I wonder why 'Pick' didn't retire from this bootlegging game, sell his property here, go back to Italy, and live like a real king?"

The answer came from a man close to "Pick." "The 'game' was Pick's life," he said, "He loved the hazard of it, the bravado, the sensation it caused, the prestige it gave him among his countrymen, struggling on new soil to make a livelihood. He was the success, the king, the emperor. He gloried in his defiance of law; of his evasion of capture and lawsuits.

I remember Pick coming into my office one day. He was roughly dressed, grizzled, and feirce looking, although he was smiling and good-natured. I said to him, "Pick you remind me of one of those bandits we read about in books, the kind that infest the mountains of the Balkans or some wild mounain region of Europe." Pick grinned broadly, looked very much flattered, and said, "I am a bandit," proudly lifting his closely-cropped head.

Picariello made his headquarters at the Alberta Hotel, which he acquired on going to Blairmore some five years ago. From this base he directed his elaborate rum-running enterprises, which constituted some of the most desperate and daring in the history of bootlegging in this province. He took enormous chances, and with astonishing frequency evaded apprehension. He seemed to have a charmed life, getting away with a 'job' that paled the most-seasoned runner on the "trail." Convicted several times, he was undaunted in maintaining his operations.

"Pick" is said to have the Alberta hotel undermined with passages and rooms for the caching of his "wet goods," and for protection if found necessary. He is the owner of a string of high-powered cars, driving a McLaughlin Special himself. As the pivot of a great organization he reached out until his name blazed forth in border states of Idaho and Montana. On one of his trips to the States, it is stated, an American constable jumped on his speeding car. "Pick" smiled, shot out his hand, and held the officer in a vice-like grip until the car had crossed over into Canadian territory.

"Now," said Pick, "Do your dirtiest."

There is another side to "Pick." He has some of the spirit of Robin Hood in his make-up, for he is kind to the poor, and when Christmas time comes round, he never forgets them. Last Christmas he shipped in a car of flour which was distributed to everyone sending in their names. He directed the distribution of these Christmas "boxes" himself, and saw that everybody got a square deal. It is said of him that he never refused to help a friend in need, and has many friends all through the Pass.

Stories are told of fabulous sums which "Pick" carried around with him. It is said that he one time lined his hat with $10 bills and walked down Blairmore's main street. Another story has it that he one morning went to his bank with rolls too bulky to go through the wicket in the ordinary way. He threw them over the railing into the cashier's cage. Still another, is that when Bassoff and his companion "pulled" the train robbery a few years ago, it was "Pick" that they were laying for. He is said to have had $10,000 on him at the time, and that when the bandits appeared he quickly hid the roll between the cushions and seat, moved across the aisle to another seat, thus hoodwinking the bandits.

Picariello is a married man. He has a lamily of six children, all under 25 years. Steve, the boy shot in the hand in the chase leading up to the Coleman tragedy, is the oldest of the family. The woman, Mrs. Lasandra, was a waitress before her marriage to Charles Lasandra, one of "Pick's" trusted lieutenants. She is reported to have been seen with the Italian a good deal lately, and is charged with being an accomplice in the murder of Const. "Steve" Lawson on Thursday evening of last week. She, too, is an Italian, but not "Pick's" daughter, though several newspapers have so reported her.

Instead of having a nervous collapse a plucky Kirkland Lake girl seized a burglar who was entering the store where she was employed, through a rear window, by the neck, and held the intruder until help arrived.

Mrs. Chas. McNab, of Waldo, was the guest of Mrs. A. I. Fisher yesterday.

Gus Peterson, of Flagstone, was a business visitor in Fernie over the week end.

The Ford Motor Co. have announced another drop in the price of all Ford Models.

The regular monthly meeting of the Robert J. Black Primary Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held at the home of Mrs. E. K. Stewart, on Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 7.30 p.m.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Church Ladies Aid will be held in conjunction with the sewing meeting, Monday evening, Oct. 2 at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. H. Wilkes.

The annual meeting of St. John Ambulance Association will be held in the Mine Rescue Station on Monday, Oct. 2, at 7.30 p.m. All members and those interested are earnestly requested to attend.

Don't forget the dance in Victoria Hall, Tuesday, Oct. 17, to be given by the I.O.D.E. Half the proceeds for Fernie Public Library. Tickets $1.50 a couple. Extra lady 75c. Whitehouse orchestra.

A report comes from Calgary that R. B. Bennett, K.C., will be senior counsel in the defence of Emil Piccariello and Mrs. Lasandra, alleged murderers of Constable Steve Lawson. C. F. Harris, of Lethbridge, and Gillies and McKenzie, of Blairmore, have also been retained.

Wm. Mills had a rather disagreeable experience while camping near New Westminster at the coast on his late automobile trip. While asleep in his tent a sneak thief got away with his trousers, the pockets of which contained some $95. The thief also took a new suit of clothes, leaving Billy a little short of wearing apparel.

Dr. Bonnell, for 23 years physician for the miners of Fernie, has severed his connection with the firm of Bonnell, Garner & Asselstine. For some time the doctor has been studying to specialize on the eye, ear, nose and throat, and left yesterday for Chicago, where he will spend several months completing his course. When through Dr. Bonnell will make Fernie his headquarters. Mrs. Bonnell accompanied him to Chicago but will return about Dec. 1.

Among the Fernie visitors to Macleod attending the funeral of the late Stephen Lawson, on Monday, were: His Worship Mayor Henderson, Chas. Anderson, city police chief; Inspector W. R. Dunwoody of the provincial police; M. A. Kastner, Jas. Falconer, Chas. Fawcett, R. Linn, D. G. Harvie, Wm. McDermid, R. G. McEwan, F. G. Perry, J. V. Rewers, Neil McCallum, Robt. Strachan, Alex. Sherwood, A. Brittany, Ed. Paterson, Sgt. Wright, G. G. Moffatt, E. A. Davison and Fred Kniert.

What almost resulted in a serious accident occurred early Sunday morning, when a Ford car, driven by Ralph Larner of this city, went over the steep embankment at the "hairpin" turn ten miles west of Fernie. Larner and a party of five other young men left here on a hunting expedition, and when making the exceptionally sharp turn the steering gear of the Ford broke and the car nosedived over the bank, giving the party no time to get out of the car. Luckily all the party escaped with a slight shaking up. Larner, who was driving, sustained injuries about the head, but is reported to be in no danger. The car is a complete wreck.

Tuesday afternoon a charge of inflicting grevious bodily harm was laid against Max Belecky, well known hotelman of the Crow's Nest Pass, he at the present time being proprietor of the Napanee Hotel in this city and the Cosmopolitan Hotel at Blairmore. The incident is alleged to have transpired on the platform of the C.P.R. depot on Monday evening following the departure of the eastbound passenger train, when Alec Kovaliskin, a porter for the King Edward Hotel, was the victim of an attack. Belecky is accused of being the aggressor and the injuries the victim sustained about the head and face were sufficiently severe to require medical attention at the hospital. The preliminary will be held as soon as Kovaliskin has recovered sufficiently to testify.

You will sit spellbound during the forest fire scenes that will be flashed on the screen at the Isis theatre during the presentation of "Heart of the North," on Wednsday and Thursday, Oct. 4 and 5.

Tense situations and scenic splendor and atmosphere, make a most vivid impression. The scenes of this red blooded photoplay, directed by Harry Revier, are laid in the Canadian Northwest, the rugged land where men die for the women they love.

Roy Stewart gave a commendable performance in the dual role of the twin brothers—Lieut. Whitley of the Northwest Mounted Police and as bad Moupome, chief of a band of law-defying men. Louise Lovely, who supported Roy Stewart again, was charming and effective as the heroine.

The story is convincing, particularly the thrilling incident where as Patricia Graham, Miss Lovely is rescued by Stewart from a raging forest fire.

There is considerable mystery in that part of the picture where Patricia believes Lieut. Whitley to be the perpetrator of an asault upon her father, although in reality the crime was committed by Maupome, also played by Mr. Stewart. The deception is discovered in time for Whitley to be vindicated.

"The Heart of the North" is one of the most thrilling romances of adventure and love that has been presented in this city in a long time.

"Fruit-a-tives" Restored Him to Health

159 AVENUE PIUS IX, MONTREAL

"For three years, I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and my general health was very bad. I consulted a physician and took his medicine but I did not improve; and finally he told me that I could not be cured.

At this time, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives". After taking two boxes, I was greatly relieved; and this fruit medicine made me completely well. My digestion and general health are now splendid".

SOME FIND IT BY ACCIDENT

Mrs. Materson says she is "one of those women who does not believe in experimenting with new foods." She was forced to use Pacific Milk for a cake because she couldn't get fresh milk and it was near supper time. The layers were so light and so delicate in flavor that her husband spoke of it. Another trial gave similar results. Now she buys Pacific by the case to save trouble in sending out for it.

Eileen, 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Winters of this city, had a narrow escape from drowning on Sunday evening last, when she fell into an uncovered water main valve service box on Pellatt Ave. and McEvoy Street. A bad break in the water main in that vicinity had made it necessary to use this service box in an attempt to stop the leak by shutting off the water, but apparently the valve itself was defective as the box became filled with water. The little tot in some manner got out of the yard and fell into this dangerous trap. Her cries of alarm were heard and immediately responded to by Miss Isobel Dicken, who rescued her after she had gone down a second time. The child soon recovered and appears not to have suffered any ill effects from the accident.

That Fernie is a big game centre was clearly demonstrated on Sunday morning about 10 o'clock when a big bull moose came down from the mountains and gave the north east end of Victoria avenue the once over, bringing a considerable number of the residents out of dreamland to see the visitor. Mr. Moose, evidently wishing to show off his speed, circled the Fernie football grounds several times before making off over the golf course and back into the mountains. It was only last Thursday that a nice blue grouse caused considerable amusement here by alighting in front of the Napanee hotel and started picking scraps of food from the street, and when disturbed by a passing automobile took wing to the third story of the hotel and tried to fly through the glass in one of the windows. Finding the glass too strong for it the bird settled on the window sill and calmly looked over the crowd below it for a few minutes and then flew off.

No Time For Aggression

-o-

It would be fatal to the peace of Constantinople if either Greeks or Turks were to act in the conviction that they enjoyed the special protection of any of the Allied Powers. In the confusion of the Near East the Allies must maintain an absolutely united front, not in word only, but in resolute action. General Harrington's warning of an intention to repel all possible attacks is salutary but in order to be completely effective it must be reinforced by a determined effort on the part of the Allies to secure peace in the Near East. But in no case can the Greek designs upon Constantinople be tolerated for an instant.—London Times.

Canada Needs Men

-o-

The third-class traffic is now a valuable asset in the Atlantic trade, and there can be little doubt that the steamship companies are making an eager bid for the great emigration that is in progress from Eastern Europe to the United States. Of course the most important point to the poor emigrant is the price of the fare, and that is not only much higher than before the war, but much harder to find. To many people in distracted Europe emigration has become a necessity and an impossibility. The news that there will be a band to entertain them if they could but get on board will bring small comfort to such unfortunates.—London Daily Star.

An Unpleasant Incident

-o-

Mrs. J. S. Sargent, a native of New York, but married to an Englishman was, with her daughter and a 5-year-old niece, among the first-lass passengers of the Cunard liner Berengaria, which arrived in New York Friday. But finding the party would have to be taken to Ellis Island because the parents of the niece were not in the United States, she decided to abandon her visit to her native land and Saturday sailed for England on the same steamer. There have been other unpleasant incidents of the same kind; is there no way to prevent them by amending the law or modifying the regulations based on the law?—Springfield Republican.

Rubber In Paper

Paper manufacturers in all parts of the world are becoming interested in a recent invention for using rubber latex (the milk of the rubber tree) in making paper, says the paper division of the United States department of commerce. The process involved, which has already been patented in England, was invented by Frederick Kaye, a fellow of the Royal Chemical Society.

The department of commerce has been in communication with Mr Kaye through the department's London representative. He has sent 600 gallons of latex, wihich is being distributed to manufacturers who arranged with the paper division for defraying the cost of transportation from the East Indian plantations. These manufacturers are desirious of making experiments to determine the possibility of improving the various kinds of paper they make. The United States Bureau of Standards will also conduct experiments, and will publish its results for the general information of the paper industry.

Experiments already made in England show that small percentages of rubber latex in the paper considerably increases its strength and its ability to be folded frequently without deterioration at the fold.

Increase in the waterproof qualities of the paper, and improvement in its texture and "feel" are also reported. Whether or not in actual commercial paper production it will pay to use latex to obtain these improvements in the product, can only be decided by many tests. — Christian Science Monitor.

The Boredom of Talkativeness

The wise man, says Bishop Butler, observes that there is a time to speak and a time to keep silence. One meets with people who seem never to have made the last of these observations. And yet these great talkers do not at all speak from their having anything to say, but simply from their inclination to be talking. Their conversation is merely an excess of the tongue; no other faculty has any share in it. It is strange these persons can help reflecting, that unless they have a superior capacity, and are in an extraordinary manner furnished for conversation; if they are entertaining, it is at their own expense.

Is it possible that it should never come into people's thoughts to suspect, whether or not it be to their advantage to show so very much of themselves? Oh that you would hold your peace, and it should be your wisdom. Remember there are persons who love fewer words, and who deserve some regard, though of too still and composed tempers for you. Of this number was the son of Sirach, for he plainly speaks from experience when he says: "As hills of sand are to the steps of the aged, so is one of many words to a quiet man." But one would think it should be obvious to every one that when they are in company with their superiors in years, knowledge and experience, when subjects are discourced of, which they cannot bear a part in; that these are times for silence, at least in their turn.

These people in a manner cut themselves out from all advantage of conversation, except that of being entertained with their own talk; their object in coming into company not being at all to be informed, to hear, to learn; but to display themselves, or rather to exert their faculty, and talk without any design at all.—Horkshire Post.

CLOUDBURST DAMAGES FLUME—MINE CLOSES

Work on the Gamble placer property on Wild Horse creek near Fort Steele, has ceased for the time being and in all probability untiy next spring, according to E. W. Watson, engineer in charge of the work there. The closing down of this valuable property was occasioned by huge damages done to the flumes, when a cloudburst underwashed the supports and brought many sections down.

"This has interfered seriously with the work," said Mr. Watson, "and we are standing by, financing for a full season next year." The property was compelled to shut down without a chance of even cleaning out the sluice boxes. In all 1000 feet of virgin channel has been proved up by hydraulicing with 3000 feet more available.

An old timer in the placer claims, the Gamble was first worked in 1868 when some 15,000 men earned their livelihood on these claims. The Chinese, in particular, taking thousands of dollars from the porperty by means of rockers, Long Toms, and sluices. The large quantities of gold so secured were taken from the country by means of pack trains through Walla Walla. Much of the valuable cargo falling into the hands of bandits who operated throughout Idaho in those days.

In 1873 the channel was worked by Old Country capital who practised hydraulicing in a crude way. ditches were dug and over $9,000,000 was taken from the ground. The workers in those days knew of the river channel, because several shafts were driven into the main channel down to bed-rock, in so doing the dumping grounds were lost and the enterprise was abandoned.

Four years ago the present workers took over this property and have striven quite hard in order to make things go. This year their hopes were realised and the work was going on merrily when the flumes were demolished. An early start will be made in the spring and the work will continue until the fall. The plant is a powerful one and the equipment cannot be equalled in the country. The ground yielded this summer some $1.50 per yard, which is phenominal. The returns for 800 yards of carefully measured ground totalled $1400. The company operating the creek is purely a Canadian concern, all capital being subscribed locally in Canada. Mr. Watson is quite optimistic over this property from which he predicts enormous values will be taken.—Nelson News.

Dated at Ottawa, 8th August, 1922.

LESSONS FROM EXTINCT RACES

Most people have quit worrying about one thing, namely, the time when the world will have too many people. Great theorists used to calculate that in so many years the earth would lack standing room for the human race, but modern war is considered a sure preventive of any such calamity.

It is undeniable, however, that races do wax phenomenally and wane mysteriously. The Mayas, who flourished in central America in a gorgeous civilization at the dawn of the Christian era, are an example. They built huge cities, requiring millions of laborers, and then life vanished. Why?

The Third Asiatic Expedition which left this continent a year ago reports the discovery of fossils clearly showing that mammals and reptiles in the Rocky Mountains and Europe had the same origin—Asia. But the Mayas did not return to Asia, for by the Christian era the continents had been long separated.

A clue is furnished by the discovery that the Mayas had neither metals for tools nor beasts for transport. Their agriculture, according to discoveries and reasonings of a recent explorer, was based on fire. They could not plow, so they burned over the land, cultivated it one year and let it stay idle for seven years until the trees were high enough for burning and fertilizing again. But the roots of the trees finally died, the soil became impoverished, population went on increasing and everyone had to "move on" or starve.

Where will our race go when food supplies lag behind the growth of population? No wonder the hopeless materialist says that war is a "biological necessity."

According to Prof. Whipple of Harvard, one of the few scientists now considering the question of population, the percentage of increase is lessening each year, but this for the best if it is desirable to avoid catastrophic wars.

"No More War," plead placards in a huge procession in Germany, a land with a large birth rate.

If the American rate of annual increase did not fall below an annual standard of .5 per cent., the republic would have 175,000,00 people by the year 2020; 472,000,000 by 2040 and 2,110,000,000 by 2520.

No wonder the Japanese Government has ordered Whipple's work translated for official guidance!

Dr. Whipple expects that for the next fifty years the American rate will not exceed 1.5 per cent. per year. Since 1800 the rate among western nations has averaged 1.1 per cent. per annum.

The human race would seem to be fairly permanent feautres of the landscape. War, pestilence and famine have hitherto prevented any notable increase within histroic times. But seven or eight thousand years were not long in the history of the dinosaurs, for example, who once roamed three continents. They have gone except from museums and man does well to take the long view of his own nature and enviornment.

Then also there are the Mayas, who raised huge rocks by sheer man power until they had rivalled the pyramids of Egypt, whose social organizations was vast and ancient, whose political genius none can deny. But they made the error of not gaining full control of the essential factors of their enviornment.

Today we are prone to condemn all fire-worshippers, but who can exaggerate the importance of fire to man?

We are forgetting to tame animals, having so harnessed the mechanical forces of nature that the horse fades before the tractor and truck.

Sometimes we even minimize the work of the inventor, who enables us to harness natural forces.

But who is greater than the man who first made fire and applied it to basic uses?

Having fire but not metals, the Mayas had no plows or swords. They could not very well go to war or cultivate the soil. They lacked the genius which would turn a charred stick into a plow. They lacked the daring which would seek out metals.

Without discoveries and inventors, the masses of the Maya population were useless. Where there is no imagination there is no progress. "Where there is no vision the people perish" says the Bible, which is as if the text of the sermon were put last. And the lesson to be learned would seem to be that man's increasing control over material things will need to be matched by his control over himself if overpopulation is not to force a final catastrophe.

HONOURING A CANADIAN EXPLORER

IN the year 1807, David Thompson, Canada's greatest geographer, landed on the shores of Lake Windermere, British Columbia, and in the fall of 1922, one hundred and fifteen years later, people from all parts of Canada assembled near the spot where he landed, to do him honour, and to open in his memory a large log building or Fort, which takes the form of a museum to be utilized for the purpose of preserving historical relics.

The fort and museum were erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Hudson Bay Company in co-operation with one another.

The dedication ceremonies included a pageant, which represented the scene of David Thompson's first visit to Lake Windermere. Indians from the Shuswap and Kootenay reserves were there in large numbers. Their tepees, pitched on the hillside surrounding the fort, were a splendid setting for the picturesque fort and museum. At night the Indians lighted their camp fires, and sang and played the favourite music of their tribes The squaws were dressed for the event in their finest costumes, feathers, beads, elk teeth, gaily colored shawls and skirts being prominent. Children, or papooses, as the Indians call them, were fashionable miniatures of their mothers. The braves appeared in their grandest robes, and were an inspiring sight. In the games held on the second day they showed skill of the highest order. Some of Canada's most distinguished authors, including Bliss Carman were present on the occasion which will long be remembered at Lake Windermere.

POSITION OF LLOYD GEORGE

All kinds of batteries are being unlimbered and directed against Premier Lloyd George. His former Liberal friends are turning against him and Conservatives of the old school are bitter in their views of him. They consider him an usurper, an upstart and an opportunist. We shall not attempt to judge between the Prime Minister and his former suporters; but the fact remains that he is a great, if not an extraordinary, man, and that he accomplished notable things for his country during one of the most critical periods of her history.

Rt. Hon. Lloyd George has scaled some magnificient political heights during his comparatively short public career, and he must therefore have made many personal friends and political enemies. The matter of his rise has been peculiar, and not calculated to add to the circle of his friends once the object in view has been attained.

One recent development is unexpected. Surely no one who has kept a watchful eye upon the trend of events in the Near East or has read the story of the Turk in Europe would have expected Liberals to take the side of the "Sick Man of Europe" against any party or public man who has announced a determination to curb his peculiar activities. The fate of the inhabitants of Smyrna and of the country surrounding it proves that however gentlemanly a fighter the Turk may be viewed through colored glasses, he is still essentially made of the same material as "Adbul the Damned," whose conduct brought down the maledictions of the late William Ewart Gladstone. Yet the Premier has been bitterly attacked by The London Chronicle, the leading Liberal newspaper of England at the present time, and by many Liberal speakers for taking a position precisely similar to that of Gladstone. This indicates a great and remarkable change in the atitude of the Liberal party of Great Britain. It also indicates that principles are being subordinated to party exigencies. One of the pecularities of the Prime Minister is that he has an almost uncanny faculty of placing his foot on the neck of his enemies.—Victoria Colonist.

NEW SCIENCE WAKES DEAD PHYSICAL ORGANS RESPOND BUT MENTALITY IS DORMANT

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Dr. Thomas J. Allen who today addressed the Chicago Society of Anthropotonomy, announced the development of Vitamode, a new science, whereby the dead may be brought back to life, provided the organs of the body are not worn out.

Vitamode, as its name implies ,is the science, which explains the mode and nature of life. It is based on the fact that all life is a series of tensolaxing movements, in other words, a series of alternate contractions and relaxations.

Revival of the apparently drowned is an example, where the result is brought about by alternate pressure and expansion of lungs and other organs.

The science is being rapidly developed and even now it is claimed that by adherence to its practical methods it is possible to increase the physical and metal ability of any person by two or three times.

Dr. Allen stated that Dr. A. Kyle, of Aurora, Illinois, had succeeded in reviving dead dogs to the extent that they could walk and do everything except function mentally.

Dr. Allen said it was only a question of time before the same effects could be produced in the body of a dead man or woman, provided that the organs were sound and too long a time had not elapsed, and that he looked forward to the discovery of a means of restoring the mental processes also.

Patronage Rules

S. W. Jacobs, Liberal M. P. for Jacques Cartier, who is by way of being a "candid friend" of the Government, made a speech recently in Winnipeg in which he declared that the National Railways, removed entirely from the realm of patronage by the Meighen Government, are already being used for patronage purposes, and that the first qualification of the new directors will be that they are faithful Liberals. He said:

"At the present moment a number of officials of the Government railways are being replaced. These were either Conservatives or were appointed under the Unionist Government. Now a Liberal Government being in power, they must go, and Liberals must be given their places. Such is not in the interest of the efficient administration of any railway system, and without efficiency you have failure. Directors are about to be appointed. Every one of them will be Liberals. They will not be appointed because they have any railway knowledge or technical capacity. They will be appointed because of the political services they have rendered to the Liberal party. The mere fact that these directors will be appointed by the Government makes them the creatures of the Government. You cannot get away from that."

it creams your vegetables

CARNATION makes a delicious cream sauce for vegetables. Its double richness—twice that of ordinary milk—and its fine distinctive flavor blend perfectly with the savor of the dish.

Use Carnation to cream any vegetable. Use it in any recipe calling for milk. Use it undiluted as a delightful and economical alternative for cream. Where ordinary milk is required be sure to add an equal quantity of water to reduce its richness.

Carnation is absolutely pure and keeps in the tin indefinitely. You don't want less than the best. Have your grocer deliver a half dozen tins with your next order.

WHITE SAUCE FOR MANY PURPOSES
Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in sauce pan; when bubbling add 1 tablespoon of flour and stir until well blended. Pour in, very gradually, ½ cup Carnation mixed with half cup water. Add quarter teaspoon salt and dash pepper. Beat until smooth and creamy.

THIS CREAMED ASPARAGUS IS GOOD
Take 2 bunches asparagus and 2 cups cream white sauce. Break off lower parts stalks. Wash and remove scales. Cook in boiling salted water 15 minutes. Leave tips out first 10 minutes. Drain, remove string and add to sauce. Serves six.

PICARIELLO TRIAL OCT. 2

Emillo Picariello and Mrs. Charles Lasandra, jointly charged with the murder of A. P. P. Const. Lawson at Coleman last Thursday evening, will come up for preliminary hearing before Magistrate Gresham at Coleman on Monday morning, October 2, at 10 o'clock.

The alleged murderers appeared before Magistrate Barker in A. P. P. court at Lethbridge on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, were charged with murder, and were remanded for trial until the above date. Picariello was committed to custody in the Lethbridge provincial jail awaiting prelimiary hearing, while the Lasandra woman was sent to the women's barracks at Calgary.

The alleged slayer and his woman accomplice appeared before Magistrate Barker separately. Picariello was brought from the A. P. P. cells into the police court manacled and heavily guarded by A.P.P. constables wearing side arms. He walked briskly from the cell to the court room. He was still unshaven and his bushy grey hair stood in a matted shock on his large head. He sat stolidly throughout the proceedings except when he rose to listen to the charge that he did, on the evening of September 21, at Coleman, murder Steve Lawson, A. P. P. Constable. Following the reading of the charge he sat heavily in his chair. He was represented by C. F. Harris, who asked for a remand until a week from today rather than until next Thursday, as asked by the police. Mr. Harris, however, promised that if, for any special reason, the crown prosecutor at Macleod desired to have the preliminary brought on Thursday, he would endeavor to get ready. The preliminary lasted only a few minutes, when Picariello was led back to his cell, later to be taken to the Lethbridge jail where he will be under special guard until taken to Coleman next Monday morning for preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Charles Lasandra, the woman in the case, who is said to have declared that she shot Steve Lawson by accident, was next brought before Magistrate Barker, and the same formality gone though. She, too, was charged with murder, the first time in many years that a woman has faced a magistrate in Lethbridge to hear this most serious of charges. She appeared nonchalant throughout the proceedings, during which she did not utter a word. Mrs. Lasandra is a small woman of apparent Italian birth. She has coal black hair, bobbed at her shoulders, caught with a comb at the back. Her piercing black eyes were kept straight to the front throughout the proceedings. She, too, was heavily guarded, but she was not manacled. Her preliminary hearing was set for the same hour at Coleman, but it is understood the two preliminaries will be held separately.

If committments are made in both cases, the cases will be heard at the criminal assizes at Macleod early next month, though there is a posibility that the crown will ask for a change of venue to Lethbridge in which case they will be heard at the criminal assizes here in October.

DANGEROUS FIRE NEAR MICHEL

Late on Saturday evening a bush fire sprang up about a mile east of the town of Michel and fanned by a brisk wind was rapidly driven in the direction of the town. It is presumed to have started in or about an old abandoned trapper's cabin from an unknown cause. Govt. Forest Ranger Schupe went hastily to the scene and soon had a large force of men attempting to check it, while the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. also placed about 125 men at his disposal for the same purpose. Owing to the terrific gale which developed, human effort was practically of little avail, but fortunately for the town the fire continued high up on the mountain sides and although sparks and embers showered upon the town none of the buildings became ignited. Some 3000 railway ties and about 4000 sawlogs, the property of the Coal Co., were totally destroyed, but otherwise the damage was confined to standing timber.

In so far as this section of the province is concerned, since the close of what is usually considered the dangerous fire season on Sept. 15, there has been far more acreage burned over and far greater damage caused through forest fires than during the entire season. However, within the last 24 hours heavy rains have been general throughout this section and from now on very little further trouble is anticipated from fire.

The Michel fire caused the hydro-electric power line to be put out of commission. This enterprise, operated by the East Kootenay Electric Light & Power Co., supplies electrical energy throughout the Crow's Nest Pass as far east as Hillcrest and Bellevue in Alberta for industrial and domestic purposes. The interruption, however, in the power service was brief as the damage to the line was but slight.

NEW NANAIMO AGREEMENT

An agreement has been entered into between the management and the employees of the Western Fuel Corporation of Canada, Nanaimo, the same to take effect on October next and to remain in force for two years from that date.

The minimum wage per day to be paid the coal miner is $4.25¼ "it being understood that the superintendent of mines shall be the judge as to the ability of the party to earn such minimum. In addition, the company agrees to pay all employees a bonus of $1.00 per day worked." "It is mutually understood by the company and the employees that any increase or decrease in the bonus herein mentioned shall be governed by competitive conditions." The former bonus was 88 cents per day worked.

Lower seam, $1.08 per ton.

Yardage—Upper seam—Levels, $3.37 per yard and coal.

Crosscuts, $2.70 per yard and coal.

Levels, when less than one-half of height is in white rock, $10.12½ per yard; coal to company.

Levels, when more than one-half of height is in white rock, $10.80 per yard; coal to company.

Turning stalls, five yards long by twelve feet wide, $13.50 and coal.

Brushing rock, one foot thick, $1.35 per lineal yard.

The day rates range from $3.71¼ for muckers to $4.99½ to machine foreman. To these, of course, must be added the bonus already referred to.

At the miners' mass meeting it also was decided that Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines, should be asked to exclude Orientals from the mines and that the appointees to boards for the administration of the Widows' Pension Act be better acquainted with the needs of the beneficiaries.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Klingensmith, of Elko, left last week for California, where they will make their home in future. Mr. Klingensmith is interested in oil prespects in that state, and will devote his entire attention to that branch of industry. He will, however, make occasional visits to Elko, as he is possessed of considerable property in that town.

Blairmore and Michel met gain at Blairmore on Saturday last in the finals for the Crahan Cup. Both sides were lined up strong but owing to a very strong wind prevailing it was a very disinteresting game, the result being a draw, one goal each.

The replay will take place at Hillcrest on Saturday. Kick-off at 3.30, to be played to a finish.

Fernie and Coal Creek will play a benefit game at Fernie on Sunday. Kick-off at 4 p.m.

The Fernie Motor Car Co. cash register was robbed today at noon of the sum of $75. The stenographer went out for about ten minutes, leaving the street door locked, and when she returned found both doors open, also the cash register, which was minus $75. The police have the matter in hand.

SHOWS NO EMOTION IN PLOTTING DEATH OF MEN AND WOMEN

A de luxe villain is one of the novelties of "Dead Men Tell No Tales," the Vitagraph-Tom Terriss special screen production of the E. W. Hornung novel, which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

This polished scoundrel is on the point of carrying out a plan which will send scores of people to their doom. Does he fret? Does he worry? Does he think of the vengeance of the law? In answer to all three questions, he does not.

Instead, he plays a leisurely game of solitaire, giving serious attention to the vital problem of getting a red queen to go next to a black king, and such important things. His game finished, he gathers up the cards and puts them in their case.

He proceeds then to pack his suitcase, with the display of emotion of a man going on a week end trip. He throws in his shaving brush, clean linen and a large supply of cigarettes. Then he brushes his hair carefully and puts in the brush. His cloak and his ebony cane are laid on the bed ready for use and the suitcase locked.

Having made these preparations for easy departure. Santos, the villain, goes to the hold of the ship on which he is a passenger and with the fire from one of his expensive cigarettes makes a torch of the vessel. It goes up in flames, fed by men and women and children, but not before Santos has taken his belongings and disappeared via the captain's waiting gig.

OWNERS SATISFIED WITH PREMIER MINE

(Victoria Colonist)

R. W. Wood, Fernie, president of Premier Mines, Limited, the company which owns and operates the famous Premier Mine near Stewart, B. C., was in the city yesterday, staying at the Empress Hotel. He stated that there were no new developments in connection with the mine, merely pointing out that the property was giving himself and the owners the greatest satisfaction. He had nothing to say regarding plans for the acquisition of other properties.

W. R. Wilson, also of Fernie, one of the stockholders in the Premier company, left here a few days ago for Stewart to make an inspection of the showings at the Big Missouri Mine, which is being operated under bond by related interests under the charge of Harry Howson. Before leaving Victoria he said that whether or not the development of the property was proceeded with by himself and his associates would probably depend upon the report which he would make following his inspection, and he thought that the prospects were bright for a favorable report being given.

The Methodist Church at Michel held their annual Harvest Festival service on Sunday, Sept. 24. The church was beautifully decorated with good things and a generous supply of flowers. A very appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. R. Moses, pastor of the church. The choir rendered special hymns suitable for the occasion, and a duet was sung by Mrs. Gullett and Mrs. Moses, entitled "Weary Gleaner," which deserved special mention. The committee wish to thank all who donated vegetables and fruit and flowers, and Mr. Whalley for his service at the organ. The usual sale of vegetables and fruit took place on Monday evening and a nice sum was raised towards the financial support of the church.

PICARIELLO PRELIMINARY

Blairmore, Oct. 4. — Speeding up their witnesses, the crown concluded its case at Coleman yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and fifteen minutes later Emilio Picariello and Florence Lassandro, charged with the murder of Constable Steve O. Lawson, at Coleman, Sept. 21, were committed for trial at the next sitting of the supreme court at Macleod. The two prisoners heard the words of Magistrate Gresham without emotion, and were soon led through the masses in the street to the waiting automobiles. The preliminary hearing consumed two full days.

COLEMAN, Oct. 2.—So dense was the crowd that clamored for admittance at the preliminary hearing of Emilio Picariello and Mrs. Charles Lassandro, alleged slayers of Const. Steve Lawson of the A.P.P. on the evening of September 21st that it was deemed advisable to change the place of the trial from the council chamber of the Coleman town hall to the opera house. Seats at 9.30 o'clock were at a premium, five hundred people, some of whom were women, crowding the main floor and balcony. Interest in the trial was due to the fame of the accused, known throughout the Pass as "Emperor Pick" and the popularity of the dead constable is intense. The foreign element predominated. The trial was late in starting. At 10.10 o'clock the prisoners had not yet arrived in the court room. At 10.15 o'clock, Piccariello, collarless, his head closely cropped, and slightly nervous, was brought in and seated in front of the magistrate's table. The Italian fumbled a white handkerchief, and his keen black eyes followed every detail of the hearing. It is expected that 29 witnesses for the crown will be called. A heavy detail of police are here, several being sprinkled throughout the crowd.

C.F. Harris, counsel for Emilio Piccariello and Mrs Florence Lassandro, charged with the murder of Steve Lawson, at Coleman, Sept. 21, failed to shake the testimony of Chief of Police Houghton, chief crown witness, at the preliminary hearing this morning. Houghton swore that Piccariello and Mrs. Charles Lassandro were the occupants of the death car. A green coat produced as an exhibit was identified by the witness as that worn by Mrs. Lassandro the night of the Lawson tragedy.

Mr. Harris met with a sharp retort from Crown Prosecutor McGillivray during his cross-examination of Houghton.

"We will not allow this witness to be bullied, Mr. Harris."

This was a signal for loud applause bringing a warning from the bench against any exhibition of feeling.

"If this occurs again the court will be cleared," said magistrate Gresham.

Houghton shed a new light on the chase of "Pick" Jr. He swore that only one shot was fired at the boy's car. Witness further testified that Lawson was shot in the back with a cut bullet.

During the morning's session Mrs. Lawson and her fatherless children left the court room. While passing the prisoner, Pick's eyes seemed to be swimming with tears as he looked at the babes. He put his handkerchief to his eyes.

On leaving the court room, Mrs. Lassandro, who is exhibiting remarkable nerve, kissed her friends and waved to them. She was smartly dressed this morninng and occasionally adjusted her bobbed locks.

At 12 o'clock the court adjourned

Wires Bringing Electricity Into Your Homes Do Not End Well Unless They End in Plenty of Outlets For Light, Power and Beauty—By Alice Carroll.

—o—

The comfort and convenience of the home as well as the health and happiness of the family depend to a marked degree upon the extent to which the house is equipped with electric service.

A wiring installation, to be adequate, should take into consideration future as well as present electrical needs, including an abundance of convenience outlets and, if possible, separate circuits for light and power.

In the past we were content to wire for illumination exclusively and not even a door bell was permitted to burden the lighting circuit. With the advent of household appliances, however, wiring installations were designed with a view to carrying one or more labor savers. But the ordinary lamp sockets was still accepted as a safe and satisfactory means of making the connection.

Appliance sales increased with rapidity; but their use meant sacrificing lamp sockets to make connections, which proved an inconvenience and a nuisance, especially after dark when all available lamp sockets were required for illumination.

In addition to the loss of light engendered by the use of lamp sockets for electric appliances, there was danger of tumbling off chairs or tripping over cords when making the connection, so that appliances became less and less popular until frequently they were relegated to the attic or closet shelf.

This situation ushered in and popularized "convenience outlets" those unobstructive little receptacles located in floor or walls to which labor saving appliances, portable lamps and other devices may be safely and conveniently attached.

Plenty of these outlets are essential in the home if household tasks are to be simplified and expediated. In laundry and kitchen, for instance, there should be enough outlets to take care of washing machine, iron or ironing machine, dishwasher and kitchen motor, while in the dining room they should be provided plentifully enough to permit the use of perculator, toaster, grill or chafing dish; and a special outlet should be located in every room in the house for vacuum cleaner and electric fan.

The lighting of the home is of even greater importance. A wiring system should be provided that will afford adequate and proper illumination, free from glare and eyestrain, and at the same time lend a certain decorative value to the general appearance and color scheme. It is not enough to have just raw light—it must be controlled and directed by means of shades and reflectors.

The fundamental purpose of light is to illuminate. The pupil of the eye expands and contracts automatically to control the amount of light that enters the eye. In dim light it expands, in bright light it contracts and when light shines directly into it, the eye is dazzled and strained. It is therefore essential that light be diffused so as to eliminate both glare and shadows.

While correct lighting is the first consideration, the beauty and charm of the well-lighted home cannot be overlooked. Bright spots of color may be introduced by means of lamps and fixtures, and the general decorative scheme enchanced to an appreciable degree by well chosen lamps and lamp shades.

Portable lamps furnish this decorative note in pleasing variety. And in their use, as well as in the use of appliances, the little convenience outlet earns a warm welcome in every room in the house. Everyone likes to change the position of furnishings frequently; this gives a note of freshness and variety to the room. To do this with entire success, there must be many places for making electrical connections easily and unobstrusively. Generosity in convenience outlets will never be regretted.

A most useful device has recently been invented which will make one outlet swell to three. This is a small table, provided with an electric cord which may be attached to a wall outlet. This cord furnishes energy to three points of connection in the side of the table; thus one may use three separate devices on the table at one time, without a multiplicity of cords. In a home not fully fitted with sufficent convenience outlets—and it is only show places that are so lucky to have all they need—this contrivance, which has been named "Electric Susan," bridges the deficiency with admirable ease.

"SMILIN' THROUGH" NORMA'S MOST AMBITIOUS PICTURE

Norma Talmadge's production, "Smilin' Through" which will be the First National Attraction at the Orpheum Theatre next week, is said to be the most costly, elaborate and artistic photoplay yet made by that star.

New York, Long Island and California furnished backgrounds for the filming of Allen Langdon Martin's famous play, in which Jane Cowl appeared on the speaking stage.

In the East Norma used two great studios, one of which contained a day set and the other a night set, the company frequently working at fourteen hour stretches under the direction of Sidney Franklin.

Remarkable moonlight scenes were obtained in the night set at Norma's New York studio, while exceptional exteriors were filmed within the day studio on Long Island, in which the replica of an English village, with a beautiful garden, a house and winding roadway was constructed. To these were added several picturesque "shots" in Calfiornia.

Double exposures necessitated the taking of most of the exteriors in interiors. Two leading cameramen were used. One was Charles Rosher, Mary Pickford's cameraman, loaned to Miss Talmadge during his employer's recent vacation; the other was Roy Hunt, Norma's regular camera chief.

Harrison Ford, Wyndham Standing, Alec Francis, Miriam Battista and other screen notables appear in support of Miss Talmadge in "Smilin' Through," which was adapted for the screen by James Ashmore Creelman and Mr. Franklin.

The story is laid both in the present and in 1864 and necessitated the building of the English village. There are also scenes in Ireland and France.

"HOOT" GIBSON STARS IN "THE LOADED DOOR"

A cowboy, self appointed to the office of revenue agent, is the hero of "The Loaded Door," the Universal attraction starring 'Hoot' Gibson, at the Isis theatre next Friday and Saturday.

The story is of a band of whiskey and narcotic smugglers operating along the Mexican border with no other immediate sign of interference than the county sheriff who is unable to cope with anything of greater import than the hoboes who happen to drop in on his jurisdiction.

"The Loaded Door" written especially for the star by Ralph Cummings and directed by Harry A. Pollard, is dynamic in action, breath catching in thrills, and humorous in spots to relieve the intensity. The humor is furnished by two hobo philosophers who are as adept at playing the Jew's harp as they are in airing their views on the wickedness of this worldly vale of tears.

Gertrude Olmsted has the leading role opposite Hoot Gibson, while Bill Ryno, Eddie Sutherland, Noble Johnson, Joseph Harris, Charles Newton, Victor Potel, Charles A. Smiley and C. L. Sherwood have principal supporting parts.

In "The Loaded Door," Hoot Gibson has opportunity to further solidify his reputation of being the finest horseman on the screen. Always ready for a fight or a frolic, he displays his ability to do both in fine fashion, to say nothing of his wondrous way in romance.

Noble Johnson's acting in the role of Blackie Lopez, Mexican half-breed, is his most notable work since he appeared as "Friday" in "Robinson Crusoe."

BAKED APPLE WITH CARNATION MILK

Select apples tart and juicy but not sour. Clean and bake in moderate oven one hour. Sprinkle with white sugar and serve with Carnation Milk whipped.

ONE-MINUTE WAY TO WHIP CARNATION MILK

Place can of Carnation Milk unopened in pan of cold water; put on stove and let water come to boil. Let it boil for five minutes around can. Then take out and chill by placing can in ice. Open can and pour contents into bowl set in cracked ice and whip with egg beater until stiff. This should only take about one minute. Flavor and sweeten to taste.

Mary Blake
Domestic Science Dept.

THE luscious goodness of a perfectly baked British Columbia apple is wonderfully emphasized by the addition of a liberal helping of pure, wholesome Carnation Milk.

Because it is full cream evaporated milk, twice as rich as ordinary milk, Carnation creams all desserts delightfully and with the utmost economy. Its distinctive, fine flavor blends agreeably with the savor of the dish.

Use Carnation "straight" as you would use cream but, for any purpose where ordinary milk is required, reduce its richness with an equal quantity of water.

You don't want less than the best. Ask your grocer to deliver a half dozen tins of Carnation with your next order.

TO BUILD SPUR TO PULP PLANT

Illustrating the old adage that "Industry begets industry," says the Vancouver World, the commencement of operations on an active scale next month on the construction of the big $3,500,000 unit of the Wigwam Paper and Pulp Company's plant near Elko, bids fair to prove an important factor in solving the unemployment question during the coming fall and winter. It is estimated by Mr. Alexander C. McDougall of the firm of McDougall & McNeill, Ltd., who have the contract for the construction of this huge plant, that a whole battalion of men would be given work on that project before the winter is over.

Mr. McDougall, who made a flying trip last week to the coast following the announcement of the award of the contract, has left for Elko again to get preliminary operations under way on the dam and power plant for the pulp and paper mill. He stated that his firm expected to have between 1,000 and 1,400 men at work on the paper and pulp plant. Upon his arrival in Elko he and his partner, Mr. James H. McNeill of Calgary, would be busy until the end of the present month in preparatory work for an active start on construction. Large bunk houses and cook houses are to be built, both on the site of the power dam and hydro-electric plant, as well as at Phillips Bridge, the actual site of the pulp and paper mills, situated eight miles south-east of Elko.

"We expect to start active operations on October 1st with several hundred men," said Mr. McDougall. "There is a lot to be done in the way of preparatory work before then."

The most important phase of this mammoth undertaking as pointed out by Mr. McDougall, was that it also involved the construction of an eight-mile branch railway from Elko to the site of the plant at Phillips Bridge. This branch railway line was a necessary feature of the project, as it would be used after the mills were completed and in operation, to ship out the 100 to 400 tons of newsprint which the mills would be turning out daily. Mr. McDougall stated he had been informed on reliable authority that the Canadian Pacific and Great Northern Railway, both of which serve Elko, had agreed to build this branch as a joint undertaking. The C.P.R. would, of course, need running rights to handle the newsprint shipments which these mills will send to several big eastern Canadian papers, while the G.N. will be handling many hundreds of tons weekly from the projected paper mills to the Chicago Tribune, New York, Kansas City and other leading American papers who are interested in the $13,500,000 syndicate to be known as the Wigwam Pulp & Paper Company.

The veteran Calgary contractor intimated that the construction of this branch line would cost at least $25,000 a mile — probably considerably more on several sections — which would mean an expenditure of more than $200,000 on the eight-mile line. Engineers are now making the survey.

Indicating the magnitude of the undertaking. Mr. McDougall intimated that it would take the remainder of this year and all of 1923 to get the first unit of the pulp and paper plant completed and in operation. After that construction would be continued on the second unit, and then the third and fourth—for it had just lately been decided to install a fourth unit—until the plant was finished. That would take more than three years, and with each unit turning out an average of 100 tons of newsprint per day, the plant would be the largest of its kind in Western Canada.

Mr. C. R. Ross, of Chicago, an eminent pulp and paper expert, is to be the consulting engineer in charge of operations.

John J. Hayes, superintendent of letter carriers at Calgary, was arrested on a charge of stealing from the mails. Hayes fell into a trap laid by the mounted police. Marked money taken from letters was found in his possession, police allege. Hayes is the fifth Calgary postal employee to be so charged. Four previously were convicted and sent to penal servitude.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of John Dragon, who was killed by accident in Albion, N.Y., on October 5, 1920.

Slowly the rays of daylight fade:
So fade within our hearts
The hopes in earthly love and joy,
That one by one depart;
Slowly the bright stars one by one,
Within the heavens shine:
There the dear ones who have left us
We shall some day meet again;
There will be no bitter partings,
No more sorrow, death or pain.

Inserted by his father, brother and sisters.

COMPLETELY FREE OF CONSTIPATION

Tried for Years to Find Relief

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE IT

Chronic Constipation or insufficient action of the bowels, is one of the great causes of disease. Some authorities even claim that Constipation cannot be permanently corrected. This is a great mistake, because here is the proof that constipation can be cured and the bowels made to act regularly and naturally.

YARMOUTH, N.S.

"For years, I was troubled with Constipation, and had to take laxatives and purgatives all the time. If I neglected to take these, the bowels would refuse to do their work.

About two years ago, a friend advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives", which I did. The first box helped me so much that I obtained further supplies of the remedy and continued the treatment. After using about eight boxes, my bowels were able to perform their particular function without aid.

The relief in my case has been lasting, as up to date, I have never had any further trouble. I can recommend "Fruit-a-tives" to all suffering as I did and I am sure they will derive equal benefit".

A. W. FRANKLIN.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c., or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the G. W. V. A. will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Kootenay Garage, of Cranbrook, purchased an Oldsmobile eight from Wm. Johnston, of Fernie, this week.

A marriage licence was issued this week to Hugh Harden and Bella Armitage, both of Fernie, and one to Luigi Gallo and Liberata Caravetta, both of Michel.

Robt. Billsborough and family, arrived home this morning after spending three months with friends in England.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Chisholm, of Invermere, are spending a few days in Fernie. Mr. Chisholm has an international reputation as a writer of popular fiction.

Dr. Garner expects to leave in a few days for Boston, where he will attend a congress of physicians and surgeons. Dr. Bayfield will assist Dr. Asselstine during his absence.

Cecil J. Minton, of Trail, son of John Minton, Fernie, had the misfortune to break a leg while playing on the Veterans' football team on Sunday last in that town.

W. W. Golightly, who has the contract for the erection of James Marshall's new residence, had the misfortune to break his arm this week while at work on the building.

Thanksgiving Day this year will be Nov. 6. The date was fixed by parliament at the 1921 session, being designed to fall on the Monday of the week containing Armistice Day, which is Nov. 11.

Don't forget the dance in Victoria Hall, Tuesday, Oct. 17, to be given by the I.O.D.E. Half the proceeds for Fernie Public Library. Tickets $1.50 a couple. Extra lady 75c. Whitehouse orchestra.

Geo. Appleyard, a director of the East Kootenay Power Co., is expected to arrive with his bride from Minneapolis in the morning. They will make Fernie their home in future, having leased the Heaphy residence on Walmsley St.

Work was commenced this week on the cement road at the South end of Victoria avenue. Several hundred feet will be constructed this fall and it is Mayor Henderson's idea to also lay a big stretch of concrete walk if the weather will permit. The cement company has an expert in the city in an advisory capacity in connection with the work.

The Supreme Court Fall Assizes will open here on Oct. 10 and will be presided over by Chief Justice Hunter. There are no criminal cases to come before the higher court and so far only one case on the civil list has been set down for trial. On the list there are five other supreme court actions, namely, McInnes vs. Rock Creek Lumber Co; Nicoletti vs. Carosella; Gilbert vs. Carosella; Mateson vs. Matheson et al, and Sanford vs. McEwan. Some of these, while notice of trial has not been given, undoubtedly will be heard at this assize.

Tony Savello and son were up before Magistrate Stenson this week charged with breaking quarantine. Dr. Corsan, the health officer, and the police have had considerable trouble to compel people in this town to keep quarantine regulations and the small fine of $5 is far from being commensurate with the enormity of the offence. It is several years since this city has been free of scarlet fever and this is largely due to the carelessness of certain persons who persist in running all over the place in spite of the health regulations. A good stiff fine would make some of them sit up and take notice.

The Moose will hold a dance on Monday, Oct. 9, from 10.00 to 3.00., in Hawthorne's Hall. Whitehouse orchestra.

Rev. W. E. Perley, of Penticton, for several years pastor of the local Methodist church, addressed a large gathering last evening in the United Church on the subject of missions.

Do not forget the whist drive and dance tonight in the Catholic Hall. Whitehouse four piece orchestra — piano, drums, violin and saxophone. Admission 50c.

The Customs-Excise collections for the month of September at the local office were $67,388.60. This shows a big increase over the collections for September of last year, which were $19,354.90.

At the big provincial Liberal convention at Nelson last week, East Kootenay fared well in the selection of association officers, A. I. Fisher succeeding to the second vice-presidency, and C. D. McNab, of Waldo, is treasurer. During the convention the West Kootenay Liberal association was reorganized with R. B. Staples of Creston as president.

Consul Brand left for the East on Wednesday morning. Vice Consul George A. Follett has been placed in charge of the consulate during his absence. Vice Consul Huntington remains connected with the consulate in an advisory capacity. Mr. Brand will spend his vacation with his stepdaughter, Miss Eunice Badger, who resides at Potsdam, N.Y. He expects to be absent for at least two months.

until two this afternoon.

Witnesses were seated to the left of the magistrate, J. W. Gresham, of Blairmore. Mrs. Lawson and her five tots were first seated. The widow of the late constable was supported by friends.

C. F. Harris, counsel for the accused asked that the prisoner be released from his handcuffs, and was informed that Pick was not handcuffed. At 10.30 o'clock Mrs. Lassandro, wearing a red tam and a coat, and chewing gum, was brought in. She was attended by the matron of the Lethbridge provincial jail. Harris asked that the prisoners be tried jointly. The request of the defense that witnesses for the prosecution be excluded was granted.

L. C. Congdon, mine surveyor, Blairmore, was the first witness called. He described the plan of the town of Coleman, drawn by him and entered as an exhibit. He was examined by J. W. McDonald. The plan showed the barracks where Lawson was shot and adjacent buildings. Three drawings were produced.

Oscar Brindley, photographer, Coleman, identified photos of the barracks at Coleman, taken by him and entered as exhibits. The pictures showed also the relative positions of nearby buildings. Const. Day instructed him to make the photos. Chief of Police John Houghton, of Coleman, was examined by McGillivray. He had been chief for three years. Accused was known as "Pick" in Pass. On 21st September he saw "Pick" at four o'clock in the afternoon, going through Main Street, Coleman. Const. Lawson was with him. They were on the lookout for "Pick" and his son Steve. He saw the son first. He and Lawson saw a car driven by one McAlpine, "Pick's" mechanic, followed by Steve Picariello driving a car. Behind Steve's car came a car driven by "Pick" Sr. Cars were going east. After four o'clock he was informed by Lawson that "Pick" was doubling back with his load. They later saw Steve "Pick" headed west at a speed of between fifty and sixty miles an hour. Const. Lawson and he boarded an automobile owned by one Bell and Lawson fired two shots as warning and gave chase. Just east side of the divide they met "Pick's" car. Lawson went over to "Pick's" car and said "You'd better bring back your son or I'll go and get him." He saw "Pick" next about seven o'clock. He saw with "Pick" the other accused, Florence Lassandro. They were driving up Central Avenue from Main Street going north. They turned east at Second Street upward barracks.

Houghton swore that Pick and Mrs. Lassandro were the occupants of the car. He later passed up Main Street. He heard three shots. He saw the Lawson girl running, then saw Pick and the Lassandro girl in a car headed east towards Blairmore. He passed over vacant lots found Constable Lawson lying between barracks and the hospital. He found a nurse, one Patterson and others there. Lawson was coatless. He saw no weapons on the dead man. Witness saw bullet wound in his body. Bullet wound showed entry of bullet in Lawson's back. The calibre of bullet was a .38 lead bullet. The bullet was cut on the end. Witness in describing the Lassandro woman said she was wearing a green coat and red hat.

Cross-examined by the defence counsel, witness said that no effort had been made to stop McAlpine, Pick Sr., and Steve when they were first sighted going east. Lawson fired at Steve once at forty yards, and at Pick's tire. The constable swore that he saw only one shot fired.

"Are you sure that only one shot was fired?' 'shouted Mr. Harris.

Mr. McGillivray sprang to his feet saying:

"We do not propose to have this witness bullied by you, Mr. Harris."

Applause greeted this remark. Magistrate Gresham warned the crowd that if there was another outburst of feeling the public would be excluded.

After firing the shot, Lawson put the gun in his holster. He swore that Lawson did not point his gun at Pick Sr. Defence tried vainly to shake Houghton's testimony in this point. Witness said he had never had trouble in the past with the elder Pick.

Afternoon Session

Sergt. Scott of the A.P.P., Blairmore detachment, was the first witness called in the Picariello murder trial this afternoon. The witness said he went to the Alberta hotel, owned by "Pick," the accused, with a warrant to search the premises. He saw "Pick's" car standing by. It was empty. "Pick" signalled with horn of car and witness rushed to back of building. This was the signal to "Pick" Jr., who appeared in car and made west. Witness gave chase. "Pick" Sr. tried to intercept the officer's car. He failed. He followed "Pick" Jr. to Coleman and into west Coleman. He expected to meet Lawson then, but failing, returned to Coleman where he found Lawson was in pursuit of "Pick's" car. He again started west when he met Lawson, returning with him. On the way back to Blairmore he met "Pick" Sr. "Pick" signalled for him to stop.

"Well, you didn't get the load," said "Pick."

"No" replied the witness, "but there will be charges laid against both of you."

"He saved the load. That doesn't worry me. It is lucky for Lawson he did not kill my boy. I'd kill him," said Picariello.

Witness said he saw "Pick" again that day at the Alberta hotel, Blairmore. He was then talking wtih Max Christopher and Mr. Risk. He next saw "Pick" in his cell at the barracks. He executed a warrant on him for murder. He gave the regulation warning. The witness repeated the warning in court. Witness said he made no statement, but just prior to leaving for Lethbridge. Picariello said: "Can anything be done to get Steve home from Michel. They told me Steve was shot and I don't remember anything else."

During the examination of Sergt. Scott during the afternoon session of the Lawson murder trial preliminary today Sergt. Scott further testified that he arrested the woman suspected, Florence Lassandro.

"He is dead and I am alive, that's all there is to it," witness said girl remarked.

Witness said girl went for her hat, a red tam. He identified it as the one being worn in court by the prisoner. Before arresting the girl he warned her..

Loaded revolver and cartridges were found in her coat pocket .

"The gun," she said, "is down to Mrs. Gibeau's."

The cartridges were produced. After the search a gun was found under a cushion in the Gibeau house. The gun was produced. He found five loaded cartridges in the gun. The cartridges were entered as an exhibit. The witness said he later talked with the prisoner. They ate lunch. She laughed about the crime, but he said: "Cut out the laughing, its too serious for that."

She asked if they had the car and about Steve's condition, she also asked if they had seen the gun. Then the girl said: "There could have been shooting but two shots had been fired at them in the car." One grazed her legs, the other broke the windshield. Lawson put his arms around "Pick's" neck. Then she fired. "I don't think "Pick" fired at all because Lawson had hold of "Pick," witness said.

The Lassandro girl asked "Pick" if she could go to Coleman as "Pick" had told her he was "going west to get Lawson." "Pick" first said "no," then consented.

"Where's my boy," said "Pick" to Lawson.

"I don't know."

"You're going with me to get him, you shot him," said Pick.

"Well, what about it?" replied Lawson.

Then two shots were fired said the girl. Lawson had hold of Pick so Pick could not have fired. The shots came from elsewhere other than from the car, the Lassandro woman said.

Witness admitted firing two shots at Lawson after first two had been fired.

Sergt. Scott went on to testify that a search of the room of Florence Lassandro revealed the following cartridges, 5 32's automatic, 35 25's, 31 32's. These would not fit the gun found. In Pick's room 36 38 calibre cartidges were found. These would fit the gun. In the car two bullets were found, one exploded 32 and one unexploded 32 automatic. They were produced in court.

A button was also found in the car, evidently off a lady's coat. He compared exhibit with buttons on the woman's coat, entered as an exhibit and said they tallied. Witness pointed out the exact spot where button came off.

The bullett taken from Lawson's body was next revealed.

COLEMAN, Oct. 3.—"That's the man!"

Pointing her finger at Emillo Picariello sitting crouched low in his seat, his handkerchief over his eyes, the widow of Const. Steve Lawson, at the hearing here Monday afternoon, made the above statement, speaking firmly and clearly although she was plainly struggling to keep back her sobs. After her testimony she was assisted out of the court room. Nine-year-old Pearl Lawson also told the story of her daddy's murder, reaffirming her testimony at the inquest that the woman in the car fired first, and that the man also fired. The tot was subjected to a mental test by C. F. Harris, defence counsel, but the child displayed a keenness of intelect that baffled the learned counsel.

In striking contrast to the astounding coolness and cheerfulness of the morning, at Monday afternoon's session of the preliminary hearing of the accused slayers of Steve Lawson, Florence Lassandro broke down and wept. For hours she kept her eyes fixed on the floor of the court room, sobbing into her handkerchief. All of her proverbal bravado gone, the woman seemed to realize for the first time the gravity of the charge hanging over her. The smiling bit of smartly-gowned femininity of the morning, waving her hand at the crowd and crying, "I'll soon be with you again," became in the afternoon, the sad-faced prisoner charged with the murder of an officer of the law.

The girl was not alone in her display of emotion. Picariello, too, cried, as the widow of Steve Lawson, and the fatherless nine-year-old Pearl recounted in simple, halting sentences the story of the crime for which he stands charged. He leaned over on his knees much of the time, and the handkerchief he has been using so freely since the investigation opened, was again much in evidence. That "Pick, the Emperor of the Crow," sensed the seriousness of his position Monday, there can be no doubt.

Standing out as material evidence adduced at the afternoon session, was the statement of Mrs. Florence Lassandro, made to Sergt. Scott of Blairmore, the evening of the capture and arrest, and which was told to the court by the officer in his testimony. Another angle loomed up in that the girl said that two shots fired came from a source other than the automobile, and that she only fired two shots. One of the mystery shots came close to hitting her legs, while the other smashed the wind-shield of the automobile.

Pick, she claimed, could not have fired any of the shots because he was being pinioned by Const. Lawson. One of the guns, a 38 calibre revolver, was found, as the woman told Scott, at the home of Mrs. Gibeau. The bullets found in the car were 32 automatic. There is one gun missing. Sergt. Scott stated that a search of Mrs. Lassandro's room revealed considerable ammunition as did also a search of Pick's room. The bullets found in Pick's bureau would fit the revolver admitted as an exhibit. Those found at Mrs. Lassandro's would not fit the gun found.

The officer said that the woman had given him a connected story of the events leading up to the killing of Lawson .She had heard that Steve Pick had been shot, and that Pick was going to Coleman to "get" Lawson. She went to Pick and asked him to allow her to make the run west with him. Pick reluctantly consented, and they motored to the Coleman detachment. Pick called for Lawson, who came out. The where-abouts of the younger Pick was discussed. Two shots were fired from an unknow source. Lawson by this time had Pick in his grasp. Then she fired two shots.

Defense counsel closely cross-examined Sergt. Scott on this statement, disclosing the fact that it had been made in the kitchen in the presence of the officer only, and voluntarily. The woman, testified the sergeant, had been warned previously. Two constables guarding the woman, were eating their supper at the time. The matron, Mrs. Fisher, was not present.

"What questions did you ask this woman?" asked Mr. Harris.

"Wasn't there a threat made? Did you not say that she was going to be hanged before Christmas?"

"Never. Absolutely no."

"Did you not tell her that if she hoped to save her own life she would have to blame the crime on to Picariello?"

"Never."

Const. Dey told of the finding of the shells, and of the guns which Lawson had in the detachment at the time of the shooting. He had an old .38 calibre Smith & Wesson service pistol, a .32 calibre Colts Automatic, and a .32 Smith & Wesson Automatic. The shells found would not fit the gun found.

The witness told the court that he had met Pick the night of Sept. 20 at the door of the picture show, and that Pick had told him then that Const. Majorison, of Cardston, had attempted to hold him up, but that he had taken the ditch and made good his escape. On that occasion Pick had remarked to Dey:

"No policeman would ever stop me."

G. E. Menning, formerly of Calgary, now a grocer of Crow's Nest, was examined by assistant prosecutor J. W. McDonald, K.C., and said he knew the prisoner. On the evening of the shooting of Steve Lawson he had heard Pick say that "if Steve (Picariello) had a mark on him, he would 'get' every ——— ——— policeman in the Pass."

The evidence submitted by Mrs. Lawson and the girl, Pearl, was substantially the same as that given at the inquest. The defense counsel tried cleverly to shatter the story of the tot, but, twitching her handkerchief in her hands and answering his questions only after thoughtfully considering them, she stuck stubbornly to the main facts of her original story. Several of the minor points were hazy.

During the examination of Dr. Scott, who attended Const. Lawson and helped to undress him after his removal to the hospital, the bullet-torn shirt of the dead officer was brought into court and identified. The doctor told of finding Lawson in a heap on the ground near the detachment, of his finding blood issuing from his mouth, and of his being carried to the hospital. His heart was beating faintly then, but he had no pulse and his eyes were vacant. Shortly after his removal to the hospital he died. The bullet had entered the right shoulder blade and had lodged between the skin and the ribs on the left breast.

At five o'clock the court adjourned until 10 o'clock Tuesday.

Says She Hasn't Felt So Well In Years

Mrs. Margaret Winton, highly esteemed resident of 719 Tenth Avenue, West, Calgary, Alberta, pays glowing tribute to Tanlac for the wonderful appetite, perfect digestion and splendid health she now enjoys.

"I just can't say or do enough," she stated recently, "to show my appreciation of Tanlac for what it has done for me. Almost a year ago my appetite failed and my stomach became so disordered that nothing agreed with me. After every meal I would have severe pains in the pit of my stomach and bloat so badly I scarcely draw a good breath. I ate so little and had indigestion so bad that nearly all my strength and energy left me. My nerves were a wreck, too, and I could never get a good night's sleep.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was so run-down that I simply had to drag myself through the day and my housework was a dreadful burden to me. I also suffered with dull headaches and felt unfit for anything. But since taking Tanlac everything is different. I have a wonderful appetite, perfect digestion, and am enjoying splendid health. In fact, I have not felt so strong and well in years as I do now. Tanlac has won my life-long praise."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

B. C. LOSES ITS APPEAL

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—(By Canadian Press.—The right of the Dominion government to collect customs duties on liquor imported into Canada by provincial liquor control boards, is upheld by the supreme court in a judgment given out today. The judgment dismisses, without order as to costs, the appeal of the attorney-general of British Columbia versus the attorney-general of Canada and upholds the judgment of the exchequer court, which dismissed the action of the British Columbia authorities. Mr. Justice Brodeur dissents from today's judgment. This was a stated case. The government purchasing agent for British Columbia, James Patterson, acting under the provincial liquor laws, purchased in Glasgow a case of Johnny Walker Black Label Scotch whiskey and had it consigned to the British Columbia Liquor Control Board from Glasgow by express. On arrival at Victoria, B.C., the case was taken possession of by the collector of customs and held for payment of duty. The purchasing agent for the province claimed that by virtue of the provincial rights, His Majesty the King was owner of the whiskey and therefore demanded that it be delivered to the liquor control board free of any duty or tariff.

The collector of customs, also acting in the name of the King by virtue of the rights of the Dominion government, demanded the payment of duties before he would release the shipment.

The province then brought action for the release of the whiskey free of duty, claiming that it had this right under the law. The Dominion government contested the action, and it was dismissed by Sir Walter Cassels in the exchequer court.

The appeal was then made to the supreme court and was heard by the court presided over by Justice Idington.

WINS APPEAL COURT CASE

The Court of Appeal this week handed down an interim decision in the case of A. J. Farquharson vs. the C.P.R. According to this judgment the plaintiff, Farquharson, is given permission to add the Canadian Bank of Commerce as a co-plaintiff, following which the court will hand down final judgment as to the award for damages or otherwise to which the plaintiff, Farquharson, may be entitled.

This case was heard in May, 1921, before Mr. Justice Murphy. At the trial, following the close of the plaintiff's case, J. E. McMullen, counsel for the defendant railway company, introduced an assignment which the plaintiff had given the bank and on account thereof argued that the plaintiff, Farquharson, had no legal status to sue. Mr. Justice Murphy held this assignment to be absolute and estopped him from suing the railway company, but in the alternative in the event of his decision as to the assignment being wrong, he would allow the plaintiff for loss of logs in transit and damages an amount of approximately $500. Farquharson sued for $3800.

CONFERENCE PROPOSAL FOR STANDARDIZATION OF COAL

CALGARY, Oct. 10.—If the recommedations of the special committee appointed by the provincial government and the principal coal producers of Alberta, regarding the standardization of domestic coal, are given effect to, the public will have some assurance that will get the right quality of the product.

The committee, which met in Calgary, passed the following resolution:

1—That each commercial shall have a registered trade name.

2—Each bill of lading shall have inserted on it the name of the district from which it is produced, and the name of the grade.

3—All dealers, whether wholesale or reail, shall show on each delivery ticket the trade name of the coal, it was produced and the name of the the name of the district from which grade, and shall keep a record in his office of the amount of coal purchased and sold of each registered trade name and of the grade and to whom it is sold.

4—All coal advertised for sale shall be advertised under its registered trade name.

CHILDREN COMPETE FOR FORESTRY ESSAY PRIZE

Scores of school children in every school district of the Dominion are competing these days in the national school essay competition on Forestry and Tree Planting, inaugurated recently by the Canadian Forestry Association.

Questions as to the forest resources of Canada, the damage done by forest fires, what trees to choose for planting and how to plant them are being asked by a multitude of young people and the resultant information is being applied to the essay competition. Three substantial cash prizes are being given in each province and the effect of the national effort to stimulate juvenile interest in the forest resources of the country and the multiple benefits of tree planting has secured the hearty endorsation of all the departments of education which are giving every co-operation.

ALBERTA COPS SEIZE LIQUOR

Failing to run the blockade at Crow's Nest instituted by the A.P.P. for preventing liquor coming by road into Alberta from B.C., whiskey-runners have devised a plan for smuggling liquor on freight trains, moving it surreptitiously into cars at sidings and waiting favorable opportunity for unloading it. This practice has, however been forestalled by the A. P. P. who, on Tuesday, made a smart capture of two whiskey-runners and 101 cases of liquor valued at $6200.

Jumping the second portion of freight No. 980 heading east with 43 cars on the night of Tuesday last at Frank, and searching car No. 106756, Sergt. Scott and Sergt.-Major Harrison of the A.P.P., Blairmore, discovered two men, K. M. Brown of Blairmore and Harry Truitt of Crow's Nest, in it, along with 101 cases of liquor in sacks. The car itself was consigned to Montreal and contained lead bars. The seal of one of the doors had evidently been broken.

Appearing before Magistrate Gresham at Blairmore on Wednesday and pleading guilty through their counsel, Mr. McKenzie, of Gillis & McKenzie, Brown and Truitt were each fined $175 with costs. A further charge under the Railway Act was laid against the men by Investigator Stewart of the C.P.R. to which they pleaded guilty and were fined $50 with costs each.

The liquor, which was held at Burmis, was ordered confiscated under section 80 of the Liquor Act.

PICARIELLO MAY BE TRIED AT EDMONTON

Edmonton, Oct. 11. — Picariello, charged with the murder of the Coleman provincial policeman, Steve Lawson, is likely to stand trial at Edmonton, according to a rumor current in legal circles. It is understood that the defence may be handled by one of the local attorneys.

C. F. Harris, counsel for Emilio Picariello, charged with the murder of Constable Steve Lawson, will make a motion before Mr. Justice Walsh today for a change of venue from Macleod to Edmonton, on the grounds that it would be impossible to accord the prisoner a fair trial in the Macleod judicial district.

The Crown is strenuously opposing this motion, J. W. McDonald, K.C., of Macleod, crown prosecutor, stated. It will be imposed on the grounds that there is no particular objection to Picariello, the accused, but rather to the nature of the crime with which he stands accused. Mr. McDonald also pointed out that the expense entailed in transporting 40 witnesses to Edmonton would be heavy.

The criminal assizes open Monday at Macleod, when two murder cases are docketed, the Picariello and the Joy trials. An effort is being made to have the Picariello trial called first.

Mike Fitzon was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate Henderson this week for a contravention of the Motor Vehicles Act. The police contend there has been far too much careless driving and reckless speeding within the city by motorists of late and anyone disregarding the traffic regulations from now on will be hailed into court.

MICHEL WINS CRAHAN CUP

Blairmore, Oct. 9.—In a rather rugged and uninteresting game of football Blairmore lost to Michel at Hillcrest on Saturday 3—1 for the coveted Crahan cup. Owing to the fact that the game had not been very extensively advertised only a fair crowd attended for a game of this nature and the game called for 3.30 p.m., which made it very inconvenient for many to attend owing to the mines working, and the men unable to attend until after 4 p.m.

Blairmore lost the toss and with a strong wind blowing and a bright sun there was very poor chance in preventing Michel from scoring, and within about ten minutes scored with a shot the Blairmore goalie had no chance to save. During the entire half the ball was in Blairmore territory, and before the whistle blew for half time had put in two more goals. one of which was a fluky one. It was very difficult for the Blairmore players to judge the ball owing to the sun and wind, nevertheless, they were playing poor football and the best team won. A few minutes after the commencement of the second half a Michel full back deliberately fouled a Blairmore player who was on the point of shooting. A fight ensued, and both players were banished for the remainder of the game. Blairmore was awarded a penalty from which they scored the only goal.

Michel got away only a couple of times during this half and could not score. Blairmore played in Michel ground but wild shooting and kicking was the best they could do, although the Michel goalie was called upon to make some good saves. For a cup game it was poor football, Michel playing the best game, using a short pass to perfection and winning the game by their merits. The Blairmore line-up was Whitelaw, McAndrew, Granger, McVey, Jackson, Martin, Ford, Turner, Wilson, Rudd, Rhodes. Banks, referee.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE

At the last general meeting of the Fernie Farmers' Institute, held in the city council chamber on Oct. 10, it was decided to hold another meeting on Oct. 21.

A. L. Hay, District Agriculturist, addressed this meeting on the benefits derived from community breeding, stating that a district becomes known when one class of cattle is the class that all breed in that district, therefore attracting the attention of prospective buyers, whereas the present condition of mixed herds is not very likely to attract the attention of any buyers, as a purchaser would not want to spend time going over a mixed herd to find what he wanted, in preference to this method, he would pick out a community that was known for the class of cattle he required. Mr. Hay also pointed out a course for farmers to follow in order to get the best results possible.

The organizing of Cattle Clubs will be brought up at the next meeting, through this Club scheme. A bull of the desired breed will be sent to the district where it is required, the Dominion handling the expense of buying and paying the freight into the district, and all that the Club has to do is appoint a man to look after the animal. It is up to every dairyman and farmer who is interested in stock to boost for this club, and help yourself by helping others; also improve the herd that is in the district, by having a first class sire of good breeding to head the herd.

COMPENSATION BOARD HOLD SITTING HERE

The Workmen's Compensation Board held a sitting here yesterday when the evidence in connection with the inquest on Orsen T. Brandley, who died at Michel early in the year, was reviewed and additional medical testimony heard. The members of the Board in attendance were E. S. H. Winn, chairman, R. B. Fulton, assistant secretary, and Dr. Ney, medical examiner. Evidence was submitted by Drs. Galbraith and McNally, of Lethbridge; Dr. Garner of this city, and Dr. Graham, of Michel. The decision of the Board was that the determining of whether Brandley's death was directly due to complications following an injury he sustained while working in the mines, or other causes, will be referred to an independent commission comprised of a pathologist and two other specialists.

FOOTBALL

A picked team representing Fernie and Coal Creek will play at Michel on Sunday, Oct. 15, for the benefit of Tom Joinson and T. Berry, of Fernie and Coal Creek respectively. These players were hurt during the season and lost considerable time from work. All the proceeds from the game will be divided between the two players. The Fernie fans would like to see the Balderson-Aldridge Shield played for. This shield was given to the League to be played for as a charity shield. all proceeds from such games to be given players hurt while playing in the Crow's Nest Pass League. We would like to have this discussed at the coming League meeting.

ACROSS DESERT AT NIGHT

Dr. O. D. Weeks, who recently spent several days at the Fernie camp site, while enroute to his home in Mexico, writing to a friend about his long journey, describes a trip by night across the great desert from El Centro, Cal., to Yuma, Arizona:

"For sixteen miles of the way, the ever changing road is planked and these planks are bound together by iron bands so they may be shifted, raised or lowered as the contour of the surface is ever being changed by the winds. We rode over sand hills and into sand valleys. Sand to the right of us, sand to the left of us, and sand in front of us, and when the wind came up there was sand above us, and all through us.

"Mrs. Weeks was at the helm, filled with fear and trembling as she dexterously and alertly guided the car over the plank road, which was just wide enough to carry the machine; for to get off the plank with our heavy Winton Six meant stop right now and go and get a derrick to raise us out of the sands.

"When we were part way across the desert the wind came up and in a few minutes later a shower of rain which laid the awful smothering dust. The clouds made the night as black as ink and at intervals the long flashes of heat lightning permitted us to view the drifting, surging sea of sand, and to see and feel the vastness, greatness and grandness of the mighty.

"As my eyes scanned the wonders of the waste I thought of the passage in Holy Writ: "Oh, God, what is man that Thou shouldst be mindful of him?"

"We got into Yuma at 11 o'clock that night, camped in the auto park and went to sleep but our sleep was disturbed by dreams of the worlds and worlds of sand we had crossed. I have always loved the mountains and the sea but never until now have I loved the desert."

TEARS AND LAUGHTER BLEND HAPPILY IN "THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET"

May Tully's screen version of "The Old Oaken Bucket," scheduled for a two day run at the Isis Theatre, beginning next Wednesday, is a story sprinkled with smiles and tears and memories.

Adapted from the old song near and dear to millions of people, "The Old Oaken Bucket" is a heart-throbbing story of childhood days as every man and woman has lived them. "The orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled wildwood, and every loved spot which your infancy knew" are pictured in this drama of the heart with a realism that is surprising as it is entertaining.

"The Old Oaken Bucket" is a sincere and earnest attempt to catch the theme that inspired the writing of the best loved song in America, and reproduce it in nature's own setting. Those who are fortunate in seeing this delightful visualization of the days of childhood, and the many happy incidents associated with it will be amazed at the manner in which the producers have attained the ideal in production.

Supported by an able staff, Joseph Smiley, famous in the old Vitagraph days, plays the leading role of the man who harks back in memory and in reality, to his younger days. You'll feel like a different person after seeing "The Old Oaken Bucket."

HOW MUCH ENERGY DO YOU WASTE?

-o-

Make Results in Frazzled Nerves Your Daily Meter, and Measure Extravagant Methods Against Cost of Sensible Labor Savers.

"If meters were attached to human beings and registered the energy they expended every twenty-four hours, how much would mine register?" is the question that hundreds of housewives drudging away daily at grinding household labor have asked themselves.

A flow of misdirected energy which wrecks the nervous system is usually the result of distasteful tasks which have to be done over and over and over, but done just the same with little hope of the methods of their doing being changed. This waste energy comes more or less from the desire to have it over, to be through with it for the day, to put it away. How many strokes every morning the woman of the house gives with a broom, how much dust she broadcasts in the false belief that she is imparting a service, how many hours she stands over a hot cooking stove or over a tub of soiled clothes, wearing them out with ceaseless rubbings on a corrugated board, how many miles she walks between the ironing board and the fire where irons are heating, and how many pounds of flat iron she lifts at a family ironing—all these enevating tasks, gone at more drearily or more furiously each day, tear down moment by moment, and hour by hour the physical and mental being of the worker.

The modern housewife who is so fortunate as to own electrical house equipment, such as an electric stove, a dishwasher, an electric cleaner, and the washer and ironer for the laundry knows that she conserved human energy when she had these things installed—and that the result of their uses will add as much to her health and tranquility as to the cleanliness and comfort of the household. At the touch of a button they have the service of genius such as Edison, George Westinghouse, Steinmetz, and scores of other intelligences, leaping to their assistance eagerly over wires, ready to take hard labor from them and do it with perfect ease. These fortunate housewives pity those who do not own such labor saving devices, whether their lack be because the gospel of "doing it electrically" has not reached them or because of mistaken ideas that to do it the old way is more economical.

AUTHORITIES GETTING AFTER DEBASING MAGAZINES

Recently Saturday Night published an editorial protesting against the sale and display of pornographic magazines in Canada. The specific reference was to a new periodical "True Confessions," published by W. H. Fawcett, of Minneapolis; an editor so unabashed in his purpose that he solicits from his readers manuscripts describing any vicious experiences in their own lives. Saturday Night is pleased to record that its protest brought results, for the Department of Customs and Excise, on September 13th, sent out instructions to collectors at every port of entry in Canada stating that the importation of "True Confessions" was prohibited. This effectively meets the problem of its sale on newsstands; and it is to be hoped that the Postmaster General's department will follow up this embargo (if it has not already done so) by denying "True Confessions" the use of the mails. A customs embargo is a much more effective way of meeting the tide of pornographic magazines than could be provided by any other system of local censorships and it is to be hoped that the machinery of the department will be invoked to check future attempts to flood Canada with filth.—Saturday Night.

CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST

Those who ridiculed the prohibition laws of the United States and have encouraged openly and otherwise the illicit liquor traffic to the states, are now wondering what manner of thing is this monster that has grown from a tiny infant into a collosus in so short a time. They are appalled at the reign of lawlessness that is spreading over the prairie provinces and Manitoba. Men are being murdered, police officers are being resisted and some shot down in cold blood, bank messengers are being robbed in broad daylight and fifteen banks have been robbed without a single arrest.

It was good business to license export houses in close proximity to the international boundary line. Booze could be indiscriminately sold and bootleggers could slip away into the darkness with their high-powered cars. British Columbia was being enriched and what happend to others really had little to do with us, anyway.

Now it develops that this reign of lawlessness is the outcome of illicit rum rumming. Hundreds of the most desperate criminals in the United States are engaged in smuggling liquor into the states. The profits are large and they virtually have the protection of Canadian police officers, and it is simply a matter of evading the watchfulness of the American enforcement men and the money is theirs. These rum runners love money. They have evidently overstepped themselves a little in turning bank robbers, but what could any broad-minded man expect? There is more money in bank robbing than in bootlegging, and officers who have been protecting them from one law can be hardly expected to arrest them for breaking another, with the result that fifteen banks have been blown open within the past twelve days and hundreds of thousands of dollars in cash and securities stolen.

Appeals are being made to Ottawa for increased police protection all along the border and to make a special effort to protect the banks. The time has arrived when the "high jacks" don't know their places. The matter no longer funny. Fifteen robbed banks in less than fifteen days. No such record was ever before on the criminal roster of Canada. Who is to blame? Shall we charge the bootlegger with being indiscreet and breaking faith with fellows who have been giving him protection? Will we blame the booze or will we openly charge the "moderationists" of British Columbia with breaking faith with the voters of this Province?

That a terrible state of affairs exist goes without saying, and that much crime and expense will follow in the trail of unrestrained illicit liquor traffic can be expected. The appeals of the U. S. enforcement officers have been treated lightly—in fact ridiculed—by men who had it within their power to restrict the traffic.

PROVINCIAL POTATO FAIR

The second Annual Provincial Potato Fair will be held some time during the month of November, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. The exact date and place for holding this fair will be announced later.

On account of the deep interest shown in the first Annual Potato Fair held last year in Chilliwack the Department has decided to give prizes for table stock as well as seed potatoes this year.

It is hoped that the various Agricultural organizations and all others interested in the potato industry will co-operate with the Department to the fullest extent and help make this fair a success. A series of lectures on the potato industry will also be given at the same time.

OUR FEMALE M. P. AGAIN TALKS ROT

If Agnes McPhail, M. P., cannot find any better occupation than condemning the Boy Scouts' movement on the grounds that it is a military organization, she had best retire from public life and go back to her knitting, or whatever she did before entering Parliament. At the U. F. O. picnic at which Miss McPhail spouted in condemnation of the Boy Scouts she made the very silly statement that the movement was "training our youth for war and bloodshed," and to back up her argument she stated that the uniforms were savored of militarism. If that be the case then all our uniformed societies including the Masonic Order and the Salvation Army should be condemned on the same grounds. The Boy Scout movement, with its high ideals of citizenship and its character building has been of immense value to the youth of our own and other lands. And Miss McPhail's condemnation of it is a clear indication she is utterly ignorant of its purpose.—Saturday Night.

You can get back your grip on health

A statement that will be of much concern to thousands of people in Alberta was made recently by William Williamson, a Veteran of the World War, residing at 215 Tenth St., Northeast, Calgary.

"I believe in giving everything its due," he continued, "and I want to say right now that I just can't praise Tanlac too highly for what it has done in my case. For some time I had been in a badly run down condition. I had absolutely no appetite and had fallen off seventeen pounds in weight. My nerves were all undone, I could not get sufficient rest at night and got up mornings feeling as tired as when I went to bed. I was also bothered a great deal with rheumatism in my legs and ankles, which would often get so stiff and sore I could not walk without great pain.

"So much was being said in the papers about Tanlac that I went to a druggist friend for advice. He assured me that Tanlac was good, so I began using it and soon found myself wonderfully improved. After taking a few bottles my troubles all disappeared and I found I had regained fifteen pounds of my lost weight. I am now enjoying splendid health and do not hesitate to recommend Tanlac to anyone."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

MORE GOLF LINKS

The amount of space given in the daily papers to stock prices and golf must make the so-called average man wonder. He is used to the stock reports and so he turns over the financial pages to something else. But this golf on his sporting page is a new thing. Why all the space? One would think that everybody played golf. Not so, in this country at least, and from what is learned of the United States, golf is still a rich man's game there.

But in Scotland how different! There the public courses are numerous and the fees low. A Scottish machinist in the United States recently vented his feelings in Collier's Weekly. His auditor, a newspaperman, promptly tested his story. Arriving at a public course at dawn on Sunday, he found two hundred waiting their turn to play. Before noon it was a mob. Meanwhile a few millionaires went around a neighboring "exclusive" course to the tune of the proletariat's groans.

Toronto has had a better experience with public golf courses. The Saturday afternoon and Sunday crowds sometimes make the links uncomfortable and even dangerous, but everyone who is willing to stay can get a round between sunup and sundown. That is not the Scottish standard, but it is an improvement on American conditions. "Nohtin' to do till to-morrow," is too often the complaint of the American workingman when he finishes his short week of work and has the week-end on his hands. He has no place to play. He is ripe for crime or Bolshevism. Why not try more play space as a preventive of social unrest?—Toronto World.

WHY ENGLISH ARE SHABBY

It is the income tax, says Lord Decies in an address before the Federation of Merchant Tailors of England, that is keeping the Englishman shabby. It is due to economic and not to esthetic reasons that the English have lost their smart appearance. The new suit contemplated for autumn is not ordered this season, the old clothes are cleaned and pressed and the reproach is falling on the English nation's manhood that its smartness is departing. It was an ancient saying, originated in Great Britain, that it took nine tailors to make a man.

Lord Decies suggests that the revised version should read to pay the tailor is now compelled to pay the income tax of nine Englishmen, because it is the money saved on clothing by the ordinary man that is paying his income tax.

There is much undoubted truth in the semi-jesting remarks of the English nobleman who freed himself from personal worry about his tailor bills by marrying Miss Vivien Gould. The burden of war taxes in Great Britain is something of which the people of the United States have only partial conception.—Cleveland Commercial.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE ON TOUR

1.—Interior View of Farm Produce Car.
2.—Interior View of the Home Economic Car, showing French Canadian Weaving and Spinning Equipment.
3.—View of Rear of Better Farming Special—Cattle are kept on some of these cars.

AN Agricultural college on wheels is the means by which the Minister of Agriculutre of Quebec, in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Railway, is carrying the gospel of good farming and good cheer to the farming community of the province. The college consists of fifteen C.P.R. cars equipped with material to illustrate all phases of Agricultural production, and carries a staff of twenty-six lecturers and demonstrators.

Starting out at Vaudreuil on Sept. 18th and St. Clet on Sept. 19th, the train traversed the north shore of the Ottawa, stopping at Hull, Papineauville, St. Scholastique, Ste. Therese, St. Jerome, St. Agathe, Labelle, Nominingue and Mont. Laurier. Early in October the lines of the C.P.R. in the eastern townships will be covered. The train will complete its tour on the north shore of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Quebec during the last two weeks of October.

Five cars are devoted to Live Stock, in which dairy cattle, sheep and hogs are featured. Special attention is being given to the grades and grading of hogs, and to the encouragement of the bacon industry. Field Crops and Agricultural Engineering occupy two cars, while Horticulture, Beekeeping and Sugar-making, Poultry, Dairying and co-operation, and Home Industries, each occupy one car. A diner and sleeping coach for the accommodation of the staff makes up the full complement of the material equipment of the college.

Each car is equipped with material, and plainly labelled charts, by which the important factors of economic production are emphasized. An opportunity is afforded from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., for visitors to examine the exhibits and discuss any problems in which they are interested. For this purpose two lecturers and demonstrators accompany each car. In the evening, lectures and addresses illustrated by lantern slides and moving pictures are given in the town hall or other suitable place for meetings.

The Live Stock Branch of the Federal Department of Agriculture has arranged for demonstrations on the grading of hogs. The Canadian Packers Association has an exhibit illustrating the carcases produced from various types of hogs, and the requirements of good bacon for export purposes. The Agronomy Department of Macdonald College has co-operated in the equipment of the Field Crop and Agricultural Engineering Car. The Provincial dairy school has an exhibit of dairy buildings and products. Other colleges and schools, as well as the co-operative associations, have also lent aid either in furnishing equipment or by supplying instructors.

The train is under the direction of A. Desilets, B.S.A., of the Province Department of Agriculture and J. Dougall of the C.P.R.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

1869 Fifty-three Years of Better Results for Policy Holders. 1922

What Does "Mutual" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?

It means that the Policyholders, through their premiums, provide the funds for the organization and upbuilding of the Company without assistance from any outside source whatsoever. It follows, therefore, that the Policyholders:

(A) OWNS all the assets, including Head Office and everything pertaining to the Company.

(B) CONTROL all its affairs through a Board of Directors elected by and from its Policyholders.

(C) RECEIVE every dollar of its profits.

NOTE — All Profits earned on non-participating policies in a Mutual Company go into the general fund and are distributed among the holders of participating policies.

It follows, therefore, that a Mutual Life Company can and does furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

What Does "Capital Stock" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?

It means that a few men provide "funds" for organization expenses, obtain a charter, turn these "funds" into paid-up Capital Stock, and thereafter the Stockholders:

(A) OWN the Company.

(B) Control the Company through a Board of Directors, at least two-thirds of whom are elected by Stockholders.

(C) And unless otherwise provided for in their charters, they may:

(1) TAKE all interest earned on their paid-up capital stock.

(2) TAKE all profits earned on non-participating policies.

(3) TAKE up to one-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies.

It follows, therefore, that a Stock Company cannot and does not furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

Let us see what this difference between "Mutual" and "Stock" means as applied to the earnings of the Mutual Life of Canada for year 1921.

ACTUAL PROFITS EARNED:

On Non-Participating Business ..... $ 123,000.00
On Participating Business 2,120,000.00

Total Earned in 1921 ..... $2,243,000.00

Under the "Mutual" plan of the Mutual Life of Canada, every dollar of this magnificent sum belongs to and is credited solely to the participating Policyholders.

Under the terms of the Dominion Insurance Act, other Canadian Life Companies, may allot to themselves, if not provided otherwise in their charters, besides all interest earned on their paid-up capital:

(A) ALL profits earned on Non-Participating Business....$123,000.00
(B) Ten per cent of profits earned on Participating business 212,000.00

$335,000.00

An equivalent amount each year for the next 20 years would amount to $6,700,000.00. This would mean that, without taking into account future expansion,

The Policyholders of The Mutual Life of Canada will receive in the next 20 years over Six Millions of Dollars more than they would have received if this Company had been organized on the Capital Stock instead of The Mutual Plan.

If contemplating Life Insurance think only of The Mutual Life of Canada and increase the investment value. No foreign business nor investments entertained. Assets exceed Forty-eight Million Dollars. Business in force, Two Hundred and Twenty-eight Million Dollars.

LOCAL & GENERAL

H. H. Ross, of Waldo, was a visitor to the city this week.

Two all-star Fernie baseball teams will play in the Fernie park on Sunday afternoon.

There have been two or three cases in connection with breaches of quarantine regulations before the local magistrates this week but the decisions have been reserved.

Keith Colton of the Home Bank staff, will leave on Sunday for Calgary to join the staff of the Home Bank in that city. Fred Beal will occupy the cashier's box in the local bank.

The city police are continuing their investigations in connection with the robbery of the till in the Fernie Motor Car Co. last Friday and an arrest is expected soon. This is the third occasion that this till has been rifled during the year. On the two former occasions amounts aggregating over $100 were taken.

A quiet wedding will take place on Thursday of next week at Fort Steele, when Mr. Bishop Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, of Fernie, will be united in marriage to Miss Ella Fenwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fenwick. The young couple are both widely known throughout the district.

A number of the representatives of the Government Liquor Control Board have been in the city during the last week in connection with the enforcement of the Act. Lee Bing, a Chinese gardner north of the city, appeared before Magistrate Stenson on Thursday to explain why he had failed to report or secure seals for some five hundred bottles of oriental liquors. He claimed it was purely for his own use but the charge was having liquor in his possession without same bearing the government seal. He pleaded guilty, was fined $50 and the entire quantity of liquor forfeited to the Crown.

LLOYD GEORGE COMES BACK

(Spokesman Review)

Lloyd George, like Roosevelt, has the statesmanly gift of coming back with irrefutable logic in well-formed replies to his critics. Many a time the enemies of Roosevelt thought they had him in a corner, only to find a little later that he knew his ground much better than they when he replied with a convincing statement that confounded them. The explanation is that statesmen of the type of Roosevelt and Lloyd George have a fuller grasp of conditions, and the added capacity for thinking harder and truer and expressing themselves with greater clarity than their critics.

So now, with Lloyd George's reply to the clamor of the pack that thought a few days ago that they had his political scalp. Freedom of the straits at Constantinople is the sine qua non of safety for the British empire and prevention of a spread of Turkish domination over the broken and war-worn countries of the Near East and the Balkans.

Lloyd George considers that under the Angora pact the position of the straits and puts this poser to his 1914, when the Turks closed them. He contends that the Kemalist govment has given no undertaking to do anything more than proffer a verbal guarantee of the freedom of the straits an dputs this poser to his political enemies: "You can not defend the straits by flaunting a covenant in the face of those trying to force them."

In the same answering statement the British premier categorically denies a persistent rumor, which had deepened almost into a conviction, that the British government encouraged the Greeks with contributions of money and arms to carry on their mad military venture. To the contrary, Lloyd George declares, he warned them when they went to Smyrna that they were going entirely on their own responsibility and at their own expense, and furthermore said: "We can not support you or take the responsibility."

The British premier's further statement that "the one chance of stopping the war is for Kemal to know that we are not going to be turned out of the straits," seems bold and sagacious. "If he knows that, he won't go there," continues Lloyd George. "If he believes our nation is divided and that he is getting encouragement to go on, he will be likely to pursue a war-like policy."

This clarifying statement, like others made by Lloyd George when he seemed to be in a tight corner, will put his critics on the defensive and require from them a great deal of explaining. It is an admirable stroke of statesmanship.

In connection with the death of Richard Wolstrom, who expired suddenly on Oct. 4, while a patient in the Fernie hospital, Coroner Duthie personally conducted an inquiry, from which it was found that death was caused from an infected pulmonary thrombus directly due to an injury of the leg received while at work in the woods of the White Spruce Lumber Co. for a sub-contractor. The cold nights of this week have started the curling bug working in the minds of some enthusiasts, but perhaps most of them will agree that it is a little premature yet to be putting golf clubs away to take up the broom. But with a big bonspeil coming off here this winter, it would be wise to organize in plenty of time to get things going smoothly when the weather permits of taking it up. Some of the crack rinks of the city are going to get all the practice they can in order that their home city may figure prominently in the bonspiel prize list. —Cranbrook Herald.

PATRONAGE

Reports of the Provincial Liberal Convention just concluded at Nelson indicate that there are to be changes in the administration of the Civil Service in British Columbia. What those changes are to be is left to the imagination, but it is clear the dissatisfaction over the operation of the Civil Service Act has grown to a head. The main ground of objection entertained by the Liberals is that their political friends are not obtaining sufficient of the spoils of office. Many appointements have been made which have not been favorably received by the various Liberal organizations throughout the province. In effest, what is sought is a return to the old patronage system, and we are inclined to think that the government favors this dispensation. It is wrong, of course, and always has been wrong. It has a tendency to reduce the level of efficiency among provincial employees, but the theory of patronage is one which has become deeply imbedded and the provincial government were is deriving courage from the actions of the new federal government in overriding any popular belief there there is, that a Civil Service Commission can be regarded as a non-partisan body.

It is true that the Civil Service Commission in this province, since its creation, was never anything but a partisan body. Appointments have gone to Liberals irrespective of any consideration for the qualification of candidates for office. The examination system has been largely a farce. The system of promotions has been equally at fault. Faith has been broken with the Civil Servants by the policy which did away with statutory increases in salaries, and their claims to consideration through merit and length of service have often been overlooked through the appointment of outsiders to positions which old time Civil Servants have been well qualified to fill. The present government has created a new host of officialdom, which is one reason for the increase in the cost of Civil Service administration. It is not this feature that has perturbed the Liberal Convention. What the organized Liberals complain of is that, through the buffer of a Civil Service Commission, the government has endeavored to shield itself from criticism because of its actions in making appointments.

The reform, if reform is planned, will indicate a return to the old time patronage, possibly disguised in some new dress. It would never do to avow openly that any semblance of a reign of impartiality had ceased. The Premier himself is on record as expressing the belief that Liberals should be appointed to offices within the gift of the government. What his followers disagree with is the method whereby appointments are made. The Liberal associations want more scope in the matter in order that by such rewards they may hold their organizations together. What legislation will be devised to meet what are regarded as the political exigencies of the situation is a matter of public as well as party interest. —Colonist.

COMING TO ORPHEUM

"REDS" LOSE THEIR GROUND

SEATTLE, Oct. 9.— Nearly three years have elapsed since the "reds" had their flare-up here in an attempt at a general strike. What has happened in this region since constitutes an evolution of special significance to employers and empolyees throughout the country.

Radicalism, talk of direct action and revolution, the propaganda of the I. W. W. for one big union, powerful enough to hold the nation at its mercy, reached its crest with the effort to bring about a general strike in February, 1919. It may not have seemed the climax then, but events since prove conclusively that the turning point came at that time. For the move nearly disrupted the labor movement here.

Many of the so-called "paper" unions embracing nearly every class of employees from office boys to janitors have disappeared. Gradually since 1919 the conservatives have gotten the upper hand, and while the central labor council today contains some men who may be classed as radicals, they speak a different language from what they did three years ago.

Admittedly the I. W. W. had its strongest hold in the lumber industry, but something has been developed instead in the mills and camps of Washington, Idaho and Oregon, which probably has no parallel anywhere in the United States and therefore deserves study because it involves a sincere attempt to solve labor problems across the conference table and without the coercion of federal or state law.

The name of the organization is the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen, commonly known now as the "Four L's." Unlike most unions of employees or cooperative associations of employees, the "Four L's" is a combination of both. Employers and employees belong to it and each pays the same dues. Neither class controls. Each mill or local working unit has a conference committee.

They know the conditions at their mill better than any outsiders and they reach the crux of the problem directly and quickly, but if they disagree there can be neither strike nor lockout, as the matter must be referred to a district board.

About 10,000 workers belong to the "Four L's." This is by no means a majority of the workers, many of whom are secretly affiliated still with the I. W. W. and some of whom belong to unions related to the American Federation of Labor.

But the membership is gradually growing. Proof that the "Four L's" is neither the tool of the workmen nor the employers is seen in the fact that it is often bitterly fought by both groups.

CHRISTMAS IN THE OLD COUNTRY—C.P.R. MAKE SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

A visit to the Old Country is something that a great number of people are giving thought to at this season of the year, and many have already made plans to reach their friends in time for the Christmas and New Year Season.

Canadian Pacific Steamships are deservedly popular for this trip and to give extra special accommodation for those who are going overseas this season, the Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged for a special train to connect with the S. S. "Montcalm" sailing from St. John, Tuesday, December 12th. Through tourist sleepers will be operated from Edmonton at 10.00 p.m. Thursday, December 7th and from Calgary at 1.35 a.m. Friday, December 8th, making connection with this special train leaving Winnipeg 9.20 a.m. December 9th.

SANCTUARY METHOD IS A SUCCESS

The astonishing manner in which wild animals respond to sanctuary protection is shown by the increase in wild life of all kinds in the Kootenay National Park. Kootenay Park is the new area in British Columbia recently reserved along the route of the new trans-mountain motor highway from the Vermillion Summit to the Windermere Valley. The district is practically virgin country and was naturally a home for big game which since the creation of the Park and the establishment of rigid protection has increased to such numbers that it promises to form one of the greatest attractions to motorists when the road is opened next spring. Wild sheep, goats, black and brown bear, deer, moose and caribou can all be seen by the passing tourist along the road or on the adjacent slopes.

PRESS COMMENT

The Motor Vehicles Act

An Ontario Legislature Committee is sitting in Toronto, with a view to improving the Motor Vehicles Act. It is possible the present act might be improved, but the main thing is to have it enforced properly. Practically all the accidents and deaths which occur are due to infractions of the act. As it stands at present, the act is a pretty comprehensive thing. If its mandates were followed life and limb would be pretty safe. And, with motor vehicles multiplying as rapidly as they are, the act must be enforced. The slaughter is becoming really alarming.—Ottawa Journal.

The One-Hand Gun

-o-

The national conference of police in New York has adopted a recommendation that the manufacture of small arms be prohibited except for military and police purposes. That is one more step in the right direction. What some over-heated sporting publications and sponsors of shooting as sport term the "one hand gun" can have no proper use outside military and police forces. It is primarily a weapon for the killing of human beings.

Gradually the country is coming to a realization of the fact. When the police accept it as a principle, as they have done in New York, the idea is greatly advanced.—Chicago Tribune.

Armistice Day

The wild rejoicing of November 11, 1918, should not give way to indifference and forgetfulness in 1922. The anniversary should be set apart as a day of grateful remembrance, not merely as a holiday. And the actual date, November 11, should be celebrated, not the nearest Monday, simply because the selection of Monday provides a good week-end holiday. If it should mean much—by all means let it be observed in a manner befitting the occasion it commemorates, not just as an excuse for a day off from work.—Peterboro' Examiner.

Straw Vote on Prohibition

A summary of the Literary Digest's prohibition poll, including the first round million that have been tabulated, shows some interesting results in respect to the general attitude of the people toward the Volstead Act. One surprising feature was the women's vote. We have ben told so often that the average woman was strong for prohibition that we had got to believe it. However, the Digest vote disabuses this idea. Of the first hundred thousand odd ballots returned by the women, spread over every state in the union, 48,000 stood for enforcement of the present act, 39,000 for modification and 20,000 for repeal. That is to say considerably upward of one-half are dissatisfied with the law as is stands and wish it changed. In no group of states was the vote for enforcement of the Volstead Act in excess of that for modification and repeal combined, while the vote in the Middle Atlantic states, that is to say New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the "dry" vote of the women was snowed under.

A general summary of the first 900,000 odd ballots counted, included factory, women's and main poll, shows 38.6 per cent. for enforcement, 40.8 per cent for modification and 20.6 per cent. for repeal. In the factory polls, such as textile and general manufacturing, there was no doubt as to where the workmen stood. They swamped Mr. Volstead in every instance, the proportions being 8.4 for enforcement, 62.1 for modification and 29.5 for repeal. This is the biggest thing ever attempted in the way of an unofficial vote, and is all the more interesting in view of the fact that the people generally were given an opportunity of expressing an opinion on the subject, their congressional representatives having been dragooned, blackmailed and threatened into passing a law which never had the sanction of the voters of the United States. Altogether the most undemocratic and unprecendented piece of legislation ever passed in the history of the country that was not under the heel of a czar or a kaiser.—Toronto Saturday Night.

According to the Louisville Courier-Journal, both east and west have lost their savor and the only place where happiness reigns is in the tropics. It says: "Young man don't go west, or east. Go to a rugged island in the tropic seas, where the joyrider can not run you down because there are no roads; where the wollen goods magnates and the raw wool producers can not skin you with their tariff bill, because clothes are not needed; where the coal miners and the coal mine operators can not force you to buy fuel at prices satisfactory to them."

Railway News

St. Stephen, N.B. — Accidents through carelessness on the part of automobile drivers are continuing to be frequent. At King Street Crossing, St. Stephen, an auto ran into the side of a Canadian Pacific engine, damaging the auto and throwing the occupants out on the street. The driver claimed that he did not see the train until he was within ten feet and could not stop in time to avoid the accident.

Toronto.—At 1.12 p.m., on September 9th, a Ford coupe ran into left side of Canadian Pacific yard engine 6112, at Allens Road crossing, Guelph, breaking front fenders, lamp, axle and wheel of the motor car. The engine was moving very slowly at the time. The driver admits his responsibility in connection with the accident.

Woodstock, Ontario.—Going at a fast rate in his automobile, and finding himself almost in the track of a Canadian Pacific train, Frank Lancaster, of East Zorra, Ontario, wisely chose running into a ditch rather than running into the train. He was approaching the C. P. R. crossing and did not notice the train until he was nearly on the crossing. The brakes refused to work and he turned the car into the ditch. The auto upset and was badly smashed, but Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster escaped injury.

Vancouver, B.C.—"Tourist traffic during the past summer has exceeded our most sanguine expectations," said Mr. C. E. E. Ussher, General Passenger Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived at the coast to look over the ground prior to laying plans for next year's business.

The feature this year, said Mr. Ussher, has been the large volume of business done in June and so far in September, two months which are usually more or less slack.

Kamloops, B.C.—Old-timers say that never did the C. P. R. gardens bloom so bravely or colorfully as this year. And surely they never seemed to look quite so lovely with their riot of shades, vivid scarlets and unbelievable blues vieing in every bloom. It is visitors, however, who are most impressed, residents even getting used to such beauty, and between trains, many compliments are paid those whose handicraft brings about such a perfection of blossoms.

Victoria, B.C.—Railway building in the interior of British Columbia is being held up by lack of labor, according to D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Mr. Coleman announced that his company could secure only a handful of men to push the Kettle Valley line south from Penticton to the new town of Oliver. While it had been planned to complete the line to Oliver in August, this had been found impossible owing to the scarcity of laborers for the proposed undertaking. The line would be finished this fall and probably in September, he said. The grade has been completed south to Oliver, but the laying of tracks is being impeded by the labor shortage, he said.

Canada's prairie wheat crop will be 49,000,00 bushels larger than the crop of 1921, said the Vice-President.

Vancouver, B.C.—Without actual figures, even a close estimate of the number of tourists who have passed through this city during the summer months can hardly be formed. Yet, from information received from both Canadian Pacific Railway and White Pass & Yukon officials, it is certain that travel to Alaska, both via this port and Seattle, has been heavier than for several seasons—perhaps since several years before the war.

Every trip of the steamers "Princess Louise" and "Princess Alice", which ply between this port and Skagway, has found the accommodation of the vessels wholly taken up and the indications are that for several trips the heavy travel will continue. Tourists and sportsmen have been flocking to the north by the hundreds, while the mining developments which have been extensive this summer, have induced many mining men to move northwards.

Service Unparalleled

The addition of the "Louise" to the Alaska service this season has furnished the finest service to the north since the B. C. Coast Service was established. Both the "Louise" and "Alice" are palatial, speedy and commodious craft and there is not a tourist returning from the north but who speaks in glowing terms of the splendid equipment of the company.

If You Trade Out of Town, and I Trade Out of Town, What Will Become of Our Town?

THE DOLLAR SPENT IN FERNIE WILL "REMAIN AT HOME TO BOOST"

THE FREE PRESS 'TRADE AT HOME' CAMPAIGN

Read these Articles with Care. They may present something you haven't thought of before. Patronize the people whose advertisements are here. They are neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in your district.

YOU SHOULD BE AS LOYAL TO YOUR COMMUNITY AS TO YOUR NAME

(Copyright)

The Fernie concerns listed here, conscious of the fact that thousands of dollars are being sent out of this territory for merchandise that can be bought at home, have launched a campaign in the hope that it will create a stronger feeling of community interest—a sentiment most vital for the prosperity of the entire community. In bold type you therefore read the slogan that they propose to popularize "TRADE IN YOUR OWN TOWN."

The time for consideration of this question could not be more opportune than the present. "Financial Preparedness," the watchword of Canada, should begin at home and can be exemplified in no more far-reaching manner than by real co-operation in this vitally important "TRADE AT HOME" movement. It is a thought that should be taken to heart and given consideration by every person who earns their living in, or owes their success to, this community.

This campaign is launched in the firm belief that the people of this community will follow the dictates of their good sense, and bring the "TRADE AT HOME CAMPAIGN" to an actuality that will be of vast benefit to the entire territory.

This movement is no selfish propaganda of these progressive concerns, who have combined in co-operative community appeal. They urge that you read the brief message they will give each week through the columns of the Fernie Free Press.

The firm resolve to "TRADE AT HOME" will not only help the retail merchants but the manufacturer and jobber, the farmers adjacent to our town, and it will also help in every line of business.....It will either directly or indirectly benefit every individual of this section.

COMIING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS ?

The special train with coast delegates to the Liberal convention at Nelson had a wreck in the Coquihalla pass, and the special returning with delegates and Premier Oliver aboard also took a header. Some wretch has insinuated that it was the "wrecking party" aboard that caused the mishaps, while others have hinted that the damage was caused by trying to carry the abnormal Oliver railway policy which is enough to wreck anything, including the government, and that coming events cast their shadows! Anyway the wreck of the convention special both ways is said to be regarded as ominous by the Premier.—Grand Forks Gazette.

"THE SILVER CAR" FULL OF SURPRISES

"The Silver Car," which will be the attraction at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday is a melodrama with an international atmosphere carrying several surprising twists amid much rapid action. It is a visualization of Wyndham Martyn's famous novel, "The Secret of The Silver Car," and offers Earle Williams an exceptionally fine role in which he can display his versatility.

Kathlyn Adams, well known leading woman, has been cast to appear opposite the star. She is of the blonde type of unusual beauty required by the story. The entire cast is made up of the same strong caliber which has characterized the Earle Williams productions. Such names as Goeffrey Webb, Eric Mayne, Emmett King, Mona Lisa, John Steppling, Max Asher and Walter Rodgers are to be found in the cast.

The production was made under the direction of David Smith, who has several big productions to his credit. He has been confined exclusively to special non-star productions, by Vitagraph, but at his own request was given "The Silver Car" to produce while waiting for a continuity and preparations on a big special that he was soon to make.

There are many big scenes in the production, several of which are very spectacular and thrilling. The plot offers exceptional opportunities in the way of scenic backgrounds, as many of the scenes are located at the famous ancestral castle of Count Michael Temesvar in Croatia.

FEW CASES AT ASSIZES

The Supreme Court Fall Assizes opened here on Wednesday with Chief Justice Gordon Hunter presiding. On this occasion the calendar was exceptionally light, there being only one civil case and two chamber applications left for hearing when court convened. The case of Gilbert vs. Carosella, damages for malicious arrest and slander, was settled out of court the day before the assize commenced.

The case that came on for trial was Matson vs. Matheson et al, a foreclosure action concerning the property known as the Imperial Hotel, in the city of Cranbrook. The case was defended by only one defendant, A. C. Bowness, judgment creditor, represented by Harry Herchmer. Lawe & Fisher, of this city, appeared for the plaintiff. Judgment was reserved.

NEW CULT AND JOY MURDER

Macleod, Oct. 17.—In a special interview this morning Rene Couteret, a black-whiskered, tall and imposing looking man, threw some light on the new Rocky Mountain House religion, the universal temple of the holy trinity. He denied that it was new, declaring that it had its birth in Paris, 29 years ago. He himself was born in Paris and was now leader and high priest of the cult in Alberta.

The religion, he said, was based on the Bible, the ten commandments, the seven gifts mentioned by the Apostles, tongues, visions, revelation, healing, etc. It was three years in Hillcrest. He claimed to have reached his call from God in whose image he was made, he said.

Their hopes of eternal rest are founded on observance of their religion here in life. They are strict believers in the homely practice of family prayers and base their faith in the holy trinity.

Idols and images they abhor, also the light fantastic. They baptize by pouring and laying on of hands. The cult, said its fervent and venerable apostle, was strong in parts of France, Poland and other European countries.

"We stand for a strict observance of the ten commandments. We are all brothers and sisters, and while I am the leader I am the servant of all who believe," said he.

Doctors Baffled

Macleod, Oct. 17.—Doctors on the stand in the Joy manslaughter case here this afternoon admitted they were baffled by the case. Dr. McDonold of Calgary and Dr. Kennedy of Macleod, who had examined the remains, admitted that it was possible but not probable that Sam Joy came to his death as a result of kicks and bruises made in an assault on him by Mary Joy. What they were positive of was that had medical aid been called, the life of Sam Joy could have been prolonged even though it might not have been saved. They would not swear that life could have been saved.

The evidence of the doctors closed the case for the crown. Nick Joy, the husband of Mary Joy and brother of the victim, took the stand as the first witness for the defence. He came home at 6 o'clock on the evening of July 25. The house was topsy turvy. He gave it as his testimony that he considered his brother, who was shivering, as dead. His wife, who seemed to have gone crazy, maintained that Sam Joy was still alive but threatened to commit suicide if witness went for a doctor. This kept up for several days, but on the morning of August 1 his wife finally was convinced that Sam was dead, and he went with her to the police to whom she made a confession.

It is likely that the woman will take the stand next.

MR. VOTER, IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO GET BUSY

It is time for you to get busy and procure a vote for the Municipal elections. If you own property you automatically go on the list, but, at the same time, you should check up at the city hall to see that your name is on the list. Householders, trades license holders and those who pay poll or road tax must register this month at the city hall, or they will not be allowed to vote at the next civic election.

The turkey trot has changed to a hesitation waltz.

WILSON—FENWICK

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fenwick, Bull River, on Thursday, Oct. 19, when their daughter Ella Marie became the wife of Bishop Wilson. The bride was becomingly gowned in ivory satin with veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Her travelling suit was of brown broadcloth. Only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present at the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Wilson and Grant Smith were present from Fernie. Rev. W. F. Burns, of the United Church, Fernie, officiated. After the early morning wedding most of the wedding guests accompanied the young couple to Cranbrook, where amid showers of rice and confetti the happy couple left for Spokane and other western cities, where they will spend a brief honeymoon previous to taking up their residence in Fernie. Mr. Bishop Wilson is one of the popular young men of Fernie. He has taken an active interest in athletics, playing on the baseball and hockey teams of this city. Mrs. Bishop Wilson was for a time on the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and by her genial ways made many friends. She also played on the famous ladies' hockey team, which won so many victories. The Free Press extends congratulations and best wishes.

POLICE MAKE MANY RAIDS

A series of raids by the provincial police in conjunction with Liquor Control Board officials, were carried out simultaneously yesterday at Natal, Hosmer, White Spruce, Waldo, Flagstone, Dorr and Newgate, when a considerable quantity of liquor and beer was seized and the proprietors of various hotels and stores placed under arrest for breaches of the Government Liquor Act.

The following are those caught in the official drag net: Pete Zoratti, proprietor Venzia Hotel, Natal; Angelo Altmare, Kootenay Hotel, Natal; Frank Carracher, storekeeper near Hosmer; John McKay, of the Waldo Hotel; R. C. McCabe, storekeeper, Flagstone; Ludy Wodyga, storekeeper and rancher, Dorr; and Herbert Lanfear, storekeep, Newgate. These parties were liberated last night on $2000 bail each to insure their appearance for trial on Oct. 26.

In the seizures of liquor, a large proportion of this was unsealed, thereby indicating it had been secured from sources other than the Government Vendors.

LADIES GOLF CLUB

The Ladies Golf Club had its closing meet last Wednesday afternoon. A field day was held with several interesting events. A tombstone competition started early in the afternoon Mrs. Perry winning with 11 strokes to spare. Mrs. Prentice came second holing out with 8 strokes to spare.

An approach and putting competition was conducted, Miss M. Brown first prize and Miss Macdonald second prize.

The prize for a hidden hole competition was won by Mrs. Robertson, who was the only lady who made No. 4 green in 4, the low score.

The presentation of cups donated to the club and won by the ladies was made by Mrs. Herchmer, who made appropriate remarks.

W. R. Wilson, who was present, also made a short speech in which he eulogized the ladies on their way of doing things.

The Wilson Cup, won by Mrs. A. Watson.

The Irvine Cup for 1922 was won by Mrs. Owen.

The Trites Cup, donated for hole play, was won by Mrs. Irvine.

The Wood Cup for score play was won by Mrs. E. K. Stewart.

Mrs. Liphardt donated a prize for a difficult approach and putting competition, which was won by Miss F. Macdonald.

Tea was served in the Club House, where many friends as well as players enjoyed the hospitality of the club, the tea convenor being Mrs. Watson.

PICARELLO CASE ON OCT. 30

Lethbridge, Oct. 19.—A change of counsel has been made by Picarello. His defence and that of the woman Lassandro in the forthcoming trial will be in the hands of J. McKinley Cameron, of Calgary, in conjunction with Gillis and McKenzie of Blairmore, and Sherwood Herchmer, of Fernie.

J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., of Calgary, will be empowered with conducting the defence of Picariello and Mrs. Lassandro, charged with the murder of Constable Lawson at Coleman several weeks ago, when the pair face trial. Application will be made by A. A. McGillivray, K.C., chief counsel for the prosecution, before Mr. Justice Walsh next week, for the accused to be tried before a special sitting of the supreme court on Nov. 200 If the application is granted, it is expected that the Dortch brothers of Vulcan, accused of the murder of Charles Kelly, will also face trial during the sittings.

A change of venue was granted the accused early in the week and the trial will be held at Calgary, commencing on Oct. 30, unless a change of time is also made.

FROSTS SENDS MEN SCURRYING TO B.C.

Victoria, Oct. 18—First touch of frosty weather on the prairies has sent unattached men scurrying over the mountains to British Columbia, where it will not be so cold during the winter months, according to reports to the labor bureau here.

From Prince George and Revelstoke come similar reports of the great trek coastward. Even Fernie reports men going through there bound this way at an average rate of 30 a day.

FOREST FIRES THIS SEASON

Creston, Oct. 16. — Although the number of forest fires that had to be fought this season was at least 50 per cent in excess of the 1921 figures, the timber losses were almost 60 per cent less than a year ago, according to Norman Moore, district forester for East Kootenay, who is here on an official visit this week.

The records show that in 1922 there were 235 forest fires, with a showing of 144 in 1921, and 130 in 1920, but despite the larger number this year no less than 60 per cent of them were extinguished without loss or cost to the department, the Fernie area having the smallest number of fires and lightest loss for the year of any section in East Kootenay. Mr. Moore accounts for this splendid showing all over his territory on the score of better organization and active co-operation of the residents of the several districts.

The most serious blaze was at Gold Creek, about 121 miles from Cranbrook, where a crew of about 150 men were engaged in the effort to control a fire over a wide area there. The Creston district, however, gave the forestry officials the greatest concern due to this locality presenting the worst fire hazard, with four large fires to handle during the season, necessitating the help of 120 men at times to look after them.

Due to the prolonged fire fighting season there was little time for the other lines of forestry effort, and but three new camp sites were laid out this year, all of them along the Banff-Windermere road in the neighborhood of Invermere.

The feature of this year's lumber market, Mr. Moore states, has been the steady demand at Chicago and points east for B.C. fir and larch, at prices that considerably exceed the market quotations at Toronto and other Eastern Canada centres. There has also been a great demand east for yellow pine, but the shipping of poles, which was brisk early in the year, has greatly slackened. During the season 30 of the sawmills in East Kootenay were in operation out of a total of 50, and some 15 of them are still running. He predicts that logging operations will be at least 30 per cent heavier than last winter, though at present there is a decided shortage of men for bush work.

The New York men who started out on a hike across the continent have abandoned the trip. They were run down by a flivver before they got outside the city limits.

C.N.P. FOOTBALL LEAGUE

At a meeting held at Michel on Sunday last it was decided to make application to the Dominion Football Association for a charter to cover the Crow's Nest district. It was also arranged to play a game in Fernie for the benefit of the Association and Michel will meet a selected team from the League. The following teams were picked to play:

Rest of League—Booth, Wilson and Thornton, Fernie; Corlett, Fyles and Robertson, Coal Creek; Jackson, Wilson, McAndrews, Blairmore; Jepson, Bellevue. Reserves: Wheeler, Simms and Sweeney.

Michel—Dawe; J. Jenkins, J. Watson; G. Lynn, A. McGovern, A. Travis; R. Mitchell, H. Travis, A. Macrone, K. McFarlane, H. Brown.

Michel, Oct. 15.—Fernie and Coal Creek combined today and visited Michel playing an exhibition soccer game for benefit of players injured during the season. The weather was ideal and a fair sized crowd turned out. Michel had much the better of play and defeated the visitors 2—0. McCrone and H. Train scored for Michel. Sawyer, the visitors" goalie, was called upon time after time to exhibit his best and the two shots beating him were impossible to save. Michel forwards played a pretty passing game the best to watch of the season.

MORE WORKERS NOT NEEDED

The Chief of Police reports that there is at present an ever growing menace through the influx, principally from prairie points, of undesirables, and also undue annoyance through numbers of persons being directed to this locality for employment. At the present time the industrial conditions practically throughout the entire district of Southeast Kootenay, are not such as would enable giving further employment and in fact there is a surplus. It is well established from information that Chief Anderson has been able to gather from these transients, that they have been directed here by the officials in certain prairie centres. Employment agencies, too, are known to be offenders in suggesting that transportation be bought to Fernie.

In view of this unjust misrepresentation the local police are now forced, in order to meet the situation, to deal more or less harshly with all comers of this description.

TOURIST ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Tourist Association of South Eastern B. C. and Southern Alberta was held in the council chamber, Fernie, on Oct. 18 and was attended by representatives from Lethbridge, Cranbrook, Nelson, Pincher Creek, Windermere and Fernie. They were A. G. Baalim and D. Duff of Lethbridge; H. Bossenberry of Pincher Creek; W. H. Wilson, J. P. Fink and F. McPherson of Cranbrook; R. Randolph Bruce and Major Turner of Invermere; and E. K. Stewart and Fred Spalding of Fernie. Geo. Bevan, Supt. of the Watertan Lakes Park, attended as a visitor.

Being crowded this week we cannot give a full report of the proceedings. This will be given next issue. Briefly the business transacted was: It was unanimously decided to carry on for another year, all being prepared to accept their assessments. Fred Spalding was reappointed Commissioner and his plans for 1923 accepted in full .These plans call for an issue of at least 20,000 large maps with brief descriptive matter a few illustrations, table of distances and a hotel and garage list on the reverse side. A small amount of newspaper advertising and what other means the commissioner thinks will bring results. The same to be kept within a total expenditure of $5000.

Hugh W. Robertson of Nelson is the new president. Donald Duff of Lethbridge the new vice-president. The Hon. President is R. Randolph Bruce and the Hon. Vice President is Cal. J. S. Dennis of Montreal.

Take a look at Spalding's display of pictures of the new Banff-Windermere road which is in Harvie's window. They are a fine collection and show the beauties of this new highway, which will mean so much to Fernie and all other towns along the Crow's Nest.

CLOSES PIN IN STOMACH

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 19.—An open safety pin in the stomach of a six-months-old baby here was closed with a wire loop and a pair of pincers at the end of two long pieces of wire, and then removed without harm to the baby. The operation was performed by a young throat specialist, Dr. J. H. Buff, after the most experienced physicians had given up hope of removing the pin.

The baby is the son of Mac Asbill, an Atlanta attorney. Mrs. Asbill put the baby to bed in his small room with a safety pin fastening the bed covering about him.

She heard the baby scream and noticed that the coverlet safety pin was gone. Could the baby have swallowed it? X-ray photographs showed the safety pin open in the baby's stomach, the sharp point and safety catch pointed upward.

All this while the baby was the most undisturbed person in the case. But at 3 o'clock he started crying. His father decided that more X-rays should be taken.

Dr. Buff looked at the X-ray pictures and said that he could get the safety pin out. He went to the operating room and then made the instruments he would need.

He took a tiny pair of pincers and attached them to two pieces of wire, each piece a foot and a half long. At the other end of the wires he fixed two handles, like the handles of a pair of scissors. He took another wire, the same length — about a foot and a half long—and made a loop in it. He got an electroscope—a tiny, electric bulb at the end of a wire.

The baby's head and arms were held. The doctor fixed one end of the cord of the tiny electric light around the head, then lowered the light down the baby's throat. In his right hand he took the handles at the end of the two wires to which the pincers were attached, and inserted the pincers into the baby's throat and pushed them down to the stomach. In his left hand, he took the wire with the loop on it, and pushed it down the baby's throat.

With his left hand he slipped the wire loop over the butt of the safety pin, which rested just at the entrance to the baby's stomach. With the pincers, manipulated by his right hand, he caught hold of the butt and held the pin steady. Then he closed the pin and drew it out.

MONSIEUR DE MOSCOW

(Dr. Frank Crane)

The public executioner in Paris used to be called Monsieur de Paris.

Under the old regime the job of headsman was hereditary, like all privileges and descended from father to son. The family which had this right was entitled to the blazon of Monsieur de Paris.

The bolshevik paradise will stand for none of this hereditary nonsense. It will not admit the shameful survival of privilege.

According to a dispatch from Helsingfors the bolshevik government in Russia has taken measures to create at Moscow a school of executioners.

So doing, it has made another of those gestures so striking to the imagination which illustrates with what solicitude and intelligence the paternal power of the proletariat is busy with the welfare of the people.

The announcement also states that a laboratory is placed at the disposal of the pupils.

The full benefit of science is to be placed at the disposal of the gentlemen whose business it is to chop off the heads of criminals.

Thus we have another step toward the coming democracy; another indication that the gentlemen in charge of things in Russia are going to fashion a new world.

One can but wonder what sort of instruction the pupils in execution are to receive.

Will there be practical exercises in decapitation?

Will there be autopsies and dissections in connection with the course of cephalotomy?

Will there be experiments in poison and the culture of disease germs?

In fine, shall we at last realize the dream of making murder a fine art?

Under the grateful influence of competition, the young laborers in the garden of capital punishment will doubtless discover a thousand and one new and ingenious ways to shorten the lives of those undisciplined citizens who refuse to believe in the autocracy of the proletariat.

Still, if we are to have capital punishment, it might be as well to have the matter attended to by experts. It is perfectly understandable how if any one was going to have his head lopped off he would like to have it done in a neat and workmanlike manner.

Orpheum—SPECIAL ATTRACTION Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 and 21

IN MOURNING

My Aunt Ophelia bumped and left this world of care; since then I've had the doleful dumps, all kinds of bleak despair. My life seemed desolate and flat since Aunt Ophelia died; a band of crape is on my hat, some seven inches wide; and on my lapel and my sleeve are other sable bands, and everywhere I go I grieve and sigh and wring my hands. My letter paper's edged with black, that no one may forget; and on the front door of my shack there is a dark rosette. But yesterday the parson said, "In grief you run amuck; I know your Aunt Orphelia's dead and that is beastly luck; I know she was a good old dame, I understand your woe; but she would have you play the game, if she were here, I know. If she could come from t'other land, a vague but kindly shape, she'd ask that all your tears be canned, and likewise all the crape. Some little mourning she'd accept, as tribute safe and sane, but if she knew how long you've wept, I know she'd have a pain. She was a bright and blithe old maid, and laughter filled her home; she wouldn't like the crape displayed upon your arm and dome. Your aunt is on the golden shore, she's happy as a bird; no doubt she thinks you are a bore and all your gloom absurd."

Says It Made A New Person Of Her

"Since I have been taking Tanlac I not only feel better in every way, but I am gaining weight right along," declared Mrs. Mary Gillette, 444 Third Ave., Calgary, Alberta.

"For two or three years I suffered from a bad case of indigestion and a terribly nervous, run-down condition. I fell off from a hundred and twenty pounds to only a hundred and five, and my nerves were so shattered I often felt like I would go to pieces entirely. I didn't have energy enough hardly to do my housework. I had scarcely any appetite, even the little I ate would not digest properly and I was bothered all the time with gas on my stomach.

"But Tanlac has already made a wonderful improvement in my condition, and I have only taken three bottles so far. I have a splendid appetite, never suffer any more indigestion and that tired, exhausted feeling I used to have is all gone. My nerves have calmed down till I feel almost like a new person and am simply stronger and better in every way. Tanlac is a grand medicine and I cannot recommend it too highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

WILD HORSE GULCH DAYS TO BE SHOWN

Cranbrook, Oct. 14.—A return to the days of the Wild Horse Gulch, with its mad rush for gold, its dance halls, its tinhorns, its bunco and confidence men, the old barroom and all that made the Wild Horse wild, will be brought back by the Cranbrook Rotary Club in a two-day celebration here some time in November.

Preliminary work is under way to collect all the material and data necessary for the staging of this event of the early days of the pioneers of this portion of British Columbia, and the auditorium or some other large building will be engaged for the occasion. The proceeds will be devoted to the entertainment of children and assist in providing playground equipment.

200 MILES AN HOUR BY AIRPLANE

An aerial regatta began at Detroit on the 7th which proved to be the greatest exhibit of aviation that the United States has yet seen. There were such displays of speed as had not been known in this country. New planes were especially constructed for the Deroit affair by the suppliers of the navy and the army. Some, indeed, were new kinds.

General Mitchell of the service of military aviation recently announced that it has four new models and that each has a speed exceeding 200 miles an hour. America may or may not have gone crazy over speed, but it is interested in speed. This was confessed by the Detroit affair building great stands for the spectators of the aerial races to break the records of speed surpassing 200 miles an hour that have recently been scored by French and Italian aviators.

Aviation's racing side has not developed in the United States to any such extent as in Europe. It is likely that the performances at Detroit will rouse permanent interest in it.

The second aero congress of the United States was also held at Detroit last week, and 60 cities were represented. Steps were taken toward the enactment of federal laws of the air and the creation of a bureau of civil aviation.

Bilious Attacks

Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it.

OTTAWA NEWS

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—As the King administration, on one matter after another, comes round to the policy carried out or advocated by the late Meighen government, the impression grows that the country would be all the better off if such policies and regulations were in the hands of those who framed them. Their bitterest political opponents must admit that in every great issue — and most lesser ones—from that of Imperial naval aid in 1911 right down to the wheat board today, Mr. Meighen and his party have been right. Vindication has always come sooner or later. The justly famous Liberal "chart" does not seem to fill the bill, or perhaps the present skipper of the ship of state finds that the counsel of the "wise men about him" is at times contradictory. As to the possible brevity of the premier's tenure of office, Col. Hugh Clark, of North Bruce, commenting in his newspaper upon the changes made by Hon. Mr. King in the Laurier residence, suggest that "financially this was an error, because the house is his only as long as he remains leader."

The Clinton News-Record sees Mr. Meighen as the real leader. It says, editorially: "The Toronto Star is now scolding because Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen didn't come right out and tell Premier King what to do in the Near East crisis. It is an admitted fact in many quarters that Mr. Meighen is the real leader in the Dominion parliament, but is it not time Little Willie learned to take a few responsibilities upon his own shoulders."

In discussion of the Near East crisis, now apparently over, there has been a widespread tendency to overlook the fact that Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King is our Secretary of State for External Affairs. He was one time, at least, when that portfolio meant something, or ought to have. But Mr. King, so far as one can tell, has paid very little attention to the affairs of that department. Indeed, it must be so, when the premier disclaims possession of any information from Great Britain on which to act or express an opinion in connection with the threatened war. His own special department maintains, or ought to maintain, a channel of communication with the British cabinet on the progress of such affairs, and if that channel has been clogged at such time, who is responsible, if not the titular and actual head of such department? Discussing this point, the Farmers' Sun, in Ottawa correspondence, charges that "Sheer ignorance is at the root of the governmental indecision which has plunged the country into a fortnight of disquiet and restlessness." The Sun writer adds that the only competent official in the department of external affairs, "who has had almost a unique experience and knows more about international problems than the whole Cabinet together, for some obscure reason has been steadily ignored by the prime minister." The reference is no doubt to Sir John Pope, K.C.M.G., C.V.O., I.S.O., permanent Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, who has held that office thirteen years, and who was formerly Sir John A. Macdonald's secretary.

NOVA SCOTIA LEADS THE WAY

The Province of Nova Scotia took a distinct step in the direction of an effective forestry policy recently when it ordered that there should be no more sales or leases of Crown lands. This measure it is said will not interfere in any way with settlement, as there is an abundance of vacant cleared land in that province open for this purpose, but it will on the other hand tend to conserve the forest resources and protect the water courses and water supplies. The next thing for Nova Scotia to do is to prohibit the export of wood from Crown lands, as other provinces have done. That, with an effective system of fire protection, will place Nova Scotia in the van in respect to conserving her natural resources.

New York landlords have a new grievance. They complain that the steam from the house-brew stills of their tenants is peeling the wall-paper off the walls.

The editor of a literary paper who laments the shortage of high-class fiction writers has probably never read the letters of college students to their fathers.

NORTHERN ONTARIO FIRES

The serious fires, which practically wiped out the towns of Haileybury, North Cobalt, Thornloe, Heaslip and Charlton with the loss of thirty odd lives early this month have been wrongly described as "forest" fires, according to an authoritative official of the Ontario Department of Lands. The territory in which the fires occurred is in the south clay-belt, an area that has been settled for 20 years and which contains some of the finest farming land in Ontario. There is no forest there in the sense in which one speaks of "forest fires." According to the Ontario Deputy Minister of Lands, the fire-rangers were taken off last spring from some of the townships in that section, practically all of which are organized municipalities. The townships were asked for their opinions, he said, and stated fire-ranging to be unnecessary.

CINEMA HIT COMING TO THE ISIS

"Human Hearts," Great Film Drama—At Isis No. 1 and 2

Superb in strength of story and cast "Human Hearts," the Universal Jewel which comes to the Isis Theatre on Nov. 1 for an engagement of two days, stands forth prominently among the offerings of recent months as a drama teeming with incidents and action of a compelling variety. House Peters, popular veteran of the stage and screen, heads the notable cast.

The picture version of Hal Reid's famous old play presents people from the humbler walks of life who live and love, hate and fight, just as do the people we meet every day. House Peters is cast as a blacksmith, a fine specimen of manhood, a simple son of the Ozark mountains. His father is a stern and unbending man, but just and honest, who objects to his son's courtship with a pretty maiden who plotted to beat the family out of their rich coal lands. She really falls in love with him and marries.

When the romance of married life gives way to the stern facts of reality she longed for her old, free life, and the tempter comes in the person of a smooth-tongued ex convict who induces her to flee with him. The aged father attempts to stop the elopement and is killed. The son, blamed for the murder, believes his wife was the slayer and refuses to offer any defence. He is sentenced to prison for life.

In the working out of the plot to a logical conclusion the director, King Baggot, has shown a fine sense of the dramatic. The picture is artistically photographed and splendidly acted in roles which require dramatic ability of the first order.

Included in the cast are such noted artists as Edith Hallor, Mary Philbin, George Hackathorne, Russell Simpson, Gertrude Claire, Ramsey Wallace, Snitz Edwards, H. S. Karr, Gene Dawson, Lucretia Harris, Geo. W. West and Emmett King. By all means see this picture, take the entire family. It will give you a new and better angle on life, even while it affords you the best entertainment you have had in many months.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble—It may be teeth—it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA

1869 Fifty-three Years of Better Results for Policy Holders. 1922

What Does "Mutual" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?

It means that the Policyholders, through their premiums, provide the funds for the organization and upbuilding of the Company without assistance from any outside source whatsoever. It follows, therefore, that the Policyholders:

(A) OWNS all the assets, including Head Office and everything pertaining to the Company.

(B) CONTROL all its affairs through a Board of Directors elected by and from its Policyholders.

(C) RECEIVE every dollar of its profits.

NOTE — All Profits earned on non-participating policies in a Mutual Company go into the general fund and are distributed among the holders of participating policies.

It follows, therefore, that a Mutual Life Company can and does furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

What Does "Capital Stock" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?

It means that a few men provide "funds" for organization expenses, obtain a charter, turn these "funds" into paid-up Capital Stock, and thereafter the Stockholders:

(A) OWN the Company.

(B) Control the Company through a Board of Directors, at least two-thirds of whom are elected by Stockholders.

(C) And unless otherwise provided for in their charters, they may:

(1) TAKE all interest earned on their paid-up capital stock.

(2) TAKE all profits earned on non-participating policies.

(3) TAKE up to one-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies.

It follows, therefore, that a Stock Company cannot and does not furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

Let us see what this difference between "Mutual" and "Stock" means as applied to the earnings of the Mutual Life of Canada for year 1921.

ACTUAL PROFITS EARNED:

On Non-Participating Business	$ 123,000.00
On Participating Business	2,120,000.00
Total Earned in 1921	$2,243,000.00

Under the "Mutual" plan of the Mutual Life of Canada, every dollar of this magnificent sum belongs to and is credited solely to the participating Policyholders.

Under the terms of the Dominion Insurance Act, other Canadian Life Companies, may allot to themselves, if not provided otherwise in their charters, besides all interest earned on their paid-up capital:

(A) ALL profits earned on Non-Participating Business	$123,000.00
(B) Ten per cent of profits earned on Participating business	212,000.00
	$335,000.00

An equivalent amount each year for the next 20 years would amount to $6,700,000.00. This would mean that, without taking into account future expansion,

The Policyholders of The Mutual Life of Canada will receive in the next 20 years over Six Millions of Dollars more than they would have received if this Company had been organized on the Capital Stock instead of The Mutual Plan.

If contemplating Life Insurance think only of The Mutual Life of Canada and increase the investment value. No foreign business nor investments entertained. Assets exceed Forty-eight Million Dollars. Business in force, Two Hundred and Twenty-eight Million Dollars.

Do not forget the whist drive and dance tonight in the Catholic Hall. Whitehouse four piece orchestra — Admission 50c.

The regular meeting of the city council which was to have been held this week has been postponed until next week owing to the absence from the city of His Worship the Mayor and some of the aldermen.

Robt. Potter, of Penticton, for many years city engineer of Fernie, is in the city today renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Potter has some intention of locating in Cranbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnson will leave next week for Vancouver, where Mr. Johnson has purchased an interest in a big real estate and insurance business in that city. Fred Johnson, who has been one of our prominent business men for many years, came to Fernie in 1900 as an accountant for the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. Later on he was with Herchmer & Herchmer in their law business, and then went into gents furnishing, which he conducted until last year. During their stay in Fernie Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have been closely identified with the upbuilding of the city of Fernie and they leave a thousand friends behind, who wish them every success in their new home.

The Fernie Garage wish to announce that they have just received a wire from the Ford Motor Company announcing another drop in the price of all Ford Models. As this wire has come too late to change the prices in this week's advertisement, they wish to say that all prices as shown in their ad. will have a reduction of $50.00, except the Coupe and Sedan, which will have a reduction of $85.00. This new price means a reduction of $145.00 on the Coupe and Sedan and $90.00 on all other models within one month. They also very strongly advise anyone who contemplates purchasing a new Ford Car this fall or in the spring to do so at once, as they are quite confidents there will be a rise on the present price before spring. The new price F.O.B. Fernie, including all taxes, will be: Touring Car $670.00; Runabout $626.00; Light Delivery $635.00; Coupe $869.00; Sedan $965.00; Truck $679.00.

CIGARETTE TAX IS EXCESSIVE

The excessive taxation that was placed on cigarettes last June by the Hon. Mr. Fielding, has up to date had an extremely bad effect upon cash returns from these sources, indicating that it is quite possible to advance taxation to a point where revenue begins to seriously decline. Since the tax was advanced from $6 to $7.50 per thousand on cigarettes last June each month's returns indicate a loss, as compared with the same months last year. Comparing the months of June, July and August this year with the corresponding months in 1921,, show that there has been a decline in revenue of no less than $661,000, made up as follows: Stamp tax, decrease $456,341; loss on raw leaf tobacco duties, as compared with a year ago $204,706.

It is not to be presumed that this indicates less cigarette smoking. On the other hand it does indicate a huge amount of smuggling which as everybody knows is now going on. And the reasons for this are obvious enough when it is considered that cigarettes can be bought in the United States for just about one-half of what they are now selling for in Canada. With a government irabbing off 60 per cent of the retail price of a package of "smokes," which is now the case, it simply puts a premium on obtaining supplies through illegitimate channels.

While the Finance Minister "skied" the tax on cigarettes with the best intentions in the world, that is to say, to add to the country's revenue, the reverse is the case and the sooner it is pulled down to a legitimate level the better.—Saturday Night.

CANADIAN ENTERPRISE IN ENGLAND

CLOSE to the Dock Gates, and nearly opposite the South-Western Hotel, the new Canadian Pacific Building at Southampton, England, opened on Monday, Sept. 4th, will soon become a well-known landmark for travellers.

The building stands out in striking relief to the rather drab appearance of Canute Road, on which it faces. A stone front, colour washed brickwork, and pleasant green shutters to the first floor windows, have assisted in achieving this desirable effect. Window decoration has been treated in an original style, with sliding shutters having reed-like divisions screening the interior, on the lines of the Oriental Shyoji.

The interior decorations and arrangements have been carried out from a strictly practical point of view. A colour scheme of decided character has been obtained by a strong contrast of black and red, ebonised woodwork supplying the black, while an unusual type of old fashioned marbling has been used for the cornice and dado.

Rubber floors, which deaden the sound of footsteps and are also considered more sanitary where there is much traffic, are an important feature of an office that will undoubtedly prove a very busy one for its occupants, Mr. David Drummond, Southampton Agent, and his Staff, in dealing with the ever-increasing flow of Canadian Pacific traffic through the Port of Southampton.

All the work has been carried out by a well-known local firm, Messrs. Jenkins & Sons, of Southampton, from designs prepared by A. H. Jones, M.S.A., architect, and P. A. Staynes, R.O.I., artist, of 10, Conduit Street, London, W.

CUTTING STEEL BARS

One of the most ordinary processes in engineering ships is the cutting up of steel bars. As usually performed the process is very uneconomical, especially when a large number of pieces of the same size have to be cut off. In order to get over this difficulty a British firm has introduced a new method which enables several bars to be cut simultaneously. A feature of the machine lies in the vice, which has two jaws, one moving horizontally and the other vertically. The machine is designed to cut off a six-inch bar, and by the use of the special vise it can cut off three four-inch bars, or seven two-inch bars, and so on at one time. By an ingenious arrangement the saw is never engaged on the full thickness of all the bars at the same moment. This enables a high speed of cutting to be maintained. An incidental feature is the use of a revolving mechanism which removes all the chips from the saw. As an indication of the speed at which this machine will work, it may be mentioned that three four-inch bars were cut through in less than ten minutes.

DINOSAURS IN NORTHERN ASIA

Mr. Andrew's letter of May 9, from Urga, describing the discovery of the first dinosaurs found in Northern Asia, is so dramatic that we may quote from it, with slight changes in phrasing:

When we were half-way across Mongolia (between Kalgan and Urga) our attention was attracted by some interesting geologic exposures, and we stopped for camp. While we were preparing supper, Granger, Berkey Morris (the three geologists of the party) began prospecting and within a few yards of camp discovered some bones of dinosaurs. (This is the first discovery of giant reptiles known as dinosaurs, in northern Asia.) The region promised to be so interesting that I left the geologists and Persenlu (a French mechanic) with all the food we had and pressed on with Colgate, our motor-car operator, and our photographers, Mr. Shackleford and Mrs. Andrews, toward Turin, 152 miles south of Urga, where we had planned to find our caravan.

"We reached Turin without a single accident and, as we approached the outskirts of this Mongolian town, we saw a large caravan and decided to camp. Then I suddenly recognized the American flag and realized that it was the caravan of the American Museum Expedition. It had been five weeks on the way from Kalgan and just arrvied one hour before us. Pretty fine connection for a 700 mile journey across the plains, was it not? We went over to the great rocky outcrop and pitched our tents. The caravan followed and reached our encampment one hour later. It was an inspiring sight as the 75 camels wound up from the plain with the American flag at the head. It made me realize, as nothing else had, that the Third Asiatic Expedition was really an accomplished fact; that all the long days and months of preparation in New York had resulted in this; it was a dream come true. Shackleford recorded in motion pictures the approach of the caravan, from the moment the camels entered the rocky pass until they lined up in three long rows and kneeled to have their loads removed."
—Henry Fairfield Osborn, in "Asia" Magazine.

Railway News

Montreal.—Ike Liter and Abram Mayoff, who were arrested at Montreal on August 24th, charged with giving money to C. P. R. conductors on the Ste. Agathe Subdivision for not collecting fares from parties of passengers, appeared before Judge Perrault on September 21st and pleaded guilty to the charge, and were sentenced to pay a fine of $25 each and costs.

These are the first prosecutions made in Canada on this charge, which is covered by an amendment to the Criminal Code under section 412A, making it a criminal offence for giving or offering to give to conductors of any railway valuable consideration for not collecting fares from passengers travelling on trains.

Figures have been issued recently showing the accidents and casualties occurring on the Pacific system of the Southern Pacific Railway during the years 1918-1921. They are sufficiently impressive:

Ran on track in front of train, 1,390; killed, 185; injured, 569. Ran into side of train, 676; killed 13; injured, 253. Stalled or died on track, 327; killed, 7; injured, 41. Skidded into side of train, 89; injured, 17. Ran into crossing gates, 207; injured, 18. Ran into crossing flagmen, 20; killed, 2; injured, 15. Miscellaneous — (ran into cattle guard, warning signs, etc.), 46; killed, 1; injured, 8. Total accidents, 2,755; total killed, 208; total injured, 921.

If the danger to people driving automobiles recklessly was confined to such people one might be inclined to view the situation with comparative equanimity, but the reverse is very much the case. Railroads suffer heavily through careless driving.

Ottawa. — Apparently there are some automobile drivers who are wise enough to realize that it is better to run into a ditch than into a railway train. Another case of this kind occurred at Hull.

A resident of Val Tetreau, Hull, ditched an automobile he was driving on the Aylmer road one Saturday night, near the C. P. R. crossing when his brakes failed to function, and a train was coming along. His spill into the ditch probably saved the lives of his passengers, three in number, and his own, while his car was badly crippled.

An auto containing four persons was driving in to Hull from Val Tetreau, at a fair rate of speed. They had reached the Pontiac railroad crossing and were headed for the C. P. R. crossing, some yards ahead, when they were warned by the whistle of an approaching train, of danger ahead. The driver at once applied the brakes, but found they would not stop the car, which was being rapidly carried on to the crossing with the train only a short distance away. Realizing that he could not get over the crossing ahead of the train the driver adopted the only course possible and cutting off the gas he turned the car into the side of the road, and in doing so struck a telegraph pole, which snapped in two by the impact, fell, just missing the auto, which turned over on its side, the top just grazing the mail coach of the train as it swept over the crossing. Strange to say, despite the shock of the collision when the car hit the telegraph pole, and its capsizing, none of the occupants were hurt beyond sustaining a few bruises and cuts, and a bad fright.

Harry Matthews, 36 Sherbrooke street, Ottawa, the engineer of the train which was from Brockville and was due at the Central station at 6.50, warned by his fireman, Jack Finn, 41 Spadina avenue, that an accident had occurred, pulled the train up after it had passed over the crossing and helped, with other train officials, to extricate the passengers from the wrecked auto, who were taken in to Hull by a passing autoist. None of the party was in need of medical attention.

Toronto.—On the evening of September 19th, when yard engine with 17 cars of meat was crossing St. Claire Avenue, at West Toronto, a Willys-Knight touring car ran into the side of the twelfth and thirteenth cars from the engine, breaking both front fenders of automobile. Fortunately, the occupants of the automobile were not injured.

Banff. — Although the official opening of the Banff Windermere Automobile Road will not take place till Dominion Day next year, the last stretch has just been laid, and the chief engineer traversed the whole 104 miles, from Banff to Lake Windermere, for the first time in a motor car. The time taken was seven hours. The new road provides an important link on the All-Canadian motor trail through the Rockies, and is expected to bring thousands of motorists to Banff from the United States, as it connects with the great Columbia Highway through Spokane to Portland. This season the Canadian Pacific trains to and from the Rockies were heavily laden with tourists. The opening of the Banff-Windermere road will, if possible, make resorts in the Canadian Pacific Rockies more popular than ever, and the number of tourist visitors will be largely increased.

The bullet-proof jacket adopted by the New Cork City police weighs 12 pounds and costs $60, and, according to claim of the makers, stops a bullet from the .45 army Colt. Inventors will now turn their attention to a bullet that will pierce any jacket.

RECORDS IN LEBANON

On the face of a cliff in the Lebanon hills Rameses II, King of Egypt, well over 3000 years ago ordered his stone carvers to inscribe a tablet setting forth his conquest of the land. The figures of the ancient Egyptian ruler and his men still are visible. A few feet away one may see, carved in the same rock by a British stone cutter, a record of the coming in September, 1918, of Field Marshal Sir Edmund H. H. Allenby, G. C. B., commander of the Allied forces in Asia Minor. And the passage of the centuries from B.C. 1300 to A.D. 1918 is recorded by various other carvings, in all not less than twelve and each describing the march of a victorious army.

The cliff selected for the carving of these historic records is at the mouth of the Dog River, ten miles northeast of Beirut, in Syria. This strip of country lying between the bridge between the ancient empires of the valley of the Nile and Messopotamia, and over it has passed the armies of the ancient, medieval and modern worlds. The narrowest point is where the Lebanon mountains come close to the sea, and at this point Rameses II set the precedent of commemorating his conquests by hewing out a panel on the face of the cliff. His example has been followed by others through the centuries, until now there are a dozen of them. They are all cut about four or five inches deep, from five to nine feet high and from two to four and a half feet in width. The storms of more than 3000 years have beaten upon some of them but still the figures of the ancient Egyptian conquerors are easily discernible as they stand with their right arms uplifted in an attitude of victory. The hieroglyphics have long since disappeared except to the trained eye of the archaeologist.

Several Assyrian conquerors led their armies through this pass, including the great Sennacherib, who threatened Jerusalem but whose army was smitten by "the breath of the Lord," and for a century and a quarter the city was saved from its foes.

Alexander the Great led his conquering hosts through the same defile on his way to Egypt, and Greek and Latin tablets tell of the conquests of the great kingdoms of Southern Europe when the march of empire passed from Asia to Europe.

Coming down to recent history a tablet tells of the coming of the army of Louis Napoleon in 1860 when the massacres in the Lebanons called for European interference, and France first set her foot in Syria. Nearly 60 years passed by and then the English army, led by General Allenby and assisted by the French, swept up like a whirlwind from the south four years ago and ended the rule of the Turk in the southern port of Levant.

A panel has been cut in the cliff near those of the ancient Egyptians, telling of this great victory and bringing this wonderful cliff record of history up to date.

AN EDUCATIONAL NOVELTY

St. Louis, Mo., has inaugurated an educational novelty. Whether it will become a permanent feature of the school system there will depend upon the reception given to it by the ladies. The board of education has arranged for night classes in automobile mechanics for women only, to be held two evenings each week at the most conveniently located high school.

St. Louis has been having a particularly strenuous time with automobile accidents. Severe traffic laws did not appear to solve the problem, and now a new set of traffic rules is being inaugurated eliminating the left hand turn in all congested traffic territory. Only right handed turn will be permitted.

It appears to be the theory of the board of education that a part at least of the preventable accidents are due to the unfamiliarity of women drivers with the mechanical facts of the automobile, but it is claimed that the greater number even of those who habitually "chauffe" their own cars know little of the mechanical construction and emergency possibilities of the auto. If those, and also ladies who are planning to drive, will be willing to accept the education board's advice and instruction it is believed that much good will be accomplished.

Other cities doubtless will watch the St. Louis experiment with a view to accept the offer in the spirit it is intended and do not boycott the classes as being an insult to feminine mechanical instinct. — New Orleans Times-Picayune.

LIFE IS GIVE AND TAKE PROPOSITION
No Man, Under Modern Conditions, Can Live Entirely Unto Himself
EACH DEPENDENT ON OTHERS
Citizen Who Does Not Aid in Building Up Community Can Not Expect to Have Prosperity Himself

(Copyright)

There was a time in the world when a man could do pretty much as he pleased. What one man did was of little concern to anyone else, for it had little effect on anyone else. Those days are gone, however, and they never will return. Today, no man can live entirely unto himself. Life is a complicated affair under modern conditions. No one man in any community is entirely independent of all others in that community.

Organized society, in the form of governments national, state and local, have recognized the new conditions and have decreed that every man must observe certain rules in his relation with his fellow men. He must not do certain things that would endanger the health of other people in his community. He must not do such things as would disturb the peace and quiet of his neighborhood. He must remember that he owes a duty to his community.

No Question of Right

A man may say that he has the right to spend his money where he pleases; that no one can stop him if he wants to buy his groceries, his clothes and his furniture in some city miles away from where he earns the money to pay for them. He is right. There is no law to prevent him from doing so, unless it is the law of self-preservation. The man who has the right to send his money away to some distant city, also has the right to send his children to that city to be educated in the schools, which his money helps to support, but he doesn't exercise that right. He sends his children to the local schools, the maintenance of which is made possible by the men who spend their money at home.

Life in any community today is a give-and-take proposition. A man can not take everything and give nothing and get away with it for any great length of time. He can not take his living from a community and give nothing back to help the other fellow make a living. If he cuts off the other fellow's living, he is bound eventually to cut off his own, for unless the other fellow has the money to buy his labor or his goods he can not make a living himself.

You may say that what you buy doesn't amount to much and the money you send away to the mail order houses in other cities can not have any great effect upon the general business conditions in your town. Maybe it doesn't amount to much and maybe it won't have any great effect upon the community's prosperity in itself, but what will be the result if every person in the community, or half of them, or a tenth of them, take the same view of the matter. Your business in itself, may not amount to much, but taken together with the business of a hundred others in the community, it amounts to a great deal. It amounts to the difference between a prosperous community and a "dead" one. It amounts to the difference, in the end, between good times and hard times for yourself and your own family. If you lived on a desert isle, it would make no difference where you send your money, because it would make no difference whether you had any money at all or not. But you are not living upon a desert isle. You are living in a modern community. To do everything possible to build up that community is not only a duty which you owe to the community, but—more important still—it is a duty which you owe to yourself.

Taxes Will Increase

You have children to educate. You want your community to have good schools so that your children may have the same advantages that the children in the big city have. If you live on a farm you need good roads over which to haul your products to market. You may say that you pay your share of the taxes out of which the school houses are built and the roads constructed. Maybe you do pay your share, in proportion to the value of your world's goods, but where is the other fellow to get the money to pay his share of the taxes if, after you pay your taxes, you send the remainder of your money to some other community to help build their schools and construct their roads. The merchants of any community pay a very considerable part of the taxes collected in that community. Go to the tax books and you will find this to be the case. When the business of the merchant falls off and he carries smaller stocks and has less money in the bank, he pays smaller taxes, and as the amount he pays in taxes decreases, the amount you must pay increases if the schools are to be maintained and the roads kept up. It may be a man's own business if he wants to send his money to help build up the big cities where the mail order houses flourish, but it's poor business for himself as well as for everybody else in the community in which he lives.

NEW SHORT RAILWAY NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Coleman, Oct. 16. — The Alberta-Spokane Coal and Coke Co. is preparing to develop their coal mine on an extensive scale. Their mine is situated on the south side of the Crow's Nest Lake and lies in a southwesterly direction from the lime kilns. Already there are 40 to 70 men employed getting the bed ready to lay four and a half miles of track. There is quite a tent colony already and it is the intention of the company to put up log huts for the winter.

The track will follow the Glacier Creek into the holdings of the company. Quite a lot of development has been done already and the management feel confident they have got a real mine.

Once the steel is laid, it will not be long before they will begin and ship. Larson, contractor, has the contract for the laying of the steel.

VALUE OF ROCKS EXPLAINED

Here's a story on salesmanship—the ability to make your prospect see the best side of the property you show him and minimize and cause him to forget the worst.

The late Major Fred Reed was widely known in the Yakima valley and in Southern Idaho as a salesman and a booster for reclamation.

Reed had a party of Easterners out one day, showing them land — rocky land.

"Too many rocks," complained one prospect.

"What?" Reed queried in surprise.

"Why, man, the rocks are what makes this land valuable. They attract and retain the heat, make drainage possible—why, we couldn't get along without rocks—not in this country."

They passed on and came to a field where men were raking rocks into piles and hauling them away.

"Thought they liked the rocks," observed the prospect.

"I'll say they do!" exclaimed Reed. "Look at those fellows, will you? They're stealing 'em!"

Everybody dressed up, ready now to go.

"WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME"

Big Week End Attraction at the Orpheum

For the seeker after something different in the realm of the photoplay the management of the Orpheum Theatre has something special to offer this week when there will be presented on Friday and Saturday for the first time in Fernie the thrilling heart interest photo droma, "Why Girls Leave Home." Although the theme and title of the production are from the great American stage success of the same name which thrilled theatre goers a generation ago, the Warner Brothers, who present the picture claim that there is not a bit of maudlin melodrama in the entire story. One prominent reviewer has stated that the production struck him as a "blend of 'Way Down East' and 'Humoresque,'" although the picture itself resembles neither of the two productions mentioned.

The scenario, theme, production and cast are all the very best. Anna Q. Nillson has the stellar role and she is supported by Maurine Powers, Corinne Barker, Dan Mason, George Lessey, Claude King, Katherine Perry and others of note.

The story deals with every home in general but for the sake of clarity presents two specific instances. One, the home of a rich merchant who indulges his daughter's every whim. The other, the home of the rich man's employee, who represses in his daughter every youthful instinct. The result is that both girls leave home and attempt to fight the battles of life alone. Later their paths cross and together they work out their own destiny in a manner which is at one time of compelling interest and at the same time true to life.

Elaborately staged and skilfully directed by Wm. S. Nigh, under the supervision of Harry Rapf, the management of the Orpheum theatre feels confident that "Why Girls Leave Home" will prove to be one of the most satisfying and entertaining photoplays they have yet offered to the people of Fernie.

43 PER CENT CREAM IMPRESSED HER

Mrs. Hemming says that for some reason she was prejudiced against Pacific Milk. She had never tried it but had always favored another brand.. A neighbor, whose cooking she admired, induced her to try Pacific for a blanc magne and it turned out so much better than with the other milk, tasting as though it had been made with fresh cream. Then she became what she calls "a convert" and now buys a case a month. She says she uses Pacific Milk for cakes, salad dressing, in fact for everything she cooks.

LIQUOR CASES UNDER WAY

The court house has this week been the chief centre of interest for large numbers owing to the prosecutions now going on under the Liquor Act.

The following is a complete list of the cases to be heard but up to going to press only the first six charges have been concluded as far as the evidence is concerned. These have been set over to November 1 for final argument before Magistrate Stenson, when disposition will be made.

Rex vs. R. C. McCabe, Flagstone—1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did sel lor deal in a liquid known as beer; 3 Did keep liquor for the purpose of unlawful sale.

Rex vs. Ludy Wodyga, Dorr — 1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did keep for sale liquor; 3 Did have unsealed liquor in possession.

Rex. vs. Herbert Lanfear, Newgate—1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did deal in or sell beer; 3 Did keep liquor for sale.

Rex vs. John McKay, Waldo—1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did sell beer.

Rex vs. Angelo Altomare, Natal—1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did sell beer; 3 Keeping liquor for sale.

Rex vs. Fran Carraher, storepeeper—Did sell liquor on Oct. 9; 2 Did sell beer on Oct. 9. 3 Did sell liquor on Oct. 10; 4 Did sell beer on Oct. 10; 5 Keeping liquor for sale.

Rex vs. Pete Zoratti, Natal—1 Did sell liquor; 2 Did sell beer; 3 Did keep liquor for sale.

Rex vs. N. Gradzuk, Hosmer — 1 Charged under section 228 of the Criminal Code with keeping a disorderly house; 2 Did sell liquor contrary to Govt. Liquor Act; 3 Did sell beer; 4 Keeping liquor for sale.

The cases for the prosecution are being conducted by A. I. Fisher, with Herchmer & Mitchell for the accused.

In th ecase of R. C. McCabe the evidence given by Liquor Board Officers Buchanan and Chisholm showed that they drove up to the premises of the accused at Flagstone in a Hudson roadster. They entered the store and asked for whiskey and accused left the store and returned with two bottles, one rye and one Scotch. Accused told them to take their choice but recommended the brand of Scotch. Some drinks were had and the bottle of Scotch purchased. The accused suggested they purchase some alcohol which would make 121 gallons out of one and they went to his house to examine it. While in the dwelling accused said: "There is some good Fernie beer which you can have at 65c a bottle. They bought two bottles.

Constables Corless and Shively called at the same place in the afternoon and practically the same thing transpired.

On Thursday, Oct. 19, Acting Chief Duncan under seatch warrant seized a fairly large amount of bottled liquor and a barrel and a half of beer. This was produced in court.

On Oct. 19 Constable Brown of the provincial force and Officers Lobb and Shrively and Chisholm of the Liquor Control Board motored to the residence of Wodyga near Dorr. Chisholm and Shrively told accused they had been told by the boys up the line that he had whiskey to sell. They secured a bottle of rye. Then Lobb and Brown arrived and searched the place, without warrant and found four bottles of rye whiskey. The liquor produced in court did not bear the prescribed seal required by the Liquor Act.

The case of Herbert Lanfear is going on this afternoon. All the accused are allowed their liberty on these charges under $2000 bail, except Gradzuk, who was required to put up an additional bond of $500 on the criminal code charge.

MAY STOP LIQUOR EXPORT

Calgary, Oct. 24.—A special dispatch to the Albertan from Ottawa says:

"Consideration is being given by federal authorities to the advisability of completely stopping the export of liquor from Canada. While no statement from any official source is forthcoming it is learned on good authority that drastic action along these lines may be taken within a few weeks.

"There seems to be a growing feeling at the capital that rum running, which there is reason to believe has been closely connected with the recent epidemic of bank robberies in the west, can be stopped only by striking at the very heart of the business in an order prohibiting

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—For a city who can realize what a terrible devastation a forest fire can make, the city of Fernie seems strangely forgetful. The towns in Northern Ontario which were so completely wiped out have not even the advantages that this city had in 1908. Winter is almost upon those people, while we were able to build and get shelter before winter came. The funds provided were most liberal and food and clothing came from all parts of Canada.

So far as I can see the city of Fernie is absolutely indifferent as to the sufferings of those poor unfortunates in Northern Ontario and we should be the first to aid. It is not yet too late. Why not the city start a fund and there will be people only too glad to help.

Citizen.

PICARIELLO TRIAL DATE

The matter of the date of the Picariello trial now rests in the hands of the attorney-general. There are two alternatives, the postponing of the trial until next January or the holding of a special sitting of the Supreme court in Calgary.

Both counsel for the crown and the defence, J. W. McDonald, K.C., and A. A. McGillivray, K.C., and J. McKinley Cameron, respectively, agreed to referring the matter to the Hon. Mr. Brownlee and are content to abide by his decision.

Calgary, Oct. 24. — Emilio Picariello and Florence Lassandro will face trial for the murder of Constable Lawson at a special sitting of the Alberta supreme court in Calgary on Nov. 27, if the approval of the lieutenant governor is secured. Nov. 27 was the date asked for by A. A. McGillivray, crown counsel, in an application before Mr. Justice Walsh. The application was granted and both Mr. Justice Walsh and Attorney-General Brownlee are now awaiting the approval of Lieut. Governor Brett.

Unless a special sitting is arranged for, Picariello and his alleged accomplice will not be brought to trial until the assizes in January.

Cranbrook Herald: Robt. Potter, formerly of this section, but lately of Penticton, where he has been in business, has been visiting in the city again this week. Mr. Potter was at one time city engineer for Fernie. He has sold out in Penticton and may decide to locate in East Kootenay. Mrs. Potter was formerly a Miss Frizzell, of Fort Steele, her father being connected at one time with the old American Store there, and later with the Fort Steele Mercantile Co.

TOURIST ASSOCIATION

The annual general meeting of the South Eastern B. C. and Southern Alberta Tourist Association was held in Fernie on Oct. 18, with the following present: A. G. Baalim and Donald Duff, Lethbridge; H. Bossenberry, of Pincher Creek; H. W. Robertson, of Nelson; H. Randolph Bruce and Maj. Turner, of Invermere; J. P. Eink, W. H. Wilson and F. MacPherson, of Cranbrook; E. K. Stewart and J. F. Spalding, of Fernie; and A. G. Bevan, Supt. of Watertown Lakes Park, visitor.

The meeting was called to order by President Baalim at 1.45 p.m.

The minutes of the last meeting on Jan. 25 and 26, were adopted as read.

Commissioner Spalding then presented his report, for the year ending Aug. 31, 1922, and it was accepted as read.

Treasurer E. K. Stewart then presented the financial report, which showed that the Association had wound up the year with a balance of $80.44 with which to start the new year. Collections from all sources were $4661.10 and disbursements $4580.66.

H. W. Robertson on behalf of Nelson stated that he had not come to the meeting authorized to pledge Nelson to anything. Nelson only got a very small amount of tourist travel compared with Cranbrook and Fernie and they were assessed $100 more than either. They did not think it was equitable and were inclined to withdraw, but finally agreed to remain in the Association but only in consideration of a more equitable distribution of the fees.

Mr. Baalim stated that Lethbridge was in much the same boat as Nelson but it was that fact especially that made them willing to pay their assessment and endeavor to secure more of the tourists.

Mr. Duff stated that he felt certain Lethbridge would not be prepared to find a larger amount than last year.

Mr. Wilson called attention to the statement that Cranbrook through its fortunate location, could sit back and not care whether they did any advertising or not. He desired to say that Cranbrook was not composed of that kind of sports. They still desired at all times to take part on an equal footing with the rest.

Mr. Stewart on behalf of Fernie admitted that Nelson was justified in objecting to being assessed more than Cranbrook and Fernie, but stated that for the first year it was agreed that Fernie and Cranbrook should have some consideration for the thousands they had spent in previous years. Mr. Stewart agreed to Fernie's assessment being raised from $500 to $600 this year.

It was finally decided that the assessments for the second year be as follows: Cranbrook, Fernie and Lethbridge $600 each; that Nelson's assessment be left an open matter, and that each of the other assessments be the same as last year.

Com. Spalding was asked about the boards not represented at the meeting. He said that Bryon Harmon, Banff's director, and Mr. Crosby, had been delegated by the citizens' council to go out and try and collect the cash to pay for their membership. This they were endeavoring to do. No reply had been received from Macleod notifying them of the meeting and a wire yesterday had also failed to bring a response. He had received a wire from Fred Clark, president of the Grand Forks board, saying that he had not been able to get action by his board and therefore regretted their inability to be present, but would like a report.

Randolph Bruce, speaking on behalf of the Windermere district, stated that there were only a few people there and it was rather a drag on them to have to meet the expenses of all the improvements they were making to attract tourists to their section. They appreciated the fact that they had been included in the beautiful booklet just as if they had paid, and had just had a meeting of their board which resulted in he and Major Turner being sent to the meeting to express Windermere's intention of subscribing to the Association to the best extent they find it possible.

Commissioner Spalding was then called upon for his plans for 1923 campaign. He called attention to what he had recommended in his speech,

DO IT ELECTRICALLY

ONLY THE RICH CAN AFFORD CANDLES

Little Johnny Doane of Ohio, over a hundred years ago today, acquired the habit of crawling underneath his mother's four-poster bed and eating her tallow candles up. Imagine how the poor woman felt, both in regard to the condition of Johnny's stomach and the shortage of illumination.

The Indian papooses, Johnny's playmates, had taught him to eat candles. It is an Indian appetite, probably handed down from Laplander ancestors. It kept Johnny fat but the household illumination poor. The only thing Mrs. Doane could do to stop Johnny from cutting down on the illumination was to hide the candle supply somewhere else than under her bed.

The loss of a dozen candles to the housewife a hundred years ago meant a great deal. It meant scantier illumination for the evening jobs of spinning, weaving, mending or sewing. It meant fewer hours for work, although work had to be done. It meant strained eyes that called for more light.

A single one of Mother Doane's candles gave only one-sixteenth the power of illumination that the most ordinary Mazda lamp gives these days. It gave only one-sixteenth the illumination and cost five times as much to operate. It gave only one-sixteenth the illumination and that illumination was not capable of being properly directed.

Ten cents will light a sixteen candle-power lamp these days two hours an evening for thirty evenings, according to reliable authority. Ten cents would not provide enough candle light these days to last one hour. Only the rich could burn candles, as it would take thirty or forty of these illuminants an evening to provide sufficient light for an ordinary household.

SAILING UNDER FALSE COLORS

There is a reform due in respect to making brands mean what they say. For instance when a thing is sold as "all silk" or "all wool," it should be all silk or all wool and nothing else. Take it in the matter of eggs. We have fresh eggs that are not fresh. If we wish them really fresh we must buy the "strictly fresh." As the Scientific American points out this is an ingenious and ingenuous misuse of the English language, mainly to deceive the buyer. For instance, there is "mahogany" furniture that is not mahogany at all but another wood, probably birch, colored to imitate mahogany, or perhaps it is a mahogany veneer, but is sold by unscrupulous tradesmen as the real thing to those who do not know any better.

The United States Supreme Court recently gave an important decision on this matter, and has laid down the general principle that a brand can mean only one thing. That is to say, if it has any natural significance of its own by virtue of the dictionary meaning it must mean that and only that as applied to merchandise.

In Canada we have an act which should protect us in these matters, but it does not, owing to the fact that it appears to be nobody's business to enforce it. It is known as the False Advertising Act and was placed on the statute books some years ago by the Hon. Charles Doherty, then Minister of Justice. Under this Act a merchant who sells an "all wool" suit that is mostly cotton can be prosecuted, but who ever takes the trouble to do it. It would seem to be up to our various retail associations to take a hand in this matter and clean house in the interest of honest trade. The law is there, let them see that it is enforced. — Saturday Night.

It may have been only a coincidence that a laundrymen's convention was held in Detroit "clean-up" week.

BRITAIN'S WORD STILL GOOD

The statement is made on apparently good authority, that the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Robert Horne, when he arrives in the United States, will announce that Britain is prepared to pay her war debt to the United States in full. Though it means burdens more grievous for the British people than those borne by any other nation, it will nevertheless further enhance the prestige that she already enjoys on the Western Hemisphere, and confuse those base elements which for the past eight years have been incessantly trying to stir ill feeling between the two great English speaking powers. It is the kind of gritty resolution that must appeal to the sporting instincts of the entire world; and especially to the better elements of the American people. Inasmuch as the United States by her tariff legislation has made it plain that she will not lift a finger toward helping her former allies to meet their bills by buying their goods, this decision is the more splendid in its demonstration that Great Britain is a truly self-reliant nation who keeps her word, however unjust the extreme exaction may appear.

Great Britain does not pretend that such portions of her debt as were used for the common cause, like vast sums expended on munitions—much of it in the United States itself—after the latter had become an ally, constitute a claim based on justice; but if the United States insists she will carry out her formal obligations. Neither does she admit that she is entitled to less generous considerations than France and other countries which borrowed money from the United States, but again she will stand by the letter of her bond. It remains to be seen what action the Debt Funding Commission at Washington will take on these matters. The decisions of the latter will no doubt depend on American public sentiment. What the man of the street calls "High brow opinion" favors a generous attitude; but its converse which has small room for the bump of benevolence and finds complete expression in Congress, is for the most part the other way. — Saturday Night.

THE VETERANS' CHARGE

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—Reference was made last week to charges against the King government by the official organ of the Great War Veterans Association. In brief, it is claimed that there is a systematic and successful attempt at the capital to deprive ex-service men and women of the preferential treatment in the civil service of Canada, which was specifically provided for them by Acts of the Union government and the administration of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. The Veteran was often critical of the late government, and its utterances now may be taken as non-political. Instances specifically mentioned in that publication are added to in connection with developments at Brussels, North Huron. C. R. Coultis, a maimed ex-soldier, was chosen by the commission, in the usual way, for the appointment of postmaster there. He has a letter from Secretary Foran, notifying him of his selection. Failing action on the part of Hon. Charles Murphy, Postmaster General, to implement this step, Mr. Coultis was refused possession of the office, though he had sold his property out in the country and moved in to Brussels. Two clerks in the Brussels office have now resigned, as a protest over such methods. One of these young ladies was herself an applicant for the position when it became vacant, but withdrew from the field when Mr. Coultis applied, showing a chivalrous recognition of his war service which the government, unfortunately, has failed to make effective. Veterans of the district claim the case is only one of scores of delayed appointments, which they believe part of a deliberate campaign to discredit the Civil Service Act and Commission, with a view to ultimate restoration of patronage. The people of Canada were fully in support of the actions of the Union and Conservative governments which provided for preferential treatment of men and women who served at the front, and they will not now stand for abolition of this principle, to say nothing of discrimination against men who bear upon their bodies wounds received in the ranks of the Canadian Corps in France.

SINISTER ROLE FOR STAR

Benjamin B. Hampton, in producing for Hodkinson release his great photoplay of the Zane Grey novel, "The Mysterious Rider," which is the attraction at the Orpheum theatre this Friday and Saturday, selected a powerful actor to play the sinister role of "Ed. Smith." Moreover, Frederick Starr, who portrays this character, is the ideal actor of all the selection available in the entire industry for this particular part. His "Ed. Smith" forms a high water mark in Mr. Starr's career as a noted character artist.

Mr. Starr has taken notable roles in many great pictures. Other Hodkinson releases in which he has been seen are "Riders of the Dawn," "The U. P. Trail" and "The Man of the Forest," all, as it happens, photoplays of Zane Grey novels. He has been a stage and screen actor all his life, and has built up a reputation that is second to none in pictures for powerful, brutal creations.

Calgary Citizen Gains Twenty One Pounds

Alex Hayman, a World War Veteran and well known resident of 627 Fifth Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta, is still another who has found Tanlac a safe and sure road back to health, strength and working efficiency.

"I am not only feeling better than I have in years," says Mr. Hayman, "but I have actually gained twenty-one pounds and you may know by that what I think of Tanlac. My stomach and kidneys had been badly out of order for nearly four years and my appetite had deserted me entirely. Everything I would eat caused indigestion and as a result I lost twenty-five younds in weight. I lost energy and strength until I just felt that each day would be the last I could stay on the job. At times my back was so lame and stiff that I could hardly raise myself up out of bed. The power of endurance had left me and I just seemed to be 'dead on my feet' so to speak.

"But it only took Tanlac a few weeks to set me right and I am now feeling fine. I thoroughly enjoy my three square meals a day, for I have a wonderful appetite and everything agrees with me perfectly. To be in such good health after feeling miserable so long is certainly something to be thankful for and I cannot praise Tanlac too highly."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson were given a surprise party by a number of old time friends on Tuesday evening. They were the recipients of a beautiful silver tray, W. R. Wilson making the presentation on behalf of those present.

The Fernie hospital had a narrow escape from destruction by fire early last Friday evening. The blaze started in a store room in the attic and the flames were breaking through the roof before the firemen finally got them under control. A defective hydrant, causing poor water pressure, was mainly the reason of the delay. Damage to the extent of abuot $1000 was caused to the roof. The patients in the hospital were all brought down stairs, but it was found unnecessary to remove them from the building.

A very pleasant surprise party and kitchen shower was given by the Michel Pythian Sisters to Mrs. M. McInnis (nee Miss May Waddington) in honor of her marriage to J. E. McInnis on Oct. 13. The event took place at the home of Mrs. Waddington and a very pleasant evening was spent in songs and music. Refreshments were served by the Sisters and the party broke up at a very reasonable hour, all having had a good time.

FOOTBALL

Before three or four hundred spectators Michel, champions of the Crow's Nest Pass Football Association, played a picked team composed of the best players of the other league teams a draw game 0—0, in Fernie on Sunday afternoon.

Dawe in goal for Michel played his best game of the season fully equalling the famous Sawyer who was the All Star's goalie, both having lots of work and fulfilling it perfectly. Young Jimmy Jenkins and Jordy Linn were as strong as the opposing backs. Booth of Fernie and McAndrews, of Blairmore, showed up stronger at the latter half. Albert Travis, Andy McGovern and McFarlane played a sterling game on the half back line feeding their forwards constantly and doing good defensive work making the All Stars line up.

Jepson of Bellevue, Jackson of Blairmore, and Robinson, of Coal Creek, extended themselves to the limit. Michel forwards, Watson, Mitchell, Harling, H. Travis and McCrone played well together and were a constant source of danger and worry to the opposing defense the All Star's forward line, Corlett of Coal Creek, who is very speedy, Fyles, a very dangerous centre man and Thornton, a strong rushing Fernie forward with Wilson of the same team made the Michel defense play their best and on the play of the whole game the draw was justified. Paddy Hughes of Fernie, referee, was rotten, and the two linesmen, Sweeney and Wheeler's work not much better. If the weather is fit a return game will be played in Michel on Sunday, Oct. 29, at 3 p.m.

Herbert Travis, one of Michel's dependable forwards, was united in marriage to Miss Doris Beard on Monday, Oct. 23, and on behalf of the Michel football team was presented with a kitchen cabinet as a small token of esteem and best wishes for future happiness.

"HUMAN HEARTS,"
ISIS THEATRE, NOV. 1 & 2

Tom Logan works for his father in a blacksmith shop in a dreamy Ozark Mountain town. They own a farm and neither dreams that under its common soil lies great wealth in coal. Old Logan is a big figure in the village.

There is the mother, lovable and old-fashioned, blind but finding great happiness in simple pleasures of a home, with an inward ray of sunshine making her soul bright with joy. There is another son, Jimmy, and an adopted daughter, Ruth, an orphan who has forgotten her bereavement in the happiness of life with the simple Logans. She worships Tom and he returns the affection in a mild way. Some day they will be married.

Then comes Barbara Kaye, deliberately seeking Tom Logan. He is "caught" in love as only a great, simple soul of a man can be trapped by the attentions of a worldly wise woman. Old Logan and his son are of equal temper, and they come nearly to blows when the ald man warns Tom that Barbara is "bad." The woman from "outside" wins. Tom and she are married. Though they live in the same house with the family, old Logan disowns his son and they never speak.

Barbara Kaye visits a pal of hers in prison, a man she worked in partnership with in crime. By their conversation it is disclosed that she is seeking the wealth of the Logans which she and her pal have learned exists. By her marriage to Tom she will gain a slice of the lands, if not the complete exploitation of them.

But old Logan immediately after the marriage tells Tom he'll never get a foot of the farm. This hardens Barbara. In the midst of good influences she had begun to soften, to become a human being instead of a hard-shelled adventuress, but the prospect of failure irritates her.

Then a baby comes and softens her again. She becomes almost a real wife to Tom. And then after that the long summer months, the drudgery and monotony of the life.

During the period of the brief courtship, Tom's kid brother, Jimmy, has been injured by the fall of a picnic grandstand. He is a half-wit as a result.

Long days of farm life begin to tell on Barbara. Though Tom is invariably kind to her, when she strikes his mother because the old woman wandered blindly into her baby's cradle, Tom gives her the first sharp word.

Released from prison, Barbara's pal comes to her, aware that she may be "weakening" as a crook under the influence of the good family. They meet clendestinely, but are seen by old Logan.

The old man tells Tom, and another near-tragedy is barely averted when Tom refuses to believe. That night while Tom is away at "fire drill," the convict comes to take Barbara away with him. She is willing, but when he gets to the house he meets old Logan and shoots him fatally. Barbara goes away with the baby and her lover.

Tom returns a few minutes later and is believed guilty. A jury later finds him guilty and sends him to prison for life.

Barbara is burned clean in the fires of remorse as she lives with her lover. His acts finally drive her to desperation, to clear judgment. She goes to the prison, to tell the warden the truth, that her lover shot old Logan. Her baby girl is with her.

Running down a corridor the baby meets Tom, who is a trusty.

Tom takes the little child back into the warden's office; he sees the mother there and finds out that it is his own child, but refuses to speak to Barbara.

Officers are sent to get the convict; Barbara is sent back in advance to be with him so that he will suspect nothing. Tom goes with the officers.

Barbara's lover figths, and one of his shots fatally wounds Barbara, who dies in Tom's arms, with his forgiveness.

Tom Logan goes back to his home with the baby and a great wound in his soul. Taking up life where he left it off, in the blacksmith shop, unaware yet of the wealth Nature has in store for him; returning to a sort of understanding with Ruth that will eventually make them man and wife; he rediscovers happiness lies in simple and clean pleasures.

that the Association should increase its membership by admitting some of the Chambers of Commerce south of the border, and with that in view he had prepared two plans, one which would call for an expenditure of between $15,000 and $20,000 and the other calling for approximately $5000 should it be decided to keep to the present membership, and as it was so decided, for this year at any rate, he would only submit the $5000 one. Last year's membership assessments netted $3150 and he had been able to secure from outside sources an additional $1510. He hoped to be able to get at least that amount again this year and would therefore have the necessary funds to carry out the plans, which were:

At least 20,000 large maps in a cover, on the reverse side of which would be a little descriptive matter on the most interesting features of a tour through these parts, with one or two good illustrations, and a list of mileages and the hotels and garages.

Advertisements in four United States and three Canadian newspapers.

Participation in the Sportsmen's and Tourists' Exhibition in Spokane and other affairs which could benefit the Association, for which he set aside an emergency fund.

The maps would be distributed through the mailing list and similar sources in the same way the 1922 booklet had been.

It was decided that Commisioner Spalding be delegated to visit Calgary and take up with them the matter of co-operation in the map, and that Mr. Spalding personally visit the towns he considers should be induced to join us.

President Baalim then stated that the time had now arrived to appoint officers for 1923. He did not wish to take up the time of the meeting by making a lengthy speech as retiring President and would be very brief. He wished first of all to say that he personally was very pleased with the results of the Association's first year of effort. Though a young Association it had come to be recognized as one of the most important of its kind in North America, and certainly the most effective one in Western Canada, and he felt certain that it had a big future ahead of it. He realized that the work all fell upon the shoulders of the Commissioner and that he had and would continue to deliver the goods. He came into touch a great deal with our friends across the line to the south of Lethbridge, and knew that they all thought we have a very fine institution. He had derived a great deal of pleasure from his association with the Commissioner and his fellow officers and wished the new President the same experience. He would always feel proud of the fact that he had been honored by being the Association's first President, and though relinquishing the office now, he hoped to take just as active a part in its work in future as he had in the past. He said that he felt that the Presidency should now go from the East to the West. He then called for nominations for officers, the following being unanimously chosen:

Hon. President—H. Randolph Bruce of Invermere.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—Col. J. S. Dennis, Montreal.

President—Hugh W. Robertson, of Nelson.

Vice-President—Donald Duff, of Lethbridge.

Sec.-Treas.—E. K. Stewart, Fernie.

Commissioner—J. Fred Spalding of Fernie.

Publicity Committee—W. H. Wilson, Cranbrook; H. Bossenberry, Pincher Creek; and Byron Harmon, Banff.

Mr. Bruce spoke on the bad condition of the road between Windermere and Cranbrook and emphasized the importance to Cranbrook, Fernie and all the towns along the Crow that it should be fixed immediately. Fernie, Cranbrook and Windermere Boards of Trade will each appoint one of their members to form a delegation of three to go to Victoria at the commencement of the coming session of parliament to support a resolution on this matter now being sent.

Mr. Bruce also called attention to the deplorable scarcity of hotel accommodation all through this section which he said was barely able to accommodate the present travel, and which would be entirely inadequate to handle the travel which would come through the Banff-Windermere road, and unless some radical action was taken to remedy this condition, he was very much afraid that the towns through here would not get any benefit from the highway, because it would be the better class of tourists who would be coming, the class which stopped at hotels, and under present conditions it would be almost a crime to let any of them come south from Windermere. It was certain that if they did and found such bad accommodation, they would go back and knock this entire section and kill it for all time. He thought each of the boards of trade through here should take the matter up seriously with their own hotels, and also take action to try and have the lot of the hotelkeepers bettered by government action in some way or another so as to encourage them to improve their establishments.

Commissioner Spalding was instructed to write to each of the Boards of Trade affected and ask them to take local action and try to encourage their hotel men to remedy this condition. He was also instructed to petition the Attorney General to endeavor to find some means to assist them to do this.

The Secret of Good Health

Assist Nature back to normal action

Take

When Nature requires assistance, she will not be slow in conveying to you an intimation of the fact. Decline of energy, inability to sleep well, headache, biliousness, constipation, a general sluggishness of mind and body and any sign of digestive "unrest" should impel you to seek the aid of a reliable medicine without delay. There is no better—no surer—no safer—than this proven remedy.

"SIGHT UNSEEN" TRADE IS GAMBLE

Consumer Takes Long Chance When He Buys From the Mail Order House.

GENERALLY IS LOSING GAME

Method of Doing Business Is Very Different When You Purchase Goods From Your Home Merchant.

(Copyright)

When you were a youngster, did you ever make a trade, "sight unseen?" Of course you did. What boy has not risked his jackknife or his choicest marbles on such a proposition and how often has he repented of his rash deed when he discovered what he got in the trade? He generally found that the deal turned out to the advantage of the one who made the proposition.

There is a little of the gambling instinct in the blood of nearly every man, woman and child, but even the hardened gambler likes to get a "run for his money." The "sight unseen" proposition doesn't appeal to him in the least. There are thousands of people, however, who would be properly indignant if they were accused of being gamblers, who every day take a chance on the greatest gambling game in the world. And worse than that, they are risking their money on a "sight unseen" proposition.

When one of the thousands of persons who build up and keep up the great mail order houses of the country sends his money away to pay for some article that he has selected from the mail order catalogue, he is taking a chance on getting what he expects to get. The mail order house may be perfectly honest and still the purchaser stands a good chance of not getting what he expects to get. The mail order catalogues are filled with pictures that catch the eye. The descriptions are brief, as they must be when thousands of articles are to be described within the confines of one book. No matter how hard the mail order house might try to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, it would be an impossibility. The buyer is simply taking a chance.

Buying "Sigt Unseen"

How much more satisfactory it is to walk into a store in your home town and ask to see an article which you may have seen advertised in your home paper. What would anyone think of your business ability or your common sense if you walked into a store at home and said: "I saw a picture in the paper today of a suit which I liked very much. Please wrap up one for me. Here's the money." The merchant would think that you were crazy, but that is exactly what you do every time you send an order to a mail order house. You buy "sight unseen" and you haven't a ghost of a chance of getting your money back if the article is unsatisfactory when it reaches you.

How different is the proceeding when you go into the store in your own home town to buy a suit of clothes, or a stove or a yard of ribbon. You may have seen a picture of it in the merchant's advertisement in the home paper and you know that, as the merchant is reliable, you can count on the goods being as he represents them in his advertisement. But does he ask you to take his word for everything? Does he hide the article behind the counter and tell you that you can't even see it until you buy it and pay over the money for it? Hardly! If the article is not already in plain sight on the counter, the merchant produces it for your inspection. If it does not exactly suit you, he has others that are a little different and that he is glad to have you inspect.

Get Merchant's Guarantee

Then, if it is a suit of clothes you are buying, or a piece of dress goods or a pair of socks, you may ask if the merchant will guarantee that it will wear as long as an article of that kind could be expected to wear and he will tell you either that he will guarantee it or that he will not. If he tells you that he will guarante it you will know that you will get your money back or another suit or another pair of socks in its place if it doesn't wear like it should, for the merchant, besides being an honest man in most cases, cannot afford not to make his word good. He is dependent upon your business and that of others in his own community and he cannot afford to misrepresent his goods.

After having all this opportunity to see what you are buying, you take your suit or your stove or whatever it is you buy home or it is sent home for you without any delivery charges, and after you get home and take another look at it and decide you don't want it after all, you send it back.

You are not buying something "sight unseen" when you buy from your home merchant. You don't look at a picture of an article in a newspaper, read a short description of it, go to the post office and buy a money order and send it to the merchant with the instructions, "Send me a suit of clothes"—or a stove or whatever it may be—" and I'll pay your delivery man 50 cents for delivering it to me."

There's a world of difference in the two methods of doing business and its not hard to figure out which is the best for the man who is doing the buying.

GENUINE AND COUNTERFEIT

(Canadian Mining Journal)

In mining promotions, as well as in other varieties of promotion and in most other businesses, there are varieties that range all the way from the bona fide investment to the downright swindle. In the mining field, examples of the latter are constantly before our eyes, particularly in the daily press, whereas the former is still so rarely found consorting with the less reputable undertakings on those pages that an actual occurrence is well worthy of remark.

When making the original announcement of the incorporation and operation of Continental Mines some weeks ago, the Canadian Mining Journal intimated that those back of the undertaking would probably give an opportunity to the public to participate, to a small extent at the very least, in what is considered a very promising mining venture. This has been done.

Simultaneously in New York and Toronto there was offered to the public last week 250,000 shares of Continental stock out of a total of 700,000 shares. The company already owns 27 claims at Kirkland Lake and the Colonial property at Cobalt. These were acquired privately by the New York mining men responsible for the organization of the Continental Mines. The brokers to whom the public issue of stock has been entrusted state unequivocally that when this stock shall have been sold, there will be over a million dollars in the treasury, as well as 80,000 shares of stock unissued and available for the purposes of the company. The financial position of Continental Mines needs no comment. It is well in accord with the financial ability and the personal reputations of the men who grace the company's board of directors.

Alongside the dignified announcement of this issue of Continental shares, and attempting to simulate the conviction of confidence in the venture that radiates from it, are myriad advertisements of stock in gold mines in the same golden north-country. We need not particularize. Suffice it to say that, so far as we have observed, not one of these advertisements offers stock on which there is more than a remote chance of drawing dividends, and a number of them approach very closely or even cross the line where the untruths they insinuate, if they do not state them, are subject to process of law. As usual, the host of parasites in human form are taking eager advantage of the "gold boom" to separate the unwary and their loose change —and the daily newspapers and the Royal Mails are the chief agents they employ for the purpose.

It is very hard, if not impossible, for the unitiated to distinguish between the genuine and the counterfeit opportunity for investment in mines. The investing public have still a great deal to learn about the mining industry.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA
1869 Fifty-three Years of Better Results for Policy Holders. 1922

What Does "Mutual" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?
It means that the Policyholders, through their premiums, provide the funds for the organization and upbuilding of the Company without assistance from any outside source whatsoever. It follows, therefore, that the Policyholders:
(A) OWNS all the assets, including Head Office and everything pertaining to the Company.
(B) CONTROL all its affairs through a Board of Directors elected by and from its Policyholders.
(C) RECEIVE every dollar of its profits.
NOTE — All Profits earned on non-participating policies in a Mutual Company go into the general fund and are distributed among the holders of participating policies.
It follows, therefore, that a Mutual Life Company can and does furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

What Does "Capital Stock" Mean in a Life Insurance Company?
It means that a few men provide "funds" for organization expenses, obtain a charter, turn these "funds" into paid-up Capital Stock, and thereafter the Stockholders:
(A) OWN the Company.
(B) Control the Company through a Board of Directors, at least two-thirds of whom are elected by Stockholders.
(C) And unless otherwise provided for in their charters, they may:
(1) TAKE all interest earned on their paid-up capital stock.
(2) TAKE all profits earned on non-participating policies.
(3) TAKE up to one-tenth of all profits earned on participating policies.
It follows, therefore, that a Stock Company cannot and does not furnish Life Insurance at Cost.

Let us see what this difference between "Mutual" and "Stock" means as applied to the earnings of the Mutual Life of Canada for year 1921.

ACTUAL PROFITS EARNED:

On Non-Participating Business	$ 123,000.00
On Participating Business	2,120,000.00
Total Earned in 1921	$2,243,000.00

Under the "Mutual" plan of the Mutual Life of Canada, every dollar of this magnificent sum belongs to and is credited solely to the participating Policyholders.
Under the terms of the Dominion Insurance Act, other Canadian Life Companies, may allot to themselves, if not provided otherwise in their charters, besides all interest earned on their paid-up capital:

(A) ALL profits earned on Non-Participating Business	$123,000.00
(B) Ten per cent of profits earned on Participating business	212,000.00
	$335,000.00

An equivalent amount each year for the next 20 years would amount to $6,700,000.00. This would mean that, without taking into account future expansion,
The Policyholders of The Mutual Life of Canada will receive in the next 20 years over Six Millions of Dollars more than they would have received if this Company had been organized on the Capital Stock instead of The Mutual Plan.
If contemplating Life Insurance think only of The Mutual Life of Canada and increase the investment value. No foreign business nor investments entertained. Assets exceed Forty-eight Million Dollars. Business in force, Two Hundred and Twenty-eight Million Dollars.

The membership fees remain the same as for last year: $15.00, including locker fee, for regular curlers; $5.00 for lady curlers; $7.50 for non-resident curlers, and for persons joining after Jan. 31, 1923.

An invitation will be extended to the Scottish curlers who are coming to Canada this winter, to pay a visit when they will be assured of some good curling. (Kastner figures they will be easy pickings).

There are quite a lot of curling stones which have no handles and which belong to the club. Several pairs of these rocks will be fixed up in good shape and will be offered for sale at a moderate price.

The Ingram Cup games will be played in two series. The winner of most games and winner of the most points in each series will play down in the semi-finals. If the same rink wins the most number of games and also the highest number of points, that rink will play in the finals.

Considerable discussion was raised over the Fleishman Cup games, and it was the general feeling that interest in this cup had waned last winter on account of the same rinks always defending the cup against Cranbrook. Under the existing rules the rinks that brought the cup back from Cranbrook were entitled to defend it against Cranbrook regradless of whether they had lost the cup to other local rinks, and as the Cranbrook curlers were unable to lift the cup there was no local competition for it. It was unanimously decided that from the start of the coming season the Fleishman Cup shall be open for challenge, and that the rinks now holding the cup will be the first defenders gainst Cranbrook. In the event of the cup being lost to Cranbrook, the skips who lose the cup must pledge themselves to take rinks to Cranbrook to retrieve it. The rinks that then bring the cup back from Cranbrook shall play the first game in defence of the cup, or as long as they hold it.

All persons who intend to join the club and curl this winter are requested to hand in their names to the secretary as soon as possible.

OLD TIMER PASSES AWAY

James Morris, for 15 years a well known citinzen of Fernie, dropped dead in front of the residence of Dr. Garner early Monday morning. He had gone to work on the M. F. & M. as usual, but after making the first trip to Coal Creek complained of not feeling well and said he would slip over to see the doctor, but was suddenly stricken by heart failure and died before reaching medical assistance. Deceased, who was 63 years of age, was a real westerner, having come to Kalispell some 25 years ago to work for the G.N. In 1907 he came to Fernie and has been practically in the employ of the Coal Co. ever since. Jim was a sterling fellow and leaves many friends who deeply regret his death. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon, from the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. J. Harrington, Howland avenue, and was largely attended. Floral tributes were received from the following: Wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Harrington; wreath, B. of L. E., 409, Whitefish, Mont.; wreath, employees of M. F. & M. Railway; spray, Mrs. R. Smith; spray, Mr. and Mrs. Baldrey.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Fernie Free Press:

I wish for a little space in answer to a letter from Michel appearing in your issue of last week re a football game played the previous week

It seems to me that one of the most popular pastimes for people connected with football — followers of the game and players as well—is that of blaming the referee for everything. If a game gets a bit rougher than a good game ought to be, then the blame is put on the shoulders of the referee, who is told that he should be much more severe. On the other hand, if a match is more or less spoilt from everybody's' point of view by too much whistle then the referee is once again blamed. Now I am not going to suggest here that our referees are perfect and as a matter of fact the whistlewielders with whom I have come in contact are, generally speaking, fully alive to the fact that they make mistakes. But to my way of thinking the refree is very often more to be pitied than blamed, and I should not hesitate to suggest that he has pretty well the world's worst job.

To control 22 players, and at the same time be called upon to satisfy the spectators, many of whom are distinctly partisan, is a job of which most people would fight shy, and the amazing part of the business to me is that it is possible to find men who are ready, willing, and able, to undertake the task of controlling big football matches. In regard to the matter of pleasing everybody, I know at least one official who declares that he never tries to please anybody but himself, and he adds that he very seldom succeeds in doing even this much.

To back up my assertion that our referees are deserving of sympathy, as well as every help which can possibly be given to them, think over some of the problems which confront them many times in every match. From time to time it is suggested that there should be some alteration in the offside rule, but the surprise to me on this head is that the referees do not all go on strike until the offside rule is wiped off the books, for it provides them with so many knotty points in the course of the average game that they really ought to go bald in their attempts to avoid making mistakes.

So, taking the job altogether, I repeat that we ought to feel sorry for the referee, and so far as the players themselves are concerned, they ought to make a difficult job as light as possible for the man with the whistle.

Yours for Clean Sport—P.J.H.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN LIQUOR ACT THIS FALL

Vancouver — According to information said to have been impared by friends of Hon. Alex. Manson, attorney general, amendments to the Liquor Act projected for the coming session of the legislature include the following:

Establishment of an independent commission in charge of the buying and selling of all liquor, such commission to be responsible directly to the legislature and absolutely free from ministerial control.

Enforcement of the law to be under the direct administration of the Attorney General through the provincial police, supplemented by such special officers as are deemed necessary.

Clearer definition of the conditions surrounding so-called export liquor houses up to the limit of provincial constitutional powers.

Elimination of single purchase and non-resident permits.

Provision for the sale of beer and wine by the glass in hotels and restaurants on a plan very close to the Quebec system. This may take the form of provision for local option plebiscites.

Clearing up of the ambiguities and obscurities which have handicapped the police in enforcement of the Act.

THE FACISIT

The political crisis in Italy is culminating in the resignation of the Facta government. It appears that political control is within sight of that remarkable body, the Facisit, which has announced its readiness to use force if other persuasion fails. The Facisti movement began as a protest against the campaign of force and violence carried on by various Socialist, Communist and other radical groups. Young men of the conservative and reactionary classes determined that if the government was unable to protect the nation from this form of assault they would themselves undertake that duty. They have been able to draw into their ranks not only young and ardent fighting men, but a gradually increasing number of men of years and business and political influence. As they grew stronger they developed a disposition to use force not only for protection and defence but for the promotion of their own political cause in the country. Their movement has thus assumed the proportions of a military as well as a political revolt. As yet there has been little fighting, but there would have been more if the Facisti had not been allowed their own way in places where they were strong. Brought down by this movement and by other political causes, the ministry finds the Facisti organization able to dictate the choice of the next prime minister.

The Fernie Undertaking Co. is complaining that a number of pieces of lumber used in connection with their grave digging has from time to time been stolen from the cemetery. Anyone found guilty will be prosecuted.
