Springless Truss and Supporters.

Prof. G. W. HOTCHKIN

Will visit the following places again:

GUELPH, Wellington Hotel, January 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1886.

Prof. Hotchkin's treatment is practical, rational and economical. Its object is immediate relief and eventual cure. It is based on scientific principles and easily demonstrated to the comprehension of every intelligent person, that a truss without steel springs or hard substance, having healed Inguinal and Umbilical as well as Varicocele, at the advanced ages respectively of from 63 and 95 years, must and will stand the test against all Spring Trusses for children as well as adults. Prof. Hotchkin having had 30 years' experience has become master of his profession, and DEFIES the Hernia he cannot hold in its place.

Prof. Hotchkin has invented an apparatus to hold the piles in their proper place, which has been as successful as his other inventions. Go and see for yourselves.

Prof. Hotchkin's post office address is Albion, Orleans Co., N. Y. 29w 19d&wtd

BOARD AND ROOMS—Ladies and Gentlemen can have comfortable rooms and board by applying at the corner of Dublin street and Waterloo Avenue.

To the Municipal Electors of the City of Guelph.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—Having been nominated for the position of Mayor for 1886, I now place myself at your disposal, and respectfully ask your vote and influence. It has been urged on me by many prominent ratepayers that a more vigorous policy in the conduct of our municipal affairs should be entered upon and that the majority of ratepayers entertained this opinion. With this object in view I have consented to become a candidate, and if elected shall do all I can to meet the wishes of all those who desire that our city shall prosper. In consequence of being called away from the nomination meeting, I had not an opportunity of stating more fully my views on public questions, as on my return I found that nearly all the electors had left the hall. You have my past record before you, and I think I may safely challenge the fullest criticism of my public career. As I have done in the past, so shall I continue in the discharge of any public duty, and in no case would fear, favor or partiality influence my conduct in the administration of the by-laws of the city or the statutory enactments of parliament. While in the council I for years held the position of Finance Chairman, and I am thoroughly conversant with the financial affairs of the city. I am of opinion that a change could be made in the near future which would—providing no further increase was made in the annual expenditure—ease off the burden of taxation, which is by many thought to be oppressive.

I think early attention should be directed to obtaining some definite understanding with reference to the proposed Credit Valley Railway junction, and it would be my earnest endeavor to bring this matter before the ratepayers in some tangible shape, so as to remove the uncertainty which exists with reference to that scheme. My experience in connection with the water works would be at the disposal of the council, and would at all times be willingly given. The same may be said of all the other committees.

I have, in former years, been most successful in promoting such legislation as the city required, and feel certain that in no case would your interests be prejudiced by any neglect on my part.

In conclusion, if it is the wish of a majority of the electors that I shall be mayor for the coming year, I can assure you that I shall, to the best of my ability and all honesty of purpose, discharge the duties without prejudice to any individual or association of individuals, and only for the best interests of the city, having at all times the courage of my convictions on any question which may arise.

I am,
Very truly yours,

GEORGE HOWARD.

Betrayed and Deserted.

A Toronto despatch of Thursday night says:—Adelaide Davis, a domestic servant, came here about three months ago from Sarnia, without the knowledge of her parents. She has been despondent of late, and this afternoon she was found dead in the rooms of J. Sutherland, commercial traveller, with whom she has been keeping company. She had poisoned herself. She was about 23 years of age. She left a note saying no blame was attached to Sutherland, but that she had taken her life because she was in trouble. Sutherland has been arrested.

At the inquest held on Friday a sad history was revealed of betrayal and seduction, and the subsequent shame of the unfortunate girl, who rather than meet her aged father swallowed the fatal dose. Sutherland, in whose room Miss Davis died, was completely absolved of any criminality. He was regarded by the suicide as a friend.

W. H. CUTTEN is a candidate for alderman in St. Andrew's Ward.

THE Palmerston Vindicator has been enlarged. It is clearly printed and looks well in its enlarged form.

THE annual oyster supper of Court Perseverance No. 5866, (A. O. F.) will be held on Wednesday, January 13th.

NEW YEAR'S DAY passed off very quietly yesterday. There were few outside attractions and the majority of the citizens spent the day at their own firesides.

PROF. G. W. HOTCHKIN, the celebrated and successful springless truss man arrived at the Wellington Hotel yesterday and will remain for a few days.

LAST winter or spring a son of Mr. Dalgleish, of Teeswater, was struck on the head by a lump of ice while snowballing with a companion, and from the effects of the blow he died a few days ago.

THIS year is to be Her Gracious Majesty's jubilee, and the good lady proposes to, in honor of the event, dispense Knighthood to the Mayors of all British and colonial cities of a population of over forty thousand.

SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD.—Mr. P. Downey has resigned as a candidate for election to the Separate School Board in St. Patrick's Ward, consequently all the members nominated are elected by acclamation. The following will compose the Board of 1886:—Dr. Nunan, C. Kloepfer, Jas. Mays, James Ryan, James Keough and F. Devlin.

THE London Free Press has issued one of the most showy lithograph calendars we have ever received. Its brilliant appearance and splendid artistic merit would almost lead us to think it did not emerge from that backwoods settlement. But we know the F. P. has material and talent in its job room second to none in the Dominion, whatever may be said of its editorial pages.

RHUBARB IN JANUARY.—Mr. J. A. Angell, engineer at the Agricultural College, brought to this office to-dry some half dozen stalks of rhubarb, over a foot in length, grown in his cellar. The plants were put there only about a month ago, pretty much as an experiment, and the result shows conclusively what can be attained with vegetables of this kind through careful attention.

ARKELL.—The pupils of the Arkell Public School are again to the front in the entrance examination. The two highest on the list of passed candidates are Miss Hume and Miss Murray, both from that school. A year ago Miss Isles from the same school made the highest number of marks. The people of Marden are to be congratulated on having secured the services of such an able and successful teacher as Mr Mackenzie has proved himbe in Arkell.

HYMENEAL.—A large and fashionable audience was present at Chalmers' church, Woodstock, on Wednesday, 30th December, to witness the nuptials of Rev. W. S. McTavish, of St. George, formerly of Nassagaweya, to Maggie, second daughter of Rev. W. A. McKay, Woodstock. The bridesmaids were Miss Jessie McKay, of Woodstock; Miss Alice McKay, of St. Mary's, and Miss C. J. McTavish, of Nassagaweya. The groom was supported by Rev. W. H. Boyle, of Paris, Mr. Jas. McTavish, of Acton, and Mr. John McKay, of Woodstock. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, assisted by the Revs. P. R. Ross, of Ingersoll, Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, Wm. Robertson, of Chesterfield, and W. T. McMullen, of Woodstock. After the young couple had received the congratulations of the invited guests, all sat down to a tempting dejeuner, after which toasts appropriate to the occasion were proposed and suitably responded to. Over eighty valuable presents testified to the esteem in which the bride is held. The bridal party took the evening train for the east, followed by the best wishes of their numerous friends.

THE usual watchnight services were held on New Year's Eve in the Methodist churches, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and St. George's church. Large congregations were present.

WE are glad to announce that Rev. Dr. Williams, General Superintendent, is steadily regaining his strength and hopes soon to be about again, though it will be some weeks at least before it will be prudent for him to undertake any severe labor.—Christian Guardian.

AN open meeting is to be held in the Grange Hall, Eden Mills, to discuss the advisability of starting a creamery on the co-operative system. Plans will be proposed and the matter thoroughly overhauled.

THE ELECTION ON MONDAY.—Mr. Stevenson requests us to say to those of his friends who have conveyances, and who are willing to assist him at the polls on Monday, that he will be obliged if they turn out their teams early at the polling places in their respective Wards, and do all they can to bring in voters.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—On New Year's Eve the Fire Department held their annual ball and supper at which a very enjoyable time was spent. Over eighty couple were present and participated in the mazy dance to the excellent music of the City Band orchestra. The supper was got up at the Central Hotel by Mrs. Doran, and was first-class. The party broke up about three o'clock.

SALVATION ARMY.—At midnight on Thursday the Salvation Army paraded the streets after services in the barracks. On Friday evening a banquet and jubilee was held, in which Commissioner Coombs, Capt. Aggie Cowan, and other officers took part. There was a large turn out of officers and soldiers from other corps. The banquet and jubilee was fully up to that of last year, the building being packed to the doors. The meeting was kept up to nearly twelve o'clock.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.—The Professors of the Agricultural College will have their hands full for some time in connection with Farmers Institutes. On Monday President Mills and Prof. Panton go east and Prof. Brown and Dr. Grenside west, to assist in holding meetings for the benefit of those institutes. They will be absent until the 23rd of January.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At the regular meeting of Court Perseverance, No. 5866, Ancient Order of Foresters, held on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:—C. R., H. Nicholson, P. C. R.; Sub-Chief, Robert Earon; Treas., W. Marcroft; Secretary, R. Howie, P. C. R.; Sub-Secretary, F. Armstrong, P. C. R.; S. W., Chas. Ryde; J. W., Robert Robinson; S. B., Geo. Opening New Rooms, and New Year's Day Reception.

The young men of the Christian Association, who have for some years had their rooms on Upper Wyndham street, have removed to their new quarters on Macdonnell street, one door from W. G. Smith's drug store, and yesterday held their re-opening. The rooms are very nicely laid out, being admirably adapted for the work of the Association. Upon entering the rooms you are ushered into the handsome reading room, beautifully papered and carpeted. Pictures, curtains, etc., about the rooms show at once to the eye of the critic that the hands of the ladies' committee has been at work adding to the tasty arrangement of the rooms. Adjoining the reading room is the parlor-library to the front, and the Secretary's office to the back, both of which have been thoroughly refitted throughout.

The rooms were formally opened yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. After devotional exercises the secretary, George Webb, made a few remarks, and called upon Prof. Panton, of the O. A. C., who gave a very interesting and encouraging address. The ladies' committee were present in compliment, and took charge of the building and the work of entertaining the young men. Refreshments were served from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 in the evening, during which time nearly 100 callers were received. A piano was loaned by Mr. McLean, which, under the touch of Mr. McRoberts, added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion, which was, without exception, the most successful reception held by the Association for a long time.

Guelph Gun Club.

The Guelph Gun Club had their annual shoot for the Gun Club medal, on New Year's day, at the base ball grounds. It was agreed that each man, after missing three birds should retire. It will be seen by the subjoined score that J. Sutton, Dr. Howitt, and F. J. Chadwick retired at the earliest possible moment.

Re-election of Prof. Foster.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 1.—All the districts in King's but two have been heard from. Mr. Foster's majority is 322.

Two Fatal Accidents.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 1.—James King fell out of his bedroom window last night and was killed. Barney McCloskey was struck on the head by a falling wrench and received fatal injuries.

A Missionary in Danger.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The king of Mombasa, in Central Africa, has seized Bishop Hannington, who has been engaged in missionary service, and will probably put him to death. No reason is given for the king's action.

The Bank President is Missing.

CLINTON, Mass., Jan. 1.—The Lancaster National bank closed the doors last night after a searching examination of the books of the directors. President W. H. McNeill is missing. He is charged with having used the bank's money for speculative enterprises in which he was interested.

A Missing Woman's Body Found.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 4.—The body of the missing Aggie Fuke, the woman that had a quarrel with her husband and disappeared so mysteriously some two months ago, was seen through the ice today by a party of boys skating on Pinafore lake. The ice was cut away and the body recovered.

An Aged Couple Burned to Death.

PERTH, Ont., Jan. 1.—An old man named Robert Mallan and his wife, who lived in a hovel near the eastern limits of the corporation, have been burnt to a crisp. Their dwelling having caught fire from the inside, the couple being very old and helpless, it is supposed were smothered by smoke before they could give the alarm or help themselves. The firemen turned out, but too late to accomplish anything. The few bones left were removed to the lock-up to await proper burial. Mr Mallan was over 90 years of age, and had recently refused to be removed to the county jail for safe keeping.

Spanish Republicans Bestirring Themselves.

MADRID, Jan. 1.—At a banquet given by republicans in honor of Senor Zorilla, the speakers, representing a majority of those present, urged a revolution against the government. The minority, headed by Senor Salmeron, an eminent republican leader, protested against violence and strongly urged that help be sought from the moderates. A band of republican revolutionists made an attempt to-day to destroy the railway bridge in the Sierra Morena mountains. Five members of the band have been arrested. It is reported that several persons have been arrested and imprisoned at Cuidad Real on suspicion of being implicated in a revolutionary conspiracy.

Jerry Travis's Justice.

CALGARY, Dec 30.—The sentence in the Cayley case was delivered yesterday before a densely packed court room. The Judge said the case had given him great anxiety, and affirmed the belief that Cayley was at heart disposed to be conciliatory, but that he had been urged on by ill-advisers and wicked men. In order that these men should bear the penalty instead of Cayley, he imposed a sentence of $400 fine, $100 counsel fee to the Crown prosecutor, and costs, to be paid by Monday next, failing which Cayley would be sentenced to three months' imprisonment and $200 fine, and if the fines are not paid at the expiration of three months that the prisoner remain in jail until paid. The people are anxious to pay the fine, but Cayley refuses. He will go to prison and remain there until a commission from Ottawa investigates the matter.

A Set Back to the Tories.

MONTREAL, Dec. 31.—Bishop Fabre has addressed the following circular to his clergy: "Since the publication of my mandement of the 17th inst. I have been informed from different sources that a wrong interpretation had been given to my words. So that none of you may be deluded by these exaggerations, I here declare that I have not the intention of discussing the political object of agitators, against whom I warned the population. I do not at all enter the political arena. I deplore those methods of tumultuous demands having a revolutionary aspect. The scenes which were enacted in Montreal on the subject of vaccination and what followed therefrom and other scenes which Montreal and several places in the country witnessed and in which effigy-burning was practised on a large scale—all these spectacles are of those which we must deplore. This is what I have done without attempting to enter into political significance which wire-pullers wished to give them."

A Montreal despatch says: Bishop Fabre's Vicar-General, Marcheat, in reading the mandement, stated emphatically that it bore no political significance for either party one way or the other, and that His Lordship wished this to be distinctly understood by all the faithful. The Tories are more than chagrined over this blow.

Charity Concert.

The annual Charity Concert held under the auspices of the St. George's Society, the proceeds to go towards the relief of the English poor, took place in the City Hall on New Year's night. The hall was comfortably filled. The stage was beautifully decorated with red, white and blue bunting in the shape of festoons over head, and in the rear with flags of the nation standing out prominently, in the centre being the St. George's Cross on the reverse side of the St. George's Society banner. On the platform were seated Ald. Walker, President of St. George's Society. On his right was John C. Coffee, President of St. Patrick's, and on his left Prof. Brown, President of St. Andrew's, together with the mayor, and officers of St. George's Society. The musical programme was under the conductorship of Prof. Philp, and he has to be complimented on the successful manner in which he carried it out. The entertainment was opened by a selection from the City Band which was given in their usual good style. "Old England yet" by Mrs. F. Whitehead and Mr. F. W. Wodell, Hamilton, was very accurately sung, and well received. Mr. R. Joseph, Montreal, delighted the audience with his comic songs. His "Coffee pot entertainment," consisting of playing several popular airs on an instrument resembling a coffee pot demanded an encore. In his comic song in character the "English swell," he represented that individual to a dot. In "The Frenchman," his get up was perfect, and the personification of the suave and gushing Frenchman was such as to provoke almost continuous laughter. Miss Lena Bucham in a violin solo—Fantasia from Lucia de Lammermoor—surprised the audience. She played with skill and taste, and gives promise, in time to become an accomplished violinist. Rose Braniff, Toronto, sang Scena E Cavatina, from Lucia di Lammermoor, in first class style. This lady is possessed of a fine, pure, clear soprano voice. She was enthusiastically encored, and she richly deserved to be. She also received an encore in "Tell Me My Heart." Mrs. F. Whitehead sang "Let Me Dream Again" with her usual characteristic ease and natural grace. She was rapturously encored. Mr. F. W. Wodell, who is favourably known in Guelph as a vocalist, sang the "Death of Nelson" to the apparent satisfaction of all, and also "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls." He was encored in both numbers. Mrs. Whitehead and Mr. Wodell sang several pieces together very well. "The Grand Triumphal March," Miss Lillie Hall and Miss Minnie Clark, assisted by the orchestra, was la finely executed piece of music. The "Grand Galop di Concert," by Miss Philp and Miss Leadley was well done, so also was the "Fantasia on English Airs," on violin and piano by Mr. Philp and Miss Skinner. "God Save the Queen" by the company brought to a close one of the best entertainments that has ever been held under the auspices of St. George's Society. The orchestra deserve a special words of praise. A better never appeared before a Guelph audience. The following are the names, in connection with the accompanists:—Piano—Misses Philp, Minnie Clarke, M. Bucham, Leadlay, Lillie Hall, Skinner; Violins—Misses Winnie Clarke, Lena Bucham, Nellie Bucham, Lizzie Bucham, and Messrs. Mr. Dyson, R. Goldie, Mr. Smith, Clarionet and Mr. T. Billinger Saxaphone.

Guelph Daily Mercury

SATURDAY EVE'G, JAN. 2, 1886.

The Work on Monday.

The ratepayers of this city have an important and responsible duty to perform on Monday. In the first place they have to elect a Mayor, who during the year will preside over the deliberations of the Council, and in all respects see that the interests of the city are carefully looked after. It is impossible for us to indicate in what way this can be done because opportunities may, and do, arise at any moment when the suggestions of the Mayor may be of signal benefit to the municipality. As far as the Mayor is concerned he can only make suggestions, for it is left with the Council after all to take action in any movement that may have for its object the well being and future prosperity of the city. The Mayor has not, therefore, so much power or influence as some suppose, or as some would make out that he has. He is after all but the servant of the Council, and as its impartial president, and also as the servant of the ratepayers, it is his duty to be ever on the alert to not only make suggestions to the Council, but also to take advantage of everything that may transpire which may be turned to account for the benefit of the city.

We have already said that Mr. Stevenson as Mayor for 1885 has fully and satisfactorily fulfilled all requirements in these respects, and that on these grounds, if on no other, is he entitled to a renewal of the support and confidence of the ratepayers for Mayor for this year. He appeals for these on the ground that he has faithfully and conscientiously done all his duty, that the interests of the city materially, intellectually and morally have been his paramount concern, that he has neglected nothing that would tend to bring this about, and that he has devoted all his time and abilities in furtherance of this object. Such being the case, and animated as he is with the same desire for the year on which we have now entered, he relies with good hope and confidence that his fellow citizens on Monday will mark their approval of his conduct in the year just closed by electing him for another term. And in this we feel sure he will not be disappointed, that they will rally to his support on Monday and keep on working till they secure his election by a handsome majority.

It appears that the contest for Aldermen is narrowed down to four Wards. We hope the ratepayers in these will select the best men for the work in hand, and that we shall have a Council competent and able to deal with the various important questions which are so intimately connected with the well being of our good city.

PARLIAMENT has been further prorogued until February 18. This, says the Mail, means a meeting early in March. There are a good many members of Parliament who will not only fret, but lose financially through this delay, as it will involve their being at Ottawa at the time when their private affairs most require them at home.

THE return of Mr Foster for King's County is not surprising. Mr Domville, his opponent, a former representative of the County, opposed him doubtless out of personal feeling, for he has always been a dyed-in-the-wool Conservative, and must have known that he [illegible] straight against his [illegible]sities in opposing [illegible]ted Minister of [illegible]

MR. INNES' EXTRA SESSIONAL INDEMNITY.—Mr. Innes has distributed his extra sessional indemnity, passed last session of Parliament, as follows:—$50 each to the Erin, Eramosa, Guelph Township and Puslinch Agricultural Societies. Along with these grants is made the suggestion that the Directors of these societies should, if they think well of it, apply the money in one, or two or three prizes for the best kept, best cultivated and most improved farms in each Township. If the Directors of any of the societies are of opinion that this proposal cannot well be carried out, they are at liberty to use the money in any way they think best for the good of their societies, and in the interests of agriculture in their respective Townships. In the case of the Guelph Township Agricultural Society, if the Directors do not apply the money in the way indicated, they are empowered to hand it over to the South Wellington Agricultural Society. He also grants $100 to the Free Public Library, for the purpose of forming the nucleus of a Museum in connection with it if the Directors so determine, and if not they are empowered to spend the money in any other way they think best for the good of the Institution. Also $50 to the Guelph General Hospital, $50 to St. Joseph's Hospital, and $50 to the City Benevolent Fund, under the charge of the Chairman of the Council's Relief Committee.

SOME people have very mistaken ideas about the Scott Act, or how it affects the public at large. It was, we think, one speaker at the municipal nominations who talked about his candidate for Mayor seeing fair play done for the hotel keepers and all other classes in the city. Why, after the Scott Act comes in force all are put on the same level as regards liquor selling. The person who keeps a public house will have no more right to sell liquor than any other resident in the municipality. The law prohibits every one, unless the duly licensed druggist, from selling liquor of any kind. How then can any Mayor or Alderman, or any civic functionary whatever, see fair play to any hotel keeper or any one else for that matter in the matter of selling liquor? The whole thing is narrowed down to the simple point that if any one sells liquor contrary to the law, and the fact is proved, he will be fined. If he does not sell of course he does not come in within the pale or grasp of the law, but to talk about fair play in such a case is absurd.

Mr. Howard Replies to "Workingman."

To the Editor of the MERCURY:—

SIR,—It was my intention, beyond accepting the nomination for Mayor, not to take any steps to secure my election, nor to pay any attention to what might be said or written regarding myself personally. I am compelled, however, to ask space in your paper to put myself right before the electors with reference to the only objection raised by "Workingman," in his letter of Thursday evening. I am inferentially charged with cowardice and being afraid to express my views on the public platform. Surely my old time supporter, as he claims to be, must have struck the wrong key this time.

When, during the whole time I have been before the public, did I ever fail to urge or defend any position I felt it to be my duty to take on any public question? Much as I regret having to do so I am compelled in self defence to give fully the reasons why I did not address the ratepayers on Monday last. One of Mayor Stevenson's most prominent supporters informed me that a gentleman wished to see me and that he had just gone out. I at once left the hall only to discover when I interviewed the party named that this was a ruse to get me away from the meeting so that I should not speak. On my return it was nearly twelve o'clock and the people were already leaving the hall. I prefer, if possible, to avoid addressing empty benches. I hope this explanation will satisfy "Workingman" and the electors generally with reference to this part of his letter.

Your correspondent, referring to Mr. Chase's speech, quotes him as saying that the city would lose from $7,000 to $10,000 revenue from licenses and particularly asks "Is not this a stretcher?". I am informed that Mr. Chase was referring at the time to the future financial prospects, in so far as direct revenue to the city treasury is concerned, and in the sum he named he included the loss from reduced assessment on hotel property, which must take place after the 1st of May next. I must accept this information as correct, and I hope for his sake that "Workingman's" other objections to my candidature have something sounder to rest upon than this one, which is an absurdity on the face of it. I do not propose to go into the indirect question of how far the city will be benefitted financially by the change which will come into effect this year.

With reference to the license system other correspondents are placing their views on this question, but they are only opinions after all. The proof of the pudding is always in the eating, and as we shall soon have to eat the pudding, so shall we soon be in a position to speak of its quality.

Your correspondent in concluding says he has supported me in many a contest, and does not give any reason why he should not do so in the present one. I regret that one who has heretofore given me his support should not be inclined to do so still, but I have the satisfaction of knowing that a large majority of the workingmen of the city are not afraid to trust their interests in my keeping, and I can assure them that so far as the position of Mayor will enable me to assist them in securing full justice I shall be willing to do it with energy and earnestness at least equal to my opponents. Thanking you for your valuable space,

I am, Yours, &c.,
GEO. HOWARD.

-LION-

Great Christmas Boom

AT THE

DRY GOODS KING

The LION sends his greetings to his thousands of friends The LION is happy and he is to make his Patrons happy also.

While Grit and Tory, Tory and Grit are pounding away at each other, THE LION is hard at it, early in the morning and late at night.
The crowds are pressing in since the Cheap Sale began, every face beaming with pleasure.
Our Mammoth Stock all fresh from the British Markets. No old Shop keepers in our house.
Besides the Great Prize we offer, we have presents for everybody of every kind.

Here follows some of the Great Bargains:

$1.00 Kid Gloves for 25 cents.
75 cent French Corsets, for 45 cents.
$4.00 Muffs, for $2.00.
$1.50 Fur Caps, for 75 cents.

Men's Shirts and Drawers, 75c a set.
Heavy Grey Flannel, only 17 cents worth 25c.

500 CHOICE MANTLES

All the leading styles to go during the festive season at half price. Our Mantle Trade this season has been something enormous. We have manufactured upwards of two hundred and fifty from the substantial Tweed at $2.50 up to the finest Sealette at $50. During the Christmas week we put our

SILK DEPARTMENT

In the hands of our visitors. Every piece of Silk shall be sold at net cost price. We hold upwards of Ten Thousand Dollars of value in Black and Colored Silks and Satins. Never was such an offer made to the people. Let all take advantage of it and secure a dress These we do not job to our neighbor merchants. We intend this benefit solely for our patrons.

Gentlemen Friends are asking the question, What shall I give Mary, Louisa, Nellie, &c., &c. Well, we suggest a Silk Dress, a Muff, a Fur Cap, a soft German Wool Wrap, of which the LION has thousands. The LION'S stock is capacious, no stint of variety. Every one is speaking of the large stock at the LION, that means a good choice, plenty to choose from, you have your taste gratified and at a much less price than you are charged in the retail shops. Why! Because we buy from the makers. The LION gladly welcomes his friends and hopes to see them all during the next ten days, and strangers who may come from a distance and not acquainted with the city, look for the GRAND OLD LION over the door of the Mammoth Store, Lower Wyndham Street, for the last 30 years.

BIG BLAZE IN DETROIT.

A Fireman Killed.

DETROIT, Jan. 1.—Detroit was visited today by the worst fire in her history. The entire square bounded by Randolph, Brush, Lafayette, and Croghan streets is in ruins. Ferry's seed warehouse, the largest in the United States, occupied one-half of this square, facing on Brush street. The Music hall block, facing on Randolph, and two other large brick buildings covered the other half, a 20 feet alley separating the two blocks. Ferry's box factory on Brush street, opposite the seed house, was also burned, as were several houses on Croghan street, opposite the north end of the Ferry building.

While the firemen were bravely at work on the extension ladder in front of the Randolph theatre, the thin wall of brick began swaying. Hundreds of voices were lifted up in warning to Filban, captain of the brigade, and his men, but every human sound was swallowed in the roaring of the flames and the thundering of the engines. Filban's companions finally saw their danger and began descending. They called to their captain, but bent upon his work he did not hear them. Then the wall gave a convulsive quiver, the top began breaking off, and finally the whole gave way. The ladder broke in three places. The men near the foot of it were thrown upon the pavement and Filban was lost to sight in the mass. Filban was instantly killed and the others were dangerously wounded. The loss will be about $1,500,000.

Threatened Split in American Oddfellowship.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 1.—A feud of long standing between the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Oddfellows and a branch of that Order known as the Patriarch Circle is expected to culminate in either the wholesale secession of the Patriarchal from the parent body or the entire disruption of the latter Order. The Patriarchal Circle was organized in Milwaukee as a progressive display rank of Oddfellowship, though claiming to be distinct in its operation. Since the second year of its establishment there has been a conflict between its members and the non-patriarchal faction of Oddfellows. Though frowned upon by the Sovereign Grand Lodge the Circle has increased in numerical and financial strength, until now it is a powerful society, principally rooted in Wisconsin, Illinois and Ohio, and almost confined to the nine northwestern States. It has 114 subordinate temples and a membership exceeding five thousand. At the recent meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge action was taken to completely stamp out the Patriarchal Circle or to compel its members to abandon all claims to Oddfellowship. The committee on credentials refused to recognize the delegates who were members of the Circle, and a series of resolutions was adopted requiring all subordinate lodges not to recognize as an Oddfellow or to admit to the lodge any member of the Patriarchal Circle, the resolution to go into effect on Jan. 1. In his circular of instructions the Grand Sire threatens upon the refusal of subordinate jurisdictions to obey the order expelling Patriarchs who decline to give up allegiance to the Circle to suspend the charters and blot out all offending lodges. This, it is thought, will create a war all along the line. The Patriarchs, it is said, will dispute the expulsion in the courts if necessary.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument, made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

OTTAWA, Jan. 3. — It is stated here that Sir John Macdonald will sail for Canada on Thursday, Jan. 14th.

One More Poor Brakeman.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—A man named Thomas Muir, a resident of London, employed as brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway, fell from the top of a car near Harrisburg last night, and was run over and killed.

Sudden Death of a Prominent Contractor.

QUEENSTON, Ont. Jan. 3.—Mr. David Irwin, contractor, a resident of this place since the commencement of the work on the new Welland canal, died very suddenly this morning. The deceased gentleman has been prominently connected with several important government works, and had just lately completed a contract on the Canadian Pacific Railway in this Province.

A New Year's Day Tragedy.

BLENHEIM, Jan. 2.—David Gerow was instantly killed about a mile from town yesterday afternoon. He was cutting down trees on John McGregor's place, when the oak he was cutting struck an ash which was lodged in an elm, causing the ash to spring back, striking him on the back of the neck and breaking his neck. He leaves a wife, but no family.

A Druggists' Fatal Blunder.

HAMILTON, Jan. 3.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of the 18 months' old son of Arthur J. Wells, 68 Maria street, who was poisoned by a druggist's mistake in giving Dover's Powder instead of ipecac was adjourned until Monday. The child was sick with croup, and Mark Mundy, druggist, prescribed ipecac, but in mistake gave the poisonous powder, which was in the next bottle to the harmless powder, and of exactly the same color.

Manslaughter in Toronto.

Hudson Joy's barber shop in Leader Lane, Toronto, was the scene of an affair Saturday evening which ended in a tragedy. Two of his employees, Wm. A. Hobbs and Lewis Arthur McDonald, quarrelled as to whether the door of the shop should be open or closed. A scuffle ensued; Hobbs was wounded and taken to the General Hospital, where he died. McDonald was held by the police.

Hobbs was discovered to have been stabbed in the side, near the heart, with a scissors. McDonald, who has always borne a good character, feels his position keenly.

A Pointer for Local Lawyers.

A man was tried at Chatham the other day for supplying whiskey to the Indians. The lawyer who defended him was named G. G. Martin, and he glowingly referred to the halcyon system in which all was peace and good-will and as a precedent for His Worship exercising clemency pointed back 3,000 years ago when in the year of Jubilee a general amnesty was proclaimed. "Your Worship, let him go back to his horses they have been whineying for him, to his oxen for they have been lowing for him, even the dog has not wagged his tail since Jos. left. Do so, and the prisoner's benedictions will ascend beyond the orb of the moon, up to Heaven itself, and descend upon you with redoubled blessing, like the bread cast upon the waters, which will return even after many days," and the Magistrate only fined the prisoner $20 and sent him to jail for two months.

Two cases of smallpox have been discovered at Chicago.

Local News

On account of the wet day and the bad roads there was scarcely anything offered on the market this morning.

On account of this being election day no Council meeting will be held to-night. The usual meeting will be held on Tuesday evening.

The concert held Wednesday evening last at the McGregor school house, in the Township of Nassagaweya, proved quite a success.

Mr. Joseph Geddes has sold his farm, 50 acres of the east half of lot 7, concession 12, Nichol, to Mr. William Lockhart, for $3,300.

Acton Free Press: Rev. Father Kelly, of Guelph, conducted services in St. Joseph's church on Christmas Day, and Father DuMortier on the Sunday following.

At the entrance examinations held in Milton thirty-four candidates presented themselves. Esquesing sent 18, Milton 7, Trafalgar 4, Nassagaweya 2, Acton 2, and Nelson 1.

Last year 16,300 warm dinners were given to poor school children in Dundee, Scotland, and efforts are being made to provide dinners this winter for the 1,200 children of the unemployed there.

The wish-bone season, when the young man stealthily looks over the front door while hanging his overcoat on the rack, to see if he has been the lucky one to come first under the charmed bone, has arrived.

On Tuesday while Mr. Oliver Curliss, was driving through Fergus with a horse and rig, his horse became unmanageable and ran away, throwing Mr. Curliss out of the rig. His head was severely cut in several places. The harness and rig were badly used up.

Elora Express:—Mr. Wm. H. Oliver, of this village, has left the Homewood Retreat at Guelph, and is now visiting his father in Galt. He is improving daily. Mrs. Oliver has joined her husband at the homestead. Mr. Oliver's friends will be pleased to learn of his recovery from the malady which so nearly wrecked his life.

Acton Board of Education.—The Acton School Board is composed the same as last year, viz:—W. H. Storey, Dr. Lowry, J. E. McGarvin, W. F. Brown, Thomas C. Moore, and George Hynds. The usual lack of interest on the part of citizens in educational matters was apparent on nomination day. The retiring members were Dr. Lowry and E. J. McGarvin.

Speaking of the observance of Christmas day at the County Poor House, the Elora Express says:—"After dinner, a stroll through the institution revealed several interesting facts, among which was the school for the children. It has 9 pupils, who are taught by an ex-teacher, Jas. Robertson, committed from Guelph."

Salvation Army.—Capt. Aggie Cowan, of Stouffville, formerly stationed here as Lieutenant, led all the meetings at the Salvation Army barracks yesterday, which were largely attended. Lieut. Susie Matthews, who has been stationed here during the past three months, farewelled last night. She leaves on the 5:15 train this evening for Toronto.

From the Foot of the Rockies.—Major and Mrs. Walker (formerly of Ancaster), together with Mrs. Wm. Quarrie, of Galt, who has been visiting at Calgary for some months, arrived in Galt on Saturday morning last. The two former are on a visit to their many friends in Ontario, while the latter is returning home. They were only some six days in making the trip from Calgary to Galt, and out of that time had to lie over a day.

Spirits	$9,273 25
Malt	2,544 01
Tobacco and cigars	1,598 50
Licenses	100 00
Petroleum inspection fees	3 00
Other revenues	37 08
	$13,655 84

The amount collected for the corresponding month of last year was $15,706.46, making a deficit this year of $2,050.62.

Handsome Testimonials.—The Acton Free Press says: The other day Col. Allan showed us the two beautiful cups recently presented to the 20th Battalion, Lorne Rifles of this county, by Mr. W. McCraney, M. P., and Col. Allan, commander of the Battalion. Both cups stand about 20 inches high. Mr. McCraney's is gold lined and trimmed and is one of the most handsome articles of the kind we ever saw. The regimental cup is also a very handsome one but not so elaborate as the former. The regiment should take a lively interest in the annual competitions for the possession of the cups.

Municipal Elections.—Up to noon today very little interest centred in the Municipal elections. Scarcely a conveyance was to be seen on the streets taking voters to the polls. The wet day—a continuous rain having having fallen since yesterday at noon—no doubt had something to do with the apathy of voters. In accordance with the Statute, all the hotels are closed. The grocery stores, licensed to sell liquor, are open but refuse to sell any. On the whole the contest seems to create little excitement. Later on in the day the contesting parties, especially for the mayoralty, are likely to waken up, and put their best foot foremost.

Free Library.—The carving classes under the auspices of the Guelph Free Library, and to be conducted by Mr. E. J. O'Brien, will be opened to-morrow night, in a room adjoining the Free Library Upper Windham street. The Board of management deserve credit for doing everything possible, as far as lies in their power, for the advancement of the education of mechanics and others in the city, in this and other branches of study. In this way the Free Library Board open up courses of study to the working classes which is unobtainable otherwise, except at a considerable outlay, and it is to be hoped that the generous terms offered by the Board will be fully taken advantage of. It is not the Free Library management who will reap the benefit, but those who attend the classes.

Police Court.—James Flynn, alias Geo. Brown, of Hamilton, for an assault on Joseph Emory, in the Central Hotel stables last week, was fined to-day $20 without costs. W. J. Skarkman for a disturbance created between himself and H. Levans, was fined $1 and costs. Samuel Brown also charged with assaulting Levans, was dismissed.

Week of Prayer.—Meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Dublin street Methodist Church. Subjects for exhortation and prayer: "Praise and thanksgiving for the spirit of prayer vouchsafed to us; for all the bounties of Providence; for God's long suffering goodness in that He has not taken away His Holy Spirit from us on account of our little faith and many provocations; for His faithful promises in Christ Jesus; for continuing and multiplying opportunities of proclaiming His gospel of grace; for the progress of Christian missions among Jews and Gentiles, and the free course given to the Word of the Lord notwithstanding all the opposition of infidelity and abounding iniquity. Ps. cxlvii." Addresses by Dr. Wardrope and Rev. Mr. McGregor.

Caught in England.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—"Kid" Meany, an expert thief who figured in many crimes in the country, has been sentenced to twenty years penal servitude in England. He was concerned in the recent robbery of Netherby hall from which $100,000 worth of property was stolen.

Lord Churchill's Latest Irish Scheme.

London, Jan. 3.—Lord Churchill has submitted to the Cabinet a proposition for the reform of the administration of the government in Ireland. The scheme is supported by Earl Carnarvon and Baron Ashbourne. The project involves the abolition of vice-royalty and castle executive and the placing of Ireland on the same footing as Scotland, having a Secretary in the Cabinet. If the Cabinet adopts the measure it will be presented to parliament with the scheme for local government already decided upon.

The Bribery Fund Came From Ottawa.

His friends claim the support of the people of Ontario, and they have earned one right to it. So anxious are they that you should be properly governed that eighteen months ago they endeavored to reconstruct the Legislature of Ontario by the simple expedient of bribing the members out of funds furnished by the authorities at Ottawa.—I say furnished by the authorities at Ottawa; because although they strove to suppress the telegrams and other evidence, it was perfectly plain to everybody who witnessed the goings and comings between Toronto and Ottawa during the time that the plot was hatching. Why, the Conservative members at Ottawa could hardly conceal their glee; they were daily awaiting telegrams announcing the defeat of the Mowat Government; and I never in all my life saw men so chopfallen and thunderstruck as these gentlemen when the news came that instead of entrapping the men that you had sent to support Mr Mowat, the bribers had got into their own trap, and the very money on which they depended was placed on the table of Parliament and handed to the Speaker. I say that Ontario in this matter has a duty to discharge, and that duty, trust me, is not to support those men who have plundered your territory, who have attempted to debauch your Legislature; but that duty is to recognize the gross injustice with which Ontario has been treated under Sir John's administration, and to see that the men who have so scandalously abused their trust are obliged to suffer appropriate punishment for their crimes. But if it be almost the sublimity of insolence to ask Ontario to rally round Sir John and his friends in a case like this, how shall I describe the proposition, how shall I find words in which to mark my sense of the absurdity of calling upon the Ontario Liberals to rally round Sir John in defence? What has Sir John done? What are his claims to the Liberal party of Ontario?—Sir Richard Cartwright at Orillia.

BRITISH POLITICAL SITUATION.

A Union of Conservatives and Liberals to Oppose Home Rule.

London, Jan. 2.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says that it is able to announce that Mr Gladstone is ready to entertain a feasible proposal from the Marquis of Salisbury to jointly concert for a settlement of the Home Rule question. The Gazette urges a coalition of the Liberals and Conservatives to deal with the subject of Home Rule.

A Cabinet Council was held to-day, which lasted one hour and forty minutes. It is believed the Ministry decided to adhere to the local government scheme for Ireland; also, in the case of the Government being defeated on the question to dissolve parliament and to appeal to the country on the "disemberment of the empire" cry. The question of conceding a portion of Upper Burmah to China was discussed, and it was agreed to make such a concession.

It is understood that the Radicals will raise a question concerning the operations in the Soudan when the address in reply to the Queen's Speech at the opening of Parliament is discussed. Failing to obtain distinct guarantees from the Marquis of Salisbury that no policy involving the conquest of the Soudan will be adopted, the Radicals will force a division on the question.

THE IMPERIAL ELECTIONS.

The G. O. M. Ties His Combined Opponents

Voting in the British elections is now completed, and the results of the polling in the late Scottish contests have been made known. Orkney and Shetland have been carried by Mr Leonard Lyell, the Liberal candidate, by a majority of 1,412. At the last election the Liberal candidate had a majority of less than 400. The Lord Advocate for Scotland (Mr J. H. A. Macdonald) has been returned for the Edinburgh and Glasgow Universities by a majority of 387 over Dr. Eric Erichsen. The following is a full summary of the composition of the new House:

	L.	C.	N.	Total.
Scotland	62	10	—	72
England—
Boroughs and Universities	95	84	1	180
Counties	153	100	—	253
Metropolis	25	37	—	62
Ireland	—	18	85	103
	335	249	86	670

Thus Lord Salisbury is powerless to act against the united Liberal delegation unless he can retain the support of everyone of the Nationalists. He refuses to resign, however, trusting that something may turn up to get him out of his difficulty. Another significant fact brought out by the full returns is that 314 of those returned were members of the late Parliament, and that 356 are new members. Great Britain returns 267 old members and 298 new members. Ireland returns 46 old members and 47 members who are new to Parliamentary life.

The Queen to Peep Out from Her Retirement.

London, Jan. 3.—Queen Victoria desires that a performance of Gounod's Mors et Vita should be given for her pleasure, and promises to attend it. This will be her first appearance at a concert hall since the death of Prince Consort. The Gounod festival, which is being arranged to take place at the Crystal palace, will last four days. The Redemption and Mors et Vita are the chief selections for the occasion. There will be 5,000 persons in the choir and orchestra.

Followers of the Mahdi Penetrate the British Lines.

London, Jan. 3.—A report is current here that a number of the Mahdi's fanatics penetrated the British lines at Suakim and attacked the soldiers in the streets of the town. It is stated that furious fighting ensued, in which a number of the English were killed and wounded. The Government, it is said, has suppressed all reports of the affair, and the British loss, therefore cannot be ascertained.

The Newark Children Homeward Bound.

Paris, Jan 2.—The four children from Newark, N.J., who were bitten by a mad dog and who have been under the treatment of M. Pasteur, sailed from Havre to New York to-day. They are all well.

St. Cunegonde Village Submits.

Montreal, Jan. 3.—The recalcitrant authorities of St. Cunegonde have been reduced to submission by the determined stand taken by the Central Board of health in commencing the erection of a barricade at the city limits for the purpose of enforcing strict quarantine against the villagers unless they took immediate and effectual measures to stamp out smallpox in the municipality. The village board of health having given sufficient guarantees that they will do so the threatened quarantine has been withdrawn.

Fatal Hose Reel Collision.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—Two fire reels going at full speed to two fires in opposite directions came into collision in a narrow street. A youth of 10 years, who was standing on the side walk at the spot, was crushed against a stone wall and instantly killed; Wm. McCullough and George Cairns, firemen, were so seriously injured that they are not expected to live until morning and two other firemen received severe but not necessarily fatal wounds.

Near the Paths of Sin.

Montreal, Jan. 2.—Bishop Fabre's circular, in explanation of his mandement on the Riel question, has been read in some of the Catholic churches. Besides this explanation the circular refers to the costumes worn by ladies for winter sports and the dangers attending such sports. The bishop denounces the costumes as quite unbecoming for the female sex, and considers both tobogganing and snowshoeing as carried on generally near the paths of sin. Speaking of the latter sport he says that snowshoes were invented by the Indians as a necessity, and were never intended for civilized women. The circular has also some points against theatres.

LOOKS LIKE A VENDETTA.

A Detroit Family Murdered.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—Another horror has been added to the terrible extinction of Frank Knoch's whole family in the western part of Detroit three weeks ago, when he, his wife and two children, one 3 years and the other 9 months of age, were shot dead and the bodies burned in their house, which had been set on fire by the assassins. To the quadruple murder has been added the murder of the mother. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that Mrs. Christian Knoch, mother of the murdered Frank, who died Friday morning was herself a victim of assassination. The day before her death she sent word to the sheriff of this county that she wanted to see him. The sheriff was absent at the time, but in the evening he and the prosecuting attorney went to the Knoch homestead. They were too late, however, as Mrs. Knoch was in a comatose condition, from which she did not recover before death at 2 o'clock Friday morning. Death was pronounced at the time as the result of pneumonia and nervous prostration resulting from the ordeal through which she recently passed. The prosecuting attorney, however, was not satisfied, and ordered a post mortem, which was held Saturday evening, when it was found that her skull had been fractured. All the physicians who took part in the post mortem agree that death resulted from this fracture, which was undoubtedly caused by a blow from a sand bag. The stomach bears evidence of poison and will be analysed to-day. A consultation was held at a late hour by county authorities, which resulted in the arrest at 2 o'clock this (Sunday) morning of all the remaining members of the Knoch family—Gus, Herman and their three sisters, two of whom are unmarried. Officers have been working on the case constantly since the murder of Frank's family, but could get no clue to the perpetrators. A remarkable series of tragedies have brought seven members of the Knoch family to violent death. Seven years ago the father, Christian Knoch, was found lying senseless in a barn with bad wounds on the top of his head. His wife, Elizabeth, the latest victim, was the only person who heard him speak afterwards. She reported that he was kicked by one of the horses. He died before night. Two years ago the eldest son Charles disappeared. The family took little notice of his death and when he was found in the river with unmistakable evidence of foul play the investigation ended with an inquest, at which it was shown the pump chain about his body had come from the homestead. On the morning of Dec. 16th last the house of Frank Knoch was burned and the charred bodies of himself, his wife Susan and two children were found in the ruins. In a few days evidence was found which proved beyond doubt that they had been first murdered. Suspicion pointed to the family and Gustave, Herman and their mother were closely questioned at the inquest, which has not yet been finished. This last tragedy has intensified suspicion, more so because of the report that Mrs. Knoch had said just before her death that she wanted to make a confession.

NEW COAL OIL STRIKE.

A Big "Find" in Middlesex—It Holds Out.

Parkhill, Jan. 2.—While boring for water on the farm of Mr. John Powel, lot 25, con. 5, McGillivray, on New Year's Day, a vein of surface coal oil was struck at a depth of 175 feet and 15 feet in the rock an oil bearing series. The gas forced obstructions to a height of 40 feet above the surface, and when ignited burned for three hours. Specimens of the oil pumped up with the water, now fifteen feet below the surface, have been shown here to-day. It is pure petroleum. The location is only six miles from Parkhill, and there is great excitement here over the discovery.

MAGISTRATE TRAVIS

Calgary, Jan. 3.—Having passed sentence on Cayley for contempt committed out of court, Stipendiary Travis has filled the town with astonishment by declaring the Mayor and Council unseated and disqualified for two years, in addition to which the Mayor is fined $100, and condemned to pay the opposing counsel $100, with costs, and the other Councillors to pay $25 each and costs.

The Fate of The Orphan Boy.

Detroit, Jan. 2.—A great deal of wreckage has been washed ashore at Grand Point au Sable, including the stern of a yawl bearing the name Orphan Boy. This, it is thought, settles positively the fate of the schooner Orphan Boy.

A Wedding that Had to be Postponed.

New York, Jan. 3.—Miss Rachel Nicholson, aged 27, of Nova Scotia, a guest at the Abbotsford hotel, was found senseless in her bed this morning. The room was filled with gas which escaped from one of the burners that had been turned on and left open unlighted. The young woman is in a critical condition. Miss Nicholson was the affianced wife of the Rev. Andrew Grey, pastor of the Millerton, N.Y., Presbyterian church, and was to have been married to-day. Mr. Grey was stopping at the same hotel.

Another Chance for Disallowance.

A despatch from Ottawa says that a company will apply to Parliament next session for a charter to build a railway from Portage la Prairie to Lake of the Woods. Sir Charles Tupper promised that as soon as the railway north of Lake Superior was completed no opposition would be offered to the construction of competing lines into Manitoba and the North West. Mr. Pope will be asked to fulfil the pledge made by Sir Charles, but the influence of the Syndicate will no doubt prove all powerful. The members of the Syndicate pretend that the granting of a charter for a competing line into Manitoba would reduce the value of their stock.

MONDAY EVE'G, JAN. 4, 1886.

Worse than Wasted.

Money badly spent is not merely entirely lost. It is much worse than mere wastefulness, for the commodity which it purchases generally becomes a burden upon the buyer. A very little reflection will enable readers to apply this maxim to every class of reckless expenditure. They will find it true in private life, and equally true in public affairs. Municipalities are not guiltless sometimes of worse than wasteful expenditure and extravagance, as many a municipal "white elephant" will tell. Governments, which think, becase they have the broad back of the people on which to place their burdens, that they may spend without stint, are especially guilty of insane expenditures. Schemes are encouraged and undertaken from motives often the reverse of patriotic, and where favouritism is the guiding policy of those in power the people are made to pay very heavily indeed for the benefits received.

But it seems to be worse when petty spite and jealousy get hold of those who have sworn to administer the people's affairs faithfully, honestly and well. Under the first idea there may be the excuse that the "sovereign people" are all embraced in the majority great or small, which has placed them temperarily in power. If that majority were all who suffer there would be a species of grim justice in their being made to "pay the piper," especially as members thereof are the greatest if not the only beneficiaries. But, unfortunately, the ruling party do not comprise the whole people and not always does it comprise a majority of the people. Under the very extraordinary genius of the First Minister of the Dominion it has even been demonstrated that a minority can be made a majority not by adding to its numbers, but by a skilful gerrymandering of constituencies and by placing a controlling hand on the voters' lists of the land. Only the consciousness of certain punishment by the people they misrepresent, and an insatiable desire for office, could induce a Government to descend to such palpably evil resources. But to considerations of right or wrong the present Government give no heed. Political exigency; party expediency. These are the guiding lines of their existence. These were the motives which caused Sir John Macdonald to utter his threat that he would take the licensing power from "Mr. Mowat, that little tyrant." He desired to secured the close adherence of the liquor interest in the last general election by making them believe, on his reputation as a "great constitutional lawyer," who had never had his opinions disputed by the Privy Council, that the Dominion Government alone had the right to deal with the license business, and that if they stood by him he would give them a license law after their own heart. How grossly he deceived them even as to the nature of the Act he introduced is now well known. But the dealers swallowed the bait, and they have themselves to blame if their expectations were not realized. Not so the general taxpayers of the Dominion, however. The McCarthy Act was passed. All the expensive machinery was set in motion, and now it lies idle, worse than useless. Canada has had to pay roundly for the knowledge that Sir John Macdonald is a poor authority upon constitutional law. It is reported that the Governments of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia have notified the Dominion authorities that they expect to have refunded to them all amounts spent in defending the rights of the provinces to the exclusive control of the liquor traffic. How much these bills will foot up is still a matter of conjecture to a large extent. Over and above the large amounts spent in defending the rights of the Provinces, which will be nearly all borne by Ontario, the total amount collected for licenses under the Dominion License Act, up to the 23rd June last, was as follows:

Ontario	$37,431 33
Quebec	26,906 00
Nova Scotia	3,940 00
New Brunswick	4,925 00
Prince Edward Island	400 00
Manitoba	2,655 00
British Columbia	1,086 00
Total	$77,336 33

This entire amount was used up by the local inspectors, and it was over sixty thousand dollars less than their claims showed to be due them for salaries, &c. The following is the approximate cost of the Act:

Voted in 1884 to put the law in operation	$10,000 00
Voted in 1885 to put the law in operation	20,000 00
Collected for licenses in 1884-5	77,336 33
Estimates of amount which $77,336.33 is short of meeting salaries of commissioners and inspectors	60,000 00
	$167,336 33

When all the confusion, turmoil and trouble is taken into account, when it is remembered that the Dominion License Act might be better named Sir John Macdonald's Private Scheme of Revenge,—when the liquor trade is convinced, as it now must be, that they were bought and sold for nothing, and made to pay double license fees to save themselves from legal consequences, it should be readily conceded even by them that the money spent through the Dominion License Act has been worse than wasted.

Some of the Cabinet Ministers have notified Sir John Macdonald that the effort to excite a race war in the interest of the Tory party has been an utter failure and that it should be abandoned. Meanwhile every effort is being made to bring or bully the recalcitrant Bleus back into the Tory fold. One Tory boasted lately that the Government, if necessary, would spend a million dollars of public money in subsidies to private enterprises in which Bleu members were interested in order to keep Sir John's Quebec majority solid.

In another column will be found an article confirming in indisputable evidence the almost certainty of an Indian outbreak in the Northwest. The gentlemen mentioned therein are more than usually intelligent and responsible. They are known to quite a few in Guelph, and their opinions are likely to carry more weight than the denials of the Government organs. Rev. Mr. Robertson's opportunities for acquiring a knowledge of what is going on are unsurpassed, as he is continually travelling among the settlements. The Tory organs will hardly care to discredit Dr. Harrison's statements, as he is an adherent of the Norquay Government. Dr. Harrison is brother-in-law of our respected citizen, Mr. Tytler, Principal of the High and Public Schools, whom with his family he visited last winter.

Some of the friends of temperance are concerned about the statement found in certain Tory journals that the decision which destroys the McCarthy Act renders null the Scott Act. No alarm on this ground need be felt. The Hodge case affirmed the right of the Dominion to prohibit and had it not Mr. Mowat has too much regard for the wishes of the people who honor him with their confidence to impair the measure they have adopted by such large majorities. The decision, will, however, take the power of granting licenses to sell under it out of the hands of the Dminion commissioners, which is not to be regretted. In many places—notably Huron—they have made it their special object to bring discredit on the cause and have given the licenses to old liquor sellers, instead of reputable druggists to whom the act evidently intended to commit the sale. The revenue derived will now go to the Province, and the Ontario Police Magistrates and officers will be more available for its enforcement. Those who only objected to the act because it was a Dominion measure and without machinery to enforce it will be pleased to know that the regulation of the druggist's licenses under it will now fall to Ontario.

Guelph Township Council.

This Council met for a short time on Monday, 22nd inst., previous to the hour for holding the nomination, pursuant to adjournment; the Reeve in the chair; all the members present. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr James Heffernan was present complaining of an error in his assessment; that he was assessed for $250 on personal property, while all his personal property was assessed in Nichol, where he resides, and as this amount increased his statute labor one day he considered he ought to be refunded for taxes on $250 and one day statute labor. Ordered to be refunded.

The Reeve read a petition from W. H. Matthews, requesting to be refunded part of the amount he paid for an hotel license for the present license year, owing to the whole of his hotel property being destroyed by fire. He considers he is entitled to have a portion of the amount refunded, as he is unable to put up suitable buildings to carry on the business.

Moved by Mr Stirton, seconded by Mr Porter, that as soon as the amount coming to this Municipality of Mr Matthews' license money is ascertained the prayer of his petition will be granted. Carried.

The Reeve notified the Council of an arrangement being made to lease a portion of the new County Building for the use of the Council.

Moved by Mr Hood, seconded by Mr Porter, that the Reeve be instructed to sign the necessary papers for renting the room in the new County Building for the use of the Guelph Township Council. Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: H. Gummer, Herald office, $7.20; J. E. McElderry, for goods to Johanah Lynch, $35.

The Reeve read a letter from Mr. Geo. D. Porter, collector, drawing the attention of the Council to a property assessed to David Gowdy, who has left. The buildings are burned and there is nothing on the place to arrest for payment.

Moved by Mr. Hood, seconded by Mr. Porter, that as there is no property available belonging to David Gowdy, the taxes be struck off the collector's roll. Carried.

Application was made on behalf of Thos. Henderson as being charged for a dog by error.

Mr. Hobson moved, seconded by Mr. Porter, that Thos. Henderson be refunded the sum of $1 wrongly charged as a tax on a dog. Carried.

Application was made on behalf of a poor widow to have her taxes refunded. Mr. Stirton moved seconded by Mr. Hood, that the taxes of Mrs. Tizzard, an unfortunate widow, be refunded. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hobson, seconded by Mr. Hood, that at this the last meeting of the Council of 1885, we desire to express our regret that one of our members (Mr. Stirton) is leaving this municipality, and we all wish to extend to him our hearty good wishes for the happiness of himself and family in their new home. And we further desire to put on record our acknowledgement of the kindly feeling which has always characterized his bearing to all the members of the Council, and the earnest desire he had to carry out faithfully the work entrusted to him as a representative of the municipality.

Mr. Stirton kindly thanked the members of the Council for their unexpected approval of his services in connection with his short term of office, and regretted that circumstances causing him to remove into another municipality prevents him from again offering himself as a candidate for a member of the Council.

Application was made to have the amount of taxes against Wm. Thompson's personal property struck off the Collector's roll, as he has left the county. Ordered to be taken off.

On motion made by Messrs. Hood, and seconded, Mr. Stirton was allowed the sum of $5 for overseeing the work on the new bridge over the river near Mr. Caraher's farm.

It was arranged that in the event of the Council obtaining the room in the new county building for an office, that the Reeve and Clerk be authorized to obtain suitable furniture for the use of the Council.

The Council then adjourned to the 18th January, 1886, to meet for a short time previous to the organization of the new Council for 1886.

Curious Scotch Custom.

EDINBURGH, Jan. 1.—The Scotch have a custom called "First Footing," which was carried out with great heartiness to-night. This consists of gentlemen visiting their friends as soon after 12 as possible. The visitor is provided with a bottle of good old usquebaugh for the male members of the family visited, and a bottle of wine for the ladies. Toasts are proposed and honoured with true Scotch heartiness, and the visits are kept up till "jocund day stands tip-toe on the misty mountain tops." Close before midnight an immense crowd, numbering not less than six thousand, gathered in the vicinity of the Old Tron Church on High street, and as soon as the chimes from the kirk bells announced the birth of a new year there arose shouts of welcome, every one wishing the compliments of the season to his neighbor. Then there was a general rush in all directions to carry out the peculiar ceremonies of "First Footing."

M. Pasteur now proposes to cure eleven persons bitten by a mad wolf.

-LION-

Great Christmas Boom

AT THE

DRY GOODS KING

The LION sends his greetings to his thousands of friends. The LION is happy and he is to make his Patrons happy also.

While Grit and Tory, Tory and Grit are pounding away at each other, THE LION is hard at it, early in the morning and late at night.

Our Mammoth Stock all fresh from the British Markets. No old Shop keepers in our house.

Besides the Great Prize we offer, we have presents for everybody of every kind.

Here follows some of the Great Bargains:

$1.00 Kid Gloves for 25 cents,
75 cent French Corsets, for 45 cents.
$4.00 Muffs, for $2.00.
$1.50 Fur Caps, for 75 cents.
Ladies Underwear, — Reduced 25 per cent.
50 cent Cashmere Gloves, Now selling at 25 cents.

395 Overcoats, $5.00 each, cannot be bought elsewhere under $7.50.
Scotch Tweed Pants, $1.95 a pair.
Suits, Suits, Suits, to choose from and in progress of being made. All wool for $5.00 a suit.
Men's Shirts and Drawers, 75c a set.

500 CHOICE MANTLES

All the leading styles to go during the festive season at half price. Our Mantle Trade this season has been something enormous. We have manufactured upwards of two hundred and fifty from the substantial Tweed at $2.50 up to the finest Sealette at $50. During the Christmas week we put our

SILK DEPARTMENT

In the hands of our visitors. Every piece of Silk shall be sold at net cost price. We hold upwards of Ten Thousand Dollars of value in Black and Colored Silks and Satins. Never was such an offer made to the people. Let all take advantage of it and secure a dress. These we do not job to our neighbor merchants. We intend this benefit solely for our patrons.

Gentlemen Friends are asking the question, What shall I give Mary, Louisa, Nellie, &c., &c. Well, we suggest a Silk Dress, a Muff, a Fur Cap, a soft German Wool Wrap, of which the LION has thousands. The LION'S stock is capacious, no stint of variety. Every one is speaking of the large stock at the LION, that means a good choice, plenty to choose from, you have your taste gratified and at a much less price than you are charged in the retail shops. Why? Because we buy from the makers. The LION imports his stock. The LION gladly welcomes his friends and hopes to see them all during the next ten days, and strangers who may come from a distance and not acquainted with the city, look for the GRAND OLD LION over the door of the Mammoth Store, Lower Wyndham Street, for the last 30 years.

AN INDIAN UPRISING.

Rev. James Robertson Sends Warning to the Government.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 28.—Rev. James Robertson has been in this country for nearly ten years, and as his mission is to travel all over the country, he necessarily is in a position to know something about the Indians, their condition and wants. He was interviewed by a News reporter to whom he said, that while it would be injudicious to create alarm, he could not avoid stating that the situation was of a most serious character, and in order to, if possible, avert another rebellion he had communicated with the Ottawa Government, warning the authorities of the danger that seemed to be ahead, and urging some immediate action to be taken to appease the discontent that prevails. He says that more mounted police must be stationed at Medicine Hat, Calgary, Lethbridge and other places to prevent the American Indians joining those of the Northwest. Gabriel Dumont is now across the border and it is said is using every means to stir up the Indians and get them to form an alliance with Northwest Indians, and if possible have another rebellion. At the base of the Rockies, Mr. Robertson says the weather is extremely mild, in fact grass is growing, and there is nothing to prevent the Indians from taking up arms. He has had a long talk with Rev. Mr. Gordon on the situation, and if there is not to be another rebellion in the country the authorities will have to take action at once.

Dr. Harrison, M. P. P., also says the country is in a very unsettled condition, and he is afraid of more trouble unless some measures are adopted at once to prevent another outbreak.

Capt. Howard Took the Hair But Left the Scalp.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., January 2.—Lieut. Howard, of Gatling Gun fame in connection with the late half-breed rebellion in the Northwest, when asked to-day if it was true that he had scalped a dead foe after the fight at Batoche, said to a reporter that it was not true. What he did do was to cut off, as a trophy, the scalp-lock of Young White Cap, son of Old White Cap, chief of a band of renegade Sioux, who, years ago, were driven out of Minnesota for being engaged in a massacre. Lieut Howard says other officers also helped themselves to hairy souveneirs from the heads of dead Indians, but no scalping was done or acts of brutality perpetrated. Young White Cap was found with nine bullet holes in his, body, all made by the Gatling gun worked by Lieut. Howard. The scalp-lock referred to is now exhibited as a trophy in the room of the machine platoon of the State Militia, of which Lieut. Howard has command, and which is located in the National Guard armory.

SALE OF C. P. R. BONDS.

Twenty-five Million Dollars' Worth Said to Have Been Sold at Par.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A special cable to the Commercial Bulletin announces that the Canadian Pacific Railway, through prominent banking firms in London, has disposed of, at par, the $25,000,000 bonds held as collateral by the Dominion Government for a loan made to the company.

Only a Temporary Immigrant.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Several years ago Frederick Fischel, a young German 32 years old, was the confidential clerk of August Bernheim & Bauer, clothing merchants. At the Jewish new year a member of the firm handed Fischel a check for $250 as his new year's gift, at the same time requesting the clerk to balance his books and send the balance sheet to the head of the firm. Fischel took the $250 and fled, leaving a letter confessing that he had forged checks and robbed the firm. His employers found that Fischel had robbed them of $75,000. The clerk fled to Canada, where he was found at Gravenhurst last Friday. He came back without a requisition, arriving here Saturday and is now locked up. His downfall began with a woman and was accelerated by gambling. The firm is proceeding against some gambling houses in which Fischel lost a good deal of the money.

AS CONSCIENTIOUS DRUGGISTS

We would recommend for DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION,
And kindred diseases, the use of MALTOPEPSYN.
FOR Consumption and all Wasting Diseases
The use of
Morse's Carbolated Norwegian Cod Liver Oil.
For Teething Infants and Nervous Troubles, the use of Glycerole of Celery Compound, containing no Opium.

You probably ask why we recommend these remedies. It is because we know them to be reliable remedies, endorsed by leading physicians throughout the Dominion, for the cure of specific diseases, and not claiming to cure everything. Also because they have the exact formula printed on each bottle label, thereby enabling the purchaser to know just what he is taking. The time is rapidly approaching when intelligent people will refuse to take quack cure-alls, the ingredients of which are kept secret, but will insist upon knowing just what they are taking.

We have on hand constantly a fresh and complete stock of DRUGS, FANCY GOODS, PERFUMERY,
Etc.: also all the leading
PATENT MEDICINES.
Prescriptions carefully Dispensed
Good Value Guaranteed. Favor us with a Call.

The Moon still Shines.

THOUGH SMALL DOGS BARK.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument, made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

WE observe the gorgeous display in the windows of the Lion—one a lovely mourning window in memoriam of the departure of 1885, in the centre of which is a lovely young lady typical of the New Year. In another window is a basket of coins, the object of which will be explained to any one visiting the Lion.

CITY COUNCIL.—On account of the elections, as provided by law, the regular meeting of the Council was not held last night, but takes place to-night at the usual hour. The last meeting of the old Council will be held on Monday morning the 17th instant at 9 o'clock and the new Council at eleven o'clock, and then again at the regular time in the evening.

BY a recent number of the Fort Macleod Gazette, kindly handed to us by Col. Higinbotham, we learn that a long looked for addition to the Mounted Police had arrived there. It consists of "H" troop, embracing three officers and ninety-five non-commissioned officers and men. Among the latter is Sergt. Greet, brother of Mr T. Y. MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Stevenson Re-Elected Mayor

BY 74 OF A MAJORITY OVER BOTH HIS OPPONENTS.

The Aldermanic Elections.

THE MAYORALTY CANDIDATES ADDRESS THE AUDIENCE.

No doubt owing to the disagreeable state of the weather, the interest in the municipal elections was not so keen yesterday as it otherwise would have been, but nevertheless, there was a large vote polled for Mayor and Aldermen. Shortly after five o'clock, the hour of closing the polls, the electors began to come in an kept coming in until after six, when the City Hall was well filled with people anxious to learn the result of the contest. One of the returns—from Brill's store—was in eight minutes after five, but it was a quarter to seven before the last came in, which was considered an unnecessary delay by the impatient ratepayers. When the figures were totalled up it was found that Mayor Stevenson had polled 577 votes, Mr Howard 285, and Ald. Walker 218, thus giving Mr Stevenson a majority of 74 over both his opponents. It was a noticeable feature in the election that quite a number of ladies availed themselves of the privilege of the franchise.

When the result was made known, the candidates, who were in the Clerk's office waiting the returns, were called to the City Hall to address the meeting.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Brill, that Ald Goldie take the chair. This was carried, but Ald. Goldie could not be found, and the meeting called for ex-Mayor Chase to occupy the position.

In opening the meeting, Mr Chase mentioned that he had been put in an unfortunate position, as he was one of those who nominated Mr Howard. The battle had been hardly fought and fairly won. He would call upon Mr Stevenson, Mayor elect, to address the meeting.

The Mayor on coming forward was received with enthusiastic cheers. He thanked the electors for the honor which they had done him in again re-electing him to the Civic Chair. It had never once entered his mind that he would be elected by such a handsome majority, and he keenly felt the weight of the heavy obligation which rested on his shoulders. Last year he was an untried man as regarded the executive of the City. He told the electors then, as he did now, that he would do all that lay in his power for the well-being of the City in every respect. It appeared from their verdict that the electors were satisfied with the manner in which he had conducted the business of the City, and he thanked them from the bottom of his heart for the big majority they had rolled up for him. During his candidature several things had been spoken against him, one or two of the worst of which he would briefly refer to. It had been said in the Herald that he was behind the times and could not push on the work of the City so vigorously as a younger man. The record of the past year was sufficient refutation of that. The Council of 1885 had done more work, with less noise, than any previous Council for a number of years. He did not know of a single matter that they had left unsettled for the Council of 1886. During the canvass he had never said an unkind word of his opponents, and he thought the contest had been honorably conducted on every side. During his canvass he had met with some strange things. It had been told him that he had veered around, like a weather cock, on the Scott Act question. He had defined his position on the Scott Act last year. Every one of them knew what that was, and his opinions had not changed. A writer in the Herald had stated that the present Council had elected the worst men that could have been found to look after our railway matters. He would ask if such men as Ald. Goldie, one of our largest shippers, Ald. Macdonald with all his legal experience, Alds. Brill and Hortop also large shippers, and Ald. Bruce with his practical knowledge, were the worst men that could be found to fill the position mentioned. He would ask where could a better committee be found? Then reference had been made to the Union station. Every one present knew as well as he did on what conditions the railway authorities were to build it. They desired to shut up the Huskisson and Neeve street crossings, two of our principal thoroughfares, and this, while he had anything to do with the City, he would never consent to. It was well known that these large corporations always tried to get the advantage of smaller ones. He would make it his aim to secretly guard the interests of the City, nor bend to any corporation however strong. In a letter in the Herald written by Mr. C. Davidson, the corporation was charged with neglect in railway matters for not entertaining Sir Henry Tyler when he passed through here recently. The Council received no notification of Sir Henry's visit, and he supposed, like himself, they were personally ignorant of it. Why did not Mr. Davidson, who appeared to be so attentive to the interests of the City, inform the Council, and then there would at least have been an opportunity of considering what was best to do? It had been said that the present Council had done nothing in the matter of railways. He would ask what the Councils of the past ten years had done? Nothing much beyond running all over the country and having a high old time at the City's expense. Yet the present Council had done something towards railway matters. They had made a rough survey of the proposed routes to connect with the Credit Valley, so as to have some idea of the cost. It was in answer to his letter that Mr. Lumsden came here recently, and was met by the business men of the City, who talked over the matter with Mr. Lumsden. Some people can see great possibilities after they have passed away. He had been twitted about the remark that he made on the hustings regarding shaking the horny hand of the working man. He would rather shake the hand of a man of honest principle although clad in rags than the hand of an unprincipled man clad in broadcloth, no matter how high his station. Some nasty things had been said about him in the Herald, during the campaign, to which he thought it beneath his dignity to reply. It had been said that when Mr. Lumsden came he skulked out of the way, and was afraid to go into a hotel. He was the third person to shake Mr. Lumsden by the hand and stayed with him the whole forenoon and part of the afternoon. Was there any skulk in that? Citizens would find that wherever the interests of Guelph were concerned there would be no skulk ound in him. This year the Council would probably have to deal with the enforcement of the Scott Act, and he would ask the co-operation of the ratepayers in assisting him in protecting the morals of young men, and against the illicit sale of liquor. He did not dread the license victuallers, whom he considered too honourable to do such a thing, but the dives which will spring up as they have done in other places. He wanted to do all he could for the moral welfare of the City as well as for its material interests. A few weeks ago an indecent show came here, and he had taken such steps to squeeze out the nastiness of it that there was nothing left worth seeing. The police must do their duty, and he said it kindly. The Mayor took his seat amid cheers.

Mr George Howard was received with cheers. He remarked that during all the times that he had appealed to the electors for municipal suffrages this was the second time that he appeared as a defeated candidate. He thanked his supporters for the vote given him. Last year he was nominated without his consent, and retired. He was again nominated this year, and did not feel at liberty to retire. He had no hesitation in saying that a more vigorous policy should be pursued in our railway affairs, which had he been elected he would have attended to, but as he was not, he was at liberty to attend to his own little business, which would pay him better perhaps than attending to the interests of the City. Had it devolved upon him to administer the law in connection with the liquor question, he would have striven to do what was right between both parties, and give justice to every man. The Mayor's remarks savoured somewhat of an ante-election speech. In contests of these sort he had always allowed bygones to be bygones. The former speaker had made reference to writers in the newspapers. He could take up, if he desired, and criticise writers on the other side. With regard to public matters he thought that a little more vigor should be thrown into their administration, especially in the matter of railways. If the matter was pushed he thought it would not be long before some scheme would be forthcoming which could be placed before the ratepayers for their approval or disapproval. A reflection had been cast on the Councils of previous years. One of his first suggestions when he was elected Mayor in 1876 was that the by-laws of the City should be consolidated. The Council, on the score of expense, did not see fit to deal with it. Again when elected in 1879 he made the same suggestion. A committee was appointed on these by-laws, and it recommended the matter to be put in the hands of the City Solicitor, which was done. The work was one which involved a great deal of labour. This labour was in getting the by-laws in shape. All the Council had to do was to assent to them, so their share of the work as a whole was small. He again thanked his supporters for the vote given him and took his seat.

Ald. Walker thanked the gentlemen who had voted for him. All that had been said in reference to the last Council by the Mayor he agreed with, and he hoped that the Council of 1886 would continue in the same policy of economy as that of 1885.

The meeting broke up at half-past seven with cheers for the Queen.

GALT ELECTION.—This election was one of the most warmly contested that has occurred in Galt for years. The Mayoralty was especially hot, the candidates being Mr. R. Scott, who filled the Mayor's chair so creditably last year, and Mr. T. Cowan, who assumes the position of leader of the Conservative party in the Riding. Between these two the contest was made to turn largely on the propriety of the Mayor's action in investing the Galt sinking fund moneys in debentures of the Guelph and Ontario Investment and Savings Society. The people of Galt have pronounced emphatically in favor of the Mayor's action, Mr. Cowan being defeated by the overwhelming majority of 287. The Guelph and Ontario Investment and Savings Society is manifestly considered abroad, as it has long been known by the people of Guelph to be one of the most substantial and carefully conducted monetary institutions of the Province.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The first meeting of the Week of Prayer was held in Dublin Street Methodist Church last evening, and considering the weather was well attended. Rev. Mr. Carson opened the meeting, Rev Mr. Beattie leading in prayer. Earnest and excellent addresses were delivered by Dr. Wardrope and Rev. Mr. McGregor, showing the great cause for thankfulness for the privileges and blessings we enjoy, and for the opening up of the nations of the earth to the reception of the gospel. The Rev. Dr. Torrance gave out that the meeting will be in Chalmers' Church this evening.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES ELECTIONS.—The elections for School Trustees for the Board of Education takes place to-morrow. The polls will be opened from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. There will only be an election in two wards, viz. St. Patrick's, A. McKenzie and Joshua Kribs, and in St. George's, Wm. Burgess and Peter Anderson. As was mentioned in these columns some time ago the nominees for the other wards were elected by acclamation. Mr. P. Downey having retired as a candidate for the Separate School Board in St. James' Ward,—the only ward in which opposition was offered—all the retiring trustees are re-elected by acclamation.

PLAYING CROQUET IN JANUARY.—Last week mention was made of two or three games of croquet having been played in the City. To-day comes a report from Guelph Township stating that Mr. David Kennedy of Guelph Township and Mr. Edward Nicklin of the Speedvale Mills, played a game of croquet on the green on New Year's Day. It is not ascertained which of the gentlemen won, but it is worthy of note that a game of this kind was played on the first of January, an occurrence which might not take place again for many years. The combatants are both well-known and highly respected residents of Guelph Township, Mr. Nicklin being a native of the County and Mr. Kennedy a resident for over fifty years.

The libel suit of the Hon. Mr. Laflamme against the Toronto Mail for $25,000 will come up for a hearing at Montreal on the 11th inst. Mr. Laflamme, among other things, was accused of ballot box stuffing in the Jacques Cartier election.

It is stated that over $2,000 has now been collected for the benefit of Riel's family.

Guelph Daily Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G, JAN. 5, 1886.

The Elections on Monday.

Mr. Stevenson may well be congratulated on the result of the election on Monday. Considering the nature of the opposition brought against him his victory is all the more conspicuous and decided, and is an unmistakeable evidence that the great bulk of the ratepayers regarded his candidature in the light in which we viewed it from the first. His course of action and conduct during the year met with general approval. His interest in all matters affecting the welfare of the city was apparent throughout, and according to the best of his judgment he followed this up by taking such action as he deemed best to advance its interests. Moreover, there was a sense of justice in the minds of a large portion of the ratepayers that such being his course during the year past, he was fairly entitled to a renewal of their confidence and support. On these and other grounds, which it is needless to specify, he received a very large vote, which he may with pardonable pride regard as an endorsation of his conduct as Mayor for 1885, and which will no doubt be an incentive to him to more fully come up to the hopes and expectations of his supporters in the year on which we have entered, and by his conduct extort even praise and approbation from those who may have opposed him at this time.

Of the new Council we cannot speak with confidence because there are a number of new men in it, and they are yet untried. But we trust and hope that they will prove themselves worthy the confidence of the ratepayers, that they will apply themselves with energy and zeal to the work, that they will inculcate and practice a judicious economy, and that they will act with a single eye to further every scheme which has for its results the present and future prosperity of our city.

THE rebellion losses are being gradually footed up. By the time they are all ascertained the country will stand aghast over the cost of a Government's procrastination. The commission has already passed claims for damages to private property and for "contingent expenses" to the amount of $3,250,060 in Winnipeg alone, and one-third of the claims are yet to be considered.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD has been enjoying a banquet in London, and must have greatly appreciated the buttered parsnips there, since, "amid the walnuts and the wine," he endeavours to give his French Canadian friends a share. He defended them from charges of disloyalty, and paid them several other passing compliments. A few weeks ago, his chief organ, the Mail, was threatening to smash them into smithereens. Probably Sir John is anxious to return by way of Quebec in the day time.

THE efforts of the Mail to make it appear that the Liberal party of Ontario condemn the execution of Riel, and are prepared to vote Sir John out of power for carrying out the sentence of the court, have signally failed. None of the Liberal papers in Ontario, so far as we have seen, have taken that ground; nor have any of our leading Reformers expressed such views. But when Sir John's own supporters in Quebec take this view of the matter and express a determination to vote against the Government, certainly the Liberals have no reason to feel very sad. It would be strange indeed, if we should forget all at once the indignities that the Mail has heaped upon us, and the attitude of that paper in every contest that Ontario has had with the Dominion.—Orangeville Advertiser.

IT was a very wet day in Toronto yesterday, as wet as elsewhere, but nobody seems to have been so completely drowned out as ex-Mayor Manning, who was defeated at the polls by his youthful and inexperienced opponent, Mr. W. H. Howland, by a majority of 1,655. Mr. Manning according to his supporting organs, had the interests of the High Church, the Board of Trade, the Commercial and business men, the brewers and liquor dealers, and several others at his back. Mr. Howland according to the same organs had nothing but a few religious enthusiasts behind him. The organs even went so far as to sneer at the impudence of such people for desiring to use their influence in the promotion of good municipal government. Mayor Manning had been guilty of many questionable transactions, and especially had he been careful of Mr. Manning's own interests. It is now seen that when the respectable element of a city is once aroused, jobbery and corruption must go to the wall. Mr. Howland's career has been beyond reproach, and it is expected that he will bring to bear on the public business of Toronto that sterling integrity which he has hitherto shown in private life. Mr. Howland did not pose as the candidate of any party, but his return will spread dismay among the liquor interest, and those classes which have been exempted from the operations of existing by-laws. To the temperance party, the working men and the ladies of Toronto Mayor elect Howland owes his great majority.

The victory proclaims in unmistakeable terms that the people of Toronto are determined to pay more attention to moral reforms than they have hitherto done; for we ascribe it mainly to the popular conviction that, besides infusing new life into the civic departments, Mr. Howland is prepared to make an effort to rid the city of the unlicensed groggeries with which it abounds.—Mail, Jan. 5.

THIS looks like repentence after conviction, since the Mail did its best to defeat the man who, besides infusing new life into the civic departments, will make an effort to rid the city of the unlicensed groggeries with which it abounds.

THE French people have safely passed through another political crisis, and no revolution has followed. Notwithstanding the determined stand made by the Monarchists of the several schools, who united to defeat the common enemy, the Republicans scored a substantial victory, and have quietly entered upon a new lease of power. The French are apparently losing their love of riot and insurrection, and are learning to appreciate the constitutional freedom and peaceable government which has been given to them. M. Greevy, the grand old man of the French Republic, may safely be left to bind still more firmly together the people's love for democratic government, and will be ably seconded by M. Freycinet, who has concluded to form a new cabinet and is now engaged in the task of selecting members. M. de Freycinet's programme will include reform of the budget, reform of the administration and organization of a system of government in Annam and Tonquin, reducing the protectorate to the smallest necessary limits.

The Moral Injury Done to the Country.

I recollect well in 1878, after the fate of battle had gone against us, that in addressing an audience in Western Canada I said that, whatever they might think of the fiscal policy which was about to be inaugurated, they had wholly overlooked the moral injury which was about to result to the country from the restoration to power of men who were known to be corrupt in every shape and sense. I told them then as I tell you now to-day, that I believe that all the good that is done by individual effort, by all the churches, by all the colleges, by all the Sunday schools, by all the temperance societies, combined and working for a generation, would not counteract the moral injury done to the youth of our country from seeing men placed by the election of the people in the highest places in our gift, who are stained with such corruption and falsehood as Sir John was known to be. The warning I gave them I now repeat. I believe that the results which I then ventured to predict have taken place. But had I said in 1878 that in seven years thirteen million dollars would be added to the annual expenditure by men who accused Mr. Mackenzie's Government of extravagance; had I said that the public debt would reach three hundred million dollars; had I said that you would be threatened with a deficit of five or six millions, I believe that my own friends would have said that I was speaking wildly and madly; that Sir John would never be guilty of the insensate folly and knavery of inflicting such injury upon his country; more than all, that long before these things had developed the native good sense of the people would have hurled him from the power he abused. And now that all these have occurred, and that you see what is the natural result of placing again in power men who had never by word or deed testified to their repentance for the wrong and injury they have done their country, I appeal to you, and particularly to my fellow-countrymen in the Province of Ontario, at long last, with all these things before you, to do justice and judgment, and to decree that the man on whom, before God and in the sight of the people, rests the crime of all the loss of blood and treasure in the Northwest, shall at last be compelled to abide the punishment he has justly deserved.—Sir Richard Cartwright at Orillia.

At 27 Lower Wyndham Street, Guelph, Ont.

Special and urgent attention is directed to the unrivalled and excellent display of almost every conceivable thing in the line of Dry Goods, suitable for the holiday trade. Nor do I allow the keenest competition to offer to the public better value or lower prices. Now what I ask the readers of this advertisement to do, is to come in and take a look through my stock. You can do this with a great deal of pleasure, even if you do not buy anything, for remember one of the features of my business is not to persistently press and bore every visitor to buy, as they know is so frequently the case in many shops. Come in and look through, if you feel like buying, well and good, if you don't, you will at least see the nicest Christmas display in the Royal City. Then there are many lines in which I offer special cuts on prices. For instance—

Ladies' Cloth Mantles, at 50c. in the $.
Ladies' Astrachan Mantles—Very Cheap.
Ladies' and Gents' Fur Caps, at 70c. on the $.
Men's and Youths' Overcoats, at Clearing Prices.
Dress Goods, at reductions of 20 to 30 per cent.
Silks, at special holiday prices.

And so all through my stock. Attractions for man, woman, and child and prices the very lowest.

ADDIE DAVIS' SUICIDE.

Dr Reeves Severely Censured For not Trying to Save Her Life.

The inquest on the body of the girl Adelaide Davis, who suicided on Thursday in Toronto, was concluded late on Saturday night, the jury returning a verdict that deceased came to her death by her own hand, and added: "This jury cannot speak in too strong terms of the inhumanity of Dr. Reeves in this matter, and request the coroner to bring his conduct before the Ontario Board of Physicians and Surgeons." It came out in evidence that when Sutherland returned and found that the girl had poisoned herself he led her downstairs to Dr. Reeves' office, but Reeves refused to attend her, and ordered Sutherland to "take her out of that."

DRAYTON.

Opening of the Farmers' Institute.

DRAYTON, Jan 4.—The Farmers' Institute for this district was opened here today with over one hundred present. James McEwan presided. Prof. Brown, Guelph Agricultural College, read a paper on some new features of the dairying interest, which excited a long and interesting discussion. A paper on the "Rotation of Crops," by Ira Burrows, Maryboro, also proved interesting and instructive, and provoked discussion. In the evening Prof. Barre read a paper on "Dairying." The prominent men of the locality gave addresses, and a choice programme of music was furnished.

Guelph Patriotic Fund.

The following is the report of the President and Secretary of the Guelph Ladies' Patriotic Relief Society, together with the financial statement of the Treasurer, which give full details of all that has been done by the ladies' who went about their work in such an active and energetic manner:

TO THE LADIES OF THE GUELPH PATRIOTIC RELIEF SOCIETY.

We, the Secretary and Treasurer, beg respectfully to submit to this meeting a short report of what has been done in assisting the destitute settlers and yeoman soldiers in the Northwest since the rebellion.

After this society had been properly organized collectors were appointed to solicit money or clothing for the above purpose, and very heartily were they responded to, having succeeded in collecting $632.90 and much valuable clothing.

At a general meeting subsequently held the Secretary reported having obtained information that no organization of this kind had as yet rendered any assistance to the volunteers in and about Calgary, known as the "Alberta Field Force," under General Strange, many of whom had left their farms at a very great sacrifice. The Secretary was instructed to write to Mrs. Strange, the General being absent, asking her to name one or two reliable persons who would see to the proper distribution of the goods to be sent, an answer to which letter was in due time received and published in the daily papers. An extract from the same reads as follows:

"I believe yours to be the only society that has come forward to assist the local volunteers. I will forward Gen. Strange an account of all you are doing for his men. I will take all possible precautions to insure the clothing being fairly and justly divided. The bales will in the first place be sent to the barracks to await the General's arrival. Should he not return with his men, Captain Steele, a good, kind man, and an excellent officer, and 50 of his men, will do all in his power to carry out your wishes and instructions. My eldest son, who has been on his father's staff all through, will be able to give his help. I thought the best person to consign the settler's clothing to would be Mr Hardisty, of the Hudson Bay Company. He is now in Edmonton and knows all the settlers on the different forts along the northern trails."

A committee was then appointed to purchase what was thought to be most useful and serviceable, and the sum of $510.41 was laid out on the different articles hereafter mentioned:—There were five bales, consisting of the following articles, viz., 300 men's woollen shirts, 300 pairs woollen socks, 150 tuques, 150 pocket handkerchiefs, 150 towels, and 150 combs. These were forwarded to General Strange's Cow Boys, numbering 150 men, and were acknowledged by the General as follows:—"The clothing so kindly sent by the ladies of Guelph was given to my Cow Boy cavalry, by Mr. Steele, and thankfully received by them," and also acknowledged by Captain Oswald, of the Alberta Field Force, on behalf of the members. "I beg to tender you our sincere thanks for the more than serviceable present of clothing, etc., you so kindly sent us. I need not add that the articles were highly appreciated, and your kind forethought in thinking of us, in our Lone Land, will always be gratefully remembered by us all."

The other four bales sent to be distributed to the settlers consisted chiefly of the following articles, viz:—No. 1 bale contained mostly new cloth unmade, men's shirts and mitts; No. 2 chiefly women's and children's under clothing; No. 3 women's and children's clothing donated, boots and jackets; No. 4 chiefly men's clothing. These bales were acknowledged in a letter from Mr. Hardisty to General Strange, an extract of which is here given: "Having considered that the White Fish Lake Indians suffered more than any others between this and Fort Pitt, I had the goods sent to them. They are very destitute, having had no crops of any kind, not even potatoes. They have been very grateful for what has been done as the Revd. John McDougald's letter which accompanies this will show how thankful they are."

Revd. Mr. McDougald's letter to General Strange above referred to:—"While at White Fish Lake I witnessed the distribution of some of the clothing by Packan, the chief, among the destitute of his band. The chief knew that the clothing had been sent through you, and requested me to convey to you his and his people's intense gratitude for this special mark of your favor, and also to say to you that he would do all in his power to make himself and people more worthy of the friendship of yourself, as also that of every loyal white-man."

And, lastly, we will but quote from Gen. Strange's letter the following:—"The bales of goods intended for the destitute white settlers between Calgary and Edmonton were sent on to Edmonton, no white settlers being located between said places, and it was thought best by Mr. Hardisty and the Revd. John McDougald to distribute them to the White Fish Lake Indians, under a chief named Packan, who, with his tribe, have been steady, loyal, and resisted Big Bear's attempts to coerce them into joining. Packan's band has been a good deal under the influence of Protestant missionaries. Tribes under such influence have as a rule not gone against us. Under the circumstances I think the clothing has been distributed where most needed. Will you please convey the thanks of the White Fish Lake Indians to the ladies of Guelph."

We would further add that the goods were forwarded by the C. P. R. from Guelph to Port Arthur free of charge, and the Treasurer's statement will show the amount paid to Calgary and Edmonton, which we trust will be satisfactory.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) ADA WEBSTER, Secretary.
MRS. CHAS. RAYMOND, Pres.

Guelph, Dec. 31st, 1885.

The minutes of the last meeting were as follows:

It was moved and seconded that the balance of money on hand be forwarded to Battleford to be distributed among the destitute in that locality, and that the Secretary be instructed first to write to the Rev. Principal Clark, Battleford, with regard to the destitution, and offer such assistance.

THE GOLDEN

THE

DRY GOODS KING

The LION sends his greetings to his thousands of friends. The LION is happy and he is to make his Patrons happy also.

While Grit and Tory, Tory and Grit are pounding away at each other, THE LION is hard at it, early in the morning and late at night.

Our Mammoth Stock all fresh from the British Markets. No old Shop keepers in our house.

Besides the Great Prize we offer, we have presents for everybody of every kind.

Here follows some of the Great Bargains:

$1.00 Kid Gloves for 25 cents,
25 cent French Corsets, for 45 cents.
$4.00 Muffs, for $2.00.
$1.50 Fur Caps, for 75 cents.
Ladies Underwear, Reduced 25 per cent.
50 cent Cashmere Gloves, Now selling at 25 cents.
395 Overcoats, $5.00 each, cannot be bought elsewhere under $7.50.
Scotch Tweed Pants, $1.95 a pair.
Suits, Suits, Suits, to choose from and in progress of being made. All wool for $5.00 a suit.
Men's Shirts and Drawers, 75c a set.
Heavy Grey Flannel, only 17 cents worth 25c.

500 CHOICE MANTLES

All the leading styles to go during the festive season at half price. Our Mantle Trade this season has been something enormous. We have manufactured upwards of two hundred and fifty from the substantial Tweed at $2.50 up to the finest Sealette at $50. During the Christmas week we put our

SILK DEPARTMENT

In the hands of our visitors. Every piece of Silk shall be sold at net cost price. We hold upwards of Ten Thousand Dollars of value in Black and Colored Silks and Satins. Never was such an offer made to the people. Let all take advantage of it and secure a dress These we do not job to our neighbor merchants. We intend this benefit solely for our patrons.

Gentlemen Friends are asking the question, What shall I give Mary, Louisa, Nellie, &c., &c. Well, we suggest a Silk Dress, a Muff, a Fur Cap, a soft German Wool Wrap, of which the LION has thousands. The LION'S stock is capacious, no stint of variety. Every one is speaking of the large stock at the LION, that means a good choice, plenty to choose from, you have your taste gratified and at a much less price than you are charged in the retail shops. Why! Because we buy from the makers. The LION imports his stock. The LION gladly welcomes his friends and hopes to see them all during the next ten days, and strangers who may come from a distance and not acquainted with the city, look for the GRAND OLD LION over the door of the Mammoth Store, Lower Wyndham Street, for the last 30 years.

The Queen's Speech.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—It is settled that the Queen's speech will announce the introduction of the Irish Bill resolved on by the Cabinet on Saturday. The decision met with strong opposition, the landed element in the Ministry being solid in favor of restricting the Bill to an enlargement of the authority of existing local boards. The Bill is being drafted and will be ready for presenting early next week. The Queen has approved of the principles of the measure. The Legislative Chambers are to have exclusive authority over the revenue and expenditure of the country. The Chambers will have power to undertake public works, such as the construction of harbours. There is no authority over the police, militia, tariffs, or external relations in any shape. Provision is made against the threatened creation of a national volunteer army through the establishment of rifle clubs by the retention of the puritive statutes and Imperial control over all moneys raised, whether by rates or loans.

Marine Disasters.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The steamer which was sunk in a collision off Syracuse, on Saturday, was not the Anchor Line steamer Sidonian.

The chief officer and four men of the British steamer Newnham have arrived at Bermuda in a small boat, and reported that they left the steamer on Christmas Day 60 miles east of here in a helpless condition with her shaft broken. A tug started out but failed to find her. A steamer has started to look for her.

The New French Cabinet.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—M. De. Freycinet has concluded to form a new Cabinet and is now engaged in the task of selecting members. Several members of the late Ministry will accept a portfolio in the Cabinet of M. De. Freycinet. It is probable that the only new Ministers will be Constans, Spuller, and Gen. Davout, and that Constans will be the Minister of Public Instructions, and Davout Minister of War.

Affairs in the East.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The inhabitants of the Island of Crete have petitioned the Powers to liberate the Island from Turkish domination.

Negotiations for the despatch of a Turkish force to the Soudan are proceeding on the basis of an offensive and defensive alliance between Great Britain and Turkey. The Cabinet are willing to guarantee the integrity of the Ottoman Empire in Asia, but strong opposition is shown to committing the country to military operations in Europe beyond the defence of Constantinople. There is a growing tension between France, England, and Germany on the Asiatic question. The French Government have requested further explanations of the annexation of Burmah and guarantees of French interests. Lord Salisbury gives assurances that French interests will be respected, and that the trade route to be opened up through Burmah to the heart of China will be free to French commerce.

Where the Snow Is.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—The severe snow and sleet storm which has been raging throughout the North-west since Saturday, has seriously interfered with the telegraph wires in all directions. A despatch received at Sioux City, Iowa, last night, reported that there was a blizzard there.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 4.—A severe wind and snow storm set in last night, and this morning, the streets and sidewalks of this city and Minneapolis were blockaded in many places by drifts two and three feet deep. Travel is greatly impeded.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 4.—The worst snow blockade known in years prevails here and extends 180 miles west. Cuts twenty feet deep are filled and train movements practically suspended. The weather is mild.

Protecting the Ministers.

QUEBEC, Jan. 4.—At the last meeting of the Civil Police Board Col. Vohl, Chief of the City Police, was asked to explain why he diverted from their regular duty a strong detachment of his force on the morning of the 23rd December last to meet Sir Hector Langevin and Sir Adolphe Caron at the railway station when the Government organs denied that their services had been requested or needed. Col. Vohl replied that he had been specially requested by Caron's friends to send a number of his men for the Ministers' protection, as danger was feared. It has also been ascertained beyond question that Caron's friends, fearing that the police would be unable to protect him, hired a number of bullies for the occasion, paying their leaders $5 each and others $2.50 each for their services.

A Man Among the Hay.

MONTREAL, Jan. 4.—The Clerk of the hay market was weighing a load of hay to-day, when his attention was called to what seemed to be the arm of a man protruding from the hay near the top of the load. The owner when asked for an explanation said it was only a coat, but this not satisfying the clerk a policeman was called, and upon examining the load he found a man concealed in the top, covered by the hay. He said he had been hired by the vendor to allow himself to be weighed.

Nervous Debilitated men,

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

A Good Year Gone.

W. J. JOYCE & Co.,

WISH TO THANK THE MANY WHO PATRONIZED them last year. This firm sold more goods in December, '85, than any two furniture stores west of Toronto. What is the secret? They buy immense quantities for spot cash, fair and honest dealing, and no mean school boy tricks. Our prices are always right. We are bound to please.

Local News

A CHARGE against Warden Massie, of the Central Prison, Toronto, of assaulting a prisoner, has fallen through.

MR. DAVID TRIPP, boot and shoemaker, has removed from St. George's Square to the larger premises formerly occupied by the Montreal Tea Co.

ROBT. MITCHELL, Grocer, who has the Agricultural College creamery butter for sale, received an order to day from Government House, Ottawa, for a supply of the same.

ALD. STULL, who has been confined to bed for the past five weeks, caused by some ailment in the head, was on the market yesterday for the first time since laid up.

MARTIN MARA was before Judge Drew yesterday for sentence in connection with the Watson-Sheahan burglaries. His Honor again deferred sentence until Tuesday of next week.

THE clock in the Council Chamber seemed to have got tired hearing the reading of the consolidated by-laws last night. It struck work at 28 minutes past eleven. Several of the Aldermen did not discover the fact until the Council had adjourned.

FAIR DAY.—The regular monthly cattle fair was held to-day. There were very few cattle offered and these were only of a fair quality. The prices paid ranged from 3 to 4 cents per pound. There were quite a few milch cows on the grounds. The prices for these ran from $25 to $40, according to quality.

THE union prayer meeting held last night was in Chalmers' Church. It was presided over by Dr. Torrance, who with the Rev. Mr. Holmes gave addresses in keeping with the subjects appointed for the meeting. The attendance was good. The meeting to-night will be held in the Congregational Church.

ADMISSION CANDIDATES.—Word has been received by the Inspector of Public Schools for the city, that all the candidates for entrance to the Collegiate Institute here, provisionally admitted by the Local Board of Examiners at the late examinations, have been allowed by the Department of Education.

THE Inspector stopped a man from drinking—no selling beer without a license on Frederick Street the other day, and had to pay the usual fine of $20 and cost.—Berlin News. The Inspector will doubtless not do it again. It is too much to ask a man to pay $20 and costs for stopping another from taking an illegal drink.

OFFICIAL DECLARATION. — At twelve o'clock to-day City Clerk Mitchell, Returning Officer for the municipal elections, made his declaration as furnished by the returning officers in the various polling sub divisions of the city. The only changes from the list published in yesterday's MERCURY are:—Howard 284, instead of 285; Walker 221, instead of 218. For Aldermen—Carter's majority 110, instead of 105; Stull's 71, instead of 72; Wells' 103, instead of 121; and Husband's 208, instead of 209.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—This evening, Jan. 6th, meeting in Congregational church, to be addressed by Mr Carson and Mr Kilgour. Subjects "The Church and the Family." That the Church of Christ may be more united in the bonds of faith and love; that, holding fast the head, it may grow with the increase of God; that it may be delivered from false apostles and wolves in sheep's clothing; that Christ may be all in all in its teaching; and that the grace and power of the Holy Spirit may rest more and more on Christian families; on all engaged in the training and education of the young, on Sunday schools, and on Christian associations of young men and young women.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—At the regular meeting of Royal Lodge, No. 60, A. O. U. W., held on Monday evening, the following officers were duly installed for the ensuing year by District Deputy Bro. Hugh Macdonald:

Bro. W. W. Bilton, P. M. W.
" E. Cunningham, M. W.
" W. H. Ziegler, Foreman.
" W. J. Fairbanks, Overseer.
" W. H. Toule, Recorder.
" W. H. Jacomb, Receiver.
" W. A. Suddaby, Financier.
" J. Hutchinson, Guide.
" Peter Walker, Inside Watch.
" Thos. Simmons, Outside Watch.

Representative to Grand Lodge, Bro. P. M. Workman, W. W. Bilton.

The officers of Guelph Lodge were installed last night by D. D. G. M. Macdonald, assisted by P. M. W.'s Stewart and Walker.

SENTENCED FOR CARRYING A REVOLVER AND BURGLARS' TOOLS.—Harry Bennett appeared before Judge Drew yesterday, on the charge of carrying a loaded revolver. It will be remembered that the prisoner was arrested by Chief Randall in Rockwood, on suspicion of being implicated in the burglary of Watson's store. The evidence of Chief Randall and P. C. Flowers was taken, which showed that the prisoner carried a revolver, for which he could not give a satisfactory account, and also had burglars' tools in his possession. His Honor found him guilty, imposing a sentence of six months in the Central Prison on the first charge. On the charge of having burglar's tools in his possession he was sentenced to a year and eleven months in the Central Prison, to commence when he has served his term for carrying a revolver. He was then charged with having a hand in burglarizing Mr. Watson's store. He elected to be tried by a jury, and the case will be heard at the March Assizes.

School Trustee Elections.

There is more interest in the election of School Trustees manifested to-day than there has been for several years. In St. George's Ward the contest between Mr. Wm. Burgess and Mr. Peter Anderson is keen and close, and a large number of votes have been polled. In St. Patrick's Ward there is also considerable interest displayed, Alex. Mackenzie and Joshua Kribs being the candidates. In St. James' Ward there is not so much interest taken. H. W. Peterson and A. Pike are the candidates for this Ward. In yesterday's issue the names of the candidates for this Ward was unintentionally omitted, it having been understood that Mr. Pike had retired. The following is the result of the vote, which is an open one, up to 3.30 o'clock:

ST. PATRICK'S WARD.

Alex. Mackenzie	59
Joshua Kribs	39

ST. GEORGE'S WARD.

Wm. Burgess	114
Peter Anderson	111

ST. JAMES' WARD.

A. Pike	6

Fashionable Wedding.

Trinity Church, Barrie, was the scene on Tuesday of one of those happy events which usually create such a sensation. The church was filled to the doors, the fair sex forming the larger proportion. The occasion was the marriage of Sarah, eldest daughter of W. C. Schrieber, Esq., of Allandale, to E. F. B. Johnston, Deputy-Attorney-General, of Toronto, formerly of this City. Rev. E. Murphy, of Trinity Church, Barrie, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Reiner, officiated. Promptly at three o'clock the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, the organ pealing forth the wedding march. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Schrieber, sister of the bride, Miss Cotter, of Barrie, Miss Fanny Hall, of Guelph, and Miss Minno Cotter, of Barrie. The groom was supported by Mr. Frank Hall and Mr. J. W. B. Walsh, of this city, Mr. Richard Barrick, of Toronto, and Mr. B. Schrieber, brother of the bride.

The bride looked extremely handsome, dressed in cream coloured brocade and satin, and a long flowing veil. The bridesmaids were dressed in cream coloured cloth embroidered with chenille. They all carried beautiful large bouquets. After the ceremony they drove to "The Boulders," the residence of the bride's father near Allandale, where Mrs. Schrieber held an "At Home." The guests were very numerous, amongst them Mr. and Mrs. Collingwood Schrieber, of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Cotter, Mr. and Mrs. Dickenson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lount and Miss Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Pepler, Judge and Mrs. Ardagh, Mr. and Mrs. Barwick, Mr. and Mrs. Wish, Mr. and Mrs. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie, Mr. and Mrs. Strathy, Misses Mocskridge, Mr. J. A. McCarthy and others, of Barrie; Miss Bellhouse and Mr. E. P. Adams, of Hamilton; Mr. John A. McLean, of Guelph, and Mr. Esten Williams, of Toronto, and a number of others. The bride's presents were very numerous and exceedingly handsome.

The Council met on Tuesday evening. Present, the Mayor in the chair, Alds. Lamprey, Bruce, Maddock, Skinner, Hearn, Smith, Walker, Brill, Read, Hortop, Carter, Barber, Husband, Goldie and Macdonald.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Robert Morrison, complaining of the condition of a sidewalk from snow and ice in front of Sheriff Gow's property on the Dundas road. Referred.

From W. F. Clarke, asking for a refund of taxes on property. Referred to Finance.

From J. B. A. Beique, Montreal, in reference to the cost of water pipes which were laid 6 feet deep and under 8 feet. The writer desires to address the new Council on the question. Referred to Water Works Committee.

From John Hewer, asking for a reduction of the finding of court in what is known as "the burnt bond," on the ground that he was unable to pay the whole sum. Referred to Finance.

From the City Clerk, stating that he had been notified by the Secretary of the Board of Education that the Board wish the Council to have clause No. 116 of the Public School Act put in force during the year. The Clerk read the clause which is to the effect that it shall be the duty of the assessor to enter in a book the names of all children in the municipality between the ages of 7 and 13 years, and to return the same to the Secretary of the Board of Trustees at the time of returning the assessment roll.

A GRANT OF $50.

Ald. Smith, chairman of Relief, read a note from James Innes, M.P., asking the Council to accept an enclosed cheque for $50 towards the relief fund of the City, the sum offered being part of his extra sessional allowance.

Moved by Ald. Smith, seconded by Ald. Hearn, that a vote of thanks be tendered to James Innes, M.P., for his handsome and liberal gift to your Relief Committee. Carried.

WATER WORKS.

Ald. Bruce, chairman, reported:—During the past year your committee has been under a heavy expense and a great deal of extra labor on account of the severity of last winter, whereby so many bursts took place. The extra outlay was about $2,000. Your committee recommend that connections with all dead ends be made if possible. The quantity of water pumped during the year was 93,477,380 gallons, coal consumed 875,725 lbs. The quantity of water is more on account of the bursts. The same may be said of the fuel. The committee have also put into the works a pair of new pumps to replace a pair that was entirely worn out. The new pumps were thoroughly tested and gave entire satisfaction. During the year there have been 36 new services put in making a total of about 350 water consumers on the roll. The amount received during the year 1885 from water consumers was $7,769.93. The total amount expended during the year was $7,840.23, which leaves to the credit of your committee the sum of $75.50 besides lead pipe worth $134.87 and brass goods $50, or a total of $260.38. The Water Works Committee before retiring desire to acknowledge the service of James Fordyce, engineer of the water works, for his untiring efforts to make the water works a complete success, and for his extra work as time keeper, pay clerk, and superintendent of the works.

In moving the adoption of the report the chairman paid a high compliment to the efficient manner in which the chief engineer had fulfilled his duties.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Maddock, chairman, reported, giving a detailed account of the appropriation and expenditure on each Street as follows:

STREET.	APPROP.	EXPEN.
Arthur	$ 75 00	$ 63 67
Cork	25 00	27 62
Cardigan	50 00	43 57

Wyndham	350 00	398 00
Yorkshire	40 00	23 75
York Road	30 00	50 70
Total	$2,600 00	$2,853 15

In the Wards the appropriations were $150 each, and the amounts expended as follows:

St. Andrew's	$155 00
St. James'	156 16
St. Patrick's	158 38
St. George's	155 70
St. John's	158 00
St. David's	150 80
Total	$934 04

The contingent expenditures amounted to $830.23; cash in Treasurer's hands December 31st, 56 cents.

Your committee purchased 121,698 feet of lumber during the past year, at a cost of $1,882.59; 2,500 feet were given away for boulevarding, worth $30. We have to our credit in the city yards 1,000 feet of lumber and five cords of cedar blocks, worth in all $31. All the accounts have been paid up to date so that the Board of Works for 1886 can commence with a clean sheet. Your committee strongly recommend that cedar blocks be used as much as possible as their durability over planks will amply repay the extra cost.

The report was adopted.

RELIEF.

Ald. Smith, chairman, reported. The only account they had to present was that from the Fergus Poor House of $105.46, for the maintenance of James Robinson and James Darby, the former for 1 year and 56 days, and the latter for 11⅔ weeks. Your committee dispute the correctness of the account, and have written to Mr. Beattie for a corrected bill or an explanation of the overcharge, but have not as yet received a reply. In the meantime your committee do not recommend the payment of the account. Your committee during the past month disbursed the following relief: Orders, $32; wood, $48; railway passes, $5.30; wood d'lry, $8.60; Mrs. Millar, $4; medical attendance, $5; total $97.90. The total amount disbursed during the year was $961.06, which leaves a balance to the credit of your committee of $245.51. The total value of cordwood on hand, $180, is about the same as your committee began this year with. As per tenth report your committee have advertized for 60 cords of wood for relief supply for '86. The number of people who received assistance during the past year was 121. Cordwood was the largest item disbursed. In reviewing the work of the past year your committee are satisfied that the funds disbursed have been economically and wisely spent in relieving those who are really deserving. Too much credit cannot be given to your Relief Officer, Capt. Clarke, for his energetic and thoroughly efficient services in finding out those who are ashamed to ask for relief—they being often the most needy—and in fully investigating all cases who apply for assistance, some of whom seem to think they have a right to demand relief simply because it is City funds. In comparing the amount spent this year with former years this has been the lowest for more than ten years, and we consider it could not have been accomplished were relief distributed as formerly by the chairman. Your Committee recommend the present system be continued, as being thoroughly efficient and satisfactory in every respect. Adopted.

PARKS AND SHADES.

Ald. Lamprey reported recommending the payment of the following accounts: Fire, Water and Gas House, $6.25; men's wages under John Marriott, $37; removing corpses from old cemetery, $207.62; work at St. George's Square fountain, $48.67; hardware, $8.57; shade trees, $8.90; repairing mowers, $6.35; grass seed, $4.50. Total, $607.86. Adopted.

POLICE COMMITTEE.

Ald. Read reported for the Committee giving in detail the expenses for the year which amounted to $390.68, leaving a balance of $9.32 in the hands of the Committee. The report says:—Your Committee in this their final report cannot resign the trust reposed in them without bearing testimony to the zeal and efficiency of the police force, from the chief downwards, as is borne out by the fact that we have no houses of ill fame, no gambling dens, or other places of questionable or bad repute, and that the management and conduct of the community in which we dwell will compare favorably with any city in our fair Dominion, according to its population. Your Committee respectfully suggest to the incoming council of 1886 the advisability of strengthening the police force by at least one more officer, as they do not consider that the property of the ratepayers is sufficiently protected outside of Wyndham and Quebec streets from burglars and thieves, they not being alone in this opinion, as witness the action of a number of the Wyndham street merchants in appointing a night watchman of their own. The Committee also hope that this year's Council may see their way clear so as an arrangement may be made with the Chief of Police that his residence may be more centrally situated, and if possible connected with telephone, feeling assured that such an arrangement would add considerably to the well being of our good city.

Ald. Maddock, Bruce, Goldie and others members paid the Chief of Police a compliment for the manner in which he had discharged his duties, and were in favor of having everything done recommended in the report. The report was then adopted.

COMPLETION OF CONSOLIDATED BY LAWS.

The Council then proceeded with the consolidation of the city by-laws, dealing with cabs, carters, omnibuses and livery stables, and with the by-law referring to the duties of city officials and the use of public properties, both of which by-laws were finally passed, thus completing the consolidation of by-laws. The principal matters altered in these by-laws are the cab tariff, the licensing of lorry men and livery stables, and provision made for establishing a cricket ground at the exhibition park, which may be let to persons desiring to rent it for public purposes; that the Council may allow the use of the city hall for local charities at a fee of $10. Under the cab tariff as now fixed the fare for one or two persons carried from the same place to the same destination within a radius of 1½ mile from the point of departure is 25c; three persons, 40c.; four persons, 50c., and 10c extra for each trunk. Beyond 1½ miles the fare is 1-3 extra. Each passenger engaging a cab for himself, will pay 25c and have one trunk free within 1½ mile radius and pay beyond that 1-3 more.

Ald. Lamprey said that he had given orders to cut the trees down as they were complained of as being an obstruction.

Ald. Hearn said that he was a member of both the Board of Works and the Parks and Shade Trees Committee and he had never heard a word about authority to cut down these trees. Any chairman who took an important matter like this on himself without the consent of his committee was deserving of a vote of censure. He could not see the force of holding out inducements to plant trees and then go to work and cut them down.

Other members spoke after which the matter dropped.

WHO CUT THE TREES.

Ald. Macdonald said that several shade trees had been cut down on Duke, Palmer, and Strange streets, and he would ask the chairman of the Board of Works for an explanation. Also that two fine elms had been cut down on the street near Richardson's old property. Some steps should be taken to prevent the wanton destruction of trees.

Ald. Maddock said he never gave any one authority to cut down trees.

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT.

Moved by Ald. Smith, seconded by Ald. Skinner, that we, the members of this Council desire to take this opportunity of expressing our high appreciation of the valuable services which Ald. Macdonald has rendered to the city and this Council, and for the very arduous duties which he has performed in the consolidation of the city by-laws which have been finally completed to-night.

The motion was carried with applause.

Ald. Macdonald acknowledged the resolution in a few words.

The Council adjourned at 11:50.

THE International Book and Bible House, Toronto, want three canvassers—male and female. They will pay large commissions, or a fair salary to the right persons. Write to the house at once for particulars.

Guelph Daily Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, JAN. 6, 1886.

WHAT does the Herald think of its influence in the municipal elections? Its man of "fixed principles" was buried under the ballots of those he opposed.

THE Kingston Car Works, established under the N. P., at a cost of $62,000, were sold the other day for $18,000, and the stockholders are glad to get less than 30 cents on the dollar of their precious investments. 'Nuff said.

THE Toronto World's election champagne, which had been sparkling and effervescing with unusual brilliancy up till Monday morning, fell terribly flat on Tuesday. Its long list of the classes of people who were to carry Mayor Manning to the polls by a triumphant majority were completely overwhelmed at the polls. The value of the World's support to a municipal candidate will henceforth be inestimably small.

There is a wheel within a wheel in this revising barrister business. The Conservative press pointed with pride to the fact that the Government had appointed impartial county judges to fill the position, but what of the revising barristers' clerks whom the judges have appointed to do the work for them? Can it be claimed that they are free from bias? It strikes us that it would have been equally as well, and less hypocrisy would have been displayed, had the Government carried out their original intention regarding the appointment of those who were to prepare the voters' lists.—Wingham Times.

We do not know what manner of men the revising barristers' clerks of Wingham and Goderich are; but we feel rather certain that no man will suspect the revising barrister's clerk of Hamilton of harbouring a desire to be preternaturally biased in favor of the Tory party.—Hamilton Spectator.

THIS sounds good enough for Hamilton, and it may be quite true. Nevertheless, there are revising barristers' clerks appointed who will think they have done a creditable action if they can keep a single Reformer off the voters' list, and who would keep them all off if they dared.

THE vagaries of Stipendiary Magistrate Jeremiah Travis in the Northwest are now attracting as much attention to that section as the rebellion did last spring. But the interest excited by the antics of would-be potentate Travis is not likely to draw a crowd of settlers to the district. People who desire to live under the freedom of British law and practice will scarcely run their necks into Jeremiah's jaws, for evidently no man is safe after he has marked him for a victim. Travis' last freak has been to commit the Town Council of Calgary for contempt of——Jeremiah, and Jeremiah has, besides mulcting the members in right royal penalties, disbands and disqualifies the whole crowd for two years. Did ever a puny individual clothed with a little brief authority make himself more supremely ridiculous? Mr. Travis has only enjoyed his appointment for a few months, and has made the most of it. He will have no reason to complain if the Government which disgraced itself by appointing him is obliged to retrieve itself by his recall. The people of the Northwest will take the matter into their own hands if the Government does not take action in something less than seven years. The temper of the people is not in a state to stand much further tension. We notice, however, that the Montreal Gazette, the organ of the Minister of the Interior, reads Magistrate Travis a very severe lecture, both as to his law and practice, and the probabilities are that the Government will be obliged to do Mr. Magistrate Travis and the settlers of Calgary justice at one and the same time.

MR J. A. WILKINSON, "Big Push," has shaken the dust of Canada from off his feet, and goes to seek fame and fortune in the Golden State. Mr Wilkinson has long been a successful pusher for his Tory masters, and has received some fat tid-bits in exchange for his very peculiar abilities. He would doubtless have risen to eminence, possibly been made a Cabinet Minister, had he had not rashly undertaken something more than he could carry through. There is no saying what position of emolument would have been given to him from Ottawa had he succeeded in his great enterprise of buying up the Ontario Legislature. Sir John would possibly have procured for him a pair of blue breeches and a tin title. But, alas! poor Wilkinson! He failed in his enterprise. Not only did he fail, but he gave the plot to the enemy, and involved Cabinet Ministers in a course of very hard swearing in the courts in order to clear their skirts of the infamous transaction. The Tory Government can pardon and reward wickedness, when it is tolerably well hidden from the public eye, but the ignominious failure of poor Big Push's latest venture called for dire condemnation. Sir David's letter appointing Wilkinson or his nominee to the registrarship of Edmonton has been dishonoured, and the saddened exile in California will have it always before him as a memento of his own failure and the terrible ingratitude of Tory politicians. Exit, J. A. Wilkinson, the Tories need you no more, and Bunting and Meck are laughing in their sleeve to think how fortunate they were in having such an unresisting scapegoat.

THE Ottawa Evening Journal is troubled about the delay in opening of Parliament, both from its regard for the interests of Ottawa and the good of the Government, the latter more especially. The Journal says:—"What excuse there is for this delay does not quite appear. The Premier, it is true, is in England, and the understanding is that he may be obliged to remain there for some time arranging for a convention or commission to decide the complicated, harassing, and important fisheries question now pending between Canada and the United States, in which Imperial interests must be consulted. But if Sir John Macdonald is obliged to await the convenience of British statesmen, it would probably have been better for him to have returned, called an early session, rushed the business through, and returned to England to complete the necessary arrangements." And, pray, what do we pay $40,000 or thereby for our High Commissioner in London if it is necessary that the Premier of the Dominion should start away there and stay for months when he should be at home attending to the country's business? Must the convenience of several hundreds of the leading mercantile and professional men of the Dominion be set at nought in order that Sir John may go across the seas to tweak Sir Charles' nose? It is certainly high time that the appropriation for our High Commissioner was withdrawn if he is only as now appears a purely ornamental figurehead.

Liberals Opposed to an Irish Legislature.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Lord Richard Grosvenor, at the instance of Gladstone, has endeavored to ascertain the opinions of the Liberal party on the Irish question, and the replies he has received are very discouraging. The majority of the party state clearly that they are opposed to the establishment of an independent legislature in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Jan. 5.—Michael Davitt took his seat for the first time as a member of the City Council to-day. A large crowd greeted him with cheers as he entered the building, and inside he received an ovation. His first act was to ask the corporation to give certain vacant areas within the city lines as sites for laborers' cottages, to be leased at nominal rents.

The Tory Scheme of Home Rule.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The local government measure to be laid before Parliament by the Government, as drafted, gives to Ireland a household franchise for electing County Boards and for electing a Central Council. The proposition that the Crown should have the right to nominate a part of the Council was abandoned. The measure also provides that the County Boards shall have control of the traffic in liquor, and that the Central Council shall have a voice in appointing the magistracy.

The Pope's Health.

A despach from Rome says:—Rumors of the Pope's precarious state of health are rife again. He is suffering from a dangerous affection of the bladder. His appetite is very bad, and he often leaves his dinner almost untouched. Lately, too, after inviting guests to his table he has several times been compelled to send them away before dinner was served. Moving about gives the Holy Father great pain, and, though he complains constantly of cold, he cannot bear heat, which gives him neuralgia. He is growing weaker daily.

The Conference Abandoned.

The Balkan Conference at Constantinople has been abandoned, Russia refusing to guarantee the independence of the union of Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia.

Special and urgent attention is directed to the unrivalled and excellent display of almost every conceivable thing in the line of Dry Goods, suitable for the holiday trade. Nor do I allow the keenest competition to offer to the public better value or lower prices. Now what I ask the readers of this advertisement to do, is to come in and take a look through my stock. You can do this with a great deal of pleasure, even if you do not buy anything, for remember one of the features of my business is not to persistently press and bore every visitor to buy, as they know is so frequently the case in many shops. Come in and look through, if you feel like buying, well and good, if you don't, you will at least see the nicest Christmas display in the Royal City. Then there are many lines in which I offer special cuts on prices. For instance—

Ladies' Cloth Mantles, at 50c. in the $.
Ladies' Astrachan Mantles—Very Cheap.
Ladies' and Gents' Fur Caps, at 70c. on the $.
Men's and Youths' Overcoats, at Clearing Prices.
Dress Goods, at reductions of 20 to 30 per cent.
Silks, at special holiday prices.

And so all through my stock. Attractions for man, woman, and child and prices the very lowest.

Fergus Correspondence.

THE NEW YEAR.—1885 belongs to the years that are past and gone. It was allowed to terminate its natural existence by a somewhat natural death, but it must have suffered feelings of deep regret, chagrin and anger, when compelled to listen unnaturally to the tolling of the bells for its own funeral. The good old tried and true friend '85 had its sentence of execution duly carried out at the appointed hour. Instead of being hung, it is rung out of time by almost innumerable bells all over the world. Its dying groans in its now helpless condition fail to call forth any sympathy from those it befriended while strong. The thirst and pain of the dying are unheeded, the feeble fluttering pulse becomes more feeble and the sounds of death, the gasping for breath! —breath! the struggles and anguish are drowned, blotted out, obliterated for ever by the victorious lisping of the newly born infant—the year '86. To this, the moment of birth, succeeds the congratulations. A new year is given you—all is well. It is an accomplished fact, and we hasten to offer our services and express our loyalty to the new sovereign of chronology, forgetting at once and for ever the continued, consistent, faithful and true we have so constantly borne with, and the many kindnesses received. We accept on first sight, without question or explanation, and introduce to our closest and dearest the stranger, stylish new and fascinating. So it is with every day life. We must endeavor to be the better for the friend with his companions which we have so readily and affectionately brought into the bosoms of our families under the name of '86 there is nothing wrong in him and them. Would it were the same with us.

THE DAY.—As usual the old year was rung out and the new in by the bells. Many wait for this before retiring. Friends often meet to be together, in groups as well as in single couples so that happiness for the year will not be lost by waiting till daylight to be wished, and so we go visiting one year and return the next—a long visit to friends. The last day of the year was a busy one in the village. The night was quiet but towards the early morning some rollicking choruses enlivened the surroundings almost before the old year was gone. However, Morpheus and his father Somnus soon took the citadel and kept possession of Fergus till well into day-break.

CASUALTIES.—The morning brought to light the fact that some low, mean, cowardly shape of man or shapes of men had been at work. Three panes of glass were broken in the Plymouth Church, and the door broken in the Army barracks. There is no fun about this, or nothing cute—it is scarcely sharp enough for a child, it is however dastardly and villainous in the extreme and deserving of the most severe punishment. The constable is on the lookout and we hope the guilty will be punished. Leaving this, all has been good nature, fun and friendship through the night.

DOINGS OF THE DAY.—A big smile, happy new year, a hearty shake meet us on every hand. As we step out we feel friendly to all mankind and are assured of perfect reciprocity. Whatever other days may be to-day we are all friends and this is a reality. There is no hypocrisy in the grasp of hands we have not touched for perhaps a year. All are free, jovial and merry. The sleighing has not returned but Jack Frost has, and the curlers take positions in the rink. The dam is frozen over and many glide like spirits along its smooth glossy surface. Others have family gatherings and must be at the rendezvous in time for the turkey. The society men have a duty and pleasure to perform in making calls. For whatever New York or London fashion may dictate Fergus rises above such and proves itself superior to fashion and equal to the emergency of continuing the grand old custom of seeing friends in their own homes at least once a year. All here are convinced of the benefits of New Year's calling in extending, consolidating and strengthening friendships which become stretched, torn and broken by the necessities of every day work in providing for our existence. Strict lines of caste are not adhered to, all are welcome in propriety, there is a glorious freedom and no harm done except it be to cake and coffee and their receptacle unduly imposed upon for the day. Liquors are almost entirely done away with. We have therefore everything to gain and nothing to lose by keeping up the good old custom. The sincerely wished Happy New Year at home and abroad, along with the many other varied customs belonging to this season and Xmas, conduce when used and not abused to a better world in its wider sense, and exert a beneficial influence which we pray may continue and spread throughout the year in our lives and that of the world. The evening of New Year's Day was devoted principally to skating on Wilson's dam. A large fire was kept burning and this with lanterns hung along the banks at intervals afforded sufficient light for safety and rendered the ice and the scene attractive, fascinating and beautiful; the figures of the numerous skaters flitting backwards and forwards past the lights like phantoms, while the banks of the river being only dimly lighted were weird and wild adding much to the enjoyment and novelty of the evening. With half a mile of good ice on the river and lighted up to suit the tastes, the rink was at a discount, and it has been all week, much to the disappointment and loss of its managers. When we say that a few accepted invitations to a most excellent party, so it is said, in one of the best houses and from one of the best farmers in Garafraxa we have finished with the day, only to mention that one of our boys, Cumming, got a good ducking by going too near the water while skating, and two others in assisting him out also got into trouble. It was a narrow escape for all and a lesson to others to be careful.

FIRE.—Our brigade and engine were nearly called out on Saturday night to put out a fire but it proved to be only Mr. A. Cummings' chimney, and it soon ended in disagreeable smoke.

CONVENTION.—Steps must be taken this week to select candidates to the convention on the 14th inst. The best of judgment is necessary as this is a most important part of the election.

UPSET.—A wedding party was rolled over carriage and all on Wednesday last. No person hurt. Carriage visibly affected by the event. The party arrived at the station in time.

PERSONAL.—We are pleased to hear that Mr. P. Rennie is much improved and hopes to get out again soon.

CURLING.—Fergus and Brampton purpose playing a game on Dufferin lake some time soon. It is proposed to play one club against the other, or as many as can play, 8 or 9 rinks a side. The game was to come off on Thursday, but it is now uncertain.

SOIREE.—The annual tea meeting of St. Andrew's Church is to be held in the drill shed on Tuesday next, 12th inst. Good music, grub, and addresses, are the order of the night.

PRAYER.—Prayer meetings are being held every night this week in the different churches in rotation. It has been the usual practice during the first week of the year for some time past.

JUBILEE.—A meeting of the managers and elders of Mr Smellie's Church, representative from Guelph Presbytery, was held in Mr Ferrier's office, on Wednesday last, to consider what action should be taken in connection with the celebration in honour of Mr Smellie, in March next. We believe there was nothing definite settled.

ARMY.—Our village has been again besieged and assaulted by some branch of the Salvation Army. Two meetings were held on Sunday last in their barracks—the old Royal Hotel. No report of dead and wounded.

TRUSTEES.—The election for school trustees on Wednesday (to-morrow) is likely to be interesting. There are five good men in the field, Messrs Penny, Philip, Anderson, Mitchell, and Mennie. Three of these are to be elected and in lieu of no council election we may yet have some fun.

LECTURE.—Dr. Orton gives a short history of his Northwest rebellion experience at Hereward to-night. It was reported he was to favour Fergus also, but no definite time has been agreed upon as yet.

COUNCIL.—To-night was to have been the last meeting for the '85 Council. As they are all back it will not appear like a new Council for '86. This is the meeting for the passing of accounts and settling up generally.

MUNICIPAL.—Garafraxa elects H. Black for Deputy-Reeve by 27 of a majority over Mr McDermott. Councillors, House, Hannah and Ransom—the Reeve being elected by acclamation. Nichol gives Mr Reynold's Deputy and a good Council, Messrs Lindsay, Cunningham and Clarke.

The band promenaded the streets on New Year's Eve.

Snow is again falling. We hope it may continue. The river has been very high, owing to the heavy rains, but the ice remains.

Several special attractions in the village this week, but they are too numerous to mention. Society includes them all, and society is very lively.

Fergus, Jan. 5, 1885.

500 CHOICE MANTLES

All the leading styles to go during the festive season at half price. Our Mantle Trade this season has been something enormous. We have manufactured upwards of two hundred and fifty from the substantial Tweed at $2.50 up to the finest Sealette at $50. During the Christmas week we put our

SILK DEPARTMENT

In the hands of our visitors. Every piece of Silk shall be sold at net cost price. We hold upwards of Ten Thousand Dollars of value in Black and Colored Silks and Satins. Never was such an offer made to the people. Let all take advantage of it and secure a dress These we do not job to our neighbor merchants. We intend this benefit solely for our patrons.

Gentlemen Friends are asking the question, What shall I give Mary, Louisa, Nellie, &c., &c. Well, we suggest a Silk Dress, a Muff, a Fur Cap, a soft German Wool Wrap, of which the LION has thousands. The LION'S stock is capacious, no stint of variety. Every one is speaking of the large stock at the LION, that means a good choice, plenty to choose from, you have your taste gratified and at a much less price than you are charged in the retail shops. Why! Because we buy from the makers. The LION imports his stock. The LION gladly welcomes his friends and hopes to see them all during the next ten days, and strangers who may come from a distance and not acquainted with the city, look for the GRAND OLD LION over the door of the Mammoth Store, Lower Wyndham Street, for the last 30 years.

Elora Correspondence.

ODDFELLOWS' CONCERT. — On Tuesday evening last the Oddfellows in Elora gave a concert, which was well patronized and proved fairly satisfactory to all who were present. The musical portion of the entertainment was attractive and encores were the order of the evening. The initiation ceremony, which formed the second part, gave great amusement to the large audience, but was interspersed with local hits, which did not prove acceptable to the recipients of the good natured, but hard knocks, which were so liberally dealt out. The affair was financially successful.

OPERATION.—One day last week, Dr. Groves operated upon Mr. Jas. O'Connell, of this village, who for some years has been suffering from an affection of the bladder. The operation was skilfully and successfully performed, and, although the full results are not yet ascertained, there is every reason to hope that Mr. O'Connell will be much improved in health.

THE FAIR.—Not many persons attended the January fair, and but few cattle were offered. There is yet a stock of beef in the hands of the butchers, but a better demand is expected at Easter.

THE NEW YEAR.—New Year's day was duly observed in Elora, and service was held in several of the churches. There was very little outside amusement, but the Battalion Band, under the leadership of Mr. Spaulding, made things lively towards evening by serenading many of our leading citizens. The river was crowded with curlers and skaters, the upper dam being the favorite resort of the latter.

THE MUSEUM.—Mr. Jos. Townsend, formerly of Elora, spent several days in our school museum rearrranging it and naming many of the specimens. The school trustees acknowledged his services by the grant of $5, but Mr. Townsend deserves in addition the thanks of the whole community for the performance of this needed work.

CHANGE OF TIME.—The C. P. R. leaves for Toronto now at 5.25 a.m. and at 2 p. m. arriving here at 12:30 and 7:50 p.m. This gives visitors to the metropolis a long day, although the hour for starting in the morning is decidedly inconvenient.

TEA MEETING.—On the evening of New Year's Day, a tea meeting was held in the Methodist church here. It is needless to say that the tables were crowded with creature comforts, and that the ladies of the church gave a hearty welcome to their numerous visitors. The intellectual portion of the entertainment was equal in quality to the good things on the table, Messrs. Mills, Middlemiss, Rose, Mullen and Long delivered admirable addresses, and the music furnished by the choir was of more than ordinary good quality.

ON A TOUR.—The Rev. P. L. Spencer, of St. John's church here, is busily engaged just now in raising funds, through the delivery of a lecture on the Holy land, illustrated by means of a scioptiocn, in aid of the English church at Alma. Mr. Spencer is a genuine worker and willingly gives his time and energies to the furtherance of any good cause.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.—The Liberal Convention announced to be held at Fergus on Thursday, the 14th January, will be held as advertised. Meetings for the election of delegates are being held, and it is probable that a candidate for the representation of Centre Wellington in the Dominion Parliament will be selected. With an united effort on the part of the Reformers of Centre Wellington and a good candidate the chances of the success of the Liberal cause in this riding are excellent. But the conditions mentioned are essential to victory, and any split in the ranks will be sufficient to defeat the strongest man who may be brought out on the Reform side.

A STRAW.—Dr. Orton is addressing his constituents on the political situation, with the addition of his experiences in aiding to suppress the rebellion in the Northwest. It would be well for him to give a truthful statement of the real causes of that rebellion, and to tell how easily it might have been avoided, had greedy speculators and Tory bummers been kept out of the Northwest Territory, the land opened up to genuine settlers only, and justice been done to those who really risked their all in the attempt to make homes in the new country.

NICHOL ELECTION.—There was a close contest for the Deputy Reeveship in Nichol yesterday, Mr. Jas. Reynolds being opposed by Mr. Thomas Dow. Mr. Reynolds had a closer shave for the seat than many anticipated, and but for Elora and Salem would have been left in a minority his majority being only twelve. Both gentlemen are popular, and neither has reason to feel ashamed of the result. Messrs. Cunningham, Clark and Lindsay were elected Councillors.

BROKEN UP.—The ice on the Elora dams was firm, thick and in excellent condition for skating until yesterday's rains considerably increased the volume of water in the Grand River, and broke it up. There will undoubtedly be large floods at Galt and other points along the stream, and the masses of ice going down may cause much damage.

ELECTION OF DELEGATES.—The Liberals of Pilkington and Nichol met in the Town Hall, Elora, to-day and appointed delegates to the Convention to meet at Fergus on the 14th inst. A feeling of full determination to win, in face of the probability that Dr. Orton will be the Conservative candidate, was evinced by all present, and there was an unanimous feeling that no personal or sectional feeling should stand in the way of the earnest and unflagging support of any gentleman who may be the nominee of the Fergus meeting.

Elora, 5th Jan., 1886.

Maryborough Correspondcace.

FIRE.—A fire broke out in Mrs. Leitch's barn at 7 o'clock Monday morning, 4th inst., consuming the whole affair in a very short time. The stock and the principal part of the implements were saved. The fire was caused by the explosion of the lantern when the tenant was feeding his cattle. Farmers ought to take warning from this to be careful where they place their lanterns.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.—The Methodist tea meeting in Rothsay on New Year's night was a grand success, the church being crowded to its utmost, many having to stand. We have reason to think that the good lecture given by the Rev. Mr. Burgess on poets, preachers, statesmen, and politicians was well enjoyed by all.

COUNCILLORS.—The Councilmen of Maryboro are re-elected by acclamation for the year 1866. They are, namely: For Reeveship, Mr. Long; Deputy Reeve, Mr. J. Corbett. For Councillors, Mr. Brandon and J. A. Walker.

PERSONAL.—W. E. Oxby has lately returned from Sioux City in Iowa, where he has spent a number of years as a carpenter, to spend a short vacation with his friends in Maryboro.——Mr. McKenzie, a former resident of the village of Rothsay, has returned from Toronto where he and his family have been living of late, to spend a few days among his friends.

SEVERE ATTACK.—Henry Heseltine, of Rothsay, had a very severe attack of inflammation a short time ago and was not expected to survive. But under the skilful treatment of his doctor, who attended him, he has recovered and is now able to work as usual.

GOOD TEMPLARS. — The Templars of Drayton came up in full force to visit the Rothsay lodge a short time ago, and in all they had a rousing old time. A good entertainment was provided by the Rothsay brothers and sisters. We believe it a good idea for the lodges to visit one another and help to strengthen each other in the cause of temperance.

Rothsay, Jan. 4, 1886.

REVOLTING TRAGEDY.

A Beamsville Man Fatally Shoots His Niece.

BEAMSVILLE, Jan. 5.—John Stone of this village, walked into the dwelling of his sister, Mrs. Hodge, at 2.30 this afternoon, and going up to his niece, Miss Maude Hodge, after a word or two, drew a revolver and, standing close to her, fired two shots at her, both taking effect in her body, and then fired a third time at himself. He is not supposed to be fatally injured. Miss Hodge, it is feared, will not recover.

An Italian Arrested at Stratford Charged with Murder.

STRATFORD, Jan. 2.—On the 24th of December a stabbing affray took place at Milverton, in which a German named G. Vansmeider was stabbed. Two Italians were implicated. One of them escaped to Buffalo, and the other was arrested and brought to Stratford and arraigned before P. M. O'Cane to-day. An examination of his appearance, and a comparison with the photographs sent to the police throughout the country, showed him to be Petre Ruchio, who is wanted for murder at Cornwall.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

The Duplex Grate.

This Grate is only to be had in the celebrated Radiant Home Base Burner and the Happy Thought and Garland Ranges. Read the following testimonial!

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours, W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

Remember the Stand, No. 30, Lower Wyndham-street, next Herod & Co's Drug Store.

A Case of Daring Do or Die.

PETERSBURG, Va., Jan. 5.—The passenger train No. 45 from the south, for Richmond, Washington, and New York, due here at 10 a.m., narrowly escaped disaster yesterday. On nearing the trestle bridge two miles below Rocky Mount, a station on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, the engineer discovered that the bridge was on fire, and that a portion of it had been burned. Seeing the danger, and knowing that it would be impossible for him to stop the train before reaching the trestle, he bravely remained in the cab, although conscious that if the train went through the trestle he would either be killed or seriously hurt, as well as all the passengers. As quick as a flash the thought occurred to him that the best way to avert the impending accident was for the entire train to pass over that portion of the bridge which had been burned as rapidly as possible. He therefore pulled wide open the throttle-valve of the locomotive and passed over the bridge at the rate of sixty miles an hour, but so great was the concussion that followed that one of the cars broke from the coupling and all the lights in the coaches were extinguished. The passengers were all badly shaken up and frightened. The train was delayed an hour on its arrival here.

NARROW ESCAPE.—One day last week, while working in the bush, Mr. Robert Scott, one of Minto's most enterprising farmers, met with an accident that might have easily proved fatal. It appears Mr. Scott was talking to some of his workmen, when without a moments warning a large limb fell, grazing his forehead and inflicting an ugly gash upon his right cheek. Had he been directly under the limb he would never have known what struck him. Mr. Scott is doing well.

REBECCA DEGREE, I. O. O. F.—On Wednesday evening a well attended meeting of Oddfellows, their wives, daughters and sisters, took place in the Oddfellows' hall, for the purpose of completing arrangements towards forming a Daughter of Rebecca lodge, to be carried on in connection with the Oddfellow lodges in the city. The meeting was called to order by N. G. Wm. Parker, and a number of ladies had the degree conferred on them, after which the officers for the new lodge were nominated. At the completion of the meeting a very pleasant time was spent in social conversation, etc. The election and installation of the officers and the instituting of the lodge will take place on the 20th January, when Grand Master Rev. N. H. Martin, of Chatham, will be present.

A BAD FALL.—Mr. E. H. Hall, of the firm of DeLouche & Co., novelty manufacturers, near the Eramosa bridge, met with a painful accident yesterday forenoon. He was running down the stairs—the steps of which are very far apart—from the second floor, and when about half way down he missed his footing and fell to the bottom. He was slightly stunned by the fall. On attempting to get up he found that the ankle of the left leg was so injured that it was impossible for him to stand. No one being in the shop at the time he succeeded in crawling to the front door and secured the assistance of Mr. A. Robertson, who was passing at the time. A physician was summoned and Mr. Hall conveyed home. It is not yet ascertained whether any of the ankle bones are broken or the injury only a severe sprain. The other injuries are slight.

BEAMSVILLE TRAGEDY.

An Infidel's Infatuation and Revenge.

BEAMSVILLE, Jan. 6.—The excitement over the attempted murder and suicide of John Stone continues. Stone, who is a man of ungovernable temper, by occupation is a cheese manufacturer, who has been here for about a year, but who always made himself prominent by poising as "in advance of the thought of the age," by which he meant that he did not believe in anything or anybody. He is a one armed man, something over 50 years old, and has a grown-up family. Related to him is the family of Mr Ass Hodge, Mrs Hodge being Stone's sister. The daughter, Maud, Stone's niece, was one of the victims of his work with the revolver yesterday afternoon. She is about 20 years of age, and was a member of Stone's household when he lived in Texas before coming to Beamsville. Stone paid great attention to his niece, and his infatuation for her grew to become a village scandal. Stone's actions aroused his brother-in-law's resentment, and Stone was forbidden to enter the house. Miss Maud took tea at Stone's house on Monday, in answer to a request from Stone, which was complied with, as Mrs Hodge was afraid of her brother. Her youngest sister accompanied her, but the father hearing of it, went to Stone's house and took Maud away. This decided interference with his acquaintance seems to have worked Stone up to frenzy, for on Tuesday afternoon he got his revolver and went to the house of Mr. Hodge. Taking advantage of the time when the owner was absent and his wife and daughter were alone, Stone went in by the back door, and after asking if Mr. Hodge was in he walked up to his niece, and throwing open his vest, said: "Here, Maud, kill me." The girl cried out, "Oh, uncle, what do you mean?" and attempted to get away, while her mother tried to get him out. He then drew a revolver from his pocket and fired two shots at his niece, both taking effect in her back. He then turned the weapon on himself, lodging one ball in the jaw and another in the temple, penetrating the brain. The girl rushed from the house and partly across the street, where she fell and was carried back. Miss Hodge is a very fine young woman, respected by all. She a short time ago became a member of the Baptist church, a circumstance which seemed to set the uncle almost wild with anger.

Dr. McLean says the young woman may recover, but there is no hope for Stone. The latter's case is a peculiar one. The bullet penetrated the brain, but last night he was quite conscious, though in a frenzied condition. His one desire seemed to be to die, and at intervals he would shriek out, "My God! why don't they cut my throat?" Rev. Mr. Chapman, the Baptist minister whom Stone had challenged to a religious controversy, called on the wretched man, but Stone would not talk with him except to bid him good-day. Stone has been sinking all morning. During the day he became unconscious, and his death is hourly looked for.

School Trustee Elections.

There was no interest manifested in the School Trustee election yesterday in St. James' Ward. In the forenoon there was quite a run in St. Patrick's Ward between Messrs. Mackenzie and Kribs. At three o'clock Mr. Kribs threw up the contest and the two candidates walked away from the polling place together. It was in St. George's, however, that the chief interest was centred between Messrs. Wm. Burgess and P. Anderson. Both men and their supporters worked vigorously, and the result was that the vote was the largest polled for School Trustee for many years. Some dozen ladies exercised the right of the franchise, all of whom, with one exception, voted for Mr. Burgess. The vote was an open one, and the following is the result:

BOARD of Education meets to-night.

IT is understood that several of the dry goods houses of the City have made arrangements to close their establishments at 5 o'clock, commencing this evening, and continuing until the first of March.

JOHN HEWER, who recently purchased a quarter of one of the fine deers exhibited in the market during Christmas by Messrs. J. R. Millar, to-day entertained a number of his friends to a venison dinner.

TENDERS for supplies for 1886 for the County House of Industry were opened on Saturday and awarded thus: For groceries, A. Waddell, Elora: for bread, E. W. Stuart, Salem; for meat, Kerr & Lawrence, Elora.

DON'T forget the entertainment to be given in the school room of St. George's Church this evening, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. A collection will be taken up during the intermission in aid of the Piano fund. d1

THROUGH a mistake in correcting the figures on Tuesday, taken from City Clerk Mitchell's books, in reference to the municipal elections, James Wells' majority as a candidate for St. Patrick's Ward appeared 103 instead of 123.

A CHRISTMAS BOX.—The Elora Express says:—"Every man, woman and child in Wellington has heard of or seen Mr. John Rea, ex-Warden. And now all will be prepared to throw up their head coverings and wish him much joy over the receipt of a Christmas present in the shape of a bouncing young son." The MERCURY wishes him much joy.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—The fiftieth annual meeting of the Guelph Branch Bible Society will be held to-night in Knox Church. These meetings have always proved most interesting, and this year will no doubt be equally so. Rev. J. Burton, of Toronto, and others will address the meeting, which opens at 6:30 in the basement of the Church. A collection will be taken up at the close in aid of Bible work.

OUR Special lines for this week are Tweeds, Flannels, Yarns, Blankets, Shirts and Drawers. Having bought a large lot of these goods at less than cost of production, we are offering them at astonishing reductions. Secure some before they are all sold.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

The Meeting at Drayton.

The Farmers' Institute meeting at Drayton, on Monday and Tuesday last, already briefly noticed in the telegraphic news, was an unqualified success, notwithstanding that the rain poured down in torrents all day. The President, Mr. James McEwing, Maryborough, occupied the chair, Mr. W. H. Stubbs acting as Secretary. In addition to the interesting addresses of Prof. Brown and Barre, on dairying subjects, and an address by Dr. Grensides on "Agricultural Education," Mr. Ira Burrows read a paper on the rotation of crops, which contained opinions derived from his personal experience. We should never raise more than two grain crops in succession without seeding down or putting in a root crop. We must seed down the third year so as to avoid thistles and other noxious weeds. Barley is the chief crop which brings money to the farmers of this locality. Without a thorough system of drainage mangolds and other roots cannot be successfully grown. He gave his views on permanent pasture. The land, he said, is so situated here that the people have very little to set apart for this purpose although he fully recognized its importance. He did not think that in planting grass 35 lbs. of seed should be used as recommended by Prof. Brown. He admitted that we have thousands of acres of uncultivated land in this country that could be made to produce this grass.

Mr. Geo. Cherry maintained that by fallowing every seven years and seeding down he could avoid thistles. His land is very heavy.

Prof. Brown said that rotation is only a guide, but that circumstances must direct us in this matter. A man is justified in breaking through a rule as the market requires.

Mr. McEwing agreed with the professor and said that a rotation of seven years was a good one. For the first year he would commence a thorough fallow early in the season if the ground is drained, follow it with fall wheat, next sow barley, put it down in grass, take one crop of hay and two of pasture, break it up and follow it with a crop of peas and oats. Timothy and clover should not be left down more than three years.

Mr. Daniel Wilson agreed with Mr. Cherry as regards summer fallowing. He believed that with a 150 or 200 acre farm seeding with fall wheat is a good plan.

Mr. Thos. Walker said that we should not crop too heavily. If we grow a large amount of grain we must summer fallow. The only way to kill wild oats is to grow them out.

Prof. Brown said that heavy land is improved by summer fallowing, but some land is injured by the process.

Mr. McEwing emphasized the necessity of allowing grass to get a good start in the spring before turning stock on it.

Among others who took part in the discussion of the papers were Messrs. Wm. Gross, of Goldstone; Samuel McLellan, and Joel Kitley.

COLLINGWOOD, Jan. 5.—The second session of the Farmers' Institute was held to-day. Mr. Lawrence, of the Buccleugh Stock Farm, read a very instructive paper on raising and feeding of stock. Prof. Panton demonstrated the usefulness of a combined scientific and practical knowledge of the food values in common use in a most instructive manner, showing that the observation of the practical man who carefully noted results tallied exactly with scientific investigation. A paper on "Red Water" was intelligently discussed, and some light was thrown on the causes of some local diseases which had lately killed off a number of cows in Collingwood. Papers on poultry and bees were read and the meeting altogether proved a most interesting and instructive one.

DURHAM, Jan. 6.—The Farmers' Institute, which commenced here at two o'clock to-day, promises to be thoroughly successful, as farmers from the surrounding district attended in large numbers. David McNicol, President, occupied the chair, and Wm. Irving acted as Secretary. James Millar read an interesting essay on stock raising, followed by a paper on permanent pasture by Prof. Brown. Dr. Grensides gave an address on the points and breeds of horses. In the evening Prof. Brown read a paper on Forestry. Short, pithy addresses were made by the members, and a choice programme of music given.

British Statesmen on Home Rule.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Standard (Tory) says that if the Queen's coming speech does not indicate that the Ministers will introduce a measure for a stronger county government in Ireland, Parnell will move an amendment to the address, and the Home Rule members will open a discussion at the same time on the action of the Irish executive in the Maamtrasna and Barbarilla trials.

Earl Cowper, replying in the Times to Michael Davitt, says he considers Parnell's ascendancy one of the worst features of the Irish difficulty.

Earl Grey, writing to the Times, deprecates the concession of local government to Ireland, as he believes that such a power would be made the means of oppressing all who dissent from the doctrines of the National League. The improvement of the condition of the people of Ireland, he says, must emanate from themselves. It must be brought about by provident habits and greater industry. It is the imperative duty of the Government to suppress outrages and violations of the law in Ireland. Until that is accomplished all concessions to the Irish people will merely serve, like sweets to children, to stop their crying.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 6.—A storm of unusual violence prevails in the mountains. The blockades on the railroads are the worst known for years. At towns in Northern Colorado the thermometer is from 20 to 33 degrees below zero. This intensely cold weather is accompanied by high winds. It is thought the storm will cause a high death rate among the cattle in Southern Colorado. The snow is unusually deep, and the streams are frozen. The unparalleled cold weather in Northern New Mexico will cause great damage to the mammoth herds grazing there. Hundreds of snow shovellers, a dozen snow ploughs, and all the locomotives available, have left Denver to battle with the drifts on the railroads.

A Test for Pasteur.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 6.—A dog that was bitten by the animal which bit Kaufmann at Frankin, N.J., has been attacked with rabies. Kaufmann is now in Paris, being treated by Pasteur and the efficacy of the doctor's theory will probably be thoroughly tested.

Canadian Pacific Appointment

A circular has just been issued by Mr. W. C. VanHorne, Vice-President Canadian Pacific Railway, announcing the appointment of Harry Abbott as General Superintendent of the Pacific division of that road, with charge of all the lines of the company in British Columbia.

Resuming Work.

PITTSBURG.—Jan. 5.—After a shut down of seven months Cunningham & Co's green glass bottle works started in full blast this morning at the old scale of wages. The Minerva, Ohio, green glass bottle works will resume next Monday. The Massilon green glass factory started up yesterday after being closed since 30th June.

A Burmese Emeute Probable.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Times' correspondent at Mandalay telegraphs that 10,000 rebels are scouring the country within a radius of twenty miles of the capital, and that they threaten to attack the town. Fears of an emeute are following to the great reduction of the British force at Mandalay by the withdrawal of troops for the expedition to Bhamo.

Slugger Sullivan Wanted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of John L. Sullivan on a charge of assaulting Tommy Lee, a newsboy. Sullivan is not in the city. The circumstances of this case are:—The pugilist was accosted by the newsboy in the hall of the hotel where he was staying and asked to purchase a paper, whereupon the drunken brute struck the lad in the mouth, knocking him to the floor and causing him to bleed profusely.

Commercial Relations With Canada.

A Washington despatch says:—In the House of Representatives, to-day, Mr. Maybury, of Michigan, introduced a resolution calling on Secretary Bayard for information as to the action taken by the Government under the provisions of the Act of 1878, relative to the commercial relations with Canada, also for a renewal of commercial relations with the British possessions of North America.

Turning the Tables.

PITTSBURG, January 6.—The local stove moulders and Knights of Labor are considerably excited about a circular that has been issued by the committee of the National Association of Stove Manufacturers, stating that 80 per cent. of the foundries are non-union and advising employers to boycott all union workmen in the trade. The former will hold a National Convention at Louisville, Ky., next month to discuss the committee's advice.

Snow in the North.

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—A very heavy snow storm has been raging up north since Saturday last, and so heavy has been the fall that ploughs had to be employed on the C. P. R. west of North Bay, on Monday. While it was raining in this vicinity, north and west of Nipissing snow has been steadily falling. In consequence of this the express train from Winnipeg, which should have arrived here shortly after seven o'clock this morning, is reported twenty hours late, the line being blockaded with great banks of snow west of Mattawa.

Attacked by a Probably Rabid Wolf.

Two shanty men belonging to Brennan's shanty on the Petawawa river, started out for a walk through the woods last Sunday, taking their axes with them. They had not proceeded far before they were attacked by a famished wolf and taken so suddenly by surprise that they had no other resource than to defend themselves, retreating with their faces towards the ferocious animal. They reached the ice on Lake Casty, when they succeeded in knocking the wolf's brains out.

Died from Its Injuries.

The inquiry into the death of the infant known as Willie Crowe, which was taken from its mother's house to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and there succumbed to the operation of setting two fractured limbs, gives promise of some revolting developments. The woman, who is an old jail-bird and street walker known to the police as Red Susan, is not the wife of the man Crowe, who has been living with her, nor does he claim paternity for the child. Her fiendish cruelty to the helpless fifteen-months-old infant was evidenced by the numerous marks and scars discovered on its little body, and it is alleded that other innocents have been maltreated and perhaps worse by the woman.

Bavaria's Bankrupt King.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The King of Bavaria is indulging in a new freak which may have serious consequences of international importance unless great care is exercised. He has left his domains incognito and is now in Paris. His ostensible object in making this visit to the French capital is to select and buy dresses and scenery for a performance of Theodora, which is to take place for his private enjoyment, but there is a rumour afloat that he is really in search of a new loan to enable him to carry out his extravagant schemes of pleasure. He travels under the name of Herr Ludwig and his personality is now suspected by most of those with whom he has come in contact in Paris. If the public should get word of his presence it is probable the rage of the people would be aroused, and that Paris would be the scene of a violent anti-German demonstration.

THURSDAY EVE'G, JAN. 7, 1886.

The Brakeman's Fate.

The regular newspaper reader seldom lifts his newspaper now without finding some such head line as "Another Brakeman Killed" staring him in the face, and it saddens him to think of the dangerous life which that unfortunate class must lead in order that the world's commerce must not be hindered. If he has ever had the misfortune to travel during a stormy winter night in the "caboose" with the conductor and brakemen of a way freight train, his melancholy is not lessened, but rather deepened by the personal knowledge of the dangers which these brave men have to endure. No sailor on the stormy Atlantic has a worse billet than the brakemen of the trunk line freight trains during the winter months. Were statistics obtainable, we are inclined to believe that the number of deaths among this class of land navigators while pursuing their ordinary calling is far in excess of that among seamen. But, though the winter months are most prolific of accidents to both classes, the brakemen drop among the grinding wheels one at a time, and are crushed and mangled out of all shape and human semblance, only to be remembered, if remembered at all, by a six line item in the next record of the day's doings. There are vacant chairs in many a home; the loved one fails to return at the appointed time, and by and bye it is borne in upon the waiting ones that the "last call" has been given to the one they seek. The railway companies give as little information about these accidents as possible, and not all of them find their way into the family newspaper. So common an every day occurrence loses interest unless local habitation or relationship give it passing attention.

There is a crying necessity for compelling railways to take greater precautions against accidents of the above description, as well as in other branches of their service. But it is a question of money versus men and life. Money is scarce and much wanted for dividends, if not for debts. Men are plenty, and they hold their lives cheap when bread is scarce. Besides there is a strange fascination about an employment which has so much hazard in it. So, if these accidents were inevitable no fault could be found with the companies, but the fact is just the other way. No man need ever risk life or limb in coupling cars if the companies would only use the appliances which have been devised for that purpose. It is generally supposed that the difficulty lies in the absence of proper devices, and inventors, spurred on by the apparent demand for such an article, are continually producing and patenting new automatic couplers. The true difficulty rests with the railway companies, who on the score of economy, refuse to go to the expense necessary to provide their freight cars with the requisite couplers. Very simple devices have been produced, any of which would be an improvement on the present mode of coupling. But the worst difficulty and the greatest danger exists in the means used for "braking" freight trains. The greatest hardship which the poor brakeman has to underpo is to climb up, say in a storm of hail or freezing sleet, and in the darkness of midnight as much as by the light of day, and run along the roofs of the rushing train, turning on a brake here, signalling a comrade on another section, leaping from car to car, across gaps from three to four feet wide. Is it surprising that the mate coming back over the train finds his comrade gone, and with sinking heart feels that away back between those glimmering rails, blackened, mangled and ghastly, or in horrible fragments scattered for miles along the track, lies the body of him who a few minutes before was full of life and strength and hope. And yet, this is no fancy sketch, but an almost daily occurrence easily preventible. The "braking" problem has been solved by human ingenuity, and an adjustible footboard and light hand-rail at the junction of the cars has been suggested as a partial preventive. What is to hinder the placing of such a hand-rail around each car, so that the brakeman who has lost his footing may at least have something to which his hands might cling and give him a last desperate chance for life? "Expense," is about the only answer which railway magnates can return to such a question, and that is a poor excuse, indeed, when weighed in the balance against human life. Railway Companies will never utilize life-saving inventions until the law compels them to so. Now that the legislative bodies are about to meet is a good time to agitate the matter. The member who introduces such a bill will deserve better of his country than the draughter of a dozen of the kind of bills which ordinarily engross the attention of Parliament, even should his efforts fail of immediate success, for, no doubt the powerful corporations which almost grasp the Government's throat would be stern objectors to any system of compulsion which would interfere with their earnings. But as great abuses have been abolished by persistent effort ere now, and it is better that some one should fail in so laudable an object than that it should be said that brakemen are allowed go down to death daily without a finger being outstretched to save them. Besides right will triumph over might always, and it only needs the man of courage to start the necessary influences, and to, in short, bring educated public opinion to bear on the matter.

LONDON Advertiser:—"It would seem that in Scotland, as in Canada, 'party exigencies' are supposed to be sufficient to justify untruths. The Ayrshire Courier suspends, and in so doing takes occasion to say that it was started in the Tory interests, with certain promises of influential support, "but unless one is in possession of indisputable documentary evidence 'the word of a gentleman' is no longer as good as his bond.'" We might remark for the comfort of the Ayrshire gentleman that here in Canada Big Push Wilkinson took the precaution to get a bond, but he now finds a little dificulty in getting a fulfilment of it.

BHAMO, in Northern Burmah, just occupied by the British, is a place of considerable local importance, being a resort for traders from China, who come down with caravans to traffic with the Shan tribes. The principal articles of commerce are silk, woollen and cotton goods, which are exchanged for salt, rice and other native products. The town which is on the Irrawaddy river, forty miles west of the Chinese frontier, is much better built than ordinary Burman villages, the inhabitants being largely Chinese, and the cordial reception Gen. Pendergast is reported to have received from the merchants, indicates that among the better classes of the people, at least, the advent of British power will be hailed as a blessing.

	Nov., 1885,	January 1st to Nov. 30th, 1885.
Gross earnings....	$814,065	$7,638,557
Working expenses...	512,061	4,654,374
Net profits.....	$302,004	$2,984,183

In November, 1884, the net profits were.....	$ 245,213
And from January 1st to Nov. 30th, 1884, there was a profit of.....	$1,020,575

The gain in net profits over the same period last year is, therefore, for November $56,791; and from January 1st to November 30th, $1,963,609. The gross earnings for November include $45,000 for carriage of construction material, as against $46,000 during the same period last year, but as it was carried at absolute cost, the net result is not affected.

MR. M. C. CAMERON, the able and energetic member for South Huron, delivered a vigorous address to the electors at Brucefield on the 29th December. Mr. Cameron, in his speech, stated the deficit to be what it has before been related to be, $4,701,241, for the year. In 1878, $11,659,523 were expended; last year the expenses were $14,640;237, showing an increase in the ordinary expenditure of nearly $3,000,000. The controllable expenditure was in 1878, $6,542,510, last year it was $13,050,872, an increase nearly doubling the amount of 1878. Mr. Cameron further pointed out that last year $191,164 was expended to pay a lot of broken-down political hacks, Canadian and English dudes, beside $275,000 paid to the permanent staff as extra allowance. The Government paid for legal advice outside of the Department of Justice last year, $66,934; Mr. Christie, of Ottawa, received $1,350; Mr. Fergusson, of Ottawa, $3,249; Mr. Crossly, young Tupper's partner, $4,159; J. H. McDonnell, of Toronto, $3,155; D. O'Connor, of Ottawa, $8,943. Mr. McCallum, the member for Monck, received for damages to an old schooner, $8,000. No one who has examined into the question believes that Mr. McCallum was entitled to anything.

FRANCE'S GRAND OLD MAN.

A Biographical Sketch of President Grevy.

It is the day of little men in France, and though M. Grevy is perhaps not absolutely great, he shows among his political associates as a very Saul among dwarfs. Born in 1807, he is actually two years older than Mr. Gladstone, though the British Liberal leader is justly regarded as a time-defying statesman. The date of M. Grevy's birth is often given as 1813, a change which would bring him down to the age of 72, but the register fixed the date authoritatively as 1807, and places him in his 79th year. Strange that two men, each so far beyond the limit of three score years and ten, have succeeded in imposing themselves upon the public mind as an essential element of the political situation in their respective countries. For in M. Grevy's case, as in Mr. Gladstone's, and with quite as much reason, his countrymen ask one another:—"What shall we do when he is taken away?"

The President of the French Republic is a native of the department of the Jura, on the Swiss frontier. The steady self-reliance which he has so notably displayed is a characteristic of the inhabitants of the mountain district in which he saw the light. His parents were in comfortable, but not affluent, circumstances, and the children were brought up to work their own advancement. M. Grevy received his education at the College of Poligny, and then went to Paris, where he studied law and was admitted to the bar. Hardly had he begun to practise before the revolution of 1830 broke out. He thereupon shouldered an old musket, and, being imbued with vague revolutionary ideas, went forth to fight on the Radical side. In the storming of Babylon barracks, one of the most stirring episodes of the revolution, Grevy played an important part distinguishing himself greatly by his courage and self possession. Throughout the fight he was in the front ranks, but managed to come off neither wounded nor bruised.

After the restoration of peace he was largely employed in the defence of members of the Radical party charged with political offences. For some eighteen years he remained a pleader, and apparently gave little thought to politics, though he was always known as a man of pronounced Liberal views. The foundation of the Republic in 1848 drew him into public life No sooner had the government changed its form than M. Grevy was selected as commissary of the provisional government in his native department of the Jura. After doing the republic some real service, he was sent to the National Assembly by 65,150 votes, heading the list of the successful candidates for the Jura. As a member of the committee of justice and vice-president of the Assembly M. Grevy frequently ascended the tribune and speedily proved himself one of the most able speakers among the Democratic-Republican party. He voted for the banishment of the Orleans family, for the abolition of capital punishment and various other important measures, but, whenever the Left showed any disposition to Socialism, M. Grevy never followed it, but invariably distinguished himself by moderation and firmness. His name at this time obtained the first connection with the presidency of the republic by the radical constitutional amendments which he offered in relation to that office. After the coup d'etat M. Grevy returned to private life, and it was not till 1868, when it had become evident that the empire was on the wane, that he re-entered politics. In August, 1868, he offered himself as a candidate for a deputyship in his native department of the Jura and was elected by a majority of more than two to one over his imperialist opponent.

The fall of the empire brought M. Grevy to the front in French politics. On Feb. 17, 1871, he was elected president of the National Assembly, convoked at Bordeaux to decide upon the acceptance of the terms of peace offered by the victorious Germans. As president of the Assembly, he discharged his duties with conspicuous judgment and moderation. In April, 1873, royalist intrigues drove him from the chair, and though the Assembly refused to accept his resignation, he persisted in tendering it. At the general election of February, 1876, M. Grevy was again elected to the National Assembly from one of the districts of his native department. In the following year he was re-elected to the Chamber of Deputies, and two years later he had a fourth success at the polls. On Jan. 30, 1879, after the resignation of Marshal MacMahon, M. Grevy was elected President of the republic.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Oil Paintings of Our Principal Cities for Exhibition.

Messrs William Notman & Son, of this city, says a recent issue of the Montreal Gazette, recently received an order from the Dominion Government to prepare panels—each 8 x 9 feet—to place in the vestibule of the Canadian court Intercolonial exhibition, London, these to contain oil paintings representing the leading cities of the Dominion. The firm at once requested Mr J. Weston, artist, to proceed, and at present two magnificent oil paintings—enlarged from photographs—have been completed. One represents St. John, N. B., from the harbor, and shows that city and Portland, N. B., opposite. At the foot of the canvas, a view of the new cantilever bridge is about being drawn in. The second finished picture shows Winnipeg, Man., as viewed from the roof of a building adjacent to the city hall. The scene is a fine bird's eye view of that city, showing Main and other streets. At foot a prairie scene adjacent to the track of the Canadian Pacific is to appear. The yet unfinished views are: Charlottetown, P. E. I.; Halifax, N. S.; Quebec, Montreal (as viewed from the Mountain Park with a harbor scene at the foot); Ottawa, Ont.; Toronto, Ont., and Victoria, B. C. Besides these magnificent paintings Messrs Notman have received an order from the Government to send them for exhibition photographs of the principal buildings in the Dominion.

DREW ON HIM.—During the panic of 1873, and near the first of the year, Mr. H. H. Honore, a wealthy property owner in Chicago, was in St. Louis, and in conversation with the president of the bank with which he did business, the banker informed him that his account was overdrawn some twenty-five hundred dollars, and as it was near the first of the year they would like him to balance it. On Mr. Honore's saying that he could not balance it at that time, the banker suggested that he draw on some one, "just so the book-keeper can balance the books." "Draw a draft! Who the d—l would I draw a draft on? I might as well telegraph the Czar of Russia for funds as to draw a draft." "Well, Mr. Honore, draw a draft on the Czar; that will square the books, and that's the main thing just now." So, after some conversation, a sight draft for the amount was regularly drawn and started on its mission, and the proper credit given Mr. Honore. The draft passed through many banking firms in this and the old country, and by the time it reached the Czar had many blue ribbons and seals belonging to the different institutions through which it passed. It was presented to the Czar through one of his agents, who desired instructions what to do with it. The Czar looked it over, but could not understand how he came to owe money to Mr. Honore, but as everything appeared regular he instructed that it be paid, but told his secretary to inform Mr. Honore the next time he drew a draft to send an itemized bill.—Ex.

NOMINATION OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—On Wednesday last, the nomination of Public School Trustees took place. The retiring trustees were Messrs. Pabst, Phin, and Brewster. Mr. C Pabst resigned after a service to the Board of 25 years duration. Mr. J. Phin who for several years had been superintendent of the School under the old regime, and was a member of the Board for many years, also resigned; Mr. A. J. Brewster who has been a member of the Board for the last 9 years was renominated and elected by acclamation. Dr. McIntyre, and Mr. A. L. Marchant were nominated and also elected by acclamation to fill the seats rendered vacant by the resignation of Messrs. Pabst and Phin. After a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks to the two latter gentlemen for their long and faithful services to the School Board, and a few remarks by Mr. Phin expressive of the unity, and agreeable character of the proceedings of the Board during his long term of service, the meeting was concluded.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.—As there were in the neighborhood of a dozen candidates for municipal honors, considerable interest centered in the election of Monday last, the matter of who would be the lucky men, being a notable query. Every one's curiosity however was satisfied by six p. m. when it was made known by the returning officers that the Councillors elect were Messrs. W. Kribs, J. Sault, R. Miles, and H. Bradly. Two of them, Messrs. Miles and Sault, were in the Council of last year, and we think that in Messrs. Kribs and Bradly these will be ably assisted during the present year.

Arthur Correspondence.

The annual tea meeting in connection with the Presbyterian Sabbath school of this village was held in the drill shed on New Year's night. Although the roads were bad the country people turned out well, and the building was jammed to the door. Tea was served to the children about 5 o'clock, and to the grown up people till after eight. Rev Mr Shirlock opened the entertainment with prayer, and the Rev. Mr Thom, as Superintendant of the Sabbath school read the annual report, which showed the school to be in a very flourishing condition, both as regards finances, teachers, and attendance. The programme which was a long one consisted of addresses by the Revs. Shirlock, Noble, Thom, and Mr Macpherson, singing by the choir and Sabbath school children, also quartetts, duets and solos, recitations and readings. Mrs J. T. Neil presided at the organ. A beautiful silver pickle dish was hanging on the arch as a present to Mrs Neil from the choir for her valuable services on the organ. The singing was really beautiful and showed great ability and training.

Our annual school meeting was held in the drill shed, on Wednesday of last week. Messrs W. W. White, Geo. Hudson and Robert Stephenson were the retiring trustees, they were all nominated again with four new ones, which makes seven aspirants for school trustees. Several ratepayers expressed their disapprobation of the discourteous manner in which the late teachers had been treated by the trustees in not giving the teachers timely warning of their intentions to make a change. In answer to a question from a ratepayer the Chairman of the Board stated that the school debenture debt was $2500 with two years to run, and a sinking fund of $800 to meet it.

Mr McPherson, late Principal of the Public School in this place, has secured a school in the town of Galt.

The result of our municipal nominations is as follows, Reeve, W. F. Johnston, (acclamation), Councillors, A. Bushlin, John Small, J. W. Fraser and D. Driscull.

Arthur, Jan. 6th.

Still They Are Going.

At Eramosa, on Saturday, the 12th ult., Mr Allan McCullough, one of the pioneer settlers of the Township, passed away. He had reached the extreme boundary of life and his end was peace.

Deceased emigrated from the County of Monaghan, Ireland, at an early date in the present century. He was one of a large family, of whom few remain, the best known survivors being Doctor McCullough, of Esquesing, and Thomas McCullough, of Eramosa. The family on their arrival in this western land, settled in Eramosa, where the subject of this notice remained till his death. Like all early settlers in an unsettled and uncultivated country, they had to battle with the difficulties around them, and did so with such success, that they soon saw the lonely wilderness emerge into the dear Canadian home. With regard to politics, Mr McCullough was a Liberal, and ever had the good of his country at heart. Although he never took a very active part in party contests, nevertheless he was at his post when the question of the hour was to be decided. He was, moreover, a member of the Christian Church, and he held fast his profession. He leaves behind him for a little while the partner of his life and eight children. His six sons bore him to the resting place where the dust will lie till that brighter morning. Farewell, our father! Well done!

"Take them, O Great Eternity,
Our little life is but a gust,
That bends the branches of the tree,
And trails its blossoms in the dust."

DEATH OF MISS M. A. MCLEAN.—We regret to record the death of this estimable young lady, which took place at the residence of her father, Mr Peter McLean, sr., Badenoch settlement, Puslinch, on the 23rd of last month. She died from the effects of typhoid fever, caught while attending with loving care on her brother Malcolm, who had the same trouble, but who fortunately recovered. She was held in great respect by all who knew her, old and young, and this was well manifested at her funeral, which took place on Christmas Day, and which was attended by about 80 teams. Her sudden and unexpected death has cast a gloom over the district where she was so much loved.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

In Liver and Kidney Troubles.

Dr. O. G. Cilley, Boston, says: "I have used it with the most remarkable success in dyspepsia, and derangement of the liver and kidneys."

The Marquis of Queensbury has had rather an unhappy time of it. He was expelled from among the representative peers of Scotland on account of his atheism. He appeared in the picture gallery at Holyrood when the Scotch peers met early in December to elect representatives to the House of Lords for the present Parliament. He undertook to explain his religious views. He told how he believed in a creative power and denied that he had ever denied the existence of a God. He was preparing to deliver a lecture on his creed, when the Earl of Glasgow, who presided on the occasion, called him to order.

FOR DYSPEPSIA and Liver Complaint, you have a printed guarantee on every bottle of Shiloh's Vitalizer. It never fails to cure. Sold by A. B. Petrie.

About two-thirds of the new English Parliament is composed of what in England would be called the educated "middle classes." They include 112 barristers, 22 solicitors, 23 civil servants, 16 doctors, 34 newspaper men, 9 professors, 6 engineers, 2 preachers, 6 builders, 9 professional men not defined, 25 bakers, 24 brewers and distillers, 16 colliery owners, 4 estate agents, 69 manufacturers, 42 merchants, 6 printers, 21 shipowners, and 6 stockbrokers.

Notable Freemasons.

There be those who affect to despise Freemasonry, its teachings, and history, who do not remember or never knew that England numbers, on record, fifty-one Grand Masters from A. D. 597 to A. D. 1717, including among them the great names of King Alfred, the Intellectual Father of the Realm; King Athelstane; Edward the Confessor; King James 1st of Scotland; Edward 3rd; Henry 7th; Cardinal Wolsey; Thomas Cromwell; King James 1st; and Sir Christopher Wren, the architect of St. Paul's. The greatest men in nearly every walk of life during the past ages have concluded it to be an honour to enrol their names as Craftsmen. Look at some of them—John Locke, the great metaphysician; Newton, the wisest of philosophers; Shakespeare, the foremost poet of the world; Goethe and Schiller, greatest poets of Germany; Mozart, the king of musical composers; Bonaparte, the mightest military genius since time began; Frederick the Great; George Washington, the immortal father of the States; Benjamin Franklin, who drew lightning from heaven and taught it to do his will; Warren, the martyr of liberty; Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence; Jackson, whose eagle eye never feared the gaze of man; Webster, one of the greatest lawyers and statesmen; Lafayette, the unselfish patriot of two worlds; Kossuth, the orator-statesman of Hungary. Victor Hugo, the literateur of France; Castellar, the orator and liberalist of Spain; Burns, Scotland's greatest bard; Victor Emanuel and Garibaldi, the emancipators of Italy; Wales, Crown Prince, our present Grand Master of England; Count Bismarck and Kaiser Wilhelm, the mighty organizers of German strength and unity. All these, with thousands of other as worthy and nearly as celebrated, knelt or kneel at one common Masonic alter.

People with weak eyes in New York, who go out of an evening where there are electric lights, carry parasols and umbrellas to protect their eyesight.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument, made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

W. BELL & CO'S. FACTORY,
and examine for yourselves or at

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,
DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.
Sincerely yours,

DEATHS.

PERSON—At Guelph, on the 7th January, of diphtheria, John Wesley, second son of James Person, aged eight years and six months.

Probabilities.

North and north-east winds, cold weather, increasing cloudiness, snow storm to-night.

Local News.

THREE weavers, recently from the old country, finding employment scarce, left to-day to take a course at the School of Gunnery, Kingston.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—This evening, January 8th, meeting in Norfolk Street Methodist Church to be addressed by Mr. Beattie and Mr. W. F. Clarke. Subject:—"Nations and Governments, for Kings and all in authority," &c.

THE following is the result of a pigeon match shot on Sleeman's flats yesterday afternoon, between Messrs. Geo. Sleeman and W. D. Shattuck, at six birds each:

Sleeman	0 0 1 1 0 1—3

THE Lion's new delivery cart which was described some time ago, is now on the street and is one of the latest additions to the wheeling conveyances of the city. Natty and attractive in appearance it reflects credit both on the builder, Mr. Robert Parker, and on the enterprise of the firm it represents.

THE ROBBERY OF KENNEDY'S SHOE STORE.—Chief of Police Randall has received six pairs of boots stolen on Christmas eve from the shop of Mr Kennedy, Market Square. The Chief has recently had his hands full hunting up perpetrators of burglaries, and he eserves credit so far for bringing them to justice. Developments in this case may be looked for in a few days.

THE cold weather and good roads have resulted in bringing a better attendance to the market. Pork is coming in in large quantities, and remains firm at $5.50 per 100 lbs. The principal grain offered is barley which is quoted from 55 to 78 cents for good. The hay and wood market is also well supplied, being fully equal to the demand.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION. — The Special Committee appointed by the Council to take steps in having Guelph represented at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, to be held in London this summer, met in the Mayor's office this morning. It was decided to hold a public meeting at 7:30 p. m., on Tuesday, so as to give the manufacturers and citizens generally an opportunity of expressing their views in regard to having the city represented in its various industries. The subject is an important one, and should be heartily taken up and vigorously pushed forward by the ratepayers, because it will afford an opportunity of showing to the world at large what Guelph, together with other portions of Canada, can produce in the various industries.

I. O. O. F.—Last night a meeting of the members of Progress Lodge No. 158 was held in the Oddfellows hall, when the following officers were installed, by Bro. Geo. Brill, D.D.G.M.:

N. G.—J. J. Mahoney.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—The Board met last evening at the call of the Secretary, to receive the Poll Books and declare the election of the new members. Present — Messrs. Kilgour, Burgess, Mitchell, Bollert, Peterson, Mackenzie, Knowles, Bruce, Fairbanks, Myers. The Secretary then declared the following gentlemen elected to their respective Wards:—St. Andrew's, S. Myers, acclamation; St. David's, R. W. Stewart, acclamation; St. Patrick's, A. Mackenzie, 28 majority over J. Kribs; St. George's, W. Burgess, 20 majority over P. Anderson; St. John's, P. Spragge, acclamation; St. James, H. W. Peterson, 37 majority over A. Pike. The Board then adjourned.

THE WARDENSHIP FOR 1886.—For the past seven years the honor of electing the Warden has gone to the extreme north of the county, and as the office is purely honorary it is but right that it should go around the municipality. The Erin Advocate this week presents the claims of Mr John Burt, Reeve of Erin. Mr Burt is an old and tried servant of the county, is well posted in municipal matters, and would undoubtedly make an able and hard working Warden. We fully endorse the Advocate's remarks:—"We think this end of the County is now entitled to consideration, and that a Warden should be chosen from amongst the many good men sent to represent the southern municipalities. In this connection we might mention that the Township of Erin, the largest, wealthiest and most populous in the County, has never furnished an occupant for the Warden's chair, and her claim to the honor should be recognized. The present Reeve of Erin is a gentleman eminently qualified for the position, a thorough business man, an educated, courteous and liberal minded gentleman, and a man of extensive experience and natural gifts of a high order. Such a man would reflect credit upon Erin and upon the County of Wellington. We hope the County Council will recognize the claims of Erin by electing her Reeve to the Warden's chair for 1886."

A Railway at the Falls.

MR. P. MOLLOY has purchased the remaining 50 acres of the Duggan farm on the York Road three miles from the city. The price paid for the 100 acres will be about $4,000.

PRESENTATION TO MR W. WILKIE.—The Mail of Wednesday gives the following account of a presentation made Mr Wm. Wilkie, formarly of Guelph, and well known here, having been for many years a partner in the Osborn machine factory: The annual dinner of Hendrie's & Co's employes was held at the King's hotel, corner York and Front streets, last night. About seventy-five sat down to dinner. Mr W. Wilkie, manager, occupied the cheir and Mr W. M. Douglas, foreman, vice-chair. The usual loyal and patriotic toasts were duly honored. Then followed the toast of Hendrie & Co., which was responded to by Mr. Mr T. McBride, superintendent at Hamilton, and Mr W. Wilkie, local manager, Toronto. During the evening Mr Wilkie was presented by Mr John McGann, on behalf of the employes, with a handsome gold-mounted walking stick. Mr Wilkie replied in suitable terms, and with speeches and songs the remainder of the evening passed pleasantly away.

The Y. P. Literary Association, St. George's Church.

The attendance last night was larger than on any occasion before this winter, the school room being crowded so that several had to remain standing. There was an object through the entertainment, the selections being half in the affirmative and half in the negative on the knotty subject, "Resolved that woman is man's equal in literature and music." The entertainment commenced by a selection from Il Trovatore, played in brilliant style on the piano by Miss Hutchinson, of Port Dalhousie. Then followed a well written essay by Miss Vale, and read by Mrs. Hogge, illustrative of the achievements of woman in arts and science. Then a speech by Mr. Walter Macdonald in which he gently intimated his opinion that the fairer sex had not quite attained the celebrity in the literary or musical world that men had gained. This was followed by a song from Mrs. Wilcox, sung in her usual graceful style and sweetness, a duet by the Misses Reynolds, "Hercules," played in a very effective manner; a reading by Miss Griffiths with much dramatic force. The selections from Norma by Misses Thompson and Brown, violin and piano, was one of the gems of the evening, as was also the duet, harp and piano, by Misses Holliday. Miss B. Chisholm's song was sung very sweetly. Mr. Irving gave a grand specimen of Lord Byron's sublimity as a poet. "Sailing," by 12 gentlemen, was well sung, and Mr. Kidner read an amusing extract from Dickens. The proceedings closed by Mr. T. W. Saunders summing up the respective arguments for the ladies and the gentlemen, in a very humourous and witty address to the largest jury he had ever addressed. As a just and impartial judge he stated both sides of the question so forcibly that the jury found it impossible to give a verdict.

GUELPH BRANCH BIBLE SOCIETY.

Celebration of its 50th Anniversary.

Its History for the Past 50 Years

Interesting Reports and Addresses, etc.

Last evening the annual meeting of the Guelph Branch Bible Society was held in Knox Church, which was also the 50th anniversary of the formation of the Branch in Guelph. There was a very good congregation present. The venerable President, Mr. James Hough, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Hugh Walker, singing a hymn, the Rev. Mr. Beattie, pastor of the church, reading a portion of scripture, and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Holmes, after which the President read the following interesting address:

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

CHRISTIAN FRIENDS,—Favoured by a gracious Providence, we live to celebrate another anniversary of our Branch of the Upper Canada, in connection with the British and Foreign Bible Society, and as this is our year of Jubilee, may we not indulge in a little retrospect, and wonder at the ways of Divine Providence? In December, 1802, the Rev. Thomas Charles, commonly called the Apostolic Charles of Bala, with the scanty income of £40 a year, being so deeply grieved that there were so few Bibles in Wales entertained the idea of having a Society for distributing the Bible alone, similar to the plan of the Religious Tract Society, established in London. He visited London, and consulted his friends, was introduced to a meeting of Committee of the said Tract Society, at which he represented with all the ardour of his character the dearth of Bibles in his native principality and the longing desire of the Welsh to have them. At the moment when this appeal was made, the Rev. Joseph Hughes, one of the Secretaries of the Tract Society, gave expression to those memorable words, "Surely a Society may be formed for the purpose, and if for Wales, why not also for the Empire and the world." On the 7th of March, 1804, The British and Foreign Bible Society was actually established, at a meeting held in a room at the London Tavern, in Bishopgate Street, at which about 300 persons were present. Thus a Society was formed which has furnished a platform on which all Christians could so harmoniously unite in one labour of love; and which has gone on notwithstanding difficulties, doing its own work, conquering and to conquer in every region to which its operations have been extended, and so it shall until its heaven-born purpose is fulfilled. The Upper Canada Bible Society was instituted in the year 1820 and held its jubilee meeting March 31st, 1879. Our Branch Bible Society held its first meeting on the 26th January, 1836. The Rev. Arthur Palmer was elected President; C. J. Mickle, Rev. Mr Purkiss and John Ingles, Vice-Presidents; Dr. Alleyn and C. Mickle, Secretary; Rev. Mr Poole, Dr. Orton, Dr. McKelcan, Thos. Hosken, Samuel Wright, James Wright, Wm. Mickle, J.G. McKelcan, R. Willett, T. Saunders, Capt. Young, Mrs Jones and Mrs Worsley members of Committee. Rules and regulations were adopted and an adjourament made to the 6th day of February following, when William Piper, H. P. Maddock, Tolton, Masters, Joshua Wright, J. Hart, Wm. Moon and John Kirkland were added to the Committee. The village and surrounding neighborhood were divided into 5 wards and collectors appointed to canvass for subscriptions. The next meeting was held March 8th, 1836, Rev. A. Palmer presiding, when additional rules were adopted and a resolution passed defining religious belief of persons becoming members of the Society. Meetings of Council were appointed to be held on the Tuesday evenings nearest the full moon in the months of June, September, December and March in every year. No doubt the heavenly orb fulfilled her appointments, but whether the committee ever or never did fulfil theirs, record is silent. Mr Palmer resigned the presidency and and this promising organization seems to have collapsed. In this state it remained until the fall of the year, 1836, when your reporter, at Goderich (assisting in the erection of a building for the comfort and safe keeping of its county boarders), was informed that the Society had been resuscitated, and the late J. C. Mickle had been elected President, and himself Secretary, but I have no minute of proceedings until our so-called anniversary meeting was held on the 2nd of March, '41. At that meeting we were visited by the late Rev. James Richardson, agent of the Upper Canada Bible Society. The President and Secretary were re-elected. Mr. Wm. Neeve and Dr. Orton, Vice-Presidents. Mr. Thomas Sandilands, Treasurer of Depository, Messrs John Masters, Robert Pasmore, Thos. Hodgkin, sr., G. W. Allen, Charles Mickle, Richard Ainlay, Samuel Fear, Wm. Jackson, David Willett, J. H. Stannard, Joshua Wright, Wm. Elworthy, John Kirkland, Wm. Crowe, Edward Sallows, and Wm. Stevenson members of committee. From this time the society manifested more vigour, being animated with new life, its members began to realize their obligation to carry on the important work to which God had called them, and through His blessing the Institution prospered and continues to prosper, under the official management of our eminent pastors, a judicious laity and a host of generous patrons.

In reviewing the past we are reminded of our mortality, and the duty of working while it is day; of all the friends of this society named, we can count only 5 on this side of the grave. Such is life, ever changing from the cradle to the tomb; nothing permanent, but "The Word of God," which it is the object of this Society to disseminate; that alone, abideth for ever.

Knox Church, Guelph, January 7, 1886.

FIFTIETH REPORT.

Mr. D. McCrae, the Secretary, read the following:—

Your Committee in presenting this Report would thank God for the work this Society has by His blessing been enabled to do during the 50 years of its existence—for the measure of success that has followed the efforts made throughout the world for the spreading abroad of the Bible the Word of God—for the opening of doors long barred—for new fields of labor. Open doors have been entered, fields have been occupied, the Word has been sown broadcast, but long before the tardy human sower was half over his work another field was ready, made ready by the Master's hand, waiting for the good seed of the Word of Life.

Your Committee are pleased to report great progress in the work of the British & Foreign Bible Society. The circulation for the past year exceeded by a million copies that of the previous year, and was more than a quarter of a million beyond the highest figures ever reached before. The Committee of this Society show a balance sheet in which liabilities of $1,122,000 have been paid, with funds on hand to go forward on another year's work; the largest payment for any year in the history of the Society. An interesting feature in the work of the year is the great increase in women's work in connection with the Society. They say:—"The Word of God has been carried in the hands of women to women in every Eastern land where organized work is possible. The Lord gave the Word and women carry it in a great company."

Trials the Committee have had but they have been those which are incidental to the weaknesses and infirmities and calamities of human life, whose troublesome waves are spanned by that Rainbow which John saw overarching the Throne of God. It has been a year of sorrows—God has taken their head to Himself—of anxieties and cares, but the work has never once been straitened for lack of means. God has buried the workmen but carried on the work.

Your Committee beg to report a better attendance this year at the country meetings than ever before. At one of them, Marden, an auxilary was organized and arrangements made for a depositary. Five committee meetings have been held during the year. The Treasurer and Depositary's statements are submitted herewith.

Your Committee beg leave to nominate the following as office bearers for the coming year, viz:—

President—James Hough, Esq.

Vice-Presidents—George Elliott, C. Raymond, T. McCrae, and all Ministers of the Gospel who are members of the Society.

Secretary—D. McCrae.

Treasurer—E. Newton.

Depositary—B. Savage.

Committee—W. Stevenson, S. Hodgskin, R. Gausby, J. B. Armstrong, W. Watson, J. M. Bond, R. Millar, J. A. Davidson, Geo. Cole, W. Hunter, John Crowe, T. Conon, E. R. Bollert, J. Schofield, W. Heather, John Goldie.

Collectors.—City—Mrs. Husband, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Presant, Mrs. Innes, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Scoon, Mrs. Boult, Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Mickle, Miss Fraser, Miss Parker, Miss Boyd, Miss Loghrin, Miss Hodgskin, Miss A. Moved by Rev. Dr. Griffin, seconded by His Worship Mayor Stevenson, That the reports read be received, adopted and printed, that the office-bearers nominated be elected for the ensuing year, and that the special thanks of this meeting be given to the lady collectors, both of town and country.

Both the mover and seconder briefly spoke to the resolution.

Moved by Rev. J. Burton, of Toronto, seconded by Rev. J.C. Smith, That this meeting rejoices in the continued growth and prosperity of the British and Foreign Bible Society in the efforts it is making to supply the Word of God to heathen lands recently opened to missionary effort, and for the help it and kindred societies have given to Home and Foreign Missionaries of all Evangelical Denominations.

Mr Burton remarked that it was with a degree of pride that he moved this resolution and stood on the platform at this jubilee of the 50th anniversary of the Guelph Branch Bible Society. He would say to the Society, cherish the memory of the past 50 years but do not live upon it. It was a good thing to look back to, but their motto should still be upwards and onwards. He was one of the Directors of the Toronto Board. The Society had seen fit to appoint men to visit the branches. This was not done because the branches were not able to carry on the work, but for the purpose of increasing a unity of feeling. He therefore extended greeting on behalf of the board in Toronto. The work of the Bible Society could stand and co-operate in the work. The time had come when Christians of every denomination are longing to come closer together, and as an evidence of this the speaker mentioned the fact of the antagonism which existed between the Churches on dogma several years ago. This antagonism was disappearing and the Bible Society had done a great work in this way and helped on the time of the great unity in Christ Jesus. The speaker then went on to show the work that had been done by the parent and branch Bible Societies, and the power of the Bible in civilizing the nations. This was a great missionary age. The Bible was found from Greenland in the Arctic circle to Patagonia, in the South Sea islands. New Guinea and China's millions and India's millions had owned its power. The dark continent had a chain of missions through it; the Bible was read in the primitive home of Abraham, and wherever the foot of the Anglo-Saxon was planted there the Bible was to be found. He then went on to show, when printing was dearer, the great work done by the Bible Society in placing cheap Bibles in the hands of the missionaries. It had been said that there were some 600 languages, and as long as there was a language for the Bible to be translated into so long would the Bible Society have its work to perform. About 800,000 Bibles had been distributed by colporteurs this year. The Upper Canada Society had eight colporteurs who alone distributed from three to four thousand. The speaker concluded an able address by illustrating the great power the Bible possessed in civilizing heathen nations.

FRIDAY EVE'G, JAN. 8, 1886.

THE Mormons in Utah number only 110,877, and for many years they have defied the fifty million people of the United States.

THE first vacancy in the new Imperial Parliament occurs in the representation of Edinburgh through the death of Sir George Harrison, who was elected by a large majority the other week.

IT is reported from Pembroke that the Hon. T. W. Anglin will be invited by the Liberals of North Renfrew to contest the seat for the House of Commons. It is also stated that Mr. Thos. Murray, M. P. P. for North Renfrew, will contest Pontiac for the House of Commons at the general election.

OF 4,170,710 electors who have voted in England, Scotland and Wales in the recent elections, 2,254,857 voted on the Liberal ticket, and 1,924,853 voted Conservative, so that the Liberal majority in England, Scotland and Wales amounts to 33,004 votes. This shows a decided preponderance in the Liberal sentiment of that portion of the United Kingdom.

THE Tory organs are in a quiver of excitement just now to find out what Blake is going to do about the Bleu revolt. Of two things they may be assured. He will not adorn himself in the cast-off garment which the Mail waved so vigorously until Sir John said "Stop," and he will continue, as last session, to expose the ignorance, incapacity, wickedness and wastefulness of the present Government until the people take the remedy in their own hands and drive them from power.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is somewhat blunt in speaking of the press. "I don't think," he remarks, "that there ever was a time when newspaper lying was so general and so mean as at present, and there never was a country under the sun where it flourished as it does in this. The falsehoods daily spread before the people in our newspapers, while they are proofs of the mental ingenuity of those engaged in newspaper work, are insults to the American love for decency and fair play of which we boast." No doubt a good many hard things, and possibly some of them untruthful, have been said about the President, but still there is probably some tinge of Christmas dinner effects in Cleveland's remarks.

A RECENT issue of the North American Review contains three opinions given by request, as to Canada's future. The Marquis of Lorne holds that Canada is now practically independent, and that fifty years hence will be time enough to consider the question of setting up an independent nationality. Mr. A. F. Pirie, of the Toronto Telegram, contends that our goal is most assuredly independence and that a movement to that end would be simply the decisive step toward annexation to the United States. Mr. Pirie, who is an old Guelph boy, discusses the subject with much clearness and conciseness, and although his views may not be wholly concurred in, they are well considered, ably expressed, and worthy of attentive perusal. He thinks because at the present time there is a considerable intermingling of the citizens of both sides of line 45, that they must eventually thoroughly amalgamate with each other, and become politically as they are geographically united. But a close observation of the nations of Europe, separated by language and by natural boundaries, shows a similar state of things. Others, whose boundaries are contiguous, and whose manners and customs are similar, manage to exist and do business, one nation with another, but still maintain their national existence and individuality. Mr. Pirie may ultimately prove to be a true prophet, but the reasons for the faith that is in him are hardly strong enough to convince others. Sir John Macdonald's essay is contained in six lines in which he first states that the subject is not one for present discussion, and expresses the conviction that any movement towards independence at the present time would result in civil war. According to this theory, Mr. Pirie and others who discuss independence as the desideratum of the Canadian people are talking treason, and should be subject to a dose of Sir John's old musket.

ON another column we publish extracts from an interview between Mr. Clinkskill, of Battleford, and a reporter of the Ottawa Evening Journal regarding the state of things among the Indians of the Northwest, and which is in every respect confirmatory of what has already appeared in these columns. Mr. Clinkskill does not think that there is any immediate danger, but feels satisfied that an outbreak will come sooner or later. Anybody who has read much of the history of the early settlements, when the Indians were less daunted by the white man's military prowess, knows that outbreaks generally happened when least expected, and when all ordinary calculation pointed to peace if not to perfect good will. The savages of the Northwest are now but little better acquainted with the white ma and his ways than were those of the east in earlier days. He is to them an interloper who has changed their manner of life, circumscribed their hunting grounds and driven the game out of the country. True, he has given some perquisites in exchange, but to the untutored savage, churches and schools, pastors and masters, even with mud flour and rotten pork thrown in, are poor compensation for what they have lost. They have not been greatly impressed with the military operations of last year, and think that they can still easily whip the whites. When a man thinks he is master of the situation, whether savage or civilized, he does not usually rest satisfied until he has proved the matter. The execution of the Frog Lake murderers at Battleford in place of intimidating the Indians has had an exactly opposite effect, as it has implanted in their hearts a desire for vengeance, and the tenacity with which the red men nurse such feelings is proverbial. Altogether there is an overwhelming mass of evidence that an uprising in the North-west is possible at any moment. The Government has had fair warning. Missionaries and settlers have united in representing the danger which exists in the North-west to-day. The country looks to the Government to prevent a repetition of last spring's horrors, and if in spite of all warnings, a rebellion should break out, and find the country unprepared for it, the Government will not be judged as leniently as it was last spring.

THE INDIANS ARE CHEEKY.

A Battleford Merchant Talks About North-West Matters.

Mr. J. Clinkskill, merchant of Battleford, N. W. T., was in Ottawa on Saturday. In conversation with a Journal reporter he said that the little town, which so successfully held out against the savage hordes of Poundmaker, has not recovered from the effects of the late rebellion. Business has been at a stand-still for several months, while the majority of the settlers do not possess a cent. The Indian trade, that formerly amounted to thousands of dollars annually, has fallen off to a surprising degree, owing to the action of the Government in keeping the disloyal Indians upon the reserves.

"How are the Indians conducting themselves," asked the reporter. "In a disgraceful manner," was the reply. "As a matter of fact," he continued, in the past they never exhibited the cheek they do just now. They are enraged at the execution of the eight murderers in November last and are making all sorts of threats. Although not stating what form this revenge will assume, they entertain a feeling of bitter hostility towards the whites, whom they regard as intruders. The Government was badly deceived when it thought that the fate of the murderers would intimidate the members of the various tribes. The Stonies are especially loud in their threats, while the Crees, who are of a more callous nature, are greatly embittered against the settlers for the loss of relatives during the rising. They are not to be feared very much just now, said Mr. Clinkskill; "for they have been disarmed, in addition to being deprived of their ponies. They are also kept on their reserves and are not allowed to wander away at will as they did in the past. The Crees and Stonies were invited to visit Battleford in a body to witness the execution of the Frog Lake murderers, including Wandering Spirit and Ec-tab; although they were promised rations for two days the invitation was practically ignored, only forty or fifty putting in appearance.

"Fairly good; but it is only a matter of conjecture. One thing is certain, however, that sooner or latter the inevitable struggle between the Red men and their pale-faced brethren will take place. Perhaps it will occur at no distant date. Unfortunately the Indians are imbued with the idea that the Whites cannot fight, a view that, contrary to expectation, has gained greater credence since the rebellion. Their hatred for us is now mingled with contempt, and the unwritten portion of the campaign is overwhelmingly in their favor. "To illustrate their manner of thinking," resumed Mr. Clinkskill, after a pause, "it is only necessary to refer to their description of the fight at Cut-Knife Hill, and the affairs at Frenchman's Butte. According to their statement instead of experiencing a defeat, they forced the volunteers in the respective fights to withdraw with the heaviest loss. When the next outbreak, which I expect will assume worse proportions than the last one, occurs, you may rest assured that Battleford will not witness the opening scene in the bloody drama. Everything indicates that the Blackfeet and Bloods, thought represented to be quiet, will be the first to take up arms. As it is at present, I hear that the Mounted Police Force at Medicine Hat has been considerably strengthened. A rising will be precipitated if a serious blunder is made by any ignorant under-strapper in the employ of the Indian Department. The existence of trouble in the Southern part of the territories would be the signal for the Battleford and Fort Pitt Indians to begin In a conflict in which the supremacy of the white man would be questioned, race hatred would be forgotten, and a union would be made against the common enemy. The Crees and Stonies, though apparently working patiently on their reserves, do not indulge in talk for nothing. They would be overjoyed to hear of trouble, and could be expected to give a good account of themselves in a rush across the prairie to join the hostiles in the South. I am confident that they are not completely disarmed.

THE members of Erin Lodge, A. F. & A. M. after the regular meeting on the evening of the 28th ult., enjoyed an oyster supper at the Macdonald House. Members and visiting brethren to the number of about thirty gathered around he board, and thoroughly relished the repast after the labors of the evening.

GREAT JANUARY SALE

AT THE GOLDEN

-LION-

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

DRIVE NO. 2.

Furs. FURS. Furs.

Gone Astray, wrong address, arrived at last per S.S. Queen, now on the way from Glasgow. Made claim of 50 per cent off, compromised at 57 1-2 per cent off, will clear at half price. This lot consists of Beau

Fur Dolmans, Capes, Muffs, Caps, & Boas

Value in Sterling, £475; Currency, $2,375: Duty added, $3,166.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

AN IMPORTANT APPOINTMENT.

A Nova Scotian Scholar's Abilities Recognised.

ITHICA, N. Y., Jan. 6.—The executive committee of trustees of Cornell university, at a meeting this afternoon, appointed Dr. J. G. Schurman to the new chair of ethics and philosophy, endowed in memory of the wife of Henry W. Sage with $50,000 cash and a new ten thousand dollar house to be built on the campus. Dr. Schurman is at present professor of philosophy and ethics in Dalhousie college at Halifax, N. S. He was born in 1854, and gained his early education in Prince Edward Island. In 1875 he won the Gilchrist scholarship of $500 per year for three years at London university examinations annually held in Canada, two years later won the London university scholarship in logic and philosophy, and the same scholarship in political economy at University college, London. In 1875 received the degree of doctor of science in mental and moral philosophy at the University of Edinburgh. He was subsequently elected to the Hebbard travelling scholarship of $1000 a year for two years. He pursued his studies at the leading German universities, writing a volume on the ethics of evolution, which attracted much attention. He is a friend of the leading philosophers of Europe, and is a man of impressive presence. President Adams regards the appointment as of great importance and promise, and Mr. Sage commends the appointee. Dr. Schurman will begin with the new college year.

WOULD BE COMPELLED TO FIGHT.

Loyalists Declare That if Home Rule is Conceded They Will Resort to Arms.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—At a meetieg of the Irish Loyalist and Patriotic union to-day, Mayor E. J. Sanderson, Loyalist member of Parliament for Armagh, said he feared the Radicals would concede Home Rule to the Nationalists. If Home Rule should be granted the Loyalists would be compelled to up and fight, otherwise their throats would be cut. Col. T. Waring, member of Parliament for Down, said if the Government intended cutting the Loyalists adrift, he prayed that it would at least leave their hands untied, so that they might render a good account of themselves.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Princess of Wales is prostrated with serious illness. The first symptoms were developed last week and were attributed to pleurisy. The appropriate remedies were administered and the disease was checked. She is still suffering from severe sore throat accompanied by fever. Sir Oscar Clayton, surgeon to the Prince of Wales, is in constant attendance on the Princess at Sandringham palace.

A Strange Case of Miscegenation.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 7.—Yesterday afternoon Ina Norton, a beautiful and accomplished young lady, daughter of a wealthy citizen residing on Brownell street, quietly left her father's home and making her way down town met a former servant of the Norton's named Barber. The two proceeded to the residence of a colored minister and were married, after which Miss Norton returned to her home. In the evening the young lady attended a progressive euchre party. At 10 o'clock she arose, stating that as her carriage was at the door, she must be excused. She then withdrew. Outside she was met by her coloured husband, and together the two proceeded to the depot, where they boarded an east bound train. Detectives are after the couple and it is hoped Mrs. Barber may be persuaded to return to her home. Barber, if captured, will be prosecuted.

The Toronto Tailors' Black List.

Over 250 names grace the first printed bulletin of the men of Toronto who refuse to pay their tailor bills. The names are arranged alphabetically, with the address and occupation of the debtor and the name of the firm unpaid. One King street shop furnishes no less than 46 names to the list. Perhaps the D. B.'s, who have not yet given them a call, would like to know the name of this accommodating concern. Five printers are in the list, one editor, several lawyers, four bank clerks, two "loafers," one traveller is described as owing "everybody," a couple of doctors, insurance, real estate men and agents have a large representation and two theatrical managers. In giving the address of the delinquents the firms with which they are employed is frequently used. The list is entertaining as a piece of local literature.

Calgary's Councillors have a Triumphal Procession.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 6.—The disqualified Councillors of Calgary were re-elected yesterday by a large majority. As the time for Mr. Cayley to pay his fine expired on Monday morning, and his arrest was momentarily expected, over two hundred of the citizens, placing him in a wagon, drawn by hand, and led by the town band, escorted him around the town, with cheers for him and the old Council. In its course the procession passed Judge Travis' house, when three groans for Judge Travis were enthusiastically given by the crowd. In the evening the municipal victory over Judge Travis was celebrated through the town by bonfires and a torchlight procession. For some reason, Judge Travis did not arrest Mr. Cayley on Monday, but yesterday, about noon, he was arrested and taken to the barracks, there to put in his sentence for contempt of court. A petition will be sent to Ottawa to-day demanding a commission to investigate Judge Travis' action.

Good News for Licensees Under the McCarthy Act.

MONTREAL, Jan. 7.—Hon. L. R. Church, Q. C., who represented the Quebec Government in the license appeal cases before the privy Council, and was also General legal adviser of the Dominion Government, and who has just returned from England, in an interview to-day stated that it was his opinion that the Dominion Government would have to refund all fees they collected under the McCarthy Liquor License Act to the individuals from whom they collected them. He would not venture an opinion as to whether the decision of the Privy Council in the license cases invalidated the operation of the Scott Act.

A canny Scotchman has proved too much for the judiciary of Stornoway. He was cited to appear before the borough court there, when he summoned all the magistrates as witnesses, so there is no one left to try his case. The magistrates are bound to obey the citation, but should they refuse to attend there is no other magistrate to issue a warrant for their apprehension, and if they do obey the call there will be no judge to try the case. The man by his ingenuity has for a time rendered it impossible for the trial to go on. The gentlemen summoned have no knowledge of the case, and were called simply to obstruct it. The amusing affair has no precedent.

resolution, made a short and pointed speech. The Bible Society he characterized as one of the grandest enterprises, divinely inspired, which was to put the Bible in the hands of every one on the face of the earth. Triumph had crowned their efforts to a degree unlooked for. He pointed out that notwithstanding all the drawbacks, the present year had been the best the Society had yet had. The mission was divinely blessed, and God had given the honor of spreading the Bible to the nations of the earth, to Great Britain, Germany and America—the Anglo-Saxon race. He spoke at some length of the condition of nations that were without the Bible compared with those where it was in free circulation.

Moved by Rev. W. F. Clarke, seconded by Dr. Griffin, that the committee be instructed to hold a jubilee meeting before the end of the year 1886, instead of the next annual meeting, and that the lady collectors be requested to act with the committee in arranging for the same.

The meeting was then closed by singing and prayer. Altogether a very profitable time was spent.

Intended Immigrant Arrested.

PULLMAN, Ill., Jan. 7.—A deficit of several thousand dollars was recently found in the accounts of J. H. Meyers, teller of the Pullman National bank. Meyers said he could fix it up. He was given a chance, but last night when he was discovered starting with his wife and child to Canada he was arrested.

Desperate Strikers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—The strike at Maxwell Bros'. box factory is assuming a serious aspect. When the employees of the factory left last night some of them received severe beatings. This morning they were attacked by strikers. William Morrison was felled to the ground, and a gash three inches long made in the top of his head. He was otherwise badly bruised. H. B. Owen met a similar fate, and was brutally beaten on the head and face, and B. Perry had a long and deep gash inflicted on the side of his head, and his face was pounded to a jelly.

Sad Effect of a Coal Miners' Revival Meeting.

DANVILLE, Ill., Jan. 7.—John Swisher, coal miner and Methodist minister, is holding a series of revival meetings in this city and has wrought the people up to a high pitch of excitement. Four members of a family named Allen have become insane. Many others are in danger of losing their mental powers. Swisher, who is a man of massive physique and vocal strength, froths at the mouth, jumps over the pulpit, walks on the front seats, and says he will shake sinners over an open hell so that they can appreciate the climate of heaven.

THOUGH SMALL DOGS BARK.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.
Sincerely yours,

Probabilities.

North-east breaking to north-west gales, cloudy weather, with snow, followed by partially clearing decidedly colder weather. Very cold Sunday. The temperature will fall much below zero.

Local News.

NEW galleries are to be put into the Methodist Church, Galt.

THE Rev. Mr. Beattie and Dr. Orton attend the General Hospital.

THERE was a large number of dressed hogs on the market this morning.

SCHOLARS, hunt out your books and slates to-day. School re-opens on Monday.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—The Rev. Mr. Weir will preach in the Baptist Church here to-morrow.

MR. TERRY MARSH, formerly of Guelph, and now a land agent in Regina, is in Guelph visiting friends, and will remain for about two weeks.

SEVERAL of the factories on Water Street, Galt, had to quit work on Tuesday in consequence of their premises being flooded by the overflowing of the Grand River.

OF MR S. S. Spence, who lectures here on Monday evening, the press has but one opinion, and that is most favorable. "Abounding in wit, fresh and sparkling," is the Belleville Free Press verdict.

NEXT week the curling rink will be opened on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings to give those curlers who are unable to attend in the afternoon a chance of practising up.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—Saturday evening, 9th January, meeting in the Baptist church to be addressed by Mr Weir and Mr Savage. Subjects, The Christian Life, and for increase of Faith, Hope and Charity, &c.

VITAL STATISTICS FOR ERIN.—The number of births, marriages and deaths reported for the registration district of the Township of Erin, for the year ending 31st December, 1885, is as follows:—Births 92, of which 45 are males, and 47 females; marriages 19; deaths 42, of which 23 were males, and 19 females. Aggregate for the past five years:—Births, 458; marriages, 110; deaths, 216.

REVISING BARRISTER'S CLERK.—The Galt Reformer says:—We understand that Mr. Otto Klotz, Sr., of Preston, has been appointed revising barrister's clerk for South Waterloo, and a son of Judge Lacourse for North Waterloo. Mr. Klotz is known as a strong Tory, and has been President of the South Waterloo Conservative Association. No doubt that was one reason why he received the appointment.

WEEK OF PRAYER UNION MEETING.—The union meeting of the Week of Prayer was held last night in Norfolk Street Methodist Church, and was well attended. The Rev Mr. Holmes conducted the services. The Rev. Dr. Griffin and Rev. Mr. Macgregor lead in prayer. The Rev. W. F. Clarke, on the subject, "Kings and all in authority," gave a very interesting address, principally in regard to the British Empire and the usurpation of political power by the Roman Church. The Rev. Mr. Beattie was equally interesting in reference to the iniquitous traffic in opium. The meeting this evening will be in the Baptist Church.

THERE is some word of a recount of the ballots in the election of Mayor for Waterloo between Geo. Moore and Wm. Snider, the former only got in by one vote. Last year Mr. Snider defeated him by 8.

THERE has been fowl work perpetrated on a grocer in Meaford recently, a number of dressed geese being sold which were afterwards found to be stuffed, some of them to the tune of three lbs., with pigs' liver and such. The dishonest and avaricious customer is known, but not named.

PEDDLERS.—The legal editor of a city journal says that a retail merchant cannot go into a town outside of where he is doing business and solicit orders for clothes, without first complying with the provisions of the by-law of the municipality in which he takes orders, respecting hawkers and peddlers, passed since the first of October last.

PLOUGHING IN JANUARY.—Galt Reporter:—It sounds strange with the thermometer in the neighborhood of zero to talk of ploughing having been done this week; but as a matter of fact Mr. James Finley had a plough at work in one of his fields on Tuesday last, and the soil turned over in first-rate style. It is not often that the plough can be used in Canada in January.

TO-DAY the police authorities were searching the hotel stables to discover if three horses with buggies and harness, etc., taken from a livery stable in Rockwood were housed in the city. It is understood that a horse answering the description of one of the missing animals was found in the Western stables.

COLLAPSE OF CHARGE AGAINST WARDEN MASSIE.—Ex-convict Daniel J. McCarthy's charges against Warden Massie, of the Central Prison, collapsed ignominiously Friday morning. His principal witness, another convict named O'Brien, told a plausible story of undue severity meted out to him by the Warden; but the record of the fellow, who is a four-term jail bird, proved him to be so unreliable that the Magistrate dismissed the case with costs. Mr. McCarthy did the vanishing feat very successfully before the decision was finally given.

FOR THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.—Mr. Thos. New, representative of Mr. Chas. Raymond, left Guelph on Friday afternoon on his eastern trip. After finishing his business in Montreal, he will proceed to Portland, and take the Sardinian for Liverpool. He will have charge of Mr. Raymond's sewing machines at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition. The New Raymond machine is rapidly growing in favor in Britain and no doubt the samples shown at the great exhibition will greatly help to extend its popularity among the people at home.

PIGEON SHOOT.—Yesterday afternoon W. D. Shattuck and Tindal Holliday, Guelph, shot B. Brown and C. Brown, Aberfoyle, for $10 a side. The match was to be at ten birds each, but when six were killed the Messrs. Brown threw up the match. The following is the score:—

W. D. Shattuck	111110—5
T. Holliday	011111—5
	10
C. Brown	000011—2
B. Brown	100100—2

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—William Foster, a man 72 years of age, formerly of Toronto and later of Allandale, but who has been living in Milton for the last seven months, attempted suicide by cutting his throat last Tuesday. His wife, knowing his state of mind had been keeping watch on him, but he eluded her vigilance. She found him shortly afterwards in the barn, where he had cut himself with a razor close under his chin and lower jaw, so high that the windpipe was not touched. As however, the wound was such that food could not be administered except through a tube, and the man was in a very low state the doctors could give no hope that he would recover, or that he would live more than a day or so.

CONCERT IN GALT.—The Reformer has the following remarks about some of our local singers who took part in the annual New Year's concert of Knox Church, Galt:—When Miss Maggie Harris, of Elora, was announced, she was received with applause, singing "Jessie's Dream," which she rendered in a feeling manner. She was also heartily encored, and sang by special request the "Last Hymn," in an able manner. Mrs. Schultz, Acton, made her appearance, singing "My Love is a Rover" in an admirable manner, receiving another encore, she sang "When the Robbins Nest Again." The Misses Harris now sang a duett, "Sweet is the Dream of Youth's Fond Hours," doing full justice to the piece, which was heartily applauded. Mrs. Schultz then gave "The Cuckoo." In this her finely cultivated voice showed to advantage, she even surpassed herself taking the audience by storm, and received a hearty encore, to which she responded by singing a part of the same.

The continued use of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion invariably cleanses the blood from all impurities and restores the system to a state of healthfulness, that is manifested in increased constitutional vigor, mental activity, and lightness and bouyancy of spirits. Always ask for Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion, and be sure you get it.

THE St. Mary's Argus, one of the best Reform journals in the west, has entered upon its thirtieth year. May it enjoy many more thirties of useful life.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Not only to our interest alone but to the interest of our customers we keep the Checkered Store open at the regular hours from half past 7 a. m. until 6 p. m. There is a few stores close at 5 p. m., but this is a matter of gas bill and business. You will find the Checkered Store always fighting for the rights of its customers. D. R. Rowen. d2

LAST night D. D. G. M. Hugh McDonald, of Guelph Lodge No. 163, A. O. U. W., installed the officers of Fergus Lodge A. O. U. W., at Fergus. After the installation Mr. Macdonald delivered a short address on the aims, workings and benefits of the Order, which was well received by the Fergus brethren. Fergus lodge is rapidly increasing in membership and will soon rank as one of the first in the county.

A COUNCILLER FOR 30 YEARS.—The Galt Reporter says:—One of the most notable upsets in the Municipal elections is that of Mr Thomas Stock in East Flamboro'—a constituency which he has represented in Wentworth County Council for the past thirty years. His defeat is attributed by the Hamilton Times to his support of Mr. R. R. Waddell in the County Solicitorship and ownership of toll roads.

A WHISKEY INFORMER IN TROUBLE.—The Milton Champion says:—The man McKechnie, who, it is alleged, was the informer in the last Scott Act case against Edwin Lindsay, in which the latter was covicted, got "full" on Monday evening and had a lively time of it. He went into a Milton hotel, was kicked by one man in the bar-room, by another in the hall as he was about to run up-stairs, and by a third after he got up-stairs.

EARLY GUELPH PRINTING.—We were presented the other day with a specimen of the job printing of Guelph of 1845, that being the year of the issue of the first paper in Guelph, the Advertiser, by Mr. John Smith of this city. The circular was sent to Mrs. Tatham at that period, and is printed with good clear type, but how vast and varied the progress made in printing material since that date, is shown by the job work done in the MERCURY Office of to-day.

WELLINGTON ENCAMPMENT.—The officers of Wellington Encampment No. 31, I. O. O. F., were installed last evening by D. D. G. R. R. Mackenzie, and are as follows:

Pat. Jas. Phillips, C. P.
" Samuel Law, H. P.
" W. J. Stevenson, S. W.
" R. Mackenzie, Scribe.

TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.—At a special general meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, held recently, the President laid before the Board a circular regarding the exhibition to be held in Edinburgh this year, and stated that the rules and charges for space were not favourable to exhibitors, and generally that there were not sufficient inducement for Canadians to exhibit there. One hundred and fifty-five new members were admitted by ballot, among whom are the following from this neighborhood:—Martin M. Todd, Galt; Allan Bowman, Blair; Hugo Krantz, M. P., Berlin; R. Beaty, Orangevills; M. Snider, Conestoga; Jas. Hewer, Guelph; Geo. Patterson, Galt; J. F. Patterson, Fergus, and J. D. McCosh, Listowel.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION.—The annual exhibition of the Ontario Poultry Association opens here in the Drill Shed on Tuesday next, and will continue until Friday. For some time past the President, Mr. Thomas Gowdy, and the Secretary, Mr. Geo. Murton, have been kept busy getting everything in readiness, and they have succeeded so well that all arrangements are almost completed for the opening o the show. This exhibition gives promise to be one of the most successful ever held under the auspices of the Association, and thanks is due to the energy of the officers who have spared no pains to make it so. The prize list is a large one, and sufficient in itself to attract the attention of breeders outside of other considerations. Mr. Murton states that the entries up to date are beyond his expectations, extending as far east as Montreal and all along west to the border line. It is to be hoped that the efforts of the Association in bringing such a large show to Guelph will be fully seconded by the patronage of the citizens while the exhibition is being held.

Suspension of a Conservative Journal.

STRATFORD, Jan. 7.—Trouble arising from various causes in the office of the Stratford Herald culminated in the non-issuance of the paper this week. The Herald was at one time under the management of Mr John M. Robb, since dead, and was the leading Conservative paper of the district; it passed from his hands to Mr H. T. Butler (now of the Stratford Times,) under whose management it kept its place. He sold it to Mr Jas. Robb who ran it well for some time, but becoming interested in North West speculation, he sold it to John M. Moran, taking a mortgage, which he had afterwards to foreclose as part payment. It is not known how the matter will be arranged.

Commission on War Claims.

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—The commission on war claims arising out of the Northwest rebellion convened here yesterday, and will continue to sit until all claims are disposed of. The Governor-General has signed a special warrant to pay each claimant half the amount which they are considered entitled to by the commissioners. Checks in favor of the claimants are being issued as speedily as possible by the Auditor-General.

No Dissolution Likely.

OTTAWA, Jan. 8.—Sir Hector Langevin is credited with the statement that there will be no dissolution of parliament until the time appointed by law for its expiration, which is not until after the session of 1887.

A WOMAN SHOT.

By a Young Lad Who Worked on Her Husband's Farm.

(Galt Reformer).

Fred. Schultz has a farm on the Huron road near Strasburg. He and his wife, who live alone, are about 40 years of age. There worked for Mr. Schultz until the beginning of December, a boy aged about 16, named Ernest Berger, son of Mr. Fred. Berger, Berlin. The boy has had a somewhat checkered career, and while very young ran away from home and went to Michigan. A year ago last summer he returned from the United States and worked for Mr. Levi Weaver for a month. John Calvin Ravennes, now lying in Berlin jail on the charge of murder, worked for Mr. Weaver at the same time, and the boys are said to have been fast friends. Berger left Weaver's at the end of a month and afterwards went to work for Mr. Jacob Kinzie, near Doon. In November, 1884, he went to work for Mr. Schultz for a week, at the end of which time he was engaged by that gentleman for a year, and remained there until a little over a month ago, when he went home to Berlin. He was known as a quiet and well-behaved boy, of a somewhat morose disposition, and was rarely known to smile. The Schultz's never had any difficulty with him, and it is impossible to surmise the motive which he could have had in committing the crime with which he is charged. Whenever the case of Ravennes was discussed by the family, Berger always took the part of his friend, and became somewhat warm in his defence, being of the opinion that Ravennes was foolish in not making his escape, and that in any case there was not sufficient evidence to secure a conviction. With the exception of these friendly discussions, however, no differences ever arose between the lad and his employers. Berger was not seen in the neighborhood of Strasburg from the time that he left Mr. Schultz's employ early in December until Thursday or Friday last. On new year day he was seen about the village, and called upon the Schultz's. He did not remain, however, and spent Friday night with Mr. Levi Weaver. He went back to Mr. Schultz's on Saturday and stayed over night. He agreed to work for Mr. Schultz for seven months after Easter. He informed them that he was about to be confirmed, and purposed returning to Berlin on Tuesday. On Saturday morning Mr. Schultz went to church, leaving his wife and the boy in the house. They were both in the kitchen. Mrs. Schultz was sitting on one side of the stove—her back being towards the stove—peeling potatoes at the sink. The boy for some time sat at the window nearly opposite the stove, but afterwards sat down on a box behind the stove and on a line with Mrs. Schultz. There were a number of utensils on the stove, and from the position of the boy and Mrs. Schultz, it is impossible that the shooting could have been accidental. Before the shooting could have taken place it would have been necessary for the lad to stand up and raise the weapon and take deliberate aim. As soon as the boy committed the deed he made his escape by the woodshed door and through the fields behind the barn. Mrs. Schultz made for the kitchen door and called "murder." Conrad Strausberger, a young man who works for John Grant, a neighboring farmer, happened to be passing, and came to the rescue of the terrified lady, and had her taken to the house of Thos. Johnston, and Dr. Miller, of New Dundee, and Dr. Webb, of Waterloo, were sent for. Mrs. Schultz is a very fleshy woman, and the ball entered the back in the region of the kidneys. It penetrated about two inches before striking the muscle, and is supposed to have glanced in an upward direction three inches farther. Up till the time of writing the ball had not been found. The case is a very serious one, although hopes are entertained that it may not result fatally. After the shooting Berger was tracked along the town line as far as the Blair bridge, and word was sent in every direction. When captured in Galt on Monday night he was wet through, having evidently been out all day. In his possession was found a small-sized seven shooter, quite new, four chambers being loaded. He admitted having worked for Mr. Schultz, but denied having committed the grave crime with which he is charged.

License Commissioners.

A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners was held last evening. Present—Mr. W. J. Fairbank, chairman, and Messrs. Kennedy and Murphy.

Mr. James Lamb applied to have his license transferred to W. Matthews.

Mr. Murphy moved, seconded by Mr. Kennedy, that the application of Mr. Lamb be granted. Carried.

Mr. W. H. Matthews applied to have a portion of his license money refunded on account of his premises having been burned on the 7th of November.

Moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Murphy, that Mr. W. H. Matthews be refunded a fair proportion of his license money his tavern having been completely burned out. Carried.

Moved by Mr Murphy, seconded by Mr Kennedy, that this Board tender their thanks to their chairman, Mr Fairbank, for his attention and efficiency during the past year. Carried.

The Inspector, Mr Cowan, having reported cases where those obtaining liquor had been provided with the same by outside parties, it was Moved by Mr. Murphy, seconded by Mr. Kennedy, that the section of the Act referring to the same be advertised in the MERCURY for one week. Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

Guelph Daily Mercury

SATURDAY EVE'G, JAN. 9, 1886.

It is likely that a number of Reformers from this City and the South Riding of Wellington will assist at the banquet to Hon. Mr. Blake next Thursday, and we understand the G. T. R. is to issue tickets at single fares for the occasion. Thursday is the date of the Centre Wellington Convention, a circumstance which will prevent a good many from that section taking part.

MONTREAL Witness:—Could not our present coroner's jury system be modified so as to make it more efficient. A number of men, anxious to get away to their business, presided over by a coroner anxious to give offence to nobody, especially to nobody respectable, is likely to do just as the jury in the case of the boy Sullivan has done, rise without affixing blame to anybody. The jury says in a general way that if St. Peter street had been properly lighted "the said accident would have been averted." But they took no trouble to find out who had been guilty of the negligence and the consequent manslaughter, the very thing they were set to find out.

THE question of the possible early dissolution of the House has still considerable interest, and is, through the peculiar conduct of the organs, full of uncertainty. Sir John Macdonald would have no warrant for a dissolution of the House at the present time, but provided the Governor-General could be made to acquiesce, Sir John would not be particular as to whether he had an excuse or not. The only excuse for an early dissolution would be the change in the franchise by which a large number of men were made voters who are not now represented, but the necessary lists have not yet been made and revised, so that an election now would disfranchise those men for five years, who in the ordinary course of events will exercise their rights in the course of another year, or two at most. In the meantime the conduct of the organs is much to be deprecated. Either the one or the other is mischieviously deceiving the country and tampering with its business interests and the Government should prevent this.

"WHEN the cat's away the mice will play," seems to be true of the Tory organs just now, all of whom are fiddling on their own particular string without regard to harmony. Some few weeks ago, the Mail was sounding notes of defiance to the Bleus and dissolution to Ontario. The Montreal Gazette says there is nothing of the kind in hand, that the Bleus are our very good friends except on one point, and that what we have been reading in the Mail is "not worthy of serious consideration." The Mail says:—"At the general elections, now not far distant, Quebec may be swept by the race and revenge factions," &c., &c., and the Gazette says "no dissolution is about to take place, and such an event has not even been contemplated." Which is it? And what is the use of the organs when they flatly contradict one another about an event on which the public should be informed at the very earliest moment possible? Then the Mail declared that the Canadian Pacific bonds, which were in the custody of the Government as security for a part of the $30,000,000 loan, had been sold in the London market, but the Gazette replies there has been no such sale and that the negotiation of the bonds would be undesirable both from the Company's point of view and that of the Government. If the Mail is no longer the organ of the Government, why cumbereth it the ground?

THE Government had apparently little to fear regarding the return of Mr. Foster in King's County, he being opposed by Mr. Domville, a former indomitable supporter of Sir John Macdonald. Nevertheless, Foster felt his position precarious, and a piteous appeal went up to Ottawa for assistance. The result was a majority which indicated the application of some undue influence, and curiosity was felt as to what it was and whence it came. The information upon this point comes from Mr Domville, the defeated candidate, who at the close of the campaign boldly declared that he would have been elected but for a certain telegram which was sent to Ottawa, and the answer to which there had been a veritable shower of gold. Yes, Mr. Domville said he had been defeated through the agency of money; that a great many, having notes coming due, were put in a position to pay them easily; that those receiving the golden medallions, which pass current, could look upon them and not only say, "God bless the Queen," but "God bless Professor Foster." The honourable Minister of Militia has not, so far as we are aware, given the charge an emphatic denial. He may find it convenient to do so. It is very well known that those who are now his colleagues have never hesitated to resort to the purchase of votes rather than suffer rebuke, and at such a time as this, when the Tory party is on the verge of collapse, the Government, or any member of it, must be buttressed up at any cost.

THE town of Cayuga, Haldimand County, is entitled to the reputation of being the most badly spelled town in Canada. No less than 112 different ways of spelling the word Cayuga have been noticed by the postmaster of that town. It is a good thing to have a reputation of some kind.

THE banquet to Hon. Edward Blake to be given at London next Thursday promises to be a more than ordinary important event, and is looked forward to with great interest by both parties. Liberals are anxious to hear from their leader after his absence, and the exciting events which have intervened. Tories have that keen interest which is felt by a boy who knows he deserves a whipping, is tolerably sure that he will get it, and is fervently wishing that it were well over.

Letter from Mr. Stull.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

DEAR SIR,—Will you be kind enough to insert this letter in your paper, as I wish to contradict a false report that was circulated about me before the election to cause my defeat, and being ill I did not know anything about it until Saturday afternoon before the election, when it was too late to contradict it. I have been accused of shirking my vote in the Council on the coal by-law, which I say is a gross and malicious falsehood, by whoever told. There was not an Alderman who sat in the Council who was more anxious to have that by-law passed than I was, and in conclusion, Mr. Editor, I would say my vote never was for sale. Thanking you for the insertion of this,

I remain, yours &c.,
G. W. STULL.

"PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE JOURNAL."—The December number of this periodical bears a special attraction for all interested in the history and proceedings of the Presbyterian College in Montreal. Its frontispiece is an excellent portrait of Sir William Dawson, Principal of McGill University. Its principal article is a lengthy illustrated one, showing the rise and progress of the Presbyterian College, and its affiliation with McGill University, a matter of great interest to the members of the denomination. There are many other readable articles from contributors, and a series of biographical sketches, with portraits of the Professors will appear in the next four numbers. The Principal of the College, Dr. Macvicar, is so thoroughly identified with the history of the College, and so well known to the people of this city and neighbourhood, that its continued welfare and progress will always be a matter of more than ordinary interest to Presbyterians here.

PERILOUS VOYAGE.

A December Trip in a Sail Boat on Lake Superior—The Wrecked Algoma.

Mr. J. W. Andrews arrived here on Tuesday morning at 1 o'clock in a sail boat from the scene of the Algoma wreck, having been sixteen days making the round trip. He brought in several pieces of the vessel, and four life preservers which were considerably battered and worn. Mr. Andrews went out to ascertain the probability of saving the machinery and other portions of the wreck, having received a letter from Superintendent Beatty stating that the company would be glad to receive a tender from Mr. Andrews for the removal of steel rails, machinery, etc. He thinks that the greater portion of the machinery can be saved. The only portable relics of the boat to be found were three beer barrels, firmly frozen in the ice. The fishermen on Isle Royale say the hull has drifted in five feet nearer shore since they last visited it. The machinery will probably be removed next month. Mr. Andrews encountered three heavy snow storms in making the trip. On Christmas night the boat ran on a rock and it was with great difficulty that no lives were lost. In making the return voyage the boat had to break the ice all the way from Welcome Islands to the breakwater.—Port Arthur Herald.

NORTHWEST TROUBLES

Colonists' Houses Raided and Provisions and Stock Carried off.

A Winnipeg despatch says:—Mr. Rufus Stephenson, who has just returned from inspecting the colonization companies, says the Indians have committed some depredations at the York and Dominion colonies by raiding the houses and carrying off provisions, outfits, horses and cattle; in fact, they acted very badly. The Indians that did this belong principally to Little Bone's band. He is a very bad Indian, and has been obliged to leave the district. The police captured some of the depredators, but the rest escaped. Some of the horses were recovered.

"Do you think, Mr. Stephenson, there is is any danger of an Indian uprising?"

"Well," he replied, "I should hardly like to give an opinion, especially in my position. I heard a great deal of talk about Indians being restless and dissatisfied, and I know a good many have left their reserves. I think it would be just as well to exercise caution, even though there should not be a rising."

Agent Begg, of the Blackfeet, has no fear of a rising if whiskey is kept out of the camp. He thinks a number of police should be immediately placed at Gleichen.

Nervous Debilitated men,

You are allowed a free trial of thirty days of the use of Dr. Dye's Celebrated Voltaic Belt with Electric Suspensory Appliances, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Debility, loss of Vitality and Manhood, and all kindred troubles. Also, for many other diseases. Complete restoration to health, vigor and manhood guaranteed. No risk is incurred. Illustrated pamphlet, with full information, terms, etc., mailed free by addressing Voltaic Belt Co. Marshall Mich.

The Blake Banquet.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The energetic committee who are arranging for the Blake banquet on the 14th inst. having secured one of the largest buildings in the city—the Princess Rink—on Queen's avenue. The rink will easily hold 2,000 persons, and seating accommodation at tables will be provided for 600 or 700 guests. Besides Mr. Blake, it is expected that the Hon. Oliver Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. G. W. Ross, Mr. W. Paterson, M.P., Hon. D. Mills, Hon. A. M. Ross, James Somerville, M.P., Geo. E. Casey, M.P., and many other prominent gentlemen will be present. The Grand Trunk are also offering return tickets at single fare where a party of 25 or more is guaranteed. Reports from St. Thomas, St. Mary's, Stratford, Strathroy, and many other places far and near indicate that this will be one of the greatest political gatherings ever witnessed in Ontario.

Colonel Bob Ingersoll has mortally offended his fellow-freethinkers by pocketing the proceeds of a lecture before the Cleveland convention. He emptied the plate into his private pocket and left the other delegates to foot all the expenses. The Secular Age denounces the infidel orator's "porcine procilivities," and thinks that the sooner he steps down and out of his leadership the better.

THE International Book and Bible House, Toronto, want three canvassers—male and female. They will pay large commissions, or a fair salary to the right persons. Write to the house at once for particulars.

GREAT JANUARY SALE

AT THE GOLDEN

-LION-

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

Value in Sterling, £475; Currency, $2,375; Duty added, $3,166.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

The Foes of a Household

A CONTINUED STORY

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

Two men were walking slowly along the quiet country road. It was a perfect July evening, and they had dined—two good reasons for not being in a hurry. They were as different in age as in personal appearance; perhaps the only point of likeness lay in the fact that both held cigars between their lips. One was a man who, though in actual years perhaps not much past middle life, looked already old. His hair was perfectly grey, and his figure slightly bent. Probably no one had ever called him handsome; but his face was more pleasing than many a merely handsome one, for if the features were rather sharp and the expression shrewd, there was such an air of kindly genialty in his whole appearance that one could not but feel attracted by him. He looked the kind of man to whom one would apply—instinctively, and not in vain—in times of doubt and difficulty. He strolled on, his eyes fixed neither upon the ground nor his companion's face, but straight in front of him; and the stick which he always carried unless it rained, was held upright against his back in a manner which did not fail to produce smiles of amusement when the doctor was amongst strangers.

His companion was a man far younger both in years and appearance. If Dr. Hazlitt looked older than he really was, Percival Moore enjoyed the distinction, rare enough in these days, of looking rather young. It was a distinction for which Dr. Hazlitt, had already told him several times in the short two months of their acquaintance he could never be sufficiently thankful; it was also a distinction of which Moore himself was unconscious. He was really not aware that though just thirty he looked no more than six or seven and twenty, neither had he ever given any consideration to the fact that this look of youth came probably from his habit of looking in general from a healthy and unprejudiced point of view, taking things very much as he found them, and yielding neither to undue elation nor depression according as his luck went up or down.

His face was an exceedingly pleasant one, though not distinguished by any striking beauty of feature. He was very much tanned, and this particular complexion seemed to harmonize with the thoughtful expression of his face. His eyes were dark grey, and, like his face, thoughtful and pleasant; his hair was dark brown, and closely cut, after the fashion of today. In figure he was unusually tall, well made, and spare; there was the unconscious grace of perfect health and strength in every one of his movements.

He was the only child of a retired manufacturer, and had been brought up and educated with a view to taking his father's place in the commercial world, and addiing to the already colossal fortune which his father had built up for himself. With this end in view he had been placed at an ordinary middle-class school, withdrawn from his studies when he was just beginning to understand the value of them, and put into "the business." Here he had passed through every branch, beginning as the very humblest half-timer, and accomplishing his rise and progress until he he knew all the ins and outs of the business by heart.

At this point, when he had just attained his majority and was about to be received into the commercial world as his father's junior partner and representative, the elder Moore had died, leaving his son sole master of himself and his enormous wealth.

Perhaps it was well for Mr. Moore, senior's, peace of mind that he died when he did, before knowing the deep and growing distaste of his son for the business of which he was so proud. At heart Percival was not a business, that is commercial man. He had done his father's will in choosing his career in life, partly because he had a curiosity to know how a large business like that was carried on, and partly because he was prepared to give up a part of his life to please his father; but he had never intended to make business the pursuit of his whole life. He had always meant to give it up upon his father's death, and as soon as possible after that event he wound up his affairs, retired from his former haunts, and began life anew, and more in accordance with his own tastes. He travelled, studied, and observed, and the result was that after eight years of unsettled existence he had bought an estate in the neighbourhood of Osmotherley, and resolved henceforth to live on his own land, and study from the life some of the problems which were pushing themselves to the fore in this world of speculation.

On first coming to Osmotherley he had met Mr. Lafone, one of the magnates of the place, who had taken a fancy to him, and at whose house he had been, and still was staying, until his own place had been put into proper repair. The very day he went to Mr. Lafone's house, Percival met Dr. Hazlitt there, and in spite of the disparity in their years and positions the two men had at once struck a sympathetic vein, and few days passed without a meeting between them. This evening Moore had been dining with the doctor, and they had strolled out after dinner to taste the freshness of the evening, and, perhaps, though neither mentioned it, to see the pomp of the sunset over the golden sands of the bay.

They had hardly spoken since leaving the doctor's pretty, creeper-covered house, and it was Moore who, in the tone of a man continuing an interrupted conversation, broke the silence by saying—

"Then you really do think Miss Lafone has some reason for the warlike attitude she maintains towards her family."

The doctor did not withdraw his eyes from space as he replied with a half smile—

"Poor little Helen! Yes, she has reason, certainly; though, mind you, I am not saying she does not make the most of a matter which, if not precisely bad, is at least awkward and unfortunate—especially when one takes into consideration her character and her father's," he concluded, after a little pause which had followed the word "unfortunate."

"If you were the true friend you call yourself," said his companion, "you would unravel the mystery for me. As a guest at the Thwaite I cannot very well talk about it to Miss Lafone. An explanation would necessitate my taking one side or the other, and I can't do that. All the same, any one must see a hundred times a day that something is wrong, though I have so far been unable to decide on which side the fault chiefly lies. I cannot say Mrs Lafone shows much tact or any great sense of justice in her dealings with her daughter; but then neither does Miss Lafone appear to make the slightest endeavour to smooth things down, or to meet her mother half way. I cannot help being interested and feeling curious how it will end, for I don't see what Miss Lafone hopes to gain by it. At the same time, she is so evidently unhappy that I feel very sorry for her."

"Just as I admire your prudent and very reasonable meditations on the matter," replied the doctor, with a touch of sarcasm in his voice. "Some men of your age would have espoused her cause at once, without stopping to inquire whether it was a worthy one or not. But you watch events for weeks, and pause to weigh the circumstances of the case. You won't offer your sympathy to the daughter because it might excite hostile feelings against the father, whose guest you are. You coolly deliberate whether after all she is not more sinning than sinned against, and finally you declare your wish to hear all the facts, that you may pronounce judgment with perfect impartiality. I cannot sufficiently praise and admire your prudence and sound common sense."

Moore burst out laughing as the doctor finished.

"Well," he said presently, "I can't see what else you would have done in my place. After all, you must own there is strife enough in the family without my adding to it, which I must inevitably have done whichever side I had taken, either by encouraging Miss Lafone, or rousing her anger by telling her she is acting foolishly. I only wish to observe, more in sorrow than in anger, that you might have spared me the trouble of asking, by letting me into the secret of it all. You must know all about it; you are an old friend of the family, and appear to have rather a particular foundness for Miss Lafone herself. You ought to know the whole thing by heart."

"So I do," observed the doctor reflectively; "as you say, Helen is my special favourite, so what could I do better than tell all the secrets of her life to the first stranger who happens to come in my way?"

"I am not a stranger now, and I am very much interested in Miss Lafone, and have been ever since I knew her. You must acknowledge that I have at least displayed a laudable bias towards the right side of the question by coming for particulars to one of her sworn friends and allies. It has not taken me all this time to find out that, whatever scruples I may have about encouraging her in a somewhat dangerous course of action, they are entirely unknown to you."

Dr Hazlitt smiled as he said, "Yes Helen's enemies are my enemies too. It may not be prudent, but I do encourage her. She has a great deal to put up with, and shows such good fight. I would not advise her to yield. Besides, why should she yield? She is not in the wrong."

"You let your affection run away with your judgment," rejoined Moore quietly.

"Possibly. I cannot deny that I love Helen as if she were my own child. I have known her ever since she was a baby, and have always felt constrained to keep an eye upon her, partly for her mother's sake. She was the most charming woman I have ever known, and Helen is her image."

"You knew her then? Of course I knew the present Mrs Lafone is only Helen's stepmother, and I have sometimes felt curious about her own mother, but I never heard her mention her."

"Because she never knew her. Give me time to light another cigar and you shall know the whole story."

The doctor stood still as he lit his cigar, and Moore, as he waited for him, looked round with an almost painful sense of the exquisite beauty of the country in which he had chosen to live his life.

FOR BOOTS AND SHOES

IS

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.25; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.65, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes, $1.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

The Duplex Grate.

This Grate is only to be had in the celebrated Radiant Home Base Burner and the Happy Thought and Garland Ranges. Read the following testimonial

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,
(W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

The Beamsville Tragedy.

The latest reports of the Beamsville tragedy state that both Mr. Stone and Miss Hodge were still alive, but the doctors have been unsuccessful in extracting the bullet from Stone's head, and little hope is entertained of the survival of either of them.

Youthful Depravity.

STRATFORD, Jan. 8.—William and John Greear, John Croft, and Albert Flowers, four boys about fifteen years old, were before P. M. O'Hoane, here to-day for an attempt to commit rape on a little girl named Marry Harris, of Tavistock, a small village near here, on Sunday last. The girl has not yet recovered from the effects of the cruel treatment accorded to her by the roughs. Judgment has not yet been given, but a dose of the Reformatory will likely be prescribed for them.

Overflow of the St. Lawrence.

MONTREAL, Jan. 8.—The river has been falling since six o'clock and all dangers for the night are now past. This afternoon the Hudon cotton factory below the city had to partially suspend operations owing to the flood. The house of the toll-keeper at Longue Pointe has been partially destroyed by floating ice. The road between St. Lambert and Longueuil on the south side of the river is flooded and traffic completely stopped. The river is apparently frozen over and the farmers will likely be crossing in a day or two.

A Church Burned.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 7.—The Bridge street Methodist church here was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss about $35,000; insurance $18,000, of which $10,000 is in the Comercial Union and $8,000 in the Lancashire. The building was dedicated in 1865, on May 14, by Rev. E. Ryerson, D. D., LL.D., Rev. Lachlin Taylor, D.D., and Rev. Geo. Douglas. It was 74 by 110 in size, and with the gallery, which extended along three sides had a seating capacity of 1500 persons. The Sunday school room, which was also consumed, was built at a cost of $3000 and was particularly handsome.

A Peddler and Team Drowned

OTTAWA, Jan. 6.—A few days ago at a point called the "Narrows," five miles above Eganville, two Jewish peddlers from Daore, Opeongo, named Jacob Diamond and Wm. Holstein, driving their double team laden with goods, became belated and in the darkness lost their way. They drove on to the "narrows" and suddenly the ice broke and team, drivers and sleigh dropped through into the stream. The horses and sleigh were swept under the ice and disappeared, but Diamond managed to scramble out and rescued his companion, who started for assistance. In the darkness of the night he went roaming around and suddenly broke through again. Cold, chilled and exhausted by his previous ducking he soon succumbed and was drowned. Diamond horrified at the condition in which he found himself got on his hands and knees and managed to reach the shore by cautiously feeling around on the ice with his hands.

A Greek Change of Front.

ATHENS, Jan 8.—The attitude of Greece towards Turkey is becoming more friendly. The Greek consul in Crete has been recalled. Their reserves are being disbanded and the departure of troops for the frontier has been countermanded.

Considerately Postponed.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—The executive council of the American Exhibition company announces to-day that the time of the opening of the exhibition has been changed from May, 1886, to May, 1887, at the suggestion of Consul General Waller, on account of the Colonial and Indian exhibition being fixed for the former year.

The Storm in Great Britain.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The gale continues with unabated fury. In Scotland the snow in some places has drifted into enormous banks, and a number of trains are reported to be blocked. An unknown steamer has foundered in the English channel, and a mass of wreckage has been washed ashore. The French bark Rene has been wrecked in the Bristol channel, and four of her crew have been drowned.

Suffering in Glasgow.

GLASGOW, Jan. 8.—The great and long continued depression in trade, together with the cold weather of the past few days, is causing much suffering among the poorer classes. The charitable societies, notwithstanding extraordinary efforts, are unable to supply the wants of a great number of persons who daily apply for relief. The workhouses are overcrowded. A meeting of 5000 unemployed persons was held here to-day. The crowd was orderly and no socialistic remarks were indulged in by the speakers. It was resolved to make an appeal to the wealthy classes for assistance.

Germany and the Vatican.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—In recognition of their services in connection with the settlement of the Carolines dispute, the Emperor William has conferred the decoration of the order of the Black Eagle upon Cardinal Jacobini, Papal Secretary of State, and the decoration of the Order of the Red Eagle upon Monsignors Moceni and Galimberte. Monsignor Massoni Monsignor Jacobini, keeper of the pontifical archives, receive the decoration of the Order of the Crown. The North German Gazette, publishes an autograph letter from the Pope to Prince Bismarck, addressed "Exc so viri Magni Cancellaria," in which the Pope expresses his thanks for the honor of being selected as a mediator in the Carolines question, which honour he ascribes chiefly to the advice of Prince Bismarck.

THE BELL ORGAN

Has now been before the public for twenty-two years and is to-day so highly appreciated by Lovers of Music and Judges of really good and deserving Instruments that although there are eighteen so called organ factories in the Dominion of Canada,

W. BELL & CO. MAKE AND SELL MORE ORGANS THAN ALL THE OTHERS COMBINED.

Large as W. Bell & Co's. Works are, their employees have to work twelve hours per day. Even these long hours are insufficient to enable them to keep pace with the growing demand. This is a fact which every resident of Guelph can bear testimony to.

Intending purchasers! from the above facts, draw your own conclusions. Deal where you are perfectly sure of a good instrument made at home and sold at a reasonable price.

The firm of W. Bell & Co., is a solid and honorable concern, capable of fulfilling everything they agree to, and they do not make any misrepresentations. Instead, therefore, of experimenting in Organs of doubtful reputation but which may be brought to your doors by unknown and itinerant traders and forced upon innocent and unsuspecting parties, call at

A Strange Case Under the Scott Act.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 9.—This morning application was made in the Supreme Court for the discharge of a man now in the insane asylum under curious circumstances. T. H. Salter was sent to jail for sixty days for violation of the Scott Temperance Act. He fulfilled half the sentence and was then removed by order of the Governor-in-Council to the insane asylum, he being crazy. He remained in the asylum about six months, up to the present, and being considered sane was by order of the Governor-in-Council to be sent back to Annapolis for the purpose of serving the balance of his sentence. The application is that he be discharged, his transfer to the asylum being merely a change of prison and the term of imprisonment not stayed when he was thus transferred.

Prince Bismarck's Suit for Libel.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The action of Prince Bismarck against the Volks Zeitung for libel will be decided by the end of the month. The action is based on an article published in that newspaper in defence of the proposal for the payment of deputies, which was in substance as follows: "Why reproach paid deputies as statesmen selling their opinions seeing that Prince Bismarck has accepted the gift of $125,000, subscribed by Agrarian protectionist supporters?"

Local News.

How about those good and seasonable resolutions now.

REMEMBER F. S. Spence's lecture on marriage in Knox Church to-night.

IT is said that several of the new town councillors of Waterloo are disqualified.

A VALUABLE mare, belonging to Mr Adam Armstrong, of "Cranberry," died of inflamation last week.

MR W. J. FAIRBANKS started to cut ice this morning on Goldie's dam. He reports splendid ice, a foot thick.

A SON of Mr. Duncan Currie, of Belwood, while skating on the ice on the river in that vicinity—on New Year's day, slipped and broke his shoulder blade.

THE Milton Reformer has been only some two months in existence and has already been served with a writ by one David W. Campbell, claiming $5,000 damages for libel.

W. E. SMITH, Acton, has purchased from Mr H. B. McCarthy his livery business, which he is removing to his commodious stable on John street, in the centre of the town.

"ACCORDING to an old saw," says an exchange, we are to have twenty-six snow storms this winter." An old saw that makes such gloomy predictions should have its teeth knocked out.

MR ROBT. RICHARDSON, of West Garafraxa, has rented for one year the farm he recently sold to Mr James Laidlaw, M. P. P. The rent is $330, free of taxes, or equal to about $290 and taxes.

THE annual missionary services were held in the Acton Methodist Church on Sunday, the 3rd. Rev. John Shaw, of the Mission Rooms, Toronto, delivered two most practical and convincing discourses.

DID you ever notice that those who complain most loudly about the local paper, are those persons who wouldn't go ten steps out of their road to contribute an item of news to its columns. Strange isn't it. Yes, but nevertheless true.

MR. T. A. ROBINSON, Fergus, has purchased from Mr. W. Spires, of the Wellington Hotel, Fergus, a pair of fine colts got by "Old Terror" and Spires' driving mare. They are good ones and when broken in will make a fine carriage team.

THE Mount Forest Council at a recent meeting offered a reward of one hundred dollars to anyone giving such information as will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who set fire to the stable of Mr H. Jelly, of that place. It is said that Mr Jelly will offer $200 more.

ON New Year's evening Mr and Mrs John Richardson, of West Garafraxa, had a gathering of their friends on the occasion of the "warming" of their new house. There was a large number present and a splendid time spent. The house is one of the finest farm residences in the county.

HOW THE RUSSIANS STOP A RUNAWAY.—To stop a runaway horse, the Russians have a light cord with a slip-noose in it about the horse's throat, with the cord running through the saddle ring and over the dasher, at hand for the driver to pull upon at the horse's first attempt to run. A little choking stops him.

THROWN FROM A WAGON.—Friday Wm. Everett, employed by a farmer on the 3rd concession of Puslinch, was thrown from a wagon which he was driving at Hanlan's Creek, on account of the horses suddenly slipping. The driver received several severe bruises and a sprained ankle in his fall. No damage was done to the team.

"PTOMANE POISONING is the heading of what appears to be a new disease occurring in this country. The word ptomane is derived from a Greek word ptoma, which means a cadaver, or dead carcass. Several families in the States were poisoned by eating tainted chicken. Beware of keeping dressed poultry too long during changeable weather."

A COLD SNAP.—The recent January thaw has taken a severe and sudden cold. Saturday night and Sunday were bitterly cold with piercing winds from the north east and north west. The thermometer, however, was not very low. At nine o'clock on Sunday morning the glass registered 4 degrees above zero, and at eight o'clock this morning zero.

TO KNOW HOW TO WAIT.—"I'm tired waiting for the payment of this account," exclaimed an impatient creditor the other day, to a man whom he had unsuccessfully dunned about twenty times. "Ah, my dear friend," was the bland reply, "to know how to wait is the secret of success!" On this theory, the average country editor should be the most successful man in the world.

SEVERE FALL.—Mr. Harrison Mays, Garafraxa, met with a severe accident one night recently. While walking home on the railway he stepped into a deep culvert situated on Mr William Rogers' farm. The fall would be from 12 to 15 feet. Mr M. received a deep gash on his forehead, a fractured rib, a bruised elbow, a sprained ankle and a badly fractured knee pan and was otherwise generally shaken up.

A RELICT OF OTHER DAYS.—The Mount Forest Index says:—Mr Alexander Davidson showed us on Thursday a small pocket looking glass, which his great grandfather used in the battle of Colloden, about one hundred and forty years ago. Mr Davidson claims that the keepsake which has been handed down from one generation to another, must be over two hundred years old, consequently prizes it very highly.

CHANGE OF DRUG BUSINESS.—The Arthur Enterprise says:—"Mr W. J. Walsh, druggist, has sold out his business and entire stock to Mr Hugel, late of Guelph. Mr Hugel comes from Guelph very highly recommended, and deservedly so, we have no doubt; but like all other young men starting in life, it will entirely depend on the efforts and perseverance put forth whether he will be a success or the reverse. The result lies entirely in his own hands. In the meantime we give him a hearty welcome, and extend to him our best wishes for his success." Mr Hugel was employed for several years in the drug store of Herod & Co., and latterly had the management of the store. His friends in Guelph wish him success.

THE Collegiate Institute, Public and Separate Schools opened to-day, when there was a very good attendance of pupils.

THE Rev. M. St. James, of the French Baptist Mission, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church next Sunday, morning and evening.

WM. SLACK, London, who was in charge of the telephone office here for some time, and is well known to many citizens, died in London on Saturday.

THE 6:40 train was 3¾ hours late this morning. This train was cancelled yesterday morning. All the passenger trains were about on time to-day with the above exception.

YESTERDAY afternoon John Bunyan's fast horse "Major," attached to a buggy, ran from Malone's hotel to the crossing at the Victoria Bridge, where it was caught. No damage was done to the horse or buggy.

THE annual exhibition of the Ontario Poultry Association opens to-morrow. To-day all the preparations will be completed. Mr. Geo. Murton, Secretary, expects a large number of poultry from various places by express this afternoon.

ACCIDENT AT ROCKWOOD.—John Earstang, section foreman G. T. R., while attempting to draw himself up on a car by one arm on Friday last, dislocated the shoulder. He was taken to a physician's office, where with considerable difficulty the arm was placed in the socket.

TEMPERATURE.—The lowest point which the thermometer touched during the cold snap, as furnished by the Agricultural College Observatory was 4 degrees below zero. The record stands:—Thursday night, 4° below zero; Friday night, 3° above zero; Saturday night, 1° above zero; Sunday night, zero.

TORONTO BAY FROZEN.—The intense cold of the past few days has frozen the water in Toronto Bay, and that sheet of water is now completely closed up for the first time this winter. The time of closing is much later than for several years past. Sunday a venturesome skater was seen out on the bay enjoying himself carrying a sail with which he was propelled along at a rapid rate.

AN OLD RESIDENT OF ACTON.—The Free Press says:—On Saturday morning one of the oldest residents of Acton passed away in the person of Geo. Steel, sr., at the age of 84 years. Mr Steel came to Acton thirty-two years ago from Toronto, where his wife had just died from cholera. He was a quiet and unobtrusive old man, and seemed to desire to be allowed to live severely alone, not appearing anxious to enjoy the ordinary comforts of life. He was taken suddenly ill a couple of weeks ago.

EXPLOSION.—This morning J. Soper, of the European Hotel, was cleaning out a bureau drawer and threw the rubbish in a coal stove in one of the sitting rooms. Scarcely had he done so when an explosion occurred. An investigation as to the cause was immediately made when it was discovered that it arose from a shot gun cartridge having been inadvertently thrown in the stove with the other waste material. The shell was discovered about eight feet from the stove, the door of which was open at the time.

BOARD OF WORKS.—Below will be found in detail the items of the contingent account of the Board of Works, the totals of which were only given at the last meeting of the City Council:

Allan's bridge, no grant	$ 44 00
Extra work on various streets	26 08

A GUELPH BASE BALLIST.—Wm. H. Watkins, formerly third baseman of the Maple Leafs in 1879:80, has been re-appointed manager of the Detroit base ball team for the coming season. He is one of the youngest managers of the League, and is second to none in ability. Since leaving Guelph he played in St. Thomas, Port Huron, Bay City, from whence he went to Indianapolis as manager and third baseman. At the time of the transfer of the Indianapolis team to Detroit, the former club held first place in the Western League. Mr. Watkins says he has learned by experience the benefit of a southern trip in the spring and will take the Detroits south in March. Detroiters will not catch a glimpse of their team until the middle of May.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The last union meeting of the week of prayer was held in the Baptist Church here on Saturday night, and was well attended. The Rev. Mr. Weir, of MacMaster Hall, Toronto, conducted the services. The Rev. J. C. Smith assisted in prayer. The Rev. Mr. Weir, and Mr. Webb, Secretary Y.M.C.A., gave addresses in keeping with the subject appointed for the meeting. The meetings during the week have been well attended, and were divided as equally as possible. The first being held in Dublin Street Methodist Church, on Monday night, addresses by Revs. Dr. Wardrope and Rev. Mr. Macgregor; Tuesday night in Chalmers' Church, addresses by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. Mr. Holmes; on Wednesday night in the Congregational Church, addresses by Rev. Messrs. Kilgour and Carson; Thursday night Bible Society meeting; Friday night in Norfolk Street Methodist Church, addresses by Rev. W. F. Clarke and Mr. Beattie, and on Saturday night in the Baptist Church.

THE Rev. Father Doherty, Father Superior of Our Lady's Church, preached yesterday for the first time in some weeks. He has been absent for the benefit of his health, and was visiting his aged father in Baltimore, who is supposed to be at the point of death.

THE NORTHWEST REBELLION.—The Rev. W. S. Ball, chaplain of the 30th Battalion and 7th London Fusiliers, a former pastor of Knox church, Guelph, will give a lecture on Monday evening next, on the "Men of the War and How they Fought." Rev. Mr. Ball is well qualified to handle this subject as he was on the field at the time. The lecture will consist of a graphic description of the Northwest campaign, the volunteers, scouts, Indians, Half-breeds, and a thrilling account of the engagements, hardships, reverses and victories incident to the late rebellion.

THE REV. DR. GRIFFIN ON CHURCH EXEMPTIONS.—Last evening the Rev. Dr. Griffin preached a sermon on "The Duty of Christians and Christian Ministers in relation to Politics and Taxes." The rev. gentleman took for his text Matthew xvii., 24, 25 and 26. The sermon was a very interesting one, and the subject was handled in a masterly manner. The Rev. Dr. spoke plainly and to the point, and gave it as his decided opinion that churches and manses as an offering to God, should be exempt from taxes, but all other church property, such as secular schools, academies, or whatever they might be called, should be taxed. The remarks of the preacher in regard to the work of conservatism, and the good of the State rendered by a Christian ministry were eloquently and logically put.

DEDICATION OF A CEMETERY.—The Acton Free Press says:—On Monday last before the interment of the late George Steele, Sr., the new cemetery was dedicated for use as a public burial ground. Upon entering the cemetery the hearse was preceded by Rev. W. J. Piggot, B. A., and Messrs. Storey, Henderson and Stephenson, the members of the cemetery committee of the Municipal Council. The hearse halted a short distance from the grave and the clergymen, supported on right and left by the above committee, repeated the solemn and impressive dedication service—not consecration—prescribed by the Church of England. The corpse was then removed from the hearse to its last resting place and the burial ceremony proceeded with. This is the first interment in Fairview cemetery, and Rev. Mr. Pigott being the first clergymen to officiate at a burial was given the honor of performing the dedicatory ceremony. It will be opened for general use in the early spring.

Entrance Examination.

The following extracts from the Regulations of the Education Department will, no doubt, prove useful to teachers who are preparing pupils for the entrance examination to High Schools.

After the 1st January, 1886, the Literature will be selected exclusively from the New Ontario Fourth Reader, which will then be the only authorized Fourth Book. The selections will be changed from year to year.

The following are the selections for

JUNE, 1886.

1. Boadicea	pp.	35—37
2. The Truant	"	46—50
3. The Fixed Stars	"	93—96
4. Lochinvar	"	169—170
5. A Christmas Card	"	207—211
6. Riding Together	"	231—232
7. Marmion and Douglas	"	256—258
8. The Capture of Quebec	"	233—239
9. The Ride from Ghent to Aix	"	285—287

The pupil should be taught to give for words or phrases, meanings, which may be substituted therefor, without impairing the sense of the passage; to illustrate and show the appropriateness of important words or phrases; to distinguish between synonyms in common use; to paraphrase difficult passages so as to show the meaning clearly; to show the connection of the thoughts in any selected passage; to explain allusions; to write explanatory or descriptive notes on proper or other names; to show that he has studied the lessons thoughtfully, by being able to give an intelligent opinion on any subject treated of therein that comes within the range of his experience or comprehension; and especially to show that he has entered into the spirit of the passage, by being able to read it with proper expression. He should be exercised in quoting passages of special beauty from the selections prescribed, and to reproduce in his own words, the substance of any of these selections, or of any part thereof. He should also obtain some knowledge of the authors from whose works these selections have been made.

The Staten Island ferry boat Westfield, on her Friday midnight trip from New York for the East Shore landings, had a terrible time. Nearly all the passengers had to remain on board all night, and were landed at Clifton at eight o'clock next morning.

JUSTICE TO THE LANDLORDS.

A Proposal to Buy Irish Estates on a Twenty Years' Rental.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A somewhat remarkable letter on Home Rule to Ireland appeared in to-day's Statist. The writer is supposed to be Robert Giffen, L.L.D., statistician to the Board of Trade. His plan is for the Imperial Government first to buy out every landlord in Ireland, giving him consols at par equal in nominal amount to twenty years' purchase of the present judicial rents; secondly, to give the land free to the present occupiers, subject only to a rent charge of one-half or two-thirds of the present judicial rent, payable to the new local authorities in Ireland, and, thirdly, to relieve the imperial exchequer of all payments now made out of it in connection with the local government of Ireland. The plan is in fact to throw the cost of the local government in Ireland upon Irish resources exclusively and to give the Irish people the rent of the country for the purpose of conducting it. The conflict between landlords and people would thus come to an end, and there would no longer be a fear that if England gives Ireland Home Rule, the property of the landlords would be confiscated. Taking the rent of Ireland as settled judicially at about £8,000,000, the consols at par to be given in exchange at twenty years' purchase would be one hundred and sixty million pounds, involving an annual charge of £4,800,000 upon the Imperial exchequer. At present the Government expends annually upon Ireland for local government close upon four million pounds, exclusive altogether of the outlay for the army of occupation, for the collection of revenue and other important matters which would be still imperial. The position as regards the Irish tenants would be that where they now pay £8,000,000 they would have to pay only from £4,000-000 to £5,000,000. The emergency is one, the writer thinks, for which imperial credit should be used. Much of the present Irish difficulty is due to the fact that events have been fatal to the judicial rents fixed a few years ago. A subsequent fall of prices has upset the whole theory of judicial rents. Under the new scheme it would be possible and necessary to let the new local authorities in Ireland have control of the police. The collectors of the Imperial Government would retain a small police force of their own to enforce the collection of the imperial taxes required for imperial purposes, imperial laws relating to the freedom of commerce, transit and other matters which would remain imperial as long as there was no separation. This proposition will doubtless lead to much important discussion.

SUICIDES AT MONACO.

Eighteen Hundred and Twenty in Eight Years.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The International MonteCarlo committee at Nice has sent to all the European Governments perhaps the most eloquent indictment of public gaming tables that has ever been written. It consists of a complete list of the suicides at Monte Carlo to the present time, and has been compiled in the hope of bringing collective action to bear upon Prince Charles III., of Monaco, in whose personal interests the gaming tables are primarily kept going. The number of persons who, seeing themselves face to face with ruin, have committed suicide upon the lovely rock, "where," in Lord Tennyson's phrase, "Little Monaco, basking, smiles," during the last eight years is 1,820, a number equal to about one-fourth of Prince Charles' subjects. The list states the name of each suicide, together with, in many cases, their letters of farewell. The major part of the victims were Italian, French and Russian. One-tenth were German. The English and American names are, happily, very few. Many of these poor creatures, it is asserted, were unceremoniously buried in pauper graves.

The Queen to Open Parliament in Person.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Gen. Sir Henry Frederick Ponsonby, private secretary to the Queen, telegraphed to London this afternoon that Her Majesty desired him to say that she would open the forthcoming session of parliament in person.

Emperor William's Health.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Alarming reports were current yesterday concerning the condition of the Emperor William, who was said to be seriously ill. The rumors probably had their origin from an unusually severe attack of rheumatism and also from cold. His Majesty, however, gave audience yesterday to several of the ministers.

A Superior Kind of Editor.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Frank H. Hill, lately editor of the Daily News, upon severing his connection with that paper, was offered a present of £1,000 by the proprietors. The gift was declined. Hill has published a card asserting that the circulation of the News is stationary, and that this is due to the system of management. He says that the editor has no control over a penny of expenditure, and that the News as an organ of the Radical dissenters is not in sympathy with prevalent opinions.

Promiscuous Bathing in Regent's Park.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The lakes in Regent's Park have been crowded with skaters during the recent freeze. To-day there was an unusual number of persons on the ice. The throng was so great on one of the ponds as to break the ice, and at least a hundred men, women and children were given a very cold immersion. There was intense excitement, but the water was shallow, and beyond the discomforts of a frigid bath nothing serious happened.

A Strange Case Under the Scott Act.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 9.—This morning application was made in the Supreme Court for the discharge of a man now in the insane asylum under curious circumstances. T. H. Salter was sent to jail for sixty days for violation of the Scott Temperance Act. He fulfilled half the sentence and was then removed by order of the Governor-in-Council to the insane asylum, he being crazy. He remained in the asylum about six months, up to the present, and being considered sane was by order of the Governor-in-Council to be sent back to Annapolis for the purpose of serving the balance of his sentence. The application is that he be discharged, his transfer to the asylum being merely a change of prison and the term of imprisonment not stayed when he was thus transferred.

Prince Bismarck's Suit for Libel.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The action of Prince Bismarck against the Volks Zeitung for libel will be decided by the end of the month. The action is based on an article published in that newspaper in defence of the proposal for the payment of deputies, which was in substance as follows: "Why reproach paid deputies as statesmen selling their opinions seeing that Prince Bismarck has accepted the gift of $125,000, subscribed by Agrarian protectionist supporters?"

MR W. J. FAIRBANKS started to cut ice this morning on Goldie's dam. He reports splendid ice, a foot thick.

A SON of Mr. Duncan Currie, of Belwood, while skating on the ice on the river in that vicinity—on New Year's day, slipped and broke his shoulder blade.

THE Milton Reformer has been only some two months in existence and has already been served with a writ by one David W. Campbell, claiming $5,000 damages for libel.

W. E. SMITH, Acton, has purchased from Mr H. B. McCarthy his livery business, which he is removing to his commodious stable on John street, in the centre of the town.

"ACCORDING to an old saw," says an exchange, we are to have twenty-six snow storms this winter." An old saw that makes such gloomy predictions should have its teeth knocked out.

MR ROBT. RICHARDSON, of West Garafraxa, has rented for one year the farm he recently sold to Mr James Laidlaw, M. P. P. The rent is $330, free of taxes, or equal to about $290 and taxes.

THE annual missionary services were held in the Acton Methodist Church on Sunday, the 3rd. Rev. John Shaw, of the Mission Rooms, Toronto, delivered two most practical and convincing discourses.

DID you ever notice that those who complain most loudly about the local paper, are those persons who wouldn't go ten steps out of their road to contribute an item of news to its columns. Strange isn't it. Yes, but nevertheless true.

MR. T. A. ROBINSON, Fergus, has purchased from Mr. W. Spires, of the Wellington Hotel, Fergus, a pair of fine colts got by "Old Terror" and Spires' driving mare. They are good ones and when broken in will make a fine carriage team.

THE Mount Forest Council at a recent meeting offered a reward of one hundred dollars to anyone giving such information as will lead to the conviction of the party or parties who set fire to the stable of Mr H. Jelly, of that place. It is said that Mr Jelly will offer $200 more.

ON New Year's evening Mr and Mrs John Richardson, of West Garafraxa, had a gathering of their friends on the occasion of the "warming" of their new house. There was a large number present and a splendid time spent. The house is one of the finest farm residences in the county.

HOW THE RUSSIANS STOP A RUNAWAY.—To stop a runaway horse, the Russians have a light cord with a slip-noose in it about the horse's throat, with the cord running through the saddle ring and over the dasher, at hand for the driver to pull upon at the horse's first attempt to run. A little choking stops him.

THROWN FROM A WAGON.—Friday Wm. Everett, employed by a farmer on the 3rd concession of Puslinch, was thrown from a wagon which he was driving at Hanlan's Creek, on account of the horses suddenly slipping. The driver received several severe bruises and a sprained ankle in his fall. No damage was done to the team.

"PTOMANE POISONING is the heading of what appears to be a new disease occurring in this country. The word ptomane is derived from a Greek word ptoma, which means a cadaver, or dead carcass. Several families in the States were poisoned by eating tainted chicken. Beware of keeping dressed poultry too long during changeable weather."

A COLD SNAP.—The recent January thaw has taken a severe and sudden cold. Saturday night and Sunday were bitterly cold with piercing winds from the north east and north west. The thermometer, however, was not very low. At nine o'clock on Sunday morning the glass registered 4 degrees above zero, and at eight o'clock this morning zero.

TO KNOW HOW TO WAIT.—"I'm tired waiting for the payment of this account," exclaimed an impatient creditor the other day, to a man whom he had unsuccessfully dunned about twenty times. "Ah, my dear friend," was the bland reply, "to know how to wait is the secret of success!" On this theory, the average country editor should be the most successful man in the world.

SEVERE FALL.—Mr. Harrison Mays, Garafraxa, met with a severe accident one night recently. While walking home on the railway he stepped into a deep culvert situated on Mr William Rogers' farm. The fall would be from 12 to 15 feet. Mr M. received a deep gash on his forehead, a fractured rib, a bruised elbow, a sprained ankle and a badly fractured knee pan and was otherwise generally shaken up.

A RELICT OF OTHER DAYS.—The Mount Forest Index says:—Mr Alexander Davidson showed us on Thursday a small pocket looking glass, which his great grandfather used in the battle of Colloden, about one hundred and forty years ago. Mr Davidson claims that the keepsake which has been handed down from one generation to another, must be over two hundred years old, consequently prizes it very highly.

CHANGE OF DRUG BUSINESS.—The Arthur Enterprise says:—"Mr W. J. Walsh, druggist, has sold out his business and entire stock to Mr Hugel, late of Guelph. Mr Hugel comes from Guelph very highly recommended, and deservedly so, we have no doubt; but like all other young men starting in life, it will entirely depend on the efforts and perseverance put forth whether he will be a success or the reverse. The result lies entirely in his own hands. In the meantime we give him a hearty welcome, and extend to him our best wishes for his success." Mr Hugel was employed for several years in the drug store of Herod & Co., and latterly had the management of the store. His friends in Guelph wish him success.

THE 6:40 train was 3¾ hours late this morning. This train was cancelled yesterday morning. All the passenger trains were about on time to-day with the above exception.

YESTERDAY afternoon John Bunyan's fast horse "Major," attached to a buggy, ran from Malone's hotel to the crossing at the Victoria Bridge, where it was caught. No damage was done to the horse or buggy.

THE annual exhibition of the Ontario Poultry Association opens to-morrow. To-day all the preparations will be completed. Mr. Geo. Murton, Secretary, expects a large number of poultry from various places by express this afternoon.

ACCIDENT AT ROCKWOOD.—John Earstang, section foreman G. T. R., while attempting to draw himself up on a car by one arm on Friday last, dislocated the shoulder. He was taken to a physician's office, where with considerable difficulty the arm was placed in the socket.

TEMPERATURE.—The lowest point which the thermometer touched during the cold snap, as furnished by the Agricultural College Observatory was 4 degrees below zero. The record stands:—Thursday night, 4° below zero; Friday night, 3° above zero; Saturday night, 1° above zero; Sunday night, zero.

TORONTO BAY FROZEN.—The intense cold of the past few days has frozen the water in Toronto Bay, and that sheet of water is now completely closed up for the first time this winter. The time of closing is much later than for several years past. Sunday a venturesome skater was seen out on the bay enjoying himself carrying a sail with which he was propelled along at a rapid rate.

AN OLD RESIDENT OF ACTON.—The Free Press says:—On Saturday morning one of the oldest residents of Acton passed away in the person of Geo. Steel, sr., at the age of 84 years. Mr Steel came to Acton thirty-two years ago from Toronto, where his wife had just died from cholera. He was a quiet and unobtrusive old man, and seemed to desire to be allowed to live severely alone, not appearing anxious to enjoy the ordinary comforts of life. He was taken suddenly ill a couple of weeks ago.

EXPLOSION.—This morning J. Soper, of the European Hotel, was cleaning out a bureau drawer and threw the rubbish in a coal stove in one of the sitting rooms. Scarcely had he done so when an explosion occurred. An investigation as to the cause was immediately made when it was discovered that it arose from a shot gun cartridge having been inadvertently thrown in the stove with the other waste material. The shell was discovered about eight feet from the stove, the door of which was open at the time.

BOARD OF WORKS.—Below will be found in detail the items of the contingent account of the Board of Works, the totals of which were only given at the last meeting of the City Council:

Allan's bridge, no grant	$ 44 00
Extra work on various streets	26 08

A GUELPH BASE BALLIST.—Wm. H. Watkins, formerly third baseman of the Maple Leafs in 1879:80, has been re-appointed manager of the Detroit base ball team for the coming season. He is one of the youngest managers of the League, and is second to none in ability. Since leaving Guelph he played in St. Thomas, Port Huron, Bay City, from whence he went to Indianapolis as manager and third baseman. At the time of the transfer of the Indianapolis team to Detroit, the former club held first place in the Western League. Mr. Watkins says he has learned by experience the benefit of a southern trip in the spring and will take the Detroits south in March. Detroiters will not catch a glimpse of their team until the middle of May.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The last union meeting of the week of prayer was held in the Baptist Church here on Saturday night, and was well attended. The Rev. Mr. Weir, of MacMaster Hall, Toronto, conducted the services. The Rev. J. C. Smith assisted in prayer. The Rev. Mr. Weir, and Mr. Webb, Secretary Y.M.C.A., gave addresses in keeping with the subject appointed for the meeting. The meetings during the week have been well attended, and were divided as equally as possible. The first being held in Dublin Street Methodist Church, on Monday night, addresses by Revs. Dr. Wardrope and Rev. Mr. Macgregor; Tuesday night in Chalmers' Church, addresses by Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. Mr. Holmes; on Wednesday night in the Congregational Church, addresses by Rev. Messrs. Kilgour and Carson; Thursday night Bible Society meeting; Friday night in Norfolk Street Methodist Church, addresses by Rev. W. F. Clarke and Mr. Beattie, and on Saturday night in the Baptist Church.

THE Rev. Father Doherty, Father Superior of Our Lady's Church, preached yesterday for the first time in some weeks. He has been absent for the benefit of his health, and was visiting his aged father in Baltimore, who is supposed to be at the point of death.

THE NORTHWEST REBELLION.—The Rev. W. S. Ball, chaplain of the 30th Battalion and 7th London Fusiliers, a former pastor of Knox church, Guelph, will give a lecture on Monday evening next, on the "Men of the War and How they Fought." Rev. Mr. Ball is well qualified to handle this subject as he was on the field at the time. The lecture will consist of a graphic description of the Northwest campaign, the volunteers, scouts, Indians, Half-breeds, and a thrilling account of the engagements, hardships, reverses and victories incident to the late rebellion.

THE REV. DR. GRIFFIN ON CHURCH EXEMPTIONS.—Last evening the Rev. Dr. Griffin preached a sermon on "The Duty of Christians and Christian Ministers in relation to Politics and Taxes." The rev. gentleman took for his text Matthew xvii., 24, 25 and 26. The sermon was a very interesting one, and the subject was handled in a masterly manner. The Rev. Dr. spoke plainly and to the point, and gave it as his decided opinion that churches and manses as an offering to God, should be exempt from taxes, but all other church property, such as secular schools, academies, or whatever they might be called, should be taxed. The remarks of the preacher in regard to the work of conservatism, and the good of the State rendered by a Christian ministry were eloquently and logically put.

DEDICATION OF A CEMETERY.—The Acton Free Press says:—On Monday last before the interment of the late George Steele, Sr., the new cemetery was dedicated for use as a public burial ground. Upon entering the cemetery the hearse was preceded by Rev. W. J. Piggot, B. A., and Messrs. Storey, Henderson and Stephenson, the members of the cemetery committee of the Municipal Council. The hearse halted a short distance from the grave and the clergymen, supported on right and left by the above committee, repeated the solemn and impressive dedication service—not consecration—prescribed by the Church of England. The corpse was then removed from the hearse to its last resting place and the burial ceremony proceeded with. This is the first interment in Fairview cemetery, and Rev. Mr. Pigott being the first clergymen to officiate at a burial was given the honor of performing the dedicatory ceremony. It will be opened for general use in the early spring.

Entrance Examination.

The following extracts from the Regulations of the Education Department will, no doubt, prove useful to teachers who are preparing pupils for the entrance examination to High Schools.

After the 1st January, 1886, the Literature will be selected exclusively from the New Ontario Fourth Reader, which will then be the only authorized Fourth Book. The selections will be changed from year to year.

The following are the selections for

JUNE, 1886.

1. Boadicea	pp.	35— 37
2. The Truant	"	46— 50
3. The Fixed Stars	"	93— 96
4. Lochinvar	"	169—170
5. A Christmas Card	"	207—211
6. Riding Together	"	231—232
7. Marmion and Douglas	"	256—258
8. The Capture of Quebec	"	233—239
9. The Ride from Ghent to Aix	"	285—287

The pupil should be taught to give for words or phrases, meanings, which may be substituted therefor, without impairing the sense of the passage; to illustrate and show the appropriateness of important words or phrases; to distinguish between synonyms in common use; to paraphrase difficult passages so as to show the meaning clearly; to show the connection of the thoughts in any selected passage; to explain allusions; to write explanatory or descriptive notes on proper or other names; to show that he has studied the lessons thoughtfully, by being able to give an intelligent opinion on any subject treated of therein that comes within the range of his experience or comprehension; and especially to show that he has entered into the spirit of the passage, by being able to read it with proper expression. He should be exercised in quoting passages of special beauty from the selections prescribed, and to reproduce in his own words, the substance of any of these selections, or of any part thereof. He should also obtain some knowledge of the authors from whose works these selections have been made.

The Staten Island ferry boat Westfield, on her Friday midnight trip from New York for the East Shore landings, had a terrible time. Nearly all the passengers had to remain on board all night, and were landed at Clifton at eight o'clock next morning.

JUSTICE TO THE LANDLORDS.

A Proposal to Buy Irish Estates on a Twenty Years' Rental.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A somewhat remarkable letter on Home Rule to Ireland appeared in to-day's Statist. The writer is supposed to be Robert Giffen, L.L.D., statistician to the Board of Trade. His plan is for the Imperial Government first to buy out every landlord in Ireland, giving him consols at par equal in nominal amount to twenty years' purchase of the present judicial rents; secondly, to give the land free to the present occupiers, subject only to a rent charge of one-half or two-thirds of the present judicial rent, payable to the new local authorities in Ireland, and, thirdly, to relieve the imperial exchequer of all payments now made out of it in connection with the local government of Ireland. The plan is in fact to throw the cost of the local government in Ireland upon Irish resources exclusively and to give the Irish people the rent of the country for the purpose of conducting it. The conflict between landlords and people would thus come to an end, and there would no longer be a fear that if England gives Ireland Home Rule, the property of the landlords would be confiscated. Taking the rent of Ireland as settled judicially at about £8,000,000, the consols at par to be given in exchange at twenty years' purchase would be one hundred and sixty million pounds, involving an annual charge of £4,800,000 upon the Imperial exchequer. At present the Government expends annually upon Ireland for local government close upon four million pounds, exclusive altogether of the outlay for the army of occupation, for the collection of revenue and other important matters which would be still imperial. The position as regards the Irish tenants would be that where they now pay £8,000,000 they would have to pay only from £4,000,000 to £5,000,000. The emergency is one, the writer thinks, for which imperial credit should be used. Much of the present Irish difficulty is due to the fact that events have been fatal to the judicial rents fixed a few years ago. A subsequent fall of prices has upset the whole theory of judicial rents. Under the new scheme it would be possible and necessary to let the new local authorities in Ireland have control of the police. The collectors of the Imperial Government would retain a small police force of their own to enforce the collection of the imperial taxes required for imperial purposes, imperial laws relating to the freedom of commerce, transit and other matters which would remain imperial as long as there was no separation. This proposition will doubtless lead to much important discussion.

SUICIDES AT MONACO.

Eighteen Hundred and Twenty in Eight Years.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The International MonteCarlo committee at Nice has sent to all the European Governments perhaps the most eloquent indictment of public gaming tables that has ever been written. It consists of a complete list of the suicides at Monte Carlo to the present time, and has been compiled in the hope of bringing collective action to bear upon Prince Charles III., of Monaco, in whose personal interests the gaming tables are primarily kept going. The number of persons who, seeing themselves face to face with ruin, have committed suicide upon the lovely rock, "where," in Lord Tennyson's phrase, "Little Monaco, basking, smiles," during the last eight years is 1,820, a number equal to about one-fourth of Prince Charles' subjects. The list states the name of each suicide, together with, in many cases, their letters of farewell. The major part of the victims were Italian, French and Russian. One-tenth were German. The English and American names are, happily, very few. Many of these poor creatures, it is asserted, were unceremoniously buried in pauper graves.

The Queen to Open Parliament in Person.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Gen. Sir Henry Frederick Ponsonby, private secretary to the Queen, telegraphed to London this afternoon that Her Majesty desired him to say that she would open the forthcoming session of parliament in person.

Emperor William's Health.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Alarming reports were current yesterday concerning the condition of the Emperor William, who was said to be seriously ill. The rumors probably had their origin from an unusually severe attack of rheumatism and also from cold. His Majesty, however, gave audience yesterday to several of the ministers.

A Superior Kind of Editor.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Frank H. Hill, lately editor of the Daily News, upon severing his connection with that paper, was offered a present of £1,000 by the proprietors. The gift was declined. Hill has published a card asserting that the circulation of the News is stationary, and that this is due to the system of management. He says that the editor has no control over a penny of expenditure, and that the News as an organ of the Radical dissenters is not in sympathy with prevalent opinions.

Promiscuous Bathing in Regent's Park.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The lakes in Regent's Park have been crowded with skaters during the recent freeze. To-day there was an unusual number of persons on the ice. The throng was so great on one of the ponds as to break the ice, and at least a hundred men, women and children were given a very cold immersion. There was intense excitement, but the water was shallow, and beyond the discomforts of a frigid bath nothing serious happened.

MONDAY EVE'G, JAN. 11, 1886.

The Collegiate Institute.

To-day the Guelph High School enters on a new phase of its existence. First the Grammar School, next the High School, it now assumes the name and rank of a Collegiate Institute; and we doubt not its future career will be in every way as honourable, as successful, and as useful as its past.

We have not been able to discover the exact date when the Grammar School was first opened in Guelph, but it was certainly at a comparatively early period of the history of the town. The first Principal was Mr. Verner and he was succeeded by Mr. George Elmslie. But the head master whose name is most intimately associated with the early days of the Guelph Grammar School was undoubtedly the Rev. E. M. Stewart, a gentleman who filled the position for several years, and whose labours were much valued by the trustees and the community generally. It was during his principalship, in the year 1856, that the union was formed between the Grammar and Common School Boards, a union which still exists.

In 1858, Mr. Stewart resigned his position, and was succeeded by Mr. John May, who held the position for several years. He was followed by Dr. Tisdell, who died in Guelph during the period of his engagement. Next came Mr. Johnstone, and after him Mr. J. M. Dunn, now head-master of the Welland High School. His successor was Mr. Lafferty, and he, in 1875, was followed by the present Principal Mr. W. Tytler.

At the time that Mr. Tytler assumed the duties of Head-master, there were about twenty pupils in attendance, the school building was in a dilapidated and almost uninhabitable condition; a large and flourishing private academy was attracting a majority of the boys who, in other places, are usually found attending the local High School. Worse than all this, when in June, 1875, the first entrance examination was held only two boys from the Public Schools of the town were found qualified to enter the High School. It was manifest, therefore, that a great and radical change must be effected in the whole system before much improvement could be looked for. Owing to the united and persevering efforts of all concerned—Board of Education, Inspector, Principal and teachers—evidences of a better state of things were soon visible. While, at the summer examination of 1875, only ten candidates in all were admitted, the number in 1876 increased to thirty, and soon afterwards to forty, fifty and even more.

In September 1875, Mr. George A. Somerville was appointed Mathematical Master, a position which he retained until in 1878 he was appointed County Inspector, and Mr. James Davison, the present mathematical master was selected to succeed him. In 1877 Mr. Lyman C. Smith, now Principal of the High and Public Schools of Oshawa, was appointed Classical Master. He was followed by Mr. R. Eadie, and he by Mr. D. Sievewright Smith, who resigned last summer, when Mr. J. Campbell was appointed to the position which he still holds. In 1877 Miss Pardon was engaged to take charge of the French and junior English departments, and remained in that position for five years. In September of last year, a modern language master was added to the list in the person of Mr. R. K. Orr. The staff is completed by Mr. D. Young, a commercial and junior English master, who enters upon his duties to-day.

Such is a brief sketch of the history of the Guelph High School, which now assumes the status of a Collegiate Institute. It has already attained a position of no mean eminence among the High Schools of the Province, both in regard to scholarship, equipment and the number of pupils in attendance. The number on the roll during 1885 was over 180, with an average attendance for the whole year of nearly 150. This number is exceeded by only nine or ten of the schools of Ontario, and these pupils are educated at about two-thirds of the average cost throughout the Province, Guelph standing twenty-sixth in the amount of salaries paid to masters.

At every visit of the High School Inspector for the last four or five years, words of high commendation have been spoken, and in every instance, the extracts from the Inspector's Reports, sent by the Education Department to the Board, have been exceedingly satisfactory.

Not the least valuable work which our High School, in common with other similar institutions throughout the country, has been performing, is the training of public school teachers. Not fewer than one-half of the teachers at present employed in the public schools of the city received their education in whole or in part at the Guelph High School, and these are but a fraction of the large number of teachers who during the last few years, have gone forth from its halls. It may not be amiss to state that at the last teachers' examination, only a very few of the High Schools and Institutes passed a greater number of second-class candidates than Guelph.

To-day, then, this important and successful Institution takes a new start, and it does so under the happiest auspices. With a beautiful and commodious building, a full supply of physical and chemical apparatus, books of reference, maps and other educational appliances; with a large attendance of earnest and well-prepared students; with a complete staff of experienced, successful and zealous teachers, it has every prospect of continued and increasing success. This success, the citizens of Guelph feel justified in looking for, and we are assured they will not look in vain. The Board of Education and the masters on the other hand feel, we are sure, that they may justly reckon on a fair and generous support for the work in which they are engaged. The expenditure for High School purposes for the last year was only a trifle over one mill on the dollar, lower, we believe, than the rate in any other city or large town in the country, and we are certain no intelligent and fair-minded man will say that this is too high a price to pay for the benefits which such an institution confers on the people of the city.

We have much pleasure in congratulating the Board, the staff, and our fellow citizens on the promotion which the High School has so well earned, and we are assured that all our readers will join most heartily with us in wishing the highest possible prosperity to the Guelph Collegiate Institute.

STRATFORD Beacon:—Macdonaldism has been a costly institution for Canada, and generations of Canadians will feel its galling burdens years after its author has passed away and nothing is left of it but the memory of its debauching influences, and the load of debt it has fastened upon the public.

THE monthly revenue and expenditure statement shows that the expenditures for December exceeds the revenue by $543,462, while the deficit for the first six months of fiscal year is $2,815,150; the total revenue for the year being $14,755,704, and the total expenditure $17,570,854. Notwithstanding this enormous deficit and increase of taxation the Government cooly propose to purchase political support in Quebec by a further grant to local railways.

A RECENT decision of the Courts in Toronto places the railroad companies beyond the influence of Provincial laws. In the case of Clegg v. the Grand Trunk Railway Co., the court held that the Midland Railway is now a Dominion road, and that the defendants were not liable for an accident which occurred owing to an exposed frog, the duty of packing frogs being imposed by an Ontario Act, to which a Dominion road is not subject. This is one instance of the evil arising out of the grasping policy of Sir John Macdonald which aims to centralize all power at Ottawa. The Midland is a purely Provincial road, yet by Act of Parliament it is made a Dominion railway and the laws passed by the Province for the protection of railway employees and the general public are said to be of no effect against railway corporations.

The Foes of a Household

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

After leaving the doctor's house, which stood a little way out of the village, almost hidden under its covering of purple clematis and Virginia creeper, they had slowly mounted the steep lane until they reached some high open fields, from which they had looked down upon the bay into which the tide was gradually creeping, the calm waters tinged with the rays of the setting sun. They went through several fields, and along a narrow path through a sparsely grown plantation of firs, athwart the upright slender stems of which fell the long low beams of the setting sun and lay in broken patches of light upon the soft green grass. Once clear of the trees they found themselves at the foot of a bare and lofty ridge where the limestone showed white through the thin covering of soil and grass. From the top of the ridge the view was magnificent. Looking southward they saw the bay in all its beauty; the rocky wooded shore and the hills rising from it and sweeping up to the one on which they stood. There was a haze over the water, which hid the open sea from them. The tide was coming in; one after another the stretches of level yellow sand disappeared from view, and the track of light left upon the water by the setting sun was unbroken by any breath of wind. Turning the gaze inland, the eye rested upon a waste of hills some bare and rocky as their own point of view, others thickly wooded, and suggesting the rich pastures and rustling corn fields nestling in the valleys. Down in a hollow, some two or three miles distant, lay a little village. The smoke from the chimneys rose straight into the still air, the red-tiled roofs seemed to glow in the dying sunlight, and in the middle of the village rose the church, a venerable and majestic pile, round which clustered many historical recollections, and toward which the eye turned involuntarily, it was so much the central feature of the landscape.

Moore, as he looked at all this, heaved a half unconscious sigh, and thought, not for the first time, that it had been well for him that his father died when he did. He (Percival) would have found it more and more impossible every year to live the life his father had chalked out for him. Yet what difficulty he would have had if, indeed, he had ever succeeded in persuading his father that the life which was all interest and excitement to him was "flat, stale, and unprofitable" to his son. What scenes there would have been! what battles to assert his own right to his own life! what bitterness of spirit when the victory had been gained! The thought of strife and battle brought back Helen Lafone into his mind, and he turned to Dr. Hazlitt to claim the fulfilment of his promise. The doctor was looking in the direction of the setting sun, and, shading his eyes with one hand, with the other pointed to where in the midst of a patch of trees, a large and irregularly built house stood upon a slope, surrounded by green lawns and flower beds.

Moore assented, and then said—

"But you were going to tell me about Miss Lafone."

"Ay, ay, don't fear I shall forget. I now see the necessity of your knowing all about her, and you shall know."

He puffed at his cigar for a minute, as though mentally arranging his story, in reliable form, and then began—

"Lafone and I are the same age, and have known each other ever since we were lads. We never had much in common, though there was always perfect friendliness in our doings with one another. One thing, perhaps, which helped to keep up the friendship was the fact that I have the monopoly of killing and curing here, no one having ever thought it worth his while to oust me from my humble position.

"Twenty-one years ago he married. He brought his bride from a distance. She did not belong to this part of the country. She was a sweet creature, and when I say a sweet creature I don't mean a woman who went about with a face like a professional martyr and a perpetual smile on her lips, as though to say 'See with what angelic patience I bear my lot in life.' I have seen women like that, and I have heard people call them sweet creatures. I didn't. Mrs Lafone was very beautiful, with the brightest eyes and most spirited face I ever saw. She filled the house with sunshine; she filled the whole village with sunshine. Don't suppose she was merely a lively woman with nothing but high spirits to recommend her. She was also one of the cleverest women I ever knew. What an intelligence she had! When I think of it I am tempted to rebel against the seeming waste of nature which could allow an intelligence like hers to perish before it had time to show itself in all its fulness, and just when that happened which would have developed it as nothing else could have done. It was deplorable, deplorable."

He paused, lost in thought, and it almost appeared as if he would not continue his story. Moore recalled him to himself with affected cynicism.

"Oh, the old story, I suppose— a misunderstood wife pining away into an early grave for want of the excitement of being appreciated."

"Ah," said the doctor, raising his hand, "don't say that. Those things may be truly said of other women, perhaps, I can't tell; but nothing could be more erroneous as regards Mrs Lafone. Her husband adored her. He had the intelligence to understand her rare merit, and he thought all the world of her. Still," he went on, falling back into his meditative tone, "I can't tell what made her marry him. I have heard she was an only child, and her mother in narrow circumstances, but I cannot believe such a reason would have any weight with her. She could not have loved him. She must have seen he was inferior to her, and a woman cannot love a man who is her inferior; it is impossible. However, it did not last long. For one year she was in the house like a radiant creature from another world—there are certainly not many like her in this—and then it came to an end—she died!"

Though the spirit of this final catastrophe had breathed through the whole of the doctor's story, Moore was hardly prepared for it when it did come. He experienced a kind of shock from the very abruptness of the announcement, and repeated almost helplessly—

"She died!"

"A fortnight after Helen was born; she had been going on so well, and then all at once the turn came, and she was dead in a few hours. It seemed impossible. Lafone was away; only I was with her, and I pray I may never be present at such a deathbed again."

"She did not want to die?" said Moore, more to break the silence which had followed the doctor's last words than because he felt that any words were necessary.

"Want!" echoed Dr. Hazlitt almost sharply, "it was despair. She had been almost beside herself with joy when the child was born, and she was so glad it was a girl. It seemed as though the very force of her love for it must have kept her alive; and she died—died in the middle of a magnificent summer day, alone, but for servants and myself. Her mother had gone home, supposing she was no longer wanted; her husband was away on business.

There was another pause, which this time Percival did not break.

"She must have known her husband's character so very well, she was so anxious to see him, so anxious to give the child into his keeping, and to make some arrangement for its future. She must have guessed that a man of his disposition would marry again, and she wished to save her child from being left to a stepmother. That was the bitterest thought, that her child should be given to a stranger. But he did not come, though he was sent for at once. She had been dead an hour when he got home."

The continued use of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion invariably cleanses the blood from all impurities and restores the system to a state of healthfulness, that is manifested in increased constitutional vigor, mental activity, and lightness and bouyancy of spirits. WHAT A HUSBAND DID.

After the Doctors had Pronounced Her Dead He Brings His Wife to Life.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Five weeks ago the wife of Charles P. Pruin, a dentist of this city, gave birth to a child which was followed by an attack of puerperal mania. They were living at the suburb of Oak Park. As his wife grew worse rapidly Mr. Pruin consulted a city physician, who after seeing the patient recommended the use of anæsthetics to quiet her nerves. The doctor here alluded to did not handle the case, but an Oak Park physician was called in and he also adopted the same course of treatment, administering strong doses of morphine. The lady was found to be rapidly sinking, till on Sunday night she fell back on the pillow lifeless. Her breathing had ceased and her pulse was gone. The attending pyhsician, who was by her side, made the usual examination and distinctly pronounced her dead. The husband was frantic, and rushing to the bedside of his wife, put his ear to her heart. He declared he could detect a faint throb. The physician again assured him that life was extinct, but in order to satisfy Mr Pruin he called in another doctor of the village. He, too, made an examination and confirmed the report of his brother physician that the patient was dead. Still the husband would not be convinced. He placed his hand upon his wife's chest and by some method tried to produce an artificial respiration, having made a special study of the use of anæsthetics in connection with his profession. He proceeded to work the arms back and forth, pressing his hand on the chest, thus producing an artificial movement. The two doctors who stood by not only endeavoured to dissuade him from continuing the operation, but remonstrated with him for committing what they deemed a profanation of the dead. He continued his efforts, and after the lapse of some minutes the patient began slowly to revive. She has steadily improved and is now able to move around. The doctors confess that she would certainly have died but for these extraordinary efforts at restoration.

Lost With All Hands.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—The loss of the schooner Mary G. Farr with every soul on board was perhaps the saddest disaster of the gale. The ill-fated vessel was driven ashore and caught fire, but not one of those on board escaped to tell the story. A despatch from Spring Lake says that a bright light was seen off the life saving steamer No. 8. The high wind and driving snow made life saving almost an impossibility. Twice the boom of the signal gun ran across the water and the saving rope was sent toward the vessel, but in vain. The crew of the burning vessel launched a boat, but in a moment it went to pieces and its occupants were drowned. Later on the vessel drifted ashore and became a wreck. Female apparel washed ashore indicates that the captain's wife or other women were on board.

He Probably Did Not Reach Canada.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—A dispatch from Rutland, Vt., says that a rumour is afloat there that McNeil, the defaulting president of the Lancaster Bank, was murdered by his accomplices in Vermont, and not allowed to escape to Canada. Mrs McNeil is represented as believing her husband is dead. The Boston detectives who recovered the bank's money are in Rutland at work on the murder theory.

Ghouls at Work at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 9.—A number of bodies have been recently stolen from cemeteries here and sent to eastern medical institutions. Owing to the smallpox plague it is unsafe to have anything to do with corpses at Montreal. The country consequently is scoured for subjects.

A Snow Blockade in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10.—The Western Maryland railroad, in sweep of the Blue ridge mountains between Mechanicsville and Penmar, is blockaded by snow to a depth of 15 feet. Four passenger trains and several loaded freight trains are stalled. Fourteen engines are at work trying to get them out. The blokcade commenced yesterday morning.

The Weather at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Since midnight on Saturday the temperature here has gradually fallen until it touched 12 degrees below zero to-night at 10 o'clock. Very little snow has fallen during the last 24 hours though reports from outside the city show the blizzard is still in force. Where trains are not blocked by snow they are delayed in some cases several hours by the severity of the temperature.

Exacting Contractors.

OTTAWA, Ont. Jan. 9.—Messrs. Shields, Manning, Macdonald and Haggart, who have been in the city for the past couple of days, endavoring to effect a settlement of their differences in connection with section "B" contract, C. P. R., left for home to-night. It is understood that little or no progress towards settlement has been made, owing to the exorbitant demands of one of the contractors.

A Long Tramp.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9.—Peter Dufour, one of the Batoche sufferers, arrived here from Quebec yesterday, whither he had gone to seek assistance. He had walked the entire distance, over 1,500 miles, with the exception of the last fifty miles. He was six weeks on the road. He followed the Canadian Pacific Railway the greater part of the way, and often found it difficult to find food and shelter. Transportation from here to Batoche has been provided for him.

The Dangers of a Rising.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 9.—A special despatch from Fargo, D. T., says:—"Parties who have just reached here from the Northwest Territory, the theatre of the Riel rebellion, say that all the Indian tribes are making arrangements for an outbreak in the spring to avenge the death on the scaffold of Riel and their chiefs. The traders on the United States side of the line are reported to be supplying the reds with large quantities of ammunition. With the tribes generally participating it is the belief that the Dominion Government will find it a serious matter."

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—A gentleman who has just returned from Fort McLeod reports there is danger of an outbreak among the Indians there owing to the greed of the cattle ranchers, who persist in encroaching upon their lands. The Indians are well armed and have a plentiful supply of ammunition.

A Russian proposal has been made that the Powers call on Bulgaria and Servia to reduce their armies to a peace footing.

Suggestions for Improvement.

A few weeks ago the Globe believing that in the multitude of councillors there is wisdom, solicited the opinions of its readers as to what amendments are necessary for the improvement of the Crooks Act. To-day it publishes ten columns of replies. The bulk of the opinions seem to favour higher license fees, and a thorough enforcement of the Act, though, of course, there is great diversity as well as many impracticable suggestions. As sufficiently indicating the tenor of all we cull the opinions sent from this city and neighboring towns:—

FORFEITURE OF LICENSE FOR SUNDAY SELLING.

Take the license from the hotel keeper for breaking the Sabbath on the third offence, but not from the hotel; it is vested rights, and does not belong most probably to the man that is keeping the hotel accommodation, 12 rooms, and give no store license as they give no accommodation.

THOMAS S. WARD,
Victoria Hotel, Guelph.

FINED IF FOUND DRINKING IN AN UNLICENSED PLACE.

1. A high license fee for hotels and liquor stores. 2. Breaking the law, the loss of license for the remainder of the year; second offence or more to be punished the same as a shebeen or unlicensed place. 3. Shebeens or non-licensed places to be punished by imprisonment for first offence; further breaking of the law, imprisonment to be increased. Persons found there to be fined, that is if caught in the act of drinking.

Guelph. TEETOTALLER.

LICENSE FEES TO FORM AN ENFORCEMFNT FUND.

1. Commissioners and inspectors to be chosen annually by the ratepayers of each license district. 2. All shop and all saloon licenses to be abolished. 3. No new licenses to be issued. 4. No license to be issued in the place of surrendered, forfeited, or voided licenses. 5. No removal of license until a majority vote of the ratepayers of the ward to which it is proposed to remove it, has been obtained; all expenses connected with taking the vote to be borne by the party wanting the removal. 6. Unlicensed sellers, when convicted, to be imprisoned. 7. All license fees to form an enforcement fund; one-half of penalty to be paid to informer and one-half to the prosecutor. J. RYAN.

Guelph, Jan. 8.

WOULD LICENSE DRINKERS.

Each municipality elect an officer whose duty will be to issue tickets (at a cost to pay expenses) good for this day only, and conditions printed thereon, to those desiring to drink. No liquor to be bought or sold for local consumption without a ticket. No doctor prescriptions, tickets refused to parties forbidden drink, disreputables and minors. R. BORTHWICK.

Guelph.

APPLY THE LICENSE MONEY TO SCHOOL PURPOSES.

Grant licenses in cities and towns at $1,000, and in the country municipalities at $500 or more. The money so raised to be used in their respective municipalities to aid the Public Schools.

Harriston, Jan. 2. J. MCGIRR.

FIX LICENSE FEE BY AMOUNT OF BUSINESS DONE.

High license, say $250 in rural districts, $300 in villages, $500 in towns, and upwards to $2,000 in cities, according to amount of business done. Commissioners full power to raise the license to any amount they thought proper. This would have the effect of at least cutting off one-half of the hotels and would leave the best and most respectable to do business. It would also have the effect of making those in business look after unlicensed places.

Fergus, January 4. T. W. THOMSON.

ENFORCE.

Enforce the Crooks Act and advance the license fees. A. MARSHALL.

Mount Forest.

NO SHOP LICENSES.

In cities, towns and villages there should be but one hotel for each 1,000 inhabitants and fraction of 1,000 inhabitants up to 4,000, and then one hotel for each additional 2,000. Licenses in cities should be $1,500 each, to be increased at the will of the Municipal Council. No shop licenses to be granted to grocers or other persons except druggists, the fee to be $200, and the interest of the public guarded by restraints on the druggists similar to those in the Scott Act. No licenses to sell liquors should be granted in rural districts. Each city, town or village to pass a prohibitory law at pleasure.

Milton, Dec. 28. H. GRAY.

Two Hundred Millions.

Mr. Vanderbilt was worth $200,000,000. If we say that he was worth $500,000,000 or $100,000,000 do we get a perceptibly different impression about the bulk of his fortune? Most people do not. To the average mind the conception of enormous wealth is much the same whether it be reckoned in hundreds of millions or vigintillions. The human mind cannot grasp these great sums or clearly appreciate the difference between one hundred millions and two hundred millions. Let us try and describe Mr. Vanderbilt's great fortune in terms of linear, square and cubic measurement and of weight. Everybody understands these terms, and they make a definite impression on men's minds. If this sum of $200,000,000 were in standard silver dollars it would present such features as this:—Put lengthwise, dollar after dollar, it would stretch a distance of 4,672 miles making a silver streak from New York across the ocean to Liverpool. Piled up dollar on dollar it would reach a height of 355 miles. Laid flat on the ground, the dollars would cover a space of nearly sixty acres. The weight of this mass of silver would be 7,160 tons. To transport it would require 359 cars, carrying twenty tons each (this is the capacity of the strongest freight cars), and making a train about two and a half miles long. On ordinary grades it would require twelve locomotives to haul this train. On roads of steep grades and sharp curves, fifteen or twenty locomotives would be needed. In one dollar bills this two hundred million dollar fortune would assume such shapes as this: The bills stretched lengthwise would extend 23,674 miles, or nearly the circumference of the earth at the equator. Piled up one on another, close as leaves in a new book, they would reach a height of twelve miles. Spread out on the ground they would cover 746 acres, or nearly the whole surface of Central Park, including ponds and reserves. A safe deposit vault to contain these bills would require to be 23 feet long, 22 feet wide and 20 feet high.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

Cold Weather Around the Capital.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—For the past three or four days the weather has been intensely cold. This morning the thermometer registered 22 below zero, and cold seems to be increasing. Heavy snow storms are reported along the Pacific Railway line east and north of Lake Superior. The Winnipeg express was eight hours behind time when reported at Pogamising this morning. The Pacific Company propose erecting several storm fences on the way between that place and Winnipeg. South of Pogamising a freight train is stuck on the rails owing to the drifts and it is probable that several hours' work by ploughs will be necessary to liberate the cars and clear the track for succeeding trains. The Winnipeg express will be about 24 hours late in reaching Ottawa.

Dr. Orton's Scheme to Keep the Indians Quiet.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—Dr. Orton, M.P., for Centre Wellington, is here. He expresses strong fears of a general Indian uprising in the Northwest next spring, and has a scheme for averting it, which he intends submitting to the Government. He proposes to take all the leading chiefs of the Northwest on a tour through the Dominion, treat them with great courtesy, and show them the principal sights, in order that they may form an idea of the extent and resources of the country and the white population. Such a trip as the one proposed, he thinks, would have a powerful effect upon the chiefs.

Sir Adolphe says the Government is Prepared.

QUEBEC, Jan. 11.—In an interview with a press representative here to-day Sir A. Caron said he hoped there would be no Indian rising in the Northwest, but the Government thought they were prepared for whatever might happen. As to the date of the session, he replied that the question had not been discussed since Sir John's departure.

Bush Accident.

OTTAWA, Jan. 11,—Two days ago an accident occurred at James King's shanty near Mud Lake, by which one man lost his life and another was seriously injured. Two men, James Mangan, and another whose name is unknown, were felling a tree when it lodged. In attempting to get it down a heavy limb was in some way detached, and it fell with terrific force, striking Mangan on the head and his companion on the shoulder. Mangan's head was so terribly crushed that he only lived twenty minutes after the accident. His companion was paralyzed on one side, but he is still living.

THE MARA CASE.—Martin Mara was to-day arraigned before Judge Drew on a second charge of breaking into John Sheahan's store, on Market Square. It is understood that Bennett, who was sent to the Central Prison a few days ago, will be brought up to-morrow to give evidence.

THE CITY POOR.—With the cold weather comes the usual appeals for relief to the City Relieving Officer. To-day there was no less than thirty-five applications made for relief in one way or other. Capt. Clarke has often great difficulty in judging who is really deserving. Had he only his own inclination to consult he would send them all away rejoicing.

AN OVER DOSE OF WIZZARD OIL.—Wm. Watson, Arkell, had a narrow escape from passing beyond this vale of tears yesterday through an over dose of Wizzard Oil. Mr. Watson had been suffering from a sore throat, and took a drink from a bottle of this preparation. It had the effect of choking him and for ten minutes Mr. Watson was in a most critical condition. He is all right again to-day.

THE COUNT ZEWASKI.—A very aged man who claims to be a Pole and entitled to the title of Count Zewaski, was in the Chicago Police Court on Saturday charged with striking a man on the street with a cane. The court thought the prisoner was slightly demented, and turned him over for examination by the City Physician. The old man says he inherited the title of Count from his father. Count Zewaski is within five years of being 100 years old. He told the same story in Guelph a few years ago. The Count wore a faded blue cloak with American army buttons.

County Lodge, I. O. G. T.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates from the various lodges reported, all showing an increase. Galt, Waterloo and Stratford lodges also reported progress.

Bro. Spence, G. W. C. T., laid before the meeting a plan to extend the order in Perth, Waterloo and Wellington, which met with the highest approval.

Bro. J. B. Stewart, of Georgetown, and Norris, of Toronto, also spoke in favor of extending the order.

Three deputies were appointed to organize lodges where none now exist.

The following officers were elected and installed by G. W. C. T., Bro. Spence, assisted by Stewart and Norris:

Bro. R. Macdonald, C. W. C. T., Guelph.
Sister H. Wilson, C. W. V. T., Drayton.
Bro. Montgomery, C. W. Sec., Galt.
Bro. Booth, C. Treas., Moorefield.
Bro. J. J. Noble, C. Chap., Arthur.
Bro. H. W. Clarke, C. F. S., Arthur.
G. W. Green, C. W. M., Rothsay.
Sister Lizzie Roberts, C. I. G., Drayton.
Sister Tena Spaulding, C. L. S., Guelph.
Sister A. Fraser, C. R. S., Arthur.
Sister Annie Welch, C. A. S., Guelph.

The meeting then adjourned to meet the first Thursday in April in Galt at 11 a. m.

Curling.

Yesterday afternoon the rinks skipped by Messrs. A. Bruce and R. Mitchell played the first game for the Gow Cup and Rink Medal. There are some twelve rinks in the club, and after they have played against each other the losers fall out and the winners are pitted against each other until the competition is narrowed down to one rink. The game was witnessed by quite a number of players. A. Bruce is proverbial for his luck on the ice, but this time it seemed to have deserted him, R. Mitchell winning by a score of 23 to 12 in a game of 15 ends. The ice was in excellent condition. The following are the names of the players:—

Railway Matters.

Last evening a meeting of the Railway Committee of the City Council and the Board of Trade was held in the City Hall to discuss railway matters. The meeting was of a conversational nature and the only business transacted will be found in the resolution below.

The following gentlemen were present. Mayor Stevenson, Alds. Bruce and Harcop, and Messrs. Gowdy, John McCrea, C. F. Leonard, C. Davidson, D. McCrae, James Goldie, J. B. Armstrong, J. Heffernan and John Hogg.

The Mayor was elected chairman.

Mr John McCrae was called on and explained the reason for calling the meeting. He said that he had been in London the other day and had made some enquiries regarding the difficulty existing between the Grand Trunk and the City of London in regard to the G. T. R. workshops, which those present were no doubt well acquainted with from what had appeared in the papers. If the G.T.R. could be induced to bring their workshops from London here he would be in favour of giving them $100,000 and 25 acres of land, provided they employed a certain number of hands. He thought it would be worth while taking the matter up.

Messrs Hogg, Armstrong, Leonard, Davidson, McCrae, Gowdy and others expressed their views on the matter. All were of the opinion that it would be a good thing if the workshops could be brought here, but they were of opinion at the same time that if Guelph was considered a suitable location by the Grand Trunk for their workshops the inducement offered by the city would not for a moment weigh in the consideration, and were it to the interests of the Grand Trunk to have workshops in Guelph they would build them anyhow.

The following resolution was then passed:

Moved by John Hogg, seconded by Thos. Gowdy, that in the opinion of this meeting it is desirable that the Railway Committee of the City Council call the attention of the Grand Trunk authorities to the fact that Guelph is a good locality for the workshops of the Grand Trunk R. R., and ascertain the intention of the G. T. R. authorities regarding the location of the proposed workshops. Carried.

Ontario Poultry Show.

The drill shed this morning presented a very lively scene indeed, with exhibitors from all parts of the country getting their fowls into coups for exhibition. There was not a train came in to-day but contained a consignment of poultry, and the directors and officers were kept busy up till after two o'clock, when most of the birds were placed. The show on the whole is equal to that of last year, and consequently is a great success. Among the exhibitors present are noticed Messrs. A. Bogue and W. McNeil, London, who brought a car load themselves, George Golding, Toronto; Goffad, Orillia; W. M. Smith, Brantford; Barber, Toronto; Donovan, Toronto, and a host of other famed breeders, together with the local exhibitors. Thomas Hall, Montreal, is expected to arrive to-night with a lot of fine Brahmas. Everything will be in ship-shape order for this evening, when citizens will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the finest displays of poultry as regards quality that ever graced an exhibition of this kind in Guelph.

Challenging the Champion.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—A type-setting tournament began at the Museum to-day which is to continue for one week. The contestants are Joseph McCann, of The New York Herald, the present champion; W. C. Barnes, of the New York World; and Joseph M. Hudson, W. J. Creevy, Leo Nordheimer, "Kid" Dejarnott, and Thos. C. Leevy, of Chicago. The force is divided into two squads, and will 'set' one hour and a half each afternoon and evening for a week, making three hours each day.

Guelph Township Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

The annual meeting of the members of the Guelph Township Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held at the American Hotel, on Saturday last, at 2 o'clock p.m.

The President in the chair.

The report of the Directors for the past year having been read by the Secretary, was, on motion of G. B. Hood, seconded by John McCorkindale, adopted.

Report of the Directors of the Township of Guelph Mutual Fire Insurance Company for the year 1885:—

The Directors in presenting their report for the past year have much pleasure in congratulating the members that no loss has been sustained during the year, and that the business of the Company is steadily increasing. During the year there has been property insured to the amount of $149,890. The premium notes received on this amount is $7,029.00. The cash payments on said notes $202.82. The total amount of all property insured on 31st December last $459,340. The amount of premium notes $21,109. By an act passed by the Ontario Legislature last session, it is enacted: That in all Mutual Fire Insurance Companies the Board of Directors shall consist of six, nine, twelve or fifteen Directors, as shall be determined by resolution passed at the annual meeting. It will therefore be necessary for this meeting first to decide the number of Directors now to be elected, and hereafter one-third shall retire annually in rotation, so that hereafter one-third of the Directors shall be elected annually and shall hold office for three years. Along with this report they present their financial statement, which shows a balance to the credit of the Company of $598.91. All of which is respectfully submitted.

WILLIAM WHITELAW, Secretary. JOHN HOBSON, President.

Mr. Alfred Wright and Mr. J. McCorkindale were appointed scrutineers.

The meeting having decided that the number of directors be nine, and a ballot having been taken, the scrutineers reported the following persons elected:

John Hobson, Thos. McCrae, M. Sweetnam, Robert Blythe, G. B. Hood, B. Metcalf, J. G. Wright, R. McIntosh, and Wm. Tuck.

John McCorkindale and Alfred Wright were elected auditors.

The directors subsequently met, when John Hobson was re-elected President, Thos. McCrae Vice-President, and William Whitelaw Secretary and Treasurer.

A Life's Labour Destroyed.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Jan. 11.—The residence of the German naturalist, Charles Buettner, containing the finest collection of birds, insects and animals west of New York, was burned last night. The collection included sixty thousand insects. There were also many specimens from all over the world of the rarest beauty and great value. The hydrants were frozen and the fire department was unable to arrest the flames and the fierce northwest gale blowing made quick work of the building and contents.

A Number of Persons Found Frozen to Death.

Enormous Increase in the Exportation of Eggs from Canada.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 11.—The export trade in eggs from Canada to the United States shows an almost astonishing growth. A return has just been made of the imports of eggs entered at the American customs office at Suspension bridge, which fully illustrates this. The figures are as follows:—For the year ending December 31, 1884, 1,325,105 dozen; for the year ending December 31, 1885, 3,383,205 dozen. The figures for Black Rock, Port Huron, Detroit, and exports from Eastern Ontario and eastern provinces of Canada, if added to this, would go to show that this trade is rapidly becoming important, although somewhat checked by the customs ruling of the Canadian department relating to the duty on returned egg crates.

Broke from Jail.

WAYNESBORO, Ga., Jan. 11.—A number of prisoners escaped from jail here at four o'clock on Wednesday morning last. A fire was kindled on the second floor and a hole burned through by which the prisoners escaped down stairs. By means of an iron bar the front door was broken open. Wm. Garvin, a murderer, was heavily ironed with a chain around his neck and made fast to the centre of his cell. The chain was broken and Garvin carried his necklace and chain with him. The sheriff summoned a posse and went in pursuit. On Saturday night he found Garvin in the woods on the Savannah river, twenty miles from here. An attack was made and the sheriff was shot and severely wounded. Yesterday morning Jerry Tarber, one of the convicts, was captured after after he had been shot. It is thought Garvin and some of the others will be frozen to death in the swamp.

CHURCHILL'S SCHEME REJECTED.

The Beginning of a Stormy Time.

Why the Queen is Going to Open Parliament in Person.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Cabinet met on Saturday. It is generally believed that Lord R. Churchill's advanced Irish proposals have been rejected, and that the Government will simply introduce a Bill greatly extending local government, but extending it to Great Britain and Ireland alike. The Government also have ready a variety of other legislative proposals, but it is needless to say that these are little more than farces, as all must turn on the Irish question. It is certain that the above scheme will not meet with Mr Parnell's acceptance. For the moment the question, therefore, is what Mr Gladstone will do. There will be important and strictly private meetings of Liberal leaders to-night, but Mr Gladstone is very unlikely to submit further proposals until in office. If he takes office, he will do so in order to settle the Irish question. The result, therefore, cannot be foretold. Lord Hartington has declared he will not budge. Mr Chamberlain is still undecided. The Dilke affair will not be settled before the end of the month at the earliest. The rank and file of the Liberal party are at sixes and sevens on the Irish question, but this would not be the first time that Mr Gladstone has brought order out of a political chaos. No Parliamentary progress will be made till Thursday week. Till then an unsatisfactory period will be occupied by swearing the members, in interchanges of opinion, and attempts to extract premature confidences from the unwilling Ministers. The Queen's personal appearance to open Parliament is unpleasantly significant. It will be remembered how at two critical periods in the Beaconsfield Administration the Queen gave him the moral support of her presence. During Mr Gladstone's five sessions her face has never been seen by the faithful Commons.

Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—In accordance with the wishes of Emperor William, the anniversary of his coronation will be observed with unusual splendour.

The Balkans.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Telegraph says the Powers have demanded that Greece, Servia, and Bulgaria shall demobilize their armies. A despatch from Constantinople to the Times says that England proposes that Turkey shall also demobilize her army.

Once a Marshall of France.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Gen. Bazaine, ex-Marshall of France, who is living in Madrid, is enduring great privation, and charitable appeals are being made to his old comrades in his behalf. Several English Generals have contributed to a fund started for his benefit.

A Russo-Danish Fleet.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Czar's project of a Russo-Danish Merchant Shipping Company is about to be realized. The company will have a capital of 7,000,000 roubles and a fleet of from 30 to 40 iron and steel vessels. The vessels will be built at Copenhagen and will be convertible into transports and men-of-war if needed.

A High-handed Proceeding.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Intelligence has been received here that Germany has seized the Islands of Samoa in the Pacific Ocean. The King and his chiefs were insulted and finally fled. A force of men was landed at Apia from the German war ship Albatross. The German consul then hauled down the Samoan flag and ran up the German colours in its stead. The Samoans threaten to make war on the Germans. The American and British consuls protested against the action of the Germans.

A British Steamer Lost.

FIRE ISLAND, N.Y., Jan. 11.—The British steamer Hylton Castle, Capt. Colvin, from New York, January 9th, for Rouen, France, foundered fifteen miles south of Fire Island light at 10 o'clock this morning. One boat in charge of the first mate, with a crew of nine men, effected a landing five miles east of the telegraph office. The second boat, with a crew of ten men, under command of the captain, left the steamer at the same time and when last heard from all but three of their oars had been broken and no report of the crew having reached land has been received.

Greece Spoiling for a Fight.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 11.—The animosity against the Greeks is becoming strong on account of their continued preparations for war. There is a general desire in the Turkish military circle for operations against Greece. The popular clamor at Athens is aided by the Government, which continues to furnish arms to the people. It is even said in the Government press that the Western Powers are backing Greece. It is whispered in diplomatic circles that King George has been warned of his folly by his father, the King of Denmark, and by the Prince of Wales, and advised strongly to curb the popular feeling, but that his brother-in-law, the Czar, is urging him on. It is said a note will shortly be sent to Athens demanding an explanation. Although peace is considered assured between Servia and Bulgaria the Turkish naval preparations continue actively.

Germany's New Liquor Law.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Emperor William has signed the Spirits Monopoly Bill and submitted it to the Bundesrath. The papers devote several columns to the draft of the Bill and comments on the measure. The Bill proposes to compensate those deprived of a livelihood through its operation on the basis of two years' income to each person ten years in the trade. The traffic will be controlled by a monopoly of the Ministry which will appoint agents to do the wholesale vending of refined spirits, the Federal States appointing retailers, restaurateurs, etc. By special favor they will be allowed to sell spirits obtained from the monopoly without regard to the price exacted by the State retailers. The importation of raw or refined spirits will be a penal offence. The Communes will be empowered to add 50 per cent. to the monopoly selling price. The Bill, if passed, will go into operation in August, 1888.

Guelph Daily Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G, JAN. 12, 1886.

The New Electorate.

If a thing is worth having it is certainly worth a little trouble to look after it, and this is none the less the case where agencies may be appointed apparently to take all trouble from the individual shoulders of the public. The privilege of having a voice in making the laws of a nation when far away and apparently unattainable was sought after as the greatest boon which free men could enjoy. For years noble leaders of thought, men who had confidence in their fellow man, no matter how lowly or humble his lot, have been striving to get him this privilege. Conservatism, with its belief in the divine right of kings and the right of the few to make the laws for the many, has persistently resisted the onward march of the masses. But Liberalism is as steadily progressive as the onward roll of the tidal wave. Barrier after barrier has been swept away, until to-day not a wage earner in Ontario of proper age need be without the privileges of the franchise.

Under the extension of the franchise by the Ontario Legislature, the new electorate will be this year placed on the Voters' Lists. It is the duty of the assessors to have the names placed thereon, but the Legislature, knowing how difficult it is to secure a complete list by even the most careful methods makes wise provision by which every one who believes himself entitled to a vote can satisfy himself whether he has been duly placed on the lists, or if his name has been omitted. If he finds that his name is not on the list, the process of remedy is easy and simple.

The lists for the City of Guelph are now in the printer's hands, and will be ready about the end of the month. When they have been delivered to the City Clerk he will at once post copies of the same in his office, in the Public and Separate Schools, and we presume in the Post Office. They will hang there for a month, but every young man who desires the greatest privilege ever conferred on manhood will at once take steps to assure himself whether his name be there or not. Notice of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days after the Clerk has posted up the list in his office. A Court of Revision for the hearing of these appeals and complaints shall be held by the County Judge. Of the date of this Court at least ten days' notice shall be given by means of an advertisement published in a newspaper in the municipality. The Clerk shall also give notice to all persons complaining, and to all persons against whom complaints have been made, of date fixed for the hearing of appeals by the County Judge. The list must be finally revised, corrected, and certified by the Judge within two months of the last day for making complaints, or within three months after the first posting up of the voters' list by the Clerk.

When the lists have been posted, all persons, but especially young men in boarding houses, who are the ones most likely to be overlooked by the assessor, and who are entitled to vote under the new Act, should note the fact and take prompt steps to ascertain whether or not their names appear. If they find they have been overlooked they should lose no time in making their appeal to the County Judge. In view of the fact that in order to vote under the new Provincial Act, not even the payment of taxes is exacted, no man can be excused if he neglects to secure himself in the right to the franchise. To examine the new lists, and appeal to the County Judge, if necessary, is not a serious undertaking. It is but a small price to pay, for the right to exercise the franchise. Everybody should pay it cheerfully and not trust to his neighbour, to petty organizers, or civic officials, to do for him that which, as a good citizen, he should do for himself.

It is announced on good authority that one of the first matters to be taken up at the coming session of the Dominion Parliament will be the repeal of the Scott Act, and that the whole question of controlling the liquor traffic will be relegated to the Provincial Legislatures.

The London City Council has perpetrated a disgraceful job. In September last it was proposed to buy Carling's farm for an agricultural park, but the people voted down the proposition by 750 majority. The expiring Council, some of whom have been defeated, have nevertheless bought it with city funds, paying $40,000 for one third of it, although the whole farm is assessed only $35,000. It is hardly necessary to add that the Council is a Tory body and that the seller of the farm is the Hon. John Carling. The transaction was rushed through in a single session of the Council, and completely took the people of London by surprise. It is one of the basest transactions ever perpetrated by a public body or by a public man, and if there is any way by which the iniquitous bargain can be repealed John Carling should be taught that he cannot unload his over-valued real estate upon the people without their consent.

An Ottawa despatch says that passes over the Intercolonial and Canadian Pacific Railways have been sent to the supporters of the Government in the Dominion Parliament, which will enable them to put their mileage direct into their pockets, and insure their voting straight on any questions that may come up affecting the great national highways.

The London Free Press, in an effort to earn its subsidy, has been endeavouring to convince its readers that the resistance of the Opposition to the Franchise Bill cost the country $150,000. That is only a trifle of what the Franchise Bill has and will cost the country, but, nevertheless it is not chargeable to the Reform party, whose gallant fight was all that prevented the Franchise Act being a much worse measure than it is, and it is bad enough, in all conscience. In refuting its contemporary's absurd assertion—almost too absurd to call for any attention—the Advertiser says it was not the resistance that cost that sum, it was the attempt of the Administration to interfere with the liberties of the people, and to give an assassin stab to Parliamentary government this country. We have again and again pointed out that no important measure affecting the constitution of Parliament has been for 100 years carried through the English House of Commons without first having had the sanction of the country at the general elections. No Parliament has ever so far disregarded its duty to the country as to propose a change in the constitution without popular sanction. Now this is what Sir John Macdonald and his friends did in the recent Franchise Bill, and if the measure had been sound in principle instead of being essentially vicious, it would have been a most high-handed and improper proceeding to have carried it through Parliament without popular sanction. In our opinion the Government should be carried on in accordance with the well-understood wishes of the people, and neither Minister nor member should take so grave a step as to alter the constitution without popular approval. Members of Parliament are elected to legislate under the constitution, and not to legislate it away.

Sir John Cannot Dine with New York Canadians.

New York, Jan. 11.—Erastus Wiman, President of the Canadian Club, has received a cablegram from Sir John Macdonald, in which the Canadian Prime Minister regrets his inability to accept the hospitality which the club tendered him in the shape of a public dinner on his arrival in New York Monday night, January 18. The Premier expressed gratification, but regretted that his engagements were so numerous and pressing that he could not for a moment accept, especially as it would involve a two day's stay in New York. He stated that on some future occasion he would be very happy to show his appreciation of the courtesy of his fellow Canadians in New York.

A LAND LEAGUE CONFERENCE.

Decides to Continue the Struggle for Ireland's Rights.

Dublin, Jan. 11.—Sixty out of the eighty-six Parnellite members of parliament attended a meeting here to-day, called for the purpose of holding a conference on the political situation, and to draft a line of action to be adopted at the forthcoming session of parliament. Discussion was devoted mainly to the subject of home rule.

Mr Parnell was not present. He left London last evening for the purpose of attending the conference, but quit the train at Crewe to partake of refreshments, and when he returned to the platform he found the train had left. He again started for Dublin this morning, and arrived at Chester at the same time as did Mr Gladstone, who was on his way to London. Messrs. Gladstone and Parnell were on the same platform for a few minutes before the starting of their respective trains, but neither of the leaders spoke to the other.

The conference resolved to continue their struggle to secure the rights of Ireland. Consideration of leading questions regarding Irish affairs was postponed until the arrival of Mr Parnell. Reporters were rigidly excluded.

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.35; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.65, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes $1.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

We lead in selling Cheap at the Checkered Store.

GREAT JANUARY SALE

AT THE GOLDEN

LION

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

DRIVE NO. 2.

Furs. FURS. Furs.

Gone Astray, wrong address, arrived at last per S.S. Queen, now on the way from Glasgow. Made claim of 50 per cent off, compromised at 37 1-2 per cent off, will clear at half price. This lot consists of Beautiful

Fur Dolmans, Capes, Muffs, Caps, & Boas

Value in Sterling, £175; Currency, $2,375; Duty added, $3,166.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

Again he was silent, and again Percival respected his silence. Probably this was the first time he had spoken of these things, and now when at last he opened his lips he spoke out of the fulness of his heart. Percival now began to understand the peculiar tenderness with which his friend regarded the girl whose story he was telling, and he felt the interest he already took in her growing and deepening. The sudden death of the mother, the fact that her fears had been realized—Mr. Lafone had married again, a woman to whom none of the qualities which the doctor had so freely dealt out to her predecessor could be attributed—seemed to foreshadow a life of trouble and difficulty for the child left behind. He felt his veins fired with a little of the enthusiasm with the absence of which the doctor had twitted him just now, and an impulse to espouse Helen's cause without stopping to inquire if it were a worthy one.

Dr. Hazlitt interrupted his meditations by saying, with one of his queer half smiles—

"You will say I am not telling you Helen's story at all, but her mother's. A little patience. At the time of which I speak she was a very tiny creature, of small importance to anybody, and least of all, I think, to her father, who, of course, had wanted an heir. He was inconsolable at first—you know the style; would see no one and speak to no one; he quarrelled with his mother-in-law, on the ground that had she not left her daughter so soon her life would have been spared, and behaved altogether in rather maniacal fashion. At the end of three months he had been persuaded to come out of his seclusion and to travel. At the end of a year he wrote to have the house made ready for himself and his new bride.

"He had never been able to bear the sight of the child after his wife's death, and I verily believe that in his wandering abroad he had forgotten her; for I shall never forget his face when he saw her again. I was present at the time. One thing I am certain of—he had either from forgetfulness or some other feeling never mentioned her to his wife; and from what you have seen of that lady's character since you made her acquaintance you may judge for yourself if she was pleased either at his omission or her discovery. I daresay the child was the cause of many a private scene: but, in fact, she can have made very little difference to them, for they hardly ever saw her. It was not until Mrs. Lafone's own family began to grow up that Helen came prominently into notice, and became the open object of her stepmother's jealousy and ill-will. She is one of those women whose maternal instincts never develop unless they become mothers themselves, and then their affection is exclusively for their own children. She has also an immense amount of family pride and lofty ideas concerning the position of the eldest of a family. She could never forgive Helen for having been before her own children in coming into the world. It was as much the fact of her being the eldest, as any personal feeling, which in the first place inspired her dislike. She tried to ignore her, and could not. The servants are all fond of Helen; her nurse was an admirable women, chosen by her mother, and very tenacious of the child's rights. When her mistress spoke of 'Miss Lafone,' meaning evidently her own daughter, nurse would correct her in the quietest, most respectful, and at the same time most unequivocal manner. I have heard her do it again and again. As the children grew older the position became more complicated. What Alice was old enough to do must of necessity be permitted to Helen. If Alice at seventeen were sufficiently instructed to leave the schoolroom, it would from their point of view have been ridiculous to keep Helen there, who was two years older and had ten times the intelligence of the other girl. Then all their friends would persist in distinguishing between 'Miss Lafone' and "Miss Alice;' it was very painful. There was never any sympathy between Helen and her stepmother—that you must have seen at once. There is no need to go further into detail; you know the people, and must see for yourself how a hundred times a day causes of disagreement would arise."

"Of course," replied Percival, reflectively. Then after a pause he went on,

"All that you have said is comprehensible enough as regards Mrs. Lafone, but even it does not account to me for Lafone's indifference to his own child, the daughter of a woman whom you say he adored."

"The very reason. He knows as well as I do that he failed in his duty to the child from the very beginning. He knows that his first wife was to his second as gold is to copper. He feels that he ought to have been true to her memory, and he had not the strength to resist this woman's attractions. He knows he has fallen, and he would like to forget that he ever stood higher. Helen is a continual reminder, don't you understand. If you have any knowledge of human nature you can supply abundant reasons; to which you may add this other one—What does a man now-a-days in Lafone's position know of the character of his daughter?"

"True," said Percival, and was then silent. The thoughts arising from all he had just heard, were as yet rather chaotic, but he felt that when he had arranged them, and should be able to follow the course suggested by the doctor, he would be in possession of a most interesting occupation.

"Then your theory is," he said presently, "that the whole difficulty arises from an inability on each side to read the character of the other?"

"Partly only; I think Helen reads the others pretty well; but they have not the most elementary comprehension of character. If you were to go to them for information, they would tell yon no one could get on with Helen, she is 'so queer and crochety.'"

"And is she?"

"Look and see. She has crotchets, of course. Who that is worth anything has not? What are crotchets but the inequalities of character which break the dead level and monotony of conventionality? Every little grace and beauty of character belonging to one person alone is a crotchet. Naturally there is nothing which is so bitterly resented by those who do not possess them?"

"And this second girl, Alice, who is away; I have not seen her, but I have heard that she is very beautiful. Is it so?"

"Perfectly. She is marvellously beautiful—as superior in mere physical beauty to Helen as Helen is to her in every thing else."

After this they were both silent, till the doctor raised his head and nodded in the direction of a young girl who was coming towards them, as he said—

"Ah, here is Helen in person."

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Newly Elected Members Take their Seats.

INTERESTING REPORT BY THE INSPECTOR.

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held on Monday evening. Present, Mr Newton in the chair, Messrs Kilgour, Knowles, Cottis, Murton, Mitchell, Myers, Hall, Bollert, Bruce, P. Sprague, Fairbank, R. Stewart, Mackenzie, Dr. McGuire, and Peterson.

The chairman announced that Messrs Sprague and Stewart had signed the declaration of office and were entitled to seats at the Board.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received:—From Mr Tytler, stating that his term of office as a director of the Free Library Board had expired; from Mrs Jane Budd resigning her position as music teacher at the Public School; from Principal Tytler, stating that the Collegiate Institute had opened with 197 pupils and that Mr Young, the newly appointed head teacher, had entered on his duties; from Mrs A. L. Workman, enclosing testimonials, applying for the position of music teacher in place of Mrs Budd.

Moved by Mr Fairbanks, seconded by Mr Stewart, that Mr Tytler be re-appointed to fill the office of director of the Free Library. Carried.

Moved by Mr Murton, seconded by Mr Cottis, that Mrs Workman be appointed to the position of music teacher, left vacant by the resignation of Mrs Budd. Carried.

The Secretary then read a lengthy report in reference to attendance during the year, etc., at the High and Public Schools.

SCHOOL PROPERTY.

Mr Knowles, chairman of the School Property Committee, reported as follows:—That they have during the holidays visited and found it necessary to make some repairs to the furniture in the East and West Ward Schools. They have also had the stoves cleaned out and the stove-pipes taken down and chimney cleaned out in the South Ward School. W. Sunley was employed to refit and put up the stoves and pipes, and Mr Snyder repaired the furniture at a cost of $3.40. There are three other small accounts for supplies, amounting altogether to $16.91, $6.35 chargeable to the High School, $10.66 chargeable to the Public Schools. All of which is respectfully submitted. Adopted.

FINANCE.

Mr. Richard Mitchell, chairman, reported recommending the payment of John M. Bond & Co.'s account amounting to $13.86. The financial statement for the year is as follows:

TO BE PRINTED.

Mr. Peterson remarked that there was a fund of valuable information in the tabulated statement prepared by Mr. Tytler, in reference to the number of teachers, the salaries they received, and the number of pupils attending the school for the year. He trusted the reporters would make a note of it.

Mr. Bollert also thought that a short note of the principal features of the report should be taken. In its entirety it could not be expected to be published otherwise han as an advertisement.

Mr. Torrance remarked that only when the Board took an unusual fit of economy his statement, together with his own annual report, were printed in pamphlet form. His report comprised all the information given in the statement.

Mr. Peterson suggested that the report presented by Mr. Tytler some time ago, giving the number of teachers and their salaries in the various schools in the Province of places about the size of Guelph, be also printed with the above mentioned reports.

Moved by Mr. Cottis, seconded by Mr. Murton, that 500 copies of the Inspector's annual report for 1885, together with a copy of the High School report, and the tabulated statement presented by Mr. Tytler to the Board some time ago, relating to the cost of the various schools in the Province, be printed. Carried.

Mr. Cottis remarked that he thought it would be very desirable to have this report printed. A trustee could not carry all these figures and things in their head. He had been asked many questions by ratepayers in his Ward in regard to the schools which he could not answer for want of information.

COLD SCHOOLS.

Dr. McGuire moved, seconded by Mr. Myers, that the Sites and Buildings Committee is hereby required to procure winter sashes and make necessary repairs to the Senior Girls' School at once.

The mover said that to-day Mr. Myers had come for him and complained of the coldness of the school. When they went there they found the thermometer at 40, and the boys standing shivering in their overcoats. It was not the desire of the ratepayers of this city to have their children or the teachers either suffer from cold in this manner. This same thing had been complained of time and again, and the cause of complaint should have been remedied long ago.

Mr. Myers bore out Dr. McGuire's statements. The manner in which that school was heated was a disgrace to the Board. Miss Nelles' room was so cold that she could not teach, and he had called in Dr. McGuire.

The motion was carried.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

Dr. Torance's report stated that 26 teachers had been employed during the year and mentioned the qualifications which they possessed. The number of days that the school had been kept open during the year was 206. The total number of pupils entered between the ages of 5 and 21 was 1,876 and as the total number in the municipality was 3,248 it leaves 1,372 to be accounted for as attending the R. C. Separate School or no school at all. The report went on to show the number of pupils attending less than 20 days between 50 and 20 days, between 50 and 100 days between 101 and 150 days, between 151 and 200 days, and between 200 days and the whole year, the last number being only 13. The total aggregate attendance for the first half year was 137,-244 giving an average of nearly 1,125, and for the second half year 92,656 or an average of 1,103. The report went on to specify the studies in which the pupils were engaged in the different rooms, and to speak of the promotions made in June and December, these being set forth in tables which showed the teachers, the numbers examined, the numbers promoted and the rate per cent of the one to the other. Then reference was made to the salaries first of the male teachers, of whom there are only four in the employment of the Board, and next of the female teachers of whom there are 22. The total amount paid female teachers was $6,175, or an average to each of $280.68; the total amount to male teachers $2,225, or an average of $555.25. The aggregate of salaries was $8,400. From the Finance Committee's report it appeared that the average cost of each pupil recorded upon the whole expenditure was $7 and 4 mills, and the average on salaries paid teachers was $4.47. All things taken into consideration the outlay cannot be considered extravagant by any means. The report referred to the fact that in a short time a new school house would be required in St. John's Ward.

Mr. Torrance, in his report of the promotion examinations, regretted to say that there was an introduction of a style of writing which he thought ought to be discouraged in our schools and he does not think that the teachers are setting themselves to resist it with the care which good taste would suggest.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Mr. Murton was moved to the chair, when Mr. Bollert, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie, moved a cordial vote of thanks to Mr. Newton, chairman, for the courteous and able manner he had presided over the deliberations of the Board during the year.

Mr. Bollert said speaking for himself he was heartily in sympathy with the resolution, not only as a mark of courtesy but for the kindly and efficient manner in which Mr Newton had discharged his duties.

The resolution was carried with applause.

Mr Newton returned thanks in a few words. He was glad and proud that he had filled his duties to the satisfaction of the Board. During the past year everything had been conducted most harmoniously, and the members had assisted him all in their power, whereby his duties were greatly lightened.

Mr Newton took the chair, when the Board adjourned.

Lecture on Marriage.

Last evening Mr F. S. Spence, of Toronto, and Grand, Worthy, Chief Templar of Canada, delivered a lecture in Knox church to a fair audience. On the platform were several of the Brethren of Beaver Temple, No. 56, and Bro. R. McDonald, W.C.T., was chairman. After a short prayer by the Rev. Mr Noble, of Arthur, the chairman introduced the lecturer.

Mr Spence commenced by explaining the object of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and pointed out the gradual growth of the present temperance sentiment. He spoke of the first efforts in this direction, the first pledge being one simply to abstain from getting drunk, then to prevent the drinking of anything stronger than ale, beer or wine, and finally to abstain from the use of intoxicating drink, and to discountenance its use in all lawful ways, which would lead eventually to total prohibition. Then the gradual broadening of the question, the rise and success of Good Templarism, and the enlistment of women in the work, and the reasons for the establishment of Lodges.

The subject of the lecture Marriage, was then taken up. He showed that those things were generally most prized which were hardest to obtain, and that which came easy was little thought off—so with obtaining a wife. In early times and in savage life they had different modes of obtaining a wife, and in the westward march of civilization from Asia to Europe, he pointed out some of the usages which had prevailed in ancient and foreign countries, how the wife was placed under the control of the husband in Saxon times, the presentation to the latter of a shoe, hence the throwing of a slipper at weddings at the present day "for luck." The lecturer then explained the modes adopted in France and Great Britain, and how matches were principally arranged by the parents. Then still marching westward he came to the consideration of the question in America, and showed that while paternal interference was not general, more imprudent matches were made, and more ruptures and divorces were the consequence. He then gave a vivid picture of old bachelors and old maids, and also very good ideas in regard to their good points. To be old was no disgrace, and to be single, in many cases, none, but he thought it better that people should get married. He then spoke in scathing terms of flirts and triflers of the opposite sex, and what it led to, and gave a vivid picture of such characters after their charms began to fail. He next pointed out some of the customs and marriage laws of Europe and of different States of America in time past, and the ages at which marriages were celebrated.

The happiness of married life was considered for a short time, its educational aspects, and the incompleteness of either male or female character in a single state. The moral, mental and physical character of men and women was pointed out. Where there was a deficiency in one sex it was partially made up for in the other, and gave a number of illustrations in support of this. The economy of marriage was then taken up, and the lecturer was particularly happy in some of his hits on this question, and gave a very humorous enumeration of the different articles as used in the economy of ladies' dress and belongings; the pride a genuine Canadian girl took in helping her husband to build up a home, and the benefits resulting from restrictions to married men. The difference between real love and soft gush, and an eloquent description of attractive beauty and domestic virtue. The family cares, bringing up the children, etc., were briefly dwelt upon, and some notable failures in marriage referred to. The speaker brought his lecture to a close by giving some good sensible advice in regard to ill-assorted matches, and what to avoid, winding up by paying a high tribute of merit to the native Canadian girl.

The lecture throughout was replete with humorous remarks and sound advice to all parties, and there appeared to be no weariness to the audience. Votes of thanks were then given to the lecturer, and to the management of Knox Church for the use of the church. The Rev. Mr. Beattie pronounced the benediction.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

A Bird's Foresight.

In California the woodpecker stores acorns away, although he never eats them. He bores several holes, differing slightly in size, at the fall of the year, invariably in a pine tree. Then he finds an acorn, which he adjusts to one of the holes prepared for its reception. But he does not eat the acorn, for, as a rule, he is not a vegetarian. His object in storing away the acorns exhibits foresight and knowledge of results more akin to reason than instinct. The succeeding winter the acorn remains intact, but becoming saturated, is predisposed to decay, when it is attacked by maggots, who seem to delight in this special food. It is then that the woodpecker reaps the harvest his wisdom has provided, at a time when, the ground being covered with snow, he would experience a difficulty otherwise in obtaining suitable or palatable food.—The Examiner.

THE man who keeps his sidewalk clear of snow deserves the thanks of the community, for he does it in spite of many very bad examples.

WHO is responsible for clearing the snow off the sidewalk in front of the North Ward School? If anybody is paid for doing it, it is time he set about earning his money.

FRONT gates are enjoying a period of rest just now. The blooming 140 avoirdupois of femininity are too much wrapped up otherwise to think of moonlight swings when the mercury is flirting with cold-hearted zero.

A curious household journal editorially asks: "What is there in a mince pie?" Such is man, the world over. The human mind is too prone to penetrate the eternal mysteries of the universe, and thus often gets beyond the limits of its own understanding. As the witches said to Macbeth—"Ask no more."

THE Oakville Independent has become the Oakville Star. We do not know what Halton County papers want to change names so frequently for unless they get ashamed of themselves. But we can still repeat, "Twinkle, twinkle, little Star," and when its readers tire of its scintillations they can rub their eyes and go to bed.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—The annual meeting of the Fire Department was held in the Committee room last evening. The following officers were elected for the year:—

Foreman Hose Co.—W. J. Armstrong.
Foreman H. and L. Co.—Chas. Chase.
Brigade Secretary.—John Colson.
Treasurer.—Chief Armstrong.
Branchmen.—James H. Hewer, Theo. D. Fenwick, Charles Spalding, Thomas Griffin.

GOLDWIN SMITH ON PROHIBITION.—Goldwin Smith's pamphlet on "Temperance versus Prohibition," a copy of which we have received, sets forth many of the Liberal Temperance objections to Prohibition, presents a review of the working of Prohibition measures in Canada and the United States, and advances views from the Liberal Temperance aspect as to the true method of dealing with intemperance. It is written in Prof. Smith's usually terse and vivid style, and at least merits the perusal of both Scott Act and anti-Scott Act advocates. An appendix, by C. Gordon Richardson, deals with alcohol from a scientific point of view.

L. O. DISTRICT OF VICTORIA.—The Loyal Orange District Meeting for the District of Victoria, County of South Wellington, was held in Berlin, on Tuesday, the 12th inst. When the regular business of the lodge was finished the annual election of officers was proceeded with, with the following results:

Bro. J. Smith, D. M., Guelph, re-elected.
" Wm. Cornock, D. D. M., Erin.
" Austin Sweetnam, D. C., Guelph.
" Chas. C. Marriott, Rec. Sec., Guelph.
" C. H. Walker, D. T., Erin.
" J. J. Carter, F. Sec., Rockwood.
" Bro. J. Irwin, D. of C., Erin.
" D. H. McClellan, D. Sec., Erin.

KNOX CHURCH Y. P. A.—The Y. P. A. of Knox Church held their annual meeting last night, when a splendid programme was presented. There was a very large turn out. The principal feature of attraction was a debate, "Resolved that the execution of Riel was in the interest of the Dominion." The affirmative was ably led by Mr Orr, and the negative by the President, Mr J. B. Williamson. Mr H. Williamson supported Mr Orr, the President having no support. The debate was ably conducted on both sides. On a vote of the meeting been taken it was declared in favour of the affirmative. Mr G. W. Field occupied the chair during the debate and made a very impartial summing up. An excellent musical programme was rendered with much acceptance.

Rep. to Grand Legion, P. C. Fairley. The Legion is now in good standing and ranks high in this jurisdiction. Last evening 10 or 12 applications were received for Grand Legion Beneficiary, and one candidate initiated. The Grand Legion will meet in this city in May next.

ACCIDENT.—The many friends of Mrs. Wm. Burgess will regret to learn that she met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon. She was descending the steps in front of the house when she slipped and fell, breaking the bones in the wrist of her left arm. A surgeon was summoned who pronounced the injury a compound fracture.

SEVERAL of the members of the newly elected Council to-day took their declaration of office.

THE first grand masquerade carnival of the season, in the Speed Skating Rink, where there is now a splendid sheet of ice, will take place on Friday evening. There will be lots of fun.

SAM. BITTLE, formerly a printer in Guelph, now of Galt, who knocked out in three rounds M. Casey, the light weight champion of Michigan, in Toronto on Monday, in the city to day on his way home.

TRAPPING.—Wm. Miller, of Guelph, has been enjoying a month's holiday in Aberfoyle. Mr. Miller is an old trapper, and during the time mentioned he has succeeded in capturing 55 minks, 2 silver grey foxes and four red foxes, together with a few muskrats.

CITY BAND.—At a recent meeting of the City Band, the following officers were elected:—President, Jas. Johnson; Vice-President, T. W. Hastings; Secretary, Jas. Hough, Jr.; Treasurer, Jas. Hewer; Committee—The officers and W. Copeland. The Band intend practising twice a week and will make it warm for all competing bands during the coming summer. They have got a supply of excellent music with which to delight the citizens when the season for open air concerts again arrives.

COMING TO GUELPH.—It is gratifying to learn to-day that Miss Rose Braniff, of Toronto, has decided to permanently reside in Guelph. Our citizens who were present at St. George's concert on New Year's night experienced the pleasure of hearing this lady sing and were delighted. Miss Braniff is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, and is now recognized as a very successful teacher. The ladies of Loretto Convent have secured her services to take charge of the vocal instruction of their pupils, and it is understood to be her intention to receive pupils for the study of vocal music.

SENT UP FOR THREE MONTHS.—A tramp who gave his name as Adam Brown, was yesterday sentenced to three months in jail, for breaking a pane of glass in Mr. T. J. Day's bookstore window. It seems as if the offender desired to have cheap board at the expense of the County. On passing Mr. Day's he asked one of the clerks standing at the door for money. On being refused he became violent and kicked the pane, breaking it to pieces. A policeman was sent for and arrived in time to prevent him from committing a similar depredation on Miss. M. L. Simpson's window.

A WELCOME HOME.—The members and adherents of the Presbyterian church, St. George, turned out in large numbers on the evening of Thursday last, to welcome their pastor, Rev. W. S. McTavish and his bride, to their home. A very pleasant time was spent, one of the most pleasing features being the presentation of an address of welcome and congratulation accompanied by a purse containing over $70. Mr Deputy Reeve Wood, an elder, read the address and Mr Baptie made the presentation. Mr McTavish replied in a few well chosen sentences, thanking them for their kind address and assuring them of his pleasure in laboring among them and deep interest in their spiritual welfare.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.—The young men of the Congregational church should feel highly elated over the success of their New Year's tea social held last evening. The decorated walls and ceilings, the excellent refreshments, and very enjoyable musical and literary programme provided, prove them to be tasteful, energetic and accomplished to no mean degree. Indeed, it was hard to believe that arrangements so complete and pleasing could have been carried out, without the assistance of lady friends. The following names have only to be mentioned as performers to convince the reader that the programme was a good one. The number of encores were surprising. The chairman, Mr. C. J. Mickle, introduced the programme by a few pertinent remarks. He was followed by Mr. Bothwick and Messrs. Howell in an instrumental duet. Messrs. S. Terrell, R. G. Howell, C. Pilgrim, and McCutcheon gave recitations. Solos and duets were given by Mr. J. Crowe, Mr. F. G. Spragge; a banjo duet by the Howell Brothers, and a solo and chorus by the Committee, all of which were most creditably performed. The young men are defraying all expenses connected with the social from their own pockets. It is expected the gross receipts of the entertainment will form a good purse to hand over to the secretary of the Organ Fund Committee, for which object the concert was held.

A Big Lock-Out Imminent.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 12.—The furnace men and the managers of the Edgar Thompson steel works had another conference this afternoon, but failed to arrive at a settlement of the differences. Both sides are determined and to-morrow the firm will close down the mill in every department. The 3,000 employees will be paid off and work will not be resumed until the scale has been signed.

Rockwood Correspondence.

An exciting three-mile skating race took place on the rink Monday evening, for a purse of $10, divided into three prizes. Henry Soper took first place, Thomas Knowles second, and M. P. Barry third.

The formal opening of the new skating rink will take place on Friday evening next, in the form of a carnival. This will probably be the biggest thing on ice ever seen in Rockwood.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church have purchased an organ which they consider a decided acquisition to the services. A choir is also being formed. Only three ballots were cast against the introduction of the organ.

A mission is being held in St. John's Episcopal church, by the Rector, Rev. W. J. Piggott, assisted by the Rev. Fred. Howitt, of Stoney Creek. Three services are held daily, at 10 a.m., and 3 and 7:30 p.m., Sundays included. The mission will close on the 17th inst.

Ontario Poultry Show.

Last night the show was kept open until after nine o'clock. There were very few present. This may be accounted for from the fact that many were of the opinion that the birds had not all arrived and been placed into position. Thanks to the energetic efforts of Mr. Gowdy, President, Mr. Murton Secretary, and other officers of the Association, everything was in readiness for the opening of the exhibition to the public. These gentlemen deserve credit for the efforts they have made in bringing a show of this kind to the city, in which all the principal exhibitors, not only of the Province, but also of the Dominion are represented. The citizens to show their appreciation will no doubt turn out in large numbers this evening. This morning the Messrs. J. G. Jarvis, London, S. Butterfield—designated by the poultry men as the Hon. member for Bonis Blanc Island, Amherstburg—D. Allan, Galt, Jas. O. Weldon, London, together with the Judges' Clerk, Mr. Eli Griffith, London, are busy making their awards. Their duties will occupy the whole of the afternoon. There is one thing about the show which is worthy of special mention, and that is that no names of exhibitors are placed on the cards until after the awards have been made. Judges, visitors and all agree that the exhibition in Plymouth Rocks and Light Brahmas is the best that was ever witnessed at any similar show.

The Cost of Sending the Volunteers to the Northwest.

OTTAWA, Jan, 12.—Mr W. C. Van Horne, Vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was in the city to-day and interviewed the Government relative to the Company's claim of nearly a million dollars for transportation services during the Northwest rebellion. The construction of the air line from Montreal to Smith's Falls was also under consideration. Two engineering parties commenced yesterday to survey the line Construction will commence early in the Spring, and it is expected that the road will be completed before the close of the year. The Company hope to shorten the distance between Montreal and Toronto by this route at least fifty miles.

Calamity City Items.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 12.—A serious accident happened this morning on the farm of Omeer Hunt, by which Frank Leach narrowly escaped death. A tree he was in the act of felling lodged in another and the limb which broke off struck him on the head knocking him senseless. His injuries may yet prove fatal.

Percy Jackson, M. C. R. R. brakeman, also had a miraculous escape this morning. He fell from the engine while the train was going at the rate of 25 miles an hour, but luckily alighted in a snow drift and escaped with a bad shaking up.

Sad End of a Crimean Hero.

Dennis Dempsey, an old pensioner and wearer of the Victoria Cross, died at the Workingman's Home, Toronto, early on Sunday morning, under very sad circumstances. It appears he was taken ill on Friday night, and three or four doctors were sent for, each of whom, however, declined to attend him. One was at length induced to make a visit, and after ordering the proprietor to give the sick man all the whiskey he could drink, charged $4 for advice and attendanc. Mr. Smith, the landlord, demurred to paying what he thought was an exorbitant sum, and finally the doctor consented to take $2. Dempsey died, and application was made to the medical man for a certificate, but he declined to furnish one unless he was paid $2 for it. He finally consented to take $1, and certified that death was due to congestive pneumonia, caused by exposure. The Mayor afterwards was applied to for a burial order, which was granted.

A Girl Comes to Life After Seventy Days Spent in a Trance.

COLUMBUS, Neb., Jan. 12.—News has just reached here from a farm house several miles north that Minnie Dishner, Nebraska's sleeping beauty, recovered consciousness Sunday, Jan. 3, the seventieth day of her hystero cataleptic trance. The girl fell into a trance on Oct. 26. During the interval she has lain to all appearances a lifeless being with the exception of respiration and pulsation. When Miss Dishner awoke her mind was apparently clear and unimpaired and her appetite and general feelings were good but her arms and legs were paralyzed. She says she was conscious during the whole time but though she exerted her utmost power to show that she was conscious she could not move a muscle. She had no physical pain until the fortieth day of her sleep when an electric battery was applied. Since then she has suffered a thousand agonies of body, and at times it seemed as if her mind would give way under the strain, and she now complains of terrible physical sufferings in consequence of the shock to her system. The doctor, however, says she will recover in a short time, and will also regain full use of her limbs.

A Sad Story of Betrayal and Consequent Death.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 12.—Thos. Palmby sued Wm. McClary, of Westminster, for the seduction of his daughter Alice. McClary is a married man and a farmer, living on the second concession of Westminster. Palmby is a labourer living near by. Palmby's daughter Alice, a girl of 16 or 17, worked for McClary, and, the plaintiff alleges, was seduced by him. In giving birth to a child the girl died, but the baby, which is now about four months old, was brought into court. Palmby testified that McClary offered to settle with him, but afterwards refused. McClary swore that the offer was made in the interest of another party. The plaintiff claimed $1,000 damages. The jury brought in a verdict of $750 for the plaintiff, $250 more than he was willing in the first place to settle the matter for.

Union Printer's Libel a Judge.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—Joseph H. Connors, Chas. Nungasser, and another man, all union printers, were indicted to-day for libel in scandalising the court of Judge Alfred Roman by carrying a placard in a trades' assembly procession making allusion to the fact that Judge Roman had fined two of their members $600 for assaulting a non-union printer on the streets some months ago.

PARLIAMENT OPENED.

The Speaker Re Elected.

CHAMBERLAIN TRYING TO FORM A PARTY.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Parliament opened to-day. Large crowds had congregated to the vicinity of the Parliament House long before the hour for the beginning of the session, and when Bradlaugh and Gladstone arrived they were loudly cheered. Right Hon. Arthur Wellesley Peel was re-elected Speaker.

The Daily News says:—"The Conservatives wish to move a single clause in the Address, involving a vote of confidence in the Ministry, but the Speaker refuses to sanction such an innovation."

The Telegraph says:—"The conference of the Parnellite members of Parliament at Dublin yesterday was a fiasco. There was no popular demonstration in honor of the event. The absence of Parnell from the meeting was a lucky accident, as he was thus saved the necessity of being compelled to indicate a Parliamentary programme. The members who were present privately agreed that the best policy of the party to do was to wait, as the time had not yet arrived for obtaining Home Rule."

The Pall Mall Gazette warns Mr. Chamberlain that he is deluded if he thinks he can overthrow Mr. Gladstone and form a Radical party from the ruins of the Liberal party.

Mr. Chamberlain, Earl Spencer, and Earl Granville conferred with Mr. Gladstone to-day. Most of the Radical members were entertained this evening by Mr. Chamberlain. No moderate Liberals were invited. Mr. Chamberlain is attempting to form a distinct Radical party.

Mr. Gladstone, in the House of Commons, made a speech eulogizing Speaker Peel. Mr. Gladstone, whose voice was husky and feeble, had a haggard appearance and seemed to be aging rapidly.

Bradlaugh will take the oath to-morrow.

THE COLD IN TENNESSEE.

Traffic Almost Entirely Suspended and a Coal Famine Imminent.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 12.—The cold of the past three days is the most extraordinary ever experienced in this section. The suffering is intense. Railroad traffic is virtually suspended. No freight trains have been running on the Virginia and Georgia and the Cincinnati Southern for three days and passenger trains are entirely out of question. No mails have arrived from the west in this section of the country for forty-eight hours until yesterday when four belated passenger trains arrived from Cincinnatti. The blockade of freight is causing a coal famine, and the prospect is very gloomy. Three of the largest have already closed for want of coal, and unless a supply can get in to-night the situation will be alarming. The suffering among the poor throughout this section is very great. Over 500 distressed cases were relieved by the associated charities yesterday. Fully 3,000 hands are idle on account of the cold weather.

THE TROUBLE AT CALGARY

Action Against Judge Travis—Mayor and Councillors Declared Elected.

A Calgary despatch says: Mr. E. P. Davis has served Stipendiary Magistrate Travis with a notice of action, stating that he would bring action in a month against him for $5,000 damages for slander, false imprisonment and refusing to allow him (Davis) to practise before him as a barrister.

The returning officer declared George Murdock elected as Mayor for Calgary for the ensuing year, and Messrs. Lindsay, Freeze, Bannerman and Soules as Councillors. The three first have been disqualified by Judge Travis, and trouble is expected with reference to them. None of them have as yet paid the fine imposed upon them.

Harriston Correspondence.

The anniversary services in connection with Knox church congregation here are to take place on Sunday and Monday next. The Rev. Peter Wright, of Stratford, will occupy the pulpit on Sabbath. Tea will be served on the following evening, after which the audience will be addressed by Mr Wright and others.

Tax gatherer Gilhuly expects to return the roll this week. Notwithstanding the hard times, and scarcity of employment, he has succeeded well in collecting the taxes.

A little stir was made on Wednesday last, in No. 3 ward here, caused by a contest between R. Dowling and Thos. Douglass, both being anxious to obtain a seat at the Common School Board. Dowling came out of the race five or six votes ahead. Doubtless school matters will in future be properly attended to.

At the regular meeting, on Tuesday last, of the Reform Association, after the general business had been finished, a discussion took place as to the wisdom and justice of allowing women the same rights and privileges as men. Some strong arguments in favor of the proposition were brought forward; and considering the difficulty in finding any reasons why such rights should be denied, the opposition, led by Mr Lambert, did remarkably well.

Rough roads and intensely cold weather are having a very depressing effect on business generally. Business men are grumbling considerably at the dullness of trade. The sight of five or six idle tall smokestacks in town is not particularly pleasant, even to the most ardent admirer of the wonderful N. P.

People living in the east end of the town near where "fight" is sold at five cents a glass, have within the past few days been entertained with as many disgusting drunken brawls. A continuance of the performances will certainly get the actors into trouble, and the sooner such characters are severely punished the better for the community.

The Baptist congregation formed here about a year ago is steadily increasing. Yesterday a Sabbath School was organized in connection with the church, and will no doubt under the management grow in numbers and usefulness. Although this makes five Sabbath Schools in town there is plenty of material to work upon, as there is yet far too many children in town who do not attend Sabbath School. May success attend their labours.

Guelph Daily Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G, JAN. 13, 1886.

A CRICKET match was played at Fort McLeod on Christmas day, the weather being perfect. Yet the Northwest is fabled to be the "blizzard's birthplace!" A number of them seem to have lately sprung into existence in Tennessee, Missouri, Iowa, and other U. S. climatic el doradoes.

MR. FOSTER, the charitable Minister of Marine, has refused the application of the starving settlers of Cape Breton for relief. He has, however, offered to carry the relief granted by other parties in a Government steamer to the scene of distress. Now, if it was the Pacific Railway Syndicate or some Tory contractors who complained of being hard up, Mr. Foster would be willing to grant millions for their relief. But all he can do for poor fishermen is to tax their provisions and clothing.

THINGS are becoming more and more interesting in the east. Turkey cannot pay her soldiers who are becoming mutinous. By way of diverting their attention from their own troubles, probably, they have been ordered to attack the Greeks on any hostile movement being made. Servia instigated by Austria will, it is said, refuse to discuss the terms of peace with Bulgaria except upon the basis of a return to the status quo ante and the non-payment of any war indemnity. Bulgaria prompted by Russia will, of course, refuse to accede to this. The eastern question involves all the essentials of sweeping changes in the map of Europe, at present.

OTTAWA Evening Journal:—If it should ever be completed through to Sault Ste Marie, the Brockville and Westport Railway will be an important line. After it leaves Sharbot Lake it will run through a rich mineral country which has never been touched by any railway. But the road will be important rather as a through line, than as a road for the development of the country, as it will form a direct connecting link between the New York and the Northwestern systems of railway. But it is very doubtful whether it will be ever built through to that point. The C. P. R. has only 150 miles to build to reach the Sault while the Brockville and Westport Railway have several hundred miles to construct, and in a race between the two for that objective point, it is easy to prophesy who will get left.

IT is pleasing to note that the leading business men of the City have entered with so much spirit into the matter of sending representations of the Royal City and its industries to the forthcoming Indian and Colonial Exhibition. From the manner in which this matter has already been gone about, and from the fact that a number of our manufacturers had already determined to send specimens of their products, we have no doubt that Guelph will make a good annex to the general Canadian exhibit. Ex-Mayor Chase's suggestion that a descriptive pamphlet be sent along for gratis distribution is an excellent one, and should be acted upon. The City Council, observing the spirit of the people generally in regard to this matter, will doubtless give liberal aid towards securing the best possible results.

THE St. Thomas Journal points out that the resolutions passed at the Tory meeting held in that city the other night were all written hours before the gathering took place. Yet they pledged the meeting to the belief that Minister White's explanations of the Macdonald Northwest policy had convinced his hearers that the charges of neglect and maladministration brought against the Government were without foundation. The writer of these resolutions, presumably the well-known wire-puller, Tommy Crothers, had made up his mind to be pleased, and to hold that his fellow auditors were were pleased also, no matter what the Minister might say. Deliverances of this kind are scarcely worth the paper they are written on, and nobody knows it better than the Minister of Political Exigencies.

MR. T. J. STARRET, late of the Milton News, again finds himself at the journalistic rudder. His new venture is "The News and East Grey Review," published at Thornbury, in Grey County. Mr. Starret in returning to his first love in the shape of journalism, does so in the most commendable spirit. He has found in Thornbury and surrounding villages a new and promising field, and he has set himself the task of cultivating it. From his past record, we feel certain that no ground will be left untilled; no necessary work unaccomplished, and the people of that section may congratulate themselves on securing so able a newspaper man in their midst. Typographically the News is all that could be desired. Politically the News promises to fight only when fighting is necessary, leaving party wrangling aside in order to make its columns the more replete with the day's doings. We wish it success.

The continued use of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion invariably cleanses the blood from all impurities and restores the system to a state of healthfulness, that is manifested in increased constitutional vigor, mental activity, and lightness and buoyancy of spirits. Always ask for Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion, and be sure you get it.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Initiatory Steps for Having Guelph Represented.

Last evening a meeting of manufacturers and those interested in having Guelph properly represented at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition, to be held in London, Eng., this year, was held in the Council Chamber. Among those present were His Worship Mayor Stevenson, Alds. Goldie, Macdonald, Read, Smith, Walker, and Messrs. A. Gilchrist, Penfold, Jos. Tovel, Geo. Murton, Burr, ex-Mayor Chase, McConnell, Ross, T. Smith and others.

Mayor Stevenson was called to the chair.

He remarked that some time ago he had received a communication from the Government, requesting Guelph to be represented at this exhibition in some such way as having views of the City taken. He laid the matter before the Council and a Committee was appointed. The reason for calling the meeting was to give the manufacturers an opportunity to talk over the matter with the Committee. He called on ex-Mayor Chase to state his views.

Mr. Chase said that he had taken a great deal of interest in this matter from the time that it was first spoken of. The Government had taken the matter out of our hands as regarded sending representatives. He felt that the local authorities could greatly assist the Government in many details, and it was their duty to do this, so that any one from Canada, or from Guelph could point with pride to the exhibit made by Guelph in particular and Canada in general. He would be in favour of issuing a small pamphlet, giving a history of Guelph, its manufactures and industries, railway facilities, excellent educational system, healthy location, etc. A county like Wellington, one of the best in the Province, and its chief town, Guelph, must not be behind other counties and cities in making an exhibit. In addition to the pamphlet he would have views sent of our public buildings, churches, and Agricultural College. In short everything that could be done to represent our many interests. Notwithstanding all that had been said in the newspapers of Great Britain regarding Canada, Englishmen had but a very vague idea of our resources. If a cargo of cattle was sent over there from here, a sewing machine, or any other of our numerous export articles, it was all said to come from America. He wished that such an exhibit could be made so as to impress on the minds of the British and the world that it was Canada, not America, that these things came from, and also have such an exhibit that Guelph would be impressed upon them. There were many little things which could be worked up. Our private mechanics who got out a little invention of their own would have an opportunity offered them of showing the product of their mind and genius which might not be afforded to them again in a life time. Our farming industry was second to none in the Province. He had spoken to many of the farmers and asked them to send samples of their produce. These samples should be placed in our exhibit and labeled. He would also have a statement of the price of land, where this produce was grown, and also a sample of the earth and what a farm could be rented for. He was sure the ratepayers would not begrudge any reasonable expense incurred in having Guelph properly represented at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition.

The Mayor said that the heavier manufacturers having been already seen by the Government officials no doubt kept many of them from being present at this meeting. He thought this was the best opportunity that we would have in a life time for advertising our products.

Mr. McConnell said that he was to do something towards exhibiting. It was a good way to advertise our city and bring us before the public.

Mr. Gilchrist said his exhibit would consist principally of canned fruits and fermented wines. The fruit crop this year had not been so good as expected, consequently the exhibit would not be so good as under ordinary circumstances. Nothing would show to strangers better our fine climate than the quality of fruit we could produce. He understood that Brantford Council had given $1,000 towards having that city well represented and he did not see why Guelph should be behind hand.

Mr Burr thought if we were to send over an exhibit now was the time to go to work.

Ald. Macdonald hoped the manufacturers would take hold of this thing and make the exhibit a credit to the City and County. Canada's display would be seen by millions of people, and would be a grand advertisement. He approved of having a pamphlet printed, setting forth what Guelph was. He had no doubt the printers of the city would do the job at a nominal figure just to show the artistic work which they could turn out.

Ald. Goldie would like to see a town exhibit made. The manufacturers of Toronto were going in for making a large display and so should we. To show what benefit might arise from Guelph being well represented in various departments, he would only remark that he had been asked to send a sample of their flour to their Antwerp Exhibition. They did so, with no great expectations, but the result was that they took the first prize, and opened up a new field of business in Hamburg, which they would not have otherwise found. All the expense to those intending to exhibit was only the putting of the material on the cars, and there was little doubt but everything would be sold at the exhibition. He would have such an exhibit made as would show that Guelph had the Garden of Canada around it, so as to induce men with money to come here. Time and money should be given to this undertaking, and every man who thought anything of Guelph would lend assistance in some way.

Ald. Macdonald thought that the hint thrown out by Mr. Chase to send samples of the soil was a very good idea.

Mr. Ross remarked that he intended to forward some lines of his goods

Ald. Walker remarked that all the committee appointed by the Council was deputed to do was to get views of the city. It was their intention to do this at once.

Mr. Gilchrist suggested that a number of summer scenes should be sent. Our winter scenery was no doubt magnificent, but there was so much of it went to the old country that it would give one the impression that we had perpetual winter here.

Moved by Mr. Chase, seconded by Mr. McConnell, that the citizens of Guelph heartily endorse the action of the Government in reference to the Colonial Exhibition to be held in London, England, and that the City of Guelph do assist in every way to further the success of the said exhibition: that the following gentlemen be a committee to act in conjunction with the committee of the City Council to further the interests of the City of Guelph and County of Wellington, viz: Messrs. Burr, Murton, McConnell, Gilchrist, Goldie, Macdonald, Walker and Tovel, with power to add to their number. Carried.

Ald. Goldie trusted that the committee appointed would go to work with vigor. The time was short and work should be commenced at once.

The meeting then adjourned.

GREAT JANUARY SALE

AT THE GOLDEN

-LION-

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

Fur Dolmans, Capes, Muffs, Caps, & Boas

Value in Sterling, £475; Currency, $2,375; Duty added, $3,166.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employes an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

CHAPTER II.

NEW IMPRESSIONS.

As the Doctor spoke, the girl, who had been walking slowly along with her eyes bent on the ground, raised them, and seeing the two men she made a little gesture of recognition with her hand. Then, quickening her pace, she joined them in a moment, and put her hand into the outstretched one of the elder man.

"Good evening, doctor!" she said with a smile. "It is three days since I saw you; what have you been doing?"

"Going about my daily work—and you?"

"I have been doing as usual, too—what one of our favourite authors calls "the same old lie.'"

The doctor smiled, and laying his hand on her shoulder said—

"My dear child, are you not afraid to go about so lightly clad?"

"My temper was so hot when I came out. I could not bear any unnecessary clothing," she answered, smiling again, rather a melancholy smile.

After first speaking to the doctor, she had addressed a few words to Moore, and then took no further notice of him, but turned all her attention to her friend, and a low-voiced conversation took place between them, consisting apparently of questions asked by him and answered frankly by her.

Moore, seeing that just then at any rate his presence was superfluous, withdrew a few steps, and began deliberately to consider the face and figure of the girl who had just joined them. For though he had spent some weeks under the same roof with her, all he had just heard had so quickened his interest as to create a wish to renew his impressions, and see if he could get any clue to her character from her face.

She stood by the doctor's side, almost facing himself, and her face turned westward, so that every feature was clearly visible in the soft evening light. She was small, not above middle height, and of slender and delicate build. The small head was well set, and covered with thick waving hair of rich chestnut brown. He knew how she wore it—combed loosely back and plaited on the top of her head, leaving the broad white forehead entirely free. Her features were not regular, but the whole formed a very attractive face, and one full of character. Perhaps her eyes were her chief beauty. They were large and dark and clear, full of fire, and shaded by long lashes. What struck people most in the girl was her high-bred air and the wonderful grace of all her movements. All her features were fine and clear. Her feet, hands, and ears were noticeably small and delicate. She had on an evening dress of some soft black material, and wore no wrap or outdoor clothing except a large garden hat.

Every day for some weeks Percival had seen more or less of this girl, had talked to her, and seen the isolated position she held in her family, without being moved to any deeper feeling than regret that she should behave with so little wisdom, and interest and curiosity as to the cause of her behaviour. He had seen that she was original and worth talking to, but he had gone no further. He had even credited her with a spirit of feminine jealousy, when, hearing him once speak in terms of unusual enthusiasm of the beauty of some woman he had once met, she had said, with rather an enigmatical smile, that he should see her sister Alice. Now all his preconceived ideas were overthrown, and he felt more roused and interested than he ever remembered to have felt before. As the conversation between the two seemed likely to last for some time, he began to try to put some order into his thoughts, so that before long he lost even the murmur of their voices.

This is what they were saying.

"What made your temper hot, Helen?"

"Oh, a great many things. Mamma took advantage of Mr. Moore being away to read me a lecture on my manner to him, which she says is cold and distant to incivility. From that she branched off to my manner to men generally, and finally got into that stupid affair of last summer. She wanted papa to support her, and to a certain extent he did, but they are not altogether agreed. She would give her diamonds if I would only get married out of the way of herself and Alice; he does not care two straws whether I get married or not so long as I do not come in his way."

"Helen, is that a right way to speak of your parents?" asked the doctor in a voice in which severity was lamentably deficient.

"That is not fair, doctor. You know I am only telling you the truth."

"Well, my child, what did they say?"

"The usual thing, but it seems that tiresome man was not satisfied with the answer I gave him, but wrote to papa about it. Papa replied that he would speak to me on the subject, and he took the opportunity when we three were alone at dinner."

"Ah, now, what did you say?"

"I was angry, of course, but I did my very best to keep cool; however, I began to express my views on marriage, and you can imagine what it was like. I believe they thought me mad. Mamma began to talk about ingratitude and immodesty and flippancy, and after she had gone on for some time I could hold myself in no longer; I said what I really thought about girls of twenty marrying men of nearly fifty. The result was that papa requested I would leave the room and give him a proper answer before I went to bed. I put on my hat and came up here."

The doctor did not speak for a moment, then he said—

"See what a bad girl you are. Upon my word I think I shall have to abandon you."

She said nothing, but looked over the bay, where the tide was now high; and the little rowing boats were rocking lightly from side to side. As she looked a smile came into her eyes and curled the corner of her mouth. She said half aloud—

"Thirty-one."

"Thirty-one what?"

"Thirty-one times you have told me you would abandon me, and you never do it. That is, counting from the time I can remember. I don't know how often you said it when I was a baby."

"But my poor, dear child, don't you see how difficult you make things for yourself? Why must you answer them at all? You are not going to marry this man, and they cannot make you do it. So why not have let them talk on? Of course Mrs. Lafone says disagreeable things, so does a snake bite whenever it can; but you know all the disagreeable things in the world don't alter the truth that you were right and they wrong; that their ideal is a miserably low one, and yours so high above them that they cannot see it, and eventually deny its existence. Try for my sake, Helen, to govern your impulses, and to be content with the consciousness of right."

"If I could do anything it would be for you," she replied, in the low subdued tone in which she had spoken all along. "But you cannot tell how hard it is to be silent when she says these things, and I get so tired of being always on the defensive, always fighting."

She had quite forgotten Moore's presence. All she was conscious of was her own loneliness, and that her one friend threatened to abandon her. Her voice shook and she was perilously near tears.

"Now, Helen, that is not fair. You know as well as I do that I was only in fun."

"Yes, I know; but everything seems of so much more importance than it ever did before."

"It is the weather; it has been very hot, and you are tired and upset. Bear up through this evening, and I promise you things will look brighter in the morning."

He took her hand in his and held it tightly as though to give her courage. Apparently he succeeded, for she returned the pressure, and said more bravely—

"Yes, that is true. I am very glad I met you. I only behaved so foolishly, I expect, because I had not seen you for so many days. Don't let it be so long again, doctor."

"I have been very busy—too busy even to call at The Thwaite. But this evening I am at liberty, except for Moore, and he must yield to you. I will walk home with you, and I think we will go now, for, in spite of the protecting warmth of which you spoke just now, I am afraid you run a risk of catching cold. The wind is now quite cool."

"Very well, we will go now," said Helen, raising herself from the fence against which she had been leaning.

"Moore," said Dr. Hazlitt, "come on; we are going."

"Going where?" asked the young man, rousing himself from his meditations.

"Back to The Thwaite. When we set out we intended, I believe, to return to my cottage, but Helen points out to me that I have allowed an inordinately long time to elapse since I last showed myself at home, so I am going to repair my fault now."

"Good gracious!" ejaculated Moore. "You were there three days ago, I know it for a fact."

"Helen says three days is too long, and at any rate I am going to take her home now. You can come or not as you like."

"Oh, I am ready," turning to follow them as he spoke, for the doctor, still holding Helen's hand in his, had already begun to take the homeward way.

FIRE IN A BOARDING HOUSE

Fourteen of the Inmates More or Less Seriously Burnt.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Jan. 12. — This morning about 4.30 Tait's boarding house at Germania was discovered to be on fire. The inmates, seventeen men, were asleep when they were awakened by the rushing of the flames upstairs. Three men dashed down the stairway before it fell while the others broke out through a small window in the end of the building, about two feet square, and in consequence of the jamming and struggling did not succeed in getting out till all were more or less burned. The men did not save a single article of clothing, some having the very shirts burned off their backs. They escaped in a nude state, while the thermometer stood at 20 below zero to a neighbouring house, where they now lie some in a very critical condition. The principal sufferers are: Joseph Hewitt, of Kincardine, soles of the feet completely burnt off, and the whole body more or less burned; John Morrison, a sailor from Manitoulin Island, head and face badly burned; Wm. Scott, of Draper, burned about the face and legs; Kenneth Morrison, fisherman of Doe Lake, face, hands and feet very badly burned; John Stamp, of West Gravenhurst, face and one foot and both hands burned; Robt. Walmsley, of Doe Lake, one foot badly burned; John Robins, of Draper, hands and face burned; Chas. Wishmann, of Draper, hands and face badly burned and three others slightly burned.

A BLAZE AT MONTREAL.

Upwards of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars' Worth of Damage.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Fire broke out in B. & S. H. Thompson's hardware establishment at the corner of Debresoles and St. Dizier streets shortly after one o'clock this morning, and by the time the firemen arrived on the scene the building was one mass of flames. Despite the efforts of the brigade the flames spread with startling rapidity and the cigar manufacturing establishment of Fischel & Co., on the other side of St. Dizier street, took fire and was soon a mass of flames. The fire spread to the Mount Royal vinegar works of Bourret, Turcot & Co., and this building, together with the other two, was completely gutted. The flames also spread to the Canadian Rubber Company's building, but were extinguished. The fire is still going on, the flames spreading a lurid glare for a considerable distance around. The fire is not under control at 2:15 a. m. The loss will probably be at least $200,000.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

The Privy Council Rescinds its Rule Hampering the Canadians.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Privy Council has agreed to rescind the new rule with respect to the landing of live cattle in the United Kingdom. The regulation was that no cattle could be landed alive from a vessel which within thirty days had touched at a scheduled port. This would have seriously affected the Canadian live cattle trade, as a large proportion of the vessels call at Boston or Portland. Various representations have been made to the authorities here, and the first Canadian cargo coming within the operation of the rule was treated exceptionally and allowed to be landed.

Thebaw's Country.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The claims of the creditors of Thebaw, the deposed king of Burmah, amount to 1,500,000 rupees.

A body of British troops attacked the Dacoits at Sagain and had a sharp engagement, in which 60 of the Dacoits were killed. The British loss was 1 man killed and 3 wounded.

Bulgaria and the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 12.—Prince Alexander and the Porte have come to an understanding on the following conditions: That the union of the Bulgarians be recognized by the party; that the Bulgarian army be at the disposal of Turkey in the event of war with Greece or Servia; that a tribute be paid regularly to the Porte; that the customs rights of the Porte be maintained and Prince Alexander go to Constantinople to be invested with the Governorship of Eastern Roumelia.

Fifteen Wrecks in Two Days.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Reports received by the general superintendent of the life saving service show fifteen vessels were wrecked within the scope of the operations of the service during the storms of Friday night and Saturday morning last, and that the crews of fourteen of them were rescued, while that of only one was lost. This latter vessel was the schooner Mary G. Farr, which went ashore in flames in the night time at Spring Lake, N. J. It was found impossible to render any aid to her crew, and it is believed from reports received that of all the persons on board of her two only were alive when she struck the shore.

Geo. M. Palmer, a Philadelphia baker, has buried six children and married a third wife within a year. The bridegroom, his son and a journeyman baker were all sick on the day of the wedding, but Mr Palmer managed to pull himself together sufficiently to go through with the ceremony. In the matter of varied domestic experience Mr Palmer may be said to take the bakery.

DID you ever notice that those who complain most loudly about the local paper, are those persons who wouldn't go ten steps out of their road to contribute an item of news to its columns. Strange isn't it. Yes, but nevertheless true.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

Very Satisfactory in Prostration.

Dr. P. P. Gilmarten, Detroit Mich., says: "I have found it very satisfactory in its effects, notably in the prostration attendant upon alcoholism."

THE emigration returns for 1885 show a decrease as compared with last year's of 10,000 in the number of people who emigrated from England to the United States, and of 9000 in the number who emigrated from England to Canada, and an increase of 9000 in the emigration from Ireland to the United States, and of 2000 in the emigration from Ireland to Canada.

FOR BOOTS AND SHOES

IS

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.25; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.05, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes 31.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

A FATHER'S CRUELTY.

Terrible Exposure and Death of His Daughter and Babe.

A Ringgold, Pa., despatch says:—John Klinger, a wealthy old farmer of Rush township, has always been regarded by his friends as a severe and harsh old man, but no one ever gave him credit for as stoney a heart as the tragedy of the last twenty-four hours proves him to have had. His daughter Hetty, then aged 18 years, was two years ago clandestinely married to Joseph Maurer, a farm hand, and it ended in both being driven from the young wife's home. Maurer being unable to find work here went to Canada, where he took charge of a squad of labourers on new railroad works. Hetty, the young wife, remained in the valley working for the subsistence of herself and child, assisted by the small remittances which her husband was able to send her. Early in the fall these ceased, and soon after she she received a letter from Montreal informing her that her husband was dead. Yesterday she determined to seek forgiveness of her father, and asked him to at least let her work as a servant in the house of her childhood. In spite of her tears and those of younger sisters she was spurned from the door, and wandered aimlessly down the country road bearing her child in her arms, and with a blinding wind drifting the loose fallen snow about her. Two miles from her father's house and a mile from the nearest neighbour she fell exhausted, and there she lay all night. She had tried to save the babe by wrapping it in her thin woollen shawl, but it, too, had succumbed to the terrible cold, and side by side they were found this morning cold and stiff in death. The execrations of all are showered on old Klinger, whose cruelty resulted so sadly and fatally.

Local News

JOHN OLIVER, Teeswater, who has been in British Columbia for the past year, is in Guelph to-day on his way home.

THE old man named Nelson Smith who was found in a shanty over the Dundas bridge by Capt. Clarke, Relieving Officer, on New Year's eve, and taken to the General Hospital, died yesterday afternoon. He was an Englishman, about 80 years of age. He was buried to-day at the expense of the city.

THE CARNIVAL.—The fancy dress carnival at the Rink to-morrow night, the first of the season, promises to be quite a success. A large number of persons have signified their intention of being present. The ice will be in spendid condition, and there will be a two mile race for the Stirton medal and championship between Gibbs, Mills and Brandon. See advt.

MR. JOHN ANDERSON, of Minneapolis, arrived in the city on a visit to his parents. He left Minneapolis on Saturday last and was for 26 hours, along with other passengers, stuck in a snow drift about 100 miles east of his starting point. He recounts a number of laughable scenes that were observed on the train during the blockade.

PERSONAL.—It is always interesting to know the best place where to get our wants supplied. In response to the question, where to get the best value in Dry Goods, Furs, Mantles, Millinery, etc., we say, without hesitation, go direct to A. J. Little & Co., 77 Upper Wyndham street, where they are now taking stock, and Mr. Little tells us they will, during the month of January, sell goods regardless of profit. A word to the wise is sufficient. d3.

QUEEN VS. MARA.—The trial of Martin Mara for breaking into Sheahan's store, which commenced on Tuesday before His Honor Judge Drew, was concluded yesterday afternoon. The evidence offered by the Crown was very similar to that offered when the prisoner was tried for shop breaking at Watson's. After a lengthy argument of the case the Judge concluded that the evidence was not sufficient to justify his conviction and acquitted him. On this charge Mr. A. H. Macdonald conducted the defence, assisted by Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Peterson for the Crown. The prisoner was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for breaking into Watson's store, on which charge he was convicted some time ago, sentence being deferred until such time as the Sheahan charge was investigated.

WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION.—The Union held their regular business meeting on last Wednesday afternoon. The Corresponding Secretary read several interesting communications concerning various departments of temperance work. The desirability of holding gospel temperance meetings was discussed, and a general desire expressed that they should be established, but it was deemed advisable to leave the matter over till next meeting. The Union meets every Wednesday afternoon in the new rooms of the Y. M. C. A. The second meeting in each month is devoted to general business, the others to praper for success and guidance in the work and to reading and discussing temperance papers, and the best methods of conducting the different departments. All ladies are heartily welcome to attend the meetings even if not desiring to become members. J. E. SMITH, Secretary.

ONTARIO TANKARD.—At a meeting of the delegates of Group No. 4, held in Berlin on Monday, the following is the result of the first drawing for the Ontario Tankard:—Berlin vs. Waterloo, Guelph vs. Georgetown, Fergus vs. Elora, Harriston vs. Mt. Forest. The winners will play the final match in Berlin on Friday, the 22nd, and the winning club will go to Toronto to compete with the winners from the other Groups. It is expected that the game between Georgetown and Guelph will be played here on Tuesday, the 19th.

THE Stirton point medal will be competed for on Monday, at two o'clock and at 7:30 in the evening. The ice is in first-class condition, and every member of the club should compete.

"EGG socials" are the latest. At an "egg social" each lady is expected to bring a boiled egg, with her name written on it, and the gentleman who gets the egg pays for her supper—shells out, as it were.

KILLED BY A FALLING TREE.—On Wednesday afternoon a young man, 23 years of age, named Moses Smith, met with an untimely end while chopping for Mr. Albert Gordon, in a bush about three miles from Winterbourne. The particulars gleaned of the accident so far are meagre, but from what can be learned it appears that the tree had lodged in another one and fell on the unfortunate man, crushing in his scull and almost instantly killing him. He never spoke after the accident. He leaves a young wife and an aged mother to mourn his loss.

Ancient Order of Foresters.

LAST evening the members of Court Perseverance, No. 5866, Ancient Order of Foresters held their annual supper in the American Hotel. About 100 of the members, together with a few invited guests and visiting Brethren sat down to sumptuous supper, got up in Mrs. Ellis' usual first-class style. After the tables had been cleared Dr. McPhatter took the chair, the duties of which he ably filled during the evening. On his right were Bros. Foote, High Court Chief Ranger and Ald. Wells. On his left High Court Secretary Williams and Bro. Scott, Galt, P.D.C.R., and Bro. W. Simpson, Chief Ranger of Court Perseverance.

After the usual loyal toasts had been duly honored Messrs. Marcroft and Beckman fittingly replied to that of "Our Country."

"Our Manufacturing Industries" was responded to by Ald. Wells. He remarked that there were plenty of resources in this country to employ labor to all if they were taken hold of in the right manner, and carried out more on a co-operative basis. If this was done the country would be more prosperous and it would be better for the working class. He did not believe in one class working over time and another going idle as could be witnessed in Guelph to-day. There should be some way of dividing labor so that those going idle would have a fair share of the work. The speaker then made some remarks in regard to how some of the factories in the city were running.

Bro. Wm. Simpson also responded to this toast.

"The High Court and Our Order" was fittingly honoured by H.C.C.R. Foote, who in a lengthy and somewhat humorous address explained the workings of the Order, and congratulated the Brethren in Guelph on the advancement they had made, and also on the good standing of the Court. He was vigorously cheered at the close of his remarks.

"Sister Societies" was responded to by Messrs. Nicholson and Barrie, the latter giving a humorous speech on "The Scott Act." On being encored he gave a new song, "Queen's Own," with much acceptance.

"Executive Council" was responded to by Bro. Williams, High Court Secretary, who made a lengthy speech on matters pertaining to the High Court and the establishment of Juvenile Courts. He wound up by singing a song, which he did in such a manner as to demand a hearty encore.

Bro. Scott, P. D. C. R., Galt, was next called on and made a few remarks, chiefly on the benefits of the Order.

"The Host and Hostess" was the next toast, to which Mr. Thos. Ellis responded by singing "Rule Britannia," the company joining in the chorus.

A vote of thanks was then tendered to the visiting officers, which was briefly replied to by Bro. Foote.

During the evening songs were sung by Messrs. Foote, Flowers, Neslin, Simpson and others.

Meeting of the Cheese and Butter Men of the West

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 13.—The Western Dairymen's convention opened in the Town Hall here this afternoon, Thomas Ballantyne, M. P. P., President in the chair. In the afternoon papers were read by Francis Malcolm on exclusive dairying as compared with mixed husbandry, and Rev. W. F. Clarke on local dairy improvements. The evening session was occupied by an address on the possibilities of the dairymen by Mr. Thos. Shaw, also one on the dairy interest by Mr. Schell. Both meetings were largely attended. The discussions on all the papers were animated and instructive and very generally taken part in.

Taken for Dead.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—A few days ago a little girl named Hurtuboise, of Gatineau Point, got a pin stuck in her throat. All efforts to relieve her failed, and in a short time she, to all appearances, died in great agony. The neighbours flocked to the afflicted domicile, and the little one lay as still as in the sleep that knows no waking. After watching over the prostrate body for several hours signs of animation were visible, and it was at once ascertained that she had only been in a comatose state. A physician was immediately summoned and announced the tidings that the spark of life was not yet extinct. By careful treatment the little girl was gradually brought around, and the pin, after a series of attempts, was dislodged from the throat. She is now convalescent.

Smothered to Death by Coal Gas.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 12.—Two girls named Derosia and Young were smothered to death this afternoon on Perth street, by gas escaping from a stove.

ELIZA BOWEN'S MISERABLE STORY.

First the Wife of a Wealthy Colonel and Then a Slave's Slave.

GALESBURG, Ill., Jan. 13.—The death of Eliza Bowen, a white woman here yesterday, has brought out a remarkable story. Since her residence in Galesburg, some twenty years in all, she has been the wife of a negro as black as midnight. For a long time the two have been looked after by the city. The woman was partially paralyzed. The miserable twain lived in a rude shanty in the eastern part of the city. This she had built with money she had begged. Lately she complained of ill treatment at the hands of her husband. The woman was, before the rebellion, the wife of Col. Hawks, at one time an officer in the British army and afterwards a resident of Kentucky. There he became possessed of a large plantation and many slaves, the man Bowen among them. During the war he died and his estate passed to the creditors. His wife was left in charge of Bowen, whom he instructed to care for her. The marriage occurred several years afterward.

U. S. INDIANS.

Safety of Major Davis and His Force After Successfully Missing the Indians.

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 13.—News has just been received concerning the movements of Major Davis and his command of one troop of cavalry and eight-five Indian scouts, who moved into the heart of the Sierra Madre Mountains in Mexico, over a month ago. Nothing had been learned of their whereabouts since that time, and fears were entertained that they had been massacred by hostiles. The force succeeded in safely reaching Cassa Grande without having encountered the Apaches. From there a message was sent to Colonel Torres, commanding the Mexican forces stationed at El Valle, with whom a co-operative plan of action was agreed on. A vigorous campaign is now being prosecuted by the joint forces against the Apaches.

A CHURCH BOILER EXPLODES.

Two People Killed and the Sacred Edifice Wrecked.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 13.—This afternoon the boiler in the basement of St. Mary's Catholic church exploded with a terrible crash, instantly killing the engineer and a little school girl and entirely wrecked the beautiful edifice. A few moments afterwards fire broke out in the ruins. The clergyman's residence adjoining was badly wrecked.

A Cyclone in England.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A disastrous cyclone, lasting 20 minutes, passed over the Midland counties of England. The railway station at Stratford-upon-Avon was unroofed and traffic on the lines of railroad was stopped for some time. A number of cranes were blown over at Wednesbury and two persons killed. Reports from all sections traversed by the cyclone say trees were uprooted, houses unroofed and damage of other sorts sustained.

The Blackmailer of a Prince.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The case of John Magee, charged with attempting to procure money from the Prince of Wales by writing threatening letters came up for trial to-day. The prisoner, by advice of his counsel, pleaded guilty. He declared that the statements contained in the letters were false, that he did not intend to injure the Prince and that distress impelled him to threaten His Royal Highness in the hope of obtaining money. Sentence will be passed on Friday.

Death from the Bite of a Cat.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—James Gregory, a boy of 13, chased a cat, caught it by the tail, and was bitten in the thumb. His mother took him to the hospital the same evening and had the wound cauterized. It healed, but the boy constantly complained of pain in the hand. When cold weather set in he began to suffer badly. He became worse and worse, and was haunted by an imaginary black cat, had repeated spasms, and finally died. The cat is supposed to have been bitten by a mad dog, which had previously appeared in the heighbourhood.

Halifax Chamber of Commerce Wants Reciprocity.

HALIFAX, Jan. 13.—A special meeting of the Halifax Chamber was held this evening, to consider the question of reciprocity. There was a large attendance of members, and the following resolution was proposed: "That this Chamber do request the Dominion Government to take such steps as may lead to negotiation with the Government of the United States for a reciprocity treaty between the two countries embracing such trade arrangements as may be for the mutual advantage of each country including the fishing interests, which are of greatest importance to a large portion of our people." Robert Pickford and William Roch, jr., in moving and seconding the resolution, made strong speeches in its support and were followed by a number of others including Messrs. Daly and Stairs, Dominion members, in similar strain. On being put to vote the resolution was passed unanimously.

Bradlaugh Takes the Oath.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Speaker Peel said he was unable to recognize anything done by a previous parliament in regard to the case of Bradlaugh, and he was powerless to prevent him from taking the oath. He could take the oaths and take the risks of the law, if any were involved. Bradlaugh stalked up the floor of the House in a defiant manner, kissed the Bible unctuously, shook hands with the Speaker, and drove away directly after being sworn in. He was cheered as he left the building by a large crowd of his supporters.

There is a growing desire among Conservatives not to exclude Bradlaugh from the House of Commons. It is believed that the Government will not insist upon excluding him unless urged to do so.

A NUMBER of Reformers from Guelph went by train and drove to Fergus to-day to attend the Reform convention being held in that place.

TRAPPED AT LAST.

A Wife-Poisoner Drinks the Decoction Intended for His Fifth Victim.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 13.—Letters received here contain brief details of the recent death of Geo. McCabe, who was tried about a year ago at the assizes in this city on the charge of murdering his wife in the Dewdrop Inn, London South. Evidences of poison were found in her stomach but the crime was not clearly brought home to McCabe, and he was acquitted. Previously he had been tried for doing away with another wife in Ingersoll, but also escaped conviction. It was further alleged that other women had fallen victims to his murderous passion. After his acquittal he went to Dakota, where some of his relatives or friends resided. In a short time he succeeded in marrying again and started housekeeping. One morning about breakfast time his wife startled him surreptitiously putting some foreign substance in her cup of tea. Cautiously awaiting her opportunity, she exchanged her cup for his. He drank the fatal potion intended for Mrs. McCabe and soon realized that he was the victim and that his fifth wife had escaped. Seeing that death would soon be his lot it is alleged that he confessed not only to the attempt at poisoning in this instance but to having killed four wives previously. In a short time he was a corpse.

NIAGARA FALLS PARK.

Meeting of the Commissioners to Arrange with the Proprietors.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 13.—Quite a stir was made here to-day by the arrival of the Government arbitrators, Messrs. T. H. A. Baque and W. W. Burney, who came on the question of expropriating the lands adjacent to the Falls for the Niagara Falls Free Park. Col. Taylor, who is the third arbitrator, was not present on account of sickness. Col. C. S. Gzowski, Chairman of the Commission, accompanied by Æmilius Irving, Q. C., arrived at the Prospect House last evening. The arbitrators held a short amicable session with seven of the leading property-owners today and examined the service papers, which were all found correct. Only a few more are unfinished, but the papers were not quite ready for them. Owing to the absence of Col. Taylor the meeting was adjourned to Feb. 3rd. It is expected that the Government will decide on the question of the Niagara Falls Park by the 1st of April next.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

A Large and Representative Display from Canada Assured.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—A meeting was held in the room of the Minister of Agriculture to-day of agents and other gentlemen engaged in collecting exhibits for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, which opens in May next. Among the gentlemen present were Dr. Selwyn, Dr. Dawson, Messrs. S. C. Stevenson, L. G. Desjardines, A. W. Wright, R. Pringle, Alex Leith and W. Saunders. A careful review was made of the progress so far, and it was found that all fears of not filling the very large space allotted to Canada were not only dissipated, but a new question arose as how to put all the exhibits offering within the space allotted. It was discovered that the exhibits already offered are thoroughly representative of the whole dominion.

THE TROUBLE AT SAMOA.

The Reported Annexation by Germany Confirmed.

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—Count Von Hatzfeldt, German Ambassador to London, has telegraphed to Prince Bismarck, the following despatch, handed to him by Lord Salisbury, which was received from Mr Powell, the British Consul in Samoa:

"Commander Weber has driven the King from the seat of Government. Weber hauled down the king's flag, a force from the Albatross assisting. The British and American Consuls entered a solemn protest. Their presence alone prevented a massacre of Germans. War is imminent. A report is current that the Germans will annex Samoa."

BELIEVED TO BE IN CANADA

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—An action is now on trial in the Supreme Court brought by Dawson Fallacy against Fanny D Hoexter, Augustus Hoexter, her husband, and Gustay Newwitter, to foreclose two mortgages for $150,000 on certain property in the city which grows out of the sudden disappearance of Augustus Hoexter, merchant, from this city sometime ago and whose creditors have been since looking for something upon which they might satisfy their claims. Hoexter is believed to be in Canada. His wife is said to have had daily communications from him up the time of his father's death about two months ago. He left a large fortune. The interest on the mortages was not paid and this suit was brought. Mrs. Hoexter puts in an answer to the effect that the mortgages were executed under duress.

PROPOSED NEW COUNTIES.

Applications for the Formation of the Counties of Palmerston and Maitland.

An application is intended to be made at the next session of the Ontario Legislature erecting the six townships of Proton, Egremont, and Normanby, in the county of Grey, and West Luther, Arthur and Minto, in the County of Wellington, with the villages of Arthur and Clifford, and the towns of Mount Forest, Harriston and Palmerston, into a provisional county, to be called the "County of Palmerston," with Mount Forest as the county town. Another proposed new county is that of Maitland, to be composed of the townships of Wallace, Elma and Mornington, in the county of Perth; Howick and Grey, county of Huron; and Maryborough, county of Wellington, with the villages of Milverton, Brussels and Wroxeter, and the towns of Palmerston and Listowel, with Listowel as the county town. The Wingham people, stirred into activity by the Wingham Times, are agitating for the formation of a county somewhat differently constructed, with Wingham as the county town.

Guelph Daily Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G, JAN. 14, 1886.

An Uphill Task.

The Mail yesterday laboured through a column and a half of editorial to prove that the Metis of the Northwest suffered from "grievances" and applied for redress during the Mackenzie Government as persistently as they did under Sir John's regime. Were this true, which it is not, would that absolve the present Government? The people did not put them in power to perpetuate, much less to originate wrong. If the halfbreed grievances were made known to the late Government, and they were turned out of office before they could attend to the matter—which is partially what happened—it will be interesting to know if Sir John Macdonald purposely left these grievances unattended to, and turned a deaf ear to the piteous appeals of the Metis in order that his Ontario organ might be able to say, through its column and a half of verbiage, "You're Another" to the Reformers of the country. But what a commentary on the purposes which animate the present Government. These are not to administer the affairs of the country honestly and to the best of its ability; not to remedy what may be wrong in the work of the departments; not, in short, to do anything where nothing was done before, and when accused of indifference to reply with the tu quoque argument. But, further, the Mail's statement that complaints were made and were left unheeded is not borne out by the facts. Steps were taken to investigate these matters, and remedy them as far as was compatible with justice. Demands were made, as demands are always made in such cases, unreasonable and impossible of fulfillment, and it must be borne in mind that no Government could proceed with surveys in the territories while as yet they were incompleted in Manitoba. The Mail is, however, sufficiently discriminative not to charge the late Government with having sold halfbreed lands to colonization companies, and told them to do their own evicting. It ignores that episode in the shameful transaction, which it well knows was the ultimate cause of the rebellion, and for which it would find a parallel if it could, and justify even that. Since the Mail has admitted that "the Metis had good grounds for grievances," why does it at this late day attempt to justify their continuation on the paltry plea that these grievances existed when its friends took office seven long years ago. We suppose it must have recovered from the temporary fit of honesty with which it was visited last summer when it said: "Had they had votes, like white men, or if, like the Indians, they had been numerous enough to command respect and overawe red tape, without doubt the wheels of office would have revolved for them; but being only Halfbreeds, they were put off with an eternal promise, until patience ceased to be a virtue. We regret again that the departmental system under which such callous and cruel neglect of the rights of a portion of the community was possible, was wrong, and should be censured." The organ spoke the truth then; it is evading the truth and trying to shelve the responsibility for the rebellion on to the shoulders of the Mackenzie Government now. Anything less absurd than this would be laughable. As it is the Mail's special pleading is pitiful, and calculated to call tears from as tatute. The Mackenzie Government is not now on trial. It is the Government of Sir John Macdonald, and the rebellion with all its sad consequences is only one of many counts in the indictment against it by the people. The time for the trial is approaching, and the Mail's unworthy attempts to divert guilt from its masters by attempting to lay the blame on honest shoulders will be seen through and properly understood.

THE railway mileage of the United States is greater than that of all Europe, being 128,392 miles at the present time, while that of Europe does not exceed 120,000 miles. The railway mileage of the world is placed at 300,000 miles, one-half of which is on this continent, Canada having 12,000 miles of railway, and Mexico and Central American States about 7,000 miles. The Dominion railway system is exceeded in length by that of only five European countries, Germany, France, Great Britain, Russia and Austria, and in another two years the mileage of Canada will surpass that of Austria.

THE managers of the banquet to Hon. Edward Blake, at London, to-night, have wisely restricted the toast list to eleven sentiments, There will be responses by the guest of the evening, Premier Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright, Senator Leonard, Hon. A. M. Ross, Provincial Treasurer; Hon. C. F. Fraser, Commissioner of Public Works; Hon. T. W. Anglin, Hon. D. Mills, Jas. Armstrong, M.P.; Wm. Paterson, M.P.; A. M. Taylor, of the Toronto Young Liberals, and others. The arrangements are such as to lead to the belief that the gathering will be one of the most successful demonstrations of the kind ever held in Canada, and we are glad to know that quite a number of Reformers from this section have left in order to be present.

Fergus Correspondence

TRUSTEES.—Messrs. M. Anderson, D. Philip, and R. H. Perry were elected to fill the positions on Wednesday last. There was considerable excitement over the event, many wondered at Mr. Anderson running so well after the way he had been condemned on the "Iron Fence."

CARNIVAL.—The carnival on Friday night last was quite a success at the roller rink. This is the first carnival held here at this rink. There was a large number present and a good many in costume.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. James Hailley, of Garafraxa, was very severely scalded about the head, neck, and hands, on Thursday of last week, while threshing at Mr. W. McDermott's. The steam threshing engine was not working properly, the fire was let down to see what was wrong, and then Mr. Hailley crawled into the fire-box before the steam was down, while there one of the plugs or pipes burst and the steam, with a pressure of 20 pounds, flew over him as stated above. He is so far doing well.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The nightly prayer meetings of last week were very well attended, notwithstanding the cold weather and many other engagements.

PROBABLE THEFT.—One of the gray robes hanging at the store door of Mr. Melross, of Fergus, disappeared about dusk one night last week. It must have walked off or been taken by mistake; surely it was not a case of stealing.

FINE SIGHT.—A magnificent fire ball fell here about 12 o'clock last night. Those who saw it say it caused quite a bright, lurid light on the earth in its passage across the heavens from west to east. The light was so bright as to make those who saw it look for the cause, and it was found in the bright shooting ball.

CURLING.—The annual match, President vs. Vice, was played last week, 3 rinks a side. The game resulted in favor of Mr. Reid, President, by 22 shots, and the Vice, Mr. Armitage, had to provide oysters for all playing according to the usual but absurd custom. The oysters were served by Mr. P. Grieves, a good time being spent afterwards. The playing for the medal between the different rinks is being carried on as time and opportunity permit. We believe a barrel of flour for the poor is thrown in, in the medal contest, the losing rink buying the flour. This is a praiseworthy act. The poor we always have; a great many of them cannot get work, no matter how they try, and while poverty is bad at any time it is simply frightfully terrible this fearfully cold weather, and if we are able we ought to relieve their suffering. Curling is not a bad way of helping.

OBITUARY.—John McKee, a highly respected active young man, of Garafraxa, near Belwood, died yesterday morning, after a very short illness. He was out and well on Monday, election day, and died the following Monday morning. Such sudden deaths of those in the prime of life will surely teach us to be ever ready.

Business has been a little dull the past week, the extremely cold weather and want of snow keeping many at home.

Last night the thermometer got down to 8° and 10° below zero, the lowest at anytime of the present cold snap, but Saturday and Sunday being very windy were harder to bear.

Hespeler Correspondence.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.—At the last quarterly election of officers in connection with the Blue Ribbon Society, Mr. George E. Chapman was elected President, Mr. John Limpert, Treasurer; Mr. A. T. Panabaker, Secretary; and Mr. James Eagle, Chaplain.

GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING ON SUNDAY EVENING.—The G. T. M. of Sunday evening, being the first under the management of the new officers, the attendance, considering the inclemency of the night was unusually good. The President, Mr. G. E. Chapman, had secured for the occasion the gratuitous services of Mrs. Saunders, of Brantford, a noted evangelical and temperance worker. After the rendering of a suitable piece of music by the choir, and the usual reading of a chapter by the President, and prayer by the Chaplain, this lady in an ardent and eloquent address of some thirty minutes, elicited the earnest attention of the entire audience. The new board of officers have reason for congratulation that the first meeting under their jurisdiction was such a success, and temperance workers in the place have reason to congratulate themselves that the sentiment in behalf of the cause is by no means abating.

AN OPEN MEETING.—On Monday night last a successful and enjoyable open meeting was held by the R. T. of Temperance in their hall.

DETROIT MOURNS THE LOSS OF A HERO. Captain Richard Filban, of the Detroit Fire Brigade, who lost his life in the great fire at Detroit, on New Year's day last, was a full nephew of Mr. Charles Barrett, of 3rd con., Puslinch, who is intimately known here. The Detroit Free Press comes out with a vivid description of the manner in which this brave hero lost his life, under the heading "Died at His Post." We regret that time will not permit us to give details. Though placing himself in a position of peril which few would have dared to do there was nothing fool-hardy in the undertaking. He was on the top of the ladder about thirty feet from the ground beneath a blazing roof, when a portion of the wall gave way, partially burying him beneath the debris from which he was immediately rescued by a brother officer, but not before life was extinct, his skull having been fractured by the falling debris. He was only 33 years of age and unmarried. The city papers give a bust of this veteran fireman, and speak of him as having been very popular and a great favorite among acquaintances, which facts are verified by the tribute of respect evinced by the city on the occasion of his funeral. We think there is as much the hero about men of this description as about those who face death in battle. His uncle from here attended the funeral.

Elora Correspondence.

[OUR Elora correspondence, generally forward in good season, failed to reach us in time for this week's WEEKLY MERCURY.]

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. James McKay, of Pilkington, who was educated in Elora, has recently returned home after a four years' sojourn in the Northwest Territories of Canada and the United States. He has seen enough "Injun" to satisfy him for the remainder of his natural life, and believes that the civilization of Ontario, with ordinary money returns is superior to the semi-barbarism of the Northwest with its much higher remuneration for labour. He has been engaged in railroad work on the Canada Pacific, and on other roads in Minnesota, Dakota and elsewhere, and being an intelligent man gives a highly interesting description of the country and his doings. If he would give a lecture upon the new country it would be worth going to hear.

CHANGE.—Mr. John Mundell has shut down for a few days while effecting necessary changes in his establishment. Having abandoned the brush trade, he has converted the large Henderson building into a cabinet factory, and will push that business entirely. He pays particular attention to the manufacture of extension tables and turns out large numbers of this useful article of furniture, while his general trade is rapidly increasing.

IMPROVING.—It is pleasant to be able to record the fact that Mr. John Bain, who suffered so severely from an attack of typhoid fever that his life was despaired of, is rapidly recovering under the skilful care of Dr. A. H. Paget, his family physician, and that he is at length able to leave his bedroom.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—The Elora Branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society held its annual meeting in Chalmers' Church last evening. The chair was occupied by the Rev. P. L. Spencer, and the meeting was addressed at some length by Rev. George W. Henderson, travelling agent of the Society. The ministers of the various churches in the village briefly spoke in favour of the object of the Society, and the report presented was of a highly favorable character.

DELEGATES.—At a meeting of the Liberals of Elora, held at the Market House on Thursday evening last, Messrs. Alex. Carter, W. R. Lambert and Frank Clarke were elected as delegates to the convention to be held in Fergus. Mr. Seaman H. Garrard was selected as a substitute in case any of the gentlemen already named should be unable to attend. A capital feeling prevailed and confidence was expressed that with a good candidate and united action, the success of the Liberals of Centre Wellington in the coming election is secured.

COMING.—Dr. Orton has announced his intention to speak on the Northwest question in the Drill Shed here on the evening of Saturday next. He has already addressed his constituents in other parts of the riding, and may be regarded as on a stumping tour, and seeking re-nomination as the Conservative candidate for Centre Wellington. He spoke at Hereward on the sixth inst., where he reported Bishop Bourget as having told Riel that he had a mission in the Northwest, and that he was to establish a French Province there, in which they would control affairs as they did in Quebec to-day, not in an honorable and legitimate way, for the people of Quebec had at times brought pressure to bear that was not seemly or proper. He added that no disrespect had been shown to the French people by the hanging of Louis Riel, who was the cause of the rebellion, and believed there was no loyal man in Ontario who did not believe it to be his duty to endorse the course of the Government. It is probable that, despite the voice of the chairman, there are some loyal men who don't believe it to be their duty to endorse the course of the Government, and who are of opinion that Louis Riel was not the primary cause of the rebellion. Political doctors differ like any others.

DEATH.—About a week ago Thomas, fourth son of Mr. Thos. Pritchard, of Pilkington, was attacked by pneumonia, and after some days of intense suffering died about 10 a.m. yesterday. He was an industrious, sober and amiable young man, and his death, which is the first break in the family circle, is acutely felt by his relatives. He had reached his 25th year, and was, fortunately, still unmarried.

THE FALLS.—The scenery of the Grand River is beautiful at the present time, more attractive than in summer. The falls are nearly covered over with ice, and present a sight worth travelling miles to see.

CHAPTER II.

NW IMPRESSIONS.

They walked along almost in silence and all thinking of Helen. Moore was still occupied in arranging his new impressions. Dr. Hazlitt was thinking over the girl's position for the one hundred and fiftieth time, and wondering if there were no way of bettering it, feeling the while sorely grieved. Helen was also thinking of herself. She was feeling tired and depressed, as she always did after one of those fits of excitement and passion, and at the same time devoutly thankful that she had met Dr. Hazlitt. He had saved her from herself. She had gone out of doors with a vague intention of hiding herself in some secluded spot, and there crying herself back to peace. She hated crying. Whenever things at home went so badly that either from anger or a feeling of loneliness, she was moved to tears, she always, when the crisis was past, felt deeply ashamed of herself, and angry both with herself and circumstances for having lost her self-control.

On their way through the village they had to pass the doctor's house, and as they approached it they saw in the gathering dusk the figure of a man standing at the open house door. He appeared to be in eager conversation with the maidservant, and as they drew near they heard the words—

"Well, ask him to step round as soon as he comes in, for the man's fearful bad; the woman can do nothing with him."

"I am afraid that, after all, I shan't get my evening at The Thwaite, Helen," said the doctor, "Excuse me a moment while I go and see what is the matter."

He dropped her hand and went quickly forward, leaving Helen and Moore standing in the middle of the road.

He returned to them after a moment's parley with the man in the porch.

"I am sorry," speaking to Helen, "I shall have to leave you now. Moore, take Miss Lafone home. Good night, Helen. I will come to-morrow if I can."

He was gone, and the two others were again left, feeling a little disconcerted at this sudden revolution in their plans. Helen spoke first.

"Let us go on, Mr. Moore. I want to get home. I am very tired."

"I beg your pardon," said Moore, with real regret in his voice. "How could I be so thoughtless as to let you stand here? Lean on me," he finished impulsively, making a motion towards her.

She declined his help, but without either surprise or resentment at the offer of it, and when they had gone a little way in silence she spoke again.

"I think you and Dr. Hazlitt get on."

"Yes, he seems able to tolerate me; and I feel a due amount of elation at the thought, because I do not fancy that he takes people indiscriminatingly into his confidence."

"No, he is more popular among the poor than the rich. You cannot tell how good he is to them. Of course he never speaks of it, but they do. I do not know what wouldthey do if they had to get accustomed to another doctor."

"I hope it may be long before they will have to."

Just then they turned a corner in the road, and went in at a lodge gateway, and up a broad, even carriage road to a house standing at the end of it, and known as The Thwaite, residence of Frederic Lafone, Esq. It was a large, handsome, and entirely modern house, standing on high ground, and with no trees immediately surrounding it, though at a little distance the ground was well wooded. Though the house was well and handsomely built, with many flat plate glass windows, the effect of the whole was stiff and unpleasing. The grounds were kept in the most perfect order—nothing had been left to nature. The most insignificant flower bore signs of being under the care and control of man. Everything about the place gave evidence that it belonged to a wealthy man, and a man, moreover, neither possessed of originality nor sense of beauty. The garden was stiffly laid out and planted with the most fashionable bedding-out plants; the borders were irreproachably neat and trim—not a weed defiled the perfect order of the well rolled gravel paths. In the summer twilight all this was softened down and the house itself looked less distinctively belonging to the nineteenth century. The door stood open, but all the windows on the ground floor were closed. The green venetian blinds of two were drawn down, and from behind their shade came gleams of yellow gas light. Helen shrugged her shoulders as she looked towards these two windows, and said—

"Did it ever strike you that this house and the people who live in it are exactly alike?"

"I thought we were always allowed to form some idea of people's character by the kind of house they live in.'

"Not by the outside as a rule, because so many people have to live in such houses as they can get. But my grandfather built this house; papa saw nothing which needed improvement when he came into possession of it, and both outside and inside it is just like the people who live in it."

"Now, I expect you to tell me what it is like," he said laughing.

"Expensive and handsome and commonplace. See how they light the gas, and crowd into the house on a perfect summer evening. It is just like them."

"I suppose they like it. Why wish to interfere with their liberty."

"I am perfectly willing to respect it, if they will also respect mine," was her answer, and there was some bitterness in her tone.

Moore said nothing. He did not know what Helen and the doctor had been talking about, only he had a vague idea that she had been in trouble that evening, and that further disaster was hanging over her head.

She did not speak again until they were inside the house, and then, as they paused in the hall to lay aside their hats, she said,

"Mr. Moore, I am going to ask you to do me a favour."

"I shall be very happy to do whatever I can for you."

She frowned as he spoke, and then said—

"Why do you speak in that exaggerated way? I thought you always said what you meant."

"I certainly do in this case; but what made you give me credit for sincerity?"

"I thought your words and actions seemed generally to go together."

"Still, I must repeat what I said before. I shall be very happy to do anything for you, if you will tell me what it is."

"I want you not to come into the drawing-room with me now."

Though he had a very clear idea of why she asked, he was stupid enough to say—

"Certainly; why?"

She looked a little surprised, but smiled as she answered—

"Because I have something to tell papa which I would rather you did not hear. Remarks will probably be made, and I would rather they came to-night than to-morrow."

"I beg your pardon; how could I ask such a stupid question?"

"Stupid, you mean, because my reason was so very apparent without being asked for."

She laughed as she spoke, and he saw that in the few moments since they entered the house her face had undergone a great change. Before that she had been looking subdued and depressed, now her eyes were bright, and her cheeks flushed a deep, soft crimson. She carried her head erect, and her whole bearing was full of spirit.

"She is getting up her courage for the encounter," he thought; "she is going to carry things off with a high hand."

"If you would not mind going into the billiard room," she went on, "I will come and tell you when you can come in."

"Do not take so much trouble for me. I daresay I can guess."

"It is no trouble. I shall probably go upstairs when it is over, and I pass the billiard room on my way."

They parted, and Helen went into the drawing-room. Her heart was beating a little faster than usual, but she looked perfectly careless as she came forward, twisting between her fingers a spray of clematis which she had plucked when she stood by the doctor's house.

Poultry Association.

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Poultry Association was held on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Thos. Gowdy, President, occupied the chair. Among those present were:—J. B. Johnston, Toronto; R. Elliott, Listowel; W. H. Doel, Toronto; W. Barber, Toronto; Thos. Hall, Ottawa; N. Jeffrey, Guelph; J. H. Cayford, Montreal; J. B. Lang, Guelph; A. J. Wilson, Seaforth; C. E. Iveson, Toronto; E. Harrington, Woodstock; Hockin Bros., Guelph; Richard Oke, London; Geo. Bartlett, London West; Wm. Moore, London; C. E. Grundy, Camlachie; L. V. Ludwig, London; Robt. McLurdy, London; W. M. Smith, Fairfield Plains; J. O. Weldon, Tempo; A. R. Narraway, Brantford; Geo. Bruce, Guelph; H. S. McDonald, Mansewood, Halton; R. Mackay, Hamilton; S. Butterfield, Amherstburg; A. Bogue, London; W. McNeil, London; Wm. Sunley, Guelph; J. Philpotts, T. M. Goffatt, Orillia; Thomas M. Hawkin, Guelph.

Mr. Geo. Murton, Secretary, read the following report:—

The Directors of the Ontario Poultry Association at this their annual exhibition deem it their duty to make a short report of the proceedings for the past year, and also a synopsis of the present exhibit.

It will be remembered that at the exhibition held in Brantford in 1882, the receipts fell short of the expenditure to such an extent that due bills were given to some of the exhibitors for part of their prize money. The exhibition was then taken to Toronto, in hopes that more interest would be taken in the Association, and thereby enable the Society to pay off some of the liabilities, but instead of that being accomplished the Association got further into debt, and at the annual meeting in 1884, it was decided by a vote to take the show for 1885 to Guelph, Mr. Gowdy being elected President, but before accepting office he made it distinctly understood that the Directors, "nor the Association" would be answerable for any old debts until a sufficient surplus was obtained or some arrangement come to, but not to report that a summons was issued against the Secretary-Treasurer for the amount due McGremey & Pugsley for the amount of their due bills, amounting to $49.40 with interest, and at the meeting held in Toronto last September it was decided to instruct the Secretary to defend the suit. This he did, but the case was given against the Society, and the costs on the suit, amounted to $10 for lawyers fees and the Secretary's expenses of $5. Since then we are given to understand an execution has been issued and we now ask for instructions as to what we are to do in the matter.

You are all aware of the discussion that took place in the different poultry journals as to the system of judging, and as a large number seemed to be in favour of having it done by scoring, the President and Directors thought it best in the interest of the Association, to issue a circular to all breeders asking for an expression of opinion on the disputed question, which we suppose you all received. The answers we received fully justified us in deciding to have the present exhibition judged in that way, and we hope the action we took will meet with your approval.

We wish to bring before the meeting the propriety of memorializing the Provincial Parliament to continue the grant to the Agricultural and Arts Association, as we are convinced it is and has been the means of advancing the agricultural interest of the Dominion.

We have again to acknowledge the handsome list of specials contributed by our friends in London, and to return them our sincere thanks for their liberality, and also to those gentlemen from Toronto who did the same.

We will now pass in review some of the more prominent features of the present exhibit, and in doing so must begin with the Light Brahmas. In this class a great improvement is manifest, for all will agree that never has such a lot of first class birds been seen at any Exhibition in the Dominion. Even all are of such excellence it is hard to distinguish, but we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing our pleasure at seeing among the exhibitors in this class some of our fellow fanciers of Montreal, and the exhibit they make does them very great credit. The principal exhibitor from our sister Province is Mr. Hall.

The Dark Brahmas do not present so fine an appearance, and the number of entries are less than last year, but there are some very fine birds in the class.

The Cochins are not up to the usual standard of Asiatics, being few in number and not so fine as we are in the habit of seeing at our Exhibitions.

Plymouth Rocks, as usual, make a great display, and carried the honours as to numbers with the Light Brahmas. The exhibit of this class is on the increase, and seem to be steadily gaining in favour. Many first class birds are on exhibition, and reflect great credit on the breeders for bringing them up to the present standard of excellence.

Leghorns are also a large class, and some very fine birds are shown, white, brown and black, each having their advocates.

Polands are in large numbers. The B. W. Crested seems to be the favourite, but there are a large number of first class birds among the other varieties.

Black Spanish are not largely exhibited, but some fine birds are in the coops. This breed, we think, would have more admirers if they were not so liable to get frost bitten. They lay a large egg, and are not such persistent setters as some other varieties.

Hamburgs make a grand display in their several classes, and are a very attractive fowl, the G. S. being one of the handsomest of the galinaceous fowls, and their admirers claim that they are first-rate layers.

There is a large display of Games of all descriptions, but the Black B. Red seems to be held in the highest estimation by most fanciers.

Dorkings are rather few in number, but make up in quality. This breed used to be considered in England the best table fowls, and even now it holds a first place in most people's estimation for that purpose.

Wyandottes are not extensively exhibited, not having been long a recognized breed, but what are shown are very fine, and are certainly a handsome fowl, and in time no doubt will make a display in the show room.

Langshans also, although few in number are by no means deficient in attraction, with their large size and beautiful metalic black plumage.

In the class for any other variety of fowls are some new varieties, at least we do not hear much of them at the different exhibitions. These are the Black Minorcas and Black Javs, both fine specimens of the fowl tribes.

There is quite a display of Bantams, these like the larger species have their patrons, and are held in high estimation by them, if we may judge from the prices put upon some specimens.

Turkeys, geese and ducks are very good, but not so many of them shown as we have seen. In these classes we miss the exhibit of such breeders as Bussel, Smith, etc., etc., but we hope in future to see a much larger display.

There is a large and handsome display of pigeons, but we would like to see more competition, as they are shown by few exhibitors.

Mr Gowdy congratulated the Association on the success of the show. Exhibits had come from as far east as Montreal and as far west as the lakes. He had been entrusted to perform a very pleasing duty, which was the presentation of a gold-headed ebony cane to Mr Butterfield, from the poultry breeders and fanciers of the Association. Mr Butterfield he thought deserved this acknowledgment at the hands of the Association for the work he had done and the interest he had always taken in poultry matters. He hoped that he would still continue to display the same zeal as heretofore, not only for the interest of the Association, but also in advancing and improving the various breeds of poultry.

Mr. Butterfield made a happy reply, cordially thanking the members of the Association for their handsome gift, which was altogether unexpected and unlooked for on his part. Often in judging he may have given offence, but he always awarded the honors to the birds which he considered, as far as his judgment went, to be the best.

Mr. H. Doel took the President by surprise. After lauding the merits of Mr. Butterfield, he suddenly broke off, and in a few pertinent remarks presented Mr. Gowdy with a gold-headed ebony cane on behalf of the Ontario Poultry Association, at the same time paying Mr. Gowdy a very high compliment for the interest which he had always taken in poultry matters.

Mr. Gowdy made a brief reply. The presentation was an unexpected one to him, and he did not think that he deserved it. He had always striven to do everything possible to advance the interests of the poultry breeders in Ontario, without looking for any reward beyond doing what he considered his duty.

Moved by A. Bogue, seconded by R. Elliott, that the next meeting of the Association be held in the City Hall, London. Carried.

The following officers were then elected:

President, A. Bogue, London.

1st Vice-President, W. H. Doel, Toronto.

2nd Vice-President, McLelland, Peterboro'.

Directors—London, McNeil, Moore and Oke; Ottawa, T. A. Willets; Hamilton, McKay; Guelph, J. Crowe; Listowel, R. Elliott; Fairfield Plains, W. M. Smith; Amherstburg, S. Butterfield.

Auditors—Messrs. J. B. Smyth and Dr. McArthur, London.

Messrs. Barber and Donavan were appointed delegates to the Industrial Exhibition.

Moved by Wm. Doel, seconded by Wm. Moore, that the President and Treasurer be empowered by the Association to discount a note at a bank for $600, for paying the prizes for this present year—the amount of the Government grant. Carried.

Votes of thanks were then tendered to the officers of the Association, especially the Secretary, for the efficient manner in which they had discharged their duties and to the City Council for granting the use of the Drill Shed for the Show. These resolutions were suitably acknowledged by Mr Murton, Secretary, on his own behalf, and Mr Gowdy on behalf of the Corporation.

Messrs. Doel, Bogue, Elliott, Gowdy, Murton, and Narraway were appointed a committee to draft a resolution to the Ontario Government in accordance with a paragraph in the report.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the Directors afterwards N. R. Garner, London, was appointed Secretary and W. Moore, London, Treasurer of the Association, for the ensuing year.

In the evening there was a very poor attendance. Below will be found the names of many of the principal local exhibitors, the names of the chief outside ones having already appeared: Geo. R. Bruce, Minorcas, Plymouth Rock and pigeons; H. Cull, Black Sumatras and Black Javas; C. E. Grundy, Light Brahmas, Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes; J. W. Tyson, Plymouth Rocks; J. D. Robertson, Black and Mottled Javas; E. McKenna, African Bantams; J. B. Laing, White Leghorns; J. D. Johnston, Leghorns; Jas. Anderson, turkeys and geese, different kinds; H. Sallows, Black Red Games; J. W. Colson, Brown Leghorns; A. Fitzgerald, Games; Geo. Chamberlain, Games; Robt. Howard, Games, Black Reds and Brown Red Duckwings and other breeds; James Phillpotts, Pyle Games; Richard Crowe Pyle Games; Jas. Chamberlain, Pyle Game and Spangles; W. A. Suddaby, Pyle Game and Grey Tartans. In Plymouth Rocks there is a splendid show, William Sunley has ten entries, J. W. Tyson, two coops Geo. Bruce, three, together with a number of other local breeders. The judges have not as yet completed their duties and according to the rules, no tickets are placed on the coops till after they are judged, consequently a number of the exhibitors cannot be ascertained. The prize list will most likely be completed to night and a portion of it will be published tomorrow, when full particulars as regards the successful competitors will be gleaned.

NOTES.

Mr. R. Howard sold his brown red game hen, which took the medal, to Mr. W. Barber, of Toronto. This bird is one of the finest that has ever been shown at a poultry exhibition. She scored 99 points out of a possible 100. This is as near perfection as can be got. Mr. Howard deserves credit for raising such fine birds.

Mr. F. Sturdy, a former well-known poultry fancier, secured from Mr. Hall, of Montreal, a cock, cockerel and two light Brahma pullets. They are beautiful birds and took first honours.

No Irish Legislation Probable This Session.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Duke of Westminster, in a speech at Chester, said he deplored the fact that Parnell had deluded Ireland. The British right arm was still powerful, and England would never grant Home Rule to Ireland.

The Irish Local Government bill will be delayed until the English bill is settled. Although promised in the Queen's Speech, the Irish matters may not appear during this session of Parliament. The Parnellites are not eager to force the Government to declare its Irish policy. Mr. Gladstone and Lord Hartington, it is said, disagree as to the Home Rule platform, and the Duke of Devonshire is urging Lord Hartington to an open rupture with the ex-Premier.

Wm. E. Leckey, the historian has written a letter on the Irish question in which he declares that any English statesman who advocates handing over the property of the Government in Ireland to the Parnellites is either a traitor or a fool. To set up an Irish parliament he thinks would be an act of fatuity and wickedness unparalleled even in Irish history. What Ireland needs, he says, is the restoration of the liberty of the people to pursue their lawful business and fulfil their lawful contracts. Unless the law of the empire be restored in Ireland he says industrial ruin is inevitable and will be followed by anarchy which can only be quelled by the sword.

Cheeky Little Greece.

ATHENS, Jan. 13.—The ministry is preparing a note to the powers in reply to the demand that Greece disband her forces. The note will say that it is impossible for Greece to disarm unless she is guaranteed an extention of territory as an offset to the union of the Bulgarias.

The Regular Cry

FOR BOOTS AND SHOES

IS

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.35; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.65, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes, $1.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

We lead in selling Cheap at the Checkered Store.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

Local News

THE curling rink will be opened tonight.

A SOCIAL dance will be held at Matthew's Centre Inn, Eramosa, on the 26th inst.

THE market this morning principally consisted of hogs and hay, with a fair offering of grain of various kinds.

ARRANGEMENTS are on foot for having a curling match between Georgetown and Walkerton here on Friday.

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere Mr W. M. Hepburn & Co. have bought out Dempsey & Chamberlain's boot and shoe business.

WM. BUSKIN, formerly of the firm of Wilson & Buskin, has opened a blacksmithshop on Perth street, near the Eramosa Bridge.

THE SPEED RINK.—The first carnival of the season will take place this evening on the Speed Rink. The ice is in first class condition and everything augurs well for its success. The two mile race for the Stirton medal will be one of the special attractions.

A BROKEN WHEEL.—This morning W. J. Fairbanks' butcher waggon came to grief descending the Eramosa hill. One of the wheels broke down when the horse freed itself from the conveyance and made for the stable, leaving all the harness with the exception of the collar. The driver escaped unhurt, and no damage of any account was done.

"SETTING 'EM UP FOR THE BOYS."—The Mayor of St. Thomas has had an experience that should prove a warning to civil authorities generally. At the close of the Northwest rebellion, the body of a St. Thomas volunteer who had been killed in action was taken to that city for burial. There was a great outburst of patriotism over the mournful event, and the volunteers flocked to the funeral from all over the surrounding counties. The visitors were entertained to luncheon, but some of the aldermen did not think this enough; they impressed the Mayor with the propriety of 'standing the drinks for the boys,' and accordingly the order was given to the hotel keeper to open his bar and supply the wants of all comers, charging the bill to the corporation. This method of expending public money was very properly resented by a number of the aldermen, who had not been consulted on the subject, and who took the ground that the act was illegal. The account remained unpaid until the other day, when the mayor sent his private cheque for $85 to the hotelkeeper. This pays for 1,700 drinks; it will be some time before a St. Thomas mayor again "sets 'em up" for the boys on the assumption that the taxes can be used to defray the cost.

PERSONAL.—It is always interesting to know the best place where to get our wants supplied. In response to the question, where to get the best value in Dry Goods, Furs, Mantles, Millinery, etc., we say, without hesitation, go direct to A. J. Little & Co., 77 Upper Wyndham street, where they are now taking stock, and Mr. Little tells us they will, during the month of January, sell goods regardless of profit. A word to the wise is sufficient. d3.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

A Galt Man Attacks His Wife With an Axe.

SHE WILL PROBABLY DIE.

(Special to the Mercury.)

GALT, Jan. 15.—Lachlan McDonald, aged about forty years, was arrested at his house here yesterday evening on a charge of attempting to kill his wife. McDonald, his wife, and three men in the house at the same time, had some disagreement, and during the progress of the quarrel McDonald seized an axe and struck Mrs. McDonald a blow on the back, just under the right shoulder blade, inflicting a wound about five inches deep and the same in width. Mrs. McDonald is still alive but very low.

SOME men are like eggs. You can't tell whether they are good or bad untill they are broke.

SPLENDID winter weather at present and good wheeling, yet sleighing is badly needed and anxiously looked for.

THE annual meeting of the West Wellington Agricultural Society will be held at the Royal Hotel, Harriston, on Wednesday, January 20th at the hour of 1 o'clock p. m.

IT is understood that all the grocery stores on Wyndham street and the principal ones throughout the city will close at six o'clock after Monday. This rule will be observed until the first of March.

SOME people are not endowed with the faculty of seeing a joke. Lord Morpeth used to tell of a Scotch friend of his who, to the remark that some people could not feel a jest unless it was fired at them with a cannon replied: "Well, but hoo can ye fire a jest out of a cannon, mon?"

IN leap year Japanese girls who want husbands set out flower pots on the front portico as an emblem. It is lucky the custom hasn't been introduced into this country. The pottery business would boom of course, but every house that shelters an unmarried girl would look so much like a conservatory that the cats couldn't find room to step.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—Chas. E. S. Black, Hamilton, assistant weights and measures inspector, and a former resident of this county, was in the city to-day in connection with having H. Elmslie's scales adjusted after the recent fire in his grain store. About two weeks from hence he will inspect all the weights and measures in the city. It is two years since this was done.

REBECCA DEGREE.—All arrangements have been made by the Oddfellows here for the reception of N. H. Martin, G. M., Chatham, who is expected to arrive here on Wednesday, the 20th, to institute a Rebecca Degree Lodge. A reception will be held in the lodge room in the evening, when Bro. Donogh, D. G. M., and Broking, G. Sec., will be present.

POLICE COURT.—MRS. Deacken appeared this morning upon a charge of larceny of a number of articles including a watch from Mr. McKerzie. It appeared upon explanation that she had claimed the articles as her own and that McKerzie had given them to her for services rendered in keeping house for him and the Magistrate dismissed the case, holding that she was not under the circumstances in any way criminally liable.

"THE MEN OF THE WAR."—The London Advertiser thus speaks of the Rev. Mr. Ball's lecture, entitled "The Men of the War and how they Fought," which will be delivered in Knox church here, on Monday:—"It was a graphic and exceedingly entertaining lecture. The incidents and experiences of the expedition were well told, and his descriptions of halfbreeds, Indians, volunteers, teamsters and other characters, together with scalping and shooting expeditions, were in turn racy, humorous, and startling. The effort was in every way a popular one, and was enjoyed by a large audience."

CURLING.—There was quite an interesting and friendly game of curling on the rink yesterday afternoon, and it occurred in this way. A. Bruce's rink lost the first game for the Gow cup and rink medal with R. Mitchell's rink, and Geo. Howard, who was A. Bruce's third man, desired satisfaction to see whether it was himself or the skip that lost this all important match. The game was only a scrub one, and the following is the score:

W. Watson,	M. Jones,
W. Russell,	H. Walker,
A. Congalton,	R. Mitchell,
A. Bruce, skip..21	Geo. Howard, skip..9

COFFEE SOCIAL.—The social given in the lecture room of the Norfolk street Methodist Church under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society last evening was finely attended. A long table laden with refreshments gave evidence of the hospitality and kindly care of the ladies, and was fully appreciated. A choice programme of music from the choir, Mrs. Savage, Misses Stevenson, Schofield, Patterson, and Mr. E. H. Hutton, with speeches by Rev. Dr. Griffin and the chairman, Rev. J. W. Holmes, and an excellent reading from Miss Smith completed the evening's entertainment. The Ladies Aid Society are meeting with much success in the financial work they have undertaken, and are very much gratified with the amount of collections made thus far.

THE LAST ACT.—The Galt Reformer says:—The final act in the comedy was played on Monday night, when Mr. Thos. Cowan moved and Mr. Adam Cranston seconded a vote of thanks to Mayor Scott for the "able and impartial manner in which he had presided over the deliberations of the council," &c. Considering that according to Mr. Cowan's statement at the nomination it took him all his time to keep His Worship right, the vote of thanks is flattering to Mr. Cowan as the Mayor's keeper! In some other respects, however, the vote is a crusher to its mover. There are two horns to the dilemma, either of which would be very uncomfortable for Mr. Cowan to sit upon. Some people might insinuate insincerity and hypocrisy. But these are harsh terms. It was simply the closing act of a little comedy, entitled, "Eating Crow." And it was very well rendered, too.

THE LONDON BANQUET.

Ovation to Canada's Future Premier.

MR. BLAKE'S GRAND SPEECH.

He Deals with the Riel Question as a Statesman Should.

And Reviews the Seven Years' Blundering of the Government.

The long looked for speech from Mr. Blake has been heard at last. The banquet given to him at London on Thursday evening, was an unbounded success, and a grand tribute to a worthy object. About 4,000 people were present, and hundreds failed to secure admission. Mr. Blake made one of the finest speeches he ever made, and dealt with the affairs of Canada not as a disciple of political exigencies might, but as a statesman whose views could take in the past and the future, the weal and the woe of the country. Of course, all eyes have been turned on Mr. Blake to learn his views of the recent emeute among the Bleus over Riel's fate, and his friends have not been disappointed with his treatment of that matter, although those who hoped to see him foolishly accept their defiance, and aid them in creating a race war must be immeasurably disappointed.

Before touching on that topic, however, Mr. Blake made a powerful speech, in which he dealt severe blows to the Government's fiscal and financial policy, with its very disappointing results, the fisheries matter and reciprocity blunders; the exodus under the N. P.; the costly and useless High Commissioner, and the Government's abuse of the Senate. The new election laws, Gerrymander and Franchise Acts were scathingly satirised as well as the whole humiliating conduct of the Government in regard to the C.P.R. The North-West policy, with its many crooked transactions, was passed in review, and the grasping centralizing actions of the Government in its attempted seizure of Provincial rights eloquently exposed. A rapid resume of the events leading up to the North-west rebellion, the carelessness and apathy of the Government leaking to an outbreak for which, had they attended to their duties, there would have been no cause, led him to the concluding and most important part of his address, namely, which, with its results in Quebec, makes it the most prominent feature in politics at the present time. On this subject Mr. Blake's remarks are reprinted in full. He said:—

An effort has been made, for obvious political purposes, to colour the character and exaggerate the import of the agitation on this subject. Some Quebec supporters of the Government have, in common with some of its Quebec opponents, denounced its action in very strong language, and words have been used, suggestions have been made, things have been done, which do not commend themselves to my judgment. On the other hand, the most violent language has been used in the Ontario Ministerial organ; the movement as a whole has, in my view, been misrepresented, and a deliberate design is apparent on the part of the Ontario Tories to create and intensify and to obscure by this means all the real issues between parties in order to raise an issue false in itself, and which, handled as proposed by the Ministerial press, would imperil the future of our country. (Hear.)

It is quite certain that this question must, and most desirable that it should, be shortly debated in Parliament; and that those who challenge the conduct of the Government should tender a definite issue. This I hold, though I entertain very strong opinions as to the reserve which should attend criticisms on the exercise in ordinary cases of

THE PREROGATIVE OF MERCY.

As Minister of Justice I have had to advise in many capital cases; and I do not forget the heavy responsibility which rests on those in whose hands are the issues of life and death, and whose task is rendered all the more difficult by reason of the large measure of discretion vested in them, and expressed in the word "clemency." I know how much these difficulties are enhanced by heated partisan and popular discussion, in which distorted views and an imperfect appreciation of facts are likely to prevail. I have been falsely and wantonly accused of selling the prerogative for personal and for political gain. I deprecated then, as I would deprecate now, such attacks on Ministers unless made with good and sufficient reason. So delicate in my opinion is the exercise of this prerogative that, while I have sometimes been unable to reconcile my judgment to that of the present ministers in capital cases, I have felt it the lesser evil on the whole to be silent than to raise a debate; and I can readily conceive, in fact I have known of cases in which, though I might differ from the conclusion of the Ministers, I should refuse to censure them for honestly taking a line which I could not follow.

AN UNQUESTIONABLE RIGHT.

But we must be guided in each case by its own circumstances. The right of discussion, of advice, of censure, has been denied by a leading Ministerial organ. Yet it is unquestionable. (Hear.) Ministers are responsible in this as in all other cases. I was myself instrumental in procuring the reform which made this sure; and the rights which I helped to secure for my country I will help to maintain. (Hear.) But I declare that the occasion must be grave which renders discussion opportune, and the case clear which renders censure expedient. Why then do I hold that this is plainly a case for Parliamentary discussion? For several reasons.

Because the trial is for an extraordinary political offence, a great agitation has supervened, and various questions have been raised which cannot be disposed of save after full debate in Parliament. (Hear.)

Because some prominent supporters of the Government have declared that they have been misled, deceived, and betrayed by the Government; and this charge must be invested. (Hear.)

Because these men also declare that Government acted, not on principle, but on party considerations, to punish an old offence, and to gratify the hate of a section of their supporters; a statement which demands enquiry. (Hear.)

Because unhappily at an early day, and before the trial, the Government, declining the high position of neutrality and indifference, which, as the representatives of public justice, public mercy, and public policy they should have maintained, declared that the charge that I preferred against them, of neglect, delay, and mismanagement in Northwest affairs was the defence of their prisoners; thus making themselves substantially private parties to the cause, and in effect resting their defence on the others' condemnation. (Hear.)

I have always held that both parties might be deeply guilty—Government for neglect, delay and mismanagement; and the insurgents for rising in the rebellion—always a grave offence against the State, and in this case aggravated by the incitements to the Indians to revolt. But Government identified their acquittal with the prisoner's conviction, and thus disqualified themselves for just judgment. (Hear.)

For these and other reasons I deprecate any attempt to evade or delay the Parliamentary discussion, and I am ready to facilitate so far as I can the ventilation of the whole question, including the sentences of imprisonment, as to which I may be allowed to express the hope that Government will without delay deal with those sentences in a large and merciful spirit. (Cheers.)

CHARACTER OF THE DISCUSSION.

But while I am of this opinion, I hold strong views as to the character of the discussion. Much has been said of the conduct of the French Canadians in raising this question, and a wicked attempt has been made, taking advantage of some too hot and intemperate phrases, to arouse prejudices of race and creed against them because they have shown specially warm feelings in this matter.

It is true that we Canadians are in a political sense, one people. I could wish that, without obliterating race predilections, there were among us greater unity and love as fellow Canadians. To that end I have laboured in my humble way; and not long since, when defending those of another race and creed than mine against what I believe to be unjust aspersions, I pointed out the true path of duty in a community of divers races and creeds like ours; where we must combine firmness in the assertion of our own rights with fulness in the recognition of the rights of others, we must cultivate moderation and forbearance, we must hold to the ample acknowledgment of each man's individual rights of conscience in religious matters, and to common citizenship of all in civil affairs if we would make of Canada a great and free country inhabited by a happy and united people. (Cheers.)

however, exist, and will have their effect. It is natural that those of us who are of one Province or of one blood should feel more warmly than the rest in the cause of men of our own Province or origin. Blood is thicker than water.

The condition I affix is this, that they should found their appeal on the great principles of justice, mercy, and policy applicable to all alike, and should demand no special favours by reason of Province, race, or creed.

Those of us who belong to other races or Provinces have our duty too—to make ample allowance for warmth of utterance and hasty phrase; to calm rather than to excite race prejudice; and to decide on broad and general, just and generous views, such as we would wish applied to ourselves. Let us do unto others as we would they should do unto us. (Cheers.)

RACE AND CREED IN POLITICS.

As to the union for political purposes of one race or creed, irrespective of political principles, I am not now to speak for the first time my mind. In 1871, when expressing the strong views I felt and feel on the subject of the murder of Scott, I deprecated any attempt to decide the question on the ground of nationality or religion. In 1877, when protesting against some ill advised pretentions on the subject of undue influence, I declared that I should struggle to preserve, so far as my feeble powers might permit, to each one of my fellow-countrymen, whatever his creed, the same full and ample measure of civil freedom which he now enjoys under those laws which enable him and me, though we may be of diverse faiths, to meet on the same platform, and to differ or agree according to our own political convictions and not according to our religious faith, or the dictation of any other man lay or clerical. (Cheers.) And during the last few years I have more than once warned my fellow-countrymen of an insidious attempt which has been made to effect a so called political union of all the Frenchmen throughout Canada in the interest of

THE QUEBEC TORY LEADERS.

I have pointed out that this was an unpatriotic step, fraught with danger to the Dominion, and with special danger to those who, being the minority, were asked to work together as a unit, apart from the questions of opinion. But no encouragement was given by the Tories of the other Provinces to these views. It was all right for Messrs. Langevin & Co. to counsel such a union, substantially in the Tory interest. But when there is a breach in the Quebec Tory ranks the cry of danger to the State at once fills the air! (Laughter.) A united French population, united in the Tory interest, would be a public blessing! (Laughter.) A more equally divided French population, since it would weaken the Tory interest, is a public danger! (Loud laughter.) I say a more equally divided French population, for it is not my judgment that the French Canadians are a unit on this question. (Hear.) For the same base party purpose of promoting race prejudice, and giving ground for the cry of English against French, they are so represented by the Ministerial press. But I believe this to be but a dodge, and that there is amongst them, as among the other races, some division of opinion. So may it be. Let us unite and divide, I say once more, on grounds of reason, argument and opinion, and not race or creed. (Cheers.)

THE COMING DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT.

I hope and trust that, the excitement having somewhat abated, the further discussion in the press and among the people may be more tranquil, that rash and hasty language may be avoided, and that when we meet in Parliament we may engage in debate in a temper and after a fashion suitable to our national dignity and regardful of our national unity. Hear.)

Now, on what lines are we to deal with this question in Parliament? Those of us who have not engaged in the preliminary discussion—who are free and unfettered, to whom it is open, unembarrassed by any prior and premature declarations to reach unbiased conclusions—have, I conceive, very special duties.

We are to help to obtain information on all points now obscure; we are to listen to the arguments of those who have taken sides; we are to consider of the whole case when presented; and we are to strive for the formation of a just and statesman-like judgment by the House of Commons. (Hear.)

We must endeavour to eliminate, as factors in the decision, race and creed; and cause the Commons of Canada to speak with a voice and in a sense which posterity, after these heats have cooled and these mists have cleared, shall ratify and confirm. (Hear.)

NOT A PARTY QUESTION.

I believe we cannot, if we would, make of this a party question. (Hear.) After full reflection, I do not entertain that desire; but were it otherwise I doubt that the result could be accomplished. I exercise no compulsive or constraining force over the opinions of the Liberal party on this or any other question; and I entertain the impression, that with us, as with the Tories, there are differences of opinion in the ranks not likely to be composed, and which I, at any rate, shall make no endeavour to control to a party end. For after all, though at first blush one may regret party divisions, yet am I glad in this case of this condition.

For the reasons I have given, I do not desire a party conflict on the Regina tragedy; I do not propose to construct a political platform out of the Regina scaffold; or to create or cement party ties with the blood of the condemned. To apply words I have already quoted elsewhere, in another sense, I do not care

"To attempt the Future's portals with the Past's blood-rusted key."

(Cheers.) Now, as you know, I have been absent from Canada for some months; but, since, my return, I have read with care such papers as I could find. While these have produced impressions on my mind on the material issues, I have been clearly led to the conclusion that on some points is not before us. (Hear.) I think we require an authentic copy of the evidence and proceedings at the trial, and also of the papers found at Batoche, the production of which was refused by the Government, but which Parliament should see, the rather that a Minister has lately made public one of these papers of great importance as affecting Riel's position, and tending to contradict the allegation that he had himself procured the invitation to come into the North-West. (Hear.) I think we require explanations as to why, if it was intended to execute the sentence, Riel was not put on trial for murder instead of for high treason. (Hear.) Was it because it was thought inconsistent with General Middleton's letter to try him for anything save for a political offence? (Hear.) And it is proper also that we should know more of the circumstances connected with that letter so as to judge of the weight to be attached to it. (Hear.)

AS TO THE TRIAL ITSELF,

it must be confessed that the arrangements for the administration of justice, originally of necessity rude and primitive, had become by time less applicable to the circumstances of the country; and were not well suited to the trial of such a case as Riel's. (Hear.) The independence of the judiciary and its high standing in fact and in public estimation are of the first importance; and in a political case, in which the Government has taken sides, this is brought home to the meanest comprehension. But the judges of the North-west hold offices not like the superior judges of the older Provinces, during good behaviour, but at the pleasure of the Government, on which they are thus in some sort dependant: (Hear.) Besides, they are also political personages as members of the North West Council, and thus less fitted for political trials. (Hear.) I regret that the course of legislation has been rather in the direction of reducing than of increasing the securities in these cases. By the Act of 1880 the presence of two magistrates besides the stipendiary in capital cases, theretofore necessary, was dispensed with, one only being made sufficient.

But I do not see that the Government is censurable for having tried the prisoner before the tribunal provided by the standing laws, though I may regret that those laws did not provide a more satisfactory tribunal. And it is always to be remembered that the special provision requiring the decision of the Executive before the execution, and the attendant responsibility of Government, have been retained. (Hear.)

The choice of the judge is another matter. If I rightly understand, Mr. Richardson, besides being a magistrate and a member of the North-west Council, was the paid legal adviser, the political law officer, so to speak, of the Executive of the North west; and I think explanations are required of such a choice for such a trial. (Hear.)

Something I had intended to say as to the panel; but, on reflection, in the absence of knowledge on the material point, I think it better not to suggest in this respect a hypothetical criticism, and therefore I abstain.

I think it right to say that, in my opinion, Government acted in a very proper spirit in providing for the attendance of the prisoners witnesses; and that, from what I know of their leading council, I should think it impossible that in their management of the case there was anything unfair to the prisoner, or derogatory to the high character they deservedly enjoy, or the responsible duties they undertook to perform. (Hear.)

I am not applying, then, any present doubt as to the justice of the trial. For all my enquiries, it may have been perfectly just. Besides justice in fact, the creation of a feeling of public confidence, of a general impression that all was fair, and that every security was taken for fairness, is important, and in that view of the duties of the authorities I think these questions should be examined. (Hear.)

THE WITHHELD AND SUPPRESSED DOCUMENTS WANTED.

Again, we should have before us all the withheld and suppressed documents as to the neglect, delay and mismanagement of the Government; not, I repeat, as justifying rebellion, but as added proofs that Government gave the occasion and opportunity to raise rebellion by means of the feeling evoked and the materials and chances afforded through their misconduct. (Hear.)

Look at Bishop Grandin's letters, lately published. Look at Colonel Houghton's report, still suppressed. Look at the mass of papers still confessedly withheld. (Hear.)

The Government, in its Memorandum, says that it will not now enter into this part of the case—it is reserved for Parliament. Be it so; the issue is then deferred. But we must have the evidence. And these papers may have an important bearing on the propriety of the decision, and on the question whether these were the men who should have reached that decision.

I think we should have the evidence on which Government has charged the whites of Prince Albert with being guilty—more guilty than the Metis. If so, they should be exposed. Indians and Halfbreeds should not bear the brunt while guiltier whites go free; and the relation of these whites to Riel may have a serious bearing on his case. (Hear.)

We should have further information as to Riel's demands for money. As Government states the case, his attitude was base and venal; and a strong impression has naturally been produced. But the statement is involved in contradictions, for I find in the memorandum the following extract from the evidence:

He (Riel) said also that if he got the money he would go to the United States and start a paper, and raise the other nationalities in the States. He said, "Before the grass is that high in this country you will see foreign armies in this country. He said, "I will commence by destroying Manitoba, and then I will come and destroy the Northwest and take possession of the Northwest."

Now, however wicked, absurd, or indicative of a disordered mind may have been these words addressed to the man he was soliciting, they are inconsistent with venality. More light is wanted here. (Hear.)

OTHER PARTS OF THE CASE.

I now come to some of the most interesting parts of the case. The question of Riel's mental condition is one to which I am at present disposed to attach greater importance than, as I judge, does the general public. (Hear.) But I think all will agree that we are clearly entitled to have before us, besides the papers, the instructions to and reports of the so-called Medical Commission, which is referred to by the Government. You will remember the conflicting rumours as to the character and results of the enquiry. Though there is much on which we can and ought to reach conclusions independent of the medical testimony, yet this is a part of the

Guelph Daily Mercury

FRIDAY EVE'G, JAN. 15, 1886.

CENTRE RIDING OF WELLINGTON.

Reform Convention.

DR. WALLACE OF ALMA NOMINATED!

Most Harmonious Meeting.

The Reform Convention for the Centre Riding of Wellington was held in Argo's Hall, Fergus, on Thursday, the 14th. The meeting was called for two o'clock, and shortly after that hour there was a large attendance of delegates, those appointed at the several meetings held throughout the riding being nearly all present. There were unfortunately no delegates present from East Garafraxa and Orangeville, owing to the fair being held in the latter place on the day of meeting, but it was understood that the Reformers in these two municipalities would heartily agree in any nomination that was made by the Convention. There was also a good attendance of the Reformers in and about Fergus, who came to the meeting to manifest their interest in the proceedings. Mr. Harvey Cull, President of the Reform Association, occupied the chair, and Mr. John Craig acted as Secretary.

The President in opening the proceedings expressed the pleasure he felt in seeing so many present, which was a good proof of the great interest they felt in the business which had called them together to day. It would be for them to decide whether they should make a nomination to-day or not. He was glad to say that there was a full representation of delegates from all the municipalities with the two exceptions mentioned above. If they decided to go on with the nomination he was sure that the business would be gone on with in a harmonious manner, and that all would unite in working heartily for the good of the party and the Reform cause.

The delegates then handed in their credentials with their names as follows:—

Fergus—John Craig, N. M. Munro, J. C. Donaldson.

Elora—F. Clark, W. R. Lambert, S. H. Garrard.

Nichol—John Keith, Peter Dow, John Cormie.

Drayton—J. D. Fawcett, Jacob Doan.

Pilkington—Thomas Marshall, Henry Larter, James Ross, W. L. Gordon, Robt. Cromar, John Burnett.

Peel—Wm. Fisher, Samuel Pester, J. P. Dunn, James Tucker, James Smith, Peter Ferguson, Thos. Harcourt, Wm. Ledingham, Wm. Thompson.

Maryborough—Charles Hendry, jr., T. H. Walker, Thos. Patterson, W. H. Lowes, James McEwing (two delegates absent.)

It was then moved by Mr. James McEwing, seconded by Mr. Munro, and carried unanimously that the Convention proceed now to the nomination of candidates.

Mr. Craig moved, seconded by Mr. Dunn, that the candidate who receives a majority of the votes of the Convention shall receive the unanimous vote and support of the same. Carried.

Mr. T. W. Thompson, of Fergus, and Mr. Geo. W. Field, barrister, Guelph, were appointed scrutineers.

On motion of Mr. Moir, seconded by Mr. Patterson, the Convention decided to proceed to ballot for candidates without making any nominations.

The ballots were then distributed and the result of the first ballot was as follows:—Charles Clark, Elora, 2; Dr. Wallace, Alma, 17; John Burnett, Pilkington, 2; Harvey Cull, West Garafraxa, 3; A. Semple, Fergus, 11; John Green, Orangeville, 1; John Craig, Fergus, 1.

No one candidate having received a majority of the ballots on the first vote the Convention proceeded to ballot again with the following result: Clark 4, Wallace 20, Cull 2, Semple 11.

Mr John Craig moved, seconded by Mr Dunn, that as Dr. Wallace had received a majority of the votes of the delegates his nomination be made unanimous. This was carried with a standing vote and hearty cheers.

The following gentlemen were then appointed a deputation to wait on Dr. Wallace and tender him the nomination so enthusiastically agreed on: Messrs. Fisher, Harcourt, Dow, Gladstone, John Burnett, Cromar, Lowes, McEwing, Carter, Lambert, Donaldson, Craig, Cull, Barnett, Semple, Park, Green, E. Myers, Fawcett, and Doan.

Messrs. McMullen, M. P., Innes, M. P., Col. Clarke, M. P. P., M Kim, M. P. P., Field and Semple were then called on, and gave short addresses. They all united in extending hearty congratulations to the Convention on the unanimity and good feeling which characterized the proceedings, and in the excellent choice they had made in Dr. Wallace, one of the ablest, most energetic, and popular Reformers in the Riding. All this was a cheering augury of the success of the party at the next general election. But this would not be attained without united and persistent work, and they counselled the Reformers in every part of the Riding to be up and doing, to give Dr. Wallace their most earnest and hearty support, and to not rest in their efforts till they had redeemed Centre Wellington from the grasp of the Tories and put it in line with the other Ridings in the County.

Immediately after the Convention adjourned, one of the deputations proceeded to Alma, and brought Dr. Wallace to Fergus, where the deputation was waiting to receive him. He was formally tendered the nomination, and after a very pleasant and satisfactory interview the Doctor asked for a weeks time to consider the matter before coming to a decision. It is however confidently expected that he will accept the nomination.

Ontario Poultry Show.

The poultry show closed to-day at noon, and this afternoon the breeders are busily engaged packing up their exhibits. The show on a whole has been a success, although not financially up to that of last year. The judges, with the exception of a few classes, completed their duties last night. The entries in pigeons, judged yesterday, were very large, the principal exhibitors being W. B. Donovan, Toronto; Ireson & Co., Toronto; W. Barber, Toronto; M. Jeffrey, Guelph; George Bruce, Guelph, and W. A. Suddaby, Guelph. The following is a portion of the prize list:

GREAT JANUARY SALE

AT THE GOLDEN

-LION-

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

DRIVE NO. 2.

Furs. FURS. Furs.

Gone Astray, wrong address, arrived at last per S.S. Queen, now on the way from Glasgow. Made claim of 50 per cent off. compromised at 57 1-2 per cent off, will clear at half price. This lot consists of Beautiful

Fur Dolmans, Capes, Muffs, Caps, & Boas

Value in Sterling, £475; Currency, $2,375; Duty added, $3,166.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

TWEEDS, WORSTEDS, OVERCOATINGS, &c.,

Suitable for Winter wear, I am prepared to make up First class goods at prices which cannot be approached in the city. You would do well just to call and compare my prices, before buying elsewhere. I am making up a

First Class Canadian Tweed Suit for $13.00 worth $14.50.
A First Class Scotch Tweed Suit for $18.00, worth $20.00.
Other prices at same rate.
Finest Cork Screw Worsted Suits - $20.00 to $28.00.
Also a few of those Melton Overcoats $14.00 worth $16.50.

WM. WATSON, 124 Quebec-st.

... until we should not decide. (Hear.)

I think also that we should have a statement of the grounds on which Government decided against the recommendation to mercy, a course which may have been perfectly correct, but which ought to be explained. (Hear.) And here I may say that I regret that we do not know the ground of that recommendation.

We should also learn something of the reasons for the last respite, of which several accounts have been given, one of an extraordinary nature. (Hear.)

Fuller information seems to be required as to the ground on which Government thought the execution necessary as a deterrent. (Hear.)

Warm supporters of the Government have alleged that it shamefully betrayed and deceived them. We want the evidence of this (Hear.) They also allege that Government acted to gratify the thirst for vengeance, in respect of the Scott murder of one section of the supporters of Government, and on a cold-blooded calculation of political gains and losses in the counties, rather than on general considerations of public justice, mercy and policy. On this grave charge we want light. (Hear.)

A SUSPENDED FINAL JUDGMENT.

I will go no further. I have come to the conclusion that on this complicated case, where each of several branches may affect the general result, it is fitting that the materials for decision on every branch should be available before finally forming and announcing a general judgment; and, therefore, much as I should have personally wished to communicate to you my individual impressions, I believe I shall best discharge my duty, which, as you will have seen, I consider to be as much judicial as political, by abstaining from the expression of opinions which would be at best but partial, prima facie, hypothetical, and subject to correction and review. (Hear.)

It is with all the facts and arguments before us, and in the presence of the Government whose action has been assailed, and of their accusers, that our deliverance may best be made. (Hear.)

To some partisans on either side, who think nothing is to be said on the other, my view that we should have more light, may be, will be unsatisfactory. But those who are willing to seek for the light and, casting aside prejudice, to strive for just conclusions, will, I hope, recognize its propriety. (Cheers.)

THE OUTLOOK AHEAD.

Much has been said about political alliances and compacts in this connection. I know of none. To none am I a party, I have had no communication, direct or indirect, with any one outside of my own party. I have never wished for office. On the contrary, I dislike it; nor was there ever a time at which it presented, in my view, so little to attract, so much to deter. Beyond this, I believe it to be, from a mere party point of view, the interest of the Liberal party that the present Government should remain in office for a little longer, till the public have seen still more clearly the results of their past policy; results which, if developed in our reign, would be, as in the past times, attributed to us and not to their real authors. (Hear.) But were all this otherwise I believe that can be formed only on a general understanding on the substantial questions calling for legislative and administrative action, and that it would be equally impossible and undesirable to form one based on community of feeling, did that exist, with regard to an execution. (Hear.) Nor have I reason to believe that on that or any other question the Government, though weakened, will be defeated this session. For the purpose of forwarding their design to the Ministerial organs here have proclaimed their defeat. But the organs do not play the same tune in Quebec. It is only a dodge. The Government would doubtless like to make this an issue—nay, the issue—before the English-speaking populations. They would like it because they know the long calendar of their crimes. But the criminals shall not be allowed to choose the matter for which they are to be tried or to frame their own indictment. (Loud cheers.) For our part we, too, know the catalogue of their offences; we know the counts of the indictment; and it is our purpose, apart altogether from this question of the man who is dead, to deal with the men who are yet politically alive, and who, for innumerable political offences, deserve a political death as sure, as swift, as stern as that which has at any time heretofore been meted out to those in like case offending. (Cheers.)

ACCESSIONS TO THE LIBERAL RANKS.

I believe that in Quebec and elsewhere in and outside of Parliament, there has been a growing feeling of uneasiness at the Tory policy; that it is being recognized more and more as a dreadful failure; that its features of taxation, restriction, extravagance, corruption, jobbery, neglect and centralization have made for it many opponents; that the Government are sinking in public estimation; that the people are beginning to perceive the wisdom of our counsels, the folly of our opponents'; that our labours of these many years are at length bearing fruit; that the Government will be weaker this session, and weaker still thereafter, and will, if we do our full duty, be defeated at the polls. (Loud cheers.)

As, in my electoral contests, I have made no private canvass, but have depended on my public utterances, so, as a political leader, my hopes of gaining strength for my party have rested only on our public speeches, on the policy we have propounded, the principles we have maintained. (Cheers.) I have for some time believed that several supporters of the Government have been dissatisfied—have felt that they were, on the questions of the day and of the immediate future, more in accord with us than with Ministers, and have recognized the expediency of a change. (Hear.) They have seen that our country—which has great and solid natural resources, which even now—thank God!—is showing in some quarters signs of recovery from some of the evils inflicted on it by its rulers; which is inhabited by an intelligent, industrious and progressive people, affording the main element of real prosperity; which requires only just and prudent, fair and statesmanlike government to permit its advance on both the material and the moral plane—runs great risk if the present evil counsels are to endure. (Hear.) Party ties, the bonds of friendship, long habit and association, the consciousness of having borne a part, though reluctantly, in some things now condemned, and other considerations of various kinds have long restrained them, and may restrain them still. But I do not abandon the hope that some will shortly come out from the ranks to which they no longer in heart belong, and co-operate with us frankly in effecting a change in the public counsels. If they do not, we will continue to fight the good fight, with a stout heart, as best we can without them. But if they do, I am sure you will gladly welcome accessions to our forces so obtained. (Cheers.)

COME FORWARD!!

Long have we hoped for a harvest from the seed we have been sowing. The harvest has been slow of coming. Sometimes it has seemed as if the seed had perished. But it may have been dormant only. It may have germinated now. Soon may it ripen and the fields grow white to the harvest. (Cheers).

If I could raise my feeble voice beyond the limits of this hall, and say a word in the ear of my countrymen through Canada at large, I would exhort them to come forward. Come forward you who can cultivate and water, who can help to mature and gather in that harvest! Do your duty to your country! Take up the responsibilities, as you enjoy the privileges of citizenship. Give your time, your energies, your labour to the work! Though the skies may be dark, yet trust we in the Supreme Goodness! We believe our cause is just and true. We believe that truth and justice shall in God's good time prevail. It may be soon, it may be late. His ways are not as our ways, and his unfathomable purposes we may not guage. But this we know, that in our efforts we are in the line of duty. We hope, indeed, to make our views prevail; but, win or lose to-day, we know that we shall receive from the faithful discharge of our duty an exceeding great reward—the only reward which is worth attaining, the only reward which is sure to last.

The Regular Cry

FOR BOOTS AND SHOES

IS

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.25; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.65, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes, $1.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

We lead in selling Cheap at the Checkered Store.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,
W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

A Good Year Gone.

W. J. JOYCE & Co., WISH TO THANK THE MANY WHO PAtronized them last year. This firm sold more goods in December, '85, than any two furniture stores west of Toronto. What is the secret? They buy immense quantities for spot cash, fair and honest dealing, and no mean school boy tricks. Our prices are always right. We are bound to please.

Farms Wanted.

FARMS WANTED—ALL KINDS, SIZES and prices, for over 500 applicants, who wish to buy and have written to us for particulars of farms. We also want farms for our "Farm Advertiser," which will be published shortly, and be placed in the hands of intending purchasers in all parts of Canada and the United States, and Europe. We give full particulars, including size of buildings, quality of soil and price, but never give owner's name, number of lot, nor concession.
We positively make no charge unless the property be sold. This is sufficient proof that our business in conducted on honest and straightforward principles. Remember we want no agreements to register against your property. We advertise farms in all the leading Newspapers in Canada, and we advertise in almost every state in America, and throughout the whole of Europe. Many of our present applications for farms are from the United States, Europe and other countries. We have now arranged with 32 agents in Canada and Europe to have our advertiser placed in the hands of intending buyers.
Though only 11 months ago we started business in Guelph, and then had no applications for property, since May last we have sold 41 farms at an aggregate price of $292,150.00. Those having farms for sale are requested to come to Guelph, and give us full particulars of their farms, or send us their names and address, and if we cannot prove all we here state to be true and correct in every particular, we agree and shall be pleased to pay every man's expenses coming to Guelph and returning, who has property to sell. Come to the office and see for yourselves, the letters from our applicants for farms, the testimonials from farmers whose places we have sold, and also press notices, etc. If you cannot come, send us your names and address. Apply to

DEATHS.

STERNE—In Brantford, on the 16th January Mrs. Sterne, mother of G. F. Sterne, of this city. Funeral on Monday, the 18th inst.
MCCUEN—In Guelph, on the 16th January, David McCuen, son of Mr. Samuel McCuen, aged 25 years.
The funeral will take place from his father's residence, Elizabeth street, on Monday at 2 o'clock.

Probabilities.

Winds mostly east and south, cloudy weather with sleet or rain; colder west and north winds to-morrow.

Local News

THE old City Council meet at nine o'clock on Monday, and the new one at eleven, and then again at the usual hour in the evening.

EARLY CLOSING.—Owing to some merchants being out of town when the petition was circulated, the time for closing the stores has been extended, of which further notice will be given.

MR. JOHN J. DALEY, of this city, is in future to carry on his extensive real estate business, under the name, style and firm of John J. Daley & Co. See his advertisement in this issue.

REV. MR. ST. JAMES will preach in the Baptist Church to-morrow, giving a history of the work among the French Canadians by the Grand Ligne Mission. Interesting addresses may be expected. d1

MR. H. K. MAITLAND will sing "There was a lad was born in Kyle?" and "A man's a man for a' that," at the Burns Anniversary Concert of the Toronto Caledonian Society, on Tuesday evening, the 26th inst.

P. J. O'NEIL, the obliging G. T. R. news agent, who for the past five weeks has been confined to his bed with an attack of typhoid fever, is again able to be about. He resumes his old position on the road on Monday.

A MERCURY subscriber, at Bluevale, writes:—"I would sooner do without my porridge than the MERCURY." Another, who lives in Omaha, Nebraska, and who has missed several copies of the MERCURY of recent dates, asks:—"Has the Canadian Government got to such a state of corruption that you are ashamed to send anymore papers across the lines?"

PERSONAL.—It is always interesting to know the best place where to get our wants supplied. In response to the question, where to get the best value in Dry Goods, Furs, Mantles, Millinery, etc., we say, without hesitation, go direct to A. J. Little & Co., 77 Upper Wyndham street, where they are now taking stock, and Mr. Little tells us they will, during the month of January, sell goods regardless of profit. A word to the wise is sufficient. d3.

THE wood carving class in connection with the Guelph Free Library under the instructions of Mr. E. J. O'Brien, has turned out most successfully. There are eighteen members in the class, being all that can be accommodated in the room secured for the purpose, as each one has to have a certain space for himself in which to do the work. The carving so far has been of soft wood to get them used to handling the tools and keeping them sharp, but when they get a little more advanced a harder kind of wood and more difficult designs will be given to them.

THE CARNIVAL.—The ice carnival at the Speed Rink last night in point of attendance was a great success. There were over seventy persons in costume, and a few of these were tastily got up. The two mile race for the championship medal was remarked to be a tame affair—one, two, three, with an occasional spurt, being the order for half the distance when Mills fell, and left the ice. Brandon got a few strokes ahead, and Gibbs made himself appear ridiculous by going as you please when a splendid race could have been run, and much enjoyed by the spectators. There was a magnificent sheet of ice, and Manager Maddock deserves every credit for having it in such good condition. The City Band gave a good programme. It was generally remarked that the management should make some stringent rules for racing to prevent a recurrence of last night, as by far the largest part of the spectators went to see the race. In the ladies' competition for prizes, Miss F. Spragge, as "Woodnymph," took 1st; Miss Pool, "Flower Girl," 2nd; and Miss E. Spragge, "Squaw," 3rd. Gentlemen—Herb. Emory, "Harlequin," 1st; W. Owens, "Tourist," 2nd. Judges—Ladies, Mrs. Gummer and Mrs. Keleher; Gents—W. S. Smith and C. Chase.

THERE was a poor market this morning for a Saturday.

OYSTER benefit to-night at K. S. Townsend's, Quebec street.

THERE was a very successful carnival held in the new rink in Rockwood last right. A few young people from Guelph were present.

THE Elmira fair last Monday was well attended. About 200 head of cattle were brought in for sale and mostly all were disposed of at a good figure.

THE annual meeting of the South Wellington Agricultural Society will be held in the City Hall at 2 o'clock on Wednesday the 20th, when it is hoped that there will be a large turn out.

COMPLAINTS are made of dogs being poisoned in rear of the Eramosa hill. The owners are indignant and threaten to punish the offenders, if found out, to the full extent of the law.

ONTARIO POULTRY SHOW.—As mentioned yesterday the Poultry Show closed at noon on Friday. Up to dark exhibitors were busily engaged taking away their birds. On the whole the show has been a success and seems to have given general satisfaction to all concerned.

A YOUNG horse, attached to a buggy, belonging to a farmer, ran away from Upper Wyndham street about noon to-day and turned up Quebec street. It had not run far before it was caught. There was no one in the buggy at the time. The damage done consists of the two shafts being broken and a portion of the harness.

APPROPRIATING A MARE.—Last night Mr T. J. Day's mare was taken from her stable. She came back this morning about eleven o'clock, and showed every sign of having been driven hard. The halter was tied in a bow knot over her neck and the blanket doubled in a blanket shape. The animal had evidently been used and then turned loose, when she found her way home.

CURLING.—Walkerton and Georgetown clubs play here on Tuesday for a Royal Caledonian medal. Before or after this match Georgetown and Guelph will play a match in the first draw in this group for the Ontario Tankard. On Monday afternoon the members of the Guelph club will play for the Stirton point medal. The rink will be open in the evening for those who are unable to compete in the afternoon.

SUDDEN DEATH.—David McCuen, a young man about 23 years of age, hostler for Thos. Ward, of the Victoria hotel, died suddenly this morning. Thos. Emory, employed at Naismith's pork store, who roomed with the deceased, states that McCuen got out of bed about four o'clock, and almost immediately returned. Scarcely had he got into bed than he began to act very strangley. Emory asked him if he was sick several times, and getting no reply became alarmed, and woke up some of the other boarders, while he went for a physician. By the time the doctor arrived, which was only a few minutes afterwards, the unfortunate young man was in the throes of death. Heart disease is pronounced the cause.

Ontario Artillery Association.

On the 30th December last officers representing the various batteries of Ontario held a meeting in Toronto for the purpose of forming an Artillery Association for the Province of Ontario. It was decided to form such an association. The first annual general meeting was held at the Rossin House, Toronto, on Thursday. Lieut.-Col. Macdonald, 1st Brigade F. A.; Major Nicoll, 1st Brigade F. A.; Major J. H. Hood, 1st Brigade F. A.; Lieut. J. Davidson, 1st Brigade F. A., were present. Among the officers elected are Vice-Patron Hon. J. B. Robinson, Lieut.-Governor; President, Lieut.-Col. John Gray, Toronto. The name of Major Nicoll appears among the members of the council, and among the elected members Capt. McCrae, late 1st Brigade F. A.; Capt. W Macdonald, 1st Brigade F. A. Executive Committee, elected, Lieut. J. Davidson. At a meeting of the Council Capt. McMurrich was elected President, Major Nicoll one of the Vice-Presidents, and Lieut. Davidson a member of the Executive Committee.

Voters and Voting.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

SIR,—I have always been in favour of an extension of the franchise, and take deep interest in electoral matters, but I always find that a large per centage of those whose names are on the voters list do not vote. If they did results would often be different. I think that each person who has a vote should record it, and that the law should be so altered as to make it part of the duty of each returning officer to cause each and every of the voters of his subdivision, who had not put in an appearance to vote at the polling place of the subdivision in which he resides, to be summoned the next week, before the Magistrate, to show cause for his non-appearance and failing to prove that it was not possible for him to attend, he be fined say five dollars. Trusting the Legislature of Ontario at its coming session will remedy the evil above mentioned, I remain,
AN ELECTOR.

Guelph High School—Light Wanted.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

SIR,—In looking over the financial statement respecting Guelph High School, as it appears in the MERCURY, I see charged, "Books and stationery, $259.92." At first I thought the School Board bought these things wholesale and sold them to the students by retail; but as I could not find any receipts from sales I came to the conclusion that I must be wrong on that point. I believe the parents and guardians of the pupils of the Common and High Schools provide school books and stationery for their children. Such being the case, I, as a taxpayer, should like to be informed, 1st. What books; 2nd. How many of each kind; 3rd. For whose use this $259.92 worth of "books and stationery," were obtained. I am the more desirous to know because for all the public schools the charge for stationery is only $84.34, and not a cent for books. Full information on these points through the MERCURY is requested by A TAXPAYER.

ASPHYXIATED or POISONED

A Mother's Callous Neglect.

A man named David Young, on making a visit to the home of his mother on Perth street, Brockville, on Wednesday, made a horrible discovery. His sister, Margaret Young, and a companion, Dema Derosia, were lying dead in their room, and his mother, though not dead, was unconscious. The chief of police, at once notified, visited the scene. In the little bedroom a horrible sight was presented. Lying on the floor, and with one foot still resting upon the bed, lay the dead body of Margaret Young, clad only in undergarment and nightdress. On the bed lay the girl Derosia, also dead. The latter's face was partialy buried in the pillow, while the girl Young lay face upward. The face of both were calm, and the bodies cold, indicating that death had taken place some time previously. On a table at the head of the bed was found a pint flask with a few drops of what is supposed to be whiskey in the bottom, a small sponge and some other articles. Underneath the bed the neck of a small bottle covered with a white looking substance was found, and in the stand drawer a little bottle which seemed to contain a similar mixture.

When the news of the discovery first reached the streets the deaths were attributed to asphyxia from coal gas. Enough has been learned since, however, says the Recorder, to almost dissipate this theory, and at the present writing the general opinion is that death resulted from poison, but how administered remains a mystery. The reasons for this theory are plain. In the first place the appearance of the bodies do not indicate asphyxia; there is no disfiguration of the features. In the second place had death resulted from coal gas it would be difficult to account for the survival of Mrs. Young, as she slept in the room where the stove stands, while the girls occupied the bedroom. A coroner's jury was summoned and an investigation is in progress. It is reported that in conversation between Mrs. Young, after recovering consciousness, and the chief of police, the old woman and the girls came home about 10 o'clock Tuesday night and went to bed. They left the bedroom door open and during the night her daughter cried, "Give me a drink of water, I'm dying!" "Devil a die," returned the old woman, and then got up and closed the door.

A fatal accident happened at Cane & Son's factory, Newmarket, on Thursday morning. A man named Frank Luddy, while at work arranging machinery, was pulled against a saw, which severed the head from the body. He was unmarried.

John Morrison, one of the eight men burned at Germania on the 12th inst., died on Friday morning at ten o'clock from the effects of his wounds. The others are in a critical condition.

Up to the present time the Militia Department has authorized the payment of a fraction over $4,000,000 on the expenses of the Northwest rebellion.

ROYAL TEMPLERS OF TEMPERANCE.

District Meeting in Fergus.

Wellington District Council, Royal Templars of Temperance met in Fergus, on Thursday afternoon, in Groves' Hall. The following delegates were present::—Messrs. McCready, Long and Weltie, from Harriston Council; Rev. J. J. and Mrs. Noble, Mr. and Mrs. Norris and Mr. James Clarke from Arthur Council; Dr. Amy, from Rockwood Council; Miss H Tindale, James Clyne, Thos. Milne, and Jno ——— from Fergus Council; E. H. Maddock and A. C, Steele, from Guelph Council; and R. Phillips, jr., and Geo. Beattie as visitors from Fergus Council. Elora, Drew and Palmerston Councils were not represented. The reports from the various Councils were very encouraging. Harriston Council heading the list in membership and Guelph and Fergus being a tie for second place. Vigorous measures are to be at once instituted in order to establish Councils in places not already occupied. For this purpose three strong committees were appointed to attend to the various departments of the work of the Order in the County. The meeting was an unqualified success, and convinced the most sceptical that the District Council will be a power for good. The next meeting will be held some time in April, either at Elora, Drayton or Arthur, the time and place being left to the discretion of the District Councillor.

A temperance meeting was held in the Congregational Church in the evening. The chair was ably and humorously filled by Rev. J. B. Mullen, President of the Scott Act Association. The meeting was addressed by A. C. Steele, District Councillor, Dr. Awry, District Treasurer, Bro. J. J. Noble, Arthur Council, E. H. Maddock, District Secretary, Rev. J. S. Colling, and Dr. Groves and James Clyne, of Fergus Council. The aims and objects of the Royal Templars both as a total abstinence society and a benefit society were clearly yet briefly explained to the meeting, and the question of the Scott Act enforcement also taken up and pretty thoroughly discussed. The addresses were limited to twenty minutes each, and were listened to with the closest attention by a not very large but certainly exceedingly intelligent and appreciative audience. Fergus has certainly good reason to be proud of its active and enthusiastic Council of Royal Templars, and it is to be hoped that its membership will be speedily and largely increased.

The Irish Canadian Sued for Libel.

At the Civil Assizes Toronto, on Friday, before Mr, Justice Rose, Warden Massie, of the Central Prison, sued the Toronto Printing Co., publishers of the Irish Canadian, for $20,000 damages for libel. The objectionable articles appeared on April 9 and May 21 of last year, in the shape of letters signed "Nemesis" and "Justitia." Both, it is alleged, reflected on the Warden's conduct in his official capacity. The defendants refused either to give the names of their correspondents or to retract the letters, on the ground that they were fair comments on a public man in a public journal. Mr. B. B. Osler appeared for plaintiff and Mr. N. Murphy for defendants. The case will be resumed today.

CHEAP STOVES.—A number of second hand Base Burners (with and without ovens) in good working order, will be sold cheap for cash at Heather's stove and tinware depot, Quebec street, opposite Knox Church. d-tf.

Meetings in South Wellington.

Mr. James Innes, M. P., is at present holding a series of meetings in the more outlying portions of South Wellington. At the meetings held so far there was a very fair attendance considering the extreme cold weather in the early part of the week, and the rough state of the side roads. At the various meetings Mr. Innes entered into a full and free discussion on the various political topics of the day, especially those which engaged the attention of Parliament last session. The addresses were listened to with close attention by the different audiences who appeared deeply interested in the subjects discussed. The first meeting was held in Erin village on Monday night, Mr. Robt. Lang, chairman; the second in Ballinafad on Tuesday night, Mr. L. Czerwinski, chairman; the third in Hillsburg on Wednesday night, Mr. Chas. McMillan, ex-Deputy Reeve, chairman; the fourth at Oustic on Thursday night, Major John Mutrie, Reeve, chairman; and the fifth at the Centre Inn, on Friday night, Mr. Thomas Waters, ex-Reeve, chairman. At the close of the different meetings resolutions were passed expressing renewed confidence in the course pursued by the Opposition in Parliament and in their talented leader the Hon. Edward Blake.

A BUNGLED EXECUTION.

Frantic Efforts of a Murderer to Escape His Doom.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 15.—Charles Wilson was hanged in the morning for the murder of a river steamer mate some time ago. He maintained to the last that he committed the deed in self-defence. After the trap had been sprung the body for a moment remained motionless and there was then enacted a scene of horror which chilled the blood of all who witnessed it. Two doctors, one on either side, were each holding a wrist when the violent contortions of the hanging figure shook them aside. The man's actions showed that he was in full possession of consciousness. He made frantic struggles to release himself. His right hand shot up, clutched the rope and held it firmly. It seemed as if the man must die by slow degrees from strangulation, but one of the doctors succeeded in disengaging the hand of the condemned man, and in a short time his body hung lifeless.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Special reports from over 5000 correspondents in all parts of the country indicate that the snow storm with the recent intense cold protected the wheat from all harm. The 1885 corn crop turns out inferior to 84's crop. There is general complaint throughout the Northwest of light, chaffy, dry and mouldy corn. The wheat consumption in the future can only be increased by our being able to sell it at what are called starvation prices because of foreign competition. In general the correspondents say there is nothing warranting high prices in 1886 except a total failure of the crop now in the ground.

A Plucky and Clever Agriculturist.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 15.—Some time ago a number of convicts employed in the mines at Coal Hill escaped and officers started in pursuit of them. Yesterday an old farmer named James Johnson entered the camp with six of the refugees standing in a row with their hands on each other's shoulders. He had located ten of them, and last night, when they were sleeping in a haystack captured their guard and five of his companions. The remainder escaped. The old pioneer who made the capture was armed with a double-barreled shot-gun, one of the barrels being worthless. He did not fire a shot.

A Priest Who Says Riel Was a Scoundrel.

MONTREAL, Jan. 15.—The residents of St. Zephirin, in the diocese of Three Rivers, are at loggerheads with their parish priest, Rev. N. E. Picard, on account of some utterances he made in the pulpit of the parish church last Sunday. And they are now petitioning Mgr. Gravel to have him transferred to another field of labor. It appears that the rev. gentleman was reading Mgr. Gravel's mandement on public demonstrations and political agitation. Arrrived at that part of the mandement where the bishop speaks very plain language in connection with the "National" movement, he emphasized his superior's remarks by stating that Louis Riel was an unmitigated scoundrel who had deserved death on several occasions and who had always been shown mercy by the Government authorities.

A Good Story Spoiled.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A telegram dated London, Canada, yesterday declared that letters had been received from Dakota describing the death there of Geo. McCabe, who, it was alleged, had confessed to the murder of four wives, and had attempted to murder a fifth. McCabe, the accused, visited the office of the Associated Press here to-day, and denied the Dakota story. He said he had not been in Dakota for years, but has three sons living there, one of whom is named George, but he had not married, and could not be the person described. As for himself he had not married again as stated. He acknowledged having been tried for the supposed poisoning of two of his wives, one of whom, he said died of delirium tremens, and one from heart disease. He had been honorably acquitted.

Water Famine at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—The city is still without water, but the indications are more favorable. The great majority of the manufacturing establishments which depend on the city for water are shut down. Nearly all the courts have adjourned, as the steam heating apparatus is frozen up. Hundreds of teams are engaged in hauling water from the lake to supply the city families.

Damages Against a Seducer.

DUBLIN, Jan. 15.—Seymour Busche, the young barrister of Munster, whose elopement on Nov. 2 with the wife of Gerald Richard Brooke, of Summerton, county Dublin, created so much excitement in fashionable circles, has been mulcted in the sum of £5,000 in a crim. con. suit brought against him.

Guelph Daily Mercury

SATURDAY EVE'G, JAN. 16, 1886.

Mr. Blake on the Situation.

The long-looked for first utterance of the leader of the Opposition since the exciting events which followed Riel's execution, and since Mr. Blake's departure for the old country have been very disappointing to the Government organs. Those who best know Mr. Blake confidently anticipated this, and while they did look for an utterance which would place the Reform party's position on this matter in a thoroughly unequivocal aspect, even they did not expect such a masterful review of the whole subject, or such a judicial grasp of the contending elements in the case, put with such eloquence, force and brevity in an after dinner speech. But Mr. Blake rises to every occasion. Each succeeding public utterance which he makes seems to surpass the previous one. He always shows himself incapable of taking anything but a high moral plane, eschewing everything like party narrowness and bigotry. He grasps public questions with the broad view of one who places his country before party, and his party before himself. For him office and power have no other attraction than as a means to an end—the economical administration of affairs for the benefit of the people. He cannot descend to the miserable methods pursued by the Government organs of stirring up religious and national prejudices, setting Province against Province, race against race, and church against church, in order to secure place and power. Unless he can attain such through the intelligent voice of the people expressed on the questions of the hour, he will have none of office.

Such, virtually, are the principles held by Mr. Blake at all times, and more than ever eloquently set forth in dealing with this Riel agitation. He will not make of Reil's grave a stepping stone to office. No effort of his will be made to take advantage of the disaffection of a portion of the Conservative party of Quebec, but he will welcome all to the Reform ranks who can unite with him in endeavouring to promote good government, and the greater unification of all classes and peoples in Canada into one homogenous whole, imbued only with a desire to promote the welfare of the Dominion.

As to the fate of Riel and the Government responsiblity therefore, he deals in a calm, temperate and judicial spirit. He considers that all the facts of the case are not before the people. Papers and documents have been withheld, secret commissions employed and no report of their deliberations offered. Until these have been elicited by full Parliamentary discussion he cannot pronounce a verdict. Riel may have been guilty and worthy of death, but he would desire to know the reasons for the jury's recommendation to mercy; the reason why it was not entertained, his state of mind at the time of death, etc., before judging of the Government's culpability. The execution of Riel may have been just, but the Government could not offer his life in extenuation of their misdeeds, and that question has still to be fully enquired into. In short, Mr. Blake will not pronounce a verdict until the evidence has been all laid before him. What that verdict will ultimately be few who have watched the Government's hedging and equivocations in the matter of producing documents necessary to throwing full light on the subject, will have any doubts. No greater compliment could be paid to the ability displayed by Mr. Blake in his treatment of this subject than the peurile criticism which the Mail has attempted. That journal, begging the whole question, conjures up the ghost of Thomas Scott with Mr Blake's opinions of Riel's guilt in that connection. Mr Blake's opinions then do not clash with Mr Blake's actions now. Nor was Riel tried for the death of Scott or any other man. He was tried for treason-felony, an offence for which capital punishment has been tacitly abolished in the British Dominions for half a century.

Liberals will be glad that Mr Blake has raised this whole question out of the miserable mire into which it had sunk. They will be glad that, while it must still be a charge against the Government, the greater offences are not to be forgotten; that the Government will not be allowed to formulate the indictment against itself. They will not be impatient because Mr Blake has said the Government should be allowed to live out its term, for they will agree with him that the longer they remain in office the more venal and corrupt will their actions be. Their promises to make everybody rich and happy will then be seen to have been empty boasts. The great surpluses they were to build up will by that time have grown still greater deficits, and the harpies, who live on the country's lifeblood will have sucked it dry. It is undoubtedly sad that this state of things should be allowed to go on, but it takes so much to remove the scales of indifference or apathy from the eyes of a large portion of the public that powerful shocks alone will accomplish it.

The Nomination for Centre Wellington.

The nomination made by the Reform Convention for Centre Wellington, at Fergus, on Thursday, was a most wise and judicious one, and from whatever point of view we regard it the best that could have been made. Dr. Wallace has for many years been identified with the Riding, and since the time he became a resident in it, he has taken an active and intelligent interest in all questions of a public character. He is possessed of a more than ordinary share of energy and perseverance, and this, added to his intimate knowledge of politics and his ardent and enthusiastic nature renders him a most valuable man in an electoral contest. He is, besides, extremely popular wherever he is known, and is by far the strongest candidate that could be brought out in the Reform interest in the Riding. He is, moreover, an old Guelph boy, born and brought up in the place, and on this account we, in common with many of our fellow citizens, feel a more than ordinary interest in him. We fervently trust that he will accept the nomination, and if he does so we feel assured that he will be elected, and that he will be a credit and honour not only to his native place but to the party who brought him out, and to Riding.

THE Mail has been greatly comforted. Five bishops of the R. C. Church have expressed in one form or another, their disapproval of the Riel agitation, and advised their faithful followers to eschew further agitation, and think more kindly of the powers that be. Had the organ been more patient it would have saved a great deal of warlike ammunition, and been spared the humiliation of being heavily sat upon by the Montreal Gazette, and its master, Sir John Macdonald.

THE Chatham Banner comes to hand this week with a two column report of the "minutes of the proceedings of the British Methodist Episcopal Church, held in the B. M. E. Chapel, Princess Street, Chatham, Ont., A. D. 1886," and three following days. The Hamilton Spectator will now be able to crawl into a very small knot hole. It might then plug it up with this statement put on record during the third day's sitting of the Council;—"As it has been stated that the British Methodist Episcopal Church has ceased to exist, and consequently disorganized, this report being untrue has misled the public. According to our Discipline, pages 24 and 25, the Episcopacy is embodied in five Elders. Now, as the Church has not been without the required number since the disturbance, it has never been disorganized, for we have six Elders and three ordained Deacons and twenty-five churches firmly adhering to the B. M. E. discipline."

"I am haunted by suffering humanity. They come to my house before I am out of bed, they lay for me, and follow me in droves to my place of business, and when I go to the City Hall a fresh regiment is waiting there, and they actually swarm to my house at meal times, in the hope of catching me. Some of the destitute persons are immigrants, others discharged laborers, and the city corporation has no means of relieving them, few being able to break stones in such severe weather."

So said Mayor McDougall, of Ottawa, the other day. There is evidently something gone wrong with the N. P. when such a state of affairs exist in the Capital of the Dominion. Once upon a time, when Tory wire-pullers were scheming out all sorts of plans to secure office, there was similar destitution in Ottawa, but the Mayor was not then badgered with their continual presence and persistent begging. Under the leadership of Tory heelers, the unemployed men of Ottawa haunted the corridors of the Departmental buildings, and stormed the office of the Minister of Public Works clamouring for relief. Because such relief was very properly refused on the ground that were it granted to Ottawa workmen every idle man in the Dominion would have a claim for like assistance, the Tory organs made a great outcry. The Government, they said, were responsible for the depression and would take no steps to remedy it. "Miserable incapables!" was the chorus of the Tory organs and orators. "You should be driven from power for such heartlessness. You should provide work for the unemployed, and if the people will only discharge you, and place us in power, we shall guarantee plenty of work at good pay to all willing to work." The people took them at their word. They discharged an honest Administration, and placed Macdonald, Tupper & Co. in their places. What has been the result? Mayor McDougall has furnished a very complete answer, and if the Tories have not been visited in a way similar to that by which Mr. Mackenzie was annoyed, and blackguarded for resenting, it is because Reformers are not a crowd of mountebanks, ready to grasp any passing fraud with which they can delude the people. Had they been as devoid of principal as their successors they would have been in power still.

THE Hamilton Times of yesterday says that James Flynn, accused of stealing a gold chain, the property of Henry Creel, of that place, was acquitted. It will be remembered that about a couple of weeks ago Flynn was taken to Hamilton from Guelph on this charge, after having been fined for assaulting Joe Emery.

The Great Donation Sale.

Commencing January 13th, '86

Closing March 8th.

To every purchaser of Boots and Shoes, Overshoes and Rubbers to the amount of One Dollar, I will give a picture of the President of the United States. I will donate the following presents on the above date, namely,

One Cabinet Sewing Machine, Valued	$85.00
One Dinner Set, 88 Pieces, Valued	15.00
One China Tea Set, Valued	10.00
One Pair Hand Sewed Boots, Valued	4.50

Remember I am noted for the Cheapest Boots and Shoes in Guelph. You will not pay one cent more for your goods than our Rock Bottom Prices, besides you will have the opportunity of participating in our Great Donation of Presents on the day we will declare whom these splendid Presents have been selected. For the last three months, every one of the High Price Boot and Shoe Merchants in our city have been making extraordinary efforts to draw a few straggling customers by advertising, while we have not had time to write advertisements, as our business has increased so rapidly that our time has been fully occupied attending to our numerous patrons. Note the place, and do not be led away by spurious offers of catch penny dealers, who will try everything to accomplish a sale. Our Goods are all new and not shelf worn. The Presents to be given away will be in my window on exhibition.

The Foes of a Household

CHAPTER II.

NEW IMPRESSIONS.

There were only two persons in the room—Mr. and Mrs. Lafone. He was a tall stout man, wish a narrow forehead and thin lips; his features were regular and well cut, but almost devoid of expression. He looked emphatically a man who in all things from the greatest unto the least, would "do as other people did." He was reading with his own special reading lamp at his elbow. Mrs. Lafone was working and the light fell strongly upon her face, showing clearing every feature, from the heavy double chin to the forehead, which was as high and narrow as that of her husband though it had the additional attraction of being perfectly flat. Even in repose the thin, pinched lips were curved into a sneer. A little quiver of dislike shook Helen as her eyes fell upon her stepmother. Yet Mrs. Lafone must have been a handsome woman in her youth, though her face could never have been pleasing.

Neither took any notice of Helen's entrance; her light step was probably not heard upon the thick carpet, She went forward until she was standing close by her father, and still twisting her clematis, she said, "Papa."'

Mr Lafone looked up from his paper with eyebrows drawn together; he hated to be disturbed in his evening reading.

"Well?" was his reply, in rather an ungracious tone, when he saw who had addressed him.

"You told me to give you my answer this evening. I have not changed my mind. I shall not marry Mr Foster."

"Very well, it is your own affair; only you may not have so good an offer again."

He returned to his paper, and, so far as he was concerned, the subject was at an end. But Helen knew what remained. Mrs Lafone had listened to the little dialogue, her needle suspended over her work. When it was ended, and Helen was moving away, she spoke—

"As usual, Helen, you think only of yourself. You profess to be unhappy here, but when a chance comes of establishing yourself most advantageously, you throw it away. Perhaps you think you have only to pick and choose like Alice. You forget that you have neither Alice's beauty nor accomplishments. But, putting that aside, it was your duty to accept Mr Foster. Both you and Alice are old enough to be married, and you know quite well to what reports it would give rise if Alice married first. You do not consider the awkward position in which you place us both. You seem to forget that I have been a mother to you since you were a baby, and that it is now your duty to repay me by gratitude and obedience."

Helen's lips parted in a smile as Mrs. Lafone spoke. When she had finished she said—

"Do not suppose I shall ever marry contrary to my inclination to save your reputation as a stepmother."

There was neither rudeness nor want of respect in her tone or manner, and when she had spoken she moved towards the door.

"Where are you going?" asked Mrs. Lafone, rather sharply.

"To tell Mr. Moore he can come in."

"What do you mean?"

"He came home with me, and I asked him to go into the billiard room until this had passed over."

Before Mrs. Lafone could give expression to her feelings of outraged propriety Helen had left the room.

A day or two later Percival and Helen were lounging on the lawn. It was a peaceful summer afternoon, and Helen herself had suggested this mode of spending the time. Percival had almost expected some astounding piece of intelligence as the result; but he heard nothing more surprising than

"You remember me telling you about Alice, my sister?"

"You told me several things about her. Which one in particular am I to remember?"

"That you would not see her till the end of this month, as she is in London for the season with her aunt."

"I remember that perfectly, because before that you had excited my curiosity by telling me she was very beautiful."

"She is. I do not like her, but she is exceedingly beautiful."

"I look forward to seeing her very much."

"You are a great admirer of beauty, of course."

"Yes I admire it."

"I thought so. You will fall captive to her; everybody does. It would be amusing if it were not monotonous, at least for outsiders. Alice does not seem to find it monotonous."

Percival said nothing. To-day Helen showed a new spirit in the possession of which he had not yet seen her. He did not like it, and to divert her thoughts asked—

"Had you anything fresh to tell about your sister?"

"You will have to look forward a little longer. When Alice leaves London she is going with her aunt and uncle to the Continent, and she will not be home until October, mamma heard this morning."

"Have you ever been on the Continent!"

"With whom should I go? Papa and mamma never go abroad, and have no other relations. I have been nowhere scarcely beyond Osmotherley all my life."

"Your travelling days are to come yet," was his somewhat common-place offer of comfort.

"I wonder what you will think of Alice; though I can guess when you begin by setting beauty above everything."

"You are hardly fair; there is something I set very high above beauty."

"What is that—to be well dressed?"

"Now you are growing malicious, and I shall have to tell you, unless you will give another guess."

"How should I know your pet vanities? Tell me."

"Intelligence," he said, looking rather fixedly at her.

"I knew it was intelligence," smiling to herself and not looking at him.

"Then why did you not say so?"

"Because I—didn't."

"Where are you going?" he asked, rising as he saw her get up.

"Into the house to see about something I forgot this morning."

"But you will come back?"

"I can't say, it will depend."

She went away leaving him in uncertainty, and he resumed his recumbent attitude on the ground, and gave himself up to reflections which were a little disturbed by the constantly recurring question—

"Will she come back?"

BIG DAMAGES.—A Hamilton woman, herself a grandmother, sued a gay Lothario of 69 years for breach of promise of marriage. Under cross-examination she got mad and said to the counsel for the defendant that she did not lose much by defendant's refusal to implement his promise. The jury took the lady at her word, and awarded her twenty-five cents damages, and the judge ordered her to pay her own costs, about $150.

STARVATION FOLLOWING AGITATION.

Irish Parties Becoming Desperate.

DUBLIN, Jan. 15.—United Ireland attributes the intended resignation of the Earl of Carnarvon to his reluctance to abet wholesale evictions contemplated by the Government, which will render the Irish desperate. United Ireland implores the Cabinet to look before it leaps and not to adopt coercive remedies, as the people will not submit tamely to being robbed of their homes. The Evening Mail, a loyalist organ, commenting on the utterances of United Ireland, says they constitute a note of warning that the Government should not neglect. The executive is distinctly told that unless it curbs the landlords "Capt. Moonlight" will be fully empowered to slay, mutilate and pillage with the vigor and hellish ferocity of the Land League days.

The Freeman's Journal, reviewing the opinions entertained by the different English political parties, says the tide runs high against Ireland. The anti-Irish feeling is rampant among Englishmen, and they loathe the idea of Home Rule for Ireland.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Earl of Carnarvon, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, declares that Parliament will not help to relieve the dreadful distress prevailing among th inhabitants of Achill and Eaglesland on the west coast of Ireland. Lord Carnarvon adds that his sole reliance for affording relief to the starving people is the sending unfortunates to the workhouse. He, however, hopes that private contributions for the relief of the sufferers will enable the poor people to remain in their homes, instead of being compelled to seek shelter in the already much overcrowded workhouses.

An Irish high sheriff has written to the Times that pending the discussion of politics by parliament, a famine is approaching Ireland, and with it will come acts of lawlessness and violence, and says that the men are determined not to starve, and will seize the necessaries of life even at the risk of doing bodily harm to others.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The government guardship stopped and inspected the British bark Charles S. Parnell while the latter was leaving Queenstown yesterday for St. John, N. B. The Parnell subsequently was allowed to proceed. The cause of the detention was the fact that her nationality could not be ascertained as she passed the guardship, owing to her flag being obscured by a large maple branch which hung over it. The captain of the Parnell refused to stop until pursued.

BELFAST, Jan. 15.—At a crowded meeting at the Chamber of Commerce to-day, including merchants, manufacturers, bankers, etc., a resolution was unanimously adopted expressing loyalty to the Queen and denouncing Home Rule. A deputation was appointed to acquaint Lord Salisbury and Mr Gladstone with the disastrous results that would follow any tampering with the union.

Willing to Disarm on Conditions.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—Greece offers to demobilize her forces on condition that her claims for an extension of territory be considered by the Balkan conference when the latter reassembles at Constantinople. The porte has informed the powers that it is ready to disband the Turkish levies as soon as peace in Servia and Greece is assured.

M. Nelidoff, the Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, in an interview with the Sultan, stated that the Czar renounced the payment of a portion of the Turkish indemnity due this year.

Farm Maxims.

A small manure heap makes a small corn pile.

It is not he that sows, but he that manures that gets the big crop.

The gentle dew blesses, the cyclone distresses.

Grass and geese, sheep and swine, corn and kine, make farming fine.

Elbow grease and self-denial make the boy a man on trial.

Protect the birds and the birds will protect the crops.

By flowing streams and hills at hand, plant vines and trees to adorn the land.

A dog is as noisy as a pig, and is not fit to eat when dead.

"All flesh is grass," says Holy Writ, then grass for flesh is truly fit.

Improve the farm that is under you, and you will have something to stand on.

One cow is worth a coach and six horses.

If you work yourself, those about you will work.

A farmer who does not see the sun rise has need of a new pair of eyes.

Not every egg is sound that seems so.

Take care of the chips and you need never be without a fire.

The corn row will not be straight if you look behind you.

Plant memorial trees on the birthdays and you will always have a monument.

An empty wood shed is the sign of a poor dinner.

THE WRECK OF THE ALGOMA.

The report of Capt. Harbottle and Lieut. Gordon, the commissioners appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate into the causes of the disaster which happened to the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship Algoma at Isle Royale, Lake Superior, last fall, set forth their finding at the office of the hull inspector at the customs house, Toronto, on Friday afternoon. The finding described the vessel and reviewed the evidence given by survivors at some length. It says:—

About four o'clock in the morning on which the disaster occurred, if Capt. Moore had ordered a cast of the lead, he would have discovered the danger which was ahead of the vessel. There was not a lookout detailed for duty at the time or for some time before. It was necessary at all times for a man to be detailed specially for lookout duty, and the log and lead should have been used. The court decides to cancel the certificates of Capt. Moore and Chief Officer Hastings for twelve and six months respectively.

A telegram received from the Department of Marine and Fisheries yesterday stated that the Minister approves of the finding of the court, but shortens the suspension of the captain's certificate three months, owing to previous good record and having pursued the usual custom in navigating the lakes.

Chinese Persecutions.

Under this heading Mrs Nevius gives, in the Foreign Missionary, an account of a man named Wha Koung, who, with his brothers, purchased a certain temple which their ancestors had built to the god of war, but which they decided, now they had become Christians, to make a chapel. They bought the land, and with it, as they supposed, the right to make use of the temple as they pleased. Five dilapidated gods which were in the temple—one of which was headless, another had lost its eyes, and another its nose, and another an arm or a foot—were taken out into a field and destroyed. The place was repaired and made into a tidy little chapel, ready for the dozen or more Christians of the village. But the movement roused the ire of the idolaters in that vicinity, who though they seldom paid any worship at the heathen temple, were quite unwilling it should be used for a Christian church. Wha Koung, while attending market, was arrested and taken before the district magistrate, who with very little ceremony ordered that he be beaten with seven hundred blows. The sentence was instantly executed by five cruel officials, and the poor bleeding sufferer was carried out of the yamen more dead than alive. And now the officer has ordered his victim to restore the idols within twenty days. This was even worse than being punished, for the poor man feels that it is a violation of the second commandment for him to make an idol. Yet there seems to be no relief, inasmuch as a technical flaw has been found in the deed by which the property was secured by Mr Wha. The ruling of the official is that he has destroyed property which did not belong to him, and hence he must restore it. Few cases are more trying than this.

Truth, Stranger than Fiction.

A capital story for a sensational novel is related in a Sydney, N. S. W., newspaper, which says:—A few days ago there sailed for England a young man whose career would furnish materials enough for a romance. His father was a younger son of good family, related to a baronet, living on an estate in a midland county. He was wild in his youth, and a clever amateur actor. A junior clerkship was procured for him in the Treasury and he spent as many evenings as he could in the theatres, where he fell in love with and married a pretty ballet-girl. Her father was the stage door keeper and her mother the wardrobe woman in the theatre. The union gave offence to his friends, who found little difficulty in prevailing upon him to quit England for Australia, accompanied by his wife, and furnished with £500 over and above their passage money. During the voyage a son was born, but serious disaster befel the child's father. He fell down the hold, injured his spine, and was bedridden from that time forth. He lingered for a twelve-month after landing, and died. His protracted illness exhausted his resources, and his young widow found herself in debt after paying the funeral expenses. She was a brave little woman, obtained an engagement at the Theatre Royal, under her maiden name, and maintained and gave a tolerable education to her boy. She died of cancer before he was 17. His life since then—about five years ago—was full of vicissitude. Latterly he acted as waiter at a restaurant, where a certain inherited elegance of manner and refinement of accent often caused speculation as to his history. A few months ago, glancing down the columns of the Times, I noticed an enquiry for a missing heir, and the particulars seemed to tally with those of the waiter. The result was a correspondence with a firm of solicitors in Lincoln's Inn Fields, followed by a remittance from them and the information that he had succeeded to a baronetcy and £12,000 a year. Three lives had stood between him and it when the old possessor of the title died. These had been all removed by accident in 18 months. One was drowned while bathing near Mount Orgueil, in Jersey, a second slipped into a crevasse on the Alps, and the third broke his neck while riding to hounds in his own county.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Who Kissed Away the Tear?

Is anything stranger than the human heart? Nature sends a frail, green vine creeping across the earth to reach a grim wall and cover its ugliness—to reach a dead branch and cover it with life. We bless nature as we see these things, and yet we do not realize that human hearts are ever doing the same. One day, months ago, a rose-faced child looking from a window saw a queer old man go limping past. It tapped on the pane and the old man looked up. The sight of that sweet face opened his old heart, and he went on his way feeling richer than for many a month past. He was the grim wall—the child was the green vine. He passed again, and again the child was at the window, and for days and weeks they never missed seeing each other. At each meeting the vine crept nearer the wall—the wall appeared less grim and forbidding. One day the "wall" laid aside his old hat for a better one. Another day he had a new coat. Again he was cleaned shaved, and the "vine" scarcely recognized him. No one knew the old man, but all knew that he was feeling the influence of the vine.

A week ago as the old man passed he missed the face at the window. Was he too early or too late? He lingered and looked and seemed lost. It was the same next day, but a kind heart pitied him and sent out word that the child was sick. The green vine had reached the wall only to be blighted. Two days more and there was crape on the door. The child was dead. It had fallen asleep in death without a struggle, knowing nothing of the grand hereafter, but having no fear. On its pale cheek was a tear—a single tear which glistened like a diamond. No hand dared wipe that tear away. It seemed a tie between the present and the past—the living and the dead.

"Please can I see the—the child!" It was the old man—the grim wall—who knocked timidly at the door and spoke thus. They knew him by sight, and they led him into the room where the vine lay dead. He stood over the coffin for a moment, lips quivering and eyes full of tears and then he bent over and kissed the face which would watch for him no more. When he had gone they looked for the tear. He had kissed it away! Old and poor and unknown, he had reaped a treasure such as all the millions of the world could not buy.—Detroit Free Press.

Josh Billings and His Dog.

It is told of Josh Billings that once tramping with a yellow dog as his companion, he fell among some Yale boys in a Connecticut village hotel. They took him for a farmer from way-back, and set out to have some fun with him. On their inquiring with affected interest after the health of his wife and children, Josh, with counterfeited simplicity, gave them a graphic account of his family and farm. "Of course you belong to the Church!" asked one of the boys. "Yes, and my father and grandfather before me." "Now, I suppose you would not tell a lie," said one of the students. "Not for the world." "What will you take for that dog?" pointing to Josh's cur, which was crouching beneath the chair. "Twenty dollars! Why he's not worth 20 cents." "I assure you I would not take $20 for him." "Come, my friend," said the student, who, with his companions, was bent on having some fun with the old man. "Now, you say you won't tell a lie for the world. Let me see if you will not do it for $20. I'll give you $20 for your dog." "I'll not take it." "You will not? Here, let me see if this will not tempt you to lie," added the student, producing a small bag of half-dollars, which he built up in small piles on the table. Josh was sitting by the table, with his hat in his hand, apparently unconcerned. "There," added the student, "there are $20, all in silver: I will give you that for the animal." Josh quietly raised his hat to the edge of the table, and, as quick as thought, scattered all the money into it except one half-dollar, and then exclaimed: "I won't take your $20. Nineteen and a half is as much as that dog is worth; he is your property!"

THE FATAL FIRE DAMP.

Thirteen Miners Killed in an Instant.

EVANSTON, Wyoming, Jan. 16.—Details of the fire damp explosion which occurred in mine No. 4 at Alma, show it to have been one of the most serious in the history of the Rocky mountain coal mines. Occurring as it did at night when only a light force of miners were at work the death roll was limited to 13 souls, but had it taken place during the day the loss of life must have run up into the hundreds, for every person in the ruins met with instant death. The whole face of the country and that portion of the settlement fronting the slope give evidence of the terrible force of the explosion. The weigh and fan houses were entirely demolished and the engine house wrecked, while the residences and business houses lost the fronts, windows, doors and chimneys. The mouth of the slope has the appearance of a huge funnel, from which fully a thousand cubic yards of rock have been torn and distributed over the adjacent country. A train of thirteen cars going down into the mine at the time of the explosion was broken into fragments, and shot out as though from the mouth of a canon. William and Joseph Evans, passengers thereon, were terribly mutilated. All the victims save two were Mormons, married, and leave large families.

PALMERSTON has a new industry. Under the supervision of the Ontario Board of Health, Dr. Stewart, who is widely and favourably known, has now in operation the Ontario Vaccine Farm. The necessity for such an institution in Canada was clearly evidenced by recent experiences. Absolutely pure vaccine virus is now supplied from the farm in any quantity. The establishment is opened under auspicious circumstances.

Local News

THE Elora curling and skating rink was opened last Saturday. Guelph curlers have had ice for the past month.

T. C. DEAN has had his story "The Path to her Heart" copyrighted. He should get it stereotyped.

FERGUS has a chequer player who is anxious to meet with some one who can beat. He can be accommodated in this city.

HIGH license has decreased the number of drinking saloons in Chicago from 13,000 to 9,000, and added nearly $1,300,000 to the city's revenue.

COUNCILLOR ANDREWS, of Milton, who was thrown from his horse the week before last, receiving a severe scalp wound, is lying dangerously ill, erysipelas having set in.

NUMBERS of winter ducks have made their appearance on the Grand River near Galt since the severe frost set in, and quite a few have been shot by local sportsmen.

HORSEFLESH has grown in favor in Paris, France. It is now a standard dish for the table. Parties having old nags to dispose of in this vicinity will be pleased to hear this.

MISS BRIDGET JORDAN, daughter of Anthony Jordan, Peel, met with a serious accident a few days ago by falling on the frozen ground and fracturing her right arm close to the wrist.

THE Oakville Star and Independent has put in a new complete Campbell power press, capable of turning out over 2,000 impressions per hour. The Star has to be congratulated on its enterprise.

OLD Mr. Foster, the barber, Milton, whose attempt at suicide was chronicled last week, lingered along in great pain until Sunday, the 10th inst. It is said the family intend removing shortly to Allendale or Muskoka.

REEVE FOOTE, of Elora, is to interview Mr Glazebrook, of Simcoe, to arrange the sale or rent of the furniture factory at one time occupied by Mr Mundell in that village. If successful in all probability a butter factory will be started in the village.

Galt Reporter:—The Wm. Paddock, enquired for from England as being heir to some money, was, we understand, a cousin of the Messrs. Paddock, of Puslinch, and was in this neighborhood some five or six years ago. When last heard from he was living in Buffalo.

MR WM. HALL, residing near Alma, while drawing wood into Salem, met with a most severe accident. The team was going down a steep place, the load slipped forward and Mr Hall went down among the horses' feet. He was dragged a short distance. His face and hands are badly cut, and his collar bone broken.

THE Erin Advocate in advocating the establishment of a curling club there says: "Erin could turn out a team with muscle and nerve enough to more than hold its own with neighboring clubs." The Guelph club will no doubt be willing to give the club prospective all the practice they wish for.

W. C. T. UNION.—The meeting of this Union next Wednesday afternoon in the new rooms of the Y. M. C. A., Macdonnell street, will be addressed by Miss G. MR. and MRS. James White, North Dumfries, celebrated their golden wedding on January 12th. Mr. White came from Northumberland to Galt in 1831, and Mrs. White to the same place from Etterick, Scotland, in 1834, henceforth they are well known in Galt and surrounding places. They have a family of twelve children.

A WILD CAT.—Sunday week a large wild cat made its appearance near the house of Mr. Walter Samuels, whose farm adjoins the great swamp in the 9th concession of Luther, and seeing a domestic cat sitting at the door made a rush at it and caught it by the throat, but one of Mr. Samuel's sons suddenly interfering it relaxed its hold and ran swiftly into the swamp.

THE QUEEN CITY.—Toronto boasts of 500 practising lawyers, with clerks and students that swell the list to 1,500; 89 barber shops; 89 blacksmith shops; 160 boarding houses; 240 butcher shops; 40 dentists extract a living; 720 grocers; 267 hotels and 11 saloons; 200 lincensed doctors; 70 tobacco shops; 66 periodicals and newspapers; 131 tailor shops, ten undertakers, and 103 places of worship.

THE MEN OF THE WAR.—This evening the Rev. W. S. Ball, former pastor of Knox Church this city, will deliver his celebrated lecture in the above church entitled "The Men of the War and How They Fought." Wherever Mr. Ball has delivered this lecture the press speak of it in the highest and in many instances flattering terms. The Rev. gentleman's abilities are so well known in Guelph that he requires no eulogy. There will no doubt be a large attendance.

THE NEWSPAPER IN A HOME.—The newspaper is a powerful auxiliary of our public schools. During a discussion on "Teaching Reading" at a recent meeting of a teachers' association, several teachers bore testimony to the fact that the best readers among their pupils belonged, as a rule, to families that took newspapers; and that the children of parents who took no newspapers appeared at a disadvantage when compared with their more privileged companions.

COMPLIMENT TO MAYOR STEVENSON.—The Waterloo Chronicle has the following:—The victory of Mayor Stevenson, of Guelph, is about as significant as that of Mr. Howland in Toronto. Mayor Stevenson represents the party of law, and order. He declares it to be his intention to enforce the law, considering that a new law intended to shut off the most dangerous of the avenues to the broad road that leads to destruction, is coming into operation in Guelph in a few months, this declaration coupled with the fact that Mayor Stevenson was sustained by a majority of 74 over both his opponents put together, is a sign that Guelph means business.

BURIED ALIVE.—The Woodstock Times says:—It will be remembered that in the early part of last year, the town was shocked by the announcement of the awfully sudden death of a girl named Collins, while on her way to the west end school, and engaged with her school mates playing on the street, suddenly dropped dead. The body was this week moved from where it had been buried to the family plot, and the parents wishing to view the remains had the coffin opened, when, to their horror, they discovered that a dreadful struggle must have taken place after burial. The shroud had been torn to shreds, the knees of the body were drawn up to the chin, one of the arms was twisted under the head, and the features bore evidence of dreadful torture, unmistakeable proofs that life was not extinct when interment occurred.

Pigeon Pop.

A pigeon match was shot Friday afternoon between L. Singular, of Aberfoyle, and J. Turnbull, of this City, for $5.00 a side, 10 birds each. The following is the score:—

Turnbull	1 1 1 1 1 0 0 0 0 1—6
Singular	1 1 0 1 1 0 0 1 1 0—6

The contestants then shot off the ties.

Turnbull	011—2	100—1	00—0
Singular	110—2	100—1	01—1

This very closely contested match resulted in favor of Singular after having to shoot at 18 birds each.

The following individual shoot took place afterwards:—

Wayper	101—2	O'Boyle	101—2
Edwards	111—3	Shattuck	111—3
Sutton	011—2	Walker	111—3
Ellis	001—1	Hogan	110—2
Robinson	101—2	Blythe	001—1

CITY COUNCIL.

Last of the Old and First of the New.

SEVERAL INTERESTING REPORTS.

The last meeting of the old Council opened at twenty minutes past nine this morning. Present, Mayor Stevenson in the chair; Ald. Lamprey, Bruce, Maddock, Smith, Goldie, Walker, Brill, Husband, Macdonald, Skinner, Hortop, Carter, Stull, Hearn, Read, Barber.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Thos. Goldie, chairman of the above committee, presented the following report:

Your Finance Committee beg leave to present their fifteenth and final report.

We recommend payment of the following accounts:

T. J. Day, for stationery	50
J. A. Nelles, for stationery	17 40
J. J. Sutton, bill posting	1 50
Guelph Herald, printing	40 50

Your committee have considered the memorial from the Council Board of the City of Hamilton, and would recommend this Council to memorialize the Government with the view of stopping all kinds of pauper immigration.

In regard to the petition signed by R. Maughan, we cannot recommend that any action be taken until more definite information is furnished this Council. Your committee cannot recommend that any action be taken on the petition of John Hewer, his proposition not meeting with the committee's approval. We would recommend that the Solicitor be instructed to proceed vigorously to collect the balance of the money subscribed by certain parties to aid the City at the time of the Provincial Exhibition and not yet paid. In regard to the City printing we would recommend that it be done by tender the same as other work performed for the City. Your committee consider this the fairest method. We would call the attention of the new Council to the fact that this committee recommended and the Council adopted a report that the City auditors inspect and audit the books of the City every three months. During the year now passed your committee have entertained a large number of exemption petitions, and have come to the conclusion that the fairest law for all parties would be not to have any property or salary exempt. In reference to the petition of Rev. W. F. Clarke asking a refund of $10, taxes since June 1st, under the Exemption Act, your committee cannot recommend that the same be granted.

CEMETERY COMMITTEE.

His Worship the Mayor, chairman, presented the following report: During the year 1885, there have been 116 interments in the Union cemetery, 7 of which have been provided for indigent persons. 27 burial lots have been sold, and 31 lots for single graves, and 91 removals from the old cemetery. In the St. George's cemetery 26 interments and 11 removals from the old cemetery. Total interments in both cemeteries 142 and 102 removals. Several improvements have been made during the year. New fences have been erected enclosing the caretaker's residence and outbuildings; also in the cemetery grounds, under the care and labor of Mr. Gokey, whose management affords great satisfaction to your Com. Treasurer's accounts of James Hough have been audited and found correct. The Financial Statement is as follows:—

DR.

To balance of last year	$113 89
Note discounted	100 00
Burial fees	184 00
Burial lots sold	348 00
Single graves	42 00
Land rent	40 00
Sodding graves and decorations	185 00
Discount and interest	203 31
Overdrawn account	8 97
Total	$1,225 17

CR.

By caretaker's salary	$420 00
Horse hire, provender and hired labour	342 00
Building lattice fence, insurance, etc	54 00
Repairing pump and tools	10 00
Payment on account of discount and interest	207 17
Committee, Secretary, Treasurer, stationery, etc	92 00
Note payable in the Bank	100 00
Total	$1,225 17

There is still an unascertained amount due from the City of Guelph to the Guelph Union Cemetery Committee, for interment of bodies removed from the old cemetery. Received.

RAILWAYS.

Ald. Brill, chairman, reported that the following amounts had been paid out by his committee:—Mr. Davis, surveying, $50; P. Spragge, $6; R. Ewing, $2; extra teams, $6.25; total $64.25; balance to the credit of committee, $35.15. Adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Ald. Skinner, chairman, submitted the report of the Chief of the Fire Department. He reported that the loss by fire has been small in proportion to the number of alarms. He then gave in detail the location of the various fires and their extent. In summing up the Chief stated that the total loss by fire during the year was $6,023; the amount of insurance was $5,713, which leaves a total loss not covered by insurance of $250. In conclusion the Chief said: I cannot close this report without congratulating the Council and inhabitants generally on the very great improvement of the fire protection since purchasing the new team and patent harness, as it enables the firemen to make a great deal better time in getting out than the old way. I may also say that two tests have been made, one from the fire station to hydrant at Edwin street, the distance being five-eights of a mile. On the order being given—the horses standing in the stable—they were hitched and the run made to said hydrant, hose laid and water thrown in two minutes and 30 seconds. The second test was made to the hydrant at the corner of Stewart's lumber yard, at which the same time was made. The time at each test was taken by ex-Ald. Gowdy, at the request of the chairman, so that it can be relied upon. Great praise should be given Driver Thos. Hewer and the members of the Brigade for the progress that has been made in the training of the team. The report was received.

BY-LAWS TO BE PRINTED.

Moved by Ald. Read, seconded by Ald. Macdonald, that 500 copies of the consolidated by-laws of the City be printed, and that the City Clerk be instructed to ask tenders for the same by March the 1st. Carried.

GRANT TO THE REPORTERS.

Moved by Ald. Goldie, seconded by Ald. Walker, that the sum of $10 be paid to each of the MERCURY and Herald reporters. Carried.

GRANT TO THE MAYOR.

Moved by Ald. Goldie, seconded by Ald. Walker, Ald. Macdonald in the chair, that the sum of $300 be placed to the credit of His Worship Mayor Stevenson as a slight acknowledgment from this Council for his valuable services as Mayor. Carried.

Ald. Goldie in making the motion referred to the honorable, and satisfactory manner in which the Mayor had discharged his duties for the year. The sum granted was but a very small acknowledgement for the very valuable services rendered by the Mayor during the year, and was granted with a view of covering the many expenses which the Mayor might have to meet from his own private pocket during the discharge of his duties. The present Mayor had been untiring in serving the City, and he regretted that the sum was not larger.

Ald. Maddock, Lamprey, and several other members of the Council supported the resolution, all paying a high compliment to Mr. Stevenson.

Ald. Maddock in a few words conveyed the resolution to the Mayor.

His Worship acknowledged the resolution in a few sentences. He wished that he could adequately express his feelings for the kind treatment and great consideration he had received at the hands of the Council during the past year. There had been no fractiousness and everything went on harmoniously. He regretted that some of the members, especially the chairmen of committees, with whom he had been more immediately connected, were not members of the Council of 1886. He hoped to see them at the Council board again at no distant date. The Mayor again thanked them for their gift, after which the minutes of the meeting were read.

THANKS TO RETIRING MEMBERS.

Moved by Ald. Lamprey, seconded by Ald. Bruce, that this Council have much pleasure in tendering their hearty thanks to the following retiring members, viz:—Ald. Goldie, Macdonald, Walker, Burns, Hortop, Scull, Barber and Brill, for the very efficient manner in which they have discharged their duties as aldermen for the year 1885. Carried.

All the above aldermen, with the exception of Ald. Burns, who was absent, replied to the resolution, after which the Council adjourned at a quarter to eleven.

The New Council.

At 11:20 the new Council convened. Mayor Stevenson took the chair and the following gentlemen filed into their respective seats:—Ald. Wm. Carter, Coffee, Wells, Skinner, Husband, Hamilton, Read, Hall, Hearn, Smith, Hewer, Cutten, Maddock, Bruce, Keough, Chadwick, and Lamprey. The only member absent was Ald. John Carter.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Mayor read a communication from the City Solicitor, stating that he had enquired into the qualifications of the members elected, but was not able to report fully on the matter. Before the next regular meeting he would be in a position to state definitely whether all were qualified or not. The Solicitor then went on to make suggestions relative to the best way of carrying out the law.

The Clerk stated that all the members had taken the oath of qualification.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

The Mayor then read the following address:—

To the Municipal Council of the City of Guelph:

GENTLEMEN,—Having been honoured for the second time and elected to occupy the position of Mayor for the City of Guelph, in taking the chair and presiding over the deliberations of the Council, I do so with, I think, a due sense of the importance attached to the office and a partial knowledge of the onerous duties connected therewith. The duties of the Mayor can be greatly lessened by the cheerful co-operation of the Council, and the cares and anxieties connected with the office can be rendered agreeable and pleasant by all the members of the Council uniting for the best interests of the City. It will ever be my wish while occupying the civic chair to carry out to the best of my ability the rules governing the Council; to preserve order and decorum during the meetings, and I shall rely on your kindnes and generosity to enable me to do so.

I congratulate you, Gentlemen, on the financial position of the City, which is good, and would have been much better but for the unforeseen contingencies of last year—extra expenses connected with the Water Works department, and others which required an additional outlay. Our debenture debt is reduced below $200,000, and I am happy to say that the last instalment of the Municipal Loan Fund debt will be paid this year.

The by laws of the city, some of which were absolete, others not adapted to Guelph as a City, others having so many amendments to them that the Police Magistrate often found it difficult to convict offenders, have been completely revised and consolidated. It will be for you to consider the advisability of having them at once printed, for the information of all concerned.

It will be one of the first acts of this Council to nominate and empower a special Committee to draft the standing Committees for the current year. I am sure I need not tell you how much success depends on having all the Committees carefully considered and adjusted, and on having the right man to act as chairman on each Committee included, so that the greatest possible advantage may accrue to the City. In connection with this allow me to say, there is no rule governing the Council, relative to the formation of the drafting committee, and as the same is a source of controversy every year, I recommend some method be laid down this year, and the same be added to the rules of the Council.

A number of questions of vital importance will come before your notice. One of the first will no doubt be increased railway facilities. The Council is now waiting for an offer, or information, from Mr. Van Horne, relative to the line from Guelph to Schaw station to connect with the C.P.R. The interests of Guelph will, I trust, be pushed forward with vigor by the Railway Committee, and no means left untried to secure for the City so great a boon.

I am in favor also of fostering our industries, and also of the Council offering

Guelph Daily Mercury

MONDAY EVE'G, JAN. 18, 1886.

IN Amherstburg, fifty out of eighty-six women on the voters' lists voted. This is about as large a proportion as usually votes of men at municipal contests. Yet there were people who said that women would not exercise the franchise even if they had it.

THE London Advertiser and the Toronto Globe are justly proud of the feat of reporting Mr. Blake's speech verbatim, and giving it to their readers next morning. As the telegraphed report contains about 12,000 words, the journals, reporters and telegraph operators are alike to be complimented.

A HIGHLY satisfactory use for frozen wheat has been discovered in the Northwest. It turns out that large quantities worth twenty-five or thirty cents a bushel were sold to the Government as good oats and charged at eighty cents or a dollar. An annual rebellion would be a good thing for Sir John's pets who get fat contracts for supplies.

The Herald says of Mr. Blake's speech that "In it there is no platform of principles announced." Our purblind contemporary is evidently unable to comprehend what a platform of principles is. Doubtless it would see more clearly if the platform was accompanied with a fat Government ad., measured on solid nonpariel, at 10 cents per line, to be reinserted six or a dozen times.

THE Independent Press are for once warm in their eulogies of the leader of the Opposition, and refer to his speech in London with patriotic pride. The Tory organs are even obliged to admit its excellence of sentiment, snarls only being heard from some of the lesser dogs who failed to wait for the big dogs' bark before they struck in. The only paper of note among the latter class is the London Free Press.

THE Hamilton Spectator asks:—"Did anybody ever hear of a municipal council containing a majority of Reformers giving a valuable office to a Conservative?" To which the Dundas Banner replies that the Beverly Township Council, which, ever since its first meeting, has had a Reform majority, over twenty years ago, appointed Mr. Wallace McDonald, a staunch Conservative, to the office of township clerk, and he has held that position ever since.

IT seems to be pretty well understood that Toronto's new City Council will insist on largely reducing the number of licenses and raising the license fee. The present number of licenses is 226. It is expected that the more advanced advocates of reduction will ask that the number be fixed at 100, while an effort will probably be made to raise the license fee to $500. It is not likely that the full measure of those demands will be conceded. Very few expect to accomplish so much this year. The mayoralty vote, however, showed very clearly that the people and not the liquor interest are hereafter to rule in Toronto.

A NEIGHBOURING Reform exchange very pertinently advises its friends that they must not lose sight of the fact that in the revising barristers' clerks the Tory party have active and energetic election agents. If the Liberal cause is to triumph at the next election, as we believe it will, steps must be at once taken to see that the hundreds of Liberals in every constituency who have recently been enfranchised, are placed upon the voters' lists. There is no time to lose. Meetings should be held in every municipality and committees appointed to make out lists of the new voters in each polling subdivision. Only by this means will it be possible to counteract the efforts of the hired election agents and secure an honest expression of public opinion.

Telegram:—After all the row that was raised in the last British Parliament over Mr Bradlaugh's seat it is somewhat disappointing to think that when the present Parliament meets Mr Bradlaugh will walk in and take his seat the same as any other member. There has never been any good reason put forward why he should not, as he was as legally and properly elected as Mr Gladstone, Lord Randolph Churchill, or any other member. The idea that Parliament could get inside a newly elected member and explore him with a lantern with the object of discovering just what he believed and just what he did not believe, was a weak one and never held water. Scores of members believe no more about the future state than does Mr Bradlaugh, but they have the good sense and the good taste not to thrust their opinion on other people nor to attack opinions that other people hold dear. That is the difference. So far as the broad question of Mr Bradlaugh's right to sit in the House is concerned there can be no doubt of his standing. The electors of Northampton have a perfect right to be represented by the man of their choice, so long, of course, as he is not a criminal or a lunatic. They had Mr Bradlaugh's case before them, and are the best judges as to whether he is a fit and proper person to represent them.

A Protest From a Northwest Trooper.

To the Editor of the MERCURY:

DEAR SIR,—The ladies of Guelph did not forget the boys who joined Steele's scouts and the Alberta Mounted Rifles and went to the front under Gen. T. B. Strange. They sent us a splendid outfit of clothing when we were forgotten alike by our eastern friends and our friends in the Northwest. Could they have looked into No. 3 tent—we had ridden all day in the rain and it was still raining when we pitched camp—one evening as a corporal informed us of the present the ladies of Guelph were sending us they would have seen that their kindness was warmly appreciated.

Now sir, I would like to let the ladies who were so kind to men who were entire strangers, and the citizens of Guelph, know how the Dominion Government have, and are, treating us. The following from the Calgary Tribune speaks for itself:

"We notice by the Macleod Gazette that the Rocky Mountain Rangers have been granted land scrips. This is right, and now will arise why should not "Steele's Scouts" and the Alberta Mounted Rifles receive theirs. While we do not wish for a moment to disparage the service performed by the Rangers, yet we think that the two companies above mentioned who had many days of hard riding on horses supplied by themselves, and which have in many cases since died, or being totally used up in the service, and who had actual engagements with the enemy, and performed feats of valour unsurpassed in the whole campaign, should not be the only men passed over, and their claims slighted. A number of these men have not yet received the remuneration for their services, and to see other companies on all sides of them receiving their land scrip is an insult—a slight which would require strong patriotism to bear without loud complaint. We hope this matter will be taken up by the Government and rectified as soon as practicable.—Calgary Tribune.

The rangers were doubtless first class men and eager for action, still they were round towns and boarded at hotels part of their time; had good Chicago saddles, Colt revolvers, etc., and as one of them told me the only hard ride they had was one of 60 miles.

On the other hand, the scouts and rifles were supplied with saddles worth about $4—practically useless—with no revolvers; they lived for months on hard-tack, bacon and corned beef, and 65 men who followed Big Bear to Loon Lake lived on three hard-tack a day washed down with slough water for a week. A great part of the time our horses had no oats, and when in the neighborhood of the enemy they had to be tied short, to wagon wheels, etc., at night, giving them no chance to feed. We were often out on duty where our only covering at night was our saddle blanket, and that at times when there was a down pour of cold rain lasting all night. Men were sent on extra duty as couriers, etc., (often risking almost certain death) and promised extra pay,—so far the Government have taken it out in promises. The Government agreed to buy the scouts horses at the price paid, but haven't bought them yet. The A. M. Rifles' horses were bought at prices double what they were worth, and were so used up when they returned that they would not sell for half their value. In one instance a horse bought at $100 had to be sold for $40, etc. It is needless to say the Rifles received the same treatment as the scouts.

Major-General T. B. Strange is one of the veterans of Delhi, and yet he said in a public meeting that he never commanded better troops than the men he led to the front last summer, yet the Government slights us, and though denying us land warrants, gives them to men who didn't fire a shot—didn't even rough it.

The advertisement of the "Military Bounty Grant" reads:—1st. The Governor General in Council is hereby authorized to grant each member of the enrolled militia force, etc., bearing arms in the suppression of the Indian and halfbreed outbreak, and serving west of Pt. Arthur," etc. Now if we were not actively engaged (we were sworn in under the militia act) etc., no force serving west of Pt. Arthur was, and I for one should like to leave it to a disinterested party—Lieut. Howard—to say how actively we were engaged.

Now, sir, can you see any reason why we should be denied our land grant, and that when men who were never in danger and had a good time of it all summer get theirs.

I may state that the R. M. Rangers were raised by Major Stewart, a favorite of the "powers that be." One can understand why the Government try to get out of paying out hard cash, but the land grants are different as they would never miss the 32,000 acres—not half the area often leased to a single individual, usually a Government favorite, in this district—that we are justly entitled to.

Compare the way the Dominion Government is using the men of Alberta, and the land grants, pensions, etc., given by the United States to their [illegible] The U. S. Government gave each [illegible] volunteers a bounty of $300 when they enlisted—we refer to the war between North and South—and gave a pension for slight wounds of not less than $8 per month; they also deducted the time served in the army from the time they were required to live on their homestead. The latter will never call in vain for men to rally round the stars and stripes, but, though the boys of Alberta will ever be ready and willing to fight for their old homes in the east or their new ones in the west, I reckon it would be a mighty cold day when they'd rally to "assembly" sounded by the present Government.

We should like to hear an explanation of this business from Gen. Sir Fred. Middleton et al. We are very much mistaken if the gent who pocketed $20,000 while the widows of volunteers killed in action got a pension of 21 cents a day, could not explain matters.

Yours truly,
TROOPER A. M. RIFLES.

INTERESTING CIVIC MEMORANDA.

The Municipal Fathers of the Past Thirty-Five Years.

In 1851 Guelph assumed the dignity of a town—now 35 years ago. During that period 137 persons have had seats at the Council Board and as an interesting memo we give a tabular statement of the number of times that each member has been elected. There is no rule for establishing the seniority of members; one theory, which appears to us to be the most acceptable, is that the number of times that the party has been elected should decide. Another is that the earliest date should be received as the governing rule, this is open to the objection that a person might have been elected 30 years ago and never had the pleasure of sitting again and yet would take precedence of a gentleman who had been sitting for perhaps a dozen consecutive years.

A Sad Story.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Last Thursday a young woman, apparently about 21 years of age, called at the office of the Elder Publishing Company and asked for the editor of Literary Life. Mr. Elder answered in the absence of the editor, and to him she presented a manuscript which she wished to sell. She told a touching story of how she had left New York with a dramatic company, hoping to achieve a place in the profession and earn her own support; how the company went to pieces finally, and how she at last found herself alone and penniless in Chicago. The girl bore evidence of education and culture. She concluded her story by saying that her name was Maud Miller, and that she was the daughter of the poet, Joaquin Miller. Mr. Elder supplied Miss Miller with money and introduced her to several kind hearted ladies by whom she was cared for until last night, when she was put aboard a New York train comfortably equipped for the journey.

THE TYPESTICKERS.

McCann Loses His Grip on The Championship.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Unusual interest has been developed in the type setting contest which has been in progress here the present week: Barnes, the ex-champion of the New York World, and champion McCann, of the New York Herald, have kept very closely together, but Barnes has presented the cleanest proofs, and while the two contestants have set relatively the same amount of matter, Barnes has obtained a strong lead for the reason stated. The five other contestants are Chicago men, and while not equal in speed to the New Yorkers, have made a sharp fight for third and fourth place.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Upon yesterday's figures being corrected this morning it was found that Levy had taken third place in the typesetting contest. It is impossible to get a verified table to night, but as near as can be ascertained the total number of ems set by each man at the close of the tournament is:—Barnes, 39,210½; McCann, 37,806½; Levy, 33,918; Hudson, 33,764½; Monheimer, 33,347½; Creevy, 33,230; Dijardnatt, 31,428. This gives Barnes the first, McCann second, and Levy third prizes.

any inducement in its power to attract others to locate in our midst by giving exemption from taxation, and free water for a number of years, so long as such manufactory does not conflict with those already established here.

Another subject I wish to refer to is an efficient system of drainage or sewerage for the City. This is one of vast importance, and one which will have to be undertaken in the near future. The amount required would be very large to perform so great a work, still it will be a matter well worth your consideration whether or not the work should be inaugurated this year.

The employment of two assessors, instead of one, was last year discussed by the Finance Committee, and the report favoring two assessors was adopted. It was felt at that time, that though the work was well done by the present incumbent, the size of the city, and the importance of the work, required a change. This matter will, I have no doubt, receive your best attention.

The Council will bear in mind that at a recent meeting a report was adopted recommending that the Police Force be increased by at least one man. This will receive my support, as I think the Force is small, and another man would place it in a greater state of efficiency and usefulness, and render unnecessary the constant employment of a special by the Chief. Another matter agitated last year was taking the control of Police out of the hands of the Council and placing it in the hands of the Police Commissioners. I do not favour this view of the subject, as I think the Police Force are far more likely to perform their duty faithfully when responsible to the Council, and to the people through it. Last year I instructed the Police to have some lewd and indecent show bills covered up. I shall pursue the same line of policy in regard to all immoral and indecent performances, and hope such a course will merit your approval.

The present method of dispensing relief I consider the most beneficial to the real needy, of any yet adopted by the Council. Formerly a new chairman was appointed every year, and a large class of unworthy applicants thronged the Relieving Office, and the chairman often found it impossible to discriminate between the deserving poor and impostors. This evil is in a large measure done away with by having a permanent relieving officer, who, I must say, has most faithfully and efficiently performed the duties incumbent on him, and though a number of cases have been cut off, a large number of destitute and suffering people have been sought out and relieved.

You are aware that the income of the City will be over $3000 less this year than formerly owing to the adoption of the Scott Act. I am sure that as the Act was carried by a large majority of the ratepayers, such loss will be cheerfully borne, and some method adopted by you to supply the deficiency and any other necessary expenses, to successfully carry out the law.

The law granting exemption from taxation of government officials and others, also large tracts of land held by religious bodies, and buildings, is I think unfair and unjust. I think that exemptions should be abolished by the Government, and all parties sharing in the benefits of good citizenship should bear their share of taxation. Any method to bring about so desirable an end will have my warm support whether by petitioning the Government or co-operating with other cities and towns in doing so.

Plans and schemes will no doubt be brought before you for the amelioration of the working classes. I am aware that the best results can only be attained by legislation. I am in favour of the Council assisting the toiling masses by every means in its power to secure their prosperity and welfare. Properly understood there is no conflict between Capital and Labor. In their great aggregations they are essentially a component part of the progress of every country or city, and only when they dwell in harmonious relations does true prosperity exist.

I have thus faintly foreshadowed some of the matters of interest which will come before you this year. I have few remarks to make, or pledges to give, except to reassert what I announced previous to my election. I assume the duties of the office untrammeled by any pledge inconsistent with the welfare of Guelph. I have only one ambition—to faithfully perform all the trusts imposed by the office, and grateful to the electors of Guelph who have honored me with their suffrages, and whose servant I feel I am. I enter upon the performance of my duties with a firm determination to see the By-laws and Municipal laws governing the City, faithfully executed and carried out, to cut off as much as possible all useless expenditure; to enforce as far as I am able the most stringent economy everywhere, and to limit the appropriations to the different committees to the absolute needs of each department, consistent with efficiency.

Gentlemen,—Hoping that the views expressed in this imperfect address will receive patient and kind consideration at your hands, I have the honour to be your obedient servant,

WM. STEVENSON.

Moved by Ald. Chadwick, seconded by Ald. Lamprey, that the Mayor's address be referred to a special committee composed of Ald. Coffee, Husband, Hall, Hewer, Cutten, and the mover. Carried.

The Mayor named Mr. W. S. G. Knowles as his auditor and the Council appointed Mr. Joseph Heffernan as their auditor for the current year.

Moved by Ald. Cutten, seconded by Ald. Husband, that Ald. Wm. Carter, Skinner, Read, Hearn, Bruce, Lamprey and the mover be a Special Committee to draft the Standing Committees of this Council for the current year, and report at the evening session.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Lamprey, seconded by Ald. Maddock, that Ald. W. Carter, Skinner, Hall, Hewer, Bruce, and the mover be a committee to strike the Standing Committees for the current year.

Moved in amendment to the amendment by Ald Chadwick, seconded by Ald. Keough, that the Committee to strike the Standing Committees for the current year be composed as follows, viz:—Wm. Carter, Skinner, Hall, Read, Hearn, Bruce, Lamprey, Cutten and Coffee.

Ald. Chadwick's amendment received 5 votes, the amendment 6 votes and the original motion 11 votes which was carried.

The Council adjourned shortly after twelve to meet again at 7:30 in the evening.

Police Report.

To His Worship the Mayor and Corporation of the City of Guelph.

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit herewith my fifth annual report for the Police Department showing the work performed by the Force for the year 1885.

The careful observance of the by-laws of the City by the citizens is a subject for congratulation, and the favourable sentiment of the public has greatly aided the Police Force in dealing with such infractions as have occurred, while the disposition is to deal strictly with infringements of the bylaws and regulations; and I am happy to report that in my experience never have they been better observed.

Reports from surrounding places show a largely increased number of the more serious offences as now occurring, and it appears as though the country were afflicted with an epidemic of crime. Extra precaution is necessary, excepting Wyndham street and the parts adjoining, which have constant supervision. Outside of this there is insufficient protection to the City at night. Besides this there have occurred during the last year a number of cases of tree, lamp and fence breaking, and other destruction of property in the night time along the outlying parts of the leading thoroughfares. I would humbly suggest that at least four additional men should be provided for night duty especially, so as to cover the sections now unprotected.

With respect to strangers, about whom there may be suspicion, the practice adopted has been to question them as to their business, and I believe this has produced a good effect in many cases; this and other detective work falls principally within the line of my own duty, and I believe it will be better performed by an officer in plain clothes than in uniform.

I would refer to the open hallways and passages on Wyndham st. leading to upper stories, which may afford refuge and concealment to intending wrong-doers, and the means of effecting comparatively safe entrance to stores, offices and the like. It would be well if measures were adopted by those concerned to have such entrances closed night. Lights in stores are also recommended as affording a large degree of protection to the premises in which they are kept, and likely to be worth the extra expense to the owners.

It is also desirable that the duties of the Police force should be clearly defined and placed beyond question in order to the proper enforcement of all the laws of the city, the Consolidated By-laws will no doubt settle any difficulty in this respect heretofore experienced, as well as in obtaining copies of by-laws required, by reason of their scattered condition.

The market regulations have on the whole been rather well observed, the farmers especially being disposed to comply cheerfully with the directions of the police. The result has been a great improvement and convenience of the market beyond former years.

Among the more serious crimes of the year were the late burglaries at Watson's and Sheehan's stores. In connection with them several arrests were made and punishment has been awarded to some of the persons charged. One has made default in his bail and it is likely that ere long the others will be brought to justice. Stolen property amounting in value to $1,150 has been recovered during the year.

An attempt has lately been made to establish a house of ill-fame, but the persons concerned were warned to leave the City under penalty of arrest, and have done so. Previously two others made similar attempts, but were promptly arrested under the Vagrant Acts and sentenced to the Mercer Reformatory. It is difficult or impossible to prevent such characters from transiently coming into the City, but no established house of till fame has been or will be permitted to exist in Guelph. Respecting such places I believe that prevention is better than cure.

Under the direction of the Mayor and Chairman of the Police Committee, I have detailed two of the men to visit each of the hotels several times during prohibited hours, and they have reported that they found no cause for complaint. As to the crimes committed under the direct influence of liquor may be mentioned a case of burglary at Bunyan's hotel, and of three persons convicted of fighting.

I would suggest as in former reports that some more satisfactory provision should be made with respect to bathing under proper regulation.

Also that a lamp be placed over the entrance to the Police Station, with Police Station lettered on it, so as to enable strangers to find the Police Station at night. Also that the iron bars of the prisoners cells in the Police Station be painted, so as to prevent them from rusting.

There has been no night watchman on Wyndham street during the past month owing to the one appointed by the merchants resigning.

The clothing, equipments, and quarters are in a satisfactory condition. The harmony existing among the members of the Force and their general conduct in all other respects have been excellent; there has been no vacancy or serious illness.

For the members of the Force as for myself it affords me great pleasure in conclusion to thank His Worship the Mayor, the Police Committee, and the members of the Council generally for their kindness and support accorded the Police Force throughout the year.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
F. W. RANDALL,
Chief of Police.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

FROST BITES.—The appeals of Chicago people frost-bitten during the recent cold snap brought out numerous remedies for frozen ears, noses and toes. But there were not nearly enough remedies to go round. Here is one of them: Snow, of course, if applied right away and in proper manner, will prevent bad consequences to a great extent. But an application of turpentine ointment will counteract the effects of cold very satisfactorily when it is applied as soon as possible after the occurrence for a time sufficient to produce a rubefacient effect on the parts.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness, and all symptoms of dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. Sold by A. B. Petrie.

The Terms of Peace.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 18. — Prince Alexander of Bulgaria has telegraphed to the Porte that Servia has no right to select the place for conducting the negotiations for peace between Servia and Bulgaria. Local News

PROPERTY SOLD.—Mr. John Gardiner has sold lot No. 16, con. 14, Nichol Township, near Fergus, to Hugh G. Cookburn, of Puslinch, 100 acres, for $3,700.

THE Relief Committee have accepted tenders for 80 cords of wood, from John Laing 20 cords, Jas. McCuen 20 cords, J. Jackson 40. Part of the wood cost $3.87½, and balance at $4.

THE snow-fall last night has made sleighing very good in the city. The Toboggan Club will this evening prepare their slide for the grand opening on Friday evening next, weather permitting.

THE Choral Union are succeeding admirably in their practices for their first concert, which will take place in the City Hall in about three weeks. All members are requested to attend practices promptly.

THE sleighing to-day has considerably improved the appearance of the market. Produce of all kinds was offered for sale and eagerly bought up at standard prices. Wheat brought 78c per bushel, and oats from 28c to 29c. All other products at correspondingly low figures.

ORGAN RECITALS.—Prof. Philp, assisted by Mrs. Whitehead, Guelph; Mrs. McCulloch, nee Maggie Barr, Hamilton, and Prof. Warrington, Toronto, intend giving a series of organ recitals in Sarnia, Point Edward and Port Huron, shortly. They will be absent about a week.

THE RINK.—Several handsome prizes are to be given by leading merchants for costumes at the children's carnival on Friday night. The Stirton medal will be competed for between Brandon, Bunyan and McCutcheon. Manager Maddock is determined that this shall be a bona fide race.

I. O. O. F.—To-morrow the Grand Master of the I. O. O. F. will pay an official visit to Guelph. In the afternoon he will institute, in the Oddfellows' hall, a Rebecca Degree Lodge, and in the evening hold a Lodge of Instruction, when deputations from Fergus, Elora, Preston, Galt, Berlin and other places will be present.

SENT UP FOR LARCENY.—This morning Wm. Watson, an old man, who was employed at Mrs. Langford's hotel, Eramosa, was charged, after remand, for stealing $43 from Mrs. Langford on the 4th of January. The evidence of four witnesses was taken, on which testimony His Worship committed the prisoner for trial before the County Judge.

PUSLINCH FARMERS' CLUB.—The annual reunion of the Puslinch Farmers' Club takes place to-morrow evening at Aberfoyle. From the energy displayed by the officers of the Club and the Committee who have charge of the arrangements, it promises to be one of the most successful meetings ever held under the auspices of the Club. The Guelph Thespian amateur club will be present and will no doubt add to the enjoyment of the evening. Addresses will likely by delivered by James Innes, M. P., Jas. Laidlaw, M. P. P., James Glennie, and others. A number of people from the city will be present.

A NEW WAY FOR EXTINGUISHING FIRES.—At noon to-day Mr. Wm. Lind, agent for the Globe Hand Grenade Fire Extinguisher Co., London, gave an exhibition on the market square of what these grenades were claimed to do in the case of fire. There was quite a crowd present. The exhibition as regards the merits of the fire extinguisher was a success. The agent had a wooden spout, in the shape of a chimney, tarred inside, erected on the square. When the wood in the funnel was ignited, kerosene oil was thrown on the flames until they burst out in a large volume of fire at the top. The blaze continued for several seconds, when a grenade was thrown into the funnel and the fire was instantly extinguished much to the surprise of the on-lookers. The next test was a large structure of dry boards representing the side of a house. This structure was also thickly coated with tar, and slats of wood saturated with kerosene were placed against it for the purpose of igniting the whole. The flames soon spread over the whole surface of the board, and those in front were glad to retreat to a safe distance from the heat. When the destroying element seemed to have gained a good hold one of the agents quickly broke three bottles of grenade on the surface of the burning mass, and in an instant the fire was completely extinguished, leaving the timber blackened and charred. The universal opinion expressed of those present was that the grenades were a good thing and essential in every large establishment. At the request of a number of citizens another exhibition will be held on the Market Square at half past seven to-night. The best way for the citizens to judge of the merits of this article is to witness this exhibition.

ANNIVERSARY AND PRESENTATION.—At St. Helen's, on the evening of the 21st of Dec., a large congregation assembled in the Presbyterian church to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the Rev. R. Leask's ministry in that place. Mr Leask in his address compared the state of the country and people twenty years ago in this western part with the present. He showed that the congregation, Bible class and Sabbath School were in a very flourishing state. He stated that a great many mere had united with the congregation in full communion during the last ten years of his ministry than the first ten years, and that one of the most pleasing acts which the session had to perform, from time to time, was to receive those into full communion who had been baptised during the early part of his ministry. Excellent addresses were delivered by the Rev. D. Davidson, of Langside, Rev D. G. Cameron, of Dungannon, and the Rev. Dr. Ure, of Goderich. A recitation was well rendered by Miss McConnell. The musical part of the programme was furnished by the choir of the congregation, led by Mr R. K. Miller, with Miss McCrostie presiding at the organ. Towards the close of the meeting, Mr John Gordon, in the name of the congregation, presented Mr. Leask with an address expressing the most kindly feelings towards him, and the great delight and comfort they experienced in waiting on his ministration. At the close of the address Mr Gordon, in the name of the congregation, presented Mr Leask with a very fine cutter. Mr Leask replied in touching and suitable terms. We may mention that Mr Leask is son-in-law to Mr Thomas McCrae, Janefield, Guelph Township.

CHAS. MADDOCK, the attentive caretaker of the Speed Skating rink, has the ice in first class trim, and the young people of the city take full advantage of it in the evenings.

CHALMERS' CHURCH.—The regular meeting of Chalmers' Church Young People's Literary Association was held last evening, a very fair audience being present, considering the weather and other attractions. In the absence of Mr W. H. Wardrope, President, the Vice-President occupied the chair, and after the customary proceedings the literary programme was opened by an instrumental duet by the Misses Maitland, which was followed by a song from Mr Maitland, rendered in his usual first class style. Miss Simmie Brown next gave a pleasing instrumental selection, and a recitation, "The Redcoat," by Mr Kerr, was splendidly rendered. Miss Brown favoured the audience with a vocal selection, followed by an instrumental by Miss Guthrie, which was well received. "The Cameron Men" from Mr Maitland brought to a close a very interesting programme. The next meeting will be an open one and promises to be excellent.

Curling.

Yesterday afternoon the annual competition for the Stirton point medal took place. There were over twenty members engaged in the game. The scores made were not up to the usual. The medal was won by A. Congalton with 12 points. F. Burr came next with 9 points. Several players made 7 points.

This morning the Georgetown club arrived by the 9 o'clock train to play the first draw in this group with the Guelph club for the Ontario Tankard. Three hours play was decided on. At the close of the game the home club came out ahead by 14 shots. The following is the score:

TORONTO'S NEW COUNCIL.

The Bishop of Toronto Opens Proceedings With Prayer.

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—The inaugural meeting of the City Council of 1886 was held this morning. The Council Chamber was crowded, the majority being ladies. On Mayor Howland's appearance, escorted by two of the oldest members of the Council, he was loudly applauded. When he took his seat he called upon the Bishop of Toronto to offer prayer, which his Lordship did in a solemn and impressive manner. Ald. Defoe thereupon rose, and on behalf of the Council expressed their intention of supporting and assisting His Worship in every possible way in carrying on the business of the city. The Mayor then delivered his inaugural address, giving an outline of the improvement which he desired to see brought forward and carried out. Regarding the license question he suggested that for the suppression of unlicensed groggeries $50 reward should be offered by the city to any one giving such evidence as would lead to a conviction. He also suggested that where there are two convictions against saloon keepers his license will be cancelled.

It is said a writ of quo warranto will be applied for at Osgoode Hall, to test the legality of the Mayor's qualifying under his wife's property.

Arrest of a Coloured Brute in Brantford.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 18.—Wm. Walker, coloured, aged about 18, was arrested on Saturday afternoon on the charge of criminally assaulting Maria Brown, a girl about 8 years old. The girl is in a critical condition.

Sale of Hamilton Debentures.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—The tenders for the purchase of the 5 per cent. local improvement debentures were opened this morning. Only three offers were made, Jno. Riddell and Geo. H. Gillespie for the whole amount, $89,968, and Geo. Hunter, of Barton, for $10,000. Mr. John Riddell's tender at 101 5-8 was accepted.

Another Cold Wave in the West.

FORT KEOGH, Mont., Jan. 18.—Another cold wave has settled down over the North West. The mercury in the thermometer was frozen up yesterday, the spirit thermometer registering 48° below zero. There is no wind. Reports from the ranges state that the stock is doing well.

A Bigamist at 25.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 18.—Silas Ezra Shaver, aged 25, a sewing machine peddler, wassentenced by the police magistrate to-day to the penitentiary for three years for bigamy. Dec. 1 he married Miss Walsh, at Omemee, obtained $600 from her and levanted. On the 14th inst. he married Miss Maud Vandewaters, of this city, a girl only 16 years of age, and was arrested by Chief McKinnon a few hours afterwards

A Case of Malpractice at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—Annie Deadman, a young, unmarried coloured woman, was arrested to-day on a charge of procuring an abortion, having been prematurely delivered of twins. Mark Miller, aged 25, also coloured, was arrested on suspicion of procuring the drugs which were used. He was known to have been intimate with the girl. He was employed at Tuckett's tobacco factory, and his people live in Guelph.

A Fergus Moulder Attempts Suicide.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Robt. Kerr, of Fergus, a moulder by trade, attempted suicide this evening at his boarding house on Claremont street, by cutting his throat with a razor. When found he was lying on the floor of his room in a pool of blood and pulseless. Medical aid was summoned, and the gaping wound sewed up, when a reaction ensued and now there is a possibility of his recovery. Young Kerr had been out of work for a long time, and in a fit of despondency committed the rash act. He is about twenty years of age, and bears an irreproachable character.

CITY COUNCIL.

Appointment of Standing Committees,

SCHOOL AND FREE LIBRARY BOARD REPRESENTATIVES.

The City Council held its first regular evening session on Monday evening. Present, Mayor Stevenson in the chair, Alds. Wm. Carter, Coffee, Wells, Husband, Skinner, Hamilton, Read, Hall, Joseph Carter, Smith, Hearn, Hewer, Bruce, Cutten, Maddock, Lamprey, Chadwick and Keough.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Clerk read a communication from the Free Library Board stating that Mr. Walter Macdonald, the Council's representative on this Board, retired this year.

From Angus McKinnon, M.D., asking the Council to enquire into the character of the company now occupying the City Hall. He said they were distributing filthy literature around the street. Referred to Police.

From the Ball Electric Light Company asking permission to erect poles on the streets. They intend to commence operation early in this present month.

From R. Van Namee, of Waterdown, N. Y., asking the Council to give its opinion as to which was the more preferable a pumping system of water works or, a reservoir—where either is obtainable. Referred to Water Works.

From Burr Bros. asking what inducement the Council would offer for the establishment of a chair factory, the capital to be put into the business to be from $20,000 to $25,000. The conditions suggested would be exemption from taxation for ten years, free water rates and a small cash bonus. Referred.

From the cabmen of the City asking that the recently passed by-law regulating their tariffs be repealed and that the by-law remain as before. Referred.

Moved by Ald. Cutten, seconded by Ald. Hewer, that permission be granted to the Ball Electric Light Co. to place poles on the streets as they require, subject to the directions of the Chairman of the Board of Works. Carried.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Ald. Cutten, chairman of the special committee appointed to draft the standing committees of the Council for the current year, reported as follows:

Finance and Assessment—Ald. Coffee, Hall, Hearn, Bruce and Lamprey.

Water Works—Ald. W. Carter, Hamilton, Read, Smith, Bruce, Keough.

Fire, Water and Gas—Ald. Coffee, Skinner, Hall and Chadwick.

Parks and Shades—Ald. Wells, Husband, Hewer, Maddock, Lamprey.

By-laws and License—Ald. Coffee, Hamilton, J. Carter, Hewer and Cutten.

Railways—Ald. W. Carter, Hewer, Husband, Bruce, Chadwick.

Police—Ald. Read, Smith.

Cemetery—Ald. Maddock.

Hospital—Ald. Cutten.

Moved by Ald. Keough, seconded by Ald. Hall, that the name of Ald. Chadwick be placed on the Police Committee instead of that of Ald. Smith.

The mover stated that his reason for doing this was that when the Scott Act came in force Ald. Smith would be one of those licensed to sell liquor.

Ald. Smith replied that there would be only two licensed drug stores in town when the Act came in force, and he could assure the Aldermen that his would not be one of them. He had made up his mind long ago not to apply for a license, nor would he take one if it was offered.

The motion was lost and the report was adopted.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Moved by Ald. Hewer, seconded by Ald. Bruce, that the following be a special committee to make arrangements for exhibits at the Colonial Exhibition: Ald. Husband, Hall, Maddock, Chadwick and the mover. Carried.

FREE LIBRARY TRUSTEE.

On motion of Alds. Chadwick and Lamprey, Captain Walter Macdonald was reappointed to the Free Library Board.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Moved by Ald. Hall, seconded by Ald. J. Carter, that Dr. McGuire and E. Newton be re-appointed High School Trustees.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Smith, seconded by Ald. Husband, that E. Newton and Geo. H. Skinner be appointed High School Trustees.

The amendment was carried.

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES.

The Council then adjourned for twenty minutes to appoint chairmen of committees.

On the Council resuming the committee reported having elected the following chairmen:

Finance—Ald. Hall.
Water Works—Ald. Bruce.
Board of Works—Ald. Maddock.
Markets—Ald. Hearn.
Fire, Water and Gas—Ald. Skinner.
Relief—Ald. Smith.
Parks and Shades—Ald. Lamprey.
By-laws and License—Ald. Coffee.
Railways—Ald. Chadwick.
Police—Ald. Read.

The Council then adjourned.

Release of Mr. Stead.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—Mr. Stead, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, who in November was sentenced to three months' imprisonment for his connection with the Eliza Armstrong abduction case, was released from prison to-day. Mr. Stead is well and intends to take a fortnight's holiday.

The Buried Miners at Wilkesbarre.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 18.—One of the men now at work digging for the entombed miners at Nanticoke, on Saturday night reported that while at work he had seen a light ahead of him. He is unshaken in his opinion, and is confident that if the rescuing party manage to reach the spot where he saw the light the men will be found there alive, or at least some of them.

LECTURE IN KNOX CHURCH.

"The Men of the War and How They Fought."

One of the most interesting and instructive lectures ever delivered before a Guelph audience was that given in Knox Church last evening by Rev. W. S. Ball, formerly pastor of the church, and Chaplain of the 30th Rifles and 7th London Fusiliers. The interest taken in this subject together with the personal popularity of the rev. gentleman was shown by the large attendance which greeted him.

The chair was taken at eight o'clock by Col. Macdonald, who, after prayer by Rev. R. J. Beattie, in a few complimentary remarks introduced the lecturer. In opening his subject Mr. Ball said he would like to disabuse the minds of his hearers of an impression which he found had gone abroad that the Northwest rebellion was nothing more or less than a huge picnic for the volunteers. Such was not the case; the difficulties encountered, the vast extent of the country and its nature, the foe they had to meet, made the campaign one of unusual hardship. He had had many opportunities of observation in the field-postoffice, in the hospital, and by personal contact and could speak intelligently of what he knew. The nature of the country over which the fighting was done was all in favour of the halfbreeds and Indians. Broken as it was by buffalo wallows, bluffs (clumps of brush), and coulees (washouts) it afforded cover to the marksmen of the enemy from which they could with impunity pick off any of the soldiers who ventured within range. To dislodge them from their cover was one of the duties which devolved on the scouting corps. Col. Boulton had two squadrons 102 in number, mainly composed of young men from the Old Country, graduates of Oxford, Cambridge, Trinity (Dublin), and Edinburgh, scions of nobility, from the best stock that Britain could boast; they proved their mettle, took their share of the hardships and dangers and were a credit to the country from which they sprang. The material from which Col. French's scouts were chiefly drawn came from Ontario and the other Provinces, farmers' sons who had gone out to the Northwest and had cheerfully responded to the call of duty. Major Steele's scouts were a compound of the elements of the other two. Col. Dennis' largely surveyors, jocularly called the "intelligent corpses," were a long, lank, lean, hungry looking lot of men, thoroughly acquainted with the country, up to all the Indian tactics, men who could scent stores no matter how cleverly hidden by the Indians, the men who brought Big Bear to bay. The lecturer's description of the nondescript dress of the scouts was productive of much amusement; for variety in color, form, texture and general get up he never had seen any thing to equal it. The artillery were represented in the field by "A" "B" and "Winnipeg" batteries, and the Montreal Garrison Artillery who overawed Piapot at Qu'Apelle. Their heavy death roll bore testimony to their bravery and devotion to duty. The cavalry were stationed at Humboldt and their services in carrying despatches wrought awful havoc in fine clothes and accoutrements. In the infantry all classes of our young men were represented, the clerks from the banks, lawyers' offices, dry goods stores, etc., cheerfully bearing the hardships and deservedly sharing the honours as well as their more robust brothers from the shops and factories. In the 7th they had old veterans who had fought in the Indian Mutiny, had been in the Abyssinian War, and the Afghan War; men who had served on board the men-of-war at the bombardment of Alexandria, and roving characters who had been through all the wild life of the West in the mining camps, the ranches, who had seen gamblers lynched and horse thieves hung. The teamsters were composed of two classes, the farmers of the country, honest and reliable, and the professional teamsters from Montana, whose ability in profanity and in discovering and utilizing whiskey would put a hardened Ontario sinner to the blush. The French halfbreeds were large, muscular, powerful men, but peaceably disposed. The Sioux Indians were led by one of the chiefs who was second in command to Sitting Bull at the Custer massacre, while the Crees were led by Whitecap, and many of them had taken part in the Minnesota massacre. If Riel deserved hanging for nothing else, his was a just fate for the man who, knowing their nature, would rouse up the passions of these Indians who thought nothing more of scalping a woman or a child than they did the foe they met in fair fight. Gabriel Dumont's company had six Winchester rifles, a deadly weapon, but the majority were armed with flint shot guns which rendered efficient service at the short range in which they compelled the volunteers to fight. At Fish Creek the halfbreeds and Indians had the best of it. Protected as they were by bluffs and coulees which traversed each other like a rabbit warren the volunteers fought against a body of men, not a single individual of which they ever saw, though Dumont's voice could be plainly heard twenty yards in front encouraging his followers; all they had to aim at was the puffs of smoke from the guns of their foes, and as these changed their position the instant they had fired, it was almost a matter of chance if one was hit. Our men were completely exposed, and had the markmanship of the halfbreeds and Indians been good, the loss would have been much greater. At Batoche where for weeks they had been preparing to make their final stand, the country was defended in addition to the bluffs and coulees, by three rows of rifle pits, not made as is usually the custom, for shooting downwards or on the level, but for shooting upwards, and they were dug so deep that a man could stand upright in them. The men occupied the first row, having the second in reserve, with the women and children in the third. After three and a half day's fighting at long range it became generally known by the volunteers that a charge would be made in the afternoon. To come to the bottom of the matter, the men ordered the charge. If Gen. Middleton, owing to the nature of the circumstances or on account of the heavy loss which would ensue, thought it unwise to order a charge, he was to be honoured for it; however, Gen. Straubenzie and the other commanding officers undertook the responsibility, the charge was made, and the day was won. The 90th of Winnipeg and the scouts on the right, the Grenadiers in the centre and the Midland battalion on the left swept across the field, only keeping their line by the cheers which they heard, as one man could not often see his neighbour. Several incidents in connection with the capture of Batoche and the pursuit of Big Bear were graphically narrated, and the long and stern chase after Mrs. Gowanlock, Mrs. Delaney, the Maclean girls, and their captors, was feelingly described, two of the scouts having ridden 1,100 miles and having been in the saddle 20 hours out of 24. The lecturer closed with a tribute of patriotic pride to the bravery and endurance of the volunteers who took part in the suppression of the rebellion. Never before had men faced dangers such as they had met unflinchingly, no body of soldiers ever bore their hardships so uncomplainingly, and few save those who had passed through them knew of the daily peril and suffering they were called on to endure. The various weapons used in the campaign, the long Snider-Enfield rifle and bayonet, the Winchester repeating rifle and the useful hunting knife were exhibited, and their working illustrated, adding much to the interest and giving a better understanding of the lecture.

Ex-Ald. Goldie, on behalf of the Ladies' Association, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Ball, who has so generously placed his lecture at the service of the ladies and would accept no remuneration therefor. Mr. J. I. Hobson, Deputy Reeve of Guelph Township, seconded the resolution in a few well chosen words, and Mr. Laidlaw, M.P.P., in supporting it, gave a short account of his Northwest experiences. The motion on being put by the chairman was unanimously carried and fittingly responded to by the lecturer. The singing of the National Anthem, and the benediction by Rev. J. W. Holmes, brought the proceedings to an appropriate close.

TUESDAY EVE'G JAN. 19, 1886.

MR. MASSIE'S SUIT AGAINST THE IRISH CANADIAN.

$8,000 Damages Awarded.

On Friday the case of Massie vs. The Toronto Printing Co., alias the Irish Canadian, was began before Judge Rose and a jury at the Toronto Assizes. Our readers will well recollect the circumstances connected with this case. As explained by Mr. Osler, the Counsel for Mr. Massie, the action for libel was brought against the defendants to put a stop to, and sue for damages, for the aspersions cast on his reputation contained in letters and articles published in the Irish Canadian on April 9th and May 21st, attacking him in his capacity as Warden of the Central Prison, and charging him with cruelty and other offences in his official capacity as head of the Prison. The plea entered in defence was that the letters and articles were justifiable and a fair comment upon the conduct of a public servant in the discharge of his duties. It will be remembered that these charges led to the appointment of the Commission by the Ontario Government, who made an exhaustive inquiry into them, and who examined a great many witnesses both in and outside the Prison. In referring to the matter at the time, before the Commission entered on the investigation, we find the following in the MERCURY of the 18th June:—"For ourselves, knowing Mr. Massie well, and his humane disposition, we do not believe there is any truth in these charges, and we feel pretty sure that those who know him in this city and county will agree with us. We are rather in the belief that in the faithful discharge of his duties he has been for a long time the object of systematic persecution. But he will now have an opportunity of vindicating himself and justifying his conduct before the Commission, which meets about the end of this month. That this will be the result we have little doubt, and we hope that during the inquiry he will be able thoroughly to unmask all his secret and open enemies who have been so industriously plotting against him."

The report of the Commission in clearing Mr. Massie of the charges made against him fully justified our opinion as expressed in the above paragraph, and the verdict of the jury, in awarding on Saturday $8,000 damages to Mr. Massie and costs, is an appropriate and rightful wind up to this disgraceful persecution which has been going on so long. At the trial Mr. Patrick Boyle, the principal defendant, at first declined to give the names of his correspondents who made the charges in their letters, but afterwards said they were two of the Central Prison guards. After the Judge had made his charge, the jury retired, and after three hours they returned and asked the judge if they should only consider the injury done to Mr. Massie when they awarded damages. The judge informed them that a small sum was frequently awarded by the jury when the action was brought simply to sustain the character of the plaintiff, but when the jury desired to mark their disapprobation of the defendants' course, and prevent similar occurrences in the future, they awarded a larger amount. The law set no limit to the amount they could award. The jury then retired, and in a few minutes afterwards brought in a verdict of $8,000 for the plaintiff, with costs. It is very seldom that a jury awards such costs, and in doing so on this occasion it is evident that they wished to emphasize the remark made by the judge, and in the most emphatic manner possible by assessing such large damages.

It is said that the defendant will move to set aside the verdict as against law and evidence, and on the ground that the damages are excessive. This remains to be seen. In the meantime we, in common with his friends in this quarter, and with all who like to see fair play and justice done between man and man, congratulate Mr. Massie on the result of this trial, which gives added value to the vindication of his official character already pronounced by the Commission, and which metes out righteous punishment to his chief persecutors.

MANY friends of Mr David Thompson, the respected member for Haldimand, in the House of Commons, will regret to hear that he is dangerously ill. His principal ailment is connected with the respiratory organs. It is fervently hoped that he will recover from his present serious attack, and be spared to still represent Haldimand in Parliament.

FROM Kingston comes the information that a company of the Prince of Wales Own Rifles have been ordered on duty by Lieut.-Col. Villiers, who obtained his instructions from Ottawa. The men expect to be sent to the Northwest should the apprehensions of trouble with the Indians be confirmed. The Quebec Cavalry are reported to be also under orders to proceed to Regina.

THE first general meeting of the Ontario Reform Club was held last week in the handsome rooms of Holland House, 65 Wellington street West, which, with its grounds, has been leased by the Club for three years. The meeting was a large one, and the chair was occupied by the President, Sir Richard Cartwright, who presented a highly satisfactory statement, and showed that the Club will open with a membership of at least six hundred. The Board of Management and a House Committee were chosen, and auditors were appointed for the year. It is understood that there will be a reception for the members of the Club and ladies accompanying them, on the 28th instant, the day of the opening of the Ontario Legislature, from four to six in the afternoon. The Steward anticipates having his arrangements completed for receiving members by the middle of next week. It is pleasing to know that some twenty or thirty prominent Reformers of this City have become members, and we confidently anticipate that much good will follow to the Reformers of Ontario from this institution.

THE U. S. Senate on Monday had a vigorous debate on the lapsed Fisheries Treaty. From the tone of the participants from the New England States, the casual reader would be led to infer that any attempt on the part of Great Britain to deprive American fishermen of the right to fish in Canadian waters would be regarded as a causus belli. Instead of being thankful for the very liberal concessions which they have hitherto enjoyed, and of which they showed so little appreciation of as to constantly insist on harassing Canadian fishermen with petty restrictions which virtually amounted to a setting of the late treaty at defiance, these Yankee Senators are ready to buckle on their armour if they cannot secure a treaty of their own making. Happily, some of the western and southern members take more liberal views of the subject, and reprove their warlike brethren of the east for their intemperate zeal in the matter. The following is the resolution and its preamble on which the debate was obtained, and which will be renewed to-day.

Whereas the President has recommended Congress to provide for a commission to settle and adjust the fisheries question; and whereas the fisheries question had been settled for ten years past under the Treaty of Washington at a cost of five and a half million dollars in money, and a remission of six million dollars of duties in that period; and whereas that treaty has resulted in an increase of five hundred vessels and 10,000 seamen to the Canadian fishing fleet, with a corresponding decrease in the fishing fleets of the United States, therefore: Resolved: "That it is the opinion of the Senate that a commission, clothed with the powers referred to, ought not to be provided for by Congress."

Guelph Township Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Guelph Township Agricultural Society was held last week in the Secretary's office, Mr. J. McCorkindale, President, in the chair. There was a fair attendance.

The first matter taken up was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:—President, A. Whitelaw; Vice-President, A. Bruce; Board of Directors—J. McCorkindale, W. Hortop, R. Blythe, J. I. Hobson, Geo. B. Hood, A. McIntosh, Jas. Laidlaw, jr., Thos. Manderson, J. Newstead; Auditors, Messrs. Geo. Murton and W. Whitelaw.

Moved by Jas. Laidlaw, jr., seconded by A. Whitelaw, that this meeting endorse the candidature of Geo. Moore, Esq., as member of the Agricultural and Arts Association for this District. Carried.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. James Innes, M. P., enclosing $50 towards the funds of the Society, being part of his extra sessional allowance at the last Session of the Dominion Parliament.

Moved by Jas. Laidlaw, jr., seconded by A. McIntosh, that a vote of thanks be and is hereby tendered to Mr. Innes for his cheque, and that the Secretary send Mr. Innes a copy of this resolution.

Moved by A. Whitelaw, seconded by J. McCorkindale, that Mr. Innes' cheque be handed over to the Treasurer of the South Wellington Agricultural Society. Carried.

Moved by A. Whitelaw, seconded by Jas. Laidlaw, jr., that this Society amalgamate with the South Wellington Agricultural Society. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the Directors, held afterwards it was moved by J. McCorkindale, seconded by A. Bruce, that Mr. R. Mackenzie be Secretary Treasurer for the next year. Carried.

Eramosa Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Eramosa Agricultural Society was held in Rockwood on Thursday, 14th inst., with a large number in attendance. The financial report was read and adopted, showing a considerable balance on hand.

A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Mr. James Innes for the $50 he donated to the Society, which will be appropriated in a manner satisfactory to him and the directors.

Mr. Jas. Hill was appointed President, Mr. James Kennedy Vice President, and Mr. John Black Secretary for the ensuing year.

The next annual show of the township will be held in Rockwood on the 5th and 6th October, 1886.

CHAPTER III.

PROGRESS.

The feeling which had remained uppermost in Percival's mind after hearing all Dr. Hazlitt had to tell him of Helen, was pity. He was by nature tender and chivalrous, he would not, voluntarily, have given an instant's pain or suffering to anything weaker than himself—with his equals in strength and address it was give and take. To keep a woman waiting, to cause her a moment's anxiety, or to make things harder for her than they of necessity must be, would have been impossible to him. So when he found that through no actual fault of her own, Helen was on one side, and her father, mother, and sisters on the other, his sympathies naturally went with her. Had Miss Lafone been physically different from what she was, his sympathy might have bech dulled. Had she been tall, large of limb and loud of voice, with a tendency to air her grievances and to provoke scenes in public, he would, though feeling sorry for her have kept out of her way. But when he was waiting in the billiard-room that night, later, when Helen had come to release him and he had spent an hour in the society of herself and her relatives, and finally when he was alone in his bedroom, smoking a cigar and going over the events of the day, his heart was smitten with pity for this small delicate creature who had such a hard battle to fight. Nothing so decisive as a battle either; a battle once fought, is lost or won, at anyrate it is over. Helen's life seemed to consist of a long series of skirmishes, each of small importance and almost too contemptible for serious consideration, yet making, when taken in a sum, a life of misery and weariness. He felt very sorry for her, more sorry than he had ever felt for anyone before, and to a certain extent his sorrow took a practical form, for he began to wish he could do something to alleviate Miss Lafone's fate, and from there to considering how he could help her was a very short step.

"It is an awful life," he thought, "awful, for I see no end to it unless she marries, and how is she to marry, hidden away in a little forsaken spot like this? And if she does not marry, I suppose this kind of thing will go on all her life. She has no fortune, and a girl in her position can't go out and earn her living. Besides, think of a bit of a creature like her going about trying to get situations, and having to fight for an extra five pounds a-year in her salary. Women have a hard time of it. I am glad I am not a woman. How different it would have been if she had been a boy (and how uninteresting to me, he might have added, but did not) everything which is now against her would have been in her favour; I will be her friend at any rate: Ill make her trust me, and when she has got someone to talk to besides Hazlitt, she will perhaps be a bit happier. I must do something for her. I can't bear to see a girl looking as she looked to-night."

He had begun to put his plan into execution the following day, and apparently with some success, for whereas at first Helen had seldom spoken to or taken any notice of him, she now of her own free will requested his society for a whole afternoon.

The weeks flew by until it was the beginning of September, and the summer was to all intents and purposes gone. It had been a magnificent season, long and hot and fine; delicious in the country, though hardly so enjoyable in town. The Osmotherly people had certainly enjoyed it, even Helen had seemed happier and more disposed to regard daily annoyances as trifles than ever before. Perhaps her new frame of mind arose partly from the fact that she had a companion. Percival had long before left The Thwaite, and taken up his abode at Brantwood; but the houses were separated by no more than a short three miles, a mere nothing to walk over in the cool of the evening, or to ride before the sun had put forth his strength. Very few days passed without an exchange of greeting between the two houses.

There was a growing intimacy between Percival and Helen. They had become fast friends, and argued and disputed in the way which is only permissible to fast friends. Nothing could be done at Brantwood before the seal of Helen's opinion had been set upon it, while Helen never seemed to consider that she had thoroughly digested a book or an opinion until she had discussed it with Percival. They often disagreed. Helen rushed to conclusions regardless of how she got there; she reproached Percival for over-prudence and lack of enterprise, and still asked for his advice upon some difficulty. Percival, on his side, had an honest respect for Helen's judgment, even on matters connected with his property. If she were sometimes over hasty in judgment, she read character well and had a clear sight in discovering people's motives. Though their modes of action were different, the result they arrived at was often the same. Their characters harmonised curiously.

No one seemed to notice anything remarkable in this friendship. Percival was a stranger in the land as compared with the old established families in the neighborhood, and old established families are slow to receive strangers within their circle. Though there was a knowledge that Helen and Mrs Lafone did not get on as well as might be expected, considering that the girl had never known any other mother, the blame was generally laid at Helen's door, and she was supposed to have an unamiable disposition. In addition to this, Helen was not strictly beautiful; though one might fall in love with her grace and delicacy, ninety-nine fell captive to her sister's pronounced beauty, and it was well known that Helen would bring her husband nothing but what her father chose to give her, and she was not her father's favourite daughter. All these causes combined to prevent p ople fr m attaching any importance to the intimacy between Moore and Miss Lafone.

So the summer slipped away, and Percival, who, in the middle of July had made up his mind to study Helen's character, with all its crotchets and impulses, had by the middle of September arrived at a, to him, very satisfactory reading of the riddle. He had come to consider that life without Helen's constant companionship would be a very incomplete and one-sided affair. If she were to go away, or they were to be otherwise separated by circumstances, he would find her loss irreparable.

Percival, as he rode back to Brantwood one soft, hazy September afternoon, when the spirit of coming winter was stealing like a ghost through the trees, still heavy with their summer beauty, was thinking of Helen, and realising what an important place she already occupied in his life. She had promised to go over to Brantwood that afternoon to help him in deciding about an alteration in the house—a trifling thing enough, but on which he had set his heart. She had once said to him that the most beautiful view of all from Brantwood could only be seen from out of doors, because none of the drawing-room windows looked that way. He had at once decided to have a window put in, when she pointed out that if he did so he must of necessity remove a very beautiful creeper which covered the whole of that wall. Nothing had been settled at that time, but he had appointed a day on which both the architect and the gardiner were to examine the place, and some decision was to be come to. Helen of course was to be present. The day had come, this very September day, when he rode slowly home through the lanes, and he had in his pocket a note from Helen saying she could not come. Mrs Lafone had made another engagement for her, which she must keep. It had been too late to prevent the coming of the architect. Moore would find him at Brantwood when he got there, and what was to be done without Helen?

"It is very awkward, very," he muttered, as he rode along, with knitted brows and under-lip slightly protruded, as was his habit when he was annoyed or perplexed.

He was not angry with Helen—that did not occur to him; but with Mrs Lafone, for "taking upon herself" to make engagements for her daughter; with the architect for being unable to come on any other day; with circumstances generally for putting obstacles in the way of his plans. He felt how very awkward it was that when he wanted Helen he could not have her. It might happen any day unless he made some provision against it. Then there was the disappointment of not seeing her when he had confidently looked forward to a meeting. He had wanted to see her moving with her light free step from one point of view to another. He had wanted to hear her as she gave opinions, made suggestions, in her clear voice, with just that little tone of authority which became her so well, and which he so liked to hear her use to his servants. He wanted to see her raise her eyes to his every minute, indulge in little gestures of assent, negation, doubt, as she followed the discussion between himself and the architect. And above all, he wanted to know that he could have her, see her, touch her, and speak to her every minute of the day; take all his affairs to her, and know that if they were separated it was from choice, not necessity.

There was only one way of accomplishing this, and he was eager to take that way. But as he thought, his brow clouded over, and he began to whistle softly to himself, for he was by no means sure that Helen felt that absolute need of his society which he was conscious of with regard to hers. If she did, she concealed it remarkably well, for she seemed to find life very bearable without him. He pondered over it as he rode along, and decided that before speaking the words which sooner or later he would speak, he would study Helen a little longer, and try and find out what her feelings were.

THREATS AGAINST THE SALISBURY GOVERNMENT.

A Vigorous Policy to be Adopted Towards Ireland.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—the St. James' Gazette says the Queen's speech on Thursday will denounce the National League as an unlawful organization, and will ask Parliament to support a bill either for regulating the League or suppressing it. Members of the present and last administration having received letters threatening retaliation with dynamite if a coercive policy is adopted in Ireland or if Home Rule is refused.

It is stated that the Government will at the earliest moment introduce a bill in Parliament making boycotting a felony, enlarging the magistrates' power of summary jurisdiction and otherwise strengthening the criminal law. The introduction of this measure is said to have been decided upon at the Cabinet Council to-day.

A Pasha's Serious Sickness.

CAIRO, Jan. 16.—Moukhtar Pasha, Turkish Commissioner in Egypt, is sick. His illness is supposed to be "political illness" to gain time and to afford an excuse for not taking part in any deliberations with Sir Henry Drummond Wolff respecting the settlement of the Egyption difficulty. There is no doubt affairs have assumed a serious state owing to Turkish intrigue, as General Stephenson, commander of the British troops in Egypt, who recently assumed offensive operations at the front against the rebels and defeated the latter at Ginnis, has suddenly returned to Cairo, and is now holding a consultation with the British officials hare.

Loyalist Meeting at Belfast.

BELFAST, Jan. 18.—A great meeting under the auspices of the Loyalists was held here to-day. A resolution was adopted protesting against the passage by Parliament of any measure granting Home Rule to Ireland. Many delegates from the north of Ireland were present. A resolution was adopted declaring unwavering loyalty to the throne, denouncing the separation of Ireland from the union, refusing to recognize an Irish parliament if one should be established, protesting against the pernicious and immoral practice of the so called National League, summoning the Government to enforce the laws and to suppress disloyalty and rebellion, and to protect the lives and liberties of the peaceable and industrious subjects of Her Majesty.

Sir George Stephen.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—It is announced today that Mr. George Stephen, of Montreal President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been created a baronet. This is an honour well deserved, and is a fitting recognition of the indomitable enterprise that secured the completion of that most gigantic railway undertaking in the British Empire. The railway was long laughed at as an engineering impossibility, but Mr. Stephen and his associates have triumphed.

Down with the Landlords.

CORK, Jan. 18.—At a meeting of the tenantry of the Earl of Kingston's estate held at Mitchellstown it was resolved to memorialize the church commissioners who are mortgagees of the estate to compel the landlord to concede a 20 per cent. reduction in rent. In the meantime the tenants will prevent fox hunting on the estate, refuse to pay their rents and appeal to their friends in America for money to prosecute the campaign against the landlords.

The Colonial Secretaryship.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—It is asserted to-day that Lord Carnarvon has been offered the Colonial Office, and will probably accept it, in order to avoid injuring the party and the cabinet by absolute withdrawal from the ministry, Lord Carnarvon was at the head of the Colonial Office under Lord Beaconsfield's administration, and has always desired to return to that position.

Another Dastardly Outrage in Orangeville.

ORANGEVILLE, Jan. 18.—At one o'clock on Sunday morning an explosion took place at the residence of Mr Munro, Police Magistrate. It was found that the dynamite cartridge had been placed on the sill of the kitchen door which was inside a shed. The door was blown in, the stove broken, the windows and walls shattered. The shed was also blown to pieces. The inmates of the house were not injured. This is the second attempt on the Police Magistrate, who has been inflicting fines for breach of the Scott Act. Rewards are offered of one thousand dollars for the perpetrator of the first outrage. No doubt the reward will now be increased.

Fell Down the Elevator.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 18.—A shocking accident occurred this morning at the store of Messrs. McDougall & Cuzner, hardware merchants, 241 Sussex street, resulting in the death of a young clerk named Robert Dufort. It appears that the deceased, who is only 18 years of age, proceeded upstairs to the third flat shortly after 11 o'clock, with the object of getting a box in which to pack a quantity of goods. His absence had scarcely been realized before his fellow-clerks were startled by a terrific crash on the floor above. Rushing up-stairs they discovered that Dufort had fallen through the trap door from the third flat. He expired within fifteen minutes of the fall.

It Was An Old Sore of '37.

NEW YORK, JAN. 18.—Sir John Macdonald arrived here from England yesterday. He was asked whether he apprehended any further trouble in Canada on account of the Riel execution and replied: "None; I think the matter has passed out of active interest, though it will long remain with the French Canadians as a sentiment. You see it revived some old and painful memories. The French of Canada passed through sufferings in 1837 when they had much of right on their side and Riel was naturally regarded as an exponent of the sentiment growing out of this old wrong, but I do not look for any disturbance in Parliament or elsewhere as the result of the Riel uprising and execution."

Indian Duplicity.

A squaw, in speaking of the fight at Cut Knife, said that if the white men had looked under the spring in the bottom of the valley they would have found more Indians than they thought they had killed, the bodies having been buried under the running water to prevent the white folks finding them.

A Sioux squaw who has been about the neighborhood admits that her husband was killed at Duck Lake. It has been strenuously denied that any Indians were killed at any time, but this admission is one of the first directly made, although the Crees now say that there were "plenty Indians killed there."

$10,000 DAMAGES.

Mr Laflamme Gets Substantial Damages from the "Mail."

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—The Mail libel case is over, and a verdict given in favour of Hon. Mr Laflamme. In his charge Judge Johnson made cutting remarks on the conduct of the defendants' counsel during the trial. His Honour said that the plaintiff complained of a libel in the defendants' newspaper, and the jury would remember that if it was circulated in this city the locality of publication was of no moment. The article was long, and referred to more matters than one, especially with reference to corruption in election matters. They would see that the portions quoted and which were in their hands were sufficiently explicit apart from any other part. The plea in answer was that the article published was true and in good faith, and without malice. This was a good plea, but the defendants go on to say that as they were in the Court they would go further, and "not only prove this, that, and the other and allude to your character, and indulge in a little useless braggadocio at your expense." Not only had the defendants refused reparation for the libel, but had indulged in insults in addition. What constituted a libel? It would be a mere waste of time to discuss whether the matter at issue was a libel or not. If, whether the article was humorous or bantering or otherwise, it charged Mr Laflamme with "patenting" an invention for defrauding the electors, then it was libellous. The charge that he was connected with the ballot-box fraud at St. Anne, was a libel. The charge, however, was more direct, and Mr. Laflamme was represented as calculating the results of the fraud. He was charged with being "well posted," and boasting of the results. In the end of the article it was alleged that his "brilliant scheme" was baulked. Upon the first plea of the plaintiff there was no doubt. As to the second point in the plaintiff's action, that of charges of a detrimental character in the defendants' plea, the jury would have to pay great attention. With reference to the ballot-box frauds, had it been proved that Mr. Laflamme was connected with them they must remember that this matter was drawn from its grave, and why, it might be asked, was it not shown at the time of the affair that Mr. Laflamme was responsible? No evidence was brought to show that at the time the slightest reflection was made on Mr. Laflamme. Again, four people were tried and convicted for the offence in 1878. Why was Mr. Laflamme not tried then, when he could have defended himself? The charge was a grave one, one of the very gravest. Was there the slightest evidence to show that Mr. Laflamme was the rascal who perpetrated the frauds? He thought not. He held that the plea of justification was in no degree proved. The gravamen of the charges settled itself down to the statem ent that on one occasion Mr. Laflamme was "muddled" because Mr. Mackenzie "pulled his coattails" in the House of Commons; though for what reason was not shown. Then it was said that Mr. Laflamme was a "failure" as a public man. This proved nothing. The jury would remember that in the case of Thomas Erskine, the greatest forensic orator of his day, the same thing occurred, but he was afterwards Lord Chancellor of England. The jury would have in the matter of damages two verdicts to find, one for damages and another for the special plea. The law gave the jury power to award exemplary damages if they chose. After a deliberation of about an hour the jury returned into Court announced that they found for the plaintiff, damages ten thousand dollars—six thousand on the libel and four thousand on the second plea set up for the defence. It was stated that this was a unanimous vote nine of the jurors being in favour of $15,000 damages and three in other amounts. A union was made on the verdict rendered. The defendants are also condemned in costs. Mr. Laflamme was heartily congratulated on all sides at his victory over his calumniators. The Mail's counsel talk of appealing the judgment. If they do they must put up amount of damages or give proper security for it and costs.

Will They be Amnestied?

OTTAWA, Jan. 16.—It is rumored here that Sir John Macdonald upon his return to Canada will grant full and unconditional pardon to all political prisoners now undergoing sentence in the Northwest for connection with the recent rebellion in that country.

The Duplex Grate.

This Grate is only to be had in the celebrated Radiant Home Base Burner and the Happy Thought and Garland Ranges. Read the following testimonial

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,
W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

Farms Wanted.

FARMS WANTED—ALL KINDS, SIZES and prices, for over 500 applicants, who wish to buy and have written to us for particulars of farms. We also want farms for our "Farm Advertiser," which will be published shortly, and be placed in the hands of intending purchasers in all parts of Canada and the United States, and Europe. We give full particulars, including size of buildings, quality of soil and price, but never give owner's name, number of lot, nor concession.

We positively make no charge unless the property be sold. This is sufficient proof that our business in conducted on honest and straightforward principles. Remember we want no agreements to register against your property. We advertise farms in all the leading Newspapers in Canada, and we advertise almost every state in America, and throughout the whole of Europe. Many of our present applications for farms are from the United States, Europe and other countries. We have now arranged with 32 agents in Canada and Europe to have our advertiser placed in the hands of intending buyers.

Though only 11 months ago we started business in Guelph, and then had no applications for property, since May last we have sold 41 farms at an aggregate price of $262,150.00. Those having farms for sale are requested to come to Guelph, and give us full particulars of their farms, or send us their names and address, and if we cannot prove all we here state to be true and correct in every particular, we agree and shall be pleased to pay every man's expenses coming to Guelph and returning, who has property to sell. Come to the office and see for yourselves, the letters from our applicants for farms, the testimonials from farmers whose places we have sold, and also press notices, etc. If you cannot come, send us your names and address. Two lady preachers, licentiates of the Free Methodist church, are holding series of revival services in the Temperance Hall.

Notwithstanding the storm on Monday evening, a very fair audience gathered in the Town Hall to hear Mr Innes, M. P., discuss the political questions of the day. He was listened to throughout with marked attention and at the close was tendered a vote of thanks. Mr James Benham occupied the chair.

The carnival on Friday night was a great success, the spacious building being crowded with masqueraders and sightseers, a number being present from Guelph and Acton. Amongst the characters represented were the following:—Oriental lady, Miss Hewat; Indian girl, Miss Lee; Brides, Misses Strachan and Richardson; Flower girl, Miss Annie Moore; Night, Mrs Easton; Lady of 1786, Miss Pasmore; Poundmaker, A. C. Strachan; Sailor, J. Strachan; Hard times, R. Mitchell; Collegian, Gordon Hayward; Spanish cavalier, R, Farrish; Topsy, Frank Lee; English gentleman, S. Hayward; Sir John Falstaff, J. Clendenning. A string band enlivened the proceedings. Messrs Strange and Hewat have reason to congratulate themselves upon the success of their first carnival.

A young man named William Torrance, employed in Hayward & Co's flour mill, met with a severe accident Tuesday morning. He was assisting in raising a stone in the mill, when by some means he got his arm in between the stone and the derrick, sustaining a severe fracture of the right wrist. It will be some time before he is able to work again.

ONE of the employees at the G. T. R. passenger station lost a brier root pipe on the platform on Monday night. The party returning it will be rewarded.

At the rink last night the three contestants for the Stirton medal were present and made things lively for the spectators. The race on Friday night is going to be a good one.

A SOCIAL is to be held in the Paisley St. Methodist church, on Thursday evening. After the tea is over Rev. I. B. Aylesworth, LL.D., will deliver his celebrated lecture on "The Mysteries of Marriage."

WM. OSBORNE, Guelph Township, left this morning on a prospecting tour in British Columbia, where he has a brother. If the country suits him Mr. Osborne intends to settle there. He will be absent about two months.

GOOD SPORT.—David and John Boles, two young men of Nassagaweya, went out last Monday to enjoy a few hours sport. They succeeded in killing seven coons and nine hares. The game was not waiting to be shot at that day either. The boys think it a pity that the market for fat and savoury 'coon is so dull.

MR. R. C. WINDYER, Toronto, architect for Day's Block, was in the city yesterday winding up affairs in connection with the recent improvements made to this block, Mr. A. Bruce being the local contractor. Mr Windyer is contractor for the new English Cathedral in Toronto, which is to cost something in the neighbourhood of $300,000.

BACK TO HIS DUTIES.—Rev. W. S. Ball left for London to-day. The reverend gentleman during his short stay, spent a very pleasant time among his many warm friends in Guelph. Although Father Time has silvered his hairs considerably since here last, he appears to be as full of life and energy as ever, and states that he never felt better.

I.O.O.F.—Bro. N. H. Martin, Chatham, G.M., John Donough, Toronto, D.G.M., J.B. King, Toronto, G.S., together with Thos. Steele, Georgetown, N.G. of that Lodge, and other Oddfellows, arrived in the city at noon to-day to take part in instituting a Rebecca Degree Lodge this afternoon, and a lodge of instruction in the evening. They were met at the station by a number of the Oddfellows from the Guelph Lodges.

ANOTHER FIRE TEST.—Last evening another test of the Globe Hand Grenade Fire Extinguisher was held on the Market Square. There was a large crowd present, all of whom expressed themselves surprised at the suddenness with which the blazing flames were extinguished when a grenade was broken in their midst. The test was exactly the same as that held at noon yesterday and described in last night's issue.

EXHIBITS FOR THE COLONIAL.—City Clerk Mitchell to-day sent notices to the Committee appointed to look after sending exhibits to the Colonial and Indian exhibition to meet in the City Hall building tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. The time is now getting short and decisive steps should be taken at once. All those interested should be present.

CHORAL UNION.—Last night the Choral Union met for rehearsal. There was a large turnout, and several new members were added to the already large roll. The new part songs which are to be sung at the first concert, which is to take place the first week in February, were very satisfactorily gone through and highly appreciated by those who heard the rehearsal. Prof. Philp, is untiring in his efforts to make this concert a success and the event of the season in the musical line.

Curling.

On Tuesday afternoon two rinks of the Georgetown and Walkerton clubs played on the rink here, 22 ends, for a Royal Caledonian medal. The ice, thanks to the care of Mr A. Congalton, was in first class order. The game was a very interesting one and was witnessed by quite a number of spectators. The Georgetown men took the start from the commencement and kept it until the end of the game, when they came out 16 shots ahead. A. Robertson, of the Guelph club, was umpire, but his services were not once called into requisition. The following is the score:

Four rinks of the Brampton club are playing a friendly game with the Guelph club this afternoon.

Obituary.

In our obituary column this week will be found recorded the death of an old settler of the Township of Peel, in the person of Thos. Kennedy, who departed this life January the 13th, 1886. Deceased was a native of the County Louth, Ireland. He emigrated to Canada over fifty years ago and settled in Puslinch. Some time after he removed to Peel, where having endured the hardships and privations of a pioneer life for nearly forty years, he saw the township of which he was nearly the first resident, cleared and settled. Deceased survived his wife three years. He leaves two daughters to mourn his loss.

Elora Correspondence.

THAT MEETING.—On Saturday evening last, Dr. Orton, M. P., delivered his promised address in the Elora Drill Shed, on the troubles in the Northwest, the National Policy, and his highly original banking scheme. About 350 people, including a score of ladies, went forth to hear the gallant medico, so that he had a large and respectable audience. On the platform was Judge Drew, Revising Barrister for North and South Ridings, who attended the meeting in the hope, doubtless, that Dr. Orton would be able to clear up some of the intricacies of the new Franchise Act, and Mr. E. Burns, Revising Barrister's Clerk, of Centre Wellington, probably actuated by the same desire to learn something of his duties. Mr. Hugh Roberts, Pilkington, occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen remarks, proved how highly Centre Wellington had been honored by the selection of its representative as the medical care-taker of the sick wounded on the C. P. R., at a thumping salary. The worthy doctor received a generous welcome when he arose, and launched at once into an address which lasted nearly two hours, but, from some unknown cause, was not up to his usual mark. He talked with hesitation, failed in his intended points, and was trying and literally dry. He lacked his old fire, repeated himself, rambled, and evidently felt that he had tough case to defend and an unsympathetic audience. He touched upon the tariff question, and boldly asserted that everybody must stick to a Protectionist Policy now, as the huge National debt will not permit a lower tariff; denounced the Scott Act as a failure, and declared his readiness to go for Prohibition whenever the Government finds itself able to get along without a revenue from liquor; informed his incredulous hearers that he had never said that a duty upon wheat would raise its price, but would simply give a home market, discussed the Ontario Boundary, Streams Bills, and McCarthy Act, and coolly stated that Sir John, in his opposition to Ontario, was merely actuated by a desire to have constitutional difficulties removed by a reference to the court of last resort; and made an attack upon loan companies, and propounded a scheme by which they could be easily wiped out, and farmers' banks, backed by the Federal Government, made to take their place. The reference to the Northwest affair was the most interesting portion of his long and wandering speech. The impression produced on the audience was that Dr. Orton ran the campaign, and that, but for him, General Middleton would have run away, and there was a disposition to enquire how it was that the member of Centre Wellington, knowing this, did not, from his place in the House of Commons, denounce the incompetent commander and prevent the grant to him of $20,000 of the people's money. The speech might not have been intended to cast a slur upon General Middleton, but the whole tenor of his remarks certainly conveyed that idea to many of his hearers. At the close of his speech a vote of thanks was moved by Dr. Paget, and seconded after some delay, by Mr Wm. Findlay, of Salem, a good Grit, who thought that the speech had done such service to his opponents as to deserve this mark of approval. The meeting dispersed with a pretty general conviction that the Doctor had not made the best of a bad cause.

CHARITY BALL.—The committee of the Elora lacrosse club are making extensive preparations for a charity ball, in the drill shed here, on the evening of the 27th inst. Good music, ample refreshments, and a hearty welcome may be depended upon, and as the tickets cost only $1 per couple, a large attendance is confidently anticipated.

LITERARY ENTERTAINMENT.—The Mechanics' Institute committee will give a literary and musical entertainment on Friday next, 22nd inst. The programme is a varied and interesting one, and as the performers will be wholly selected from the committee men, the performance cannot fail to be attractive.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—Although late in the day the youngsters connected with the Sabbath School of Knox Church doubtless regard the Christmas tree to be exposed for their benefit, on Thursday evening next, as better late than never. A large crowd of little folks and their parents may be relied upon.

ANOTHER ENTERTAINMENT.—On Monday evening next the children of St. John's Church Sunday School will be entertained in the Drill Shed here. Magic lantern views, music, recitations and short addresses will tickle their risibles, please their ears, and make them happy.

HERE AGAIN.—Mr. Walter Lasby, of Pilkington, is home again after more than 23 years absence, and Mr. Robert Shields, of Elora, in former days, is visiting his friends after his departure from Elora about a score of years ago. Mr. Lasby has his home in Minnesota, and Mr. Shields in Michigan, and both speak highly of our American cousins.

BIBLE MEETING.—The Bible Society meeting held in Chalmers' Church last evening was largely attended, and Rev. Mr. Henderson, the agent, who delivered an excellent address, says that it was the largest he has seen for some time. The chair was occupied by the Rev. P. L. Spence, incumbent of St. John's Church.

WELL PLEASED.—The Reformers of Elora, in common with those of Centre Wellington generally, are well pleased with the selection of Dr. Wallace as standard bearer, and the hope is expressed on every hand that he will accept the nomination universally tendered to him. He is well known here, and the more highly appreciated in consequence. It is felt that, with such a strong local candidate success is certain, and that the time has come when men who raised the "resident" cry against Sir Richard Cartwright, must not be allowed to foist a Winnipeger upon an Ontario constituency so important as Centre Wellington. Three cheers for the Doctor who isn't ashamed of his native Province.

APPOINTMENTS.—It is said that Mr. J. K. McLean, D. L. S., of Elora, has been appointed Revising Barrister's Clerk for South Wellington, and that Mr. John Drew will act in a similar capacity in the North Riding.

WHITHER HAVE THEY DRIFTED?—People are wondering what has become of the moustache and whiskers of one of our popular landlords. Brown has it that he attended Orton's meeting on Saturday evening, heard the Doctor spouting Prohibition pure and simple, became disgusted with his old associates and resolved to so disguise himself, while recovering from the effects of the blow, that nobody would be able to remind him of the past. Hence the reason why he called upon the barber on his way home, and has now gone into retreat, sans whiskers and moustache. He was a happy looking man last week, but is a very cross man now.

VISITORS.—The Rev. James Ballantyne, of London South, pastor of Knox church there, spent a portion of his honeymoon in Elora last week, being the guest of Mr. C. Clarke, M. P. P., the father of his bride. Dr. C. K. Clarke, Superintendent of Rockwood Asylum of Insane, was here on a flying visit.

Harriston Correspondence.

On Friday last ex-Mayor Wilson met with an accident of a serious nature; he and some of his men had been out to his farm for a load of hay, and when returning with a large load one of the tires came off the waggon, which was not noticed, as they were all on the load. When opposite Mr. Wyness' store the wheel suddenly collapsed, which caused the load to upset. Mr. Wilson, who was sitting with his back toward the side that went down, fell with such force upon the frozen ground that his thigh was broken, as well as receiving other serious injuries. He was immediately carried into Mr. Wyness' store, and for some time it was thought he was fatally injuried. A stretcher was procured upon which he was carried home where Dr. Henry attended to his injuries. Although considerably advanced in years Mr. Wilson has a good constitution and it is expected, notwithstanding the severity of the injuries, that he will, within a space of two or three months be able to be around again.

Jas. McMullen, M. P., met a number of his friends from Minto and Harriston in the Reform Association rooms here on Friday evening last. Arrangements were more fully completed for looking after the voters lists. A public meeting will be held in the Town Hall here in the evening of January, the 29th inst., at which Mr. McMullen will deliver an address on the political questions of the day. There should be a full house.

The Town Council of 1885 met on Friday last and finished up the business of the year; and the new Council met yesterday forenoon and made some progress in getting committees, &c., arranged for the work of the year. The new member took hold of business with considerable earnestness, but differed widely in his views from the other members present.

A very sudden death occurred in Minto on Saturday morning last. A Mr. Rice, living on con. 8, had on that morning been out to the barn attending to the stock, and after finishing his work came into the house and sat down upon a chair, and almost instantly expired. The deceased gentleman had been up to that moment in the enjoyment of his usual health. He was in town the previous afternoon attending to some business.

An old lady named Kaiser, living with her son in Harriston, had been ailing for some time past; she however, felt as well as usual on Sunday morning last, and was sitting in her armchair reading when unexpectedly and almost without a struggle she passed away. She had seen upwards of four score years. The funeral services will take place this afternoon.

If perseverence and importunity counts for anything in worldly matters, our wide-awake friends in Mount Forest will assuredly at some future period in their history have the satisfaction of having Mount Forest made a County Town. Notwithstanding the many rebuffs they have received from the Government they are still hammering away. The Shepherd will no doubt once again hover around the Parliament Buildings from the beginning to the end of the session.

The Methodist congregation here are making preparations for their annual social. It is being arranged to come off on Sunday the 31st, and February 1st. In the past they have had very successful gatherings, and it is expected this will be equal to any former effort in that line.

Liberals, one and all, in this section are delighted with the able and eloquent speech delivered at London on Thursday last by their leader, the Hon. E. Blake. Every loyal man in the Dominion cannot but admire the manner in which the hon. gentleman touched upon the great questions which so deeply affect the people of the country. The concise and clear way he showed the failure of the promises made by the Tories as to the blessings that was to follow the N. P., as well as the handling he gave the great constitutional lawyer was admirable; but above all the high and statesmanlike stand he takes, and the review he gave of the North-west troubles is most gratifying to every well wisher of his country. Beyond doubt the more liberals see and learn of the Hon. Mr. Blake's many good qualities, and unbounded abilities the higher he stands in their admiration.

John Hicks, better known as Patmores, "tight cooper," on Sunday last succeeded in getting himself into a condition corresponding with his name. He procured a long sharp stick and marched into the Salvation Army meeting and began using the business end of the stick by gently prodding all within his reach. John now claims that he was trying to keep order, perhaps he was. The Army people failed to take the same view of his labours and had the gentleman ejected from the building, which was evidently taken as an insult. He then began swearing in a very boisterious manner at children who were returning from Sunday School. Constable Thackary came along and with considerable trouble quieted the fellow. For being drunk and disorderly on the street, John appeared before the Mayor on Monday and was taxed $1.00 and costs. He had no money and got 10 days credit. If the party who supplied the liquor could be fined as well, justice would be more fully done.

The anniversary services in connection with Knox Church, here, on Sunday and Monday last, were very successful. Large congregations were present morning and evening, to hear the Rev. P. Wright. The sermons delivered by him are highly spoken of. The social on Monday evening was well patronized, there was a full house and a pleasant time enjoyed by all present.

A few inches of snow fell during last night, which will have a tendency to make business generally a little more lively, as sleighs can be used with more ease than wheels.

Guelph Daily Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G JAN. 20, 1886.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD returned to Ottawa, from England, yesterday, and was received by the Tory coterie with the usual flourish of addresses, etc. If they expected to elicit a declaration from Sir John of some great work accomplished, they were deemed to grievous disappointment. The recollection of his sudden flight, and the surmises made regarding the cause thereof, seem to have been tolerably near the truth. Sir John's intimation that he has made no progress towards securing a renewal of the reciprocity of fishery treaties with the United States has flattened the partly considerably. The Ottawa Government organ a few days ago, announced that Sir John would be able to state that some arrangement had been made, and one of the addresses presented to the Premier was framed expressly to give him an opportunity of making the expected announcement. Judging from Sir John's speech, it would appear that his trip to England, though made at the public expense, was intended more to further the private ends of the Pacific Railway Company than to promote the interests of the Canadian people in the matter of reciprocity or anything else. His talk with the British Ministers seems to have been confined to schemes for the aggrandizement of the Pacific Railway Syndicate. Those Tories who felt confident that their leader would furnish them with some new "cry" with which to arouse party enthusiasm are sorely disappointed and depressed.

PREVIOUS to the late municipal elections the Stratford Beacon very sensibly protested against an idea held by very many people, namely, that their votes are favours conferred upon the particular individual named opposite their ballot mark. To some extent this may be true, because when a man undertakes to seek a public position, even though he may have been dragged into the contest, he does not like to be beaten, and therefore every vote cast in his favour is appreciated. But the policy which the candidate upholds should draw support to him if his ideas are consonant with good economical government, and it should be for these electors should mark their ballot. But the Beacon article will better illustrate this point:—

Why should any rational being cherish the delusion that when he records his vote for good government he is doing a personal kindness to the Beacon, or the Globe, or Mr. Blake, or Mr. Mowat, or Mr. Trow, or Mr. Ballantyne, or Mr. Somebody-else? Perhaps the most silly form of this delusion is seen when the leading men of the party are canvassing during an election. A wealthy, independent farmer of, let us say, North Easthope or Downie, asks a man in somewhat straitened circumstances to vote for good government. The canvasser is worth, say twenty or thirty thousand dollars. He could pay his share of the National debt and never miss it. The person canvassed has enough to do to make both ends meet. He could not pay his share of the country's debt if a fortune depended on the result. He has hard work to keep the wolf from the door. A little more taxation would hopelessly ruin him and his family. Of all the men in the country he is just the man that should desire honest and economical government. A financial crash might mean less than three "square" meals a day for his family. And yet that man thinks he confers a favor on his more prosperous neighbor by voting for his own safety. The neighbor he thinks he favors could stand a crash without much discomfort. The poorer man could not go through a season of depression without starvation, and yet he thinks he favors his rich neighbor when he votes for honest economical government. What nonsense!

Erin Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the members of the Erin Agricultural Society was held at Gale's hotel, Hillsburg, on Friday the 15th inst. Alexander Scott, Esq., occupied the chair. The auditors reported that they had examined the books of the Treasurer with the vouchers and found them correct, and on motion by George Ellenton and David Gibson, the report was received and adopted.

Abstract of Report:—Total amount received from all sources, $1,372.07; paid in premiums, $707.20; fitting up buildings and grounds $75; printing, $46; musical band, $25; other working expenses $112.43. Total disbursements, $995.63; balance in hand $376.44.

The Board of Directors for the current year were then duly elected as follows:—Edward Totten, President; Thomas Sutton, Vice-President; J. W. Burt, Secretary-Treasurer; Directors, Thomas Talbot, A. J. Currie, George Robinson, William Sayers; Henry McKenney, Henry Dunbar, James Hyndman, J. P. Young, and Daniel McMillan.

A communication from Mr, James Innes, M. P., was read, saying that he had sent a cheque to the Treasurer of the Society for $50, being part of his extra sessional indemnity, and suggested that it might be expended in prizes for the best cultivated farms, if thought advisable, but left it for the Society to expend as considered best.

Moved by John Saunders, seconded by Andrew Clark that the fifty dollars donated to the Society by James Innes, M. P., be expended in prizes by the directors as they may think proper.

Moved by Henry Dunbar, seconded by A. J. Currie, that the thanks of the Erin Agricultural Society be and are hereby tendered to James Innes, M. P., for the very handsome donation of $50 to said Society.

Moved by George Ellenton, seconded by Henry Dunbar, that nothing of a gambling nature be allowed at the annual exhibition, and that notice to that effect be inserted in the large posters about the annual exhibition.

Moved by George Robinson, seconded by David Matheson, that it is the opinion of this meeting that the directors should make two classes out of class No. 3 of the prize list, viz., one for roadster and one for carriage horses.

The new Board of Directors then met and elected J. W. Burt, Secretary and Treasurer, when on motion by H. Dunbar and H. M. Kennedy, the sum of $20 was granted to the Hillsburg Horse Show, and the Tresurer was ordered to pay said amount when required.

Moved by Messrs. Hall and Talbot that the next meeting of the Board be held on Tuesday, the 19th of March, at 10 o'clock a. m., at Anderson's hotel, Ospringe.

Puslinch Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Puslinch Agricultural Society was held in the town hall, Aberfoyle, on Thursday the 14th January. There was a large attendance, showing the lively interest the Puslinch farmers take in matters pertaining to their show. After the auditors had finished their work the President, Mr. Alexander Smith, called the meeting to order. The Secretary then read the annual report, which was, on motion by Mr. John Iles and Mr. John Murray, received and adopted. The Society is in a very prosperous condition, and the Directors feel confident they can make it still more successful.

A letter was read from Mr. James Innes, M. P., containing a cheque for $50, of his extra sessional indemnity to be spent in prizes for the best cultivated and best improved farms in the Township, or in prizes at the annual Show, as the Society thought best.

It was then moved by Mr. Hugh Cockburn, seconded by Mr. Robert Buchanan, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. James Innes, for his liberality to the Puslinch Agricultural Society. The motion was carried unanimously.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, when the following gentlemen were elected for the current year:—

John Iles, President; James Hume, Vice President; Wm. Rae, Secretary.

Directors—Henry Arkell, Peter McLean, Joseph Little, Duncan Gilchrist; Hugh Cockburn, Patrick McGarr, Robert Buchanan, John Murray, James Cook.

Honorary Directors—Duncan McFarlane, Allen McIntyre, William Nicoll, Alex. Smith, John Clark, John A. Cobburn, Peter Beaver, Robert Kirby, Jas. Taylor, Nicholas Norrish.

Also a large and efficient Committee.

The newly elected President, Mr. Iles, was moved to the chair. He thanked the meeting for the honour conferred on him, and expressed a pleasure in any way assisting to promote the interests of the Society.

A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Alex. Smith, the retiring President, for his efficient services during the past year. That gentleman replied in his usual able manner.

Golden Wedding.

On Tuesday evening, an occurrence of a very pleasing nature, took place at Arkell, being the celebration of the Golden Wedding of Mr and Mrs Chas. Willoughby. There were over 100 couple present, all of whom joined in wishing the aged pair many more years of life together. The presents were numerous and handsome. The following is a copy of the address presented:—

To Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby.

DEAR FRIENDS,—We, a number of friends in this section, being the anniversary of your golden wedding, take this opportunity of expressing the esteem and respect we have for you. You have been residents among us for over fifty years, and during that time we have ever found you kind friends and good neighbours, always ready to assist in any good and charitable work. You came to this part of the country when it was all a forest, inhabited only by the red men and the wild beasts, and hewed out for yourself and family a comfortable home by your industry and perseverance, and have undergone all the hardships and privations of the early settlers, living to see most of the early pioneers pass away and a new generation taking their place.

We beg you now to accept of these two easy chairs, gold ring and cup, not for their intrinsic value, but as a slight token of the love and respect we have for you, hoping you may be spared many years to enjoy them.

Signed by John Iles, Henry Arkell, Geo. Nichols, and others.

Wellesley Correspondence.

REMOVAL.—Mr Wm. Scott, who has been living here for some time, removed to Linwood last week. He takes charge of the Senior Division in the Public School in that village.

LIQUOR LAW.—Mr J. E. Frey, the keeper of a Temperance (?) House in the village of Crosshill, was prosecuted last week for selling liquor on Nomination Day. He did not defend the case, as he knew that it was of no use. He had to pay about $30 for his law breaking. It is rumoured that he will soon be called upon to pay a few dollars more for selling the vile stuff.

PARALYSIS.—Mr Petch, an old and respected resident of this Township, was prostrated some time ago by a paralytic stroke, and for a while his life was despaired of. He is slowly recovering, however, and at present bids fair to be completely restored.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—Mr Barber was elected Superintendent of the Union S. S., Crosshill, in the place of Mr George Mauser, who died very suddenly a few days ago.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.—Mr Caldwell, an evangelist, has been holding revival meetings in Hawksville for some time, but thus far without much apparent success. He did good work while he laboured in Crosshill.

THEFT.—About two weeks ago, Mr A. Frame, a farmer, living about two miles from Crosshill, engaged a young man of the tramp species to work for him during the wintgr, and was to pay him the liberal wages of $3 a month and board. He did not work very long, however, as work was not agreeable to his tastes; so he took his departure for parts unknown, taking with him some of his master's clothes in lieu of wages. A constable was put on his track, but failed to come up with him. When will our farmers learn to give fair wages to a good man they know, and not be duped by these dishonest tramps who are dear in the long run

Ospringe Correspondence.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION. — On the evening of the 8th inst., about sixty of the members and adherents of the Presbyterian Church met at Ospringe, and drove to the residence of Mr. Henry Dunbar. After the object of the meeting had been made known, Mr. James Brydon stepped forward and read a neatly worded and complimentary address to Miss Bella Dunbar, and Mr. A. McLean handed her a handsome gold watch and locket, as a slight recognition of her valuable assistance in connection with the musical services of the church. Mr. Dunbar replied in a neat little speech, thanking the friends on behalf of Miss Dunbar and extending to all a hearty welcome. Miss Dunbar has led the congregation in their singing for some years, and is well worthy of this token of gratitude. An excellent spread was furnished by Mrs. Dunbar and a very pleasent time was spent, and it was not until morning was at hand that the company dispersed.

Fergus Correspondence.

LECTURE.—Rev. Mr Robertson's address in St. Andrew's Church, on Wednesday, evening last, was most interesting and instructive. He has travelled over the greater part of Manitoba and the Northwest territory, fulfilling his duty as Superintendent of Presbyterian Missions in that part of our Dominion. During the past summer he has seen a good deal of the Indian tribes, and his opinions of the country and its native and acquired inhabitants should be valuable. Of the country he speaks very highly. While allowing it has its drawbacks, he still thinks it is destined to be the home of thousands of well to do people. As regards the Indians, he confirms to a great extent the reports already published in the papers. He says the Indians are saucy, they have been stealing lots of horses, and the police dare not take them from them. The different tribes, though once sworn enemies, are mutual friends. They are all well armed, and they fancy they defeated our volunteers, last spring instead of being defeated. There is also a close communication between our Indians and those south of the line. Add to all these discontent and partial starvation and you have all the elements necessary to an Indian uprising before long. To prevent this the Government should use precautionary measures, one of which would be to prevent the Indians from the States joining with ours. He says it is impossible to disarm them, and they must therefore be closely watched. As to the ultimate treatment of these aborigines, Mr Robertson maintains that they can be civilized, Christianised and made self-sustaining, and to these objects every attention should be paid. All will admit these objects should be carried out. Even from the low money point of view it is better than the more cruel and brutal way of exterminating them. This latter way is expensive. Mr Robertson estimates the taking of one Indian's life in the neighbourhood of $100,000. At that rate it would be a heavy bill to kill off the 30,000 or more. The speaker was closely listened to by the large audience present for nearly an hour. Mr. Duncan, a missionary from Manitoba, but formerly a Fergus boy, also spoke for some time, giving instances where the Indians were farming and self-sustaining. Altogether the meeting was a good one. A large collection was taken up at the close. The next day or two Mr. Robertson called on a number, soliciting assistance for the Northwest Missions. The subscriptions were very liberal, some as high as $200, $150 and $100, to be given in instalments. It is a good object, and has received good support.

SOIREE.—The tea meeting in connection with St. Andrew's church, on Tuesday evening, was somewhat different from the usual bun feed in the fact that a layman, in the person of Mr. Thos. Cowan, of Galt, was one of the speakers. Canada was mostly the subject of his remarks. Going into sentiment strongly, the speaker became quite eloquent. Rev. J. C. Smith, of Guelph, also spoke, and Mr. Fowle, of Erin, as well as our local ministers. The music by the choir was good, so were the cakes, &c., of the ladies. Proceeds, about $90. Last night the usual church meeting and Sunday School social of this church were held.

MEETING.—Thursday last was a day of meetings. The District Council of Royal Templars of Temperance met in the Royal Templars Hall here in the afternoon. The directors of the Nichol Agricultural Society met at Spires' Hotel, the same afternoon, Mr. A Brockie being elected President. The Reform Convention was going on at the same time, and in the evening the Fergus Horticultural Society held its annual meeting. Mr. J. Beattie is again elected President, Dr. Johnson is Vice, T. J. Hamilton Secretary, and a good staff of directors has been appointed. We hope to see the Society flourish.

CONCERT.—The Telgmann family, assisted by Mr. Kelly, as good bass singer, give a concert here on Friday night first.

Presbytery meets in Erin to-day and to-morrow.

SOCIETY.—Progressive euchre parties are getting quite fashionable among the bon ton of Fergus. Prizes are awarded the most successful. The middle class get nothing according to the game.

CURLING.—The P. Office Block beat the Commercial Block last week, and the players instead of taking oysters decided to give the two dollars to the needy, and this amount of flour was given to those most in want. We add our praise to the curlers for their self denial. Let others follow the example so nicely set. The young curlers, Slater, Wilson, Sandy Anderson, and Tom, skip, beat the old men, M. Anderson, W. Hamilton, H. Michie and P. Grieves, skip, yesterday afternoon by 21 to 12. Elora and Fergus are playing here this afternoon a game for the tankard.

CARNIVAL.—Grand skating carnival, the first of the season, on Thursday night. The band will be present. A lot of good prizes will be given.

COUNCIL.—The old-new Council met yesterday, made the declaration of office, appointed auditors, Messrs. Young and Philip, and also High School trustees. Mr. H. Cummings was appointed in place of Mr. Armitage, whose term had expired. We are very sorry to lose Mr. Armitage. He is one who has discharged the duties of trustee in a most intelligent and satisfactory manner, and for a long time. He will doubtless be pleased to take a rest. He was chairman of the Board last year. As this was a formal meeting of Council there was no other business performed.

SNOW.—Last year we had no snow after the thaw between Christmas and New Year till the 15th of January, and on the 16th we had sleighing, which continued the rest of the winter. By present appearances this winter is to be much the same. We had some snow on the 16th and we will likely soon have sleighing again we hope for the winter.

CONVENTION.—The important event of the week was the meeting of Reform delegates held here on Thursday last for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent Reformers during the next election and Parliament for the Dominion. The meeting was large, intelligent and enthusiastic. The result was the nomination of Dr. Wallace, of Alma, to be the bearer of the Reform standard to victory on the next Dominion election day, as the British ensign was carried to victory on the Heights of Alma. It only remains now for the Doctor to accept the honour conferred by the convention. If this honour is not accepted the delegates who first brought him out are very much to blame for doing so without knowing for certain their man would run. Any other man will be a second choice candidate, had an enviable position. However, it is hoped the nominee will accept. We are still of the opinion there was no necessity for this haste in putting a man in the field. As a report of the meeting has already appeared in your paper, we give no particulars.

CHORAL SOCIETY.—A meeting was held Friday evening last in Mr Craig's music rooms for the purpose of organizing a choral union. A large number attended. Rev. Mr Mullen was elected President; Mr Michie, Vice; Mr Hinds, Secretary and Treasurer, and a committee of the choir leaders. Another meeting will be held this week to make further arrangements.

The village is getting lively. The little snow we have is making fair sleighing, and people are taking advantage of it.

SOIREE.—The tea meeting in connection with St. Andrew's church, on Tuesday evening, was somewhat different from the usual bun feed in the fact that a layman, in the person of Mr. Thos. Cowan, of Galt, was one of the speakers. Canada was mostly the subject of his remarks. Going into sentiment strongly, the speaker became quite eloquent. Rev. J. C. Smith, of Guelph, also spoke, and Mr. Fowle, of Erin, as well as our local ministers. The music by the choir was good, so were the cakes, &c., of the ladies. Proceeds, about $90. Last night the usual church meeting and Sunday School social of this church were held.

MEETING.—Thursday last was a day of meetings. The District Council of Royal Templars of Temperance met in the Royal Templars Hall here in the afternoon. The directors of the Nichol Agricultural Society met at Spires' Hotel, the same afternoon, Mr. A Brockie being elected President. The Reform Convention was going on at the same time, and in the evening the Fergus Horticultural Society held its annual meeting. Mr. J. Beattie is again elected President, Dr. Johnson is Vice, T. J. Hamilton Secretary, and a good staff of directors has been appointed. We hope to see the Society flourish.

CONCERT.—The Telgmann family, assisted by Mr. Kelly, as good bass singer, give a concert here on Friday night first.

Presbytery meets in Erin to-day and to-morrow.

SOCIETY.—Progressive euchre parties are getting quite fashionable among the bon ton of Fergus. Prizes are awarded the most successful. The middle class get nothing according to the game.

CURLING.—The P. Office Block beat the Commercial Block last week, and the players instead of taking oysters decided to give the two dollars to the needy, and this amount of flour was given to those most in want. We add our praise to the curlers for their self denial. Let others follow the example so nicely set. The young curlers, Slater, Wilson, Sandy Anderson, and Tom, skip, beat the old men, M. Anderson, W. Hamilton, H. Michie and P. Grieves, skip, yesterday afternoon by 21 to 12. Elora and Fergus are playing here this afternoon a game for the tankard.

CARNIVAL.—Grand skating carnival, the first of the season, on Thursday night. The band will be present. A lot of good prizes will be given.

COUNCIL.—The old-new Council met yesterday, made the declaration of office, appointed auditors, Messrs. Young and Philip, and also High School trustees. Mr. H. Cummings was appointed in place of Mr. Armitage, whose term had expired. We are very sorry to lose Mr. Armitage. He is one who has discharged the duties of trustee in a most intelligent and satisfactory manner, and for a long time. He will doubtless be pleased to take a rest. He was chairman of the Board last year. As this was a formal meeting of Council there was no other business performed.

SNOW.—Last year we had no snow after the thaw between Christmas and New Year till the 15th of January, and on the 16th we had sleighing, which continued the rest of the winter. By present appearances this winter is to be much the same. We had some snow on the 15th and we will likely soon have sleighing again we hope for the winter.

CONVENTION.—The important event of the week was the meeting of Reform delegates held here on Thursday last for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent Reformers during the next election and Parliament for the Dominion. The meeting was large, intelligent and enthusiastic. The result was the nomination of Dr. Wallace, of Alma, to be the bearer of the Reform standard to victory on the next Dominion election day, as the British design was carried to victory on the Heights of Alma. It only remains now for the Doctor to accept the honour conferred by the convention. If this honour is not accepted the delegates who first brought him out are very much to blame for doing so without knowing for certain their man would run. Any other man will be a second choice candidate, had an enviable position. However, it is hoped the nominee will accept. We are still of the opinion there was no necessity for this haste in putting a man in the field. As a report of the meeting has already appeared in your paper, we give no particulars.

CHORAL SOCIETY.—A meeting was held Friday evening last in Mr Craig's music rooms for the purpose of organizing a choral union. A large number attended. Rev. Mr Mullen was elected President; Mr Michie, Vice; Mr Hinds, Secretary and Treasurer, and a committee of the choir leaders. Another meeting will be held this week to make further arrangements.

The village is getting lively. The little snow we have is making fair sleighing, and people are taking advantage of it.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

The Duplex Grate.

This Grate is only to be had in the celebrated Radiant Home Base Burner and the Happy Thought and Garland Ranges. Read the following testimonial

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,
W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

BIRTHS.

NUNAN—In Guelph, on the 20th January, the wife of Mr. F. Nunan, of a son.

The News in Brief.

The French army in Tonquin is to be reduced from 22,000 to 12,000.

A Bengal native regiment has started for Burmah to reinforce the British troops at Mandalay.

The London Telegraph says it is undeniable that Russia is preparing for a campaign for her own ends.

Col. Irvine, who has been among the Bloods and Blackfeet says there is no possible danger of a rising.

The house of Wm. Curtis in Harpurhey, near Seaforth, was burnt Wednesday. Loss $700. No insurance.

At Limerick two cows belonging to a farmer have been poisoned and the tails of fourteen others have been cut off.

Martin Rudge, a baker, has been convicted of the Netherby burglaries and murder, and has been sentenced to death.

On Jan. 14 an application for a habeas corpus to get Hugh Cayley out of prison was made to Judge Richardson at Regina, but was refused.

Herr Kopp, the Roman Catholic Bishop of Fulda, has been appointed by Emperor William a member of the Upper House of the Prussian Lantag.

The Grand Chapter of the Province of Quebec, A. F. and A. M., have issued an edict declaring all intercourse suspended with the Grand Lodge of England.

E. P. Davis, a barrister of Calgary, has entered a suit to recover $5000 damages from Stipendiary Magistrate Travis, because he refused to let him (Davis) practise his profession before him.

Wm. Sheehan, the murderer of his mother, sister and brother at Castletownroche, Ireland, in 1876, was hanged Wednesday. He had to be assisted to the scaffold. Death was instantaneous.

Moukhtar Pasha being interviewed at Cairo said that the bombardment of Alexandria was a mistake, that the landing of troops was a mistake, and that the present British occupation is a mistake.

The traffic earnings of the Canadian Pacific railway for the week ending Jan. 14 have just been issued, showing an increase over the same period of last year of $21,000, the figures being $105,000, against $84,000 in 1885.

A movement is now on foot at Montreal to establish a French school for mining engineers. They have offered $79,000 for a plot of land extending from Sherbrooke to Ontario streets, and they propose to put up a building costing $300,000.

The Journal de St. Petersburg says the dignity of Europe demands that the Powers should redouble their effort to compel Greece, Servia and Bulgaria to disarm so as to prevent calamities the issues of which no man can forsee.

A quiet meeting of anarchists was held on Wednesday evening in Paris to welcome Prince Krapotine and Louis Michel, who were recently released from prison. The latter announces her intention to go to Russia and plunge headlong to anarchism and dare death for the cause of freedom.

Probabilities.

Cloudy weather with snow or sleet, followed this afternoon by clearing weather with cold west to north west winds. Decidedly colder weather to-night.

Local News.

DIPHTHERIA is becoming prevalent in Guelph Township.

AT the childrens carnival to-morrow night, "Tom Thumb and wife" will appear, and a host of comic characters.

TABLEAUX and choice literary and musical programme in the school room of St. George's Church this evening. Silver collection. d1

DON'T forget the children's grand dress carnival in the Speed Skating Rink to-morrow night. The ice is in excellent condition.

A PLATINUM wire too fine to be seen with the naked eye is said to have been made by Mr H. T. Read, of Brooklyn. It is to be used in telescopes as a substitute for the spider's web usually employed.

THE English language consists of about 60,000 words, yet when a man is pulling on a tight boot or waiting for his wife to dress he nearly always invents a few extra words to express his feelings.

CAMPBELL SHAW, editor of the Elora Express and Secretary of the Elora Lacrosse Club, has sent to this office, an invitation to attend a charity ball, to be held in that place, on the 27th instant.

THE special services now being held by the Disciples of Christ, in Zion chapel, and conducted by Revs. Messrs. Fowler and Munro, are proving very successful. They extend a cordial welcome to all.

THE Hamilton and Dundas stage came to grief yesterday, near Morriston The tongue broke, and the horses became unmanageable. The driver was thrown from his seat, but escaped uninjured. A lady passenger Miss Rotharmel was less fortunate, receiving a slight wound on the head.

NOT THE MAN.—The young coloured man Miller, charged in Hamilton the other day with a serious crime, has been released, it having been ascertained that he was not the man wanted. Miller's friends and relatives here will feel greatly relieved at the complete removal of the implied disgrace of the young man.

COURT BERLIN, C. O. F.—This morning Wm. M. Mann, Past Chief Ranger of Court Grove No. 69, C. O. F., left for Berlin to assist in the dedication of a new hall for Court Berlin. Mrs. Whitehead, of Guelph, who sang most acceptably at the Tam o' Shanter Snowshoe Club concert in St. Andrew's hall, Toronto, last night, will take part in the concert in the evening.

SHORT-HAND.—Any young gentleman wishing to learn a thorough good system of Stenography, will find it to their advantage to commence with the class now in course of construction. It is a surprise to all when they learn at what a moderate charge they can be taught this most useful —and to young men contemplating a business life—necessary accomplishment. Taught privately if wished. Enquire of A. H. C., Box 193, City. d1

SOCIAL AND LECTURE.—DR. I. B. Aylesworth has arrived in the City and has consented to give the lecture first requested of him, entitled "Luck and Pluck." This lecture being so warmly received in other places inspires the young people of the Paisley St. church with the hope that a Guelph audience will not be behind in its appreciation of the Doctor's admirable lecture. The tea social begins at 7, and lecture at 8 p. m.

INSTRUCTION IN VOCAL MUSIC.—The Georgetown papers give Mrs. Whitehead great credit for the proficiency which her singing class has attained in that town during the short time she has been training it. Those in Guelph who are acquainted with this lady's capabilities in this line will readily endorse the statement. She is also training a vocal class in Guelph, which is equally up to the mark. Although it is large there is yet room for a few pupils.

CIVIC MEMORANDA.—Many of our subscribers have expressed themselves as much pleased at the elaborate statement of councillors which appeared in Monday's issue, and the table has been very generally spoken of as correct in every respect. A slight but excusable error had crept in with regard to alderman Bruce who is stated to have been elected 12 times, first in 1858; we find that this is not correct. Ald. Bruce has only been elected 11 times, and first entered the municipal arena in 1874; the mistake occurred in this way: It was George Bruce the father of the present alderman George Bruce who was elected in 1858 and 1859.

Curling.

Yesterday four rinks of the Brampton curlers arrived in Guelph to play a friendly game with an equal number of the Guelph club. The game from first to last was close, and neither club were sure of victory until the last end had been played. When the figures were made up it was found that Guelph had won by four shots. The following is the score:

The final competition in group No. 4 for the primary competition for the Ontario Tankard comes off in Berlin to-morrow, each club to play two rinks. The winning rinks in the first draw are Guelph, Berlin, and Fergus with Harriston vs. Mount Forest to hear from.

Rebekah Degree Lodge.

Visit of the G. M. and Other Prominent Oddfellows.

Yesterday afternoon Rev. N. S. Martin, Chatham, Grand Master Independent Order of Oddfellows, instituted a Rebekah Degree Lodge in Guelph. He was accompanied by Mr John Donough, D.G.N., Toronto, and J. B. King, Grand Secretary, Toronto. These gentlemen were met at the station by a delegation from the Lodges in Guelph, and extended a most cordial welcome on behalf of the Order here. After the Lodge had been instituted by the Grand Master, assisted by the Deputy Grand Master and the Grand Secretary, the following officers of Rebekah were installed:—

Wm. Parker, N. G.
Mrs Webber, V. G.
Geo. T. Brill, R. Sec.
Mrs P. Campbell, P. Sec.
Miss Parker, Treas.
Mrs R. Mahony, Con.
" H. Bolton, Warden.
" Wm. Parker, R. S. N. G.
" J. Beirnes, L. S. N. G.
" J. Hewer, R. S. V. G.
" T. Hayes, L. S. V. G.
" J. Howard, R. S. S.
Miss Palmer, L. S. S.
Mrs Chas. Walker, Chap.
Theo. Fenwick, O. G.

After the ceremony of installation was completed Mrs Webber read the following address:—

To the Rev. W. N. Martin, Grand Master I. O. O. F., of Ontario.

REV. SIR AND BRO.,—On behalf of Beatrice Rebekah Lodge No. 13, I. O. O. F. of Ontario, we bid you welcome to our "Royal City" and sincerely trust that your visit may not only be one of pleasure and profit to us, but one of pleasure to yourself. To-day most of us have entered upon a new post of duty, intending with the Divine aid to do all in our power in conjunction with the Oddfellows Lodges of this city in relieving suffering humanity, and by cultivating closer ties of friendship be enabled to extend to one another sympathy and aid in the day of trial and adversity. While fully realizing the responsibilities resting upon us, we have been greatly encouraged by your presence with us to-day, and feel satisfied that under Divine Guidance and with the sympathy and assistance of those who like yourself have been instrumental in placing Oddfellowship in the proud position it occupies to-day, our efforts will not have been in vain. It would have afforded us much pleasure could Mrs. Martin have graced our meeting with her presence to-day, but we hope to welcome her here with yourself at no distant date. May both of you long be spared to labour in the Holy cause in which you are engaged, and in future years may you be enabled to look with pride upon Beatrice Lodge and feel that the sacrifice you have made in coming here to-day has not been made in vain, is the sincere prayer of the Sisters in Guelph.

The Grand Master made an eloquent and able reply which was listened to with undivided attention.

The D. G. M. and Grand Secretary also made a few remarks which were also equally well received.

The Rebekah Degree Lodge promises to be a success. So far some thirty have joined the Order.

In the evening, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the commodious lodge room was well filled with "three linkers," not only of the City but representatives from Fergus, Elora, Galt, Preston, Berlin, Acton, and Georgetown, were present. The chair was occupied by P. G. Bro. Wm. Parker, of Reliance Lodge, who opened the lodge in the regular manner. After welcoming the visiting brethren, and informing them of the business of the meeting, a short recess was given for the members to mingle with one another. After recess the Grand Officers, who were G. M. Rev. N. H. Martin, Chatham; D. G. M. J. Donogh, Toronto; and J. B. King, G. S., Toronto; were announced to be in waiting and were introduced by P. G. Jas. Hewer. The officers were received with grand honours. Grand Master Martin acknowledged with thanks the cordial reception given him and his brother officers. The work of the lodge was then resumed, and the secret work exemplified in the initiatory, first and second degree by different teams composed of the members of the two City Lodges. The work was criticised by the Grand Officers, who expressed themselves as highly delighted at the manner in which the floor work of the different degrees was given, and paid a high compliment to the members of the different teams for their efficiency in their several parts. D. G. M. Donagh, at the request of the brethren, exemplified the work from the initiatory to the third degree in a manner which was both instructive and edifying to all who had the pleasure of hearing the same. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered to the Grand Officers for their visit. The lodge then closed by singing the closing ode of the Order and prayer by the Chaplain.

After the Lodge of instruction had closed the brethren to the number of about one hundred adjourned from the Lodge room to the Commercial Hotel, where a first-class supper was in waiting. The spread did credit to mine host, C. Reinhart, and his worthy lady. The tables were loaded with good things and artistically set off with all the little arrangements calculated to please the eye as well as the palate. After the cloth had been removed the Brethren enjoyed a social hour in speeches, songs, &c.

This afternoon the Grand Master, accompanied by several of the Guelph Brethren, drove to Elmira to hold a Lodge of Instruction there.

South Wellington Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of this society was held in the Council room of the City Hall on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock. Mr. James Millar, President, in the chair. Present—John I. Hobson, Thos. Gowdy, M. Sweetnam, James Cowan, sr., Robert A. Kirby, Adam A. Armstrong, George B. Hood, D. Messenger, F. Bathgate, Caleb Chase, Charles Head, Robt. Amos, Thomas Manderson, A. Rudel, Wm. Whitelaw, Wm. Rae, R. Mackenzie, Secretary; W. Hearn, N. Parkinson, A. Parkinson, R. Blyth, and Ald. Hewer.

Mr. R. Mackenzie, Secretary, read the annual report which is as follows:

R. Mackenzie, Treasurer, in account with the South Wellington Agricultural Society.

The Directors of the Guelph Central Exhibition beg to submit the following report of their proceedings for the past year:

At a meeting held in March last it was decided to hold the annual exhibition on the 28th, 29th, and 30th of September. The prize list was revised and the usual committees appointed to carry on the show. The exhibition was held on the above mentioned days and the very favourable weather which prevailed made it the most successful show ever held by the society, both as regards the number of entries—the attendance of visitors being the largest since 1879, when the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise visited Guelph—and also in the general interest manifested by all to make it in every way successful. The show of horses was very good, many first-class animals in the different classes from other parts of the Province being exhibited, and one of the greatest attractions being the horse ring, particularly when the single roadsters and saddle horses were exhibited, owing to the very close competition of the animals and to the difficulty of the judges in awarding first honours. One of judges remarked that it was the best show of saddle horses he had judged in five years. The exhibit of cattle was not large, but some very fine animals were shown, which together with the stock from the Agricultural College, Messrs H. & I. Groff, with their herds of Durhams and Grades, F. W. Stone, Esq., with his herd of Herefords, and Thos. McCrae, Esq., with his herd of Galloways, made a very fine display, and seldom excelled at any show in the province. The show of sheep, pigs and poultry was not very large, but taken altogether made up in quality what they lacked in numbers. The exhibits of grain, seeds, etc., was not as large as usual. Some very fine samples were shown, and the show of fruits, roots and vegetables was fully up to the average of late years. The display of plants and cut flowers was very fine, and has seldom been excelled at any Provincial Exhibition, and we have to thank Mr Forsyth and the officers of the Agricultural College for making such a splendid show in this class. The merchants and manufacturers of Guelph deserve great credit for the very large and fine display made by them in the various articles they exhibited, which added very much to the attraction of the show, among whom we might mention Messrs. Wm. Russell, C. Raymond, Bell & Co., James & Co., Rainer & Co., and the Dominion Organ and Piano Co., of Bowmanville. We are very much indebted to the manufacturers of agricultural implements from all parts of the Province, for the very fine display they made on the grounds. Among those were Messrs. Bell & Son, St. George; Watson & Son, Ayr; Noxon & Bros., Ingersoll; Geo. A. Mason, Oshawa; A. Harris, Son & Co., Brantford; J. S. Wisner & Son, Brantford; D. Maxwell, Paris; the Joseph Hall Co., Oshawa; F. Merner & Co., Waterloo; and Messrs. Tolton Bros., and T. Gowdy & Co., of Guelph, making altogether one of the finest shows of agricultural implements and machinery ever held in Guelph. The ladies also deserve great praise for the splendid exhibit made by them both in fine and domestic work, which tended very much to make the display in the place one which has seldom been excelled at former exhibitions. Financially the past year has been the best the Society has ever had, having cleared over $1,000 after paying all demands and leaving a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $1,697.05 to the credit of the society. Our successors can, therefore, before another exhibition is held materially change the prize list and make it more attractive than it has been of late years. There is every probability of the Provincial Exhibition being held in Guelph this year, and we would recommend our successors to use every effort on their part to make it a grand success. At this meeting you will be called upon to cast your vote for a representative for this district on the Board of the Agricultural and Arts Association, between Mr. George Moore, of Waterloo, and Mr. N. Awrey, M.P.P., of Hamilton. Mr. Geo. Moore has been a faithful servant of this district during his term of office. We think he should be re-elected, and hope that this society will cast their vote in his favor. Mr. James Innes, M.P., for South Wellington, has forwarded to the treasurer of Guelph Township Agricultural Society his cheque for $50, being part of extra allowance at the last session of the Dominion Parliament, and that society at its annual meeting decided to hand over the amount to this society.

We cannot conclude this report without thanking the Guelph MERCURY and Herald and other papers for their kind notices of our Exhibition, and thus bringing it prominently before the notice of the public.

In conclusion we again congratulate the members upon the success of our efforts to place the Society upon a sound financial basis, and by careful management in the future we have no doubt but that the Guelph Central Exhibition will be the leading agricultural show in Canada.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JAMES MILLAR, President.

On motion of Messrs. Whitelaw and Gowdy, the report was adopted.

The auditors' report was then read which bore testimony to the correctness of the books and the careful manner in which they were kept.

Moved by Mr. Thos. Gowdy, seconded by Mr. Thos. Manderson, that Ald. James Hewer be President. Mr. Gowdy, in moving the motion, regretted that the first Vice-President, Mr. M. Kirby, declined to accept office. The motion was carried.

Moved by Mr. Sweetnam, seconded by Mr. Messenger, that Robert Kirby be 1st Vice-President. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Gowdy and Cowan, that Robert Blyth be 2nd Vice-President. Carried.

The Board of Directors were elected as follows;—Guelph Township—M. Sweetnam, P. Bathgate; Guelph City—J. Millar, Geo. Howard, Thos. Gowdy; Puslinch—Wm. Rae, James Anderson; Eramosa—A. Armstrong, E. Parkinson.

Messrs. Gowdy and Hewer moved the re-appointment of the former auditors, Messrs. James Laidlaw, M.P.P., and Wm. Whitelaw.

The Secretary read a communication from Henry Wade, Secretary of the Agricultural and Arts Association, intimating that Messrs. N. Awrey, M.P.P. for South Wenthworth, and Geo. Moore, Waterloo, were candidates in District No. 7 for members to Agricultural and Arts Association.

Moved by Mr Hobson, seconded by Mr Gowdy, that Mr George Moore, of Waterloo, be our representative at the Board of the Agricultural and Arts Association. Carried.

The Secretary read a communication from Henry Wade, Secretary of the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario, stating that the Council of the Agricultural and Arts Association have decided to give prizes and medals for different purposes for the season of 1886. The prizes will be awarded for essays on the following subjects:—The relations between employers and employed in Canada, with special reference to the farm, with a view to improving those relations. First prize $30, second prize $20.

2nd. Grasses and clovers. Their comparative values as food for live stock, their adaptability to different soils and climate, with best methods of cultivation. First prize $30, second $20.

Manuscript in both cases is not to exceed twenty-five pages. The manuscript has to be sent to the Secretary of the Agricultural and Arts Association, Toronto, with one dollar as a member's fee, not later than the 1st of August.

This was laid over.

Mr Hewer thanked the Association for the honour which they had conferred on him by electing him President for the year. It was altogether unexpected on his part. He being so young a man he felt proud of the distinction shown him. He would do all in his power to make the show of this year a success, and work for the interests of the Society. If he did half as well as his predecessor he would be satisfied.

The President having to attend to other business, Mr Robt. A. Kirby, Vice-President, took the same.

Moved by Mr Gowdy, seconded by Mr Wm. Whitelaw, that the thanks of the Society be given to the retiring President, Mr James Millar.

Mr Gowdy, in making this motion, paid a high compliment to Mr Millar. If any President ever deserved thanks it was him. He was without exception the best President the Society had ever had. He said this without one word of flattery. When he took the chair the Society was in a bad state financially, but Mr. Millar put his shoulder to the wheel and kept it at it, and now the Society has a balance of close on $1700 to its credit.

Mr. Whitelaw also complimented Mr. Millar on the energetic manner in which he had pushed the interests of the Society during his term of presidency.

Mr. Millar in a few sentences returned thanks for the hearty and flattering vote of thanks which had been extended to him He handed over the reins of government in good condition and he hoped that as good a balance to the credit of the Society would be shown next year.

The meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the directors afterwards, on motion of Messrs Millar and Manderson, Mr. Robert Mackenzie was re-appointed Secretary-Treasurer for the coming year. The mover and seconder complimented Mr. Mackenzie on the efficient manner in which he had discharged his duties during the year.

This concluded the business.

SNOW STORM.—Merchants and business men in the City since the end of December, have been lamenting the want of good sleighing. To-day they have it to their hearts content. Last evening a heavy storm arose, and continued during the night. This morning it was computed that between five and six inches of the "beautiful" had fallen. Railway communication, however, was pretty regular. The only train behind time worthy of mention was the one on the Western Division from the north, due here at a few minutes past ten, which was nearly an hour late. Snow plows ran ahead of the first trains in the morning.

RUSTICATING IN MICHIGAN.—It will be remembered some time ago that a cutter in J. B. Williamson & Co's store, of the somewhat plebian name of John Damm, suddenly left the city, taking care to line his pockets with $200 borrowed from Mr James Harris, employed in the same establishment. Chief Randall had photographs taken of Damm and forwarded one to each of the principal towns in the States. On Monday he received a telegram from John C. Bennett, Marshall, Sturges, Michigan, stating that a man answering the description was in custody there. The Chief informed Mr Harris of the circumstances and that gentleman left on Monday afternoon to try, if possible, to recover his money. So far no word has been received of how he succeeded.

Guelph Daily Mercury

THURSDAY EVE'G JAN. 21, 1886.

Centre Riding of Wellington.

With respect to the nomination of Dr. Wallace for the Centre Riding of Wellington, we have to say that on account of business and other considerations the Doctor cannot give his answer as to his acceptance of his nomination within the week, as promised, but asks for further time before coming to a decision.

It is now stated that the Dominion Parliament will meet on the 25th February for the despatch of business. That is just five weeks from to-day, which should be sufficient time to set the disordered house in order.

The Government has issued some more official Riel literature. It contains a complete report of everything done at the trial, and in connection therewith, but it does not give the documents which were refused at the trial, or the findings of the secret commission which examined Riel before his execution.

Sir John Macdonald is reported by an interviewer in New York to have stated that his reason for going to England was to report to the Imperial authorities on the state of government in Canada and other affairs, according to an established custom. It will be news to Canadians to learn that it has hitherto been customary to report to "Mammig" whether they have been good or bad children during the year, and especially that neither the Governor-General nor our High Cockalorum in London, Sir Charles Tupper, can be entrusted with the message. What do we pay these functionaries $100,000 a year, more or less, for if we have to send our Prime Minister scurrying off by the back door as an official telltale?

The Department of Finance has one verdant official in it besides its head, and that verdant official is the Minister's son. When Mr. McLelan was shuffled into the position he considerately appointed his son his Private Secretary, besides grading him as a second-class clerk, with a combined salary of about $1200 a year. He is about as fit for his duties as his father is to manage the country's finances. For some weeks after being installed the young man took all business letters addressed to the Minister, opened them and as he did not understand what they referred to, he, instead of handing them over to the Deputy Minister or other departmental officer, endorsed each with the words "To be answered by pa," and stuffed them in pigeon holes. That is official endorsement on letters. The rage of the Deputy Minister, when he found complaints coming in that business was not being attended to and discovered the cause, can easily be imagined.

A western exchange catches up the London Free Press in timely fashion. The latter organ holds that "The opposition of workingmen to immigration is one of the most short-sighted possible exhibitions." The Free Press estimates the workingmen far too low if it fancies they cannot fathom its motives. The Tory policy of protection is ruinous to the workingmen. It does not pretend to protect them. It bonuses other workingmen and the "pauper labour" of Europe to come here to compete with him and if the organs think that calling him "short-sighted" will blind him they count without their host. The Free Press is greatly in favour of immigration, doubtless; but then, you see, it got several thousands of dollars last year for printing immigration pamphlets at several times the price paid the regular contractors. There is generally a basis for Free Press "patriotism" and it will usually be found to resolve itself into $ and cts.

The Tory organs are so bewildered just now trying to find something to pick at in the Hon. Edward Blake's great London speech that they have completely lost sight of some very important information, which they in justice should place before their readers. For instance, the financial state of the country is rapidly becoming more and more alarming under their rule. There was a large deficit last year and the present year promises to show a still more unsatisfactory state of affairs. For the six months ending 31st December, which closes the first half of the present fiscal year, there has been an expenditure of $17,570,854 while the receipts have been only $14,755,704, leaving a deficit for the half year of $2,815,150. A deficit of nearly three millions for six months. For the same period last year there was a surplus of $1,196,983, so that our finances are in a worse condition by over four millions of dollars than at this time last year. Let taxpayers think of this. Again, the expenditure for the past six months shows an increase of $2,710,044 while the income has decreased $1,300,789. The expenditure for December exceeded the revenue by $564,462 and was greater than for December, 1884, by $726,574. As the half yearly subsidies to the provinces and other large payments have to be met this month the deficit at the end of January will not be far short of six millions of dollars.

Great interest is centred just now in the contents of the Queen's Speech, which will be delivered in person from the throne this afternoon. But little is known of what the Ministerial programme will consist, and the customary forecasts of the Speech are sufficiently contradictory to prove that they are the merest guesses in the dark. A forecast of the Speech, said to have been read at a Ministerial dinner, says of Ireland that although in some respects there are favourable indications of progress toward order in that country, yet at present Ireland is disturbed by an increasing tendency to resort to unlawful practices and a disposition to set the law at naught. The Government, therefore, recognizes its duty to take energetic steps to enforce the law in order to provide security for life and property, and to maintain in its fullest meaning the integrity of the Union and measures necessary to secure these ends will be submitted to Parliament. The Speech further promises a local Government measure for England to be followed by a similar measure for Scotland and Ireland, and a bill to cheapen and facilitate the transfer of land. It refers to the "hopeful prospects" of the Egyptian Commission establishing a stable Government in Egypt, says that the question of annexing Burmah will not be decided until Lord Dufferin reports on the subject, but that the deposition of Thebaw is necessary, congratulates Parliament on the peaceful foreign relations of Great Britain, trusts that peace will be maintained in the Balkans through the self control of all the Powers interested and concludes by expressing the hope that the new Parliament will follow the great traditions of former Parliaments. If this is a correct idea of the Government's programme, a lively time is certain to immediately follow the opening of the House, as there is nothing in it calculated to satisfy the Home Rulers. So far Gladstone and his friends have kept close counsel as to what course they intend to pursue. Should any debate on the Irish question cause the defeat of the Government, it is averred that they will not resign, but appeal to the country on the Irish question.

The Reeve of Guelph Township Replies.

To the Editor of the Mercury:—

Sir,—I find in last week's issue of your paper an article headed "Arbitrary Council Proceedings," and signed "Ratepayer." Although admitting that the author of the article or any other ratepayer has a right to criticise and comment on the actions of Municipal Councils, if they feel so disposed, I entirely differ with him in regard to the duties of such Councils. He asserts that they are "to carry out the imperative provisions of the Municipal Act, and the permissive ones only when desired by the electors." That means that they must move along in the same old ruts travelled by their predecessors for years before, and no matter how advantageous an act or section of an act may be to a municipality, unless it were imperative, the Council thereof dare not take action in the matter or adopt it without first being urged to do so by the ratepayers, although perhaps not one in fifty of them knew that such existed on the Statute books. Whilst I hold that a Municipal Council should be an active, progressive body, posted on all matters relating to municipal government, and whose duties would be to be prepared at all times to take advantage of and adopt any measure, whether permissive or imperative, that would advance the interests of the municipality which they represent and not wait, perhaps for years, to be importuned or petitioned by the ratepayers to do so, I also hold that a representative body should be equally responsible for their sins of omission as of commission, and if they failed in their duty in either respect the electors have the remedy in their own hands, and would be justified in exercising it in the one case as well as in the other.

With regard to the charges specially set forth, the first of which is the granting of $100 of the Township funds to each School Section, I may here state, as I stated at the nomination, when the question was brought before the Council, that I neither advised nor opposed it, for the reason that every member thereof fully understood the nature of it and passed it without dissent, and who no doubt believed in doing so that they were assisting the weaker or smaller sections without doing any injustice to the larger, and who I expect are prepared to justify such action. As to the second charge, that of removing the place of meeting. In my opinion it must be at once apparent to any unprejudiced person who gives the matter any consideration, the great advantage and convenience the change will be to nine tenths of those requiring to do business with the Council, as all the Township orders are payable in the City, which is much more central, notwithstanding "Ratepayer's" assertion to the contrary, and nearly all the business and travel of the Township is merged therein, so that it need rarely occur that a ratepayer who has any business to transact in connection with municipal matters will be obliged to make a special journey for the purpose, while heretofore that had to be invariably done, sometimes at considerable inconvenience. As to the additional cost incurred, I have made a calculation and here assert that a rate of two cents on every $1,000 will cover the whole expense incident to the removal, including interest on furniture, which I consider a very small matter when compared with the conveniences thereby secured to the public. In reference to the charges implied, I think the only other occasions on which the Council of 1885 ventured to diverge unbidden from the old beaten track, was in substituting one assessor for two, and deciding to and obtaining permission to make the assessment in the months of May and June, in place of in the winter. Now, I think it requires very little argument to prove that one assessor can do the work much more satisfactory and make a more equitable assessment than two each going over a different portion of the township, also to prove that the work can be done much better and more cheaply in the summer months than in the winter when the ground is covered with snow.

I think, Mr Editor, that this is the sum of charges of arbitrary acts, both expressed and implied, brought against the Council of last year, and I am sure that that body would be willing to submit any time to a majority of the ratepayers to say whether those acts were in the interest of the municipality or not. What the N. P. principles have to do with the question is more than I can understand. Perhaps "Ratepayer" will explain. Yours truly,

M. Sweetnam Reeve Guelph Tp.

An Ex-Patient's Opinion of the General Hospital.

To the Editor of the Mercury:

Sir,—Like many another ex-patient of our excellent General Hospital gratitude for the benefit it has conferred upon me prompts me to give publicity to my opinion of its usefulness. An experience of fourteen weeks under treatment, I think, should qualify me to speak authoritatively, and if so weak a voice as mine can do anything to increase the interest in the institution I deem it a duty as well as a pleasure to give that voice expression.

On the 23rd of August last I was admitted to the Hospital with a leg so badly fractured and wounded that my doctor would not undertake on any consideration to treat it at home. Indeed, for sometime it was doubtful whether, in spite of a good constitution, the use of all modern appliances and the best of surgical care amputation could be averted. Warned of my danger, it did not require much persuasion on the part of the doctor to induce me to go to the Hospital.

A plain, airy room on the second floor constituted my quarters. Here I was placed upon a fracture bed so constructed that I was not required to move an inch for any purpose during my stay. Essential as this feature of the Hospital economy was to the successful treatment of a case like mine, where absolute freedom from motion was a necessity, it may surprise some of your readers to be told that such a thing as this fracture bed was evidently unknown in Toronto, for when Dr. Aikens was called in to consult with Dr. Herod about Mrs. Card's case and my own, he took the measurements of the bed with a view of having one made like it. Thus we have a proof that the Guelph General Hospital is up to the times in all kinds of surgical and other conveniences.

The use of this bed was undoubtedly the greatest boon I received by going to the Hospital, but it was by no means the only one, for I enjoyed the advantage of experienced nursing and also such conveniences as were afforded by a well stocked dispensary in the building and instruments always at hand which the doctor happened to ask for.

During my stay I received nothing but kindness, and observation convinced me that my own experience was also that of the other patients. How could it be otherwise with the direction of affairs under such a large hearted Matron as Miss Law? However, I consider myself chiefly obliged to my amiable nurse, Barbara Leslie, and the steward, Mr. Meers, for the manner in which they dressed my wounds at first, when they required attention three or four times a day. It would have been next to impossible for my own friends to have done this. The very sight of the gaping wounds and protruding bones would have been sickening to them. It would have been alike out of the question for the doctor to have called three or four times a day simply to attend to this. By the steward and nurse this important matter was looked after as carefully as it might have been and as effectively as by the doctor himself. Parenthetically I may here express my deep sense of obligation to those kind friends who relieved the nurse night after night to watch by my bedside. A complete recovery has been effected, and to Hospital appliances and care is due no small measure of this successful result. Therefore, I say, I have reason to be thankful the General Hospital exists and that it is managed with so much efficiency.

But although owing so much to the Hospital it would be very ungrateful of me to give it all the credit for my recovery. All that surgical experience and skill, all that human power could do was done by Dr. Herod. By a singular coincidence two of the worst cases of fractured legs which it had fallen to his lot to treat in a practice of thirty-eight years came into his hands at the same time. Many a limb has been amputated where the injuries were far less severe than Mrs Card's or my own, and I think we have both cause to thank him for the jeopardy he placed his reputation in by determining to let Nature take its course, and for the patient, persistent and skilful manner in which he assisted that great physician in its work. Those who were acquainted with the character of the injuries are confirmed in the opinion now that a bone can scarcely be so badly broken that it will not heal under proper treatment, and it may be that in saving Mrs Card's leg and my own the good which Dr. Herod has done is not confined to ourselves. Through it others may be spared the knife.

Lest it should be thought a spirit of egotism had prompted me to parade my own case in your columns, let me say again that I have written solely in the hope of doing some good to the Hospital. I have referred to my own case because I know in a personal way better than in any other the benefits of the institution. I might go on to speak of the advantages which it possesses for the community, where surgical operations may be performed, and where certain diseases such as typhoid and other fevers can be treated more successfully than in the homes of the patients. I might speak also of the great work of charity which is carried on in providing a comfortable asylum and proper treatment for poor sufferers, but I have already written at too great length. However, if the fact of bringing the Hospital and its good work once more before the public suffices to stimulate a greater interest in these and enhances the contributions to its support in any degree I think this letter will have served a good purpose.

CHAPTER IV.

DREAMING.

It was a perfect autumn afternoon as Helen walked slowly across the sands of the bay to Longhead Island, her favourite resort. The island lay about a mile from the shore, and the only way of getting to it was to row across the bay when the tide was high, or at low water by picking one's way along the sands. To all intents and purposes the only way of reaching the island was the former, for the sands were shifting and treacherous; no stranger in full possession of his senses would ever have dreamed of venturing across them; the chances were a hundred to one that he would stumble into a quicksand and never again be either seen or heard of. Some of the villagers professed to know of a safe way, but ne one had ever been induced to put his knowledge to the test. There was no feeling of security owing to the shifting character of the sands. Otherwise there was much about the island to attract an adventurous spirit, for it was more beautiful than almost any part of the coast. The shore was low and rocky, and the rocks were rent and riven; in every hollow was a little, clear pool, full of bright green seaweed and little shells. The trees grew almost down to the water, and the outer ones formed the fringe of a close wood, which mounted with the rising ground, and covered the whole of the island. In spring the ground was a varegated mass of wild flowers, and in summer no more delightful place for lounging could be imagined when the tide was high, and the water came rippling up close to one's feet. Helen had often rowed herself, or, during this last summer, been rowed by Percival to the island. On this particular afternoon she was going to walk. She had said nothing about it at home, because she knew that her father would promptly have forbidden such an expedition; but she set out after lunch, and was now wending her solitary way towards the island. She went quickly and carelessly so long as she was on the rocks, springing lightly from one to the other, or poising herself like a bird as she considered whether she should attempt the longer flight necessary to land her on the next point of rock. Once on the sand her pace changed, and she went very slowly, keeping a sharp lookout for anything like a quicksand. Anyone watching her from a little distance, and a stranger both to herself and the country, would have been both amused and puzzled by her mode of progress. Now she stood still, and after a keen look round and a careful examination of the sands, which she knew so well, she could detect the almost imperceptible difference in colour where the sand was "quick," she made a long round and came back again to a point only a few yards in front of where she had stood before. Again, she bent forward and poked her parasol into the sand, and having decided that though soft it would bear her own light weight for the space of a moment, she made a sudden dart, and had crossed the dangerous bit almost without leaving the print of her feet upon the sand.

She reached the island at last, and having established herself in a comfortable corner among the rocks, she opened a paper bag which she carried in her hand, and taking some biscuits from it, broke them into pieces, which she threw to the seagulls stalking about the sands.

She threw away all her biscuits, rolled the bag into a ball, and dropped it into the ground and then, leaning back among the rocks began to think. She had come to this lonely place with a set purpose, namely to give herself the moral bracing of which she thought she stood in need.

"I must not build upon it," she thought ("it" referring to Percival's evident preference for her). "He likes me, and we are friends; but we shall never be anything more. Somehow I do not seem to have it in me to inspire people with a very deep attachment. It will last but one month longer, then Alice will come home, and it will all be at an end. I shall have to behave as though I did not notice any change, and I am not at all sure that I shall be able to. At any rate it will be very difficult. I wonder if I shall ever learn not to act upon impulse. I made such good resolutions at first, because I knew he would only care for me as long as he could compare me with no one else. I kept my resolution for some time, and then he was so kind and pleasant, I could not help liking him; whenever we talked we seemed to have so much in common. At last I threw prudence to the winds, and thought I would have one pleasant summer in my life at any rate. The only fault is that it has been much too pleasant. I have enjoyed myself as I never did before. I did not think it would be so hard to give up at the end."

Her face had grown very thoughtful and rather sad as these thoughts passed through her mind, and she presently went on—

"If I only felt sure, if I could only get rid of this feeling that he likes me, merely because there is no one else to like: though, after all why should he like Alice best? Every one else does, but he is different from other people. He likes me because we are alike, and he would have nothing in common with her. However time will show."

She half sighed, and went on thinking without changing her position. The soft beams of a September sun filtered down through a haze, golden where the sun touched it; in the distance, over the water and the half-veiled hills, a soft blue-grey. The sky was blue-grey too; it was difficult to say where the sky ended and the haze began. There was no wind, only a fitful breath of air which scarcely lifted the leaves, or ruffled Helen's hair or the lace on the hat lying by her side. She was quite alone, not even a boat was visible.

She sat and dreamed heedless of time, and, what in this place was of equal importance, tide also; and she was considerably surprised to find on rousing herself from her meditations that the sun was low, the warmth gone from the air, and the tide coming steadily in.

It must have been the withdrawal of the sun that roused her, there being nothing else to do so, for her meditations were not of a nature to come to an end from lack of matertal, but she sat up and looked about her with a view to returning home. As yet the tide was not high, but she knew the coast too well to draw any encouragement from that. The tide came creeping in to a certain point, then a wave suddenly arose and with one bound filled every curve of the bay, covered every inch of sand. A very short look from Helen's long-sighted eyes showed her that within ten minutes her island would be a veritable island and herself a prisoner in it till the tide turned. Then it would be dark, and madness to attempt to get across the sand. If she could not escape after this tide, she must remain until the afternoon of the following day.

"It is now unfortunate," she thought with a smile, "that no one knows where I am—except Dixon," with a glance at the paper bag lying at her feet, "and he may have the sense to reveal my whereabouts or he may not."

All this time she had been looking out over the bay, and as the above thought passed through her mind, "the wave," as it was called in the neighbourhood, came rushing in, covering everything and lapping up against the rocks upon which she stood.

"There is my last chance gone," she said aloud, with a little laugh. "How idiotic of me to forget the time like this, and how angry they will be when I don't come in to dinner."

She looked at her watch. It was half-past six.

"I should have been late in any case," she thought. "It is better to be altogether prevented from coming by an accident, than to be merely late through forgetfulness; in our family at least. Let me resign myself."

She sat down again and watched the water plashing and swaying against the rocks. The tide was in, and seemed to be settling down until it was called off elsewhere. She sat absorbed in thought until it suddenly occurred to her that she felt hungry, and she was struck with dismay.

"Dear me," she thought, "I suppose I shall have nothing to eat until to-morrow afternoon; how am I to last so long. I shall hardly feel equal to my walk, when the time comes to take it. It is provoking to think of all the biscuits I threw away so gaily."

It was interesting to watch the water so long as there was sufficient light, but when an hour had gone by it was dark and tolerably cold. She could not try to keep warm by walking, for the shore was too rocky and uneven to make walking in the dark practicable, until she was very much colder than at present. There was nothing to do but sit and wait, though for what she had no very clear idea.

About nine o'clock that same evening Percival walked into the drawing room at The Thwaite. Perfect silence reigned. Mr. Lafone had fallen asleep over his newspaper; Mrs. Lafone and her second daughter, Gertrude, were absorbed in their crewel work. After the usual greetings had been exchanged Percival looked round for Helen, and not finding her began to feel that the object of his coming had vanished. He waited, but she did not appear, and he crossed the room to Gertrude, who was sitting apart from the others, and asked,

"Is not your sister at home? I should like to see her."

"She is not in; she went out after lunch, and did not come home to dinner. It is so silly of her to do these things; she only gets into scrapes."

"But if she has not come home, where do you suppose she is?"

"I expect she has gone to Dr. Hazlitt's; she often does. If you wait a little I daresay she will come in."

"You take things very much for granted," he said, divided between amazement and anger. "I have been at Dr. Hazlitt's all evening and have seen nothing at all of your sister."

"If she is not there, I suppose she is somewhere else," she replied rather shortly, annoyed at his tone.

"I suppose she is; but it is late for her to be out alone; something may have happened to her."

"What should happen to her?" still inquiringly.

But she got no reply. Percival stepped up to Mr. Lafone, who had roused from his slumbers at the young man's entrance, and, after repeating what he had said to Gertrude, went on—

"You will excuse my leaving you so abruptly, but I cannot help feeling uneasy about her, I will go to the village and make some inquiries."

"You are very kind, but I think you are giving yourself unnecessary trouble. It is not the first time Helen has behaved in this foolish, thoughtless way, and, depend upon it, she will come home while you are wandering over the country in search of her."

"Possibly; but I cannot leave it to chance. Good night."

He was gone without shaking hands. They heard the hall door fall to after him, and then they returned to the occupations which had been interrupted by his coming.

Percival rushed down to the village, inquiring of every one he met if they could give him news of Miss Lafone. The greater number had not seen her at all, one or two had met her, but in the main street of the village, which was no clue at all. But a woman said she had seen Miss Lafone in "Dixon's shop."

"Dixon kept the principal grocer's shop in the place, and Percival knew that he was rather a friend of Helen's, so thinking it possible she might have told him where she was going, he ran into the shop saying—

"Dixon, have you seen Miss Lafone this afternoon?"

"Miss Lafone? yes, sir, she was in here about three o'clock buying biscuits."

"Never mind what she bought; did she say where she was going?"

"Yes, sir, she said she was going—why, sir, has she not come home?"

Percival clenched his hands as he replied with a tone of sharpness which was not often in his voice.

"No, she has not come home. Tell me where she went to, can't you?" The last words were spoken almost savagely, for a vague fear was beginning to work at his heart, and he wanted to be up and doing.

"She said she was going to walk to the island across the sands," replied the man, his face growing white with the same fear which he saw in Percival's face.

"And you let her! Good God, Dixon, are you mad?"

"What could I do, sir? I said it was surely a bold thing to do, but she said she had done it before."

"Come down to the shore with me and help me off with a boat. She may have reached the island and be kept by the tide or something, but if she has not, by heaven, Dixon, I'll have you up for murder!"

He did not know what he was saying, he only knew that Helen was in danger or out of danger by this time, and his heart felt sick at the thought. He dared not entertain the idea. To be of any good he must persuade himself that she might yet be helped, and he was down at the beach and getting off a boat in less time than he believed any man had done it before. He took Dixon with him; his help might be needed, and at anyrate two of them would get over the water faster than one.

"Row for your life, Dixon," he said when they were off.

"I'll do my best, sir, never fear. Where will you be going first, sir, think you?"

"To the island, of course. If she is there she will be tired of it by this time, and if she is not——"

He did not finish his sentence, neither did Dixon finish it for him; they rowed on in silence.

They made rapid way, the wind was in their favour and the boat was a light one.

Before long the outline of the island became visible, and resting for a second on their oars, they could hear the lapping of the water against the stones.

"Take care where you land, sir, there are some nasty places,"

"There is no telling on which side she will be," said Percival, "though I should think on this, in case any one came."

Nearer and nearer they came, till they could distinguish a white patch against the dark rocks.

And he called loudly,

"Miss Lafone."

-LION-

In these days of Cheap Sales, Discount Sales, Special Lines Sales, &c., &c., it is difficult to make a great sensation even with cheap goods. It is only when something special occurs, such as A ship striking a rock; Goods sold in Bond for Duty; or Slaughtered by some hard pressed debtor to meet some imperative demand.

This time we have struck it rich with two Grand Drives.

DRIVE NO. 1.

A Manufacturer's whole stock of Hosiery, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Underwear, Wool Shawls, Clouds and Mufflers bought at 66 2-3 cents on the $ and to be sold at less than regular cost.

5 O'clock p. m. Closing Movement.

During the next 2 months the Lion will close at 5 o'clock, so as to give their employees an extra hour to compensate for their long hours on Saturday night. A movement was set on foot to have all the stores close at this hour but it fell through on account of the opposition of one or two parties. However the Lion has never been afraid to lead, and will accordingly close every night Saturdays excepted, if not another firm on Wyndham street follows. It is only just to Salesmen and Ladies who work to 10 and 11 o'clock on Saturday night when other trades have a half holiday.

EXAMINATION OF EVENING CLASSES.—The term of thirty-five nights teaching of evening classes in connection with the Mechanics' Institute, was concluded by an examination of the class on Friday evening last. The following members of the Class Committee were present and assisted in examining the papers:—Messrs. Zyrd, Brewster, Jas. Jardine, Marchant Bradley, and Rewick. The subjects taught during the term were arithmetic, mensuration, and penmanship, and several of the pupils made very creditable progress. The average attendance of the class for the whole term was thirty-two, being the largest for several years. The best and second best in each class were awarded tickets, entitling them to honorary memberships, and free benefit of the library for one year. The successful candidates were in senior class, 1st Bernard Limpert, 2nd Albert Glick; in 2nd class, 1st Melinda Bolduc, 2nd Annie Zryd; in junior class, 1st W. Hall and W. Brown, a tie, 2nd Ella McMasters, and Lizzie Williams, a tie. Miss Minnie Engelhart, who was awarded honorary membership at last year's examination, and won the same this year in the 2nd Division, was awarded a ticket, but was not considered a competitor against the other candidates.

ROYAL TEMPLARS OF TEMPERANCE.—On Friday evening the 15th inst., the following officers of the Select Degree of New Hope Council, No. 66, were installed by Past Councillor David Rife:—James Hamer, S.C; W. S. Dickie, Ben. Sec.; Miss Millie Henry, Assist. Secy.; Solomon Kiffer, Prelate; P. C. David Rife, Ben. Treas.; Aaron Stager, Steward; Chas. Lochead, Asst. Steward; Edward Burn, Tyler. New Hope Council is looked on as one of the most successful in the Province.

ONE NIGHT ONLY.—The Telgmann Septette Club is to appear in Glick's hall under the aupices of the Methodist Church on Saturday evening, Jan. 23. From what the press states in various parts of the country about this juvenile club, its members are veritable prodigies in musical execution, and they are altogether a troupe of a high and refined order. The instruments are for the most part violins, played by the brothers and sisters. The lovers of rich music will do well to be out and embrace an opportunity which may not be theirs to embrace again, as the Telgmanns are a German family, and from their notoriety are no doubt denizens of the world.

CHEERFUL.—The recent snowfall and present good sleighing, together with the hum of machinery in the busy mills, and the rush of farmers to town to get their horses shod, &c., &c., give our little town an aspect of prosperity and cheerfulness not exceeded perhaps by any other town in the country.

PERSONAL.—Miss Winifred Johnstone, a pupil of the Public School here, who was the winner of the first scholarship at the midsummer entrance examination at Galt, has been a successful candidate at the recent Civil Service qualifying examination held at Ottawa. Miss Johnstone although an inhabitant of Argenteuil, Quebec, is well known in town, and has the best congratulations of her many friends in this place on the occasion of her success.

Mr. Arnold T. Panabaker, the popular clerk of about five years' standing in the Post Office store, has resigned his situation and accepted a good position in the Star Woollen Mills here. Mr. Panabaker deservedly has the very best wishes of his numerous acquaintances for his success in his new field of labor.

BUSINESS CHANGE. — The blacksmith shop of Mr. J. P. Johnston, recently vacated by Mr. J. Johnston, jr., has been leased by Mr. Wm. Forbes, who will henceforth carry on the business. Mr. Forbes, we have reason to believe, like the other blacksmiths in town, is a good one. We wish him success.

Hespeler, Jan. 20, 1886.

Wellesley Correspondence.

REMONAL.—Mr Wm. Scott, who has been living here for some time, removed to Linwood last week. He takes charge of the Senior Division in the Public School in that village.

LIQUOR LAW.—Mr J. E. Frey, the keeper of a Temperance (?) House in the village of Crosshill, was prosecuted last week for selling liquor on Nomination Day. He did not defend the case, as he knew that it was of no use. He had to pay about $30 for his law-breaking. It is rumoured that he will soon be called upon to pay a few dollars more for selling the vile stuff.

PARALYSIS.—Mr Petch, an old and respected resident of this Township, was prostrated some time ago by a paralytic stroke, and for a while his life was despaired of. He is slowly recovering, however, and at present bids fair to be completely restored.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—Mr Barber was elected Superintendent of the Union S. S., Crosshill, in the place of Mr George Mauser, who died very suddenly a few days ago.

REVIVAL MEETINGS.—Mr Caldwell, an evangelist, has been holding revival meetings in Hawksville for some time, but thus far without much apparent success. He did good work while he laboured in Crosshill.

THEFT.—About two weeks ago, Mr A. Frame, a farmer, living about two miles from Crosshill, engaged a young man of the tramp species to work for him during the wintgr, and was to pay him the liberal wages of $3 a month and board. He did not work very long, however, as work was not agreeable to his tastes; so he took his departure for parts unknown, taking with him some of his master's clothes in lieu of wages. A constable was put on his track, but failed to come up with him. When will our farmers learn to give fair wages to a good man they know, and not be duped by these dishonest tramps who are dear in the long run.

PUSLINCH FARMERS' CLUB.

The Annual Reunion a Great Success.

The twelfth annual reunion of the Puslinch Farmers' Club took place in the Township Hall, Aberfoyle, on Wednesday night. Although the night was very stormy there was as usual a large attendance, the audience consisting of the most part of young people, not only from the township, but from Guelph and neighbouring townships. There were no refreshments served this year, the programme being of a purely musical and intellectual nature. Mr. James Innes, M.P., was called to the chair, and along with him on the platform were seated Mr. John Smith, President of the Club, Mr. Hugh Reid, Mr. Kilner, Serectary; Mr. D. McCaig, of Eramosa, Mr. John A. Mowat, Mr. G. W. Field, and Mr. W. A. McLean, of Guelph, and others.

The chairman, in introducing the business of the evening, congratulated the Club on its prosperous condition in being able to celebrate their twelfth annual reunion with as much spirit and vigor as at their first annual gathering. He referred to the valuable work it had done and believed that such Clubs had occasioned the first idea of holding Farmers' Institutes under Government patronage and by the professors of the Agricultural College, which had been found to be of such an interesting and valuable character to agriculturists generally. He strongly advised the young farmers of the township to join the Club and pointed out the many advantages which would follow from their connection with it. In the course of the evening able and practical addresses were also given by Mr. D. McCaig and Mr. G. W. Field. The musical part of the programme was well rendered by Miss and Mr. McCaig, jr., on the violin and organ, in songs and duets by Miss Galbraith, Mr. Brown, of Campbellsville (in character), Mr. Vollick, and Mr. Duffield.

Mr. Brown's songs were, as usual, of a comic character, and were received with great applause.

A new feature of the entertainment this year was a dialogue, giving a scene from the well known tragedy of "Douglas," by Messrs. J. A. Mowat, W. A. McLean and J. Gore.

These gentlemen taking the characters of Glenalvon, Norval and Randolph respectively. They rendered one of the most exciting scenes in the whole play in a masterly manner, which quite took the audience by surprise and elicited the greatest applause.

This was followed at the close of the programme by an equally pleasant surprise in the shape of a farce entitled "The Limerick Boy," the characters in which were taken by the Guelph Thespian Amateurs. Mr. Mowat in introducing these gentlemen to the public for the first time stated that they were not there that night for the purpose of profit, that they were simply there for the purpose of affording the audience a little pleasant and rational amusement of a somewhat novel character in the township. The members were respectable, well educated young men, who were not like the strolling players of olden times, obliged to appear on the boards for the purpose of keeping them out of the work house, but took to the work as amateurs for the purpose of intellectual training and affording rational and innocent amusement to the public. Considering the accommodation, want of scenery and stage accessories, the farce was well put on the boards, and the costumes were appropriate to the characters and so well put on as to entirely disguise the real actors. Mr. W. H. Brasbie, as Paddy Miles, was of course the central figure of the play, and as the rollicking, devil-may-care Irish boy enacted it to the life and kept the audience in continuous roars of laughter.

The other characters were also remarkably well rendered, and on the whole they produced the play in a style that is very seldom witnessed by amateur dramatists. One of the most attractive and pleasing features of the play was the introduction of the grizzly bear, which was exceedingly well done both by the bear and his keeper, and convulsed the audience in laughter.

At the close of the farce the usual votes of thanks were given to the ladies and gentlemen who took part in the entertainment, and the proceedings, which were throughout of a most pleasant and enjoyable character, were wound up by the Thespian Amateurs singing Auld Lang Syne and God Save the Queen, the audience joining with them. Afterwards the hall was cleared and dancing commenced with great spirit to the music furnished by Mr. B. McQuillan, and kept up to an early hour in the morning. Apologies for non-attendance were read from Mr. James Laidlaw, M. P. P., and Mr. Kennedy, of Toronto.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours, W. W. DAWLEY, Pastor, Baptist Church, Guelph.

We also want farms for our "Farm Advertiser," which will be published shortly, and be placed in the hands of intending purchasers in all parts of Canada and the United States, and Europe. We give full particulars, including size of buildings, quality of soil and price, but never give owner's name, number of lot, nor concession.
We positively make no charge unless the property be sold. This is sufficient proof that our business in conducted on honest and straightforward principles. Remember we want no agreements to register against your property. We advertise farms in all the leading Newspapers in Canada, and we advertise in almost every state in America, and throughout the whole of Europe. Many of our present applications for farms are from the United States, Europe and other countries. We have now arranged with 32 agents in Canada and Europe to have our advertiser placed in the hands of intending buyers.
Though only 11 months ago we started business in Guelph, and then had no applications for property, since May last we have sold 41 farms at an aggregate price of $202,150.00. Those having farms for sale are requested to come to Guelph, and give us full particulars of their farms, or send us their names and address, and if we cannot prove all we here state to be true and correct in every particular, we agree and shall be pleased to pay every man's expenses coming to Guelph and returning, who has property to sell. Come to the office and see for yourselves, the letters from our applicants for farms, the testimonials from farmers whose places we have sold, and also press notices, etc. If you cannot come, send us your names and address. Local News

MR J. MCGARVIN, Acton, has been elected chairman of the Board of Education there.

THE Galt papers record the death of Peter Keefer, for many years past Clerk of the Division Court there, at the age of 80 years.

IT is understood that Rev. Father O'Connell, will shortly be transferred to the pastorate of the Roman Catholic Church in Galt.

DURING the year 1885, 24 births, 15 marriages and 19 deaths were reported to Mr. J. E. McGarvin, Acton, the registrar for that municipality.

FARM SOLD.—Mr Jno. J. Daley has sold a part of the Budgeon farm, 2½ miles from the City, to Mr Wm. A. Christie, late of Manitoba, for $6,400 cash.

THE condition of Mrs. Schultz, the lady who was shot by the boy Berger, near Strasburg three weeks ago, is unchanged. The bullet has not been extracted.

IN referring to the grant made by the City Council to the reporters of the Guelph newspapers, the Acton Free Press says:—This smacks somewhat of a degree of appreciation of reporters' labours.

AT the annual meeting of the Arthur and West Luther Cheese Factory, which was held on Saturday, the 16th inst., F. W. Vickers, W. Paulin, J. McNab, Newton Bicknell, and R. Gibson, were elected directors for 1886.

THE new council of Galt comprises two manufacturers, two builders, one doctor one druggist, two merchants, three gentlemen of leisure, one general agent, one wood and coal dealer and one omnibus and cartage proprietor.

IN the recount of ballots cast in the election for Mayor of Waterloo, the contestants being Wm. Snider and George Moore, the County Judge rejected three ballots for Mr. Moore, thus giving Mr. Snider a majority of two.

IN yesterday's report of the meeting of the Free Library Board, Mr. Wm. Tytler is made to say that from "75 to 80 books" were taken out each week. It should read each day. Also Mr Gausby is thanked for "ten copies" of the Illustrated London News, whereas his donation consisted of "ten volumes."

TOOK PARIS GREEN.—The Galt Reformer says:—On Thursday last a five year old son of Mr. George Young, who lives to the south-east of the Craigie Lea survey, got hold of some paris green which happened to be kept in the house for other purposes, and ate a quantity of it. He was not long in discovering his mistake. Medical aid was at once sent for and the usual means adopted, with the result that the little fellow was brought around all right. Parents should be very careful of how they leave poison lying around where children can get a hold of it.

INTERESTING DATES.—This year the Queen's birthday comes on Monday; St. Valentine's day on Sunday; St. Patrick's day on Wednesday; April fool day and Dominion Day on Thursday; and Christmas on Saturday. Lent begins March 10th, and Easter Sunday will be on the 25th of April. There will be two eclipses, both of the sun—one March 5th; this will be annual, or as near a total eclipse as the moon can make in passing between the sun and earth. The second will be partial eclipse, occuring August 29th. Neither visible here.

ACTON BRANCH BIBLE SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of Acton Branch Bible Society was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, the 19th inst., when the following collectors were appointed:—Acton, north of Mill St.—Misses Campbell and Swan. Acton, south of Mill St.—Misses Jarvis and Speight. Esquesing, south of Acton—Robert Kinnard and John McDonald. Esquesing, west of Acton—Fred Townsend and Robert Kennedy. Esquesing, east of Acton—John Shaw and Archibald Mann. Erin, 1st and 2nd lines—Duncan Kennedy and J. R. Cock. Erin, 3rd and 6th lines, and part of 3rd line, Esquesing—J. E. Snyder and D. Mann. Erin, 5th and 5th lines, and part 5th line, Esquesing—D. Henderson and Peter Mann.

CHILDREN'S CARNIVAL.—The children's carnival at the rink last night, notwithstanding the stormy weather, was fairly attended. There were about 100 characters on the ice, and the costumes presented were far ahead of any previous occasion. The sheet of ice was all that could be desired, and the best of order was manifest. During the evening the following obtained prizes for the best costumes. Girls—Ada Crowe, "Bridesmaid," 1st; Lizzie Hewer, "Fairy Queen," 2nd. Boys—Harold Morris, "Indian Boy," 1st; Henry Findlay, "Malvonia," 2nd. Comic—Robert Day, "Clown," Irish character—George Marrow, "Irish Dude." The two mile race for the Stirton medal was the next on the programme. The ice being cleared, three contestants, Messrs. McCutcheon, Bunyan and Brandon entered for the much coveted trophy and for the first mile it was one, two, three order. On the first lap of the second mile Bunyan took the lead and kept it for a couple of laps, but was passed by McCutcheon, who kept the lead and prevented Bunyan from again passing by fouling him. Before the race was finished McCutcheon left the ice and Bunyan won the race with a few feet to spare ahead of Brandon. The race was not very exciting. An excellent programme of music was furnished by a portion of the City Band. Next week a number of first-class races will take place.

FARMERS report sleighing very good in the country.

THE annual meeting of the Caledonian Society will be held on Monday, the 25th of January, for the election of officers.

REV. ADAM BURWASH, of Toronto, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church to-morrow, morning and evening.

DR. GRIFFIN, Montreal, railway correspondent, was in the city to-day, and proceeded from here to Stratford.

CANON HINCKS, of Galt, has received a call from All Saints' Church, Windsor, but it is thought that he will not accept.

JOHN BURNS who has received the tenders for ice supply for Mr. Harris' bakery will commence at once to fill the contract.

ON account of the inclemency of the weather the opening of the tobboganing slide to have taken place last night was postponed.

FRED W. ROBINSON, has secured Lillian Lewis, with a good support, to perform Cora, in the "Creole" or "Article 47," to be produced here sometime in February.

THE bridge in Pilkington which was destroyed by the flood on January 6th, will be replaced by a forty-feet truss bridge. The contract was awarded to John Marshall for $91.

THE passenger train from the north, due here at 10.10 a. m., was an hour late, so also was the train on the main line from the west, due here at 10.15. The delay was caused by the snow storm of last night, which drifted the track in several places.

IT is understood that Mr T. H. Carson. Toronto's celebrated ventriloquist, will take part in the social and entertainment, to be given by the young men of Dublin Street Church, in the lecture room, on Thursday evening next. Other announcements will be given.

THIS morning Wm. Burgess, photographer, under the direction of the chairman of the Council Committee, took views of the City Hall and Wyndham street, with the object of having them forwarded as a part representation from Guelph, at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition.

A writer in a household periodical recommends washing dishes as the best thing to put the hands in the soft and pliable condition most favourable to piano practice. Mothers should give this recipe a good long trial on their girls who assault the keyboard but shun the dishpan.

AT the annual meeting of Chalmers' Church, Elora, on the 18th inst., it was shown that the total amount raised by the congregation, during the year, for all purposes, exceeds $2,800, of which about $1,350 was paid into the building fund, enabling the committee to reduce the debt from $2,130 to $860, besides paying interest.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Walter West has received a letter from C. Satchell, Ottawa, stating that "White Prince," sold to him shortly before Christmas, was the best beef animal that he ever exhibited in his butcher shop. He also states—having seen the two animals—that he is ahead of H. & I. Groff's steer, "Ranger." "White Prince" was bought by C. Satchell especially for the Governor-General's table.

HYMENIAL.—Last Wednesday a very pleasing affair took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wilkinson, Beech Grove Farm, Puslinch, being the marriage of her daughter, Christina, to Donald McPherson, carpenter, Crieff, now of Galt. There were over a hundred guests present, who were most hospitably entertained by Mrs. Wilkinson and her two sons, Peter and Alexander. The young folks enjoyed themselves to an early hour in the morning. The presents were numerous and very appropriate.

Ontario Tankard.

The final match in the primary competition in group No. 4 for the Ontario Tankard took place in Berlin yesterday. There were three clubs competing—Fergus, Berlin and Guelph. Harriston and Mount Forest clubs are also in this group, and were pitted to play against each other in the first drawing. Neither club put in an appearance, and it is not known whether the match was played or not. In the drawing yesterday, Fergus secured the bye, thus leaving Berlin and Guelph to play the first match, which was won by the latter by a score of 62 to 22, two rinks each. The Guelph curlers had then to play Fergus, and succeeded in defeating them by six shots. The Fergus club is one of the best in the Province, and they made a hard fight for their laurels. Although they were defeated they have no reason to be ashamed of their play. The Guelph curlers say that the game as a whole was the finest and best contested that they ever took part in. At the commencement Fergus had a good start, but lost it towards the end. The pice was so keen and the play so cautious that it took Guelph nine hours to play the two games of 22 ends each. Mr. Hall, of Berlin, umpired both games to the satisfaction of all concerned. The Guelph club being the winners in this group will have to go to Toronto to compete against the winning clubs in the other seven groups some time in the end of Feburary. In former competitions for the tankard, the Guelph club has had what might be termed "hard luck." This year, however, they have proved their mettle and will no doubt show a good record at the final competiton. The following is the score:—

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

Gladstone's Brilliant Stroke Catches the Irish.

LONDON, January 22.—Mr. Gladstone's speech made yesterday afternoon a historic occasion in the Commons. He was hoarse at first, frequently partly inaudible, but rose every few minutes to heights of splendid oratory, and delighted the House with his humour. Even the Tory Ministers laughed at his exposure of Lord Salisbury's change of attitude. Then he thrilled it with the solemnity of his personal pledges and appeals. He treated the whole situation with such tact and power that he completely disconcerted the Tories, won over the Irish and pulled the Liberals together. Only a solitary Whig voice was raised in protest. Mr. Gladstone declared that his opinion expressed in his Midlothian manifesto was his opinion now, and had been for fifteen years. He showed amid laughter what grounds he had for supposing until just lately, that Lord Salisbury "was not very far from being in the same position as himself." The following characteristic sentence was delivered with the solemn emphasis of a personal pledge, while the House was perfectly silent. His voice was like a great bell, and could be heard in the long lobby. "From the first my highest ambition has been, and it continues to be, and I rebuke myself by anticipate if I deviate by a hair's breadth from the principle, not to say one word of any man mingling in this question that can bring the elements of wrath and passion into a debate and a consideration which nothing but patience, nothing but self-restraint, nothing but the casting aside of much prejudice and prepossession, and nothing but a determined disposition to look alone at whatever candor and justice demand will afford us the smallest hope of solving." He urged the Government to do whatever it is going to do with the utmost promptitude and frankness. As to the unity of the Empire he said, addressing the members with astounding effect on the Irish members, "It is an excellent thing to say that you will maintain the unity of the Empire. In heaven's name maintain it with all your might, but we have been maintaining it, not for the 85 years since the Union, but for 600 years before." The effect of this upon the Irishmen was that they appreciated instantly the argument, and the subtle distinction in the reference to the existence of the Union, when there was an Irish Parliament, which had never fallen from the lips of an English minister before. There faces flushed with pleasure, and they cheered madly. Afterwards several said: "He has taken all the venom out of the struggle." This was shown by Mr. Parnell, who concluded his dignified and wise speech by saying that for his party, they saw in the present position a desire and a wish on the part of Englishmen to study and understand with a view to its final settlement, this great Irish question, and they were resolved that no extravagance on their part, of action or language, should mar the chance which their country possessed for the first time in her history. Yesterday has shown how inconceivably silly were those prophets who talked about Mr. Gladstone's influence being on the wane. Perhaps he was willing to let his followers stray alone for a while, but, like the man in Goldsmith's poem, he knew that when he pleased he could whistle them back.

Mr. O'Brien's amendment to the Address in reply to the Queen's Speech recites that the depression in agriculture inflicts grievous hardships upon the tenant farmers, who form the bulk of the people of Ireland, and being destitute of capital they are unable to obtain credit. Owing to a succession of bad seasons they are reduced to a helpless condition and are unable to pay full rents. Their hardships are aggravated by an inconsiderate use of legal power by the land-owners in enforcing evictions and refusing the abatement required by the present state of affairs. This House, therefore, with the view of ensuring respect for law and order, should consider as soon as possible measures by which the Irish courts will be enabled to stay evictions and arrange a settlement between tenants and landlords.

The Post says that Mr. Gladstone nodded assent when Mr. Sexton, in the House of Commons, stated that he understood that Mr. Gladstone favoured the restoration of a native Legislature to Ireland, provided the integrity of the Empire, the supremacy of the Crown, and the authority of the Imperial Parliament should be secured.

Prompt Texas Justice.

ROCKDALE, Texas, Jan. 22.—On Wednesday night Samuel Ford, a farmer, on his return home, was waylaid by a negro and beaten over the head with an iron bar. The negro then robbed the farmer and dragged him to the railway track to be mutilated by a passing train. Ford recovered consciousness and dragged himself home. The negro was captured and confessed the crime. Last night Ford died, and a mob attacked the jail, took the negro out and hung him.

A Missing Atlantic Steamer.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 22.—There has been much anxiety here the past few days owing to the non-arrival of the Dominion Line steamer Sarnia, due on Monday last with the English mail. To-day news was received that she was spoken on Monday last with her rudder damaged in lat. 50, long. 35. She was fourteen days out.

Mill Burned Down.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 22.—James Bennett's furniture factory and planing mill was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning, together with a large stock of furniture, lumber, etc. Loss fully $12,000; insurance $2,000. Supposed incendiary.

Apparently the Cherokee language supplies the longest existing word in "Winitawigeginaliskawwlungtanawnelitisesti," which means "They will by that time have nearly done granting (favors) from a distance to them and to me." And according to the same writer, "Honorificabilitudinity" is the longest word in English literature. In Aztec an equally formidable combination of vowels and consonants exists. It is "Amatlacuiolitquitoatlaxlabuilli," and it means "payment received for having been bearer of a paper with writing on it."

By actual count it has been discovered that a man can shoe a horse in seven minutes' less time than a woman can shoe a hen.

A CONFLAGRATION AT GALT.

GALT, Ont., Jan. 22.—About 6 o'clock this evening a fire broke out in the dry goods and grocery establishment of Middleton & Robertson, on the north side of Main street. The building was owned by Wm. Wilkins. The fire originated from the bursting of a coal oil lamp in the back part of the premises and spread so rapidly with a high wind blowing that it was feared at one time a great part of the north side of Main street would be destroyed. The flames, however, were confined to Middlemiss & Robertson's store, which was completely gutted. The stocks in the two adjoining stores, occupied by Christie & Wilkinson, dry goods and millinery, Martin & McLean, boots and shoes, gents' furnishings, etc., are badly damaged by water. Middlemiss & Robertson estimate their loss at $7,000 over the insurance, which is $6,000, divided among three companies. Christie & Wilkinson's insurance is $8,000, which will cover the loss. The companies interested are the Waterloo Mutual, Gore District and Phœnix, of Brooklyn. Martin & McLean's insurance is $5,000 in the Glasgow and London, Phœnix, of Brooklyn, Phœnix, of London, Eng., and Gore District which will cover the damage. Wm. Wilkins' loss on building was $2,000 outside of the insurance, which is $1,000 in the Gore District.

A recent lesson in the Sabbath School was on the death of Elisha, and when one of the scholars came to the clause, "They buried him," the teacher asked, "Why did they not cremate him? Do you think there is any encouragement in the Bible for cremation?" "No encouragement whatever," was the reply. "They tried it on the three that were cast into the fiery furnace and didn't make it work."

Guelph Daily Mercury

SATURDAY EVE'G JAN. 23, 1886.

THE Stratford Beacon says if Dr. Wallace will oust Dr. Orton from the representation of Centre Wellington he will render the constituency and country a great service. The Alma doctor is just the man to do it, and the Reformers of the constituency are just in capital temper to aid him in the undertaking.

THE London Echo doesn't seem to have much faith in Sir John Macdonald's veracity. It says:—If we are to believe Sir John Macdonald, Canada has forty thousand of the best soldiers in the British Empire, men who ask nothing better than to be led against the enemies of England, be they in Burmah, Turkestan or elsewhere; and Canadians generally are willing to sacrifice much for the sake of a closer union with the mother country. It may be so, but that is not the opinion of the present Governor-General of Canada; it was not the opinion of Sir John Macdonald a few months ago; nor do we believe it to represent the general feelin of Canadians.

BESIDES Sir George Stephen only four Canadians have been made baronets by the Queen, Sir George Cartier, Sir James Stuart, Sir John Beverley Robinson and Sir Louis Hypolite La Fontaine. Sir James Stuart was Chief Justice Lower Canada from 1838 until his death in 1853 and made a baronet in 1840. His son, the present Sir Charles Stuart, of Temple Bar, England, succeeded to his title. Sir Louis La Fontaine and Sir John Robinson were created baronets in 1854. The former, who became Sir Stuart's successor as Chief Justice of Lower Canada, had, while a member of parliament, constituted by the Union Act, strenuously laboured to establish, and succeeded in establishing and maintaining forever in practice, the great principle of responsible government. He died in his chambers in 1864. His title descended to his eldest son, who, dying shortly afterwards, left it to his brother. This latter baronet did not long survive his elder brother, and the title became extinct. Sir John Robinson, for many years Chief Justice of Upper Canada, was the greatest lawyer that ever adorned the bench of that province. He was succeeded at his death by his eldest son, the present Sir James Lukin Robinson, whose brother is Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.

THE FRANCHISE ACT.

The Qualifications of Voters—The Process of Registration Explained.

The time having arrived for the preparation of the voters' lists under the new Dominion Franchise Act, an appeal is made to the Liberals of Wellington to have their names enrolled as voters without delay. To assist in so doing a short summary of the qualification of voters and of the process for securing registration is given.

QUALIFICATION.

To entitle a person to be put on the list he must be—

(1) 21 years of age.

(2) A British subject by birth or naturalization.

(3) Owner of real property of value of:
In a city, $300.
In a town, $200.
In a county, $150.

(4) Or tenant of real property under lease at a rental of
$2 per month.
$6 per quarter.
$12 per half year.
$20 per year.

Provided that the tenant has been in possession for one year before 1st January 1886, and shall have paid one year's rent before final revision.

If the rent is yearly it will be sufficient if $20 of last year's rent shall have been paid before final revision.

Change of tenancy without intermission will not destroy the vote if aggregate of tenancies would give vote.

The assessor should be instructed to state in the assessment roll the rent payable by each person assessed as tenant. If, however, this is not done, each tenant is prima facie entitled to be registered as a voter if the property is assessed at the following values:—
In cities at $300.
In towns at $200.
In counties at $150.

In counties outside of villages the rent may be payable either in money or in money's worth.

(5) Or a bona fide occupant for one year before 1st January, 1886, and enjoying the revenues and profits for his own or his wife's use of real property of the following values:
In cities, $300.
In towns, $200.
In counties, $150.

The occupancy may be under license of occupation from the crown or from any person or corporation.

(6) Or by income without any other qualification.

A person may be registered as an income voter, if he derives an income from his earnings, trade or profession, or from some investment in Canada of $300 a year, for one year before 1st January, 1886.

In counties the earnings may be either in money or money's worth.

(7) Sons of owners of real property are qualified—

(a) Where the father is living and a son or sons living with him continuously for one year before 1st January, 1886, and the property is sufficient in value according to the above figures, if divided between them to give them all votes. If not sufficient to qualify all the sons and the father, then the father and only so many sons as the property will qualify can be enrolled, and in such case the eldest son will be preferred, and then the next elder, and so on.

(b) When the father is dead, and would, if living, be qualified, residence with the mother will suffice, and as many sons as the property will qualify may be registered, with preference to the eldest and elder sons, as in the last case.

Occasional absence from home of a son—not more than six months in the year—will not disqualify, and all time spent at school or college in Canada will be counted as if spent at home.

Son of an owner includes grandson, step-son and son-in-law, and all these may be registered as voters on the property of sufficient value. The provision as to sons of owners applies to the counties as well as towns and cities in cases other than those of farmers' sons.

(8) Farmers' sons—The same provisions substantially apply to farmers' sons, as stated in the last paragraph in respect of sons of owners in cities and towns.

A farm is to be not less than 20 acres of land.

(9) Fishermen and owners of real property and boats, nets, fishing gear and tackle of aggregate value of $150.

Income voters register where they reside at time of registration—all others where property is situate. If in more than one polling division in the same electoral district the voter may register in either.

All names entered in the last revised voters' lists under the old law, will be entered in the new lists by the revising barrister.

Every person not on the assessment roll desiring to have his name on the list must at once send to the revising barrister an application in writing to be put on the list, giving his name, residence and the property or other qualification in respect of which he applies to be put on.

This application must be accompanied by a declaration which is to be made and signed before a commissioner for taking affidavits, a notary or justice of the peace, showing the grounds of the applicants claim to be put on the list.

Substantially the voters are those who can qualify as owners, tenants, occupants, income voters, sons of owners and farmers' sons.

See that the application shows as correctly and fully as possible the qualification.

Make the declaration before a commissioner, notary or justice of the peace. It is convenient to have it attached to the application on the same sheet.

In case of an absent person, let some one else having a knowledge of the qualification make the application and declaration.

When one cannot find a justice or other person before whom the declaration can be taken let the application alone be sent in, with an explanation of the reason, and it would be well in such case to have the truth of the facts in the application certified on the back of it by one, or if possible, two other persons.

The application and declaration must be sent at once to the Revising barrister of the district.

URGENCY OF THE MATTER.

No name not on the last voters' list or assessment roll will be placed on the preliminary voters' list, unless on application and declaration as above.

In case of any difficulty or doubt, application should be made at once for advice to some of the Liberal friends in the neighborhood.

You probably ask why we recommend these remedies. It is because we know them to be reliable remedies, endorsed by leading physicians throughout the Dominion, for the cure of specific diseases, and not claiming to cure everything. Also because they have the exact formula printed on each bottle label, thereby enabling the purchaser to know just what he is taking. The time is rapidly approaching when intelligent people will refuse to take quack cure-alls, the ingredients of which are kept secret, but will insist upon knowing just what they are taking. Guelph Township Council.

The Council of 1885 met in the Council room in the new County building, city of Guelph, for a short time to wind up the business laid over pursuant to adjournment previous to the formation of the new Council for 1886. Mr. Sweetnam, the Reeve, in the chair. Present Messrs. Hobson, Hood and Porter. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Reeve on behalf of the Guelph Union Cemetery Committee submitted the following annual report:

The Committee of the Guelph Union Cemetery beg leave to report that during the year 1885 there have been 116 interments in the Union Cemetery, 7 of which have been provided for indigent persons, 27 burial lots have been sold, and 31 lots for single graves and 91 removals from the old cemetery.

In the St. George's cemetery 26 interments and 11 removals from the old cemetery. Whole number of interments in both cemeteries 142 and 102 removals.

Several improvements have been made during the year, new fences have been erected enclosing the caretaker's residence and outbuildings. Also in the cemetery grounds under the care and labor of Mr. Gokey, whose management affords great satisfaction to your committee.

The Treasurer's accounts have been audited and found correct.

A summary of which is herewith submitted.

(Signed) WM. STEVENSON, Chairman.

Amendment in Committee—There is still an unascertained amount due from the City of Guelph to the Union Cemetery for interments of bodies removed from the old cemetery.

Mr. Hood moved, seconded by Mr. Porter, that the report of the Union Cemetery Committee be received and adopted.

As there was no other business before the Council it was moved by Mr. Hobson, seconded by Mr. Hood, that the Council rise.

COUNCIL ROOM, COUNTY BUILDING.

The new elected municipal Council of the Township of Guelph met in the Council Room, County Building, on Monday, 18th January, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon in conformity with the Municipal Act. The members elect were all present, namely, Matthew Sweetnam, Reeve, and John I. Hobson, Deputy Reeve, were declared duly elected by acclamation. And George B. Hood, Matthias Kirby and Jas. Porter, having the largest number of votes at the municipal elections were declared duly elected to the office of Councillors for the Township of Guelph for the year 1886, and having severally made and subscribed to the required declarations of qualification and office in conformity with the Municipal Act of the Province of Ontario.

Mr. Hood with leave given introduced a by-law for appointing Auditors for the current year, the by-law passed through the required readings, the blanks were filled in with D. A. McIntyre and Wm. Whitelaw as Auditors for the current year.

The Reeve read a communication from Mr. Guthrie, Solicitor, stating that he had received an application for a loan of a portion of the Fund for Educational purposes. Referred to the Reeve to make necessary arrangements.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid: From J. A. Nelles for stationery, &c., $3.53; Hart & Co., for municipal election stationery, $5.31; G. Howard, stove pipes and stand, $26.23.

Moved by Mr. Hood, seconded by Mr. Matthias Kirby, that the account of F. B. Skinner & Co. be paid with the exception of $3.50 for one chair brought by mistake making $24.38. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Porter, seconded by Mr. Kirby, that the Clerk notify the Auditors to have the township accounts audited up to the 31st day of January, 1886, and to submit their annual financial statement at next meeting of Council. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hood, seconded by Mr. Porter, that the following be the Standing Committees for the current year:—Road and Bridge (West), Messrs. Hobson and Porter; Road and Bridge (East), Messrs. Hood and Kirby; Boundary, City and Township, Messrs. Hobson and Hood; Cemetery Committee, the Reeve and Deputy Reeve. Carried.

The Reeve read a petition from the trustees of School Section No. 6, that they had an assistant teacher engaged for the first half of last year, and pray that the Council will grant the portion prescribed for assistant teachers in the Public School Act of 1885.

Moved by Mr. Hobson, seconded by Mr. Kirby, that in reference to the request of the trustees of School Section No. 6 for a portion of the allowance of $50 as prescribed in Section 118, in Statutes for 1885, when a second teacher has been employed for a whole year, that as the teacher in that section has only been employed for six months, that legally that section cannot be paid any portion of that amount. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Hood, seconded by Mr. Porter, that where any change is desired in road divisions or in pathmasters, parties interested are requested to make the same known to members of this Council previous to the appointing of pathmasters at next meeting of Council. Carried.

Mr. Hood moved, seconded by Mr. Porter, that the trustees of School Sections 1, 2, and 3, be allowed the sum of $2 each for the use of their respective school houses during the late municipal election, and that Alexander Hadden be allowed the sum of $4, for the use of his shop and room for the same purpose. Also the Returning officer be allowed the sum of $10, and the Deputy Returning officers be allowed the sum of $4 each, and the constables $1.50 as remuneration for services at last municipal election. Carried.

Moved by Mr Porter, seconded by Mr Kirby, that Mr Ireland, Waterloo Road, and Mr Alex. Hadden be each allowed the sum of $2.50, and James Murdoch one dollar for the care and measurements of square timber used for culverts. Carried.

Moved by Mr Kirby, seconded by Mr Hobson, that the Reeve be instructed to advertise in the two Guelph weekly papers for tenders for the delivery of 21,000 feet of cedar timber to be used for building culverts, and the Reeve and Deputy Reeve be empowered to accept the lowest or any tender if thought to be satisfactory. Carried.

Application was made on behalf of John H. Kirby to have a dog struck of the Collector's Roll, as he has not been in possession of a dog for two years. Ordered to be struck off.

Mr Hobson moved, seconded by Mr Hood, that the Clerk receive the sum of $6 for the registration of births, marriages and deaths for the half year ending 31st Dec., 1885, and a further sum of $2 for furnishing the P. School Inspector with the assessed value of each school section as shown by the Revised Assessment Roll, and also for the several requisitions of the Trustees for school moneys. Carried.

Mr Hobson moved, seconded by Mr Hood, that the Clerk be instructed to procure two copies of the Provincial Statutes of 1883, three copies of 1884, and three copies of 1885 for the use of members of Council. Carried.

Mr Hood gave notice that he would at next meeting of Council introduce a by-law for appointing a Collector and Assessor, also a by-law for remunerating Township officers.

Mr Kirby gave notice that at next meeting of Council he would introduce a by-law appointing Fenceviewers, Poundkeepers and Pathmasters for the current year.

It was then moved by Mr Hobson and seconded, for the Council to adjourn until Monday, 15th February.

A. MCCORKINDALE, Clerk.

The Rose of Sharon Burned at Sea.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The British barque Rose of Sharon, Capt. Evans, from Montreal, has been burned at sea. Her crew were saved.

Ordered to Get Out.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—M. Henrichsen, the American citizen who was recently ordered by the Government to leave Prussia, has received another notice from the Government, ordering him to quit before Feb. 1.

Died in Prison.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Madame Louise Mawrey, who with editor Stead and others was convicted in November in connection with the Armstrong abduction case and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, died to-day at Millbank prison.

Snow, Floods and Fever in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—Continuous snow storms, accompanied by floods which threaten the destruction of the crops, are reported in Southern Russia. Typhus fever is prevalent to an alarming extent in the government of Jaroslay.

France Sympathizes with Spain.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—President Grevy gave audience to-day to Senor Albareda, the new Spanish Ambassador to France. M. Grevy expressed his sympathy with Queen Christina in the death of King Alfonso, and said he was equally interested in her achievements of the great task bequeathed to her by his death.

West Indies and the United States.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—A deputation of West Indian planters to-day waited upon Col. F. A. Stanley, colonial secretary, for the purpose of urging the government to confirm the draft of a convention and trade arrangement with the United States. Col. Stanley held out to them no hope that the government would sanction such a measure.

The Rev. Timothy O'Connell.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 22.—At the afternoon session of the Court of Assize in the case of Rev. Timothy O'Connell against Bishop Baldwin a settlement was arrived at, by which the plaintiff withdraws all proceedings against the bishop and resigned all claims to the assistant pastorate of the Chapter House. It was agreed that the suspension against Mr. O'Connell should be annulled in this parish on his obtaining from any bishop in the United States a certificate that he has for three months previous and subsequent to this date conducted himself properly. The actions against Messrs. Williams, Parke, Shoebottom and Hyman were also settled, Mr. O'Connell accepting $400 in full for all without costs.

The Regular Cry

FOR BOOTS AND SHOES

IS

Go to the CHECKERED STORE

We have customers daily asking us, "What are you selling Canadian first qualities of Ladies and Gents' Overshoes?" We answer, $1.25; American Lined Overshoes, $1.50; Ladies Cardigan Overshoes, $1.00, and Berlin first quality Felt Boots, $1.65, and so on.

The Checkered Store is the Store.

I priced these Goods in other Shoe Stores—Ladies' and Gents' same quality Overshoes, $1.40 and $1.50; American, $2.00; Ladies' Cardigan Overshoes, $1.25; Felt Boots, same make, $2.00, and was offered some Seconds at $1.75. I see you advertise the facts and no humbug, and so on. This is a daily occurrence and facts hard to deny, and at present we are cutting down in every department until stock taking.

We lead in selling Cheap at the Checkered Store.

The Duplex Grate.

This Grate is only to be had in the celebrated Radiant Home Base Burner and the Happy Thought and Garland Ranges. Read the following testimonial

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ., DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

Sincerely yours,

The Great Donation Sale.

Commencing January 13th, '86

Closing March 8th.

To every purchaser of Boots and Shoes, Overshoes and Rubbers to the amount of One Dollar I will give a picture of the President of the United States. I will donate the following presents on the above date, namely,

One Cabinet Sewing Machine, Valued	$85.00
One Dinner Set, 88 Pieces, Valued	15.00
One China Tea Set, Valued	10.00
One Pair Hand Sewed Boots, Valued	4.50

Remember I am noted for the Cheapest Boots and Shoes in Guelph. You will not pay one cent more for your goods than our Rock Bottom Prices, besides you will have the opportunity of participating in our Great Donation of Presents on the day we will declare whom these splendid Presents have been selected. For the last three months, every one of the High Price Boot and Shoe Merchants in our city have been making extraordinary efforts to draw a few straggling customers by advertising, while we have not had time to write advertisements, as our business has increased so rapidly that our time has been fully occupied attending to our numerous patrons. Note the place, and do not be led away by spurious offers of catch penny dealers, who will try everything to accomplish a sale. Our Goods are all new and not shelf worn. The Presents to be given away will be in my window on exhibition.

A HEROIC ACT.

How a Montreal Policeman Saved Life at a Fire.

MONTREAL, Jan. 22.—A fire took place early this morning in front of the stores of L. A. Mahoney & Co., tailors, and Wharvey & Co., dry goods merchants, and damaged the former's stock to the extent of $2,000. The building, which is owned by Mr. Dawes, has been damaged to the extent of $5,000; all covered by insurance. Mr. Droy and family lived in the upper part of the building, and during the fire two women and several children were screaming, when Constable Soulliere, jumping from the sleigh, shouted to them to be of good courage as he would save them. Clambering up the waterspout, a distance of thirty feet, into the yard, he was about to enter the house from the back, when a boy about 9 years of age, jumped from the attic window into the yard, a distance of some forty feet. The youngster fell into a heap of snow and escaped almost unhurt. His perilous exploit was followed by a young girl of tender years, who, however, was not so fortunate, as she lit on a clothes line and badly scraped her limbs. The women, with their babies, were about to follow the example of the children, which, however, would have been certain death to them, when Constable Soulliere, seeing their purpose, shouted, "Courage! courage!" and dashed through the back door, upstairs through suffocating smoke, and gaining the attic the constable calmed the fears of the women, and taking one of the babies in his arms he told the mother to follow him, and getting out on the ledge of the house he steadily walked along the gutter to the window of the next house, where he broke through a double window and landed her inside. He then went back for the other woman and child and landed them in safety also.

AN INDIAN RISING.

Gen. Strange on the Prospects of North-West Trouble.

A Winnipeg despatch says: The following despatch has been received from Gen. Strange, of Military Colonization Ranche, near Gleichen, and among the Blackfeet, in response to a request for his views: "I do not think any white man can be certain what the Indians will do under excitement; but the Indians in this neighborhood are well armed. The white men have neither arms nor militia organization. The Indians have, unfortunately, acquired the habit of practically resisting the police authority, even to the arrest of a murderer at McLeod lately. They wander off their reserves well armed, and as they get no rations while away from their reserves, they occasionally kill cattle. If they give trouble in the spring they will first obstruct the railway and telegraph, and so prevent the passage of troops east. As this district will be very much at the mercy of the Indians as soon as they can move in the spring, the Government should take steps for its safety before the fresh grass enables the Indians to move. Whether the Indians remain quiet or not, this district should not be left to their mercy, as it practically is. The police should be posted on the reserves to show the Indians that the Government is in earnest. The treaty still allows Indians to move off their reserves. They should, however, be prevented from leaving their reserves with rifles, for which they have no use except to shoot cattle or white men.
(Signed), T. B. STRANGE."

TERRIBLE CALAMITIES BY WESTERN SNOWSLIDES.

Many Lives Lost.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 22.—Specials from Aspen, Col., report numerous snowslides. On Tuesday an entire party of eight men and eighteen mules were engulphed in the snow at Albert slope. Ira Hall, Jas. Hungerford, David Patten Gall and two others, unknown, were taken out dead.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 22.—A miner named Thorstrom was caught in a snowslide near Park City last night and was killed. This morning another slide near the same place swept away a cabin, killing A. O. Patterson and wife.

OURAY, Col., Jan. 22.—A huge snowslide struck Dutton mine and four miners were swept away. The houses and machinery of the mine were totally wrecked. A miner on the Genessee mine was also carried away. The Gilpin County Mining Co.'s building is gone. Five feet of new snow have fallen in the mountains since Sunday. The loss of life and property will be great.

ANOTHER FIRE DAMP EXPLOSION.

Thirty-Seven Miners Perish.

WHEELING, W. V., Jan. 22.—Yesterday afternoon an explosion of fire damp occurred in the shaft of the Newburg Oriel Coal Company, Newburg, W. Va. The force of the explosion blocked the air passage so close that no one would venture into the main heading to ascertain the fate of the imprisoned until the air passage could be established. This work was being pushed vigorously. Up to midnight no bodies have been recovered. It is supposed 37 men are imprisoned. Probably all are dead. The scenes at the shaft are heart-rending; fathers, mothers, wives and children linger in groups with pallid faces, anxiously waiting some tidings from their loved ones. The theory advanced as to the cause of the explosion is that the fire damp had accumulated in one of those rooms and was accidentally ignited by a miner's lamp.

Possible Danger to the Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—It is stated that the Dublin police authorities yesterday telegraphed to Sir Richard Assheton Cross, the Home Secretary, that a "suspect" had left there for Chester, and that it was this information which caused the Prince of Wales, instead of alighting at Chester while proceeding to visit the Duke of Westminster, to leave the train at another station and proceed thence to Eaton hall, the Duke's residence. A stranger was heard asking where the Prince of Wales had alighted from the train. A cordon of police now surrounds Eaton Hall. It is stated that the suspect who left Dublin for Chester is a well known and dangerous character of the former city. The police of Chester are dogging the movements of all strangers in the place, but have as yet made no arrests.

The news from Chester to night is that extraordinary precautions are being taken against any possible attempt on the life of the Prince of Wales during his stay there. The police cordon around Eaton Hall has been doubled, and a large force of police is held in reserve in case of an emergency. The grounds around the Duke of Westminster's residence are fairly studded with detectives. The utmost vigilance is observed, and all visitors are compelled to show passes before being admitted.

Harris vs. Damm.

A card in a recent issue of the Bronson Journal, Michigan, in reference to the Damm vs. Harris case, already known to the readers of the MERCURY, will explain itself:—

I hereby wish to prove to the people of Bronson and vicinity that the rumors spread about concerning me on Jan. 19th and 20th are entirely false and have been contradicted by the party interested, as the following statement by him will show.

J. DAMM.

I hereby certify that John Damm has settled with me in full this day for money I let him have, and I cheerfully recommend him to the people of Bronson and vicinity as being a good workman, and an honest and industrious young man.

J. K. HARRIS.

Bronson, Jan. 20th, 1886.

In a local paragraph of the same paper it is stated that J. Damm intends to start for Canada next week, when he intends to prosecute J. K. Harris for slander.

Local News

ANDREW CALLAGHAN, an old resident of Peel, died last week at an advanced age.

THE Guelph Caledonian Society meet to-night in the Good Templar's hall for the election of officers. There should be a good attendance of members.

P. C. HAMMOND this week has special instructions to look after sidewalks from which the snow has not been removed. Delinquents had better take warning.

THE County Council meet to morrow at two o'clock. The principal proceedings of the first day will be the election of a Warden. Several names are mentioned for the office.

ROBT. KERR, the young man who recently attempted suicide by cutting his throat, has so far recovered that he will be taken to his home in Fergus to-day. He is sorry for the rash act he attempted.

T. H. RYAN, Kane, Penn., Inspector of A Division of the P. & A. railway, who has been here for a few days visiting his brother, Mr James Ryan, grain dealer, left for home on Saturday.

A LEADING blacksmith and carpenter in a village not a dozen miles from Guelph had a pugilistic contest the other night as to the relative merits of iron and wood. The exponent of wood, in a somewhat forcible manner, convinced the son of Vulcan that wood was the superior.

QUITE a controversy has been going on in Montreal lately as to the origin of the smallpox epidemic in that city. Some suspicion, whether correct or not, is thrown on the Pullman Car Company, who, after Langley's case, sold a lot of cheap blankets to local hackmen in that city.

SOCIAL PARTY.—On Friday a very pleasant social party was held at the residence of Mr. Asher Farrow, Eramosa, comprising a number of his immediate friends in the neighbourhood, and from Guelph, Fergus, and Elora. A most enjoyable time was spent, Mr. and Mrs. Farrow entertaining their guests in the most sumptuous manner, and did everything in their power to make them feel at home.

CHEESE VS. BUTTER.—A meeting of the farmers in the neighbourhood of Mount Forest was held recently in that town to consider the relative merits of cheese and butter factories. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and they have decided to invite Prof. Brown and Dr. Grenside, of the Ontario Agricultural College, to express their views on the matter.

LARCENY OF MRS. LANGFORD'S MONEY.—Wm. Watson was charged this morning before His Honor Judge Drew with stealing on the 4th January $43 from Mrs. Langford, who keeps a hotel on the Erin Road about four miles from Guelph. The full particulars of the case have appeared before. It was adjourned for one week to enable the prisoner to procure evidence in exculpation, if possible. County Crown Attorney Peterson appeared for the Crown, and the prisoner on his own behalf.

SPEED SKATING RINK.—There will be a big time at the Speed Skating Rink tomorrow night. The following are the attractions: Five mile race—Speight, of Acton; Phelan, of Fergus, and McCutcheon, of Guelph. 1st prize, $15; 2nd $10. Three mile race—Lee, of Georgetown; Krausman, of Elora; and Bunyan and Brandon, of Guelph. 1st prize, $10; 2nd $5. One mile green race—Open only to those who never skated in a race before. 1st prize, $2; 2nd $1. The City Band will furnish the music.

THE LEGAL POWERS OF A CHAIRMAN.—The question has sometimes been asked what legal powers has a chairman at a public meeting, appointed by those present, in the matter of keeping order? In reply, we would say: That if a meeting be called by virtue of chap. 177, Revised Statutes of Ontario, that the chairman, under section 11, can command order and have party arrested for disturbing meeting; and under section 12, may appoint constables, Justices of the Peace and others to aid and assist him in so doing.

WARNING TO SELLERS AND PURCHASERS OF LIQUOR.—Those who are in the habit of purchasing liquor after prohibited hours had better take warning, as according to the Gibson amendment to the Scott Act passed during last session of the Legislature the purchaser is amenable to the law as well as the seller. The other day a young man in Toronto was fined for purchasing liquor after hours. It is well that those who are tempted to break the law should remember this, for the Toronto Magistrate refused to accept the plea of ignorance of the law in the instance cited. Neither will an excuse that a liquor detective or any person else has tempted the transgressor to enter a prohibited place hold good.

GUELPH COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.—The Educational Weekly of last week has the following in reference to this Institution:—Guelph Collegiate Institute began its existence with the commencement of the year. We heartily congratulate Principal Tytler, and his staff of coadjutors, upon the success which has attended their painstaking and energy, for it is very true that in the great number of cases it is the head master and his assistants who build up a school. Even the liberality of a liberal trustee Board, acting for a liberal people, will not of itself secure success—this latter depends more upon teaching and management than upon anything else. We trust that the Guelph Collegiate Institute may long continue to exercise a leavening influence of refinement and culture and to contribute much practical benefit to the community which supports it.

MISSIONARY SERMONS.—On Sunday the annual missionary sermons in connection with the first Methodist Church were largely attended. In the morning the Rev. R. J. Beattie, of Knox Church, delivered an acceptable sermon on the duty the church owes to those who are sent to extend the Gospel to the benighted people of heathen lands. In the evening Mr. John Macdonald, of Toronto, occupied the pulpit and preached from the text "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." The sermon was plain and outspoken and could be easily understood by the most illiterate. During its delivery the speaker was listened to with rapt attention. At its close an appeal was made to the congregation to give largely to the support of the mission in the far Northwest, the shores of Labrador, Newfoundland and Japan. Collections were taken up for the missionary fund. During the morning and evening services appropriate music was rendered by the choir.

Probabilities.

Fresh to strong east and south winds, fair, cloudy weather with local falls of snow. Rising temperature.

THE New Western Hotel is now connected with telephone.

THE Guelph Caledonian Society will not celebrate Burns' anniversary to-night.

CATTLE seems to be a drug on the market at present. C. Little, of Puslinch, shipped a car load on Wednesday last to Toronto. The market was so low that he had to bring the majority of them home.

THE Rev. J. H. Carson, of Guelph, on Sunday week, says the Huron Signal, a former pastor of the Victoria street Methodist church here, took part in the anniversary services in a highly acceptable manner.

A MEETING of the shareholders of the "Homewood Retreat," who principally reside in Toronto, was held here on Saturday. In the afternoon two of them, keen curlers belonging to the Granite rink, Messrs. R. Jaffray and Jas. Hedley, spent a pleasant time on the ice with the Guelph curlers.

PECULIAR SNOW STORM.—The following from the Globe in reference to a snow storm is somewhat peculiar. It says the heavy snow storm which prevailed in this city on Sunday was purely local, and the officials at the Observatory state that at no other station in Canada was there any snow, but the sky was perfectly clear. The railway authorities state that the snow storm extended no further than Agincourt on the east and Weston on the north-west. The total amount of snow fall at Toronto, was fourteen inches.

FORESTERS' CONCERT IN BERLIN.—The Berlin News in speaking of the Foresters' concert, held there on Thursday night, has the following in reference to Mrs Whitehead:—The principal attraction, however, was the singing of Mrs Whitehead, of Toronto. It was her first appearance in Berlin and much was expected of her. We venture to say that those who had the pleasure of hearing her were not disappointed; she has a rich clear soprano voice. Both songs, "Waiting," and "Jamie Dear," received rousing encores and at the close of the programme she, by request, sang "Annie Laurie." We trust it may not be very long before she visits our town again.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE NOTES.—On Saturday afternoon and this morning nearly all the students of the Agricultural College who have been away on their vacation, arrived home to be present at the opening of the college to-day. Some of the professors arrived on Saturday from their tour through the country organizing Farmers' Institutes, and others are expected in a day or two. On Saturday Lieut. Col. Boulton, Coburg, and his son Major Boulton, of the Boulton scouts, who figured prominently in the North West rebellion paid a short visit to the College. To-day a distinguished Austrian in connection with that Government, is making an inspection of the farm.

THE SMALLPOX IN GEORGETOWN.—The Herald speaking of the recent case of smallpox in Georgetown says: The young girl, Miss Wright, who contracted smallpox in Toronto and brought it here is rapidly recovering. She states that her family, who live in Toronto, were quarantined for some time for that disease, but the medical health officer finally pronounced it measles and gave them their liberty. A brother and sister have, we understand, since died in the hospital—where they were taken by the health officers after being allowed their freedom—and other members of the family are still afflicted. Enquiry should be made by Toronto authorities and if the medical officer neglected his duty or was careless—as he appears to have been—he should at once receive his discharge.

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY AT ALLANBURG.

An Aged Couple Done to Death—Object Petty Larceny.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 23.—John Hicks, a farmer, when coming into Thorold this morning, discovered an old-fashioned farm house near Allanburg on fire. The place was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bates, an aged couple. They were very deaf, and are supposed to have had money in the house. Hicks forced an entrance and found Mrs. Bates lying dead on a sofa, her face covered with blood and her left hand burned to a crisp. The body of Mr. Bates was found in the cellar burned almost to a cinder. There is nothing left of the structure but two chimneys. There is an opinion current in the neighbourhood that the old couple were murdered and the house set on fire.

Examination of the body of Mrs. Bates showed that the back part of her skull had been broken in, and that she had a deep stab in the left side above the hip, another stab in the left chest, and still another directly in the opening of the left ear, all proving that murder had been committed. The coming post mortem on the trunk of Mr. Bates may reveal other expected marks of murder.

The old people were tenants on the property of Mr Dougherty, between whom and deceased it was shown the best of feeling did not exist.

The inquest, which has been adjourned until Monday, elicited the information that the old couple were known to have been alive Friday evening; that when the dead body of Mrs Bates was pulled from the burning house Saturday morning it was cold and stiff; also, that the floor of the house was burning and the front windows were covered with quilts as if to hide the fire from those travelling on the highway; that a large butcher knife with the handle burned off and appearances of blood on it was found beside the remains of Mrs Bates, and that its shape fits exactly the wounds found on the body of Mrs Bates.

The excitement in the neighbourhood is intense. It is known that the old people received money for stock before Christmas.

There is no doubt that the old couple were brutally murdered for a little money which it was supposed they had in their possession, the murderer intending to cover his crime by firing the house. If the fire had escaped discovery a few minutes longer, no one would have suspected foul play. The neighbours are determined to ferret out the perpetrators of this atrocious crime. Up to the present no arrests have been made.

The Broken Down Mail Steamer.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Messrs. D. Torrance & Co. received a cable message today from Liverpool to the effect that the passengers and mails had been transferred from the steamship Sarnia, and would leave that port to-day by the Cunard Line steamer. The steamship Sarnia is proceeding via the channel at the south of Ireland back to Liverpool.

Mr. Laflamme Moves for Judgment.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Mr. Lafleur, on behalf of Mr. Laflamme, this morning gave notice of motion to have judgment rendered by the Superior Court on the verdict of the jury in the Mail libel case, but the defence not being ready with the counter motions the plaintiff's motion was, by consent, continued to the second day of the next term in review, Feb. 23.

The Sheppard Libel Suit.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—In the civil action instituted by Col. Ouimet against Mr. E. Sheppard, proprietor of the Toronto News, a motion was made a short time ago by the defence asking that the case be tried before a jury composed entirely of Englishmen. The motion was taken en delibere, but this morning Judge Mousseau discharged the delibere owing to some informality.

The Cayley Case.

An Ottawa despatch says: Hon. Wm. Cayley, of Toronto, waited upon Sir John Macdonald to-day to urge that the Government should take steps to release his son, the editor of the Calgary Herald, who is now in prison there for libelling Stipendiary Magistrate Travis. It is expected that the Government will remit the fine of $200 imposed by their too zealous portege upon Mr. Cayley, who will then be released.

A Rather Too Sanguine Secretary.

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—Mr Chapleau says that the reports of the assault on him at the recent meeting at St. Jerome were greatly exaggerated. His admirers were carrying him around the room when at a point where the opposition faction were assembled an unknown individual threw a piece of wood at him. It struck him above the right eye, but beyond causing a little pain did no injury. He says: "My visit to the county, which I have had the honour to represent for nineteen years, has demonstrated the fact that I am still as well thought of as in the past. I venture to declare that were an election to take place in Terrebonne to-morrow, I would receive a twofold majority as compared with my previous victories."

Very Like a Whale(r).

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The firms of C. Robin & Co., P. Robin & Co, and Duheaume, Gossett, Nicolle & Co., of the Island of Jersey, have suspended. Their liabilities altogether amount to $400,000. Their assets consist chiefly of fishing vessels and factories in British America, which Canadian fishermen threaten to pillage. The Ottawa Government has asked the Imperial Government by cable to send troops to protect the property.

The Balkans.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Prince Bismarck is giving his support to a proposal made by Russia that the Powers send a second and sterner summons in order to compel Greece and Servia to disarm. The Chancellor advises a resort to a fleet demonstration in the case of Greece, and the sending of a warning to Servia that Austrian troops will enter her territory in the event of her refusal to disband her forces. As regards Bulgaria no hostile steps are recommended, Prince Bismarck opposing a Russian occupation of that country on the ground that Prince Alexander submits to the advice of the Powers as far as his position will allow.

ROME, Jan. 23.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs has informed the Chamber of Duputies that Italy, if invited, will join the Powers in compelling the Balkan States to disarm.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 24.—M. Tzanow, the Bulgarian Foreign Minister, accompanied by Gadban Effendi, the Turkish commissioner, arrived in this city to-day. M. Tzanow is empowered to negotiate with the Porte for the union of Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia. Mejdid Pasha, the special Turkish envoy, has been ordered to proceed to Bucharest.

Explanatory.

Attention is directed to my advertisement in another column announcing the continuance of the discount sale, until the end of the first week in February. To prevent any false impression, the public are informed that the discounts stated do not apply to every article in stock, but to special lines. Also that the discounts are made on the prices the goods were sold at and the present price quoted is the net price without further discount. The great inducements offered have created a wide spread interest. Many people having seen the Bargains purchased, are under the impression that the discounts apply to all goods alike. We never want to create an impression that we do not carry out. Customers are always sure of getting exactly what we advertise. Hence this explanation. E. R. Bollert, 27 Lower Wyndham street, Guelph. d&w1

THIS is the one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the birth of the Scottish bard, Burns. Robbie did not think so many people would be interested in the date of his birth a century afterwards, when he sang about it so carelessly:

"There was a lad was born in Kyle,
On whatna day or whatna style,
I doobt its hardly worth your while
Tae be sae nice wi' Robin."

THE Queen of England is the daughter of the Duke of Kent; granddaughter of George III, who was grandson of George II, son of George I; whose great-grandfather was James I; whose mother was Mary Queen of Scots, daughter of James V of Scotland; who was grandson of the Queen of Henry VII; which Queen was daughter of Edward IV; whose great-grandfather was Roger Mortimer, Earl of March The Earl was the great-grandson of Edward III, who was the son of Edward II, and grandson of Edward number one. His son Henry III was nephew of Richard Coeur de Leon, son of Henry II; who was grandson of Henry I; who was son of William the Conqueror.

Guelph Daily Mercury

MONDAY EVE'G JAN. 25, 1886.

Blake vs. Chapleau.

Since Hon. Mr. Chapleau, Secretary of State, mustered up sufficient courage and a body guard led by the notorious "Joe Beef," to face the electors of Terrebonne, at St. Jerome, the Tory press have been very foolishly contrasting that gentleman with Hon. Edward Blake. They could not have done anything more unfortunate, for these gentlemen can never be viewed on the same level, morally, mentally or politically. Mr. Blake's speeches in the House last session, his grand oration at the Rosebery banquet in Edinburgh, and, lastly, his crowning effort at London all proclaim him, not merely the keen-sighted politician, fully alive to all the weakness and wickedness of the party to whom he is opposed, but the statesman and patriot, to whom country is first, last and always, and to whom self and party must be subordinated. Intrigue, bribery and coercion are unknown factors in Mr. Blake's political make up. It is safe to say that if he found himself at variance with his constituents on any subject, no matter how conscientious in his own opinions he might be, he would promptly resign. Fortunately for the country he is never likely to be put to the test.

How is it with the man whom Tories would place alongside of Mr. Blake? What has the Secretary of State ever done to earn him the applause which rings over this continent, as well as the British isles, for Mr Blake? He but follows the lead of his associates, and relies for fame on the fact of his having hung Riel and having the courage to boast of it! Challenged by his constituents for his action in this matter, and asked to resign or explain his conduct, he put off the evil day until he supposed the excitement and indignation had died out. Then he arranges a meeting, seeks the services of a crowd of Montreal's roughest citizens as a body guard, gets another band distributed through the audience as organized clacquers, and then proceeds to speak to his dear friends. What does he say? Has he any broad principles of Government to enunciate or to defend? Not one. He proceeds at once to unblushing public bribery of the constituency. He promises to build railways, custom houses and post offices which shall not cost them a cent, and which he cunningly neglected to tell would be paid for by Ontario. A Montreal paper of strong Conservative leanings reporting his remarks says: This would be done only if the electors gave him their confidence. He scoffed at those politicians who preached their duty to their country in place of their duty to their county. The electors were practical business men, and a custom house in their county meant more to them than a dozen in Ontario." And that is the policy which the Toronto Mail and the Hamilton Spectator commend! Mr Chapleau's second speech was a string of personal denunciations of those who had spoken against him that day.

A series of resolutions was proposed expressing the confidence of the electors of Terrebonne in Mr. Chapleau. The Mail and the Spectator declare that those resolutions were carried by the meeting. The Montreal Star's report is as follows:

"The President secured quiet enough to explain that he wished the assembly to divide on the resolutions; those for Mr. Chapleau to the left, those against to the right. While he was speaking, Mr. Chapleau had been making signals to his friends in the crowd. Getting upon a table the Star reporter saw the body-guard massed at the right of the hall, and pushing for all they were worth to the opposite side. But the crowd was too unwieldy for such tactics to be successful, and the weight of movement was in the opposite direction. It was a considerable time before the division was accomplished, but then the result could not be doubted. THERE WAS A DISTINCT MAJORITY AGAINST THE CHAPLEAU RESOLUTION. No attempt was made to count, but both sides presumed they won and the cheering was tremendous.

Mr. Chapleau had one trick left. He know that he might gain votes by promises to build a railway, but he could not get respect or sympathy by such a corrupt offer. So when two of his body guard, Contant and Vincent, were carrying him about the Hall—

"He suddenly put his hand to his forehead and fell back as if shot. Several believed he had fainted, but soon the cry arose that he had been struck. He was not struck, however. A blow of sufficient force to throw him back in the manner in which he fell would have left its mark. But there was no mark on his face. Besides several reporters were looking at him the moment he fell and are most positive that HE WAS NOT STRUCK. If he had been the body guard would have exacted instant vengeance. It was a coup de theatre, an appeal for sympathy. In a measure it was successful. The uproar was tremendous, and the partizans of either party struggled forward to defend their leaders. A pitched battle seemed imminent. Mercier and Chapleau mounted the platform and could be seen, the one apparently imploring peace, the other pointing to his forehead and seeming to base an argument on his supposed injuries. That much could be gathered from their gestures, their voices could not be heard."

So much for Chapleau and his pretended popularity in Terrebone. His appeal to the electors to support him in exchange for an expenditure of Dominion money was shameful, and his pretence that he had been shot or struck was the act of a mountebank. He might better have kept away from St. Jerome than go there to perform as he did.

THAT HACKING COUGH can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it. Sold by A. B. Petrie.

The award made by the war claims commission to the Bell Farm in connection with the Northwest rebellion is $34,000. When the handsome and accomplished young President of the Boyle—that is to say—the Bell Farm Company, makes his way to Ottawa, something is bound to give. Nevertheless, this is some $36,000 less than the sum originally claimed, and is probably three times the amount of the actual indebtedness.

LONDON Advertiser:—A short time since the New York Tribune remarked upon the lack of humourists employed on the papers of Canada. The reason is now quite plain. The Montreal Gazette explains that the article in the Toronto Mail, for the puclication of which that journal has been ordered to pay $10,000 to Hon. Mr. Laflamme, was a piece of humour and should have been taken as a jest. It will thus be seen that no Canadian paper can afford to keep a regular humourist on tap. Even the Advertiser would find itself hampered with a humourist at $10,000 each humour.

IN addition to appointing his nephew, Major Macpherson, to a position worth $1,800 a year without examination, and superannuating a capable official to make room for him, Sir John Macdonald has imported another dude nephew, named Sparks, from England, and given him a place in the Interior Department at $1,100 a year. Sir John also has a brother-in-law drawing a superannuation allowance of $3,000 a year. No wonder there is a huge deficit, and yet Canadian taxpayers are told that Sir John has never been guilty of nepotism and that he has no relations feeding at the public crib while rendering no public service.

MONTREAL Witness:—Mr. T. V. Powderly has given to the millions of workingmen who look to him as a guide one or two very sound ideas. Recently he insisted very strongly on the fact that many of the evils from which working men suffer would be done away with if the curse of strong drink were removed, and they were to lay up what the drink would cost them, and he used his immense influence to dissociate labour movements from their greatest evil, the tavern. Now we find him propounding another idea of immeasurable import. He says, "If every labourer and every employer would read daily a good paper and keep posted on the topics of the time, I feel certain there would be less trouble." Very much of the quarrelling in this world is similar to that of the two warriors who fought over the question whether a certain shield was gold or silver, each seeing it from the opposite side.

THE Canada Presbyterian holds very decided views on the subject of the canvassing of candidates for political or municipal honours, which it describes as "an intolerable and debasing nuisance." The sentiments of the Presbyterian on this matter are sound. The root of all the bribery, actual or implied,—either in cash, position or promises of future favours—lies in canvassing. The candidate is exposed to temptations to make promises to those from whom he is compelled to ask the favour of their vote, and the electorate form very erroneous ideas of their duties when they wait to be asked, or wait to see who will give them most. There are hundreds of men in every constituency who do this, and they are often the element, under the influence of bribery, which turn a constituency from its natural allegiance. As the Presbyterian says:—"Why, in the name of common sense, should any decent man, who is willing to give time, labour and skill to the public service, be expected to ask men, or women either, for their votes? Is it not for their own interest to vote? Is it not their duty to use the franchise? If the franchise is a trust, are they not responsible for discharging the duties that arise out of that trust? No honest man can gain anything by going into municipal or political life. As a rule, he loses in more ways than one by so doing. His business is sure to suffer, his time is much taken up, his evenings are taken from his family and devoted to the public, and quite frequently his reputation is somewhat roughly handled. Now, is it not the very climax of absurdity to expect a man to ask his neighbours to be allowed to make these sacrifices and to serve them at the same time? This whole canvassing business is degrading to the man who asks support, and demoralizing to the voter asked, for it is coaxing him to discharge a duty which he ought to discharge without being coaxed. Too often the coaxing takes the form of an offer, direct or indirect, of some advantage to be given for the vote, and then the effect is still worse for both parties. Canvassing in all its forms is a nuisance, a blot on civilization, and none know this so well as those who are forced to canvass because they cannot attain to any public position without canvassing. If canvassing cannot be abolished without compulsory voting, then we say give us compulsory voting at once."

A TEMPERANCE DEPUTATION.

Interviews the Ontario Government and Asks for More Stringent Restrictions.

A deputation composed of delegates from the Grand division, Sons of Temperance, and others waited on the Ontario Government Friday afternoon to ask for stringent alterations in the Crooks Act and also to make provisions for the better enforcement of the Scott Act. The delegates were Geo. Maclean Rose, Jas. Thomson, Wm, H. Orr, H. O'Hara and T. Caswell, of Toronto, G. K. Stewart and G. M. T. Hannum, of Ottawa, Mr. Holland of Bradford, G. M. Casey, Grand Secretary I.O.G.T., G. W. Manning, of Almonte, Past Grand Worthy Patriarch I.O.G.T.

The delegates asked that a police magistrate be appointed for each county and also that officers favorable to the temperance movement be appointed to enforce the prevailing liquor law.

Mr. Fraser directed the attention of the deputation to the 14th section of the Ontario Act, 44 Vic., chap. 27, as follows:—"The Council of any county, city town, township or village, in which the second part of the Canada Temperance Act, 1878, is in force, may from time to time set apart any sum or sums of money for the purpose of paying any officer or officers, person or persons, for enforcing or assisting to enforce the Canada Temperance Act, 1878, under their respective jurisdictions, and for the payment of any costs or expenses incurred in and about enforcing or attempting to enforce the same; and such Councils are hereby authorized and empowered to appoint one or more persons to enforce or assist in enforcing the provisions of the said Act, and to pass by-laws for the government and control of such officers or persons, and defining their duties and mode or amount of payment."

Mr. Fraser added that he was surprised that Scott Act Committees had not availed themselves of this provision. The same public feeling which enabled the Act to be adopted in a county should be sufficient to compel the Council to adopt this provision for enforcing the law.

Continuing, the delegates asked that the defendant in any prosecution for breach of the existing liquor law be denied the right of testifying. On the first conviction, the offender should be fined $50. On the second and each subsequent conviction, he should be imprisoned from two months up, without the option of a fine. They also asked that screens be prohibited in front of bar-room doors: that the communications between hotels and their barrooms be prohibited; that billiard tables be not allowed in any establishment where liquor is sold and that the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards be forbidden.

The Situation in Burmah.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Advices from Mandalay say the public council has sent a communication to Mr. Bernard, the British Commissioner, declaring that it cannot govern unless it be given paramount authority over the whole of Burmah, and that an Alompra prince be enthroned. It is probable that the council will be dissolved, as it is believed the majority of its members are intriguing in favour of the pretender.

Gen. Sir Frederick Roberts is going to Burmah to see what he can do toward completing the British conquest of that country and establishing order. Advices received at the War Office state that more troops will be required to conquer the Burmese and that even with an English force the subjection of these people will not be assured without a long and harassing war.

SIR CHARLES ON THE FISHERIES.

He Stoutly Defends the Canadian Position.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian commissioner to England, in an interview said he was astounded at the extraordinary version given by the English papers of the debate in the United States Senate on the fisheries question. "If the summary cabled is correct," said Sir Charles, "the speakers in the Senate entirely misapprehended the nature of President Cleveland's action. When the fisheries treaty expired Canada proposed that free fishing and the free importation of fish should continue pending the framing of another treaty. Mr. Cleveland replied that he was powerless to permit free importation. He would, however, ask Congress to appoint a new commission to settle the question, but he could go no further. On this promise the Canadian authorities agreed to continue the provisions for free fishing although they received no equivalent whatever. There had been no extension of the treaty and Canada was resolved to prevent the Americans from fishing in Canadian waters if no treaty were made. In this event the Americans will be the heaviest sufferers because Canadian fish will still be sent to the United States despite the import duties and sold at a profit to the Canadian fishermen. The present outcry is chiefly due to American fishermen, who cherish a hope that they will be able to get the markets into their own hands, thus putting their own selfish interests against those of the consumer." Sir Charles concluded by saying that he had no doubt the Americans would act justly in treating this important question as soon as they became aware of the whole truth. Of course the treaty was desirable, but after all it is merely one branch of a wider proposal of reciprocity between Canada and the United States which Canada was promoting.

The Foes of a Household

CHAPTER V.

GUIDED BY CIRCUMSTANCES.

"Mr. Lafone was irritable. He could not altogether silence a voice which kept whispering that he had been wrong in so quietly taking it for granted that Helen's non-appearance was caused by her having paid an impromptu visit to Dr. Hazlitt, and that he might so have felt more anxiety about the fate of his eldest daughter. Of course he did not like the feeling that he was to blame, and that had it not been for the zeal and pertinacity of a comparative stranger Helen might have paid for her whim with her life. Still it was always a comfort to reflect that after all it was really she who was to blame for it all, that it was not he who had shown less than a father's concern for his daughter's safety, but she who had displayed more than a girl's folly and wrong-headedness. These comforting thoughts helped to restore Mr. Lafone's equanimity.

Unwilling as Moore was to go without seeing Helen again, the time passed, and no message coming from her, he was forced to conclude that she had been put to bed, and that it was of no use prolonging his visit. He rose to go therefore, and was crossing the hall, and giving only very divided attention to what Mr. Lafone was saying, being engaged in composing a message for Helen, when Mrs. Lafone came out of the drawing-room, saying—

"I am ashamed to trouble you any more, Mr. Moore, but Helen insists upon seeing you again before she goes to bed."

Percival was within the room almost before she had finished speaking, and a couple of strides took him to the side of Helen's couch. She was still looking white and faint, and there was a smell of mingled brandy and eau de Cologne in the room.

He bent down to her, and his voice was hardly steady as he asked—

"You are feeling better?"

He had, as he spoke, put his hand into her outstretched one, and for all answer she gave it a slight pressure. Her lips were trembling a little, and she did not look at him. It flashed into his mind that Mrs Lafone had been lecturing her, and a wave of indignation rushed into his heart.

"I shall come and see how you are to-morrow," he said. Good night."

Her answering "Good night" was hardly audible, and as he left the room his face was whiter and his mouth more set than usual.

When Percival reached The Thwaite on the following afternoon—business which could not be postponed had kept him chafing all morning at home—he found Helen on the couch, but not in the drawing-room. He was taken to a little morning room where he knew callers were never entertained, and where therefore he and Helen could be undisturbed. He was glad of it and wondered whether any thought of his visit had been in her mind when she chose this room to receive him.

Solitude with Helen was necessary to the purpose with which he had come over. The events of the previous evening had revolutionised his feelings. He had already known that he loved Helen, and above all things desired her for his wife; but he had not intended to ask her to marry him yet. He thought he would wait, watch her, and feel perfectly sure that she loved him before speaking. There was a vague idea floating in his mind that he would wait till Alice came home. He thought it would please Helen to be singled out in her sister's presence, as it were, chosen as his wife in the blaze of Alice's beauty. The night before he had various good reasons for not acting in haste; now all was changed. He had hardly been able to speak as they rowed home from the island, his emotion had been so great. A few moments before he had been fighting desperately against the fear, rapidly growing into a certainty, that Helen had met with a fatal accident. Now she was lying alive and safe within reach of his hand. The revulsion of feeling was more than he could bear with outward composure, and he felt thankful for the darkness which hid his face from the eyes of his companions. The very narrowness of her escape showed him all in a moment what her loss would have been to him. The carelessness shown by her parents filled him with disgust, and the sight of Helen's face as he said "Good night" to her haunted him all through the night and prevented his sleeping. When he had slept it had never been for more than a few minutes, to wake suddenly from a dream of seeing Helen in some awful peril from which he tried in vain to save her. All these things so worked upon him that he rode over to The Thwaite on the following afternoon with the purpose of asking Helen to be his wife.

"How do you feel this afternoon?" he asked when they had shaken hands, and he had taken the low wicker chair which stood so temptingly near the couch.

"Much better, thanks," she replied in a voice like her own again. "My ankle was not sprained, only badly twisted, Dr. Hazlitt said."

"Oh, he did come, then?"

"Why—did you know he was coming?"

"I called last night on my way home. He was not in, but I left a message suggesting that he should cast a professional eye upon you."

There was a shade more colour in her cheeks as she said—

"How good you are. It is to you I owe being out of pain now. Mamma did not think it necessary to send for him, and I suffered a good deal all night; but when he came this morning he bound my foot up on scientific principles, so that it gives me very little pain."

After this they were both silent—Helen was thinking how much happier the mere presence of Percival in the room made her; Percival was thinking how he should best approach what it was in his mind to say.

"Tell me," said Helen at last, "how you came to find out or to know that I had gone out at all. You told me nothing last night."

He told her the whole history, and she listened in silence, more moved than she cared to show.

"And" concluded Percival, his voice a little deeper than usual, "if I had been half an hour later in getting here, I had not thought of seeing Dixon so soon, you would have been left where you were all night. For half an hour would have made all the difference in the tide. It had turned before we set out, and though you did not know it, before we landed there was hardly water to float us. We could not possibly have crossed the sands after dark, and we should have had to remain onshore, knowing where you were and unable to get to you."

His depth of feeling was so apparent that Helen thought she ought to take a lighter view of the matter, so she said almost gaily.

"Well, at anyrate, you would know I was there, and not in any real danger, only discomfort."

"There was decidedly real danger after you hurt your foot, besides I spoke wrongly; we did not know, and that was the trouble. We supposed and hoped you would be there, but there was always the alternative which made me cold with fear. Helen, what made you do such a foolish thing? You must have known what an awful risk you ran."

"It was only because I was stupid enough to forget the time," she said deprecatingly. "If I had kept my eyes open I should have got home all right, and no one would have been any the wiser unless I had chosen to tell them. I assure you there is a perfectly safe way over the sands; it is only because the country people are wanting in courage that they try to make others believe it is dangerous. If you like I will take you some day, and you shall see for yourself."

She spoke quite eagerly at the last, as though she were proposing a most enjoyable excursion. Percival could not help smiling as he replied,

"I shall certainly not encourage such reckless risk of life. Dixon said you told him you had done it before, is it so?"

"Yes, I went once last summer. I had long suspected the danger to be exaggerated, so I determined to try for myself."

"And the experiment was so successful that you came to the conclusion you could repeat it as often as you chose, without danger."

There was something in his tone which caused her to infuse a little assumed carelessness into hers as she replied,

"With very little danger, if one studies the sands a little, and makes due allowance for their peculiar shifting character."

For a moment he did not speak, then he said,

"I should never have a moment's peace, I should never be able to bear you out of my sight if I thought it possible you could attempt to do such a thing again. Promise me you never will."

He wished partly in asking this to make a bond between them, so that if she refused his other request there would still be that promise between them. When she wanted to do one particular thing she would have to think of him, and deny herself by his tacit influence over her on that one point.

His voice had been very earnest as he made his request, and he looked straight into her face as he waited for her reply.

It came after a short pause.

"Why should I do so? I do not like making promises."

There was again a little defiance in her tone. She had an instinctive wish to do whatever Percival told her, and promise all he asked. It was to resist this temptation, a last attempt to keep her freedom and be her own law that made her ask the question.

Perhaps Perceival guessed that it was so. There was no jesting in his voice or manner as he said—

"Because when you do these things you risk your own safety, and your safety is very dear to me."

She did not speak. She had when asking her question summoned all her resolution to her aid and lifted her eyes to his. Now she lowered them, and there came an almost imperceptible catch in her breath.

"I won't try to tell you," he went on, "what I felt when I heard where you had gone last night. I could not put it into words; one feels more than talks about such things, I think. But when I feared and almost thought I had lost you—when it kept coming across me that, perhaps, I had seen you and heard you speak for the last time—then I knew how dear you were to me, and how I love you. When I found you, and knew that you were alive and safe—when I held you in my arms, and saw what a small creature you are, wanting some one to take care of you, and see you don't get hurt, I felt—no, I can't tell you what I felt. But I made up my mind to wait no longer, but to speak at once, and ask you to be my wife."

She did not answer; she lay still upon the couch, her face turned from him, her colour coming and going, and trembling from head to foot.

THOSE PULLMAN CAR BLANKETS.

An Investigation into the Recent Sale at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—At a meeting of the Civic Board of Health this morning the chairman stated that he had investigated the subject of infected blankets supposed to have been sold by the Pullman Car Company. Dr. Rodgers said that all the blankets in the infected car had been destroyed. They were, moreover, brown, and not gray. The acting superintendent of the Company also reported that not a single blanket exposed to contagion had been sold; neither had a blanket taken from the car which had held Longley or Shattuck been sold, but, on the contrary, destroyed. The blankets were disposed of to allow of a new style of blankets being adopted. They had been in use about three years, and were sold as the manager thought best for the interests of the Company.

Law at McGill.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 24.—At a meeting of the graduates' society of McGill University held last night resolutions were adopted suggesting improvements in the law faculty. Among others, that the session in law be made the same length as the session in arts. That a special professor at a fixed salary shall give the greater part of his time to the faculty, and deliver special lectures, and that the present staff of professors be reduced.

Smallpox on a Train.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 24.—A man named James Duncan, who was ill with smallpox at a hotel kept by a man named Mallette, at Pointe Clair, was sent by the doctor of that place in a second-class car to Montreal, arriving here between 8 and 9 o'clock last night. After a couple of hours' delay he was removed to the civic hospital, and to-day all the second-class cars of the train were disinfected. Mallette, the proprietor of the hotel at Pointe Claire, and the doctor, will both be arrested for sending the man to Montreal in a car with other people.

Discharge of G.T.R. Employees

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—Quite a number of men were discharged from the employ of the Grand Trunk railway to-day. A workman, but not one of the discharged, said in an interview to-day: The general opinion among us is that the order for discharge was given because we sent in a petition for increase of pay. We had been hurried with our work. New men had been engaged, and the indications were apparent of a brisk season.

On the Eve of His Marriage.

KINGSTON, Jan. 23.—D. L. Paul, agent, was arrested yesterday on a charge of securing goods under false pretences. The young man was on the eve of marriage to a girl of good family, and had an elaborately furnished house. He attempted to have the effects covered by a chattel mortgage, and with the money received, depart. An organ, which Paul presented to his betrothed, has been seized. He had told his lady love that he had paid cash for it.

Nassagaweya Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Nassagaweya Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall, Brookville, on Thursday, January 14th, Mr J. A. Watson, the President, in the chair. The Secretary read his annual report, showing the Society to be in a flourishing condition, and on motion of J. Norrish and J. A. Watson, the report was adopted.

President, Wm. Holmes.

Vice-President, J. McPhedran.

Directors, A. Alexander, J. Reid, W. Logie, J. Little, M. McMillan, M. Beattie, R. Akins, G. L. Watson and R. A. Ramsay.

Auditors, A. Picket, and J. Marshall.

A. McMillan was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

Honorary Directors, A. Bell, A. McGibbon, D. Barbarree, J. Kitching, J. Norrish, and J. A. Watson.

The Society gratefully acknowledged the gift of $100 from Wm. McCraney, M. P., which is to be paid at the rate of $20 a year for five years, to be applied as the Society may see fit.

A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mr J. A. Watson, the retiring President, for his efficient services during the year.

Mr Watson made a happy reply, after which the meeting adjourned.

Guelph August 27, 1885.

G. F. STERNE, ESQ.,

DEAR SIR—I wish to express to you my great satisfaction with the working of the Radiant Home stove I purchased of you. I used it during the severe winter of 1884-5 and found it all that it was recommended to be. I consider it the best and most economical stove I ever used. The "Duplex Grate" is a great improvement upon the old. After a winter's experience I can cordially recommend it for beauty, comfort and economy.

A Woman Frozen to Death.

EDGAR MILLS, Jan. 25.—An old negress named Susan Barbour was found on the roadside badly frozen late last night. She was taken into a house, where she died some two hours afterwards.

Locomotives in Bond.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Assistant-Secretary Fairchild has written to the Collector of Customs at Burlington, Vt., that there is no provision of the law giving authority for the temporary entry of locomotives by the Grand Trunk railway for use on one of its short branches under bond for its return to Canada within six months and saying that the rule that cars running between Canada and the United States are not to be regarded as importations though such cars may be used to some extent in local traffic, does not extend to cars used almost entirely within the United States.

A Defaulting Bank President Now in Ontario.

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Wm. H. McNeil, the absconding President of the Lancaster National Bank of Clinton, Mass., is supposed to be in the western part of Ontario, is 48 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, weight about 185 pounds, round full face, sallow complexion, eyes blue, rather small, black curly hair, has a habit of running his hands through his hair, full face, beard cut lightly but spare growth, walks with long stride or swinging gait, when sitting seldom sits up straight, but slides down in his chair, resting his head on the back of the chair.

Disastrous Floods at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 25.—The river here continues to rise and is doing much damage. Hundreds of families are homeless. A general exodus is taking place from the flooded districts, but the poor people find it hard to obtain shelter. Front street and Bridge street and the lower parts of the city generally are completely covered by water. The city council, at a special meeting this morning appropriated $600 for relief of the distressed, but a great deal more will be required. Mr. John Bell has kindly offered the city the use of the building formerly used as the Grand Junction depot, as a place of shelter for the sufferers. The floods threaten to paralyze the trade of the city, and have seriously affected the coal supply.

Nervous Debilitated men,

You are allowed a free trial of thirty days of the use of Dr. Dye's Celebrated Voltaic Belt with Electric Suspensory Appliances, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Debility, loss of Vitality and Manhood, and all kindred troubles. Also, for many other diseases. Complete restoration to health, vigor and manhood guaranteed. No risk is incurred. Illustrated pamphlet, with full information, terms, etc., mailed free by addressing Voltaic Belt Co. Marshall Mich.

JAMES GLENNIE, Guelph Township, lately brought home a magnificent span of black Percherons, four and five years old, purchased from Mr. Henry Howell, Egremont. They are valued at $400.

Probabilities.

Moderate to fresh west to north winds; generally fair weather, becoming colder; a few snow flurries.

Local News

ROYAL Arcanum, No. 810, meets to-night.

THE year 5647 of the Jewish Era commences on September 30th, 1886.

VENUS now shines out beautifully as the evening star, and will be on duty until February 18th.

THERE will be two eclipses of the sun in 1886: annular eclipse March 5th and total eclipse on August 29th.

"GRACE, grit and greenbacks" are mentioned by the Rev. Sam. Jones as the essentials of worldly success.

ON account of the absence of the Secretary and the Chief who was in London, there was no election of officers at the meeting of the Caledonian Society last night.

DR. LETT will give a lecture on "The Phenomena of Mind," in St. George's Sunday School to-night under the auspices of the Temperance Society of that Church.

GRAND foreign and local aggregation of skating talent at the Speed Ice Skaking Rink to-night. The ice is in splendid condition, and the contestants for the big race have all engaged to be present.

IT IS reported that some Orange lodges have sent memorials to the Government protesting against granting an amnesty to the half-breed rebels. They say that Dumont would lead another rebellion if his lieutenants were released.

A MERCURY subscriber, in remitting his subscription from Roseberry, Manitoba, says:—"I have taken the MERCURY for over 15 years, and I look for it each week as I would for the face of an old friend, and we get more news about our old home than we could get by any amount of friendly correspondence; in fact we could hardly be induced to do without it."

THERE is some controversy going on as to the word "toboggan." Several authorities claim that it is from the Indian. A prominent Utican of Celtic extraction, however, insists that it is an Irish word, and he gets at its origin thus: Once upon a time a poor farmer in County Cork discovered a valuable peat bed on the few acres he happened to own. His fortune was soon made, for he let the farming "slide" and went to boggin.'

ON the night of January 2nd twelve good men and true, of Toronto, with the assistance of the coroner, made inquiry into the death of Adeliza Davis, the suicide. Their labours were not concluded until after midnight, and on the invitation of one of the party they adjourned to Patterson's Hotel to refresh. License Inspector Dexter summoned the whole crowd to the Police Court, where the voluble jurymen created a scene. The Magistrate will decide at a future day.

A TUSSLE WITH A BULL.—Mr. P. J. Woods, farm manager at the Agricultural College, had a rather unpleasant experience with an Aberdeen bull last evening. The animal was being led outside by a young man when the bull knocked him down. Mr. Woods ran to his assistance when the brute turned on Mr. Woods and knocked him down, bunting him with his head and pawing him with his feet. Fortunatly assistance was at hand and the animal was driven off. Had it not been for the snow Mr. Woods would undoubtedly have received severe injuries.

A FORMER TOWNSMAN.—The Prince Albert Times, of January 8, contains the following complimentary notice of a former esteemed citizen:—"We regret that we were unable to be present at the closing of our Public School, but from those who were present the highest compliments are conferred upon our teacher for the excellent and efficient shape in which he has the school. At the close of the annual school meeting on Thursday evening last a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered Mr Stull, showing the esteem in which that gentleman is held as the head of our Public School."

Special stock taking sale now going on at A. J. Little & Co's. Tremendous bargains in every department, and stock well assorted. We never carry goods from one season to another. Consequently the present season's stock must go at some price. Call early and often.

A. J. Little & Co.

SLEIGHING in town and country is all that could be desired just now.

A LOAD of hay being brought to the market upset on Huskisson street this morning.

ANGUS MCPHADDEN, a drunk, was fined $1 and costs, at the Police Court this morning.

HUGH WALKER & SON have on exhibition in their store some monstrous pine apples weighing from 3 to 3½ pounds.

MESSRS. W. S. G. KNOWLES and J. Heffernan, City Auditors, commenced their duties, auditing the books of the City Treasurer, to-day.

BOMB. DONALDSON, No. 2 Battery, an ex-student at the Agricultural College, left to-night for Kingston to take a course at the Ontario School of Gunnery.

WM. FULTON, formerly of Eramosa, who has been on a six weeks' visit to friends in this section, returned to-day to Grandin, Dakota, where he owns 300 acres of land.

LEG BROKEN.—James Forester, painter, Everton, met with a painful accident this morning. He has the contract for painting Mr. Chas. Bockett's house, near that place. When stabling his horses at that gentleman's place, preparatory to commencing work, one of the animals kicked him, breaking his leg.

A POUND of bananas, it is said, contains more nutriment than three pounds of meat or as many pounds of potatoes, while as a food it is in every sense of the word far superior to the best of wheaten bread. Although it grows spontaneously throughout the tropics, when cultivated its yield is prodigious, for an acre of ground planted with bananas will return, according to Humboldt, as much food material as thirty-three acres of wheat, or over 100 acres of potatoes.

DIPHTHERIA.—Dr. Coulter, a prominent physician of Lindsay, brother-in-law of Mr. John Roche, of this city, is in town to-day, having a consultation with some of the medical gentlemen of this city in reference to his sister, Mrs. Roche, who is at present dangerously ill with diphtheria. Last week Mr. Roche lost a bright little girl, Mabel, six years old from this disease, and two boys are now lying in a critical condition. Mr. Roche has the sympathy of the public in his affliction.

PRINCE ARTHUR L. O. L.—This lodge held a social in the Orange Hall last evening. There was a good attendance. The chair was taken by Bro. J. Smith, W. M., and a very fine programme of singing, speeches and reading by Mrs Humpreys, Mrs Sweetnam, Misses Scroggie, Moir, Kirby, Noble, Welch, and Bro. Scroggie, H. Clarke, Burrows and Gilmore. After the programme was finished a vote of thanks was given to the ladies and the proceedings were brought to a close, all being well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

HOLD UP, THERE.—The Toronto News "suggests that a fund be raised to send the Queen's Own and Grenadier Regiments to England to take part in the celebration of the Queen's jubilee." "If it is desired to exhibit a well-drilled regiment of Canadian Volunteers, the 7th Fusiliers must not be overlooked. Don't forget this!" —London Free Press. "And if it is desirable that Canada's finest military organization, officered by the most soldierly and handsome officers should be sent, the Dufferin Rifles should have the call."—Brantford Expositor. Hold up there, you small fry! If the pink of the force in Canada is to be represented make way for the 30th Wellington Rifles or Jumbo Battalion, the best disciplined and officered regiment in the Dominion.

ARKELL.—The tea meeting last Friday evening in the Methodist Church was a great success. Although the night was perhaps the most boisterous of the season yet the church was crowded to the door. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. Wm. Savage and Carson, of this City. The Norfolk Street Methodist Church choir sang with their accustomed ability. The Misses Stevenson, Fielding, and Crowe, and Mr Thomas sang beautiful soloes; encores appeared the order of the evening. Recitations and dialogues were given with much applause. Mr O Bucham filled the chair with great ability. Miss Stevenson presided at the organ in an accomplished manner. Rev. Wm. Savage brought this interesting meeting to a close about 11 p.m.

FUN AHEAD.—On Friday evening next, a benefit will be given to the City Band in the Speed Skating Rink, which from present indications will be the event of the season. The "boys," with their accustomed liberality, have prepared a list of prizes which will be offered for the different races, from one to three miles. A lady's handsome silver watch is offered as a prize in the following manner: Each entrance ticket is furnished with a coupon, which is held by the person as he enters the building, and at nine o'clock all tickets are put in a box and shaken up, a person from the audience is selected to do the drawing and the holder of the coupon corresponding with the ticket is entitled to the watch. A first class programme will be given by the Band. Those who wish success and prosperity to the City Band now have an opportunity of doing so practically. Let there be a large turnout.

ANOTHER HERO HEARD FROM.—The Dufferin Advertiser has the following anent Dr. Orton's oration given in Orangeville recently:—At last we have been told who is the real hero of Batoche, and now all former histories of the Northwest Troubles shall be revised forthwith. G. W. Orton, M. D., Member of Parliament for Centre Wellington, by the way of Winnipeg, and sundry other wicked ways, bobbed up serenely in the town hall here on Monday evening, with his face wreathed in smiles, and his hands in his pockets, to repeat his little romance regarding his heroic, noble, and self-sacrificing conduct in sundry deeds of valor. He meandered along in a however - nevertheless non - committal strain on the Temperance question, N. P., Privy Council decisions, and C. P. R., construction, till he reached the alleged leading topic of the evening on which he launched out boldly in a most amusing and romantic fashion to eulogize Dr. Orton as the chief adviser of General Middleton at the critical moment preceding the famous charge. Though the ambitious doctor is not famed for any brilliant oratorical talent, he has an unlimited stock of egotistic presumption, which he displays lavishly to the best of his ability. Quite a numerous audience attended the meeting, and the best of good order prevailed throughout, though many became so wearied and disgusted with the egotistical harangue that they quietly retired early in the evening.

ALD. LAMPREY has received a letter from the widow of the late Chief of Police McMillan, of Brandon, stating that she is coming to reside in Guelph, and will bring her husband's body with her to be buried in the Union Cemetery here.

YESTERDAY afternoon a young man was making his obeisance to a young lady in a cutter opposite Tovel's harness store. Scarcely had he uncovered his head when a lump of snow and ice fell on it from the eavetroughing, much to the amusement of the passers by and the discomfiture of the gallant.

A DRIVE TO THE COUNTRY.—About forty members of the Guelph Catholic Union with a fair delegation of lady vocalists and their companions drove in carrioles to Nichol, on Monday night and gave an enjoyable entertainment in the School House there. The audience was not very large but sufficiently so to comfortably fill the building. Mr. T. P. Heffernan presided. There were numerous songs, recitations, etc., given by the visitors in a manner that called forth the warmest manifestations of approval from their hearers. The farce "Dye know me now," was produced as well as the limited stage accomodation would permit. "Advertising for Talent" a negro extravaganza was also put on. When the entertainment was concluded a bountiful repast was spread by the good ladies of Nichol and Pilkington and it is unnecessary to state that their kindness was appreciated by the visitors. The drive was an exceedingly pleasant one.

FISH CULTURE.—Mr James Anderson, of Springfield Farm, near Guelph, has a very interesting letter in the Canada Farmer of this month in reference to his experience in fish culture. About three years ago he received from Mr Wilmot, of Newcastle, some 5,000 young trout fry, which he deposited in a pond on his farm, where they were kept for one year, feeding them with raw and boiled liver grated up fine, chopped worms, etc. When about three inches long he opened a sluice and let them all down the creek into the river Speed. He preserved them there, allowing no one to fish for two years. Last summer there was magnificent fishing, trout from five to six inches being taken in large numbers. Mr Anderson is now thinking about stocking the same creek with German carp and no doubt will succeed as well as he did in his trout enterprise. The rivers and streams of Canada are well favoured for the successful raising of fish. Those of our fish loving farmers by addressing M. McDonald, Chief of Division of Distribution, Washington, D. C., can have carp fry sent to them by express direct from New York, if they are willing to run the risk of loss in transit. The venture is worth the risk and it is to be hoped that the matter will be taken in hand and our rivers and streams in this section stocked with useful fish.

A HINT TO PRAY FOR PRECENTORS.—A precentor writing to an exchange has the following:—For nearly thirteen years I have been leader of psalmody in one church. During five of these years we had two ministers; during the rest of the time one. We have a meeting for practice of psalmody every Friday evening (holidays excepted), besides an elementary class every year, and extra meetings before our annual recital or concert. In all these years we have only been visited twice by a minister at our ordinary meetings. My last elementary class met at seven o'clock on Fridays, an hour fixed to suit young people attending school. Our minister, in announcing the class, spoke of the benefits to be derived, and urged parents to send their children. He has a family of young people himself, but not one of them ever appeared. Nearly every Sunday prayer is offered up for preachers, Sabbath school teachers, tract distributors, sessions, and Christian workers. Though I have been a precentor for over twenty-five years altogether, I have only twice heard the precentor prayed for. From their practice, I have been forced to the conclusion that most ministers regard psalmody as something that may be used or left out as occasion requires. If the sermon is short, we are sure to have a lot of singing; if it is protracted, the last psalm or hymn is shortened or left out. The duty of sending a list of the Sunday's psalms to weekly practice is frequently neglected. Of late we have often been called upon to sing tunes at first sight in church.
