G. N. PROVIDE CHEAP RATES

The re-establishment of the Round Trip Homeseekers Ticket by the Great Northern Railway to points in Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho and Oregon marks a revival of the old established colonization methods which have been employed by this company for so many years. The Homeseekers Ticket provide cheap transportation for prospective settlers from the Central state. This rate will be in effect the first and third Tuesdays of each month, March to November inclusive, from all points in the Middle Western states as far east as Chicago.

The owners and renters of high priced agricultural land in the Central states and young men looking for locations are thereby given an opportunity to investigate the advantages offered homeseekers along the Great Northern Railway at a very trifling expense. The tickets permit stopovers in both directions, which gives the settlers the opportunity of deciding for themselves as to which section best suits their needs.

The general reduction in the value of farm products and consequent losses suffered by farmers everywhere during the past two years is forcing upon the owners and renters of high priced land the importance of securing cheaper lands of equal productivity.

This reinstatement of low round trip homeseekers tickets and the reduction in charges for carload movement of settlers' effects to pre-war levels are certain to bring about a revival in the movement of settlers to the Northwest. In the broad expanses of fertile land, natural forests, magnificent natural scenery and healthful climate, the Northwest offers to the most robust and energetic manhood of the United States a real opportunity.

"My Boy was Starving to Death"

"As He Was Getting No Nourishment He Was Gradually Wasting Away."

"Here's a story which will interest every mother. Before my boy was born, I was in such delicate health that the doctor didn't think I would survive the ordeal. For weeks after he was born my life was despaired of, so I couldn't feed him and the poor little fellow was left to the care of friends. He wasn't naturally strong. No care was taken in choosing his food and his poor little stomach became so weakened that he couldn't keep anything on it. As he was getting no nourishment from his food, he was gradually wasting away. Finally, in desperation, we sent for a child specialist and he said that my boy was starving to death. He gave him some medicine and advised a certain diet. The child did improve but somehow couldn't seem to get strong. This went on for four or five years and the boy still continued weak and puny looking. He could not play like other children without having to lie down and rest. My sister who lives on a farm near the sea, said that she could fix him up if I would send him to her. While I hated being separated from him, I was ready to make any sacrifice to get him strong. He was away from me for three months and it was with feelings of great excitement that I awaited his return as my sister had written me that I would be surprised when I saw my boy. When my sister got off the train, I could not believe that it was my own boy that she was leading by the hand. I never saw such a change in any child. He was fat and rosy and full of life with a happy smile! 'What on earth have you done to him,' I said. 'Why,' she replied, 'I simply made him live out of doors, gave him good food—and here's the real secret, I gave him three bottles of Carnol! Before he had taken half a bottle his whole appearance had changed. He got heavier, his face took on a colour and he would run round for hours at a time.' The change in my boy is the most wonderful event in my life. I am a regular 'fan' for Carnol and never lose a chance to boost it. As I write I am looking out of the window and when I see that rosy, active, healthy child running round, I cannot believe that he was once a puny, delicate boy."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 5-622

PROBE OF COAL PRICES URGED

TRAIL, Feb. 22.—The serious effect which the high prices of coal and coke are having on British Columbia industry was emphasized at the sessions of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia today when a resolution was adopted calling for government action.

The resolution was moved by I. R. Poole of Nelson and seconded by L. A. Campbell of Rossland. The latter stated in this connection that the wage scale in the coal mines of the Crow's Nest was at present out of balance, and has forced prices from $2.25 to $5. These were wholesale prices for large quantities. At present the price of coke is $12.50 a ton, whereas, before the war, it was only $6.50. Cheaper coal was absolutely necessary if any success was to be achieved in efforts to develop the natural resources. This was particularly true in regard to low grade ore bodies. The wage scale at present, he explained, sprang from the award in the United States. A reduction in the wage scale in Alberta had been expected last April, but the men struck. Just about the time that they were willing to accept a wage reduction the American award, maintaining the wage scale as it was, came about in the United States, and the Alberta operators had been forced to let the scale stand.

This wage scale would expire next April and Mr. Campbell declared that the point had been reached where Canadian industry should show that it can run its own show and that wages in the Dominion should not be regulated by the United States. "If we are to stay in the mining and smelting field," he declared, "we must get cheaper coke." Consequently the industries affected must support the operators of Alberta.

In conclusion, Mr. Campbell expressed the opinion that the federal government should be asked as to whether or not Canadian industry was to be dictated to from across the border.

The resolution urges:

Whereas, With few exceptions commodity prices of all kinds have been adjusted downward since the armistice; and,

Whereas, In almost all industries wage scales have similariy been adjusted downward; and,

Whereas, One of the most notable exceptions to such adjustments is the coal mining industry, and that prices of coal and coke are still at the full war peak; and,

Whereas, This failure to adjust operating costs and sales prices in the coal mining industry is unjustly penalizing other industries dependent therein and the workmen in such industries, as well as the public generally; and,

Whereas, The continuation of abnormal prices for coal and coke has set a considerable premium on the substitution of other sources of heat and to a considerable extent such substitution has already taken place; now, therefore be it,

Resloved, That this convention is of the opinion that price adjustments in the coal industry are long overdue and that in the interests of that industry itself, dependent industries, and the general public, such adjustments should be made forthwith, and that the Dominion government should probe the whole situation.

"OMAR THE TENTMAKER" IS MAMMOTH PICTURE

What is declared to be one of the finest of the season's cinema productions is coming to the Orpheum Theatre on Monday & Tuesday next as a First National attraction. It is "Omar the Tentmaker,' with Guy Bates Post in the titular role, and is an adaptation of Richard Walton Tully's stage play of the same name that served Post on the speaking stage for more than four years. It was directed by James Young and is a colorful story of Persia in the days when Omar Khayyam wrote Rubaiyat.

Director Young has given the photoplay the benefits of his rich talents, wide experience and brilliant leadership in the ranks of directors. Settings for this master film were personally designed and executed under the direction of Wilfred Buckland, the first man in his field in the films and still recognized as its finest craftsman. A city was erected to represent the streets of Naishapur, the garden of Shireen, the famous inn where Omar spends much of his time, the Shah's palace at Teheran, the great Judgment Hall of the governor of the province, the Temple of Zoroaster, the schoolroom of Nizam ul Mulk and various dwelling places.

A vast number of costumes and properties was needed for these great sets and the hundreds of players who participated in the various scenes. These were all under the direction of Milano Tilden, who has been associated with Mr. Post for many years as his stage manager. Francoise Nazare Aga was the Persian expert. George Benoit, who photographed "The Masquerader," was in charge of the cinematographic corps. No expense was spared to make the picturization of "Omar the Tentmaker" one of beauty and reality.

A BOYS' PILGRIMAGE TO ALASKA

George E. Buchanan and the fifty boys he will take to Alaska.

S.S. "Princess Louise"

Between Vancouver and Skagway the Canadian Pacific steamer "Princess Louise" passes through hundreds of miles of such beautiful sheltered waterways as this.

GEORGE E. BUCHANAN, a Chatham, Ont., boy who is now a prosperous coal dealer in Detroit, attributes his success largely to an offer made him when he was a boy that he would have a trip to Europe if he saved up a third of the cost. The offer was made by a friend who promised to lend a third provided George's father lent the other third, the loans to be repaid when George could afford to do so. Here was a real incentive for saving, and when the trip was made it proved of an educational value that has stood him in good stead all his life. Last year Mr. Buchanan made a trip to Alaska, and the idea occurred to him of making the same kind of offer to other boys that he had himself enjoyed in his own youth. But the trip should be to Alaska and not to Europe. As soon as he made the announcement, he was inundated with applications, and a large party of Detroit boys has already been booked to sail from Vancouver on the Canadian Pacific steamer "Princess Louise" on July 14th. Mr. Buchanan will personally conduct the tour which he is thus helping to finance. He says that such a trip would have been worth $50,000 to him if he had taken it himself in his own boyhood because of its educational and broadening influences.

The Rev. Lynn Harold Hough, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, William Livingstone, president of the Dime Savings Bank, and Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan have indorsed Buchanan's scheme as an unusual opportunity for boys to learn the value of thrift and industry. But the trip will have still other benefits, as Mr. Buchanan has said. These lads cannot cross the continent and take that wonderful trip up the island-sheltered waters of the Pacific Coast without its having a tremendously stimulating effect upon their imagination, and upon their future modes of thought and life. From Vancouver up to Skagway and back is a nine-day trip that can never be forgotten. The yacht-like "Princess Louise" glides over a still sea among countless islands that rise forest-clad or mountainous on either side against a snow line of snow-capped mountain peaks The Indian villages of Alaska with their totem poles are unique, and they too will have a special charm for these fifty fortunate boys.

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Anyone who suffers with miserable health; who is tortured with Headaches; and who is unable to get any real pleasure out of life; will be interested in this letter of Mrs. Martha de Wolfe of East Ship Harbor, N.S.

Mrs. de Wolfe says, "For years I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicine seemed to help me. Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was splendid; and after taking only one box, I was completely relieved and now feel like a new person".

PROVES TO BE RATHER A BEMUSING SYSTEM

It is well, so that further confusion is not brought into a political situation already confused enough, that the Federal House of Commons should have defeated a motion for the introduction of the proportional representation system in Dominion elections. This method of voting is one of the planks in the platform of the Progressive Party, although it is not clear that party has examined the subject very closely. Mr. Meighen, the Conservative leader, pointed out that proportional representation would multiply and continue groups in politics. That is, of course, the object of its sponsors, who appear to wish to make the functions of government more intricate.

In municipal affairs as tried out in this city and in Vancouver, as well as elsewhere, proportional representation has been anything but a success. It has not had a tendency to increase the efficiency of municipal administration. It has, however, succeeded in perplexing and bemusing the electors, simply because so many of them have been unwilling to follow the ramifications of the system. The large percentage of spoiled ballots at the recent Vancouver municipal elections constitutes a strong argument against the perpetuation of the system in that municipality, and we can see nothing of intrinsic value that would be gained by its application to Federal or Provincial affairs. In countries where there is much casuistry in politics, much divided thought in a political sense and varying ethnological difficulties within the State, proportional representation may have its merits. With the Anglo-Saxon peoples, who are used to giving straight-line decisions and not partial to qualified expressions of opinion, the system, in its wide application, is unlikely to appeal. The House of Commons has done well not to entertain the suggestion advanced by the member for Brant.—Colonist.

The proprietor of the Central Hotel was found guilty before Police Magistrate Henderson on Saturday last of having in possession liquor not bearing the regulation "Possession Approved" seal of the liquor control board. He was fined $225 and costs, and a portion of the seized goods was ordered forfeited to the crown. The seizure was made at the residence of the accused, where a large stock of liquors were found. Perri fought the case on the ground that all the liquor in his possession had been reported to the liquor board and in support of this brought out in evidence that the officers effecting the search at his dwelling had found many cases of liquor bearing the "Possession Approved" seals. These were not seized, and he further endeavored to show that the itemized list of liquors reported tallied with that found, as the surplus volume was accounted for by the addition of water to a mixture of his original quantities of alcohol and malt scotch reported. The result from this process necessarily was an increased volume of "Scotch whiskey." His Worship, however, held inasmuch as the act prescribed that "the package or packages in respect of which said liquor is contained," must bear the approved seals, and this had not been complied with, he must find the accused guilty, and accordingly impose the penalty above stated.

NEVER LET A COLD GET A START

Follow the Good Advice of a London Woman

The quick direct treatment for colds of children and grown-ups, too, is an application of Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime.

Not only is Vicks absorbed through the skin, but its healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc., are breathed all night directly into the affected air passages.

Relief usually comes by morning. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises and itching skin troubles.

Mrs. Lily Waghorn, of 126 Elliott St., London, Ont., says: "I am pleased to tell you I have never found anything to equal Vicks VapoRub. My daughter had a terrible cold and sore throat. I rubbed it on her forehead as her head was aching and got her to bed. Next morning she was nearly well. I think it the best yet for colds or chest trouble, also catarrh in the head, as it loosens up the air passages so quickly."

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

Tho Vicks is new in Canada, it enjoys a remarkable sale. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

Mrs. Ed. Kummer and children left on Wednesday of this week to join her husband, who recently went to California. Ed. likes the scenery so well that he has decided to make his home there.

Mrs. A. J. Burnside passed through Fernie the other day on her way to visit her parents, Mr .and Mrs. W. H. Whimster, of Penticton. Mrs. Whimster is ill.

The Fernie football club was reorganized at a meeting held on Sunday last. It was decided to hold a dance and a drawing to raise money to put the team in a good financial position for the year.

If you want to hear H. Howlett on the Resurrection in Isis Theatre, on Tuesday night, March 6th at 8 p.m., you will have to come early to get a good seat. Over 300 people heard the lecture given on Feb. 4th and as interest in these lectures is rapidly growing, a large turnout is expected. Doors open at 7.30 p.m.

Fred Adolph, president of the Beck Petroleum Co. of the Shelby oil field, was in town on Tuesday and held a meeting of the Fernie shareholders at the King Edward Hotel. Fred speaks very favorably of the oil showings which the drillers have encountered in their well.

Fred Small who has this week taken over the work as Government Agent at the Provincial Government Building, will carry on in a good many capacities till some re-organization is effected, which may take some of the load from off his shoulders. His appointment as Government Agent carries with it also many other more than merely titular positions, Registrar of Births, Marriages and including Court Registrar, Gold Commissioner, Mining Recorder, Collector, Deaths, Director of the Hospital, and several others as well. Mrs. J. S. Alexander, who has been carrying on for about a year as Acting Government Agent, is leaving about the end of the month, and may go from here into the Vancouver office. He has been recently joined here by Mrs. Alexander, and will be missed in musical circles, where as a violinist, he has been of valuable service in orchestral work.—Cranbrook Courier.

WITH THE B.C. GOVERNMENT

VICTORIA, Mar. 1.—Last week the district foresters of the provincial forest branch were in session at the Legislative Buildings, the object being, explained by Hon. T.D. Pattullo, minister of lands, to promote efficiency and secure uniformity of policy. The duties of the forester are many and varied. They are required to act as responsible agents of the Government in an emergency, to appraise timber at sales and to classify land needed for settlement.

Hon. Mr. Pattullo points out that no matter how efficient the forestry staff may be, the final force and power are the people themselves. Only through education, supplemented by practice, can the vast timber resources of the province be preserved. He gives out the information that some of the disastrous fires of last year were of incendiary origin, in some case the fires being fanned into life deliberately instead of being extinguished.

"Hanging is too good for anyone responsible for such a course," stated Mr. Pattullo, who says that increased protective measures are being provided for the coming year.

While many of the farming districts of the province are happily not dependent upon irrigation methods, still it is interesting to note that in the productive areas of the dry-belt, out of $146.000 due from various irrigation districts, there has been paid into the provincial treasury $138,000. The government has loaned over two million dollars, which it has borrowed for irrigation purposes, it has an asset to offset the liability much more valuable than the amount of the liability. In fact, it is the life-blood of the interior dry-belt, claims the minister.

Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, has been given a place in the Hall of Fame. His name appears in a New York newspaper as one of the twelve most prominent Canadians. The minister is credited with having done the most creditable work for the mining and fishing industries in British Columbia, and therefore for all Canada.

During the past few years there has grown up in British Columbia a determination to prevent Orientals from gaining further footholds in this province. There appears no marked antipathy to the Japanese and Chinese as races, but there has come a realization that these people cannot be assimilated by Britishers. They have gained a stranglehold upon the fishing and farming industries and have made great strides in other directions. This growth has been steady, until every part of British Columbia feels the competition of the Oriental strongly.

The Oriental is not blamed for his thrift but he follows standards of living which are away below those of the people of this province. His sole object is to lay up a competence and annually millions of dollars find their way out of the province across the Pacific, as the result of the Oriental's industry.

The recent victory of the provincial government before the privy council regarding the rights of Orientals to hold and work upon public property is perhaps the first step towards checking the advance of these people. Canada has been liberal in throwing open her doors to persons who will become British subjects and adopt the country as their own and become part of the national life of the Dominion, but so far the Oriental has not seen fit to do this, and there is no probability of his ever doing so.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT FOR PROVINCIAL POLICE

Reorganization of the provincial police of British Columbia has been announced by Hon. A. M. Manson, the attorney-general.

Effective March 31, Chief Inspector T. G. McMynn, who has been head of the force, will be succeeded by Col. J. H. McMullen, now government agent at Prince Rupert, with the title of superintendent. Mr. McMynn will become warden of Oakalla jail, replacing Mr. Colin Campbell, who will be superannuated.

Colonel McMullen has been in the government service for some years and was at one time agent at Fernie. He is well known in the Crow's Nest district and in Central and Northern British Columbia.

The new arrangement, intimated Mr. Manson, will bring about a closer cooperation between the provincial force and the Liquor Control Board with a view to waging a more vigorous war on bootlegging. The police and officials of the liquor board will combine forces in an endeavor to suppress illegal liquor dealing and good results are expected.

Mr. McMynn will also introduce new methods at Oakalla at the instigation of the attorney-general's department. It is the plan to make the jail something of a reformatory as well as a place of detention, although there is no intention to put into force a parole system.

Mr. Campbell the retiring warden, has long been in the government service.

He was for some years chief of provincial police, with headquarters at Victoria, after he had been chief of the Vancouver district for some years. He entered the service twenty-five years ago under the late R. B. Lister, who was the first provincial chief in Vancouver.

Mr. Campbell took the office of head of the department at Victoria upon the death of Mr. F. S. Hussey. In 1917 he was sent to Oakalla as warden. He has had an excellent record during his quarter of a century in the government service.

WINNIPEG'S HISTORICAL MUSEUM

1 and 2—Corners in the Hudsons' Bay Company's historical museum at Winnipeg. 3—An old-fashioned turn-spit, on which for many years the roasts were cooked at the H.B.C. port at York Factory. 4—A model of the "Nonsuch," the ship that brought the first H.B.C. adventurers to Canada.

FOR a comparatively young city, Winnipeg has many points of interest. None is more worthy of a visit than the historical museum that has there been established by the Hudson's Bay Company. The great company's history is the history of Canada's West, and no institution is better equipped to present the earliest history of that land in the manner that the Hudson's Bay Company has chosen.

The value of museums as an educational agency is now only beginning to be more generally realized. What book or series of books could give so comprehensive, so vivid or so unfailingly correct a view of the world's past ages as a few days spent among the treasures of the British Museum. The idea grows in Canada as educational facilities grow. McGill University has its fine museum and the Royal Ontario Museum at Toronto, it will surprise many to know, is one of the world's finest. Its already splendid buildings, soon to be enlarged, is overcrowded with a wonderful store of historic treasures which visiting scholars from abroad never fail to visit.

The object of the Winnipeg exhibit is to depict by means of relics, pictures, documents, models, etc., the history of the Hudson's Bay Company, the life of the fur trade, the story of the pioneer settlers and the customs, dress and industries of the aboriginal tribes. The exhibit is at present set up at the company's store at Winnipeg, and while not nearly as large as it may be expected to become, already occupies a series of rooms in that establishment.

The following principal divisions of the exhibit have been made for convenience: Early History, Furs, Indians, Life in the Service, Forts, Posts, and Stores, Fights and Wars, Land and Settlement.

From the time the natives of Hudson Bay welcomed the first H. B. C. ship in 1688 the Company has been on intimate and friendly terms with the Indians, and the exhibit of Indian relics will thus be of unique interest. This will be of all the greater value since Indian skill in handicraft is even now almost only a memory of past days. The other sections of the museum will tell the tale of the entry of the white man into the West, and the up-building of isolated trading posts that have become important and fast growing cities.

The photographs reproduced herewith give an excellent idea of the splendid beginning this exhibit has made. One item of particular interest is the splendidly built model of the "Nonsuch Ketch," the first Hudson's Bay Company ship to arrive in Canadian waters. Prince Rupert and associates outfitted two ships, the "Eaglet" and the "Nonsuch." These ships sailed from Gravesend, on the Thames, near London, in June, 1668. The "Eaglet" turned back from a point near Hudson Strait, but the "Nonsuch" proceeded and on September 29th, 1668, anchored in the South of James Bay. Then and there a fort was built and named Fort Charles, and the river flowing into the Bay was named Rupert's River. Owing to the cargo of furs brought back by the "Nonsuch" in the summer of 1669, a charter for trading rights was applied for and resulted in the charter granted by King Charles the Second, on May 2nd, 1670, to Prince Rupert and his associates forming the "Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson's Bay." And thus began the great Company.

The exhibit includes a large number of important and exceedingly interesting documents and maps, as well as a large collection of tools, household utensils, and weapons of by-gone days.

The later history of Western Canada is the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the building of which resulted in the creation of a nation west of the Great Lakes, and these two great institutions are still at work at their task of nation building, and preserving the history of Canada's past. The Canadian Pacific has also established an historic museum at Lake Windermere, B.C., in memory of David Thompson, the explorer of the Rockies.

IS HUDSON BAY ROUTE FEASIBLE

In view of the fact that the demand for the completion of the Hudson Bay route, including terminal facilities, all to cost many millions, if the work goes on, will be a bone of contention at the present session of Parliament, it is clear that anything that can be added to the testimony for or against the feasibility of the route is timely.

In the current number of the "World's Work" is an illustrated article by Robert J. Flaherty, F. R. G. S., who since 1910 has spent six years in and about Hudson Bay. Mr. Flaherty was originally employed by Sir William Mackenzie to scout the islands of the Bay and the mainland about it for possible minerals, particularly iron ore, which was found in large quantities on the Belcher Islands. Among Mr. Flaherty's notable achievements in that country was the re-discovery and proper mapping of Belcher Islands, which were discovered and improperly mapped in the seventeenth century, and since that period had never been visited by white men.

However, it is his experiences with ice and weather conditions that we will deal. Mr. Flaherty, with a Newfoundland schooner and crew left St. John's, Nfld., on August 14, though the old sea dogs who hung about the wharf where the schooner Laddie was being loaded with supplies, shook their heads and said: "O'er late to go pokin' up through Hudson Straits." Two weeks later found the Laddie a thousand miles to the north running through squalls of snow into the mouth of Hudson Straits. That is to say snow storms and difficult navigation on August 28.

In his attempt to get through the Straits, Mr. Flaherty describes the winds, the tides, and squalls of snow as baffling, and they were finally obliged to put into Baffinland where they wintered, not being able to reach their objective, Hudson Bay, before the freeze-up came. And here in his story comes an interesting date. I will quote him: "On the last week in September my three men and I were settled for the year and the good old Laddie just the day before the first skin of ice formed over the harbor's face, sailed slowly out bound for winter's berth in Newfoundland."

After describing what was done during the winter, which he incidentally says is ten months long, Mr. Flaherty writes: When the winter had finally worn away through the long light of July days we watched each new patch of blue-green water where it shone resplendent among the white waste of ice fields at sea. But signs of breaking up there was none. Even when August came, Eskimos, bringing us the eggs of gulls and eiders were sledging still over the ice from distant islands.

"It was not until the tenth of August," says Mr. Flaherty, "did we awaken to see, where had so long lain the great white waste of ice, the blue-green of the open sea."

And with the open sea came the Laddie on her return journey from Newfoundland. For nearly two months the schooner had been hemmed in by ice along the Labrador coast, and it was thought at one time that she could not survive the strain of the pack ice. On August 26 the Laddie continued her journey through Hudson Straits into the Bay which was then clear.

In the Bay Mr. Flaherty came upon The Active, a Dundee whaler. Having completed her winter and summer whaling she was about to sail for home. The Active's captain reported that both the winter and the summer had been hard. Nearly all the year they had been hemmed in by vast ice fields.

Mr. Flaherty describes the navigation of the Bay as difficult and dangerous, even in summer, owing to the tides, which are baffling and the fogs which are worse. As a matter of fact the Laddie was piled up on the rocks shortly after entering Hudson Bay, and was saved with the utmost difficulty.

It would be well to recollect that Mr. Flaherty is not writing a brief either for or against Hudson Bay or Hudson Straits in respect to their possibilities as a route to and from Europe. He is merely recounting the experiences of an adventurous traveller.—Saturday Night.

WASHDAYS OF TODAY

Washday terrors, with their ever-increasing weekly appearance, have faced woman for generations.

No one has managed a home but will agree to this. Yet clothes she must have; sheets and quilts and blankets she must have; curtains and tableclothes and dainty linens for her dressing tables and buffets she must have. And, having them, she must keep them clean.

Now "There's the rub."

Few indeed are the homes where it is considered possible to send all laundry work out of the house. The cost of laundry work done commercially mounts up, when household needs in clean things are met this way. And the consideration of wear upon clothing when it must be handled in large quantities is something to consider. Even laundresses who come to the home and wash by the day are frequently guilty of abuses to one's cherished laces and "undies" that is enough to make one determined to begin washing them one's self—the very next week.

But, faced "next week' by piles of clothes of varying weights and complexions, by the prospect of long weary hours kow-tow-ing up and down over a washboard to "the traditions of her ancestors" by the discouraging promise of long hours slopping in and out of tub after tub of water hot and cold, "next week' is likely to find the heroic resolve melting away, while a hurried telephone call summons again the laundress to come to the rescue.

After trying all other plans for keeping the family linens up to a decent standard of cleanliness, and finding them wanting in either comfort or efficiency or economy, housewives are likely to turn to an electric washer.

Women have been trying out washing machines for years. But, until the advent of the electric washer, which draws from its electrical "circuit of service" power for performing all the real labor of washing clothes, these machines had various faults. With the electric washer, however, has come a machine which beyond doubt washes clothes clean, and does it so quickly as to seem to the novice almost magical just as an electric light responding to the touch of a button would seem magical to her if she had never seen one before.

Electricity becomes of larger and larger importance in the somewhat serious business of living. Women are just beginning to have a faint realization of the comforts and the refinements of life they may have under its deft ministrations. Practically all the disagreeable tasks of housekeeping may, with proper equipment and efficient wiring, be laid in the hands of this friendly and willing power. In the time saved by this elimination of physical labor, women may have full and satisfying lives of study, reading, writing, enjoying the offerings of music and drama, becoming actors in the large interests of political or civic affairs, or enjoying the intercourse of social acquaintances; and this while managing with charm and ease the home where families find more comfort than was ever possible in the house whose labor must be done by hand-power.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble—It may be teeth—it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on—Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

LOYALTY BASIS OF ALL CIVILIZATION

Every Citizen Owes Moral Obligation To His Government

SAME IN COMMUNITY LIFE

People Have Duty to Their Home Town Which is No Less Binding Because It Is Not Fixed by Law

(Copyright)

Loyalty is the foundation upon which the whole structure of civilization rests. Loyalty to one's country, loyalty to one's state, loyalty to one's city, loyalty to one's business associates, loyalty to one's friends! Loyalty is essential to the ordinary progress of the world. Without it the world must be chaos.

There would be no stable government in the world were it not for the loyalty of the people to their government. There would be no successful business enterprise on the face of the globe were it not for the loyalty of the men and women who are connected with it. No church could exist for a month were it not for the loyalty of its members. The sacredness of the home would be a myth were it not for the loyalty of the members of the family group.

The loyalty of a people to its government is based partly upon sentiment and partly upon recognition of an obligation that a people owes to its government. A people that has the benefit of good government owes a duty to that government. Those who do not recognize this duty and perform it voluntarily are compelled by law to do so. The man or woman who is protected by the government in the pursuit of life and happiness, must contribute in money and service toward the support of the government. The man or woman who, under the protection of his government which preserves law and order, is able to accumulate property, must pay taxes on that property to help maintain the government which has protected him or her. In time of war the government has the right to call upon its citizens to take up arms in its defence.

Loyalty Moral Obligation

In governmental affairs these things are regulated by law, and the man who receives the benefits of orderly government is required to fulfill the obligation which that entails, but in the ordinary affairs of life, loyalty is a moral rather than a legal obligation. There are laws which prevent a man from stealing from his employer or his business associates, but there is no law that requires him to be loyal to them. The success of a business institution, however, depends more upon the loyalty of its employees than upon the laws which prevent them from stealing its money. Likewise the stability of a government depends more upon the loyalty of its people than upon the laws which compel them to fulfill their obligation to the government.

It is equally true that the prosperity and growth of every individual community is dependent upon the loyalty of the people who live in it. Every citizen owes an obligation to his community, and the obligation is a moral as well as a legal one. The good citizen pays his taxes cheerfully and willingly. He serves on the juries which administer the laws of the community. He fulfills every legal obligation that is imposed upon him by his government, but there is a moral obligation which is of still greater importance to the community. This moral obligation consists in doing everything that is in his power to promote the prosperity and happiness of his community. The man who is enabled to make his living in any community is under a moral obligation to spend his money in such a way as to help his community.

Prosperity Worth Protecting

Anything worth having is worth protecting, and if the prosperity of a community is worth anything to the people living in it it is worth protecting. If the chance for a man to earn a good living, to live well, to give his children a good education, is worth anything, it is worth protecting.

There is just one way to protect the prosperity of a community, and that is to keep the community from being drained of its cach—working capital. The only way to do that is for the people of the community to keep their money at home. Every time a citizen of a community sends money away from home to a mail order house instead of spending it in his home stores he is disloyal to his community. It is disloyalty to the merchants only indirectly. It is disloyalty to the community of which the merchants are only a small but a very important part.

This is the moral obligation that every citizen owes to his community, just as the payment of taxes and the loyal support of his government are his legal obligations. Disloyalty of a large body of the citizens spells disaster to any government and disloyalty of any large part of the people to their community is followed inevitably by the downfall of the community. Self-interest, if nothing else, should convince every citizen of the advisability of fulfilling his moral obligation to his community.

Coal Co. vs Ingrams

The only city league hockey game played this week was the postponed game between the Coal Company and Ingrams, which was played Tuesday night before a large crowd of fans This game resulted in a game for the Coal Co. by a score of five goals to four and gave that team a strangle hold on the top position of the league table.

The ice was rather slushy in spots but this did not hinder the speed of the two teams much and the first ten minutes of play seemed to indicate an epidemic of goals. Shortly after the face-off the Coal Co. raided Ingrams goal and Baker got the puck behind the goal and shot, the puck hitting Colton, who was in goal for Ingrams, on the back and bounced into the net for the opening goal. Ingrams came right back and Dicken flipped the rubber across to McLachlan who evened up the score. A few minutes later Ingrams took the lead when McLachlan came through alone and scored, this lead was soon reduced when Sofko worried his way right through Ingrams defence and scored.

Ingrams again took the lead early in the second period when Davidson came through, running more than skating, and bulged the twine behind Dunlap. The sticky ice was beginning to exact its toll and many nice combination plays on both sides were spoiled when the puck refused to travel its intended distance. McTeer came off the Coal Co. defence and came through like a whirlwind, then slipped the rubber back to Sofko who scored through what appeared to be about an inch of open net. Ingrams took on a spurt and kept Dunlap busy for a few minutes then Bish Wilson, playing his first game since the accident to his shoulder, got away and getting a rebound from his first shot, batted the puck into the net. From the face-off the Coal Co. came right back and Sofko scored his third goal giving the Coal Co. a two goal lead.

The only goal of the third period came about half way through the spasm when Dicken and McLachlan finished a nice combination run when the former netted. For the balance of the game the Coal Co. played a defensive game and Ingrams came all out but the six man defence was too much for them to penetrate.

The line-up—

Ingrams — Goal, Colton; defence, Kirkpatrick and Glover; forwards, Dicken, Davidson, McLachlan and Hovan.

Referee—J. Cairns.

Owing to shortage of freight cars growers in the Missouri watermelon belt had a bad season last year. They purpose devoting their attention to pumpkins this season as they are more durable and can be transported by mule trains.

Health turns the clock backward

A FEW "B'S"

from the Chiropractic "B"-hive. They may sting, but "will bring home the honey."

Uncle Bill Health says—
"Eve was created after Adam, and the human race has been running that way ever since."

I. BE REGULAR. To get results, take your adjustments when advised by your Chiropractor.

II. BE FRANK. Chiropractors speak freely. Your spine tells the truth.

III. BE PUNCTUAL. Other people are waiting.

IV. BE REASONABLE. One adjustment will help, many are necessary. Why expect in a few days what has been acumulating for a score of years.

V. BE HONEST. Say you are feeling better if you are.

VI. BE FAIR. The Chiropractor is doing his best with the material you supply.

VII. BE IN EARNEST. Life is too short to waste time over trifles.

VIII. BE WISE. Feeling good? Keep on! We want to make it last.

IX. BE PATIENT. NATURE takes time. The Chiropractor is more concerned over health than dollars.

X. BE BROADMINDED. Realize that the system, known as Chiropractic, is one with which you may be unfamiliar. Have confidence that the Chiropractor understands his business, and is doing all that is necessary when he gives the adjustment.

XI. BE INQUISITIVE. The Chiropractor is glad to answer questions asked in good faith.

XII. BE PLEASANT. Adopt the Chiropractic motto "KEEP SMILING." It will help everyone concerned.

XIII. BE SENSIBLE. No Chiropractor will take your case unless he has reason to think he can help you. You are only one of many thousand sick persons in the world who are recovering health by this method.

XIV. BE PROGRESSIVE. Would you be satisfied with the conditions existing twenty-five years ago? Chiropractic is a new science, and, like other useful discoveries, has broken all precedents of progressiveness.

RECOMMENDS CHANGES

At the last meeting of the City Council, Dr. Corsan, city health officer, made the following interesting report on the condition of the city:

During the year 1922 the general health of the city has been excellent. An outbreak of scarlet fever occurred during the year, 31 cases in all within the city limits. These were as a rule of a mild type but unfortunately two deaths occurred from complications arising from the disease. In this connection I would point out some of the difficulties with which the officers of health have to contend in trying to control the spread of this and other contagious and infectious diseases. There are certain people who deliberately break quarantine regulations by allowing others to visit their homes or by allowing their children out to mingle with others. There are others who know or suspect infectious disease to be in their homes and who do not call in a doctor, knowing that they will be quarantined (such cases as this last are the greatest menace of all). Neighbors or others who may be cognizant of facts hesitate to report these occurrences for fear of getting into trouble with the offenders.

One case of diphtheria was reported during the year and a few cases of chicken pox.

During the year 1922 the premises and herds of all those supplying milk to the city have been inspected twice by the M.H.O. and Chief of Police. It is gratifying to note the very great improvement in the way stables are being kept and the cleanly condition of the cattle. All herds have been subjected to the tuberculin test by a veterinary officers detailed by the Provincial Government. Only one milch cow was found to be affected and ordered destroyed.

The premises used by butchers and bakers have been inspected and found in good shape.

Chinese laundries as at present opperated are to my mind far from what they should be. I endeavored last June to have the council take some action regarding these places but without success. A rigid by-law should be passed controlling the operation of these places.

The City Jail is much in need of attention. I have repeatedly during the past years outlined suggestions for the betterment of conditions there, but so far none of these suggestions have been acted upon.

The Isolation Hospital has been closed for the past three months. My urgent requests to have the building placed in charge of a responsible caretaker and kept ready for emergencies have so far been ignored. It should be evident that this existing condition is a serious meance to the city, if a disease such as small pox should appear in our midst, it is often prompt isolation which will prevent a serious epidemic.

Our water supply is now well protected by the order in council passed by the provincial government creating a health area covering the water shed of Fairy Creek above the dam. It is several years since a case of typhoid fever developed in the city limits, and this is no doubt due to the freedom of our water from pollution. It was to anticipate any chance of such pollution that the Board of Health asked for the legislation mentioned.

FERNIE DISTRICT ROD AND GUN CLUB HOLD MEETING

The annual meeting of the Fernie District Rod and Gun Club was held in the council chambers on Monday, March 5th. Owing to many members playing in the bonspiel, the turnout was not as large as would otherwise have been expected.

The financial statement for 1922 was read by the secretary, and showed the Club to be in a flourishing condition.

President—J. Carnwath.

Vice-President—W. Baldrey.

Sec-Treasurer—F. Denison.

Considerable correspondence was read from the Department of Fisheries in connection with re-stocking of the streams in this district, and the necessity of the establishment of a hatchery in East Kootenay is strongly advocated by this club and others throughout the district.

A number of recommedations in connection with the Game Regulations for 1923 were discussed, and will be forwarded to the Game Board for their consideration.

The matter of reviving trapshooting was also brought up, some years ago considerable interest was taken in this sport, and there is a possibility that this coming summer will see an enthusiastic trapshooting club in Fernie again. This matter will be brought up again at our next monthly meeting in April.

EXPORT HOUSES CLOSE MARCH 15

OTTAWA, March 7.—The export of intoxication liquor from the province of Alberta, except by brewers and distillers licensed by the Dominion, is forbidden after the fifteenth of the present month. A proclamation containing the prohibition has been issued by the governor-general. This proclamation is based on the act passed last session which provided for the prohibition of export except by distillers and brewers, from a province into which import was prohibited, and which by order-in-council required the prohibition of export.

PICK'S CASE ON TODAY

OTTAWA, March 7. — The Picariello and Lasandro cases were up before the supreme court this morning. A motion for delay in arguing the case was made because of insufficient time to prepare, but the court did not seem very much impressed by the plea, Justice Iddington, in particular, intimating that counsel were simply trifling with the court. The matter was finally deferred until Friday when the parties will have to be ready to go on. The court will apparently not regard with any favor an adjournment until the May sittings.

Paul Leduc, of Ottawa, represented the counsel for Picariello and Lasandro, and stated the grounds for appeal as being largely because of the dissenting judgment of Justice Beck. He quoted the appeal court's strictures upon the trial judge because of the way the facts and law were presented to the jury, and said he was advised that it was impossible to get the case ready for the term.

Justice Iddington, presiding, was not convinced. He pointed out that the report of the trial was here and he could not see much in the plea that the whole record should not be here. When Mr. Leduc said he was advised that counsel would not be ready for a month tbe court grew indignant.

Mr. Geoffrion, of Montreal, who is to argue the case, added his voice to that of Mr. Leduc.

The representative of Attorney-General Brownlee, of Alberta, said the latter was prepared to proceed and intended to come here for the argument but the court would do no better than consent to an adjuornment to Friday.

ACCIDENT IN MINE COACH

An accident which might easily have resulted in loss of life occurred Tuesday afternoon on the mine train which was bringing the morning shift miners from Coal Creek to Fernie.

At first it was believed that some practical joker had placed rock sulphur on the stove in the coach, but it later transpired that William Thomson of West Fernie had been bringing a tin of belt dressing compound, containing a large quantity of sulphur, from Coal Creek with him in the train. In some unknown manner the tin had been upset and the liquid leaked from the tin and saturated the floor of the coach. Someone threw a lighted match on the floor and the liquid took flame and gave off poisonous shlphur fumes.

The train was just pulling out of Coal Creek yards at the time and luckily the train crew were able to stop it before starting down the hill. The miners in the coach smashed the windows, then stampeded for the doors. Many of them were nearly overcome by the fumes but all but one man, Wm. Morris, recovered immediately on reaching the fresh air. Morris was only brought around after twenty minutes of artificial repiration work upon him. Another man by the name of Ferguson got pinned in the doorway in the rush for the exits, and before he was able to break loose, he had been badly torn about the thigh. His injuries, however, are not considered of a serious nature.

WELCOME HOME HOCKEY GIRLS

The citizens of Fernie turned out en mass on Tuesday morning to welcome home the Fernie Swastikas on their triumphant return from the Banff Winter Carnival, bringing with them the Alpine Cup trophy and gold medals, emblametic of the World's Championship Ladies' Hockey Title.

All the stores in town permitted their staffs to go to the depot and the Schools closed for about an hour to allow the children to meet the train. When the Swastikas stepped off the train they were met with a great burst of cheering to which the girls replied with their club yell. "Jimmy" Johnstone secured the cup and marched along the platform ahead of the girls, displaying the trophy.

A procession was then formed with a detachment of Royal Mounted Police leading the way, Jimmy Johnstone followed, still clinging to the cup like a long lost brother. The Fernie Pipe band came next and the pipes kept things lively with their skirlin'. The Fernie Ladies Hockey team followed in a specially decorated sleigh, and they were kept busy acknowledging the cheers of the crowd. A sleigh bearing Mayor Henderson and several other Fernie notables, came next, Mayor Henderson waving the Swastikas' mascot, an effigy of a Fernie Swastika all dolled up in the girls' hockey togs, from the end of a minature hockey stick. Several other floats and sleighs, packed to capacity with school children, giving vent to the full power of their lungs, brought up the rear.

The procession proceeded up Victoria Avenue to the Central Hotel, then wheeled and proceeded to the City Hall, where chairman of the School Board, Sherwood Herchmer, Mayor G. G. Henderson and Thomas Uphill, M.P.P., welcomed the girls home and congratulated them on their splendid achievement at the Banff Carnival. On behalf of the Ladies' Hockey team, Captain Dahlia Schagel replied briefly, thanking the citizens for their enthusiastic welcome and for the generous way in which they had come forward to take care of the financial end of the trip.

The Fernie girls have an undefeated record this season and although they were awarded the cup on Monday morning by the Banff Carnival Committee, when the Calgary Regents failed to put in an appearance at the rink, they can claim to have truly won the trophy on their record. The first game they played at Banff was against last years Champions, the Vancouver Amazons, whom they easily disposed of by a score of two goals to nil. They then met the Regents of Calgary last Friday evening, but this game finished without either side scoring. The game the next evening went to thirty minutes overtime without the tie being broken, the score standing two all. The deciding game was to have been played Monday morning but after Saturday's game the Calgary Regents were apparently having troubles of their own and two of their subs left for home. The remainder of the team came to the Fernie girls and stated they would not be able to play on Monday as they had not funds. The hotel manager offered to carry them over on his own expense till after Monday's game, and the Carnival Manager offered both Fernie and the Calgary teams twenty-five per cent. of the gate receipts. The Fernie girls then offered to throw in their portion of the receipts so that the game could be played. Calgary, however, refused these offers and after signing default papers and handing them to the Carnival Manager, left for Calgary.

Fernie's sportmanship again came to the fore, almost to foolhardiness, the Regents said they were in a bad way financially and requested the Fernie girls to play an exhibition game at Calgary on Monday evening. Fernie appeared on Calgary ice Monday for this exhibition game and were surprised to find that the game had been advertised as a game for the Championship, the venue having been changed from Banff to Calgary

This game resulted in a scoreless tie, Calgary receiving the entire net receipts. Commenting on the Fernie Ladies sportmanship, a special reporter at Banff says in the Calgary Herald, the only comment made on the Ladies Tournament: "The Fernie Swastikas, the ladies' hockey team, established an enviable reputation in Banff, by their laylike demeanor and true sportmanship tactics at all times." This aptly sums up our ladies' team, they are true to sport from the word go.

THE DRAMA NEXT FRIDAY

On Friday evening, March 16, at 8 p.m., the Young Ladies of the Sodality will present in the Grand Theatre the very highly recommended drama entitled "Through Darkness To Light." Two months of serious study and rehearsals have been devoted to the preparation of this high-class drama. The outline of which is as follows:

Drama opens with a scene in the home of the Heartfelt's, aunts of Mildred, blind daughter of Lord Trixley's first wife.

His second wife wished to secure for her daughter, Constance, the fortune left by Mildred's mother. Her advertisement for governess is answered by Hortense Heartfelt who bears an assumed name, hoping by this means to be a help to Mildred.

Village flower-gatherers assemble to celebrate Constance's birthday. Lady Trixley refuses to allow Mildred to be present at birthday party. Constance refuses to go without her but at Mildred's pleading finally consents.

Lady plots with Gypsy to drop a necklace in Mildred's work bag in order that the latter may be accused of theft. Mildred denies the charge, is supported by Constance and the governess but is disinherited and imprisoned. Lady Trixley visits Mildred in prison, asks her to sign a paper which she has prepared and by which she gives to Lady Trixley her entire property. Constance arrives just in time to destroy the document.

A five-piece orchestra will be in attendance. Miss Josephine Charlebois and Miss Clara Cody will preside at the piano throughout the drama.

Miss Millie Caufield and Miss Rose Caufield will favor with a piano duet, and Miss Millie will accompany the folk-lore dances and Irish reels.

A tableau representing the Canadian Provinces will bring this program to a close.

Miss Katherine Hughes, the Worthy Prefect of the Sodality, considers that everything augurs well for an unqualified success, on March 16, the day the organization will make its initial bow to the public of Fernie in dramatic endeavor.

THE LATE HON. JOSEPH MARTIN

If ever there was a political knight-errant, Joseph Martin was one. He travelled far and wide seeking adventure at the polls, on the hustlings and in the legislatures. For thirty years where the smoke of political battle blew thickest, there one was almost certain to find the lance and pennant of "Fighting Joe." And, true knight-errant that he was, he was always concerned more with the zest of the contest than with any end he might achieve. He liked politics for the fighting politics involved; and if there wasn't a fight, he made one. But once the battle was won, he was apt to lose interest in the subsequent proceedings and turn his attention if not his activities in some other direction.

During a part, at least, of the thirty years referred to—from about 1883 to 1913—Joseph Martin was probably the most-talked-of man in all Canada. His record was unique. No one in the entire political history of the Dominion even approached it. He served in two provincial legislatures and in the cabinets of two provinces. Others have done that. But, in addition, he played his part as leader of the opposition and as premier in one of these provinces; he sat in both the Dominion House of Commons and in the Mother of Parliaments, and he figured —if one is to believe his enemies—as the hero of a novel which achieved considerable circulation. He was a radical of the first water, almost a iconoclast, indeed, and was responsible for the wrecking of more than one ministry. The fact that during the last few years of his life he played no active part in politics was due to no fault of his own, but rather to his sinister record as a disruptive force which made all parties fear his support as much as they did his opposition.

Joseph Martin was born on September 24, 1852, at Milton, Ont. He was educated by private tuition at the Michigan Normal school, at the Toronto Normal school, and Toronto University. In his youth he was a telegraph operator. Later, he taught school at Ottawa and finally studied law there in the office of McLeod Stewart. In 1882 he went west, was called to the bar of Manitoba and took up the practice of his profession in Portage La Prairie and later in Winnipeg. Almost at once he jumped into politics, and to such good purpose that he was elected to the legislature in Portage La Prairie in 1883. This seat he held until the general election of 1892, when he declined re-election.

In 1888 he entered the Greenway cabinet as minister of education and attorney-general and retained his double portfolio until 1891, when he retired after a disagreement with the premier. While in the ministry he led the fight for southern railway connection, and he framed and introduced the measure abolishing separate schools in Manitoba. This bill proved one of the most contentious ever brought before a Canadian legislature, and, after occupying a place in the public eye for six years, it resulted finally in the introduction of the Remedial Bill at Ottawa, the general election of 1896, and the defeat of the Tupper government.

Martin defended his separate school measure before the Privy Council, but when the heavy fighting was transferred to Ottawa, his crusading spirit led him there. He was a candidate for the federal house in Selkirk in the general election of 1891, but was defeated by the late Hon. T. Mayne Daly. Two years later, at a by-election, he was returned for the city of Winnipeg, the first liberal ever returned by the Manitoba capital, and he took active part in the Remedial Bill debates. In the general election of 1896, he was again a candidate, but his opponent was Hon. Hugh John Macdonald and "Fighting Joe' was defeated.

In 1897 Mr. Martin set his course for British Columbia. He opened a law office in Vancouver and began at once to interest himself in politics. Party lines were not very definitely drawn on the Pacific Coast at the time, but the Turner government was becoming unpopular and Martin took the opposition side. A general election was announced and the new opposition recruit secured a nomination in Vancouver, and by his vigor, practiced skill on the platform, and slashing attacks, added to the interest and piquancy of the campaign. The Turner government was not exactly defeated in the election, but the lieutenant-governor forced its resignation, and in the Semlin ministry which took its place, Martin was given the position of attorney-general.

The new government was not many months old, when it began to appear that it was divided against itself. Martin and F.L. Carter Cotton, minister of finance, both Vancouver men, were personally antagonistic. They quarrelled about various things, particularly about Deadman's Island, which was a live local issue at Vancouver at the time and finally, following a banquet at Rossland, at which a speech by Martin had provoked a fight, the premier asked for the attorney-general's resignation. It was refused at first, but when Martin found the majority of the government's supporters were against him, he left the cabinet.

From that day he was the Semlin government's most determined and vigorous opponent. For six weeks he led it a dog's life in the house, where sometimes, a majority of one, and sometimes only the speaker's casting vote stood between it and defeat. At length, on February 14, 1900, he succeeded in getting a majority of one against it on a redistribution measure. Semlin clung to office for a week or so, but the lieutenant governor dismissed him and called on Martin to form a cabinet. Martin complied, but had considerable difficulty in finding men to fill his portfolios. He had to go outside the house, and when he appealed to the country on June 7 on a platform which included an anti-Oriental plank and a proposal to build a railroad from the Coast to the Kootenay, he was defeated. He had been premier a little over three months.

Mr. Martin remained in the legislature until 1903, part of the time as leader of the opposition, and later a supporter of the Dunsmuir and Prior ministries. At the general election of 1908, he ran for the House of Commons in Vancouver as a candidate of the Asiatir Exclusion League, but was defeated and in December of the same year, he left for England, intending he said, to argue Canadian cases before the Privy Council and enter British politics. In the general election of 1909, he ran for the Imperial House as a Liberal in Southwest Warwickshire, but was defeated. Another general election came on in 1910, and "Fighting Joe" was elected for East St. Pancras. In 1911, he was back in Vancouver, though he had not resigned his seat in the Imperial House, and did some skirmishing against the government in the reciprocity campaign. He made one or two attempts afterwards to re-enter politics in British Columbia, but never succeeded in getting a nomination. He was a candidate, too, for mayor of Vancouver, but was defeated. He even started an evening newspaper in Vancouver, and seemed for a time to get some excitement out of it, but it did not prove a success, and he discontinued it after a few weeks.

MASTERLESS MEN

(By Walt Mason)

To the Southland where I dwell hoboes come by every train; they are hoofing it, as well, in the sunshine and the rain; they are wretched looking vage as they flaunt their rancid rags and aspire bootleg jags with a longing that is vain. By the peelers they are hailed with a bleak, disgusted frown; they are rounded up and jailed every time they strike a town; they are chased from burg to grad with a vigor that seems sad; there are jobs that might be had, but they will not hold them down. Rather than get down to work they'll be chivied here and there, pinched wherever they lurk, and prescribed cheap prison fare; rather than wield saw or ax they'll wear rags upon their backs, walk in shoes all full of cracks, and have chiggers in their hair. Something's missing in the head of the hobo who goes by, who would rather steal his bread than get down and earn a pie; in his brain there is a flaw, if he'd rather dodge the law than get busy with a saw, making sticks of stovewood fly. Up and down the road they drill, on immoral errands bent, and their ranks grow larger still in these years of discontent; and the only thing we do when the hoboes hom in view is to jail the ragged crew and remark upon their scent.

WHAT MADE ME HAPPY

"I was congratulating myself that I had passed the winter without catching a cold, when I got one at the beginning of last May. It was because I was run down. Being run down I had some trouble in getting rid of this cold. I was a nervous wreck. I would wake up regularly mornings feeling that some terrible calamity would take place. Although we were comfortably off, I felt sure my husband was going to lose everything. The children worried me. If they made the least noise, I would get into a terrible temper. I would scold them so that I am sure they hated me. I would be mad with myself after it was over and make up my mind never to let it happen again. I would go to bed at night and begin to think and picture dreadful things which might happen to me and my family. I would lay awake for hours, sometimes until daylight, until I was so weak that I could scarcely raise my head. I would waken next day just as tired as when I laid down. After a while I got so that I didn't care what happened. The children annoyed me and I wouldn't have cared if they had left me for good. I felt that it was only a matter of time before I would lose my mind. I knew that my symptoms were due to a run down condition and that if I could only get something to build me up, I might be all right. I knew that there must be some good tonics but most of them made such foolish claims that I was afraid of them. Happening one day to run across a leaflet about Carnol, I was impressed with the moderate way this preparation was described, so I made up my mind I would try it. I did and today I am the happiest and healthiest woman living. I haven't a care in the world. Instead of running away from me, my children are now with me all the time. My husband tells me that my disposition is as near an angel's as any human being's can be, but of course he is prejudiced. I don't believe I have a nerve in my body now."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 6-62f

OIL FOR CARS IN SOFT COAL

The waning petroleum supply of the country may be supplemented to great extent, according to Charles R. Fettke, associate professor of geology and mineralogy, by taking the enormous quantities of bituminous coal now being burned in the raw state for steam raising purpose and domestic use and subjecting it to low-temperature carbonization.

This process, he said, will produce a fuel that is in many respects superior to raw coal, and valuable by-products will be recovered which will aid greatly in effecting a petroleum supply that is being rapidly depleted.

Professor Fettke emphasized the warning that the known reserves of petroleum are being so rapidly reduced that one of the problems to be faced within the next decade or two will be to find substitutes, in continually growing amounts, for the product now obtained from them.

"The distillation of oils from oil shales, another important source of supply, will be restricted to those regions where enormous quantities of the shales are found," said Professor Fettke. "Where bituminous coal is found in larger quantities than shale, it will be more economical to conine the business of oil distillation to coal.

"With the growing shortage of natural gas and anthracite coal and their consequent increase in price, other sources of domestic fuel must come more and more into use. One of these undoubtedly will be low-temperature carbonization of coal, which in this respect will have the advantage of the oil shale industry. It will yield a valuable fuel as residue, while only has little or no economic value, but means will have to be provided the spent shale from the latter not for its disposal." — Spokesman Review.

JACKIE COOGAN COMING IN "OLIVER TWIST"

There comes next Wednesday and Thursday to the Orpheum theatre a picture heralded as a "milestone on the highway of art," and which bears the highest recommendations in its own right. It is "Oliver Twist" starring that adorable child actor of the screen, Jackie Coogan; produced by Sol Lesser; directed by Frank Lloyd, and presented by a company of the most distinguished screen celebrities, including Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host more.

The picture is described as the most ambitious in which the juvenile star, Jackie Coogan, has ever appeared, and it is asserted that in it he has registered an appeal that strikes the hearts of young and old and of all classes of picture patrons as well as those that are not usually enticed to the theatre. It is the appeal of innocent boyhood through the medium of one of the greatest stories ever penned—Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist." The plot has been followed with unusual fidelity, it is claimed, and the characterizations will satisfy the most enthusiastic of Dickens' readers. "Oliver Twist" is a First National attraction—listed among the biggest of the year.

TO PROTECT COAL INDUSTRY

For the avowed purpose of protecting the coal mining industry in British Columbia, Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, has announced his intention to work for the imposition of a larger tax on fuel-oil used in this province. Recently he stated that the use of oil meant the displacement of 1,000,000 tons of British Columbia coal and the loss of $100,000 annually to the exchequer in revenue. Following requests made several years ago, the Federal Government imposed a small tax, but this, Hon. Mr. Sloan claims, has not been large enough to be effective, although it has netted Ottawa a large income. Now he proposes a provincial tax to be levied on consumption, the legal department having given the opinion that such a course is within the rights of the government.

Premier Oliver is optimistic over the outcome of British Columbia's fight for cheaper freight rates, and accompanied by Mr. G. G. McGreer, K.C., counsel for the government, will make another trip to Ottawa following the prorogation of the House of Commons. At that time Premier Mackenzie King has promised that the matter will receive the full attention of the federal cabinet.

As a result of a round-table conference held in Vancouver Tuesday, attended by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, the chief forest branch officials, and a delegation representing the timber interests of the province, it has been decided to plan a revision of timber royalties. The present "Royalty Act" was passed at the initiative of the timber men, who considered it an iron-clad arrangement that for forty years would ensure the payment of very modest royalties by the timber men. The minister points out that on account of the fluctuating values of currency, and other conditions, the act threatens to work out differently than what was anticipated and gives indication of imposing a royalty so high that the timber interests have become alarmed. He states that it is the desire of the government to protect the industry as much as possible, and yet at the same time obtain for the province a reasonable return from time to time of any increase in timber values.

Special efforts are being made by Hon. John Hart, minister of finance and of industry, to induce manufacturers to locate in British Columbia. The department has prepared a list of opportunities, particularly appealing to capital and the finest chances exist in nearly every branch of industry. Lumbering, mining, fishing and agriculture are all promising fields for new concerns and accurate information is being furnished to large numbers of prospective operators and settlers.

PURITY OF ELECTIONS

The unseating and possible disqualification of Mr. Johnson, of Moose Jaw, an eminent Progressive should serve a great purpose in the purification of our elections. There are probably few members against whom such technical irregularities could not be alleged. Their safety has been that neither party could afford to raise such points against the other. Here was a case, however, where the charge could be pointed at a member of a parliamentary group which is out, above all things, for the purification of elections. To convict him would be to point a thousand fingers at this sort of purism. "Art thou also become as one of us?" What had Mr. Johnson done? His group had paid direct by cheque, instead of through the prescribed agent, and the account had not included some largesse given to a band that serenaded the victor or some lunch for his scrutineers, both events after the election.

It is not supposed that careless bookkeeping of this sort covering free in future when Progressives can get word of it. It was cruel of the courts to leave Mr. Johnson on the tenterhooks between heaven and earth, not knowing whether he is disqualified from running again or not. The worst of it is that though the law assures us that these is no injury for which there is no remedy, it provides no way for him to find out, except by running again, in which case, if elected, as he would be, he would be accused of having had no right to run. If then the courts found him disqualified, as they probably would—the courts not being Progressive—he would only have succeeded in having elected a defeated opponent who would otherwise have had small chance. If he was beaten, the question of his disqualification would remain unanswered; and he would be horned on the same dilemma for the best seven years of his life. Are we right in assuming that the most honorable of courts would act according to the politics of the judges? They might do so quite honestly. It is a matter of history that that most honored of all courts, the Supreme Court of the United States, has not been free from such bias. The anomaly of having an election return an utterly rejected candidate would be avoided under the the transferable vote. The Progressives would in such case put up two candidates, and each Progressive elector wuold give his first vote for one and his second for the other.—Montreal Witness.

A DARING RESCUE AT SEA

Unusual pictures of the sinking of a Lunenburg, N.S. schooner. 1—Capt. Gillies of the "Scotland" and Chief Officer McMurray Alefti, who commanded the lifeboat that made the rescue. 2—The "Empress of Scotland." 3—A glimpse of the lounge aboard the "Scotland." 4—The return of the lifeboat. 5—The last few moments of the "Clintonia" after her crew had been rescued by the "Empress of Scotland."

THE tale of an heroic rescue at sea and of a desperate battle with the elements to keep a sinking vessel afloat until help arrived was told when the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of Scotland" arrived at New York recently with Captain Aaron Kearley and his crew of five of the tiny schooner "Clintonia" of Lunenburg, N.S.

It was an epic of courage on the part of the sturdy Nova Scotians and of the coolness and heroism of British seamanship in which Chief Officer E. W. McMurray, and Captain Kearley of the lost schooner played the leading roles.

Totally helpless in a terrific storm, the "Clintonia" bound for Halifax from Fortune Bay, Newfoundland, was in a sinking condition when it was sighted by the "Empress." Captain James Gillies, the liner's commander, was compelled to abandon the lifeboat in which the schooner's crew was rescued because of the heavy seas.

"For three days and nights we had manned the pumps, Captain Kearley said, "we had given up hope and were completely exhausted when we sighted the steamer. We hoisted the distress signal, but even after we were sighted, did not believe that we could be saved before my ship sank. I cannot say too much of the bravery of Officer McMurray and his men when they took a desperate chance in effecting our rescue."

A volunteer crew manned the lifeboat, and several oars were broken by the waves when Officer McMurray put off for the Clintonia.

"The schooner was sinking rapidly as we rowed for it," McMurray said. "The crew were clinging to ropes, and every wave broke over the tiny craft. The sea was so heavy that we could not go alongside, and the men were compelled to jump into the swirling waves. We had some trouble in picking them up, and all were utterly exhausted and half dead from cold when we got them in the lifeboat.

'It was a ticklish task getting back to the "Empress," he continued. "We finally got alongside, but it was so rough we had to abandon the lifeboat. It was badly crushed before we could all get aboard, and was in splinters a few minutes later." The Clintonia meanwhile had sunk.

The crew of the schooner lost everything except the clothes they wore, but were smiling and eager to get on shore when they arrived. None suffered any ill effects from the three days of exposure.

Chief Officer McMurray, his brother officers said, has play the part of the rescuer in several sea disasters, and received a silver loving cup from the Mikado of Japan for having rescued the crew of a wrecked Japanese steamship in the China Sea several years ago. Other officers of the liner also have been decorated for bravery, both in war and peace. First Officer Ronald Stewart received the Victoria Cross for sinking a German submarine while commander of a "mystery ship."

Captain Gillies is Commander of the Order of the British Empire. All of the wrecked schooner's crew are under 30 years of age and unmarried, Capt. Kearley said. They were given $400 by the passengers of the steamer. The great Canadian Pacific liner is now cruising the Mediterranean carrying a large party of tourists from all over the United States and Canada. In the early summer she will be back upon the regular Canadian Pacific trans-Atlantic route. The remarkable photos of the sinking schooner and the lifeboat were caught by a passenger on the "Scotland."

Forty-seven people will average among them better judgment than sixteen.

They bought Ford Cars.
Their judgment was based on—

Lowest Initial Cost.
Lowest Upkeep Cost.
Lowest Prices for repair parts.
Ability to obtain parts readily and anywhere.
Ability to obtain service at any one of 3,000 Service Stations—in a straight line from Halifax to Vancouver these Service Stations would be only one mile apart.

COOGAN FLEES FROM "STOP THIEF" CRY

"Ay, stop him, for God's sake, were it only in mercy!"

Thus does Charles Dickens end in "Oliver Twist" one of the most masterly bits of description ever penned —the brief, terrifying narrative of the flight of poor little Oliver, breathless, ahead of an insentiate mob shrieking "Stop Thief!"

"Stop Thief!" The victim is an innocent boy, but the hunters know nothing of that. "A victim must be found," as Gilbert says in "Mikado," and Oliver will do as well as another. the guilty wretches who committed the crime join the chase and yell "Stop Thief!" even more lustily than the others.

This is but one of the scenes of "Oliver Twist" that Director Frank Lloyd has lifted quivering from the pages of the book and placed upon the screen.

An the star of the picture — the forlorn hunted youngster, whose terror is as profound as his innocence, is non other than little Jackie Coogan himself.

Announcement is made that Sol Lesser will present this most distinguished of stars, Jackie Coogan, in this masterpiece of classic literature, and supported by a cast inclusive of Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host of other screen celebrities at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next for an engagement of two days. It is a First National Attraction.

The Fernie Literary Society held a meeting last Friday afternoon. The first part of the programme was a short comedy entitled "The Professor's Dilemma." This was highly enjoyed by all present. The characters were:

A very entertaining debate followed, the subject being: "Resolved that the horse and buggy afford more pleasure than the automobile." The debate hinged on the feasibility of the left drive, right squeeze. Louis Rudnicki and Edna Brett upheld the affirmative while Ross Workman and Lily Graham supported the negative. The meeting was adjourned with the announcement of a coming track meet.

WILL FIGHT OFF COST INCREASE

CALGARY, March 3.—As forecasted, the Western Canada Coal Operators Association are not inclined to fall on the necks of the miners and agree to their demands over a new wage agreement. On the contrary they flatly refuse to consider anything which may mean an increase in the cost of production with the resulting increased price of coal to the public.

Nothing has therefore come in the meantime of the preliminary conference except to demonstrate to the miners' officials and scale committee that the operators are not going to accept anything and everything that is demanded.

The operators told the miners' officials that the best interests of all would be conserved by an adjournment for ten days in order that both sides might take steps to arrive at an agreement which would enable a reduction in the present price of coal to be brought about. The miners agreed to this course without comment.

It was pointed out to the miners that in their new demands there were 29 distinct items under the term of "inequalities," every one of which, if granted would mean an increase in the cost of production which would reflect itself in the selling price to the consumer.

Although there does not appear to be the same amount of antagonism that was exhibited at the conference last year, there is nevertheless a very decided indication that a stiff fight will be staged when operators and miners meet again on March 12. Whether this will result in an open break or not remains to be seen. Much will depend on the action of boards of trade and other bodies in the meantime in endeavoring to bring down the price of coal to the public. While the operators are apparently prepared to discuss a reasonable proposition they are certainly not going to accept anything like the demands already submitted.

THE RUBBER SITUATION

Stretching the price of rubber seems to be one more way of increasing international tension. The British Empire is the greatest producer of rubber, while the United States is the greatest consumer. When rubber is high, the British rubber planters rejoice; when rubber is cheap, the American rubber manufacturers and automobile owners do the rejoicing. In 1920 when crude rubber dropped to 13 cents a pound, or less than the cost of production, the benefit was reaped in this country, but in the Far East the British planters were confronted with bankruptcy.

To meet this crisis the British Government put into effect last November what is known as the Stevenson plan to limit the rubber export output. This plan, by a sliding scale of export taxes, restricts the production of rubber under the British flag to 60 per cent. of the 1920 crop until the price passes 1 shilling and 3 pence, or approximately 30 cents a pound. After that the plan provides for a series of adjustments which will permit 100 per cent. production only when the price reaches 3 shillings. Already the price of rubber has more than doubled, advancing from 13 cents a pound to more than 30 cents, and the British planters are presumably satisfied. But because the United States buys 70 per cent. of the world's rubber output, here the soaring prices makes for anything but satisfaction. Tires and other rubber articles, it is estimated by experts in the Department of Commerce, will cost the American consumer from $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 more annually. "There are 10,000,000 Americans operating automobiles and trucks who will be called upon to pay the bill," remarks the Cleveland Times and Commercial.

It is not suprising, therefore, to learn that many American manufacturers regard the British regulation of rubber with disfavor, and are discussing the development of new and independent sources of supply in South America and the Phillipines; and that the situation has been called to the attention of Congress and the Administration. "Rubber is fast becoming as much a subject of political discussion as a social practise in Washington," remarks a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, who tells us further that "Secretary Hoover has become aroused over the British domination of the world's supply," and "Senator McCormick, of Illinois, has called attention in the Congressional Record to a situation which he describes as grave and important.'

The British plan, many spokesmen of the American rubber industry protest, is economically unsound and will fail of its purpose to stabilize the rubber market. Even in England, we are told, rubber manufacturers have registered a protest. Thus in the New York Times we read of a manifesto issued by the British India Rubber Manufacturers' Association opposing the Stevenson plan on the ground that "it places a premium on inefficiency," that it will cause New York and Amsterdam "to build up rubber markets of ever-increasing importance," and that it establishes "a very serious precendent." Pointing out that cotton plays almost as important a part as rubber in the manufacture of rubber goods, the British manifesto concludes:

"America is the largest user of plantation rubber, and Great Britain, through its colonies, is the greatest producer. In the case of cotton the position is exactly reversed, and is there not, therefore, the danger that a precendent is being created which may lead to retaliation?"

The India Rubber Review, of Akron, Ohio, agrees that the British policy is "utterly unsound and uneconomic;" and it urges the British Government to remember the ruin wrought to the crude rubber industry of Brazil "by export taxation and kindred economic blunders." As this rubber monthly reminds us, Brazil once possessed a natural monopoly in wild crude rubber, but her government's method of taxation and price regulation "caused the development of the rubber plantation industry in other countries, chiefly in the Far East, with the result that, instead of producing nine-tenths of the world's rubber, as she did as late as 1910, she now produces only about one-fifteenth." Senator McCormick, according to a Washington correspondent of the Detroit Free Press, avers that "through manipulation of its crude rubber monopoly, recently initiated, Great Britain will be enabled to pay its $4,800,000,000 war debt to the United States in a decade at the expense of American automobile owners and other rubber consumers." The Senator also called the attention of Congress to a report from Mr. Hoover's Department of Commerce which contains the following concise and interesting information in general and about the Stevenson plan in particular:

"Until 1910 wild rubber was the sole source of supply. The increased demand, largely on account of the development of motor cars, has resulted in 95 per cent. of the world's supply of rubber being produced on plantations located in the Federated Malay States and Ceylon and in the Dutch East Indies. More than 72 per cent. of this plantation rubber is grown in the British Colony possessions. An additional 8 per cent. is controlled by British capital. The relative importance of wild and plantation rubber is shown by the estimated productions for 1922 of 340 000 tons of plantation rubber as against 23,000 tons of wild rubber.

"The plantation industry was enormously prosperous from 1910 until 1920. Following the business depression of 1920 and 1921, demand fell off, down. For a time cost of production exceeded the market prices.

"The British Government in October, 1920, appointed a committee to investigate the condition of the plantation industry, now known as the Stevenson committee. This committee was composed of British Government officials, plantation company directors, and rubber-growers. There was no real representation of the manufacturing side. Despite the committee's failure to secure like action by the Dutch Government, it recommended in October, 1922, the adoption of colonial laws restricting exportation of rubber. These were approved by the British Colonial Secretary and adopted by the British Colonies, effective November 1, 1922. The announced purpose of the law was twofold: First, to restrict production to absorb what they thought was an excessive surplus of crude rubber stock; and, second, to restore the market price so that plantations could produce at a profit.

"An export tax is the means used to restrict production. 'Standard production' is fixed at 1920 production —335,000 tons—as found by the Stevenson committee. Exportations up to 60 per cent. of standard production bear a nominal duty—1 1|8 cents gold per pound, exchange at par. If exports exceed 60 per cent. of 1920 production, each and every pound exported in the year is thereupon subject to a sliding scale of prohibitive duties ranging from 7.94 to 23.85 cents.

"The reason for the passage of the law seemed to be disappearing at the time of its enactment, as the surplus stocks of rubber had apparently been decreased by about 30,000 tons in the preceeding nine months. The resumption of manufacturing is absorbing the surplus feared by the Stevenson committee. Published reports of investigators who visited the estates this year, and financial statements of the plantation companies, indicate the cost of production has been adjusted to lower price levels, permitting adequate profit with prices at 24 cents. Reliable information available warrants the belief that rubber is now being produced at a cost of 11 cents seaboard in the Far East on some of the plantations. No capital charges are included in these costs, however, and such charges would frequently be fairly heavy as the plantations were capitalized during the boom period, and there has in many cases been a considerable watering of stock."

A sudden hush fell over the spectators—

The mystery was solved— Happiness began to creep through the mist of tears—

You'll miss one of the greatest dramatic climaxes ever converted to the screen if you don't see this smashing trial scene in the biggest heart drama of a decade.

Henry Ford, who is probably the world's largest single consumer of rubber for tires, and Harvey S. Firestone, one of the largest tire manufacturers, Washington correspondents report, are joining forces to break the British control of crude rubber by developing the rubber possibilities of South America and the Phillipines. As Frederic J. Haskins writes in the Little Rock Arkansas Gazette:

"Mr. Ford has been developing a policy of industrial self-reliance for some years. He has purchased iron ore mines, has erected a steel-mill, has acquired coal mines and a railroad. The next inevitable step was that he should interest himself in the control of raw material for his rubber tires.

"Ever since the rubber industry was started, London has been the rubber industry of the world. With so much of the producing end of the business in British hands, control of the rubber market naturally gravitated to the British capital. London quotations control the rubber market all over the world.

"It is predicted that this situation will be altered and that New York or some other American city will become the rubber centre of the world as the result of the Ford-Firestone enterprise.

"So extensive a program will require time in development, but American methods of mass production will be applied and the traditional American hustle will be employed. With these forces turned loose, an American-controlled crude rubber industry, free of any British or foreign restriction, may be ragarded as in sight."

Mr. Firestone, in an interview published in The India Rubber Review, declares that "it is time for America to awaken to her weakness in her source of supply for this important commodity;" and he goes on to say:

"The United States customs reports show that in the past nine years we have spent more than a billion dollars with foreign producers, for our crude rubber imports. Investigation shows that we have, in the Phillipine Islands, over a million acres equal to any land in the Far East for the production of rubber. All that is necessary is a modification of the laws of the Islands to make it possible and safe for American capital to make large investments there and develop the Island industrially until it will become one of the most valuable in the Orient, for there is no product that brings such great financial returns as rubber."—Literary Digest.

HOW CURLING WAS STARTED

An American exchange says:

Curling as first seems to have been a sort of "quoiting on the ice." A stone, rounded by the action of some river, and weighing a few pounds, was used. This stone had a nich for the thumb on one side, and one for the fingers on the other. With a curved sweep from behind the player "quoited" his large pebble, and the slipperiness of the ice carried it to the tee or mark at which it was aimed, the thrower making due allowance for the nature of the surface of the ice in delivering his shot. This initial game was played during the Kutin Stone or Piltycock period of curling.

Following this period came the giant, or boulder age. During this time the curler utilized a large boulder or block from the river beds. This stone had inserted into it a rough iron handle which aided the player in propelling the huge stone along the ice to the desired goal. During the boulder age the minimum weight of the stone was 60 pounds. It has been established as a historical fact that some stones used actually weighed 200 pounds.

About the middle of the last century the curling stone was found in a more adaptable shape. The formation of clubs for the playing of the game had much to do with the stone's improvement. By the end of the century the stones were all rounded more or less but still retained an uncouth appearance. The variety of chiseling was so great that force rather than science ruled the play.

The two most renowned curling clubs of the 18th century were the Canonmills and the Duddingstones.

In the Scottish capital magistrates used to march in procession headed by a band playing "The Curler's March," to open the winter festivals on Nor' Loch, where the Edinburgh curlers played. This was before the game was driven from the Loch to Canonmills. The Loch became the site of the present North British railway station, having been drained dry for city improvement.

The curler's outfit is not costly. He must have a broom or Kowe to sweep the ice when directed, for sweeping is a most important part of the game.

Curling stones are named after the places where they are procured. Among the well known stones are Crawfordjohn, Burnock Water, Douglas Water, Crieff, Carpshairn, Tinkernhill and Ailsa Craig. The first named three are popular in Scotland. Those quarried from Ailsa Craig are cut into square blocks before being sent to manufacturers to be rounded and polished. They resist the hardest knocks and excessive frosts do not effect them.

In curling ice is, of course, the most important requisite, and it must be in good condition. Quality is of infinitely more importance than quantity.

Auto Used To Cure Flu

Henry Challard of Aurora, Ill., has been cured of an attack of influenza through the use of his automobile, according to a report in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Challard, who celebrated his 100th birthday recently, said regarding his cure: "They told me it was my last sickness, so I had them get out the automobile and I began a round of visits. In no time I was all right."

BUYER PROTECTED BY ADVERTISING
Manufacturer Must Maintain Quality of Goods Bearing His Name
HIS REPUTATION AT STAKE
Man Who Buys Standard Brands From Local Merchants Knows That He Is Getting Full Value For His Money

(Copyright)

Time was when advertising did not occupy the place in the world of trade that it does today. It has not been so very many years ago that the people were suspicious of advertising. They were inclined to believe that the merchant was trying to "fool" them with his advertising, that he exaggerated the value of the merchandise he advertised and took that method of trying to get them to buy goods that he could not sell by the old established methods of merchandising.

Those days are gone. The public now realize that it is the greatest beneficiary of advertising.

Advertising has done more in a decade to establish certain standards in merchandising than could have been accomplished in a hundred years by any other agency. The manufacturer who a few years ago made and sold clothes now makes and sells the Blank brand of clothes. The man who formerly just made hats now makes Blank's hats. And so it is with everything that one buys today. The manufacturer, by his advertising, has built up his business around a trade name and if he is to continue in business he must protect that trade name by maintaining such a high standard of quality that people when they buy his products will know just what they are getting. The consumer, when he goes into a store today, does not buy merchandise blindly, with the HOPE that it will prove to be worth the money. He buys standard goods that bear the trade mark of the manufacturer and that are backed by the reputation not only of the merchant who sells them but the manufacturer who makes them. This has been brought about by advertising.

No Reputation To Protect

All this applies to the retail merchants as a class but it does not apply to the mail order business. The man or woman who buys goods from a catalogue house is not protected by the manufacturer of the goods, for the reason that most manufacturers who sells goods to the mail order houses do not place their names upon the goods and therefore have no reputation to protect.

The great majority of articles listed and illustrated in the mail order catalogues are included in what is known among manufacturers as "stencil" stuff. These articles bear the name of the mail order house which sells them instead of that of the manufacturer who makes them. It can readily be understood that any manufacturing concern which turns out goods that do not bear its name or trade mark is likely to be a very unreliable institution. It is not building up any reputation on the quality of its goods for its products have nothing to distinguish them from the products of any other concern. With no reputation to sustain and no chance of creating a general demand for its goods the only concern of a manufacturing institution of this kind is to make stuff as cheaply as possible in order to obtain the largest possible profit on its products.

Same Price World Over

These facts are chiefly responsible for the general prevailing idea that the home merchants do not sell goods as cheaply as the mail order house. They do sell the same quality of goods that the mail order house sells as cheaply as the mail order house sells it but they cannot sell the standard, guaranteed product of responsible manufacturers at the same price at which the mail order house sells its nameless, unbranded merchandise. Standard goods bearing a registered trade mark sell for the same price the world over and the manufacturer's guarantee stands back of them when they are sold in the smallest village in the country just the same as when they are sold to the stores in the larger cities.

This is what the national advertising of the manufacturers has done for the consumers of the country. It has enabled them to go into their home stores and buy merchandise which they know from past experience or from the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer will give them satisfaction. They are not buying blindly and hopefully when they buy from the merchants in their home towns. They are buying with the knowledge that they are getting their money's worth. When they buy advertised brands they are getting double protection, that which is afforded by the responsibility of the retail merchants and that which is given by the reputation and guarantee of the manufacturer. When they buy unknown brands of goods that are offered by the mail order houses they are getting neither kind of protection.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY GAMES

League Standing

Following is the revised standing of the teams to date:

Team—	W	L	D	Pts
Bluebirds	4	3	1	9
Coal Co.	3	2	2	8
Ingrams	4	4	0	8
Northerns	2	3	1	5

The Fernie City Hockey League is drawing towards the end of its schedule but up to the present it is still a matter of surmise who will win the Northern Cup. At an excutive meeting last evening two disputed games were ordered replayed, one, the tie game between the Coal Co. and the Northern and the other, the disputed encounter between Ingrams and the Northern, these with the postponed game of last week owing to soft ice, between the Bluebirds and Coal Co., will wind up the league. These game will be staged, ice permitting, as soon as possible.

Bluebirds vs Northern

Monday evening the Bluebirds strengthened their position in the league when they ran up a six to four score against the Northerns in one of the fastest games seen this year. The Bluebirds were short their goaltender, Coste, who is sick, and Perry, who had left town. Blundell substituted in goal for Coste and played a good game against his old club. The Northerns were without Alex Thomson who is also on the sick list.

The Bluebirds started out in whirlwind style and a few minutes from the start Tobin came through alone and opened the score. The Northerns took matters in hand for a short time and gave Blundell a hot time. Smalek and J. Thomson broke away and finished a nice combination run when Smalek scored the Bluebirds second goal.

The second period had just started when Ashton got injured and was forced to leave the ice for the balance of the game. As the Northerns were without subs, the Bluebirds sent one of their men off the ice to equalize and five-man hockey was in vogue, speeding up the game to a tremendous pace. Biggs came through with a solo run then slipped the puck to Thomson, who put the Bluebirds three up. Swedeberg came to the fore in the remaining minutes of the period and scored a couple of goals before the bell rang.

Tobin started the third session with an individual rush finishing by beating Colton. From the face-off, M. Commons and Swedeberg came down the ice in a pretty combination and Commons did the necessary. The Bluebirds then pressed Colton heavily and Biggs got a rebound and slammed the puck into the net. Swedeberg came right back and after being hustled behind the goal he came round the corner of the post and forced the rubber into the net. Just before the final bell, Shand got away on his own and going right through the Northern defense, scored the sixth goal for the Bluebirds.

Ingrams 150 vs Coal Co.

Wednesday evening the local hockey fans were given another hockey treat when Ingrams and the Coal Company met for the last time this season. Ingrams giving the Coal Co. their second defeat in the league series, winning by a score of four goals to three.

Wednesday's game was full of fast end to end play. Ingrams assumed the aggressive from the start and the game had hardly started when Dicken came through and centered the puck, Davidson got the rubber on the run and gave Dunlap no chance. A few minutes later the same two players again broke through and following a scrimmage, Dicken passed to Davidson, who shot, the puck hit one of the Coal Co. players and glanced into the net.. The Coal Co. took on a spurt but Hovan and his defense men defied their efforts.

The second period started in ding dong fashion and both goals ran narrow escapes. The ice was somewhat heavy but the speed of the game did not seem to be hampered much. From a scrimmage in front of Hovan the Puck went back to Sofko who fired the puck into the net for the Coal Co's first goal. From the face off, Davidson and Dicken again got away and Dicken scored. The Coal Company tried hard to reduce this leeway but the period bell came without any change in the score.

End to end play continued in the third period, first one goal and then other would be attacked, about five minutes from the start, Sofko came through on an individual rush and beat Hovan from close in. The Coal Co. came right back and Bish Wilson shot the puck high in the air, then followed it in, the puck landed right in the goal mouth and Wilson pushed the rubber into the net, tying the score. With but a few minutes to go, Ingrams came all out and Dunlap was kept busy, Davidson sent in a hot one, which Dunlap only partially cleared, Dicken got the rebound and scooped the puck into the net just a few minutes before time was called.

J. Cairns referred both these games in a very able manner and lost no time in banishing offenders, some of them being sent to the cooler on a couple of occasions.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR THE BABY

We Chiropractors take a wholesome delight in the health and development of every baby. Many, many times we see the ravages of disease in mature men and women which could have been so happily avoided if a Chiropractor had been consulted during the victim's infancy.

We Chiropractors know that the BASIS for all disease is abnormal pressure on the nerve as it passes between two segments of the spine, and that this abnormal pressure is caused by an accidental displacement of one or more of the spinal bones.

A very slight displacement (subluxation) may be produced during childhood, by any of the bumps, upsets and accidents that is the experience of every child. This may cause no noticeable trouble until in later years, when, as a result of the pressure upon the nerve interfering with normal flow of energy, an abnormal, or diseased condition will arise, and a more or less exaggerated chronic ailment may develop.

Such conditions in adult life may require a great number of adjustments, but if this vertebrae had been adjusted in childhood or babyhood, it would have required only a few adjustments to restore it to its normal position.

How old should a baby be before it can be adjusted? you ask. It is a very common thing to adjust very young infants; as a matter of fact, they are never too young to be adjusted. Another question is Do the adjustments hurt the baby? No. The baby's vertebrae move very easily, and after he finds he will not be hurt, he will make no fuss whatsoever.

The Chiropractor is Baby's best friend and well-wisher because he knows how to circumvent troubles that are due to spinal adnormalities which have a tendency to develop chronic afflictions later on in life.

Your Chiropractor is deeply concerned in the GOOD HEALTH of all and stands ready to adjust the cause of all departures from normal, and the only tools used will be the Chiropractor's hands.

Brain
Eyes
Ears
Nose
Throat
Arms
Heart
Lungs
Liver
Stomach
Pancreas
Spleen
Kidneys
Small Bowels
Large Bowels
Genital Organs

1923 TAX RATE IS 40 MILLS

The City Council held their regular session in the Council Chambers on Thursday evening, Alderman Aiello the only absentee.

Mr. Fred Kniert made application to the Council for a tax sale lot at the North End of Victoria Avenue, but the offer he submitted was not acceptable to the Council.

The Council approved the sale of the City debentures for the Annex Sewer and School addition to the Royal Financial Corporation at the rate of 95.25. It was pointed out by the Mayor that this is the highest figure yet received for any City debentures.

The usual sheaf of accounts were passed for payment.

The rates by-law for 1923 providing for assessment at the rate of 40 mills on the dollar went through its three readings and was finally passed.

The mill rate is divided as follows:

City Debt	6.75 Mills
School Debt	3.35 "
School Expense	22.45 "
City General Expense	7.45 "

A by-law providing for the sale of the tax lot behind the Canadian Bank of Commerce to Mr. Joseph Longden was approved.

The Mayor's salary by-law came up for discussion and was then finally passed.

There was some discussion as to the adivsability of laying the Annex Sewer in the alleyways instead of on the streets and this plan was approved.

The City Clerk was instructed to call for quotations on the pipe necessary for the laying of the Annex Sewers, also for tenders for the laying of this pipe and tenders on laying the new water pipe line.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, FERNIE, B.C.

The Consulate is in receipt of a communication from the Department of State at Washington, directing attention to an Act of Congress approved by the President, March 4, 1923. This Act amends the income tax laws of the United States: (1) by giving to an alien resident in a contiguous country a credit of $400 for each dependent against his net income, as in the case of United States citizens; and (2) by providing that the income of such alien attributable to compensation for labor or personal services performed in the United States, not exceeding $4000, shall be subject to a normal tax of 4 per cent.

In effect, the bill establishes reciprocity between the United States and Canada in the matter of income taxes.

MADAME SPEAKER COULD NOT DEBATE

When the Hon. Mrs. Ralph Smith, of Vancouver, declined the distinction of becoming Speaker of the British Columbian Legislature the jokesmiths hailed the situation with much satisfaction, and in many ways the fact that a woman had refused to become "Speaker" was turned to funny account. But Mrs. Smith really sidestepped the position because it would not allow her to talk as much as she would like. Here is the way she explained it herself when she visited Toronto:

"I realized," she said, "that it was a great honor to come to a woman, a great distinction. But I also realized that it would prohibit me from speaking for the women of the province on the floor of the House, and that I would not be able to say anything in a political way between sessions. I feel I did the right thing in refusing it. After that, the position in the Cabinet was offered to me, without portfolio, it is true, but I am there. I am able to talk, able to say things and do things."

It will be remembered that Mrs. Smith headed the poll in British Columbia's chief city. She has many friends in this city.—Toronto World.

THE TUXIS BOYS' COMMUNITY COUNCIL

The Tuxis Boys' Community council held their meeting in the basement of the United Church, Monday last. All members were present except Alderman Terry.

The following Committees were appointed by the Mayor:

Public Works—Ald. Terry and McLean.

Fire, Water and Light—Ald. Shorthouse and Garner.

Sports and Recreation—Ald. Gordon and Corrigan.

Ald. Gordon was appointed Acting Mayor in the absence of Mayor Strachan.

You can expect big things from this council.

Ed. Johnson, of Spokane, representing the London Insurance Corporation, has been in town all week.

Wm. Hunter and Thos. Whitehouse returned yesterday from Calgary where they attended the miners' and operators' conference.

TO CONTINUE PRESENT AGREEMENT ONE YEAR

It was officially stated at the offices of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association on Wednesday afternoon that a settlement had been reached with the miners in connection with a new wage agreement. All the conditions and terms of the existing contract have been accepted by the operators for one year from March 31 next.

On Tuesday the joint conference appointed a sub-committee of three from each side to discuss the proposal and counter-proposal submitted by the parties to the conference. The result of their consideration was a recommendation to the joint conference on Wednesday afternoon that the old agreement be renewed for another year.

R. M. Young, the commissioner of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association stated that this definitely disposes of any danger of a cessation of operations at the conclusion of the present agreement on March 31.

The competitive fields of the United States which settled on the basis of the existing agreement for another year at the suggestion of the federal coal commission, was the basis upon which the miners strongly relied for the continuation of the old contract here.

The settlement arrived at means that there will be no cheaper coal for at least another year notwithstanding the protests raised by the board of trade and the public generally regarding the high price of that commodtiy.

Undoubtedly the settlement already reached in the central competitive fields of the United States was the deciding factor in the operators in District 18 also falling into line. The fact finding commission reported to the United States government that they were not ready to make their report on the cost of coal production and suggested that the present contract be continued for another year in order to avoid the possibility of any disruption in the industry. President Harding concurred with that view and the operators of the central competitive fields agreed.

In various circles the action taken by the operators has come with a certain amount of surprise in view of the fact that the renewal of the contract carries with it the high-peak war wages.

Robert Livett, international board member, after the termination of the conference, expressed satisfaction with the result of the negotiations, which, he said, had been concluded in record time in the history of District 18. The agreement would be submitted to the rank and file of the miners in due course. Mr. Livett said there were some "inequalities" they would like to have had adjusted. However, under the circumstances, he thought there was reason to be satisfied, as it would mean there be no suspension in operations when the present contract terminated on March 31.

Public Entitled to Some Information About Retail Coal Prices, Says Board

The special committee appointed by the Calgary board of trade to enquire ito the price of coal to the public have addressed a communication to the joint meeeting of operators and miners, now in session, who are negotiating a new wage agreement.

The board of trade state that the consuming public is entitled to some explanation as to the existing high price of coal, and their communication is addressed to both the operators and miners.

This letter reads:

"The public does not understand, and wants to know, the reasons for the following:

"1. The present high cost of coal produced in this province.

"2. Why has the high cost of coal continued when the cost of staple foods in Alberta has decreased 35 per cent. since January, 1920?

"3. Why has the high cost of coal continued in Calgary in the face of the decrease in the cost of delivery—i.e., cost of horses, feed, teamsters' wages, etc.?

"4. Why is the cost of domestic coal in Calgary $2.75 to $3.50 per ton more than in Edmonton? February Labor Gazette figures show Calgary prices $8.25 to $9.50. Edmonton $5.50 to $6.50 per ton.

"5. Why employees in coal mines in Alberta are more highly paid than employees in coal mines in Nova Scotia and Vancouver Island, when the cost of staple foods is less, as appears to be the case from the following figures taken from the Dominion Bureua of Statistics Year Book, issued October, 1922?

	Alberta		Nova Scotia		Vancouver Island
	Per Day	Hours	Per Day	Hours	Per Day	Hours
Contract miners	$9.57	8	$7.22	8	$8.10	8
Machine miners	8.02	8			5.77	8
Hand miners	7.05	8	5.05	8	5.42	8
Drivers	7.21	8	4.15	8	5.07	8
Laborers, surface	6.58	8	3.80	8½	4.50	9
Machinists	8.14	8	5.15	8½	6.66	8
Carpenters	8.14	8	4.60	8½	5.94	8
Blacksmiths	8.14	8	4.85	8½	6.41	8

The average cost of staple foods in Alberta, $10.26; Nova Scotia, $10.65; British Columbia, $11.39 per week.

Highest cost was in January, 1920, ($15.88) and there has been a reduction of $5.62 or 35 per cent. since that date, based on January, 1923, prices.—Calgary Herald.

PICK'S APPEAL HEARING APR. 3

OTTAWA, March 9.—The apeal in the case of Mrs. Florence Lassandro and Picariello, convicted slayers of Consable S. O. Lawson, was again up in the supreme court this morning, when the hearing was fixed for April 3, which will mean a further postponement of the execution of the condemned. Aime Geoffrion, counsel for the prisoners, read telegrams from his principals in Calgary, claiming that two weeks would be required to make preparations, and suggesting that the case head the list on the May sittings. They stated that Justice Walsh, who had granted the reprieve, was willing to extend it to cover the period of appeal.

J. F. Smellie, for the attorney-general of Alberta, agreed to a reasonable delay, suggesting three weeks.

Justice Iddington was still opposed to any delay, saying that, after reading the appeal judgments, he could find no excuse for it. Although thirty different points had been taken to the appellate court, he said the basis of their appeal would be confined to the dissenting judgment of Justice Beck, which, in turn, would be confined to the regularity of the charge to the jury.

Mr. Smellie stated that, while they were prepared to go on, they would just as soon have the case stand until the May term.

When Mr. Geoffrion stated that a reprieve was inevitable, Judge Iddington said he did not think so.

"The attorney-general should not attempt to establish a precendent by putting it up to the court," he said.

"The case will go over for three weeks, but the responsibility for any new references will rest with the attorney-general, not here. I do not know how it operates now, but I know there used to be a game in getting reprieves."

Reprieve Extended to May 4

OTTAWA, March 15.—It is understod here that the reprieve of Picariello and Mrs. Lasandro has been extended to May 4. This action was necessary on account of the fixing of a date in April for the hearing of the appeal before the Supreme Court of Canada.

EDMONTON COAL MINE STRIKE COLLAPSES

EDMONTON, Mar. 15—The Edmonton coal strike seems to have died a natural death after the two court cases in which 137 mene were tried for unlawful assembly. Desultory picketing is still kept up at several of the city mines, but according to the police this is merely done so these strikers can draw their strike pay. The mines are all working at full strength and production is as great as in the prestrike days.

About two weeks ago the employees of practically every mine in the Edmonton area formed a union which is affiliated with the Canadian Federation of Labor, but it is not connected in any way with the United Mine Workers of America.

STINNES HAS STORY OF PAPER MONEY

Although Herr Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial magnate, is one of the silent type of men, he is not wtihout a sense of humor.

Discussing the financial situation recently, he told with a grim chuckle the story of a conductor in a Berlin tram-car, who, while collecting fares, accidently dropped a 20-mark note.

The man took no notice, but continued to snip tickets. Whereupon a passenger called his attention to the note lying crumpled up on the floor of the car.

"Yes, I know," said the conductor, "but the last time I picked one up I burst off a trouser button and never found it again."

Buttons in Berlin, it should be explained, cost somewhere about 50 marks apiece to buy.

ANOTHER TRY WITH BOWSER

The question: Should ex-Premier Bowser have a "second chance"? has not been inspired by the recent formation of a third or new "Provincial Party" in British Columbia. The writer had in view to raise it, or have it raised, before that hybrid candidate for Government Control was born. Without venturing an opinion at this stage as to the personnel or platform of that party, it is a reasonable assumption that a considerable "third party" might be formed at any time from the malcontents and the dissatisfied of any two dominant political parties.

To be blamed and condemned by opponents in politics is the common lot. But for a Leader to be the butt of sustained criticism from a following within his own party, may be due to either the strength or weakness of his personality. We suppose it is possible for a man to be too straight and strong to make a good politician, and yet to have capacity that would make him a valuable public servant and statesman.

Whatever be the causes behind the criticism of Mr. Bowser, the writer has no intention of delving into the details of his political history. He simply wishes to ask the question with which this article opens, in the light of present conditions and probable changes in the not distant months. Independently, he is ready to accept without argument that Mr. Bowser may not only have made political mistakes in the past, but that some of them may have been of the kind unforgiveable—by other politicians.

But who among politicians and other folk does not make mistakes? After all, the greater fault in life is not to make mistakes, but to fail to learn from them. Critics may call the writer a born optimist when he records it as his independent impression that Mr. Bowser is a man who will seek to benefit by his errors of the past. With that believed or accepted, the question naturally follows: Should Mr. Bowser not be given a "second chance" to utilize his experience in the service of the State?

Though hard hit, and that not only by opponents but in the house of his political friends, British Columbia's ex-Premier also impresses the onlooker as "a bonnie fighter." And so long as a man fights clean, Pugnacious Billy, Britishers generally—which term, of course, includes Canadians—not only believe in a fair field, but usually have a wholesome respect for one who never knows when he is beaten. On the other hand, let us remember that it is always easy for a certain type to hit at a man when others are at the job.

Another reason that influences the writer in asking the question in this article, may be termed by some simply a sentimental one based on natural human sympathy. But to an independent citizen who wishes to see men of character and capacity put before parties—and selected to make up parties, too—and at the same time is impressed by the fleeting nature of this life's opportunities for service, the suggestion that with all his mental vim and vigor, Mr. Bowser has special need to husband his physical strength, justifies the emphasizing of the question: Should he not be given his second chance while his strength remains, and he continues in his intellectual prime? Is it not reasonable and likely that Mr. Bowser, if returned to power again, would not only seek to benefit by the mistakes (his own and others) of the government with which he was formerly associated, but also by the mistakes and achievements of the estimable gentlemen at present in office?

But, lest a sentimental interest in personality, rather than practical interest in the country and its satisfactory oversight, be held to govern the question as raised by the writer, he would, in conclusion, note that he holds there is one consideration which should outweigh these reasons, and all others, and it is this: Is there a better-qualified man fit or ready for government leadership? Doubtless there are numerous men eager for political office and honours, but assuming (as most prophets do) that a change of government is due at next provincial election, is there any man as well qualified?

If, apart from political differences, strong and clean personal character, together with knowledge and experience of a country, are outstanding qualifications for the Head of a government, the writer believes that, notwithstanding all the criticism aimed at Mr. Bowser—some of which has no doubt been earned and deserved—the ex-Premier should not be so easily superseded. And if the rank and file of independent voters, who in the main usually settle the "Outs" and the "Ins," consider the situation fairly, we shall not be surprised to find that Mr. W. J. Bowser is given a second chance to make history in this big west coast province wtih the "Perennial Port"—which we have held for years—may bye and bye be recognized as the Front Doorway of the Dominion, and ultimately become a rival Centre of the British Empire.—B. THE JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross has been organizing in this district only since December last, but its members already number some three thousand, and the total is steadily increasing as new Branches are forming each week.

In the schools of the Dominion, there are about 70,000 members of the Junior Red Cross, the principal aims of which are the promotion of health, humanitarian ideals and of good citizenship.

In most of our schools, regular lessons in hygiene are given, and the Junior Red Cross supplements these by helping to form a "health conscience" in the child, so that he will put into practice the rules that he has learnt, and so that these rules will become habit with him. When all school children practice naturally correct posture and bodily carriage, when they leave school with a practical knowledge of what constitutes a wholesome diet, how to avoid communicable diseases, the danger to others of spitting and other anti-social habits, and with a sufficiently intelligent acquaintance with the nature of the human mechanism to allow of their taking proper care of their bodies, then we shall have made considerable progress toward the elimination of many diseases which today are only too common.

The manner in which the Society develops humanitarian ideals is equally practical. All fees paid by the members, together with all other monies collected or paid by them, without any deductions for administration or other expenses, are devoted to providing help for physically defective children whose parents can not afford to pay for the necessary corrective treatment.

In the Junior Red Cross Hospital at Calgary, there are 40 beds which are occupied continuously. It was opened in April 1922, and by the first of October has treated 153 cases. This institution is maintained entirely by the Juniors of Alberta, and similar work is being done in other provinces.

Training in good citizenship follows as a natural result of Junior Red Cross membership. The officers of the Branches are elected by the children themselves from among their own number, so that the youngsters learn what qualities are necessary in a leader, how to conduct their meetings efficiently, how to speak in public, and how to further the cause for which they are working.

The Junior Red Cross is an international organization, with Divisions in every civilized country, and by means of correspondence with foreign units, as well as through the columns of their national magazines, the members gain an unusual understanding of, and sympathy for, the ideals of children in other lands than their own. It is not too much to say that the Junior Red Cross will eventually prove to be one of the strongest factors for bringing about a permanent world peace, because of the way in which it fosters sympathy and toleration between the rising generations of all countries.

The Easter Breakfast

Premium Ham or Bacon

THAT breakfast on Easter Morning should consist of Bacon and Eggs has become almost as honored a national institution as Turkey for Thanksgiving.

But on this Easter Morning, bright with the promise of Springtime—vigor—and joy—the Bacon certainly should be "Premium"—the world's standard—as befitting the occasion. Substitute ordinary Bacon or Ham for Swift's "Premium" and you dull the joy of the meal.

For Swift's "Premium" Bacon is of characteristic and distinctive quality. Firstly, by its choice selection—for "Premium" Brand must have just the right proportion of fat and lean. Then next it possesses an unmatched succulence and savoriness due to the exclusive Swift process of curing and smoking.

Be careful to get Swift's "Premium" when you buy Bacon or Ham—make sure of it this coming Easter Morning. Order from your Butcher or Grocer.

WHERE B. C. PRODUCTS LEAD

Few people realize the number of things which are being made in British Columbia at this time. Several Products lead all Canada in the matter of quality. The milk canned in our province is admittedly the best produced in the Dominion, yet many citizens have never tried it. Canned fruits and vegetables, jams, etc., all take the lead, yet thousands of dollars' worth of canned goods are imported annually.

If every citizen would study the matter for himself the unemployment problems would never exist in British Columbia.

The three final games of the Fernie City Hockey League were played at the local arena and the fans have been treated to one of the most exciting finishes to any hockey series ever played in this city.

The Northern Cups, presented by Mrs. C. W. Barrett, of the Northern Hotel, go to the Coal Company who finished with a one-point lead over the Bluebirds and Northerns. The tie for second place necessitates another game between the Bluebirds and Northerns for the watch fobs put up by W. A. Ingram for the runners up.

Before these games were played, no team in the league was without a chance of winning the cups. Monday's game, however, when the Coal Co. defeated the Bluebirds by a score of two goals to one practically cinched matters for the Coal Company. Tuesday's game, when the Northerns defeated Ingrams by four goals to nil, sounded the death knell to the 150's hopes and assured the Coal Company of the cups. The Northerns, who were resting at the bottom of the league when the final series started, continued their winning streak las evening and defeated the league leaders by a score of five goals to one, and tied the Bluebirds for second place. The game between the Bluebirds and the Northerns will be played next week, slated as Monday, to decide who are the runners up to the Coal Co.

Bluebirds vs Coal Co.

The first game was played between the Coal Company and the Bluebirds Monday evening and after a hard, gruelling struggle the Coal Company nosed out victors by a score of two goals to one.

Fast end to end play was the order of the entire first period, the defenses of both sides being exerted to their utmost to stem the attacks of the opposing forwards. First one goal and then the other would be in jeopardy but the period bell came without any score being registered.

In the second period, the Bluebirds had the edge on the run of play and kept up a steady pressure on Dunlap through the period, Tobin got the puck in the corner of the rink, behind the Company goal, and shot it through a maze of legs and hockey sticks out into centre ice where Ray Commons captured the rubber and scored the only goal of the period.

With a one-goal lead at the end of the second, the Bluebirds adopted a defensive game in the opening stages of the third period and the Coal Co. made repeated attacks on Coste, finally McTeer got the puck and came up the ice and rounding the Bluebird defense tied the score. The Coal Co. kept up the pressure and following a scrimmage, Sofko got the puck, Coste had fallen on the ice and just as Sofko shot into what appeared an open net, Coste raised his head and the puck hit him in the face, causing a nasty cut at the side of his nose. After about ten minutes' delay, Coste returned to the ice, his face patched up with sticking plaster. The Coal Co. kept up the attack and Sofko settled the issue when just before the final bell, he came through on his own and scored the winning goal.

Northern vs Ingrams

Tuesday evening, the Northerns and Ingram's 150 met in a critical game, as the losing team would be forced out of the running for the fobs, or second prize. After a hard fought battle, the Northerns scored a shut out, defeating the 150's by a score of four goals to nil.

Ingrams had slightly the edge on the Northerns in the first period, attacking for the better part of the period, but Blundell and his defense men defied their efforts. Towards the end of the period M. Commons broke away and tried a long shot at the 150 goal the puck hit Hovan on the chest and glanced off into the net.

In the second period the Northerns opened up and kept things humming around Hovan in the first five minutes of play but the 150 defense managed to stay off all attacks. Blundell then was called upon to show what he could do, several rebounds could easily have been turned to good account but there was nobody there to do the necessary. The Northerns again took up the pressure and Reardon got away on his own and put them two up. The end of the period came without any further scoring.

Ingrams came all out in the third period and with the two defense men at centre ice, the puck was kept well into the Northern territory, but their six man defense were able to hold off the 150's attacks with about five minutes to play, Ingrams defense joined in the attacks on the Northern goal, then M. Commons broke through and with nobody to beat but Hovan he had no difficulty in locating the net. A couple of minutes later he repeated this and gave the Northerns their fourth goal.

Northerns vs Coal Company

The final game of the league was played Thursday evening between the Northern and Coal Co., the former emerging victors by a score of five goals to one.

The game opened up at a furious pace, and in consequence, end to end play was the order of the evening. Four minutes from the start, M. Commons, following in a shot from Ashton got the rebound close in on Dunlap and forced the puck into the net. A few minutes later M. Commons broke away and tried a long shot, and the puck hit the twines for his second goal. Just before the call of time, McTeer made a fast end to end rush and shot, the puck slid along the ice, hit Blundell's skate and glanced off into the goal.

Rough tactics started to creep into the game in the second period and referee Cairns was kept busy banishing offenders. After about five minutes of play, C. Commons worried his way through the Coal Co. defense and scored. Bish Wilson looked like getting through a few minutes later but Swedeberg and Reardon sandwiched him and both offenders were banished. From the face off M. Commons got the puck and went through all the way and scored for the Northern who at that time had only four men on the ice.

The third period was a battle royal and it was only rarely that the penalty box was not tenanted by an offender. The Coal Co. missed some golden opportunities and when they did appear to have a certain goal, Blundell became invincible, he seemed to be here, there and everywhere across the goalmouth. Towards the end of the period C. Commons got a rebound off Dunlap and put in the fifth goal for the Northern.

FERNIE BESTS CRANBROOK

Last Friday evening, Cranbrook, winners of the Selkirk league, visited Fernie for a return game with the Fernie Seniors and went down to a 6 to 2 defeat. The local team never showed up to better advantage and were rarely called upon to exert themselves to hold the visitors, and looked like a winning team right from the start.

In the first period the Cranbrook van only crossed centre ice into Fernie territory about half a dozen times. Right from the face off the Fernie forwards went down and tested Hogarth and maintained a heavy pressure on the Cranbrook goal. Three minutes from the start Bish Wilson got hold of a rebound and slammed the puck into the net for the opening goal. Cranbrook showed a burst of speed and taking the Fernie defense by surprise got right in on Blundell, Bridges got a rebound and levelled the score. Two minutes later Fernie again assumed the lead when Dicken got the puck at the boards slightly behind the goal and fired in one of his famous "English" shots which landed right in the goalmouth and Kirkpatrick made sure of the count by poking the puck right into the net. Fernie kept up the pressure and except for a break away now and then by the Huffman brothers, the Fernie defense had little to do. During one of these raids McTeer got the puck and came up the ice, gave the puck to Thomson who was hustled into the corner but centred the puck, and McTeer trapped the rubber and put Fernie two up.

The second period was a little harder fought and both goal tenders were given chances to show what they could do. After four minutes of end to end play Bish Wilson made a pretty end to end rush and as Hogarth fished the rubber from the back of the net, he wondered how it got there. This was the only score in the second period.

Cranbrook made determined raids on Blundell in the early minutes of the third period and following in a shot from Buster, Doc Huffman got a rebound and scored Cranbrook's second goal. Fernie again took matters in hand and kept Hogarth busy for the rest of the period, McTeer getting two more goals from assists from Dicken and Kirkpatrick before the final bell rang down the curtain on the heaviest defeat the Cranbrook team has suffered from any team this season.

This gives Fernie an eight to five victory in the home and home series between the two teams.

SWIMMING TANK

THE COMMITTEE in charge of Swimming Tank Funds have been stirring in the matter. They hope to find ways and means to construct a swimming tank in Fernie this year. The chairman received the other day from Mr. Haddow, city engineer, of Edmonton, plans and pictures of an outdoor tank that city built last year. This tank seems to be of ideal size and construction to suit the requirements of Fernie. It is 35 feet by 105 feet, and has a depth of from 2½ feet at the shallow end to 9 feet at the deepest end. It is operated on the circulatory system. By means of small electric pump the water is taken out of one end of the tank and passed in succession through a filter, heater and chlorine disinfecting apparatus, and returned to the tank at the other end. In this way all the water is filtered and disinfected once a day. This system has proved the best of any and is recommended by all experts on swimming tanks. It is the most economical of fuel. The warm water from the tank needs very little extra heat added to keep its temperature up to that required. It is also sanitary at all times which is more than can be said of the fill and draw method of operation The latter being very expensive in fuel.

In addition to the house for the filter and heating apparatus, there is an office, and two buildings with dressing rooms, one for men and the other for women. The pool and buildings being enclosed by a high board fence. Such a pool would be a pleasant and useful addition to our city. The children might by regulation get several swims a week from it free of charge, and the grown-ups would be charged a fee to help maintain the cost.

The swimming Tank Committee are approaching different organizations in the city in an attempt to raise the required funds.

At the Rotary Dinner this week Engineers Wilson and Cummings stated that this tank would cost in the neighborhood of $15,000. These engineers have been studying equipment for some time with the view of choosing the best kind for their city, when one was built. They have accumulated considerable data on it and should be able to speak with authority.

This tank would have a supervisor always present during swimming hours. It would be strictly regulated and controlled so that any danger would be eliminated, and rowdyness banished. It is proposed that the children would have set hours for bathing and adults would also have a special time. It is estimated that the cost of running the pool during the summer months would be in the neighborhood of $3000. This would include cost of fuel, boiler attendant and supervisor.

The Committee hope to raise most of these funds for maintenance, by adult fees, and July 1st sports. They have about $5000 cash now in hand the balance of $10,000 for building will have to be raised by subscription. It is thought that this amount can be got if the whole community will pull together in a grand effort to make it, as it will be an unqestionable blessing and benefit to everyone. Just think what the kids will get out of the tank, more fun and health than can be bought with several times the sum.

The Committee have secured a promise from the Rotary Club to give them their active support. Other Societies should get behind this Public Benefit Committee and make certain an A-ONE TANK for the little and the big kids of our city.

o-o-o

WHILE THE CITY COUNCIL have a lot of absolutely necessary work to do this year in connection with the water system, it is to be sincerely hoped they will see their way clear to continue the work of cement laying for four or five blocks on Victoria Avenue. However, if this is impossible at this time, some effort at a temporary finish on this street should be undertaken, as it's present condition is a disgrace.

o-o-o

THE CITY TAX RATE for 1923 has been fixed at 40 mills, the same as last year. It is the intention of the Council to spend about sixty thousand dollars on the waterworks system this summer, replacing depleted mains and any cut in the tax rate might easily put the city in a position where they might have to borrow.

o-o-o

THE CITY COUNCIL is wise in the decision to call for tenders for the construction of the annex sewers and the laying of a large quantity of pipe for the water mains. Any attempt to do this work by the day would have entailed a tremendous amount of work and responsibility, which the ratepayers of the city do not expect their elected representatives to take.

THE SALE of some Sixty Thousand Dollars of City Debentures at 95.25 this week while not as high a rate as might be expected, considering the splendid condition of the city finances, is still the best price that has ever been paid for a local issue and the Mayor and Council are to be congratulated on putting the deal through.

SOMETHING NEW FOR TONSILITIS

Ontario Woman Adopts New Vaporizing Salve, Vicks

Miss Margaret Hooley of 96 Chesley Ave., London, Ont., says: "I am pleased to say Vicks VapoRub has done me a lot of good as I am subject to cold in winter. I also found it a great relief to my throat when I had tonsilitis. Also my mother finds it good for headaches. I would not be without it."

They used to treat colds externally with tallow, goose greese and camphor. Recently, internal dosing has been the habit and people naturally doubt the value of salve.

For this reason Canada Druggists introduced Vicks VapoRub, the vaporizing salve for all cold troubles, last winter by giving away dozens of jars to responsible families and every jar sold was on 30-day trial.

The above report is just one of a great many received from enthusiastic Canadian families. With such endorsement and a positive money-back guaranty, every household ought to give Vicks a thorough trial as the home remedy for croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, catarrh, neuralgia, cuts, burns, bruises and sores.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

Tho Vicks is new in Canada, it enjoys a remarkable sale. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

The monthly meeting of the Ancient Order of Forresters will be held on Tuesday, the 20th inst. in Ingram's Hall. All members are requested to attend. Business important.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Perry (Kastner & Walde Block) on Wednesday, March 21, from 3.30 to 6.

The contract for the erection of the addition to the public school has not yet been let. We understand there are a large number of tenders in, many from out-of-town parties and the competition seems to be very keen.

Wm. McKay, a director of the Beck Petroleum, was in the city this week and reports everything favorable at the company's well. The drilling is down over eighteen hundred feet and while it has already passed through good oil showings it is not expected that the main oil body will be reached before 2400 feet.

Trinity Temple No. 7 Pythian Sisters will hold a sale of work and home cooking in the Hawthorne Hall on Tuesday March 27, to commence at 3 p.m. An assortment of goods to suit the most fastidious. A grand dance will be held in the evening from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Admission $1.00 a couple, extra lady 50 cents. Whitehouse orchestra, refreshments provided. A good time assured.

THE B-W ROAD IS LAUDED

Scenically and historically the Banff-Windermere Highway, which will be thrown open to the motoring public this year, is about as fine a road as can be found anywhere in the world, Mrs. Julia Henshaw, F.R. G.S., told a recent meeting of the Vancouver Automobile Club at the Hotel Vancouver in the course of a delightful address.

It is a road, she said, of which British Columbia should be proud. Not only does it open up a new country for the motorist to explore, but from the point of view of construction it compares favorably with many of the roads in the Italian and Swiss Alps and in the Spanish Pyrenees.

Following the Bow River, with its fine background of towering peaks, the road strikes south between Banff and Lake Louise to climb the Vermillion pass. Near the summit of this climb one of the most interesting spots in the Rockies is found, these are the ochre beds. They are masses of vari-colored clay used by the ancient Indian tribes to smear their bodies with awe-inspiring pigments prior to going into battle. Many a brave Indian buck in some fierce fight passed on to the happy hunting ground bedaubed with the red, yellows and grays found in this paint box of nature.

Once over the Vermillion pass the road enters a veritable paradise of gigantic peaks and glaciers. Even in the hottest summer weather these masses of ice glisten in the sun, throwing off a kaledoscope of colors which make the finest opal pale into drabness.

Gleaming rivers, ice fed from the upper hills, dash down between clefts in the mountains with all the abandon of a school boy released from his studies. Giant evergreens overhang these streams and accentuate the cold blue of the waters below.

Everywhere there are flowers. "A veritable mantle of bloom" is the way Mrs. Henshaw describes it. The delicate mauve of the fire weed, the deep red of the Indian paint brush, these and many others are there to warm the heart of the botanist.

As the road drops into the Windermere country the famous Radium Hot Springs, which have brought health to man and animals from time immemorial, are to be found. Long before the white man came into the country the fame of these curative waters had spread abroad and the rocks round the steaming spring were worn smooth by the bodies of Indians who slid into this nature-bath to recover the boon of health.

The road makes possible a 500-mile circle of motor travel which for variety of scene is almost without comparison in America. Starting from Banff it is possible to come back to the same town after visiting Windermere, Cranbrook, Fernie, Macleod and Calgary. In this way one can view scenery that is conceeded to be the finest in the known world, a great industrial district in the making, the wheat fields of southern Alberta and an immense grazing country which still retains many of the picturesque features of the old frontier cattle towns.

The road is sure to be a very great attraction to tourists, especially those from south of the line, sated with the orderly lanscape of more civilized areas.—S. G. in The British Columbia Monthly.

FORMER MULE DRIVER BECOMES GOVERNOR

In 1881 William Woodward Brandon drove a mule street car at Tuscaloosa and dreamed a dream! He would be Governor of Alabama. In 1923 that dream came true, and at this moment in the history of Alabama he sits in the chair of the Chief Executive's office in idleness and splendor at Tuscaloosa.

And at the Governor's inauguration Kate, the mule, carrying the sedateness and dignity of some forty-seven years, attracted as much attention as the Governor himself. Led by a negro, in the midst of the inaugural parade, Kate was honored by the waving of flags, with martial music and the cheers of the crowd. She had ridden into town on the special train that carried the Governor's admirers. During the administration of the inaugural oath, Kate nibbled the grass on the Capitol Lawn.

Brandon was thirteen when he dreamed his dream. He was less than fifty-five when that dream came true.

He is the son of a Methodist minister. There was no silver spoon for him. There was nothing but hard work. At thirteen he landed at Tuscaloosa, the home of the University of Alabama. He yearned for an education. He obtained a position as driver of a street car. In those days drivers were what street car conductors are today. It was his duty to drive Kate, who pulled the car, and to collect the fare.

Ten years later he entered the University of Alabama as a student of law.—Toronto World.

Mrs. A. Daniels was Prostrated

Bed Ridden From Neuritis, Toronto Woman Takes Tanlac and Now Restored—Gains 16 Pounds.

Mrs. Ada Daniels, 29 First Ave., Toronto, Ont., reports a gain of sixteen pounds in weight and relates an experience with Tanlac that will be of interest throughout Canada.

"Before I got Tanlac," says her statement, "I had lost fifteen pounds and was down in bed suffering unmercifully. Neuritis had affected my whole system so awfully that I could scarcely move a muscle in my body. I had no appetite, and suffered such agony from heart palpitation and gas on the stomach that I had to prop myself up in bed at times in order to get breath. I was just racked with pain and misery, and my nerves were so shattered that many nights I couldn't sleep a wink.

"Tanlac has rid me of rheumatism two years previous, so I took the treatment again, and have gained sixteen pounds and feel as fine as I ever did in my life. Tanlac has done me so much good I can't resist telling everyone I can about it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

With the price of coffee increasing great care should be taken not to spill the beans.

FATAL IS LURE OF "PINK GODS"

If you believe that diamonds known as "pink gods" have no power over weak women, you are in error. One can go further and assert that they exert their power over all mankind; and they have been responsible for more crime than may be attributed to any other agency.

In "Pink Gods," a new Paramount picture featuring Bebe Daniels, James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson and Raymond Hatton, which will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, the baleful influence of these beautiful gems, is admirably depicted. It is a picturization of Cynthia Stockley's South African romance, "Pink Gods and Blue Demons," and every scene of the picture is vibrant with emotion and thrill. The story deals with two young women who fall under the sway of the little pink gods and one of whom, the character portrayed by Bebe Daniels, falls into serious difficulty when she resorts to theft to indulge her craving for the gems. How the other woman is misled by circumstances and untimately finds happiness, is excellently shown.

JAPAN'S JOAN

Sold into marriage, little White Lotus, the poetess of Japan, has laid the foundations for a feminine revolt, and is now being beaten back into a nunnery.

Such is the sad tale told by the Tokyo press with eager detail. White Lotus had to wed Denyemon Ito, millionaire miner, to recoup her genteel family's fortunes. She defied her gruff crude husband and essayed to "live her own life." In passionate verse she told her woes, appealing not in vain to her sisters. She is behind convent walls, but they will march on to ultimate victory.

THE QUEBEC DOG DERBY

THE racing of dog teams in sleighs is probably not an ancient form of sport, and more probably still, it is a sport that came first into being in our own country. It is pretty sure that prehistoric man had his friendly dogs to help him run down his game and warn him of the approach of enemies and perhaps served some small purpose as a beast of burden. Modern days have seen dogs hauling carts through the streets of European towns and when the white man first came to Canada the Indians of the plains harnessed him as they did their horses to a couple of poles on which were placed articles they wished to convey from one camp to another. In the Arctic the sleigh was the natural form of vehicle and the development of the "Huskie" from the wolf was the natural form of evolution. The dog performed a great work in the opening up of the North to civilization. Travel and trade depended entirely upon him and he did his work well. The natural instinct of the white man towards sport could only result in the development of dog team racing and the interest in the sport has spread until no winter carnival in Canada or the Northern States is complete without at least one dog race.

The Eastern International Dog Derby held in the ancient city of Quebec recently was a curious instance of the fascination this sport has for all kinds and conditions of men. Never since the days of the war were there gathered on the streets of that city such crowds as were there to see the dogs start and finish, and the dramatic incidents of the race were followed by crowds around the bulletin boards of the city as reports came in by telephone from various points along the route of the race. The race was run in three heats, the distance averaging 43 miles on each day which was by no means a hard day's work for the dogs. The total distance run was 131 miles and the running time taken by the winning team was 15.50 hours. The race was won by Jean Lebell and his five dogs, a team belonging to the Brown Corporation of Quebec, and one that earns its livelihood by carrying mails and supplies into the companies northern camps.

That is the bare story of the race, easily enough told, but it is not so easy to tell of the tremendous interest taken in the race by the people of Quebec and the hundreds of visitors who had come from all over Canada and the United States to witness it. The Grande Allée, Quebec's show street, was every day lined with thousands of people to see the dogs start and finish, and if half the promises made are lived up to, another year will see hundreds of dog teams owned and trained by Quebec's citizens, purely for the love of the game.

Jean Lebell, the winner, had undoubtedly the best team for that kind of a race. Only one term could exactly describe them—they were mongrels, and there's much to be said for the mongrel if the breeds that make up his varied parentage are of the right sort. Jean Lebell's dogs were largely Great Danes, but here and there, there seemed to be a touch of the hound or even of the greyhound in them, and that may account for their speed. The one United States entry in the race was a magnificent team of huskies that owned Labrador as their original home. They were beautiful dogs, but they were not in good shape, or perhaps the story of the race might have been different.

On each one of the three racing days the dogs came from the stables fresh and eager for the run. They set out on the course at ten minute intervals, and as each team shot away from the starting point it was given a splendid send-off. The finishes were much more exciting, and that of the last day was particularly so. On the first two days Lebell had finished first, although others of the eight competing teams had started ahead of him. On the final heat he started last, and would have finished first but for an unfortunate accident.

Another Brown Corporation team, driven by Jim Skeene was the first to appear. It had started second, but passed the first early in the race, and Lebell folowed about one minute behind. All through the series Lebell had saved his dogs by taking them out of the harness alternately and giving them a rest in the sleigh. He had made a bet that he would for the third time be the first in the stable. When about four miles from the finish and going strong one of his dogs suffered a cut foot. There was hard going ahead if that bet was to be won, but Lebell never flinched. The dog came out of the harness, his foot was bound up and, wrapped in Lebell's coat, he finished the rest of the journey in the sleigh, and if ever a dog looked ashamed of himself as his comrades pulled to victory, that dog was the one. While Skeene beat Lebell to the finishing post, Lebell managed to get into the stable first, and so won his bet.

Lebell is a French-Canadian with a fine war record. He and his dogs are inseparable chums, and when it comes to endurance, the man is about as good as the dogs. He finished the race running beside his team and doing a good share of the pulling on the sleigh. He is to-day the hero of Quebec and the $1,000 prize and silver cup, which he won, is but a small part of the glory that fell to him.

Another international dog race is practically assured for Quebec next year. The Chateau Frontenac for this occasion housed a brilliant gathering of guests who were interested in the race, and some of these have announced that they will see that the United States is well represented.

REGISTRATION OF POULTRY

"I consider the registration of poultry the greatest development that has taken place in connection with the poultry industry for generations." This was the remark of Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion in an address delivered to the Ottawa Poultry Association. He added "it is adding to the existing standard qualifications the qualification of production."

Registration is distinct from any other policy that has to do with high producing hens. Only those birds laying 200 eggs and over, averaging 24 ounces to the dozen, in fifty-two consecutive weeks in the Canadian Laying Contests are eligible for registration. Further it is necessary that these birds be typical of their breed and free from standard disqualifications.

A few birds have already been registered, and those fulfilling the qualifications in the laying contest conducted by the Experimental Farms during 1921-22, number 398. By breeds these are made up as follows:

Barred Plymouth Rocks	197
S. C. White Leghorns	134
White Wyandottes	30
S. C. Anconas	19
S. C. Rhode Island Reds	9
Buff Orpingtons	5
R. C. Rhode Island Reds	2
Andalusians	2

By laying Contests these eligibles are divided as follows:

Canadian Laying Contest	134
Ontario	76
British Columbia	55
Alberta	44
New Brunswick	25
Manitoba	22
Nova Scotia	20
Saskatchewan	13
Prince Edward Island	8
Quebec	1

Registration fees are, for each bird 50 cents, for each transfer 50 cents, breeder's mark $1.00 and flock name $1.00, providing membership is held in the Canadian National Poultry Record Association. The membership to this association is $2.00 per year. To non-members the fees are doubled. Full information with regard to registration may be obtained through the Accountant, Canadian National Live Stock Records; the Superintendent of Dominion Experimental Farms; the Dominion Poultry Husbandman, Ottawa, and the Secretary of the Canadian National Poultry Association, Ernest Rhades, Box 52, Ottawa.

PARASITE POLITICS

One would think that Major Power had no one to reckon with in his constituency but the politicians and office seekers who manage things to their own liking among ignorant people. There still are regions of the population who look upon politics as a game that those who engage in play for their own advantage, and in which they would regard any player as incompetent who did not get some personal advantage out of it.

It is a pitiful revalation that members of parliament should still be found openly to advocate a return to the patronage system as the ideal of government, an ideal which implies a body-politic infested by parasites, indeed, cultivated by parasites for their own benefit. We think that Canada as a whole has risen above that conception, that she has generous citizens whose desire is to serve her for her sake, not their own, and that at all events, that is the sort she is looking for. Those who had any dealings with governments before the patronage system was done away with know what an evil it was. Of course, such as would play the game of give and take—give a little to the party and take a lot from the people—like it well. So did the politicians who fattened on the system. It was embarrasing to honest members, pestered by demands from their constituents, and it was an unmeasured curse to the country at large. To talk of returning to that system, is to cover Canada with shame. Bad as it was in years gone by, it would be infintely worse today, for the opportunities of graft, or "patronage," in connection with the vast railway system, and the greatly increased postal system, would enable the corruptors either to corrupt or to penalize the people in every district throughout the Dominion.—Montreal Witness.

The coal shortage in the East is expected to end about the same time as the skating season.

HUNGRY DUCKS SAVE BRITAIN

Rome, they say, was saved by the cackling of geese. It may be well that the Livy of the future will assert that Britain in her hour of peril was saved by the quacking of ducks, writes John Elliott in the New York Tribune.

How ducks eating biscuits thrown to them at the pond in the London zoo led to the discovery of U-boat detectors was a bit of "inside" war stuff told by Professor J. T. McGregor Morris at the Scientific Novelties exhibition here recently.

Before the war, it is true, there were submarine detectors—a microphone to which was attached a diaphragm. But unfortunately this device was non-directional—that is, it didn't indicate from which direction the underseas boat was coming.

Horn and even trumpets were used to assist the instrument, but up to June, 1915, the detectors were of little use. Meantime the submarine campaign was increasing in intensity and the United Kingdom was faced with the possibility of being starved to death.

Then, according to the story told by Professor Morris, putting's one's head under water where sounds could easily be heard suggested to Sir William Bragg and Sir Richard Paget the use of the stethoscope, the instrument that is to the doctor what the brief case is to the lawyer.

The two medical men went to the zoo to try out their scheme. While Sir William threw biscuits to the ducks his colleague by means of an instrument on the lines of the stethoscope and with a part in the water tried to hear the ducks eating.

Suddenly Sir Richard threw his instrument down with an impetuous jerk. A duck had attempted to eat the part of it under water and the noise was deafening.

Out of this incident was evolved the hydrophone—a device which looks like an old-fashioned warming pan. This, when turned slowly in the water indicates the direction from which a submarine is coming. It could detect the presence of a submarine five miles distant and the steam turbine of a destroyer 10 miles away.

Winnipeg grain brokers may regard the proposed tax on trading as a No. 1 hard proposition.

LIFE WAS MISERY !

"I was reading the other day about Neurasthenia, about the large number of people who were troubled with this disease. It is just what my wife had. She felt miserable all the time and was constantly depressed. She would waken in the morning and tell me that something dreadful was going to happen that day. Life was nothing short of misery for her. She was so depressed that I expected she would lose her mind and have to go to a sanitarium and I kept wondering how I would get the money to pay for her. She could not eat and had no appetite for food. She was irritable and cranky most of the time. If she was crossed in any way, she would immediately work herself up into a violent temper. This worried me because she had always had a kind and gentle disposition and nothing which was said or done seemed to irritate her. I spoke to our family doctor about her and he said that her trouble was imagination and that if she would try and forget about her depression and look on the bright side of life she would be all right. Of course I didn't dare tell her this because I knew she would get into one of her tempers. When she got over these fits of temper, she was always weak and ill and more depressed than ever. The doctor said a tonic might help her and gave me a prescription but this did not do her any good. She tried all kinds of other tonics with the same result. Carnol was recommended to me and I wish to state that it is the leader of all tonics. Since taking it my wife has changed completely. Now she is always ready for her meals and work is no burden. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Carnol to anyone who is in need of a tonic or a body builder. Excuse me for writing this letter but I want you to accept my thanks for that wonderful tonic known as Carnol." — Mr. J. M., Toronto.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 7-622

MANY STILL LOVE TO BE HUMBUGGED

Seem Not to Mind Having "Something Put Over" on Them the Least Bit.

PINK PAJAMAS FOR SHIRTS

Mail Order Houses Find It Easy To Make Substitutions Because Of The Cost Of Making Exchanges

(Copyright)

It was a famous American showman who declared that the American people love to be humbugged. That saying is many years old now but sometimes it seems that there is about as much truth in it now as there was when it was first uttered.

People as a rule do not like the idea of having "something put over" on them, but from the way in which the great mail order houses in the big cities flourish it seem that a great many people do not mind it a bit.

The business man who, when he gets a call for an article which he has not in stock, attempts to substitute some other article of a similar nature without telling the buyer of the substitution, is "putting something over" on his customer. Few retail merchants nowadays attempt to do a thing of that kind. The great majority of merchants do not do this for two reasons. One reason is that they wouldn't do it if they could and the other is that they couldn't do it if they would. The man who buys an article over the counter and sees what he is buying before he pays for it, is pretty sure to get what he wants.

Ordered Shirts, Got Pajamas

But there is another class of merchants, of which the same thing cannot be said. A man who has been closely connected with some of the big mail order houses is authority for the statement that the heads of the various merchandise departments of many mail order houses have standing orders to substitute with the nearest thing they have if the articles ordered are not in stock and available for delivery. It is related that in one instance as a result of these instructions, a man who ordered a dress shirt from a mail order house received a pair of pink pajamas instead.

It is easy for the mail order house to get away with this substitution of another article for the one that is ordered for the reason that to exchange an article received from a catalogue house is a costly undertaking.

Exchanges Are Costly

If a mail order buyer is disappointed with his purchase, as he is very apt to be when he compares the article upon its arrival with the picture and flowery description which appeared in the catalogue, the wisest plan is to take what he gets and make the best of it, for every time he sends an article back to be exchanged he is piling up the express or freight charges and even if the article is exchanged as requested, the buyer is not apt to fare much better on the second attempt.

The mail order houses are well aware of the fact that the majority of their customers will not go to the trouble and expense of returning an article if it does not come up to their expectations and as a result they can work the substitution game to their hearts' content.

The home merchant, however, cannot do business in this way and, as has been said, the majority of them would not do it if they could. The home merchant, if he has not the article called for, may order another with the explanation that it is of the same quality as the one for which the customer asked. Good merchants nowadays even hesitate to offer something "just as good" to the customer especially when the article called for is one that has become well-known and popular through the advertising done by the manufacturer, but to attempt to make a substitution without the knowledge or consent of the customer! Well, it isn't being done by the local merchants today.

Substitution Made Easy

Substitution is made easy for the mail order house, also, by the fact that they do not sell much of what is known as "advertised" goods—that is, goods that have been thoroughly advertised by the manufacturers and have become nationally known through such advertising. A large part of the merchandise which the mail order houses sell purports to be manufactured by them—although in most cases little of it is made in their own plants. Much of this merchandise bears only the name of the mail order house and it is easy to substitute one article for another without the customer being any the wiser.

The methods of the home merchant naturally are different. With the great development of advertising in recent years much of the merchandise carried by the retail merchant is "advertised" goods. These goods are of familiar brands, the names of which have been made famous by the national advertising of the makers. This advertising is a distinct protection to the buyer, for the latter knows when he goes into his local store and asks for an article of this kind that he will be told if the article is not in stock. There is absolutely no opportunity for the merchant to "put one over" on him, even if the merchant had the inclination to do so.

SWASTIKAS VICTORIOUS

Playing in an exhibition hockey game here Wednesday afternoon the Fernie Swastikas defeated the Coleman Shamrocks by a score of four goals to nil. The Coleman ladies had a previously undefeated record for this season in the siv games they played against Blairmore and Lethbridge ladies' teams but against Fernie's champs, their lack of experience and finish contributed greatly to downfall. The Fernie girls' speed and clever stick handling baffled their opponents throughout the game and the rubber was kept well into Coleman territory during the greater part of the game. The outstanding player on the Shamrocks line up was their diminutive left winger, Miss Muir, her fast skating and hook check preventing the Fernie sharpshooters from increasing their tally time and agin. Misses Schagel and Biggs shared the honors for the stars on the Swastika side.

Coleman were apparently overawed by the reputation of their opponents in the first period and played a cautious defence game throughout the entire fifteen minutes and try as they would the Swastikas could not break through the cordon around the Coleman nets. The puck was kept down into the Coleman territory all the time but when a Fernie forward asayed a shot at goal, there was always someone there to block the flight of the rubber.

Things livened up somewhat in the second period and some nice end to end combination runs were made by both sides, Coleman's attacks, however, were always staved off before they could get within shooting distance and Miss Richardson was not tested while at the other end Miss Malo was working like a trojan. The Swastikas presistency was not to be denied and Miss Schagel set the ball rolling when after she had come right up the ice, a rebound from her shot came out to Miss Biggs who returned the rubber to Miss Schagel, who made no mistake this time. A minute later Miss Biggs came through on the run and put the Swastikas two up. Coleman tok on a spurt and towards the end of the period looked as if they might reduce the leeway, but the Fernie defense were equal to the occasion and gave the Shamrocks no chance to shoot.

The Fernie girls took the upper hand in the opening stages of the third stanza and kept things humming around the Coleman goal, scrimmage after scrimmage folowed in Malo's territory then five minutes after the start, the puck came out of one of these bouts to Miss Biggs, who wasted no time in shooting for goal, Miss Malo got her stick on the puck, but the elusive rubber glanced off into the net. Two minutes later Miss Biggs got away on the right wing and tried a shot from the side, the rubber hit the twines for the Swastikas fourth goal. Coleman tried hard towards the end of the game to get a goal but the final bell came with Miss Richardson's citidal still intact.

Health turns the clock backward

A One Minute Essay on the PRINCIPLES and MERITS OF CHIROPRACTIC

by G. J. PARKS — CHIROPRACTOR

Chiropractic has been rewarded with a greater and more rapid growth than any healing science in previous history. Its success has been built on the following basic principles:

I. That the cause of dis-ease is within the body.

II. That dis-ease, suceptibility, weakness or non-resistance has its basis in derangement of the nerve system.

III. That derangement of the nerve system is due to subluxated vertebrae pressing on nerve.

IV. That these subluxations can easily be corrected by properly directed forces.

V. That NATURE Cures.

These principles are in harmony with Natural Law and should be carefully studied by every person seeking recovery from dis-ease or injury.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR DIABETES

To Whom Concerned:

I want others to know of the wonderful results I obtained through Chiropractic.

Physicians had diagnosed my case as sugar diabetes. I had excessive thirst, parched and dry mouth, itching skin and had lost heavily in weight. My trouble was a great annoyance at night. Medical specialists pronounced me incurable under medicine and prescribed diet, which was of no avail in relieving me.

Hearing of Chiropractic I tried it with distinct benefits almost from the start and now, after several weks' adjusting, am happy to say that all my distressing symptoms are gone. I eat well, sleep through the night undisturbed and gained ten pounds in weight in two months' time. I will answer all enquiries from persons who want to get well.

LADIES WIN, SENIORS LOSE

Wednesday afternoon a special train left Fernie for Coleman with over 170 hockey enthusiasts to boost the Fernie teams in their games against Coleman. By the time the train reached Crow's Nest there were 320 passengers aboard, fans from Natal and Michel numbering 150 strong, taking advantage of the special to journey to Coleman. Their trip was not in vain, for two of the finest hockey games ever dished up in the pass were played at Coleman that evening.

The Crystal Rink at Coleman was crowded to capacity and Red and White favors were prominent when the Fernie Swastikas and the Coleman Shamrocks skated on the ice for the first game.

The first period opened with some real lively exchanges, the Coleman ladies displaying much more dash than they did when they met the Swastikas here and Miss Richardson did not have such an easy time. Ten minutes from the start, following a scrimmage in front of the Coleman goal, Miss Schagel got the puck and shot, Miss Muir, who had rushed in to aid the defence, hit the rubber en route and diverted it into the net. Coleman rallied hard after this reverse but failed to penetrate.

In the second period, the Fernie ladies kept up a bombardment on the Coleman goal for the first few minutes, then Coleman essayed a raid but Miss Schagel got the puck and came down the ice like a bullet and easily rounding the Coleman defense, she fired in a hot one which gave Miss Malo no chance. A couple of minutes later, Miss Henderson duplicated her partner's performance and Fernie were three up.

Coleman endeavored to stage a come-back in the opening stages of the third period, but Fernie's back checking forwards and strong defense were too much for them, then Mrs. Wilson got away on the left wing and going up the boards she fired in a sizzler which Miss Malo is looking for yet. Fernie took things easy after their fourth goal and skated off at the call of time winners by a score of 4-0.

The line up:

Swastikas— Goal, Miss Richardson; Defense, Misses Schagel and Henderson; Forwards,, Misses Biggs, Hamill, Mrs. Wilson and Misses Dragon and Graves.

Shamrocks: Goal ,Miss Malo; Defense, Misses Hadfield, and Johston; Forwards, Misses Brennan, Fraser, Muir, Kefoury, Vilnauve, and Fraser.

Immediately after the ladies' game, the Fernie Seniors and the Coleman Maple Leafs, augmented by a couple of Blairmore's Alberta Champs., took the ice and this game from start to finish kept the fans on edge with excitement and finished in a 2-1 goal victory for Coleman.

Right from the face off, Fernie went down and took the first shot at goal, McTeer, Wilson and Dicken showing fine combination, swinging the puck across the ice like pros, but the Coleman goalie turned the parting shot aside. Fernie kept up the pressure for a few minutes and then the play switched across the ice to the Fernie end and Blundell was called on to stop some hot ones. End to end play followed, then about nine minutes from the start, a rebound came off Blundell and a scrimmage followed, the puck came out to J. Evans who unmarked and shot the puck into the net for the opening counter. Fernie took a spurt after this reverse, and for the better part of the remaining minutes of the period things were kept humming around Coleman goal, but Fernie were rather erratic in their shooting and many golden chances were missed.

In the second period Fernie had a slight edge on the play all the way through, time and again they carried the rubber through the Coleman defense but failed to locate the net. Coleman came away with a nice fast combination rush but Kirkpatrick broke this up and snatching up the disc, took it well into Coleman territory, then some nice combination with Bish Wilson brought the puck into Coleman goal area, and a scrimmage followed, Kirkpatrick got the puck and slipped it to Wilson who easily tied the score. Ding-dong end to end play followed until the end of the period.

Coleman attacked heavily in the opening minutes of the last period, then Swedeberg broke away and went right down the ice but was hustled behind the goal, where he drew the wrath of the Referee and was banished for a couple of minutes. Taking advantage of Fernie being one man short, Coleman kept up the pressure, and five minutes from the start, Wilde, the Blairmore flash, got the puck and broke through the Fernie defense, then feinted to pass, and Blundell sprang to intercept, and Wilde shot the puck into the net for what was to be the winning goal.

Fernie tried desparately to tie up the score and just a few minutes from the final gong, Bish Wilson staged a whirlwind end to end rush his parting shot just scraped past the goal post and rebounded into play from the wall.

The Line up:

Fernie: Goal, Blundell; Defense, Kirkpatrick and Swedeberg, Forwards Dicken, Wilson, McTeer, Tobin, Thomson and M. Commons.

Coleman: Goal, Wilson; Defense, Singer and Johnston; Forwards, Nelson, Evans, Wilde, Wheatley, Bond and Fraser.

Cost of Coal Must be Cut

Few people in Fernie realize the tremendous fight that has been carried on the past few years by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company in its efforts to obtain a share of the Winnipeg and Manitoba coal markets. When you have read the following article from the pen of G. B. Saunders in the Monthly Bulletin of the Canadian Mining Institue of Montreal, you will be able to understand the absolute necessity that the cost of mining coal be cut to the minimum.

The Crow's Nest coal markets to the South have been badly depleted in competition with cheap oil from California and it has become necessary, if our mines are to be operated on a paying basis, to break into the eastern markets.

Crow's Nest coal is practically the only steam coal in the west that will stand shipment and maintain its heat value when carried so far as Winnipeg, but as Eastern United States mining companies are using Manitoba for a dumping ground for their surplus coal, it is easy to see what difficulties stand in the way of obtaining this market.

This interesting article is as follows:—

For the last ten years the west Canadian mines, with production limited only by market conditions, have made strenuous efforts to secure increased business by pushing their sales into wider teritory. The more promising fields for such operations appeared to be Manitoba and western Ontario. Ten years ago the Manitoba market, consuming over a million tons annually, was supplied almost entirely with American coal, both steam and domestic. The first opportunity for placing any considerable tonnage of Canadian coal in this market came in 1918 when the serious shortage and increased demand, due to wartime conditions, caused the U. S. Government to place the distribution of American coal under Federal control. Coal was rationed throughout the United States, and it was only by strenuous efforts, on the part of the Canadian Government, that a partial supply of coal should be obtained for Canada.

At that time the Canadian Fuel Controller was compelled to make a ruling that citizens of Manitoba would only be supplied with American coal on a fifty per cent. basis with Canadian coal. The announcement of this measure aroused violent opposition on the part of Manitoba consumers. The writer well remembers attending a public meeting of several thousand Winnipeg citizens when this announcement was made by C. A. Magrath, Canadian Fuel Controller. It was stated at this meeting, by numerous speakers, that Canadian coals were not suitable to the needs of the people of Manitoba, and that the proposed ruling would entail untold suffering and hardship.

It is a matter of record, that little real difficulty was experienced and thousands of citizens compelled to use western Canadian coals that year, found them ideally suitable, and continued their use long after fuel control ceased. In fact a great many people have used nothing but the Alberta lignites for domestic fuel since 1918.

It is not necessary to quote statistics of importations from western Canada into Manitoba during the intervening years, but it is well within the mark to state that fully seventy-five per cent. of the domestic fuel used in that province, during the present winter, was mined in Canada. So much for popular prejudice, the first great obstacle to be met with by the Canadian mines. This obstacle is no longer a serious factor with the domestic coals, and is being rapidly overcome by the Canadian steam coal as well.

The second great obstacle was the well organized coal-selling interests in Winnipeg closely affiliated with the American coal industry, and including several large wholesale and retail companies directly controlled by American coal companies. The Manitoba market was, and is, an ideal one for the American mines. The coal is mined in the slack season of summer and early fall, shipped in trainloads to lower Lake ports, thence in large steamers to the head of the Lakes, where it is stored on large well-equipped docks. The business has also been looked upon with great favor by the railways as the cars which transport grain to Fort William and Port Arthur returned to Manitoba laden with coal, and as no other freight, equal to the volume of grain, could be found, the cost of transporting the coal was merely the cost of moving the extra weight of the coal.

Such conditions tended to encourage large operations in buying, handling, and transporting of this coal. It was not a business for the small operator, but rather for concerns possessing large capital and able to invest large sums of money for long periods. There was built up, therefore, a limited, well-organized group of wholesale coal companies in Winnipeg, each having its own retail yards in the city with strong connections throughout the country. These companies worked closely together, and were able to control prices, which made the business a highly profitable one. The proof of this statement is illustrated in the private fortunes which have been built up by the dealers who were fortunate enough to participate in this golden era.

When the western Canadian coal became a factor in this market, a different condition began to manifest itself. The small dealers who heretofore had been compelled to buy from the wholesalers and importers, and who were virtually mere agents for such importers, were now able to buy coal directly from western mines, securing their shipments in the winter months as required, and having to carry only comparatively meagre stock at their yards. They were also able to buy at the same price as the large dealers.

One would think that the large importers would have endeavored to secure wholesale selling agencies, for the more desirable coals of the Canadian west, and thus place themselves in a more favorable position. This was done by a few, but the greater number are holding out, hoping for a return of former conditions, and doing all possible to further the sale of American coal in competition with the Canadian. They take advantage of every remaining prejudice in favor of American coals, whenever possible, and wherever the influence of "big business" can be brought to bear no opportunity is overlooked. This opposition is now more active in the steam coal market than the domestic, largely owing to the excessive cost of anthracite as compared with the western lignites. I wish to emphasize the fact that several of these importers are direct subsidiaries of American companies, and they cannot consistently do other than further the sale

After rehearsing at long intervals for some three months, the troup of minstrels working up the concert for the Public Library, are now down to serious business and are rehearsing almost every other night. D. G. Harvie is directing the Revue, with Thomas Biggs in charge of the music. They have rounded out a good cast, including a double male quartette, and a half dozen funny men. Dave says that the show is a good one, and that the boys are able to put it over in great style. It has been a long time since the men of Fernie tried out a minstrel revue, and their present work deserves support, especially as their expenses are being kept down to an absolute minimum, and the proceeds are going to the Fernie Public Library. They have set Wednesday, April 4th for their date.

THE FERNIE GOLF CLUB

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Golf Club was held on Monday evening in the City Hall. There was a large attendance at the meeting and from the enthusiasm which prevailed, it would appear certain that the club is off to a good start and that the season 1923 will be the best in the history of the club.

The following officers were elected for the coming season:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.

Hon. Vice President—A. B. Trites.

President—T. Prentice.

First Vice President—A. C. Liphardt.

Second Vice President—S. Herchmer.

Secretary-Treasurer—A. J. Moffatt.

Executive Committee—E. K. Stewart, A. Watson, J. S. Irvine, H. Brown, Rev. Burns, H. L. Hayne, E. Wood, H. Douglas.

The following committees were also elected:

Greens—J. S. Irvine and H. L. Hayne.

Handicap, Rules and Competitions —S. Herchmer and A. Watson.

Entertainment and House—H. E. Douglas and E. K. Stewart.

Membership—H. Brown and S. Herchmer.

The fees are to be the same as last year are as follows:

Men, $25; Ladies, $15; Girls and Boys, $5 and visitors, 50 cents per day.

It is understood that visitors only apply to non-residents. Persons residing in the city wishing to play must take out yearly membership.

Each player should procure a copy of the rules, local and otherwise, in order that they may be consistently adhered to.

Ladies are requested to refrain from wearing high-heel shoes while on the golf course. High heels are most destructive to the greens and when players wear this class of shoe while playing, much of the pleasure is taken away from the entire club.

It is proposed to buy a full name marker for golf balls and those desiring a die with their names, please notify Mr. Moffatt, Secretary-Treasurer of the club. The marker prints the full name in waterproof ink and if the ball be lost and then found by any other player, it can be returned to the rightful owner.

Mr. Herchmer has donated a cup for competition for men and his desire is that the player winning it the most number of times during the season shall become the owner. It is proposed to hold a golf dance in Victoria Hall as soon as the hall is reconstructed and the hall has already been secured for this purpose.

THE TUXIS BOYS COMMUNITY COUNCIL

A special meeting was called to order by Mayor Strachan last Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the qualifications required for the positions of—

Any boy over 14 years of age is permitted to send in his application.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE—FERNIE, B. C.

COST OF COAL MUST BE CUT

of American coal by every available means.

We will now touch upon a phase of the question indicative of the manner in which such propositions can work to the detriment of our Canadian steam coals. In the summer of 1920, for various reasons not necessary to deal with here, American steam coal was hard to obtain and high in price. Many of the importers were compelled to buy and handle western Canadian steam coal. Through ignorance in some cases, and by design in others, they bought many thousand tons of Canadian steam coal of a satisfactory quality in its legitimate territory, and at a proper price; but this fuel should never have been brought to Manitoba at a high freight rate and sold at an exhorbitant price slightly less than the prevailing price of the highest grade American coals.

Next, these dealers having contracted for large tonnages, put an excessive selling margin upon all steam coals. All quotations on Government, Municipal and other contracts bore equal price from all tenderers. At that time the very best grades of Canadian steam coals, entirely suitable for the Manitoba market, and worthy of competing with the American steam coals on a straight efficiency per pound basis, cost about $11.00 per ton on cars at Winnipeg. The selling price of steam coal delivered to blocks and large steam plants, not on sidings, was set at $14.50 to $14.85. The dealers bought inferior steam coal at much lower price, but usually sold it at the same price as the good coal. The sales margin even on the good coal was much too high, and when the public were called upon to pay these high prices for inferior coal, there were curses long and deep upon the Canadian coal and those connected therewith.

It may be suggested that the Canadian mines should have taken some action. Well, no doubt they should have done something to counteract this influence, but it was their policy at that time to be diplomatic and conciliatory with the Winnipeg dealers in the hope of earning their goodwill and obtaining future business.

Let us see what happened. The following summer there was plenty of American steam coal available at fair prices. Good Pocahontas coal, which is the favorite steam coal for blocks and large buildings, etc., could be delivered on cars at Winnipeg for an average of $11. Coal bought early in the summer cost more, late in the fall, less, but the average price was close to $11. Now the best Canadian steam coal of a quality, comparing favorably with the American, could be delivered on cars at from 50 cents to $1.00 a ton less. At this price there was a good marketing chance for the better Canadian coals, which had made friends, by reason of their sterling quality, during the previous summer. The gross margin set by the dealers sincerely trying to sell these coals was cut down from $2.00 to $2.50 a ton, delivery by team. This gross margin was legitimate at that time, taking into account the expense of cartage, unloading, yard expense and overhead. However, the dealers in American coal started cutting prices; first to $13.00, then to $12.50, $10.50, $9.75 and finally to $9.25 per ton, delivered, for Pocahontas run-of-mine coal, which averaged in cost $11.00 per ton on cars on dealer's siding.

Other dealers, not in sympathy with this move, had to follow suit or be left with surplus stocks to be carried over to the next year. One can imagine the success which, under these conditions, attended the sale of Canadian steam coal. The dealers had no stock of Canadian steam coal and naturally did not buy any new supply from the mines to sell at a loss. They were content to dispose of the American steam coals they had in stock, at a loss, and try to make as much money as they could on the sales of the Canadian domestic coals. There was no price cutting effecting these Canadian domestic coals, notwithstanding the fact that, later in the winter, the Drumhellar mines, desperate for business, cut wholesale prices below cost.

The situation just described seems beyond belief, but nevertheless is true and can be proven on investigation. The importers put forward various plausible excuses for their action as a price cutting war between dealers, Duluth competition, etc., but even granting these contentions, which do not impress me, the effect was as I have described.

The buying public blamed the Canadian operators for taking advantage of the market conditions, during the previous season, to extract the last possible cent of profit. I may say that at that time, the western mines were largely under Government control and the wages paid and the selling price at the mines were subject to the approval of Mr. Armstrong, Government Commissioner.

I do not know whether the "dumping clause" in our customs regulations could or should have been applied, but the conditions I have described practically drove Canadian steam coal off the Winnipeg market during the winter of 1921-1922.

Coming to the present winter of 1922-1923, coal strikes in the United States have rendered supplies short and coal is again high in price. The strike in western Canada has also affected our costs to some extent. Domestic coals, however, now occupy a strong market position with a Winnipeg price for the best Canadian steam coal of $12.50 to $13.00 per ton delivered, as against Pocahontas at $12.75 to $13.50, and have regained a goodly portion of the position that had been lost. We are selling, for the most part, good standard Canadian steam coal which have been found by experience to be suitable for the Winnipeg market. Michel coal being shipped to Winnipeg from British Columbia and sampled by the Milton Hersey Company, without any outside aid or interference, was found on analysis to average 14,000 B.T.U.'s, and 7% in ash. This coal will compete sucessfully with Pocahontas if prices can be equalized.

The problems that are worrying those interested in the sale of Canadian steam coal in Manitoba are in connection with the tactics that may be adopted next year by the importers of American coal.

Since writing the above article the writer has read the report issued in 1921, by the Mines Branch of Alberta. In this report M. L. Hyde, Resident Combustion Engineer for the Province of Alberta, stationed at Winnipeg, states as follows:—

"In Winnipeg are established branches for several large American coal operations. These are owned by American capital, and Alberta can expect no co-operation from them. One company, the largest in Winnipeg, and owned by Americans, stocked heavily coals from the Yellowhead district and sold them as representative bituminous of the highest grade, under the trade name of "Western Star." They showed on analysis, 19.71% ash, and represent a poor sub-bituminous, entirely unsuitable for the Winnipeg steam market. The public, when they complained, were advised this coal was a typical sample, and asked to bear with it until American coals returned.

"Such practices have been used greatly to the detriment of our good name, and they must be stopped at all costs.

"Before going further, competitive coals and their preparation should be understood. The Manitoba market has always proven a good outlet for American coals when the home market was slack. By means of docks, at the head of the Lakes, a haven was offered to mines which would otherwise have been shut down. The large operators, therefore, equipped their own docks at Duluth, Superior, Toledo and such points with the most modern coal handling machinery known; stocked only their finest low ash coals, and sold them in Manitoba through their own organizations."

You will note these remarks by Mr. Hyde are a verification of the statements made by the writer. Please also note that in the last paragraph quoted, Hyde states that the American companies shipped into Manitoba only their finest low ash coals. This condition only existed during the prewar period, because the quality of American coals which have been shipped to Manitoba during the last few years bear considerable criticism.

We will now pass to a third phase of the situation. Mr. Gray, in his comprehensive paper at the Annual Western Meeting, last fall, established a most important point when he made the following statements:—

"It is necessary to state, however, that the argument which follows is based on the assumption that Canada should be supplied with coal from Canadian mines, as far as possible.

"As a concrete example, and to focus this viewpoint, quotations may be made from an official statement of the Government, given out from Ottawa through the Canadian Press, on May 29, 1922, namely:

" 'The Government stated that preference was given to Canadian coal, but that where American coal, including duty, could be delivered at certain Canadian points more cheaply than Canadian coal the railway management took the attitude that they would continue to purchase to the best advantage.'

"This official expression is also a fair statement of the attitude of the coal-purchasing public in Canada. It is an attitude to which no exception can be taken, if the questions associated with maintenance of national independence are ignored; and it is probably a correct attitude if the district within which American coal is used is outside the economical radius of distribution of Canadian-mined coal.

"The principle is, however, a pernicious and disintergating one if applied to any portion of Canada where the use of American coal displaces Canadian coal and causes a restriction of the expansion of Canadian coal production. Unfortunately for the development of coal mining in Canada, the principle has been applied, and large Canadian purchasers —Government roads included—have so used their ability to purchase American coal, as to rightly restrict Canadian coal within the hitherto customary, and assumed limits of its distribution, and there has not been any convincing display of energy to extend the radius of distribution of Canadian coal to the utmost possible.

"The large industrial purchasers, the Government, and the people of Canada, have bought coal where it was cheapest in money value, not realizing that such policy has been excessively dear and nationally subversive, inasmuch as it has injured Canadian miners, has restricted employment in Canada, and has made our country almost ludicrously dependent upon the United States for what is undoubtedly the primary and most essential raw material of civilization, defence and national persistence.

"The conclusion put forward in the following argument will, of course, not be sustained unless it is first admitted that coal brought into Canada is dear at any price if it displaces Canadian labor, and, by rendering our country unnecessarily dependent upon outside sources for coal supply, endangers our political autonomy."

Mr. Gray's point is well taken, and I am sure that Canadians, looking at the matter from a national standpoint will agree with him. The writer might say that it is the practice in the state of North Dakota to buy for all public institutions, only coal mined in that state. While there is a considerable quantity of Canadian coal shipped into North Dakota for private use, the Canadian exporter has absolutely no chance of selling coal to a state or municipal institution.

Now while some people may differ from Mr. Gray and say that coal should be bought for Government and public institutions where it can be purchased cheapest, surely no one will try to justify a public institution buying such coal at a greater cost, quality considered, than Canadian coal.

However, this very thing is being done today by officials of public institutes who, deliberately recommend American coal for institutions or public work, which comes under their control, in spite of the fact that a Canadian fuel is demonstrated or guaranteed to be of better value.

I will give two concrete examples of this injustice which have come under my direct observation this winter. The first was the Manitoba Government contracts which were placed last November. The Manitoba Government has now adopted the policy of buying and using Canadian coal wherever possible. It is a fact that the greater part of their contracts totalling over 35,000 tons this year, were placed for Canadian coal. However, there was one Institution, requiring 1000 tons for heating, where ample capacity of Scotch Marine type boilers were installed. The Superintendent of this Institution was much prejudiced in favor of American coal, and upon this strong recomendation the Government purchasing agent, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, felt compelled to recommend the purchase of Youghighenny lump coal at $13.85 per ton. Mark well the price. The writer upon hearing of this contract protested to the Deputy Minister of Public Works, who very considerately held up the placing of the order and granted us the privilege of running an evaporating test under the direction and control of one of the engineers of the Department. We ran an eight-hour evaporating test with Canadian coal, and the American coal was given a similar test the next day. The same quantity of the Canadian coal in the same period of time evaporated more water, or in other words, produced more heat than the higher priced American coal. The contract was therefore given the Canadian coal at the tendered price of $12.00 per ton delivered. The American coal, you will remember, was costing $13.85 delivered.

The ending of this incident was a happy one both for the Government and the Canadian mine supplying the coal. Not so the next instance, to which I will refer but briefly as an article on this matter has already appeared in the February 16th issue of The Canadian Mining Journal. I refer to the action of the Winnipeg School Board who are a very estimable body of men, and I believe sincere in their motives. However, like most bodies of this kind, the purchasing of supplies is left to employees who are not always to be depended upon in serving the best interests of the community. In this instance, a recommendation for the purchase of American coal was made by the chief engineer and duly passed by the Board, which does not show any disposition to re-open the matter. They state they place implicit confidence in their employee. After producing the facts in our possession we leave the matter to public judgment.

The policy of spending almost one hundred thousand dollars of public money where the greater part goes out of Canada, is as Mr. Gray states "a pernicious one." even if a saving were effected. When, as we can show, this money has been spent unwisely, the policy becomes both pernicious and criminal, in view of the present economic condition of the country. This money should have been paid out in wages to Canadian miners and workmen, to buy material from Canadian factories and workshops, a goodly portion coming directly back to Winnipeg itself. As the matter stands at present the money has been lost to the country.

Mr. Steele, the chief engineer of the Schol Board, stated that the American coal purchased would show a calorific value of 14,500 B.T.U.'s per pound. He placed the calorific value of the leading Canadian coal tendered at 13,500 B.T.U.'s per pound. He could not very well get below the latter figure as there was one Canadian tender guaranteeing 13,500 B.T.U.'s per pound, less than 10% ash, and less than 2% moisture, subject to any reasonably penalty clause the Board might require. This tender was accompanied by a marked cheque for $1000. There was no guarantee accompanying the tenders for Pocahontas coal. In fact some of the tenders did not even claim a calorific value over 14,200 B.T.U.'s let alone give a guarantee. Nevertheless, Mr. Steele placed a calorific value of 14,500 B. T.U.'s for the American coal.

The writer, in company with Mr. Ritchie, author of the aforesaid article in The Mining Journal, has since visited several schools, unofficially, and in every instance found coal of inferior quality. The Pocahontas being delivered has been shipped, for the most part, from the Fort William docks, being taken from coal stock that had been carried over from a previous season. There had been several bad fires in this coal. We picked up pieces, of considerable size, which had been on fire and were practically coked. We found instances where cheap Canadian lignites had been mixed. We found instances where Canadian steam coal, which had been tendered and rejected, was nevertheless delivered, mixed with Pocahontas. The coal was practically of slack sizes in all instances, although mine run had been contracted and paid for. The School Board have had numerous calorific determinations made by the Milton Hersey Company, which vary from 14,000 B.T.U.'s to less than 13,000 B.T.U.'s per pound. I am not sure that a copy of these determinations can be obtained as there is a tendency on the part of the School Board to suppress such information since their purchase of the American coal has been criticized.

In reply to Mr. Ritchie's article, which appeared in the Winnipeg and Calgary papers, Mr. Congdon, Chairman of the School Board, submits a report from J. B. Steele, Chief Operating Engineer. Mr. Congdon states that common sense business judgment, not sentiment, should be applied when expending public monies. The writer knows of a private corporation in Winnipeg purchasing coal to the amount of about ten thousand tons annually, which will give Canadian coals a 10% preference on a cost efficiency basis. Surely the School Board, for the sake of keeping almost $100,000 in Canada, would allow Canadian coals a 5% preference. However, we are prepared to show by efficiency tests on a straight pound for pound basis, that we can beat the class of American coal being shipped to the Winnipeg schools this winter and at a lower price.

Mr. Steele, in reply to our criticism, states in part:—

"In purchasing coal for heat or power purpose, two things must be considered: the adaptability of the coal to the plant that is to burn it, and the heat value or the B.T.U.'s of the coal. In the Winnipeg schools, we have various types of boilers, etc., and coal which proves adaptable in one would prove unsatisfactory in the others. This, of course, was considered in the purchase of our coal.

"We have proved, from past experience, that the Pocahontas mine run is the most adaptable to our boilers, as there is less waste and more efficient heating. This can be verified from past records."

We wish Mr. Steele would publish the test he has referred to, because any of these tests that the writer has seen would be considered a joke by any good combustion engineer. We have offered to run the tests to prove our statements and to disprove Mr. Steele's statement of non-adaptability. Canadian coals are heating the buildings and exchanges of the Manitoba Government Telephone System. These buildings possess the same variety of heating apparatus as the schools, and the Canadian coal is giving a better efficiency than heretofore has been obtained. The telephone officials will substantiate this statement to any interested engineer.

Mr. Steele also stated:—

"Mr. Ritchie, in his letter to The Tribune states that Michel coal was guaranteed to contain 15,500 B.T.U.'s. This statement is incorect. One tenderer only contained a bonus guarantee clause, but on a basis of 13,500 B.T. U.'s. An examination of the tenders shows that the B.T.U.'s submitted on this coal vary from 13,210 to 14,500 Referring to pages 6 and 7 of Bulletin No. 26, issued by the Department of Mines of the Dominion Government, the analysis of Michel coal ranges from 13,080 B.T.U.'s to 13,640 B. T. U.'s. The average B.T.U.'s being 13,220."

The reference to 15,500 B.T.U.'s is to say the least, childish, as it was a typographical error, and the correct guaranteed figure is 13,500, is mentioned later in Mr. Ritchie's article in The Tribune. A similar error was made by The Tribune in Mr. Steele's article. His statement referring only to a bonus guarantee is unfair, as the same clause included a penalty for dropping below a calorific value of 13,500 B.T.U.'s. Surely the tenderer should be entitled to a bonus as well as a penalty. This is the usual practice. His reference to the Government Bulletin neglects the fact that the samples referred to in that Bulletin, were analized in 1908, just 15 years ago.

"The average B.T.U.'s submitted by the firms tendering on Pocahontas mine run was 15,080, and in comparing the value of the two coals the average of the Pocahontas was lowered 15,080 to 14,500, so that the basis of comparison was eminently fair to Michel coal. On this basis, Michel coal would have to be purchased at $12.07 per ton to be equal to Pocahontas at $13.25 per ton. The lowest tender for Michel coal was $12.40 per ton, so that a saving is shown of at least 33 cents per ton by taking 2200 tons of Pocahontas coal at $13.25. not taking into consideration the undoubtedly greater adaptability of this coal to the various school plants."

This above statement requires careful consideration. Note the average calorific value submitted, as compared with the calorific value guaranteed. We are familiar enough with Pocahontas coal supplied the ordinary commercial trade to know that a guarantee of 15.000 B.T.U.'s is absurd, and we also know that no responsible firm would dare guarantee a calorific value of 14,500 B.T.U.'s. Mr. Steele says he was eminently fair in placing the average calorific value at 14,500 B. T.U.'s. We could, and do, guarantee Michel coal to contain 14,000 B.T.U.'s when selling to large steam plants, and have never been accused of overrating our product. However, the chance of being called upon for an analysis on every waggon load, under a stiff guarantee, caused the Canadian tenderer to be a little cautious.

The figures based on Mr. Steele's hypothesis are not worth considering.

Mr. Steele stated that in the winter of 1920-21 some 1000 tons of this coal were burned in the schools. Analysis of this coal showed even lower calorific values than the Dominion Government figure referred to above. This coal was supplied under the conditions referred to earlier in article, by American controlled firms, and it is difficult to say, at present, what was mixed with the American coal. I remember showing one of these analysis to Mr. Wilson, President of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, who is the honorable and worthy President of this Institute. It was with great difficulty that those of us present were able to restore the gentleman's equanimity.

However, what does it matter about results obtained from coal deliveries in 1921, in the face of the guarantee clause. Mr. Ritchie has published a reply to Mr. Steele, and has said therein:—

"Cadomin coal was not mentioned in the engineer's report, and I would again call attention of the Board to the fact that this excellent coking coal was offered at $11.75 for mine run. Surely the bidders were entitled to a portion of the school business, when such a close price was quoted. If the comparatively high volatile content and long flame makes it unsuitable for certain types of boilers there are a number of schools equipped to burn this coal economically.

"The chief operating engineer has sufficient evidence of the inferior quality of the coal delivered under the present contracts to warrant their cancellation, and if the Board are truly desirous of getting full value for the public's money this should be done at once, so that new contracts can be made for the balance of the season."

In closing this paper, I would like to refer to a request made by the Winnipeg importers asking the railways to discontinue the fifty cents a ton handling and loading charge at the Fort William and Port Arthur docks. This request is made because the private docks at Duluth absorb this charge. The freight rate to Winnipeg being the same from the American and Canadian ports, the claim is made that unless the request be granted, the Winnipeg importing business will leave Fort William. This is a good argument and it is highly probable that the railways will grant the request. If granted, would this not be tantamount to a reduction of freight rates from Fort William to Winnipeg of fifty cents per ton, and unless a similar proportionate reduction were made from western mines would it not constitute unfair discrimination?

These are matters which require immediate and urgent attention of everyone interested in seeing that our Canadian coals are given, at least, an equal chance in their legitimate market.

It is a fact that, at the present time, while Ontario and Quebec are suffering a fuel famine and are threatened with an embargo on American importations; Canadian domestic and steam coals are competing against ample supplies of American anthracite and steam coals at Fort William and Duluth. There is even some price cutting, now being indulged in, by importers who are fearful of carrying stocks over into next season. If the balance of the winter is not severe, it is quite probable that these coal stocks will be carried over, and if this proves to be the case, some strong action should be taken against these people through whose representations, or I should say misrepresentations, this coal was brought to the west, while Ontario and Quebec are suffering from lack of fuel.

As far as our own mines are concerned, it has been difficult to keep the steam coal mines busy, while the amount of idle time at domestic mines has been almost a tragedy. In conclusion, the writer desires to say that in preparing this paper, he has considered it desirable to present certain unusual features of the problem of marketing west Canadian coals. These features involve personal factors that cannot be overlooked, western members, especially those interested in coal mining, should familiarize themselves with the conditions I have outlined.

COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

GAINED 65 POUNDS!

"Five years ago when I was first married I had wonderful energy. I could be on the go all day long without feeling the least bit fatigued. I had a great appetite and could eat anything. I weighed 147 pounds. I used to be busy every minute of the day and, when the day was over, I could go to bed and never waken once during the night. Thirteen months ago my first baby was born. After that my energy seemed to leave me. I was tired all the time. I had to force myself to do my household duties. Instead of being a pleasure as formerly, these duties became a real task. I lost all desire for food and nothing would tempt me. I had to make myself eat. I would go to bed at night and toss from side to side for hours at a time. After a while I would doze off only to find that I had been sleeping for ten or fifteen minutes. Naturally when morning came, not having slept, I started the day completely tired out. I was shaky and nervous. The least noise would startle me and make my heart race along. I could see that my husband was worried. I was losing weight every week and had already lost 54 pounds. I tried all kinds of tonics, but they didn't help me. One night, a night I shall never forget because it started me on the way to health and happiness again, my husband brought in a bottle of Carnol. A friend told him that Carnol had saved his wife's life, so he insisted upon my trying it. Six weeks after I began taking Carnol, my weight increased from 93 pounds to 158, an increase of 65 pounds. And, am I well these days? Every morning I fairly jump out of bed ready to tackle anything and every minute of the day is a joy to me now."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 8-622

Canada's Forest Fire Plague

Four thousand forest fires left Canada millions of dollars poorer last year and, says the Canadian Forestry Association, unless every care is exercised by campers, fishermen, settlers and others, 1923 will show a loss equally as great Nine-tenths of all forest fires in Canada occur through human acts which are incidental to land clearing, fishing and hunting. Very few fires are deliberately set.

MANY STARS WITH BARTHELMESS IN "FURY"

"Fury," Richard Barthelmess' new production, has brought about the screen reunion of the star and Dorothy Gish, who fell in love with the part of the leading lady, which was written in the hope that she could be induced to play it.

Mr. Barthelmess is supported by a notable cast, including the star of the legitimate stage, Tyronne Power; Barry Macollum, who was brought from England to play the half-witted lad in "John Ferguson"; Harry Blakemore, who will be remembered as having played the negro porter for three seasons in "The Travelling Salesman" and considered to be one of the topnotch comedians of the speaking stage.

"Fury" is a story of the sea in which for a time brute strength triumphs. To get the proper atmosphere, a four-masted schooner was especially chartered and was at sea for three weeks. The company roughed it in true sailor fashion, sleeping in the fo'castle and in hammocks. The result is a picture which has earned the praise of D. W. Griffith as one of the greatest pictures ever produced and a document of life. "Fury," a First National attraction, will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

OLSEN TRAPS LIVE COUGAR

J. Olsen, a well known trapper from the upper reaches of the Yahk River, came into Elko, B.C., one day last week, bringing with him a live cougar. The animal measured nearly sixe feet from tip to tip and tipped the scale at 175 pounds.

His method of capturing the mountain lions alive is novel if anything. When he sights a cougar, his dogs are sent after the animal, who immediately he scents danger, climbs the first tree he can reach. The cougar then falls easy prey to Olsen, who climbs the tree, taking with him a long wire noose, this he manoeuvers until he succeeds in getting the noose over the animal's head, then pulling it taut. The cougar usually puts up a strong fight but is slowly but surely strangled into submision and then pulled down to the ground where it then is an easy matter for Olsen to hobble him.

The animal is then dragged through the bust to the highway where a cage is kept in readiness and having safely been caged, Olsen drives to the nearest railway point and ships the cougars to the Southern States, where there is a big demand for the live animals for zoological gardens and circus meageries.

This is the eighth cougar that Olsen has captured alive this spring and brings his total capture to 100.

The cougar is a very vicious animal and his kill in deer alone is estimated at fifty a year. The government have placed a bounty of $40 per head or them and trapers are fighting hard to banish them from the mountains..

BLUEBIRDS WIN GAME

The final game of the city hockey league to decide the runners-up for the Ingram watch fobs was played last Monday evening between the Northerns and the Bluebirds, the latter winning after ten minutes overtime by a score of five goals to three.

The ice was rather soft but both teams started out at a furious pace and from the face off the Northerns attacked and M. Commons got in close and scored the opening goal. This nettled the Bluebirds and for a while Blundell was kept busy. End to end play followed but it was not until well on in the period that Tobin broke through alone and tied the score.

The Northerns took things in hand in the opening stages of the second period and for nearl five minutes shot after shot rained in on Coste, until Alex Thomson got a rebound and again put the Northerns in the lead. When the period was about half way through, Swedeberg and Reardon drew a five minute penalty each, and with six men against four the Bluebirds pressed hard, Shand got the puck behind the Northern goal and passed out to Smalek who, with nobody to beat but Blundell, again tied the score.

From the face off in the third period, Alex Thomson got right through and Coste come out to meet him, Thomson slipped the puck past Coste nicely but when trying to shoot into the open net, he missed the puck and a golden opportunity was missed. After some end to end play Ashton got away and drew off the Bluebird defense then passed to M. Commons, who made no mistake. The Bluebirds fought desperately to stave off defeat and just twenty seconds before the call of time, Perry was hustled into the corner behind the Northern goal, but tried a shot, the puck hit Blundell on the back of the leg and dropped on the goal line, Blundell's skate hit the puck and the score was even.

In the two five minute overtime periods, the Bluebirds took the aggressive and just before the first five minutes was up Perry broke through and put the Bluebirds one up. They adopted defensive tactics in the final period and except for a few rushes up the ice the puck was kept well into Bluebird territory. During one of these rushes, Shand and Perry worked their way close in and Perry notched the Bluebird's fifth goal.

TURKS WANT BLONDES

Behind the polygamy, as practiced by the Turk, there have always been motives that were not always clear at first glance. Pierre Loti, the Turko-French writer, has been very anxious to make the harems appear very wonderful places inhabited by beings of extraordinary intelligence, but in reality the plural wives of sultans, pashas and the like have usually been selected for their physical qualities. Blondes have been preferred and every effort has been made to raise the standard of Turkish physique by bringing into the harems the sturdy and comely women of all Northeastern Europe. For very good reasons the Turk has wanted his sons to be stronger and handsomer than he is himself. Turkey will be doomed just as soon as Russia and the Caucasus cease selling girls into the Turkish markets. Polygamy requires constant infusions of fresh, clean blood.

RADIATORS OF ROMANCE

Powder that can be thrown on wood in grates so as to produce the lovely colors of flames of driftwood, such as were celebrated in Longfellow's verse, is advertised. Soon we can sit in a flat on the nineteenth floor of a Chicago apartment house and fancy ourselves in a bleak, New England seashore town.

Mechanical aids to reminiscence and romance are scarcely needed. Mankind is incurably romantic. Lovers can propose sitting before the radiator just as ardently as in the old romantic days before the hot-air register, the still older romantic box stove or Quebec heater, or as in the ultra-romantic and prehistoric pine-knot grate fire. Our grandchildren will yet sigh for the romantic, quaint and old-fashioned "chug chug" of the radiator, and they will be just as humanly romantic as their sires were in the good old days of the early twentieth century.

The Boys Scouts in all their camping and fishing expeditions have never yet been charged with causing a forest fire, said the manager of the Canadian Forestry Association in a newspaper interview.

The Scouts are diligently trained to take such care with their camp fires, building them in safe places and totally extinguishing them before leaving camp, that the multitudinous activities of the Boy Scout organizations in the woods are never accompanied by any forest losses.

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you.

Fire, believed to have originated in an overheated stove, caused the total destruction of Andrew Dragon's residence, in the Fernie Annex, close to the Fairy Creek bridge, early last Tuesday morning. The family, Dragon, his wife and seven children had a narrow escape from being trapped in the burning building. It appears that one of the children had been ill for some time, the little child taking a bad spell during the night, awoke Dragon to find the house in flames. The entire family got out of the house safely and were given shelter by their neighbors, but it was practically impossible to save any of their belongings. By the time the fire brigade could be summoned and reach the scene, the flames had such a hold that they were unable to get the blaze under control before the house was entirely gutted.

He cannot say what changes in the provincial electoral district may be made, but does point out that voters should get their names on the lists as soon as possible, because the registration in any district will have a direct bearing upon the redistribution of seats. LOCAL & GENERAL

Government Engineer Brady, of Cranbrook, was in the city yesterday.

Alex Morrison, of Coleman, was in town the other day.

Dr. Bonnell attended a meeting of the British Columbia Medical Council in Victoria on Monday.

Miss Jones, a nurse at the Fernie Hospital, is suffering from a badly sprained ankle.

W. J. Stewart, who has been holidaying in California, returned to Fernie last week.

The prospects are bright for a good golf season. Twelve new members have already joined the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Austin will leave this evening on a short trip to the Coast.

Operations at No. 3 Mine at Michel have been suspended indefinitely owing to lack of coal markets.

L. E. McDonald is down at Shelby where he is employed with Billy McKay in the construction of a hotel.

The Easter sale of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church has been postponed indefinitely.

Before selecting your Easter Hat, see Mrs. Colton's display of beautiful hats.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stewart leave in the morning for Tacoma, where they will attend the District Rotary Convention.

The regular monthly tea of the United Chursh Ladies' Aid will be held at the home of Mrs. Tim Lawes, on Tuesday, March 27, from 3.30 to 6.

The monthly tea of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. T. R. Lawes, 119 Pellatt Ave., on Tuesday, March 26.

F. Eoll, of Baynes Lake, for 14 years bookkeeper for the Adolph Lumber Company, has resigned his position. He is selling his household furniture at McGladrey's warehouse, at Fernie, tomorrow afternoon.

The Returned Soldiers' Shoe Shop, which has had orders to move, will be located in A. E. Ferguson's Block on the corner of Pellatt Avenue and Jaffray Street after the end of the present month.

Harry Schaler, of Crow's Nest, brought his little daughter to the Fernie Hospital the other day where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. The little girl is getting along fine.

Who is the funniest man in Fernie? Well, he's a dark horse, and you probably never heard him, but he'll be on hand at the Fernie Minstrel Revue, on April 4th. The way that man can tell a story is Somep'n Scandalous!

The Loyal Order of Moose will hold their installation of officers in the Lodge Room on Monday, March 26, at 7.30 p.m. The degree team of the Women of Mooseheart Legion will take part in the installation. After the ceremony, a social evening will be held to which the members' wives and Women of Mooseheart Legion are cordially invited.

Some of the citizens of Fernie have been heard to complain in the past about the sale and canvassing of tickets on the streets, and in the business houses. They denounce the sale of tickets for dances, lodge socials, church bazaars, public welfare activities, etc. Of course, all these activities have to be carried on, and the people concerned in each organization have found this the surest method of going out and getting the necessary cash. Now after all that has been said about canvassing for the sale of tickets, the Fernie Public Library Board is trying the experiment of putting on a good show without canvassing for their ticket sale. This experiment deserves to be successful. The Library Board are just putting their seats on sale at McLean's Drug Store, and inviting the public to buy their tickets there. That's the ticket!

REPLACES GARGLES FOR SORE THROAT

So Declares Mrs. Melbourne of Ottawa Concerning Vicks

Mrs. Melbourne of 84 Fulton Ave., Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I had a very bad cold on my chest, when I received the sample of your Vicks VapoRub and after two or three applications, I found great relief and before the jar was finished I was completely cured, I also used it on my little boy for a sore throat and found it very satisfactory where gargles had failed to give relief."

Treat one cold with Vicks VapoRub and you will adopt this external treatment for all the cold troubles of the family. Vicks is a salve that acts like a plaster and a vapor lamp at the same time. It is absorbed and inhaled.

When the children come in wet and snifling, apply Vicks liberally over throat and chest and cover with a flannel cloth.

Treated at bedtime, this cold is usually better next morning and all the bad after-effects of internal dosing are avoided. Croup attacks are kept away, too.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

The Ladies' Guild will give a dance on Easter Monday, April 2, in Hawthorne's Hall. Refreshments will be served. Whitehouse orchestra.

Mrs. A. J. Burnside, of Toronto, who has been spending the past month with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Whimster at Penticton, made a short visit in town this week and was the guest of Mrs. J. R. Wallace.

Next Friday being Good Friday, the Free Press will be published on the Thursday evening previous. We ask our Advertisers to submit the change of advertising as early as possible for this issue. Thank you.

The local G. W. V. A. has purchased the Pollock Wine Building and the Government Vendor will have to look for a new location. The purchase price of the building is said to be $5000.

Joseph Grafton, the only really original hot air artist, was in town early in the week. He is selling oil stock for a concern in the new Montana field.

Marriage licenses were issued at the local government office this week to: James Jamieson and Miss Jessie Fleming, of Coal Creek; Carl Ernest and Miss Herman Hantel, of Baynes Lake; Robert Scales and Miss Christina McGovern, of Michel.

Barnstead's saw mill at Galloway had a narrow escape from fire the other day. A heavy wind storm was blowing and some sparks from the boiler rooms started a blaze which kept the crew hustling to put out. The loss was about $1000.

NEWSPAPER COMPETITIONS

BELLEVUE, March 19.—The local school principal, C. V. Asselstine, has been investigating a couple of newspaper contests, and has come to the conclusion that it is time the governments established some sort of censorship, by which the public would be safeguarded against deceptive and fraudulent ones. The following are a few facts he has obtained, and which have saved a few of the local fans a number of dollars.

1.—For several months the Athletic Guide Publishing Co., with offices at 508 Dominion Building, Vancouver, B. C., has been publishing a double sheet paper known as the "Athletic Guide," and has been running a football contest.

2.—According to "The Sportsman" of February 17, 1923, the "Athletic Guide" does not cater to any patronage in the City of Vancouver, but confines itself to the prairies and points east.

3.—The "Athletic Guide" contains practically no news, and is dated a couple of weeks in advance of the date it is printed.

First Prize, $6500—J. Laidlaw, 52 Bay St., E., North Hamilton, Ont., with 14 correct estimates.

Second Prize, $3500—(three with 13 correct estimates).—C. Halliday, 439 Ninth Ave., E., Calgary, Alta.; S. Hughes, 1849 Rose St., Regina, Sask.; W. J. Green, 164 King St., E., Chatham, Ont.

5.—The names of the third prize winners were not published.

6.—Enquiries in Hamilton fail to locate any J. Laidlaw at 52 Bay St., or anywhere else. There is no Bay St. East, as Bay Street runs north and south.

7.—A letter addressed to C. Halliday was returned by the postoffice marked "No such number, not konwn, unclaimed."

8.—A letter to S. Hughes was also returned by the postoffice marked "Unclaimed."

A look over the above makes one wonder. It should cause people who cantemplate entering contests to consider what they are doing before they act. Mr. Asselstine has obtained considerable information in regard to another contest, but as yet he has not given us the facts with permission to publish them.

LOVE WINS OUT

At Tahiti an American wished to be married. In fact he was more than anxious to get married. He was in a decided hurry, but the native law requires residence of a year before wedlock. This ban redoubled the lover's determination and resource. An American vessel entered the harbor. He bethought himself of the three-mile limit. The vessel-owner was game. They went out into no man's ocean, in a big gale. Everyone was sick. Nobody took time to provide a ring. The guests, ill, stuck close to the rail..

But they got married, even if the chance visit of the Speejack, a motorcraft on a round-the world tour, was the only hope.

As has been said once or twice before, love will find a way to enter the harbor of matrimony, even in a storm.

THE ABBEY'S SECRETS

Westminster Abbey is displaying a new splendor. Where black varnish covered the walls up to last year, the restorers are now applying chemicals that remove this stain and are revealing brilliant mural decorations. The biggest "find" has been the gorgeous decoration on the tomb of Edward Crouchback and two others on the north side of the high alter. Seven centuries ago, when the building was new, Henry III. had these spaces decorated by the best craftsmen of the age. Today their colors are a revalation.

Last year there was a great outcry when it was proposed to limewash the Abbey. Every few months the story goes forth: "The Abbey is crumbling." And yet with the passing years new beauties are uncovered. A magnificent painting of Edward the Confessor is now being relieved of its blackened coating of varnish.

Truly, these great mediaeval buildings are priceless, both as fabrics and as storehouses.

All that was left in a Montreal safe from which burglars stole $12,000 worth of dental gold was a big cavity.

DO IT ELECTRICALLY

ELECTRIC HEATING OF HOMES, AND ITS LIMITATION

Every year, especially at this period, we hear much talk and we see much written on the subject of heating homes electrically. This year the subject has appeared again with greater public interest being shown than has ever occurred before. The annual crop of patent devices, some ingenious and some absurd, are placed before the public for acceptance without the endorsement of any engineering body or without any knowledge of the fundamental laws which govern the production of heat from electrical energy. Efforts have been made in the past to explain the limitations of electrical energy in competition with coal as a medium for heating homes, but the public has never been in a receptive mood because of its inherent desire to overcome the inconveniences associated with the necessary attention to a coal-fired furnace.

One kilowatt hour of electricity contains approximately one-third of the amount of heat in one pound of good Alberta coal. It is beyond the power of mankind to change this relation or to invent any kind of electrical device by which the heat content of a quantity of electricity may be increased. The claim is often made that one type of electrical heating device will produce more heat from a kilowatt hour than one of another type. This is absolutely impossible, for all the electrical energy consumed in the heater must be given off in the form of heat, irrespective of type and design. The designer is limited in his problem to the concentration and direction of the heat generated into the most economical and efficient location so that it may be used without undue waste.

Experiment and practical demonstrations have shown that the average well built house containing 20,000 cubic feet of space required an installation of 20 kilowatts capacity in electrical heaters in order that a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit may be maintained in this climate. In some cases this amount is exceeded and in others decreased, depending on the ingenuity exercised in the distribution of the heat and the quality of the exterior walls and window fixtures.

At a cost of 1c per kilowatt hour it is quite impossible for electricity to compete with coal on an actual cost basis. Statements are often made to the effect that in a specially designed house, with insulated walls, remarkable results have been obtained. This is quite true, but equally remarkable results would have been obtained in that same specially designed house with a coal furnace.

If the public desire electrical heating for homes it must be prepared to pay considerably more than is required for coal furnace heating. If electricity could be sold for this purpose at ½c per kilowatt hour it would undoubtedly prove a great attraction to people who can afford the expenditure for an electrical installation and who are willing to pay a little extra for the pleasant conveniences offered.

Electrical heating at reasonable cost, may be partially solved in an indirect manner by the installation of a series of small central systems in which steam is produced by electricity purchased as an off-peak by-product of some of the large electric operating systems of Canada. The problem of supplying steam when the electricity is cut off during the hours of peak load is solved by the installation of accumulator pressure tanks at convenient locations.

It is expected that the heat will be supplied at a cost closely approximating the present cost of fuel, with the additional advantage over individual electric heating by reason of the customer not having to make any expenditure for the installation of the expensive electrical equipment that would otherwise be necessary.

The expansion of a number of small central heating systems of this design would eventually result in their coordination into one big system with a coal-fired steam plant supplying the extra steam required over the amount that could be generated by off-peak electrical energy.

EXCEPTIONAL CAST IN "ORPHANS" FILM

D. W. Griffith's newest photoplay sensation, "Orphans of The Storm," adapted from the stage classic made famous by Kate Claxton, "The Two Orphans," will be seen for the first time under a United Artists' Corporation release in this city at the Orpheum Theatre soon.

The production represents months of preparation and a most careful study of the period depicted, the time of the French Revolution. The basis of the story is the famous old play, but Mr. Griffith has woven into it an historical romance with the thrills of some of the maddest days of the revolution. The guillotine is seen at its deadly work and there are tremendous crowds of frantic men and women fighting wildly against the aristocrat in the hope of freedom.

In the role of Henriette is Lillian Gish, whose work in former Griffith productions has placed her at the forel front of screen artists. Dorothy Gish has the role of the blind girl, Louise, the other orphan. Then there is Joseph Schidkraut, said to be the handsomest actor in all Europe, and who made such a sensational success in the leading role of "Liliom," in New York. He is seen as the romantic lover of Henriette, the Chevalier de Vaudrey. Monte Blue, known to all the patrons of the screen has the role of Danton. Sidney Herbert another artist, of high repute and achievement, is the Roberpierre. He was for twelve years in the famous old Augustin Daly company. Creighton Hale, who will be remembered as the butterfly professor of "Way Down East," has a part and Frank Puglia is cast as Pierre. Another noted member of the cast is Kate Bruce, recalled for her work in "Hearts of the World," "Way Down East," and other Griffith productions. Frank Losee, Catherine Emmet, Morgan Wallace, Lucille La Verne, Sheldon Lewis, Leslie King, Lee Kolmer, Adolphe Lestina and others are in the company.

There is veritably an army of "extras" for the numerous big scenes of the play, not only in revolutionary Paris, but also at the tribunal and in the court of Versailles where many beautiful fetes are held.

Stephen Leacock Speaks on Forests

Speaking before a convention of foresters, Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill Uuniversity, pleaded for the adoption of a scientific system both of preservation and extension of Canada's forest heritage. "The human race," he said, "for a hundred years has been living on its capital. In the midst of wealth it has grown poorer. It is now beginning to find the limits of its boasted power over nature in the exhaustion of nature itself. The adoption of a policy of proper conservation needs the stimulation of public opinion."

Packed in a paper bag

TO help this fellow grow sturdy in body and active in brain, give him food that builds up his frame even faster than he wears it out in his strenuous play.

LET him have a cup of FRY'S Cocoa often. Here you have a delicious food beverage that is all nourishment. For instance, nearly one fifth of its bulk is "albumen" and albumen is only another form of muscle.

Fat, it has, for warmth and energy, and vitamines to give nerve force. All this because FRY'S is made from the richest and finest cocoa beans, by methods matchless after 200 year's experience. FRY'S is the best and cheapest of all foods for growing boys and girls. Of course, remember

Premium Ham or Bacon

THAT breakfast on Easter Morning should consist of Bacon and Eggs has become almost as honored a national institution as Turkey for Thanksgiving.

But on this Easter Morning, bright with the promise of Springtime—vigor—and joy—the Bacon certainly should be "Premium"—the world's standard—as befitting the occasion. Substitute ordinary Bacon or Ham for Swift's "Premium" and you dull the joy of the meal.

For Swift's "Premium" Bacon is of characteristic and distinctive quality. Firstly, by its choice selection—for "Premium" Brand must have just the right proportion of fat and lean. Then next it possesses an unmatched succulence and savoriness due to the exclusive Swift process of curing and smoking.

Be careful to get Swift's "Premium" when you buy Bacon or Ham—make sure of it this coming Easter Morning. Order from your Butcher or Grocer.

WILL PLAY AT GRAND ON GOOD FRIDAY

The 1923 Cranbrook Follies made their appearance at the Auditorium on Tuesday night and were greeted with a bumper house, despite the fact that the performance was of a private nature. Tuesday evening's performance by the Cranbrook Rebekahs was well above the average performance. The show was more in the nature of an experiment, and now that the first shock of "stage fright" has passed and the actors inspired with confidence, it is hoped the Rebekahs will branch out and give regular performances.

Under the direction of Mr. W. S. (Bill) Johnson, as stage manager, the Cranbrook Rebekahs will appear at the Grand Theatre, Fernie, on Good Friday evening, March 30 and wil be under the auspices of the local Rebekahs and Oddfellows.—Cranbrook Courier.

HEALTH TALK NO. 19B
by G. J. PARKS — CHIROPRACTOR

"SPRING FEVER"

Interference with the passage of nerve energy to the liver, kidneys, or digestive tract has a tendency to throw those organs out of harmony with the remainder of the body. We then have an inability on the part of the general system to respond to the normal changes demanded by changed weather conditions, and we have a group of symptoms commonly termed 'Spring Fever.'

Of the many remedies suggested in the past, none could be more logical than spinal adjustments. A short course of adjustments at this season of the year is productive of excellent benefits to the entire body. The digestive tract, liver and kidneys can be improved in action to a marked degree, thus insuring a pure blood stream and prompt removal of toxins.

BAD COLD YIELDS TO ADJUSTMENTS

To Whom It May Concern—
Unsolicited, I wish to make the following statements:
After having a severe cold in my head for several weeks, I found it had developed into an infection of the right sinus. I took Chiropractic adjustments for one week and the trouble entirely left me without recurring.
Had worn glasses continually for eight years, and was troubled with drowsiness and inflammation of the eyes. It is due to regular Chiropractic adjustments that my eyes are now perfectly normal.
I have taken Chiropractic Adjustments at different intervals when I have had a cold. They always put me in a normal condition again.
I would be pleased to recommend Chiropractic to anyone.

Respectfully yours,
H. D. Hummel.

HOLY FAMILY PARISH NOTES

On the eve of St. Patrick's Day, a large and highly interested audience witnessed the presentation of Mary Cody's drama, "Through Darkness to Light," by the young ladies of the Holy Family Parish Sodality. A special train, graciously run for the occasion by the M. F. & M. Railway, brought a goodly contingent from Coal Creek, to swell the already large numbers that thronged the Grand Theatre when the curtain rose. Considering the fact that some other well attended social functions were in progress at the same time, this record audience manifested the interest awakened by the prospect of witnessing the first theatrical performance staged by the Sodality.

A synopsis of the play was given in the "Free Press' of March 9. The entire cast handled the highly impressive, and at times dramatic subject, in a manner that revealed the most careful study of all details and a very attentive preparation. Great credit is due to those who, not only knew how to recognize the natural talent possessed by all these young ladies, but also allotted the most appropriate role to each.

Miss Annie Podbielancik impersonated extremely well Lady Trixley, a selfish, worldy woman, while the pathetic and very difficult role of Mildred was appositely filled by Miss Elizabeth Sloan. Miss Mary Hughes displayed great dramatic talent in her very natural presentation of Constance,Lady Trixley's daughter, and Miss Catherine Hughes very cleverly sustained the difficult role of Hortense Heartfelt, the aunt of Mildred, who went to the castle as the governess of Constance. Miss Dora Rizzutto introduced a bright note of comedy as the Gipsy pedlar who sold lace, and, incidentally, placed Lady Trixley's pearl necklace in blind Mildred's reticule. Miss Betty Podbielancik was a very bright and radiant looking angel. The Misses Mary Baron, Annie Shuhaka and Annie Balok, as aunts of Mildred, with Miss Mary Sedrovich and Miss Mary Podbielancik as visitors, completed the cast, while the bevy of bright flower girls added a gayly decorative note.

A couple of Irish songs, rendered by the flower girls, reminded the audience of the date, as did the Irish dances, interpreted by the Misses Millie and Rose Caufield, and also by the Misses Rose Caufield, Polly Sloan, Milly Nicoleti and Nancy Hughes.

Miss Charlebois and Miss Cody were very able accompanists, and, in conjunction with the orchestra, delighted the audience with a rare musical treat.

The young ladies of the Sodality were hostesses at a very successful Shamrock tea on the following afternoon.

POWER CO. START WORK AT ELKO

The East Kootenay Power Company have started work on their new Hydro Electric development on the Elk River at Elko. H. W. Battin, construction superintendent for Winston Bros. Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived at Elko March 20. Winston Bros. Co. were the successful bidders for the contract work. The camp and engineering have been completed and the work will be pushed rapidly ahead.

The development at Elko includes a rock tunnel 2000 feet in length and 12 by 14 inside dimensions. Work is well along on two 7500 horse power turbines by the Dominion Engineering Co. and two 6000 Kilowatt generators by the Canadian General Electric Co., all to be used at this site. All machinery will be delivered at Elko about June 15.

It is expected that the work will be completed by the early fall. This power plant will be connected up to the present lines of the East Kootenay Power Company ond will more than treble the present generating capacity of this company.

About 70 men will be put on at once and 150 later on.

SALVATION ARMY

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

A. McBean, of Natal, was in town the other day. Mac is thinking about starting a gent's furnishing store in Natal.

After many requests, the Fernie Minstrels have decided to put on a Matinee on Wednesday at 3 p.m., for school children at 25c each, adults $1.00. Seats for evening performance on sale at McLean's Drug and Book Store on Saturday morning. Evening performance at 8.30 sharp.

There will be a meeting of the Fernie Farmers' Institute on Saturday, March 31st, at 7.30 p.m., in the Council Chamber. Election of officers. All members are requested to attend and bring a new member.

D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of The Storm," will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday nights with a matinee Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. Wednesday night show will start at 8 o'clock—one show only. Thursday nigh show will start at 7 o'clock for the accomodation of the Coal Creek people.

James Wallace, for twenty-four years a resident of Fernie, left last evening for the Old Man's Home in Kamloops. Jim, who is over eighty years of age, has been a sterling citizen of this town and his departure will be deeply regretted. He has been in poor health for some time with no one to look after him and he wisely decided to make over his property to the Home at Kamloops and go where he would be taken care of.

Charles McCarty, a lumberjack who has been working at Bossio's camp, was arrested by the city police last Saturday night for breaking into one of the Fernie Hotel sample rooms. He had broken through one of the windows and was seen leaving by the same route. McCarthy endeavored to make his get-away along the C. P. R. tracks towards Hosmer but was overtaken by Chief Anderson and placed under arrest. On Monday morning, before G. G. Moffatt, J.P., in the city police court, he was sentenced to two months imprisonment in Nelson gaol. Except for this one case the city police court have a clean sheet this week.

Wm. Johnston has been appointed distributor for Oldsmobile cars for this district with territory extending from Burmis, Alta., to Kootenay Landing, B.C., and the Windermere District. Bill says that the Oldsmobile is making a great name for itself wherever used, being a very popular car for this country on account of its great hill climbing ability, he has already received orders for one carload of four cars for the Hillcrest Garage and an order for five Model 43-A Oldmosbiles from Paulsen and Fenwick of Cranbrook. A carload of the very latest models are now on the road from the Lansing, Mich. factory and will be on exhibition in Fernie very shortly at the new show room on Wood St.

After rehearsing at long intervals for some three months, the troup of minstrels working up the concert for the Public Library, are now down to serious business and are rehearsing almost every other night. D. G. Harvie is directing the Revue, with Thomas Biggs in charge of the music. They have rounded out a good cast, including a double male quartette, and half a dozen funny men. Dave says that the show is a good one, and that the boys are able to put it over in great style. It has been a long time since the men of Fernie tried out a minstrel revue, and their present work deserves support,, especially as their expenses are being kept down to an absolute minimum, and the proceeds are going to the Fernie Public Library. They have set Wednesday, April 4th for their date.

TO TEST ALBERTA COAL IN THE EAST

TORONTO, March 28.—An experiment with a view to determining whether the vast coal resources of Alberta are available for practical use in relieving the fuel situation in Ontario now and in the future, is being conducted by the Toronto Star in co-operation with the Edmonton Journal. The latter newspaper is sending east a car of coal from the mines of Alberta.

At the same time the provincial coal commissioner of Alberta and other experts are coming east to conduct a series of experiments with the western product in various types of furnaces in Toronto and elsewhere. When the burnability of the coal is determined there will still remain the question of price, including the cost of transportation.

WHO WILL GET THE PLUNDER?

OTTAWA, March 20.—Parliament is thoroughly aroused over the attempted steal of the great anthracite coal areas of Northern Alberta. Names of those participating in this raid are freely mentioned in parliament and on the streets of the capital. The history of this great coal area is of great interest.

In 1912 a Dr. Hoppe, acting for the Isenberg interests explored and surveyed a coal deposit eighty miles north of Brule on the Canadian National Railway in Alberta and on the way to the Peace River country. It was discovered to be wonderfully rich in both hard and soft coal, preliminary tests showing 100,000,000 tons of anthracite and 4000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. Hoppe secured a lease of this great area for the Isenberg interests.

War stopped the Hoppe-Isenberg negotiations with the Rothchilds, who were anxious to secure this coal supply for half a continent. Rentals were heavy and in 1918 the Isenberg interests were in arrears. It was discovered that both Hoppe and Isenberg were active German Sympathizers and propagandists and Hon. Arthur Meighen, then Minister of Interior, cancelled the leases. A Canadian syndicate discovered this cancellation and filed on these claims. After an enquiry in the Senate Hon. Arthur Meighen withdrew this area from leasing and made it a crown reserve. It was thought that the vast coal resources had been successfully conserved for the nation.

After the change of government an appeal to the Privy Council on behalf of one Paulson was successful and the cancellation of leases numbering nearly 20,000, extending over many years, was found illegal. Last session, to remedy this, the government introduced a bill in the Senate. There the Conservative Senators proposed that in addition to this there should be a clause inserted whereby the Hoppe leases could not be alienated from the Crown except by Parliament. This the government refused, but gave a pledge that they would be conserved for the nation.

It is with surprise and alarm that it was heard in October last year that the government had granted a fiat to the Isenberg interests to sue for the return of this property to them. In the meantime it was learned that the Isenberg claim had practically been acquired by a group of Ottawa politicians closely allied to the government. Nothing could be done until Parliament met. Senator Pope brought this to the attention of Parliament and registered a strong protest against the violation of the government's pledge. Senator Dandurand, on March 9, brought into Parliament a bill to do what the Conservatives had requested the previous session, but admitted it was too late for this legislation to be effective if the claimants won their case in court. It was also discovered that in January previous the government by order-in-council had considerably strengthened the claim of the Ottawa politicians in their raid on our resources. Senator Bradbury in this exposure was very effective:

"The case is just this. After the late government had cancelled the leases, and when we were led to believe that the door was practically locked and that there was no danger of either the Isenberg people or their assigns again acquiring any interest in those leases, some gentlemen here in the city of Ottawa organized a syndicate headed by a man who had taken a good deal of interest when the committee was investigating the Shillington leases—a man named Murdock—

"Hon. Mr. Tessier: Who is that?

"Hon. Mr. Bradbury: I do not know him. I do not know where he comes from. I know that he has been very active in connection with great coal areas. Under this man's direction, I presume, or through his influence, a syndicate of some kind was organized here in the city of Ottawa. There are in it, I understand, several young doctors and two or three young lawyers, and the public is told broadly that there are public men in high places associated with these men.

"Hon. Mr. Casgrain: Name them.

"Hon Mr. Bradbury: This last statement, honorable gentlemen, I am not ready to believe, but I want to say it is public property and is heard on the streets, and the rumor has gone to such an extent that something must be done to clear up this question and clear the names of these honorable gentlemen who are today resting under a cloud, in the opinion of many men in this city and a number of men in this Chamber.

"To my mind, the gentlemen who, as I have already said, have associated themselves together in this syndicate, deserve absolutely no sympathy from Parliament. They have in no way contributed to the exploration of those lands. They are simply a number of young men who think they see an opportunity of clearing up a lot of very easy money. One of them told me that they had an assignment from the Isenberg people—that they had absolutely got rid of the Isenberg people simply by paying them a sum of money. He did not state how much, but I understood it was very small.

"Now, honorable gentlemen, this is a serious question, outside of the real value of these coal areas and outside of the fact that this Chamber owes to the country the duty of protecting the domain of Canada from the exploitation of men who are ready to take advantage of circumstances in order to obtain a great deal of very easy money."

Senator Bradbury gave a history of the famous conferences between representatives of the Senate and Commons last session on this question. He told how the Conservatives had urged on the government to protect the public and he made this startling statement:

"I must say in justice to this House now that the question is under discussion, that from the moment we went into the Council Chamber the Premier (Hon. W. L. McKenzie King) of this

Here and There

St. John, N.B.—J. M. Woodman, general superintendent of the C. P. R., New Brunswick district, announced that the only large expenditure in his district during the year will be for ballasting and bridges. Mr. Woodman returned from Montreal, where he was on a business trip.

Edmonton.—The northern railway extensions, which under the recently announced agreement with the Union Bank will be proceeded with next spring, are to be built by the Canadian Pacific Railway Construction Department. One of the conditions of the agreement between the provincial government and the bank interests is that the C. P. R. do the construction work, it is stated by Premier Greenfield, and the conditions will be complied with by the government, which had originally intended building the roads under its own railway department.

Port Arthur.—Additional trackage accommodation will be constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway in its Port Arthur yards this coming summer, especially at Current River, to take care of the increasing grain trade to be created by the elevators there. Other work will also be done locally and at Fort William considerable will be undertaken, including the replacement of the two large freight sheds destroyed recently by fire, with buildings of an improved and fireproof type.

Carleton Place, Ont.—On the occasion of the retirement of roadmaster Jelly and section foreman J. Millikin from the C. P. R. Company's service, the fellow employees and their wives gathered at the town hall, Saturday, and a social evening was spent. The tables were laden with the very best that a caterer from Ottawa could provide, and about 150 people were present from all classes of the company's service.

St. John, N.B.—C. E. McPherson, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Winnipeg, was in St. John recently, the guest of his brother-in-law, Dr. W. W. White. Mr. McPherson is always a welcome visitor to St. John where he was for many years as the representative of the C. P. R. up to 1897 when he went to Toronto, and later in 1899 to Winnipeg, his headquarters since. He has watched this Western metropolis grow from a town of 40,000 to a city of 200,000.

Yorkton. — Another milestone in the history of railway development in Yorkton and district was marked when the members of the clerical staff of the C. P. R. freight department took up their quarters in the offices of the new freight shed. This building is 240 feet long and 40 feet wide, and provides accommodation for eighteen cars of freight. The building and track alterations involved an expenditure of nearly $70,000

Winnipeg.—Great interest in the increasing of facilities for the storing and handling of grain at the head of the lakes was reported by Charles Murphy, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who returned from Fort William. Mr. Murphy stated there would be an enlargement of at least 4,000,000 bushels in the storage capacity during the coming summer, and it was hoped the new equipment would be in working order in time to take care of the next crop. Two privately owned elevators were to be erected and the buildings of the Saskatchewan co-operative company to be enlarged he stated. One construction outfit was already on the ground and construction would be rushed as soon as weather conditions permitted.

SWISS MOONSHINE

The Director of the Department of Excise for Switzerland hastens to explain that the heavier impost on spirituous liquors in that country is not intended to be the first step toward prohibition. The Anti-Saloon League of America may reach and proclaim very different conclusions, and, possibly, the Director may be starting something which he cannot stop. The handling of the liquor problem seems to move in cycles. Periods of unrestricted sale are followed by periods of license. Then the licenses are reduced generally or by local option, then comes prohibition, then the dispensary system, then a rediscovery of unrestricted sale, possibly followed by other discoveries in their turn.

How many politicians have obtained for themselves the title of statesman by simply suggesting another turn of the wheel. But it is hardly to be believed that the greatest tourist centre of Europe will do much tinkering with its laws. The Swiss are a nation of hotelkeepers, and thrifty ones at that. The trouble behind the present situation is that distilling has been tax-free, and that the distillers have become their own customers instead of selling the Alpine moonshine to the visitors. Now they are to be taxed, and as a stop to the moral reformers the revenue will go to the teaching of temperance and to social work. What an original politician the Director is.—Toronto World.

country, seemed determined that the door should not be locked, but that a fiat might issue."

And a fiat has been issued and the political vultures seem in a fair way to gorge themselves on the people's property.

Continuing he made other statements even more damaging and again referred in these terms to the value of the property and the rumors concerning its alienation:

"What I am interested in is to protect for future generations, those great coal areas are worth $100,000,000 or perhaps $200,000,000. My honorable friend asks, why should they be refused a fiat? I say there has not been a case in my experience in which they would be so thoroughly justified in refusing a fiat as in this case.

"Hon. Mr. Casgrain: Is it because the parties have no case?

"Hon. Mr. Bradbury: What I am going to say is that, in view of the men who are exploiting the situation today, in view of the great number of rumors that are being circulated, this House owes it to itself to appoint a special committee in order to afford an opportunity to clear the names of public men that have been associated with those men on the street. Honorable gentlemen, this has been done openly and brazenly by the men who are exploiting the situation today. It is not any political rumor. It is said that those men have the assistance of men in this Chamber and men in the other Chamber. I say, in view of that—

"Hon. Mr. Tessier: I do not think it is fair to speak in a general way of rumors, attacking anybody in this Chamber. It means that we may all be under suspicion.

"Hon. Mr. Casgrain: Yes; name them.

"Hon. Mr. Tessier: I think the honorable gentleman ought to name the people. As far as I am concerned, I entirely protest against speaking in that general way. When the honorable gentleman speaks of rumors about anybody in this Chamber, I think it is an insult to the Chamber.

"Hon. Mr. Casgrain: Whom do you name?

"Hon. Mr. Bradbury: I don't blame the honorable gentlemen, but I say that the only proper way to bring out the information, without my making a statement, is to ask for a special committee; and the government can very well do that, and give them an opportunity of proving their case, and of getting all the evidence regarding this situation."

After this damaging indictment, the government was silent. They did not even answer Senator Bradbury's request for an investigation.

The question in Ottawa is, who will get the plunder? Who will divide the spoils?

"HAD A NARROW ESCAPE"

"I never realized until a few months ago how risky it is to neglect a cold in the chest. I have always had such good health, that a cold either in the head or chest, while unpleasant, never gave me any worry. Outside an occasional cold, I had never known what it was to be laid up even for a day in all my life, until last December. One afternoon I got a chill and no matter how close I got to the stove, I couldn't seem to get warm. This chill was followed by a cold in my chest. As usual I neglected it and it kept getting worse and worse. Finally I had to go to bed and send for the doctor. His examination showed that I had pneumonia and a bad case at that. By careful nursing on the part of my husband, my children and some friends, I managed to pull through, but the doctor told me I had a narrow shave. And here's where my troubles began. While I was now out of danger, I was anything but well. I was still very weak from the effects of the pneumonia. Although I had lots of life and energy before my sickness, I was now worn out and tired all the time. I slept fairly well, more because I was exhausted. But my sleep didn't refresh me because, while I appeared to be asleep, I was conscious most of the time of what went on around me. Although all kinds of tempting dishes were prepared for me, I had no relish for food. This sickness had already undermined my health to such an extent that I was a living skeleton. I was getting discouraged as nothing I took seemed to do me any good. 'I wonder if Carnol wouldn't build you up,' a friend said one day, 'it did me a world of good, I was completely run down and you can see for yourself how well I look today. Why don't you try it ? Thanks to this friend's advice I am in perfect health again, as healthy and as full of life and vitality as I have ever been."

A Word for the Under-Privileged Boy

THE Rotary Club of Montreal, like its sister organizations throughout the continent, is an efficient and effective organization working for the good of the community in which it exists. It has particularly devoted its attention to work among the class of boys that fall under the term "under-privileged." In every great city there are thousands of such lads facing life under grievous handicaps imposed by poverty, or by the more dreadful combination of poverty and such physical or moral surroundings as would be a menace to the strongest.

The task of brightening the lives of these lads and of giving them a fair chance to become good citizens is a grateful one, and the Rotary Club of Montreal has done a splendid work in this connection. It has interested itself in a very practical way in the Boys Home at Shawbridge in the Laurentian Mountains, and has done a great deal for boys throughout the city and district.

The Shawbridge Boys Home is the particular care of E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who is also president of the Home. He has always taken a great interest in the under-privileged boy, and it was natural, when the Rotary Clubs held their convention in Montreal recently, that he should be asked to address them on that phase of their work.

"Perhaps the saddest thing in the world," said Mr. Beatty, "is the subnormal boy, or one whose standard of health is low, and no work is greater or more inspiring than that which helps to place the handicapped boy where he can face the world on fairly equal terms with the more fortunate."

Mr. Beatty went on to quote an eminent English educationalist who, although not prejudiced against parents as a class, stated with truth that many parents are not appreciative of the problems of their children, and, not being capable of grappling with their difficulties, do not supply the inspiration that tends to make them the kind of citizens they should grow up to be. "The under-privileged boy of this class," said Mr. Beatty, "is often precocious but more often he is undeveloped physically and mentally, and therefore not capable of accomplishing his own destiny.

"If the under-privileged boy of the city, born to unfortunate physical environment, is to succeed, he must have that environment made natural and normal as far as possible," said Mr. Beatty, and this, he suggested, argues even more strongly for the supervising care by those in authority, and competent inspection involving sanitary housing no overcrowding and supervised playgrounds, etc. Every boy should for his own sake and for the sake of the community, have the use of the common tools of life or a common school education. A boy should also be taught the incomparable practical and spiritual advantages of honest self-made manhood, he added.

"It has been truly said that the best educated man is the man who has a knowledge of living through contact with those whose problems he shares and whose conditions he understands.... I presume there is no more effectual means of stimulating the interest of a boy than the careers and achievements of men of whom he has heard but of whose personal qualities he knows nothing", and the speaker deplored the fact that biographies and other stories which might influence the boy for good are so written that the human side is left out. He added that the boy "must be taught that the great personal freedom we enjoy under our form of democracy carries with it the responsibility of being and doing our very best. He must learn that there is no virtue without temptation and that the sacredness of righteousness is largely constituted in the effect of the individual or nation to attain it. "This," he said, "is not a work that can be initiated by parliament or made effective by legislation. It requires the personal interest and the friendly contact of the man who can compel the respect and regard of the boy."

Here and There

It is announced that a new cave, the extent of which can only be surmised, has been discovered seven miles from Glacier House, Glacier, B.C.

The Yukon Territory is rapidly losing its inhabitants. In 1911 the population was 27,217, and in 1921 it had dwindled down to 4,157.

In an address to the Rotarians in Montreal last week, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a pointed statement to the effect that Canada needs more capital for its development and more men for the same purpose.

An old-time stampede will be held in Calgary, Alta., between July 5th and July 14th, 1923. The programme will, as usual, include calf roping contests, broncho busting, and fancy riding and roping, etc.

Resumption of direct steamship service this spring between Montreal and the principal Norwegian ports, with the object of furthering the expansion of trade between Canada and Norway, is announced by the Canadian Pacific traffic agents for the Norwegian-American Line.

The Canadian Pacific steamship "Metagama" recently brought over to Canada 400 men and women of the Hebrides—the first migration of young Hebrides farmers to Canada under the Ontario immigration scheme.

A bill has been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies, Paris, authorizing the Government to expend 3,750,000 francs on the Canadian travelling exhibition. At least thirty French towns will be visited by the train this summer.

As guests of President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, four boy members of the young farmers clubs of Great Britain will cross the Atlantic and tour the Eastern and Western provinces of Canada.

Canada's exports to the United Kingdom in 1922 were more than $34,000,000 higher in value than exports of Canadian goods to the United States. To the United Kingdom, Canada sold goods to the value of $374,751,894, and to the United States $340,156,247.

Before the war India imported $600,000,000 worth of commodities a year, of which Canada sent not more than $30,000 worth. Last year her imports were $800,000,000, of which Canada sent $1,125,000, and it is now expected that there will be a further increase to between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 this year.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged with a number of European countries for the emigration of farmers and domestics who are willing to come to Canada for employment on Canadian farms. The immigrants will be brought to Canada at the joint expense of their home governments and the railway company.

The first successful radio experiment on a moving long-distance railway train was recently carried out on a Canadian Pacific Railway train from Winnipeg to Vancouver. Mr. Raymond Wylie installed a receiving set in the drawing room of the through sleeping car, and the aerial was installed by the railway electrical department. The results were all that could be desired.

Seeing the train swaying as it passed her while she was picking berries was the reason why Mrs. Fred Mueller of Branner, Ont., would not take a ride on a train, but after she had returned to West Morkton from Elmira she told W. C. Gowan, the Canadian Pacific agent at the former station, that she thoroughly enjoyed the sensation of travelling for the first time on a train, which did not go fast enough for her.

SETS EGG-EATING RECORD WITH 31

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, March 25.—All egg-eating records were smashed this morning when Warren G. Noggle, of Wheatland, Cal., formerly of Cascade, Idaho, took the annual egg-eating contest of the Idaho chapter of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity with an assimilation of 31 eggs. This breaks the record set by J. Arnold Cobley, of Victoria, B.C., who last year managed to do away with 30.

In addition to the eggs, all soft-boiled, the new champion, to fill out his morning meal, ate a bowl of breakfast bran, half a grapefruit, an entire orange and a piece of toast. the acidity of the orange and grapefruit proved to be a great help in the long, last pull.

Noggle weakened visibly with the 25th egg, but he manfully ordered six more. The distress signal was waving, but the final six soft-boiled eggs in a glass were slowly but steadily devoured. With considerable effort the record breaker posed for his picture with egg shells piled high in front of him and somehow he managed to smile. Noggle later attended church and ate a normal dinner at 1 o'clock. The contest was held from 8 to 9 o'clock.

Otto Hueffner of Kellogg took second place with 23 eggs, 12 of which were fried. In addition, he polished off an entire orange, a whole grapefruit and a slice of toast. Walter R. York of Boise and James M. Heath of Idaho Falls were tied for third place, each with eight eggs.

The contest was held today instead of Easter Sunday, the usual day for the contest, because the spring vacation at the university starts March 31. Last year Cobley won considerable notoriety with the establishment of a record of 30. The previous best mark two years ago was by Abe Goff of Walla Walla, who ate 18. Goff's mark was bested, however, last year by Arthur S. Guerin of Spokane and Tom Bucklin of Idaho Falls with 22 each.

FALSE SYMPATHY FOR RADICAL CONVICTS

A contributor to the forum, obviously a communist or a communist sympathizer, asks, "If your system of economics is based upon justice, why not let the people examine it? Why not let the facts of it, good or bad, be broadcasted to the world? Why fling into prison those who would examine it?

No one is thrown into prison in the United States for questioning the capitalistic system of economics or advocating, through appeal to the ballot, its abolishment and the substitution of communistic or socialism. For 30 years the Socialists have been running their candidates for the presidency. At every presidential election they cast several hundred thousand votes. They polled nearly a million votes in 1920. How many of that million are in prison or have been in the slightest danger of imprisonment? It is only when they go out and advocate revolution by violence, or armed overthrow of the government of the majority and the setting up of "a dictatorship of the proletariat," that fireband leaders find themselves in the toils of the law .

The truth is, citizens are as free and safe in advocating and voting for socialism as in advocating and voting for the doctrines of the democratic or the republican party. No one in this country is denied his constitutional right of free speech and assemblage. No one is denied his right of open discussion. But constitutional lawful appeal to the ballot is one thing, and appeal to the bullet, the bomb and the torch is another.

It is usually the case that radical agitators who are out to destroy the Constitution are the noisest sticklers for their "rights under the Constitution.—Spokesman Review.

Here and There

GLASGOW, Scotland. — The Glasgow Herald says: An agreement has been made between the Government of the Province of Ontario and the Overseas Settlement Committee for the acceptance by Ontario of a certain number of British settlers. The majority will consist of unmarried men, but there will also be a limited number of married men and of youths and girls over 16 years of age. Of the married men, about 200 have already been accepted by the Ontario authorities in London from applicants now dwelling in the Hebrides, where agents on behalf of the Province have been carrying on a special canvass for some time past. The agents are also endeavouring to select from the same islands a number of female farm workers, and there is a proposal that a special ship shall be chartered to sail from the North of Scotland to convey these settlers in a body.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. — The Moose Hall was recently the scene of what is probably the most important railway function in the history of Medicine Hat. The occasion was a banquet and presentation in honor of Henry Hardy, J. F. Fisher and Thos. Penhale, all engineers in the Canadian Pacific Railway service who have recently retired. There were more than 200 guests. A considerable number of the guests were from other railway centres throughout Canada.

CALGARY, Alta.—Beiseker, a town on the C. P. R. and G. T. P., about 35 miles northeast of Calgary as the crow flies, is in the grip of an incipient silver boom. On Saturday and Sunday men from the local district and from points afield, where the news spread with the usual rapidity of such tidings, staked out claims covering several sections about four miles east of the town. These were registered at the federal land office in Calgary.

No assay has yet been made of the ore, but those interested in the property are sending a sample to Edmonton. It may be necessary to bore another test hole, the finders say, before sufficient ore can be obtained to get a reliable assay. The original find was made by crews drilling for water and much of the first ore taken out has been given away as samples. The first find was made about three months ago.

CALGARY, Alta.—"We cannot expect to recover in a year or so from the effects of abnormal circumstances the whole country has been suffering from," remarked W. B. Lanigan, of Montreal, freight traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific, in the course of an interview with The Herald, in Calgary, "but I am safe in making this prophesy that this year will witness throughout Canada a revival of industry and agriculture, and that by 1924, the city of Calgary and the country tributary to it, as well as the rest of Canada are going to enjoy a return of their former prosperity."

It was in these words that the freight traffic manager of the great transportation company replied to the question as to how he viewed present conditions. "No matter what pessimists may say," he continued, "the resources of this country in minerals and in the fertility of its soil has not been appreciably touched and it has been inadequately advertised. The Province of Alberta, with its agricultural possibilities, its wealth of coal, and in my opinion, the waterpower of its streams and hills need only population to bring these possibilities into wealth. How any person can survey all these natural conditions and still remain a pessimist, is something I cannot understand."

BROCKVILLE, Ontario. — Several retirements on pension are announced on the Canadian Pacific Railway in this vicinity.

James Jelly, road master for the railway at Carleton Place for many years and a native of Leeds county, is retired on pension upon reaching the age limit. He entered the railway service as a youth and has seen the railway grow from small beginnings into the present great system.

James Milliken, section foreman for the C.P.R. at Carleton Place, is also superannuated. For some years he was on duty on the Montreal-Toronto mainline and a number of years ago was transferred to Carleton Place.

After 28 years as station agent at Merrickville, and nearly 40 years in the company's service, James A. Angus has also retired on pension. He is being succeeded by R. S. Corbett, Terrebonne, Que.

E. M. Jelly, who has been assistant division engineer of the C. P. R. at Smith's Falls, has been appointed division engineer, same road, at Schreiber.

The steel structure for the new C. P. R. overhead bridge over the G. T. R. tracks at Kingston Junction has arrived and the Dominion Bridge Company, Montreal, the contractors, has started to erect the bridge which, when completed, will open the new line into the city for the C.P.R. and C.N.R. trains.

ATTACKS ON M. POLICE

The yearly efforts of J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., for Centre Winnipeg, to compass the abolition of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police do not meet with much encouragement. Last year his motion to that effect had 47 supporters. This year the number of those who would leave the Department of Justice without a police body to enforce Federal statutes dwindled to 23. The motives of Mr. Woodsworth himself in these periodical attacks on the police are well known. He was one of those who desired to see a Soviet form of Government established in Manitoba and other Western Provinces at the time of the Winnipeg General Strike in the summer of 1919. That conspiracy was checked and its leaders punished largely as a result of the efforts of a small body of Mounted Police officers. No wonder Mr. Wodsworth, whose hopes of becoming a commissiar, dealing out penalties to the bourgeoise were wrecked, is annoyed at the police. What motive prompted Agnes McPhail, Roch Lanctot and others to support the proposal is not clear, except that they like to be with the minority, even when the attitude of the minority is absurd. But it was clear how the country stands in the issue, when not only the Minister of Justice, Sir Lomer Gouin, but the two opposition leaders, Hon. Arthur Meighen of the Conservatives, and Robert Forke, M. P., of the "Progressives," proved unanimous in opposing the Woodsworth resolution. Mr. Forke did so with some misgivings because in reorganizing the force a Mounted Police barracks was removed from his own riding of Brandon. Nevertheless, after a mental struggle, he permitted the interests of Canada to triumph over the chagrin of Brandon, which shows that his heart is in the right place.

So far as one could gather from Mr. Woodsworth's economic argument the results in the matter of achievement by the R.C.M.P. did not justify the expenditure—which really means that the special statutes which this branch of the public service is called on to enforce have been so well observed that arrests were few. Thus from the words of their enemy it would appear the the R.C.M.P. are highly effective as a preventive of crime. His other statement that the force's methods of "espionage" are unpleasant to Labor Unions is far from true. Legitimate labor unions and labor leaders are on good terms with the Mounted Police. It is only those interlopers in the old established unions which have tried to change them into revolutionary agencies that have reason to dislike the "Mounties." —Saturday Night.

CREIGHTON HALE IS "ORPHANS" COMEDIAN

When Creighton Hale appears on the legitimate stage, he is always the handsome juvenile or leading man, but when D. W. Griffith sent for him to play the comedy role of the lovelorn Professor in "Way Down East," he at once saw the possibilities of the part and gladly accepted. Not only because he scored such a striking success in this role, but also because he so greatly enjoyed working under Mr. Griffith's direction he agreed to play what he thought was a rather minor role in Griffith's "Orphans of The Storm," a United Artists' release, which comes to the Orpheum Theatre. After the picture was finished Mr. Hale had fully made up his mind that nobody would pay any attention to him in this picture. However, to his utter amazement, he found that, instead of having been swallowed up in the French Revolution, his role as Picard stood out as prominently as that of any in the cast. Roars of laughter, and deep, hearty laughter at that, greeted his every antic, and now he realizes that he has scored another comedy triumph even greater than that in "Way Down East." He now says that, in the future, he will be delighted to undertake any part Mr. Griffith may suggest.

"Mr. Griffith always knows what he is doing," said Mr. Hale, "and scenes that in the making often seem rather inconsequential, to the actors participating therein, turn out to be high lights in the picture. I had doubts about my comedy abilities but Mr. Grifith wanted me to play comedy. He knew me. So in the future I will be thoroughly content to undertake any part that he desires."

EDITED BY ERNEST RHYS

"THE TRUE UNIVERSITY in these days," said Carlyle, "is a collection of books." The main idea of this series is to make it easy for everyone to obtain such a collection, and get at small cost, all that is good, all that has worn well, in English Literature. It does not offer only the classic authors, it represents the Victorians with the Elizabethians, comparatively new authors with the old famous ones, and books for pure pleasure as well as wisdom and knowledge. It is arranged in sections, as of History, Philosophy, Belles-Letters, Romance and so forth. Thus for a few dollars the reader may have a whole bookshelf of the immortals—may be intellectually rich for life.

A defective city transformer tied up the Free Press machinery for twenty-four hours on Wednesday and Thursday.

Some of the citizens of Fernie have been heard to complain in the past about the sale and canvassing of tickets on the streets, and in the business houses. They denounce the sale of tickets for dances, lodge socials, church bazaars, public welfare activities, etc. Of course, all these activities have to be carried on, and the people concerned in each organization have found this the surest method of going out and getting the necessary cash. Now after all that has been said about canvassing for the sale of tickets, the Fernie Public Library Board is trying the experiment of putting on a good show without canvassing for their ticket sale. This experiment deserves to be successful. The Library Board are just putting their plan on sale at McLean's Drug Store, and inviting the public to buy their tickets there. That's the ticket!

AN ACUTE ATTACK QUICKLY HELPED

Miss Lachance of 1142 Wellington St., Verdun, Montreal, Que., says: "I had occasion to use Vicks VapoRub during the winter, while suffering from acute LaGrippe, and it gave me instant relief. I used it as per directions on label and also rubbed it over aching spots—throat, points, forehead and around the nose for cold in the head—and found it very beneficial in every way. It was recommended to me by a friend who uses it as a family remedy all the time."

Vicks VapoRub comes in salve form, and for head and chest colds, you just apply it over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled all night long into the throat and lungs—Menthol, Camphor, Thyme, Eucalyptus and Turpentine. Vicks is also absorbed through and stimulates the skin, aiding the vapors to relieve congestion. Usually colds go in one night and croup is commonly relieved in 15 minutes.

By invitation of the manufacturers, fifteen thousand families in Canada tried Vicks last winter for cold troubles, the only condition being that they would report results. The above is just one of the enthusiastic reports received. The above statement is just one of dozens that can be quoted right in Fernie.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Owen and family left this morning to spend the Easter holidays with Mrs. Owen's parents at Lake Windermere.

LIBERTY AND AUTHORITY

Jack's as good as his master is the cursed idea that's got the world topsy turvy today.

With the housemaid on par with the mistress, with the workman declining to acknowledge the boss, it is high time to hark back to that good old-fashioned distinction of master and servant, ordained from the beginning by the Creator, Who gave to one man one talent, and to another ten.

According to a respresentative of our parlor ditch-diggers, if society were organized under ideal conditions, "the only difference between a ditch-digger and a Prime Minister would be a difference in occupation." But if a ditch-digger should climb to Premier, there is no doubt that he would disagree with such a fatuous statement. On the passage upward the ditch-digger would discover that there are distinctions, essential, and unescapable. It's not the man who merits these distinctions that objects to them.

We are in a world distraught with half-baked theories aimed at a general levelling up. But there is yet a sanctuary in the Highland Hills where false equality has never penetrated. There, though the clansmen are scattered, the ideal of the chieftain remains.

From Magna Charta, England has stood for the rights of the individual to be wrested from the ruler. Through all that time the Highlander has stood for the duties of the clansman to be rendered to the chieftain. The one is ever insisting on the rights to be extracted from above. The other is ever insisting on the duties to be extracted from below. Both are essential. But today with such infinite talk on "Liberty" might it not be well to listen a little more to that neglected word "Authority."

There is no finer picture of a ruler than that of the Highland chieftain, a master, supreme, undisputed. One man alone was ruler in the clan, not two, or three or more.

"Liberty cannot live with such a system," cries out the mutinous moron, who through the triumph of mediocrity has given us the tyranny of Demos.

Those that do the most prating on liberty, are generally acquainted with it the least."

Could anything be more subservient than a Cockney steward, with generations of tip-serving Cockneys behind him? That steward's sires ever since Runnymede have been growling about their "rights." The Cockney is probably the champion grouser of the earth, and yet what obsequiousness is his withal: Ever ready to grumble about his rights; ever ready to spit-lick, and to fawn, for fee or favor, On the contrary, there is nothing servile about the Highlander.

We might well hark back for social lessons to that ancient Highland system, representing as it did a perfect equipoise of liberty and of authority. No servants ever gave to their masters more willing obedience. Their lives were their chief's, and yet freedom was not imparied, for every humble Highland home was a cradle of national liberty.

In Prince Edward Island, Canada, was celebrated this Summer the planting of the first Highland colony upon the New World shores. Though less known, this landing was quite as momentus as the landing of the pilgrims. Both alike crossed the ocean at the urge of independence.

The Highlanders of Prince Edward Island, founded their new home to get clear of the curse of English landlordism, that had disrupted the Highlands. Shortly after their arrival, the priest, who had acquired the bulk of the land began to tax them. Here again was that very landlordism that they sailed forth to escape. Whereupon they nailed up the church door, and wrote to the bishop to send them another priest. What was that but an echo of their forbears, who back in the fifteenth century declared that if a Papal legate was sent into Scotland they would pitch him into the sea.

All the wealth of Highland history goes to prove that liberty and authority are not incompatable but complimentary.

On the side of the chieftain let it be stated that he held his power by right of worth, no less than by right of birth. By mischance a miser once attained to the Chiefstain of Clanranald. The clansmen celebrated his accession in the customary manner by the killing of hosts of cattle.

On beholding the slaughtered cattle, the miser could not refrain from deploring the waste. "Oh, why such a waste of good cattle, when a few hens would have been adequate." For this he was slain by the outraged Clanranald, and is remembered as the "Hen Chief," a miserable warning to untimely economists.

It is heart far more than hand or head which gives the birth-right to command.

A woman walking with Napoleon, encountered a number of servants, bending under heavy loads. She rudely motioned them aside, but the emporer himself stepped out of the way, exclaiming, "Madame respect the burden."

Arrogance in high places is the badge of "cheap and nasty." Sir Walter Scott driving home at night, was wont to climb up on the box beside the cabby. This was the quality in Sir Walter that made him not merely master, but the beloved master.

In the family where John Ruskin grew up he was trained to regard the servants, not as servants, but as friends. Such a master should cause cheery and willing obedience. But too often in this age the attitude of the servant is that of the negro kingdom, where all were admirals, and all were generals.

He who would command must first obey. This ancient order stands, despite the yapping of Tom, Dick and Harry to the contrary. The children of Israel, longing for plenty, had to follow Moses with unquestionable obedience. In like manner no great industrial well-being can return, unless the masses continue to follow their true leader.

Europe has its ruling class, that come to power by birth. America has its ruling class, that comes to power by nature, by the gift of talent, rather than by the gift of blood. But here as elsewhere, command must always rest in the hands of the few. Which brings us to the conclusion that even a Democracy must have at the core its oligarchis principle, its recognition of master and servant, of those in command and those under command.—Arthur Hunt Chute in the Toronto Sunday World.

CARNATION is twice as rich as ordinary milk! About sixty per cent of the water is removed by evaporation. Nothing else is taken away—nothing added!

The cream, the butterfat, all the rich goodness of this carefully selected milk remain in it.

Carnation is made safe for you by sealing it in air-tight tins and sterilizing it thoroughly. You can trust Carnation always.

When you pour Carnation out of the container you have pure, rich, safe milk in its most dependable form.

If you want it for cream purposes — for coffee, cereals, fruit, etc. — you use it as it comes from the tin. For milk uses, reduce its double richness to regular strength simply by adding an equal quantity of water.

Carnation keeps for several days after opening, and its high quality never varies. Thousands of housewives find it economical and most convenient. Many buy it by the case or dozen.

THE DISMAL DAY

(By Walt Mason)

It is a bleak and dismal day on which I write this weary lay that reek of gloom and woe; I hear the tireless winds complain, and down the door the sloppy rain keeps up a constant flow. Through misty panes I view the flood and mark men sliding in the mud, and swearing as they slid; they're plastered up with sorrel clay, and they have lost or thrown away all dignity and pride. I see fair women go about, their large umbrellas inside out, their rubbers lost or strayed; I see their lips frame hymns of praise, and eulogies of rainy days, as they toil up the grade. And there are countless autos stuck, up to their fenders in the muck, while woner stand aghast; and I can fancy how they bless, in words of emphasis and stress, the rain that drizzles past. Oh, let us chant some cheer-up tunes! The rain will help the growing prunes, and save the shredded rice; it brings the precious boon of peace to crocodiles and ducks and geese, and everything is nice. My doors are in the blast aswing, the roof is leaking as I sing these glad exultant lines; but rain is worth its weight in cash, for it will save the succotash and costly ketchup vines. When I began this dark day hymn, my eyes, as you will note, were dim, with bitter, scalding tears; but when I thought of how the peas will flourish on such days as these, I smiled and wagged my ears.

Here and There

Renfrew, Ont.—Mr. Ritchie, the station agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has received instructions from headquarters to rigidly enforce the no trespassing order on the property of this company. This is particularly in reference to people walking down the railway track. When accidents happen it always entails a trouble to the company and lately there have been complaints that school children have been using the railway as a thoroughfare.

Vancouver.—"I have been in the Alps and the Pyrenees, but I have never seen anything that can compare with Banff," said William Faversham, famous English actor, when speaking at Hotel Vancouver.

Mr. Faversham spoke of the wonderful international dog races staged at the winter carnival, and said that he had on special invitation visited the great motion picture plant at Banff.

Invermere, B.C.—An appropriation had been passed for the building of a depot at Lake Windermere by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Lake Windermere is the depot for the whole of the Lake Windermere district. It enjoys the distinction of being the only station on the Lake Windermere branch between Golden and Fort Steele, which has enjoyed the benefit of an agent since December, 1914. A modest little portable depot, a box car on the ground, has done duty all these years but with the proposed opening of the Banff-Windermere road on the thirtieth of June, it is no doubt thought that it is time the old box car took a move.

Ottawa.—The Canadian National Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior is commencing the construction of a hydro-electric generating station in Cascade creek in Banff National Park to supply light and power for the town of Banff, Alberta. The dam at the outlet of Lake Minnewanka constructed in 1912 to provide storage facilities, will be utilized and will ensure a steady flow of water for power purposes without further impairing the scenic attractions of the locality. Electric power for Banff is at present obtained from the steam plant of the Bankhead Mines. The work will be undertaken by day labor.

Winnipeg.—Seven thousand cars of grain have been loaded between September 1, 1922, and Feb. 1, 1923, for the western coast by the Canadian Pacific Railway. This represents 10,234,000 bushels of grain for export from Vancouver. The shipments comprised 6,175 cars of wheat, 162 oats, 16 barley and 50 rye. Exports from the western coast were destined as follows: The Orient, 896,880 bushels, and the United Kingdom 987,905 bushels. As at January 31, there were 900,000 bushels of Canadian Pacific grain in the elevator at Vancouver and 500 cars in transit carrying 735,000 bushels of wheat. The present movement west is averaging 25 cars a day.

Fort William.—The contract for the construction of a building to replace number five freight shed, was awarded by Canadian Pacific Railway officials to the Carter-Hall-Aldinger Company, of Winnipeg. It provides for two fire walls which will divide the new structure into three compartments.

The new dock along the new shed will be of concrete. It is the present intention to use the end of the shed nearest the Canadian Pacific Railway subway for the handling of local freight instead of the end nearest the city subway dock as was the with the old shed. It has been decided that the new arrangement will be more satisfactory to company officials and to concerns having business with them.

Discussing the new shed to-day, D. C. Chisholm, division superintendent, said that the new structure would be of frame construction very much like the shed it will replace, aside from the fire walls and the concrete wharf.

Winnipeg.—Under the auspices of the railways, the provincial government and livestock associations of the province, two livestock improvement trains, similar to those which toured the province last year, will again be operated in Manitoba during the coming summer.

The 1923 trains are to be known as "the Livestock Improvement Trains." They will give attention to the following departments: The benefit of improved quality in cattle: demonstration and sale of pure-bred sires, both beef and dairy breeds; the production of fodder crops; the dehorning of cattle and other work in connection with the cattle industry; the breeding, feeding and marketing of bacon hogs; the demonstration of desirable mutton types and docking and castration of lambs; demonstrations and lectures on poultry raising, with the selling of eggs for hatching purposes; home economic lectures and demonstrations for women and lectures and education motion pictures for girls and boys.

The dates for the trains will be from Monday, April 30, onward for four weeks. This will cover about the same dates as last year which were found very satisfactory.

It is said that the ancient Egyptians were forbidden to eat onions. This may account for the hard, dry erpression in the eyes of the Sphinx.

POLITICAL MURDER

The law of libel is not the same in all countries. The British law is more strict than the American and the American than the French. Consequently, political discussion is precise and guarded in Britain, pertinent but circumspect in the United States, and both inflammatory and highly personal in France.

When a British politician wants to say something nasty about an enemy he consults a lawyer, unless he is a lawyer himself, and then contrives to make things so plain that everyone but a judge can understand.

The Parisian demands the assassination of his opponent.

Before the war, the Royalist press of Paris, headed by Daudet, demanded incessantly that Jean Jaures, the Socialist, be put out of the way as a traitor. In the first week of the war he was assassinated.

A few weeks ago the shriek of the Communists and Anarchists for the blood of Daudet was almost rewarded by the shooting of his associate, Marius Plateau.

Now Daudet demands that somebody murder Aristide Briand. Some crack-brained fool may do it yet, and Daudet says: "The news will please me."

Possibly the approved Canadian method of killing a politician with whisperings is just as effective as the French way, but it is scarcely as exciting. Our politicians would seem to be fairly safe, even from the wives of their opponents. There is no Madame Calliaux in this young and crude civilization.—Toronto Sunday World.

MAKE MUSEUMS LIVELY

The arts and crafts of the past can best be brought to the children of the present by means of the eye. The blackboard is better than speech and the museum case is superior to the blackboard. Children want things first-hand. They want to see Tutankhamen rather than to hear about him.

Museums are not dead places for old people. "The museum belongs to you," said the curator of a great London museum to the small boy. Museums should not be gloomy. They can be made into thrilling places of light and enlightenment and adventure, where the great past is lived again by imaginative children. Toronto World.

The proposal to rebuild the Bank of England has given rise to an interesting question. In 1781 the Governors of the Bank were authorized by Parliament to pull down the Church of St. Christopher-le-Stocks, a Wren building, in order to extend their premises. It was stipulated, however, that the bones of the dead in the churchyard should be placed in a vault, which was never to be built upon. Powers are now being sought to over-ride that condition. There is a strong opposition to this being done.

Oxford University rugby footballers going to Heidelberg to engage in a game with the young men of the university there. The first ship flying the German flag has arrived in Victoria to load a cargo of lumber. Thus the status quo ante bellum has been restored in certain parts of the far-flung Empire. The British people cannot long "nurse their wrath and keep it warm."

WHO FIRST FELT "LIKE A FIGHTING COCK"?

COCK-FIGHTING was born with the cocks.

But it is only 80 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock!"

Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world—all feeling "like a fighting cock!"

It happens this way: A person half sick with bad stomach, dull and heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity — and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

NEW ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

Mail Order Man Need Not Worry About Keeping His Old Customers

HIS FIELD NOT RESTRICTED

Local Merchant, on Other Hand, Must Give Good Values and Service In Order to Hold His Trade

(Copyright)

It has been said that there is a sucker born every minute. If this be true, there are 1440 potential customers of the mail order houses ushered into the world every 24 hours and the number reaches a total of 525,600 every year

Of course, as Mark Twain remarked regarding reports of his death, these figures may be exaggerated, but they serve to illustrate the fact that the mail order houses of the big cities always have new fields to exploit and are not hampered in the dealings by the necessity of pleasing all their old customers. If the mail order buyer discovers that he has been "stung" and registers a vigorous kick, it means nothing in the young life of the mail order man. Why should he worry as long as there are some 99,999,999 other persons in the United States to whom he may make his alluring appeals.

Ever Get Your Money Back?

Did anyone ever hear of a mail order house refunding a customer's money if the customer was not satisfied with his purchase? Don't all speak at once, please. The big mail order houses in the cities expect to receive a large number of complaints from their customers. They know that much of the goods which they sell will not come up to the expectations of the buyers, whose ideas as to what they will receive have been formulated from the pretty pictures and alluring descriptions given in the catalogues.

The mail order houses prepare for this contingency by maintaining large corps of clerks whose sole duty it is to answer the letters of irate customers. These clerks, or correspondents, as they are called, exercise all their powers of cajolery in an effort to appease the complaining customers, but if this is found to be impossible, after an exchange of letters, the mail order man has no cause for worry. His living is not dependent upon the customer to whom he has already sold goods. "There are as good fish in the sea as have ever been caught" and he turns his attention toward the landing of the new fish.

Local Merchant's Field Limited

Compare the position of the mail order man with that of the retail merchant in the small city or town. The retail merchant has a certain limited territory from which he must draw his trade. All his business must be done day after day and year after year among the same people. The buyers to whom he can appeal for business numbers only a few thousand at the most and in some cases a few hundred. Unless he can make his customers his friends and bring them back to his store again, he cannot continue in business. The result is that he looks beyond the single sale which he may be making at the time. It is to his interest to please every one of his customers. It will profit him nothing to make a big profit off a customer on one sale if that customer is not satisfied with his purchase and refuses to come back to his store again.

From which man can the buyer expect to get the best values, the best service and the best prices in proportion to the quality of goods sold? From the man who must please him and give him his money's worth in order to remain in business, or from the man who figures that he may never hear from the buyer again and that it will make no great difference whether he pleases him or not?

Gets It While He Can

The idea upon which the mail order man works is to get the money while the getting is good. If the customer is satisfied with the goods which he receives, all well and good. The mail order man knows that the customer is the kind of a man or woman who likes to take a chance or he wouldn't have sent in his order in the first place. Therefore he may figure that the customer is likely to take a second chance even if the first does not turn out to his liking. If the customer has enough spirit to make a kick, the trained correspondents in charge of the complaint department may be able to pacify him. If they are not, it doesn't matter much anyway, for there are millions of others who may be caught with the same bait—there is one born every minute, you know.

It is well for the customer to remember these facts if he is ever tempted to take a chance on the offerings of the mail order house. The home merchant has something at stake in every sale that he makes. The mail order man has nothing at stake. If the customer has enough everything at stake on the manner in which he treats his customers, for he cannot get others to take their places. The mail order man has nothing at stake, for it is to his interest to get all that he can out of each sale, knowing that he may never have another chance at that particular customer

WINDEREMERE OPERATIONS

(Spokane Mining Truth)

T. H. Kerruish, manager of the Inter - Provincial Mines Development Co., Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C., was in Spokane a short time ago on his way to the Coeur d'Alene district, where he investigated leasing opportunities. His company has been operating the Nip and Tuck mine at the head of McDonald Creek, a branch of Horse Thief Creek, adjoining the Ptarmigan Mine, 28 miles from Windermere, in the East Kootenay district.

The property is held under a three year bond for $17,000, from March, 1922, upon which two payments have already been made. Operations were commenced last July and a force of four or five men was employed continuously until severe weather recently forced a shut down.

As a result of these operations a 30 ton carload of silver-lead ore has been shipped to Trail smelter. It is estimated that it will run around 55 per cent. lead and 70 to 75 ozs. silver. The ore is rawhided about half a mile to the foot of the mountain and then conveyed 28 miles over an excellent wagon road to Windermere, where it is transferred to the Columbia Valley branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Paradise mine, the largest producer in the immediate district, has been working at high pressure since the latter part of 1922 with a pay roll of about 40 men—more than at any time in the previous history of the mine. Eight teams are employed hauling ore and it is said that 1000 tons is ready for shipment at the mine. The ore is a silver-lead carbonate averaging around $50 a ton. Randolph Bruce, a pioneer operator of the district, is principal owner and manager.

The Steel group, on No. 3 Creek was operated during 1922 by the Alice Arm Holding Co., of Vancouver, B.C., and shipped two carloads of sulphide silver-lead ore, running about $70 per ton. It is estimated that seven or eight car-loads more can easily be extracted, but the severe weather of the last few weeks interferred seriously with operations and the property was closed down until next season.

Isaac Group, also on No. 3 Creek, is under option to John Couglan & Sons, ship builders of Vancouver, and shipped a car-load of ore running about $100 to the ton.

The Ptarmigan Mine, owned by the Farnham Estate of New York, has been closed down for nearly twenty years. Mr. Kerruish examined the property during the summer months and believes it would make a large mine under proper development conditions. Aproximately 4000 or 5000 feet of work has already been done, and there is considerable ore in sight ready for extraction.

The past season has been one of the best in the history of the East Kootenay country, development work having been very encouraging in several directions.

Health turns the clock backward

ONE MINUTE HEALTH ESSAY
by G. J. PARKS — CHIROPRACTOR

When colds attack suddenly, when headaches pounce upon you, when that difficult, painful swallowing appears, go see a Chiropractor.

If quick attention is given to these premonitory warnings, colds, fevers, etc., do not reach a chronic stage. The Chiropractor uses no drugs. He does not fill your system with poisonous materials; instead he opens the way for un-impeded nerve flow by adjustments of the spine.

Nerve Force is Life Force. Nerve impulse, or better still, mental impulse must have uninterrupted flow or movement, else ill health follows.

Many people overlook the fact that Chiropractic is especially good for acute conditions.

ODD THINGS HAPPEN TO PEOPLE

ODD THINGS HAPPEN TO PEOPLE WHICH PROVE THE TRUTH OF CHIROPRACTIC

Several years ago a man was plowing when his team ran away dragging the unfortunate man by the neck across the rough ground. He was unconscious when released, and upon recovering consciousness was totally blind.

For three years he sat in a chair in his home, brooding over his misfortune.

One summer evening, his daughter started the supper fire with coal oil. She screamed: "Papa, I'm on fire!" Hastily jumping from his seat in the dining room, he rushed madly to the kitchen, falling over a chair in the doorway. He scrambled to his feet, successfully put out the fire, with no damage to his daughter, and then discovered he could see perfectly. The fall had restored the vertebrae to normal.

MINSTRELS ENJOYED

The Fernie Minstrel Troup presented their play "A Wild Night in the Kootenay Klub" before a capacity house in the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening and made a decided hit.

The revue itself was somewhat of a new departure from the regular run of minstrel shows, only seven members of the troup doing the 'black face' stunt, as waiters, porters and entertainers, while the remainder acted as guests at the club, and the novelty thus provided was greatly appreciated by the audience.

To George Heaford (Mr. Hava Shot) and Claire Fierheller (Mr. Upper Tone) the two end men, together with D. G. Harvie, the middleman, go the honors of the evening, their repartee during the entire show, kept the audience roaring. The buck and wing dancers, Messrs. La Rochelle and Kasmar also made a decidedly fine impression.

The musical and vocal end of the evening's entertainment was a real festival, everyone of the singers displaying splendid talent and when combined into a septette they were unsurpassable. The accompanists, Messrs. Nelson, Watson and Evans did their duty nobly.

The following is a detailed program of the evening which was intertwined throughout with original patter and good natured banter on many of the city's celebrities:

Opening Chorus: "Ready, All Ready —Let's Go"—Entire troup.

Soldier's Chorus—Kootenay Klub Glee Singers.

Song: "Graveyard Blues"—Mr. Heaford.

Parody Song: "They Went Wild Over Me"—Mr. Rewers.

Septette: "Medely From the South" —Glee Singers.

Song: "The C. S. M."—Mr. Owen.

Song: "England Our Home"—Mr. Biggs.

Song: "The Anvil Chorus"—Mr. Alexander.

Chorus: "The Old Brigade"—Glee Singers.

Whistling Solo—Mr. Heaford.

Dance: "Cake Walk."

Comic Song: "The Flivver"—Mr. Fierheller and Chorus.

Song: "Young Willie Green"—Mr. Alexander and Chorus.

Closing Song: "Leav eMe With a Smile,,—The Entire Troup.

"God Save The King."

The entire cast of the play was as follows in order on the stage:

Right Side—End man, Mr. G. Heaford; porter, Mr. J. Puckey; waiter, Mr. M. Kasmar; septette, Messrs. F. Alexander, W. Owen and G. Austin; entertainer, D. La Rochelle.

Middleman, Mr. D. G. Harvie.

Left Side—End man, Mr. C. Fierheller; porter, Mr. T. Rizzutto; waiter, Mr. H. Whalley; septette, Messrs. T. Biggs, C. Andrews, A. J. Moffoatt and J. V. Rewers; guest of the evening, Dr. W. H. Pickering.

After the performance the entire troup were entertained at a banquet in the Northern Hotel by the executive of the Fernie Library to whom the proceeds of the entertainment will go, to assist them in furthering the work of the local library. During the course of the banquet it was decided to present their revue at Coal Creek on Monday night next.

An adequate system of handling shipments of powder, feed and seed, has been arranged and the Institute promises to be a real success this year.

An active campaign is being carried on and poultrymen and gardeners of the district are invited to join the institution.

The first meeting under the new directorate will be held in the Council Chambers on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend and bring along a new member.

Judgment will be Rendered on Wednesday

OTTAWA, April 3.—The criminal cause celebre of Emilo Picariello and Florence Lasandro was reached in the supreme court at noon today and the argument will take place all the afternoon and possibly run into tomorrow. For these two people convicted of the murder of Constable Stephen Lawson, at Coleman, on the 21st of last September, a new trial is sought. The Alberta court of appeals, Justice Beck dissenting, denied a similar application. It is upon this dissenting judgment of Justice Beck that the whole aspect of the case here today hinges.

A considerable array of counsel appears in the case, Aime Geoffrion, K. C., of Montreal; J. McKinley Cameron, K.C. and Sherwood Herchmer are acting for Picariello and Lasandro, while A. A. McGillvray, K.C., and S. J. Helman appear for the crown. The appeal is being heard by a court of five judges with Mr. Justice Idington presiding.

At the outset of the argument, Mr. McGillvray suggested that the case would necessarily be limited to the reasons set forth in the dissenting judgment of Justice Beck.

The appeal today, thus limited, revolves around the objections by Justice Beck to the method of Judge Walsh's charge to the jury at the trial. It was held by Judge Beck that the charge was in error in regard (1) to the law of provocation, (2) to certain evidence of telephone conversation, (3) indifferentiation as to the acts and conduct of each of the defendants as evidence against the other, (4) that the charge was defective on the question of common design.

Apart from the preliminary outline the argument was exceedingly technical, relating wholly to points of law as applied to the trial judge's charge to the jury, and Justice Beck's dissent from its regularity. "There is some question in my mind of taking up such a dubious dissent at all," commented Justice Idington.

Mr. Geoffrion, K. C., gave a very fair outline of the circumstances of the case. He admitted that Picariello was suspected of being in the illicit rum running business from British Columbia, that when a search of his premises was made at Blairmore, nothing was found but, on a signal being given, Steve Picariello, his son dashed back towards British Columbia in his car, being followed by Picariello, Sr., and Sergeant Scott in that order.

The father's car was blocking Scott getting ahead. Scott proceeded to phone ahead to Lawson at Coleman, and when young Picariello hurried through, a shot was fired at him by Lawson. Picariello, Sr., hearing that his son had been shot, had threatened that if this was so "he could shoot too." That night, it was alleged, Picariello, accompanied by Florence Lasandro, proceeded to Coleman and beside their motor car shot down Lawson., Picariello afterwards justify ing himself by saying, according to one witness, "he had a gun,' 'and according to another, "he tried to shoot me."

There was likewise an alleged confession by the woman Lasandro that she had gone to "get" Lawson. In the course of the argument, Justice Anglin commented, "It is very clear as to manslaughter but, perhaps, open to doubt otherwise." At another stage Justice Mignault expressed the view that while Lawson had his arms around Picariello's neck, Lasandro had fired the killing shot, though there were several fired at random. "It is clear that shots were fired by both of them," asserted Justice Anglin.

Mr. Geoffrion had not finished his outline when the court rose for lunch.

Afternoon Session

In the afternoon, Aime Geoffrion, K.C. senior counsel for the condemned, continued his argument. Having concluded the outline of the case, he went into the more legal technical aspect of it and, making extensive citations from Judge Walsh's charge to the jury, commented on each of them.

He first claimed that the judge's definition of manslaughter as accidental killing without intent was wrong.

Likewise, it was wrong to say that killing is presumed to be intentional unless the reverse is proven.

"When the woman confessed, was she trying to prove that she acted in self-defense," inquired Justice Brodeur.

Mr. Geoffrion answered that it depended upon the construction of what she had in mind when she said, "We went to get Lawson."

Did she mean that Picariello and she went to get Lawson to go with them to bring back Steve or to "get" him in the sense of meaning to kill him? Defense counsel went on to argue that the trial judge's charge—if the jury were to believe the evidence of Sergt. Scott—excluded the theory of self-defense applied to the woman.

"If she did the shooting," he continued, "the only defense is self-defence, and this is excluded from her."

Mr. Geoffrion submitted that the burden of everything was on the defence. The jury had not been told that it "must" give the benefit of the doubt to accused. "No jury," he said, "listening to the charge, would have the idea that, if they entertained reasonable doubt, they could bring in a verdict of manslaughter or acquittal."

Mr. Justice Idington: "In what I have read of Justice Beck's dissent, I see little foundation for your argument."

Continuing, Mr. Geoffrion stressed the point that the jury was not properly instructed that in the event of doubt they could bring in a verdict of manslaughter. "The talking beside the car," he said, "took several minutes. If they went there to kill Lawson, it could have been done in a minute. Is there not strong evidence for a jury on the theory that they went to get Lawson to go with them and secure the release of Steve Picariello.

"What reason," asked Mr. Geoffrion, "did Mrs. Lasandro have to go and shoot this man?"

Justice Anglin: "What reason had she to go and get a revolver before she started?"

Ottawa, April 4.—A. A. McGillvray, K.C., appeared for the crown, continuing his argument before the supreme court this morning in the appeal from the supreme court of Alberta on the capital cases of Emilo Picariello and Florence Lasandro.

Mr. McGillvray dealt more particularly with the charge to the jury by Judge Walsh and the dissenting judgment of Mr. Justice Beck in the ruling of the Alberta supreme court, which dismissed the appeal of the accused. Mr. McGillvray argued that in his charge to the jury, Judge Walsh had drawn the line clear between manslaughter and murder and that the jury had been cognizant of the difference. "It is my respectful submission," said Mr. McGillvray, "that the jury were not misled and that the dissenting judge's judgment was not well taken." "Not only," Mr. McGillvray continued, "did Judge Walsh interpret the law on the point to the jury, but he read to them the section of the criminal code."

On the question of whether there had been provocation shooting, Mr. McGillvray argued that where there was killing with a deadly weapon, the onus was on the person who had done the killing to show justification or excuse, when such pleaded. "It is murder," said Mr. McGillvray, "unless the accused can raise a defense of justification or excuse."

Mr. McGillvray was still speaking when the court adjourned. He continues his argument this afternoon.

Ottawa, April 5.—McKinley Cameron, of Calgary, before the supreme court of Canada this morning continued argument for Emilo Picariello and Florence Lasandro, who have been sentenced to death on the charge of murdering Constable Lawson of the Alberta Provincial Police.

Mr. Cameron dealt with the charge to the jury of the trial judge, Judge Walsh. He submitted that on the question of a possible reduction of the charge from murder to manslaughter, the trial judge "is under an obligation to put every bit of law to the jury that the evidence in the case warrants and requires."

"Unless the evidence is such that no reasonable jury could have found manslaughter," commented Mr. Justice Anglin.

Dealing, in his charge, with self-defense, continued Mr. Cameron, the trial judge was led to error, if at all, in not keeping clearly in his mind section 53 of the criminal code dealing with defense against assault.

"If," argued Mr. Cameron, "Lawson was the person who started that assault, I say the provisions of section 53 should have been kept fairly in the judge's mind and put to the jury."

On the question of self-defense, there had been misdirection.

"You said there was misdirection on self-defense," observed Mr. Justice Duff, as Mr. Cameron was continuing his argument. "I am afraid I have not quite got your point as to that. Can you show us precisely where there was misdirection?"

Mr. Cameron: "What I say is that his lordship (Judge Walsh) did not have in his mind and point out to the jury the situation that is dealt with in section 53 of the code, but instead dealt with sections 54 and 55."

Quoting from section 53, Mr. Cameron cited the provision that a person who felt his life to be in danger could repel force by force and could cause death or grevious bodily harm if he did so under the apprehension of death or grevious bodily harm.

Mr. Justice Anglin referred to the charge of Judge Walsh and remarked that Judge Walsh had instructed the jury that a person was entitled to take life to save life. "The jury had heard all the evidence," said Justice Anglin.

"And they heard the argument," added Mr. Justice Duff.

Mr. Cameron's argument concluded the hearing. Judgment will be rendered on Wednesday.

THE TUXIS BOYS COMMUNITY COUNCIL

A meeting was held in the basement of the United Church on Monday last, all members were present except Ald. Corrigan. In the absence of the Mayor who was in the hospital, Ald. Gordon presided.

The Council instructed to arrange for a by-election shortly for two School Trustees and one Police Commissioner.

Mr. John A. Reid was appointed City Clerk for the term. Acting-Mayor Gordon asked for the report of the public works committee at the next meeting.

TAXATION AND CREDIT

Arguing that if the advantage of a municipality as a community desirable as a place in which to earn a living and bring up a family are destroyed or diminished by taxation or otherwise, then the value of all investments made by the city are destroyed or diminished, the Toronto Bureau of Municipal Research points out that all taxes must be paid out of income and that if they leave too little for other necessary or desirable things the community in the long run is bound to suffer. The results at first may be imprecceptible. A natural inertia may delay the time when tendencies become evident as actualities; but when the decline begins to occur, to arrest it is difficult. It is easier to stay sound than to become sound after unsoundness has appeared.

From a financial standpoint a municipality is a unit. Unsound or extravagant current financing reacts on capital financing. Injudicious or extravagant capital investments react on current expenditures. The success of one department of the city's activities contributes to the success of all, and the weakness of one contributes to the weakness of all. A city's credit is not distributed among several watertight compartments.

The following is taken from the bureau's bulletin as showing how business principles apply in the case of municipal finance:

"A number of citizens take the necessary steps to start a municipality. To initiate the basal service to be carried by taxation, $100.000 is borrowed. This furnishes the necessary school building, streets, sidewalks, police and fire equipment. Taxation is low and population is attracted. $100,000 is borrowed for water-works, another $100,000 for light, another $100,000 for housing. The charges on the first $100,000 are carried by the taxes, those of the second and third $100,000 by rates, and those of the fourth by monthly payments. Is the debt $100,000 or $400,000? Is the basis of credit behind the first $100,000 essentially different from that behind the $300,000, whose charges are not to be borne out of taxation?

Let us suppose that the cost of operating the basal service increases to such an extent that the per capita taxation becomes relatively much larger than other neighboring municipalities. What happens? Industries tend to move to other centres. Unemployment increases. Population remains stationary or diminishes. Per capita cost go up. Houses lie vacant. Public Utility service lose customers. Deficits on ordinary current account accumulate. Deficits on the operation of the three public utilities appear and increase the per capita tax burden. The municipality finds it more difficult to borrow even at higher interest rates. The current costs of operating the ordinary civic departments again go up, the population diminishes or its ability to pay declines and the process goes on in a vicious circle. Such a history is rare in Canadian municipalities. It is not unknown. It represents an extreme case. But extreme cases illustrate universal tendencies.

In almost every case where such a history represents the facts, it has not been due to dishonesty or malfeasance in office. It has been due to inefficiency and still more to basing expenditure on wants, fancied or real, rather than on needs, actual and basal.

This parallel is drawn not to condemn all capital expenditures, not to oppose adequate investments to meet healthy expansion, not to attack rational taxation for the proved needs of basal service, but to emphasize the following facts:—

1. The value in exchange of all municipal debentures depends, in the last analysis, on the ability of citizens to pay for service.

2. Their ability to pay for services depends on their opportunities for lucrative employment.

3. Lucrative employment depends on the prosperity and number of the businesses and industries carried on in the community.

4. The prosperity of business and industry depends on their ability to compete in selling goods or services in local, provincial, national or world markets.

5. Their ability to compete depends, among other things and increasingly so, on relatively moderate taxation.

6. Therefore, moderate municipal taxation is a prime factor in determining the number of taxpayers in a community and their aggregate ability to pay for services, and also

7. Therefore, moderate municipal taxation is a prime factor in determining the soundness of a city's investments in special services not supported out of taxation.

"EDUCATING" THE PEOPLE

The non-fictious film in a picture house usually costs merely a fraction of the feature drama's colossal outlay. It is said that seldom does a non-fiction reel demand more initial outlay than $1500. Persons who wish to invest little can enter this field. The result is that propagandists are active. It is a poor summer resort that cannot afford to assemble some bathing beauties and stage a stunt that will advertise its peculiar attractions. The railways, employers' associations and politicians of the United States use this trick extensively in "putting across" their ideas. A writer estimates that at least 40 per cent. of the non-fiction releases are paid for by special interests.—Toronto World.

The Royal Society (London) of which Dr. J. S. Plasket has been elected a member, dates back to 1660, and probably the inception of the idea which led to its birth may be traced back to the Novum Organum of Bacon, published in 1620, which gave a great impetus to the discussion of philosophical questions and the reporting of experiments. The Royal Society has had such famous presidents as Sir Christopher Wren, Samuel Pepys, Sir Isaac Newton, Sir Humphreys Davy and the Earl of Rosse. Indeed, all of its presidents down to the present day have been those in the forefront of scientific achievement. It is a high honor to belong to the Society and one upon which his fellow citizens will congratulate Dr. Plaskett.

RELIGION COMES BACK

The revival of talk of heresy trials is taken to indicate a revival of interest in organized and dogmatic Christianity. A generation ago heresy trials were quite the thing in Canada and some of our most eminent preachers had to endure the unpleasant manifestations of the love of their brethern. In New York, this Winter several eminent divines, as they are called, came near to furnishing the press with some highly incomprehensible but inflammatory material. The church does not seem to have discovered how to fight in good temper over anything that is considered "vital."—Toronto World.

"WHAT YOUR HUSBAND NEEDS"

"One night my husband came home looking so ill and worn out that I thought he would faint. I knew there had been something wrong with him for some time, but I could not get him to tell me what it was. Finally he confessed he was tired and sore all over. I made him go to bed. Next morning he insisted upon going to work although he was anything but well. I knew that his trouble was partly due to worry because for some months before he had been out of work. This put us so heavily in debt that the grocer and butcher refused to give us more credit. It was being out of work that worried my husband. He wouldn't eat because he was afraid there would not be enough food for the children. We were so poor that we had to keep the children from school because they had no clothes. I knew that if I could only get my husband strong and well again everything would be all right. He is a carpenter by trade and when in good health earns good wages and he is always sober and industrious. But I knew that it was impossible for any man to do good work when he was ill and worried. I decided to speak to our old family doctor, who had retired from practice. When I explained how we were situated he gladly offered to do all he could to help us, although he didn't like to interfere with the new doctor's practice. Finally he said, 'What your husband needs is a good tonic and I know of nothing better than Carnol.' I thought that if our old family doctor recommends Carnol it must be all right. On my way home I got a bottle and before the first bottle had been used, my husband was a changed man. After he had taken four bottles his appetite returned, he had more energy, that tired look in his eyes disappeared and what is most important his wages have been more than doubled and he is now superintendent of the wood working shop in which he formerly worked as a carpenter. Thanks to Carnol our troubles are over and we are once more a happy and contented family."

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

Trophy Presented by Hon. Dr. King For Mine Rescue Competitions

The Advisory Board of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association held its annual meeting at the Government Mine Rescue Station on Friday, March 30. Fernie, Coal Creek, Michel and Corbin were all represented, forty members being in attendance. Mr. T. Uphill, M.L.A. and Mr. W. B. Morrison, Vancouver, were also present as visitors.

Vice Presidents—Messrs. M. Hilton, Fernie; C. McNay, Coal Creek; R. Bonar, Michel; F. W. Reger, Corbin.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. C. Stubbs Fernie.

Rules to govern the "King Trophy," a gift from the Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, for annual competition by mine rescue teams were considered.

It was decided to procure ten plates to be attached to the trophy, and to bear dates from 1922 to 1931 inclusive. This action determined that the winners of the 1922 competition, the Blairmore team of the West Canadian Collieries, would be the first custodians of the trophy and it is to be forwarded to them as soon as the plates have been affixed.

The following rules were adopted:

1. The Trophy presented by the Hon. Dr King, Minister of Public Works, shall be known as the "King Trophy," shall remain the property of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association, and under the Trusteeship of the Executive Officers of the Advisory Board. These officers shall be the President or Chairman, the Secretary-Treasurer and the Vice Presidents, all of whom shall have been elected according to the Constitution and By-Laws of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association.

2. The Trophy shall be competed for each year, commencing 1922, at the annual competitions and under the Rules of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association, and shall be presented to the team being adjudged the winners of the Mine Rescue Competition, to be held by them as provided for by these rules.

3. The Trophy shall be placed for safe keeping in the Offices of the Company at whose mines the competitors are employed, and the Secretary-Treasurer of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association shall procure a receipt and fyle the same.

4. The Trophy must be returned by the holders to the Secretary-Treasurer not less than two weeks prior to the date set for the annual competition, or upon the request of the Secretary-Treasurer when instructed by the Advisory Board.

5. The persons in whose care the Trophy may be placed shall not be permitted to engrave, mark or deface the Trophy in any way.

6. Names of members of winning teams shall be engraved and placed upon the Trophy in the following manner:

"At the time of the competition, one name plate shall be removed from the Trophy, and the Trophy presented to the winning team minus this plate. The Secretary-Treasurer shall have the names engraved and shall then forward the plate to the holders of the Trophy so that they may attach the plate in it's proper place."

7. When all plates have been engraved, the Trophy shall be withdrawn from competition and shall be disposed as may be determined by the Trustees.

The Secretary reported that a number of copies of "The Rescue Man's Manual," published by the "Colliery Guardian" Publishing Co., had been procured, and it was decided that these should be sold at cost to any members requiring them. These handbooks contain much valuable information for all persons employed in the mines, whether they have any knowledge of the use of rescue apparatus or not, and can be procured from the Secretary at 25 cents per copy.

Competitions were decided upon for 1923, these to be held at Fernie on July 1st, providing this date does not conflict with the Alberta Competitions. In case this date would conflict, then a later date would be decided upon.

The Secretary drew attention to the fact that the Fernie Junior Ambulance team had obtained second place in the St. John Ambulance Association Junior Competitions, the medals had been received, and the Fernie Rotary Club were making arrangements to invite the boys to dinner with them on April 12, when the medals would be presented.

At the close of the meeting, all the members of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy who were present discussed the advisability of organizing a local branch of the Institue. Mr. H. Miard, who was asked to act as secretary of the meeting, was requested to send circulars to all members of the Association, resident in the East Kootenay coal mining district with a view of ascertaining their willingness to join a local branch.

PRISCILLA DEAN COMING TO ORPHEUM

The dynamic personality of Priscilla Dean has never been given such forceful expression on the screen as in "Under Two Flags," the Universal-Jewel production of Ouida's famous novel, which comes to the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. The spirited girl, Cigarette, idol of a French Regiment at Algiers, is the type Miss Dean portrays so well.

The excitement with which the film abounds was felt by every member of the huge company at Universal City participating in the production of this classic of the screen. They all lived in the atmosphere of Algeria, where the action of the story takes place.

A portion of the town of Algiers, with a faithful reproduction of the French barracks there, was built at the big studio. Members of the cast lived "in character" for several months. Miss Dean herself became so accustomed to the costumes of the play that it was difficult for her to readjust herself to habits of normal life when not actually working before the camera.

Several companies of French soldiers, properly uniformed and armed, were recuited by Tod Bdowning, the director, for use in various scenes. The harem of an Arab chief was reproduced in all the splendor that is a savage potentate's. Every reel of the film teems with color and dramatic action.

Some of the best players of the screen were engaged to appear with Miss Dean in "Under Two Flags." James Kirkwood, John Davidson and Sturat Holmes, all noted actors, were selected for prominent parts. This Universal-Jewel production is regarded as Miss Dean's supreme achievement on the screen.

If Louise de La Ramee (Ouida) could be alive today and see the glory of her creation as it is held in the limelight by critics and public, she might be recompensed for the ghastly error which dragged her to an obscure death in poverty. Her's is a masterpiece for the ages.

CONTROL OF THE BUSH PROPERTIES SOLD

VANCOUVER, April 2.—Control of the Bush mines, comprising 18 silver and gold claims in the Salmon river section of the Portland Canal district of British Columbia adjoining the famous Premier mine, has been sold in New York By O. B. Bush, who originally controlled the Premier mine. A brief telegram to this effect was received here today.

It is believed locally the Bush mines have been purchased by the same syndicate which now controls the Premier, but confirmation of this report was not forthcoming. The properties involved in today's transaction were located by Grant Mahood, and were known as the Leslie mine.

COAL PROBE IS UNLIKELY

The declaration that the Alberta miners and coal operators having come to an agreement whereby the present wage scale is extended for a year, nothing definite can be done by the federal department of labor regarding a reduction in coal costs is stated by the minister of labor, Hon. James Murdock, in reply to a resolution adopted by the boards of trade at the recent convention in Trail.

The boards pointed out that the high price of coal in Alberta was proving a serious handicap to British Columbia industries and stated that it appeared that the attitude of the Alberta coal miners was dictated by the U.S. labor interests. They asked that if any foreign dictation to Canadian workmen existed, steps be taken to remove it.

With this phase of the matter the minister of labor does not deal, but he suggests that the matter might be taken up with the minister of trade and commerce, who is considering the whole fuel situation.

Astronomers report the destruction by an explosion of the great star Beta Ceti. The light of the conflagration which followed the disaster was not visible to observers on this planet until one hundred years after the occurence. It is comforting to learn from a Princeton professor that should such an accident happen to our sun, all the earth would perish. With our radio service the distant units of the universe would not have to wait a century for the news.

MADE IN CANADA
BATTERIES

How young is your battery?

Your battery is as old or as young as it acts. Whether it tackles its job with vigor or seems scarcely able to turn your engine over after a few months' service depends largely on the choice you made when you bought the battery.

An Exide Battery—powerful and constantly on the job—will outlast an ordinary battery long enough to save you real money. The Exide is young-acting at an age when many batteries are in the scrap-heap.

Make up your mind that, when you need another battery, you are going to have the best. It will pay you in every sense of the word. There is an Exide dealer near you, with the right battery for your car.

BUY made in B. C. products! This slogan of provincial manufactures has already resulted in a market increase in the manufacture of British Columbia goods and their consumption at home. Now the Women's Institutes and the government are cooperating with the "Made in B.C." officials in an effort to further increase consumption of home products and lectures and demonstrations will be given all over the province. British Columbia produces a marked variety of things used in every-day life and every article purchased by British Columbians not only ensures them of the highest quality goods but means an increase in provincial industrial prosperity, a prosperity which everyone shares in.

THE City Council, when printing is to be done, are very strong on economy, much preferring the typewriter to the printing press, but we notice when a team of horses is to be purchased, it takes the Mayor and Sam Graham all the way to Calgary at a cost of at least $100 to make the selection. Why the unnecessary expense of two men, one of whom learned all he knows about horses in a composing room.

THE Customs-Excise collections at the Port of Fernie for the month of March total $46,676.28, a big increase over March of last year when $36,015.44 was collected. FERNIE MAN CROSSES DIVIDE

GRAND FORKS, April 2. — Grand Forks was shocked Saturday morning when it was learned that William Early Carsley had died about midnight. He underwent an operation for appendicitis on Wednesday, and appeared to be recovering satisfactorily, when peritonitis set in late Friday night.

He was a lawyer, coming here to take over the late H. L. Mackenzie's law practice last September. He had previously been practicing with Lawe & Fisher, at Fernie, for two years, and prior to that had taught high school at Kaslo.

He was in his 42nd year, and leaves a wife and a 7-month-old baby. His mother resides in Victoria.

The funeral of the late Mr. Carsley took place from the Methodist church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, services being conducted by Rev. W. P. Bunt. The large cortege was led by the Grand Forks band, playing the "Dead March in Saul," the late Mr. Carsley having been an active member of that organization. Interment took place at Evergreen cemetery.

His aged mother resides in Victoria but was unable to be present.

The Alberta Government is sending seven cars of coal from different mines in that province to Ontario for testing purposes. Lethbridge Board of Trade are advocating a shipment from there. Some action should be taken at Fernie to bring our coal into the test.

The policy of closing the Government road between Fernie and Elko during the spring thaw, will be adhered to this year, announcement of which will appear on the notice board, and in the Free Press in due course. The date was set for Monday of next week but the cold snap will give a little longer period for ones who wish to go over the road, and they should take advantage of this fact.

FIVE YEARS' AGONY ENDED

The Medicine Made From Fruit

There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-tives" is the long sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N.S. writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives" and took a box and got relief, so I took them for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

EVERYMAN'S LIBRARY

EDITED BY ERNEST RHYS

"THE TRUE UNIVERSITY in these days," said Carlyle, "is a collection of books." The main idea of this series is to make it easy for everyone to obtain such a collection, and get at small cost, all that is good, all that has worn well, in English Literature. It does not offer only the classic authors, it represents the Victorians with the Elizabethians, comparatively new authors with the old famous ones, and books for pure pleasure as well as wisdom and knowledge. It is arranged in sections, as of History, Philosophy, Belles-Letters, Romance and so forth. Thus for a few dollars the reader may have a whole bookshelf of the immortals—may be intellectually rich for life.

SOMETHING NEW FOR NEURALGIA

And Quebec Lady Tells How She Treats Cold Troubles

Mrs. William Watt of 87 Little Champlain Street, Quebec, Que., says: "I am very much pleased with Vicks VapoRub. It did me all the good in the world and I would recommend it to anybody who is suffering from neuralgia or colds of any kind."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc.

Absorbed through the skin and at the same time inhaled as a vapor Vicks reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

The modern direct treatment for all cold troubles. The successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, poultices and plasters.

Used for croup and children's colds, Vicks gives remarkable quick results and also avoids nauseating internal doses. Just as good for adults and for skin inflammations, such as cuts, burns, bruises, bites, stings.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

Mark Twain in his early days was editor of a Missouri newspaper. The humorist wrote this answer and printed it: "Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was not either good or bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and live a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

BIG WORLD EVENTS

(by William Banks)

Government and Liberal opposition groups in the British House of Commons have been quick to accept the Socialistic challenge of Phillip Snowden. There was nothing underhand about the resolution he introduced. It was a plainly worded endorsation of Socialism and was preceded by a proposed measure from the same man, for the nationalization of land and the abolition of private property therein. There will be a set debate later on the Snowden propositions. Incidentally it is the first time in the history of the British Parliament that a motion favoring Socialism has been sponsored by an officially recognized opposition. There is a suspicion that Snowden has a twofold purpose in his move; he desires to place on record some of the lukewarm members of the Labor party, and at the same time to emphasize his own devotion to the cause he has so long espoused. Snowden, who has spoken in many places in Canada, has been a propagandist of Socialism by word of mouth and in writing for many years. Like most of the other members of the advanced wing of the Labor party in Britain, Snowden was in partial eclipse from the 1918 general election until those of more recent date. Like his radical colleagues he is making up for lost time in the endeavor to get Parliament to adopt advanced legislation, or to compel the government to go to the country on some of these propositions, believing that in the present state of unemployment and unrest the Labor party would have a show of securing a majority in the Commons.

It is probable that the Socialistic attack on capitalism as voiced by resolutions in the British House of Commons, will have the effect of hastening the reunion of the wings of the Liberal party, or perhaps of creating a new coalition. The Labor party is probably not a unit on some of the radical measures that it sponsors, but takes responsibility for them rather than allow any impression of weakness to get abroad. It is likely that for the majority of people in the old land the Labor party is moving much too fast, and that its impetuosity may result in losses rather than in the gains it had hoped for. This would especially apply in the event of continued improvement of trade resulting in the absorption of the majority of the very large number of people now out of work. Most political students in Britain believe that sooner or later the Labor party will be called on to form a government—though not necessarily the party now so strong in the Commons. But they point out that the party is no longer confined to trades unionists as was the case in the old days. It embraces all sorts and conditions of men, including a number in the learned professions. Its composition they think would ensure more moderation in the event of its being called to govern, than the resolution it has introduced this session and some of the scenes created by a few of its members, would seem to indicate.

There has been a succession of warm debates in the Canadian Commons on the question of immigration. The politicians may be left to continue the debate as to whose is the fault, but it is still the fact that there is a far greater flow to the United States from this country than the patriotic Canadian can view with equanimity. Who shall say what the remedy is. The outsanding cause one may venture to affirm, is the lure of greatness. The United States is a vast country with a huge population. It has big cities which continue to expand with increasing impetus. Hundreds of thousands of Canadian-born people have made good within its borders and they have an influence on their relatives here which is backed by the influence of the floods of printed matter that come over the border to Canada, and by American plays and entertainments—including the ever-expanding popularity of the motion picture. Perhaps our own people are not yet fully seized of the magnificent posibilities of their own country which has nothing to be ashamed of in the history of its progress, even in comparison with the republic. We may seem to be growing rather slowly compared to Uncle Sam. We are moving surely, however, to a status that could they but see into the future, would surprise some of our own impatient ones as well as some of those who come from overseas, sojourn with us a while, and then make their way across the border.

In Mesopotamia a combined expedition from the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania, is making astonishing discoveries on the site of the ancient city of Ur, the capital of the Childeans. Below the pavement of a temple built by Nebuchadnezzar, was found a secret recess containing a great store of precious jewels, gold and silver ornaments. statuettes, etc. There were also some incised writings on clay tablets, and other relics of a civilization that dates back at least fifty centuries. Discoveries like this and the recent ones in Egypt, are throwing a light upon the lives of the people of the long-ago ages that savants of today had not dared to hope for. There is a fascination for most people in many ways in every walk of life, from the serious attempted analysis of their uses and meaning, to the puns of the vaudeville stage and the joke columns of the daily press. It is conceivable that treasures in gold and silver beyond the dreams of avarice may be brought to light as time passes. At any rate we are adding to our store of knowledge of mankind, and some of us are beginning to think that perhaps the world's advance in the last few centuries has not been so wonderful as we used to believe.

Turkey is showing a much more concillatory spirit in the matter of arrangements with the allied powers than was the case some weeks ago. More than anything this is due to the determination of Britain to stand her ground on a number of the points at issue. She has been abused by many of her own people as well as those of other lands. But it takes the British diplomat and statesman to understand the people of the East—near or far— and to know when and where to draw the line. They have kept their heads in the midst of a combination of difficult and dangerous circumstances. It is to be noted that they keep their word also. If Britain had taken too much heed to the views of France, the Turks would today be arrogantly dictating terms in respect to other matters than the Straits of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorous. The Turks have gained enough as it is at the expense of Christian races and the dignity of the powers.

It is expected that an Imperial Economic conference and a conference of Premiers of the Empire will be held in London in September. There are some who initiate that there will be a review of such questions as that involved in the action of Canada recently in concluding a treaty with the United States in regard to the halibut fisheries. It will be remembered that instead of the cumbersome system of doing everything through the British Ambassador a Canadian minister signed the arrangement on behalf of the King. In other words, Canada and the United States acted directly as the two parties most closely affected. It is hardly probable that this question will come up in September. Canada acted with full authority from Britain, and will probably continue to do so in other matters in which her interests and those of the United States are involved. The arguments for and against this method are all interesting. But it does not seem possible that the ties of affection between Britain and Canada could be strengthened by any hard and fast regulations. Canada is in the Empire not by reason of force or solemn terms. The tie that binds the British Empire is stronger than all the rules, regulations, or agreements that the mind of man could conceive.

Every once in a while the world is confronted with an accomplishment by the League of Nations or the Conference of Ambassadors. Decision of the Ambassadors as to the fate of Eastern Galicia, it is announced, will be adhered to. This gives the territory to Poland under certain conditions. There has been some debate as to whether the interests of the thousands of Rutherians, now settled in Canada, and who come from Galicia, would be injured in any way. It is difficult to see how that could be the case. Their interests should surely be safe with the powers agreed as to the disposition of the territory they left.

Canada's tea bill for the month of February, exclusive of pink and five o'clocks, amounted to $976,435. The average per capita consumption for the month is estimated at about half a pound.

After prolonged scientific investigation the faculty have decided that bad spelling is usually due to bad eyesight or to carelessness. For the carless the Coue philosophy has been invoked. The New York Masons are sending relief to Montenegro. The people of the Black Mountains, never conquered by the Turks, consider themselves enslaved and despoiled by the Serbs. It is not so long since the Serbs themselves complained of Austrian tyranny. Freed, they become aggressive imperialists, the little people oppressing the littler.

HOW SHOULD I WEAN MY BABY

This is a serious problem to many mothers. Weaning should always be done gradually, beginning about the seventh month, giving one or two bottle feedings, during the day, increasing the number of bottle feedings gradually until weaning is accomplished. Borden's Eagle Brand Milk is so like mothers' milk in taste and ease of digestion that it can be given alternatively with breast milk without causing abrupt weaning.

Eagle Brand is best for table and household use—it saves milk and sugar—is economical and adds a delicious flavor to all recipes. Buy a can today and try it in a custard or cornstarch pudding. You're sure to like it.

In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all the prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to The Borden Milk Company Limited, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, what you want, either instructions in your own language for feeding your baby, or a baby book, or a recipe book telling you how to make tastey dishes with Eagle Brand. Ask for by name what you would like to have.

B. C. LEADS IN EGG LAYING

Last year a total of 2,590 birds were entered in the laying contests conducted by the Dominion Experimental Farms and these birds laid 391,805 eggs, giving an average of 151 eggs per bird. These eggs were produced under every conceivable weather condition, and laid by a great variety of breeds.

These laying contests are conducted in every province in the Dominion. In average production British Columbia led with 181.2 eggs per bird, Ontario was second with 173.5 eggs, and the Canadian Contest conducted at Ottawa third with 167.1 eggs. In the British Columbia contest there were 290 birds, in the Ontario 280, and in the Canadian 600. The performance of the birds in the Canadian stands out when it is taken into consideration that the birds are shipped to Ottawa from all parts of Canada.

Can anything be learned as to breed from the contest results? The highest production was given by a British Columbia White Wyandotte—307 eggs, the second best by an Albertan Barred Plymouth Rock with 295, closely followed in third place by an Ontario White Leghorn in the Canadian contest with 294.

The highest pen production went to British Columbia White Wyandottes with 2,601 eggs, and the second to White Leghorns in the Canadian with 2,498 eggs. Barred Plymouth Rocks led in the New Brunswick contest with 2,143 eggs and the Alberta with 2,180 eggs.

The average production of the heavy breeds in the British Columbia contest was 181.3 eggs per bird, and the light breeds averaged 180.8 eggs.

The only answer that can be given to the breed question is that more pedigree breeding along production lines has been done with the more popular varieties, namely: Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes and White Leghorns.

Breeders who possess good laying strains of any variety have an opportunity of testing the medium of the laying contests conducted on Dominion Experimental Farms. These farms are located at Agassiz, B.C., Lethbridge, Alta., Indian Head, Sask., Brandon, Man., Ottawa, Ont., Lennoxville and St. Anne-de-la-Pocatiere, Que., Frederickton, N.B., Nappan, N. S., and Charlettetown, P.E.I.

Registration of hens producing 200 eggs and over in 52 consecutive weeks can only be secured through the laying contests, full particulars of which can be secured from the Dominion Poultry Husbandman, Ottawa, or the Superintendents of the Experimental Farms in each Province. The registration of poultry is conducted by the Canadian National Live Stock Records, through the Canadian National Poultry Record Association Secretary-Treasurer at Ottawa.

PREMIER MINE MAKES REPORT

By E. A. Hagen
Editor Mining & Engineering Record

For the first time the Premier Gold Mining Co. Limited has issued an official report covering its operations for the previous year, and it is of especial interest, as it reviews the history of the mine during the four years it has been under development by the company. The reason given for the issue of an official annual report is that, while there were only twelve to fourteen shareholders on the register originally, about 200,000 shares have been sold on the market to the public, the principal vendor stated to be Mr. R. K. Neill of Spokane. These have been sold at $3.75 to $4 for shares of a par value of $1.

In addition to the Premier Mine and adjacent claims since acquired by purchase, the company owns 542,469 shares of the 1,500,000 shares comprising the stock issue of the B. C. Silver Mines Limited, in which the British Canadian Silver Corporation, controlled by the Selukwe Gold and Mining Finance Co. of London, holds control.

There are three ore bodies under development. The two more important ones parallel each other to the northeast, but merge to the southwest, while the third ore body crosses these at right angles. The ore in the latter is erratic and bunchy, and has not yet developed any particular tonnage, but it is persistent towards the southwest. The old Bunting tunnel was run on this vein, and it is now proposed to develop it from that point, the work also developing the main Premier ore body on its dip, at a vertical depth of 900 feet, or 500 feet below the present No. 4 tunnel of the Premier workings. It is also proposed to explore surface showings on Pictou and Cascade Falls No. 8 claims by crosscutting from the Premier bottom level.

During the last year development work consisted of 12,279 feet of diamond drilling and 6502 feet of drifts and raises. The ore mined amounted to 102,234 tons, of which 32,344 tons were milled; 41,775 tons were shipped to the Tacoma smelter; besides 4125 tons concentrates. Shipments to Anyox smelter aggregated 28,215 tons. The production was: Gold 127,827 ozs.; silver 4,474,367 ozs.

Ore reserves consist of: Broken ore 73,000; gold, oz., per ton, 0.72; silver, oz., per ton, 32; total, $2,639,000; probable ore. 300,000 tons; gold, oz., per ton, 0.71; silver, oz., per ton, 27; total $9,769,000; totals, 373,000 tons; total value, $12,407,000.

This is rather a different story from the grossly exaggerated estimates that have been in circulation during the past two years, varying from $60,000,000 to $80,000,000.

The cost of production at the Premier is high, probably owing to the the system of transportation that had to be adopted. The average for the year was $14.93 per ton. In addition, the ore is charged with $17.74 for depreciation, this high ratio being evidently calculated as necessary to refund the capital of the company over a period of three years. This is estimating the life of the mine as exceptionally short. The value realized from ore sales for the year was $4,782,885.43. Cost of mining and milling aggregated $1,022,506.64, leaving a gross profit of $3,760,378.79. Cost of management, taxes and depreciation add $605,733.50.

Diamond drilling has been attended with successful results, and shows other bodies of ore to the northeast, but of milling grade rather than the high-grade ore that made the mine famous. The ore bodies have widened with depth, the average size of the ore body on the bottom level being 500 feet long and 15 feet wide. The value of the ore has, however, decreased materially with depth, and on the 400 level the value is estimated at $6.40 in gold and $3.20 in silver, a total value of $9.50 per ton, or about the average value of gold-silver ores in British Columbia.

The zone of secondary enrichment, which accounted for the former high-grade ore shipments, evidently does not extend much below the 300-foot level, or 100 feet deeper than the secondary enrichment at the Dolly Varden. The future of the mine, therefore, depends on its primary ore, carrying average values of $9 to $10 per ton. This ore is, however, likely to persist to considerably greater depth than has been reached by development. There is also the possibility of other shoots of high-grade secondary enrichment being developed on the unexplored portions of the property. We may expect from now on a decreasing scale of dividend distribution.

Of course, the mine has done exceptionally well during the past year of operation. It has paid $2,773,125 in dividends, or at the rate of 55 per cent., and while this is usually considered a dividend distribution, the company's accounts show it to be intended also as a return of capital; $1,399.488.23 is credited to this purpose in the year's accounts, leaving the balance as a dividend ratio of about 25 per cent.

Coming to the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next.

From the brands of holiday weather experienced in the East, residents could easily convince themselves that they were celebrating Christmas instead of Easter.

The governor of Arizona has dismissed the state water commissioner. As Arizona is the dryest state in the Union, the office appears to be a sinecure.

Here and There

Vancouver as a grain port has gone over the top and is assured of achieving the 15,000,000 bushel objective set for the 1922-1923 crop year, according to statistics issued at the Vancouver Merchants Exchange.

Making the heaviest loading since the big crop year of 1915, grain loaded on the western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway from September 1st, 1922, to March 7th, 1923, inclusive, totalled 118,565 cars. This is 16,000 more cars than were loaded during the corresponding season of last year.

While in mid Pacific, the wireless operator of the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of Russia" was in touch with the Leafield wireless station in England, and received a number of news items. "The ether waves were evidently carried across the North Pole, as we were on the other side of the world," said Captain A. J. Hosken, commander of the liner.

An Owen Sound deputation which recently interviewed Canadian Pacific Railway officials in Toronto, urged the building of a line from Owen Sound, through Meaford and on to Collingwood and then on to a point on the Sudbury line near Coldwater. The officials are reported to have been interested by the suggestions made by the delegation.

Captain A. J. Hosken, R.N.R., of the Canadian Pacific Steamer "Empress of Russia," has been awarded the Medaille d'Honneur de Sauvelage de première classe by the French Government, for the part taken by him as commander of the liner "Monteagle" in saving the crew of the French steamer "Hsin Tien", off the China coast.

There is a gold rush on to Rouyn township, in northern Quebec, to Labrador and now to the Soo district. In fact, the whole northern district has immense areas of rock bearing more or less gold, and the question is whether the quantity is large enough to make a real mine. Gold mining will be one of Canada's greatest industries twenty-five years from now.—"Mail & Empire."

Still another case of children travelling alone. Elmer Lann, five years old, and Roland Callwell, seven years old, both living on St. Denis street, Montreal, were missed by their parents who did not hear of them after their disappearance until notified by Canadian Pacific Railway officials that the children were in Quebec city, to which place they had begged a ride.

WHY BABIES CRY

It's often hard to find the trouble—It may be teeth—it may be stomach—but oh! so often it is just a chafed irritated skin on which poor Soap has been used.

The remedy for this is so simple! Hours of suffering—night after night of disturbance—have been avoided by mothers, who have insisted on—Baby's Own Soap. Of course it costs a little more, a very little more, however—than what is often bought and used—but four generations of Canadian Mothers are there to vouch for its purity, for the soothing healing effect on Baby's delicate skin, for the lovely pure flower fragrance it leaves when Baby fresh and clean is taken from his bath.

Don't you think, Madam, it's worth paying the 15c. a cake, a little less if you buy a box (3 cakes) which your dealer asks for Baby's Own Soap. Adv.

DOES BUSINESS ON OTHER MAN'S CASH

Capital of the Mail Order House is Furnished by its Customers

WORKS ALWAYS ON "VELVET"

Buyers Supply Money to Support Enterprises Competing Those In Which They Are Interested

(Copyright)

It is a mighty nice thing to be able to do business on the other fellow's money, but there are few people who can do it. Probably the only business men, who as a class, are able to do this, are the mail order men in the big cities.

Did yon ever stop to think—you, who have ordered goods from a mail order house and there are probably few who have not done that at some time or other—that you are supplying the cash upon which the mail order man is doing business? You are well aware of the fact that your cash must go with your order if you expect to receive the goods, but have you ever stopped to think what that means? Do you realize that you are supplying the capital for a business which is running in direct competition with your home merchants, upon whose prosperity you and your fellow townsmen are dependent for a livelihood?

The majority of mail order houses do not carry large stocks of goods. They do not have to. When the mail order man gets your order, accompanied by the cash, of course, he can take a part of your money and go to the manufacturer or the wholesaler and buy the article that is wanted. The rest of the money he can put down in his pocket after paying his operating costs, which are light when compared with those of the merchant who must carry a large stock of goods to meet the demands made upon him.

In Class By Themselves

There is absolutely no other class of men who do business on the capital furnished by their customers. Even the retail store which sells for cash only cannot do this for he must carry a large stock and in most cases must pay cash for it in order to get prices that will enable him to make lower prices to his customers than can be made by the merchant who gives credit to his customers.

The mail order man doesn't need to have any of his own capital invested in his business—or any large amount of it, at least, in proportion to the volume of the business which he does. He does not have to pay interest to the banks on money borrowed to help him finance his business. The mail order man figures that about one-half of the amount he receives on any order goes to the wholesaler or manufacturer in payment for the goods ordered. Of the remainder a part goes for postage, printing, maintenance of office and plant, insurance, etc. What is left, which is by no means an insignificant part of every dollar received goes into dividends to stockholders in the mail order corporation. All this has been done without any capital other than that which may be required to pay office expenses.

Suppose, for a minute, that you did business with the local merchants on the same plan. Suppose that they did not carry any goods in stock, that when you wanted to buy something you should go to one of your home merchants, look in his catalogue and pick out an article that seemed to be similar to the one that you wanted, hand over the price as shown by the catalogue and tell him to order it for you. The merchant would take your money and you would wait for your goods until they arrived from a distant city.

Not So Anxious

But the people who make up any community are not nearly as anxious to furnish capital to the home merchant—the man who helps "make" the town—as they are to the mail order man in the far distant city, who does nothing and cares nothing for the people who furnish him the money on which to do business. They insist that the home merchant shall carry a large stock of goods from which they can select what they wish, when they think it is to their interest to buy from him. They insist that he shall stand back of the goods he sells and make good any defect that may appear in them. They insist that he shall sell them what they wish and wait for the money until they get ready to pay it. They insist that he shall sell goods at the same prices or lower than the mail order houses charge for goods of poorer quality. And finally, they insist that the home merchant shall furnish the large amount of capital that is required to conduct a business on this plan.

This mail order buyer may say that he has the right to spend his money anywhere he pleases and he has, legally. But he probably has never stopped to reflect on the fact that he is supplying the capital for the operation of a concern which is in direct competition with enterprises in which he is directly interested, for every man, woman and child in a town is directly interested in the success of the business enterprises of that town. If these business enterprises are not prosperous, the town cannot be prosperous. To supply capital to your competitor is not very good business.

MAPLE LEAFS PLEASING

The Maple Leaf Rebekahs of Cranbrook made their initial debute before a Fernie audience last Friday evening when they presented their "1923 Cranbrook Follies."

There was a good attendance and satisfaction was general. The two performances at Cranbrook by the same troup, had apparently worn off the rough edges usually shown in an amateur performance and the troop certainly presented their show in an able manner.

The program presented on Friday evening was as follows:

Opening Chorus—We Belong to the Rebekahs. Rebekah chorus.

Song—My Ain Wee Hoose. Sister Miller.

Dialogue—Eleven Dollars. Bros. Johnston and Doodson.

Song—That Wonderful Mother of Mine. Sister Clapp.

Chorus—Swanee River Moon. Rebekah Chorus.

Song and Dance. Sister Higgins.

Monologue—Jazbo. Bro. Leonard.

Song—When Irish Eyes Are Smiling. Sister McCallum.

Romance and a Typwriter. Sister Patton and Bro. Johnston.

Interval.

After the interval, the troop put on a real farcical comedy which kept the audieuce holding their sides and wondering what the outcome of the "Pretty Kettle of Fish" would be.

The cast was as follows:

Ikey Levi, an obliging man—Bro. Sinclair.

Mike Dooley, his friend—Bro. Leonard.

Helen Mason Dooley, Dooley's wife—Sister Wolfer.

Mary, her maid—Sister Brown.

Pat Mason, Mrs. Dooley's son—Bro. Doodson.

Honora Dooley, Mike's daughter—Sister Clapp.

Tim Donovan, Mary's guardian—Bro. A. Burtch.

Officer McManus, one of the finest—Bro. R. Burtch.

Final Chorus—The Maple Leaf Rebekahs.

After the performance the troop were entertained at a banquet by the Fernie Oddfellows and Rebekahs at the I.O.O.F. Hall, following which, the floor was cleared and the Whitehouse orchestra requisitioned for dancing. It was well into Saturday morning before the good-byes were said.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Father and Brother, James and Frank Smith, who were killed in Coal Creek explosion, April 5th, 1917.

Dear ones when you are weary,
And your hearts are fit to break,
Comes a whisper straight from heaven,
Look up for your Father and Brother's sake.
We mourn for you in silence,
When no eyes can see us weep.
And many a bitter tear we shed,
When others are fast asleep.

Here in B.C., in this part of the country—this land of ice and snow—it's a wonderful fowl, so hardy and healthy. What more could we wish than when it is twenty or thirty below, to go out to the henhouse and get a basket of lovely brown eggs. They are worth money then. The Reds lay all winter. The chicks grow wonderfully in this climate and the pullets lay at six months old and stand the heat well in summer. Nothing better than fresh eggs for your breakfast.

Hatching eggs from these heavy winter producers: $2.00, $5.00 and $10.00 per 15. Infertile eggs replaced. Satisfaction guaranteed. Order early. A. Peters, Box 831, Fernie, B.C.

WHAT CAN CHIROPRACTIC DO FOR ME?

The answer is simple: If the CAUSE of your trouble is Nerve Pressure, and the chances are that it is, Chiropractic Verterbral Adjustments, given by a competent Chiropractor with the bare hands alone, will relieve this pressure, the effect of which is to restrict the normal flow of Vital Force to the organs and parts of the body. This then gives rise to another effect, called dis-ease. When the cause is removed the EFFECT disappears; for, without CAUSE, there can be no EFFECT.

If Chiropractic had not really afforded relief to hundreds of thousands of sick and suffering men and women during the past twenty-five years, the Searchlight of publicity would long ago have revealed that fact, and Chiropractic would have died by the wayside.

On the contrary, Chiropractic is now stronger than it ever was. Publicity has strengthened it instead of weakening it, and above everything else, this wonderful Drugless Health Science is for YOU and YOUR family.

Health Follows Chiropractic Verterbral Adjustments. All we ask is a chance to prove our claim that our adjustments will restore health in most cases where other methods have offorded no relief.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The City Council met for their postponed meeting in the Council Chambers Monday evening, Mayor Henderson occupied the chair and all Aldermen were present.

A large and well represented delegation of both business men and workers waited on the Council on behalf of the Swimming Pool Committee.

Thos Uphill, M.P.P., was the first speaker. He stated that the Swimming Pool Committee had on hand at present the sum of $5000 but it would require aproximately $15,000 to build the pool and the present method of raising the money would take too long. He then suggested that the City submit to the ratepayers a by-law calling for the issue of $10,000 debentures for the swimming pool at the earliest possible date so that if given the approval of the ratepayers, the work could go on immediately.

Mr. Herchmer, following Mr. Uphill, stated that he believed that it was the Committee's intention that the debentures should be for $15,000 and that the committee would turn over to the city the $5000 now collected. He drew the Council's attention to the large and well representative delegation of taxpayers and strongly urged that the by-law be put before the city ratepayers. He suggested that a committee be appointed from the City Council and the Swimming Pool Committee so that the swimming pool would be under good supervision.

Mr. Dickenson, on behalf of the miners, stated that at a meeting of their union, they had heartily endorsed the action of the committee in requesting that a by-law be submitted. He stated that there was two methods of raising this money, one was by debentures, the other by public subscription, the later method was not deemed advisable as the subscription list method was already overworked.

J. F. Spalding in supplementing the previous speakers' remarks stated that Cranbrook and even Wycliffe now had swimming pools under construction.

Mr. Uphill, bearing on the point Mr. Herchmer brought up about the debentures to be $15,000 instead of $10,000, stated that at a meeting of the committee held while Mr. Herchmer was out of town, it was decided that in view of the fact that interest would have to be paid on the extra five thousand dollars if debentures were issued for the full amount, that the debentures should only be for the $10,000 still required.

H. P. Wilson submitted to the Council the propsed plans which had been drawn up so that there would be no delay in proceeding with the construction.

Mayor Henderson welcomed the delegation and assured them that their request would receive due consideration, he, however, asked forbearance, and submitted a detailed statement to the delegation on the present condition of the water works of the city. He stated that there was at present 13,500 feet of old worn out wooden water pipe which required urgent attention. The cost of renewing this would cost in cast iron pipe alone approximately $80,000. He also drew attention to the present sewerage system which he stated was grossly inadequate for the work it was called upon to do. This also would have to be remedied in the near future. Notwithstanding these facts, he stated that he was well aware of the needs of the children of the city, and assured the delegation that the council would go fully into the matter.

J. Garbutt and J. L. Donaldson waited on the council on behalf of the Fernie Baseball Club and requested the use of Victoria Park for a baseball diamond on the same terms as it was leased to them last year. This was referred to the Parks Committee.

A motion was passed giving the local purchasers of debentures the same price at which the balance were sold, namely, $95.25.

A lease from the Great Northern Railway for permission to run the city electric light wires under the West Fernie bridge was approved and ordered completed.

The Mayor reported the purchase of high-grade horses at the Calgary Horse Show at a great saving to the city.

A motion was passed authorizing the Mayor and the Chairman of the Public Works to purchase a dump wagon at the best available price.

After lengthy discussion on the pros and cons of the Swimming Pools Committee's request, it was decided to leave this matter over until a special meeting of the council which will be called later in the week.

The tenders on the laying of the water pipe and sewers were also left over until this special meeting.

Owing to lack of time, the only business coming up at the special meeting of the City Council Wednesday evening, was that of the tenders submitted on the Waterworks and Annex Sewer pipe contracts.

Mayor Henderson occupied the chair and all Aldermen were in attendance.

Fred J. Dawson, contractor, of Nelson, was unanimously awarded both contracts, his tender being based on the stipulation that he receive both, but his prices on laying the cast iron water pipe and for supplying and laying the Annew sewers were the lowest submitted.

The following is a complete list of the tenders submitted to the Council on both contracts:

For Waterworks—

Fred J. Dawson, Nelson	$13,976.81
J. E. Broley & Co., Fernie	16,718.80
Casola & Lozza, Fernie	17,260.00

For Annex Sewers— (All tenders stipulated Vitrified Clay Pipe except Dicken who specified concrete pipe):

Fred J. Dawson, Nelson	$19,415.98
Wm. Dicken, Fernie	20,926.79
J. E. Broley & Co., Fernie	21,947.05
Jas. Aiello, Calgary, Alta.	23,355.30

PICK'S APPEAL IS DISMISSED

OTTAWA, April 11.—(Canadian Press)—The appeal in the case of Emilo Picariello and Florence Lassandro, condemned to death for the murder of Provincial Constable S. O. Lawson at Coleman, Alberta, last September, was dismissed this morning by the Supreme Court of Canada, without a dissenting voice.

The appeal was brought against the decision of the Alberta appellate court from which Mr. Justice Beck of that court dissented.

Picariello and Mrs. Lassandro were originally condemned at Calgary on December 2 to hang on February 21 last, but were reprieved pending the decision on the appeal.

The next move in the case, it is expected, will be an application to Sir Lomer Gouin, minister of justice, for commutation of sentence. Some weeks ago, following the decision of the Alberta court of appeal, an application for commutation was before Sir Lomer and the case reviewed in detail but appeal to the supreme court stayed further proceedings in this regard.

Particular interest attaches to the case in view of the fact that one of the two condemned is a woman. What will be done remains for determination by the cabinet. For the last 20 years, however, it has been customary to commute the capital sentence imposed on a woman.

The execution, as a result of the appeal, had been postponed to May 4.

BOARD OF TRADE

The postponed annual meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade will be held in the Council Chambers on Monday evening, April 16, at 8 p.m.

Besides the regular business and election of officers for this year, other matters of importance have to be attended to, and it is hoped that there will be a good turn out.

No business man can run his business successfully if he does not give it proper attention. The Board of Trade activities embody all the business of the town, and should receive the attention of all its business men. Two hours a month is not taking up much of your time for the City's interest, and if you would devote that much time regularly, Fernie would have a Board of Trade which would be a real live issue.

A. CUMMINGS WILL ADDRESS GET-TO-GETHER SOCIETY

The next regular meeting of the Fernie Young People's Get-to-Gether Society will be held in the United Church basement at 7.45 p.m., on Tuesday, April 17.

Mr. A. Cummings will give an address on Structural Geology, with special references to local formations. Mr. Cummings has made a thorough study of his subject, and has prepared an instructive and interesting talk.

All those interested are cordially invited to hear this address.

BASEBALL CLUB HOLD MEETING

The Fernie Baseball Club held their 1923 organization meeting in the city Council Chambers on Sunday afternoon last and judging by the large and enthusiastic meeting, Fernie will have a most successful baseball season.

In winding up last years business, the treasurer, Mr. Jerue, pointed out that at the outset of the 1922 season, the baseball club faced a deficit from 1921 of $1125.70. During the year this deficit had been wiped off entirely by public subscriptions and that the club had been self sustaining throughout last year. A credit balance of $63.95 is now in the bank but there is a few outstanding bills amounting to $147.10, which leaves a deficit of $83.15.

To raise money for the purchase of a new set of uniforms for the club and what new equipment is required, a small subscription list will be circulated.

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice Presidents—T. Prentice, E. K. Stewart, T. H. Cox.
President—Dr. B. Asselstine.
Vice President—H. R. Huntington.
Secretary—Hugh McLachlan.
Treasurer—J. Jerue.
Playing Manager—J. M. Ault.
Executive—J. Garbutt, B. A. Wilson, S. T. Wilson, P. Hughes, Wm. Johnston and W. Murray.

Mr. Murray, the Fernie delegate to the East Kootenay League meeting held at Cranbrook on Sunday, March 25th, presented a copy of the rules and regulations adopted by that meeting. After some discussion on various points of these rules, they were adopted by motion.

A communication was read from Mr. Battrum, the Secretary of the Alberta Amateur Baseball Association, regarding affiliation with that body but as it had been decided at the Cranbrook meeting that the East Kootenay League would play amateur ball without cards, this commuication was filed.

A delegation was appointed to attend the meeting of the City Council on Monday night and request the use of the Victoria Park for the diamond.

Committees were appointed to take up the subscription list and organize a dance to aid in securing the necessary funds.

It now appears that both Cranbrook and White Spruce will enter teams in the League and these together with the teams already entered—Fernie, Wycliffe, Lumberton and Kimberley—will form a six team loop and give Fernie a game every Sunday as the White Spruce will in all probability use the Fernie diamond for their home games.

PREMIER JOHN OLIVER TO ADDRESS MEETING HERE

VICTORIA, April 9.—Premier John Oliver, following his speaking tour in Alberta and Saskatchewan, will address meetings at Fernie, Cranbrook, Creston, Nelson, Trail, Grand Forks and Greenwood.

Premier Oliver is at present visiting the prairie provinces. Recently Winnipeg organizations endeavored to spike his guns in regard to the freight rates fight and even petitioned Saskatoon and other western prairie cities for financial assistance in opposing British Columbia's claims for equalization of rates. However, Saskatoon refused the invitation in no uncertain terms and countered by inviting the Premier to address them. He is also speaking at Calgary, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge and will return by way of the Crow's Nest Pass route and Nelson, addressing numerous meetings en route.

The meeting in Fernie will be held in the Grand Theatre next Wednesday evening, April 18, at 8 o'clock.

Alberta and Saskatchewan are vitally interested in the freight rates question and the moving of their grain westward through Vancouver, New Westminster and Prince Rupert require equal freight rates with the eastern provinces.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL TO HOLD A LIBRARY BOOK TEA

The Women's Council will hold a library book tea in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday, April 21, from 3 to 7 p.m. There will be a program of vocal and instrumental music by some of the best artists of the city, both men and women.

Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Mrs. Hartley Wilson, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Klauer have kindly consented to act as patronesses, and the gentlemen who comprise the Library Board will also be present.

The object is to get donations of books for the Public Library. The tea is for both men and women, and will be free to everyone who brings a book, either new or second-hand, for the Library; or to anyone who will leave their address so that the books may be called for later. If you do not wish to donate a book, come and have a cup of tea for 25 cents.

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, announces that early in May he will tour the province for the purpose of inspecting provincial roads and ascertain what highway work should be carried out this year. He states that it is his intention to provide the newer sections with as much highway accomodation as provincial finances will permit.

WORK AT ELKO TO START SOON

W. H. Gardiner, manager for Winston Bros. Company, contractors of Minneapolis, Minn., states this morning that their compressed air machinery for driving the tunnel at the new plant of the East Kootenay Power Co., at Elko, has arrived and that active work in driving this tunnel is now assured to commence before May first.

This tunnel, 12 feet by 14 feet, is to be driven through solid rock for a distance of 2000 feet from the proposed dam just above the Upper Falls and will run at a gradual slope towards the Lower Falls, causing the water to run by gravitation to the end of the tunnel, where it will enter a steel pipe which will drop vertically to the wheels of the turbine engines to be placed in the new power house at that point, thus using the highest head of water pressure possible to generate power.

The new development by the East Kootenay Power Company will cost several hundred thousand dollars and when work actually commences will provide work for between two and three hundred men.

The Chas. Klingensmith store business at Elko which was purchased last September by Kilburn K. Lunn, of Waldo, has been sold again this week. Ray. G. Hirtz, of Elko, son of Richard Hirtz of that place, and others associated with him will carry on a cigar, tobacco and confectionery business in the same stand.

GYMNASIUN FOR FERNIE

W. A. Ingram has remodelled the Ingram Hall above his cigar store on Victoria Avenue and is now busy equipping it for a real high-class gymnasium.

Mr. Ingram, who feels the need of a good institution of this kind in the city, is sparing no expense to get the finest gym equipment available. A well known Sporting Goods house in Toronto is supplying this equipment and Mr. Ingram recently visited Calgary where he procured an up-to-date set of shower baths which will be open to the Fernie sportsmen.

He also secured the services of first-class boxing and wrestling instructors who will have charge of the gymnasium and it is expected that these lines of sport will have a strong revival in Fernie now that suitable quarters have been provided.

The gymnasium will not be run on club lines but will be open to anyone.

The government road between Fernie and Elko was closed to traffic on Wednesday of this week and will be closed until further notice.

THE SONS OF REST

(By Arthur Hunt Chute)

From time to time the scare mongers raise a howl on this or that secret society, whose hidden hand is claimed to be a menace to the country; the A.P.A.'s, the K.K.K.'s, the I.W.W.'s. But the greatest menace is not a covert but an overt organization known as "Sons of Rest."

The ancient society of the Sons of Rest has flourished wherever men were "born tired." Since the close of the war, this society has had a tremendous accession. Europe never had so much need for hard work as now, and yet how many there are in Europe, at this moment, being carried on somebody else's shoulders. With England paying out half a billion a year in doles to an army of unemployed, one is tempted to enquire, is that wise charity? Or is it not rather a subversion of the universal law of work?

The war lasted four years, at the end of which was the hope of a better world. Four years of peace, and yet we seem to be as far as ever from the realization of that hope.

There has been prolific talk on what we should have done. Why didn't we march to Berlin? Why didn't we make it a soldier's and not a politicians peace? While dwelling on the "might have beens," the most pertinent query is: "Why didn't we all spit on our hands and get right down to hard work the very day armistice was signed?"

The old soldier act has been played too long. Good times will return to us as they came to our fathers along the way of sweat and toil.

With all the wild schemes that are being suggested, from the Sons of Rest in Russia to the Sons of Rest in Greenwich Village, it is time that Jack Canuck, at least got down to brass tacks and reminded Canadians that sweat is the basic currency of man.

We are getting fed up with that type of humanitarian who is quite willing to let the kids freeze while he thinks up some grand new scheme for splitting wood by magic.

The gospel of work preached so fervently in the mid-Victorian era, by Carlyle, and Ruskin, needs a new prophet in this post bellum age of soldering and procrastination. The burden of war debt will be lightened, not by increasing taxes, but by increasing toil. If so much has been destroyed, then by labor alone can so much be restored.

The vast order of the Sons of Rest have hoodwinked themselves into the idea of getting something for nothing, hence the false aim of many workers of putting as little as possible in, and getting as much as possible out.

When we are on this subject there is a temptation to read a sermon to the Sons of Rest in Europe who have come back from the war with the idea that the world now owes them a living. But we have enough of the born tired fraternity on this side to claim full attention.

Canada attained to the purest form of Democracy during the war, no class, labor or capital, could impugn the other, because the draft board claimed all impartially. In the crucial hour our society got rid of the idle men and the idle poor, and tolerated only one class—the workers.

If that purer democracy is to carry on in peace, it will be because every man has come to realize that he owes a duty of work to his age, and that he has not truly lived unless that debt is paid.

Strife is the law of life, to be able to strive is to be able to live. He who cannot find joy in his work will seldom find it elsewhere.

Many dwell in the hope of the day when they may retire. If by chance that day comes prematurely, how often it proves to be an empty heaven. Probably the most miserable set on earth are those retired husbands, kicking around at home, cluttering up the house, when they ought to be at business, fretting about petty domestic concerns a curse to themselves and to long-suffering spouses.

The coupon-cutters existing only on the efforts of their sires are above all men to be pitied. Their fathers had the joy of strife, while they, in Jack London's strong phrase, "live in dead men's boots, and don't even rustle the grub for their own belly."

In the words of John Ruskin: "The law of nature is that a certain quantity of work is necessary to produce a certain quantity of good, of any kind whatever. If you want knowledge you must toil for it. If you want food you must toil for it. If you want pleasure you must toil for it."

Toil for pleasure? Yes, even at their play the Sons of Rest who cheat life, themselves are cheated in return. Go to the fashionable watering places and you see them well dressed in the latest mode, on the golf links, in the palm garden, at the yacht squadron float, their clothes, their speech, their attitude, perfectly correct, but something's missing. All kind of vivacity, all kinds of movement, and yet no aim, no purpose, ah, we have it, "The Sons of Rest."

Whether we find the Sons of Rest among the idle rich, the idle poor, or any other idle class, they are the useless dunnage of society, a burden to the workers, a still greater burden to themselves.

The wages of virtue says the poet is opportunity for action. The man who dies in harness is the happy warrior. Not to rust out, but to wear out is to escape the corroding touch of time, to carry Youth to the very end. —Toronto World.

Aircraft in Forest Protection

Those interested in the conservation of forests, says the Canadian Forestry Association, are realizing the advantage of an aerial fire patrol, because it provides an unparalled means for the discovery of forest fires. The aerial observer, by the very reason of his position, is not only able to discover in their incipiency fires in the open country, but is also able to direct in obscure places fires which, due to their location, could not possibly be visible to the fire ranger on the ground until they had reached sufficient proportions to represent a genuine menace. In a great many instances, fire rangers on the ground, even after they see smoke, spend days in locating the fire. On the other hand the aerial observer is able to fly directly to the scene of the smoke and land on a nearby lake or river. Further, when fires become obscured by a smoke screen, are prevalent and a ranger's territory his value as a fire detection agency is either nullified altogether or rendered negligible.

UNPRACTICAL PARSONS

A preacher in Akron, Ohio, wonders why the theological seminaries do not teach young men the technique of the marriage ceremony. He says that at the first rehearsal for the first big wedding that he ever conducted, he felt very silly. He did not know how to arrange anything. He was ready at that moment to exchange the Minor Prophets, yes and the Hebrew dictionary, for a correct answer to the question, "On which side of the bride-groom does the bride stand?"

It was once thought that a seminary was for the training of practical clergy. Has it come to this pass, that the young minister does not know enough to ask for his fee? In that particular matter his wife will be an excellent teacher.

A Toronto doctor has been complaining that physicians are not good enough psychologists and hence the healing cults. Perhaps the same reasoning applies to the preachers.

The Texas negro who is under four death sentences is asking himself whether he is a man or a cat.

"I Was Run Down"

"Body was completely covered with Boils"

"If you have ever had boils, you know how painful and annoying even one or two can be. But imagine having your whole body almost entirely covered with them! I am a watchmaker by trade, making a specialty of repairing the highest grade movements. This is probably the most trying of any mechanical work, particularly for a nervous individual like me. Working under great strain both day and night for three months, brought me almost to a state of collapse. I was so irritable and nervous that the slightest thing would 'send me up in the air.' If I managed to get a few hours of sleep at night I was lucky. I had no appetite for food. I certainly was miserable. During this time boils began to appear on different parts of my body and the pain from them made life a misery. My suffering was so great at times that I felt there was nothing left for me to do but to end it all. I consulted doctors but they all told me that if I didn't give up my work and live out of doors, I would go into a decline. As I had no money I couldn't do this. In fact paying doctors' bills and buying medicines used up all the money I made. Finally in desperation, I decided that I would either kill or cure myself, so I began to study my case. I realized that I was as completely run down as any one could possibly be with a bad case of nerves. What I needed was building up. After reading descriptions of different preparations, the one which appeared to be the best for me was Carnol. It has simply performed miracles for me. Four bottles have done more than months of travel abroad. I feel like a two-year old. I sleep eight hours every night and eat three good meals a day. My skin is like a baby's, free from blemishes of any kind and I have now almost forgotten that I have ever had such things as nerves. I want everybody who is ailing to know about Carnol, because I have such faith in it I believe it will cure any human ill."

Mr. J. H. Mc. C.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money 1-622

Here and There

Banff.—J. B. Harkin, Commissioner of National Parks, has announced that the formal opening of the Banff-Windermere Road, work on which was concluded last year, will take place on June 30. The ceremony is to be held at Vermillion Crossing, half way between Banff and Windermere, motors leaving both ends of the road early in the morning to meet at that place. The suggestion has been made by R. R. Bruce, of Invermere, that the National Park be named "Columbia National Park," and the road leading up the Columbia Valley from the boundary to Golden be named the "Canadian Columbia Highway."

Victoria.—Motorists will have a new circuit trip available with the completion in May of the high-powered motor ferry now building at Yarrows. Not only will Island and Mainland be linked by the operation of this craft, but the Canadian Pacific will have the steamer "Charmer" engaged in the purpose farther north. The "Charmer" will operate between Vancouver and Nanaimo, furnishing accommodation for all types of cars. With the new ferry in service, a new circuit will be made available—from Seattle via Bellingham to Sidney, thence to Victoria over paved road, to Nanaimo over the Malahat, thence by the "Charmer" to Vancouver and down the Pacific Highway to the border line and Seattle again.

The motor ferry will have ample height between deck to allow for all classes of cars. During the busy season it will make two round trips every day. The vessel will be fitted with observation rooms and open deck spaces to give tourists every opportunity to enjoy at their ease the fine scenery through the channels between San Juan, Lopez and other islands of the San Juan archipelago.

St. John, N.B.—The Canadian Pacific freighter, "Bolingbroke" recently brought from London the largest import cargo to reach St. John since the war. She was crammed to the hatches with more than 4,700 tons of general merchandise. Capt. E. Landy, who is in command, said that he had never carried a more valuable cargo and expressed great satisfaction that not a single package had been lost. Included in the cargo were silks and other valuable dress goods, dry goods of various descriptions, perfumes and many other expensive commodities. A cargo of this kind makes lots of work for the longshoremen.

Vancouver.—Carrying a record shipment of Canadian apples to the Orient the Canadian Pacific 16,850-ton liner, "Empress of Asia" recently sailed.

On opening the crates in the Oriental ports the consignees of past shipments have found that the apples are as fresh as if taken from the tree. This is partly due to the fact that at this time of the year the perishable cargo only gets one day of tropical heat during the whole voyage across. The "Asia" took approximately 350 tons of this commodity in her holds, the largest consignment of apples to go through the Narrows this season for the Orient.

CHINESE HUMOR

A Mr. F. V. Chamberlain has sailed from Victoria for Shanghai in search of the Chinese Mary Pickford and Charlie Chaplin. He said that the Chinese will prefer films made by and for the Chinese, of Chinese subjects and plot, and with Chinese humor.

If he can evolve a film explaining the origin of the laundry ticket it will also sell in the Occident and will go far toward answering the question, Is Chinese humor humorous?

A seven-reeler entitled "No Tickee No Washee" would be number one top side, if it elucidated some of these Celestial mysteries.

CANADA'S BUSINESS

William Randolph Hearst keeps everlastingly at the dirty game of insulting Japan and warning the United States. Perhaps Hearst is not Canada's business, but it will be very very distinctly our affairs if there ever is a clash between the two countries. The Pacific Coast is a unit without any international boundaries when the Oriental question comes up in any aggravating form.

Surely it is possible to be firm with Japan and yet respect the dignities and rights of so considerable a power and so able a people. The United States, however, finds it difficult to maintain a non-provocative policy, so virulent is the Hearst influence.

Under the circumstances Hearst is a menace to Canada as much as to his own country.

Got So Weak She Fell In Tracks

Toronto Lady Says Stomach Trouble Caused Collapse—Gives Tanlac Full Credit For Recovery

"I don't believe I'd be alive today to tell of my recovery if I hadn't taken the Tanlac treatment when I did. I feel so thankful that if I could I would go from house to house and tell everybody about this wonderful medicine." This is the grateful statement made the other day by Mrs. Josephine Brathwaite, 13 Bright St., Toronto, Ont.

"Seven years ago my health began to decline, and to think that if I'd only had Tanlac then what a world of suffering I would have missed. Broth and toast was about all I dared eat, gas and pains in my stomach after a meal nearly set me wild, and I would scream with agony. I grew thin as a rail and at times became so weak and dizzy I actually fell in my tracks.

What every complexion needs

Once every day your skin should be gently but thoroughly cleansed of all accumulations of dirt, perspiration, cold cream, rouge and powder.

Every tiny pore must be freed from clogging accumulations, so that the network of minute glands can do their necessary work. If you fail to cleanse the skin daily it will get sluggish and inactive, lifeless and sallow. Blackheads will develop, the filled up pores will enlarge into unattractive coarseness and dirt infections, irritation and pimples will result.

For this cleansing you must use a mild soap. Palmolive is made from Palm and Olive oils. For thousands of years these rare oils have been used by famous beauties. They were highly prized by Cleopatra.

Today these oils are blended to produce the most famous of all modern soaps — Palmolive. It produces a profuse creamy lather which is as smooth as a lotion. It penetrates every tiny pore and removes every trace of dirt, oil and cosmetics, leaving the skin wonderfully smooth, fresh and rosy.

IN VIEW of the constant raid on Fernie money by oil company promoters and other get-rich-quick corporations, the following warning issued by the London, Ont., City Council and the London Chamber of Commerce might be taken to heart by local investors:

"Whereas it is a matter of common knowledge that many people of this City and District have, within the last few years particularly, sustained loss by the purchase of stock in incorporated companies of a highly speculative and even in some instances fraudulent character;

And Whereas restrictions placed on the sale of stock in incorporated companies by three Canadian Provinces and forty-one out of the forty-eight States of the United States, have a tendency to make this Province—the richest in the Dominion—the happy hunting ground of company promoters and high-pressure salesmen;

Therefore Be it Resolved That the London City Council and Chamber of Commerce issue a warning to investors to thoroughly investigate all stock-selling proposals placed before them before signing applications for stock, and to bear in mind the fact that while there are many safe channels for investment, there are also frequently offered to the public investments which are more or less a gamble, and should not be considered for a minute by those who have no money to lose."

THE FOLLOWING clipping from the Toronto World reminds us of some of our local oil boosters:

"If we had not heard Rev. Billy greatly shocked when we read the advertising matter issued by Rev. A. E. Findley, of Eldorado, Arkansas, who, besides being a preacher, is a peddler of oil stock. He says that God has commanded him to drill for oil, and he strongly intimates that it is God's will that he will strike a gusher that will pay remarkable dividends. Here is a passage:

'Oh, to God, I wish I had 5000 poor people with just a few shares in my company, as I feel positively certain I would make them all independent for life, but my competitors in this line of business know how better than I do to raise finances. But if you could only understand and would have faith in me, a man who has always been upright, served God and humanity ever since I was big enough to know how, I know that you would go out and get behind me and help me to bring in this well. That is all I want, just co-operation in some way. How badly I would feel if I knew that you had a little money that you could spare in this enterprise and had failed to do so.

'To those who cannot help me get this well in, I want to send my love just the same. Remember, if you see my picture in the paper, or my advertisement, that I am telling you the truth and that I have made good before and that I feel sure of doing still better this time.'

We do not mind giving the Rev. Findley this advertisement, nor to inform readers that even $10 is not too small a sum to be gladly received by him, if they do not care to invest $100 or $1000. To make assurance doubly sure, it might be as well for them to get confirmation from the ouija board before making any substantial investment."

CRIPPLED BY RHEUMATISM

Began to Improve After Taking "Fruit-a-tives"

The Medicine Made From Fruit

You can get rid of Rheumatism. You can be free of pain—of swollen hands and feet—of aching arms, legs and back.

"Fruit-a-tives" will drive the cause of Rheumatism out of the system and give you permanent relief.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. Finally I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives". Before using half a box, I noticed improvement. I continued taking "Fruit-a-tives" improving all the time. I can now walk about two miles and do chores around the place".

One hundred and thirty-six automobile licenses have been taken out this year to date, at the local Government offices. Last year 450 licenses were issued and it is expected that the number will reach 550 this season.

Out of a total of 40,000,000 wage earners in the United States there are 2,000,000 public servants. It is calculated that every working American has to contribute one day's work a week towards the expense of governing the nation. In other words, the nation earns $63,825,000,000, and of this total it devotes $9,000,012,710 to government in its various forms.

This month it is announced that final decision will be made in connection with the United States north and south road to connect with the Canadian transprovincial highway, with opinion divided as to whether the route should be via Bonners Ferry to Kingsgate and Yahk or from Bonners Ferry to Porthill and Creston. The later route is the one preferred by Boundary country, as it traversed a settled section of northern Idaho, whilst the Kingsgate route traversed more or less of a wilderness. The British Columbia public works department has assured that if the Porthill line is built, a suitable highway connection will be built from Creston to that point, and should the traffic warrant, it is most likely the abandoned "K.V." right-of-way would be used, giving an ideal route and grade for the entire distance.

Ontario will have a general election in the latter part of June. There will be re-distribution before the election. These were chief anouncements made to an expectant legislature this afternoon.

OTHER COMPANIES TO GO UNDER SPOTLIGHT

Not only will the government investigator, Mr. J. W. Dixie, solicitor probe the operations in this province of the attorney-general's department, of the L. R. Steel Companies, but he will investigate a number of stock-selling concerns at present doing business in British Columbia in an effort to determine if they are complying with the law in their selling campaigns. Such was the intimation conveyed to Mr. Gordon S. Wismer, investigating the affairs of the shareholders in the L. R. Steel enterprises.

"As soon as Mr. Dixie has looked into the Steel tangle a general meeting of the shareholders will be called," stated Mr. Wismer today. "I am confident that Mr. Dixie will do his best to get quick action.

"What I am also very pleased to see in the appointment of Mr. Dixie is the attitude he is taking in respect to other concerns which are at present doing business. Acting on instructions from the attorney-general he will see that the provisions of the law are being adhered to in offering shares to the public."

Ontario Lady Just Rubs Vicks Over Throat and Chest

Here is the last word in treating cold troubles—rub Vicks well in over throat and chest. Get into bed and have the coverings loose about the neck. All night long you breathe in the healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc. The application also acts like a heating liniment or plaster. It is almost sure to loosen the cold before morning.

Mrs. J. Saunders of 235 Barton St., East Hamilton, Ont., says: "I was bothered with asthma and a very bad cold in my chest. I applied Vicks VapoRub, rubbing it on with my fingers, and found it gave me wonderful relief. I would be pleased to recommend it to anyone having a bad cold or in case of burns. As a family medicine it has no equal. I know it will help others and it has helped me."

Treatment with Vicks is especially desirable for children as it avoids so much dosing. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises, sores and skin itchings.

At all drug stores 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P. Q.

School was resumed on Monday with all the old teaching staff on the job.

Work has commenced on the local golf course and it will only be a week or so until the links are crowded.

CANADIANS GOING SOUTH

(Literary Digest)

Our immigration regulations do not apply to Canada and that is one reason for the great rush of Canadians into the United States, according to the Canadian press, in which we read that the second reason is that the American people who are "either down in the depths of industrial depression, or walking heads high, on the heights of prosperity" are "at the moment on the heights." The Toronto correspondent of the Manchester Guardian tells of "a train carrying thirty families from Alberta bound for Oregon and California," and of a count made for a group sitting in a prairie farmhouse which showed that "forty families had left the neighborhood within the year," and this information goes on to relate:

"From Victoria, British Columbia, it is reported that hundreds of families have moved south. From the Atlantic coast comes reports that from industrial centres like Amherst there is a steady stream of artizans and Halifax to the New England states. In Ottawa it is said that the bricklayer, plasterer and painter have become almost extinct by emigration. Some trade unions are said to report that one-third of their membership have gone to the United States, perhaps only temporarily, because most of the migrants have taken only travelling cards. One estimate says the movement is proceeding at the rate of 10,000 a month and has reached a total of more than 100,000 in the past year."

We are told further that as the exodus is being made 'a basis of attack on the Government, perhaps some discount should be allowed from the more pessimistic reports." But they have not been controverted in this writer's knowledge, and he continues:

"What one newspaper describes as Canada's role of incubator for the United States is not a new development, though it had been hoped the role was now abandoned. The other day an Ontario rural weekly reproduced a photograph of the male pupils in attendance at the town's Collegiate Institute in 1892, one of them being the present Premier of Ontario, Hon. E. C. Drury. Of the forty-eight whose addresses are known, ten have become permanent residents of the United States, all engaged successfully in professional or business life.

"Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to Washington, in a recent visit to Canada was sufficiently impressed by the situation to issue a message to young Canadians to remain in their country. If Canadians, he said, had stood by their homeland in peace as they have had in war the development of the Dominion would have been tenfold greater.

"The United States immigration policy is charged with being responsible for Canada's loss. The reductions fixing a quota of each nationality which may enter the United States annually do not apply to Canada. On the other hand, these restrictions have prevented congestion of the labor market, so that high wages and labor demands attract Canadians across the boundary. Another explanation put forward is the wide circulation in Canada of American publications describing the attractions of American life."

In the view of the Toronto Globe the rush of immigration from Canada is due to the industrial boom in the United States and it points out that the shortage of mechanics and manual workers in the Northern States has led to a scale of wages well in advance of the standard of the Dominion for similar occupations. So there has followed "a temporary emigration of young Canadians, whose places at home are taken to some extent by immigrants from Great Britain," and this daily adds:

"How long the boom will last is a matter of much debate. The pace may be too furious to be long maintained. During February 270,995 motor cars and trucks were turned out in the factories of the United States. This was the third largest output of any month on record, despite the fact that February had but twenty-four working days. A Canadian business man who has returned from a visit to the Pittsburg district says the only thing that prevents what he calls a craze for record output is the lack of sufficient workers . . . . .

"In Canada there is a steady reduction of the number of unemployed in most of the important industries. Men for lumbering and railway work are already scarce, and as building operations expand with the coming of spring there is likely to be a shortage of building trade mechanics. Recovery from the severe depression of the latter part of 1920, which continued throughout 1921, has been much less rapid than in the United States, but it is possible that the moderate measure of good times the Dominion may reasonably expect will prove more satisfactory to the average citizen in the long run than the meteoric changes in the United States from boom to depression, and depression to fevered industrial activity, with high prices always a lap ahead of high wages and labor girding at capital. . . . When the seasonal rush is over in motor factories and railway repair shops and building construction, the bulk of our young Canadians will head for home. they cannot have forgotten the appalling fact that a little over two years ago there were more than 4,000,000 persons out of work in the United States at a time when the cost of living was materially higher there."

COMING, "THE HOTTENTOT"

Thomas H. Ince has picked a winner and produced a thriller in his film version of "The Hottentot." Adapted from the stage play of the same name in which Willie Collier scored his greatest success, the picture is a novel combination of hilarious comedy and tense drama.

The witty lines of the play which won such endless laughter from audiences throughout the country have been retained in sparkling sub-titles. The absurd situations in which a horse-fearing yachtsman finds himself when he becomes the accidental hero of a runaway and is mistaken for a famous steeplechase rider of the same name have been developed on the screen with the expertness of the master showman.

Just by way of good measure, Ince has filmed a steeplechase which could not be included in the stage play, and is a thrilling achievement of daring riding and spectacular photography. It took a month and 200,000 celluliod feet to catch the hurdling horses and their riders in action rapid enough to satisfy the producer.

From beginning to end "The Hottentot" is crowded with laughs. Sam's introduction to Peggy Fairfax, with whom he promptly falls in love, is one of the funniest incidents ever screened. The horse-fearing yachtsman has just shaken hands with her when her horse runs away. Sam jumps on the running-board of his automobile to pursue her. When the car hits a rut he is thrown into the air and lights on the back of a riderless horse that has been plunging along in mad fright beside the auto.

By sheer accident the terrified yachtsman on the equally terrified horse manages to pull the girl from her mount before he himself is thrown violently over an embankment and crowned with a flying horseshoe from the violently pawing horse that has just run away.

After this absurd scene which everyone believes has been a brilliant rescue, Sam is mistaken for a famous steeplechase rider of his same name. His struggles to extricate himself from a situation as embarrassing as it is dangerous, in view of the fact that he can't ride at all, make Sam's life miserable from that time on. In the end he either has to admit himself a coward to the girl he loves or ride the wild Hottentot in a breakneck steeplechase.

"The Hottentot" is the sort of a picture that is sure to appeal to every member of the family. Its comedy is brilliant and wholesome from start to finish. There is a strong love interest and a smashing climax in the magnificient steeplechase.

Madge Bellamy, recently starred in Meurice Tourneur's "Lorna Doone," is at her winsome best as the vivacious little sportswoman for whom Sam overcomes fear. Douglas MacLean, as the horse-fearing yachtsman, and Raymond Hatton, as Swift, the eccentric butler, have worked out clever characterizations that are good for a laugh every time they appear on the screen.

"The Hottentot" will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Asked what he considered was responsible for existing conditions, a Kansas congressman attributed it largely to the fact that they existed.

UTAH'S "RIGHT TO WORK" LAW

(Spokesman Review)

The American people have heard so much about "the right to strike" that the right to work was fading from the public mind.

An act by the legislature of Utah is a reminder that there really is a doctrine of the individual's right "to carry on" in industry in America.

Over strong opposition the legislature passed and the governor signed an act to prohibit interference with employment in lawful occupation, to be known as "the right to work" act.

It is made unlawful for any person or persons, "acting singly or jointly with another or others, by means of any kind of force, threat, coercion, intimidation or violence, to cause or induce or to attempt to cause or induce a person engaged in a lawful occupation to quit such employment or to refuse or to decline to accept or begin a lawful employment."

Violation of this law carries penalties of a fine up to $30 or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

This law was passed in recognition of the indisputable fact that "the right to work is the right to live," and that coercive interference with that right is an assault upon the fundamental principles of American institutions and the rights and liberties of the individual citizen.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

The different types of risks covered in automobile insurance give rise to much misunderstanding on the part of the public. To the man who is contemplating automobile insurance the problem as to whether he should secure protection against all the hazards, or only against part of them, and if the latter plan be chosen, which averages should be secured. In most cases, the cost of all forms appears prohibitive to the buyer and he is likely to choose the fire and theft classes, excluding the others.

There are, in all, five classes—public liability, property damage, fire, theft and collision. Of these the more important is undoubtedly public liability, which covers the payment of damages for injury to the public by the insured's car. In the other classes, except property damage, the possible loss is limited to the value of the car, but where the insured's car causes personal injury by running into someone or otherwise, the injured person may be awarded damages amounting to thousands of dollars. We have a record of one man who had a judgment of $9,000 against him as the result of knocking a little boy down on the street. Being unable to meet the claim, his automobile, piano and store equipment were sold at auction by the sheriff. Without insurance protection any car holder may find himself faced with a judgment which may seriously impair his financial position.

The property damage class covers loss to the property of another person, movable or immovable, caused by the insured's automobile. This may be damage done to another's automobile in collision or to a store or other property. A common loss is that occasioned by a car getting out of the drivers' control, crossing the sidewalk and crashing into a store window, destroying the window glass, store front and goods on display. While the loss in such cases may be greater than the value of the car, it is unlikely that it will exceed it by any substantial amount. Cover on this plan is only given in conjunction with public liability insurance.

In the three other classes, the extent of the possible loss is limited to the value of the car. The collision policy covers damages to the insured's car, whether this results in partial or total destruction of it, through collision. Most policies place a minimum limit on the extent of damage. This varies from $25 to $100. Where it is $25 the insurance company is not liable in cases where the accident or collision damages the car only to such an extent that it costs less than that to repair it. In cases where the repairs necessitated by the collision are greater than $25, the company is liable. Fire insurance covers the loss of the car by fire, while the theft clause provides against loss by stealing. The latter cannot be secured independent of the fire protection.

The determination of the rates charged involves a great deal of work tabulating and classifying the net earned premiums and the losses incurred by the companies. This is done by the Canadian Automobile Underwriters Association. They collect the information from the respectives companies, tracing the policies from their date of issue, noting the exposure, special hazards, and the losses resulting from them.

In the first place the risks in the thickly populated centres such as the cities differ from those in rural communities. In the cities the public liability, property damage, collision and theft risks are high, while the fire hazard is low. In rural districts the opposite is true. In considering public liability, property damage, and collision cover a distinciton is made between private passenger cars and cars such as taxis, jitneys, trucks, etc. It is evident that the latter are much more exposed to these hazards, as they are, ordinarily, driven a great deal more. The small car, as opposed to the large car is favored on these risks as the force of its impact, due to less weight, is not so great, consequently the damage done is likely to be less. Moreover in the case of collision it costs less to repair the small car than the large one.

In considering fire risks the larger and more expensive car has a preference over the smaller one. Fire arises chiefly from faulty insulation, gasoline connections or oil systems. These are usually more carefully installed in the larger cars and do not become defective so soon. The fire hazard in new cars is naturally less than in old cars where these parts have been subject to wear.

CAST LIGHT ON SOVIET RUSSIA

NEW YORK, April 6.—Accused by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Doyle, of Baton Rouge, La., of having obtained from them $1100 by falsely representing the prospectus for American colonists in soviet Russia, P. Pascal Cosgrove and Frank Reese, operating offices of the Autonomous Industrial colony of Russia in New York, were locked up in police headquarters tonight charged with grand larceny.

The district attorney ordered the arrests after the Doyles, who returned from Russia with their two small sons last Wednesday, had related their experiences in Siberia, where they had been sent with 125 other American colonists. The case will be taken to the grand jury.

Arriving in Petrograd las year, the Doyles told assistant district attorney Weller the party was met by "Big Bill" Haywood, fugutive I.W.W. leader, and a review of 10,000 troops was held in their honor. Four bands added to the impressiveness of the greeting. When they reached the supposed co-operative industrial colony in Siberia, they declared they found conditions uncivilized. The "free love" ideas of the Russians, they said, finally made them determine to quit Russia.

Mr. Weller said the colonists have 40 or 50 other offices scattered over the United States.

"The Doyles told me a harrowing tale of their experiences in Russia," the assistant district attorney said, "and complain bitterly that the colony to which they were shipped was an unfit place for human inhabitation. They said sanitary conditions were revolting, that there was insufficient food and the members of the colony were quite insistent upon carrying into actual effect the theory of free love, which is prevalent all over soviet Russia.

"On May 10 last year, they told me they paid to Cosgrove and Reese $1100 on the representation that they would be sent to a colony in Russia where the American standard of living was in effect. Instead, they claim, they were sent by way of Petrograd to Kemerova, in Siberia, just across the border line from white Russia. Later, when they refused to stand for some of the outrages on the part of colony officials they were shipped to Hadjenska, 1500 miles deeper into Siberia."

Another victim was said to have been Anton Novak of New Philadelphia, Ohio, who, Mr. Weller was told, had paid $1800 and was sent to work in the Russian coal mines, which were flooded when he got there.

"We have learned that Cosgrove is the general organizer and chief propaganda man for soviet Russia in the United States," the assistant district attorney said. "Reese is manager of the New York office,"

Both declined to make any statement, Mr. Weller said. The concern obtained colonists by advertising in country newspapers, and the scheme appealed strongly to former radicals, he asserted.

"Mrs. Doyle said to me today," he added, "I was a radical once, but 8 months in Russia cured me."

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE

The different types of risks covered in automobile insurance give rise to much misunderstanding on the part of the public. To the man who is contemplating automobile insurance the problem as to whether he should secure protection against all the hazards, or only against part of them, and if the latter plan be chosen, which averages should be secured. In most cases, the cost of all forms appears prohibitive to the buyer and he is likely to choose the fire and theft classes, excluding the others.

There are, in all, five classes—public liability, property damage, fire, theft and collision. Of these the more important is undoubtedly public liability, which covers the payment of damages for injury to the public by the insured's car. In the other classes, except property damage, the possible loss is limited to the value of the car, but where the insured's car causes personal injury by running into someone or otherwise, the injured person may be awarded damages amounting to thousands of dollars. We have a record of one man who had a judgment of $9,000 against him as the result of knocking a little boy down on the street. Being unable to meet the claim, his automobile, piano and store equipment were sold at auction by the sheriff. Without insurance protection any car holder may find himself faced with a judgment which may seriously impair his financial position.

The property damage class covers loss to the property of another person, movable or immovable, caused by the insured's automobile. This may be damage done to another's automobile in collision or to a store or other property. A common loss is that occasioned by a car getting out of the drivers' control, crossing the sidewalk and crashing into a store window, destroying the window glass, store front and goods on display. While the loss in such cases may be greater than the value of the car, it is unlikely that it will exceed it by any substantial amount. Cover on this plan is only given in conjunction with public liability insurance.

In the three other classes, the extent of the possible loss is limited to the value of the car. The collision policy covers damages to the insured's car, whether this results in partial or total destruction of it, through collision. Most policies place a minimum limit on the extent of damage. This varies from $25 to $100. Where it is $25 the insurance company is not liable in cases where the accident or collision damages the car only to such an extent that it costs less than that to repair it. In cases where the repairs necessitated by the collision are greater than $25, the company is liable. Fire insurance covers the loss of the car by fire, while the theft clause provides against loss by stealing. The latter cannot be secured independent of the fire protection.

The determination of the rates charged involves a great deal of work tabulating and classifying the net earned premiums and the losses incurred by the companies. This is done by the Canadian Automobile Underwriters Association. They collect the information from the respectives companies, tracing the policies from their date of issue, noting the exposure, special hazards, and the losses resulting from them.

In the first place the risks in the thickly populated centres such as the cities differ from those in rural communities. In the cities the public liability, property damage, collision and theft risks are high, while the fire hazard is low. In rural districts the opposite is true. In considering public liability, property damage, and collision cover a distinciton is made between private passenger cars and cars such as taxis, jitneys, trucks, etc. It is evident that the latter are much more exposed to these hazards, as they are, ordinarily, driven a great deal more. The small car, as opposed to the large car is favored on these risks as the force of its impact, due to less weight, is not so great, consequently the damage done is likely to be less. Moreover in the case of collision it costs less to repair the small car than the large one.

In considering fire risks the larger and more expensive car has a preference over the smaller one. Fire arises chiefly from faulty insulation, gasoline connections or oil systems. These are usually more carefully installed in the larger cars and do not become defective so soon. The fire hazard in new cars is naturally less than in old cars where these parts have been subject to wear.

CAST LIGHT ON SOVIET RUSSIA

NEW YORK, April 6.—Accused by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Doyle, of Baton Rouge, La., of having obtained from them $1100 by falsely representing the prospectus for American colonists in soviet Russia, P. Pascal Cosgrove and Frank Reese, operating offices of the Autonomous Industrial colony of Russia in New York, were locked up in police headquarters tonight charged with grand larceny.

The district attorney ordered the arrests after the Doyles, who returned from Russia with their two small sons last Wednesday, had related their experiences in Siberia, where they had been sent with 125 other American colonists. The case will be taken to the grand jury.

Arriving in Petrograd las year, the Doyles told assistant district attorney Weller the party was met by "Big Bill" Haywood, fugutive I.W.W. leader, and a review of 10,000 troops was held in their honor. Four bands added to the impressiveness of the greeting. When they reached the supposed co-operative industrial colony in Siberia, they declared they found conditions uncivilized. The "free love" ideas of the Russians, they said, finally made them determine to quit Russia.

Mr. Weller said the colonists have 40 or 50 other offices scattered over the United States.

"The Doyles told me a harrowing tale of their experiences in Russia," the assistant district attorney said, "and complain bitterly that the colony to which they were shipped was an unfit place for human inhabitation. They said sanitary conditions were revolting, that there was insufficient food and the members of the colony were quite insistent upon carrying into actual effect the theory of free love, which is prevalent all over soviet Russia.

"On May 10 last year, they told me they paid to Cosgrove and Reese $1100 on the representation that they would be sent to a colony in Russia where the American standard of living was in effect. Instead, they claim, they were sent by way of Petrograd to Kemerova, in Siberia, just across the border line from white Russia. Later, when they refused to stand for some of the outrages on the part of colony officials they were shipped to Hadjenska, 1500 miles deeper into Siberia."

Another victim was said to have been Anton Novak of New Philadelphia, Ohio, who, Mr. Weller was told, had paid $1800 and was sent to work in the Russian coal mines, which were flooded when he got there.

"We have learned that Cosgrove is the general organizer and chief propaganda man for soviet Russia in the United States," the assistant district attorney said. "Reese is manager of the New York office,"

Both declined to make any statement, Mr. Weller said. The concern obtained colonists by advertising in country newspapers, and the scheme appealed strongly to former radicals, he asserted.

"Mrs. Doyle said to me today," he added, "I was a radical once, but 8 months in Russia cured me."

COAL MINERS AND SCIENTISTS UNITE TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

PITTSBURG, April 11.—Fine coal dust and moist air quickly increase the hazards of spontaneous- combustion, according to scientists of the Carnegie Institute of technology and the Pittsburg station of the United States Bureau of Mines, who have been carrying on investigations here with an advisory board of coal operators and mining engineers.

Another conclusion set forth is that mixing freshly-mined coal with old coal doe not develop any more heat than that derived from coal piled separately.

A third conclusion is that most of the alloys available for use in coal mine equipment are corroded extensively by the acid waters in mines. Brasses containing zinc corroded rapidly, while bronzes containing tin corrode more slowly. Cupro-nickel and nickel-silver have about the same resisting power to the acids as the brasses.

A vote of $20,000 for new flying equipment for the Air Force was passed by the House of Commons.

The newspaper is a great sinner, both in matters of omission and commission. It is always printing the thing it ought not to print and leaving unprinted the thing it ought to print, according to the average critic, and he is a multitude. Yet is it not a fact that the sinner often is the most lovable fellow? The most popular characters in all masterpieces of English literature were general scamps, none was entirely devoid of weakness; yet they will come as near to achieveing immortality as any mortal thing. Take them all, commencing with Falstaff and Tom Jones, and running down a list which includes all the often unheroic heroes of fiction, and confess that the world would be a poor, drab, uninteresting place without them. But there is not one that has not some remnant of saving grace, with the possible exception of Holy Willie and Uriah Heap. Burns even pleaded for the devil and prayed that he might not be beyond redemption.—Exchange.

Health turns the clock backward

ONE MINUTE HEALTH ESSAY
By
G. J. PARKS—CHIROPRACTOR

TURN ON THE CURRENT

Do you believe in electricity? Do you believe in its power to make a motor run? Man does not run the motor. He simply turns on the current. Man can not run your body, but he can turn on the current—that's what the competent Chiropractor does.

If you DON'T believe in this human electrical current of nervous energy, then how do you account for a paralized arm? Why is it paralized? What is lacking, except the human electrical current or mental impulse? The answer to these questions lies in the fact that paralytics and others with various ailments come to us and, with no other remedies or appliances than our two hands, we adjust the vertebrae of the spine, thus releasing this current so that it can flow freely to the paralized arm or other defective part, and the patient gets well. This is true of every part and organ of the human body.

ANOTHER FREAKISH CURE

A playful barber was the means of restoring hearing to a partly deaf patron. The patron and barber were friends. The barber was a sort of rough joker. One day as his deaf patron sat down for a shave, the barber playfully gave him a quick pull backward and the back of the deaf man's head hit the soft cushion with a thump. A tremendous racket started inside the ear and with one final bang and snap the hearing was fully restored. The accidental jerk had returned bones of the neck to a normal position.

Force accidently applied often produces splendid cures, and it is equally true that force intelligently applied removes the cause of nearly all ills and ailments—the current has been turned on and Nature is enabled to apply Her forces in running the human machinery.

Brain
Eyes
Ears
Nose
Throat
Arms
Heart
Lungs
Liver
Stomach
Pancreas
Spleen
Kidneys
Small Bowels
Large Bowels
Genital Organs
Thighs and Legs.

TO REPLACE WOODEN PIPE

The Fernie City Council held their regular meeting in the Council Chambers last evening, Mayor Henderson occupying the chair, Aldermen Aiello, Douglas and Irvine were absent.

Jimmy Johnstone, on behalf of the Fernie Pipe Band, waited on the Council and requested some small financial assistance for that band so that they could purchase new reeds and bags for their pipes. The amount required was $31.50, he stated, and if the Council saw fit to give them this grant, the Pipe Band would be at the disposal of the City provided the time required would mean no loss of work to the members of the band.

The City Clerk reported, in accordance with instructions he had received at a special meeting held Monday, April 16th, that he had prepared figures providing for the laying of cast iron pipe to replace old wooden pipe throughout the City south of the Great Northern Railway tracks. He reported that the total pipe requirements to do this work were 8350 feet of six inch, 790 feet of eight inch and 720 feet of twelve inch pipe. Basing prices on the same rate as the cast iron pipe now enroute for the main line, the cost of pipe alone would be $15,100. Fred J. Dawson, the contractor who was successful tenderer on the original contract, submitted a tender of $9,818.30 on laying of this pipe.

On motion of Ald. Graham-Robichaud, it was decided that the work be carried out and that the City Clerk be instructed to procure the necessary pipe. Dawson's tender was accepted.

The usual sheaf of accounts were passed for payment.

An application for a permit to build a butcher store next to Lassall's store in Fernie Annex was received but was laid over until a report could be made on same by the City Engineer.

YOUNG LAD FINED $200

In the police court Saturday afternoon, awell known young lad of about 18 years of age of this city was fined $200 by Police Magistrate Henderson on a charge of carrying offensive weapons with intent to do injury. The case arose out of an affair which occurred in a local hotel a few days ago when the young man, aroused to anger from an imagined wrong done him, visited the room of a newly-arrived guest, threatening him and displaying firearms to emphasize his threats.

Subsequently the above charge was preferred and he pleaded guilty. His Worship, owing to the serious nature thereof went into the evidence from which it developed on admission by the accused that at least on one former occasion he had used firearms threateningly. In the present instance, however, he stoutly maintained that the weapons had been harmless as they were not loaded. Another young lad was temporarily implicated, the allegation that the two guns had been secreted by him. He was also hailed into court but was discharged when he produced three weapons all of which he claimed belonged to the accused. All the guns were confiscated by the authorities.

The astounding disclosures as to the prevalence of offensive weapons in this case in the possession of mere youngsters, it is understood will institute more rigid surveillance on the part of the police in that direction, and henceforth, anyone caught carrying a "gat" may expect to receive the full extent of the penalty prescribed by law.

A juvenile session was held in the city police court on Saturday morning when three lads, John Sikora, John Kubkinecz and Nic Dragon, of ages from 12 to 14 years, were required to appear in answer to charges of causing damage to the city's main water supply necessitating a two-hour shut-down a few days previous. The evidence for the prosecution was that large spikes had been driven into the wooden main pipe line at two or three places where it is exposed, thereby causing leaks which rapidly enlarged, required cutting the city's water supply off to repair the damage. It was also brought out that this mischief had been caused by Sikora and Kubkinecz and that young Dragon was in no way responsible. The Magistrate accordingly dismissed the charge against Dragon, but imposed a nominal fine of $5 and costs each for the other two lads.

Premier Oliver Addresses Large Fernie Audience

Returning to his home province from what he termed as a most successful and enthusiastic speaking tour of the main centres in the Prairie Provinces, Premier John Oliver continued his fight for an equalization of freight rates for British Columbia here on Wednesday evening when he addressed a large public meeting in the Grand Theatre.

Chairman A. I. Fisher, in introducing the Premier, stated that after having convinced the people of Alberta and Western Saskatchewan that British Columbia was being discriminated against in the matter of freight rates, did not expect that he would receive much opposition in his own province but the Fernie people always reserved their decision until they had heard the questions debated.

Premier Oliver in opening his address, stated that the freight rates question had now become a Dominion wide affair and that he had kept his campaign absolutely free from politics but desired to answer some criticisms of his Government now that he was in his own province. Replying to the statement that the present Government was increasing the burden of taxation of the people he pointed out that total assessed taxes only amounted to approximately $6,000,000.00, a sum which hardly net the expense of running two departmens, the Department of Education and the Department of the Provincial Secretary. The balance of the Government revenue, he stated was collected by Income Taxes, the bulk of which came from large corporations, liquor profits, automobile licenses and out of these amounts the Municipalities had received over $3,800,000, the City of Fernie receiving as her share of liquor profits, $15,000. Referring to the increased cost of the Civil Service, he pointed out that increases in wages were as necessary to the employees of this department as any other class of labor, but taking the percentage of cost as compared with the revenue of the Province, there was a decline from 21.8 per cent. in 1921 to 18.2 in 1922.

He stated that he had been questioned as to how the freight rates affected the interior, and wished to assure the people of Fernie that the entire Province of British Columbia was being unfairly discriminated against to such an extent that we are paying on an average of 40 per cent. higher in freight rates than the people of Eastern Canada. The matter did nt stop at freight rates either, he said, passenger rates in British Columbia ran 4 cents per mile as compared with 2 and 2½ cents per mile in the east.

The reason given by the C.P.R. for these high rates in B.C. was that the cost of construction over the mountains, through this province, was much higher, the cost of operation was higher and there was a greater volume of business in the east than in the west. His answer to this was that British Columbia was in a much different position than any other province in the Dominion of Canada, giving details to prove that when British Columbia joined the confederation of Canada, they were given the pledge of the Dominion Government that this province would be given equal rights with the rest of Canada, in regard to the linking the East and West with one great railway. He showed how the C.P.R. had relieved the Dominion Government of this pledge that this line would be built, in lieu of enormous grants of lands and money which were given to the company.

Referring to the criticism directed at him by D. C. Coleman, Vice President of the C.P.R., Mr. Oliver claimed, that the Yellowhead Pass was the original route planned for this railway, but the C.P.R. had passed up the natural valley route to build over the mountains in the Kicking Horse Pass. The people of British Columbia should not be made to pay for this tremendous blunder of engineering made by that company. Mr. Coleman claims that it was in the interest of National welfare that the C. P. R. chose the southern route, for if they had gone through the Yellowhead Pass, railways from the south would tap Canada's natural resources, yet from the Coast of British Columbia to the western shores of Lake of the Woods, we find there are no less than seventeen railway lines running into Canada from the United States, notwithstanding the fact that the C.P.R. chose the southern route.

He outlined the various outstanding discriminations the people of British Columbia and Alberta in the matter of class freight rates, showing that in shipments of sugar and coffee the west were paying from 30 to 87 per cent., fresh fruit from 66 to 94 per cent., tea from 17 to 85 per cent., fresh fish 22 to 109 per cent., lumber 15 to 88 per cent. and on canned goods from 30 to 107 per cent. higher than those in Eastern Canada. These figures had been arrived at by taking rates on the same commodities for equal distances in the East and in the West.

He gave as an outstanding illustration of the unfairness of the present freight rates by pointing out that the C.P.R. and the C.N.R. will haul a 60,000 pound carload of rice from Vancouver to Montreal at the same rate as they will haul the same carload from Vancouver to Lethbridge. He, rather humorously, added that he had only that morning paid $1.30 for a collect telegram saying that his ignorance of freight rates was colossal. Mr. Uphill interrupted and requested Mr. Oliver to read the telegram, Mr. Oliver complied. it read:

Winnipeg, Man., April 17. 1923.
Via Coleman, Alta., April 18, 1923.
Hon. John Oliver,
On Train 67,
Crowsnest, B.C.

Your ignorance of freight rate basis is colossal. Mentally you measure up with Andy Gump.

(Signed) B. E. Foartem.

Continuing, the Premier stated that in February a Vancouver merchant went to Montreal to purchase woolen goods. The Montreal dealer explained the high cost by giving freight rates, duty, etc., and showing how they arrived at their price. The merchant, however, decided he would endeavor to buy direct from Scotland and found that whereas the freight rate on the rail was five cents a pound, he could bring the goods from Glasgow, all water route via the Panama Canal, at $7.00 a ton compared with the freight rate from Montreal to Vancouver alone of $100.00 a ton.

British Columbia is not only fighting the freight rates, he declared, but also demanded that a Canadian Customs Officer be appointed at the port of New York to supervise trans-shipment of goods at that port. He gave an example of how unfair the Customs Department were to Canadian Manufacturers. A shipment of steel left Sydney, N.S., for Vancouver, via the Panama Canal and, as there is no direct line of steamships between these two ports, the steel had to be transferred to another steamship at New York. When the shipment arrived, the purchaser was considerably surprised to find that he was charged with $3500 duty, notwithstanding the fact that the steel was Canadian product. It looked like glaring neglect of duty by the Minister of Customs at Ottawa and protection of the rialways, and he was a Liberal Minister at that. Turning to Mr. Fisher, the Premier said, "You are a good Liberal, Mr. Chairman, and I am a staunch Liberal, but thank God I am not that kind of a Liberal."

He bitterly attacked Frank Carvell, Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners, stating that he was a "Mere Satelite" of the railway companies and that his letter under his own signature to the Nelson Board of Trade, stating that the campaign of the British Columbia Government was an election campaign, was a deliberate untruth, and he referred to the fact that British Columbia had entered this fight in 1921, just after they had been returned to power at a general election. He also declared that Carvell had lied when he stated that B.C. was asking for a class rather than a commodity rate cut. He then declared it was the duty of the Dominion Government to immediately remve that man from the responsible position he now holds.

In Concluding, Premier Oliver drew attention to the fact that on the portals of the new Houses of Parliament at Ottawa there was a sign, stating that Canada had ocean on both sides of the Continent, but, he added, what was the use of advertising this glorious fact, an honor that many great powers had fought for, if on the east, these ports are blocked by ice in the winter, while on the other side, open all year round, the Government were allowing the railway companies to do their untmost to close them by excessive freight rates.

BANQUET PRIZE WINNING TEAM

Last Friday evening the Fernie Rotary Club had as their guests at a banquet in the City Hotel, the prize winning Fernie Boy Scout First Aid team and the Fernie Mine Rescue team with their officers.

The Rotary Club had been approached and had consented the silver medals won by the Boy Scouts in the Wallace Nesbit competition held throughout the Dominion of Canada last Fall, and took this occasion for the presentation.

Amidst singing and banter, the dinner was served and was speedily disposed of, the boys especially were kept busy, the Rotary members seeing to it that they had all they could manage to stow away. Kastner's quartette were voted the hit of the evening.

The guests were then given an insight into things Rotary when President E. K. Stewart introduced Mr. Alfred Cummings who was about to join the club and turned him over to the Rev. W. F. Burns for initiation.

Mr. Stewart then called upon Dr. E. L. Garner to perform the presentations. Before doing so, Dr. Garner briefly outlined the history of the St. John's Ambulance work, giving it's foundation in the early centuries and following it right down to the present day, and how First Aid work was regarded by the physicians and surgeons. He then called upon the boys; Jack Larmont (Captain), Ross Workman, Tom Puckey, Owney Corrigan and Howard Corrie and presented them with the medals they had won.

In replying to the Chairman and Dr. Garner, Joe Hamer, Boy Scout First Aid Instructor, dwelt upon the record of the First Aid Team. He pointed out that while the troop had only been in active operation for a little over two years, in five competitions in which the team had taken part, they had won first prizes at Fernie, defeating the 7th Lethbridge troop Boy Scouts, Alberta Champion Junior First Aid Team; second prize at Blairmore, second prize at Michel, second prize in the Wallace Nesbit 1922 competition and third prize in the same competition in 1921. Their percentage in the Wallace Nesbit 1922 Competition (B.C.) when taken against the Dominion of Canada with 73 entries, ranked third, a team in Fort William, Ont., just nosing them out by a fraction of one per cent. for second place.

Jack Larmont, captain of the Boy Scouts team, briefly thanked the Rotary Club for their kindness in tendering them the banquet and presenting the medals. He requested permission to present at that time, a fountain pen from the members of the team to their instructor, Mr. J. Hamer, in appreciation of his work with them.

Following this, Mr. Stewart, on behalf of the Rotary Club announced that the Club had decided to place at the disposal of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association, a suitable shield or other trophy to be named by the Association, to be competed for at the same time as the Dr. King Trophy as a prize for Senior First Aid work in this district.

Mr. Clem Stubbs, in replying, expressed the thanks of the Association for this trophy and was sure that it would bring about much greater enthusiasm in this competition. Touching on mine rescue work he outlined the record of the Fernie Team and introduced it's members; Mr. Hesketh (Capt.) Messrs. Rutledge, Green, Hamer, Hilton, and Instructor Puckey. He also pointed out that a knowledge was not only necessary to mine workers, but should be a great benefit to business men, especially those who were motorists, showing how useful a knowledge of first aid was in case of accident.

After several short addresses by members of the Mine Rescue team and Rotary members the evening's entertainment was brought to a close with the entire assembly singing "God Save the King."

WILL KNOW FATE NEXT WEEK

The execution is fixed for May 2.

BOARD OF TRADE HAVE BRIGHT OUTLOOK

The Fernie Board of Trade held their postponed annual meeting in the Council Chambers on Monday evening and had one of the largest attendances that the Board has had for some time.

In winding up last year's business, the chairman, Mr. E. K. Stewart, called upon Mr. Spalding, Secretary of the Board for his report, which he made as follows:

Secretary's Report for 1922

Mr. President and members of the Fernie Board of Trade:

In this, my third annual report as Secretary of the Fernie Board of Trade, I wish first of all to say the difficulty of arousing the proper interest in Board of Trade meetings amongst the citizens of Fernie has necessitated our President and myself carrying on it's business as best we could. We called meetings on our regular dates in April and May and at neither of them were there enough members present to form a quorum. In the summer months it is next to impossible to get meetings so none were called, and since then, on every regular meeting night there has been something else on, and it was useless to call meetings. Fortunately there has been no business of an urgent nature to bring before you, and we have been able to carry on.

Collections for the year totalled $1182. This amount would have been considerably increased had it not been for the strike. We thought that we had better confine ourselves to soliciting subscriptions amongst the businesses which derived the principal benefits from the tourists, and therefore did not approach all those who subscribed last year. Several of whom have volunteered to make up for it this year.

All the outstanding accounts have been paid up.

Although we set aside $400 for Camp Site improvements, we decided before spending any money we would first of all see what could be done voluntarily for the commencement of the season and then as the necessity arose make our improvements. The season was unusually late in starting and the voluntary work which was done early in the year was so effective, and in view of the fact that some of our collections were late in coming in, Mr. Stewart thought with me that we should try to get along for the balance of the season without spending any of the appropriation which has been sanctioned. There were many nights that the grounds were overcrowded, but I think we acted for the best.

We have no means of keeping an accurate check on the number of automobiles coming through the town, or the number of parties using the camping grounds, because only a small percentage of them visit my office and not all who stay at the grounds register, but judging from figures given by the Customs Department and from other sources, I think that 3500 cars during 1922 would be be a conservative estimate.

Our grounds were occupied by approximately 600 parties during the season, many of whom stayed several days and some for a week. Without exception they were all very enthusiastic over it, and undoubtedly have spoken well of Fernie on account of it wherever they have gone.

The matter of the resolution in respect to the Banff-Windermere Road which was discussed at the annual meeting, was attended to, and the general protest which was sent to the Dominion Government resulted in their passing a supplimentary appropriation, and the work on it was carried through to a finish last Fall.

In respect to the motion passed at the annual meeting about the Corbin Road, instead of a resolution being sent in by the Committee, I attended to it through the Tourist Association because the Department of Public Works asked us for recommendations as to what requirements were needed for Southern B.C. We submitted our ideas and advocated the completion as soon as possible of that particular road. We received a reply from them that whatever could be done, would be done, but it was purely a matter of finances, and that the necessity work on the existing roads would have to be done before any new work could be touched.

Mr. Greenwood and I were appointed a committee to drum up new members, but the strike came on and lasted all summer, we did not have much success on the one occasion we tried it out, and put it off until things looked more propitious.

There was no necessity of the committee which was appointed to draw up a resolution respecting the fishing in Silver Springs Lake to do that because the Fisheries Inspector was here shortly after then and closed the lake for fishing himself.

On the occasion of a recent visit to Cranbrook I had a long talk with Mr. Brady, the Public Works engineer for East Kootenay, about the roads through the district, and he informed me that although the appropriations for this year were not large, the work which would be done would be particularly effective, and that several recommendations which had been made by the Tourist Association and our Board of Trade, were to be carried out directly it was possible for them to get to work in the Spring. The long grade from the top of the Morrissey Hill overlooking the river was to be fenced in with a fence sufficently strong to prevent cars from going over the hill side. In other localities where fencing was necessary it would be done also. The hairpin turn on the way to Morrissey was going to be straightened out either by a fill or by bridging, and other dangerous curves would receive attention. The roads throughout the Fernie district where they are not hard surfaced were going to be hard surfaced this year, and whatever was necessary to put our roads in first class condition would be done. He said that he was going to have another survey made for the proposed road between Elko and McNab along the rim of the canyon as soon as the snow went away, and held out hopes that another line could be located which would justify the road being constructed. The survey which was made last year only lessened the length of the present road by a few hundred yards, and on account of costly construction, it would be out of the question entirely. Regarding our request for a road up to Island Lake, Mr. Grady said that he expected he would come here personally and go over it, and though he could not make any promises, he thought that if it could be constructed at a cost which would not be prohibitive, we should eventually get the road.

The road between Fort Steele and Sheep Creek connecting with the Banff-Windermere Road was going to be let out to contract and work was to commence on it at once. It would be a standard, hard surfaced road and be finished before the opening date of the Banff-Windermere Road which is set for June 30.

As a result of recommendations made to them by us, the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. are going to include a full page write up on motoring in the Canadian Rockies and insert a full page map of our roads in their 1923 issue of their booklet "Resorts in the Rockies." This is one of their principal advertising mediums and will undoubtedly bring increased travel. It is a decided inovation for a railroad company to advertise a mode of transportation which is cutting into their passenger and freight receipts to a very serious extent, and goes to show they realize that what they lose in one way they anticipate to make up in another, in other words, the business of their hotels and bungalow camps will be increased by motor travel.

As the Fernie Board of Trade is a contributor to the Tourist Association of S.E. B.C. & S. Alta., you will be interested in a brief report of our activities during the first year of our existence, and an outline of our plans for this year.

Last year we distributed 15,000 booklets throughout Canada and the United States which obtained for us a great deal of free publicity from leading newspapers in the large centres in both countries and resulted in over two thousands requests for copies of it. Descriptive articles, many of which were illustrated, appeared in magazines and newspapers, some of which I wrote ond others were written from material I supplied. We wound up the year with a small balance in hand instead of being badly in the hole as we had expected to be. At the start we only had $3100 in sight, this was the total amount of our membership assessments, our advertising plans called for an expenditure of $2800 out of that, and as we then had no other monies in prospect, there was only $300 available for overhead expense and with which to pay my salary, However, I succeeded in obtaining a cash donation of $750 from the C.P.R., another $600 from subscriptions to our Hotel and Garage list and from other outside sources secured sufficient to pay all our overhead expenses and my year's salary excepting $150. In other words, practically every cent which was subscribed by this and other Boards of Trade was actually spent in advertising.

Whilst on this subject I might as well state now, that this year I have been able to obtain from sources outside the Association up to the present $2220; made up as follows: Hotel and Garage list, $820; Provincial Government of B.C., $150; C.P.R., $750; other sources $500. Besides this, the Minister of Public Works for the Province of Alberta has recently notified me that he has included the Association in his appropriations for $300. From other sources I expect to be able to secure enough to bring the total up to close on $3000, which will not only pay for our overhead expenses but gives us an additional $1000 or more towards our funds for advertising. From this it will be seen that instead of the member Boards of our Association, it is outsiders who are paying our expenses. This should be sufficient evidence that we are producing results through the Association, and it is only by having such an Association that we can obtain this outside help. It would be impossible for either of the Boards, as individuals, to obtain this help.

Our plans for this year consist of an issue of 50,000 maps which will be sent all over the country and will be in the possession of practically every tourist who comes to the Rockies this year. These maps will be sent out before the end of this month if the printers live up to their contract. We shall probably have to get a reprint of several thousand more of last year's booklet which will be brought up to date leaving out Trail, Nelson and Grand Forks, as they have withdrawn from our membership, and including Calgary and Blairmore, both of which have joined this year; this more than compensates for the loss of the others and will permit of closer concentration in our advertising of our section of the country, which after all is the magnet which is drawing the tourist travel.

Fernie's representatives at the annual meeting of the Association on October 18 last, rejoined at the same assessment as before, viz: $500. But after Nelson had objected to their assessment, this amount was reduced by $200, and Cranbrook and Fernie immediately agreed to share that reduction between them, so their asses-

"Would Wake Up Screaming"

"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong, healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found and brought home was very weak, with his thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death raving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmurred 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would waken in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnol and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his own self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnol. Of course I still have to watch him and give him Carnol occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Mrs. P., Montreal.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 2-622

PACIFIC HOT CAKES

Mrs. Anderson sends this recipe in response to a request. She calls them Pacific Hot Cakes, because she can't get them right with anything but Pacific Milk. "Mix and sift 3 cups flour, 1½ tablespoons baking powder, ¼ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon salt. Beat 1 egg, then add 1 cup water and 1 cup Pacific Milk. Add to first mixture. Then stir in 2 tablespoons of melted butter." We have tried these and its a permanent recipe with three of us in our own offices.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK APRIL 23 TO 28 INCLUSIVE

By special Order-in-Council next week, April 23 to 28, is being proclaimed a Fire Prevention Week, the purpose being to appeal to the inhabitants of B.C. early in the season to keep the woods green and the province prosperous by preventing forest fires.

Fire is an ever-present menace to our forest wealth during the summer months, and 95 per cent. of the forest fires in this province are due to human agency. In other words, this proportion is preventable. Thus, in 1922 there were 2600 fires of which 2470 were preventable.

Our provincial lumber industry shows an annual turn-over of $75,000,000, and will steadily increase as long as the woods are kept green and the ordinary increase takes place. No good business man ever asks for increased taxation but that is exactly what happens when the citizens themselves by carelessness with fire set the forests ablaze.

That is why next week the government is making a special week for publicity concerning the forests. They belong to us; they are ours to enjoy, for vacations, for hunting in, for sports, and for the everlasting prosperity of our province.

AN ENGLISH SPORT

As a result of the Great War the number of race horses in England was reduced from 4055 in 1913 to 1911 in 1918. But today racing is back and so is betting. As a gambler the Englishman takes second place to nobody but the Chinese, but with this distinction that the English prefer to back their judgment in outdoor pastimes rather than merely to take chances around a table.

The number of horses engaged in the racing game in England last year was 4537. This year it will pass the 5000 mark, and set up another new record. The total for North America last season was 5049, Canada, Mexico and Cuba being included. Canada does not take a back seat to any country in love of outdoor sports, but racing is handicapped here by the climate and by legislation.

May 1 is generally observed as moving day. Europe is anxiously waiting to see what move Germany will make on that date.

sments were amended to read $600 each. Fernie having already paid $100 as an advance to meet running expenses will have to make arrangements to meet the other $500.

Suggestions for 1923

Make a general clean up of the camp site.

Paint buildings.

Cut a roadwoy down the centre of site to the end of the high ground and from there out to the roadway and close up the existing southern entrance into the grounds by planting trees across it.

Arrange individual plots on each side of the roadway through the grounds, allowing about 25 feet for each one. Build an open fire place in each plot, and make table and seats for each.

See that there are at least 25 plots available for use at one time.

If permission can be obtained from the Coal Company to cut down some of the trees where they are growing too thickly, do this and also plant more trees where they are needed.

Extend the electric lighting.

Put a telephone in the building.

Place at least four garbage boxes around the grounds.

Estimated Expenditure for 1923

Tourist Assn. membership fee		$600.00
Approximate cost of Camp site improvements		300.00
Stationery, etc.		25.00
Arrears of Secretary's 1921 remuneration		100.00
Information Bureau		300.00
		$1325.00
Balance on hand	$230.86
Advanced to Assn.	100.00
		330.86
Amount necessary to raise		$994.14

The Treasurer, Mr. Greenwood, having left town, Mr. Spalding also handed in the financial statement for 1922, which showed a credit balance on hand of $230.86, with no outstanding bills, this was considered by the Board as a record as far as the Fernie Board were concerned.

The following officers were then elected for the present year:

President—E. K. Stewart.
Vice President—Dr. J. Ewart Gee.
Secretary—J. Fred Spalding.
Treasurer—G. G. Moffatt.

Board of Directors—T. Prentice, D. G. Harvie, Dr. E. L. Garner, A. B. Sanborn, H. L. Hayne, G. G. Henderson and S. Herchmer.

Some discussion arose on the possibility of getting the connecting link in the road from Corbin to Fernie via Coal Creek built and improvements on the road leading to the International Boundary through Waldo and Gateway, and it was finally decided to appoint a committee to secure data on these matters and bring same before the Hon. Dr. Sutherland when he came to the city on his roads inspection tour.

A motion was passed that a committee be appointed to wait upon the City Council to see what action they could take in getting better street lighting, preferrable cluster lights.

Mr. Spalding then read his budget for the coming year which provided for an expenditure of $1300. During the discussion on this budget, Mr. Spalding claimed that in running the information bureau here there was a continual influx of tourists and the amount of time he was compelled to give them practically prevented him from carrying on his studio business and that the amount he has received for running this bureau was absolutely inadequate to cover the loss of this business. He claimed, that in 1920 his business declined 20 per cent., in 1921, 25 per cent. and in 1922, 30 per cent. each compared with the preceeding year.

Mr. Stewart pointed out that assessments from the Associated Boards of Trade in the Tourist Association amounted to $3100 but from outside sources, Mr. Spalding was instrumental in obtaining $1750, which practically paid his salary for the whole year, and thus all monies paid in by the various Boards went in advertising alone.

A motion was passed by Mr. Prentice-Mr. Johnson, that Mr. Spalding's salary for carrying on the work of the information bureau be $300 for 1923 was carried.

The budget was then passed and adopted.

The Secretary was instructed to write the district superintendent of the C. P. R., requesting that company to extend the platform two more car lengths, provide better lighting on the platform and increase the size of the steps leading form the platform to the street.

Freight rates came up for discussion and it was decided to appoint a permanent committee to take up the fight against any discriminations in freight rates to and from Fernie that may be found from time to time.

ONTARIO TEST ALBERTA COAL

TORONTO, April 17.—The Ontario Government will begin tomorrow the distribution of sixty tons of Alberta coal in one ton lots to citizens of Tronto at $4 per half ton. There will be a rebate of $2 to each purchaser making a report to the government respecting the burning qualities of the fuel.

OTTAWA, April 17.—(By Canadian Press.)—That Alberta domestic coal could be brought from any average point in Alberta and laid down at Ontario points for $4.62 per ton was claimed this morning before the house committee on mines and minerals by E. J. Garland of Bow River. Mr. Garland submitted a detailed statement of the costs including an allowance of 60 per cent. for returning empty cars. Mr. Garland said the statement was drawn up by an experienced railroad freight man who had had 16 years experience.

W. E. Campbell, chief traffic officer of the railway commission, who was on the witness stand, said he would be quite unable to give any opinion as to this. It would be necessary to submit the statement to the Board of Railway Commissioners and have them secure information from the railroads and shippers concerned.

Chairman W. F. Carroll, Cape Breton, suggested that an appeal be made to the railway board to consider the statement in question and give the committee an opinion. Mr. Warner, however, thought it would be expedient for the committee to ask the railways to quote rates from Alberta, rather than to put the matter up t othe railway board, in the shape of a grievance.

J. T. Shaw, Calgary, recommended that chief traffic managers of the C.N.R. and C.P.R. be called before the committee in the event that they have decided upon a rate.

John F. Sowards of Kingston, said that whenever he had tried to substitute coke or soft coal he had found it left on his hands. The chief difficulty in using soft coal was that the flues in use were only suitable for anthracite and were quickly choked if bituminous coal was used. As far as his information went there would likely be an adequate supply of anthracite from the United States next year, though the price might be a little higher.

The witness said he knew nothing of Alberta coal. His experience had been with soft coal from the United States.

Mr. Garland said that the flues of ranges used in the west burning Alberta coal were exactly the same size as those used in the east for anthracite. The difficulty was that people confused the Alberta domestic coal with ordinary bituminous. As a matter of fact the Alberta coal was clear burning with practically no soot or smoke.

Alfred Stork of Skeena, said he would prefer a ton of Alberta coal to a ton of American anthracite. For his part he would like to see the United States place an mbargo on coal shipments to Canada so that the Canadians would be compelled to learn the advantages of their own product.

Cariboo and Caribou

1. Casting on Quesnel Lake; 2. A fair morning's catch; 3. Cleaning the gun for the hunt.

WHAT is one of the finest big game and fishing sections of North America and one of the last great stands for big game, lies within easy reach of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Cariboo district of British Columbia. Here, as nowhere else on the continent, are found in abundance the bear, grizzley, brown and black; the moose and caribou, and the wary mountain goat and sheep. The cougar is often seen and heard and the smaller fur bearing animals make a trappers paradise of this vast virgin territory. As will be seen from the picture above, the fishing is superlatively good; it is the fishing country of the west.

"Who is the man with soul so dead and bent on irksome chores, who hath not sometime to him said, 'I'll seek the Great Outdoors'?" Each year an increasing number of hunters and fishermen are absorbed by the district, but so vast and extensive is it, that there are yet parts of it that have never been visited by the hunter, and streams that have never had a line thrown-over-them. To reach the Cariboo district one usually leaves the railway at Ashcroft from which place, arrangements having previously been made, one starts out by automobile over the famous Cariboo road to Quesnel Lake, Harpers Camp, Horsefly Lake or one other of the numerous camping sites. The road, which winds among the foothills for hundreds of miles, climbs to an elevation of 5,000 feet and drops gradually to below the 2,300 foot level by the lakes, was made famous by the horde of gold seekers who passed over it in the days of '49. The old road houses built in those days are still there, and while many of them are used as headquarters for the large ranches in the district they afford simple but comfortable accommodation on the trip.

From the camps one can just paddle along the still, black, green bordered streams and lakes over which the snow capped ranges tower or one can sit at ease by the camp fire and watch the sun sink behind the hills set ablaze with its glory, listening the while to the soft rustle of the wind in the tree tops and the gentle plashing of the water on the crags. If one is of a more agressive nature one can, accompanied by a careful and well tried guide, strike through the wilderness in search of its natural denizens, or, armed with rod, fly and other bait, angle to the hearts content. One may spend weeks, making short trips by boat, canoe, or saddle horse, fishing in the lakes and streams near by, and getting back to camp each night, or travel with the necessaries for bivouac and commune with the wilds for days or weeks at a time.

The Cariboo hunting and fishing grounds are located in the Great Interior Plateau, lying between the Rockies and the Cascades, east of the Fraser River. Ashcroft, the jumping off place, is on the main line of the Canadian Pacific 203 miles east of Vancouver. Equipment for trips can be purchased there or at one of the various hunting centres in the district close by. Guide and Outfitting companies cater to every necessity and the "Cariboo" and other lodges adequately care for the wants of the business or professional man who does not care for an extended hunting or fishing trip but desires to get away from something or everything for a while.

MAKE FERNIE CREDITABLE

Under the auspices of the Rotary Club of Fernie, there will again this year be conducted a brighten-up campaign similar to that of last year. The arrangements will be much the same as last year, except that the prizes wil be increased, there will be more classes, and that the judges will be men from outside Fernie. The Committee in charge of the arrangements have not definitely outlined their program for this year, but it is already time for those who intend to enter, to commence the early preparations of hot-bed and cold-frame, lawn-rolling, etc.

The following extract from the American Legion Weekly gives some idea of what the Rotary Club have in mind in this competition:

"I am your Town! Make me what you will, I shall reflect you as clearly as the mirror throws back a candle beam. If I am pleasing to the eye of the stranger within my gates; if I am such a sight as, having seen me, he will remember all his days as a thing of beauty, the credit is yours.

"Ambition and opportunity call some of my sons and daughters to high stakes and mighty privileges, to my greater honor and to my good repute in far places, but it is not chiefly those who are my strength. My strength is in those who remain, who are content with what I have to offer them, and with what they can offer me. It was the greatest of all Romans who said: 'Better be first in a small Iberian village than second in Rome.'

"I am more than brick and stone and wood, more even than flesh and blood, I am the composite soul of all who call me Home.

"I am your TOWN!"

MISS K. A. HORTON LEAVES HOSPITAL STAFF

Miss Horton, who has been the surgical nurse at the Fernie Hospital for the past three years, is leaving in a few days for Tacoma, Wash., where she is to be married to Mr. Trahearne. A number of Miss Horton's friends assembled at the Nurses' Home on Thursday evening, and surprised her with numerous and useful gifts. Both Miss Horton and Mr. Trahearne are well known in Fernie and all good wishes follow in the happy event which is to take place in Tacoma on Wednesday next.

Miss Horton comes from Boularderie, N.S. She graduated with honors from the General Hospital, Glace Bay, N.S., in 1919, coming west the same year to take a position on the nursing staff of the Galt Hospital, Lethbridge. She came to Fernie in July 1920 and left again in the spring of 1921 and went to California, where she took charge of the surgery in the Stanford University, Palo Alto. She returned again to Fernie in September of the same year to resume the work of surgical nurse in the Hospital.

Miss Kelly, a graduate of St.Micheals Hospital, Toronto, is expected here shortly to take the position vacated by Miss Horton.

REMAINS OF LATE THOMAS COUGHLIN LAID TO REST

The remains of the late Thomas Coughlin, whose demise was reported in our columns last week, was laid to rest on Saturday morning last. The cortege left the Undertaking Parlors shortly before 9 a.m., headed by the members of the Knights of Columbus and proceeded to the R. C. Church where the Rev. Father Kennedy performed the last rites, after which the solemn procession wended its way to St. Margaret's Cemetery, attended by members of K. of C., G. W. V. A., and the Local Union. Floral tributes of respect were sent by the following:

Wreaths — Brothers and Sisters; Knights of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. John Caufield; Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnstone; and the residents of Tee Pee Boarding House.

Floral Heart—Workmates at Coal Creek.

The large concourse of people attending the funeral evidenced the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The Provincial Government has invited tenders for the portions of the construction of the Columbia Road, between Cranbrook and Golden. The estimated cost is in the aggregate of $45,000. The work consists chiefly of diversions necessary to put the road in good shape. D. O. Thomas, inspector of the Dominion taxation branch, returned to Nelson the end of the week after having spent several days in this vicinity in connection with the income tax returns of the miners and lumber workers for the year 1922. It is understood that owing to the five months' strike in the coal mining industry last summer, collections this year will be barely one-fifth of previous.

A matter of keen interest to the coal-mining fraternity is the announcement of Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, that an investigation will be made of the new life-saving device for coal miners. This is a small affair, weighing about a pound and somewhat resembles the gas masks worn by soldiers during the war. It provides safety for seventy minutes after an explosion, provided there is sufficient oxygen in the air to sustain life, and if found capable of doing what is claimed for it, should be the means of saving many lives.

McKINLEY CAMERON FIGHTS FOR CLIENTS

MONTREAL, April 16. — J. McKinley Cameron, of Calgary, is still making efforts to obtain permission of the Minister of Justice to grant another trial to Emilo Picariello and Mrs. Florence Lassandro, sentenced to death for the murder of Provincial Constable S. O. Lawson, at Coleman, Alta., last September, so he informed the secretary of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association here yesterday.

Appeal against the appeal has already been dismissed by the appellate Court of Alberta and the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Cameron is urging a new trial on the ground that the venue of the previous trial, at Calgary, was "full of bias," and that newspaper comment was exceedingly prejudicial, he stated, and that the testimony heard left it very open to the jury to bring in a manslaughter verdict.

MR. WATSON DISPLAYS ART

A distinguished visitor in Fernie last summer, when he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Suddaby, was Homer Watson, R. C. A., the great landscape painter of Canada. He has recently put on a magnificient exhibition of his work at the Eaton Art Galleries, Toronto. The last issue of Saturday Night contains the following comment on his display:—

It is peculiarly interesting because both retrospective and contemporary in character,—the recent canvasses showing a gratifying return to earlier form. Mr. Watson, who is now in his sixty-seventh year, is one of the large outstanding figures in our native art. The intensively Canadian quality of his vision and style is apparent, not only in the earlier canvasses, but in those of recent execution, since he abandoned his excursion into the allegorical. His sense of color and authority of handling have also been revived since he returned to pure landscape.

Today Mr. Watson is the veteran of the true Canadian landscape school, especially in its relation to the central and southern parts of this country. He was born at Doon, Ontario, amid the beautiful, pastoral, and richly wooded dales of Western Ontario. Despite wanderings abroad that village has always been his home and its surroundings have provided him with his best inspirations. In boyhood he witnessed the later labors of the pioneers and his painting at its best gives a subtle and beautiful sense of the deeply ingrained feeling for his native hillsides. Emile Zola, who was a better critic than he was a novelist, once defined pictoral art as "Nature seen through a temperament," and that axiom come back to one in looking at this large collection of Mr. Watson's pictures.

The temperament is rugged, free and imaginative, tied down to no set formula of pattern or color scheme, but in expression is richly poetic. It is more than forty years since the late Duke of Argyll, was so fascinated by one of Mr. Watson's early canvases. "The Pioneer Mill," that he purchased it as a gift for his mother-in-law, Queen Victoria. It was not only the vigorous technical handling and virile characteristic coloring, but its pure Canadianism which appealed to him. Academic persons who speak of "a distinctively Canadian school of landscape" as a development of the past five years are strangely ignorant of the work of such unmistakably native individuals as that of Homer Watson,—equally ignorant also of the immense range of subject that the vast scenic panorama of Canada affords. For is not the beautiful pastoral tract of Western Ontario which Watson interprets as much a part of Canada as Algonqiun Park? The atmospheric freedom and ease of brush work in Watson's best pictures are especially remarkable when the verisimilitude of his work is considered. The country he paints is peculiarly varied in an arboreal sense. Many types of timber flourish in common in its patches of woodland; but the woodman looking at one of his pictures of tree trunks without reference to foliage can at once name the trees in canvases which have no quality of stippled, meticulous finish. He also, as this collection shows, has derived much inspiration from the moods of sky and wind upon tracts that surround those delightful meandering streams of Western Ontario, the Grand, the Speed and the Conistago Rivers.

Many of the pictures on view are of the larger or gallery order; and there is one, painted some years ago of horses fording the shallow Conistago that is a glorious example of the best regional painting. I shall not speak of many fine works which have been reviewed in years gone by, but rather of his more recent painting.

A number of these are woodland pieces of varying excellence, but well-visioned and sincere in emotional quality. The best of all however is "The Grand River in Spring," showing the breaking up of the ice in one of its turns. The picture has all the gusto and movement of a work executed in one sitting; yet the quality of a composed and thoughtful picture, sober and truthful in color and strong in handling. Mr. Wnston's ability to paint landscapes of a wilder character, when he chooses, is also apparent in his "Up the Gatineau," a study of rocks and turbulent water. Of his allegorical experiments but one example is shown, "The City on a Hill." It is dignified in color and conception and has sound merits of execution, but one feels that its real qualities arise from Mr. Watson's natural spmpathy for rolling vistas.

'HEARTS AFLAME'

THE PICTURE THAT WAS MADE NEAR CRANBROOK

Realism is the outstanding feature of Reginald Barker's latest production, "Hearts Aflame," a Metro photoplay which presents Frank Keenan and Anna Q. Nilsson at the head of a strong cast, at the Orpheum next Monday and Tuesday. From start to finish, the picture carries with it an air of reality and conviction that only sincere effort could produce.

In making the production, Mr. Barker was not limited by either cost or time in his determination to get big, smashing effects and realistic thrills in the scenes of "Hearts Aflame." On one occasion during the six months consumed in the filming of the story, he took his entire company up to Cranbrook, British Clumbia, where he spent seven weeks getting wonderful outdoor scenes with an extensive forest of majestic pines as a background for the action.

While in the Canadian woods, the director launched the first thrill of the picture, blowing up a dam and releasing ten thousand huge logs to go racing madly down the river. He had to construct the dam especially for the scene, making it as substantial and as correct from an engineering standpoint as though it were to stay for years. This was necessary in order to hold the logs and provide the proper effect for the explosion.

But the greatest feat in the picture, and incidentally one of the most daring projects ever attempted for the screen, is the raging forest fire episode which builds up to the powerful climax of the story. Staged under the personl supervision of County Forester Stuart J. Flintham and his force of one hundred deputies, the fire sweeps through twenty acres of pine trees while Anna Q. Nilsson braves the flames at the throttle of a locomotive in a wild ride for powder to dynamite a whole mountainside.

Twenty cameras were used to record the spectacle, and the startling results on the screen are a more than just reward for the tremendous chances taken by Miss Nilsson and the fortune which went up into smoke in the name of realism. Grasping the throttle with one hand and endeavoring to shield her face with the other, the screen actress is plainly seen inside the blazing cab of the engine with the flames from the burning trees reaching out and licking the sides of the locomotive as it plunges through the doomed forest.

"Hearts Aflame" was produced for Louis B. Mayer. It was adapted from Harold Titus' novel "Timber." In the cast are Frank Keenan, Craig Ward, and others.

GLAD SHE TOOK FRIEND'S ADVICE

Mrs. Hartley states, Tanlac Taken On Mrs. Braithwaite's Recommendation, Restored Her Fully

"It certainly is remarkable how quickly Tanlac restores a person's health. When I had taken my second bottle, my indigestion was gone and I gained eleven pounds. No home should be without Tanlac." This statement was made the other day by Mrs. Alma Hartley, 13 Bright Street, Toronto, Ont.

"Stomach trouble, sleeplessness and a badly run-down condition kept me in misery two years and I was just a nervous wreck. When I look back now I wonder how I lived on the little I ate, my appetite was so poor. My food soured, gas bloated me and caused terrible pains, and I was dreadfully nauseated. I almost forgot what a good night's sleep was, and became alarmingly thin and weak.

"It was Mrs. Braithwaite, my neighbor, who advised me to try the Tanlas treatment, and I am surely thankful. My appetite is so ravenous now I can't wait for meal time. My nerves are calm, I sleep like a child and always feel strong and refreshed. Tanlas is simply grand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 35 million bottles sold.

LIKES CHILDREN

A landlady who will have no tenants but those with large families is the latest discovery. Of course, the sensation of it is in the large outline given by the headlines. The reader discovers later that this woman is not renting houses with any idea of making money. She loves children and loves to do good, but it is not business.

In three of her cottages there are twenty-three children. That is plenty to destroy all the lawns and wreck the interiors, provided that the occupants are not owners. In a few years she will have to do some very extensive repairs, if not reconstruct the dwellings completely.

Mrs. Vincent E. Gregg is the landlady and Lynn, Mass., the scene of her experiment. It is to be hoped that Mrs. Gregg is old or very wealthy, for she is eating into her capital in order to provide for other people's families and they will scarcely be able to support her should she reap that poverty which is the logical outcome of such philanthropy.

KEEP CANADIAN JUSTICE CLEAN

Accused of the theft of $50,000, ex-Postmaster George S. Armstrong of Edmonton declares that his trial is being postponed from time to time for the purpose of "ruining his health and breaking his spirit" so that a conviction might more easily be secured.

That is a serious charge to lay against a Canadian court. If it is true, it indicates that Canada is departing from the British style of quick sure justice.

And if it true that Canada is departing from that style, the cause may be found in the attitude of the Canadian people themselves. When the sentimentality of the people forces pardons, easy sentences and acquittals for criminals, court prosecutors are driven to illigitimate tricks to win convictions. That is the state of affairs in the United States and it may become the state of affairs in Canada.

Just now a movement is on foot in Vancouver to petition against the life sentences registered against Fred Deal, slayer of Constable McBeath. It was a good, just sentence imposed after a good, just trial.

If the petitioners should succeed in securing any reduction for Deal we may expect a gradual lowering in the standard of Vancouver justice, trickery and long drawn-out trials that not only prostitute justice but encourage crime.—Vancouver Sun.

Believing that one good turn deserves another a number of prominent Seattle civic officials are to engage in a pancake-cooking contest.

Labor troubles are rarely reported in the asbestos mines in Quebec. The miners realize that they have fireproof jobs.

Swifter Than the Wolves Racing Before It!

A roaring sheet of flame sweeping through the big timber. Not to check it meant ruin to the girl and the man who loved her.

The fire and the drama it ignites are equally thrilling.

Tourists Help Develop Ontario

1. A Typical Bungalow Camp at Emerald Lake. 2. This from the Nipigon. 3. A Vista of the French River.

MOST of the newer parts of Canada have received their first impetus toward development through the tourists. In many cases it has been the tourists that have first gone in to spy out the land. They have found it good, and, by the trade which they brought in, have encouraged settlers to set up their homes with the result that the district has been well started on its way to becoming an organized and productive community.

With the idea of inducing traffic, and by so doing, helping to popularize and settle those vast, beautiful and productive lands along the right-of-way in Central and Western Ontario, the Canadian Pacific Railway has decided to establish a number of Bungalow Camps, modeled on those which have proved so successful in the Canadian Pacific Rockies during the past three years, and it is expected that in a very short time this part of the country will be as famed for its scenic and sporting possibilities as any other part of the Dominion. The French River, Nipigon Bay and Lake of the Woods districts are, and have been for many years, well and most favourably known to anglers and hunters, particularly those from the United States and the Western provinces; but owing to lack of adequate housing facilities the traffic has been confined chiefly to the more adventurous spirits who are satisfied to live in tents. It is in these districts that the first three of the Bungalow Camps will be located, and it is expected that they will be ready for occupation by July first.

The Camps will consist of a central community house where meals will be served, and which will also serve as a recreation hall, surrounded by small rustic bungalows suitable for two or four persons. The privacy, simplicity and rusticity of these bungalows appeals to those who like outdoor life, and the moderate cost of construction and maintenance makes it possible to charge much lower rates than an elaborate hotel where operating expenses are necessarily high.

The Hon. Mr. Bowman, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Government, has expressed himself as entirely sympathetic to the extension of the Bungalow Camp idea in Ontario, and any sites that may be selected on Crown Lands will be available at agreed rates with the cordial co-operation of this department, so that the Company will be able to establish camps in some of the choicest spots of this beautiful and inspiring country.

RESUME WORK ON RAILWAY

Construction of the railroad from Sparwood, near Fernie, B.C., to Calgary, by the Calgary and Fernie Railway Co., work on which was started in 1912, will be resumed this summer, acording to announcement made by Franklin Crandell, one of the directors of the company, on Monday morning. It is the intention to construct 50 miles of the line this summer from Sparwood directly north to Mount Wilson.

The cost of the construction of the road together with the cost of building a colliery at Mount Wilson will amount to approximately $3,500,000, and the capital for this part of the road has been assured. The road has been surveyed for the entire distance of 157 miles, and when the line is completed from Mount Wilson it would come into the city from the southwest.

The company has applied to the federal government for a renewal of the charter, which expires on June 4, and has also asked for a renewal of the subsidy which was originally granted when the road was started, amounting to $6400 a mile. According to Mr. Crandell, there is a question yet as to whether this subsidy still stands, which would amount to approximately $1,000,000 for the entire road.

The co-operation of the city of Calgary and the Board of Trade has been asked for in securing the renewal of the charter. Monday morning, Mayor G. H. Webster received the following letter from J. T. Shaw, M.P., regarding the city's position in this connection.

"The Calgary & Fernie Co. have made application to parliament for extension of the time for commencing construction on proposed railway running from Fernie to Calgary through various coal areas.

"I would appreciate it if you would kindly inform me if the City Council have taken any action in connection with this proposed action."

The construction of the road was started previous to the war and $600,000 was expended. Work was stopped when war broke out. The company is financed by British capital.

According to Mr. Crandell the application for a renewal of the charter has been made with the intention of extending the time for the completion rather than the beginning of the work. He stated that the company will start work before the charter expires.

The matter will come before the City Council tonight.

Portable Pumps Stop B. C. Fires

Portable gasoline pumps for forest protection purposes have demonstrated their worth to such an extent, that many of the logging operators in British Columbia are purchasing them in addition to the fire fighting equipment required by law.

The "Logger" realizes that an investment of this nature constitutes a good form of insurance .He appreciates that even though his "Donkeys" are well equipped with fire fighting implements, to handle fires occuring in the immediate vicinity of a "machine;" yet he has always to be ready for the fire starting away from this equipment.

Portable gasoline pumps with the necessary complement of hose, located at strategic points on an operation, can be carried quickly and without difficulty to fires originating beyond the reach of the steam pump on the "Donkey.' '

There is nothing deader than a dead town. Try as hard as it may to conceal the facts, the truth is written all over it so that he who runs may read. No camouflage of bluff and bluster can conceal the true situation from anyone who comes within the limits of the community. A dead town is dead and that's all there is to it.

The worst of it is that once a town dies it stays dead. There have been exceptional cases in which dead towns have been revived, have taken on new life and prospered, but these are merely the exceptions that prove the rule.

The fact that a town can seldom "come back" is easily explained. The growing and prosperous town today is the one that can attract new residents and new capital. It is one that can offer attractive inducements for the location of new industries. The dead town offers no attraction to outside capital. A man looking for a place to launch a new business or a new location for an old industry, is not going to pick out a dead town. He is going to select a town in which money is plentiful, a town whose business men are progressive and whose residents, as a whole, are prosperous and contented. There are too many live and thriving towns in the world for a man to risk his future in one that is dead. This is the reason that a town, once dead, almost always remains dead.

Town Like Corporation

There is just one thing, ordinarily, that kills a town in the first place and that is a lack of money. A town is just like a corporation and the money possessed by its inhabitants is its capital. If this capital is depleted the town will fail just as the corporation, whose capital is depleted through poor management or other causes, fails. And just as the corporation which has once failed can seldom retrieve its lost fortunes, the town which has failed cannot often "come back."

The capital of a community is depleted when its money is spent away from home in a way that brings no return benefit to the community. It takes no great amount of thought to be able to realize that the town, like the individual, cannot last long if it is paying out more money than it takes in. That does not mean that a prosperous town is one in which the people do not spend any money. On the contrary, a prosperous town is one in which the people do spend money, but it is one in which they spend the money at home. As long as the money is spent at home the town gains by having it kept in circulation, but when it is spent away from home, either by being sent to the mail order houses or by shopping trips to other cities, the town's capital is impaired to that extent and if enough money is spent away from home in that way, the town collapses and virtually goes into bankruptcy just as does the corporation which dissipates its capital.

The people of a community are apt to overlook the fact that they are stockholders in their own town and that their fortunes are bound up with those of the community as a whole. They do not realize that if their town fails they will fail with it. They—or many of them at least—send their money away to the mail order houses in the great cities, without realizing that they are impairing the capital of their own corporation and that if enough of them pursue that course they will force their own corporation into certain bankruptcy.

Merchants Not Only Ones Hurt

Many customers of mail order houses say that they are under no obligation to trade with their home merchants and this may be true. They overlook the fact that the business men of a town do much for their community and are entitled, in return for what they do, to the support of the people in the community, but leaving this out of consideration, they overlook the fact that they are bringing about their downfall when they drain their town of its money—its capital.

The home merchant will not be the only one that will be hurt when the town "goes broke." The merchant can reduce his stock and cut down his expenses and get along some way or he can sell out and move to some other town which has not been so blind to its own welfare. It is the great body of the people of the community, including all those who have sent their money away to other cities instead of spending it at home, that suffer most when the hard times come.

The time for all the people to pull together for a live town is while the town is still live and not after it is dead, for when a town dies it is a long time dead—if not forever.

FERNIE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Arrangements have been made to have Mr. Hay, District Agriculturist, Cranbrook, and Mr. Monroe, Soil and Crop Specialist, Victoria, here on Monday next, April 23. These men have been sent out by the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, in connection with the Farmers' Institutes throughout the province, and are men who have practical knowledge of farming and are acquainted with their work, as any who have heard Mr. Hay on previous occasions, know.

The lecture will be held in the United Church basement, at 8 p.m. sharp. The lecture is free to all, members are specially requested to attend and bring a neighbor.

More than likely the best part of the evening will be at the disposal of Mr. Monroe, as it is his first time he has been here, and the talk will be on soil and crops. It is expected that a good turn out will be there to hear him, a special endeavor should be made by all who are farming to be there as this will be a very important factor to the success of farming, crop rotation and soils, which will be gone into in detail.

INTERESTING LECTURE ON THE HISTORY OF B. C.

A very interesting gathering took place at the Central School on Monday evening, when Mr. Sage, Associate Professor of History at the University of B.C., lectured on the history of this province, with special reference to the history of the Eastern part of the province.

Mr. Sage made special reference to the necessity of collecting information concerning the early history of each locality during the lifetime of the early settlers so that a complete story of each district in B.C. may be kept.

There were about eighty people present at the lecture. Mr .Cummings of the School Board acted as Chairman, and suggested to Professor Sage, that the people of Fernie would like to have the pleasure of hearing more than one extension lecture each winter.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The dance held in the Club Hall on Friday evening last under the auspices of the Football club was well attended. The prize drawing took place during the evening. Everybody voted a good time spent.

With the disappearance of the snow from Victoria Park, the local leather-chasers have been able to indulge in their pastime. Judging from the clever footwork witnessed the committee should not have much difficulty in choosing an eleven who will bring honors to this burg.

The automobile industry must be flourishing according to reports of contemplatory purchasers of cars during the coming summer.

Billy Dunlap, of the Government Road staff, was in camp on Tuesday looking over the roads in this vicinity.

The Junior cyclists are trying out the roads, other residents are beautifying their property and local horticulturists are following up their hobby as occasion presents itself.

In our report of the floral tributes sent to the late Tom Coughlin's funeral, ye scribe omitted to mention a wreath from his fellow members of the Coal Creek Club.

A large number of Creekites took advantage of the opportunity offered to hear the Hon. John Oliver, Premier of B.C., at the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening.

It was with deep regret the residents heard of the passing away at Fernie Hospital, of Mrs. Gerald Ross. The sympathy of the residents go to the husband and child left to mourn.

Jack Campbell was removed to the Fernie Hospital on Wednesday afternoon suffering with lung trouble.

Mr. Frank Coughlin, of Edmonton, is the guest of his brother Ed. He having come in to attend the funeral of his late brother.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Coughlin and family desire to thank the Doctors and hospital staff; the members of the Knights of Columbus; Fernie G. W. V. A. and Gladstone Local Union; the donors of the beautiful floral tributes and the residents of Coal Creek for sympathies rendered during the recent bereavement. Also the C. P. R. & M. for transportation facilities provided.

DELIVERING THE GOODS

You have confided in your merchant with whom you have dealt for years, because you KNOW that his word is good, and that he—

DELIVERS THE GOODS.

The competent Chiropractor "DELIVERS THE GOODS." He tells you that his science will in all cases of Nerve Pressure relieve that pressure.

He proves to you that the majority of ills and ailments are caused by Nerve Pressure. He further proves to you that this Nerve Pressure is in its turn caused by displacements of the small bones of the spine.

By Chiropractic Vertebrael Adjustments given with the hands only, he puts these bones back into normal position. The Nerve Pressure disappears and with it the effect, called Dis-ease.

Your Chiropractor is in the same class with the dependable merchant—he DELIVERS THE GOODS.

If you will give him a fair trial—
If you will abide by his advice—
If you will take adjustments and not expect to get well too quickly—

HE WILL MAKE YOU HEALTHY AND
HE WILL KEEP YOU HEALTHY

AN ACCIDENT AGAIN PRODUCES A CURE

A young woman living in California was suddenly prostrated with what was pronounced rheumatism, combined with sciatica. Her agony was inexpressible for nearly two months, and no relief was to be had from any sort of treatment, although Chiropractic was not tried. In search of relief she was attempting a train journey to an eastern city. Reaching the station a little late she was painfully attempting to hurry across the platform to the train, her toe caught on an uneven place in the walk and she fell prone. Hastily rising she ran with old-time speed and jumped aboard the moving train, her rheumatism and sciatica gone, through the lumbar adjustment received in the fall.

The above accidental correction of misplaced bones, is an illustration of the work done daily by the Chiropractor, with this difference, that he intentionally and intelligently replaces them.

Don't stay away because the Church is not perfect—how lonesome you would feel in a perfect church.

IN THE CITY POLICE COURT

Magistrate Henderson had a busy session on Tuesday afternoon in the City Police Court, when, following considerable activity on the part of the City and Mounted Police over the week end, five cases came before him.

Two men, J. O'Donnell and A. Grovenen, who had been found by the City Police, loitering in one of the alleyways in the city early Saturday morning, were charged respectively with having liquor without the Government Liquor seal in his possession and vagrancy. O'Donnell was fined $50 and costs and Grovenen, $15 and costs, both receiving the option of one month in jail.

Saturday afternoon, the City Police raided Dragon's Pool Room on Victoria Avenue and after a close inspection of the premises, discovered that a portion of the wall was false. On opening this up, a large quantity of liquor was found. J. Ross, a partner in the business of this firm, was fined $75 and costs, this being his first offence.

Howard Brown, a resident of Roosville, was brought in from Newgate by the Mounted Police charged with transporting liquor in an automobile across the Tobacco Plains Indian Reservation. He was remanded until the following afternoon when the case was further remanded until next Wednesday.

City and Mounted Police, late Monday evening, made a tour of Fernie's Chinatown and in a room occupied by a chinaman named Wah See, they found a small quantity of opium together with an opium pipe and scales. This case was remanded for eight days.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The Fernie Boy Scout troop are now actively engaged in their spring and summer work. Regular Saturday afternoon hikes are scheduled and are proving a great success, the outdoor work giving the boys great opportunities in trying the various scout tests only permissable in the open, such as, fire-lighting, scout pace tracking, etc.

During the winter months scout operations were somewhat hampered through lack of finance, but now, through the generosity of Messrs. A. B. Trites and W. R. Wilson who have recently donated substantial cheques to the Association, the scouting equipment will be brought up to its necessary standard.

The regular Friday evening meetings of the troop are now being devoted entirely to indoor scout work, signalling, first aid, compass tests, tenderfoot work, Kim's game and training for the various proficiency badges.

The basketball league was ended on Monday last when the championship was awarded to the Hustlers.

Line up:

Hustlers—Centre, P. Gordon; forwards, O. Corrigan and H. Corrie; guards, J. McPhee and M. Parker.

Sulks — Centre, J. Rudnicki; forwards, B. Mills and R. Workman; guards, D. Harvie and A. Markland.

A baseball league for Scouts will be formed shortly and it is expected that at least five teams will participate.

On Saturday morning about twenty Boy Scouts took part in a Hare and Hound Chase.

The chase started at the East end of Victoria Avenue. From there the hares circled the golf course to the G. N. tracks, then took a diagonal course back to the city. On the way they crossed several small streams, which gave the hounds considerable trouble in following the scent.

The chase finished at the Scout Hall with Jack McPhee and Roswald Garner, the hares, about 100 yards in advance of the hounds. Considering that they had only a three minute start and travelled approximately four miles, it was a very close finish. Most of the hounds finished within three minutes of the first. Howard Corrie, Havelock Flemming and Gordon Snow acted as captains of the hounds.

BASEBALL NOW ASSURED

Baseball circles in Fernie have been somewhat stirred up during the past week owing to application being made by the Coal Company for entry of a baseball team bearing their name in the East Kootenay Baseball League.

The Fernie City Baseball organization who were unaware of the intention of the Coal Company to support a baseball team this year, had already organized and entered the League as the Fernie Baseball Club. On hearing of the action which the Coal Company had taken, the City association notified the East Kootenay Baseball League that they withdrew their entry in favor of the Coal Company.

The personnel of the team is exactly the same and with the financial backing of the Coal Company, baseball should have an exceptionally good year.

The officers of the Coal Company Baseball Club for this season, elected at a meeting held in the Coal Company offices on Tuesday of this week, are as follows:

President—W. R. Wilson.
Vice President—B. Caufield.
Secretary—J. T. Hovan.
Treasurer and Business Manager—A. Klauer.
Playing Manager—J. M. Ault.
Executive—J. S. Irvine, W. Commons, H. Barger, B. Wilson and T. Graves.

At a special meeting of the East Kootenay Baseball League, held at Cranbrook last evening, the entry of the Coal Company team of Fernie was officially accepted and the schedule for 1923 drawn up. The schedule is as follows:

Note—The first-named team is the home team. Only names of teams playing each date appears.

$9.00 ALBERTA COAL FOR EASTERNERS

OTTAWA, April 26.—"If I am right in my calculation—and I can see no error in them—Alberta coal of the best quality can be sold at retail in Toronto, allowing $1.50 to cover profit and delivering locally, at $9 per ton," M. J. Butler, of Oakville, Ont., five years deputy minister of railways and three years general manager of the Dominion Iron and Steel Company, told the commons committee investigating the coal situation, this morning.

Mr. Butler based his statement on direct shipment of coal in large trains from the Alberta mines to the point of destination, and with equipment to provide quick handling.

PROMISING 1923 TOURIST TRAVEL

by J. Fred Spalding

During the last six weeks there has been over three hundred letters of enquiry received at my office. This number so early in the year indicates a very considerabel interest in our part of B.C. and gives promise of a great influx of tourists this summer.

The Dominion Government has issued a very fine illustrated booklet descriptive of the Banff-Windermere Road and the Circle Tour and has sent 500 of them to me for distribution. The Canadian Pacific Railway Co., has included a map of the Circle Tour and a full page of letterpress descriptive of motoring in these parts in their three Resorts in The Canadian Rockies which is one of their main sources of advertising, and both of these are sure to obtain good results.

Extracts from a few of the enquiries to hand recently will be interesting reading to those interested in our efforts to make our district a tourist centre, they follow:—

From H. P. Grady, Chairman, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kans.:

"I have recently received a copy of your road maps for the Canadian Rockies showing the Circle Tour, and we are planning to include this drive on our summer trip, I will therefore be pleased to receive from you information on Customs' regulations and license fees in British Columbia, Alberta, Rocky Mountain Park and The Waterton Lakes Park, etc."

From Lee Reichenbaugh, 700 Dueber Ave., Canton, Ohio:

"I am planning a machine trip of the Canadian Rockies and would be very much obliged for any information you can offer as to routes, maps and literature."

"I am planning an overland trip from Winnipeg in June with some friends. We intend to do some hunting and fishing around Fernie and would appreciate any information you could give us as regards guides, what game is allowed to be shot at this time in the year, etc."

From Floyd N. Averill, Portland, Ore.:

"I wish you would mail me motoring information as to roads and stopping places for tourists, including maps, over the territory covered by your Association. Information relative to the condition of roads will be appreciated also."

From E. Ray Cory, special agent, Equitable Life Assurance Society, Austin, Minn.:

"Your name has been handed to me as one who can give men some information in regard to motor roads. I would like yur advice as to what route I should take from Many Glaciers, Montana, through the Rockies and then to Spokane and Seattle."

"We are thinking of making a drive from here to the Rockies, and from a circular I have, your name is given as a source of information. Is the highway finished between Grand Forks and Rossland, and from Chilliwack to Princeton? I would like to go by way of Vancouver if the roads are in condition that way. If not, what route would you suggest. Will the roads be clear of snow in B. C. by June 7 in the higher altitudes?"

From Frank W. Tozer, President, Tozer Lumber Co., Minneapolis:

"Can you lay out an interesting motor trip for me so that I can see The Rockies. Please let me know in regard to the condition of the roads in that part of Canada and the approximate time required for the trip. Have you maps and booklets that you can send me?"

"I am very thankful for your road maps and information. I am planning to take two or three good months of fishing and hunting and sporting. I am leaving California on April 17, and will be in Washington until June 15, and visit the Canadian Rockies from there. I have a fine Locomobile and know that we can make the trip without any trouble. There will be six in our party. Our mail will be held in General Delivery at Tacoma until we get there."

From A. Anderberg, J. C. Hayden Dock Co., Seattle, Wash.:

"I have endeavored to secure in Seattle some sort of road map of British Columbia showing the Automobile routes, but with little success. Upon enquiry at the Canadian Pacific Railway offices, they kindly recommended me to you, saying that you are in a position to give me any information I desire. I am contemplating a trip taking in Nelson and the Okanagan country also. If you will kindly send me maps and any additional information you believe I will need, I shall be very much obliged to you."

From Dr. Hicks, Ceylon, Sask.:

"Your folder describing motor roads is before me, and I am at a loss to know how to get to Revelstoke by motor from Lethbridge. Is there a road in from Golden? We made the trip to Banff last year and want to map out another different one this year, can you give me this information, if so I will be greatly obliged."

From H. G. Sibley, Kelliher, Sask.:

"We intend to spend two months on a motor vacation in South Eastern B. C. this summer. Briefly our plans are as follows: We will leave here about the middle of June and follow the Southern route through Regina, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge to the Crow's Nest. We will spend a few weeks around Fernie and Cranbrook and would like to spend a week at Nelson. We are undecided whether to continue on to Vancouver, or return from Nelson via Windermere and Banff. Can you give me any information about the roads between Nelson and Vancouver? Is there a good Canadian route or would it be better to go via Seattle? Any other information you can give us will be much appreciated."

From W. M. Tempest, Manager, Alberta Motorist, Calgary:

"A party of five cars, consisting of about 25 people, are contemplating leaving Calgary on the 28th of April for Vancouver. They are particularly anxious to get authentic road information covering these roads. Thanking you for this information and assuring you of our co-operatin at all times."

These letters are a fair sample of the kind of enquiries I receive daily. Next week I will give extracts from letters received from some of the Automobiles Clubs and Tourist Bureaus.

To date I have distributed 20,000 of our new maps and have another 30,000 to send out as soon as the printers deliver them. Several of the Automobile Clubs to which I sent packets of 50 to, have written for more, saying that many of their members were coming this way this year.

1923 will be a very big year for tourist travel and Fernie and all other towns in South Eastern B. C. and Southern Alberta will get a great deal of business through it.

CALLED SUDDENLY

John Brown, 65 years of age, who for over twenty-five years was a constant resident of the city, passed away at the Fernie Hospital at noon last Monday, following an operation for Mastoids.

He had been suffering from this ailment for a considerable time, and had previously undergone an operation for the same trouble. He was taken seriously ill on Sunday evening and was taken in an unconscious condition to the hospital, where Dr. Bonnell performed an immediate operation in an endeavor to save him, but he failed to rally.

Mr. Brown spent the early years of his life in Western Ontario, then came direct to Fernie in 1918. For many years he was employed by the City in their Power Plant as Engineer but the coming of the hydro-electric automatically abolished this position. He then went to the White Spruce in the same capacity and worked at their lumber mill during the lumbering season.

The Literary Society of the Fernie High School held its April meeting last Friday. The First Year held the floor, presenting a highly entertaining "mock parliament." The bill that was brought forward concerned the Forest Amendment Act. This bill was passed, the government having a majority. Mr. Bill Duncan made a very worthy premier, and was well aided by his cabinet: May Maltman and Annie Smolik. The Opposition gave a splendid refutation under the leadership of Lily Wiltshire, aided by Margaret Crossman and Madeline Chardon. The speaker was Miss Gladys Bean; the page, Jack McPhee and the sergeant-at-arms, Teddy Griffiths, sergeant-at- arms, Teddy Griffiths, who performed his offices excellently in ejecting an exceedingly noisy member, Mr. James Strachan, member from Ponoka.

"I Was a Fright!"

"Nothing I Could Take Made Me Any Fatter."

"Up to the time I was seventeen years old, I believe that I was the most miserable and unhappy girl that ever lived. Honestly, I was a sight. I was the most ungainly looking creature you ever saw. I was thin and scrawny—straight up and down. My height was five feet nine inches and I weighed exactly ninety-one and three quarter pounds. No matter what kind of clothes I put on I looked like a fright. I was clumsy and awkward. I used to stand before the glass and study my features. I found I had a good nose, good eyes and a good mouth, but my cheeks were sunken and my face looked like a skull with a piece of parchment stretched over it. But nothing I could do or take made me any fatter. Men rarely even glanced at me. When they did, they merely gave me a casual, amused or pitying look,—an expression which I am sure meant, 'why is a being like that allowed at large?' I used to lie awake at night for hours at a time wondering why there were so many beautiful girls in the world and I was so hideous. I met a friend of mine one day, Elsie W. and I hardly knew her. While she had never been as thin as I was, a year or more ago she ran me a close second, but when I met her she had taken on flesh and had developed into a fine handsome girl with one of the prettiest figures I had ever seen. I asked her what had caused the big change. She said Carnol. She told me she had been taking it regularly for the last three months and that from the first week of taking it she had begun to put on flesh. I was so encouraged by what she said that I couldn't get to the druggist fast enough. I bought a bottle and since then I have been taking it regularly. It has made the greatest change in me you ever saw. I now weigh 165 pounds and all my friends tell me what a wonderful figure I have and I know that I am admired".

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 8-622

AN INDIRECT TESTIMONIAL

"If one drives through the Ladner district and sees hundreds and hundreds of purebred cows in pasture, rich with new grasses, it is quite easy to understand why Pacific Milk is of such pure quality."

We print these few lines from a letter by Mrs. T. Slater, who made her first trip across the Delta one day last week.

We might add that few parts of America are so favorable for dairying as the Fraser Valley.

Improvements to the roads and trails of the Kamloops district this Spring will include work on the completion of the upper end of the trail to Windpass mine, near Chu-Chua, estimated to cost $4000. The work will be done by the mine owners under the supervision of the Department of Public Works. General repairs will be made on the road from 36 Mile House, North Thompson River, to the property of the Louis Creek Placer Mining Partnerships Limited. The Department of Mines has authorized a grant of $300 for this work, which will be done by the Mining Co., under the supervision of the Department of Public Works.

Better bridging of the sloughs, subject to flooding by the Bella Coola River, will be undertaken by the Provincial Government in the Prince Rupert district. A grant of $2275 has been made for the construction of two bridges at Grant's road, Bella Coola. A 165 foot standard pile trestle and a similar bridge, 105 feet, will be built.

A new warehouse on the wharf at Prince Rupert and the strengthening of the wharf with new piles, stringers and deck, is included in the waterfront improvements of the northern port this year. A graded road will take the place of Manson Way.

In the Slocan district the Government is providing for the construction of a trestle bridge over Deep Creek, east of Edgwood. Improvements will also be made to the trail to the Molly Hughes' mines.

William Lake Townsite, Cariboo, will be greatly benefitted this year by the grading and gravelling of Railway Avenue, and the building of the road from Chilcoten Main Road, to the townsite.

Raymond Fisher, of Prince Rupert, has entered the service of the Provincial Government Land Department, where he will be employed in classifying timber land with a view to their use after they are logged off.

Much attention to the Stewart Mining District in New York financial circles is reported by R. H. Kergin, M.P.P. for Atlin, who predicts a great boom in mining this year.

Repairs to the trail from Birkenhead to Blackwater Lake will be done by owners under the supervision of the Department of Public Works this summer.

The Trail Copper King-McLeod Camp at Seymour Arm will be accommodated by the extension of the trail to the high plateau, and repairs to the existing trail. The work will be done by the mines, under the supervision of the Department of Public Works.

Sale of the Plant of the Giscome Lumber Co. in the Fort George district has been ordered by Mr. Justice Murphy at an upset price of $93,000

Mr. Isaac Taylor, of Taylor & Drury, pioneer merchants of the Yukon, with headquarters at White Horse, is in Vancouver on his annual buying trip. He says there is 9000 tons of ore at Camp Mayo ready for shipment which will be made to a point in Idaho via the Alaska Railway Route.

A mining road from Smithers to Hudson's Bay Mountain is to be built by the Mines' Department of the Provincial Government, it was announced the other day at Victoria. The road will enable the Duthie properties to ship large tonnage of high grade ore this fall. J. F. Duthie, former well known Seattle shipbuilder, has spent over $170,000 in development and is reputed to have another Premier Mine. Shipments of machinery are ready to go in the Duthie interests having agreed to construct the branch road from the main Government Road to their property.

The importance of having a Canadian Customs Officer at New York is apparent to the northern interior of B.C. when the Premier Mine abandons its intention of purchasing from a Canadian firm at Owen Sound, 20 tons of grinding balls after that they would have to ship by rail, or in alternative ship, via New York and Panama Canal and pay duty on Canadian goods, they find it will be cheaper to buy American goods and pay duty.

The Bridge River tunnel, a three million dollar project, with arge concrete dam and power plant, will be commenced this summer. A large number of men will be employed. It is understood that New York capitalists are financing the scheme which will take about two years to complete. Lease holders of the Bridge River will get an opportunity to get at the bed of the stream which is stated to carry large deposits of gold.

The interior of B.C. may become famous for and reap benefits from deposits of arsenical pyrites found in the Hope district, on the Aufeus property. There are also deposits in the vicinity of the Bridge River.

ENGLAND IS CHANGING HANDS

Although the break-up and the sale of the big landed estates of England is not now progressing with the celebrity it enjoyed from 1918 to 1920—the period that is known as "England changing hands"—it is nevertheless still under way, says a London correspondent of the New York "Tribune." So much is this so that the country manager of what is perhaps the biggest firm in London auctioneering off these old estates told a "Tribune" representative that the "era of big estate had gone forever."

Now the sale of the famous Ellesmere estate in Lancashire and Cheshire come to lend weight to this statement. Following on the heels of Trafford Park and Heaton Park, two of the most noted estates in the country, it indicates the passing of the country squirearchy. The coming generation will have to turn to the pages of "Tom Jones" if it wishes to know what country life in Merrie England was.

The Ellesmere estate belonged to the Egertons, a family that can trace its history to the days of William Rufus. The hall was a grandiloquent mansion in red brick, in which the royal family and the Duke of Wellington were entertained by Lord Ellesmere in 1851.

The estate comprised about 12,000 acres. But not all of it it agricultural land. With it were sold six pits, wharves, and coke works, and the purchase price is reported to be between two and three million pounds (from ten to fifteen million dollars). The buyers were a syndicate of big industrialists.

When John Galsworthy wrote his "Skin Game" he wasn't merely drawing on his imagination. The downfall of the country gentleman before the advance of the urban capitalist is going on in England today, and the advertising columns of the newspapers are heralding the story.

The break-up of the big estate is, of course, owing to the fact that the landowner can no longer afford the expense of its upkeep unless he were to raise rents to unprecedented levels. But the high cost of living and the decline in agricultural prices render the tenant unable to stand any increase in rents. The only exceptions are men like the Dukes of Bedford and Westminster, who having valuable city property, are able to defray the cost of their country estates from the income of their urban sites.

Another feature of last year's English agricultural history is that men are starting to buy their own farms again. Reduction in current rates of interest and the renewed willingness to lend money on mortagage on sound landed securities have encouraged farmers to buy their own places.

It is significant that the tendency is to restore arable land back to pasture. This marks the definite defeat of the Govenment's ambitious efforts to make England self-supporting in its food production.

During the war the Government bent every effort to encourage and stimulate greater crop cultivation. After the war this took the form of guaranteeing to the farmer the difference between the cost of production and the market price. The act stated that there would be no change in this provision for four years.

But the Government grossly underestimated the subsequent decline in agricultural prices. Alarmed at the drain on the treasury that threatened to become greater, the Lloyd George cabinet in less than a year repealed its agricultural act. The failure of the farmer subsidies doomed the movement to make England a self-sustaining nation.—Saturday Night.

LONG SEARCH IS ENDED AT LAST

"After suffering for years and spending a small fortune trying to get relief, Tanlac has fixed me up in short order—it's certainly surprising how quickly the medicine will get a person to feeling right again," said Charles Coulter, 125 Sackville Street, Toronto, Ont.

"My hands and wrists were so swollen with rheumatism I couldn't hold a bow to play my violin. My right leg was affected also, and hurt so bad I couldn't bend it or lie on my right side. I suffered so terribly I never felt like eating, and my nerves were so unstrung I could hardly sleep a wink.

"I kept getting worse until I got Tanlac, but the rheumatism began easing up when I started on this treatment, and in a few weeks time was gone completely. I feel fine in every other way, too, and can get around like a schoolboy now. I'll tell the world Tanlac is great."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

BOOST FOR ALBERTA COAL IN OLD ONTARIO

While awaiting the decision of the railway companies as to a reduction in frieght rates on coal to Ontario, which would enable Alberta operators to compete with the American product, George R. Pratt, fuel engineer of the Alberta Government fuel distribution department, is just now in London, Ont., supervising the testing of the car of coal brought to that city by the Free Press for experimental purposes.

According to an announcement made in that paper, Mr. Pratt stated that if the Dominion government and the management of the Canadian National Railways gave a freight rate that would enable the sale of Alberta coal in Ontario on a competitive basis with American coal, a permanent testing plant would be installed in London within a month.

Mr. Pratt stated that the only difficulty that yet stood between an unlimited supply of coal for London and other points in Ontario as cheap or cheaper than American coal was the securing of a freight rate that would enable the Alberta mine fields to compete with the products of Pennsylvannia.

FARMERS' LECTURE

Mr. B. J. Monroe, soil and crop expert from Victoria, and Mr. A. S. Hay, district agriculturist, addressed a meeting of the Farmers' Institute on Monday evening last. The lecture was held in the basement of the United Church under the auspices of the Institute.

Mr. Monroe believes that this district has the possibility of being one of the best mixed-farming districts in the province. In speaking of cattle, he maintained that the herds here were as good as any this side of the Fraser Valley.

After speaking for some minutes about hogs, poultry, hay, potatoes and produce, Mr. Monroe took up questions dealing with the care, manufacture, exportation and marketing of farm produce. The farmers were urged to patronize a creamery, a co-operative one if possible, but better, one run by a private individual than none at all.

Considerbale time was spent on soil conditions. Farmers were urged to cultivate the ligume plants, such as peas, clover, alfalfa, etc. Crop rotation, the treatment of manure, the uses of lime and phosphate, innoculation were among the many matters which Mr. Monroe dealth with.

Mr. Hay gave a brief address in which he supplemented many of the remarks made by Mr. Monroe, but his time was devoted for the most part, to the discussion of illustration farms, their possibilities and advantages.

The farmers of the district gave a hearty vote of thanks to both these men. May they visit us again in the near future. Get out fellows and boost for that illustration farm.

UNION BUSY IN NEW FIELD

(Calgary Herald)

The local officials of the United Mine Workers of America are just now engaged upon the somewhat difficult problem of organizing the mine workers in what are known as the steam-shovel mines in the Edson district. These mines are totally different to the ordinary mines in District 18, inasmuch as the cost of operation is but a fraction of the underground mines. In fact it is stated that the coal can be put on the market at $2.00 a ton. The coal is largely used for steam purposes.

William Sherman, the president of District 18, informed a representative of the Herald on Monday that 300 men would be engaged on that class of work by May 1. In the past these miners were members of the Steam Shovel and Dredgemen's Union. Recently the American Federation of Labor had advised the U. M. W. of A. that the former association was a dual organization, and the request has been made that efforts be made to include them in the United Mine Workers of America.

Mr. Sherman in referring to the recent amendments to the Lemieux Act introduced by the Hon. James Murdock, Federal Minister of Labor, said that the U.M.W.A. were utterly opposed to compulsory arbitration, and understood the amendment did not read "compulsory arbitration," but "compulsory investigation," which was something very different.

Referring to the unemployment situation in District 18, Mr. Sherman said the figures received by the association showed that there were about 3000 men entirely idle out of a membership of 10,000, while the rest of the miners were only working a few days each week.

Asked if these men could not engage during the 'off' season in farming, Mr. Sherman said that it was invariably the case that a miner was not an experienced farmer. It was an occupation that he had not specialized in and would therefore not be of much use on the land. In any case $45 a month was altogether too low a wage under present circumstances.

"YOU NEVER CAN TELL"

"You Never Can Tell" (G. B. Shaw) is the play chosen by the Players Club of the University of B.C., to be produced at Fernie on May 24, under the auspices of the I. O. D. E., at 8.15, in the Grand Theatre.

The plot is briefly as follows:

Mrs. Lanfrey Clandon, a strong-minded woman, and her three children have returned recently to England from Madeira, where she had taken her family in infancy to remove then from the husband she loathes.

The first scene introduces us to the twins—Dolly and Philip—and to Valentine, the hero, a "five shilling" dentist who, the moment before has extracted Dolly's tooth without gas. The twins are an odd mixture of sophistication and innocence. They speedily make Valentine's acquaintance and are in the midst of revealing their family skeleton when Mrs. Clandon and her elder daughter enter. Valentine immediately falls in love with the beautiful Gloria and is prevailed upon to join the family at luncheon.

Matters now move rapidly. Mrs. Clandon and her husband meet. They attempt to come to some agreement, but are hampered by their mutual antagonism. Meanwhile, Gloria and Valentine are having their difficulties; for if Valentine has fallen in love more rapidly, Gloria, after some deliberation, does so more thoroughly. Valentine is more in love with being in love. They quarrel and the outcome is doubtful. There is a period of suspense and we wonder how thes two problems will be solved. Moreover, before the curtain falls for the last time, tolerance and love conquer, and we glimpse the "happy ever after" future.

OWNERSHIP BY THE STATE

Mr. Philip Snowden's recent motion in the British House of Commons, to the effect that the capitalist system be done away with and communism, socialism or State ownership, whatever one is a mind to call it, set up in its stead, has, according to the London newspapers, created a wave of protest quite unusual in easy going old Britain.

In normal times a motion such as emanated from Mr. Snowden would have been drowned in laughter, but in times like these there are plenty of silly fish to rise to any bait, no matter how unworkable or fantastic. Mr. Snowden would in his scheme of things take over all industry, that is all industry worth while. Mr. Snowden repudiated confiscation. He would take everything, but he would pay for it with state securities. Then he would appoint a host of people to supervise the operations, creating possibly a dozen supervisors where there is now one. Everybody would be card indexed. Everybody would become part of a great machine; the wings of enterprise clipped, and the spur of private incentive gone. And presumably all would be dressed alike, for the State would fashion and make the clothes. There would be State plays which would be dull, for who would bestir themselves to write a play for the State, any more than they would do any other task for the State, except under compulsion. When one works under the lash it is work badly done.

Whoever heard of or saw a public enterprise that could not have been more proficiently operated in private hands? Has there ever been a civilized State based on public ownership? Of course there is Russia, but Russia is not a civilized State, nor is it successful.

Mr. Snowden would have us believe that transferring industry from private to public hands would create work. Let us see what would take place. Great Britain lives by her trade. To trade she must create things at prices at which they will sell. In other words as cheaply as they are produced in other countries, else competition would strangle the British market. Has anything in human experience ever been done by the State so efficiently as to allow us to presume that the State can compete with private enterprise? When private enterprises are improperly operated, failure is inevitable. They go down and out in competition with the more efficient competitors. Natural laws pertain to business as they do to beasts and humans, it is the survival of the fittest.

Let us take a few specific instances. Germany operated coal mines in the Saar with little or no profit, though lower wages were paid than in the Ruhr, which was privately operated, and made much money. France nationalized her railways and the deficit have been huge. So did Italy, but the losses wer so heavy that it was considered good business to place them back under private management. Government operation of railways in the United States was another disaster, for which the taxpayers are still paying; while our own Government owned railway situation is not as yet such as to call for boquets and illuminated addresses.

A courious paralysing influence seems to come over everybody as soon as they begin to work for the State. There is no profit and loss account. Nobody cares how much money is being spent, and not much as to how it is being spent.

Government ownership means more soft jobs for more people. More supervisors and more supervision.

When the doctor was asked what the child died of his reply was: "Too many aunts." That is one of the things that kills public operation of industry. Too many supervisors; too many aunts. The case is bad enough as it is. Why make it worse?—Saturday Night.

THE DANGER

CAPE BRETON RUNS

The action of Premier Armstrong in calling upon the Provincial Police to keep order in the Cape Breton industrial area was a stitch in time. For one thing the strike did not come off on schedule, as threatened; the Red group, no doubt, figuring that with an adequate police force on the side of law and order they would be unable to force their will upon workmen who are not in sympathy with such methods. A great majority of Cape Breton workmen have not quit work at various periods in the past because they were in sympathy with McLachlan, McNeill and others who look upon Russia as the promised land and Trotsky as their god, but because they feared physical violence if they persisted in working.

No one may deny the right of any man to quit work if he chooses, but to deny the right of men to work if they wish to work, and back up this denial with threats of physical violence, is quite another matter. This sort of thing cannot be tolerated, and this is what has been happening in Cape Breton. Some days ago warants were issued for thirty-five Nova Scotia steel workers charged with various offences arising from the picketing operations during the strike which took place at the works of the British Empire Steel Company in February last, at which time these men ,together with others not identified, took the law into their own hands. They prevented well intentioned workmen from proceeding with their duties, forcibly removing crews from engines at the coke ovens, ignorant or indifferent t othe fact that there was danger of the ovens exploding, carrying with them the store of benzol near by. Had such an explosion resulted ther would not only have been a huge property loss, but also a serious loss of life.

In commenting upon the possible damage which might have resulted had the furnaces been allowed to grow cold during the February difficulties, the "Labor Herald," a McLachlan organ, said: "What matters it if a furnace gets cold and has to be relined at a cost of $300,000. Who suffers? The worker does not suffer. He has $300,000 worth of work to do in relining it. It is the capitalist who has to pay."

This is the sort of stuff that is being fed the workmen of Cape Breton. The same trash that worked havoc with Russia, and for which there is no place in this country.—Saturday Night.

It usually requires an ecclesiastical court to depose a church dignitary, but a Doukhobor bishop at Nelson unfrocked himself and cast his clerical robes on the ground.

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds; and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

BOOTLEGGING OFFICIALS

The important thing about the Gary, Indiana, bootlegging conspiracy, in which fifty-five city officials and residents were convicted, "is the fact that the conspiracy included public officials sworn to enforce the law," declares the Indianapolis News. "No matter what the feeling of leniency may be toward dry law offenders," maintains the Pittsburg Post, "there can be no sympathy toward the public official who is caught violating the Prohibition laws." "The feeling that the Prohibition law is unwise," agrees the Indianapolis Times, "does not excuse the officials; his oath binds him to uphold the law as he finds it, not as he thinks it should be."

In the opinion of many editors throughout the country, the wholesale convictions of Gary's officials and citizens will stiffen law enforcement in general. Among those convicted, we are told, are the Mayor of Gary, a city judge, a former sheriff, the present sheriff, the county prosecutor, a former prosecutor, a justice of the peace, several deputy sheriffs, two sergeants of police, and a number of policemen. More than a year of investigation by Prohibition agents preceded the trial, which lasted seventeen days. The Government charged that it had been the custom in Gary to sell contrabrand whisky seized from bootleggers, and to divide the proceeds among city and county officials. The defendants were also charged with conspiring to collect weekly payments from violators of the Prohibition law.

"The lack of public sentiment behind the dry laws must be blamed for Gary's liquor scandal," thinks the Peoria Transcript, which does not consider the wholesale convictions, "significant of any wide-spread reform or better conditions through local enforcement of the dry act." As this damp paper sees it:

"City and county officials, in communities where the sentiment is obviously wet, will always ignore the Federal laws and make but slight efforts to enforce them. While such officials may not conspire to evade them, there is no political or economic reason why a city policeman should do the work of Prohibition agents. Communities where the dry laws are unwelcome to the majority, or where the majority is apathetic to its provisions and very existence, have small sympathy with city or county officials who spend their time enforcing a law which is cumbersome in operation and unsatisfactory in results."

On the other hand, the Chicago Evening Post believes that "with a few more such verdicts as the one at Gary, smashing the Volstead Act will cease to be a joke." And the papers which line up with the Post, rather than the Transcript, include the Peoria Journal, Munice Press, Fort Wayne News-Sentinel, Indianapolis News, Indianapolis Times, Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch, Pittsburg Post, Grand Rapids Press, and Pittsburg Gazette Times. The last paper is sure "the Gary case may prove of great value as a warning, and also an illustration of what can be achieved in upholding the law."

In making these convictions, the Government has won a sweeping victory, several enthusiastic editors tell us, but the victory that has been gained, in the opinion of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, "is not one that points the way to self-satisfaction and complacency, it should be productive of sober reckoning. For may not these convictions point a solemn warning against a far greater menace than an attack upon a single city's moral safety?" As the Indianapolis News observes:

"The trial has shown one thing very clearly, and that is that there was not the slightest idea in Gary that the liquor laws were meant to be obeyed. They were openly defied, and there was no local authority that could or would enforce them. Apparently there was no pretense of enforcing them. But the United States Government, the United States Court, and the Federal authorities had other views. Gary ought now to realize that it is really a part of the United States."—Literary Digest.

CHILD OF THE UNMARRIED

By Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer

Some 5000 innocent children are born out of marriage each year in Canada. There are therfore about 25,000 such little ones under five years of age, and allowing for those who die at twice the rate of other children, 60,000 under sixteen at any one time in the Dominion.

This host of children has heretofore been treated socially with shameful injustice and cruelty, even where they get affectionate mothering which was not universal they have been branded on the official registers as "illegitimate," a term that may well be applied to their parents, but surely not to the innocent children.

Some three years ago the Social Service Council undertook a study of their case and of the laws in Canadian provinces, and in other countries dealing with this problem. Norway was found to have the best law in the world at that time.

The Norwegian law was materially improved upon and a model law for the care of children born out of wedlock drafted. This was submitted to the Attorney-General of Ontario, put into legal form, introduced in the legislature of that province and enacted with few changes. A year later it was in substance adopted by the legislature of Manitoba. Within the last few months it has been adopted also by British Columbia and Alberta. As these four provinces contain five-ninths of the population of Canada, a similar proportion of the children concerned are thus protected and cared for. And there is every reason to expect that before many years pass this beneficial measure will be the law throughout Canada.

It aims to serve three ends. First, to insure to these children economic support, a public school education and as nearly as possible a fair chance in life—as fair a chance as they would have had if born of the same parents in wedlock. Second, to secure justice to the mothers. They are not entitled to more than justice, but they are entitled to justice. Heretofore they have borne singly all the shame and all the burden resulting from the fault of both the fathers and themselves. Third, to see that the fathers get justice also. Being unprincipled usually in degree at least, they have generally proven themselves cowards or cads and gone scot free because of the serious imperfections of previously existing laws regarding illigitimacy. Justice to the fathers entails responsibility at least for the full financial support of their children, and the payment of the maternity expenses of the mothers or other costs necessarily resulting from their misconduct. Paternity of course must be given where not admitted to the satisfaction of a judge in chambers. Needless publicity is avoided. The mother's evidence must be corroborated in some respect. The judge with all the facts and evidence before him decides the question of paternity. That being settled re determines also what the father must pay. When this is fixed he must pay this sum weekly or monthly until his child becomes sixteen years of age and thus ceases to be a child. No paltry $100 or so will set him permanently free from the consequences of his conduct. Five dollars per week means $3900 in fifteen years.

This feature of the law which has been in force in Norway for about eight years has resulted in a steady decline in the number of births out of marriage in that country. There is every reason to believe that when this new measure becomes generally known and understood and after a few years' operation under wise administration there will be similar decrease in the number of cases of illigetimate parentage in Canada.

(Copyright)

One of the stock excuses of the man who orders goods from a mail order house is that there are many things that he wants that the local merchants do not carry in stock, and that it is necessary for him to send away from town to get them.

This explanation may be all right on the theory that a poor excuse is better than none, but it fails to pass muster when it is subjected to a little scrutiny.

Ask the man who offers this as an excuse for his dealings with the mail order man why he does not go to the local and ask him to order the articles desired if they are not to be found in the merchant's stock. The merchant will very gladly do this, and the merchant and customer will both profit. The merchants can sell you whatever you desire at as low a price as the mail order house can make you on goods the same quality and he can make a small profit.

The customer will profit from the transaction, because he will be dealing with a merchant who stands back of the goods that he sells, and who is easily accessible in case the articles purchased do not prove to be all that the customer had expected.

Give Home Merchant Preference

Why not try this plan the next time you need something which you cannot find in any of your home stores? The merchant in the average sized town cannot carry in stock everything that all of the people in his town may want at all times. It would require a capital many times larger than the average merchant can command to do this, but he does the best he can. He ordinarily does carry in stock at all times many things for order that he may meet the needs of his customers to the greatest possible degree, but there is a limit to his purchasing ability. H is always ready and willing, however, to make every effort to meet the demands of the community. Why not, then, give him the preference over the far-distant mail order man if you must have something which is not to be found in the local stores? He will do the business in a satisfactory manner, give you as quick if not quicker service and more satisfactory treatment, and the chances are that he will give you better values for the money. Finally, whatever profit is to be made off the transaction will stay at home and do its bit toward making the merchant and his town and, incidentally, yourself, more prosperous.

No business can be transacted as satisfactorily at long range as it can when the two parties to the transaction meet face to face. The only exception to this rule is in the case of the mail order man himself, who can transact his business with greater success to himself at long distance than he could if he had to meet his customer face to face. That is the reason that he does business by mail instead of selling to the people in his own city. If the goods which the mail order man advertises in his alluring catalogues were the bargains that he represents them to be, he would not have to go outside of the confines of his own city to sell all the goods he could possibly obtain. But the average mail order house not only does not make any effort to sell goods in its own city, but will not sell to anyone residing within the city limits. The mail order man does not want to meet his customers face to face. He can do business better so far as he is concerned if his customer is some hundreds of miles away from his office.

Does Business In The Open

The man who sells goods over the counter, on the other hand, does business in the open. He cannot hide behind a corporate name or talk to a displeased custmer from behind the locked doors of a private office. He knows that he must face the music in case he is a party to any transaction that won't stand the light of day. He knows that he must satisfy every customer with whom he may be dealing, or he will lose not only that customer but probably others who will soon know all the facts if he does not do the square thing by any one of his patrons.

There is no reason in the world for any person to send his money to a mail order house because he cannot find the article he wants in his local store. The local merchant is in business for the very purpose of getting you what you want. He has the information that will enable him to get what you want and to get it as quickly as you could get it from a mail order house. It is only fair to him to give him the chance to make such profit as any dealer would make off the transaction and it is only fair to yourself to keep that profit at home rather than to send it away to some far-distant city from which it will never return.

PROFIT OF $1,075,000

While it is generally accepted that Attorney-General Manson will not do anything to push the sales of liquor in British Columbia, it is also conceded that the present method of handling liquor under government control is working out more satisfactorily than is the case in other provinces and states. There is only a small percentage of drunkeness and general drinking to excess in this province compared with other days, and law-breaking on account of liquor has decreased in a startling manner. This is due largely to the stringent enforcement of the Government Liquor Act.

For six months ending September 30 last the liquor profits were $1,075,000. Of this amount $53,000 went into a reserve fund, while the municipalities received $511,000 and the consolidated revenue fund a like amount. As provided for in an amendment to the act last session of Legislature, the Government will pay 15 per cent. of all profits to provincial hospitals receiving a grant of more than 25 cents per day for each patient. The municipalities will get 35 per cent., two-sevenths of which will be used for schools.

The returns show that the receipts from the sale of permits have fallen off materially, through the lowering of the price from $5 to $2. However, as many outsiders were evading the payment of permit fees, it is expected that the lower charge will result in a marked increase from this source when the tourist season is in full swing.

The turn-over from the Government sale of liquor for the year is expected to approximate $12,000,000, and the profit approximately $2,000,000, which plainly shows that despite the prices of liquor—due to numerous taxes—the consumer is not being forced to pay heavy toll to the dispenser of wet goods.

GLORIA SWANSON IS DICTATOR OF STYLES

No more curly or wavy hair; such is Gloria Swanson's decree.

This radical dictum, coming from the Paramount star who is recognized as one of the best dressed women of the screen, is another thrust at the flapper-like styles which have predominated for so long a time.

The general trend in new fashions has been towards the severe. The baby doll style of dress has given way to the more classic, dignified lines. The high waist-line has dropped to the hips, or been obliterated altogether; the short skirt has been replaced by the ankle length gown; bobbed hair has become suddenly passe.

But Miss Swanson now carries the reaction one step further and takes the curl out of her hair. The curling iron and the waver have been laid on the shelf, so far as she is concerned—temporarily at least, and for her characterization of the American girl in "My American Wife," her latest starring vehicle, coming to the Orpheum Theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday, she leaves her hair absolutely straight when dressing it into the various coiffures.

Those who have seen the new hairdresses which she wears in this picture, declare them stunning. The new coiffures are original, being worked out by Miss Swanson and Hattie, the studio hairdresser. One in particular, which is especially strinking, is known as "the Turban." It is made with the aid of a jet and brilliant hair ornament, the straight roll of hair being brought around her head in a sort of turban roll.

FOOTBALL CLUB PRIZE DRAWING

The Fernie United Football Club are getting up a prize drawing and a dance is being organized to aid the club in purchasing a complete new outfit for the coming season. This year the club will play in green and white shirts and white knickers. There are several new players in town and it is expected that Fernie will have one of the finest teams they have had for some years.

A movement is also on foot, to organize a city league to bring out local talent, the league if it matures, will comprise four or five different teams.

It is understood that the Crow's Nest Pass League this season will have almost the same formation as in, 1921 when Coal Creek, Fernie Michel, Corbin, Coleman, Blairmore, Hillcrest and Bellevue had teams entered in this league. The league authorities have decided to affiliate themselves this year, wtih the Alberta Amateur Football Association and the winners of this league will therefore be eligible to compete in the Connaught Cup Competition for the football championship of Canada.

The local executive are using every possible effort, in an endeavor to have Fernie placed on the itinerary of the Corinthians, the famous English Amateur Football Club, which is to tour Canada this summer. Trail and Nelson are also anxious to secure matches with this club, so it is possible that the Corinthians may take the Crow's Nest route to the Coast stopping off here to play a game against the local team.

Economy and Durability in Dentistry

These are days when economy is desirable. It should be remembered, however, that neglect of decaying teeth is not economy—it is folly, for poor teeth result inevitably in poor health.

In getting your teeth corrected you can practice real economy by having the work done by the Peerless Dentists. Here the cost is exceptionally low; the materials used are the best; the workmanship is skilful and the honesty and durability of the work is backed by a rigid 15-year guarantee.

Health turns the clock backward

THE WEEK EYES THAT COME AFTER MEASLES

Weekly Health Talk No. 15
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

What measles may do to the eyes of the sufferer from this disease depends on the ability of the eyes to resist. Those in whom resistance is weak may be seriously affected, even blinded, while those in whom resistance is strong, will quickly recover after the course of the disease is run.

Every mother owes it to the child that has had measles to see that the eyes come back to normal. To insure this the sufferer need chiropractic spinal adjustments. The adjustments will raise resistance to normal by restoring the normal transmission of life impulses over spinal nerve and connective nerve lines.

EYES ARE NORMAL

"For quite a number of years I suffered dreadfully with my eyes. I had eye headaches. After I started a course of chiropractic spinal adjustments I noticed a decided improvement. Today they are well and I have not had a headache since."—Miss A. Goe, Chiropractic Research Bureau No. 1328H.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The first regular meeting of the City Council for May was held in the Council Chambers Thursday evening, Mayor Henderson was in the chair, Aldermen Barraclough and Robichaud were the only absentees.

The City Clerk reported that at a special meeting of the Council, held on April 26, he had been authorized to purchase from the Canadian Fairbanks Morse Company the necessary requirements of cast iron pipe to complete the work of renewing the water pipe line throughout the city proper. The new pipe will be Canadian made.

Messrs. S. T. Wilson and W. Commons, on behalf of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company Baseball Club, waited on the Council requesting the use of the Victoria Park as a baseball diamond for the 1923 season.

A deputation representing the Holy Family School requested the Council for some financial assistance to aid them in carrying out the work of the school they have established. The spokesman, Mr. Connick, stated that this school had been in existence for the past three years, during the first year there were 35 pupils enrolled, the second year this number increased to 70 and at the present time there were 130 children attending. He pointed out that taking the understood cost of educating one child for one year, of forty dollars, they were under an expenditure of approximately $5000 per year. The school, he added, conformed in every way to the B. C. Educational standards, and although the school had not been inspected by the Provincial Inspector, it was open for him to do so any time he wished.

Mayor Henderson assured the delegation that the Council would go thoroughly into the matter and that their request would receive the serious consideration of the Council.

George Quail submitted plans of a proposed garage to be built behind the Quail Hardware store, on Baker Avenue, and also requested permission to erect a gasoline pump in front of his store on Victoria Avenue.

A letter from the Fernie Board of Trade was read by the City Clerk, requesting the City for a grant equal to that received last year, and that eight new lights be placed at the camp site, the Board of Trade to supply the poles.

A motion was passed granting the Fernie Board of Trade the sum of $250 with free light and water at the camp site, but stipulated that the total expense of any further improvements made at the camp site be borne entirely by the Board.

A copy of a resolution from the Nanaimo City Council regarding the Better Housing Scheme was filed.

A motion was passed appointing the City Chief of Police as Chief Sanitary Inspector.

The City Clerk was instructed to notify the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company Baseball Club that they had been granted the use of Victoria Park under the same conditions as it was granted to the Fernie Baseball Club last year.

A grant of $35, requested by the Fernie Pipe Band at the last council meeting, was authorized.

It was decided to install a five-gallon gasoline tank and pump at the Fire Hall, and the City Clerk was instructed to procure same.

A permit was issued granting the Quail Hardware permission to place a gasoline pump in front of their store on Victoria Avenue, providing that in the installation of this, the roadbed is not disturbed.

Emilio Picariello and Florence Lassandro Pay Death Penalty

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, May 2.—The double hanging of Emilio Picariello and Mrs. Florence Lasandro, convicted murderers of Provincial Constable S. O. Lawson, at Coleman, Alta., last September, was carried out in Fort Saskatchewan penitentiary at daylight this morning. Picariello paid the penaly at 5.15 and Mrs. Lassandro at 5.51.

Both protested their innocence to the last.

Mrs. Lassandro, is the first woman to be hanged in Canada for 24 years and the fifth since Confederation.

Emilio Picariello and his accomplice, Mrs. Florence Lassandro, spent the last night of their lives in a resigned condition at the provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan, before going to the gallows this morning.

Just before dying, Picariello said: "You are hanging an innocent man—God help me." His request to the priest was that the black cap not be put over his eyes but, of course, this was not permitted as the prison authorities had no authority for such action.

Mrs. Lassandro's statement on the scaffold was: "Why do you hang me when I didn't do anything? Is there anyone here who has any pity?" Just before the trap was sprung she forgave everybody.

No disposition has been made of the bodies as yet.

According to Sheriff Rae, as no newspaper men were permitted at the hanging, both prisoners went to their doom in good mental and physicial condition and the woman seemed to have the most fortitude and vitality. Both spent a good night.

Everything went off without a hitch, declared the sheriff. Outside of the coroner's jury of six there were but two civilians at the actual hanging and a few officers of the law.

Fully aware of the powerful influences which have been at work throughout the length of Canada to save "Emporer Pick" and his 22-year-old confederate, Florence Lassandro, no chances were taken by the authorities last night in guarding the provincial jail, where Picariello was under the death watch in the main building, and Mrs. Lassandro in the women's department, some distance away. Both the condemned had maintained perfect health and the woman throughout the early stages of the night was calm.

Picariello was sullen and morose. Both were attended during the night by Father Fideles, Roman Catholic priest, who was with them again immediately before the execution.

Although Florence Lassandro in her eleventh hour confession claimed it was not her who killed Lawson,, her statements shortly after the shooting were to the effect that she did the shooting not Picariello. It is claimed by the police the "Pick" in his daring rum running exploits from Fernie, B.C., to Blairmore and Coleman, Alta., for many months, constantly had the Lassandro girl with him, and thus made it impossible for the officers to use their guns on him or the car when ordered to stop.

Back in 1912, "Pick" was a gatherer of bottles and other junk, as well as an operator of a peanut stand in the Crow's Nest Pass, with headquarters at Fernie, so officials of the provincial police declare. His accession to wealth and power came rapidly when whisky running across the Alberta-British Columbia border became profitable some years ago. He was town councillor at Blairmore as well as owner of the Blairmore hotel and garage. He was Sicilian by birth. Mrs. Lassandro was an Italian.

Within the high forbidding walls of the jail here, in the gloomy dawn, with low clouds scudding across a fretful morning sky, Mary Florence Lassandro today followed Emilio Picariello to the scaffold. The sun had scarce risen above the horizon when the last chapter in Alberta's most fateful bootlegging tragedy had been written, and the law was avenged for the slaying of its officer, Constable Steve Lawson, at Coleman, last September.

Dawn had just begun faintly to illuminate the eastern sky when the little solemn group of jail officials approached the death cell, where Picariello has lain for the past four months. The door clanged open to the prisoner for the last time. Preceded by Warden Griggs and Sheriff Rae, with three guards, and accompanied by Father Fideles, the Franciscan monk and priest of the little parish church here, Picariello walked with unfaltering steps to the scaffold.

As hangman Wakefield stepped up to him to put the black cap on him, Picariello growled: "Take that accursed thing away. I can see what's ahead with my eyes open."

It was explained that the law insisted that the black cap must be worn, and the request was refused.

"You are hanging an innocent man, God help me," said Picariello, as he stepped upon the trap. It was then exactly fifteen minutes after five.

Ten minutes later the body was removed.

Mrs. Lassandro followed Picariello to the scaffold within the hour. It

CONFESSION BY MRS. LASSANDRA

Florence Lassandra, co-defendant with Picariello in the Lawson murder case, previous to her execution made a full statement of the affair, according to her mother, Mrs. Vincenzo Costanzo of this city. Florence told her mother this story while the latter was visiting her at Fort Saskatchewan last week following the dismissal of the appeal before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mrs. Costanzo says her daughter stoutly maintained she was not guilty of firing the fatal shot as she had no weapon in her possession until after the shooting, when Pick thrust the second gun used on Constable Lawson, upon her commanding that she keep it. They then dashed away on their wild ride from the scene. Lassandra alleges seven shots were fired, and all by Picariello, Five emptied the first gun drawn by him and two from the last one. The sixth shot was the fatal one as Lawson ran towards a nearby shelter to escape the fusilade. The condemned woman named in support of her statement of the facts, another woman who she claims witnessed all that transpired in front of the police station at Coleman. This eye-witness, the Costanzo family have just been able to identify as Mrs. Joe Filfilo, formerly a milk peddler at Coleman, but who has since the murder moved to a small farm between Coleman and Blairmore.

Florence Lassandra, through her mother, claimed that she had been induced and forced to observe strict silence all along through the agency of her husband, James Lassandra, by promises of reward if she withheld her knowledge and refrained from placing the full responsibility for the crime upon Picariello. She said she was assured that if Pick escaped the maximum penalty, his entire resources would be devoted to effecting her subsequent freedom.

The Costanzo family independently instituted a search for the missing eye-witness, Mrs. Filfilo, and according to them, this woman claims to have told a police officer the day after the murder what she had seen, and was told her evidence was not needed. This woman, the Costanzos further assert may have further disclosures to make in connection with her sudden departure from the neighborhood in which she resided when the crime was committed to her present address. Three other parties have been found to whom the Filfilo woman communicated her version of the tragedy which is said to tally with that of Florence Lassandra.

James Lassandra, husband of the condemned woman, resides at Blairmore. He has been in Picariello's employ for considerable time, and since the latter's incarceration, has been quite active in the management of his affairs.

The Costanzos forwarded the results of their investigation to the Penitentiary authorities at Fort Saskatchewan, who transmitted them to Ottawa, but no action was taken in the matter.

Don't forget the Football Dance on Monday, May 7. Price $1.00 a couple. Refreshments will be served and the Hockey Trophies will be given out. Come and have a good time.

HOLD UP AT LUMBERTON

A daring day-light robbery occurred yesterday afternoon at Lumberton at about two o'clock, according to information received at the Provincial Police Headquarters here, when a man, whose name was not mentioned, was held up by two bandits and robbed of three hundred dollars.

Late last night, Special Constable Fred Nash encountered two suspects on the C. P. R. tracks some distance from the scene of the hold up, and ordered them to put up their hands. When the officer was about to place the man who had surrendered under arrest, a shot was fired from the bust and in the exchange of shots between the constable and the bandits, both men got away. Constable Duncan, of Cranbrook, was summoned and he also took up the trail, but no report is yet to hand from him. Chief Constable Spiller, of the Headquarters here, left for Lumberton by car this morning and will supervise the searching posses.

At one o'clock this afternoon word was received from Cranbrook that Constable Nash had captured one of the bandits, who gave his name as Tom Mirnuk. This man had been shot in the leg and apparently had been deserted by his companion. He is now in the Cranbrook Hospital.

The bandit who is still at large is Charlie Mizaro, a slavonian, and is described as being 24 years of age, 5 foot 8 inches in height, medium complexion and weighing 165 pounds. When last seen he was wearing old gray trousers, yellow flannel shirt, dark brown boots, dark brown cap and was carrying a small pack-sack.

CONCERT VERY PLEASING

The concert given on Tuesday evening, in the United Church, by Mrs. Watson and her pupils, supported by Miss Charlebois, Mrs. Sanford, Miss Nettie Ingram, Miss D. Graham and Mr. Watson, was a decided success.

The musical public has learned to look forward to Mrs. Watson's annual concerts with more than ordinary interest, and again she is to be congratulated upon the promising talent of her first year pupils who made their initial appearance on Tuesday evening and also the almost surprising development of the singing quality of the voices of those pupils of longer standing.

Miss Nettie Ingram, always a favorite with the public, began the program with a delightfully finished rendering of Stephen Heller's "Tarantelle in A Flat," followed by Miss Duncan, a first year pupil, whose clear young soprano voice showed to great advantage in "The Valley of Laughter." Miss Duncan's high notes are particularly good and with rounding-out and development her voice has a promise of greater power and much charm.

In "Roses of June," with its beautiful violin obligato, Mrs. Owen made a very happy choice in showing her voice, which is a light mezzo of very pleasing quality, to the best advantage. It is often possible with a voice lacking great power and range, to concentrate in the rendering of delicate, fragile things exquisitely, with this thought in mind, while following out her course of voice production, Mrs. Owen will be wise and always sure of a warm welcome from her audience. Mr. Owen, on the other hand, with his virile power and interpretive style will always be popular in the heroic class of songs or such rollicking lyrics as Brunean's "Happy Vagabond," which we hope some day to hear him sing. His choice for the concert, however, was "Toreador," very well sung. Never is Mr. Owen a fraction off pitch and his intonation and enunciation show a most marked improvement. In fact all of Mrs. Watson's pupils show a decided appreciation of the importance of proper enunciation, a necessary quality of which Mrs. Watson herself is a past mistress.

A surprise among the group of first year pupils was Miss Charlebois. The public already knows her as a pianist of no small merit and a sympathetic accompanist of outstanding brilliancy, but was unprepared to hear her musical temperament expressed vocally. Her voice exceptionally well balanced, of good range and full tone, has the advantage of a keen sense of dramatic art behind it, with the result that it is difficult to realize that

by J. Fred Spalding

Now that the road around Crow's Nest Lake is cleared through the snow, all through roads are open, and we can expect to see more and more foreign cars each day. Already there have been several tourists up in my office for information, each one of them expressing delight with our roads in this section of B.C.

Last Monday evening considerable progress was made in cleaning up the camping grounds and building tables and seats ,and we expect to have everything there in readiness for our visitors during the early part of the coming week.

Last week I gave some extracts from a few of the recent letters I have received. This week I am giving extracts from some of the letters from Automobile Clubs in widely separated parts of the American Continent which show the increasing interest being taken in South Eastern B. C. and Southern Alberta by our friends across the border.

From the Automobile Club of Oklahoma, Tusla, Okla.:

"Can you send us a few more of folders 'The Scenic Heart of The Canadian Rockies?' We have a great number of our club members who will be driving to the northwest this summer and they will be glad to have information of your section of the country."

From the Hoosier State Auto Assocn.; Indianapolis, Ind.:

"The additional fifty folders came this morning. Thank you very kindly. These booklets have given a great deal of pleasure and awakened a great deal of interest in your northwest. I would appreciate it if you would take a map of B. C. and outline on it for me all the best possible roads for travel. This summer I expect the tourist traffic to your part of the country to be very, very heavy."

From the Automobile Club of Missouri, St. Louis and Kansas.:

"We wish to thank you for your supply of road maps of the Canadian Rockies. We have numerous calls for information of this kind, from our members, and we can assure you that they will be greatly appreciated."

From the Huntington Automobile Club, Huntington. West Virginia:

"We received your letter this morning and will look forward to receiving the fifty additional maps we requested, which you say are being sent under separate cover. Your information is gratefully received. A great deal of the section of the country you show is familiar to the writer. Only yesterday we had enquiries from some of our members who are taking a trip to Washington and who, no doubt, would like to avail themselves of the opportunity to visit your beautiful country."

From the Michigan Tourist & Resort Assocn., Grand Rapids, Mich.:

"We have your letter and also acknowledge the receipt of the maps covering your section of the Canadian Rockies. We are very pleased to have these and assure you that we will be pleased to distribute them where they will do the most good. In fact only today we had a man ask us if we had any literature regarding your particular section, and we were very pleased to hand him one of your folders."

From the Vancouver Automobile Club, Vancouver, B.C.:

"Thanks very much for the additional supply of booklets. I have already sent nearly all of them away and given them to callers. Shall be very glad to get a fgresh supply from you as soon as possible." Note —this letter is in reference to the third supply which has been sent to them since February.

From the Chicago Motor Club, Chicago:

"Thanks very much for the supply of maps which have arrived the other day. These will be distributed to our many members who are planning trips into your region this summer, and I am sure they will prove very useful. I am very much interested to learn that the Banff-Windermer Road will be opened about June 30th, because as you say, this makes it possible for motorists to run north from Glacier Park. I sincerely trust that you will keep me informed of all developments in connection with this subject, so that we may know, at all times, just which roads can safely be recommended in your region."

From Jacob Goldberg, Steamship and General Ticket Agent, Perth Amboy, N. J.:

"A supply of you literature would be appreciated by us. Same will be used for distribution to many of our clients intending travelling to and from points in Western Canada."

MRS. A. HARBACH GAINS 24 POUNDS

Declares Tanlac Restored Her Completely When Health Was Practically Destroyed

"The Tanlac treatment restored my health and strength and increased my weight twenty-four pounds two years ago, and I am one of the happiest women in Canada, for I have been feeling fine ever since," declares Mrs. Alice Harbach, highly esteemed resident of 26 Dundas Street, W., London, Ont.

"I was so nervous I trembled like one with palsy and feared a complete breakdown. I couldn't relish my food, many days I didn't eat a thing, and lost weight until my clothes were way too large for me. I had piercing headaches, was so weak I would give out before the middle of the day, and at night just seemed to hear the clock strike every hour. I suffered more agony than tongue can tell.

"But Tanlac ended all my troubles, and if I had my say I would put a bottle in every home. It has won my everlasting gratitude, and I will always praise it."

PICARIELLO PAYS PENALTY

has been a series of tragic followings for Florence Lassandro sinse she followed Picariello into the lucrative bypaths of whisky-running across the British Columbia border in the Crow's Nest. She followed Picariello into the death car when they made their mad dash of revenge into Coleman that ended in the slaying of Constable Steve Lawson.

She followed him into the hands of the law, and now she has followed hime into eternity.

The little procession again formed up, this time with the matron as well as Father Fideles, accompanying the prisoner.

Mrs. Lassandro had spent the night in prayer with the priest. She ate no breakfast, contrasting with the bacon and eggs, toast and coffee that Picariello ate with equanimity just before the death summons.

With firm step Florence Lassandro began the long walk from the woman's building, across the jail yard, and to the gateway of eternity. She faltered for an instant as the grim scaffold was reached. The liquid notes of a robin suddenly and startlingly poured into the gloom of the morning, a draft of hope.

"Why do they hang me when I didn't do anything?" she asked the little group at the foot of the scaffold. "Is there no one here who's got any sympathy for me? I forgive everybody."

Eleven minutes later the body was removed.

In each instance death was pronounced practically instantaneous.

A request has been lodged with the jail authorities that the bodies be turned over to the relatives, through Father Fideles, for burial in Blairmore. The Italian colony there has been planning a demonstrative funeral. The request has been referred to the attorney-general. It is likely to be granted, with the proviso that the burial be made in North Edmonton.

Victor

RUBY DIMMICK IS NOW CURED

Over six thousand Victorians packed the big Willows Arena last night, where the first services to be held there by the Price evangelists took place. Crowds thronged the huge auditorium in the afternoon as early as four o'clock, and by seven o'clock the building was filled to its limit.. The congregation listened attentively to the inspiring message of Dr. Price, and saw a number of sick healed of their affirmities. Applause and exclamations such as "Blessed Jesus," "Praise His Holy Name," and "Glory to God" came from those in the audience as people said they had been cured by their faith in the power of God.

One of the interesting features of the service was the testimony given by Rev. J. F. Dimmick, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, who said that his daughter, Miss Ruby, who hand been afflicted with spinal trouble and one of whose legs had been shorter than the other, had been completely cured at yesterday morning's meeting in the Metropolitan Church. Several other statements of cures effected were given during the meeting. There were so many to be prayed for last night that Dr. Price had only time to treat 49, but those who had cards and had not been reached will be prayed for by the evangelist at this afternoon's meeting at the Metropolitan Church at 2:30 o'clock.

The arena proved to be a suitable place for the meeting in every way. The acoustics of the building are good, and the place was comfortably warm. Benches were placed on the floor, the pipes having been covered with sawdust. A big platform, which faces to the west, was built in the centre of the opposite side of the building. The Salvation Army band which supplied the music for the singing, and the choir of several hundred voices took their places in the galleries, to the rear of the platform.

Tremendous interest was taken in Rev. Mr. Dimmick's tale of his daughter's recovery to health after eight years of sickness. He said that the doctors had done the best they could for her, but when her faith reached forth to the Lord, the Great Physician came in and wrought this great miracle. Her leg, when she was brought into the church, had been in a steel frame, while the other was practically useless. In addition, she had been suffering from other troubles.

Rev. Mr. Dimmick stated that while the cards were being given out for last night's meeting his daughter had been healed. He had been seated beside her, and she expressed her faith in Jesus' saving grace. She turned to her father and patting him on the cheek, cried out with joy, "Father, He's come. He's going through me now. Thank God. He has healed me." She told him to look at her foot, and said that she could now stretch her leg.

Her father perceived that his daughter was healed of the shortness in one of her legs, but she said that her throat was not cured entirely. Dr. C. S. Price came to her, and, laying his hand upon her forehead, prayed that God would give to her complete healing. The remaining trouble went instantly, and both she and her father, as well as others in the edifice, gave thanks to the Almighty for the miracle that had been performed. Rev. Mr. Dimmick said that last night his daughter had stepped out of an automobile, jumped over a ditch, and even hopped on one foot. She was well again, and was rejoicing in Christ's omnipotent power. Many in the audience interrupted the speaker with cries of "Hallelujah" and "Praise the Lord," as, with parental joy, he related his story.

An interesting announcement was made at Sunday night's meeting by Rev. J. F. Dimmick, whose daughter, Miss Ruby, was afflicted with spinal trouble. Rev. Mr. Dimmick stated that Dr. Ernest Hall, who has for some time been treating his daughter, had made a thorough examination of her since she was prayed for by Dr. Price and had said that her spine was now perfectly straight and her foot completely healed. Ruby ran onto the platform, and walked about as though nothing had ever been wrong with her. She had been ill for eight years, and one of her legs was several inches shorter than the other. The audience of 7,000 people lustily cheered the young lady and the minister's statement.

VICTORIA, May 1.—Vancouver undoubtedly will experience a religious stir, unprecendented in its history, when Rev. Dr. Price, faith healer, opens his evangelistic campaign there after completing his work here. That is, if his work creates the same interest as it has in this city. Tuesday night was "divine healing" night at the Willows arena, where the services have been held of late, owing to the Metroplitan Methodist Church being to small to accomodate the crowds.

Dr. Price makes no claim to supernatural powers. He tells of having received direct commands from the Master to go out into the world and heal the sick and despite the sneers and scoffs of the unbelievers, he is doing so. Medical men are admitting that they are nonplussed at the "cures" of Dr. Price. The deaf hear, the dumb talk, the lame walk upright, the blind see, and the sick are made well, goitres have disappeared and cancers have been healed.

Some there are who say that the evangelist is a hypnotist, that religious fervor, not to say frenzy, changes the mental attitude of those prayed for in such a manner as to delude them into thinking that they have been cured. Despite this, there are scores of people in Victoria today who have found health, hearing, sight and speech and it is safe to say that the general attitude of the citizens toward divine healing has entirely changed. The scoffer has little further to say. Many have attended the meetings through curiosity and have come away stirred to a new life.

One little girl was suffering from a short leg. It pained her intensely and artificial apparatus had to be used. After the evangelist's administrations the child was able to put her foot to the ground and today is playing with her chums. A woman was disfigured with a goitre a week ago. Today the goitre has disappeared. A child, blind in one eye, has received sight and medical men admit that she is cured.

"I am only following the Master's teachings," says Rev. Dr. Price. "Faith will remove mountains; it certainly is the mighty force which remakes lives, and we have met with splendid success in this city."

The evangelist announces that he will purchase a tent to accomodate 5000 persons which he will carry with him across the continent. This is owing to the difficulty in securing places large enough to hold the crowds of people who flock to hear him.

For the past two weeks, hundreds of automobiles have blocked traffic for block around the church and arena. Crippled and infirm people in wheelchairs are seen on the streets, being taken to hear the healer, and the one topic of discussion is Dr. Price and his wonderful work.

The most completely lost of all days is that on which one has not laughed.

Charles Chaplin in "The Pilgrim" at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, May 9 and 10.

CHAPLIN HAS VETERAN CAST IN "THE PILGRIM"

Several players who contributed to past screen successes of Charles Chaplin support the famous comedian in his latest First National feature comedy, "The Pilgrim," which is coming to the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

They are Edna Purviance, again the comedian's leading lady; his brother, Sydney Chaplin, Mack Swain, "Chuck" Reisner, Loyal Underwood, Tom Murray and Phyllis Allen. Others who appear in support of the star are Kitty Bradbury, Dinky Dean and Mae Wells.

Chaplin plays the role of an escaped convict who masquerades in the clothing of a minister. But this deception brings the most excruciating complications down on the head of "The Pilgrim," for as a result he is compelled to take charge of a church in a small town.

Still more amusing situations arise when a crook, who had served time in the pen with the psuedo parson, comes to the same town, recognizes his old "college chum" and worms his way into the social set.

A touch of romance and a dash of pathos have also been worked into the plot.

HUNDREDS OF LETTERS ON PACIFIC MILK

In the files of this office are hundreds of letters, written from all over British Columbia and parts of Western Canada, giving praise to Pacific Milk. Wives, who have houses to keep, are very busy, so Pacific Milk must have created a strong impression before anything could have induced these ladies to go to the trouble of writing. Some of these letters are really long and we have yet to read one that is not interesting.

BATTERIES

When the time comes to buy a new battery

A storage battery is one of those things that nobody ever wants to buy; you get a new one only because you have to. That is only so much the more reason for selecting one that will last for a long time.

When you install an Exide Battery in your car you are really taking out insurance against annoyance and repair bills and you are putting the day of renewal so far ahead that you are exercising commonsense economy.

As for comfort, the willing power of an Exide, ready instantly to whirl your engine or brighten your road, is a satisfaction that you will appreciate as much as the thousands of other motorists who swear by, and not at, Exide Batteries.

An Exide Battery in your new car indicates that the manufacturer has taken every precaution to insure your comfort. And when your present battery wears out you can offset future battery troubles by replacing it with an Exide.

J. J. HARRINGTON

she has had very few lessons. Her interpretation of Tosti's "La Serenata" would rather suggest many months of study. It will be interesting to watch the development of so promising voice. She was accompanied by Mrs. Sanford, a brilliant pianist whom the audience would have liked to have heard in a piano solo.

Miss Charlebois delighted the audience with her piano solo, "Cardonetta," by Liszt, and was presented with a lovely bouqet by Mrs. Watson and her fellow pupils, she responded to the enthusiastic encore with "The Music Box."

Mr. Macdonald, following her on the program, sang "Old Father Thames" exceedingly well. His tone production and phrasing wonderfully improved gave "color" and added flexibility to his naturally good voice. This was especially noticeable in his duet with Mr. Owen, when he lost that suggestion of restraint, temperamentally he does not give lavishly enough of himself to his voice when he sings alone, a slight fault he wil naturally overcome by constant appearance before the public.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's sweet, delicately modulated voice, combined with her attractive personality and distinctly charming stage deportment go to make her a great favorite with her audience. She sang her songs, "A Thrush at Eve" and "Maytime" with a finished and conscientious precision that was singularly attractive. That she had a greater depth of tone at her command was demonstrated in the closing duet with Mrs. Lawes in which their voices blended exquisitely.

In her solo "Villanelle," Mrs. Lawes usual truth to pitch and clear, vigorous attack and phrasing were just a trifle blurred, but the lovely lyric quality of her voice was unimparied and almost at once readjusted to the bird-like rhythm and even flexibility which her audience loves.

Mrs. Osborne gave a beautiful rendering of the difficult "Angel's Serenade," sustaining the exacting legato recititive movement in the beginning of the song in perfect harmony with the lovely violin obligato and piano accompaniment and always with the suggestion of a reserve of tonal power and control, so often lacking in the amateur. Musical circles will look forward to great possibilities from this charmingly balanced voice.

Miss Anderson is another second-year pupil who has made great progress, having almost overcome a slight metallic quality in her middle voice, while her lower and higher notes have developed in warmth and power which gave "color" and expression to her rendering of "Blackbird and Throstle."

The program was divided by two violin solos, Miss Dolly Graham, accompanied by Mr. Watson and Miss Charlebois, played very steadily for a young amateur making her first appearance and responded most gracefully to a hearty encore.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson aided delightfully to the program. Mrs. Watson's beautiful voice filled the auditorium with lovely liquid notes of Gounod's "Serenade," leaving the platform with her arms full of flowers, presented most gracefully by two little girls, Dora and Jessie Starr, from the Ladies Guild of Christ Church and her pupils.

Mr. Herchmer occupied the chair while Mr. and Mrs. Caufield, Miss Jessie Starr and Miss Frye assisted at the door.

FERNIE AND COAL CREEK FOOTBALL TEAMS DRAW

The 1923 football season opened here on Wednesday afternoon, when Fernie United and Coal Creek met in a friendly game, resulting in a scoreless draw.

From the kick-off, Coal Creek started on a move towards the Fernie goal but were kept from being dangerous by the strong defence put up by the Fernie halves. Coal Creek kept up the pressure and forced a corner, the resultant kick, sending the ball goalwards where Booth handled and Coal Creek was awarded a penalty. Corlett took the kick but shot closely past the upright. Mid-field play followed for some time and then Fernie took the aggressive forcing Sawyer to leave his goal to clear on several occasions. J. Davidson took a pot shot at the goal, and Sawyer fumbled and a scrimmage followed in the goalmouth but the ball was shot wildly past. At the other end, Atherton sent in a hard fast drive, which Swedeberg saved. Half time came without score.

Mid-field exchanges followed the resumption of play for some time, then Fernie broke away and D. Nee sent in a corkscrew shot which forced Sawyer to concede a corner which proved fruitless. Coal Creek then made a determined raid on the Fernie goal and Swedeberg was kept busy for a few minutes, bringing off some brilliant saves. From then on, play was confined to mid-field and the long whistle came without any score being registered.

THE FALLICIES OF SOCIALISM

In the British House of Commons some days ago Sir Alfred Mond, a big employer of labor, exposed the nonsense of Socialism as expounded by Mr. Phillip Snowden's motion condemning the capitalist system, and asking that Socialism replace it.

Sir Alfred Mond's speech was deemed so important that it was published in full by some of the London newspapers. We give it, not in full, but up to the limits of our space, as Sir Alfred is an unquestioned authority, with as wide an experience, both in public and private enterprise, as any man in England. He said:—

Mr. Snowden, as I expected, delivered a carefully reasoned and very clever speech, moderate in tone, moderate in statement, oratorical in effect.

The hon. member, much to my astonishment, dates the capitalist system about 100 years ago. The capitalist system has been the system of the world since the world has existed.

What has been the course of evolution? The course of human civilization has been from the tribal to the individualist system, and what the hon. member calls the great evolutionary force is the reaction, the return to a system from which the world has been developed and evolved.

It was not machinery that developed the capitalist system. A bootmaker in the 15th century, with one hammer in his hand, was just as much a capitalist—and the hon. member knows it very well—as is the owner of a great factory today.

He knows as well as I do that the shovel of an agricultural laborer, the tools of a fitter, the tools of a carpenter, are capital, just as much capital in the economic sense—and no economist can deny it, or ever has denied it—as the ownership or partnership of a loom.

In Lancashire and Yorkshire hundreds and thousands working in those mills are today part owners of the steam looms, as they were owners of the hand looms. What is the use to confuse issues by confusing the rich man with the capitalist when there are millions of people in this country who are capitalists but who are not rich at all?

Every co-operator in your movement is a capitalist, for what is a share or a dividend in your co-operative movement, but capital? If you wish to socialize capital you must take the house of every working man who has saved up for it. If you say that Socialism means robbing the rich, say so. That is a policy, but it is not Socialism.

The whole theory of capitalism, as expounded by some hon. members, is entirely out of date. It does not exist in our modern industrial system. What exists in our modern industrial system is the captain of industry, the man of enterprise and brains. He has labor and he has capital. He pays for one and he pays for the other. He is the man who creates.

What is the reward of management, enterprise, and industry? It is just that accumulation of wealth to which the hon. member objects. If the hon. member likes to go round the world today, he will find that the wealthy men are the men who started with very little and by hard work, enormous energy, and foresight have built up great industries. The hon. member made an observation which is perfectly true, that every workman should be made a capitalist. I quite agree.

The hon. member said—and I gladly accept his challenge—what is the use of a workman saving a few hundred pounds and competing with a great firm like Brunner, Mond and Company? What they want to do is to become shareholders in the company. Certainly.

If the House will allow me. I will elaborate that very point of enterprise and management, that very point of infinite capacity to which hon. members have referred. It seems to me that it is only possible under our present system and I see no scope for it whatsoever under a system of Socialism.

It is now nearly fifty years since two young men got to know each other in business. With the very little money they had saved, they decided to start a new enterprise. Their capital was very insufficient; their optimism very great. They adopted a process entirely unknown in this country. They asked people who understood the industry to come into it, but they laughed at it.

They fought and struggled, and they founded that very concern to which the hon. member referred, which has given employment and looked after its workmen for something like 50 years. That was the result of an enterprise which could never have been commenced under any socialist system I have ever known. Who could have been prepared to take the risk, which all the most experienced men in the industry said was an absurd risk to take? Those two men were my father and the late Sir John Brunner. They did not work eight hours a day, but 36 on end without stopping.

That is one of the difficulties which I feel regard to Socialism. I do not see how you can make any progress. Hon. members always seem to assume that the condition of industry is static. It is not; it is dynamic. They talk of the division of wealth of the world as if it were a fixed amount which wants to be divided up. (Hon. members: "No!").

It is not a fixed amount. I was saying that the progress of industry is dynamic. That is to say, the wealth of the world is not a fixed sum which can be divided up. What you want to do is increase wealth, and I contend that the capitalist system is more likely to increase wealth, and be of more benefit to the whole community than any other system which has ever been devised.

The hon. member has not explained whether he wants State Socialism or guild socialism or what form of socialism. It is very fundamental. I am convinced from my experience as Minister and business man, that it is impossible to carry on the industries of this country from a Government Department.

Then how is he going to carry them on? He has not detailed to us any schemes. I have heard of schemes of democratic control. That is a beautiful phrase, but the man who has to sell and buy and compete in the markets of the world, and meet the keenest competition of American, German and French manufacturers, does not get much guidance if told that in the future the industries he is conducting are to be conducted under democratic control.

Presumably there would be a sort of Soviet affair every afternoon to decide whether to sell francs; whether the exchange is going up or down; whether you should take higher or lower prices for our products, or what advertising schemes we should adopt.

What is one of the real difficulties of this whole question of organizing your industries nationally? One of your chief difficulties is magnitude. I have come deliberately to the conclusion that it is quite impossible for human beings to control any industry beyond a certain magnitude and I say that after very careful study.

The hon. member says the competitive system has disappeared. That is not true. You can trustify your industries as much as you like; there is no trust powerful enough in the world today to ignore the danger and the risk of able and new competition in all parts of the world. The pace is too keen, competition is too swift. Nobody can afford to sit idly by and draw dividends out of labor.

The idea that you can make money out of labor is one of the greatest fallacies in the minds of a certain number of economists. Why does anybody want a capitalist? The capital system, as the hon. members said, is not a created thing from the beginning of the world. People pay for capital because it is required. Nobody takes the risk of borrowing capital unless he sees some reward from the result of his labor. The hon. member knows that as well as I do, and he ought to state it frankly.

If I have to pay 10 per cent. for capital it means I have a risky proposition. If I have to pay 2½ per cent. it means I have a safe proposition. The capitalists are the people, the only people in this country, who, instead of putting money in their pockets, instead of spending it or doing nothing with it, instead of investing their money in luxury, are investing it in industry and making either loss or profit out of it.

If these people did not go in for private enterprise, would there be no unemployment? I say there would be more. The people of this country are not so foolish as to deny private enterprise the fruits of its labor. The hon. member who seconded the resolution postulated that socialism meant the end of all international capital. How does he think trade comes to this country if you do not export capital?

I wonder what he thinks capital is? Let me contrast that with what the hon. member for Colne Valley said. He said he was to give the owners of industrial capital some form of State security, but he would not allow them to use it to develop industry in this country.

Therefore the owners of that capital would have to take it abroad. What advantage that is going to do the British working man passes my comprehension. If he gives me gilt-edge securities and I cannot use my capital in this country, I fail to see how the country and the working man would be better off. You ask any man who is engaged in industrial concerns in this or any other country, and you will find he is ready to pay almost any salary to anyone who is efficient, and we have to struggle along as best

Tenders will shortly be called for continuation of the Edgewood-Vernon road from Deep Creek to Inonooklin Creek, estimated to cost $50,000. This extension of the road four miles of which were constructed last year, from Boulder to Deep Creek, will eventually open a gateway from the Lower Arrow Lake to the Okanagan Valley, via Monashee and Vernon.

Construction on the new Four Mile Bridge, Prince Rupert district, will be continued, an additional expenditure of $1200 having been authorized by the Department of Public Works.

Settlers in the Yale district will be greatly benefited by the new road to Dry Lake where Messrs. Dooding & Woodward are erecting a mill. Partial assistance to the amount of $350 is being given by the Department of Public Works.

The success of the Government creamery at Vanderhoof is established as a profitable investment according to reports announced at a meeting of the Nechako Valley Creamery Association. The creamery won third prize in the Canadian butter competition at Calgary.

Title to Cedar Creek placer claims is again in litigation. John F. Guest of Kelowna is suing F. S. Munson Ltd., for fulfillment of an alleged partnership agreement.

Day labor will be used for the road work on the Nelson-Ymir trail from the U. S. boundary north. This work was stopped last fall after very satisfactory work by day labor under the supervision of P. J. Gallagher. The upper portion, south of Ymir is now being done by contract.

New mattresses and cribwork will be constructed on St. Mary's River to afford river bank protection at Cranbrook at an estimated cost of $2,000.

Repair work on the Alexandria Ferry, Cariboo, will include renewal of the anchorage towers this summer.

A welcome short cut for the accommodation of settlers and school children will be afforded by the proposed new bridge at Wadds Canyon, Crawford Bay, Kaslo district.

The bridge at Kay Falls on West Road, Revelstoke district, will be protected this spring by cleaning out the creek before high water.

It is anticipated that by midsummer this property will be shipping a large tonnage through Smithers.

The 60 span bridge over Cranberry Creek, South Atlin, washed out four years ago, will be replaced at a cost of $1,500 authorized by the Department of Public Works.

J. C. Brady, district engineer at Cranbrook has received word that the Department of Public Works will finance repairs required for the Wasa bridge, Fernie, on the route of the old Cariboo road.

Considerable reconstruction work will be done this summer on bridges in the Fort George district, including the Alexander and Jackladder bridges on the Dewey road.

DANISH PASTRY NOW IN FERNIE

L. C. Klitteng, Famous Baker From Isle of Lessoe, Denmark, Gives Instructions to Leading Bakery

In the last few years much has been talked and written about Danish Pastry, its extraordinary deliciousness in regard to refined fillings and many other advantages not common in the manufacture of such bakery goods as hitherto presented to the public.

The foundation to the reputation of Danish Pastry on this Continent was made when L. C. Klitteng, international consulting baker of the Isle of Lessoe, Denmark, arrived at New York in December 1915 and a few days later accomplished the feat of baking his first batch of Danish Pastry, for President Wilson's wedding at Washington, D.C. Up to that time nothing by the name of Danish Pastry was known or introduced on the North American Continent.

After the baking for the Presidential wedding table was a concluded fact, it did not take long before Danish Pastry found its way to high-class bakeries, hotels and restaurants, and after having introduced the methods in making this intricate concoction of culinary art in 36 States, baking and demonstrating in over one hundred cities from New York to San Francisco and southwards, Mr. Klitteng finally reached Canada. One of his last bakings in the States was for President Harding, the occassion of same occurring just on the fifth anniversary day of his baking for President Wilson's wedding.

The first Canadian concern to which Mr. Klitteng was engaged as instructor was Coles, Limited, in Toronto, which establishment, by the way, is the foremost bakery and confectionery in the Dominion, and Danish Pastry proved to be an instant success there as well as in all other Canadian cities visited by this celebrated Danish baker. The full list of cities in this country where Danish Pastry has been introduced by Mr. Klitteng is: Halifax, St. John, N.B., Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, and lately, Kamloops, Revelstoke, Nelson and Fernie. From here Mr. Klitteng goes to Lethbridge, Moose Jaw, Banff and will thereafter continue his travel around the world, embarking to Honolulu in September. In November he will be in Japan, where he intends to present Danish Pastry at the wedding of the Crown Prince Hirohiti and Princess Nagako, which is to take place in Tokyo late in November. Further travels will include Peking, Shanghai, Hong Kong, Singapore, over Java, Borneo, Sumatra to Australia and from there back over Siam, India, Persia, Arabia, Egypt, etc. In every city of importance, Danish Pastry will be introduced and Mr. Klitteng will not be back home at his residence on the Isle of Lessoe, Denmark, before three years from now, that will be sometime in 1926.

The life and work of this Danish baker, who has taken unto himself to exploit universally the methods of baking in his homeland, is as extraordinary as are the qualities of Danish Pastry, which now has been introduced in Mr. R. G. McEwan's Bakery, where Mr. Klitteng works under high speed in these days. Tomorrow (Saturday) Danish Pastry, Danish Butter Cakes and many other varieties of Danish Culinary Art will be featured and those specialities will thereafter be added to the regular lines of goods manufactured in the McEwan Bakery.

FALLACIES OF SOCIALISM

we can with our limitations. If hon. members say the coal mining industry is badly organized, possibly it is, but where have you the men who can organize it better? It is not the gentlemen who writes articles in the Statist or any other newspaper.

The co-operative societies are one of the finest capitalist schemes in the world. A co-operative society is a huge capitalist system owend by a large number of small capitalists. Hon. members talk as if our big industries today were owned by handfuls of rich people. That is not the case. They are owned by tens of thousands of people, most of whom have very small amounts invested in them. Although you can nationalize capital, you cannot nationalize ability. Hon. members must get their minds clear. If they carried their proposals, they would abolish the co-operative societies. The Wholesale Co-Operative Society are one of the biggest distributors in the world, and they are just as much privately managed as Selfridge's store.

You cannot supress human nature, and that is why Socialism must end in failure. It is up against the elementary instincts of human nature, the free play of competition, freedom of the individual to develop if he wants to, without repression, the free right to individual development.

Nobody will fight more bitterly than hon. members on the Labor benches for some of these things from the first day the Socialist machine is instituted. Your ideal is to improve the world—so is ours! Your ideal is to give people better conditions and better houses—so is ours! Your ideal is to make the conditions of life more humane—so is ours! It is one ideal. We do not differ in ideals, though we differ as to methods.

National life is a collective enterprise, and I want to see it developed; but it is a difficult thing to say that the export and import trade in cotton, coal, wool, and so on is a collective enterprise and can be managed as well nationally as individually. How can a Government deal with export trade?

It is a very difficult problem. We know that in the case of international contracts, which are not a question of private enterprise but of high State enterprise, diplomatic Notes have to pass, and whenever a contract is altered questions are put in this house and feelings are aroused. The idea that one is considering in this system is one which has never yet been found adumbrated in any work that I have read, and I think I have read every one, from Karl Marx downward, on this subject.

What hon. members have to prove is that they have something very much better, that they can deliver the goods. You cannot ask an ancient nation, which has grown up on the basis of individual enterprise, of freedom of capacity for self-development, a nation which is the most individualistic nation in the world, to put their heads under a yokel, to go into a state of slavery, for socialism to my mind is no better, and lead a dull, monotonous existence in which there is no sparkle and no life.

That is what we are being invited to do. Show us, at any rate, what we are going to be given in return for this sacrifice before we surrender our liberties so hardly won to a tyranny no better than the tyranny we have passed through in the past. I say you cannot do it. I say it cannot be done.

This discussion has now been proceeding for 50 years. Wherever this policy has been adopted it has been abandoned again. Let us give up chasing this will of the wisp.—Saturday Night.

FERNIE BEAUTIFUL

The annual Rotary Competition for the best-kept grounds, best gardens of flowers, and neatest wards, is on again in full swing. The Committee in charge of the work this year is headed by Norman E. Suddaby, himself a gardening enthusiast. Last year the committe had $125 at its disposal, but this year the prizes will be larger, and probably the number of classes will be increased, so the prospects for a big competition are assured.

In a few days the Committee will distribute entry forms and posters announcing the number of classes and the amount of the prizes in the various classes. Meanwhile they caution all those who wish to take advantage of the competition, to make ther plans and get busy with their 1923 gardens.

One of the advantages of the "Fernie Beautiful Competition" is that even the loser is ahead of the game—ahead by a lot of satisfaction that he tried hard, that he improved his home, and that he improved the appearance of his town by the work he did, at the same time improving himself by a lot of wholesome excercise, and healthful enthusiasm. A Jacksonville, Florida, man has the idea. He put it in verse, just to make it easy to remember:

MY NEIGHBOR'S ROSE

The roses red upon my neighbor's vine,
Are owned by him, but they are also mine,
His was the cost, and his the labor, too;
But mine as well as his, their loveliness to view.

They bloom for me, and are for me as fair
As for the man who gave them all his care,
Thus am I rich, because a good man grew
A rose-clad vine, all for his neighbor's view.

I know from this that others plant for me,
And what they own, my joy may also be,
So why be selfish, when so much that's fine
Is grown for you upon your neighbor's vine?

Rather a nice sentiment! The big idea he has, is not to let the neighbor plant all the flowers, but rather to plant some too, and then the whole neighborhood becomes cleaner, greener and more beautiful.

Health turns the clock backward

Weekly Health Talk No. 16.
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

When the nose is stopped up with cold, it is because the liver, the kidneys, and the lungs, are below par. When the head aches from billiousness, it is because the bodily vigor in throwing off waste matter is below normal. When the throat is sore it is because the invading disease met no resistance from throat tissues.

Chiropractic adjustments bring the tissue resistance up to 100 per cent. It re-aligns disturbed joints of the spine, freeing the nerve openings between joints, and taking off the pressure which causes disease. The method is one which deals with definite conditions and brings definite results.

"I have never known a cold to develop into pneumonia while under adjustments.

"A cold is usually broken following the first adjustment. Subsequent adjustments clear up the cold symptoms.

Pneumonia will respond to the first adjustment in the majority of cases, and usually but a few more are necessary to break the fever.

"Chiropractic adjustments are the best prophylactic against colds and pneumonia know today."

A. G. Eichel, Chiropractor.

If you are in the habit of contracting bad colds, or fear pneumonia, telephone 294 today for an appointment.

LT. GOVENOR INVITED

The Reconstruction Committe met Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber to make arrangements for the unveiling of the Soldiers' Monument in the Provincial Grounds. It was decided to hold this ceremony on the 24th of May.

The following committee was appointed to take charge of these arrangements: Messrs. E. K. Stewart, T. Prentice, P. H. Sheffield and two to be appointed by the G. W. V. A., and Mesdames Wallace, Moffatt and Herchmer from the I. O. D. E.

Mr. Klauer was instructed to wire an invitation to Lieut. Govenor Nichol to be present and perform the unveiling ceremony.

The unveiling of the monument at the cemetery will take place on memorial day.

ENDORSEMENT OF SOVIET AUTOCRACY DISALLOWED

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The central labor council of Seattle was served with notice today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor that it must rescind its endorsement of the "soviet autocracy of Russia," that also it must cease to refer communications from the American Federation of Labor to a subordinate committee on political action and that it must "comport itself in accordance with the policies and principles of the American Federation of Labor."

In a statement issued today the federation said:

This action follows similar demands made only a short time ago upon the Minneapolis trade and labor assembly.

"The American Federation of Labor," says the statement, "has many times made it plain that it can not countenance support of bolshevism or any kind of connivance, open or otherwise, in behalf of the soviet dictatorship which the American Federation of Labor has repeatedly condemned in convention.

"The American Federation of Labor has ample evidence of the bolshevik designs upon the American trade union movement and the American government. It requires that subordinate affiliated organizations adhere to the policy laid down by the conventions in regard to this question. It requires that affiliated organizations must not give aid and comfort, or support of any kind, to a movement that seeks the destruction of the American trade union movement. That is the meaning of the action taken today in regard to the Seattle central labor union. That also was the meaning with the Minneapolis trades and labor assembly."

The executive council announced its intention to pursue an aggressive policy in relation to efforts of propagandists who seek to prevert or disrupt the trade union movement. It called upon central labor bodies and local unions to refuse their platforms to propagandists for bolshevism as energetically as they would refuse them to the propagandists of big business.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, FERNIE, B. C.

The American Consular Service at Fernie advises that in accordance with a ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States, of date April 20th, it is unlawful within the terms of the National Prohibition Act for any vessel either domestic or foreign to bring within the United States or its territorial waters any liquor whatever for beverage purposes.

Treasury regulations are being prepared to carry this new ruling into effect June 10, 1923, after which date both domestic and foreign ships will be subject thereto without further notice.

THE OBJECT OF MOTHERS' DAY

To brighten the lives of our mothers and to make them more honored, loved and protected by their children.

To remind sons and daughters of the unselfish devotion of mother, and possibly their own thoughtless, selfish neglect of their parents.

To ask men, women and children to make their own mothers feel this May day that in her children's hearts she is, and ever will be, "Queen of May."

Therefore, show your mother some special kindness this day in words of affection and appreciation; by some gift of love or visit to her, or by a letter if absent from her. If she is not among the living, bless the life of some mother in memory of your own. This is the least we can do for mother day.

BOY SCOUTS ENTERTAINED

The Fernie Boy Scout Troop were entertained, with the members of the Executive of the Fernie Boy Scout Association, at a dinner in the Scout Hall last Friday evening, by the boys' mothers.

The dinner was opened by the entire troop singing "O Canada," this was followed by the Rev. Mr. Burns asking the blessing, and then the boys set to work on the vast pile of good things which had been provided for them by the mothers. At various intervals, Chairman Dr. Garner would call a halt in the activities for rollicking songs and choruses and on one occasion, somewhat marvelous to relate, the boys themselves ceased eating long enough to give their Scout Yell:

I J Ita Ki
I I Yip
Go it Scouts, Go it Scouts,
Rip Rip Rip,
Canta Teeta Wa Wa
Canta Teeta Tar

When eventually everyone had had their appetites appeased, the mothers were given a demonstration in table clearing, each boy picking up his own dishes, lining up in single file then marching out into the kitchen, returning to take down the tables and clear the floor, in record time.

The boys then fell in in patrol formation and Dr. Garner addressed them for a short time on the aims and objects of Scoutwork, and of the great work they were being instructed in.

Scoutmaster Donaldson outlined the various tests that were a part of the scout work. He then called upon Patrol Leader Ross Workman and presented to him a Class "B" Red and White all round cord, explaining that this Scout had now obtained through his own endeavors, twelve proficiency badges, First Class and King Scout rank, and was now entitled to wear this cord signifying that he had obtained the second highest honors possible for a Scout to receive.

The evening's entertainment was brought to a most successful close when the boys were put through first aid and signalling classes, finishing with two basketball games.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed and three cheers given for the mothers in making the evening one of the finest ever provided in the history of the troop.

"YOU NEVER CAN TELL" A DECIDED SUCCESS

The players' Club of the B. C. University have just successfully completed a tour of the three Coast Cities with their play "You Never Can Tell," by Shaw.

In Victoria it was given under the distinguished patronage of the Lieut. Govenor and earned a lenghty appreciation in the Colonist. These players will appear in Fernie on May 24th, in the Grand Theatre, at 8:15, under the auspices of the I. O. D. E.

As the aim of the Players and also of the I. O. D. E. is to help the B. C. University and encourage it to be a permanent establishment, a cordial reception is asked from the people of Fernie to these young students who are giving their time and talent without remuneration.

FERNIE BEATS CRANBROOK

	W	L	Pct.
Fernie	1	0	1000
Kimberley	1	0	1000
Cranbrook	0	1	.000
Wycliffe	0	1	.000
Lumberton	0	0	.000

Playing an exceptionally fine class of baseball for the opening game of the season, the Coal Company, of Fernie, defeated Cranbrook at Cranbrook last Sunday afternoon by a score of six runs to one. The outstanding feature of the game was the performance of Ault pitching for the Fernie team. He struck out 13 batters and only allowed six well scattered hits. Only in three out of the nine innings did more than three Cranbrook batters face him in one inning. At the bat he turned in a perfect average, in four trips to the plate he made a sacrifice hit, two singles and a triple. Mitchell pitched a steady game for Cranbrook and but for the right fielder misjudging the flight of the ball in both the seventh and eighth innings the score might have been closer.

Cranbrook scored their only tally in the first inning, when Zeith touched Ault for the first hit of the game, and in trying to catch him stealing second, McTeer heaved the ball into centre field where Shand again muffed and allowed Zeith to score. Mac redeemed himself in the next inning, however, leading off with a two bagger, Mitchell tried to catch him napping at second and heaved the ball to second when there was no Cranbrook player covering the sack, the ball went into the outfield and McTeer tied the score. From then on until the first half of the seventh the game was exceptionally tight and fast and only rarely did a batter reach first on either side.

In the first half of the seventh, Fernie staged a batting rally and following an error, which allowed Ruschall to reach first, Dunlap got a single and Ruschall went to third, Dunlap ambled to second on the first ball pitched and then Ault connected for a single to centre scoring Ruschal and Dunlap. Shand drove a long single to right and Ault scored.

Again in the eighth Ruschal and Hovan got a single each and Ault drove a long one over the right fielder for three bases, scoring Ruschall and Hovan for the final runs of the game.

Score by innings—

Fernie	010 000 320—6
Cranbrook	100 000 000—1

KIMBERLEY TAKES OPENING GAME FROM WYCLIFFE

WYCLIFFE, May 6. — Kimberley won, by a score of 9 to 5, today's opening fixture of the East Kootenay Baseball league over Wycliffe.

"Stiffy" Lewis started in the box for Kimberley, but was relieved by "Dodger" Lewis before the end of the first inning. Dodger pitched a brilliant game, striking out 17 and only allowing three hits.

Pennington pitched good ball for Wycliffe, and Rodgers worked hard and caught a snappy game. Whitehead and Trimble, for Wycliffe, fielded in good shape.

Crerar and Cosgriffe were the big noises with the bat for Kimberley, Crerar getting a single and a double, and Cosgriffe two singles. Kimberley played a good fielding game all around.

Batteries were: Kimberley, "Stiffy" Lewis, "Dodger" Lewis and Clark; Wycliffe, Pennington and Rodgers.

Summer is getting into its swing when the hammocks are hung on the front porch.

SCENES IN COLORS MAKE "ADAM'S RIB" NOVEL

Color photography carried to the most logical degree yet reached is a special feature of "Adam's Rib," Cecil B. De Mille's new Paramount picture featuring Milton Sills. Elliott Dexter, Theodore Kosloff, Anna Q. Nilsson, Pauline Garon and Julia Faye, which will be presented at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

"All over" color photograhy carried to the tints of the skin is admittedly still to come in its final perfection. Color "spotted" through the regular blacks, grays and whites of the celluloid is a point, however, to which real perfection is said to have now been reached through a color registering system perfected by Paramount and used for the first time in "Adam's Rib."

The scene in which the spotted color appears is a night ballroom scene showing a large number of dancers. The pairs of dancers are furnished with Japanese lanterns. The main lights of the room are turned out and the lanterns lighted. Each lantern has been "spotted" a different color, red, blue, yellow, purple, a myrid of tints. And the color is reflected on the faces of the individuals carrying the lanterns. These moving, dipping, dodging bits of color appearing in the darkened room, with their reflections on white shirtfronts, faces and dainty frocks, are said to give a marvelously beautiful effect, something that makes it possible to say that there is truly "something new under the sun."

The story of "Adam's Rib" deals with the passions and fraility of modern young women, and it is a tremendous love romance filled with thrills and appeal. The vision scenes of the caveman period are said to be typically De Mille in conception and execution, and vest the production with an interest no ordinary motion picture can attain. Jeanie Macpherson, famous photoplaywright, is author.

RUSSIAN REDS ARE DETERMINED TO TRY POPE

LONDON, May 5.—The report that appeared some days ago in the British press regarding the proposal put forward in certain Russian Bolshevist quarters to try the Pope in contumaciam by a revolutionary tribunal in Moscow, is confirmed in the latest issue of the Moscow Pravda of March 31st.

In a leading article, entitled "Try the Pope," the official organ of the central committee of the Russian Communist party, i. e., the Russian Soviet government, writes:

The accursed Roman catholic prelates during their trial attempted to justify themselves by declaring that they simply obeyed the will and orders of their chief, the Pope, who therefore must be considered as the chief defaulter, and the arraigned priests merely agents guilty of aiding and abbetting.

As this has not been denied by anyone the question naturally arises why we have not arraigned and tried by our revolutionary tribunal this chief organizer, inspirer, and chief, and therefore the principal criminal—the Pope.

We have been told that we cannot try the Pope, as such a trial may lead to international complications. But this is sheer nonsense, as we all know too well that international complications never arise as the result of a trial of a mere priest, even if he is a Pope, but only in consequence of more real, economic and material causes. Moreover, our proletarian state is not one that would hesitate before possible international complications if it desired to try and sentence the chief instigator of a religious counter-revolution.

Even if we only try the Pope by proxy we may be sure that any sentence passed by a Moscow revolutionary tribunal will in the end be carried out, because sooner or later, bourgeois Italy will become a soviet state, and the Pope will inevitably find himself in the same unpleasant and precarious situation in which his colleague, the Patriarch Tikhon, is placed today.

HAD TO FIGHT TO GET HIS BREATH

Reed Declares Gases Were So Bad He Nearly Choked At Times.

"The best I can say is not half good enough for Tanlac," states Frederick E. Reed, 286 Roxborough Ave., Hamilton, Ont., well known business man.

"Last winter grippe and tonsilitis confined me to my home for weeks and left me so thin and frail it looked like I could never get back to my business again. I would choke up with gas until I had to fight for breath, was so nauseated I could scarcely retain a thing, and pains in my stomach and sides would double me up. I could scarcely sleep a wink, and my hands were so trembly I couldn't even arrange my tie.

"However, the Tanlac treatment suited my case so well it ended my troubles, increased my weight, and fixed me up to where I felt as fine as I ever did. I feel right all the time now, and haven't missed a day from my business since I finished the treatment. Tanlac has no equal."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists—Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

THE C.N.R. HAS DONE ITS BIT

MONTREAL, May 8.—The Canadian National Railways have done all that can be expected of them toward helping to market Alberta coal in Ontario and this province, and it is now the turn of the other parties interested in the question to show how much sacrifice they are prepared to make in the matter, Sir Henry Thornton, head of the National Railways system, announced this morning.

"It is difficult to arrive at the exact cost of transportation. However, in figuring this out we eliminated all our expenses excepting the actual out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the moving of the coal and on that basis we arrived at a minimum rate of $9.00 a ton," said Sir Henry. "In fixing that rate, we have done something anyhow, and we have not yet seen anybody else making any reductions to help the matter along."

Want $7 Rate

OTTAWA, May 8. — The necessity of a further reduction in the freight rates on coal from Alberta to Ontario points was stressed this morning by W. F. Carroll, chairman of the house committee investigating Canada's coal supply.

The rate of $9 a ton, recently offered by Sir Henry Thornton, in telegrams to Mr. Caroll and to Senator McClellan, chairman of the senate committee, also investigating the fuel problem, was still considered high. Transportation officials of the C.N.R. will appear before the committee on Friday and will be cross-examined on transportation questions affecting the problem.

D. Chisholm, Toronto property commissioner, said that if Alberta coal was selling at the mines for $4 and $5 a ton, a freight rate of from $7 to $8 a ton would be necessary in order to allow the western product to compete in the eastern market.

Keep Up The Fight
(Lethbridge Herald)

Alberta will not be satisfied with the nine dollar coal frieght rate to Ontario points announced by Sir Henry Thornton of the Canadian National Railways.

Speaking off-hand, the reduction from $12.70 per ton to $9 per ton on eastern shipments will not make Alberta coal an attractive proposition to Ontario consumers. It is hardly to be expected that Ontario will be willing, unless forced by a set of circumstances over which they have no control, to pay more in transportation than coal costs at the Alberta mines.

The situation, however, should not put a damper on Alberta's campaign to capture the Ontario coal market. The fight should be continued, and the manner in which Premier Greenfield and Alberta coal officials received Sir Henry's announcement on Monday indicates that a further effort will be made.

What Alberta was striving for was a six dollar summer freight rate. It was felt that, with such a rate, and with Alberta coal as popular with Ontario consumers as the tests during the past couple of months would indicate, Alberta mines would be able to double their output of domestic coal. In case this were possible, it would mean that the coal operators would be able to cut their overhead costs per ton, while the miners would be disposed to consider a lower wage scale in view of the steadier employment.

Alberta should not give up. Not only should an effort be made to determine if the $9 rate is at all practicable, but the effort to educate Ontario people to the use of Alberta coal, and to impress upon them its availability as against the United States product, should be continued. Those who feel impelled by the C.N.R. announcement to throw up their hands should consider that the Alberta coal fields are 2200 miles from Toronto as against Pennsylvania's 400 miles. That is a handicap which must be overcome, and it cannot be done in a day. One must remember that, if the Pennsylvania operator considers the Ontario market worth hanging on to, he can do so in the face of Alberta's efforts unless coal shortage conditions in the United States are such that he cannot well supply a foreign market.

Matters of interest and representations from sportsmen and trappers from all over B.C. are before the Provincial Game Board, which will, in due course, present a report and recommedations before the Attorney-General.

SAM GRATHWELL
"Getting by your Hoodoo."
"A Spirited Discussion on The Power of Overcoming Adversity."

From the slums and tenements of a large city, without father and friends, seemingly without a chance in the world, comes Sam Grathwell, B. A. He has worked at almost everything, he has been knocked down but never knocked out; he is a man with a real, vital message born of actual experience. In this lecture Sam Grathwell will tell you, and your boys and girls, how he fought his way through to a university course, how he became a foremost inspirational lecturer; in short, how he got by his hoodoo. Those who hear Sam will renew their spirits, increase their determination, and laugh at those difficulties which formerly brought them to the verge of tears.

WITH THE B.C. GOVERNMENT

Supporting his plea for unrelenting activity on the part of every citizen of British Columbia in the prevention and control of forest fires, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, states that last year forest fires cost the province $23,000,000 of timber destroyed. Of the total of 2,000,000,000 feet of timber cut, one-third, or approximately 700,000,000 feet, were destroyed by fire. The cost of fighting fires for the year was $750,000.

The minister also contends that 95 per cent. of last year's fires were caused through carelessness. Only five per cent. of the fires were due to lightning. Logging camps were responsible for twelve per cent. and campers about 33 per cent. Hon. Mr. Pattullo remarked that these figures should bring home to the people of the province a fuller realization of the great need for care and the tremendous financial loss entailed through forest fires.

Profits from the sale of liquor by the government during the six months ending March 31 amounted to $1,250,195, announces Attorney-General Manson. The figures include all sales in the government liquor stores, including those of far-away places like Atlin, Pouce Coupe and Telegraph Creek. Five per cent. of this amount will be placed in the reserve fund, leaving $1,187,685 to be divided. Fifteen per cent., or $178,152, will be placed to the credit of a special fund for hospitals and charitable institutions. Another thirty-five per cent., or $415,689, goes direct to the municipalities, of which two-sevenths must be used for school purposes.

The remaining half of the liquor profits, amounting to $593,842, will be credited to the consolidated revenue fund. The position of the municipalities is better to the extent that out of their share of liquor profits for the six months ending September 30, 1922, amounting to $511,537, they were bound under the statute to set aside one half for aid to hospitals, leaving $255,768 for general purposes, as against $415,000 this half year, under the legislation passed at the last session of the Legislature.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, reports that the total number of cattle in British Columbia at December 31 last was 105,070, but there were not sufficient cows to supply all the milk used in the province. Every encouragement is being given the industry by the minister and his officials and a marked increase in the number of cattle is looked for this year.

The provincial forest branch reports that the revenue from the sale of timber, timber licenses, timber leases and seale and royalty for April amounted to $255,776, as against $145,000 for the same month last year. Hon. T. D. Pattullo reports the timber business in a flourishing condition and predicts a banner year for 1923.

Hon. Dr. Sutherland, minister of public works, will leave Victoria in two weeks for an inspection of the highways of British Columbia, having in mind particularly the planning of $200,000 worth of settlers' roads. The minister favors the plan of encouraging settlement through the provision of adequate transportation facilities and many short roads to serve the newer districts will be constructed.

Through the instrumentality of Premier Oliver the customs of the Federal Government to charge duty on Canadian goods manufactured in Canada, but shipped to other points in the Dominion through foreign territory, has been discontinued. Premier Mackenzie King has telegraphed Premier Oliver to that effect recently.

"In a Persian Market"
Played by Princess Orchestra

A. E. Bray, Cond: "His Master's Voice" Record No. 216482

10-inch double-sided 75c

A selection in which the music tells its own story, picturing a scene in an Oriental market place. The camel-drivers approach; the cries of the beggars for "Back-sheesh", the Princess arrives, the jugglers and snake-charmers perform, the Caliph passes through, the Princess departs, the caravan resumes its journey, closing with the call to prayer from the Minaret.

If you liked "In a Monastery Garden" (No. 216224) you will be pleased with "In a Persian Market" which is by the same composer.

The Secret of a Beautiful Skin

Cleopatra knew it. That was the secret of her power. Every day her skin was thoroughly cleansed with palm and olive oils. Then as now these oils were famed for their mild, soothing, cleansing qualities.

She too used other cosmetics, but every day these were removed by thorough cleansing. In this way she was able to keep her skin smooth, firm, fresh and youthful.

Today these same oils are scientifically blended in famous Palmolive Soap. They give it mildness, wonderful soothing qualities, profuse creamy and refreshing lather.

Powder and rouge will not harm the skin if you wash daily with a mild soap. A thorough cleansing with Palmolive will tone your skin and help it do its own beautifying. Smoothness and a charmingly natural color will result.

Made in Canada

TO OUR FRIENDS AND RELATIVES IN CHINA

"When any of our friends are coming to Cuba we feel they will get best service and treatment if they use Canadian Pacific ships and trains by way of Vancouver and Montreal. Medical and immigration inspection takes place in comfortable rooms in Montreal where Chinese passengers are given every attention. In case of any sickness they have the case of both a Government and Canadian Pacific doctor.

"Canadian Pacific offices in China know what papers are necessary and will give any help desired in obtaining same.

"Therefore we in Cuba strongly recommend the Canadian Pacific Line to our friends in China on account of fine service on large fast ships and good treatment for Chinese passengers."

It is stated that the Premier Mining Company, in which Messrs. Trites, Wood and Wilson, of Fernie, are big shareholders, will advance a quarter of a million dollars to finance the development of the Babine mining property, near Smithers. The money is to be used for the installation of a concentrating plant and working expenses generally.

Rigid censorship of moving pictures is being urged on the Provincial Government, by the Victoria police commissioners. The board is taking its fight direct to Attorney-General Manson, with the suggestion that there be three censors for B.C. instead of a single censor with assistants. The public is strongly against the exhibition of crime pictures.

Coast dispatches say that the Fernie men interested in the Premier Mine are reported to have advanced $250,000 for the development of the Babine-Bonanza property on Babine lake north of Smithers on the G.T.P. The money, it is stated, is to be used in the erection of a concentrator. The Babine-Bonanza, which is owned by the Babine-Bonanza Milling and Mining company, has been developed for several years by James Cronin of Spokane. It embraces 300 acres of crown granted land. In a recent statement Mr. Cronin declared that the ore runs 40 per cent. lead, 20 per cent. zinc and 80 ounces of silver to the ton.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this opportunity of thanking my friends and neighbors who were so kind to me during my recent sad bereavement.—Mrs. John Brown.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mary Ann Low, wife of Wm. Thornton, Sr., who departed from this life, May 6, 1919.

A tender memory thy face,
Yet in this heart of mine there blooms a flower.
Of Love, once planted by thy hand,
It shall eternal live, then—for an hour.
Remembered still thy smile,
And eyes—filled with a tender love,
For even me; thy lips that muted now,
Whispered of Hope and of that Life to be.
Ah! night winds, gently!
See, she sleeps!
And, sleeping, smiles the tender smile I knew;
Rustling leaves disturb her not.
She sleeps!
More soft! thy restless murmurings subdue.
Rest on, dear heart!
I'll guard and watch thee well,
Through endless time, nor leave thee for another,
But tend thee every hour as thou did'st mine.
Sleep deep—I'll keep my faith, with thee,
My Mother!

Mr. Thomas Webster Herne, who has been Government Agent at Fort George for the past eleven years, has been promoted to the charge of the Prince Rupert Agency. Mr. Herne entered the Provincial service in 1907 as a clerk in the Nelson Agency. Two years later he was appointed Assessor at Hazelton and in 1911 he was promoted to be Government Agent at Fort Fraser on the opening of offices there. He moved to Fort George during the summer of 1912, and has since been administering the numerous duties attached to that extensive Agency. Mr. George Milburn will succeed Mr. Herne at Fort George. He entered the service in 1911, being appointed clerk in the Fort Fraser office under Mr. Herne when it was opened. In the following year he was appointed Mining Recorder at Fort Fraser. After a year in the Hazelton Agency he was appointed Government Agent at Quesnel in April 1914 upon the Government headquarters in that district being moved from Barkerville. In 1918 he was transferred to Clinton as Government Agent in the Lillooet District. In line with Hon. John Hart's policy of centralizing the work and effecting economies, the office at Clinton is being reduced to the status of a sub-agency and will be in charge of Mr. R. J. A. Dorrell, who has been employed in that office for the past ten years and is thoroughly acquainted with the district.

Prospects are bright for a new road in the Bella Coola district from Clayton's bridge to the cannery wharf. The road would be through heavy rock work and would cost possibly $28,000. But as it appears essential to the development of local industries, the Department of Public Works is considering calling for tenders for construction.

Donohue and Kayser's tender for the embankment at dam bridge at Quesnel has been accepted. The fill will cost $3500. In addition, six 60 foot King truss timber bridges will be constructed, and tenders will be called for shortly.

Important repairs to bridges in the Nelson and Trail districts will shortly be undertaken. Replanking of decking and repairs generally will be done on the Granite Road bridges near Nelson, and the Kootenay River Road.

Day labor will be employed on the reconstruction of a small bridge over Cedar Creek, Kamloops.

Protection work and renewal of decking will be done by day labor on the McCormack bridge, Slocan.

Rivers in the Trail district will be well patrolled this spring to keep them free from logs and debris during high water. Day labor will be employed on protection work for the bridge on Yellowstone road over the Salmon River at Salmo.

D. S. Rashleigh has been appointed deputy registrar of Supreme and County Courts at Cranbrook in place of R. S. Johnston, who has resigned.

Dr. Connolly will be the new medical health officer at Salmon Arm.

William J. Potts, of Cape Mudge, a veteran pioneer of this province has been admitted to the Old Men's Home in Victoria to pass his declining years free from care and want.

Removal of logs and protection work will be done by day labor in the Columbia district. The sum of $275 will be spent on the Wait-a-bit bridge.

Considerable roadwork will be done this summer on the Rossland-Christina Lake highway. It is also probable that the highway between Creston and Goatsfell will receive attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Creelam, who were married recently at the coast, will make their home in Anyox after the honeymoon.

Agriculture, mining, and logging are prosperous in the rapidly growing Ottasa Lake district, states C. V. Harrison, one of the earliest settlers, now visiting the coast.

C. J. Aman, of Revelstoks, has been appointed mining recorder there.

Installation of a gold dredge in Gold Stream near the confluence of French Creek, Big Bend district, of which Revelstoke is the centre, is proposed by the California-Canadian Dredging Company. E. E. Moore, of San Francisco, has secured leases.

"YOU NEVER CAN TELL" AT THE GRAND ON MAY 24

The eighth annual performance of the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia is one of the most interesting events in prospect. On May 24th at the Grand Theatre, at 8:15, under the auspices of Mount Fernie Chapter I. O. D. E., these players will present the witty, G. B. Shaw comedy in four acts, "You Never Can Tell."

This group of capable amateurs has won fame and recognition beyond that usually accorded to college performers. By intelligence and careful training they have deservedly won the confidence of the Vancouver public, and that of some fifteen other places in the province where the play goes each year on tour. Those who saw "Mr. Pim Passes By," "Sweet Lavender," or "Green Stockings" will need no urging to attend the performance of the Shaw play.

In the cast there are three of the seasoned players, Betty Somerset, and Messrs. Jack Clyne and Neil McCallum. Others playing important parts are Beatrice F. Johnson and Beth McLennan, who have appeared in the private performance at Christmas; Messrs. Percy Barr, Fraser Lister, Charles Robson and E. C. Chamberlain complete the cast.

Greater safety and efficiency in the railways will benefit the people of B.C. through the certificates now being issued bringing all industrial railways operating in the province, under the B. C. Railway Act. There are 80 companies operating in this province, covering approximately 690 miles, excluding the P.G.E. and the B. C. Electric Railway. The new act will greatly aid in the prevention of accidents and the reduction of liability of claims under the Workmen's Compensation Board. The Department of Railways is presided over by the Hon. J. D. McLean, and has three inspectors making inspections continually.

The total value of gold shipped from the Yukon Territory during the twelve months ending November 15 last was $1,028.805, as against $1,251,454 during the previous year. Lack of water and mechanical difficulties are responsible for a large measure of the decrease. Encouraging reports are being received from the silver camp at Mayo, the output during the past winter being estimated at nearly 7000 tons of high grade ore, while more than double that quantity is already blocked out for future operations.

Coal mining in Nova Scotia shows considerable activity, the mines at New Glasgow having operated full time during March. In Alberta the coal operators are making a considerable efort to introduce their product into Central Canada and several experimental shipments have already been made to the Ontario market. In this connection it is of interest to note that the total volume of coal available for consumption in Canada in 1922 was 27,482,300 tons, a decrease of 14 per cent. below the average for the three years 1919-1921. The greater part of this decrease was due to the restricted importations from the United States, which amounted to 14,255,600 tons, as against 18,634,000 tons for the three-year average. In spite of the difficulties under which coal mining was conducted during the last year, Canadian production fell only 2 per cent. below the three-year average, and if labor conditions remain favorable and the market for the domestic product continues to expand, the prospects of the Canadian coal industry should be reasonably bright. The chief problem, especially in the case of the Alberta mines, is to reduce operating costs and to obtain, if possible,, some concession from the railways in the matter of freight rates.

American rubber magnates are reported to be making a survey of Mexico with the object of establishing plantations that would make their industry independent of the alleged British monopoly. Should Henry Ford be elected President he might stretch a point and recognize Mexico for business reasons.

500,000,000 Miles of Service

OVER 500,000,000 miles of service obtained by more than a hundred thousand owners of Studebaker Light-Six cars, have conclusively proved the sturdiness and dependability of the Light-Six.

Its fuel economy has been demonstrated by 27 world-wide tests, through wihch an average of 26.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline was established.

Its flexible six-cylinder engine furnishes an abundance of smooth, overlapping power—instantly responsive to the touch of the throttle. Vibration is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor—made possible by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. In no other car selling for less than $3000 in Canada, are the crankshaft and connecting rods completely machined.

The value of the Light-Six is high, because it is manufactured complete by Studebaker, thus eliminating parts-makers' profits.

The buyer can feel secure in his purchase of a Light-Six, because it is backed by Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for honest value and fair dealing.

New steel body. Upholstered in genuine leather. One-piece windshield with attractive cowl lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Large rectangular window in rear curtain. Curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Thief-proof transmission lock. Standard non-skid cord tires.

THANKS TO NANCY

The unselfishness of cooks is an ever-increasing source of wonder here in our offices. An enquiry comes for a recipe and fully 50 per cent. of those who comply with the request sign as "Nancy," so we can only express the thanks of the enquirer and ourselves through the newspaper.

Your recipe made scones, "better than he ever ate," and she made them with Pacific Milk, as you suggested.

Again, let us thank "Nancy" for her kindness to a girl who is endeavoring to make a home.

B. C. ITEMS OF INTEREST

Indicative of the industrial and agricultural development of B. C. is the announcement of the opening of new post offices at [illegible]witt, West Kootenay, with Mr. Blewitt in charge; and at Harrogate, Columbia Valley, Thomas Alton, postmaster. The office at Thurston Harbor, Queen Charlotte Isles will be reopened with Wm. Harker in charge.

Hon. Dr. McLean, minister of education, announces an essay competition in B. C. schools on "Our Forests and Why We Should Protect Them." There will be forty-eight prizes.

Mr. J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., M.P.P., will go to London in June in connection with the B. C. appeals before the Privy Council. Authority was granted at the last session of the legislature for Mr. Farris to represent the province. B. C. is interested in two cases before the Privy Council and there may possibly be a third. The court of appeal has granted leave to appeal to the Privy Council in the case of Lee Mong Kow v. Registrar General, which has reference to a claim against the assurance fund of the province.

Instructions for more rigid censorship of pictures have been issued by Attorney-General Manson who has arranged a conference with the film managers to discuss this important phase of public welfare.

Application for clemency on behalf of persons convicted for infractions of the liquor act have been numerous lately, but are receiving little consideration from the Attorney-General.

Further improvement in the number of returned men absorbed into industry is noted in the past week.

The aid of B. C. authorities has been asked to assist in putting a stop to the smuggling of liquor across the boundary for bootlegging purposes in Alberta.

B. C. chicken farmers have achieved scores over other provinces according to the official report on Canadian egg records. B. C. has also the lowest chicken mortality.

Efforts are being made to induce President Harding to make an official visit to Vancouver when on his way to Alaska about July 1.

A buyer from Hong Kong is in B. C. to select high class bulls for dairy stock breeding. Prof. W. T. McDonald will take him round B. C. farms.

Complete reorganization of the B. C. Horse, cavalry unit, will be undertaken by Lt. Col. G. S. Pragnell, D. D.O. It is intended to bring the squadron up to full strength.

The whole question of the fisheries may be opened up between the United States and Canada. The matter is of great importance to Prince Rupert and elsewhere on the coast of B. C.

Dr. W. T. McDonald, provincial livestock commissioner, is inspecting dairy herds in the Fraser Valley. He says there is not enough milk to supply the needs of B. C., and it is probable that steps will be taken to encourage dairying.

B. C. will have the opportunity of tendering three million feet of lumber for a San Francisco firm of brokers who want it for delivery in the Hawaiian Islands. Owing to the high price in the United States attention is being attracted to the Canadian lumber market.

A Californian firm is making enquiries for fertilizer to ship from Western Canada to the Orient.

B. C.'s mining production during the past year is estimated more than thirty-five millions.

A. D. (Cowboy) Kean will stage the great wild west show at the Vancouver Exhibition this fall. He will bring in 65 head of livestock from his northern ranch.

A bill to limit the importation of liquor into the wet provinces of B. C. and Quebec passed its third reading in the House of Commons this week. Sir Lomer Gouin, who introduced the bill, said it was aimed to prevent bootlegging by prohibiting the importation of liquor by private persons. Hon. Mr. Manson, attorney-general of B. C. has declared that the Senate alone was responsible for border liquor-running out of B.C. because it failed to give the province the power to prohibit as well as regulate the liquor traffic.

Clay from Port Haney will be used in the new pottery being established by C. E. Joseleyn in Vancouver.

SWISS ALPINE YODLERS

"A Program Coming all the Way from Tyrol, Switzerland."

The Fiechtl Yodlers have delighted and surprised audiences all over this whole continent. They have the distinct honor also of playing before three Presidents—Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt. Mrs. Fiechtl is reckoned to be one of the most perfect yodlers in Switzerland; Mr. Kuester is an altogether unique entertainer, his programme bubbles over with wit and humor, and his basso is simply wonderful. The Misses Elsie and Anna, the contralto and soprano, will give yodle songs and calls in the beautiful and inimitable Swiss mountain fashion which will thrill you long after the Swiss Alpine Yodlers have left your community.

IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT YOU

The Salvation Army annual Self-Denial effort will be held from May 14 to 19.

The multiplicity of charitable operations conducted by the Salvation Army are unquestionably "impossible without you" and your practical help.

Some of the branches of Salvation Army work in Western Canada that will receive assistance through the Self-Denial appeal, are:

1. Children's Homes, where many children are annually cared for.

2. Rescue Homes, which are established in all large centres. During the past year 259 girls were sheltered in our western homes and were later helped to recover their place in society. A girl is admitted into the home whether she has funds or not. The ages range from 12 years up. Many are not bad, but often more sinned against than sinning. Many come from small towns and rural districts, seeking seclusion in their shame in the city where they are unknown. 85 per cent. of the girls thus received are restored and never return to the old life.

3. Maternity Hospitals. Operated in all large cities, each of these is a training centre for nurses. During the past year 1570 babies were born in our maternity hospitals in Western Canada.

4. Detention Home (West Kildonen). Delinquent girls are sent here by the magistrate, instead of the jail, in case of first offence, thus saving them from the stigma of a prison sentence and giving them a chance to make good.

6. Prison Work. Every prison is visited. During the past year 629 meetings were held with prisoners, 325 were sent to employment and 955 met on discharge and assisted to find work. In all larger cities an Army officer attends court every day, ready to give a chance to first-offenders or others. Many of our women officers serve the community as police matrons.

9. Filed and Evangelistic Work. The filed officer does not only preach the Gospel on the street and in the hall, but is always ready to serve, from the chief official of the district to the most degraded tramp on the street.

The Salvation Army has a large foreign mission field through which thousands of heathens have been won for Christ. True sympathy and practical sorrow bear sacrificial insignia. What is the value of your spmpathy in hard cash? Canvassers will be at work next week and should you be missed, another chance will be given on Saturday, May 19, when a tag day will be held to wind up the effort. Show your practical sympathy by giving generously.

ANTO ROAD TO THE COAST WITHOUT CROSSING INTO U.S.

CRESTON, B. C., May 7.—Thursday's press dispatches from Victoria announcing that almost $1,400,000 has been definitely appropriated for road and bridge construction and repairs in the province this year. brings also assurance that approximately $40,000 will be spent on the diversion at Arrow Creek and a new 16-foot road into Kitchener, upon the completion of which the transprovincial highway all through the Crow's Nest route will be in the best possible shape for tourist traffic, and that westbound autoists will be able to travel through Canada en route to the coast instead of, as in the past, dipping south at Yahk. All the surveys for these two new pieces of highway were made two years ago, so it is expected contracts will be let immediately and the work completed in time to make comfortable the travelling of the late summer tourist.

Health turns the clock backward

SCARLET FEVER WEAKENS KIDNEYS

Weekly Health Talk No. 16-A
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

Scarlet fever invariably leaves its victims with after effects that are often less painful but more to be feared because of their weakening effect on the every day health of the victim. Weakness of the kidneys frequently develops after scarlet fever.

Life, when it functions 100 per cent. in any organ of the body, means health and vigor. It is the nervous system, radiating from the brain out through the openings of the spine, that keeps the body in healthful balance. When there is weakness of the kidneys it is due to interference with the transmission of mental impulses over the spinal nerve line to the kidneys. Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove this interference and restore the conditions of health.

Kidney Weakness Turns to Health

"All regular physicians whom I consulted about my case, called it a breaking down of the kidney cells. In time, they said, I would have no kidneys. This condition was shown by analysis of urine. I began chiropractic spinal adjustments, and to test results, had a urine analysis once more and found all trace of albumen and evidence of tissue decay had cleared up. Today I am entirely well."

Irving A. Sievert, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1097H.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the City Council took place last evening with all the members present.

The minutes of meeting held May 3, were read and adpoted.

S. Herchmer appeared before the Council on behalf of the Doctors interested in the Fernie Hospital and demanded a sum, amounting to about $2800.00, being amount due the hospital under the Act from monies received by the City during 1922. He stated that unless the City took immediate steps to pay this money he would enter action on behalf of his clients.

The matter was discussed at considerable length. Mayor Henderson and Ald. J. S. Irvine were opposed to paying this money over without receiving legal advice on the matter. The Mayor stated that while the Fernie Hospital was undoubtedly a public institution under the act, that they had been informed by Premier Oliver and two Cabinet Ministers that the intention of the act was that the money was only intended for Municipally owned hospitals. Ald. Douglas said that so far as he could see, if this institution came under the act as a public hospital, they had no option in the matter, but to pay over the money. It was decided to draft a letter asking legal advice on the matter.

R. Phillips appeared before the Council, asking for a sewer extension of some 700 feet, in the Fernie Annex. He said the extension would reach the property of at least nine different citizens who were keenly interested in the matter. Mayor Henderson informed Mr. Phillips that the matter would be given every consideration.

A permit was granted Mrs. J. D. Quail for the erection of a garage at the rear of their store property, but the Council want it distinctly understood that this is the last permit that will be issued for buildings of this nature in the fire limits.

The City Clerk read several telegrams and letters re iron pipe which is in transit from Toronto. Three cars are expected to arrive within a few days. As the shipping company had paid no attention to a request that the G. N. be given 50 per cent of the freight, the City Clerk was instructed to wire them again in the matter.

A communication from L. J. Willis, Supt. of Education, re a civic grant to the separate school, was received. The letter stated that Board of Trustees had no authority to pay out money for schools other than public.

Ald. Aiello thought that the Council could make a donation to the school, the same as to the band or the Salvation Army. Most of the Aldermen were of the opinion, however, that it would be a bad precedent to establish and the City Clerk was asked to take the matter up further with Victoria and see if some definite information could not be secured.

J. Anderson's offer of $30 for a grazing permit on the park lands was accepted. It was also decided to try and sell the hay on the enclosed park land.

A large number of accounts were passed.

The City Clerk reported that it would cost $146 each, to insure the city trucks, against loss other than by fire or theft. The matter was left in the hands of a committee with power to act.

The matter of the swimming tank came up for discussion and it was given the six months' hoist.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE HELPING HAND

"The splendid work in behalf of the disabled and dependent performed by the G. W. V. A. in the matter of the pension charges, as appears from the report of the Royal Commission, should provide food for thought to many thousands of ex-service men throughout the country.

There are many who will feel the twinge of conscience, in that while they have benefited by the work of the organization, and have accepted its service and aid for the adjustment of their own particular claim, their gratitude has not gone even the short length of taking out a membership in the association.

The percentage of non-membership service given in this province is fully 90 per cent. of the total cases; which means that the association 's stunting its growth to a large extent through giving free service to many hundreds who could and should be members."

The 'Manitoba Veteran' makes this pertinent observation.

MRS. WATSON'S CONCERT AT COAL CREEK PLEASING

Coal Creek residents and a great number of music lovers from Fernie were enabled to spend a most enjoyable evening on Wednesday, May 16, when Mrs. Watson, of Fernie, and her pupils gave vocal selections to a large and appreciative audience in the Coal Creek Club Hall.

Encores were frequent for the singers and also for the instrumental items given by the assisting artists.

Mr. J. Taylor acted as chairman and explained the worthy object for which those participating had so kindly given their valuable services.

After the concert, Mr. Lee asked for a vote of thanks for the artists, which was heartily and unanimously given.

Mr. Johnstone then entertained to refreshments all who had taken part in the concert.

The program was as follows:

Song. Mrs. Kirkpatrick: "Cupid at the Fair."

Song. Mrs. Owen: "Roses in June."

Duet. Messrs. Owen and Macdonald: "Come to The Fair."

Song. Mrs. Jack Caufield: "Lullaby From Jocelyn."

Piano selection. Miss Ingram.

Song. Miss Charlebois: " A May Morning."

Song. Miss Duncan: "Valley of Laughter."

Song. Mr. Macdonald: "Song Of The Bow."

Violin selection. Mr. A. Watson: "Irish Melodies."

Song. Miss Anderson: "Blacbird and Throstle."

Song. Mrs. Owen: "The Floral Dance."

Song. Mrs. Osborne: "The Blackbird."

Piano selection. Miss Charlebois.

Song. Mrs. Lawes: "Il Bacio."

Song. Mrs. Watson: "Sing Sweet Bird."

Duet. Mrs. Lawes and Mrs. Kirkpatrick: "Spring."

In a geography test in an eastern college all but one of the students fell down on the question: "What was the largest island in the world before Australia was discovered?" The answer was "Australia."

LIQUOR CASE DISMISSED

A rather intricate case was heard before Stipendary Magistrate Henderson on Friday and Saturday last, when Howard W. Brown, of Roosville, was charged under the Indian Act with having liquor on an Indian reservation. Brown, who gives his present ocupation as that of "common carrier," has for some time been engaged in transporting shipments of liquor for export from Fernie and Elko for furtherance to American points in Montana. On April 23rd last, while waiting with an automobile load of ten cases of intoxicating liquors, in front of the Canadian Customs house, within 600 yards of the U. S. boundary, he was placed under arrest by Constable Tutin, of the R. C. M. P., and the liquor placed under seizure. The legal battle in this case arose over the fact that the highway upon which Brown's car was located when he was arrested, according to the prosecution, is part of the Tobacco Plains Indian Reservation No. 2, and at no time has there been any transfer of title to the provincial government or anyone else of the said land.

"I can't see there is any other conclusion to arrive at but to declare this as a public highway. There may be some technical point with reference to this old map, 35 or 37 years old, but everybody has recognized this as a public highway and the Indian Department has never taken any objection to it being used as a highway or work being done on the road. The provincial government has recognized it as a highway, and I think it would not be in the spirit of British fair play and justice to declare otherwise now. I therefore dismiss the case and instruct that the liquor under seizure be returned."

Counsel for the prosecution intimated the likelihood of an appeal from this decision, and requested that the liquor under seizure be held by the authorities until the time allowed for entering an appeal has elapsed. This was granted by the court.

One of the witnesses for the defence, when asked by the court as to the present principal use of the disputed road, replied that his opinion was it was chiefly for bootlegging.

M'RAE SCORES GOVERNMENT

The new Provincial Party made its debut to a sparsley attended Fernie gathering in the Grand Theatre on Monday evening. The audience, which trekked in during the opening remarks of the chairman, seemed to come as a matter of curiosity rather than on a mission of public welfare. This slovenly spirit on the part of the public of the province, as explained by the different speakers during the evening, was the reason for the formation of this new party, in an effort to check the loose rein evident by the ruthless extravagance of the party in power as exhibited by the state of affairs of the province at present.

The speakers of the evening, Gen. A. D. McRae, chairman of the organization committee, Mr. G. B. Stewart, of Nicola, and Mr. Nixon, labor man of Vancouver, were introduced by the chairman, Mr. D. H. Telford, who had known Gen. McRae in a business capacity for the past twenty years. Mr. McRae is head of a big lumbering concern.

The first speaker, Mr. Stewart, extended a welcome to the ladies present, and commending them on the interest they are taking in the affairs of the province. He then outlined the origin of the new party, claiming the the business of the province was not being carried on within its budget, expenditure is exceeding revenue, consequently a huge debt has been piled up, and general mismanagement was evident. This spurred on the farmers to sponsor this new party and a convention, inviting the laborer, business man, railroader, etc. was called in Vernon in January and an organization committee formed with a big convention to take place in the fall. The party extended invitation to all who wished to join in this political house-cleaning crusade, and this widespread feeling of much needed action resolved itself into this party, not in a political sense, but as a protest against the misrule of the older parties. "Oliver calls us the Purity Party," he said, "and God knows there is plenty of work for such a party."

Gen. McRae, following Mr. Stewart, added to the reasons for a new party, scoring the government and opposition for mismanagement, claiming that rebirth of political righteousness is what is needed.

He then delved into some figures. Pointing to the financial condition of the province he gave the debt at $80,614,628, an increase of 300 per cent. in 6 years while the population increased 30 per cent. in ten years, this with a borrowing power authorized, of $15,500,000, will increase the total indebtedness to over $96,000,000. Regarding interest and sinking funds on bonds and deficit of railway operation, the taxpayer is obliged to pay annually $6,000,000 while the Pacific Great Eastern, operated at a loss of half a million last year, was responsible for squandering $45,000,000 "that isn't worth 45 cents except as scrap."

Commenting on further ruthless expenditure he severly criticized the Oliver project, Sumas reclamation, the Matsqui ditch and the University contract on the cost plus policy, which resulted in many cases, after tendered contracts were cancelled, the government were obliged to pay in excess of the original tendered prices.

He condemned the attitude of the government toward returned men on the land. "We find,' he said, "these men loaded down with a burden of debt greater than the market value of their holdings. The only thing to do is what any business man would do, acknowledge the mistakes, write off the debt and give these men a chance to make a living. Nor do we find the returned men fairly treated. Appointments are given to party supporters rather than the men who were disabled in the war."

"The mining industry needs to be put on a more favorable basis before we can get men to come in and open up our great natural resources. The pulp areas need development to attract capital, we've got to open these up so jobs may be found for every man who comes in, then we can take care of the immigration that will help us carry the burden of debt. With a ruthless cutting down of expenditure and a readjustment of revenue our province can be put on a business basis."

Mr. Nixon, the last speaker, appeared as a labor man connected with the new movement.

"It has been claimed that this party has no traditions. That's to it's credit. It has not been responsible for the over-expenditure of provincial funds to the amount of two millions yearly. The people must get in and remove the political machines, either or both —they are alike—responsible for this state of affairs."

Mr. Nixon outlined the unemployment situation at the Coast, claiming that when Premier Oliver was prevailed upon to open up construction on the Pacific Highway, which would bring millions of dollars into the province from tourists and which would relieve the unemployment situation, he put forth the claim that he had no money. While commenting on this situation he quoted Oliver as having patted himself on the back by saying he was the champion tax collector the province ever had, garnering in $18,000,000 a year in comparison with a measley $6,000,000 by any other previous.

One lady asked a couple of questions:

"What is the reason that our industries are working only a couple of days a week?"

Mr. McRae—Lack of industrial development. We have had no development to speak of since the war and markets are lacking.

2. "How are you going to increase production if they can't sell what is now produced?"

The answer involved a lengthy discussion regarding undeveloped resources and need of immigration.

Query: "What is the use of immigration when two million have left in the last ten years."

McRae—You are right. We must first keep our own boys and girls that we have raised and educated. That is a serious problem for B. C.

A final query: "Is the party wet or dry?"

Mr. Stewart—As far as the liquor question is concerned, the voice of the people must decide. If they vote Government Control, we ought to have government control of liquor not liquor control of goverment. We would put it under a non-political commission of good honest men who would handle this as directed by the people.

G. F. Johnston, J. M. Crookston, Herb Liphardt and W. Dunwoodie are motoring to Fernie from Vancouver.

MENORIAL MONUMENT

Plans for the unveiling of the Soldiers' Memorial Monument on Thursday, May 24, are now complete. Subcommittees of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction, the Mount Fernie Chapter of the I. O. D. E. and the G. W. V. A. have been co-operating whole-heartedly in the preparation.

The plans include a grand parade led by the Mounted Police, the G. W. V. A., the I. O. D. E. and the school children. The parade is to be marshalled into order at the new school play ground on Victoria Avenue at ten o'clock, and the unveiling is scheduled to take place at the Provincial Court House grounds at ten thirty.

The program commences with the singing of "O Canada" by the school children; an invocation by Rev. H. U. Oswald; and an address by Dr. Bonnell, followed by the unveiling of the Memorial and a song by massed choir of Kipling's hymn, "Lest We Forget." A general hymn, "Nearer My God To Thee," an address by Rev. Father Kennedy and another hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" follow in order. After the "Last Post" has ben sounded by the Veterans' Band, flags and floral wreaths will be deposited at the base of the monument, prior to dispersal.

Invitations have been sent to the G. W. V. A. at Michel and Corbin to be present. The committees particularly invite the attendance of all relatives of deceased soldiers, as well as fraternal organizations, etc.

NEW BRUNSWICK'S WATER POWERS

The province of New Brunswick, as shown by a recent general survey, possesses an annual water-power equivalent to 1,3000,000 tons of coal. The province contains no extensive coal areas and most of the coal for domestic and industrial use is imported. The Provincial Government has determined on a policy of water-power development and already the construction of the first paper mill is well under way. It is regarded as an essential of the power development policy that the forest resources of the province be kept clear of fire. The chief use of harnessed water-power will be the manufacture of fore oducts.

LONG-DISTANT DANCE CRAZE

Dancing Dervishes, of the Near East, who gained world-wide reputation by whirling until they collapsed, are put into total eclipse by devotees of the modern long-distance dance craze which has spread over England, France and America. Religious ecstasy inspired the whirling dervishes. Only the desire for preeminence and, possibly, for fat vaudeville contracts, inspires these up-to-date whirlers of supposedly more enlightened lands. One of them, a Cleveland, Ohio, girl, reached a record of ninety hours and ten minutes, nearly four days and nights of continuous dancing. Immediately a New York dancing academy announced a "Six-Day Dancing Contest," and both Paris and London are expected to arise to the challenge. "Of all the crazy compeititions ever invented," disgustingly remarks the New York Evening World, "the dancing Marathon wins by a considerable margin of lunacy. If the authorities are anxious to find legal grounds for stopping such exhibitions, the statutes in regard to the care of lunatics would seem obviously applicable. This blue view, however, is not taken by others of our editorial observers who turn the power of their intellects on this new phenomenon. "On with the dance!" cheerfully advises the New York Tribune, whose editor finds something flavorsome and human in the fact that "the young men and women who seek the bubble reputation even at the saxaphone's mouth, seem determined to die dancing if they can." Dancing, "long a religious rite, and now a social necessity," must run its course, this expert observer believes. "And while burglars continue to climb porches," he concludes, "and footpads to wield their blackjacks, the police could be more usefully employed than chivvying the Marathon terpsichoreans from one State to another." This last reference to the police applies to a particularly lively Marathon dance, which made Miss Vera Sheppard, of Long Island City, temporarily world's champion non-stop dancer, with sixty-nine hours of steady going to her credit. The New York World tell the story of her triumph, and of her various flights from police interference which preceded it. To quote from the reporter's account:

A weary little figure, in a draggled bathrobe, whose dimpled Irish smile was very wan, was carried off the floor of the East Port Chester, Connecticut, Cygnet Athletic Club in the arms of cheering friends yesterday afternoon at 4:10, winner of the world's long distance non-stop dancing record, just sixty-nine hours after she started dancing.

Vera Sheppard, nineteen, of No. 148 Seventh Avenue, Long Island City, the last of the ten Marathon dancers, who started out so bravely last Saturday evening at 7:10 at the Audubon Ballroom, 168th Street and Broadway, broke the Cleveland record established yesterday noon by almost three hours, having danced in three States, two halls, one private parlor and four times in a moving van, not to mention a ferry-boat.

She said she could have made it an even seventy-five. But the police decided what wasn't good enough for New York and New Jersey certainly was no good in Connecticut, and at 3:45 they ordered her to quit. Chief Justice Nedley, however, kindly extended the time to allow Miss Sheppard to make the even sixty-nine-hour record.

A small group of East Port Chester male citizens, who had been drifting in and out of the disordered, stuffy hall ever since the dancers staggered in at 2:20 Monday morning, joined the girl's footsore, delighted friends in their cheering.

The triumphal procession then concluded at the Palace Hotel, where Miss Sheppard rested before her trip back to New York and her appearance at the Audubon Ballroom at 9 last night.

For fourteen hours the dingy hall, littered with worn slippers, cigarette stubs, newspapers and soup-cans; reeking with the mingled odors of stale coffee, tobacco smoke, cold broth, chewing-gum and smelling-salts, was the scene of one of the most drab and greulling endurance contests ever witnessed.

There is nothing inspiring in seeing an extremely tired pretty girl in a worn bathrobe, dingy white stockings in rolls about scuffling felt slippers, her eyes half shut, her arms hung over her partner's shoulders, drag aching feet that seemed glued to the floor in one short agonizing step after another.—Literary Digest.

NO WAR TAX ON SHELBY FIGHT TICKETS

SHELBY, May 14. — Contrary to notices published in the press, there will be no war tax on tickets sold for the big Dempsey-Gibbons fight, as it is held under the auspices of the American Legion and the net proceeds will go for Legion uses in building a home for disabled war veterans. No income tax will be paid on the net proceeds for the same reason, except that Jack Dempsey will be called upon by Uncle Sam to hand over a part of his winnings and Tommy Gibbons in like manner., but smaller in amount. Hence the fight fan who attends the big mill at Shelby, and they will be numbered by the tens of thousands, will pay but the face value of the ticket, of $50 for ringside and so on down to $20, the lowest priced seat.

PAY ROLLS MENACED BY SLASH FI. 3

Land clearing with its subsequent slash disposal is an ever present problem with settlers in British Columbia.

It is erroneous to suppose that anyone is opposed to slash disposal for land clearing purposes. In addition to the necessity of getting the land ready for the plough: there is the fact, that so long as the slash remains on the ground it constitutes a hazard, which if ignited at the wrong time may do incalculable damage. Unregulated burning has demonstarted to the settlers in British Columbia the necessity of extreme care with fire.

Settlers on lands tributary to railroads realize that the destruction of their tie and pole timber by fire means the termination of their winter pay roll.

Year after year British Columbia settlers are reaping their crop of tie and pole timber. If a tree only contains one tie, its sale value means fifty cents. It is, therefore, obvious that the prosperity of the settler in British Columbia, depends not only on the success of his agricultural crop; but on his ability to protect his timber from fire and to give the young growth a chance. Thus will he keep his winter pay roll in perpetuity.

FORTY-EIGHT TITLES

They are looking for a candidate for the throne of Hungary. In the old days the occupant would have had forty-eight titles, descriptive of his right to rule over as many portions of the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

The Apostolic King of Hungary would not have been only that and Emporer of Austria—he would have been also the King of Bohemia, Dalmatia, Croatia and five other kingdoms, including Jerusalem. He would have styled himself also the Archduke of Austria, as if an emporer thereof were not enough. He would have claimed to be Grand Duke of Tuscany, although Tuscany has been rightly under the Italian crown for over a generation. He would have been duke of eighteen dukedoms, Prince-Count of five subdivisions, Grand Prince of Transylvanit, Margrave of Moravia, Prince of this and that and margrave of three other places, count of several other portions of townships, lord of Trieste, Cattaro and the Wendish March, Grand Voivode of the voivodship of Serbia (whatever and wherever or "whatsomeffer" that may be) and misruler of the whole outfit. Fortunately for the world, a good deal of this country has been assigned to better-loved rulers and governments and the Hungarians cannot lord it any longer over subject peoples.—Toronto World.

'Twas ever thus. The unemployed in Great Britain have been reduced to very small comparative proportions, and a strike or two comes along and upsets the whole applecart.

THEY CALLED HIM AN "OLD PILL"

THAT was years ago when he packed a terrible grouch, a mighty irritable stomach and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

The cheer that Beecham's Pills bring into a man's disposition, is the incomparable cheer of sound digestion, active liver, and the regular habits that make good health.

C.P.R. GIVE COAL RATE

OTTAWA, May 16.—A net cost of $9.90 a ton for hauling coal from Lethbridge to Toronto, was given by W. B. Lanigan, general traffic manager of the Canadain Pacific Railway, giving evidence this morning before the house committee on mines and minerals. Mr. Lanigan said his company had considered the matter carefully both as miners and as transportation people.

The basis on which his cost was worked out provided for trains of fifty cars loaded to the full capacity of forty-six tons. Mr. Lanigan said, however, that as a business man he had never cared for doing business which failed to show a profit.

A reader of the Toronto Star submits to that paper the following question on railway rates on coal:

If the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways can handle—

Crude rubber at $300 a car.
Bean oil, cottonseed oil, etc., at $300 a car.
Sago, tapioca, flour, at $300 a car.
Skins and hides, dry, $360 a car.
Sheep skins, $375 a car.
Lumber, hardwood, $384 a car.
Packing, burlap, jute, etc., $360 a car.
Bulbs, fern balls, etc., $350 a car.
Chinaware, $360 a car.
Green Coffee, $360 a car.
Canned crab meat, in cases, $375 a car.
Feathers—chicken, duck, etc., $396 a car.
Fibre—flax, jute, etc., $340 a car.
Glassware, jelly glasses, fruit glasses, etc., $396 a car.
Kapock, in bales, $375 a car.
Pig tin, $375 a car.
Paraffin wax, $340 a car.
Woodenware, $360 a car.
Wool, scoured, $300, in grease, $375 a car.
Peanuts, (subject to change), $350 a car.
Tea, in packages (subject to change), $360 a car.

Most of the above commodities moving single car lots from Vancouver to Ontario and Quebec points on import business, on which charges cover handling from steamer to cars at Vancouver and other Pacific Coast points, and this traffic has to move over the worst grades of the roads some 600 to 800 miles farther than from the coal fields of Alberta to the same territory, how much money are the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways going to lose in handling coal from Alberta to Ontario and Quebec at $450 a car or more taking into consideration that the rates shown above on the import articles apply during the whole year and are restricted to no particular dull season or otherwise, and coal movement from Alberta would be during the season when there is little or no eastbound movement? The rates from Vancouver as shown as published in Transcontinental Tariff No. 301.

If any of the readers of the Star can figure out how much the railroads will lose at $450 per car on coal, it would be of great interest to a number of Conservatives, Liberals and Progressives in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Does water competition via Panama Canal make the actual cost of hauling traffic from Vancouver to Ontario and Quebec cheaper than hauling coal from a point some 600 to 800 miles east of Vancouver, with practically all grades from the coal shipping points in Alberta in favor of the loaded movement?

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Complete reorganization of the provincial police is planned by Attorney-General Manson after hearing reports of the conference held recently between Col. J. H. McMullen, new superintendent of provincial police, and the provincial Inspectors, Dunwoodie, Owen, Fernie and Parsons.

The whole provincial policing system will be put on a semi-military basis, under a commissioner with inspectors, sergeants, corporals and constables of first, second and third classes. Men taken on the force will be known as probationers and required to pass examinations in their knowledge of police work, criminal law and kindred subjects.

Uniforming the police was recommended on the grounds that it would develop greater efficiency and tend to foster esprit de corps in the ranks. The system generally will be in many respects similar to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, though of course, the men will not be mounted.

Hon. Mr. Manson is also in favor of a criminal investigation department in connection with the provincial police, such as exists in other provinces. There would also be a coordination of the police force with the inspectorate of liquor control and the R. C. M. P.

The provincial authorities are planning to have the government lands at Point Grey laid out on a town planning scheme so that the district may develop into a model residental section. An announcement of the first sale when small parcels of the 3000 acres will be placed on the market will be made shortly.

A party of Scandinavian immigrants came west this week. They appear to be a very desirable class of settlers.

H. M. S. Curlew will visit B. C. waters in July. The ship is one of the light cruisers belonging to the American and West Indian squadron.

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, strongly recommends the efforts of the fruit growers of Vancouver Island and the mainland to organize centralized marketing. He points to what has been accomplished by the milk producers of the Fraser Valley by co-operative methods. The minister states that the provincial government intends to rigorously enforce the regulations insuring the purity of the milk supply.

The department of Geology, University of B. C. will be asked by the Vancouver City Council to give an opinion on the possibility of obtaining coal in Stanley Park.

The Ruhr situation is affecting egg production in B.C. Eggs from Holland formerly going to the Ruhr, now are sent to England, curtailing the market there. There is no need to bring eggs into B. C. yet many thousand dollars worth were imported last year.

Victor C. Dolmage will be appointed head of the Geological survey in B.C., succeeding the late Major J. D. McKenzie.

There is a growing demand for B. C. lumber on the Atlantic Coast. Exporters report a big increase over the quantity shipped last year. Lumbermen say that the Panama Canal has trebled marketing opportunities.

Nearly 200 students, the largest graduating class in the history of the University of B. C. received degrees on May 10. Seventy were women.

B. C. will have a big mineral exhibit at the Empire Exposition in London next year. Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, announces that every effort will be made to make the provincial exhibit one that will worthily illustrate the mineral resources of B. C.

Vancouver's outward grain cargoes are greater than all the Pacific Coast rivals this year, according to the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. For a nine month period Vancouver leads the total export of the ports of Columbia River and Puget Sound combined. For many years Columbia River led the Pacific Coast in wheat exports.

Women in B. C. now have their jury rights, and will be called upon to serve this year. The act provides that each woman selected must be notified and given the opportunity of claiming exemption.

Business in B. C. is improving more rapidly than in any other part of the Dominion, in the opinion of Col. A. E. Gooderam, director of the Bank of Toronto, who is visiting the Coast.

Taking one consideration with another, and reviewing the international political field generally, the world would appear to be in a more unsettled condition than ever.

We do not understand why an announcement by Great Britain that she intends to continue her historic position as queen of the seas should arouse the ire of the United States press. No such announcement has been made yet; it is not necessary.

Why You Should Use a Mild Soap

Harsh soap dries the natural oils and is apt to irritate the skin and make it scaly.

In the mild, soothing, creamy lather of Palmolive you have an ideal cleanser. It is lotion-like in its action. It soothes while it cleanses.

Artful application of rouge and powder may lend your skin the appearance of smooth freshness, but when this is washed off, what a cruel revelation!

You can easily possess a fine complexion by giving your skin proper care. Instead of putting your skin to sleep with cold creams and cosmetics, wake it up with soap and water. Cleanse each tiny pore and skin cell, revive sluggish circulation. Get rid of the blackheads which are only accumulated dirt.

Use Palmolive Soap and apply it with your two hands. Massage it thoroughly into your skin and remove with many warm rinsings. This treatment makes your skin fresh as a rose.

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

BIG CATTLE STAMPEDE IN INCE SPECIAL DRAMA

A big cattle stampede will be shown in the Ince drama special that comes to the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

To film this remarkable scene it took weeks of preparation after a personal representative of Ince had searched the State for a suitable "location" for the scene.

A cattle stampede such as few ranchers themselves have ever seen was "shot" when the big gates of a corral were thrown open and the wild steers given their freedom. The mass movement of the animals was so spectacular that many of ranch hands declared it the most exciting they had witnessed.

The cowboys who helped stage the stampede say that the scene is the most realistic portrayal of such an event ever screened.

DETAILS OF $9 COAL RATE GIVEN STANDING COMMITTEE

OTTAWA, May 15. — (Canadian Press)—Details of the $9 early summer rate on coal from Alberta points to Toronto were given to the standing committee on mines and minerals this morning by E. P. Mallory of the bureau of statistics and David Cromble, chief of transportation, C.N.R.

It was brought out that the rate was based on 1800-ton trains of box cars which were regarded as sufficiently heavy considering all the grades. Using forty-ton cars and loading them to the extreme of 46 tons, Mr. Cromble said the net cost was calculated at $8.34 a ton, as against a net cost of $8.91 on which Sir Henry Thornton's rate of $9 had been based

To a question by Hance Logan as to whether 100-ton open cars could not be used, it was suggested by Mr. Cromble that expert evidence might show that the bridges and most other parts of the track would have to be rebuilt. It was brought out that open cars were not considered feasible for carrying the Alberta coal in question on account of its tendency to disintegrate.

E. P. Mallory thought it would mean a capital expenditure of $200,000,000 to rebuild the bridges on the National system and supply sufficient large coal cars to make 5000-ton trains possible.

INTERIOR B.C. ACTIVITIES

There will be great activity this spring in repairs to bridges and trails all through the province. The Department of Public Works has authorized repairs to bridges in the Yale district including the Jackson bridge, Merritt-Kamloops road; repairs to the Quilchena Creek bridge; a bridge on the Merritt-Princeton and Merritt-Kamloops roads. Repairs will also be made in the Lillooet district on 14 Mile Creek bridge. Tenders are being called for May 31 for the construction of 1.02 miles on the Stewart-Hyder road. This will take the place of the 700 foot trestle bridge approach to Stewart. It is expected that the Federal Government will contribute towards the estimated cost of $35,000. Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, accompanied by Chief Engineer P. Philip, is leaving this week for a trip through the province to view road and bridge conditions.

Tax payers will ultimately benefit by the plans made by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, for conferences of provincial assessors when the best methods of arriving at more uniform assessments, and other problems may be discussed. The first conference was recently held at Vernon, and several assessors have since expressed their sense of the benefits they have derived, from the opportunity to talk over difficulties and exchange ideas.

Thorough repairs will be made to the Little Tahltan bridge, Stikine, Atlin district, this summer. Probably $500 will be spent on day labor.

Smith Island bridge, Prince Rupert, will be redecked and repaired this summer by day labor.

A new bridge has been authorized by the Department of Public Works, across Antler Creek on the Keithley-Barkerville trail. The creek was previously forded, but this is impossible in high water. Construction will be continued on the Quesnel Dam bridge, $20,000, the balance of last year's appropriation by the Department of Public Works, is available.

MacKay bridge will have new crib approaches and necessary river bank protection work done.

Repairs will be made and the crib work strengthened in the Coldwater River channel above Middlesboro bridge, Yale district, some of the brush mattress and rock work has been washed away. The work is already in hand by C. H. Anderson, assistant district engineer, so that the bridge will be safe at high water.

Valuable copper properties near Princeton, B.C. and the Curlew mining district, Washington, U.S.A., were auctioned in the Court House in Vancouver on May 7, for $2,000,000,000. The Canada Copper Co. mine was bought by a New York lawyer. It is believed that the property will pass under control of the Granby company.

Needed repairs to bridges in the Trail district will be made this spring by day labor under the supervision of the Department of Public Works. The bridge on the Harrop-Proctor road will be reconstructed, partly by fill and partly by new bridging. On the Nelson-Balfour road sundry repairs to bridges will be done.

The stringer span bridge, Moillet, Kamloops district, will be reconstructed this spring.

Tenders have been called for the construction of 1.20 miles of the trans-provincial highway, and improvements of 2.20 miles between Creston and Goatfell, Kaslo district.

New decking and general repairs will be made to Little Sand Creek, Fernie district, by day labor.

Gravel surfacing on portions of the Rossland-Christina Lake road, part of the trans-provincial highway, will be done by day labor, $5000 having been authorized for this purpose by the Department of Public Works.

The contract for the construction of diversions on the main trunk road, Cranbrook to Golden, has been given to B. D. Griffin & Co., of Vancouver. There will be five diversions, aggregating about 12 miles. It will be completed next October.

Work will be rushed as soon as weather conditions permit on the construction of the Kamloops-Chase road for which $10,000.00 is authorized by the Department of Public Works. Day labor will be employed.

A. B. Langlands, of Golden, has been appointed liquor vendor at that town.

Mrs. W. M. Cummings, of Alice Arm, has been appointed deputy mining recorder in succession to C. P. Riel, who resigned.

FEUDALISM RETURNS?

Progress is a peculiar thing. Man is supposed to have progressed far beyond his ancestry. From the slave to the serf and on to the free man is one line of progress. Political theorists say that man has advanced from status to contract. Instead of being born into certain privileges or disabilities, he can determine his own standing and can indeed rise. Freedom of contract is said to be responsible for this freedom from feudalism. Certain Victorian individualists used to rejoice that the British child was free to contract himself or herself to a mill operator from the very tenderest age. That is a kind of freedom which this age deplores and forsakes.

But we have gone further. In the nineteenth century the rights of the individual were said to be paramount. Every man's home was his castle; even his cellar was inviolable by dry law agents. A man could do as he pleased with his own, he could beat his wife, make a pest house of his shop and a mechanical murderer out of his factory. Self-Help by Samuel Smiles was the Bible of that age.

Does each tub stand on its own bottom today? Hardly! A householder can get his coal if he works for a certain bank or has pull through a certain society. He can go as far in politics as his lodge affiliations will permit him. Today, a man, apart from the aegis of some institution, is at a great disadvantage. He must join. It was so in the feudal age. Then each man had to have his lord, else he was a vagabond. To be free then was to be at everyone's mercy. Are we progressing toward that state of things again when the individual counts for little and the association for much?

There is this difference that then we were ruled by barons and now by committees and corporations. But the basis of society is coming to be again the common good and not the individual's good, unless his good happens to be furthered by the good of the club or class or trust to which he belongs.—Toronto World.

MAN KEEPS MOVING

The United States is learning by degrees that the age of pioneering has passed on. A man from New England recently gave an address at a school in Indiana, and went home with a story to tell. He had met one of the graduates of that school and had discovered that the boy's father was farming in Manitoba. The family had orignially moved from Kentucky to Iowa and then on to the Dakotas and Manitoba. And the son was going into Northern Saskatchewan. Of course, the pioneering did not begin in Kentucky. Back of the Kentuckians were Englishmen, who had dared to fare forth.

Man has always been on the move. The classis story has been that mankind came from Central Asia and has been moving west. Now we are told that the human race probably originated in Southern France or Spain after the ice age, and then moved eastward to Turkestan before starting west again to make things interesting for the Roman Empire.

When man ceases to move he will be very dead indeed.—Toronto World.

SAYS IT'S WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Mrs. Matthews Pays High Tribute To Tanlac For Ending Stomach Trouble

"I am so thankful for the wonderful benefits I have received from the Tanlac treatment I just want to tell everybody in Toronto about it," declared Mrs. Ellen Matthews, 104 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

"I suffered so terribly with stomach trouble and run-down condition that I feared nervous collapse. My appetite almost deserted me and even the little I did manage to eat disagreed with me, and I bloated with gas till my heart palpitated and I was dreadfully short of breath. I couldn't get a good night's sleep and was so worn out I couldn't even do my errands to the store.

"I heard so much praise of Tanlac I finally bought a bottle, and it was worth its weight in gold. Six bottles have made me perfectly well, without a sign of the old troubles I had suffered with for seven years, and my weight was increased, too. I consider it a duty to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

WHERE DO ELEPHANTS DIE?

One of the great mysteries of the natural history world is where elephants go when they die. Curiously enough the body of an elephant has never been discovered either in India or Africa. Among native races there is a widespread belief that, when the great beasts feel the end approaching, they make their way to some secret hiding place in which to die. The whole question is just as big a mystery as ever, in spite of the fact that many attempts have been made to solve the problem. The districts where elephants occur in a wild state have deen scoured in all directions in the hopes of discovering the last resting place of the huge animals, but without any result. Quite recently another determined attempt has been made to penetrate the mystery, but, up to the present, nothing of any value has been discovered. As a matter of fact the problem has more than a scientific interest to it. Any individual who is so fortunate as to find the elephants' graveyord will certainly have made a fortune. On this spot there must be a huge accumulation of ivory, a commodity which is continually increasing in value.

WHERE DOES MONEY GO THAT ACCRUES FROM CAR LICENSES

What becomes of those dollars paid yearly for automobile licenses?

The final compilation of official provincial registration statistics for 1921 shows that 463,848 motor car and motor truck owners paid an average of $16.54 each for their licenses that year—a total of $7,699,493.40. This year, with the increased number of cars registered, the total will in all likelihood be over a million dollars more. What becomes of these millions automobile owners pay annually for licenses?

Nearly all of it goes to make better roads for you to drive over. In every province except Saskatchewan and the Yukon territory the money raised from the motor vehicle license tax is applied either directly to road construction and repair accounts or to highway debenture sinking fund and interest. In Manitoba, every dollar of the motor vehicle license taxes goes into the highway debenture sinking fund or to pay interest on the debentures. In British Columbia, 97½ per cent. of all the money so raised goes directly into road construction and repair accounts. In the other provinces the expenses of collection and administration are deducted from the money so raised, and the net balance goes into making better roads—in Alberta and Ontario, directly into road construction and repair accounts; in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Quebec, into paying interest on and retiring highway debentures.

In Saskatchewan and Yukon the automobile vehicle tax fund go into the consolidated revenue of the province and the territory—the good roads expenditure in Saskatchewan being voted annually by the legislature.

While the average license fee paid by all car owners in the Dominion in 1921 was $16.54, the average in each province varied from the highest, $26.01 in Nova Scotia, to $13.43 in Saskatchewan—and only $10.60 in Yukon, where 81 car owners paid a total of $860. Ontario car owners, 206,517 of them, paid an average of $14.19 each, a total of $2,930,000.

June 10th should prove a very interesting day in the marine history of the world. That is the day on which a provision of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States is to be applied to foreign shipping.

STUDEBAKER

"Built in Canada"

500,000,000 Miles of Service

OVER 500,000,000 miles of service obtained by more than a hundred thousand owners of Studebaker Light-Six cars, have conclusively proved the sturdiness and dependability of the Light-Six.

Its fuel economy has been demonstrated by 27 world-wide tests, through wihch an average of 26.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline was established.

Its flexible six-cylinder engine furnishes an abundance of smooth, overlapping power—instantly responsive to the touch of the throttle. Vibration is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor—made possible by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. In no other car selling for less than $3000 in Canada, are the crankshaft and connecting rods completely machined.

The value of the Light-Six is high, because it is manufactured complete by Studebaker, thus eliminating parts-makers' profits.

The buyer can feel secure in his purchase of a Light-Six, because it is backed by Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for honest value and fair dealing.

New steel body. Upholstered in genuine leather. One-piece windshield with attractive cowl lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Large rectangular window in rear curtain. Curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Thief-proof transmission lock. Standard non-skid cord tires.

COAL CO. WINS FROM WYCLIFFE

	W	L	Pct.
Fernie	2	0	1000
Kimberley	1	0	1000
Cranbrook	1	1	.500
Lumberton	0	1	.000
Wycliffe	0	2	.000

The Coal Company opened their home engagements of the East Kootenay Baseball League on Sunday last by taking a one-sided game from the Wycliffe nine by a score of 9 to 1 and only for a little over-confident play in the last inning, when Wycliffe secured their only run, Ault would have secured a shut out.

A large crowd of fans braved the inclement weather to witness the opener and at times a sprinkling of rain threatened to marr the performance. The Coal Co. appeared in their new, white uniforms and christened them with a win.

The timely extra-base hitting of the Fernie squad, counting for all the runs, was a feature, and soon put the game on ice, while Ault's pitching, when no more than five men faced him in any one inning, striking out fourteen and allowing seven well scattered hits, deserved a shut out as did his work in Cranbrook the Sunday previous. On the other hand, Pennington, hurling for Wycliffe, worked hard throughout the game, but after the second inning the fighting spirit waned behind him and he was constantly in difficulty. He struck out 4 and allowed a base on balls while Ault granted a base on balls and hit one batter.

Fernie opened scoring in the third, when Bishop doubled followed by Shand who duplicated and sent Bishop across the plate with the first run of the game. Wilson then lifted a high fly to centre which the centre fielder muffed allowing Shand to score. In fifth, hits by Bishop, McTeer, Wilson and Hovan accounted for three more. Fernie secured three more in the 7th when Shand and Barger singled and McTeer tripled and scored on a double steal after Hovan beat out an infield hit. In the ninth Ault went to third when his grounder rolled through the centre fielder and scored on Bishop's sacrifice. Wycliffe secured their only run in the eighth inning, when singles by Crowe and Olderjack put a man on second and third, then Rodgers walked, filling the bases, Clarke connected for a bingle towards Bishop who evidently thought he had more time and fumbled the ball long enough for the man coming from second to reach third and Crowe scored on the play which would have retired the side. Previous to this Wycliffe did not have a man past second base.

Fernie	002 030 31x	9	13	4
Wycliffe	000 000 010	1	6	3

Batteries: Ault and McTeer, Pennington and Rodgers.

Lumberton, B.C., May 14.—The initial game in the E. K. B. B. L. for Lumberton was not featured by any spectacular playing when Cranbrook walked away with the long end of a 11 to 5 score. The score itself is not indicative of the strength of the two teams, for Cranbrook's first runs were made on errors in the first inning. After this disastrous beginning the Lumberton balltossers took a new lease on life and connected for five hits and as many runs, compared to the seven hits of Cranbrook, which team had the rough spots knocked off in several games previous to the one of yesterday.

The splendid showing Lumberton made against the strong Cranbrook team, without having had any previous practice of any kind, owing to the fact that the diamond was not completed until the morning of the game, is sufficient assurance that Lumberton will rate with the best of them in the League.

Fernie Chautauque June 1 to 7, 1923

MRS. MARIE VARNEY

London, England, is still the financial centre of the world, and from that centre comes Mrs. Varney with a wealth of knowledge for the people of Western Canada. She has travelled extensively throughout Europe and has lived for some time in Paris. Mrs. Varney has won great distinction in England as a lecturer—or rather, as a woman with a definite message for mankind. In her lecture for Canadian audiences—"The Great World Heart"—she will speak of conditions in Europe and how they effect us on this continent. The British Council writes concerning her: "Besides being a speaker of great ability and distinction, the charm of Mrs. Varney's personality is most contagious, and very heartily the British Council commend her to the British public, feeling that she has a mission for the people of the British Empire."

WHEN THE OIL IS GONE, THEN WHAT?

The United States geological survey estimates the oil reserves of the United States at 9,000,000,000 barrels, and present consumption at 500,000,000 barrels a year, which is about 100,000,000 more than is produced in this country, the deficit being made up by importations. Other authorities put the yearly consumption higher—at 600,000,000 barrels or more.

From these figures many assume that the country's oil supplies will be dipped out in about 20 years, but John R. Reeves of the Indiana geological survey says that conclusion is unwarranted; that oil will be produced in the United States for fifty years or longer, but in smaller amounts each year after the peak of production has been reached.

He predicts that the widening gap between production and consumption will be filled by increased importations and by improvements in the methods of procuring petroleum.

Meanwhile, it seems probable that the prices of petroleum products will go upward. Mr. Reeves reasons that "when the point is reached that the cost of petroleum products from wells is the same as the cost of supplying them from oil shales, then the oil shale industry will become stable and a constant and nonfailing source of petroleum products."

Rising prices for gasoline will be an incentive to inventive genius to perfect means of getting more mileage out of a gallon of gasoline, and there is the added possibility of extensive use of alcohol as a fuel for internal conbustion engines.—Spokesman Review.

A CONSUMER'S STRIKE

Sometimes workers who consider themselves insufficiently paid go on strike. Sometimes employers of labor, finding that their investment is giving them no returns, cease operations. It is common for traders to cease sending goods to unprofitable markets. The only people who do not consciously and collectively strike for better conditions are the consumers. There are occasions when they would be abundantly justified in refusing to purchase more of some commodity than absolutely necessary. It is a time like this when the price of raw sugar, and consequently of all kinds of sugar, is extravagantly increased by agreement of certain persons in control of a large part of the world supply. This arbitrary action, which is declared to be illegal, and is certainly dishonest, has no economic justification, though it is made possible by a market situation. The United States Government is meeting it by prosecution. The people of the United States and other countries can give their best assistance by refusing to pay the price. Those refiners who are not parties to the conspiracy, the wholesale and retail traders, and the consumers could by co-operation, break down this plot in a few weeks.

A Senator from the Prairies has joined a member of the Nova Scotia Legislature in silly talk about secession. Are the members of the Canadian Confederation becoming childish? Whenever times become temporarily difficult the conditions are attributed to some alleged injustice on the part of the federal authority. As a rule the troubles of a province, like the troubles of an individual, are self-wrought.

Besides the league schedule there are the Mutz, Crahan, Cooper and U. M. W. A. cups, all of which will provide the fans with a very lengthy program this season.

The executive have, with the kindly assistance of several of our business townspeople, been able to wipe off the deficit carried over from last year, and have also been promised further donations to help to give the club a fairly good start away on their season's schedule. The club is also promoting a grand prize drawing for the purpose of augmenting the funds, and a grand rally is planned for this week-end, the drawing to take place a few days later, so Mr. Fan if you have not already taken a chance, don't forget to do so now, the opportunity was never better.

The club this year have a live executive, who are out to provide you, Mr. Fan, with the best brand of football that it is possible to give with the material at their disposal, but to accomplish this we need your support.

The Crow's Nest Pass League have affiliated with the Alberta Provincial Football Association, which automatically brings them under the Dominion Association, which means that all clubs in this league will be now permitted to take part in the Connaught Cup series. The clubs all along the Crow are reputed to be very strong, especially Coleman, which we have been given to understand, have added to their roster a collection of soccer stars. They are reported to have a very strong backing this season and are out to bring the Connaught Cup to the Crow.

All those selling tickets on the Prize Drawing are requested to hand in the stubs, all unsold tickets and monies collected, to the Secretary not later than Sunday evening after the football game.

Don't forget our opening game. Kick-off at 6:15 p.m. sharp. Turn out and boost the boys along to a good start, they'll appreciate it, and give their best. The following players are requested to meet at the rooms of the Fernie Literary & Athletic Association not later than 5:30 p.m., Sunday, for the game with Blairmore:

The Four Touring

FERNIE, B. C.

The Lowest Oldsmobile Price in Eighteen Years

ALTHOUGH to-day Oldsmobile quality and performance are higher than even former Oldsmobile standards, the prices are now lower than they have been for the past eighteen years.

For a car of practical utility and distinctive appearance, no car at the price can compare with the Oldsmobile Four Touring. To fully appreciate the quality of the Four Touring you must see it for yourself—examine its appointments—ride in it—drive it.

But some conception of its unusual value may be obtained by glancing through this list of equipment:—

Drum head and cowl lamps, high-grade upholstery, walnut steering wheel and walnut finish instrument board, windshield wiper, etc.

Come in and let us demonstrate this remarkable car.

There is reason to suspect that the oil grant which the Turks are alleged to have given in Mesopotamia to a citizen of the United States was specially designed to create trouble between the two English-speaking nations. We believe the American republic was once offered a mandate over that turbulent part of Asia and incontinently refused to undertake any such responsibility.

Health turns the clock backward

What Can You Do For Flower Bed Backache?

Health Talk No. 18.
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

Having had this disease, which you will not find in the dictionary or the text books, we knew what the sufferer was talking about when the above question was asked. Flower bed backache is a sign that your soul temple, the body, needs a house cleaning. The kidneys are working feebly, you develop aches easily, and the chances are that the liver is not as active as it should be.

Flower bed backache is a form of kidney and liver weakness. The spinal bones controlling the nerve openings to the kidneys and liver are just about the centre of the back, and stooping aggravates the trouble. A few chiropractic spinal adjustments at this point will restore normal liver and kidney action and clear the system for enduring outdoor weather and exertion, without the aches and that dull and lazy feeling peculiar to the body that is not getting rid of waste products as rapidly as it should.

Back is Normal Again

"I wrenched my back and was in continuous pain. My heart and kidneys were ailing. I spent a month in the hospital. At the end of the first year I could do only the simplest kind of work. I tried chiropractic and begun to improve. I gained 17 pounds in seven weeks. Today my back is well, my kidneys are acting normally and my heart never troubles. I give chiropractic full credit."— Henry Splan, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1354C.

UNVEIL WAR MEMORIAL

The unveiling ceremony of the war memorial of this district was carried out yesterday under ideal conditions and with pleasing formality. Promptly at ten o'clock the monster parade, marshalled by Sergt. Hanna of the R. C. M. P. and headed by a troop of Mounties, left the starting point. In the procession were the following in the respective order named. Fernie Pipe Band, Boy Scouts in full dress, the school children in holiday attire, carrying flags and arranged in classes with their teachers in charge. Then came the veterans' band, directed by George Ramsay, the Veterans over 100 strong, the Women's Auxilliary G. W. V. A., the three local chapters I. O. D. E., 40 girls of the C. G. I. T., Fernie Italian Society in full regalia, and bringing up the rear were representatives of every fraternal organization in this city. The line of march was up Victoria Avenue to Gemmell Street thence to the Court House grounds. Here the positions of the various bodies were taken up as prearranged around the handsome granite memorial.

As the actual unveiling program was not shceduled to commence until the arrival of the westbound passenger the throng was entertained during the interval by a couple of musical selection. The Pipers rendered "Loch Harbor No More," while the Veterans' Band played the favorite march, "The Contemptibles."

Mayor Henderson opened the ceremony with a brief introductory address. "O Canada" by the school children, accompanied by the band, was the opening musical number. Rev. H. U. Oswald delivered the "Invocation" and was immediately followed by Dr. S. Bonnell, who made a very stirring address, being particularly instructive for the young ones as it embodied a brief historical review of the causes and incidents leading up to and bringing about the Great War. The moral of loyalty and self-sacrifice of those for whom the memorial was made was clearly pictured by the Doctor.

The unveiling was performed by Dr. Douglas Corsan, while the massed choirs sang Kipling's Recessional ("Lest We Forget"). Dr. Corsan, during the Great War, was an energetic and tireless worker, and has also two of his sons "Sleeping in Flanders Field" while his eldest son, Tom, was among the first to leave Fernie for overseas. Tom was twice severely wounded but in each case went back in the fighting lines after recovering from his injuries. The singing of the massed choirs was indeed a treat, and great credit is due Mr. T. Biggs, who acted as director, and others for being able to make such a brilliant showing, considering the short period in which to prepare for this function.

Rev. Father Kennedy was the concluding speaker and inspired his hearers with a sparkling and forcible gem of oratory.

The impressive ceremony was brought to a close by a choral number, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," the National Anthem, the sounding of the "Last Post" by the bugles and the deposition of flags and wreaths, of which there was a gorgeous abundance of the latter.

"THE STRANGERS' BANQUET" AT ORPHEUM

Marshall Neilan's first production in association with Goldwyn will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. This is "The Strangers' Banquet," from the novel by Donn Bryne, which Mr. Neilan purchased several years ago, but which he found himself in a position to film only since his recent alliance with the Goldwyn company, needing for its production all the technical and mechanical facilities that the great Goldwyn studios could supply. It has proved to be Neilan's most ambitious effort thus far.

Probably no more famous aggregation of screen talent has ever been gathered together for a single picture than was engaged for this one. Many of the names in the cast, which numbers about forty, are of themselves sufficient to draw big audiences. Hobart Bosworth was persuaded by Neilan to stop work temporarily on his own pictures in order to assume the role of the old ship-building genius, Shans Butler Keogh. Claire Windsor, one of the most beautiful leading women of the screen is seen as the daughter, Derith Keogh. The always popular Rockliffe Fellowes plays opposite Miss Windsor as Angus Campbell, son of Keogh's best friend.

Then there is Nigel Barrie as John Keogh, Derith's irresponsible brother; Eleanor Boardman as his extravagant, flirtatious wife; and Thomas Holding as a fanatical labor agitaor, who adds to Derith's troubles at the shipyards. Among the others in the cast are Stuart Holmes, Claude Gillngwater, Eugenia Besserer, Aileen Pringle, Philo McCullough, Dagmar Godowsky, Ford Sterling, Arthur Hoyt, Brimsley Shaw, James Marcus, Edward McWade, Tom Guise, Margaret Loomis, Hayford Hobbs and Lucille Ricksen.

Mr. Neilan was assisted in the direction by Frank Urson, who also collarborated with him on the continuity, and Tom Held. The photograuhy was by David Kesson, and the art directin in charge of Cedric Gibbons.

The little girl was carried to the hospital where she is doing as well as can be expected.

Fernie Junior baseball team defeated the Michel Juniors by a score of five runs to one in an exhibition game played here last Sunday. The game was exceptionally fast, only taking one hour and forty-five minutes. The boys put up a fine brand of ball and deserve the support of baseball fandom. The batteries were: Michel, Sadlish and Kozler; Fernie, Sikora and Poynton.

In the baseball tournament held at Cranbrook in connection with the G. W. V. A. Empire Day celebration, Wycliffe captured the prize money by defeating Kimberley in the morning game by a score of six runs to two. Wycliffe met Cranbrook in the final game and staged a ninth inning batting rally, scoring four runs in this inning to win by a score of four runs to three.

The cleverest pet.

Dress yourself up in any costume. Be a little negro, an Indian, a Jap, an Esquimo or a Hindu. The boy or girl who makes the best musical instrument to carry in the parade is to get a free Chautauqua ticket.

Chautauqua time is here. Talented musicians, popular inspirational lecturers and artists of every kind will entertain you at eleven different concerts.

The Swiss Alpine Yodlers have been brought from Switzerland because of their wonderful ability in mountain yodling. They also play their national musical instrument, the zither. You will be delighted with their program.

Mrs. Mary Varney has just completed a tour of France, Germany and Belgium, where she has been studying present day affairs. She has given thousands of brilliant lectures to British Chautauqua audiences. In "The Great World Heart" she will discuss the social, political and financial condition of Europe.

Sam Grathwell is a real optimist with a message which will be an inspiration to every one who hears him. At seven years of age he was only a bootblack, so he speaks from experience on "Getting by Your Hoodoo."

The Florenz Orchestral Quartette will give a wonderful entertainment of vocal and instrumental music. They are four talented artists who will sing, give pianologues and play the violin, 'cello and piano.

You have all heard of the Calgary Kiddies. They are eight children trained by Miss MacDonald in the Academy of Fine Arts. The kiddies are all stars and no big entertainment has been put on in Calgary without them. On their first showing at Ladner, B. C. last Thursday evening, the people of the town were so delighted with their program that they sent Mayor Webster of Calgary the following telegram:

"Calgary Kiddies opened Chautauqua season here tonight. Audience taken by storm. We felt we must hasten to congratulate Calgary on this wonderful production. Chautauqua would be advised to return this act next year.

GAME INCREASE IN JASPER PARK

Indications of a continued rapid increase in the number of big game animals as a result of sanctuary conditions in Jasper National Park are contained in recent reports from the superintendent. Guides grazing their pack-horses in the Buffalo Prairie region of the park are finding difficulty in securing sufficient feed for their animals owing to the exceptionally large numbers of elk, deer and caribou, grazing in that section. As many as one hundred elk have been seen feeding there at one time while sheep and goats are also reported Captain Frank Slitzer's book, "New-numerous.

Between the great things that we cannot do, and the small things we will not do, the danger is that we shall do nothing.—Adolphe Monod.

FERNIE ALPINE CLUB HAVE REORGANIZED

Last Thursday evening a meeting was held at the offices of Drs. Garner and Asselstine, for the purpose of reorganizing the Fernie Alpine Club. The club was first formed in 1912, but languished during the World War, many of the members going to the front. At the meeting on Thursday, officers were elected and a program for the coming summer outlined.

It is intended to make short excursions each week, as well as to stage three or four larger undertakings during the summer. Trips to the summits of Trinity, Proctor, Mt. Hosmer, Saddle Mountain and Coal Creek Ridge are under consideration. The construction of new boats and repairs to the cabin at Island Lake are also contemplated.

The activities will be in charge of an executive of seven, embracing Wm. Baldrey, Pres., N. F. Brand, Sec'y-Treas., Rev. Burns, Mr. Beddome, Miss Hogan, Miss M. Elliott, and Miss E. Kirkpatrick.

Applicatons for membership, accompanied by the annual fee of $1.00, may be submitted through any member of the executive.

The success of the undertaking is assured by the selection of Old Slim and Dr. Garner as official pack horses. The doctor will tote the camp stove.

INTERIOR B.C. ACTIVITIES

Another 4.24 miles of the Edgewood-Vernon road will be built this summer at an approximate cost of $58,883. This highway will ultimately link up Edgewood on the Arrow Lakes with Vernon in the Okanagan. The department of public works has awarded the contract to Messrs. Rawlings and Lebrash, of Nakusp. This firm had the contract for the four miles constructed last year from Boulder Creek to Deep Creek. There were five other tenders, the one accepted being the lowest.

Improvements to the Columbia River road in the Sheep Creek, Fernie district, will be made this summer, the department of public works has authorized $12,000 for the purpose. Day labor will be employed on this project on the part of the road leading to the Banff-Windermere road.

Repairs to the Nadina Bridge, Omineca district, built in 1911, will be made under the supervision of R. M. Taylor, district engineer, Prince Rupert. Day labor will be employed on the renewal of the Chicken Creek bridge, Omineca, at a cost of $1000. Repairs will also be made to the Bulkley River bridge, Moricetown, Omineca.

Repairs and renewals will be made to the Telegraph-Dease road, Atlin district. A grant of $8000 for the purpose has been made from the department of mines development act. The work will be done by provincial day labor.

Dr. George Hanson of the Geological survey addressed the mining bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade this week. He predicted that the Premier mine would be a centre of mining activities for some years to come. He is also optimistic over prospects for silver mining in the Alice Arm district. Though some of the properties are too small to be developed separately, he suggested that a consolidation of them might bring great results. Victor Dolmage, newly appointed Dominion geologist for B. C., and W. A. Carlisle, former provincial geologist, and later manager of the Rio Tinto copper mine in Spain, also addresed the bureau.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, and E. A. Cleveland, comptroller of water rights, are on a trip to interior points where they will inspect a number of irrigation undertakings towards which government aid has been granted. The South Okanagan settlement area will also be visited. Work being carried on at that area will, the minister says, permit another 1000 acres being placed on the market next autumn.

The new P. G. E. schedule is giving a greatly improved service to the interior. A passenger can leave Clinton on two days of the week at 6 p.m. and be back at 7:30 the next morning, thus allowing nearly five hours in Vancouver. Hon. Dr. McLean, minister of railways, has returned to the capital after an inspection trip, and is enthusiastic about the advantages of the new time table. He was acompanied by T. Kilpatrick, general manager of the P. G. E.

The Swift Current, Sask., Board of Trade has sent Hon. John Oliver a resolution endorsing his fight for equal freight rates.

The Lytton bridge at Yale will be repaired on a more permanent basis this summer by the department of public works which has authorized a grant to put all timbers on a concrete block. Day labor will be employed on the Kelley bridge, Lillooet district. Renewals will be done on the Murray bridge, Fort Fraser district. Crib work and filling piers with rock by day labor will complete the Vedan bridge, Lillooet, this summer under the supervision of G. C. MacKay, district engineer, 150 Mile House.

Needed repairs this summer will be made to the Old Bridge, Scott road, Salt Spring Island, by the department of public works.

Plans have been approved by the minister of railways covering the operation of the tap line which enables the Canadian National to reach the Coast at Cowichan. J. Islay Mutter, of Duncan, is the general manager of the Cowichan Bay railway connecting with the C. N. R. at Deerholm, a distance of seven miles.

CHENEY CONCERT COMPANY
An Unusually Brilliant and Diversified Programme.

The Cheney Concert Company consists of four superb entertainers, featuring the "White House Golden Organ Chimes." These chimes were not only specially manufactured for the Cheneys, but are the largest and best known in existence. For harmony and richness of tone they are unexcelled. As well as these remarkable chimes their programme will consist of violin, cello, piano and vocal solos, ensemble numbers, and duets and trios of the various instruments. The Cheney Company have had years of experience in building up programmes for Chautauqua. They have constantly met with popular approval and have achieved brilliant and repeated success. SUGGESTS FUTURE FOR HERCULANEUM

Next to Baia, Newport of the Roman patricians of the Augustine age, Herculaneum was the favorite watering place of that day. Under the mass of ashes and cinders that covers it still, doubtless lie the remains of temples, a splendid forum, magnificent villas and priceless art traesures. Excavations already accomplished have brought to light many rare bronzes and rich mosiacs. The matchless collection of bronzes in the Naples Museum, wrongfully attributed to Pompeii, are, in point of fact, mostly from Herculaneum.

Herculese, landing at Campana on his return from Iberia, the modern Spain, is accredited in legend with the founding of Herculaneum, in the 4th century, B. C. The destruction came in the year 63, of our era.

Modern Resina, midway between Naples and Pompeii, now stands above what was Herculaneum; and such excavations as have been made have been carried on underneath the city of today. The descent into the excavated theatre is down 100 stone steps, into a cold and damp subterranean space, in which are visible only the stone seats and the stage. With the resources at the disposal of modern engineers it is scarcely questionable that the whole of the buried city could be excavated, and a unique and wonderful underground museum, like to nothing else in the world, established. The Roman art treasures sure to be found could be left in their exact places in the villas and temples. The whole could be electrically-lighted and visitors would be attracted from all the world, their patronage more than paying for maintenance.

A dozen years ago this project was being seriously discussed. But, like many others of a more or less similar nature, it was necessarily abondoned during the war, and through the period of chaotic conditions since existing. Recently, though, consideration of it has been resumed; and the project of a remarkable subterranean museum in a city beneath a city will in time be brought to accomplishment.

TO CO-OPERATE IN FOREST PROTECTION

A meeting of the representatives of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec was recently held in the office of the Ottawa River Forest Protective Association, Limited, when plans were made for more effective methods of fire protection through the establishment of better co-operation between the two provinces in the protection of the territory adjacent to the provincial boundary line north of Timiskaming, Quebec.

The anticipated gold rush to the township of Rouyn, Quebec, will probably create an unusual fire hazard and effective methods for the protection of the district from fires will be put into effect for the season 1923. The Ottawa River Forest Protective Association projects over thirty thousand square miles in northwestern Quebec and employs three hundred fire rangers with a system of forest telephone lines and lookout towers. This system will be connected with that of the Ontario Government in the vicinity of Larder Lake. Northern Ontario. Special police will be appointed to assist the fire rangers in the administration of forest protection laws in Quebec and everything possible will be done to reduce fire losses to the minimum.

A GUIDE TO ROSE GROWING

Although most persons who love flowers desire to grow roses, many who have planted a few bushes have been unsuccessful and have become discouraged. To assist in overcoming the difficulties that gardeners sometimes find in growing roses, the Domininon Horticulturist has prepared a bulletin that deals with practically all phases of rose culture in Canadian gardens. The bulletin is entitled "Hardy Roses, Their Culture in Canada," and bears the official number 17 of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

The observation is made that certain species of roses are very easy to grow and that those who are not prepared to give the finer types the attention their beauty merits, will find in Rugosa hybrids, the Austrian briars, the Provence or Cabbage, and the Damask roses a very good assortment of roses that are hardy and of easy culture, requiring but little pruning, and not being troubled by insect and fungous enemies.

It will be of interest to learn that the Experimental Farms have succeeded in producing a very beautiful rose of unusual hardiness. It is a cross between Rugosa and Persian Yellow and has been named Agnes.

Besides giving complete instructions as to soil, planting, pruning, cultivation, winter protection, and insect enemies, the bulletin gives lists of various classes of garden roses that have succeeded in Ottawa. The following varities of Hybrid Perpetuals and Hybrid Teas have been selected as a dependable collection of reasonably hardy roses; Frau Karl Druschki, white; General Jacquemot, scarlet crimson; Her Majesty, pink; Hugh Dickson, crimson; Mrs. John Laing, pink; Mrs. R. G. Sharman Crawford, pink; Ulrich Brunner, cherry red; Caroline Testout, pink; General McArthur, bright crimson; Gruss an Teplitz, bright crimson; Lady Ashtown, pink; Lady Pirrie, coppery pink; Madame Edouard Herriot, coral red; Madam Ravary, yellow.

Liquor Board Officer Suspended After Arrest.

Suspension of George C. McLeod, chief law enforcement officer under the liquor control board followed his arrest after it was alleged Vancouver police officers heard him offer protection to the keeper of a club for colored men in exchange for a $50 bribe. He was apprehended while talking to the negro proprietor on the club premises. The officers believed him to be someone masquerading as the enforcement officer, and got the surprise of their life when they found that they had McLeod himself. McLeod is a young lawyer, called to the bar only two weeks ago. He was to have been marrier shortly. Deputy Attorney-General W. D. Carter conducted an investigation into the events preceeding the arrest, following which McLeod returned to Victoria with him.

Mixed Farming Most Profitable in West.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture in the House of Commons this week, advised the people of the west to go in for mixed farming rather than specialization. He chided western farmers for their spirit of complaining and held up for example the people of the Maritime provinces where conditions were not particularly favorable. He advocated better grades of livestock as being more profitable.

Pacific Coast Agents Investigate Arms Supply.

Secret service agents along the Pacific Coast on both sides of the line are taking steps to determine the source of supply of arms to the Chinese bandits who have been attacking Europeans in China. Some time ago the R. C. M. P. were busy in Vancouver on information that there were Chinese agents there endeavoring to arrange for the purchase of arms and ammunition.

New B. C. Geologist Comes to Province.

Victor Dolmage, newly appointed in charge of the B. C. branch of the Dominion Geological survey has a long and meritorious record as a geologist. He graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1912, and then spent two years in teaching in B. C. In 1917 he took a doctors degree at the Massachusettes Institute of Technology following which he again spent some time in B.C. before going to Ottawa in 1920.

The highway should be open for traffic about August 1.

The Vancouver harbor commission has purchased the old Carter-Coton property on Burrard Inlet for the purpose of increasing grain jetty accomodation. There is 342 feet of water frontage immediately east of the Great Northern docks. The price was $275,000, subject to the approval of the department at Ottawa. Among those interested in the property were General J. W. Stewart, Mr. McLeod and the Robert Kelly estate.

Game Board Protects B. C. Fur Industry.

The declining prosperity of the fur industry will be revived by strict enforcement of the game laws, according to Mr. Jackson, K.C., chairman of the game conservation board. Plans are being matured to encourage fox farming. There are several in the province, on Vancouver Island and the northern mainland. The cross fox is the most profitable breeds to raise in B. C.

Divorce Proceedings Carefully Scrutinized.

He was accompanied by a party of officials all of whom expressed confidence in the future of the port. Consequently they will retain the old Pender Street Terminal for future development, probably for industrial sites.

Attorney-General Leaves for England.

Mr. J. W. DeB. Farris, K. C., left for London, England, on Saturday last to appear before the Privy Council in the last round of the provinces' fight to exclude the Japanese from the forests of British Columbia. Mr. Farris commenced action to compel enforcement of the anti-Asiatic clause in the forest leases of the Brooks Bidlake Company while he was Attorney-General of the province. He personally argued the case before the Supreme Court of Canada shortly before his resignation.

Last year Mr. Farris appeared before the Privy Coucil in London and succeeded in the first of the actions on the validity of the leases, but in the second action now to be faced, the Canadian Japanese interests are raising the question to their constitutional rights under the Imperial Treaty Act passed by the Canadian Commons in 1912. Mr. Farris will also argue an appeal before the Privy Council against the imposition by the Dominion government of Customs taxation on liquor importations for the Liquor Control Board. He will contend that under the British North America Act the Dominion cannot impose the $20 a case tax on liquor brought in by the province. Millions of dollars are involved in the appeal.

NOT SICK ONCE IN FOUR YEARS NOW

Mrs. Smith Declares Health Has Been Perfect Since Tanlac Ended Stomach Trouble

"For ten years hardly a day passed that I didn't suffer from stomach trouble, but I took Tanlac four years ago and haven't had a sick day since," is the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Thamar Smith, 85 McGee Street, Toronto, Ont.

"The little I managed to eat simply tortured me with pains in the [illegible] my stomach, and gas pressed a[illegible] my heart causing it to skip beats until I thought it would stop altogether. I was as nervous as a witch, and lost so much sleep that I was dark and swollen under the eyes. I was so weak and run down I could hardly walk a block or do my housework, and was almost in despair.

"Tanlac certainly was a godsend in restoring me to such perfect health, and I think it's the greatest medicine ever made. Nearly everybody else on McGee Street seems to have used the treatment, and are praising it too."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

CAMPING GROUNDS FOR MOTORISTS

Preparations for the opening ceremony of the Banff-Windermere road over the Central Rockies are being rapidly advanced and it is expected that the new motor camping grounds near Banff as well as the other camp grounds along the road will be ready by June 15 in good time for the opening on June 30. The Banff camp situated near Mount Ruddle, when completed will be one of the best equipped in the Dominion. It will be lighted by electricity and water from the Banff system will be piped to the grounds. Culinary, lavatory and telephone conveniences will be provided. A caretaker will be in charge throughout the season and the camp will be subject to inspection by the sanitary officer. In all there will be about 250 lots for campers.

The bulk of British emigrants undoubtedly are at the present time going to Australia and New Zealand. It is to be feared that the illiberality of certain of our Canadian laws is having a prejudicial effect upon the minds of the British people, whose ideas of personal liberty are of the broadest kind.

RUM RUNNER, BANK BANDIT ALL THE SAME PERSON

HELENA, Mont., May 17.—Canada's recent decision to patrol the border with heavily armed guards to prevent entry into Canada of bandits from the American side was termed a "change of vision" by a Montana law enforcement officer today. He declared that apparently the new policy meant that the Canadian government had "seen the light" and had "come to realize that the rum runner, bank bandit, horse thief and white slaver are all the same person."

He said that he believes Canada will be able to stop brigandry from the American side over night, but that this will involve stopping of shipments of liquor into the United States.

Alleging that the Canadian government had been cognizant of the traffic of liquor into Montana from across the border, and sanctioned it to the extent of issuing customs bills for that purpose, he gave the Associated press what he purported to be a bill which had been seized. This bill provided for the export of $1932 worth of liquor by "G. N. Express-Sleigh for exportation to U. S. A., via highway direct consigned as below."

The articles were described as 22 gallons of Baorbon whisky, 50 gallons of Scotch whisky and 14 gallons of gin valued at $605, $1068 and $259, respectively.

The consignor was J. E. Dicks, Consolidated Exporters' Corporation, Limited, Fernie, B.C. The destination of the liquor was Eureka, Mont., the consignee being E. Bonstead, care of P. J. Bedner.

Anotation on the bill read, "For furtherance to Eureka, Mont. Delivery to be taken at Baynes, B. C., by P. J. Bedner then to the line via highway direct."

The situation of the Ruhr is not such as to indicate that either the Germans or the French have much hope of the latest reparation offer proving acceptable. The Germans are committing more depredations against the occupying force, and that force is likely to penetrate farther into Germany.

It is the poor fish that gets the hook. The wise fish avoids trouble by keeping his mouth shut.

Praise from the Country

Commendation from a woman who spent most of her life in the country is praise indeed, for to such cooks, cream has not been a luxury, but a necessity.

Mrs. Eleanor Rue "was raised" on a farm in Pennsylvania. She married a Canadian and came to British Columbia. Cream was such a price they could not afford it, like when she lived in the country.

"We tried different canned milks until we found Pacific and I really like it better than cream now. I never made such cakes before."

The experience of Mrs. Rue is common to many others. Pacific Milk does work better in cooking, for it is always of the same richness.

A selection in which the music tells its own story, picturing a scene in an Oriental market place. The camel-drivers approach; the cries of the beggars for "Back-sheesh", the Princess arrives, the jugglers and snake-charmers perform, the Caliph passes through, the Princess departs, the caravan resumes its journey, closing with the call to prayer from the Minaret.

One night I sat sailing a toy baloon, and hoped it would soar till it reached the moon; but the candle fell on the farmer's straw, and he said I must settle or go to law. And that is the way with the random shot; it never hits the proper spot; and the joke you spring that you think so smart; may leave a wound in some fellow's heart.

Fire broke out last Saturday evening, just before midnight, in The Valet tailoring establishment of Ross Colgur on Victoria Avenue and although the fire apparatus was on the scene promptly and with high water pressure quickly subdued the blaze, considerable damage was done. FERNIE WINS AT FOOTBALL

Before a crowd of nearly five hundred spectators, the Fernie United Football team won the opening game of the Crow's Nest Pass Football League from Blairmore at the north end grounds here last Sunday evening by a score of two goals to nil.

Fernie were exceptionally lucky to gain full points on the run of play, and it was only the exceptionally strong defense put up by Swedeberg, Booth and Wilson that saved them from defeat. The two goals Fernie scored were opportunities well taken by Tommy Joinson in the first half and it was only in this period that Fernie had a slight advantage on the run of play. In the second half, Blairmore kept the ball well into the Fernie area practically all the time, the Fernie forwards having a hard time in getting past McVey and McAndrews who proved a tower of strength in defending the Blairmore goal.

Blairmore won the toss and selected to play with the sun at their backs and for the first ten minutes kept up a heavy pressure on the Fernie goal but their finishing was weak. Finally the tide turned and Fernie came into the lime-light and following a fine combination play, Tommy Joinson got the ball just outside the penalty area and scored the opening goal with a shot which gave Whitelaw no chance. Shortly after the ball had been centred off, Hamil was injured and had to leave the field for a short time. Blairmore attacked and McVey sent in a fast shot for the corner of the net but Swedeberg got across the goal mouth and saved, a foul off Robertson close in gave Blairmore another fine chance but McVey shot past. Fernie came down on a likely raid but were pulled up for offside when Hardie was right through. Fernie kept up the pressure and J. Dugdale handled within the penalty area and Fernie was awarded a penalty. Tommy Joinson took the kick and beat Whitelaw for Fernie's second goal with a hard grounder, the ball hitting the corner of the net. From then on until half time whistle blew, Fernie maintained a continuous pressure on the Blairmore defense, forcing several corners without success.

Blairmore were early in on Fernie goal after the re-start but with an open goal before him Shevels was slow on the ball and Riley cleared. Hardie tried a long shot on the Blairmore goal but Whitelaw cleared easily. At the other end, Blairmore forced a corner and in the scrimmage in front of the Fernie goal, a Blairmore player handled and relieved the pressure. Fernie broke away and another foul against Blairmore let the Fernie forwards well in and Whitelaw had to save a couple of hard ones from Riley and Davidson in quick succession. Blairmore took up the offensive and Jepson shot in a hard one which hit the cross-bar, Rhodes rushing in got the rebound but headed over. A few minutes later Jepson again sent a hard drive for goal, but Swedeberg made a great save, catching the ball just as it was passing under the bar, and cleared. Fernie breaking away and getting well in, Hardie just skimmed the bar with a rocket. Towards the end Blairmore tried desperately to reduce Fernie's leeway but the long whistle came without further score. Result, Fernie 2, Blairmore 0.

The line up:

Blairmore—Goal, Whitelaw; Full-backs, J. Dugdale and McAndrews; Half-backs, Hamil, Jepson and Ellis; Forwards, T. Dugdale, J. Shevels, McVey, Rhodes and R. Shevels.

'OLD DUMBELLS' IN "FULL O' PEP"

The original company of Dumbells, now known as the "Old Dumbells," will appear at the Grand Theatre next Tuesday evening with a new revue which is declared to be the best offering ever presented to the Canadian public by this famous Soldier organization. The boys now operate their own company, produce all their own numbers, arrange their own lighting and scenic effects, design their own costumes and work out their own ideas entirely. "Full O' Pep," the title of their new live wire revue, has been breaking all former records of this company in every town and city in Eastern Canada. The boys are making another trans-Continental tour of Canada and will afterwards make a tour of the States and the British West Indies.

"Full O' Pep" is a new revue, entirely different from "Biff, Bing, Bang," or the "Dumbells Revue of 1922," which were both record breakers. The cast comprises the popular Canadian overseas favorites; fifteen members of last seanson's aggregation, including such famous stars as "Red" Newman, who this season is scoring his greatest triumph in "Stony Broke in No Man's Land," a number which is already creating even a greater sensation than the famous "Oh, It's a Lovely War." Arthur Holland, who is recognized as Canada's greatest and most versatile female impersonator, is offering some beautiful numbers, several of them having been specially written for him by two of London's most famous songwriters. Jimmy Goode (the popular black-face comedian) guarantees a laugh every minute. Ted Charter, of "Kit Inspection" fame, is presenting new comedy numbers this year, which he offered in several of the big Music Halls in Great Britain, South Africa and Australia after the war before he rejoined the Old Dumbells in Canada. The world famous Old Dumbell quartette with Jerry Brayford, Bill Tennant, Tom Young and Bertram Langley is as pleasing and delightful as ever, they are offering a greater variety of songs this season. Alan Murray is appearing in a series of new dances, which are as vivid and graceful as ever. Fred Fenwick, one of the well known female impersonators, is appearing in numbers entirely different from anything he has done in the past, his new costumes are a show themselves. Jack McLaren, the popular "Scotty" in "The Duchess Entertains" (which they have revived again in "Full O' Pep") is again appearing in the same role, as well as looking after things back stage. Charlie McLean, the famous character comedian is appearing in a screamingly funny burlesque with "Red" Newman ,entitled "Gone and Done It," in this number both Charlie and "Red" are exceptionally funny. Ivor Ayre, the popular Musical Director who holds the record of never having missed a performance since this organization was formed behind the lines in France, is still holding that record at the piano. Percy Campbell is Managing Director with the company, and Bob Anderson, the star comedian of the First Division entertainers in France, is a new member of the Old Dumbells.

"Full O' Pep" is undoubtedly the finest soldier offering ever presented by this famous aggregation and is the one big show of the season you cannot afford to miss. Over twenty new surprises are in store for the local theatregoers including some magnificent new concerted numbers. Patrons are advised to make early reservations for this popular attraction. The seats are on sale at McLean's Drug Store.

500,000,000 Miles of Service
OVER 500,000,000 miles of service obtained by more than a hundred thousand owners of Studebaker Light-Six cars, have conclusively proved the sturdiness and dependability of the Light-Six.

Its fuel economy has been demonstrated by 27 world-wide tests, through wihch an average of 26.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline was established.

Its flexible six-cylinder engine furnishes an abundance of smooth, overlapping power—instantly responsive to the touch of the throttle. Vibration is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor—made possible by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. In no other car selling for less than $3000 in Canada, are the crankshaft and connecting rods completely machined.

The value of the Light-Six is high, because it is manufactured complete by Studebaker, thus eliminating parts-makers' profits.

The buyer can feel secure in his purchase of a Light-Six, because it is backed by Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for honest value and fair dealing.

New steel body. Upholstered in genuine leather. One-piece windshield with attractive cowl lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Large rectangular window in rear curtain. KIMBERLEY WINNER 3-0

Errors when errors meant runs brought about the first defeat of the season to the Coal Company baseball team at Kimberley on Sunday last, Kimberley winning by a score of three runs to nil. "Dodger" Lewis, pitching for Kimberley, was a puzzle to the local tribe, striking out sixteen Fernie batters and allowing only four well scattered hits. "Salty" Ault, for the C. C. pitched his usual sterling game aid although he allowed seven hits, two of them misjudged flys, he kept them well apart and the fact that no earned runs were scored against shows that the game should have been a shut out all around and gone into extra innings.

Bishop opening up for the Coal Co. in the first inning connected for a single, Shand struck out then Barger walked advancing Bishop to second. Lewis tightened up however and pulled himself out of a nasty hole by striking out McTeer and Wilson. Kimberley scored their first run in their half of the first, when after two men were out, Hovan picked up Coen's grounder and heaved wide to first, Barger made a splendid stop but was pulled off the bag and Coen was safe. Two more errors allowed Coen to cross the plate. In the last half of the third, Kimberley again scored when Grant was safe on an error, Coen following secured a hit, advancing Grant to third, Grant scored when Ruschall dropped "Dodger" Lewis' fly to left.

In the fifth, Fernie had a good chance of securing a run after Dunlap and Ault had been struck out, Bishop singled, Shand was hit by a pitched ball, but Lewis again pulled himself out of the difficulty by striking out Barger.

Kimberley notched their third run in the sixth when Ault walked Hughes and S. Lewis in succession, Cosgriffe hit a roller to short and Wilson scooped it up and made a perfect throw to third but Bishop turned his back and the ball hit him, Hughes going home. Grant tried to bunt, but McTeer got the ball and put him out at first. Coen hit a texas leaguer to centre and Shand coming in fast scooped it up and made a perfect throw to the plate and McTeer nipped S. Lewis coming home. From the sixth inning to the finish no man on either side reached second base.

TROY WINS EXHIBITION

Playing in an exhibition baseball game here on Empire Day, Troy, Mont., defeated the Coal Co. team of Fernie by a score of four runs to three in one of the finest baseball games witnessed on the local diamond.

Fernie took the lead in the first inning, when Bishop, lead-off man, connected for a clean hard drive to centre field and reached second before the ball was returned. He was sacrificed to third and scored when McTeer singled to left field. Fernie seemed to take a liking to Lavery's offerings, Wilson connected for another single, snappy infield work, however, retired Fernie without further score. A pitcher's duel between Ault and Lavery raged up to the fifth inning, only one man reaching first up to that frame. In the first half of the fifth, Rohlf, Kenslar and Gathman singled and a bad error in the Fernie right field allowed Rohlf and Kensler to score, the same error allowed Gathman to reach third and he scored Lavery sacrificed. Another error allowed Noel to reach first and a single followed by a two bagger, scored him for Troy's fourth run.

Fernie started out to make up lost ground in their half of the fifth,, Ruschall, leading off with a two base hit, Dunlap following him did likewise and Ruschall scored, Ault was given a walk, Bishop hit a long fly to right field which Mataga dropped, he saved himself from an error by throwing Ault out at second but on the play Dunlap scored. Snappy playing on both sides in the 6th and 7th retired the batters in quick order. In the eighth, Troy had a glorious opportunity when Rohlf and Gathman, first two men up singled, but Ault struck out Kensler and Rohlf was nipped going to third, then Lavery hit to Ault who tossed to first for the third out. In this inning, with two men out, McTeer hit for three bases but Lavery retired the side by striking out Wilson. Fernie made a ralley in the ninth, Callaghan, first man up singled, Ruschall following him, drove a high one between right and centre fields, Rohlf, however, robbed him of what would cetrainly been a three-bagger, making a marvelous one-handed catch. Rohlf again wrecked Fernie's hopes of victory when he caught Dunlap's drive to centre.

COLEMAN TO PLAY HERE

Owing to the fact the Coleman football ground is undergoing repairs at present, the venue of the Coleman-Fernie league game scheduled to be played at Coleman on Saturday, May 26, has been changed to Fernie and will be played at the north end grounds here on Sunday, May 27.

As this, in all probability, will be the only game to be played this season between these two teams on the local grounds, the Fernie football fans should not miss the opportunity of seeing the Coleman team in action. This team is almost entirely composed of the pick of the Calgary Football league, four of them coming from the Calgary Hustlers, last year's Dominion Soccer Champions and holders of the Connaught Cup. Wilson, their goal tender is reputed to be the finest in the Dominion, having played for several well-known Old Country teams before coming to Calgary. Redfern, Coleman's centre-forward comes from the Calgary C. P. R., and was the star player for Calgary against the Scottish team which played there two years ago.

Playing in an exhibition game against Blairmore last Thursday, Coleman won by a score of two goals to one. Fernie's showing against the Blairmore team last Sunday when they won by a score of two goals to nil is indicative that Sunday's game will be one of the finest witnessed in Fernie.

COMMUNICATION

With reference to the recent action of Mayor Henderson and Police Commissioner G. G. Moffatt, in dishcharging Constable Dawes, of the City Police force, claiming to have received numerous complaints from prominent citizens and business men against him, I wish the citizens of Fernie and the many friends of Constable Dawes and myself, to know that I am in no way responsible for this action which I consider nothing short of railroading. I wish to correct certain rumors prevailing in regard this matter and might term this letter a minority report. Absolutely no charge was advanced against the honesty and integrity of the constable or any complaint of negligence of duty or of exceeding his duty. At the last meeting of the Commission I tried to find out the actual reason for dismissing Dawes but could get nothing more definite than that his services were not satisfactory. I informed the other commissioners that if the complaints had come from the Chief of Police Anderson and if he had recommended it I should be perfectly satisfied to have the action go through. The chief was called and I questioned him, he stated that he had not made any complaint nor had he recommended that Dawes be discharged.

Insinuations were made at this meeting that the G. W. V. A. and the miners' club were antagonistic to Dawes. I have since interviewed the Secy. of the G. W. V. A. and he emphatically assured me that as far as the G. W. V. A. organization was concerned there were absolutely no complaints in any way shape or form as far as Dawes was concerned. I also visited the President of the Miners' Club and received the same assurance from him as far as either the Miners' Club or the Miners' Union were concerned, was informed that I could use this statement in any way I saw fit as far as it referred to Dawes.

In an endeavor to find the real cause of the dismissal of Dawes I have interviewed over twenty of the prominent citizens and business men of the city and have not received one complaint or had any dissatisfaction expressed.

I think the citizens might like to know the oath which is taken by the constables upon taking office and it may explain some things that may have been misunderstood by some not familiar with the oath, it is as follows:—

I ..... do swear that I will, well and truly serve our Sovereign the King in the office of police constable for the corporation of the city of Fernie without favor or affection, malice or ill will and that I will to the best of my power cause to be kept and preserved and will prevent all offences against the persons and properties of his Majesties' subjects and that while I continue to hold office I will to the best of my skill and knowledge discharge all the duties there of faithfully according to law . . . . So help me God.

If it can be proven that Dawes has broken this oath or accepted bribes or in any way disgraced the force I would be the first to condemn him.

I make this statement so that the character fo Mr. Dawes will be vindicated and my position in the matter be made clear to the electors who elected me to office.

H. D. Wilson,
Police Commissioner.

Health turns the clock backward

"And so, it was Kidney Trouble"

Health Talk No. 19

By G. J. Parks, D. C.

Few of us know that when the kidneys are healthy they filter the blood and eliminate fluid impurities.

When the kidneys are weak these functions fail, gradually the health declines and the kidney weakness may take on the form of Rheumatism or Bright's Disease. And so, these are kidney diseases. Before chiropractic became known these diseases were "treated" for the purpose of helping the kidneys to do their work, but nothing was done which restored the power of the kidneys to do their work without help. This is what chiropractic does.

Woman is Well Again.

"My family physician put me to bed early in 1919. My kideys were in a very weak state, and my knees were drawn up so badly that I could only sit upon my feet.

"Several years before I had an operation which was intended to rid me of this trouble.

"Seeing that the family physician now had nothing new to offer, I began using chiropractic.

"I was frankly told chiropractic would take time. In a year I could get about on crutches. Early in the second year I began to walk alone. Today my recovery is complete."

A WONDERFUL PROGRAMME

This year the Chautauqua program for the Western Six Day Circuit is undoubtedly the finest ever presented in Western Canada. The great guiding principle upon which it is built is the sincere desire to meet the varied needs of the country. This program will inspire, instruct ,inform and will make people feel that, despite all that discourages, life is big and well worth while.

The program may be divided into two parts—one of music of every kind of instrument, of every variety of human voice, rendered by some of the finest artists in the musical world—the other, lectures on current topics by world-recognized thinkers and foremost speakers.

Mr. Daniel Fox leads this great week of educational culture with his lecture, "The Mission of the Anglo-Saxon"—a soul-trirring talk, that can not help but find response in the heart of every Anglo-Saxon.

Dr. Frederick Poole, too, has a thrilling story for every Britisher, depicting vividly how Great Britain recovered the Holy Land from the Turks. This lecture is illustrated with many exquisite hand-colored views. No one should miss hearing Dr. Poole tell "With Allenby in Palestine" and "Lawrence in Arabia."

Mrs. Marie Varney, B.D., a distinguished British woman lecturer, comes fresh from Europe, where she has been making surveys of current problems in England, France and Germany, and will tell the result of her observations.

Sam Grathwell has a virile challenging optimistic lecture called "Getting by Your Hoodoo"—a lecture of a booster and an optimist.

Mr. Arthur Carpenter, who has distinguished himself as a scientist who can interest the people in the wonder of the universe, will deliver his celebrated lecture on the "Nearness of God." His language is the language of the every-day man. As a matter of fact, he has translated scientific terms into every-day speech. Those who hear Mr. Carpenter will go away from Chautauqua feeling that their universe has enlarged considerably, and their conception of God will be so much greater that they will feel a new sense of the dignity of humanity.

Then there is the music part of the Week's program. This is commenced by the Cheney Concert Company, a splendid chamber music group on violin, piano and 'cello which, with the famous White House Organ Chimes, will give a distinctive musical program.

The Calgary Kiddies of the McDonald Academy of Fine Arts at Calgary, eight well-trained and clever children, will put on an elaborate spectacular musical revue, during which they will take the audience on a trip around the world, and you will hear the national songs, and see the national dances of other lands. Over a thousand dollars alone has been expended on the costumes of this "Made in Alberta" revue.

The Fietchell Yodlers come direct from Switzerland. They are the finest company of Alpine Yodlers that have ever appeared on this continent, and they present an evening's entertainment of mountain yodling, songs and calls to the accompainment of the national musical instrument of Switzerland, the zither. These mountain songs will be intermingled with soprano, basso and contralto solos, mandoline and guitar numbers.

The Going-Epperson-Bell Company is a trio of three talented young women, who render solos, duets, readings and the whistle and calls of birds—a program of the highest order.

The Florenz Orchestral Quartette consists of four clever, wide-awake, young artists, brimful of personality, who have combined their talents into a very fine concert orchestra of two violins, 'cello and piano. Vocal ansemble work, and dramatic readings are interspersed with the orchestral numbers in making—wherever they go—a very popular program.

On the last evening there is a magnificent opera company under the direction of Grant Hadley. This company consists of seven people, who will make up the strongest opera company that has ever been on the Chautauqua. This will give a program so very varied in character that it will appeal to everybody in the community. No one should miss this unique program, given by so distinguished a company.

Hon. William Sloan Addresses International Mining Convention

Following is the address delivered by Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, at the International Mining Convention, held at Spokane, on May 24, 1923, being British Columbia Day at the Convention:

It is a pleasure to meet you again. I see many in attendance whom I have met at previous Conventions. It is a real privilege to renew acquaintances and to become acquainted with those who have been newly attracted to the Northwest. Since arriving I have seen something of the mineral exhibits which have been assembled for this occasion and I wish to congratulate those responsible for their collection. It is a good thing that we who are interested in mining in the Northwest, should get together once a year and compare notes. Not only is it a good thing for the industry but it is to me at least, one of the most enjoyable experiences of the year. Today, 24th of May with us is Victoria Day. It is noted with appreciation you have selected this as B. C. day in this connection. This is a graceful compliment to that illustrious Queen who for over sixty years was ruling sovereign of the British Empire. It was during the early period of her reign that the far flung portions of Canada were welded into one Dominion, and from Victoria to Halifax, Canada is celebrating her Natal Day—the 24th of May.

From me, no doubt, you will expect to hear something about mining, more particularly my own province of British Columbia. I can say, without further preface, that never since I assumed office as Minister of Mines seven years ago, have conditions been better or the outlook brighter. Now that is saying a great deal, for it will be remembered that the years 1916, 1917 and 1918 were big years in point of production. The per annum monetary value of British Columbia's output ranged around the forty million mark. These were the years of the Great War. Demand for the product of the mine the world over was insistent, prices were high, everywhere was inflation. It was an unnatural condition but it is generally conceded that those who had the goods benefited as far as profits are concerned. But it was a boom that was bound to be followed by more or less depressing reaction and that reaction came. I believe it has come and gone. The present conditions in the Province to your North point to a revival, not of the unhealthy prosperity of the War days, but towards a progress and a prosperity built upon the solid foundation of developed resources and the normal demands of the markets of the world.

Our production in monetary terms for 1922 was not as great as it was in the big years to which I refer, but it was approximately 25 per cent. greater than it was in the previous year, over thirty-five million, as compared to twenty-eight million. These figures illustrate the fact that I should like to make the keynote of my remarks—that we are on the "up grade." But it is not alone that the province of British Columbia has made an advance upon which I am depending. It is that from all quarters appears to come the re-assurance for us to go forward with confidence. We need capital in this western country and that capital, the "sinews of war" to mining, come from the east. There was a time when Russian investments, Asiatic enterprises, middle European projects, and so forth were launched in the money markets of the world with success. It is unnecessary for me to say for instance, that a Russian bond issue in London or New York today would not receive much consideration; nor is it probable that requests for funds from any of the other countries I have mentioned would be more welcome. Where is the world going to place its reserves that they may be given a fair chance to multiply? I suggest that it does not require much insight to give the answer. The capitalists are turning more and more to western America and to those few other countries where today there appears to be a stable government.

All the information I received from London confirms what I have said and I believe that it is true also of the great money market of New York. The people with funds are looking west. We have the resources requiring development; they have the means to assist in that vitally important work. What we have to do is to be good and reliable sales agents, displaying our wares without misrepresentation, and securing for their exploitation what their worth seems to merit. If we adopt this as a principle in the prosperous days I see ahead, there is no doubt that the Northwest will be opened up in the next decade on a scale unprecedented in any previous similar period and to lasting benefit to ourselves and to those who will follow us.

To revert to conditions in British Columbia there are several reasons for my optimism of today. When I review the situation broadly it seems to me that we are justified in taking an optimistic view. One of these reasons is the wonderful promise of that newly opened up mining district, the Portland Canal of Northwestern British Columbia. Another is the marked advance that has been made by one of our greatest mining corporations in solving the metallurgical problem of the economic treatment of the complex ores of the Kootenays. The third, and perhaps the most important of all, is that the copper market now seems healthy and that means everything to British Columbia mining. If this condition persists there can be no doubt whatever but that our production will go forward with a bound in 1923. This is the more assured in view of the fact that there are press reports that the Dominion Government proposes offering a bounty of 1½ cents a pound on copper in bars and rods manufactured in Canada from Canadian ores. Although the matter is not of special interest on this side of the line, I mention it only to explain that I join with opertors and mining men of our Province in my approval of the policy of the Federal Administration in this matter.

While on the subject of copper, let me say that British Columbia production in 1922 dropped to about thirty-two and a half million pounds as compared to the normal of approximately forty million pounds. That it is possible to show an increase on the value of the whole mineral production in the face of this decline, it seems to me will appeal to all as rather creditable. The reason for this unfavorable showing will be known to most of you. Primarily it was market conditions, and under the circumstances it is very much to the credit of one of our greatest copper producers operating in the northwest, that they were able to continue work by the adjustment of their costs. Another large producing company, situated in the southwest, was assailed by misfortune. Its plant was completely destroyed by fire and flood. To this corporation is due congratulations on the spirit with which its problems were grappled with. This concern has also opened up important new ore reserves, its plant has been renewed on a larger scale and of more modern type, and it now has again entered the field of production. Having these facts in mind it would appear reasonable that I should be most optimistic as to the results this year.

This, however, is not everything. In the north the concern to which I have referred is extending its mineral holdings and adding to its plant. Not only that, but it is understood to be acquiring important, and hitherto inactive properties on Copper Mountain with a view to immediate operation there. In addition we have the new concentrating mill nearing completion at Kimberley, and the promise it gives of making possible renewed attention to the development of the ores of Rossland. Under all these circumstances it is not unreasonable that we should look forward to the future with confidence.

Take the matter of lead and zinc and it will be noted that the Province has been advancing in production year by year. British Columbia was responsible for a production of over thirty-nine million pounds of lead in 1920, of over forty-one million pounds in 1921, and of over sixty-seven million pounds in 1922. Zinc has been sliding ahead in the same way. In 1920 there was produced over forty-seven million pounds, in 1921 over forty-nine millions pounds, and in 1922 over fifty-seven million pounds. These are interesting and significant figures to us. They speak well for the enterprise and the progressive spirit that

RIVERS ON RAMPAGE

Continuous rain during the past week is causing all creeks and rivers in the Crow's Nest Pass to rise to high water levels and overflow their banks, causing a considerable amount of damage.

In Fernie the Elk River this morning registered 9.2 feet above low water mark and is now just about four inches below the high water mark reached in 1916. The skating and curling rinks are flooded and the water completely covers the Elk Valley Lumber Company's yards. East of the city the river has broken out of its banks and is flooding the low-lying levels.

Wash-outs at Hillcrest and Blairmore held up the C. P. R. train No. 67, due here yesterday morning, for over 24 hours and consequently the train was annulled. Today's train, after having made a precarious journey through slides and wash-outs in the Pass, is now held up behind a big slide at Sparwood and is not expected to reach here until this evening.

The main line of the C. P .R. is reported in the same condition, washouts having occurred at Crowfoot, between Medicine Hat and Calgary, and at Exshaw, between Calgary and Banff, holding up all transcontinental trains. From Okotoks come a report that the tracks are washed out at that point and that there is two feet of water running through the town.

Rock and mud slides on the mountains are also playing havoc with the railway tracks and highways, the main road east of Fernie is completely blocked between Fernie and Natal, at one point where the road was cut out of the mountainside, it is reported that the entire cut has been carried away. A slide has also blocked the road from Fernie to Coal Creek. The road to Elko is reported still open to traffic.

BEAUTIFY YOUR CITY

This season the Fernie Beautiful Contest that proved so successful last year, is to be repeated and enlarged in scope.

Through the generosity of Mr. A. B. Trites, last year the Rotary Club had placed at its disposal the sum of $125. The committee in charge arranged a series of prizes which made a fair and equitable disposition of the fund, many entered the contest, friendly rivalry developed and many homes were improved. In consequence, Fernie became more beautiful than ever before.

This year, Mr. Trites has increased the prize money to $150. The Rotary Club committee in charge; viz., N. E. Suddaby, W. F. Burns, A. Klauer and P. H. Sheffield, have opened an additional class for competition. This makes the following prizes available:

Class 1.—For the home and grounds of best appearance in the city of Fernie—1st, $25; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $5; 4th and 5th, honorable mention.

Class 2.—For the home and grounds in the city of Fernie showing the greatest improvement in appearance during the season—1st. $25; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $5; 4th and 5th, honorable mention.

Class 3.—For the home and grounds of best appearance in West Fernie—1st, $20; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $5; 4th and 5th, honorable mention.

Class 4.—For the best vegetable garden in the City of Fernie, Fernie Annex and West Fernie, arrangement, cultivation and crop returns to be taken into consideration — 1st, $20; 2nd, $10; 3rd, $5; 4th and 5th, honorable mention.

Rules—1. Final inspection by the judges will be made between August 15th and September 1st.

2. Points will be awarded for clean streets, improved boulevards, tree planting, painting of houses, for neat fences in good repair; for flowers, shrubbery, trees and well kept lawns.

3. No member of the Rotary Club may enter this contest.

4. Entries to be made not later than June 30th.

5. Any Public or High School pupil will give you an entry form, or one may be had from any member of the committee.

This country will not be a good place for any of us to live in unless we make it a good place for all of us to live in.—Theodore Roosevelt.

HON. WILLIAM SLOAN

dominates the greatest mining corporation of the eastern interior of the province. The indications are that the mining of the silver-lead-zinc ores of the Kootenays will continue on an ever-increasing scale, that metallurgical science will continue to improve metallurgical methods of treating these ores, and as these improvements are effected the independent operators should be given the benefit to an ever greater extent.

It is possible that not so many of my hearers are interested in coal mining and yet I must refer briefly at this point to conditions in British Columbia. This industry has not been going ahead as it should, having been practically at a standstill in point of production for the past thirteen years. In 1910 it reached the peak of 2,800,000 tons and in 1922 it was 2, 511,843 tons. The years between these show fluctuations which on two occasions have taken the total below the two million mark. Our coal resources are sufficiently great to warrant much more intensive development and output. The markets, however, are not steady. At the present time, for instance, we are suffering from a distinct slackness of trade which has been reflected in the production of the months of April and May in the Vancouver Island, the middle Interior and the Crow's Nest fields. This means that men are thrown out of work and the coal mining centres are made to feel the pinch of hard times. I do not know whether you have the same problems on this side of the line, but personally I have reached the conclusion that some action on the part of our government is necessary in order to relieve the industry from the disabilities at present existing.

In this connection I may say that the coal industry would be stabilized and assisted to a large extent if an iron and steel making industry was launched in the Northwest. The possibilities of this are not being overlooked in British Columbia. We have large magnetite and hematite deposits, the former both on the coast and in the interior, and the latter for the most part in the interior. Dr. Young, of the Canadian Geological Survey, is now conducting a thorough survey of these deposits under the joint auspices of the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Mines. He will be in the field again this year. His report, when it is issued, will give accurate information as to the iron ore resources, commercially speaking, of the Province. I am very hopeful that it will lead to the immediate investment of the capital necessary to start the industry in question. When it does it not only will mean stability to coal mining but a stimulas to our general prosperity will result both in British Columbia and throughout the Northwest.

The Province I represent is large in area and small, proportionally, in population. We have districts that have made mining history and continue to do so. I note that the City of Nelson recently received the rifle and the pick that the late Eli Carpenter, discoverer of the Slocan, used in his explorations of the then wildernesses of the interior country. It is gratifying to find that citizens of Nelson, and of other British Columbia centres, are alive to the importance of preserving souveniers with such historic associations, for it is upon the indomitable spirit of such pioneers that the development of the mining camps of the Northwest has been based. There are many other pioneers identified with the Kootenays in the early days, with the Cariboo, and with the placer fields and lode camps of the far north, that are deservedly being preserved to posterity.

What can be accomplished now in building upon the work of these pioneers has been strikingly illustrated by the phenomenal success of the Premier Gold Mining Company, in the Portland Canal district. To declare dividends of some three and a half million dollars in little over two years speaks well for the wealth of our Province and its possibilities. Other properties of marked promise are being opened up in this district and it is not at all improbable that more than one first class mine will be the result of the intensive prospecting and development that now is in progress in that locality.

It is noteworthy that properties on Hudson Bay Mountain, actively developed during 1922, have given most satisfactory results. In one instance at least what only a few months ago was but a prospect, is rapidly developing into a mine, having already shipped quantities of high grade ore. The zone is reported to be well mineralized and it is not improbable that other properties will be opened up in the same region this season. It is certain that there will be much prospecting in the locality and there is no doubt that it is justified. In the Cariboo the placer discovery at Cedar Creek may be said to be a notable event from a British Columbia standpoint, for the recovery in one brief season of $125,000 in gold dust by primitive means of rockers alone is no mean achievement. It has served to direct attention to the great northern interior and I have confidence that the result will be greater activity in the way of hydraulicking and dredging operations as well as more prospecting. The net result should be an increased production of placer gold this year.

On Vancouver Island the mineral prospects are good. In addition to coal mining there are a number of large ore bodies under development. One of these is known as the "Sunloch," Jordan River, on the southwest of the coast. The work done here has disclosed a considerable body of copper bearing ore, which, without a question, will be exploited on a large scale. The same applies to the Old Sport Group of Claims on the west coast of the Island.

Of the Kootenays, Mr. A. G. Langley, the resident mining engineer, is here to speak in detail. It is sufficient for me to say that the prospects are very encouraging, that this section is only at the beginning as far as development is concerned, and that here, as everywhere else in the Province, will be welcomed the co-operation in person or in capital of our immediate friends south of the 49th parallel.

I note there has been considerable controversy upon the question of 'Blue Sky" legislation as to the conditions governing investments in British Columbia. Now I may say that with regard to mining while we have no strict and recognized 'Blue Sky' Law, we endeavor as far as possible to protect the investor against fraud. The difficulties of this are well recognized. Nevertheless we are determined, as far as it is within our power, to assure for the investor a fair 'run for his money,' so to speak. The Mineral Survey and Development Act, which divides our Province into six mineral survey districts, each under the direct supervision of a well qualified mining engineer employed by the government, contains a clause requiring that district mining engineers be supplied with copies of all prospectuses or other publicity matter issued by Promoters and Mining Companies operating in this Province. If these publications are found to contain representations not in accord with the facts as found by the district engineer after investigation, the latter must notify the Minister of Mines. The Minister then has power, under privilege, to publish the truth. This menace of exposure has been found to work out very satisfactory so far. It certainly is a potent deterrent to the fraudulently inclined. Furthermore, we do not want and will not tolerate a revival of the conditions which were rampant a quarter of a centruy ago, and which retarded legitimate mining to an extent that we are only now recovering from. We also provide for the two week payment of men employed on properties under bond or lease, and require that security be advanced for the payment of a fortnight's wages for those employed. This is for the protection of the workmen. Our whole object in these measures, as I have said, is to see that money invested in a mining property is spent on that property and not in stock manipulation. In the main we think that British Columbia's Mineral Laws are based on sound principles. Certainly they have worked out smoothly and satisfactorily thus far, and for that reason we have not permitted constant tampering and interferance with them. Our policy is to promote stability, the assurance to the mining man that no vital changes will be made so that he knows where he stands at all times, which I have found usually is appreciated and endorsed as a good policy.

More than anything else we need prospecting. Without the prospector's work there is small prospect of the mineral of the country being exploited. The deposits, of course, must first be found. It is gratifying, therefore, to note the recent movement manifested in the organization of Prospectors' Associations. These Associations can, and I believe are, doing much good. They are being assisted by our district mining engineers whose lectures, delivered during the winter season in all parts of the Province are having the effect of stirring up interest in mining, and giving the prospector good practical information and advice. The Government, too, has been spending many thousands of dollars in opening up the inaccessible parts to the searcher for mineral as well as in affording transportation conveniences to the struggling operator. We have built hundreds of miles of roads, and trails, and have constructed and maintained many bridges in the course of carrying out the policy of aiding the mining man in the work, fraught with so many difficulties and problems, of winning the minerals from the far distant corners of the Province. We appreciate that in doing this we are performing no more than a duty, the benefits and the returns from which may be depended upon to be realized in the future, if not in the immediate present. The work must go on. It is possible that the prospector of a few years hence will be further aided by aerial navigation. This science is making progress, and it does not require much stretch of imagination to see the prospector being conveyed through the air with his outfit, to the particular district he has selected for his field work. In fact the method already has been adopted in small measure out of the town of Hazelton, British Columbia, and before long it will be possible for the big business man of New York, Chicago, Toronto, Montreal or other metropli of America to leave his office and within a few days, by train and aeroplane, to be in the frontier wildernesses of British Columbia inspecting a prospect and incidentally enjoying the big game hunting of the country for which our province is noted. Decidedly we are on the 'up grade.' Mining men of the West have every reason for confident optimism. That is the way we feel in British Columbia. It is the sentiment that should pervade this Convention. It is the feeling that we all should carry away with us. If we grasp and hold to that idea it will be of material assistance to us as we go hence to grapple with the many problems that will arise in the course of the year's activities.

I wish to thank you for the privilege of speaking here today. It is an honor that is appreciated. For myself I am convinced that the best interests of the whole of the Northwest are to be realized only by the closest co-operation between the people of British Columbia and those of these neighbor States of the Pacific Coast. The present good feeling, I hope, will always continue and as the years go on be even further developed, for after all we have common interests and what benefits one, is of advantage to us all.

We have I say a common interest, and in this great Pacific Northwest our mutual ambitions are in the development and opening up of its great unexplored areas for settlement, industry and commerce. We have also a duty and a responsibility to encourage only those people who are possessed and imbued with our own ideals of loyalty, citizenship and Christian civilization, which are the characteristics of the Anglo-Saxon race. It is well recognized and well understood a country may continue to contain two races but it cannot long continue to maintain two distinct and conflicting civilizations. Our geographical position bordering on the Pacific ocean, our climate and our resources are inducements which are reflected in the complex population already here. We have this problem in British Columbia. It is of vital consideration not only to the people of British Columbia, but I consider to all the people of the Pacific Coast of North America.

In the old days a ford was the place where you crossed the river. Now it's every place you try to cross the street.

FREDERICK POOLE, M. D.

A refined, cultured and travelled Englishman, a graduate in medicine of London, England, an expert on all matters concerning the mystery-steeped East and a lecturer of singular charm and lucidity—this is Frederick Poole, M. D., who will deliver his remarkable and thrilling lecture to Canadian audiences: "With Allenby in Palestine and Lawrence in Arabia." This whole lecture will be exquisitely illustrated with marvellously colored views, and those who have had the privilege of hearing Dr. Poole will know quite a lot concerning that ancient and mysterious country which has filled the newspapers during the past few months.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Seaplanes from the Jericho air station will be used to make topographical surveys in the Cheakamus, Green and Pitt Rivers, and Mount Garibaldi regions at the instigation of Vancouver's city engineer, J. G. Perry. This is said to be the first time that such operations have been carried on by a city with a view to establishing a municipal hydro-electric plant. Survey parties are about to be despatched to the Squamish, Cheakamus, Chehalis, Chilliwack and Bridbe rivers to prepare reports on water power possibilities.

The conference of the Methodist Church held in Vancouver last week recommended that the Provincial Government be asked to supply a more adequate and properly equipped training school for the feebleminded. Only 50 can be accomodated at the present.

B. C. had the best and most comprehensive exhibit at the Northwest Mining Conference at Spokane, May 22 to 25. Mr. Henry Browning, secretary of the Vancouver Chamber of Mines had charge of the exhibit which elicited many enquiries. Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines, visited the exhibition.

The outlook in the Yukon mining camps is reported very bright. This year will establish a record for early opening of navigation. Eighty-seven hundred tons of Keno Hill ore are at Mayo Landing awaiting shipment to the smelter. Ore bodies continue heavy in all operating mines.

The Fiechtl Yodlers have delighted and surprised audiences all over this whole continent. They have the distinct honor also of playing before three Presidents—Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt. Mrs. Fiechtl is reckoned to be one of the most perfect yodlers in Switzerland; Mr. Kuester is an altogether unique entertainer, his programme bubbles over with wit and humor, and his basso is simply wonderful. The Misses Elsie and Anna, the contralto and soprano, will give yodle songs and calls in the beautiful and inimitable Swiss mountain fashion which will thrill you long after the Swiss Alpine Yodlers have left your community.

"TRAILING AFRICAN WILD ANIMALS"—HAIR-RAISING

There is probably more real action and genuine hair-raising thrills in this latest of African wild animal pictures, than in any other that has been offered, due, most likely, to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have taken more chances in securing these remarkable pictures. The result of their risks is six and a half reels of marvelous exposition of Africa's wildest hordes at home and you can rest assured that the picture is interesting and absorbing from start to finish.

One of the outstanding features of this expedition picture is the unusual groups or herds of animals that have been recorded by Mr. Johnson's camera. There is a young army of zebras which Johnson coaxed close to his concealed camera by making an artificial water hole and through the use of the long focus lense, which he uses throughout, has secured the most graphic close-ups, including a herd in which there are two distinct types of zebras. An equally interesting herd is that of giraffes with Johnson once more securing excellent close-ups that are wholly unusual. These two specimens of wild animals are shown in greater numbers than most of the others although there is a mass meeting of monkeys that the title writer has correctly called "organ grinders' paradise."

The thrills of the picture come with the photographing of the more ferocious of the jungle inhabitants such as the rhinos, elephants, lions and leopards. Mr. Johnson has gotten some of the most spectacular scenes of the rhinos charging right into the face of the camera and one particularly blood curdling attack that ends within six feet of the camera as the result of Mrs. Johnson's shot. Those of the elephants are equally thrilling and the shots obtained of the huge beasts out in the open, (which Mr. Johnson claims to be wholly unusual) are indeed fine. There is an elephant stampede so real that you want to get out of the way yourself.

Many other episodes of the expedition are equally interesting, though less thrilling for the observer even if they have been just as perilous to record. These include views of jungle families with which the average person is less familiar. Such as the orynx, a sort of antelope with powerful looking horns. Two of them stage a duel with their horns for the approval of unseen witnesses. The introduction of the tick bird which is welcomed by the animals because it relieves them of vermin is another interesting touch.

Too much cannot be said for the pluck of Mrs. Johnson who displays no lack of daring in many of the scenes in which she faces the beasts with her trusty rifle and the pictures prove she is a good shot. Mr. Johnson's film is a thoroughly graphic and spectacular one and wholly interesting with no little educational value. This picture will be shown at the Orpheum on Monday and Tuesday next, June 4th and 5th.

THE NEW MOTOR HIGHWAY

The building of the new motor highway through the Canadian Rockies and the linking up of the great 6000 miles system known as the "Grand Circle Tour," adds one more thrilling chapter to the romance of modern enigneering. The Banff-Windermere road is not only the first motor road across the Central Rockies but the connecting link in what is probably the most spectacular motor route in the world. For the past two years motorists both in Canada and the United States have awaited the completion of this final arc. Now the great circle is complete and after June 30 motorists may travel across the Rockies from Banff via the Vermillion Pass to the Windermere valley, passing through Banff and Kootenay National Parks and visiting the famous resorts, Banff, Lake Louise, the Valley of Ten Peaks and Moraine Lake. Direct connections are made by the Columbia valley road via Invermere, Cranbrook and Kingsgate, B. C., with Spokane and Seattle, Wash., Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., and Portland, Ore., and the Pacific Coast down to San Francisco and Los Angeles, Cal. The return trip of the tour is made via the Grand Canyon, Salt Lake City, Helena, Mont.; the United States Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks to Paskan, Mont., and over the International boundary via Coutts, Alta., touching Waterton Lakes National park if desired, thence to Macleod or Lethbridge and Calgary and back to Banff.

Owing to the inclement weather the venue of the Lumberton-Fernie game in all probability may be switched, and the game played in Lumberton instead of on the Fernie diamond next Sunday. This will only mean the transferring of the dates of these two teams in the schedule.

Hon. W. Sloan, minister of mines, was in Cranbrook for a short time on Saturday and Sunday, coming in from Spokane. He went up to Kimberley on Saturday to inspect the progress of the work being done by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., there. A public meeting of those interested in holding a Celebration on July 1st, will be held in the Council Chamber, next Friday evening, June 8, at 8 o'clock. One million sheep in B. C. in 1930, is the goal aimed at by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, who states that the government is undertaking an educational campaign to increase the number of sheep raised in the province. At present, he says, there are only 50,000 sheep in B. C., on the 16,000 farms of the province. There is room for 100,000 farms, but if only 20 head of sheep were carried on each of the 16,000 farms there would be a total of 320,000. The minister points out that every farmer should carry a few sheep. The cost of their keep is small, while the profits are large. Furthermore, there is a splendid home market for mutton, lamb and wool. At present British Columbia brings in 50,000 sheep annually for home consumption, as well as 3,000,000 pounds of dressed mutton and products. British Columbia is an ideal sheep country and the farmer has been passing up a sure thing.

FIVE YEARS' AGONY ENDED

The Medicine Made From Fruit

There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-tives" is the long sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N.S. writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives" and took a box and got relief, so I took them for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since".

IDAHO HIGHWAY WORK IS URGENT

A committee of three will be appointed this week by Thomas M. R. Keane, chairman of the Sportsmen's-Tourists' Fair, to call upon the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and other commercial bodies along the main routes tributary to the city, asking them to urge a reconditioning of the Idaho highway between Bonners Ferry and Eastgate.

This action is the result of a suggestion from J. Fred Spalding, commissioner of the Southeastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta Tourist Association. Mr. Spalding is in the city in the interests of the Sportsmen's-Tourists' Fair.

Failure to fix the road between Bonners Ferry and Eastgate will cause the loss of thousands of dollars to Spokane in tourist revenue, according to Mr. Spalding. It is of vital importance that some action be taken before the opening of the Banff-Windermere highway through the Canadian Rockies, July 1, he said.

"The opening of the Banff-Windermere highway really means the commencement of tourist travel through the Canadian Rockies," he said. "By far the greatest part of the tourists drawn to the northwest by this highway will pass through Spokane. It is well known nothing travels so fast among automobile owners as reports of bad roads. Every car that passes over that stretch of road from Bonners Ferry to Eastgate will leave the northwest a knocker, for the road really is in terrible condition—it is a crime."

Mr. Spalding said that the single stretch of road from Bonners Ferry north for a distance of about 30 miles was the only poor road in the entire loop trip from Spokane over the Banff-Windermere highway.

Scenes along the Banff-Windermere highway, the new road built through the Canadian Rockies, are on display in the exhibit of the southeastern British Columbia and southern Alberta Tourists' association, in charge of J. Fred Spalding, association commissioner. This display is made up entirely of scenes in the "Canadian Wonderland."—Spokane Chronicle.

MRS. MARIE VARNEY

London, England, is still the financial centre of the world, and from that centre comes Mrs. Varney with a wealth of knowledge for the people of Western Canada. She has travelled extensively throughout Europe and has lived for some time in Paris. Mrs. Varney has won great distinction in England as a lecturer—or rather, as a woman with a definite message for mankind. In her lecture for Canadian audiences—"The Great World Heart"—she will speak of conditions in Europe and how they effect us on this continent. The British Council writes concerning her: "Besides being a speaker of great ability and distinction, the charm of Mrs. Varney's personality is most contagious, and very heartily the British Council commend her to the British public, feeling that she has a mission for the people of the British Empire."

TWELVE HOUR BOGEY

The United States Steel Corporation has never managed to live down the reputation given it by the report on its 12-hour work day issued by the Inter-Church Movement just after the strike of 1919. First of all, somebody got a clergyman to issue a fulmination against the compliments of Elbert H. Gary, a distinguished American citizen who happens to be president of the trust, was distributed gratis among the clergy. A second comment on the report was about to be issued in book form when the New York World got an advance copy and raked it so hard for and aft that the thing never saw the light of day. A Mr. Olds has now issued a third answer to the report. If this sort of thing keeps up, somebody may yet buy a copy of the report and read it. The Trust should have ignored the report, and few would have been any the wiser. The 12-hour day is a good thing, for the other fellow.—Toronto World.

UNITED STATES ALARMED BY A TIMBER FAMINE

Much discussion has been caused among officers of the Canadian Forest Service by the recent statement of Col. W. B. Creeley, Chief Forester of the United States, that a "timber famine" alread has begun on the North American continent and will become worse before it can get better. The view expressed by the distinguished American meets general endorsement here. One of Col. Greeley's statements was that American forests will be exhausted in thirty to forty years and that the forests of the United States are being depleted four times faster than they are renewed. Col. Greeley maintains that in effect the greatest lumber consuming sections of the nation are now suffering from what is, in effect, a timber famine resulting from the high freight rates caused by the long distances of the remaining forests from the consuming centres.

Mrs. Young Gains Thirty-Four Lbs.

Declares Tanlac Restored Her When Stomach Trouble Had Almost Wrecked Health.

"I weighed only a hundred and fourteen pounds, my face was sallow and sunken and I was thin as a rail. But since taking Tanlac I weigh one hundred and forty-eight, have the rosy cheeks of a school girl, and enjoy good health for the first time in fifteen years." This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Bella Young, 98 Cathcart St., Hamilton, Ontario.

"The last year of my sickness I was near a nervous breakdown, and my appetite was so poor even the odor of food sometimes nauseated me. Headaches, pains in my stomach and back nearly set me wild and I would walk the floor for hours. I got so weak I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes, and my housework was a burden.

"The Tanlac treatment gave me a wonderful appetite, built me up till friends wondered at my great change, and I always feel strong and well. I will never cease to praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Studebaker

500,000,000 Miles of Service

OVER 500,000,000 miles of service obtained by more than a hundred thousand owners of Studebaker Light-Six cars, have conclusively proved the sturdiness and dependability of the Light-Six.

Its fuel economy has been demonstrated by 27 world-wide tests, through wihch an average of 26.9 miles to the gallon of gasoline was established.

Its flexible six-cylinder engine furnishes an abundance of smooth, overlapping power—instantly responsive to the touch of the throttle. Vibration is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor—made possible by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. In no other car selling for less than $3000 in Canada, are the crankshaft and connecting rods completely machined.

The value of the Light-Six is high, because it is manufactured complete by Studebaker, thus eliminating parts-makers' profits.

The buyer can feel secure in his purchase of a Light-Six, because it is backed by Studebaker's 71-year-old reputation for honest value and fair dealing.

New steel body. Upholstered in genuine leather. One-piece windshield with attractive cowl lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Large rectangular window in rear curtain. Curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Thief-proof transmission lock. Standard non-skid cord tires.

Made From The Mildest Cleansers

Palmolive contains Palm and Olive oils. These oils were the cosmetic cleansers used by Cleopatra and kept her skin fresh, smooth and youthful.

Today their scientific combination in Palmolive produces the most perfect of all facial cleansers. Science has discovered nothing finer, milder or more beneficial for the toilet than Palm and Olive oils.

Artful applications of rouge and powder may lend your skin the appearance of smooth freshness. But unless you cleanse the pores thoroughly every day with soap and water, blackheads, pimples and other blemishes are sure to result.

Some persons imagine that soap is too harsh for the face. They should try Palmolive. Its mild, smooth, creamy lather, when massaged into the skin, cleanses without the slightest irritation.

COLEMAN AND FERNIE DRAW

In a regular downpour of rain, Coleman and Fernie met in a Crow's Nest Pass League Football game at the north end grounds here last Sunday and played the full time to a one goal draw. Coleman fielded their crack team recently brought from Calgary but the strong defense put up by the Fernie full and half backs kept them from getting dangerous, Riley was especially conspicuous on the half back line, breaking up raid after raid. Fernie missed some golden opportunities in front of goal during the second half but the slippery nature of the ground around the Coleman goal in this half was a great handicap to the forwards.

Fernie won the toss and selected to play with a slight wind and the rain at their backs. From the kick-off, Fernie went down the field and forced a corner. Thomson sent the ball over into the goal mouth but in the scrimmage the ball was shot passed. Another likely raid on the Coleman goal a few miutes later was spoiled when Harold was given offside. Coleman took on a spurt and Penman tried a shot at goal. Swedeberg made a brilliant save and kicked the ball out to touch. Coleman kept up the pressure and Swedeberg was forced to leave his goal to clear, Sharp endeavoring to intercept the ball, collided with Swedeberg and was injured, but after the attention of the trainer, he was able to continue. A throw-up close to the Fernie goal allowed Redfern to get through the Fernie defence with the ball and score the opening goal from a three yard range. On the run of play Fernie were rather unlucky to be a goal down and they strove desperately to get the equalizer, keeping the Coleman defence busy, Joinson sent a long shot which had Wilson beat all the way, but the ball hit the cross bar and rebounded into play. Coleman tore down the field and just a few seconds after the whistle had gone for half time, Yates shot the ball into the net. Both lineman confirmed the referee's time so the goal was not allowed.

On account of the inclement weather, the teams exchanged ends and commenced the second half without any interval, the ball travelled from one end to the other but both defences were equal to the task of staving off the attacks of the opposing forwards. After about fifteen minutes of play, Fernie got away on the left wing, Alex Thomson sending over a perfect cross to Hardy who in turn passed to Joinson. Joinson tried a shot at goal and Wilson only partially cleared, and Joinson got the rebound and finding it impossible to shoot through the mass of players in the goal mouth, slipped the ball to Hardie, who, with Thomson obscuring the goal-keeper's vision, had no difficulty in landing the ball in the net for the equalizer. Both teams were beginning to show signs of weariness, the slippery and muddy nature of the ground making it extremely difficult going for the players and consequently most of the play was confined to mid-field. With but eleven minutes to go, Redfern, the Coleman centre forward, was ordered off the field by Referee Sweeney for repeated strenuous objections to his decisions after having been warned. For the balance of the game, Coleman, with only ten men were compelled to assume the defensive and succeeded in keeping Fernie from adding to their score.

The line up:

Referee—J. Sweeney.

BASEBALL LEAGUE

Fernie were idle in the East Kootenay Baseball League last Sunday, but will meet Lumberton on the local diamond on Sunday next, June 3. This game should be of great interest to the Fernie baseball fans, the Lumberton team being so strengthened since their recent defeats that on Sunday last they defeated Kimberley at Lumberton by a score of five runs to four. Lumberton are at present the only team who have secured a league win over the Kimberley team. In the other league game played at Cranbrook last week, Cranbrook defeated Wycliffe by a score of six runs to four, thus making a threesome tie for the top place in the league.

League standing to date:

Team—	W	L	Pct.
Kimberley	2	1	.666
Fernie	2	1	.666
Cranbrook	2	1	.666
Lumberton	1	2	.333
Wycliffe	1	3	.250

FERNIE AND COAL CREEK TIE IN PEACOCK CUP DRAW

Fernie and Coal Creek met in the first round of the Peacock Cup Ties at Coal Creek on Wednesday afternoon, in a drizzling rain.

Booth, Fernie's captain, winning the toss, selected to kick uphill. From the kick-off, Thornton's shot forced Sawyers to concede a corner. Play was then transferred to Fernie's end, Smith and Corlett making a fine run, but Smith finished weak. End to end play followed and half time came without any score.

From the re-start, Fernie was soon in the Coal Creek ground, Joinson beating Sawyers with a low shot at close range three minutes from the start. This aroused Coal Creek and Swedeberg had to concede a corner from Caufield's shot. After an individual run by Corlett, beating three of the Fernie defense, he scored the equalizing goal with a lovely shot that gave Swedeberg no chance. End to end play followed and the final whistle came with the game one each. The replay is to take place some time next week.

Coal Creek — Goal, Sawyers; backs, Gibson and H. Corrigan; half backs, O. Corrigan, Hudock and Walls; forwards, Corlett, Smith, Caufield, P. Corrigan and Atherton.

SAM GRATHWELL
"A Spirited Discussion on The Power of Overcoming Adversity."

From the slums and tenements of a large city, without father and friends, seemingly without a chance in the world, comes Sam Grathwell, B. A. He has worked at almost everything, he has been knocked down but never knocked out: he is a man with a real, vital message born of actual experience. In this lecture Sam Grathwell will tell you, and your boys and girls, how he fought his way through to a university course, how he became a foremost inspirational lecturer; in short, how he got by his hoodoo. Those who hear Sam will renew their spirits, increase their determination, and laugh at those difficulties which formerly brought them to the verge of tears.

Someone has discovered that it takes 140 nuts to hold a Ford together and only one to hold it in the road.

The sporting instinct of the British people have been shocked by the idea of a tax on betting. Even the compensation of knowing that such a tax would legalize betting is not regarded as sufficient. It is considered a short step from putting a tax on bookmakers to taxing bridge winnings, and the result is that card players are up in arms against the proposed tax on betting. This volume of public opinion in this direction in a sporting nation has induced the Government to give the matter a good deal more thought before any decisive step is taken.

You well may grin at the speeder who throws dust in your face. They'll soon be throwing dirt in his.

COMMUNICATION

To the Citizens of Fernie—

Having been a Police Constable for the City, I feel that it is my duty to give to the citizens a brief statement of my side of the question regarding my discharge, also to report as to certain conditions prevailing in the City jail.

On the 8th of May, I received a letter dated May 5th, stating that as the Board of Police Commissioners did not consider my services satisfactory, one month after date my services would not be required.

On the 22nd I received another letted with cheque enclosed, and salary paid up to the end of my notice, the 5th of June, stating that my services were dispensed with.

The new Constable was appointed on the day of my dismissal, therefore, Mayor Henderson is causing an extra indebtness to the City by paying two Constables' wages from the 22nd of May up to the 5th of June.

Mayor Henderson and Police Commissioner G. G. Moffatt would not give me any reason why I was dismissed from the force, only stated that several complaints have been made by prominent citizens.

In last week's paper, Commissioner H. D. Wilson stated that he had interviewed over twenty prominent citizens and business men, but found absolutely no complaints.

I can truthfully say I have never exceeded my duties as a police officer, or have I ever taken one cent of a bribe. I have tried to gain friends, and encourage the young generation to do what was right to the best of my skill and knowledge.

Several days before I received my notice, Mayor Henderson came to the Police Station and asked me if there was anything doing. I replied, "No Sir. The City was quiet throughout the night." The Mayor then said, "Humph, I will soon get another police force."

For a night shift to pass by without having a cause to make an arrest, I feel that it is a credit to the citizens, and moreover, it is the duty of a police officer to try and prevent a breach of the peace, and by no means to try to make cases.

With reference to the City Jail, I beg to say that it is in a filthy condition, and the citizens of Fernie should demand that it be cleaned up and kept clean.

Because a man is a prisoner is no reason why he should not have clean quarters. While on night duty, I have had numerous complaints from prisoners about the bugs in the cells. I faithfully reported these complaints when ever received.

On one occasion, a party of Provincial prisoners were held in the jail and they were badly bitten by bugs during the night, one prisoner used to sleep on the table to try and obtain a peaceful nights sleep.

They asked me to take this complaints which I did, and Mayor Henderson told me it was none of my d——d business about the bugs.

On another occasion, quite recently, Provincial prisoner Alfred Hopkins called me to his cell, and with the aid of a flashlight and a piece of stick, I killed 39 bugs, I then looked into the adjoining cell where a chinaman was scouring the walls for his prey. He said, "Tonight, lots, last night all gone," meaning that on some occasions the bugs would take a rest, which they very often do on a cold night.

In spite of all complaints, very little is being done to improve conditions, and I feel it is my duty to report the matter and let the public make a thorough investigation.

The blankets are also very old, and getting the worse for wear, and some of the iron beds are so badly sagged that it is impossible for a prisoner to rest sufficiently, especially when they are called upon to do laborous work for the City.

In closing, I must say that Mayor Henderson is a great man for looking after the finance of the City, but I see no reason why Mayor Henderson cannot double his money if he would take up a course of Rail-roading.

Harry Dawes.

SETTLERS BECOME RANGERS

British Columbia settlers realizing that their homes, crops, and wood lots are annually threatened with destruction by forest fires are proving themselves willing to assist the authorities in fire control.

Many of these public spirited citizens are voluteering their services as honorary fire wardens to assist forest officers in the prevention, detection, and suppression of fires.

Previous years have demonstarated that where communities have been organized in this way prior to the fire season, quick action is assured in attacking a fire while it is in an incipient stage.

"Am I Heavier Since I Had the 'Flu'?"

Health Talk No. 20.
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

"My feet are so heavy and it is so hard for me to get up enough energy to move, that I wonder sometimes if my body isn't heavier;—I don't mean on the scales, I mean, heavier to lift."

After the 'Flu' the body is heavier—to lift. The 'Flu' to give it the current name, steals most of the energy producing power of the body. The lungs, the heart and the kidneys have more than they can do to rid the body of the 'flu' poisons because, in the beginning they were subnormal or the disease would not have taken hold. By chiropractic spinal adjustments the natural vigor of these organs is restored, and the waste poisons are rapidly eliminated.

By chiropractic we can prevent 'flu', by chiropractic we rid you of it, and by chiropractic you can overcome and get rid of that "heavy" after feeling.

'Flu' After Effects Gone.

"I was left in bad condition by an attack of influenza. I coughed much and felt worn out all the time. As I am naturally active, this condition troubled me. During my attack I had only medical attention. I was told my trouble was only the after weakness which so many 'flu' victims found themselves unable to shake off after getting up. I was told it would wear off, but it didn't, and so I began using chiropractic and my cough and bronchial trouble disappeared, and best of all I felt like doing things once more. It is now several years since I recovered and I have had no return of it. — Thomas Carr, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1291F.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The Fernie City Council held their first regular June meeting in the Council Chambers Thursday evening, Mayor Henderson occupied the chair, with Alderman Irvine the only abcentee.

A letter was read from Messrs. Herchmer and Mitchell, solicitors for the Doctors in their action against the City, requesting that owing to the fact that the Supreme Court would not sit in Fernie until late in the Fall, that this case be heard before Chief Justice Murphy when he makes a special visit to the city in the latter part of this month. A motion was passed authorizing the Mayor and Alderman Irvine to see the City Solicitor, A. H. McNeil, K.C., re this matter.

The Local Council of Women sent in a plea to the Council, that the City employ a Veterinary Surgeon to make a monthly inspection of all milch cattle in the City, testing for Tuberculosis. This matter was left over until the next meeting of the Council pending the receipt of information from various sources as to the cost, etc.

Replying to a letter from the City Clerk re grants to separate schools, Mr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B. C., states in a communication, that under the Municipalities Act, no Board of School Trustees or Municipal Council had authority to make grants of money to any school outside of Public schools.

A communication from the Union of British Columbia Municipalities together with their Parliamentary Agent's report, was tabled for a full council meeting.

Quotations from the Imperial Oil Company on supplying light liquid asphalt for road sprinkling were received. Mr. Moffatt pointed out that at the rate quoted it would cost approximately $1700 to oil the 11,520 sq. yards of roadway which would require oiling. This matter was left in abeyance.

A petition was received, signed by all the local barbers, requesting the council to pass a by-law setting the following hours for barbers in the city: Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Wednesdays, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday hours to apply on days previous to Public Holidays. This matter was left over until next meeting.

Messrs. Connick and Nicoletti waited on the Council, requesting information as to the disposition of the Catholic School request for a grant. The City Clerk was instructed to read the letter received from the Superintendent of Education on this matter and Mayor Henderson pointed out that a City Council was legally bound to follow the regulations for Municipalities as laid down in the Municipalities Act.

Alderman Barraclough, stated that as the Council had decided to lay over the question of a Swimming Pool for another year, he thought it would be a good plan if the city could enlarge a portion of the Coal Creek this summer, to be used as a swimming hole for the children, and was given the assurance that as soon as high water season was over, the Council would give this suggestion their immediate attention.

NEWS FROM COKATO

Its noice to have a little spot,
Wheer one can ceawer'em deawn.
A quiet, comfortable spot
Eawtside o'th' busy teawn.

So sang the Lancashire poet, Samuel Laycock, and so say the Cokato inhabitants.

Now that the high water has gone and the seeding being finished it kind of comes over men in these parts to get on with the stump blowing, it kind of eases one's mind to see a large stump whistling through the air leaving room to grow something more useful, besides, being more ornamental. Powder is the best agent to use for this purpose and the B. C. government are granting a rebate of $2.50 a box to genuine agriculturists to encourage land clearing.

The much talked about Farmers' Institute for this burg has materialized, the charter having come through. Lectures are being arranged for by competent government lecturers. The lectures will be free and all those who can come are cordially invited to do so. The meetings will be held in the Cokato School and will be duly announced in the press and on the school notice board.—Robt. Draper.

DIRECTORS' REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1922.

To The Shareholders—

Your Directors for the year of 1922 respectfully submit their Twenty-sixth Annual Report, showing statement of the Company's Assets and Liabilities on the 31st of December, 1922, together with the Profit and Loss Account for the year ending on that date.

The balance at the credit of the Profit and Loss Account, brought forward from 1921, was $93,725.51, less 1919 Federal Income Tax, and Federal Income Tax adjustments for the years of 1920 and 1921, amounting to $11,489.74, to which was added Adjustment of 1921 Liability Insurance, $2,622.11, making an actual balance at the end of 1921 of $84,857.88. To this has been added the sum of $213,959.05, the same being the Company net Profits from all sources of the operations for the year 1922. After making provisions for the Dominion Income Tax for the year of 1922, amounting to $21,001.27, there was left a total of $192,957.78. During the year, the Directors have paid four dividends of 1½ per cent. each, making a total of 6 per cent. for the year, amounting in all to $372,690.00, leaving a debit balance of $94,874.34 to be carried forward and provided for during 1923.

The operative profits of the subsidiary Companies; The Crow's Nest Pass Electric Light & Power Company, Limited were $9,384.38, and The Morrissey, Fernie & Michel Railway Company, $67.14, and in each case the amount has been carried to reserve for depreciation.

During the year the Coal Company spent on improvements $35,293.80, and the Railway Company $1,270.72.

The Coal mined during the year amounted to 569,339.14 tons, as against 774,847 tons mined during 1921, and the Coke produced was 46,368 tons, as against 66,569 tons during 1921.

The decrease production in each case has been attributable to the five months' strike.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. R. WILSON,
President.

PUPILS WIN ESSAY PRIZES

A very interesting ceremony took place at the Central School on Monday afternoon of last week, when the prizes for the Herchmer Essay Competition were awarded. Nearly five hundred essays had been written on the subject, "Honor in Sport" or "Playing the Game," and the final awards were awaited by the pupils with much interest. For the purpose of this contest, the pupils had been divided into three classes: Senior, Intermediate and Junior, and to accomodate all the pupils who had entered the contest, the pupils were assembled in two groups of about two hundred and fifty to each. Mr. Herchmer addressed each group and presented the prizes to the winning contestants. In the Senior grade, the first prize, a tennis sweater was won by Jessie Beck; and the second prize, a base ball bat, was won by Erwin Taylor. Robert Gittens won the first prize, a base ball mitt, in the Intermediate section, while the second prize, a golf club, was won by Mildred Kastner. In the Junior division David Tully gathered in first prize, a baseball bat and ball, while a tennis racquet went to Emma Wilson.

Mrs. G. G. Moffatt and Rev. Wm. Burns were the judges in the competition. Mr. Burns spoke to the assembled pupils congratulating them on their fine essays and their original ideas on the subject. To finish out the afternoon, the pupils were shown a set of lantern slides dealing with Eastern Canada, and another illustrating the poem, "John Gilpin.'

"FAIR PLAY"

We all love sport. We all love to get out at night for a while to play some game. Why do we look forward to holidays or vacation? Because we can play games that we have longed to play. Mary can make a dress for her doll which she had not time to do before. Jack can practice baseball and play marples without hearing the school bell. All play whether hard or not we do because we love to play.

There are two kinds of play, fair play, and unfair play. How more pleasant it would be if every one would play fairly!

A boy or girl who plays fairly and squarely is not afraid of underhand play and does not himself win by mean ways. He does not play to see how roughly he can play, but to see which is the better stronger team. The boy plays on the field and does not idle his time away, then when the game is over he can meet face to face with his opponent.

Being a good sport is just following the "golden rule"—by doing to others as you would be done by.

Once upon a time a famous tennis player was given a point by the umpire which he knew he did not deserve, so he played badly on purpose until his opponent made a point to even up. This made him more famous than all his medals and he was praised and admired by all.

We should always be good sports whether anybody knows it or not, and whether we receive praise or not.

Games help to make us good business men and women. Business is a bigger game than a baseball game, but we can use the same fair play in business as in sport.

Now, tell me, would this world be quite complete,

"Without the cheerful, fair and square Athlete?"

FERNIE CHAUTAUQUA ENTERTAINMENT ENJOYED

The Fernie Chautauqua closed its 1923 programme here last evening following a most enjoyable week of entertainment for the Fernie public.

The musical and vocal section of the week's programme was exceptionally well received. The Calgary Kiddies on the opening night scoring a tremendous hit with their musical revue. The manner in which these eight children performed was a revelation to the Fernie citizens and the McDonald Academy of Fine Arts of Calgary are to be complimented on the training of this troup.

Throughout the week, high class music from practically every kind of instrument and singing by the various entertainment troups kept the Big Top well filled for every programme.

The lecturers this year were a complete change from other years. The illustrated lecture by Dr. Poole, covering the campaigns in the Near East "With Allenby in Mesopotamia" and "Lawrence in Arabia," was undoubtedly the finest ever given in the city. The other lecturers, Mr. Daniel Fox, Mrs. Mary Varney, B.D., Sam Grathwell and Mr. Arthur Carpenter, with their lectures on the current topics of the day, were apparently on favorite ground and brought out their ideas in clear precise manner. The educational value of these lectures will be long felt in Fernie.

A narrow mind is one that has not had wide experience.

HIGHEST WATER MARK IN YEARS

Tremendous rainfall during the last week in May brought about an almost unprecedented situation throughout the Crow's Nest Pass and Central Alberta.

Here in Fernie, the Elk River reached its highest point since 1902, the peak being reached at three o'clock last Sunday morning when the water registered on the West Fernie bridge meter, 10.2 feet above the low watr mark, six points above the high water mark of 1916. Damage to property in Fernie, however, was slight, the only homes being damaged were those in the Fairy Creek section which were inundated through the river breaking through into the old slough at McDougal's Mill, and the water forcing its way along the old Course over Chipman Avenue into the Annex Extension. At West Fernie, although for a time the West Fernie bridge was impassable and the Elk Lumber Company yards were flooded, practically no damage was sustained by the residents of that suburb.

Ten automobile tourists, who came into Fernie during the latter part of last week, were compelled to remain here for several days, as the Government highway in both directions was blocked by slides and wash-outs. The road west of the city, however, has now been cleared and traffic in that direction is now normal. To the east, Government road gangs are working strenuously to get the roadway cleared so that automobile traffic can pass through to the Prairies and work has progressed so quickly that already the highway as far as Michel is open. Beyond Michel to Crow's Nest, high water and rain played havoc with the road and it will be some time before this highway will be fit for travel.

The Crow's Nest Pass Line of the C. P. R. has been extremely hard hit by the floods, slides and wash-outs were encountered by trains endeavoring to get through, at every few miles. Rail traffic through the Crow to Medicine Hat and Calgary has been entirely suspended owing to the bridge between Cowley and Pincher being unsafe for trains to pass over it. The bridge is 136 feet high and about 250 feet long and rests on a pier in the middle of the South Fork. It is reported that this pier, which is made of concrete, has cracked under the strain of high water and would undoubtedly give way should a train pass over the bridge. A report in the Lethbridge Herald states that it will be over a month before this bridge can be properly repaired to allow transit of trains over it, meanwhile the C. P. R. are routing their trains, Nos. 67 and 68, over the Kootenay Central via Golden and Main Line and are running a local passenger train service between Cranbrook Cowley.

CATHOLIC WOMEN'S LEAGUE BAZAAR

The Catholic Women's League will hold their annual bazaar in the Catholic School on the afternoons and evenings of June 28 and 29.

The fancy work, handkerchiefs and other booths have a large assortment of beautiful goods.

Among the new features this year will be a collection of useful articles made by a class of little girls from 7 to 12 years of age. Besides plain sewing, this collection includes knitted, crocheted and embroidered work. The friends of these Fernie kiddies are asked to patronize this booth and encourage the children in useful accomplishments.

Another prominent feature will be an apron booth in charge of the Young Ladies' Sodality. There are aprons for old and young, big and little, in lovely new patterns and designs at most reasonable prices.

The Bazaar will close with a dance on Friday evening, June 29, from 11 o'cock to 2.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

In moving the adoption of the report, I am in the unpleasant position of having to state that the operations of 1922 were seriously effected through contentions about International Coal Mine Wages.

In 1921, Wage Scale Agreement expired on the 31st of March, 1922, at a time when the chief co-dependent industries on coal had come to realize the necessity for accepting a lower ratio of wages for the purpose of helping to re-establish such industries. It was, therefore, reasonable to presume that those especially engaged in the production of coal, would take the same broad view of things, and at least recognize the fundamental necessity of agreeing to the acceptance of a reduced scale of wages for coal mining work that would be in harmony with what had been done by other classes of labor that were engaged in other co-dependent industries. These expectations were not realized, for those responsible for the guidance of Coal Mine Labor on this Continent especially refused to accept the belief that any concessions in the form of reduced wages for Coal Mining Communities was necessary at that time. The controversy continued from April 1st, 1922 to the latter part of August of the same year, or about five months, during which time this Company's Mines were not only unproductive, but were under a serious daily cost in the form of caring for continual Mine Drainage, and general maintenance charges. The employees of the Company lost during the five months of strike, about $1,200,000 in wages, and the Company correspondingly endured the loss that resulted from the maintaining of idle plants for five months.

After the five months' contention, a temporary understanding was reached between the United Mine Workers of America, and the Operators of the District to re-open the mines and carry on operations at the 1921 Wage Scale Rates until April 1st, 1923. During March 1923 it was further agreed by the interested parties to allow 1921 and 1922 Wage Scale Agreements to continue for one more year, which understanding we are now working under.

From what I have stated, it may be noted that this District is still continuing to pay the high scale of Coal Mine Wages that were stimulated by the exigencies of the late war. The result of these high wages and correspondingly high cost of production is creating a new set of adverse and discouraging conditions for this District in particular, for through the high cost of Coal Fuel, the Railroads that this Company in particular largely depended upon for the economic continuity are displacing Coal Fuel by Oil Fuel, which they have only done after patiently waiting for two years to see Coal prices return to more normal selling prices. In addition to this, Smelters are prevented from accesting the lower grade of Ores because of the abnormally high prices of Coke due to the high wages. I may here, before closing my remarks, note that wages. I may here, before closing my remarks, note that when wages are increased in this District, the cost of production becomes magnified over and above the cost of Coal Mining Fields that are operating under more favorable physical conditions, such as uniformity of structural coal bedding, good overlapping roof and greater freedom from dangerous gas generation. For example, the day wage men in our mining fields here, due to the abnormal physical conditions we have to deal with, will exceed the day wage labor employed under the more favorable physical and structural conditions in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia by from 100 to 300 per cent, which necessary and excessive application of day labor effects the cost of production in about the following corresponding ratio:

Virginia, percentage of day men average about	25%
This District, percentage of day men average about	60%

During the seven months' operations the mines produced 569,339 tons of coal, Michel Ovens producing only 46,368 tons of coke. The low production is largely accounted for by five months' suspension of operations, or strike.

In co-relation to the stated production, the following corresponding development work was done in the Mines during the year:

At Coal Creek Mines:
Narrow Development work driven amounted to	44,115 feet
At Michel Mines:
Development work driven amounted to	6,225 feet
Total all Mines during 1922	50,340 feet

The preceding figures fully maintain the developed capacity of all mines up to a daily producing stage of 4500 tons per day of eight hours operations. It may here be interesting to mention that at the close of 1922 the combined measurements of all the main roadways in the Company's Mines amounted to 164,126 feet, or 31 miles.

During the year, the Company installed 16,420 feet of new Water Lines for spraying the working places, or for the purpose of allaying the light floating coal dust generated in the working faces.

I may further remark that during the year, the United States Government have placed a reciprocal tariff against Canadian Coal of 53 cents per ton on all grades of coal except slack that goes through a three-quarter inch screen, and 14 cents per ton on the three-quarter inch slack. This tax it is needless for me to state, is proving to be a further detriment to the production at these mines.

The Auditors' Report shows the resultant returns from the year's broken operations, which I respectfully submit for your consideration.

Abraham Martin Honored

Monument to First Scottish Settler, First King's Pilot On the St. Lawrence, and First Farmer On the Plains of Abraham Unveiled.

At Quebec recently the Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary in the Quebec Cabinet, officiated at the unveiling of a monument erected by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in memory of Abraham Martin, who was the first known Canadian of Scottish descent and the first King's pilot on the St. Lawrence River. The Plains of Abraham received their name from him, he receiving a grant of the land from Champlain in 1617. The unveiling of the monument, a handsome granite shaft seven feet high surmounted by a globe supported by thistles, was an important event and was attended by a large number of prominent citizens and political representatives.

The sturdy pioneer is further acclaimed by Andrew Patterson, who says :—

ABRAHAM MARTIN.

Auld Scotland many a hero boasts
From John o' Groats to Wigtown's coasts,
Both Lowland lads and Highland hosts
That wear the tartan;
But now another seeks your toasts,
Old Abra'm Martin.

But what pretence has he to fame,
That we should celebrate his name,
And thus in stone and bronze proclaim
His style and story ?
A threefold plea can Martin claim
To all this glory.

The first of Scotia's sons was he
To cross Atlantic's stormy sea—
True pioneers of liberty,
Giving their best
That this Dominion fair might be
Blessing and blest.

See in his wake the glorious band,
MacKenzies, Frasers, foremost stand,
MacDonalds, too, in high command,
And James McGill,
Mountstephen and Strathcona grand--
'Twould pages fill.

The first was he to till this plain,
Now sacred to that fierce campaign
When heroes fell, but not in vain
In glorious strife.
O Canada, thine was the gain,
Renewed thy life !

He was the first to mark the tides,
The rocks, the shoals St. Lawrence hides—
The mariner in him confides
And bans his fears;
"The ship," he cries, "in safety rides
When Martin steers."

Though fate 'mong strangers cast his lot
He ne'er forgot he was a Scot,
Thrifty and shrewd he was, I wot,
Canty and gaucy,
Proud of the nickname that he got,
"Abra'm l'Ecossais."

Let us whate'er our race or creed,
This ancient Scot's example heed,
And give the best that's in our breed
That ours may be
A Canada in word and deed
High-souled and free.

KING OF ENGLAND WHO WAS A JOCKEY

Lord Durham, in his foreword to Captain Frank Slitzer's bok, "Newmarket," commends this attempt to strike out a new line of turf literature by conjuring up images of the past, and a lively impression of the love of sport and open-air pursuits which has attracted the English people to Newmarket for hundreds of years.

It is almost a history of England in little, and is extraordinarily interesting. One of the early lovers of Newmarket was John Wilmot, Earl of Rochester, who, when exiled from Charles II.'s Court, took an inn at Six-Mile Bottom, called the Green Man, where he and the Duke of Buckingham, both disguised, acted as landlords at the Newmarket race meetings.

In 1684 Charles II. raced against Henry Jermyn at Newmarket. Except possibly Richard fI., he is the only Sovereign of England who rode his horses first past the post, and he is certainly the only one who rode races at Newmarket.

Captain Siltzer tells many stories of strange bets and stranger races, most notable of which was Captain Robert Barclay's feat of walking 1000 hours for a bet of 1000 guineas. He started his walk on May 31, 1809, and finished it on July 12 before 10,000 spectators.

"Old John" Gully,, who rose from the Fleet Prison to be champion boxer, M.P., colliery owner, owner of a Derby winner, and father of two of the most beautiful girls in England, is another picturesque figure in this fascinating gallery of sporting celebrities.—Toronto World.

To get to the top one usually has to get in on the ground floor.

INDIANS NEGLECTED

Not more than ten per cent. of the Indian children of the treaty tribes receive school education. This discovery was made at a recent census taken at the time of annual payment of treaty money throughout the Northwest and Northwest Territories of the Dominion.

Just what it means is not difficult to tell. It means, first of all, that the nation is leaving its wards to illiteracy and ignorance with their attendant evils. The teachings of the Indians has been relegated to the churches, and the mission funds are to some extent supplemented by the Federal Treasury. Yet after more than a century of mission schools only one child in ten is being given even a "common school" education. And this at a time when even in the far Mackenzie country the tribesmen are coming into contact with modern civilization. It is scarcely a national policy!—Toronto World.

Headaches
Are Usually Due to Constipation

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Mrs Haron sends this recipe, which she says we gave her several years ago. We are glad to get if for our own card was lost.

Beat two eggs slightly and add one-quarter cup Pacific Milk. Pour this gradually into one cup of sifted flour with one teaspoon of salt. Put a Collander over boiling water and force the mixture through with a potato masher. As soon as the buttons come to the top of the water, skim off and sprinkle with salted grated cheese. Put them in the oven five minutes and serve.

Mrs. Logue States Money Failed To Buy Health, But Tanlac Restored It.

"I bless the day I started on the Tanlac treatment, for it completely ended my troubles, which has kept me in misery ever since I came here from Scotland eleven years ago," is the grateful statement of Mrs. Emily Logue, 129 N. Park Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

"At times indigestion, gas bloating and heart palpitation tortured me till I thought it would drive me frantic. My appetite was so poor I scarcely ate enough to keep going, and I grew so weak and worn out I had to let my housework go. My head ached till I thought it would split, I had fearful dizzy spells, and couldn't get a good night's sleep.

"I spent enough money on medicine to buy a home, but nothing helped me until I started on Tanlac. I now have a splendid appetite, my digesion is perfect, and I always feel strong and well, for Tanlac has built me up to robust health and I will always praise it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

FINE SPECIMENS OF BUFFALO HIDES

Several fine specimens of buffalo hides and heads have recently been received by the Canadian National Parks branch, Department of the Interior. These were secured from animals killed in Buffalo National Park during the winter and are of excellent quality. The robes, dressed, measured eight feet wide and twelve feet long and the hair is long and glossy. The manes on the heads are also exceptionally long, measuring from fourteen to sixteen inches.

Here and There

The Swiss Government has appropriated 500,000 francs for the purpose of assisting the emigration of unemployed workers, especially as farmers to Canada.

Saskatchewan now stands first in the world in regard to the number of rural telephones per capita, with a telephone for every nine of the population.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has a survey party in the Rouyn goldfield, plotting a route in case it should be decided to push further northward the line now being built from Mattawa to Quinze.

Construction work on a 39 mile extension of the Acme-Empress line running from Drumheller to the Bull Pond will be commenced this year according to statement made by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Organization of the Okanagan fruit growers into a co-operative association has now been accomplished. Among the main difficulties which faced the co-operative advocates was the raising of adequate credit to finance the whole scheme. This has been overcome

The United States bought Canadian produce during February to the value of $26,719,205 in comparison with $20,116,356, Canada's exports to the United States in 1922. Exports of Canadian produce to the United Kingdom were $17,874,260 in February 1923, and $15,316,265 in February 1922.

Canadian exports of whiskey for the year ending March 31st, 1923, amounted to 339,181 gallons valued at $2,698,377; for the previous year the quantity exported was 192,910 gallons valued at $882,729. Ale and beer exported during the past year amounted to 1,454,629 gallons, while for the previous twelve months the amount was only 421,-960 gallons.

Making Canada Europe's best and quickest road to the Orient means much to this country and the Canadian Pacific Railway, in rearranging its route from England or France to Japan so as to reduce the journey by four days, has made the route more than ever a serious competition of travel via the Suez Canal. About 10,000 miles in 21 days is better than even Jules Verne thought of.

A silver tag attached to the dorsal fin of a salmon before its release after the eggs have been removed at the Dominion Government hatcheries is one of the methods resorted to by the Fisheries Department for tracing the life history of the fish. A reward of $1 is paid by the Department for the return of silver tags that are being attached to Atlantic salmon, together with scales from the side of the fish, and particulars regarding their length, weight and place of capture.

With a view to developing tourist resorts along its line in Central and Western Ontario, the Canadian Pacific Railway will erect Bungalow Camps after the style of those successfully operated in the Rockies. The first three will be built in the Nipigon, French River and Lake of the Woods districts, and should be ready for occupation by July 1st. The low cost of construction and maintenance will make it possible to charge much lower rates than the standard hotel, and the camps will prove a boon to those of moderate means who desire to spend a week or more or less in the outdoors.

B. C. ITEMS OF INTEREST

Victoria—Owing to the great increase of traffic on the Halls-Landing Ferry, four miles west of Arrowhead on the Columbia River, Hon. W. R. Sutherland, minister of public works, has authorized the construction of a new power ferry to supersede the old hand power and current ferry. Timber for the ferry is being shipped from the coast and the power installation is being built at the Nelson Iron Works. The new ferry will have a capacity of six vehicles. Tenders for its construction are being called for at Revelstoke. The old ferry is to be removed and re-installed at a point about twelve miles below Revelstoke.

Vancouver — A sensational expose of Rev. Morton Gregory, promoter of the Gregory Tire and Rubber Company is made in the current number of the "Hook," the new weekly paper published by J. S. Cowper, ex-M.P.P. for Vancouver and late editor of "The World." According to the article Rev. Gregory received $750 in cash and shares for an alleged patent which turns out to be worthless, being only an ordinary factus in use by rubber manufacturers. Gregory refuses to return to Canada to be examined for discovery in a civil suit for the return of the cash and shares. His associate, Wilson, has sucsessfully fought extradition proceedings on a fraud charge laid by the Attorney-General's Department.

Nanaimo—The City Council and Board of Trade of Nanaimo have endorsed the proposal of the Coast Range Steel Company to start an iron and steel industry at some point near the coast to supply the Pacific and Prairie market. The president, H. J. Landahl, who spoke, wants the Provincial Government to join the Dominion and Imperial Governments in guaranteeing bonds to the extent of $12,000.00 and he will bring in a like amount of British capital.

Victoria—A long standing grievance at the newly incorporated village of Smithers is to be removed, the government having agreed to expend $5500 on a special drainage ditch to take care of certain areas in the village. Assistant District Engineer Dunlop is being instructed to go ahead with the work by day labor.

Victoria — The Public Works Department has accepted the offer of Jean Bochien, a Kaslo miner, to expend $200 in labor on repairing the bridges and trails on Hammil Creek, the department expending the balance of $800 in day labor and material. A sum of $1000 is to be spent on river bank protection for the Bella Coola River.

Vancouver — Mr. Justice Gregory has rebuked Sheriff Peters of Prince George in the case of a claim for $752, fees for being in technical possession of $115 worth of second-hand furniture from a Chinese hotel at Williams Lake. His lordship calls it a scandal of justice to put in such a claim and disallowed it entirely with costs, pointing out that Peters was never in physical possession of the goods. The full story is dealt with in "The Hook," the new Vancouver weekly paper.

Vancouver—"The Hook," the new weekly independent paper published by J. S. Cowper is assailing the high rates charged by the C. P. R. for fares, meals and berths on the coast service. In an amusing letter to President E. W. Beatty, it reminds the C. P. R. president, that the prices were raised during war time on a plea to discourage unnecessary travelling and that the war is over now.

Victoria—A batch of authorizations for public works by day labor in various parts of the province have been made public today following the departure of Hon. Dr. Sutherland, minister of public works, and his chief engineer, Mr. P. Phillip, for a tour of the public works of the province.

The new authorizations include $1000 for a new deck to the Lulu Island bridge; repairs to the road to Woodwards Landing; $1400 for two new bridges in the Newcastle district of Vancouver Island over the Nanaimo River and Davis Creek; $10,000 for work in the Kamloops district on the Chase-Squilax-Sorrento road and the Kault Hill road; $10,000 for the Peace River section of the highway in the Fort George district and $1500 for repairs in the Greenwood district to the Kettle River, Midway, Nicholson and Star bridges.

By arrangement with the Mines Department a survey of a new wagon road to the Indian Mines in South Atlin district is to be made commencing at an elevation of 500 feet and attaining an altitude of 2100 feet. The minister of mines has also agreed to pay half of the cost of repairing the road to the American Boy mine in the Slocan district.

In the Lillooet district the mines department has authorized $1700 worth of repairs to the Warner Pass trail and $400 for the Gun Pass trail.

Repairs and reconstruction have also been authorized for the Driftwood Creek bridge in Omineca and the McKenzie bridge over Saskatoon Creek in the Peace River section of the Fort George district.

Vancouver—A mob of two thousand women admirers, stormed the dressing room of Rudolph Valentino at the close of his performance, wrecking his canvas dressing tent. The star fled for refuge.

New Canadians Start For Canada

A Busy Scene at the Liverpool Dock.

THE facilities for handling outward bound passengers at the Canadian Pacific dock at Liverpool, England, are as perfect and speedy as any in the world. As will be seen from the picture above of future Canadian citizens boarding the "Montcalm", the travellers pass from the street and railway station levels to waiting rooms on the dock side, and crossing the bridged wharf, board the ship by the saloon deck where they are received and assigned to quarters. Their baggage is handled from below and with despatch. A travelling belt carrier operated by an electric dynamo eliminates the necessity of many noisy and slow moving winch hoists which, when used and not too carefully operated, are the cause of many trunks and boxes being damaged, so that the baggage is carefully loaded and distributed almost as quickly as the passengers are received. It is usually planned to have all the passengers aboard at least half an hour before sailing time, and the gangway is down for their reception about three hours before that time unless special trains are scheduled to arrive earlier.

As for other dock-side facilities, the Montcalm commenced to take on coal and discharge cargoe, mostly package freight, at six o'clock of the morning of a recent arrival. By 2.45 in the afternoon she had taken 1,000 tons of coal into her side bunkers, and at the same time she was unloading 1,700 tons of freight, this being discharged by 7.15 the same evening.

COMMUNITIES grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost Fernie by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

Folks who try to save pennies oftentimes lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest vlaues for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living from the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price.

When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices," you should think twice before buying. If you are "stung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once and probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take great care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.

* * * * * * *

BAD NEWS travels faster than good news. There is an old saying, "No news is good news." Let a man be converted at a church service and there is not much a stir, but let a resident be convicted of some crime and the news leaps by word of mouth from one end of the community to the other.

How thoughtlessly unkind we sometimes are when neighbors of ours suffer misfortune! Troubles are bound to come to us all in some shape or form and what we say about our friends and acquaintances today may apply to us tomorow. News is no respector of persons.

We are prone to consider the ways of others not our own ways when we should be watching our own step. What folks say of one another sometimes hurts more than anything they could have done. News, either good or bad, grows and becomes exaggerat- and distorted with peddling. When the news is good it makes no material difference how it is exaggerred and distorted with peddling. When anyone positive harm. But when news, given wings, may bring sorrow and ruin upon people who certainly are not deserving of a punishment beyond the penalty of their mistake.

More charity for others will mean more charity for ourselves and we will gradually come to take a keener delight in reporting something good of some person than something bad. Good is constructive, bad is destructive. Just before you are about to let out a bit of "bad news," stop and think a moment. See if you can't think of something good to say in place of it. The chances are ten to one that you can and that you will.

* * * * * * *

WE ARE living in the age of wonders. Where ten years ago folks would scoff at a new idea and say, "Impossible," they now consider it seriously and admit, "Well, that might be done. Nothing is really impossible."

Especially does this seem true of the wireless. The latest discovered use of wireless is its ability to make the deaf hear. Many people who have never heard any sound, have listened to music and the human voice for the first time in their lives, because the ear drums were effected by the finer vibrations of wireless when the ordinary tuning fork vibration made no impression.

In a most remarkable book, "A Dweller on Two Planets," dictated by Phylos, one who lived on this earth 12,000 years ago, through the medium of automatic writing, we learn that wireless was developed beyond our present conception by a civilization far superior to the generation of our day. In ancient Atlantis an instrument called the "naim" enabled one to see distant events as they transpired and to talk face to face with friends, though thousands of miles separated their physical bodies.

We are about to rediscover this remarkable wireless mirror. At the present time, Edouard Belin distinguished French scientist, is working on an invention which he calls the telephoto device, that when perfected will equal the "naim," product of a forgotten civilization.

Nicola Telsa, American electrical wizard, is also expermienting along the same line and says that the means of seeing by wireless as well as hearing can and will be accomplished within a short time.

Imagine sitting in your home and seeing some world event take place as vividly as if you were actually present, even to the hearing of the things that transpire. Distance is no barrier. The device will work at a distance of five thousand miles as easily as five miles. The vibrations will pass through the earth's surface unbroken.

This is a subject which would stand columns of writing and not decrease in interest. We are led to make another worn expression at the future possibilities of our world today, "Will wonders never cease."

So far this season 300 forest fires have been reported to the government, and wil none have assumed alarming proportions, still Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, is sending out fresh warnings all over the province for citizens and officials to be more careful. If the magnificent forests of British Columbia are to be conserved the public must co-operate to the fullest extent.

Attention is being called by the government to the regulations governing the keeping of dogs. In sheep protection districts all dogs must be licensed and anyone may kill a dog which is found worrying sheep. The owner of the dog is also liable to a fine of $50 on summary conviction. Hon. T. D. Pattullo states that he is determined to increase the number of sheep in the province, so that it will not be necessary to import millions of dollars worth of mutton annually.

A striking indication of the healthy condition of industry in British Columbia was the incorporation of $11,000,000 worth of new companies last week. Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, declares that in practically every department of industrial development British Columbia is making great strides. Labor is at a premium in some industries, and the government labor bureaus are filling positions by the hundred every week.

R. are running passenger locals between Cranbrook and Cowley. The eastbound train leaves Fernie at 12:52, city time and the westbound at 20:42 city time.

The East Kootenay Power Company writes us as follows: "In order to prevent confusion between our Bull River plant and Bull River town, we have named the plant 'Aberfeldie.' by which name it will be known from now on. This is named after a similar spot in Scotland, which is eulogized by Robert Burns. We are going to endeavor to have the name of the river changed, as it seems too bad that one of the most beautiful streams in British Columbia should have such a poor name as Bull River."

ASHTON—DAVIDSON

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson, on Dalton Avenue, last Monday afternoon, when Lloyd Francis Ashton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashton of London, Ontario, was united in matrimony to Miss Joan Davidson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson, of this city, the Rev. Mr. Burns officiating.

The bride was supported by Miss Jessie Richardson while Jack Reardon acted as best man for the groom.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering over fifty, sat down to the wedding dinner provided by the bride's parents, the young couple leaving shortly afterwards by automobile for Cranbrook, Windermere and Banff where they will spend a two week's honeymoon.

NOHELS—BELANGER

On Monday morning, June 4th, in the Catholic Church at Creston, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding when Miss Jennie Belanger was united in marriage to Clarence Nohels of Spokane. Rev. Father Bissett officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father and looked charming in a frock of flame canton crepe and white picture hat, carrying a bouquet of snowballs and lilacs. The bride was assisted by Miss Lydia Johnson, being charmingly attired, and the groom was supported by Mr. Wm. Belanger, brother of the bride.

The happy couple motored to the home of Mr .and Mrs. McGonigal, at Kitchener, where a wedding breakfast was served, only intimate friends being present, after which the young couple left on the noon train, amid showers of rice and confetti, for Spokane where they will make their home.

On Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. McGonigal, a shower was given in honor of Miss Jennie Belanger. Miss Belanger was the recipient of many beautiful and valuable presents. The home was tastily decorated for the occasion and the latter part of the evening spent in dancing.

Fred Spalding arrived in town last evening after driving over 2000 miles. He says that every where he went he found great interest being taken in the Banff-Windrmere Road and he believes that the estimate of the numbers who will go over it this year, to be away low of the number who do so. He says that the Sportsmen's and Tourists Fair at Spokane was a great success, being visited by about 130,000 people during the six days it was open. His booth of pictures of the B.-W. Next week we shall have an article from Fred on his trip.

CHILD SUICIDE AND THE CURE

Waves of suicide were reported in various parts of the country during 1922, and one girls' suicide club was discovered. Most alarming is the fact that more than 900 children took their own lives. The total number of suicides reported is 12,000—about the same number as were reported for the previous year. Include in this 1922 total were wealthy, socially prominent and highly educated persons. There were thirty-eight students, fifty college professors and school teachers, nineteen preachers and leaders of religious work, fifty-two judges and lawyers, eighty-four physicians, one hundred presidents and heads of large business concerns, and a number of bank presidents, one of whom, we are told, tried ten times to die before succeeding. The list also includes seventy-nine millionaires. These figures are given in the annual report of Dr. Harry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life League, with headquarters in New York. In looking at this grave situation, Dr. Warren says that we do not need investigators. "The facts are well known. Suicide cases fill our papers and usually without attracting the slightest serious attention. We need instant action."

The most trivial causes, according to the report, operated in leading people to the last resort of the desperate. A girl ended her life because she became depressed after bobbing her hair, a man because he was forced to quit playing golf. A woman killed herself after missing two trains, a man because he feared the end of the world was at hand, another because of a row over a cat. A designer was driven to suicide trying to guess the spring styles for women. One felt driven to it because he didn't want to face another winter. Another killed himself "for the fun of it," and still another ended her life "just to get a new thrill." This is sufficiently bad, but, continues the report, as it is quoted in the press:

"The suicide of children is a matter particularly distressing and a most serious problem, to be carefully considered. In 1919 we reported 477 child suicides. In 1920 there were 707. In 1921 the number increased to 858. In 1922 there were over 900, or nearly 3000 in four years. The average age of boy suicides is sixteen, girls fifteen. Most girls use poison; the boys use a gun. When five school girls n four days commit suicide it is time the public asked the reason why. The conclusion reached probably will be that they were temperamentally disordered, or home conditions were intolerable, or that the school system was at fault. All three are the chief causes for child suicide.

"Child marriages is another serious cause. In 1920 there were 1600 boys and 12,000 girls fifteen years of age in the United States listed as married, and nearly 500 of them were recorded as widowed or divorced. The married boys of sixteen numbered 3222. Those of seventeen numbered 7690, those of eighteen 24,644. Girls who had married at sixteen numbered 41,620, at seventeen 90,930, and those at eighteen 186,645. Many of these children soon after marriage find that they have made a great mistake in their choice, quarrel, separate, get divorced and supply many suicides as well as homicides. Parents and teachers should educate children to avoid emotional excesses, to meet bravely the unpleasant things in life."

There is no understandable reason for suicide, even in adult life, except that of insanity, says The Catholic Vigil (Grand Rapids). "Normal firmness of character, coupled with faith in God, would steel one's heart to the heaviest blow, would render suicide incompatible with sanity. But youthful suicide is simply inexplicable on any ground whatsoever except that of a miserably faulty system of education." Nine hundred child suicides in a year indicate that something serious is wrong, and, says the Catholic Vigil:

"We have got to stop blaming everything on the war. Juvenile suicide has nothing to do with war; nothing to do with business; nothing to do with insanity; nothing to do with sex perseverance, except in so far as the presence of the latter motive represents intolerable negligence on the part of those responsible.

"Authority is wanting today in the education of the young, authority and discipline in the home as well as in the school. And religion is wanting. A writer has suggested 'tempermental disorders' as a cause. Temperment in a boy or girl generally means lack of sense on the part of the parents. Sixteen years is given as the average age of juvenile suicides. That is the age of rebellion against discipline. It is the age when restraint becomes intolerable, when boys and girls are liable to put on the airs of manhood and womanhood without the necessary equipment. Juvenile suicide is just another name for unprotection. Sixteen years is the dangerous age, and unfortunately the age when children are too often treated with a deference and indulgence that might be paid to old age. It is unfortunate that the impressionable years of American childhood should not be better shielded by faith and discipline that is born of faith. This is the land of freedom, but there is a freedom that is worse than slavery. Freedom without discipline is a misnomer. The first principle of education might be written in the words with which the evangelist summed up the early life of the supreme Exemplar of childhood: "He went to Nazareth and was subject to them."—Literary Digest.

Dean Inge in dealing with the situation in Russia says: "We have an awful object lesson before us of what may happen to a great nation which entrusts its destinies to a band of revolutionary fanatics. First come the half crazy idealists with their nostrums, tearing to pieces the delicate and complicated structure of civilization, and offering to put it together again, as if they were dealing with a clock and not with a living organism. Then, when the machinery of law and order has been destroyed, the idealists are thrust aside, and bloodthirsty criminals step into their places. They could not stop if they wished to do so. 'He who rides on a tiger can never dismounts, as a Chinese proverb says." Dean Inge is of opinion that if Karl Marx and others like him had never lived, Russia would have recovered easily enough from the war. In this respect he quotes Napoleon's saying that "though a nation were built of granite, the theories of economists would be enough to reduce it to powder."

WALKS IN BANDIT LAND

Early in 1921 there appeared in a city in wetstern China an iron-grey Englishman of military appearance, armed with a walking cane and proposing to walk to India. He was Brig.-Gen. George Pereira, 58 years old, a veteran of the South African and European wars, then enroute from Peking to Calcutta. Alone, afoot and unarmed, the veteran saw no reason for alarm. He had already passed through some of the most chaotic regions of China, and for him the 50,000 bandits of Szechwan and Shensi provinces held no terrors.

General Pereira was entertained by the British Consul at Chengtu, capital of Szechwan province, focal centre of the 1922 disorders in China, and then sallied forth toward Tibet, the Forbidden Land.

Now he is in hospital at Calcutta, recouperating from his hardships. His story has all the adventures befitting one who travels 7000 miles over a route never taken by man before.

After the Armistice, General Pereira was sent to Peking as military attache to the British Embassy. In January of 1921 he was ready to go back to England, but his sporting instinct had been aroused by tales of the difficulty of travel through certain sections of China. The tales had not been exaggerated, for he now reports that Shensi and Szechwan provinces had no central authority, but were ruled by 50,000 bandits.

The first lap of his journey was comparatively luxurious. A Chinese cart carried him to the Wangho, where at Loryang in the borders of Shensi he met General Wu Pei-Fu of Peking, then opening up his 1921 campaign to occupy and pacify Shensi province on behalf of the Northern Government.

It was practically impossible to pass through either Shensi or Szechwan to Tibet without making some terms with the brigands at various points. Once Gen. Pereira visited a magistrate, who "fixed" the local chieftain. The traveller was then allowed to proceed on his strange way.

His entry into Chengtu, capital of Szechwan, was a sensation. His monocle was matched by his pith helmet and his delicate cane. At the consulate he took tea with the ladies of the missions, and in a letter to Toronto from a Canadian Methodist missionary was contained the word of of his departure for the Tibetan mountains. At Chengtu he was 1500 miles up the Yangtze River from Shanghai.

Boldly he sallied out on the unfamiliar roads through the salt well districts, where Wu Pei-Fu was destined to operate this year, and went on through the tribe country to the foothills, and then into the territory of Prince Chorri. This Tibetan lord entertained the distinguished visitor with high wassall, and they hunted together for a time. Waving farewell, the dauntless old soldier swung downward through north-eastern Tibet towards Lhassa, the capital of the Dalai Lama.

Among his surprising experiences he numbers his reliance on iron chains to help him up the precipices of the Hwashan, his comfort in the brief railway journey from Peking to Tientsin and his weclome in the compounds of Canadian missionaries.—Toronto World.

There is no better way to build a car -- no surer measure of its value.

Few truths are universally accepted.

One of these few is the fact that the man or the organization that concentrates time and ability on doing one thing well will inevitably gain a knowledge and an expertness beyond that of any who do not so specialize.

The recognition of this fact and its consistent application for eight years have made the specialized COLUMBIA SIX the remarkable automobile it is today. Behind this fine car are massed the combined resources of America's leading builders of specialized units—men, machines and millions such as no single manufacturer has ever brought to bear on the production of an automobile.

The 50 horsepower Columbia Six motor is built by men who for twenty years have built nothing but fine motors and who have attained world leadership in their line.

Axles, transmission, clutch, universal joints, electrical system—all vital Columbia units, are similarly chosen. Each represents a standard, each is the result of specialized knowledge.

Columbia men are themselves specialists in the delicate process of fabricating these units into a finished automobile, notable for its beauty as well as for mechanical excellence.

If there is a better way to assure comlete dependability, economy and long life in a motor car, experience and common sense alike have so far failed to find it.

In no other automobile, moreover, can an intending purchaser so definitely measure the value his dollars buy. Columbia can be analized, unit for unit and part for part, and in every instance the buyer will find he must pay more elsewhere for the same high grade construction. Specialization, in other words, provides the final advantage of manufacturing economy, fully demonstrated in the extremely low prices set on Columbia Sixes—eight models from which to choose.

These are the reasons why the Columbia dealer in your city is a dealer in lasting satisfaction as well as in beautiful automobiles. Let him prove this to you.

POLI NEGRI AS DESERT DANCER IS REVALATION

"One Arabian Night," starring that dynamic motion picture actress, Poli Negri, is to be the feature at the Orpheum Theatre for an engagement of two days starting next Wednesday.

Miss Negri plays the part of a dancer of the desert in this Associated First National attraction. Her master, a hunchback, is the owner of a caravan of entertainers who travel from town to town, their appearance being hailed with joy in every place.

One day they reach Bagdad, heralded in song and story as the home of romance and intrigue. There the dancer meets the prince, who falls in love with her and woes her with ardor, despite the difference in their stations.

She manages to become an inmate of the harem of the shiek, father of the prince, to be near her lover, but tragedy puts an end to her dreams of bliss with her noble sweetheart.

The production is notable for its harem scenes. Never has a more pretentious set than this been shown in motion pictures. The camera's panorama reveals an immense room, ornamented with stately pillars and other decorations, and priceless tapestries.

More than a hundred harem girls are shown, garbed in silks and satins with striking effect.

Zuleika is the favorite of the harem, and in spite of the fact that she is closely guarded by the eunuchs, romance finds its way into the secret portals when she falls in love with Nour-ed-din, the young and handsome silk merchant.

Aided by other members of the shiek's harem, Zulieka manages to smuggle her lover into the harem, where she dances for him and where they spend happy hours of love.

The picture has been produced by Ernest Lubitsch, who likewise directed "Passion" and "Gypsey Blood." He plays the part of the hunchback, sharing honors with Miss Negri.

A VOICE FROM THE WILD

Camp 4, White Spruce,
May 29, 1923

Dear Junius:

In a fit of drunken fury I started to read last week's Free Press and while perusing your own personal column, I was particularly interested in the paragraph describing a young Fernie man's experience while going into the first church after "popping the question."

I note that he "folded her in his arms, pressed his lips to hers, and whispered, Dearest, is this the first time you have ever loved."

Now Junius, old thing, I want to tell you something, without the slightest stretching of the truth, at least twice in my young and foolish life I have accidentally discovered my arms entwined around some fair damsel, and each time I have "pressed my lips to hers." With my lips so pressed, I have wanted, Oh boy, how I have wanted to whisper, but I'll be darned if I could figure out any way to do it.

So Junius, if you can induce the aforementioned Fernie young man to explain just how he can do this little thing, I will say to him (was it Omar Khayyam or Isaiah once said) "You're a better man than I am, Gordon Gin."

Yours for the enlightenment of mankind.— George Heafford.

Health turns the clock backward

"I am too Nervous to Carry a Revolver."

Health Talk No. 21.

By G. J. Parks, D. C.

"Always I have slept with a revolver nearby but last night I couldn't sleep. Sometime after midnight I heard a noise and I located it beneath a lower floor window, and shot. I heard one agonized yelp and next morning found a neighbor's dog shot through the back. I remember now that the noise was that of the dog gnawing a bone, but I was so nervous I shot first and thought afterward. I'll never carry a revolver again."

There is a nervousness that is mental and is healed by rest and relaxation, and there is the nervousness that is due to physical causes which make it impossible to relax, or rest, or sleep. The man who shot the dog in a fit of nervous excitement had spent the best portion of the night in a vain effort to relax and sleep. His troubles were clearly physical and are easily reached by the nerve restorative methods that are peculiar to chiropractic. Chiropractic, you know, is essentially a science for restoring normal nerve conditions. In nervous disorders of physical origin we feel it is safe to say that chiropractic has had no failures.

HEALTH FOLLOWS

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

ILL FOR TEN YEARS

"My daughter was ill for ten years with nervousness and rheumatism. Once she was bed-fast for seven months. Medical experts said her case was hopeless. Chiropractic was thought worth a trial and in the first few adjustments a change in her nervousness was noted. In four months she was normal."

HOLY FAMILY CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

An event eagerly looked forward to by the Sunday School classes of the Holy Family Church was the annual picnic, held in the Park on Sunday last.

Immediately after High Mass the children, to the number of two hundred, were driven to the scene of the festivities in cars, seventeen in number, kindly placed at their disposal by members of the congregation.

First call for lunch was sounded at twelve o'clock when the kiddies regaled themselves with the most seasonable eats, provided in abundance by the ladies of the parish, and indulged in this form of pastime at regular intervals throughout the day.

Running races were an important feature of the day's programme and the different classes were keenly contested by the fleet-footed youngsters.

Not the least important of these events was the men's race, and the speed displayed by the "old 'uns" in this greulling contest was a revelation to the onlookers. This race was won handily by the writer, who modestly refrains from signing his name.

The baseball game between the ladies and the men proved a walk-over for the former despite the raw decisions given against them by Umpire Charlebois, who displayed great chagrin at the triumph of her sisters.

All in all the picnic was a delightful affair for the young and old and was another demonstration of the energy and initiative of the young ladies of the Sodality who engineered it. These frankly declared their efforts would have been in vain had it not been for the assistance given by the Knights of Columbus who not only took charge of the games but were in constant readiness to help in every way possible to add to the pleasure of the children who broke all the laws as to seating places when it came to joy rides about the park.

Thanks is due to the ladies of the Catholic Women's League, Knights of Columbus and car owners, all of whom so signally contributed to the success of the outing.

WILL DEPORT CHARLES LASSANDRO BACK TO ITALY

CALGARY, June 12.—Charles Lassandro, husband of Florence Lassandro who was hanged for the murder of Consable Lawson, was arrested in Coleman under the Immigration Act and will be deported to Italy, on the grounds that he gained admission to Canada unlawfully. According to A. F. George, immigration agent here, Lassandro and his wife were refused admittance to Canada when they first tried to come here from Minot, South Dakota, some time ago. It is thought that the couple later walked across the line at a point where there were no immigration officials.

"DRY SQUAD" ACTIVITIES

Employees of four local hotels are now being prosecuted in the local Magistrate's Court on charges of contraventing the Government Liquor Act, as a result of the activities of a Government "Dry Squad" which operated in this dietrict during the month of April.

It is being alleged that members of this squad purchased alcoholic beverages in the Central ,the Northern and the Roma hotels here during their visit in April. Raids were made by the local authorities on all hotels on Friday afternon and evening last, but only in the Queen's Hotel was any liquor found in an illegal place and this hotel is being charged accordingly.

Reports from Elko and Cranbrook state that the "Dry Squad" have also been busy in these districts with the result that many hotel proprietors and refreshment bar owners are in the toils.

Four local youths were up before Magistrate Henderson last Monday morning charged by Government operatives with threatening them with bodily harm. One was fined ten dollars and costs the other three being discharged.

In the City Police Court today, Wm. Ross, proprietor of the Queens Hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in other than a private guest room in his hotel and was fined $50 and costs.

Max Belecky, proprietor of the City Hotel, pleading guilty on a charge of having the word "Bar" over one of the entrances to his hotel, contrary to the Act, was dismissed upon his promise to have this word alterated.

The three cases of alleged selling have been remanded until Monday.

TOPICS ON TOURING

By Fred Spalding

Since I got back from my drive to Vancouver I have been asked by several of our local motorists who are intending driving to the Coast, what the roads are like, etc, so as there are probably several others desiring like information, here it is:

The road from here to the other side of Moyie, about 90 miles, is one of the best stretches in the whole trip. From Moyie to Kingsgate it is very much improved since last year and crews are working on it now and they say that in about a month it will be in very good shape. From Kingsgate to Bonners Ferry it is pure unadulterated Hell, if the road through Meadow Brook is taken, but this can be avoided by switching off at Addie, a few miles past Kingsgate, and taking the Copeland road. That is the one which is being graded and surfaced now and will be the main road when it is finished. It is rough in spots but infinitely better than the other one, and is already marked with the Blue marking of the California Banff Bee Line Highway. Bonners Ferry to Sandpoint is splendid. Sandpoint to Spokane is getting pretty bad now and my advice is to turn off at Athol, and go to Coeur d'Alene, from where into Spokane it is all paved, this makes it about twenty miles farther, but is better going and time can be saved. I went one way and back the other over both of these stretches.

From Spokane the best route is by way of Davenport, Wilbur, Hartline and Wilson Creek, Ephrates, Vantage Ferry and Ellensburg, then Cle Elum and over the Snoqualmie Pass to Bothel, from here one can go direct to Everett and miss Seattle or if they want to, go to Seattle and then straight up the Pacific Highway to Vancouver. Don't let anyone influence you to take the Blewett Pass route as they told me that parts of it are still very bad, as it has not been surfaced. Following the above route, three days comfortable driving will land one in Vancouver.

Throughout the drive I went into most of the camp sites and spoke to the people of the towns about them. Without exception the latter all said that they considered a camp site in the town was a great business getter, and a splendid thing for the business man. I conversed with many of the tourists I met in these grounds, some of them were on the way up here and others got information from me about these parts and said they would most likely come up on their next trip.

Our camp site is not quite so replete with conveniences as some of those I visited, but it certainly is the most beautiful one, and this is the general opinion of all those who have stayed in it recently.

Last Sunday there were over 35 people camping there, and several of them were from California and Oregon on their way up to Calgary to attend the Brotherhood Conference there this week. They had a prayer meeting Sunday morning and when it was over asked Mr. W. W. Brown and myself to say a few words to them and on behalf of Fernie we expressed pleasure at having them with us, etc. They then passed a resolution of thanks to the citizens of Fernie for the beautiful camp grounds which were the nicest they had stayed at, and also for the many kindnesses they had received from our people, this resolution was written out and they said it would be reported at their conference and appear in their magazine with the report of the conference. I took a snap of the group and this will appear with it.

Last week I promised a report of my trip, and same is given herewith.

Gentlemen:

I herewith tender you my report of my recent drive to the Coast for the purpose of attending the Sportsmens' & Tourists' Fair at Spokane from May 22 to the 27, where I had a booth and exhibited pictures of the best of our scenery, and carried on an information bureau. My exhibit created a very great deal of interest and had a crowd around it all the time. The first day I kept track of the number of motorists who said they intended driving up here this year and asked for maps and particulars regarding what to do and see when here, and the number was 268. The rest of the time I was not able to keep track of them, but the following days were busier with the ex-

INSPECTOR DUNWOODY WILL GO TO NELSON

VICTORIA, June 12. — Transfer of Inspector W. R. Dunwoody, of the provincial police, from Fernie to Nelson was announced today by the attorney-general.

"The change is being made with a view to bringing the inspectors in closed touch with conditions throughout their respective territories," said Mr. Manson. "The government regards Nelson as the logical place from which to direct police operations in the southeastern section of the province.

NEW MOTORING BODY FORMED

A league of motorists embracing for the present the automobile clubs of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, but which will be made province-wide in its scope as soon as possible was brought into being the other week, when a meeting of delegates from the three interested bodies met in the Vancouver Automobile Club headquarters.

The meeting did not definitely decide upon a base for the new body, this task and other matters pertaining to organization being left to a committee composed of Mr. T. H. Kirk, Vancouver Automobile Club; Mr. R. R. Webb, Victoria Automobile Club and Mr. J. R. Agar, New Westminster Automobile Club. This organization committee will report back to the main body on June 15.

Hardly a town in British Columbia will be too small to support an automobile club under the plan put forward at the meeting. Wherever there are twenty-five motorists willing to band themselves together into one body they will be granted a charter by the new organization.

In places where automobile clubs now exist in a more or less dormant condition every effort will be made to revivify and reorganize them into new activity for the benefit of motorists. An organizer will be appointed by the new body to travel throughout the province to aid in the formation of the outside clubs.

The new body has for its object the improvements of roads throughout the province, the solution of traffic problems, the encouragement of motor touring, the preservation of natural beauties and the safeguarding of the interests of 35,000 car owners throughout British Columbia.

For the benefit of the public at large, it was deemed advisable to point out that this new body which represents the organized motorists of the province with a membership of over 35,000 is in no way connected with the organization known as the B. C. Automobile Association.

Eighteen members of the Suffolk Guards, New York State Police force, passed through Fernie today enroute from New York State to do guard duty on the Mexican border at San Pedro, Cal. They had motored the entire distance in three automobiles and a truck, until they reached Blairmore, where they were compelled to ship their cars by frieght to Fernie to avoid being delayed. They continued on their long journey by motor from Fernie this afternoon.

The policy of the department of lands regarding colonization, as announced recently by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, is the settling of 500 farmers a year on the lands of B. C. "We will not attempt to bring a great number of settlers in at once," he said, "but we will be careful to inform the prospective citizens of conditions here. That number of new settlers every year would mean a substantial increase of population and the production of the province."

LIFE INSURANCE GAINS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

British Columbians are showing a marked preference for the Great-West Life Assurance Company according to a preliminary report of the Superintendent of Insurance, which shows that of the thirty-five life insurance companies represented in the coast province, nearly one-eighth of the life insurance issued last year was placed in the Great-West Life.

Eleven of the companies in British Columbia issued over a million dollars each, while The Great-West Life total for the year was $4,115,080, bringing their net amount in force up to the tremendous total, $25,692,787, the largest amount of any company.

ception of the last day. The exhibition was attended by over 125,000 visitors in five days, and I believe that I was able to induce most of those who made enquiries, to decide to come here during the summer. Whilst there I was invited to speak at two banquets and told them of our good roads and scenery. I also condemned the condition of the road between Kingsgate and Bonners Ferry, which is extremely bad, and pointed out that it will cause very unfavorable comment by those who have driven over it, and do a lot of harm all over the country, and as Spokane is as much interested in the travel over the Banff-Windermere Road as any of our own communities, advised them to take concerted action with the Ihado Chambers of Commerce and try to get some immediate action. This resulted in action being taken and work is now being done on that stretch of road and considerable improvement will be made before the opening of the Banff-Windermere Road.

After the exhibition was over I continued on to Vancouver, and on the way called at the information bureaus and garages in the larger towns and gave them all the particulars I could about these parts, and left maps with them all. I had a Banff-Windermer Road sticker on my windshield and at every place I stopped, people came around me to know about it. Many of them will undoubtedly visit here as a result.

I spent five days in Vancouver and visited both of the Automobile Clubs and the city information bureau and went very thoroughly into matters with them. They are now in a position to give intelligent information respecting the roads here, which they have never been able to do before. Several of the hotels and garages there have information desks, and I saw each of them whilst there.

I spent a day in Seattle on my way back and did the same there.

When I left there I stopped at different towns to those I did on the way out and found that the Banff-Windermers sticker created just as much interest in them as it had in the others, and in summing up my impression resulting from the trip, I feel sure that we have considerably underestimated the number of visitors the Banff-Windermer Road will bring.

I found out that very few of the people to whom I answered enquiries intended to make their return trip by driving down by the way of Glacier Park, what they intended to do was simply make the Circle Tour from Cranbrook and back to Cranbrook and home, and I think that by far the greater proportion of our visitors from Idaho, Washington and Oregon will take that route owing to the roads being so much better and the grades being so easy compared with those along the other route.

I took three thousand of our new maps, 250 of the Dominion Booklets about the Banff-Windermere Road and 200 of our last year's booklet away with me,, and only had three of the maps left. I do not think that any of them were wasted.

I have to call your attention to a matter which is likely to cause a serious loss of revenue to all our towns through the curtailment of much of our prospective tourist travel from California and Oregon.

I was invited to attend the banquet of The Greater Vancouver Publicity Association at the Vancouver Hotel on June 1, at which the principal speaker was to be Mr. M. Carrigan, the Publicity Commissioner for Seattle. About 150 of the principal business men of Vancouver were at the banquet and Mr. Carrigan outlined the campaign plans of Seattle in which he stated that Vancouver were participating in. I was expected to address the meeting after he was through, but after listening to what he had to say, I decided it would be better for me to say nothing, so left directly he finished. Briefly summed up, their plans are as follows:

First he stated that Seattle had a fund of $150,000 and that Vancouver's co-operation would give them close to $180,000 to spend this year.

They wer going to open up ten Information Bureaus each of which would be in charge of the most competent men they could procure, and they would be located in such places as, the principal centres in California, at Salt Lake City, Yellowstone Park, Portland and Walla Walla, and that their entire energies would be directed to getting into personal touch with every tourist coming up to this section of the Rockies and diverting every one they could up to Seattle and Vancouver instead. At each of the most prominent points of travel they would have an immense sign board placed which would have a map showing the route from where it was placed up to Seattle and Vancouver stating that it was a paved road through wonderful scenery and that the roads up to our section were only dirt and gravel and not too good at that. He said that 65 per cent. of the motorists who visited Yellowstone Park had their itinerary all planned out to that point, and from there could be induced to go anywhere, and expressed his firm conviction that he would be able to divert at least 50 per cent. of it up the Pacific Coast.

I called on Mr. Carrigan in Seattle on my way through and he gave me the details of his plan. If they are carried out, it will make a very serious inroad into our tourist travel, and make it imperative for us to take immediate steps to counteract their effect.

Ordinarily, results from Publicity Campaigns of the usual channels of advertising, take from one to three years to be noticeable, but this plan is a new departure and will shoy results immediately as the tourists are to be met personally en route and diverted.

In our Rockies we have perhaps the greatest scenic attraction on the American Continent, but we must not lose sight of the fact that by far the greater number of Americans do not know this, and a convincing talker meeting them can undoubtedly influence them against the Rockies in favor of the Pacific Coast. The men who will be in charge of those Information Bureaus, according to Mr. Carrigan, will be convincing talkers. There is wonderful scenery all up the Pacific Highway which is mostly all paved now, therefore they have a very strong argument to use, especially strong in view of the fact that all motorists prefer good roads, and it must be admitted that many of the roads leading to here are not good ones, when compared with the Pacific Highway.

In my opinion the matter is a serious and I would advise an early meeting of our Directors to discuss it, will you therefore, please let me know what your advice respecting this is, at as early a date as possible.

Addenda to My Report

Last summer by permission of the Dominion Government, I drove Mr. Bruce Hutchison, a well known writer, over the Banff-Windermer Road and through the Crow's Nest Pass, down to Waterton Lakes. He has been writing magazine and newspaper articles on the trip, and has recently sent me copies of the New York World, The Christian Science Monitor, and the Portland Oregonian, in each of which is an illustrated article of several columns in length, and are particularly eulogistic about the Crow's Nest Pass section. The World is one of the largest papers in existence with a circulation of about three million, The Oregonian reaches a very large part of the Pacific Coast south of Seattle and interior points and is especially popular with the motoring section of the public. The Monitor is the most widely circulated paper in America, it reaches every State in the Union, all of Canada and much of Europe. Mr. Hutchison says that it is the scoop of his career that the Monitor accepted his story. As these papers reach the territory from which we hope to draw much of our tourist travel, the publicity they have given us, must be enormous.

The following letter from the Spokane Chamber of Commerce has just reached me:

Dear Mr. Spalding—You may be interested to learn that the enclosed news item has been sent out by our Press Bureau in the course of it's regular service to 104 Inland Empire papers, and will appear in them—Signed: W. M. Flaherty, Secretary, Publicity Bureau.

This is the Item—Hundreds of motorists, many of them are living in California, will take part on June 30, in the celebration at the opening of the Banff-Windermer Road, through the heart of the Canadian Rockies, according to J. Fred Spalding of Fernie, B.C., Commissioner in charge of the Tourist Association of South Eastern B. C. and Southern Alberta.

A caravan of cars is now being organized by Frank W. Guilbert, of the Inland Automobile Association, to make the trip to Canada for the celebration of the opening of the million dollar highway.

This new highway is built at such a vast expense by the Canadian Government that it means more to the Northwest than can be realized. Mr. Spalding stated that for the last twelve years crews of workmen have been constructing the road.

The Spokane Chronicle also ran an interview with me about the road, and also the Vancouver Sun, and in the next issue of The Pacific Coast Motorist there will be one.

Publicity dope in the form of articles when run by newspapers usually costs a great deal of money and the public reading it recognize it as propaganda, but articles such as these were paid for by the papers and run as news articles of general interest, carry conviction with them. Beyond part of the expense incurred in driving Mr. Hutchison over the road, this has cost the Association nothing.

IS SURPRISED TO FIND SHE IS ALIVE

Mrs. Gorman Says She Didn't Expect To Survive Her Troubles. Praises Tanlac.

"Three years ago, before I got Tanlac, if anyone had told me I would be alive now I couldn't have believed it." said Mrs. Hannah Gorman, 414 Arthur Street, Windsor, Ont.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for seventeen years. Many a time I was in such agony I didn't think I could live through the day. I had awful smothering spells, terrible headaches, and was so nervous I was almost frantic and sleep was practically out of the question. Why, I was so weak I could hardly dress the children, to say nothing of taking care of the household duties.

"However, Tanlac gave me back my strength, and I've enjoyed perfect health ever since. I gained nearly ten pounds in weight, have a wonderful appetite and sleep eight or ten hours every night and feel so well life is a pleasure. Tanlac was a godsend to me. No medicine in the world can equal it."

Tanlac is for sale at all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

HOW ABOUT ANTI-GOLF LEAGUES?

At a recent convention of the National (U.S.) Association of Manufacturers the opinion was expressed that employers are spending too much time playing golf, to the detriment of industry. What are they going to do about it? Of course they will do something, for it is idle to suppose that anybody who disapproves of somebody else's way of recreation, or personal habits, will not make a desperate effort to amend them.

A writer in the New York "Tribune" suggests that anti-golf leagues may arise, and while perhaps one may not look for an immediate nation wide prohibition, it might easily happen in the future. "Anti-golf leagues will arise," says this writer, "and one State after another will prohibit the sale of golf clubs. Eventually Washington will decree that neither employer nor employed shall play eighteen holes without a doctors prescription, and the number of recipes for the year will be limited. There will be no relief on the high seas, since links cannot be accomodated even on Leviathans. And since golf is not a little conspicuous on the landscape it will be a difficult commodity to bootleg."—Saturday Night.

DISAGREEING DISAGREEABLY

An old-fashioned rule of etiquette placed politics, religion and business upon the list of subjects which were supposed to be barred from the dinner-table conversation.

What a ridiculous rule that was. Add to that list love and food and you have about all the subjects in which people are deeply interested. Oh yes, there is literature and art and dress and travel. But these things, say what you will, are in the list of secondary interests.

That doubtless is just why we may talk about them and may not talk about the things which interest us most deeply. The guardian of our manners could not trust us to talk about them without betraying our feelings too frankly.

In other words, it seems that we had not learned to be able to disagree without being disagreeable. That surely must have been the secret of making a rule against discussing the things which concern us most deeply.

Just the other day a group of young people got to discussing their religious beliefs. Before the evening was over, feeling ran high and the scar of bitter words was left in the minds of everyone present.

The whole secret of being able to disagree with people without being disagreeable lies in our ability to recognize the rights of other human beings to their own tastes, judgments and convictions. The only thing which we ought not to forgive in those who disagree with us is a lack of sincerity.

But granting that our friends who differ with us are sincere, we must admit that they have a perfect right to believe in high tariff or eternal torment if they want to.

Most of us who can't disagree without being disagreeable aren't even as good as the nations of the earth who are suffering from that very trouble. The nations who are disagreeable in their disagreements at least see some hard cash involved.

But those of us who disagree with each other in casual conversations only suffer from arrogance and cocksureness, and sometimes a little egotism.

We cannot conceive of another individual having a right to a point of view. It's just another form of self-centredness.

But then, the gentle art of letting people alone is perhaps one of the most difficult accomplishments in the world.—Toronto World.

A TEST OF CONDUCT

These are questioning days for young people. Many of them are busy throwing away old standards of conduct and manufacturing new one themselves, and when we question them they return the query with, "Why not?"

Well, why not? That is sometimes hard to answer. We are like the dull wits at school, who insist that they know but they can't just exactly tell.

Whereupon the youngsters look upon us scornfully as they have often seen their teacher look at them and reply, "if you really knew you could tell."

For one thing, there is that old saw about the right to live your own life. Somebody started that a few years ago, and the young folks grabbed at it just as if we older ones had never heard of it before. Bless their hearts, their fathers and mothers knew all about that long before they were born. But what fathers and mothers don't always stop to explain is that the arrival of these very young people twenty years ago answered that question for them.

But why shouldn't one live one's own life just as one wants to? Once you've got ahead of that poser you've answered for all time all that Mrs. Grundy has to say, all this old tomfoolery about convention and all the other purely imaginary fixed lines of right and wrong that some doddering old puritan father drew on the map of conduct a good many years ago.

And if they can't fell you with the fine phrase about living your own life, they have another poser for you in "Whose business is it anyway?"

What are you going to tell them when they hurl these thunderbolts of independence and revolution at you?

Well, I've often wondered if the late Emanuel Kant, a certain German gentleman who followed philosophy as a trade, wasn't responsible for most of the ructions raised by our young moderns when he set forth with great convictions in his theory of the importance of personality as the ultimate good.

Personality—your personality and mine—being more important to you and me than anything else in the universe, how logical then to "live one's own life" as the youngsters put it, at the expense of everybody and everybody. Develop your personality, be yourself, and you'll be, as the poet says, "The noblest work of God," is a notion that we have gotten hold of recently.

If the young people have eaten this food of reasoning, and it has made them a little ill, suppose we cure them with a little medicine out of the same bottle; give them a little more of Mr. Kant.

It was Kant who proposed as a test of conduct this question: "If your attitude became the general attitude, would the result be beneficial or otherwise?"

The answer to that question is always a pretty safe answer to the insistent "Why not?" of the young people.

Even a seventeen-year-old can see the sense of that. The trouble with some of them is that they think that the only way to express personality is by selfishness. It hasn't occurred to them that they may express their personalities in the most telling way when they exercise self control. But perhaps these are all waster words, since youth, some one says, is always right.—Toronto World.

BRITISH JUSTICE AND MURDER

According to a newly prepared statistics, the United States had an average of 8.5 murders per 100,000 of population per annum as compared with Canada's 1.8 murders per 100,000 of poulation per annum between the years 1912 and 1921.

The yearly murder average per 100,000 runs 3.7 in Boston, 1.7 in Montreal and 1.9 in Toronto.

But the really interesting averages are those of Vancouver and Seattle, 1.7 and 7.0 respectively.

The populations of Seattle and Vancouver are very much the same. The difference betwen the people themselves, their habits and their ideals, is very slight. Why then should Seattle have nearly five times as many murders a year as Vancouver?

The only possible answer seems to be in the difference between American and Canadian systems of justice.

American justice doesn't get results. Canadian justice with its nonsentimental bias and its disposition towards a rigid application of capital punishment in all murder cases does get results.—Vancouver Sun.

At one time in his early career, Rev. Burns was appointed chaplain at an eastern penitentiary, previous to his departure he spoke the following touching words of farewell to his congregation:

"Brethern I am going to leave you. I do not believe the Lord loves this congregation. Because none of you ever die. I do not believe you love each other. Because since I have been here none of you have married. I know you do not love me because you have never paid my salary; all I have received is moldy fruit and rotten apples—"By their fruits ye shall know them." Brethern, I am going to a better place, I am going to be chaplain in the penitentiary. Whither I go ye cannot follow, but I got to prepare a place for you. And may the Lord have mercy on your souls.

NORMA AS ADVENTURESS IN BIG EMOTIONAL ROLE

Can you picture the incomparable Norma Talmadge as an adventuress who specializes in breach of promise blackmail.

As Mary Turner, released from prison after serving time for a department store theft of which she is innocent, and under oath to "get even" with the employer who wanted to make an example of her, she has such a role in the big First National picture "Within The Law," coming to the Orpheum Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Embittered by her inability to gain respectable employment, Mary Turner joins a gang of blackmailers with the proviso that they work only "within the law." And obtaining monetary "heart-balm" from wealthy and injudicious men she found to be the safest and most lucrative method.

The complications grow when Dick Gilder, son of Mary's hated former employer, is picked as a victim, following which a most extraordinary and dramatic romance develops.

Mary Turner is the stellar part made famous by Jane Cowl on the stage in Bayard Vellier's play. It is said to give Norma Talmadge the greatest opportunity she has yet had to reveal her extraordinary emotional powers.

Jack Mulhall and Lew Cody have the principal male roles; Eileen Percy portrays Aggie Lynch, the blackmailer who induces Mary to join the band. Prominent parts are also played by DeWitt Jennings, Lincoln Plummer, Joseph Kilgour, Helen Ferguson, Warde Crane, Lionel Belmore, Catherine Murphy and Thomas Ricketts.

"Within The Law" was made under the masterful direction of Frank Lloyd and is presented by Joseph M. Schenck.

FERNIE STILL IN RUNNING

Playing their first game after a three week's rest in the East Kootenay Baseball League, the Coal Co. of Fernie defeated Wycliffe at Wycliffe last Sunday afternoon by a score of eight runs to four.

Pennington, pitching for Wycliffe, showed fine form at times, striking out nine Fernie batters, but when hits were needed, the local swatsmen landed on his offerings, pounding them into all corners of the lot, collecting no less than fifteen safeties, five of which went to Ruschall, who in five trips to the plate garnered four singles and a double.

Ault, although below his average in strike outs, was in fine fettle and deserved a shut out, allowing only eight hits, two of which were of the bad-hop variety and another had to be chalked up in the score book through base-umpire Jones failing to see Bishop tag second base on a force play for the third out in the eighth inning.

Fernie opened the scoring in the second inning when Ruschall singled and went to second when Shand also connected for a single. Colton then banged one over the right fielder for two sacks, scoring Ruschall. Shand scored on Ault's sacrifice fly. Bishop and Barger added two more runs for Fernie in the third. Wycliffe opened their account in the fourth inning when Olderjack led off with a single followed by Rogers with a double, Olderjack going to third and scored when Bishop fumbled Clark's grounder. Trimble sacrificed Rogers home with a long fly to centre field. Barger scored Fernie's fifth run in the sixth when he led off with a two-bagger and came home on a single by Rushcall. There was no further scoring until the eighth innings when with two out and the bases full, Hunter hit towards second base, Bishop made a dive for the ball and stopped it, while still laying on the ground, he picked up the ball and tagged second base when the runner was still easily two yards away, but Umpire Jones called the Wycliffe man safe, the runner had obscured his vision to see the play, two runs crossed the plate, making the score five to four. Fernie, however, drowned the Wycliffe fans' hopes in their half of the ninth. Callaghan getting to first when Whitehead fumbled his roller to short. Wilson stuck out and Bishop flied out to centre. With two men out, McTeer singled, then Barger smashed out his second two-base hit, scoring Callaghan. Ruschall following, drove the ball over the left fielder, Barger and McTeer scoring. Ruschal was out at third trying to stretch his hit to a triple. Wyclife were retired in short order in their half of the ninth, Aul striking out Olderjack for the final out.

FOOTBALL SHYS

by Linesman

Somebody told Tommy Joinson before the football game last Sunday, that Bert Sawyer was donating a prize rooster to the player scoring the most number of goals against him this season. After scoring two in Tuesday's game, Tommy figures he now has a mortgage on this bird and intends to leave nothing undone to secure it. Not that he is particularly in need of a rooster, only Tom figures it would be good company for some of his neighbor's chickens when they stroll into his yard.

PEACOCK CUP GAME

Fernie advanced to the second round in the Peacock Cup competition when they defeated Coal Creek in the replay of the first round at the Northend grounds here Tuesday evening, by a score of three goals to one.

Coal Creek won the toss and elected to play with a bright sun and a slight breeze behind them. The play was of a give and take character in the opening stages of the game, both goals being visited but without effect. A fine combination run up the Fernie left wing by Thornton and Joinson worried the Coal Creek defence considerable but over-anxiousness spoiled the movement. Coal Creek took up the attack and after a term of pressure they were awarded a penalty. Gibson took the kick but Swedeberg made a fine save and cleared. Half time came without either side scoring.

The wind had strengthened conisderably when play was resumed and gave Fernie the advantage. They were not long in making good use of this, Joinson came down the left wing and getting in close sent in a hard drive for goal, Sawyer jumped out to save but failed to get the ball away, and Joinson following up his shot, got his toe on the ball and drove it into the net. Coal Creek reacted from this reverse and forced a corner which, however, proved fruitless. Fernie again broke away, this time on the right wing and Davidson sent over a fine cross towards the goalmouth, Sawyer went out to meet the ball at the left side of the goal, but Thornton got his head to the sphere and Fernie were two up. The Creek tried desperately to reduce this lead but their efforts were unavailing against the strong Fernie defence and consequently the Fernie forwards had matters much their own way. Joinson adding another goal, heading the ball through from a cross from the right.

Fernie came right back to the Coal Creek defence lines and in a scrimmage, Nee kicked a blocked ball and broke a blood vessel in his leg and had to leave the game. A few minutes later, Davidson sent in a rocket from about 30 yards out but with Sawyer beaten all the way, the ball hit the under side of the cross-bar and Worthington cleared. Coal Creek then assumed the aggressive and following a fine run run by Corlett and Smith just a few minutes before full time, they forced a corner. Corlett took the kick and sent over a goalmouth shot, Swedeberg managed to touch the ball but failed to stop its flight and Smith headed through, making the final score Fernie 3 Coal Creek 1.

The Line up:

Coal Creek—Sawyer; Worthington and Gibson; O. Corrigan, Hudock and Wall; Corlett, Smith, Glover, P. Corrigan and Atherton.

Referee—J. Sweeney.

Fernie play against Hillcrest in regular scheduled Crow's Nest Pass League game on Sunday afternoon, June 17, kick-off at 4:30 p.m. sharp. The following team will represent Fernie: Goal: Swedeberg; Backs: Booth and Wilson; Half backs: Robertson, Riley and Morrison; Forwards Dicken, Sharrock, Sofko, Joinson and Thomson.

PRESS COMMENT

A Tax Suggestion

The Iowa Legislature has passed a 2-cent gasoline tax law, which, it is estimated, will raise about $5,000,000 a year. The gasoline tax provided express provision is made for the exemption of gas used in agriculture and other machinery not using the highways, is a more equitable way of making motorists pay for road use than the present flat rate which taxes a man who drives a car three months a year the same as he who drives all the year around.—Farmers Sun.

The Color Problem

It is not apparent to all of us, and notably those who are pathetically clinging on to the hope that South Africa will give them home, shelter, employment and security to their children, that the increase of white dwellers in the union is so much the most important thing that nothing else ought to be mentioned in the same breath.? How long, it may be asked, are the growing disparities to be continued before we all awaken to the fact that the white man's days in South Africa are numbered?—Natal Advertiser.

Suppress Drug Production

Opium and its derivaties, morphine and heroin, come from India, Persia, Egypt, Turkey and China. In the last of these, however, cultivation of opium is forbidden, and is only carried on clandestinely. In India the government controls both the production and sale of opium. In 1919-1920 the opium crop alone in this country increased by 971 tons. It is certain that the needs of doctors and chemists are trifling in comparison with the enormous quantity of opium which is being sold clandestinely.

Should not the forces of morality throughout the entire world co-operate in an effort to deliver humanity from the scourge of narcotics? It is of supreme importance that overproduction be suppressed.—Montreal La Presse.

A Peaceful Province

We must show no mercy to anything which looks like Bolshevism. The law now authorizes deportation and we must use this authority with ruthless energy. Good old Quebec has remained till now outside the social disturbances of other countries and provinces. It has been called America's Street of Good Conduct—and rightly. We are going to preserve that reputation by keeping strict watch over our working poulation. They, moreover, understand that in conformity with the teachings of common sense and religion, true liberty consists in respecting the rights of ownership and in only demanding what is justly due. It is in preserving this spirit that we will achieve national greatness.—Quebec Le Soleil.

Columbia Six

A Six-Cylinder, 50-horsepower, real high grade car at the price of an ordinary four

Why?

Experienced motorists who recognize immediately the remarkable value offered by the Columbia, invariably ask: "How can such a car be produced at such a low price?"

The answer is to be found in specialization.

The chassis of the Columbia Six is the combined product of America's leading builders of specialized units—mammoth organizations which have chosen to put all their tremendous financial and physical forces into doing one thing expertly, rather than in doing many things in a passable manner.

Their immense volume, added to Columbia's, has produced a better car at a lower price than most engineers ever believed possible. This plan, too, leaves Columbia engineers free to specialize on the all-important task of combining these units into a powerful, smooth-running, dependable chassis.

The Columbia Six is the climax of eight years of experience in building specialized motor cars. This chassis is the reason why Columbia holds a commanding lead in definite, provable value.

COMMUNICATION

To Whom it May Concern—

I feel that I would like very much to make a few comments upon the beautiful City of Fernie, and also on a subject that interested me, in a recent issue of the Fernie Free Press.

First of all, the readers of this letter may be interested to know just a little concerning myself. I motored from Vancouver, with my son-in-law to visit the grave of a dear one at rest in the local Cemetery and to renew acquaintances with a few old time friends I knew before the Big Fernie Fire.

Now, I must give the citizens great praise for the manner in which this dear old town has been rebuilt with such fine brick buildings. Fernie is a beauty spot, that God has set great store upon for his beloved ones to dwell in, in peace and happiness.

But, am afraid there are a few people in Fernie that do not realize this, otherwise the swearing and rinking which was a common practice every night last week, would cease.

It was absolutely impossible for me to sleep through the noise and vile language and I wondered if the Night Policeman was busy down at the City Jail killing a few bugs, or afraid to execute his duty, lest he be dismissed.

In the "Free Press" I read an article concerning the dismissal of the late Constable. In making some enquiries, to my surprise, I have found nothing but words of praise for the Constable. A friend of mine, popular in Fernie, told me of several occasions where the Constable played the part of a true man, in escorting men home, that had fallen by the wayside through drink.

The hobby of the average policeman is to gain cases, and some times make cases, and I think those persons that were the cause of the dismissal of the Constable will look back with sorrow and regret.

In religion I am a Roman Catholic and I ask all my fellow believers to make a note of the dismissal of the late Constable, and when the time comes to mark the ballots in the election of your Mayor, use a little judgment in the matter.

As a mother, I appeal to the men to refrain from using the bad language so sommon on the street. Never say anything you would be ashamed to have your own mother hear.

A true lover of Fair Play,
Mrs. Thomas Crossby.

To the Editor, Fernie Free Press—

Dear Sir—The recent flood caused by the Elk River overflowing its banks caused considerable loss and great inconvenience to those of us who live in the Fernie Annex, spoiled our gardens, drowned our chickens, carried away our walks and in many ways damaged our property but as far as the Mayor of the City is concerned nothing has been done to relieve the situation. At the time of the last flood seven years ago, City Engineer Wm. Ramsay, personally visited and warned residents whom he thought in danger and did all he could to help those in need of assistance. This year what has been done, nothing, the Annex does not count except at election time and we will try and remember this when the time comes.

Why is Mason Avenue and other streets in the Annex left in the condition they are? Every day last week cars and wagons were stuck in the mud hole on Mason Avenue, one day eight cars had to be pulled out and one had to stay in all night as the owner could not pull it out with the aid of two teams of horses. On Sunday night last three cars were fast until after eleven o'clock at night and it has probably cost these car owners over twenty or thirty dollars to get out of the mud hole to say nothing of the repairs and cleaning of their cars. It would have cost the City very little to either close the street or repair it. The condition of the road was reported to the Mayor on Monday morning but up to the present nothing whatever has been done.

The flood washed out a large hole nearly 3 feet deep and carried away part of the sidewalk coming into the Annex just through the subway, over this hole four old pieces of four by six has been laid loosely and they sag at every step. It is impossible for women with baby carriages to negotiate this makeshift and they have to climb the hill up over the track on the road to get in and out of the Annex. Why can't we have this fixed so that it is safe for traffic to and from our homes in this part of the city?

Our needs are not many but we think the Annex is entitled to a little more consideration as far as the roads and sidewalks are concerned, why cannot these necessary repairs be done without waiting for the whole Annex to make complaints and condemn the City management as a whole for not doing anything?

All we want is a fair deal and do not think we are asking anything unreasonable.

On behalf of the Annex,
Harold D. Wilson.
Fred Wodhouse.
John Bella.

Health turns the clock backward

There is Health for the Stammerer

Health Talk No. 22.
By G. J. Parks, D. C.

No one knows the nervousness, the embarrassment, the despair that grips the person who suffers the terrible affliction of stammering. It is seldom a trouble for which there is any sympathy, even the song writers considering it a fit subject for comedy. But to the affliced it is a tragedy, for they are shut off from others; limited by crippled and uncontrolled powers of speech.

To the stammerer chiropractic offers hope. The disease is due to lack of co-ordination, or agreement, between the brain and the organs of speech. The brain order is given but the speech organs can obey only in stumbles and halts. The specific work of chiropractic in the healing world is to restore the health and freedom of nerve lines to normal speed and health, and stammerers have repeatedly been helped.

Boy is well of Stammering

"My son, Lester, was afflicted with stammering and through chiropractic spinal adjustments was relieved of this terrible affliction. His condition was gradually growing worse when the chiropractor took charge of his case. With but a few adjustments the results noted were marvelous, and this, the chiropractor states, is very unusual in such cases. I would gladly recommend chiropractic to any one suffering from this terrible ailment."

On Sunday evening there will be a special musical program at the United Church.

A small force, if it never lets up, will accumulate effects more considerable than those of much greater forces if these work inconsistently. The careless whisper of the more permanent ideals, the steady tug of truth and justice, give them but time, must walk the world in their direction.—William James.

The first party of British boys, numbering 25, of the 250 who are to be placed in this province by the Salvation Army, arrived in Vancouver recently and were met and welcomed by Hon. T. D. BUMPER SPORT DAY IN SIGHT

The Dominion Day Celebration committee are pleased to announce that the work of organization for the day's activities are now well under way and that a splendid program is now assured.

The celebration will open with a monster parade in the morning, starting from the Central School playground, and will proceed along Victoria Avenue to the Fernie Hotel corner, thence to Baker Avenue, along Baker Avenue to the Park Corner then back to Victoria Avenue, along the avenue to the Home Bank corner, turning down Cox Street to the Government Building lawn when the crowning of the Dominion Day Queen will take place. As it is highly essential to the success of the parade that stores and dwellings along its route should be well decorated, the Parade Committee would greatly appreciate it, if the store owners on Victoria Avenue and the residents along Baker and Victoria Avenues, would make the parade more impressive by decorating their premises.

The prizes for the parade will be as follows: Best dressed automobile, $10. Best representative float, $20. Best comic float, $20. Best decorated bicycle, 1st $5; 2nd, $3; 3rd, $2. Best individual comic, $5. Best clown leading decorated animal, 1st, $5; 2nd, $3. Best national character, $5.

The competition for Dominion Day Queen is becoming the sole topic of conversation in Fernie. Six candidates have now been placed in the field for the honor, they are:

Miss Branch, representing the K. of P.

Miss Coughlan, representing the School.

Miss Davidson, representing the Canadian Girls in Training.

Miss Garner, representing the Rotary Club.

Miss McPhee, representing Trites-Wood Co.

Miss Schagel, representing Crow's Nest Trading Co.

Votes are being sold at ten cents each, each vote being numbered. After the votes have been counted and the name of the successful candidate announced, all duplicate votes will be placed in a ballot box and a drawing made, the holder of the lucky ticket will receive ten per cent. of the gross receipts from the sale of votes. The girl receiving the largest number of votes will be declared Dominion Day Queen and will retain this title until next Dominion Day.

A dress, silk stockings, shoes, gloves and lingerie will be presented to the leader by the Trites-Wood Company and the Crow's Nest Trading Co. The girl coming second, will receive a pearl necklace, presented by Mr. A. C. Liphardt, while the third girl will be given a sitting by Mr. J. Fred Spalding and presented with a dozen photographs of herself. All unsuccessful candidates for the Dominion Day Queen honors will act as ladies in waiting to the Queen during the parade and ceremonies.

Returning officers Mr. A. J. Moffatt and Chief Anderson, report that competition is running high, and that demands for ballot books are exceeding the supply at present, no advance information as to the standing of the various candidates will be issued.

The sports program for the day is shaping out nicely. In the senior baseball, entries have been received from Fernie and Kimberley, so should no other senior entries be made the fans are assured of seeing two strong and evenly matched teams do battle for the $200 prize money. Junior baseball entries have been made by the Michel and Fernie Juniors and an enquiry has been received from the Cranbrook Y.M.C.A. team, and should three entries in the competition be made the prizes will be $40 for first and $25 for second. Entries for the football competition have been received from Fernie, Coal Creek, Cranbrook and Michel, enquiries have also been received from Corbin and Coleman so a large program of football games is certain. The prizes in football, which under the football rules now being used cannot be cash prizes will be twelve gold watches each valued at $30 for first prize and twelve silver cups for second prize.

Races for the children, always a big attraction for the boys and girls will be run as usual, the schedule for these are as follows: (Ages shown are 6, 8, etc, and under in each race).

JUNIOR BASEBALLERS ORGANIZE FOR SEASON

On Tuesday evening of this week, the junior baseball players of the city, who have been engaging for the past two sesons in scratch games, met at Ingram's Cigar Store and organized themselves into a permanent club.

With Rod McLeod in the chair and Hugh McLachlan as secretary, the preliminaries leading up to the calling of the meeting were discussed followed by the election of officers which resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Dr. Asselstine.

Hon. Vice Presidents — W. A. Ingram, H. R. Huntington and M. A. Kastner.

President and Business Manager—J. R. McLeod.

Vice President—J. L. Donaldson.

Secretary-Treasurer — H. McLachlan.

Playing Manager—W. Murray.

Executive — F. Hovan, G. Sikora, and S. McPhee.

After the election of officers, plans for the season were discussed. The Fernie seniors will be approached with a view of purchasing the uniforms used last year. The disbanded Ladies' team, besides turning over the balance of their funds, amounting to over $30, have kindly donated their equipment also, so the boys are well on the way to being outfitted.

It is expected, besides the game on Sports' Day with the juniors of Michel and probably the Cranbrook Y,, that games with these two teams will be arranged later on in the season, so the fans may look forward to seeing the juiors in action soon.

The Club joins in thanking the members of the Ladies' team for their donation, which will materially help in starting the boys out on the right foot.

CERTIFICATES FOR WRITING

A year ago the Public Schools adopted the McLean System of muscular movement writing in all the grades. Like any new system, this resulted in poorer writing for a time, while the children were mastering the new movement. That many pupils have mastered the movement is apparent from the fact that over 200 pupils of the Intermediate and Senior Classes have surpassed the standard for their grades and have received their certificates. The samples of writing were sent to the Coast to be examined about a month ago, and the returns have just arrived. Today at the Central School, in the presence of many parents and visitors, the pupils received their Certificates. Dr. Garner made the presentations.

Besides the Certificates for writing, about fifty Certificates were presented to girls who had passed examinations in the Little Mothers' League classes taught by Miss Donald.

OPENING OF B-W HIGHWAY

Following are the instructions governing the opening of the Banff-Windermere Highway.

The opening ceremonies will take place at Kootenay Crossing, 40 miles from Invermere and 27 miles from the Park Entrance at Radium Hot Springs.

The first cars will leave Invermere at 9 a.m. on June 30, Pacific time.

Cars wll take their places in procession as directed.

All cars travelling this road on the opening day, MUST pass the Park Entrance Gate at Radium Hot Springs by 10.30 a.m., Pacific time.

All cars are due to arrive at Kootenay Crossing before 2 p.m., Mountain time or 1 p.m. Pacific time.

On arrival at Kootenay Crossing, cars will proceed to the Parking Area where they must be left until the opening ceremonies are completed. No cars will be allowed to park alongside the road.

The hour between 1.30 p.m. and 2.30 p.m., Mountain time, is reserved for lunch.

The opening ceremonies will start sharp at 2.30 p.m., Mountain time, and will be over at 3.30 p.m. Motorists can then proceed to Banff or return to Invermere.

Motorists may camp at the prepared camp sites along the road for the night, if they so desire, but will not be allowed to go back and forth over the road hunting camping places.

Cars must be left in the parking space until the ceremonies are over, and Mounted Police, with Government Officers will handle the parking and regulation of traffic from the parking areas after the ceremonies are over.

Motorists who are members of Motor Clubs or Associations should get into touch with their Executive Officers for instructions as to their place in the procession. Cars will NOT be allowed to change their positions after the procession has started, except in cases of emergency.

In the case of a car having to stop on account of tire or car troubles, the driver, after warning cars behind him, shall pull well out to the side of the road.

Drivers MUST keep at least one hundred feet behind the car in front.

Drivers familiar with the road will be in the leading cars and will set a safe pace that will reach Kootenay Crossing in ample time for the ceremonies.

The maximum speed limit on any road in the Canadian National Park is 25 miles per hour, and this is only applicable to straight stretches of road. On all curves and hills speed must be greatly reduced.

Motorists should fill up with gas and oil the night before and see that their cars are in good running order.

Mounted Police will patrol the road on June 30 and July 1; and motorists can greatly assist them in their control of traffic by following these simple instructions.

While it is expected that there will be a good supply of light refreshments obtainable from stands that will be located at Kootenay Crossing, on the opening day, motorists are advised to bring their lunch with them in case of emergency.

B.C.'S PAYROLL $86,192,190

VICTORIA, June 14. — During the past year the 2809 employers of labor in British Columbia paid out in salaries and wages $86,192,190. The preceding year there were 2275 employers, who expended $79,742,380 in this manner.

The information is contained in the annual report of the provincial department of labor and has been made public by Attorney-General A. M. Manson, minister of labor. Returns were made freely by the employers, who are thanked by the attorney-general for their co-operation.

Officers, superintendents and managers received $7,730,524, approximately half-a-million dollars more than was paid them the year before. But the payments to clerks, stenographers, and salesmen were actually a little less in 1922 than in 1921, notwithstanding the increase in the number of firms reporting.

The amounts paid to purely industrial wage-earners, however, represents an increase of nearly six million dollars over the previous year, the total for 1922 being $71,324,416. The total industrial payroll would be in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 if it had been possible to include the salary and wage payments to employees of the various steam railway systems.

One of the industries showing a falling-off last year was that of the breweries, with a payroll of $446,424 in 1922 as against $654,654 in 1921. Important changes in the method of handling beer under government control probably accounts for this reduction.

Slight reductions are shown in the payrolls of the metal trades, oil refining and paint manufacturing. The shipbuilding industry shows the biggest reduction, the payroll in 1921 amounting to $2,837,344, while in 1922 it dropped to $964,530. During the past two years this industry has been terminating contracts entered into during and shortly after the war, states the report, adding:

"During those years a much more rosy view was taken of the prospects of shipbuilding than would now appear to have been justified. Probably we have reached the low point of depression and although the boom times of 1918 and 1919 can hardly be expected to return, we have a number of yards on the Coast equipped for any shipbuilding that may be required, while the dry-dock development in Vancouver and Esquimalt will almost certainly mean that a larger amount of shiprepairing will be done here in the future than in the past."

The comparative payrolls for 1921 and 1922 also show the pulp and paper industry to have been passing through quiet times during the past year, but at the end of 1922 the mills were all employing more help than at the beginning.

The public utilities payroll was also dawn last year, this being partly due to the adoptidon of the one-man service on many of the street cars.

Conspicuous among the industries with a larger payroll was the lumbering group. The 667 firms making returns paid out $23,827,204 in 1922 while in 1921, 533 firms expended $18,180,962. It was during the last few months of the year that the industry began to show practical signs of recovery after two years of depression. And the outlook for the beginning of this year was decidedlly better than at any time since the spring of 1920.

In the building and contracting industries there was a 40 per cent. increase in 1922 over 1921, the increase amounting to over three millions.

The coal mining payroll increased very slightly, despite the closing down of the Fernie mines for five months owing to a strike.

In the manufacture of food products there was an increase in the payroll of $500,000, chiefly because the fish-canneries had a better year.

A study of the figures showing the average number of wage earners graphically shows the seasonal character of many provincial industries. During January the 2809 firms employed 45,577 males. An improvement was noted in March and May, 55,090 males were employed. The peak was reached in August when 59,670 male employees were on the payrolls.

However, a healthier state of conditions existed in 1922 than in 1921, because the numbers employed were fairly well maintained until the end of November. In 1921 there was a progressive decline from the end of July. Even last year there was a drop from November to December of 600. But, allowing for this, there were 5119 more males employed at the end of the year than at the beginning.

The minister claims that these figures bear out the contention of the department that unemployment was much less serious last winter than during the two preceding years. The suggestion is also made that employers do their best to spread their work over as long a period of the year as possible and that workmen, when work is steady and wages regular, should have more forethought for the months of scarcity in mid-winter.

A study of the nationalities of workmen shows that native-born Canadians made up one-third of the total. Natives of Great Britain and Ireland were a close second. If to these groups are added Australians and Americans, it is bound that approximately 70 per cent. of the industrial workers of British Columbia are of British origin. Of the remaining 30 per cent., rather more than one-half come from the Continent of Europe and less than one-half from Asiatic countries.

In the lumbering group Canadians outnumber British-born by nearly three to one, which is probably explained by the fact that comparatively few newcomers from the Old Land have had previous lumbering experience. There are also more Canadians than British in the industries of cigar and tobacco manufacturing, food products, metal trades, metal mining, printing and publishing, and pulp and paper manufacturing.

On the other hand, Great Britain supplies the largest number of workers in breweries, the production of builders' materials, coal mining, coast shipping, paint manufacture, shipbuilding, smelting, public utilities and the manufacture of chemicals, explosives, furniture, leather and fur goods.

The report shows that during the last five years there has been a decline in the percentage of Oriental workers. It reads:

"The first of these returns was for the seven months from January to July, 1918, when the war was in progress and the supply of white labor somewhat limited. Orientals were at that time 20.37 per cent. of our industrial workers. In the following twelve months they were 18.35 per cent., and in 1920 they were 16.64 per cent. In 1921 they fell to 14.45 per cent., but for the year now under review there was a very slight advance to 14.61 per cent.

"One cause of this may have been the greater activity of the lumbering industries, which absorb nearly two-thirds of our industrial workers of Asiatic origin, and which derive 25.63 per cent. of their labor supply from this source.

"This proposition, it may be noted, varies very considerably in the different branches of the lumbering industry. Only 5.34 per cent. of the workers engaged in logging were Orientals; on logging railways, 9.62 per cent.; in planing mills, 30.30 per cent.; in sawmills, 39.82 per cent., and in shingle mills, 53.68 per cent.

"The general decline in industrial wages, which was so marked between 1920 and 1921, was carried further in 1922; but, whereas, the average decline from 1920 to 1921 was nearly 12½ per cent., between 1921 and 1922 it was only 2¼ per cent., and there is good ground for believing that the present year will witness an upward tendency."

TWO FISHERS WENT SAILING

(Cranbrook Courier)

When his honor, Judge Thompson, announced his intention of going fishing on Saturday afternon last, his friends at once began to have visions of a heap-big breakfast of fresh trout. It is well known that the Judge swings a wicked line. And when further information was forthcoming that Mr. H. W. Herchmer was to be a member of the Judge's party the matter was settled all but arranging the places at the table. The ex-President of the Fernie District Game Association could not be other than a whale of a fisherman.

Filled with expectations and an excellent lunch, early in the afternoon the legal lights set out for Monroe Lake.

"It looks like a good day for fishing," remarked the Judge, when Lumberton had been reached. "I wouldn't be a bit surprised if we hooked a nice salmon. I understand the Kamloops trout has the reputation of being a husky fighter."

"So I have heard. He reaches a fairish weight, too," said Mr. Herchmer. "Well, the heavier the better—I feel so fit I could tackle a whale. Why I remember, back three years ago—on the Coast it was—another chap and me went out for salmon. Well—"

But who hasn't heard the same story a hundred times. And then, post-mortems are always a bit tiresome. Besides, this is not a fish story.

Among other things the Judge and his friend had possessed themselves of a neat little boat.

"Just the thing for an expedition of this kind," said Mr. Herchmer. "An excellent little boat, to say the least, not a superfluous bit of wood in its entire makeup. A perfectly splendid little boat! Do you row, Judge?"

"Pulled stroke in the College eight once upon a time," chirruped the judge cheerfully,—"get in, Harry, and set your cap on tight; I'll show you some speed!"

"Gr-u-u-mp! Gr-u-ump! Gr-u-ump! The oars clicked against the oarlocks in perfect time. It was evident that the Judge had not lost his old time skill.

After his honor had indulged his fancy for rowing for as long as was consistent with the heat of the day—it was more than ordinarily hot—the oars were shipped and the rods were gotten out.

"A perfect day for fishing,' remarked Mr. Herchmer, steering a half pound trout towards the net.

"Ideal," agreed the Judge, "and the lake is like a mirror. See how the shadow of the trees are reflected in the water. Beautiful!"

"Umh, umh," mumbled Mr. Herchmer, who was changing flies and whose mouth was full of softening gut.

"When mirrored lake reflects the enchanted scene—a magic tracery of cliff and wooded hill," murmured the Judge, his eyes half-closed in rapt contemplation. It may be his lunch had something to do with his poetical mood.

Thus did the long afternoon wear away in the lazy, restful semi-silence beloved of respectable middle age. The lengthening shadows told a tale of approaching night.

"Row me ashore, Harry," said the Judge, breaking a silence that had endured for long minutes. The glamour of the enchanted lake had thrown its spell upon him. He was drinking in to the full the glory and sweetness of the summer eve.

Mr. Herchmer seized the oars and the trim little crafe sped shoreward as though on wings.

"The end of a perfect day,' began the Judge again, as the boat neared the landing. "A peaceful, never to be forgotten—Oh, Harry, for goodness sake—sit down!"

The warning came too late. The boat slid from under Mr. Herchmer's feet, canted, righted itself, canted again—and splash, two disciples of the immortal Walton were floundering in the drink.

When asked about the incident later the Judge, replying to a question, said: "Up until the moment we fell in the lake I had not given the wetness of the water much thought; but I honestly believe that Herchmer still entertains a suspicion that it is extremely damp."

Other versions of the story are being circulated but the one recounted in the foregoing has been vouched for by unimpeachable eye witnesses of the occurrence. But then you can always ask the Judge or Mr. Herchmer about the matter. They are simply falling over themselves in their eagerness to recount the history of the adventure.

BARTHELMESS HAS POPULAR ROLE IN "THE BOND BOY"

Richard Barthelmess goes back to the Virginia mountains, the location of his unforgettable "Tol'able David," for his most recent First National picture, "The Bond Boy," which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

As Joe Newbolt, impoverished son of aristocratic parents, he is forced to bind himself out to Isom Chase to work until he is twenty-one. The humiliating part of it is that Chase is the new owner of the Newbolt farm, having gotten possession of it when Joe's father, a visionary inventor, was forced to relinquish it to his one time hired man.

How Chase is accidentally killed in an unfortunate marital tangle, how Joe is arrested for murder and condemned, how he effects his thrilling escape, solves the mystery and brings about his own freedom and happiness; these incidents are dramatically woven into a charming love story in this screen version of George Washington Ogden's fascinating tale.

The production, which was directed by Henry King, is heralded as a screen sensation. With Barthelmess appears an imposing cast, including Mary Thurman as leading lady, Charles Hill Mailes, as Isom Chase, Virginia Magee, as the ingenue, Mary Alden, as the star's screen mother, Lawerence D'Orsay, Robert Williamson, Jerry Sinclair, Jerry Sinclair, Thomas McGuire and Lucia Backus Seger.

Of particular interest to sportsmen all over British Columbia is the appeal of the chairman of the Game Conservation Board, under Attorney-General Manson, for better protection for game of all kinds, smaller bags are necessary if the wonderful game of this province is to be conserved. To this end it is probable that there will be a tightening of the regulations at the next session of the legislature.

The Mounted Police at Lethbridge have been investigating reports of an unmarked aeroplane operating in the Crow's Nest Pass and it has been definitely established that this machine landed near the White Spruce Lumber Company last Thursday and that the occupants made a trip into Fernie by automobile and then left shortly afterwards. The machine was seen flying over Michel and Crow's Nest but nothing definite has yet been ascertained as to the point it came from or its destination. High River forestry patrol and the Lethbridge Aerial Company say that this machine, which flew through the pass last Thursday, was not one of their machines, so the flight was made in contravention to the aerial regulations.

A splendid oportunity is being overlooked in British Columbia by the farmer who does not raise sheep and the government is carrying on an educational campaign to encourage the production of mutton and wool. The grazing commissioner, Mr. T. P. Mackenzie, urges farmers to organize grazing community flocks, especially in districts where there are logged-off lands, which means nearly every part of the province. He suggests that the logged-off lands be seeded with cocksfoot grass, excellent feed for sheep, and that a shepherd be placed in charge of the big flock, which each farmer will have an interest in. In this way losses would be cut to a minimum, the farmer would be free from the care of his flock during the busy summer season and the profits would be unusually encouraging.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, announces the income from the forest branch for the month of May as $258,431, an increase over May, 1922, of nearly $10,000. The revenue is made up from the sale of timber, scale and royalty, timber licences and leases.

As Saturday, June 30 is the last day for payment of taxes to avoid penalty, the City Clerk's office will remain open on that date until 5:30 p.m. instead of closing at 1 p.m., the regular Saturday closing hour. Any taxes left unpaid at the close of business at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, will be increased by ten per cent.

The weatherman is playing peculiar pranks these days. In the News Bulletins today a report from New York states that over forty deaths and scores of prostrations have been caused by intense heat in the Eastern States, while a report from Chicago states that in New Mexico a severe frost made it necessary to break ice in waterig troughs before animals could drink.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa who have control of the Radio Department have issued new radio regulations which make it compulsory for all parties installing radio sets to secure a licence. SIGNALS FOR CAR DRIVERS

In order to provide greater safety for pedestrians and motorists in British Columbia, Attorney-General Manson has approved a regulation under the Motor Vehicles Act, which standardizes signals to be given by motorists in driving automobiles. The accompanying illustration shows graphically what motorists are called upon to do.

When intending to turn to the left the driver's left hand and arm must be extended horizontally from and beyond the left side of the vehicle. The intention to turn to the right shall be indicated by extending the left hand from the left side of the vehicle, with the hand and arm pointing upward. When the driver intends to stop his machine or slow down quickly he must extend the hand and arm pointing in a downward direction.

It is also provided that when signals are given by a mechanical device, the device shall have been approved by the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

The regulation also requires a motorist before turning, stopping or changing his course, and before turning such vehicle when starting same, to ascertain whether there is sufficient space for such movement, without endangering pedestrians or unreasonably affecting other vehicles.

The regulation which goes into effect immediately, was prepared after consultation with provincial automobile clubs and after imformation had been obtained from associations all over the continent. The system of signalling is practically uniform all over America.

SIFTON FORSEES EXODUS OF PEOPLE BY RUIN OF FORESTS

It seems self-evident that if the plague of forest fires in Canada is permitted to continue, the exodus of population from our timber growing areas cannot very well be prevented. We have a large percentage of Canada's habitable area unfit for farming. That percentage must produce timber and mines or be eliminated from our slate of assets. From the point of view of fire damage we may omit consideration of mines. Thus, if we allow the ravages of forest conflagrations to continue at the present pace, it is only a question of a relatively few years until we force from our northern areas the great body of population and all municipalities subsiding on forest manufactures.

I regard the forest not as a mass of trees but as the raw material of industrial expansion and of prolific employment, and as the mainstay of our thousands of municipalities dependent on wood-using industries. It is much more intelligent to discern in a "bush fire" the destruction of a multitude of pay envelopes. It drives the plain facts home when we visualize every human-caused forest fire as a blow to our national well-being that will require three quarters of a century to repair.

As the situation now stands, Canada should gain enormously from the simple fact of possessing great spruce areas with excellent water powers to make utilization effective and relatively cheap. To the south we have a partially deforested nation, exhibiting an insatiable demand for the products of a spruce forest, chiefly newsprint paper. Even as England's coal served to enrich her during the last century or more, so Canada's spruce and pine forests should be taken as representing a commercial counter almost unattached by anything else we possess except agricultural land.

Are we to tolerate a condition where, with every forest area on a rising market, our own citizens with a false notion of personal licence, shall continue to start four thousand forest fires a year, killing the very source from which the industrial workers of Canada stand to profit most? I believe the provincial governments could well afford to spend on forest fire prevention every dollar of their forest revenues up to a point where the forest capital ceases to show an annual depletion. If even one-half of the millions of forest taxation were spent on the most modern systems of forest protection we would rapidly diminish our shocking annual losses of timber and go far toward placing the timber resources on a business-like basis.—Written especially by Hon. Clofford Sifton.

MR. STONE'S OPEN SHOP

Warren S. Stone is the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The Brotherhood is the owner of a coal mine, located at Lick Creek, West Virginia. At present there is a strike on among the miners working on this property, the cause being the discharge of two union men and the refusal of the management to recognize the union. Mr. Stone representing the owners, the Brotherhood, has, it is stated, informed the officials of the United Mine Workers' Union that he intends to operate on an open shop basis. The men may, says Mr. Stone, join the miners' union if they wish, but this is as far as they will get. Mr. Stone knows all about closed shops,therefore he hesitates to extend the system to the mine his closed shoppers own.—Saturday Night.

A FRAUD CHASER SPOOK

Houdini, the magician, has poked another hole in the "spook" business. The "Scientific American" has offered a prize of $5,000 for a successful demonstration of spiritualism and Harry Houdini was one of the committee of judges. Before them recently came George Valentine, who around Wilkes-Barrie, Pa., had a local reputation as a "spooker." The committee of experts arranged the setting and then invited Valentine to demonstrate his particular brand of spiritualism. The performance, according to Houdini, was a fizzle. Valentine was at best a clumsy magician, not good enpugh to perform on a stage and pay money to see,

The utterances of Houdini, which were premature to the publication of the committee's findings, will probably have the effect of scaring off other mediums in view of the fact that the details of the committee's apparatus, including dictaphones and electrical appliances, specially calculated to catch frauds, are now known to the world, and will probably be avoided by other mediums.

It appears that Lady Doyle recently produced from somewhere a letter presumed to have been written to Houdini by his dead mother. However, the magician was not impressed, for he points out that the letter was written in English, a language it so happens that his mother was unacquainted with; and Houdini also says that he knows what sort of a letter his mother would write, and it would not be at all like the Doyle letter.—Saturday Night.

WHO FIRST FELT "LIKE A FIGHTING COCK"?

COCK-FIGHTING was born with the cocks.

But it is only 80 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock!"

Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world —all feeling "like a fighting cock!"

It happens this way: A person half sick with bad stomach, dull and heavy headache, takes Beecham's Pills just before going to bed. Immediately the Pills begin to harmonize the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eye, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 80 years since Beecham's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and stirring sluggish livers and bowels to natural activity — and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated as inseparably with Beecham's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

FERNIE WINS IN FOOTBALL

Fernie advanced another notch in the Crow's Nest Pass Football League standing by defeating Hillcrest here Sunday afternoon by a score of one goal to nil, in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

Hillcrest won the toss and decided to play with the wind in their favor and for the first fifteen minutes of the game Fernie were compelled to adopt a defensive game, Hillcrest doing the bulk of the pressing. After a spell of midfield play, Fernie got away on the left and Thomson sent over a perfect centre, and Seaman almost scored for Fernie while trying to intercept the pass, the ball just scraping past the upright for a corner. Watson secured the ball from the resultant corner kick and Hillcrest attacked strongly and Swedeberg was called upon twice in quick succession to defend his goal. Fernie again assumed the aggressive and looked like getting through but Joinson held on to the ball too long and was robbed in front of the Hillcrest goal, a few minutes later Thomson looked like scoring but shot high over the bar.

In the second half Fernie had the advantage of a fairly strong wind blowing direct into the Hillcrest goal and consequently play was confined for the greater part of the time to the Hillcrest area. A foul close in gave Fernie a fine chance, Booth shot right for goal but Varley saved and cleared, Hillcrest raided the Fernie goal area but Bain shot past. Fernie returned to the attack and during a hot attack, Bamborough knocked the ball down with his elbow inside the penalty area, Joinson took the penalty kick and sent in a hot low drive. Varley made a splendid save and cleared giving Hillcrest a fine opportunity with an open field in front of them the Hillcrest forwards got well in on Swedeberg but Watson shot wildly past. Joinson got away on an individual run but when being hustled by Blackey was unable to get into shooting range and forced a corner. Thomson sent over a lovely corner kick right across the goal-mouth, Robertson got the ball on his head and sent it across to Dicken who missed the ball, Joinson, however, got his toe to the ball and hooked it into the net for the only goal of the game. Hillcrest took on a spurt after this reverse and twice in succession, when well placed, Thompson, Hillcrest's outside left, shot wild. Fernie came back on the attack and a foul for "hands" just outside the penalty area looked bad for Hillcrest. Robertson took the kick, and sent in a fast drive which forced Varley out to full length to save, he failed to clear the ball and Thomson tried a first time pot shot at goal but sent the ball high over the bar. Just on the call of time Joinson and Blackey got into a mix-up and took a couple of passes at one another but as the whistle had gone for full time just before this occurred, the matter was out of the hands of the referee. Final score: Fernie 1, Hillcrest 0.

The line-up:

Hillcrest — Goal: Varley; Backs: Seaman and Blackey; Half-backs: Willets, Bamborough and Richards; Forwards: Matthews, Bain, Watson, Anderson and Clark.

Referee—J. Sweeney.

FERNIE LOSES TO CRANBROK

Fernie received a set-back in the East Kootenay Baseball League race on Sunday last when Cranbrook defeated them by the odd run in three in an extremely fast game of ball. Wycliffe, however, also turned the tables on Kimberley, the other league leaders, at Kimberley, winning by a score of six runs to nil, thereby sending Cranbrook into the lead and leaving Kimberley and Fernie still tied for second place.

"Scotty" Mitchell was in the finest form he has displayed this season, the cold day being apparently to his liking, his speed ball was a mystery to the Fernie batters who only collected two hits during the nine innings, both of which came from Ruschall's bat.

Ault was in difficulties several times during the game through poor support, only six hits were secured off him and these were kept well scattered no two hits coming in one inning.

In the Fernie half of the first inning it looked as if Mitchell's offerings were the right brand for Fernie, Barger slamming one out to left field where Embree robbed him of a hit. Ruschall connected for two bases but was left there, Mitchell striking out McTeer for the third out.

Fernie blew up in the fourth inning when three errors and a hit batsman filled the bases, then with two men down Bamford hit a Texas leaguer to right field. Colton came in fast and picked up the ball and threw to first. Umpire Burgess gave the runner the benefit of the doubt when the ball and player reached first simultaneously and two runs came across the plate on the play.

Ault scored Fernie's lone tally in the fifth when Sullivan fumbled his grounder to second, allowing him to reach first. Ault stole second and scored when Ruschall connected for his second hit.

From the sixth inning on hardly a man on either side reached first, although in the eighth with two men down, Wilson reached third, Ault sent Dunlap to bat in place of Colton, but Mitchell pulled himself out of the hole by striking Dunlap out.

FOOTBALL SHYS

by Linesman

Coal Creek football fans were out in full force at the game on Sunday last ardently supporting Hillcrest. They were so seemingly disgusted at Fernie winning the game that someone beat it with the Referee's coat. Sweeney says that Hunting Big Game in Africa had nothing on him chasing around after this garment.

A stranger in town last Sunday asked Jimmie Easton if he thought it would rain. Jimmie replied that he thought it would as there was a football game on the cards. This remark caused Mr. Stranger to become a little curious, and on enquiring as to how he doped it out that way, Jimmie said that whenever there was a football game in town, some darned fool would go to work and organize a picnic.

Someone was heard to remark on the field last Sunday that as a fighting man, Joinson should confine his activities to a wax-work.

Johnny Corlett is endeavoring to strengthen his arms these days playing in the mixed doubles at tennis, but young Glover says he would rather take in mixed bathing, and is heartily supported by Whang.
