

MONTREAL, a city of some 350,000 souls, so named from the mountain between whose base and the mighty St. Lawrence the city lies, is the commercial metropolis and national port of the Dominion of Canada.

Place d'Armes Square

Situated at the head of navigation of one of the greatest of rivers—a river which drains a most fertile and generous land—