From Alfred Willson, Commissioner of the Canada Company, stating that 40 feet of lot 2, on the N. W. side of Suffolk street was thrown open as a public street, and there having been no legal dedication of the above lands it has been assessed as vacant land, and was sold for taxes. The communication asked the Council to pass a by-law appropriating the land as a street; also asking the Council to appropriate the other lands, which they hold, as a public street. Referred.

From W. Bell & Co. and other ratepayers on east Market Square asking that the Square there be watered. Referred.

Moved by Ald. Chadwick, seconded by Ald. Lamprey, that the petition of Wm. Bell & Co. be granted, provided it is found to have the necessary number of names and amount of property assessed. Carried.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. W. Carter, that leave be given to read a third time a by-law with reference to the use of electric light by the Guelph Gas Co. and that it be passed and numbered.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Lamprey, seconded by Ald. Hearn, that the by-law be not read a third time but that the same privilege be granted to the Gas Company to place electric light poles on the streets and on the same terms and conditions as given to the Ball Electric Light Company.

After some discussion Ald. Chadwick called for the yeas and nays, when the amendment was carried. The following are the yeas and nays:—

For amendment—Hortop. Hamilton, Skinner, Jos. Carter, Read, Raymond, Hearn, Bruce, Maddock, Lamprey—10.

FINANCE REPORT.

Ald. Cutten, chairman of the Finance Committee, presented the following report:—Your committee have prepared and presented with this report a statement of the estimates of all sums which may be required for the lawful purposes of the city for the year 1886. This statement shows the liabilities of the city to be met during the year 1886 including a deficency carried over from 1885, $117,808.72; with assets $27,960, leaving the amount to be raised by assessment $89,848.72. The Council of every municipal corporation is required to assess and levy on the whole rateable property within its jurisdiction a sufficient sum in each year to pay all valid debts of the corporation falling due within the year. It will require a rate of over 29 mills in the $ upon the assessed value of the property of the city, viz:—$3,066,240 to raise the sum of $89,848.70. Deducting the deficency of 1885, $16,807.40, would leave $72,981.32. This would require a rate of 24 mills in the $ to meet this year's current expenditure. This high rate is caused in a great measure by the loss of revenue formerly collected from tavern and shop licenses, about $3,000. The amount required by Government to be raised to enforce the Scott Act is $1,500, Burr Bros'. bonus $2,000, and aid to the Provincial Exhibition, 1886, $1,000. Your committee would recommend that legislative power be obtained to consolidate our debenture debt. This will enable the Council of next year to deal with the deficiency. Your committee recommend that a rate of two cents in the $ be levied to apply towards payment of the current year's expenditure. We recommend the payment of J. A. Nelles' account. 5.

Moved by Ald. Lamprey, seconded by Ald. Bruce, that the report of the Finance Committee be adopted.

Ald. Hewer asked the Chairman of Finance to explain the $1,500 item to enforce the Scott Act.

Ald. Cutten stated that Mr. Fairbank, one of the License Commissioners, had called on him and submitted a paper which he had received from the Ontario Government calling upon the Commissioners to estimate an amount which would likely be required by them to carry out the provisions of the Scott Act and other liquor license acts, one third of which would be paid by the Government and two thirds by the municipality. He stated the amount fixed by them, subject to the approval of the Government, was $2,200 It is not quite certain that the city will be required to raise as much as $1,500. Ald Cutten also explained a number of the other items contained in the estimates.

Moved by Ald. Cutten, seconded by Ald. Chadwick, that the 6th report of the Finance Committee be not adopted, but be amended by striking out the 6th clause, and inserting instead hereof the words "Your committee are of the opinion that a rate should be levied sufficient to meet the current annual expenditure for the year, and therefore recommend 24 mills on the dollar."

Ald Lamprey did not see why our debentures could not be fixed in the same manner as in former years. Falling on the 31st December they could easily be carried over to the 1st of January. He would not object if they were reduced to 22 mills. It would have a bad effect on the city to have them raised to 24 mills.

Ald. Chadwick said that the Act said we had to pay our debts as we go. He did not think that 24 mills was enough. Between the loss of revenue to the city from the hotel and tavern licenses, the grant to Burr Bros., both of which he had strongly objected to, and the grant of $1000 to the provincial exhibition, the city would have to make up some $7000 more than usual this year. If the people desired these extra things let them have them and pay for them. He thought the finances of the city would be in a bad shape if $28,000 of debt was to be turned over to our successors.

Ald. Bruce thought that it would not look well to go abroad that our assessment was 24 mills. Our Municipal Loan Fund debt which amounts to some five thousand dollars will be paid off next year and this will help greatly. He did not see how the thing could not be worked as in former years as explained by Ald. Lamprey.

Ald. Smith said that so far as he was concerned he was willing to pay the regular rate. It was a very easy matter to say that our assessment was 24 mills in the dollar and the Scott Act did it. If the debt was carried over before why not again.

Ald. Hearn said the question was simply whether we would vote for 22 or 24 mills. No doubt this year there were heavy expenses to meet such as the grant to Burr Bros., the loss of licenses, the Provincial Exhibition, etc. He thought there was another way of getting out of the difficulty than by raising the assessment to 24 mills. The price paid for the free library, $7,400, was extraordinary, for there were only a few who patronized it. Never debentures could be issued to get out of the difficulty.

Ald. Coffee said the present rate of taxation was all that the city could bear. He was strongly against the $1,500 to be paid for the enforcing of the Scott Act and thought the Scott Act people should pay it. He would be in favor of leaving over the report to ascertain the opinion of the City Solicitor whether we were bound to pay this sum or not.

Ald. Chadwick would be more in favor of 22 cents than 24 mills. Then next year again they would have quite a loss in the assessment of hotel property. Three of the principal hotels were shut up, and the value of the others had been decreased by the Scott Act, so that only half the amount of taxes next year could be expected from this source.

Ald. Hewer congratulated the Finance chairman on his report which was one of the best that he had ever seen brought down and showed just how the funds of the city stood. If he had known that things were in such a state he would not have sat at the Council Board. He was surprised that we had to pay $1,500 to carry out the Scott Act. It was a thing he never thought of nor did many more.

Ald. Raymond said this matter should be treated the same as we treated our private business. The way members spoke it would be inferred that the Scott Act was the cause of all this. As was seen by the report the $10,000 which was voted for the Provincial Exhibition had not yet been paid. He considered that the exhibition was of little benefit to the citizens generally and was only putting money in the pockets of the hotel keepers. We would have been far better without it altogether, and he thought that we would have been better if we had left it alone this year. The only way to get out of the difficulty was to pay up, but not at once. This thing could be tided over.

The Mayor wished the Council to go into Committee of the Whole on the question, as he was desirous of saying something.

The yeas and nays were called for and the amendment lost on the following division:

Yeas—Ald. Smith, Cutten and Chadwick—3.

Nays—Ald. W. Carter, Coffee, Hortop, Husband, Hamilton, Skinner, J. Carter, Read, Raymond, Hewer, Hearn, Bruce, Maddock, Lamprey—14.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. Carter, that the report of the Finance Committee be not passed, but be referred back to the Committee, with instructions to obtain from the City Solicitor his opinion for the benefit of the Council as to whether this city is bound by law to appropriate $1,500 for the enforcement of the Canada Temperance Act.

Ald. Coffee could not see how we should shoulder the burden of enforcing the Scott Act. He was sure when the people voted on the Scott Act they never intended to be assessed by the License Commissioners for $1,500 for enforcing it. He thought some estimate should be brought down to show how this sum would be made up. It seems that the Commissioners would have as big a grip on the Council as the School Trustees.

Ald. Bruce thought that it was a wise thing for the Government to provide means for carrying out the Act.

Ald. Coffee's amendment was lost and he called for the yeas and nays on the original motion for the adoption of the report:

Yeas—Ald. Hortop, Husband, Hamilton, Skinner, J. Carter, Read, Raymond, Hewer, Hearn, Smith, Bruce, Cutten, Maddock, Lamprey—14. Nays—Carter W., Coffee—2.

The report was then adopted.

BOARD OF WORKS.

Ald. Maddock, chairman, reported:—Your committee have made a careful inspection of all the main streets and roads of the city, and we have come to the conclusion that the following amounts be granted, as recommended by us, to be expended on the various streets and roads be carried out by the Council. We have made a fair and equal distribution in every Ward as we possibly can:—

Arthur street	$ 40
Cork street	50
Cardigan street	60
Dublin street	50
Elora Road	250
Essex street	25
Edinburgh Road	150
Eramosa Road	300
London Road	100
Grange street	50
Glasgow street	100
Huskisson street	90
London Road	50
Market and Garden street	125
Macdonnell street	250
Norfolk street	150
Neeve street	40
Northumberland street	75
Ontario street	45
Paisley street and Road	125
Perth street	40
Quebec street	100
Queen street	100
Suffolk street	150
Waterloo Avenue	200
Woolwich street	125
Water street	25
Wellington street east	75
Wyndham street west	350
Yorkshire street	25
York Road	100
Dublin street	150
Division street	75
To be supplemented from Wards Committees	25
Boundary Road	100
Total for streets	$3,600
Six Wards $150 each	900
Contingencies	400
	$5,000

The petition of John Murphy for repairs on Stevenson street was recommended be referred to the Ward Committee.

That the petition from John Roche for a drain on Northumberland street, be attended to so far as the grant will allow.

We are sorry we cannot grant the petition of Wm. Hand for a sidewalk on the Eramosa Road, as we find the whole of the grant will have to be spent for gravelling said road.

The petition from Wm. Kennedy for a sidewalk to the Spur line from Inglis' bridge be considered by the Ward Committee.

That the petition of Dr. Lett, of Homewood, be granted.

The Council went into committee of the whole on the report, Ald. Hearn in the chair. All the items were passed as they were, when the committee rose and the report was adopted.

THE RE-DISTRIBUTION.

Ald. Chadwick, chairman, reported for Special Committee appointed to make a redistribution of polling sub-divisions rendered necessary by the increased number of voters in several of such subdivisions. According to instructions your committee by resolution of Council, and with the assistance of the Revising Officer for South Wellington, have made nineteen polling sub-divisions; namely three in each ward, except St. George's, in which there are four. A by-law to confirm such distribution and to define the boundaries thereof will be introduced at next meeting of Council, when plans showing the confirmed sub-divisions will be fyled with the City Clerk for future reference. A table showing the number of votes in each ward is herewith presented. The report was received.

Moved by Ald. Chadwick, seconded by Ald. Lamprey, that the opinion of the City Solicitor be obtained as to the liability of this corporation for the amount of money claimed by the Ontario Government for Licenses Commissioners for the carrying out of the Scott Act. Carried.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, and seconded by Ald. Carter, that the city solicitor's opinion be obtained by the mayor as to whether the Grand Trunk Railway Company can be compelled to make an underground crossing near Metcalf and Morris streets, and in case they can be compelled to do that, to take proceedings to compel the Company to build the crossing and issue a writ without delay. Carried.

The Council then adjourned.

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 3.

The whole of to-day was occupied in discussing Mr. Beaty's Bill respecting the Northwest Central Railway Company. On the motion to go into committee Mr. Mitchell moved a three months' hoist, and a long debate ensued, the Opposition supporting the amendment on the ground that the promoters of the Railway, by their dealings with it, had forfeited the right to the charter, and that the passing of the Bill would create a precedent injurious to the independence of members of Parliament. A vote was taken after midnight, when the amendment was defeated by 86 to 59, several Conservatives voting for the amendment, and many refraining from voting. Mr. Mulock's amendment to refer the Bill back to the Committee on Railways, for the purpose of investigation, was defeated by 81 to 55. The Bill was then passed through committee and read a third time. The House adjourned at 1:50 a.m.

CELLARS FLOODED.—The heavy spring rains have caused a great deal of surface water this year. Cellars on Woolwich street, Liverpool street, and other portions of the city, where water was never known to enter before, are now flooded with from six inches to two feet of water, and householders have hard work to pump it out. In several instances it was thought that the cause arose from defective water works pipes, but when the sections were shut off the water came pouring in as before, thus going to show that it was surface water.

The Evening Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G MAY 4, 1886.

Mr. Gladstone's Manifesto.

Mr. Gladstone has issued a manifesto to his Midlothian constituents which has created a great deal of stir throughout Great Britain and Ireland. The manner in which the address refers to the Land Purchase Bill leaves the inference that the Government will drop that measure. Mr. Gladstone expresses "regret to find that while the sands are draining from the hour-glass Irish Landlords have given no indication of a desire to accept the proposal framed in a spirit of the utmost allowable regard for their apprehension and interest." This measure was framed altogether in the interest of the landlords. It was bitterly opposed by the Parnellites, by several of the Liberals and Radicals in the House of Commons, and by very many in the country who were disposed to favor Home Rule. Therefore, if the landlords themselves showed no disposition to avail themselves of its advantages the Government could not be expected to weaken their prospects by insisting on its passage. In view of the ground taken by Mr. Chamberlain, in his recent speech in the House of Commons, the abandoning of the scheme will remove the chief obstacle to his accord with the Government. He will still hold aloof if the principle of the non-representation of Ireland at Westminster is adhered to, but in view of the recent utterances of Mr. Morley and other Liberal leaders an alteration in the Home Rule Bill, by which this obstacle will also be removed, is among the probabilities.

Speaking of the party dissensions which the measure has caused Mr. Gladstone says in his manifesto:

"I do not under-estimate the grave importance of the differences of opinion among Liberals. Some are inclined to rule the whole question against us by authority. They say: 'Surely such a number of able, consistent, even extreme Liberals, would not have seceded except in obedience to the imperative dictates of truth and reason.'

"I will say nothing of the motives which determined us to confront the risk of such a parting. I earnestly recommend a reference to the lessons which history supplies. It is not the first time in the history of Liberalism that a section of Liberals under chiefs of distinction and ability have dissented from the general view of the party, to the delight and, doubtless, advantage of the Tories. There was an illustrious secession previous to the war with Bonaparte. There was a similar secession when it was proposed to disestablish the Irish Church. But eventually in both cases it was proved that in principle the party was right and secession wrong. Comparing these with the present secession, it is impossible not to be struck with the vital difference. In each previous secession the dissentients agreed upon an active, substantial policy. It is not so now. Some are in favor of unlimited coercion, others of moderate doses, while a few oppose coercion altogether. On the other side some oppose local government, some would give it to the counties, some to the provinces, and some again would give an administrative centre with legislative prerogatives; while some propose a legislative centre without executive power. Some, indeed, go beyond the proposition of the Government and actually recommend a federation. Some alter the proposals which they would recommend, with every new speech.

"All this is proof not of weakness of the men but of the helplessness of their cause. We have at least the advantage of one voice. The secession, however estimable it may be otherwise, is a perfect babel on the Irish policy. It is admitted on all hands that social order is the first of all political aims. To secure this in Ireland the Liberals who are in secession offer a hundred conflicting remedies or else no remedies at all.

"These remarks are as applicable to the Tories as they are to the Liberals. The opponents to the Government measure make a remarkable omission in their speeches. In each, whether suggestive or critical, they fail to express a confidence of the permanent success of their opposition. To live from hand to mouth seems to be the height of their ambition, while they suspect what we all know that strife can only end in the concession of Home Rule. If this is so the real question is not the triumph of the Irish autonomy but the length and character of the struggle. We say 'give freely.' They by acts, if not by words, say 'let us only give what we can no longer withhold.' We say, 'give now, while the position of the Kingdom in the affairs of the world, is free and strong.' They prefer to wait for a period of national difficulty that we may yield to the Irish demand in terror, as we did in the war of 1778, as we did to the demands of the volunteers in 1782, as we did to Bonaparte in 1793, as we did in the civil war in 1829. We say: 'Act now when moderation of thought and language rules in Irish counsels, when by the willing concurrence of all sides every arrangement for the reservation of the Imperial prerogatives can be made complete and absolute.'

"They would postpone till an hour comes when the demands may be larger and the means of resistance less. We say, 'Deal as with a matter between brothers, a matter of justice and reason.' They renew the tale, also too often told, whose prologue is denial with exasperation and resentment; whose epilogue is surrender without conditions and without thanks.

"Now, however, a new terror is brought upon the stage—the terror of Home Rule for Scotland, and some add for Wales. This suggestion does not alarm. Only give us a little time to look at this question in its order of merit. I am not sorry that Scotland and Wales have been named, because all serious naming of them serves to help our movement in behalf of Ireland. I can draw no vital distinction of right between the case of Ireland and the other cases. But there are many distinctions of circumstances.

"For many years I have hoped it might be found practicable to apply decent realizing processes, even perhaps to portions of different conditions. Each case, which will naturally require differences of treatment, will remain subject to the preliminary Imperial obligations. I believe that the standard measure of good government in Scotland and Wales will be eventually determined by public opinion in Scotland and Wales. This I say without a painful disparaging of the circumstances of this controversy which we are threatened with in the case of Ireland, whose woeful history for centuries emboldens some of us to treat her as if she had but a limited share in the great inheritance of human right and none at all in ordinary privileges or immunity.

"Lord Hartington reminded us, and I cordially agree with him, that this question, which may be turned over a thousand ways and placed in a thousand partial lights, can only be settled by the nation. From the first I stated, and I think I may speak for the Government at large, that there is my main and capital reliance. I rely upon my colleagues, upon an upright and enlightened House of Commons, upon the effect of free discussion, but the heart root, beginning and ending of my trust, is in the wise and generous justice of the nation."

As to Trees.

A correspondent sends the following:—Arbor Day has passed and no doubt many of our good citizens took advantage of the loads of maples, &c., which were on the market and contributed their mite towards the adornment of the city. We hope that the appointment of a certain arbitrary (no pun meant) day on which to plant trees will not prevent those who desire to see the city improved by shade trees, from planting before and after as well as on Arbor Day, in fact whenever a convenient time can be spared for that purpose, as there is no easier or cheaper method of adding to the general appearance of the city than by the methodical and judicious setting out of shade trees on the streets. What was the matter with the city authorities? While our citizens were urged to devote some time to planting last Saturday by official proclamation the Parks and Shades Committee stood quietly by with folded hands and made no attempt to fill up the now extremely dry holes that were opened up a month ago.

The process pursued is this: In the spring before any signs of the start of life in a tree are apparent a couple of laborers march up and down with some edged tool in their hands and take a chip out of all the trees along the road to ascertain if they are still alive. This continual clipping has a tendency in time to make dead trees out of those that are struggling for an existence; the fiat of the stalwart laborers goes forth and a couple more "horny handed sons of toil" who are pursuing in their wake unbury all the trees that bear the mark of fate and also throw out a lot of soil and stones, leaving a hole to dry ready for the reception of the next crop of victims in the shape of very dry rooted stubs which will some time in the near future be dumped along the road all at one time, ready to be inserted in the dry holes somewhere within a week or so after delivery, when the dry earth, the stones and the sod will be promiscuously filled in as well as the dry stubb, and the chairman of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee will grin with satisfaction and rub his hands together with glee and point with pride to a lot of handsome trees standing down the street at various angles, hugging himself with delight at the idea that he has done his duty and that he is the one man in the Council who understands all about trees and without whom the Parks and Shade Trees Committee would be lost.

Next year the same thing will be repeated and the same stones will make their appearance and the same trees will be left untidily on the road until removed in the winter by some unfortunate person who depends on them for his firewood.

Some of our readers may think this picture overdrawn; if they do all we ask is that they shall take a stroll down the Waterloo Avenue as far as Sleeman's brewery and see for themselves.

U. S. Consular Service.—A Bill is now before the United States Congress, and is likely to become law, having for its object the reorganization of the consular service of the nation. At present the consuls are paid partly by salary and partly by fees. Under the new law it is intended to give the consul a regular salary, and make him responsible for all fees. The salary proposed for consul at Hamilton is $3,000; at Toronto, $3,000; at London $1,500, and at Guelph, $1,500.

Fatal Result of an Affray.

Hamilton, Ont., May 3.—John Lynch, for stabbing whom, H. Shaw, Geo. Patterson and S. Sutherland have been arrested, died to-night and the men will probably have to stand a trial for murder.

Meeting of Synod.

Galt, May 4.—The first meeting of a conference in connection with the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston, was held last night in the Central church here, when interesting addresses were delivered by Principal Grant, of Kingston, and Rev. H. M. Parsons, of Toronto.

What Lent is For.—An exchange has the following: A young lady friend of mine has a mission class in an Episcopal Sunday School. She has been trying for several Sundays to explain to them the meaning of Lent and the solemnity of its observance. Yesterday she asked: "Now, which of you can tell me what Lent is?" For a while no one replied; then a little girl in the corner answered, "I know." "Well, Maria, what is it?" "It's the time when the ladies ask the gentlemen to marry them."

Base Ball.

A meeting of the directors of the Maple Leaf B. B. Club was held at the Western hotel Monday night for the purpose of electing officers for the season of 1886. The following are the names: President, Geo. Sleeman, re-elected; Vice President, Thos. Watts, re-elected; Sec.-Treas., John Henderson, re-elected. Directors—Wm. Bell, H. E. Richardson, Jas. Kelcher and W. D. Shattuck. Auditors—W. S. Smith and R. Gemmell. Representatives—Geo. Sleeman and W. H. Cutten. The following resolution was also passed: "That we confirm what the President, Mr. Sleeman, of our club and representative thereof on Canadian Baseball League, has done in agreeing to form a Canadian League with Toronto, Hamilton and London clubs with our own, for the season of 1886, as per amended constitution adopted 2nd December 1885, and we further confirm all his subsequent proceedings up to the present time, including the hiring of players and the suit in the courts for an injunction against Toronto and Hamilton clubs, etc." Signed, Wm. Bell, Thos. Watts, W. D. Shattuck, John Henderson, Directors.

Williams and George showed up well in practice yesterday considering it was only the second time they had handled a ball this season. Williams covers a lot of ground and is a sure catcher on the field, while George, who plays the infield, is a daisy. He bats either right or lefthanded, and is a terrific left hand thrower.

Silk and Dress Goods Department

The general opinion is that in novelty of design and richness of fabric, the goods are such as are shown in the best houses of New York. Then we have all the newest styles of Trimmings to match every shade of goods, which makes it a real pleasure for ladies to make selections for their toilets. In Dressmaking our patrons are assured of getting the most graceful and stylish garments, made by one of the best cutters and fitters in Ontario.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS

We feel assured in saying that no lady who has had the opportunity to make comparison of the several establishments in the city, will admit, that for variety, elegance, taste and ability displayed in the making, quantity and value, there is anything that will at all compare with ours. The high and well merited reputation of our Manager, Miss Manny, the extent of our purchases, and the special attention we pay to this Department, are winning us hosts of new customers, and we cordially invite all ladies who are not already patrons, to give us a trial.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

Our Stock is all beautifully New and Fresh and of the very Latest Styles.

O. HENRY,

The Evening Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G MAY 4, 1886.

Mr. Gladstone's Manifesto.

Mr. Gladstone has issued a manifesto to his Midlothian constituents which has created a great deal of stir throughout Great Britain and Ireland. The manner in which the address refers to the Land Purchase Bill leaves the inference that the Government will drop that measure. Mr. Gladstone expresses "regret to find that while the sands are draining from the hour-glass Irish Landlords have given no indication of a desire to accept the proposal framed in a spirit of the utmost allowable regard for their apprehension and interest." This measure was framed altogether in the interest of the landlords. It was bitterly opposed by the Parnellites, by several of the Liberals and Radicals in the House of Commons, and by very many in the country who were disposed to favor Home Rule. Therefore, if the landlords themselves showed no disposition to avail themselves of its advantages the Government could not be expected to weaken their prospects by insisting on its passage. In view of the ground taken by Mr. Chamberlain, in his recent speech in the House of Commons, the abandoning of the scheme will remove the chief obstacle to his accord with the Government. He will still hold aloof if the principle of the non-representation of Ireland at Westminster is adhered to, but in view of the recent utterances of Mr. Morley and other Liberal leaders an alteration in the Home Rule Bill, by which this obstacle will also be removed, is among the probabilities.

Speaking of the party dissensions which the measure has caused Mr. Gladstone says in his manifesto:

"I do not under-estimate the grave importance of the differences of opinion among Liberals. Some are inclined to rule the whole question against us by authority. They say: 'Surely such a number of able, consistent, even extreme Liberals, would not have seceded except in obedience to the imperative dictates of truth and reason.'

"I will say nothing of the motives which determined us to confront the risk of such a parting. I earnestly recommend a reference to the lessons which history supplies. It is not the first time in the history of Liberalism that a section of Liberals under chiefs of distinction and ability have dissented from the general view of the party, to the delight and, doubtless, advantage of the Tories. There was an illustrious secession previous to the war with Bonaparte. There was a similar secession when it was proposed to disestablish the Irish Church. But eventually in both cases it was proved that in principle the party was right and secession wrong. Comparing these with the present secession, it is impossible not to be struck with the vital difference. In each previous secession the dissentients agreed upon an active, substantial policy. It is not so now. Some are in favor of unlimited coercion, others of moderate dose, while a few oppose coercion altogether. On the other side some oppose local government, some would give it to the counties, some to the provinces, and some again would give an administrative centre with legislative prerogatives; while some propose a legislative centre without executive power. Some, indeed, go beyond the proposition of the Government and actually recommend a federation. Some alter the proposals which they would recommend, with every new speech.

"All this is proof not of weakness of the men but of the helplessness of their cause. We have at least the advantage of one voice. The secession, however estimable it may be otherwise, is a perfect babel on the Irish policy. It is admitted on all hands that social order is the first of all political aims. To secure this in Ireland the Liberals who are in secession offer a hundred conflicting remedies or else no remedies at all.

"These remarks are as applicable to the Tories as they are to the Liberals. The opponents to the Government measure make a remarkable omission in their speeches. In each, whether suggestive or critical, they fail to express a confidence of the permanent success of their opposition. To live from hand to mouth seems to be the height of their ambition, while they suspect what we all know that strife can only end in the concession of Home Rule. If this is so the real question is not the triumph of the Irish autonomy but the length and character of the struggle. We say 'give freely.' They by acts, if not by words, say 'let us only give what we can no longer withhold.' We say, 'give now, while the position of the Kingdom in the affairs of the world, is free and strong.' They prefer to wait for a period of national difficulty that we may yield to the Irish demand in terror, as we did in the war of 1778, as we did to the demands of the volunteers in 1782, as we did to Bonaparte in 1793, as we did in the civil war in 1829. We say: 'Act now when moderation of thought and language rules in Irish counsels, when by the willing concurrence of all sides every arrangement for the reservation of the Imperial prerogatives can be made complete and absolute.'

"They would postpone till an hour comes when the demands may be larger and the means of resistance less. We say, 'Deal as with a matter between brothers, a matter of justice and reason.' They renew the tale, also too often told, whose prologue is denial with exasperation and resentment; whose epilogue is surrender without conditions and without thanks.

"Now, however, a new terror is brought upon the stage—the terror of Home Rule for Scotland, and some add for Wales. This suggestion does not alarm. Only give us a little time to look at this question in its order of merit. I am not sorry that Scotland and Wales have been named, because all serious naming of them serves to help our movement in behalf of Ireland. I can draw no vital distinction of right between the case of Ireland and the other cases. But there are many distinctions of circumstances.

"For many years I have hoped it might be found practicable to apply decent realizing processes, even perhaps to portions of different conditions. Each case, which will naturally require differences of treatment, will remain subject to the preliminary Imperial obligations. I believe that the standard measure of good government in Scotland and Wales will be eventually determined by public opinion in Scotland and Wales. This I say without a painful disparaging of the circumstances of this controversy which we are threatened with in the case of Ireland, whose woeful history for centuries emboldens some of us to treat her as if she had but a limited share in the great inheritance of human right and none at all in ordinary privileges or immunity.

"Lord Hartington reminded us, and I cordially agree with him, that this question, which may be turned over a thousand ways and placed in a thousand partial lights, can only be settled by the nation. From the first I stated, and I think I may speak for the Government at large, that there is my main and capital reliance. I rely upon my colleagues, upon an upright and enlightened House of Commons, upon the effect of free discussion, but the heart root, beginning and ending of my trust, is in the wise and generous justice of the nation."

As to Trees.

A correspondent sends the following:—Arbor Day has passed and no doubt many of our good citizens took advantage of the loads of maples, &c., which were on the market and contributed their mite towards the adornment of the city. We hope that the appointment of a certain arbitrary (no pun meant) day on which to plant trees will not prevent those who desire to see the city improved by shade trees, from planting before and after as well as on Arbor Day, in fact whenever a convenient time can be spared for that purpose, as there is no easier or cheaper method of adding to the general appearance of the city than by the methodical and judicious setting out of shade trees on the streets. What was the matter with the city authorities? While our citizens were urged to devote some time to planting last Saturday by official proclamation the Parks and Shades Committee stood quietly by with folded hands and made no attempt to fill up the now extremely dry holes that were opened up a month ago.

The process pursued is this: In the spring before any signs of the start of life in a tree are apparent a couple of laborers march up and down with some edged tool in their hands and take a chip out of all the trees along the road to ascertain if they are still alive. This continual clipping has a tendency in time to make dead trees out of those that are struggling for an existence; the fiat of the stalwart laborers goes forth and a couple more "horny handed sons of toil" who are pursuing in their wake unbury all the trees that bear the mark of fate and also throw out a lot of soil and stones, leaving a hole to dry ready for the reception of the next crop of victims in the shape of very dry rooted stubs which will some time in the near future be dumped along the road all at one time, ready to be inserted in the dry holes somewhere within a week or so after delivery, when the dry earth, the stones and the sod will be promiscuously filled in as well as the dry stubb, and the chairman of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee will grin with satisfaction and rub his hands together with glee and point with pride to a lot of handsome trees standing down the street at various angles, hugging himself with delight at the idea that he has done his duty and that he is the one man in the Council who understands all about trees and without whom the Parks and Shade Trees Committee would be lost.

Next year the same thing will be repeated and the same stones will make their appearance and the same trees will be left untidily on the road until removed in the winter by some unfortunate person who depends on them for his firewood.

Some of our readers may think this picture overdrawn; if they do all we ask is that they shall take a stroll down the Waterloo Avenue as far as Sleeman's brewery and see for themselves.

U. S. Consular Service.—A Bill is now before the United States Congress, and is likely to become law, having for its object the reorganization of the consular service of the nation. At present the consuls are paid partly by salary and partly by fees. Under the new law it is intended to give the consul a regular salary, and make him responsible for all fees. The salary proposed for consul at Hamilton is $3,000; at Toronto, $3,000; at London $1,500, and at Guelph, $1,500.

What Lent is For.—An exchange has the following: A young lady friend of mine has a mission class in an Episcopal Sunday School. She has been trying for several Sundays to explain to them the meaning of Lent and the solemnity of its observance. Yesterday she asked: "Now, which of you can tell me what Lent is?" For a while no one replied; then a little girl in the corner answered, "I know." "Well, Maria, what is it?" "It's the time when the ladies ask the gentlemen to marry them."

Base Ball.

A meeting of the directors of the Maple Leaf B. B. Club was held at the Western hotel Monday night for the purpose of electing officers for the season of 1886. The following are the names: President, Geo. Sleeman, re-elected; Vice-President, Thos. Watts, re-elected; Sec.-Treas., John Henderson, re-elected. Directors—Wm. Bell, H. E. Richardson, Jas. Kelleher and W. D. Shattuck. Auditors—W. S. Smith and R. Gemmell. Representatives—Geo. Sleeman and W. H. Cutten. The following resolution was also passed: "That we confirm what the President, Mr. Sleeman, of our club and representative thereof on Canadian Baseball League, has done in agreeing to form a Canadian League with Toronto, Hamilton and London clubs with our own, for the season of 1886, as per amended constitution adopted 2nd December 1885, and we further confirm all his subsequent proceedings up to the present time, including the hiring of players and the suit in the courts for an injunction against Toronto and Hamilton clubs, etc." Signed, Wm. Bell, Thos. Watts, W. D. Shattuck, John Henderson, Directors.

Williams and George showed up well in practice yesterday considering it was only the second time they had handled a ball this season. Williams covers a lot of ground and is a sure catcher on the field, while George, who plays the infield, is a daisy. He bats either right or lefthanded, and is a terrific left hand thrower.

CHAPTER XXVII.

LOST IN THE FOG.

He seemed a little uncertain what to do, but at last took his pipe from between his lips and put it on the high mantel shelf.

"Why do you put away your pipe?" asked Helen; "not on my account, I hope. I like it."

He took it down again and put it in his mouth, after which he smoked for some time in silence. The strong tobacco was a little overpowering, but Helen bore it bravely, and at last, after one or two vain attempts, succeeded in drawing her host into conversation. He was an intelligent man, a small farmer by calling, so that Helen found plenty of questions to ask him, and he answered her very clearly and comprehensively, though he seemed surprised that a being of her sex, size, and appearance should know or care anything about such things. They were soon on very friendly terms, and Helen did not notice how the time slipped by until Dr. Holme came in again and said he was sorry to have kept her so long, but he had been unable to leave his patient before.

"Could I have been of no use to you?" she asked.

"I thank you, but a neighbor is sitting with her who is able to do everything I wanted."

Helen shook hands with her host, and they departed and began their walk home. The mist had come down again, but was not thicker than when Helen first set out, and they walked along briskly talking chiefly of the people they had just left.

"You made friends with Tyson," said the Doctor.

"Yes; he is very intelligent, and appears to have some enlightened ideas. I should have liked——"

She stopped short. She was going to have said—

"I should have liked Percival to talk to him," but checked herself in time.

"You would have liked what?" asked her companion, as she did not go on.

"Nothing," she replied indifferently, and he had perforce to be content, though he knew she had been going to say something more, and had stopped because she would not say it to him.

"I think the mist is getting thicker," she said after a pause. "I hope we shall be able to find our way home."

"We have a long walk yet," said the doctor, standing still and looking round him. "I wish I had not persuaded you to come on."

"Do not be uneasy about me, I shall not take any harm."

"Let me see," he went on, peering about. "If I remember rightly, there is just here a path across the moor, by taking which, we should get home in half the time we should want if we followed the road. In that way we might get in before the fog becomes very thick; for I can see we are not going to get off without a regular fog. Should you object to plunge across the moor?"

"Not at all. If it is going to be very bad, the sooner we get home the better."

"Stay where you are for a moment then," he said, "and I will go and see if I am right."

Even in the few moments they had been standing the fog had grown much thicker. When the Doctor left Helen's side she only very dimly saw his figure moving cautiously and slowly forward. In a few moments he came back to her, saying, before he reached her side—

"It is all right; the path is there, and it is a very short cut. If you would prefer the longer and easier way by the road, say so; but if you will trust yourself to me, I have ten years' knowledge of these moors, and promise to take you safely home. Will you have faith in me?"

Helen had of course no idea what feelings underlay his words, and her tone was almost indifferent in its extreme quiet as she replied—

"I have all possible faith in you, and would very much prefer the short cut."

"This way then, we must not delay, or we shall gain nothing by choosing this path. Give me your hand; we have to cross this bit of moor, and you might stumble over the knots of heather."

She gave him her hand, which was ungloved; she had taken off her glove when she was in the farm, and said at the same time,

"In future, I think, we had better each take care of ourselves. If the path is across the moor all the way, I shall often be in danger of stumbling, and if you stop to help me each time we shall never get home."

"I should not have suggested our coming this way if I had not been prepared to help you."

They went on for some little way in silence; it was not easy to talk. Dr. Holme went first and Helen followed him closely, with perfect confidence.

"I cannot tell you how annoyed I am at having brought you into this fog," he said presently.

"Do not be annoyed," she answered carelessly. "I rather enjoy it; it is a novelty. I only hope we shall not be very late in getting home, because the Longworthys would be anxious."

"I do not think you need fear; stay," turning round, "let me help you over this bit of marsh. It is rather an awkward place; I know it of old. But it is encouraging as proving that we are on the right road."

"And how far from Miller's Gate?"

"About a mile and a half."

He turned to help her, and they were delayed, because the stone on which Helen was to place her foot proved to be unsteady, and he would not let her stand upon it until he had made it safer. All this took some little time; he stooped down and groped about for something to put underneath, and then insisted upon proving it himself. Helen, who was rather impatient to be at home, said finally—

"Do not trouble any more about it, please; the fog is getting worse. Though you are close to me I cannot see you at all. I can see nothing; it is like a wall."

Dr. Holme raised his head with an exclamation of surprise. While he had been busy smoothing Helen's path, a fresh volume of fog had come rolling down over the hills, blotting out everything, even the dim outline of his companion's figure which had before been visible.

"This is very bad," he said, "it has not been as bad as this for years. We had better make all the haste we can. Take my hand again."

"I cannot see it. If you will stand a little on one side I will spring from the stone."

"Very well, only take care."

She sprang, but alighted a little to one side. He did not give her time to join him, but stepped up to her saying—

"Are you all right? I hope you have not hurt yourself at all."

"How could I hurt myself. Let us get on."

They went on for some time, and then the Doctor said—

"I am afraid you will be very tired by this time."

"I am tired, but not excessively so. That medicine you gave me has strengthened me wonderfully."

"I am glad to hear it. I hope you are not alarmed either."

"Certainly not. Is there any cause for alarm?"

"Oh, no; but many ladies would be nervous at being caught in a fog like this."

"I am not naturally nervous."

They went on and on without apparently coming nearer to Miller's Gate; nothing was visible through the impenetrable wall of fog.

"Surely," said Helen at last, "we have walked more than a mile and a half since that marsh."

"It seems a long time since we were there, certainly, but you must remember we have to go very slowly."

"I wish I knew what time it is; I suppose it is impossible to find out?"

"I believe I have some matches; I will strike one."

He felt in two or three pockets before finding his matchbox, and when he had opened it, he said,

"There is one match, Mrs. Moore; shall I strike it?"

"If you please. I do not see what would be gained by saving it up."

He pulled out his watch, gave it to Helen to hold, and struck the match, the tiny flame of which flickered and then blazed up. Both bent their heads over the watch and looked eagerly at it. It was just eight o'clock, and as they raised their heads the match went out.

Things of Beauty are a Joy Forever,

And any one who inspects the Carpets of Messrs. Clark & Thompson, St. George's Square, will have no hesitation in pronouncing them things of beauty. It is little over four years ago since Mr. Clark, a practical weaver from Dundee, Scotland, arrived in Canada and entered into partnership with Mr. Thompson. They started on Wyndham-street with one loom, manufacturing rag carpets. The keen business perception of Messrs. Clark & Thompson saw that there was likely to be money in the manufacture of Woolen Carpets and ventured the risk. The undertaking succeeded beyond expectation, and it was soon found necessary to remove to the larger premises now occupied by the firm on the west side of St. George's Square. There another extension was made to the business, namely, that of importing all kinds of carpet for retail purposes. The show room of Messrs. Clark & Thompson is now well worth looking at. Superior wool carpet, medium wool carpet, all kinds of union carpet, tapestry, brussels, three ply, &c., are on exhibition, besides oil cloths, all widths of stair carpets, many of the patterns being chaste and elegant. Recently they have entered into household furnishings and carry a large stock of bedding, tablings, cretonnes, fringes, blinds, &c. The front of the store since the firm took possession, has been greatly altered and decorated, so that it looks like another building. Energy and enterprise deserve support.

HE IRISH QUESTION.

Continued Agitation in the Country—Speeches by Prominent Men.

LONDON, May 1.—The speech of Mr. John Morley at Glasgow last night is discussed with interest and has changed the tone of public opinion as to the amount of support which Mr. Gladstone will receive on the second reading of the Home Rule Bill. There is no longer any doubt that the Cabinet has been brought to unity in support of the measure. Further than this, Mr. Morley's distinct announcement that the Government has consented to regard the retention of the Irish members at Westminster as an open question, removes one of the principal grounds of opposition to the Home Rule Bill as originally introduced. The speech referred to is regarded as the probable prelude of an announcement that all the clauses of the Home Rule Bill involving any serious contention will likewise be left open, to be dealt with when the Bill reaches the committee stage. It will be, in fact, a declaration that the measure is simply the groundwork of some Home Rule plan to be determined upon by the House after full discussion, and that nothing except the principle of Home Rule is to be insisted upon by Mr. Gladstone.

A movement is assuming definite shape in Edinburgh for the formation of Scottish Home Rule Associations, with the object of helping to secure for Ireland always the same voice in the Imperial Parliament as now, and also to promote a legislative sitting in Scotland for Scotch affairs, with control of local servants and a Scotch executive government responsible to the Crown.

To-day Florence Dixie has obtained consent of the President of the British Home Rule Association for ladies to join that organization. Lady Dizie herself has become an active member, and is zealous in obtaining recruits among her lady friends.

LONDON, May 1.—An anti-Home Rule meeting was held at Wrexham to-day, at which Wm. Cornwallis West, M. P. for West Denbighshire, a Liberal, presided. The Earl of Leicester (Liberal) presided at a similar meeting at Norwich.

Mr. Goschen, in a speech at Paisley to-night, asserted that Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill would never obtain the royal assent. He denied that the opponents of the Irish bills were unjust to Ireland. He advocated a large extension of the Irish power of dealing with education.

The Marquis of Ripon supported Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy in an address at Manchester. He said the more the English studied Irish history the more they became convinced that the granting of Home Rule to Ireland would make her a friend and not a foe. He emphatically denied that the question was one of Catholic against Protestant.

Lord Hartington, at Edinburgh, combatted the idea that all efforts to obtain better government in Ireland had been tried. He urged waiting for the ripening of the fruit, which, with impatience, would only wither.

"OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $2.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store.

Local News

R. J. KERR, of Erin, has sold a fine yearling Durham bull to James McCrone, of Damascus, West Luther, at a handsome figure.

MR. GEO. FEEK has retired from the firm of Feek & Kirkwood, and the business will in future be carried on by Messrs. Kirkwood & Phillips, in the same place.

THERE was a large market to-day. Several parties complained of the muddy state of the square. It would be well for the market house authorities to have it scraped as soon as possible.

ED. MORRIS was fishing yesterday at the Forks of the Credit and succeeded in catching 128 trout. He says the water is too high to make a successful catch. Manuel Duffield, M. French, F. Leader and Tindal Holliday were in Eden yesterday and caught on an average 75 each.

"I say Smith, you see it's not possible for capital to compete against organized labor." Neither is it possible for the underfed Sewing Machines to compete against the Vertical Feed System. See the Davis' at J. C. McLean's and judge for yourself.

FOR some time past a number of parties have been in the habit of depositing rubbish of all descriptions in the vicinity of Inglis' bridge, much to the annoyance of the residents in that locality. The Health Inspector will summons any person or persons before the Magistrate if caught dumping rubbish in that place.

FELL INTO A CELLAR-WAY.—This afternoon a span of horses belonging to Mr. James Mason, Nassagaweya, on being taken from Doran's stable and driven along the sidewalk for a short distance to be hitched up, broke down the covering of the cellar-way leading into Dudgeon's seed store. After some difficulty the horses were got out. They were only slightly scratched.

SKATING RINK.—The Speed Roller Skating Rink will open on Thursday evening, May 6th, under the Speed Skating Rink Co. and City Band. A new on fit of skates has been obtained and the grand opening will consist of a concert by the full City Band. Prices are reasonable. A number of attractions will be given throughout the season.

MONTHLY CATTLE FAIR.—The monthly cattle fair to-day was largely attended by buyers and sellers. There must have been close on 300 head of cattle on the grounds. But it must be remembered that about half of these were previously purchased and brought in for delivery. The cattle offered were a miscellaneous lot, few superior animals being on the ground, with quite a number of good butchers' cattle and several scrubs. The price ranged from 3 cents per hundred up to 5½c. John Carter, Eramosa, had five extra two year old steers, probably the best on the fair ground, for which he was asking 6 cents. There were several cows offered, and prices for these were from $30 up to $50 on an average. Few were sold above or below these figures.

COURT OF REVISION.—Last night Judge Drew held his Court of Revision of the voters list for the city for the Local Legislature, in the Court House. On account of the wet weather there were scarcely any present beyond the counsel and the parties interested in putting on the names on the original list in the hands of the City Clerk. There are 467 names 117 of which are Reform and 344 Conservative. Out of the list already gone over there are some 13 Reform which have been struck off on account of being previously on the list or by mutual consent; and some 20 on the Conservative side the same way. There have been only one or two names disallowed. The court was then adjourned until Monday night at seven o'clock, there still being 19 names on the Conservative list and 6 on the Reform list to be attended to. The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. Taking the list for the city altogether, when completed, there will be over 300 names put on the roll.

CAPT. CLARKE'S ENTERPRISE. — Capt. Clarke this morning placed in the bank to the credit of his fund for building a drill room at the Collegiate Institute the handsome sum of $175. This was the amount realized by his calisthenic entertainment at the rink the other evening after paying all expenses which have been incurred in training the classes in singing since last November, for pianists at the entertainment, etc. It is a good start, and may be expected to grow rapidly under Captain Clarke's management. The gallant captain has been urged by a number of people to repeat a portion of the programme of Friday night at his entertainment to be held in the rink on the evening of the 24th inst. Having engaged Mr. Schuch and Mr. Edwards, of Toronto, besides one or two local singers for that occasion he must adhere to his arrangement with them, but has consented to introduce again a portion of last Friday's programme, such as the marching, calisthenics, club swinging and one or two motion songs. This entertainment will likewise be in aid of the fund for the Collegiate Institute gymnasium, and as excursions are to be run from various places it is expected the attendance at the rink will be the largest ever seen there.

Davis' Pain Killer.—From the reports of dealers in this city we think no proprietary medicine has had a larger sale. Its valuable properties as a speedy cure for pain cannot fail to be generally appreciated, and no family should be without it in case of accident, or sudden attack of dysentery, diarhoea or cholera morbus.—Montreal Transcript.

Sir Charles Dilke's Case.

LONDON, May 4.—Sir Charles Dilke, in a speech at Chelsea this evening, referred to the accusations against himself of immoral practices which culminated in the Crawford divorce suit, and declared that the charges were cruel and wholly baseless. The stories, he said, had caused both himself and Mrs. Dilke many sleepless nights, and now, having asked the Queen's proctor to intervene and reopen the case, he would go upon the witness stand and deny the unfounded charges upon oath.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Formal Opening by the Queen on Tuesday.

LONDON, May 4.—The Queen formally opened the Indian and Colonial Exhibition to-day. The weather was beautiful. Crowds gathered along the route taken by Her Majesty from Buckingham Palace, and greeted her with enthusiastic cheers. The main hall in which the opening ceremonies were conducted, was crowded with the elite of London. The large number of foreign princes and diplomats, who attended in court dress, combined with scores of British officers present in full glittering uniforms, made a magnificent spectacle. The Prince of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Henry of Battenburg and his wife (Princess Beatrice) and the Crown Princess Victoria of Germany led the royal procession through the building, and were followed by Lord Hartington, the Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Derby and scores of other distinguished persons. Mr. Gladstone was not present.

So great was the rush to witness the royal progress to the Exhibition building that it required, besides a strong force of cavalry, upwards of 4,000 policemen to keep a passage way for the royal carriages through the streets. When the Queen's carriage arrived the entrance was surrounded by throngs of distinguished persons. The royal guard of honor lined the corridors when Her Majesty alighted and passed into the building. When the Queen appeared in the hall she was greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

The opening ceremonies were simple. They consisted of a carefully prepared programme of music, the presentation of addresses to the Queen by the Colonies participating in the Exhibition and a formal declaration by Her Majesty that the show was open.

The music was grand. Among the numbers was "Home Sweet Home" sung by Albani. The immense choir accompanied by the great organ and orchestra rendered the "Hallelujah" chorus with powerful effect.

The feature of the musical part of the programme was the rendering of Lord Tennyson's ode by the vast choir. The poem is in four parts, one of welcome to the exhibitors, one of prayer for the inheritance by the colonies of England's attributes, one describing the loss of the United States and the lesson of the loss and the fourth containing an appeal for the unity of the Empire. Her Majesty was tremendously pleased with the ode, the singing of which produced a really wonderful effect. All the parts were sung in English but the second. This had been translated into Sanscrit by Prof. Max Muller as a mark of of courtesy to the large number of Orientals attending the Exhibition.

The text of the ode is as follows:

I.

Welcome, welcome; with one voice
In your welfare we rejoice,
Sons and brothers: that have sent,
From isle and cape, and continent,
Produce of your field and flood,
Mount and line and primal wood,
Works of subtle brain and hand,
And splendors of the morning land—
Gifts from every British zone;
Britons, hold your own.

II.

May we find, as ages run,
The mother featured in the son;
And may yours for ever be
That old strength and constancy
Which has made your fathers great
In our ancient Island state;
And where'er her flag may fly,
Glorying between sea and sky,
Make the might of Britain known.
Britons! hold your own.

III.

Britain fought her sons of yore;
Britain failed, and nevermore,
Careless of our growing kin,
Shall we sin our fathers' sin:
Men that in a narrower day—
Unprophetic rulers they—
Drove from out the mother's nest
That young eagle of the West
To forage for herself alone.
Britons! hold your own.

IV.

Sharers of our glorious past,
Brothers, must we part at last,
Shall not we, through good and ill,
Cleave to one another still.
Britain's myriad voices call,
Sons, be welded, each and all,
Into one imperial whole,
One with Britain, heart and soul,
One life, one flag, one fleet, one throne;
Britons, hold your own,
And God guard all.

At the conclusion of the Ode, the Queen pronounced the Exhibition opened and passed out, the choir singing "Rule Britannia." Her Majesty received another ovation during her departure, and plainly indicated how greatly pleased she was with the enthusiasm which her presence evoked everywhere. The Queen's declaration that the Exhibition was opened was signalled to the public by a great flourish of trumpets in Hyde Park, followed by the firing of a royal salute.

CHADWICK VS. MURPHY.—The case of the ownership of the Guelph Herald came up at Osgoode Hall on Tuesday morning before Mr. Justice Ferguson. There are no less than seven lawyers employed. The witnesses were numerous but were all put out of court. Mr. Chadwick's evidence was taken in support of his case. Mr. S. H. Blake before cross-examining the witness represented to His Lordship that he was so indisposed that he wished the case adjourned until to-day, which was accordingly done. The matter is one of unusual interest.

COMPLAINTS are made about cows running at large in the outskirts of St. George's and St. Patrick's Wards. The parties interested had better take warning.

The Daily News stands out prominently among the London daily papers as almost alone in unqualified approval of Mr. Gladstone's manifesto. The Times, Telegraph, Post and Standard are vigorous in condemnation.

SCHOOL SECTION No. 8, ERAMOSA.—An Eramosa correspondent having made a close examination of the result of the late Easter promotion examinations in that township, gives the following synopsis showing how that No. 8 excels in almost everything, which reflects great credit on their present teacher, Mr. Wm. Tovel. The highest marks obtained in the township in the V, IV and III classes were taken by No. 8. The highest average marks of the class were taken by No. 8 in the V and III, with 2nd honors in the IV class; No. 8 also passed the 2nd highest number of pupils in the township, and it was the only school in which all pupils passed who wrote. Surely No. 8 will do wise in retaining as long as possible a teacher who has brought the school to such a standard of proficiency."—COM.

BLOODY WORK IN CHICAGO.

Fierce Fight Between Socialists and Police.

SIXTY PERSONS SHOT.

Several of them Killed or Fatally Wounded.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Arbeter Zeitung, a German paper, edited by Speiz, the Socialist who was one of the speakers who incited yesterday's riot at McCormick's, has the following:

Workingmen: The hated police yesterday murdered four of your brothers and wounded perhaps twenty-five more at McCormick's factory. Had your brothers, who had nothing but stones to defend themselves, been armed with good weapons and a few dynamite bombs not one of the murderers would have escaped his well deserved fate.

Great was the expectations of the Socialist leaders regarding the meeting called for to-night. As early as 7.30 had been mentioned as the hour when the speaking and excitement would begin. The place chosen was the old haymarket on Randolph street, capable of holding from 15,000 to 20,000 men. A tour around the market about 8 p. m. showed the scattered groups of men loitering in the vicinity would make a crowd not to exceed 1,500. It was after 9 p. m. before the stolid groups of Anarchists were cheered by the presence of any leaders. August Speiz finally arrived, and climbing a wagon in front of Crane Bros.' factory, began an address, denouncing capital and claiming that he was not the cause of yesterday's riot, but that it was a natural result of class oppression. There was no enthusiasm created by his remarks and when he was succeeded by A. R. Parsons, the crowd began to gradually dwindle away.

A man who was standing in the crowd received a pistol ball in his thigh and has just been brought to the Central Police Station. He says that during the progress of a speech by one of the Socialists a squad of officers marched by close to the speakers' stand. Some one shouted "Kill the d——————." Almost as soon as the words had been uttered three bombs were thrown from near the stand into the midst of the squad of officers. They exploded instantly and five policemen fell. Others were wounded, and several of the Socialists did not escape.

About two hundred officers had been detailed to attend the meeting and had been in the vicinity since the Socialists had begun to assemble. At the time of the throwing of the bombs the crowd had dwindled to less than 1,000. The utterances of the speakers were still of a most inflammatory character, however, and the hearers who still remained grew riotous in their demeanor. The police concluded to put an end to the disturbance, and advancing ordered the crowd to disperse. At first the Socialists fell back slowly, one of the speakers still urging them to stand firm. Suddenly the bombs were thrown. The police retorted instantly with a volley from their revolvers. The rioters answered with theirs, which, the sequel proved, they were well provided with. The mob appeared crazed with a desire for blood, and, holding its ground, poured volley after volley into the midst of the officers. The latter fought gallantly, and at last dispersed the mob and cleared the market place.

Immediately after the first explosion the officers who were left standing drew their revolvers and fired round after round into the mob. Large numbers of men fell and as they dropped were immediately carried to the rear and into the many dark alleyways by their friends. No estimate of the casualties can be given, but the police at the Desplaines station state fully fifty of them were wounded. The drug stores in the vicinity are crowded with people who have been hurt and doctors have been telephoned for in all directions. Before the firing had ceased the neighboring police stations were turned into temporary hospitals.

At 11 o'clock twenty policemen lay on the floor of the Desplaines Street Station, all disabled, and probably half that number seriously wounded. Others were reported to be still lying in the open square either dead or badly wounded.

A telephone message from one of the hospitals says that an officer brought there has since died. Officer Degan died on the way to the station.

Inspector Bonfield says, concerning the trouble, that after Parsons had concluded his speech, Sam Fielding, another notorious Socialist, mounted the wagon and began to address the crowd. His address was of the most inflammatory description. He called on the men to arm themselves and to assert their rights. He finally became so violent that word was sent to the station, which was only a block distant, and Inspector Bonfield at the head of 125 men, marched to the place where the meeting was in progress. Bonfield called upon the crowd to disperse, and Fielding shouted out to them from the wagon: "To arms!" The officers once more called on them to disperse, when suddenly from behind the wagon, which was not fifteen feet from the front rank of the police, bombs were thrown in between the second and third ranks of the men, with the effect as already stated.

On a table in the station house where the wounded policemen are, one poor fellow lies stretched on a table with a terrible bullet wound in his breast. A few feet distant a man in tattered clothes and a mortal wound in his side is lying insensible in a cot. Around the chairs, with their legs bandaged up and resting on supports of different kinds are some fifteen or twenty of the officers who were wounded by the bombs. Another officer who was found lying in a doorway, where he had been carried or where he had dragged himself, has just been brought in, frightfully wounded. There are some twenty of the Socialists in the cells in the basement. Nearly all of them are wounded, and one of them, a young fellow of about 20, is dead.

Late this afternoon the police raided a hall in the same building occupied by the Lumber Exchange and captured there some hundred rifles. It seems the hall had been occupied as a drill room by a company of Zouaves, which is chiefly made up of foreigners.

BOSTON, May 3.—About 4,000 men, comprising a majority of the masons, carpenters, painters and plumbers of Boston, struck to-day for shorter hours. Twelve hundred painters and decorators demanded $2.50 and $3.50 respectively for an eight-hour day. At noon twelve employers had

Base Ball.

Wally Millar, 1st base, and Frank Scheiback, pitcher, of the Maple Leafs, arrived from Detroit last night. Millar only weighs about 190 lbs, and looks every inch a ball player. Scheiback is the lightest man in the team, 142 lbs, and comes highly recommended.

President Sleeman has signed Harry Zell, late of Kansas City League team. Zell led the fielders of the Southern League last season. He is a pitcher of note and is also a big "un" weighing 175 lbs.

The Baseball suit was again postponed on Tuesday, this time at the request of the plaintiff. A. Blake Q. C., and Donald Guthrie Q. C., appeared for Mr. Sleeman; Lount, Q. C., J. W. Nesbitt, of Hamilton, and Watson for the defendants.

MR. BENJ. FAIRLEY is lying dangerously ill with inflammation of the lungs.

R. J. KERR, of Erin, has sold a fine yearling Durham bull to James McCrone, of Damascus, West Luther, at a handsome figure.

MR. GEO. FEEK has retired from the firm of Feek & Kirkwood, and the business will in future be carried on by Messrs. Kirkwood & Phillips, in the same place.

THERE was a large market to-day. Several parties complained of the muddy state of the square. It would be well for the market house authorities to have it scraped as soon as possible.

ED. MORRIS was fishing yesterday at the Forks of the Credit and succeeded in catching 128 trout. He says the water is too high to make a successful catch. Manuel Duffield, M. French, F. Leader and Tindal Holliday were in Eden yesterday and caught on an average 75 each.

"I say Smith, you see it's not possible for capital to compete against organized labor." Neither is it possible for the underfed Sewing Machines to compete against the Vertical Feed System. See the Davis' at J. C. McLean's and judge for yourself.

FOR some time past a number of parties have been in the habit of depositing rubbish of all descriptions in the vicinity of Inglis' bridge, much to the annoyance of the residents in that locality. The Health Inspector will summons any person or persons before the Magistrate if caught dumping rubbish in that place.

FELL INTO A CELLAR-WAY.—This afternoon a span of horses belonging to Mr. James Mason, Nassagaweya, on being taken from Doran's stable and driven along the sidewalk for a short distance to be hitched up, broke down the covering of the cellar-way leading into Dudgeon's seed store. After some difficulty the horses were got out. They were only slightly scratched.

SKATING RINK.—The Speed Roller Skating Rink will open on Thursday evening, May 6th, under the Speed Skating Rink Co. and City Band. A new outfit of skates has been obtained and the grand opening will consist of a concert by the full City Band. Prices are reasonable. A number of attractions will be given throughout the season.

MONTHLY CATTLE FAIR.—The monthly cattle fair to-day was largely attended by buyers and sellers. There must have been close on 300 head of cattle on the grounds. But it must be remembered that about half of these were previously purchased and brought in for delivery. The cattle offered were a miscellaneous lot, few superior animals being on the ground, with quite a number of good butchers' cattle and several scrubs. The price ranged from 3 cents per hundred up to 5½c. John Carter, Eramosa, had five extra two year old steers, probably the best on the fair ground, for which he was asking 6 cents. There were several cows offered, and prices for these were from $30 up to $50 on an average. Few were sold above or below these figures.

COURT OF REVISION.—Last night Judge Drew held his Court of Revision of the voters list for the city for the Local Legislature, in the Court House. On account of the wet weather there were scarcely any present beyond the counsel and the parties interested in putting on the names on the original list in the hands of the City Clerk. There are 467 names 117 of which are Reform and 344 Conservative. Out of the list already gone over there are some 13 Reform which have been struck off on account of being previously on the list or by mutual consent; and some 20 on the Conservative side the same way. There have been only one or two names disallowed. The court was then adjourned until Monday night at seven o'clock, there still being 19 names on the Conservative list and 6 on the Reform list to be attended to. The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. Taking the list for the city altogether, when completed, there will be over 300 names put on the roll.

CAPT. CLARKE'S ENTERPRISE. — Capt. Clarke this morning placed in the bank to the credit of his fund for building a drill room at the Collegiate Institute the handsome sum of $175. This was the amount realized by his calisthenic entertainment at the rink the other evening after paying all expenses which have been incurred in training the classes in singing since last November, for pianists at the entertainment, etc. It is a good start, and may be expected to grow rapidly under Captain Clarke's management. The gallant captain has been urged by a number of people to repeat a portion of the programme of Friday night at his entertainment to be held in the rink on the evening of the 24th inst. Having engaged Mr. Schuch and Mr. Edwards, of Toronto, besides one or two local singers for that occasion he must adhere to his arrangement with them, but has consented to introduce again a portion of last Friday's programme, such as the marching, calisthenics, club swinging and one or two motion songs. This entertainment will likewise be in aid of the fund for the Collegiate Institute gymnasium, and as excursions are to be run from various places it is expected the attendance at the rink will be the largest ever seen there.

Davis' Pain Killer.—From the reports of dealers in this city we think no proprietary medicine has had a larger sale. Sir Charles Dilke's Case.

LONDON, May 4.—Sir Charles Dilke, in a speech at Chelsea this evening, referred to the accusations against himself of immoral practices which culminated in the Crawford divorce suit, and declared that the charges were cruel and wholly baseless. The stories, he said, had caused both himself and Mrs. Dilke many sleepless nights, and now, having asked the Queen's proctor to intervene and reopen the case, he would go upon the witness stand and deny the unfounded charges upon oath.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Formal Opening by the Queen on Tuesday.

LONDON, May 4.—The Queen formally opened the Indian and Colonial Exhibition to-day. The weather was beautiful. Crowds gathered along the route taken by Her Majesty from Buckingham Palace, and greeted her with enthusiastic cheers. The main hall in which the opening ceremonies were conducted, was crowded with the elite of London. The large number of foreign princes and diplomats, who attended in court dress, combined with scores of British officers present in full glittering uniforms, made a magnificent spectacle. The Prince of Wales, Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Henry of Battenburg and his wife (Princess Beatrice) and the Crown Princess Victoria of Germany led the royal procession through the building, and were followed by Lord Hartington, the Marquis of Salisbury, Earl Derby and scores of other distinguished persons. Mr. Gladstone was not present.

So great was the rush to witness the royal progress to the Exhibition building that it required, besides a strong force of cavalry, upwards of 4,000 policemen to keep a passage way for the royal carriages through the streets. When the Queen's carriage arrived the entrance was surrounded by throngs of distinguished persons. The royal guard of honor lined the corridors when Her Majesty alighted and passed into the building. When the Queen appeared in the hall she was greeted with enthusiastic cheers.

The opening ceremonies were simple. They consisted of a carefully prepared programme of music, the presentation of addresses to the Queen by the Colonies participating in the Exhibition and a formal declaration by Her Majesty that the show was open.

The music was grand. Among the numbers was "Home Sweet Home" sung by Albani. The immense choir accompanied by the great organ and orchestra rendered the "Hallelujah" chorus with powerful effect.

The feature of the musical part of the programme was the rendering of Lord Tennyson's ode by the vast choir. The poem is in four parts, one of welcome to the exhibitors, one of prayer for the inheritance by the colonies of England's attributes, one describing the loss of the United States and the lesson of the loss and the fourth containing an appeal for the unity of the Empire. Her Majesty was tremendously pleased with the ode, the singing of which produced a really wonderful effect. All the parts were sung in English but the second. This had been translated into Sanscrit by Prof. Max Muller as a mark of of courtesy to the large number of Orientals attending the Exhibition.

The text of the ode is as follows:

II.

Welcome, welcome; with one voice
In your welfare we rejoice,
Sons and brothers: that have sent,
From isle and cape, and continent,
Produce of your field and flood,
Mount and line and primal wood,
Works of subtle brain and hand
And splendors of the morning land—
Gifts from every British zone;
Britons, hold your own.

II.

May we find, as ages run,
The mother featured in the son;
And may yours for ever be
That old valiant heart and constancy
Which has made your fathers great
In our ancient island state;
And where'er her flag may fly,
Glorying between sea and sky,
Make the might of Britain known.
Britons! hold your own.

III.

Britain fought her sons of yore;
Britain failed, and nevermore,
Careless of our growing kin,
Shall we sin our fathers' sin;
Men that in a narrower day—
Unprophetic rulers they—
Drove from out the mother's nest
That young eagle of the West
To forage for herself alone.
Britons! hold your own.

IV.

Sharers of our glorious past,
Brothers, must we part at last,
Shall not we, through good and ill,
Cleave to one another still.
Britain's myriad voices call,
Sons, be welded, each and all,
Into one imperial whole,
One with Britain, heart and soul,
One life, one flag, one fleet, one throne;
Britons, hold your own,
And God guard all.

At the conclusion of the Ode, the Queen pronounced the Exhibition opened and passed out, the choir singing "Rule Britannia." Her Majesty received another ovation during her departure, and plainly indicated how greatly pleased she was with the enthusiasm which her presence evoked everywhere. The Queen's declaration that the Exhibition was opened was signalled to the public by a great flourish of trumpets in Hyde Park, followed by the firing of a royal salute.

CHADWICK VS. MURPHY.—The case of the ownership of the Guelph Herald came up at Osgoode Hall on Tuesday morning before Mr. Justice Ferguson. There are no less than seven lawyers employed. The witnesses were numerous but were all put out of court. Mr. Chadwick's evidence was taken in support of his case. Mr. S. H. Blake before cross-examining the witness represented to His Lordship that he was so indisposed that he wished the case adjourned until to-day, which was accordingly done. The matter is one of unusual interest.

COMPLAINTS are made about cows running at large in the outskirts of St. George's and St. Patrick's Wards. The parties interested had better take warning.

The Daily News stands out prominently among the London daily papers as almost alone in unqualified approval of Mr. Gladstone's manifesto. The Times, Telegraph, Post and Standard are vigorous in condemnation.

SCHOOL SECTION No. 8, ERAMOSA.—An Eramosa correspondent having made a close examination of the result of the late Easter promotion examinations in that township, gives the following synopsis showing how that No. 8 excels in almost everything, which reflects great credit on their present teacher, Mr. Wm. Tovel. The highest marks obtained in the township in the V, IV and III classes were taken by No. 8. The highest average marks of the class were taken by No. 8 in the V and III, with 2nd honors in the IV class; No. 8 also passed the 2nd highest number of pupils in the township, and it was the only school in which all pupils passed who wrote. Surely No. 8 will do wise in retaining as long as possible a teacher who has brought the school to such a standard of proficiency."—COM.

BLOODY WORK IN CHICAGO.

Fierce Fight Between Socialists and Police.

SIXTY PERSONS SHOT.

Several of them Killed or Fatally Wounded.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Arbeter Zeitung, a German paper, edited by Speiz, the Socialist who was one of the speakers who incited yesterday's riot at McCormick's, has the following:

Workingmen: The hated police yesterday murdered four of your brothers and wounded perhaps twenty-five more at McCormick's factory. Had your brothers, who had nothing but stones to defend themselves, been armed with good weapons and a few dynamite bombs not one of the murderers would have escaped his well deserved fate.

Great was the expectations of the Socialist leaders regarding the meeting called for to-night. As early as 7.30 had been mentioned as the hour when the speaking and excitement would begin. The place chosen was the old haymarket on Randolph street, capable of holding from 15,000 to 20,000 men. A tour around the market about 8 p. m. showed the scattered groups of men loitering in the vicinity would make a crowd not to exceed 1,500. It was after 9 p. m. before the stolid groups of Anarchists were cheered by the presence of any leaders. August Speiz finally arrived, and climbing a wagon in front of Crane Bros.' factory, began an address, denouncing capital and claiming that he was not the cause of yesterday's riot, but that it was a natural result of class oppression. There was no enthusiasm created by his remarks and when he was succeeded by A. R. Parsons, the crowd began to gradually dwindle away.

A man who was standing in the crowd received a pistol ball in his thigh and has just been brought to the Central Police Station. He says that during the progress of a speech by one of the Socialists a squad of officers marched by close to the speakers' stand. Some one shouted "Kill the d——————." Almost as soon as the words had been uttered three bombs were thrown from near the stand into the midst of the squad of officers. They exploded instantly and five policemen fell. Others were wounded, and several of the Socialists did not escape.

About two hundred officers had been detailed to attend the meeting and had been in the vicinity since the Socialists had begun to assemble. At the time of the throwing of the bombs the crowd had dwindled to less than 1,000. The utterances of the speakers were still of a most inflammatory character, however, and the hearers who still remained grew riotous in their demeanor. The police concluded to put an end to the disturbance, and advancing ordered the crowd to disperse. At first the Socialists fell back slowly, one of the speakers still urging them to stand firm. Suddenly the bombs were thrown. The police retorted instantly with a volley from their revolvers. The rioters answered with theirs, which, the sequel proved, they were well provided with. The mob appeared crazed with a desire for blood, and, holding its ground, poured volley after volley into the midst of the officers. The latter fought gallantly, and at last dispersed the mob and cleared the market place.

Immediately after the first explosion the officers who were left standing drew their revolvers and fired round after round into the mob. Large numbers of men fell and as they dropped were immediately carried to the rear and into the many dark alleyways by their friends. No estimate of the casualties can be given, but the police at the Desplaines station state fully fifty of them were wounded. The drug stores in the vicinity are crowded with people who have been hurt and doctors have been telephoned for in all directions. Before the firing had ceased the neighboring police stations were turned into temporary hospitals.

At 11 o'clock twenty policemen lay on the floor of the Desplaines Street Station, all disabled, and probably half that number seriously wounded. Others were reported to be still lying in the open square either dead or badly wounded.

A telephone message from one of the hospitals says that an officer brought there has since died. Officer Degan died on the way to the station.

Inspector Bonfield says, concerning the trouble, that after Parsons had concluded his speech, Sam Fielding, another notorious Socialist, mounted the wagon and began to address the crowd. His address was of the most inflammatory description. He called on the men to arm themselves and to assert their rights. He finally became so violent that word was sent to the station, which was only a block distant, and Inspector Bonfield at the head of 125 men, marched to the place where the meeting was in progress. Bonfield called upon the crowd to disperse, and Fielding shouted out to them from the wagon: "To arms!" The officers once more called on them to disperse, when suddenly from behind the wagon, which was not fifteen feet from the front rank of the police, bombs were thrown in between the second and third ranks of the men, with the effect as already stated.

On a table in the station house where the wounded policemen are, one poor fellow lies stretched on a table with a terrible bullet wound in his breast. A few feet distant a man in tattered clothes and a mortal wound in his side is lying insensible in a cot. Around the chairs, with their legs bandaged up and resting on supports of different kinds are some fifteen or twenty of the officers who were wounded by the bombs. Another officer who was found lying in a doorway, where he had been carried or where he had dragged himself, has just been brought in, frightfully wounded. There are some twenty of the Socialists in the cells in the basement. Nearly all of them are wounded, and one of them, a young fellow of about 20, is dead.

Late this afternoon the police raided a hall in the same building occupied by the Lumber Exchange and captured there some hundred rifles. It seems the hall had been occupied as a drill room by a company of Zouaves, which is chiefly made up of foreigners.

BOSTON, May 3.—About 4,000 men, comprising a majority of the masons, carpenters, painters and plumbers of Boston, struck to-day for shorter hours. Twelve hundred painters and decorators demanded $2.50 and $3.50 respectively for an eight-hour day. At noon twelve employers had

WEDNESDAY EVE'G MAY 5, 1886.

The New Deal With the C. P. R.

It was supposed that after the legislation of last session Parliament would have done with the Canada Pacific Railway Company. But it bobs up again serenely this session with a fresh proposal, which of course is again in the interest of the Company, and for which the country will have to pay, as it has done in every previous arrangement. The Minister of Finance in bringing forward his resolution for this fresh arrangement referred to the loan of thirty millions, which Parliament had granted the Company in 1884, on condition that the road should be completed in 1886 instead of 1891. By the Act of last year the Company were empowered to issue bonds, and having sold a portion of these in the London market at a premium of 4 per cent. they propose to pay back twenty millions of their loan to the Government After the repayment of the twenty millions there would still be due $9,950,000, for which the Government would take back land at $1.50 an acre. The Company would then retain 14,741,000 acres of land, and it was to secure this unincumbered that they desired to pay back this amount. Mr. Blake in a powerful speech showed that at the present price at which the Company's bonds were selling at they would have a large surplus even though they paid the Government every cent of the money they owed. By accepting the company's proposal and taking a portion of their lands back for the ten millions, they would owe the country, after paying the twenty millions, $400,000, which would be added to the annual interest the country has to pay. In return for this we are to get back a portion of the lands of the Company, which the Government have no use for and which may lie on their hands for years. The resolution also proposes that the shareholders of the Company shall hereafter be allowed to sit and vote in Parliament, which has had to deal with and which may yet have to deal with, the most important interests of the Company. Mr. Blake, moreover in a most trenchant manner showed how the Company in every respect had failed to fulfill the grand promises made by them when the first contract was made, and how also they had failed most conspicuously in getting the country settled. Every step taken by them in their negotiations with the Government has been to their advantage, and no doubt it will continue to be so as long as this Government remains in power, and the Company makes any fresh demands on it.

THE supposition of "Observer" in his letter last week that the doctor himself had not written the two letters to which he "Observer" referred was well founded. In fairness to the doctor we are obliged to state this, and we are in a position to say emphatically that he neither suggested them nor had the slightest hint about them until they appeared in these columns. It is a common thing for reference to be made in newspapers to the success of surgical operations, in connection with which every doctor's name in the city has been mentioned at one time or another. Medical men do not favor such reports, absurdly regarding them as "unprofessional," but whether they like it or not makes no difference to the ordinary, everyday newspaper man who publishes just such matter as he thinks constitutes news and serves a good object. And it was thus that the letters appeared, without the knowledge or consent of the doctor in question.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, May 3.

Parliament reassembled on Tuesday last after the Easter holidays, and at once settled down seriously to work. The House went into Committee of Supply. This means that the House considers the estimates of the total expenditure of the country for the year in advance, which have been prepared by the Government. It is the chief duty of the Opposition to obtain from Ministers information on all the items of expenditure, for every item is read by the Chairman of the Committee and submitted to the members for approval. The Opposition have also an opportunity of criticizing every item and obtaining from the Government the reason why it may have been increased or diminished. In this way the executive ability of the Government is tested, and it is shown whether they are economical or otherwise in spending the people's money.

I need scarcely say that true to its antecedents this Government shows no desire to economise, but on the contrary keeps adding to our expenses year by year. An item or two taken at random will prove this. Take the expenditure on newspapers supplied to the different departments at Ottawa. Scarcely any of your readers will believe that the total sum paid for newspapers last year amounts to $10,389. Now, the people would not grudge a fair allowance for papers sent to these departments, because in many cases it is quite necessary that they should be supplied with certain papers, but it is equally true that in some of the departments scarcely any but Tory papers are taken, and they are generally supplemented by English political and illustrated papers, and by American papers of the same description, many of which are not required at all for the business of the Departments. They are simply supplied for the gratification and amusement of the clerks, but the country has to pay for the subscriptions. It is, therefore, outrageous to pay such a large sum yearly to furnish papers for the sole pleasure of Clerks who should be made to supply themselves with reading of this kind. The cost of supplying papers for the Reading Room of the House of Commons is only $1,498 a year, and the list includes every Canadian besides English and American papers. It is high time, therefore, that the expenditure for papers in the departments should be cut down, and that the abuse should be corrected. In the Governor-General's office the sum paid yearly for papers alone amounts to $806. This is surely a very high figure to pay for this one item. Take one other item as an illustration of the extravagance of the present Government. I refer to the cab hire for the different departments in Ottawa. For the year ending June in 1878, the last year of Mr. Mackenzie's Government, the total sum paid for cab hire amounted to $466. In 1880 the bill ran up to $1,685. Last year it had more than doubled, the amount being $3,758. This is certainly a frightful increase from the modest sum paid for cab hire during Mr. Mackenzie's time.

I might pick out dozens of items from the different departments, showing the same large and inexcusable increase, for which the Ministers are alone responsible.

Another extensive leak in our expenditure is the superannuation fund for Civil servants. Mr. McMullen has made a special study of this item and on Wednesday last he entered into a full exposure of the whole business. Without going into details I would simply say that in summing up he pointed out many abuses in the working of the Civil Service Act. He showed that to suit the purposes of Ministers many of the civil servants were superannuated long before their term of service expired, and while still in good health and able to perform their work. Many of these on being retired had certain number of years added to their time to make up the full term of service, thus giving them their full retiring allowance. By this means the amount they paid into the fund (being two per cent. of their salaries) is but a mere fraction of what they are drawing out of the fund yearly.

On Thursday the greater part of the day was taken up with the bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act. Mr. White, the new Minister of the Interior, is the father of the bill, and it is an attempt to amend an act which was bad in the first instance, and which has not been much improved by the many tinkerings it has undergone.

When pretty late in the evening Mr. McLelan moved his resolutions recommending the new financial arrangement with the Pacific Railway Company, Mr. Blake in an able speech opposed the scheme as being altogether in the interest of the Company and practically releasing them from the payment of ten millions of dollars. The resolutions, however, were carried and a bill founded on them was introduced.

On Friday Mr. Carling introduced his resolutions for the establishment of experimental farm stations. Having already explained the scheme I need not go into particulars. In the course of the discussion one or two of the Tory members had a hit at the Ontario Agricultural College, but the point of their argument was lost sight of when they had to admit that in this matter the Dominion Government was following the example of that of Ontario.

Signs are multiplying of the near approach of the close of the session. After this week Wednesday is to be taken as a Government day, leaving only Monday for general business, and in another week very likely that will be taken too for Government business. The general belief still is that the session will close in the fourth week in May.

The Last Year, 1885.

After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly. Pain cannot stay where it is used. The name is Fluid Lightning. Sold by Thomas S. Petrie, Druggist.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address DR. H. G. ROOT,

C. W. ROWEN.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

NEW ARRIVALS,

A magnificent assortment of Flouncing Laces in Oriental and Spanish in Black, White, Cream and Baize.

A visit to our Store will interest you and it will give us much pleasure to show our goods, as we are convinced styles and prices are right.

GENTLEMEN,

We have engaged in the department you are interested in, the services of Mr. J. R. McKENZIE, a man we can safely say unequalled in his line in the Dominion. We know what we assert in this matter, and we are certain that he will give the very best satisfaction when you favor us with an order. Our styles and prices are right and our fits are the best.

CHAPTER XXVII.

LOST IN THE FOG.

"We must have got off the path," said Helen. "It was only half-past five when we left the farm. Even going by the road, we ought to have been at home long before this."

"I am afraid you are right, but when could it have happened? We have come straight along the whole way."

"No, we have not. When I crossed that marsh, instead of waiting for me to come to you, you came to me. It must have been then; we turned in the wrong direction, and no doubt have been going away from, instead of towards Miller's Gate ever since."

Her words were followed by a short silence, which her companion broke by saying——

"What you say is quite possible, and I see no way of finding out where we are."

"Then what must we do? I suppose you have not a compass."

He shook his head, forgetting that she could not see him, and it was only when she repeated her question that he said—

"I beg your pardon; no, I have none, and even if I had I could not see it."

"I should suggest that we stay here until the fog shifts," she began, "only—"

"That would probably be until morning," he interrupted, "and I would not allow that."

"Our circumstances will soon be beyond your allowing, I daresay," she replied, indulging on her side in a little sarcastic smile, which was, of course, wholly thrown away. "Besides, I do not want to stay. You should let me finish speaking. I was going to say I should suggest staying if it were not for the Longworthys; they will be so uneasy, I left word that I should be back soon, this fog has come on, and they will believe me to be lost. I should not care what happened but for them."

"They will think you have sheltered in a cottage."

"They will know I should not; they will think I am alone, and Mrs. Longworthy will make herself ill with anxiety. I wish I could let them know."

"But you cannot. Then you are in favour of going on."

"I cannot tell. You know the country better than I do, why do you leave the decision to me? Have you no idea where we are?"

There was no anger in her voice, only patient resignation, as though she had made up her mind to the worst.

"At present I have not," he replied, and in his voice were unmistakable signs of anger, he was so annoyed at his own stupidity. If the mist would only rise a little, I might be able to tell."

As if in answer to his words, a puff of wind blew in their faces and made as it were a hole in the fog. In the clearing they saw dimly what looked like ghosts of hills looming above them, then the mist closed in again and they saw no more.

"I am afraid that was not much help," said Helen.

"No, but it showed possibilities. I have now hope of the mist clearing altogether."

"A sea mist would not," she replied; "but I am not familiar with your mists here."

They waited for some little time, but the fog did not disperse again. At last Helen said—

"Let us go on; I am cold."

"I can never blame myself enough for this," said Dr. Holme, as they moved on a little vagnely. "I never felt so angry with myself in my life."

"Do not feel distressed; it was my own fault for being persuaded to come."

"I am afraid you will never trust me again."

"I shall require very strong surety of your being right."

Although neither could see the figure of the other they accompanied their words, when they spoke, with the looks and gestures which we use in the daylight, and which add so much to the mere words we use. Helen's answer sounded rather severe to her companion, who did not see the smile with which she spoke, and they plodded on for some time until Helen stood still, saying—

"I am sorry, but I must rest. I can go no further."

"What a fool I am! Why did you not speak sooner?" said the doctor rather vehemently.

"What is the use of giving in before one is obliged," she answered a little faintly. Then after a short pause—

"Have you any brandy with you, doctor?"

He gave her his flask saying—

"I hope I have not dragged you on until you are faiating."

"No, I shall be ready to go on again in a minute, but I must rest a little. I think I will sit down here."

She sank upon the soft, damp heather as she spoke, and he, furious with himself for what had happened, said again—

"I cannot tell what you must think of me. It is of no use attempting to apologise, but I shall never forgive myself, never."

"I wish you would not think of me so much; it will do me no harm, though it is a little uncomfortable and disagreeable just now. It is far worse for you, who may be wanted in the village at this very moment. Even if we have to stay here till morning, it is only a few hours. When we are at home again, we shall look upon this wandering in the fog as an absurd adventure. I see no occasion for alarm or excitement. If only my friends knew that I was safe with you, I could wait for the fog to disperse with the greatest equanimity."

"I knew you were brave, but you have this evening given proof of extraordinary courage. Most women in your position would, I believe, have lost their heads with fear."

She laughed a little as she replied—

"Nay, really, I cannot let you calumniate women that way. Why should I not be calm, when both your and my own common-sense tell me there is not the least danger. It is only a new experience, and I like new experiences provided they are not too unpleasant."

"As this one promises to be."

"I did not say that, neither did I mean it. Perhaps if I repeat for the third time that all my anxiety is on behalf of our friends you will believe me. You know the line—

"What I tell you three times is true."

"You choose to laugh at me," he said, sourly.

"Oh, no; though even if I did that would be better than quarrelling, which I relieve we were on the point of doing."

"I repeat what I said before," he replied obstinately. "You have given proof of extraordinary courage and presence of mind. If my admiration for you could be increased, the events of this evening would have done it."

"You are very kind," she replied, feeling a little bewildered, and rising to her feet as she spoke. "I had no idea of the exalted position I occupied in your esteem," she went on as lightly as she could.

"Is that true?" he asked, and she felt instinctively that he took a step towards her. "Is it true that you have not seen?"

"Seen what?" she asked quietly, though her heart had begun to beat very fast.

"Seen that I loved you," he said, speaking fast and vehemently. "I thought a woman knew by instinct when a man loved her, and yet you say you have seen nothing.

Again he stepped forward, and again she must have felt that he did so, for she said haughtily—

"Don't come one step nearer, sir."

She must have taken a step backward, for as she finished speaking she uttered a cry, there was a sound of stones rolling down a slope, a splash as if they fell into water, and then dead silence.

CARPET HOUSE.

Things of Beauty are a Joy Forever,

And any one who inspects the Carpets of Messrs. Clark & Thompson, St. George's Square, wi have no hesitation in pronouncing them things of beauty. It is little over four years ago since Mr. Clark, a practical weaver from Dundee, Scotland, arrived in Canada and entered into partnership with Mr. Thompson. They started on Wyndham-street with one loom, manufacturing rag carpets. The keen business perception of Messrs. Clark & Thompson saw that there was likely to be money in the manufacture of Woolen Carpets and ventured the risk. The undertaking succeeded beyond expectation, and it was soon found necessary to remove to the larger premises now occupied by the firm on the west side of St. George's Square. There another extension was made to the business, namely, that of importing all kinds of carpet for retail purposes. The show room of Messrs. Clark & Thompson is now well worth looking at. Superior wool carpet, medium wool carpet, all kinds of union carpet, tapestry, brussels, three ply, &c., are on exhibition, besides oil cloths, all widths of stair carpets, many of the patterns being chaste and elegant. Recently they have entered into household furnishings and carry a large stock of bedding, tablings, cretonnes, fringes, blinds, &c. The front of the store since the firm took possession, has been greatly altered and decorated, so that it looks like another building. Energy and enterprise deserve support.

CHAPTER XXVII.

LOST IN THE FOG.

"We must have got off the path," said Helen. "It was only half-past five when we left the farm. Even going by the road, we ought to have been at home long before this."

"I am afraid you are right, but when could it have happened? We have come straight along the whole way."

"No, we have not. When I crossed that marsh, instead of waiting for me to come to you, you came to me. It must have been then; we turned in the wrong direction, and no doubt have been going away from, instead of towards Miller's Gate ever since."

Her words were followed by a short silence, which her companion broke by saying——

"What you say is quite possible, and I see no way of finding out where we are."

"Then what must we do? I suppose you have not a compass."

He shook his head, forgetting that she could not see him, and it was only when she repeated her question that he said—

"I beg your pardon; no, I have none, and even if I had I could not see it."

"I should suggest that we stay here until the fog shifts," she began, "only—"

"That would probably be until morning," he interrupted, "and I would not allow that."

"Our circumstances will soon be beyond your allowing, I daresay," she replied, indulging on her side in a little sarcastic smile, which was, of course, wholly thrown away. "Besides, I do not want to stay. You should let me finish speaking. I was going to say I should suggest staying if it were not for the Longworthys; they will be so uneasy, I left word that I should be back soon, this fog has come on, and they will believe me to be lost. I should not care what happened but for them."

"They will think you have sheltered in a cottage."

"They will know I should not; they will think I am alone, and Mrs. Longworthy will make herself ill with anxiety. I wish I could let them know."

"But you cannot. Then you are in favour of going on."

"I cannot tell. You know the country better than I do, why do you leave the decision to me? Have you no idea where we are?"

There was no anger in her voice, only patient resignation, as though she had made up her mind to the worst.

"At present I have not," he replied, and in his voice were unmistakable signs of anger, he was so annoyed at his own stupidity. If the mist would only rise a little, I might be able to tell."

As if in answer to his words, a puff of wind blew in their faces and made as it were a hole in the fog. In the clearing they saw dimly what looked like ghosts of hills looming above them, then the mist closed in again and they saw no more.

"I am afraid that was not much help," said Helen.

"No, but it showed possibilities. I have now hope of the mist clearing altogether."

"A sea mist would not," she replied; "but I am not familiar with your mists here."

They waited for some little time, but the fog did not disperse again. At last Helen said—

"Let us go on; I am cold."

"I can never blame myself enough for this," said Dr. Holme, as they moved on a little vaguely. "I never felt so angry with myself in my life."

"Do not feel distressed; it was my own fault for being persuaded to come."

"I am afraid you will never trust me again."

Although neither could see the figure of the other they accompanied their words, when they spoke, with the looks and gestures which we use in the daylight, and which add so much to the mere words we use. Helen's answer sounded rather severe to her companion, who did not see the smile with which she spoke, and they plodded on for some time until Helen stood still, saying—

"I am sorry, but I must rest. I can go no further."

"What a fool I am! Why did you not speak sooner?" said the doctor rather vehemently.

"What is the use of giving in before one is obliged," she answered a little faintly. Then after a short pause—

"Have you any brandy with you, doctor?"

He gave her his flask saying—

"I hope I have not dragged you on until you are fainting."

"No, I shall be ready to go on again in a minute, but I must rest a little. I think I will sit down here."

She sank upon the soft, damp heather as she spoke, and he, furious with himself for what had happened, said again—

"I cannot tell what you must think of me. It is of no use attempting to apologise, but I shall never forgive myself, never."

"I wish you would not think of me so much; it will do me no harm, though it is a little uncomfortable and disagreeable just now. It is far worse for you, who may be wanted in the village at this very moment. Even if we have to stay here till morning, it is only a few hours. When we are at home again, we shall look upon this wandering in the fog as an absurd adventure. I see no occasion for alarm or excitement. If only my friends knew that I was safe with you, I could wait for the fog to disperse with the greatest equanimity."

"I knew you were brave, but you have this evening given proof of extraordinary courage. Most women in your position would, I believe, have lost their heads with fear."

She laughed a little as she replied—

"Nay, really, I cannot let you calumniate women that way. Why should I not be calm, when both your and my own common-sense tell me there is not the least danger. It is only a new experience, and I like new experiences provided they are not too unpleasant."

"As this one promises to be."

"I did not say that, neither did I mean it. Perhaps if I repeat for the third time that all my anxiety is on behalf of our friends you will believe me. You know the line—

"What I tell you three times is true."

"You choose to laugh at me," he said, scurly.

"Oh, no; though even if I did that would be better than quarrelling, which I believe we were on the point of doing."

"I repeat what I said before," he replied obstinately. "You have given proof of extraordinary courage and presence of mind. If my admiration for you could be increased, the events of this evening would have done it."

"You are very kind," she replied, feeling a little bewildered, and rising to her feet as she spoke. "I had no idea of the exalted position I occupied in your esteem," she went on as lightly as she could.

"Is that true?" he asked, and she felt instinctively that he took a step towards her. "Is it true that you have not seen?"

"Seen what?" she asked quietly, though her heart had begun to beat very fast.

"Seen that I loved you," he said, speaking fast and vehemently. "I thought a woman knew by instinct when a man loved her, and yet you say you have seen nothing.

Again he stepped forward, and again she must have felt that he did so, for she said haughtily—

"Don't come one step nearer, sir."

She must have taken a step backward, for as she finished speaking she uttered a cry, there was a sound of stones rolling down a slope, a splash as if they fell into water, and then dead silence.

CARPET HOUSE.

Things of Beauty are a Joy Forever,

And any one who inspects the Carpets of Messrs. Clark & Thompson, St. George's Square, will have no hesitation in pronouncing them things of beauty. It is little over four years ago since Mr. Clark, a practical weaver from Dundee, Scotland, arrived in Canada and entered into partnership with Mr. Thompson. They started on Wyndham-street with one loom, manufacturing rag carpets. The keen business perception of Messrs. Clark & Thompson saw that there was likely to be money in the manufacture of Woolen Carpets and ventured the risk. The undertaking succeeded beyond expectation, and it was soon found necessary to remove to the larger premises now occupied by the firm on the west side of St. George's Square. There another extension was made to the business, namely, that of importing all kinds of carpet for retail purposes. The show room of Messrs. Clarrk & Thompson is now well worth looking at. Superior wool carpet, medium wool carpet, all kinds of union carpet, tapestry, brussels, three ply, &c., are on exhibition, besides oil cloths, all widths of stair carpets, many of the patterns being chaste and elegant. Recently they have entered into household furnishings and carry a large stock of bedding, tablings, cretonnes, fringes, blinds, &c. The front of the store since the firm took possession, has been greatly altered and decorated, so that it looks like another building. Energy and enterprise deserve support.

conceded the demands and 120 men resumed work. Twelve other employers have promised to accede.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—The South-western strike has been declared off by the General Executive Board of the Knights of Labor.

Labour Notes.

Large numbers of ex-railway strikers applied for work at St. Louis on Tuesday. The names of many were placed on the pay rolls. Some few who had committed depredations upon the Company's property were denied employment.

It is estimated there are 10,000 men on strike in Cincinnati. About 400 firms have yielded to the strikers demands.

The builders of Philadelphia have agreed to pay $2.75 for an eight-hour day's work.

The Chicago brewers have agreed to all the demands of their men, including free beer.

The furniture and cigar factories of San Francisco have adopted the eight hour system.

Eight hours will henceforth constitute a day's work at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago. Twenty thousand men are affected.

At Baltimore, Md., all the furniture manufacturing houses with one exception shut down Tuesday. The men demand eight hours.

At Cincinnati the freight handlers on all the roads except Little Miami are out. All the carriagemen are out, and eight hundred carpenters and planing mill men are out.

The Reliance Iron Works, Milwaukee, shut down Tuesday and 1,200 men are out. Some Poles made an attack on the works but a stream of water kept them at bay until the police arrived.

Fifteen hundred of the workmen employed by the Michigan Car Company, at Detroit, struck work yesterday for shorter hours.

The Belgian Government Labor Commission to enquire into the cause of the recent strikes, has appointed sub-committees to collect financial statistics, to investigate the relations of capital and labor, and to inquire into the condition of working men.

Martin Irons, it is said, has been expelled from the Knights of Labor for refusing to obey Powderley. Irons denies this.

The fifteen gilders employed by the Cobban Manufacturing Co., Toronto, have struck work because the Company refused their demands, which were, that there be one apprentice to four journeymen, and that an increase of 20 per cent. in wages be given all around.

At Newark, N. J., the demand of the carpenters for nine hours was refused, and 900 men went out.

The Massachusetts Senate has adopted a Bill providing for the settlement of labor troubles by arbitration.

At Louisville, Ky., yesterday 900 Union men employed in eleven furniture factories quit work. They demand ten hours pay for eight hours work.

A report received from the West Milwaukee railroad shops states that 1,500 strikers visited there, swarmed into the workshops and forced 2,000 men employed to abandon their work.

At Pittsburg strikes were inaugurated yesterday by the stonemasons, carpenters and plasterers for a reduction of hours. The number of men engaged in the movement is estimated at 3,500.

At New York the furniture makers, varnishers and wood carvers have struck for eight hours. The Furriers' Union, which also struck for eight hours, claims that four firms have given in.

At Philadelphia 700 cabinetmakers in forty-six shops went to work yesterday morning on the new time schedule of eight hours. In some cases an increase of wages was secured. Three hundred men remain out.

A general lockout began at Washington, D. C., against the eight hours demanded by the Bricklayers' Union. The Hodcarriers, the Stonecutters, Stove Rubbers, Painters, Plumbers and Carpenters, numbering in the aggregate over 2,000 men.

The journeymen carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and gas fitters throughout Troy, N. Y., struck yesterday against the hours of labor as fixed by their employers, and which were to be from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. They demand that the hours shall be from 7 to 4.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 4

In the Commons to-day several Government measures were read a third time with little or no discussion.

On motion of Mr. McLelan, the House went into committee on the resolution allowing the Government to take power to release five million dollars worth of bonds which are held as a guarantee for the operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway for ten years. After remarks by Mr. Blake, Sir Richard Cartwright, and Mr. Mills, the resolution was adopted.

Mr. McLelan having moved the House into Committee of Supply, Mr. Blake rose to call attention to the Irish question, and after a brief and pithy speech, moved an amendment favoring the principle of Home Rule. Sir John Macdonald objected to the resolution being moved without notice and as an amendment to supply, and offering to fix a day for the consideration of the matter. Mr. Blake accepted the offer to have next Thursday fixed, and agreed to make a substantive motion.

TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

LUNG BALSAM

THE remedy for curing Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. No better remedy for Whooping Cough can be found.

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy,—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR REMEDY.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure when all others fail.

Allen's Lung Balsam is now put up in Three Sizes,
Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should secure the Large $1 Bottles.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

"OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $3.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store.

AMONG the Salvation Army people who purpose attending the International Army Congress in London shortly are Captain Glover, of Palmerston, and Captain Gilroy, late of London. In the contingent will be a band of Mohawk, Tuscarora and Onondaga Indians from the Grand River reserve of the Six Nation Indians. There will be six or eight in the band, with Chief Porter in charge, all being members of the Army.

THE biggest snake story of the season comes from Bothwell. A resident of the city who visited that place last week reports that the proprietor of the Royal Hotel there while out shooting one day last fall killed two snakes, one of which had seven rattles. He also captured a black adder, which he took home and placed in a box. He has since retained it and alleges that a few days ago it shed its coat, and is now very large and in good health, although it has, while supplied with plenty of food, eat nothing so far as known for eight months. The next is now in order.

GOLDEN WEDDING.—Friday next will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gordon, of this city, and already the old couple have been the recipients of a number of remembrances. They were married on the 7th of May, 1836, in St. Andrew's Church, Holborne Hill, London, Eng. Thirty-one years of their married life was spent in the Old Country, they coming to Canada in 1867. Mr. Gordon, who worked in the MERCURY office for several years, is one of the oldest printers in the country, which it will be remembered was referred to in an address presented to him on his retirement a couple of years ago. He is now in his 74th year, while Mrs. Gordon is in her 82nd. That they may live to enjoy a number of years yet together is the wish of many old friends.

SELLING A WIFE.—The Norwood Register tells a startling story, for the truth of which it vouches. During a drinking bout, held in the woods near Norwood, one of the party conceived a sudden desire for a wife. A father and son were of the party and it was first proposed to sell the "old woman" to the lonesome bachelor, but she was rejected as being too old and lacking in "style and speed." The son's wife, to whom he had been married less than a year, was next offered and she filling the bill, the bargain was struck and price was fixed—"$3 cash, or $5 on time." The money was paid over, the woman was brought to the woods and the delivery of "goods" was made. A rope was fastened about the ankle of the woman and the husband placed the rope in the hands of the purchaser with a formula, duly witnessed, renouncing all right, title and claim to the wife in favor of the purchaser. The woman was then led away by her new possessor, who seemed proud of his bargain. The story is on improbable one, but the Register is sure of its truth. If it is true the conclusion must be come to that civilization is only skin desp and very thin-skinned at that.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.—There was a large gathering in Nassagaweya on Monday 26th of April, to pay the last tribute of respect to an old neighbor, Mrs. Boles, who died of dropsy early on Sunday morning last. Eliza Taylor emigrated to Canada with her father, mother, and brother, Thos. M. Taylor, from Yorkshire, England, in the year 1832, and was married to her now bereaved husband in 1835, about 4 years afterwards they settled on lot 26, 2nd con., Nassagaweya, and made themselves a comfortable home out of the forest, in which they have resided for 47 years. Out of a family of 14 children—7 sons and 7 daughters—11 are still living and feel the loss of a most affectionate mother. To these have been added 37 grand children and 4 great grand children. Mrs. Boles joined the Methodist church, then under the pastoral charge of Rev. T. M. Jeffers, 24 years since, and has lived the life of a consistent Christian. After a year of intense suffering the deceased lady has fallen asleep in the 69th year of her age, full of faith in Christ and hope of a glorious resurrection. Nine carriages loaded with relatives followed the hearse to the old Ebenezer burying ground where seemingly but a few years since we laid her daughter. Her father still lives a feeble old man on the verge of 90. Six generations of this family has the writer seen, and yet "has not attained unto the days of the years of the lives of his fathers." Fine Weather.

Probabilities—Light winds, fine weather, slightly higher temperatures.

PETITION PRESENTED.—Mr. Innes on Wednesday presented to Parliament a petition from 181 residents of Guelph, praying that no alteration be made in the Scott Act which would in any way impair its efficiency and enforcement.

ANOTHER of those disgusting affairs—cock-fighting—took place near the G. T. R. ducket this week, which was witnessed by a small and select few. One of the birds was badly used up. A stop should be put to these exhibitions.

AT noon to-day W. T. Tanner's horse ran away from Beattie & Dyson's saddler shop on Market Square, while a collar was being tried on. Before the animal was stopped one of the waggon shafts was broken.

MR. O. CLARK has received a machine from the States for making wooden picket wire fences. It is a novelty in its way and two men can turn out one hundred rods a day. The distance between the pickets can be regulated to any size.

QUITE a crowd assembled round the door of the express office this forenoon. The attraction was a hive of bees, a cross between the Italian and the black bee, for the Rev. Mr. Clarke, from Jas. Heddon, bee raiser, Dowagiach, Michigan.

AN old man of the name of Young has been found dead in his room in Stanley street, St. Thomas. Young laid in a stock of whiskey on Friday last against the coming in force of the Scott Act, and went in for a drunk with the above result. Let those who did the same in Guelph take warning.

A LAMB with wool as white as snow and six legs to go to school on was found on the farm of James Cattwood, 6th con., Minto, one morning last week. The lamb is looking well and has good prospects of a long life before it. It is certainly a great curiosity, having three legs projecting from the left shoulder.

SUMMER OPENING.—The Speed Skating Rink Company and the Guelph City Band have secured the full outfit of the Roller Rink, and will assume the management this evening, and continue throughout the season. The rink will be opened with a band concert. Arrangements are being made to have the electric light and other improvements will be made for the better comfort of the patrons.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE.—A Dutchman travelling from Guelph northward on Saturday, says the Elora Express, went up to the bar at a Palmerston hotel and called for his glass of lager. The law-abiding bar-keeper, of course, refused to give it to him, saying that the Scott Act was now in force. The German threw up his hands in despair and exclaimed "Mein Gott! Scott Act here, too? Scott Act in Guelph, Scott Act everywhere; where I now gats mein lagar?"

DEATH OF MR. B. FAIRLEY.—It is with regret that the MERCURY has to-day to chronicle the death of Mr. Benjamin Fairley, from inflammation of the lungs after a short illness of four days. For the past two weeks the deceased had been complaining of not feeling well, suffering from an attack of bronchitis, but no serious results were anticipated. He was about on Saturday as usual, and some time after retiring to bed he was taken suddenly sick with inflammation, and passed away yesterday afternoon after sustaining great suffering, which he bore with patience and fortitude. He was conscious almost to the last. Mr. Fairley was widely known in the city. His upright character and pronounced principles made him universally esteemed and respected by all who knew him. He was a consistent member of St. Andrew's church, and at the time of his death was on the Board of management. He also took a great interest in temperance work and was one of the leaders of this movement in the city. He also took a deep interest in all matters pertaining to the city, and being possessed of considerable literary ability often contributed to these columns spicy letters on matters of local import. He was a staunch Reformer and always worked hard for the cause, although his position as returning officer for No. 1 division of St. Patrick's Ward prevented him from so doing on election days. Mr. Fairley has been employed in Raymond's factory for the past 17 years, and during that long period won for himself the respect and good will of his fellow workmen, who felt his death keenly. As a mark of esteem the employees of the factory will attend the funeral in a body to-morrow afternoon, and so will also the United Workmen, Select Knights and Good Templars. The deceased was a native of Perthshire, Scotland, and was born on the 11th of October 1843, thus being 42 years of age at the time of his death. When a lad of six years he came to Canada with his parents. After a residence of a few years in Hamilton the family removed to Guelph in 1857, where he has lived ever since. He leaves a wife and 6 of a family—two boys and four girls—who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. By the death of Mr. Fairley the city loses one of its best citizens, a model working man, and an exemplary Christian.

LOCAL POULTRY SHOW.—A meeting of the poultry fanciers of the city was held in Mr. George Murton's office last night. Present, Messrs. George Murton, W. A. Buddaby, F. Sturdy, A. Tyson, J. Philpots, H. Sallows, J. B. Lang, J. Tyson, W. Stewart, R. Crowe and R. Mackenzie. Mr. George Murton acted as chairman and explained that the object of the meeting was to decide on whether it was advisable to hold a local show next season or not. It was decided to hold the show. Officers were then elected as follows: E. Morris, President; James Goldie, Vice-President; R. Mackenzie, Secretary-Treasurer. Directors—F. Sturdy, Jacob Tyson, F. Evans, W. A. Suddaby, J. B. Lang, John Crowe, P. Spragge, G. Bruce, jr., Wm. Stewart and James Anderson. The membership fee was placed at $1. It was decided that all entries be in single birds and that the entry fee be 50c each for poultry and 25c for pigeons, robins or cage birds; also that the premiums on the regular list consist of the entry fees, less ten per cent., the first prize to be 60 per cent. and the second 30 per cent.

EVERYTHING quiet in police circles.

THE old cemetery ground will be harrowed and re-plowed shortly.

THERE is quite a curiosity on the streets to-day as to the identity of the whiskey informers.

THE trees are rapidly donning their mantle of green, and will soon be in full foilage.

THE closing meeting of Knox Church Temperance Association will be held tomorrow (Friday) evening. A good programme has been prepared. d1

THE Sisters of St. Joseph wish to return thanks to the members of the Guelph Catholic Union for the sum of sixty dollars, being the amount received by them from the proceeds of their entertainment of March 17th. d1

MESSRS. A. ROBERTSON and Jas. Goldie, jr., returned to-day from Brewster's Lake, Osprey Township, where they were trout fishing. They and a party of three or four more caught about three hundred trout weighing from half a pound to three and a half pounds. They say they never saw prettier trout in their lives.

DULL.—Business in the city has been dull for a few days. Some attribute this to the Scott Act, but such can hardly be the case, as the Act has only been little over a week in operation, and its effects of doing good or ill cannot yet be ascertained. The reason, undoubtedly, is that farmers are busily engaged with their spring work and cannot spare time to come into the city, except when something important has to be transacted.

Ontario Creamery.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the patrons of the Ontario creamery, in connection with the Agricultural College, took place at the City Hall to hear what Prof. Robertson had to say about the creamery, and also to know under what conditions the creamery was to be run. There were some thirty present, among whom was Mr. James Laidlaw, M.P.P. Mr. William Whitelaw was appointed chairman and Mr. John McCorkindale secretary, when the meeting was opened.

Mr. Jas. W. Robertson, Professor of Dairying, then came forward and explained to the patrons what were the benefits to be derived from patronizing the creamery. He said that every farmer in the section should be interested in the success of the creamery, because stock raising and dairying offers safe and regular profits to the farmer, while they tend to increase the facility of his farm. There is evident advantage in each farmer raising most of his own stock, and patronizing the creamery does not interfere with that. Heifer calves raised by hand develop into as profitable dairy cows as when sucked by the cow. The experience of intelligent and observant farmers proves that steer calves raised on skimmed milk are as good at two years as those raised on whole milk. There may be an apparent advantage in the calf raised on whole milk at the end of the first fall, but that advantage is lost by careful feeding of the hand fed calf during the winter and succeeding year. All calves should receive whole milk until six weeks or two months old, when warm sweet skimmed milk and linseed may be substituted with advantage. By following this plan from $15 to $22 per ordinary cow may be realized from sales of cream, besides having a calf of nearly equal value in the fall. In comparing home butter dairying with cream selling, a lesson may be learned from the success that has attended cheese making under the factory system, contrasted with its comparative failure under the home making system. A splendid reputation for Canadian cheese has been gained by its uniformly fine quality, and equally high and valuable reputation may be won by our butter products under the creamery system and under that system only. The value of the butter per pound would be greatly enhanced, and each individual dairyman would be enabled to realize his share of that increase. Creamery butter will bring in the market on the average at least six cents per pound more than ordinary dairying butter, leaving a margin in favor of the farmer, after paying all expenses of drawing and manufacturing butter. Thus the actual wealth brought into the district and country from sales of creamery butter would average 40 per cent above the amount realized from the sales of an equal quantity of dairy butter. The by-product of skimmed milk is also worth very much more for stock raising purposes than by the old hand setting system. Mr. Robertson stated that the basis of running the creamery would be something as follows: The creamery would be managed economically in the interest of and for the benefit of its own patrons. It can have substantial educational value for the farmers of the country only as it proves itself profitable and satisfactory to its own patrons. The intention is to distribute among the patrons the net proceeds from sales of butter and butter-milk, after deducting manufacturing expenses. A pro tem rate of payment at the rate of 14c. per pound for butter made during May, June, July, and August, and 15c. for September and October, has been fixed. All surplus over the pro tem rate will be distributed among patrons at the end of the season in the form of a dividend. A balance sheet will be issued to every patron showing the total receipts and all items of expenditure in connection with the concern. In regard to the providing and handling of milk Mr. Robertson further urged that dry hands only be used in milking, and that milk be not strained through strainer pails but through detached strainers. Cows should be milked and milk should be kept only where the surrounding air is pure. The odors from a barn yard or other like source will readily impart objectionable flavor to the milk if it be exposed to the influence. Cans should be washed and scalded with boiling water frequently. He further recommended the appointment of a Patron's Committee to audit the accounts and said committee to be available for consultation in regard to sales of butter.

A general conversation then ensued, when it was brought out that the creamery would start on the 17th.

The following Advisory and Auditing Committee was then appointed:—Messrs. D. McFarlane, Aberfoyle; P. McQuillan, Guelph Township; John Crosby, Marden; Alex. McIntosh, lot No. 7, Mosborough; and James Lennie, Guelph. It was decided that the first meeting of this committee should be called by Mr. Robertson, after which the committee could fix their own dates of meeting.

The meeting then adjourned when contracts were received for the delivery of milk and were awarded to-day (Thursday).

Mandalay Captured.

LONDON, May 5.—News from Burmah to-day shows that the natives with the assistance of the Dacoits have temporarily got the better of the British army of occupation. One despatch says that the insurgents have taken Mandalay and burned 4,000 houses. Among the buildings destroyed were the Chinese and Siamese bazaars. The hostility of the natives who remain loyal to the dethroned King Thebaw to the Chinese is intense, because of China's openly avowed endorsement of Great Britain's seizure of Burmah. The officers commanding the British forces have telegraphed Lord Dufferin that they are powerless to prevent a rebellion of natives, and have urgently asked for reinforcements.

Foreign.

The Belgian Government will ask for a loan of $8,600,000 to provide work for the unemployed.

The Powers have presented a joint note to Greece, stating that the reply to the ultimatum is unsatisfactory.

Baseball.

Frank Sheiback and Jumbo Wally Miller are just as good as expected. Both play their positions finely.

Dan Mulholland, the Italian, and Ben Stephens will probably report to-day.

"They're good ones" remarked President Sleeman, "and the remainder of my players are just as good," after he had seen Sheiback, Millar, George and Williams practicing yesterday.

The First Scott Act Cases.

Chief of Police Randall on Wednesday afternoon, armed with a search warrant, visited the Commercial Hotel in search of liquor. In the bar he found a lager beer bottle filled with a mixture which evidently contained a large proportion of intoxicating liquor. In a room off the bar he found a lager beer barrel, which had the appearance of having been recently emptied. The cellar was next entered and there were found forty-four bottles of ale, a large barrel which had an appearance as if the beer had just been run off, and a barrel which was nearly filled with cider. The Chief hailed an express waggon and had all these evidences of infraction removed to the Public Station. Thos. Middleton, who had rented the bar from Chris. Reinhardt, and James Welsh, who it is stated had in turn bought out Middleton, have both been summoned to defend themselves against charges of illegally selling intoxicating liquor. John Doran, of the Central Hotel, has also been summoned for the same offence. The three cases will come up before Police Magistrates on Friday. Chief Randall says he has strong evidence to bring forward for the prosecution. These being the first cases under the Scott Act in Guelph will possess a great deal of public interest, and there will likely be a hard fight among legal counsel.

INSPECTING THE O. A. C.—The Advisory Board, appointed at the recent sitting of the Local Legislature in connection with the Agricultural College, arrived in Guelph yesterday and are inspecting the farm today and laying out work to be done, etc. There are five members of the Board present, namely:—Messrs. J. S. Smith, Collingwood; John McMillan, Huron; John I. Hobson, Mosborough; E. Jeffs, Bond Head, Simcoe; and E. B. Boyce, Northumberland. The Hon. A. M. Ross, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Mr. Blue, Deputy Commissioner, are also present.

Rockwood Correspondence.

COPYRIGHTED.—During a discussion the other day as to the propriety of awarding medals to the volunteers for their services in suppressing the late rebellion, a local punster of Democratic tendencies expressed the opinion that it was quite proper to reward the volunteers with a medal, but he thought it was a case in which the Imperial Government had no right to meddle.

FASTIDIOUS.—A couple of young gentlemen (gentlemen mind you) are advertising in a Toronto journal for a limited number of lady (?) correspondents. The young man who is obliged to go outside of Rockwood to seek the companionship of intelligent girls, is certainly to be pitied. In the meantime it would be interesting to know if our worthy postmaster is aware of the use to which "Box 14" is being prostituted. It is possible that we may be on the verge of another "Box 98" scandal, similar to that which the Globe recently unearthed in Montreal.

EXCHANGE OF PULPITS.—Rev. Mr. Swann occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, and Rev. Mr. Strachan preached to Mr. Swann's congregation in the Methodist Church.

PASSED.—Mr. Daniel Strachan has just returned from Kingston where he has been attending Queen's University during the winter months. At the close of the term he passed his first year's examination very successfully, taking with his first year's work one subject belonging to the second year. This is very creditable when we consider that he had been absent five years from any school previous to passing his matriculation examination last fall. Mr. Strachan is evidently one of the coming men.

ARTISTIC.—Mr. H. R. Shaw, artist, has just completed a fine portrait, in oil, of Mr. Robert Pasmore, sen., which, as a work of art and as a faithful reproduction of the original, reflects great credit upon the artist. The picture is on exhibition in the postoffice.

Rockwood, May 4, 1886.

Wellesley Correspondence.

CONCERT.—On Friday evening, 30th ult., a concert was held in Morton's hall, Wellesley, under the auspices of the Teachers' Association of Wellesley and Wilmot. A heavy downfall of rain rendered it almost impossible for persons living at a distance to attend, but notwithstanding the rain and bad roads there was a very fair audience, who were amply repaid for coming out, as those who took part sustained their previous reputation.

TEACHERS' MEETING.—A number of the teachers of Wilmot and Wellesley met in the Central School, Wellesley, to discuss the best method of teaching the youth under their care and for mutual improvement generally. Several subjects were warmly discussed, and no doubt there present gained additional information and had clearer conceptions of the subjects than they had previously. A spirited debate took place on the question as to the advisability of doing away with the present school trustee system. Messrs. Donnenworth and Anderson supported the affirmative, while Messrs Hagey and Filkins upheld the system. The committee appointed to give decision on the question by a vote of 4 to 1 declared that the affirmative view had been most ably sustained.

Reid & Bayne has a window dressed with Millinery, Silks &c., which is very artistically done. Crowds stood admiring it last night. Mr. Wyness, formerly with Mr. Bucham, is the artist. d3

The Scott Act and Taxation.

Wherever the Scott Act has been discussed those opposed to it have found an argument which has weighed with people whose actions are inspired for the most part by sordid considerations. They have taken the ground that the financial welfare of a community is of paramount importance and its moral standing is as nothing in comparison. The farmer has been told that he will not get so good a price for his barley in Scott Act Counties, which is not true, as the American market regulates the price. Townsfolk have been informed that country people will not market nor buy in their midst, but that they will go to other places which are under license law, as if the farmers came to town for the purpose of drinking and not of doing business. Both people in town and country have been frightened with the statement that the abolition of licenses means the increasing of taxation, and attention has now been directly called to this aspect of the question in Guelph.

The License Commissioners had asked the City Council for an appropriation to enforce the Scott Act, and on Monday evening a report of the Finance Committee recommending that $1,500 be set apart for that purpose was adopted, although the City Solicitor has been asked to give his opinion as to its legality. This appears to be a large sum of money to enforce the Act, but when it is understood that it is two-thirds (the Government paying the other third) of the total amount for the whole district under the Commissioners, comprising Guelph City and Township, Puslinch and Eramosa, it will not seem so big. No doubt the Government will apportion an amount to each municipality according to population and the sum which the city will be responsible for will not exceed $700 or $800. As a set-off to this there will be the fines to meet the expenditure, so that in reality there may not be five dollars spent out of the $1,500.

During the discussion in the Council some Aldermen who are notoriously opposed to the Act took occasion to raise an alarm by proposing a material increase in the current assessment rates. The object of course is to frighten people into the belief that the Scott Act is going to greatly increase taxation. The fallacy of this may be easily seen when we state that a rate of slightly over one and a half mills on the dollar would not only make up the $3,000 lost in revenue from licenses, but would provide for the $1,500 appropriation as well. If it were not for the $10,000 debt incurred through the Provincial Exhibition in 1883, the Council might actually be in a position to reduce the rate in 1887 by reason of the fact that the last payment on the Municipal Loan Fund account, amounting to something like $5,000, will be paid off this year. Everybody knows that the hotel-keepers received nearly all the benefit of that $10,000 expenditure so that they have no reason to complain. During the present year there are extras to be provided for such as the bonus to Burr Bros., the Provincial Exhibition grant and that to the Fat Stock Show which all have their effect upon taxation.

Temperance people are willing to shoulder their share of the burden for administering the Scott Act, and surely the drinking population ought to be far more so because of the thousands of dollars they will save in the aggregate through the removal of drink. At any rate it is sufficient for the Council to know that a majority voted for the Act, and as majorities rule, that it must be enforced and given a fair trial whatever the cost. It would be just as reasonable for supporters of a revenue tariff to be exempt from paying protective prices, as it would be for opponents of the Scott Act to be relieved of paying for enforcing the Scott Act. Yet it was the bright idea of some of the Aldermen that the temperance people should pay the cost. Most people look at it in the light that the Scott Act is law and that the Council are obliged to enforce it just the same as they do any other law.

PROVINCIAL Secretary Fielding gave notice on Wednesday in the Nova Scotia Assembly, of a series of resolutions for the withdrawal of the Province from the Canadian Confederation, and the formation of a Maritime Union, composed of the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. Thus are the extravagance and interference of the Dominion Government telling in their effect on the Provinces by the sea.

THE Liberals have achieved a signal victory in the County of Vercheres, Que., by the election of their candidate, Mr. Bernard, for the Provincial Legislature, over Mr. Cartier, Conservative, by 130 of a majority. The Ottawa Tories are greatly discouraged and disgusted at the result of the election. They were well organized, had a strong candidate, and lots of money. The Federal Ministry exerted all their influence, with the result that the Tory majority of thirty-six has been turned into a Liberal majority of 130. At the last election the Liberal candidate was 36 behind, but got the seat on the recount. At the last Dominion election the Hon. Mr. Geoffrion's majority was only nineteen.

A REFORM convention to nominate a candidate to contest Haldimand in the interest of the Reform party, owing to the vacancy caused by the death of the late member for the House of Commons, Mr. David Thompson, was held at Cayuga on Wednesday. There was a very large attendance, every polling subdivision in the riding being fully represented. A resolution was placed on record expressing the deep sorrow of the Reform party at the death of the late member and sympathy with the bereaved family. Several candidates were nominated but all withdrew except Messrs. C. W. Colter and Adam A. Davis, the former of whom was selected by ballot amid great enthusiasm. Mr. Colter is a young barrister of recognized talent and ability. He is well known in educational circles, having been at one time a very successful school teacher, and afterwards inspector.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 5.

In the Commons Sir H. Langevin introduced a Bill to prevent the unauthorized construction of works on navigable waters.

Sir John Macdonald said that the Government was considering the question of issuing scrip to certain Halfbreeds from whom scrip had been withheld for participation in the rebellion. He also stated that certain Halfbreeds who had crossed into the United States near the Turtle Mountains had been informed that if they came back and behaved well they would not be disturbed.

Mr. McLelan said that the gross debt of the Dominion, on the 1st of May was over $281,000,000, and the net debt over $205,000,000, and the floating debt over $14,000,000.

Sir John Macdonald said that another contract had been granted within the last few days to I. G. Baker & Co.

Mr. Carling said that he believed the amount of the goods detained at Halifax on the way to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition was very small. He stated that the total tonnage of the Canadian exhibits was three thousand tons, and that the cost would be about $160,000.

Bills founded on both sets of Canadian Pacific Railway resolutions were introduced and read a first time.

Mr. White's Dominion Lands Bill was passed through committee.

Mr. Foster's Steamboat Inspection Act was read a second time and passed through committee.

The House then went into supply and passed several items.

The Last Year, 1885.

After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly. Pain cannot stay where it is used. The name is Fluid Lightning. Sold by Thomas S. Petrie, Druggist.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

NEW ARRIVALS,

A magnificent assortment of Flouncing Laces in Oriental and Spanish in Black, White, Cream and Baize.

A visit to our Store will interest you and it will give us much pleasure to show our goods, as we are convinced styles and prices are right.

GENTLEMEN,

We have engaged in the department you are interested in, the services of Mr. J. R. McKENZIE, a man we can safely say unequalled in his line in the Dominion. We know what we assert in this matter, and we are certain that he will give the very best satisfaction when you favor us with an order. Our styles and prices are right and our fits are the best.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

GRAPES FROM THORNS.

For a moment the doctor stood silent and stunned, almost waiting to hear Helen's voice again; but as no sound came out of the fog, and all was dark around him, he cried in a voice of agony—

"Mrs. Moore! Mrs. Moore!"

Echo caught up the words and flung them back to him out of the distance, and that was all the answer he got.

A feeling of horror crept over him, filling his heart with desperation. In this impenetrable fog he could do nothing, could form no idea of what had happened to his companion, save the vague one that she had fallen; and from the time he had heard the stones rolling, he feared she had fallen some distance, down a place at the bottom of which there was water.

He called again, with no more result than the first time, and after waiting what seemed like hours for her answer, he felt as if he were going out of his mind—the uncertainty was so awful, the feeling that he could do nothing to help her so maddening, and the consciousness that whatever had happened was entirely his fault, so hideous. Since there was nothing to be done, he tried to think. He pressed his hands to his head and tried to picture to himself the whole extent of the moors as he knew them, and to gain in that way some idea of where they were. On what part of the hills was there a place where you might fall some distance and which had a pool of water at the bottom? Before long the truth flashed into his mind. In the heart of the hills, some four miles from Miller's Gate, was an old disused stone quarry, larger and deeper than any which were still worked, and in its hollow was a small deep pool. They must have wandered from the path until they had reached this place. Helen must have been sitting unconsciously on its very brink, and an impetuous word from him had sent her to her destruction.

A groan broke from his lips as he remembered how sleep and sheer were the sides, with no jutting shelf of rock to break the fall. Whoever slipped at the top could not stay his fall until he reached the bottom, and at the bottom was water.

In the anguish of the thought he felt inclined to spring from the brink; or if he took a few steps forward, he must come to the edge and fall as she had done. Only one thing held him back, the desperate hope that some chance had intervened in Helen's favour; that she was not dead, only stunned, and again he cried out—

"Mrs. Moore, answer me for God's sake, if you are alive!"

This time he was answered. A voice, low and faint, and how far beneath him he could not tell, said—

"Dr. Holme, is that you?"

"Yes, it is I. Where are you, in heaven's name?"

"I do not know. I fell. I do not think I have fallen to the bottom. I seem to have caught in a tree, but I dare not move for fear of falling again."

"Do not move; whatever you do, do not move. Are you hurt?"

"I can't tell; my back hurts me, but that may be because I am in this position."

"Thank God you are alive," he said, almost with a sob in his voice. "How can I get to you? Tell me."

"Do not attempt to get to me; you would slip, and might fall in a worse place than I have done. Stay where you are."

"It is all I can do, I fear; but I would give a world to help you."

"You cannot. I must stay here till the fog lifts."

"It will not lift before morning now."

She did not answer at once. Presently she spoke again.

"Dr. Holme?"

"I am here."

"Do you know this place?"

"I think so," he replied with some hesitation.

"Could I fall further? and if I did, where should I fall to?"

He was silent; he dared not tell her of the water.

"Are you afraid or in danger of falling?" he asked at last, evasively.

"Not that I know of; I only wanted to know," she replied, unwilling, since he could not help her, to tell him of the faintness which was creeping over her again, and that she feared if she fainted to lose her hold.

Before long she spoke again.

"I have an idea."

"What is it? If I could only do something. This inaction is maddening."

"If you know this place could you not find your way to Miller's Gate and tell them at the Rectory what has happened? I cannot bear to think of their anxiety. You might bring help too. I do not think you can get me up from here by yourself."

He had been afraid some such idea would occur to her, and he had not the least intention of leaving her; so when she spoke he laughed bitterly and mirthlessly, saying—

"A splendid idea truly! I can understand your wanting to be rid of me, but I am not going to leave you here alone to lighten the anxiety of all the Longworthys in creation. What if they are anxious? Let them be anxious. It will do them no harm. They have nothing to reproach themselves with."

"What is the use of talking in that way?" came the answer in a faint, tired voice. "You can do me no good by staying here, and you can by going. You will need help to take me home. The longer you wait before going for it the longer I shall have to lie here."

"I will not leave you, however you argue. Some one may pass by."

"Is there a road past here, or any house in the neighborhood?"

"No," was his unwilling answer.

"Then how could anyone pass? I know you will feel better if you have something to do, and it would relieve me immensely."

"I will not leave you," he repeated doggedly; "you might die while I was away."

"Why more than when you are here? And you could do nothing for me if I did. Besides, I am not going to do any such thing; why should I?"

He made no answer; he would not tell her that if her present hold gave way, and she fell any further, she must of necessity be killed."

There was silence for some time after this: cold, and the discomfort of her position, caused Helen to tremble so violently that she knew her voice would be misleading if she spoke, so for that reason she was silent; she was also seeking fresh means of persuading her companion to go. Dr. Holme scarcely dared to speak. Now that the momentary impulse which had prompted him to speak had passed, he could not conceive how he could so far forget himself as to say what he had done in such a place and at such a time. Added to this he was firmly resolved not to go away, so he kept silent. But Helen did not speak for so long that at last he said,

"Mrs. Moore?"

"Yes."

"I feared you had fainted again."

"No; I wish I knew what time it is."

"I am sorry I cannot tell you, but I have no more matches."

"You will not go?"

"No," he repeated, obstinately.

"Then you are a coward," said Helen, almost sharply.

Even in the darkness he felt his face burn and tingle as if someone had given him a blow on his cheek, and he said hotly—

"What do you mean?"

"You were a coward to speak the words which led to my fall, and after having pretended you were going mad because you could not help me, when I point out a way you refuse to take it. I believe you dare not go for fear of meeting with a similar accident elsewhere; you are a miserable coward."

"That," he said drearily, "is your last resource; you can say nothing worse. But, taunt me as you like, I will not leave you. God knows my life is not so attractive that I should shrink from risking it at your bidding. I prefer to risk my reputation, and will not leave you."

"Then do not speak to me again."

"As you will."

These were the last words which passed between them on the subject. Dr. Holme had been seated on the heather; he presently rose and began to walk to and fro ten paces each way, which he counted out loud, partly that he might not go too far, and partly from an obstinate wish that Helen, though she would not speak to him, should yet know he was there. Helen was silent because she could not speak. As her recollection of what had led to her fall became clearer she felt a growing horror of her companion, and she began presently to feel as if her mind was wandering. In addition she had an almost irresistible desire to give way to hysterical crying, and the effort she made to restrain her tears wearied her. She did not speak, therefore, because she could not.

So the long hours passed slowly and imperceptibly by, and at last a fresh breeze blew in Helen's face, the mist began to disperse in light, white wreaths and the surrounding hills and nearer objects became visible, first dimly, then more clearly as the daylight strengthened.

TEMPERANCE WORK.

Resolutions Passed by the Ottawa Branch of the Alliance.

TORONTO, May 5.—A meeting of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Temperance Alliance was held in Toronto last night. Rev. Dr. Griffin was present from Guelph.

The first resolution, moved by Mr. McLaren, seconded by Mr. Harrison, was to the effect that any measure of violation which may have marked the operations of the Scott Act during the past year does not establish the unsoundness of prohibition nor any inherent weakness in the Scott Act and that the meeting place on record its sense of the gross unfairness of the condition under which the trial is being made, and its profound regret that such open encouragement is given to violation of the law and so little respect shown by constituted authority for the will of the people.

F. S. Spence, seconded by Prof. Clarke, moved that the meeting, while acknowledging its gratitude to the Provincial Government for its recognition of responsibility to administer the law by the creation of Commissioners and Inspectors in the Scott Act counties would strongly press upon its consideration the permanent importance of having said officers in sympathy with the law which they are appointed to administer, and also of the vital importance of appointing Police Magistrates in the several counties, thereby relieving the Justices of the Peace from the terrorism too successfully adopted, and securing the due observance of the law.

The third resolution, moved by Rev. John Potts, seconded by Ald. McMillan, was that the meeting re-affirms its faith in total prohibition as the true remedy for the evils of the liquor traffic, and renews its demand upon the Dominion Parliament to provide the necessary legislation, and urges upon all temperance workers and electors to press upon their representatives in Parliament their demands in this direction. The mover said not even the Scott Act would satisfy them. They wanted total prohibition.

The next resolution was that this meeting cordially endorses the recommendation of the Council of the Dominion Alliance respecting electoral action, and strongly urges upon all temperance electors throughout the Province to adopt the constitution of the Temperance Electoral Union and to organize the vote to secure the return to all municipal and parliamentary positions of known and professed prohibitionists. It was moved by Rev. B. B. Keefer, seconded by J. J. McLaren.

The fifth and last resolution, moved by Rev. W. S. Griffin, of Guelph, and seconded by Rev. B. B. Keefer, called upon all temperance men, all Christian philanthropists, all friends of progress in every part of Ontario to come forward with such a generous and prompt response to the Alliance's appeal for funds as will enable that organization to carry out its progressive plans, and so ensure the organization and work that are so imperatively required. The reverend mover regretted that in Guelph thirteen families had been compelled, as he had learned, to quit the city because of the Scott Act. It was truly a sad thing. Nevertheless, the rev. gentleman thought that if the number had been forty instead of thirteen who had lived upon the hard-earned money of the laboring men the sooner they left the better. He (the speaker) hoped that in time things would be so that no mayor or alderman or constable could hold office unless he was a total abstainer.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

When we say McGregor's Speedy Cure is the only perfect cure for dyspepsia, liver complaints, indigestion and impure blood, we are telling plain facts, of which hundreds upon hundreds can testify who have been restored to perfect health by its use. We would therefore advise you strongly if you are a subject of any of the above troubles to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial and be convinced. It is sold in 50c. and $1.00 bottles at Thomas S. Socialistic Riots in Both Cities.

ARREST OF THE CHICAGO LEADERS.

Fully 100 Sufferers by the Fight in that City.

FIVE KILLED AT MILWAUKEE.

CHICAGO, May 5.—The feeling to day was one of indescribable horror on all hands at the atrocity of last night. Up to the present there has been more or less public sympathy with the strikers, but now, while it is recognized that they were not the actors or even the instigators in last night's bloody work, an opinion is widely expressed that by precipitating the labor troubles they gave occasion for the outbreak and, therefore, cannot be held wholly irresponsible.

In the conflict two officers, namely, Thos. Reddin and Jos. M. Diegan, were killed outright, while John Barrett, Mike Sheehan, Jacob Hansen, Nelson Hansen, Lawrence Murphy and Chas. Miller are dying. Besides these forty-five constables were more or less seriously wounded. It is impossible to form even an estimate of the wounded among the attacking force, as many were picked up and carried off by their friends. Three men, however, are known to have been killed and five probably fatally wounded while upwards of twenty more bably hurt are in the hospital. It is more than probable that the number of killed and wounded in the ranks of the Socialists would foot up at least to a total of fifty, making more than a hundred placed hors de combat in this desperate affray.

There were two hundred policemen engaged, forming five companies of forty each. When the front column, commanded by Inspector Bonfield, reached the speakers' waggon at the Haymarket the Inspector ordered a halt and then said, "In the name of the State of Illinois I command this crowd to disperse." As the words left his mouth a bomb was fired from the opening of an alley and fell between the first two double columns of police. The instant it struck the ground it exploded with a terrible, sullen roar. Men fearfully wounded and dying fell on all sides, and twenty-nine mangled officers were groaning on the ground. A gatling gun could not have cut wider swathes. A scene of horror followed. The officers were demoralized for an instant and broke ranks, but almost instantly recovered their presence of mind. Before, however, they had had time to realize the destruction which had been wrought in their ranks the crowd of Anarchists gathered in front and on either side of them and opened fire with revolvers at almost point blank range. The first volley of the mob was quite as fearful in its effects as was the explosion of the bomb, but the officers did not lose their presence of mind. Orders flew thick and fast from the captains and lieutenants and within the briefest possible space of time they charged the murderous assassins on every hand, dealing death and destruction to them with their revolvers. The Anarchists did not sustain the charge an instant but fled as soon as they could distinguish the blue coats and bright buttons of the officers through the smoke from their revolvers. The cracking of these weapons was incessant for five minutes, and only once was anything like a volley fired by either side, and this was fired by the Anarchists. When the officers emptied their pistols they used them as clubs, and numerous skulls were fractured. The mob plunged away into the darkness with a yell of rage and fear. It was an indescribable scramble for life. Scores of men were knocked down by those behind them and trampled upon like cattle in a car unable to rise.

After the Anarchists had been dispersed the police set to work to look after their wounded and dying companions. Two of them were found where the bomb exploded, both so desperately wounded as to be past hope of recovery. About thirty others were found lying on the pavement in the vicinity suffering from pistol shot wounds in their limbs or their bodies, and unable to stir. Numbers of the mob lay around wounded and dying.

Mayor Harrison has issued a decree forbidding meetings at which life and property are threatened, and warning all persons to keep off the streets after dark and not to gather in crowds on the streets or on vacant lots.

All night long the police searched for the ringleaders of the bloody revolt. At 8 o'clock this morning Spies, Fielding and Schawb were found in a close room in the office of the Arbeiter Zeitung. They were in consultation when the officers came upon them, but made no resistance to arrest. They were taken to the Central Police Station. On searching the office, inflammatory circulars headed "Revenge," "Workingmen to Arms" and "Attention, Workingmen," were found, with the form in type. These were locked up in the Central Station, as evidence that Spies and Schwab directly incited to riot and bloodshed. Another arrest was also made, a man being found in the office who produced a large revolver and a dirk knife. In the office were discovered several boxes of dynamite, a number of red flags and incendiary banners. They were all seized. On the door leading up to the office of the Arbeiter Zeitung a notice is posted now that the paper will not be published for the next few days.

A raid was made this morning upon Zept's Hall and a lot of muskets, red flags and German Socialist publications seized.

The police raided an establishment kept by C. H. Bissell on South Clarke street this afternoon, carrying away ninety guns and revolvers. It was declared that Russell had been supplying the Socialists with guns.

The dynamite found in the Arbeiter Zeitung office was taken to the lake front and exploded. The effect was terrible. A piece about the size of a hen's egg was placed in a coupling link and exploded. The heavy iron was shattered into fine bits.

A sister of August Spies came to the Central Station to-day and after considerable talking the detectives elicited a confession that a third brother who was in last night's fracas was lying dangerously ill at home. It is thought he will die. Mrs. Person, wife of the fugitive Anarchist, was arrested this afternoon and locked up.

The inquest over the remains of Police Officer Diegan, who was murdered last night, concluded at 8:40 this evening. Chris. Spies and Michael Schwab, two of the prisoners, made satements in their own behalf which damaged rather than helped them. Schwab admitted that he did not believe in a personal God. He was asked a great many questions and as they were plied to him he grew pale and excited and the perspiration stood on his forehead. August Spies did not make a statement. The jury were out half an hour before agreeing upon a verdict. They then recommended that all the prisoners be held for murder.

A mob of 6,000 to 8,000 assembled near the corner of Eighteenth street and Centre avenue at noon yesterday and raided Rosenfeldt's drug store, carrying off everything portable. They then raided a liquor store in the vicinity. Women and children joined in the raid. The police dispersed them finally, but the mob appeared insane, the male portion yelling, females screaming and boys whistling as they rushed into the place. In less time than it takes to tell it the store was completely gutted. Rioters drank up all the liquor. The next point of attack was Weiskoff's saloon. It is under a hall where the Anarchists have been holding meetings. Just why this place was visited is not apparent except on the ground that the members of the mob were frenzied. Barrels of liquor were rolled out, heads broken out and the rioters revelled in the liquid. Bottles of whisky, wine and beer were consumed and then the work of demolishing the fixtures was proceeded with. Not a table or chair was left unbroken, the ice chest and counter being split up into kindling wood. Lieut Sheppard with a large force of men were quickly summoned and the mob ran like frightened ours. After driving them from the streets the police retired leaving a guard to preserve order.

Supitar, one of the arrested Bohemian rioters, gives the following account of Spies, the Communist, and a number of other speakers who addressed the meeting. We were excited at the time and the speeches made by these men only made us more so. When at last Spies told us that the only way for us to gain our point would be to murder our oppressors and destroy their property we loudly cheered. At last he pointed to McCormick's factory and said we should start there. He then jumped off the cart on which he was standing while speaking and walked toward the factory, we all following him. At the gate we met the workmen employed in that factory and taking them for non-union men we commenced to throw stones at them. Here I noticed something which has cured me of following a braggart's advice. As soon as the trouble began the man who urged us to deeds of violence, jumped on a Blue Island car and went home, leaving us to reap the fruit which he had sown. Well we were fools and will have to take the consequences. I am cured of my foolishness without the punishment I expect to receive. All I wish is that the man Spies, and the likes of him shall get what they deserve."

SCRANTON, Pa., May 5.—General Master Workman Powderly vigorously denounces the Chicago Anarchists and their desperate work. In an interview he said:—"The scenes of bloodshed and disorder which occurred in Chicago are disgraceful, uncalled for and deserving of the severest condemnation and punishment. Honest labour is not represented in the ranks of those who array themselves under the red flag of anarchy, which is an emblem of blood and destruction."

Over $10,000 was subscribed in Chicago yesterday for the families of the wounded and dead.

Seventeen hundred men at the Deering Harvester Works, Chicago, stopped work without notice or warning and without having made any demands.

A small riot occurred in the town of Lake Tuesday night. Two policemen were badly hurt and the leader of the rioters, named Blank, was shot through the heart.

The railroad situation at Chicago is further complicated by a strike of all freight handlers on the Lake Shore Road. The switchmen of the same road have decided not to handle any freight cars loaded by persons other than the strikers.

Three thousand men employed in the great shops at Pullman went out this morning, joining a 1,000 who quit yesterday. There are no men working in the town to day, except men employed in the truck shops, who do not number more than five hundred. Between 300 and 400 police have been armed.

MILWAUKEE, May 5.—Report from Bay View says a crowd of rioters commenced to form at 8.30 o'clock, and moved towards the mills. Six military companies marched out and took a position in front of the works. As the crowd approached paying no attention to the orders to "halt," the word "fire" was given, and a volley of bullets was poured into the crowd. The rioters made a hasty retreat, when it was learned five lives had been sacrificed. Several persons were wounded. One of the killed was a schoolboy.

While the trouble was going on at Bay View a large crowd of Socialists and strikers assembled at Milwaukee Garden, and were preparing to carry out a programme of riot and destruction. Sixty policemen and three infantry companies were despatched there and cleared the premises. The mob then reassembled and proceeded to Best's brewery. A disturbance took place there in which it became necessary to resort to firing. The city is in a state of excitement equalled at no time since the present trouble commenced.

The rioters, or those of Polish nationality at least, proceeded to sack the residence of Capt. Borchardt of the Kosciusko Guard. The residence is a complete wreck. The infuriated Polanders then assembled near the Polish Church and it is rumoured decided to arm themselves and make a raid on the Militia.

TO COLLECT THE CREAM.—The names of the persons engaged to collect cream for the Ontario Creamery are:—Messrs. J. C. Chadwick, Aberfoyle; Thos. P. Carter, Guelph; J. O. Cleghorn, Mosborough; J. Hurd, Guelph; Joseph McInnes, Guelph. The contract for buttermilk for Guelph City has been awarded to Mr. Neil McLaughlin, Guelph.

FIRE.—On Thursday of Last week, says the Mount Forest Index, the stone dwelling house (unoccupied) belonging to A. Reddick, about four miles north of this place, was burned down. As the building had been on fire a few days previous to this, it is generally supposed that some miserable wretch had fired the premises. There was an insurance of $400 in Saugeen.

SENSIBLE.—The Waterloo Chronicle says:—Guelph hotelkeepers acted more sensibly than some of their craft elsewhere, on the 1st of May. They did not show spite at the public by closing their stables, but went on with their lawful business. One of them announced his intention of keeping the Act fairly and squarely. If he does, he should be well supported by the temperance community.

ORANGE CELEBRATION ON 1ST JULY.—Says the Orange Sentinel:—The members of the Western District Orange Lodge will have an excurtion to Guelph by the Grand Trunk Railway, on Thursday the 1st July. The fare for the round trip will be $1. It is expected that 2,000 brethren and friends will be present, and the committee are sparing no pains to make it the excursion of the season.

IMPORTED BEES.—The bees mentioned in yesterday's MERCURY as having been imported by Rev. W. F. Clarke are a cross between the leather-colored Italians and German browns. There is no need to send to the United States for a cross between the Italians and common blacks, there being plenty of them in this country. The cross with the German browns produces a race of bees unsurpassed for docility and honey-gathering qualities.

LOOK OUT FOR NUTMEGS.—The Orangeville Post says:—One day recently Mr. John S. Haley was suffering with a sick stomach, and was told that nutmegs were good for the ailment. He ate two nutmegs and paid pretty dearly therefor. A short time after taking them he became stupid, appeared half paralyzed and was taken to his home, apparently more dead than alive. Dr. Lewis attended him and soon brought him around. Nutmeg is poison, the taking of two drachms generally proving fatal.

TWO DEAD BODIES.—The Fergus Advocate says:—On Friday of last week while Mr. Hugh Cameron and a number of others from Fergus, were assisting in running logs down the river in Melanchton township, they came across the bodies of two men who had fallen into the river at the time the ice was breaking up near Riverview. The bodies were found among the saw logs and are supposed to be those of the two men named Thomson. Mr. Cameron and his men took the bodies into their boat and left them at a house close by.

SEASONABLE ADVICE.—Accidents, now that the open season for hunting is on, are to be expected. Proper carefulness would prevent them almost entirely. No man who cannot keep his wits about him under almost all circumstances is fit to be trusted with a loaded gun. The man who handles a gun as if it were loaded and dangerous will escape accidents to himself and others. In hunting game take no risks whatever of shooting man or beast. It is always best to keep out of fields where there are domestic animals feeding, unless you own the fields and animals. "Look before you shoot," is a good maxim for the hunter to apply, especially when his dogs are on a point. Look all round before flushing the game, and if there is any living thing except the game in range, don't shoot that way, or better, don't shoot at all.

AGRICULTURAL AND ARTS ASSOCIATION.—The prize list for the Provincial Fair is being printed, and will be ready for distribution. The Agricultural and Arts Association will offer this year three sweepstake prizes to the medalists in the competition for the best managed farms in Ontario, which has been held by the Association for the past five years. The prizes will consist of silver cups valued at $100, $60, and $40 respectively. The Secretary has already received entries from former medallists owning farms in the neighborhood of London, Woodstock, Ottawa and Toronto, and there is every indication that the competition will be closer than in former years, owing mainly to the nature of the prizes offered. The judges will enter upon their work in June.

Cooler Weather

PROBABILITIES.—Moderate to fresh winds between north-east and north-west; mostly fair, cooler weather.

MRS. F. W. MELLISH, of Galt died suddenly of heart disease on Sunday last.

MR. JOHN DAVIDSON, Insurance Agent, has received the agency of the Anchor Line.

MR. MCDONALD, of the Farmers' Advocate, London, is attending a meeting of the Agricultural College Advisory Board which is in progress at the College to-day.

ROLLER SKATING.—The Speed Roller Skating Rink was opened last evening for the summer season. A good crowd of spectators and skaters was present. The full band will be in attendance on Saturday evening, with a fine selection of new music. The electric light will be in next week. The band will practice this evening in the centre room at the rink.

BIG LAND SLIDE.—There have been no trains through from Hamilton on the Wellington, Grey and Bruce to-day, owing to a big land slide at Dundas. The slide is a mile in length and about thirty feet deep. No damage occurred other than to the track, and traffic, which is completely stopped. It is presumed that passengers will be transferred, but freight trains will have to go north by the G. W. R. to Toronto, the Grand Trunk to Guelph, and thence by the W. G. & B. for four or five days, which it is expected will be required to shovel away the earth.

A LARGE FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Mr. Benjamin Fairley, which took place this afternoon, was one of the largest seen in Guelph for sometime. A short service having been held at the house, St. Patrick's Ward, the cortege formed. The employees of the Raymond factories, the Good Templars and the Select Knights A. O. U. W. headed the procession on foot. The pall bearers were selected from the latter Order. The remains were laid at rest in the Union Cemetery, and citizens have seen the last of one who did much for the good of the community and who had won the respect and attachment of a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Guelph Spring Assizes.

The following is a list of cases entered for trial at the Spring Assizes, which begin here on Monday, before Mr. Justice O'Connor.

Burns v. Arthur—Action for damages against corporation of Arthur for injuries in falling off bridge. Coffee, Field & Wissler for p'aintiff; Macdonald & Macdonald for defendant.

Taylor v. Marchand—Action on account. Coffee, Field & Wissler for plaintiff; Devun, DeLa Haye & Devun for defendant.

Early v. Robinson—Murray for plaintiff.

Ross v. Edmunds—Jacob for plaintiff; Guthrie & Watt for defence.

Besides these there are two criminal cases to be disposed of. The case against Martin, of Lucknow, for uttering forged paper, and a case of aggravated assault in Peel. In both instances the prisoners are out on bail and are defended by Mr. G. W. Field. This makes the largest Assizes known in Guelph for some time, partly owing no doubt to the lateness of the season, Guelph being this spring the last on the list.

Base Ball.

Maple Leaf players practice from 2 to 5 o'clock every afternoon.

What is the matter with the Guelphs? They are keeping very quiet of late.

Henry, catcher, has declined the Stratford offer and intends playing with the Royal Oaks.

The Maple Leafs will play the Buffalos, of the International League, in Guelph, on the 17th and 21st May.

Ben. F. Stephens, pitcher for the Maple Leafs, arrived from Pittsburg last night. Mr. Stephens apppears to be a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, and is no doubt a every inch a ball player.

At Elmira: Elmira 11; Binghamton 13. Binghamton made 3 runs in the second innings and 5 in the fifth. The Elmira team is charged in good round terms with deliberately selling out. The above were International exhibition games.

Fire in a Foundry.

HAMILTON, May 6.—A fire broke out between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning in the nickel-plating department of Copp Bros.' foundry. There was a lack of water and the flames spread with remarkable rapidity until the building (three stories, one of which was devoted to patterns) where they originated was entirely destroyed. The damage is placed at between $30,000 and $35,000, which is covered by insurance. The buildings destroyed were; Engine room, patterns, plating room, mounting shop, tin and coppersmiths' shop, stove furniture and finished stoves. A great many stoves were broken up when the floor fell, and others were cracked when the water was thrown on them after the flames had made them red hot. The walls still stand, but the roofs and the interior of that part of the building extending half way on both York and Bay streets will have to be rebuilt.

SCOTT ACT INFRACTIONS.

The First Cases Tried in the Police Court.

A CROWDED COURT ROOM.

The Evidence Complete in Two Cases and Third in Progress.

The first trial for the violation of the Scott Act came off to-day before Police Magistrate Saunders. Every available seat inside the bar was filled with lawyers, aldermen, license commissioners, temperance men and hotel keepers, while outside the bar the court was crowded, all going to show the great interest manifested in the case. After a time a number of chairs had to be brought in for the accommodation of those who came late. At half-past ten, when the doors were opened, a grand rush was made for a front place at the railing and in a twinkling the room was filled. Shortly afterwards His Worship took his seat on the bench. As was stated yesterday the charges were preferred by Chief Randall against Thos Middleton and James Welsh, who appear to have rented the bar of the Commercial Hotel from C. Reinhart, and against John Doran of the Central Hotel. The cases against Middleton and Welsh were the first taken up. Mr. Peterson, County Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution, and Mr. G. W. Field and Mr. J. A. Mowat appeared for the defence.

Chas. Holmes was the first wi ness. Examined by Mr. Peterson, he said:—I was in the city on Wednesday last and saw the defendant in the Commercial hotel behind the bar, at about a quarter to ten; saw Welsh first and asked him for a drink; he told me that the Scott Act was in force; I told him that I had been there the night before and got some beer which I had in a flask there; told him I got it from Middleton the night before, and he told me to come around again; he then asked me if I had a flask and I told him yes; I took it out of my pocket and put it on the bar; he filled it out of a large pitcher; there was a towel over it; he took the pitcher and then filled the whiskey in the flask; paid ten cents for the flask; there are most of the contents there (the flask being produced a little less than half full); this is intoxicating liquor.

To Mr. Field—There were several persons present at the bar who could have seen him filling the flask; I asked Welsh for a glass of ale, beer, or whiskey, as I had been out in the cold and thought a drink could not hurt me; I took a little out of the bottle to test it; never saw Welsh before except on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning; am sure that Welsh is the man who sold the liquor and not Middleton; came from England a year ago and have been farming; didn't see any of the members of the Scott Act Association; do not expect to get any pay for this; I had a general conversation with the Chief on Wednesday, and he said that the Scott Act was in force here and he thought that some parties were selling, and that if I and my friend would go around the hotels to find out we would be doing him (the Chief) a favor and he would try and get us a situation; don't expect now to get a situation; the money I paid for the whiskey was my own; the Chief did not give it to me; I have been staying here since Monday.

Mr. Field then remarked that the witness must have been fed at the public expense, to which the witness replied that it was the Chief not the public who fed him.

To Mr. Peterson: I saw Welsh the night before and got this flask of beer from him, for which I paid 10 cents; Welsh was serving people with anything at all.

To Mr. Field: Did not hear any of them ask for liquor; I do not belong to any Y. M. C. A., but I belong to the Methodist Church; my reason for giving this information is that I am something of a temperance man myself and would like to see the Act carried out, (laughter); I would judge from the action of the defendant that he was the waiter of the bar.

Richard Porter was next called: In answer to Mr. Peterson he said: I know the last witness and was in his company last Wednesday in the same place, and at the same time as he was at the Commerical Hotel; saw Welsh there behind the bar; he asked Welsh if he (Holmes) could get a drink; Welsh replied that the Scott Act was in force; he hesitated a little; Holmes paid 10 cents for it; then left and had a little test of the liquor when we got here, in the presence of the Chief of Police; it was whiskey.

To Mr. Mowat: I came back to the station about ten minutes afterwards; know the bottle because it was marked; it was marked after we came here; I had another bottle, but it was empty; went to the Queen's, did not get any there; came from England a few months past; was working on a farm near Toronto and got $1 a day; walked here from Toronto a fortnight ago yesterday; came to Guelph to have a look at it; thought of coming on Monday; on Saturday I was in Berlin; never heard about the Scott Act being in force until Tuesday morning when I met the Chief; I saw him here; he came to see me; I saw him in his office; I went to see him to see if he could recommend us to any kind of work; Holmes was with me; slept here on Monday night, did not see the Chief that night; the Chief asked if we had a mind to do him a favor, to go around to the hotels and get evidence of selling liquor, and he would give us a situation; I did not remember of getting any money from the Chief; I did not have money anyhow.

License Inspector Cowan swore, on the objection being raised, that to the best of his knowledge all the licenses for the city were dated the first of May. Several other objections of little import were raised.

Thomas John Middleton was called by Mr. Mowat for the defence.

Mr. Peterson objected because he understood the witness was an infidel. This Middleton denied, saying that it was his father who was an infidel; he went to the English Church nearly every Sunday.

Middleton was then sworn and said:—I was in the Commercial on Wednesday and remember both of these men being in the bar although they have been shaved since; they look more respectable now; they came in about ten; I did not see these men get any liquor; heard them ask Welsh for a drink; he told them it was a Scott Act county and he was not allowed to sell any liquor; the man Holmes said that he would like to get a drink anyway; I was standing about two feet from them leaning on the bar; they did not get any liquor and they walked out; several others were in the bar; never saw them after.

To Mr. Peterson—I saw them the day before (Tuesday) when I had the bar; they came in and asked for liquor in the forenoon and afternoon; I did not give nor sell them any; I told them that the Scott Act was in force and I was not allowed to sell them, but if I could I would; said I had lime juice, lemonade, ginger beer, ginger ale, sarsaparilla and cigars; showed Holmes a ginger beer bottle, and told him there was soft stuff in it; he said he didn't want that; sold out to Welsh on Wednesday morning about 8 o'clock; I did agree to help him on the Wednesday if he needed me; helped him a little, but not much as there was not enough for two to do and I walked about with my overcoat on; they did not produce a bottle on Wednesday; I did not try to bribe the Chief but he has tried to bribe me in refrence to cockfighting; told the Chief I was sorry that I had taken a hold of him, not that I was sorry that Welsh had been caught; also told him that I had sold out; never told Mr. Smith that I was an infidel but that my father was; I was at church last Sunday morning.

Thos. Thorn, sworn, said to Mr. Mowat:—Was in the Commercial Hotel several times; have seen both the informers; do not know them by name; saw them in the Commercial about ten o'clock; was there about twenty minutes talking to Middleton; did not see the men get liquor of any description; heard Holmes ask Welsh for a drink, who replied that he could not give them anything strong, but would give him soft drinks, which was the best he could do for him; was there all the time till they went away; was standing 8 or 10 feet from them; we were in a position to see them and were speaking about these parties at the time; I remarked that they looked like green English boys and Middleton said they looked pretty rough; they could not have got liquor at that time without me seeing.

To Mr. Peterson—I do not drink any; I was leaning on the bar for about twenty minutes; we were talking about billiard matches, pool matches and horse races; was on the left side of the bar; listened to the conversation of the two men more interestedly because I wanted to get a glass of beer myself and could not get it; they stayed about 12 or 15 minutes; Middleton called me here; I have had no conversation with Middleton on the matter or any one else; I might have spoken to Chris about it; saw some people from the country who were in the bar and were served; saw some parties get lime juice out of the regular long bottles, the bottles were on the bar; lime juice is very mild and not intoxicating; it was four or five minutes to ten when I went in.

The defendant, Patrick Welsh, was then sworn. To Mr. Mowat:—I have lived here for a number of years; recollect seeing these two men; was lessee of the bar of the Commercial last Wednesday; saw Holmes and Porter in the bar sometime about ten o'clock; did not sell or give either of them any intoxicating liquors at that time or any time on Wednesday; they came in on Tuesday evening and asked for a drink; I told them I had no hard drinks; the bottles do not belong to me; the liquor that was seized he supposed belonged to Middleton; he said he had it for his private use; that bottle belonged to Mr. Reinhart; had no lager beer on Tuesday; they got no beer from me on Tuesday; told them I was not allowed to sell, and hadn't any; there are towels there for the bar; don't recollect having lager beer or any kind of beer; it was in no way strange to me that they called on Wednesday after being refused on Tuesday; there was no whiskey in the bar that I know of; did not sell any; they were in about 15 minutes; a bottle containing some preparation was produced which was found in the bar; the witness denied even knowing that the bottle was there.

Constable Flowers, called by Mr. Peterson, was the next witness:—This two young men left here about a quarter to ten; when they left the court they had each on empty glass bottle similar to those now produced; should judge they were not longer away than 10 or 15 minutes when they returned with this bottle filled; there were some 44 bottle of ale; and a bottle of cider on tap in the cellar; the liquor found in the bottle was intoxicating; and to prove this the Chief set some of it on fire.

Mr. Field—How do you know that this is intoxicating? knew that it must be; could not swear that it was whiskey, but was pretty sure that it was whiskey mixed; Mr. Reinhart said the cider was his, but the bottles were not; am satisfied that the cider belongs to Reinhart; the mark was put on the bottle after Holmes came back; I am pretty sure that it is the bottle (bottle being produced) which Holmes took away with him, although it was not marked until after the two men came back.

Ald. Smith, called by Mr. Peterson, said—I know Middleton; had conversation with Middleton on religious belief, in the neighborhood of a year ago about infidelity; he told me distinctly then that he was an infidel, and the Bible was merely a matter of history; he said he did not believe in a God; the way the conversation arose was that he was swearing in my store and I checked him.

To Mr. Field—I could not swear positively that his father's name was not mentioned; he said distinctly that he himself was an infidel; I made a test of the contents of the round bottle similar to the one made here, and the result is that it contains a considerable proportion of spirituous liquors, because the vapour burns with a spirituous flame when heated; do not know what proportion; am positive that the flame was produced from spirit; should say from the taste of it that it was whiskey mixed with something else.

Mr. Field then addressed the court in an able manner for the defence, and Mr. Peterson for the prosecution, and decision was reserved to be given at the conclusion of the other case.

Mandalay Captured.

LONDON, May 5.—News from Burmah to-day shows that the natives with the assistance of the Decoits have temporarily got the better of the British army of occupation. One despatch says that the insurgents have taken Mandalay and burned 4,000 houses. Among the buildings destroyed were the Chinese and Siamese bazaars. The hostility of the natives who remain loyal to the dethroned King Thebaw to the Chinese is intense, because of China's openly avowed endorsement of Great Britain's seizure of Burmah. The officers commanding the British forces have telegraphed Lord Dufferin that they are powerless to prevent a rebellion of natives, and have urgently asked for reinforcements.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVE'G MAY 7, 1886.

The Timber Limit Grabbers.

The House of Commons had a long sitting on Tuesday night. Shortly after eight o'clock, when a motion was made to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Charlton brought up the subject of timber limits, coal lands and grazing lands, and referred to the number of Government supporters in the House who had been granted favors of some kind in this respect, either for themselves or their friends. He went over pretty much the same ground that he did in his speech at Milton last fall, and showed that it was not for nothing the Tories were so loyal to the present Government. In the face of the transactions between the Tory members, and the Government, he argued that the Independence of Parliament Act was simply a farce. Indeed, from the Ministers of the Crown down to Messrs. Hesson and Farrow, who bring up the rear, there is not one dozen men all told on the Tory side of the House of Commons who do not partake in railway subsidies or participate in the public domain in one way or another, at the country's expense, and this was forcibly brought out by Mr. Charlton. Mr. Cameron, of Huron, also made a forcible speech. It was he who first took pains to investigate this subject, and last fall in two or three able speeches to his constituents, he startled the country with the revelations about these grants to Tory members and their friends, which he had collected from the returns moved for by the Opposition. He placed the facts before the House and defied contradiction. On the Government side the speakers were weak and ineffective, and all they could do was to charge the Opposition with attempts to do what they had done when in power. The debate lasted till a quarter to six o'clock on Wednesday morning, and it is needless to say that all the timber limit grabbers voted as one man against Mr. Charlton's amendment. But they cannot stifle the disgust with which these revelations will be received throughout the country, nor avert the condemnation which will assuredly fall on them when the people come to judge of their conduct, and how they have betrayed their trust by selling their support and vote to the Government for their own advantage.

The Home Rule Resolution.

Mr. Blake on Tuesday brought up for adoption in the House of Commons a temperate and carefully worded resolution, embodying an address to Her Majesty, expressing satisfaction that her Government had now before the Imperial Parliament a measure granting Home Rule to Ireland. The leader of the Opposition had an excellent precedent for doing this. During the session of 1882 Mr. Costigan brought up a similar resolution, which was carried unanimously, and Mr. Blake made a very able speech in support of it. In moving his resolution now the leader of the Opposition is but putting on record the sentiments then expressed. This resolution is moderate in its tone. It reiterates the former Parliament's belief in the wisdom of granting a measure of Home Rule to Ireland, and expresses the hope that Mr. Gladstone's scheme may form the basis for such a settlement of the great question as shall conduce to the peace, happiness, and prosperity of the Empire.

It is evident from Sir John Macdonald's and Mr. Costigan's speeches that the Government was annoyed that Mr. Blake should have become the mover of this resolution, and at first the leader of the Government said that he would vote against it because it was brought up as an amendment to the motion to go into Committee on Supply. But he forgot that he laid down a precedent for this when he brought up his motion on the Letellier case in the same way. Subsequently, however, he consented to its being brought up on another day as a substantive motion. Mr. Blake gives good reasons for moving his resolution at the present time in the following eloquent extract from his speech delivered on the occasion:

"It was but yesterday that we were in effect appealed to to listen to the words of Gladstone's manifesto. That appeal was addressed directly to the masses of the British people. And shall we, a democratic people and kinsmen of those very classes and of that very mass of the population to whom Mr. Gladstone speaks, not support his appeal? He describes in another paper the response from the world. I say, sir, under such circumstances and with such favorable testimony to the effect of these efforts from various quarters, shall Canada, which spoke earliest, be dumb to-day? Shall her voice, heard so loud before, be silent now? Shall we not listen to that mute appeal and cause the name of Canada to be enrolled amongst those who constituted the favorable force of general opinion throughout the world, and thus give an added impulse to the progress of this great measure? I dare not be silent any longer. I do not present this resolution as a party measure. I have waited until the last moment, hoping some person on the other side would move. That hope I have been obliged to abandon. I see the statement in the press that the Minister of Inland Revenue, has declined to move, and has given for himself and other Irish representatives in parliament the assurance of his and their adhesion to the address of 1882. I do not at all undervalue that assurance, but that is not what is required. What is required is the assurance, not of one but of all classes; not of a section, but of the people; not of a Minister of the Crown but of the Commons of Canada; not of the Irish Catholic members, but of the French and English, and Scotch and Irish and Germans of all creeds. (Cheers) To substitute the honorable gentleman's assurance as I have described would be to acknowledge that we the Commons of Canada, do not choose now to speak in the sense in which we spoke then, and in which the honorable gentleman declares his readiness to speak again. I therefore speak, but not as a Reformer. I do not speak as a party leader. I speak as a Canadian and citizen of the Empire to other Canadians and fellow citizens of the Empire. This is not a Protestant or a Catholic question. (Cheers.) Those I regard as enemies of their country who would make it so. (Hear, hear.) It ought not to be in Canada at any rate a Conservative or Reform question. I regard as enemies of their country those who would try to make it so. I hope that we may by our action this day show ourselves united in the redress of wrong and the advancement of liberty. For my part I would feel myself nothing less than a coward and a criminal should we, without any humble effort of mine, stand passive to-day and fail at this critical moment to give our help to the cause of freedom and local self-government for the Irish people."

MR. CHARLTON'S seduction bill has passed its second reading in the Senate. This ensures its final passage.

THE Dominion Government refused $3,000 from Mr. H. H. Cook, M. P., for a timber limit and accepted $500 for the same limit from Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin. That is the principle the Dominion Government works on. Mr. Cook is Liberal but Mr. Davin is a Tory.

PARLIAMENT was flooded with petitions on Monday on behalf of the W. C. T. U., praying that the light wine and beer clause be not incorporated in the Canada Temperance Act, and that no alteration be made in it which would in any respect lessen its prohibitory character, or make more difficult its adoption and enforcement.

THE Minister of Justice has given notice of resolutions regarding the administration of justice in the Northwest Territories. Provision is made to repeal the enactments regarding stipendiary magistrates now in power, and for the establishment of a superior court of civil and criminal jurisdiction, to consist of 5 judges with a yearly salary of $4,000. These resolutions also provide for the division of the territories into five judicial districts, and to appoint for each a sheriff and clerk of said court. The sheriff's salary will be $500 and fees. So, instead of the handful of stipendiary magistrates now administering justice in the Northwest, we are to have a set of judges, sheriffs and assistants numbering fifteen in all. Here is a grand chance for needy Tory officer seekers in the East.

THE Ottawa Free Press says:—"Mr. Blair, the premier of New Brunswick, has been a most successful party leader. He has only been a few years at the head of the provincial party, and when first chosen leader he found himself in opposition with a handful of followers, arrayed against a government which had existed with more or less modifications since confederation. His tact in winning men was such that his followers increased in numbers until in the last house he obtained a bare majority and drove his opponents out of office. That bare majority has grown until to-day Mr. Blair commands the support of more than two thirds the new Parliament. In his success we see the repetition in New Brunswick of that which attended the Liberal party in the Provincial Legislature of Ontario when Mr. Blake overthrew the confederation coalition government and established an administration within three years of confederation which has survived with unimpared strength to this day."

AN Ottawa despatch to the St. Paul (Minn.) Globe has a rather queer story about Dr. Orton, which we hope for the doctor's sake has no foundation. The despatch states that he and his partner, Dr. Brett, of Winnipeg, lately waited on Sir John Macdonald with the proposal to take Crowfoot, Big Bear, and Poundmaker to Europe and show them off as the Indian chiefs concerned in the late insurrection. It is said that: "Sir John listened to the scheme patiently, at length lit up a portion of his large, tired looking face, and said: 'Well, gentlemen, the plan from a money making point, is a good one. Do you propose to have these chiefs stuffed or take them over alive?' There was a pause. Neither of the enterprising medical men ventured to speak, and Sir John got off one of the jokes with which he usually dismisses disappointed delegations and they departed with a mutual agreement to say nothing." What has given rise, no doubt, to this story is the fact that Dr. Orton sometime ago suggested that these and other chiefs should be brought to the older provinces so as to show them our power and the extent of our resources.

Our advertisements are written not for sensational effect, but to put before the public in statements that bear the test, the pleasure and advantage to be derived in doing business at our establishment. Our advertising increases our circle of acquaintances. Our treatment of customers increases our circle of friends.

Silk and Dress Goods Department

The general opinion is that in novelty of design and richness of fabric, the goods are such as are shown in the best houses of New York. Then we have all the newest styles of Trimmings to match every shade of goods, which makes it a real pleasure for ladies to make selections for their toilets. In Dressmaking our patrons are assured of getting the most graceful and stylish garments, made by one of the best cutters and fitters in Ontario.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS

We feel assured in saying that no lady who has had the opportunity to make comparison of the several establishments in the city, will admit, that for variety, elegance, taste and ability displayed in the making, quantity and value, there is anything that will at all compare with ours. The high and well merited reputation of our Manager, Miss Manny, the extent of our purchases, and the special attention we pay to this Department, are winning us hosts of new customers, and we cordially invite all ladies who are not already patrons, to give us a trial.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

NEW ARRIVALS,

A magnificent assortment of Flouncing Laces in Oriental and Spanish in Black, White, Cream and Baize.

GENTLEMEN,

We have engaged in the department you are interested in, the services of Mr. J. R. McKENZIE, a man we can safely say unequalled in his line in the Dominion. The Foes of a Household

CHAPTER XXVIII.

GRAPES FROM THORNS.

But Helen was past seeing the change or noticing anything. She did not know that Dr. Holme had called to her more than once, and receiving no reply, had passed his time in an agony of doubt and terror. As soon as there was sufficient light to inspire him with any hope of success he was making his way down to her. She was first conscious of it when she heard his voice close to her saying—

"Thank Heaven you could not see."

Her position was indeed terrifying. The old quarry was so large and deep, it had the appearance of a precipice seen from above. It was almost like a basin scooped out in the hillside, from which a rough cart track led straight over the moor to Miller's Gate. It was so long since the quarry had been closed that under the influence of wind and weather the stone and sand had grown almost black. The sides of the quarry came steep and straight to the bottom, in which, as before said, lay a small deep pool, black, as it was fed almost wholly by rain, and so sheltered by the steep slopes which rose above it on all sides, that even in the wildest north-west gale that ever tore furiously over these bleak, wind-swept hills it was scarcely ruffled.

Only in one place was the quarry clothed with any vegetation. A stream of water trickling from the moor had channelled a narrow furrow down the surface of the slope, and by its side grew grass and rank weeds and a few alder bushes. One of those bushes had reached some size, and its slender, springy branches had checked Helen's fall, holding her almost as on a couch, though had she not been brave and prudent enough to bear the weary pain of her uncomfortable position the branches must have given way, and there would have been nothing to stop her in her fall into the still black pool below.

Very carefully and cautiously did the doctor set about his task of releasing Helen. Neither spoke until he said—

"Do not look below you, Mrs. Moore."

"I have seen the water," was all her answer, and she did not look at him as she spoke.

It was a long and dangerous task for one man, but in time he reached the moor again with Helen in his arms. Then she first spoke—

"Put me down."

He laid her on the heather and knelt by her, chafing her hands. He was very much alarmed by the look on her face. She lay perfectly still, with wide open eyes looking up into the clear blue sky; for it was an exquisite morning, and the only reminder of the last night's fog was a light silvery mist which hung over the hills.

Presently she sat up and pressed her hands once or twice to her head; then she said—

"Let me have your flask again."

He gave it to her in silence, rather wondering what she was going to do with it. With a trembling hand she poured some brandy into the cup, and after looking at it with an expression of distaste upon her face, she drank it straight off.

The fiery spirit burned her mouth and throat, but it had the desired effect; in a few moments she rose to her feet and looked around her.

"What are you looking for?" he asked, speaking for the first time.

"My umbrella," she replied. "I had not got it in my hand when I fell."

"Why do you want it? it is not going to rain. You had better let me take you home at once."

"I shall walk better with it to help me," she said.

"Walk?" he repeated; "you don't suppose that after what you have gone through I am going to let you walk four miles? I shall carry you."

"You will not dare to touch me," she said, looking straight into his face. "Be good enough to look for my umbrella."

He soon found it—the light was glinting on the silver handle; and having given it to her, they set off on their walk.

He never in his life forgot that walk. They were two hours in walking the four miles, and during those two hours scarcely a word was exchanged between them. They walked in perfect silence until the doctor, unable longer to bear the slow, halting pace, and seriously alarmed by the expression Helen's face had taken, again begged her to allow him to take her in his arms. Her reply was the same as before—

"You will not touch me."

How easy for a strong man like himself to have taken her up in his arms without a word and carried her the rest of the way. Yet he did not do it.

At last they reached the Rectory. Helen's face had been getting whiter and whiter, but she walked along the garden; it was only on the doorstep that she gave way, her figure bent and swayed, and she would have fallen if the doctor had not caught her in his arms.

The Longworthys were just finishing a rather vain attempt to breakfast when the dining-room door opened to admit Dr. Holme and his burden. Mrs. Longworthy looked pale and ill, and her husband's face was very grave, almost stern, with suppressed emotion.

Their first idea was that the doctor had found Helen. It was Mr. Longworthy who, while his wife and the doctor were trying to restore her to consciousness, noticed anything extraordinary in his friend's face and manner. Even while he was trying to account for it to himself the doctor rose from his stooping attitude, and said to Mrs. Longworthy—

"It is of no use trying anything now. I will carry her upstairs, and you must put her to bed; then I will see her again. In the meantime I will tell your husband the whole story."

But Mr. Longworthy stepped before him with a quiet "Allow me," and, taking Helen in his arms, went swiftly upstairs to her room, followed by his wife.

When he came down again he closed the dining-room door, saying—

"Now, doctor, let me give you a cup of coffee before you begin; you look as if you needed it. You might have been out all night too."

"If you will allow me, said the doctor, with some constraint, "I should prefer to tell you my tale before accepting your hospitality."

The rector's face became very grave again as he put down the cup which he held in his hand and said—

"Before or after, whichever you please."

It was not a long story. In a quarter of an hour, as Fanny came donstairs to ask him to see Mrs. Moore again, she heard him say—

"It is necessary now that I should see Mrs. Moore, or it may be imoossible to avert very grave consequences; but, if later, she should prefer anyone else to attend her I have forfeited all right to object."

Wondering, she paused, and heard her master say very gravely—

"I will ascertain her pleasure in the matter."

It was some days before Helen could come downstairs again. She had been nursed through a short but severe illness with the utmost care and affection. She had been hardly conscious enough to make any objection to the presence of Dr. Holme, so he had continued at his post. Now she could do without him, and for four days he had not been at the house. It was in the morning, some time after breakfast, and the rector and Helen were alone together. He was getting ready to go out as usual, when Helen looked up at him and said,

"Mr. Longworthy, is your business this morning very urgent?"

"Why do you ask?"

"Could you believe that just for once I want you more than all the poor people in Miller's Gate?"

He smiled only as he replied,

"I fear you are a delusion, Helen. You know that when you want me my business is never urgent, that I have always time for you."

"Yes, I know it. Well, may I talk to you this morning?"

"Come into my study with me now. We shall not be interrupted there."

They went into the pretty, cosy, untidy little room which was given up entirely to the indulgence of Mr. Longworthy's disorderly habits. He stirred the fire, pulled up a chair to the hearth for his companion, and himself stood with his back to the chimney piece.

SYNOD MEETING IN GALT.

Strong Resolution Favoring Prohibition.

FIRST SESSION OF THE CONFERENCE.

The Conference of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston held its first session in the Central Presbyterian Church, Galt, on Monday, the 3rd inst. Rev. J. A. R. Dickson, B. D., occupied the chair.

Rev. Principal Grant, of Kingston, delivered an address on Church work.

Rev. H. M. Parsons spoke on "How to develop among our young people an interest in the church."

The choir having sung an anthem, this theme was further discussed by Revs. D. McRae, of Cobourg; A. Wilson and R. Wallace, of Toronto; R. Hunter, of Orangeville and J. B. Mullan, of Fergus.

Rev. D. Tait, of Berlin, pronounced the benediction, and the conference adjourned.

TUESDAY'S SESSION.

In the morning the chair was occupied by the Hon. Jas. Young, and the devotional exercises were led by the Rev. A. Gilray.

Dr. Wardrope introduced the subject of pastoral visitation. He referred to the growing disinclination to such visits both by pastors and people. He showed clearly that the duty was taught by the precept and example of Christ and His Apostles. It ought to be done prayerfully, sympathetically, and in the spirit of the Master. Dr. Wardrope detailed his own methods of performing the duty.

Revs. Messrs. Parsons, Bennett, J. K. Smith and Principal Grant spoke on the subject.

Rev. R. D. Fraser, Bowmanville, addressed the conference on the spiritual life of the minister in its bearing upon his work.

Rev. Messrs. Parsons, Wilson, Gilray and Hunter made remarks.

In the afternoon the Rev. J. K. Smith presided, the Rev. J. A. R. Dickson leading in devotional exercises.

Rev. P. Macleod delivered an address on the work of the elder. An elder is never elected to the Moderatorship of the Assembly, for what reason he did not know. Elders should receive a larger share of the responsibilities and honors of church work. Remarks were made by Rev. Messrs. Wilson, Bennett, Frizzell, D. D., McLever, and Messrs. Gordon and Cranston.

In the absence of the Rev. R. H. Scott, Rev. J. R. S. Burnett spoke on individual responsibility in Christian work. After the subject had been commented on by several speakers, Rev. Geo. M. Milligan, B. A., spoke with much interest and force on the social element in religious work. By means of vivid and telling illustrations he showed that healthy co-operation would result in incalculable blessings to the world. He combated the pessimistic views of the present condition of affairs, and showed that politicial corruption and social disturbances would disappear if the full social forces of Christianity were properly directed. The conference closed with prayer by Rev. John McAlpine.

THE SYNOD.

The Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston met in Knox Church on Tuesday evening. The opening sermon was preached by the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, B.D., retiring Moderator, from Hebrews xii, 27. At the close of the sermon the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell thanked the Synod for the honor conferred on him, and called for the nomination of a successor.

Dr. Torrance moved, and Rev. R. Wallace seconded, that Rev. William Bennett, of Springville, be appointed Moderator. This motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Bennett thanked the Synod for the honor conferred upon him. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the retiring Moderator.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSION.

The Synod met at ten a.m., the Rev. Wm. Bennett, Moderator, presiding. Devotional exercises, led by the Moderator and others, occupied the first hour. Applications for leave to take certain students on trial for license were granted to the Presbyteries of Toronto and Kingston. Rev. David Beattie presented a memorial against a certain action of the Presbytery of Kingston. Rev. T. S. Chambers read the minutes of the Presbytery bearing on Mr. Beattie's case and Mr. Beattie replied. On motion of Rev. D. D. McLeod, seconded by Rev. J. R. Smith, it was resolved that the Synod finds it unnecessary to make further investigation in the case and without sustaining the Presbytery expresses its sympathy with Mr. Beattie, who has for a long period laboured faithfully in the service of the church. On motion of Rev. J. A. R. Dickson, seconded by Principal Grant, it was agreed that the next meeting of the Synod be held in the Presbyterian Church, Brampton, on the second Monday of May, 1887, at 7:30 p.m.

THE EVENING MEETING.

At the evening meeting the report of the Committee on the State of Religion was submitted by Rev. D. McLaren, convener. There has been a gratifying increase of attendance on public worship. Prayer meetings have generally been well attended. In some cases efforts had been made to render prayer meetings more effective. In the religious training of the young there was reason to fear that there was still much neglect. The percentage of those who engage in Christian work is still far too small. There has been a gratifying increase in contributions for religious work. After discussion the report and its recommendations were adopted.

Rev. G. M. Milligan presented the report of the Committee on Sabbath Schools. It was reported that several Presbyterian reports were incomplete. 217 schools had reported the number of teachers and officers 2,451, number of scholars on roll 23,459, average attendance 16,235, amount raised by Sabbath Schools $11,650, of which $4,662 was for missions, those joining the church membership from Sabbath Schools 516. Rev. D. D. McLeod moved, and Mr. John Neil seconded the reception of the reports.

THURSDAY'S SESSION.

The Synod met on Thursday morning. A resolution moved by Rev. J. K. Smith, seconded by Professor McLaren, congratulating Dr. Smellie, of Fergus, on his attaining his jubilee in the service of the Church, having been in his present charge for the period of forty-three years, was passed with acclamation.

On motion of Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, seconded by Rev. W. A. Hunter, it was resolved to form a new Presbytery—that of Orangeville, which is to meet on the third Tuesday of July, Rev A McFane to be first moderator.

The complaint and protest of Rev John McMillan and others, of Mount Forest, against the actions of the Presbytery of Saugeen, were, on motion of Principal Cavan, remitted to a Committee of Synod, to meet at Harriston, to issue the case before the meeting of the General Assembly in June next.

In response to an overture by Rev. W. Frizzell and others, a committee on the improvement of congregational singing, consisting of Rev. Messrs. Frizzell, P. McF. Macleod, and John M. Cameron was appointed.

Rev. Mr. Cumberland spoke in support of an overture from the Presbytery of Kingston, proposing the restoration of the old church at Fredericksburg, where Rev. Mr. McDowall, a pioneer U. E. Loyalist Presbyterian minister preached nearly a century ago.

At the afternoon meeting, Rev. E. Cockburn presented the report of the Temperance Committee, from which it appeared that though the reports received were incomplete, the action of the Canada Temperance Act had on the whole been beneficial, while for various causes it has had hardly a fair trial; provision should be made for its vigorous enforcement by the Synod. On motion of Rev. John Smith was adopted a strong resolution favoring prohibition.

Principal Caven submitted the report of the Committee on Sabbath Observance, recommending that the General Assembly through its committee should enter into correspondence with other branches of the church in Canada and the United States, with a view of bringing combined Christian public opinion to bear on the question, in order to the inheritance of the Sabbath to large and important classes of the community.

An overture from the Presbytery of Barrie asked that the General Assembly remit to Presbyteries the consideration of the question, How many colleges does the church require and where should they be located? In explanation, Mr. D. D. McLeod stated that it was the object of the overture to bring about harmonious action in relation to the colleges. It was agreed to transmit the overture.

Regarding the proposed scheme for the supply of vacancies, the Synod appointed a committee to confer with similar committees appointed by other Synods, that a scheme may, if possible, be submitted to the General Assembly.

An overture on the standing of ministers without charge was received, and its transmission to the General Assembly assented to.

After the usual votes of thanks, the Synod adjourned.

"OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $2.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store.

GOSPEL Temperance meeting to-morrow afternoon in Paisley street church. It is expected the Rev. D. Snyder, who was so popular in Dublin street church a few years ago, will deliver an address upon the temperance work in Hamilton. Many of his old friends no doubt will be glad to hear him again. d1

KNOX CHURCH TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.—The closing meeting of this Association was held in the lecture room on Friday evening. There was a good attendance, Dr. McGuire, President, in the chair. Opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. R. J. Beattie, pastor. A. Scott, Secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. The following programme was then rehearsed:—Duet, by Miss Maggie Hadden and Miss Sarah Hadden; a reading, by Miss Davidson, "The Relief of Lucknow;" solo, by Miss Knowles; reading by Mr. J. D. Williamson, "The Little Pilgrim Girl;" solo, by Mr. Millar, accompanied by Miss Knowles. The Rev. J. W. Holmes was then called on, who delivered an excellent address on temperance, and complimented the young people on the stand they had taken for temperance; also that it was a good thing to have in connection with the church. After a solo by Miss Spalding accompanied by Miss Mowat the meeting was closed in the usual way. The social was a very pleasant one throughout and was evidently enjoyed by all present.

RUNAWAY.—This morning Mr. P. Ryan left his spirited team in charge of Mr. Wood, butcher, while he went into the market cellars to purchase some articles. Scarcely was he gone when the horses managed to get away from Mr. Wood, and ran down Huskisson street at a furious rate. They safely turned the corner of the street near Presant's mill and ran straight along past Sallows' blacksmith shop, across Gow's bridge, and finally stopped a little beyond the residence of Collector of Customs Heffernan. The buggy was slightly damaged, but the horses were uninjured.

THE party who stole a new shovel from the building being erected for Burr Bros. had better return it and save trouble.

THE masons employed in erecting the new factory for Burr Bros. have been idle for the past two days. The delay is caused for want of timbers required for the carpenters. The masons are in hopes of resuming work on Tuesday.

THE market was well attended this morning, notwithstanding that farmers are busy seeding. No changes are to note in prices. The green grocers' market was well supplied with lettuce, rhubarb and garden produce were sold at reasonable prices. Flowers were also in abundance, and were eagerly bought up.

THE Rural Canadian, published at Toronto by C. Blackett Robinson, presents in its new form a very attractive appearance. We hope the Rural Canadian will continue to improve as the years go by, and that its circulation will increase, as it is a publication every farmer should subscribe for.

COURT OF REVISION.—Judge Drew will hold his adjourned Court of Revision of the voters' list for the city for the Local Legislature in the Court House on Monday evening at seven o'clock. The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. These parties should be present on Monday.

GUELPH SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY.—The second paper under the auspices of the above society is to be given on Tuesday evening next, at eight o'clock, in the basement of the Congregational Church by Jas. Mr. Goldie, his subject being "The Song Birds of our Country." A large attendance of members and others is cordially hoped for. The council will meet five minutes before eight for the consideration of names of new applicants for membership.

LECTURE.—On Friday afternoon Dr. McPhatter lectured before the students of the Guelph Business College, on the subject of accidents. Many nice points were touched upon and much valuable information imparted. The proper course to pursue in the case of fractures, gun shot wounds, cuts, bruises, etc., was indicated, and physiological reasons given. The practical nature of the speaker's remarks, together with his fluent style of address, secured an attentive hearing.

BACKWARD SPRING OPERATIONS.—The land in the country to the north and west of this city is still said to be in a very wet condition and totally unfit in very many cases for farming operations. Pools of water stand in many fields now which if a few days sunshine would come would soon be fit for the seed. A white frost covered every unprotected article in Mount Forest, Durham and Palmerston, before sunrise this morning, and much damage has been done.

A TRIP TO MOUNT FOREST.—Several members of the Order of I. O. O. F. in this city, at the invitation of Garnet Lodge, of Mount Forest, went by train to that town yesterday, and in the evening gave the play "The Initiation of a Candidate" to a well filled house. Previous to the play a concert of vocal and instrumental music was given. The Mount Forest band, which is considered an A 1 musical organization both vocally and instrumentally, took part in the programme and gave good satisfaction. The best local vocal talent among the fair sex was engaged, and nearly all the selections received a hearty encore. The local hits in the play in every case brought down the house and all appeared to enjoy the good natured knocks freely administered. The Guelph brethren received every kindness during their visit, and speak well of their Mount Forest brethren and their rising little town. All returned home this morning by the early train.

THE KEPPEL TRAGEDY.

Arrest of the Suspected Steinhoff.

OWEN SOUND, May 6.—The sensation created over the attempted assassination of Ramsay, as reported last week, has subsided. Provincial Constable Pearce says the entire opinion of the section of country where the alleged shooting took place is that Ramsay shot himself by the accidental discharge of a revolver.

Pearce has arrested Steinhoff, the man whose name has figured so conspicuously in connection with the Keppel murders. The arrest was made near Chesley. He was brought before G. Price, J.P., this morning and remanded for a week. It will be remembered Steinhoff is the man who was reported to have been so excited at the fire at Bailey's house, and when one of the neighbors remarked that he saw the form of a man in the flames, Steinhoff replied excitedly, "Oh, no you don't." When young McClary was taken into custody the first thing he said to the constable was, "Is Steinhoff arrested yet?"

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 6.

In the House of Commons Mr. Blake introduced the same motion he made on Tuesday, reaffirming the Canadian Parliament's Home Rule Resolution of 1882.

Mr. Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue, moved an amendment leaving out the part of the resolution which directed that an address be laid at the foot of the Throne.

To this amendment Mr. McMullen moved an amendment to the effect that the experience of Canada since 1882 had confirmed the House in its former opinion.

A division was taken on Mr. McMullen's amendment which was lost by 60 yeas to 118 nays.

Mr. Costigan's amendment was carried by 117 to 61, and Mr. Blake moved in amendment to the adoption of the motion as amended that a copy be sent to Mr. Gladstone.

Ald. Farley, Wendell, McQuade, Duffy, Cleary and Fallgraff, indicted for bribery, were arraigned in court at New York Thurday and pleaded "not guilty."

Gustave Strange, of 822 Henry street, said to be a moulder of bombs, has been arrested in Chicago. In his house were found firearms, ammunition and some Anarchist literature.

The proprietors of the Deering works Chicago, decided to increase their employees' salaries 15 per cent. and allow them to work only 8 hours. The men will return to work to-day.

FIETY DOLLARS EACH.

Conclusion of the First Scott Act Cases.

MIDDLETON AND WELSH DISAPPEAR.

There was great interest manifested in the Scott Act trials yesterday. The Police Court was crowded from its opening at half-past ten o'clock until the cases were finished attwenty minutes past ten at night. There was only an adjournment of twenty minutes during the trial. The three parties charged, Welsh, Middleton, and Doran were fined each $50 and costs. The following is the remainder of the evidence:

After the adjournment the case of John Doran was brought up.

Charles Holmes, sworn—To Mr. Peterson—Was in Doran's hotel on Tuesday last; know him; his place is down near the City hotel; almost forget just now where it is; was there at a quarter to two after leaving the Commercial hotel; when I went in saw defendant behind the bar; asked him for a drink; he told me the Scott Act was in force, and I told him that I would be going away out of town shortly and that I would like to get a drink before I went; he asked me what I wanted—if cider, ginger beer, or soft stuff like that would do; said I would like something stronger; he seemed to consider for a little while, and at last took a tin measure from under the bar and emptied some whiskey into the glass; this was whiskey; I paid him ten cents for it; I drank one glass and Richard Porter the other; we then came out and went straight down to the police court; did not notice anybody in the bar when I went in or while I was there; told Doran I would like a whiskey, when he asked me if I would have some cider; had no conversation with him (Doran) nor did he ask any questions; the liquor was intoxicating; looked at the clock in the bar when I went in; it was a quarter to two.

To Mr. Field—I think the hotel is somewhere in front here—pointing to the vegetable sheds; I saw nobody in the bar besides ourselves; am sure Doran had not a side whisker nor a chin whisker, but a moustache; don't know whether the cider was mixed or not; have drank mixed drinks; what was given me was pure whiskey; did not intend to go out of town although I told Doran so; have been farming between Hamilton and Brantford; got $15 a month; went to Toronto and to Oakville; then went to Hamilton and did nothing in either of those places; went to Brantford, then to Berlin, and was there three or four days; left Berlin last Monday and came to Guelph; fell in with Porter at Oakville; fell in with him again at Toronto, and he has been with me ever since; left the Commercial hotel a half-past twelve and came to the Central at a quarter to two.

Richard Porter sworn, said to Mr. Peterson—Recognize Doran; saw him on Tuesday at the Central hotel; John Holmes was with me, and he asked Doran to give us a drink; he told us we could not drink because the Scott Act was in force: after a little persuasion he gave us a glass of whiskey out of a measure from under the counter, and we drank it; Holmes said that we were going to leave town; this was said by way of persuasion to get it; came here shortly afterwards; left Doran's about a quarter to four o'clock; am sure that this was about the time.

To Mr. Field—Have been with Holmes for about two weeks; met him first in Oakville; went from Toronto to Brantford, then to Berlin and from there here; am sure this is the route; didn't notice anyone in the Central hotel; am sure the man whom we bought liquor from had no chin whisker; Holmes said he either wanted whiskey or lager beer, but did not want any of the soft stuff; the whiskey was poured out in a tin measure; the hour would be about a quarter to four o'clock when we were in Doran's.

To Mr. Peterson—We walked around the street for about a quarter of an hour; if would be after four before we came back; my friend kept a memorandum of what he did, I think; I was present when he made the memorandum.

To Mr. Field—The memorandum was made in the cells during the night.

The memoranda was read item by item, detailing the time of each visit and where the liquor was procured, which went to show that the couple had some three drinks of whiskey each, a flask of whiskey and a bottle of beer.

Policeman Flowers—To Mr. Peterson—The men started out their tour about one o'clock, and were back when I came from dinner at half past two; they said they had been at Doran's and had got a drink each of whiskey.

Mr. Doran was the first witness for the defence. To Mr. Field—I am the defendant; was in the bar last Tuesday all day until night, I don't remember of ever seeing these two men before to-day; I don't remember what drinks I sold, but I remember what I didn't sell; I didn't sell any intoxicating liquor; had not any intoxicating liquor in the bar or concealed there; I moved out all my liquor on the first of May; I don't remember of having any conversation with them; and I'm sure I never asked them to take cider because I have no cider; put away my liquors to the cellar on Saturday; there is nothing of any account in the cellar; kept the tin measure in behind the bar; did not sell any intoxicating liquor on Wednesday, although there was a large crowd in the town; when I came here I had no idea of who was to appear against me; I was perfectly sure, however, that I did not sell any liquor.

Chas. Hilliard, sworn—To Mr. Mowat—Saw these two men in Doran's Hotel between one and two o'clock in the bar-room; it was sitting with a friend, Wright Cartledge; saw the men come in and walk up to the bar; I think they asked for a drink; the defendant was behind the bar; in reply Mr. Doran said he had nothing but soft stuff if that was any good to them; could not hear what he (Holmes) said who appeared to do the talking in a whispering voice; they did not get drink of any description; then they turned and walked out; was about ten feet from the bar; could see quite plain from the position; am sure they got nothing; have not seen them until to-day when I knew it was the same characters; when they came in I made a remark about them to Mr. Cartledge and asked him if he knew them, as they were strange looking characters; noticed them by their clothes and shoes; never mentioned anything to Mr. Doran about having seen the men until this morning, when I asked him if he remembered the characters and he said no.

To Mr. Peterson—I went into Mr. Doran's after one o'clock; go there to read the papers; met Cartledge there and asked him to take a drink; I drank cream of soda; there is no spirits in this drink that I am aware of; was sitting at the left of the room next the door of the dining room; the young men came in at the front door; it is not my custom to watch what Mr. Doran does behind the bar, the tallest fellow walked in first a little ahead of the other, and they went straight to the bar; their backs were to us; don't suppose they were there more than two or three minutes; I guess I remained there until about three when I left for home to write letters; I asked Mr. Doran for a drink myself and he said he would not give it.

The Magistrate went for the witness for tempting Mr. Doran to commit an offence for which he was liable to be heavily fined, and advised him to clear his own character before he attempted to clear others.

Wright Cartledge sworn—To Mr. Mowat—I was in Court this forenoon and recognized the two men who were in Doran's on Tuesday last after dinner; it would be after 1 o'clock; I was sitting in the bar-room; Hilliard was there and an old man who was reading the paper next to me; when they came in they walked up to the bar; could not hear what they said; heard what Doran said was he had soft stuff; they did not take anything. They were only there a few minutes, we were sitting with the chairs against the wall; they walked right up to the bar; don't think they could have got anything without my knowledge; think Hilliard made some remarks to me; that was the only time I saw them at Doran's; it was 3:15 when I left; saw them only once; Doran told me he was served with a summons; he spoke to me at dinner.

To Mr. Peterson—I am working with my father, piece work; am not forced to work every day; am paying my way through; worked yesterday all day; had my dinner at Doran's on Tuesday; can't tell when Hilliard came in; we were sitting down and smoking; don't know what else we were doing; cannot say whether I was reading when Hilliard came in; Hilliard was reading about baseball; he may have been sitting there an hour; there were a number of people passed in and out of the hotel; if anybody came in I would look to see who it was; am not a detective there; did'nt see whether they drank whiskey or not; it was of no consequence to me what they drank; did not have a drink with Hilliard but a cigar; don't know what he took; Hilliard spoke to me about the two men and attracted my attention; don't know what he said, I wasn't listening to them particularly: Doran made no observation after they had gone out; don't remember having made any observation about them.

Mr. Field addressed the Magistrate and reviewed the evidence in detail. Mr. Peterson followed, also addressing the Magistrate at length.

The case against Thos. Middleton was then brought up for selling on Tuesday, the 4th.

Chas. Holmes, sworn—Was there three times, the first time at half-past twelve, Richard Porter was with me; asked for liquor; he said that he had only "short" or "soft" stuff, or whatever he called it, and also lime juice; before I could say whether I would have it or not he was busy emptying this lime juice; the lime juice was in a tin measure; drank a glass and it was whiskey, and the pure stuff at that I thought; it was not lime juice; I know lime juice; paid 10c for it and paid it to Middleton; Richard Porter also drank; we then left and came straight to the police office where we saw the Chief; won't like to say whether Flowers was there or not; went back again about 4.30 p.m. to the Commercial; had nothing to drink then; I had a flask and asked if I could get something in it and he said no; again asked if he would put some beer or ale in it; he refused and told me to come around towards night; I left then and came around about 9 o'clock at night; Welsh was behind the bar and I asked him if he could give me whiskey; told Welsh I had beer there in the afternoon and had asked Middleton for it; Welsh asked me if I had a flask; he asked me for it, and I gave it to him over the bar, and he took it into a little room there which is off the bar, and a few moments after he came out with the flask full of lager beer; I informed the Chief that evening; (here the witness sampled the lager and swore it was the same.)

In the cross-examination by Mr. Mowat there was nothing new elicited; had something like $2 when I came here which I spent about town; the whiskey was in a tin measure under the bar; won't swear whether the measure was on the counter or not; I am sure it was Middleton that was in the bar—this was the first time I went to the Commercial; I was at a brewery here; con't know if it was Holliday's; went over the track; it was a big stone building; didn't see anything there; was in the Queen's, in the City, and only got liquor in the Commercial and Doran's; Middleton told me if I would come round towards evening he would give me something to drink; he asked me if I had a flask: he filled the flask in a little room behind the bar; made the memorandum in the little book immediately after I came back; I had 4 or 5 drinks; I did not sleep before I wrote the memo.; made the memo in presence of the Chief who was at the Police Station when I came back; I was in the Commercial Hotel 3 times that day; got a drink at half past 12 and none at 4; I must have got a drink at 1:30 p.m. as appears from my memo. book; I am positive as to everything else except as to the drink at 4.30.

The evidence of J. Porter corroborated that of Holmes in almost every particular. In cross-examination by Mr. Field this witness said:—I saw the bottle last (bottle produced) on Tuesday night; I suppose it is the same bottle; it was because we were told to go that we went to the Commercial Hotel so often; Welsh was at the bar, Middleton was not there at that time; he filled the flask for us then with beer; he got it from a little ante-room behind the bar; it was lager beer; we paid him (Welsh) 10c. for it; I tasted it when we got to the station; it was intoxicating; it (tasting the liquor in the bottle) is the same liquor and the same bottle; don't know where the bottle has been ever since; can identify the bottle; paid 10c.; don't know what is the price of a glass of whiskey; M. gave me the liquor at 12:30; he took the liquor from the tin can; Welsh gave us the liquor in the evening; Welsh went into the little room alone; there were a few in the bar-room every

The Superannuation Fund

Mr. McMullen has lately been directing his attention to the superannuated list of retired civil servants. Sometime ago he moved for full returns in connection with this subject. This return came before the Printing Committee last week, when the Liberal members moved that it be printed. The Tory members, no doubt ashamed at the revelations, refused to have it printed. They could not, however, prevent Mr. McMullen from obtaining a copy, and from this we gather the following details, which will no doubt astonish those who are unacquainted with the subject, and who were not aware that such large sums were paid out yearly to retired civil servants in comparison to the small amounts paid into the fund. In 1884 the number superannuated was 53, of whom 46 were granted annuities and seven gratuities. In 1885 the number was 49. On the 30th June the same year the number on the list was 446. The average annual amount paid to those on the list in 1884, was $470, and the average annual amount paid to those on the list in 1885, was $434.77. The amount paid in during the year 1883-84. by those on the list, was $51,882.21. The entire civil service, during the year 1884, paid in a sum sufficient to pay the 433 on the retired list $120 each, and the Dominion paid them $350 each. The entire sum paid out during the year 1884, was $192,692.70, of which the civil service paid $51,882.21, and the net loss to the country under the operation of the act in that year, was $140,810.49. The number on the list on the 1st of January, 1886, according to a return presented to the House, was 424. Twelve were granted annuities, which in all amounted to $5,792.47, or an average of $399.37 each. The sum paid in by the Civil Service during the year 1884-85, was $52,701.33, and the sum paid out was $203,636.21; so that the net loss to the country, under the operation of the act during the year 1884-85, was $150,934.88. The average amount drawn by each person on the superannuated list during the last year was $469.

The civil service paid in during the year a sum sufficient to pay those on the retired list $131 each, and the country paid them $348. The net loss to the country under the operation of the act, for 1884-85, was $10,124.39 more than for the year 1883-84. Thus the system of granting annuities has been abused, as in most cases the sum paid was greatly in excess of the amount the parties have paid into the civil service fund. To prove this we have a large number of instances of parties paying on an average about $12, and drawing a gratuity of about $100. He next drew the attention of the House to the results of the act for 1885. Last year forty-nine retired, forty-one by annuities and eight by gratuities. The salaries paid to those forty-nine amounted to $42,384.09; salaries paid to the twenty-five new appointees amount to $15,763.75. The places yet vacant the Government intend undoubtedly to fill, because the returns laid before Parliament always, if an office is abolished, state so. Consequently when not abolished, no doubt it is the intention of the Government to fill the office. They have therefore twenty-four offices to fill, the cost of which will be $16,195, but, allowing that they have made a reduction in the matter of salaries for those twenty-four officers, when they will be filled, proportionate with the reduction in the case of the fifty-five officials who have been appointed, and which was 25 per cent. less than those who occupied the offices before—deducting, from the $16,195, 25 per cent., or 14,048.75, those yet to be appointed will draw $12,146.75, making in all $27,910. The yearly allowance to those placed on the superannuation list last year was $18,362.62, the gratuities to those retired by gratuity was $2,568.08, which makes in all $48,838.65. The net loss to the country for the last year was $6,454.56. The total number now eligible for superannuation is 2,000. Last year one of the clerks was superannuated after serving 12 years. He got a salary of $4,000, and under the Act was entitled to a retiring allowance of $960; but instead of that honorable gentlemen added ten years to his time of service, which enables him to draw $800 more, or $1,760 a year. The new appointee to fill the position gets $2,800; so that his salary and the allowance to the one superannuated amount to $4,560 a year. In 1884, Mr. Russell, surveyor general, was superannuated, after serving fifteen years. They added ten years to his time, and he is now drawing $1,550 a year, though in all the time he was in office he only paid into the fund $632.33, or not enough to pay one half year's allowance. Mr. Russell, chief clerk, served twenty years, and had a salary of $2,350; ten years were added to the time when he was superannuated in 1884, and his retiring allowance is $1,671.24, though he paid in nothing to the fund. Other similar cases were given. The increase under the present government was far in excess of that under the Mackenzie regime. The amount drawn by those on the superannuation list on the 1st January, 1886, reached $1,059,095, or an average of $2,508 for 423 servants, towards which each had paid on an average $168, or not sufficient to pay a half year's allowance on the amount drawn. From the above it will be seen to what an extent this Government have abused their powers under the Civil Service Act, and what sweeping reforms are required in it in order to put a stop to this lavish and unjust waste of public money.

The Last Year, 1885.

After the above year is ended there need be no person suffering from rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache lumbago, or any acute pain, if they only purchase a bottle of Fluid Lightning, as it cures instantly. Pain cannot stay where it is used. The name is Fluid Lightning. Sold by Thomas S. Petrie, Druggist.

CAMPBELL'S

TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

Silk and Dress Goods Department

The general opinion is that in novelty of design and richness of fabric, the goods are such as are shown in the best houses of New York. Then we have all the newest styles of Trimmings to match every shade of goods, which makes it a real pleasure for ladies to make selections for their toilets. In Dressmaking our patrons are assured of getting the most graceful and stylish garments, made by one of the best cutters and fitters in Ontario.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS

We feel assured in saying that no lady who has had the opportunity to make comparison of the several establishments in the city, will admit, that for variety, elegance, taste and ability displayed in the making, quantity and value, there is anything that will at all compare with ours. The high and well merited reputation of our Manager, Miss Manny, the extent of our purchases, and the special attention we pay to this Department, are winning us hosts of new customers, and we cordially invite all ladies who are not already patrons, to give us a trial.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

Our Stock is all beautifully New and Fresh and of the very Latest Styles.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

GRAPES FROM THORNS.

"Now, then," he said.

"You sit down, too; you look so tall and priestly standing there. No, not priestly either; even in your long black coat which you wear out of doors you never look priestly."

"Surely that is a pity. Ought not every man to look his profession?"

"Perhaps you do, for you always look so human. I suppose that is why you have got on so well with the people here. No doubt a priest ought to be an essentially human man, but he very seldom is."

"Are you sure of that?"

"No; as usual, I spoke without thinking. Before I go I shall ask you to give me a receipt for not doing, and saying, and thinking the first thing that comes into my head; it has been my misfortune and the origin of my misfortunes all my life."

He at once noticed the latter part of what she said, but he only replied—

"If you are troubled with the thought that you make mistakes both in action and judgment, remember that it is because you are full of life, and it is better in all cases to be alive than dead. You know the saying that a live mouse is worth more than a dead lion. We are disinclined to accept its truth until we remember that what makes it true is that in every living thing, however small and insignificant, by which," with a humorous smile, "I have no intention of indicating you, there are infinite possibilities, and that more may be done with and hoped from the smallest living possibility than greatest dead fact in the world. There is a long sermon for you, and as sermons are very dreary things, I will tell you at the end that you are very hopeful, and possess boundless possibilities."

She smiled as he spoke and said—

"Whatever good advice you give me—and your advice is always good, though I have sometimes shut my eyes to it at the time—you always wind up with a compliment. I should hardly have thought you approved of compliments."

"A compliment in the true sense is the truth put in its most attractive form; because it is a mistake to imagine that truth possesses inherent ugliness; it is often exceedingly beautiful. Compliments which go beyond the truth are only flattery, and all flattery is nauseous."

"She was silent for a moment, and then went on—

"But I did not ask you to give up your time to me only to tell you that I generally act upon impulse and then regret it. I wanted to tell you that, during and since this last illness I have been thinking, and I see that I ought not to stay here any longer. I must go back to my husband."

"For the moment," said the rector, "we will put all personal feeling aside, and so I tell you candidly that I am more glad than I can say to hear this."

"If you will be generous enough to overlook the apparant want of confidence, I should prefer not to give you my reason for it," she said, with rather heightened colour and a little hesitation.

He did not reply at once—he was looking thoughtfully into the fire, and she, misunderstanding him, said—

"If you wish it I will tell you, but it is not——"

"My dear child," he interrupted, lightly covering her hand with his own as he spoke, "do not misunderstand me. I was considering whether I ought to tell you, and I think I ought, that I know your reason. Holme told me at once. Am I not right?"

She said nothing, and he went on—

"I hope you are not annoyed."

"No; I am glad he told you, I would not have done so, partly for his sake and partly because it was such a hateful thing I cannot bear to think of it. But I am glad you know. I think you had a right to know."

"It was an unpardonable error on his part; but I fear we were partly to blame. No; I do not mean in that way," he went on hastily, as he saw the look which her face took. "Personally, of course, no particle of blame could attach to you; but we, Mabel and I, ought to have remembered that Holme did not know your story; that while your husband was constantly in your mind and your return to him only a question of time, all he knew was your name, and that you stayed on here, and seemed to have neither friends nor husband. We took things too much for granted."

"I cannot see that he had any excuse at all. He might have known, he might have made inquiries, and to speak at such a time, in such a place, the want of respect——"

She paused; indignation and wounded pride choked her voice. After a pause she went on more quietly—

"We will not speak of it, but now you can understand that it is imperative I should go back to my husband."

"Certainly; try if that thought cannot make you feel more forgivingly to Holme. He is now lonely and embittered beyond description; he will never get over this, and never forgive himself; but what he said has decided you to do what all alone you felt you ought to do.'

"I daresay there is something in what you say and perhaps I shall see it some time, but at present I cannot."

"What do you think of doing?"

"It was about that I wanted to speak. If you will add another kindness to the many, many you have shown me, I thought if you would write to Percival and tell him you want to see him—offer to go to Brantwood, and there tell him everything before he sees me. Will you do that? Do you mind? Is there any other way you would prefer?"

"That will do very well; I will write by to-night's post."

"I cannot thank you."

"Now that we have arranged that," he said, after a short pause, "let us turn to the personal part. I am very glad you have decided to do this, though I feel sure you would, your instinct is so true. For the rest, it will be very, very hard to part with you; you have grown into our lives."

"I can never feel wholly sorry all this happened; but for it I should never have known you and Mrs. Longworthy."

"A misfortune may be great indeed if it is not wiped out by the gain of a friend."

"Now I will not keep you longer," she said, rising. "I feel much better—the usual effect of a talk with you."

"Is that compliment or flattery?" opening the door for her as he spoke.

"That I leave to you to decide."

* * * * *

"Read this, Helen, and tell me if it will do?" said the rector, coming in to tea with a letter in his hand, and as she handed it back to him signifying her approval, he went on—

"I am going to post it myself; it is not to be trusted to Fanny. Stay, is the address correct?"

She took the envelope and read—

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, and after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

GRAPES FROM THORNS.

"Now, then," he said.

"You sit down, too; you look so tall and priestly standing there. No, not priestly either; even in your long black coat which you wear out of doors you never look priestly."

"Surely that is a pity. Ought not every man to look his profession?"

"Perhaps you do, for you always look so human. I suppose that is why you have got on so well with the people here. No doubt a priest ought to be an essentially human man, but he very seldom is."

"Are you sure of that?"

"No; as usual, I spoke without thinking. Before I go I shall ask you to give me a receipt for not doing, and saying, and thinking the first thing that comes into my head; it has been my misfortune and the origin of my misfortunes all my life."

He at once noticed the latter part of what she said, but he only replied—

"If you are troubled with the thought that you make mistakes both in action and judgment, remember that it is because you are full of life, and it is better in all cases to be alive than dead. You know the saying that a live mouse is worth more than a dead lion. We are disinclined to accept its truth until we remember that what makes it true is that in every living thing, however small and insignificant, by which," with a humorous smile, "I have no intention of indicating you, there are infinite possibilities, and that more may be done with and hoped from the smallest living posibility than greatest dead fact in the world. There is a long sermon for you, and as sermons are very dreary things, I will tell you at the end that you are very hopeful, and possess boundless possibilities."

She smiled as he spoke and said—

"Whatever good advice you give me—and your advice is always good, though I have sometimes shut my eyes] to it at the time—you always wind up with a compliment. I should hardly have thought you approved of compliments."

"A compliment in the true sense is the truth put in its most attractive form; because it is a mistake to imagine that truth possesses inherent ugliness; it is often exceedingly beautiful. Compliments which go beyond the truth are only flattery, and all flattery is nauseous."

"She was silent for a moment, and then went on—

"But I did not ask you to give up your time to me only to tell you that I generally act upon impulse and then regret it. I wanted to tell]you that, during and since this last illness I have been thinking, and I see that I ought not to stay here any longer. I must go back to my husband."

"For the moment," said the rector, "we will put all personal feeling aside, and so I tell you candidly that I am more glad than I can say to hear this."

"If you will be generous enough to overlook the apparant want of confidence, I should prefer not to give you my reason for it," she said, with rather heightened colour and a little hesitation.

He did not reply at once—he was looking thoughtfully into the fire, and she, misunderstanding him, said—

"If you wish it I will tell you, but it is not——"

"My dear child," he interrupted, lightly covering her hand with his own as he spoke, "do not misunderstand me. I was considering whether I ought to tell you, and I think I ought, that I know your reason. Holme told me at once. Am I not right?"

She said nothing, and he went on—

"I hope you are not annoyed."

"No; I am glad he told you, I would not have done so, partly for his sake and partly because it was such a hateful thing I cannot bear to think of it. But I am glad you know. I think you had a right to know."

"It was an unpardonable error on his part; but I fear we were partly to blame. No; I do not mean in that way," he went on hastily, as he saw the look which her face took. "Personally, of course, no particle of blame could attach to you; but we, Mabel and I, ought to have remembered that Holme did not know your story; that while your husband was constantly in your mind and your return to him only a question of time, all he knew was your name, and that you stayed on here, and seemed to have neither friends nor husband. We took things too much for granted."

"I cannot see that he had any excuse at all. He might have known, he might have made inquiries, and to speak at such a time, in such a place, the want of respect——"

She paused; indignation and wounded pride choked her voice. After a pause she went on more quietly—

"We will not speak of it, but now you can understand that it is imperative I should go back to my husband."

"Certainly; try if that thought cannot make you feel more forgivingly to Holme. He is now lonely and embittered beyond description; he will never get over this, and never forgive himself; but what he said has decided you to do what all alone you felt you ought to do.'

"I daresay there is something in what you say and perhaps I shall see it some time, but at present I cannot."

"What do you think of doing?"

"It was about that I wanted to speak. If you will add another kindness to the many,many you have shown me, I thought if you would write to Percival and tell him you want to see him—offer to go to Brantwood,and there tell him everything before he sees me. Will you do that? Do you mind? Is there any other way you would prefer?"

"That will do very well; I will write by to-night's post."

"I cannot thank you."

"Now that we have arranged that," he said, after a short pause, "let us turn to the personal part. I am very glad you have decided to do this, though I feel sure you would, your instinct is so true. For the rest, it will be very, very hard to part with you; you have grown into our lives."

"I can never feel wholly sorry all this happened; but for it I should never have known you and Mrs. Longworthy."

"A misfortune must be great indeed if it is not wiped out by the gain of a friend."

"Now I will not keep you longer," she said, rising. "I feel much better—the usual effect of a talk with you."

"Is that compliment or flattery?" opening the door for her as he spoke.

"That I leave to you to decide."

* * * * *

"Read this, Helen, and tell me if it will do?" said the rector,coming in to tea with a letter in his hand, and as she handed it back to him signifying her approval, he went on—

"I am going to post it myself; it is not to be trusted to Fanny. Stay, is the address correct?"

She took the envelope and read—

McGregor's Speedy Cure.

When we say McGregor's Speedy Cure is the only perfect cure for dyspepsia, liver complaints, indigestion and impure blood, we are telling plain facts, of which hundreds upon hundreds can testify who have been restored to perfect health by its use. We would therefore advise you strongly if you are a subject of any of the above troubles to give McGregor's Speedy Cure a trial and be convinced. It is sold in 50c. and $1.00 bottles at Thomas S. "OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $9.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store.

M. NEAGLE & CO.

time I came there, but don't know who they were.

Constable Flowers was the next witness, his evidence corroborated the time at which the men were sent out, and in other particulars were something similar to that which he gave formerly.

In being cross-examined by Mr. Field he said the two men were sent out by the police every time they went. They said the Chief offered them a place if the hotel-keepers were convicted.

John Hudson, sworn, said to Mr. Field:—The defendant got a horse a little after 3 p.m. of that day; the horse was returned a little past 6 p.m.; I was out frequently; Middleton couldn't be around the hotel there without me seeing him; am a temperance man myself.

To Mr. Peterson—My stable is a part of Reinhart's stable; don't remember whether he was alone; don't know what became of him; I attended to my ordinary avocations; don't remember whether I was at the bar of the Commercial that p.m.; couldn't say whether the two men were there or not that afternoon.

Thomas John Middleton, to Mr. Field—I am the defendant in the case; was behind the bar at the hotel on that day at 12 o'clock; remember the two men coming in; they came in at about 12 or 12:30; sold them no intoxicating liquor; they asked me for some; was behind the bar from 8 till 3 o'clock in the afternoon of that day; told them that this was a Scott Act county, and they could not get any strong drinks; they said they were wet and had been travelling; have no liquor behind the bar; went into possession at 3:30 o'clock that morning; was down the Waterloo Road with Thorne between 3 and 3:30 o'clock that afternoon; got the horse at Hudson's; came back about 6 o'clock; was away all that time; there were these two strangers in the bar-room at about 9 o'clock in the evening; they asked to get a bottle filled; Welsh did not fill it to my knowledge; was talking to Welsh about renting the bar at the time; Welsh could not have filled the bottle without me noticing it.

To Mr. Peterson—I was around town on Monday; I could not get possession of the bar on Monday because Reinhart said he had to remove his stuff first; Welsh was to get possession Wednesday morning; drove around town, stopped at various places; told the men I had lime juice and they got lime juice; one took the lime juice and the other a cigar; Holmes paid me for the lime juice; Porter said he didn't like the cigar; there is a little hall behind the bar filled with coal stoves; they did not ask me to fill the flask when they asked me for the lime juice.

John Goin's evidence was of little importance, beyond stating that he saw Middleton and Thorne driving on the Waterloo road in the afternoon.

In being cross examined by Mr. Peterson he said: I was after a job when I was in the Commercial; I saw the two men call at about 12.30; don't think they got a drink when I saw them at the hotel then; saw Middleton about five on the Waterloo road; asked him where he had been; he said we have been out getting watercresses; I saw Middleton again at about nine o'clock; Welsh was then clerking behind the bar.

Thomas James Thorne said to Mr. Mcwat—Saw the men in the bar at noon Tuesday; did not hear them speak to Mr. Middleton nor get any drink; about three o'clock Middleton asked me to go for a drive to Hespeler and got back about ten minutes to six.

To Mr. Peterson—Middleton picked me up for the drive at the Commercial; he told me that he was thinking of selling out as he had got a good thing; looked at the clock before I went out and am sure it was a quarter past three.

James Welsh was the next witness. On being examined by Mr. Mowat he said that he did not think the men got anything to drink in the afternoon; did not see Middleton from three to six o'clock; did not see the two men get any drink; they asked me for it and did not get any intoxicating liquor.

To Mr. Peterson—Took charge of the place Wednesday morning; the bargain between myself and Middleton for the renting of the bar was talked about Tuesday night, but not finally settled; the men came in about half-past four and asked for strong drink and I told them I had not any, and they went away without taking anything; mentioned the lime juice first; saw them in the evening about nine o'clock when they again asked me for something to drink and I replied that I had not got any; was not much surprised at seeing them again; there is a lager beer keg, with a tap in it, in the little room in the back; it is sitting on a chair beside the stoves.

To Mr. Field—Know nothing of how the barrel came there, nor never drew any beer out of it.

Mr. Field and Mr. Peterson then addressed the Court.

The Magistrate, in summing up, remarked that the large number of people who were at the court all day, many of whom he recognized as respectable citizens, who would have to leave their work and different avocations to be present, showed the interest which was manifested, both on the Scott Act and Anti-Scott Act sides, in this trial, and he judged that they desired an expression of opinion from him on the Act. He then referred to the unseemly applause which had greeted the counsel for the defence during his address. The Scott Act had not been cast upon the people without their having a chance to vote, and if the Act was carried by a large majority it was not on account of its opponents having no opportunity to have it defeated. The passage of the Act was the will of the people, and it was the duty of every citizen to abide by it. If the law was a bad law, the best method should be taken to appeal it, but not to set it at defiance, and assuredly those who did so would find that the law was stronger than they. At first he thought the law did not provide ample provisions for enforcing it, but on a careful perusal he had come to a different conclusion. He was sorry that these cases had come before him, and so soon after the law came into force, and he was also sorry that those in authority should entice others to break the law, and then turn around and punish the offenders. He considered that there was no difference between the man who incited another to do an unlawful act and the one who did it. It was no part of his jurisdiction to interfere with the police authorities, but he, as a magistrate, had a right to express his opinion. He then read Section 15 of the Summary Jurisdiction Act. He was quite sure the authorities thought that they were doing right in this thing. He thought it was wrong and a great mistake for people to tempt these men to sell intoxicating liquor contrary to law and then turn around and inform on them. It was quite a mistake to think that an informer's evidence was of no value, for it was, and he proved this from the law. A remarkable fact in a case of this kind was that men would go into the witness box and say things which they would not do under any other circumstances. For the sixteen years in which he had acted as Police Magistrate in Guelph he never saw two witnesses give such clear testimony. They may have differed on a few trivial particulars but this only went to strengthen the evidence. They had been spoken of as tramps, but this in no way affected the credibility of their evidence. It was not necessary that accomplices should be corroborated in every point of evidence. He would have to throw out the testimony of Middleton and Thorne, not that he accused them of perjury, but thought that they were mistaken. As he had remarked before, he was sorry that the law had not been better respected, and that these cases, should have come before him. He was bound, however, to do his duty so far as his judgment lay. In cases of this kind it was well that the defendants should be ably defended, as a great deal of responsibility rested on the magistrate, there being no appeal. Of the many cases which had come under his notice he had not heard of one so clear as this, the proof being clear and positive. The evidence of Cartledge and Hilliard was also out of consideration. He trusted that it would be a long time before any more Scott Act cases would come under his consideration.

John Doran was then called, and was fined $50 and costs to be paid within 30 days, and in default thereof distress would be laid on his goods and chattels, and in default of that 30 days in jail. Middleton and Welsh were also fined $50 each, on the same conditions but the fine had to be paid forthwith.

When the Magistrate called for Welsh and Middleton to appear to be charged they were no where to be found, and the police authorities have not seen them yet. It is generally rumored that they have skipped.

Seizure of a Schooner.

HALIFAX, May 7.—An investigation was held on board the steamship "Lansdowne" this afternoon into a charge against the United States fishing schooner detained at Digby. The vessel is the "David J. Adams," of Gloucester, commanded by Allen Kennedy. The investigation resulted in the seizure of the schooner, and she will be taken to St. John to-night by the "Lansdowne." The complaint is that her crew purchased bait at Digby.

The Land Slide at Dundas.

HAMILTON, May 7.—A tremendous land slide occurred on the G. T. R. near Dundas about 12 o'clock last night, burying the track with rock, etc., for a distance of 300 feet, and to a depth of about 50 feet. Five lines of the G. N. W. Telegraph Company and two belonging to the railway were rendered useless. A side line will be built round the fallen mass, and it is impossible to estimate what time it will take to remove the debris and place the old track in a fit state for traffic. The slide is pronounced to be the largest that has ever occurred in this country.

Warlike Again.

ATHENS, MAY 7.—The populace are enthusiastic over the prospect of a war with Turkey. Soldiers are parading the streets singing patriotic songs. They are everywhere cheered, and are at present the most popular persons in the city. A large number of soldiers remain here. The foreign squadron has returned to Suda Bay. The Greek fleet has left Salamis, and it is believed gone to Pieras. It is not believed Russia will take any share with the other Powers in the ulterior work of coercion against Greece.

Stocks were flat to-day, owing to the Eastern crisis. Greek securities fell 2 to 3, and Turkish 1.

Tragedy in Toronto.

TORONTO, May 8.—A terrible tragedy was enacted in the northeastern section of the city yesterday just as the afternoon was closing. No. 510 Parliament street, opposite the gates of St. James' Cemetery, was the scene of the affair. Charles Reid, a drunken, worthless man, shot his wife with a revolver twice and then shot himself. Mrs. Reid is living and likely to recover, but the would-be murderer is no more. One of the bullets lodged in his wife's elbow and has been extracted, the other took effect in the woman's neck. The would-be murderer shot himself in the head, the ball lodging in the brain.

JOHN CROWE, Proprietor

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address DR. H. G. ROOT,

Diptheria.—The name strikes a chill to a mother's heart as she realizes what a dangerous malady it is. With a bottle of pain killer in the house she feels that she has a still more powerful cure, and half the terror is destroyed.

Another Set Back for Farmers.

Probs.—Increasing northeasterly or southeasterly winds; partly cloudy to cloudy weather with local showers, mostly in the southern portion; not much change in temperature.

THE grass around the fountain on St. George's Square has been cut. It needed it.

EGGS of Dorkings weigh 5 pounds 12 ounces per score, Leghorn eggs a little over 3 pounds, and Spanish eggs 2 pounds 14 ounces.

FISH are so plentiful in some parts of Canada that in order to tell a first-class lie the sportsman has to swear he didn't catch any.

MR. R. H. YOUNG, of the Pioneer Express, Pembina, Dacota, called at the MERCURY office to day. Mr. Young formerly resided in the northern part of this county.

IT is said that a comet is coming this way with a tail 12,000,000 miles long. This ought to be enough to stop the assertion that Henry James' tales are the longest in existence.

S. M. BARRE, ex-professor of dairying matters in the Ontario School of Agriculture, has been engaged by the Manitoba Board of Agriculture to deliver a series of lectures in that province, on dairying.

COURT OF REVISION.—Judge Drew will hold his adjourned Court of Revision of the voters' list for the city for the Local Legislature in the Court House on Monday evening at seven o'clock. The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. These parties should be present on Monday.

A GENTLEMAN from Berlin was in Listowel the other day, endeavoring to get the Council to give a loan of $2,000, to furnish a suitable building for a button factory, and to exempt the property from taxation for five years. As there were no guarantees given as to the employment of a stated number of hands, or other securities for the investment, it is not likely that any action will result from the proposition.

THOMAS NELSON PAGE, the author of "Marse Chan," one of the most popular stories printed of late years, will publish the longest story he has yet written, in the June Century. It is entitled "Meh Lady; A Story of the War." The romantic and affecting narrative is put in the mouth of old Billy, an ex-slave, and it is illustrated with three designs by W. T. Smedley.

CLOSING UP BARS.—The Dufferin Post says:—The hotel keepers in town, now see that it is folly to disregard the Scott Act, as the Ontario Government have taken up the enforcement of the law. The bars are now closed and intoxicating liquor is not sold openly as heretofore. The first fine being only $50 was not a serious matter, but now that the second is being imposed of $100, with the prospect of jail for a third offence, the prospect is not so pleasant.

PRESENTATION.—The Listowel Banner says:—Mrs. John McKenzie, being about to remove to Guelph, a number of her lady friends met at the residence of Mr C. Tabberner, on Wednesday, and presented her with a "Hannerette," and some words of good cheer. After spending a few hours in social intercourse, the meeting broke up, all expressing regret at having to part. Mrs McKenzie goes to Guelph to join her husband, who is engaged as cutter in one of the largest tailoring establishments in the Royal City.

ABOUT CHEESE.—Prof. J. W. Robertson, the Government Superintendent of Dairying for the Ontario Agricultural College, delivered an exhaustive address on the proper handling of milk, and the most approved methods of making cheese, at a meeting of cheese makers held in Listowel last week. Mr Robertson contended that the best way to salt cheese was as far as possible to supply the cows with plenty of salt and have the saline element supplied to the cheese through the milk rather than to the curd.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—A rather unusual accident happened to a horse belonging to Mr. John Moffatt, of Nassagaweya, on Thursday last whereby the owner laments the loss of a fine animal, worth $150. Mr. Moffatt's brother was harrowing with a team of horses and in turning the harrow was upset against one of the horses, causing it to sit down on the teeth, one of which ran some nine inches into his body, and making such a wound that the animal bled to death in the course of a couple of hours. Possibly this accident may cause others engaged likewise to be careful even in small things.

A WELLINGTON MAN ABROAD.—The Victoria Times, B. C., of the 30th April, has the following:—"Mr. Frank Green, Superintendent of the Missouri Division of the Northern Pacific Railway, who arrived in the city on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Green and a party of ladies and gentlemen returned east yesterday. Mr. Green is an example of what push and energy, pluck, perseverance and probity can accomplish. Born and brought up on his father's farm, in the township of Pilkington, in the County of Wellington, Ont., he had to endure many of the hardships incident to farming life remote from schools and other social advantages, which obtained to a large extent in the east a quarter of a century ago. Leaving the paternal roof at an early age, in 1867, he entered the railway service in the United States. Gradually he acquired a knowledge of telegraphy, the running of trains and traffic generally; he has crept up the ladder of preferment until he reached his present position. His case is similar to that of hundreds of others from the same country who could be named. It is probable Mr. Green will be a more frequent visitor to this city hereafter, with which he was so charmed." Mr. Green's father was killed at Mickle's bridge, Elora Road, in 1880.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

In Impaired Nerve Function.

Dr. C. A. Fernald, Boston, Mass., says: "I have used it in cases of impaired nerve function, with beneficial results, especially in cases where the system is affected by the toxic action of tobacco."

REGULAR meeting of the Board of Education to-night.

THOMAS MIDDLETON, who was implicated in the liquor selling case paid his fine.

MR. E. F. B. JOHNSTON arrived in the city to-day and is conducting the business for the Crown at the spring assizes which opened this afternoon.

THE 44 bottles of ale, a bottle of whisky, a mixed bottle of drinks, and a flaskful of beer, found in the Commercial Hotel, are to be destroyed in accordance with the Act, by the police authorities this afternoon.

MR. GEORGE FYFE, Paisley Block, while engaged in the raising of a frame building last Wednesday was struck by a falling bent. He was badly bruised and in consequence has since been confined to bed, but is rapidly recovering.

MARY GARVEY, (commonly known as Irish Mary) had two young lads named Wm. and John Stanley, before the Police Magistrate this morning on a charge of throwing stones at herself and at her house. The boys were dismissed with caution.

THERE is a rumour on the street to-day that the Chief of Police is to be prosecuted for inticing parties to violate the Scott Act. This is in connection with the two men whom he employed to inform on hotel keepers who were suspected of selling liquor.

A GREAT PROMISE.—The bloom which is now well out on all the fruit trees except late apples is the heaviest seen for years. If the crop turns out anything like it promises it will be tremendous. There is great anxiety at present lest frost should blight the prospects. If the blossoms escape another week the fruit will then have set and danger from that cause will be past.

THE "HERALD" SUIT.—On Friday the trial of Chadwick vs. Murphy was continued before Judge Ferguson, having already lasted about two days and a half. Mr. Kerr, for the plaintiffs, began his argument about half-past four o'clock. He claimed that the sale of the stock, plant, and good will of the Guelph Herald under the mortgage from Mr. and Mrs. Chadwick should be set aside (1) on the ground of collusion between the mortgagee and the purchaser, Mr. Gummer; (2) on the ground that the sale had not been sufficiently advertised, and (3) on the ground that the sale was not in accordance with the power in the mortgage. On Saturday the argument was continued. Mr. Blake spoke from ten o'clock till after three, and Mr. Kerr in reply went on till about five. At the conclusion of his argument the learned Judge announced that he would require time for consideration before giving his decision.

DEATH OF AN AGED MINISTER.—On Saturday, an aged Methodist minister, Rev. John Douse, died suddenly at his son's residence, 130, Mutual street, Toronto. He had been as well as usual during the morning and took dinner. Later on he complained of illness. In a short time he became unconscious, and died peacefully in a few hours. He was about eighty years of age. Mr. Douse was born in England, where he received his education. He was ordained in Canada in the year 1834 as a minister of the then Wesleyan Methodist Church, and immediately entered upon the work, filling appointments during a very busy life at St. Catharines, Cobourg, Belleville, Hamilton, Kingston, Toronto, Barrie, London, Guelph, Ottawa, St. John's, Que., and Paris. Being a man of unusual ability he was chairman of the districts in which he was stationed during the years from 1849 to 1870. In 1858 and 1859 he was co-delegate. From 1860 till 1880 he was Treasurer of the Superannuated Ministers' Fund, and discharged the duties of the office with great fidelity and efficiency. In 1873 he was superannuated. He leaves several children, one being the wife of the Rev. Thomas Crosby, missionary to the Indians at Fort Simpson, B.C. Two daughters live in Toronto, one being the wife of Mr. H. Hough, son of Mr. James Hough, Clerk of the Crown, of this city. Until a short time ago his home was at Barrie. Rev. Hugh Johnston and Rev. Dr. Potts made feeling reference to the deceased from their pulpits yesterday.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Day has made a contract for six hundred dollars worth of baby carriager, first lot expected next week. Nice goods and big value at Day's Bookstore.

ENGLISH Boaters, and American Mackinaw hats at Shaw & Grundy's.

READY mixed paints, all shades, true to color card, fishing tackle, garden tools, oilcloth, linoleum, and mats, at John M. Bond & Co's.

Handsome goods at Nelles' City Bookstore. Our place is full of new, nice, cheap goods for the trade. Call and see them.

Green Lettuce, Radishes and Onions, Choice Fruits and a fine selection of Flowering Plants, at George Williams', 81 and 83 Upper Wyndham St.

Our Dress Making department is in the hands of Miss Amiss, of New York. We are now ready to take orders. Ryan, Berkinshaw & Co. d

New wall paper, borders and decorations at the City Bookstore, and all the praise they require is to say we have a larger stock, nicer goods and cheaper prices than last year, and we astonished people last year. Come and see them before buying. J. A. Nelles.

Children's carriages, new, stylish and cheap, at Nelles' City Bookstore. Don't be misled. You get the best value in the city from J. A. Nelles.

IT always requires time to establish a reputation, but ability will always tell in the long run, and so it has proved in the present case. Miss Todd the Dress Maker at the Lion is now doing the largest and best trade that has ever been done in that establishment. d

Try Loch's unrivalled Teas and Coffees. Careful personal attention given to the blending so as to strengthen and flavour. Italian Warehouse, 89 Wyndham street.

THE reduced prices of B. B. Hughes spring goods attracts more customers than even the spring millinery openings and brass or string bands. The public know he is the only real wholesale dry goods man in Guelph. Go to him if you want your new spring goods at wholesale prices. d

SEEDING OPERATIONS.—Farmers are complaining loudly of the wet weather which has paralyzed seeding operations this spring. In some sections about Guelph farmers have not yet started seeding although the season is so far advanced and the earliest of the lands have been seeded in very few cases. Just as the ground dries nicely after one rainfall another comes to stop operations. A forghtnight's spell of dry weather would be very acceptable just now.

FOUND ON THE COWCATCHER.—On Saturday the 8.28 express from the south brought to Preston a dead body which had been found on the cowcatcher. It seems the man was walking on the track between Preston and Galt near the Credit Valley crossing, and not hearing the train, was killed and thrown on the cowcatcher. His age is about 50, tall, no whiskers, weight about 190 pounds, dressed respectably and had a little money in his pocket.

PURCHASE OF CATTLE.—Mr. Robert Tait, of Winnipeg, who owns a ranche some 40 miles south-west of Winnipeg, on which he has over 300 head of cattle, has been in this vicinity for the past three weeks, purchasing cattle to improve his stock. He has been all the way down to Montreal prospecting, and found that he could get no better cattle for breeding purposes than in the County of Wellington. He and Ald. Hearn, who is an expert buyer, have been scouring the country for suitable animals, and the result is that they have purchased some of the finest grades and thoroughbreds available, at a cost of $2,300. The animals were purchased as follows,—4 head from Ald. Hearn, 5 from Mrs. Macdonald, 2 from Mr. J. Howitt, 7 from Mr. J. I. Hobson, Polled Angus bull from Mr. Thos. McCrae, purchased from the stock of the Ontario Experimental Farm; Hereford bull from Mr. Dawes, Lachine; Short Horn bull from Mr. Wm. Whitelaw, a heifer from Mr. Crane, and two grade heifers from Mr. Thos. Holliday, together with a French Canadian entire horse. The shipment is a very fine one and will no doubt improve the breed of cattle in the Northwest.

Base Ball.

Scheiback and George are great roller skaters. Wally Millar also does some artistic work on the wheels.

Hamilton were defeated by Buffalo by the score of 1 to 0, and Toronto defeated Rochester by 6 to 4 on Saturday. These were the first games of the International series.

Billy George succeeded in batting the ball over the left field fence Saturday. It is the first time it was ever accomplished.

The Maple Leaf players would like to have a game of polo with the City Band club. It would be a drawing event.

Williams has been troubled with a sore arm, but is coming all right again. He has the reputation of being a hard hitter.

Zell, the new pitcher, kept Memphis down to a single hit last season. He also led the fielders in the Southern League.

STRUCK WORK AGAIN.

The Toronto Street Car Men Quit Once More.

Toronto is again the scene of a street car strike. Three hundred men obeyed their K. of L. Assembly's Order not to go to work Saturday morning. The men are determined to hold out. Mayor Howland has issued a proclamation forbidding gatherings on the street during the strike. Hon. Frank Smith, President of the Company, arrived in town Saturday and went back to Ottawa Sunday night. He says he will fight it out if it costs him $100,000 and takes all summer. He has published a letter stating the case of the Company. A statement of the men's position is also published.

From what can be gathered the issue between the men and the Company is not one of wages, nor of long hours; for if the men made a demand for the former, or for a modification of the latter, it is more than likely, from the tenor of Frank Smith's conversation, that these would be conceded. The issue narrows itself to this: Shall the men of the Company be "Knights of Labor or members of any labor union." Mr. Smith does not say he will not treat with his men as employes of the Company but he declines to have anything to do with them as members of a union.

The root of the difficulty is to be found in the fact that the Aldermen who interviewed Frank Smith in March either misunderstood him or misrepresented him when they told the men that the Company would take them back. Some of the Aldermen, doubtless, with a view of smoothing matters, made statements to the effect that Frank Smith had "caved in"; in his statement he says he stipulated that he would only take the men back on the old terms. Since they went back some of the men who were Knights have been removed, whether for being Knights or for other causes cannot be stated; but the strikers think because they were Knights, and they claim that Frank Smith had agreed not to discharge men for such cause. Frank Smith says he agreed to nothing of the kind. Hence the misunderstanding. If Frank Smith's statement is to be accepted, then the men are in the wrong if they are striking for "flagrant violations" of an agreement that Frank Smith says he never made; if they are striking for the right to band themselves into a trades union or to join the Knights of Labor, that is another issue altogether, and one that they have a perfect right to fight out as they see fit. If the settlement of March had been put in writing, this trouble would have been avoided.

Great Fire at Hull.

HULL, Que., May 9.—A disastrous fire visited this place last night. All the buildings on the east side of Duke street and along one side of Philemon street are destroyed, as well as the handsome new postoffice on Main street. The real value of the buildings destroyed is estimated at about $125,000. There are 110 buildings divided into 155 tenements, and in these probably 175 or 200 families resided. In the stores on Main street a lot of stock was destroyed. The total loss may safely be placed at $175,000 or $200,000, on which there is very little insurance.

Secession Favored.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 8.—Provincial Secretary Fielding's resolutions favoring the secession of the Province of Nova Scotia from the Canadian Confederation were carried in the House of Assembly to-night by a vote of 15 to 6.

Botanical Rambles.

Last Saturday several members of the Guelph Scientific Society, under the leadership of Prof. Panton, spent the afternoon at practical botany in the woods near Mr. Goldie's.

The weekly lectures on this subject have been largely attended since the commencement, there being some 40 members in the class, all of whom seem much interested. Since the spring flowers have appeared specimens have been given to the class at each lecture for analysis and identification. It was considered advisable to have a field day for the purpose of seeing the plants in their native haunts, and for that object the excursion of Saturday was made. A member of the society has kindly furnished us with the names of plants obtained and identified:

LILY FAMILY.—Bellwort, Adder's Tongue, Purple Trillium, White Trillium, Wild Leek, Small Solomon's Seal, False Solomon's Seal.

ROSE FAMILY.—Barren Wild Strawberry, Wild Strawberry.

CROWFOOT FAMILY.—Liverleaf, Early Meadow Rue, Buttercup.

BARBERRY FAMILY.—Blue Cohosh, Mandrake.

VIOLET FAMILY.—Yellow Violet.

POPPY FAMILY.—Bloodroot.

FUMITORY FAMILY.—Squirrel Corn.

SAXIFRAGE FAMILY.—Mitrewort, Wild Currant.

BIRTHWORT FAMILY.—Wild Ginger.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 8.

It was 4.30 when the House adjourned this morning. Our report left off at the point where Mr. Castigan's amendment to Mr. Blake's Home Rule motion having been adopted, the Opposition leader moved that the latter be sent to Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Coughlin moved in amendment that it be sent to Mr. Parnell.

Sir John Macdonald suggested that Mr. Coughlin's amendment be withdrawn and a motion passed to send the resolution to Mr. Gladstone, the Leader of the Opposition and Mr. Parnell.

Mr. Blake called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. Coughlin's amendment was lost: Yeas 52, nays 141.

Sir John Macdonald moved that the address be sent to the Speaker of the House of Commons, England.

Mr. Blake said it had been decided that the Speaker had no authority to communicate an address to the House, and he asked for the Speaker's ruling on this point.

The Speaker sustained Mr. Blake's point, and said that when a communication was sent him from British Columbia he treated it merely as a private communication.

Sir John Macdonald withdrew the amendment.

Mr. Mills moved that the address be sent to Mr. Parnell as well as to Mr. Gladstone. Lost; yeas 69, nays 87.

Hon. Mr. Thompson moved that the address be transmitted to the High Commissioner for Canada for the information of the members of the House of Commons of the United Kingdom. This amendment carried; yeas 80, nays 70.

The main motion was carried as amended; yeas 140, nays 82.

The Bill to amend the Steamboat Inspection Act of 1883 was read a third time.

The Bill for the relief of the town of Cobourg, and the Bill to explain the Act to settle the claims of Manitoba were read a second time and passed in committee the proposed central farm and station near Ottawa would cost to purchase and establish $120,000 and about $15,000 yearly to maintain afterwards. The total first cost Mr. Carling's Experimental Farm Stations Bill was read a second time and considered in committee up to recess The Minister estimated that of all the proposed farms and stations, Federal and Provincial, is estimated at $240,000 with $30,000 to $35,000 yearly to maintain.

After recess the House went into committee of supply and considered Sir H. Langevin's estimates until midnight, when the House adjourned.

Spring Assizes.

The Spring Assizes opened this afternoon before Mr. Justice O'Connor.

At the opening of the Court Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., on behalf of the Bar of the County congratulated His Lordship on his elevation to the Bench and on this his first visit to Guelph in his capacity as Judge. His Lordship replied, and thanked the members of the Bar for their hearty congratulation and expressed the wish that he and the Bar would always remain on the best of terms.

In addressing the Grand Jury His Lordship had a great deal of pleasure in informing the gentlemen of the Grand Jury that there was not a single prisoner in gaol, and the cases which would come before them were few in number, and none of them of a very serious nature. He briefly directed the jury as to their duty in dealing with the cases before them. His Lordship remarked that he was somewhat averse to saying anything to the jury with regard to matters not strictly within their province. He would refrain from asking them to consider or pass any opinion on the Scott Act, the labor question, or any similar matters. These were matters to be dealt with by the people at large, and did not, in his opinion, come within the scope of the judge, in charging the Grand Jury. He again congratulated them on the small docket before them.

Acting Sheriff Mr. H. Gow presented His Lordship with a pair of white kid gloves, on account of there being no prisoners to come before him for trial.

Taylor v. Marchand.—This was an action brought by James Taylor, of Guelph, against C. Marchand, of Cobden, in the County of Renfrew, to recover $266.57 for certain goods sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendant. Verdict for the plaintiff for full amount claimed, with costs. G. W. Field and T. P. Coffee for plaintiff, and Deacon, De La Haye & Deacon, of Pembrooke, for defendant.

A Fatal Mistake.

CHICAGO, May 9.—The fact developed to-night that when Rosenfeld's drug store was raided by the mob Wednesday and the rabble seized upon every bottle that had the appearance of being a receptacle of spirits a large bottle of carbolic acid was among the others carried away, and owing to its general resemblance to whisky it was passed from hand to hand after the raid and drank by half a dozen or more of the mob. The acid began to take effect as soon as it entered the stomachs of the rioters, and in spite of the best efforts of the doctors two of the drinkers have died and three more are at death's door.

The Evening Mercury

MONDAY EVE'G MAY 10, 1886.

A Matter of Some Moment.

In 1881 certain gentlemen in Hamilton and Toronto got a Provincial charter to build a railway from Toronto to Burlington Beach. In 1884 they received a Dominion charter extending the time three years and empowering them to continue the line to the International Bridge. At present there is a bill before Parliament which is evidently being engineered in the interests of the Canada Pacific Railway, which proposes that the provision that the line shall have its terminus at the International Bridge be struck out. It looks as if this projected that the main line would run parallel with the G. T. R., and that it would not touch a point nearer Hamilton than the Beach, eight or nine miles away, leaving the city to be served by a spur branch, whereas the people of the Ambitious City want the line to come through the western part of the city. Some time ago cerrain other gentlemen obtained a charter to run a line north to Puslinch and Guelph and easterly to the International Bridge. Now, if the changes proposed in Parliament were allowed to pass they might materially affect the building of this road, wh ich would open a desirable country to Hamilton. The Council of the Board of Trade of that city, discerning this, met the other night and passed the following resolution :

That the Council of this Board strongly nisapproves of any amendments to the Northern and Northwestern Junction Railway Bill, which wouln serve no purpose for the advantage of the country that cannot better be served by another charter now in existence—the Hamilton, Guelph and Buffalo Railway Company, from Hamilton northward to a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and southwest to the Niagara river.

That resolution was telegraphed to the Hamilton members of Parliament at Ottawa and a reply was received from them asking the objections of the Board of Trade. To this a letter was sent explaining the objections in full.

On Friday evening a special meeting of the Hamilton City Council was held to consider the matter, and a deputation of the Board of Trade appeared and explained what action they had taken. After some discussion the following resolution was passed :

That the Council of the City of Hamilton, having been notified of the action of the Council of the Board of Trade with reference to the Northern and Northwestern junction railway bill, requests the Senators and members of the Commons for the city to oppose any extension of the charter that does not make Hamilton a station on the main line, with the station inside the limits of the City of Hamilton.

This is a matter of importance to Guelph as well as Hamilton. If the latter were served by the C. P. R. from Toronto we would lose its influence in the construction of the Guelph, Hamilton and Buffalo line, of which the Guelph Junction is intended to form a part. As the building of that line would open up a new country to Hamilton and give us that other outlet which we want to the lake and to the east, Hamilton and Guelph cannot do better than stick together and work for this railway as they did for the Wellington, Grey and Bruce fifteen or sixteen years ago.

The man who does not know the Indian is generally a great admirer of the noble red man but the man who is intimately acquainted with the redskin knows him to be a deceitful rascal all through.—Spectator

That is a statememt which some people may regard as quite true. But does it not strike the reader as being queer that the Spec should have supported the enfranchisement of the Indians so strongly when it has such a poor opinion of them ?

In granting a bill of divorce to Mrs. Birrell, of London, the Dominion Senate have taken the ground that the divorce which the husband obtained in Detroit, while living apart from his wife, was invalid. The measure set forth that the respondent had been guilty of cohabitation with a woman whom he treated as his second wife, after a pretended divorce in Michigan. But the Senate decided that the divorce procured in Detroit did not hold good, as no notice had been received of it by the petitioner.

The International Exhibition, which was opened at Edinburgh by Prince Albert Victor of Wales on Thursday, was projected mainly for the display of products of the mechanical arts of Great Britain. There is a hall with machinery in motion and an exhibition of paintings of a very creditable description. With the Indian and Colonial Exhibition in London, the International at Edinburgh, and the Liverpool Exhibition to be opened by the Queen in person next week, the British public will have a surfeit of shows for some time to come.

The local election in Vercheres and the victory of the Liberal candidate has more significance than the Tories are willing to admit. The defeat of the Conservative candidate by a handsome majority marks a revulson of feeling against the Dominion Government, and is the hand writing on the wall which foreshadows its discomfiture in Quebec at the next general election. Mr. Bernard, though an honest old farmer, was personally a very weak candidate—a fact which was admitted by friends and foes. His opponent is a man of note; he is the nephew of the late Sir George Etienne Cartier, and the prestige borrowed from the name was no obstacle to success; he is a good speaker, and is known as a man of pluck and talent. He had every personal quality to recommend him as a representative man; but he was found wanting in one essential particular. He sympathized with the Government at Ottawa, and that was sufficient to damn him in the eyes and esteem of the electors, although the election was purely a local one.

The Hamilton Spectator is cruel. Conservative and subsidized as it is it asks : "Would it not be well for Mr. Beaty to drop the last letter of his name ?"

The Nova Scotia Legislature has followed the example of that of Quebec in passing a resolution of sympathy with Home Rule, and encouragement to Mr. Gladstone in the great work in which he has now on hand. It is as follows : "That this House desires to record its warm sympathy with the noble efforts put forth by the Premier of Great Britain in the direction of giving Home Rule to Ireland, and expresses its sincere hope that his efforts may be crowned with success." If the Provincial Legislatures feel justified in adopting resolutions of this character, surely the Dominion Parliament, which is the representative body from the different Provinces, is also justified in adopting similar resolutions, even though the Colonial Secretary told us on receipt of the Home Rule resolutions passed in 1882 that such subjects did not come within the scope of the Dominion Parliament's observation. Events have moved quickly on, however, since that time. We are now face to face with the question, and we do not think it is out of place—in fact we look upon it as a sort of duty—for the highest representative body in the Dominion to endeavour to strengthen the hands of Mr. Gladstone in this crisis of Britain's affairs, when he is trying to find a remedy for the one cankering sore of the Empire which no skill or courage has been hitherto able to heal.

We referred the other day to the series of resolutions, moved in the Nova Scotia Legislature by the Premier, Mr. Fielding, praying that the Province may be allowed to withdraw from the confederation. It is as well to give the reasons set forth in the resolutions. They are as follows:—(1) that the objections urged against the union nineteen years ago are now more deeply fixed than ever; (2) that, previous to confederation, Nova Scotia had the lowest tariff and was in the best financial condition of any of the provinces; (3) that now our commercial and financial condition is in an unsatisfactory and depressed condition, which is largely caused by the high tariff and fiscal laws of Canada; (4) that there is no prospect of improvement under the existing arrangement; (5 that New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island are in no better position than Nova Scotia, and that these three Maritime Provinces would vastly better their conditions by withdrawing from the Canadian confederation and uniting under one Government; (6) that negtiations with New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island be entered into with this end in view, and, in case they refuse, that Nova Scotia herself shall ask of the Imperial Parliament the right to withdraw from the union with Canada and return to the status of a Province of Great Britain with full control over her tariff, trade, fisheries, railways, etc., and (7) the legislature thus declares its opinion in order that candidates for the suffrages of the people at the approaching election may be enabled to place this vital and important question of separation from Canada before them for decision at the polls.

Count Esterhazy, President of the Hungarian Immigration and Colonization Aid Society, was in Ottawa a few days ago for the purpose of making some arrangement with the Government for a grant of land on which to settle immigrants from his country. The society ask no money from the Dominion Government, but ask for a grant of land, and powers similar to those given by the American Government. Should he succeed in getting the encouragement he asks, he has already a large number of Huns ready to start and settle in the Dominion. Last year he succeeded in obtaining a charter from the United State Government, which enables the society to settle newly arriving Huns in any part of the American union, and will continue in force for 50 years. He has already settled at Hungariansville, on the land of the Manitoban and Northwest, railway 47 families, consisting of 250 souls. In expectation of making a favorable arrangement with the Government, he is looking, in a few days, for about 250 immigrants, which he would like to settle near Qu'Appelle, and he has 540 families ready to start from Europe. Quite a number of those who went to the States last year are also anxious to come to Canada. It is hoped the Government will give the Count every encouragement for the bringing to this country a large n umber of his countrymen, especially of the industrious and thrifty farming class.

CHAPTER XXIX.

AN UNEXPECTED CALLER.

It was a few minutes before the dinner hour when Sir Cuthbert came in to the drawing room at Brantwood, and the whole party had already assembled. Everyone looked at him with a feeling of interest—they all knew that he had just come back from India, and some at least guessed why he had gone there. Those few were a little surprised that he came to Brantwood, and watched his meeting with Mrs. Moore rather curiously. There was nothing to gratify the feeling. Mrs. Moore looked very beautiful; she again wore her pansy-colored velvet robe which became her so well; there was a slight flush on her cheeks, called up perhaps by the anticipation of meeting with her old lover, and her eyes looked deeper and softer than usual. Sir Cuthbert was, as we know, a striking looking man, almost un-Englishly dark in complexion, a darkness which had been increased by his sojourn in India. His manners were grave and dignified, also, perhaps, a little foreign. Few Englishmen would in the presence of so many people, and with the memory of the past vividly before them, have raised the hand of their hostess to their lips with the chivalrous grace with which Sir Cuthbert performed that little ceremony. Beyond that there was nothing to see. His eyes rested on Mrs. Moore's beautiful face with undisguised admiration, but his compliments, if he paid any, were murmured in too low a voice for any one but herself to hear. After the first greetings he hardly addressed his hostess, but talked a great deal to Percival, of whom he had formerly known very little. The two men seemed to get on.

The days passed and the visitors at Brantwood began to disperse. One after another they went, until at last none were left except Sir Cuthbert, and he stayed on, showing neither desire nor intention to leave. No one who had seen the way in which Alice speeded the parting guest would have had any suspicion that when the last was gone she would turn to Sir Cuthbert and say—

"Now we may begin to think of enjoyment."

They were a great deal together. Percival was just then very busy, and he left his wife and his guest very much to their own devices. Even with Alice's warning ringing in his ears he could not conjure up any feeling of distrust or uneasiness. He had perfect confidence in Alice, and it did not occur to him to suspect Sir Cuthbert.

Neither had he any ground for suspicion. Though these two walked and talked and read together, never had any word which Percival might not have overheard, been uttered by either. The change which had taken place in Alice continued. Her manner was marked by a quietness and indifference which seemed almost unnatural. She was perfectly calm, almost subdued. Percival had over and over again expressed concern for her health, and asked if she would like to go away, but he always received the same answer; she was perfectly well and glad to be at peace and free from the strain and exertion of entertaining a house full of visitors.

It was on a chill damp morning that Alice, Percival, and Sir Cuthbert sat over the breakfast table. The letter-bag had been opened and its contents sorted and given to their different owners. Each of the party had many letters; Percival's, which related chiefly to business, were the soonest despatched. There was nothing either surprising or attractive in any of them except one, and that was the shortest of them all. It ran as follows:—

"Dear Mr. Moore,—I should be glad if you would appoint a day at your earliest convenience upon which I might call upon you. I have communication of the utmost importance and interest to make.—Believe me, yours very truly,

"RUPERT LONGWORTHY."

Percival meditated on this note in silence. His wife and guest were still reading their letters, and in addition to that, Alice took so little interest in his private concerns that he seldom mentioned them to her. As he was of a patient nature he took a small table-knife between his fingers and balanced it carefully, while waiting until Alice should pour out the coffee. Sitting opposite to his wife his eyes fell upon her face and rested there. How she was changed! The once haughty mouth had a downward droop, and the lips were slightly compressed. She was paler than before, and as she suddenly realized that her companions were waiting until it should be her pleasure to supply their wants, she raised her head with a word of apology, and her eyes met those of her husband fixed upon her face. She coloured a little and averted her head, but not before he had seen that her eyes were changed too. They were not sad, rather thoughtful and weary, but the old haughty flash was gone. He had no time to think of it just then. Sir Cuthbert folded up the last of his letters and returned it to its envelope with his usual deliberation. Conversation began, and his opportunity was for that time lost.

Later in the morning he thought of it again. Alice could not be happy, and he rather feared that he had been wanting in attention lately. There were times when he felt Helen's loss more keenly than at others; when her absence and the recollection of her caused him absolute suffering, and such a time had just now arrived. He was not happy any more than Alice. Every day he found it more difficult to play his part, and he feared that his indifference was visible. The days had begun to drag; formerly they had been all too short, now each day had to be lived through by an effort. Every night he had a feeling of thankfulness that the day was done, but on the following morning it had all to be gone through again. He had begun to think of going away for a length of time, but though he turned the plan over in his mind he could not find any plausible reason for going alone. However he thought it out, it always came back to the same thing; he could not go without Alice. When he thought of a repetition of those few weeks after their marriage, he felt it was beyond his strength; better remain at home and pursue his work alone. It was true that Alice had ceased to annoy him with displays of jealousy, but he felt that they were thoroughly unsuited for one another, and he resolved to keep Sir Cuthbert with them as long as he could.

Wholesale and Retail.

OH NO!

A LITTLE old man has been telling the people that D. Spragge has sold his pump business. But it is not true, he only sold some surplus machinery. He has removed to Dr. Cowan' buildings adjoining McConnell's carriage works, and is better prepared than ever to execute all orders entrusted to him. Come along boys.

D SPRAGGE.

Kindly Accept our most Hearty Thanks.

You have done us good and we are properly grateful. You have seen fit by your purchases to increase our sales by many thousands of dollars beyond what it has been in the past.

We have striven and will continue to strive to deserve the confidence placed in us.

It is only by going to the foreign markets that we can procure goods to the very best advantage. To do this, it is necessary to buy in very large amounts. So much is this the case that there are very few retail houses in Canada who can import to advantage, but those who can handle the quantities and are acquainted with the old country markets are on a level with the wholesale houses in this country from whom other merchants buy their goods. Now we claim that we are selling many lines of goods at just the figures that merchants buying in this country pay for them. Then why pay two profits when you can save one by buying directly from importers.

Our Stock is all beautifully New and Fresh and of the very Latest Styles.

NEW ARRIVALS,

A visit to our Store will interest you and it will give us much pleasure to show our goods, as we are convinced styles and prices are right.

GENTLEMEN,

We have engaged in the department you are interested in, the services of Mr. J. R. McKENZIE, a man we can safely say unequalled in his line in the Dominion. We know what we assert in this matter, and we are certain that he will give the very best satisfaction when you favor us with an order. Our styles and prices are right and our fits are the best.

MR. JAS. GOLDIE'S paper on "The song birds of our country," under the auspices of the Guelph Scientific Society, promises to be very interesting. It commences at eight o'clock in the basement of the Congregational church this evening. There should be a large attendance of members and others.

THE VICTIM IDENTIFIED.—A paragraph was given yesterday stating that the body of an unknown man had been found on the cow catcher of a G. W. R. locomotive at Preston on Saturday night. The body has since been identified as that of Mr. Duncan Cameron, of the Gore of Puslinch, better known as "Lochiel." The deceased was a laboring man who had lived for 45 or 50 years near Crieff. It is supposed that he had gone to the Galt station on Saturday evening to take the train for home, and that being too late to catch it started to walk along the 10th concession on his way home, and that he was struck at the railway crossing. He was about 65 years of age. The body was removed to Mr. John Stewart's place, Crieff, and was interred this afternoon in the East Puslinch cemetery.

THE WELLINGTON HOTEL.—One o'clock to-day was the time fixed by Mr. Thos. Watts, for the sale of the Wellington Hotel furniture, but before that time the sale had been declared off in the meantime in consequence of negotiations for the disposal of the stock by private sale' Mr. P. Spragge, livery stable owner, had determined, if possible, to prevent the hotel from being closed, and in overture with Mr. Watt received a very favorable offer of the furnitpre. The directors of the building were not, however, disposed to make such liberal terms for leasing the property. Mr. Spragge mentioned his proposal to buy out the stock and lease the building on condition that leading merchants and Scott Act men would undertake to raise $500 to assist him in assuming the responsibility. This a number of gentlemen interested in the city's welfare have undertaken to do and the Wellington will probably be reopened on Monday under the new management. Mr. Charles Corman, who had a large share of the responsibility under Mr. Watts will be engaged as manager, and Mr. Spragge's son, formerly book-keeper for A. McBean & Co., will assume the duties of clerk in conjunction with the management of his father's other financial affairs. The hotel will be leased for one year with the option probably of taking it for five if the venture proves a success under the Scott Act. It will be run as a first class Commercial House, the rate being raised from $1.50 per day to $2 which will be a very fair charge. It is understood that the stock was purchased for about $3,500 and that the yearly rental is $1,200, the taxes, to be paid by the lessee, amounting to about $350.

SABBATH SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY, PAISLEY STREET METHODIST CHURCH.—On Sabbath last Rev. D. W. Snyder, of Hamilton, preached two eloquent sermons on behalf of the above school, that in the morning specially adapted for the children, that in the evening to parents. The collections, being in aid of the library fund, were large. Last evening the church was well filled with a most respectable and attentive audience. At 8 the school came in in procession headed by the superintendent, Mr. Wm. Clark, from the lecture room, and took their seats upon an elevated platform most tastefully decorated with a host of most beautiful plants in flower. The pastor, Rev. Wm. Savage, led the devotional exercises, and introduced a lengthy programme, but if we may judge from the strict attention paid each and every piece rendered, was not too long. It would be invidious to refer to any one in the school or the part they took, as each scholar from the oldest to the youngest performed their part well, as the applause each one received fully testified. Mr. W. Clark, the superintendent, gave a most encouraging report of the school. Rev. Wm. Savage at intervals made a few remarks to relieve the motonony and give the school time to breathe. Every one who heard the school sing both on Sabbath and last night were surprised to find such good singing. The infant class, under the able management of Mr. Millard, astonished the audience with their songs. A vote of thanks given in most suitable terms, speaking most highly of Mr. Clark, and Mr. Dyson, who had so well trained the school in singing, and the officers and teachers for their admirable work, was proposed by His Worship the Mayor, and seconded by Alderman Maddock, and supported by Mr. J. Ryan, was unanimously accepted by the audience. At 10.30 p. m. Rev. Mr. Savage pronounced the benediction and the National Anthem was sung in hearty style. Mr. D. Scroggie ably presided at the organ.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Several Matters of Interest Claim Attention.

The regular meeting of the Board was held on Monday evening. Present—Mr. Murton in the chair, Messrs. Kilgour, Knowles, Cottis, Murton, Bruce, Myers, Skinner, Fairbank, Spragge, Peterson, Bollert, Stewart, Burgess, Bell, Mackenzie, Dr. McGuire, and the Rev. Father Doherty.

Moved by Mr. Murton, seconded by Mr. Kilgour, that the minutes as read be confirmed.

Mr. Skinner, seconded by Mr. Fairbank, moved an amendment objecting to the minute as regarded the Public Schools. The amendment was withdrawn and the minutes were passed.

From Principal Tytler, showing the attendance at the Collegiate Institute for April. Number of pupils on the roll 229, attendance 205, boys 95, girls 75, total average 170.

Several accounts were presented and referred.

A lengthy communication was read from Capt. Clarke in reference to the entertainment which he is to get up on the 24th of May. The Captain stated that all the arrangements had been completed and that money prizes to the amount of $200 had been collected, together with handsome cup valued at $25, given by Col. Macdonald, and other prizes, which will be on exhibition in the window of Shaw & Grundy's shortly. The members of the Board were asked to officiate as judges, etc. The communication also recommended the appointment of a few special police on account of the large number which would likely be present on the excursion from Toronto. With reference to the recent entertainment given by Capt. Clarke in the rink towards a gymnasium for the Collegiate Institute it was shown that the expenses were $150, which had been paid, and that $175 had been placed in the bank to the credit of the gymnasium fund. The Board was asked to provide three banners or so for the entertainment on the 24th.

Moved by Mr. Cottis, seconded by Mr. Murton, that this Board fully endorse this action proposed to be taken by Captain Clarke in reference to the proposed celebration on the 24th May. That they will gladly render him any assistance in their power and that the Secretary be instructed to ask the City Council to appoint special constables for that day and that this Board supply Capt. Clarke with three banners. Carried.

Mr. Murton, Mr. Myers, and other members of the Board paid a flattering tribute to Capt. Clarke for the efficient manner in which he had trained the scholars, and also for his indefatigable efforts in that direction.

In accordance with the request of Capt. Clarke, a gentleman—Mr. Newton, chairman—was appointed to give away the prizes to the girls, and a lady—Mrs. Col. Macdonald—to give away the prizes to the boys.

FINANCE.

Mr. Knowles in the absence of the chairman reported recommending the payment of the following accounts:—H. McLellan, $6; Wm. Tytler, $34.93; J. A. Nelles, $11.30; Ed. Stannard, $10.40; W. S. G. Knowles, $12.10; S. Barrett, $12.95; Kloepfer & Richardson, $33 39; W. H. Mills, $5.60; Innes & Davidson, $30.76; gas for laboratory, $1.20; J. A. Nelles, $18.66; total, $167.29. Adopted.

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT.

Mr. Geo. Murton (chairman) reported: Your Committee beg leave to report that they have enquired into the case of Harvey Webber referred to them from last meeting of Board, and find from evidence brought forward that the boy was desired to learn a certain lesson in geography by the next day, and was warned by Mr. Cook, the teacher, that if it was not that he would be punished for neglecting to do so. He left his books at the shop all night, and when asked the next morning on his way to school if he knew his lesson he said no, and also that he would not take a whipping. He then proceeded to the school, but not knowing his lesson the teacher went into another room for the strap, but on his return the boy was gone. Isaac Johnston, W. Williamson, and Harry Mills all corroborated the teacher's statement, and also testified to his refusing either to learn his lesson or take his punishment. Mrs. Webber said the boy was not very strong, and that she did not want him punished, but had never stated so to the Principal or teacher. The Committee unanimously recommend that the course pursued by the Principal and teacher be approved of, and that they be sustained in the discharge of their duties, as the discipline of the school must be kept up. We would further recommend that until the boy Harvey Webber goes back and take his punishment, he be not admitted to the school.

Quite a discussion took place on this report.

Mr. Skinner thought the boy should be admitted back on sufferance.

Mr. Murton said the boy would not learn his lessons nor would he submit to be whipped. For the discipline of the school it was but right that the boy should submit to be whipped before he was taken back.

Mr. Bollert understood that the boy had been treated fairly. He was adverse to corporal punishment but in this case there was nothing to complain of, the boy having received the same treatment as other boys. The committee could do nothing else but sustain the teacher.

Mr. Cottis said that it was well the teacher should know the disposition of the child. Kindness would conquer where harshness would fail. He was glad to know that parents having a child of a peculiar temperament had the opportunity of explaining this to the teacher or Principal. Every parent should become aware of this fact.

Mr. Tytler explained that he was altogether adverse to corporal punishment, and every plan possible was first resorted to, and so it had been in this case. To allow the boy to go back without being whipped would be encouraging insubordination.

The report was passed.

On motion of Messrs. Fairbank and McGuire, a vote of thanks was passed to Capt. Clarke, Mrs. Whitehead and those who took part in the recent entertainment at the rink.

SITES AND BUILDINGS.

Mr. Bruce, chairman of the Sites and Buildings Committee, reported on repairs for the year as follows:

High School—Committee have purchased soil excavated at Burr's for ten cents per load to make terraces on grounds; they recommend the employment of a competent man to level the ground and make the terrace; also the whitewashing of rooms upstairs and the purchasing of a mat for outside door.

West Ward School—Furnishing of winter sash for all windows; also the whitewashing of both rooms and the bricking up of two doors.

Senior Girls' School—The boarding of the back stairs and the whitewashing of room and hall.

Central School—The fitting up of kitchen and bedroom in basement for caretaker, cost $125; also a six feet board fence from girls' school to McCrae's line, cost about $22; build retaining walls and a new lock for the door.

We would recommend the recoating of the blackboards in all the schools where required. We would mention that we found the water closets in the West, South and North Ward Schools in a very filthy condition and would call the attention of the School Property Committee to the fact. We also would recommend that a tie post be placed at each of the ward schools.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, School Inspector, presented his report for April:—Number of pupils enrolled 1,403, being 11 less than in the corresponding month of 85; roll average to each teacher, 54; genera average, 41; daily average, 53.

BIBLE IN SCHOOLS.

Mr. Fairbank submitted his motion of which notice had been given at the last meeting, "That the Board believing that the whole Word of God should be read in our schools all teachers should be instructed to resume the practice as formerly."

The mover supported the resolution by condemning the action of the Education Department in taking the bible out of the schools and substituting in its place a work containing selections from the Holy Scriptures. Many citizens were not pleased with this step and he with them thought that the whole bible should be used.

Mr. Cottis favored the resolution in a brief speech.

Mr. Bollert differed. There were parts in the bible, which however great our reference might be for it, were not fit to be read before children. He himself had been shocked by a minister reading a certain passage from the pulpit.

Mr. Murton spoke in a similar strain and pointed out the danger that would be incurred of losing the Government grant if the Board refused to use the books assigned by the department.

Mr. Skinner supported the motion and said the same objections could be taken to the daily newspapers.

Mr. Kilgour did not commend the adoption of the motion. There were even parts of the Old Testament which he would not read before young people.

Mr. Peterson made a very able defence of a continuance of the work prepared by the Department. It had been carefully revised by leading ministers of all denominations and embraced all the passages calculated to prepare the young mind for life and duty.

A division then took place on the motion.

Yeas—Messrs. Cottis, Myers, Skinner, Fairbank Stewart—5.

Nays—Messrs. Kilgour, Murton, Bruce, Spragge, Peterson, Burgess, Mackenzie, Bollert—8.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

Mr. Skinner gave notice that at the next meeting he would introduce a motion calling on all the chairmen of the committees to present statements of their estimated expenditures for the year; that no committee shall enter into a contract without the consent of the Board, and that the chairman of a committee be authorized to expend $5 in case of emergency without consulting his committee.

Mr. Fairbank gave notice of motion to change the date of meeting to the second and fourth Mondays in every month.

The Board adjourned at 10.20.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT.

Several Ticket Agents of the Grand Trunk Under Arrest.

Yesterday afternoon a rumour spread around street that the well known and popular ticket agent of the G. T. R., Wm. McFarlane, had been arrested for an offence of a similar nature as described above. At first those who were well acquainted with McFarlane would not for a moment credit the news, but on making an investigation it was found to be only too true. Last night the Assistant Auditor, Mr. Price, of Montreal, was busily engaged auditing McFarlane's books, and had also taken charge of the stubs of the ticket books. The case was brought up before Police Magistrate Saunders this morning at half-past ten o'clock, Mr. W. Macdonald appearing for the prisoner, and Mr. Wood, Q. C., Stratford, for the prosecution. His Worship said that he had power to try the case, but as it involved several things which he had no desire to investigate, he would only hear evidence. On the request of Mr. McDonald the Court was adjourned until twelve o'clock, so as to allow him time to consult with his client.

The Court was accordingly resumed at twelve o'clock. The information was laid by George Marien Skinner, of Montreal, Special Agent in connection with the passenger department, and charged Wm. McFarlane with embezzlement, 1st of $11.50, 2nd of $10, and 3rd of $2. It seems that it is not necessary to lay more than three charges.

The authorities state that for the past two years they have been trying to get at the bottom of these defalcations, and are likely to make a general arrest all along the line where they find sufficient proof to make a conviction, and the end is not yet. It is understood that several prominent citizens in Guelph and elsewhere will be implicated in the charges for acting in collusion with the agents in purchasing tickets which they were aware were under the regular rates.

The ticket agent here is favorably known and considerable sympathy is manifested for him. It is a general impression that the Grand Trunk authorities screw down their employees to the last notch, and present a temptation for those who have a chance to help themselves. Of course this is no excuse for swindling the Company out of money, but at the same time there is little doubt if the men were better paid the Company would no suffer so much loss as they appear to have done within the past few years, and would also save something in the employment of detectives.

The first witness called was Mr. Johnson, ticket agent. He stated that Wm. McFarlane had been day operator for over one year and night operator and ticket agent for two or three years. He had the exclusive sale of tickets in the day time. A book was produced showing the day's sales of tickets, and kept by the prisoner. On the 2nd of February, 1886, in the prisoner's handwriting, near the foot of the page, was an entry which showed that tickets Nos. 2166 and 2167 had been sold to Hespeler for 25 cents each—50 cents in all. On April 7th, 1886, ticket No. 1826 was sold from Guelph to Gourock for 15 cents as shown by the book. The stub of this ticket was produced which corroborated this fact. The ticket itself was produced, and fitted the stub. This ticket was a pass from Guelph to Richmond, Que. In the returns for the second period of April, 1886, tickets No. 139 and 140 were issued from Guelph to Hespeler. One of these tickets was marked cancelled, and a return of 25 cents credited to the Company. Mr. Johnson, on examining the stub of No. 140 found that it was blank, and no entry made of where it was sold to. On the ticket being produced it read from Guelph to Windsor, and corresponded with the blank stub. All these entries in the books and the writing on the tickets were sworn to by Mr. Johnston as being in the prisoner's handwriting. On being cross-examined by Mr. W. Macdonald Mr. Johnston stated that often McFarlane would sign his (Mr. Johnston's) name to documents as he had not time to attend to all the signatures necessary, but he never had any express authority to do so. It would also be easy for a ticket agent during the hurry of selling tickets to leave a blank and fill it up afterwards.

Mr. Price is now giving his evidence and several other witnesses have yet to be examined.

The prisoner was sent up for trial, bail not being accepted. The case will likely come off at the next Assizes.

For months past the General Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway Company has suspected the existence of conspiracies to defraud the company out of considerable sums of money through the "doctoring" and falsifying of tickets by their employees. The matter was placed in the hands of Mr. W. W. Pops, of Belleville, assistant to Mr. John Bell, Q. C., solicitor for the company, some time ago, and under his instructions several good, sharp detectives were detailed to investigate the matter. These men, it appears, were up to their business, and it was not long before they were on the track of what appeared to be the facts in one conspiracy at least. They formed a pretty good idea of the surroundings and acting on their suspicions they set their decoys at work. Persons in league with the detectives, and the detectives themselves, went to the Grand Trunk stations which were suspected and purchased tickets for different points long distances from the respective stations. The schemes were something as follows:—A passenger goes into one of these ticket offices and buys a ticket for a main point some distance away. The ticket, the destination on which would be written by the ticket agent at the station in question, is given the passenger and the full price charged. The agent then does his work of falsification. Instead of filling in the stub of the ticket back to correspond with the ticket, he fills in, perhaps, the name of the next station as the destination. Now the difference in the fare to the next station and the main point or proper destination would be considerable and the agent pockets the balance, sending a few cents to the audit office as the amount received in payment of the fare. This scheme is a rather barefaced one, but the agent runs the risk, no doubt thinking that the Grand Trunk auditors do not take the trouble to compare the ticket with the stub in the book. The detectives have bought tickets in this way, and instead of travelling on them have sent them to the audit office themselves. The other scheme is carried out through collusion between the ticket or station agent, as the case may be, and the passenger. There is a certain form of ticket used on the Grand Trunk Railway which reads:—"——— to ——— and return," the name of the turning point being written by the agent selling the ticket. This ticket is also torn from a stub which should correspond with the ticket. The intending passenger, who "stands in" with the agent, buys a ticket for a place some distance away and return, generally at specially reduced rates. He travels on that ticket to his destination and uses the same ticket on the way back till he arrives at a station or two from his starting point. At this station he gets off, and for a small amount he buys a ticket home, and instead of handing the conductor the return ticket he gives up the ticket just purchased, keeping the round trip ticket. On his arrival home he hands the ticket back to the agent, who generally destroys it and "doctors" up the stub in his book, the number of which corresponds with the number on the ticket, and makes it appear to the auditor as if a ticket had been sold for a station a few miles away and return, and the ticket had either not been taken up by the conductor or lost. By this round about arrangement the agent feels comparatively safe—especially when the ticket has been returned to him and has been destroyed. In this way the railway company is said to have been defrauded out of thousands of dollars within the last few years. The management of the company appear to have made up their minds that the employees must act squarely and honestly no matter what comes.

Fall Assizes.

GUELPH, May 10th.

Worswick vs. Howland.—This was an Interpleader issue directed by the Court to be tried at these Assizes, for the purpose of determining whether the plaintiff, Thomas Worswick, of Guelph, or defendants the executors of the late Frederick Aiken Howland, of Toronto, were entitled to certain goods seized by the Sheriff under an execution against Bernard McMahon, of Fergus. The plaintiff claimed to be entitled under a chattel mortgage made to him, and the defendants claimed to be entitled under their execution, alledging that the renewal of the chattel mortgage made by McMahon to Worswick was irregular and illegal, and that he was therefore not entitled to hold the goods as against the execution. Verdict for plaintiff. Mr Guthrie, Q. C., and Mr Watt, for plaintiff. Mr F. Arnoldi for defendants.

TUESDAY EVE'G MAY 11, 1886.

The Home Rule Debate.

The most exciting debate of the session took place on Thursday on Mr. Blake's resolution respecting Home Rule in Ireland. It is as follows:

"That an humble address be presented to Her Majesty to respectfully assure Her Majesty that the interest and concern felt by the Commons of Canada and the people whom they represent in the condition of Ireland, and their desire that some means may be found of meeting the expressed wishes of so many of Her Majesty's Irish subjects for the granting to Ireland of a measure of local self-government, still continue as warm and earnest as in the year 1882, when they were humbly signified to Her Majesty by an address, to the terms of which this House affirms its abiding adhesion, humbly to inform Her Majesty that this House hails with joy the submission by Her Majesty's Government to the Parliament of the United Kingdom, of a measure recognizing the principle of local self-government for Ireland, and humbly to express to Her Majesty the earnest hope of this House that the principle of the said measure may be affirmed, and that it may form a basis for such a settlement of this great question as shall conduce to the peace, happiness and prosperity of the Empire."

In other respects this debate, and the action of the Government, was of a most unique and extraordinary character. We need not here repeat Mr. Blake's reasons for moving his resolution at this particular juncture. These reasons were given with great force in the eloquent speech from which we gave an extract the other day. As Mr. Blake stated, he waited for the Government, or some individual member of it, to move in the matter, but they declined. He then in the discharge of what he considered to be his public duty moved the above resolution. This placed the Government in a dilemma, and in their attempt to get out of it they placed themselves and their followers in a supremely ridiculous position. Mr. Costigan was made their instrument in so doing. He it was who moved the Home Rule resolutions in '82. He it is who constantly professes in loud mouthed language to be the advocate and champion of Ireland's rights. And he it is who was selected by his colleagues to propose a resolution refusing to give an expression of opinion favorable to Home Rule, or to send a word of encouragement across the Atlantic to strengthen Mr. Gladstone's hands in the great work in which he is now engaged. He moved an amendment vaguely favoring Home Rule, but that the Dominion did not think it advisable to address Her Majesty the Queen on this subject owing to the reply received to the address of 1882, although it trusted that such a measure would be granted as would tend to promote the peace, welfare and prosperity of Ireland.

In the attitude now assumed by Mr. Costigan in relation to this question, the people can have but one opinion. He has sacrificed his professions of fealty to Ireland by becoming the tool of the Government, and by thus basely deserting a cause which he professed to have so much at heart for the sake of retaining office, and becoming the obedient servant of the Orange influence in the Cabinet. In thus degrading him from the position which he so long affected to hold as the accredited champion of his countrymen, his colleagues have deprived him of that character, but he was the willing instrument in their hands.

But what shall we say of the action of the leader of the Government in this matter. Being determined to deprive Mr. Blake of the credit which is his due for bringing this question before Parliament, he concocted the resolution which Mr. Costigan moved, and which, as will be seen, is of the vaguest character. Mr. McMullen moved an amendment to be added to Mr. Blake's resolution, which affirmed the principle of Home Rule for Ireland. This put the Government and their supporters in a very awkward position, for in voting against the resolution as amended they voted against the principle of Home rule for Ireland. The Government, with Mr. Costigan and his Irish friends, however, did this, though it must have been a bitter pill for them to swallow. But the Orange shadow loomed overhead, and they had to obey its behests. On Mr. Costigan's ammendment being carried Mr. Blake moved that it be forwarded to Mr. Gladstone as the best expression of opinion which he and his friends could obtain, seeing that his own manly and generous resolution was voted down. The Government being again determined to baulk him in his purpose, put up one of their friends to move that it be sent to Mr. Parnell instead of Mr. Gladstone. But this would have been such a direct insult to the British Premier that both sides of the House united, with only a few exceptions, in voting it down. Sir John after this seemed to have lost his head altogether for he next proposed that Salisbury's name be added, which was ruled out of order. He then tried another shift by moving that it be sent to the Speaker of the British House of Commons, but this would not do either, for Mr. Speaker, after Mr. Blake called attention to the fact, informed Sir John that according to rule neither he nor the Speaker of the British Commons could communicate such a resolution to Parliament. Being thus foiled at every turn, and Mr. Blake's amendment about Mr. Gladstone being the only one now before the House, the Minister of Justice as a last resort moved that it be sent to our Commissioner, Sir Charles Tupper, which was carried, the Opposition voting for it as the next best thing to which they were seeking.

Thus ended the farce, or rather burlesque, for such it was. In their apparent jealous efforts to thwart Mr. Blake they got themselves and their followers into such a muddle as was never, we believe, before witnessed in Parliament. They lost complete control of their followers for a time, while at every step in the debate they got more and more bewildered by Mr. Blake's skilful generalship until they became the laughing stock of the Opposition, who sat looking on with excusable exultation. Driven from one point to another they in shear despair fell back on Sir Charles Tupper. The proposal to send the resolution to him is simply ridiculous, for what can he do with it other than transmit to the leader of the Government, the very man to whom Mr. Blake moved it should be sent direct.

THE report of the Committee on Agriculture in Congress has reported favourably on the bill defending butter and imposing a tax of ten cents per pound upon and regulating the manufacture, sale, exportation and importation of oleomargarine. In the course of the report it is stated that there are in the United States over fifteen million cows, producing annually over one million pounds of butter and three hundred million pounds worth of cheese, $250,000,000; that an amount of milk of equal value is annually consumed, making the value of the annual product of the dairy interests $500,000,000; that cows are worth on an average $40 per head until the introduction of counterfeit butter, and are now worth $30 each, making a total loss of $150,000,000 in milk cows alone; that during the last year there were slaughtered in Chicago alone about three hundred thousand milk cows; that there are from four to five million American citizens engaged in the dairy business, and that they must all abandon it and be driven into some other already over worked branch of industry unless they can be relieved from the present ruinous competition with cheap imitations of butter and cheese. From the best and most reliable information obtainable the committee believe that about two hundred million pounds of spurious and imitation compounds and mixtures are now being manufactured annually, which not only take the place of so much butter, but stops the consumption or much more by the demoralization of the trade, besides being, in the committee's opinion, demoralizing in its effect upon the people. The report says further that the existence of these base counterfeits has already seriously impaired the export trade and will result in still greater damage if not checked.

CHAPTER XXIX.

AN UNEXPECTED CALLER.

Then he thought of Mr. Longworthy's note, and drawing it from his pocket-book he read it again. He could not get rid of a feeling that there was something in it which he could not understand. He had more than once thought of the clergyman with pleasure, and hoped he might some time meet him again; but until to-day he had never supposed that he owed his acquaintance to anything but chance. Now he began to think otherwise. Little things which had been unnoticed at the time came back to his memory and seemed to point to something below the surface. Why had the clergyman come to Osmotherly at all? He remembered their meeting on the road and the alleged reasons for his visit. It seemed very plausible, but Percival began to ask himself how he had known that he was the man he wanted? The mere fact of their happening to meet near Brantwood went for nothing. Then there was his willingness to come into the house, and as one thing after another flashed into his mind, his absence of surprise at the fact that so young a man as his host should already be in possession of his second wife. Finally he had begged a flower, not from Alice, but himself. Though before they parted at the station he had replied with perfect courtesy to Percival's hope that they might meet again, he had not asked him to his own house. Now came this note proposing a meeting at Brantwood. He thought it all over, utterly in the dark, until such an extraordinary idea came into his head that he stopped short in his walk and said aloud—

"I am going mad. I must be going mad."

But the idea would not leave him, and at last, feeling that it was impossible to wait even till the next day for the mystery to be cleared up, he came to a sudden resolution, and going into the house he sought his wife. When he had found her he said—

"Will you order me some early lunch, Alice. I am going away, but I expect I shall be back to-night."

"Where are you going?"

"To Miller's Gate."

"Miller's Gate, where is Miller's Gate? I have heard the name somewhere, but I don't know where."

"Do you remember a clergyman whom I brought in to lunch one day; soon after we came home?"

"Ah yes, I remember now; he was the rector of Miller's Gate. Are you going to see him?"

"He has written to say he would like to see me, and suggests coming here. It is no use giving him so much trouble, I may just as well go to him."

"Perhaps he has some reason for wishing to come here."

"What reason could he have? He is not a young man; I may just as well spare him the journey."

"Perhaps he has a houseful of children, or an invalid wife who does not care for strangers."

"I do not think he looked like a man with a family, and in any case his children would be grown up."

"In short," said Alice with a half smile, "you are determined to go, and nothing will stop you."

"I believe I am," he replied composedly, "I feel as if I could not wait until to-morrow."

"Who would have given you credit for so much youthful eagerness," she said rather slowly, and then after a pause, "How do you get to Miller's Gate; is it far from here?"

"I have no very clear idea, I must look up the trains. I fancy you go by Dewhurst."

A little later he came to her again with Bradshaw in his hand and said—

"You do go by Dewhurst; there is a train at 12.15. I shall take that."

"I do not see how you can get back to-night."

"If I find I cannot I will wire."

"Very well; I hope you will not be disappointed in what you hear."

"You are laughing at me," he said, indulging in a smile at his own impetuosity. "I cannot give any reason for it, but I do feel excited."

"If you want to catch your train you must go. Good-bye."

"Good-bye."

He bent down to kiss her, and she raised her face to him. He touched her cheek with his lips, then shook hands with Sir Cuthbert, saying—

"I leave Mrs. Moore in your care, Maitland," and was gone.

He rather wanted to be alone, so for that reason did not choose a smoking carriage. He had his wish, the compartment into which he got was empty, and remained so all the way to Dewhurst. He seated himself by the window and looked out. Though he had no very clear thoughts to occupy him, he hardly noticed the objects past which the train rushed swiftly, the small wayside stations through which it dashed without slackening speed, or the cuttings and tunnels which for a moment swallowed it up. He hardly heard the shriek with which the train entered and left them, or felt the ceaseless, pleasant rocking motion induced by the speed with which it tore along.

"What is McGregor's Speedy cure for"? It is for dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion, biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.

"Does it give satisfaction?"

We cannot point to one instance where it did not.

"Where does it have the largest sale?"

Right in the city of Hamilton where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by Thos. S Petrie, Druggist.

"OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $2.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store.

business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

Scott Act Prosecutions.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

SIR,—Will you permit me to make a few observations concerning the Scott Act trials reported in your issue of yesterday.

1. The prompt arrest of whiskey sellers by the Chief of Police is gratifying in the highest degree, and will go far to convince law-breakers that they will not be able to set the law at defiance in our good city. The Chief has the thanks of the Scott Act people at least, and will have their moral and financial support in his efforts to enforce the law.

2. The Police Magistrate also has demonstrated no ordinary ability as an administrator of the law. The impartial and vigorous investigation conducted by him in these cases has given the greatest satisfaction ,and indeed excited the highest admiration. At the same time the severe censures which he thought fit, in open court, to pronounce against the Chief because of the methods he had employed to secure the conviction of law-breakers cannot, I venture to say, be approved by thoughtful men. Even if the methods were questionable, it was not in the interest of law and order that the Magistrate should give comfort and encouragement to law-breakers by censuring the officers of law.

If the Chief had erred in judgment, there were opportunities enough to give him counsel as to his future course, without holding him up to reproach and contempt, as equally guilty with such men as Middleton and Welsh. It was not wise to do this, neither was it just, and the common sense and moral feeling of the community will not endorse it. In fact there is a general expression of regret that it was thought necessary to administer a reproof which elicited the applause of the rowdy element, and damaged the official character of the Chief.

The utterances of the Magistrate on the bench no doubt arose from the honest convictions of his judgment and he is fully acquitted of any intention to encourage men engaged in an illicit traffic, but still if he had paused to reflect he would not fail to see that such would be the natural result. The Magistrate's censure was nothing less than a notice to these illicit traders that an injunction was laid against detectives being employed to convict them for their offences against the law, and they know if detectives are not employed it is impossible to convict them, and will rejoice to hear the Magistrate condemn and denounce the only means by which their conviction can be secured. It may be true that "there is no difference between the man who incited another to do an unlawful act, and the one who did it," but I contend that in this case, and all similar cases, this axiom has no application. It is unfair and untrue to say, from the evidence furnished, that the Chief had incited these illegal liquor sellers to do an unlawful act. Look at the facts. It was morally certain that unlawful acts were being committed. Liquor was evidently been sold, drunken men on the streets gave full proof of this. It was common talk that this liquor was being supplied in the taverns. Men who refused to give evidence in court declared that they saw drinking as usual at the bars. It was the common boast that the Scott Act was a dead letter. One at least of the three who were arrested had boasted that he could evade the law; and shall it be said that such men are incited to do an unlawful act, when agents are sent to them for the purpose of detecting them in their criminal offences?

Is not the sale to those agents convincing proof that these men are selling to others? That they are bad men engaged in a bad business? If they were induced by these agents to do what was not their practice; if they were innocent men, upon whom no suspicion rested, and were tempted by detectives to do wrong, and had yielded to temptation, then it might be said that they were incited to an unlawful act. If a mistress shall leave a $5 bill in the way of a servant of good reputation in order to ascertain whether she is really honest, and the servant yields to the temptation to appropriate it, then the mistress has incited her to an unlawful act; she has led her to do, what possibly she would never have done if temptation had been kept out of the way. But if this mistress is constantly suffering the loss of valuable articles, and is morally certain that the servant is the thief because there is no other whom it is possible to suspect, and for the purpose of conviction, places temptation in her way, to which she cannot yield without detection and the consequent discovery of the stolen property; can it be said that she had incited her servant to do an unlawful act, and that there was no difference in point of morality between the mistress and the servant. Very few indeed can be induced to accept such a doctrine, and just as few will believe that these men who were convicted of illicit liquor selling, were incited to these crimes by the Chief, when he found it necessary for their conviction, to employ a detective agency.

Detective agents are employed by governments, corporations and individuals; they are everywhere employing an innumerable variety of methods, and practicing endless deceptions upon the unwary for the detection of theft, burglary, counterfeiting, custom frauds, &c. &c., and no one condemns them for the expedients they employ. But so soon as a detective is employed to discover the agents of an unlawful business, that damages the country more than all the frauds, thefts and burglaries ever committed, some men hold up their hands in holy horror, and declare that the detective or his employer is as morally guilty as the men who are detected.

I will only add, that I trust the Chief will not be diverted from his task, nor discouraged in its prosecution by the adverse criticisms to which he may be exposed, and that he will not for a moment suppose that the majority of the men and women of this city will not stand by him in his efforts to bring law breakers to justice.

He will be sustained by the people, and by the Police Magistrate too, for there is doubt, whatever kinks he may have in regard to some things, he will not fail to execute the law faithfully and vigorously against the guilty, even though he may not approve of the methods by which their guilt is discovered.

Yours Truly,
W. S. GRIFFIN.

Killed in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, May 7.—Lieut. Anthony Copp, r., of the Hamilton Field Battery, was working on a ladder at his father's establishment this afternoon, when he lost his footing and fell sixteen feet, striking first the man who was standing at the foot of the ladder, then bouncing on to a pile of machinery. He struck on his head and shoulders, and suffered such injuries that he died to-night at ten o'clock.

A Heavy Seizure.

MONTREAL, May 7.—Patterson, Kissock & Co.'s warehouse was seized by the Customs Officers to day. The stock is valued at $170,000. When the Customs Officers arrived they were met by the bailiffs of the Superior Court, who, on the part of the firm, resisted the seizure. The officers drew revolvers and an affray was narrowly avoided. Warrants were issued for the Customs Officers by the bailiffs. The goods are now being removed by the Customs Officers.

GREECE BLOCKADED.

Words Having Failed the Powers Decide to Act.

ATHENS, May 8.—Germany, Austria, England, Russia and Italy notified Greece that a blockade of her ports had been ordered. The order was subsequently carried out and a blockade has been established from Cape Malia to Colonna, and from the Gulf of Corinth to the most northern point of the Greek frontier.

The Government's official journal to-day states that the movement of the Greek army must not be taken to indicate warlike intentions on the part of the Government. The Government has decided, adds the journal, to refrain from disturbing the peace, but believes it necessary, however, to be prepared to resist any hostility which may be inaugurated by others.

M. Delyannis, after protesting against the action of the Powers, sent in his resignation to the King, but His Majesty refused to accept it.

Turkey and Greece are hurrying troops to the front, Several European papers are of the opinion that Russia will secretly support Greece.

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 10.

In the Commons to-day Sir John Macdonald stated that the Haldimand election would not be held until the new Franchise Act came into force.

Mr. Thompson stated that the question of acquiescing in the decisions of the courts regarding the ownership of lands in the lately disputed territory was under consideration. Sir John Macdonald said the Province of Quebec was in a different position from Ontario in regard to the Dominion's claims, because in Quebec there was no Indian title.

Mr. Blake moved for a select committee to enquire into certain allegations made by him in his place in the House as to the displacing of Mr. Matthew Roche, of Lingan, Nova Scotia, from his position as a member of the Pilotage Board, and the action of Murray Dodd, member for Cape Breton, and H. F. McDougall, also member for Cape Breton, in connection therewith. A debate arose which was cut short by the arrival of six o'clock.

Sir John Macdonald made an explanation regarding the delay in the transmission of the Home Rule resolutions to Sir Charles Tupper.

After recess Mr. Edgar's Bill further to amend the Act respecting insolvent banks and trading corporations was passed in committee.

The debate on Mr. McMullen's motion regarding superannuation was resumed, and the motion lost on the declaration of Mr. McLelan that the information had already been supplied.

Mr. Robertson's Bill to amend the criminal law by increasing the stringency of the punishment for burglary was opposed by the Government and withdrawn.

Mr. McCarthy moved the second reading of the Bill to extend the polling hours in cities to 8 p. m. The motion was lost on a vote of 89 to 42.

The debate on Mr. Taylor's oleomargarine resolutions was resumed and after discussion again adjourned.

The House adjourned at midnight.

The Value of Small Birds.

"Not a sparrow falls to the ground," etc. We all know the quotation. But there is another sense in which we should look at it. Not a sparrow falls to the ground that we do not suffer an absolute pecuniary loss in consequence. That sparrow if allowed to live would have eaten a million eggs or larva of butterflies, or moths, which left alone would have developed into worms, or caterpillars, or whatever you choose to call them, and they in turn would have devoured enough vegetation to support the life of a man, this vegetation, taking the shape of cabbages, turnips, fruit, etc. Now as a matter of selfish interest it is the duty of every man, woman and child to protect small birds, and to aid the American Ornithologist's Union in the task they have taken in hand, and at which they are so bravely working. No society or organization can accomplish this task alone, it requires a healthy, honest public opinion at the back of it to give it force. We make public opinion, and the duty rests with us to endorse their efforts.

WRINGERS

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behoves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

Auction Sale of Valuable Property.

W. S. G. KNOWLES has been instructed to sell by Public Auction, on the grounds on Saturday, 29th May, at one o'clock, that valuable property known as part of the Mickle Estate, on Crimea street, near the Western Station, in the City of Guelph, comprising about five acres of land, two of which are laid out in grounds, and on which is erected a large and substantial stone residence, containing fifteen rooms, heated by hot air furnace; hard and soft water, with good drainage. Also excellent stable, carriage house, driving sheds, stone fowl house, and other buildings. The above property comprises about 17 lots. On two of the lots houses are erected and constantly rented, which will be sold separately if required.

Also at the same time a desirable residence on the corner of Clinton and Gladwin streets, in a beautiful locality. This house is nearly new, two storeys, well built, and contains nine commodious rooms, good water and perfect drainage. Terms easy and made known on day of sale. Apply to J. A. Lamprey, Real Estate Agent; or R. F. Maddock, Lumber and Coal Merchant, Paisley Street. dw

New wall paper, borders and decorations at the City Bookstore, and all the praise they require is to say we have a larger stock, nicer goods and cheaper prices than last year, and we astonished people last year. Come and see them before buying. J. A. Nelles.

Children's carriages, new, stylish and cheap, at Nelles' City Bookstore. Don't be misled. You get the best value in the city from J. A. Nelles.

IT always requires time to establish a reputation, but ability will always tell in the long run, and so it has proved in the present case. Miss Todd the Dress Maker at the Lion is now doing the largest and best trade that has ever been done in that establishment. d

Try Loch's unrivalled Teas and Coffees. Careful personal attention given to the blending so as to strengthen and flavour. Italian Warehouse, 89 Wyndham street.

THE reduced prices of B. B. Hughes spring goods attracts more customers than even the spring millinery openings and brass or string bands. The public know he is the only real wholesale dry goods man in Guelph. Go to him if you want your new spring goods at wholesale prices.

Base Ball.

The Royal Oaks and Maple Leafs play a practice game Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Harry Zell, pitcher and left field arrived to-day. He is a ball player and reports himself in good condition. This is the player who led the Southern League fielders last year.

The remaining three of the nine, namely, Campau, Mulholland, and Buckenberger, will arrive to-morrow.

THE London Advertiser says:—Mr Sleeman seems to have lost his first game with the Hamilton and Toronto baseball clubs, but, as we understand it, the series is by no means concluded. To call in question the righteousness of this decision would cause one to be guilty of contempt of court. This, it may be noticed, is where a judge outranks an umpire.

Diptheria.—The name strikes a chill to a mother's heart as she realizes what a dangerous malady it is. With a bottle of pain killer in the house she feels that she has a still more powerful cure, and half the terror is destroyed.

Fine Weather.

Probabilities—Light to moderate, variable winds; fair weather, higher temperatures.

THOMAS JEFFERS, druggist, Lucknow, who is down as witness on one of the cases at the assizes, met with an accident at the knowing how to guide the sliding roller rink last night. Apparently not instruments on his feet, they ran away from him. The result was a broken wrist.

RUNAWAY.—An exciting runaway took place last evening. Mr. R. Cunningham's horse had been left standing on Quebec street, and taking fright started off at the galop. At Woolwich street the animal turned west until reaching Parker's carriage works where it wheeled into the lane and thence in behind the rear of the works named. The buggy was badly broken, only the shafts and one wheel being found with the horse which, itself was rather badly cut.

GALT LICENSES.—The Waterloo Chronicle says:—Three hotelkeepers of Galt, Messrs. Deary, Frey and Scrimger, have been refused licenses, in accordance with the decision of the Town Council to reduce the number. The position of these gentlemen is much worse than if they had been cut off by the Scott Act, inasmuch as other hotelkeepers in the town are still licensed, and they have had only a week or two of warning instead of at least five months. Their claim for compensation would seem therefore to be very much stronger than it would have been had the Scott Act been passed last summer, consequently we await with mingled curiosity and humility the able and indignant deliverance of our Berlin contemporary on this manifest injustice, that is on his theory, that a man who has had a license is entitled to compensation if the license is not renewed.

Spring Assizes.

Madden and Burns vs. Corporation of Arthur.—Action for damages against the Corporation of the village of Arthur for injuries received in falling off a bridge, has been up since yesterday and is not finished as we go to press. A large number of witnesses on both sides were examined. It appears that Messrs. Madden and Burns drove to the village of Arthur on the 1st of October last, to attend to some business. It was late before they got through and the night was very dark when they started for home. In crossing a bridge near the village they were met by another conveyance and a collision occurred, and the plaintiffs were thrown into the river—a distance of fourteen feet—sustaining injuries from which they have not yet recovered. In addition to this Burns' horse was killed, and his buggy and harness completely destroyed. Coffee, Field & Wissler, Mr. Landy and D. Guthrie for plaintiffs, Macdonald & Macdonald and Mr. McMartin for defendants.

Fraudulent Invoices.

MONTREAL, May 12.—In connection with the recent Customs seizure of the stock of Paterson, Kissock & Co., Mr. J. A. Paterson, the head of the firm, was arrested yesterday on four criminal warrants, for entering false, forged, and fraudulent invoices, and perjury. He was admitted to bail to appear for examination next week.

Justifiable Homicide.

HAMILTON, May 11.—John Lynch was stabbed a short time ago and subsequently died from his wounds. The Coroner's jury at the inquest to-day found a verdict that Lynch came to his death at the hands of Frederick S. Sunderland, who acted in justifiable self-defence.

Anxiety over the Greek question is becoming more pronounced in England, where it is beginning to be felt that Russia is at the back of Greek defiance of the ultimatum of the powers.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLEMENT.

Conclusion of the Evidence Offered.

The case of Wm. McFarlane, ticket agent, at the G. T. R., on the charge of defrauding the Company, was concluded yesterday afternoon shortly after three o'clock. The following is the remainder of the evidence:—

Mr. Prior, auditor of G. T. R. was called and stated that the tickets are all sent out under my supervision; looking at form 35 series "B," No. 2166 I say that it is one of the form sent to Guelph, stamped at our office. He identified tickets and photograhs of tickets produced. The return book forms the basis from which the Company is paid; the travelling auditor counts the cash, takes list of tickets in stock, examines copies of list returns, extends amounts for tickets sold, giving credit for any sold by special order, free or reduced in price and then takes the total which should agree, after allowing for daily remittances; the travelling auditor would not be able to cheque fraud arising from false entry in stubs of the ticket books. I took charge of Guelph ticket office between 4 and 5 p.m. yesterday (Monday) shortly before prisoner was arrested; found the stubs this morning in one of McFarlane's ticket drawers underneath some of his papers; prisoner admitted having used 2 Hamburg tickets filling them up to Bronte, and that he got them from the day operator there.

Albert Grundy, called—Am living in Stratford and was acting as railway operator; have lived in Guelph; was night operator while prisoner was day operator; went to Hamburg in January last; prisoner wrote for me to send him 5 or 6 ticket; I sent them in blank; he sent me a bill for them; the return to the Company produced is in my writing and shows return of these tickets—No. 1587 to 1592 as sold to Baden for 15 cents.

Wm. Mark, sworn—Am telegraph operator at Hamburg; sent tickets to prisoner in blank—8 or 10 I think—the last two, Nos. 48 and 49, in April.

G. M. Skinner, of Montreal, stated that he bought tickets Nos. 2166 and 1587 to go to Montreal and return for $11.50 and prisoner gave directions how to use the tickets. McFarlane said, "Here is a ticket reading to Whitby. Present it to the first conductor and ride as far as Toronto on it, then put it in your pocket and don't use it any more. Buy a ticket to Toronto present yellow ticket No 1587 and ride to Montreal on it, then on return use it to Guelph. Get off and hand it to me." I used tickets as directed and returned both tickets to him when I got back to Guelph. Have never seen them since. I bought ticket No. 1826 from prisoner—Guelph to Richmond and return; I paid him $10 for it; bought it 7th April, 1886; rode to Montreal and back to Toronto on it; told prisoner to fix me out the same as he did before and that I was going to the same destination; I purchased No. 140, form 35, from prisoner; paid him $2 for it.

Cross-examined—I am special agent of the Grand Trunk; the term special agent may be called private detective, and amounts to that; I did not tell prisoner I was hard up and could not pay my fare to Montreal.

This closed the evidence for the prosecution. The prisoner's counsel reserved the defence.

The Magistrate committed the prisoner to stand his trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

The case will come up at the present assizes. A petition is being largely and Influentially signed on his behalf.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY.

Mr. Jas. Goldie on Canadian Song Birds.

The regular monthly meeting of the above Society was held last evening in the basement of the Congregational Church, the President, Mr. James Goldie, occupying the chair. After the minutes of last meeting had been confirmed the following new members, whose names are submitted by the Council, were duly declared elected: Miss Agnes Williamson, F. G. Lawrence, D. E. Bourne, T. J. Day, Dr. Howitt. It appears that Messrs. Madden and Burns drove to the village of Arthur on the 1st of October last, to attend to some business. It was late before they got through and the night was very dark when they started for home. In crossing a bridge near the village they were met by another conveyance and a collision occurred, and the plaintiffs were thrown into the river—a distance of fourteen feet—sustaining injuries from which they have not yet recovered. In addition to this Burns' horse was killed, and his buggy and harness completely destroyed. Coffee, Field & Wissler, Mr. Landy and D. Guthrie for plaintiffs, Macdonald & Macdonald and Mr. McMartin for defendants. Miss Cavers, Miss Kilgour, Miss Fairbank, Prof. Robertson. The fine collection of ornithological specimens so kindly furnished by the President of the Society were next examined and admired by all present, after which Mr. Goldie proceeded with his paper on "Song birds of our country."

In a few preliminary remarks he alluded to the often heard remark that the American birds, although of splendid plumage, were very deficient in song. Those who had in the early mornings here listened to the clear notes of the wood thrush, ground thrush, and many other Canadian songsters, would know that this was not the case, many of our singing birds being equal, if not superior, to any European specimens. He also alluded to the immense slaughter now going on amongst these creatures for the purpose of ornamentation in dress, which was a most cruel and disastrous one, and which should be stopped. The first songster introduced was the mocking bird, which, although hardly a native bird, is frequently heard and seen in Canada, and is common in the Southern States and Mexico. It is a soft-billed bird, belonging to the thrush family, subsisting on insects and fruits in season. Its voice is most beautiful, being full and strong, and capable of great variation from high to low notes. It is not altogether imitative, its mocking proclivities being frequently interspersed with original music. Then the ground thrush was very plentiful especially in Southern Canada and Manitoba. It is by far the finest song bird in America, its notes being loud, clear and full of variety and charm. It is not imitative, keeping entirely to its own notes, and makes a most affectionate cage bird. It frequents hedges, brush heaps, etc., and viciously defends its young offspring when necessary. Mr. Goldie next alluded to the cat-bird, resembling somewhat the mocking bird. It is a summer resident of Canada, Bermuda, Cuba, etc., arriving here early in the summer. In imitation it is second only to the mocking bird, is easily tamed, and likes singing in company with human workers in its neighborhood. It is a most devoted parent, feeding with great assiduity, attacking intruders, and its parental distress when aroused is painful to witness. It makes an admirable pet for an aviary, being easily taught to feed from one's hand. Fourth comes the robin or migratory thrush, too common in our midst to need detailed description. It abounds in America from Labrador to Mexico and from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and is usually the earliest songster to arrive here. It ranks as a second class musician, its tones being loud without much taste or sweetness. It is useful as a destroyer of larvæ but a great nuisance when fruit ripens. Fifth is the wood thrush, which is pretty well distributed throughout Ontario, principally being found in deep woods or marshy ground. It is often heard here to perfection early in June after a rain storm. Its tones are full of melody and sweetness and of great compass and power, covering several parts, the last notes resembling the tinkling of a small bell; and they sometimes seem to rival with each other in their song; it becomes quite tame in confinement, and is a sweet and interesting pet. Six h Mr Goldie mentioned the blue-bird, a sprightly songster and an early spring visitor, soon making its presence known. It builds in holes in trees, boxes, etc., and is strictly insectivorous. Seventh is the purple finch, quite common in Ontario and very destructive to the buds of fruit trees, his work often being blamed on the European sparrows, they looking somewhat alike. It is known amongst bird catchers as "the linnet," and is one of the sweetest, best and longest-with-us songsters we have, its music resembling somewhat that of the canary, but is sweeter and softer and is often heard long after nightfall during the summer months. Eighth brought forward was the American gold finch, one of the sweetest and most beautiful of our summer visitors, found throughout a great portion of North America. They are both gregarious and nomadic, usually associating in small flocks, feeding on seeds of thistles, etc., and are also destructive to garden seeds. They are very late in breeding, and their song is remarkably sweet, especially as a solo. The notes are higher and more prolonged than those of the purple finch and they of en join in remarkable concerts, now like the loud voice of the canary and gradually sinking to a soft low warble; a most joyous and light-hearted bird, exceedingly tame. Their nests are a most interesting study, being most beautifully symmetrical and ingeniously woven and interlaced throughout. Ninth, the easiest described, was the indigo finch, which, though not a strong songster, is still vigorous and pleasing, and is greatly sought after by bird collectors. Its notes are rapid and short, gradually diminishing. It is most pugnacious and vicious in captivity. Tenth is the rose breasted grossbeak, widely distributed in northern parts of America, one of the finest birds of the forest for beauty of plumage and fine sweet song, being easily distinguished at a distance of half a mile. Its tone is very soft and melodious; and it becomes a great pet in captivity. Eleventh Mr. Goldie alluded to the bob-o-link, the greatest favorite in North America, traversing all the U. S., and being found north as far as the sixth parallel. It is found all over Canada in summer, migrating to South America for the winter months. Their song is exquisitely musical, exhibiting a rapid and touching pathos, and a beauty and melody of tone and expression not resembled or touched by any other singing bird. Their song appears perhaps to greatest advantage in their bird quarrels, being very long and consisting of an immense number of short variable notes rapidly delivered, "Bob-o-link" is distinctly and clearly enunciated, and its song is a most unique and charming production. They make a fine cage bird and sing well in confinement. This is a condensed and very imperfect list and many others might be enumerated, such as the song sparrow, white throated sparrow, oriole, and more varieties of thrushes. Enough, however, had been said to draw attention to the excellent free concerts provided for us by nature. There are very few birds in Europe to excel or equal these in the beauty of their song.

After interesting enquiries and remarks from Prof. Panton, Mr. Geo. Murton, W. Tytler, M. A., Professors Brown and Robertson, and replies from the President, a most hearty vote of thanks was proposed and carried unanimously to Mr. Goldie for his excellent paper.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 11.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr. McLelan's Bill for the relief of the Corporation of the town of Cobourg, Mr. McLelan's Bill to explain the Act for the final adjustment of the claims made by Manitoba on the Dominion, and Mr. Carling's Bill respecting Experimental Farm Stations, were read the third time.

Mr. White's Bill to make further provision respecting the administration of the public lands of Canada in British Columbia; Mr. Thompson's Bill to amend the law relating to the salaries of certain judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario; Mr. Thompson's Bill to amend the law respecting Crown cases reserved, and Mr. McLelan's Bill further to amend the Act respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway were read the second time and passed in committee.

Mr. Thompson's resolutions respecting the salaries of registrars and other officers in the North-west Territories were adopted in committee.

After recess the Bill providing for representation of the North-west Territories was read a second time, and a portion of it was adopted in committee.

The House adjourned at 11.20.

The Street Car Strike.

TORONTO, May 12.—The strike of street railway men continues. The service of cars was, however, considerably increased yesterday. The Company are busy breaking in new hands and have 100 men at work.

At noon opposition to the cars appeared on the streets in the shape of vans, decorated with Union Jacks and labelled "K. of L. and Union car; Free." The vans were four in number and mounted by strikers, whose names it might here be mentioned were noted by the Company's officials. Later in the afternoon three or four additional vans were started going, Yonge, Queen and King streets being served by them. All were largely patronized, and although no fare was demanded a box was passed round for collection. The receipts were last night reported to be encouraging, and will be used in carrying on the fight. A leading striker said: "We can stand it all summer; we'll have 100 horses at our disposal to-morrow (Wednesday), and about twenty vans will be going." The strikers by no means admit that they are losing ground, and are confident of success. Union men of all classes are rallying to their support.

THE FIRST WEEK.

Improved Business Under the Scott Act.

A Prohibition and License Week Compared—Merchants' Receipts Tell in Favor of Temperance—Liquor Sellers' Misrepresentations.

Has Guelph had sufficient experience of the Scott Act to tell how it affects business? Most people think not, and the MERCURY agrees with them. Everyone knows that mercantile trade varies according to the season and that there may be a falling off or increase at a particular time in any year in comparison with the same time in any other year, in consequence solely of an advanced or backward season. If it were true, therefore, which it is not, that there were a falling off in business at this particular time no observer could say that this was attributable to the Scott Act any more than to the fact that farmers are just now busy with spring work. Yet some have taken upon themselves to do this. In a Toronto paper on Monday the opinions of four residents of Guelph were given to the public, all being adverse to the Act. Although they were named as leading citizens, outsiders were left in ignorance of the fact that they were interested parties, one being a leading merchant who formerly did a large liquor business under a shop license, and the other three well known hotel keepers. Now, against their statements the MERCURY is in possession of the testimony of all the leading merchants of Wyndham street, and this proves, if it proves anything in connection with the Scott Act at all, that business has improved under that Act. It shows that whatever may be said about the Scott Act there is no ground for stating that it has ruined business or even injured it. On Monday afternoon a reporter called upon the Wyndham street merchants to ascertain how business during the first week of the Scott Act compared with the same week under license law a year ago.

James Cormack, of Cormack & Keleher, merchant tailors, said the difference in their business was not attributable to the Scott Act, but to the advanced season. There was an increase last week as compared with the same week a year ago.

J. D. Williamson, of the Lion, stated we are more than $600 ahead last week as compared with the same week a year ago. We were something like $200 ahead for the Saturday compared with a year ago.

A. B. Petrie thought people might take his statement as that of an interested party inasmuch as he was licensed as a druggist to sell liquor. He left his books at home and so could not give figures, but had noticed no difference in his business during ordinary days. He was quite surprised at the business last week, and would have been prepared for a shrinkage on account of farmers being busy seeding.

B. Savage, jeweller, said business was improving, but one could not judge in their line by comparison of a week because the sales varied so. The receipts for the first week in May 1885 were larger than this year because of a large sale and the payment of a big account. There were more customers in on Saturday than that day a year ago, but the sales were smaller. He looked upon this as a healthier sign because these big sales were only chances.

D. Jackson, of Jackson & Hallett, grocers, said he did not know how the receipts for last week compared with those of a year ago independent of the liquor business, but he did know that the Scott Act was going to hurt the city. There were a lot of people in the country who only came in maybe ten times a year and brought their half gallon jugs to be filled with whiskey. They were not what you would call drinkers, but kept the liquor in the house. Guelph would now lose these customers as they would go to Galt. He knew that some of those who worked hardest for the Scott Act and voted for it came there before it went into effect and laid in their supplies of liquor. He could not give figures as Mr. Hallett was out and the books were locked up.

Robert Mitchell, grocer, could not tell how his business would be affected yet. He thought Saturday would have been a quiet day anyway, on account of fair day coming in the same week, if there had been no Scott Act, and there would have been a drop in the receipts independent of the liquor business. You would be surprised at the number of half gallons sold to farmers in harvest and at other busy seasons not to men who were in the habit of drinking, but to those who were not very robust and needed a glass of liquor to stimulate them for hard work. It was natural that such farmers and those who disposed to do drinking would go to Galt and Berlin when these places were as convenient as Guelph to do their marketing.

J. A. Nelles, bookseller and stationer, thought the Scott Act would hurt business. He could not notice any difference so far in his business. A difference in the receipts of last week as compared with the same week a year ago would prove nothing in connection with the Scott Act. As owing to the early season they were selling wall paper new, which was a heavy item, whereas, a year ago, they were not selling it for a month later.

Harvey & Co., hardware, could not make any comparison, as they had not long since succeeded to the business and were not in possession of the old books.

E. R. Bollert, dry goods, had an increase of 44 per cent in his receipts last Saturday as compared with the same Saturday last year. For the week he had an increase of 33⅓ per cent.

T. J. Day, bookseller and stationer, said last week was a very bad one for business. Saturday was a nice day, and no farmer of any sense would come to town if he could avoid it. Notwithstanding this his receipts showed an increase on the same week of 1885 of $125.49.

W. Campbell, boots and shoes, never said much about the Scott Act, because he had two thirds of the hotel-keepers' trade. It was easily explained how his receipts were increasing. He had been a year longer in the business, and his trade was always increasing. He was certainly 20 per cent ahead on last week's business compared with the first week in May, 1885.

G. D. Pringle, jeweller, had an increase of 30 per cent on the week, and 35 per cent easy on the Saturday compared with the same time a year ago.

B. B. Hughes, jr., dry goods, was not able to give figures, having only come into the business in August, and not being in possession of the old books. Business last week was interfered with at any rate by alterations in the store.

Concluded on third page.

The Evening Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G MAY 12, 1886.

THE Government had only a majority of ten in one of the divisions on the Home Rule question last week. This is the smallest recorded in Parliament since 1874.

THE Tory Orangemen voted for Mr. Costigan's amendment to Mr. Blake's Home Rule resolution because "it would do the least harm," or in other words because it was the least favorable to Home Rule. One may judge from this that it was an extremely weak expression of opinion on the subject. Had they not thought so we would not have found them voting with Mr. Costigan.

THE canal statistics for 1884 have been made public. The aggregate revenue has fallen off during 1885 to the extent of $11,141. The decreases are in the Welland canal, $8,225; the Burlington Bay canal, $1,031; Chambly canal, $1,781; Ottawa canals, $315, and St. Peter's canal, $1,278. The increases are on the St. Lawrence canals, $472; Rideau canal, $734 and Newcastle district canals, $267. The total increase was $1,491 and the total decrease $12,633, leaving a net decrease of $11,141, or a little more than 3.5 per cent. These figures are swelled to $27,098 by refunds under orders-in-council.

FROM the annual report of railway statistics, just laid before Parliament, we find that the total miles of railway in operation is 10,150. The amount of capital invested is $625,754,500. The amount of earnings for the year was $32,227,469; working expenses $24,015,351, and the net earnings $8,212,118. The number of passengers carried was 9,672,599; 14,659,271 tons of freight and the number of miles run by trains was 30,623,689. The number of casualties consist in 157 killed and 684 injured. Considering the generally depressed state of trade throughout the world the result of the year's operations are said to be satisfactory.

THE Toronto Week says:—"The Opposition seem to have adopted new tactics in their contest with the Government. Instead of making a general assault, skirmishing parties are sent out to attack single points of the Government's Northwest policy; and although they were driven back by superior force, they contrive to expose the manifold vulnerability of the enemy in a manner so incessant and prolonged as to be far more effectual than would be one set battle,—a battle which, moreover, with the Government majority, could end in only one way and would so leave on the mind of the country the impression of a decisive Opposition defeat that is now avoided."

THERE is considerable interest felt in Parliamentary circles at Ottawa over the fact that the Nova Scotia Legislature has carried the resolutions in favor of seceding from Confederation. They were carried late on Saturday night, only six members voting against them. Some of the members declared that the basis of Confederation was altogether unsound, and that it would tumble to pieces in fifteen years. But their chief argument was that if the Federal Union was at an end it would inevitably lead to a customs union with the United States, with which nearly all Nova Scotia's commercial interests lie. The feeling against Confederation is almost equally intense in New Brunswick and in Prince Edward Island. As the people in these provinces maintain, their natural trade lies with the States, but the National Policy has largely helped to destroy this trade; and to aggravate their grievances their fish is now practically excluded from the American markets. And to cap the climax discontent is everywhere prevalent over the corruption which is running riot in all the departments of the public service, and the bungling which characterises the Administration of the present Government.

THE debate on the Home Rule resolutions in Parliament last week is the subject of general comment in the press, and the Reform papers criticize with merciless severity the policy of the Government which led to so much bungling on their part, and which nearly ended in their defeat. The editor of the Ottawa Free Press, who evidently witnessed the whole proceedings, thus sums up his impressions:—"The net result of the whole matter was that Parliament led by Sir John Macdonald, Mr. Costigan, and Brother Mackenzie Bowell, ex-grand Sovereign of the Orange Order, declined to send an opinion favorable to Home Rule for Ireland either to the Queen or to Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell jointly, and finally agreed to forward copies of all the resolutions voted upon by the House to Sir Charles Tupper for the information of anybody who might find out he had them. No wonder that Mr. Hector Cameron in the excitement and confusion of the moment let slip the expression that "it was a burlesque." Conservatives may object to this as being the opinion of a Reform journal in direct opposition to the Government. We will, therefore, give the opinion of of the Montreal Herald on the situation, a paper which is at present pursuing a very independent and unprejudiced course. Our contemporary, after an able review of the debate, thus sums up:—"That Sir John Macdonald was beaten in tactics and in strength of argument by Mr. Blake was evident to the House, and is apparent to the country. That he wished to burk the whole business, and failed to do so, is equally true; while the reference to Sir Charles Tupper, instead of to Mr. Gladstone, will be regarded alike by friends and opponents of Home Rule as a piece of trickery unworthy of our Parliament and country. It was within the right of Parliament to pass the address for which Mr. Blake moved; it was the plain duty of the Government to facilitate its passage. The Premier preferred a crooked course, which was unworthy of Parliament and damaging to his own reputation. As regards the interest of Home Rule, he did what he could to injure it, but fortunately the question cannot now be unfavorably affected by anything Sir John can do or leave undone."

At B. B. HUGHES, Jr.

Wholesale & Retail, 33 Lower Wyndham-st.

J. E. McElderry remarked, I had a very good week last week. The Scott Act did not affect my business in the least. In fact I think my receipts are ahead of the corresponding week of last year. But this is no evidence to go by. Fine weather has a great deal to do with sales, as you are no doubt aware. We may be ahead this week and behind the next. It will take three months before we can give any figures to form a basis on.

Mr. P. Anderson stated that up to the present date the receipts of the month of May this year are about the same as last year, but of course this will not apply to what they may be at the end of the month. So far the Scott Act has not hurt us, but it has not had a sufficient trial for us to express a definite opinion.

D. Scroggie says my sales for Saturday of this month this year, were $25 more than that of last year, and my sales for 8 days of this month, have considerably exceded eleven days of the same month last year.

D. R. Rowen, on being interrogated, remarked: "So far as I have had an opportunity to judge the Scott Act does not hurt my trade one bit. In comparing my books from the 1st of May last year to the end of the week, and from the 1st day of May this year to the end of the week, I am over $100 ahead on my retail sales.

Hugh Macdonald, of the Red Flag store, said there was not over two per cent difference in their sales and that is to the good.

John M. Bond says that his business is of such anextensive character, and not entirely depending on the local trade that it would be difficult for him to give one week in any year as a criterion of how the Scott Act or any other measure affected his business. For instance this week last year I may have shipped a large quantity of goods to North-west and this week of this year not an order, which goes to show that one week cannot be taken as a basis nor would it give a fair comparison. So far as the local trade is concerned I find that there is a slight decrease. Strictly speaking I can give no opinion as yet.

"Well Mr. McLaren how does the Scott Act affect the boot and shoe trade," enquired the interriogater. Why, I never gave the matter a thought. Things appear to be going on the same as usual. Come to my desk one moment and I will show you the receipts of the first week of May last year compared with that of this year. There it is in black and white and you see the increase for the week is exactly $104.

Joseph Tovell, harness maker, finds little difference. On the whole he thinks business is better.

W. G. Smith says that he finds no difference. To compare one week with another would give no idea. It would require a three months' trial.

A. Richardson, hardware merchant, finds that things are very dull, especially since the Wellington Hotel closed, and thinks it a good think that it is to be reopened. Does not thik the Scott Act will do us much good in the long run.

Watson Bros., who expect to take possession on the 1st June of Mr. John A. Wood's grocery store, state that they feel no difference, less the sale of liquor. Parties living near the borders of Waterloo, who formerly came to Guelph, may now go to Galt; otherwise he cannot see what difference there will be.

R. E. Nelson, merchant tailor:—"I have had little experience of the Scott Act here, but I went all through it in Acton. The first year of the Scott Act my business increased $500 and kept on increasing yearly. I have not as yet had time to give a satisfactory opinion here."

N. Croft, tailor, finds no difference.

Mr. Ryan, of Ryan, Berkinshaw & Co., says that he cannot see what difference the Scott Act is to make in their line of business. From his experience in Scott Act counties he is decidedly of the opinion that it will improve it. Men who formerly were in the habit of spending their money on liquor will now spend it otherwise, and he could give several instances of this.

Henry Loch says that so far they have found no difference. He says the time is too short to give any decided opinion one way or the other.

J. S. Jones, dry goods, said his receipts show an increase of 90 per cent. He has, however, gone into staple dry goods during the year.

George Williams, grocer, fruiter and confectioner, had an increase of $127.73 for the week. He did not attribute it to the Scott Act. We are steadily increasing right along. There was a drop last week as compared with the previous one because I supply the three hotels which have closed.

A. J. Little, dry goods, said his recipts for last week were about 30 per cent. almost a third better than the same week last year.

W. N. Husband, of Guy & Husband, merchant tailors, said our business has increased 25 per cent, but it is largely owing to increased collections. A bystander remarked "Yes, people don't drink whiskey now and are able to pay their accounts."

C. W. Rowen, boots and shoes, had an increase of 20½ per cent for the week over the same week in 1885.

Hugh Walker, groceries and fruit, on the same comparison had a decrease of 16 per cent. I would not, said Mr. Walker, blame the Scott Act for it. We have frequently had a greater difference in other years. One great difference to us is caused by the closing of the Wellington and Royal hotels. Then look at the weather and the effect which it has in keeping farmers at home.

Charles Grundy, of Shaw & Grundy, merchant tailors, said the receipts are about the same. The Scott Act does not make any difference to us as far as I can see.

Several of the butchers were interviewed. They ascertain no difference comparatively in their receipts. The supply to the hotels closed up has been shut off, but taking it as a whole, the same quantity of meat is consumed, although it may go into different channels.

"What is McGregor's Speedy cure for"?
It is for dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion, biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.
"Does it give satisfaction?"
We cannot point to one instance where it did not.
"Where does it have the largest sale?"
Right in the city of Hamilton where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by Thos. S Petrie, Druggist.

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. We invite the ladies to see our $2.00 Gem Parlor Boot, which cannot be surpassed in price or quality. Leading Boot and Shoe Store. 23 business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

Employing Detectives.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—I was surprised and pained at the very uncourteous and uncalled for manner in which the Police Magistrate treated Chief Randall on the liquor question last week. If he considered that the Chief had acted improperly or illegally in employing detectives, it would have been more conducive to justice, respect for the law, and respect for his court, to have privately explained to the Chief wherein he had done wrong, than to have scolded him in public, where he could neither explain or reply to the asperions cast on him. The rowdy element appreciated the reproof given, and audibly expressed their approbation, but we cannot suppose a Magistrate would seek such applause.

I admit that detective work is unpleasant, and few would care for the employment; but it seems to be a necessary means to secure the conviction of offenders against the law. And if in itself wrong, why did not the Police Magistrate lecture the prosecuting counsel and detectives employed by the Grand Trunk when they appeared before him yesterday in prosecuting Mr. McFarlane? Is it an offence to prosecute men for a violation of the Scott Act, and a virtue to detect people who cheat or rob the Grand Trunk? or does the Magistrate favor the latter and dislike the former?

We expect impartiality and dignity on the bench, and the people of Guelph would be sorry to see our courts of justice and police force brought into contempt.

Yours,
A SCOTT ACT VOTER.

Guelph, May 12, 1886.

Correction.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—I wish to contradict a few statements that appeared in last night's MERCURY, regarding the comments made on my boy's behaviour. The lesson complained of was not learned; three or four names he could not write—that was all.

It was never stated that he was not to be whipped on account of his health, and I have brought up my boy that he dare not take such liberty as was stated—that he left school while his teacher went into the next room for the strap, if Mr Cook in his better judgment, had whipped him instead of giving him his choice, there would have been no trouble.

The same afternoon the boy was sent for a note of explanation. Mr. Cook said "You can take the whipping and come back; if not it is in Mr. Tytler's hands." I think, to save trouble in future, let the parent have a short time at least to settle with the teacher. I wish to state that I respect Mr. Cook as a teacher, and we never had any trouble up to this time. Thanking you for your space,

Yours, etc.,
GEO. WEBBER.

Marjborough Correspondence.

CONCERT.—The Good Templars of Rothsay, gave an open concert for the benefit of outsiders and for increasing the interes tin their lodge. The lately nominated officers were openly installed before the entertainment began. The night being unfavorable the crowd was not as large as might have been expected, but notwithstanding the condition of the roads, a fair audience was present and enjoyed the entertainment much.

ACCIDENT.—Mrs Jno. McLachlan met with an accident, on Saturday last, while walking from Drayton. When within three quarters of a mile of home Mr J. Noble drove up with a wagon. Accepting the invitation of a ride, she got in, but before she was comfortably seated, the horses gave a sudden start throwing her out in front of the wheel, and it passing over her body broke two of her ribs besides inflicting other severe injuries. Dr McWilliams, of Drayton, was sent for and is attending her. He says if inflammation is kept down there will be hope.

BUILDING.—George Jiles has everything in preparation for building a frame barn. He intends having a stone wall under it, which will be beneficial to his stock during winter.

CHEESE FACTORY.—This summer's whey of the Rothsay cheese factory, has been sold to J. A. Walker and J. McKay. They intend to buy up two hundred pigs and fatten them till the term has expired. This will save milk drawers the work of pumping, and drawing the whey back to the patrons.

SOWING THE SEED.—The farmers are busy putting in their spring grains, and looking forward to an abundant harvest. The wet weather of late has delayed them.

Rothsay, May 10, 1886.

A FEARFUL TEMPEST.

Buildings Demolished and Several People Killed and Injured.

KANSAS CITY, May 11.—A fearful storm of wind and rain swept over this city today, continuing from 11 o'clock until noon. The Courthouse on Second street was totally demolished above the second story. A number of persons were hurt there, but none killed, as far as known. Lathrop school building on Eighth street was partially wrecked, and many children were caught in the ruins. Eleven are reported to have been killed and ten seriously hurt. An overall factory on Second street was blown down and five deaths are reported there. Fifteen girls were at work in the building and nearly all of those not killed were wounded. The old waterworks building near the Court House was blown down and one or two persons are missing. At the Western Union Telegraph office but one wire is working out of the city. A span at the north end of the railroad bridge across the Missouri river was blown into the river. At 4. p. m. as nearly as can be learned amid the intense excitement and confusion, about twenty persons are known to be dead.

The Home Rule Bill.

LONDON, May 11.—The Pall Mall Gazette says Mr. Gladstone's speech last night made bad worse, and sealed the fate of the Home Rule Bill. Henry Labouchere, who had acted as intermediary between Messrs. Gladstone and Chamberlain, had informed the latter that the Premier was willing to make adequate concessions in order to secure the support of the Radical leader and his adherents. The speech did not bear out this promise in the way it had been accepted by Mr. Chamberlain, and the Gazette says he was astonished and disgusted, and openly declared in the lobby of the House of Commons that he had been misled, and would now oppose Mr. Gladstone's Bill tooth and nail.

The St. James' Gazette says there is no longer any doubt that the "Disruption Bill" (Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule measure) has collapsed.

The Globe asserts that there is less chance now than ever of the Home Rule Bill passing its second reading.

The Echo declares Mr. Gladstone's Bill is virtually doomed.

"Reader," in imorming you of this wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, consumption, and all affections of the throat and lungs, we feel that we are doing you a great kindness, as if you have any of the above complaints, if you will only try it we will guarantee satisfaction in every case or money refunded. CAMPBELL'S

TONIC ELIXIR

This agreeable yet potent preparation is especially adapted for the relief and cure of that class of disorders attendant upon a low or reduced state of the system, and usually accompanied by Pallor, Weakness and Palpitation of the Heart. Prompt results will follow its use in cases of Sudden Exhaustion arising from Loss of Blood, Acute or Chronic Diseases, and in the weakness that invariably accompanies the recovery from Wasting Fevers. No remedy will give more speedy relief in Dyspepsia or Indigestion, its action on the stomach being that of a gentle and harmless tonic, exciting the organs of digestion to action, and thus affording immediate and permanent relief. The carminative properties of the different aromatics which the Elixir contains render it useful in Flatulent Dyspepsia. It is a valuable remedy for Atonic Dyspepsia, which is apt to occur in persons of a gouty character.

For Impoverished Blood, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, and in all cases where an effective and certain stimulant is required, the Elixir will be found invaluable.

In Fevers of a Malarial Type, and the various evil results following exposure to the cold or wet weather, it will prove a valuable restorative, as the combination of Cinchona Calisaya and Serpentaria are universally recognized as specifics for the above-named disorders.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy,—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR REMEDY.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure when all others fail.

Allen's Lung Balsam is now put up in Three Sizes,
Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should secure the Large $1 Bottles.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

That Carters' By-Law.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—I was told on the 1st of May that the city authorities wanted all the carters and teamsters in the city to pay their license fee. I went to the City Hall and paid $20 for two double and one single rigs. The full license fee is $5 for single and $10 for double teams, only a reduction of $5 allowed, and only about half the year to run, and the best half gone, for now nearly all the spring work is done. I asked for a proper license paper and was told there was none ready. I then asked for a copy of the by-law, and was told there was none printed, although there is a standing order on the Council minute book for 300 copies of these by-laws to be printed. Now, sir, I think it is rather hard on me, for in the first place I have to pay $28 a year taxes, and now $25 a year more for the privilege of carrying on a legitimate business. What the authorities should have done at the beginning of the year would have been to have had the by-law properly advertised and then people would know what to do, and that such a law was in force. There are a great many teams doing work in the city and the men owning them do not know that a license is required; and then there are quite a number of men that that have teams, who, when they have no work for them in their own line of business, hire out to whoever they can and thus take work away from us who have paid a license. Now, sir, all that I ask is that the proper authorities advertize that such a law is in force and that the proper persons enforce it, and then it may be of some advantage to us; otherwise it is not.

Thanking you for inserting this in your valuable and widely circulated paper,

I remain, yours, etc.

CONCERT IN ELORA.—The Mechanics' Institute and Philharmonic Society of Elora have amalgamated for the purpose of giving a grand concert on the evening of the Queen's birthday. The Express says: Miss McLaren, of Guelph, one of the most noted violinists of the day, has been engaged for the evening, with her sister as accompanist on the piano.

STILL ANOTHER LAND SLIDE.—The Hamilton Times says: A land slide of considerable magnitude has taken place from the mountain, at the head of Burlington street, which lies below Wentworth street. A large lot of rock, earth, trees, etc., has slid down. The recent rains have played havoc with the mountain, and steps will certainly have soon to be taken to brace up the old hill in many places along the brow.

A NEW CALENDAR.—Messrs. J. McK. and A. L. Anderson, of Toronto, brothers to Mr. O. M. Anderson, Guelph, have invented and just patented for the Dominion of Canada an ingenious date calendar combination. By a simple adjustment once a month, requiring but about a second, the calendar becomes continuous, in other words, good for all time. It can be applied to an inkstand, but is equally applicable to any oval or circular body, whether upright or horizontal, and is in brief a little marvel of simple perfection.

CATTLE SALES.—Mr. James Hunter, Alma, has sold his old stock bull "Socrates" to Messrs. Lackey & Webber, Hawksville. For the past four years this bull has been the principal sire of Mr. Hunter's herd. He is a strong, vigorous animal and the stock got by him is some of the best that were ever raised at Sunnyside farm. Mr. Hunter has also sold to Mr. Robert Johnson, Johnson post office, a very promising red yearling bull, by Sir Hugh—2250—he by the same sire as Socrates—97—dam Lady Sarah 2nd by Knight of Warlaby—472.—

THANKS TO THE CHIEF.—At the meeting of the W. C. T. Union on Wednesday afternoon the following motion was presented and carried unanimously: That the Guelph Women's Christian Temperance Union heartily thank Chief Randall and his staff for their efforts to carry out the law by enforcing the Scott Act, and while deeply sympathizing with the officers in the difficulties of their position, trust they will not relax their efforts so long as the law is being broken, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Chief Randall. A resolution was also passed to attend in as large numbers as possible, the meeting of temperance workers in the Paisley street Methodist Church, on Friday evening next.

GRAND LEGION S. K. or A. O. U. W.—On Monday next the annual session of the Grand Legion S. K. of A. O. U. W. will be held in this city. Wellington Legion No. 18 have arranged, through Prof. Philp, assisted by Mrs. Whitehead, a grand concert of vocal and instrumental music to be given in the City Hall. Besides the City Band and local talent, the celebrated Littlehales family, of Hamilton, have been engaged and will make their first appearance in the city. On Monday afternoon the members of the A. O. U. W. lodges and Select Knights will meet at the lodge room and form a procession, and headed by the City Band, will proceed to the G. W. R. station to receive Supreme Commander Reed, of Topeka, Kansas, and Grand Commander Leubsdorf, and escort them to their headquarters. At the concert the Supreme Commander will deliver a short address, in which the aims and objects of the institution will be laid before the audience. Owing to the death of Past Com. Fairley, Wellington Legion will be represented by Past Commander Husband. The session will occupy two days.

WELLINGTON County Council meets at Guelph on Tuesday, June 1st. It will, in all probability, be one of the driest meetings ever held by that honorable body. So the editor of the Harriston Tribune says and he is a member.

CONSIDERABLE amusement was created on the Market Square last night by a young man who has recently purchased a bicycle, attempting to ride his newly purchased steed. The result was most unsatisfactory to the young man. By the time he got through with the experiment he looked like a mud monument.

THE Harriston hotelkeepers, with the exception of the bars keeping on the even tenor of their way. No extra charge for stabling, nor inconvenience to travellers. Notwithstanding all this drunken men are to be seen on the street, and it is supposed they get their liquor in the neighboring county of Perth.

CHARITY.—Capt. Clarke will give a calisthenic entertainment in Galt this week for the benefit of Mrs. Wells, whose husband died recently from the effects of an injury received at the knife factory there. The widow is left with seven children. Mrs. Whitehead will also be present, and a class of boys from Guelph, who will take part with the Galt class. The object is a laudable one.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT.—On the 9th instant James Black, one of the pioneers of Puslinch died at the advanced age of 88 years. The deceased was one of the early settlers in this section, and had to undergo all the hardships and privations incident to a pioneer life. He settled Puslinch, when it was a wilderness in the year 1832, together with his wife, and the late Duncan Stewart, his brother-in-law. They took up lot 15, 8th concession, each of the gentlemen clearing 50 acres, which they afterwards exchanged for larger farms, Mr. Black taking lot 18 and Mr. Stewart lot 17, on the 9th concession. Again Mr. Black had to encounter the hardships previously spoken of. In these days Mr. Black and his wife and Mr. Stewart and his wife—when travelling facilities were nothing like what they are now—thought nothing of walking seven miles to Guelph to attend religious services in the Presbyterian church which was then situated near where the market buildings now stand, the late Rev. Mr. Smith then being the minister. The deceased was well known and highly respected in the section. He was a native of Ayrshire, Scotland. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, 82 years of age, and a grown up family of sons and daughters, namely, Mr. James Black, Aberfoyle; John, of Marden, Manitoba; Peter, near Port Elgin; Charles, who resides at home, and also the oldest daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Dunlop, of Kincardine, and Mrs. Patmore, Harriston, together with several grandchildren. The funeral took place on Tuesday to the East church burying ground Puslinch, and was largely attended. Mr. Black had been in ill health for the past three years, and his death was not unlooked for.

INSTALLATION AND PRESENTATION U. O. F.—The regular] meeting of Court Grove, No. 69, Canadian Order of Foresters, was held on Wednesday evening. The following officers were installed by D. D. H. C. R. Gummer, assisted by P. C. R. Mann and Bro. Dr. Cowan: H. Gummer, C.R.; D. Tripp, V. C. R.; W. G. Stephenson, Chap.; W. M. Mann, R. S.; A. Galbraith, F. S.; H. Hughes, Treas.; S. Brown, S.W.; J. W. Denyes, J. W.; A. Weston, S. B.; J. Howitt, J. B. Brief speeches were then made by the new officers and a suitable presentation was made to Bro. W. Warren, who is leaving Guelph to take up his residence in St. Catharines. Mr. Warren thanked the members for their kindness, and after a social chat the Court closed.

SPRING ASSIZES.

McFarlane Pleads Guilty on Three Charges.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

Lucknow Counterfeit Money Case.

GUELPH, May 12.

Hodgson vs. Newstead—This action was brought by the plaintiff to recover from the defendant $700, which she claimed to be due her for wages, she having kept house for the defendant for seven years. The case did not go to trial, the parties having arrived at a settlement a few minutes after it was called, the plaintiff getting $225 without costs. Guthrie & Watt for plaintiff, A. H. Macdonald and Hugh McMillan for defendant.

Queen vs. Hugh Rae—Embezzlement. The prisoner is charged with embezzling a large sum of money. An application was made by the prisoner's counsel to allow him to go on his own bail, the Crown not being ready to proceed at this Court. Application refused. Mr. Johnston for the Crown, Mr. Field and Mr. Coffee for the prisoner.

May 13th.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT.

Mr. Finlay, foreman of the Grand Jury, presented the following address to Mr. Justice O'Connor this morning.

The Grand Jury beg to congratulate your Lordship on your first visit to Guelph since your elevation to the Bench.

We thank you for the compliment which, in your charge to us, you paid to the County of Wellington on the industry and well being of its people as evinced by the character of the cases which have been submitted to us—the most serious one of which came from another county.

We have visited the jail where we found everything clean and in good order. There were five prisoners in the jail—three males and two females. One of the prisoners is charged at this court, and the other four are idiots who have been in the gaol for sometime, and appear quite contented with their home and treatment.

We would recommend that the attention of the County Council be directed to the inconveniences of the County Court room, and the other rooms in the Court House building which are much behind the age and not in keeping with the prosperity of the County of Wellington, which we are proud to say in all other respects is second to none in the Province of Ontario.

In conclusion we congratulate the Court on being presided over by your Lordship and we pray that you may long be spared to be an honor to the Bench.

JAS. H. FINLAY, Foreman.

The Judge thanked the Grand Jury for the kind sentiments expressed in their presentment towards himself. He could only return the kindly expression that they would also live long and enjoy their share of happiness and prosperity. He agreed with them in regard to the state of the county buildings, and he would forward their address to the proper authorities. He hoped that for convenience and health alterations would be made on the building. As there was nothing else to come before the Grand Jury he would discharge them.

Wm. McFarlane, ticket agent at the G. T. R., here, was this morning arraigned for defrauding the company out of money through the sale of tickets. He pleaded guilty on the three charges preferred. Mr. Wood, Q. C., Stratford, appeared on behalf of the company, and Messrs. Macdonald & Macdonald for the prisoner. Mr. Wood said that the company for some time had suffered losses through their agents in the sale of return tickets, and it was their desire to ferret out the matter to the bottom. It was not their intention to be too severe. So far no intimation has been made of restitution or a disclosure of the fraud. Mr. Macdonald intimated that the prisoner was prepared to make restitution, and also to make disclosures. The case was adjourned until Saturday for judgment. In the meantime a largely and influentially signed petition is in circulation, to be presented to the Judge for a lenient sentence.

Queen vs. Owen G. Martin—The prisoner lives in the village of Lucknow, in the County of Bruce, and was arraigned on three indictments for circulating counterfeit money and for inciting one Wm. Walker to purchase the money.

The trial on the charge of inciting was proceeded with, Mr. Peterson opening the case for the Crown. The trial will probably last all day and there are a number of detectives as witnesses engaged in the case. Mr. Peterson and Mr. Johnson for the Crown Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., and Coffee, Field & Wissler for the defence.

Wm. Walker, baker, of Guelph, deposed that being out of work he had answered an advertisement in a Toronto paper from Lucknow, and received a circular (identified) dated August 17, from drawer 41, the tenor of which led him to think that counterfeit money was meant, and to which, after consultation with P. M. Saunders and Chief of Police, he replied on August 24th (letter identified); on the 27th August received my own letter with favorable reply endorsed on back; answered and on 3rd September received another letter; did not send money and did not know that anyone sent any; on 16th January, '86, received another letter (identified) in which was enclosed a slip of a $1 bill; showed the letter and slip to Chief Randall and Crown Attorney Peterson, and afterwards Detective Rogers; his answer of 26th January with $10 Bank of Commerce bill enclosed was written at the instigation of the latter to endeavor to get some of this supposed bad money; thought as a result of this correspondence that he was to get counterfeit money. In answer to Mr. Guthrie, witness said that he had never received any bad money from Drawer 41. After the correspondence dropped in September, there was nothing done till January, when at the instance of Detective Rogers, he wrote drawer 41 again and received an answer stating that for $10 he would send "300 worth of goods, assorted numbers." Borrowed the $10 I sent from Mr. Peterson's son; have not repaid him yet. The last letter was also written at the request of Detective Rogers.

Joseph E. Rogers, detective, in the employ of the Ontario Government, states that his attention had been called to the issuing of these Lucknow circulars by Deputy Attorney General Scott, and he received instructions to trace up the matter. He heard of Walker's receiving one circular. Saw him, and asked him to write to box 41, Lucknow; his object was to entrap the issue of the circulars; saw the answer to the letter; saw the bill in Walker's letter (bill produced and identified); he did not see letter again; employed a man named McGowan to see if the letter reached Lucknow; from information I received, swore out information against O. G. Martin and arrested him; found on him in his pocket book, among other money, the $10 bill which he saw Walker send him. Cautioned him against incriminating himself; searched his safe and found papers, letters and other documents (all produced by witness).

The Court then adjourned for dinner.

The Home Rule Bill.

Mr. Chamberlain's Large Following Against the Measure.

LONDON, May 12.—At a political meeting held at the city residence of Joseph Chamberlain to-day 60 members of the Commons were present. Mr. Chamberlain explained the renewal of his activity against Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill by saying that he had been clearly informed last Saturday that the Premier was prepared to expunge from the measure the clause excluding Irish representatives from sitting at Westminster. Mr. Chamberlain declared that now nothing short of the withdrawal of the Home Rule Bill would restore unity among the Liberals.

The meeting unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that those present would do the utmost in their power to oppose the Government's Irish Bill.

Mr. Caine, Liberal member for Barrow on Furness, stated that 102 Liberal members had promised to vote against the Home Rule Bill, and there were 34 other Liberal members who were undecided.

Michael Davitt, in an interview, declared that he would rouse the members of the National League in Ireland and America if Mr. Gladstone yielded to Mr. Chamberlain's demands for modification of the Home Rule Bill. In reference to the opposition of the people of Ulster to Home Rule, Mr. Davitt said scornfully: "Leave them alone to us; we will make short work of these gentry. They are not Irishmen but only English and Scotchmen who have settled among us. It would be an absurdity to allow them to dictate to Irishmen as to how Ireland should be governed. The Nationalists will wage war to the death against any Bill which does not subject Ulster to the rule of the statutory Parliament at Dublin."

It is stated that the Loyalists in Ulster are concealing arms, fearing that Mr. Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, will order the police to make raids for the purpose of disarming the people. A leading English Liberal has subscribed £100 to aid in buying arms for the Orangemen of Armagh. Drill clubs are being formed by the Armagh Loyalists.

A petition 371 yards long and signed by 30,000 women of Ulster has been handed in at the Home Office. It is addressed to the Queen and beseeches her to withhold assent from any Home Rule Bill.

Mr. Labouchere, addressing a meeting of his constituents, said he had Mr. Parnell's authority for denying the statement that the Nationalist members of Parliament would not support the Home Rule Bill if an amendment were introduced providing for the retention of Irish representatives at Westminster.

Bible and Tract Society.

TORONTO, May 12.—The fifty-third annual meeting of the Upper Canada Religious Tract and Book Society was held last night in Knox Church, the President, Rev. Dr. Reid, in the chair. The report of the year's work showed the receipts from sales and subscriptions to have been $16,193.97. There is a decrease from last year of $1,400, owing to the removal of the business to other quarters while the Yonge street premises were being altered. Colporteurs James Miller, Richard Irvine, and Rev. Thomas Bone were reported as doing good work. Books, Bibles, periodicals, tracts, etc., to the number of 296,900 were sold during the year and 164,500 were gratuitously distributed. Speeches were made by Mr. Stafford, Mr. Denovan and Mr. James Brown.

TORONTO, May 13.—The new buildings of the Society, erected on Yonge street at a cost of, $13,000 was formally opened yesterday afternoon. The Bible Society held its forty-sixth annual meeting in Knox Church at night. From the annual report it is gleaned that the receipts for the year were $28,012. The number of Bibles, Testaments and portions issued from the depository in Toronto during the past year was 41,991, being 5,866 more than during the previous year. Of these 6,539 were sold or issued gratuitously directly from the depository; 25,728 supplied to branch depositories and to the trade; and 9,924 were issued by colporteurs.

The Strike Continues.

TORONTO, May 13.—It was stated that 22 men have seceded from the ranks of the strikers. The cars appear to be largely patronized notwithstanding the free K. of L. vans, which also receive a good share of patronage. The strikers state that the nine vans doing service Tuesday collected $280 in gratuitous donations. A member of the Executive Committee stated that about nine busses were running yesterday. Plenty of horses are forthcoming and as nearly as possible the busses are run and the horses changed on street car time. They are kept running till nearly midnight. The men have appointed a Board of Management for the running of the vans, and in a few days they expect to be in first-class working order. The strikers are as determined as ever to fight the matter to the bitter end. The Carters' Union last night voted $100 to the strikers and agreed to furnish them with 100 horses if necessary. The peace continues to be well preserved. A number of men are under arrest for petty offences in connection with the strike.

Victoria University.

COBOURG, May 12.—Victoria University held its annual convocation to-day in the presence of a large and representative audience. Many prominent ministers and laymen of the Methodist church were present. The occasion was doubly interesting on account of it being the thirty-sixth anniversary of the respected President's labors for old Vic, Dr. Nelles being warmly congratulated on his long and faithful connection with the institution. After a valedictory oration by E. H. Loyl, degrees were conferred.

The Evening Mercury

THURSDAY EVE'G MAY 13, 1886

A resolution invoking pardon for the prisoners confined for complicity in the Northwest rebellion, has been introduced in the Quebec Assembly by the Attorney-General.

THE Nova Scotia Legislature was prorogued on Tuesday and the Lieutenant-Governor in his speech announced that the Assembly would be dissolved at an early date.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE will be entertained to a banquet at Chesley, county Grey, by the Liberals in that locality on Saturday next. He will also be banqueted by the Liberals of Owen Sound.

MISS KATE STONEMAN, a teacher of the State Normal School at Albany and sister of Governor Stoneman of California, has passed the examination for admission to the bar. Judges of the general term of the Supreme Court have taken her application under consideration.

MR. JOHN WHITE, M. P., for Hastings, said in the House the other night "that members of Parliament would soon not be allowed to go to heaven." If some of the fory members do not mend there ways their is certainly very little hope for them ever getting a peep into the good place.

THAT the Irishmen of Canada appreciate the sincere efforts of Mr. Blake to strengthen Mr. Gladstone's hands by obtaining an expression in favor of Home Rule from the Dominion Parliament is being very clearly demonstrated. Both the Hamilton and Toronto Branches of the Irish National League have passed resolutions approving of Mr. Blake's conduct and condemning that of Hon. John Costigan, Mr. Curran and others, who, to suit Sir John Macdonald's purposes, did all they could to frustrate the passing of the resolutions.

IT seems the Manitoba people are bound to have the Hudson Bay Railway whatever the Dominion authorities think about the practicability of the scheme. Mr. Hugh Sutherland, M. P., has been in England for sometime trying to raise the needful to carry out the work and the other day cabled to Ottawa asking an amendment in the charter whereby this work would be facilitated. It may here be mentioned that since the developments in the Beaty-Woodworth scandal the right of interested railway promoters to sit in Parliament has became more questionable than ever and Mr. Sutherland's cable has drawn some fresh attention to the matter. Mr. Norquay, the Manitoba Premier, the other day stated his intention of bringing the Hudson's Bay Railway scheme directly before the people of Manitoba by means of a plebiscit, with a view to securing the construction of the Road.

MR. POWDERLY, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, has issued a circular to members of the Order in which he condemns boycotting and advises a resort to it only when everything else fails. He next asks the members to get ready to act by means of their votes and not to waste time over resolutions condemning Jay Gould or any other monopolist. Adverting to the coming Special General Assembly of the Order, which will be held at Cleveland on May 25th, Mr. Powderly says that during his illness he has received over 400 letters a day—a much greater correspondence than any one man can read, much less answer. He objects to thus being made wheelhorse, instead of leader, with no time to think over the great problems in course of solution, and he announces that from now till the General Assembly meets he will receive no committees and answer no letters. He condemns in strong terms the use of strong drink by members, and is equally emphatic in his denunciation of the men who "talk about buying guns and dynamite." He says on this point:—If the men who possess money enough to buy guns and dynamite would invest it in some well selected work on labor they would put the money to good use. They will never need the gun or dynamite in this country. It is my opinion that the man who does not study the politics of the nation and the wants of our people would make but little use of a rifle. The man who cannot vote intelligently, and one who will not watch the man he votes for after he is elected, cannot be depended on to use either gun or dynamite." Further on he says:—"Men who own capital are not our enemies. If that theory held good the workmen of to-day would be the enemy of his fellow toiler on the morrow, for after all it is how to acquire capital and how to use it properly that we are endeavoring to lead. The man of capital is not necessarily the enemy of the laborer; on the contrary they must be brought closer together." Mr. Powderly is a level-headed leader and so long as the Knights of Labor follow such advice as he has heretofore given they will have the best share of the public sympathy and support.

Of the 4,302 deaths which took place in the British mercantile marine during the past year, 3,066 were due to drowning.

Fergus Correspondence.

SCOTT ACT MATTERS.—All is apparently quiet here. There was considerable excitement over the three convictions for infringing the Act in Guelph. Some of the hotels still have their liquors in the bar. Whether all have and whether all sell or not we cannot say. Perhaps none of them do, as there has not been much drunkenness on the streets, and the village is peaceable. It is doubtful if there will be any Queen's Birthday celebration, owing we presume, to the Scott Act. Let us hope that all good citizens will prove themselves such by by keeping the law and thus free hotel keepers from the necessity of refusing.

CATTLE.—There have been two lots of fine fat cattle shipped from here this week for the Old Country. The prices paid average ⅝c to ¾c, a little less than last year, but not very much. Mr Geo Smellie ships 8 or 10 first class thoroughbreds for Birscarth, Manitoba, to-morrow. These are for improving the splendid lot they already have, and have been chosen from the stables of the best breeders all over Ontario, and bought regardless almost of price if the animal suited, anywhere from $200 to $500 being paid.

SPORTS.—On Friday night last a meeting was called in the lacrosse rooms for the purpose of organizing a lawn tennis club. There was quite a good meeting, and a club was organized with the following officers: President, Wm Armitage; Vice-President, Mr. Reid; Secretary-Treasury, Mr. Stidston

LACROSSE.—The boys held a meeting last night to decide on their action for the 24th Nothing definite was decided upon. An effort will be made to have a game here; if not here then some other place. Practice is going on. The Thistles are getting new suits for play. A base ball club should be organized, as we have the material to make a good team. We are a little surprised to find that none of our boys have been so far wanted by the Chicago champions.

FOOTBALL.—Let us say in regard to this game that our High School Club contains foreigners who were born and live outside our corporation limits. This accounts doubtless for the defeats of our intellectual team of footballists. They were defeated last week by Elora High School club, Elora taking two goals to Fergus' one. On Saturday Orangeville High School beat them one goal to none. Both games were played in Fergus. We would strongly advise our pupils to tackle Aboyne and then quit if they cannot do better.

FISHING.—R. Kerr, of Fergus, succeeded in hooking 62 fine trout on Saturday last, and Messrs Thomson and Grieves got about twice as many a day or two before. Some others got so many or so few they could not count them.

MUSIC.—Our band paraded the streets on Saturday night again. We wish they would continue these Saturday night parades and repeat the dose through the week. The boys give good music and deserve encouragement and support from the village. Keep it up band.

CHURCHES.—Mr. Knox has conducted services in Melville church the last two Sundays. All are pleased with his earnest, sensible, practical style of preaching. He is quite a favorite. Mr Fowler, from Erin, preached in St. Andrew's on Sunday last.

LICENSE.—Mr R Phillips, druggist, has received the liquor license under the Scott Act for Fergus.

WEATHER.—Lots of frost last week followed by too much rain. Seeding is at a standstill. Roads are again wet. To-day the village is busy, a great many teams being in as nothing can be done on the farm. Last year we had a heavy snow-fall of about two inches on the 9th May, also a little on the 10th. There was little seeding done. This year it would have been all done but for the rain of the past three or four days.

We were pleased to see J Stirton, L D S, of Guelph, in town to-night. He is always welcome here.

Silk and Dress Goods Department

The general opinion is that in novelty of design and richness of fabric, the goods are such as are shown in the best houses of New York. Then we have all the newest styles of Trimmings to match every shade of goods, which makes it a real pleasure for ladies to make selections for their toilets. In Dressmaking our patrons are assured of getting the most graceful and stylish garments, made by one of the best cutters and fitters in Ontario.

MILLINERY AND MANTLE ROOMS

We feel assured in saying that no lady who has had the opportunity to make comparison of the several establishments in the city, will admit, that for variety, elegance, taste and ability displayed in the making, quantity and value, there is anything that will at all compare with ours. The high and well merited reputation of our Manager, Miss Manny, the extent of our purchases, and the special attention we pay to this Department, are winning us hosts of new customers, and we cordially invite all ladies who are not already patrons, to give us a trial.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, May 10th, 1886.

Last week the Government took Wednesday for Government business, leaving only Monday for private members. There are a great many notices of motion yet on the paper, and from present appearances a great many will have to remain on it, as there will be no chance for bringing them up. It is reported that the Government will move that henceforth the House will sit on Saturdays, which betokens the near approach of the close of the session.

The House had two very late sittings last week. On Tuesday Mr. Blake moved his Home Rule resolution, but it was laid over till Thursday. Mr. Charlton followed with his motion expressing regret that the independence of Parliament has been impaired by the the conduct of the Government in its administration of the public trusts of the country. This had special reference to the trafficking of the Government with members in timber limits, grazing lands, and coal lands. It will be remembered that Mr. M. C. Cameron and Mr. Charlton ventilated this subject last fall in public speeches, which created quite a sensation throughout the country. Since then these two gentlemen have bestowed much time in going over the immense mass of returns giving the names of members who applied for themselves, or their friends, for these limits, and also those who obtained them. From this they made out a formidable list, the reading of which raised the anger of those members whose names were mixed up in the transactions. It was natural that a heated debate should follow Mr Charltons and Mr Cameron's speeches. Some of the members implicated tried to squirm out of the difficulty by stating that their applications were made in behalf of their constituents, but many were unable to give any explanation whatever or impugn the correctness of these returns. The Government knew how damaging these would be to themselves and their supporters, and they delayed the production of them as long as possible. Mr. Thomas White was the chief champion of these land grabbers, but all that he did or could say did not touch the validity of the returns, which stand to-day in black and white as living proofs of the jobbery between these members and the Government. There was much cross firing between members and not a little bad feeling was engendered. The debate lasted till nearly six o'clock on Wednesday morning, and Mr. Charlton's motion was of course voted down by the Government's solid majorfty. This does not, however, wipe out the returns which remain as a standing proof of the guilt both of the Government and members who are implicated in these transactions.

The next long debate took place on Thursday on Mr. Blake's Home Rule resolution. This was the epiciest and most interesting that has taken place for some years. It was on the whole good natured and greatly relished by the crowds in the gallery and by the members of the Opposition, who greatly enjoyed the discomfiture of the Government, and the different shifts they resorted to deprive Mr. Blake of the credit of carrying his resolution. I will state as briefly as possible the run of the debate. Mr. Costigan's amendment was of a very vague and watery description, barely approving of Home Rule and disapproving the sending of any address to the Queen. It was hoped that here the affair would end by a straight party vote. The six o'clock recess came when the Government Irish members held a caucus, for Mr. Costigan felt himself in a nasty position, and he was anxious to find out some door of escape. It was then and there resolved to move an amendment to his amendment and thereby shut off any troublesome proposals from the other side. But Mr. McMullen, who held the floor at six o'clock, resumed at eight o'clock, and moved an amendment to Mr. Blake's motion, and to be added to it, affirming the principle of Home Rule. This fell like a bombshell in the Ministerial side. Sir John at once saw that he was out generalled. Costigan looked awfully glum, Bowell smiled serenely and Sir Hector looked perplexed. It was not Sir John's purpose that the House should show any sympathy with Home Rule, and yet he dared not go in the very face of it and against the feelings of his Irish supporters. There was no way of getting out of it, however, but by voting down McMullen's amendment, which was done though several Government members voted for it. Costigan's amendment was then carried and the Government began to feel a little easier, though some of their Orange supporters spoke strongly against Costigan's amendment. But Mr. Blake soon plunged them into fresh trouble by moving that Costigan's motion — pallid and colorless though it was in comparison with his own —should be sent to Mr. Gladstone. This set the Government all agog again, and there was great excitement among the Irish Catholic members, one after another hurrying down to consult with Sir John and Costigan. At last Mr. Coughlin moved that it be sent to Mr. Parnell instead of Mr. Gladstone. This was thought a grand move until Mr. Blake said he had no objection to include Mr. Parnell, but he would not exclude Mr. Gladstone, who was Premier and author of the bill. Then an attempt was made to tack Salisbury's name to these two, but that was considered absurd on account of the latter's hostility to Home Rule. Sir John too felt that it would be an insult to Mr. Gladstone to send the resolution to Parnell and not to him, and so Coughlin's motion was voted down.

The House was once more face to face with the motion to forward it to Gladstone, but to this Sir John would not consent, and in desperation he moved that it be sent to the Speaker of the British House of Commons. But Mr. Blake soon put his foot on that proposal by stating that the Speaker had no authority to send any such communication to any member, and our Speaker supported Mr. Blake in his contention. The Premier was now at his wits end what to do with the plaguey resolution, a hasty consultation was held around Sir John's desk, and after a little the Minister of Justice, as a last resort, moved that it be sent to Sir Charles Tupper, with instructions to show it to the members of Parliament at home. There was great fun over this ludicrous proposal, but there was no other way of getting out of the mess, and so this motion was carried and the farce ended. The Opposition voted for this as being the next best thing to what they were seeking to accomplish. On the whole it was a bad night for the Government, and for a time their forces were quite demoralized. That this is not a mere one sided opinion I quote the following from the letter of the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Herald, who was present during the whole debate :—" Sir John has been so far successful that he suceeded in retaining a sufficient majority to kill the resolution, though it is to be expected that he has killed some of his Irish followers in doing it, but I have never before seen him so badly worsted, strategically speaking, nor his followers so demoralized as they were last night. Point after point was turned by Mr. Blake, the more explanation that was attempted the worse things grew, in front of him was Blake and his solid force, on his flank was Mitchell fighting to save the resolution from emasculation, and round him his usual supporters, even the Deputy Speaker, voting in a go as you please manner sometimes for and sometimes against him. There was a loss of prestige in it, an ominous shadow of possible coming events, the too dear price of gratifying the dislike to letting Blake gain any credit. The debate was a singularly good tempered one. It might have been expected that on such a subject and with so much Irish in the air it would lead to a quarrel, but the reverse was the case. It was full of snaps and excitement, full of thrust and parry, but there was no malice. The galleries were filled until midnight, and even far into the morning they were well occupied, a number remaining to the end.

Much sympathy is felt in Ottawa for the sufferers by the fire that devastated Hull on Sunday morning. It is only six years since the place was swept by a fire which was even more disastrous than this one. Seven hundred families were then rendered homeless, and, still worse, four persons burned to death. The scene of Sunday's conflagration was not quite the same as that of 1880, but a considerable portion of the property destroyed and rebuilt on that occasion is again in ruins.

The actual value of the buildings destroyed on Sunday morning is estimated at $125,000, though only accessed at $85,000. There were burnned in all 110 buildings, divided into 155 tenements, and in these probably 175 or 200 families resided. A great amount of furniture was destroyed, for though most of the people burned out had removed the larger portion of their stuff, yet much of this was burned in the places of supposed safety where it was deposited. In the stores burned on Main street a lot of valuable stock was destroyed. Counting everything up, the total loss may safely be figured at about $200,000. On this there is very little insurance, only the more well-to-do having any at all, The most valuable building destroyed is the new post office which was a handsome solid stone structure which belonged to the Government. The buildings destroyed cover an area of from ten to twelve acres in the heart of the town, the inhabitants of which are nearly all French Canadians, the men depending mainly on the lumber interest for their living.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, May 10th, 1886.

Last week the Government took Wednesday for Government business, leaving only Monday for private members. There are a great many notices of motion yet on the paper, and from present appearances a great many will have to remain on it, as there will be no chance for bringing them up. It is reported that the Government will move that henceforth the House will sit on Saturdays, which betokens the near approach of the close of the session.

The House had two very late sittings last week. On Tuesday Mr. Blake moved his Home Rule resolution, but it was laid over till Thursday. Mr. Charlton followed with his motion expressing regret that the independence of Parliament has been impaired by the the conduct of the Government in its administration of the public trusts of the country. This had special reference to the trafficking of the Government with members in timber limits, grazing lands, and coal lands. It will be remembered that Mr. M. C. Cameron and Mr. Charlton ventilated this subject last fall in public speeches, which created quite a sensation throughout the country. Since then these two gentlemen have bestowed much time in going over the immense mass of returns giving the names of members who applied for themselves, or their friends, for these limits, and also those who obtained them. From this they made out a formidable list, the reading of which raised the anger of those members whose names were mixed up in the transactions. It was natural that a heated debate should follow Mr Charltons and Mr Cameron's speeches. Some of the members implicated tried to squirm out of the difficulty by stating that their applications were made in behalf of their constituents, but many were unable to give any explanation whatever or impugn the correctness of these returns. The Government knew how damaging these would be to themselves and their supporters, and they delayed the production of them as long as possible. Mr. Thomas White was the chief champion of these land grabbers, but all that he did or could say did not touch the validity of the returns, which stand to-day in black and white as living proofs of the jobbery between these members and the Government. There was much cross firing between members and not a little bad feeling was engendered. The debate lasted till nearly six o'clock on Wednesday morning, and Mr. Charlton's motion was of course voted down by the Government's solid majorfty. This does not, however, wipe out the returns which remain as a standing proof of the guilt both of the Government and members who are implicated in these transactions.

The next long debate took place on Thursday on Mr. Blake's Home Rule resolution. This was the epiciest and most interesting that has taken place for some years. It was on the whole good natured and greatly relished by the crowds in the gallery and by the members of the Opposition, who greatly enjoyed the discomfiture of the Government, and the different shifts they resorted to deprive Mr. Blake of the credit of carrying his resolution. I will state as briefly as possible the run of the debate. Mr. Costigan's amendment was of a very vague and watery description, barely approving of Home Rule and disapproving the sending of any address to the Queen. It was hoped that here the affair would end by a straight party vote. The six o'clock recess came when the Government Irish members held a caucus, for Mr. Costigan felt himself in a nasty position, and he was anxious to find out some door of escape. It was then and there resolved to move an amendment to his amendment and thereby shut off any troublesome proposals from the other side. But Mr. McMullen, who held the floor at six o'clock, resumed at eight o'clock, and moved an amendment to Mr. Blake's motion, and to be added to it, affirming the principle of Home Rule. This fell like a bombshell in the Ministerial side. Sir John at once saw that he was out-generalled. Costigan looked awfully glum, Bowell smiled serenely and Sir Hector looked perplexed. It was not Sir John's purpose that the House should show any sympathy with Home Rule, and yet he dared not go in the very face of it and against the feelings of his Irish supporters. There was no way of getting out of it, however, but by voting down McMullen's amendment, which was done though several Government members voted for it. Costigan's amendment was then carried and the Government began to feel a little easier, though some of their Orange supporters spoke strongly against Costigan's amendment. But Mr. Blake soon plunged them into fresh trouble by moving that Costigan's motion — pallid and colorless though it was in comparison with his own —should be sent to Mr. Gladstone. This set the Government all agog again, and there was great excitement among the Irish Catholic members, one after another hurrying down to consult with Sir John and Costigan. At last Mr. Coughlin moved that it be sent to Mr. Parnell instead of Mr. Gladstone. This was thought a grand move until Mr. Blake said he had no objection to include Mr. Parnell, but he would not exclude Mr. Gladstone, who was Premier and author of the bill. Then an attempt was made to tack Salisbury's name to these two, but that was considered absurd on account of the latter's hostility to Home Rule. Sir John too felt that it would be an insult to Mr. Gladstone to send the resolution to Parnell and not to him, and so Coughlin's motion was voted down.

The House was once more face to face with the motion to forward it to Gladstone, but to this Sir John would not consent, and in desperation he moved that it be sent to the Speaker of the British House of Commons. But Mr. Blake soon put his foot on that proposal by stating that the Speaker had no authority to send any such communication to any member, and our Speaker supported Mr. Blake in his contention. The Premier was now at his wits end what to do with the plaguey resolution, a hasty consultation was held around Sir John's desk, and after a little the Minister of Justice, as a last resort, moved that it be sent to Sir Charles Tupper, with instructions to show it to the members of Parliament at home. There was great fun over this ludicrous proposal, but there was no other way of getting out of the mess, and so this motion was carried and the farce ended. The Opposition voted for this as being the next best thing to what they were seeking to accomplish. On the whole it was a bad night for the Government, and for a time their forces were quite demoralized. That this is not a mere one sided opinion I quote the following from the letter of the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Herald, who was present during the whole debate:—"Sir John has been so far successful that he suceeded in retaining a sufficient majority to kill the resolution, though it is to be expected that he has killed some of his Irish followers in doing it, but I have never before seen him so badly worsted, strategically speaking, nor his followers so demoralized as they were last night. Point after point was turned by Mr. Blake, the more explanation that was attempted the worse things grew, in front of him was Blake and his solid force, on his flank was Mitchell fighting to save the resolution from emasculation, and round him his usual supporters, even the Deputy Speaker, voting in a go as-you-please manner sometimes for and sometimes against him. There was a loss of prestige in it, an ominous shadow of possible coming events, the too dear price of gratifying the dislike to letting Blake gain any credit. The debate was a singularly good tempered one. It might have been expected that on such a subject and with so much Irish in the air it would lead to a quarrel, but the reverse was the case. It was full of snaps and excitement, full of thrust and parry, but there was no malice. The galleries were filled until midnight, and even far into the morning they were well occupied, a number remaining to the end.

Much sympathy is felt in Ottawa for the sufferers by the fire that devastated Hull on Sunday morning. It is only six years since the place was swept by a fire which was even more disastrous than this one. Seven hundred families were then rendered homeless, and, still worse, four persons burned to death. The scene of Sunday's conflagration was not quite the same as that of 1880, but a considerable portion of the property destroyed and rebuilt on that occasion is again in ruins.

The actual value of the buildings destroyed on Sunday morning is estimated at $125,000, though only accessed at $85,000. There were burnned in all 110 buildings, divided into 155 tenements, and in these probably 175 or 200 families resided. A great amount of furniture was destroyed, for though most of the people burned out had removed the larger portion of their stuff, yet much of this was burned in the places of supposed safety where it was deposited. In the stores burned on Main street a lot of valuable stock was destroyed. Counting everything up, the total loss may safely be figured at about $200,000. On this there is very little insurance, only the more well-to-do having any at all, The most valuable building destroyed is the new post office which was a handsome solid stone structure which belonged to the Government. The buildings destroyed cover an area of from ten to twelve acres in the heart of the town, the inhabitants of which are nearly all French Canadians, the men depending mainly on the lumber interest for their living.

Elora Correspondence.

A Spill.—On Tuesday evening last, Mr Joe Thompson, of Nichol, when starting for home, had the pleasure of sitting behind a fast, kicking horse. In a few moments Mr T. was on the ground not much the worse for a scrape on the gravel road, the horse was half way to Salem, and there was a buggy with a broken shaft. Mr Thompson had held on manfully to the lines, even when on the ground, but the crazy brute was too much for him. His escape without serious injury was a narrow one.

Auction Sale.—On the 14th inst. Mr J. M. Shaw, well known as the editor of the Elora Express, will dispose by auction of his real estate and household effects. The sale will be one of the most important held in this section of the country during the past few years, as the property is well situated and in excellent order, and the furniture and household appliances are of first-class character.

Foot Ball.—On Thursday last the pupils of the Elora and Fergus High School met on the green here to test their skill and muscle in a friendly contest at foot ball. Both sides were about equally matched, and victory for a time was on the balance, but at last inclined to the side of the home team. The Elora boys enjoyed their victory in becoming fashion, and the Fergus team took their defeat with manly determination to try and do better next time.

Cattle Shipments.—Weigher Fenwick was kept busy at the cattle scales last week, and reports the cattle shipments as large and of unusually fine quality. Prices of beef are not so high this season as in some previous years, but, nevertheless when compared with the prices of grain, are satisfactory. Beef will long remain king in this section.

Fall Wheat.—There are all sorts of rumors as to the condition of the growing fall wheat crop, but the truth appears to be that on high, rolling lands the prospects are unusually good, while in wet and low situations they are not so promising. There is little, if any, which has been winter killed, and if dry weather speedily sets in, the crop will certainly be up to the average.

A Frank Confession.—A hotelkeeper, in an adjoining county, in conversation with a prominent official here a few days ago, made a statement, which conclusively proves that the Scott Act is not doing nearly all that its friends claim it is capable of effecting. He said, "I sell as much whiskey as ever, but I have to be careful as to whom I sell it. It pays me better than when I was under license, for I now get five cents for every glass I dispose of. Formerly I often gave seven glasses for a quarter, I am not so particular about quality, and give a little more water than I could in old times. I charge and get paid for every mouthful of hay used in my stable, and before the Scott Act, my regular customers got it free. I pay less taxes, because of reduced assessment, and get off at about half the rent I used to pay. Altogether I am making more money than I used to do, but I would rather live under the Crooks' Act, as I am subject to risk which I don't care to run." This is undoubtedly a truthful statement from a reliable man.

More Leaving.—More young men are leaving this locality for Dakota, following the large numbers who have gone from Wellington since the opening of spring. As it is with this, one of the finest and most productive counties in Canada, so it is safe to conjecture is it with the whole country. Our rural district has become a vast breeding ground for the population of the Western Territory of Uncle Sam. There is no disguising the fact, and it is idle to attempt to conceal it. For some reason or other, the population of our old townships is rapidly decreasing. A reference to the census tables gives strong proof of this unsatisfactory state of things. Take the latest returns as afforded by official tables, illustrating the condition of things in this County for proof of this assertion. In 1871, Pilkington had a population of 2,314; in 1881, it was reduced to 1,958. In 1871, Nichol had 2,731; in 1881 but 2,474. In 1871, Puslinch claimed 4,514; in 1881 only 3,983. Eramosa, in 1871, boasted 3,758; in 1881 she had fallen off to 3,611. In 1871, Erin, including her villages, had 5,825; in 1881 but 5,131. Guelph Township in 1871 had 2,959, while in 1781 she numbered only 2,793. These six townships are probably the best in the County of Wellington. They have fine soil, well cultivated farms, and all the attraction of old settlement, and yet, in ten years, their population falls from 21,022 to 19,942, or a decrease of 1,660. Of those who have thus gone away in search of new homes, the great bulk consisted of smart young fellows, just on the verge of manhood, possessed of adventurous spirits, full of go, and determined to better their condition elsewhere than in the old homestead. A long and cruel war would have carried off just this class of young men, and the country has suffered just as much in their loss as if an armed foe had invaded our land. The reason for all this is worth finding out, and the mere mention of the fact is enough to set wise and patriotic men thinking. There is a reason for this depletion of our population and it is not past finding out, but the stern fact remains that Canada is a breeding ground for the United States.

Early Birds.—Robins have hatched in this locality, and Baltimore orioles are here in great abundance. This is an unusually early date at which a record of these facts can be made, and another illustration of the advanced character of the season.

Beware.—It is said that on the shelves of a hotel bar, in Centre Wellington, stands a suspicious looking bottle filled with a liquid which will not be appreciated by the Inspector, or other curious Paul Pry, who may examine its contents. It looks like whiskey, but it is a lye.

Sporting Item.—On a farm, adjoining the gravel road in lower Nichol, the waters have been out all spring and the place has become a resort for wild ducks. The birds are numerous and in good condition, but the game laws protect them.

On Dit.—Judge Drew will start for Europe on the completion of his duties as Revising Barrister.

Public Meeting.—Several parties in various portions of the country having expressed a desire to visit Elora for picnic purposes during the summer if sufficient arrangements for their accommodation were made. A meeting was held in the town hall last evening and a committee appointed to wait on the Council at its next meeting. It is probable that the grounds adjoining the drill shed will be placed in a fit condition for the reception of visitors.

Gold Ireland.—Prof. Ritchie announces that Howorth Hibernican will give a night in Elora, on Wednesday the nineteen inst. The views of the "old sod" are well drawn, and finely painted, while an excellent variety company adds largely to the pleasure of the entertainment. Every Irish man and woman in the neighborhood—and for that matter, every other man and woman—ought to be present.

Done For.—A Scott Act man dropped into Dalby's hostelrie the other day and asked for a drink. Frank offered the usual programme of soft stuff but his customer wanted "none of them, but some of that, pointing to a bottle on the shelf filled with a liquid looking very like the real old stuff. Frank demurred, the customer insisted and got the bottle. He filled a stiff "horn" and didn't know until he had taken it quickly down that he had put himself outside about half a tumbler of pure lime juice. He declares that it was sour mash, but doesn't want another dose.

Very Low.—We regret to state that Mrs Stewart, wife of Rev J Stewart, whose serious illness was noted last week, is now very low. A slight improvement was noticeable of a few days ago, but less favorable symptoms have since manifested themselves.

New Barns.—Mr Thomas Finnegan, of Lower Nichol, is erecting a new bank barn 65 by 70, with all the latest modern improvements. It will have a fine stone foundation and extensive stabling, and is going up under the superintendence of Mr John Lynett, framer, from Eramosa. Mr James Wright, of Lower Pilkington, is erecting a similar building, with Mr Wm Reinhart as framer.

Enterprise.—Mr Sim Johnston, of Pilkington, who returned from California a short time ago, afterwards visited Quebec, and there purchased a magnificent jet black French horse, named the "Crown Prince," which is travelling in this locality. He paid a long price for the noble animal, but has evidently secured good value for his money.

Fat Cattle.—On Thursday last, Messrs J & R McQueen shipped their famous steer "Red Duke," and their well known heifer "Daisy," on the Grand Trunk Railway for Montreal, whence they will be sent to England for exhibition at the Colonial. Both animals girth about 9 1-2 feet, and seem to carry every possible pound of fat. The "Duke" is presumed to weigh about 3,000 lbs. while "Daisy" will turn the scale at 2,600. They have already won numerous prizes in Canada and are well known to the breeding and feeding community here. Messrs R McQueen and R McColgan accompanying them. The English are accustomed to seeing large animals. As early as 1807 the celebrated "Durham Ox" was exhibited there and had a live weight of 3,780 lbs. He was jolted over the country in a caravan for years, and was killed in consequence of dislocating a hip. When dressed, after suffering from these disadvantages, he weighed 2,020 lbs. But John Bull nevertheless will be astonished at the sight of our Pilkington beef.

"What is McGregor's Speedy cure for?"

It is for dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion, biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.

"Does it give satisfaction?"

We cannot point to one instance where it did not.

"Where does it have the largest sale?"

Right in the city of Hamilton where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by Thos. S Petrie, Druggist.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address DR. H. G. ROOT,

Branch Office, 37 Yonge St., Toronto.

"Reader," in imorming you of this wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, consumption, and all affections of the throat and lungs, we feel that we are doing you a great kindness, as if you have any of the above complaints, if you will only try it we will guarantee satisfaction in every case or money refunded. "OUR FIGURES ARE REDUCED."

New Goods, Low Prices.

We work a system of close margins, buy and sell for cash, every article good, reduced in price to the lowest point of profit compatible with success. We do not believe in the old exploded dodge, making our customers believe that we are selling goods below cost price, nor are we giving some articles away for nothing in order to sell others. Our theory and practice are that small profits yield large sales, and give us steady trade and contented customers. Our stock of Spring and Summer goods complete. Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 12.

In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Chapleau introduced a Bill respecting the Department of Public Printing and Stationery.

Mr. Thompson moved that the order for the second reading of the Bill respecting interest in the Province of British Columbia be placed on the Government Orders.

Mr. Blake moved that Mr. Jamieson's Bill amending the Scott Act by improving its machinery be placed on the Government Orders. This was lost on a vote of 68 yeas to 88 nays.

Mr. Kranz then moved that Mr. Ortcn's Bill on the question of allowing the sale of wine and beer in counties which have not yet adopted the Scott Act be placed on the Government Orders. Mr. Cameron (Victoria) moved in amendment that all bills relating to the Scott Act be placed on the Government Orders. The Speaker ruled that Mr. Jamieson's Bill could not be included in this motion, as a vote had been already taken on that question. This bill was, therefore, struck out of Mr. Cameron's amendment, which was then put and lost; yeas, 22; nays, 149. Mr. Kranz's amendment was lost on a vote of 33 to 135. Mr. Hickey moved an amendment to place the Bill relating to the sale of liquor by druggists on the Government Orders, which was also lost. The resolution was carried.

The following Government Bills were read a third time and passed: To amend the law relating to the salaries of certain judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario; to make further provision respecting the administration of the public lands of Canada in British Columbia; to amend the law respecting Crown cases reserved; the Act in amendment of the "Consolidated Inland Revenue laws."

The Bill respecting the appointment of judges in the Northwest Territory was read the first time.

The money clauses of the Northwest Representation Bill were passed and referred to the committee on the Bill.

In Committee of the Whole on the Bill respecting the revised statutes, Mr. Thompson promised that the form of oath under the Franchise Bill should be submitted in the Bill instead of being passed in this consolidation.

The Bill to amend the Chinese Immigration Restriction Act was read the second time and passed in Committee of the Whole after a long discussion.

The House adjourned at 11.30.

Canadian Pacific Railway.

Montreal, May 12.—The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway was held to-day at noon, Sir George Stephen in the chair. The annual report was read by Mr. Drinkwater, in which it was shown that the net profit of the year was $825,216.

The Company's telegraph lines have as yet only been opened for commercial service between Lake Superior and the Rocky Mountains, and on the branch lines of railway in the Northwest. The net profit from their operation in that district in 1885 was $60,530, as against $36,273 for the previous year. The Company's wires, both east and west, are being rapidly extended, and it is expected that its telegraph system will soon be in full operation. Desirable connections with the principal cities in the United States have been practically secured, and cable connections with Europe are also available.

The following directors were elected:—Sir Geo. Stephen, Bart., President; Mr. Wm. C. VanHorne, Vice-President; Hon. Donald A. Smith, Mr. Richard B. Angus, Mr. Edmund B. Osler, Mr. Sandford Fleming, C. E., C. M. G.; Mr. H. S. Northcote, Mr. R. V. Martineau, Hon. W. L. Scott, Mr. George R. Harris, Hon. Levi P. Morton and Mr. Richard J. Cross. The last two gentlemen replace P. du P. Grenfell, London, and C. D. Rose, London.

Decorated With Medals.

Toronto, May 13.—The services of the Toronto volunteers who went to the Northwest to fight the rebels, were recognized yesterday when they were presented with medals commemorative of the expedition. The Queen's park, where the event took place, was crowded with people. The soldiers comprising C Company, school of Infantry, the Queen's Own and Royal Grenadiers, were preceded to the grounds by General Middleton and party. Lady Middleton pinned the first medal on her warrior husband's manly bosom. Then the other officers and men had their medals presented by Lady Middleton, Mrs. Otter and Miss Doucet, a sister of Lady Middleton and a French Canadian belle. The ceremony was not finished until after 6 o'clock.

AT the annual meeting of the members of the Galt Michanics' Institute, the institution was shown to be in a good position. The membership last year was 396. There were 3909 volumes in the library, and therr was issued during the year 10,185. The receipts from all sources had been $1083, and payments the same, so that there is no balance to carry forward.

NEW SPORTING JOURNAL.—A new sporting journal has been started in Montreal, entitled the Canadian Athletic News. B. T. A. Bell is the manager. It is neatly got up and will devote its attention to lacrosse, cricket, football, golf, tennis, baseball and racquets; to gymnastics, swiming, yachting, rowing and bicycling; to hunting and fishing; and in the winter to snowshoeing, curling, skating, hockey and tobogganning.

RESISTED ARREST.—On Monday morning License Inspector Brothers, of Milton tried to arrest Mr. Wm. Brush, lessee of the Farmers' Hotel, who was recently assessed $50 for illegal liquor selling and who has so far neglected to pay his fine. Brothers found his man in the readieg room of the Mechanics' Institute, marched boldly up to him and laid his hand on his shoulder, remarking, "you are my prisoner." Brush broke the hold and refused to go and the Inspector went away without him.

A SENSIBLE DOG.—On the 28th of April, Abner Richards left Minto for Dakota, taking the C. P. R. at Harriston and by way of Streetsville on to Galt. He took with him a car load of stock, including a valuable collie dog. On Friday night the dog was lost, and all efforts to find the animal were unavailing, and Mr. Richards proceeded on his journey. A letter has been received by his father who resides in Guelph that the dog arrived at his old home, above Harriston, on the Sunday morning following. The distance, by a direct line, would be about 70 miles, and if he followed the railway track it would be fully 150 miles. Which road did he take?

SMASHUP AT ACTON.—The Acton Free Press says:—On Tuesday morning about half past 7 an accident occurred to engine No. 261, of rather a serious nature. This engine with its train of freight cars had been standing in one of the sidings in the east side of the yard while the Chicago express passed through, and was in the act of running out to the main line again when a rail at the western side switch split in two from the top and let the heavy engine down between the rails. It ran only a few yards, but the damage caused was greater than one would imagine. The king bolt in the front trucks broke off and allowed the trucks to come into contact with the gearing and other machinery under the boiler, the whole of which was broken and twisted into all manner of shapes. An auxiliary train with a gang of men arrived from Toronto in an hour or so, but it was nearly four o'clock in the afternoon before the damaged engine was put upon the track again. It seems to have been a pure accident, and no employee can justly be blamed as responsible for it.

PRESENTATION TO CAPT. CLARKE.—The Reporter says: This gentleman was on Thursday of last week presented by his Galt calisthenic class with a purse of $50, being the proceeds of the late entertainment in Galt after paying expenses. The gallant Captain well deserves this recognition at the hands of his class.

VALUATING THE LOSS.—Yesterday at the request of some of the insurance agents, Messrs. McCrae & Co., of the woollen mills here sent Mr. H. Nailer of their factory as a valuator of the loss sustained by the fire on Wednesday at Mr. Benjamin Williams woollen factory, Glenwilliams. Mr. Nailer says that the factory and machinery are a total wreck.

SUCCESS OF A MINISTER.—The numerous friends of the Rev. W. W. Dawley, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, will read with interest the following notice from the Gloversville Intelligencer of the 6th instant:—"On Sunday morning twenty-one new members were received into the fellowship of the Baptist Church, making a total of ninety-five received during Rev. W. W. Dawley's pastorate.

THE RINK.—There was a good turn out at the Speed Skating Rink last night to witness the performance of Prof. G. S. Foster, of Newport, Vermont, the great fancy and trick skater of America. His performance of skating through five knives about a couple of feet a apart on two wheels, was greatly admired. To-night he will skate through sixteen. The City Band furnished excellent music during the evening.

DRILL.—Last night Capt. Clarke drilled "B" battery at the Ontario Agricultural College in gun drill and fencing. Sergt. Major Ross put through "A" battery at the gun shed, in standing, changing and other kinds of disabled ordiance drill. For the short time that the men have been in training they have picked up wonderfully and give evidence of a good record at the next camp.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At the meeting of Guelph Council No. 127, Royal Templars of Temperance, held on Thursday night, the following resolution was carried unanimously: That the cordial thanks of this Council be tendered to Chief of Police Randall and his staff for their prompt and efficient action in securing the three convictions already made under the Scott Act and this Council assures the Chief of its hearty support and co-operation in his efforts to enforce the Act, coupled with the hope that he will vigorously use all legitimate means to bring the violators thereof to speedy justice.

ABOUT PIGS.—According to the city by-laws between the 15th day of May and the 1st of November no hogs are allowed to be kept within the limits of the municipality except in pens 70 feet from the house, and even then the floors of these places have to be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and free from standing water. Health Officer Clarke will on Monday commence his tour of inspection, and those parties who keep hogs, contrary to the provisions of the by-law, had better take warning.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION.—The Galt Reporter says:—"The members of Galt Fish and Game Association are having quite an interesting time with their ball shooting at their practices, and are getting quite expert. They will no doubt soon try their hands with Preston or Guelph. The Association is keeping a strict eye on the observance of the Fish and Game Laws and any infraction which comes to their knowledge or can be detected will be prosecuted. Information of any breach, if communicated to the Association, will be followed up." Whenever the associatson desire to come to Guelph they will be honorably met and hospitably received.

TEESWATER, May 13.—Collector Caven, of Stratford, and officer Nichol, of Walkerton, arrested Anthony Mehan, who was sentenced to pay a penalty of $300 and go to gaol one month for working an illicit still in the Township of Culross.

SPRING ASSIZES.

The Crown Evidence Agains O. C. Martin, Lucknow.

Thursday, May 13.

Detective Rogers resuming the witness box at 1:15 p.m. said—The papers found in defendants safe were then gone over and classified, and witness identified the defendant's handwriting on several of them. Circulars and letter sent to H. Piramid, Toronto, in witness' possession in answer to a letter to drawer 41, Lucknow, were in the same handwriting as those to Walker. When arresting prisoner, asked him where he got the identified $10 bill. He replied that he received it in the ordinary course of business. Defendant admitted to witness that he rented drawer 41.

To Mr. Guterie—Arrested Martin on a charge of offering; found no forged money on him or on his premises; cannot say whether or not I laid more than one charge; had seen the $10 bill last on 29th Jan. Letter written on 26th, and posted on 29th Jan. would probably reach Lucknow on the 30; saw the bill again on 10th Feb. when I arrested Martin; base my knowledge of defendant's handwriting or some writing in a small book which witness acknowledged to be his; he denied all knowledge of Walker's letters and circulars and counterfeit money; was satisfied in my own mind when I went to Lucknow that Martin was the guilty man; might have laid when the jury acquitted him at Goderich on the charge of having a forged plate in his possession, that if he did not stop his crooked work, I would stick to him till I got him; produced at the preliminary hearing only such papers of Martin's as the Crown Attorney wished.

To Mr. Johnston—My reason for suspecting Martin was that I had sent a marked $10 bill through another party from Toronto to drawer 41, Lucknow, and had it returned to me by the P. O. Department to whom Martin had given the bill in payment for a money order; Walker's letter of the 26th January by arrangement with the P. O. authorities was sent via Toronto and was traced to Martin in Lucknow.

Chief Randall said that the circular and slip of $1 bill produced were similar to that sent to Walker and shown him

Robt. McGowan sworn, said—Was detailed to assist Detective Rogers in tracing this letter; went to Lucknow, met postmaster, accompanied him to post office; after opening mail bag he showed me an open envelope, addressed Drawer 41, Lucknow, together with a $10 bill and letter under cover of large envelope addressed to postmaster; saw bill ($10 bill identified) and letter of Walker's (letter identified) placed in envelope and envelope sealed and placed in Drawer 41; in about 20 minutes Wellington Martin, defendant's brother, came in to post office and took the letter; followed him to O. G. Martin's jewellery store; went in; pretended I was drunk; Wellington gave O. G. the letters, but he did not read them; after tea I came back to the store and saw this letter being read by O. G. I knew the letter. To Mr. Field—No one was in the shop when the decoy letter was being read by Martin; was not drunk at the time; am positive I recognized the letter; did not see the signature, nor could I tell the words of the letter.

Malcolm Campbell, postmaster, Lucknow, detailed the meeting with McGowan, the various steps taken in connection with the decoy letter; McGowan was perfectly sober at all times he had seen him; O. G. Martin's general reputation was good.

Wm. Mellis, assistant postmaster, Lucknow, corroborated the postmaster's statement; identified O. G. Martin's writing on money order requisitions and in registration delivery book; on circulars and letters believed the writing to be Martin's; thought that McGowan was sober; do not know much about O. G.'s reputation.

T. T. Nickle, reporter on Hamilton Spectator, had met O. G. Martin at Blyth two years ago. He represented himself to witness in Blyth as W. A. Garland. Witness detailed conversation he had had with prisoner in reference to counterfeit money. Defendant told him all about his modus operandi. Told him his name was W. A. Garland; did not know him by any other name; the writing on the circulars (shown) was the same as that in the little book; know this by the general character of the writing and by the similarity of individual letters.

To Mr. Guthrie: Gave similar evidence at the Goderich trial; Martin was acquitted; do not claim to be an expert, but have considerable experience of handwriting.

To Mr. Johnston: I gave evidence on two indictments at Goderich.

Robert Kerr, Galt, received a circular from Lucknow, same as that produced, on 1st February, 1886.

W. H. Cutten, Guelph Banking Company; M. MacCormack, Guelph Business College; A. A. Fitzgerald, Manager Federal Bank, Guelph and J. R. McIntosh, accountant, Bank of Commerce, were called and their general evidence went to show the similarity between the defendant's handwriting and that on the letters and circulars, and that they believed them in the main to be the same.

This closed the case for the Crown.

Mr. Guthrie submisted that on the specific charge of inciting Walker to utter forged notes there was no evidence to go to the jury; also there was no evidence to show that any such notes were in existence. His Lordship thought that the jury could decide for themselves on the evidence. If they convicted the prisoner, he had made up his mind to reserve the case.

It being 6.30 p. m. the Judge decided to hear the evidence for the defence in the morning. Bail was then accepted for the prisoner, himself in $2,000, and two sureties in $4,000 each, to appear in the morning when called upon. The jury were locked up in the Court House for the night, the acting Sheriff making things as comfortable for them as lay in his power.

Friday, May 14.

Court resumed about 9.45 this morning. The defence in the Lucknow case, deciding not to call any witnesses, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, for the Crown, addressed the jury, detailing the strong evidence connecting the prisoner with the circulars issued and money received, that these circulars could mean nothing else than that counterfeit money was intended, that it was necessary to produce the money to prove this, and that the handwriting, conduct and record of the prisoner pointed to him as the guilty party. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., for the defence attacked the weak points of the evidence, claiming that the prisoner's mouth was closed, that the testimony against him was almost entirely that of detectives, who had a professional interest in convicting him, that he had hitherto borne a good character, that no counterfeit notes had been found in the prisoner's possession, nor was there any probability that there were any in existence, that the charge was not of getting money under false pretences, but that of inciting another to issue "certain" counterfeit notes. His Lordship, in addressing the jury, gave a connected account of the evidence, defended the witnesses from the aspersions cast on their evidence, and on the whole charged against the prisoner. The jury retired at twelve o'clock.

On the Court resuming at one o'clock the jury brought in a verdict in the Queen vs. Owen G. Martin of "Guilty." The other two indictments against him were then taken up and the Crown, stating their intention to offer no evidence, these charges were formally dismissed. The prisoner will probably be sentenced to-morrow.

Queen vs. Raycraft et al—Action brought against Mr. and Mrs. Raycraft and Mr. and Mrs. Allan, of Peel, for aggravated assault on Mrs. Margaret Hunt, on 20th April last. Mr. Johnston for the Crown, Mr. G. W. Field for the defence. The parties were all living together, and the affair arose out of a "domestic infelicity" which overstepped the ordinary bounds of family jars. Mrs. Hunt's racy and rapid story was being heard this afternoon.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Means to be Taken to Secure Peace in Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The House of Commons was crowded this afternoon in anticipation of an excited discussion on the resumption of the debate on the Home Rule Bill.

H. Campbell-Bannerman, War Secretary, in reply to Mr. Healy, said the statement made by Willian Johnston, Loyalist member for South Belfast, that Gen. Wolseley had declared that if Home Rule were granted Ireland, and he were ordered to suppress an Ulster rebellion, he would resign and, with a thousand other British officers, join the Ulster rebels—was an absurdity. The Secretary added that Gen. Wolseley authorized him to formally contradict any statement that he (Gen. Wolseley) had ever alluded to the subject in any speech he had ever uttered.

Mr. Gladstone, replying to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach (Conservative), stated that the Government would propose that the debate on the Home Rule Bill should be from day to day, beginning next Monday. The Government would not take to-morrow (Friday) for such debate, because the Chief Secretary for Ireland would then take occasion to move the second reading of his Bill relating to the purchase and use of arms in Ireland.

Sir Henry James, Liberal, resumed the debate, opposing the Home Rule Bill. H. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of War, replied.

Mr. Dillon said he would accept the measure as a settlement of the question, and would honestly endeavor to aid in its enforcement.

In answer to a question from Mr. Leatham (Liberal) as to whether he would accept the Act as a settlement, Mr. Parnell emphatically said "Yes." Mr. Leatham said he could not gather that from Mr. Parnell's speeches. Mr. Healy rose excitedly and exclaimed, "Tell him he's a liar." A scene followed.

The debate was subsequently adjourned until Monday, then to go on from day to day.

More secessions are reported from the Liberal party. It is expected the debate will close on May 25.

Mr. Gladstone has declined to call a meeting to attempt reconciliation of the party. He says the matter must be fought out in the House.

ARMAGH, Ireland, May 13.—A large Association of Loyalists has been formed here for the purpose of arming and drilling the opponents of Home Rule. This organization has arranged for the purchase of an ample number of rifles at 25 shillings apiece, and quantities of war material have already been obtained and stored. Several bodies of men have been under drill for some days, exercising every day, and the leading gentry in this city and vicinity have joined these companies. Donations of money have been liberally made for the support of these loyalist military movements. The contributions range from £100 downwards. Loyalists everywhere hereabouts express a stern resolve to resist Home Rule in every shape.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The Freeman's Journal says that Sir Frederick Roberts, Commander of the Indian Army, will be recalled from India to take chief command of the army in Ireland. The Journal also says the garrisons in Ulster will be increased.

The report that Gen. Roberts is to go to Ireland is pronounced absurd. There is little or no ground for the alarmist reports from Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The threatening attitude of the Ulster Loyalists is beginning to attract the attention of the Government. It is stated that many families are preparing to quit the Province. Many agents of landlords are resigning under fear that rebellion is certain.

A SNOW WHITE MULE.—Everybody knows that Mr. J. Tyson, butcher, is a fancier of cattle, especially those intended for the knife, but it was only yesterday that he displayed his taste in the donkey line. A camp of gipseys struck the town last week, and are camping near Pipe's mill. A rumour spread abroad that they had a beautiful snow white mule for sale among their stock in trade, and on Mr. Tyson seeing the animal greatly fancied it, and bought it on the spot. Rumour says that he is to order a rig to correspond with the size and color of the animal. This donkey may yet become as famous as Barnum's white elephant or even Baalam's ass.

ALD. LAMPREY, chairman of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee, is to have the fountain on St. George's Square repainted before it is put in operation. He is sensible.

THERE was little produce offered on the market to-day.

AT the annual meeting of the members of the Galt Michanics' Institute, the institution was shown to be in a good position. The membership last year was 398. There were 3909 volumes in the library, and therr was issued during the year 10,185. The receipts from all sources had been $1083, and payments the same, so that there is no balance to carry forward.

NEW SPORTING JOURNAL.—A new sporting journal has been started in Montreal, entitled the Canadian Athletic News. B. T. A. Bell is the manager. It is neatly got up and will devote its attention to lacrosse, cricket, football, golf, tennis, baseball and racquets; to gymnastics, swiming, yachting, rowing and bicycling; to hunting and fishing; and in the winter to snowshoeing, curling, skating, hockey and tobogganing.

RESISTED ARREST.—On Monday morning License Inspector Brothers, of Milton tried to arrest Mr. Wm. Brush, lessee of the Farmers' Hotel, who was recently assessed $50 for illegal liquor selling and who has so far neglected to pay his fine. Brothers found his man in the readieg room of the Mechanics' Institute, marched boldly up to him and laid his hand on his shoulder, remarking, "you are my prisoner." Brush broke the hold and refused to go and the Inspector went away without him.

A SENSIBLE DOG.—On the 28th of April, Abner Richards left Minto for Dakota, taking the C. P. R. at Harriston and by way of Streetsville on to Galt. He took with him a car load of stock, including a valuable collie dog. On Friday night the dog was lost, and all efforts to find the animal were unavailing, and Mr. Richards proceeded on his journey. A letter has been received by his father who resides in Guelph that the dog arrived at his old home, above Harriston, on the Sunday morning following. The distance, by a direct line, would be about 70 miles, and if he followed the railway track it would be fully 150 miles. Which road did he take?

SMASHUP AT ACTON.—The Acton Free Press says:—On Tuesday morning about half past 7 an accident occurred to engine No. 261, of rather a serious nature. This engine with its train of freight cars had been standing in one of the sidings in the east side of the yard while the Chicago express passed through, and was in the act of running out to the main line again when a rail at the western side switch split in two from the top and let the heavy engine down between the rails. It ran only a few yards, but the damage caused was greater than one would imagine. The king bolt in the front trucks broke off and allowed the trucks to come into contact with the gearing and other machinery under the boiler, the whole of which was broken and twisted into all manner of shapes. An auxiliary train with a gang of men arrived from Toronto in an hour or so, but it was nearly four o'clock in the afternoon before the damaged engine was put upon the track again. It seems to have been a pure accident, and no employee can justly be blamed as responsible for it.

PRESENTATION TO CAPT. CLARKE.—The Reporter says: This gentleman was on Thursday of last week presented by his Galt calisthenic class with a purse of $50, being the proceeds of the late entertainment in Galt after paying expenses. The gallant Captain well deserves this recognition at the hands of his class.

VALUATING THE LOSS.—Yesterday at the request of some of the insurance agents, Messrs. McCrae & Co., of the woollen mills here sent Mr. H. Nailer of their factory as a valuator of the loss sustained by the fire on Wednesday at Mr. Benjamin Williams woollen factory, Glenwilliams. Mr. Nailer says that the factory and machinery are a total wreck.

SUCCESS OF A MINISTER.—The numerous friends of the Rev. W. W. Dawley, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, will read with interest the following notice from the Gloversville Intelligencer of the 6th instant:—"On Sunday morning twenty-one new members were received into the fellowship of the Baptist Church, making a total of ninety-five received during Rev. W. W. Dawley's pastorate.

THE RINK.—There was a good turn out at the Speed Skating Rink last night to witness the performance of Prof. G. S. Foster, of Newport, Vermont, the great fancy and trick skater of America. His performance of skating through five knives about a couple of feet a apart on two wheels, was greatly admired. To-night he will skate through sixteen. The City Band furnished excellent music during the evening.

DRILL.—Last night Capt. Clarke drilled "B" battery at the Ontario Agricultural College in gun drill and fencing. Sergt. Major Ross put through "A" battery at the gun shed, in standing, changing and other kinds of disabled ordiance drill. For the short time that the men have been in training they have picked up wonderfully and give evidence of a good record at the next camp.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At the meeting of Guelph Council No. 127, Royal Templars of Temperance, held on Thursday night, the following resolution was carried unanimously: That the cordial thanks of this Council be tendered to Chief of Police Randall and his staff for their prompt and efficient action in securing the three convictions already made under the Scott Act and this Council assures the Chief of its hearty support and co-operation in his efforts to enforce the Act, coupled with the hope that he will vigorously use all legitimate means to bring the violators thereof to speedy justice.

ABOUT PIGS.—According to the city by-laws between the 15th day of May and the 1st of November no hogs are allowed to be kept within the limits of the municipality except in pens 70 feet from the house, and even then the floors of these places have to be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and free from standing water. Health Officer Clarke will on Monday commence his tour of inspection, and those parties who keep hogs, contrary to the provisions of the by-law, had better take warning.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION.—The Galt Reporter says:—"The members of Galt Fish and Game Association are having quite an interesting time with their ball shooting at their practices, and are getting quite expert. They will no doubt soon try their hands with Preston or Guelph. The Association is keeping a strict eye on the observance of the Fish and Game Laws and any infraction which comes to their knowledge or can be detected will be prosecuted. Information of any breach, if communicated to the Association, will be followed up." Whenever the associatson desire to come to Guelph they will be honorably met and hospitably received.

Illicit Whiskey.

TEESWATER, May 13.—Collector Caven, of Stratford, and officer Nichol, of Walkerton, arrested Anthony Mehan, who was sentenced to pay a penalty of $300 and go to gaol one month for working an illicit still in the Township of Culross.

SPRING ASSIZES.

The Crown Evidence Agains O. G. Martin, Lucknow.

Thursday, May 13.

Detective Rogers resuming the witness box at 1:15 p.m. said—The papers found in defendants safe were then gone over and classified, and witness identified the defendant's handwriting on several of them. Circulars and letter sent to H. Piramid, Toronto, in witness' possession in answer to a letter to drawer 41, Lucknow, were in the same handwriting as those to Walker. When arresting prisoner, asked him where he got the identified $10 bill. He replied that he received it in the ordinary course of business. Defendant admitted to witness that he rented drawer 41.

To Mr. Guterie—Arrested Martin on a charge of offering; found no forged money on him or on his premises; cannot say whether or not I laid more than one charge; had seen the $10 bill last on 29th Jan. Letter written on 26th, and posted on 29th Jan. would probably reach Lucknow on the 30; saw the bill again on 10th Feb. when I arrested Martin; base my knowledge of defendant's handwriting or some writing in a small book which witness asknowledged to be his; he denied all knowledge of Walker's letters and circulars and counterfeit money; was satisfied in my own mind when I went to Lucknow that Martin was the guilty man; might have said when the jury acquitted him at Goderich on the charge of having a forged plate in his possession, that if he did not stop his crooked work, I would stick to him till I got him; produced at the preliminary hearing only such papers of Martin's as the Crown Attorney wished.

To Mr. Johnston—My reason for suspecting Martin was that I had sent a marked $10 bill through another party from Toronto to drawer 41, Lucknow, and had it returned to me by the P. O. Department to whom Martin had given the bill in payment for a money order; Walker's letter of the 26th January by arrangement with the P. O. authorities was sent via Toronto and was traced to Martin in Lucknow.

Chief Randall said that the circular and slip of $1 bill produced were similar to that sent to Walker and shown him

Robt. McGowan sworn, said—Was detailed to assist Detective Rogers in tracing this letter; went to Lucknow, met postmaster, accompanied him to post office; after opening mail bag he showed me an open envelope, addressed Drawer 41, Lucknow, together with a $10 bill and letter under cover of large envelope addressed to postmaster; saw bill ($10 bill identified) and letter of Walker's (letter identified) placed in envelope and envelope sealed and placed in Drawer 41; in about 20 minutes Wellington Martin, defendant's brother, came in to post office and took the letter; followed him to O. G. Martin's jewellery store; went in; pretended I was drunk; Wellington gave O. G. the letters, but he did not read them; after tea I came back to the store and saw this letter being read by O. G. I knew the letter. To Mr. Field—No one was in the shop when the decoy letter was being read by Martin; was not drunk at the time; am positive I recognized the letter; did not see the signature, nor could I tell the words of the letter.

Malcolm Campbell, postmaster, Lucknow, detailed the meeting with McGowan, the various steps taken in connection with the decoy letter; McGowan was perfectly sober at all times he had seen him; O. G. Martin's general reputation was good.

Wm. Mellis, assistant postmaster, Lucknow, corroborated the postmaster's statement; identified O. G. Martin's writing on money order requisitions and in registration delivery book; on circulars and letters believed the writing to be Martin's; thought that McGowan was sober; do not know much about O. G.'s reputation.

T. T. Nickle, reporter on Hamilton Spectator, had met O. G. Martin at Blyth two years ago. He represented himself to witness in Blyth as W. A. Garland. Witness detailed conversation he had had with prisoner in reference to counterfeit money. Defendant told him all about his modus operandi. Told him his name was W. A. Garland; did not know him by any other name; the writing on the circulars (shown) was the same as that in the little book; know this by the general character of the writing and by the similarity of individual letters.

To Mr. Guthrie: Gave similar evidence at the Goderich trial; Martin was acquitted; do not claim to be an expert, but have considerable experience of handwriting.

To Mr. Johnston: I gave evidence on two indictments at Goderich.

Robert Kerr, Galt, received a circular from Lucknow, same as that produced, on 1st February, 1886.

W. H. Cutten, Guelph Banking Company; M. McCormack, Guelph Business College; A. A. Fitzgerald, Manager Federal Bank, Guelph and J. R. McIntosh, accountant, Bank of Commerce, were called and their general evidence went to show the similarity between the defendant's handwriting and that on the letters and circulars, and that they believed them in the main to be the same.

This closed the case for the Crown.

Mr. Guthrie submisted that on the specific charge of inciting Walker to utter forged notes there was no evidence to go to the jury; also there was no evidence to show that any such notes were in existence. His Lordship thought that the jury could decide for themselves on the evidence. If they convicted the prisoner, he had made up his mind to reserve the case.

It being 6.30 p. m. the Judge decided to hear the evidence for the defense in the morning. Bail was then accepted for the prisoner, himself in $2,000, and two sureties in $4,000 each, to appear in the morning when called upon. The jury were locked up in the Court House for the night, the acting Sheriff making things as comfortable for them as lay in his power.

Friday, May 14.

Court resumed about 9.45 this morning. The defence in the Lucknow case, deciding not to call any witnesses, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, for the Crown, addressed the jury, detailing the strong evidence connecting the prisoner with the circulars issued and money received, that these circulars could mean nothing else than that counterfeit money was intended, that it was necessary to produce the money to prove this, and that the handwriting, conduct and record of the prisoner pointed to him as the guilty party. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., for the defence attacked the weak points of the evidence, claiming that the prisoner's mouth was closed, that the testimony against him was almost entirely that of detectives, who had a professional interest in convicting him, that he had hitherto borne a good character, that no counterfeit notes had been found in the prisoner's possession, nor was there any probability that there were any in existence, that the charge was not of getting money under false pretences, but that of inciting another to issue "certain" counterfeit notes. His Lordship, in addressing the jury, gave a connected account of the evidence, defended the witnesses from the aspersions cast on their evidence, and on the whole charged against the prisoner. The jury retired at twelve o'clock.

On the Court resuming at one o'clock the jury brought in a verdict in the Queen vs. Owen G. Martin of "Guilty." The other two indictments against him were then taken up and the Crown, stating their intention to offer no evidence, these charges were formally dismissed. The prisoner will probably be sentenced tomorrow.

Queen vs. Raycraft et al—Action brought against Mr. and Mrs. Raycraft and Mr. and Mrs. Allan, of Peel, for aggravated assault on Mrs. Margaret Hunt, on 20th April last. Mr. Johnston for the Crown, Mr. G. W. Field for the defence. The parties were all living together, and the affair arose out of a "domestic infelicity" which overstepped the ordinary bounds of family jars. Mrs. Hunt's racy and rapid story was being heard this afternoon.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Means to be Taken to secure Peace in Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The House of Commons was crowded this afternoon in anticipation of an excited discussion on the resumption of the debate on the Home Rule Bill.

H. Campbell-Bannerman, War Secretary, in reply to Mr. Healy, said the statement made by Willian Johnston, Loyalist member for South Belfast, that Gen. Wolseley had declared that if Home Rule were granted Ireland, and he were ordered to suppress an Ulster rebellion, he would resign and, with a thousand other British officers, join the Ulster rebels—was an absurdity. The Secretary added that Gen. Wolseley authorized him to formally contradict any statement that he (Gen. Wolseley) had ever alluded to the subject in any speech he had ever uttered.

Mr. Gladstone, replying to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach (Conservative), stated that the Government would propose that the debate on the Home Rule Bill should be from day to day, beginning next Monday. The Government would not take tomorrow (Friday) for such debate, because the Chief Secretary for Ireland would then take occasion to move the second reading of his Bill relating to the purchase and use of arms in Ireland.

Sir Henry James, Liberal, resumed the debate, opposing the Home Rule Bill. H. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of War, replied.

Mr. Dillon said he would accept the measure as a settlement of the question, and would honestly endeavor to aid in its enforcement.

In answer to a question from Mr. Leatham (Liberal) as to whether he would accept the Act as a settlement, Mr. Parnell emphatically said "Yes." Mr. Leatham said he could not gather that from Mr. Parnell's speeches. Mr. Healy rose excitedly and exclaimed, "Tell him he's a liar." A scene followed.

The debate was subsequently adjourned until Monday, then to go on from day to day.

More secessions are reported from the Liberal party. It is expected the debate will close on May 25.

Mr. Gladstone has declined to call a meeting to attempt reconciliation of the party. He says the matter must be fought out in the House.

ARMAGH, Ireland, May 13.—A large Association of Loyalists has been formed here for the purpose of arming and drilling the opponents of Home Rule. This organization has arranged for the purchase of an ample number of rifles at 25 shillings apiece, and quantities of war material have already been obtained and stored. Several bodies of men have been under drill for some days, exercising every day, and the leading gentry in this city and vicinity have joined these companies. Donations of money have been liberally made for the support of these loyalist military movements. The contributions range from £100 downwards. Loyalists everywhere hereabouts express a stern resolve to resist Home Rule in every shape.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The Freeman's Journal says that Sir Frederick Roberts, Commander of the Indian Army, will be recalled from India to take chief command of the army in Ireland. The Journal also says the garrisons in Ulster will be increased.

The report that Gen. Roberts is to go to Ireland is pronounced absurd. There is little or no ground for the alarmist reports from Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The threatening attitude of the Ulster Loyalists is beginning to attract the attention of the Government. It is stated that many families are preparing to quit the Province. Many agents of landlords are resigning under fear that rebellion is certain.

A SNOW WHITE MULE.—Everybody knows that Mr. J. Tyson, butcher, is a fancier of cattle, especially those intended for the knife, but it was only yesterday that he displayed his taste in the donkey line. A camp of gipseys struck the town last week, and are camping near Pipe's mill. A rumour spread abroad that they had a beautiful snow white mule for sale among their stock in trade, and on Mr. Tyson seeing the animal greatly fancied it, and bought it on the spot. Rumour says that he is to order a rig to correspond with the size and color of the animal. This donkey may yet become as famous as Barnum's white elephant or even Balaam's ass.

ALD. LAMPREY, chairman of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee, is to have the fountain on St. George's Square repainted before it is put in operation. He is sensible.

THERE was little produce offered on the market to-day.

MR. G. I. RIDDELL, B. A., has accepted the position of Mathematical master in the Collegate Institute, Galt.

CALEDONIAN GAMES.—It is proposed to hold Galt Caledonian games on the 18th of June this year, and an extensive programme is being arranged. Among the special attractions will be an international football match, Canada vs United States.

SAYS Charles Dudley Warner in Forest and Stream: A dead bird does not help the appearance of an ugly woman, and a pretty woman needs no such adornment. If you can get the women to recognize these two things a great deal will be done for the protection of our song birds.

AT the annual meeting of the members of the Galt Michanics' Institute, the institution was shown to be in a good position. The membership last year was 398. There were 3909 volumes in the library, and therr was issued during the year 10,185. The receipts from all sources had been $1083, and payments the same, so that there is no balance to carry forward.

NEW SPORTING JOUENAL.—A new sporting journal has been started in Montreal, entitled the Canadian Athletic News. B. T. A. Bell is the manager. It is neatly got up and will devote its attention to lacrosse, cricket, football, golf, tennis, baseball and racquets; to gymnastics, swiming, yachting, rowing and bicycling; to hunting and fishing; and in the winter to snowshoeing, curling, skating, hockey and tobogganning.

RESISTED ARREST.—On Monday morning License Inspector Brothers, of Milton tried to arrest Mr. Wm. Brush, lessee of the Farmers' Hotel, who was recently assessed $50 for illegal liquor selling and who has so far neglected to pay his fine. Brothers found his man in the readieg room of the Mechanics' Institute, marched boldly up to him and laid his hand on his shoulder, remarking, "you are my prisoner." Brush broke the hold and refused to go and the Inspector went away without him.

A SENSIBLE DOG.—On the 28th of April, Abner Richards left Minto for Dakota, taking the C. P. R. at Harriston and by way of Streetsville on to Galt. He took with him a car load of stock, including a valuable collie dog. On Friday night the dog was lost, and all efforts to find the animal were unavailing, and Mr. Richards proceeded on his journey. A letter has been received by his father who resides in Guelph that the dog arrived at his old home, above Harriston, on the Sunday morning following. The distance, by a direct line, would be about 70 miles, and if he followed the railway track it would be fully 150 miles. Which road did he take?

SMASHUP AT ACTON.—The Acton Free Press says:—On Tuesday morning about half past 7 an accident occurred to engine No. 261, of rather a serious nature. This engine with its train of freight cars had been standing in one of the sidings in the east side of the yard while the Chicago express passed through, and was in the act of running out to the main line again when a rail at the western side switch split in two from the top and let the heavy engine down between the rails. It ran only a few yards, but the damage caused was greater than one would imagine. The king bolt in the front trucks broke off and allowed the trucks to come into contact with the gearing and other machinery under the boiler, the whole of which was broken and twisted into all manner of shapes. An auxiliary train with a gang of men arrived from Toronto in an hour or so, but it was nearly four o'clock in the afternoon before the damaged engine was put upon the track again. It seems to have been a pure accident, and no employee can justly be blamed as responsible for it.

PRESENTATION TO CAPT. CLARKE.—The Reporter says: This gentleman was on Thursday of last week presented by his Galt calisthenic class with a purse of $50, being the proceeds of the late entertainment in Galt after paying expenses. The gallant Captain well deserves this recognition at the hands of his class.

VALUATING THE LOSS.—Yesterday at the request of some of the insurance agents, Messrs. McCrae & Co., of the woollen mills here sent Mr. H. Nailer of their factory as a valuator of the loss sustained by the fire on Wednesday at Mr. Benjamin Williams woollen factory, Glenwilliams. Mr. Nailer says that the factory and machinery are a total wreck.

SUCCESS OF A MINISTER.—The numerous friends of the Rev. W. W. Dawley, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, will read with interest the following notice from the Gloversville Intelligencer of the 6th instant:—"On Sunday morning twenty-one new members were received into the fellowship of the Baptist Church, making a total of ninety-five received during Rev. W. W. Dawley's pastorate.

THE RINK.—There was a good turn out at the Speed Skating Rink last night to witness the performance of Prof. G. S. Foster, of Newport, Vermont, the great fancy and trick skater of America. His performance of skating through five knives about a couple of feet a part on two wheels, was greatly admired. To-night he will skate through sixteen. The City Band furnished excellent music during the evening.

DRILL.—Last night Capt. Clarke drilled "B" battery at the Ontario Agricultural College in gun drill and fencing. Sergt. Major Ross put through "A" battery at the gun shed, in standing, changing and other kinds of disabled ordiance drill. For the short time that the men have been in training they have picked up wonderfully and give evidence of a good record at the next camp.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At the meeting of Guelph Council No. 127, Royal Templars of Temperance, held on Thursday night, the following resolution was carried unanimously: That the cordial thanks of this Council be tendered to Chief of Police Randall and his staff for their prompt and efficient action in securing the three convictions already made under the Scott Act and this Council assures the Chief of its hearty support and co-operation in his efforts to enforce the Act, coupled with the hope that he will vigorously use all legitimate means to bring the violators thereof to speedy justice.

ABOUT PIGS.—According to the city bylaws between the 15th day of May and the 1st of November no hogs are allowed to be kept within the limits of the municipality except in pens 70 feet from the house, and even then the floors of these places have to be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and free from standing water. Health Officer Clarke will on Monday commence his tour of inspection, and those parties who keep hogs, contrary to the provisions of the by-law, had better take warning.

FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION.—The Galt Reporter says:—"The members of Galt Fish and Game Association are having quite an interesting time with their ball shooting at their practices, and are getting quite expert. They will no doubt soon try their hands with Preston or Guelph. The Association is keeping a strict eye on the observance of the Fish and Game Laws and any infraction which comes to their knowledge or can be detected will be prosecuted. Information of any breach, if communicated to the Association, will be followed up." Whenever the associatson desire to come to Guelph they will be honorably met and hospitably received.

Illicit Whiskey.

TEESWATER, May 13.—Collector Caven, of Stratford, and officer Nichol, of Walkerton, arrested Anthony Mehan, who was sentenced to pay a penalty of $300 and go to gaol one month for working an illicit still in the Township of Culross.

SPRING ASSIZES.

The Crown Evidence Agains O. G. Martin, Lucknow.

Thursday, May 13.

Detective Rogers resuming the witness box at 1:15 p.m. said—The papers found in defendants safe were then gone over and classified, and witness identified the defendant's handwriting on several of them. Circulars and letter sent to H. Piramid, Toronto, in witness' possession in answer to a letter to drawer 41, Lucknow, were in the same handwriting as those to Walker. When arresting prisoner, asked him where he got the identified $10 bill. He replied that he received it in the ordinary course of business. Defendant admitted to witness that he rented drawer 41.

To Mr. Guteric—Arrested Martin on a charge of offering; found no forged money on him or on his premises; cannot say whether or not I laid more than one charge; had seen the $10 bill last on 29th Jan. Letter written on 26th, and posted on 29th Jan. would probably reach Lucknow on the 30; saw the bill again on 10th Feb. when I arrested Martin; base my knowledge of defendant's handwriting or some writing in a small book which witness acknowledged to be his; he denied all knowledge of Walker's letters and circulars and counterfeit money; was satisfied in my own mind when I went to Lucknow that Martin was the guilty man; might have said when the jury acquitted him at Goderich on the charge of having a forged plate in his possession, that if he did not stop his crooked work, I would stick to him till I got him; produced at the preliminary hearing only such papers of Martin's as the Crown Attorney wished.

To Mr. Johnston—My reason for suspecting Martin was that I had sent a marked $10 bill through another party from Toronto to drawer 41, Lucknow, and had it returned to me by the P. O. Department to whom Martin had given the bill in payment for a money order; Walker's letter of the 26th January by arrangement with the P. O. authorities was sent via Toronto and was traced to Martin in Lucknow.

Chief Randall said that the circular and slip of $1 bill produced were similar to that sent to Walker and shown him

Robt. McGowan sworn, said—Was detailed to assist Detective Rogers in tracing this letter; went to Lucknow, met postmaster, accompanied him to post office; after opening mail bag he showed me an open envelope, addressed Drawer 41, Lucknow, together with a $10 bill and letter under cover of large envelope addressed to postmaster; saw bill ($10 bill identified) and letter of Walker's (letter identified) placed in envelope and envelope sealed and placed in Drawer 41; in about 20 minutes Wellington Martin, defendant's brother, came in to post office and took the letter; followed him to O. G. Martin's jewellery store; went in; pretended I was drunk; Wellington gave O. G. the letters, but he did not read them; after tea I came back to the store and saw this letter being read by O. G. I knew the letter. To Mr. Field—No one was in the shop when the decoy letter was being read by Martin; was not drunk at the time; am positive I recognized the letter; did not see the signature, nor could I tell the words of the letter.

Malcolm Campbell, postmaster, Lucknow, detailed the meeting with McGowan, the various steps taken in connection with the decoy letter; McGowan was perfectly sober at all times he had seen him; O. G. Martin's general reputation was good.

Wm. Mellis, assistant postmaster, Lucknow, corroborated the postmaster's statement; identified O. G. Martin's writing on money order requisitions and in registration delivery book; on circulars and letters believed the writing to be Martin's; thought that McGowan was sober; do not know much about O. G.'s reputation.

T. T. Nickle, reporter on Hamilton Spectator, had met O. G. Martin at Blyth two years ago. He represented himself to witness in Blyth as W. A. Garland. Witness detailed conversation he had had with prisoner in reference to counterfeit money. Defendant told him all about his modus operandi. Told him his name was W. A. Garland; did not know him by any other name; the writing on the circulars (shown) was the same as that in the little book; know this by the general character of the writing and by the similarity of individual letters.

To Mr. Guthrie: Gave similar evidence at the Goderich trial; Martin was acquitted; do not claim to be an expert, but have considerable experience of handwriting.

To Mr. Johnston: I gave evidence on two indictments at Goderich.

Robert Kerr, Galt, received a circular from Lucknow, same as that produced, on 1st February, 1886.

W. H. Cutten, Guelph Banking Company; M. MacCormack, Guelph Business College; A. A. Fitzgerald, Manager Federal Bank, Guelph and J. R. McIntosh, accountant, Bank of Commerce, were called and their general evidence went to show the similarity between the defendant's handwriting and that on the letters and circulars, and that they believed them in the main to be the same.

This closed the case for the Crown.

Mr. Guthrie submited that on the specific charge of inciting Walker to utter forged notes there was no evidence to go to the jury; also there was no evidence to show that any such notes were in existence. His Lordship thought that the jury could decide for themselves on the evidence. If they convicted the prisoner, he had made up his mind to reserve the case.

It being 6.30 p. m. the Judge decided to hear the evidence for the defence in the morning. Bail was then accepted for the prisoner, himself in $2,000, and two sureties in $4,000 each, to appear in the morning when called upon. The jury were locked up in the Court House for the night, the acting Sheriff making things as comfortable for them as lay in his power.

Friday, May 14.

Court resumed about 9.45 this morning. The defence in the Lucknow case, deciding not to call any witnesses, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, for the Crown, addressed the jury, detailing the strong evidence connecting the prisoner with the circulars issued and money received, that these circulars could mean nothing else than that counterfeit money was intended, that it was necessary to produce the money to prove this, and that the handwriting, conduct and record of the prisoner pointed to him as the guilty party. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., for the defence attacked the weak points of the evidence, claiming that the prisoner's mouth was closed, that the testimony against him was almost entirely that of detectives, who had a professional interest in convicting him, that he had hitherto borne a good character, that no counterfeit notes had been found in the prisoner's possession, nor was there any probability that there were any in existence, that the charge was not of getting money under false pretences, but that of inciting another to issue "certain" counterfeit notes. His Lordship, in addressing the jury, gave a connected account of the evidence, defended the witnesses from the aspersions cast on their evidence, and on the whole charged against the prisoner. The jury retired at twelve o'clock.

On the Court resuming at one o'clock the jury brought in a verdict in the Queen vs. Owen G. Martin of "Guilty." The other two indictments against him were then taken up and the Crown, stating their intention to offer no evidence, these charges were formally dismissed. The prisoner will probably be sentenced tomorrow.

Queen vs. Raycraft et al—Action brought against Mr. and Mrs. Rayoraft and Mr. and Mrs. Allan, of Peel, for aggravated assault on Mrs. Margaret Hunt, on 20th April last. Mr. Johnston for the Crown, Mr. G. W. Field for the defence. The parties were all living together, and the affair arose out of a "domestic infelicity" which overstepped the ordinary bounds of family jars. Mrs. Hunt's racy and rapid story was being heard this afternoon.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Means to be Taken to secure Peace in Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The House of Commons was crowded this afternoon in anticipation of an excited discussion on the resumption of the debate on the Home Rule Bill.

H. Campbell-Bannerman, War Secretary, in reply to Mr. Healy, said the statement made by Willian Johnston, Loyalist member for South Belfast, that Gen. Wolseley had declared that if Home Rule were granted Ireland, and he were ordered to suppress an Ulster rebellion, he would resign and, with a thousand other British officers, join the Ulster rebels—was an absurdity. The Secretary added that Gen. Wolseley authorized him to formally contradict any statement that he (Gen. Wolseley) had ever alluded to the subject in any speech he had ever uttered.

Mr. Gladstone, replying to Sir Michael Hicks-Beach (Conservative), stated that the Government would propose that the debate on the Home Rule Bill should be from day to day, beginning next Monday. The Government would not take tomorrow (Friday) for such debate, because the Chief Secretary for Ireland would then take occasion to move the second reading of his Bill relating to the purchase and use of arms in Ireland.

Sir Henry James, Liberal, resumed the debate, opposing the Home Rule Bill. H. Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of War, replied.

Mr. Dillon said he would accept the measure as a settlement of the question, and would honestly endeavor to aid in its enforcement.

In answer to a question from Mr. Leatham (Liberal) as to whether he would accept the Act as a settlement, Mr. Parnell emphatically said "Yes." Mr. Leatham said he could not gather that from Mr. Parnell's speeches. Mr. Healy rose excitedly and exclaimed, "Tell him he's a liar." A scene followed.

The debate was subsequently adjourned until Monday, then to go on from day to day.

More secessions are reported from the Liberal party. It is expected the debate will close on May 25.

Mr. Gladstone has declined to call a meeting to attempt reconciliation of the party. He says the matter must be fought out in the House.

ANTRIM, Ireland, May 13.—A large Association of Loyalists has been formed here for the purpose of arming and drilling the opponents of Home Rule. This organization has arranged for the purchase of an ample number of rifles at 25 shillings apiece, and quantities of war material have already been obtained and stored. Several bodies of men have been under drill for some days, exercising every day, and the leading gentry in this city and vicinity have joined these companies. Donations of money have been liberally made for the support of these loyalist military movements. The contributions range from £100 downwards. Loyalists everywhere hereabouts express a stern resolve to resist Home Rule in every shape.

DUBLIN, May 13.—The Freeman's Journal says that Sir Frederick Roberts, Commander of the Indian Army, will be recalled from India to take chief command of the army in Ireland. The Journal also says the garrisons in Ulster will be increased.

The report that Gen. Roberts is to go to Ireland is pronounced absurd. There is little or no ground for the alarmist reports from Ulster.

LONDON, May 13.—The threatening attitude of the Ulster Loyalists is beginning to attract the attention of the Government. It is stated that many families are preparing to quit the Province. Many agents of landlords are resigning under fear that rebellion is certain.

A SNOW WHITE MULE.—Everybody knows that Mr. J. Tyson, butcher, is a fancier of cattle, especially those intended for the knife, but it was only yesterday that he displayed his taste in the donkey line. A camp of gipseys struck the town last week, and are camping near Pipe's mill. A rumour spread abroad that they had a beautiful snow white mule for sale among their stock in trade, and on Mr. Tyson seeing the animal greatly fancied it, and bought it on the spot. Rumour says that he is to order a rig to correspond with the size and color of the animal. This donkey may yet become as famous as Barnum's white elephant or even Baalam's ass.

ALD. LAMPREY, chairman of the Parks and Shade Trees Committee, is to have the fountain on St. George's Square repainted before it is put in operation. He is sensible.

THERE was little produce offered on the market to-day.

Obstructing Temperance Legislation.

Mr. Blake again put the Government in an awkward position on Wednesday. The Minister of Justice moved that some bill relating to the rate of interest in British Columbia be made a Government order. This means that it be placed among the Government bills, which will ensure its passage this session. Mr. Jamieson's bill to amend the Scott Act so as to render it more efficient and to facilitate its enforcement, was re-introduced this session. But its introduction was delayed too long to give it a good chance of its being discussed and passed this session. At least the chances are all against it, for it is well down the list among public bills, and as Monday next will likely be the only day left during the balance of the session for bills of this description being considered, it will likely never be reached. Mr. Blake, therefore, in accordance with the unanimous wish of the friends of temperance, and the Scott Act in the country, moved an amendment to Mr. Thompson's motion, that Mr. Jamieson's bill be also put on the Government orders, which would have ensured its passage this session at least through the House of Commons. But the Government refused to do this and thereby again manifested their hostility to the bill, for it will be remembered that when Mr. Jamieson introduced it last session he asked the Premier to put it among the Government orders, but, Sir John refused. The question was put to the vote and Mr. Blake's motion was defeated, the majority, however, against it being only twenty. All the temperance men except the most slavish Tory hacks voted for the motion. Mr. Foster, the Tory temperance minister, as he likes to be called, voted against the motion, which in effect is a vote in opposition to the bill. This is what office has done for the Minister of Marine. No sooner is he shelved in a comfortable office, with a handsome salary attached, than he goes back on his old professions and proclaims himself a hypocrite. After the defeat of Mr. Blake's motion other motions were made to get Dr. Orton's light wine and beer bill and Mr. Beaty's bill on the same subject, besides the druggists bill, put on the Government orders, but neither of the motions carried, and it is very likely that neither of the bills will be reached this session. The temperance people should bear in mind that by defeating Mr. Blake's motion the Government have again blocked temperance legislation and prevented the much needed amendments being made to the Scott Act.

Oleomargarine Again.

Thanks to the efforts of the Opposition, the Government have been compelled to promise that they will take decided steps to prevent the manufacture and sale of all substitutes for butter. When the bill to amend the Inland Revenue Act came up on Tuesday the clauses referring to oleomargarine were struck out, the Government promising to bring in a bill to prevent, as we said, its manufacture and sale. An English correspondent writes to Bradstreet's that the oleomargarine question is ripe for legislation there. The commodity appears to be coming into England in increased quantities from foreign sources. Two bills are pending for the regulation of its sale. Margarine factories at London, Liverpool and Glasgow are turning out great quantities of the article. He adds:—"Altogether it is estimated by a good authority that we consume annually about 1,724,000 cwts., or 193,088,000 pounds of margarine, nearly all of which is sold fradulently as butter. If sold at an average of 1s. per pound the value is £9,654,000. The demands are limited to such restrictions as will prevent the sale of this stuff as butter. We object to the word 'butterine' as entirely misleading, there being usually not a particle of butter in the commodity. We also object to the coloring being such as to imitate that of butter, and demand that the name of the stuff—margarine is the proper name—shall be branded on every package in which it is sold. These last two may be regarded as alternative demands, for if the coloring were not such as to make margarine look like butter there would be no need to brand it. No attempt will be made to prohibit the sale, but factories in the United Kingdom must be open to inspection.

The spirit of agitation has taken hold of even the Hindoos, and letters from the Indian Empire tell of gatherings attended by as many as 20,000 Ryots, who go through the regulation from of passing resolutions expressive of their views on public questions of moment, the most important of which are the collapse of the parliamentary enquiry into the conditions that affect them, the desirability of a change in the constitution of the legislative councils and the disapproval of certain bills now under consideration by those bodies. As yet the movement is confined solely to the Hindoos, the Mohametans holding aloof, and the gatherings are as much attracted by the puppet shows and spectacles that the agitators provied for their delectation. But though the English papers look upon the issue as of but small consequence, it is evident that a feeling exists that is capable of great development, especially as those who conduct it are both energetic and well organized, having branches in almost every large city and controlling the tone of the native press. What they pretend to desire is not a change of rulers—they profess loyalty to Great Britain,—but a voice in the Government of their country, some form of Parliamentary rule, in fact, which they seek to gain by constitutional means.

OUR article on Monday gave explanations with reference to the opposition of the people of Hamilton to the railway bill now before Parliament, for the building of a road from Toronto by Hamilton to the Niagara river. The bill came before the Railway Committee on Wednesday. A large delegation from the City Council and Board of Trade of that city reached Ottawa on Wednesday morning, in order to obstruct the passage of the bill so long as it provided that the road should go past, and not into, the city. They objected to the road branching off from the beach to Niagara river without entering the city. In other words they wanted Hamilton to be placed on the main line of this road instead of put in the position of a wayside station. They wanted the road to go up by the mountain, by way of Smithville to Niagara, touching the river either at the Suspension bridge or at the International bridge, but preferably the latter. The bill was altered in Committee in accordance with their wishes and the road will now run through the city if it is built.

Woollen Mills Burned.

GEORGETOWN, May 13.—On Monday night the Glen woollen mills at Glenwilliams were destroyed by fire. The mill had orders enough ahead to keep it busy for twelve months. The steam stone mill was completely destroyed and the other buildings partially. The Georgetown fire brigade rendered good service, the mills being about two miles from Georgetown. The loss is estimated at over $50,000; insured for $35,000.

Awful Storm in Spain.

MADRID, May 14.—A terrible hurricane has just swept across the middle of Spain. In this city 70 persons were instantly killed and 200 seriously injured. The wind struck the city with the suddenness of lightning. Tram cars and cabs were overturned, broken in splinters, roofs dislodged and telegraph wires everywhere torn down. The parks in and about the city were devastated, and in some cases entirely denuded.

Reasons why you should purchase Fluid Lightning in preference to all other remedies are: Rapid result—cures instantly. It is easily applied—no trouble—no lost time. It does not require constant use—one application is effectual. One bottle will remove more pain than any other remedy in existence. Try it for neuralgia, Toothache, Headache, Rheumatism Sold at 25c a bottle by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist

The Foes of a Household

CHAPTER XXIX.

AN UNEXPECTED CALLER.

In due time he reached Miller's Gate, and looked around him curiously as he left the little station. There was still daylight left to see plainly, and even at first sight it struck him as a bare, bleak, unproductive spot, subject to high winds and incessant rain, and enjoying little sunshine. The climate seemed reflected in the faces of the people he met, people whose expression was set and taciturn, and who had a sturdy independent way of holding themselves. As he strolled down the hill from the station he met a man who was different from those he had hitherto seen, though not less sour and moody looking. This man was on horseback, riding slowly along with rather bent head, and so dark and bitter an expression on his face that Percival wondered involuntarily if the whole village had been stricken with a blight; nor did he feel less puzzled when he thought of Mr. Longworthy and his courtly high-bred manner. Perhaps, he thought, there were two Miller's Gates, and he had come to the wrong one; so when the man on horseback reached him he stopped to ask—

"Is the clergyman of this place called Longworthy?"

There was no change in the expression of the other man's face as he replied—

"He is."

"Can you direct me to the Rectory?"

The horseman turned slightly in his saddle, and pointed with his whip to where near the church a stack of tall, twisted chimneys was visible.

"That house with the chimneys is the Rectory; you cannot mistake it."

Percival thanked him, and was going on his way when the other, moved apparently by sudden impulse, said—

"May I ask your name?"

"Certainly; my name is Moore."

The man on horseback made a motion to proceed, and Percival, with a "good afternoon," which was not returned, walked on. Had he turned he would have seen his informant rein in his horse and look after him, while the cloud on his brow grew darker, and he muttered half audibly—

"So that is her husband, and he has come at last."

On the evening of the day after which Mr. Longworthy had written to Percival he and his wife and Helen sat together in the Rectory drawing-room. He had just come in and was enjoying a rest and chat before tea. He sat in his favorite arm-chair, and gazed benignantly upon the two women, who were both working. Helen was busy with a sock which she was knitting to help Mrs. Longworthy, and her small, white hands, upon which flashed a gold wedding ring and one or two others, moved with almost incredible rapidity. Mr. Longworthy watched her for a little time in silence; then he said—

"I never saw any one work so fast. How do you do it?"

"These must be finished soon; they are for a present."

"A present!" he echoed. Do you make presents?"

"Certainly. Do you want one?"

"Heaven forbid! I consider present giving a senseless and insulting custom"

"Dear me!" she said. "Why?"

"Who would care a fig for a present from a person for whom he cared nothing? And a present from one he loves is almost a sign that his affection is waning."

"How?"

"It seems to say, 'See, here is a reminder and proof of my love.' Why a reminder? I have never forgotten it. Why a proof? I never doubted it."

"Still," said Helen, who was not at all convinced, "it is nice to give presents sometimes, when one has been away, just to show our friends that we thought of them."

"No it isn't," he contradicted. "True love needs no reminder of such a sort. But if presents must be, let them be of an essentially slight and perishable nature, for every present carries a sting in it.

"Your sentiments are most original; pray may I ask if you ever gave Mrs. Longworthy any presents?"

He began to laugh as he said—

"Mabel, Helen wants to know if I ever gave you any presents."

"More than I ever knew what to do with," said his wife, who had not heard the foregoing conversation. "He has not ceased yet; he never goes away without bringing me something home."

"How am I to know when to believe you?" asked Helen reproachfully.

"If Mabel betrays me in this way she is in honor bound to say what kind of presents they were."

"Flowers and fruit," said Mrs. Longworthy, still unconscious. "They suited me, but when we were engaged I had to hear a good deal of adverse criticism because I had nothing of good solid value to show. Do you remember, Rupert, when you had been in Palestine; you were away for some months, and came home unexpectedly. You called at our house in the evening, and we happened to have some people there. They were dreadfully shocked when they found you had brought me nothing but a few photographs and a bunch of dead flowers which you had gathered near Damascus."

Mr. Longworthy rose and crossed the room to get a book. Coming back to his seat, he paused at his wife's chair, and, bending over, touched her forehead with his lips, saying—

"You had a miserable lover, whom no one understood but yourself, and you bore with his queer ways like an angel."

"I met Holme this morning," he went on, after having idly turned over the pages of his book. "He tells me he has quite decided to leave the place."

"Why must he go?" said Helen, frowning.

"He is that kind of a man. I do not suppose anything of the kind ever happened to him before, and he will never get over it."

"I wish he would come here as usual," she said with a quick, rather impatient sigh. "He need not see me, and why should you be deprived of the society of the one man in this place because——"

"He will never enter the house again while you are in it," he said, as she paused; "and if it comes to that, why should I be deprived of your society because——"

"I wonder how long you will be spared to us yet," said his wife looking across the room to where her young friend sat.

"For some time, I daresay, if you will keep me. I have no doubt it will take a little time to settle things. The only thing I do not like," she went on presently," is that I have let myself be convinced from outside as it were. I should have preferred to have grown up to it myself. I feel as if I had been forced by outside circumstances."

"You are too independent and too stoical. You want to owe everything to yourself; you don't like to think that anything you do is suggested by some one else."

"Is that a great fault?" she asked, looking up at him.

"Not a great fault perhaps, but a characteristic, which will cause you some unhappiness, and by which you will gain nothing."

"How gain nothing? I do not want to gain anything."

"I know; you only want to keep your character to yourself, so to speak. You have not a yielding disposition; you are very stiff-necked."

"I hate yielding to force, but I do not mind being persuaded."

"Yes, in that you are unlike the majority of your sex. Women generally like to be carried away by a superior mind. I have frequently come across cases of women falling in love with men merely because of their strength. It is a curious thing, a very curious thing. You are different. I saw it from the first. If a man wanted to conquer you he would have to arm himself with the most perfect deference. A rough word or an ungracious carriage would revolt you at once. Is it not so?"

"Yes," she replied, thinking of Dr. Holme.

Mr. Longworthy went on composedly—

"And that is why you and Holme never got on. The root of the evil was a radical want of sympathy—not one of those contrasts which can be met and smoothed away, but one which is always growing. It is a thousand pities that he did not understand that,"

Mr. Longworthy was speaking more to himself than to Helen. As often happened, what he said led to a train of meditations and reflections too confused and disconnected to be spoken aloud. Suddenly he turned to Helen, saying—

"Remembr that through all that has passed, I felt sure of you; never doubted you would act in this way in the end. I should have been disappointed if you had not done so. I may tell you since you have."

"But, I have not," she said, with a restless movement. "It has been done for me. You have every right and reason to feel disappointed. I am disappointed in myself."

"Ah, but you must not be, that is wrong."

"I feel that I have failed in allowing circumstances to do for me what I had not the strength to do for myself. I have shown despicable weakness."

"You are wrong," he said energetically. "You want to arrogate to yourself more than human strength. We all have need of help from without. We cannot suffice to ourselves."

"We ought to."

He was silent for a moment, and then said—

"You will learn to think differently as you grow older. Don't you see that that is one of the objects of marriage? We will not take help from others, and yet we cannot do without it, so we link our life with that of some one from whom we will accept what we ourselves are lacking in. A woman with a character like yours would make an awful number of mistakes if she were unmarried, or married to the wrong man."

Then turning to his wife he went on—"When are we going to have tea, Mabel? Helen has made me talk till I am parched with thirst."

"No very difficult matter," said his wife, serenely.

"How you talk; You calumniate me. You blacken my character and steal away my good reputation as calmly as if you were speaking of bad weather. Surely it is my profession to talk! What else am I to do? I am paid for it, and when a man takes money to do anything it becomes a serious matter, and unless he is a monster he does what he is paid to do with all his might. If I don't talk, I may be denounced by three aggrieved parishioners, who will come all the way from Dewhurst on purpose to catch me tripping, and we shall be turned out of house and home, and branded as State pensioners. Do not say a word against talking."

"You give me no opportunity, but here comes Fanny to say tea is ready."

"Fanny knows that it is dangerous to keep me waiting. Now, Helen, let me show you the way into the dining-room."

"If you please, sir," said Fanny, "tea is not quite ready. I came to say that a gentleman wishes to see you."

"Where is he?"

"In the study, sir?"

"Is that his card? Let me see it?"

He took the bit of pasteboard, and after glancing at it handed it in silence to Helen. The card bore the name "Mr. Percival Moore."

A FEARFUL STORM.

Lives Lost and Property Destroyed in Several States.

XENIA, O., May 13.—About seven o'clock last evening terrible clouds were seen gathering, and lightning followed with peals of thunder. This lasted till nine o'clock, when an extraordinary clap of thunder seemed to open the gates of Heaven and the rain fell in torrents. The spout seemed to vent its fury on Water street. For a stretch of 150 yards the Little Miami railway is swept away. The spout tore houses to pieces as if they were shells. A resident of Water street states that within two minutes after the clap of thunder was heard he stood in water to his waist, he being about twenty-five yards from the creek. When the water had reached the residence of Aaron Ferguson it was swept away with the nine inmates and lodged against a bridge, where they were afterwards rescued. The next damage was to a tenement house occupied by a family named Powell, nine in number. Up to nine p. m. none of them had been heard from. In the bottoms, a dozen houses, occupied mostly by coloured people, were swept away. Dozens of horses were lost, and railroads were swept away, so that it was impossible to hear from outside points. One family by name of Morris were swept away. The last seen of them was at the Miami Street Bridge, when a man was seen at a window by the terror-stricken crowd waving a lighted lamp. The next instant the house collapsed and they were gone. Only one, a boy 13 years of age, has been found. The work of finding the bodies continues to-night. The Mayor's office has been turned into a morgue and there are now 22 bodies there. The scene was heart-rending. Whole families lie disfigured on cots. In addition to the above the bodies of two children were found this evening. The complete number of bodies found is 25. Eleven are still missing. The loss of property is great.

The storm of last night which did such fearful work at Xemia, Ohio, was far reaching. It is heard of in Illinois, through Indiana and Ohio and at Winchter, Va. Much damage has been done in Cincinatti. Loss of life is reported at many points.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 13.—Dayton is isolated. No trains or mails have passed in or out, and the telegraph and telephone wires are all down. A storm of wind, rain and hail struck Dayton and vicinity at 8 o'clock last night. Small streams became rushing torrents and the Miami River a mighty flood, rising nine feet in three hours, inundating fifty acres of houses in the fourth ward and drowning horses and cows. Bridges in all directions were swept away, and farm buildings and dwellings demolished. All kinds of crops are totally ruined. Fairmount is a total wreck. The church at Beverton, where a prayer meeting was in progress, was demolished, but none of the panic-stricken worshippers were seriously hurt. A special train with Supt. Tucker was wrecked near Osburn. Tucker and six others were injured. A north-bound freight train on the Cincinnati, Hudson and Dayton railroad, dashed into a washout at Possum Run, five miles south of Dayton, and the thirty ton locomotive was carried 150 feet down the mighty torrent before sinking, and then rolled over and over. At daylight a farmer a mile across the waters, noticing signals of distress, rescued the freight crew from the tree tops. Additional disasters reported by country people are constantly coming in.

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

Continuance of the Toronto Street Railway Strike.

TORONTO, May 14.—To-day closes the first week of the street railway strike and neither side shows any sign of giving in. Supt. Franklin yesterday said the cars were making regular five minute time on Yonge and Queen streets. On the other routes cars ran every half-hour. The Company expected that by the end of the week they would be able to give a complete service. Fifty-two cars were going yesterday. There is no difficulty in securing men, but the majority of them would not have much chance of employment under different circumstances. Meanwhile the rival concern is spreading itself. The Knights of Labor are evidently determined to prove that a strike can be made successful without resort to violence or intimidation. Public sympathy seems to be with the men, though not so much so as on the previous occasion. The K. of L. vans are laden every time. There were 29 running yesterday and the men expect to have forty on the road to-day. The K. of L. have appointed a Board of Directors to control the line. The horses and drivers are changed at regular intervals; smoking is prohibited on the vans; conductors and drivers are forbidden to drink on duty, and timekeepers see that each trip is made in regular street car time. The sum of $425 was yesterday deposited in the bank, as being Tuesday's and Wednesday's receipts of the nominally free vans, and the Board expect to deposit that much more to-day.

"What workingmen really object to, and what we are determined to fight to the bitter end," said a labor organizer to a reporter, "is the 'ironclad' agreement. This is a menace against the personal liberty of workingmen which we cannot permit to remain. This is our second fight against an ironclad agreement in Toronto. The Mail tried the same plan and suffered a signal and most ignominious defeat, and we think the Tory leader of the Senate is no stronger than the leading organ of the Tory party. In any case, as I said before, workingmen in the nineteenth century who have any respect for themselves cannot consent to sign such an agreement or permit it to stand as a menace against their personal liberty."

The men have issued an appeal to the citizens for their moral support.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 13.—This evening at six in accordance with a decision of the Wholesale Clothing Manufacturers' Association of Chicago, a gigantic lockout was inaugurated here. All the manufacturers notified their cutters that for the present no further work would be given out. By this action nearly 30,000 men and women, a majority of whom however are already on strike, have been cut off from employment.

The Fishery Question.

LONDON, May 13.—Mr. Morgan, Under Colonial Secretary, replying in the House of Commons to Mr. Charles Vincent, member for Centre Sheffield, said that Earl Granville, Secretary for the Colonies, had cabled to the Marquis of Lansdowne, Governor-General of Canada, asking him for full details of the seizure of the American fishing schooler "Adams" and had received a reply stating that the schooner had not complied with Maritime Law, had concealed her name, her port and her register; that the case would be investigated in the Halifax Admiralty Court and that no question of territorial waters was involved.

Captain Kinney, of the Gloucester fishing schooner "David J. Adams," has entered a formal protest against the seizure of his vessel at Digby, N. S. In Congress on Monday Mr. Rice's resolution was adopted, and Senator Frye's bill was favorably reported. The seizure was also discussed at Thursday's meeting of the United States Cabinet as well as in the Dominion Cabinet. The tone of the discussion on the question in English political circles and in the London press is amicable to the United States.

American.

The official report shows, as a result of the bomb affair, a list of sixty six police wounded, five of whom died. Ten have returned to their beats, leaving fifty-one who are still laid up with their wounds.

Pierre Wamlyeff, special correspondent of the Moscow Gazette, one of the leading journals of Russia, is in Chicago investigating the labor troubles.

Mr. Washburn, of Chicago, has accepted the presidency of the American Exhibition to be held next year in London.

A resolution is before the New York Legislature instructing the State Engineer to estimate the cost of improving the Erie and Oswego canals by deepening them to 9 feet, and doubling the length of the locks.

Jacob Hertline, a Brooklyn builder, who was bitten by a Newfoundland dog March 6, is suffering from hydrophobia. His wound was cauterized and sewn up at the time. Hertline has had much worry in business recently, owing to strikes, etc.

The women of the Salvation Army in Bristol, Conn., have armed themselves with Cayene pepper to throw in the faces of the ruffians who are accustomed to annoy them in their street parades.

At a meeting Thursday of the New York Niagara Park Reservation Committee it was reported that the funds in hand amounted to $12,700, and that the gross receipts from January 1st to May 1st were $1,400.

The United states Millers' National Association Thursday resolved to fight the patent claims of Mr. Dounton for a combination process and mechanical patent used in the manufacture of flour.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians closed its session at New York on Thursday evening. The statement that the Order repudiates O'Donovan Rossa was denied officially. Resolutions were passed reavowing allegiance to the Roman Catholic Church, to the parent body abroad and eulogizing Messrs. Parnell and Gladstone.

University Honors.

At the meeting on Tuesday evening of the Almuni association of Victoria university, Cobourg, in accordance with his announcement in the annual circular, Mr. H. Hough who for twenty-one years had filled the onerous office of Secretary, resigned the office, making his final financial report. On motion by Rev. Dr. Burwash, seconded by Rev. D. G. Sutherland, M. A., of London, supported by Principal James Mills, M. A.; of the Ontario Agricultural College, a cordial and unanimous vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Hough for his lengthy and efficient services.

Mr. Houhg, in his reply in touching upon the question of Federation, expressed the hope that Victoria might maintain her position as an independent university, declaring that she would do better and be safer and more efficiently advance her objects in that way than by any such alliances as had been preposed. He was elected president for the ensuing year. At the Convocation the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Revs. W. Briggs, Toronto; C. S. Eby, Tokio, Japan; J. S. Evans, Hamilton; A. J. Hunter, Hamilton.

A young son of Michael Soords, age 6 years, was drowned while playing near the Welland River at Welland.

LINENS.

Commencing Friday, May 7th,

At RYAN, BERKINSHAW & Co's.

We have just received from Hannah & Martin, of Glasgow, two cases of Fine Linens commonly called consisting of Lines of spotted in some cases in the bleaching and in others a little imperfect in weaving, but are made up more particularly of odd lines of one and two of a pattern consisting of

Fine Damask Table Cloths,
Fine Tray Cloths,
Fine Table Napkins,
Fine amask Tabling in ends of 1 to 5 yds.
Also ends of Fine Diaper, etc.

The above is a rare opportunity to secure Fine Linens at low prices as it is only occasionally that it is possible to ge hold of these Bleachers' Dama ges

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

CRICKET.

The Guelph Cricket Club will play their first match of the season with the Trinity College Club on the Exhibition ground to-morrow (Saturday). Wickets will be pitched at 10:15 a.m. A good attendance is looked forward to.

There will be a change in the personnel of the team from last year. There are a number of fine young players added and the membership numbers 120. The club has had a fine crease prepared on the Exhibition grounds and practice is indulged in every afternoon. Our Aldermen and School Board should govern themselves accordingly for the great return match.

The following matches have been arranged for the season;—Hamilton at Hamilton, 24th May; Toronto University at Guelph, 3rd June; Galt at Guelph, 12th June; Listowel at Listowel, 17th June; Hamilton at Guelph, 24th June; Rovers, Port Hope, at Guelph, 16 July.

The club anticipate a visit of the English eleven, who are to visit Canada this season and arrangements are about completed for this engagement.

BASE BALL.

No International games yesterday on account of rain.

Manager Chapman, telegraphed President Sleeman last night, stating that owing to the rain which is causing the postponement of the regular championship games, it would be impossible to play in Guelph on Monday. They will play here on Friday, the 21st.

A game has been arranged with the Guelphs, the players of whom comprise last year's Leafs. Maddock and Cockman will be secured, and Stephens and Dillon, of the Maple Leafs, will officiate as their battery.

The Maple Leafs and Royal Oaks will play a practice game to-morrow at four o'clock, Admission free.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR GALT.—At a recent meeting of the Galt Council a communication was read from the Electric Light Co. in which two definite offers were laid before the Board. The first was an offer to light the town with 25 arc lights, distributed as the committee might direct, for the bulk sum of $2,000 per annum. This would make the lights average 27c each per night; and the offer states that they are to burn from dusk to daylight for three hundred nights in the year. The second offer is to provide 15 lights, distributed where the committee may decide, for the sum of 35c per light per night, making a total of $1,575 per annum, with the same conditions as attached to the first.

A KEEN REPORT.—Apropos of the low-necked dress question: The Rochester Democrat recalls the story of the young Irish girl who attended a large ball in England years ago, in the "good old times." She was evidently from the country, and as she entered the ball-room there was a thrill of dismay when it was discovered that there was a marked discrepancy between the hem of her dress and the top of her boots. Fashionable ladies blushed to the tips of their exposed shoulder-blades, and one of them finally remonstrated with the wondering Kathleen. Her reply was pertinent and should become historical: "Show my ankles, do I? Indeed I do; and, sure, so would you, madame, were your dress pulled up around your neck where it should be."

"What is McGregor's Speedy cure for"?
It is for dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion, biliousness, and it is the finest blood purifier in the known world to-day.
"Does it give satisfaction?"
We cannot point to one instance where it did not.
"Where does it have the largest sale?"
Right in the city of Hamilton where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist.

Auction Sale of Valuable Property.

W. S. G. KNOWLES has been instructed to sell by Public Auction, on the grounds on Saturday, 29th May, at one o'clock, that valuable property known as part of the Mickle Estate, on Crimea street, near the Western Station, in the City of Guelph, comprising about five acres of land, two of which are laid out in grounds, and on which is erected a large and substantial stone residence, containing fifteen rooms, heated by hot air furnace; hard and soft water, with good drainage. Also excellent stable, carriage house, driving sheds, stone fowl house, and other buildings. The above property comprises about 17 lots. On two of the lots houses are erected and constantly rented, which will be sold separately if required.

Also at the same time a desirable residence on the corner of Clinton and Gladwin streets, in a beautiful locality. This house is nearly new, two storeys, well built, and contains commodious rooms, good water and perfect drainage. Terms easy and made known on day of sale. Apply to J. A. Lamprey, Real Estate Agent; or R. F. Maddock, Lumber and Coal Merchant, Paisley Street. dw

The Street Car Strike.

The street car strike continues much the same. The K. of L. are gradually increasing their vans and seem determined to carry on the opposition. The Company have all the routes supplied with cars, and are making better time. The cars did not stop until eight o'clock last night. It has not been decided when they will commence to run till midnight. Five persons were before the Police Magistrate yesterday for interfering with the Street Railway Company. Some were fined heavily and others discharged.

The Mayor has called a mass meeting for the discussion of the situation on Wednesday night next.

THE Hotels in Dufferin are getting sick of fighting the Scott Act, and have closed the bars.

Probabilities.—Strong winds and local squalls from west and north; partly cloudy or cloudy weather, with showers and thunderstorms, followed by clearing, slightly cooler weather to-night.

SPRING ASSIZES.

The Prisoners Sentenced to Various Terms this Morning.

Queen vs. Raycraft et al—Action brought against Mr. and Mrs. Raycraft and Mr. and Mrs. Allan, of Peel, for aggravated assault on Mrs. Margaret Hunt, on 20th April last. Mr. Johnston for the Crown, Mr. G. W. Field for the defence. The parties were all living together, and the affair arose out of a "domestic infelicity" which overstepped the ordinary bounds of family jars. Mrs. Hunt's racy and rapid story, and the evidence of Mr. Hunt was offered. Verdict of "Guilty" against Mr. Wm. Raycraft. The others were bound over in $40 each to keep the peace for a year.

QUEEN VS. BLACKWELL.—This was a charge of indecent assault preferred by one Sarah Elmes against John Blackwell. The complainant said that while boarding at a hotel in Drayton defendant came into her room and endeavored to attain his ends. The defence was directed to showing that the defendant was in the room in perfectly proper business, that the room was a public sitting room, and that complainant was an abandoned woman and unworthy of belief, and that the whole matter was an attempt to blackmail. His Lordship directed the jury that badness of character was no defence, and unless they thought the transactions complained of did not take place, they ought to find the prisoner guilty. A verdict of guilty was accordingly returned and the prisoner sentenced to pay a fine or imprisonment. Mr. E. F. B. Johnston for Crown; and Mr. G. W. Field for defence.

Saturday, May 15.

The Crown this morning moved for sentence on Wm. McFarlane, for felony. His Lordship, in passing sentence said that under ordinary circumstances he would give the prisoner five years in the penitentiary, but as the Grand Trunk authorities did not wish a heavy sentence and a largely signed requisition bore testimony to prisoner's previous good character, he therefore would sentence him to six months in the common gaol at hard labor.

His Lordship, in passing sentence on Owen G. Martin, spoke of the unusual nature of the charge and the intelligence prostituted to such an end and that of which the prisoner was found guilty. His sentence would be two years in the Provincial Penitentiary. Wm. Blackwell, for indecent assault, was sentenced to a fine of $100 and costs, or six months in gaol. Wm. Raycraft, for aggravated assault, was fined $50 and costs, or gaol for two months.

HANDSOME PRIZES.—One of the show room windows of the store of Messrs. Shaw & Grundy, merchant tailors, to-day presents the appearance of that which would be supposed to be found in a jewelry establishment. They have on exhibition all the prizes that are to be offered at the games got up by Capt. Clarke, to take place on the Exhibition grounds on the 24th May. Jewelry, composed of about 120 silver pins, 25 silver cups, books, hats and caps, pictures, etc., to the amount of $200 are tastefully displayed and present a pleasing appearance. Capt. Clarke deserves credit for his enterprise in this matter.

THE Erin flour mills have changed hands, Mr. Ford having disposed of them to Mr. Bell, a practical miller from Caledon.

MR. AITKEN, a prominent business man of Melbourne, Australia, has been in Galt for the last few days, the guest of Hon. Jas. Young. He and Mr. Young were in town yesterday. Mr. Aitken is on his way to Great Britain on a pleasure trip, having come via San Francisco.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE.—Some of the authorities of the Knights of Labor telegraphed yesterday to Guelph, to see if they could not be supplied with conveyances to compete against the Toronto Street Car Company. Mr. John Kirkpatrick went to that city last night to arrange about terms, but these not being satisfactory no steps are likely to be taken.

WE learn that the pupils of the Loretto Academy of this city intend giving, in the early part of next month, the beautiful mystery play of Luigi Bordese, "The Miracle of the Roses." The touching story told in the life of St. Elizabeth of Hungary forms the subject, to which the music is charmingly adapted. "The Miracle of the Roses" will be given in the church, on the evening of June 8th, and the proceeds will be applied to the completion of the building.

THE MARKET.—Notwithstanding the muddy state of the roads the market this morning presented a bustling appearance and was well supplied with produce of all descriptions. Buyers were plentiful. Wheat took a drop of two cents a bushel, Other grains remained firm at former quotations. In garden stuff the demand was greater than the supply. Flowers were in abundance and buyers plentiful. The butchers stalls were well stocked with meat and spring lamb at low prices. Taken altogether prices for all commodities were reasonable.

A. O. U. W.—The concert to be given on Monday evening by the A. O. U. W., will be one of unusual interest. The Littlehales Family quartette, of Hamilton, will make their first appearance in Guelph as a string quartette. The Hamilton press speaks in the highest terms of their playing, and class Miss Littlehales among the best of Canadian violin players. Miss Maggie Philp, who delighted the St. George's Church people last winter at one of their entertainments, will sing a cavatina with violin obligato. Mr. G. Thomas and Mrs. Whitehead, who are always welcome to a Guelph audience, will also take part. The concert will be under the direction of Mr. W. Philip.

THUNDER STORM.—A terrific thunder storm passed over the city last night about nine o'clock. The lightning was very vivid, and the peals of thunder loud and continuous, while rain actually poured down in torrents. This storm was followed by another early this morning, which was equally severe. Farmers in the neighborhood state that the land is completely drenched, and it will not be fit for seeding operations for a day or two. In consequence of this many of them visited the city to-day. The only damage that was done by the lightning around here, so far as ascertained, is that the end of a stable belonging to Geo. Hood, near the Bull Frog, was struck and a portion of the gable torn off. Fortunately the stable was not ignited.

REAL ESTATE.—J. A. Lamprey, estate agent, reports the following sales, viz:—For Mrs. Melvin, of Winnipeg, park lot No. 1, sub-division lot 5, Guelph Township, Brock Road, 2½ acres, to Nelson Moore, for $390; for Executors of late William Rickaby, a frame plastered cottage and lot 157, on Wellington street, to John Wrigglesworth, of Esquesing, for $400; for Joseph Firestine, of Galt, park lots 5, 6, and 7, sub division lot 5, Guelph Township, 8 acres, to Nelson Moore, for $550; for Thomas Dobbie, a stone cottage and lots 55 and 56, on Edwin street, to Thomas Day, builder, for $1,350; and for Mrs. Elizabeth Farr, park lots 25, 31, 32, and 34, subdivision lot 3, Guelph Township, Brock Road, 24 acres, to John Murphy, Mount Tara, for $1,180.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS.—Court Guelph was instituted in this city on Friday evening, May 14, by Deputy Supreme Chief Ranger, C. W. Jones, of London, with 27 charter members. The following staff of officers were chosen and installed:—P. C. R., Thomas H. Scarff; C.R., James Hewer; V. C. R., Adam Murchey; R. S., George F. Pretty; F. S., Robert M. McDonald; Treas., Benjamin Savage; S. W., John A. Lillie; J. W., Thomas Anderson; S. B., William Buskin; J. B., K. S. Townsend; Chaplain, William Burgess; Physician, Dr. N. F. McPhatter. The next meeting of this Court will be held on Wednesday, May 19th, and all who make application to the officers for membership before that time will be admitted at charter rates.

THE SCOTT ACT.

A Meeting of its Supporters Decided That It Must Be Enforced.

Last night a meeting of those interested in having the Scott Act carried out met in the Paisley Street Methodist Church. No doubt on account of the stormy night the attendance were not large. The Rev. Dr. Griffin, President of the Scott Association, occupied the chair. After the singing of a hymn and prayer by the Rev. McGregor Dr. Griffin gave a short address. In Woodstock, Orangeville, Walkerton and other places where the Act has been in force there were not many violations of the law, but generally speaking it was well observed. He held that the law could be enforced in a general and public sense. It was of the first importance that it should be enforced, and that men who violated the law should be made to suffer. There had not been much time yet to see how the Act worked. The struggle would be greater in a few months when the supplies which had been laid in private sellers commenced to run out. Among the rest he had been accused of laying in a supply. Those who were of that belief were at perfect liberty to examine his house. Men were at present taking their horns quietly at home, but when these were empty there would be a temptation which did not exist at present, and consequently more breeches of the law. For the fair fame of the city it was necessary that the law should be enforced. If a strenuous effort were not made to do this they the opposite party would turn around and say that the Act was no good and ask for a repeal, perhaps gaining votes that would be cast right every time if the law was not enforced. It was better to spend money now in having the Act carried out than to have to contest a repeal. The authorities who had the enforcing of the law were powerless if not backed up by the moral support of the community. Voluntary effort was needed.

Moved by the Rev. Mr. McGregor, seconded by Mr. Maddock, that recognizing the great difficulty connected with bringing violators of the Scott Act to punishment, this meeting desires to express its satisfaction at the prompt and decisive action of the police, and of the Police Magistrate in the three cases, recently before the court. Carried unanimously.

Rev. Mr. McGregor in moving this resolution remarked that since the recent convictions a great deal of comment had been made on the ground of the morality of the manner in which the prosecutions were conducted. There was great confusion of thought on this, yet it was sometimes necessary that evil should be done so that good might come from it. There were such cases as cases of necessity and he considered that this was one of them. The Chief in his action was only doing his duty to prevent law breaking while the sellers violated the law. The temperance people felt thankful and grateful to the Chief for the attitude he had taken. He had listened to the recent cases tried for two hours and he was greatly pleased with the attitude of the Magistrate and his evident desire to have the law enforced. It was a satisfaction to have such officers in places of trust in our city.

Mr. E. H. Maddock in seconding the resolution said that the circumstances of the case, to secure a conviction of a sale of liquor, required exceptional means. If the Chief had gone himself or a respectable citizen they would not have got a drop, so it could be easily seen that the only way to bring the parties who violated the law to justice, was by a method similar to that employed by the Chief of Police. Such means had to be used as could be had. He cited the Martin forgery case and the Grand Trunk fraud case as instances in which traps were laid to bring the parties to justice. If they had not done so they could not have secured their information by any other means. If a few more liquor selling cases were found out and treated in the same manner he considered it would have a healthy effect on the rest of those in the business. The Scott Act was no piece of temperance legislation, but they accept it in lieu of anything better. What they were striving for was prohibition pure and simple. He looked on the Scott Act as a compromise to this end. He spoke at length on the evils of intemperance. At the close of his remarks he said he felt sorry that the Magistrate should have reprimanded the Chief in open court, and he was quite satisfied that the Chief had the support of the Christian people of the city in what he had done.

Rev. Dr. Griffin said if we had wishy-washy Police Magistrate then the cause might be looked on as on the wane. We had one of great ability and he was sure every case coming before him would be well handled. He also mentioned that Mr. Sprague had rented the Wellington Hotel and the temperance people had promised to stick by him for the first year and had promised him $500, $200 of which had been already collected. Subscriptions to this end would be taken up to-night.

Moved by the Rev. Mr. Holmes, seconded by Mr. G. Skinner, feeling that it is very important that the Scott Act shall be well enforced in the city of Guelph this meeting, representing the "Guelph Scott Act Association," pledges itself to co-operate with the authorities to secure its proper enforcement. Carried unanimously.

Rev. Mr. Holmes was in entire sympathy with the movement. He would reserve his speech until some time when there would be more occasion for it.

Mr. Geo. Skinner seconded the resolution at some length. He never for a moment supposed that the Scott Act would stop drinking, but it would stop the treating system at the bar, which was a great thing in itself. He did not blame the hotel keepers and those in the liquor business for being opposed to the Act. It was a question of money with them.

Rev. Dr. Griffin intimated that a meeting of the Executive Committee had been held before this meeting and a large vigilance committee had been appointed to co-operate with the Police and Inspector, the names of whom it was not deemed necessary to announce. Mr. J. W. B. Kelly and Mr. Robert Millar had been appointed a committee to collect funds. He took occasion to refer to the absurd stories that were in circulation regarding the town being ruined. He failed to see where there would be less groceries or dry goods sold, or other articles by the stoppage of the sale of whiskey. He had been accused with bringing the two informers here and also having engaged two more. This was not true, but he could easily bear the stigma.

Ald. Smith, Ald. Read, and A. C. Steele and the Mayor were called on, each of whom made a few well chosen remarks on the question.

At the close of the meeting $50 was taken up in aid of the Scott Act funds, after which the meeting adjourned.

Sporting News.

BASE BALL.

International fixtures yesterday:—At Rochester, Hamilton and Rochester no game, ground too wet; at Buffalo, Toronto 6, Buffalo 5; at Utica, Oswego 10, Utica 4; at Syracuse, Binghampton 6, Syracuse 4.

The Maple Leafs play the Royal Oaks this afternoon.

The Leafs play the Guelph's Monday. The latter will have the assistance of Stephens and Dilkon as battery.

Buffalo News; The Canadians seem very mean in refusing bait to American Fishermen. When the Hamiltons came to Buffalo last week they got "bate" at once and no questions asked.

CRICKET.

The first game of the season in Guelph is being played to-day between the Trinity College eleven, Toronto, and Guelph. Wickets were pitched at 11.30. Guelph won the toss and sent Trinity College to the wickets. Messrs. Tremayne and Bedford Jones faced the bowling of Martin and Lockwood. Tremayne scored 10, Jones 11, Guthrie 13 and Allan 15, these being the only double figures scored. The total for that side in the first innings was 71. Guelph went to bat at 2.30.

POLICE COURT.—Geo. Morrison appeared at the Police Court this morning upon the information of W. T. Dingle, of Oshawa, charging him with the alleged fraudulent disposal of nine seed drills, in which W. T. Dingle claims to be interested, to S. Merner, of New Hamburg. It appears that the firm of Morrison & Boothroyd had purchased a large number of seed drills from Mr. Dingle in the spring of 1885, giving lien notes for the same. A settlement took place in October last, when a lien note was given for the balance due Mr. Dingle. In January last nine drills were delivered by Morrison & Boothroyd to S. Merner in payment of a claim against them. Mr. Dingle claims that this transfer was fraudulent. The case opened at ten o'clock and is still progressing. Mr. Watt appears for the prosecution; Mr. A. H. Macdonald and Mr. J. A. Mowat are acting for the defendant Morrison.

ENTERTAINMENT IN GALT.—The entertainment given in the Alpha Skating Rink, Galt, last evening, by Capt. Clarke's class, assisted by his class of 20 boys from Guelph in conjunction with his Galt class, for the benefit of Mrs. H. B. Wells, was first class in every respect. The exhibition drill by the Guelph boys was the feature of the evening and was highly appreciated. The building was crowded to the doors. A large sum was realized for the beneficiary. Mrs. Whitehead took part, and although suffering from a cold, sang with her usual taste, and received warm applause.

HOWORTH'S HIBERNICA. — Howorth's Hibernica Comedy Co. will appear in the City Hall, under the local management of Mr. F. W. Robinson, on the 20th and 21st of May. The Rochester Herald says of them: "Every seat and every available inch of standing room in the Casino Theatre was occupied last evening, and fully one thousand people were turned away. Howorth's Hibernica Comedy and Specialty Company was the attraction, and the combination was greeted with great favor. The comedy of the "Two Dans, or, the Comedy of Blunders," was cleverly presented and provoked much laughter and applause. The various specialties were gracefully introduced, the songs and dances noticeably excellent."

THE Ven. Archdeacon Dixon and Dr. Howitt attend the General Hospital next week.

Where is the Distinction?

The Hamilton Spectator, like the Guelph Police Magistrate, seems to think there is a distinction between the part a detective plays in bringing a criminal to justice, and that he occupies in bringing home the guilt to a man who engages in the illegal sale of liquor. That journal argues: "If the Guelph policemen were to employ "detectives" to induce people to steal or commit murder, that the policeman might make a case against the criminals, what would that policeman and those "detectives" deserve? Should they not be punished equally with the person whom they induced to commit the crime? And would it mitigate the guilt of the policeman and the "detectives" if the man whom they induced to commit theft or murder was strongly suspected of having committed theft or murder before? . . The system of "detectives" in liquor cases is wrong. In the first place they are not detectives. A detective ferrets out a crime that has been committed; he does not induce people to commit crime and then inform upon them. The whiskey informer does not discover that somebody has been selling liquor to somebody else; he "peaches" on somebody whom he has deceitfully induced to sell liquor to himself." Now in all this the Spectator is vainly trying to draw a distinction where there is none. The fallacy of its argument has been put to a practical test in our midst. The Grand Trunk authorities were suspicious that they were not receiving all the passenger receipts which they should from Guelph, but in order to obtain positive proof against the agent who was depriving them of a portion of their earnings they set detectives to work. And what did these detectives do but work themselves into the confidence of the suspected agent and "induce" him to commit fresh embezzlements with them? Yet no one has said that the detectives were as bad as this agent. The same line of detection was pursued in the case of the forger just sentenced at the Guelph Assizes. A decoy letter was sent to that criminal enclosing a $10 bill in order that he might furnish them with some of his bogus manufacture, and so bring about his own conviction. In both these cases the detectives had suspicion that the law was being broken, just the same as a whiskey detective has, in both cases they induced the suspected parties to break the law just as a whiskey detective does, and in both of them they secured a conviction by giving evidence against the offenders just as a whiskey informer does: and no one has dared to say they deserve the same punishment which the convicted parties received or any punishment at all, but on the contrary that they are to be commended for ferreting out the cases so thoroughly.

Proposed Printing Bureau.

Mr. Chapleau has introduced a bill for the establishment of a Printing and Stationery Bureau, similar to that now in existence in the United States. This will do away with the present system of giving out the public printing by contract, and will place the whole under the direct control of a responsible Minister. The abuses in this department have been immense, and it is hoped that the proposed change will result in a saving. During the last few years newspapers supporting the Government have reaped a rich harvest, some of them getting as much as $10,000 in one year. Not long ago the regular contractors brought an action against the Government for wrongfully giving work to outsiders which should have gone to them. They won their case and got an award of $86,000. Under the contract confidential printing may be given to anybody. In this way members of Parliament have obtained fat jobs by getting the work and farming it out. One notorious instance is well known where a western member got a job of this kind for a paper ostensibly owned by his sons. They never set up a type. The whole thing was done at Ottawa by regular contractors, the members pocketing the difference on a bargain. In self-defence, if for no other reason, the Government should make a change. A printing bureau, under public control, ought to be cheaper and more satisfactory than the present system which could not be worse or more corrupt. The only danger is that instead of this Bureau being conducted on proper business principles it will become the refuge for political hacks, or other incapables, who through political influence may find situations in it whether they are qualified or not to perform their duties. If this is done it will cost more than under the present contract system. Another danger is that the Government, having sole control of the Bureau, may with impunity give out jobs of printing to an unlimited extent to their supporters in the printing and publishing business. We have repeatedly pointed out that this is done to a certain extent now, and that some of the pet organs of the Government have been handsomely subsidized by fat jobs of printing, for which most extravagant prices were paid, which printing in some cases could have been done at less than half the cost by the Parliamentary printers. From the past record of the Government we have every reason to fear that should such a Bureau be established the abuses mentioned above will be introduced, and the proper objects for its establishment will be thereby defeated.

It is a common assertion s the Catholics only who are clamoring for Home Rule and that the Protestant Orangemen are the only loyalists in Ireland. This statement has been so often repeated that it has come to be pretty generally believed. But in Ireland there are several prominent aristocratic Catholics who are strongly opposed to Home Rule and in England the Duke of Norfolk and several other Catholic Peers and land owners are bitter opponents of the scheme, while the Tablet, which is the organ of that class of Catholics, is one of the strongest opponents of the Bill.

The Tory Government of Prince Edward Island, like the other administrations of the same political persuasion in Canada, is not able to make ends meet. The total estimates are: Expenditures, $227,287.22; revenue, $235,827.30; leaving a deficit of $41,460.02. Premier Sullivan has announced his expectation of getting one-eighth of a million dollars from the Dominion to meet this, but failed to say how. It is looked upon by impartial men as an election dodge to cover up the mismanagement of the Ministers. The prospects are that the Liberals will be called to power at the elections this summer.

The Home Rule Bill.

Liberal Secessionists' Meeting—Cruel Evictions.

Dublin, May 14.—Heartrending details have reached here of evictions on the estate of Lord Kenmare, at Headford, near Killarney. While he, as Lord Chamberlain, was attending the Queen at the Liverpool festivities and enjoying the good things of life, the sheriff and bailiffs, backed by 97 policemen, turned out a large number of his tenants of the poorest kind, with the usual concomitants of sympathizing neighbors and an exasperated people fighting the police. The most aggravating case is that of Jeremiah Callaghan, who has eight children all under 12 years of age, who, turned out on the roadside, cried and sorrowed so piteously as to move even the police. The house was a poor old place, but they knew it as their home. At another house, that of a woman named O'Connor, an occupant was very ill, and consultation was had, but as it was concluded she would not die, she was put on the roadside, being removed in a bed.

London, May 14.—A meeting of the followers of Lord Hartington was held today for the purpose of cementing the Whig and Radical Opposition to the Home Rule Bill. Sixty-four gentlemen attended, including Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Trevelyan and Mr. Caine. Lord Hartington made a twenty-minutes speech, in which he explained the reasons why Liberals should oppose Mr. Gladstone's measure. The meeting was harmonious throughout, and unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that those present would oppose the second reading of the Home Rule Bill.

Lord Hartington declared that the pledges from the Liberals to oppose Gladstone's Home Rule Bill were sufficient in number to make the rejection of the Bill on its second reading certain. The defeat of the Bill, he said, would cast a heavy responsibility on him which, however, he was quite prepared to accept. Several gentlemen made brief remarks in which they stated their determination to oppose any measure brought forward which did not equally apply to the whole Kingdom. Mr. Chamberlain said that if the Government should recompense the landlords of Ireland they would establish a precedent for the recompense of impecunious tradesmen, workingmen and others.

Lord Hartington's "whips" report that 110 Liberals have pledged themselves to vote against the Home Rule Bill and that thirty are doubtful. The Conservative leaders advise Conservatives in the House of Commons not to speak during the debate as they wish to hasten the division on the second reading. It is rumored that Gladstone is consulting with his colleagues upon the advisability of withdrawing the Home Rule Bill.

London, May 14.—During a meeting of the Patriotic Union at Southwark this evening the speaker's platform was stormed by a mob, a free fight ensued, in the course of which one man was stabbed.

At a meeting of the Belfast Anti-Repeal Union to-day arrangements were made to hold a Convention of Loyalists in the near future. Letters from England were read offering armed assistance.

Eager Contractors.

Montreal, May 14.—To-day was the last for receiving tenders for construction of the C. P. R. short line from Smith's Falls to Montreal, and St. Lawrence Hall has been positively swarming with contractors, and four men in shirt sleeves have been kept busy all day behind the bar attending to their throats. Plain-looking individuals parade the corridors of the hotel said to be worth millions. The C. P. R. has created an enormous class of contractors, and as the field of operations narrow the vultures are all concentrating upon this last one of the carcases. The prevalent idea seems to be that the Company to save trouble will give the work to one firm who will sub-contract to those who have tendered for sections.

Big Theft By Boys.

Montreal, May 14.—Yesterday afternoon Detective Hays, of Lowell, arrested two young lads named Nutthall and Wm. Stacey, in Montreal, who are accused of having stolen $5000 from the Royal Bank of Lowell, where the first named was employed as clerk. The robbery occured last Tuesday. The money was only missed on Wednesday. The lads offered no resistance, but repudiated the charge of stealing $5000. Nutthall pleaded guilty but said he had only $1585 of the bank funds. One thousand dollars in bills and $200 in gold was found on Nutthall, and $30 on Stacey. They had bought bicycles at $130, and proposed to start for Upper Canada in a day or two. Both belong to respectable families in Lowell.

A powerful story of Washington society, by Miss Annie Porter, appears in June Harper's. The heroine is arrested in a mad career, about to culminate in an elopement, by a trance which seems to be death, and narrowly escapes a premature burial. It is called "The Ministration of Death."

One of the most interesting, but one of the most unfamiliar, portraits of Benjamin Franklin is the fine bust of the celebrated French sculptor, Houdon, which is now in the Metropolitan Museum of New York. Kenyon Cox has made a drawing from the bust, and Whitney's engraving from the drawing will appear as the frontispiece of the June Century.

CHAPTER XXX.

REUNION.

"I am coming," said Mr. Longworthy to the maid. Then, when she had left the room, he turned to Helen, saying—

"This is sooner than we expected, is it not?"

She was twisting the bit of pasteboard between her fingers, and her colour went and came as she said—

"He should not have come; you said you would go to him."

"It is impossible that he can have any idea of what I want to tell him. His coming may be mere accident; he may have been in the neighborhood."

"He should not have come," she repeated in a voice of distress."

"I must go to him, now," said the rector. "I will tell him what we agreed, and in the way we agreed. After that I shall send him here to you; so do not go away. I promise to be no longer than I can help."

She said nothing; she did not seem able to speak. She remained seated on the couch, trembling slightly, and with one and clenched in her lap. She was looking into the fire, but as Mr. Longworthy was leaving the room she said in a quick, low voice—

"Tell him as quickly as you can, Mr. Longworthy. He will soon guess, and then he will be impatient."

Mr. Longworthy found Percival leaning against the mantelpiece, and looking down at the fire. His face was grave and thoughtful, and he looked up when the clergyman entered.

"I hope I am not intruding," he said, as they shook hands. "It was hardly right to come here when you said in your note that you would come to see me. But I felt impatient, and could not wait. It is the only excuse I have, and I fear it is a very lame one."

"I am exceedingly glad to see you," replied the clergyman cordially. "I cannot say it was merely by accident that I appointed your house rather than my own as our place of meeting, but I do not think this makes any real difference; perhaps even it is better."

"You are very good. My curiosity got the better of me. Frankly, I could not imagine what you had to tell me."

"No; I do not see how you could have any idea, and I hope you will not be disappointed. It is a story which I thought might interest you—a very curious story, indeed, about a young lady at present staying with my wife and me."

Percival looked surprised and a good deal perplexed. He was thinking of what Mr. Longworthy had said in his note—that the communication was to be of importance as well as of interest.

"Can I help you or her in any way?" he asked rather slowly.

"I think you will be able to help us both; we have been very undecided. If you will sit down I will tell you all about it."

Percival seated himself. Mr. Longworthy took the chair in which, at Helen's request, he had sat the day before, and putting one knee over the other, he began his story.

"Do you happen to remember a railway accident which took place about a year ago? The train was crossing a river, the bridge fell in, and———'

"I have every reason to remember it?" said Percival, the frown coming into his forehead which always appeared there when any mention was made or he thought of that time. "My wife, my first wife was in that train," he concluded in explanation.

"I am sorry I have touched upon so painful a subject; it was necessary for the rest of what I had to say."

"It is rather I who should apologize," said his visitor. "I ought to have more control over myself. But had you ever seen my wife, or known what she was to me, you would understand that her loss is wound which will never be healed."

"That was, if I remember rightly, the portrait of your first wife which hung in your study. She had the most charming face I ever saw, I think. I can understand that the loss of a woman with that face would be irreparable."

"Do not speak of it," said Percival, rising restlessly from his seat and speaking in a voice of forcibly restrained passion and emotion. "It happened more than a year ago, and though it is four months since I married again—an odd way of showing my grief, you will say—there are times when I cannot realize it or take it in. I try not to think of her. I dare not think of her. I am going to have that portrait removed," he concluded, half wondering as he spoke what there was in Mr. Longworthy which induced him to speak so unreservedly.

"Yet they were sisters—half-sisters that is. Ah," with a sudden nervous contraction of the eye-brows. "I beg of you not to mention Helen. It is more painful to me than I can say. I cannot forget her, and in my present circumstances I feel almost as if it were wrong to think of her. Be so good as to go on with your story, which I fear I interrupted very unceremoniously."

"Not at all. I have plenty of time." To himself he was thinking,

"In an hour's time, Helen, you will reproach yourself bitterly for your delay."

Then he went on—

"On that same day there was a slight accident on this line, just outside the station. The train ran off the line. No one was much hurt except one young lady, who had sustained serious injuries to her head owing to a fall. She was unconscious, and as there was nothing about her which gave any clue to who she was or where she came from, my wife had her brought to this house. I was away from home that day. She was ill for a long time, it was a very dangerous case of concussion of the brain; but she had a marvellous constitution, and recovered wonderfully fast with the exception that her memory did not return."

He glanced at his companion, who had listened at first with a polite show of interest which had partly concealed his natural indifference. Now, however, he looked really interested, and he raised his head when the clergyman paused, as though wishful for him to go on.

John Winks a Grand Trunk teamster, met with a singular accident the other day at London, Ont. He was driving his team along York street, seated on an inverted empty sugar hogshead, when suddenly the heading gave way and John fell inside. Being too proud to cry out, and at the same time securely held down by the protruding nails, his team walked quite a distance without a driver, until a passer-by noticed the peculiarity and relieved John from his uncomfortable position. And John Winks.

"Does it give satisfaction?"

We cannot point to one instance where it did not.

"Where does it have the largest sale?"

Right in the city of Hamilton where it is manufactured, there has been over one thousand dollars' worth sold in the last year retail, and the great majority of the sales are by one recommending it to another. For sale at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist.

About five thousand dollars has already been subscribed towards the relief of the sufferers by the disastrous fire at Hull on Sunday morning. Successors to John Hogg & Son.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

Damage by Lightning.

Much damage was caused in several parts of the province by a violent thunderstorm on Friday night. The Methodist church steeple at Georgetown was shattered by lightning and the repairs will require $200 or $300. At Brantford a canning factory, stables, and oil storehouse were fired and burned to the ground. At Thurlow a barn was fired and destroyed with all its contents, including two horses and a calf. Jacob Terryberry's barns at Terryberry Corners, township of Glanford, were struck. The cow stables, barns and pig house were destroyed. Loss $3,500, insurance $1,000.

A strike is in progress at Belcher's sugar refinery, New York. A number of non-unionists have been assaulted and police have to guard the works.

Invisible but Instantaneous.

All pains or aches will be instantly removed by a few drops of Fluid Lightning applied over the affected parts. No time lost; no nauseous medicines needed; no poulticing or using greasy liniments. It will not blister or discolor the skin. Sold at 25c per bottle by Thos. S Petrie, Druggist. Sufferers from Neuralgia assure us that they never fear it when their house contains a bottle of Fluid Lightning.

Local News

COUNCIL to-night.

DR. HOWITT and Rev. G. A. Harvey, curate of St. George's church, take hospital duty this week.

THE Elmira monthly fair held last Monday was not so well attended as former fairs, on account of the rough weather. About 70 head of cattle were brought in and mostly all sold. Young pigs were plentiful and sold at from $2 to $3 a head.

REV. R. A. RAYSON, preached his farewell sermon in the Methodist Church, Erin, on Sunday last, to a large congregation. Mr. Rayson left town on Monday, and purposes visiting friends in Ontario for a short time prior to his departure for Greenwood, Wisconsin, where he will take a course in the University.

THERE has been considerable talk of late in Galt regarding the construction of a street railway between Galt and Preston. It is held by those who have looked into the matter that such a line could be built at a reasonable expense, and that the amount of traffic between the two places would ensure its paying.

SELECT KNIGHTS.—A number of the delegates to the Grand Legion of Select Knights have arrived in the city and are quartered at the different hotels. This evening the majority of the Grand Officers will arrive and will be met at the station by Wellington Legion, headed by the City Band and will be escorted to headquarters. A grand concert will be given in the City Hall by Prof. Philp, under the auspices of the S. K.

A TAX COLLECTOR'S MUDDLE.—There is a considerable muddle in the accounts of the tax collector of the town of Orangeville, which has only lately been discovered. It seems among other mistakes made by the clerk in preparing the collector's roll was one of $300.28 in carrying the amounts forward. This made the amount of taxes collected appear to be less by this amount than it really was. The treasurer noticed the error after the rolls were returned and the collector was called upon to settle up. This resulted in a pretty noisy council meeting.

FROST.—On Sunday a cold piercing wind prevailed during the day. Early in the morning a few flakes of snow fell, which melted as soon as they touched the ground. Towards noon it became somewhat warmer, but in the evening cold again set in, and this morning evidences of quite a severe frost were perceptible. Stagnant pools were covered with ice in low lying places over a quarter of an inch thick. The damage to fruit trees is supposed to be considerable, but the extent cannot as yet be ascertained. Tomato plants and other early plants of a tender nature were severely frost bitten.

SHOOTING CASE.—The Dufferin Post says: On Monday last John Samuel Lovell was arraigned before Judge McCarthy on a charge of shooting with intent to murder, the charge being preferred by one John Mann. The parties hail from the township of East Luther. On Easter Monday Lovell and two friends were out shooting in a swamp and passed by a house which Lovell told his companions he had rented. While they were talking over the matter Mann came along and entered the house. Lovell followed him into the building and ordered him to leave, threatening that if he did not do so immediately he would shoot him. A scuffle ensued in which Lovell's gun went off. The Judge did not think that the case amounted to more than one of assault, and permitted the accused to testify in his own behalf. Lovell took the stand and swore that he was the tenant of the house. He was rather impertinent and the Judge, not relying much on his testimony, found him guilty, and sentenced him to one month in gaol at hard labor. Lovell is said to be wanted near Galt for a theft which he is alleged to have committed.

Important News Item.

COOKSTOWN.—Mrs Campbell had for a number of years been troubled with indigestion and constipation, and was induced to try McGregor's Speedy Cure and found it all that was needed and would recommend its use to any person similarly troubled. SIX CATTLE KILLED.—During the heavy thunderstorm of Friday night, Mr. Geo. Mitchell, Eramosa, was most unfortunate in losing six fine two year old cattle by lightning. They were intended for feeding and had been turned out in the field simply for the reason that Mr. Mitchell was busy seeding and had not time to attend to them. During the thunderstorm they had huddled together under a basswood tree. The lightning struck the tree doing it little damage but ignited a stump at its foot and killed the six cattle. A few of them were slightly singed, but otherwise there were no marks on them. This morning Mr. Mitchell sold the six hides which is all that he has left of stock valued at $200.

MILTON'S GROWTH.—The Milton Sun, an anti-Scott Act organ, has the following:—"This year's assessment of the town of Milton exceeds that of any year during the past twelve years. It is a wonderful advance in material prosperity and population. When last year we announced that the total value of real and personal property and taxable income exceeded that of 1884 by $2,420, and that the population had been increased by 79 inhabitants, many people were no less pleased than astonished. This feeling of astonishment will give place to wonder this year when we announce that the total value of real and personal property and taxable income exceeds that of last year by the handsome sum of $12,030. The population, too, has kept pace with the increased prosperity of the town and shows a clear gain of 89 persons over that of last year. Better than this, the assessor reports that there are already no fewer than fourteen handsome buildings in course of erection, and the building season but just begun. All this must be exceedingly gratifying to Miltonians and their friends."

The Street Car Strike.

TORONTO, May 15.—Superintendent Franklin reported still further improvement in the street service to-day. Altogether there were sixty cars running. The Executive Committee of the men reported having run 28 cars yesterday, and said the receipts were largely in excess of those of Thursday. They added two covered 'busses to their service to-day, and expected a number of 'busses from outside places to arrive some time before night. The Chairman defied Superintendent Franklin to mention the name of one of the company's old employees who wanted to return to work. Many men who had gone to work for the company found things so disagreeable at their boarding house that they quit work. The committee passed a resolution asking all working people to withdraw their deposits from the Home Savings & Loan Company, of which the Hon. Frank Smith is President. The men express themselves as exceedingly grateful to the public for patronizing their 'busses, and especially to the ladies, many of whom have suffered considerable inconvenience in support of the men's principles.

At the meeting of the Oshawa Trades and Labor Council the Legislative Committee submitted the following report:—"Your committee give their unqualified condemnation of the conduct of Senator Frank Smith in relation to his late employees in the Toronto Street Railway Company, of which he is President, and are of opinion that the sooner he vacates his position in the Government and also his position in the Senate the better. His retention in the Government will be construed as an approval by the Government, and as endorsing his tyranny.

The Toronto Knights of Labor have decided to ask for Senator Smith's removal from the Government and will send a deputation to Ottawa to make the request. Mr. Smith, when apprised of this, said:—"I have been trying to get out of the Government for the past three years. I am not there because I sought the office—the office sought me. Twenty thousand Knights can go to Ottawa for all I care. It will do them a great deal of good. As for forcing me out of the Government, I will retire just when I feel like it. The sooner the Knights understand this the better."

Saturday was a busy one with the opposition busses. The evening proved a regular harvest for them. Up till midnight they had all they could do, and more too. The day's receipts ran away up in the hundreds. A number of busses have arrived from Hamilton, and will be put on the road at once. The strikers held a rousing meeting Sunday afternoon in the I. B. U. Hall. Encouraging reports from the Van Committee were read and the returns were satisfactory. Addresses were delivered by leading Knights of Labor. The men enter upon the second week of the fight with renewed vigor. The Stonecutters' Union has voted $50 towards the support of the strikers and Canadian Home Circle No. 12 have decided to support the vans, to afford the men every possible assistance and to withhold their patronage from the cars while the differences exist.

Mr. Franklin denied a rumour to the effect that a settlement was likely to be effected. The Company had not even thought of settlement, much less made a step in that direction. "We are getting all the men we want," said the Superintendent. It is at the suggestion of the police that the cars do not run at night.

CRICKET.

On Saturday the Guelph Cricket Club played their first match this season with the Trinity Club of Toronto, who arrived the evening previous with a strong team. However, as the score will show they were defeated by 28 runs. The heavy rains during the last week, and especially on Saturday morning, had made the pound dead, but the city club had it in first class order, and a splendid wicket was pitched at 10:30. The judges' stand inside of the horse ring has been removed, which was neither of use nor ornament and in a very short period the ground will make a magnificent field for all games. The Guelph Club must be given great credit for the first class order that the field has been placed in, well beaten down, rolled, etc., and as good as the Base Ball grounds. There was a very poor turn-out of spectators, especially of the fair sex, who on all occasions grace a cricket match with their presence, but the day was raw and cold, and not at all favorable for players or spectators. Guelph won the toss and sent the visitors to the bat (Saturday being a bad day for some of the players getting to the cricket field in time), Tremaine and Bedford-Jones going to the bat, and facing the bowling of Martin and Lockwood. The score was small, the visitors making 71 runs. The double figures were Tremaine 10, Jones 11, Allan 15, Guthrie 13. The last two players were in first rate trim, but they paid the penalty by being run out in their anxiety to make runs. At 2:30, after lunch, Guthrie and Roche, for Guelph, handled the willow, Cooper and Allan taking the bowling. Guthrie succeeded in scoring 13, in which was a leg for 5 and a beautiful drive for 4, but was caught by Roper; 4 wickets went down for 13 runs, 6 for 34 runs, and stock was very low for the city but Jackson came to the rescue and by careful play and hard hitting saved the home club from defeat. His innings of 62 runs, not out, was really a splendid piece of cricket, and he was received with applause when he retired carrying out his bat. His 62 runs was made up of 6 fours, 4 threes, 10 twos, and the rest in ones. Total innings 79 runs. The following is the score:—

BASE BALL.

Tommy Cockman arrived at noon to-day to take part in the match this afternoon.

The Maple Leafs defeated the Royal Oaks by the score of 8 to 1 on Saturday afternoon. The Oaks had the assistance of Dillon, catcher, of the Leafs, who supported Brown in good style. The game was devoid of sharp plays, owing to the cold weather. There were about 400 spectators present, who watched the new players' ability with great interest. Wm. Beickers umpired in his usual impartial manner, but was a little rusty, owing to not having umpired a game for several years.

The Guelphs and Maple Leafs are playing this afternoon.

The only international baseball match played on Saturday was between Binghamton and Syracuse. Binghamton, 4r., 7h., 7e. Syracuse, 5r., 11h., 11e.

Beach, the aquatic champion, has arrived in London.

The Detroits won six straight games last week.

THE Rev. J. C. Smith, B.D., pastor of St. Andrew's church, is lying very ill at present with rheumatism.

MR. HENRY ARKELL, Arkell, has sold his white jack ass "King of Egypt, raised in that country, to Donaldson & Kirkmichael, Hillsburg, at a good price. He has also sold five registered Berkshire pigs to Thos. Simpson, butcher, of this city.

THE Knights of Labor have leased the old Oddfellows' hall in McQuillan's block and have had it nicely carpeted and seated with new material throughout. It is also lighted with the electric light, and can be claimed as one of the neatest halls in the city.

GUELPH, May 15.

Reid vs. Ross.—Trial of this action was begun on Friday afternoon and was not concluded until Saturday afternoon. It was an action brought by Reid, Goering & Co., wholesale merchants, Hamilton, against Wm. Ross a retired merchant, of Owen Sound, to recover an account of $782 for goods supplied by the plaintiffs' to one Moffett who carried on business as druggist and retail liquor merchant at Owen Sound. The ground upon which the plaintiffs' sought to make the defendant liable was that they had lately discovered as they alleged that Moffett was carrying on the business as agent for the defendant Ross. The defendant on the other hand while admitting that at one time he was the owner of the drug business set up by way of defence that in June last and prior to the time when the plaintiffs supplied Moffett with the goods in question he had ceased to have anything to do with the business carried on by Moffett and Moffett had given the plaintiffs a chattel mortgage upon the contents of the store in Owen Sound to secure the amount of the present claim. Owing to their being a prior mortgage, however, they were unable to realize anything upon it. The Judge submitted three questions in writing to the jury as follows: 1st.—Was the business that of Ross or of Moffett? Answer—Of Ross. 2nd.—If the business was Ross' was Moffett his agent to carry on the same? Answer—Yes. 3rd.—Did the plaintiffs know at the time they supplied the goods that the business belonged to Ross? Answer—No. Upon these answers, which were all in favor of the plaintiffs, His Lordship directed judgment to be entered for them for the full amount of their claim with costs. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., and Mr. Scott, of Hamilton, for the plaintiffs; Mr. Masson, Q.C., of Owen Sound for the defendant.

The following case was transferred to the Toronto Assizes:—

Early vs. Robinson—Action upon a promissory note made in Manitoba, defence on consideration. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., and Mr. Murray, of Brampton, for the plaintiff; Mr. Elliot, of Milton, for defendant.

Imperial Bank vs Howland.—Interpleader case, judgment entered in pursuance of settlement. Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., and Mr. Donaldson, for the plaintiffs; Arnold, Howland & Ryerson, for defendants.

Ross vs Edmunds.—Mr. Jacob for plaintiff, Mr. Muir for defendant.

May 17.

By request of Judge O'Connor, who left to attend other duties, Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., opened the Assizes this morning for the purpose of calling the Jury roll and formally adjourning the court sine die.

THE melodious sound of the bagpipes were heard on the streets to day.

THE Albion hotel is undergoing considerable improvements, A. Bruce & Son has the contract.

MR. H. EMSLIE, flour and feed dealer, it is understood has bought a hotel in St. Catharines and will open out at once.

CADET TRACEY, of the Salvation Army here, farewelled last night. She goes to headquarters.

MR. ALEX. WHITE, for seven years Clerk at the Wellington, left for Philadelphia to-day to occupy a similar position there.

THE Ontario Creamery opened to-day and have five rigs on the routes gathering cream. James Morrison will deliver butter milk to-morrow.

THE Wellington hotel opened to-day under the new management. Two electric lights are being put in, which will add to the many conveniences the house already possesses.

THE City Band on Saturday night played in excellent style several selections from the Mikado. The music was greatly appreciated and the streets in the vicinity of the band stand were thronged with people until they quit at ten o'clock.

ABOUT EGGS.—Mr. Wm. Collier, a veteran soldier, brought a goose egg to the MERCURY office this morning, which he had picked up in his back yard. Inside the outer shell, in the centre of the egg, was another egg about the size of a duck's egg, perfectly formed and surrounded by a thick shell. Mr. Collier says that he has often heard of one fish being found inside another, but this is the first case of one egg being within another which has ever come to his notice.

NEARLY BLINDED.—City Treasurer Harvey met with an accident yesterday. He had just finished putting coal into a coal heater, had shut off the draught and was looking down to see if the coal had commenced to burn, when the pressure of gas burst open the door. The door struck Mr. Harvey on the forehead, and the gas flaming up singed his eye lashes and scorched his face. Fortunately his face was partially protected by the door, or else the occurrence would have been more serious. Mr. Harvey's eyes escaped uninjured.

GALT AND THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.—For some time an agitation has been going on in Galt for some means whereby that town can be satisfactorily lighted. On Saturday evening Messrs. Metcalfe, Gourlay, McAuslan and some three others interested in the matter visited Guelph to inspect the working of the lights here. They were shown the principle of the lights by those in charge and Mr. Spence. The committee expressed themselves as exceedingly well pleased with the lights, and to judge from the expressions made, Galt will soon have the electric light. They were also shown by Ald. Hewer the workings of the fire department, and a "hitch up" was made for their benefit, which was done in a very creditable manner by Driver Hewer.

The Bankruptcy Laws.

LONDON, May 15.—At the special meeting of the Canadian section of the London Chamber of Commerce yesterday, Mr. Darling, President of the Toronto Board of Trade, detailed the progress of the reform of the bankruptcy laws of Canada, and asked the Chamber not to relax its efforts to obtain from all the Legislatures of the Dominion measures similar to that passed by the Ontario Legislature. A resolution in accordance with the request was carried, with a vote of thanks to Mr. Darling.

Prince Albert Colonization Company Scandal.

The Committee on Privileges and Elections have not yet come to a decision in this case, which as our readers know, involves serious charges against Mr. John White of East Hastings, and Mr. Bowell, but especially the former. We have more than once specified in detail the nature of these charges, so that we need not go over them again. The examination of witnesses was concluded last week, when Mr. Edgar, who formulated the charges in Parliament, was allowed to sum up before the committee. This he did in a very effective manner, Mr. Blake himself acknowledging that it was one of the ablest presentations of a case he ever heard. He analyzed the evidence most carefully and pointed out in the clearest and most conclusive manner the nature and extent of the guilt of each of the parties implicated. From his plain speaking it was quite natural that he should rouse the ire of Mr. White, who is very peppery, hot tempered and very abusive in his language when he is attacked. At the meeting on Tuesday, when Mr. Edgar was bringing the charges home to him Mr. White called him more than once "a liar,' and "the biggest skunk in Parliament." Mr. Edgar asked the protection of the Committee from such foul language, and Mr. White's name-sake—the Minister of the Interior—was the only one on the Committee who sought to excuse his conduct. Mr. Edgar very properly declined to give the source of his information in reference to this case, and he did so on the ground that it was privileged, that it was in the public interest, and that he had established his case.

On Wednesday Mr. Davies submitted a report on the case. It was prefaced with a careful digest of the evidence and concludes as follows:

"That in furtherance of their (Jamieson and White's) agreement to promote the interests of the company, the said John White and J. C. Jamieson subsequently obtained for the company an order-in-council for a very favorable exchange of part of their lands for other lands situate on the shore of the South Saskatchewan in what is known as the parish of St. Louis de Lungevin.

"That in 1882 the said John White applied to the Government for another lot of choice lands near Edmonton, in the North west Territories, which he subsequently offered to procure for the paying stockholders of the Prince Albert Colonization company upon the same system of the allowance to him of a profit or blind share for his services.

"That in 1882 Mr. White procured from the Government an agreement for another lot of choice lands in the Northwest Territories in the Shell River Colonization company, but it appears from the evidence that the said John White was a shareholder in this company on the same terms as the other shareholders, and liable to pay the calls made on his shares. That he obtained a loan of $1,600 from the company, upon which he was to pay them interest at the rate of six per cent., of which loan he has repaid nearly one-half. That he has not paid any calls upon his shares in the said company, but it does not appear that he has with that company any agreement to receive any profits or blind shares for his services in procuring the said lot of land.

"That it further appears from the evidence that Mr. Jamieson was not a shareholder in the Shell River Colonization Company."

Mr. McCarthy on behalf of Messrs. Bowell and White also brought in a report, exonerating these gentlemen from all blame in the affair. It sums up as follows:

"That the charge that Mr. White fulfilled the alleged agreement to promote the interests of the Prince Albert Colonization Company, in obtaining from the Government an order-in-council for a favorable exchange, or any change, of part of their land, is wholly unfounded, and was not attempted to be supported before your committee by a tittle of evidence.

"Your committee further find that the said White and Jamieson did not nor did either of them, procure an agreement from the Government of a choice of any description of lands for the Shell River Colonization Company, and the charge in that report was unsupported by any evidence.

"And your committee are of opinion that the charge made against the Honorable Mackenzie Bowell was made without the slightest ground or pretext for preferring it. That it was stated in terms disingenious, misleading and unfair, and regard being had to the full and complete knowledge which Mr. Edgar had of all the circumstances of the case before preferring it, your committee are further of the opinion that the making of so unfounded a charge admits neither of palliation or excuse.

"Your committe beg further to report that no evidence adduced before them disclosed or in any way supported any charges within the competence of your honorable House to deal with nor affecting in any way the honor of the members charged.

"Your committee have been called upon to ascertain, as one of the matters referred to them, whether Mr. Edgar, who made the charges which were referred to your committee, had been, as he alleged, credibly informed of the matters charged by him and had just ground to believe that he could establish the same. Mr. Edgar, although sworn as a witness before your committee, declined to answer certain questions put to him touching this matter, and your committee are unable to find, under the circumstances, that Mr. Edgar had been credibly informed as he alleged, and as to certain of the charges made, more especially that referring to the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, your committee are of opinion that he had no information that could be esteemed credible to warrant a reasonable belief in its truth."

These reports are to be considered by the committee next week. Of course it is a foregone conclusion that the majority will adopt and accept Mr. McCarthy's whitewashing report, even though it is directly in the face of the strong evidence inculpating Mr. White, and indirectly Mr. Bowell through his son-in-law, Mr. Jameson, who figured with Mr. White in the transactions.

A RETURN brought down the other day shows the sums paid to members of the Canadian Parliament for services rendered in connection with the suppression of the Northwest rebellion. The amounts received by members were:—Mr. Bergin, Surgeon-General and M. P. for Cornwall, $1,861; Senator Sullivan, Purveyor-General, 1,502; Dr. Orton, Brigade Surgeon, 488; Lieut.-Col. Williams, $680; Lieut.- Col. O'Brien, $810; Dr. McMillan, Paymaster, $436; Lieut.-Col. Amyot, $826; Lieut.-Col. Ouimet, $845; Lieut.-Col. Tyrwhitt, $696; Lieut.-Col. Scott, $752. It will be observed that Mr. Bergin, who did not take his regiment into the field, and who never left Ottawa, drew over one thousand dollars more than any of the lieutenant-colonels commanding battalions for acting as Surgeon-General.

THE Committee on Banking and Commerce the other day had under consideration a bill respecting Insurance Companies, which is practically a consolidation of the insurance law. The bill provides a change of penalty for doing business on behalf of companies authorized to do business in Canada. The insurance men proposed to prevent any persons doing business with outside companies unless the policies received were registered with the collector of customs and the paying of $2 for every thousand of insurance paid thereon. On behalf of the insurance men it was contended that the manufacturers were protected with such a charge as they proposed. Insurance companies would not be protected, but, being obliged to put up deposits, maintain the insurance department and pay taxes, they would also be placed at a disadvantage.

INDIA must be developing in material wealth if statistics are reliable. Take the postal service for instance. During the past year the number of articles carried increased from 200 millions to 217 millions, while the letters paid in advance increased by 4.34 per cent, and those unpaid decreased by three per cent. When the postal service was first adopted in India the natives did not understand the formality of paying the postage in advance, and hence the reference to paid and unpaid letters. There were 609 new post offices established; three hundred postal savings banks; and an enormous expansion of the money order and registered letter service. In the postal savings banks in the one year the balance on deposit increased by $2,500,000, and the general verdict respecting the extension of the postal service to the natives and to the native territories is, that the natives have shown a greater eagerness to avail themselves of the facilities afforded by the post office and its auxiliary services for doing business, than the department has had capacity to equal in the time.

ONWARD!

MONDAY, May 17th, 1886.

The week before the Queen's Birthday, one year ago, was one of the heaviest in our business for the year. As week after week marks the steady and certain growth of our business, we are determined that this week's operations shall also exceed the very large sales of the corresponding week of last year. There is no reason why it should not. Our Stock is much larger, variety greater, Value, to say the least, fully as good, circle of customers more extensive, and efforts to please even stronger. We are prepared for a heavy demand in our stock. Every department offers special attractions. Our goods are all square, honest value. They stand the test! We offer this week special good value in

MEET ME AT HEPBURN'S

The citizens of Guelph and vicity are now convinced that

W. M. HEPBURN & Co.

Are working for their benefit. They have certainly started out in the business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

CHAPTER XXX.

REUNION.

"It was very unfortunate," went on the rector, "for we were still prevented from gaining any information about her. She made no attempt to tell us even her name. She appeared not to have the slightest recollection of how she came to be here. She showed no curiosity about anything. She lived literally from day to day, fully alive to everything that happened at the moment, but as each day passed it became a blank to her—it was lost she remembered nothing more about it."

"Was there no name on her luggage, had you no clue?" asked Percival, whose interest was now thoroughly roused.

"There was no name on the luggage, no name on the linen, or in the one or two books; only initials."

"What initials?"

"I will tell you presently; just now there are things of more importance. This went on for some months; my wife and I hoped constantly, the doctor gave us every reason to expect that she would completely recover."

"And you kept her all that time? May I ask if she was of gentle birth?"

"She was a gentlewoman, and long before that we had grown so fond of her that it would have been a great trouble to us to part with her."

He was silent again, apparently lost in thought, and Percival looked at him with a new interest. He had never before come across a man who had harbored an utterly unknown young woman in his house for months, and been content to grow fond of her without knowing even her name.

"Is she here now?" he asked.

"She is in the drawing room with my wife."

"Have you never to this day found out who she is?"

"Yes; in time she recovered her memory, and expressed a wish to hear how she came to be in this house with people whom she had never seen before the accident but to whom she had, I believe, become sincerely attached," said Mr. Longworthy with a quiet smile.

"She would have shown a wonderful degree of ingratitude if she had not become attached to them, I should say," returned the younger man. "You will excuse my saying that she might have met with an accident at almost any other railway station in the world without receiving such extraordinary kindness and hospitality."

"I am the clergyman of this place," replied Mr. Longworthy, and having said that he appeared to think he had said all that was necessary.

"The day came, however," he went on, "when she asked my wife to tell her about herself, and my wife, having had her instructions from the doctor, told her everything without reserve. She was very much shocked and upset, but what surprised me more than anything else, when my wife told me about it, was that some allusion having been made to that other accident, she insisted upon hearing all about it. Strange to say, that story seemed to affect her almost more than her own."

"Did she give no reason for that?" asked Percival, who was now listening with the greatest attention, and did not lose a word of the story.

"She said," went on the clergyman, rather slowly, "that having just heard of her own railway accident, as one may say and not being very strong yet, she could not help imagining herself to have been in that other train, and picturing to herself what her horrible fate would have been."

"Was that not rather strange?"

"I thought so; my wife, on the contrary, considered it quite natural, looking at the circumstances under which our friend had come into our house. It was soon explained. On the following day she told us not only her name, but her whole story. It appeared that when she left home she was in that train, intending to go to London, but she changed her mind, and at Dewhurst got into the train that brought her here."

He paused, involuntarily arrested by the look on Percival's face. It was as pale as death, and there was a look almost of entreaty in his eyes. He rose from his chair as he asked—

"Why did you not communicate with her friends, then?"

"Because in the meantime complications had arisen. Her husband, believing her to be dead, had married again; she saw the marriage in a newspaper."

"Her name," said Percival, "what was her name? You do not know what suspicious you are exciting."

"The initials on her luggage were 'H. M.,' and her name she told us was Helen Moore."

He too rose as he spoke, feeling almost alarmed at the change in Percival's face, as he almost stammered—

"What do you mean? That is my wife's name. Is she alive? Is she here?"

"She is alive and she is here in this house."

He thought for a moment that Percival would have fallen; he staggered, his breath came brokenly, he struggled in vain to speak. Then words came.

"Oh, Helen, Helen!" he cried, "what have I done?"

And he sank into his chair and dropped his head into his arms, which lay stretched out upon the table before him.

Mr. Longworthy stepped to the fireplace and rang the bell. When Fanny came she found her master standing in the hall holding the handle of the study door.

"Go into the drawing room as quickly as you can," he said, "and ask Mrs Moore to come here to me at once."

In a moment Helen was with him. He took her hand saying—

"Your husband is here, go in to him. I said I would bring him to you, but," with a smile, "you ran away from him, you know, and it is only fair that you go back to him."

Then he held the door open for her to go in, closed it gently after her and joined his wife in the drawing-room.

"What made you send for Helen?" asked Mrs. Longworthy.

"When it came to the point I found it would be better. He was so overcome, I could not possibly have sent him in here."

"Was he at all angry?"

"Angry? No. I fancy he is more inclined to blame himself than anyone else just now."

"Did you tell him everything?"

"No, only how Helen came to be here. I just mentioned that she knew of his second marriage in order to prepare him. I think she will tell him all that better than I could."

"I am not at all sure of that. They will be in such a state of confusion and questions and answers that anything like a coherent explanation will be impossible."

"Well, they will come to it in time. At present I think they only want one another."

"And you think he seemed entirely glad?"

"Ah, yes, there will be no reconciliation needed. His face and voice were enough to show that he never in his life cared for any other woman."

"It will be an awkward thing breaking it to Alice," said Mrs. Longworthy rather apprehensively.

"Very, unless my theory should turn out to be correct."

"Which theory? I never knew anyone so fond of mysteries."

"My dear Mabel, you made it a reproach only a few days ago that the simplest child could read me like a book. You will very soon find out what my theory is. It is very dreadful to think of losing Helen. She will leave a horrible blank. How shall I get on without my secretary and companion? Don't you think we might have some tea now, Mabel? Not on my account, of course, but I fancy these two would be glad of some."

"Poor old man," said his wife, smiling and patting his arm. "You have waited very patiently. Ring the bell and Fanny shall take it in and go and tell them it is ready."

"Was Helen very nervous?"

"I think she was. Of course she was longing to see him, but I think she was a little afraid of herself."

When Helen had received Mr. Longworthy's summons she had been feeling very nervous, but when the decisive moment came, all her tremors vanished and she felt perfectly calm; she had even smiled in rather a pale fleeting fashion in answer to Mr. Longworthy's jesting little speech about the propriety of her seeking her husband since she had left him.

When the door had closed behind her, she stood for a moment in the middle of the room, unseen and unheard by Percival. The lamp was not lit, but the fire burned brightly, and she was perfectly well able to distinguish her husband sitting in that same attitude of abandonment into which he had fallen on first hearing that she was living and in the same house with himself. She looked at him for a moment with a wonderful expression growing in her face, and at first her lips trembled, so that she could not speak. Then she took a few steps forward, until she was standing almost close to him, and in a low voice she said,

"Percival!"

The sound of her voice, which trembled a little, seemed to arouse him. He looked up and saw her standing beside him. He did not speak all at once and she said no more; they remained so, looking into one another's eyes, for a moment. Then he stretched out his hand towards her saying,

"Helen, it is really you; it is not a dream?"

"It is really I."

"I have so often fancied I had you back again, seen you, spoken to you, almost touched you, but it was always a dream from which I woke up when I tried to touch you. It would not be safe to trifle with me now."

"This time," she said, holding out her hand, "you can really touch me, and let that be a proof I shall not melt away into a dream. Take my hand, Percival."

Their hands met, and then, she knew not how, she was in his arms; he had gathered her close to him, as if he never meant to let her go again; her face, her hands, her hair were covered with his kisses, and all the time he was speaking, half-laughing, half-crying, calling upon her name, calling her all the sweetest names he knew; and she leaned her head against his shoulder, and with closed eyes wondered how she had lived through the past year.

In time they were calmer. They sat down and began to talk, and Percival said—

"Do you know what I have done, Helen? Can you ever forgive me?"

"It is I who need forgiveness, I think," she answered. But I know, Percival; yes, I know. But for that I should have come back months ago."

"But you never doubted me, Helen? You knew all along that I did not care for anyone but you?"

"Yes, I knew, at least I suppose so, but it came so suddenly; it was such a shock, and I was not well. It was all such a puzzle, I did not know what to think. It was not enough to know; and then I thought I was going out of my mind, so that it was better to keep hidden. I cannot explain it to you. To understand what I felt you must have felt as I did, and I hope—I hope—you never may."

"My poor darling," kissing her again, "what you must have suffered and gone through. It makes my heart ache to think of it. But tell me why did you leave home at all?"

"Do you not know? Can you not guess? What made you marry Alice?"

"Because———. You don't mean," he went on after a sudden pause, "that it had begun then?"

"It had begun before we were married. It began long ago, when I was nursing Dr. Hazlitt."

"Good heaven! and I never saw, never even dreamed of such a thing. How blind I was; but how could I imagine such a thing unless I had been the vainest puppy in creation. Why did you not tell me? If you had given me one hint all this might have been prevented."

"How could I, Percival?" she cried in a voice of misery. "You forget how things were. How could I have betrayed her? Was I ever to guess that things would come to such a pass as this? Could I tell that, even if her way was clear, she would——Oh, Percival, do not blame me. I have blamed myself very bitterly, and I had no one to ask for advice, no one to help me. I could only do as I thought best, and I have suffered more then I can tell."

Her voice broke in a sob. Percival looked very white and angry as he answered—

"Blame you? I do not blame you; heaven knows I am in a position to blame nobody, but she was"—clenching his hand while his voice choked with anger. "Whose fault is it all, but hers?" he went on. "She sent you almost to your death; she fooled me and made me believe she loved me. I can never forgive her, never. To-morrow she shall know everything."

"Ah, no," said Helen; "you will not be hard on her; think what her position must be, even if you say no word of blame. Promise me, Percival, that you will not reproach her. Do not think of her; think of the Longworthys and their goodness, their more than goodness. What should I have been without them? In that awful illness, who would have nursed and taken care of me? But for them I must have died."

She won his promise from him, and then they sat talking until Fanny knocked discreetly at the door to tell them tea was ready.

When Percival and Helen came into the dining-room Helen looked as if she had undergone some transformation; never had they seen such a deep, soft color in her cheeks, nor such a happy brilliance in her eyes. She came in, her hand slipped into Percival's arm, and as her eyes met those of Mr. Longworthy, she said—

"There is no need to make you two known, you contrived that without my intervention."

Then she went on, turning to her hostess—

"Here is my husband, Mrs. Longworthy. I have had some difficulty in preventing him from rushing to your feet long ago, but I thought you would prefer a less irregular way of meeting."

Percival and Mrs. Longworthy shook hands, and he said—

"Helen's description is truer than you suppose. I am utterly at a loss to express my gratitude to you."

"You spoke of the doctor, Helen," said Percival at tea. "He must be a splendid fellow. I should like to call on him a little later."

"Will he be at home to-night, do you know?" she asked looking rather beseechingly at the rector.

"I fancy not to-night. I met him riding this afternoon, and he said something about having to go to the next village and not being home till late."

"Riding?" said Percival, "I wonder if I met him this afternoon. Just after I had left the station I met a man on horseback, and he directed me to your house. What does your doctor look like?"

The rector described him.

"Yes," said Percival, "that was the man. I noticed him, because after answering my questions in the shortest possible way he asked my name. On hearing it he looked, I thought, even sourer than before."

Helen said nothing. Mr. Longworthy observed,

"He is a very taciturn fellow."

And Mrs. Longworthy said—

"I hope you are not obliged to leave us to-night, Mr. Moore."

"Not if you will be kind enough to keep me. But—in that case I must send a telegram," he finished slowly, the expression of his face changing a little, while his own careless words, spoken to Alice only a few hours before, shot through his mind, "If I find I cannot get back to-night I will wire."

"Remote though Miller's Gate is," said Mr. Longworthy, "a few of the results of civilization have penetrated to us. If, after tea, you will write out a telegram, it shall be taken to the post office."

After tea Percival was provided with writing materials, and he wrote a few words which he showed to Helen, saying,

"Will that do?"

They were as follows:

"I am kept here all night by business. Shall be home to-morrow night, when I will explain."

"You cannot say more in a telegram," she said, "and everything must be explained personally."

"I wish I knew how she will take it. Her manner has been so strange lately, I should be prepared for almost anything."

Notices of motion have been given in the Manitoba Legislature for an address to the Governor-General praying that a more suitable vessel than the "Alert" be used for the next exploring expedition to Hudson Bay, and for the appointment of a select committee to consider the Hudson Bay railway.

Salt at Wingham.

WINGHAM, May 14.—The Wingham salt well has proved a decided success. About a year ago the citizens put down a test well to a depth of 1,475 feet and got brine, but not of sufficient quantity and strength to warrrnt its operation. They then removed about a mile south and at the depth of 1,100 feet struck salt, which has been penetrated to the depth of thirty feet and the drill is still working. From present indications it will be one of the best wells in the province, as there are no injurious substances overlying thebed.

The efforts of the people of Wingham to find salt have been the resnlt of their negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to extend their line to Wingham, one of the conditions being the establishment of salt works, there being no salt on the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway or any of its branches. One of the main obstructions being removed, the speedy extension of the railway to Wingham is expected.

Rabies in Milk.

A Little Rock (Ark.) despatch says: A milch cow, belonging to a farmer named Hall, living near the city, was bitten by a mad dog last week. She showed no signs of being affected by the wound, and it was thought all danger was past until two days ago, when she began to show signs of hydrophobia. At the same time the farmer's two children, who had drunk of her milk, exhibited similar symptoms, and are suffering great agony. Other members of the family are also ill, but not so alarmingly as the children.

A Correction.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—In your report of the Scott Act Association meeting, held last Friday in the Paisley street Methodist church, I am made to say what I could not possibly say, viz: "that it is sometimes necessary to do evil that good might come from it." Will you please allow me to say that I never propounded such a false doctrine. What I did say, in this connection, was that since the recent Scott Act prosecutions many made use of the words, "You must not do evil that good may come from it," as being applicable to these prosecutions. In meeting this objection I said that it was taking too much for granted to apply the expression to these cases. It was taking for granted that the method adopted by the Chief of Police was an evil one. But that it was so must first be proved. I, in common with many others, contended that in view of the good intention of the Chief, as well as of the extreme necessities of the case, the method adopted was both morally justifiable and legally allowable

By allowing me to make this correction you will much oblige,

Yours truly,
DUNCAN MCGREGOR

About a License.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—I beg leave to correct your Elora correspondent in last week's MERCURY, he stating that I, as one of the three vendors of pills, &c., was unfortunate in not getting the coveted liquor license. I repudiate all and every connection with such license, as I never made application for the same, nor never intended to do so. Your versatile and valorous correspondent, notwithstanding, was right in inferring my Tory proclivities, as I have been always a Conservative, and will likely remain so. He might have added in his little notice concerning the license that "Blood is thicker than water." Our villagers will thoroughly understand the inference, as I have no doubt the Commissioner will too. Please excuse my encroaching on your valuable space.

Yours respectfully,
J. H. MORROW.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address DR. H. G. ROOT,

Branch Office, 37 Yonge St., Toronto.

He has removed to Dr. Cowan' buildings adjoining McConnell's carriage works, and is better prepared than ever to execute all orders entrusted to him. Come along boys. D SPRAGGE.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give express and P. O. address.

Auction Sale of Valuable Property.

W. S. G. KNOWLES has been instructed to sell by Public Auction, on the grounds on Saturday, 29th May, at one o'clock, that valuable property known as part of the Mickle Estate, on Crimea street, near the Western Station, in the City of Guelph, comprising about five acres of land, two of which are laid out in grounds, and on which is erected a large and substantial stone residence, containing fifteen rooms, heated by hot air furnace; hard and soft water, with good drainage. Also excellent stable, carriage house, driving sheds, stone fowl house, and other buildings. The above property comprises about 17 lots. On two of the lots houses are erected and constantly rented, which will be sold separately if required.

Also at the same time a desirable residence on the corner of Clinton and Gladwin streets, in a beautiful locality. This house is nearly new, two storeys, well built, and contains nine commodious rooms, good water and perfect drainage. Terms easy and made known on day of sale. Apply to J. A. MORRISON V. SWEETNAM.—This case came before Justice O'Connor on Saturday. An action for $600 damages by Mrs. Rebecca Morrison, of Arthur Township, against Frank Sweetnam, of Guelph, for two wrongful seizures of the plaintiff's goods under executions against her husband. At the close of plaintiff's case the learned Judge held that there was no evidence of authority by defendant to the Sheriff to make the seizures, and that on the plaintiff's admissions in cross-examination, no actionable damage as against the defendant had been sustained by her and he therefore non-suited the plaintiff with costs. Wm. Kingston for plaintiff, J. L. Murphy for defendant.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.—A meeting was held in the vestry of St. George's Church last evening for the purpose of organizing a Young Men's Bible Class. The Rev. Mr. Harvey explained the mode in which similar classes had been conducted elsewhere with great success. The following officers were elected:—President, Rev. Mr. Harvey; Vice-President, W. G. W. Garnham; Secretary-Treasurer, A. Thompson; Organist, Gilbert Jackson. A Committee of Management was appointed. The next meeting will be held on Friday evening in the vestry when a draft constitution will be submitted and rules adopted for the guidance of the class. Those present evinced great interest in the proceedings and seemed determined to do their best for the success of the undertaking.

THE Woodstock Standard has the following in reference to the death of Mrs. Parker of that town, daughter of the Rev. Wm. Savage, of Guelph: The many friends of Mrs. Parker will regret to hear of her sudden death yesterday (Thursday) afternoon. She was considered out of danger, and the doctor had said that he did not think it necessary to continue his visits any longer, when she suddenly suffered a relapse and died shortly after.

A FAST TRAIN.—The fast newspaper train from New York to Buffalo Saturday completed the distance of 450½ miles in 9 hours and 20 minutes, eclipsing all previous records of fast time, its own schedule by six minutes, and the time of the fast mail, and overhauled at Buffalo an express train which had the start of it by nearly six hours. The New York Sunday papers were in Buffalo at noon yesterday.

DIED IN IRELAND.—Our obituary column to-day contains the announcement of the death of Mr. John Thorp, of Detroit, Michigan, who was a resident of Guelph for about 40 years previous to his removal in 1866. He was the eldest son of the late John Thorp and the only surviving brother of Mr. James A. Thorp, of this city. He had gone on a visit to his native land and was suddenly stricken down by paralysis while in the city of Dublin. He leaves a grown up family of seven to mourn his loss. His wife who accompanied him will have to make the return voyage alone.

INJURED BY A RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—Word has been received by Mrs. Tawse that her son Edwin received serious injuries in a railway accident near London, about the end of April, whereby it was necessary to amputate a portion of the leg. A cablegram was received the other day that there were slight hopes of his recovery. Edwin had just returned from India, where he had been for a short time.

FOR THE OLD COUNTRY.—Now that the balmy days of summer are at hand the usual amount of tourists from Guelph and neighborhood are leaving or making preparations to leave for a short trip to the Old Country. To-morrow Mr. Geo. Bond departs partly on a pleasure trip and to transact business for the hardware firm of Messrs. John M. Bond & Co. He will sail from New York on Saturday by the Cunard steamer Etruria. Mr. Charles Howitt, banker, of this city takes passage by the same vessel.

THE WAY IT IS DONE IN VIRGINIA.—The New York Tribune says:—"In West Virginia the pocket-flask is called a "tickler," and every farmer has one. In some country stores a stout linen cord may be seen hanging from the ceiling to the floor. The purchaser, slipping a quarter of a dollar into the split cork of his "tickler," ties the empty bottle to the string and walks out of the place. As soon as the coast is clear the "tickler" is rapidly drawn up, passed through a small trap in the ceiling, filled and returned. The purchaser enters, unties his precious bottle, and concealing it in his pockets, rides away to enjoy his toddy in solitude and peace." In Guelph, it is the fashion for a party to go into the hotel and call for his valise.

NEARLY DROWNED.—Last evening about six o'clock John Walker, a six year old son of Mr. James Walker, miller at Presant Bros., had a narrow escape from drowning. The lad essayed to cross the Speed a little below the foot bridge. The stream is wide here and probably not over a foot and a half deep. When nearly half way over, the current, the river being swollen from the recent rains, swept him off his feet and he was carried along with it. A number of his playfellows witnessed the occurrence, and ran to the residence of Mr. Wm. Ward near by. Fortunately that gentleman was at home and immediately ran to the rescue. He caught up to the boy about 200 yards from where he attempted to cross, and just when he was being carried into deep water. The youth was little the worse of his ducking, but had Mr. Ward been a few seconds later in coming to his assistance he would undoubtedly have been drowned.

DASTARDLY CONDUCT.—On Thursday evening, the 13th instant, Mr. Samuel Jackson, who lives on lot 18, 4th concession, Puslinch, sustained considerable loss to property through the machination of some rowdies, who apparently have some spite against him. They took one of the wheels from his seed drill and put it on the cow stable; took a wheel from a gang plow and threw it under a fanning mill near the barn; tore the platform the pump; pulled out the pump and carried it some 15 rods away and threw it into a swamp near by, and carried away an ox yoke and left it on the other side of the line fence some 20 rods distant. This is the third time that depredations of a similar nature have been committed on Mr. Jackson, and for what reason he cannot tell. The parties who are implicated in the affair had better take heed to what they are about. Should these goings on be ventilated before the Police Magistrate they are sure to get such a dose of justice as will make them think twice before they commit such another outrage.

ASSAULT CASE.—His Honor Judge Drew was engaged the greater part of yesterday forenoon in trying a case of aggravated assault, resulting in bodily harm, preferred by Mr. McDougall, a farmer of Guelph Township, against Mr. Robert McKersie, of the same place. The evidence showed that the two men met on the road near Mr. Parsons; that an altercation took place that McKersie struck McDougall with a stick, then choked him, inserted his finger under McDougall's eyelid and injured his eye. McDougall exhibited his hand, which was broken up considerably and claimed he had been unable to work since the assault. His statement was partly corroborated by Mrs. Cupmyer, a lady who happened to be passing at the time of the assault. It came out in cross-examination that McDougall prior to the assault had accused McKersie of being a thief, and charged him with keeping a house of bad reputation, which could not be sustained in evidence. This being a criminal offence the prisoner could not be called, but Judge Drew allowed him to make his statements. Mr. Field for the defence dwelt strongly on the provocation, claiming that a man who would not strike another under such accusations would not be a man. His Honor said the palliating circumstances were very strong, and though he could not on the evidence hold that no assault had been committed he would allow them so, far to weigh with him that he would inflict almost the slightest penalty he could, He fined the defendant $5 without costs, and said if McKersie had stopped when he knocked McDougall down he would have dismissed the case. He also cautioned McDougall against using such language, and bound defendant over to keep the peace for the future. Mr. H. W. Peterson conducted the case for the Crown.

A CLOSE GAME.

The Leafs Defeat the Guelphs By Six to Five.

The game between the Maple Leafs and Guelphs yesterday afternoon drew out a small number of spectators, partly owing, no doubt, to the cool weather, which rendered sitting in the open air anything but pleasant. The Leafs lent the Guelphs a strong battery in Zell and Dillon, and the first named with Brown were the only players on the Guelph side not included in last year's semi-professional team.

It was half-past three when Capt. Millar, of the Leafs, borrowed a quarter with which to toss, and having won sent his men to the field. From the commencement the game was one of much interest, a triple play characterizing the first innings. Beicker and Dyson had got their bases, when Dillon fled to Williams, who made an elegant catch in left field. The ball was passed to 3rd before Beicker could return to that bag, and then to 2nd prior to Dyson's return there. In their first innings the Leafs did nothing.

In the second innings Zell scored for the Guelph's on a very close decision, the ball being fumbled in the field. Again the Leafs did nothing.

Guelph did likewise in their third, and so did the Leafs, but in this innings Williams made a fine two-bagger and E. Hewer a very pretty catch in left field off George's hit.

In the fifth Tommy Roosterman showed his old time proclivities by making a two-bagger, which sent J. Hewer home. The score now stood 2 to 0 in favor of the players of '85, and Maple Leaf stock looked blue. This was only a very temporary state of affairs. The Leafs at this period commenced to do some batting, which, together with errors on the other side, enabled them to tie the score. Beautiful hits by Purvis and Williams had something to do with bringing about this result.

So the 6th innings opened 2 to 2, but before its close the Leafs had reversed the former order of things by scoring a third run. This was made by Buckenberger, partly through his own hit and partly through errors of the fielders. He scored on as close a decision as Zell did in the 2nd innings for the Guelphs, and the sides were quits on that matter.

No change took place in the 7th, but in the next the Guelphs managed to get even once more, when Brown crossed the home plate on a base hit by Beicker. Brown's own hit for a bag and this crowning feat made him the hero of the hour. Beyond a couple of nice hits by Campau and Purvis, the only characterizing feature of the second half of this innings was a sharp double play by Cockman, Brown and Atkinson. The Leafs retired for nothing.

Excitement ran high in the 9th, and it was intensified when Atkinson and J. Hewer scored, the first on Purvis' error and the second on Stephen's wild pitch. It was then that things did look gloomy for the Leafs. But they were equal to the occasion. Millar having flied to second, Williams took the bat with resolution fixed upon his face, and upheld his record throughout the game by making another two bagger. He scored on an overthrow by Purvis and came home on a passed ball. It looked as though the Leafs wouldn't get in the essential runs to make a tie when Stephens retired on a fly to centre. But it is a good thing to understand right here that a side is never out until the last man in the last innings falls a victim, and that many a game is won and lost after two men are out on the 9th innings. This game furnishes an example. George took his base on balls, 2nd on an overthrow by Purvis and 3rd and home on passed balls.

The score was once more a tie and a tenth innings was necessary. In it the Guelphs did not score and the Leafs did and thus the game stood in their favor 6 to 5. Following is the analysis:

NOTES.

From the play of yesterday it is evident that no club in Canada can produce two such strong teams as Guelph.

Captain Millar kept his men down to their work.

The Londons play here on the 24th.

Sheiback and Mullholland did not make very brilliant play. They have been sick since their arrival.

Zell and Dillion played a fine game throughout.

Toronto defeated Buffalo 10 to 5 yesterday.

In an interview in London Beach said, "Hanlan is a very fair oarsman."

LACROSSE.

A meeting of those interested in forming a lacrosse club was held last night. There was a good attendance, and the following officers were elected: President, J. Davidson; Vice-President, H. Barry; Captain, W. Brasby; Secretary-Treas., D. Pirritte. Committee—H. Precious, G. Galbraith, J. Greenshields and H. Warner. It was afterwards decided to call the club the Crescent Lacrosse Club.

SELECT KNIGHTS A.O.U.W.

Fourth Annual Conclave of the Ontario Grand Legion

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The fourth annual Conclave of the Ontario Grand Legion, S.K., A.O.U.W., met to-day at ten a.m. in this city. The Select Knights are an auxiliary degree to the Ancient Order of United Workmen, none being admitted to its ranks except master degree members of the United Workmen. This latter society is very often confounded with labour organizations, but it has no connection at all with such. It is a purely beneficiary society, requiring from its members only physical and moral worth, and a belief in the Supreme Being. Since its institution in 1868 the A.O.U.W. has paid to its beneficiaries over $14,000,000, and its membership is now about 160,000, of whom over 11,000 are in this Province.

The Order of Select Knights was originated in Buffalo, N. Y., and is composed of a Supreme Legion and eight Grand Legions, with a total membership over 12,000. The Select Knights is a uniformed organization and bear the same relation to the A.O.U.W. that the Knights Templars do to Freemasonry. They have two beneficary departments—one Grand Beneficiary for $2,000 also co-extensive with the Grand jurisdiction, and a Supreme Beneficiary for $2,000 also co-extensive with the United States and Canada, making the whole amount that a Select Knight can have, including the A. O.U.W. beneficiary $6,000—fully as much insurance as many men desire to carry. The Supreme Legion was organized in 1881, and the Grand Legion of this Province was formed in 1883. The first session was held in St. Catharines, the second in Hamilton, the third in Toronto last year. Over 100 representatives, Grand Officers and members of committees, are assembled for the annual deliberation.

About 5.30 Wellington Legion, headed by the City Band, proceeded to the G. W. station, and received the Supreme Commander, Grand Commander, and Grand Officers. A guard of honor was formed, and on the arrival of the train the officers were escorted through the ranks of the Knights who were drawn up in two lines, and as they passed through the Knights came to the "present." The procession was re-formed and the Grand body escorted to the city.

CONCERT.

Last evening the concert under the auspices of the S.K. of A.O.U.W. in the City hall was a grand success. The hall being well filled at 7:30, Wellington Legion No. 18 met at their hall and marched to the Wellington Hotel where Supreme Commander Hon. George W. Reed and a number of the Grand Officers were quartered and headed by the City Band escorted them to the City Hall where the following address to Grand Commander Leubsdorf was delivered by Commander Smith, Commander of Wellington Legion:

On behalf of Wellington Legion Select Knights and Royal and Guelph Lodges of A. O. U. W. we take this public occasion of extending to all the Select Knight visitors here present a hearty welcome to our Royal City. We have the extreme pleasure afforded us this evening of the presence of Supreme Commander Geo. W. Reed, of the Supreme Legion of the United States. Supreme Commander. We feel highly flattered that you have honored the City of Guelph with this your first official visit to the Dominion of Canada, and anticipate incalculable profit as subordinate members, from the instruction we may receive from one who has reached the highest position attainable in our noble Order, and although what we can offer you in the way of making your visit here as pleasant as possible may be small return for the benefits we shall receive, we know that as a true Knight your reward will be in the consciousness of a good deed performed. We hope that you and other officers of the Supreme Legion may find it practicable to make frequent visits to our Canadian Legions, and we have no doubt good results will follow. Grand Commander Leubsdorf, of the Grand Legion of Ontario, you have on several occasions honored us with your presence, and in welcoming you once more we take pleasure in expressing our appreciation of the great interest you have at all times exhibited in the welfare of the Order in your jurisdiction, and to your zeal and untiring efforts we attribute the success of the institution of the Order of Select Knights in this Province. We have looked forward with pleasurable expectancy to this visit of yourself and the Grand Legion, and hope that the happy results that have attended the meeting of the Grand Legion in other places will follow your visit here, and that in the near future the Grand Legion will again see fit to honor the city with its presence.

A. SMITH, W. L. Select Com.
E. CUNNINGHAM, M. W. Royal Lodge.
GEO. SELWOOD, M. W. Guelph Lodge.

Grand Commander Leubsdorf replied and thanked the S. K. and A. O. U. W. lodges for their kindly feeling to him. During the course of his remarks he paid a fitting tribute to Com. Fairley, late Recorder of Wellington Legion, and regretted the loss that the fraternity had met with, not only in Wellington Legion, but also in the Grand Legion. After the reply the programme opened with a quartette by the Littlehales firmly of Hamilton, which gave great satisfaction. They were deservedly encored in all their performances. Mr. George Thomas in his ballads showed a great improvement over that of his previous efforts. He was also deservedly encored. Mrs. Whitehead was in excellent voice and her rendering of the solos allotted her exhibited great taste. On both occasions she was loudly encored. Maggie Philp sang "Ah, So True," with violin obligato, and scored a success. Between the first and second parts of the programme Hon. George W. Reed Supreme Commander, of Topeka, Kansas, delivered an excellent address on the aims and workings of the order, and also of its growth throughout the United States and the Dominion of Canada. His address was excellent and was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience. The singing of "God save the Queen" brought the evening's entertainment to a close.

The st

stage decorations were the finest that have been seen for some time.

Tuesday, May 18th.

After the credentials of the delegates had been examined the work of the meeting was taken up. The addresses of the Grand Commander, Grand Secretary, Treasurer and Medical Examiner were read and all spoke well of the growth of the Order and paid a high compliment to the different Legions for the interest they have taken in their respective districts. After the hearing of appeals and other work connected with the workings of the order the following officers were elected for the year:—

Com. Stevenson, G. C.
" Porte, G. V. C.
" Lewis, G. L. C.
" Leubsdorf, G. R.
" Wright, G. T.
" Wills, G. S. B.
" Delaronde, G. S. W.
" Trenton, G. J. W.
" Rodgers, G. G.
" Dr. King, G. Med. Ex.
" Thompson, Grand Trustee.

Supreme Commander, Hon. Geo. W. Reed, of Kansas, occupied the chair and installed the officers. The session then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

The Evening Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G MAY 18, 1886

DUNDAS Banner:—The London Free Press devotes a quarter of a column to an impassioned appeal to "save the old bones." No doubt the Free Press recognizes, although late in the day that the fat of this land has been wilfully wasted by the Government it supports and that soon there will be nothing but the old bones of our Dominion to save.

GENERAL Manager Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has announced his intention of inviting the members of the Dominion Parliament to an excursion over the road to Vancouver. The trip from Montreal to Vancouver will, it is stated, be accomplished in ninety hours. Members who may not find it convenient to join in it at the date fixed will be allowed the privilege of crossing the continent at any other time that suits them. The journey will be made as pleasant as possible, the intention being to have attached to each train elegant new palace hotel and restaurant cars.

ANOTHER American fishing schooner has been seized by the Canadian authorities for purchasing bait and neglecting to enter or clear at the Customs House at Englishtown, Cape Breton. The name of the boat is the "Ella M. Doughty," and her captain admits purchasing bait. He seems careless about the seizure, saying he will look to the American Government for protection. The vessel had the usual permit from the American customs officer at Portland, Me., to touch and trade at all Canadian ports. The outfitters, Sargent, Lord & Skillen, have sent a message to the American Secretary of State apprising him of the seizure. A telegram has also been sent to Senator Frye calling his attention to the matter. There is considerable excitement over the seizure and the Portland Fishery Exchange will, as a body, take action in regard thereto.

IT is unfortunate that the Toronto street railway employees returned to work after their first strike with the misunderstanding that the Company had agreed to allow them to form a labor organization. It would have been better if the matter had been decided finally then, instead of being renewed now. There is no doubt whatever about the rights of men to unite for their own protection and interest. Of course the Company are not obliged to employ union men, but their refusal to do so alienates from them in a great degree the moral sympathy and support of the public. Hence the strikers are receiving a good patronage for their opposition line of busses and are being well sustained in the way of contributions with which to carry on the fight. They are to be commended for the manner in which they have gone to work to carry their point, especially for their abstention from any show of violence towards the men or property of the Company.

The Street Car Strike.

TORONTO, May 18.—The busses of the strikers continue to do a good business. The street cars ran till 9.45 last night. The windows of a Sherbourne street car were smashed. This was the work of boys; the strikers being in no way responsible. About nine o'clock, as a Queen st. car was proceeding westward, a stone was thrown through the window, and a woman struck on the face, sustaining a slight cut. This is also said to be the work of boys. A number of railroad torpedoes were placed on the track at different points. These minature bombs exploded with a loud noise, and in some cases greatly frightened the passengers. There is no visible sign of weakening on either side.

Suspected Murder.

QUEBEC, May 17.—Mrs Telsphore Charland, of Levis, was found dead yesterday evening. It is believed that a frightful tragedy has been enacted. The deceased was cut in several places and she had the appearance of having been brutally and foully murdered. The husband, Theo. Charland, who was the only person in the house at the time, has been arrested on suspicion. He states that he went to sleep after dinner and upon awakening found his wife prostrated on the floor, and upon examination found her to be dead.

New Methodist Church.

MITCHELL, Ont., May 17.—The corner stone of the new Main street Methodist church was laid at 2.30 p. m. to-day, by Mr Warring Kennedy, of Toronto. The service was conducted by Rev. W. C. Henderson, M. A., of St. Mary's. Addresses were delivered by Mr Kennedy and Rev. W. S. Pascoe, of Exeter.

CITY COUNCIL.

Passage of a Number of By-Laws.

The Council met Monday evening. Present, Mayor Stevenson in the chair, Ald. Lamprey, Keough, Hewer, W. Carter, Hearn, Smith, Jos. Carter, Read, Raymond, Coffee, Cutten, Maddock, Bruce, Hamilton, Skinner.]

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Board of Education, asking that special constables be appointed to act on the 24th of May at the celebration by Capt. Clarke and the school children.

From Reuben Tovell, asking to have the drain in front of his residence on Yarmouth street repaired, as owing to its bad state his cellar had become flooded.

From the lessees of the butcher stalls in the market, asking that they be supplied with city water.

From Wm. Hayden, proprietor of the Royal billiard parlor, asking that his license be reduced and that he be permitted to keep his parlor open till eleven o'clock on Saturday night, the reason for closing at seven not now existing since the passage of the Scott Act.

Several accounts were read, and with the above communications referred to the proper committees.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. Carter, that the by-law providing for the erection of poles for electric lighting purposes on the streets by the Guelph Gas Company be read a third time.

Ald. Hearn asked if it was intended to bring in the by-law for the Ball Company to-night.

Ald. Coffee replied that it was.

The motion carried and the by-law was read accordingly.

WATER WORKS.

Ald. Bruce, chairman, reported:—We recommend the acceptance of Kloepfer & Richardson's tender for coal, 400 tons at $4.70 per ton; that the request of Dr. Lett be granted for a hydrant on Delhi street placed between Thomas Goldie's property and the Homewood Retreat. We would recommend the payment of the accounts of L. B. Montgomery $9, and Kloepfer & Richardson, coal, $259.60. We have paid out to the 30th April, $1733.14; collected to the 30th of April, by treasurer's book, $3,294.32. Yet to the credit of committee $4,966.86. Your committee would further recommend the payment of $22 to Wm. Fletcher for damage done to his horse and harness by falling into a water works trench on Douglas street The report was adopted.

RELIEF.

Ald. Smith, chairman, reported, recommending the payment of the following accounts:—W. S. G. Knowles, $6.13; H. Walker & Son, $2.75; H. Loch, $4; Dr. McPhatter, $5; A. Waters, $2; McCandless & McQueen, $2.75—$22.78. It was shown that during the last month the committee had expended in relief the sum of $68.40. The balance to the credit of the committee is $498.59.

BY-LAWS INTRODUCED.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. Lamprey, that leave be granted to read a by-law with reference to the use of Electric Light by the Ball Electric Light Co. (Limited) a first and second time. Carried.

The by-law was then read.

A by-law for raising by special rate money for street watering purposes was also introduced and read a first and second time.

A by-law for the remuneration of officers was also put through its first stages.

The blanks in the by-law having reference to the salaries of city officials were filled up as follows:—Clerk, $800; Treasurer, $800; Chief of Police, $800; Police Court Clerk, $300; Sergt. Dooley, $550; Constable Hammond, $500; Constable Flowers, $500; Clerk of the Market, $500; Chief Engineer of the Water Works, $650; Second Engineer, $495; Third Engineer, $495; Assessor, $450; Auditors, $60 each; Returning Officers, $4 a day; Collector of Taxes, $500; Caretaker of City Hall, $365; Sanitary Inspector and Relieving Officer, $500; Caretaker of Parks, $365; Selectors of Jurors, $4; Medical and Statistical Officer, $1.

A by-law to propose and levy rates for the year 1886 was given a first and second reading.

A by-law to provide for the collection of taxes for the year 1886 was also read.

The electric light by-law; the by-law for remuneration of officers, and that for street watering were passed through Committee of the Whole and then read a third time and passed.

LIGHTING THE STREETS.

Moved by Ald Cutten, seconded by Ald. Raymond that the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, together with Ald Bruce, be a Special Committee to inquire into the feasibility of the City of Guelph acquiring, establishing and operating electric light works within the city for the purpose of lighting the streets of the city and for other purposes. Carried.

ENFORCING THE SCOTT ACT.

Ald. Raymond moved, duly seconded, that the By-law Committee be instructed to prepare a by law in accordance with the 14th section of the Ontario Act, 44 Vic. Chap. 27, for the purpose of more efficiently carrying out and enforcing the provisions of the second part of the Temperance Act of 1878.

Ald. Hearn asked what the expenses were likely to be.

Ald. Cutten said there was lots of time to consider this matter yet.

Ald. Raymond read the section of the Act, and remarked that the design was that if it were found necessary to have more power to enforce the Act that it should be available. He did not think that more assistance would be necessary, yet it was well to be prepared.

Ald. Chadwick remarked that the Act said that the Council may do so and so, but that was no reason why they should do it. It was time enough to bring this up when the police were found insufficient. He considered the police were sufficient. By appointing men now it was throwing a stigma on the city.

Ald. Bruce remarked that one ounce of prevention was worth a pound of cure. It was well to be prepared. In doing this the Council were only doing their duty.

Ald. Smith could not see what harm it would do to pass the by-law. It would give strength to the police and the Police Committee. He did not see why Ald. Chadwick objected. It seemed as if he were desirous of preventing law and order instead of assisting in keeping it. When the by-law came in it would be time enough to discuss the question.

Ald. Coffee objected to giving the people's money towards carrying out the Scott Act. He saw no reason why this by-law should be passed. There were sufficient officers now to enforce the law if the people were at their back. He considered that notice of motion should be given to the resolution.

Ald. Raymond remarked that the design was that if the police force needed help they should have it.

Some further discussion took place when the Mayor held that it was necessary to give notice of motion, which Ald. Raymond did.

CONSOLIDATED BY-LAWS.

Ald. Read asked why the by-laws consolidated by the Council of 1885 had not yet been printed. He pointed out the inconvenience experienced on account of them not being printed.

Ald. Coffee replied that the co-operation of the City Solicitor would be required in preparing the by-laws for publication.

THE RAILWAY.

Ald. Maddock asked if there was anything new about the C.P.R. connection.

Ald. Chadwick replied in the negative, and said the committee were patiently awaiting the pleasure of the railway officials to pay their promised visit. They could do nothing but write an occasional letter to them. The charter had been extended and possessed advantages to the city which it did not formerly.

Ald. Carter asked about the underground crossing on Metcalfe street, and was told that nothing had yet been done.

The Council adjourned at 9.40.

American.

The United States wheat crop promises well.

An estimate places the loss by the Ohio storms at $2,000,000.

Admirable Results In Fevers.

Dr. J. J. Ryan, St. Louis, Mo., says; "I invariably prescribe it in fevers; also in convalescence from wasting and debilitating diseases, with admirable results. I also find it a tonic to an enfeebled condition of the genital organs."

A Lively Time in the Senate.

OTTAWA, May 14.—There was a lively time in the Senate to day, when Mr O'Donohoe moved for a copy of the patent of his appointment to the Privy Council, and a copy of the letter of Sir John Macdonald to Archbishop Lynch and other Roman Catholic bishops in reference to the appointment. In support of his motion Senator O Donohoe broke entirely loose from his Conservative allegiance and attacked the Government in the most violent manner. He charged Sir John's Government with being about the most corrupt on earth, and Sir John himself with having played false to him. Frank Smith replied for the Government, and related the circumstances connected with his appointment to the Government, and Mr. O'Donohoe's name being mentioned in connection with it. The reason for Mr. O'Donohoe not having been given a seat in the Cabinet was that when his name was mentioned he was objected to by a large number of Conservative Catholics and Orangemen, and his name had to be withdrawn. Senator Smith defended the Government from the charge of corruption and attacked Mr. O'Donohoe in a lively manner. The debate was adjourned until Monday. The Senate Chamber was filled with spectators while the fight was going on.

The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. These parties should be present to-night.

FINE HORSE.—Mr. Donald Duff, Everton, arrived yesterday from the Old Country with the Clydesdale stallion "Lyon Chief," purchased by Mr. John Duff, while in Scotland recently. This horse was not shipped with the others. "Lyon Chief" (3812) is a bay and is considered one of the finest horses that has ever been brought to this section. He is only two years and ten months old. He was bred by Mr. R. McEwen, Hall of Aberuthven, Auchterarder, Perthshire, Scotland. This horse will accompany "Reform," the other recently imported horse, on his route. Reliable Judges agree that the three horses recently imported by Mr. Duff are the best that have yet come into this section.

MEET ME AT HEPBURN'S

The citizens of Guelph and vicity are now convinced that

W. M. HEPBURN & Co.

Are working for their benefit. They have certainly started out in the business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

BOOTS AND SHOE

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

stage decorations were the finest that have been seen for some time.

Tuesday, May 18th.

After the credentials of the delegates had been examined the work of the meeting was taken up. The addresses of the Grand Commander, Grand Secretary, Treasurer and Medical Examiner were read and all spoke well of the growth of the Order and paid a high compliment to the different Legions for the interest they have taken in their respective districts. After the hearing of appeals and other work connected with the workings of the order the following officers were elected for the year:—

Com. Stevenson, G. C.
" Forte, G. V. C.
" Lewis, G. L. C.
" Leubsdorf, G. R.
" Wright, G. T.
" Willis, G. S. B.
" Delaronde, G. S. W.
" Trenton, G. J. W.
" Rodgers, G. G.
" Dr. King, G. Med. Ex.
" Thompson, Grand Trustee.

Supreme Commander, Hon. Geo. W. Reed, of Kansas, occupied the chair and installed the officers. The session then adjourned till 2 o'clock.

The Evening Mercury

TUESDAY EVE'G MAY 18, 1886

DUNDAS Banner:—The London Free Press devotes a quarter of a column to an impassioned appeal to "save the old bones." No doubt the Free Press recognizes, although late in the day that the fat of this land has been wilfully wasted by the Government it supports and that soon there will be nothing but the old bones of our Dominion to save.

GENERAL Manager Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has announced his intention of inviting the members of the Dominion Parliament to an excursion over the road to Vancouver. The trip from Montreal to Vancouver will, it is stated, be accomplished in ninety hours. Members who may not find it convenient to join in it at the date fixed will be allowed the privilege of crossing the continent at any other time that suits them. The journey will be made as pleasant as possible, the intention being to have attached to each train elegant new palace hotel and restaurant cars.

ANOTHER American fishing schooner has been seized by the Canadian authorities for purchasing bait and neglecting to enter or clear at the Customs House at Englishtown, Cape Breton. The name of the boat is the "Ella M. Doughty," and her captain admits purchasing bait. He seems careless about the seizure, saying he will look to the American Government for protection. The vessel had the usual permit from the American customs officer at Portland, Me., to touch and trade at all Canadian ports. The outfitters, Sargent, Lord & Skillen, have sent a message to the American Secretary of State apprising him of the seizure. A telegram has also been sent to Senator Frye calling his attention to the matter. There is considerable excitement over the seizure and the Portland Fishery Exchange will, as a body, take action in regard thereto.

IT is unfortunate that the Toronto street railway employees returned to work after their first strike with the misunderstanding that the Company had agreed to allow them to form a labor organization. It would have been better if the matter had been decided finally then, instead of being renewed now. There is no doubt whatever about the rights of men to unite for their own protection and interest. Of course the Company are not obliged to employ union men, but their refusal to do so alienates from them in a great degree the moral sympathy and support of the public. Hence the strikers are receiving a good patronage for their opposition line of busses and are being well sustained in the way of contributions with which to carry on the fight. They are to be commended for the manner in which they have gone to work to carry their point, especially for their abstention from any show of violence towards the men or property of the Company.

The Street Car Strike.

TORONTO, May 18.—The busses of the strikers continue to do a good business. The street cars ran till 9.45 last night. The windows of a Sherbourne street car were smashed. This was the work of boys; the strikers being in no way responsible. About nine o'clock, as a Queen st. car was proceeding westward, a stone was thrown through the window, and a woman struck on the face, sustaining a slight cut. This is also said to be the work of boys. A number of railroad torpedoes were placed on the track at different points. These minature bombs exploded with a loud noise, and in some cases greatly frightened the passengers. There is no visible sign of weakening on either side.

Suspected Murder.

QUEBEC, May 17.—Mrs Telsphore Charland, of Levis, was found dead yesterday evening. It is believed that a frightful tragedy has been enacted. The deceased was cut in several places and she had the appearance of having been brutally and foully murdered. The husband, Theo. Charland, who was the only person in the house at the time, has been arrested on suspicion. He states that he went to sleep after dinner and upon awakening found his wife prostrated on the floor, and upon examination found her to be dead.

New Methodist Church.

MITCHELL, Ont., May 17.—The corner stone of the new Main street Methodist church was laid at 2.30 p. m. to-day, by Mr Warring Kennedy, of Toronto. The service was conducted by Rev. W. C. Henderson, M. A., of St. Mary's. Addresses were delivered by Mr Kennedy and Rev. W. S. Pascoe, of Exeter.

CITY COUNCIL.

Passage of a Number of By-Laws.

The Council met Monday evening. Present, Mayor Stevenson in the chair, Ald. Lamprey, Keough, Hewer, W. Carter, Hearn, Smith, Jos. Carter, Read, Raymond, Coffee, Cutten, Maddock, Bruce, Hamilton, Skinner.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Board of Education, asking that special constables be appointed to act on the 24th of May at the celebration by Capt. Clarke and the school children.

From Reuben Tovell, asking to have the drain in front of his residence on Yarmouth street repaired, as owing to its bad state his cellar had become flooded.

From the lessees of the butcher stalls in the market, asking that they be supplied with city water.

From Wm. Hayden, proprietor of the Royal billiard parlor, asking that his license be reduced and that he be permitted to keep his parlor open till eleven o'clock on Saturday night, the reason for closing at seven not now existing since the passage of the Scott Act.

Several accounts were read, and with the above communications referred to the proper committees.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. Carter, that the by-law providing for the erection of poles for electric lighting purposes on the streets by the Guelph Gas Company be read a third time.

Ald. Hearn asked if it was intended to bring in the by-law for the Ball Company to-night.

Ald. Coffee replied that it was.

The motion carried and the by-law was read accordingly.

WATER WORKS.

Ald. Bruce, chairman, reported:—We recommend the acceptance of Kloepfer & Richardson's tender for coal, 400 tons at $4.70 per ton; that the request of Dr. Lett be granted for a hydrant on Delhi street placed between Thomas Goldie's property and the Homewood Retreat. We would recommend the payment of the accounts of L. B. Montgomery $9, and Kloepfer & Richardson, coal, $259.60. We have paid out to the 30th April, $1733.14; collected to the 30th of April, by treasurer's book, $3,294.32. Yet to the credit of committee $4,966.86. Your committee would further recommend the payment of $22 to Wm. Fletcher for damage done to his horse and harness by falling into a water works trench on Douglas street The report was adopted.

RELIEF.

Ald. Smith, chairman, reported, recommending the payment of the following accounts:—W. S. G. Knowles, $6.13; H. Walker & Son, $2.75; H. Loch, $4; Dr. McPhatter, $5; A. Waters, $2; McCandless & McQueen, $2.75—$22.78. It was shown that during the last month the committee had expended in relief the sum of $68.40. The balance to the credit of the committee is $498.59.

BY-LAWS INTRODUCED.

Moved by Ald. Coffee, seconded by Ald. Lamprey, that leave be granted to read a by-law with reference to the use of Electric Light by the Ball Electric Light Co. (Limited) a first and second time. Carried.

The by-law was then read.

A by-law for raising by special rate money for street watering purposes was also introduced and read a first and second time.

A by-law for the remuneration of officers was also put through its first stages.

The blanks in the by-law having reference to the salaries of city officials were filled up as follows:—Clerk, $800; Treasurer, $800; Chief of Police, $800; Police Court Clerk, $300; Sergt. Dooley, $550; Constable Hammond, $500; Constable Flowers, $500; Clerk of the Market, $500; Chief Engineer of the Water Works, $650; Second Engineer, $495; Third Engineer, $495; Assessor, $450; Auditors, $60 each; Returning Officers, $4 a day; Collector of Taxes, $500; Caretaker of City Hall, $365; Sanitary Inspector and Relieving Officer, $500; Caretaker of Parks, $365; Selectors of Jurors, $4; Medical and Statistical Officer, $1.

A by-law to propose and levy rates for the year 1885 was given a first and second reading.

A by-law to provide for the collection of taxes for the year 1886 was also read.

The electric light by-law; the by-law for remuneration of officers, and that for street watering were passed through Committee of the Whole and then read a third time and passed.

LIGHTING THE STREETS.

Moved by Ald Cutten, seconded by Ald. Raymond that the Fire, Water and Gas Committee, together with Ald Bruce, be a Special Committee to inquire into the feasibility of the City of Guelph acquiring, establishing and operating electric light works within the city for the purpose of lighting the streets of the city and for other purposes. Carried.

ENFORCING THE SCOTT ACT.

Ald. Raymond moved, duly seconded, that the By-law Committee be instructed to prepare a by law in accordance with the 14th section of the Ontario Act, 44 Vic. Chap. 27, for the purpose of more efficiently carrying out and enforcing the provisions of the second part of the Temperance Act of 1878.

Ald. Hearn asked what the expenses were likely to be.

Ald. Cutten said there was lots of time to consider this matter yet.

Ald. Raymond read the section of the Act, and remarked that the design was that if it were found necessary to have more power to enforce the Act that it should be available. He did not think that more assistance would be necessary, yet it was well to be prepared.

Ald. Chadwick remarked that the Act said that the Council may do so and so, but that was no reason why they should do it. It was time enough to bring this up when the police were found insufficent. He considered the police were sufficient. By appointing men now it was throwing a stigma on the city.

Ald. Bruce remarked that one ounce of prevention was worth a pound of cure. It was well to be prepared. In doing this the Council were only doing their duty.

Ald. Smith could not see what harm it would do to pass the by-law. It would give strength to the police and the Police Committee. He did not see why Ald. Chadwick objected. It seemed as if he were desirous of preventing law and order instead of assisting in keeping it. When the by-law came in it would be time enough to discuss the question.

Ald. Coffee objected to giving the people's money towards carrying out the Scott Act. He saw no reason why this by-law should be passed. There were sufficient officers now to enforce the law if the people were at their back. He considered that notice of motion should be given to the resolution.

Ald. Raymond remarked that the design was that if the police force needed help they should have it.

Some further discussion took place when the Mayor held that it was necessary to give notice of motion, which Ald. Raymond did.

CONSOLIDATED BY-LAWS.

Ald. Read asked why the by-laws consolidated by the Council of 1885 had not yet been printed. He pointed out the inconvenience experienced on account of them not being printed.

Ald. Coffee replied that the co-operation of the City Solicitor would be required in preparing the by-laws for publication.

THE RAILWAY.

Ald. Maddock asked if there was anything new about the C.P.R. connection.

Ald. Chadwick replied in the negative, and said the committee were patiently awaiting the pleasure of the railway officials to pay their promised visit. They could do nothing but write an occasional letter to them. The charter had been extended and possessed advantages to the city which it did not formerly.

Ald. Carter asked about the underground crossing on Metcalfe street, and was told that nothing had yet been done.

The Council adjourned at 9.40.

American.

The United States wheat crop promises well.

An estimate places the loss by the Ohio storms at $2,000,000.

Admirable Results In Fevers.

Dr. J. J. Ryan, St. Louis, Mo., says; "I invariably prescribe it in fevers; also in convalescence from wasting and debilitating diseases, with admirable results. I also find it a tonic to an enfeebled condition of the genital organs."

A Lively Time in the Senate.

OTTAWA, May 14.—There was a lively time in the Senate to day, when Mr O'Donohoe moved for a copy of the patent of his appointment to the Privy Council, and a copy of the letter of Sir John Macdonald to Archbishop Lynch and other Roman Catholic bishops in reference to the appointment. In support of his motion Senator O Donohoe broke entirely loose from his Conservative allegiance and attacked the Government in the most violent manner. He charged Sir John's Government with being about the most corrupt on earth, and Sir John himself with having played false to him. Frank Smith replied for the Government, and related the circumstances connected with his appointment to the Government, and Mr. O'Donohoe's name being mentioned in connection with it. The reason for Mr. O'Donohoe not having been given a seat in the Cabinet was that when his name was mentioned he was objected to by a large number of Conservative Catholics and Orangemen, and his name had to be withdrawn. Senator Smith defended the Government from the charge of corruption and attacked Mr. O'Donohoe in a lively manner. The debate was adjourned until Monday. The Senate Chamber was filled with spectators while the fight was going on.

CORNWALL, May 17.—Two lives have been lost here by drowning in the past two days. On Saturday, Annie, the thirteen year old daughter of lockman Degan, fell in at the second lock of the old canal, her body being found five hours afterwards. On Sunday James Loo with two companions was rowing across from the island when the boat was capsized and Loo was drowned.

Riel's Widow Dying.

WINNIPEG, May 17.—Louis Riel's widow lies at the point of death at St. Vital. Masses were celebrated for her at St. Boniface yesterday. It is said she never rallied from the shock of her husband's execution, and is dying of a broken heart.

COLLECTOR of Inland Revenue McLean, who has been suffering from rheumatism for a few weeks, is recovering rapidly, and is able to supervise the business of the department.

COURT OF REVISION.—Judge Drew will hold his adjourned Court of Revision of the voters' list for the city for the Local Legislature in the Court House this evening at seven o'clock. The names of the Reformers still to be put on are John Hunt, Edmund Allen, Wm. Blackburn, John H. Barrett, Samuel Scott and Alfred Allen. These parties should be present to-night.

FINE HORSE.—Mr. Donald Duff, Everton, arrived yesterday from the Old Country with the Clydesdale stallion "Lyon Chief," purchased by Mr. John Duff, while in Scotland recently. This horse was not shipped with the others. "Lyon Chief" (3812) is a bay and is considered one of the finest horses that has ever been brought to this section. He is only two years and ten months old. He was bred by Mr. R. McEwen, Hall of Aberuthven, Auchterarder. Perthshire, Scotland. This horse will accompany "Reform," the other recently imported horse, on his route. Reliable Judges agree that the three horses recently imported by Mr. Duff are the best that have yet come into this section.

MEET ME AT HEPBURN'S

The citizens of Guelph and vility are now convinced that

W. M. HEPBURN & Co.

Are working for their benefit. They have certainly started out in the business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

BOOTS AND SHOE

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

CHAPTER XXXI.

LIGHT.

Meanwhile Alice and Sir Cuthbert were amusing themselves in a way of which Percival little dreamed. Could he have followed them and overheard their conversation, he would probably be struck dumb with amazement.

Sir Cuthbert, who always spent the greater part of every morning in writing letters, had finished that occupation when Percival set off on his journey to Miller's Gate. After having shaken hands with his host, however, he again retired to the library, and did not leave it until the gong sounded for lunch.

At lunch he, of course, saw Alice, who had spent her morning in solitary and uninterrupted reflection; perhaps it was this particular occupation which had brought such a cloud over her face and made her ook so bitter and unhappy.

Naturally she did her utmost to overcome this feeling in the presence of Sir Cuthbert and the servants. She only partially succeeded. Sir Cuthbert's instinct was too keen to be deceived so easily.

During the morning the mist and damp had cleared away, about noon the sun came out, and the afternoon promised to be exceedingly fine.

When lauch was over, Alice returned to the drawing-room, and, taking up a book, began listlesaly to turn over the pages. Presently Sir Cuthbert joined her, and, after standing a few minutes at the window, he turned round and said—

"It is a beautiful afternoon, Mrs Moore. Will you come for a walk?"

She laid down her book, and after a moment's consideration said—

"I think I should like a walk. Yes, I will come."

She left the room, and presently joined him again almost clad in furs, and with a curious foreign cap, which became her well, upon her flaxen hair. They went out of the house and through the garden in silence.

"Which way shall we go?" he asked, as, having gone through the lodge gate, they paused for a moment on the high road.

"If the hill will not be too much for you, I should like to go to the Fell. It is a favourite walk of mine," she added in explanation.

"I will follow where you lead," said Sir Cuthbert, and turning to the right they took the road leading to the Fell. It was scarcely more than a lane—steep, narrow, and very rough, bordered on each side by a high wall of grey stone, covered with moss and common ferns. They went slowly, as much for Sir Cuthbert's sake as for Alice's.

They walked for some distance without exchanging many words, then Sir Cuthbert said,

"This is a very beautiful country; it goes straight to one's heart."

"All strangers fall in love with Osmotherley. I was born and have grown up here. I suppose that is why I do not feel its charm. Indeed, I doubt if under any circumstances I should do so. I am not a lover of Nature."

"That only means that your nature is not yet wholly developed; otherwise you could not help yourself; it must steal into your heart unawares just like any other love."

"That implies that when people do not love it is because their natures are not wholly developed. Do you really believe that?"

"I think so."

She said nothing, and for some time neither spoke. Sir Cuthbert again broke the silence.

"You are not happy, Mrs. Moore."

"I wondered if you would find that out."

"I know it by a hundred signs and tokens, which are no doubt invisible to the world at large, which even your husband does not see, but which are very clear to my eyes."

"You came out on purpose to talk about this, I think," she said.

"Yes; have you any objection?"

"None at all. Why should we not for once try to make things clear?"

"If we go so far as that I shall probably say things and ask questions which will give you pain. Can you bear that?"

"I think I am proof against any pain you can give me; in that way, I mean. Say what you please."

"When I asked you to marry me before I went to India, you refused me because you said you loved another man. Is that man your husband?"

"Yes."

"He does not love you."

"He scarcely takes pains to hide it, does he?"

"I think you are unjust. Few people would have found it out. You are conscious of it, for your own reasons. I am also conscious of it, for reasons of mine, but I do not suppose one of these people who have been staying in your house discovered it."

"I daresay it is so."

"How came you to be married?" he said, more to himself than her.

"I am tempted to tell you the whole story," she said after a pause. "I think you would find it rather interesting as a study of character. You like studying character I know."

"Whatever you tell me about yourself must of necessity interest me."

"You will see my character in a new light I am sure, you will probably say when I am finished that you did not think any one capable of such madness existed."

"Let me quote one of my favourite authors, and reply, 'That's as how it may be.'"

"It has turned out so oddly," she went on with a half smile and as though she had not heard him. "I never thought it would turn out like it has done. It would really be interesting if we could see into the future, only, I suppose, if we could, we should not believe it; we should believe rather in the power of our own efforts to change it."

"Very probably, and a good deal of the excitement and interest would be taken from life."

"There I do not agree with you. I think it would be in the highest degree interesting to work up to a given point, seeing each step of the way before us. Sometimes when I wanted a change in my novels I have read them in that way, I found out the end, and then began at the beginning and observed how the author worked up to it. If the book was well written, it was quite as interesting as reading in the ordinary way. You see when a thing has happened, it is not until it has happened that we find it to be of any importance, and when we look back and try to recall what led to it, we forget so many things—there are so many gaps—that in spite of ourselves we lose our interest in it. Now if we could see a thing in the future, know, certainly, that whether it were good or bad, every step we took brought us nearer to it, and that we could not escape, it would, I think, be far more exciting than peering into the darkness."

"People would probably sit down in despair, or go mad under their impending doom."

"I think they would be much wiser; they could go straight on, instead of having to take such roundabout ways as they do. Suppose now we had been made so that, instead of being able to look back and torment ourselves with the recollection of chances thrown away, and a vast amount of energy wasted upon undertakings which resulted in nothing, we could see before us, and each event as it happened was forgotten, should we be any happier, do you think?"

"Why waste you time in such speculations; which, by the way, would never have occured to you before I went away. How do you account for the change?"

"I was reading the other day, and I came across a line from Wordsworth. I do not know Wordsworth. I have not read a dozen lines of his in all my life; but I liked this one. It was the heading of a chapter in a novel, and was this—'A deep distress hath humanised my soul.' That is the reason of the change in me. I have had a 'deep distress,' and I suppose it has humanised' me. When I look back I fancy that when you knew me I was not human. That line roused my curiosity, and I got a copy of Wordsworth out of the library. My husband and his first wife, I must tell you, read him more than any other poet, and there is every edition of his works which was ever published in this house. I wanted to find these words again. As you may suppose, I did not find them, seeing that I had not the faintest idea where to look for them, but I found these—

'The man whose eye
Is ever on himself, doth look on one
The least of Nature's works.'

"That was what I did. My eye was ever on myself. I doubt whether I had a soul. Now my soul has been born."

"The birth of a soul is a very painful process. Yours, no doubt, was born with bitter pain and suffering."

"In deep distress," she said, and then was silent.

"You promised to tell me what this 'deep distress' had been," he said presently, as she did not speak.

"I have wandered a long way from the point. It is a long story, and you must not mind if I tell you things you knew or guessed before."

"You remember," she went on, "when you first asked me to marry you, I refused because I did not love you, and I thought a marriage where the love was only on one side could not fail to be unhappy. In addition to that, I did not want to be married. I was in my first season, and I never could understand girls who thought it a triumph to be married in their first season. So I refused you. I came home very soon after, and on the very day I got home first met my husband. I did not think much of him at first, though even on the first evening he surprised me. I saw him look at me often, and knew he thought me beautiful, but he scarcely spoke to me, and what he did say were the very barest commonplaces; he certainly did not exert himself. This went on for about a week, during which I never ceased watching him. I scarcely took any notice of him, hardly spoke to him, but he did not seem at all disturbed; he appeared to find everything he wanted in Helen's society. Just then she went away from home to nurse a friend who was dying, and I made up my mind to conquer Percival. I saw that he preferred Helen, but I had no idea how far things had gone between them, I never suspected that at that very time they were secretly engaged. In those days I thought only of myself, I was accustomed to see every man at my feet, and it hurt my pride that this one man should refuse to come. I do not think my determination to conquer him had anything to do with Helen's going away; if I remember rightly, that was a mere coincidence."

She paused. They had been walking slowly on all the time she had been speaking, and had now reached the top of the Fell. To Alice this ground was fraught with associations of no common order.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Certain Defeat Awaiting the Government.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

Bitter Expressions Against Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, May 15.—The developments of the week have been all against Home Rule. At this moment there appears to be no chance whatever of Mr. Gladstone's success, unless he consents to humble himself beyond all precedent. First, in as few words as possible, the situation to-night is this: The total number of Liberals in the House of Commons, including Independents, is 333; Conservatives, 251, and Parnellites 86. The Liberals and Parnellites combined have a majority of 167, without the Speaker, over the Conservatives. The transfer, therefore, of eighty-four votes to the Opposition will, in the event of a full House, defeat the Bill by a majority of one. Now the followers of Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain between them number 104, ninety-three of whom have positively pledged themselves to vote against the second reading. Eleven are not pledged, but are certain to vote against the measure. There are, moreover, eighteen members who are confidently expected to oppose the Government. If the 104 safe votes enumerated above are all cast in accordance with present pledges against the Bill, it will be thrown out by a majority of forty-one. If the whole 122 members vote against the Government the majority will be no less than seventy-seven. Even if some opponents of the Bill adopt a course of abstention a decisive majority against the second reading is secured. Mr. Gladstone is raging, and Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain are perfectly in harmony upon the course they will adopt. Both are equally confident about the result. The Irish members are angry and glum. They cannot find words to express their anger and disgust with the Liberal and Radical bolters from the party.

The past week has been marked by two things—abuse of Mr. Gladstone and the invasion of society by ancient Greece. As regards the first of these, never within memory has partizan feeling found such bitter expression against anybody as against the Prime Minister during the last few days. At a political soiree on Wednesday evening, Mr. Chamberlain, talking about the situation, began speaking of Mr. Gladstone by saying, "That infernal old—." Then he corrected himself with a smile to "that extremely astute old gentleman." This is a specimen. Then an old epigram of years ago has been revived again to do duty, namely: "Gladstone will sacrifice a principle where he will not give up a penny." Even nonsenical verses about him have been going the rounds. This for example was raising the laugh at a party last night:

"Have you heard of this wicked old man,
Who does all the mischief he can?
His initials are three, and the last is a 'G,'
He's a terribly wicked old man."

But by far the bitterest, cleverest and, in a certain sense, truest thing ever said about Gladstone was said by Labouchere as he came out of the House of Commons on Monday night, on discovering he had been fooled by the Government allowing him to promise in their name concessions they never intended to make. Said he: "That old fox always has two aces up his sleeve. But I wouldn't mind that so much if he didn't always want to make you believe that a higher power put them there."

An informal Cabinet Council was held last night and to-day. Mr. Gladstone had conferences with his colleagues. It is reported that, yielding to the urgent advice of Mr. Morley and Lord Spencer, Mr. Gladstone has decided, in the event of defeat, to demand from the Queen an immediate dissolution of Parliament. The Liberal Association leaders in the Provinces have sent a letter to Mr. Gladstone pleading with him not to resign, but to appeal to the country, with a certainty of securing a majority.

Mr. Chamberlain is deluged with Radical protests. To a Birmingham Liberal who had written that Mr. Chamberlain's action had destroyed all chances of his ever attaining the leadership of the Liberals, Mr. Chamberlain replied that he would sooner forsake politics altogether than consent to measures that would prove disastrous to the country. Mr. Gladstone's committee has asked Mr. Chamberlain to formulate a statement of concessions that would reconcile him.

The Parnellites, though assenting to the second reading of the Arms Bill, will oppose the advancing to committee stage until after the division on the Home Rule Bill.

A great meeting of the opponents of Home Rule was held in St. James to-night. The chairman, Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, announced that a new scheme of organization had been ratified to-day, making the Conservative party more a party of the people than it had been before.

Mr. A. B. Forward, member for Lancashire, introduced a series of resolutions to the effect that the meeting represented the Conservative Association of the Kingdom and that it had confidence in the ability of Lord Salisbury to maintain Great Britain and Ireland as one United Kingdom, and to guard safely the Union and the greatness of the Empire. The resolutions were carried amid cheers.

Lord Salisbury in a speech criticized Gladstone's measure and then recommended that a portion of the money with which it was intended to buy out the Irish landlords be spent in helping the Irish to emigrate. This, he said, would be the best remedy for Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 16.—News has been received that a mob of Nationalists attacked a number of Protestant peasants while the latter were returning from market at Cookstown, County Tyrone. A fight took place near Coagh, where the Catholics have a decided superority in number. The peasants resisted the attack and several of them were roughly handled, two being badly hurt. No arrests have been made.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Certain Defeat Awaiting the Government.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

Bitter Expressions Against Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, May 15.—The developments of the week have been all against Home Rule. At this moment there appears to be no chance whatever of Mr. Gladstone's success, unless he consents to humble himself beyond all precedent. First, in as few words as possible, the situation to-night is this: The total number of Liberals in the House of Commons, including Independents, is 333; Conservatives, 251, and Parnellites 86. The Liberals and Parnellites combined have a majority of 167, without the Speaker, over the Conservatives. The transfer, therefore, of eighty-four votes to the Opposition will, in the event of a full House, defeat the Bill by a majority of one. Now the followers of Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain between them number 104, ninety-three of whom have positively pledged themselves to vote against the second reading. Eleven are not pledged, but are certain to vote against the measure. There are, moreover, eighteen members who are confidently expected to oppose the Government. If the 104 safe votes enumerated above are all cast in accordance with present pledges against the Bill, it will be thrown out by a majority of forty-one. If the whole 122 members vote against the Government the majority will be no less than seventy-seven. Even if some opponents of the Bill adopt a course of abstention a decisive majority against the second reading is secured. Mr. Gladstone is raging, and Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain are perfectly in harmony upon the course they will adopt. Both are equally confident about the result. The Irish members are angry and glum. They cannot find words to express their anger and disgust with the Liberal and Radical bolters from the party.

The past week has been marked by two things—abuse of Mr. Gladstone and the invasion of society by ancient Greece. As regards the first of these, never within memory has partizan feeling found such bitter expression against anybody as against the Prime Minister during the last few days. At a political soiree on Wednesday evening, Mr. Chamberlain, talking about the situation, began speaking of Mr. Gladstone by saying, "That infernal old—." Then he corrected himself with a smile to "that extremely astute old gentleman." This is a specimen. Then an old epigram of years ago has been revived again to do duty, namely: "Gladstone will sacrifice a principle where he will not give up a penny." Even nonsenical verses about him have been going the rounds. This for example was raising the laugh at a party last night:

"Have you heard of this wicked old man,
Who does all the mischief he can?
His initials are three, and the last is a 'G,'
He's a terribly wicked old man."

But by far the bitterest, cleverest and, in a certain sense, truest thing ever said about Gladstone was said by Labouchere as he came out of the House of Commons on Monday night, on discovering he had been fooled by the Government allowing him to promise in their name concessions they never intended to make. Said he: "That old fox always has two aces up his sleeve. But I wouldn't mind that so much if he didn't always want to make you believe that a higher power put them there."

An informal Cabinet Council was held last night and to-day. Mr. Gladstone had conferences with his colleagues. It is reported that, yielding to the urgent advice of Mr. Morley and Lord Spencer, Mr. Gladstone has decided, in the event of defeat, to demand from the Queen an immediate dissolution of Parliament. The Liberal Association leaders in the Provinces have sent a letter to Mr. Gladstone pleading with him not to resign, but to appeal to the country, with a certainty of securing a majority.

Mr. Chamberlain is deluged with Radical protests. To a Birmingham Liberal who had written that Mr. Chamberlain's action had destroyed all chances of his ever attaining the leadership of the Liberals, Mr. Chamberlain replied that he would sooner forsake politics altogether than consent to measures that would prove disastrous to the country. Mr. Gladstone's committee has asked Mr. Chamberlain to formulate a statement of concessions that would reconcile him.

The Parnellites, though assenting to the second reading of the Arms Bill, will oppose the advancing to committee stage until after the division on the Home Rule Bill.

A great meeting of the opponents of Home Rule was held in St. James to-night. The chairman, Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, announced that a new scheme of organization had been ratified to-day, making the Conservative party more a party of the people than it had been before.

Mr. A. B. Forward, member for Lancashire, introduced a series of resolutions to the effect that the meeting represented the Conservative Association of the Kingdom and that it had confidence in the ability of Lord Salisbury to maintain Great Britain and Ireland as one United Kingdom, and to guard safely the Union and the greatness of the Empire. The resolutions were carried amid cheers.

Lord Salisbury in a speech criticized Gladstone's measure and then recommended that a portion of the money with which it was intended to buy out the Irish landlords be spent in helping the Irish to emigrate. This, he said, would be the best remedy for Ireland.

DUBLIN, May 16.—News has been received that a mob of Nationalists attacked a number of Protestant peasants while the latter were returning from market at Cookstown, County Tyrone. A fight took place near Coagh, where the Catholics have a decided superority in number. The peasants resisted the attack and several of them were roughly handled, two being badly hurt. No arrests have been made.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

CORONERS' juries are liable to give laughable verdicts, however melancholy the events they are called on to investigate may be. For example, the jury which was sworn to unravel the mystery connected with the death of Mrs. Crane at Chippawa, Ont., brought in the following as their finding: "That the deceased met her death by being killed and going over the Falls."

HOWORTH'S HIBERNICA.—The Norwich, Conn., Bulletin thus speaks of the show which appears here to-morrow for two nights:—Howorth's great show was presented in Breed Hall to a large and highly delighted audience last evening. The entertainment comprised a panorama of Ireland, which was presented with splendid dioramic and mechanical effect, together with a highly amusing comedy entitled, "Two Dans, or, the Comedy of Blunders"—which caused abundant merriment for the large and enthusiastic audience. The clog dancing of Mr. John Fenton and ventriloquism of Bert Kimball, besides other specialties by the different artists of the company were hearily applauded. Take it all in all the show was a splendid success, and is everywhere worthy of crowded houses.

ENTERTAINMENT IN NASSAGAWEYA.—A grand entertainment will be held at Ebenezer church, Nassagaweya, on the evening of the 24th of May, to consist of speeches, recitations, readings and music. Those who attend may be certain that this entertainment will be one of great interest. It is under the auspices of the Sabbath School.

THE CAR STRIKE.—The street car strikers in Toronto seem determined to make a hard struggle to secure their demands. Busses and carryalls are being sent there from all over the country. To-day six span of horses with six carryalls were shipped from here to Toronto. The strikers will put on their own men to drive the carryalls.

COURT OF REVISION.—Judge Drew held his final Court of Revision of the city voters' list for the Local Legislature in the Court House last night. There was nothing done. Some 400 names have been put on the list altogether. About 300 of these were put on by the Conservatives, some 20 of which were rejected, and about 117 by the Reformers, 6 or 7 of which were rejected. The putting on of the names, however, is no criterion of how these men will vote at an election.

THE WELLINGTON.—Mr. P. Spragge is gradually getting things in shape for fitting up the Wellington Hotel to his taste, and has already made several improvements. The large bar-room is divided off, one half of which has been devoted to a sample room, and arrangements are to be made for other sample rooms. In addition to the other bed-rooms a dozen will be fitted up on the double flight on the top story. Mr. Spragge seems determined to provide every accommodation for his patrons.

A POTATO THAT IS A POTATO.—This morning Mr. Thomas Ronaldson, of Gardiner, Oregon, brought to this office a monster potato which weighed nine pounds. It is of the Snowflake variety. Mr. Ronaldson is a son-in-law of Mr. James Argo, Eden Mills, and has been here for some months on a visit to friends after an absence of twenty years in Oregon. He says that he would have no difficulty in picking a bushel of potatoes which would weigh from 5 to 6 pounds each. Cabbage weighing 50 pounds, beets 64 and onions 2 pounds are grown there.

WANTON ACT.—Yesterday the man who drives Mr. John Harris' bread cart had a narrow escape from a serious runaway. On driving down Surrey street the whiffletree broke, and the horse, which is a young one, became frightened. The accident was witnessed by some people passing who secured the horse before it got a fair start. On examining the whiffletree it was found that it had been cut with a chisel near the bolt by some wanton only disposed person. The matter has been placed in the hands of the police and it is hoped the offending parties will be brought to justice.

The Evening Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G MAY 18, 1886

The O'Donohoe-Smith Quarrel.

Our readers will remember that shortly before the general elections in 1882, the Reform papers referred to several secret meetings that Sir John Macdonald held at Sir David Macpherson's house, in Toronto, with several representative Catholics and Orangemen. As some Tory papers at the time denied that such meetings were held, some people doubted whether they really took place. There is no doubt on the subject now, for Senator O'Donohoe on Friday let the light into the whole intrigue that was then carried on by the Premier and his friends.

The story briefly told is this. The Irish Catholics in Ontario claimed that they should have more representation in the Cabinet and Mr. O'Donohoe's name was mentioned in connection with the position. When the elections of 1882 were near at hand, Sir John Macdonald commenced a correspondence with Mr. O'Donohoe on the subject. When the Premier visited Toronto a conference was held at the residence of Hon. D. L. Macpherson. Mr. Patrick Boyle and Mr. John Shields were present on that occasion with O'Donohoe. Sir John signified his adherence to the arrangement and presented the patent of appointment, executed and signed by the Marquis of Lorne. As a result an address to the Irishmen of Canada was issued and the support of the Administration was assured. The address bore the signatures of Messrs Smith, Costigan and O'Donohoe. After this, however, a hitch in the affair seems to have taken place. The Orangemen got wind of the proposed arrangement, and as Mr. O'Donohoe puts it, they marched in procession to Sir David's house and told Sir John that they would not allow O'Donohoe to enter the Cabinet. This is confessed by Sir John himself in the following letter which he sent to the head of the Roman Catholic church in Toronto, no doubt Archbishop Lynch :—

Toronto, June 5th, 1882.

(Private and confidential.)

MY DEAR LORD,—Mr. O'Donohoe will tell you of the tempest that has been raised here in Toronto on account of the supposition that his views are extreme as to the Irish question. This might destroy his future, and it has therefore been arranged between the Hon. F. Smith and O'Donohoe that the former is to represent the Irish Catholics in the Cabinet while O'D. will get a seat in the Senate.

Frank Smith is to make way for O'Donohoe in the Ministry when they think the time is opportune. Those two gentlemen are acting in perfect accord, and desire that I should explain to your Lordship the nature of their arrangement which of course must be kept a profound secret at present. Believe me, my dear Lord, faithfully yours,

(Signed.) JOHN A. MACDONALD.

It will be seen from the above that Sir John gave way to the remonstrances of the Orangemen, threw O'Donohoe overboard, and was obliged to take Frank Smith into the Cabinet, who it seems is less objectionable to Sir John's masters, the Orangemen, than O'Donohoe. Whatever our opinion of O'Donohoe may be, it is clear from the above that he has been cruelly duped and deceived by Sir John Macdonald. The bargain was made with him that he should be taken into the Cabinet, but when the Orange gorgon reared its threatening head Sir John dropped him, as he has done many another better man who has stood in the way of his retaining power. Like the political trickster that he is, he was playing fast and loose with the Catholics and Orangemen in Ontario, and was ready to betray either just as it suited his purpose.

The exposure of these dark intrigues, which were carried on by the Premier of the Dominion, serve to show him in his true light, and multiply the proofs which have been gathering for years that he is guided by no principles of right or honor—that expediency is his grand doctrine—that lust of power is his great aim—and that to secure this he will break any compact, sacrifice any follower, in fact stick at nothing to accomplish his object.

Hon. Frank Smith made but a weak reply to Mr. O'Donohoe's onslaught. He tried to make it appear that he was the only man that the Catholics would accept as their representative in the Cabinet. But he added that if the Roman Catholic hierarchy and priesthood were not satisfied with him he would step down and out at once. This was about the gist of his hour's speech, though there was much angry talk during its deliverance between him and O'Donohoe. What is most plain from the whole discussion is this, that Sir John entered into an agreement with those assumed leaders of the Irish Catholics, by which, in return for O'Donohoe being called into the Cabinet, these gentlemen were to pledge the Irish Catholic vote to the Conservatives. The Orangemen stepped in and prevented O'Donohoe getting the office. But Frank Smith having having accepted it he recommended that O'Donohoe be made a Senator, which it was hoped would make things serene all round. Meantime Sir John secured the Irish Catholic vote for his side, he and Frank Smith chuckled over their success and O'Donohoe was left out in the cold, or rather, the seat in the Senate was thrown at him like a bone to a dog, and with which he must rest satisfied. In every way in which it can be viewed these transactions are despicable, humiliating and degrading to our public life and morals.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 17.

Shortly after the opening of the House to-day Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine, introduced a Bill to amend the Act respecting fishing by foreign vessels, which is no doubt suggested by the present fishery complications. The Government propose by this Bill that in addition to the acts for commission of which foreign vessels may now seized while in Canadian waters, all vessels shall be liable to seizure, who have entered such waters for any purpose not permitted by the law of nations, or by treaty, or convention, or by any law of the United Kingdom or of Canada now in force. It is proposed to include also such vessels entering Canadian waters who fail to comply with any such law.

The Franchise Act Amendment Bill, which is now on paper and about which considerable curiosity is beginning to be felt, was passed by without introduction.

Mr. McCarthy drew attention to the Globe statement that by his defence of Messrs. Bowell and White in the Privileges and Elections Committee, he is making some return for the salary he draws out of the Government subsidy as President of the Northern and Pacific Junction Road, and intimated that, if the statement were repeated, he would see how far a public man can be protected from such libellous statements. He then moved the House in Committee on his Bill to enable the Northern and Pacific Junction Company to issue $20,000 per mile debentured stock instead of bonds. In debate on this Bill, Messrs. Mulock and Mitchell pointed out that the Government are bound under terms of their agreement with the Company in the event of the road coming back on their hands to pay the contractors an amount which in addition to the subsidy of $12,000 per mile would make up the actual cost of the road and they urged that this legislation should be so framed as not to render the country liable for the additional issue of twenty thousand as well.

Mr. McCar hy introduced a clause to guard against the Government becoming liable in any case for more than the cost of the road, which was adopted.

Mr. Mulock offered an amendment stipulating that the Act shall not come in force until the Hamilton and Northwestern Company shall repay to the municipalities in Simcoe the bonuses they contributed, on the understanding that the road was to be a competing line with the Northern.

The amendment was lost, but on the third reading of the Bill Mr. Mulock again presented it where he could get the yeas and nays, and it was negatived by 90 to 48.

The Bill was then read a third time.

The Birrell Divorce Bill was read a third time and passed.

The motion then came up to resume the debate on Mr. Blake's motion for a committee to enquire into charges against Dodd and McDougall.

After a speech from Mr. Mackintosh, in which he cited a number of instances in which Reformers when in power had dismissed officials for their political leanings, Dr. Orton moved an amendment to bring up his Beer and Wine Bill instead of the motion before the House

Dr. Bergin then moved that Mr. Taylor's oleomargarine resolution take precedence. After some discussion the amendments were declared lost without division and the main motion of Mr. Blake's was negatived on a division ; yeas 89, nays 51.

The House adjourned at 12.45.

SELECT KNIGHTS A. O. U. W.

Close of the Fourth Annual Conclave.

Tuesday, May 18.

In the afternoon the reports of the different committees were taken up and discussed at length, and with a few amendments were adopted.

The next place for holding the meeting was taken up. Toronto, Kingston, Orangeville, Barrie, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Fort Erie, Walkerton, Chatham and Brockville were proposed as the next place of meeting. A ballot was taken, when the decision was in favor of Barrie.

Supreme Commander Reed was then called upon for an address, in which he said that since his entrance into the Dominion of Canada he had been welcomed everywhere with the warmest fraternal greetings. To the members of the Order in the City of Guelph he wished to extend his heartfelt thanks for the many courtesies shown him. He then branched off into the aims, objects and attainments of the Order. The members of the Order were workmen in deeds of charity and benevolence, and thousands of widows and orphans at the present day are bearing testimony to the good work performed in their midst. They have banded themselves together in a common brotherhood, so that they could be better able to continue their works of charity. The Order of Select Knights was to the A. O. U. W. what the Knight Templars was to Masonry—a higher degree of the Order. In this branch of the Order a member can secure a greater amount of beneficiary for those that are left behind when the head of the family and the bread-earner has crossed "over beyond." It is then when the brotherhood step in and do their duty to the widow and orphan. This branch of the Order, the speaker said, is increasing faster than any other benevolent order now before the public. He concluded his address by exhorting the brethren to cultivate a more fraternal spirit one with another, and after wishing the Order the greatest prosperity he resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

The remainder of the session was taken up in passing a vote of thanks to the retiring Grand Commander and voting him $100 as a recognition of his services.

The session then closed to meet at Barrie on the 17th of May, 1887, and the delegates departed for their homes.

Last evening Supreme Commander Reed was the recipient of a grand banquet at the Revere House, Toronto, and the guest of the Select Knights of that city.

The fourth annual session was a short one, but considerable business was done.

business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, and after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

The Evening Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVE'G MAY 18, 1886

The O'Donohoe-Smith Quarrel.

Our readers will remember that shortly before the general elections in 1882, the Reform papers referred to several secret meetings that Sir John Macdonald held at Sir David Macpherson's house, in Toronto, with several representative Catholics and Orangemen. As some Tory papers at the time denied that such meetings were held, some people doubted whether they really took place. There is no doubt on the subject now, for Senator O'Donohoe on Friday let the light into the whole intrigue that was then carried on by the Premier and his friends.

The story briefly told is this. The Irish Catholics in Ontario claimed that they should have more representation in the Cabinet and Mr. O'Donohoe's name was mentioned in connection with the position. When the elections of 1882 were near at hand, Sir John Macdonald commenced a correspondence with Mr. O'Donohoe on the subject. When the Premier visited Toronto a conference was held at the residence of Hon. D. L. Macpherson. Mr. Patrick Boyle and Mr. John Shields were present on that occasion with O'Donohoe. Sir John signified his adherence to the arrangement and presented the patent of appointment, executed and signed by the Marquis of Lorne. As a result an address to the Irishmen of Canada was issued and the support of the Administration was assured. The address bore the signatures of Messrs Smith, Costigan and O'Donohoe. After this, however, a hitch in the affair seems to have taken place. The Orangemen got wind of the proposed arrangement, and as Mr. O'Donohoe puts it, they marched in procession to Sir David's house and told Sir John that they would not allow O'Donohoe to enter the Cabinet. This is confessed by Sir John himself in the following letter which he sent to the head of the Roman Catholic church in Toronto, no doubt Archbishop Lynch :—

Toronto, June 5th, 1882.

(Private and confidential.)

MY DEAR LORD,—Mr. O'Donohoe will tell you of the tempest that has been raised here in Toronto on account of the supposition that his views are extreme as to the Irish question. This might destroy his future, and it has therefore been arranged between the Hon. F. Smith and O'Donohoe that the former is to represent the Irish Catholics in the Cabinet while O'D. will get a seat in the Senate.

Frank Smith is to make way for O'Donohoe in the Ministry when they think the time is opportune. Those two gentlemen are acting in perfect accord, and desire that I should explain to your Lordship the nature of their arrangement which of course must be kept a profound secret at present. Believe me, my dear Lord, faithfully yours,

(Signed.) JOHN A. MACDONALD.

It will be seen from the above that Sir John gave way to the remonstrances of the Orangemen, threw O'Donohoe overboard, and was obliged to take Frank Smith into the Cabinet, who it seems is less objectionable to Sir John's masters, the Orangemen, than O'Donohoe. Whatever our opinion of O'Donohoe may be, it is clear from the above that he has been cruelly duped and deceived by Sir John Macdonald. The bargain was made with him that he should be taken into the Cabinet, but when the Orange gorgon reared its threatening head Sir John dropped him, as he has done many another better man who has stood in the way of his retaining power. Like the political trickster that he is, he was playing fast and loose with the Catholics and Orangemen in Ontario, and was ready to betray either just as it suited his purpose.

The exposure of these dark intrigues, which were carried on by the Premier of the Dominion, serve to show him in his true light, and multiply the proofs which have been gathering for years that he is guided by no principles of right or honor—that expediency is his grand doctrine—that lust of power is his great aim—and that to secure this he will break any compact, sacrifice any follower, in fact stick at nothing to accomplish his object.

Hon. Frank Smith made but a weak reply to Mr. O'Donohoe's onslaught. He tried to make it appear that he was the only man that the Catholics would accept as their representative in the Cabinet. But he added that if the Roman Catholic hierarchy and priesthood were not satisfied with him he would step down and out at once. This was about the gist of his hour's speech, though there was much angry talk during its deliverance between him and O'Donohoe. What is most plain from the whole discussion is this, that Sir John entered into an agreement with those assumed leaders of the Irish Catholics, by which, in return for O'Donohoe being called into the Cabinet, these gentlemen were to pledge the Irish Catholic vote to the Conservatives. The Orangemen stepped in and prevented O'Donohoe getting the office. But Frank Smith having having accepted it he recommended that O'Donohoe be made a Senator, which it was hoped would make things serene all round. Meantime Sir John secured the Irish Catholic vote for his side, he and Frank Smith chuckled over their success and O'Donohoe was left out in the cold, or rather, the seat in the Senate was thrown at him like a bone to a dog, and with which he must rest satisfied. In every way in which it can be viewed these transactions are despicable, humiliating and degrading to our public life and morals.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, May 17.

Shortly after the opening of the House to-day Mr. Foster, Minister of Marine, introduced a Bill to amend the Act respecting fishing by foreign vessels, which is no doubt suggested by the present fishery complications. The Government propose by this Bill that in addition to the acts for commission of which foreign vessels may now seized while in Canadian waters, all vessels shall be liable to seizure, who have entered such waters for any purpose not permitted by the law of nations, or by treaty, or convention, or by any law of the United Kingdom or of Canada now in force. It is proposed to include also such vessels entering Canadian waters who fail to comply with any such law.

The Franchise Act Amendment Bill, which is now on paper and about which considerable curiosity is beginning to be felt, was passed by without introduction.

Mr. McCarthy drew attention to the Globe statement that by his defence of Messrs. Bowell and White in the Privileges and Elections Committee, he is making some return for the salary he draws out of the Government subsidy as President of the Northern and Pacific Junction Road, and intimated that, if the statement were repeated, he would see how far a public man can be protected from such libellous statements. He then moved the House in Committee on his Bill to enable the Northern and Pacific Junction Company to issue $20,000 per mile debentured stock instead of bonds. In debate on this Bill, Messrs. Mulock and Mitchell pointed out that the Government are bound under terms of their agreement with the Company in the event of the road coming back on their hands to pay the contractors an amount which in addition to the subsidy of $12,000 per mile would make up the actual cost of the road and they urged that this legislation should be so framed as not to render the country liable for the additional issue of twenty thousand as well.

Mr. McCarthy introduced a clause to guard against the Government becoming liable in any case for more than the cost of the road, which was adopted.

Mr. Mulock offered an amendment stipulating that the Act shall not come in force until the Hamilton and Northwestern Company shall repay to the municipalities in Simcoe the bonuses they contributed, on the understanding that the road was to be a competing line with the Northern.

The amendment was lost, but on the third reading of the Bill Mr. Mulock again presented it where he could get the yeas and nays, and it was negatived by 90 to 48.

The Bill was then read a third time.

The Birrell Divorce Bill was read a third time and passed.

The motion then came up to resume the debate on Mr. Blake's motion for a committee to enquire into charges against Dodd and McDougall.

After a speech from Mr. Mackintosh, in which he cited a number of instances in which Reformers when in power had dismissed officials for their political leanings, Dr. Orton moved an amendment to bring up his Beer and Wine Bill instead of the motion before the House

Dr. Bergin then moved that Mr. Taylor's oleomargarine resolution take precedence. After some discussion the amendments were declared lost without division and the main motion of Mr. Blake's was negatived on a division; yeas 89, nays 51.

The House adjourned at 12.45.

Tuesday, May 18.

In the afternoon the reports of the different committees were taken up and discussed at length, and with a few amendments were adopted.

The next place for holding the meeting was taken up. Toronto, Kingston, Orangeville, Barrie, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Fort Erie, Walkerton, Chatham and Brockville were proposed as the next place of meeting. A ballot was taken, when the decision was in favor of Barrie.

Supreme Commander Reed was then called upon for an address, in which he said that since his entrance into the Dominion of Canada he had been welcomed everywhere with the warmest fraternal greetings. To the members of the Order in the City of Guelph he wished to extend his heartfelt thanks for the many courtesies shown him. He then branched off into the aims, objects and attainments of the Order. The members of the Order were workmen in deeds of charity and benevolence, and thousands of widows and orphans at the present day are bearing testimony to the good work performed in their midst. They have banded themselves together in a common brotherhood, so that they could be better able to continue their works of charity. The Order of Select Knights was to the A. O. U. W. what the Knight Templars was to Masonry—a higher degree of the Order. In this branch of the Order a member can secure a greater amount of beneficiary for those that are left behind when the head of the family and the bread-earner has crossed "over beyond." It is then when the brotherhood step in and do their duty to the widow and orphan. This branch of the Order, the speaker said, is increasing faster than any other benevolent order now before the public. He concluded his address by exhorting the brethren to cultivate a more fraternal spirit one with another, and after wishing the Order the greatest prosperity he resumed his seat amidst loud applause.

The remainder of the session was taken up in passing a vote of thanks to the retiring Grand Commander and voting him $100 as a recognition of his services.

The session then closed to meet at Barrie on the 17th of May, 1887, and the delegates departed for their homes.

Last evening Supreme Commander Reed was the recipient of a grand banquet at the Revere House, Toronto, and the guest of the Select Knights of that city.

The fourth annual session was a short one, but considerable business was done.

Horsford's Acid Phosphate

Admirable Results In Fevers.

Dr. J. J. Ryan, St. Louis, Mo., says; "I invariably prescribe it in fevers; also in convalescence from wasting and debilitating diseases, with admirable results. I also find it a tonic to an enfeebled condition of the genital organs."

Invisible but Instantaneous.

All pains or aches will be instantly removed by a few drops of Fluid Lightning applied over the affected parts. No time lost; no nauseous medicines needed; no poulticing or using greasy liniments. It will not blister or discolor the skin. Sold at 25c per bottle by Thos. S Petrie, Druggist. Sufferers from Neuralgia assure us that they never fear it when their house contains a bottle of Fluid Lightning.

We sell Cottons, Tickings, Cottonades, Tweeds, Table Linens, Table Napkins, etc., cheaper than the cheapest.

ONWARD!

MONDAY, May 17th, 1886.

The week before the Queen's Birthday, one year ago, was one of the heaviest in our business for the year. As week after week marks the steady and certain growth of our business, we are determined that this week's operations shall also exceed the very large sales of the corresponding week of last year. There is no reason why it should not. Our Stock is much larger, variety greater. Value, to say the least, fully as good, circle of customers more extensive, and efforts to please even stronger. We are prepared for a heavy demand in our stock. Every department offers special attractions. Our goods are all square, honest value. They stand the test! We offer this week special good value in Silk Parasols and Umbrellas in great variety.

MEET ME AT HEPBURN'S

The citizens of Guelph and vicity are now convinced that

W. M. HEPBURN & Co.

Are working for their benefit. They have certainly started out in the business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

BOOTS AND SHOE

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, and after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

CHAPTER XXXI.

LIGHT.

It was here she had met Percival and given her love unasked. Looking back to that time she scarcely knew whether to smile or not. But she stood still, and said—

"That was a long walk for you, I know. Suppose we rest a little, and I will go on with my story."

They leaned against the fence in nearly the same place as that in which Dr. Hazlitt had told Percival the story of the first Mrs. Lafone and her daughter. They looked out over the same hills, the same bay, the same village in the valley below. Despite her denial of a love of nature, something in what she saw smote Alice's heart and filled her soul with melancholy bitterness.

They both stood looking for some little time, and Sir Cuthbert again said—

"A most beautiful country."

Then Alice went on—

"At that time I had no idea of falling in love with Percival. He interested me always, because he was different from the other men I knew, and he irritated me because he would not acknowledge my supremacy, and I resolved to make him. Helen was away for six weeks, and when she came back I was in love with him, and expected to win his love back again. I do not know—to this day I don't know what made me love him, unless it was what Helen told me, opposition, and because he did not care for me. I felt as certain of him as of myself. I did not believe the man lived who would not come when I called him, and all the more submissively from having resisted at first. I felt so certain that when Helen came home I told her."

She paused again, and Sir Cuthbert was silent. Her story interested him deeply, and in so far bore out what she had just said, that his interest was not lessened by his guessing the end to which she was leading him.

"Then it all came out," she went on. "Helen and he were engaged, had been engaged before I came home, and with that idiotic want of common-sense—I can call it nothing else—which I believe only lovers show, had agreed to keep their engagement private. I do not know what I felt when Helen told me—my head was on fire. I remember she went on preaching about want of self respect, and the enormity of loving a man who did not love you. I did not hear more than half of it. I could have screamed. I was only conscious that I had failed, and that I had confessed my failure to the very last woman to whom I would have chosen to make such a confession. I left her and went upstairs, and for a short time I think I went mad. When I could think again, my one wish was to be revenged upon her, to make her feel if possible as I had felt just then, and from that day, instead of trying to conquer my love, I did my best to make it grow. I knew my time would come if I waited. You were at the wedding, and the next day you again asked me to marry you. I refused again, this time because I loved someone else. You did not ask who it was; you would have been surprised, would you not, if I had told you it was the man who had just married my step-sister?

Again she paused, this time to ask—

"Are you tired?"

"Your story is more interesting than I can say."

"They stayed away for more than a year, and when they came home, mamma and I went to call. I cannot tell you what I felt when I thought of seeing Percival again. It was the old story I suppose, a woman's unreasonableness. I wanted what I could not have, and merely because I could not have it. Percival scarcely spoke to me, he was entirely occupied with Helen. I might have seen it. I think I must have seen it, but I would not accept it. I came here, invited myself here—I want to tell you everything—and set myself to turn Percival's affection from his wife. I might as well have set myself to resist the advance of the tide into the bay, or turn a river from its course. It is all so clear now; then my one thought was to revenge the confidence which I felt had been cheated from me, and to assert my own supremacy.

There is no need to go over the whole story; Helen saw why I had come, and we had a passage of arms over it. I thought then that she was already guarding against danger; now, I give her credit for wishing to save me from myself. She was afraid every day lest I should betray myself to Percival, for I was becoming less and less able to control myself. Then she went away, as she said, for a few days, her object being to force me to return home. She intended to go to London. On the way a bridge by which the train crossed the river fell in, and everyone was drowned."

"What a horrible fate," said Sir Cuthbert in a low tone.

"Her death made Percival the man he is, turned his hair grey, and brought that stern look into his face. He will never get over his loss, nothing will ever make him forget her; and I was out of my mind, as mad as any lunatic in an asylum, when I thought that I could."

"He was free, and I bent all my powers to win him, in vain. He never saw my beauty, or if he did, it moved him no more than the beauty of a picture would have done. People began to talk, and he never heard them. I was in a fever; with every check, every failure, I loved him more. I had an indistinct feeling that there was a life better worth living than the one I led, and I thought he was the man to show me that life. I changed so that everyone noticed it. Some wondered why it was, others smiled and nodded, and yet he never saw."

Her voice was low and full of passion, her face was pale, and her mouth hard and steady as she went on—

"I thought I should have died under it. I feared I was going mad, and at last—I told him."

She stopped almost as if she expected her companion to speak, but he said nothing. His dark eyes looked straight before him, and his lips were a little compressed, but he said nothing.

McGregor's Lung Compound.

Have you a bad cough, a chronic hoarseness a feeling of lightness in the chest, weak lungs, or any similar complaint? If so, buy at once a bottle of McGregor's Lung Compound. It will cure you. It contains entirely new specifics, of which one dose is more effectual than a whole bottle of the old time remedies is put up in 50c. and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist. Try it, and you will never have reason to complain.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed, so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, together with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer. Give express and P. O. address.

A NEW ZEALAND law says that no person shall board a moving railway train, and the authorities evidently intend that it shall be observed. A late number of the Auckland Star says that at the police court in that city two men were fined 20 shillings each for getting into a railway carriage when the train was in motion. A law of a similar nature would do no harm in Canada.

A Chinese boy at Pekin, connected with one of the missions, recently repeated the entire New Testament without missing a word or making a mistake.

CAUTION.—Don't experiment with new and untried medicines, but always keep on hand this safe and sure remedy,—Allen's Lung Balsam.

MOTHERS, have you delicate, weakly children, who are always TAKING COLD, and subject to CROUP? Remember, there never was a case of CROUP which did not originate in a COLD.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM IS YOUR REMEDY.

Physicians who have failed to cure their patients should try this medicine before they give the case up, as we know many valuable lives have been saved by being persuaded to give it a trial.

DO NOT DESPAIR because all other remedies have failed, but try this remedy, and you will not be deceived. It will cure when all others fail.

Allen's Lung Balsam is now put up in Three Sizes, Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

The 25c. bottles are put up for the accommodation of all who desire simply a Cough or Croup remedy. Those desiring a remedy for Consumption or any Lung Disease should secure the Large $1 Bottles.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

IRISH HOME RULE.

The Debate to be Prolonged—American Fighting Offers.

Ulster Loyalists Combine—Preparations for Rebellion.

A SCOTCH PETITION.

LONDON, May 17.—Three thousand men belonging to the London volunteers and one hundred officers of the same force have offered to join any army put in the field by Ulster in rebellion against Home Rule. The volunteers, it is stated, offer to equip themselves and to fight in the Ulster cause without pay or reward so long as their services may be needed.

British Orangemen are called upon to hold a mass meeting in London under the auspices of the Primrose Club for the purpose of inaugurating a league for the protection of the unity of the Empire. The meeting will be devoted to effecting a preliminary organization, adopting a title and agreeing upon the objects to which the mission of the organization is to be devoted. Catholic as well as Protestant loyalists are invited to join. One of the purposes of the league will be, it is declared, to secure the enrollment of men accustomed to service.

The meeting adopted the title of the Loyalist League of Great Britain and Ireland, and resolutions were passed pledging the members of the new organization to use their utmost endeavors to maintain the unity of the Empire.

The Standard contains an advertisement for an Adjutant for the League.

The Orangemen of Lurgan County, Armagh, are enrolling themselves in military associations organized for the purpose of resisting Home Rule Government. It is stated that in the event of an Ulster rebellion a Loyalist expedition will be ready to march on Dublin, leaving strong garrisons in Ulster and an army of observation on the Shannon.

Mr. John H. A. Macdonald, member for the Edinburgh and St. Andrew's Universities, presented in the House of Commons to-night a petition against granting Home Rule to Ireland. The petition was signed by 106,894 Scotchmen. It was one and one-quarter miles long and weighed 274 pounds, and was borne into the House on the shoulders of stalwart attendants.

The debate on the Home Rule Bill was continued in the House of Commons to-night. Sir Richard Assheton Cross, Conservative, said the Bill would not secure a good government for Ireland. Mr. Gladstone had said that the Union was effected by bribery, but the Premier himself was offering the large bribe of £50,000,000 to Ireland, and this was not the first time that he had offered a bribe.

James Stansfeld, President of the Local Government Board, said he believed in the Irish nationality and he thought that to satisfy the Irish was the only way to effect a lasting moral union of England and Ireland. (Cheers.)

LONDON, May 18.—Mr. Gladstone, in the House of Commons this afternoon, moved that the House devote four nights out of the five given to Parliamentary business every week to the debate on the Home Rule Bill. After a long and warm discussion, Mr. Gladstone's motion was carried. The debate on the Bill was then resumed.

The Irish National League has received from the 9th New York Regiment and the Clan-na-Gael Society of New York, offers to equip, transport and maintain in the field 10,000 men to support Home Rule in Ulster against any Loyalist opposition.

At a meeting of the National League in Dublin yesterday Michael Davitt expressed confidence in Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill passing the second reading.

Mr. Gladstone said the debate would be prolonged far beyond the expectation of the Opposition. The supporters of Mr. Gladstone are daily becoming more hopeful that the Home Rule Bill will be passed by Parliament. Nine Members of the House of Commons who had hitherto been opposed to the Home Rule measure have been converted since Saturday, and it is expected that other members will soon signify their adhesion to the Bill.

The Street Car Strike.

TORONTO, May 17.—The street car strike is ten days old to-day, and still there are no signs of settlement. Superintendent Franklin is quite cocky, and so are the men. The cars ran till 9.30 last night again without molestation. The 'busses of the strikers running to the West End did a tremendous business up till nearly midnight. Every one of them was packed as full as it could hold. All the 'busses that can be secured from outside the city will be put into commission. It is said that nearly a dozen of vehicles will be brought on from Guelph. The 'busses that went to the Rosedale grounds after the ball match were all rewarded with bumper loads. A number of the strikers have gone back to the Company and signed the "ironclad" agreement.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address DR. H. G. ROOT,

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

Local News.

JOHN HOWORTH and wife of the Hibernica Company are registered at Soper's European Hotel.

MR. JOHN HOPE, Bow Park, has imported from Scotland a beautiful Clydesdale stallion, sixteen hands high, at a cost of $1,500. Mr. Hope last February was unfortunate enough to lose two imported horses which died in transit.

JAMES GAY has received a porcupine from a friend. He intends giving his first exhibition on the Market Square on the 24th of May. The poet will furnish his own music having had his flute overhauled and repaired for the occasion.

NEARLY A RUNAWAY.—About four o'clock yesterday afternoon a carryall was in waiting in front of the Salvation Army barracks to convey a load of soldiers to Winterbourne, where a jubilee was to be held in the evening. When the lads and lasses had got comfortably seated, the driver started the horses. One of the animals gave a jump and broke the trace the consequence being that the horses backed against a tree breaking the rear supports of the cover and the tongue of the conveyance. Another carryall was procured and the army went on their way rejoicing. They report to-day having had a glorious time at Winterbourne.

DIOCESAN SYNOD OF NIAGARA.—The Bishop of Niagara has summoned this Synod to assemble at Hamilton on Wednesday 26th. Both lay delegates and clergy are requested to assemble in the Cathedral School house, at 7:30 p. m., on 25th May, and at 9:30 a. m. on 26th. On Tuesday evening, the 25th, the celebrated poet and preacher Bishop Arthur Cleveland Coxe, of New York, will address the Synod on Missions, and will also preach in the morning on the first day of the Synod, the 26th. His chaplain will also address the missionary meeting. The delegates from Guelph are Mr. Geo. Elliott, Mr. Charles Walker, and Mr. George Murton.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH CHOIR. — St. George's church choir held their annual meeting in the vestry last evening. The Ven. Archdeacon Dixon occupied the chair. Matters of importance to the choir generally were discussed, and some new members admitted, after which the election of officers for the ensuing year was proceeded with. The Rev. George A. Harvey was elected choirmaster by a unanimous vote. Mr. W. S. Garnham was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer and Mr. E. A. Harland librarian. Rev. Mr. Harvey has conducted choirs elsewhere with great success and under his leadership the choir will no doubt be much strengthened.

THE TWO DANS.—The Rockville Journal thus speaks of the Hibernica Comedy Co., which appear here to-night and to-morrow under the local management of Mr. F. Robinson:—Howorth's Grand Hibernica Comedy and Specialty Company drew an immense house on Tuesday evening. The laughable comedy of "The Two Dans," or, the Comedy of Blunders, kept the audience in a continual roar. The panoramic views of Ireland were superior to anything of the kind ever presented here. The clog dancing by Mr. John Fenton was excellent and he may well be called the champion. He is simply immense. The other features of this excellent company, including as well the specialties of Bryan O'Lynn, Bert Kimball, William Ashton, Belle O'Lynn, May Fenton, and in fact every one connected with the company were exceedingly good, and they deserve crowded houses wherever they appear.

MR. A. TRACEY has just completed the erection of a two-story brick house 47x31 feet, on the corner of Woolwich street and London Road.

SNEAK THIEVES.—Sneak thieving seems to have been pretty general in the town within the week. Mrs. Bennett, who keeps a fancy store on Quebec street had a child's dress stolen, valued at $3. Mr. Morris, had a shovel stolen; Mr. Grundy, who lives on the York Road, two small pigs and a hen sitting on fourteen eggs—eggs and all.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Last night a stranger had a narrow escape from being run over by the 6.20 passenger train going west. The train had started and was steaming out of the station at a good speed when the man attempted to board her at the Neeve street crossing. He caught hold of the railing of the rear car, but the velocity was such that he was swung around behind the car, and again thrown forward, when he lost his hold and was thrown on the crossing a few inches from the train. The man had a most miraculous escape, and it was a wonder to the onlookers how he escaped being thrown under the wheels.

ESCAPE OF A CONVICT.—A man named Kervin, about 25 years of age, from Grey, sentenced to the Penitentiary for three years, made his escape across the common in rear of the Warden's residence the other day. On crossing Union street he shook his hat at some men working some distance away. On going through a gentleman's garden he took care to fasten a gate behind him. On crossing a bridge he saw some boys fishing. He requested them to say that they had not seen a convict pass. After crossing the bridge he met a friend, who walked with him and gave him a good idea of the country. Kervin served a year in the Penitentiary. He has not been captured.

STRUCK A SNAG.—There are some enthusiastic oarsmen in the city, and although they would not for a moment claim to take a place with a Hanlan, yet at the same time they hold a high opinion of themselves as local rowers of no mean merit. On Tuesday evening two of these gentlemen set out for a practice on the placid waters of the river Speed, on their way to Paradise. The vigorous arms of the rowers, combined with skilful management, soon placed the adventurers within sight of the desired haven, where they intended to spend an hour or so in perfect felicity. But an earthly mortal has said "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft agley," and so was it with these worthies. On approaching the enchanted spot, they had an experience which nearly brought them to paradise in reality, and all through the boat striking a snag in landing. One of the occupants, to facilitate this operation, caught hold of the branch of a tree, and with the aid of the additional force lent in striking the snag, the boat was upset. One man was upset into the river and the other heroically clung to the branch of the tree. The one who clung to the tree displayed considerable muscular power and in less time than it takes to relate had gained a safe position among its leafy branches. In the meantime his companion was buffeting the waves of the Speed in a determined effort to get to the shore, which he reached safely, and not without considerable difficulty. By the time the boat was righted the cushions of the craft and the coats of the occupants were gracefully floating out of view. These were secured before rice island was reached. When they arrived at the boat house—to draw a similie—the pair presented as draggled an appearance as one of the "Oregon" mail bags would be supposed to do, although the mails in the post office are distributed with the usual regularity.

Utica was defeated by Syracuse by the score of 5 to 4, and Binghampton by Oswego by the score of 9 to 6 on Wednesday.

Utica will play the Maple Leafs here, one game on the 30th June and two on the 1st July.

AQUATIC.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of lovers of aquatic sport was held last night in the office of Mr. John Davidson. After a general discussion of the matter it was resolved to organize under the name of the "Guelph Boating and Canoeing Club." The following officers were elected:—Commodore, J. S. Jones; Vice-Commodore, W. Clarke; Captain, J. Ross; Purser, D. Stewart; Secretary, J. Stirton. Committee—G. Ross, G. Gausby, H. McPherson, T. Anderson, J. Davidson, D. Allan, Jr., E. Donnally. The Club have leased a large park near the Victoria bridge with excellent natural advantages for pleasure grounds and purpose at once to erect landing places and make other improvements which will make this one of the most delightful spots in the neighborhood for picnic and pleasure parties.

Methodist District Meeting.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Acton, this beautifully situated and enterprising village, was the scene of more than ordinary interest this week on account of the clergy and lay representatives of the Methodist Church, belonging to the Guelph District, meeting to transact their annual church work there on Tuesday, continuing for two days. A most cordial welcome was tendered by the inhabitants generally. The following ministers and laymen were present:—Guelph Norfolk street Church, Rev. W. J. Holmes and Mr. W. G. Smith; Dublin street, Revs. Dr. Griffin, J. H. Carson and Alfred Smith and E. R. Bollert; Paisley street, Rev. Wm. Savage and A. Galbraith. Galt—Rev. A. M. Phillips and Thos. McGiven. Berlin—Rev. T. Nugent and E. B. Clement. Preston—Rev. W. Campbell and B. E. Shultz. Hespeler—Rev. W. Mills and W. Ellis. Waterloo—Rev. A. Bowers and Thos. Hilliard. Elmira—Rev. T. Snowden and N. S. Bowman. Elora—Revs. J Mills, T. Fear and J. Modeland. Fergus—Rev. J. Colling and F. Cassidy. Ponsonby—Rev. J. Crane. Marsville—Rev. W. Willmott and J. Near. Garafraxa—Rev. F. M. Smith and E. Smith. Eramosa—Rev. J. Walker and S. Carr. Georgetown—Rev. J. S. Shelton and J. Dean. Norval—Rev. J. Rapp and R. Watson. Toronto—Revs. J. Gray, W. Burns. Erin—Rev. W. S. Shannon, G. Beswick. Rockwood—Rev. F. Swan, T. Waters. Acton—Rev. R. Phillips and Asa Hall. Nassagaweya—Revs. R. Henders, J. Patton and J. Marshall, H. Wallace. Montreal—Wesleyan Theological College, Rev. H. Irvine. Goldstone—Rev. H. Ker.

The sessions of Tuesday were devoted to the examination of ministers' moral character, ability for their work, &c., and it was most pleasing to observe that no case requiring censure occurred during the year. Five probationers—Messrs. Carson, Irvine, Rapp, Patton, and Ker passed satisfactorily the usual ordeal of examinations, each of the young men having obtained a few weeks ago first class certificates in the written examinations.

The financial interests of the church throughout the district were considered Wednesday, and it was very gratifying to find that much prosperity had attended the labors of the year. The various funds showed an increase. The following amounts had been received: Ministerial suppor, $13,822, increase $1,277. Missionary fund, $2,717, increase, $116. Superannuation fund, $914, increase $84. Educational fund, $215, increase, $30. The total deficiencies in ministers salaries was $544; last year it was $1,566. Times must be getting better. The membership of the church in Guelph district is 4,095, being an increase of 284 during the year. Several special successful efforts in liquidating church debts have been very successful. Those in this city were most remarkable, amounting to over $7,00.

The following are the amounts raised by each church during the year for all purposes:

Norfolk street church, Guelph	$8,903 12
Dublin street church, Guelph	7,293 55
Paisley street church, Guelph	740 15
Fergus	1,649 21
Galt	3,849 00
Preston	1,369 21
Hespeler	.....
Waterloo	866 80
Elmira	1,156 20
Elora	1,327 30
Ponsonby	2,203 04
Garafraxa East	785 00
Garafraxa West	559 31
Eramosa	775 86
Georgetown	2,425 19
Ballinafad and Erin	1,599 12
Berlin	1,704 14
Nassagaweya	2,441 13
Acton	2,085 15
Rockwood	960 15

The following are the delegates elected to the Annual Conference:—W. G. Smith, D. Scroggie, E. R. Bollert, W. W. Kenny, James Mills, E. Daniels, Guelph; T. McGivern, Galt; E. P. Clement, Berlin; E. Z. Detwiler, Preston; W. H. Ellis, Hespeler; T. Hilliard, Waterloo; M. S. Bowman, Elmira; Isaac Modeland, Elora; J Near, Orton; E. H. Smith, Belwood; C. Nicklin, S. H. Kennedy, Ponsonby; F. Cassidy, Fergus; Geo. Beswick, Ballinafad; H. P. Moore, Acton; Jno. Kitching, Corwhin; S. Ker, Rockwood; W. H. Anger, Elora; I. E. Bowman, Waterloo; Geo. Beavers, Galt.

A WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., fisherman has solved the problem of trout catching. The secret lay in the bait he used—potato bugs. He had used several kinds of bait, but was unsuccessful in landing the trout. Finally he noticed a potato bug travelling around in search of his favorite vegetable, and he impaled him on the hook and dropped him into the water. He had more trout than he could carry when he reeled in his line.

A Request from Toronto.

TORONTO, May 20.—The Board of Trade at a special meeting yesterday considered the question of rates via the Canadian Pacific and the Northern and Pacific Junction Railways from Toronto and western Ontario to the Northwest. A resolution was adopted asking for such amendment of Canadian Pacific Railway legislation now before Parliament as shall secure to Toronto and vicinity the benefits of its closer proximity than Montreal to the Northwest.

Fire at Orangeville.

ORANGEVILLE, May 19.—At ten o'clock to-night the boot and shoe store owned by W. J. Price was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was immediately given, but although the volunteer brigade turned out considerable time was lost before any water was thrown on the flames. The building, which was occupied by J. McKim, flour and feed store; Mrs. Emsley, fancy goods; and W. J. Price, was totally destroyed. For a time it looked as if the entire street would be destroyed. The store occupied by Shaw Brothers, grocers, and the office of the Sun newspaper were badly damaged. The damage amounts to about $5,000.

Prisoners Bailed.

TORONTO, May 20.—Application was made to Mr. Justice O'Connor yesterday for bail in the Keppel murder case. The motion was made by Mr. Masson, Q.C., on behalf of King and Wilson. Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, Deputy Attorney-General for the Crown, intimated that bail must be large in such a serious matter. The Judge fixed the amount indicated by the Crown, viz., $6,000 for prisoner and sureties to a like amount in each case. This makes $24,000 bail in both cases. No application has been made on behalf of Steinoff, the third prisoner. It is not known whether the above bail can be procured, and in default, the parties will continue in custody.

Power of the People.

LONDON, May 19.—John Bright, speaking at a mission bazaar to-night, said that the Sunday Schools contribute much toward the development of the moral feelings, and that the work performed by them was of more importance at the present moment than it had been at any previous period in English history. The powers of monarchs were lessening, and the influence of the aristocracy was fading away. The only power that was growing—a power that would never henceforth be limited—was the power of the people. He claimed, therefore, that the most pressing need at the present time was political education, by which there could be cultivated in the minds of the people a sense of their moral responsibility. They should be taught that labor should have its just reward and that the wealthy should be permitted to enjoy their riches in security.

Agricultural Students Nominations.

It will be remembered that at the last session of the Ontario Legislature an amendment was made to the Act respecting the Agricultural College by which each county in the Province has the right, through its Council, to send one student to the Institution for a full course free of all tuition fees. A condition attaching to this privilege is that the student nominated shall have resided with his parents on a farm for two years, this provision being made to guard against the nomination of those who have not a practical knowledge of agriculture. The County Councils meet in June, when they will doubtless make such nominations. Meantime it is in order for those young men wishing to be honored with this favor to send in their applications to the clerk of the county in which they reside. Such communications sent to Mr. James Beattie, Fergus, will be brought before the County Council for Wellington.

Death of Hon. L. S. Huntington

Hon. Lucius Seth Huntington died suddenly at his residence in New York on Wednesday. He had been indisposed for a month past, but there was nothing in his symptoms to alarm his family or friends. He complained of oppression in his throat and chest, at times his breathing being difficult and painful. He was seized with a more violent form of his trouble about three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, and gradually grew worse until night, when the doctors decided to open the windpipe and insert a tube. This operation did not afford the sufferer any apparent relief, and at 2.20 the following morning he breathed his last.

Mr. Huntington was born at Compton, Quebec, on May 26th. 1827, and was called to the bar in 1853. In 1861 he was elected to represent Shefford, and in 1863 he became a member of the Sandfield Macdonald-Dorion Government. In 1874 he joined the Mackenzie Cabinet, holding office as Postmaster General until the defeat of the Reform party in 1878, after which time he sat in the House of Commons as a private member till 1882. During the last few years he has been connected with a law firm in New York. He was an author of some repute, and in his political career he attained considerable distinction. It was Mr. Huntington who formulated the Pacific Scandal charges in 1873, which caused the overthrow of the Macdonald Government. Mr. Huntington was a natural orator, but he rarely spoke in Parliament. The news of his death will be received with sorrow by members of the Liberal party, among whom he was a favorite.

Grip:—"The Great Conservative Party" ought to change its name. "Great Preservative"—that is to say, self-preservative—would be more in accord with the recently detected proclivities of its leaders.

It is pretty well established that the members of the Senate do not perform much work for their pay. To show the practical uselessness of the chamber as at present constituted Mr. Paterson in his speech on the Senate, on Friday, quoted the following figures showing the number of hours the Senate had actually sat during the sessions of 1884, 1885 and up to the present time of 1886. During 1885 they only sat 115 hours 40 minutes, having indulged in several holiday relaxations of two weeks each. Last year they sat 222 hours and 5 minutes, and up to the 10th May this session they had only sat 74 hours, 50 minutes. Notwithstanding this small attendance to their duties they cost the country in 1884 $133,576 and in 1885 $175,508.

The people of Cape Breton, the Northern portion of Nova Scotia, are not satisfied with the present state of things. They claim that as compared with the southern part of the Province they do not get their share of the public money, and in other ways are not fairly treated. They want separation from the rest of the Province. At a meeting held last Saturday, at Sydney, resolutions were unanimously passed that all parties would unite to use every constitutional means to secure local self-government for Cape Breton as a Province of the Dominion, and an influential representative committee was appointed to carry out the object of the meeting, and to that end make arrangement for a convention to be held in a central locality to lay down a common platform and thus secure unity of action in the four counties interested.

If we are to believe the Montreal Post the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec was laboring under a mistake when he issued his mandement against the Knights of Labor, and forbidding any of the people belonging to his diocese to become members of the organization. It says: "As the condemnation was totally unlooked for, it fell like a thunderbolt among the Catholics of both the United States and Canada. It had been known that the Sacred Congregation of the Inquisition at Rome had passed a condemnatory judgment upon a constitution which pretended to be that of the Knights of Labor, and which was, we have reason to believe, submitted to the Archbishop of Quebec by some 'member' of the old telegraphers union, with which the Knights of Labor would have no relations. It is this condemnation, passed by the Sacred Congregation upon a constitution which, if it ever was, is certainly no longer the one now in force among the Knights of Labor that Mgr. Taschereau has promulgated in his mandement of the 19th of April. This exposition of the inside history of that condemnation is sufficient to explain how and why the rest of the Canadian episcopate and the whole of the American episcopate have either explicitly or implicitly declined to take similar adverse action against the Knights."

Mr. Tasse asked whether Senator O'Donohoe had signed a document addressed to the Catholic electors of Ontario in October, 1882. The question was ruled out of order.

The Bill respecting Insurance, the Bill to amend the Act respecting the Reformatory of the County of Halifax and the Bill respecting Offences Against the Person were read a third time.

The Bill to amend the law respecting the Northwest Territories was read a second time.

Resolutions providing for a loan of $75,000 to the Harbour of Quebec were passed in Committee, and a Bill founded on them was read a first time.

The House went Committee of Supply and considered the Immigration estimates until the adjournment.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

Annual Meeting of the Grand Council in Toronto.

TORONTO, May 20.—The annual meeting of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum of Ontario was held yesterday in Victoria Hall, Victoria street. About fifty delegates were present. The report of Grand Regent Daniel Spry stated that the Order had now 40 Councils in Ontario, with a membership of 1650. The receipts for the past year had been $2207, and expenditure $1495, leaving a balance of $712. The report of C. F. Colwell, representative to the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum, was also presented.

These officers were elected; Grand Regent, Warren Totten, Woodstock; Grand Vice Regent, David McLellan, Hamilton; Grand Orator, Joseph W. Hickson, Toronto; Grand Past Regent, Daniel Spry, Barrie; Grand Secretary, W. E. Brown, Hamilton; Grand Treasurer, Charles Cottis, Guelph, Grand Chaplain, Rev. Isaac Bearfoot, Wallaceburg; Grand Guide, T. L. Lewis, Chatham; Grand Warden, H. W. Anthes, Berlin; Grand Sentry, George Brown, Point Edward; Grand Trustees, Thomas Sargent, Toronto, three years; Dr. G. W. Ross, Woodstock, two years; A. M. McBride, London, one year. The next annual meeting will be held at Woodstock.

In the evening a complimentary banquet was tendered the Grand Council by the members of the Toronto Council at the Rossin House. The chair was occupied by Bro. John J. Withrow, and round him were seated Lieut.-Governor Robinson, and several of the Grand Officers.

The 1st Vice-Chair was occupied by Dr. J. E. King and the 2nd by ex Ald. Brandon. There were about 100 guests present.

THE STREET CAR STRIKE.

Crowded Mass Meeting in St. Lawrence Hall—Progress of the Strike.

TORONTO, May 20.—The mass meeting held in St. Lawrence Hall to discuss the street car troubles last night was largely attended. Mayor Howland paid a high compliment to the men for the manner in which they had acted throughout the strike. He said he had always been a warm friend of the workingman, but in his present position had to remain neutral. The people in Canada he declared were not kept far apart as in Europe by wealth, position and caste, and to illustrate this he instancesd many leading men in Toronto to-day who, a few years ago, occupied very humble positions. He next spoke of the councils of peace in France by which thousands of labor disputes were amicably settled, but here he declared our legislators stood like dumb dogs, being afraid to touch social problems. A. F. Jury next gave a history of the present trouble, and was followed by other speakers, including Messrs O'Donoghue and A. W. Wright. A series of resolutions was passed affirming unqualified condemnation of the tyrannical action of Hon. Frank Smith, pledging support to the strikers and recommending the formation of an omnibus company by the men themselves. At this stage a brewer jumped up on to the platform and said he would put His Worship's sympathies to a practical test. The Mayor, he said, is a temperance man, while I am a brewer. I will give $100 or $200 towards the strike fund if the Mayor will head the paper with a like amount. I will give anything His Worship will give. Mr. Jury sprang to his feet and denounced Thomas' impertinence in thus insulting the Mayor. They were not there to catch anti-Scott Act votes, and this brewer had better understand that he could not catch the workingmen that way. Mr. O'Donoghue excitedly declared that the day was past when this brewer of Toronto could purchase the workingmen with money. Mayor Howland—That is the best declaration of Independence I have ever heard by a workingman. Thomas was almost hissed off the stage, and when he reached the floor he looked as if he could be bought for a bunch of matches. A warm vote of thanks was passed to His Worship, and the meeting adjourned.

There were more cars running yesterday than on any day since the strike began. All of the routes were covered until 9 o'clock. The Church street cars ran until nearly midnight. The 'busses keep up their patronage and the men continue hopeful. Voluntary subscriptions are coming in. Superintendent Franklin said yesterday that he had thirty of the men who had gone out on strike back at work. He also said that he had more applications for work than he could accommodate. Mr. Franklin's statements and those of the Executive as to the number of strikers who returned to work do not tally at all.

African Butchery.

LONDON, May 19.—Despatches received from Cape Coast Castle, capital of the Gold Coast, West Africa, say that a conflict is proceeding between the Becquahs and Adansis, two native tribes, and that in consequence the roads are blocked and all trade with the interior is temporarily stopped. The Becquahs recently captured 45 German traders and killed them all by the most horrible tortures and mutilations.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

OTTAWA, May 10th, 1886.

In answer to a question put last week, the Premier stated that though a writ had been ordered to be issued by the House for a new election in Haldimand, the Government had decided that the election should not be held till after the 1st of August, when the voters' list as perfected by the Revising Officer could be used. From his explanation the slightest hint could not be obtained whether or not a general election will be held this year. Some are inclined to think that this will depend on the result of the general elections for the Quebec Legislature, which will probably take place in June. In any case the elections for the Dominion will not come off till after the 1st of August, after which time the lists prepared under the new Franchise Act can be used.

On Monday last Mr. Blake brought up his notice of motion accusing Mr. Murray Dodd and Mr. McDougall of Cape Breton, of causing the removal of a Mr. Roche from being a member of the Pilotage Board of Sydney, C. B., because he voted against Mr. McDougall, the Government candidate. Notice of this motion was made at the time Mr. Edgar's charges were preferred against Messrs. White and Bowell in connection with the Prince Albert Colonization Company. Mr. Blake read his specific charges and asked for a Committee of Enquiry. Mr. Dodd, who seems to have been the prime mover in this matter, tried to evade the charge by stating that he simply cautioned Mr. Roche in the most friendly manner not to take any active part against McDougall which might imperil his position. Mr. Blake, however, read a letter from Dodd to Roche just after McDougall's election, in which he said, "You must remember that it is the invariable rule where a Government officer votes against the Government candidate, as you did in the case of the election of McDougall and McKay, that he runs the risk of being turned out. Knowing all this you assumed the responsibility of the course you pursued, and having done so I fear you must submit to the consequence." If this is not a pure case of first of intimidation and then of punishment and deprivation of office because he would not, and did not, vote for the Government candidate, then we do not know what these mean.

There was quite a little breeze between the Premier and Mr. Peter Mitchell on Wednesday, when the bill to amend the Chinese Immigration Act was up for discussion. Mr. Mitchell has pursued a very independent course this session, and has sharply criticized a good many of the Government's doings. It is proposed in the bill to give a salary of $3,000 to a Chinese interpreter who would be useful in settling matters in dispute between Chinese immigrants and Government officers. Mr. Mitchell said this was an extravagant salary to give for this work, and $1,000 was quite sufficient. After some hot words between Sir John and Mr. Mitchell, during which the latter said he had little confidence in the Government, he moved that the sum be reduced to $1,000, but the amendment was negatived. This fat office will no doubt be given to some special pet of the Government.

On Friday Mr. Mills brought up his amendment relating to the Senate when the motion was made to go into Committee of Supply. It declared that the present method of constituting the Senate is inconsistent with the Federal principle in our system of Government, as it makes that body independent of the people and the Crown, and recommends such changes in our constitution as will make the Senate more directly responsible to the people. Mr. Mills supported his amendment in a vigorous speech, and he was followed by Mr. Paterson, who from the sittings of the Senate showed how little time they consumed in the work of legislation. Their arguments went to prove that the Senate as it now stands is simply a body to register the measures passed by the Government in the Commons. The only argument the Premier could bring to bear against those advanced by the Opposition was, that the majority of the Senate in approving of the Government's measures and policy was acting in accordance with the wishes of the majority of the people, who kept the Government in power, but he did not tell the House that for years past he has filled every vacancy in the Senate with his Tory friends, with broken down Tory hacks, or with unsuccessful Tory candidates for the Commons. With such an overwhelming majority of Tories in the Senate, independent expressions of opinion or action need not be looked for. In that Chamber at present there are only four Reform members from Ontario. Will any one in that Province Reform or Conservative—say that this is a fair or just representation of the Reform element from that Province? The impression is growing stronger every day by fair minded men of both parties, that the Senate must be reconstituted in some other shape than it is at present, or be abolished altogether.

It is a curious coincidence that while the Opposition were attacking the Senate that Chamber was the scene of the liveliest discussion that has taken place this session. Hon John O'Donohoe brought up his motion, asking for the production of the papers in connection with the promise of his appointment to a seat in the Cabinet, made to him by Sir John Macdonald at Sir David Macpherson's House in Toronto in May 1882, just before the last general election. I need not go into this matter in detail as you will no doubt deal with it editorially. Suffice to say that Mr. O'Donohoe established the fact that Sir John had made him such a promise, that he actually showed him a copy of the patent signed by Lord Lorne, which, however, has never been carried into effect, for the Hon. Frank Smith was taken into the Cabinet instead and the Government in the hope of mollifying O'Donohoe made him a Senator. Mr. O'Donohoe in the course of his speech denounced the Government in unmeasured terms. He said it "was not a Government for a country like this"; that it was a "corrupt Government"; "an incapable Administration"; "an effete Administration"; a "bloody Administration," and a "charter-selling Government." Mr. Smith replied in a long, rambling speech, in which he defended the action of the Government by saying that the Irish Catholics of Ontario in 1882 would not accept John O'Donohoe as their representative in the Cabinet, and that if he (Mr. Smith) would not accept the position they would rather take Mr. O'Keefe or Mr. Foy or some other prominent Catholic, but in no case O'Donohoe. It is a pretty quarrel between these two gentlemen, and created quite an excitement, many members from the Commons being present in the Senate while they were speaking. The rules of order are by no means so strictly enforced in our House of Lords as in the Commons, for those two gentlemen were allowed to indulge in all sorts of personalities, and they talked to each other as if they were disputing across a table. It was altogether a most undignified scene, and is calculated more and more to bring the Senate into contempt.

The prospect now is that the business of the session will not be got through with before the end of May, say about the 28th or 29th. The Government seem to be in no hurry to get through the work. Three of their bills are not yet introduced—the principal one being amendments to the Franchise Act. What the nature of these will be no one outside the Cabinet can yet tell. The bill will no doubt be the subject of a sharp, and it may be a prolonged, debate both on it and the infamous act of last year, which latter has already caused so much trouble and expense to both parties, and which gives satisfaction to neither.

Elora Correspondence.

EARLY CLOSING.—After a fair share of consultation, the merchants of Elora have sensibly determined to close their places of business at 7 p.m. during the summer months,commencing on the 25th May. Nothing will be lost by this, the public will be as well served as now, and a chance for recreation will be given to the store clerk as well as to the mechanic. On Saturday nights stores will close as now.

SHAW'S SALE.—The sale of the effects of Mr J M Shaw was conducted by himself on Friday last, and the various articles fetched fair cash prices. His well known running horse "Minnie Gray" did not meet with a purchase, and his carriage outfit was not, therefore, put to the hammer. His residence was sold to Mr Thomas Fairweather, for the sum of $830. Mr Fairweather has secured a cheap homestead.

THE LIGHT FANTASTIC.—The votaries of Terpsichore will join in the mazy in the Drill Shed this evening and have a social jig at the rate of 50 cents per couple The music will be supplied by a one armed fiddler who performs prodigies on his violin and ought to make a fortune out of his misfortune. Why doesn't he apply to Barnum, who is always on the outlook for novelties. One-legged scrapers are as common as blackberries in summer, but an artist with one arm is a rara avis.

KEEPING POSSESSION.—An impecunious tenant, recently from Killarney, has possession of a dwelling in Elora from which he is determined not to be evicted. He can't even be bought off, and the landlord is in despair, as he never sees "a cint of rint" and isn't likely to do so if Mick holds on to doomsday. The landlord, is is needless to say, denounces Gladstone and Home Rule as the greatest humbugs of the day.

JUBILEE SERVICE.—The Rev. P. L. Spencer has determined to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the coronation of Her Majesty by a special service. at which the Elora Company of Volunteers will be invited to assist.

SUDDEN DEATH.—At Woodstock, on the 13th inst, Mrs Martha Firth Parker, sister of Dr Savage, of Elora, died after a short illness. The body was brought here for interment, and was deposited in the cemetery on Saturday last, a large number of friends attending the funeral.

FOR EUROPE.—Another of our citizens, Mr. Geo. C. Bristow, intends to visit Europe this summer, and will start sometime in July.

THE HIBERNICA.—The youngsters of the village are all agog with excitement, and are looking forward to the advent of the Howarth show to-morrow evening with great expectations.

FOR TORONTO.—"The Professor," who, by the way, has donned a new suit of remarkable brilliancy and beauty, is daily expecting a call to Toronto, where he is to be engaged in setting before the public the virtues and high qualities of "The Chinese Mixture." Whether that is the name of a new drink got up for supporters of the Scott Act, or a strong tea at a remarkably low figure, time will tell.

FROST.—It is feared that the frost of yesterday morning has done mischief, but very little is as yet observable. A few days will tell how much fruit has suffered.

Elora, 18th May, 1886.

Fergus Correspondence.

CATTLE.—Mr. J. Richardson, of Garafraxa, shipped 13 excellent cattle on Friday last. Price, $5.50. Prices are now ranging lower.

POISONED.—Dr. Orton's fine young St.Bernard dog—which has been at Mrs. Grain's here for the past year—was poisoned on Sunday morning last. The dog was a valuable one and harmless, and why such a mean action should be committed we cannot see. It is to be hoped the guilty parties will be punished.

CHURCHES.—Rev. Mr. Mills, of Elora, conducted morning service in the Methodist Church, and Rev.Mr. Wilkinson in the evening. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson preached in St. Andrew's in the morning and addressed a union meeting in the same place in the evening after church. Dr. Smellie filled his own pulpit on Sunday morning. He remained sitting during the service, only rising to pronounce the benediction.

LECTURE.—Mr. Wilkinson's lecture in the town hall last night, on temperance, was not particularly well attended. At the close a private meeting of temperance supporters was held for the purpose of making arrangements for carrying out the Scott Act. We are unable to say exactly what steps were taken, but the feeling seems to be pretty general that the Act should be carried out. Mr. Wilkinson's address was a good one, and delivered with lots of vim. A collection was taken up for the Dominion Alliance.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Orton was here for two or three days the end of last week. Mr George Smellie starts for Manitoba to-morrow. His cattle were shipped on Thursday last. Dr. Groves starts for Manitoba in a day or two. He has accepted a surgeon's position on the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway.

WEATHER.—The rain has kept up, and as a consequence seeding is uninished, the ground being too wet. We hear of a Pilkington farmer attempting seeding and getting his big Clydesdale horses stuck in the mud so solid that they had to be lifted out. This occurred three or four times and it is worse than anything around here. Frost on Sunday night and again last night.

SHOW.—Howorth's Hibernica Company played here to-night to a very good house. The play was much enjoyed, the audience being kept in roars of laughter a great deal of the time. The dancing was first-class and the dance excellent and most laughable. All may go and spend a funny hour. The show will draw well here.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—After all our village is to honor the Queen. Games, races and sports of all kinds as usual on the race course and good music as well. The lacrosse boys play a game with Elmsburne on our own grounds. This will likely be a close and exciting contest, and one well worth seeing. We hope for Queen's weather and a good crowd.

ASSAULT.—Gen. Atherton had George Allan pulled up for breaking in the door of his house last Saturday night or Sunday morning. The case came up last night before Messrs Thomson, Taylor and Beattie, J. P.s, and was adjourned till to-night for more evidence. The case was continued to night, the result being that Allan was fined $20 and costs, and $6 for damages. The fine is not too heavy—but we understand Allan denies the charge and will appeal against this decision of our magistrates.

THE Lacrosse Clubs of Orangeville and Fergus are pitted against each other for the first game in the association matches for this central district. The game will be played next week, but where, it has not yet been decided.

Fergus, May 18.

Arthur Correspondence.

ARTHUR DECIDES TO APPEAL.—Our Reeve called a public meeting of the ratepayers in the Drill Shed on Saturday afternoon to take into consideration the advisability of appealing the law case which was lately tried in Guelph, between John Madden and James Burns, of the Township of Peel, and the Corporation of the Village of Arthur. Both men last fall were seriously hurt and the horse killed by backing over a bridge which had a defective railing,and for which the village has been mulcted in damages to the tune of $2,500, besides costs, Madden getting $2,100,and Burns $500. At the meeting Mr. John Small was called to the chair and stated that the ratepayers were all aware for what purpose the meeting was called, namely, to take into consideration and decide whether or not the Council should appeal against the decision which had just been given against the Corporation. After stating that he hoped the discussion would be confined to the question now before the ratepayers. he called upon the Reeve to explain the call. The Reeve then gave an elaborate statement of the trial, discussing the various points as he went along. He also read a condensed report of the case and a lawyer's letter advising an appeal. The Reeve spoke strongly in favor of an appeal and stated that the amount of damages given to Madden was very excessive and that he had no doubt in case they appealed they would get it reduced down to one half. He also stated that the Judge in placing the case before the jury acted very partial and one-sided, and for that reason he would like to see the case appealed. The chairman said if any ratepayers had any questions to ask the Reeve, now was the time before he took his seat, after which a motion would be in order. A few questions were asked and several motions made, which resulted in a motion in favor of an appeal being carried by about two-thirds. Several parties expressed themselves strongly against any appeal.

THE SCOTT ACT.—We have had over two weeks now of the Scott Act and notice very little difference in regard to the liquor traffic. From what has been published about other places where the Scott Act is in force Arthur is no worse than we read about. In fact, so far, we believe that it is considerably better than some people thought or hoped it would be, and from what we have heard and read we feel inclined to congratulate ourselves that there is no more drinking going on under the Scott Act than there was under the Crooks Act. We believe that our hotel keepers are making an outward show as far as their bars are concerned of observing the Act by keeping nothing but soft drinks and cigars exposed for sale. They also close on Saturday nights at the accustomed hour, but even this is poor satisfaction and a slim recompense for the loss of revenue to the municipality which is already burdened down with taxation.

WET WEATHER.—Notwithstanding the early growths of vegetation the season bids fair to be very late for all kinds of grain and roots. The continued wet weather is a serious drawback to getting in the crops. We had a slight shower of snow on Sunday, but the weather seems to to have taken up again. Let us hops it will continue.

MR. EDITOR,

DEAR SIR:—Our attention has been attracted by an editorial in the Berlin News, stating that a number of manufacturing establishments located at other places, are contemplating removing to Berlin, and setting forth the advantages of that place as a manufacturing town. While we are glad to hear of the success of Berlin, we would like to see our own city take a stride forward, as it did in the past, in the race for supremacy. We of Guelph seem to forget that the position of this city has entirely changed within the past ten years. Then we had only to sit still, and as the country grew we were bound to grow with it. We were then the centre of a much larger rural district than to-day, a large part of our trade having been cut off by the Canadian Pacific Railroad, so that now if we are to grow, it must be by our manufacturing industries. We are still the centre of a large farming community, but we cannot depend on that, if we expect to become a large city. At present we draw a large trade from the towns and villages both east and west, as far as Georgetown on the one hand, and New Hamburg on the other, and north on the Western branch to Southampton and Kincardine, and south to Galt, including all intermediate towns on both lines, but we cannot expect to hold this trade if such towns as Berlin and Galt are to be allowed to go ahead of us as they evidently are doing at present. It behooves us to look about us and ask ourselves what has been the cause of the slow growth of Guelph for the few past years. Are we not as well, or better situated than either Berlin or Galt? Have we not as thrifty, industrious and energetic a population? Are our natural advantages not as great? One thing we lack, we have only one line of railroad, but Berlin labors under the same disadvantage. Our people have shown that they recognize the necessity of doing something by voting a bonus of $2,000 to a chair factory. There is a Glove manufactory which for very little outlay might be brought to Guelph, and there is no knowing what it might grow to, it would certainly have every advantage over its Acton competitor. We think that here is a matter for the Council or Board of Trade to take hold of. In a few years it will have grown to such an extent that it would be too expensive an operation to remove to Guelph.

The Board of Trade did a good thing for the city when they secured the half rate fares to Guelph on Saturday, and we supplemented their action in the matter by paying that single fare to any one buying a certain amount. This has been a source of great profit to Guelph and might have been a great deal more so, if people coming from outside towns and villages had seen that there was a great advantage to any one buying in Guelph, but when our merchants advertise that Cottons and Shirtings and such goods as that can be bought as cheaply at home as here, people conclude and very naturally that all other goods as well can be bought to as great advantage at home.

We have had people come to the Lion, after doing all the other stores, and say "what is the use of coming to Guelph to buy? I have been through all the stores and I can do just as well at home," and it was only after being shown through our stock that they were convinced that they could do better in Guelph if they came to the LION. We call on the merchants to bring their prices down and thus induce outsiders to come to Guelph.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—On Friday evening of last week, a very severe thunderstorm passed over the village of Rockton. The lightning struck a barn belonging to F. J. Edwards and consumed it. Two valuable horses and about 300 bushels of grain were also burned. The occupant, Mr. Allardice, was not aware the barn was struck until his neighbor, Robert Riddle, ran and called fire. The loss is estimated at about $2,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—On the 1st Sabbath in May, the Rockton Sabbath school commenced for this season. The attendance was 78. The Superintendent is assisted by a staff of 10 teachers.

GRIST MILL.—The grist mill is doing a good business under the proprietorship of Geo. Patrick.

BASEBALL.—The Rockton base ball club has commenced operations. The following are the officers:—Pres., D. Jackson; Vice Pres., Geo. Jackson; Sec'y Treas., David Bell; Captain, James Riddle; Committee, F. Halberstadt, John Riddle, jr., and Chas. Stewart. All local clubs take a note of the above.

Mr Alexander Bell, sr., is so far recovered that he was able to drive to Galt the other day.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.—The death of one of the pioneers of Beverly Township took place on Sabbath morning 16th, in the person of Mr John Armstrong Sr Deceased was born in North Cumberland, England, in 1811, and emigrated to Canada in 1836. For over 51 years he lived on his farm near Rockton vi lage. He was possessed of a good education and always took an active part in educational matters. For over 19 years he performed the duties of Secretary-treasurer of Beverly Agricultural Society. But about 17 years ago he was compelled to resign owing to ill health and since that time he was confined more or less to the house. He bore all his afflictions with Christian patience, becoming a true soldier of the Cross. Deceased was very highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Kirkwall for over 50 years. His widow survives him. They had 15 children, 11 of whom are still living.

Rockton, May 17th, 1886.

Nassagaweya Correspondence

A BEAR HUNT.—A few days ago as a scientific farmer near Eden Mills was ploughing in his field he noticed in the orchard of the adjoining farm what appeared to be a large dog. Upon a closer survey he became convinced it was nothing less than a bear. Not wishing to monopolize the sport he quietly went on with his ploughing and allowed his neighbor and his regal assistant to tackle Mr. Bruin. This they did in a spirited manner, taking care however to keep a good dog and a hundred yards between them and the bear. How long the exciting chase might have continued it is hard to say, but at this time bruin, in attempting to climb the fence, fell backward and the brave hunters thinking the hunt was reversed,started a "go as you please" race with the dog to the house. The scientific farmer who was a silent spectator of the whole proceedings began to upbraid his neighbor for his seeming cowardice but the latter immediately silenced him by quietly remarking—

"He that fights and runs away
May live to fight another day."

ANOTHER HUNT.—Scarcely had the excitement of the "bear hunt" died away when a hunt of more thrilling situations, and hair-breath escapes took place, not far from the scene of the bear hunt, but the brave actors in the latter not craving for more glory or gore took no part in the steer hunt. A certain well to do farmer who takes a lively interest in the dairying business on Monday started to Guelph with his last cattle. The first three miles of his journey was covered in about five hours. Suddenly one of the animals became enraged. Then a man in white appeared and lent his assistance for a short time, but unfortunately getting too near the animal he fell. Hereupon the steer rushed at him with the frenzy of a wild beast and succeeded in slightly wounding him in several places, and had it not been for his great courage, his presence of mind and the presence of another gentleman in white he would probably have been killed, the latter gentleman having on a previous occasion taken part in a similar fright. The steer being master of the situation the owner left him in the wood and proceeded on his way, only to find his neighbor loading a quieter animal in the wagon. He had not gone far, however,when his remaining cattle suddenly became as wild as the first and dashing over fences and other obstacles soon reached the first battle-ground. More than a dozen of the neighbors turned out and arrayed themselves under the leadership of the owner, determined to dislodge the vicious brute from the secure position which he had taken up in the swamp. One, with flowing, tawny beard and of immense statute, more daring than the others,called on his tardy followers to charge. A bold rush was made, but one of the foremost being possessed of a flowing red beard, this enraged the animal still more. The order was now countermanded and they retired on the double quick with the steer in hot pursuit. By the skilful manœuvring of the captain and his two bearded lieutenants, of two men climbing friendly trees, and the rest of them taking shelter behind rocks and bushes they all escaped unhurt. The news spread and one of the neighbors frank-ly confessed he was afraid to go for his own cattle. One of the men was afterwards heard to declare that he had not run so fast for 25 years as he did in that terrible retreat. By the last accounts the steer is still master of the situation and a council of war is shortly to be summoned.

Hespeler Correspondence.

SABBATH SCHOOL MATTERS.—Eminent success has characterized the management of the Methodist Church S.S. here for the last year under the very efficient superintendence of Mr James Hamer, assisted by Mr E Merry, a young man who seems ever untiringly active in furthering the christian and moral interests of those with whom he comes in contact. These gentlemen, aided by a competent and willing staff of teachers, have made the school a very interesting one indeed. At the recent annual meeting of the School Messrs Hamer and Merry resigned the superintendency, but we are happy to state not their connection with the school. The superintendent is now Mr A T Panabaker, with Mr D Sparling as secretary-treasurer, two young men who we believe will prove faithful and vigilant in the discharge of duty, and whose services we think the school has been fortunate to secure. The attendance recently at the school has been from 120 to 130 and over. Mr Jacob H Cober, a former superintendent, and now a Bible class teacher in this school, has been an incessant worker in it for over ten years. The Presbyterian S. S., under the late able and faithful superintendence of Mr A Buchanan, and the present competent supervision of Mr William Henderson, with a staff of excellent teachers, has become a most effectual institution in this place, has a large and regular attendance, and is no less praise deserving than the one above referred to.

A UNION BIBLE CLASS.—The officers and teachers of both the schools above mentioned have entered into arrangements for holding a Union Bible Class in the Presbyterian and Methodist churches every alternate Tuesday evening. This we think, is a step in the right direction and will materially subserve the interests of both institutions. We sincerely hope our young people will avail themselves of the all-important privilege thus afforded them.

TEMPERANCE.—A very largely attended Blue Ribbon meeting was held in the Zion neighborhood on Sabbath evening last. Several citizens from here were in attendance.

GRAND BAZAAR.—Arrangements are completed for the holding in Glick's hall of a grand bazaar on the 24th and 25th inst, to be open from 2 to 6 and 7 to 11 p.m. each day. The bazaar is under the auspices of the Blue Ribbon sewing class, and is to be in aid of the inmates of Miss McPherson's Boys' Home at Stratford. Elaborately finished articles of rare beauty will no doubt be there for inspection, and other attractions well adapted to add to the enjoyment of pleasure-seekers on the occasion. Music on piano or organ, and by brass band or orchestra will be there to entertain during business and exhibition hours. The undertaking is a most praiseworthy one, and justly merits the patronage of all who would be friends to a good cause. The Blue Ribbon Sewing Class is one generously and gratuitously conducted here by Mrs. William Henderson, and is an effort on her part for which parents and young girls alike have just reason to feel grateful.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—The posters are here and arrangements fully made for the due observance of the anniversary of the birth of Her Majesty. This we believe will be the 30th annual celebration of the occasion in this place, and a programme is arranged equal to, or excelling any previous one. A tug of war between two dozen picked men is to be one of the attractions this time, but parties wishing to see the boat race and bicycle race and certain other attractions should be here in the forenoon. They will find ample accommodation in the town. Comparatively liberal prizes are offered the successful competitors in the various athletic sports, and should the weather be pleasant a day's splendid enjoyment is no doubt in store for those favoring the place with a visit.

THE DIAMOND.—A nine fine athletic fellows are now ready to take the bat to maintain the prowess of Hespeler muscle in the manly exercise of baseball. The manager is Mr D J O'Keefe, Mr F Huether, Treasurer, Mr A Marchant, Secretary, and Mr J Maul, the first baseman of last year, the captain—all good officers.

ANOTHER ADVENTURER IN BUSINESS.—Mr C W Shultz, of Morriston, a young man well and favorably known in Hespeler, has bought out the stock of boots and shoes of Mr Geo McLean, on Queen street, and is now conducting the business. We wish Mr Shultz success.

TWO NEW LANDLORDS.—The Commercial and Germania hotels are both in possession of new landlords. The gentlemen come well recommended, and we hear have fully resolved to allow no violation of the laws regarding liquor selling. That's just what's wanted and what the people of this place will look for. The proprietor of the Commercial is, as we have before stated, Mr W Mathews, late of the Eramosa road, and of the Germania House, Mr Eugene Sullivan, late of Galt, and formerly of St. Thomas. who we are told is having the premises fitted up with modern conveniences. It will henceforth go by the name of the Sullivan House.

A GREAT MISTAKE.—From time to time there appears in the Guelph Herald a column or a part of a column of reading matter, referring to the affairs of our quiet and prosperous town. Now and then insinuations of a decidedly uncomplimentary and almost reproachable character are thrown out regarding certain individuals who, so far as we know, have always minded their own business, whilst an attempt is made to toady to others by superlatively lauding them and all connected with them. There seems to be in the matter an especial antipathy towards the Blue Ribbon Association, an organization well known to have the best interests of this place in view. Utterances have been made in the paper alluded to in reference to the proceedings of this association, which are well known to be false, more especially does this antipathy appear towards the President of the Association, Mr G E Chapman, a gentleman whose reputation as a business man and a citizen is unimpeachable, and we think we speak the sentiment of all the respectable people of this place when we say so. It therefore does not become the editor of a journal professing respectability as does the Herald, to give publication to such sentiments in reference to those whom we have reason to believe he knows not, and who have never attempted to injure his character nor the characters of others. We think it ungenerous and unfair; but so far as persons about whom disrespectful insinuations have been made are regarded by our own respectable community, it is quite unnecessary here to offer any plea, but readers in other sections of the country not knowing the circumstances, may become erroneously impressed. Then, too, honest indulgent citizens like our townsman "Dave Dickey" as the Herald is pleased to style him, don't care to have their names dragged into publicity, in an indirectly disrespectful manner, as they frequently have been, to suit the whims of some would be celebrity. We have learned too, that parties receiving a "puff" now and then are gratuitously furnished with copies of the paper with a view no doubt to secure their subscription. Now if the Editor imagines that subscriptions can be obtained from the people of Hespeler, or any good ends attained by such despicable means he never labored under a greater mistake. We know some of the parties that have been eulogized and have afterwards gratuitously received copies of the paper, and know them to be men of integrity, and both they and in fact all the intelligent newspaper readers of the place have far too much regard for the principles of honor and rectitude to condescend to acquiesce either in the paltry attempts at wit and humor or the malignant twaddle that from time to time has appeared in the columns of the Herald.

LEAVING TOWN.—Mr James Geary, proprietor of the Billiard saloon here, has rented the establishment, sold out his other property, and is about to leave town for Toronto in a few days. In Mr G's leaving we lose a courteous and intelligent citizen.

THE FROST.—Farmers in the vicinity have been looking with some anxiety for the injurious effect which it was supposed the heavy frost of Sunday night would have on blossoms, &c., but so far we believe much damage has not been revealed.

SOLD OUT.—The Messrs Marchant have just disposed of the Roller Skating Rink here to Mr James Baker of this town. Have not heard what use Mr Baker intends to make of the premises, but we believe the utilizing of it as a skating rink is destined now to be of short duration.

TUNKER CONFERENCE.—A Tunker Conference is in session this week at the residence of Mr John Wilfong in Waterloo Township near here. Yesterday large numbers from Pennsylvania and different points in Canada and the U.S. kept arriving by the different trains. It is expected between three and four hundred persons will be present at the conference which will no doubt be an interesting one.

Wellesley Correspondence.

FIRE.—During the storm which raged in this vicinity last Friday evening, a barn owned by Mr. John Raunie, of Con. 7, Wellesley, was struck by lightning, and in a few minutes it was a mass of flame. His hired man succeeded in getting the horses and some of the other stock out. Mr. Raunie was away from home at the time, and was horror struck when he saw his buildings in flames. His wife and child were in the barn yard at the time and had a very narrow escape from death. He had an insurance of $1,200 on the buildings,but that will not cover his loss.

COUNCIL MEETING.—A meeting of the Township Council was held in the hall, at Crosshill, on Monday, the 15th inst Several matters were brought up for the consideration of that august body and disposed of, but one in which the residents of Hawkesville were interested proved to be too much for them to settle amicably,and loud talking became the order of the day. some outsiders took a hand in and a poker was grasped by one individual, to be used in self-defence we presume, and one individual so far forgot himself as to call another man a l——r. It is to be hoped that before the next meeting all parties will have regained their wonted good humor.

McGregor's Lung Compound.

Have you a bad cough, a chronic hoarseness a feeling of lightness in the chest, weak lungs, or any similar complaint? If so, buy at once a bottle of McGregor's Lung Compound. It will cure you. It contains entirely new specifics, of which one dose is more effectual than a whole bottle of the old time remedies it is put up in 50c. and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist. Try it, and you will never have reason to complain.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Guelph held its regular meeting in Chalmers' Church, Guelph, on Tuesday, 18th May, at ten o'clock in the forenoon. Dr. Wardrope was appointed Moderator pro tem in absence of the stated Moderator, who has been confined to his bed for some weeks through serious illness. There was a very large attendance of members. The following are some of the chief items of business transacted. A committee was appointed to consider and devise some proper way of celebrating the Jubilee of John Duff, who, if spared to the 10th August, will have reached the fiftieth year since he was ordained to the work of the Ministry. The Committee on Church Property in Puslinch gave in their report to the effect that they had reached a basis of settlement satisfactory to the parties concerned, and recommending that the personal estate be at once divided and that the Committee be continued some time longer that they may be able to wind up the real estate. The report was received and the recommendations adopted. A resolution was presented, adopted by the congregation of Chalmers' Church, Guelph, asking that the managers be authorized to dispose of the Manse property for the sum of three thousand dollars. Messrs. Melvin and Stirton were heard in support of the request, from whose statements it appeared that the proceeds of the sale were to be applied towards the payment of a debt on the property, both Church and Manse, and that it was the intention of the congregation to give henceforth two hundred dollars a year for house rent, exclusive of the pastor's salary, in lieu of a Manse. After full and careful deliberation the leave asked was granted. A motion of sympathy with Mr. J. C. Smith in his present severe bodily affliction was passed. Permission was granted to the Second Church, Garafraxa, and the Station on the Sixth Line to proceed with the erection of places of worship. Mr. J. K. Smith, who was appointed for the purpose by the Synod of Toronto and Kingston, brought before the Presbytery a proposal that has been made to repair the building at Fredericksburg in which Mr. Robert McDowall, one of the very early pioneers of Presbyterianism in Ontario, preached for several years before his death, and to make it a memorial church erecting in it a suitable memorial tablet with his name. It was stated that the estimated cost, according to plans that had been prepared, would be twelve hundred dollars. It was agreed to approve of the proposal, and co-operate in carrying it into effect, and every minister within the bounds was instructed to lay the matter before his congregation, asking for a contribution of not less than five cents per family for this purpose, and to remit the same within six weeks to the Rev. James Cumberland, M.A., Stella P.O., Ont., and to report to next Presbytery. An extract minute was read from the Clerk of Synod to the effect that the Synod had decided on the erection of the new Presbytery of Orangeville, and that it would take in the pastoral charges of Burn's Church, Erin, and Ospringe, and Hillsburgh, and Price's Corners. On motion of Dr. Torrance, seconded by Mr. J. K. Smith, it was resolved that the Presbytery express its regret at being called on to part with the two brethren laboring in these two pastoral charges, with whom they have often taken sweet counsel and held pleasant intercourse at its meetings,—its appreciation of the services they have rendered when appointed to act upon Committees and on other occasions when special duties were imposed, upon them and its prayer that they may be blessed and prospered in the new relations upon which they enter, and that their congregations may flourish under their ministry in the new Presbyterial oversight under which they are placed. A great part of the afternoon was spent discussing a resolution proposed some time ago by Mr. Charles Davidson as to the introduction of the Bible as a whole in our schools. After lengthened deliberation it was moved by Dr. Torrance, seconded by Mr. C. Davidson, that this Presbytery, while recognizing the difficulty with which the use of the whole Word of God in the Public Schools of the land is beset in consequence of the diversity of religious sentiment that exists, and appreciating the concern that has been shown, and the effort that has been made by the Honorable the Minister of Education to meet this difficulty by the preparation and authorization of Selections from the Sacred Scriptures, would yet record its opinion that these Selections do not satisfy the religious wants and desires of the community, and would, therefore, overture the Venerable, the General Assembly at its first meeting to take such steps as in its judgment may appear most conducive to having the Word of God as a whole re-introduced into our Public Schools for use therein. It was moved in amendment by Mr. J. K. Smith, seconded by Mr. J. Davidson, that this Presbytery, while expressing the hope that the valuable Selections from the Scriptures now in use may serve a good purpose, yet earnestly trusts that the Bible as a whole may be speedily introduced in our Schools, and thus be placed in the position which it ought to occupy. On being put to the vote the motion was declared carried over the amendment, and the Presbytery agreed to overture the Assembly in terms thereof. Drs. Middlemiss and Torrance and Mr. C. Davidson were appointed to support the overture on the floor of the Assembly. The Clerk was instructed to furnish Mr. Rose, of Knox Church, Elora, with a certified extract of a minute recorded some years ago on the statement made by the then pastor of that church, that the debt on it had been paid, and the mortgage which the Presbytery had granted the congregation leave to assume, had been removed. Next meeting was appointed to be held in Chalmers' Church, Guelph, on the third Tuesday of July, at ten o'clock forenoon. The Roll was then called and the names of those present were taken down, after which the proceedings were closed with the benediction.

Rothsay Correspondence.

Mr. Peter Doyle of this neighborhood turned his cattle out to pasture last week. After a short time they commenced fighting and one of his cows was thrown on her back in a hollow, and being unable to get up, died in a very short time.

Mr. Robert Tosh, who has been unwell for a short time, we are glad to say has commenced work again.

Mr. George Green, whose health was failing him, started last winter on a trip to some of the Southern States. We are glad to say that his health is recovering and that he is enjoying himself.

Mr. Henry Heseltine, who is erecting a new brick house in our village this summer, will soon have it finished.

Rothsay, May 17.

Garafraxa Items.

Yesterday the Credit Valley noon train killed a ewe and two lambs belonging to Mr Jas. Clark, of West Garafraxa. They were lying on the crossing a mile north of Fergus. The ewe stuck on the cowcatcher until the train went to Fergus but the train men brought her back and threw her off at the crossing where she was killed on their return at 3 o'clock p. m.

Widow McFarland's house on lot 3 in the 4th concession of West Garafraxa was struck by lightning last night. The stovepipes were knocked down and some timbers splintered. There was not much damage done.

THERE was a heavy frost here last night. At 5 this a.m. the mercury stood at 30 degrees. Ice a quarter of an inch thick was formed over water left standing in barrels, etc.

HANOVER, Ont., May 20.—At one this morning the tannery owned by George Hollinger was totally destroyed by fire; insured for $2,300; loss not nearly covered by insurance.

Norquay's Gerrymander.

WINNIPEG, May 20.—Premier Norquay laid his proposed redistribution bill on the table to-day. The total number of members is increased from 31 to 35 only. The impressions seem to be that the bill is a gerrymander as far as possible to suit Government interests, and that the number is increased far less than anticipated.

ONTARIO VOTERS' LIST.—Judge Drew held an adjourned meeting of the Court for the Revision of the Ontario voters' list this morning, when the question as to the name of any tenant, income voter, or occupant which does not appear on the assessment roll being struck off the voters' list, was discussed. The Judge was to look over the list and strike off any names which ought not legally to be upon it. There were only about a half a dozen names disputed altogether, one or two being on the Reform side. The Clerk, Mr. Mitchell, is preparing the list which shall be certified by the Judge. A. H. Macdonald and T. P. Coffee appeared for the Conservatives, H. MacLean and Hugh McMillan for the Reformers.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.—There died at the residence of Mr. George Beemer, St. George, on the 8th May, Mr. William Knox, aged 93 years and 10 months. The deceased was a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, and emigrated to Canada when this portion was yet a wilderness. He settled upon a farm near Branchton, where he hewed out for himself and family a comfortable home. He was living in the Cummings House in that village when it was burnt some months ago, and the old gentleman on that occasion escaped from a second storey window by means of a ladder. The deceased was a staunch Presbyterian, and was a regular attendant at his accustomed place of worship as long as he was able. He retained his faculties to the last, being able to read without the aid of glasses, and could wait upon himself as well as many a much younger man. Mr. Knox leaves three daughters—Mrs. John Brown, of Hullett; Mrs. McKinley, of Peel County; and Mrs. Beemer, of St. George.

Missionaries in Foreign Lands find the Pain Killer a powerful auxilliary in introducing the Gospel to the heathen; with it they heal their sick, and so gain the confidence of the poor people,—this done, they then tell them of the wonders of our precious Gospel, and are believed Missionaries have introduced this article in every country of the earth.

MESSRS. H. C. CULL, Tindal Holliday, Guelph, and some three others in the neighborhood of Eramosa were fishing yesterday and caught on the whole about four hundred trout. Messrs. Shattuck, L. Walker, and two Eramosa friends, also caught nearly 600 yesterday.

HOSPITAL SERVICE.—In the illness of Mr. J. C. Smith, of St. Andrew's Church, Mr. Grant, who is to supply his pulpit on Sabbath first, will take the religious services at the Hospital. The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Smith will learn with pleasure that he has considerably improved within the past two days, and it is hoped that he will go on progressing and be able soon to perform his pastoral duties.

THE Galt Reformer says:—"The members of the Electric Light Company on Saturday evening drove the members of the Fire and Water Committee of the Town Council to the Royal City to see how the electric light worked in conjunction with the Scott Act! The gentlemen are more than satisfied with the electric light, and are of the opinion that it is the only proper system for street lighting. As to the Scott Act, the gentlemen are very reticent and non-committal! The members of the deputation were well received by the civic authorities in Guelph, and were given all necessary information." Evidently the gentlemen don't want to tell tales out of school, in reference to the Scott Act.

A VOCALIST ABROAD.—Miss Clara Stevenson sang at a concert in Peterborough on Tuesday. The Examiner thus speaks of her:—Miss Clara Stevenson, of Guelph, made her debut before a Peterborough audience in the charming song, "The Maiden's secret," which she sang with taste and expression, displaying to advantage the compass of her rich and well trained voice. An encore was insisted on. Miss Stevenson made a very favorable impression in her several selections. Her singing places her in the highest ranks as a vocalist, and should her name ever again appear on the programme of a local entertainment, it will be sure to attract a large audience.

THE first volume entitled "A Caricature History of Canadian Politics," from the Union of 1841, as illustrated by cartoons from Grip and various other sources, by J. W. Bengough, has been received at the MERCURY office. It is published by the Grip Publishing Co., of Toronto. The book is handsomely printed and beautifully bound, contains about 200 cartoons all fully explained. All who take an interest in Canadian politics should secure this work, as it is a trenchant reminder of the times and scenes portrayed. The introduction is written by the Rev. Dr. Grant, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston. As an illustrated historical work it has no equal in Canada, and must certainly receive, as it richly deserves, a wide circulation.

He had not caught a single thing,
But she had, though.

In certain parts of Scotland farmers use small spades for digging out thistles and other weeds from among the young grain. An old Fife farmer engaged at this occupation one day, was accosted as follows: "Are ye no apt to cut a lot o' the corn daein' that?" "That depends on wha the corn belangs to," was the answer. "If it's yer ain ye'll no cut very muckle, but if it's ony ither body's, ye'll cut a guid lot."

BROUGHT THEM TO TIME.—The ordinary newspaper man is the embodiment of all that is meek and lowly, but even he may turn if trodden on. The Toronto reporters went on a strike at a meeting of the Council the other night, because they were asked to do their work away out of hearing distance, but within easy range of draughts. After an hour's deliberation, the Council capitulated, invited the newspaper men to take their seats at their former post, and the chronicling of the flow of oratory, without which the Toronto Aldermen would not give a fig for the position, proceeded.

THE FOUNTAIN HEAD OF PROFITABLE TRADE.—The following sensible observations are from the Toledo Blade:—It sometimes occurs that a business man—generally, however, one of the timid sort, doing a half-way business—thinks that advertising is of no value, because its results are not always immediately and directly visible. Such persons are unable to understand why custom cannot be directly traced to the source where they expended their money to obtain it. Business is like a river with many tributaries, and in which it is impossible to trace every individual drop of water to the spring from whence it came. But if a journal is selected for advertising purposes that reaches time and again the persons most likely to be interested in the solution that paper is certainly a sure fountain head of profitable trade in the stream of patronage far below. Temporary advertisements in a small way will not produce an immediate or permanent increase of business any more than a slight shower will effect the depth of water in a well, by persistency in the use of printer's ink in the right direction the results sought will be gained in the end with interest.

HOWORTH'S HIBERNICA. — Howorth's Hibernica Comedy and Specialty Co. opened their two night's engagement in the City Hall last evening to a fair house. The company is the best of the kind that has ever apeared here. Good acting, beautiful scenery, fine dancing and rollicking songs were the prevailing features. Among the panoramic effects the storm scenes, the illumination of the streets and cathedrals and the sunset and moonlight scenes on the lakes of Killarney, were really beautiful, and called forth deserved plaudits. Messrs. John F. Fenton and Bryan O'Lynn created a great deal of fun as the twin Jarveys. Miss Annie Irish, who is always a favorite, aroused the enthusiasm of the audience in her beautiful ballads. Miss May Fenton in her motto songs did well and was deservedly encored. E. J. Heron as the Jew, Harry F. Hall as Boston Crackers and W. J. Flannery as Buck Swinston, the African representative, contributed largely to the success of the performance. Wm. Ashton for his song was encored, as was John Fenton for his clog dances. The programme was entirely new, refined and pleasing throughout. The company appear again this evening in an entire change, and are deserving of a larger patronage. A big feature is the fine scenery of the noted places in Ireland. This feature alone is worth the price of admission. The three tableaux at the conclusion are given in a fine manner.

GALT Reporter:—We had the pleasure of receiving a call on Wednesday from Mr. James Laidlaw, M. P. P. for South Wellington, whom we are pleased to say looks well and hearty.

MESSRS. JAMES STEPHENSON, General Superintendent of the main line of the G. T. R., and W. R. Tiffin, Assistant Superintendent of the Northern division were in the city to-day making an inspection of the stations here.

THE SCOTT ACT.—The Scott Act will be in force three weeks to-morrow. During this time there has not been a case of drunk and disorderly before the Magistrate. This speaks well for the working of the Scott Act so far.

"A" BATTERY drilled at the drill shed last night. There was a good turn-out. The men are improving in their drill, and before camp will be well up to their work. A number of new recruits have been added to this and the other Battery.

FISHING EXTRAORDINARY.—There seems to be a craze for fishing at present. Yesterday two bank clerks caught the infection, and between them purchased a couple of new rods and tackle, a fish basket and other necessary persquiistes. The result was that they returned with an empty basket. This is a true fish story.

ARM BROKEN.—A young son of Mr. T. Norris had his arm broken yesterday afternoon. It seems that the young lad had been standing on the spokes of the wheel of Mrs. Bothwick's milk wagon and the driver started the horse without knowing that the lad was hanging on the wheel. The result was that he was thrown down and had his arm broken.

COURT No. 37, I. O. F.—Guelph Court No. 37, Independent Order of Foresters, held their second meeting on Wednesday evening, when five or six new members were initiated by P. D. Chief Ranger Jones, London. The Lodge have only been about a week in existence, and at present has a showing of 30 charter members, which speaks well for their future prosperity. The insurance is cheap.

REQUIRES A SIGN.—It would be well if the authorities of the Free Library had a sign placed over the room of the Library, on Upper Wyndham street. The signs at present are on the sides of the folding doors and when these are opened the signs are covered. This is all very well for people in town who know where the library is, but it is rather inconvenient for those who don't know, and also for strangers who may desire to spend an hour in the reading room.

PLANTING POTATOES.—A correspondent writes: Allow me to suggest a plan which I have found by years of experience to work well, as regards planting potatoes to escape the beetle. Plant from the 16th to the 20th of June. There will be no picking or poisoning required, as the beetles lay their eggs before that date. The potatoes will keep longer. If this plan were adopted the pest would soon disappear.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE IN GERMANY.—The Compulsory Insurance Act of Germany has now been in force one year, and the returns giving the operations of the law show that 3,000,000 persons, engaged in 217,000 workshops, have come under its protection during that time. The law has been amended so that on the 1st inst. it would be extended to the working people of the rural districts, and 5,000,000 persons would then be brought under its protection. It is the intention of the German Government to increase the scope of this law from year to year, until all the subjects of the Empire who are dependent upon the result of their hands or brains for support shall be brought under its protection. The fact of the Government being responsible gives undoubted security.

Foreign.

The Czar of Russia has issued a decree on the re-formation of the Black Sea fleet, recalling the incidents which led to the destruction of the former fleet.

Sir Frederick Ponsonby, the Queen's Private Secretary, delivered to Mr. Gladstone on Thursday a long message from Her Majesty.

The threat of Ward & Payne, of Sheffield, to employ German workmen, has resulted in a riot, during which several were hurt and all the factory windows smashed.

Col. Waring, M. P. for Down County, has written a letter urging Ulsterites to organize and prepare to resist Home Rule. "For God's sake," he says, "let us have deeds, not words."

United Ireland declares that there are Nationalists sufficient in any town of Ulster to whip the rag-tag-and-bob-tail Orangemen into good behavior, provided the police stand aside.

The Orangemen of London have appealed for funds to their brethren throughout the world in order to carry on the anti-Home Rule campaign.

THE Palmerston Telegraph says: License Inspector George Moore, of Arthur, was, we are pained to state, taken to the asylum for the insane a few days ago. It is feared that money losses are at the bottom of the trouble.

Lord Granville introduced in the House of Lords Tuesday night a Bill respecting the representation in the Canadian Parliament of the Territories belonging to the Dominion, but not included in any Province.

The Radical dissentients propose as a basis for negotiations the withdrawal of the Home Rule measure and the substitution of a resolution in favor of granting autonomy to Ireland, subject to conditions embraced in the manifesto issued by Mr. Gladstone last autumn.

A DRAWING PROGRAMME.

Calisthenics and Music—Excursions—Base Ball.

The entertainment which Guelph offers in celebration of the Queen's Birthday, which occurs on Monday next, is the best provided in this city for some years, and should bring in a large number of country people as well as visitors from neighboring towns and villages. Besides the attractions then to be presented, there is the inducement offered by cheap fares by rail, as on the 24th tickets good to return the same day will be sold to Guelph from any station at single fare for the double journey, while tickets for the round trip good for four days from the 21st to the 24th inclusive, may be had at a fare and a third.

About 10 o'clock in the morning a large excursion party will arrive from Toronto. This excursion is under the auspices of two Oddfellows' Lodges of the Queen City. On arrival at Guelph the party will be met at the station by the City Band and escorted to their headquarters, the New Western Hotel.

At half-past twelve o'clock in the afternoon a procession of the school children will be formed at the Central School by Capt. Clarke, their indefatigable instructor in calisthenics. Following will be the order of the procession:

City Band.
Five Drill Companies leading.
Other Rooms in Central School in succession.
South Ward School.
North Ward School.
West Ward School.
East Ward School.

Each school to be represented by a banner on which will be printed the name of the school.

The route to be taken is as follows:—From Central School, down Paisley street, along Norfolk street to Market Square, up Wyndham street, to Woolwich and along London Road to Exhibition Grounds.

At the grounds an excellent programme of marching, drilling and athletic sports will take place. Perhaps the handsomest prizes ever offered in Guelph are to be put up for competition on this occasion. The whole being under the management of Capt. Clarke, the public may rely upon something above the average in the way of entertainment.

At night there will be a grand calisthenic entertainment in the rink by 225 pupils of the Collegiate Institute. This will comprise Indian club swinging, rifle exercise, marching past, sword exercise and single and double marching, and forms a feature worth going a long distance to see. In addition there will be music by the City Band, songs and duets by Mr. Schuch and Mr. Ramsay, of Toronto, Mrs. Whitehead and the Misses Stevenson, Guelph, and choruses by the class. This entertainment is likewise gotten up by Capt. Clarke. He has provided an excellent programme and will be rewarded with a bumper house.

Besides the events above mentioned there will be a baseball match in the forenoon at the Maple Leaf grounds between the old time rivals, London and the Maple Leafs of this city. The Londons now belong to the Ontario Amateur League and contains some of the very best material. The Leafs are now a thoroughly professional club, comprising picked players from the United States. The match, it is expected, will be an exciting one, and there will be a great deal of interest centered in it.

Sporting Notes.

BASE BALL.

In the match yesterday at Hamilton, between Rochester and Hamilton, the former defeated the latter by a score of 7 to 6. Total base hits, Rochester 8, Hamilton 7; errors Rochester 14, Hamilton 8.

At Binghamton, Oswego vs Binghamton, the latter club won by 9 to 8

The Stars and Utica clubs played at Syracuse. Score 3 to 2 in favor of Utica.

Considerable interest is manifested in the game this afternoon between the Buffalos and the Maple Leafs, as it is considered that this match will give a fair opportunity of seeing what the new team is made of.

To morrow the Royal Oaks go to Galt to play the Galt club. There is little doubt but that this amateur club will give a good account of themselves. The home nine will likely be composed as follows:—J. Brown, p.; Henry, c; Atkinson, 1b.; James Brown, 2b.; Gallaher, 3b.; Thomson, s.s; Spaulding, lf.; Hewer, cf.; Neslin, rf.

THE RIFLE.

The scores made at the last practice of the Guelph Rifle Association were very low, the wind varying so often as to baffle every competitor. The position was standing at 200 yards and any at 500 and 600.

	200 yds.	500 yds.	600 yds.	Total.	Rifle
John Ogg.....	25	24	16 —	66	Snider
John Crowe.....	23	20	10 —	53	Snider
John Goldie..	20	17	23 —	60	Snider
C Armstrong...	23	23	09 —	55	Snider
Geo Atkinson...	26	18	12 —	56	Snider
John Day.....	27	12	4 —	43	Snider
J P Anderson...	15	10	12 —	37	Snider

A prize match will be held on Monday, 24th, commencing at 9 a.m., and it is hoped by the committee that there will be a large turn out of competitors. The older members are always glad to welcome new aspirants especially if they can shoot well enough to make it interesting and to strengthen the G. R. A. One of the three competitions is a nursery match at 400 yards open only to Guelphites who have never won a prize. The others are an all commers match at 200, 500 and 600 yards with Snider rifle, and an extra series match at 500 with Martini rifles. There is no recreation so enjoyable or that deserves the encouragement that rifle shooting does. So come along boys.

Placards have been posted throughout Tipperary stating that in consequence of the existing depression a reduction of 25 per cent. must be made in rents, and that servers of ejectments will incur the displeasure of the Home League and National League.

Dr. Evans, President of the Irish Wesleyan Conference, addressing a meeting of Loyalists at Bristol, asked whether, in the event of a rising in Ulster, Scottish and other Wesleyan regiments would be sent to shoot down the Presbyterians of Ulster, because the latter had a loyal love for the Queen.

"Clutch" built his hotel at Fort Erie. An order nisi was obtained at Osgoode Hall on Thursday, and the full argument for a third trial will be heard next week.

MR. P. SPRAGGE will sell by Public Auction the whole of Mrs. E. L. Gales household furniture, on Wednesday, May 26th, at 1 o'clock. d1

ONTARIO VOTERS' LIST.—Judge Drew held an adjourned meeting of the Court for the Revision of the Ontario voters' list this morning, when the question as to the name of any tenant, income voter, or occupant which does not appear on the assessment roll being struck off the voters' list, was discussed. The Judge was to look over the list and strike off any names which ought not legally to be upon it. There were only about a half a dozen names disputed altogether, one or two being on the Reform side. The Clerk, Mr. Mitchell, is preparing the list which shall be certified by the Judge. A. H. Macdonald and T. P. Coffee appeared for the Conservatives, H. MacLean and Hugh McMillan for the Reformers.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.—There died at the residence of Mr. George Beemer, St. George, on the 8th May, Mr. William Knox, aged 93 years and 10 months. The deceased was a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, and emigrated to Canada when this portion was yet a wilderness. He settled upon a farm near Branchton, where he hewed out for himself and family a comfortable home. He was living in the Cummings House in that village when it was burnt some months ago, and the old gentleman on that occasion escaped from a second storey window by means of a ladder. The deceased was a staunch Presbyterian, and was a regular attendant at his accustomed place of worship as long as he was able. He retained his faculties to the last, being able to read without the aid of glasses, and could wait upon himself as well as many a much younger man. Mr. Knox leaves three daughters—Mrs. John Brown, of Hullett; Mrs. McKinley, of Peel County; and Mrs. Beemer, of St. George.

Missionaries in Foreign Lands find the Pain Killer a powerful auxilliary in introducing the Gospel to the heathen; with it they heal their sick, and so gain the confidence of the poor people,—this done, they then tell them of the wonders of our precious Gospel, and are believed Missionaries have introduced this article in every country of the earth.

Norquay's Gerrymander.

WINNIPEG, May 20.—Premier Norquay laid his proposed redistribution bill on the table to-day. The total number of members is increased from 31 to 35 only. The impressions seem to be that the bill is a gerrymander as far as possible to suit Government interests, and that the number is increased far less than anticipated.

HOSPITAL SERVICE.—In the illness of Mr. J. C. Smith, of St. Andrew's Church, Mr. Grant, who is to supply his pulpit on Sabbath first, will take the religious services at the Hospital. The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Smith will learn with pleasure that he has considerably improved within the past two days, and it is hoped that he will go on progressing and be able soon to perform his pastoral duties.

THE GALT Reformer SAYS:—"The members of the Electric Light Company on Saturday evening drove the members of the Fire and Water Committee of the Town Council to the Royal City to see how the electric light worked in conjunction with the Scott Act! The gentlemen are more than satisfied with the electric light, and are of the opinion that it is the only proper system for street lighting. As to the Scott Act, the gentlemen are very reticent and non-committal! The members of the deputation were well received by the civic authorities in Guelph, and were given all necessary information." Evidently the gentlemen don't want to tell tales out of school, in reference to the Scott Act.

A VOCALIST ABROAD.—Miss Clara Stevenson sang at a concert in Peterborough on Tuesday. The Examiner thus speaks of her:—Miss Clara Stevenson, of Guelph, made her debut before a Peterborough audience in the charming song, "The Maiden's secret," which she sang with taste and expression, displaying to advantage the compass of her rich and well trained voice. An encore was insisted on. Miss Stevenson made a very favorable impression in her several selections. Her singing places her in the highest ranks as a vocalist, and should her name ever again appear on the programme of a local entertainment, it will be sure to attract a large audience.

THE first volume entitled "A Caricature History of Canadian Politics," from the Union of 1841, as illustrated by cartoons from Grip and various other sources, by J. W. Bengough, has been received at the MERCURY office. It is published by the Grip Publishing Co., of Toronto. The book is handsomely printed and beautifully bound, contains about 200 cartoons all fully explained. All who take an interest in Canadian politics should secure this work, as it is a trenchant reminder of the times and scenes portrayed. The introduction is written by the Rev. Dr. Grant, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston. As an illustrated historical work it has no equal in Canada, and must certainly receive, as it richly deserves, a wide circulation.

MESSRS. ROBERTSON BROS., of Lot 25, Con. 7, Nassagaweya, about miles from Acton, have raised one of the best bank barns in the county. The building is 54x80 feet, and is built upon the most approved plans. The foundation is built of dressed granite, and the whole of the exterior is finished with dressed lumber.

They fished together, she and he,
Beside a shady mountain brook;
How full is filled his heart with glee—
A single look!

They left the noisy little spring
At evening, in its hazy glow;
He had not caught a single thing,
But she had, though.

In certain parts of Scotland farmers use small spades for digging out thistles and other weeds from among the young grain. An old Fife farmer engaged at this occupation one day, was accosted as follows: "Are ye no apt to cut a lot o' the corn dasin' that?" "That depends on wha the corn belongs to," was the answer. "If it's yer ain ye'll no cut very muckle, but if it's ony ither body's, ye'll cut a guid lot."

BROUGHT THEM TO TIME.—The ordinary newspaper man is the embodiment of all that is meek and lowly, but even he may turn if trodden on. The Toronto reporters went on a strike at a meeting of the Council the other night, because they were asked to do their work away out of hearing distance, but within easy range of draughts. After an hour's deliberation, the Council capitulated, invited the newspaper men to take their seats at their former post, and the chronicling of the flow of oratory, without which the Toronto Aldermen would not give a fig for the position, proceeded.

THE FOUNTAIN HEAD OF PROFITABLE TRADE.—The following sensible observations are from the Toledo Blade:—It sometimes occurs that a business man—generally, however, one of the timid sort, doing a half-way business—thinks that advertising is of no value, because its results are not always immediately and directly visible. Such persons are unable to understand why custom cannot be directly traced to the source where they expended their money to obtain it. Business is like a river with many tributaries, and in which it is impossible to trace every individual drop of water to the spring from whence it came. But if a journal is selected for advertising purposes that reaches time and again the persons most likely to be interested in the solution that paper is certainly a sure fountain head of profitable trade in the stream of patronage far below. Temporary advertisements in a small way will not produce an immediate or permanent increase of business any more than a slight shower will effect the depth of water in a well, by persistency in the use of printer's ink in the right direction the results sought will be gained in the end with interest.

HOWORTH'S HIBERNICA. — Howorth's Hibernica Comedy and Specialty Co. opened their two night's engagement in the City Hall last evening to a fair house. The company is the best of the kind that has ever apeared here. Good acting, beautiful scenery, fine dancing and rollicking songs were the prevailing features. Among the panoramic effects the storm scenes, the illumination of the streets and cathedrals and the sunset and moonlight scenes on the lakes of Killarney, were really beautiful, and called forth deserved plaudits. Messrs. John F. Fenton and Bryan O'Lynn created a great deal of fun as the twin Jarveys. Miss Annie Irish, who is always a favorite, aroused the enthusiasm of the audience in her beautiful ballads. Miss May Fenton in her motto songs did well and was deservedly encored. E. J. Heron as the Jew, Harry F. Hall as Boston Crackers and W. J. Flannery as Buck Swinston, the African representative, contributed largely to the success of the performance. Wm. Ashton for his song was encored, as was John Fenton for his clog dances. The programme was entirely new, refined and pleasing throughout. The company appear again this evening in an entire change, and are deserving of a larger patronage. A big feature is the fine scenery of the noted places in Ireland. This feature alone is worth the price of admission. The three tableaux at the conclusion are given in a fine manner.

MR. JAMES JOHNSTON has opened out his boat house, at the Dundas bridge for the season.

YESTERDAY nine granite pillars, grey and white, arrived from the Bay of Fundy to be used in Our Lady's Church. They were ordered through Ald. Hamilton, marble dealer.

GALT Reporter:—We had the pleasure of receiving a call on Wednesday from Mr. James Laidlaw, M. P. P. for South Wellington, whom we are pleased to say looks well and hearty.

MESSRS. JAMES STEPHENSON, General Superintendent of the main line of the G. T. R., and W. R. Tiffin, Assistant Superintendent of the Northern division were in the city to-day making an inspection of the stations here.

THE SCOTT ACT.—The Scott Act will be in force three weeks to-morrow. During this time there has not been a case of drunk and disorderly before the Magistrate. This speaks well for the working of the Scott Act so far.

"A" BATTERY drilled at the drill shed last night. There was a good turn-out. The men are improving in their drill, and before camp will be well up to their work. A number of new recruits have been added to this and the other Battery.

FISHING EXTRAORDINARY.—There seems to be a craze for fishing at present. Yesterday two bank clerks caught the infection, and between them purchased a couple of new rods and tackle, a fish basket and other necessary persquisites. The result was that they returned with an empty basket. This is a true fish story.

ARM BROKEN.—A young son of Mr. T. Norris had his arm broken yesterday afternoon. It seems that the young lad had been standing on the spokes of the wheel of Mrs. Bothwick's milk wagon and the driver started the horse without knowing that the lad was hanging on the wheel. The result was that he was thrown down and had his arm broken.

COURT NO. 37, I. O. F.—Guelph Court No. 37, Independent Order of Foresters, held their second meeting on Wednesday evening, when five or six new members were initiated by P. D. Chief Ranger Jones, London. The Lodge have only been about a week in existence, and at present has a showing of 30 charter members, which speaks well for their future prosperity. The insurance is cheap.

REQUIRES A SIGN.—It would be well if the authorities of the Free Library had a sign placed over the room of the Library, on Upper Wyndham street. The signs at present are on the sides of the folding doors and when these are opened the signs are covered. This is all very well for people in town who know where the library is, but it is rather inconvenient for those who don't know, and also for strangers who may desire to spend an hour in the reading room.

PLANTING POTATOES.—A correspondent writes: Allow me to suggest a plan which I have found by years of experience to work well, as regards planting potatoes to escape the beetle. Plant from the 16th to the 20th of June. There will be no picking or poisoning required, as the beetles lay their eggs before that date. The potatoes will keep longer. If this plan were adopted the pest would soon disappear.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE IN GERMANY.—The Compulsory Insurance Act of Germany has now been in force one year, and the returns giving the operations of the law show that 3,000,000 persons, engaged in 217,000 workshops, have come under its protection during that time. The law has been amended so that on the 1st inst. it would be extended to the working people of the rural districts, and 5,000,000 persons would then be brought under its protection. It is the intention of the German Government to increase the scope of this law from year to year, until all the subjects of the Empire who are dependent upon the result of their hands or brains for support shall be brought under its protection. The fact of the Government being responsible gives undoubted security.

Foreign.

The Czar of Russia has issued a decree on the re-formation of the Black Sea fleet, recalling the incidents which led to the destruction of the former fleet.

Chamberlain has written a letter to his constituents thanking them for their confidence, and expressing the opinion that the Liberals will yet be re-united.

Sir Frederick Ponsonby, the Queen's Private Secretary, delivered to Mr. Gladstone on Thursday a long message from Her Majesty.

The threat of Ward & Payne, of Sheffield, to employ German workmen, has resulted in a riot, during which several were hurt and all the factory windows smashed.

Col. Waring, M. P. for Down County, has written a letter urging Ulsterites to organize and prepare to resist Home Rule. "For God's sake," he says, "let us have deeds, not words."

United Ireland declares that there are Nationalists sufficient in any town of Ulster to whip the rag-tag-and-bob-tail Orangemen into good behavior, provided the police stand aside.

The Orangemen of London have appealed for funds to their brethren throughout the world in order to carry on the anti-Home Rule campaign.

THE Palmerston Telegraph says: License Inspector George Moore, of Arthur, was, we are pained to state, taken to the asylum for the insane a few days ago. It is feared that money losses are at the bottom of the trouble.

Lord Granville introduced in the House of Lords Tuesday night a Bill respecting the representation in the Canadian Parliament of the Territories belonging to the Dominion, but not included in any Province.

The Radical dissentients propose as a basis for negotiations the withdrawal of the Home Rule measure and the substitution of a resolution in favor of granting autonomy to Ireland, subject to conditions embraced in the manifesto issued by Mr. Gladstone last autumn.

A DRAWING PROGRAMME.

Calisthenics and Music—Excursions—Base Ball.

The entertainment which Guelph offers in celebration of the Queen's Birthday, which occurs on Monday next, is the best provided in this city for some years, and should bring in a large number of country people as well as visitors from neighboring towns and villages. Besides the attractions then to be presented, there is the inducement offered by cheap fares by rail, as on the 24th tickets good to return the same day will be sold to Guelph from any station at single fare for the double journey, while tickets for the round trip good for four days from the 21st to the 24th inclusive, may be had at a fare and a third.

About 10 o'clock in the morning a large excursion party will arrive from Toronto. This excursion is under the auspices of two Oddfellows' Lodges of the Queen City. On arrival at Guelph the party will be met at the station by the City Band and escorted to their headquarters, the New Western Hotel.

At half-past twelve o'clock in the afternoon a procession of the school children will be formed at the Central School by Capt. Clarke, their indefatigable instructor in calisthenics. Following will be the order of the procession:

City Band.
Five Drill Companies leading.
Other Rooms in Central School in succession.
South Ward School.
North Ward School.
West Ward School.
East Ward School.

Each school to be represented by a banner on which will be printed the name of the school.

The route to be taken is as follows:—From Central School, down Paisley street, along Norfolk street to Market Square, up Wyndham street, to Woolwich and along London Road to Exhibition Grounds.

At the grounds an excellent programme of marching, drilling and athletic sports will take place. Perhaps the handsomest prizes ever offered in Guelph are to be put up for competition on this occasion. The whole being under the management of Capt. Clarke, the public may rely upon something above the average in the way of entertainment.

At night there will be a grand calisthenic entertainment in the rink by 225 pupils of the Collegiate Institute. This will comprise Indian club swinging, rifle exercise, marching past, sword exercise and single and double marching, and forms a feature worth going a long distance to see. In addition there will be music by the City Band, songs and duets by Mr. Schuch and Mr. Ramsay, of Toronto, Mrs. Whitehead and the Misses Stevenson, Guelph, and choruses by the class. This entertainment is likewise gotten up by Capt. Clarke. He has provided an excellent programme and will be rewarded with a bumper house.

Besides the events above mentioned there will be a baseball match in the forenoon at the Maple Leaf grounds between the old time rivals, London and the Maple Leafs of this city. The Londons now belong to the Ontario Amateur League and contains some of the very best material. The Leafs are now a thoroughly professional club, comprising picked players from the United States. The match, it is expected, will be an exciting one, and there will be a great deal of interest centered in it.

Sporting Notes.

BASE BALL.

In the match yesterday at Hamilton, between Rochester and Hamilton, the former defeated the latter by a score of 7 to 6. Total base hits, Rochester 8, Hamilton 7; errors Rochester 14, Hamilton 8.

At Binghamton, Oswego vs Binghamton, the latter club won by 9 to 8

The Stars and Utica clubs played at Syracuse. Score 3 to 2 in favor of Utica.

Considerable interest is manifested in the game this afternoon between the Buffalos and the Maple Leafs, and it is considered that this match will give a fair opportunity of seeing what the new team is made of.

To morrow the Royal Oaks go to Galt to play the Galt club. There is little doubt but that this amateur club will give a good account of themselves. The home nine will likely be composed as follows:—J. Brown, p.; Henry, c; Atkinson, 1b.; James Brown, 2b.; Gallaher, 3b.; Thomson, s.s; Spaulding, lf.; Hewer, cf.; Neslin, rf.

THE RIFLE.

The scores made at the last practice of the Guelph Rifle Association were very low, the wind varying so often as to baffle every competitor. The position was standing at 200 yards and any at 500 and 600.

A prize match will be held on Monday, 24th, commencing at 9 a.m., and it is hoped by the committee that there will be a large turn out of competitors. The older members are always glad to welcome new aspirants especially if they can shoot well enough to make it interesting and to strengthen the G. R. A. One of the three competitions is a nursery match at 400 yards open only to Guelphites who have never won a prize. The others are an all commers match at 200, 500 and 600 yards with Snider rifle, and an extra series match at 500 with Martini rifles. There is no recreation so enjoyable or that deserves the encouragement that rifle shooting does. So come along boys.

Placards have been posted throughout Tipperary stating that in consequence of the existing depression a reduction of 25 per cent. must be made in rents, and that servers of ejectments will incur the displeasure of the Home League and National League.

Dr. Evans, President of the Irish Wesleyan Conference, addressing a meeting of Loyalists at Bristol, asked whether, in the event of a rising in Ulster, Scottish and other Wesleyan regiments would be sent to shoot down the Presbyterians of Ulster, because the latter had a loyal love for the Queen.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVE'G MAY 21, 1886

The C. P. R. and Freight Rates.

There was quite a brisk fight in the House of Commons on Tuesday over the Government bill making a fresh arrangement with the C. P. R., for the repayment of twenty million dollars loaned by the Government, and realizing the security of five millions more which the Government held as security for the completion of the road; also for taking back a sufficient portion of the Company's lands at $1.50 an acre in lieu of the ten million dollars which will be left of the loan of 1884 after the twenty millions are paid. Mr. Watson, of Manitoba, was determined again to get the sense of the House on the question of disallowance of Provincial railway charters, and he moved that the bill should be amended so as to provide that as a condition to the granting of the proposed relief to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, it shall be stipulated that the Company shall no longer claim that no lines of railway shall be constructed in Manitoba south of the Canadian Pacific Railway except such lines as shall run southwest or westward of the southwest, and that no line of railway shall be permitted to be constructed within 15 miles of latitude 49. This was voted down, and the Government thus continues to allow the C. P. R. to enjoy its monoply in Manitoba and the Northwest, though Sir Charles Tupper in 1884 promised that as soon as the line was finished north of Lake Superior this monopoly clause would be done away with.

Another important announcement especially to Western Ontario, was moved by Mr. McCarthy. It is as follows:—"That the bill be referred back to amend it by embodying therein the provisions of the resolutions prepared by the Toronto Board of Trade of the city of Toronto at the request of the Minister of Railways, and which was referred to by him in his place in the House on the 7th February, 1881, providing for equal mileage rates going from or to Toronto by Ontario railways." This was also voted down by the Government, and thereby Western Ontario is placed at the mercy of the C. P. R. in regard to rates. As mentioned in the amendment Sir Charles Tupper promised the Toronto Board of Trade to insert the restraining provision in the Railway Act, but he did not keep his word, making as an excuse that he had not received a certain communication in time. It was a great mistake to put faith in Tupper's word, and Ontario has to suffer in consequence. Two years ago Parliament subsidized the Northern and Pacific Junction Railway to the extent of twelve thousand dollars a mile. That road runs from Gravenhurst to Thorncliff, a few miles east of Callander, on the main line of the Pacific Railway. The distance from Thorncliff to Toronto by this line is 227 miles, and the distance from Thorncliff to Toronto by Carleton Place and Smith's Falls, on the line of the Pacific Railway is 444 miles. The object of the amendment was to compel the Pacific Company to send all freight for Toronto and Western Ontario by the short line instead of by the long route by Smith's Falls, which if equal mileage rates were charged would be largely in favor of the shorter line. The C. P. R., however, object to this. They want to take freight over their own line and charge for the long mileage. The Government have backed them up in this. They refuse to give the people in the west the advantages of the short line, which has been paid for by their own money, and which they are not allowed now to get the benefit of. The result will be that the C. P. R. Company will throw everything in the way of Montreal, and that Toronto and Western Ontario will suffer from discriminating rates, largely to their disadvantage.

Wise Words for Labor Organizations.

Mr. Powderly has issued another secret circular to the Knights of Labor which has as usual been given to the public, for whom it is apparently intended as much as for those most immediately concerned. Some of its passages are extremely effective, and inculcate lessons that trades organizations are too apt to forget. Among these are:

"I hate the word boycott. I was boycotted ten years ago and could not get work at my trade for months. It is a bad practice—it has been handed to us by the capitalists."

"If a paper criticizes the Knights of Labor or its officers do not boycott it, and if you have any such boycott on, remove them."

"We demand for ourselves the right of free speech—we cannot consistently deny it to others. We must tolerate fair, open criticism."

"We are no more the salt of the earth than the millions of unknown toilers who do the work of the world." "If we would have equity done to us we must do equity to others."

"What we want from our members is not gush or windy resolutions about our rights."

"We have had some trouble from drinking members and from men who talk about buying guns and dynamite. If the men who possess money enough to buy guns and dynamite would invest it in the purchase of some well selected work on labor, they would put the money to good use. They will never need the gun or dynamite in this country."

Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, writing on the Knights of Labour, says:

"No man has the right to say to another man, 'Thou shalt' or 'thou shalt not'; and in the violation of this principle is where the trouble lies among the workingmen to-day. We have no business to say that an employer shall employ or shall not employ this man. A man has the right to belong to any organization, provided it is not contrary to the law. We say no man has the right to say to another man that he must not belong to an organization. And, too, we have no right to go to the companies and say: 'You must not employ that man.' We oppose this way of doing things, on principle. Unless a man is a rascal, you have no right as superintendent or master mechanic to prevent him from getting employment elsewhere, because he does not suit you; for he might suit somebody else. The great trouble is there has been too great a chasm between capital and labour, and we should strive to bring them closer together. There should be no antagonism. There is no occasion for it, and though I want every labouring man to hold up his head and look his employer squarely in the face, I want him to remember that capital, as well as labour, has rights which we must respect. We cannot do without either. Both are essential to the prosperity of the country. There should be no clashing between them; there need be none."

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 20.

In the Commons to day Mr. White (Cardwell), introduced a Bill to make further provision respecting grants of land to members of the militia force.

Mr. Charlton presented the petition of certain Methodist ministers representing that a large number of them would be disfranchised by the operation of the residence clause in the Franchise Bill.

Mr. Cook moved for an investigation into the question of the remission of certain timber dues owing by Mr. H. H. Cook. The motion was carried without opposition.

Mr. Foster's Bill further to amend the Act respecting fishing by foreign vessels, and Mr. Thompson's Bill respecting the Carleton, City of St. John Branch Railway were read a second time and passed in committee.

On the motion to go into Supply, Mr. Mitchell moved an amendment in favor of removing the duties from coal and breadstuffs. A debate ensued which lasted until near midnight, when the amendment was lost on a vote of 119 to 47.

The House went into Supply and considered the estimates under the head of Railways and Canals until the adjournment at 1.40 a. m.

Induction of Rev. Dr. Kellogg.

TORONTO, May 21.—The service in connection with the induction of Rev. S. H. Kellogg, D. D., into the pastorate of St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, took place yesterday afternoon in the church, under the auspices of Toronto Presbytery. Dr. Kellogg spent the first eleven years of his ministerial career as a missionary in India. On his return to America he became pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Pittsburg, Pa., but in about a year was called to the chair of Systematic Theology in Allegheny Seminary, and it was while filling this position that he received the invitation to St. James' Square Church. He has the reputation of being a scholar and a devoted minister, and is well known as a theological writer. St. James' Square Church has been without a pastor for two years and a half. During that time Rev. Principal Caven has officiated as Moderator of Session, and latterly Rev. Dr. James of Paris has occupied the pulpit. Rev. Mr. Neil preached on the occasion of the induction, while Rev. Mr. Parsons addressed the minister and Rev. Dr. McLaren the congregation. At a social held in the evening, after an anthem by the choir, Rev. Dr. James presented Principal Caven with a purse containing $500 and a gold watch, chain and locket on behalf of the Church session, in recognition of his services as Moderator.

Railway Contracts Let.

MONTREAL, May 20.—Contracts were awarded yesterday for the construction of the short line between Montreal and Smith's Falls to the following firms: Messrs. W. Bachner, Hutchinson, Wood and Molesworth, John Drew, T. & J. Robinson, Corbett and Skead; Breen, Connolly, Begge and MacMahon, J. & W. G. Elliott, Fauquier and Dimwoodie, Davis Bros., Ross and Holt. The distance to be traversed by this new line will be about 126 miles. It will pass through the counties of Soulanges, Vaudreuil, Glengarry, Stormont, Dundas and North Grenville, until it strikes the original Ontario and Quebec portions. The principal part of the work is expected to be finished by the end of September, and the whole of the line by the end of October. Mr. H. L. Lumsden, C. E., will be chief engineer for 104 miles, from Vaudreuil to Smith's Falls, while Mr. P. A. Peterson, C.E., will have charge of the 24 miles from Montreal to Vaudreuil. Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy will be Manager of the construction throughout.

HAWICK COMMON RIDING.—Says the Galt Reformer:—A meeting was held in the factory of Mr. Charles Turnbull on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., to make arrangements for the fourth annual Hawick Canadian Common Riding, to be held on Friday, the 11th of June. Richard Wilson was duly elected Cornet or Standard Bearer for 1886, after which a committee was appointed to make all the necessary arrangements for the carrying out of the time honored festival. James Wilson was appointed secretary and Jos. McCartney treasurer.

CHAPTER XXXI.

LIGHT.

"I sent for him, and here, within a few yards of where we are, I told him everything," she went on rather drearily. "He did his duty; without hesitation he did what I asked him to do. When I look back and think of the look upon his face as he tried to calm me and called me his wife. I know what it meant to him. We were married. Instead of marrying the man who loved me, I married the man I loved."

"And now?"

"Now? Is one worse than the other? Thank heaven night and day that I did not marry you. I spared you the greatest torture that a human soul can be made to know—that of seeing heaven changed to earth; knowing that life will soon be no better than a waking death; of seeing the empty days stretched into eternity, and knowing that you have nothing to put into them; that you have thrown away every chance of being happy."

"Do you mean," asked Sir Cuthbert in a low voice and with a very pale face, "that you no longer love your husband?"

"Yes," with a nervous shiver, "that is what I mean. A woman's love cannot live on nothing. You have seen him; you see his care, attention, indulgence, his utter icy indifference. In his heart he despises me; he thinks I drag him down. I have forced him to link his life with an inferior being. At first I thought it would be enough to be his wife; then I found that would not satisfy me. I must have his love. I have tried to win it, and I have failed. He will never love me."

"Is he made of stone?"

"He never will. I see it now—he cannot. We are not made for one another. I did not love him; what I took for love was only pride and self-will and perversity. That illusion has gone now, and I have nothing left—nothing."

She leaned her head for a moment against her arm and then went on—

"You think, perhaps, I am giving up hope too soon. I will tell you what I have done, and then you can judge for yourself. He takes no interest in me, nothing that I do touches him in the very least, yet I have done desperate things to awaken one feeling. First, I tried to interest myself in his pursuits; I saw he thought I was intruding After that I led a life of ceaseless gaiety. For weeks we scarcely saw one another. He did not care; he was happier without me. When that failed I made scenes, and affected to be jealous of his attentions to other women. That made him think he had hung a millstone round his neck, and there it ended. Finally I tried to make him jealous of me. That attempt fell flattest of all. Before you came I went out with Mr. Dalrymple one evening, and managed so that we went on the bay together. Every minute seemed an hour, but I stayed and stayed, and it was nearly midnight when we came in. Was he jealous or angry? Not at all. He reproached me gently for not having put on a warmer wrap, and there was an end of it. I must apologise for calling you to my help. When he told me you were coming I told him who you were and why you went to India. What man with a woman like me for his wife would have let you come after that? He saw no reason. He had perfect confidence in me. He thought I loved him so; had I not asked him to marry me? He looked upon my telling him as a compliment. A compliment! Great heavens! it was the last effort of a desperate woman to keep alive her own love and to kindle his, and he talked of compliments!"

Again they were silent. The scene had changed since they came out. Then the sun had still been high, now a pale red streak which glimmered through the trees was the only sign he had left in the sky. A haze had crept over the water, they could only hear, not see, the incoming tide; the hills began to loom dimly through the gathering mist, and the more distant ones were hidden from view. A chill wind had arisen which sighed through the leafless trees; yet neither Alice nor Sir Cuthbert made any movement to return home.

"Would that you had married me," he said at last.

"I do not know, I might have been spared this awful pain, this feeling that I myself have deliberately wrecked my own life; but there might have been other things, and I suppose I shall get used to it. I have a whole lifetime before me."

"That would be martyrdom. You had better leave him."

"After asking him to marry me! Sometimes I imagine circumstances under which we might be separated. I have given my imagination full rein, and once I thought—you will not easily guess what?"

"Let me hear."

"I have thought, suppose Helen should come to life again, and I should turn out not to be his wife at all, how inexpressibly thankful I should be."

"You are wishing for the moon."

"I know; and yet sometimes I must think those things are a relief from what I suffer. Can you understand that at all?"

"I think so. Cannot you live with your husband on terms of friendship?"

"Could I put up with friendship when I had looked for love? It will be a long time before he sees that I no longer care for him; but he will see it at last, and then " she broke off with a smile.

"Then?"

"Then he will have a right to reproach me, not before."

"I do not think he ever will reproach you."

"So far, certainly, he has behaved very well to me. He has been sustained by a sense of duty, and no doubt he got some satisfaction out of the thought that if he was not happy, I was; that he had given me what I once told him I wanted most in the world. I cannot tell what he will feel or do when he finds that to be a mistake."

"Is it not your wish to leave him?"

"If you could show me any rightful way by which I might leave him to-day, for ever, I should be grateful to you all my life long."

He was silent, and after a moment she went on with the same dreary smile which had crossed her face before.

"You see there is none. I must dree my weird, and get what comfort I can out of the reflection that the bed upon which I lie is of my own making.'

"Promise me that if ever you are in need of help you will come to me."

"I never shall be in need of help. If my husband hated me I should still in the eyes of the world be an indulged and enviable wife. But he never will hate me, he does not care enough for me to hate me. Were you ever in his study?" she finished irrelevantly.

"Never."

"I will take you there this evening. You will understand then."

"I thank you for your confidence in telling me this," said Sir Cuthbert after a somewhat lengthy silence.

"Was my story less interesting because you knew the end?"

"Pardon me, but I did not know it."

"True, but as I went on you must have guessed it. Now do you think I should be happier if I could see the end and forget all that has gone before?"

"I will not believe the end is to be as you say. Something must happen, things will change, he must love you in the end."

"Now you are hoping that the moon will fall. I hoped so once, but I have given up hoping now."

"He must see that you are unhappy; he is not blind."

"He is blind to everything that concern me. He thinks of nothing but Helen, feels nothing but the emptiness she has left behind her. Don't you understand, he thinks I love him."

"You torture me when you speak like that. Can I do nothing?"

"What could you do? You must see that the position is unchangeable. Now let us go home, it is growing cold."

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. THE COOK'S BEST FRIEND

IRISH HOME RULE.

Lord Salisbury Once More Advises Irishmen to Emigrate.

LONDON, May 19.—Lord Salisbury addressed a great meeting of five thousand people this afternoon in Her Majesty's Theatre, under the auspices of the Primrose League. The audience was largely composed of the aristocracy. All the auditors wore Beaconsfield's favorite flower. Salisbury declared that Toryism was growing among all classes in the Empire. He reiterated his advice to the Irish to emigrate from Ireland, if they could not prosper and be contented under British rule, and urged Conservatives to support Liberal Unionist candidates in the coming election where Conservatives could not certainly be chosen.

Mr. Chamberlai publishes a letter stingingly criticising the recent action of the London Radicals council in adopting resolutions favorable to Mr. Gladstone's Irish Bills.

In the House of Commons this evening, Timothy Harrington, Home Rule Member for Dublin, moved the second reading of the Bill providing for the election by ballot of the poor law guardians in Ireland, abolishing the proxies and reducing the number of ex-officio members of the Poor Boards. The Orange members bitterly opposed the motion. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, supported the motion, and after a hot debate it was carried by a vote of 207 to 105. The announcement of the result was received with cheers.

THE ARMS ACT.

A Law Restricting the Possession of Fire Arms.

LONDON May 20.—John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, moved the second reading of the Arms Act. He explained that the Act was intended to restrict the possession, carrying and importing of arms. Nobody in a proclaimed district could carry arms without a license. Although cases of outrage had greatly diminished in numbers since 1881, it was necessary to prolong the act of that year in view of the present excited state of party feeling in the North of Ireland.

Mr. Parnell complained that the powers of the Act had been injuriously used in two direct cases—first to harrass and annoy Nationalists, second to deprive farmers of guns intended for scaring birds away from growing crops. [Conservative laughter.] He urged that the Act be applied impartially in disarming the Orangemen as well as Nationalists. [Cheers.] Orangemen had shown by acts and by the utterances of their leaders that they were disposed to slaughter or to attempt to slaughter those who differed from them in political opinion. [Irish cheers.] He would not say that Lord Salisbury, Lord Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain really intended to promote murder but their words would certainly have no other effect.

Mr. Bradlaugh condemned Lord Churchill's speeches in Ulster as dangerous and reasonable.

Lord Churchill repudiated the insinuation that he had incited the people of Ulster to murder. He had merely pointed out that the placing of the Ulsterities in the power of a Dublin Parliament must result in civil war. He quoted speeches of Mr. Gladstone and Sir Henry James in an effort to prove that the people were justified in refusing to submit to the transfer of authority from an efficient to an inefficient Government. The Arms Act passed the second reading by a vote of 300 to 89.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.

American Talk About Protection and Retaliation.

PORTLAND, Me., May 19.—The excitement here over the seizure of the schooner "Ella M. Doughty" by the Canadian authorities is increasing, as is the feeling that the Government is strangely silent. Letters have been received from all along the coost saying that common cause will be made with the people and fishermen, and that a general union for defence will be arranged.

A prominent owner said to day:—"We shall stand for our rights, and if the Government will not protect us we will protect ourselves. Had Captain Doughty's men been armed the capture would never have been made. When Captain Doughty goes to sea again he will carry cannon and small arms, and all other fishing vessels that go out of this port will also be armed, and their captains will have direct orders to resist all attempts that may be made to seize the vessels."

The fishermen say that the Government has not given the slightest sign of interest in the matter, and that if Portland cannot send word to Captain Doughty at Englishtown that the Government of the United States will protect him, then Portland can and will say to him that the people of the State of Maine will stand back of him, and that American vessels cannot be seized at will by the Canadians.

The situation of the Portland fishing fleet with reference to the "touch-and-trade permits" is very embarassing. Almost the entire fleet are provided with these permits, and with the exception of the vessels owned by Lewis, Case & Whitten, the Portland fleet sailed without bait. It seems the permits are valueless.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., May 19.—The captain and crew of the "Adams" persist in their statements that no bait was purchased at Digby. The claims of Captain Lewis will be adjusted in a few days and forwarded to Washington. The question at issue is considered here to be the most important one before the Administration of President Cleveland. Gloucester fishermen are afraid that Americans will give in, as in the past, but any step looking towards reciprocity is believed to be suicidal.

The Common Council last evening unanimously passed resolutions praying the National Administration to use every endeavour to bring about legislation which shall be retaliatory upon the Canadian Government, as an act of justice and protection to fishermen, who form the nucleus to an efficient marine service. Copies are to be sent President Cleveland, Secretary Bayard, and Senators Dawes and Hoar.

BOSTON, Mass., May 20.—The fishing schooner "August Herrick," Capt. W. E. Herrick, of New York, has shipped a quantity of munitions of war determined to show fight if interfered with by the "Lansdowne" or any other Canadian vessel. The crew are a tough lot and will fight to the death if interfered with. The schooner's guns will carry as far as the "Lansdowne's."

BOSTON, May 21.—The New York fishing schooner "Herrick" left Boston yesterday morning for the Bay of Fundy, having on board two breech-loading cannon, twenty-five Winchester rifles, plenty of ammunition and a determined crew. Her captain declares that he means to purchase bait in a Canadian port, and will resist any attempt to prevent him or to seize his vessel.

At a mass meeting of the Portland Fishery Exchange resolutions were adopted expressing the determination of the fishermen of Maine to arm their vessels for protection from seizure by the Canadian Government unless the Federal Government immediately sends armed cruisers into Canadian waters. It is reported that a fully armed vessel will leave Portland to-day for the fishing grounds.

Consul-General Phelan, in his report to the U. S. Secretary of State, admits that Capt. Kenny, of the "David G. Adams," brought bait.

Indignation meetings of Boards of Trade and other bodies are being held in Maine and Massachusetts over the fishery "outrages."

Baptist College Changes.

TORONTO, May 21.—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Woodstock College, held yesterday in Toronto, a new Principal of that Institution was appointed in the person of Theodore H. Rand, who, during the past year, has occupied a chair in the McMaster Hall, Toronto. Dr. Rand's acceptance of the appointment is a great gratification to all concerned. In connection with his transfer to Woodstock the support of the chair occupied by him in Toronto is also transferred. The Rev. N. Wolverton, B.A., who has severed as Principal at Woodstock for five years past has accepted a professorship in the College, together with the position of Business Manager. His services will thus be retained. The Board, in accepting his resignation of the Principalship, emphasized very strongly their sense of the great value of his services, and voted him, as a tangible acknowledgement, a cheque for $1,000.

Our Millinery department is the most popular in the City. Nice stylish goods at reasonable prices. A. J. LITTLE & Co. d4w1

THE APPLE BLOSSOM.—Many years have elapsed since there was a finer show of blossom on the apple orchards in this vicinity than there is this season. It is of course impossible to say as yet how this blossom will "set," or what effect the late frosts have had on it; but one thing is certain—the trees could spare about one-half their blossom and still bear a fine crop. The orchards have been a beautiful sight for the past few days.

McGregor's Lung Compound.

Have you a bad cough, a chronic hoarseness a feeling of lightness in the chest, weak lungs, or any similar complaint? If so, buy at once a bottle of McGregor's Lung Compound. It will cure you. It contains entirely new specifics, of which one dose is more effectual than a whole bottle of the old time remedies it is put up in 50c. and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Thos. S. Petrie, Druggist. Try it, and you will never have reason to complain.

The Right Side of the $.

An' seen lots of changin' and turnin',
An' fifty of them, by the sweat of my brow,
My bread an' my butter been earnin',
An' I've learned many things in the way of hard facts,
(I never was any great scholar),
An' here's one for you. Whatever you do,
Young man—an' young woman, I'm warnin' you, too—
Keep on the right side of the dollar.

No matter how much you may want this or that,
If you can't spare the money to buy it,
Don't run into debt, or you'll quickly regret
That you ever were tempted to try it.
Though your clothes may be white at the seams an' you find
Rough edges on cuffs an' on collar,
Jest wait to get new till the same you can do.
Young man—an' young woman, I'm warnin' you, too—
An' keep on the right side of the dollar.

Oh, the strifes an' the troubles that would be, like weeds,
Cut down in their pestilent growin',
An' the blessin's like beautiful flow'rs, that folks
In their stead would be constantly sowin'!
If all this plain precept would foller
That I lay down to you! Whatever you do,
Young man—an' young woman, I'm warnin' you, too—
Keep on the right side of the dollar.

Make Friends.

Make new friends, but keep the old,
Those are silver, these are gold;
New-made friendships, like new wine,
Age will mellow and refine.
Friendships that have stood the test—
Time and change—are surely best;
Brow may wrinkle, hair turn grey,
Friendship never knows decay.
For 'mid old friends, tried and true,
Once more we our youth renew.
But old friends, alas! may die,
New friends must their place supply.
Cherish friendship in your breast,
New is good, but old is best,
Make new friends, but keep the old,
Those are silver, these are gold.

MEET ME AT HEPBURN'S

The citizens of Guelph and vility are now convinced that

W. M. HEPBURN & Co.

Are working for their benefit. They have certainly started out in the business, with the right idea in view, namely to give the people their money's worth, and to handle nothing but good and reliable goods. Goods that can be relied upon and which always build up a trade. Goods which will not go Back on the Firm.

BOOTS AND SHOE

In order to convince you that our goods and prices are just what we say they are, and to get you started to deal with us, WE will give away one pair of the best rubbers we can buy with each pair of Ladies shoes sold, and one pair of A No. 1 suspenders with each pair of Gent's Shoes sold.

We don't give away the above mentioned articles in order to sell our boots and shoes, but we can truthfully say that we purchase our goods in such large quantities, "And For Spot Cash," that we are thereby enabled to present each and every customer with a slight token of our estimation of their patronage, and yet retain a much larger profit than the dealers who buy their goods in small quantities and at long time prices.

We have purchased one of those celebrated foot power Button Attaching Machines, and after this will keep the buttons on our customers shoes free of charge.

MR. W. T. Tanner has purchased from Mr. Charles Raymond the vacant lot adjoining the Baptist church for $800. We understand that Mr. Tanner intends to build a brick or stone dwelling on the lot during the summer.

FALL GRAIN.—This morning several stalks of rye grown on the farm of Mr. John Ramage, Nassagaweya, were brought into this office. The longest measured three feet nine inches, and the others were a little shorter. This is very early for rye to be in full head.

THE FALL WHEAT.—The farmers in Guelph Township state that the fall wheat at present does not give promise, as a general rule, of half a crop, being injured early in the season by the thaws and the succeeding frost which smothered the growth. Fields which were sheltered from the north and lying to the south have escaped. Farmers in Puslinch also complain of the same cause. Several fields have been ploughed and re-sowed. Taken as a whole the fall wheat in this immediate section this year will be a poor crop.

MORE WANTON CONDUCT.—A few days ago attention was drawn to the fact that some evil inclined persons had committed depredations on the property of Samuel Jackson, on the 4th concession, Puslinch. Mr. Alex. Watt, of lot 23, 3rd concession, makes a similar complaint. On Wednesday last he had a gang plow partially broken and some whiffletrees stolen. But this was not all, two cattle were turned out from the yard, and he only recovered one of them this (Saturday) morning. The sooner that this sort of conduct is put a stop to it will be better for all concerned.

A Murderer's Confession.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 21.—A Grand Forks special says: "In 1882 the body of a man named McKenzie was found in the stall of a vicious stallion with the top of his head eaten off, and the stall spattered with blood. It was decided that the stallion had killed him. A former resident of this place, named May, has just died in Canada, leaving a written confession that he murdered McKenzie and threw him into the stall, and that McKenzie was the third he had murdered and thus disposed of.

Church Services.

DUBLIN STREET METHODIST CHURCH

REV. W. S. GRIFFIN, REV. J. H. CARSON, } Pastors.

Sunday, May 23rd.

The regular morning service beginning at 11 o'clock, will be held as usual.

In the evening a song service, subject, "The Hymns of our Childhood," will be held. The excellent choir of the church will lead the service of song, assisted by Mr. A. B. Henderson, Baritone. All are cordially invited to attend.

Disciples of Christ.

ELDER E. SHEPPARD will preach in Zion Chapel to-morrow—morning and evening. Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. All are welcome.

DEATHS.

MCELLISTRUM—In Eramosa, York Road, on the 21st May, Edmund McEllistrum, aged 81 years

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2 30.

Decidedly Warmer.

Local News.

MONDAY being a public holiday no paper will be issued from this office.

MR. A. B. HENDERSON, baritone, will sing in Dublin Street Church song service to-morrow evening.

LAST evening the Howorth Hibernica Company gave their second performance to a fair audience. It was a repitition of their first night's programme and gave general satisfaction.

CITY COLLECTOR HUTTON is making out his tax bills for the current year. The first instalment for the half-year is due on the 5th of July. Property owners can govern themselves accordingly.

ON Friday the Bell Organ Works commenced working twelve hours per day, owing to the demand for their world-famed organs. The firm have received a large contract from their agents in Great Britain.

PRESENTATION. — On Monday morning next at 9.30 a.m., the members of Waverly Lodge, No. 361, A. F. & A. M., will meet in the Masonic Temple for the purpose of presenting Past Masters' Lewis to V. W. Bro. Chas. Pettiford, W. Bro. A. McBean.

G. C. T. C.,—A meeting of the Guelph Christian and Temperance Club will be held at the house of E. H. Maddock, London Road, on Tuesday evening May 25th, at eight o'clock. Special business; all members earnestly requested to attend. d2

LARGE SHIPMENT OF WOOL.—Mr. F. W. Stone shipped to-day two carloads of wool to Messrs. Broadhead, New York State, amounting to nearly twenty-three thousand pounds, the product of his thoroughbred Cotswold and Southdown flocks.

SHOULD the weather be very warm on Monday, it is intended to shorten the route of the procession of school children by going directly from the Crescent along Quebec street to St. George's Square instead of down Norfolk street and along the Market Square.

DECORATION DAY.—Reliance and Progress Lodges of I.O.O.F. have formed their committees to make preparations for the observance of Decoration Day which will take place about the second week in July. Invitations have been sent to the other benevolent societies in the city to participate in the programme of the day.

A COMPLIMENT.—Before leaving Guelph yesterday, James Stephenson, superintendent of the main line of the G. T. R., paid a high compliment to Mr. Johnston, station agent here, remarking that the stations under his charge were the cleanest that he had seen during his tour of inspection. This speaks well for Mr. Johnston and his staff.

CHASE'S FOUNTAIN.—So far this year Chase's fountain on the Market Square has not been in a proper state of repair. It was run for a short time, when it was found that it was out of repair, and the water shut off. People attending the market from a distance feel this a great inconvenience, not to mention citizens. This forenoon several parties were seen using the old town pump, the water of which is altogether unfit for use. The proper authorities should attend to the matter at once.

SEEL BREAKS THE SEAL.—The Mail says: A young man named Louis Seel who was employed by. Heintzman & Co., York street, is believed to have left this city with $125 of stolen money. On Thursday he was given a letter to post containing $225 addressed to Bell & Co., Guelph. His instruction were to register the letters. He returned shortly afterwards with a registration receipt. Yesterday a telegram was received from Bell & Co. stating that the letter contained only $100. Seel was not at work as usual yesterday, and enquiries made at his home on St. David street did not disclose his whereabouts. It is believed that he extracted $125 from the letter and has left the city with the money. He was seen on Thursday night and was very flush of cash. The letter from which the money was taken had been left by a country customer at Heintzman & Co's. office to be posted.

HORSE TAKEN FROM ITS STABLE.—This morning the man who attends to John M. Bond's horse saw one of the best of his three horses standing at the gate entering to his residence on Queen Street, attached to a delivery waggon belonging to the firm, which had painted on both sides in large gold letters—"John M. Bond & Co." On examining the animal the man found that it was much tired out, and showed every evidence of having been driven very hard, and for a long time. Its mouth was also badly cut from using the bit roughly. It is supposed that the horse was taken from the stable some time about twelve o'clock and not returned until three o'clock this morning. The lock of the stable door was taken off and the back gate forced open. The proceeding was a most outrageous one, and should the perpetrator be discovered he will be made to suffer for his misconduct. It is scarcely possible that he could have driven the time above mentioned without some one noticing the sign on the waggon, and Mr. Bond will be indebted to any one who will give him information. The horse is now suffering from a cold as the result of the hard driving.

REV. MR. HARVEY and Dr. Nunan attend the General Hospital next week.

ALL the nobbiest suits in town are made at B. B. Hughes'. Gents furnishings a specialty.

MR. JOHN MCCONNELL shipped this week to a gentleman in Kincardine a handsome open buggy.

MR. JOHN RASBY, Nassagaweya, had his left leg broken last night, near the thigh, by falling from the hay loft.

THE farmers are pretty well through with their seeding as a general rule, and several have finished.

REV. MR. WEIR, pastor of the Baptist Church, will address the Gospel Temperance meeting in Paisley Street Methodist Church to-morrow afternoon. d1.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made to have the streets well watered which form the route taken by the school children in marching to the Exhibition grounds on Monday afternoon.

SPECIAL meetings will be held in the Salvation Army barracks to-night all day to-morrow (Sunday) and Monday afternoon and evening, led by Staff Captain Mobley and wife. d1.

MR. ROBERT CONWAY, Guelph township, has commenced to put on a new roof on his barn. It will be remembered that the old roof was blown off during a heavy storm about a month ago.

AFTER the general review and march past by Capt. Clarke's classes on Monday, at the Exhibition grounds, the 200 young ladies will be formed into line in column and sing "God save the Queen."

THE high wind of to-day has blown a large quantity of waste paper from the back lanes on to the main streets. Some provision should be taken to prevent this. Nothing will scare a horse more readily than a piece of paper fluffing past it. This in many instances is the cause of runaways.

ABOUT CATTLE.—Mr. D. McDougall, London, a well known cattle exporter, was on the Guelph market to-day. He states that for the past two weeks he has been all through the County of Wellington trying to buy cattle for exportation. He saw many fine animals, but the prices asked were such that he did not feel warranted in buying, taking into consideration the prices at present offered in Liverpool and other British ports.

MARKETS.—There was a large attendance on the market this morning, and a large quantity of produce was offered for sale. The supply of garden vegetables was not equal to the demand and fair prices ruled. In grain peas dropped to 50 cents a bushel, the lowest price that has been known since the Guelph market has been in operation. Hay brings from $7 to $8 per ton, wheat, 78 cents per bushel and other grains equally as low.

ABOUT FRUIT.—Mr. A. Gilchrist, an experienced fruit grower, was interviewed this morning with regard to what damage the recent frosts had done to fruit. Mr. Gilchrist remarked that for some time it was hard to tell, but now he is of the opinion that the damage will be very slight, as the fruit bloom was not far enough advanced. He was in the Niagara district the other day and everything there at present goes to show that the yield will be large in all kinds of fruit except peaches, a great many of the peach trees having been killed during the winter. He also states that the Niagara District Fruit Growers Stock Co. intend this year to place an agent in Guelph for the sale of all kinds of fruit grown in that district.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Thomas Hill, a baker, well known in the town, met with a serious accident early this morning. For a few days past he has been employed with Messrs. Sole & Johnston. He went up to the store room to bring down some flour to the bake shop. There is a trap door between the two floors, and this having been left open, Hill by some means fell into it lighting head first on the bake shop floor, a distance of some eight feet below. He was picked up unconscious, and remained in that condition for nearly a couple of hours, when he was removed to the General Hospital, a physician in the mean time having been called in. He was in no way cut or disfigured, and only bled a little at one of the ears. A report this afternoon from the General Hospital states that the injured man is lying in a dangerous condition and that there is but slight hopes of his recovery. He has not yet gained full consciousness.

A FINE FRONT.—Carpenters and painters for the past two or three weeks have been busily engaged putting in a new front in the dry goods store of Mr. B. B. Hughes, jr., Lower Wyndham street. Now the work is completed, and the result is that the front is one of the best in the city, everything taken into consideration. The door is plate glass, with ornamental fan light, and on either side the plate glass show window, 6 ft. wide by 10 ft. 6 in. high, which gives ample room for the decorator to display his taste. Above the window is a richly ornamented cornice on the frieze of which is the lettering, in gilt, B. B. Hughes, jr., and on another sign on the second story, also in gilt letters on a dark background, are the words "direct importer." The painting was done by Mr. John S. Moffatt, and is very artistic, while the woodwork reflects equal credit on the carpenter, Ald. Bruce, and the whole is a tribute to the designer and architect, Mr. John Day, and the enterprise of Mr. Hughes, the latter of whom seems to spare no pains to make his premises attractive as well as his stock.

IT is learned that in the approaching concert to be given in the Church of Our Lady, Miss Rose Braniff will figure conspicuously, and we feel it our duty to say a few words expressive of our extreme gratification at the prospect of again hearing Miss Braniff's exquisite voice. Whatever we can say in praise of that lady's vocal abilities, we feel to be far too weak and insufficient, but it must be said that a Guelph audience has never heard her equal. Miss Braniff has had the advantage of the New England Conservatory training, and from an artiste of that school we have reason to expect a treat of the highest order. In the "Miracle of the Roses" she will sustain the principal solos, which will add greatly to the charm of that already charming drama. That she will meet with the welcome and appreciation which her rare abilities deserve, and which an intelligent audience is sure to accord her, is a matter of small doubt. d1.

THE BUFFALOS BEATEN.

How the Maple Leafs Treated An International Team.

Taking the recent game with the Guelphs as a criterion by which to judge the Maple Leafs base ball abilities, odds were laid on the Buffalos yesterday in their game with the Leafs, by betting men. The result demonstrated how far they were mistaken, sent Maple Leaf stock away up, and showed that the Bisons have no bisonness tackling such a team as Mr. Sleeman's at all.

The game drew out about 800 or 900 spectators. An unpleasantness occurred before the game started as to who should umpire. The Leafs had nominated Billy Smith, and he appeared on the field. But the Buffalos would have their own umpire, John Clapp, or none at all. Well, after a good deal of wrangling the home team caved in and the play started. Another big "kick" occurred in the 8th inning, when Connors of the Bisons hit away out to right field, sending Holzberger home. The Leafs claimed that the hit was a foul, and the visitors as stubbornly maintained that it was a fair hit. The umpire did not wear a mask and was standing back too far to judge properly, but he decided in favor of the team which chose him to act. Things were getting critical, and the manner in which he had been calling balls instead of strikes just before this decision, confirmed the suspicion that he was playing into the hands of the Buffalos. The Leafs left the field, the umpire threatened to resign, and for a time it seemed as if the game would stop. But again the Leafs yielded, although they had no business to, and play was resumed. "Kicking" is a bad feature about baseball and tends to bring the game into disrepute, but when a team have such ground for it as the Leafs had in this instance they should keep a stiff upper lip whatever the consequences.

Between the disputing referred to, the large number of fouls into the field, over the fences and stands, and the manner in which two men were disabled by the pitcher at the start, the game was very slow. It was nevertheless interesting by reason of the excellent play, and pleasing to Guelph spectators because the home team so far outplayed their rivals.

In the second inning the Leafs scored three of their runs. Mulholland led off with a base hit and got down to 3rd on passed balls. Purvis got 1st on Connor's muff in left field, and stole 2nd. Sheibeck got his base on called balls and Holzberger's muff in centre field, off Millar's hit, enabled Mulholland and Purvis to score, and promoted Sheibeck to 2nd. Buckenberger retired on his hit to 2nd. Sheibeck stole 3rd, and came home on the catcher's overthrow to that base.

The score thus stood 3 to 0 until the 6th innings, when Buffalo got in their first run. A shower of rain had commenced to fall and Capt. Millar called upon the umpire to postpone the game until it was over, but he wouldn't. McGlone led off with a base hit, and stole 2nd. Holtzberger retired on strikes. Calihan flied to left field. Connors' two-base hit sent McGlone home. Firle retired at 1st.

The only other run scored by Buffalo was on the 8th innings, when the "kick" took place already described. Things began to look critical at this period, but in the second half of the inning the game was made safe for Guelph by the addition of two runs to their score. George started with a base hit, but retired on Williams' hit to 2nd. Campau took 1st and Williams 2nd on shortstop's error. Mulholland flied to centre field and a fine two-base hit by Purvis enabled Williams and Campau to score. Thus the game was won and lost. The analysis gives further particulars:—

NOTES.

Monday's game will be called at 10:30 a.m.

Wally Millar took in everything at 1st base.

Campau made two or three beautiful catches at centre field.

I knew they would do it; didn't I tell you so—President Sleeman.

The Royal Oaks drove to Galt this afternoon to play the Galt club.

Sleeman's nine do not retire on strikes to any great extent. They are batters.

The International clubs had better "aggregate" and tackle "Sleeman's aggregation."

Jimmy Hewer appended his signature to a Maple Leaf contract yesterday Jimmy is a good man.

Now the boys are to be presented with new jackets by Mr. Sleeman as a reward for their victory.

It was Connors' first game with the Bisons. He had one bad muff, but did more than his share of batting.

If the other international clubs are not better than Buffalos the chances are the only Canadian league team will worst them all.

The Leafs' success yesterday will bring out a large attendance for the game with London on Monday forenoon. People are becoming curious to see the stuff they are made of.

Stephens, the Leafs' regular pitcher was laid off with a sore arm; Zell was kept out of the box for the same reason, but Sheibeck proved himself more than equal to the occasion.

"Sonny" Purvis did excellent work behind the bat, but was weak in throwing to 2nd base. His hit for two-bags in the 8th innings put him away up in the estimation of the crowd.
