Mr. J. P. Fink, president of the Board of Trade, opened the meeting at 9:45 p.m., in a short address outlining the purpose for which the meeting was called, namely, to discuss the advisibility of Cranbrook Board of Trade remaining a member of the Tourist Association or otherwise. The yearly fee for such membership, explained Mr. Fink, is $600, which sum is Cranbrook's contribution to the general publicity fund of the Tourist Association to assist in defraying the expenses incidental to the publicity campaign of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta.

Mr. Fink then called upon Mr. Fred Spalding, commissioner of the Tourist Association, to address the meeting. After presenting the financial report of the Tourist Association for the previous year, Mr. Spalding proceeded to make a strong appeal on behalf of Cranbrook's remaining in the Tourist Association. As an incentive, Mr. Spalding offered the Board of Trade a concession in the form of a rebate of $200 to be deducted by the Tourist Association from the $600 pledged by Cranbrook in the event of its remaining a member, and applied to the publicity fund of the Blue Line.

In this connection, it should be explaind that, in the Board of Trade's budget for 1924, $250 will be voted into the Blue Line publicity fund. Therefore, Mr. Spalding's offer of a $200 outlay, and the balance of $400 will go towards general advertising such as defraying the expenses of the new 1924 booklet which is now being compiled by the Tourist Association.

Mr. Spalding's proposition was accepted by the meeting. — Cranbrook Courier.

The Lethbridge city council, at its regular meeting on Monday morning, agreed to retain its membership in the South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta Tourist Association by continuing the payment of $600 to the association on the same basis as last year. As a greater benefit from the tourist traffic is derived by the business men of the city, the Board of Trade will be asked to bear part of the expenses. The decision was come to in the fact that the city tourist camp showed a great increase in tourist traffic to Lethbridge, which was considered mainly due to the efforts of the S. E. B. C. and S. A. Tourist Association. Mr. Spalding, the commissioner in charge of the work of the association, has assured the city that all the money subscribed by the cities is spent in advertising matter. Furthermore, there appears to be a strong probability that the government will spend considerable road money next year, and for this reason it is advisable to have a strong organization to deal with this question. The association has already arranged to send a strong delegation to Edmonton in connection with government road expenditure. — Lethbridge Herald.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residences, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation no less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other causes, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANT ACT

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with his Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a diseased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provisions for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependants, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving fofeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits to ten head for settlers, campers or travellers, un

"EVERYBODY IN U.S.A. SWEARS BY VICKS"

Friend of Saskatoon Mother Pays Remarkable Tribute

Mrs. James C. Wilkinson, of 1221 Avenue "A," North Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "My little girl was sick with a bad cold. While I was putting a plaster on her chest a friend of mine came in and said, 'Rub on some Vicks VapoRub. I asked her what it was. She had just come from the States and she said, 'Everybody in the States swears by Vicks. It's just becoming known in Canada.' She said she always kept it in the house and strongly advised me to give it a trial. I did so, my little girl got well, and I must truly say the results were astonishing. I would not be without Vicks for anything."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine, etc. It has been a popular remedy in the States for many years.

Absorbed through the skin, and at the same time inhaled as a vapor, Vicks reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

It is good for croup and all cold troubles—also for skin hurts and itchings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 34 St. Paul St., West, Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

COMMUNICATION

Camp 4, White Spruce.
Sept. 14, 1923.

My Dear Junius:

Now doggone your silk colored hide, this isn't a "Voice from the wild," It's a "wild voice from the innocent," and if you have the gall to stick this in your old paper, I'll lean a pretty little flower against your head the first time I come to town and I'll forget to take it out of the pot, too, old kid, the result being that you will be in a position to realize just how our friend Firpo is feeling just about now, if I have the right dope on him.

Well, let's get down to cases. A few long weeks ago I had occasion to rush madly into town on some very pressing business, and hours and hours later, as I was sitting down taking life easy—waiting for a little ginger ale to put in it, somebody accused me of being responsible for some alleged poetry which had recently appeared in your metropolitan weekly, from the White Spruce Camp. Shades of Shakespeare, Keats, Browning, Swinbourne, Steve himself and others of the illustrious bunch, it's too much, old thing, I expected more.

I have been accused of most every crime on the calendar, in that town of Fernie, and have taken it with a smile, but I'll have to draw the line somewhere, mister.

For heavings sake, publish the name of the egg who sent you that wonderful rehash, otherwise the rest of my days will be so dark I wont be able to see my hand behind my back.

I would have writen you sooner, if not earlier, but have been busy fighting fire and thusly getting valuable training for the life beyond. Say, here's a good one. Just after the fire broke out, and I was wondering which of the Three Sisters to climb, if any, and if not, why not? I took a walk through the bunk houses, and there lay a Russian on one of the beds, with his shoes off and a wet towel over his head. Safety first, Eh? He sure looked comical. I laughed so much I nearly had a comminuted fracture of the corset cover.

Sorry I missed that wrestling match last Saturday night. I understand that the spectators applauded the winner so heartily that he stepped over and shook hands with both of them. Is that right? Guess Bill Ingram figures he might just as well be living in Shelby. But, all joking on one side, if Bill sponsored that bout, he deserves credit for trying to get a good exhibition of clean sport before the boys and it is too bad that the attendance was so poor.

What's new in town? Nothing! I thought so. Same here only not so schlidly as the Dutchman said. The bull-cook cut off his thumb last Saturday just as slick as a whistle. The axe misunderstood his signals. It just goes to show how rapidly some people can lose flesh in this high altitude.

The Alpine Club ascended the glacier last Sunday. Six long strides and friend Brand was up there. Say, I wish you would remind Harold Minton that I didn't get my October Hearst yet, and I paid my bill, too, darn him.

Well, old thing, the shades of night are falling fast and I must get my curling irons ready.

So, carbolic acid.—Geo. Heafford.

"I've Never Found Its Equal"

A CANADIAN cook who only recently used Carnation, writes: "I've never found its equal." She recognizes Carnation's economical and convenient Pure Milk Service.

Remember, Carnation is twice as rich as whole milk because it contains twice the proportion of cream. It is just 100 per cent cows' milk reduced to the consistency of cream. Nothing is added, not even sugar.

The high quality of Carnation is due to the excellence of the fresh milk used and to the extreme care exercised in every department of the modern Carnation condenseries.

Use Carnation for every milk and cream purpose—as whole milk, as cream with coffee, cocoa, fruits and cereals. Ask your grocer to deliver a supply today and convince yourself.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

OUR OLDEST FRIEND

Mrs. J. D. M. of Vancouver is, without doubt, Pacific Milk's oldest friend. One of our employees gave her a few sample cans to try before the labels had been made. She surprised her grocer by leaving an order for a case before he had even heard the name of Pacific Milk. Since the delivery of that first case, she has used Pacific every single day.

We have checked the facts among the letters received and are happy to order a case of milk sent to her address.

Big Beyond Description—that's "Hollywood!"

All the praise-laden adjectives in the dictionary couldn't do it justice.

You've got to see it—that's all.

In no other way can you grasp the glorious immensity of it—the thrill of seeing ALL your favorite movie stars in ONE picture!

BUT—

"Hollywood" has more than its colossal cast. It's not a "news weekly"—not a parade of celebrities—not a mere sight-seeing tour of Hollywood.

Here is a story—a gripping, throbbing, irresistibly human story of a small-town girl who goes to Hollywood to break into the movies. And meets with a thousand and one adventures that put this picture in a class by itself.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

Mr. Lloyd George has closed his Canadian tour with a remarkable speech at Winnipeg, where he received a welcome no less enthusiastic than those given him at Montreal and Toronto. The chief theme of the visitor at Winnipeg was the immense possibilities of Canada as a home for British people. Mr. Lloyd George spoke on this subject with eloquence and fervor. It is unfortunate that he had to speak from hearsay. If he could have taken time to see that part of Canada which has the most room for immigrants he could have given more authentic testimony on his return to his own overcrowded island, where the evidence would be more valuable. It is true that the former premier passed through Western Canada a quarter of a century ago. But many things have happened in this part of the country since then. In twenty years the population of the four provinces has been multiplied by three. Yet a little investigation will show that this addition makes only a fringe of population about the vast unoccupied or uncultivated lands of the prairies and the valleys of Western Canada. Mr. Lloyd George is doing his best. It would be ungracious to find fault with an unofficial visitor who comes to Canada and does not find it convenient to see all parts of the country. But since he came to deliver a message of thanks and to gather information about the country it is a pity that he is unable to seek information where there is most to be learned, and express his gratitude to the people in Western as well as Eastern Canada. Next time he comes he would do well to begin his speaking tour on the Pacific Coast.—Vancouver Province.

We know how to fly, with and without engines; we draw speech and music out of the air through electric lamps; we juggle fruits and flowers to make them give us what we want in taste, form and color; we talk, ride, sail, or fly around the world; we are constantly on the quest of something new for our pleasure or profit, and we usually get it definitely and promptly when we go after it, no matter what it is; but there is still one thing that we seem to want and need without getting it, perhaps because it is comparatively easy to attain, and that is the knowledge and art of living in peace and contentment, by ourselves and with our fellow beings. That should be the next great wonder of man's achievement.

"The Rosary" continues as the world's best selling song. It has been translated into every language. And has earned more money than any other song ever written. In popularity it threatens the supremacy even of "Dixie," which long since became an international tune. The really phenomenal part is that "The Rosary" isn't jazz, so there's still hope for our generation.

The public debt of the United States is about 3,500 million dollars less than it was four years ago. Uncle Sam's future still is mortgaged for over six times that much. If the reduction continues at the same rate as since 1919, the debt should be wiped out by 1950. Then we'll begin saving for another big war, if times run true to the precedent of history.

Pig iron production in Great Britain has been declining for three months. Output still is much higher than the 1922 average, but the setback is emphatic nevertheless. Pig Iron production is the weathervane of general business conditions. What's happening to the iron industry in Britain looks as if Europe is due for a halt, if not a reverse, in its recovery from the war.

The U. S. Presidential Candidates had better look to their laurels. Ford-for-President clubs have been established in eighteen states and the clubs already have a membership of 20,000 so they cannot be brushed aside as of no consequence. Ford may, after all, be a factor in the next presidential campaign—he may be nominated by some party.

Conditions are "favorable to a continuation of good business" reports experts of Guarantee Trust Co., of New York. They predict the usual seasonal business pick-up this fall, and believes that drops in wholesale prices and securities have "prepared the way for more nearly stable and normal business." The chief thing needed is for the public to be confident of its ability to "keep things moving."

K. P. PASS RESOLUTION

The following is a copy of a resolution adopted by the Knights of Pythias Lodge No. 31, Fernie, B.C., regarding the Home Bank situation:

Whereas through the failure of the Home Bank of Canada, in which the Knights of Pythias, as well as the associated order of Pythian Sisters, had all their funds deposited with the local branch of that bank;

And whereas the individual members and citizens of Fernie were depositors in the above bank to the extent of approximately $800,000.00;

And whereas this loss to a district of approximately 6000 population is of greater per capita than any other district affected;

And whereas the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Fernie, have gone through very trying times during the period of the war, and since which time every effort has been made to place the Lodge on its feet financially, with good results;

And whereas the entire deposits are withheld, with but a doubtful return that may be realized on the assets of the Home Bank;

And whereas the Bankers' Association did interest themselves in forestalling legislation before the last session of the Dominion Parliament, for better banking supervision;

And whereas in a phamplet issued by the Bankers' Association early in 1923, they did make every effort to allay any fears that the people of Canada might have as to the safety of our banking institutions, and caused to be printed the following: "No loss can be sustained by the holder of a Canadian Bank note; and only in remote contingency by a depositor, under the existing law; why, then, should any of the main features of the Bank Act be changed";

And whereas they refered to the failure of the Merchants Bank, and drew attention to the fact that; Neither depositors nor noteholders have lost a dollar;

And whereas every effort has been made by the Banking Association to create confidence in the banking institutions of Canada, in their pamphlet of the early part of 1923;

And whereas within a few months of the issuance of above pamphlet, the greatest bank failure in the annals of Canadian history was experienced, through the failure of the Home Bank of Canada;

Therefore be it resolved that no further confidence be placed in our banking institutions, and as a protest, that we appeal to all Knights of Pythias lodges to place before their members the advisability of withdrawing all funds from their respective banks, and investing same in Government bonds and savings departments as far as possible.

APPROVE ACTION OF PRESIDENT SHERMAN

CALGARY, Oct. 17.—Complete endorsation of the action of William Sherman, president of district No. 18, United Mine Workers of America, in ordering the Drumheller miners back to work when they went on strike two months ago, was given at the Tuesday session of the annual convention of the U. M. W. A., now being held in the Labor Temple. The motion to endorse the president's stand came after a three-hour debate, in which both sides waged a bitter fight. Delegates from the Drumheller districts attempted to explain their actions, while President Sherman, in his annual report, showed clearly what lead up to his order.

The convention had an enormous amount of work to wade through and a number of committees were appointed Tuesday morning. The personnel are as follows: Credentials committee, W. O. Hunter, Fernie, B.C., and Dan McNeill, Cadomin, Alta., William Baird, Wayne, Alta.; resolutions committee, J. Johnson, Coleman, Alta., S. Lazaruk, Michel, B. C., A. Oldham, Luscar, Alta., J. Yates, Fernie, B.C., B. Matthews, Rosedale, Alta., J. Stobbs, Hillcrest, Alta., committee for officers' reports, D. Morgan, Nordegg, Alta., A. Tilley, Lethbridge, Alta., W. Bond, Wayne, Alta., W. Hunter, Lethbrige, C. Burrows, Brule, Alta., T. Maguire, Cadomin W. Patterson, Blairmore, Alta., grievance committee, W. Hunter, W. Bond, D. McNeill; committee on constitutions, A. Susner, Nordegg, W. J. Dillon, Brule, J. Walsh, Michel, L. Beglund, Mountain Park, J. Metcalf, Coalhurst, J. Brooks, Bellevue, press committee, Ernest Mallabone, Canmore, J. Yates, A. Deadrandra. The first named man on each committee officiates as chairman.

Another echo of the Drumheller strike was heard on Tuesday when James Smith, of Edmonton, independent chairman, who sat in Calgary recently on the case of James Conroy, a Drumheller miner, announced his decision. Mr. Smith found that the agreement between the operators and the miners gives the operator the jurisdiction in the employment of workmen and that the Hy-Grade Coal Co., was justified in the position it took in refusing to employ Conroy. The dispute between the miner and the coal company arose during the earl summer. Conroy had been employed as a miner, and had been laid off when work became slack. He later reapplied for his job, claiming that as he had been employed before, he should have preference over any new men employed. The mine officials refused to employ him; relations between them and the miner became strained and finally Conroy appealed to his union.

The matter was brought to a close when an independent chairman, selected by the minister of labor, decided in favor of the mine company.

McLACHLAN IS GUILTY OF SEDITIOUS LIBEL

HALIFAX, Oct. 17. — The jury hearing the case of James B. McLachlan, former secretary of the United Mine Workers, charged with seditious libel, in a letter he published during the last strike of steel and coal workers in Cape Breton, reported a verdict of guilty at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Will all members of the W. A., G. W. V. A. please bring cakes or home cooking for the Sale on Saturday, October 20, at 2 p.m. or not later than 2:30.

M. A. Kastner, Robt. Johnstone, of Fernie, and H. Le Roy, of Michel, took a party of K. P's. to Coleman on Wednesday evening to attend a grand gathering of the Dokkies at that place.

All Sisters belonging to Trinity Temple No. 7 Pythian Sisters please take notice that Alexander Temple No. 18, of Michel, will visit us at our next meeting, October 25. Please make it a record attendance and bring refreshments.

Not long ago A. Altomare, of Natal, had his car smashed by a Coleman car near Fernie. The case is now in the courts. A bill for replacing the broken parts, amounting to $1450, has been received from the factory.

An unfortunate accident occurred in five north entry of the Star mine, belonging to the Great West Coal, Rosedale, Alta., Friday, when a miner, Sam Olexsiux was instantly killed by some seven tons of rock falling on his body and crushing in his left side.

The local Coal office is now taking orders for domestic coke. The price per ton is $13.75. The market for this product promises to be very strong and some day we may see our local ovens producing it in large quantities.

The New York Sun states today, Friday, that the racehorse "My Own" was substituted for "Zev' in the International Horse Race to be run at Belmont Park for the $100,000 stakes tomorrow. Even money is being laid in New York while in London bookmakers are laying two to one against "Papyrus."

Rev. Burns gave a very interesting talk yesterday at the Rotary luncheon upon the subject of education. He spoke highly of the public school in Fernie and its superior equipment and teaching staff, but severely criticised the Provincial Board of Education for the crammed curriculum which it had enforced on the public schools of the Province. Every pupil attending the public school was loaded up with a mass of useless facts, but very little real education to assist in the actual life of the boy or girl. The average girl, for instance, passed through the seven or eight grades of the pubilic school and perhaps one year in the high school and then marries. She has not received one lesson in domestic science; has not learned the simplest thing about different food values; had not learned one thing about music; in fact was absolutely deficient in the ordinary knowledge that a woman really requires in every day home life. Our educational system was fine for the three or four pupils who contemplated a university education but for the every day boy and girl it was sadly deficient.

North Vancouver, Oct 15.—For the first time since its foundation, The Carnegie Hero Fund has been asked to recognize a Japanese for signal bravery. Attention has been attracted to the case of Shimimo, a mill worker of North Vancouver, who dived into the deep water near the Seaport Mill and rescued little six year old Marion Dawson who had disappeared from sight.

Vancouver, Oct. 15.—"Can a working girl keep herself respectable, live in comfort and have an opportunity of self betterment at the night schools while working in a Laundry at $10 a week?" Following a stirring and sensational expose in The Hook, pubblished by J. S. Cowper, ex-M.P.P., a public outcry has been directed toward conditions that are about to be presented to the Government for immediate remedial action. The Women's Clubs are taking the matter up, and a probe is being started. This movement was precipitated by Miss Greta P. Fraser, a bright and respectable girl of 21 who told of the ardous toil of laundry girls, and, in citing her own case, it seems that she was "fired" because she asked for enough money to live in decency. Miss Fraser stated to The Hook that her's was but one instance. She wished to better herself and attend night school, but was too wearied with back-breaking, monotonous toil to even eat her supper after the day's work, but frequently fell into an exhausted sleep, without undressing after returning to her room.

Vancouver—The recent reduction of ten per cent. in the western grain rates, added to the six cents per hundred pound reduction previously obtained by the province at Ottawa will mean a saving of $1,020.000 on the grain to be shipped through Vancouver this year, says Premier Oliver.

"Even if we should spend $100,000 on the freight rates fight, it has been well worth it," asserted the Premier who expects to see one hundred million bushels, or five times this year's shipment, pass through the port of Vancouver within three years time.

The waterfront of Vancouver presents a busy spectacle with four vessels loading at the new Ballantyne Pier. The new addition to No. 1 government elevator will add 250,000 bushels storage capacity within another two weeks added to the 875,000 bushels now in storage. Discharge is being made at the rate of 100.000 bushels a day, despite the attempted tie-up of the waterfront by longshoremen who declared a strike for higher wages on the day the Ballantyne Pier opened. The shipping interests are offering the old scale of eighty cents an hour and $1.20 an hour for overtime with ten cents an hour additional pay for men handling coal, cement, fertilizer, grain and some other commodities. Men are being guaranteed work if suitable and are being housed and protected on the job by the shipping interests. There is nearly one million bushels of grain on C. P. R. cars in the province and 300 cars billed for Vancouver have been diverted to the Great Lakes to prevent any congestion in the Vancouver yards.

Public agitation to increase the storage capacity to ten million bushels has commenced since the speech of Mr. Geo. C. Coote, M.P., of Macleod, Alberta, at the Harbor Commissioners' banquet last Monady, in which he pointed out that the present Vancouver elevator capacity was not large enough to take all the grain from his own district.

Vancouver.— Continuing its series of "anti-waste" articles, The Hook this week cites the case of the extravagance and unnecessary trouble to the public through having two lots of officials, staffs, returns and penalties for the assessment and collection of the provincial and federal income taxes. The theory of an income tax is approved, but the suggestion made that one tax be collected and divided between the two governments.

West Vancouver.—Their ages aggregating 310 years, and two of them meeting after many years, four brothers have just held a unique reunion here. They are Nathaniel, Daniel and Benjamin, Lucas, all retired, and all hale and hearty at their great ages. Two came from Eastern Canada for the occasion. At the gathering were several sons also well along in years.

Vancouver.—Reports that Cornelius Vanderbilt, millionaire young publisher is about to invade the newspaper field of Vancouver have been current, without being denied. Vanderbilt, who served his apprenticeship as a reporter upon several metropolitan dailies, is now running an illustrated daily in Los Angeles with a circulation stated to be over 325.000.

The Hook which has been exposing the methods of international propaganda in Canada by the American press services, says that while Vanderbilt represents American idealism and not the type of propaganda of the Hearst press, that Canada can do better without any American invasion of its press.

Victoria. — Indignantly claiming that they are simply tradesmen without "any high toned ambitions of being professional guys," barbers are sending in protests against the proposed measure that calls for a law classing the tonsorial experts with doctors and other members of the learned professions. The law, if it goes into effect would be stringent in calling for examinations. The protesting barbers aver the movement is started by members of their craft who feel the sting of competition by barber "Colleges."

For U.S. President?

When Henry Ford was asked by Montreal reporters if he would run for President of the United States, he said, "I am not running for or against anything", but when asked if he would accept nomination if proferred, the motor car king replied:

"No one knows what they will do from one day to another."

INROADS OF GOLF

American newspaper correspondents are on the trail of Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. Gentlemen of the fraternity are keen in their quest of news, celebrities from Great Britain are great distributors of news of interest to the United States public, and if the celebrities in question refuse to contribute news, why then news must be manufactured for the occasion, that is all.

We fear that in the case of Lloyd George news is being manufactured. The former Premier of Great Britain, as almost everbody knows, is a Baptist, and all devout Baptists are strict observers of the conventions that hedge about the Sabbath. Hence when we are told that Mr. Lloyd George rebelled against the program that had been arranged for him, such as attending divine service and laying corner stones of churches, insisted upon donning a golf suit and playing a round or two upon the links on the Lord's Day, we must dismiss that statement as pure fiction. It is impossible of belief unless the fascination of the game called golf has obtained a firmer grip upon the leading men of Britain that we have any conception of.

The former Premier is going to visit Toronto, and we wonder what sort of reception he would have received in that extraordinary good and circumspect city if the fact had been published to the world that he had played a game of golf upon the Sabbath Day. Sir Arthur Balfour, another eminent British public man, has been caught playing golf on Sunday, but he does it privately, and confesses that he is ashamed of himself if anyone catches him at it. The Prince of Wales when he was in Western Canada hit the ball around on Sundays, and defied all the conventions and proprietories in doing it. Even ecclesiastical remonstrances about the effect of his example did not cause him to deviate from his course of exercise. It is even reported that there are certain Torontonians who cannot refrain from playing golf on Sunday, but such stories may be malicious libels intended to injure the reputation of that immaculate place.

We do not know what the world may come to unless the inroads this game, or whatever it may be, is making upon nearly all our cherished conventions can be checked.—Colonist

POSTAL CO-OPERATION

Did you ever give a moment's thought to the hours of duty that are put in daily by the Local Post Office and the hundred and one things that have to be thought of and attended to correctly and quickly to give you the good service which you expect. There are so many ways in which you can assist the post office to give you service, and they are all so small and easy that everybody can do them with out the slightest inconvenience to themselves. Here is a list of some ways to remove the wrinkles from the postmaster's (or postmastress's) fore head:-

1. If there is a vacant box in the post office—rent it. The cost is about fifteen cents a month If your time is worth anything at all, you will save money by not having to wait at the wicket for your mail.

2. If you lose your key—buy another the first time you are in the post office. Don't keep asking for your mail to be handed to you, in the hope of finding your key some day.

3. Put your box number on every letter you write, or if you live in the city, your correct street address. There are lots of Browns, Smiths, and Robinsons everywhere, and it is very annoying when someone else opens your letters.

4. If your children call for the mail let one of them do it. It is not necessary to have the whole family call one after the other.

5. If you should send to a mail order house, don't expect to get your parcel next morning. Give them time-when the parcel arrives the postmaster won't forget to give it to you, he doesn't want it. There is no need to ask for it four or five times if your order has come.

6. Don't ask them not to hand your mail to anybody but yourself. Post office employees only have human brains. Rent a box and keep the key yourself.

7. Never send a parcel without insuring it. Three cents will insure it up to five dollars, and it is a mighty poor parcel that is not worth three cents.

8. Put your name and address on the upper left hand corner of every letter you write, and the stamp in the upper right corner. Better still use stamped envelopes, and have your box number printed on them.

9. Don't put money in a letter - buy a money order or a postal note, then if it gets lost the post office will gladly issue a duplicate, and some hard-working postal employee will not be suspected of stealing it. If you must put the cash in - register it.

10. Don't put Inland Revenue Stamps on your letters.

11. Pack your parcels properly, address them with ink, use good thick wrapping paper and twine.

12. Buy your postage stamps at the local post office. The postmaster's pay depends on his stamp sales, and the more stamps you buy off him the better service he can afford to give you.

13. Don't grumble at the regulations, they are made for your benefit and protection. Your local postmaster did not make them, he is just doing his duty in carrying them out strictly. Try to help him do it right, and make things pleasanter for everyone.

14. If you forget to do your business at the post office between eight in the morning and seven at night, don't worry the post office employees to see if they will give you your mail or write a money order for you after hours. They are entitled to a little time off, and the best tempered people in the world are liable to get snappy sometimes.

REPORT OF TUBERCULOSIS SURVEY COMMITTEE OF B.C.

The results obtained in the schools are collected together and summarized for convenient reference. Without discussing these results too minutely, the following features stand out clearly. 34 of the 907 children examined (3.7 per cent.) show definite clinical evidence of tuberculosis verified in each case by X-ray plates and the tuberculin test. This result is higher than was anticipated from the experience in Saskatchewan. Out of these 34, seven required treatment which could be made avaliable in their homes; 47 others should be kept under more or less continuous observation by their family physician.

It is interesting to note that of these children showing signs of tuberculosis, 8 (23.5 per cent.) lie between the ages of 6 and 8 years, 23, (67.6 per cent.) lie between the ages of 9 and 13 years, and 3 (8.5 per cent.) lie between the ages of 14 and 16 years. The percentage of pupils examined for the corresponding periods are 31.4 per cent., 55.6 per cent. and 10.5 per cent. respectively. No cases of tuberculosis were discovered in children of pre-school age, constituting 3.1 per cent. of those examined.

In the tuberculin test, positives were obtained in three pupils from 2 to 5 years, in 50 from 6 to 8 years, in 148 from 9 to 13 years and in 51 from 14 to 16 years, giving percentages of 13, 20, 59.2 and 20.4 respectively. Out of the total of 907 pupils examined, 252 or 28 per cent were re-actors.

WATER NOTICE

Use and Storage

TAKE NOTICE that F. C. Limbocker, whose address is Jaffray, B.C., will apply for a licence to take and use 30 C. F. S. and to store 5 acre feet of water out of Little Sand Creek, which flows South and drains into Big Sand Creek about 1½ miles South of Jaffray. The storage-dam will be located at about 300 feet South of Government Road. The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about 5 acre feet, and it will flood about 1 acre of land, and will be used for power purpose upon the land described as portion of Sub Lot 3 South of Government Road West of Little Sand Creek. This notice was posted on the ground on the 8th day of October, 1923. A copy of this notice and an application thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Fernie, B.C. Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B. C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper. The date of the first publication of this notice is October 12th, 1923.

F. C. Limbocker, Applicant.

CONST. HOUGHTON CLUBBED WHILE PERFORMING DUTY

COLEMAN, Oct. 13. — The town constable, John Houghton, was clubbed into unconsciousness early Saturday morning, about 2 o'clock, behind the Coleman hotel.

In the course of his duties, Constable Houghton observed John Salvador unloading barrels into the Coleman Hotel garage from his truck. Beside him were George Gervais and Steve Farrion, assisting in the unloading.

The constable ordered the barrels confiscated and taken to the fire hall. The ten barrels were reloaded, although Steve Farrion thought that if the constable took two bottles this would be sufficient. Just when the truck got loaded and began to move away, someone struck the constable with a heavy club behind the right ear and he fell unconscious in the alleyway.

Slowly he came to and dragged himself over to the fire hall, about fifty yards away. He phoned Sergt. Duncan and Mayor Burns.

The mayor came down immediately and assisted in storing the booze in one of the cells at the fire hall. Sergt. Duncan arrived and took Constable Houghton home in his car.

The booze was taken in the first instance from a car that was standing on the C.P.R. tracks, and presumably had come in on the way freight at half past eight.

Constable Houghton is in a very weakened condition and is being kept perfectly quiet. Great indignation has been aroused by this dastardly deed, and the citizens feel it is time that some of the bootleggers were being handled without gloves and in some cases deported.

Sergt. Duncan is making a thorough investigation of the case, and some startling developments are likely to take place within a few hours.

Back to Work in Four Days

If you are a sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble, read how this man was relieved:—

"I have used Gin Pills for bladder trouble and general kidney derangement. I suffered from an aching back which interfered with my work on the railroad. It was so bad that I had to give up my work for about two months. Then I started using Gin Pills for the Kidneys, which gave me relief in four days, so that I could go back to work. I know Gin Pills to be a wonderful remedy for kidney and bladder complaints, and can recommend them to any one who may be suffering as I did."

MOST SUITABLE FORM OF SMOKE

Commendation of the cigarette as the most suitable smoke was given recently by Dr. Royal S. Copeland, formerly Health Commissioner for the City of New York and now a United States Senator. Dr. Copeland is a non-smoker and he dealt with the question from the purely scientific standpoint.

Dr. Copeland says that the cigarette is the most suitable smoke, as the tobacco taken in that form is more perfectly consumed, and as combustion is better, the nicotine is practically destroyed. "There can be no doubt," he said, "that smokers find solace and comfort in the moderate use of tobacco.' '

Dr. Copeland's statement confirmed the pronouncement made some years ago by the Lancet. As the result of an ivestigation conducted by that eminent medical journal, the Lancet announced that the cigarette is the purest form in which tobacco can be smoked.

EVERY PLAYER A REAL TYPE IN "HOLLYWOOD"

A cast of players practically unknown to the screen, but every one a type, every one talented—that is the roster for "Hollywood," James Cruze's new Paramount picture, which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre for four days beginning next Monday.

True, there are many others in the picture—all the prominent stars, directors, and officials of th eParamount organization, but they appear only in certain scenes. When Angela from the middle west visits Hollywood and trie sto get into pictures, she meets all these notables and thus the public sees them all in one great picture.

The leading role of Angela Whitaker is played by Hope Drown, a young actress who has never heretofore appeared before the camera. She is lovely, youthful, vivacious and clever. Mr. Cruze remembered seeing her on the stage with a stock company in San Diego a year or so ago. He located her in San Francisco, where she was playing at a theatre. The arrangements were made and she was signed for a role which should make her famous.

The role of Joel Whitaker, grandfather of Angela, is interpreted by Luke Cosgrave, and old time actor and a great type. He has never been on the screen.

Ruby Lafayette plays Grandmother Whitaker. She has appeared on the screen but infrequently. G.K. Arthur, an English actor, known only in Europe to screen patrons, makes his debut as Lem Lefferts, the youthful sweetheart of Angela in her old home town.

Harris Gordon, another new face, plays Dr. Luke Morrison, which is something of a heavy role. Bess Flowers, altogether unknown to the screen, is Hortense Towers in the film. Horace Pringle, another important character, is portrayed by King Zany, new to the screen.

"Hollywood," which is a remarkable picture in many ways, is calculated to appeal to every lover of motion pictures everywhere. It is significant of the importance of the picture that it was made by James Cruze, creator of "The Old Homestead" and "The Covered Wagon."

CANADIAN NATIONAL OPENS ONE OF WORLD'S LARGEST RAILWAY YARDS FOR GRAIN

Some idea of the extent of the Neebing Terminal opened at Fort William this fall by the Canadian National Railways is given by the above pictures, showing part of the 43 miles trackage with capacity for 2,000 cars. This new terminal is doing much to minimize the possibility of grain car congestion on Canadian National lines at the head of the lakes; expedite delivery of grain to elevators for shipment down the lakes and also the movement of other "loads" and "empties" both east and west and thus further improve the transportation service provided. Views shown are as follows:

1.—Classification yard looking eastward from the "hump."

2.—Twenty-four stall round-house with electrically operated turntable in the foreground.

4.—Eight and one-half million bushel elevator at Port Arthur, owned by Canadian National Railways, the picture showing grain going into elevator from cars at one end and being loaded on boat at the other.

5.—The "hump," where the force of gravity is the only power used in placing cars in the classification tracks assigned to them. Two cars have just been released and are shown on their way to classification yard.

EARTHQUAKE PREDICTION

The Japanese quake was predicted nearly two years ago, according to Director Tondorf of the Georgetown University Seismic Observatory in Washington. Professor F. Omori, head of the Imperial Earthquake Investigation Committee of Japan, forecasts n March, 1922, the occurrence of severe shocks within six years. This prediction, we are told by Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin (Washington), was based on the number of quakes in the years immediately preceding. The Japanese scientist noted that when earthquakes were many and often, severe shocks were unlikely to follow, but when the small earth movements were relatively few and far between over a long period, earthquakes were liable to be more serious later. On account of the comparative absence of quakes preceding his forcast, Professor Omori predicted that serious quakes would occur within a period of six years. We read further:

"Through his study of rainfall in the northern part of the islands, he was able to point out an apparent connection between the precipitation and earthquakes, showing that when the rainfall was exceedingly heavy in this section it would be followed by earthquakes.

"Omori believed that the primary cause of the earthquake is the breaking of the earth's crust but that the cause of this break is the additional pressure furnished by the added weight of air and water as shown in rainfall and barometric measurements.

"Professor Omori also predicted the great Chilean earthquake of August 17, 1906, using data worked out in regard to the earthquakes of his native islands. He held that the stress applied along one of the great earthquake belts on finding relief by an earthquake movement, will not for a time effect that neighborhood; but when next the stress finds relief, it will be at a distant point along the belt. Upon the basis of this law he made the prediction shortly after the California earthquake of April 18, 1906, that the next great earthquake in that belt would occur in South America south of the equator. Immediately after this prediction came the Chilean quake."

That the earthquake in Japan originated partly in the sea is believed by Professor Andrew C. Lawson, of the University of California, who has come to Washington to head the National Research Council's division on geology and geography. The Bulletin quotes him as saying:

"A great break in the ocean bottom occurred, allowing one side to slip past the other and drop for probably a dozen feet, carrying with it millions of tons of sea water. The ocean rushing into the vacated space set up the so-called tidal waves that, oscillating back and forth like water in a tub, swept the Japanese coast. The violent shaking of the earth that caused destruction and started the fires was a result of the slipping of two portions of the earth's crust past each other.

"The extremely deep portions of the ocean seem to be associated with the areas where earthquakes are most frequent, Professor Lawson pointed out. Just off the east coast of Japan is a long depression in the ocean's floor called the 'Tuscarora Deep.' Similar depths of the sea, found of Chile, the Philippines, Jamaica and the Aleutian Islands in Alaska, are regions where earthquakes are frequent.

"Earthquakes occur when strains in the earth's crust become too great and find relief in slips and breaks, Professor Lawson said. He likened the crust to a board that when stressed by a weight will finally give way with a sudden crash. The rocks of the earth are elastic like steel and will stand a certain amount of strain before they are relieved by sudden movement.

"Japan is noted for the progressive piling up of strains that result in earthquakes. Professor Lawson recalled the quake of 1891 in Japan that left an abrupt cliff as high as eighteen feet in some parts of the zone.

"Scientists know that there are various regions of the world, like Japan, the coast of California, the Alaskan coast, Chile and New Zealand, where the earth's surface is unstable and where adjustments are now in progress."

Eventually it may be possible to predict all earthquakes as Omori did the recent one in Japan. Investigations are now under way by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in California that show that there is a crustal creep there of about three feet in ten years relatively to the Sierra Nevadas. To quote further:

"Several years ago the National Research Council pointed out the need of seismologic study, and the Carnegie Institution with the cooperation of other scientific bodies is making an intensive study of California, which was selected because of the work previously done on the San Francisco earthquake of 1906. The Coast Survey has had parties in the field for the last two years to determine the rate of movement there. Professor Lawson considers this slow displacement as a strain creep, which accumulates till relief is effected by a sudden slip or a rupture in the earth's crust.

" 'After years more of such research,' said professor Lawson, 'I believe that it may be possible to predict about when the strains that are indicated by these movements will be released and cause an earthquake, but exact prediction is not likely to be obtained. We can not draw conclusions from our present data, because we do not know how earthquakes, often very slight in one part of the area, affect the strains in another part.'

"The most plausible theory of quakes, according to Professor Lawson, is that deep in the earth the rocks, while remaining hard and very dense, act like a fluid and tend to flow from one part of the earth to another, carrying the upper crust with them. The strains that produce earthquakes at the surface are caused by these deeper movements."

A representative of the Danish Government is now in Canada to study conditions and plans for Danish immigration to this country. The prospective settlers belong to the agricultural class and are not anxious to locate in cities. The Danes are a thrifty and industrious people who have carried intensive farming to a high state of development. As dairy experts they have few rivals. They would be a welcome addition to the population of British Columbia.

35 Years of Protection Yielded $426.94 Profit

TAKE the Mutual Life Endowment policy number 17631, which matured last year. Premiums, during the period of 35 years which the policy ran, totalled $590.64. The Mutual Life of Canada paid $1,017.58. That means that after 35 years of insurance protection, during the whole of which the company was responsible for the full face value of the policy, this policyholder received his money back, plus $426.94. In other words, for every $100 he paid in to the company, the company paid him back $172.28.

This case is not exceptional.

THE FERNIE HOCKEY CLUB

The Fernie Senior Hockey Club held its organization meeting for the 1923-24 season in the 150 All Sports Gymnasium Wednesday evening.

The report of last season's financial standing was read and showed that the club finished the season with over three hundred dollars in the treasury. These funds, however, rather unluckily had been deposited in the Home Bank of Canada and consequently could not be utilized in preparation for the opening of the new season, unless the affairs of the bank are settled earlier than expected.

President—P. A. McLeod.
Vice President—J. L. Donaldson.
Sec.- Treas.—H. McLachlan.
Executive—A. Walde, P. J. Hughes and J. R. McLeod.

A committee was appointed to interview the Rink Management with a view to ascertaining what terms would be given to the Hockey Club regarding the use of the ice for hockey practices and games during the winter.

While nothing definite was arranged as to the form the City League will take this season, it is expected that four teams will be placed in the City League and that the Fernie Senior team will meet outside clubs will be held intact and not entered in the City League. This feature, it is believed, will bring about a much better understanding among the senior players and give them a much better opportunity of showing their calibre against outside clubs than last season, when the senior team was split up and distributed through the league teams.

The Swastika Ladies' Club, holders of the World's Championship Alpine Cup, are to hold their organization meeting next week. Their entire team from last season remains intact, while several new players have cropped up and will be in the ring to try to attain a place on this ladies, fast hockey aggregation.

Q.—Where is the capital of Montana? Ans.—Dempsey has it.

The mayor of Ottawa recently gave an address on civic insurance. A policy that would protect municipal officers from election risks would be popular with candidates.

COMMUNICATION

Sir—As a suggestion as to how the Home Bank depositors may be protected and as to creating reserve funds for the protection of depositors generally, the following may be in point.

It is genarally granted that the public in depositing money in the Banks have in view as the primary object the safe-keeping of their money. Interest is a secondary consideration. It may safely be said that a depositor in making a deposit does not say to himself "I am lending this money to the Bank and the Bank is now my debtor." What he thinks is that the money will be free from risk of being lost, stolen or destroyed.

If the above is correct, then the depositors would prefer 2½% on their deposits plus safety to 3% plus risk. The Banks are apparently in a position to pay 3%. Why should not the Canadian Bankers' Association agree on a rate of 2½% and pay the difference of one-half of one per cent. to the Dominion Government to form a fund for the protection of all depositors including the Home Bank depositors? The Government Post Office Bank could adopt the same course.

On the basis of savings deposits in all the banks being say one billion dollars—which I believe is a conservative estimate—one-half of one per cent. would yield $5,000,000 each year to such a fund and would in time create a substantial reserve to stand between the depositor and loss.

As a further safeguard no bank should be allowed to declare a dividend until its reserve amounted to say twice, or at least one and a half times its capital. After all, dividends paid to shareholders are earned for the most part by the depositors' money—which distinguishes a bank from an ordinary industrial company which operates on its shareholders' money—and no dividends should be paid to shareholders until the depositors' money has had a measure of protection by the existence of such reserve. This reserve fund should be kept apart from the other funds of the bank and invested in gilt edged securities which could be readily realized.

The country's prosperity depends in large measure on the stability of the banks which in turn depend on a cheap supply of money "donated" by the depositors. When the depositors supply practically free of charge the means by which the country is run, they surely deserve absolute protection.—Depositor.

CADOMIN MINER IS SUICIDE

CALGARY, Oct. 17.—Dan McNeill, a delegate to the miners' convention from the Cadomin area, committed suicide in this city this morning by throwing himself in front of a street car on Eighth avenue east. He was walking down the sidewalk with P. M. Christophers, M.L.A., for Rocky Mountain, and a former official of District 18 of the U.M.W.A., and Terrence MaGuire, a brother delegate from the district, when suddenly he broke away from them and rushing into the street plunged underneath the fender and was crushed by the front truck of the car. The wheels did not pass over him as the motorman brought the car to a stop within 10 feet.

McNeill was about 30 years of age and he is survived by a wife and family now living in the Cadomin district, near Edmonton.

THE DOCTORS AND MINERS

A meeting called to discuss the question of the dismissal of Drs. Garner and Asselstine as contract doctors for the Gladstone Local Miners Union was held in the Isis Theatre last Tuesday evening. The theatre was crowded to the doors when the meeting opened. Wm. Hunter, President of the Local Union, was appointed chairman.

Dr. Garner was the first speaker called upon and he fully outlined the negotiations which had been carried on between the Miners Medical Committee and themselves, stating that there had been no hard feelings in any of the dealings, just simply that an agreement could not be reached. He then explained minutely the viewpoint of the doctors, dealing for considerable time upon the clauses which had prevented the new contract from being signed. He stated that the specialist clause laid down by the miners was a financial impossibility and in regard to the maternity clause, this work could not be done in a medical and surgical hospital, but would require a separate wing to be built to the present hospital, which at this time the doctors could not see their way clear to do.

Mr. Hesketh, Secretary of the Miners Medical Committee, at the close of Dr. Garner's address, outlined the steps taken by that body regarding the new contract, stating that they had in all their negotiations been endeavoring to compromise upon the clauses at issue. He stated the committee had been authorized to make an offer of $200 to the doctors to be used in the building of a maternity wing to the present hospital building. They had definite instructions from the Union regarding the contract which would be acceptable to the miners and could therefore go no further in the way of compromise.

Dr. Asselstine read the final contract which had been drawn up by the doctors and placed before the Medical Committee, then T. Whitehouse of the Medical Committee read the contract which was the basis of the final decision of the miners.

The two contracts were similar in every respect except on four or five points, the chief difference occurring in the matter of supplying artificial limbs, the maternity work question and the miners demand for two night nurses. On the latter point the doctors stated they were quite willing to supply two night nurses whenever this was necessary. The specialist clause was also different.

Dr. Garner was asked by one of the audience whether he was prepared to live up to the contract the doctors had submitted, and he replied that he had gone into this contract thoroughly and would certainly carry out his part of any obligation he entered into.

Considerable argument arose between different factions of the audience arising out of happenings at Local Union meetings. Several attempts were made by individuals to have the chair accept motions calling a mass meeting of Gladstone Local and for a referendum vote on the doctor question, but Chairman Hunter explained that he was in a dual position of having presided at a mass meeting of the Union where specific instructions were given him, and it was his duty to carry out these instructions. He stated the only manner in which a motion of this nature could be passed was by adjourning the first meeting and call another with a different chairman. This was done and Robert Draper was appointed chairman of the second meeting. A resolution was then passed pointing out that under the constitution of the United Mine Workers when 25 members of a local indicate that they desire a mass meeting it was the duty of the union officials to call such a meeting.

It is understood that another meeting of the miners will be held shortly. In the meantime the Medical Committee state that although their contract has not been signed they have practically completed all arrangements for the new doctors to take over the Union medical work on Nov. 1st.

Miss Katie Hughes and Miss D. Small are holidaying in Calgary.

Reports that a general election will be held in January are declared by Premier Oliver to be mere fabrications of fertile imaginations. The government has two years more to go before an election is necessary and the Premier's interpretation of public is that the time is not opportune.

MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR ARMISTICE DAY

The G.W.V.A. are making extensive arrangements for observing Armistice Day, Nov. 11. The local committee have secured a large supply of poppies, which will be on sale.

By wearing a poppy on November 11th, Armistice Day:

1. You honor the dead.
2. You assist the disabled veteran and dependents by providing a means of employment in the manufacture of these poppies. They are all made in Canada by the Veteraft Branch of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.
3. You materially assist in improving the soldier legislation and the better care and treatment of the disabled, the widow and the orphans of men who served.
4. You assist these widows and orphans and disabled men who are unable to take up their own cases to have the G. W. V. A. act in their behalf.

ASSOCIATION IS ENLARGED

Commissioner Fred Spalding of the Tourist Association of South Eastern British Columbia and Southern Alberta has just returned to Fernie after visiting the towns in the territory which is represented by the Association and addressing the City Councils and Boards of Trade in each town.

The object of his tour was to get the old members signed up for 1924 and to induce other towns to join. He met with considerable success as all of last year's members rejoined and the membership has been increased by the addition of High River, Macleod, Medicine Hat, Bow Island, Taber, Coleman and Watertown Lakes Park.

The Association now represents the following towns: Cranbrook, Fernie, Windermere and District, Banff, High River, Macleod, Medicine Hat, Bow Island, Taber, Lethbridge, Pincher Creek, Blairmore, Coleman and Watertown Lakes.

It is expected that Claresholm, Stavely and Granum will also become members within the next two weeks.

Mr. Spalding reports that Calgary is undecided at present regarding joining, though it is possible that they may do so in time to be included in the advertising campaign for 1924, as the matter is under consideration by the city council now and is receiving the support of several of the influential members.

If Calgary does not join, it will be the only town of any consequence in Southern Alberta which is not a member. When all the other towns only derive a small benefit from the tourist travel compared with the enormous benefits it does, it remaining apart from the Association is something which is giving the other towns which are paying for advertising very serious grounds for thought.

During his tour Mr. Spalding drove close to 1800 miles and made 19 speeches in eighteen days. Everywhere he went he found that the importance of the tourist travel is receiving enthusiastic attention. The realization that it means increased business in every town along the lines of travel has taken hold everywhere. Every town he visited is fixing up camping grounds and improving those they have. The Rotary Clubs of Lethbridge and Medicine Hat intend to repaint the markings of the Red Trail between Medicine Hat and Crow's Nest. It is about three years since it was done and most of the original markings have faded out. The Fernie and Cranbrook Rotary Clubs might take this as a good example and repaint the trail between Crow's Nest and Kuskanook between them, as the old markings are nearly gone and though they are not so necessary in the mountains as on the prairie, they are a decided help to strangers.

A special meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade will be held in the city hall on Monday next at 8 p.m.

Acting on behalf of the widow and children of the late John R. Cowell, former clerk of the Alberta legislature, whose death tok place at Victoria, B.C., on April 16 last, the executors of the estate have filed a writ in the Supreme Court of British Columbia, bringing action against the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in the sum of $25,000. The plaintiffs allege that it was as a result of food eaten in defendant's restaraunt in Vancouver that the late Mr. Cowell came to his death.

MOOSE GREET THEIR CHIEF

George N. Warde, General Dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose for the continent of North America, visited this city on Wednesday evening and addressed a large public meeting in Victoria Hall.

Thos. Uphill, M.L.A., a Past Dictator of the local lodge, was appointed chairman and opened the meeting with a few well chosen remarks and introduced Grand Dictator Wards to the gathering.

Mayor Henderson in a brief address welcomed the visitor to the city and fraternal greetings were extended by the various Fernie lodges.

Grand Dictator Warde then took the platform and in a speech which lasted for nearly an hour and a half outlined the aims and objects of the Loyal Order of Moose. His chief subject was in connection with the work of the order in the care of the children and the aged. He sketched the glorious work now being carried on at Mooseheart, where the order has founded a large home for children. This institution has now under its care 1143 children, whose welfare was the charge of the Order. He detailed the routine these children went through daily, telling how the children themselves formed a government of their own, had their own regulations and punished infractions of these in their own manner. He then outlined the comparatively new undertaking of the Order, that of the care of the aged in a home belonging to the Order. A home had been built just a year ago at Moose Haven, Florida, where already the Order has 68 aged people under their care. He gave his audience an idea of how these people passed their time in this home, pointing out the various little occupations that were given to the patients were merely pleasant duties given to pass the time and keep their minds occupied. Gardening was one of the chief occupations at the home and already the gardens of Moose Haven were among the finest in the country.

After Mr. Warde had closed his address, W. R. Wilson, President of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and Rev. H. U. Oswald, of the Anglican Church, both expressed great appreciation of the work of the Order at Mooseheart and Moose Haven, and thanked Bro. Warde for his enlightening address.

Following the public meeting, Grand Dictator Warde was the guest of honor at a banquet at the Northern Hotel, given by the Sisters of the Mooseheart Legion, at which the officers of both lodges were present, Sister Barrett of the Legion catering for the gathering in her usual splendid manner. During the evening a musical program was provided by the Whitehouse Orchestra and Alex. Watson.

Thursday afternoon Bro. Warde was the guest of the Fernie Rotary Club at the regular weekly luncheon, where he again gave a splendid address on the work at Mooseheart and Moose Haven. He left the city on Thursday evening for Medicine Hat and from there he will go direct to Winnipeg.

Alberta electors are requested not to "plump" when voting on the prohibition plebiscite. The government desires an expression of opinion on the questions submitted in order of preference for moist, wet and arid.

THE MAYOR TO GO EAST

Fernie depositors of the local branch of the Home Bank, comfortably filled the Grand Theatre last Monday evening, despite the inclement nature of the weather, when for the second time since the collapse of that bank, a general meeting has been held.

Mayor Henderson presided and with him on the stage were the six members of the local depositors' committee. He announced with regret he had no cheerful news to offer, emphasizing that apparently each succeeding official disclosure tended to present matters more appalling from the depositors' viewpoint. Many prominent citizens took active part in the discussions and scathing criticisms were directed against the Canadian Bankers' Assocation, and the Federal Government, for, it was alleged, being derelict in their duty by calmly remaining aloof when it is now evident that it has been known by those in

JUDGE GIVES REASON FOR WINDING UP BANK

Toronto, Oct. 24. — Mr. Justice Fisher today gave his typewritten reasons for making his recent order, winding up the Home Bank of Canada:

"A perusal of the curator's report," said the judge, "convinces me that a most capable liquidator should be appointed. Millions are involved, and questions of complicated characters will arise necessarily. I have no power to appoint a permanent liquidator, but as the curator has made and submitted his report his duties are at an end.

"An interim liquidator shuld be appointed, pending the calling of the creditors' and shareholders' meetings under section 151 of the act."

A slight earthquake shock was recorded in Spain the other day. It may have been caused by another cabinet falling.

MACDONALD WINS FIGHT

Dan MacDonald, of Michel, knocked out Gus Williams, of Fernie, after only twenty-five seconds of fighting in the first round of their scheduled ten round boxing bout, at the 150 All Sports Gym on Thursday evening.

Immediately after the hand shake MacDonald landed lightly with a left to the face, then after a few seconds of sparring the boxers went into a clinch. Following the break MacDonald landed a hard right on Williams' face; Williams backed away, claiming it had been a foul punch. Referee Soars ignored the claim. MacDonald followed up and floored Williams with a terrific right to the jaw. On the count of nine Williams staggered to his feet, only to meet another powerful drive to the jaw, and he went down again, this time taking the full count.

Before the main event, three preliminaries between school boy pupils of the gymnasium were staged and provided many thrills for the crowded house. Following these three preliminaries an exhibition bout between Billy Bean, of Fernie, and H. Brown, of Calgary, went three rounds to a draw.

MAYOR TO GO EAST

high authority for some time that the affairs of the Home Bank to say the very least, were not on a sound basis.

The opinion was openly voiced that the depositors of this locality were in complete accord in promoting most drastic propaganda for the general withdrawal of deposits from all chartered banks, carrying out organized runs, urging the establishment of government banks and so forth, to the end that the Home Bank depositors receive not one whit less than one hundred cents on the dollar.

Numerous pathetic cases were cited of hardship and privation arising from lifetime savings now having been swept beyond the control of the rightful owners through the bank's failure. All of these will be systematically investigated, subsequently tabulated and given full publicity that the people throughout Canada may be given the means whereby they can somewhat understand the frightful lesson of distress that results from such a financial holocaust.

Some of the outstanding features submitted at the meeting by various speakers and from report of committee were: "That Fernie district comprising a population of 6500, the city itself having 4500, the total deposits in Fernie branch aggregating $785,000.00 or figuratively an amount almost equal to the total deposits of Vancouver and Winnipeg, the combined populations of which are now ten times as great as that of Fernie.

"The Corporation of the City of Fernie had on deposit in round figures $119,000.00 (apart from security investments) distributed respecitvely in the following accounts: Sinking Fund to retire debenture issues—$25,000; For current 1923 purposes and waterworks renewals—$65,000; Cash for payment Annex Sewer Extension system—$17,000; Balance proceeds debenture sale for Central School addition—$12,000; Total—$119,000."

In order to meet the current maturing obligations for which the three latter mentioned balances were provided it has been necessary for the City to borrow additional funds at great expense.

Moreover the financial burden to be imposed upon the taxpayers of the City of Fernie, on the basis of the defunct bank paying only 50 cents on the dollar, will aggregate 70 mills or distributed over a decade, seven mills per annum must be charged to repay such loss alone. The tax rate for 1923 was 40 mills.

Thomas Uphill, M.P.P., in an ardent address, among many things, referred to the recent run on the Dominion Bank. He regretted that this run had occurred in Toronto, one of Canada's financial centres. The people of Canada might have more readily understood the position of the Home Bank depositors had this so-called organized "run" occurred at a more isolated point. Mr. Uphill vehemently expressed his opinion of the action of the Premier of Ontario in this connection. He said Premier Ferguson, while absolutely refusing to consider releasing that Government's Home Bank deposit from the category of first preference, had ordered a million and a half to be deposited in the Dominion Bank to restore confidence in the soundness of that institution. Mr. Uphill said this was a flagrant insult to the intelligence of the people of Canada, because the Premier of Ontario well knew when he ordered that deposit to be made the funds were fully protected by the preferential provision even had the Dominion Bank succumbed.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Dominion Government to take over the assets and liabilities of the Home Bank, pay the depositors in full promptly and by the establishment of federal banks subsequently retrieve this outlay and eventually by the continued operation thereof securing a permanent source of revenue for the country.

Another motion sanctioned was that the abolition of all chartered banks in Canada be agitated and these institutions be replaced by government banks. The basis for this decision was the argument that chartered banks as at present operated and supervised were a menace to the state and public welfare.

Mayor Henderson was appointed by the meeting to represent Fernie depositors at the general meeting in Toronto on December 6th. The announcement was also made that a very generous individual had volunteered to defray all expenses of a delegate from Coal Creek to attend the Toronto meeting.

Mr. B. Caufield ,colliery manager at Coal Sreek mines, spoke very lucidly on the conditions in that camp which boasts of 600 odd souls, of which 200 were Home Bank depositors. Innumerable cases were feelingly presented of mineworkers, having toiled ten, fifteen and twenty years in those mines and now having advanced towards the end of life's natural span, had had their scanty hard-earned savings for the nether-days ruthlessly swept away, therby rendering them mentally impaired by the shock, in addition to normal physical decline occasioned through hard labor.

Editorial comment recently appearing in a daily circulated in this district, which, it was alleged, criticized the attitude of the depositors in asserting their demands upon the Government and Bankers Assocation for full recompense came in for severe censure.

Mr. W. R. Wilson, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, who personally as well as his company is a heavily interested depositor, pointed out that the hardship imposed upon the people by the failure of the bank is not confined to any particular locality, nor did it respect any particular persons. The net results is a dilemma has been brought about through broken confidence. It must be faced and the duty of all interested is to take hold of the situation and reason a solution that is going to give the greatest sense of security in matters of this description. Mr. Wilson gave assurance that he would personally interest himself with a view to alleviating cases of dire distress as might be reported to him.

Robert Draper, miner, 65 years of age, characterized the Home Bank situation as a disgrace to civilization, when the government of a country like Canada forfeited itself by preferential provision in the Bank Act, that in itself was an indication that the Government lacked utmost confidence in the present financial system, and as the speaker termed it: "They come in and grab from the looters they themselves had chartered to rob the public.

The Fernie depositors' committee was augmented by the appointment of five ladies thereto and henceforth the matter will be handled through the joint efforts of Fernie and Coal Creek committees acting in co-operation, while general public meetings will be convened periodically.

A sympathetic Saskatchewan woman who feared her husband might die a lingering death accelerated proceedings by placing strychnine in his home brew.

HIS MAJESTY'S MAILS ON CANADIAN PACIFIC

1.—A comfortable corner of the Baggage Car.
2.—Exterior of one of the new Canadian Pacific Mail and Baggage Cars.
3.—Another view of the Baggage Car.
4.—This is where the mails are sorted.

Almost every day we rely upon His Majesty's Postal service for the delivery at certain hours of letters and parcels which are of value and which would lose their value were they delivered tardily. Seldom have we cause to complain of the service rendered in exchange for our few cents and we have come to expect the efficient regularity of that service regardless of the natural or economic disturbances which affect other services. The letter was stamped and placed in the postal box. It must be delivered, and with dispatch, rain or shine.

Due to the increasing use of His Majesties Mails, the Canadian Pacific Railway has found it necessary to add to its rolling stock, twelve new Mail and Baggage coaches. These, being up-to-date in every respect, provide every facility for the handling of the mail, and a number of conveniences for the clerks which the older type of cars could not boast of. The "All Steel" cars are some of the finest used by Postal authorities in the world, and the Company is to be congratulated, in that providing every facility for the quick handling of postal matter, it has kept an eye to the comfort of the clerks.

The forward end of the travelling Post Office, for such it is, is used mainly for storage purposes. On one side, movable iron stanchions separate the bags destined for the various towns en route, and on the other is the gas stove, for cooking purposes, ice water tank, lavatory, wash basin, and clothes cupboard — innovations which are greatly commended by the clerks.

The rear end of the mail compartment is the business end. A long reversible table, running lengthwise, allows the clerk to face either side of the car in order to sort his parcels into the bags which are supported by folding racks, and into the boxes conveniently arranged above the bags for the accommodation of newspapers, and which can be quickly emptied by the simple expedient of raising the front. At the rear end is a table, the full width of the car, and behind this are the hundreds of pigeon holes into which the clerk must distribute the letters for the various towns, quickly, almost automatically. At his feet as he stands at his table, the clerk has a tray into which the letters posted when the train is at a station, drop. These letters he stamps and distributes with those put on the train at the terminal. Cord with which to tie the letters into bundles is conveniently at hand, and if some of the bundles contain registered mail they are placed into the pigeon holes at one side, over which a wire grating is fitted and locked. Everything is scrupulously clean.

The baggage and express end of the coaches is also the last word in car construction. As with the mail section, the doors open in the centre of the compartment, one half of which has a solid floor, the other half being fitted with fish racks. In addition to the conveniences afforded the mail clerks, the baggage men have a folding table which fits tightly against the wall when not in use, and which may be utilized as a dinning table and — but no! there is too much business to talk of cards.

The twelve new cars were designed by C. H. Temple, Chief of Motive Power and Rolling Stock, Canadian Pacific Railway, and were constructed by the Canada Car and Foundry Company, Ltd., Montreal. They are designed to carry 30 tons of express matter and 10 tons of mail, a total of 40 tons, compared with 30 tons, the capacity of the old type of coach. The Company has adhered to the six wheel truck, but heavier journals have been provided, 5½ by 10 in place of the 5 by 9 inches. Another feature of the new coaches is the diaphragm ends. This eliminates the danger of people "riding blind".

Until more are constructed, the new coaches will operate between Montreal and Toronto, Montreal and Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto and St. John, N.B., and Winnipeg, and Edmonton on Canadian Pacific lines.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 2 acres, may be leased as homesites conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

SAVED FROM PNEUMONIA BY VICKS

Manitoba Mother Renders Unusual Tribute.

Mrs. A. J. Jenner, 629 9th Street, Brandon, Manitoba, writes: "I cannot say enough for Vicks VapoRub. It saved my little boy from pneumonia and my husband from a reaction of pleurisy. I was with a friend of mine one evening and she put Vicks VapoRub on her six-month-old baby and it saved its life after all other things had failed. Believe me, I never want to be without Vicks in my house. I have five children and am always needing it."

Dr. Osler says pneumonia has taken the place of tuberculosis of "Captain of the Men of Death," to use a phrase coined by old John Bunyan. And influenza is not far behind. The germs of both these diseases are constantly with us. The only reliable protection against them is the resisting power which comes from good health. To avoid these dangerous diseases in winter, don't let yourself get run down and above all never neglect a cold. Break it up in its early stages with Vicks VapoRub, the external vaporizing treatment for colds.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

SIX FAMOUS FILM ACTORS IN "SIX DAYS"

The all-star cast at one time was considered something new in the picture world. But now it has become the accepted thing with motion picture audiences. Producers in their efforts to make a higher class of pictures have seen the necessity of selecting the best players available.

Charles Brabin, in his production of Elinor Glyn's sensational story, "Six Days," coming to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, spent more than a month in choosing players for the cast.

Corinne Griffith and Frank Mayo, who head the brilliant list, have long been stars in their own right. Mayo started pictures in 1912, playing the leading role in a picture produced in England. Corinne Griffith made her bow to the screen in 1917, when she played the feminine lead in a picture called "Bitter Sweet."

The remainder of the cast consists of a number of the best known and experienced players in motion pictures. Myrtle Stedman qualified as a gifted actress in 1912, and for several years was starred in three-reel features. Maude George, whose ability as a dramatic actress was never more evident than in the interpretation of one of the leading roles in von Stroheim's "Foolish Wives," has an important part in "Six Days." Spottiswoode Aitken and Charles Clary have appeared in pictures since 1910.

Claude King has had less picture experience, but has a long and distinguished stage career. He first came to this country from England in 1919 to play opposite Ethel Barrymore in "Declasse." He made his debut before the camera with Pola Negri in her first photoplay filmed in America. King is admirably suited to the role he portrays in "Six Days."

PROTECT ALBERTA COAL AGAINST WILDCATTING

Strict regulations for the protection of the Alberta coal industry, and for the prevention of wildcatting in coal companies which has developed in Ontario in connection with the campaign to put Alberta coal on the market, have been passed during the past week by the Alberta government.

These regulations are aimed chiefly at the wildcatting which has been going on in Ontario by irresponsible people, presumably owners of Alberta coal properties shipping coal. They, however, have general regard to the protection of the industry at large. The regulations provide for the shipping and selling of coal under duly registered names. Information respecting the name of the shipping company, the registered name of the coal, the grade of coal from each mine must be placed on every shipping bill and be displayed on the car doors. The same applies to the keeping of records of sale of coal from each mine in the province, and also applies to the advertising of such coal, so far as the registered name of the coal is concerned. The regulations provide for the appointment of inspectors who have power to inspect any shipment or quantity of coal sold to ascertain whether it conforms to the information given. Infraction of these regulations is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1000 or imprisonment not exceeding six months or both.

PACIFIC MILK WHIPS BEST

A lady who conducts a store in South Vancouver paid a compliment to the 43 per cent. cream contents of Pacific Milk in a letter to us. She says:

"I have had more satisfaction from Pacific Milk than any other on the market because it is so much more easily whipped than any other canned milk."

43 per cent. cream explains it.

Strong Evidence Is Given By Mrs. Hopkins

"Tanlac is such a grand medicine and has done so much for me that there's nothing too good I can say for it," is the grateful statement of Mrs. F. Hopkins, 77 Poplar St., Red Deer, Alberta, Canada.

"I took the treatment about two years ago when I was all run-down after a severe illness. My appetite was gone, I had awful headaches for a week at a time, and did not have strength to care for my housework.

"So many people were praising Tanlac that I began taking it myself, and could feel an improvement from the very start. Four bottles of Tanlac restored my lost weight and strength and left me feeling like a new person. After all Tanlac has done for me I could not help praising it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

FREE! FREE! FREE!

THIS BRAND NEW $400 PIANO for the best, neatest correct solution of the Lucky Horseshoe Puzzle.

Every person entering a solution will receive a reply whether solution is correct or not.

Can You Solve This Puzzle? It Can Be Done

Directions

Take any number from one to fifteen both inclusive. Place one number in each horseshoe in such a manner that when added—vertically, horizontally—the total will be fifteen. All horseshoes must have a number. It is possible to do this problem using each number only once and at the same time arrive at the total of fifteen regardless of how the numbers are added; that is, horizontally, diagonally and vertically.

This is a good mental test for the entire family.

Conditions

Only one solution from any family will be accepted. Children may enter answers but parents should write the names plainly and distinctly. Families who own pianos, employees of this store, others engaged in the music business and their families should not send solutions. Each answer sent by mail must bear the proper amount of postage as those not so stamped will not be accepted. Answers must be delivered in person or mailed.

Awards The Piano will be awarded to the best neatest correct original solution. Answers may be submitted on this or on a separate sheet of paper, or on any material the entrant may care to use. All solutions entered are to become the permanent property of the Assiniboia Music Company, and all entrants hereby agree to accept the decision of the judges as final. We reserve the right to make other awards to deserving entrants, other than the winner of the piano.

This Contest Is For Families Who Do Not Own Pianos!

THIS IS AN ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

For this reason we prefer to see this Piano go into the home of some family who do not own a Piano now. For this reason if the final decision rests between two solutions of equal merit—one who does not own a piano and one who does—the judges will award the piano to the entrant without a piano. Here is a wonderful opportunity for some family who do not own a piano to get an excellent instrument for a few moments work.

THIS CONTEST CLOSES AT TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON NOV. 1ST, 1923

All answers must be submitted before that time or bear a postmark not later than the hour as indicated above. The findings of the judges will be mailed to contestants on Nov. 8th, as it requires from one to two weeks time to go over the answers and arrive at the fortunate ones who will then enter the semi-finals, and then the finals. Consequently, remember the contest closes Nov. 1st. Awards will not be made until Nov. 8th.

Careless Parking.

The parking of automobiles near curves or at the top of hills on main highways to make mechanical repairs or to change a tire is provoking unfavorable comment among motorists. This practice of careless parking is not confined to any one section, it is universal, and should be discouraged.

Frequent warnings of the danger attached to this practice have been issued by authorities, but to no avail. There seems now but one effective remedy and that is a stringent campaign by the police.

There are, of course, instances when a car becomes so completely disabled that it cannot be removed to a safe position at the side of the road, but such cases are very few.

Most cars that stall or develop tire trouble can be pushed to the side of the road, or if there happens to be a side road near by, push the car around the corner.

In your vexation over your car difficulties do not lose sight of the safety of your fellow motorists. Statistics show that a great many of the serious automobile accidents have been caused by careless parking.

Should you be alone and are unable to push your car out of the path of traffic, ask assistance from a passing motorist. He will be impressed by your thoughtfulness in aiding traffic and will be pleased to give you a helping hand.

Do Your Part.

The reason for most of the negligence on the part of public officials rests with the habit of the people of electing a man and then leaving it all up to him, as to what he shall do. If the various communities and countries were organized and would keep in touch with their officials they would receive better service.

A Newspaperless City.

For three days, recently, New York was without daily newspapers. For three days 6,000,000 people were without knowledge of world events, and local happenings. For three days, they knew nothing of what department stores had to offer or what new shows and pictures were appearing in town.

And here is the results:

Shopping decreased 10 per cent. the first day, 30 per cent. the second day and the third day showed a decrease of more than 50 per cent.

Theatres had a falling off in attendance of probably 20 per cent.

Salesmen and salesgirls who work in department stores on commission suffered a loss in wages which will total nearly $1,000,000 a day.

A newspaperless city means vast business and personal losses. A newspaperless world would be unthinkable.

Are You Loyal?

And again we remind you that this is a good town to live in, a good place to trade, and a good one to keep your money in. But in time it will cease to be either unless you are as loyal to the town as it is to you. See which merchants are advertising in this paper and tell them what you want.

"Too Many Laws."

We have too many laws. No one knows the law in this country now, and no one can keep from violating some of the laws. There may be a time ahead, when the lawmakers will have the nerve to abolish some laws, and then pass a few—just a few—to take their places.

The annual provincial convention of the Prohibition Association has been called to meet on Thursday and Friday, November 15 and 16, in Vancouver. Reports of the delegates who attended the Dominion convention will be given, and the attitude of Prohibitionists towards the statement of the Government to be made at the opening of the Legislature regarding the the liquor question will be defined. The committee are in communication with some noted speakers in order to have inspirational addresses the two evenings of the convention.

Coal miners at Drumheller are practically the only ones in Alberta who are finding fairly steady work at the present time, according to officials of the U.M.W.A. Lethbridge, which mines a similar type of coal, bituminous, is finding that there is a lack of work to a certain extent. In the northern portion of the province and in the Crow's Nest Pass mines, lack of business is making it necessary to cut the men down considerably, some only getting in two or three days of work each month. Lack of orders at the steam coal mines, which includes those in the north or near Edmonton district and the Crow's Nest Pass mines, is given as the reason for the lack of employment on full time. Many miners were laid off some weeks ago, but even those on the job are not getting much to do. Despite the idleness in some sections, no trouble between miners or operators is on record at the present time at the local office, and none is anticipated.—Calgary Herald.

N. E. Suddaby got a fine bag of chicken on the prairie last week.

Mayor Henderson returned early in the week from a successful hunting trip on the prairie.

The local order of Masons will hold their annual dance and at home on Monday evening next.

Roswell Garner had the misfortune on Wednesday to break his right arm while cranking a car.

Jimmy McNicholas left the city on Wednesday morning for Mullen, Idaho, where he expects to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Graham returned on Saturday from an extensive tour of the Eastern States and California. Mrs. Graham, who had been ill, is much improved in health.

The President of the Dominion Amateur Athletic Association will visit Cranbrook this evening and will speak at a meeting of representatives from all over the district.

The Quail warehouse immediately in the rear of the hardware store, is being divided into two parts, the rear portion facing Baker avenue being turned into a garage, which will be operated by Charlie Howse.

Ten members of the local Rotary Club will go to Spokane on Wednesday next to attend an inter-city convention in that town. Sherwood Herchmer is promoting an international golf match out of delegates who will attend.

Pete Mekeetch, a local bartender, who was awaiting trial on a charge of selling liquor, jumped his bail on Wednesday, leaving a couple of Fernie citizens liable for $750 each, the amount of bail. Pete got a local garage to drive him as far as Eureka. The latest word is that he has been arrested in St. Paul and will be brought back.

Paddy Kilmartin, an alleged bootlegger from Alberta, and a man well known in Northern B.C., was gathered in on Monday on information supplied by a government spotter named Dixon. The charge upon which he was arrested is an old one, supposed to have been laid in Port Alberni last fall. He will be taken to that place in a day or two.

Percy Bean received word on Saturday last of the death of his brother, Frank, in Spokane, on Friday. Deceased, who was a plumber, resided in Fernie for many years. About five years ago he was overcome by ammonia fumes while working in P. Burns Co. refrigerator and his lungs were seriously affected. Shortly afterward he left for the coast but subsequently settled in Spokane. Death was due to tubercular trouble.

Absolute prohibition of the immigration is the demand of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor. This represents the extreme view as to the need of exclusion of immigration and it will have some backing in congress. The American Federation of Labor will make a campaign to have all workers from other countries kept out of the United States and will do it on the plea that there is need for the Americanization of the foreigners already there.

A. F. Haddad, of the Kootenay Trading Company, of Cranbrook, and the Golden Lion Trading Company, Fernie, has just received information from the Patent Office at Ottawa that his signal device for motor cars has been accepted and recorded. The idea of Mr. Haddad's invention is to eliminate any possible misconstruction being placed on a motorist's signals when about to make a turning or a stop. By merely touching a button the direction in which the driver of a car wishes to turn is at once indicated by an arm shooting out at right angles to the car, pointing out the turning it is about to take or registering a stop as the case may be. For night work lights will be used. Mr. Haddad has secured patents on his invention in the United States and Canada and has also received many letters testifying to the utility of the device. In all probability the inventor will enter into the manufacture of his signalling device at an early date. Mr. Haddad is deserving of every success insomuch as he has spent months in studying out the details of his invention and in perfecting it to the points of applying for patents thereon. — Cranbrook Courier.

A tax of three cents per gallon on gasoline will be considered by the government this session as a means of producing sufficient revenue to care for the increasing costs of highways and at the same time a way to decrease motor licences. Hon. Dr. Sutherland, minister of public works, points out that the agricultural industry would be exempt so far as gasoline tractors and similar machinery is concerned. The minister is preparing a complete programme of roads for next year, a plan to be presented to the Legislature next month. He is arranging to spend the major portion of road allowances on settlers' roads.

Tony Moudig, well known, old resident of Jaffray, and owner of the Betty Mineral Claim on Lesser Sand Creek, is nursing a wounded leg as the result of a fall from a cliff-side near his claim. Moudig had been engaged in exploring the outcrop of ore on the cliff above his tunnel opening when his foot slipped causing him to lose his balance and fall to a ledge several feet below. Moudig, who was alone at the time of his meeting with the mishap, dragged himself with difficulty to his tent two miles away, there to await the coming of his partner who had gone out to Jaffray on business. His right leg is badly bruised as a result of his fall, necessitating his enlisting the services of Dr. McKinnon, of Cranbrook, who is treating the wounded limb.

TWO BANK PRESIDENTS

In the present subcharged state of excitement into which the public has been wrought by the revelations with regard to Home Bank mismanagement ,a rumor starting among ignorant foreigners with respect to the position of the Dominion Bank was sufficient to cause a run of uninformed depositors at three or four of the branches on Saturday and Monday. It is stated that two foreigners who got into a bank after closing hours to get a cheque cashed were told that the bank was closed and the cheque could not be paid. They took the word "Closed" in the absolute sense and spread the news. The bank met the situation as any gallant and sound bank would by informing all who inquired that they could have all their money just as fast as it could be paid out to them and that the bank would be kept open after hours for the benefit of those who were anxious about their money and who could not reach the cashier's cage before the regular hours of closing.

If the bank had gone further and had sought the co-operation of the Monday morning newspapers in placing the actual situation before the public, if it had given them the statements that were given late on Monday to the evening newspapers there would have been no exctiement and few withdrawals. The newspapers are always willing to hold up the hands of a bank which is really sound and doing for the community the work which a bank should do. It was the absence of any sort of news in the Monday morning newspapers which frightened a lot of people who took the proper view of Saturday's affair. Many people waited for the noon editions of the Monday afternoon newspapers, and, still finding no reference to the bank's affairs except in one which told of the Dominion Bank shares still selling at the old price, decided that discretion would be the better part of valor. Most of these were paid so promptly when they did go to a branch that they left the bank in a very shame-faced manner. This was heightened by the fact that in every bank there was a large number of business men making deposits. Many citizens seeing this felt silly and dropped out of line.

Then came a signed statement of the bank's president, the auditor and the general manager, that the bank had never in its long history been in so sound a position and that there were no loans on its books which were giving concern to the directors. The panic subsided as quickly as it arose. The mere breath of publicity was enough to clear it away. The matter was clinched by a statement of the President, Sir Edmund B. Olser, to the effect that he had 1500 shares of Dominion Bank stock, that he had always owned stock of the bank, and that through his whole connection with the bank he had steadily increased his holdings. Sir Edmund could not have demonstrated his confidence in the soundness of the bank in a better way.

The public has in its mind's eye the president of another bank which is now in difficulties. The Press has been full of the fact that over a period of months before the bank closed its doors he had been disposing of his stock and that he had managed to get rid of by far the greater portion of it. If the public had known that he had been disposing of his stock in this manner the Home Bank would have closed its doors much earlier than it did. Sir Edmund's act in identifying his financial fortunes with those of the bank on the other hand is a breeder of confidence. He and his bank stand at the opposite pole from H. J. Daly and the Home Bank. It is regrettable that the bank should ever have been subjected to such a foolish stampede of withdrawing depositors. No large depositors withdrew their money, and the Ontario Government deposited $1,500,000 as a sign of its confidence, a signal tribute to the bank.—Saturday Night.

WORLD'S PRESS

A PRINCE BOTH WAYS

Boston Transcript: Lord Renfrew, homeward bound, will soon become once more a prince, and he leaves in Canada the reputation of having been all along a prince of good fellows.

BEGINNING TODAY

Toronto Mail and Empire: The desperadoes and thieves of today were school boys 15 years ago, and if society is ever to find complete protection against such offenders it will probably be through the schools.

THE HORSE NOT EXTINCT

Toronto Globe: The New York Negro Coachman's association, founded in 1870, has been authorized by the court to invest surplus funds in a $43,000 clubhouse. Evidently the horse is not yet extinct in that city.

SLIPPED THE MUZZLE

Toronto Daily Star: A German professor predicts that within 20 years Germany will be the mightiest power in Europe and under a limited monarchy. But we understood that all the German professors were wearing muzzles until after the reparations question had been unalterably settled.

THE SOLDIER'S PART

Kansas City Star: Men willing to sacrifice material rewards are the kind of men the country depends upon as army officers when the army is is called upon to perform its functions in war. Sacrifice then becomes their highest duty, and those who have not shrunk from it in turning from the attractions of civil life will not evade it in war.

Newspapers A "Key Industry"

Westminster Gazette: City life of today is a very intricate thing, and newspapers are related to it as a "key industry." Most of us have felt very doubtful of the eristence of key industries; but if such things can exist the one indisputable example is the daily press. As the vehicle of advertising alone newspapers are a very essential part of trade and commerce.

WE LIKE HIM BEST

Montreal Star: Mr. Lloyd George comes to this continent as conspicuously the British public man who enjoys the greatest measure of our admiration and esteem. More people in Canada and the United States know Lloyd George and love him than are aware of any other statesman—however worthy—in Great Britain. Or, for that matter, in Europe.

LOOKING ACROSS

Toronto Daily Star: The Argentine government pays for a full-page advertisement in the London Times to set forth a message of its president on the opening of the legislative assembly. The United States is keen for South America trade, but South America is apparently not unmindful of the advantages to be obtained by maintaining and increasing its trade with Europe.

GERMANY BREAKINK UP

Brooklyn Eagle: It is difficult to explain the French policy in furthering an abortive Rhineland republic except on the ground that anything which makes trouble for Germany is good for France. Disorganization is proceeding rapidly and chaos may soon be at hand. Repartions will be sacrificed to "security." Yet even France may not find herself immune from disturbances when a neighbor people of 60,000,000 is writhing in the turmoil of despair.

BRITISH IMMIGRANTS

Winnipeg Tribune: It is disappointing for us to be told by the British press that up to the present time only 167 British settlers have crossed the Atlantic under the provisions of the empire settlement act, of whom 130 were boys who were also under the Ontario government's scheme. But with a reasonable display of energy on the part of the Canadian authorities, both in this country and in London, there seems to be no valid reason why we should not before long be receiving immigrants from the British Isles in the quantity and of the quality that we desire.

A NOBLE ASPIRATION

Adelaide Chronicle: What could be more natural than a union of the English-speaking peoples, seeing the qualities they have in common? In his enumeration of these, Mr. Baldwin laid special stress on four—an innate sense of justice, a democratic outlook, a love of personal attachment to spiritual liberty—the right of every man, whatever his race, to perform his religious exercise in his own way. It is natural in such a time as the present to think of the maintenance of the world's peace as the highest use to which such a union could be put; but Mr. Baldwin at the same time made an eloquent call to America for co-operation in the reconstruction of Europe, a task needing quite as much the faith of a Lincoln as the courage of a Pitt.

AN appetizing cup of FRY'S brings to the business man the "punch" he needs for a big day's work. Its nourishment is concentrated, its flavour is distinctive, and its quality is always supreme.

"Of course, remember—nothing will do but FRY'S"

THE BANKS' GOOD RECORD

Montreal Gazette: Of the 25 bank failures which have occurred since 1867, four only can be termed disastrous to depositors, including in the list the Home Bank. Twelve of these institutions paid depositors in full, three others paid 90 to 99 per cent. and of those banks which paid a less percentage not one was of considerable magnitude. The two large banks which appear on the list, the Sovereign and the Ontario, paid their creditors a hundred cents on the dollar. And for upwards of 30 years not a single note of a suspended bank has fallen below face value. It is well to bear these facts in mind when laxity of the law is complained of.

TOUIRST RUSH CONTINUES

St. John Telegraph - Journal: In Montreal the tourist rush still continues and newspapers there are commenting upon the fact that all the large hotels are still beseiged with tourists from all parts of the American continent. Even the old standard hotels state that there are more reservations for rooms during the next 30 days than ther have been any time in the history of their business. Just to point out to St. John people what it means to have a large hotel that will meet the needs of the travelling public it may be said that during one hour recently there were 18 tourist automobiles parked outside of just one hotel in this big Canadian city. We have had a lot of cars from the United States this summer, but they simply come and go. Some of our people have been amused at the variety of costumes the tourists have assumed, but this apparently is true in Montreal.

BLAZING THE TRAIL

A Western farmer bought an airplane for $200, stepped into it and flew for his farm. It was his first attempt and he didn't fly very far, but despatches say he may recover.

People should not be discouraged unduly by this rebuff. The time will surely come when one may buy an airplane, hop off and sail gracefully home, merely as an experience incidental to an afternoon's shopping.

True, this particular farmer tried the scheme and failed, but such is the inevitable experience of the pioneers in any line of human progress. It is only by plugging away, regardless of discouragement that we arrive at the top of things.

THE RUST PERIOD

When the car is brought into the heated garage after being out in the cold, watch the nickle trimmings. Moisture will condense the lamp rims, the radiator, the door handles and other nickled parts. If this is not dried off, or the nickle trimmings polished more frequently than usual, rust will collect at an excessive rate, perhaps catching the owner unawares.

NARROW ESCAPE

Two men had a narrow escape from death, the city of Vernon is without electric power and damage estimated at $50,000 was done to the building of the light and power plant of that city as a result of a twenty-ton flywheel breaking and parts of it tearing through the walls of the plant.

The power house is built of reinforced concrete and is equipped with three internal combustion engines that operates the dynamos supplying power to the city. One of these is a 500 horsepower Swedish engine, the other being 200 horsepower engines of British manufacture.

On the night of the accident, about 12 o'clock, the men in charge, Mr. W. Ridley and Mr. McAdoo, were shutting off the power before closing the plant for the night. They had shut off the fuel supply and the engines slowed down; but upon cutting off the power, it sped up to a terrific rate. The men in charge were unable to tell the cause of the engine's action and before they had time to investigate, the huge flywheel on the Swedish engine broke and pieces were catapulted through the roof and the walls.

The speed at which these fragments, some weighing over 500 pounds, were travelling can not be estimated. One piece flew straight upward, cut through a twelve-inch steel girder and tore through the roof, which is built of 2 by 6 lumber laid edgewise. Another piece ripped through a brick wall, through the reinforced concrete wall of the plant and came to rest outside the building; while yet another piece crashed through the roof, over an evaporating building next door, landing in the street 150 feet distant.

One huge fragment tore through the wall of the plant and crashing thruogh the roof of the evaporator, landed in a room where a large number of men and girls had been working day and night until two days before. If they had been working at the time it is impossible to say how many might have been killed or seriously injured.

Besides the damage done to the building itself, one of the smaller engines was also destroyed. The loss is not covered by insurance, as only fire insurance was carried. How the two employees of the plant managed to escape is a mystery. They apparently were standing to one side of the engine when the wheel broke, and thus were out of the path of the flying fragments which would probably fly almost in a straight line from the wheel.

Many residents were awakened by the crash, and some wild guesses were made as to the origin of the noise. Some people thought it was an earthquake, some believed it was a boiler explosion, while others felt certain that two trains had collided. When they discovered that there was no elctric light, they hurried down to the scene of the accident with visions of a few smoking ruins ramining where the plant had once been.

Until the third motor was got into operation after the accident, lamps and candles formed the only means of illumination for residents, while donkey engines, automobile engines and almost every kind of engine in existence were pressed into service to generate power to carry on business. The moving-piiture theatre got its power from a small dynamo operated by the engine of the proprietor's automobile.

It is expected that there will be no power available for five months yet, and citizens are requested to use as little light as possible nntil some means can be made to meet the demand.

BETTER INSPECTION ALBERTA COAL MINES

EDMONTON, Oct. 22. — Premier Greenfield and Hon. Charles Stewart, federal minister of the interior, were in conference this morning on the question of better government inspection of the Alberta coal mines. It is from the conservation angle that Mr. Stewart is particularlly interested in the question just now, and on his present trip west he is looking into ways and means of preventing the serious wastage in mining operations and through fires.

Alarmingly heavy losses have occurred from time to time in the way of coal mine fires, the Dominion minister points out, and from the standpoint of general public interest it is desirable that a halt be called as speedily as possible. Fires of this kind have been getting almost in the class of forest and lumber mill fires, and the time has now come for some effective action.

MRS. W. D. TODD ON LECTURE TOUR

Under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture and the B. C. Products Bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Mrs. W. D. Todd, secretary of the Board of Directors of the Vancouver Island Women's Institutes, is touring the province delivering a series of lectures to public bodies, pointing out the advantages to be derived from purchasing Home Products.

Her appeal is based on the principle that the first duty of every citizen is to give preference, where quality and price are equal, first to the produce of British Columbia, second to those of Canada, and third to those of the British Empire. Every year millions of dollars worth of goods are consumed in direct competition with the same goods produced in B. C., and this in spite of the fact that B. C. agricultural and manufactured products are laboring under adverse marketing conditions.

In presenting her arguments, Mrs. Todd does so in the form of a model meeting; first delivering an address covering the industries of B. C., then answering questions previously distributed in the audience, after which the meeting is thrown open for discussion on the subject matter of the address.

To date she has addressed sixty meetings in the Okanagan Valley, Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, and during her tour of the Kootenay Valley she hopes to address a further thirty meetings.

Every meeting has endorsed the work she is carrying out, especially in the rural comunities where their slogan is "Let the people of the cities wait for and purchase our fruit and vegetables, just as we wait for the money from these goods to purchase other B. C. products."

THERE ARE OTHERS

From the snow-swept recesses of the North comes occasional stories of the relentless efficiency with which law and order is maintained. Admiration exhibited by those Canadians who represent the long arm of the law so far from headquarters.

The familiar explanations when accidents happen near at home is that there are "not enough men." The lack of men never seem to worry the avengers of the Arctic.

When Winter comes, it might be just as well to bring down some of these unerring Polar man-hunters to clean up the situation near at home. To make Canada a country fit for Eskimos to live in no doubt is a high ambition, but there are others. And when bank robbers and jail breakers leave tracks in the snow might be the best time to round them up at that.

WELL-TRAINED CITIZENS

France has decided to drop the bachelor tax because the bachelors refuse to pay it. Although the tax amounts to but $8, three per cent. only of the bachelors have responded.

Married men form the habit of paying bills, so that taxes are paid by them almost mechanically. Unfortunately for France, the bachelors do not pass through this excellent training in citizenship.

NEW GOLD STANDARDS

In European countries where there is no expectation of a return to par and even no immediate prospect of sabilizing the paper currency at its future transactions has brought into use alternatives for paper currency. One device, much favored of late by governments, has been to set up a new gold standard.

Czecho-Slovakia and Hungary are considering the issue of gold ducats, equivalent to the British sovereign. The Russian State bank has begun to issue gold-backed notes in denominations of 1, 3, 5, 10, 100 and 1000 tscherwonzy's, one tscherwonzy equalling ten gold roubles; they are covered by a special reserve of gold and foreign exchange. The Latvian government keeps its accounts in terms of lats, equivalent to a gold franc, and the Lithuanian in lita, equivalent to a gold dime. The Polish government has set up as a gold standard, the the zloty, equivalent to a gold franc. In none of these cases has the state ventured to take the further step of settling a fixed ratio between the paper and the gold currency; the gold currency issued for government accounts or for long term, private transactions, while the paper currency is still used in current business transactions.

Another device is to make contracts in terms of stable foreign currencies. This practice has become widespread in Europe. As a rule it has been discouraged by the governments, though only recently the German government itself attempted to raise an internal loan based on the United States dollar. Insurance contracts in Germany are now issued on a "stable value" basis, the amount of marks payable varying according to the gold value of the mark in exchange or according to an index number of general prices. A new and fictitious gold mark, the Goldsparsmark, or gold savings mark, is coming into use in many savings banks. It is not the old mark, worth nearly twenty-five cents, but a new unit, equivalent to one-tenth of an American dollar. Deposits in the paper marks are credited in this new unit and will be repaid at the current rate of dollar exchange.

Still a third variation is the use of a single commodity, coal, wheat, rye, as standard. A German gasworks company last year issued a coal loan; the loan was said to be for so many tons of coal and each bond stood for a corresponding fraction. The subscriber paid in the number of paper marks necessary at the current rate to buy the quantity of coal stated in the bond. The company undertook to pay him back sufficient paper marks to buy the same quantity of coal, and to pay interest meanwhile on a corresponding basis. Other companies, municipalities and states, have followed the example and are issuing loans in coal, rye, wheat or potash. In Hungary commodity loans are firmly established, and banks have recently been founded which keep their accounts in bushels of wheat instead of crowns. — Canadian Finance.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Now—

the Exide first cost is low

For a great many years Exide has been known as the long-life battery. It stays on the job so long that thousands of car owners have found it to be by far the most economical battery in the end. At the present prices of Exide Batteries, even the first cost is low.

Now, no man need deny himself the satisfaction of getting a willing, rugged Exide. It will serve you so long and with so little expense for upkeep that you will find it the soundest kind of economy.

The quality remains the same that has brought world-wide acceptance of Exide as the standard storage battery. Exide was on the first electrically started automobile in 1911. Today, more new cars leave the factories equipped with Exides than with any other battery.

For your comfort and for the sake of economy, go to the nearest Exide Service Station and get the Exide Battery made for your Car.

COAL CREEK DEPOSITORS

A second meeting was held at Coal Creek last evening to discuss Home Bank affairs. The Coal Creek depositors, self-styled "Coal Creek Home Bank Victims," have initiated a campaign through the medium of correspondence which is certainly bringing their case prominently before influential bodies and individuals throughout the Dominion. Replies were read from Hon. John Oliver, premier of British Columbia; Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce in the federal cabinet; Senator H. F. Green of Kootenay and many others. In all these communications the writers conveyed deep sympathy and cordially offered to use their personal influence in bringing about the fullest return to the Home Bank depositors. Premier Oliver has already taken the matter up with Hon. W. S. Fileding, minister of finance.

Mr. Caufield, colliery manager and chairman, urged in the most emphatic terms that the depositors all over Canada and particularly in the neighborhood of the city of Fernie, were "too dead" and "lacked pep" in making demands for 100 cents on the dollar. This was not the policy of Coal Creek. They would never let up and regardless of personal consequences would strike hard and at the very root of the cause for this financial furore. Gaol has no horror for Mr. Caufield and his associates in what they may say or do in presenting to the public their opinions of those persons in high positions who, it was contended, having advance knowledge of the bank's condition permitted it to operate, receive money from the trusting public when at the same time it was "hopelessly involved in utter ruin."

Everywhere, it was said, in the endeavor to attach blame for the Home Bank's crash, said J. E. Smith, formerly District President of the U. M. W. A.,, but now a toiler in the mines, the name of the Canadian Bankers Association was associated with that of the Dominion government as being the bodies from whom the depositors might expect recompense. In some respects, said Mr. Smith, this was justified as both were culpably negligent, but personally he had no faith whatever in the generosity of the Bankers Association. They had already turned a deaf ear on these appeals and in any event the body responsible to the people of Canada in general was their federal government. It was under the authority of the federal government that "chartered banks" in Canada were established. By leading the public to believe through the term "chartered" these banks were institutions of security, the people of the country placed their funds in them on deposit. Therefore it was the federal government, and it alone, that was responsible to its people. The public must be made acquainted with the situation, and when they do, the government will thoroughly understand the responsibility it must assume. That responsibility will never be relieved until every Home Bank depositor has received dollar for dollar placed in it.

Mr. Smith was subsequently elected as delegate from Coal Creek to attend the depositors meeting at Toronto on Dec. 6.

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir—We, the undersigned, while not desirous of going into any newspaper controversy with the doctors, would like the privilege of answering some of the statements made in your paper by Drs. Garner & Asselstine.

The first statement was made that it was widely rumored that they were asking for $3.00 per month—extra amount for maternity cases and extra for operations. This would infer that the action taken by the special meeting was partly due to these rumors. This question was asked from the floor of the meeting. The chairman told the meeting that the doctors were not asking any increase at all, so whatever action was taken was taken knowing that the doctors were not asking for an increase. On reading further one gets the impression that the Medical Committee only met the doctors twice and that the second time they presented an ultimatum. The Medical Committee met the doctors seven times in all and have been trying to make an agreement with them for thirteen months past. There was never at any time an understanding between the doctors and the committee that they continue with the old contract until the miners' wages came down or until April 1923.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF ONTARIO

In the Matter of The Home Bank of Canada, and in the Matter of the Winding-Up Act.

Pursuant to the Order of Mr. Justice Fisher made in this matter on the eighth day of October, 1923, a meeting of the Creditors of the Home Bank of Canada will be held in Massey Hall, corner Shuter and Victoria Streets, Toronto, on Thursday, the sixth day of December, 1923, at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon; and on Friday the seventh day of December, 1923, at the same place at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, a meeting of the shareholders of the said Bank will be held, the purpose of such meetings being that the wishes of the Creditors and Shareholders respectively may be ascertained as to the appointment of Liquidators under the Winding-Up Act and to ascertain their wishes as to borrowing sufficient monies to pay an immediate dividend of 25c in the dollar to Creditors, and their wishes as to the advisability of transferring all or any part of the assets of the Bank to a Realization Company.

By the same Order the further consideration of the Petitions presented herein was adjourned to Friday, the 14th day of December, 1923, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and the said Petitions will then be heard by the Honourable Mr. Justice Fisher in Chambers at Osgoode Hall, in the City of Toronto, and notice of such hearing is, pusuant to the said Order, hereby given to all parties entitled to be heard.

By the same Order all persons claiming to be creditors of the said Bank are required to file their claims with the Provisional Liquidators, G. T. Clarkson and I. E. Weldon, at No. 15 Wellington St. West, Toronto, on or before the 29th day of November, 1923, with their christian names and surnames, addresses and descriptions, with full particulars of their claims, a statement of the securities, if any, held by them and the nature thereof, and in default theref they may be peremptorily excluded from the benefit of the Winding-Up proceedings herein and the Liquidators may make distribution without regard to their claims, but no claim shall be excluded if the Master on application being made shall otherwise order.

Creditors and Shareholders are entitled to be represented at the said meetings by proxy.

Forms for proof of claims and proxies can be secured from any branch office of the Home Bank of Canada, or from the postmasters, where branch offices may be closed.

Dated this 10th day of October, 1923.

Charles Garrow,
Master.

ELLIOTT FAMILY ORCHESTRA UNDER AUSPICES BOY SCOUTS

The Elliott Family Orchestra, comprising piano, bass, viola, cornet, cello, clarinet, 1st and 2nd violins and flute, have definitely made arrangements to appear in Fernie under the auspices of the Fernie Boy Scouts Association on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 12.

This orchestra has given concerts in nearly every city in the prairie provinces and have been featured by several of the big broadcasting stations in the west. Press comment, wherever they have appeared, is of a most laudatory nature, many of the newspapers stating that this family of musicians give a musical concert which cannot be paralelled on the continent.

The Elliott concert programmes are designated to make the widest possible appeal in that they please the musician and the non-musician alike. Music ranging from symphonic excerpts and grand opera to the old fashioned song, and the old time melody is rendered. While popular music is not ignored the orchestra prefers playing music of a higher standard.

Appearing, as they will, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Boy Scouts, the Elliott Family Orchestra deserve the support of the Fernie citizens. The Boy Scouts will handle the sale of tickets, which is expected to commence at an early date.

CRANBROOK MODERN GRETNA GREEN

Cranbrook must posses some unusual attractions for the victims of Dan Cupid, the sly little god who looses his shafts at young and old alike. Certainly, it would appear that there are more than an usual number of speedy marriages solemnized in this city, many of which have joined together travellers of the opposite sex who have met by chance during their wanderings. One of these romantic marriages was performed by the Rev. E. MacKay on Tuesday morning last when Howard J. Rayner, a vaudeville actor of Toronto, was joined in holy matrimony to Miss Nettie Ingram, of Fernie, B.C. The happy couple left for Seattle on the afternoon train.—Cranbrook Courier.

MAY—ROONEY

The residents of Coal Creek were early astir on Monday morning when William May and Miss Maggie Rooney were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, the Rev. Father Anthony tying the nuptial knot in the presence of the larger portion of the female residents of the camp.

The Catholic Church being cosily arranged with bell ringer n' everything. The happy couple were the recipents of many valuable presents and enter into their new sphere of life carrying the best wishes of the residents. The newlyweds have taken up their residence in Morrissey cottages.

NOTICE TO DEPOSITORS

Home Bank depositors who have not yet filed their proof of claim against the Bank must positively do so before Wednesday, November 7th. Mayor Henderson is in attendance at the Bank during business hours as Notary Public and is doing this work without expense to the depositors.

Depositors must bear in mind that a Bank failure is much the same as a business failure, and claims against them must be filed in order that the depositor may receive his share of the bank's assets. Should a depositor fail to file his claim before November 7th it will only be with a much greater delay and considerable legal expense that he will secure consideration from the Liquidators.

Up to last evening only a very small percentage of depositors had filed their claims at the bank, so apparently there is some misunderstanding among the depositors, many of whom now believes that it is not necessary to present proof of their deposits to secure their claim against the bank.

Proofs of claim are being sent to the Liquidators daily so that priority of claim will in all possibility mean priority of settlement, so it is greatly to the benefit of the depositor to file their proof of claim as early as possible.

TWO YEARS FOR JAMES B. McLACHLAN

HALIFAX, Oct. 31.—Two years in Dorchester penitentiary was the sentence pronounced this morning on James B. McLachlan, former secretary of the U. M. W. A., District 26, convicted in the supreme court on a charge of seditious libel.

James B. McLachlan, while secretary of District 26, during the coal and steel strike in Cape Breton last July and August was arrested on orders of the attorney-general's department on a charge of spreading false reports and his colleague, Daniel Livingstone, president of the organization, was also arrested charged jointly with McLachlan with conspiracy.

The charges arose out of a letter circulated among the locals of the union and a copy of which was sent to the head of the British Empire Steel corporation at Sydney, the letter setting forth alleged atrocities committed by the provincial police in carrying out their duties in Sydney and encouraging the strikers. After considerable legal action bail for the two labor leaders was arranged and McLachlan was tried at the fall sittings of the supreme court, which found him guilty of seditious libel in connection with the letter, Livingstone's case has not yet come to trial, and he is at liberty on bail.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The Board of Trade meeting which was called for last Monday evening had to be postponed on account of another meeting.

The meeting will now be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, November 6th, at 8 p.m. Important matters will be up for discussion and a large atendance is expected.

SUCCESSFUL MASQUERADE

The vast expanse of the floor of Victoria Hall was taxed to the utmost to accomodate all the terphichorean artists participating in the annaul Knights of Pythias Masquerade Ball on Wednesday evening, there being a record attendance.

The large variety of costumes displayed being too numerous to ennumerate. Whitehouse orchestra dispensed the music in their inimitable manner. The duties of the adjurdicators were strenuous on account of the many and varied characters depicted and great credit and thanks are due Mesdames Reed, H. Biggs and Johnson and Messrs. D. Logan, J. Carnwath and J. Graves for the able manner in which the aforementioned duties were performed. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Best representative lady — Mrs. Anderson, Coal Creek, Brittania.

Best representative gent—Miss Isabella Branch, Coal Creek, John Bull.

The prize for best dressed couple being carried off by Miss Gilkin and Miss Eastwood, who in the role of Turkish girls, were the acme of perfection.

The prize for best comic character being carried off by an exact reproduction of the Katzenjammer Kids ably portrayed by Miss D. Schagel, as Fritz, and Mrs. Swedeberg, as Hans. The decisions of the adjudicators meeting with general approval.

The catering to the inner man was ably carried out by the Pythian Sisters. The cullinary abilities of Sister Bough being greatly appreciated as evidenced by the big run on the coffee of which the above mentioned Sister had charge. Home waltz at 3 a.m. closed the chapter in another event to be chronicled amongst the happy times in the annals of Fernie Lodge No. 31.

The committee in charge of the affairs desire to thank all who assisted by donating eats or any way whatever towards the successful time held.

COLTON-CODY

An interesting wedding took place on Tuesday morning at the Holy Family Church, when Rev. Father Kennedy united in marriage, Miss Clara Cody, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cody, of Fernie, to Mr. Russel P. Colton, eldest son of Mrs. E. Colton, also of Fernie.

The bride, whe entered the church on the arm of her father, looked charming in a suit of tobacco brown French broadcloth with mink choker and hat en suite, with which she wore a corsage boquet of pale pink roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Jeannette Cody, who wore a black marvella wrap with metallic embroidery and squirrel collar over a frock of beige canton crepe with hat to match. Mr. E. Colton supported the groom. The organ pealed forth the soul stirring strains of Mendelssohns Wedding March to the magic touch of Miss Josephine Charlebois as the bridal party entered the church.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Cody receiving in a gown of brown canton with touches of cream lace and wearing a toque of gold cloth and brown velvet. The living rooms were prettily decorated with yellow and white 'mums and streamers and the same color scheme was used in the dining room.

Immediately after the sumptuous wedding breakfast the happy couple left on the Great Northern for Spokane and Coast points where they will spend their honeymoon. Mrs. Colton travelled in a frock of antique brown panne velvet over which she wore a wrap of platinum marvella with fox collar and fur toque.

Among the numerous wedding gifts were a purse of gold from the saff of the C. N. P. Coal Co., Ltd., of which the groom is a member, and a handsome silver flower basket from the Choir of the Holy Family Church, of which the bride has been an active member for some time.

E. K. Stewart, S. Herchmer, J. R. Wallace, M. A. Kastner and T. Prentice are attending the Inter-City Rotary Convention in Spokane this week as representatives of the Fernie Rotary Club

BANK TROUBLE OVER-ESTIMATED

The following news item will surely make interesting reading to the many sufferers of the Home Bank failure:

LONDON, Oct. 30. — Sir Vincent Meredith, president of the Bank of Montreal, is at present visiting London. Discussing the difficulties which have recently overtaken one of two of the Canadian banks, he stated, that in his opinion altogether too much had been made of the matter, not so much perhaps on this side as in Canada. The failure of a small bank, with only $2,000,000 capital, should not have caused the unrest which newspaper reports depicted. "Canada is by no means the only country that has suffered during the deflation period," said Sir Vincent. "Many doubtful loans were carried in the hope that substantial recovery would be made. These have not been realized, and reserves accumulated during the war have been cut into. The position will, however, in time right itself, and as trade improves even greater stability will come to the big banking institutions."

The public works department has awarded the contract for the construction of the new University Library to the Ryan Contracting Company, of Vancouver, whose tender was the lowest received by $20,000. The new structure will cost approximately $400,000 and will be a magnificent building.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, FERNIE, B. C.

Foreigners continue to flock to the American Consulate at Fernie to secure passports to enable them to enter the United States. In this connection three things should be distinctly understood:

1. A passport is absolutely essential in the case of all persons who are neither American citizens nor British subjects, except foreigners who have entered Canada from the United States within six months. This requirement cannot be waived either because of long residence in Canada, nor because the foreigner desires to enter the United States merely for a short visit.

2. Passports are not granted by the American Consul, but must be secured in each case from the foreigner's own Consul. For instance, subjects of Italy, Sweden, Norway and Holland must apply for passports to their respective consul generals in Montreal, Quebec; a Polish citizen must apply to the Polish Consul in Winnipeg, Man.; and a Finnish citizen must apply to the Finish Vice Consul at Port Arthur, Ont.

3. When the foreigner has secured his passport he should take up with the American Consul at Fernie the matter of securing his visa. The Immigration authorities at the Line will not admit a foreigner upon an unvisaed passport.

BARBERS WANT REGULATIONS

It will be of benefit to the publ'c to receive information that in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, that the barbers of these provinces are working very strenuously for the enactment of a law governing requirements and conduct of a person practicing the profession of barber, and also sanitary regulations for barber shops. From general knowledge and observation there are many reasons why the barbers, as well as the public, are in favor of having the enactment of such a law. By way of illustration the barber of today knows that the public is rather critical of all barbers and barber shops, because of the many unsanitary conditions prevailing in some. The average shaving public is very conscious of the fact that a filthy barber shop and an untidy, incompetent barber, is a menace not only to the public health but to the general stability of the barber profession. The intelligent public knows that a law calling for the maximum perfection in sanitation and efficiency of workmanship at the minimum of expense on the part of the barber and with no added expense to the public, will have a tendency to lift this stigma from the barber profession, stigma inherited from the disease breeding barber shops. The proposed requirements and regulations make the public protection the first consideration, assuring the public, in small towns and cities, the same sanitary protection and efficiency of workmanship observed in barber shops of the larger cities. For the protection of the profession itself, it will have the same influence over the barber as the Medical Act has over the medical profession. The dentists and other professional men, dealing with public health and comfort, have regulations governing their conduct, and we believe that the barber who, some through carelessness or incompetency, spreads more disease in one day than many doctors can cure in six months, should receive the same attention at the hands of the Legislature as the aforementioned professions. A Barbers' Law, properly administered will within six months after it becomes operative, prove to the most stubborn opponents its wonderful beneficial use and the need of which no one will ever want to dispense with. It may be said by some of the Legislators that they could see no epidemic of face disease to make them realize the need of such a law, but of course there are none so blind as those who have eyes and will not see. Again, to use the vernacular of the street, to lock the barn door after the horse has been stolen, is a very poor precaution. Let the barbers of Canada take the forward step and a progressive one by urging upon the various Provincial Legislatures the enactment of this desired law. It will be self-sustaining by collecting a certain amount of registration fees and with a yearly renewal as a source of revenue. The cost is nominal when taken into consideration the wonderful benefit which the barber, as well as the public, will derive therefrom. The Barbers of B. C. are to be congratulated on the forward step they are taking in trying to get such a law passed at this Session of the Legislature, as such Legislation is sorely needed from a public standpoint of health and safety. The B. C. Barbers' Association, who are sponsoring this move in this province, have the support of the barbers all over the province regardless of their affiliation.

"Turkey in the straw" may cease to be the anthem of the barnyard. At the recent convention of the National Poultry Association held in Chicago it was stated that within twenty years the gobble of the gobbler would no longer be heard in the land.

THE QUESTION OF TAXATION

VICTORIA, Nov. 2. — While the question of taxation will naturally take a good deal of time during the legislative session which has just started, there seems to be a consensus of opinion that any relief in taxation must start with the primary industries producing the necessities of life. This is the view taken by Premier Oliver and expressed by him in similar terms to a delegation of theatre owners and managers who appeared before him to suggest that the Amusement Tax be reduced by at least 50 per cent.

The people of the Province will understand that the Amusement Tax represents 10 per cent. of the price of admission to all entertainments other than those of a charitable or patriotic nature. The moving picture theatres in the cities have included the tax in the admission price, but the theatres are not absorbing the tax.

COMMERCIAL MORALITY

The more we read of the Home Bank outrage, the worse the tale seems to be. One of the most curious condonations ever offered is the plea of a Toronto solicitor that his client, the President of the concern in question, really saved a further loss of a quarter of a million dollars by selling certain shares he held in trust. It had been generally supposed that these shares were the President's personal property, but it appears from the solicitor's statement that they belonged to the bank. Thus we have to conclude that a short time before the inevitable smash came, the head of a bankrupt corporation calmly sold thousands of shares of its worthless stock to an unsuspecting buyer, and now publishes the transaction as a rather meritorious act!

It is said these shares were sold to a London man, and we can imagine that the victim will applaud the smart business ethics of this particular Canadian banker. And when he is called upon to pay a second quarter million on the double liability, his admiration will know no limit!

o

The sow and the cow is a money making combination. Add corn and alfalfa and the mixture is well nigh invincible.

HEAVY SHIPMENT OF WHEAT TO BRITISH COLUMBIA COAST

VICTORIA, Nov. 1.—What has been accomplished by British Columbia's agitation for equalization of freight rates, and more especially in respect of some reduction in the cost of tranporting grain to Pacific Coast ports, is best understood by the fact that on over 20,000,000 bushels of wheat shipped to the British Columbia coast there will be a total saving in freight of $1,020,000. This has been brought about by the reduction of 6 cents per 100 pounds to which effect was given in August, 1922, and the 2½ cents per 100 pounds which went into effect recently. Last year 20,000,000 bushels of wheat were shipped through British Columbia ports and it can be taken for granted that in view of the various cinsiderations which are already entering into the transportation of Canadian grain this season, at least double the volume can be expected to pass this way during the present season.

While the reduction that has been made by the Board of Railway Commissioners in relation to grain does not effect in any way the more general principle involved in the equalization of freight rates, it is felt by the Government of British Columbia that a signal success has been achieved inasmuch as the reduction so far sanctioned is tantamount to a recognition of the justice of the wider principle involved.

"We are entitled to the reduction as we paid for it under the terms of union and we are out to get it," was the expression of view given by Premier Oliver when discussing this matter recently.

Conference On Rum-Running Set For Week November 26.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—The week of November 26 has been agreed upon as the date for the Ottawa conference of Canadian and United States officials on prohibition. It was indicated Saturday that the conference would be broader in scope than originally planned. Treasury officials desire discussion of the whole border problem of smuggling, and probably will propose that the smuggling of either liquor or narcotics be put on the list of extraditable crimes.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

"I could not walk"

Headaches, dizzy spells, pains in the back, swelling of feet and ankles, suppressed, scalding or painful urination —are all indications of kidney trouble. Read how Gin Pills relieved one sufferer:—

"I am seventy-eight years old and have suffered from kidney trouble for over two years. I had swollen feet and hands, sleeplessness and dizziness so that I could not walk. I began taking Gin Pills and now the swelling has left and I do not have any dizziness, and sleep well. I can recommend Gin Pills."

"VICKS IS BEST FOR CROUP"

Convincing Testimony From Saskatchewan Mother

Mrs. W. W. Berkey, of Drinkwater, Sask., says: "Vicks VapoRub is the best medicine for croup that I have ever used. Our small boy, two years old, had a very sore throat with every indication of croup. I rubbed Vicks VapoRub on his throat, before he went to bed, and the next morning he was well as ever. I would not be without this valuable remedy."

If the child seems croupy, apply Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime. It usually averts a night attack. In severe cases heat a tin cup, drop in a teaspoonful of Vicks and, as it melts, hold the cup so vapors can be inhaled.

Vicks comes as a salve—the external direct treatment for all cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor.

Vicks is the ideal treatment for children's cold troubles; it avoids so much internal dosing. Just as good, too, for grown-ups' colds and for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, stings and skin itchings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

His Hearing Restored

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York city. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does this so successfully that no one can tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by perforated or wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 436, 70 Fifth Ave., New York city, will be given a prompt reply. Advt.

It Pays to Kick

Quality comes first but a wise person refuses to be overcharged.

When it comes to dentistry you demand proper attention, quality materials and unexcelled workmanship. The individual dentist must add to these costs, rent, heat, light, salary of office girl, outside laboratory profits, lost accounts and his own excessive profits.

Dr. Wilson reduces these costs by group dentistry and business-like methods. Your money goes for efficient dentistry, that is absolutely guaranteed. You receive the benefit.---

Dr. Wilson's practice is continually growing because folks are kicking about the excessive prices elsewhere.

As many Canadians, who have used it for many years, know, Carnation Milk is just 100 per cent cows' milk, sweet, clean and pure.

Forget your former ideas of tinned milk! Prove for yourself that Carnation is the only milk you need for daily use. Remember, it is twice as rich as whole milk because it contains twice the proportion of cream. Nothing is added, not even sugar. And nothing removed except a part of the water which we evaporate to reduce the bulk and give you a doubly-rich milk in convenient-sized containers. Our sterilizing (heating) process keeps it pure and safe.

Roast Turkey!

For tender, meltingly delicious and wondrous flavored turkey, you must roast it in an SMP Crystal Ware or Pearl Ware roaster. This roaster roasts as if by magic. It bastes the roast or fowl—the fat dripping down from above. The delicate juices and rare flavor are cooked right in. Nothing is lost. There is no wasteful shrinkage.

When you buy expensive roasts of meat, turkey, or other fowl or fish, you want them perfectly cooked. For from $2.00 to $4.00 you can purchase a splendid SMP Roaster that will positively guarantee the roasting. To ensure the perfect cooking of an expensive 15-lb. turkey, surely it would pay you to use the proper utensil—an SMP roaster costing only one-quarter the price of the fowl! A roaster that fully guarantees perfect roasting!

After the hardest roasting, an SMP Roaster cleans as easily and simply as a china dish. No scouring or hard cleaning. There are styles and sizes to suit every size of roast, fish or fowl. Finished in Pearl Ware, two-coated pearly-grey enameled ware, or Crystal Ware, three-coated snowy-white enameled ware. You can inspect them at any good hardware store.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kossoff, of Kalispell, Mont., spent a few days visiting with Mrs. W. H. Gates last week.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxilliary of the G. W. V. A. will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Wm. Reynolds returned on Thursday morning from the east, where he has been holidaying for the past two months.

Jack Haslam, of Cranbrook, is in the St. Eugene Hospital suffering from appendicitis. He was operated on last week and is doing as well as can be expected.

The liquor cases against Helen Norris, of Galloway, Joe Perry, Pete Bratten and Pete Metetich, which came up in Judge Thompson's court last Saturday were adjourned for hearing until November 27.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church will hold a Tea at the home of Mrs. J. Hughes, Macleod Avenue, West Fernie, on Tuesday, November 6th, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

The Loyal Order of Moose will hold a Dance in Victoria Hall on Thanksgiving Day, November 12. Dancing from 10 to 2. Whitehouse Orchestra. Refreshments. $1.50 per per couple, Extra Lady 50 cents n2|2

Final returns show that only seven Elk were killed during the open season in the Elk Valley. This small number is attributed to the exceptionally fine weather prevailing during the open season. Some local authorities suggest that when the season is again opened that the date be set not earlier than November 1.

All depositors of the Home Bank are notified to immediately call at the bank and have their proof of claim filled in and make affidavits. this will be done without charge to the depositors. This is absolutely necessary as the claims of those who do not follow this procedure will not be considered.

The minister of education announces that the total enrollment in public and high schools in British Columbia last year was 94,888, an increase of 2969.

The boundaries of the Elk River Game Reserve have recently been remarked, except one small portion. It is the intention of the game department next spring to construct cabins and trails on the reserve for the use of the fire and game wardens.

Support the Fernie Boy Scout Troup and enjoy one of the finest musical programs ever presented in Fernie at the same time, by hearing the Elliott Family Orchestra in the Grand Theatre on Monday (Thanksgiving Day) November 12.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will be given by Mesdames Lamb, Edgar Charnock and Morrison in the basement of the church, on Wednesday, Nov. 7, from 3.30 to 6. Everybody welcome.

In the past the ladies of Fernie have been compelled to send outside to get their hemstitching done. This is no longer necessary as Mrs. Blanche Crossman, 37 Victoria Ave., has purchased the most up-to-date machine on the market and is prepared to turn out first class work at reasonable prices.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Sheffield and family left the city Thursday morning for Nelson, B.C., where they will make their home. Mr. Sheffield, who for the past four years has been principal of the Fernie Schools, was recently appointed Inspector of Schools and will now make his headquarters at Nelson.

Curlers; attention — The annual general meeting of the Fernie Curling Club will be held in the Council Chamber on Mon. Nov. 5, at 8 p.m. Some of the curlers have devised a new scheme for games this coming winter, which should create more enthusiasm. All the old curlers and intending curlers should attend this meeting.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will hold their annual bazaar in Victoria Hall, on Saturday, Nov. 24, from 3 to 6. To each church member and all those interested, a special appeal is made, for contributions of aprons, fancy work, etc. It is necessary to raise a large sum of money before the end of the year and the support of everyone interested is most earnestly solicited.

Fire totally destroyed the small dwelling and furniture owned by Mrs. Tomasino Scerbo, in Fernie Annex, early Thursday morning. The fire fighting apparatus was called out about 3 a.m., but although they made an exceptionally fast turn-out, the flames had obtained such a hold on the building that they were powerless to prevent total destruction and therefore confined their efforts to prevent the blaze from spreading to the adjacent residence. The loss is covered by insurance.

THE HOME BANK CRASH

The Home Bank depositors are looking blue;
Somehow or other between me and you,
They are grieving as they have cause to do;
That the Bank has busted.

There are cripples and widows quite a few;
Old folk I know, and so do you.
We won't help, say the Bankers crew;
Now the Bank is busted.

The Dominion Government is much to blame,
They have known for years that the Bank was lame,
They must remedy the loss or take the shame;
For the Bank going busted.

So you men who work with brain or brawn,
That have savings in Banks who may be in pawn;
Like the Home Bank, before another dawn;
May go down busted.

To safeguard your savings, put them in
The Post Office Bank; for it is a sin
That the chartered Bank has let us in;
By being busted.

WOMEN WILL ENJOY BIG KNIGHTHOOD PHOTOPLAY

Who says women have not a sense of humor?

They say "it takes a thief to catch a thief," and by the same token it takes a woman to catch a woman in the subtle little tricks which are used to outwit a man. That's why women who see the Paramount-Cosmopolitan production "When Knighthood Was in Flower," starring Marion Davies, will chuckle with enjoyment in certain scenes where the men are silent.

The feminine outbursts of merriment come at various times when Marion Davies, as Princess Mary Tudor, uses the strategy known to all the sisters of Eve in order to cajole her stubborn brother, King Henry VIII. Mary's adroit appeal to Henry's vanity when she wants him to release Charles Brandon, whom she loves; her clever trick of remaining in bed when the French ambassador calls and shocking King Henry by pretending she is about to jump out scantily clad—these and similar incidents unite the women of the audience in a common bond of understanding and amusement.

"When Knighthood Was in Flower," which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is a great "woman picture." Not only are the costumes wonderful, but it tells one of the most magnificent love stories ever screened. From start to finish, there is a succession of beautiful and bewildering scenes, enlivened by a swift-moving action that thrills ever spectator.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

50c. a box, 6 for $2 50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Remembrance of James Morris, Borne Oct. 1, 1860, Died Oct. 30, 1922. Aged 62 years.

The evening stars shine on his grave,
Of one I loved but could not save.
Though dead, his name is precious still
And non his vacant place can fill.

All members of the local branch G. W. V. A. and Ladies' Auxiliary are requested to hand in the names, sex and ages of their children to the secretary, D. F. Markland, immediately in order that suitable presents for the annual Christmas tree may be purchased. Particulars as to time and place of holding the Christmas tree will be announced later.

Hallowe'en passed off quietly. A large number of boys and girls were out in costume, some of which were fearfully and wonderfully made. They paraded the streets and visited homes on their entertaining and apple-begging tours. Generally speaking the young folk of Fernie are well behaved. There are always a few however who not content with the harmless pranks which the occasion allows go so far as to destroy property. It is a pity that the well disposed have to bear the reproach which is brought by the excesses of the few.

Funeral services for Frank Bean, 39, who died yesterday morning at the home of his brother, J. J. Bean, of Lower Naches, will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Shaw & Sons chapel. WERE MAYAS TUT'S COUSINS?

By Clarence L. Brownell, F.R.G.S.

Egypt and Yucatan are sisters as much as the Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady—maybe more so. If they are not, then the serious and earnest students of archeology who have been comparing the traditions and religious beliefs and the ancient architecture of the peoples of the Nile and of the peninsula of Yucatan on the eastern coast of Mexico, where the ancient Mayas lived, have misread a multitude of facts .

That these facts are of importance as well as of general human interest is apparent from the reports of the Carnegie Institute of Washington and the Smithsonian Institution, also of Washington. The experts of both these scientific bodies have been at work for a long time on questions and answers and theories with respect to the civilizations in "Middle America." A costly literature is already extant. Few private libraries have the funds for the volumes that make up this literature. Some of them like the "Manuscript Troano" which the French government published are the work of years. The artist, Henry Bourgeois, in this particular instance was thirty consecutive months making the necessary drawings. Private funds and facilities could hardly carry through such an undertaking. Fortunately, associates for the advancement of science have been able to negotiate with several countries such as Egypt and Mexico and have arranged to keep a corps of experts at work for years in order to bring to light long hidden facts of history. Much has been found to show that there were peoples of considerable culture, builders of cities in which there was an art development that commands admiration, even today and buildings that show much architectural and engineering skill, long before Abraham passed through the place of Sichem unto the plain of Moreh.

Some scholars prediet with confidence that the reports of the Smithsonian Institution soon to appear will show evidence of the continent of Atlantis, the Land of Kul. Dr. Le Plongeon calls it, which Prof. Edgar Lucien Larken, director of the Mount Lowe Observatory in California, says sank in a monster catacylsm some 15,000 years ago, a debacle that dwarfs even the catastrophe that has recently visited the islands of Japan.

Doctor Le Plongeon shows that the alphabet of the Mayas and the hieratic alphabet of Egypt are similar and thinks it safe to assert that if the Mayas and Egyptians did not teach one another the arts of civilization they both learned them from the same masters, at the same schools. He asserts that language, religion, and nationality have an intimate relationship—and because of similarity in these things, he declares for the probable "cousinship" of the peoples of the far separated places.

Suggestions like this of Dr. Le Plongeon stimulate the experts of such foundations as the Smithsonian and the Carnegie to tremendous effort. The Carnegie forces are at work in Yucatan now. They have leased a great area of the peninsula for ten years from the Mexican Government and will centre at Chichen Itza. Excavations will begin in January, 1924. Carnegie scientists have prospected in this region for a decade already.

Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, associate of the Carnegie Institution in Middle American Archaeology, is already in Yucatan making the preliminary clearings at Chichen Itza station where the digging will begin.

Some of the points in the program that. Dr. Morely undertakes to carry out relate to physicial anthropology.

1. He will study the similarities and the differences among the Mayas of today and the Aztecs.
2. The relation of the Maya language to other languages.
3. The records that in any way bear upon the history of the Mayas.
4. The art, architecture and engineering of Mayan archaeology.
5. The culture of the Mayas, its development and its relations to the cultures of other peoples, especially, Dr. Le Plongeon would say to Egyptian culture.
6. Ethnozoology and especially food supply.
7. Climatology and meteorology.
8. Geology.
9. Geography.
10. Ethnobotany in its economic and its medical side.

That is the ten years' program for Yucatan and the Maya people. What has been going on in Egypt all the world knows. It could not know more if King Tut had engaged the services of the entire publicity staffs of all the "greatest - shows - on - earth" in North America. His late Majesty's only rival is, "Yes, we have no bananas today."

It was Le Plongeon, however, who hooked up both Egypt and Yucatan with Atlantis. He goes back to Herditus, whom he quotes in support of his theory that in the days of that historian, the fifth century, B.C., belief was general that west of the "Straits of Gades" a continent had existed in earlier times, but had sunk into the sea. Homer and Horace sang of this long lost land. Plato told of it in "Timaeus" and in "Critias," and Lord Bacon read to Queen Elizabeth his story of "The New Atlantis," which was his conception of the millenium. In the Maya language there are four accounts of the end of Atlantis.

According to Dr. Le Plongeon, one dates back to B.C. 403, a sort of acrostic which first appeared in Athens, in Euclid's time, another is on the walls of a ruin in Chichen Itza, where Dr. Morely is now busy, a third is in the Troano manuscript which the French Government published; and the fourth is in the Codex Corteslanus.

The Codex states that Homen, "the overturner of mountains, caused the earth to tremble. In the night Mu, the country of the hills of mud, disappeared in the waters.

"Mu, the life of the basin, was submerged during the night.

"The place of the dead ruler is now lifeless. It moves no more, after having twice jumped from its foundations. The king of the deep, while forcing his way out, has shaken it up and won, has killed it, has submerged it.

"Twice Mu jumped from its foundations. It was burst while being shaken up and down violently by the earthquake. By kicking it, the wizard that makes all things move like a mass of worms, sacrificed it that very night."

The French Government's publication reads: "The year six Kan, on the eleventh Muluc, in the month Zac, there occurred terrible earthquakes, which continued without intermission until the thirteen Chuen. The country of the hills of mud, the 'Land of Mu,' was sacrificed. Being twice upheaved, it suddenly disappeared during the night, the basin being continually shaken by volcanic forces. Being confined these caused the land to sink and rise several times in various places. At last the surface gave way, and the ten countries were torn asunder and scattered in fragments; unable to stand the force of the seismic convulsions, they sunk with their 64,000,000 of inhabitants, 8060 years before the writing of this book." This is much like Plato's story.

Dr. Le Plongeon finds strange similarity between the words that appeared on the wall of the banquet hall at Belshazzar's famous feast, which he attributes to the Akkadian or Chaldean language, and the phrase "manel, mane, tec, uppah," of Maya which he translates. "You are past, you are weighed; swift you will be broken in two."

The last words of Jesus on the cross, "Eli eli lamah sabachthani," are similar to the Maya words, "Hele hele lamah zabac ta ni," which mean, "Now' now I am fainting; darkness covers my face." The Maya sentence would seem to meet the conditions of that awful moment.

Plato was keen about Atlantis. He tells of the virtues of the inhabitants and relates that his great grandfather heard about them in Egypt. Plato was a descendent of Solon, the wisest of law makers. He too visited Egypt and learned there of the many deluges that had afflicted the earth though the land of Egypt was never under water except by the overflowing of the Nile. One of these deluges was the sinking of Atlantis which Solon heard of as some 9000 years before his time. He lived B.C. 600. Plato and Heroditus received accounts of these Egyptian traditions.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

For true nourishment in delicious form FRY'S COCOA is supreme. Make it this way and you will find it most appetising and digestible. To 3 good teaspoonfuls of Fry's Cocoa add three spoonfuls of sugar, mix well. Then add one half cup of boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add two cups of boiling water and boil very slowly for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add milk or cream to taste. This will give you Cocoa at its best.

REMEMBER, NOTHING WILL DO BUT FRY'S

ANOTHER PRELUDE

Now is the time to get out and get under if you're ever going to see that everything under the car is in shipshape. The worst drawback about Winter is not the extra work the car must do but the lack of attention it receives owing to the owner's natural reluctance to contract pneumonia. One enters upon the Winter era with an easy conscience knowing that each brake rod clevis is firmly held by its cotter pin, that the body bolts are tight, the transmission drain plug screwed up tight, the stop signal switch and wiring intact and the spring clips and bolts given a few turns for good measure.

COMMUNICATION

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 30, 1923.
Editor Fernie Free Press.
Sir—

As one of the depositors in the Fernie Branch of the Home Bank, at present residing in Calgary but formerly of Fernie, B.C., I wish to call your attention to the distressful conditions among the miners at Fernie, resulting from the failure of the Home Bank, with whose conditions and circumstances I am acquainted.

In Fernie, probably more than at any other point, the bank was patronized by laboring men, mostly miners, who were depositing their small savings in the Home Bank as a protection against the days when they would be too old or too crippled to work in the mines. Also the Home Bank made a special effort at point to obtain the savings from the children, by distributing boxes in which they would place their pennies or nickles and upon hoarding up $1.00 in this manner, they would take it to the Home Bank to deposit, thus supposedly developing the habit of thrift among children. These savings were of course, deposited in the bank for safe keeping and for the reason that it was well known that the Government periodically inspected all Banks in order to safeguard the interests of depositors, and by reason of the frequent boast that the Canadian Banking System was absolutely safe.

After the collapse of the bank, these miners were left penniless and I know, from my own personal knowledge, of men who had deposited every cent of their savings in this bank who are now too crippled or too old to work and they and their wives and children are left penniless and destitute by reason of this collapse. Although a seven per cent. dividend to shareholders was declared a short six weeks prior to the failure of the bank. Does it not seem a colossal joke (or tragedy according to viewpoint) that the small sums so often saved by the denial of the very necessities of life, should be gambled away by bank officials under the surveillance of our Government officials and the Banking Association, who emphatically stated only a short time prior to the collapse of the Home Bank that they were well able to look after the interests of their own offspring.

I believe that under these circumstances the government and the Banking Association have no alternative but to assume the obligations to depositors resulting in the collapse of the bank, as if the Government and the Banking Association had exercised the supervision over the affairs of this bank, which they so widely touted, the depositors would not find themselves in the predicament they are in today.—Yours truly,

John Loxton.

The Doctors' Question

Mr. Editor—With your permission, a few lines to give my viewpoint on this important subject.

With due regard to the futile efforts of the Medical Committee for the past thirteen months to arrange a satisfactory contract with Drs. Garner and Asselstine, the Doctors answers invariably being to the effect that they could not financially carry it out in the form it was presented to them.

Surely then the best way out of this difficulty was to call a mass meeting of all the Company's employees, the Doctors attending to explain their position, after both sides had been heard and in a friendly manner discussed, a vote of the members present would have settled the matter.

Just for a moment imagine the case being reversed. The Committee asked to accept something they considered unfair, or failing that to get out of the city. Fancy the rumpus these individuals would kick up, and they would be right in so doing.

Moral: Don't give the Doctors any medicine you refuse taking yourselves.—Yours, Robert Draper.

FERNIE BOY SEEKING ADVENTURE FINDS IT

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 29. — Frank Carlson, aged 18, who ran away from his home at Fernie in search of adventure, ended his trip here by being taken to the General hospital suffering from severe injuries to his thigh, received when he jumped from a trestle near Port Haney to escape from an oncoming train, police say.

Carlson was picked up at night by Constable C. Kaneen, whom he requested to send him to the hospital.

The lad, police say, told of running away from home several days ago, and how, when crossing a trestle between Port Haney and Mission, he was caught by a freight train, and compelled to jump 30 feet to the river bed below.

The crew of the train took him to Mission, where he was given medical attention, and put on the train with a letter asking his permission to the hospital. The police are endeavoring to get in touch with his parents at Fernie.

BOARD OF TRADE MEET

The regular meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade, postponed from last week, was held in the Council Chambers Tuesday evening.

In calling the meeting to order, Chairman E. K. Stewart outlined the work done by the Board during the past six months and then called upon Secretary J. F. Spalding to read the minutes of the meeting of the Tourist Association of Southeastern B. C. and Southern Alberta held in Fernie recently.

Mr. Spalding submitted the resolutions passed at this meeting for the consideration of the Board. These were in effect as follows:

1. A petition to the British Columbia Government to put the road from the boundary, at Newgate, to Elko in a condition which would stand heavy tourist traffic, and rectify the dangers in negotiating the Elk River Canyon.

2. Have all roads in British Columbia carefully inspected and any defects remedied.

3. That the British Columbia Government give financial assistance to the Tourist Association to the extent of $500.

4. That the necessary improvement on the highway near Crow's Nest on the British Columbia side of the boundary be immediately carried out.

5. That the All-British Columbia route to the Coast be immediately completed by the building of the Hope-Princton highway.

He also outlined the resolutions passed and forwarded to the Alberta Government and reported that this Government had appointed a highway commissioner to thoroughly inspect the highways in Alberta and the road from Crow's Nest to Macleod had already been inspected. Large appropriations for the laying of permanent highways in Alberta by the Government are now practically assured.

The question of the Fernie Board of Trade retaining their affiliation with the Tourist Association came up for discussion and on a motion it was decided that Fernie Board of Trade would remain a member of the Association and pay $600 assessment for the ensuing year's membership.

A resolution from the Cranbrook Board of Trade requesting the Fernie Board to endorse their request to the Provincial Government that the old boundary between Fernie and Cranbrook ridings be re-established so that the Wasa-Ft. Steele road could be maintained from Cranbrook. After considerable discussion a motion was passed to the effect that the Fernie Board of Trade could not see their way clear to allow any part of the highway under the control of Fernie Electoral district to be withdrawn and therefore could not endorse the Cranbrook resolution.

Resolutions from Kamloops, Nanaimo and Victoria were filed.

The Board then endorsed the resolution passed by the Tourist Association and then empowered Mayor Hardie of Nelson to represent the Tourist Fernie Board of Trade at the meeting of the Associated Boards of British Columbia to be held at an early date.

A committee was appointed to act in conjunction with the Fernie Rod and Gun Club in an endeavor to have cut throat trout fry placed in the Elk River.

THE FEDERAL APPEAL BOARD

E. Hooper, employment agent, Fernie, has received the following letter from the Federal Appeal Board:

The Superintendent,
Employmen Office.

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing herewith a circular of information regarding The Federal Appeal Board. This is being published in leaflet form and a supply will be furnished to you in the near future for distribution among the former members of the forces who may call at your office. The enclosed copy is issued in order that you may have the information at your disposal without delay.

If you know of any individuals who wish to enter appeals it is suggested that you refer them to this office as the Board desires to prepare a list of cases to be dealt with as sessions to be held throughout the country in the near future.

Thanking you for your co-operation, I remain

Yours very truly,
C. B. Topp, Secretary.

THE FERNIE CURLING CLUB

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Curling Club was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening last, about thirty enthusiastic curlers being present. Last year's financial statement was the cause of considerable discussion being finally adpoted with hopes of a better curling season ahead. There was a marked decline in the number of curlers last year and expenses of running the rink were high. This year an effort will be made to curtail expenditure and secure a larger number of curlers. One enthusiast expressed the opinion that there was'n enough "pep" in the club.

Sherwood Herchmer and Frank Lawe were appointed a committee to secure members; they report favorable progress.

There will be a banquet held on St. Andrew's Nicht, Nov. 30th, at which it is hoped all curlers and prospective curlers will attend. Fuller details of this important function will be announced later.

There will also be announced later on the plan for playing this winter's games, the details of which have not yet been fully worked out.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—James Johnson.
Pres.—H. E. Douglas.
1st Vice Pres.—S. Herchmer.
2nd Vice Pres.—A. C. Liphardt.
Sec.-Treas.—W. H. Gates.
Chaplain—Rev. W. F. Burns.
Executive Committee—R. H. Brown, Thos. Prentice and Guy Johnson.

Let's get away to a good start this year, everybody fill up on "pep," then radiate it; boost the game and get every man into it that can handle a broom. Curling is the only winter sport we have for those who do not skate and if more men would only try it once, there isn't any doubt but they would stay with it.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE

Armistice Day, Sunday No. 11, is to be devoted to Memorial Services for the fallen heroes of the Great War all over the British Empire.

Arrangements have been completed by the Fernie Branch of the Great War Veterans' Association for the Memorial Service in Fernie to be held in the Orpheum Theatre, the service to commence at 11 a.m., the hour the Armistice was signed in 1918.

Prior to the service, a parade of Returned Veterans, all Patriotic and Fraternal Societies will move off from the G. W. V. A. headquarters at 10:30 sharp and proceed via Victoria Avenue to Cox Street, thence to the Memorial on the Government Building lawn where deposition of floral tributes will be made and salute given. The parade will then proceed via Wood Street and Victoria Avenue to the Orpheum Theatre.

The service will be opened by the entire gathering singing "O Canada" and continue on the following program:

Invocation—Rev. H. P. Humphreys.
Hymn—"O God, Our Help in Ages Past."
Address— Rev. Father Kennedy.
Selection—Massed Choir.
Address—Rev. W. F. Burns.
Hymn—"Forever With The Lord."
Address—Rev. H. U. Oswald.
Selection—"Lest We Forget." Massed Choir.
Benediction—Salvation Army Officer.
National Anthem.

Immediately after the service, the parade will reform and proceed to the Hillside Cemetery where the Cenotaph erected on the Soldiers' Plot will be unveiled by Major (Dr.) D. Corsan.

TWO MINUTES SILENCE ON SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 11

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—In accordance with arrangements for the observance of Armistice Day sanctioned by his Majesty the King, the people of Canada are invited to mark the occasion by a two-minute silence at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, November 11.

This is in addition to the regular celebration of the date recognized by the Canadian Parliament for the Monday following.

A TEST CASE BY THE BANK

TORONTO, Nov. 6. — Claims of some depositors of the Home Bank upon the interim liquidator have forced the decision to make a test case to ascertain the position of the bank. There are large numbers who made deposits on August 17, the day the bank suspended, and not a few of these were fairly large amounts. Under the law banks which are insolvent are prevented from receiving money, and the point arises as to when the officials of the bank became aware of its insolvency.

The fact that Toronto had daylight saving, and that when the head office here closed at 3 o'clock it was only noon in branches which were still open in Saskatchewan and Alberta, and 11 o'clock in British Columbia, may also enter into the argument.

Most of the branches in Toronto had received instruction before 4 o'clock, which would be much earlier in outside points, that the bank had suspended for 90 days, yet deposits were taken later than the Toronto time in most of the other branches.

Commenting editorially upon the recent suspension of payment by the Home Bank of Canada, the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association has the following to say in its current issue:

"The failure is one of the most regrettable incidents in the history of Canadian banking and constitutes one of those rare cases of a chartered bank of Canada being compelled to wind up its affairs with closed doors. This is largely due to the extraordinary nature of the business transacted by the bank, the character of the assets rendering it impossible for any other bank or the associated banks, to consider favorably the proposal to assist to the extent of enabling the creditors to be paid in full.

"Since the suspension of the Home bank there has been much ill-informed criticism of the Canadian Bankers' association because it did not forsee and prevent the failure of the bank. Evidently it is believed by some that the association has power to examine into and regulate the affairs of the member banks.

"As a matter of fact, however, the association has no power, either under the Bank Act, or its own charter, to examine into the affairs of any member bank, except in one particular, namely, to see that the note-issuing powers of each bank are not exceeded.

"The view has been expressed by certain Home bank depositors that the Canadian Bankers' association should make their losses good, but it is impossible that the association should make itself responsible for the obligation of member banks.

"That would be tantamount to making every bank in Canada responsible for the debts of the other banks. Under such circumstances banking would not be carried on, for no one would be willing to invest in stock of banks if there were any such obligation.

"The control of the affairs of each bank must continue to rest with its shareholders, directors and executive officers, and they must bear their own responsibilities. The Bankers' asociation has no right to interfere, and would not be permitted to interfere."

TWO NOTABLES IN CAST OF "THE RUSTLE OF SILK"

Anna Q. Nilsson and Cyril Chadwick are two of the quartette of principals in Herbert Brenon's first production for Paramount. "The Rustle of Silk," in which Betty Compson and Conway Tearle are featured, and which comes to the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday.

Miss Nilsson has been a featured member of the casts of several recent pictures, including "Pink Gods" and Cecil B. DeMille's "Adam's Rib." She plays the role of Lady Feo in the screen version of Cosmo Hamilton's novel.

Mr. Chadwick has appeared on the New York stage in "Pillars of Society," with Ethel Barrymore; "Excuse Me," "Little Miss Fix-It," "Marriage a La Carte," "Her Soldier Boy" and others. He scored in the screen and stage peresntation of "Three Live Ghosts" and "Thirty Days." He is cast as Paul Chalfonte in "The Rustle of Silk." The novel was adapted by Sada Cowan and Ouida Bergere. This is the first of a series of productions to be made by Mr. Brenon for Paramount.

PAINTS PLIGHT OF DEPOSITORS

VICTORIA, Nov. 6.—In the Legislature Monday afternoon Mr. Thomas Uphill, Independent member for Fernie, made a spirited appeal upon behalf of the depositors of the defunct Home Bank. He said Fernie had suffered from fires, floods and explosions; then came the Home Bank failure, and the depositors of the little city lost $785,000. Many of them were helpless, and deserved the greatest pity and full assistance.

Mr. Uphill spoke very warmly, and at some length upon the subject. He said the governments of the Dominion and the provinces could have had little faith in the banking legislation when there were clauses inserted giving the government first claim over other depositors. He claimed that every Canadian was proud of Canadian banks, and in order to keep this record clean the Home Bank depositors should receive 100 cents on the dollar.

He spoke of the oficials of the defunct bank as a bunch of pirates and painted appaling pictures of those Fernie residents who had lost every dollar they possessed. It would do these sufferers no good to see the bankers go to jail; they must get their money back.

Mr. Uphill said the government of Ontario was robbing the depositors of Fernie by insisting upon priority of claim. Mr. Speaker pointed out that the member could not make such a statement according to the rules of the House.

The Fernie member recognzied Mr. Speaker's admonition and announced that if the Fernie depositors did not receive their money in full he would advocate and organzie a plan to urge everybody in the province to withdraw deposits from banks doing business here.

Mr. Uphill regretted that the speech from the throne had contained no reference to the miners who lost their lives in the Cumberland coal mining disaster. He said conditions were far worse in the Fernie district, because of greater volume of gas, but fewer lives were lost, there being a competent official in charge.

Mr. Uphill again appealed for the construction of the Corbin road, his "hardy annual." Two surveys had been made of this road, he said, at opportune times from a political point of view, but the road had never been constructed ,although Corbin had a population of several hundred.

He doubted the wisdom of looking for more settlers, claiming he could secure 10,000 men in this province who wanted real work.

COMMUNICATION

An open letter to the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, in connection with the failure of the Home Bank.

Coal Creek, B.C., Nov. 6, 1923.

Dear Sir:

In connection with the Home Bank failure some resolutions and information have been forwarded to you by the Coal Creek depositors, and, as one of these, I wish to assure you that in no particular has the plight of the victims been exaggerated.

From the information you have received you will no doubt realize how badly this district is affected by the failure, and personal contact with the victims, particularly those of advanced years, would serve to greatly emphasize this evil.

Attempts to belittle the tragedy, examples of which are here given, indeed appear to be but painful and puerile attempts to hide the faultiness of the financial structure.

From an editorial on "Banks and Banking" in the Montreal Gazette under date, October 6th, evidently inspired or endorsed by the Canadian Bankers Association I have taken the following excerpts:

"The notion that the Association or the Government, or both, should stand behind deposits in the Home Bank betrays not only ignorance of the law but a total lack of business knowledge. It ought to be obvious to the simplest mind that if a guarantee is to be given depositors, the guarantor must direct the use of the monies."

"Hon. Mr. Fielding at the recent revision of the Bank Act objected to a system of government inspection on the ground that it would make the government responsible for losses. The point is well taken."

"The revelations of Home Bank mismanagement suggests no safeguards for creditors not already erected, and when government inspection of banks is called for, is is merely a call already fully answered."

Again, the following excerpts from a recent despatch:

"London, Oct. 30th.—Sir Vincent Meridith, President of the Bank of Montreal, is at present visiting London. Discussing the difficulties which have recently overtaken one or two of the small Canadian Banks, he stated, that in his opinion altogether too much has been made of the matter, not so much perhaps on this side as in Canada. The failure of a small bank, with only $2,000,000 capital, should not have caused the unrest which newspapers reports depicted."

If the failure of the Home Bank is such an insignificant matter when considered nationally, why then could not arrangements be made by the Canadian Bankers' Association to take care of the sufferers? They very carefully avoid any suggestion of relief from that body, and yet, the very existence of banking institutions depends absolutely on a continuance of deposits.

It cannot be denied that the general public of the Dominion, who through their deposits furnish the banks with the necessary means of credit, have been taught by the press of Canada, by bank advertisements and by public utterance to look upon Canadian Banks as being absolutely safe as depositories and that there could be no chance through them of depositors losing their funds. Even as we write, one bank is putting out such advertising in Fernie, but, the financial journals, which by the way are publishing for and read by speculators rather than small depositors, are now pointing out that a depositor's position is that of an investor and that he takes investor's risks. (Ye Gods: at 3%). This latter may be the truth, but it has certainly not been generally understood, or if it were, can we think for a moment that the savings depositors would loan monies to a bank without any guarantee as to security when they could place such monies in the Post Office Savings Bank at almost the same rate of interest and with the Government's guarantee back of every dollar of deposits. True, there is a supposed guarantee in the double liability of the shareholders, but, to put it mildly, it is pure bunk as a guarantee. For instance, the Home Bank had a subscribed capital of two millions, and this would make the shareholders liable for a further two millions, if the assets of the individual shareholders were sufficient in all cases to meet their personal liability. As against this the Eighteenth Annual Report of the Home Bank shows as due to depositors alone the sum of almost twenty-two and a half million dollars. This then appears to be the position:

That the liability of the shareholders to be called upon to furnish two million dollars is given as a guarantee to depositors for twenty-two and a half million dollars, and Government deposits are a first charge against all the assets of the bank, to be paid in full.

The position is absurd, as we have learned to our sorrow and as the depositors in other banks may learn to the sorrow of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

While we realize that the powers of the Minister of Finance are limited by the Bank Act, we also realize that the Bank Act was written and has been amended from time to time by the elected representatives of the people, (that's us) and that these elected representatives have the authority to make further amendments either by adding or subtracting, or to take special measures to remedy discovered serious and dangerous defects. They also have the authority to levy and to expend monies both within and without the bounds of national welfare and so have a remedy within reach, for the use of which, I am sure, more credit would rebound to the present Government than has ever accrued from the millions spent in bolstering up and guaranteeing decrepit railways.

Can it be considered than an individual who escaped with his life in the recent Japanese earthquake is in any more serious plight than any of the individuals that have been referred to in the previous correspondence? We cannot think so.

We sincerely believe that if an earnest effort were made by the Canadian Bankers and by the Department of Finance that a means of affording relief to the victims could certainly be found.

Yours truly,
One of the Victims.

STORK VISITS THREE EAST KOOTENAY HOMES

CRANBROOK, Nov. 2.—The stork paid a visit to this city, this week leaving Mr. and Mrs. Archie Leitch, of Jaffray, a son, at the St. Eugene hospital, Tuesday; a son to Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Leask on Monday; and a son to Mr. and Mrs. D. M. MacDonald, at the Cottage hospital on Wednesday.

EXODUS OF DRUG TRAFFIC SPECIALISTS

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9—The dope evil in this city has witnessed a great abatment in recent weeks, and the record of arrests by the narcotic police squad show marked decrease. The Hook conducted a crusade with special investigators for months, and the exposures resulted in an exodus of the drug traffic specialists. It is said that most of them went to the States, although it is feared that others have migrated to provincial towns.

MILLIONS IN HOME BANK REAL ESTATE

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—It is estimated that the market value of land and buildings in Toronto owned by the Home Bank of Canada runs into millions of dollars When the courts decree that the assets of the defunct institution be disposed of some 12 branches will have to be converted into cash or otherwise arranged for by the bank's holding company, and all the deals when completed will represent one of the largest realty transactions negotiated in some time.

In addition to the head office of the institution located in the heart of the city, there are 11 branches, the assessed value of the land being $395,891 and the value of buildings $168,850.

The publication of a volume of collected articles by Mr. Lloyd George has met with mixed criticism from the English press. "It will not shake the belief," says The London Times, "that statesmen who, not being writers, write nevertheless, thereby add little to their repute. Literature is a field in which second-best is synonymous with disaster, and men with great reputations won elsewhere stray into at their peril."

Even the Joy of Christmas Carols

¶ There is not a city in all this land, not a village, no matter how remote that may not know even the joy of Christmas Carols as sung in the greatest Cathedrals—that may not have within their individual homes, the fulness of the festival spirit that is abroad at this time of the year—that may not know the living genius of such an incomparable artist as Caruso—that may not dance to the rythm of such famous orchestras as Paul Whiteman's—that may not be able to command at will the genius of the world's greatest artist—for "His Master's Voice" Victrola—the "Theatre of the Home" and "His Master's Voice"-Victor Records, the "performers of the home" are the artist and his genius.

¶ "His Master's Voice" Victrola is a versatile companion, an instrument of precious workmanship and marvellous tone that yields a melody of enchantment to all who have ears to hear. It is as distinctive from other instruments as the golden notes of Galli-Curci differ from the attempts of an unknown soprano.

¶ Even as the genius of Caruso is immortal, so are such gifts as "His Master's Voice" Victrola—immortal. They embody an expression of the highest, truest form of friendship, of regard, of love. And not one single home but will be the happier because of it. Then what better time for the giving of your Victrola than this very Yuletide.

¶ And price is no obstacle—for genuine Victrolas are made in many styles at many prices, from $37.50 to $615.00. To prevent substitution look "under the lid" for our famous trade-mark "His Master's Voice"—so that your gift may be all that you want it to be—a genuine Victrola.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

MINE DIVIDENDS IN B. C. $1,798,416

NELSON, Oct. 29.—Reports reaching the British Columbia Chamber of Mines show that three B.C. properties are on the dividend-paying list. They are the Premier Gold mine; the Howe Sound mine and the Britannia Mining and Smelting company and the Silversmith.

The Premier has so far this year paid dividends of $1,300,000, the dividend for the first quarted of the year being $500,000, and $400 000 for each nor each other quarter. Altogether this mine has paid $4,450,000 in dividends.

The Howe Sound mine paid its first dividend in several years for the second quarter of the present year, $199,208. The same amount has been declared for the third quarter. In all Howe Sound has paid $1,291,278 in dividends.

Another splendid record has been made by the Silversmith, the pride of the Slocan. So far this year it has paid $100,000. For the first quarter it paid $25,000; for the second $50,000 and for the third, $25 000. It has a total of $225 000 paid in dividends.

H. A. Pebles, J. A. Allworth and Merton Vely, all of Spokane, recently visited Rossland and inspected the Combination Mine of the Eholt company in which they are interested. They were also shown the Spotted Horse on which a lead six inches wide was recently encountered.

A contract for the driving of 500 feet of tunnel on the Cromwell property on Trout lake near Kaslo and which is owned by Colonel H. H. Armstead has been let to J. H. Wilson, mining engineer and A. Oakley. The work is to start at once.

E. L. Edwards, manager of the Lake Shore mine, has taken over the development of the United property adjoining.

As a result of the sensational success recently achieved in the reopening of the famous I. X. L. mine at Rossland a number of interesting sales of property in the vicinity are reported as pending. In the meanwhile the vein recently struck on the O. K., a property adjoing which is being worked by Harry Gamble and associates, has widened so rapidly that it promises to rival the old I. X. L.

The Number Two Fraction claim at Beaverdell has been bonded to J. Acom of Spokane from H. Rambo for $15,000. Mr. Acom undertakes to work the property continuously; to install a compressor and to pay the owners 10 per cent of all ore shipped and 15 per cent if the ore exceeds $200 a ton in value.

The 33 weeks periodicity which has been assigned to outbreaks of influenza is being borne out by the present prevalence of the disease in England, where the last visitation was in February of the present year. The reason for this periodicity, which was first pointed out by Dr. Brownlee, statistician of the Medical Research Council, remains a mystery. It has given rise to the speculation that influenza may not be an infectious disease, but one which occurs spontaneously at intervals in those who have suffered from it. The fact that it breaks out in ships which have been as sea for prolonged periods is held to favor this viewpoint.

WHY NOT INSURE BANK DEPOSITS?

One of the many suggestions we have received in connection with the present banking situation in Canada comes from a reader who has been long conversant with a good deal of the inner history of finance in this country and who has made some study of Canadian banking laws and practice. The suggestion is that the banks establish an insurance fund to guarantee deposits in somewhat the same way that the note circulation of the banks is now protected. That is, the banks be required to deposit with the Receiver General at Ottawa a small percentage of their deposits each year—say one tenth of one per cent. —until the insurance fund has reached a certain percentage of the total deposits—say 10 per cent. of the total deposits in our chartered banks would be protected to the same extent that the note circulation of the banks is now protected. This principle could be applied either under Government supervision or inspection or could be carried out by the banks themselves if the Government inspection were not adopted. The note circulation is now protected and there is undoubtedly a growing demand that the deposits in our chartered banks be made more secure.

Government deposits in the case of insurance companies have long been a source of security to the policyholders in our regularly licensed companies, and the insurance companies themselves would be the last to advocate the reestablishment of the old go-as-you-please policy that was in vogue years ago and which led to many abuses by those who were more intent in lining their own pockets than they were in serving the public through the sale of sound insurance.

In the case of the banks the same policy as that adopted by the insurance companies could be followed, that is to say there could be deposited with the Finance Department at Ottawa interest bearing securities, such as are now carried in their vaults, and form part of their liquid assets.—Saturday Night.

PROPOSED BARBER BILL IS NOT VERY POPULAR

VICTORIA, Nov. 9.—According to word that is filtering here, the proposed bill that is designed to legislate barbers into one of the learned professions is weakening, due to lack of support from original boosters. If reports are correct, the prospect of dollar haircuts and half dollar shaves does not appeal to the people. Bob-hair-cutting, under the new law's revised cost would run to a dollar, also. Barbers who thought the idea was good—at first—are now beginning to ask if it will really benefit them. It is seen that the little shops would be virtually extinguished and the benefits would only reach the few.

As a substitute it is suggested that municipal laws of hygiene and control would serve every logical purpose, without giving an exclusive board the chance to have a rake-off on salaries, expenses and arbitrary prices.

The Journal des Debats points out that if Germany, instead of making war in 1914, had waited until 1925, she would then have had a population of 75,000,000 as against the 38,000 000 of France. "In spite of our victory," says the newspaper, "the danger is not dissipated, but only adjourned, and Germany scarcely hides the fact that she is reckoning on it. She has still at least 60,000,000 inhabitants against 40,000,000 at most in France, and her annual excess of births over deaths is over 400 000, while in France it is scarcely 50,000. When we say that the question is one of life and death we are not making a phrase: we are simply expressing an impressive truth."

It Pays to Kick

Quality comes first but a wise person refuses to be overcharged.

When it comes to dentistry you demand proper attention, quality materials and unexcelled workmanship. The individual dentist must add to these costs, rent, heat, light, salary of office girl, outside laboratory profits, lost accounts and his own excessive profits.

Dr. Wilson reduces these costs by group dentistry and business like methods. Your money goes for efficient dentistry, that is absolutely guaranteed. You receive the benefit.---

Dr. Wilson's practice is continually growing because folks are kicking about the excessive prices elsewhere.

EXAMINATIONS ARE FREE

When you realize the quality you'll appreciate the price

EDITORIAL ECHOES

Newspapermen don't try to punish people through the columns of the paper half as often as the public thinks. There are newspapermen who have their enemies, for it's hard to keep from making them if you work around a newspaper, but there are but few newspapers that use their organ to settle a private grudge. This is not always understood. Often when things go wrong in a newspaper office, it is laid to some one on the paper. It was done purposely. It was to help one and injure another. That's what is said, but it isn't often so, and newspapers don't often try to explain away mistakes of that kind. Another comes up right away anyhow.

Here is a cheap and simple way to reduce, if not prevent, collisions between trains and motor cars. In the road at every grade crossing place a series of bumps or "thank you mam's" so severe as to compel a vehicle to go slowly, or if it does not, to disable the car before it reaches the track, and milder warning bumps, a sufficient distance away. All drivers who know that such a device is ahead them will slow down, unless drunk or crazy. For those there is no remedy but to disable the car.

—o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o—

The cost of building and maintaining good roads seems so great that many taxpayers are inclined to lie down and say that they simply can't be afforded. Yet before taking that attitude, it is well to reflect on the returns that good road brings. The news that a certain town or district has good roads spreads for many miles around. Motorists drive that way when out for pleasure, or will go in that direction when seeking a trade centre. They will go many miles out of their way if they can strike a good road into some buiness centre. The convenience and comfort of a good road is thus a magnet that draws trade and business, that spreads prosperity into the surrounding country. It makes a town seem a live one. The streets in its business centre are well filled with visitors, which a town with poor outlying roads finds visitors going elsewhere. It costs something to solve the good roads problem but it cost more not to.

Farmers in many sections still complain because of low prices for their products while everything they have to buy sells high. But people who sell farm property now are likely to let it go at bottom prices. Things are working around more favorably. The politicians have been taught by recent events that they must provide a reasonable opportunity for rural industry. The farmer is entitled to as good pay as the city worker earns, plus interest on his investment. Anyone who manages a farm skilfully should earn more, since the operation calls for more planning, more intelligence, and more sustained industry than the ordinary city worker has to show. Tremendous gains have been made in scientific farm production. When equal efficiency is attained in marketing and distribution of crops, the farmer will have a position like that enjoyed by other business men.

HOW TO USE DOMESTIC COKE

A large number of citizens have been asking particulars about the burning of Domestic Coke, which is now being manufactured at Michel. The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. have issued the following instructions to those who centemplate using the new product.

For starting coke fires in an ordinary heating furnace such as are sometimes used for heating residences that vary in size from five to eight and ten rooms, use about from eight fully to fourteen pounds of kindling wood to start the fire. The coke fuel may either be placed carefully on the kindling wood before the wood is lighted, by covering the wood with a thin layer of coke from four inches to six inches thick, or by lighting the wood first, then after the wood is well lighted or burning, a layer of coke five to seven inches thick should be carefully placed over and on the burning wood. When the fire, in either case, is started, all of the available furnace draft should be used to start the fire; then after the layer of coke is burning freely, the furnace should be further filled, to a depth of from ten to sixteen inches. Then when the second dressing of coke is fairly well lighted, the furnace draft should be checked, to allow the coke to burn slowly and safely. Each furnace will have, to some extent, at least, its own peculiarities, and must, therefore be carefully watched for a few days, for the purpose of learning how it will be best to regulate the draft for economical heating. It may, however, be assumed that all furnaces burning this new low volatile coke fuel will require very much less draft than it takes to burn any kind of raw coal. The absence of higher volatile contents in the coke than is contained in the coal, makes this safely possible.

The various makes of kitchen stoves will require coke from ½ in. cubes to 2 in. cubes. To meet these varying mechanical requirements, mixed coke within these sizes is being prepared for these varying stove purposes.

To start the kitchen range fires, about one third less wood will be required than is designated for the furnace service.

If a bed of hot coke from four to seven inches thick is on the grate in the morning, shake the grate and remove any clinkers that may have formed during the night, level the fire and give a new charge of coke; opening the damper in the ash pit and partly closing the damper in the flue of the stove pipe, will help to start the fire quickly. After you find the freshly fired coke has been well ignited, the damper in the ash pit should be nearly closed and the flue check damper partly opened. These regulations of draft will more or less be subject to the changes in the weather.

Matters to be observed—Carry a deep bed of fuel. Use the slightest possible draft after the fire is properly started. After cleaning the fire in the morning do not disturb the fuel bed no more than is absolutely necessary. Use coke sized from ¾ to 2½ inch cubes for furnaces, boilers and heating stoves. For open grates, coke sized from ½ inch to 4 inches will be suitable. For cooking stoves, use coke that varies in size from ½ to 2 inches.

The Bureau of Mines of Washington, D. C., has the following to say on the subject of advantage of coke as house-heating fuel:

"Coke is a smokeless and clean fuel and offers the best means of making our large cities smokeless. It is known that in large cities where soft coal is burned for domestic heating, about 60 per cent. of all the smoke in the atmosphere is made in the residential section in house-heating furnaces. Substituting coke for soft coal will eliminate this 60 per cent. of smoke. The smoke made in house-heating furnaces is much more objectionable than the smoke made in the industrial plants because it is made in the residence section where it does most harm.

"Coke does not make any soot, consequently the cleaning of boilers, smoke pipes, and flues is eliminated. Those who spend their Saturday afternoons or Sundays cleaning furnaces and flues will appreciate this advantage. Soot is a poor conductor of heat; when it is deposited on the heating surfaces of the boiler or furnace, much less heat is utilized in heating the house, and a large part of the heat passes up the chimney. All formation of soot means a direct loss, because it represents that much unburned coal.

"Soft coal can never be burned in house-heating furnaces with such completeness of combustion as coke. When soft coal is used, most of the volatile matter, distilled from the coal, escapes from the furnace unburned, in the form of soot, tar and combustible gases. Part of the soot and tar is deposited on the heating surfaces of the stove or furnace and in the flues, and part escapes through the chimney as visible smoke. The unburned gases go up the chimney with the visible smoke. The tar and soot do not burn in the furnace, because the furnace is usually too small and the temperature too low for maintaining their combustion. The residue left after the tar and soot have been driven from the coal is in the form of coke. It burns slowly and almost completely in the small furnace, and the heat which gets into the house is mostly the heat that has been generated by burning this residue.

"Therefore, when soft coal is burned in the ordinary house-heatng furnace, the coal is first reduced to coke by driving off the volatile matter, most of which escapes, unburned; then the coke burns in the furnace and heats the house. Driving off the volatile matter unburned, not only causes a direct loss of heat, but causes a great deal of dirt in the furnace, flues, boiler room and also in the outside atmosphere. Since the volatile matter in soft coal is of negative value, so far as heating the house is concerned, it is better to use a fuel that does not contain volatile matter. Such is fuel coke. Most of heating is made in special furnaces the coke on the market for domestic by driving off the volatile matter."

A hearty welcome is assured to all.

Owing to some foolish rumors, started no one knows where and by whom, a slight run was started on the local branch of the Imperial Bank on Monday last. Quite a large number of depositors withdrew their money and placed it in other banks. Most of those who withdrew their money were from Coal Creek. Needless to say the Imperial Bank is one of our strongest financial institutions and no local run could have the slightest effect upon it finances.

The Elliott Family Orchestra, who play in the Grand Theatre on Monday evening next, have visited practically every city in Western Canada and have received very impressive newspaper comment everywhere they have appeared. They are now on their way to make their first appearance in the Western States and their stopping off at Fernie to give a benefit concert for the Fernie Boy Scouts, in itself, should appeal greatly to the support of the Fernie citizens. The tickets for the concert are now being sold by the Boy Scouts and are going fast. The plan of the theatre for Monday night's concert is now at McLean's Drug Store and tickets sold by the Scouts should be exchanged there for reserved seats.

Some idea of the increase in the prosperity of the people of British Columbia is reflected in the fact that there are at the present time 39.000 automobiles under the provincial registry. This is all the more striking when it is considered that even as recently as 1916 there were very few more than 8.000 automobiles. This compilation of statistics recently completed by Dr. Sutherland, minister of public works, indicates that there is about one motor car to every 13 people in the province.

According to figures compiled by the minister of lands, the amount of timber scaled in British Columbia for the nine months ending September 30th, amounts to 1,672.195.000 board feet, as against 1,215,695,000 for the same period in 1922, an increase of 37 per cent. He states that the figures for the first nine months of this year exceed the total for the whole of 1922 by 25 million feet, and it is fully expected that 1923 will be a record year in the timber cut of British Columbia. The foregoing figures indicate to some extent the activity which has been gradually increasing in the lumber industry during the last eighteen months.

EPITAPHS

FRANKLIN, HUXELY AND STEVENSON

When written or selected by those whose tombs they story, epitaphs usually tell us something of the lives and the hopes of those resting quietly beneath. Epitaphs of three men each brilliant in his particular sphere of activity, are called to mind, though one of them, perhaps, in the strict meaning of the word cannot be called an epitaph, because for some unknown reason it was not inscribed on its writer's tomb.

Among Benjamin Franklin's papers, after his death, was found the following epitaph, which evidently was intended to story his tomb:

"The body of Benjamin Franklin,
Printer;
Like the cover of an old book,
Its contents torn out,
And stripped of its lettering and guilding,
Lies here, food for worms.
But the work shall not be lost,
For it will, as he believed, appear once more
In a new and more elegant edition,
The Author."

This evidently was written at a time when Franklin realized that his period of usefulness in this world was drawing to a close, but he confidently looked forward to a future in a more perfect condition, as well as a future for his works. The humbleness of the man, too, should be noted, for he styled himself "printer," rather than diplomat, writer, or statesman, to any of which he had a right; selecting for memory of his craft, rather than his art.

Thomas H. Huxely, his biographer tells us, himself selected the following from one of his wife's poems for inscription on his tomb:

"Be not afraid, ye waiting hearts that weep,
For still He giveth His beloved sleep,
And if an endless sleep, He wills it best."

Thus, after a life of infinite usefulness, devoted to the betterment of his fellow beings, Huxely died, as he had lived, in honest doubt. He styled himself an agnostic, in fact, he coined the word, which should not be confused, as often it is, with atheist. None was more willing than Huxely to concede that some Master Hand was at the head of our Universe, but analytical mind refused to accept creeds and dogmas, and, so far as the hereafter was concerned, he was content to leave it with that Master Hand, believing that if a man did his duty to his fellow-beings all would be right.

"Under the wide and starry sky,
Dig the grave and let me lie:
Glad did I live, and glad did I die,
And I laid me down with a will.
This be the verse ye gave to me:
Here he lies, where he longed to be:
Home is the sailor, home from the sea,
And the hunter home from the hill."

With an excellent portrait of Robert Louis Stevenson, who, despite the handicap of continuous ill health, got an enormous amount of joy out of life, and, yet, owing to his ceasless fight against adverse physical conditions, he was glad enough to relinquish life when the call came, and content to let the future take care of itself. He was a keen sportsman, though delicate health and, in the early days, struggle for existence prevented him from pursuing his favorite pastimes; during the latter part of his life he obtained an immense amount of joy from yachting, a port that undoubtedly prolonged his life. Stevenson gave his talents freely and joyously to his friends; he bore his troubles with fortitude and with little complaint. When he realized that the end might come at any time he bought no consecrated spot for his final resting place, but chose a hill top "Under the wide and starry sky," where he could rest, as so often he had done in life, under the limitless blue canopy of the heavens.

KEEP IT OUT OF THE PAPER

"Keep it out of the paper," is the cry which the local newspaper publisher weekly hears. To oblige often costs considerable though the party who makes the request thinks the granting hardly worth saying even "Thank You" for. A newspaper is a peculiar thing in the eye of the public. The news-gatherer is stormed at because he gets hold of one item and is abused because he does not get another. In other words, the reporter gets it going and coming. Young men, and very often young women, as well as older persons, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication, and then rush to the newspaper office and beg the editor not to notice their escapades. The next day they condemn him for not publishing an item about another party for doing the same thing they were guilty of, forgetting apparently their late visit to the printing office. —Cranbrook Courier.

REDUCE OPERATING TIME BETWEEN EAST AND WEST

Economy in operation and a saving of time for the travelling public will be effected by the Canadian National Railways with the operation on December 1st of the Long Lake cutoff, connecting the former main Canadian Northern line with the National Transcontinental and shortening considerably the distance between Winnipeg and Montreal and Winnipeg and Toronto. A saving of 70.2 miles will be made in the distance between Winnipeg and Montreal and 102.6 miles between Winnipeg and Toronto. Three hours will be saved on the journey from Winnipeg to Montreal and slightly over four hours on the journey to Toronto. By using this cutoff itself only 30 miles in length, the National Way will have a direct line from Winnipeg to Montreal which will be 56.7 miles shorter than any other railway and 25 miles shorter between Winnipeg and Toronto .

If the work is not held up by bad weather, the cutoff will be ready for operation by December 1st. Steel is laid over 16 miles, balasting is proceeding rapidly and the grading is practically completed over the whole 30 miles of the connecting link. Work is now being rushed on the terminal at Nakina, the junction with the Transcontinental line. Over 500 men are employed and this number is being increased so that the work may be finished before severe weather interferes.

The Long Lake cutoff runs from Long Lake station, 198.5 miles east of Port Arthur, and at the most northerly point of what was the Canadian Northern main line, to Nakina station on the Transcontinental line of the Canadian National system. Besides shortening the distnace, the cutoff improves the grade and alignment and the amount of rise and fall to be overcome and thus permits of economy in the operation of trains as well as saving time for business me travelling between the eastern and western portions of Canada.

ADVOCATES PAVING MAIN THOROUGHFARE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9. — Main Street, geographically and logically regarded at Vancouver's leading thoroughfare artery, may come into its own, according to a plan propounded by The Hook, edited by J. S. Cowper, late M.P.P., who advocates the paving of the street and transforming it into importance. Main Street is Vancouver's first highway after passing into the city limits from the U. S. boundary by tourists. It reaches the municipality of South Vancouver, with a population of some 30,000. The first glimpse that tourists get of Vancouver's city limits is an array of wharves, shipbuilding yards, docks and the great Union stations. Thence, the incoming tourists worry along a sort of "rocky road to Dublin" over a highway of holes and ruts, junk stores and cheap rooming houses on both sides. The city Hall is on this street. With a shrewd eye upon probabilities, the tenants of Main Street, along this route, are now striving to acquire long leases to hold their places, and avert high rents, while Americans are trying to estimate realty values. At present, Main Street, regarded as Vancouver's sister of neglect, is rapidly going into decay. Its making into a leading street of Vancouver will form an issue of the coming municipal election.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX

The demand for the abolition of the Personal Property Tax in this Province is growing more insistent It is a cumbersome tax, unequal in its incidence, and is not levied impartially. It is an irritating tax because it brings the tax collector or assessor within the domesitc circle. It is an invasion of property rights. It has the effect of being a tax on both income and capital. It impairs capital as represented by property because it leaves less money available for the upkeep of the property. It is a detriment to business because it means that both the machinery of busness as well as its earning capacity is taxed. In this way it is a clog on the wheels of industry. It represents duality in taxation, and, save for the one reason that the Provincial Government wishes to extract money from the people by hook or by crook, it should be abolished. The Government has the matter under advisement and among the methods of tax alleviation which are so imperative if prosperity is to be established in British Columbia there is no question that the Personal Property Tax should go by the board.—Victoria Colonist.

It is easier to understand America's attitude when you remember how little interest you feel in the other fellow's toothache.

By Strawberry Flats and the Silver Daisy

1—Falls about 5 miles from Hope
2—On the trail
4—Defiance Camp

The little village of Hope, situated on the Fraser River about one hundred miles from the coast, is the starting point for all mountaineers wishing to reach the interior of British Columbia by the trail route. It is a scattered village of about two hundred inhabitants but possessing both an abundance of natural beauty and a truly romantic past. The village is flanked on one side by the noble Fraser river, while from the other side one looks up three wide draws in the mountain ranges. The one to the left is the beautiful Coquihalla valley through which the turbulent Coquihalla river cascades from a pass unmatched for rugged grandeur. Through this pass too, under innumerable snow sheds and tunnels the Kettle Valley Railway goes to Princeton and the interior. In the centre is an opening for the Nicolum river, to the right is the Silver Creek draw and beyond it the snow-capped peaks of the Cascade range.

The mountain trail over the Hope Pass is the old one known as the Dewdney which was surveyed and partly built for twenty-five miles out of Hope, by English Sappers in 1861. It winds up the Coquihalla River for a short distance, then branches off with the Nicolum, a tributary of the former river. The way lies through Sylvan glades, past rushing waterfalls and over rustic bridges, the old dry "cribbing" of which is as firm as the day when it was laid.

The first feeding ground for horses is at 12 Mile Lake —otherwise known as Divide Lake at an altitude of 2300 feet. This lake is the head waters of the Nicolum river. Here there is a beautiful hay meadow owned by a trapper and prospector who is patiently awaiting the day when the transprovincial road will give him a means of transporting his wealth, in the shape of hay, to outside points.

At 22 Mile there is another beautiful camping spot. Here there is a large cabin situated in the forest's heart on the very banks of the Skagit river. The owner of it carries on prospecting and mining operations in the vicinity. He appropriately calls his cabin "Defiance Camp" and his mine "The Silver Daisy."

From here on for many miles the scenery becomes more wonderful, if that were possible, but at the same time more wild and rugged. The Pass, a narrow hallway bounded by cliffs thousands of feet high, is a sight of never-ending marvel. At one spot, known as Skagit bluffs, the trail (a bare 18 inches wide) winds around the shoulder of a cliff which towers above and drops away a sheer one thousand feet to the bed of the river below.

Then the trail once more drops down to the next feeding grounds at Cayuse Flats which has a sister spot three miles farther on—Cedar Flats. Beyond Cedar Flats lies a long strip of heavy cedar timber, a true "forest primeval." Strawberry Flats, a pleasant open field on the Skagit river at a height of 3700 feet is the last stopping place before the actual ascent to the summit begins. Here, in spite of the high altitude, wild strawberries grow in abundance.

In the next 2300 feet (of the perpendicular of course!) one is led to the summit by a series of switchbacks zigzagging up the face of the mountain. The river, which at the foot appeared a torrent, is here a tiny stream, a mere trickle over the stones. Below, the ever-lasting hills unroll themselves for a hundred miles of valley and peak.

When the summit itself is attained a sight never to be forgotten appears. A wide open meadow lies in an inverted crown on the mountain top. Around its edge rise whitish cliffs scarcely distinguishable from the many snow banks. And everywhere, even beside the snow, grows a bewildering variety of wild flowers.

In the centre of the depression lie two lakes, the dividing of the waters, for from the one goes the Skagit river towards the sea and from the other flows the Whip Saw Creek towards the interior lakes.

As soon as the descent of the eastern slope is begun a great change is noticeable. The grade is easy and steady, the country becomes more open and is clear of the under-brush and ferns so characteristic of the western slope.

The last camp is twenty miles from Princeton but the last nine miles of that distance are covered by a good motor road, the beginning of the proposed Transprovincial-highway from Princeton to Hope.

About eight miles from Princeton is a wonderfully interesting spot where stratified rocks yielding excellent fossils remains are located on the side of the hill.

Shortly after this the valley opens out before one-Princeton snuggled peacefully into a friendly circle of hills and its two rivers, the Similkameen and Tulameen keeping guard over it. Beyond it, rises a splendid vista of rolling green foothills with more rugged mountains closer in, indicative of the districts most flourishing industries, ranching and mining.

SMOKING ANCIENT ART

That tobacco was used sixteen centuries before Sir Walter Raleigh introduced it to Europe is the discovery of Dr. A. C. Kruyt. The statement is contained in a description which he recently gave to the British Association, regarding an ancient race who once inhabited the island of Celebes, in the Dutch East Indies. Dr. Kruyt has spent sixteen years on this island and is returning for another five-year period to complete his investigations of the people there who used tobacco in those far-off days.

For many years, smokers in Canada have enjoyed the use of Old Chum Smoking Tobacco. The old man of today smoked it in early manhood and their verdict is that Old Chum is as good now as it was fifty years ago.

Premier Oliver says there is no hurry for a Provincial election. Some governments pay out their rope until there is ample available for the hanging process. In the meantime it may be said with a fair show of reason that an election would clear both the political and economic outlook in this Province.

France has a surtax on bachelors which amounts to about $9 per annum, but it is claimed that is is applicable to only about 3 per cent. of the single men. France has also a surtax on childless couples amounting on the average to 161 francs, of somewhere in the neighborhood of $11. At a recent national congress on natility, it was pointed out that in certain social circles families were again becoming the fashion, and that the middle class is now less opposed than formerly to the idea of having children.

FIRST BLOWS OF WINTER

Jack Frost has a way of warning car owners of his permanent encampment, but he's frequently a bit rough about it, which means that the motorist without proper preparations for the first blows of winter is quite likely to get off to a bad start.

There are many things which should be attended to as the Autumn leaves are falling. If the transmission needs a little more lubricant the wise owner who is looking ahead simply adds engine oil, knowing that when J. Frost drops in to select his Winter headquarters there will be no unnecessary drag on the engine some snappy night when the gears are cold and the lubricant congealed. This applies as well to the differential, but not to the universal joints.

The first cold snap is likely to send the owner flying to the garage for alcohol, and once he has started this Winter procedure he isn't likely to bother to drain out the system so that overheating will be forestalled as much as possible. The wise owner drains out the system a few times during the Fall, thus being prepared for the anti-freeze solution when it is necessary.

It is a little difficult to believe in woman's intuition when you observe the general insignificance of the typical bigamist.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month

DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR CHILDREN

By Dr. Frank Crane

If you have children under the age of 14 or 15 in the family, and they exhibit alarming symptoms, either physical or moral, that give promise of future disaster, don't worry. They will probably outgrow it. What a child is gives little indication of what sort of a man he will become.

Do you not know that Julius Caesar was the runt of the family, and that all the boys at school picked on him for a sissy?

And that Napoleon Bonaparte, when he was in kilts, was so excessively modest and shrinking that his mother often had to spank him to make him show off before company?

And that John Wesley was given to saying bad words at the age of 7?

And that George Washington, previous to the cherry tree incident, was such an incorrigible little liar his father had to punish him almost every day? (That was the reason the old gentleman made so much fuss when he found that George wouldn't lie about the cherry tree.)

And that both DeWolf Hopper and Raymond Hitchcock, up to the age of 10, had no other thought than that of entering the ministry in the Presbyterian church? (Note that both of these gentlemen have never been able to get rid of their ministerial voices.)

And that John D. Rockefeller in schoolboy days was a notorious little spendthrift, and gave away marbles and jacknives with alarming prodigality?

And the Einstein up to the time he was 12, was never able to do an example in long division, nor tell where to put the decimal point?

And that neither Caruso nor Geraldine Farrar could carry the simplest tune in their childhood days, and invariably sulked and cried when they had to take their music lessons?

And that Nat Goodwin, when he was a little boy, oh! such a very little boy, just naturally hated girls, and absolutely would not play with them at all?

And that Douglas Fairbanks refused to take any exercise, and was always to be found hiding away in some corner with a book?

And that Mrs. Milo, the lady who posed for the statue of Venus de Milo, was the homeliest little girl in town up to the time she was 15 years old?

And that Judge Gary, at the age of 10, had no other dream than that of being a labor agitator and strike leader?

And that William J. Bryan was remarkably taciturn and could hardly ever be induced to express an opinion upon anything?

And that Dean Inge was the most laughing and mischevious boy in school while everybody thought that young W. S. Gilbert would certainly grow up to be a bishop because he was so sober?

Do not misunderstand me. I am not stating all these things as facts. I am asking you whether you know they are facts or not. If you do know them to be facts you know more than I do.

But the point is that they all might very well have been facts.

WHY CANADIAN WHEAT IS COMING TO THE U. S.

The outstanding development of the wheat market last week was the movement of Canadian grain into the United States in spite of the 30-cent tariff. As reported from Chicago by the Associated Press, "Estimates of from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, duty paid, had so far been bought to come into the United States at two cents a bushel less than the price of domestic grain of equality had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. The majority of traders took notice of indications that imports of Canadian wheat into this country were growing heavier despite the tariff of 30 cents a bushel."

A lessened demand abroad both for Canadian and American grain, is sending Canadian wheat into our home markets. A statement last week from the United States department of commerce shows a slump this year of exports of breadstuffs, including wheat, as compared with last year. In the first nine months of 1923, up to October 1, exports of American wheat were 80,196,00 bushels, as compared with 126,155,000 bushels exported in the same period last year, a slump of 35 per cent.

The falling off in the foreign demand for grains and preparations of grains is the serious factor of the situation. Total exports of all grains and preparations thereof, in the first nine months of this year, were valued at $247,095,000.00, as against exports totalling $400,965,000.00 in the first nine months of 1922.

From the foregoing facts and official statistics it is not difficult to see what is happening to the American wheat market. Canada has a great surplus this year and finds a lean market abroad. Looking across the international boundary, it finds an actual shortage of good milling wheat in the United States. Canada grows good milling wheat and has an enormous exportable surplus. The Canadian growers are trying to break into the American market with that surplus.—Spokesman Review.

The organization known as the Ku Klux Klan, so much in evidence in Oklahoma at present, adopted the title of an organization formed shortly after the Civil War. This organization originated with a meeting in Pulaski, Tenn., with an avowed purpose of combating conditions which had arisen as a result of the Civil War. The name Ku Klux Klan was decided upon at this meeting when some member suggested the word "Ku Kloi" from the Greek Kuklos, meaning a band or circle. Another member called out "Call it Kuklux" and it was further suggested that the word "Klan" be added. The full name Ku Klux Klan was adopted at this meeting.

IMPRESSIONS OF LLOYD GEORGE

By Edgar Allan Moss

The train bearing the High Honorable David Lloyd George ex-Prime Minister of England, and his party arrived at Indianapolis, Monday, Oct. 22nd, on schedule time, 11:30 a.m.. Point one in favor of Mr. Lloyd George. Affairs of this kind are usually an hour or more late. There was a tremendous crowd of Hoosiers gathered to give him a typical Hoosier welcome, including several hundred soldiers from Ft. Benjamin Harrison, seven miles out of Indianapolis.

Governor Warren T. McGray, who welcomed the distinguished visitor to Indiana, came near missing the honor. The governor probably had his financial troubles on his mind, and came dashing up in his automobile after the train had pulled in. He met Mr. Lloyd George, however, in the station and gave him the "glad hand." The Governor and ex-Prime Minister stopped for a moment to pose for the cameraman before leaving the station.

When the eyes of the tremendous crowd gathered outside the depot first saw Lloyd George, there arose a terrific ovation which continued for some moments. He paused, smiled, doffed his hat, and started to descend the station steps. The Governor took his arm and started to assist him, but the little Welshman puled away and ran down the steps like a child. The rumor that he was worn out went glimmering. He showed the crowd, that although more than sixty years of age, he could stand the terrific ordeal under which he has been put since arriving in America, without assistance.

Lloyd George was accompanied from Louisville, Ky., by Hon. Oswald Ryan, State Commander of the American Legion of Anderson. Gov. McGray, Mr. Ryan and Lloyd George stopped in front of the waiting automobiles and posed again for the dozen or more cameramen who were waiting. After a number of poses, unaided, Lloyd George stepped into the waiting car. The State Legion Commander and Governor rode with him. The car pulled up a few feet to permit Dame Lloyd George and Miss Megan Lloyd George to get in the automobiles assigned to them.

Now, I had my first close-up of the great Lloyd George. His car came up and stopped directly in front of me. Mr. Ryan whom I claim as a friend spoke. But I was eager to see what Lloyd George looked like. I will try to describe him. His face looks like that of a child. To look at him you'd never guess him to be a man of sixty years. He gazes at you through big light grey eyes set far apart. Those grey eyes blaze and you feel deep respect for power because you know there's power back of them.

That evening at the dinner staged in his honor by the Indiana Manufacturers Association I had a better opportunity to see exactly what Lloyd George looks like. Well he is short, not more than five feet six, his head magnificantly shaped, and high above the ears. His ears, large, set straight up and down, and narrow. They are real low on his head—a little more and they would have been on his neck.

Very, very unusual are Lloyd George's eyebrows and arms. Personally, I think his stubby little white mustache ought not to be there. He should have all of that wonderful face. His long, fine, wavy white hair, stopping just short of his coat collar, is not only beautiful but becoming. I like it. His eyebrows don't go with his baby-like face. They are deep black, being far above his eyes. They point upward at the outside ends. They remind me so much of the black eyebrows of the late President Harding.

I have never seen any arms so short, in proportion to heighth, as Lloyd George's. I was anxious to see if he could reach the bottom of his trouser pockets. but never had the opportunity of finding out whether he could or not, without leaning over. I doubt it, I know he has to almost bend double to tie his shoes.

His hand disclosed a broad palm with long tapering fingers. He dresses in the usual way—which has been described in every daily paper, probably. Black cutaway coat with unusually sharp coat tails. He wore gray trousers, a small gold watch chain across his vest, gray cravat with small diamond pin. His eyeglasses, which he uses only when reading his notes when speaking, have tortoise shell rims, large round lens, and are worn around his neck on a heavy black ribbon.

He always wears "the corners of his mouth turned up" denoting optimism and good cheer. There's a smile in each line that radiates from the corners of his lovely eyes.

Later in the evening he addressed more than 10,000 in the Cadle Tabernacle. He showed his mettle as an orator. I consider his speech a literary gem, full of uplifting thought teeming with expressions that scintilate and glow. He is a master of the glittering phrase. He garbs his thoughts so that it stands out as a diamond sparkles.

To see and hear David Lloyd George is not only a rare opportunity but an event.

CHICAGO STYLE

In an effort to improve the moral character of her son, a Chicago woman shot him. The youth, who received the bullet in the neck, declared in court that he had improved, and the woman was discharged by the judge.

"Spare the rod and spoil the child" is the Biblical advice, but Chicago has a habit of putting its own interpretation on all such injunctions. Besides, the gun appears to be much more familiar to Chicago adults than is the rod to the younger element.

Canadian Rockies Lure Noted Artists

Noted artists, famous moving picture directors and expert scenic photographers, like thousands of tourists, have succumbed to the lure of the innumerable beauties of Banff and the Canadian Pacific Rockies. Artists in increasing numbers each year spend the summer on the trail in the mountains transferring these beauties to canvas. For seventeen years Carl Rungius, celebrated painter of wild animals in their native haunts, has been a regular visitor to Banff. Now he lives there most of the year and has built his own bungalow and studio. In 1921 Rungius won the $1,000 Altman prize, but, being foreign born, was disqualified, whereupon the National Academy of Design bought the painting for $1,000 and it now hangs in the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington.

Belmore Browne, artist, author, explorer and conqueror of Mt. McKinley, 20,300 feet, lives in his own bungalow-studio in Banff the year round except when exhibiting in New York. He and Rungius both study the mountain goats, sheep, deer and bear in their wilderness homes and paint them and their majestic scenic backgrounds. Richard M. Kimbel, landscape painter, has spent two summers in Banff and is painting at Lake O'Hara, near Lake Louise, and last year W. Langdon Kihn tived a month on the Stoney Indian reservation making pastel portraits of the big chiefs, little papooses, squaws and guides. Leonard M. Davis, who paints wonderful landscapes in Alaska and the Canadian Rockies with a palette knife, has joined the Banff art colony and expects to make his winter home in near-by Calgary.

The lure of Canada's Switzerland drew John Singer Sergeant, R. A., to beautiful Lake O'Hara, in the heart of the Great Divide, and with his easel planted in the white and pink heather of an Alpine meadow 6,600 feet above sea level the world renowned painter devoted ten days to painting this exquisite jade-green lake and the towering mountains in which it is cupped. Charles W. Simpson, R. C. A., of Montreal; Oliver Dennett Grover, of Chicago; Philip R. Goodwin, Edward Potthast and Albert Groll of New York and many other painters of note have found inspiration in this scenic wonderland. As for those humbler artists, the tourists with cameras, they are to be seen snapshotting everywhere in the bungalow camps, by the lakeside and along the trails making beautiful pictures which inspire their envious friends to visit Banff and do likewise.

CORBIN WELCOMES HOME NEWLYWEDS

After an extended honeymoon trip of the Kootenay and U. S. A. points, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Littley returned to Corbin on Monday last to the accompaniment of steam whistles and Corbin's Band. The band met them at the E. B. C. Railway station, playing the conquering hero comes and escorted them to the Bride's mother's home where they will reside for a short time before taking up their residence at 240 Snow Shoe Ave.

On Tuesday the Bride was the guest of honor at an at home for the ladies given by Mrs. MacDonald. Mrs. Mac Donald and Mrs. J. Barnes received. Wine and cake were served, court whist was played and a very pleasant afternoon was spent.

On Friday evening the Rebeccas and Oddfellows gave a dance in honor of the young couple, both being active members of their lodges. Mrs. Littley being the youngest past Noble Grand in the lodge and Mr. Littley being recording secretary in the I.O. O.F. The dance was a success.

The couple were the recipients of many valuable presents.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Howard Uphill and Geo. Davidson returned on Sunday from a successful hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis White returned on Saturday from a week's trip to the coast.

The Pythian Sisters will hold a bazaar on December 15th. Look out for further particulars.

Wm. Burland, of Vancouver, is expected to arrive tomorrow to take over the affairs of the local branch of the Home Bank.

All members of the W. A. of the G. W. V. A. are requested to meet at headquarters at 10.15 sharp on Sunday morning to attend the Memorial Service.

A. Klauer and T. Graves are the latest additions to the radio fans, each of these gentlemen having installed receiving outfits during the past week.

James Davidson, who has been in the Fernie Hospital for several weeks as the result of an accident at Coal Creek mines, is able to be around again.

Wear a Poppy on Armistice Day. These poppies are made in "Vetscraft" shops, thus finding suitable employment and a means of re-establishment to our disabled ex-service men.

The Loyal Order of Moose wish to thank W. R. Wilson for the special train provided on Mooseheart night, Nov. 2; also the gentlemen who gave their services without cost to the Moose that evening.

The Rink Co. directors held a meeting yesterday. As usual there will be considerable controversy between the representatives of the Hockey Club and the Rink Co. before they reach an agreement and settle down to play ball.

A telegraphic despatch from Toronto received this afternoon says: "Judge Smith refuses Home Bank directors application for summary trial by Judge alone. Accused, having surrendered themselves for trial may spend Thanksgiving Day in jail, as more bail cannot be arranged. Trial will be in January."

Will all members of the I. O. D. E. assemble at the G. W. V. A. rooms at 10.30 sharp, on Sunday morning to attend Armistice Day Service in the Orpheum Theatre. After service the unveiling of the Cenotaph at the Cemetery will take place.

The United Church Ladies, Aid will hold their annual bazaar in the Church basement, Saturday December 1st. There will be a good assortment of fancy work, aprons, knitted goods and children's wear. There will also be a fruit table, candy booth and the children's fish pond. Afternoon tea will be served.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO CANADA

The following tribute to the Dominion of Canada and her people is paid by the Governor of Minnesota in a letter to Bert E. Collyer, editor of "The Referee":

State of Minnesota,
Executive Department,
St. Paul.

My Dear Mr. Collyer:

The manner in which Canada has borne its war burdens, kept is credit good, taken care of its service men and their families, and the general manner in which it has tackled and solved its after-war problems, is most remarkable. It is a wonderful tribute to the thrift, energy and enterprise of its citizens and splendid evidence of the unlimited resources of the country. The United States is most fortunate in having a neighbor as progressive and friendly as Canada.

Yours truly,
(Sgd) J. A. O. Prues,
Governor.

IMPRESSING CEREMONIES

Another lasting tribute of the respect of the Fernie citizens for their fellow citizens who so bravely volunteered their services to their country during the Great War, was officially unveiled on Armistice Day when, after a stirring address, Major (Dr.) Douglas Corsan released the veil and displayed the splendidly sculptured Cenotaph which has been erected upon the Soldiers' Plot at the Hillside Cemetery.

The celebration in commemoration of the signing of the Great War Armistice, opened with one of the largest parades ever seen in Fernie. Promptly at ten thirty, a.m., led by the Veterans' Brass Band, the Great War Veterans, their Ladies' Auxilliary, three Chapters of the I. O. D. E., the Boy Scouts and the representatives of all Fraternal organizations in the city, forming a procession nearly three city blocks in length, marched off from the G.W.V.A. Headquarters and proceeded to the Provincial Government Building grounds where floral tributes were deposited at the base of the Fernie Memorial. From the Memorial, the procession proceeded to the Orpheum Theatre where the Memorial Service was to be held. On reaching the theatre, the Union Jack and Italian flags carried by the Italian Fraternal Society were placed as an arch across the entrance and passing through a guard of honor, the procession passed into the theatre. So great was the number of citizens, who had not formed a part of the parade but wished to attend the service, that when the auditorium was completely filled, there was still well over a hundred people who had failed to gain admission and had subsequently to be turned away.

The service opened promptly at 11 a.m. Chairman Billsborough opened the service by calling upon the gathering to arise and observe, in accordance with the Royal Proclamation, the two minute silence period, in reverence to the departed heroes and in commemoration of the signing of the Armstice at 11 a.m., on November 11th, 1918. Immediately after the conclusion of the silence period, the gathering sang Canada's National song, "O Canada," then the Memorial service proceeded with the following program:

Invocation—Rev. H. P. Humphreys.
Address—Rev. Father Kennedy.
Selection—"Lest We Forget." by the Massed Choirs.
Address—Rev. W. F. Burns.
Address—Rev. H. U. Oswald.
Selection—Massed Choirs.
Benediction—Salvation Army Officer.
"God Save The King."

Immediately after the service the parade re-formed outside the theatre and proceeded to Hillside Cemetery for the unveiling of the Cenotaph.

"PENROD AND SAM" HERE NEXT WEEK

All roads will lead to the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday because it will have as its feature attraction another "kid" story by Booth Tarkington. It is "Penrod and Sam," and it was directed for First National by William Beaudine. This pciture has met with sensational success in all theatres where it has played to date, and it is said to have an appeal that is limited to no age or class.

"Penrod and Sam" abounds in irresistible humor, which is interspersed with pathos, which helps to make the film a really human portrayal of the life of a true American boy.

Penrod and his "gang" cavort from one mirthful adventure to another. First off the bat they stage a mimic war; then they initiate the neighborhood "sissy" none too gently into their secret society; they follow this up with a "mammoth circus" and in general get on the nerves of their elders.

Benny Alexander's portrayal of the character of Penrod is without a doubt the best work that this young artist has ever done for the screen. He is a natural actor and can draw tears and evoke laughter with a facility that is uncanny. Joe Butterworth, who is Sam, is equally well cast. Other popular screen kiddies in the picture are Buddy Messinger Newton Hall, Gertrude Messinger, Joe McCray and Gene Jackson.

"Penrod and Sam" takes one skipping back over the years of childhood days, bringing to life fond memories of the period when one was carefree and joyous.

PAYMENT NOT AVAILABLE UNTIL AFTER DECEMBER 14

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—Mr. Justice Fisher, judge of the Home Bank liquidation proceedings, has ruled that the interim liquidators have no power to borrow from the banks the money necessary to pay the depositors an advance of 25 per cent., and the depositors will not get their dividend until after the appointment of a permanent liquidator on December 14.

The interim liquidators sought an order at Osgoode Hall giving them the right to borrow the money. Mr. Justice Fisher refused the order, declaring that the payment of the dividend could only be carried out by the permanent liquidator.

Record coal production in Alberta during 1923 is assured. The total for the year is expected to reach 7,000,000 tons in comparison with less than 6,000,000 last year. The payroll this year, it is anticipated, will be over $18,000,000.

HAVE YOU FILED CLAIM?

Nearly three hundred depositors in the local branch of the Home Bank of Canada have up to the present time failed to deposit with the bank the legal proof of their claims. It is imperative that this be done at once as the liquidators state positively that when the 25% dividen is declared it will only be paid to those whose claims have been established according to law.

The 28th of November is the last day that such proofs will be accepted, but it is desireable that all claims be registered at the earliest moment so that the dividend may be paid as soon as possible. Call at the bank and sign the papers.

COUNCIL HOLDS SPECIAL SESSION

A special meeting of the City Council was held in the Council Chambers Tuesday evnenig, November 13, Mayor Henderson occupied the chair, Alderman Douglas was the only absentee.

J. B. Nolan submitted a claim for $15.85, for repairs to his car which was damaged when he ran into one of the pipe line ditches in the city. The council decided to pay half this claim in full settlement of their liability.

Communications from the Salvation Army and the Children's Aid Society requesting financial assistance were filed. The Council not being in a position at present to grant the requests.

A copy of a resolution passed by the Kamloops City Council and forwarded for endorsation, requesting the Provincial Government to assume full charge of all Isolation Hospitals in the province, was formally endorsed.

The report of the Home Bank Depositors' Committee and their request for one half of one per cent. of Home Bank deposits to form a fund to obtain the depositors' rights was submitted and a motion was passed authorizing the City Treasurer to sign an order on the Liquidators of the Home Bank to pay the Treasurer of the Executive Committee of Home Bank Depositors one half of one percent. of the amount of th City deposits.

The usual sheaf of accounts was passed for payment.

HOCKEY CLUB ACCEPTS RINK COMPANY'S TERMS

At a meeting of the Fernie Hockey Club held in the 150 Gym last Tuesday evening, it was decided that the terms offered by the Rink Company for the use of the ice for hockey games and practices would be accepted. This practically assures Fernie of another season of high grade hockey and it is expected that by the time the ice is ready, the City League will be in shape to make an immediate start on their schedule.

It was also decided to affiliate the Fernie Hockey Club with the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association and thus give the Fernie team a chance in the British Columbia hockey competitions during the coming season.

All hockey players wishing to participate in the City League this season must hand their names in to the Secretary, Hugh McLachlan, at Ingram's Cigar Store, not later than Friday November 23rd, so that teams can be chosen for the coming season.

EXCERPTS ON BANKING

The Editor, Free Press, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—The publicity committee of the Coal Creek depositors of the Home Bank have, since becoming involved in the failure, had occasion to gather such information concerning banking as has been, or has become available, and, for the purpose of informing the public in general, and savings depositors in particular as to their position in relation to banking institutions, we would ask you to please assist us by publishing the attached excerpts in your current issue.

In all cases the source of the matter is given, the emphasis in most cases is ours.

Trusting you will oblige us in this matter, and thanking you in anticipation, Yours truly,

R. Johnstone,
Secretary for Coal Creek Home Bank Depositors.

From "Insurance and Financial Times. September, 1923":

"The failure of the Home Bank of Canada casts another reflection on our banking institutions in Canada. The last statement of the Home Bank, which was presented to the shareholders in June as of May 31st, 1923, shows that the total assets of the bank at that time amounted to $27,918,095, and from the statement one could not in reason imagine that an institution of this sort would suspend payment within so short a period of time. On the same date the liabilities to the public amounted to $25,298, 508.

The financial position, as pointed out by the president and general manager in the presentation of the report, showed the bank to be in a strong position, and the auditor's report, which was appended to the statement, was of a like character. This only goes to show what credence can be placed in the reports of some presidents and managers and some auditors, who attempt to give information to the public as to the standings of the institutions with which they are connected.

We do not for a moment say that this applies to all financial institutions in Canada, more especially to our banking institutions, but we do say that within the past year or two the statements, is put out by some of our ahcrtered banks, have been anything but true, and as a consequence the public in general have been misled and misinformed by the statements of the presidents, general managers and auditors of these concerns. Not only have the public been misled, but the financial press of Canada have also been misled, as we can only take the figures and statements as presented at various annual meetings to be true and correct statements of affairs of these institutions at the time they are submitted to the shareholders and the public."

From the same Journal:

"The value of auditors' certificates in connection with financial institutions has never been better illustrated than in the cases of the Merchants Bank of Canada, the Union Bank and the Home Bank of Canada. We said the value of the auditors' certificates, but possibly it is better expressed by the lack of value, when one takes into consideration the lack of knowledge which was obtained in the certificates given these institutions.

Within a few weeks after the certificates was made out as to the conditions of the Home Bank of Canada it was forced to close its doors. In the case of the Merchants Bank, for years the auditors of that institution gave certificates as to its solvency, etc., and the same applied to the Union Bank.

In the case of the Merchants Bank it was shown when enquiries were made into its affairs that for years prior to its being taken over by the Bank of Montreal many of its assets were of no value and that the transactions of the bank were anything but what should have been sanctioned by men at the head of the affairs of such an institution. It was also shown that for years the reserve fund had been practically wiped out, but nothwithstanding this fact, year after year the auditor's report went on to say that the transactions coming under his notice had been within the powers of the bank. Such may or may not have been the case, but from the position which the auditor occupied, namely, acting jointly for the officers of the bank and the public in general, he should have disclosed some of the transactions which were later ventilated, not only in the courts but in the press of the Dominion.

In the case of the Union Bank, while a more modified condition of affairs existed, we feel satisfied that the auditor of that institution should not have given the certificate which he did.

As to the Home Bank, if the auditor of that institution did not know what transactions had been taking place he was not fulfilling his duties, and if he did know what was going on, then it was his duty to report such transactions to the shareholders at the annual meeting, which took place only a few weeks before the closing of its doors.

When a more strict supervision was advocated a few years ago it was strenuously opposed by the Bankers' Association. In their wisdom they may have thought that it was an infringement upon their rights to run their business as they saw fit, but the public do not look upon it altogether in this light. At that time it was generally believed that more publicity should be given or greater supervision exercised by the Dominion Government. However, so strong was the opposition of the Bankers' Association that the propsed amendment to the Act was voted down and a compromise was made by a list of auditors being selected by the Federal Government, from which the bank, or possibly we should say the shareholders, could choose such aduitors as were approved of by the Government. Recent disclosures have shown how this has worked out."

The British Columbia Financial Times in its issue of October 20th, discussing the Home Bank case and Banking Conditions, says:

"In affixing the responsibility for this state of affairs, we do not think it can be placed anywhere except upon the shoulders of the directorate and management. The condition of affairs disclosed by the curator has

CURLING CLUB ELECT SKIPS

The Executive Committee of the Fernie Curling Club held a meeting in the offices of the Fernie Insurance Agencies Monday evening to elect a new Secretary in the place of W. H. Gates, resigned, and to appoint skips for the coming season.

Mr. Thos. Beck was duly elected to fill the vacant office on the Executive and immediately took up his duties as Knight of the Pen."

Messrs. Harvey Brown, Rev. W. F. Burns, T. Beck, H. E. Douglas, W. H. Gates, J. L. Gates, L. K. S. Herchmer, J. S. Irvine, Guy Johnson, M. A. Kastner, F. C. Lawe, A. C. Liphardt, Jas. Mitchell, Tom Prentice, J. R. Wallace, Alex Watson and P. Lancaster.

Under the proposed new method of running the local curling games this winter, which will take the form of a four team league, each team to comprise of four rinks, Messrs. Douglas, Brown, Herchmer and Prentice were elected team captains. The formation of the rinks and teams was left over for a meeting of the newly appointed skips to be held in the Council Chambers next Monday evening.

DUTHIE-BALOK

A pretty but quiet wedding took place on Sunday last at the Catholic Rectory when Rev. Father Kennedy united in marriage Annie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Balok of this city, to William Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duthie, also of this city. Miss Mary Balok, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid while Mr. Andrew Kasmar supported the groom.

After the sumptuous wedding supper the happy couple left on the evening train for their honeymoon.

HANNAY-HARRAD

On Saturday, November 10th, the marriage was quietly solemnized in Christ Church, Fernie, B.C., the Rev. H. U. Oswald officiating, of Gladys Dorothy, second daughter of the late Mr. A. Harrad, to Mr. James S. Hannay, of Vancouver, B.C., the bride being given away by her brother.

The happy couple were the recipients of many valuable presents including much silver. A dainty supper was served at the home of the bride's parent, and an enjoyable evening was spent amongst their many friends, who passed hearty congratulations to the happy couple.

OIL WILL NOT REPLACE COAL

To those who are worrying about oil taking the place of coal, the following article from the Tulsa Oil and Gas Journal, would seem to indicate that the day of oil as a fuel wil be short lived:

"Those who are alarmed because we have increased the daily average production of a year ago 40 per cent. are unduly pessimistic. If they wil sit down and study the analysis offered to the New York State Oil Producers' Association by H. G. James they will have a better grasp of the fundamental facts.

"A year ago we had a settled production of about 1,000,000 barrels. It took 63 years and the drilling of 600,000 wells to reach that figure. The average production of 284,880 producing wells last January 1 was 5.7 barrels per well.

"In the first six months of this year we drilled 10,010 wells, increasing the daily average production 1,115,000 barrels or an average of 111.3 barrels for each of those 10,010 new wells.

"Is it reasonable to suppose that we are going to be able to maintain that rate of production per well in contrast to the 5.7 barrels average of the great mass of 284,000 wells thruout the country, upon which we are dependent for half our total present production?

"Even counting the great gushers the daily average production per well is today something less than 8 barrels a day.

When the gushers which have flooded California and Powell Field decline to settled production that average per well will revert nearer to the average of 1922 and the daily average production will shrink probably, as Mr. James ventures to predict, 500,000 barrels a day, cutting in two, within six months, the excess production of this year over that of a year ago.

"The peak of production was reached in the daily average of 2,320,000 barrels in the week ended July 14 last. For the week ended October 13, the daily average was 2, 157,000 barrels, a decline in 13 weeks of 163,000 barrels.

"Considering Powell's exceptional development, which increased in that periodperiod 136,000 barrels, it is seen that had it not been for Powell there would have been a decline in the daily average production in those 13 weeks of 299,000 barrels.

"As a sample, consider the fact that 3 wells in the Powell Field brought in by the Humble Company with an initial production of 206,967 barrels were good for but 51,768 three weeks ago and that completions by the Humphreys Comany, with an initial production of 158,650 barrels, had shrunk to 31,417 barrels.

"It is upon such slender foundations that our huge overproduction rests. Let Powell decline, as all agree it must, very rapidly when it begins, to settled production and it is very clear that the prediction of a drop of one-half the excess production over that of a year ago within six months is not very wide of the mark.

"Despite some difference of opinion regarding California the preponderance of belief is that it has done its best and that there also the decline will be rapid, with no immediate prospect of new gusher fields to keep up the production. Compton and Torrance, even if they justified the hopes of the most sanguine, cannot become a factor before the present overproduction has declined to manageable size.

"Meanwhile, consumption is attaining new figures, with the ever-widening use of oil. The campaign for extending the use of fuel oil for heating purposes, for instance, is growing without any special effort on the part of the oil industry to encourage it. On the contrary, some have even tried to discourage it as undesirable and disturbing to other markets. But the public has caught the idea of oil for heat, driven to it by the exactions of the coal industry and the uncertainty of that supply, and if the oil industry does not act voluntarily it will be forced to respond to popular demand for its product.

"Once the market for fuel or furnace oil is established there will be no more talk of overproduction. The problem then will be to find enough oil to meet the demand. The possibilities of using heavier products in the internal combustion engine are regarded by engineers as just around the corner, which would mean another great market for the oil industry.

Farsighted students of the development of oil uses are much less concesned about the temporary overproduction of today tha nabout the shortage of tomorrow."—Tulsa Oil & Gas Journal.

Canadian National Building at the British Empire Exhibition

An imposing building is to be erected by the Canadian National Railways at the British Empire Exhibition. Contracts have been placed and the construction will be commenced immediately. The building is of a classic style of architecture of the Canadian Government building at the Exhibition. The Canadian National building is on a site immediately next to the Canadian Government building and in one of the most prominent sections of the exhibition grounds. The building is 90 ft. x 110 ft., and in addition to a very comprehensive display of exhibits, including agriculture, horticulture, mining, industrial and tourist features, there will be a cinematograph hall accommodating 250 people, in which daily shows will be given, where films that are being specially made this year will be projected, depicting the attractions of Canada. This building will be one of the handsomest structures in the group of the buildings at the British Empire Exhibition. The architect is Mr. Eustache G. Bird, A.R.I.B.A., of Toronto, Canada.

Even the Joy of Christmas Carols

¶ There is not a city in all this land, not a village, no matter how remote that may not know even the joy of Christmas Carols as sung in the greatest Cathedrals—that may not have within their individual homes, the fulness of the festival spirit that is abroad at this time of the year—that may not know the living genius of such an incomparable artist as Caruso—that may not dance to the rythm of such famous orchestras as Paul Whiteman's—that may not be able to command at will the genius of the world's greatest artist —for "His Master's Voice" Victrola—the "Theatre of the Home" and "His Master's Voice"-Victor Records, the "performers of the home" are the artist and his genius.

¶ "His Master's Voice" Victrola is a versatile companion, an instrument of precious workmanship and marvellous tone that yields a melody of enchantment to all who have ears to hear. It is as distinctive from other instruments as the golden notes of Galli-Curci differ from the attempts of an unknown soprano.

¶ Even as the genius of Caruso is immortal, so are such gifts as "His Master's Voice" Victrola—immortal. They embody an expression of the highest, truest form of friendship, of regard, of love. And not one single home but will be the happier because of it. Then what better time for the giving of your Victrola than this very Yuletide.

¶ And price is no obstacle—for genuine Victrolas are made in many styles at many prices, from $37.50 to $615.00. To prevent substitution look "under the lid" for our famous trade-mark "His Master's Voice"—so that your gift may be all that you want it to be—a genuine Victrola.

An Ideal
CHRISTMAS GIFT

"His Master's Voice" – Victor records also make an incomparable gift. You can send into the homes of your friends the living individualities of immortal singers such as Caruso, great violinists such as Elman, famous dance orchestras such as Paul Whiteman's — these and the other world's greatest artists—are yours to choose from. "His Master's Voice" dealers have selections of records all in attractive Christmas boxes. Plan to buy yours today.

Red Seal Records are now double-sided. Two selections for practically the price of one. New catalogue listing all double-sided Red Seal Records now ready. Ask for free copy.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE, LIMITED

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

When it comes to dentistry you demand proper attention, quality materials and unexcelled workmanship. The individual dentist must add to these costs, rent, heat, light, salary of office girl, outside laboratory profits, lost accounts and his own excessive profits.

Dr. Wilson reduces these costs by group dentistry and business-like methods. Your money goes for efficient dentistry, that is absolutely guaranteed. You receive the benefit.---

I've Never Found Its Equal

A CANADIAN cook who only recently used Carnation, writes: "I've never found its equal." She recognizes Carnation's economical and convenient Pure Milk Service.

Remember, Carnation is twice as rich as whole milk because it contains twice the proportion of cream. It is just 100 per cent cows' milk reduced to the consistency of cream. Nothing is added, not even sugar.

The high quality of Carnation is due to the excellence of the fresh milk used and to the extreme care exercised in every department of the modern Carnation condenseries.

Use Carnation for every milk and cream purpose —as whole milk, as cream with coffee, cocoa, fruits and cereals. Ask your grocer to deliver a supply today and convince yourself.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

No one with any understanding of the work of the Red Cross or appreciation of the service it is able to perform will fail to answer the roll call. In a thousand ways the Red Cross is busy 365 days a year administering to a suffering and needing humanity. At home and abroad, wherever there is a call for human aid to succor the distressed, the Red Cross is present with its assistance. It is not possible for individual citizens in person to render the help the Red Cross gives nor is it practicable for the individual citizen to send his aid directly. The ubiquitous nation of the Red Cross, the fact that it is everywhere present, makes it possible for it to act in behalf of the citizens of the country collectively and to do for each and all of us a work which we would be glad to do ourselves were it possible. The Red Cross is simply the universal hand of charity. As such it deserves and should have the active support and co-operation of all good citizens who have in them hearts that respond in sympathy to the call of the unfortunate and distressed in every land.

We should contribute to its maintenance from the same patriotic motive that we pay our taxes, or make our contribution to our churches.

FERNIE MERCHANTS ACT IN THE OPEN

The Free Press has been advising its readers for some months back to Buy-At-Home, and this applies to every nearby town which the Free Press represents. We are specially pleased at some of the letters we have received on this subject, and as we firmly believe that there is still a great deal to be done, we are so enthusiastic about this subject of buying-at-home, that we do not intend to stop advising our readers to do so, until the amount of money sent every week to the mail order houses has been reduced considerably from what it still is.

One of the stock excuses of the man who orders goods from a mail order house is that there are many things that he wants that the local merchants do not carry in stock, and that it is necessary for him to send away from town to get them.

This explanation may be all right on the theory that a poor excuse is better than none, but it fails to pass muster when it is subjected to a little scrutiny.

Ask the man who offers this as an excuse for his dealings with the mail order man why he does not go to the local merchant and ask him to order the articles desired if they are not to be found in the merchant's stock? The merchant will very gladly do this, and the merchant and customer will both profit. The merchant can sell you whatever you desire at as low a price as the mail order house can make you on goods the same quality and he can make a small profit.

The customer will profit from the transaction, because he will be dealing with a merchant who stands back of the goods that he sells, and who is easily accessable in case the articles purchased do not prove to be all that the customer expected.

Why not try this plan the next time you need something which you cannot find in any of your home stores? The merchant in the average sized town cannot carry in stock everything that all of the people in his town may want at all times. It would require a capital many times larger than the average merchant can command to do this, but he does the best he can. He ordinarily does carry in stock at all times many things in order that he may meet the needs of his customers to the greatest possible degree but there is a limit to his purchasing ability. He is always ready and willing, however, to make every effort to meet the demands of the community. Why not, then give him the preference over the far distant mail order man if you must have something which is not to be found in the local stores? He will do the business in a satisfactory manner, give you as quick, if not quicker service, and more satisfactory treatment, and the chances are that he will give you better values for the money. Finally, whatever profit is to be made off the transaction will stay at home and do its bit toward making the merchant and his town and, incidentally, yourself more prosperous.

No business can be transacted as satisfactorily at long range as it can when the two parties to the transaction meet face to face. The only exception to this rule is in the case of the mail order man himself, who can transact his business with greater success to himself at long distance than he could if he had to meet his customers face to face. That is the reason that he does business by mail instead of selling to the people in his own city. If the goods which the mail order man advertises in his alluring catalogues were the bargains that he represents them to be, he would not have to go outside the confines of his own city, to sell all the goods he could possibly obtain. But the average mail order house not only does not make any effort to sell goods in its own city, but will not sell to anyone residing within the city limits. The mail order man does not want to meet his customers face to face. He can do business better so far as he is concerned if his customer is some hundreds of miles away from his office.

The man who sells goods over the counter, on the other hand, does business in the open. He cannot hide behind a corporate name and talk to a displeased customer from behind the locked doors of a private office. He knows that he must face the music in case he is a party to any transaction that won't stand the light of day. He knows that he must satisfy every customer with whom he may be dealing, or he will lose not only that customer, but probably others who will soon know all the facts if he does not do the square thing by any one of his patrons.

ELLIOTT FAMILY ORCHESTRA ARE HIGHLY ENTERTAINING

The Elliott Family Orchestra, which appeared in the Grand Theatre here under the auspices of the Fernie Boy Scouts last Monday evening, gave one of the finest musical programs ever heard in the city.

Opening their program with the March, "Land of The Maple," they continued their selections giving the audience extracts from grand opera, popular songs and dance music. Their rendition in all classes of music was of a real high class nature, and held their audience enthralled throughout the entire program.

This orchestra has the unique distinction of being composed entirely of the same family, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, their five sons and one daughter. They are touring through the country by automobile, and are now enroute to the Western States where they will commence their first American tour.

FIVE YEARS' AGONY ENDED

When He Took "Fruit-a-tives" For Rheumatism

The Medicine Made From Fruit

There can be no doubt that "Fruit-a-tives" is the long sought remedy for Rheumatism and Lumbago. From all over Canada come letters testifying to this fact.

Mr. John E. Guilderson of Parrsboro, N.S. writes: "I suffered badly with Rheumatism for five years—tried different medicines—was treated by doctors in Amherst—and here at home—but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw an advertisement for "Fruit-a-tives" and took a box and got relief, so I took them for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

WINTER IN CANADA MOVEMENT IS GAINING

The "Winter in Canada" movement is beginning to have a decided effect upon those Canadians who have been in the habit of spending their winter holidays in warmer climes than are found in the prairie provinces, according to officials of the Canadian National Railways city ticket offices at Winnipeg and elsewhere in the western region. Preliminary enquiries received up to the present indicate that a larger number of Canadians than ever before are looking forward to spending their winter holidays in their own country, while others who are going to California and Southern United States' points are going in large number via the Pacific coast provinces and are stopping off an route at Vancouver and Victoria.

With the prospect of improved business conditions in all of the western cities, enquiries this fall are stated to be more numerous than usual, and the opening of ticket sales will see a great demand for tickets at the reduced holiday rates.

Vancouver, Victoria and other parts of British Columbia are appealing strongly to residents of the prairie provinces who are looking for climes in which to spend the winter months, it is stated and many wha have previously spent their winter holidays in the southern part of the United States are this year deciding to remain in Canada and spend their holiday money in the Dominion. The warmer climate to be enjoyed at the coast cities is proving a strong drawing card in this regard.

Many former residents of Ontario and Quebec are planning to return to their old homes to visit friends, while others whose birthplaces are in Great Britain or other European countries are making enquiries as to winter sailing of steamships, and the train connections they must make for these sailings.

Taken from all angles, the prospects are that this winter's holiday travel will exceed that of former years in all directions, according to Canadian National agents, and further, they say, the tendency to holiday in Canada is becoming more and more pronounced as the advantages of different sections of the Dominion are becoming known.

Mrs. R. G. McEwan returned on Tuesday from a trip to Nelson.

Jimmy Carnwath, of the T.-W. Co. staff, got a fine deer near Tunnel Creek on Wednesday afternoon.

Sam Singh, a hindoo, was on Tuesday fined $50 and costs for being drunk.

Alex Mich, of Coal Creek, desires to challenge Danny McDonald to a ten-round boxing contest to be held in the city of Fernie.

Mrs. Jessie Mansfield, of Natal, who recently underwent a very serious operation in the Fernie Hospital, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home.

Don't forget the Social and Dance in the Catholic Hall on Friday evening, November 16. Cards from 9 to 10.30. Dancing from 11 to 1. Admission 50 cents.

The excavation work on the big tunnell of the East Kootenay Power Co., at Elko, has been completed and the work of lining it will be commenced at once.

E. G. Montgomery, manager of the Sullivan Mine at Kimberley; S. G. Blaylock, manager of the Trail Smelter and Lorne Campbell, manager of the West Kootenay Power Co., are in the city today on business.

Dr. Bonnell and Dr. Corsan will leave in the morning for St. Paul, where they will attend a Medical Convention which will be held on Monday and Tuesday. Dr. Bonnell expects to be away about two weeks.

The Fernie Motor Car Co. has this week received a beautiful new Dodge Sedan. This is the first of a car load shipment which will arrive in the spring. The manager of the company invites an inspection of the new model.

As previously announced in the Free Press of Oct. 12, the Catholic Women's League will hold a Sale of Work and Tea, afternoon and evening of December 15. There will be a table of home cooking, also fancy work and useful articles.

The Annual Bazaar of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will be held in Victoria Hall on Saturday, Nov. 24, from 3 to 8 in the evening. There will be fancy work tables, home cooking, candy, a fish pond for the children and afternoon tea will be served.

The United Church Ladies' Aid will hold their Bazaar in the basement of the church, Saturday, December 1st. The Coal Creek Ladies will have a booth. There will be other booths of fancy work, aprons and children's wear, food, candy, etc. And Jack Horner will have a big pie in one corner. Come kiddies, and pull out a plum.

Hugh F. Marriott, representing the British Mining and Metallurgy Institute and Mining Engineers, was in the city over Sunday, when he addressed a meeting of the local members of the Canadian Mining Institute. Mr. Marriott is on a mission throughout the British Empire with a view to the amalgamation of all different mining institutes and societies of mining engineers.

An emphatic denial has been given by Attorney-General Manson to the report circulated that because of the recent drug case investigations in Victoria, a plot was on foot to oust the Royal Canadian Mounted Police from this province. He said the cases had been carried through the courts in order that any alleged drug operations might be thoroughly investigated. He said he had a very high opinion of the mounted police.

Attorney-General Manson has introduced a bill in the Legislature to re-organize the provincial police. All summer, plans have been under way and it is aimed to divide the province into four police districts: Prince Rupert, Nelson, Kamloops and Vancouver-Victoria. Inspectors will be in charge in the first three districts, while sub-inspectors will have control on the Coast. The police constables will wear khaki uniforms, similar. except in color, to those of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Constables will sign on for three years but may buy their release at any time for $100. They will have their own finger-print and secret service departments. It is planned to have half the service men in uniform by next March and the balance by the end of 1924.

Will the boys who took the gate from 42 Victoria Ave. on Hallowe'en night please return same to 41 Victoria Ave. and receive reward. No action will be taken.

Mayor Henderson and J. Smith will leave in a few days for Toronto where they will represent the local depositors of the Home Bank at the big meeting to be held in that city.

A car containing several thousand dollars worth of booze was crowded over the bank a short distance from Fernie on Wednesday of this week. There was a mighty spill, but about half the load was finally retrieved.

The city jail at one time this week contained three Bells, two Jacks and one Alex. The Jacks were fined $50 each and Alex was told to move on. Liquor was the cause of their downfall.

Esther Rebekah Lodge will hold their annual ball on Thursday, Nov. 29, in the I.O.O.F. Hall. Dancing 9.30 to 2.30. Whitehouse Orchestra. Refreshments. Admission $1.50 a couple, extra lady 50 cents. n16|2

The G.W.V.A. Executive desire to thank the Clergy, for their support and in forfeiting their services; the Fraternal Societies, Boys Scouts and I. O. D. E. for their attendance and Mr. W. R. Wilson for train facilities, on occasion of Armistice Day Memorial Services.

Mrs. S. Graham, who has been in ill health for some time has been ordered by the doctors to a lower altitude, which will necessitate the family leaving Fernie. Ald Sam Graham, who is negotiating for the sale of his business has been a prominent citizen and buisness man of Fernie since 1898 and in him Fernie will lose one of its real old timers.

The City Police have evidently decided that it is open season for those who are breaking the Liquor Act. Constable Jack Cameron slipped around on Wednesday night and gathered in seven victims and on Thursday the police picked up four more. They were each fined $50 and costs with the exception of an old offender who was touched for $200.

Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, speaking in the Legislature, showed that during the past few years fatalities in coal mines have been reduced 42 per cent., and that conditions have been materially improved. During the present session further amendments to the coal mines Regulations Act will be passed.

His many friends in Fernie and district will be pleased to learn that Harold Minton has passed his final examination qualifying him as a druggist in British Columbia. Harold went overseas with the first contingent, being the second name on the list of men who volunteered in Fernie for active service. He returned to Fernie in 1920 and in 1921 became part owner of the old Bleasdell business. Harold is to be congratulated for the manner in which he has applied himself to his studies and at the same time kept going a business which is a credit to him and to Fernie.

undoubtedly been of long standing and slow growth. Latterly, however, it has approached a crisis very rapidly. Yet the officers and management with or without the connivance or knowledge of the directorate, have been able to mislead the Dominion Government, the shareholders' auditor and the public completely as to the true state of affairs. From month to month, false statements of accounts properly attested by the officials provided in the Bank Act, have been forwarded to the Deputy Minister of Finance, and annual meeting after annual meeting have been held, presenting a condition of affairs which some of the responsible officials knew to be wrong.

We think that it is incumbent upon the law offices of the Crown, either of the Dominion or the Province of Ontario or any of the other Provinces, to fix and determine the responsibility involved, and to assess the punishment provided therefor. We do not see, furthermore, how the depositors and ordinary creditors can escape the loss involved in this unfortunate failure. The chartered banks of Canada are private institutions, owned by private individuals or shareholders, directed by a body of their members, elected to a directorate. The details of the operation are carried on by management and staff, the chief officials of which are appointed by the directorate. They are not government institutions, but they are regulated by Dominion statute. A depositor sells his money to a bank for the right to withdraw an equivalent amount at his option, and his ability to exercise his right depends upon the solvency of the bank with whom he deposits, and that solvency depends upon public confidence.

The question of governmental inspection again arises. There can be little doubt that, if there were governmental inspections ,such as provided under the National Bank Act of the United States, the condition of the Home Bank, which was practically insolvent for years, would have been discovered without the serious consequences to the depositors that has occurred. It has been suggested that the Canadian Bankers' Association impose its own system of inspection, but this would prove a very objectional function for that association to undertake. It would appear then that there is no one to undertake this regulation except that of a department of the Dominion Government, which could be so instituted as to command public confidence and yet at the same time work in harmony with the banks. Its scope could be limited to a general inspection service rather than a complete independent audit by an agency of the government. A competent government bank inspector could arrive at the true position of a bank in a comparatively short time, and with a minimum of inconvenience and inquisitorial activity."

(Special to the Monetary Times)

"New York, Oct. 10.—That some form of government supervision of banks is inevitable in Canada, is the opinion expressed editorially in the current issue of 'The United States Investor, of Boston, a weekly financial newspaper that devotes a great deal of attention to Canada and Canadian affairs.

The paper claims that public demand for closer supervision of the chartered banks' affairs is becoming insistent, since the failure of the Home Bank of Canada, that it is difficult to see how it can any longer be avoided."

From the same Journal:

"Ottawa, Oct. 10.—For the present Toronto has superseded Ottawa as the centre of developments in the Home Bank case, this being due to the fact that the Ontario Government has initiated none prosecutions. That the Dominion and Provincial Governments are co-operating in thes prosecutions is an assurance that nothing will be left undone in the effort to fix responsibility. The consensus of opinion here is that a few stiff sentences would do more to reform the banking system than anything that parliament might do. At the same time there is almost sure to be a demand in parliament for changes that will ensure stricter government supervision over banks."

"Government Inspection of Banks

In opposing government inspection, the chartered banks of Canada have not been actuated by any desire to hide their transactions. 'I am apposed to government inspection,' says Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, 'not because I am afraid of it, but because I am firmly convinced that it would not function. It is ridiculous to suppose that any political appointed official could pass upon the affairs of any large bank with any degree of effectiveness. I have always believed that the best way to ensure efficiency in banking is to leave the banks untrammeled.'  Heaven help the banks if they are forced into the same mould of overstaffed inefficiency that characterzies most government activities. 'The Canadian banking system is the best in the world,' says Sir Edmund, and that he is correct in this statement has been proven by the reports of expert investigators from many countries. 'But,' he adds, 'it is not infallible; nothing in this world is. No banking system has ever been devised that is impregnable. There is always a possibility of a weak spot in any scheme of organization.'

Sir Edmund's statement is supported by the way in which the Canadian banks maintained their position through the long period of war and post-war strain. While the banking systems of other nations were cracking under the strain, Canada's banks held firm. One small bank failed, and the securities of two other institutions depreciated in value and consequently caused them to take the most natural step of reducing the amount of their book assets, but neither of these events indicates any need for concern in regard to the banking system of Canada."

From "Banks and Banking" distributed with the compliments of the Canadian Bankers' Association, 1923:

"(Page No. 1) 'Forward.' The articles in this pamphlet have been written by a gentleman well informed on financial matters who has long been a careful student of banking in Canada and the conditions under which it is carried on. They are frank discussions of a number of phases of the banking problem attracting attention at the moment, and while it is not claimed that they exhaustively treat any of the question discussed, it is believed a perusal will be of interest and value.

(Page No. 3) The Charters of Canadian banks expire on July 1st, 1923. Under the law these charters are granted for ten years and renewed at the end of each decinnial period, this plan permitting of revision of the Banking Act at fixed dates in such respect as experience of its working makes desirable. In ordinary course the Act will be reviewed and the charters extended at the next session of the Dominion Parliament, and it is in anticipation of this legislation that the following articles have been prepared... The study of banking may be a fascinating pursuit, but it is at least an interesting one, and it is the intention to deal broadly with the functions of money, the basis of credit, and the scope and operations of Canadian Banks. The Act has been revised five times since Confederation, and in every instance the amendments have sought security for depositors and noteholders. Granting credits is the province of bank managers. At times losses arise from loans, and the solvency of a bank may be jeopardized by imprudent advances, but legislation cannot furnish a complete safeguard against such occurence. The public concern in strong and stable banks arises out of debanks arises out of deposits made and notes accepted, and it is obviously the duty of Parliament to hedge banks with restrictions designed to protect noteholders — who are involutarily creditors—and in a lesser degree depositors who entrust their savings to these institutions. The existing Bank Act conforms to this requirement. The circulating currency of the country, are a first charge on all the assets, and each bank is responsible for the redemption of the notes of every other bank; while depositors are protected by the liability of shareholders for double the amount (?) of the par value of their shares in the event of insolvency of the bank.

Banks are limited by law to certain classes of loans, the purpose of the restrictions being to prevent employment of resources in what are termed 'frozen credits.' The making of loans, however, must necessarily be a matter of judgment of bankers, since Parliament can neither pass the disposal of loanable funds. In a general sense Parliament fulfils it duty when it has provided a safe and adequate currency, a reliable and convenient depository for private and public money, and a vehicle for dispensing (Page No. 5) credit to merchants, manufacturers and producers. The Bank Act does all these things. It has stood the test of experience. It supplies a flexible currency, which automatically meets the needs of commerce, both in normal times and in the period of crop movement.  No loss can now be sustained by the holder of a Canadian Bank note, and only in remote contingency by a depositor, under the existing law.

Why, then, should any of the main features of the Bank Act be changed? It is not anticipated that Parliament will make any radical change in its provisions, and it is certain that the consequence of material modifications will be dangerous to the stability of trade and industry.

(Page No. 7) Some amendments to the Bank Act may be found desirable. There have been improvements, as already intimated, in previous revisions, and it may be expected that the forthcoming, as well as succeding revisions, will make the Act a more perfect instrument. But the Act in its present form, is admirably adapted to the needs of commerce; it has coped successfully with emergencies and surmounted critical periods; and those who would impair the foundation on which it rests have not considered the effect which would be produced on the credit structure of the country.

(Page No. 9) The Merchants Bank episode has prompted a demand for Government inspection of banks, but it may well be doubted whether due consideration of the subject has been given by those who divine a special virtue in that system.

(Page No. 12) Of all the proposed amendments to the Bank Act a system of Government inspection will least stand the test of experience elsewhere and of common sense, and the plan is objectionable not from the standpoint of bankers and shareholders, but of depositors, who would inevitably be lulled into a false sense of security with a resultant demand upon the Government when disaster occurs.

(Page No. 34) The creditors of the banks consist of noteholders and depositors, one of whom may be classed as involuntary, the other as voluntary. When a bank bill is paid out in settlement of wages or accounts, the receiver does not concern himself about the bank of issue; all bills look alike to him in regard to their value;

Lloyd George Crosses Ontario

(4)—Mr. Lloyd George speaks to the citizens of Chapleau.

(5)—With his daughter Miss Megan, J. J. Scully, General Manager of Canadian Pacific Eastern Lines, and other members of his party, Lloyd George admires the passing scenery.

Picture a little clearing at the side of the railway track in the heart of North Ontario. All about are the hilly forests of Jack-pine, hemlock and flaming yellow poplar. A brilliant autumn sun falls on lake and forest and rocky cliff and in the centre is a little patch of cleared ground surrounding a tiny log cabin. At is door a woman and three or four sturdy children are grouped. They are listening. From behind the hills again comes the exultant whistle of a locomotive, and in a few moments the train sweeps into view. It flashes past drawn by an engine of the latest type such as engineers talk of with joy, and including six plum-colored coaches, steel built from end to end. Their varnished sides reflect the warm autumn sun. Bright brass trimmings and polished windows glisten as the train sweeps along its narrow path towards the West, a thing of pride and power.

The children standing beside the log cabin are silent; each holds a tiny flag that carries to the train a message of greeting, for David Lloyd George is passing by. The little Welshman of humble origin, the war-time Prime Minister of Imperial Britain is on his way from Toronto to Winnipeg and all along the railroad the people come down to see him pass.

It was a wonderful trip. Heralded by newspaper front pages and by years of power, the man who led half a world in war, moved across Ontario through scene after scene such as this which has been sketched above.

"What a country, what a wonderful country!!". It was Lloyd George who spoke. Seated in the drawing room of the private car at the end of the train he gazed over the countless lakes and endless forests that flew past. About him were one or two officials of the railway that carried him on his way, and a large number of newspaper representatives for whom accommodation was provided on the train. It was the time of the morning interview, when the press men gathered to ask him questions bearing on the news of the day which had come to the train by radio from all parts of the world, but mostly from Europe, and to every question came the Lloyd George answer, quick and to the point—no evasion, even when the question was a little personal, as now and then it might be. But the questions were mostly revelant to the great issues of the day. The twenty odd newspaper people from Great Britain, United States and Canada were the pick of "the game." They and the moving picture men, the newspaper reporters of the camera, were a "star" crowd, and millions of people had from them a daily report of what Lloyd George said, did and looked like during his flying trip over the Canadian Pacific line.

It took a lot of accommodation to care for these people. The whole train was the last word in construction, and no finer train ever moved over steel rails. It was a credit to Canadian workmanship as is exemplified at the Canadian Pacific Angus Shops at Montreal where it was built, and hundreds of thousands of Canadians admired it when it stood at the Toronto Exhibition this year for that purpose.

The baggage car, like all the rest, was of steel. The dining car was in command of "Jimmie" Watson, the man who looked after the Prince of Wales' menu when he made his first trip across Canada. There was an all steel standard sleeper and two of the ten-compartment cars that are becoming more and more popular as they are better known. Behind them rode Lloyd George's private car. Both American and British correspondents had seen nothing better than this train. In some respects they had not seen their equal and they were loud in their praises. When they were told it was regular equipment such as runs on the "Trans-Canada" they were all amazement. Dame Lloyd George and Miss Megan were no less appreciative than was their famous husband and father. They went through the train and examined it all, and the kitchen of the dining car was of the most especial interest to the ladies. After having seen the comfort of the compartment cars, Miss Megan appropriated one of the compartments for her own use. At the conclusion of the trip Mr. Lloyd George expressed his admiration and gratitude to the Canadian Pacific Railway for the way he and his family had been taken care of while passing over the line.

As far west as Fort William, J. C. Scully, General Manager Canadian Pacific lines accompanied the train, while D. C. Coleman, Vice-President, Western Lines took charge from there on. The press arrangements were taken care of by J. Harry Smith, the Company's Press Representative.

and with confidence these bits of paper pass from hand to hand, performing their function of exchanging sommodities or services. It was not always so. For several years after Confederation, Canadian bank notes were worth less in some parts of the country than in others, and the notes of some banks were preferred to those of others. Moreover, when through misadventure or misfortune a bank became insolvent, its notes at once fell to a discount, to condition came to be recognized as a the loss of the innocent holder. This blemish in our banking system, and the Government cast about for means of remedy. The remedy was applied so long ago that few people can recall the injury worked by a currency of variable value such as we have had in Canada. In the first place, the banks were required to establish redemption offices in all (Page No. 35) the proovinces, where the noteholder could convert his currency into coin, with the result that from the time this facility of conversion was afforded, no one desired to make the exchange, and thereafter bank notes passed current at face value throughout the Dominion.

There was, however, still to be overcome the discount on the notes of an insolvent bank. It is true that experience had proved that in the long run these notes were redeemed, but the interval between suspension and the realization of sufficient assets to retire the note circulation was of uncertain duration, the notes were at a discount, and there was the loss of interest during the lockup. Parliament, therefore, provided in the 1891 revision of the Bank Act for the creation of a redemption fund to retire the notes of a bank becoming insolvent .

(Page No. 36) The effect of this legislation is to put the whole of the assets of all the Canadian banks behind the notes of any one bank so unfortunate as to suspend payment. It becomes, in fact, immaterial to the noteholder whether or not the issuing bank has closed its doors, because in practice he has been able to walk into any bank in Canada and exchange the note of a failed institution for the note of a solvent institution, if he so desired, or he could keep the note and collect 5 per cent. interest thereon until the day fixed for redemption. Since 1891 a Canadian bank bill has never fallen below par in Canada, and in no contingency is such happening to be apprehended.

Farmer—'We are told at our meeting that when banks fail the people who have deposited money with them are liable to lose it, and that shareholders—who are often widows and orphans who have all their means in bank stock—also suffer loss.'

Student—'Well, let us consider that point for a moment. Both depositors and shareholders are free agents. Neither is required to put money in a bank either on deposit or in shares. It is convenient to the man or woman with surplus money, whether little or much, to put it in safekeeping, and naturally enough a bank is selected. The bank supplies security. It does more, very much more. It not only takes care of the money you entrust to it, but pays you for the use of the same. You do not pay the bank to safeguard your money; the bank pays you for the loan of it. And you can draw the whole or part of your deposit whensoever you please. More than that, you can draw it out by means of cheques, which the bank supply you without cost, and so avoid the risk of carrying cash on your person. That privilege is worth something.'

Farmer—'Yes. I don't know how we could get along without the banks we have in every little town, but how am I certain to get my money on deposit when I want it?'

Student — 'Your security is the whole of the assets of the bank, including the capital put in by the shareholders. The law gives you protection by defining and limiting the class of loans the bank may make. And you may be sure bank managers do not deliberately make losses. Their whole aim is to avoid losses. Then the shareholders are required by law to protect the depositor. Shareholders must pay up an amount equal to the par value of their shares when the assets of an insolvent bank are not sufficient to pay depositors in full.'

Before answering this question it is pertinent to repeat that noteholders and depositors stand in different positions. The noteholder is an involuntary creditor. In the course of business, selling goods or receiving wages, he has practically no option other than to accept the currency given him, and is therefore entitled to have that currency made sound and unchangeable in value. But the depositor has his option. He has a choice of banks in most cases, and if he doubts the security of a bank he may entrust his money to the Government. That is what the Post Office Savings Banks are for. The bank depositor, of course, has a large protection in law in the provisions of the Act which define and limit banking operations, and provide the safeguard of penalties for transgression of these provisions. He has the protection of the assets of the bank, and of the double liability of shareholders; and he has the protection of prudent investment of his money by bank managers, which latter protection experience proves to be reliable in the main, and very freely deceptive."

From an editorial in the "Ottawa Journal":

"The run on the Dominion Bank in Toronto was no indication of weakness of that bank.

No run on any bank in Canada today would be any indication of weakness of any bank.

The run on the Dominion Bank was merely an indication of weakness on the part of Dominion Governments past and present in dealing with the Bank Act.

As a result, the finacinally ignorant public—and that is a large part —is hysterical.

The supposed safeguards in the Bank Act have been a farce.

They are, in the Journal's estimation, a farce still despite the recent revision of the Bank Act.

No provision exists for efficient independent audit of the banks for the information of the Government.

Until this does exist, the public will be liable to be hit by bank smashes.

Also, the solvent banks can help in this matter themselves.

They have been holding more or less aloff, inclined to resent anything which may seem to peek too much into bank business.

But it would be banking wisdom—for solvent banks—to invite just that sort of thing."

From the "Catholic Record" Nov. 3rd, 1923:

"The Bankers' Association do not want Government audit, yearly, monthly, or as often as may be necessary to assure the Government that the bank is carrying on sound business, and not wild-catting with your money. The Bankers' Association makes known to the Government very clearly what it wants and what it does not want. The Banks of Canada are dominated by a few men, perhaps twenty-five. They control the two billion of deposits, practically the whole liquid capital of Canada. Naturally they don't want to be interfered with in their colossal game.

But what about you? And 'you' is every individual reader. Every one of us is represented in Parliament. Sit down now and write to your representative and ask him what he is going to do about the Bank Act next session.

We can have security for depositors if we have enough sand in us to demand it. And don't forget that it is YOUR business to elaborate the details of the legislation necessary to provide that security. If your member confesses ignorance and impotence it would not be out of place to intimate to him that it is time for a change."

ENDOWMENT Policies issued by the Mutual Life of Canada give the full benefit of the profits earned by the Company, and the cost of protection is reduced to the vanishing point. Gradually these profits help outweigh the premiums until in the end you receive more money back than you paid in, and your insurance all these years has cost you nothing.

Take the case of Mutual Life Endowment Policy Number 28083. The holder of this policy took out a 30-year endowment at the age of twenty. At the close of the contract the total premiums paid in amounted to $708.15. The Company paid back to him a total of $1,272.61, representing a net gain of $564.46!

In other words, this policyholder received $179.71 for every $100 invested with the Company.

RADIO

We have a new line of Radio A and B Batteries at very attractive prices. Try an Exide Radio Battery on your radio set. You will be surprised at the difference it makes in the clearness of reception.

Every car owner now can afford one

Experienced drivers consider the Exide the economical battery because it lasts so long. Yet some men, while recognizing Exide as the standard, have held off from buying because of the higher first cost.

Now, every car owner can afford one. The experienced driver for the same money can get, in the XX type, an even better Exide, while the owner who is compelled to consider the first cost, can now secure the old standard XC type at a price within his reach.

Long service and short repair bills make the last cost of either type—XC or XX—so low that it will astonish you.

Any reliable Battery Dealer can now sell you an Exide. Insist on having one. If he has none in stock he can get one over night from a nearby distributor.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Nov. 15, 1923.

Editor, Fernie Free Press, City.

Dear Mr. Editor—I wonder why the Bankers' Association are hurrying up now to make a payment of 25% to the depositors of the defunct Home Bank within the next ten days, as I notice from recent news articles they have decided to do?

At the time the Home Bank suspended, this charitable Bankers' Association acted in quite a different manner. They appeared very indifferent, said that their association were not responsible for either of the banks which formed it, each member bank had to stand on its own feet, and that its President was only a director of the Association. That was the only connection between individual banks and the Bankers' Association. When they were approached soon after the Home Bank suspended and asked to make an advance payment to the depositors, what did they say? "We can't do that right away because, until we know the actual value of the assets, there is no knowing how much on the dollar they will realize. It will take considerable time to find this out. It may be years, so how can we be expected to do anything."

The depositors then organized and commenced to raise cain all over Canada. What has been the result? Since August there has been withdrawn from the savings accounts in the different banks of Canada no less a sum than thirty-three millions of dollars up to the end of October. It may be said that it was the Dominion re-bonding issue which caused the withdrawal of this large sum, but not very likely. No other bond issue has ever caused such a withdrawal, and neither would the last but for the Home Bank failure and the general want of confidence in our banking system. It was a chance for depositors to put their money into safe keeping and happened at the psychological moment.

The Bankers' Association now realize that they are up against something, and apparently are trying to forstall some of the harsh criticisms which will be made at the general meeting of depositors which will be held on the 6th of next month by rushing through a payment of a measly 25% before that meeting. If the representatives of the depositors allow this to pull the wool over their eyes and influence their actions on the 6th all I can say is, that they will be a bunch of dubs.

Our entire banking system urgently needs re-organization, and this should not be left to the Bankers' Association to advise about. Future legislation in this regard should be solely for the protection of depositors, not the Governments or the directors of banks. Why it was only the other day that a man prominent in banking circles told me that already the banks have instructed their branch managers how to avoid certain restrictions of the new bank act which came into force a month or so ago. The same man told me how some of the bank statements are made to look so rosy. It was rather illuminating, and makes one wonder if the other banks which show such wonderful statements respecting their assets are really any better than the Home Bank was. One thing which he said is done generally was "supposing a creditor for a large amount is no good, his indebtedness to the bank being impossible for them to collect, they call him in and say that they don't want to show his account as bad in their statement, though they know that it is, and propose that he gives them a demand note for the amount. He knows that they cannot collect what he has not got, and gives it to them. Being a demand note it goes into their statement as a negotiable asset." It would be interesting for depositors throughout Canada to know what proportion of the bank assets are made up this way.

The representatives at the meeting on December 6th should stir up all the trouble for the Bankers' Association and the Government that they can, otherwise we shall get left.

Yours truly,
A Depositor.

Editor, Fernie Free Press—

Yet again must I trouble you to ventilate my opinion on the Doctors' question, believing as I do that Drs. Asselstine and Garner have been the victims of a raw deal by the Medical Committee, first by refusing to call a mass meeting of the Coal Company's employees so that they could explain their position, second by importing into the city two doctors to take their job. This is the first time in my lifetime that I have seen it done, and by the way, how proud they must be of their work.

The false rumor so freely circulated to damage the doctors, re asking for an increase of pay, and the maternity question, were duly laid to rest at the Doctors' Meeting at the Isis Theatre.

The false rumor now in circulation, that those who refuse to sign for the new Doctors will lose their jobs. My answer is that there is nothing in the U. M. W. of A. Constitution that prevents him from signing for the Doctors he desires.

With regard to the Contract made with the new Doctors; clauses 7 and 8 penalty clauses, the question naturally arises how are you going to get a penalty from those who have nothing to penalize, no property or may not even invest a cent in B. C.

Yours, Robert Draper.

UNITED CHURCH OF FERNIE — VICTORIA AVENUE

Calendar for Week Beginning Sunday, November 25, 1923.

AN EXPLANATION

United Church began the present year with approximately $10,000.00 mortagage indebtedness. Through the generosity of a few this was reduced to $2,000.00. The gifts for this reduction were received on the understanding that the balance be raised before the end of the current year. The officers of the church, the Ladies' Aid, etc., are striving to meet this objective. In order to do so three things are necessary:

1. Arrears for regular subscriptions must be paid up;

2. Special mortgage fund contributions must receive generous support;

3. Co-operation of all must be given to the Ladies' Aid in their Annual Bazaar, December 1st.

For many years the churches composing United Church have struggled under debt. The desire now is to wipe it of completely. Our slogan is: "Church Clear of Debt by New Year's Day."

GET BEHIND BOYS' WORK

The Fernie Rotary Club, feeling that the time has come for their organization to get behind the various Boys' Work movements in the City, changed their regular luncheon meeting from noon to seven-thirty o'clock Thursday evening, and invited a number of Fernie citizens, prominently connected in the various Boy movemens in the city, to attend this meeting in order to get some idea as to what could be done to aid this splendid work.

Immediately after luncheon, President Sherwood Herchmer opened the discussion by outlining the aims and objects of the Rotary Clubs throughout the continent. He pointed out that one of the chief factors in the success of any Rotary Club, lay in their aiding in the success of any community in which they reside. The boy problem, he stated, is one of the most urgent cares of any community; look after the boy of today and the man of tomorrow is well provided for. The object of Thursday night's meeting, he added, was so that they could get suggestions from the various citizens interested in this work, as to what could be done by the Rotary Club along these lines.

The Chairman, then called upon Dr. Garner, a fellow Rotarian and President of the Fernie Boy Scout Association, to address the gathering. Dr. Garner, in a most clear and concise manner, went fully into the Boys' Work movement, showing a very intimate knowledge of the lives of boys in general, how the natural "gang spirit" among boys could be utilized to lead these future fathers of the community along the proper channels.

Dr. Gee was the next speaker, and he, confining himself to the Boy Scout movement, went thoroughly into the work done by this organization throughout the world. He covered the tests which had to be passed by a Boy Scout from the time he joined a troop until he emerged a fully fledged and well decorated young man at the age of 18 years. He then touched upon the local troop, pointing out that while this organization was greatly in need of funds, the boys themselves had been, up to the present, taking care of themselves by giving concerts and working in behalf of several entertainment which had appeared in the city under their auspices.

In order to obtain some idea of the requirements of the Fernie Boy Scouts, the Chairman called upon Scoutmaster Donaldson and he, after briefly touching upon the resourcefulness of the Boy Scouts, stated that the local troop were well able to take care of their own running expenses, but ther present quarters were badly in need of repairs; a reading room, for which there was ample space, was another glaring necessity for the success of the troop. He also pointed out that the Fernie troop was so rapidly increasing in members that it was gradually becoming too large for the present staff of officers and that help on the instructing staff was urgently needed.

Passing from the Boy Scout movement, Mr. Phillips, a member of the Fernie School Board, after quoting some rather startling figures compiled by the School Nurse, and by various Health authorities in different cities, most urgently recommended that something be done in the matter of looking after the health of the growing generation.

Community singing and music in the schools was another valuable suggestion put before the Rotary Club by the Rev. Mr. Burns and Mr. T. Biggs; both these gentlemen pointing out that wherever music is taught you find happiness. Wickednes in a boy, it was stated, naturally came from environment. Take a wicked boy and get him interested in music and he is won over and will soon develop along the right channels.

The Chairman then called for any suggestions as to ways and means of raising funds to carry out any plans which the Rotary Club might adopt. Several sugestions were made but the one which received unanimous approval was that of holding some kind of a carnival, with a moccasin dance and community singing, at the skating rink as early as possible and it is expected that this entertainment will materialize shortly after the New Year.

SOCIAL AT COAL CREEK

The Ladies' Aid of the United Church held a most successful social evening in the United Church, Coal Creek, on Wednesday evening. The church was tastefully decorated. The seating capacity being taxed to the utmost. Mr. Groat, of Coal Creek, fulfilled the duties of chairman in manner born. The program, which consisted of solos, readings and humorous interlude, was voted the best ever. The following well known artists acquitted themselves creditably: Mrs. T. Lawes, Mrs. D. Harvie, Miss I. Dicken and Mrs. Kirpatrick, of Fernie, Mrs. T. Birkett, Mrs. Anderson and Miss F. Larmont, of Coal Creek, the humorous element being provided by Mr. Harry Sharpe, who kept the audience convulsed by his drolleries. The accompanists being Miss Dorothy Garner and Mrs. T. Morrison. Rev. Burns gave a very forceful address on the progress of the social work of the church. Refreshments were passed around during the evening. The committee in charge desire to thank all who assisted towards a most pleasant evening.

CRANBROOK LADY PASSES AWAY

After a lingering illness which kept her confined to her bed for many months, Mrs. George Leitch, wife of the well-known Cranbrook lumberman, passed away at the family residence on Monday last. The death of Mrs. Leitch, while not unexpected, has left a feeling of deep sadness in the hearts of many who knew her well in life. The funeral was held from the family residence on Wednesday afternoon, the Reverend E. Mackay, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church reading the funeral service.

Mrs. Leitch who has been a resident of this city since her early girlhood, was a daughter of Mr. Brownlee, late railway superintendent of the Crows Nest Division of the B. C. Southern Railway. She leaves behind her to mourn her loss a sorrowing husband and three children, a son and two young daughters. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. Leitch and his children in their bereavement.—Courier.

CORBIN K. OF P. HOLD BAZAAR

The Knights of Pythias Lodge held a Bazaar, drawing and dance on Saturday afternoon and evening of November 10. The lodge which was instituted in July of this year with a membership of seventeen has been working hard to make a success of the lodge financially and in membership. To help out the financial end the ladies were called in and with herculean efforts responded to the call, which terminated in the bazaar just held.

To say it was a success, both socially and financially, would be putting it mildly, considering the population of Corbin, which only amounts to about two hundred souls, including children, and then for a bunch of enthusiastic workers to get busy and raise a sum amounting to about $500 is not only a credit to the workers but a credit to the town for supporting a worthy cause.

For this support, so liberally shown, the Knights of Pythias tender their heartfelt thanks. Several friends of the order from outside points made contributions and sold tickets for the draw. The draw, which was for a Gent's and a Ladies Gold Watch, was made in the Hall by independent persons and resulted with Billy Stephenson, of Michel, taking the Gent's, and Mike Kosew, of Corbin, taking the Ladies' prizes. The result of the second draw was proclaimed by continued cheers, the winner being a widower and bringing up three children (making a good job of it, too) it was felt that the prize could not go to a better place.

Mrs. Smallwood made a beautiful cake, chances being sold on it for the one who guessed the weight or nearest to the weight. This resulted in six guessing eleven pounds. The weight being 10 pounds 15 ounces, a draw was made of the six names and resulted in David Grieves, Junior, winning the cake, the winner being about eighteen months old.

Mrs. Bert Clark made a very beautiful pillow and chances were sold on this, style, catch as catch can, how many beans in the bottle. Mrs. Clendenning, of West Coleman, getting a strangle hold on it, number in bottle 1061, winner's number, 1060. Better be born lucky than rich.

The work of the ladies are deserving the very highest praise, but as they were all trying their utmost to make the bazaar a success and succeeded, we will only hope that when the time comes in the near future, when they institute a Pythian Sister Lodge, that the brothers will be just as eager and willing to give them the assistance they will require to put their own lodge on a real good footing.

The officers and members of Tent Mountain Lodge No. 57 of Corbin, B. C., desire to thank all who donated to the bazaar, their warmest thanks and appreciation of the good will shown, in building up a new lodge and enabling the members to get their new regalia in such a short time.

A dance was held in the evening, the music being supplied by Bros. Almond, William and Walter, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. After the drawings were made the few surplus articles which were not sold in the afternoon were auctioned off, and thanks to the general sporting spirit prevalent, brought in a real good return for the efforts expended. Every one having a good time, and though tired but happy, went home to celebrate Armistice Day, which was kept by the Mines being idle on Monday so that all could enjoy themselves and at the same time give thanks for a liberty so bravely won.

AMALGAMATE ALL BREWERIES IN B.C.

VICTORIA, Nov. 21.—British Columbia breweries have created a central beer distributing agency from which the government will purchase all beer for sale in liquor stores, it was announced at the attorney-general's department today. Amalgamation of all the breweries in the province has just been completed, following negotiations stretching over several months.

Creation of a central beer distributing agency will improve beer conditions in British Columbia greatly in the opinon of Attorney-General Manson and liquor officials. Under the new plan all beer being sold through one organization the element of competition among breweries will be entirely eliminated, it was explained today.

"I believe it will aid materially in the enforcement of the province's liquor laws," Mr. Manson declared.

THE ODDFELLOWS SOCIAL EVENING

The Oddfellows gave their second social in the I. O. O. F. Hall last Friday evening and proved another great success.

Bro. Barraclough again took the chair and filled this position very creditably. The following Brothers and Sisters contributed to the program:

Bro. F. Alexander, Bro. and Sister Owen, Sister Harvie and Bro. Andrews.

The titbit of the evening was the paper given by Bro. J. L. Donaldson on Telegraphy. Describing briefly, but accurately, the system of Telegraphy from the year 1753. The first practical telegraph was invented by Charles Wheatstone and Wm. Cooke. These two men got together and after years of study they installed a telegraph system in 1838 on the London and Blackwell Railway, and after various unsatisfactory trials on different systems, they finally perfected an instrument which is still the basis of telegraphy in the British Isles. He also explained the invention of the Morse instrument and code invented by Prof. S. F. B. Morse, which is still in use to this day. The first telegram sent on the American side was in 1844, from the Capitol, Washington, to Baltimore, the message reading: "What hath God wrought." Since the above date telegraphy has been very rapid in its growth and is well known all over the civilized world and is still being improved upon. Mr. Donaldson handled his subject in a very masterly manner and explained every detail very minutely.

After the paper was read, refreshments were served by the G. O. T. O. Committe, after which dancing was indulged in by both young and old till midnight, Professor Evans, of the Fire Hall Orchestra, tickling up the old music box.

The next social will be held in December when a paper on Proportional Representation will be given by Bro. Barraclough.

GUS WILLIAMS TO BOX TOMMY ROGERS SATURDAY

Gus Williams, of Fernie, is at Nelson training for a boxing bout with Tommy Rogers, of that city. The Nelson News says:

"Gus Williams, the sorrel-topped Welshman, who hails from Fernie, and who has a handsome reputation as a mitt-weilder, yesterday created quite an impression with local boxing fans at his afternoon and evening workouts in preparation for his bout with Tommy Rogers, the local fast-stepping welterweight, at the Recreation club on Saturday night next.

Saturday should bring about a good card as the championship of the Kootenays in the welterweight class is at stake. Williams is a husky lad, and is a bundle of action, his footwork and infighting creating no little comment. He is rugged and capable of absorbing much punishment. Last night, after his workout with several local lads, the fans went away wondering just how the mill would come out.

Rogers, who created such a good impression Saturday week, is in the pink of condition, and has been working out daily in preparation for the bout, which will be over the 10-round route. His arm and shoulder are now in shape, and he declared himself to be in far better shape than when he stepped 10 rounds with Johnny Russel of Trail and took the decision.

Williams arrived from Fernie on Tuesday night. Last evening he went nine rounds with three local boys, Alibone, Bradshaw and McCicar, and showed no signs of fatigue at the end of his grind. He is a wonderful skipper, handling the rope better than any boxer in these parts for some time. In fact, to sum him up, he is a slugger with the best of footwork."

WILL WIPE OUT BEER CLUBS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

VICTORIA, Nov 21. — Proprietary beer clubs, now operating all over British Columbia, will be completely wiped out by new legislation to be introduced during the present session of the legislature, A. M. Manson, attorney-general, announced today to delegates of the Union of B. C. Municipalities who waited upon Premier Oliver and members of the provincial government to discuss municipal affairs yesterday morning.

CANADIAN NEWS BRIEFS

Pulp From Straw

Plans whereby western wheat straw will be utilized for the making of pulp for paper manufacture by a hitherto untried process are being developed, according to M. Dolphus, a prominent banker who visited Winnipeg this week in connection with the project.

Earnings Peak Ahead

Greater progress in the future than has been attained will be made in the earnings of the Canadian National Railways, according to Mr. J. E. Dalrymple, vice-president in charge of traffic of the C. N. R., who stated in a recent interview that he did not believe that a net revenue of six million dollars for the eight months' period of this year could be regarded as the peak earnings. Traffic and business conditions generally are very good, Mr. Dalrymple said.

Survey Tar Sands

Compromise on Cattle

An agreement between the Canadian and Imperial Governments has been reached, it is announced, which will remove the uncertainties regarding the importation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain, and, while not giving all that Canada asked, will improve the situation considerably with regard to the classification of fat cattle among stores going to Great Britain.

Bringing Girl Settlers

A party of 45 immigrants from the S. S. Andania, which reached Winnipeg this week over the Canadian National Railways, included the rearguard of 500 British girls who have emigrated to Canada this year. This party was in charge of Miss Vaughan-Jones of the Society for the Overseas Settlement, of British Women who stated that large groups of British women would be brought to Canada next spring.

Commence Winter Lecture

Canadian farmers, working under the auspices of the Canadian National Railways, are telling the facts about Canada to prospective British immigrants. The first of a series of lectures in Great Britain has been begun by A. T. King, an Alberta farmer.

Winter in Canada

A distinct growth in the "winter in Canada" feeling is noticeable in enquiries from people residing in prairie provinces cities at railway ticket offices, according to officials of the Canadian National Railways. The majority of enquiries are as to special fares to Ontario and Eastern Canada and also to the Pacific Coast, as against a distinct movement out of Canada on the part of the holiday-makers in previous years. The warmer climate of Victoria and Vancouver is drawing many people from the prairie provinces to the Pacific Coast this year.

Canadian National Revenues

A net operating revenue of $5,011,845 was shown by the Canadian National Railways in the eight months of the present year ending August 31, according to the official figures. During the same period of 1922, operations resulted in a net deficit of $1,166,098. For the week ending October 31, gross earnings on the Canadian National were $8,967,573, being an increase of $1,138,223, or 15 per cent. over the corresponding week of 1922.

Britain Buys Bacon

Exports of bacon from Canada to Great Britain increased almost 3,000,000 pounds during the first nine months of the present calendar year. For the same period of 1922 there were 70,988,000 pounds shipped to the British market as against 73,934,000 in that period of this year.

France Imports Halibut

A new market for British Columbia halibut has been found as the result of the visit to Prince Rupert, B. C., of Dr. Le Danois, superintendent of fisheries for the French government. Experiments are to be made in the shipment of frozen halibut direct from Prince Rupert to France and it is expected that from these an important trade will result.

Ship Silver Foxes

A shipment of silver black foxes valued at $34,000 passed through Montreal via the Canadian National Railways on their way from Prince Edward Island to the United States and Western Canada. The animals have a pelt value of approximately $250 each.

GRATIFYING INCREASE IN FARM PRODUCE

VICTORIA, Nov. 23.—Poultrymen in British Columbia will be interested learn that during the year 1922 production in this province totalled 7,189,276 pounds, at a value of $2,012,997, as against 3,357,400 pounds with a value of $738,408 in 1916. In the general figures under this heading are naturally those of egg production, and over this same period the output has advanced from 4,531,140 dozen at a value of $1,585,899 in 1916 to 6,069,217 dozen, valued at $2,002,841 respectively in 1922. These figures reveal an increase of 114.42 per cent. and 33.09 per cent. respectively.

It is also interesting to observe in 1916 British Columbia was producing 72,709 tons of potatoes as against 115,122 tons in 1922. Fodder production shows a similarly gratifying increase, since 1916 the production was 372,798 tons as against 518,804 tons last year. Those increases amounted to 58.03 per cent. and 39.01 per cent. respectively, whereas root crops showed a gain of 52 per cent. by reason of an increase from 48,333 tons in 1916 to 73,470 tons in 1922.

The growth of the dairying industry between 1916 and 1911 is evidenced by the production of 9,113,500 gallons of milk in 1916 as against 11,054 390 gallons in 1922. There is here an increase of 21.03 per cent.

How the production of tree fruits in British Columbia has increased during the last six or seven years is reflected in the returns just issued by the Provincial Government. In these it is shown that in 1916 those fruits were valued at $1,806,489, representing volume 70,156,204 pounds, as compared with 166,935,065 pounds, with a value of $3,764,730 in 1922. Of small fruits there were produced in 1916, 3,795,680 pounds, valued at $370,173, as against 9,867,862 pounds at a value of $1,150,874 in 1911. It will be seen therefore that the above figures reveal increases of 137.09 per cent. and 160 per cent. respectively.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IS CONDEMNED

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16. — Opposition to the passing of legislation making compulsory in British Columbia, an eight-hour day in all industries, was recorded by delegates to the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia at their concluding session here today.

W. L. Macken, Chilliwack, was re-elected president, and W. G. Ternan, of Rossland, vice-president.

Kamloops will be next year's meeting place.

Additional duty on fuel oil entering British Columbia will be urged as a measure of protection for the coal industry. Opposition was recorded by unanimous vote against the application of express companies in Canada for increased rates.

A resolution opposing the dumping of fruit in Canada, and another opposing the sales tax on fruit, raw or preserved, was adopted. The Minister of Finance will be asked to exempt from the sales tax all materials entering into the marketing of fruit. A petition asking that women be admitted to boards of trade membership was referred to the executive for transmission to individual boards.

This morning, the resolutions committee reported a substitute motion which was accepted by all, and unanimously passed. It was presented by President J. B. Thomson, of the Vancouver Board of Trade, and seconded by Delegate Charles McHardy, of Nelson, and read as follows:

"Resolved that this convention express its regrets in the delay of the Provincial Government in not commencing the construction of a transprovincial highway to connect the Interior portions of the Province with the Coast, but is gratified to learn from the announcement of the Minister of Public Works that construction of the highway will be commenced next spring, and further, that the convention urge upon the Government the great necessity for an immediate completion of the road."

B. C. ELECTORS MAY VOTE ON LIQUOR QUESTIONS

VICTORIA, Nov. 19.—British Columbia electors probably will vote on several phases of the liquor question before the end of next year, and this vote may include the proposal that government liquor control be abolished and prohibition reestablished. Out of a confusing series of rumors that have been circulated since the legislature met, these facts were pretty clear Saturday. It was made known definitely, however, that no decisions on liquor have been reached by the government in its conference with party supporters. Rumors that the Liberal caucus has decided definitely on local option plebiscites on open beer sale were officially denied.

THE LABOR UNIONS ARE CLEANING HOUSE

The American Federation of Labor has of late been busy purging itself of the radical element that was slowly but surely dragging that body down to destruction. House cleaning in this and other labor bodies is long overdue. And if Canadian labor organizations are wise they will without hesitation follow in the footsteps of the American Federation. At the recent meeting in Portland, Ore., of the Federation of Labor, there were unmistakable declarations hostile to the tenents of the Red Internationals, the convention declaring it faith in democracy as the only form of government that offers redress for wrongs and at the same time provides security for the preservation of the achievements of man. Similar action was taken by the American Federation in Chicago and New York, and the "borers-from within," its Dunnes, Fosters and Fitzpatricks, in fact, the entire gang of Communists were "given the air." In other words, they were told to tear up their union cards, get out and stay out.

The One Big Union idea met the same fate at the hands of the Federation, as did also the proposal to change Labor Day from the first Monday in September to May first, "The Day" of the European Reds. Altogether it was a thorough house cleaning, and one which may in time give back to the Federation its lost prestige.

In Canada we have dallied too long with our select group of Reds, and in consequence unionism has been losing ground. What decent, law abiding workman, who is busy making a living for himself and his family wishes to be associated even in thought with the Red gabblers, whose gibberish and chatter is heard on every platform where an audience can be had. It is time that Canadian labor unions to their responsibilities and threw its Jimmy Simpsons into the discard. The longer they hesitate the more they will lose in public esteem and public support.—Saturday Night.

TOURISTS BRING $170,000,000 TO CANADA LAST YEAR

WINNIPEG, Nov. 23.—More than $170,000,000 came to Canada through tourist traffic during last year, according to an estimate received today from Ottawa by Canadian National Railway officials here. In addition to the great number of tourists brought into Canada by the railways during the regular tourist season, which this year was the heaviest the Canadian National system has known, it is estimated that over 1,000,000 automobiles entered the nine provinces of Canada on business or pleasure during the season. During last year, according to government estimates, tourist traffic as a revenue producer, took fourth place in Canada's industries. 996,329 Automobiles entered Canada during the 1922 season, either for pleasure or business and of this number nearly 50,000 come into the western provinces and British Columbia. The Pacific Coast province headed the list with 35,226 cars registered for entry; Manitoba was second with 10,676; Saskatchewan had 497 and Alberta 462. The 1923 figures, when available, will it is expected show a large increase over these.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Finds Vicks Is Good For Colds

Winnipeg Mother Tells of Experience With External Vaporizing Salve

The quick, direct treatment for children's coughs and colds is an application of Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime.

Not only is Vicks absorbed through the skin, but its healing vapors of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Turpentine, etc., are breathed all night long directly into the affected air passages. Relief usually comes by morning.

Just as good, too, for the cold troubles of adults, and for cuts, burns, and bruises.

Mrs. W. Simpson, of 290 Arnold Avenue, Winnipeg, Manitoba, says: "I put a little Vicks on the chest of one of my children to see if it would have any effect on stopping his cough as he always coughs so much when he takes a cold. His cough was stopped right away. I also did the same with my little girls and the results were the same. I am pleased to find something to check the awful cough that my children seem to get and losen up their colds so quickly."

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

MR. D. C. COLEMAN LIKELY NEW PRESIDENT OF SOO LINE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in charge of Western lines, is likely to be tendered the presidency of the Soo Line, a subsidiary of the Canadian Pacific, according to the Winnipeg Tribune.

The vacancy was created recently by the death of George R. Huntingdon. The presidency of the road, states the newspaper, will be decided at a meeting in Minneapolis next year, to be attended by E. W. Beatty, K. C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Charles Murhpy, general manager of Western lines, is mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Coleman, should he leave Winnipeg.

Mr. Coleman, who commenced his railroad career with the C. P. R. at Belleville, Ont., in 1899, as a junior clerk, came to Winnipeg in 1900, and was appointed vice-president in 1918.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

A prominent church official ten years ago started an international movement to abolish the sending of flowers to funerals. He said: "Take the roses and put them, not on a coffin, but in the lapel of the coat of the laboring man on his way to work."

The gentleman did not succeed in abolishing a custom that is essentially beautiful. A love for flowers is a sign of refinement, native or acquired. A flower is a symbol of joy. In its living texture Nature concentrates all the glow of sunlight and the sparkle of the stars. There is an appealing tenderness in their friendly faces, that has made them seem appropriate gifts to bereaved friends.

But sometimes the custom of sending flowers to funerals is so overdone as to constitute a heavy tax on families that can ill afford it, for it has come to the point where people frequently are called stingy for not doing it.

The sentiment of love and sympathy is often more eloquently expressed in the little bunch of blossoms plucked by a lady from her garden than it is in the blanet of roses sent by the fraternity to which the deceased may have belonged. And those who grieve for their dead know this to be true.

A few years ago, it was commonly said that almost anyone could drive an automobile. But as conditions are now, in and near populous towns, with a flock of cars hurrying hither and thither, and in many places extreme congestion, the time has come when successful driving calls for a certain temperament.

The impatient man or woman who has little self control and acts on ill considered impulses, has no place on the motor roads or streets of today. The right kind of driver has a calm and philosophical temperament. He takes the incidents of the road good naturedly. He does not feel that it is a serious matter to lose a few seconds, and he is not worried or upset by delays. If the people who drive cars were all that type, there would not be many accidents.

What the local paper does, each and every local paper gives from $100 to $5000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his home town than any other ten men, and in fairness, man to man, ought to be supported, not because you like him or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts but financially it is more benefit to a community than a teacher or a preacher. Understand us, now, we do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find that a majority of the local papers are on the right side of the question. Today the editors of the local papers do most work for the least money of any people living.

The Philadelphia Retail Ledger calls attention to the fact that the Christmas rush invariably throws a spotlight upon weaknesses in the store structure—but that's no reason why one should wait for the spotlight to be turned on.

Salesmanship, advertising, display, the arrangement of stocks and the employment of emergency salespeople, systems of handling cash and charge purchases—all these should be inspected and perfected in advance—because, once the rush is on, there is little time for making changes.

The retail executive who waits until the last minute to make his preparations for handling the Christmas rush is in a position analogous to the man who waits until he reaches the middle of the stream before he puts on his rubber boots. He may get to the other side without serious injury, but he'll have a most uncomfortable trip.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

ROBERT LIVETT SHOOTS FINGER OFF A BANDIT

It was learned by a representative of The Herald on Monday that Robert Livett, special international representative of the United Mine Workers of America, by a plurky act brought to bay a hold-up at Sanders Creek on Thursday night last.

While he and William Sherman, the president of district 18, were in the offices of the Sanders Creek Mine Co. negotiating an agreement, word was brought into the office that a desperado was holding up a number of miners in a pool room in the town. With the mine manager, both officials rushed to the pool room, Livett in the meantime, having secured a revolver from Arthur Evans, of the Sanders Creek Co.

Looking through the window they saw the miners all lined up at one end of the pool room, and being covered by the yeggman with a revolver. He was just on the point of leaving with his haul when Livett fired through the window, knocking the hold-up man's gun out of his hand, and incidentally blowing off one of his fingers.

Smashing the window still more, Livett covered his man until seized and safely placed in the hands of the police. The man's name is Joe Malovitch, a Serbian, who is stated to have only recently been released from undergoing six months for an assault on a policeman.

At the preliminary hearing at Nordegg the prisoner was remanded for trial at Red Deer. He had collected between $400 and $500 from the miners in the pool room.

The following communication has been received at the offices of the miners' organization from the men who were held up:

"We the undersigned, who were the victims of the hold-up occuring in the pool room at Sanders Creek, wish to extend a hearty vote of thanks to Robert Livett for getting us out of a very dangerous situation.

"We feel sure that the good judgment and timely action were not only instrumental in landing a dangerous character into the hands of the authorities, but were no doubt the means of preventing the loss of several lives. (Signed) J. Luckek, C. Narducis, F. Falvo, E. Ohlund, C. Johnson, H. Simola, M. Lastikka, S. Chortyk, P. Partince, F. Burton, P. Yosek, F. Riley, P. Gigliotti."—Calgary Herald.

An order has been issued prohibiting the entrance of all dogs into the country except pets from the United Kingdom. Pets are defined as dogs weighing less than twelve pounds or those that can be carried in the arms. "Hot dogs" are said to be exempt as they come in their own cases.

Here and There

In order to handle the grain this fall the Fort William, Ont. force of 360 elevator men will be increased to 700. From 120 to 150 grain trimmers will be employed.

For the five months to August, 1923, Canadian newsprint exports were valued at $35,303,043 against $27,257,382 for the same period in 1922. Pulp exports in the same period were valued at $20,008,461 against $16,075,533.

Grain loading on Canadian Pacific lines during the month of September totalled 26,376 cars or 38,245,200 bushels. This at the beginning of the loading season which was two weeks late this year on account of the retarded harvest.

This has been the greatest season for automobile tourists Montreal has ever experienced, according to the Secretary of the Automobile Club of Canada. Cars, he stated, had come into the city over the King Edward Highway at the rate of two hundred a day, an unusual number from California, Florida, Carolina and Virginia being noticeable.

There was nearly $160,000,000 increase in the total trade of Canada for the first five months of the current fiscal year, according to a return made by the Department of Customs and Excise. The total trade of the Dominion, according to the return, for the five months ending with August, was $785,000,000, as against $626,000,000 during the same period a year ago. Imports during the period were about $393,000,000, as against $303,000,000 a year ago, while exports of Canadian produce rose from $316,000,000 approximately to $386,000,000.

There is a heavy demand for bushmen, according to the Government Labor Bureau at Montreal. The big lumber companies have been engaging men for the bush, and the prospects are that the demand will be sufficient to make fall and winter conditions good. Wages paid this year by the lumber companies are higher than last year, the rates paid being $40 and $45 a month, whereas a year ago the schedule was down to $26 a month.

With the completion of the harbor works now in progress, Montreal will be in a much better position in 1924 to handle a record flow of grain than ever before. Windmill Point elevator will be increased by 1,250,000 bushels storage capacity, making its total capacity 3,250,000. Four additional shipping berths are being provided at this elevator and will be in commission early next month, and the elevator's loading capacity will be increased from 50,000 to 90,000 bushels an hour.

Reports to the Canadian Pacific Railway, show that there arrived at Winnipeg from the British Isles this year for the purpose of working on the harvest, 11,883 men. Special efforts are being made to find occupation for as many as possible to cover the winter period, and it is stated that it is now probable that a considerable number of these harvesters from Great Britain and the Irish Free State will remain in the Dominion.

Addressing a recent meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade, President E. W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, announced that the company proposed immediately to add two large modern steamers to its coast fleet in order to take care of increasing tourist traffic over the company's coastal lines. He also announced the early completion of a new pier at this harbor at a cost of several millions, which has been made necessary by the steady development of Canada's trans-Pacific trade.

A Savings Bank is good if a man lives and saves and the bank does not fail. A Life Insurance policy is better, because it forces a man to save and is good whether he lives or dies.

Do you realize that no Canadian Life Company has ever suspended payment of its policy obligations in spite of war casualties, epidemics or financial depressions. Your savings invested in the Mutual Life of Canada Policies will always be safe and profitable.

Commencing Monday last, first aid classes have been started at the camps of the Consolidated at Kimberley. At the Concentrator, J. Sargent will be in charge, while Mr. R. E. Robson will be instructor at Kimberley. Dr. Hannington is to deliver lectures at each place each week, Monday in town and Thursday at the Concentrator. Much interest is being taken in these classes both by the officials of the company and the employees.—Cranbrook Herald.

The first three weeks of any legislative session generally determines the weakness of the administration, and in the legislative corridors it is now conceded that the Oliver Government it at least as strong as a year ago. There appears no issue on the horizon which can change this position during the present session, and the opposition forces are centering their attention chiefly upon making campaign material of whatever arises, preparing for the general election, which they anticipate is not far off. Those close to the government make the guess that an election will not be held until next autumn at the earliest, probably September, 1924.

NORTH VANCOUVER

During the past five years almost every community in the Dominion has been able to set apart a little plot of ground to erect thereon a memorial to those who, at the call, left all that was dear to them, endured hardships, faced danger, and finally passed out of sight of man by the path of duty and self sacrifice.

These memorials have been erected to such an extent throughout Canada, that a visitor on tour could not but be inpressed by the manner in which our fallen are honored. Every city, every town and every village has remembered its debt to those who remained overseas. Feeling that the sacrifice and devotion of these men was worthy of their best, citizens of all, and particularly the smaller towns, subscribed readily and generously to the memorial funds, with the result that we have, in Canada, some of the finest and most beautiful War Memorials in the world.

On this page are reproduced a few of the many photographs of artistic memorials submitted for reproduction.

Among the most fitting of tributes to those who served, and perhaps the most spirited is the Memorial erected at St. Lambert, Quebec. Dangling accoutrements are no impediment to this private Canadian soldier in attack. This is a statue that lacks only the breath of life, and it requires no allegorical figure to support it—truly a memorial to Canada's fighting men.

Other remarkable memorials are those, of like design, which command prominent positions at the Canadian Pacific Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver stations. A huge but finely sculptured figure of the "Angel of Victory" supports a Canadian soldier in one arm, while with the other she holds aloft and before him the crown of victory. A beautiful memorial to those in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway who gave up their lives that others might live in freedom.

The Westmount, Quebec, memorial, raised by public subscription is somewhat similar. The Angel, uncrowned, points the way to victory, and facing the City Hall, looks upon the first of an avenue of trees which extends for miles along Sherbrooke Street, the main thoroughfare, each tree planted in memory of one of the fallen.

Another outstanding memorial is the one recently unveiled in the village of Almento, Ont. This was erected by the village and was made in accordance with a request made by Lieutenant Alexander B. Rosamond, who fell at Courcelette. It is shown here, a beautiful bronze figure of a Canadian officer, typical of the best that the Dominion sent overseas.

The cenotaphs erected at North Vancouver, B.C., and Hamilton, Ont., are also worthy of note as they are fine exemplifications of modern art.

The citizens of Bankhead, Alta., a little community of less than one thousand souls, lost six sons at the front, and these men are honored by a monument of rough hewn granite, in keeping with the rigged foothills of the Rocky Mountains where the village is situated, a few miles east of Banff. The people of Bankhead have resaon to be proud of this memorial. Like the people of other small towns they responded readily.

Fernie, B.C., with a population of about 4000, has also remembered its soldiers well. High on an inscribed pedestal, with the glorious Rockies as a background with which it harmonizes well, the figure of a Canadian soldier stands, as if by the grave of a fallen comrade.

Rossland, B.C., has set an example to most places in that it has provided a suitable cover for the gun captured from the Germans by men from that district, and erected before it a memorial column protected by an iron rail the four corners of which are supported by lamp standards. The Rossland Memorial is imbued with the atmosphere of the rugged mining town and is most worthy.

That Canada played a most glorious part in the Great War needs no reiteration in these columns. That her service enlistments totalled half a million men, 60,000 of whom made the supreme sacrifice, is part of the Dominion's proudest history. Every village, every settlement and outpost, as well as every city sent its boys to the "spearhead of the Allied armies."

A proud record they made for themselves and for Canada, these boys of ours, and through five years have passed since the signing of an armistice brought to a cessation the most terrible conflict the world has known, the courage of the Canadian troops as a whole, and, the acts of herosim which caused Canada's name to ring through the world with a high note, reverbrant yet, are not forgotten nor will they ever be. Canada is proud of the men by whose deeds she became an outstanding nation among nations of honor.

BIRTHDAY OF B. C.

The history of British Columbia is not as sanguinary as the history of the original provinces of Canada, but it is very interesting nevertheless. The French and the English did not wage war for the mastery of this part of the Dominion, and while the United States did, at certain stages in its career, covet a part of our territory as a possession, all such claims were happily settled by peaceful methods. Disputes with reference to territory which could not be adjusted through direct negotiations between the parties interested were eventually settled by arbitration. The San Juan affair was left to the arbitration of the German Emporer of that day, and the decision of that potentate, it must be admitted, left a bad taste in the mouths of all patriotic British Columbians.

The Spaniards were the original claimants to most of the territory that is now known as the Province of British Columbia; but British adventurers and explorers were also early in the field. The rival claimants, however, did not find it necessary to resort to violence in order to settle their differences. If Spain had been at the zenith of her power at the time there might have been a different story to tell. However, apparently this part of the Pacific Coast was not considered worthy of an expenditure of powder. The Spaniards eventually retired and left their great colonizing rivals in peaceful possession of the field.

British Columbia was not thoroughly organized as British territory until Sir James Douglas, acting for the "Gentlemen Adventurers of England Trading Out of Hudson's Bay" arrived upon the Coast. Up till that time the Northwest Company, a trade rival of the Hudson's Bay Company, and John Jacob Astor, the founder of Astoria, Oregon, a German-American fur trader, had contended for possession of a region that was considered of little value except for its fur-producing capabilities. In the end the Hudson's Bay Company succeeded in extinguishing the claims of its rivals, and Douglas, whose great capacity as an organizer and administrator, was demonstrated by subsequent events, proceeded to found the Colony of British Columbia. There was a bitter rivalry between the Mainland and the Island after the union of the two colonies, which was accomplished in the year 1866. The people of New Westminster, the capital of the Mainland, were deeply incensed because Victoria was selected as the capital of the new and greater colony.

Another historically interesting period of the colony was that preceding federation with the Dominion of Canada. The manner in which that great federation which extends from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean was formed need not be referred to here. The important fact is that it was Sir James Douglas who consolidated this British territory and prepared the way for its union with Canada. His name is not included in the list of the Fathers of Confederation, yet his work was just as important as that of any of the others who are given credit for being "the makers of Canada."

Dating from the time of the union of the two colonies, British Columbia should celebrate the 57th anniversary of its birth tomorrow. We do not know whether those at present in authority will consider the occasion worthy of any special recognition. Yet that was a very important event in our history. British Columbia in the days of its infancy was not considered a place of very special importance. Today it is not the least of the Canadian Provinces in point of wealth of resources and business possibilities. Its coasts are lapped by the waters of the greatest of the oceans, and one does not need to be possessed of a very active imagination to conjure up visions of what the future has in store for the Pacific as a mercantile trade route.—Colonist.

LATE PRES. HARDING'S GREATEST MONUMENT

Devoted friends of Warren Gamaliel Harding will raise $3,000,000 by subscription to perpetuate the memory of the only American President who ever spoke on Canadian soil. Half of that sum will be spent on a mausoleum and shrine at Marion, O. The other $1,500,000 will be invested to keep these buildings up forever.

It is a good, wholesome project, and Canadians who can afford it should subscribe liberally in the name of Canadian-American friendship, of which Harding was a champion.

But this $1,500,000 mausoleum will only be a poor imitation of the shrine Warren Harding erected for himself in Vancouver last July.

No monument can be erected that will equal in stability, force and appeal the picture that thousands of Canadians carry in their memories of this great, generous man, destined so soon for the grave, stretching out both his arms in love and friendship to the Canadian people in the leafy paradise of Stanley Park.

The new sense of international amity engendered that day in Vancouver and spread by word of mouth and the press to every corner of the North American continent is Warren Gamaliel Harding's most beautiful, most useful and most lasting monument.

And if the loving friends who would perpetuate his memory seek an inscription for the beautiful shrine they will erect him they will find no truer than this:

"Here is a man who one summer's day drew two nations closer together in friendship, trust and esteem than any two nations have ever been drawn before."—Vancouver Sun.

COAST ITEMS OF INTEREST

New Westminster, Nov. 23 — The last echo of a great promotion project pases with the closing of the Wonderphone plant here. It has been taken over by the Deman Engineering Company. Toward the end, the Wonderphone people maintained a small staff, and some of them claim they had trouble getting their pay in installments. The company failed to make good with its Wonderphone device and turned its energies to other things, which also failed. It is estimated that over one-fourth of a million dollars stock was sold. Several investors got into trouble for misappropriating funds for their investment. Another deflated promotion scheme was the "Stoneite," which claimed to make fancy marble and other stoneware from paper or almost anything. After the investment of many thousands of dollars, the concern "blew up." The Radimute Company, which offered to get radium from the sea by a chemical process, is one more company that closed after collecting much money for stock. Pender Street West, the Mecca for various oil companies, now witnesses the closing of five large oil offices. The Hook has been active in driving dubious promotion concerns out of the market.

Vancouver, Nov. 23—While exaggerated reports have gone forth regarding the prevalence of epidemic diseases in this vicinity, the truth is that there is some diptheria, chicken pox and other infectious ailments. Most of the cases on record are confined to children. The situation, however, is not deemed grave, and is well in hand. An unusual number of canconfined principally to people past middle life, with women in the majority.

Vancouver, Nov. 23—For the third time in two years, the labor unions are seeking a new home. A couple of years ago, they abandoned their handsome labor temple which has been erected at a cost of $160,000. Dissention among some of the locals, with a lack of harmony were given as causes. They scattered to various places around town, maintaining headquarters on Pender Stree, West. In a couple of weeks they move again, this time going down town to the Dawson Building, in a more central part, on Hastings Street.

Victoria, Nov. 23—The question of expenditures made on newspaper advertising in connection with the freight rates appeal has been made the subject of a statement by Premier Oliver, who says that he had personally instructed Mr. G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for the government, to spend what sums he felt necessary on advertising in the eastern papers to offset the campaign in the press conducted by the eastern interests. He said that in his opinion the money thus expended, amounting to over $4000, had been effective.

Victoria, Nov. 23—A reduction in the cost of automobile license fees is foreshadowed by an amendment to the Taxation Act, to be introduced by Hon. John Hart this week, providing for a gasoline tax of three cents a gallon. Gasoline for farms tractors and fishing craft will be exempt. The gasoline tax has been devised as the most equitable form of raising revenue for roads in the proportion of use or injury made by automobile users. A return to the $10 license fees for all cars is anticipated.

FOSTER'S WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — I have given you valuable information, long in advance, about the great winter drouths in west half and the unsteady, uneven spots of drouths in the east half of North America, Nov. 1 to April 30, 1923-24. I could do this for you because I did not need to localize; the drouth will be general west of longitude 92 and general in unnamed spots east of that line. I want to tell you something about the unusual, unexpected by you, weather that will follow that continental drouth.

Excessive rains sometimes precede and follow these great drouths but the severe storms have much to do with the excessive rains that seem to be tied to the great drouths. These items will suggest to you that the cropweather for this continent for 1924 is full of knotty questions. The great drouth will not be general in southern sections nor in northern; planters are arranging for an acreage shortage but it will be an acreage increase on account of a large acreage of abandoned winter grain. These are matters of local interest and I might reach some of them if I knew the circumstances.

The temperature lines on my November chart indicate high temperatures on all parts of the continent east of Rockies' crest near 26, indicating that the severe storms due in the far northwest last days of November will be on time. West of longitude 92 the severe storms will produce less rain than usual and less than my private forecast indicate. The storms that usually produce most rain are now expected—particularly west of longitude 92—to send hot air currents that will pick up some of the moisture already in the soil.

I am not well enough informed on horticulture to determine what the coming dry winter and early spring will do for the great fruit producing interests of the Pacific Coast. But excessive rains often follow great drouths and I am sure that several sections of North America will get excessive and damaging rains for 1924.

I will soon have some weather knowledge that will interest the Department of Agriculture; something that its patrons cannot afford to do without and those for whom the Aggricultural Department was instituted are sure to make strenuous demands.

I am not opposed to the principal work of the U. S. Weather Bureau and I am sure that I would not accept a position in that institution. I certainly would not use the methods of that institution for agricultural purposes. It is absolutely not fitted for the farmer.

But for purpose of war, particularly the air service, for commerce and the navy, the U. S. Weather Bureau is the right thing in the right place, except it should be in one of two other departments; that of commerce or that of war. I am asking friends of my work to put their shoulder to this wheel and push.

I would not accept any government office. I am too old, otherwise I am well fixed, not hunting new employment and I have found what I started out to get on August 15, 1876.

o

An eminent American surgeon is convinced that animals in prehistoric ages were afflicted with diseases similar to the types known to man. "Types of diseases have left impressions on bones of jaws of fossils," he says. Imagine the agony a dinosaur, with tusks a yard long, must have suffered while barrels of soothing oils would be required to lubricate the expansive back of an old-time mastodon.

OPENING OUR DOORS TO EUROPE'S SCUM

The news that we are to open our gates to unrestricted immigration will not be received with enthusiasm by the average Canadian, who still has a care as to the quality of the country's inhabitants. The open door policy of the present government was announced the other night by Mr. Herbert M. Marler, M. P. for St. Lawrence-St. George. Speaking at Montreal before the United Hebrew Political Club, Mr. Marler stated (and he said it with authority) that all restrictions would be withdrawn save those of health and morals. In other words the doors would be wide open to all immigrants who were sound.

This country cannot assimilate and should not be asked to assimilate a horde of city bred Europeans of alien races. Have we to look forward to a time when the streets of our cities will be overrun by the peoples of a poly-glot Central Europe. Look at New York City today! Is there any desire to follow such an example? The native born Americans now see the mistaken policy of unrestricted immigration that was adopted years ago in that country. They have learned through dear experience to regret it and they have closed the doors, but it is too late, for they already have millions of people whom they would gladly rid themselves of were it possible to do so. But we apparently learn nothing by the experience of others.

If the clamor to move came from the country bred people of Russia and Poland and other Central European countries the case might be different. We have room on the land, but not in the cities which unfortunately already house too large a proportion of this sort of citizen.

With unrestricted immigration Canada will lose much and gain nothing. Such people as will pour in, now that the United States bars are up (most of them would go there if they could) will be a liability rather than an asset. In any immigration policy adopted by the government quality not quantity should be the first consideration.—Saturday Night.

AUTOMOBILE'S DEADLY WORK ON GAME

"The automobile," writes Dr. W. T. Hornaday, of the New York Zoological Garden, "is getting in its deadly work on the game of the Dakotas, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba, Minnesota, Wisconsin and more other States and places than there is space to mention.

"It is my estimate that the automobile has increased the perils of wild life by 50 per cent, and thus far I have found no one who has contended that this figure is above the mark. It seems that the hunter of upland game — grouse, quail, woodcock, snipe, doves, rabbits, squirrels and deer—can by means of his new gasoline ally hunt at least four times as much ground in a day as a man behind a horse could exploit. On the other hand, the difference to the duck hunter is not so great, and so we think that 50 per cent. is a fair batting average. I have seen four ruffled grouse hunters in an automobile cover in one day an area of hunting ground that to me was fairly astounding.

"Wherever there are roads, either good or bad, or open plain, over which automobiles can travel, there will you find the automobile going after whatever game is afoot.

"It is not enough that the game-killer should have a bewildering array of assistants and accessories, consisting of professional guides and cooks, dogs, tents, rifles and limitless fixed ammunition to gain every conceivable advantage over the frightened bird and harassed wild animal. It is not enough that the machine guns spray pellets of lead like water from a hose sprinkler. It is not enough that the modern rifle kills big game at a quarter of a mile or more. It is not enough that the shrewd 'local guide' treacherously reveals the last hiding-place of the game that he has seen reared for cannon fodder around his own home.

"No. All these grossly unfair advantages seem not enough to pile against the harassed and bedevilled remnants of killable game. To them the speedy and tireless automobile must be added in order that the haunts of the game may be hunted over, not merely three or four times a season, but ten to twenty times perhaps.

"What shall be done about curbing the fearful destructiveness of the automobile? It is a difficult question, and already the deadly car must about double the hunters' daily kill of game."

N. E. SUDDABY—DRUGGIST

Following in Magellan's Footsteps

Higher civilization has not killed the Spirit of Adventure. It may even be, that people now-a-days are affected more by Wanderlust than they ever were, and enhanced facilities for travel with a greater degree of safety have stimulated, and not a little, the desire to see other than their immediate environs. In the old days when Columbus, Vespucci, Balboa, De Soto and Drake, Cartier and Champlain, and other bold mariners sailed into the unknown and its perils on the seven Seas, much courage was needed but today the World is every-man's oyster, nor does it have to be opened with a sword. With a little time and comparatively little money, one can see the places where history was made, far off countries and strange people, and live the while, in comfort.

Four hundred years ago, the first vessel to sail round the world lifted anchor at Seville, and after three years of adventurous hardship, returned to her Spanish port. Only thirty-one of the two hundred and seventy who set out came back, and only the Vittoria out of the original Armada of five sailing ships. The spirit of these seafarers is illustrated by the vow of Fernando Magellan their commander, as he set out from Tierra del Fuego across the Great South Sea, that he would push on if he had to eat the leather of the riggin'. Magellan himself was killed in the Phillippines, but as he had already reached that longitude on a previous voyage eastward from Spain, he is rightly credited with being the first to circumnavigate the globe.

Sixty years after the Vittoria set out from Seville, Francis Drake with a fleet of five sailing ships and 164 men sailed from Plymouth in The Golden Hind, and after a voyage round the world of almost three years, returned with a rich loot of silver and gold, silk, pearls and precious stones, to replenish the coffers of Queen Elizabeth. The Golden Hind was the only vessel of the five to complete the voyage and it became the favourite resort of tourists on the Thames in the days of Shakespeare.

The Golden Hind, originally named The Pelican, was a ship of 120 tons, whereas the Empress of Canada, which sets out on a Round the World Cruise from New York on January 30th, 1924, registers no less than 21,500 tons. Instead of three years of privation and hardship, the voyage will occupy four months of luxurious comfort The route will be shorter, as instead of rounding the Cape of Good Hope the route taken is through the Suez Canal, and instead of traversing the stormy Straits of Magellan, the American continent is finally crossed on the excellent road-bed of the Canadian Pacific Railway. But many of the points touched by Sir Francis Drake and Magellan will be visited by the Empress of Canada, for instance, Batavia, Sourbaya and the traverse of the Celebes Sea to the Phillipines.

The circumnavigators on the Empress of Canada will return laden with the rich experiences and mental treasures gathered from visions of eighteen different countries, and contact with the costumes crafts and civilizations of fifty different races.

Encouraged by successes of former years, the Canadian Pacific has arranged for four cruisers in addition to the Round the World voyage of the Empress of Canada. The Empress of Scotland will visit the cradle of civilization in a trip Round the Mediterranean, sailing from New York on January 14th. The superb Empress of Britain will make two cruises Round the West Indies, leaving New York on January 22nd and February 23rd, and, before setting off round the world, the Empress of Canada will travel Round America, sailing from Vancouver on January 4th, visiting the Pacific coast, California, and going via the Panama Canal and Cuba to New York. This vessel will be commanded by Captain S. Robinson R. N. R. who figured so conspicuously in the relief work which followed the recent Japanese disaster.

78 Chipman Ave., City.
Editor Fernie Free Press:

Sir—Would you allow me a little space in your valuable paper to express my opinion re the Doctors' Question, and also to answer Mr. Draper, as he seems to insist that somebody must answer him.

In the first place I do not understand a person, that is neither a member of Gladstone Local Union, nor yet an employee of the Coal Co. taking up swords with the Doctors or anyone else, unless Mr. Draper has the idea that the old Doctors are going to take up ranching.

I myself have no kick at all against the old Doctors and have at all times had the best of attention from them. But when my Local Union says we are going to engage other Doctors, it it up to us all as members to fall in line and those that are not members to keep mum.

Regarding the statement that if a person that does not sign will lose his position. I think the above idea must have been conceived by Mr. Draper himself as I have attended all meetings and travelled up and down in the coaches and never have I heard that statement. Respecting the penalty clause I wish to inform Mr. Draper that the clauses mentioned are the old Doctors' own clauses and have been in all contracts. Hoping that the above satisfies Mr. Draper as I do not wish to enter into any long communications.—Yours respectfully,

H. Haigh.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S INCOME IS $437 PER CAPITA

VICTORIA, Nov. 23. — Those who imagine that British Columbia is going to the dogs should take time to study this province's income from all sources. According to an estimate recently published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, British Columbia's total income for the year ending March 31, 1922, was $299,138,933, or an average of $437 for every man, woman and child in the province. From a further study of statistics it will therefore be gathered that British Columbia ranks fifth in the list, behind Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and ahead of Manitoba, Nove Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

MANY SCENES OF "TRILBY" PHOTOGRAPHED IN PARIS

The same careful attention to detail and authenticity of locale which has characterized the many stage successes produced by Richard Walton Tully is said to have been exerted by this producer in a magnificent picturization of Du Maurier's immortal novel, "Trilby," which, as a First National attraction, is to be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on next Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Tully spent several months in Europe, during which time he took a great many scenes in the very locations described by the distinguished author, a task made difficult through Du Maurier's habit of altering the names of places he described .

"For instance," says Mr. Tully, "the block on which the three chums of the story dwelt in the Montmartre was called 'Anatole des Arts' by the author, whereas I found it to be in reality 'Andre des Arts.' And 'Crique Bashibazooks,' which figures prominently in the drama, was in reality 'Crique Boom Boom,' now called 'Crique Medrano,' and still used as a theatre.

"Having made our identifications positive," continued the noted producer, "we used four thousand performers in these theatre sequences, all of them in costume, and the result more than justified the effort in authenticity of atmosphere." In addition to the artists engaged in France —Andree Lafayette for the title role; Maurice Cannon for the part of Zouzon; and Max Constant for Dodor, Mr. Tully had with him in Pairs other principals who figure in those scenes, and his technical staff, which included James Young, director; George Benoit, cameraman; Wilfred Buckland, art director—all of whom, from first-hand knowledge of the locale of the story, were enabled, in completing the production in Hollywood, to assist the producer in achieving sincerity in what is felt, will come to be known as Richard Walton Tully's masterpiece.

BAN DIPHTHERIA BY THE SCHICK TEST AND TOXINS

TORONTO, Nov. 22.—"By the intelligent application of the knowledge we now possess the human race shortly can be made immune to the disease of diphtheria and it need no longer be retained on the list of communicable diseases," said a statement just issued by Dr. C. J. Hastings, medical director of health for Toronto. By the application of what is known as the Schick test, the statement says, it is now possible to determine what number of children in a group are susceptible to diphtheria and by the use of toxin-antitoxin they can be made immune and will not contract the disease, no matter how much they may be exposed to it.

OVER 40,000 AUTO LICENSES ISSUED IN ALBERTA IN 1923

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 21.—For the first time in its automotive history the number of motor vehicles licenses issued by the province this year exceeds 40,000.

This number has already been reached, as a matter of fact, according to returns in the provincial secretary's office. Last year the number of plates issued was 39,964.

The revenue this year from auto licenses is already considerable in excess of the total received last year. With more than another month to run the receipts at the government offices now total $733,200, while the total last year from this source was $718,000.

Death Rate Among Insured Falls By Over 40 Per Cent.

OTTAWA, Nov. 22—The death rate among insured lives in Canada, according to the report of the superintendent of insurance, has fallen over 40 per cent. in the last five years. In 1917 the rate is given at 11.1 while for 1922 it was 6.7.

The number of life policies terminated by death in 1922 was 28,607. The total amount of ordinary insurance carried in Canada is shown to be $2,759,000,000, policies of this class totalling 1,423,000. There are 2,739,000 industrial policies in force representing a total value of $387,000,000.

Recent statements made by members of the Legislature indicate that some of them are loosely informed when it comes down to the bedrock facts. This would suggest that those who occupy the positions of representatives of the people should exercise far greater care than they do when dealing with businesses or industries in which they are not engaged. Those who make the laws of the land should build them on a foundation of truth.

POLITICAL MEETING

Dr. J. W. McIntosh, ex-M.L.A., of Vancouver, addressed a meeting in the interests of the new Provincial Party of British Columbia at the Grand Theatre here on Wednesday evening. There was a fair attendance, the audience manifesting considerable interest in the political condition of British Columbia.

The speaker minutely outlined the aims of the new party and of its rapid growth, having now enrolled 23,000 members and over 300 meetings have been held throughout the Province in its interest. He stated that the party had come into being through an honest effort to bring the Province from the financial morass it was in at present, and to do so it was necessary to break away from the old line parties. Quoting Premier Oliver's statement during the Pacific Great Eastern Railway investigation "It is high time that the people of British Columbia were beginning to learn something of the truth and I propose inauguarting a new era, making this Province a very uncomfortable place of residence for scoundrels who swindle tax-payers of millions." The speaker then charged both Premier Oliver and Mr. Bowser, Leader of the Opposition, with direct collusion, each was afraid of an investigation for fear of their own part in the rake-offs alleged to have been made by both parties. Premier Oliver, he added, had failed miserably to live up to his statement at the investigation wth the result that the people of the Provnce were swinging over to the new party under the banner and motto of: "Let there be light." The party is sparing no efforts to ascertain the facts and are broadcasting them throughout the Province by issuing a monthly publication, "The Searchlight," which now has a circulation of 35,000 per month.

The new party held a preliminary convention at Vernon last January when their platform was formally drawn up and will hold a general convention at Vancouver commencing Tuesday, December 4, at which it is expected 300 delegates will attend, representing every constituency in the Province. At this convention, no proxies will be allowed or recognized and nothing will be cut and dried, the speaker asserted, it was to be a representation of farming interests, labor and business, industries and localities, each will be grouped at the opening of the convention to agree on planks in the new platform covering their needs, before presenting them to the general convention.

After the closing of the Public Meeting a sub meeting was held to appoint delegates from Fernie for the Vancouver convention, Messrs. D. O. Bricker and W. Minton being named. Delegates have also been named at Michel, Natal and Waldo.

LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE HOLD SOCIAL EVENING

As a means of fostering the get-together spirit in the membership of the Loyal Order of Moose and the Women of Mooseheart Legion, a series of social evenings have been arranged to take place at least once a month.

The series commenced on Tuesday evening last, when a large number of both lodges participated in a whist drive and dance. The prizes were awarded as follows: 1st Gens, Bro. A. Hilton; 2nd Gents, Bro. T. Morley; 1st Ladies, Sister M. Wilson; 2nd Ladies, Sister Lowrey. The booby prizes went to Bro. H. Harrison and Sister Savage. After the whist, the tables were laid and the assembly enjoyed the "eats" provided by the sisters, after which the patrons of the terpschicorean art enjoyed the puruits of their hobby to the strains of the piano, ably manipulated by Profesor T. Evans.

Members are requested to watch for announcements of the next social. All members of the L.O.O.M. and their wives and Women of Mooseheart Legion cordially invited. Gents 25c.; Ladies free.

ROGERS GAINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Tommy Rogers, of Nelson, on Saturday night at the Recreation club, earned the right to call himself the champion welterweight of the Kootenays, when he kayoed Gus Williams, of Fernie, in the first forty seconds of the tenth round, in their 10-round bout for the championship. Williams was, however, in the fight all the way through, and the knockout came quite unexpectedly to the majority of the fans. Up to the tenth, Williams had been fighting gamely and aggressively and had landed hard on the local boy, both to the body and head. At the opening of the tenth he came from his corner and swapped a couple to the head with Rogers. Rogers landed to the body and Williams lurched forward, apparently a little off his balance, Rogers put a left to the jaw followed by a right to the jaw and a smashing uppercut which put the Fernie lad to the canvas for the count of ten.

Rogers and Williams weighed-in on Saturday afternoon at 149½ pounds, but the sorrel-topped lad was at a disadvantage, as Rogers was rangier and had the longer reach. Taking the battle by rounds, Rogers won five and the last with a knockout, while two were drawn and two went to the Fernie lad.

The style of fighting as vastly different, Rogers having excellent foot work and more scientific knowledge of the game. while Williams was aggressive and used rushing tactics to great advantage, time after time he put Rogers to the ropes and inflicted punishment to the body and head.

Only one bad feature marred the bout, which was acclaimed by the fans as being the best ever staged in the city, this was the uncalled-for coaching from the spectators, the referee in the first and second rounds stopping the boxers to call spectators to order. Police aid was necessary to quell the noise. From the first gong to the end of the battle it was one of action.

NEW MANAGER IN CRANBROOK CO-OP.

The Cranbrook Co-Operative Store has been successful in securing an experienced manager to take charge of its business on Baker Street, in the person of Mr. Charles Spence, a well known grocery man. Mr. Spence is one of the pioneers of his profession and an old resident of Fernie district. Although coming to Cranbrook from Merritt where he has been in business for the past four years, Mr. Spence may lay just claim to a wide acquaintance in Cranbrook and Fernie districts. Coming to Michel in 1901, fresh from the Boer war, through which he served as a member of Canada's first contingent, he took service with the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company in its general store at Michel. Later he was an employee of the Trites - Wood Co., of Fernie, which company he served as store manager at Natal. Mr. Spence brings to the Co-Op. a store experience of about twenty-five years, together with a most enviable business reputation.—Cranbrook Courier.

COLEMAN CRULERS READY FOR SEASON

COLEMAN, Nov. 27.—The curlers are all prepared for the season. There will be in the neighborhood of twenty-three rinks. Quite a number of new faces will be seen around the "tee." The competition will be keener this year than before as there will be three cups to be played for.

The McGillivray cup and the cup for points have been open for competition every year, but this year Mr. A. M. Morrison is presenting a cup and so also are the business men.

Ringland, the ice man, is busy laying the foundation for ice. Jim wll have ce if the weather man will give a little more encouragement.

MAYOR SCORES BANK FAILURE

(Calgary Herald, Nov. 28)

Hundreds of Home Bank depositors in the Fernie branch are in dire straits as the result of the failure of that institution, according to Mayor G. G. Henderson, of that town, who was in the city on Wednesday. Mayor Henderson is on his way to Toronto, where he will represent the Fernie and Blairmore depositors at the meeting of creditors of the bank to be held on December 6.

Private citizens, the majority of whom are miners, clubs and associations, both sport and fraternal, and the town itself carried on business with that bank. Many of the citizens had their life savings in the bank and were now left penniless and were depending upon the town and other citizens with more means at their disposal to provide them with the necessites of life. In this class there are at least 300 old men, who lost everything and who were not capable of going out to work again and starting life over he said.

"It is the most cruel and most sad thing I have ever been connected with," said Mayor Henderson. "There is not a citizen or organization in Fernie that did not have deposits in the bank."

The mines there were not working steadily at the present tme, only from two to three days a week being available. "The city and neighbors are looking after those in distress, and, in the meantime, the governments, neither provincial or federal have taken a step to relieve the situation," he said.

"We feel that the Dominion government is responsible for this condition, as it was known for years that the bank was paying dvidends out of deposits."

While in the east Mayor Henderson will call on Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works in the King cabinet, who is sitting for the Fernie constituency, and endeavor to secure his support in getting the Dominion government to take some action.

FOX SPECIAL PRODUCTION WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

"Nero," the Wm. Fox super special made abroad, to be shown at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday, is all that has been said of it.

Undeniably at this moment, it is without doubt the finest, biggest picture so far shown for the coming season. Beyond that it rides into the classification of being one of the biggest, most spectacular and finest pictures ever made. And it will bring many and many a dollar into the box office. Two years from now, five years, ten, twenty, and many years beyond that it will still be good for a lot of money. It is the type of picture that will live forever.

All praise is due J. Gordon Edwards, who spent the greater part of a year on the production, all of which was made abroad, chiefly in Italy. The monster production easily shows the vast amount of work put into it. And Edwards has done, right on the ground of the so-called great foreign directors, what none of them has in years; he has built a monster spectacular production, with a big story, and cast it with foreigners. all save Volet Mersereau. But Gretillat gives a splendid performance as the spoiled and pampered Nero, and Alexander Salvini, descendant of a great tragedian, is excellent as Horatius, the real hero. Paulette Duval is magnificent as Poppaea.

Space precludes going into the big story. But the reign of Nero, with its pomp and splendor, its viciousness and wickedness, allows a background upon which Director Edwards has gathered together the biggest of the big moments from many plays and stories of that period. He has taken all of the big motif of Christianity from "The Sign of The Cross," all the magnificence of "Via Crucus," "Quo Vadis" and others, and hurled them into the camera. They say he had 26 working at one time. It is quite likely. It looks it.

WHIST DRIVE AN DANCE HELD AT COAL CREEK

The Club Hall was taxed to capacity on Thursday evening, the 22 inst., when the Coal Creek Ladies' Aid of Christ Church held a successful whist drive and dance in aid of church funds.

Quite a number of Fernites were present. Cards were indulged in from 9 to 10.30, then supper was served, after which the floor was cleared and Whitehouse Orchestra dispensed terpschicorean music in their inimitable way. The lght fantastic being indulged in until 2.30 a.m. when home waltz brought to a close a most successful and fnancial gathering.

The committee are deserving of great credit, the Chancellor of the Exchequer wearing the "smile that won't wear off" in consequence.

PYTHIAN SISTERS WILL HOLD BAZAAR ON DECEMBER 15th

The Pythian Sisters intend holding a bazaar on Saturday, December 15th.

A specialty will be made of little boys' clothing, pants and blouses especially, all made by mothers of little boys, who know from experience just what the little chaps need. There will be a table of toys of all descriptions, and, by the way, Barney's "Sparky" will be there, and you may win him by guessing how many pins are used on him.

Aprons in galore and some very nice fancy work suitable for Christmas presents. A table of home cooking also and afternoon tea will be served. Everything will be marked in plain figures, and instead of a fish pond, the youngsters will be able to select just what they want from the toy table. The prices of same will be an agreeable surprise.

FIRST FOX RANCH IN EAST KOOTENAY

The first shipment of silver black foxes for the local fox ranch arrived on Sunday last and were immediately removed to the location of the farm near the A. B. Smith ranch. The animals were seven days in transit from Prince Edward Island and reached Cranbrook in good condition. Owing to heavy demand for stock the company, headed by Mr. W. W. Warren, were unable to secure the complete allotment with the first shipment, only two pairs arriving Sunday. Within a month's time another five pairs will arrive, which will give the local company a good start. The company have erected a comfortable building for the keeper and have also purchased the Black property, which adjoins that of the new company. Mr. Warren will take possession some time next summer.

The animals are all registered stock and are valued at from $500.00 to $700.00 each. Parties desiring to embark in the business locally have already approached the company with a view to purchasing pups in the early spring. Mr. E. T. Cooper is president of the company and Mr. John Martin is secretary. Those interested in the concern are, in addition to the officers, W. M. Harris, William Wilson, W. W. Warren and L. P. Sullivan.—Cranbrook Courier.

HITS CANADIAN WOMANHOOD

On the day preceding or the day after "Armistice Day" in various parts of Canada tags were sold on the streets of our cities, the funds being devoted to the various good works pertaining to war veterans and their families. Malcolm Bruce, editor of "The Worker," celebrated the occasion by publishing in the columns of his paper an attack upon those who took part in this work, from which I will quote just one paragraph:

"Even the kept women of the bourgeoisie will indulge in the nasty slobberfast. They will 'do their bit' by bumming money on the street corners to feed those who were so unfortunate as to come back from the European catastraphe to face the greater catastrophe—Peace. These women, who taunted the workers for not shooting other workers at the bidding of their exploiters, living in idleness on the unpaid labor of the workers, amuse themselves by holding tag days, where they get vicarious thrills by accosting strange men and making themselves believe they are doing something noble and self-sacrificing. The Governments which promised so much to the soldiers now show their gratitude by leaving them to starve or depend upon charity under various guises. The depth to which humanity has descended is shown by the cowardice, and fear of public opinion, shown by the average man. This degeneracy is exploited by those in charge of such campaigns. They know the reluctance of the moron to being not of the crowd, hence their success in whedling the dime out of him with the mere expenditure of a prostitute smile—and a tag."

We are glad to see that decent labor men and decent labor papers lost no time in repudiating the "Red" Mr. Bruce and all his works. For instance the first editorial of "The Labor Leader" of the 16th inst. flays Bruce under the heading of "A Vile Slander." Of this I will quote one paragraph:

"We believe in the freedom of the press and open discussion of public questions, but apparently there is a limit. When irresponsible individuals are allowed to slander the wives, mothers and daughters of Canada, who are nobly doing their best to alleviate the sufferings of thousands of returned men, who cannot help themselves, then we are forced to take the position that there are some from whom this liberty of expression should be withheld."

Under the circumstances further comment seems almost unnecessary. One need not commend tag day methods of collecting funds in order to condemn Bruce and his outrageous libel on Canadian womanhood. A better method of collecting money for such purposes should be found, but that forms no excuse for Bruce and his filthy paper, in which he and his party stand self-condemned.—Saturday Night.

RUSSIA IS SLOWLY COMING BACK

Owing to a change of policy, from monumental folly to at least a species of sanity, Russia, taken as a whole, is unquestionably coming back. And the grim joke is that it is only by readopting old-time methods and old-time usages has the Russian Government been able to show progress. One by one the wild dreams of the Bolshevist regime have been cast aside. First there must be no money, no means of buying and selling other than by barter, and now the gold standard is being restored, and the Russian state bank has been issuing notes with a real gold reserve back of them. In respect to the peasants there has been an equally notable turn about. Lenin, Trotsky & Co. would have the Russian farmers work for the state, but as the farmers would not raise crops under such conditions, they were allowed to work for themselves under moderate taxation, and in consequence Russia now has sufficient grain for her own use and some for export. The Bolshevists started out to kill off the educated portion of Russia's population, and it must be admitted that they made a fairly good job of it, if one can believe even a fraction of the fearful tales of carnage which have filtered out from that country. But now the major portion of those at the head of Russian industry have had the benefit of university education.

Of course Russia as yet is by no means over her troubles. Her railways are in a fearful state of disrepair and will require millions upon millions of dollars expended upon them to bring them back to pre-war level. Her coal mines have not yet attained over one-quarter of the pre-war productions, while the output of the iron and steel industries will this year not attain over ten per cent. of production as compared with pre-war figures. These industries cannot be revived, it is said, until proper credits are established, allowing the free import of the necessary raw materials.

Where Russia has failed is in the restoration of public confidence, and this can come only when the present generation can either forget or forgive the atrocities—probably the greatest in human history—that are laid at the door of Russia's red regime.—Saturday Night.

Quebec to Repeat Carnival Success

1. The Guns which once defended the citadel now accommodate the small revellers. 2 and 6 are Ski-ing scenes. 3. These are out for a "bouncing" good time. 4. Skating in the Exhibition Grounds is also the order of the day. 5. "Negik" was born this year to the Chateau Frontenac dog team and he will probably figure largely in the dog race featuring the Winter Sport Program

QUEBEC is again to have a real, live carnival that shall be truly representative of the wonderful sporting attractions of the ancient Capital. The success of the dog races held in Quebec last year has encouraged the organizers to sponsor a very much bigger program for this year, and a comprehensive series of sporting events will be held on February 21, 22, and 23, in which all the sports for which Quebec is so naturally adapted will be represented, and culminating in a grand masquerade ball at the Chateau Frontenac. In addition to the international races for the Eastern Dog Sled Derby Trophy, there will be events in snow-shoeing, skiing, ice racing, curling and skating. The whole of these events will take place within the Exhibition Grounds, and it is proposed to once again give Quebec an ice palace.

The people of Quebec take, and naturally, a great pride in their wonderful old city, and the ancient capital is not so large that its people cannot get together on occasion to fete en masse. A carnival in Quebec is not to be forgotten, for the whole populace absorbs the spirit of the season, drawing its visitors into the gay vortex, so that even the walls which rang to laughter centuries ago lose their aged atmosphere, and lend themselves to the fete.

By reason of its even and exhilarating climate, its accessibility and natural and artificial opportunities for sport, Quebec is the home of the winter sports for the continent. Each wintry season, more people are attracted to it, and for long periods it becomes the social centre, as well as the sporting centre of North America. Practically everything that is carried on is on an open scale—Quebec is the soul of hospitality. A hundred rinks invite you to skate, as far as you can see, fir-clad hills invite you to ski through their myriad glorious glades, of toboggan slides there are not a few, and there are many excursions which simply must be made on snow-shoes As for evening entertainment the ball room of the Chateau Frontenac is the scene of a dance nightly. There are moonlight excursions, events on all illuminated rinks music, song and dance,—a thousand things to do

Fifty cars of fish were shipped this season from Lesser Slave Lake to various points in Canada and the United States, the majority going to cities in the Eastern States. These shipments were practically all whitefish, the coarser varieties being disposed of in the local markets.

Showing a record increase over the figures of last year, grain loadings in the Western Provinces since the commencement of the crop year, September 1st, aggregate 82,219 cars, representing 136,958,448 bushels, as against 80,828 cars loaded, or 130,287,194 bushels, from September 1st to October 14th, 1922.

During this period the Company had, by direct effort of its own, secured the settlement of over 100,000 farmers in Western Canada.

According to information received by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg, sixty-three bushels of wheat to the acre has been harvested on the farm of T. M. Ballantyne, three miles north of Lacombe, Alberta. The wheat graded No. 1 and weighed 64 pounds to the bushel.

Weighing 3,170 pounds, a steer, said to be the largest ever received in Winnipeg, arrived at the union stockyards from Wainwright, Alberta. It was sold for $250, the highest selling price of any steer in Winnipeg since the war.

The Canadian Pacific S.S. "Bruton," which arrived in Liverpool on September 5th, put up what is considered to be a record in the speedy discharge of cargo when she sailed the following day, Sept. 6th, at 7 p.m., having discharged over 2,000 tons of cargo.

It is announced that the Canadian Pacific Railway will increase the size of its irrigation headgates at Kimball, in southern Alberta, by 50 per cent in anticipation of an increase in area of 40,000 acres in the Lethbridge district. Water will be turned into the ditches of the Lethbridge Northern project, it is expected, some time this fall.

Buffalo steak will be abundant in Canada this fall. A herd of 2,000 surplus Buffalo wandering on the range in the National Park at Wainwright will be slaughtered by an Order-in-Council, and the meat and skins sold. For several years the Government has paid special attention to the preservation of the buffalo and the work has been so successful that the National Parks are now overstocked.

At a dinner given in his honor by the Vancouver Board of Trade, E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, announced that the Company proposed immediately to add two large modern steamers to its coast fleet in order to take care of its increasing tourist traffic over the Company's Pacific Coastal lines. He also announced the early completion of a new pier at Vancouver at a cost of several millions.

There have been large increases in the number of pure bred animals in Canada during the decade between the last two censuses. The increase in the number of pure bred horses between 1911 and 1921 was 44 per cent; of cattle, 139 per cent; of sheep, 75 per cent, and of swine, nearly 44 per cent. The number of pure bred horses in the Dominion in 1921 was 47,782; cattle, 296,656; sheep, 93,643, and of swine, 81,143.

A conservative estimate of the amount of money spent in Quebec by tourists reaches $2,358,750. From the beginning of May until the first of September, 15,000 motor tourists had called for information at the offices of the Quebec Auto Club. Taking an average of four people to each car, this meant that at least 60,000 people had come to the city by automobiles. Of this number there were approximately 3,000 camping parties, or 12,000 people.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Treat Head Colds With Vicks

Manitoba Lady Says It Is "A Great Remedy."

At the first sign of a cold in the head, melt a little Vicks VapoRub in a spoon. Inhale the vapors. Then insert some in nostrils, snuffling it well back. You will be delighted to see how quickly it helps to break up a cold.

Another way is to heat a tin cup, put in a teaspoonful of Vicks and inhale the vapors that way. As fast as the vapors lose their strength, throw out the melted Vicks and add fresh.

Mrs. J. Briars, of Plumas, Manitoba, says: "Vicks VapoRub is a great remedy for colds. I inhaled it for a head cold, which had troubled me for sometime, and received great relief from it. I shall make sure to always have Vicks on hand in case of need."

Vicks VapoRub, the discovery of a Southern druggist, is a combination in salve form of Camphor, Menthol, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine,, etc. It is good for all cold troubles.

Applied externally over throat and chest as in the case of a chest cold, sore throat, etc., Vicks acts like a liniment or poultice. In addition, the ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and are inhaled directly into the inflamed air passages. This double action quickly loosens a cold.

Vicks is the ideal treatment for colds—both for grown-ups and for children—because it avoids so much internal dosing. Just as good, too, for cuts, burns, bruises, sores, stings and skin itchings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

The world's record for grain trains was shattered by the Canadian Pacific Railway on October 5th, with a monster train of 125 car loads of wheat, over a mile long, which operated between Stoughton and Arcola. The contents of the cars, 185,000 bushels, weighed 5,566 tons.

All grain loading records in Alberta were completely smashed by the Canadian Pacific on October 10th when the Company loaded 753 cars, representing at least 1,065,200 bushels. If these cars were placed together they would make up a freight train about six miles in length, and a baker's dozen of these trains would extend from Calgary to Banff, a distance of 82 miles.

A record in western railroad construction was established on the Canadian Pacific Lanigan-Melfort line recently, when the last mile of track between Lanigan and Pleasantdale was completed in one day. D. A. Livingstone, engineer in charge, reports that seventy per cent of his crew of 25 were British harvesters.

Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture co-operated in the purchase in the British Isles of a large stock of horses, swine and sheep, including sheep owned by His Majesty the King, which arrived here recently. This is the second shipment of cattle to Canada through the co-operation of the agricultural departments with sheep and swine breeders throughout the Dominion.

T. K. Doherty, the Canadian Commissioner in the International Institute of Agriculture, estimates Canada's exportable wheat surplus this year at 300 million bushels, as against 150 millions from the United States, 110 from Argentina, 50 from Australia, and 15 from Russia. Canada, in fact, may be expected to supply nearly half the wheat exports of the whole world—300 out of 675 million bushels.

E. W. Beatty, K.C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, speaking at important centres on his recent extensive tour through the Canadian West, sounded a note of optimism, declaring that the general improvement in Canadian business conditions rendered an accompanying growing pessimism entirely unjustifiable. Stressing the need for a vigorous, intensive immigration policy by the government, he put forward as suggestions that the department of immigration and colonization should issue a general invitation through Great Britain, the United States and certain European countries, for settlers, and that greater advantage should be taken of the favorable policies towards emigration to Canada adopted by the governments of Great Britain and other countries.

If you become disabled what about your Life Insurance?

"I HAVE always hesitated about increasing my life insurance because of the responsibility I would have to assume for the premiums," said a man who typifies a considerable class. "I always pictured myself in some situation, perhaps disabled through an accident, where I might be unable to pay the premiums."

But you may now insure against this possibility of future inability to pay your premiums. For a small additional charge the Mutual Life of Canada will issue your policy subject to a clause which provides that in case of total and permanent disability the Company will waive further premiums.

That is not all. Upon approval of proofs of disability, the Company will not only waive future premiums, but will pay $10 a month per $1,000 of assurance, so long as total disability continues.

And further, if the policyholder should die by accident the Company will pay double the amount of life insurance named in the policy. These new clauses are optional in all old or new Mutual policies if assured be over 15 or under 55 years of age.

Christmas

When the turks have ceased to gobble,
An' are bein' stuffed to eat,
And the ducks no longer wobble,
On their pigeon-toey feet;
When the odors from the oven
Come to tempt the sons o' men,
It's a sign that that ol' lovin'
Day—Christmas's here again!

When the pumpkin, fat an' juicy,
Is tranformed into a pie,
An' your Ma and Aunt Jerushy
Keep the kitchen stove "on high";
When the cellar's store o' cider,
Pickles, jellies an' preserves,
Makes you let your belt out wider,
To accomodate the curves.
When the air is full o' spices,
An' the scent o' things a-bake,
An' the freezer's freezin' ices,
An' there's frostin' on the cake;
When the folks—both kin and neighbors,
Start appearin' on the scene,
Lookin' hungry—like, b'jabers!—
You can guess what it may mean!

When the guests have all foregathered
'Round the moanin', groanin' board,
An' their smilin' lips are lathered,
An' their appetites have soared;
When the gobbler's stuffed with dressin'
To be gobbled up by men,
You can thank God for the blessin'
O' Christmas Day, again.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE END OF DRUDGERY

A headline worth turning over in the mind blazoned its somewhat doubtful message of hope across the top of a recent newspaper column. The headline proclaimed as follows:

ELECTRICITY TO END DRUDGERY
BY 2023, ASSERTS STEINMETZ

The Steinmetz referred to in the headline is the late "Wizard of Schenectady" whose exploits in the field of electrical invention and development had placed him abreast of the great Edison himself. It is doubtful that the late Doctor Steinmetz said precisely what the headline attributes to him. If there is any man alive who knows what drudgery means and appreciates its everlasting value that man should have been the late Steinmetz. Like Edison's, his success was the product of unremitting toil. He was one of the world's premier drudges himself. And there can be little doubt that he was as well aware as any man that drudgery is the price of existence and advancement for the human race, just as it is for the individual, and that when drudgery ceases the vitality of the race will sicken and die.

The copy-desk man who wrote that headline misapprehended the late Steinmetz's meaning. What the great lighting master tried to make clear in the ensuing text was that at a not distant day much of the labor we now perform with our hands will be accomplished by electric power and the energies we now apply to physicial toil will be released for use at some other kind of drudgery—presumably mental.

One of the first lessons of life we must learn and accept is that "Man's work is never done." The accomplishment of one task suggests and leads to the undertaking of another. If the day ever dawns when labor of every kind now known is performed by the automatic machine it is very certain that we shall have invented new kinds of labor to keep us busy our full eight hours a day.

If the man of a hundred or more years ago could have forseen the multicipity and extent of labor-saving devices that serve the present generation he might very well have concluded, if he were a hasty reasoner, that the twentieth century would be a workless era. Yet there is more work to be done in the world today than ever before. We have found things to do that the man of 1823 never dreamed of. Moreover there are more people in the world demanding that things be done for them. As far into the future as our imaginations can stretch the cycle will continue to roll round. More and more work will be done by machinery, but more and more work, of new and different kinds, will be evolved by the indefatigable minds of men to be accomplished by human hands and brains.

As it is for the race, so it is for the individual. There are few men who at one time or another in thier lives have not deluded themselves with the vain ambition of leisure. "Some day," says the average man to himself, "I will punch the clock for the last time and go home for the rest of my life to enjoy of my labor in leisure. I will work no longer." But how few men ever fulfill that promise. Most of us are caught by death while we are still in the harness. We could not quit if we would because there is some occult urge within us that tells us cessation of work is stagnation and death. Those men who do quit cannot help themselves. Stagnation has already set in. The energy to work, or play, or do anything but sit and wait for the end has left them. There are, of course, a handful of men who leave their chosen professions deliberately while their vitality is still high. But they don't stop working. They write memoirs or do something equally arduous. When a man's work is done it is a sure sign that he is done himself. And when the race stops working the end of the world will be at hand.

The Postmaster General has sent out the usual announcement regarding the mailing of Christmas packages. The suggestions, although old, are worth your consideration. The department suggests, nay, it pleads, that you

MAIL EARLY

These are sound, sensible suggestions. If everybody followed them, the facilities of the Fernie postoffice will be adequate.

Better write to the United States Government Savings System, Washington, D.C., and get the pamphlet, "How Other People Get Ahead." Folks who are not much used to business would gain special help from this booklet.

The government gives 12 danger signs suggesting how to avoid bad investments. It tells people to "read advertising."

One good piece of advice is "keep track of all disbursements." In former days the majority of people kept cash accounts. How many do so now? It is a first step toward thrift. Keep an account faithfully, classify the expenditures each month and then at the end of a year you can tell if you are spending more than a normal amount in any special way.

Brevity may be the soul of wit, but abbreviation is not the soul of high sentiment and sacredness that attach to Christmas. Why abbreviate the syllable that carries it sacred meaning? Why make it "X"? Surely the ink or space or trouble saved does not warrant marring a word that holds such high place in heart and memory; certainly Christ's birthday should be generously dealt with. It's "Christmas" in speech, let is be so in writing.

———oooooooo———

This weather is hard on chronic grouches. Oh, no, not the fact of the sunshine, or even the gentle rain, both of which we are just discovering, really have much to recommend them. It's the time of the year, you know—the short days and the long nights. It's the mysterious sly whispering, the conversations that stop so abruptly when certain persons appear.

It's the laughter we hear, now more than ever, on the streets, in the living, at the bench. The desk, the barnyard. It's the wistful look kids have, the unsuccessful attempts they make to read the countenance of their parents. What scowling old grump can escape it.

You may have the rheumatism, the wheat may still be on your hands with no market. Uncle Henry may have died and left you not a penny, but somehow about this time of year you can't help being happy.

The entire nation becomes infected with this curious seasonal malady. And they do say it's as prevalent in foreign countries, too. For a fellow to escape it, he would have to go way out on the prairie, dig his grave and then lie in it. And then the chances are someone would come along and wish the compliments of the season.

So that's no use, old bears, cross patches, frowners and mean folk. You've just got to smile from now on until Christmas. It's in the air. Merry Christmas! Say it with joy. Maybe a little of the gladness will stick in your soul through the year.

The person who has regular employment usually has no time to get into mischief.

Because the boys went over the top during the war, they do not see why they should go under now.

All members of the Knights of Pythias are requested to make a special effort to be present at the next regular meeting. Important business.

Mrs. Clair Almond has, through her family, been successful in entering her son, James Stewart Armstrong Almond, for Eton College, England. He will enter Eton after his eleventh year.

The Doctors' Question evidently is not settled yet as evidenced by the long session of the Medical Committee of Gladstone Local Union held on Tuesday evening. Notice have been posted instructive to the membership.

Mrs. G. L. Motion. of Nelson. B.C., president of the Rebekah Assembly of B. C., is in the city today and will pay her official visit to the Esther Rebekah Lodge at a specal meeting of that order this evening.

There is a lot of sickness in the city among the children. Little Jack Crossman, who has been desperately ill with pneumonia, is now improving and every hope is entertained for his recovery.

John Maretti, an Italian miner, employed in No. 8 New mine at Michel, was caught under a small fall of roof dirt while at his work last Saturday sustainng a fracture of the spine.

The members of the Ladies' Basket Ball Club gave a very enjoyable dance in the I. O. O. F. Halll on Friday evening last. The "peppy" music dispensed by the Firemen's Orchestra added considerably to the evening's enjoyment.

Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, announces that the coal production for October was 228,293 tons, an increase of 46 659 tons over September. The minister proposes a tax on fuel oil, hoping in this way to increase coal production.

The Rotary Club has finally decided to pull off a Moccasin Dance in the Skating Rink early in the year to raise money for boys' work in the city of Fernie. A committee consisting of five members has been appointed to arrange a program and the Rotary Club will do everything in their power to make the affair a success.

There is considerable uneasiness among those interested in the wholesale liquor houses in B.C. over the conference now being held between representatives of the U. S. Government and Canada on the question of the exportation of liquor to the United States. Any interference on the part of the Canadian Customs would doubtless put these houses out of business.

Local radio fans have been trying in vain to listen in on the English broadcasting. Wm. Johnston's radio parlors have been crowded every night to hear the prorams which are coming in from Canadian and American ciities. On Frday evenng last he put the big horn outside and the machine could easily be heard all over the business section.

A short time ago we thought that we had reached the limit in recording the theft of an overcoat from poor old blind Mack, a well-known Fernie mendicant, but another steal nearly as bad was reported to the police this week. John Minton, who has been ill for several years and manages to get along in a way by running a small farm, killed a fine big pig and hung it outside overnight. In the morning he discovered that some sneak thief had cut the carcass in two and packed off all he could carry.

The lquor cases which have been before Judge Thompson in the County Court here this week, came to a close this afternoon when the cases against Mrs. Norris and Pete Bratten were dismissed while Joe Perri and Pete Micketitch were each sentenced to six months imprisonment. In giving his judgment, His Honor voiced his disapproval of the Department in their allowing the special constables to go through the Province and obtain evidence in one hundred and fifty cases before one was brought to trial and thus evidence was solely based on notes taken and not on recollection.

ONTARIO WAIVES PRIOR RIGHTS ON DEPOSITS

TORONTO, Nov. 28.—Following a conference between Premier Ferguson, Attorney-General W. F. Nickle and G. T. Clarkson, liquidator for the Home Bank of Canada, the government decided to waive for a period of eighteen months its prior right to the full payment of $1,500,000 of provincial monies on deposit with the bank.

Now that the government has decided to waive its prior claim, it is stated from other sources that the payment of the 25 per cent. dividend to the depositors will commence as speedily as possible.

Special depositors' committees have waited on Premier Ferguson a number of times in an effort to have the government give up its priorty claim altogther, but the government was not prepared to go as far as this.

"The deferment which we have granted will work almost as well," said the premier following the conference today The government deposit wil bear interest at three per cent. This deferment means a saving to the depositors of about two per cent. or $37,500, as the amount involved would have to be borrowed from the Canadian Bankers' Association at five per cent interest."

The local G.W.V.A. have gone to considerable expense during the past few months to make their quarters comfortable for the members. A new steam heating plant has been recently installed.

W. Beaudrey and Lawrence Cheston, two of Fernie's big game hunters, returned home Tuesday after beng in the hills two weeks. They secured one of the finest specimens of grizzly bear shot in this district in a number of years, measurng nearly 8 feet; they also got the limit of goat and deer.

The boxing fans were pleased to learn of the game fight put up by Gus Williams n his encounter with Tommy Rogers, of Nelson, regretting, however, the unfortunate occurrance in the tenth round, which has necessitated Williams staying in Nelson under medical care. He is expected to get back to Fernie on Saturday evening.

The Ladies' Aid of Michel Methodist Church held a most successful bazaar in Michel Hall on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. W. R. Wilson, of Fernie, opened the sale. She was accompanied by Miss Wilson. The hall was tastefully decorated in violet and amber colors. A special feature for the kiddies was a fairy tree, attended by 3 fairies. Plain and fancy sewing, candy, flowers, dolls, home cooking stalls with afternoon tea had a busy two hours, resulting in a good substantial sum for church purposes.

In the new redistribution bill the Grand Forks and Greenwood ridings will be combined, as will part of Trail and Rossland. North Kaslo will become part of Slocan, while there will be a new riding of Creston. There will be another new constituency, Burnaby, to comprise that section of South Vancouver east of Victoria Drive. Another new riding will be called Mackenzie, to embrace the mainland section of Comox and several polls of Prince Rupert. Prince Rupert will be reduced in size. Ominecа and Kamloops may be enlarged and given two members each. Vancouver will still have six members but Victoria will have only three instead of four. Point Grey and Richmond will be included in one constituency, while the balance of the Lower Mainland riding will have few changes. Peace River will not be given a member at present, but Fort George may be reduced in size in order to permit the representative of that riding more opportunity to look after the interior of Peace River.

Mrs. R. L. Thornton writes us at length complaining that her child was severly injured by a cross dog belonging to a local citizen. She alleges that the dog was not destroyed by the police, but was shipped out of town by the owner and that instead of being fined about one hundred dollars, as she thinks he richly deserved, he was let off by the Magistrate with a paltry five dollars and costs.

There are lots of good frames around cheap pictures in many houses in Fernie. A few of these with some of our pictures of mountain scenery in them instead will brighten up you walls. If Fernie people wonder why the Americans are so keen to get our hootch, the following description by Prof. E. O. Leonard, of the Idaho Technical Institute, wil throw some light on the subject: " 'Extremely filthy' are the words in which Prof. Leonard describes the many samples that he has tested for state agents. Among some of the samples examined have been found animal tissue and hair from rats and mice that have fallen into the fermenting materials. Flies are common in a larger proportion of the drinks seized. In fact, he says, 'in one 40-gallon barrel of raisin mash there was a layer of dead flies two inches thick.' "

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Several hundred barbers of B. C. are extending thanks to The Hook for its service in ridiculing the propsed Bill to put the barbers on the list of learned professions. The barbers at first thought it might be a good thing, but later decided that it would place arbitrary powers in the hands of a few, and, in the long run, injure their business. The Bill has been withdrawn.

Vancouver, Nov. 28. — Sensational evidence incriminating officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police of complicity in the narcotic drug traffic has been tendered at the enquiry of the charges made by Attorney-General Manson. Mrs. Jones, wife of a longshoreman, told of accompanying Constables Smith and Eccles to the C. P. R. steamer Empress of Russia and bringing ashore in her clothing so heavy a load of cocaine that she was unable to step onto a street car and the men were obliged to call a taxi-cab. Her husband testified that next day he had received $1200 for his wife's services in bringing the stuff ashore, from one, Fernandez, employed as a special agent of the Mounted Police. Leal Streeter, formerly of Fernie, B.C., a well known drug addict, now serving a sentence in Okalla prison told of buying cocaine from Constable J. P. Smith who had promised him immunity from arrest as a drug addict. Recently Streeter was arrested by city officers. Inspector Tully of the Vancouver force who has been active in bringing many of the larger drug peddlers to justice lately, was called by counsel for the Attorney-General to speak of matters he noticed in regard to Constables Eccles, reflecting on the latter's conduct as an officer, but this testimony was not allowed by the Commissioner. Messrs. E. P. Davies, K.C., J. B. Pattullo, K.C., and J. A. Russell, K. C. are appearing for the defense of the Mounted Police officers and Mr. C. L. Harrison is prosecuting on behalf of Attorney-General Manson. Further sensational evidence is promised.

Vancouver, Nov. 28. — Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., was regaled with a lively heckling bout by striking longshoremen when she delivered an address at the Liberal hall on Friday evening last, but managed to more than hold her own. Allegatons that sixty men were starving in Nanaimo as a result of her recent immigration mission to England were made, which the lady member answered by asserting that enquiry by Mr. J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor, showed that the "sixty" were only sixteen; that all of them had come of their own accord, at the invitation of relatives or friends here; that not one of them had attended any of her meetings in England; and that the only man to come and see her personally, never returned to take the position of blacksmith in a lumber camp up the coast that she had procured for him and notified him of. The hecklers left the room in a body during the singing of the National Anthem.

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Offering to devote half a year's free service to the lepers of Colion Island, to demonstrate the efficacy of chiropractic, Dr. W. Forsythe, local drugless healer, has submitted application to the Department of Health, Washington, D. C. He cites instances where elephantiasis and kindred ills have yielded to his treatments, and believes he can remove the cause of leprosy in cases that are not too far advanced. He states that he is serious in his offer to aid the outcasts of the world's most hideous disease.

Vancouver, Nov 28.—A demand is made by The Hook upon the Imperial authorities to secure official denial of a story printed in the Japanese language papers of Hawaii, San Francisco, Seattle and Vancouver upon the alleged authority of "The American Navy" that during the recent earthquake at Yokohama, a British P. & O. Liner took a cargo of six hundred women refugees to sea and that the officers and crew threw overboard all women who would not consent to be violated by them. The Japanese papers assert that the story was told by "The American Navy," which had picked up one of the women in the sea screaming for help. Branding the story as a mischevious and obvioos lie, but which, unless silenced, may have a similar effect to the story of the sinking of the Maine, The Hook prints, this week, a translation of the story from the Japanese press, and calls for an official enquiry and denial.

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—Change in the beer laws of the province is foreshadowed by Attorney-General Manson, who has announced his intention to take powers to put an end to the beer clubs which the municipalities of Vancouver, Victoria and other municipalities have licensed. These have become a public scandal. With the passing of the beer clubs it is expected that Hon. Mr. Manson will make some modification of the present law so as to enable persons to procure beer or light wines by the glass instead of by the dozen bottles or barrel or case as at present. Whether this will be done by sale at the vendors, or through the granting of permits to standard hotel keepers, or by means of local option to municipalities, is now being made the subject of discussion in the caucus.

Vancouver, Nov. 28.—The muncipal pot is now boiling merrily, with a three-cornered fight for mayor and a score or so of aldermanic candidates. Two of the candidates are now serving as aldermen, one, Ald. Pettipiece, being the labor candidate. The third candidate, who is running strongly, is former mayor L. D. Taylor, who served four years.

Vancouver, Nov. 28—Shades of the old time election with free beer and brass bands, here is a candidate who gives tea and a nice dance to attract his crowd of ladies and gentlemen! This enterprising candidate is Andrew Blygh, J.P., who is running strongly for alderman. His caucus dances are proving highly popular and appeal to the lady voters in addition to the men folk who dance and make merry at intervals not employed by Mr. Blygh's campaign addresses.

BUFFALO HUNT AT WAINWRIGHT

After becoming an almost forgotten memory, even to the oldest plainsmen in the west, buffalo steaks, tongues, and pemmican will again grace the menus of many of the leading hotels of the continent, as well as of railway dining cars.

The buffalo, one-time monarch of the plains, is again about to figure as an article of food. At Wainwright, Alberta, on the main line of the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Government herd has increased to such an extent that it has been found necessary to slaughter 2,000 of the animals this fall. There are now 8,300 buffaloes in the herd, which was started sixteen years ago by the purchase of 716 buffalo from Michael Pablo, a Mexican half-breed rancher of Montana. As this number is too great for the Government to maintain, and also as the comparative increase of the sexes of the animals makes it necessary that many of the bulls be killed off, contracts have been let for the slaughtering and dressing of the animals.

The meat, hides and heads are to be placed on sale and enquiries which have already been received indicate that all of the products of the herd will find a ready market at prices which will go a long way toward paying for the upkeep of the herd.

The hunt this fall, which takes place on November 1st, will in some ways be reminiscent of the old days when the Indian hunted the lordly buffalo all over the northwestern plains. Cowboys and Indians will herd the animals down toward their winter pasture and there will cut out of the main herd those animals which it has been decided to slaughter. Then they will be driven toward the place designed for the dressing of the carcases and there they will be despatched by expert marksmen with rifles. While the Indians will take part in the roundup, their bows and arrows will, in this case give way before the modern rifle as it is important from the standpoint of the quality of the meat that the animals be despatched with the first shot.

Movie men will film the "hunt" in connection with the preparation of a picture which is later to be released throughout the world.

Here and There

The season for moose hunting opened in New Brunswick October 1st, and the chief game warden expects one of the best seasons in the history of the province. Game is reported plentiful in all sections.

The drydock at St. John, New Brunswick, is now an accomplished work. It was opened October 29th. The largest drydock in North America, it is capable of accommodating the largest ships of the British Navy.

Speaking in London, England, on October 19th, Sir Lomer Gouin, Canadian Minister of Justice, stated that Canada's exports per capita were three times more than those of the United States and her imports per capita four times more. The British Empire was Canada's second best customer.

There are more telephones in Canada per 100 population than in any other country except the United States. This is shown in a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in which the proportion of telephone users per 100 population is set at 10.53.

A dispatch from London states that a number of cattle from the Prince of Wales' ranch was included in a large consignment of Canadian cattle which reached Cardiff recently. There appeared to be a keen demand for the consignment and 150 head were despatched to Norfolk farmers by special train.

Members of the Bread and Cake Bakers' Association of Canada, at the closing session of their Toronto convention, pledged subscriptions totalling $10,000 towards the launching of a permanent institute of baking, in connection with the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. It is expected that the school will be opened early in 1924.

Canadian Pacific Railway figures show remarkable increases in the shipment of grain for the ten week days preceding and including October 18th, this year, as compared with 1922. During the ten days there were loaded for shipment over the whole system a total of 16,195 cars, at the rate of 2,350,000 bushels a day, in comparison with 12,000 cars at 1,753,000 bushels a day last year.

It is expected that by the end of the present month track-laying on the branch of the Canadian Pacific running from Kipawa to the Government dam on the De Quinze River, a distance of 69 miles, with a spur from Gaboury to Ville Marie, a distance of 8 miles, will be completed and that by the end of November the whole line will be ready for operation.

A system of education by mail for those who live in remote rural districts out of reach of rural schools is being prepared by Hon. Perron Baker, Minister of Education for Alberta, to go into effect this month. The working plan has already been drawn up to run through the winter to the end of the school year. It is expected that from 20 to 40 lessons will be given in the case of each applicant for the service.

Of 526 girls brought to Saskatchewan from the British Isles from 1920 to June 15, 1923, only six have returned overseas, and of the sum of $45,411.55 advanced to the girls the sum of $42,980.98 had been repaid up to June 15th, 400 having repaid their loan in full and the balance of 126 paying all but the sum of $2,430.57. The girls came to Canada to positions as household workers.

Nova Scotia Interior as Moose Pasture

Nova Scotia is a country of lakes and streams, offering many ideal canoe trips, and the interior is a great moose pasture. Ideal, too, is the moose hunting, because both the canoe and automobile are used by hunters and guides, thus saving many miles of weary hiking through the wilderness. On the Liverpool chain of lakes reached from South Milford via Annapolis Royal or Digby, and on Lake Kedgemakooge, Lake Rossignol, Lake Munro, Loon Lake and the Liverpool River expert Indian and white guides use the canoes for long distances and even call the moose to the shore with their birch bark horns. When some distant point is to be reached from "Del" Thomas' South Milford camp, canoes, guides, hunters and duffle are loaded upon a big motor truck for the journey.

South Milford is 15 miles from Annapolis Royal and is a favorite outfitting point. So is the Kedgemakooge Rod and Gun Club, on famous Lake Kedgemakooge, in the heart of the wilderness 36 miles from Annapolis Royal. Both of these camps have ample accommodations and plenty of canoes and reliable guides.

The Nova Scotian moose season lasts from Oct. 1 to Nov. 15. Deer are as plentiful as moose, and the open season for this game lasts from Oct. 16 to Nov. 31.

Although large numbers of moose are shot each year, many with magnificent "spreads," the annual increase is said to equal the kill Such guides as Louis Harlow, half-breed Micmac and Sam Globe, full-blooded Indian, are expert moose callers and stalkers and rarely disappoint the hunter. The cleverness with which they simulate the calls of the cow moose with a simple roll of birch bark fashioned into a horn, is sure to fool the wisest old bull in the wilderness. When the calling season is past, the moose no longer comes to the hunter and the hunter must go to him. Neither canoe, nor automobile figures much in this phase of moose hunting except that one, or both, may help the hunter near the place where the quarry is supposed to be and carry him home when the hunt is over.

CANADIAN NEWS BRIEFS

Manitoba Wins Prizes — Manitoba won three firsts out of five sections in the creamery butter contest at the Royal Toronto Winter Fair, according to word reaching Winnipeg.

Wintering in Britain—Residents of all the western provinces were among a party of nearly 200 persons who left Winnipeg by Canadian National trains on November 21st to embark on the White Star liners "Regina" and "Antonia" at Montreal to spend their winter holidays in Great Britain.

Re-Stocking Western Lakes—Fifty-six cases of whitfish eggs for "planting" in the lakes near Port Arthur and Fort Frances, were carried westward from Toronto over the Canadian National Railways last week-end.

Oil Strike at Wainwright—Reports of an oil strike made by British Petroleums Limited in their well near Wainwright, Alberta, have led a rush for oil leases being made on the land office at Edmonton.

Soldiers Making Good—Soldier settlers in the western provinces are making good and are optimistic as to the future, according to L. B. Boyd, chief inspector of branches for the Soldiers' Settlement Board, who has just completed a tour of the west. The majority of Saskatchewan and Alberta soldier settlers have already made this year's payments on their land and a large number have paid up arrears which in many cases were not expected this year.

Hungarians For Canada-Thousands of good farmers in the lost provinces of Hungary are anxious to move to Canada to make new homes for themselves and their families, states Dr. Stephen Dobey, commissioner-embassy of the Hungarian government, who is in Western Canada now, looking into prospects.

"Canada The Best Country"—"After visiting every country of importance in North and South America, I am convinced that Canada is by far the best country for people to migrate to at the present time," declared Sir John Pitka, former Russian admiral, on his return to Winnipeg after an extensive tour of the west. Sir John intends, on his return to Esthonia, to urge his people to come to Canada in search of better homes and living conditions.

Transfer Young Buffalo—Approximately 2,000 young buffalo from Wainwright Buffalo Park, on the line of the Canadian National Railways, will be rounded up next spring and sent to the wood bison park in the Slave Lake country next spring, it is announced.

Wheat Exports Increase — More than 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were exported to the United States during October as against 1,710,000 bushels in October of last year. Total October exports of wheat from Canada were 29,070,547 bushels as against 37,593,074 bushels in October 1922.

C. G. M. M. Vessels Busy—Practically all of the services of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine have done very well during the present season, according to an announcement made by Capt. E. E. Tedford, Marine Superintendent. "Business has been good, not only on the ocean routes but also on the Great Lakes," Capt. Tedford stated. "Our smaller vessels having been employed everywhere to good purpose. The service to Australia and New Zealand has shown particularly good results."

Crop Marketing Records — More than 300,000,000 bushels of the 1923 crop had left the farmers' hands by the end of last week, it was estimated by railway officials in Winnipeg. On November 21st of this year the Canadian National Railways reported total marketings on their western lines since September 1st of 133,333,000 bushels as against 108,972,000 bushels in the same period last year. Canadian National deliveries at the Head of the Lakes this year are showing a daily average total approximately 250 cars higher than during the same period of 1922.

Sir Henry Optimistc — Optimism, based on a splendid October showing of the Canadian National Railways and also on the good prospects for the balance of the year, was expressed by Sir Henry W. Thornton, chairman and president of the board of the Canadian National, on his arrival in Winnipeg recently. The grain movement, Sir Henry stated, has eclipsed all previous records, the net earnings of the company during October showed an increase of over 5,000,000 as compared with the same month of last year, and two of the best months of the year were yet to be entered upon.

A Satisfied Harvester—"I have no complaints to make and am pleased that I have received every consideration and assistance and have been able to find employment without any trouble whatsoever. If a man is willing to work there is absolutely no reason why he should not do so, as far as Canada and the west are concerned," writes C. S. Roberts, of Dublin, Ireland, a British harvester, who has returned to Winnipeg after spending some months in the harvest fields. Mr. Roberts' letter was in answer to some of the complaints voiced by Old Country harvesters who told of finding little work or sympathy because of their inexperience.

Coming For Big Game — Hundreds of Minnesota citizens are making preparations to come to Manitoba for the opening of the big game hunting season on December 1st, according to enquiries reaching Canadian National Railway officials at Winnipeg.

Storage Increased—Wheat handling facilities at the port of Vancouver have been increased to the extent of 840,000 bushels additional storage, states a recent despatch from that city.

Immigration Shows Increase — An increase of approximately 100 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year, is shown by immigration figures for the first nine months of 1923, according to official figures issued from Ottawa. During the first nine months of this year 106,973 new entrants were brought to Canada and it is anticipated that of this number fully 100,000 will be permanent settlers.

Like Tower of Babel—One hundred and thirty-four immigrants, speaking among them 15 different languages, arrived in Winnipeg on November 21 from the steamships "Regina" and "Antonia." The party, which included 30 girls for domestic service travelling under Salvation Army auspices, was distributed throughout the four western provinces.

Canadian National Earnings — Gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways from January 1st to November 14, 1923, have been $219,237,931.87, an increase of $18,580,486.83 as compared with earnings for the corresponding period of 192.

Grain Via Vancouver—Before the end of the year the port of Vancouver will be called upon to handle 15,000,000 bushels of grain to the United Kingdom and the Orient, according to figures compiled by the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange.

Open-Door Immigration — Partial removal, at least, of the barriers against immigration to Canada is expected to result from the conference between federal and provincial officials in Ottawa during the week. Prospects are that Canada, during next summer, will be called upon to welcome a flood of immigration the like of which has not been approached since the pre-war period.

Alaska's ambition to become a full-fledged state of the Union, as indicated by a recent popular vote, is not likely to be realized for many years to come. It is said that the present population of the territory is not sufficient to make a congressional district and there are fewer people in the country now than there were twenty years ago.

Mr. Winston Churchill, speaking at a Navy League dinner on Trafalgar Day, ventured the opinion that there was as good a chance, in ten years' time, of a submarine being obsolete as there was of the battleship. Mr. Churchill is a staunch believer in the value of an air force as a naval auxiliary, and doubtless his reference to the submarine has something to do with expected developments in the air.

Sir Philip Gibbs, the noted war correspondent, has been travelling through Europe investigating its mind. His role as a prophet may be an erroneous one, but this is what he has to say: "I see the French point of view, I know the rights and ideals of France. I understand her unanswerable logic. But all I can say is that if I were a Frenchman I should try to turn that rising tide of hate (in Germany) by generosity and chivalry, even at great loss and sacrifice. For if things go on as they are going, there will be an uproar in European peoples from the Rhine to the Volga, and a red light in the sky which will not be put out by the tears of women."

PRINCE RUPERT FISHING FLEET

PRINCE RUPERT, the terminus of the Canadian National Railways in Northern British Columbia, has come to the fore of recent years as one of the premier fish-producing areas of the Dominion of Canada. Prince Rupert halibut is known all over the American continent, and the industry has reached large proportions because of the distribution service placed at the disposal of the fishermen at that port by the Canadian National Railways.

The one essential in the fishing industry is the speedy marketing of the fish after they are caught. By means of a rapid express service over the Canadian National, halibut and other fish from Prince Rupert are laid down in Winnipeg, Montreal, Toronto and other Canadian and America cities very quickly after they are landed from the fishing boats in Prince Rupert harbor.

Halibut fishery is the chief sea industry of Prince Rupert, and during 1922, 25,275,300 lbs. of halibut were landed at that port. In addition, 33,225,300 lbs. of salmon were caught and large quantities of herring, cod, flat fish and crabs. The cod and herring fisheries, which have scarcely been touched as yet, hold a great future.

The photograph shows a few of the hundreds of boats engaged in the halibut fisheries out of the port of Prince Rupert.

Beating the Train into Eternity

IN line with new legislation being passed in the various States of the American Union aimed to diminish the alarming number of accidents through reckless driving of automobiles, particularly on level railroad crossings, the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada has requested the Canadian Pacific Railway to submit information bearing upon similar dangerous practices by motorists on various portions of its system so that use may be made of the information with a view to endeavoring, through education, to minimize the occurrence of such dangerous practices.

In a Bulletin issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners on June 15th, 1923, 54 cases of danger at protected crossings are cited for the period October, 1922, to May, 1923, and of these fifty are declared to have been due to the carelessness of motor drivers. "Motor accidents," says the bulletin, "are becoming more frequent. Every sane motorist deplores this. If accidents are to be lessened, the sane motorist must educate the culpably negligent motorists."

All highway crossings are by law protected by signs, and they are only dangerous when the driver of the automobile makes them so. They are not dangerous if motorists will take a small part of the care they exercise in turning on a city street. It is the motorist's carelessness that makes them dangerous. The train has right of way. Everyone knows what may happen if the plainly seen warnings are disregarded at a point where the motor car can stop while the train cannot.

The surprising part of it also is that safeguards and precautions erected by the railroads are so often entirely ignored. Time after time newspaper reports show that crossing alarm bells, barrier gates and even watchmen waving "stop" signals mean nothing to the man in the motor car who is determined to beat the train to it.

Coroners' juries are usually more discriminating and put the blame where it belongs, but the general public, seeing the usual newspaper heading, "Train Crashes into Motor Car," starts out with the impression that the train must necessarily be to blame, when, as a matter of fact, a fairer statement of the case would be "Another Auto Gets in Path of Fast Train." Quite as often, too, the heading should read, "Flying Auto Dashes into Moving Train." Frequently the auto strikes the train well behind the engine, a convincing indication that the motorist too frequently treats the railroad crossing with the same casual notice that he gives the intersection of a quiet country road.

Out of 32 level crossing accidents that happened in Ontario during 1922, 22 were the result of the motorist not heeding the stop signal, and seven were the result of running into the lowered gates or actually passing under them after they were lowered or while they were being lowered. One man had no headlights and apparently did not see the gates were down while the remainder in other ways tried to cross in front of the engine in order to save time.

In an editorial on this question, the Toronto Star says that: "In a country like this, with its magnificent distances, and railway systems with twenty thousand miles of track, the time may never come when all level crossings will be eliminated. With motor cars in use everywhere there is no railway crossing so remote but that a motorist may use it. It is his business to see that he does so at a safe moment. It is his business for two reasons: (1) because it is the presence of him and his car at that time and place, and not the coming of the train, which creates the risk of a crash; and (2) because if there should be a crash he and his car will be crushed, and not the train."

Here and There

Russia has more illiterates, and at the same time, more bookshops than any other country in Europe.

The largest consignment of silk from the Orient for many months, consisting of 5,500 bales, valued at $9,000,000, formed part of the cargo of the "Empress of Russia" recently.

A shipment of silk from China, consisting of ten carloads, valued at two million dollars, went forward from Vancouver to New York under special guard over the Canadian Pacific lines recently.

The first of a series of six new seaplanes being constructed for the Canadian Government has just been delivered. The new planes are to be used in forest patrol for the prevention of destruction by fire.

Following the disastrous earthquakes and fires which devastated large areas in Japan, the Canadian Pacific liners "Empress of Canada" and "Empress of Australia" were thrown open to the accommodation of thousands of refugees, while the officers and men of the vessels did splendid work in organizing and assisting rescue parties.

The rapid increase in the export butter trade of Saskatchewan during the past year or two, has been the outstanding feature of the Provincial dairy industry. Recently the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries made a shipment of 25,000 lbs. of butter to China.

For almost two decades the major portion of the world's supply of cobalt has been derived from the silver-cobalt-nickel arsenides of the Cobalt district, according to figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The cobalt production of Canada in 1922 was 569,960 pounds, which at $3.25 a pound, would be worth $1,852,370.

Canada's trade within the Empire is increasing. For the twelve months ended July, Canada exported to other parts of the Empire goods amounting to $453,437,899. This is in comparison with $354,992,074, the figure for the corresponding twelve months previous. Imports from British Empire countries during the two twelve months' periods were: Ended July, 1923, $195,811,190; ended July, 1922, $153,185,581.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor, Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—In two of your recent issues of your paper you were kind enough to publish two of my letters exposing the raw deal being handed out by the Medical Committee to Drs. Asselstine and Garner. Up to date no answer has come along to refute them. These charges I again repeat, two in number; first, refusing to call a Mass Meeting of the Coal Company's employees so that the Doctors could have a chance to explain their position; second, importing into the city two Doctors to take their jobs. The letter signed H. Haigh, appearing in your last issue answers nothing; is only a red herring trying to get me off the trail. Nothing doing. Would suggest that the writer reinforce the Medical Committee; his personality would give a pep that they surely need.

If there is one solitary reader, out of the large number who read your paper, can find one answer to my charges in the letter signed H. Haigh, they are more fortunate than myself. Instead of any answers he tells me to keep mum and the reason for so doing.

Well, H. Haigh, it has been my custom when a mix-up comes along and I take part in it, I never stop to ask my opponents what Union they belong to or what company employs them. Oh no, my efforts are exerted to dose them with the same medicine they are handing out to me. However if the writer of the letter signed H. Haigh will call at the Coal Creek office he may learn that my connection as an employee is still recognized by the Coal Company.

The refutation by the writer of that false rumor regarding a man losing his job who signed for the old Doctors carries no weight inasmuch as everybody knows that it circulated everywhere in and around the mines also, however those who were duped last time will be all the wiser next signing time.

Finally when are the Medical Committee going to arrange to take a ballot vote on the Doctors question. They must at least know that they cannot deliver the goods—800 miners—to the imported Doctors.

Thanking you in anticipation.

Yours—Robert Draper.

CONFERENCE ON THE LIQUOR SMUGGLING

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—The first official announcement in regard to the deliberations at the Canada-United States conference on liquor smuggling was given out this evening. It is said it contains little information beyond the fact that the proposals of the Unted States delegates, announced some days ago in a dispatch from Washington, are being considered in detail and that the conference has disposed of the first six.

No indication is given as to whether or not the proposals were accepted by the Canadian representatives at the conference.

It is announced that the conference will be continued tomorrow morning, when, presumably, the other American proposals will be considered.

The proposals which were placed before the conference yesterday by Judge Moss, heading the United States delegation, and which were discussed today, provide for co-operation between Canadian and United States customs officials in the suppression of liquor smuggling; the furnishing of information regarding the clearance of ships which have cargoes of liquor on board; the passing of an order-in-council preventing the clearance of ships destined to ports in the United States with liquor cargoes; search and seizure of the ships under 250 tons with cargoes of liquor; search and seizure of vessels engaged in smuggling on the Great Lakes; obligation of vessels to proceed to ports for which they clear; treaty arrangements providing for conveyance of prisoners through territory when accused of violation of liquor laws, and treaty authorizating Canadian authorities to transport liquor across Alaska.

The Canadian representatives at the conference are R. R. Farrow, commissioner of customs and excise; G. W. Taylor, assistant commissioner of customs and excise; C. P. Blair, general executive assistant, department of customs; W. F. Wilson, chief of preventative service, department of customs; W. S. Edwards, assistant deputy minister of justice; W. W. Cory, deputy minister of the interior and Alex Johnston, deputy mnister of marine and fisheries.

RELATE HARDSHIPS FROM BANK FAILURE

EDMONTON, Nov. 27.—Harrowing accounts of hardships created by the collapse of the Home Bank in the districts of Blairmore and Calgary were related to Premier Greenfield and Attorney-General Brownlee of the provincial government Tuesday morning by Frank Wheatly, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor, and H. Higginbotham, formerly secretary of the U.F.A., who appeared as representatives respectively of Blairmore and Calgary depositors who suffered in the wreckage of the bank.

The Alberta government was asked to vote relief in the case of Blairmore residents, Mr. Wheatly pointing out that 427 miners, 102 women and 69 children in the town lost their savings. The school funds also went with the bank smash, this taking not only the reserve but the current taxes which had been collected for 1923 and not expended at the time. For carrying on the school a temporary loan was arranged by the board, but Mr. Wheatly declared the situation was so acute that the government should help. In addition to the severe financial losses in the Home Bank the Blairmore miners are said to be working only one day in three weeks at the present time. Premier Greenfield said it would be necessary for him to have an official application from the council and school board of Blairmore before any action could be taken. He said that the government would consider the question of relief.

Calgary depositors want financial assistance from the government too. Principally, the two delegates asked that the government provide for the sending of a representative of the depositors to the general meeting in Toronto during the latter part of December. The Premier informed them that former deputy attorney-general of Alberta, A. G. Browning, who is now a resident in Hamilton, Ont., had offered to look after the interests of Albertans in the case without charge. However, Messrs. Wheatly and Higginbotham thought a representative depositor of Alberta should be assisted to attend the general conference. Premier Greenfield said the government would consider the application.

CURLERS BANQUET

The 1923-24 activities of the Fernie Curling Club opened last Friday evening when they held their annual St. Andrew's Night banquet in the Napanee Hotel, with over one hundred Fernie curlers and their guests attending. Curler Falconer thoughtfully brought with him a large bouquet of Scottish heather, which was promptly "sprigged" to provide buttonhole decorations, appropriate for the evening, for the guests.

Promptly at eight o'clock, led by Jimmy Johnstone, Pipers Strachan and Hardie and Drummer Commons, the guests marched around the tables to their places and then the banquet was formally opened by Chairman Harry Douglas calling upon the Rev. W. F. Burns to ask the blessing.

The tables were very nicely decorated, bearing no less than fourteen trophies won by the Fernie curlers in various competitions during the season of 1922-23, a great tribute to the skill of the local devotees of the "Roarin' Game." Good things to eat were in abundance and it was not until everyone had sumptuously dined and the after-dinner cigars were passed around, that the Chairman called the gathering to order for the entertainment end of the program.

The following program was then carried out:

Bagpipe Selection—Pipers Strachan and Hardie.

Song—"Blow, Blow Thou Western Wind." Mr. F. E. Alexander.

Toast—St. Andrew. At this juncture Chairman Douglas presented Hon. President Jimmy Johnstone with an autographed program to commemorate the occasion.

Reply—Mr. J. Johnstone.

Song—"Success tae Bonny Scotland." Chief Anderson.

Recitation—Mr. Thos. Beck.

Toast—Fernie Lady Curlers.

Reply—Mr. A. C. Liphardt.

Violin Solo—"Scottish Medley." Mr. A. Watson.

Chorus—"Fu' the Noo."

Toast—Royal Curling Society coupled with the Crow's Nest Pass Curling Association.

Reply—Mr. Sherwood Herchmer.

Song — "There's a Wee Hoose," Chief Anderson.

Song—"Longshoreman Billy." Mr. T. Biggs.

Chorus—"Roamin' in the Gloamin'."

Toast—Fernie Curling Club.

Reply—Mr. E. K. Stewart.

Song—"Jessie the Flower o' Dnblane." Mr. M. Tully.

Chorus—'Just a Wee Dochin Drois."

The gathering broke up very close to midnight with the time honored Scottish custom of joining hands around the board and singing. "Auld Lang Syne."

The eternal battle of the sexes, raging from the very dawn of the human race, is the theme of Daniel Carson Goodman's powerfully dramatic and prophetic photoplay, "What's Wrong With the Women?", which opens its engagement of 2 days at the Orpheum Theatre Wednesday and Thursday next.

Woman according to the view of Mr. Goodman, long noted as a writer and producer of plays for the stage and screen, has realized that if she is to hold her own in this, one of life's greatest battles—the battle of her own sex—she must borrow from the weapons of experience.

That is why, Mr. Goodman shows in bold and powerful strokes, she does not disdain the rouge pot, the powder puff, the pencil, the art of the manicurist and the subtlety of the dress-makers.

Mr. Goodman employs real characters of flesh and blood to tell his amazing story on the screen but he goes far beyond mere individuals. He treats the theme as a massive human canvas—as a world problem for the answer to which great men have been vainly groping for centuries.

"What's Wrong With the Women?" is not unkind to womanhood. It is in no sense a sermon or propaganda in behalf of mere man. But it reveals the modern woman in all her strength and weaknesses and shows by means of a tremendously dramatic human story how woman in the present high-powered era of jazz and bootleggers, can best serve society. In the cast are such noted players as Wilton Lackaye, Rod La Rocque, Barabar Castleton, Montagu Love Huntley Gordon, Julia Swayne Gordon, Constance Bennett, Hedda Hopper and Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein. R. William Neil was the director and the picture was made for Equity.

FULL INDEMNITY FOR DEPOSITORS IS WANTED

TORONTO, Dec. 6—A recommendation that the depositors of the Home Bank concentrate their efforts in obtaining full indemnity for their losses from the government of Canada, through parliament, was continued in a report presented by the depositors' executive committee at a meeting here today. This decision, the report says, was reached after the committee had investigated all sources from which the depositors might be recouped.

The report also recommends that depositors should contribute one-half of one per cent. to finance the concentration of parliament, and criticizes Sir Thomas White and the bankers' association.

BEER PLEBISCITE LEGISLATION DUE

VICTORIA, Dec. 3. — Legislation providing for a plebscite on the question of beer sale by the glass, it is generally understood at the parliament buildings, now will come before the legislature shortly.

If the electors vote to show the sale of beer by the glass in this province this sale will be carried on only in establishments the licences of which will be easily revocable and which will be promptly closed up if they violate the law.

A system of local option it is believed will be provided.

STRIKE BREAKERS BEING IMPORTED

CALGARY, Dec. 6—Strikebreakers have been wired for from Winnipeg, in connection with the strike at Mile 47 and 48 in the districts west of Edmonton, according to William Sherman, president of District 18, U. M. W. A., who wired advice to this effect to the office in Calgary.

In his message, received on Thursday morning by Robert Livett, Mr. Sherman says the operators are determined to bring the strike to an end and have sent to Winnipeg for miners, with the avowed intention of breaking the strike.

He says the situation is serious, and he will remain in the district untl the strike is settled.

TO WHOM IS LIFE IMPORTANT?

It seems rather strange that people in this town need waking up to the importance of physical condition and right care of the body.

Since the progress of the human race has been from animality towards spirituality, and since we all begin as little animals, it would seem that the very first form of culture should be that of the body.

It is generally supposed that children go to school to cultivate their minds, and that supposition is correct. And physical culture heally begins in the mind. The way to have a healthy body is to have right ideas concerning health, for happiness is largely dependent upon the condition of one's physical make-up. As a rule, the healthy are happy. The strength of the intellect depends greatly upon the condition of the body. While, of course, not all healthy people are strong-minded, it is safe to say that the best, clearest, and most constructive though takes place in minds that are not hampered by defective physical machinery.

We are most anxious that our body should be moral, we should remember that it is of first importance that we should be healthy. Most immoralities are linked with bodily deficiencies. About nine-tenths of sin is some sort of sickness.

The beginnings of character are in the body, for character consists largely in intelligent control of desire, and desire becomes septic and rampant in bodies that are in some way out of order.

The beautiful mystery of love, which is the crown of life, is inextricably tied up with the body for there can be no true mating and no true wholesome parenthood without normal, strong and efficient bodies.

This is not a preaching of materialism. The body should not be supreme, but the body is fundamental. The body is the beginning and the basis of life and if it is neglected and weakly, it is hardly a fit house in which the best spirit can dwell. The fact is that the very best way to prevent sensuality, grossness and too much attention to one's physical self is to keep healthy. It is not the well people, it is the sick, who think continually of their physical apparatus.

It is not the wholesome, strong and well developed people who are the hypochandriacs, the neurasthenics, the sex perverts, and the other kinds of human wreckage that cause so much misery to yourselves and to others. Come to the 150 All Sports' Gymnasium, Get the right ideas of physical instruction into your minds, and of your children, and you have unlocked the door to all other kinds of right ideas to health. Physical and boxing instructor, Leo Stokes. Give him a trial.

CROW DEPOSITORS NOW AT TORONTO

TORONTO, Dec. 3.—A parliamentary committee to investigate the wreck of the Home Bank will be asked for at the coming session of the Dominion House by Joseph T. Shaw, M.P., for Calgary.

This is the news brought to the city by H. H. Higginbotham of Calgary, who has been sent here by the Alberta Government to represent the Home Bank depositors of Calgary and Blairmore at the mass meeting of Home Bank depositors on Thursday.

Western representatives to the Thursday meeting are working more or less together in the fight on behalf of the depositors. G. G. Henderson, mayor of Fernie, B.C. and W. Cross of Moose Jaw, representing Saskatchewan depositors, are also in the city gathering information, and are already in touch with the depositors' committee.

YOU CAN BANK ON THIS!

By R. K. Hall in Saturday Night

By reason of the fact that the bank to which I had entrusted the major part of my fluid assets recently collapsed, I am now in a state of acute bankruptcy. So flat is my pocketbook, indeed, that when I require a cigar I have to negotiate its purchase on the basis of a cent down and a cent a week for the remaining four weeks; and on tag days I have no alternative but to stay at home.

By this I do not want to convey the impression that my account ran into four or five figures. Nothing of the kind. A plasterer or a coal miner would have sniffed at it in open contempt. On the other hand, a teacher or a garbage collector would have a deep, envious breath at mention of it. And as for myself—well, I regarded it as a very tidy sum—and like the tide it has apparently gone out.

Naturally, I am deeply concerned in the proposed disposition of the bank's assets. After studying the curator's report carefully, I have come to the conclusion that there is a variety of ways in which the depositors might be appeased. In fact, I have no hesitation in saying that, if my suggestions are adopted in toto, there will be a general demand on the part of all depositors that their banks should immediately declare themselves insolvent.

As everyone knows, the defunct bank is about to go into liquidation. It is the legal and proper procedure for it to liquidate. But this is not enough. It ought to be lawful for the depositors to liquidate also. Personally I should feel entirely reconciled to my loss if I could liquidate freely and copiously. There is little doubt that if the liquid was up to the mark, and every depositor was permitted to liquidate to the extent of a quart or two, there would be no grunmbling about accepting fifty per cent., or forty per cent., or twenty-five per cent. of the original deposit, Within an hour after the depositors had gone into liquidation, every one of them would accept ten cents on the dollar with loud cheers. Liquidation would alter their viewpoint completely.

What worries a great many depositors is the cost of winding up the affairs of the bank. Winding up comes high these days. And the higher the estimate of costs, the lower the depositors' hopes fall. But why incur a million-dollar expense of this sort? It would be much simpler to notify all creditors, including the depositors, that they might go ahead and do their own winding up. If this were done, I, for example, should simply walk over to the branch bank in which I had my deposits and help myself to the manager's roll-top desk, three or four awnings, and enough of the cashier's and accountant's cages to build a chicken run. Having lugged these furnishings home, I should consider myself fully recouped. Other depositors could carry off the safe, office chairs, plate glass windows, ink, furnaces, fixtures, ledgers, coal, counters, revolvers, plumbing and brickwork. Still others could wait until the foundations were removed, and then stake out building lots on the bank site. In this way the only expense involved would be the honest prespiration put into the work by the depositors.

Another plan would be to make the bank directors work off the amount due to depositors. If a director is found guilty and sent to jail, his incarceration does not help the depositors any. A director in jail is about as much use to depositors as suspenders would be to an English sparrow. The scheme I refer to is so astonishingly simple that it is a wonder no one thought of it long ago. In fact, it ought to be incorporated with the Bank Act. Briefly it is this: Whenever my lawn needed mowing, or the floors polishing, or a water pipe sprang a leak in the cellar, or the house required a coat or two of paint, I should telephone the nearest director and ask him to hurry over to perform the necessary work. After he had finished, I should give hims a cheque on the defunct bank, and he could chalk it up against my defunct account. In this way, any energetic, able-bodied director should be able to wipe out the claims of all depositors within calling distance in two hundred years at the outside.

Whether those suggestion are acted upon or not, every depositor can make excellent use of his pass-book this coming winter. If ordinarly he uses, say, eight tons of coal, he will be quite safe in reducing that amount to two or three tons, and in choking down his furnace fire until it barely lives. As soon as the house begins to get chilly, all he needs to do it to produce the pass-book presented to him by the now insolvent bank. Having studied its entries for a time, he ought to pass it around among the members of the family. They should discuss without restraint. Almost at once everyone will begin to get warm. the discussion waxes, everyone will grow warmer still, hot under the collar. And eventually someone will shout testily, "Say, it's stifling in here. Are you sure the furnace is shut off? Push up a window and give us some fresh air. Now about those two ships the bank controls at Montreal ———."

At my place this idea has proved so successful that we haven't even thought of lighting the furnace yet.

Here and There

Exports in Canada's inter-Empire trade last month exceeded imports by over $12,000,000. Against imports from 26 countries belonging to the British Empire, amounting to $15,713,000, Canada exported goods amounting to $27,888,000.

Canada's highest lookout station has been completed and will be ready for use next year. It is situated on Mount Cartier, near Revelstoke, British Columbia, and is 8,623 feet above sea-level. It will be used for the detection of forest fires and for meteorological and other observances.

The Canadian McIntosh red apple is the champion dessert apple in the British Empire, so judges at the Imperial Fruit Show, which opened in Manchester recently, adjudged. They also decided that Cox orange pippins, from British Columbia, on the whole, are the best of the sixteen exhibits from overseas, and winners, therefore, of the "Daily Mail's" fifty-guinea cup.

What is declared to be a world's record for the transportation of grain has just been achieved by the Canadian Pacific Railway. In one period of 24 hours there were moved from Winnipeg for the head of the lakes 1,776 loaded cars. The best previous record, also held by the Canadian Pacific Railway, was 1,579 cars, moved east on October 25th, 1921.

One thousand young buffalo will be taken from the Dominion park at Wainwright, Alberta, and turned loose in the north in the region in which wood buffalo are found, Hon. A dispatch from London says that the gold medal of the British Dairy Farmers' Association has been awarded to the Government of Ontario for its collection of dairy produce, including bacon, dead poultry and eggs, at the Dairy Show held there recently. First prize in the colonial farming section, namely the silver medal was won by the Ontario Beekeepers' Association of Guelph, and the bronze medal was awarded to H. Leclere, of Montmagny, Quebec.

Details have just been announced concerning the "Aorangi," the new motor ship that is being built by the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand. The motorship is under construction at the Clyde yards of the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company and when completed will be the largest motorship in the world, having a displacement of 20,000 tons. On the Pacific she will be exceeded in size only by the "Empress of Canada" and the "Empress of Australia," of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which is her agent.

All grain shipment records for the prairie provinces have been shattered during the past two months. Since the commencement of the crop year, September 1st, loadings totalled 121,596 cars, representing 169,053,085 bushels, against 158,795,320 bushels handled in the same period last year. Of this quantity the Canadian Pacific loaded 68,469 cars, representing 100,307,085 bushels, against 94,071,320 bushels during the 1922 period.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA HAS FAVORABLE SHOWING

The financial statement for the Imperial Bank of Canada for the fiscal year ending October 31 last, fully maintains the worthy traditions of this stable institution. The Imperial Bank has become firmly entrenched, that the exigencies of the general business situation leaves but minor impress upon the general position. In the past year this bank has maintained its profits well up to the usual standard. Its liquid position has been improved, a noteworthy feature at this particular time, and the other items of the report particularly susceptible to external influences, show but minor reflection of the disturbed state of business generally.

Immediate available assets, consisting of cash, government and municipal securities, call and municipal loans, etc., amount in all to $55,785,358 as compared with $53,520,449, at the close of the previous year. Assets of this character are equivalent to 54 per cent. of the bank's total liabilities to the public, and over 26 per cent. consists of cash assets.

Profits for the year after deducting charges of management and other items including full provision for bad and doubtful bedts total $1,141,600; to this total is added the sum of $338,801, representing surplus from realization of real estate which with the balance of $1,006,931, carried forward from previous years, brings the total up to $2,487,333, and after charging up to this sum dividends at the usual rate of 12 per cent. per annum plus bonus of 1 per cent. and after applying the sum of $100,000 to the reserve for Bank Premises, $250,000 to Contingent Reserve and $151,000 in payment of Government taxes, the balance carried forward at credit of profit and loss account amounts to $1,033,833.

Deposits are slightly lower in accordance with the common experience of most banks, totalling $89,442,750, as against $91,10$,971, a reduction of less than 2 per cent. Current loans, too, are lower at $55,643,946, compared with $58,720,099.

Chcago dealers warn shippers not to congest the local hog market under penalty of having to do the same as the hogs—root or die.

Canada's long-established reputation as a producer of high-class grain and livestock was well maintained at the international exposition held in Chicago this week. The entries from this country were awarded highest honors. The continent can produce no better.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

A Pioneer Pension System

The Canadian Pacific Railway is this year celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the foundation of the Company's system of pensions for the employees.

It was in 1902 that the Board of Directors, under the Presidency of Lord Shaughnessy, looked into the future for the benefit of those who were laying the foundations of the service that was to take so large a part in the up-building of Canada.

In December, 1902, the directors passed a resolution stating that a time had come when provision should be made for officers and permanent employees who, after long years of faithful service, had reached an age when they were unequal to the further performance of their duties, and announcing that a plan of superannuation had been determined upon.

The plan was a generous one. The Company provided all the money necessary, and the employees were not called upon to contribute to it in any way whatever. In 1903 when it was first put into effect Canadian Pacific employees numbered about 40,000. To-day they approximate 90,000, and every one of them, from the humblest stenographer, office boy, or "track walker" or even the minor employee at some far-off outpost in China or in Europe, has old-age sustenance guaranteed so long as he or she stays with the Company.

Some Statistics

The Company's first contribution to the pension fund was $250,000 which was supplemented by annual grants starting at $80,000 which have, from time to time, been increased, until for some years past it has been $500,000 annually. To the end of 1922 the Company had contributed a total of $4,715,000 to the fund while payments on pensions had amounted to $3,857,802, leaving a balance to the credit of the fund of $1,640,103. In 1922 the total payments made amounted to $508,051, and at October 1st of this year the total number of the Company's pensioners was 1,182, each of whom was drawing an average of $35.92 per month. It is of interest to note that since the pension fund became operative, 877 pensions have become inoperative through the death of the beneficiaries.

Having in view conditions of increased living costs which then prevailed the world over, the Company in 1919 allowed the pensioners an additional bonus of twenty-five per cent. of their regular allowance. This went into effect on May 1st of that year, and continued until the end of 1922. In view of the modification of the condition that made it necessary, that bonus is this year set at twenty per cent.

Kept in Canada

By far the greater part of this money is of course distributed in Canada, just as is the case with the Company's vast payroll of over $100,000,000 annually, and the many millions it yearly spends on the purchase of supplies under the policy of distributing as much of its expenditure as is possible in the country it exists to serve.

The operation of the fund is simplicity itself. Upon reaching the age of 65 every employee who has joined the staff before reaching the age of forty is entitled to retirement if the Company so desires and can claim a pension of one per cent. of the average monthly pay received for the ten years preceding retirement for every year in which he has been in the Company's service. This is as the system was first devised twenty years ago, and there has been but one amendment to its provisions. In 1908 it was found that in some cases the amount of the pension so calculated was insufficient to protect the recipient against want as was intended, and it was provided that from thenceforth the minimum amount of pension paid would be $20 per month.

Fosters Efficiency

That this system has been a big factor in fostering the efficiency so largely identified with Canadian Pacific operation is undeniable. Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the Company, speaks of it not only as a prime necessity in these days of sociological progress, and as an inherent right of those who give lives of faithful work to Canadian Pacific service, but also as one of the things that has helped to bring into existence the high standard of co-operation that exists between all branches of the Company's service. "It is helping to make contented employees," says Mr. Beatty, "and that is the first requisite of faithful, efficient service."

All mothers know how hard it is to get their husbands and the rest of the family to take ordinary medicine. Yet, this is the season when they are bothered most frequently with indigestion, nervousness and the many symptoms of a general run-down condition. And, unless they get rid of these troubles and build themselves up, they are not able to throw off coughs, colds, sore throat and the more dangerous wintry ills that every mother fears.

Try this with those in your family who are in need of a strengthening, nourishing tonic. Just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's in a wineglass of water after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way they look, eat, sleep and feel.

This wholesome vegetable tonic is pleasant to take and usually makes them feel so much better the next day that they are anxious to keep on toning and building up the system. They have proved to themselves what it will do and they will keep up their doses to increase appetite, improve digestion, tone the torpid liver, gently correct constipation, regain strength, energy and vigor and have purer, healthier blood coursing through their veins to keep them warm these cool, crisp days.

Get a bottle today. The cost is small and your money will be returned by any of the following druggists unless you are completely satisfied.

Dr. Thacher's is sold in Fernie by N. E. Suddaby and by leading druggists in every city and town.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

TO THE SLOGAN "Shop early" is now added "mail early." The plea for "mail early" is made by the post office, its clerks and carriers whose hardest day has been Christmas day.

All the world enjoys Christmas day, except the employees of the postal service. They extract their reward in the cheer and happiness which their calls on that day brings to thousands and millions. But there is no reason why they too may not enjoy Christmas day as others enjoy it, at home, in the midst of their families and friends. All that is necessary is that we, every one of us, take the pains to mail our gifts early, several days in advance of Christmas day, so that in reality, on Christmas morning, there will be nothing left to deliver.

To mail early requires no more diligence or energy than to shop early. In another day shopping was put off until the last minute. The public educated itself out of that custom. It can and will educate itself out of mailing late into mailing early.

THERE IS EVERY prospect that the era of prosperity that has set in this country will not only continue, but enlarge in the course of the next five years. All over the country a building program is developing that is not only the evidence of present prosperity, but a sure prophesy of its continuance. People do not build unless they have money with which to defray their building expenses or have immediate prospects of securing it. A big building program is a sure token of confidence in the future. Another indication of present and continued prosperity is the projected development by the railroads of their transportation facilities. It is estimated that in equipping themselves, to take care of passenger and freight traffic demands during the next five or six years, the railroads of the United States will have to spend over seven billion dollars. Railroad statisticians estimate that there will be an increase of 25% in passenger traffic and 33 1-3% in the freight traffic, and the railroads, in order to meet and care for this traffic, will have to spend this vast sum of money. This item alone is the assurance of continued prosperity, for the railroads are great consumers of all manner of products from soap to locomotives.

REV. FATHER Francis P. Duffy, a famous New York Catholic Priest, and Chaplain of the Sixty-Ninth Regiment, in an article on the bigotry of today, warns his people as follows:

"We must take a stand against the narrow-minded within our own fold. Take, for instance, the matter of freemasonry. I am bitterly opposed to the attempt made by some Catholics to create a state of friction between the Catholic Church and the Masonic order. It is true that a Catholic can not be a Mason; neither can he be an Episcopalian. The Masons we know, and particularly the leaders of Masonry, are not anti-Catholic. There is no feeling of antagonism between the priest and the Mason. We have inherited our views of Masons from other countries and from other times. There is no reason why we should go out of our way to start a fight with the Masons. There are Catholics who are hindering the work of men like Justice Tompkins who are doing all in their power to keep their ancient an honorable order from going to the dark ways of bigotry, as some of its wily members would have it.

"We have a great work to do to lay down bigotry, and Catholics must not do anything to hinder that work. Justice Tompkins and all the rest of us, Catholics, Jews and Protestants, must work together to reduce the source of friction.

"We have our task to do; we have our religious life to build up, and we have our national life to build up in cooperation with our fellow citizens. If we can go along serving our Church and our country as a sincere, patriotic body, then all the force of anti-Catholic bigotry will go to pieces. I am glad that this bigotry has come into the open; it is most dangerous when it is hidden. It will come into conflict with the law and will be wholly discredited, and five or ten years from now there will not be a man now connected with it who will not be trying to lie himself out of it."

Years of Constipation Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Anyone who suffers with miserable health; who is tortured with Headaches; and who is unable to get any real pleasure out of life; will be interested in this letter of Mrs. Martha de Wolfe of East Ship Harbor, N.S.

Mrs. de Wolfe says, "For years I was a dreadful sufferer from Constipation and Headaches and I was miserable in every way. Nothing in the way of medicine seemed to help me. Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and the effect was splendid; and after taking only one box, I was completely relieved and now feel like a new person".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

The Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold their annual Poultry Show on December 19 and 20. Every person in Fernie should make an effort to attend this show as it will be the best ever held in Fernie. Prize lists can be secured from J. Cunliffe.

Some people talk about business being quiet in the city, but from the financial successes of the different church bazaars which are being pulled off there is little indication of scaricity of money. The Church of England Ladies' Guild took in over $700 at a recent sale and on Saturday last the Ladies Aid of United Church did a nice little business of $1040.00 at their bazaar.

Enormous increases in British Colunbia's agricultural and dairy production over the last five years are shown in information furnished the House by Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture. Fruit production increased 137 per cent., the increase in value being from $1,806,489, in 1916, to $3,764,000 last year. Dairy production increased in that period by 134 per cent.; poultry production, 114 per cent. and potato production, 58 per cent. The value of egg production increased from $1,585,00 to $2,002,000.

CRESTON HEN HAS FINE RECORD, 300 EGGS IN YEAR

CRESTON, B.C., Dec. 3.—Creston has the distinction now of being the post office address of one of but three hens in all Canada that have a certified record of producing over 300 eggs in twelve months. The local bird is a Barred Rock on the fruit ranch and poultry farm of W. S. McAlpine, and she completed the year's effort on Friday with a showing of 303 eggs for the year ending November 30th.

The B. C. superintendent of the Dominion Poultry Department, R. O. P., who was here about the middle of the month, states that out of approximately 36,000 hens in all Canada entered in the record of production competition only two others have scored over the 300 egg mark. Mr. McAlpine, who confines his operations to a flock of about 100 birds, has sixteen others that have produced over 200 eggs apiece, and a pen of ten from his flock has been sent to the Dominon experimental farm at Agassiz to compete for the pen laying honors for British Columbia for the 1923-24 competition.

Mr. McAlpine is one of several who branched out into poultry on a business basis when the apple market began to slump about three seasons ago, and is finding it quite a profitable sideline, the cost experts figuring that any time a bird provides 150 eggs per annum she is a real money maker.

According to safety workers, New York's cosmopolitan population is resposible for half the accidents occuring in factories in that city. It is estimated that a loss of $50,000 daily, to say nothing of the loss of life and limb, is due to ignorance of the English language.

An English paper informs a Canadian correspondent that the old political party names, Whig and Tory, were the names given to Roundheads and Cavaliers in the Civil War in England. To those not already aware of it, it is amusing to know that Tory is really an Irish word for thief or robber, while, strange to say, Whig is a Scotch wor dmeaning buttermilk.

"What's Wrong With the Women?"

From the very dawn of the human race, woman has intrigued and baffled the brain of mankind—from Mother Eve to Cleopatra and down through the ages to DuBarry and Mary Queen of Scots—woman has been an enigma-unsolvable! In what measure is Modern Woman responsible for the mad jazz of the present? Is she alone to blame? Or is Man, with his elastic moral code, the Greater Evil?

"What's Wrong With The Women"
gives the answer to this age-old problem in a story of terrific drama.

There will be real bargains in handwork, home cooking, etc., at the sale held by the Catholic Women's League on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, December 15.

The Firemen wish to thank the ladies who worked and provided refreshments for their dance on Monday evening; also the merchants for different provisions provided for the affair.

Will all members of the Mount Fernie Chapter I .O. D. E. attend the regular monthly meeting on Saturday December 8, at 3.30 ,in the Council December 8, at 3.30, in the Council New Year's dance will be taken up.

Lethbridge is having its usual election clean-up and consequently all the towns along the line are being flooded with snowbirds, hop heads and pimps from the underworld of that city. Chief Anderson and his staff are kept busy keeping these boys on the move.

Unanimous endorsation has been given the Legislature to Maj. Burde's resolution asking Ottawa to carefully consider the advisability of refusing the franchise to Hindus. Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, was the only speaker to the resolution. He warned against the inroads of the Oriental and said that if B. C. were to remain a white man's country, the Oriental must be effectively curbed; he was already too well entrenched in this province.

The members of the Winnipeg Old Timers' Association have been assured by the Minister of the Interior that sufficient buffalo meat, tongues and pemmican will be provided to give them all a good feed, as a result of the buffalo killing at Wainwright National Park, on the main line of the Canadian National Ralways. The rapid growth of the government herd at Wainwright Park has necessitated slaughtering about 2000 animals. Old timers throughout Western Canada and the Western States have been looking forward since the announcement of the "kill" to a regular old time feed.

Geo. Heafford complains bitterly that he has been overloked, in fact passed up like the proverbial white chip. He says that if by any chance he goes to Lethbridge to see his sweetheart, the fact is blazoned aloud in the newspapers like the philanderings of Henry Ford, but that for two weeks he has been flirting with death at the Fernie Hospital without even getting honorable mention in the local paper. George, we apologize, and make haste to publicly announce that you have been a casualty with the foot and mouth disease for said period; the first mentioned being contracted when one of your pedal extremities, or tootsie wootsies, as the case may be, came in violent contact with the wheels of a White Spruce truck, smashing three small toes. The latter trouble will be eradicated some time today when Doc. Garner, excavates and amputates your tonsils. If by any chance the knife slips and he gets your tongue, you will have our sincere sympathy, but the doctor will be more or less of a public benefactor.

The regular monthly business meeting of the United Church Ladies' Aid will be held at the Manse, Monday afternoon, December 10, at 3.30.

The annual dance of the Mount Fernie Chapter I. O. D. E. will be held on New Year's Eve, Monday, December 31st. Good music.

There has been only one death in the City of Fernie in the past two months. The average death rate for the past ten years has been about 75 a year.

The annual meeing of the Women's Missionary Society will be held on Tuesday evening, December 11, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. A. I. Fisher.

There was a stormy and impatient meeting of some two thousand creditors of the Home Bank at Massy Hall, Toronto, yesterday afternoon, to listen to the report of G. T. Clarkson, liquidator. No news of the proceedings have yet been published.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion will hold their installation of officers on Tuesday, December 11, at 7.30 p.m., instead of Thursday, December 13. All elective officers and members please govern themselves accordingly. After the installation a social evening will be held to which the members of the Loyal Order of Moose and their wives are cordially invited. Refreshments will be served by the Sisters.

The Fernie High School Dramatic Society's Revue on Thursday and Friday of next week, promises to equal, or even surpass that of last year. The students have been, and are faithfully trained by artists in the several departments of musical, dramatic and dancing numbers. A few of the offering will be "Irene," a gem from light opera; "A Royal Spark," bright scenes and dashing uniforms, a genuine drama; "The Dance of the Fairy Pipers and Ballet des Papillons," the latest in graceful dance movements and "Down Yonder," a page from musical comedy.

The voice of the Cranbrook ratepayers has spoken and their verict must be accepted. There will be no skating rink for the children nor covered rink for hockey this year at least. The vote of 203 against the bylaw to 74 for it, leaves no doubt as to the attitude of the voters. From the standpoint of the children, it is a pity. Viewed from the angle of strict economy, combined with the complications which enter into the contest, it was pretty well understood that the measure would meet defeat. Many ratepayers opposed the measure on the ground that they were opposed to erecting a rink for the Cranbrook curling club, whilst others opposed it from an economy point of view. The 1924 council will be confronted with the proposition again and it is probable the present rink building will be sold and knocked down to the highest bidder.—Cranbrook Courier.

MILLIONS FOR CHARITY

The ambition of a man to help fatherless boys—an ambition treasured through the years from apprenticeship to manufacturer—has resulted in one of the "most magnificent acts of philanthropy" on record. At the place near Hershey, Pennsylvania, where he was born and reared under humble circumstances, Milton S. Hershey, whose product is munched by millions, established some years ago an industrial school for orphan boys. Recently it was announced that he had turned over to it a fortune of $60,000,000, reserving for his own uses $1,000,000 of preferred stock in his companies, a 1912 automobile and his big home. Financially, the gift places the Hershey orphanage next to Girard College in Philadelphia, as the wealthiest orphan school in the country. "This disposition of his fortune by the candy manufacturer," comments the New York World, "is splendidly in line with the best American precedents." Fortunately there are other examples of such generosity, and we are told that in the annual review of such gifts which will be published at the end of the year, the total will no doubt again be immense beyond what a generation ago would have been considered possible. "And the giver in this case is wise, following precedents, increasingly common, in giving the money while he still lives to advise its expenditure."

Childless himself, Mr. Hershey is very fond of children, we are told, and when casting about for a beneficent way to spend his tremendous earnings, he decided to devote them to boys whom misfortune met early in life. The school was opened in 1910. Five years ago, we are told, he gave the Hershey Chocolate Company and its fifteen subsidiary companies to the school. But it was only recently that the act of charity found its way into the newspapers. When approached by interviewers, Mr. Hershey, we are told, was reluctant to talk—to him it was an old story. A World correspondent cornered at a restaurant table, and to him, Mr. Hershey gave a bare outline of his life and his plans. "I have wanted to do something for orphans for many years," the interviewer quotes him as saying, and he goes on:

"Other rich men wait until they die and then tell others to do what they want done. I preferred to execute my will while I was still alive. I had no children. If I did, I would not leave them all I have. A man ought to work for what he gets. I was successful in busines because I had opportunities. When the opportunities came, I took them. I want to make these boys who started poor have opportunities too.

"I always had the idea of having a farm for boys in the old homestead. I was born in a farmhouse, a mile across the coutnry, and for ten years or more I have thought of filling it up with orphan boys. That's the right place for a boy to start—on the farm.

"I didn't know how much the business was going to expand. I thought of having perhaps 100 boys, and giving them a chance. But the business grew faster than I thought. I began to make money just when I thought of having perhaps 100 boys; when everything was going so well I thought I had better start the orphan school.

'I didn't have any education. When I was eighteen, I left the farm here and went to Lancaster, Pennsylvania. I was apprenticed to a candy-maker there for three years. Then I started in business for myself in Philadelphia. Later I moved to New York and had a one-room store in Sixth Avenue, where the Stearns Building is now. But then I was too young to make money. I wanted to make it too quick, and didn't make any at all.

"I returned to Lancaster in 1886. I was up to that time in the caramel business exclusively. When I came back to Lancaster I had about made up my mind I would never be rich. But my experience had done me good."

It was then that Mr. Hershey began thinking about the school. It is for boys only, because Mr. Hershey believes, we are told, that girl orphans can always find homes, as they are useful at housework. Widows may send their sons. The only restrictions are that the boys shall be between four and eight years, white healthy, and poor. Applicants from Dauphin, Lebanon and Lancaster Counties, Penpsylvania, have first preference; then those from other parts of Pennsylvania, and finally those from elsewhere in the United States may apply. The most interesting thing about this benevolent undertaking, remarks the Indianapolis Star, is that the founder has not waited to make his gift only effective after his death. He will see the workings of his plan, will be able to correct any errors of judgment in the working out of his program, and will be able to introduce new ideas that a board of directors might be slow to adopt. Among other matters, he wishes to remove the institutional atmosphere so far as possible, and to give the young pupils a home-feeling. This disposal of his welath during the lifetime of the donor, continues The Star, leaves no wills to be contested by undeserving claimants, and the carrying out of the plans delayed or prevented, and must undoubtedly give satisfaction to the philanthropic giver.—Literary Digest.

Here and There

The total quantity of sea fish landed on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts during the month of July was 22,943 cwts., valued at $2,771,440 to the fishermen, compared with a catch of 873,382 cwts. valued at $2,596,730 in July, 1922.

Cattle in north Alberta's livestock herds now number more than 2,000,000. This industry and also the swine industry have increased amazingly in the northern part of the Province in the last few years.

Carrying large consignments from the Dominion Government and the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Red Cross, the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Russia was the first ship from the American continent to arrive with relief for the earthquake and famine stricken people of Japan.

Nearly $10,000 in fur royalties was collected in The Pas, Man., by the chief game warden last winter. This does not include the royalties collected from the Hudson Bay Company and Revillon Freres, which will more than double this amount. This does not include moneys secured through taxes, licenses and other sources of revenue.

Creamery butter made in Alberta took a total of 149 prizes out of 236 prizes offered, or 63 per cent., at exhibitions at Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Brandon, Saskatoon and Vancouver this year. Out of 11 open championships offered, Alberta butter took 8. In the Calgary exhibition six provinces competed, in three others four provinces competed, and in two others three provinces competed.

British Columbia has reached the peak of the biggest tourist season in her history, and it is estimated that as a result of the enormous travel and the expenditure of transients while in the province this summer, will be worth at least $30,000,000. The opening of the Banff-Windermere motor highway through Canada's rock garden was largely responsible for this increase in tourist traffic through the Pacific province.

Gold producers in the Province of Ontario during the first six months of 1923 report production of 384,446 ounces gold and 65,444 ounces silver, of a total value of $7,244,081 shipped by the Porcupine producers, and from the Kirkland Lake producers 69,691 ounces gold and 6,515 ounces silver, of a total value of $1,402,873, or from the two camps a total value of $8,646,954.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will contribute $25,000 for the relief of the sufferers in Japan and have also decided that supplies of Canadian food-stuffs and clothing donated, or purchased with money donated for relief work, will be transported free over the Company's rail and steamship lines. President E. W. Beatty made this announcement while making a tour over the Company's lines in the West with a party of directors. He added that this action had been taken because of the reports of the intense hardships due to the disaster, and notwithstanding the fact that the Company had lost heavily by the catastrophe.

The following editorial recently appeared in the Windsor "Border Cities Star": A recent cargo of silk, en route from China to New York, was shipped via Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific Railroad and crossed the St. Lawrence to Ogdensburg, New York, instead of being sent across the United States from San Francisco. The incident offers something for Canadians to think about.

It proves what a splendid service the Canadian Pacific offers in its rail and steamship lines. In a country like Canada, transportation is all essential, and the way the Canadian Pacific has carried on, in spite of the business difficulties which began with the war and are not yet smoothed out, is a credit to the nation which conceived it.

Again, the incident calls attention to Canada's splendid gateway to the East. Although China is in a chaotic political condition just now, the huge Oriental nation offers wonderful trade chances in the future. No nation is better placed for getting its share of this business than Canada.

Toronto thieves observed looting a bakery made their escape. It is suspected that they crawled through the holes in the doughnuts.

A delegation of women from a district in Ontario recently waited on the Provincial Government to complain that they frequently had to carry water for two miles and often had none to wash the children with. To prove that they were not small-bore politicians the cabinet promised to provide them with well drills.

AUTO CLUB TO AID HIGHWAY

President T. H. Kirk and officials of the British Columbia Auto Club with its membership of many thousand all over the province, were today willing to accept a compromise on the question of automobile and gasoline taxes.

They came to this conclusion on the understanding that the increased revenue obtained by the government from higher automobile taxation would go into road construction, particularly into a start early next year on the transprovincial highway.

A resolution covering the subject was moved by Mr. S. E. Peters, seconded by Mr. F. G. T. Lucas, and unanimously carried.

In line with legislation in California, Oregon and Washington, officials of British Columbia motor clubs recently agreed with government officials on the advisability of charging a tax on gasoline used on the highways. This year the government revenue from automobile licences have been about $1,000,000. The Auto Club suggested that this could more evenly and fairly be obtained by charging the 10,000 cars in British Columbia a flat licence of $10 each and then make up the remaining $600,000 by a tax on gas consumed. In this way tourists from the United States would aid in keeping up British Columbia roads of which they enjoy the use; and, again, the man who runs his car 30,000 miles a year would pay proportionately more than the man who runs only 10,000 miles during each twelvemonth.

The Auto Club of B. C. thus suggested a decrease of more than 50 per cent. in the licence fees payable in January. But when Hon. John Hart on Friday presented his scheme to the Legislature it was found that he had reduced the licences by only 15 per cent., at the same time taking all of the expected increase from the three-cents-a-gallon tax.

This announcement was greeted with great objection in Vancounver, until a further explanation was received from the government today.

Oommunications from Hon. John Hart and Hon. Dr. Sutherland took the ground that expected revenues from gas-tax would probably not be realized. In other words that $600,000 was rather too large an amount to be expected from this source.

"In any event," said the two ministers in effect, "any increase in the gross revenue that we happen to obtain from automobiles will be applied to build roads. If you want new highways, take a liberal view of the tax situation."

If there is one thing more than another that is close to the hearts of President Kirk and his officials, it is the matter of the transprovincial highway. But they still believe that there should be a greater cut than 15 per cent. in the licences, in view of the imposition of a gasoline tax. They therefore decided to recommend a reduction of 25 per cent. in the licences—and that on the understanding that the net increase which they believe is certain to accrue to the government shall be used in getting the highway under way from the Coast to the Interior.

IMPERIAL BANK

FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS

The Annual General Meeting of the Imperial Bank of Canada was held at the Head Office in Toronto on Wednesday, 28th of November, 1923.

The Directors' Report and Statement of Affairs of the Bank for the year ending 31st of October, 1923, were presented as follows:

THE REPORT

The Directors have pleasure in presenting to the Shareholders the Forty-ninth Annual Report and Balance Sheet of the Affairs of the Bank as on 31st October, 1923, together with Statement of Profit and Loss Account for the year ended on that date.

The balance at credit of Profit and Loss Account brought forward from last year was	$1,006,931.33
The net profits for the year ended 31st October, 1923, after deducting charges of management, Auditors' Fees and interest due depositors, and after making provision for bad and doubtful debts and for rebate on bills under discount	1,141,600.40
To which has been added surplus from realization of real estate	338,801.47
Making a total at credit of Profit and Loss Account of	$2,487,333.20
This amount has been apportioned as follows;—
Dividends at the rate of 12% per annum	$840,000.00
Bonus of 1% for the year	70,000.00
Annual Contributions to Officers' and Employees' Pension and Guarantee Funds	42,500.00
Dominion Government Taxes	151,000.00
Reserved for Bank Premises	100,000.00
Reserved for Contingencies	250,000.00
Balance of Account carried forward	1,033,833.20

It has not been considered advisable, owing to the generally disturbed condition of business, to open any new branches during the year, but a number of new points where prospects seem attractive are now under consideration. The following branches and sub-branches which had proved unprofitable have been closed;—Glen Morris, Hilton Beach, Smooth Rock Falls, Tottenham and Waldemar, all in the Province of Ontario; Harding, Manitoba; Foam Lake and Krydor, Saskatchewan; Dorenlee, Greencourt, Lousana, Peace River, Spirit River and Whitecourt in the Province of Alberta.

Your Directors regret that on account of the state of his health, Dr. Merritt is at present unable to attend to the active duties attaching to the Vice-Presidency. The Board has therefore deemed it advisable to appoint an additional Vice-President, and Sir James Woods has kindly consented to serve in that capacity.

During the year the decennial revision of the Bank Act was undertaken by Parliament and a number of important changes designed primarily to protect alike the interests of Shareholders and Depositors have been made in the Act.

All banches and the various Departments of the Head Office have been carefully inspected in accordance with the Bank's invariable custom. The Auditors appointed by you at the last meeting have also made their examinations as required by the Bank Act and their report and certificate is attached to the Balance Sheet. Owing to changes in the Act necessitating the appointment of members of separate firms and prohibiting the appointment of an Auditor who may undertake any other work on behalf of the Bank, Messrs. Clarkson and Dilworth have intimated their intention not to seek re-election. It therefore becomes necessary for you to appoint others.

The Directors have again pleasure in bearing testimony to the care and zeal with which the various officers of the Bank have discharged their respective duties during the past year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PELEG HOWLAND,
President.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO SHAREHOLDERS.

We certify that the above Balance Sheet is in accord with the books of the Imperial Bank of Canada and that in our opinion it discloses the true condition of the Bank as at 31st October, 1923. We have received all the information and explanations we have required and all transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

G. T. CLARKSON, F.C.A.
R. J. DILWORTH, F.C.A.
of Clarkson, Gordon and Dilworth,
Auditors for the Shareholders.

Toronto, November 23rd, 1923.

The President in his address reviewed general business conditions and the General Manager commented upon the different items in Balance Sheet.

Messrs. A. B. Shepherd, C.A., of Marwick, Mitchell and Company and P. C. Baxter, C.A., of Macintosh, Cole and Robertson were appointed Auditors for the ensuing year and other customary motions were made and carried unanimously.

The following Shareholders were re-elected Directors;—Peleg Howland, Dr. W. H. Merritt (St. Catharines), Sir James Woods, Sir James Aikins, K.C., (Winnipeg), John Northway, Lieut.-Col. J. F. Michie, Frank A. Rolph, R. S. Waldie, George C. Heintzman and J. W. Hobbs.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. Peleg Howland was elected President and Dr. W. H. Merritt and Sir James Woods, Vice-Presidents for the ensuing year.

PELEG HOWLAND.
President.

A. E. PHIPPS,
General Manager.

INTERESTING COAST ITEMS

Vancouver, Dec. 7.—Cleanliness may be next to Godliness, but Mr. David T. Wilkinson, local business man, is calling it other things, and he will have a week or two in the hospital for his reflections. It happened like this: Mrs. Wilkinson, a 100 per cent. housewife, had completed a house cleaning which included a polishing of her windows. Later, on his return home, Mr. Wilkinson, thinking one of the windows was open, reached to pull it down. In stooping over he thrust his head through the immaculately clean glass, gashing himself seriously on the face and neck.

Vancouver—Vehemently protesting against the consolidation of their municipalites n the proposed Greater Vancouver scheme, residents of South Vancouver, North Vancouver, West Vancouver and Point Grey are organzing mass meetngs. This will prove an important issue at the coming electon of the municipalities.

New Westminster — Japanese engaged in the fishing industry at Steveston are joining with the Fraser Valley Japanese fishermen in a new protective association, one of the aims of which will be amendments to existing fishing licences, if they are able to get it passed in Ottawa. Paid lobby,sts will attend the Dominion capital for the purpose.

Vancouver — Three months ago, a homeless kitten was picked up starving in an alley by the owners of the Canada Club. Now the feline is worth hundreds of dollars and many offers have been refused from society folk and the owner of a circus. The cat is found to have two perfectly formed furry hands, including thumbs, instead of paws on its front legs. Veterinarians state it is the only known instance recorded on the continent in many years.

Vancouver — Because he gave up washing himself after their marriage one year ago, and will not even compromise with an occasional neck lave, Mrs. Wybrant B. Wright, young and pretty, is suing for divorce. Mr. Wright is reputed to be well-off. "I simply can't stand him any longer," regretted the bride. "He seems to hate soap and water like the devil hates holy water, but, when he was courting me, he was a regular dude."

Victoria — Change in the beer section of the Moderation Act to provide for selling beer by the glass has been agreed upon, though the exact form of the change is still to be settled. There is a strong move on in favor of local option, so that those centres that do not desire beer to be sold by the glass by vendors under the government, may not come under the proposed amendment.

Vancouver—Plans to spend twenty million dollars on highway development in B. C. within the next five years, have been prepared by Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, and will be formally brought before the Legislature this week for ratification. The scheme will link up existing roads so as to make a transprovincial network of highways. Funds for the work are to be raised from the profits of the Liquor Control Board and from the new tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline. "Every section of the province will be provided for in the scheme," stated Hon. Dr. Sutherand, in making an advance statement on the proposal.

Vancouver — Continued astounding revelations of the complicity of Royal Canadian Mounted police officers with underworld dope peddlers and addicts, are coming to light as the result of the enquiry into the charges made by Attorney-General Manson. Among the latest witnesses are two young women who have been rescued through the agency of Mrs. James O'Brien of the Anti-Narcotic League. One of these testified that she had been induced to try the drug habit and introduced to Chineses drug peddlers by Constable "Doc" Smith when a girl of fifteen. One Chinese peddler, Lee Shon, who committed suicide recently when arrested on a dope charge, refused at first to sell drugs to so young a girl, she testified, so the constable took her to the notorious J. J. Wing. The defence, as outlined by the cross examination of J. B. Pattullo, K.C., is that the officer was using the girls for the purpose of getting evidence against the Chinese.

To Help the Veterans —Play This Game

Enter the Poster-Judging Competition which is being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations, and to which BOVRIL LIMITED has donated prizes totalling £30,000, about $138,888.00.

These are divided in 2,003 prizes, each of the first three being really a fortune in itself—The amounts are approximately as follows:

1st Prize - $55,555

SEND A DONATION OF $1.20

Every donor of $1.20 is presented with a Ticket-folder, on which sixteen of the most celebrated BOVRIL Posters are reproduced in full colors.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do. It is a fascinating game, which can be played over and over again and in which all can join, and the prizes add interest to the game.

Donations should be made to any of the following organizations or their branches which are actively interested and ask your help:

WORLD TOUR OF BRITISH SHIPS

A ten months' tour of the world by two British battle-cruisers and five light cruisers began on November 27, when these ships steamed from Devonport, England, and some editors in that country note with pride that as they progress along the coasts of the five continents washed by the Atlantic, the Indian Ocean and the Pacific, "two out of every three of the ports at which they touch—between forty and fifty—are British possessions under the flag of the Empire." We are reminded also that until next June, when these vessels anchor off Honolulu, their crews will not once have set foot on foreign soil. As the London Times tells us, with that single exception they will have been the guests, wherever they touch land, of men of their own race, and this daily proceeds:

"On their way back to England the battle-cruisers and their consorts, when they separate at San Francisco, will take different routes, the Hood and the Repulse sailing through the Panama Canal up to Halifax and Quebec, touching at four ports of the United States on the way, while the First Light Cruiser Squadron will pass round Cape Horn, stopping at the Falkland Islands, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, and Rio de Janeiro, and so home.

"The thought of such a voyage must stir the pride and fire the imagination—if he has any—of every man with the sailor blood of Britain in his veins. Apart from the training which it will give to officers and men, its mission is to show the flag in far-off parts of the Empire, where, in these days of relentless economy, it is now too rarely seen. Two of the five light cruisers—Dauntless and Dragon—formed the escort of the Prince of Wales when he sailed to Canada and Newfoundland in the Renown."

Every one in England knows how these visits of the Prince to the Dominions and India brought the different nations of the Empire closer to one another and to the Mother Country. The Times goes on to say, not only by virtue of his winning personality, but because as the eldest son and representative of the soverign, he was to all the King's subjects overseas "a visible reminder of their common bond." So this daily continues:

"The King's ships and the proud flag which they fly, will serve in the same way to recall to the minds of all British descent who see in them the strength and oneness for which the Royal Navy stand today, as it has through all the glorious ages of the Empire's past. Without its ships and its officers and men, not one of the Dependencies of the Crown which the cruiser squadrons are to visit would have been added to the brotherhood of Dominions and Colonies that make the Empire Without them, as they were then and will be while the Empire lasts, the commerce which is its life-blood could never have been built up and could not now continue to circulate. The Hood and the Repulse are noble witnesses, together with their lighter consorts, of the unrivalled skill of Britain's shipbuilders. The one disquieting effect of their departure is the weakness which is shown in the cruiser strength of the Navy. Not only because of the employment which it will give, but because it will to some extent repair this deficiency, the decision to resume the work of cruiser construction is a most welcome announcement. The country has agreed to a certain limitation of its naval armament. But below that limit, because of all that the Navy means, it can not, and dares not, fall."

The Naval Correspondent of The Times points out that the ships will visit several places which came into prominence during the war, and he mentions:

"Dar-es-Salaam, the chief port of what used to be German East Africa; Zanzibar, where the light cruiser Pegasus was caught and destroyed by the Konigsberg; Penang, where the Emden appeared with a dummy funnel and sank a Russian cruiser and a French destroyer; and the Falklands, forever to be associated with Sir Doveton Sturdee's victory.

"The value of such a cruise is bound to be considerable, for there are many direction in which it should be productive of good results. It will show the British Flag in ports where it is now seldom seen. The flag will be displayed in real fighting units of first-class efficiency. A reminder will be given of preeminence of British shipbuilders and marine engineers. Trade will be stimulated by such an exhibition of our naval strength, upon which our oversea commerce ultimately depends. The cruise will provide a splendid opportunity for long-distance steaming trials. It will give valuable experience to the officers and men. The influence on recruiting, and especially on the class of recruits, should be entirely good. Finally, the voyage should prove an object-lesson to the Dominions of what is necessary to keep open our sea communications."

As if by way of prelude to the departure of the ships for their visits along the Empire's "far-flung battle-line,' the first naval review since 1914 was held off Spithead for the benefit of the Premiers of the British Dominions. To these personages, remarks the London Morning Post, the majestic array of ships-of-war must have given rise to many reflections, and among them that "had it not been for the Royal Navy, there would be no Empire today." This daily adds that it was the Navy which "made victory possible," for it "stood between the Imperial German Navy and the command of the sea, by which the enemy would have been enabled to take possession one by one of the King's Dominions overseas and to invade this country." Indeed, "had there been any foreign navy strong enough to defeat the British Navy during the last hundred years, every British possession overseas would have lain at the mercy of the power possessing that superior fleet."—Literary Digest.

HOW THE PIONEER PAYS THE PRICE

It is a singular and one might say unfortunate coincidence that governmental costs increase in ratio as one moves from east to west in this country. The Citizens' Research Institute of Canada recently published a pamphlet dealing with the subject. The institute's statistician deals with the combined per capita costs of national, provincial and municipal government in seventeen cities. The national overhead, that is to say, Dominion taxation, is placed at the same figure throughout the country, $39.24 per capita, it being in municipal and provincial taxation where the spread takes place. For instance, in Charlottetown, which is at one end of the country, the combined taxation amounts to $60.27 per head, while in Victoria, the extreme western point, the total is $145.05 per head. The second from the top is Vancouver with $136.48 per capita, while next to the lowest is Quebec with $68.38 per capita; the third from the bottom of the list is Montreal with $79.65 per capita, while the third from the top is Calgary with $126.50 per capita.

Then as you move east to Edmonton, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Toronto, all in turn, the rate per capita decreases, until in the latter city you find it $100.66 per capita, as compared with $126.03 in Edmonton. Bunching the centres the Province of Quebec makes the best showing, next to Prince Edward Island, where not only taxation but living costs generally are very much below the level prevailing in other parts of the country.

Of the Ontario cities named, Toronto stands highest, with its $100.66 per capita, while the lowest is London with its $86.01, Ottawa being a fraction higher and Hamilton a fraction higher still.

Provincial taxation is much less in Quebec, the rate being $6.22 per capita, as compared with Ontario's $8.99, Manitoba's $14.21, Saskatchewan's $15, Alberta's $17.77 and British Columbia's $38.49.

If these statistics prove anything it is that new countries are expensive places to live in, and the pioneer pays the price.—Saturday Night.

WINTER RESORTS IN CANADA

THE gateway to Stanley Park, Vancouver, world famed as one of the beauty spots of the Pacific Coast region, whose mild weather is making it more and more popular as a winter resort.

READY NOW TO BE FORGIVEN

Even wildly theorizing folk like the Soviet leaders learn from hard experience, even to the extent of abandoning or modifying their dearest notions. For months past the great men of Moscow have realized that in the present state of the world and its inhabitants, including those of Russia, thoroughgoing Communism is not workable, and they have allowed the capitalistic camel to get not only his head, but his forequarters also, into the Soviet tent. This was grossly inconsistent, but it simply had to be done, and therefore it was done.

Now another discovery has been made—the discovery that there are several kinds of work and therefore as many kinds of workers, with one about as fare as another, and that the ideal of a completely proletarian world, with only those whose toil is with their hands allowed to eat, cannot be attained. That experiment was made with considerable thoroughness in Russia, and such of the brain workers as were not shot or frightened out of the country have been treated hitherto as worthless persons, more lucky than they deserved if permitted to starve quietly to death.

The effects of this policy have at last become clear to the Soviet leaders, and in addition to allowing the surviving "intelligensia" to hold a convention in Moscow as the All-Russian Union of Scientists they have sent high government officials to the meetings to proclaim a new era. Of course, these officials have expressed no regret for the persecutions of the past; what they have done is to ask that the past be forgotten by the men of science and that they join in with everybody else in the reorganization of Russia.

That is a pathetic plea! How it will be treated by the Russian savants, especially by those now in other and safer countries, remains to be seen, but probably they will let bygones be bygones and do what they can to remedy the dreadful mistakes made by their now repentant, or at any rate regretful, persecutors.—Nelson News.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Free Press:

Dear Sir—Will you please insert this communication in your valuable paper re The Doctors' Question.

I am a miner's wife and think I should have something to say along with other wives in this matter.

First I read the notice last Friday where it said that that would be the last notice regarding the Doctors' Question as it was causing expense to the Union and the Coal Company and I thought what a shame it is that our men's union money should be spent on this question as the majority of the miners were satisfied with the old Doctors and it would, in my opinion, have been better to have saved that money towards giving some relief in case of a strike instead of the people having to go to their grocer and ask for credit until they started to work again. And then the committee and executive say the men should go to the meetings, but there was only one mass meeting to vote on this question and I wonder if the men would be satisfied with that in making a contract with the operators, (no), they would be there times without number and rightly so, and they would urge all the men to be there and would not think of passing a resolution with a quarter of the men there. The committee and executive say they have no animosity against the old Doctors. It is only because they wouldn't sign the contract. Why don't the miners get a meeting and see for themselves what the contract is composed of as there may be something that the Doctors cannot possibly do and if you men saw for yourselves you would know what the kick was about? I cannot think that all the miners are without honor and I think if they had looked at this matter more seriously they would not have wanted to give the Doctors (like Mr. Draper says) a deal they would not have had themselves. Of course, I think there are 75 or 80 per cent. of the men that say the same as Mr. Haigh, they have no kick with the old Doctors.

Although the executive and committee put it on the board that the men could sign for either Doctors, they still want the men to take their signatures off the old Doctors list. If the signatures can be crossed off for one lot of Doctors, why not cross them all off again and let the men have a referendum vote and all sign again?

I have always understood that a union was to help men to keep their freedom, but in this case it seems one has no freedom when he is almost compelled to put his signature to that which he does not want. I have been surprised that President Sherman has not been on the scene to try and settle things as I consider it a slur on the organization he is president of, and it is quite the oposite to what the U. M. W. of A. Journal and their Constitution advocates; that is to keep the law of the state or province.

Thanking you in anticipation, I will sign myself—

A Miner's Wife.

78 Chipman Ave., City.
The Editor, Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—Again I take up my pen, and try to convince Mr. Draper that the Doctors' Question is the business of Gladstone Local Union alone, and has nothing to do with the general public. But he seems to be captain and everything for the Doctors (!) for what reason I do not know. But I will try to answer the two so-called charges that he claims his business to make, if your readers will allow me a littel scope, and not think me worse than I really am for taking up the correspondence in the first place.

Notice was posted for a Special General Meeting on September 12th, for one specific purpose—the Doctors Question. At that meeting there was about two hundred and fifty members present. After a long discussion a resolution was duly moved and seconded that the Medical Committee interview the Doctors and ask them to sign the agreement as drawn up, with two more clauses added, and failing to get satisfaction, to advertise for Doctors that will accept the agreement. Before the motion was put, the Chairman asked the following question: Does this mean that we, the Medical Committee, have plenary powers; the answer was yes. The motion was passed without one dissenting voice. So I cannot see the need of a ballot, as the Medical Committe only carried out the wishes of the Union members.

I think the above answers the two so called charges, if such is possible.

Then, sir, you accuse me of trying to draw a red herring across your trail. Forgive me if I did even try to do such a thing, to a person of your intelligence.

Again I refute the statement that if a person does not sign for the new Doctors that he will lose his position. And I would also advise Mr. Draper not to make such statements, as some of them are likely to get the writer of same into a funny predicament some time or other.

Now, Mr. Draper, this is absolutely my final attempt to try to convince you, as all the time I am disclosing Union business, which is contrary to our constitution.—Yours respecfully,

H. Haigh.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the City Council, which was postponed from last Thursday, was held in the Council Chambers Tuesday evening with Acting-Mayor J. S. Irvine in the chair, Mayor Henderson was the only absentee.

The Court of Revision having approved the Voters' List, the City Clerk requested instructions regarding the printing of the 1924 Voters' List. A motion that the Fernie Free Press be given the printing of the Voters' List for 1924 at the cost of eight cents per name was passed.

Several quotations on the City's hay requirements were submitted and the City Clerk instructed to purchase one carload of No. 1 Timothy hay from F. La Fontaine Co., Pincher Creek, Alberta.

A letter from the Trites-Wood Co. requesting that they be granted a flat rate on their window lights was laid over for the 1924 Council to deal with.

The Medical Health Officer reported that immediate steps should be taken re the care of the Isolation Hospital.

The City Clerk was instructed to again advertise for a caretaker for the Isolation Hospital.

A letter from Messrs Evans, Coleman and Evans, of Vancouver, regarding deductions from their Cast Iron Pipe account was laid over pending Mayor Henderson's return from the east.

Quotations on the laying of the water pipe line across the Elk River in concrete, were submitted by Contractor Dawson, and it was decided to accept the quotation of cost plus ten per cent. and that the City employ a competent inspector to look after the City's interest while this work was being done.

Three motions were passed naming City Clerk A. J. Moffatt returning officer for the Civic and School Trustee elections, which, if a poll is necessary, will take place on Thursday, January 17th, and also empowering him to receive nominations for Mayor and Council Police Commissioners and School Trustees on Monday, January 14th, 1924.

A By-Law, No. 258, to amend By-Law No. 192, Section 41A, providing for clearing of snow from sidewalks by property owners passed through its various readings and was finally passed.

It is now compulsory for all citizens resident in or owing any property in the city to keep their sidewalks, abutting or adjoining, their property clear of snow.

$10,000 WORTH OF BOOZE SEIZED AT FRANK

One of the biggest seizures of liquor by the A.P.P. took place at Frank on Sunday afternoon, when whisky, to the approximate vale of $10,000, in some 200 cases, was found in two sealed cars of a C.P.R. freight train. The cars contained zinc ore from the mines west of Fernie, consigned to Windsor, Ont., and Montreal,and when the search was made at Frank station by the sergeant, the liquor in cases was found on top of the ore. In one of the cars was J. L. Jones, of Fernie, and in the other, Joe Bush, of Fernie. Both men were fully armed. In the caboose of the train were J. Wilson and F. Moran, of Fernie. All four men were placed under arrest pending trial. The liquor was taken to A.P.P. headquarters at Blairmore to be held there.

Home Bank Depositors Meeting at Toronto

Opening with a tragedy when an elderly woman sitting on a front seat collapsed from heart failure, was carried out, and died while being taken to a hospital, the gathering of Home Bank depositors which half filled Massey Hall, including many women, heard W. T. J. Lee read the report of their executive committee; listened with rapt attention as Liquidator Clarkson read, for one hour and forty minutes, his comprehensive report, and then spent the remainder of the afternoon until six o'clock in a somewhat noisy consideration of various resolutions, speeches on which were limited to ten minutes. Finally adjournment was made until this morning, but this is what the meeting did:

Authorixed borrowing sum not to exceed $3,750.000 for payment of 25 per cent. dividend to depositors.

Voted in favor of creating a holding company to handle bank assets.

Empowered inspectors to take legal action toward recovery of money from those who received it.

Government to be asked to return moneys paid in taxes.

Appointment of inspectors is not going to be an easy matter; the discussion on this was bitter at times, and will be resumed today, as well as the appointment of a permanent liquidator.

As Mr. Clarkson read his report an almost dead silence was maintained.

There was a shiver, half of laughter and half anger, when Mr. Clarkson read how the bank had decided to make no more advances to the Western Canada Pulp and Paper Co., and how the Maufacturers' Holding and Investment Co. had borrowed $130,000 from it for Victory Bonds, without the bank holding them as security, and finally, of how the loan eventually found its way into the hands of the Pulp Company, which was not to get any further aid.

"Will we get any of that money back?" shouted a man from the gallery. Mr. Clarkson laughed.

A little later he was again interrupted as he laid a page down: "How many more of them?"

"I will skip some of them," offered Mr. Clarkson.

"Do not," interrupted another "let's hear about Daly."

W. A. Buchner moved that power be given the liquidator to borrow $3,750,000 at 5 per cent. to make the required dividend payment of 25 per cent.

"Take the first opportunity to get your money you can," was his advice.

Rev. Father Treacy arose to declare that the liquidator ought not borrow money at 5 per cent. when only 3 per cent was being paid shareholders.

Mr. Reid: "What assets are you going to give for the loan?"

Cries of "Sit Down!" forced Mr. Reid to his seat and Mr. Clarkson replied that no more money would be borrowed than is required. All the assets of the bank, with the court's approval, would be pledged for the loan.

Mr. Clarkson: "I will borrow no more money than is required. If we need only $2,000,000 or $1,500,000 we will only borrow the amount that is required, and no more, but we need this enabling clause so that in eighteen months, if the Ontario Government requires to be paid, we can go to the banks and get it. I am hopeful that we will never have to go over $1,800,000, or, at the outside, $2,000,000. Secondly Mr. Reid ought to know that all the assets of the estate will be pledged for the security of this loan."

After Mr. Kernahan had seconded the motion authorizing the loan, some half dozen speakers tried to speak at once, one speaker from London asking that the sum be increased to allow a dividend to depositors of 50 per cent. of their deposits. The original motion was declared carried up a majority show of hands.

Mayor Henderson

Mayor G. G. Henderson, of Fernie, B. C., moved the formation of the holding company, which would be under the depositors' committee and empowering the liquidators to form such a company and to transfer such frozen assets as they think advisable to this company.

"I made it my business," he said, "to enquire particularly with reference to the assets of the Home Bank on the Pacific Coast. The assets there are valuable, but if they are forced on the market at the present time they will not realize ten cents on the dollar; whereas, if they are held for two, three or even five years, they will, according to the best information I have been able to obtain, realize one hundred and probably one hundred and fifty cents on the dollar. I therefore urge upon you to authorize the organization of this company. I represent a very large number of people who have lost every dollar they had in the world. They are largely working people. In our little town of Fernie they have $800,000 deposited, and in a little village close by, the people have $200,000 on deposit. These people are largely broken-down, worn-out old men who are down and out of it. And I say to Fielding and MacKenzie King, to every member of the Senate and to every member of the Government, 'For God's sake have a heart, and do not dump these old people to put in the few remaining years of their life in the poorhouse or in the most abject poverty.' (Applause) There is nothing else for it for those old people who are not in ones but in hundreds.

"They have been working in the

MAYOR NAMED AS INSPECTOR

TORONTO, Dec. 8. — Almost submerged in ballots, scrutineers at the meeting of Home Bank depositors worked at the main office of the bank last night totalling up the votes cast for the office of inspector with eleven to be elected. Next to the choice of the permanent liquidators — G. T. Clarkson and U. E. Weldon — the greatest concern was taken in the balloting for these inspectorships.

The results of the voting was as follows:

A. G. Browning, K. C., Hamilton, representing the government of Alberta; U. A. Buchner, London; A. B. Campbell, Toronto; E. A. Cleary, Windsor; G. G. Henderson, mayor of Fernie; W. T. Kernahan, Toronto; J. H. Mitchell, mayor of Allison; John O'Rielly, Lindsay; E. C. Saunders, St. Thomas; H. Weinfield, Montreal and Fred Martin of Sintaluta, Sask.

It was announced that the 25 per cent. dividend to depositors will be paid at once and come as a "Christmas box."

o

H. Wallace, of Fernie, arrived on Thursday last to take the position of teller at the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, succeeding Mr. Meldrum, who is retiring from the banking business.—Creston Review.

POULTRY SHOW OPENS IN MINERS HALL WEDNESDAY

Don't forget the Poultry Show. It is being held in the Miners' Hall. This will be the best on record, birds from all the neighboring towns will be on the stands and all the crack birds from the Calgary Show, that is now on.

Come and help the boys along and see what quality your local chicken men have got. Then there is the Bantam section, it will be worth while seeing them and there is a Pigeon class. Don't miss them. There will be rare varieties on exhibition that have never been in this part of the country before.

Every one attending this exhibition will spend a good time and will appreciate the efforts of the local fanciers. Don't forget the days, next Wednesday and Thursday.

Charles Good, the Provincial District Poultry Instructor, will be in attendance at the Poultry Show and he will give a lecture on Wednesday night. Don't miss this chance of hearing him as he is an expert in the business.

At the last general election, J. T. Newbold, Communist candidate in the Motherwell division of Lanarkshire, sent a jubilant message to Moscow announcing his election. Last Thursday Newbold was defeated, and the Liverpool branch of the British Empire League has sent a cable to Premier Lenin, of Soviet Russia, reading: "Motherwell lost to Moscow."

BOY SCOUTS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Fernie Boy Scouts Association was held in the City Hall on Monday evening with President Dr. E. L. Garner in the chair and a very representative gathering present.

President Garner in submitting his report, went fully into the progress of the association during the past year, dealing especially with the very successful camp held at McBain's Lake last summer, pointing out the great advantage of the annual summer camp to the boys. He also outlined the Boy Scout movement as a whole, emphasizing the benefits of Scouting, not only to the boys themselves, but to the entire community.

Scoutmaster Donaldson presented a very encouraging verbal report. He stated that the troop at present had a membership of fifty-eight boys in the various stages of proficiency in Scout work. He pointed out that this number was fairly constant from year to year, since the number of recruits was about equal to the number of boys reaching the age of 18 years and thus passing from membership in the troop. The most urgent requirement of the troop at present, he stated, was competent instructors for the boys, showing that as the troop grew older, the boys were scattered through the various stages of the work and with the present staff of officers it was impossible to take care of the troop properly and keep the boys occupied during their meetings. Touching upon the Summer Camp at McBain's Lake the Scoutmaster stated that he was proud of the record established by the thirty boys who were under canvas for the ten days' outing, they had done their own cooking, passed numerous proficiency badge tests, maintained splendid discipline and returned to their homes greatly benefited from their outing. In concluding, Mr. Donaldson expressed his appreciation of the work done by Mr. Auld, Mr. Puckey, Dr. Workman, the I.O.D.E., the Rotary Club and all those who had in any way helped to further the work of the Boy Scout Association in Fernie.

The financial statement for the year was then presented by Secretary-Treasurer Dr. J. Ewart Gee, showing the finances of the association to be in fairly good shape, the outstanding feature of the report being that the cost of operating the Summer Camp at McBain's (Lake) was practically covered by the fees collected. The report of the Secretary-Treasurer was adopted as read.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Pres.—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. R. Wallace
President—Dr. E. L. Garner.
Vice-President—Mr. E. K. Stewart.
Sec.-Treas.—Dr. J. Ewart Gee.

Executive — Messrs Rev. W. F. Burns, J. B. Beddome, A. I. Fisher, D. G. Harvie, A. Cummings and Dr. Workman.

A motion was passed to reduce the membership fee of the association from $5.00 to $2.00 and the Executive empowered to appoint a committee to institute a drive for members.

Scoutmaster Donaldson and Dr. Workman discussed the advisability of forming a patrol or patrols of Boy Scouts at Coal Creek it being difficult for the Coal Creek boys who were members of the Fernie troop to get to Fernie druing the winter months for the Scout meetings. Dr. Workman assured the association that he would gladly take this matter up with the Coal Creek people and give any help he could along those lines.

PYTHIAN BAZAAR TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Trinity Temple No. 7 Pythian Sisters will hold a bazaar in the I. O. O. F. Hall tomorrow, Saturday. Afternoon tea will be served from 3 to 7.

A specialty has been made of little boys' clothing and it will certainly pay the mothers to come and see the bargains.

There will also be tables of home cooking, candy, fancy-work, toys, aprons, etc. Toys are going to be cheap so come early before they are all snapped up. Don't forget "Sparky" will be on the toy table.

HOME BANK DEPOSITORS

coal mines, but if they are, or have been, miners, they are just as proud and just as sensative as any other class of people in the world. And I may tell you that in the place I represent every organization—Masons, Knights of Columbus and other societies—everybody there you can think of has an interest in this vital matter. All their money is in this bank, and I feel that you should back up this motion and make every effort to assist the liquidators in getting every dollar they can out of it, even if the assets are to be held for a term of even five years." (Applause.)

A lady in the audience—who declined to give her name—rose and declared tearfully: "Every dollar I have is there."

R. A. B. King, who spoke, caused considerable confusion and uproar: "Where are all the business men that have money in this bank? Have we got to go to lawyers for all our talent? The lawyers of this country comprises one-fifteenth of one per cent. of the people, but it is through them that you are getting the legislation we have today, and that has put us in the rut we are in today."

H. H. Higginbotham, Calgary,: "I have been for the last six years secretary of the farmers 'organization in Alberta. We have many farmers interested in this bank. We have over half a million dollars in this bank. I agree with Mr. Henderson that it would be unwise to force these assets on the market. They require to be nursed along. I believe that there are many people hanging around this Home Bank like ghouls round a carcass, waiting to see what they can pick up. But what we want to let these people know that in so far as the Home Bank assets are concerned, they are not to be sacrificed. (Applause) And they need not be sacrificed. A large part of these assets in British Columbia are timber limits. I have made it my business to enquire and I know it is their policy there to hold on to their timber now, because it is rising in value, and I support the formation of a holding company to nurse the assets along so as to get 100 cents out of every dollar if we can. I second the motion."

The resolution was passed.

Voice in the audience: "Tell us when we are going to get our 25 per cent?"

Mr. Clarkson: "Just as soon after permanent liquidators are appointed."

Mr. Clarkson proceeded: "The next order of business is to appoint inspectors as to advise the liquidator in the liquidation of the bank."

R. A. Reid: "In the blue copy of liabilities, there is a list of companies, one kind and another. Has there been any complete statement prepared in detail of all these companies who had advances, has there been any itemized statement prepared showing every detail of money and who got the money?"

Mr. Clarkson: "Mr. Reid, what do you think we have been doing? Of course we have it."

Mr. Reid: "I am not asking you that. Have you prepared it for this meeting? I want to know?"

Mr. Clarkson: "No. Because that is absolutely in opposition to these creditors. I can tell you of one case where it would cost the bank $300,000 if it were done."

Mr. Reid: "That is just evading the question." Shouts of "Sit Down" and "Platform," and Reid walked to the platform.

Mr. Reid: "What I want to know is this: Has there been a detailed itemized statement prepared by the liquidator, or by anyone in the bank? It would only take five or six pages, showing the names of Sir Henry Pellatt and all the other Pellats who have got money from the bank. I want to know the amounts, the dates when taken, who got the money and how it was advanced?" (Applause and cheers.)

Someone asked how the money was to be got back.

Mr. Reid: "You cannot get it back and cannot attempt to get it back until you find out who has got it. What you want to know is who is behind these companies, who got the money, and find out their personal liability. The personal liability of men like Sir Henry Pellatt, F. B. Robbins and Haney and the rest. There has been no single effort made since the closing of the bank to attack these men civilly and recover the losses of the bank. Who has the money?

A woman in the audience "We'll take everything off them; their houses and everything."

Mr. Reid: "If this meeting does not get satisfaction here today from the liquidator, then we will send them to Ottawa. Every depositor in this country has got to see that the House of Parliament is dissolved this session, and after that we will get satisfaction from a Conservative Government. We want this information—was there an itemized statement showing every five cent piece that was in the bank? Until we get that you can't get anywhere."

"I would therefore move that this meeting ask the liquidator to prepare and produce, if he has not already done so, a list of loans of the Home Bank of 4500 or over, who got the money, and what security was given."

Voice in the gallery: "Do you mean to tell me you would publish the name of every company?"

Mr. Reid: "By all means. Nothing in this enquiry is private."

Mr. Clarkson rose to explain that the liquidators had prepared a list of every loan, every borrower, every shareholder and director in every borrowing company, and added: "The very information Mr. Reid asked for is what we have been seeking, too. When I get permission from the court, and when I think it advisable, it will be published."

"Why bring in politics and yellow journalism wth a matter which effected so deeply the pockets of so many people?" demanded Controller Singer.

There were cries of "Put them in jail."

"I see the Crown Attorney here keeping an eye on proceedings, and you couldn't have a better man than Mr. McCarthy on the job," said Controller Singer. "You are getting action, and the people who have done things they should not have done will, unless I am mistaken, get their deserts. I was hoping my friend the liquidator would have been able to tell us of one honest transaction that was done by this bank."

"Frauds" shouted an irate woman.

"Yes, frauds of the worst kind. But at the present time you are not concerned with the frauds but with getting your money back, and you are not going to do that by publishing the names of companies who may be able to pay the money back."

Mr. Reid: "He says the Crown is watching these proceedings and these men will get their deserts. That won't get us any money. What I want is information about the men who are behind these companies. So we can proceed against them in civil actions for damages. I want to proceed against these men who are personally liable — men like Pellatt and the others."

Osler Wade: "I rise to a point of order. The court defined certain routine business today. I ask for the resolution of the agenda."

Major A. C. Lewis: "Do not let us get into a division among ourselves. There is not going to be any directors among the depositors assembled here and the inspectors appointed to look after your interests. I can readily see the possibility of great danger if all these names asked for are published. There may be some company which today is quite solvent owing money to the Home Bank and possibly able within a few months to pay its indebtedness in full. It its name were published, confidence in the company might be destroyed and its ability to pay likewise destroyed."

W. T. Petley: "If you are going to railroad this thing through, say so. But I do say in fairness that you could not have counted the people who voted on that question." (Hear, hear)

Mr. Clarkson: "Counting the proxies that are in, the motion was defeated four to one."

Mr. Petley: "If you have sufficient proxies to verrule all those who are here, let us know, and we may as well go home. I do not happen to be a lawyer, but I have credit for a little common sense, and I have something else to do trying to make up my loss instead of staying here."

Mr. Clarkson:: 'The question of proxies having been raised, the proxies were asked for. The power of attorney was prepared on the instructions of the court, and I had nothing to do with it."

Mr. Petley: "Did the court ask you to put your name to it?"

Mr. Clarkson: "I did not see it at all."

"The number of proxies sent in from outside places gives a preponderance of the vote in a proportion of 4 to 1."

"What is this meeting for?" yelled an irate depositor.

Mr. Clarkson: "If you want the vote taken again, I have no objection."

Rev. Dr. Treacy (to Mr. Clarkson): "Did the order of the court ask you to put your name on the printed forms sent out?"

Mr. Clarkson: "I had nothing to do with it, nor did I see the order. The power of attorney was made under the order of the court. I did not see it until after it was printed. He also said that about $3,900,000 in proxies had been sent into the liquidators.

Another hubub occurred, and finaly stifled by a man in the gallery appealing for order in the interest of the depositors.

Mr. Edgar, when his voice could be heard, was telling his audience that "There had been improper acts. There had been interference, and as you know, criminal prosecutions have been taken."

"Yes, put them in jail," said an excited lady.

Mr. Edgar: "This motion is to empower the liquidators to collect the money that they have taken illegally." He then seconded the resolution.

W. G. Ross, of Saskatchewan, in seconding the motion said: "I represent the depositors of Saskatchewan who had $650,000 on deposit in the bank. I am going to represent these depositors as I see fit, and they are entitled to every consideration, just as much as the people of Toronto, who are here today, and because the people of Saskatchewan cannot be here. This resolution is one that we are deeply interested in. We did not break the bank in Western Canada. It was broken here in Toronto by men who were directing the workings of the bank here. We are interested in seeing that the utmost legal action be taken to make these men hand over the moneys they took from the bank."

The motion carried.

Henry Weinfield, of Montreal, walking to the front of the platform, declared: "H. Weinfield, Montreal, a lawyer. I represent $550,000 of deposits in Montreal. The people in the majority are from Hochelaga, who had their savings, their life savings, in the bank. They asked me to come here and represent them. The Home Bank was robbed by people on the inside, and one of the methods was to pay taxes to the Government on profits which had never been earned. I want to move authorization for the liquidators to take the necessary proceedings to have the Government get back these profits which were paid out." The motion declares that whereas the sum of $4000 have been paid in taxes to the Government in respect of supposed earnings of the Home Bank, the permanent liquidators and the executive committee representing creditors be authorized and instructed to take all necessary steps to obtain the repayment of the taxes paid.

W. A. Dower, of Toronto, moved the appointment of inspectors. The names submitted were J. C. Brady, Toronto; A G. Browning, K.C., Alberta; A. B. Campbell, Toronto; E. A. Cleary, Windsor; G. G. Henderson, Mayor of Fernie; W. T. Kernahan, Toronto; J. H. Mitchell, Alliston; John O'Rielly, Lindsay; E. C. Saunders, St. Thomas; N. W. Spauber, Montreal, and W. A. Partridge, M.P.P., Saskatchewan

"Tell us what their occupations are," shouted someone in the audience.

"I am not a lawyer. I am a business man," said Mr. Dover.

Another voice: "How many of these men are shareholders?"

Mr. Dover: "Mr. Clarkson assures me none of them are shareholders."

Voice: "Mr. Buchner is a shareholder. I know him."

R. H. Hessel, London: "The question has been raised about Buchner. I represent four or five depositors from London. There have been repeated meetings in London and it was the unanimous choice of the depositors that Mr. Buchner—although he is a shareholder—should represent them here."

W. T. J. Lee: "I have not taken any part particularly this afternoon in your deliberations further than to deliver the report of the executive committee. I feel that the matter is in your hands. Let me answer Mr. Petley's question. Those who have been appointed on the executive committee have been put there by all the branches in Canada ("No") Well just a moment. We had representaives from 60 out of 61 branches at the meeting in the Carls-Rite Hotel. In doing your business we have considered it very carefully from one end of Canada to the other; the question of inspectors has been given great though and this is the result. If you have anything against any of these gentlemen now is the time to say so, but in my opinon are all splendid inspectors, to whom you might entrust the matters at issue."

"Is Buchner a shareholder?" asked a member of the audience.

W. T. J. Lee: "As a depositor he would have rights the same as any other man."

"Not on our committee," cried several voices.

A. Mapes, Walkerville: "I suggest that the inspectors be elcted singly, nominating one at a time, because there are names on this committee that are not wanted by the people. We want a chance to vote them down when their names are put."

The chairman: "Take the whole of them, or take some of them, or take none of them.'

J. F. Edgar: "They must think outside that you people in Toronto want to do all the voting or else break up the meeting. The people from Vancouver, Fernie or Calgary have as much right to vote as you have, and they have sent their proxies here. If the head office was in Winnipeg you would have to send your proxies there."

Then it was decided to adjourn.

TREAT SORE THROAT WITH VICKS

This Alberta Mother Says It Is Best Remedy She Has Found.

Mrs. William Beghul, of Roydule, Alberta, writes: "I used Vicks VapoRub on my little girl who had a sore throat. I rubbed it on her throat and then put a flannel cloth on it. She generally gets very hoarse at night when she has a cold but after I put Vicks VapoRub on her neck and chest she didn't get hoarse like she usually does. Vicks is the best thing I have found yet."

Treat one cold with Vicks VapoRub and you will adopt this external treatment for all the cold troubles of the family. Vicks is a salve that acts like a plaster and a vapor lamp at the same time. It is absorbed and inhaled.

When the children come in wet and sniffling, apply Vicks liberally over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth.

Treated at bedtime, the child is usually better next morning and all the bad after-effects of internal dosing are avoided. Croup attacks are kept away, too.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

WHY YOUR DOCTOR ADVISES TONIC AT THIS TIME OF YEAR

There are lots of people who seldom really feel their best at this time of year. Certain foods do not agree with them; they suffer from indigestion after meals, sleep poorly nights and wake up feeling dull, tired and often constipated. Frequently their systems are so run-down they cannot throw off colds and such wintry ills. As a result there are many needless days of suffering.

Take a good tonic and build yourself up! Try just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's after the next few meals and notice the quick difference in the way you look, eat, sleep and feel. Tone up your system and feel your best. Have rich, red blood to keep you warm this winter. Druggists are authorized to return the small cost unless you are completely satisfied.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup TONIC

"THE BRASS BOTTLE" IS HAILED AS FILM NOVELTY

"The Brass Bottle," Maurice Tourneur's fantastic comedy drama from the novel of the same name by F. Anstey, English author, will be the First National screen novelty featured at the Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Interpreted by an all-star cast, including Harry Meyers, Ernest Torrence, Charlotte Merriam and Barbara La Marr, the story revolves around the adventures of a struggling young architect who releases a genie from a brass bottle in which he has been confined for many thousand years. The genie in gratitude for his release showers the architect with favors which, owing to the circumstances and the change of customs during the period of the genie's imprisonment, prove embarrassing.

The story is an extraordinary intermingling of modern London and King Solomon's court of six thousand years ago; the genie, with all his powers of materialization, accomplishes the seeming impossible wth a wave of hs hand, but unfortunately is unfamiliar with the needs of modern times. The story is one that can best be told by the marvels of photography. It is described as a delightfully refreshing tale with many a smile and all of the splendor of the days of old. It hailed as the screen innovation of the year.

In addition to the players already mentioned others prominent in the cast are Tully Marshall, Clarissa Selwyn, Ford Sterling, Aggie Herring and Ed. Jobson.

HIGH SCHOOL SCORE HIT

The pupils of the Fernie High School scored another dramatic hit last evening, when they presented their Annual Review at the Grand Theatre before a capacity house. Local talent is always well patronized in Fernie but the performance of the F. H. S. Dramatic Society last evening easily equalled if not surpassed many of the professional shows which have performed before Fernie audiences.

The Review opened with a rollicking Chorus, led by Miss Lillian Dickand Kobus, which gained a rousing en, Messrs Whaley, Fleming, Waters reception forecasting success right from the start. The next number was "The Dance of the Fairy Pipers," by Misses White, Maltman, Lipsey, Puckey, Caufield, Corrie, Hughes and Tully. a wonderful artistic and clever dancing feature. Following this came Ralph Whalley, John Corlett and Havelock Fleming in the trio from "The Only Girl," "When Your Ankle Wears the Ball and Chain."

"The Royal Spark." a comedy in two acts, followed. This feature was exceptionally well portrayed, the characters seemingly living their parts. The story is of a vivacious widow, bent on securing a title for her daughter and frowning upon the suit of her young lady's sweetheart, which leads to many amusing sequences and finally forces the young man to take rather drastic steps, but in the end everything straightens out and everyone is happy. The cast of characters were as follows:

Flora Wheatly, a vivacious widow —Edna Harvie.

Estelle Norton, Margery's fried—Helen Sewell.

Theron Fletcher, Dick's friend — Paul Kasmar.

Gretchen, a maid at Fletcher's—Gladys Corner.

Fritz, engaged to Gretchen —Alois Rudnicki.

Red Newman himself has very little on Jack McPhee, judging from this young man's rendition of Red's "Flippity Floppity Flappers," which followed the comedy, and made a great hit with the audience.

A violin solo, "Elegie by Ernst," played by John Corlett, was the next number and made a splendid impression,. This lad showing splendid mastery over his instrument.

An Interpretive Dance, "Ballet des Petits," by Miss Chrissie Davidson and Jack McPhee, followed. This was another of the features of the Review, Miss Davidson was the recipient of a nice boquet of carnations at the close of their encore.

The entertainment was brought to a most successful close with the number "Irene," from the light opera "Irene." Miss Lillian Dicken portrayin 'Irene' and assisted by the massed chorus. On taking the curtain call, Miss Dicken was also presented with a pretty boquet.

The page boys, John Ross and Edward Coughlan, who had humorously announced the numbers throughout the Review, then made their final bow and the entire cast together with the audience closed the evening with the singing of "God Save the King."

The Review will again be presented this evening and any Fernie citizen who did not see the Fernie High School pupils in their annual entertainment last evening, should not miss the opportunity of doing so tonight.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Dr. Garner spent several days in Calgary this week.

Mayor W. F. Cameron, of Cranbrook, has announced his retirement.

J. A. Broley returned on Wednesday from a business trip to Revelstoke.

W. R. Wilson was in Calgary attending a meeting of the Coal Operators early in the week.

Christmas cheer on similar lines to past years will be given the widows in connection with the local branch of the G. W. V. A.

The annual dance of the Mount Fernie Chapter I. O. D. E. will be held on New Year's Eve, Monday, December 31st. Good music.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dicken will leave about the end of the month for England, where they will spend a couple of months with old friends.

His Honor Judge Thompson gave a very interesting talk at the Rotary luncheon on Thursday on the subject of "Freak Legislation."

Providing the cold weather continues the rink will be open for skating by Monday night. For season tickets, apply at the rink to H. Whalley. Adults ticket $5.00, childs ticket $2.50.

Geo. Gilbert, for many years a resident of Fernie, died at his home on Sunday last, from an attack of pneumonia. The funeral took place from Christ Church today, Rev. Oswald officiating.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will hold a sale of aprons, etc, left December 19, from 3 to 6. There will over from the bazaar, on Wednesday, be a table of home cooking, a fish pond for the children and afternoon tea will be served.

The beautiful Christmas windows of the Crow's Nest Trading Co. and the Trites-Wood Co. are already drawing large crowds. When it comes to artistic window dressing Fernie does not have to take second place with any city.

Mayor G. G. Henderson ably represented Fernie at the meeting of creditors of the Home Bank, held in Toronto last week and deserves the sincere thanks of the depositors for the able way in which he fought for their interests.

The annual Christmas Tre for the children of members and deceased comrades of the G. W. V. A. will be held on Christmas Eve. Look for notice as to time and full particulars. The tree will be held in the Vets assembly hall.

Now that the heating apparatus has been installed in the new quarters of the G. W. V. A. and alterations made to the building, which makes for comfort and convenience of the membership. The House Committee are desirous of placing a few trophies of the prowess of our local nimrods on the walls and would greatly appreciate gifts of heads of the various game prevalent around here.

The English Church at Coal Creek was taxed to its capacity when the residents of the camp attended to witness the solemnization of matrimony between Mr. William Wals, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walls, of Railway View, to Ann June, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Branch, Coyote Street, the Rev. H. U. Oswald, of Fernie, trying the nuptial knot. The wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents. A grand reception was held at the Club Hall to which all residents of the camp were invited. The happy couple were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents.

The first big bag of the season was brought into the city on Tuesday evening when a hunting party, W. Thomson, Sr., his three sons, Abe Clark and Len Cartlidge, of West Fernie, returned from a week's sojourn in the South Forks country, bringing back with them fifteen Blacktail and one Whitetail deer. Eight splendidly antlered heads were included in the bag and these will be mounted as trophies. Mr. Thomson reports that deer are exceptionally plentiful in the Wigwam this season, the only difficulty encountered in securing the game being found in separating bucks over two years old from the herds as marks for the rifle. The party had expected to make a two week trip but were compelled to return as they had secured the limit of their deer bag for the season.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

CHRISTMAS looms up prominently and compels our attention. Only a few days now and we will have in our possession the contributions of Santa Claus to our happiness. The glad yuletide will be realized in its fullest measure and joy and gladness will be found in nearly every home in America. Between now and December 25th, attention of people in all walks of life will be focused upon that day. The life in the home, social activities and the entire shopping world now have little else than the great Christian festival to engage their attention.

To many people the coming of Christmas involves conditions that severely tax their strength. This happens because they do not take time by the forelock and are not forehanded in the preparations for the day. The last few days before Christmas usually are filled with feverish activity, because great multitudes of people do not make their Christmas purchases earlier, with the result that they not only unduly tax their own strength, but the strength of the clerks in the stores, in undertaking to accomplish in a few days what should have occupied their attention for a whole month. Late shopping not only begets exhaustion and discomfort, but it makes impossible a wise and economic selection of purchases. Obviously, the best time to shop is not just before Christmas, but at the present time when the merchant's lines of goods are full, the stores not too crowded and the purchaser can take the necessary time to make wise selections.

FOR many centuries the 25th day of December has been observed as Christmas. It is supposed to commemorate the day of the birth of Jesus Christ. At first the day was observed only by Christian people in touch with the Roman Catholic Church. It later grew into favor with Protestant Churches and has come to be recognized as a universal Christmas festival. Today it is celebrated throughout the world, in pagan lands as well as Christian lands. It comes nearer to being a universal holiday than any other day observed by mankind. There is a spirit and an atmosphere about the day that is contagious. While vast multitudes of people may observe the day without any serious thought as to what lies back of it, there are still great multitudes to whom it has significance because it marks the day of birth of Jesus in Nazareth, the gift of God to a lost world.

We may not think much of what lies back of the gifts which pass among us, but every one of them is related to the "Unspeakable Gift" which sprang from the love of God. If God had not so loved the world as to give his only begotten Son, there would be no Christmas and no Christmas gifts. Every token of love that passes from one person to another is but a reflection of that great love that expressed itself in the gift of God. The angels which came over Bethlehem's field and the shepherds who gathered in the humble manger in Bethlehem have had their songs re-echoed and the gift duplicated in all ages since. God's gift was an interpretation of the universal heart of mankind, and throughout the centuries that heart has responded in its innumerable gifts at yuletide.

It will be well for us as individuals, if we recognize the source from which our Christmas cheer has sprung, while we thank the loved ones from whom we have received the gifts, let us not forget to thank the Heavenly Father from whom has come the Gift that has been the inspiration of all gifts. It was a wise man of old who spoke of God as one "in whom we live and move and have our being." There is cause for daily gratitude to the author of our being, who showers upon us daily blessings and who ministers unto us in countless ways for our comfort and our joy. But it is when we contemplate what God has done for our salvation, what he has wrought for our redemption, what he has given for our enrichment in spiritual well-being that there is awakened in us a deep and true thankfulness, when people think of their Christmas obligations as duties they find them hard of fulfilment, but, when they think of them as a return of gratitude to God for his "Unspeakable Gift," they become a pleasure. It will be well for us in the midst of our Christmas festivities to take time to reflect upon the supreme Gift, for it is out of realization of what it means that there will come not only gratitude to God, but what inspiration to obedience in which we shall find life everlasting. Thanks be to God for his "Unspeakable Gift."

We heard a Fernie woman say that men are just like eggs—they're either fresh, rotten, hardboiled, or just spoiled.

VETERANS' MEETING

The annual general meeting of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. was held in the Vets assembly hall on Sunday last, The officers for the incoming term were duly installed. The following are the officers elected for 1924:

President—Com. G. Bowen.
Ist Vice-Pres.—Com. Hugh Brown.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Com. G. Townsend.
Past Pres.—J. F. Mitchell.
Sec.-Treas.—D. F. Markland.

Executive — Fernie: Comrades J. Manning, H. Wallace, T. Harden, J. Rigg, R. Crowe, G. Parnell, R. Smith, H. Wheeler, E. Baddley, T. Uphill, M. P. P. Coal Creek: Comrades A. Arrowsmith, J. Milburn, T. Morrison.

The President and Secretary-Treasurer gave their reports. A perusal of which will justify its existence as an organization working for the benefit of themselves and our community.

Comrades—As your retiring President, I take the opportunity and pleasure of submiting the following report:

Looking back on the past year I have a sense of satisfaction in the work that has been accomplished, and a feeling of hope and encouragement for the future. It is not necessary for me to give details of the work as the same will be covered in the report of the Secretary-Treasurer.

In spite of the heavy financial responsibility encumbent upon the Branch, and the unfortunate collapse of the Home Bank, we are still able to hold our own, as assets will show.

The work of re-establishment has been somewhat retarded, owing to the Royal Commission enquiry, which in spite of the unscrupulous methods used by the Board of Pension Commissioners, proved a victory for the organization. I would advise that during the coming year, we strain every effort to combat and defeat the cancellation of the Pension Bonus, and thereby safeguard the interests and welfare of the Widows and Orphans of our deceased Comrades, as also our disabled Comrades.

During the past year our Branch has been very active, having taken a prominent part in various functions in the City. The Unveiling Ceremony, Dominion Day Sports, Labor Day Sports and Armistice Day, and great credit is due the various committees for their sacrifice and labors in assisting to make same successes. Credit is also due to your House, Building, Canteen, Sick, Entertainment and Executive Committees for the able manner in which they carried out their respective duties.

In conclusion I wish to thank the members for the kind assistance they have rendered to me during my term of office, thereby contributing to make the year one of success. Trusting that the same consideration be given my successor, for you cannot expect service from your officers if you do not support them as your representatives in the work on your behalf. It is not alone sufficient to just pay your dues and leave the officers to do the rest. Wishing you all a Bright and Prosperous New Year.—Fraternally submitted, J. F. Mitchell.

Comrade Commander and Comrades —I hereby beg to submit as your Secretary-Treasurer the following report of our activities during the past financial year.

The number of active members on December 1, 1922, was 149, our present active membership is 144, showing a decrease of 5 members and the arrears of dues to the amount of $141.25, as compared with $194.00 at the end of 1922.

In spite of being handisapped by the economic condition prevalent during the past year, progress has been made, and undoubtedly, the membership is greatly in excess of our hopes. This should be an inspiration for us to exert every means to increase our membership in order that we may be established as an effective force against the diabolical methods now being used by the Board of Pension Commissioners.

During the past year the following claims were made for: Pensions, 8; Repatriations, 3; Relief, 2; Funeral Expenses, 1; Naturalization Papers, 1. Adjustments were made as follows: Pensions, 1; Repatriations, nil; Relief, 1; Funeral Expenses, 1; Naturalization Papers, nil.

I may state that owing to the Royal Commission sittings the bulk of the unsettled claims are still under investigation, and may eventually be placed in the hands of the Appeal Board. With regard to one of the pension claims, I may state this particular case: Pension for Parents of deceased Comrade was taken up in England in March, 1920, and appeals made by two British and one Canadian M. P.'s without any result being obtained. The case came to my notice in January, 1923, and the matter taken up by this branch; which entailed a great deal of correspondence, data having to be obtained from England, the U.S.A. and Ottawa; with the result through our efforts pension was awarded on March 1st. Such cases as these justify our existence, and the full support of all ex-Service men ,in order to adjust an equitable settlement of all claims for the Widows, Orphans and Disabled.

During the past year we have donated comforts for the sick, relief to the distressed, and work to the unemployed Comrades, to the amount of $484.00. Grat credit is due to our Sick Committee for the able manner in which they performed their duties, and those activities have been admired by those visited. Relief was also obtained from the D.S.C.R. for one of our Comrades in distress.

Donations made to various causes amounted to $196.10.

The cost of the Christmas Tree for the children and the widows Christmas cheer was to the amount of $267.73.

Entertainments, tournaments, games, music and banquets amounted to $689.36.

In consideration of the above large erpenditures, I am pleased to state that we are in a better financial position than at the close of 1922. The Labor Day Sports were of material assistance to our present position. I trust that in the future a more concerted effort be made in making Labor Day the real sports day in the City of Fernie; this should be an easy matter if all the members will rally to assist, instead of placing the burden on a few.

I would suggest, during the coming year, that our first aim and object be to redeem the loans on the building and thus save the increasing interest.

We are now on the threshold of a new year, let us go forward with the ideal of service and comradeship that should, and does, characterize the members of the G. W. V. A. Let our planning make our organization an asset to the community. The one thing that will draw into our midst the intelligent, desirable members of society, is the knowledge that we are representatives of something that will benefit and uplift, not only our own members, but every man, woman and child in the City. Service to the community is not so much in leading in civic affairs, as in giving support to others who are trying to benefit the community. When it is necessary for a branch to lead, let it do so, but better results, so far as the organization is concerned, will come from letting others lead and the branch push, envy and jealousy will then be avoided and the good will of all secured.

Honor is due to your Officers and Executive Committee for the self-sacrifice and devotion to their duties of office, who were at all times ready to render assistance for the good and welfare of the association.

In conclusion I beg to thank the members for their knidness and courtesy shown to me during the past year. With fraternal greetings and wishing you all a prosperous New Year.—I have the honor to be, Fraternally yours. D. F. Markland, Secretary-Treasurer.

DRYS OBJECT TO PLEBISCITE

Any man, government member or otherwise, who attempted to lead public opinion in so far as the liquor question was concerned, who had not made a study of the subject—its historic and scientific aspect—was a betrayer of his own people, was a statement made by Rev. A. E. Cooks, of the Congregational Church, Vancouver during the course of his address at the Metropolitan Church, Victoria, recently, where a mass meeting was held under the auspices of the Victoria branch of the People's Prohibition Association of British Columbia.

He was appalled, he said, at the ignorance of public men on the liquor question as it effects British Columbia, including members of the Legislature. They had no knowledge of scientific researches which had been made by various authorities in many different countries of the world. He quoted figures and statistics compiled by medical and law authorities of Montreal, Toronto, New York and in Germany, and he vigorously contended that no man was competent to attempt to mould the opinions of his fellow-men unless he was in possession of such facts.

Relative to the suggestion that the electors of British Columbia be asked to vote on a referendum either for or against the sale of beer and light wines by the glass, Rev. Mr. Cooke asserted that the action, if approved by the electorate, was but the introduction to a return to the open bar, The cry for beer and light wines by the glass was merely camouflage, he averred, for whisky and gin and highballs.

"Three years ago the people of British Columbia were betrayed by the Provincial Government,' he said. "They voted for Government control of liquor, and instead of that for which they expressed their will they see a picture of Government controlled by liquor."

Rev. Mr. Cooke quoted extensively from statistics prepared, he said, by authorities on alcohol and its effects on the human race morally and economically. It had been stated, he said, that beer, even when taken in moderate quantities, poinsoned the delicate tissues having to do with the generation of life. Therefore, he contended, the man who took two or three glasses of beer a day was a greater menace to the race than the man who went out on an occasional drunken orgy.

The Provincial Government, he said, was in love with the idea to secure more revenue by the institution of the proposal to sell beer and wine by the glass. The idea was patterned after the philosophy inaugurated in Quebec when license was given for such sale on the ground that an unobstructed flow of such drink would tend to gradually wean users from it. It was all nonsense, he asserted. It was a plan to curb drinking by offering more to drink. Government control in British Columbia had been a public scandal, he said, and had led to bootlegging, smuggling and lawlessness. As a remedy the moderationists now suggested the sale of beer and wine by the glass in hotels, places of social entertainment and in beer gardens. It was a fallacy which every prohibitionist in the Province must fight.

Rev. Dr. Smith. principal of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, attacked the subject by first showing its relationship with the present liquor control system practiced in Quebec province, and then, with the aid of statistics, arguing that the system there was wrong and was inevitably leading back to the old days of the open bar.

Some of his statements were illuminating. Ninety-two per cent. of the area of Quebec, he said, was still under prohibition influence, and so, too, was two-thirds of the population of the Province. He traced the history of the prohibition movement in Canada's premier province, and quoted figures dealing with the tremendous amount spent for liquor under the present system Quebec's liquor bill last year was $31,000,000, he said, a larger amount by some $10,000,000 than was spent on education. The morality of the province was being lowered, and conditions were identical in effect as under the old bar system.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which was attended by about one hundred and thirty people, a collection was taken up for the purpose of assisting the prohibition cause, and a resolution condemning the advancement of a beer and wine by the glass referendum was passed. Following is the resolution:

"Whereas, according to the referendum of October 20, 1920, the electors of British Columbia were assured that if government sale of liquor was adopted all spirituous and malt liquors would be sold in sealed packages only.

"Now, therefore, this mass meeting of citizens protests against any proposal to amend the law in the direction of allowing the sale of beer and wine by the glass."

THE HALIFAX ELECTION

Political circles throughout Canada will be startled by the defeat of the government candidate in Halifax. Many by-elections have been held since the beginning of this Parliament but we believe that is the first to make a change in the party representation. Three in Nova Scotia, of which one took place in Halifax, returned government candidates, and until now the province has been represented by a solid sixteen Liberals. In the general election, with the Conservatives in office, Halifax gave a majority of 5000 for the Liberal candidates, one of whom vacated his seat by accepting appointment to the bench. The other day Mr. Black, a stalwart and veteran Conservative, was elected by a majority of 1800.

This journal pointed out when Mr. Black was nominated that the opposition candidate rested his case mainly on the issue of Canadian ports versus foreign ports. He took the field in protest against the use of United States winter ports by the Canadian Government railways for the export of grain and other products. Mr. Black would probably admit that his election was a condemnation of the government on this issue more than on the general record and policy. But the government was not condemned without a hearing. The Prime Miniser, the Minister of Finance, the Minster of Militia, all appeared on the platform to defend the government, and to appeal to the party patrotism of their Halifax friends. Mr. Black will go to Ottawa with his local protest supported by his Halifax neighbors, but he will not fail to vote against the government on other issues.—Vancouver Province.

Help the Veterans

Try this new patience

The Poster-Judging Competition now being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations is one of the most fascinating of games. On the ticket-folder which donors of $1.20 are presented with, sixteen of the most famous posters of BOVRIL are reproduced in colors.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do and how to do it.

It is an interesting trial of taste and judgment to class these posters in the order which popular fancy will endorse. It is a real game which can be played over and over again, and in which all the family can join and which will interest visitors, be they young or old.

And just think of the possible reward? A Prize which is a real fortune—and you help an excellent cause.

You can make as many trials as you like—for every donation of $1.20 one ticket-folder is presented, thus $12.00 secures 10 folders—though only one prize will be given to one person.

BOVRIL LIMITED has donated £30,000, about $138,888, which has been divided into 2,003 prizes. The first three are approximately as follows:

3rd " 4,555.00

Vancouver — Undismayed by his second defeat as a candidate for public office, Leon Lotzkar, junk dealer, announces his intention of running for the Legislature next time, for a change. Last time he ran for mayor and secured a meagre vote; this time he was a candidate for alderman, but met defeat. His mayoralty campaign included a parade through the streets with a bagpipe band, but this time the veteran bagpipers declined the job—although times are hard and the Scots needed the money. Mr. Lotzkar came from Russia as an immigrant some years ago. He is a radical.

Vancouver — A crusade against salacious stories in certain American magazines sold on the C. P. R. news stalls has been started by The Hook which cites instances where prurient fiction, quite unfit for a decent home, is being sold by the news agents. The Hook is making an apeal for clean news and magazine literature published by B. C. editors, and asks the postal authorities to place a summary ban upon certain American magazines containing unfit literature.

Vancouver — Los Angeles is no longer regarded as the Promised Land of opportunity. Times are getting hard there ,and a number of Vancouverites who have tried their fortunes in the southern city are now writing home for their old jobs in Vancouver. The Hook states, editorally, that California's "Rainbow has gone into eclipse" and roasts advertisers who seek to lure new settlers upon false promises and fees.

Victoria—After a determined fight lasting a dozen years and the outlay of nearly a quarter of a million dollars, much of it being his own fortune, Henry J. Landahl, head of the Coast Range Steel project, has been spending the past month here, attending Legislature in the interests of the movement which designs to give Pacific Canada a great blast furnace. He has secured the support upon his securing provincial support of the Home Government, and has encouragement from the Dominion Government, conditional upon his securing provincial support to back the enterprise. During his stay here, he has received scores of encouraging letters from the Old Country and elsewhere, many coming from men high in life. It is seen that such of the opposition comes from eastern steel interests who are hostile to the founding of a steel plant in B. C.

Victoria — Following the refusal of Commissioner J. P. Smith, K.C., to recall the notorious drug peddler, J. J. Wing, as a witness at the Narcotic Enquiry, Mr. C. L. Harrison, counsel for Attorney-General Manson, has withdrawn from the enquiry. In the Legislature, Hon. Mr. Manson made an attack on the alleged unsatisfactory manner in which Mr. Smith is using his office to protect men of the Mounted Police who have been guilty of trafficing in narcotic drugs. Wing had been examined earlier in the hearing at a private session in New Westminster penitentiary. He admitted that one of the Mounted Officers had accepted $300 for the purpose of spiritng away a witness from Wing's trial. He also said that he had given two of the four officers then present $2000 for a purchase of opium, but was afraid to name the two guilty men. Since then Mr. Harrison, in company with a representative of the Minister of Justice, has seen Wing and on asurance that no harm will befall him, Wing has promised to tell all he knows to the Commission, if he is recalled. Commissioner Smith's refusal to recall Wing was followed by the withdrawal of Mr. Harrison and the denunciation by Attorney-General Manson, whose charges against the Mounted Officers led to the enquiry being ordered from Ottawa. A public meeting in protest of the Commissioner's attitude was held in the Centennial Methodist Church at Victoria on Sunday last, and the wires are being kept hot between Vancouver and Ottawa.

Vancouver — Frankly stating that certain matters in his business career for which he would feel compelled to to apologize, together with the fact that he has financed the new party to the extent of $35,000 and is personally interested in the question of timber royalties soon to come up for revision by the government, made it impossible for him to acept the leadership of the new Progressive Party, General A. D. McRae has consented to serve as president of the party. The question of leadership will be left open till after an election is held in the province. Though statng that he did not wish the party to be saddled with matter which were personal to himself in his own past, General McRae amid the ringing cheers of the convention of the Progressive Party, challenged Premier Oliver to call a by election in Vancouver, saying that he would be quite willing to run as the Progressive Candidate. There is some talk of the challenge being accepted, with Chancellor McKechnie, of the University, as the Government candidate.

WAR'S LONG HAND

German poison gas, inhaled more than five years ago, is responsible for the death of a Canadian army officer at Seattle.

The arm of war is long, stretching out half a decade to blight those who have fallen into its maelstroms.

The influence of the Great War will probably affect the world, physically, morally, politically and economically, for a century.

Wise drinkers — if prohibitionists will admit that drinkers can be wise—choose brands of liquor that leave as little after-effect as possible.

Nations are less intelligent. When they go on a spree they choose a brand of deviltry that leaves a headache for a hundred years.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

VETS OPEN NEW HALL

The Women's Auxiliary G. W. V. A. and members of the G. W. V. A., with their wives ,assembled together on Tuesday evening in the new hall to participate in a whist drive and dance to mark the opening of the new hall.

The hall was tastefully decorated, which reflects great credit on the artistic activities of our hall and entertainment committee. Opportunity was also taken to present the Past President badges to Comrade R. Billsborough, Comrade J. F. Mitchell, retiring president, and Sister D. F. Markland, Past President Women's Auxiliary. Owing to unforseen circumstances, the presentation to Comrade Billsborough and Sister Markland had been delayed from the beginning of 1923.

President Comrade G. Bowen called upon Comrade Dr. D. Corsan to make the presentation, as follows:

Comrades and Ladies of the Auxiliary:

This is indeed a unique occasion, unique in this way that it is extremely seldom or perhaps has never before happened in G. W. V. A. annals, that a blood brother and sister are honored by their comrades and associates at one and the same time for faithful and unselfish work for their organization and for its individual members.

Mrs. Markland, it is now a good many years since I made your acquainance at Coal Creek; in the days before we dreamed of war; in the days when most of our women led quiet placid lives, satisfied with their everyday round of duties and little social pleasures. But suddenly this was all changed and the devoted women of this land, among whom you are numbered saw a vision of that wonderful word 'Service," primarily to their own who had gone overseas and as time progressed in those great organizations which labored so tirelessly for the comfort of our soldiers and for our beloved Empire. And now that the days of peace are come, in our land at least, you and your associates are still laboring in that great work of Service which goes steadily on for the benefit not only of those who came home both fit and unfit but for the betterment of our community and our country as a whole.

Comrade Billsborough, everyone in Fernie knows Bob Billsborough, especially our comrades, for Bob and the G. W. V. A. are one. Two years ago your comrades elected you to the highest place in the gift of this branch, and I can confidently say that their trust was not misplaced. You have given freely and fully of your time and energy for the welfare of the Fernie Branch and I am sure all here will agree with me if I say that among those of our members to whom the success of this branch is due and especially the acquisition of this splendid building, you occupy a high place. To you Comrade Mitchell, the words applied to Comrade Billsborough applies equally to yourself. Yoor work during the past term reflects credit upon you.

I now will present Mrs. Markland and yourselves with these badges which I am sure you will each wear with credit to yourselves and honor to your organization.

Refreshments were served after which the floor was cleared and to the music supplied by Tommy Evans and his clever syncopaters, the patrons of the terpschicorean art were enabled to indulge in their pursuit, Comrade H. Wheeler filling the duties of floor manager in manner born. It is the intention of the hall and entertainment committee, with the Women's Auxiliary's assistance, to have these and similar gatherings periodically.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Free Press:

Dear Sir—I will, with your permission, again deal with the Doctors' Question.

The letter appearing in your last issue signed H. Haigh is very interesting and brings out very clearly the different opinions we have formed on the above subject. He believes the Doctors' Question concerns Gladstone Local alone. I differ, and produce evidence to support my opinion, taken from District 18, U. M. W. of A. agreement for 1917, page 16. "The matter of Doctor and Hospital arrangement is to be arranged between the employees and the Doctor, and when so arranged the Company agree to make the collection for that purpose." This is subject in British Columbia to the laws of the Province". lumbia to the laws of the province. This is conclusive proof that H. Haigh cannot jump over.

The special meeting called for one specific purpose alone—the Doctors' Question—on the 12th of September. After allowing a liberal discount on the number of members present, will accept as a correct record. Picture in your mind's eye, gentle reader, the number of judges present. The Medical Committee in full force to prosecute, and you naturally enquire, where are the two offenders? The answer is, not present—never even invited. Well is it any wonder that the verdict rendered by this travesty of a trial went against the Doctors.

One can only wonder that workingmen who in the past have struggled so hard to obtain justice for themselves should at the present time refuse justice or even fair play to the Doctors they employ, and without compunction try to drive them from the City by importing others to take their jobs—and some of them say they have nothing to say against the Doctors, that they have rendered them good service when needed but they are doing their best to get rid of them.

Just consider that item of news from Calgary — Coal operators Edmonton way have sent to Winnipeg for miners to take the jobs of those out on strike. Then consider the Doctors Question. It is an object lesson. Seeing that H. H. is retiring from this contest will say that the meeting he described in his letter proves up to the hilt that my two charges are true. Should he doubt my statement, would advise him to read it again.

The garbled part regarding a man losing his job was never used by me in the form he puts it, so the deduction he forms from it is childish.

One could wish that a ballot vote was taken on this subject—the Doctors Question. Are the Medical Committee afraid of it, if so why should they be if they have what they claim to have? The Union Miners on their side.

I remain, yours,—Robert Draper.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Free Press:

Dear Sir—Will you please oblige me again by putting this answer to H. Haigh's letter of last week in your valuable paper.

First H. Haigh says in his letter that the Doctors' Question is only the business of the Gladstone Local, but it didn't seem like that a few weeks ago when the committee were chasing other men that did not belong to the Gladstone Local to get them to sign for the new Doctors. I say it is the public business if not directly, it is indirectly, as there is money being spent on this question that ought to have been saved in case of a strike. And those of the storekeepers that are kind enough to give the miners credit during a strike, find it is their business then. I guess if the men allow this Doctors Question to go on in this way the next thing we shall be up against will be that the executive will be making a contract with P. Burns or some grocer in town and get a quarter of the miners to pass a resolution to say that all the miners have got to sign on to deal only at those stores or they will be fined.

Second, how would H. Haigh like for the operators to make a contract with the miners and say if you fail to sign this we will get some more men in. I think H. Haigh would be one of the first (along with the men he is upholding) to see that those men, if they did come in, were soon sent out of town again.

Everybody knows, even us women, that after an agreement is signed up between the operators and the men, that there has always been a referendum vote. Why couldn't the men have a referendum vote on the Doctors' Question, too? It is their rights and I for one think the miners should demand those rights even now.

Regarding Mr. Draper having to be scared at the statement he put in the paper regarding a man losing his position. It looks to me like a veiled threat on H. Haigh's part, as he says Mr. Draper will find himself in a funny predicament some time or other. It is these veiled threats that have got most of the miners to sign over for the new Doctors as the notice papers have been worded that way papers have been worded that ywwo, such as this: Note, it is expected that all the men sign up before the 9th before the executive meet and one of the executive said in that public meeting in the Isis which the Doctors called.

The men can sign for which Doctors they like but they will have to carry out the rules of the Constitution.

Again I say, the same as last week, it is not the rules of the Constitution to force men to sign their names to that which they do not want. I think the men should write to the head office in Indianapolis and state their case as to all appearances President Sherman is not interested in this local and the men's rights any more.

Yours respectfully,
—A Miner's Wife.

POULTRY WINNERS

The Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association held their Eighth Annual Poultry Show on Wednesday and Thursday of this week with some of the best quality birds ever shown in Fernie.

Light Brahmas, a strong class of 25 birds, with the 1st Cock, a splendid bird and winner of eight first prizes at such shows as Edmonton and Brandon. Hens of a good class of real nice birds. Cockerels that were the best ever shown here and Pullets hard to find fault with. This class winning the Heavyweight Challenge Cup.

Judge James Westbrooke, of Lethbridge, had no easy task so large was the display and close the standards in the various classes this year.

Single Comb Reds were another strong class and can hold their own in any show. 1st Cock, high in standing and even in color, while 1st Cockerel and 1st Pullet were the best pair in the American Class, winning best display in Reds and the Novice Cup outright. Rose Comb Reds were of a large variety, all good birds, and in the Judge's opinion as good as any at Calgary or Lethbridge.

In the Barred Rock class were 32 birds. Some very good birds in this class and all 1st prize winners outstanding in quality.

The Lightweight Challenge Cup and best pen in show went to the Black Minorca class with 24 extra good birds on display. The 1st Pullet is the best Minorca the Judge has seen this year.

White Leghorns, with 46 entries, were the largest display in the show, all outstanding birds necessitating keen competition throughout. Black Leghorns, a nice class of 20 birds competing any of which could win at outside shows. Orpingtons, with a display of 12 real birds and hardly any choice between first and last winners. The local fanciers should take more interest n this variety as their is no better breed in the whole standard.

Anconas showed a small class of good birds, all other varieties are up to the standard requirements, while the Bantams presented a nice variety and some outstanding birds.

Five classes of Pigeons displaying 54 birds presented the best exhibit ever shown in Fernie with Fantails, an extra fine array and Pigmay Poulters, of outstanding character, gave the Judge something to do to pick the winners. The best pair in the show was carried of by a pair of Silvers, while the Magpies could have won anywhere as the winners in this class were outstanding.

Following is the list of prize winners:

Light Brahmas—1st, 2nd and 3rd cock; 1st and 2nd hen; 1st, 2nd and 3rd cockerel; 1st, 2nd and 3rd pullett and 1st pen: J. Cunliffe. 3rd hen: A. B. Smith, Cranbrook.

Two measures directly effecting the general public, passed this session, were the gasoline tax of three cents per gallon, and the reduction of fifty per cent. in the farm property tax. The former is largely offset by the decrease of 25 per cent. in motor licences, and the revenue secured will be used for road purposes. The lower farm property tax is granted to permit the agricultralist an opportunity to recoup his fortunes through adverse market conditions.

JUDGMENT FOR LOSS OF LOGS

Mr. Justice Murphy has just given his judgment in the case of Farquharson et al versus the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, holding that the plaintiffs are entitled to recover the value of the logs lost. The case has been before the courts for a long time. An appeal by A. J. Farquharson from the original judgment dismissing the action having been allowed and a re-opening of the trial ordered. In the latter part of his reasons for judgment the learned Judge says as follows:

"At the resumed hearing, a new line of defence was set up, i.e., that the logs were improperly loaded. I hold this not proven. One at any rate of defendant's witnesses admitted that bunks were the only safe method of transporting saw logs. The defendants by their breach of contract prevented Farquharson from utilizng that method. He swears he complied with the railway regulations as to wiring the logs. The evidence to the contrary is not satisfactory. I hold plainaiffs are entitled to recover the value of 39,555 feet board measure at the contract price. Against this is to be set off the amount of excess freight counter-claimed for, being $1.65 per thousand on all excess over 7000 feet per car. So far as the matter of costs is not governed by the order of the Court of Appeal, plaintiffs are to have their costs. No costs of counter-claim."

COUNCIL HOLD LAST SESSION

The City Council held their last meeting of the year in the Council Chambers Thursday evening, Acting Mayor J. S. Irvine in the chair, Mayor Henderson, Aldermen Aiello and Graham were absent.

A letter from a local buisness man protesting against the assessment on his electric light bill for leaving the window light burning over Sunday was discussed at some length. The City Clerk read the By-Law covering this charge and the Council decided that they had no power to vary this and the charge must stand.

A letter from the J. B. Turney Co. of Lethbridge, regarding freight charges on a dump wagon returned by the city as unsatisfactory, was laid over pending Mayor Henderson's return.

The usual sheaf of accounts were passed for payment.

The final reading and approval was given to the by-law passed at the last meeting, amending the street-cleaning by-law, and this will become effective January 1, 1924.

The City Clerk Reported that everything was in readiness for the 1924 Civic and School Elections. The Votters' List was already in his hands and that nothing further could be done in this connection but await the nomination day.

ODDFELLOWS HOLD ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL EVENING

Last Monday evening the members of Mount Fernie Lodge I.O.O.F. No. 47 held their third social evening. Bro. Phil Sheffield was appointed Chairman of the evening and filled ths position in a most creditable manner.

The program again consisted of songs, duets, etc.; also community choruses. Sister Osborne delighted the gathering with her rendering of an old scotch song. Bro. Alexander and Bro. Biggs gave the duet, "Excelsior," in a very capable manner, followed by the old favorite "Starboard Watch" as an encore.

Next came the instructive paper of the evening, by Bro. Bill Barraclough, on Proportional Representation. Bro. Bill had gone to a great deal of pains in getting up this paper, which to the vast majority is somewhat of a Chinese puzzle.

Bro. Bill tackled his subject in a very masterly fashion. He had charts prepared showing the standing of the various candidates, (nine in number), and showing the standing of each candidate representing different parties. In the system of Proportional Representation, he explained, how the lowest candidate can be assisted and elected to office by the surplus votes of the most popular candidate.

Bro. Barraclough was listened to with a great deal of attention and although his paper went over the time limt, the information given on this great subject was appreciated by all members present.

At this time Bro. Dave Harvie was asked for a few remarks. This turned out the surprise of the evening, in the form of presenting Phil Sheffield P. C.P. with a beautiful P.C.P. Collar.

Bro. Dave in his remarks said that the members of Kootenay Encampment, instituted in September 1920, and of which Phil was the first C. Patriarch, and one of the most active workers in getting the Camp started in Fernie, and was leaving the city to take up his residence in Nelson, as an Inspector of Schools for that district, and as a token of respect from the officers and members of Kootenay Encampment No. 14 they presented him with this collar.

Bro. Sheffield was taken by surprise, but after recovering his shock, said that whenever he would wear the collar it would remind him of the many pleasant evenings he had spent in the Fernie Camp.

Refreshments were then served by the G. O. T. O. Committee, after which dancing was indulged in till midnight, Prof. Evans presiding at the music box.

Sister Alice Price, P.N.G. of the Esther Rebekah Lodge, now of Lethbridge, was present and enjoyed the evening entertainment.

UPHILL AND GUTHRIE LOSE AMENDMENTS

VICTORIA, Dec. 17. — Efforts by Labor members to obtain amendments to the Coal Mines Regulations Act were unsuccessful in the Legislature tonight after an extended debate between Tom Uphill and Sam Guthrie, representatives of coal mine constituencies, on the one hand, and Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, on the other.

Mr. Uphill wanted to have a representative of the miners on the board of examiners granting certificates of competency, but the minister stated this had proved unworkable and had been changed since 1917.

On a point of order, from which an appeal was taken, the amendment was ruled out by a vote of 36 to 9.

The other amendment allowing miners to name others than employees to act as their inspection committee was defeated on a show of hands after an interesting exchange of compliments between the minister and Mr. Uphill as to a joint debate they had at Michel last summer. Mr. Sloan stated that he had given the member for Fernie a drubbing at that meeting, but Mr. Uphill rejoined that the minister had run out of a succeeding meeting to be held in Fernie the next night.

"MAIN STREET" FOR XMAS PROGRAM AT THE ORPHEUM

The announcement of the Orpheum Theatre management that "Main Street," a screen adaptation of Sinclair Lewis' novel describing the small town, will be shown for the Christmas program on Monday and Tuesday of next week, will be hailed by all motion picture enthusiasts as an event out of the ordinary run of things. This because of the discussion pro and con awakened by the story, which was the most widely discussed in the history of the literary world during the past few years.

Florence Vidor and Monte Blue have the feature parts, the former as Carol Kennicott, the young girl burning with new ideas and the desire to make Gopher Prairie adopt them, and the latter as Dr. Kennicott, her husband. The picture is said to follow the book with fidelity.

Briefly the story centres about Carol, about whom tongues begin to wag in connection with her friendship for Erik Valborg, a young dreamer, the only person in town sympathizing with Carol. She goes her way mindless of the gossip, trying to make the town advanced and newfangled.

Old Valborg, Erik's father, resents the intimacy between his son and Carol, whom he blames for keeping away from the farm. At last the doctor, in his effort to save Carol from a bad reputaton, tells her she must stop and be content to live as others do. She consents, but finds it is too late, that Erik, now in love, wants to force her to elope. The climax comes in a big scene in which her life is imperiled.

RedSealRecords are now double-sided, and the genius of the world's greatest artists now within the reach of all.

Victrola—the World's Greatest Gift

IN that woman's heart of "hers" she'll understand, she'll realize the love and affection that prompted it, if you make your gift—the world's greatest—"His Master's Voice"—Victrola—the "Theatre of the Home."

It will take her out of the humdrum of daily life—will yield entertainment varied beyond that of any actual theatre in the world, and in the pleasure it will give she will find cause to daily thank you for the thoughtfulness that prompted such a real worth-while gift.

When you buy a Victrola you do not buy merely a thing of wood and metal—but instead an instrument of marvellous construction—a key to the musical genius of the world's greatest artists.

If it were necessary to incur a greater outlay of money to secure a genuine Victrola, then perhaps there might be a reason for accepting a substitute, but as prices range from $37.50 to $615.00, and on easy terms, surely you will agree price need not deter you.

Our famous trademark —— "His Master's Voice" "under the lid" identifies every genuine Victrola. In your city you will find "His Master's Voice" dealer one of the responsible merchants of your city who will be glad to have you consult him—without your incurring the slightest obligation.

Mother Finds Vicks Handy For Many Ills

Mrs. John Brown, of 24th Street, Most Useful Remedy

Mrs John Brown, of 24th Street, Brandon, Manitoba, writes: "I have eight small children, aged from one to twelve years, and can certainly say that Vicks is the only cold remedy I have in the house all winter. If the cold is in the child's head I just put a little up each nostril and it gives relief in a short time. If it is in the chest, I rub Vicks well in at night and by morning the cold has almost disappeared. I also use Vicks for Chilblains and for burns; in fact, I use it too for severe headaches and find relief in a very short time. I always recommend Vicks to my friends, especially those who have children."

Vick comes as a salve—the external direct treatment for all cold troubles—absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor.

It is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles—the successor to goose grease, camphorated oil, liniments, poultices and plasters.

Used for croup and children's colds, Vicks gives remarkably quick results and also avoids nauseating internal dosing. Just as good for adults and for skin inflammations, such as cuts, burns, bruises, bites and stings.

At all drug stores, 50c a jar. For a free test size package, write Vick Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul Street, W., Montreal, P.Q.

Though Vicks is new in Canada it has a remarkable sale in the States. Over 17 million jars used yearly.

To the Editor, Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—I have every reason to thank you for giving space to all those who have ventilated their opinions in the pages of your paper re the Doctors' Question. It has enabled your readers to grasp the situation as it really is when stripped of the many false rumors so prevalent before this controversy started.

I have read with interest the letters of 'A Miner's Wife.' She and other miners' wives know from practical experience where the shoe pinches during labor disputes, and that the women and children are the chief sufferers.

I however differ from 'A Miner's Wife' regarding calling in District 18 Officials or in appealing to Indianapolis for help to settle this dispute for this simple reason: It is practically settled at the present moment as I will endeavor to prove.

The originators of this trouble are still entrenched. The dummy figure has withdrawn. The ammunition we sent busted it, besides spattering those holding it. You may take it for granted that the Medical Committee are making various excuses to get out of the fx they got into when they served that ultimatum. That the old dodge of fixing the blame on the members who attended that meeting of Sept. 12 won't do. The Medical Committee had, according to their own statement in your paper, tried for 13 months to coerce the Doctors into accepting a contract that the Doctors could not financially carry out. Then at the meetng they gave their report without the slightest compunction or even giving the Doctors a chance to speak a word in their own defence; they moved a resolution to advertise for new Doctors. The result is now not in doubt. The Medical Committee are defeated, discredited, and this reactionary remnant of a by gone age will long be remembered

Thanking you in anticipation, I remain, yours truly.—Robert Draper.

WIN BACK GIRLHOOD, HEALTH AND BEAUTY!

Medical science can be of great value to the woman who feels she has lost the charm and spirit of youth and seeks to regain it—the woman who is easily fatigued, easily upset, nervous, dyspeptic—who finds dark circles under her eyes, her complexion sallow, her eyes dull instead of sparkling and the girlish lines of her figure slipping away.

Simply take a good vegetable tonic! That prescribed by Dr. H. S. Thacher, the celebrated Physician, is being used by innumerable well known women. It is scientifically designed to help correct constipation (one cause) and it does it without griping; also to improve digestion, to nourish and tone up the system, soothe those tired, overtaxed nerves; put on solid, firm flesh and send purer, healthier blood flooding through rosy cheeks.

Try it yourself! Just a spoonful after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. If you are not completely satisfied your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup TONIC

Sold by N. E. Suddaby in Fernie and by leading druggists in every city and town.

The annual dance of the Mount Fernie Chapter I. O. D. E. will be held on New Year's Eve, Monday, December 31, 1923. Good music.

Have your Turkey Dinner at the Northern on Sunday night and save cooking one when Christmas is so near. Orchestra in attendance.

The arrangement for the payment of 25 per cent. dividend to depositors of the Home Bank comes as a God send to many families in and around Fernie.

The Ladies of the United Church at Coal Creek wish to thank the ladies of the Fernie church for their able assistance at the recent Coal Creek bazaar.

J. E. Smith, of Coal Creek, returned on Tuesday from Toronto, where he represented Coal Creek depositors at the meeting of the creditors of the defunct Home Bank in that city on December 6.

The children of all employees of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., under 14 years of age, will receive a ticket with the purchasng power of 25c at any store in town, on Monday, December 24. Tickets will be given out at 10 a.m. at the Miners' Hall.

Mrs. Gilbert desires to thank the neighbors and friends for their kind sympathy to her during her recent sad bereavement. Also members of Gladstone Local, Mr. and Mrs. Hamer and the tipple workers for floral tributes.

The scarity of water in Bull River has been causing more or less trouble with the power system and work is being rushed at the Elko Canyon so that auxiliary power may be shortly added to the system, which is supplying light and power from Kimberley to Belevue.

The municipal pot has not even began to simmer. Several of the Aldermen have stated that they will not stand for re-election. . They realize that the loss of the City's money in the Home Bank will make very trying times for the Mayor and Council for years to come and are anxious for others to do their share.

Fernie stands high among the cities of the Province in the matter of booze consumption. The report of the Government for the months from April 1st to November 1st show the sales of the different stores throughout the Province. Vancouver and Victoria lead with Prince Rupert third, Nanaimo fourth and Fernie fifth .

The annual Christmas Tree for the Children of members of the G.W.V.A. will be held in the Vets Rooms on Monday evening from 5 to 9 p. m. Note—no toys will be dstributed after 6.30. Refreshments will be served after the distribution of the presents. The members of the Women's Auxiliary are requested to meet on Sunday evening for the purpose of tagging the presents.

The government will reduce the license fees on motor vehicles by 25 per cent. and will increase tourist permits from three to six months. The personal property tax will be cut to one-half of one per cent., while it has been definitely decided to place the fuel oil tax at one-half cent per gallon.

Talking about dogs, it would seem that some people need be reminded that it is just as much an offence to steal a dog as it is to steal a steer or a horse and it is just as punishable. Besides we recently read where a man got shot for attempting to steal another man's dog.

Owing to the fact that the Provincial Government have not yet granted licences for the sale of Buffalo Meat in B. C. we are unavoidably obliged to disappoint our many patrons who were looking forward to this old time dish. This however will be placed on sale just as soon as the necessary licence is received—P. Burns & Co.

The hunting season for deer closed on Saturday last and hundreds of them have been brought to town during the past three weeks. This has been a wondeful season for the hunters, fine weather and plenty of game. Harold Barger and party brought in a fine bunch of nine black tail deer on Sunday, the result of Saturday's hunt. They were shot near Silver Springs Lake.

Mrs. Bryan Ward, aged 63, died suddenly from pneumonia, at the home of her son, Ernest, of this city, late Thursday evening after a week's illness. Death brought sorrow to the hearts of Mr .and Mrs. George Townsend, of West Fernie, on Sunday last, when their little 14-year-old daughter passed away after a long illness. The funeral took place from the Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday. Members of the G.W.V.A. acted as pallbearers and the W. A. G. W. V. A. attending in a body.

A large number of Fernieites took advantage of the special train on Tuesday night to Coal Creek to participate in the Masquerade Ball held under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. Whitehouse orchestra dispensed the music in their own inimitable style. The room was tastefully decorated. The adjudicators having all they could do, owing to the many and varied costumes, to pick out the prize winners. Refreshments were provided by the Pythian Sisters, resident in Coal Creek.

School Inspector Phil Sheffield, of Nelson, spent the week in the city winding up his business as Principal of the Public Schools. On Thursday he was the guest of the Rotarians and spoke at length on the educational problems of the Province. He is thoroughly convinced, that while there may be room for improvement, that B. C. has the best school system in Canada. On behalf of the Rotary Club, Rev. W. F. Burns presented Mr. Sheffield with a beautiful smoker's set.

The Women of Mooseheart Legion held the second of their series of monthly whist drives and dances for members of the Loyal Order of Moose and their wives on Tuesday evening, which was largely attended. Cards was played until 9.30, after which they all retired to the banquet hall, taxing it to its utmost to hold the crowd, for supper. Dancing was then proceeded with until 12 p.m. and all agreed they had a good time and wanted to know when the next one was coming off. The following are the prize winners at whist: Ladies: 1st Miss Marshall; 2nd Sister Billsborough; booby, Sister Hulbutt. Gents 1st, Bro. Cartlidge; 2nd, Bro. Albo; booby, Bro. Hilton.

Determined that the war against traffic in drugs shall go on, Attorney-General Manson has informed Ottawa that he does not believe Commissioner J. P. Smith has a proper conception of his office. Mr. C. L. Harrison, government counsel, withdrew from the sittings of the commission in Vancouver, and in the Legislature, Hon. Mr. Manson said he would urge the Dominion Government to appoint another commissioner. He hoped to see the reputations of the Mounted Police officers in question either placed above reproach, or if they were found to be guilty, criminal proceedings should be taken against them; and he expressed the opinion that if guilty they should be given sentences of from 15 to 25 years, with lashes, if possible. The crime of a police official trafficking in drugs was a most pernicious thing, he said.

Joseph Bell, of Camp Lester, is the guest of A. J. Moffatt, city clerk.

Chas. Claridge, of Burton City, is in the city for the holdays.

All banks of Fernie will remain open for business on Saturday until 9 p.m.

The G. W. V. A. Band will meet for practice and arrangements for Christmas morning, on Sunday evening at 7.45 p.m.

Why need you cook at home on Sunday when you can have a Turkey Dinner at the Northern Hotel, 75 cents. Orchestra in attendance.

The city made a reduction in their police force last week by gathering in the silent members of the force and storing them away for the winter.

"Dad" Cavanaugh, who has been in the Fernie Hospital for a couple of weeks with an injured knee, is at home again, but still confined to the house.

For the benefit of Coal Creek people who wish to attend the Maude Henderson Company show at the Grand Theatre on Saturday, December 22, the curtain will be rung up at 8 p.m. sharp.

Miss Elverum, who has been on the nursing staff of the Fernie Hospital for the past four months, has resigned her position and left for her home in Claresholm, Alta., where she is soon to be one of the principles in an interesting event. Miss Emmett, who has previously been on the nursing staff of the hospital, has returned to take the position vacated by Miss Elverum.

A dear old lady in the person of Mrs. Elizabeth Atken, mother of Mrs. A. Klauer of this city, passed into the great beyond on Wednesday evening, after a lingering illness of several months. Deceased, who had reached the age of 82 years, was one of Ontario's early pioneers. She was born at Hamilton, Ont., where she resided until almost thirteen years ago, when she came to Fernie. She was a life-long members of the Church of England, and the funeral took place from that church at 2.30 p.m. this afternoon.

The Ferne Boys Scouts, who for the past three years have won considerable success in many First Aid Competitions, have formally entered two First Aid teams n the Wallace-Nesbitt Competition, to be held early in the New Year. The senior team captured second prize in this competition last year and are out to capture the shield while the junior team who are now entering their first competition, are working hard and will give the seniors a hard battle in maintaining their honors.

The High School students wish to express their thanks to all those who so generously assisted them in their Review, which was presented Thursday and Friday of last week. Among these are Mrs. Connick and Miss Anderson, whose services in trainng those who took part, at no little sacrifice of time and convenience to themseves, are very much appreciated They also wish to acknowledge their indebtedness to Mr. W. Johnston, for assistance in advertising; to Mr. C. Commons, for hs contribution to the musical programme; and to all others who in various ways helped to make the accasion a success.

The 150 All Sports Gym pupils gave a boxing demonstration in their gymnasium last Monday evening before a large audience. Boys all the way from grasshopper weight to middleweights displayed their wares and some real classy bouts were served out. A comedy affair with four boys, blindfolded, a bell on one hand and a glove on the other, all in the ring at one time in a free-for-all caused great amunsement. These boxers are all under the tutilege of Leo Stokes, a well-known Spokane and Fargo boxer, who is now in charge of the Gym, and is apparently making the project a success.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

WAR has been declared by Premier Oliver and his party upon General A. D. McRae leader of the Provincial Party, and his followers. After submitting more or less meekly to veiled insinuations of wrongdong in connection with the P. G. E. Railway affairs for many years, the government leader's patience has at last been exhausted, his hat has been thrown in the ring and he has issued a challenge to his enemies to get into the open and fight.

A royal commission will commence a most thorough investigation into the third party charges against Hon. William Sloan and Mr. W. J. Bowser, K. C., leader of the opposition. In order that the reputations of public men holding office as the chosen representatives of the people may be freed from insidious suspicion, an amendment to the Public Inquiries Act has been passed, permitting any royal commisson to enquire into the records, character and motives of men preferring charges, including newspaper proprietors, publishers and editors.

After declaring repeatedly on the floor of the Legislature that if any man would make a defnite charge against himself or his government, or against any member of the Legislature, he would grant an investigation, Premier Oliver has decided that every charge of wrongdong shall be investigated.

"Charges have been hurled against me year after year," he stated. "Many of them have been of the strictest nature. I have stood for a great deal and yet no man can show where I have profited by a dollar while in public life. On one occasion I answered charges by bringing a libel suit against an accuser. The charges were proven false before a judge and jury and I received the sum of 25 cents damages. That is what a public man is up against in this country and there must be an end to it."

Answering the accusations of Gen. McRae and his followers, Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, issued a flat denial in the House and referred to McRae as the greatest of exploiters. He said McRae and his associates had made a profit of $9,000,000 through the sale of Western Canada prairie lands; that the settlers had been fleeced and many had to leave their holdings. He charged that McRae and his associates had wrecked the Pacific Whaling Company, and had disposed of ten whaling licences, costing $1000 per year, for the sum of $300,000. He declared that McRae's operations as the "Man Friday" of McKenzie & Mann, had been notorious and he explained that McRae was prominent in the sale of the Canadian Collieries, Dunsmuir Ltd., which cost $9,500,000, for $20,000,000, to British investors.

Attorney-General Manson informed the House that last year General McRae had paid $18.70 income tax in this province, while spending $25,000 a year to keep up his home in Shaughnessy Heghts, Vancouver.

THE United States government is authority for the statement that the number of deaths from automobile accidents last year was 11,666 in territory embracing 85 per cent. of the total population of the country. This number is an increase of 1498 over the previous year. It represents a death rate of 12.5 per 100,000 population, an increase of one for every 100,000 as compared with 1921. Since 1917 there has been an increase of 3.5 per 100,000. To California belongs the distinction of having the highest death rate, namely, 26 per 100,000 of population. New York, New Jersey and Colorado have respectively a 16.7, 16.4 and 16.3 death per 100,000. The states recording a decrease in the number of deaths are Connecticut, Massachusetts, Montana, Virginia and Washington. In Los Angeles the death rate was 29.5. Considering the increased use of automobiles, the increase in deaths is not particularly significant. After all is done, that can be done, to reduce the automobile death rate, it will still remain appalling. It is gratifying to know that all over the country both the civic authorities and automobile clubs and dealers are giving serious thought to safety on the highways. While the deaths and injuries can doubtless be very considerably reduced, the automobile, in the very nature of things, will continue to take its ghastly toll.

MY City is where my home is founded, where my business is situated, where my vote is cast, where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived. It is the home spot for me. My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me, and I must support it. My city wants my citizenship—not partisanship; friendship—not offishness; co-operation—not dissension; sympathy—not criticism; my intelligent support—not indifference. My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, recreation and the rights of a free-born British subject. I should believe in my city and work for it. AND I WILL. To the man disposed to criticize Fernie, this is of special importance. For one to be governed by the above is to be a good citizen.

SECRETARY of State Charles E. Hughes has made a statement to the world of the position of the United States in world affairs. He reiterates the often stated position of the United States as one of disinterested concern in international affairs. The policy of the U. S. government is to mind its own business and allow other nations to do likewise. Secretary Hughes has restated this with a clearness and force that will leave no doubt as to their position in world affairs. He maintains that while they are interested in having world problems solved and are willing to lend assistance in the solution of them, they do not propose to get mixed up in international quarrels. As he states the matter, their detachment and impartiality could not long be maintained if they should substitute the role of a partisan in European quarrels. The Monroe Doctrine, which originally was a demand that European nations should keep hands off territory on this side of the Atlantic, has been expanded and amplified until today it embraces anything and everything in international affairs that affects the security and welfare of the United States. The Secretary has made it very clear and certain that there will be no entangling alliance for Uncle Sam.

FISHIN'

(Matt Tully has handed in the following poem for publication. He did not say who was the author, but it sounds a good deal like Matt).

A' oor fellows are fishin' the noo,
They staun' in the cauld till ther noses are blue,
Fishin' for grayling, an' sometimes for troot
That they ocht to put back, but mair often tak' oot.
They fish on the guid days, they fish when it's cauld,
They fish while they're young, an' they fish till they're auld,
They fish in the mornin', they fish in the mirk,
An' if there was water they'd fish in the kirk!
They fish in the weet till they crickle an' hoast,
As the doctors an' wives a' ken to their cost.

But still they keep fishin', be't daylicht or dark,
For they'd rather be fishin', than oot at ther wark.
They fish wi' the worm an' they fish wi' the flee,
They fish wi' whit's takin' whate'er that may be,
An' if ye but ask them, altho' they say no,
It's weel enough kent that they fish wi' the roe.
They fish in the river, they fish in the brook,
For fishin' they maun be, by hook or by crook.
Since fishin's their life blud t's plain to be seen,
If they canna fish waukin' they'll fish in a dream.
They jump frae their beds, an' oot wi' the sun,
For wha can stop fishin' ance fishin's begun?
This craze for the fishin', sae far as I ken,
Seems like lastin' for ever an' ever, Amen.

Expert engineers who have inspected the White House report that the executive mansion is unsafe. Democrats declare it has not been safe for democracy for the past three years.

The Medical Correspondent of The London Times draws attention to the fact that the present has been the healthiest year in Britain's history. The death rate has never risen in any week above 13.5 per 1000, and it has averaged 10.8 per 1000. There have been no serious epidemics in the country, and the infant death rate has been very low. There is speculation as to whether this decline in mortality is permanent or merely temporary.

PACIFIC IS AN IDEAL MILK

So impressed is Mrs. Arnot, who lives on Kingsway in South Vancouver, with the low cost of Pacific Milk to the consumer, she mentions the point three times in a letter we have received. Besides, "I feel it most economical; it can be diluted with half water," she writes.

Pacific is as good as evaporated milk can possibly be. It contains 43% cream, which means that almost half of each can is real cream.

SECRET TOMB OF KING TUT

LUXOR, Egypt, Dec. 18.—(By Associated Press) — All preconceived ideas of Tutenkhamen golden shrine were upset by the sight of his impressive coffin, for the first tme disclosed in almost its full proportions by the removal of the partition wall, when the correspondent visited the tomb yesterday.

The first impression of this gigantic receptacle for the dead, its sides resplendent with chaste decorations of blue and gold, set against a background of brightly-colored pantings on yellow, was almost overwhelming. The feeling was of something incredible, bizarre—something that seemed utterly to banish the presence of death in this casket of wonderful atristry.

One of the first details to catch the eye was the golden lid of the canopy with its graceful curved effect which is declared by competent authority to be unique in Egyptology. The lid is not solid, but hollowed out, roofing over a space of about four feet between the first and second shrines.

From the top hangs the ragged edge of the pall, turned blackish brown by age, showing where the part which concealed the doors of the second shrine had broken away.

The golden rosettes, about the size of a half dollar with which the pall is abundantly spangled, still sparkle in the rays of the powerful arc lights used by the excavators. These rosettes are certainly elaborate, but probably not gold—more likely gilded copper.

Behind the rack the golden doors of the second shrine glistened dull; the two bolts, one above and one below, yet sternly guarding the secret tomb.

What impresses one more than anything else in the intriguing, festive air of this resplendent sepulchre, are the interior decorations of the walls of the first shrine. These are chiefly golden, inscribed with endless hieroglyphics, with figures of birds, flowers and animals set in a triple frame of broad black lines. This contrast of deep black and old gold recalls the art of old China, or the decorative effects achieved by modern designers in boudoirs with golden ceilings and black walls.

LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Fernie Lodge No. 1335, Loyal Order of Moose are out on a campaign for new members. Their reason for so doing is that they want every good citizen to have an opportunity to help in the good work which is being carred on by the Order for children at Mooseheart, and the old folks at Moosehaven.

"Every child is entitled to at least a high school education and a trade." —James J. Davis.

Following is a copy of a letter received by W. F. H. Thompson, District Supervisor, from a Mooseheart student:

Dear Mr. Thompson—It is nearly three weeks since I received your letter; I hope you will pardon me for not writing sooner but I have been ill and unable to do so.

To write this leatter is going to be difficult, as there is so much to tell, I don't know where to begin.

Before I begin to write about Mooseheart I shall tell you that my father belonged to White Horse Lodge No. 1380.

I don't know where to begin, so first of all I'll tell you about the buildings. Most of them are built of cement block and have red tile roofs. They are all very nice looking. The boys' halls, out at the lake, are made of wood. Some of the buildings outside of the girls' and boys' halls are the Campanile, Hospital, Mr. Davis' home, Mr. Adams' home, Administration Building, School, Printery, Power House and Auditorium.

There are about twenty girls' halls and about tweny boys'. In the girls' halls there is a matron, assistant and cook. In the boys' halls there are two proctors and a cook. All the work except the cooking and washing is done by the children. Mrs. Spencer gives out an assignment every three months. In this way every child is trained to do everything there is to be done in a home. In our hall there are forty-eight girls. They are from four to eighteen years of age and the older girls take care of the younger ones. We have lots of music, as there is a piano, radio and phonograph in the hall.

All the chldren have a chance to learn any music that they wish excepting that the girls aren't allowed to take saxaphone or guitar, and the boys aren't allowed to take the piano or violin. There are several musical organizations composed wholly of the students. They are the concert band, novelty orchestra, Philarmonic orchestra, senior class orchestra and glee club.

I am now going to continue my piano lessons if I can.

I shall now give you our daily routine: 6.25 a.m.—Rise, dress, make bed and prepare for breakfast. 7 o'clock—Breakfast. 7.15 to 8.05—Assignment. 8.20 to 11.50—School. 12 to 12.20—Dinner. 12.20 to 12.45—Assignment. 1 to 3.30—Vocational. 4.05 to 4.30—Assembly. Free time until 6 p.m. 6 to 6.20—Supper. 6.20 to 6.35—Assignment. Free time until 7.45. 7.45 to 8—Bible study. 8 to 9.15—Home study. 10 p.m.—Lights out.

I am now in my sophomore year. Our school time is divided into five forty-minute classes, with two minutes between each period. We carry four subject and have the fifth period for study. This term I am taking Spanish, geometry, modern history and English.

The girls' vocationals are sewing, home management, commercial work and teaching. The boys' vocationals are cement work, carpentry, machine shop, sheet metal, green house and farming. We have six months of each and get credits for it.

When we begin our junior year we take the vocational, the work for which we wish to take our diploma. This work is taken for our junior and senior years. I am going to finish in commercial, so I shall start it in January.

Many people wonder as to the religion at Mooseheart. Children of all religions are here. On Sunday morning, from 7 to 8, there is Mass for the Catholics, and from 9.10 to 10.30, there is Church and Sunday School for the Protestants. A great many people have been prejudiced against Mooseheart as they did not know how the religion was carried out. We have Bible study every night for the Protestants and the Catholics study their catechisms.

Mooseheart is well known for its athletes. We have the best runner in Kane County. He graduated in June. Our track team is great. We won every meet this year. We have a very good baseball team and one of the best football teams in the county. All the boys go in for swimming and canoe racing.

The boys aren't the only ones who go in for athletics. The girls have some very good baseball and volley ball teams. We also go in for swimming, tennis, basketball, skating and dancing.

All the Mooseheart children are strong and well cared for. When we are ill we are taken care of in the hospital by Dr. Nichols.

Of course you have heard of our superintendent, Mr. Adams. He makes a great many rules we don't like, but, of course, it is our own fault, and we like him very, very much.

It seems strange to me, there are so few Canadians here. There are only five. The two Antill boys, Archie and Ernest, from Regina, and Mabel and Albert Huffman, from Dawson, and myself.

Uundoubtedly the method of punishment would be very interesting. Instead of corporal punishment, we get demerit marks. When a student gets five he is placed on the seven-day line and is not allowed to leave the hall after supper for a week. If he gets seven, he is put on the labor line, and he has to do any work there is to be done, either in the hall or about the grounds.

If a boy collects a great many demerit marks he is sent to one of the farms to "rusticate." In the case of a girl she is sent to Lincoln Hall or the cottage. The brothers an sisters are not separated, as many people think. The older boys are allowed to come to the halls and talk to their sisters outside. The small boys can come to have Sunday dinner with their sisters.

There is very much more I could tell about Mooseheart and the wonderful work it is doing, but my spare time is short. Hoping this will prove of help to you.

I am, sincerely yours,—Grace E. Wilson.

Join the Loyal Order of Moose now and participate in this great work. Further information from any member of the Order or James Wilson, Secretary.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

To Help the Veterans —Play This Game

Enter the Poster-Judging Competition which is being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations, and to which BOVRIL LIMITED has donated prizes totalling £30,000, about $138,888.00.

These are divided in 2,003 prizes, each of the first three being really a fortune in itself—

The amounts are approximately as follows :

1st Prize - $55,555

2nd Prize, $13,888—3rd Prize, $4,555

SEND A DONATION OF $1.20

Every donor of $1.20 is presented with a Ticket-folder, on which sixteen of the most celebrated BOVRIL Posters are reproduced in full colors.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do. It is a fascinating game, which can be played over and over again and in which all can join, and the prizes add interest to the game.

Donations should be made to any of the following organizations or their branches which are actively interested and ask your help :

Calendar for Week Beginning Sunday, December 30.

Sunday — Combined Service at 11 a.m. Service at Coal Creek at 2.30 p.m. Evening Service at 7.30 p.m.

Wednesday — Junior Aid will meet at 7.30 p.m.

Thursday—Tuxis Boys at 7.30 p.m.

Friday—Choir Practice at 730 p.m.

C. G. I. T. at 7.30 p.m.

The financial year of the church closes December 31st. It is the desire of the Board of Stewards that all subscriptions be paid before that date. A complete financial statement will be published early in January and delivered to subscribers. Our goal is "to be free of debt when the year closes." It all depends on those in arrears whether or not this worthy objective shall be attained.

The young man who sits down and waits for fortune to come would better prepare for a long session.

New Years Greeting

ONCE MORE IT IS OUR PRIVILEGE TO EXTEND

Hearty New Years Greetings

TO OUR MANY GOOD FRIENDS

IN THE YEAR now closing we have received from you so many evidences of good will—such loyal support—that our sense of obligation is great indeed.

DURING 1924 we propose to maintain at its high standard our Service to the Public and the Quality of Our Merchandise, that has won your approval in the past.

WILL REPORT TO MEETING

Mayor G. G. Henderson, of this city, and Mr. J. Smith, of Coal Creek, delegates of the Fernie Branch, Home Bank depositors, to the Toronto meeting, state that they will submit their reports to a general meeting of the depositors, which will be held in all probability about the middle or end of next week.

Federal Minister of Public Works, the Hon. Dr. J. H. King, is expected to be in the city at that time and he is quoted as having expressed a desire to be present at this meeting and address the depositors so that they will clearly understand what action the Government is taking on their behalf.

The Home Bank, Fernie Branch, Depositors' Committee are holding a meeting in the Council Chambers at 7.30 p.m. this evening, to make arrangements for the general meeting. All members of this committee are urgently requested to attend tonight's meeting as many important points are to be discussed.

ROYAL BANK SHOWS BIG GAIN IN YEAR

MONTREAL, Dec. 27. — A gain of fifty millions in deposits, liquid assets of five per cent. and cash amounting to 28 per cent. of liabilities to the public, are among the outstanding features of the annual financial statement which the Royal Bank of Canada just issued for the fiscal year ended November 30.

Total assets are now $538,358,554 as compared with $579,462,366 for the previous year, or a gain of about $59,000,000. Liquid assets are $233,135,474, as compared with $216,048,331, while cash on hand amounts to $81,604,539, as against $71,935,920 a year ago. In the liquid assets, a number of other large increases are shown, the principal being in government securities. Dominion and provincial securities now stands at $28,783,050, up from $22,950,225, and Canadian, municipal and British, foreign and colonial government securities, other than Canada, amount to $15,900,363, as againct $7,901,927 a year ago. Call loans total $46,372,574, as against $48,610,120 last year.

Curent loans now stand at $264,722,967, against $242,937,476. Deposits in savings department now amount to $311,759,127, as compared with $277,599,882, an increase of $34,163,245 for the year.

The earnings for the year were well maintained, profits having amounted to $3,090316. This compares with $3,958,469 in the previous year. The profits added to the balance carried forward from the preceding year brought the total amount available for distribution up to $4,916,830.

It was announced that G. MacGregor Mitchell, Halifax, had been elected a director of the Bank.

SALES TAX MUST BECOME EFFECTIVE, SAYS PREMIER

OTTAWA, Dec. 22.—That the government has no intention of suspending the operations of the sales tax effective on January 1, was plainly indicated last night by the Prime Minister, following a lengthy sitting of the cabinet. The position which is taken broadly is that the sales tax is an act of Parliament which can be modified or amended in principal only by Parliament. To make regulations and interpretations in regard to its application, rather wide powers are conferred upon the minister of finance and it is intimated that these will be availed of in a number of cases where hardship is involved through the impossibility of passing on the tax, relief will be forthcoming. Something, for example, may be done in regard to newsprint.

While the Customs Act gives certain general powers by way of suspension, there is no apparent intention to interpret this as applicable to the present situation. If it were possible to suspend the tax there would be nothing to take its place. It is held to be needed for revenue purposes and as Parliament put it on the statute books its action is considered mandatory.

What will be done to the act in the coming session is another matter. The real effect of the tax on business will then be better known and in view of the objections to it, some modification seems reasonably certain.

are flabbergasted when asked to explain the cause of the intense stormy weather they are experiencing. Some of the wise old owls attribute it to the weather.

I.O.D.E. NEW YEAR'S DANCE

The annual I. O. D. E. New Year's Dance will be given by the Mount Fernie Chapter in Victoria Hall.

No pains have been spared by the members to make this the most successful dance of the season. Novelty caps will be presented; also confetti and streamers and with excellent music and a good supper all those attending assured of a royal time. Don't miss this opportunity of dancing in the New Year of 1924.

As the committee can not make arrangements to call on everyone, tickets can be obtained at either McLean's Drug Store or Suddaby's Drug Store.

MAY McAVOY IN "HER REPUTATION" NEXT WEEK

May McAvoy in "Her Reputation," a Thomas H. Ince special production, will be the feature at the Orpheum Theatre for next Wednesday and Thursday.

An interesting novelty has been introduced by Mr. Ince in this picture. May McAvoy, star of the production, appears with George Larkin, a professional "tango" artist in a number of novelty cabaret dances that are as appealing as they are spectacular. Miss McAvoy is a very talented dancer. To perfect herself in the role of the little cafe dancer for "Her Reputation," she studied for several months with a noted instructor in Los Angeles. By way of rehearsal with George Larkin she gave an "Argentine Tango" at several smart social affairs in Hollywood. It proved such a sensation that the vogue quickly spread throughout the film colony until everyone now is doing the tango.

For cafe scenes of the picture, Director John Griffith Wray created two unique settings. In one set, diminishing circles of shadow and light give a weird effect of looking down a long, massive labyrinth to a disk of light at the far end where a filmy, gossamer drapery with a delicate rose design worked in its fringe is hung. It took a force of Ince technicians two weeks to build this set.

An even more elaborate stage was built for another sequence of the production, velvet hangings were drawn back from stone arches to display a clever effect of flames leaping fitfully back and forth, outlining the frescoed design on the stonework and lighting up the Egyptian spear poles that supported broad striped awnings. From the flaming archways, the dancers, dressed in costumes of crimson and white, made their appearance for a spectacular dance that is broken short by a police raid.

The raid was staged so realistically that several of the "diners" in the cafe were knocked to the floor and trampled on. One man was crushed so severely that he was still unconscious when they carried him into the studio hospital. A number of the police used in the scene were the real thing, not merely "reel" ones, and their suggestions helped Director Wray to put over an exciting scene that might easily have become a burlesque in less capable hands.

The gorgeous setings and the rapid action tempo maintained throughout "Her Reputation" make it one of the most spectacular productions of the season.

THE SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM

For the first time in many years Fernie is to have a senior hockey team, which will be kept apart from the City League and will be trained against an all-star aggregation picked from the City League teams.

The senior team will be entered in the British Columbia Allen Cup play-off and the ruling of the B.C.A.H.A., is that the Fernie seniors will play the winners of the Cranbrook-Kimberley league early in February, for the East Kootenay Championship. The winners of this title will travel to Nelson and play the winners of the West Kootenay League, the final of the B. C. Championship to be played at the Coast.

Our neighbors to the west of us, apparently having in mind what happened to them when the met the Fernie seniors here last season, are using every endeavor to force the East Kootenay play-off between the winner of the Cranbrook - Kimberley league against the winners of the Fernie City League. What would they say if Fernie demanded that the winners of their City League be the challengers for the East Kootenay Championship.

Fernie Hockey Club is affiliated with the B. C. Amateur Hockey association and positively will not budge an inch from the ruling laid down by that association regardng the play-off.

CRANBROOK AND KIMBERLEY FORM HOCKEY LEAGUE

CRANBROOK, B.C., Dec. 26.—An intermediate hockey league was formed in Cranbrook Thursday. Four teams are entered, and the promise is that a good brand of hockey will be put up. The high school has entered one team, also the Y.M.C.A. and the C.P.R. A group of high school ex-pupils makes up the fourth.

Final negotiations have been completed for senior hockey, and it has been found that only two teams will play—Kimberley and Cranbrook. This means only about eight games of senior hockey during the winter.

A very large number of teams have entered the junior league. Taken all together, Cranbrook will have quite a lot of hockey during the coming weeks.

The Amateur Athletic association has its hockey and skating rink running to perfection at present, much credit being due to Mr. Moir.

The high school has a sheet of ice like glass, and the students are preparing to enjoy their holidays to the fullest extent.

FIND WHITNEY SINGERS SAFE

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 25.—Captain of Detective John T. Moore today received a message from the authorities at Winnipeg, Manitoba, saying that there was no need to worry about the members of the Whitney Boys' chorus, a Portland organization of H. E. K. Whitney, which is on a concert tour. The telegram was in response to an enquiry sent by Moore at the request of the parents of a few of the boys who had become alarmed because the tour, which was originally intended to be about nine weeks, had been extended about four months. "Condition O. K. No need to worry," said the message.

Captain Moore said he was informing the anxious parents that the police department would take no further action in the matter, and that if they desired their boys returned they would have to make arrangements themselves.

Harvard students have organized a "blue shirt" club, the members pledging themselves to wear only four shirts a month. It is not a Fascisti movement, the object being to economize on laundry bills.

GETTING ITS GUNMEN

A crime-detecting wave of far more local importance to the newspapers seems to have sprung into being in New York, where existed what some papers called "the worst crime wave since the war." Crime waves, as pointed out by the Brooklyn Eagle, spring from a contagion of confidence and audacity on the part of a city's thugs and gangsters, when the spectacular hauls of one or two bandits spur their competitors to action. Fortunately, continues this paper, policemen and detectives or a policeman makes a spectacular haul and brings in a badly wanted man, it not only helps to restore confidence in the Police Department, but it also has a tremendous influence on the crime business generally. "A loss of confidence or nerve on the part of gangsters" is what it means, for they "know well enough when it is unhealthy for them to operate."

The "spectcular haul" in this case was made by the police in running down a drug-crazed gang held responsible for the $43,000 holp-up and cold-blooded murder of two bank messengers, described in The Digest of December 1. Within two days after the crime a pair of ex-high-school athletes were being shadowed, and a gang of bandits was rounded up within a fortnight. Whereupon the New York Evening Post declared:

"The Police Department merits the warmest praise for the alertness, shrewdness, and persistency it has shown in running down the set of banditti which centered in Morris and Joseph Diamond. The acheivement is even more gratifying for the moral effect it will have upon gangsters who were coming to believe that they could defy the police with impunity."

The fascinating steps tracing this affair appeared gradually in the various New York papers during the week of November 24. These accounts, taking in the story in The Digest of December 1, may be thus summarized:

On a blood-stained sedan, in which the murderers made their getaway, was found one battered license-plate, and some finger-prints. The license-plate was eventually traced to Morris Barlow ("Whitey") Diamond, who, with his brother, Joseph, had been getting the formerly prosperous Diamond Basswood Box Mfg. Company in Brooklyn into financial difficulties. "Whitey" Diamond, a famous high-school full-back in his day, and "Joe," a popular baseball pitcher, both apparently had a good reputation in their neighborhood. After a chase through Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia, "Whitey" was picked up eleven days after the murder, in Cleveland, where he had stayed over to see Jim Thorpe's professional football team play. Twenty-two hundred dollars in cash was found on him when the detectives shoved their guns against his back, and he was brought back to New York, alternately chattering with fear and boasting of his prowess as a "crap shooter." His trail had been marked by money lavishly spent, and in Philadelphia he and his brother had liberally entertained two chorus girls, to whom Joseph had boasted: "They're looking for us in New York. We're wanted for a big stick-up. Made a big haul."

Meanwhile, a right middle-finger print on the murder car was identifed, after a comparison with 600,000 others at Police Headquarters, with prints of Barlow Diamond's fingers mode a year ago, when he was arrested for stealing an automobile. Joseph Diamond, after consulting a lawyer, gave himself up to a detective force already on his trail, and both brothers, after twenty-four hours' "sweating" by the police, began to talk.

The criminal world of New York appears to have been struck its heaviest blow in years the next day, when an early-morning raid on an innocent-looking bungalow in the Bronx netted six men, believed to be the nuclous of a gang responsible for twenty-five murders in the past three years. The police, making a "rat-trap" of the place, had been watching it all night. According to their statement, these "coke fiends, thugs and hired assassins" form the "most desperate band which has preyed upon New York since the days of the Five Pointers and Monk Eastman."

"He's the man who shot my boss," was the way an accidental witness almost immediately implicated one of these men, Michael ("Lights" Mazziano, in another recent murder, that of Jacob Bankoff, a druggist. Anthony Pantano, the dapper son of a prosperous importer of olive oil, being picked up on another clue, was confronted by this gang. In the recriminations that followed between him and the scarred Nicholas ("Cheeks") Luciano, it appeared that "Tony" Pantano, after having worked in various banks, conceived the idea of a raid on the West End bank at a time when it would net half a million dollars. This idea being presented to the hard-up Diamonds, who called in the others as experts, is said to have eventually been modified into the pay-roll robbery which occurred.

Later arrests, and a series of indictments and trials now commencing, may change details, but the parts played are likely to remain unchanged think the newspapers. According to this, Pantona was the slick well-dressed boy who got the bank job and secured the inside information. The Diamonds were the respectable-seeming managers who brought the different specialists together, planned their parts, and possibly directed the killing. The "gang" furnished the driver of the car and one or two gunmen (like the ex-pugilist "Lights" Mazziano)to do the shooting.

The "End of Terror" is what The Tribune calls this capture. Other papers indicate the weakness in a criminal organization of this sort where, once a member is identified and thoroughly scared, everybody "squeals" on everybody else and their whole defense falls to pieces.—Literary Digest.

TOO COSTLY GOLD

The presence of gold does not insure a profitable mine, we are warned by an editorial writer in The Engineering and Mining Journal - Press (New York). Travellers in remote and little-known parts of the world often return, he says, with tales of gold and diamonds, undeveloped in the wildernesses they have penetrated, or the hinterland back of these wildernesses. They have seen ornaments of gold, necklaces with precious stones, images inlaid with precious metals; and they argue there-upon that a great harvest lies ready in that region for the magic of modern mining. Yet the most experienced investigator knows that gold is, so to speak, no real indication of a gold-mire; that a precious stone is no definite pre-runner of a precious-stone industry. For instance:

"Pizarro found an immense amount of gold, according to history, in the possessions of the Inca kings in Peru; as Cortez did in the courts of the Mexican monarchs; yet neither Peru nor Mexico has been noted as a rich gold-mining country subsequently. In Macedonia the great Alexander had mines of gold—placer gold—which he inherited from his father, Philip of Macedonia; yet in the modern sense there are no gold-mines there, the amount being so small that it can not be won at a profit—only the unpaid and almost unfed slave labor was able to take out the precious metal.

"There are plenty of places we know where it would be easy to amass, out of the rocks and gravels, a dazzling treasure of gold; but in these inconsiderate times, when we must pay for men, machinery, and grub, it would be a far too expensive pastime to collect such a 'king's ransom.'

"We read in the paper this morning that a man picked up a pebble the other day on a Long Island beach, and it turned out to be a white damond worth $3000; yet this doesn't signify that a company should be formed to mine the beach, or the formations back of it. Diamonds have been found here and there throughout the glacial drift of northern and eastern United States; but the location of the bed-rock concentrations, if any exists, is something at present beyond the power of industry and science. We picked up once in the cellar of a house a shilling of the time of George IV., but that did not indicate that we should dig n the cellar for treasure.

"Engineering methods of appraisal are necessary to demonstrate a probable mine, even in the presence of the most glittering traditions, treasures, or 'samples.' "

WINTER RESORTS IN CANADA

MORE and more Canadians who spend their holidays in winter time are coming to realize that Canada offers pleasant surroundings for both winter and summer holidays. Photograph shows Parliament Building at Victoria, B.C., one of Canada's world famous garden cities, where many persons from other parts of the Dominion spend their winter holidays.

Vancouver — "Mike," Vancouver's freak cat with furry hands instead of paws, is being featured in the courts in a claim by two alleged owners. The present owners claim they rescued it as a starving alley kitten last summer. The Fox films took a "movie" of the cat this week. The wife of a prominent doctor has offered $300 for the cat.

Mrs. Margaret McPherson announces her candidacy for councillor at the coming election. She is sending out circulars to the women voters, saying that she is raising a big family without help from her husband who is a partial cripple, and is able to help in running the affairs of the municipality.

In a debate in the B.C. Legislature, Hon. Wm. Sloan charged that all parties, Labbr included, had to depend upon campaign funds. The labor members protested, causing Mr. Sloan to remark that "In the heat of an election the Labor party would accept funds from the devil." There was an uproar and then great laughter when Mr. Uphill, of Fernie, observed that the Labor party had never received a cent from the Lberal party.

"This country is the shock-absorber of the warld," says Premier Baldwin, of Britain. "The question I want to ask is this: If the markets of the world are contracted, why should the whole burden of the shortage in trade caused by that contraction fall on our shoulders, instead of being shared among the peoples of the world? The blow has hit us far more severely than any other country. We cannot wait for the settlement of Europe. We must look after ourselves."

The orderly officer was inspecting rations. "Any complaints?" he asked.

"Just taste this, sir," said a Tommy, presenting a cup of liquid.

"It's very good soup," said the officer.

"Yes, sir, but the corporal says it's tea and the cook says it's coffee and I found a scrub brush at the bottom of the kettle."

PRISON REFORM

There are suggestions that can be of value to any nation contained in a report of the Commissioners of Prisons of Great Britain just published. It appears that very great advances have been made in the task of educating prisoners and weaning them away from a life of crime. The educational and recreative facilities of British prisons are interestingly described in the report. The object of these, it is emphasized, is not to make prisons pleasant but to construct a system of training such as will fit the prisoner to re-enter the world as a citizen. The first requisite of this is held to be greater activity of mind and body and the creation of habits of sustained industry. Longer hours of harder work are regarded as the first item on the programme. Next comes the removal of any features of unnecessary degradation in prison life and the promotion of self respect. There is education on broad lines calculated to arouse some intelligent interest and to raise the mind out of a sordid circle of selfish broodings. Finally comes the endeavor to awaken some sense of personal responsibility by the gradual and cautious introduction of methods of limited trust.

Features introduced systematically into prison life in Great Britain are lectures, debates and concerts. The inmates are kept informed of the main current events by a weekly summary of news read by the governor or chaplain in every prison. Most of the reports testify to keen interest in the efforts towards improvement, but there are some prisons where the inmates show lack of intelligence and where but little can be done. The whole campaign is conducted on the basis of humanity and with the sole purpose of ameliorating prison conditions in the hope of eventual reform among a goodly percentage of the prisoners. Britain is well ahead in this type of work. No country has been quicker to introduce new features into prison life, and it is noteworthy that as these ameliorations grow the average period spent in prison is shorter, and, as well, the number of receptions on conviction, both absolutely and relatively to the population, is much lower than the average for the five years which ended 1913-1914, both as regards conviction on indictment and summary convictions.—The Colonist.

WORLD PAYS FINE TRIBUTE TO A GREAT NATION BUILDER

Passing of Lord Shaughnessy Calls Forth Expressions of Admiration and Respect For the Man of Far Vision and Unfaltering Determination, Whose Monument Is As Much in Canada's Greatness as in the Railroad He Helped to Build.

On December 10th, at Montreal, Death stilled the keen mind which for forty-two years had been ever at the disposal of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the strong hand which for twenty years had held the lever of that gigantic machine, the gallant heart which had ever been attuned to the music of the giant company's locomotives. Taking away Lord Shaughnessy, he took away with him the last of the old guard of the great pioneers of Canada's pioneer trans-continental. The departure of this monumental man is significant of the changing times, a mark of the Dominion's passing into manhood.

The details of Lord Shaughnessy's truly wonderful career have been recapitulated so often of late that there is little need to run over them here. Born in 1853, at Milwaukee, of Irish ancestry, he studied for the law, felt the lure of great railway work, entered the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway as clerk at the age of sixteen, and in ten years rose to the position of General Storekeeper. In 1882, when Sir William Van Horne took over the management of the Canadian Pacific Railway, he at once engaged the young man he had known with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, offering him the position of General Purchasing Agent. Two years later came the promotion to Assistant General Manager, in 1891 the Vice-Presidency, and in 1898 the Presidency This position he held until 1918, when he retired to accept the office of Chairman of the Board of Directors, which he retained to the moment of his death. Meanwhile came many honours—in 1901, a Knight Bachelor, in 1907 a Knight Commander of the Victorian Order, in 1916 a Baron, and high appointments in the many civil organizations in which he was interested.

Lord Shaughnessy was a man of vision, of tremendous energy, brilliant and incisive, a great executive, a great financier—almost everything but a politician.

Canada will never realize the full extent of what it owes to the steadfast faith, buoyant optimism, foresight and sheer hard work of Lord Shaughnessy in his desire to build up Canada through the agency of the vast company he headed.

Lord Shaughnessy was unsurpassed as an administrator. His discipline was strict but tempered with justice, kindliness and a keen sense of humor which made his followers love him. His att[illegible] towards Labour was well kno[illegible] was rightly said by the compan[illegible] employees that any dispute might safely be left to him, and his frequent pronouncements in favour of giving the workingman as great an opportunity for self-improvement and enjoyment as the employer caused the employer of the old school to tremble. Finally, he was a great Canadian and a great believer in the British Empire.

The late Right Honorable Lord Shaughnessy, First Baron Shaughnessy of Montreal and of Ashford, County Limerick, Ireland, K.C.V.O., F.R.C.I.

From all parts of the world have come stirring tributes to this leader among men. H. M. the King cabled Lady Shaughnessy as follows:

"The Queen and I are grieved to hear of your bereavement, in which we offer you our sincere sympathy We shall always preserve the pleasantest memories of Lord Shaughnessy and of his unfailing kindness and consideration, both to ourselves and to members of my family." H R. H. the Prince of Wales, His Excellency the Governor-General and the Hon. W. H. Taft, ex-President and now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, stand out among the thousands who also cabled or wired their tributes.

From the Press came such appreciations as this, published by the Montreal Star: "Great builders are few and the British Empire counts herself fortunate in the long roll of brilliant servants who have spent themselves unsparingly in her interests. . . . These builders are few because in them are assembled many talents, great aspirations (often seemingly contradictory) and idiosyncracies of temperament that, leavened with unselfishness, the noblest gift of the gods, make up that indefinable quality which the world calls greatness. They are men of far vision and of the rugged determination that refuses to be balked by imposing obstacles, with an infinite capacity for work and a joy in its accomplishment; men who can dream great things and impress their fellow-workers with the reality and the practicability of those dreams after dawn.

"Lord Shaughnessy, whose passing Canada mourns today, was a man of this calibre, and because of the intangible nature of that essence which makes for greatness and crystallizes leadership, the record of his characteristics, his gifts and his achievements must leave much untold. Yet in the qualities that were revealed to his friends and associates, in the firmness of purpose and the strength of character displayed, in the very ascent of the ladder of success, rung by rung, Lord Shaughnessy has bequeathed a heritage to the youth of Canada of splendid inspiration and to the men who have lived through the historic years with him he has left a glad remembrance. . . .

"I have set up a monument more lasting than bronze" wrote the great Horace two thousand years ago. The words might be carved upon every line of railway of the system which Lord Shaughnessy did so much to bring to greatness as an epitaph of his life. Himself of strict integrity, he carried the principle of the strictest code of ethics into the administration of the road he loved so warmly and for which he laboured so untiringly. . . . The Empire mourns a great pro-consul."

And this, from the London Times, ever the spokesman for the heart of that Empire: "The romance, imagination and fine courage of the Empire builder are blended in the life story of Lord Shaughnessy. Himself a native of the United States, he lived to become not only a citizen of the Dominion of Canada across the border but most essentially a citizen of the British Empire, for his wholehearted and efficient work was not merely dedicated to the service of his country. Under his administration, the double track branched and extended so as to carry new settlers every year into the farmlands of Ontario, through the gateways of the West into the wheat-fields of the prairies, and beyond the Rockies into the valleys of British Columbia. In building the greatness of the company he served, he helped to build the greatness of his beloved country and of the Empire as well. . . . Of Lord Shaughnessy it may be said that he was a living instance of the manner in which Britain's overseas dominions assimilate the many elements of which they are composed. He came to Canada from a foreign country as a servant; he remained to be honoured by the King, to whom he gave such loyal allegiance, and to be recognized universally among his fellow-countrymen as the first citizen of the Dominion."

The gap left in the ranks of true Christian gentlemen by the sudden and premature snapping of this steel link with the old railroad builders is very large.

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Under the title of "Publicity and the Mining Industry," Mr. C. M. Campbell, General Manager at Cassidy for the Granby Company, has written a pamphlet which contains much sound reasoning and which is an answer to many of the unbalanced statements that are made from time to time about what are called the "unlimited resources of the country."

He points out some few things that it is well, in all candour, should be noted, and not only noted, but considered in relation to policies to be devised for the future. He tells of how the Fraser River fisheries, which were probably the most valuable on the entire Pacific Coast at the beginning of this century, have been depleted in less htan twenty years; how the timber wealth on the coast is being got rid of in as fast and as wasteful manner as possible; how even scenery is being depleted by the timebr operations, for even a mountain scene loses much of its beauty when viewed over a foreground of blackened stumps.

From the actual trend of events and the methods of industrial development, Mr. Campbell argues, and with justifiable logic, that a simple description of what has happened and what is happenng do not connote the description of a land of illimitable wealth. He then delves into the heart of his subject—the mineral industry—and he comes to the conclusion that there is no basis in fact for the kind of mining publicty whch is founded on the assumption of "inconceivable wealth in minerals." He says he has been called a pessimist, but he is only such if one who deals in facts can be so described, for as he says himself "optimism and pessimism have nothing to do with the matter any more than that a surveyor should be called an optimist when he marks down 200 feet as the distance between two hubs when he should only have marked down 100 feet."

"The mning industry of Canada," says Mr. Campbell, "has, so far, not delivered the gods." He points out that the area including Sudbury, Cobalt and Porcupine, is the exception and not the rule, and even there, there is no certainty of indefinite life. Mr. Campbell doubts very much if receipts in mining in British Columba have balanced expendtures, and that at any rate the return to the mning companies on the whole has been far from adequate. Records of dividends make good copy, he says, but he has yet to see any figures showing the amount of capital stock that became worthless when mining companies ceased operations. In dealing with British Columbia, he points out:

Up until recently the Premier mine was the shining example of what the West might be expected to develop. Page after page of descriptive matter and editorial after editorial was written about it and the dividends it was paying. Then the management stated that the end of the rich zone was in sight and that there was a possibility, but no certainty, that further rich zones would be discovered and the mine might have to depend on low grade ore. The result has been that the extravagant publicity in regard to the Premier mine has ceased and the publicity writers have again resumed their Micawber-like attitude.

As a result of his observations Mr. Campbell at times grows painfully candid. He says that publicity is periodically given to the statement that what Canada needs is capital to develop it mines. "It is not capital that is needed," he says, "it is mines." Capital, he shows, is systematically hunting for mines in all parts of the world, and Canada has no need to complain of lack of mining capital, for not only has American capital "snapped up everything where there was a chance to win," but large quantities of English capital have been placed in Canada, and larger amounts would have been placed if results had been more satisfactory. In this connection, he says: "The activities of the Coast Steel Range Company warrant some attention. Its demand that different governments guarantee its bonds is at variance with established mning customs to such an extent as to make one suspicious of the entire proposition."

The whole pamphlet is information and it will have fulfilled its patent object if it acts as a corrective to the exaggerated publicity in which news of our resources is usually couched Let us be honest with ourselves and refrain from delusions. What we have, we have, and all the thinking that we have more than we have, will not make it otherwise. It is impossible to juggle with economic facts. The vsion of our country's resources needs rechecking, says Mr Campbell. We want a respite from the recent epidemic of wildly extravagant statements because they are doing harm. We want a survey of our available resources with precision, instead of crudely "surveying" them with the elasticity of the mental vision. Mr. Campbell is right. The time has come when we should be honest with ourselves where our natural resources are concerned, as well as in all other matters.—Colonist.

Figures given the Legislature by Hon. Dr. MacLean, provincial secretary, during his budget speech, show that the death rate in this province from typhoid last year was one in 5000, whereas in 1915, it was five times that great. In spite of the very low death rate in British Columbia the minister stated that the cost of the department of health was only $104,000, less than half that of the other provinces. The death rate from all sources in this province is the lowest in Canada ,while the death rate among babies less than one year old, in Victoria, is the lowest of any city in the world.

Here and There

In appreciation of its wonderful exhibit at the Toronto Exhibition this year, the Canadian Pacific Railway has been awarded a special medal.

The Prince of Wales' Ranch at High River, Alberta, contributed the highest priced bull at a recent fall sale in Calgary, Princeton Crusader, which fetched $285.

Canadian wheat exports for the twelve months ending September 30th, 1923, amounted to 225,747,361 bushels, valued at $259,445,816, while for the twelve months ending September, 1922, they were 160,637,898 bushels, valued at $194,577,125, according to a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Exports of bacon from Canada to Great Britain increased almost 3,000,000 pounds during the first nine months of the current calendar year. For this period, during 1922, there were 70,988,000 pounds of Canadian bacon shipped to the British market, while this year the corresponding figure rose to 73,934,000 pounds.

The value of the asbestos exports of Canada for the 12 months ended August, 1923, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, exceeded the value of those of the previous year by nearly $3,000,000. These exports for the last year amounted to 202,646 tons, valued at $8,375,249, compared with 122,785 tons, valued at $5,604,551 in 1922.

The first consignment of 1,000 pounds of British Columbia Douglas fir seeds has been shipped to the British Forestry Commission, London, by the Dominion Forestry Branch, from its plant at New Westminster, British Columbia. The seeds were extracted from the cones recently gathered in the Fraser Valley districts.

The year 1923 will see a new record in Alberta coal production. It is expected the total production for the year will reach 7,000,000 tons, in comparison with less than 6,000,000 last year. The production up to November 1st is 1,500,000 tons greater than the production for the same period last year. The record production previously was in 1920, when 6,400,000 tons were produced. The pay-roll this year is expected to exceed $18,000,000.

Great interest is being manifested in the International Dog Derby to be run at Quebec during the Winter Carnival on February 21st, 22nd and 23rd, 1924. The race is for teams of huskies driven by Indians, trappers, traders, mail carriers and others. At present ten entries have been received and others are expected from the north shore of the St. Lawrence and from the Abitibi mining district. As navigation will soon close, it will be necessary for entries from the latter district to mush 400 miles to reach Quebec. About five American teams will probably take part, their object being to regain the gold cup for the United States.

What might have resulted in a very serious train wreck was avoided in the nick of time on the Canadian Pacific Railway Parry Sound subdivision, by section foreman Conzani, who while patrolling the track near Brignall recently discovered two large iron nuts on top of the rails, securely fastened with hay wire. The foreman had just time to unfasten the wire and remove the nuts to clear the track for a train was due in five minutes. Two boys in the vicinity admitted, after questioning, that they wired the nuts to the rails. They were sentenced to the local shelter for one month and their fathers were required to give bond and report to the authorities for two years.

Evidence given by farmers before the U. S. Tariff Commission showed that under American railway rates a bushel of wheat could be hauled only 35 miles for one cent, while under Canadian rates the same amount of money would move the same amount of grain 66 miles. American farmers claim that this is a saving in favor of the Canadian producer of 44 per cent, or about 8 cents a bushel. The reason given for the difference is that in the United States grain rates are based on cost of moving it to-day, while in Canada they are based on 1897 costs, when the Crow's Nest Pass agreement was made between the Government and the Canadian Pacific.

EDITORIAL ECHOES

THE American-Canadian conference on liquor smuggling is an American invasion of Canada as a short cut to stop the flow of liquor into the United States in violation of the prohibition amendment and the law based on it. The traditional method of stopping smuggling is to defeat the smugglers at the natural barrier recognized by law, which in this case is the International Boundary. Ordinarily what a smuggler does in Canada, in order to promote his successes in the United States is of no interest to the Canadian Government unless he violates a Canadian law. The United States proposes to ask Canada to help stop the smuggling at its source.

Among the proposals offered by the United States is one providing that Canada shall refuse to clear ships of less than 250 tons bearing liquor cargoes. The United States also asks that Canada communicate to the United States authorities all information about larger liquor ships leaving Canadian ports, and that she endeavor to see that such ships as leave proceed to the ports for which they clear.

It will surprise no one if Canada is unable to see its way to accede to any of these proposals. They go much farther than anything the British Government has offered to do to help enforce the American prohibition law. Canada might be willing for diplomatic reasons to help, but she can hardly agree to catch smugglers leaving Canada if the United States can not catch them arriving in the United States. Considering recent changes in parts of Canada in regard to prohibition laws, she is less likely than ever to yield to the American demand. She can do much to discourage the traffic, and has indicated that she will do much, but she is not likely to invoke the Volstead law in Canada.

SO much is going on these days that children are quitting school to see it.—Ed. Howe.

That sounds like an Abe Martin paragraph. It has a whole sermon boiled down.

School children in town don't usually advance in their books as rapidly as school children in the country, and this is probably the reason. There are so many things to keep the child excited over; so many places to go; so many activities to take part in.

The country boy, if he's lucky, may go to school half the time, or a third of the time, and when he becomes a man he goes to town and takes the place of the boy who had to go to school from the time he was six till he is grown. Hence the country boys are running the big industries, the big institutions, and holding the big political jobs.

* * * * * *

EVERY day in every newspaper there are stories of children run over and hurt by automobiles. In many cases the fault is with the motorists, but in many others the accidents are found to have been inevitable. A man driving his car along the street can do nothing to avert an accident if a child suddenly rushes off the sidewalk and tries to cross the street in front of him. That is the cause of many accidents.

Unfortunately, for many children, the streets are the only possible playground, and it is difficult—but not impossible—to keep them on the sidewalk. Parents can do much to prevent accidents by insisting on their children keeping off the roads.

The old question of hospitality and courtesy should enter into the present day life more than they do, we think. It used to be against good taste to become a man's guest and then criticize the hospitality one received. It is such a pity that this has gone out of fashion.

Whenever we get a communication which begins: "Your name has been given to us as one of the prominent citizens of your community;" we read just that far. There is always a coupon at the bottom.

* * * * * *

People are real greedy. Just as we read about the poultry saving the country along comes some fellow who wishes to make the hens lay two eggs a day. The next thing will be to insist on grease enough to fry them in.

Fernie is big enough to be convenient and small enough to be a pleasant place to live in.

Ald. Robichaud has made the statement that he will again be a candidate for alderman.

From newspaper reports it would seem that Christmas day is the most popular one of the year for suicides.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bryant spent Christmas with Mrs. Bryant's parents in Cranbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Winstanley, of Michel, spent Christmas with friends in West Fernie.

John Hovan returned on Monday from San Francisco, where he spent three weeks.

New Year's Eve Dance will be given by the Mount Fernie Chapter I.O. D.E. Splendid program and excellent supper.

Chief Anderson says that he is indebted to a number of the stores for good things supplied to the prisoners for Christmas.

Business in the stores during the past ten days has been just a little better than for the same period last year.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Liphardt gave a dance on Thursday evening in honor of their daughter, Miss Mary ,of Calgary, who is visiting them.

Christmas passed off very quietly this year. The Veterans' Band, the Salvation Army Band and a party of carol singers were pleasant entertainers during the day.

The butchers report that for the holiday trade over 2000 turkeys were disposed off in Fernie during the rush. This would give an average of about three to each family.

A colored lad named Wellington, was fined $50 or two months in jail for creating a disturbance on Victoria Avenue last evening. He is busy looking for the fifty bones.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites expect to sail on January 4th for a trip around the world. This is the second circuit of the globe for Mr. and Mrs. Trites.

The following pupils' names were received too late to be included in the list of class leaders of last week, for the month of December: Div. 1—Audrey Mills, Hilda Brown, John Stropky, May Tully, Nelson Wallace, Willie Ash.

Midnight Mass at the Roman Catholic Church on Christmas eve drew a large crowd of both Catholics and Protestants. There are a number of people in this city who make it a point to go the church on this occasion if they never go on any other.

Members of Trinity Temple No. 7 Pythian Sisters please take notice that the funeral of late Bro. R. J. Cooke takes place on Sunday, Dec. 30, leaving the Undertaking Parlors at 1.45 p.m. Members will meet prior to 1.15 at I. O. O. F. Hall.

Franklin Bonnell, of Toronto University, is spending the holidays at his home here. Franklin, who is going through for law, expects to graduate in the spring. He will then attend law school in Vancouver for three years.

J. A. Broley, while out rustling for a Christmas tree, had a bad fall. He slipped on some snow-covered ice and fell against a root, which struck him in the side. He was unconscious for several moments and has not yet fully recovered from the effect of the blow.

The first annual meeting of the Cokato Farmers' Institute will be held in the Cokato School House on Friday afternoon, January 4, at 3 p.m. Business: Election of officers and other important subjects. Members are requested to be on time and bring others with them.

Coal Creek school children gave an appreciated Christmas concert and dance to a crowded hall in Coal Creek, on Thursday last. Teachers and children desire to thank the audience for its support and all who assisted in its success, especially Mr. Harry Sharpe, who had charge of staging and costuming.

TEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

The average sale of Government liquor for the past seven months for Michel and Fernie runs about thirty five thousand dollars per month. Surely there is food for thought on this statement when one considers that owing to short time in the mines, money has been more or less scarce.

The Kootenay Telephone Lines will issue a new directory early in January.

The Royal Bank had a busy day on Saturday taking care of the Home Bank dividend. They handled some 360 customers, paying out about $50,000, most of which was in small amounts. On Monday the rush was not so heavy, only $15,000 being turned over. The money came as a God send to a lot of poor people, who were able to enjoy Christmas in the usual way.

A trade report states that Canada imported $187,689 worth of cabbages last year. Whether they were used in making nickel cigars or were served with corned beef is not indicated.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Miss Donald, of the Fernie Hospital staff, is holidaying at the coast.

Miss West is spending the holidays in Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Edgar are spending the holidays in Nelson.

Jas. Davidson is home from the hospital and is progressing as favorably as can be expected.

The Post Office staff wish to thank all those who so kindly remembered them this Christmas.

The telephone girls wish to thank all those who so kindly remembered them at Christmas.

Billy Mills, of Gonzaga College, Spokane, is spending the holidays with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Arthur, of Brocket, spent Christmas in the city, the guests of friends.

Mrs. S. Nicholson, accompanied by Misses Annie and Greta, is spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. C. Kingrey, in Hillyard, Wash.

The Maude Henderson Company put on two very creditable performances in the Grand Theatre on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Tom Uphill, M.P.P., returned on Monday from attending th esession in Victoria. Tom seems to enjoy his holidays at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Doris, of Cranbrook, spent Christmas with Mrs. Doris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Baker.

The Pythian Sisters regret having had to postpone their drawing ,which should have taken place on December 15. It will positively take place on January 8.

The Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public work, will be in Fernie for a couple of days next week. During his stay here he will be the guest of honor at a banquet given by the Rotary Club.

New Year greeting cablegrams may be sent from the C. P. R. Telegraph Office to Great Britain and Ireland for delivery New Year's Day at the extremely low cost of $1.00 for 10 words and 10 cents for each additional word. These cablegrams, to secure this rate, must be sent not later than Saturday, December 29.

Neil McCallum is busy today fighting the heavy snow fall of the last couple of days. Up to date, this winter is the mildest in many years, the thermometer only falling to the zero mark on two occasions and that for a few hours only. The curlers are beginning to get anxious as this is one of the few years that they have not been able to throw a few rocks before Christmas .

The sympathy of the residents is extended to Mrs. R. J. Cooke and family in the recent sudden demise of the husband and father, whose death took place in Cranbrook on Monday, from heart trouble. Deceased was well known and respected having resided here for the past 10 years, coming direct to Fernie from Lancaster, England and had been employed by the Coal Co. in various positions up to recently, when he removed to Cranbrook. He enlisted with the 225th Batt. but was not allowed to proceed overseas, receiving his discharge medically unfit. He was an active member of both the L.O.O.M. and K. of P. Lodges here. The funeral wil be held on Sunday afternoon at 2.30.

Mayor Henderson will again be a candidate for the Chief Magistrate's chair and there is very little chances of their being any opposition to his candidature. He has had a hard year of it, with the waterworks and sewer contracts, which entailed a tremendous amount of work. Then on top of all came the Home Bank failure, which tied up the City's funds when they were badly needed for the work under construction. Since the failure of the bank, Mr. Henderson has devoted a large amount of his time in fighting for 100 cents on the dollar for the depositors and his strenuous efforts has placed him high in the councils of the big men of the East who are carrying on the fight. The people of Fernie have certainly received service from Mayor Henderson and they owe him their hearty support if there should be any opposition in the coming elections.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Owen are visiting relatives at Invermere.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. J. Ewart Gee spent the Christmas holiday in Cranbrook.

The Ladies' Hockey Club held a very successful dance in Victoria Hall on Christmas night.

Miss Paterson and Miss DeCue ,of the Public School teaching staff, spent the holidays at the coast.

Work on the construction of the new Government bridge at Elko will soon be completed.

Jack Shand, of the Trites-Wood hardware staff, spent Christmas in Lethbridge.

Rev. Father Macastocker, a professor of Gonzaga College, Spokane, occupied the pulpit of the Roman Catholic Church on Christmas eve.

Have you tried our meat pies? If not you have missed a treat.—Crow's Nest Bakery. We will be open New Year's Day.

The annual dance of the Mount Fernie Chapter I. O. D. E. will be held on New Year's Eve, Monday, December 31, 1923. Good music.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Brok and son Wilfred, of Rexford, were in the city over Christmas, visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Biggs.

Mrs. E. Price left for her home in Lethbridge on Sunday evening after spending a week with friends in the city.

Chief of Provincial Police Greenwood has purchased the Harwood residence on Howland Avenue. The Harwoods have moved to Fred Clarkstone's residence on Baker Avenue.

The local Government Liquor Store did a business of over $4600 on the Monday preceding Christmas and $3000 on Saturday. This does not look very wise on the part of the people of Fernie, but it does not look like hard times either.

All members of the Loyal Order of Moose are requested to meet in Victoria Hall on Sunday, December 30, at 1.15 p.m. sharp, for the purpose of attending the funeral of Bro. R. J. Cooke, who died on Monday, December 24, at Cranbrook. The funeral will leave the Fernie Undertaking Parlors at 2 p.m. and proceed to the Olivet Baptist Church.

The staff of the Fernie Hospital, on behalf of themselves and patients, wish to thank the Fernie Musical Society for singing carols on Christmas eve; W. A. Ingram for Christmas tree for men's ward; Lou Bing for turkey; Crow's Nest Trading Co. and N. E. Suddaby for chocolates and all others who helped bring Christmas cheer. They also wish to take this opportunity to thank Mr .and Mrs. George Paton for gift of a splendid wheel chair to the institution and all others who on various occasions have shown kindness by donations of flowers, candy, fruit, etc.

On Thursday last, the thirten-year-old son of O. A. Abbey, of Newgate, met with a terrible accident which cost him his life. The young lad was playing around his father's saw mill and in some way fell up against a circular saw. The saw caught his leg at the knee and cut right through. The injured lad was rushed to Eureka, but nothing could be done for him there and he was taken on to Spokane. The leg was amuptated just above the knee, but gangrene having set in, it was necessary to amputate again, higher up. The boy died while under the second operation. The body was brought home on Monday, the funeral taking place at the Roosville cemetery.

ETHER SPEEDS PLANT GROWTH

Useful plants will not be allowed to finish their long winter sleep, if a discovery just announced by Prof. David Lumsden, of the Federal Horticultural Board, becomes the common property of nurserymen, amateur and professional gardeners, and even farmers. He has found that if given a "shot of dope," either by the inhalation or hypodermic method, they may be awakened as if by an alarm clock and set to their work of growing and producing flowers or fruit. His discovery is outlined as follows in Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin (Washington):

"The drug used in his experiments was the common ether of the hospital operating-room, but instead of putting his plant subjects to sleep, it woke them up. They liked it and seemed to thrive after just one treatment. For example, some plants were taken from outdoors in midwinter, when they had to be dug from the frozen ground with picks, were given an overnight debauch, and the next morning shoots of an average length of one-eighth of an inch had sprouted. Kept indoors they continued to grow, and flowers were produced weeks in advance of the usual blossoming season.

"Roses were taken from the frozen ground and given a hypodermic injection of the same drug. Not only did they sprout and grow, but, more important still to the indoor gardener, they were immune to all the ordinary plant diseases that make indoor rose culture a practical impossibility except in large greenhouses. Professor Lumsden has had roses in February, just six weeks from the time the plant was given its stimulating injection.

"Only a very small quantity of ether is needed. In the inhalation method the plants are put in an airtight chamber containing 27 cubic feet of space. About a tablespoonful of ether is then introduced, and the chamber is sealed. Only about twelve hours' exposure to the fumes is needed, and then the little plants are wide awake and growing."

The plan of procedure is then described:

"In the hypodermic method, Professor Lumsden made use of a woman's hatpin. With this a puncture about a quarter of an inch deep was made at the base of the stem of the plant where it joins the root. Then an ordinary hypodermic needle was introduced and half of one cubic centimeter of ether injected. This is the method which was generally used with woody plants, such as roses or lilacs.

"One of the important applications of this whole process, according to Professor Lumsden, is that using either method of drugging the plant, every single latent bud or shoot is brought to life. That is not nature's way, as usually only one of three or four ever grows.

"This may mean much in the culture of plants such as dahlias or potatoes, which are grown from tubers. If every latent bud on these tubers could be made to grow, they could be cut into small pieces, and expense of seed saved. What is more, Dr. Lumsden believes that the plants would be more vigorous.

"He is working now to see if these ether treatments, especially the hypodermic sort, do not impart a lasting vigor to the plant, enabling it to resist disease. His experiments with roses strongly indicate this. If they are confirmed, ether 'shots' will with plants take the place of the various forms of vaccinations to which the would-be-healthy human is now subjected.

"Finally, there is a mystery in this whole affair which science may some day solve, but of which it now knows little. Ether temporarily stimulates and then profoundly depresses all animal life. With plant life in moderate doses it is apparently all stimulation with no depression and no injurious after-effects, but instead a lifelong increase in strength and endurance. If science can learn why this is so, much will be thrown, Professor Lumsden says, upon the secrets of physiological growth."

The age-old juvenile contention that the Saturday night bath is an absurd and superfluous customs is supported by the authority of Dr. Altenburg, professor of biology in Rice Institute, Houston Texas. "Bathing," Dr. Altenburg told his class, "is just a concession to custom. It is just a fad and one bathes only for the social prestige derived and not for his physical welfare." People have the idea that poisons of the body are thrown off through the pores in their skin which must be kept open by bathing. "If bathing were necessary for good health, 90 per cent. of the people today would be on the edge of the grave." The "tub" is likely to remain a household feature long after the Texas professor is forgotten.

CLEVER CORNELIUS

Elihu Root tells of a case which in cleverness compares favorably with the famous judgment of Solomon and the remarkable decisions of those old Oriental cadis. A farmer in Mr. Root's native Clinton died, leaving seventeen live turkeys to be divided among his three sons as follows: To the oldest son one-half; to the second, one-third; and to the third, one-ninth. This would figure out 8 1-2, 5 2-3 and 1 8-9 respectively. The outlook for some of those turks was decidedly sanguinary; but before an axe was raised a local lawyer, Cornelius Husk, was asked to try his hand at the problem. He settled it neatly and without bloodshed. Driving one of his own turkeys into the yard with the seventeen, he called out the brothers and bade the eldest to take his half; which he did, taking nine; the second for his third took six and the remaining brother for his ninth took two. Thus each son apparently got more than he expected, and the lawyer drove his own turkey home again.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

The heaviest buyer of Canadian wheat flour during the year ending March 31st, 1923, was the United Kingdom, which during the past fiscal year imported 4,723,527 barrels, valued at $27,174,526, compared with 4,737,020 barrels, valued at $33,943,408 in 1922 and 2,746,780 barrels, valued at $28,896,091, in 1921. Newfoundland purchased last year 373,745 barrels, valued at $2,635,778. There has been little change in the quantity and value of exports to Newfoundland since 1921, in each year the quantity being over 300,000 barrels, and the value in excess of $3,000,000. British Guiana last year imported 161,102 barrels, valued at $1,076,752, compared with 141,103 barrels, valued at $1,161,564, in the previous year. Exports to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago totalled 434,402 barrels, valued at $2,738,551, as against 363,036 barrels, valued at $2,901,881, in the preceding fiscal year.

A statement of animal exports from Canada for the month of October this year, as issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, shows that, in spite of the tariff, there was a big business that month with the United States. A total of 14,171 cattle over one year old and valued at $507,312 were shipped to the United States in October, while only 4220 of the same age, valued at $157,480, were shipped to Great Britain. Also 1650 cattle of one year old or less were shipped to the United States. They were valued at $15,851.

In 1903 Canada supplied 85 per cent. of the total cheese imported into the United Kingdom, leaving 32 per cent. for all other countries and all other kinds of cheese. Canada's position in the butter trade has never been so strong as it has in the cheese There are two reasons for this. First, because while our cheese has for many years stood at the top as regards quality, our butter has never been able to command a similar position. We have always had to take second place in the matter of quality. Denmark, Holland, France and more recently New Zealand have led us in that respect.

The Canadian Paper Industry can now turn out 4000 tons of paper daily and pays $30,000,000 annually in wages. During the year the value of forest products exported amounted to $164,000,000.

Startling facts regarding the depopulation of France have just been revealed. In 1921 the country's birth rate decreased by 21,000; in 1922, by 53,000; and it is estimated that this year's rate will be less by 65,000. In the year 1850, France was the most populous of the great powers. Now she is the least populous. Since 1914 France's population has decreased by 3,500,000—1,500,000 slain in battle and 2,000,000 decrease in births. To remedy this alarming condition, many prominent French writers, including George Anquetil, have openly advocated polygamy. Many reasons are offered as to the cause of the decreased birth rate. "Frenchmen want their children to be born rich," says one writer; "that is why they have so few."

It is estimated that more than five billion bushels of potatoes were harvested last year, exclusive of Russia and the many small patches grown in gardens for home use the world over. Germany is the world's largest producer of potatoes, producing 1,494,181,000 bushels last year. The United States produced 451,185,00 bushels.

Canada Lures World-famous Stars

That the two-fold attraction of Canada's audiences and Canada's scenic and climatic allurements, especially at Banff, is proving irresistible to many great concert, theatrical and movie stars is well brought out by the sheaf of photographs reproduced above, which represents some of the famous artists who have recently visited Canada.

The majority of the originals of these pictures need no introductions to Canadians. Sophie Breslau, that brilliant contralto singer, who is shown about to start her tour of this country from the Canadian Pacific Railway's Windsor Station, Montreal, made a great hit everywhere. Dame Clara Butt retains her place in the hearts of British audiences. Galli Curci's golden voice has enraptured millions. Elsie Janis, internationally known impersonator, and her 'Momma' foregathered with the Mountie at the C. P. R. station at Banff and got a big thrill. Jack Holt, famous movie star, snapped off duty among the Indians at Banff, is lyrical on the subject of Canadian scenery. Jascha Heifetz was on his way to the Orient when he posed for the Canadian Pacific camera-man. The perennial Pavlowa expresses her appreciation of services rendered aboard the 'Empress of France'. Doug and Mary had the time of their young lives holidaying at the Canadian Pacific hotel at Banff, where the picture reproduced was taken.

GIVING THE TRICKS AWAY

One striking result of the enquiry into charges against members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will be a decided reduction in the ability of that body to deal efficiently with the dope traffic, for the simple reason that all the methods and tricks whereby evidence was secured, have been exposed prodigally to the public.

Uniformed policemen prevent crime in their immediate neighborhood. They cannot detect it because the criminal is warned by their uniforms, to operate only where they are not. A uniformed policeman is nothing more or less than a moving safety zone for the public.

The plain clothes detective, working against the illicit drug traffic, is effective in proporton to the degree in which he is unknown. Once a detective becomes known to the criminal element, and once his methods of securing evidence are exposed, he begins to function exactly as the uniformed man. He is a safety zone, but outside his range of vision, crime goes on as usual.

The only way any police force can operate successfully against crime is by secret methods, guarded jealously from the public. So that the wide powers incidental to these secret methods may not be abused, detectives must be under strict control of officers and an organization that merit and have the utmost confidence of the public.

Until new methods of attack are formulated by the R.C.M.P. an open season for drug peddlers will prevail. —Vancouver Sun.

WILL GLOWING WALLS LIGHT OUR ROOMS?

Cold light, a product of future science, will allow illumination of rooms by means of a soft glow emanating from its walls, Prof. J. H. Mathews, of the University of Wisconsin, predicts in Industrial Engineering Chemistry. Our quotation below is from Science Service's Daily Science News Bulletin (Washington). Says Prof. Mathews:

"Our modern lighting methods, in which visual radiation is produced by heating bodies to incandescence, are naturally very wasteful, since a large amount of energy is lost as temperature radiation. The firefly and glow worm have solved the problem somewhat better, though we humans would scarcely be satisfied with either of these ligthing systems. The firefly produces susbstances which by exidation produce light with little or no temperature radiation. We must at least admire his efficiency. What the firefly can do, man should be able to do, and far better. Undoubtedly, the time will come when light will be produced by controlled chemical reaction, and in a more economical way than by the systems now in use. In one direction considerable improvement may be made, at least. Little expert knowledge is now used in the selection of paints and wall coverings in room interiors. Much of the light absorbed and wasted may be saved and used by reflection, simply by a proper choice of wall covering. In addition there is the possibility of using materials that will emit light for many hours after receiving illumination during the day. It is felt that, in spite of all the excellent work done on phosphorescent sulfids, there is distinctly a great field for research along this line."

Here and There

Sixty per cent of Hamilton's population own their own homes, a fact revealed by the figures of the 1923 assessment for the Ontario city, which, according to these figures, has 26,259 dwellings and 457 apartments.

The great flour movement over the wharves at Fort William and Port Arthur this season has been unprecedented, according to reports of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which, by the end of October, had shipped 239,085 tons of flour to lower Lake ports.

Port Arthur's building permits for the ten months ending October showed a total of $2,632,055, which is the biggest building year in the history of this Ontario city, exceeding even the total for 1921, one of the real estate boom years.

Canada exported $4,778,000 worth of cheese to various countries during the month of October, an increase of $1,224,000, over the total value of cheese exported in October, 1922. The United Kingdom was by far the largest consumer, taking 215,000 cwt., valued at $4,634,000.

According to an announcement of Hon. E. H. Armstrong, Premier of Nova Scotia and Minister of Mines, the coal production of his province for this year will reach at least 6,200,000 tons, an increase over last year's production of 4,642,196 tons of more than 1,500,000 tons. The outlook for 1924 is encouraging.

The Prince of Wales, unless interfered with by affairs of state, intends to make annual visits to his Alberta ranch, William Carlyle, superintendent of the E. P. Ranch, told the members of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists in addressing them at Toronto recently.

Fur traders in the distant parts of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, ordinarily weeks and months from mail service, are now getting regular quotations on furs from the Calgary Herald's radio broadcasting service.

The annual winter carnival at Banff, which is yearly becoming more popular and is attracting sporting enthusiasts from all parts of the continent, will be held February 2-9, 1924, while the Banff annual bonspiel will take place February 4-9.

According to estimates made by the Rt. Rev. Dr. G. Exton Lloyd, Bishop of Saskatchewan, that province has room for another empire north of Prince Albert and North Battleford. The bishop has just completed a six weeks' tour of the limits of settlement in his diocese, covering 2,400 miles, and estimates that homes and livings for 250,000 could be provided in the country referred to.

The adverse balance of grain shipments through Canadian as against United States ports is being steadily reduced, according to statistics compiled by the Marine Department. In 1916 only 91,082,702 bushels of Canadian grain were shipped through Dominion ports, where as 165,949,989 bushels were shipped through the States. The figures for 1923, up to September 1st, on the other hand, show that Canada now ships nearly half her grain through her own ports. During this period the amount registered has been 108,548,485 bushels despatched via Canadian ports and 120,628,438 via those of the United States.

DEFENDS B.C. ROAD POLICY

Asserting that the government had a road program which, while it may take some years to complete, will, he considered, meet the demands of the public, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, in the Legislature the other week, maintained that the present Liberal administraton has in mind the welfare of the people of the Province.

The minister would have not taken part in the debate had it not been for the criticism of Mr. W. A. McKenzie, Conservative member for Similkameen on Tuesday, when the latter roundly attacked the works department and its alleged failure to carry out a carefully prepared road policy.

The minister, wthout beng definite, admitted that the present system of maintaining the Island Highway was not proving satisfactory and he said that possible steps would be taken towards keeping that road oiled. As for hard-surface on the highway, it might eventually become necessary but he did not promise it. He promised consideration of the West Coast road but just how far the government proposed to go, he did not state.

On the much-discussed interprovincial highway to connect the coast and interior roadway systems, and which has given much opportunity for discussion in the House, the minister's pronouncement was again indefinite.

"Te one announcement you are all looking for," said the minister, "is in respect to the interprovincial highway.

"We have the engineers' reports and have careful estimates made. The advantages and disadvantages have been weighed. Negotiations are still going on and I hope to secure some assistance from the Federal Government. We have our minds made up that the road will be started but there is no advantage at this point, in view of the diverse opinions, to make any announcement."

Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative, South Okanagan: Is the government determined to build that road even in the event that the Federal Government does not make a grant?

The Minister made no reply, but an inclination of his head might be construed into assent or dissent.

The Minister of Public Works took up at length Mr. W. A. McKenzie's criticisms of the government's course in the construction of the science building at the University of British Columbia, the acute mental hospital at Essondale, and other public works. With respect to the University addition he stated that under the system adopted the Ryan Construction Company was being paid ten per cent for supervision up to $600,000 of the cost, and no percentage would be paid on any excess over that amount. It was not intended to exceed the estimate of total cost of $715,000. The contractors were supplying plant, equipment and tools, and their overhead expenses are approximately $1000 a month, so that the profit of $60,000 on the job figured out by the member for Similkameen will not be received. He claimed there would be a saving by virtue of the aerial tram installed by the government, a saving that would repay all the cost of that work; that the costs being paid showed the building was being economically constructed. There had been changes necessitated by the increased attendance of students, but taken by and large, the Minister maintained, the recommendations made by the university authorities were based upon common sense, and the cost-plus system adopted had proved advantageous in that the changes made would have involved extras which, under the straight contract system, would have cost very much more. If the building were completed next Fall the contractor might make a fair profit; if it went through the Winter he would receive little. Up to date the Ryan Company had saved some $13,000 in commissions. Complete audits from time to time had been made by the Comptroller-General, and these showed that materials used had been adequately checked up as well as the books of the company and the government and all labor conditions.

"I thing the government is safe under this arrangement. As far as I can learn the university authorities are convinced we are building at the lowest cost to the people of this Province," declared the Minister to Liberal applause.

Relative to the opposition criticisms anent the excessive cost of the acute mental hospital at Essondale and the charge that too expensive materials were installed there, Hon. Dr. Sutherland pointed out tenders had been called for before he took office He had decided that money could be saved, and had given instructions to that end. The mahogany doors complained of were in line with the other buildings erected under the late government. The doors cost on the average one dollar more than the ordinary doors; the cement floor suggested by the member for Similkameen as a substitute for the present maple floors were not medically acceptable, and the complaint anent the type of locks had no force because the design adopted was in line with all such institutions and added to the safety of the staff in dealing with mentally afflicted inmates. As to the complaint that too much steel was used in the building, that might be true, but to bring in structural engineers to report upon that point would have cost three per cent of the entire cost of the building ,and the ultimate result would have been a cost in excess of that occasioned by continuing the specifications. But, the Minister claimed, there had been a savng through changes ordered by him in the original plans

On the general policies of the Department of Works the Minister referred to "some of these unsigned circulars going about the country." These statements, he declared, were unjust, and to prove it he referred to works undertaken at Stewart where a saving was made by building a roadway rather than replace an old wharf; to the Quesnel dam, in connection with which, he asserted, the individual who had "sent that dope to the Third Party" had later gone to the Provincial Engineer and apologized and promised to send in accurate information. He did not expect The Searchlight to publish that corrected information. Once they did so their cause would be lost, he said.

The Minister took up a number of opposition criticisms relative to road work in the interior sections, and declared he had no apologies for the system pursued. The present system is the standard one adopted by the various provinces and approved by the Federal Government under its system of highway aid. He said the maintenance vote today was about one-half of that under the late Conservative government dsepite the vast increase in motor traffic.

"It is proposed to carry out a system of permanent improvements on the trunk roads of the Province," said the Minister, "as well as a system of lateral settlement roads.

"We have in mind building a road up the West Coast of Vancouver Island, though I am not convinced it will be necessary for a year or two," said the Minister. "I have no set ideas on the matter, but if it is one we can advantageously proceed with we should take action."

RAILWAY USES ELECTRIC CAR

THE first storage battery electrically driven car used by railways in Western Canada has been placed in service between Winnipeg and Transcona by the Canadian National Railways, whose shops at Transcona employ some 2,400 men, many of whom reside in Winnipeg, travelling back and forth morning and evening. Others reside in Transcona with their families, but do their shopping and other business in Winnipeg. The inauguration of the new electric car service gives a regular schedule of runs daily which can be operated by the railway company much more economically than under the former system of operating extra passenger trains several times daily. The new car was converted from a gasoline-electric car at the St. Catherines shops of the Canadian National. It is of solid steel construction throughout with four-wheeled ball bearing trucks. The length is 63 feet over all and accommodation is provided for 100 passengers. One end of the car is reserved as a smoking compartment. The car is capable of maintaining a speed of 40 miles per hour on level track and makes the one-way trip between Winnipeg and Transcona in 15 minutes.

BETTER DAYS IN THE RUHR DISTRICT

It appears that the situation in the Ruhr district is improving. The German Government is no longer able to pay the artisans for refusing to work; the owners of the industries are in a position to pay them for working, and France is trying to make the conditions agreeable for the employers. Proprietors and managers who were banished or imprisoned for their interference with the French operations have been released and allowed to return to their places of business, with the understanding that they will co-operate with the French in restoring productive activity.

If this understanding can be carried out, France will receive a certain share of the products. The quantity left for the profit of the operator may still be considerable. At least there will be enough to provide an adequate wage fund for workmen whose families are destitute. Moreover, there will again be a supply of raw materials for German industries elsewhere.

Hope is held out that if the German employers and workers resume their former activities and make their fair contributions to France, the main body of the army will disappear, so that the occupation will be invisible, and the residents will no longer work under the menace of foreign soldiers. It may be that this prospect is too hopeful, but it ought to be true. For the establishment of order and peaceful industry in the Ruhr district would be a long step in the way of a new and improved international situation.

If industrial activites and orderly conditions are restored in the Ruhr district Berlin will have very little to do wth it. The industrial magnates in the district will be mainly responsible for the change. With them it is a question of business. The Ruhr industries are the base of their industrial activities elsewhere. The time seems to have come when these masters of industry, commerce and finance must, in their own interests, promote the resumption of business. They are taking it up directly with the French authorities and are trying to carry it to a conclusion without regard to the national government.—Vancouver Province.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise —no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. B. Johnson, 579 McDermot Ave., Winnipeg, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Help the Veterans

Try this new patience

The Poster-Judging Competition now being conducted in Canada for the benefit of the Veterans' Associations is one of the most fascinating of games. On the ticket-folder which donors of $1.20 are presented with, sixteen of the most famous posters of BOVRIL are reproduced in colors.

Which are the 12 best, in order of merit, is what you must decide. The folder shows just what you must do and how to do it.

It is an interesting trial of taste and judgment to class these posters in the order which popular fancy will endorse. It is a real game which can be played over and over again, and in which all the family can join and which will interest visitors, be they young or old.

And just think of the possible reward? A Prize which is a real fortune—and you help an excellent cause.

You can make as many trials as you like—for every donation of $1.20 one ticket-folder is presented, thus $12.00 secures 10 folders—though only one prize will be given to one person.

BOVRIL LIMITED has donated £30,000, about $138,888, which has been divided into 2,003 prizes. The first three are approximately as follows:

1st Prize, $55,555.00
2nd " 13,888.00
3rd " 4,555.00

Send donations to any of the following organizations or their branches which are actively interested and ask your help:

The New Ford Coupe

An entirely new body design of remarkable beauty as well as practical utility, is the distinguishing feature of the new Ford Coupe.

The body lines follow in one graceful sweep from the new high radiator to the "Turtle-back" curve of the rear deck, which has been enlarged to conveniently accommodate bulky grips and packages.

Upholstering is luxuriously deep both in the seat and back, the covering being of rich brown broadcloth with mahogany stripe. A recess shelf is provided behind the seat, for parcels.

Interior fittings include revolving window regulators, and door locks and handles finished in nickel. The large rear window is fitted with silk poplin shade in dull silvered mountings.

The windshield is surmounted by a broad sun-visor, which protects the eyes from glare.

As a handsome and practical all-weather car for town or country, the new Ford Coupe cannot be surpassed.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir—Will you please insert another letter from me, regarding the Doctors' Question. I feel I should make myself more plainer than I did before.

Our men voted for the executive and committee to work in the miners' interests. Instead, they have turned around on the miners and gone against the rules of the organization they are representing to satisfy their own selfish ends because a few of them have a grouch against the old Doctors. They say they have no animosity towards the Doctors, but actions speak louder than words.

Now, who has had to pay for all this animosity? Why, the miners, of course. This committee have used the miners' money to take away their individual rights instead of saving it to help fight for the miners to get their rghts.

The reason I am complaining is because, during strikes, I have to go out to work (like lots of other women) to help keep the wolf from the door. I have never complained, because I have always thought that I was helping to bear the miners' burdens, but when we know that our men's hard earned money is being spent in waste by their fellow men and then these same men advertise it on the notice board it is time something is done. Second, I would like to point out how unbusinesslike it is to want the miners to sign a contract they don't know one thing about. I think if the committee men and executive were having any dealings through a lawyer they would want to know all particulars before they put their signature to anything, and the miners have those same rights. And also they have a right to a referendum vote.

This question is a very serious one from many points and I for one think that even now the men should look into it and try and get a referendum vote.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation, I remain, yours respectfully,
A Miner's Wife.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

We are constrained to disagree wholly and absolutely with the Attorney-General in his defence of his action in divulging to the Legislature the amount of income tax assessed on an individual in the Province. Possibly there are no legal restrictions against such publicity, and in any case the Legislature is a privileged place where there is both liberty and licence in speech, but even in the Legislature there are certain things that there is an unwritten law against. What may be defended on sheerly technical and legal grounds is often immoral. Even a Legislature ought to have a code of ethics which it should guard jealously. According to the Attorney-General, anyone has a right to know what a citizen pays on income. In our ignorance—an ignorance which is shared by those who still retain such vestiges of self respect that they do not wish the trustees of the people to pillory the individual for the gratification of party passion by the publication of matter which is the result of information given in strict confidence—it seems to us that to put the mildest construction on what has been done is to call it a policital and personal blunder. It was wholly uncalled for and lays the ethics of government open to reproach in the minds of individuals who believe that there ars such things left as individual rights. We reiterate that the only effect of what has been done will be for the people to lose the good faith which they formerly reposed in the Government in its relations with the individual in such a matter as income tax, and the sense of confidence in other matters must also suffer a diminution.
—The Colonist.

RUSSIA PLAYED CHILDISH TRICK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — Diplomatic relations between the United States government and the soviet government of Russia are far from being resumed. The fact that the Russians seem so exercised over Secretary Hughes' disclosures is interesting, but officials do not observes the soviet disavowing the third internationale or denouncing its doctrines.

Judging by the comment which the episode has brought out, the public has missed one point that has not failed to rouse indignation in inner circles here. It relates to the Russian offer to recognize certain debts due America since the czar's regime. The sugestion seemed as if the Russians were beginning to meet the American government half way, but coupled with their offer is a demand that the United States reciprocate by paying damages for the occupation of Russian territory, both in Siberia and in the Archangel region.

The Russians have been figuring it out that for American consumption they would recognize the war debt, but would turn around and in the same offer demand enough for the occupation of Russian territory to in effect cancel the bill.

Coming on top of the American effort to save the Russian people from starvation the last Russian proposal to charge the United States for occupying Russian territory during the war is considered one of the most ungrateful acts in the history of international relations.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.
