THE OLD MAN ON WHEELS.

THE PREMIER AND HIS COLLEAGUES REPAIR TO OTTAWA.

Are the Elections to Come on—A Big Meeting at Hamilton Saturday Night—Candidates for Wentworth—Adam Brown to the Fore.

—Sir John Macdonald accompanied by Hon. Messrs. Thompson and White came down by special train from Hamilton yesterday morning and put up at the Queen's. In the evening Hon. John Carling joined them from London and all four left for Ottawa by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

There will be important meetings of the Cabinet to-day and to-morrow, at which a decision will probably be reached as to whether there will be a general election or another session of Parliament. There is yet time to hold the elections on the same day as the Provincial elections. The party will return west on Wednesday and resume their meetings on Wednesday.

Sir John was looking well, and says he is delighted with the success that accompanied all his meetings last week. The wind-up Saturday night at Hamilton, he says, was the most gratifying of all. He drove twenty-six miles on Friday to attend the Dungannon meeting. The private car is a feature of the trip. By its use Sir John is saved much fatigue; he always sleeps in it, can get a meal to suit him, and can receive there the politicians who have business to transact. "Seeing men" and "being seen" are Sir John's main occupation at present. He keeps up a constant telegraphic correspondence.

The Hamilton Meeting.

TO SIR JOHN.

In distant ages, sire to son,
Shall tell the tale of Lone Land won,
And ask their children whence the fame,
That cluster's round Macdonald's name?
And History's answer, well may be,
Thy Country's Cause was first with thee.

Saturday was a big day for the Conservatives in Hamilton. Delegates from South Wentworth met there and selected Mr. Quance, of Binbrook, to run against Mr. Awrey for the local and Major Carpenter, of Stoney Creek, to run against Dr. Russell for the Commons. In the evening a monster mass meeting was held in the Palace Rink. The verve cracked along was blazoned on the rear wall.

Fully three thousand persons must have been assembled there when the ministerial party ascended the platform, attended by the leading Conservatives of Hamilton and Wentworth County. Among those on the stand were Dr. Miller (President of the Liberal-Conservative Association, chairman), Senator Turner, Thos. Robertson, M.P., F. E. Kilyert, M.P., Jas. Walker, Major Moore, Adam Brown, Dr. Macdonald, John Milne, John Small, M.P., Major Carpenter, Mayor McKay, Robt. Evans, C. R. Smith, etc. Sir John received a perfect storm of cheers, repeated again and again. A fine day had been provided for the Old Man—indeed the proper thing at all the meetings on this trip is to provide a soft, genial day, and any committee that fails in this respect is liable to stern rebuke from the corporal of the body guard.

Hon. Mr. Thompson, Minister of Justice, was the first and principal speaker and the key of his address was pitched to suit Hamilton, namely on the N. P. plank. But the National Policy in a sense wider than the tariff that Mr. Thompson discussed. To him N. P. meant not only encouragement of manufactures but also the development of the country; the construction of great national works, the opening up of the country, the binding together of the provinces; the creation of a national sentiment, and last and most important the upholding of the doctrine that equal justice must be meted out to all the races and creeds in the Dominion, and that no man by reason of his creed or race shall set up to be above the law and its execution. The manner in which Mr. Thompson exemplified these views points to him as the most statesmanlike of all Sir John's colleagues. He takes a high view of things, is fair to opponents, uses good language and does not think that political purity is only to be found in himself. He was quite sarcastic when dealing with Blake and Mr. Mowat. He is taking well with the people of Ontario and Sir John is evidently satisfied with his efforts.

Adam Brown gallantly advanced to the front his large black coat, light pants and buff spats, gold eye-glasses on his breast, and his auburn locks disposed so as to cover the crown that was bald. Mr. Brown is an old campaigner, and has faced Hamilton audiences many a time before but never with a more glowing soul than on Saturday night. His language was picturesque to the extreme. Sir John was the man who, in the dark days of commercial depression, had lighted the Torch of the National Policy, and to the country had brought Hope, white-handed Hope, that angel whose wings are gilt with gold. [Cheers.] The Conservative party thanked Almighty God that Sir John had been spared to cross over his great natural work, the Canadian Pacific Railway, and that he had been brought back to them in good health.

The politicians are asking why Adam does not run for Parliament, especially after Legislature. Some of them are already figuring on him as Mr. Meredith's Provincial Treasurer.

Hon. Mr. Thompson said his party believed in the principle that a Government could do something to improve the trade and manufactures of the country; that they could extend the trade of the country, either by friendly relations with or independence of other countries—that if we shall not be permitted to trade with our neighbors, that we shall keep our own market for Canadian industries. And that issue of developing Canadian industries which obtained in 1877-8 was still the issue now. That National Policy also meant the development of public works, the furnishing of work to our people, give facilities for reaching the markets of the world. It meant the development of everything national in Canada. We are to-day, as a result of it, one people, and being one shall remain one, and it was to declare this at the next election that the Government would appeal to the people. Sir John's Government had given the country upwards of $150,000,000 of useful public works, a value put on them by the capitalists of the world. These capitalists had upheld and approved of the National Policy in that they were now willing to loan Canada all the money she asked for at lower rates than before the system of development began. What was the policy of their opponents? Mr. Blake had declared that it was an "alternative policy"—he should have called it an "all-urnative policy." [Laughter.] Mr. Blake's policy was like the hobby-horse—a great deal of motion but no go. Yes, Mr. Blake's policy was an alternative policy—secession in Nova Scotia, rebellion in the Northwest, Rielism in Quebec. He then went fully into the Riel question and closed amid cheers.

Hon. Mr. White and Sir John followed.

Attempt to Burn an Editor's Stable.

SEAFORTH, Nov. 20.—An attempt was made to burn the driving house and stable of Y. McLean, editor of the Expositor of this town, last night. Coal oil had been poured on the front door and floor of the building, and a piece of newspaper saturated with coal oil had been stuffed in between the two parts of the door, which is divided in the centre, and set fire to. A hole about a foot square was burned in the door, and a small piece of paper, about an inch square, remained in a crack unburned. The upper part of the building was filled with straw, and the lower part contained a horse and several vehicles. The only reason that can be assigned for this outrage is an article in this week's Expositor severely condemning a similar outrage perpetrated upon James Wanless, the Police Magistrate for South Huron.

A BAD DAY FOR FIREMEN.

One Killed and Seven Injured—Disasters at Cincinnati and Allegheny City.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20.—One of the most destructive fires that has occurred in a long time in Cincinnati started shortly before 3 o'clock this morning in the fourth story of the wholesale clothing house of Mack, Stadler & Co., No. 109 West Third-street, immediately opposite the Burnet House. Almost immediately the flames found their way into the establishment of Marcus Fechheimer & Co., also wholesale clothiers, adjoining on the east. These are large six-story buildings. About 4 o'clock, when the fire was well under control, the floors gave way with some members of Fire Company No. 4, who were carried to the cellar. After great difficulty they were all rescued alive. They were Capt. Ed. Halsted, seriously but not fatally hurt; Capt. M. J. Higginson, also seriously injured, and Pipemen Kuhn and Bushkamp not dangerously hurt. The loss of Mack, Stadler & Co. and Marcus Fechheimer & Co. on goods is total and will amount to between $250,000 and $300,000 each. The buildings belonged to Henry and Herman Mack and to the Marcus Fechheimer estate. The loss on them is placed at $50,000 each. Both buildings and stock were amply insured.

Fireman Killed at Allegheny City.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 20.—A disastrous fire occurred in Allegheny City near Herr's Island this afternoon, in which one fireman was killed, four others injured, three ice houses, two stables and seven dwellings destroyed, and as many families rendered homeless. The fire broke out in one of Omslaer's ice houses about 1 o'clock, and was caused by some boys who started a fire in one corner of the building to keep potatoes. By some means the building caught fire. The structure and all the surrounding buildings were frame, and before the Fire Department reached the scene, the two adjoining ice houses were burning. The wind was high, water was scarce and the fire burned furiously, spreading rapidly. In less than half an hour the flames had communicated to dwellings on each side of the ice houses, and it looked for a time as if several blocks would have to be sacrificed to the fiercer flames. The firemen worked horically, however, and finally after four hours' hard fighting conquered the fiery element. In doing so, however, John Cowan, of Hose Company Grant, Engine Company, lost his life, and John Metz, John Rahl, August Nulty and John Ficht were injured. The total loss was about $50,000, on which there was an insurance of about $15,000. The inmates of the dwellings lost all their household goods and barely escaped with their lives.

OWNERSHIP OF LAND.

The Archbishop of New York Discusses Henry George's Theories.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Archbishop Corrigan, in his pastoral letter read in all the churches of this diocese to-day, has this to say in regard to Henry George's land theories:

"Undoubtedly God made the earth for the use of all mankind, but whether the possession thereof was to be in common, or by individual ownership, was left for reason to determine. Such determination, judging from the facts of history, the association of law, from the teaching of the wisest and the actions of the best and bravest of mankind has been, and is, that man can by lawful acts become possessed of the right of ownership in property, and not merely in its use. The reason is because a man is strictly entitled to that of which he is the proper cause, to the improvement he brings about in it, and the enjoyment of both. But it is clear that in a farm for instance, which one has, by patient toil, improved in value, in a block of marble out of which he has chiseled a perfect statue, he cannot fully enjoy the improvement he has caused unless he has also the right to own the object thus improved. He has a strict right—and evil are the laws and system which ignore it—to the fruits of ownership and enjoyment or to a full compensation for the improvement which is his. To strive to base an argument against ownership on the universal distribution of air and light is only a freak of the imagination. Once deny the right of ownership and paralyze the zeal of stalwart and humane enterprise. Who would burrow the earth to draw forth its buried treasures if the very mine he was working were at the mercy of the passer-by whom its riches might attract? Who would watch with eagerness the season which would enable him to reap the harvest he had sown and to reap what he had garnered? Who would be willing to see his labors, if he is told that those who stand by the wayside idle are equally entitled to his enjoyment? True, in a few instances, in many painful instances, the rights of the toiler are trampled upon and the fruits of his labor snatched from his grasp. True, this is done too frequently and sometimes even at least the connivance of the law. This is the evil that needs redress, but such redress can never be brought about by depriving a fundamental right or by perpetrating a radical wrong."

THE LONDON SOCIALISTS.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The Socialists marched to-day from fifteen outlying points to Trafalgar Square. The various bodies were headed by bands of music and paraders carried banners bearing incendiary inscriptions. Among the mottoes were "By heavens, our rights are worth fighting for," and "Work for all over work for none." Some of the men carried Phrygian caps on poles. As they southern contingents crossed Westminster Bridge the bands played "Marseillaise." People in the windows of government offices were hooted at. When the parade had thrown Pall Mall into a confusion by turning into Lowther-street they hissed Lord Randolph Churchill. The sight of the Horse Guards' sentries incensed the mob which hissed them with rage. An officer closed the gates and the mob proceeded. The East End sent a full force and two bands of music.

When the speaking began there were present 5000 Socialists, 23,000 unemployed workmen and criminals and 20,000 spectators. The speakers included Hyndman, Champion and Burns. A resolution was adopted calling upon the Government to relieve the distress existing among workingmen. A deputation proceeded to Lord Salisbury's house on Arlington-street. They were received by the concierge who stated that Lord Salisbury had gone to Hatfield House. The deputation grumbled and retired, leaving a copy of the resolutions adopted by the meeting.

The crowds at the meeting dispersed in an orderly manner, but the police afterwards found difficulty in clearing the square. Mounted police charged and gradually moved the people. All is quiet to-night.

The Lord Mayor will form a council to inquire into the prevailing distress with a view of affording relief during the coming winter.

AS A DECLARATION OF WAR.

How Germany Will Regard France's Immense Credit for Supplies.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Berlin Schlesische Zeitung states that the "German Ambassador at Paris has been instructed to inform the French Government that their application to the Chambers for a credit of $140,000,000 for military and naval supplies would be regarded by Germany as a declaration of war." The statement has caused a sensation in Paris, although its truth is doubted, the belief being that the German ambassador was only told to inquire into France's relations with Russia and to ascertain whether the proposed credits have anything to do with those relations.

REPLY TO THE LOYALISTS

MICHAEL DAVITT'S ADDRESS IN THE ADELAIDE-STREET RINK.

An Immense Audience of Nearly Four Thousand Listens to Him—Enthusiasm and Eloquence—The Irish Cause as Presented by the League Father.

No more enthusiastic reception has ever been tendered to a public man in this city than that accorded Michael Davitt, "the Father of the Land League," when he appeared in the Adelaide-street Rink Saturday evening to repeat "the oft-told tale," as he termed it, of Ireland's woes. Nearly 4000 persons, many of whom were of the gentler sex, anxiously awaited his appearance, and when the distinguished gentleman stepped upon the platform, accompanied by President James A. Mulligan, of the Toronto Branch of the Irish National League, and many prominent members, both lay and clerical, of that body, there ensued an indescribable scene. The entire assemblage arose and gave vent to their feelings in prolonged cheering. Mr. Davitt was visibly affected by the warmth and cordiality of his reception. Upon the termination of his lecture he remarked that although he had been generously treated everywhere, he had never been more so than upon this his first appearance in Canada; and when he next visited it or the United States, he fondly hoped and confidently expected it would be during a recess of the Irish Parliament. His closing reference to Justin McCarthy, Parnell's ablest assistant, won enthusiastic applause.

Several letters, expressive of regret on the part of the writers' inability to be present were read. President Mulligan, in introducing the lecturer, referred to the sad and bitter experiences of the prison life of Mr. Davitt, whose unselfish, self-sacrificing efforts in the Irish cause were recognized and appreciated by the whole world. He denounced the language Dr. Kane, the Loyalist delegate, used in his humanity and unchristian attack upon Mr. Davitt.

Mr. Davitt said the general kindness he had experienced since his arrival in Toronto, proved that there was no necessity for apologizing for his appearance to say something on the Irish cause. Ireland's representatives were always accorded the same warm welcome, which had been extended to him. He desired to be permitted to refer to some of the statements made by Dr. Kane, when that gentleman was in Toronto. He was glad to believe that the reverend gentleman by his motives, but would extend that charity, which the former preached but did not practice. This Loyalist delegate, while denouncing him with every species of abuse, had taken good care to give himself the best character possible. Dr. Kane had described his co-delegate as a ruffian, barbarian, and finally as a clergyman, whose onerous duties—his Belfast friends considered—necessitated a well-earned holiday. Dr. Kane did not allege, forsooth, that his visit was coincident with the meeting of the commission to investigate those riots, which had scandalized the whole civilized world. The commission was not appointed at the National League, but the Tory Government, and the testimony adduced showed that Dr. Kane and the Anti-Home Rule party were the prime movers, and were therefore responsible for all the blood spilled. The Catholic Bishop and the clergy, it was true, had done all in their power to preserve order, and the very valuable assistance they had rendered had been publicly acknowledged by Inspector Reed. The informer, as Mr. Parnell, Mr. Egan and himself had been characterized by their financial opponents, had been accused of using his exertions for pecuniary profit. Their efforts in this direction will be enshrined in the memory of Ireland's people as the respect of every right-minded people. No falser calumny had ever been uttered than when Mr. Egan was called a disbursing treasurer of the National League, than whom no individual connected with the cause had made more sacrifices, and whose accounts had been credited by John Dillon and Father Sheehan and Matthew Harris, and submitted to the committee and published in the press. The Irish National Land League of Ireland is now living in Lincoln, Neb., respected by all who appreciate the sterling qualities which he possesses in an eminent degree. Dr. Davitt said that it had been charged against him that he was an ex-convict, but he thought the disgrace attached more to England than to himself. For nearly years he had been compelled to herd with the worst elements of the human race, undergoing the most inhuman treatment, and yet he had kept faith in the present constitutional movement, he would resort to the same measures, if called on to encounter and undergo the same treatment. How long had Dr. Kane spent in prison to prove his fidelity to the cause he supported? He quoted from a speech of Sir John Macdonald's, delivered before had heard as a leader, and whom he accused of wilfully lying in asserting that Mr. Parnell had illused his tenants when he knew well that it was that gentleman's brother, who was a Tory. These tactics defeat themselves in the end, and these malicious attempts made to make us enemies to Ireland, either here or in England. Ulster it was claimed was a unit in opposition to Home Rule, but the facts point to a contrary conclusion. Since Justin McCarthy has been declared the representative of the second Protestant city of Ulster, that Protestant Ulster has a majority of Parliamentary representatives pledged to go to Westminster to labor for the restoration of an Irish Parliament. The Sentinel of Belfast, but its strictures were shown to be foundationless as paper, and the article said to have been published in the Catholic Progress, but its strictures were shown to be foundationless as paper, was proved to be a forgery, and even if the case was as represented, it would be unfair to charge the whole Irish Catholic people with entertaining this sentiment. No stronger case than Ireland's could be made out, and men might steal but could not destroy its rights, which were indelibly engraven in the hearts of the people, and no power on earth could hope to obtain an hour's peace by resorting to that disastrous policy, which had existed for eighty-six years. The record proves that Byron's reference to the "shark and his prey" was an appropriate one when Ireland lost her power of self-government through the treachery of Pitt and Castlereagh. Since that period the population of 15,000,000 has diminished to 5,000,000, and 10,000,000 acres of the richest soil in Europe afford but impoverished homes for the people, whose taxation has increased from $12,000,000 to $35,000,000, and in these facts are found a justification for the efforts the Irish people are making for the eradication of those evils, which have brought about their miseries. Agrarian crimes were accidental and not incidental to the Home Rule movement, and though they were to be deprecated it was well nigh impossible for a people so aroused to restrain their passions. Canadians found it difficult to understand the rent and eviction question, and the opinions of Sir James Caird and the London Times were quoted, showing France's relations with Russia and to ascertain whether the proposed credits have anything to do with those relations.

Customs Seizure of Pictures at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A consignment of paintings received from Paris by John T. Lester, the Board of Trade operator, has been seized by a special agent of the Treasury Department. The paintings were entered at the Customs House Nov. 17, but were taken direct to Mr. Lester's residence to save time, and the appraiser went there to place values on the goods. It appears that the certified invoices sent to the consul in Paris from the Bon Marche, where most of the paintings were purchased, showed the total valuation to be $7422. On this the customs officers made the duties $2458. At Mr. Lester's house, however, the inspector discovered that the former's son had a private invoice in his hands which showed that the real value of the pictures was over $15,000. Thereupon the seizure was made and steps were taken to recover the amount due the Government.

A MILLION AND A HALF.

The Ball Family in Cape Breton Heirs to an Immense Fortune.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 20.—The American branch of the Ball family may rejoice. Several families of Balls residing at Sydney, Cape Breton, have received letters from a firm of solicitors in London that $1,500,000 has been left them by some relatives in England, long since deceased. The Ball family here were related to Sir Alexander Ball, at one time an Admiral in the British navy, and who fought in the battle in which Lord Nelson received his fatal wounds. Afterwards Sir Alexander was appointed Governor at Malta. He had one son, Sir William Ball, to whom he willed his estate. The will, however, stated that if Sir William died without issue the estate was to go to one Ingraham Ball and his heirs, who was the father of the Ball family now living at Ball's Creek, Cape Breton. The will, however, was tampered with by one of the solicitors of Sir William Ball, and after many years of litigation judgment was recently given in favor of John Ball's heirs for $500,000. The letter containing this pleasing intelligence has been received by the family. Last week Mr. Murray Dodd, M.P., of Sydney, who has been corresponding with a legal firm in London, received a letter stating that the sum of $1,500,000 was held by a bank at Melcouse, Scotland, for the Ball family in Cape Breton. A meeting of the heirs is being held in Sydney to-day for the purpose of taking steps to get the money.

SIR DONALD SMITH'S CANDIDATURE.

The Canadian Pacific's Attitude to the Hudson's Bay Railway.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Sir Donald Smith informed a Witness reporter that though he had no desire to re-enter political life he had been repeatedly urged by friends to stand for Winnipeg in the House of Commons, and his name was not made up. "Had the request," he said, "come from one side of politics, I should not have considered it. If I come forward at all it will be as an entirely Independent Conservative."

Asked as to the Hudson's Bay Railway the Canadian Pacific magnate answered: "I do not regard the project as commercially practicable; yet no one would more rejoice to see it succeed. Before I left England Mr. Sutherland told me he understood this company would strongly oppose the project. Knowing the minds of the directors I assured him that the Canadian Pacific was not hostile and would offer no factious opposition. At his request I put this statement in writing."

New International Cable Company.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Discount during the past week was quoted at 2½ to 2. There was no demand. On the Stock Exchange business was quiet and prices were well all round. American railway securities were firm throughout. There were numerous investment purchases at the end of the week and prices at the close yesterday were specially strong. The International Cable Company is announced with a capital of $5,000,000. The object is to lay a cable connecting England, the Azores, the West Indies, New York and Canada.

Lumber From the St. Lawrence to the Platte.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—The Export Lumber Company has just issued its annual statement of shipments of lumber from the River St. Lawrence to the River Platte during the season of 1886, which shows that of the 29,088,204 feet of pine and spruce so shipped 21,384,160 feet, all pine, was despatched from Montreal. The total pine so shipped was 21,782,604 feet and spruce 7,305,060 feet. The shipments of lumber during the previous eight years were: In 1885, 24,344,548 feet; 1884, 26,438,648 feet; 1883, 18,768,652 feet; 1882, 24,419,827 feet; 1881, 16,147,941 feet; 1880, 10,420,080 feet, 1879, 12,476,150 feet; 1878, 10,855,246 feet.

German Measles at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Nov. 21.—Two cases of contagious disease developed on the passage of the steamer Sardinian which arrived from Liverpool. The medical officer of the port pronounced the disease as German measles and not a serious malady. The sufferers are two young children in the steerage who were placed in the hospital. None of the other steerage passengers showed symptoms of the disease but it is considered not improbable that it will develop in some of them in due time.

Arrest of a Montreal Shoe Man.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—A meeting of the creditors of Sharpe & McKinnon, boot and shoe manufacturers, was held yesterday, when a statement of liabilities and assets was made. The liabilities are $90,000 and the assets $40,000. The firm was composed of two partners quarreled and called each other ungentlemanly names. Finally the judicial abandonment of the estate was agreed to. Mr. McKinnon was arrested in connection with the case.

Cargo of Cotton Consumed.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Nov. 21.—The steamship Barrowmore, which left Baltimore Nov. 15 cotton laden for Liverpool, has arrived here. The vessel's cargo took fire Friday last and will be totally destroyed. The hull of the ship is not materially damaged. There are 300 head of cattle on board.

Sank as She Reached the Shore.

ST. JOHN, Nfld., Nov. 20.—The direct northern mail steamer Hercules while passing through the Western Tickle, near Fogo, Notre Dame Bay, struck the same reef Captain Summerside. She proceeded towards Dean's rock, fast filling and with all her fires out but one, and reached Fogo with ten feet of water in her hold. She barely reached the shore when she sank.

Vinegar Works at Belleville Burned.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 20.—Moody & Co.'s vinegar works on Dundas-street were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss on stock and fixtures was about $4350. The building and machinery were owned by D. R. Leavens and valued at $7000; insured for $3700.

The Pullman Company have settled with the majority of the passengers whose goods were destroyed by the burning of the two sleepers on Friday morning. The claims will amount to almost $3000.

The horses attached to one of Stone & Co.'s hearses became unmanageable yesterday afternoon and ran down Yonge-street, causing pedestrians to hurriedly seek places of safety. They were stopped on the Esplanade, without any damage having been done to the hearse.

From some unaccountable cause the electric lights suddenly went out whilst the Hon. Mr. Anglin was addressing the Adelaide-street Rink audience Saturday night. This did not deter the speaker from continuing his remarks and shortly afterwards the lights bobbed up serenely.

Another Great Irishman in Town.

Mr. Justin McCarthy arrived in the city at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and was met at the station by the members of the Lecture Committee and Hon. Edward Blake, whose guest he will be during his stay. Mr. McCarthy is a pleasant looking, elderly man, with gray hair and beard, and wearing gold-rimmed spectacles. He stopped growing several years too soon, and is consequently not very tall. Mentally, however, he is still rising. He was driven to the Rossin House, where, with Mr. Davitt, he held a reception from 3 to 4. Among the large number of gentlemen who called were: Hon. T. W. Anglin, Alex. Manning, John Cameron, Hon. Frank Smith, Vicar-General Rooney, J. D. Edgar, M.P.P., J. W. Bengough, Phillips Thompson, Ald. Steiner, Chas. Burns, Rev. J. J. Shea, F. Curran, C. A. Hirschfelder and Dr. McMahon.

In a Trance.

Mr. Sylvester Reading of Ottawa having come out of a trance the other day, which lasted seven weeks and a day, asked for one of quinn the shirtmaker's flannel nightrobes and went to sleep again. When next he wakes he will probably ask for one of quinn's seal or Persian caps should the weather be cold.

TWO BOODLERS CONFESS.

THE STORY OF THE BROADWAY STEAL TOLD IN COURT.

Fullgraff and Duffy Peach on Their Pals—A Combination of Thirteen Aldermen—Each to Receive $20,000—Great Sensation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—One of the greatest sensations in connection with the case of the boodle aldermen took place in court yesterday. The trial of ex-Ald. McQuade, one of the principals in the Broadway steal, has been proceeding for several days before Recorder Smyth and a special jury. There have been rumors that interesting revelations might be expected, and the court room has been daily crowded. But a regular bombshell was thrown into the aldermanic camp to-day when one of the indicted members of the boodle board gave the whole snap away.

The informer was ex-Ald. Fullgraff. He testified that he was at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen held in May, 1884. It was agreed among them that it was necessary for a majority of the Board to unite for the purpose of dealing with any business transactions or affairs that might come before the Board. Another meeting was held a week after at witness' office after his men had gone home. It was after six o'clock. The meeting was held in May before the passage of the Broadway railway bill. There were thirteen members of the Board present, including defendant, McLoughlin, Kinney, Sayles, Waite, McCabe, Duffy, Jaehne and three others. It was agreed to vote together on anything of a business nature. Thirteen was a majority of the board. Nothing was said about the Broadway Railroad. The next meeting of the thirteen was at McLoughlin's house; McLoughlin was chairman. The first business discussed was the Broadway Railroad franchise; it was stated two other companies applied for the franchise; it was stated that one company, the cable road, had offered $750,000 for the franchise, one-half cash, one-half bonds. The Broadway Surface Railroad had offered $500,000 cash for the franchise. Witness thought Jaehne said it would not be advisable to accept the Cable Company's offer, because the company might be liable; that it would be better to give it to the Broadway Railway for $500,000 cash. A vote was taken and it was unanimously decided to give it to the Broadway Railway. Twenty-two thousand dollars was to be given each member. There was another meeting at McLoughlin's house, at which twelve or fourteen were present. The question came up who should be appointed to receive and distribute the money. McCabe suggested Moloney, as he was used to the business. Duffy proposed Keenan. Some one thought Moloney could not be trusted with so much money, and Keenan was unanimously agreed on. Some one said Keenan would like them to let him know when it was all right. It was also arranged that Moloney should get his other votes in order that no suspicion might be passed over the veto. All these meetings took place before Aug. 6. There was another meeting of the Board at witness' office in relation to the subject of overriding the Mayor's veto, at which most of the talking was done by Jaehne and DeLacy. The majority of them, however, spoke upon the subject. It was stated that more votes would have to be obtained to pass the resolution over the Mayor's veto, that many would be paid for their votes, and accordingly it was resolved that each member of the thirteen should receive $20,000 instead of $20,000, as previously arranged. The witness then told of his meeting with Moloney and of his signing the call for the special meeting. After meeting Moloney he went to Keenan's house, and from there to witness' office when he proceeded about 9.30 o'clock to the City Hall, where the special meeting of the Common Council was held.

Fullgraff's testimony caused an immense sensation. He spoke in a very low tone but every word was eagerly taken in by the great crowd of spectators in the court room. The defendant McQuade had an excitable conference with his counsel, Mr. Newcombe, and then the latter rose to commence his cross-examination. Mr. Newcombe read some of the witness's testimony before the Senate Committee and asked if he had not told that committee deliberately committed perjury. Mr. Newcombe took

A Land Bill for Ireland.

It is stated as a fact that a committee of the Salisbury cabinet, composed of Lord Randolph Churchill, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Lord Ashbourne, and Rt. Hon. William Henry Smith, is preparing a Land Bill for Ireland. The first draft is based upon an extension of the Ashbourne Act. It limits tenants' purchase of lands to holdings under sixty acres. If the commission sanctions the transfer the Imperial Treasury will advance the amount, the commission paying four-fifths to the landlord, and retaining the other fifth until the tenants' annual installments amount to one-fifth of the stipulated sum. The tenants' payments shall extend over thirty-nine years, with interest at 4 per cent. per annum, as in the Ashbourne Act. The total necessary to be guaranteed by the treasury is estimated at £25,000,000. The sales under the Ashbourne Act having already exhausted the parliamentary grant of £5,000,000, it is reported that the Government, trusting to Parliament's retrospective sanction, has ordered the treasury to continue to make advances. Objection is made to this on the ground that if true it would be a violation of the constitution. But we fancy that Ministers will have legal counsel sound enough to keep them from such a blunder.

Last Week's Storm.

The end of last week many wrecks were reported from the upper lakes, Lake Michigan in particular furnishing the greater number. It does seem as if there must have been a good deal of recklessness on the part of masters of vessels or other responsible parties, in leaving port in defiance of plain warnings. In the papers of Tuesday morning it was announced, from both the Washington and Toronto observatories, that a severe storm was developing in the far Western States. What it would certainly develop into when it reached the lakes everybody should understand, but mariners particularly. This storm reached Lake Ontario on Wednesday, bringing heavy rain, but only moderate winds at first. By and by however, the wind veered from south to west, as it always does in such cases, and then, became a gale. On Lake Michigan the heavy rain with east wind, the turn of the wind to the west with increasing violence, and the turn towards the north, with cold, later on—all occurred in the order named some twelve hours or more before reaching Lake Ontario. The warnings given were ample, and very few vessels need have been caught out in the gale at all. But about this time of the year vessel masters are anxious to make just one trip more; and for many a ship and many a sailor that trip proves the last one, and in a sense not contemplated.

Dakota is credited with having been the birth place of last week's storm, which appears to have run its course as far east as the centre of York State, and on our side the border further still. Now, this particular storm being over and gone, let mariners and others specially interested keep a bright look-out for the indications of the next, which in the usual course of weather changes must soon follow. We need no Wiggins to explain to us that a second storm, and probably a worse one, will shortly follow the first one of the wreck season. Here is the regular sequence: First, a remarkably fine, beautiful day, such as Tuesday last was—what is called a "weather-breeder." Following that east wind with rain, then a turn to the south. Next, again, a turn to the west, the wind going with the sun; that is the time when the wind becomes a gale, and vessels are wrecked. Lastly, the inevitable turn to the northwest, with cold. The weather departments on both sides of the border will be sure to give ample warning; and somebody will be very much to blame if the warnings are not heeded. Now, captains and sailors: look out in time for the next storm, which may very probably come along this week.

Political Patronage.

Government patronage is not an unmixed good to party leaders, nevertheless the man on top for the time being never shows much disposition to divest himself thereof. Mr. Cleveland has made an effort to do so, but only with partial success. Party influence has proved strong enough to constrain him to reappoint a district attorney who had been removed for deliberate defiance of the President's expressed policy. That Sir John and Mr. Mowat should have continued to pursue the traditional method in the division of good things only says that they are not any better than their predecessors. The one is attacked therefor by the Grit and the other by the Tory press, which leaves the honors of inconsistency easy. Mr. Meredith's idea is not a radicalism, but a compromise. Instead of appointment by the Provincial Government or election by the people, he would delegate the appointing authority largely to the county councils. This would apparently bring the control of a large amount of patronage closer to the people, but unless county councils have changed for the better of late years, party politics would still rule the roost. We know of no county official, such as clerk and treasurer, who owes his appointment to a council who is not more or less indebted to such influences as prevail with governments. And what is in this respect true of the counties is notoriously so of cities, Toronto for instance. It can be said for Mr. Meredith's provincial patronage policy that it is in keeping with his professed purpose to give back to the municipal authorities those powers upon which Mr. Mowat has to some degree infringed. Probably the member for London would—if put at the head of provincial affairs—be glad to free himself from the importunities of office-seekers, to some extent at least, by devolving the exercise of as many powers as possible upon the municipal authorities, but it is doubtful if by so doing he would eliminate the evils of party influence from the administration of public affairs. The worst evil of patronage is that by its judicious exercise a government may entrench itself in power for an indefinite period. And to constantly increasing his patronage, creating new offices and absorbing those heretofore held by other bodies, Mr. Mowat owes a portion of his present strength.

It is regrettable but not wonderful that lacrosse players should sometimes come to blows. The game brings the men into close personal contact as no other game does, and ambitious and excited players cannot stop to reflect, in a hand-to-hand struggle, that it would be more gentlemanly to lose the game than to lose their tempers. Many of the injuries inflicted are of accidental occurrence, but they tend to discredit the game all the same. If Saturday's style of doing things at Montreal is to be persisted in the rival clubs might as well pick a man each and settle the question of supremacy by a prize fight.

Speaker Carlisle denies that the Democratic party is for free trade, or for anything more radical than "industrial and commercial emancipation." That close vote down in "Kaintuck" appears to have altered the mood of his mind.

The Protestant workingman candidature of Mr. T. Stewart in Ottawa is likely to put Mr. Patrick Baskerville's nose out of joint. The Mail cannot do other than support Mr. Stewart. There is also a squabble between Messrs. Mackintosh and Perley for the nomination for one of the seats in the Commons. Perhaps the Chieftain will be able to reconcile the conflicting elements, but at present the Grits are in high feather over the family disturbance.

Browning has published a new poem. Here is an opening for an English translator.

Fullgraff, one of the New York boodle aldermen, has owned up, deeply implicating the parties now upon trial, but has been compelled to admit that he perjured himself at a previous examination when he denied any knowledge of a corrupt deal. This admission is the last hope of the accused.

The awarding by the Czar of a decoration and a pension to the Bulgarian official who had been arrested by the Regents for treason shows the sort of influence that Russia depends upon for the manufacture of supporters in the disturbed principality.

The dormant but well understood feeling of hostility existing between two factions of the Trades and Labor Council finds occasional expression from Messrs. McCormack and O'Donoghue, the former of whom is as Tory as the latter is Gritty. It will require a good deal of management to prevent the heat of the campaign from causing a serious rupture, but we believe a large majority of the workingmen are opposed to the discussion of party politics at their meetings.

The London Standard's criticism of Lord Churchill's recent advocacy of local coal and wine duties is stated with the cable's customary defective intelligibility, but it suffices to show that the chief Tory organ is not well pleased with its party's leader in the Commons. We gather that His Lordship contemplates the imposition of some such license fee upon these trades as shall relieve the pressure of taxation in other directions, which the Standard, sound Tory that it is, feels constrained to oppose as class legislation. Its demand upon Lord Salisbury for a repudiation of his first lieutenant's sentiments may create in Britain a situation similar to that caused in this country by Sir John's repudiation of the Mail. Curiously enough, the liquor traffic figures in both cases.

In England ladies have long taken an active and in some cases an official interest in educational affairs. More than one London lady has served upon school boards quite acceptably and successfully. The appointment by Mayor Grace of two New York ladies as commissioners of education is spoken of as an innovation, but the press generally regard it as a departure in a proper direction. If there is any department of public life in which women should play prominent parts it is surely in that branch of service which has to do with the training of children. As ladies are in this country recognized as amongst the best of teachers there is no reason why they should not also be elected as school trustees. A few ladies in the Toronto Board might brighten it up a bit.

The Prince of Wales is in his 46th year, and still his mamma keeps an eye upon him.

The perennial question of prison labor figures prominently in current campaign literature. The Provincial administration is upon the one hand severely censured for having the bricks for the new legislative buildings made at the Central Prison, to which it is retorted that is only a few months since Kingston convicts were ordered to take the places of longshoremen who had struck for higher wages than the captains of the schooners were willing to pay. What is missed in both arguments is the suggestion of any practical remedy for the injustice to free labor complained of. It is universally admitted that free labor ought not to be taxed to support convicts in idleness, but no one has devised a plan by which they can be kept employed unless their work is given amarket, or how it is to get a market without coming into competition with the products of free labor. The man who proposes to put a stop to such competition is bound to explain how he is going to do it. Otherwise his proposition becomes absurd.

Mowat and Meredith.

Editor World: About the time of the Bunting conspiracy episode—now some three years ago—The World had an editorial on the strength of the Mowat Ministry and its causes, which was peculiarly pat at the time and evoked much favorable comment. You there showed that the secret of Mr. Mowat's strength lay, first, in the complete mastery each minister has attained of his office and duties; and, second, in the unison and harmony of the Cabinet as a whole.

That was true then, and holds equally true to this day. Now, the question that hovers on everyone's life, in view of these facts, is just this: Why displace such a Government? And, still more important, whom have the Opposition to take their places? It is not a little significant that those who assail very bitterly certain lines of what they allege to be Mr. Mowat's policy yet allow, and even hasten to say, that he has on the whole governed the Province well, and that they hope for a continuance of his rule for many years to come. But let us imagine Mr. Mowat's defeat, what then? Would Meredith be an improvement, as promised? On every question taken before the Privy Council he sided with Sir John, and Mr. Mowat beat them both. Then again, would Creighton be an improvement on A. M. Ross, or Carnegie on Hardy, or Morris on Pardee, or Merrick on Fraser? Great Scott! let us take a rest! And whom on earth have they to fill G. W. Ross' place? Someone whispers "Jimmy Hughes," to which I have only again to reiterate—great, great Scott!

PHILIP D. ARMOUR.

The King of Chicago Butchers Who Came Near Being Poisoned.

Recent events in Chicago, the strike in the yards and its termination by order of Mr. Powderly, head of the Knights of Labor, bring into even greater prominence than usual the name of Phil Armour, employer of many of the men who, happily for the metropolis of the West, have returned to their work. Now news comes of a bag of buckwheat marked as a sample being left at Mr. Armour's house, containing strychnine enough to kill a dozen families. Fortunately none of it was used.

When he was a schoolboy at Watertown Academy, N. Y., he got into trouble by riding out with a young girl, also a pupil in that institution, and was expelled for that offense. This misfortune he converted into a stepping-stone to fortune. Turning his back upon New York State he sought the freedom of the great West, and after a hard journey, made in deprivation and interrupted by serious illness, reached California, where he sought gold and found it. In the course of a few years he had money enough, made from gold dust, to start him in business as a pork packer, in Milwaukee, Wis. Pork went up to an enormous figure toward the end of the war of the Union. Foreseeing the inevitable collapse of the Confederacy Armour sold largely, and made a great fortune at a stroke. A year after he was at the head of the Chicago business bearing his name. About two years ago he bought for a million of dollars the largest glue factory in the West, where he works up refuse from his packing-house. When, in the spring of 1885, Grant & Ward failed, he saved Chicago from a threatened panic. On Wall-street he has made five million dollars by one operation. His wealth is probably among the scores of millions.

This powerful financier, the leading man in Chicago, is of medium hight and fleshy, but not fat. He lives in simple fashion and wears plain clothes, is unpretending in speech and manner, genial and good-natured. His health is perfect, and he has seemingly an untiring capacity for work. The "pig-killer's" residence is on Prairie-avenue, Chicago. Its appearance does not suggest the wealth of its proprietor, who strongly prefers simplicity to ostentation in his manner of life.

Hope for Ireland.

Extract from a letter from Mrs. Parnell.

Everything is much improved in Ireland and her luck is turned. She will get, and is getting, better and better. Nothing can put her back nor keep her back except the selfishness of any one having influence who prefers his own gains through politics in America to the gains of Ireland. Every one is straining head, heart and hand to strengthen her, and she shows it. There has been, and is yet, plenty for every one to do. Her resources, mental, moral and physical, have so long been buried alive! Her mother knows she's out, and the world will hear of her more and more. Mr. Gladstone says the world will hear of his plans for her. Englishmen are opening their eyes to the fact that Ireland can make them famous. She will be the conducting medium, and Gladstone's work will speak louder than his words. Ireland will be a fit illustration of the grandeur, harmony and beauty of his speech. Gladstone, as he nears eternity, has caught an inspiration from infinite wisdom and grace as the apostle of a cause that can never fail. I fear Lord Randolph is too young yet to be a saint, but he begins young, and gives promise of great things some day. To give all their dues, the patient continuance by the people of Ireland and her leaders in this movement has been "a light to lighten the blind."

Certain interested parties are diligently circulating a report to the effect that our "Cable" is not as good as it used to be. This brand has been before the public a QUARTER OF A CENTURY, and has outlived the thousand and one brands that have been introduced and died out since its introduction. This fact, coupled with the increasing demand for same, should be a sufficient guarantee that the "Cable" has not lost any of its original merit.

TORONTO,
the future metropolis of Canada,
We are instructed to dispose of a number of excellent lots 65x140 to a lane at West Toronto Junction, the fast and rapidly growing Railway Junction centre where the Canada Pacific Railway works shops must be located, 40 acres having been purchased by this great Railway for their sidings, round house and shops.
ALSO AT LITTLE YORK, where the Grand Trunk Railway have already purchased about 100 acres for their Round House and Work Shops and a large number of men are now employed.
The lots at each of these rapidly-growing and increasing railway centres are beautifully located, high, healthy and well drained.
The title is a Torrens Title, guaranteed by the Ontario Government. Each lot will be sold on payment of $10 cash and $5 per month thereafter until paid for, and purchasers desiring cottages built can have them on reasonably easy terms.
The prices of lots until January next will be from $250 to $350, according to location. All unsold lots will be increased thereafter.
Secure a lot for your wife or your child. You can have no better investment.

MORE THOROUGHBREDS DEAD.

A Disastrous Year Among Racing Stock—Bonner on the Trotter's Future.

This has been a disastrous year amongracing stock; five more are added to the death roll this week. The 4-year-old filly Mamie Hogan, late Sapphire, by King Alfonso, dam Jersey Lass, was killed at Clifton on Wednesday. She was being exercised and, swerving, ran into a fence, receiving such injuries that she soon after died. As Sapphire she ran and won several races under the colors of the Preakness stable, last carrying them at the October meeting of the Brooklyn Jockey Club. At Washington she ran as Mamie Hogan, but without success.

The Banshee bay mare, foaled 1883 by Lexington, dam Balloon, the dam of True Blue, etc., by imported Yorkshire, died at the farm of her owner, Mr. F. O. O'Reilly, near Orange, N.J., on Thursday, of inflammation of the bowels. Mr. O'Reilly purchased the mare at the Rancocas sale on Oct. 15 for $75. She was opened and found to have a fine foal in her by imported Mortemer.

Walter Gratz, the Philadelphia turfman, lost with pneumonia since his stable arrived in Memphis the 3-year-old chestnut filly Refrain, by Blythwood or Reform, dam Rachel, by Bonnie Scotland, and also the yearling chestnut filly Entreaty, by Enquirer, dam Planche, by Great Tom.

Edward Corrigan lost on the 24th ult. the weanling chestnut filly King Ban, dam Mary Howard, the dam of Pearl Jennings, by Hartington, by inflammation of the bowels.

Bonner on the Trotter's Future.

"The trotting horse is making rapid strides in public favor. Take the late horse show in New York for instance. Thousands of ladies and gentlemen visited it and I joined the crowd. That which interested the spectators the evening I attended and caused great enthusiasm was the keen competition between the high jumpers. You know all about the result. Hempstead did 6 feet 8 inches, two inches above the world's record. Well, I applauded with everybody else.

"Now, that competition was measured by a two-foot rule and it meant something. It meant what all Americans like—a competition that could be measured, something that could be readily understood.

"Turn to the trotting horse. Let the measured mile be done in 3.15, and what then? There are cheers, there are inquiries, a thousand or more, about breeding, and the thirst for information is apparent in all quarters. Maud S. has gone her mile in 2.08¾. The watch told that story, and the watch is nearer the American heart than the two-foot rule.

"There were other competitions at the horse show. You had your high steppers and tandems, saddle horses and similar classes. There was a diversity of opinion in the great audience about them, a diversity of opinion that was honest, intelligent, suggested by experience. The watch couldn't be held on them. There was no chance of measuring them. You can't measure style. Time can be measured, and thus comparisons may be made and satisfaction assured.

"You know that a class of horses can be bred and sold at fair prices that will take you from Central Park to the Astor House in thirty-eight minutes. The ordinary roadster will take ten minutes longer and the cart horse one hour. Men of business do not want to loiter on the way. Time is too valuable.

"Big breeding farms may be broken up, but that to me seems advantageous. You know the more the sires of good trotting horses are scattered the better it is. Pancoast has come north, and that is worth something to northern breeders. Nutwood has gone west, and that means numerous valuable progeny in that section. Hunting in England is the rage. Trotting in the United States is American sport. The people like it, and every farmer throughout the land will see that speedy animals are furnished. The trotter is liked; he is the king of horses."

"About Maud?"

"Well, I brought her down from the farm on Friday last. Saturday was a bad day, and Sunday I never drive, but on Monday and Tuesday she went up the road with me. I kept her 'on edge' all the autumn, because the 'hallo' was that Harry Wilkes and some other formidable performers would beat her record. I waited, but they didn't. I drove her myself to skeleton wagon in 2.14½, but John Murphy has recently sent her along to sulky in 2.11½ on a three-quarter mile track. She has lowered the record thrice—2.09, 2.08¾, 2.08. Do you want more? Do you want her to struggle against herself? I shall keep her in New York all winter, and when the snow comes will let her out a bit before a sleigh.

"I don't think her time will be lowered very soon, but if it is, I shall then see what there is in my Maud."

A Slugger's Conceit.

"Parson" Davies, under whose management the western tour of the Mace-Slade combination was made, tells a good story which shows that the ex-champion of the world has his full share of conceit. The party arrived in St. Paul on the day which had been set apart for the celebration of the completion of the Northern Pacific Railway, and it so happened that their train arrived at the same hour as the one bearing President Arthur and other distinguished personages. An immense concourse of people awaited the arrival of His Excellency the President to accord him a cordial reception. Mace, turning to Davies, remarked: "Parson, old boy, you have worked the snap well." He had foolishly imagined that the crowd was expectantly awaiting his appearance, and was never more completely "knocked out" than when the Parson effectually dispelled his delusion.

The League Clubs.

Editor World: Would you please state if Toronto and Hamilton paid larger guarantees during the past season to the other international clubs or any of them than they (Toronto and Hamilton) received? Have they to pay larger than the other clubs for 1887? B.B.

[Canadian clubs paid a larger guarantee to Oswego, Binghamton, Utica and Syracuse than they received in 1886. In 1887 all are equal.]

General Notes.

Sullivan was paid $500 for umpiring a baseball game at Alameda Sunday.

The Preakness stable have engaged Conkling as middleweight jockey for next season.

Paddy Ryan has decided to make San Francisco his home, and will open a saloon there.

Lucky Baldwin thinks his 2-year-old colt Goliah will be one of the good ones next year.

W. R. Woodford, the owner of Barnum, threatens to retire his horse for the season when he gets him in such a condition that he cannot win a race.

Horace Brown says he expects to make Belle Hamlin trot in 2.10 before the fall of 1887. Her present record is 2.13¾. An offer of $15,000 for the mare has been refused.

Meehan, the lightweight jockey who was engaged by James McCormick this season, has signed with the Brighton Beachen William Lakeland for next season.

Phenomenal Smith and Ed. Knouff will be given a chance to explain the system of how contracts can be signed and then broken. It is thought that they will be punished as was Tom Mullane.

The St. Georges and the Oaklands, Rugby Football Clubs, played a match on Thursday on the Torontos' grounds, the former winning by 24 to 5. The play of Foster, McKeown, Cowan and Graham was good.

Old Driver, 2.19¾, 19 years old, a great horse in his day, and with a record of 162 heats in 2.30 and better, won a race at one of the Vermont fairs a few days ago, beating Captain Emmons, 2.19¾, and others.

A movement is now on foot to form a Southwestern league, to embrace Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Fort Smith, Ark.; Vicksburg, Miss.; Shreveport, La.; Forth Worth, Galveston and Dallas, Texas.

The large amount of money the Detroit club took out of New York City and the small amount the New Yorkclub took out of Detroit, will cause the New York management to make a big fight for the guarantee system.

Lawrence M. Donovan, the hero of the Brooklyn and Niagara bridges, is making arrangements to go through the Niagara whirlpool rapids to-morrow in a barrel. He expects to have a young lady accompany him and they will be married at Queenstown if they both survive the trip.

—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy surpasses all.

Playing "Mamma."

From the Chicago News.

Little Florence was 6 years old, and her brother Willie two years younger. One evening their mamma wished them to go to bed, and knowing the little girl's fondness for playing mamma, she said:

"Come, now, children, I haven't had time yet to look over the morning papers. You run right up to bed now and let mamma read. Florence, you can play mamma and put your little brother to bed, you know."

"All wight," said Florence, sitting down and taking up a paper in imitation of her mamma: "wun wight up to bed, Willie, I want to wead the morning paper."

—The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

—There is no necessity of passing a sleepless night and annoying the entire household with that cough, as West's Cough Syrup will cure you like magic. The best known remedy for coughs, colds, consumption in its early stages, and all throat and lung diseases. All druggists. 25c, 50c and $1 per bottle. ed

DON'T DESPAIR.

Think Hard, Study Hard, and Work Hard and Your Turn Will Come Next.

From the Cincinnati Post.

"Where there is a will there is a way," is an old and true saying. Gen. Walker, the statistician, has ascertained that of the wealthy men of the United States to-day 75 per cent began life poor, and they made their way upward by hard thought and hard work, and a great deal of both. The most successful farmer in Connecticut to-day was working on a farm for a dollar a day a few years ago. Westinghouse, of airbrake fame, was a poor mechanic, but a thoughtful one. Prof. Bell, the inventor of the telephone, was a poor teacher of deaf mutes at $800 or $900 a year. E. J. Manville, a poor Waterbury, Conn., machinist, made a fortune out of his safety pin invention. A young student of chemistry is making a fortune out of a method to save the copper in the "tailings" of the Lake Superior copper mines. The General Manager of the great Northwestern system of railways got his start when a poor brakeman by showing how to pass two long freight trains by a short siding. Vice President Hoxie of the Missouri Pacific, used to be a hostler in Des Moines. When twitted about it he laughs and says, "Yes, and I was the best one there." General Superintendent Wade of the Wabash system used to be a telegraph operator in Delphi, and, General Superintendent Reed of the New York & New Haven road used to "fire" on that road. These instances might be continued till candle-lighting without completing the hope-inspiring category.

Where there's a will there's a way.

—No woman can be contented and happy if her skin is covered with pimples and blotches. These disfiguring eruptions are easily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine is perfectly safe to take, and is a thoroughly reliable blood purifier. d

Stopping the Hemming and Coughing.

In a certain hospital a physician was convinced that some of the patients were hacking much more than was necessary or safe. He therefore, by the promise of rewards and punishment, induced them simply to hold their breath when tempted to cough. In a little time he was surprised himself to see how some of them recovered entirely from their disease. Constant hemming and coughing is precisely like scratching a sore on the outside of the body; as long as it is done the sore wil not heal. Let a person when tempted to cough draw in a full breath, and hold it until it warms and soothes every air cell, and they will soon receive benefit from the process. The nitrogen which is thus occasionally retained acts as an anodyne to the irritated mucous membrane, thus allaying the desire to cough and giving the throat and lungs a chance to heal. At the same time a suitable medicine will aid nature in her effort to recuperate. And if the old adage that "a stitch in time saves nine" is applicable anywhere, it most surely is with lung troubles. Every cold almost can be cured if taken in time. If you feel that your throat or lungs are seriously affected, lose no time in consulting a good physician. It is wonderful how a thorough examination and the welcome statement that there is no necessarily fatal trouble will even save from consumption some persons who have become morbid over their condition.

—Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided. This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., etc.

The newspaper canard, that "twenty widows owned twenty of the best farms in Greene county, O., and all were desirous of securing a second husband," has overrun the highways of that portion of the State with men of all shapes, sizes and appearances. There is but one widow in the county with a farm, and she keeps two bulldogs at the gate.

—If people, troubled with colds, will take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral before going to church, they will avoid coughing. The Pectoral soothes and heals the irritated tissues, and controls all disposition to cough. ed

The man who dug the grave for three husbands of Mrs. Foster of Green Bay, Mich., became her fourth husband this summer. On his part his sympathies were stirred, and on hers she felt under some obligations.

OUR CHRISTMAS BIBLE COMPETITION.

A NEW ARRANGEMENT.

"TRUTH" AND "LADIES' JOURNAL,"

You Can Subscribe Any Number of Times.

For about three years past a series of Bible Competitions have been in progress in Toronto, Canada, which have created great and widespread interest. Most of the leading men and women of Canada, in fact of the world, have taken part in these competitions, as well as thousands of others in all grades and conditions of life. Rewards to the value of nearly half a million dollars have been distributed to the successful. That this has been done with the utmost fairness goes without saying, for there has not been the slightest dissatisfaction evinced. The proprietor of Truth and Ladies' Journal will certainly maintain his good reputation, for on it depends the success or non-success of his business. These Bible Competitions will now be offered to the public but once each year, instead of quarterly as heretofore. This competition will close with the end of the present year, so don't let this opportunity pass, for another will not occur till late time twelve months hence. Here is the sum and substance of the new competition. The questions asked are:—Where are the following three words first mentioned in the Bible: 1. GRAPES. 2. THISTLES. 3. THORNS.

Each competitor must answer these questions correctly, to gain one of the larger rewards, but everyone competing will receive one-half dozen of extra fine silver-plated tea, dessert or dinner table forks, or one-half dozen extra silver-plated teaspoons, whether their answers are correct or not, and if correct, and their letters arrive in time, they will get one of the following rewards, which are certainly most magnificent and costly, and in sufficient numbers, we should imagine, to give almost every competitor something in addition to the spoons and forks. Both forks and spoons are of the newest design, and manufactured expressly for these competitions.

The prizes will be awarded by a disinterested committee in the order the letters with correct answers come to hand.

THE FIRST REWARDS.

1.—One Fine toned, large, square Piano	$ 500
2 to 3.—Two Magnificent Cabinet Organs	500
4 to 7.—Four elegant silver plated Tea Services	180
8 to 13.—Six beautiful solid Gold Watches	440
14 to 20.—Seven fine Sewing Machines	420
21 to 30.—Ten fine Family Bibles, parallel Illustrations, Maps, Concordance, etc.	275
31 to 45.—Fifteen Cake Baskets, extra heavy, silverplated	825
46 to 60.—Fifteen silver plated Ice Pitchers, very fine	450
61 to 90.—Thirty large silver plated Butter Dishes	150
91 to 150.—Sixty half-dozen sets fine silver plated Table Forks	420
151 to 225.—Seventy-five half-dozen sets fine silver plated Table Spoons	600
226 to 405.—Three hundred and eighty half-dozen sets silver plated Tea Spoons	1,137
406 to 701.—Two hundred and ninety-five Books, valued by every lady, Ladies' Guide to Fancy Work	100

After all these prizes are given away and the middle correct answer reached of the whole list of rewards, then follow the

406 to 803.—Three hundred and eighty-eight solid rolled gold Ladies' Brooches, new designs	500

The last correct answer received at TRUTH and LADIES' JOURNAL Office, bearing post mark of day of closing (Dec. 31), will take No. 1 of these last or consolation rewards, next to last No. 2, and so on.

CONSOLATION REWARDS.

1.—One fine toned, large square Piano	$ 500
2 to 3.—Two Magnificent Cabinet Organs	500
4 to 7.—Four Elegant Silver-plated Tea Services	180
8 to 13.—Six Beautiful Solid Gold Watches	440
14 to 20.—Seven Fine Sewing Machines	420
21 to 30.—Ten Fine Family Bibles, parallel Old and New Versions, 2000 Illustrations, Maps, Concordance, etc.	275
31 to 45.—Fifteen Cake Baskets, extra heavy silver plated	225
45 to 60.—Fifteen silver plated Ice Pitchers very fine	450
61 to 90.—Thirty large silver plated Butter Dishes	150
91 to 150.—Sixty half-dozen sets fine silver plated Table Forks	420
151 to 225.—Seventy-five half-dozen sets fine silver plated Table Spoons	600
226 to 405.—Three hundred and eighty half-dozen sets silver plated Tea Spoons	1137

EXTRA REWARDS.

Five thousand half doz. sets of heavy Silver-plated Teaspoons, Queen pattern	$10,000 00
Five thousand half-doz. sets of extra Silver-plated Tea Forks	15,000 00

The spoons and forks last named are those mentioned above to be given away to every competitor, whether their answers are correct or not, and if the five thousand sets of spoons and forks are not enough, a sufficient quantity will be made to give one set to every person competing; but to gain a larger reward from the lists above given, the three questions must be answered correctly. It has often been a matter of wonder to us how all this could be done, but it is done, and fairly and satisfactorily too. From careful inquiry lately made we have assured ourselves upon the point. These goods are bought from first hands, everything being manufactured specially for him, and on account of the magnitude of the orders and the spot cash on delivery of goods, he pays no fancy retail or even wholesale price, but buys lower than the largest wholesale dealer. The figures given after the awards in the above list represent about the highest retail price of the articles. The spoons and forks will be forwarded immediately the letter with the cash comes to hand, and the larger prizes at once on the close of the competition. Full names of the winners, together with the street and number, when given, will be published both in Truth and Ladies' Journal as the rewards are given out, so that all may be assured of the utmost fairness and impartiality. Do not, therefore, delay a moment in sending in your answers. All competing must send with their answers two dollars, and twelve cents for postage, for which the half-dozen forks will at once be sent, and TRUTH mailed weekly for six months. If the Ladies' Journal and the six spoons are preferred, one dollar is all that is required. You pay nothing extra for the privilege of competing for these rewards, as the sums asked for are the regular subscription price of the magazines, which are the lowest priced publications in Canada, considering their size and merit.

Look up your Bible now, and see if you can find the answers to the questions. It will do you good, apart from the opportunity you have of obtaining a valuable reward, in addition to Truth or the Journal. Truth consists of 28 pages of choice and pure reading matter for the home circle—something to interest every member of the family. The Journal is composed of eight large pages of fashions, short and serial stories of a high order of character, and something always to engage the attention of every lady. The publishers could not afford to give these valuable rewards unless they were sure of your patronage for years to come.

No further information will be given to anyone beyond what is here stated. So don't waste time by writing, but send in your answers and money now; You can compete any number of times, having the papers sent to any desired address, but don't delay. You are sure of extraordinary good value for your money anyway. Everything offered here will positively be given away, and all promises faithfully carried out. Our readers can absolutely depend on this in every respect, or we would not have given this lengthy review of the plan.

Fifteen days for letters to reach TRUTH and LADIES' JOURNAL office, from distant points, will be given, but all must bear post-mark of not later than 31st Dec. to be eligible to compete. Address E. PRANK WILSON, Toronto, Canada. 10-22n

REASONS FOR PREFERRING

THE ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

BECAUSE it is a strong stock company. It has $1,000,000 capital stock fully paid up. This is the best possible assurance that the interests of the policy-holders will be carefully protected, since the stockholders would forfeit every dollar of this fund before any policy-holder can lose a farthing, and therefore the directors will not permit any injudicious investments or extravagant expenditures, but the management is certain to be conservative and safe. Its policy-holders cannot be assessed for any losses, debts, or delinquencies of the company; nor do they assume any of the obligations, liabilities, or risks which fall upon those who insure in mutual companies and assessment societies. On the other hand, policy-holders can secure under its participating plan all the surplus earnings of their policies applied in cash to the reduction of their annual premiums, thus obtaining all the advantages of the MUTUAL SYSTEM with none of its disadvantages and DANGERS.

BECAUSE it has had thirty-five years' experience in actual business, during all of which time it has been steadily increasing in size and strength, and no suspicion of unsoundness or unfair dealing has ever been sustained against it. Its assets are now upwards of $30,000,000.

BECAUSE it has a larger Surplus Fund than most other companies in proportion to its liabilities. This gives security against any unforeseen depreciation in values, and makes assurance doubly sure. It also enables it to give cheaper insurance by the interest on the Surplus.

BECAUSE the cost of insurance is less in the ÆTNA than in most other companies by reason of its better organization, of its more economical management, and the safer and more profitable investment of its funds, and its large Surplus Fund.

BECAUSE no poor man can lose a dollar of the money paid, through inability to continue, after he has paid two, or at most three years, on its present ordinary participating rates. In most other companies all is forfeited if a paid-up policy or other value is not applied for inside of a few months after lapse. Not so in the ÆTNA.

BECAUSE on all "with profits," or ordinary participating rates, both Endowment and Life, a CASH Dividend is regularly made every year, applicable to the reduction of EVERY PRESENT MUTUAL after the first year. A ten-year Endowment yields Ten Dividends, not two, nor six, nor nine, as in some companies. Ten, fifteen, and twenty-payment Life Policies yield annual dividends ALL THROUGH LIFE.

BECAUSE by its large accumulation of funds, and economical management, it attracts the very best lives—those looking for a good investment, and likely to live to old age. Poor lives are not particular what company they go into—any sort that will take them. Good ones have a strong interest in getting into a durable company.

BECAUSE its rates are lower than in most companies—its stock rates lower than those of any other company doing business in Canada; and every such policy contains a table showing, in plain figures, what it is good for in case of inability to continue payments. col

ICE, SNOW, MOB AND JEERS.

MONTREALERS FAIL TO BEAT THE TORONTOS THREE STRAIGHTS.

The Home Boys Play the "Champions" to a Standstill—The Pleasant Way in Which a Montreal Crowd Treats Visitors—Blases and Groans.

The Toronto Lacrosse team went to Montreal on Saturday to play against the Montreal Lacrosse Club's team in what was expected would be the deciding match for the championship. They will not forget the match, nor will those who went with them. Even the Montreal team and the Montreal mob that backed them may keep it fresh in their mind if a due sense of their mammoth meanness should prick their conscience. It was the roughest, toughest, scrappiest, and most closely contested match that has ever been played in Canada. Veteran lacrossists say they never knew anything like it. It was remarkable. A match was never before played on such ground, covered with snow and ice, or with such a team as the Montreals, mean and foul as they could be; or before such a jeering, hissing, howling, squealing, barking yelling mob as that which occupied the grand stand on the Shamrock Lacrosse Grounds, where the match was played. The game was called for 2.30 and sharp at that hour the Torontos were on the ground and ready to play. As they passed the grand stand they were jeered at and insulted by many who doubtless thought it well to let the visitors know what they might expect all the way through. It was near 3 o'clock before the Montrealers appeared, and the 3000 people present cheered till the sky shook—more or less. Cleghorn, of the Montrealers, appeared alone a little later and showed his shape in a grand stand parade, as he delights to do, but even the mob thought conceit a bad thing in a young man, so only half a dozen applauded him. Capt. Massey said the Torontos were ready to play, but it was discovered that flags were not on hand. He told the Montreal captain that every minute lost was precious, for it had been decided to call time at 5 o'clock or before if the referee thought it too dark to continue. The delay was certainly suspicious. Finally at 3.05 the referee, Mr. James Carruthers of Toronto, called the team out and they took their places as follows:

Torontos.		Montreals.
Bonnell	goal	Aird
Hubbell	point	Cleghorn
J. Garvin	cover-point	Lonson
Drynan	defence	Cameron
R. B. Coulson		Sheppard
Scholfield	field	Elliott
Blight	centre field	Patterson
Macdonald	home	Carlind
Dixon	field	McNaughton
Joe Irving		Hodgson
Eckardt	outside home	Paton
Sewell	inside home	Grant
J. Massey	Captain	Larmouth

Messrs. P. D. Ross and T. J. Darling of Montreal were the umpires. The Torontos had two spare men in the persons of John Irving and W. Johnston.

Nearly every foot of the ground was covered with snow and at the east end and along the side were sheets of ice and patches of deep, slushy snow. The condition of the ground may be imagined from the fact that shortly before the start a horse and sleigh was driven up and down on it, while, to add to the wintry aspect of things, the snow commenced to fall, and kept falling the rest of the day. The Torontos won the choice of positions and elected to play east. The ground at the east end was a perfect rink of ice and this was on what the Toronto's home found themselves placed. For the home players to get in good work on such ground was out of the question, and they deserve the highest credit for what they did under most unfavorable circumstances. At the west end there was less ice but heaps of snow and slush six inches deep, nevertheless the Torontos' defence, always strong, played a magnificent game.

It was just 3.10 when the ball was faced. Patterson started it west and for a few moments it flew back and forward till McNaughton made an ineffectual shot on Toronto's goal. Macdonald was the first to lean that Montreal meant bad, for he was deliberately tripped. Back and forth, cross and over, went the ball and the next exciting act was by Joe Irving, who got in one of his usual pretty dodges, but his ground was too slippery to allow him do much in his line. Then Montreal got in another shot on goal. Then came a chief incident, in which first blood was drawn. Three or four players followed the ball towards the stand. Scholfield was one of them, and out of a desperate scuffle he carried the ball only to receive a fierce slash on the forehead from Cameron. Hodgson and Cameron were both out in the head in the meleo which followed. There was a stop but no one was ruled off. No little quantity of blood was left on the snow. After a face-off Carlind tripped Irving and was warned. It was easily seen that the Montrealers were not going to have such a soft snap as they counted on. The Torontos were holding them grandly. They could not do much on the home field because of the ice-covered ground, but their defence was simply great. To follow the game closely from this out would be useless so quick and exciting was the play. There was a couple of close scuffles around the Torontos' goal but the defence worked like heroes, while Watty Bonnell did good work in the flags and behind them. McNaughton did some excellent work. Then Sewell and Cleghorn engaged in a scuffle caused by the latter, who was so plainly to blame that, be it to their credit, the grand stand showed disapproval. Soon after this the two engaged again and the mob sent up a hooting at Sewell. But they couldn't help it, they did it always—they were built that way. Then Cleghorn tackled Eckardt down in the northeast corner and as some of the crowd rushed in it took several policemen to hustle them off. After the trouble was settled Drynan made a beautiful catch. He made many more of them. Macdonald got the ball from Sewell and made a close shot on goal but missed, and Cleghorn got it. Then "Jim" Macdonald got the rubber and passed to Eckardt who also missed a shot on goal. Then came Montreal's foulest and most deliberate pumping of gore. Paton hit Hubbell a swipe across the nose, enough to break it. It was a foul act. Hubbell had to retire for a few minutes. Paton denied that it was deliberate, and he was not ruled off. There was a face off, and after some play of no importance Patterson did some brilliant work. For some time the greatest play had been on the Torontos' goal, but a change was at hand, and several hard but unsuccessful assaults were made on the Montreal stronghold. Joe Irving did his orthodox audacious dodging, notwithstanding the ice at his end of the field. He passed Lonson, Cleghorn and another Montrealer in a way that was simply grand. Such play should have brought forth cheering, but it caused hooting. 'Twas always thus. It was unpleasant for the Torontos' youngsters, but they had got over what feeling of fear they had of the Montrealers in the two previous matches and they went to work as brave as lions. Eckardt, Dixon and Sewell, three of the young uns, did some clever tobying and passed the ball to Irving, who, with lightning speed, made the closest shot of the day. He was directly in front of the goal and the ball aped straight for it, but Aird stopped it with a lucky play. The Torontos in this play suffered much by slipping in the ice, and all were spread out.

Then came the ruling off of Garvin and Carlind. Garvin's stick hit Carlind a pretty severe blow. Carlind imagined he was in a prize ring and hit Garvin with his fist. The latter retaliated in like manner and both were ruled off by the referee. After the excitement had subsided the Montrealers did some fine playing, and McNaughton made such a close shot on goal that a cry of game was raised. But 'twas no game.

It began to grow dark. At just 4.35, in a scuffle in front of the Montreal goal, Coulson received two terrible blows on the knee and ankle of the right leg, which laid him out like a log. He had to be carried off in an almost fainting condition, and Jack Irving became his substitute. Irving was placed between the flags, because his long trousers prevented him from doing any running, while Bonnell took Coulson's position. For a few minutes there was close play around the Torontos' goal, and at twenty minutes to five, after play of one hour and forty minutes, McNaughton by an underhand shot sent the ball towards the flags. Umpire Ross raised his hand and the game was declared to be the Montreals'. The shout that went up may be imagined. A Montreal crowd knows how to cheer its favorites—but it also knows how to hiss and hoot an opponent. Not one of the Torontos' defence saw the ball go through the flags, but they do not for a moment doubt Mr. Ross, than whom a fairer or more impartial man in such a position does not exist. A search was made for the ball behind the flags but it could not be found. It must be remembered that during this close play towards the end around Toronto's goal the Torontos were minus two of their best men on defence, Garvin and Coulson. Darkness came on quickly and Referee Carruthers decided that no more playing could be done. He declared the match a draw.

As the Torontos were preparing to leave a dispute arose between Drynan and McNaughton which precipitated a small riot. The mob surged around the Torontos and fired snowballs. Capt. Massey was a chief target. Right to their carriages the Torontos were followed by a howling gang.

After returning to the Windsor Hotel Mr. James Garvin, of the Torontos, was served with a notice to be present as a delegate at a meeting of the Management Committee that night to decide when the match should again be played. The Management Committee means the Montreal Lacrosse Club which has four out of six votes on it. The Montreals scheme was to make the Torontos lay over and play to-day or to make them go to Montreal next Saturday if nothing else could be done. Mr. Garvin attended at the house of President Guerin that night and found: the president himself, Arahill, of the Shamrocks, McIndoe, of the Montreals, Young, of the Cornwalls—a genuine Montreal vote. The Ontorios had no representative present. Mr. Garvin informed them that Ross Mackenzie was the Torontos' delegate, appointed for the last meeting of the committee. The force of this struck home and it was decided to call a meeting to-morrow night in Montreal. It is quite likely that the decision will be that the match must be played in Montreal next Saturday, in which case it is probable that the Torontos will default. They are now in every way the equal of the Montreals, they have thrice played them in Montreal and traveled 2000 miles to do it; and they consider that in all fairness the match should be played in Toronto or on neutral ground at an equal distance from the two cities. Montreal has tried, and will continue to try, to get the championship by foul means, and it looks as if they might work it. If so, let it be so; but the Torontos will not be the losers, for they will have the support of all fair-minded men. Let the Montrealers do the decent thing and come to Toronto and play.

Of the Torontos, Drynan and Scholfield deserve the palm. Drynan played a game that elicited admiration from impartial Montreal people, and his many catches, some with one hand, were beautiful. Scholfield was pitted against Montreal's best player, McNaughton, and he troubled him as he was never troubled before. Scholfield has only played in three matches in the championship series, but he is a "colt" that will be a big horse if he isn't killed by a Montrealer. Bonnell's work at the flags was great, and that of Hubbell, one of the old boys, but yet as fresh as ever, was equally good. "Jud" Sewell was just a daisy. He stuck to Cleghorn like a porous plaster, he was always on to him, and Cleghorn never was so hampered, especially by a "youngster." The rest of the team did well and all deserve the greatest credit. McNaughton, Paton, Cleghorn and Cameron did the most effective work for the Montrealers. Aird, their goalkeeper, was reported in a despatch to Toronto as having only touched the ball thrice. The man who wrote that couldn't see or he —— well. Aird stopped more than three balls in goal, and time after time he had to rush out and put the ball up field—when he could get it. If he touched the ball only thrice it must have been because the Torontos were too quick for him.

Torontos wounded: Bob Coulson, knocked out by having his knee badly hurt; Scholfield, scalp cut open; Hubbell, nose cut and nearly broken; Dixon, scalp cut; Irving, knee sprained; Eckardt, knee lacerated; Sewell, leg cut; these and the rest, bruised and battered.

Snowballs.

Jim Garvin—"I left my socks on the bloody field."

Mac. alias "Rats"—"We have them rattled. We can play them to a standstill."

Anyhow, the Montreal boys are too good for Toronto in any weather and we shall expect them to take three straights in quick time.—Montreal Herald.

"The Torontos haven't a ghost of a show. Montreal will take three straights."—The Gazette's sporting editor.

Such old and well-known lacrosse men as Con Maguire, John Morton and President Stafford of the Shamrocks say they never saw so grandly faultless a game as the Toronto defence played.

One of the amusing incidents of the game occurred when one of the Torontos' most brilliant players got the head of one of the Montrealers' mediocre players in chancery, and said: "I'd like to hit you, and you know I would if it wasn't that the referee would rule me off."

Honorary President Stafford, of the Shamrocks—"I never saw such a defence as the Torontos'."

"What haunted Cleghorn?" Sewell.

Clewes, of the Ottawa Capitals; Hugh Adams, Jack Grant, and Lewis, of the Cornwalls; and every Shamrocker was there.

It's a rich one on the Monts. A photographer a few days ago issued group pictures labelled, "The champions for 1887."

The Montreal Lacrosse Club has been waiting the result of to-day's championship match before fixing the date of its annual dinner.—Montreal Star of Saturday. They'd better eat it now. A dinner in the stomach is worth a dozen in futurity.

A number of Montreal's best citizens expressed to Capt. Massey and others their regret at the conduct of the mob.

Ross Mackenzie, the old Toronto, was there as big as ever. He looked after the boys in great shape but oh, how the Montreal crowd hates him!

A goodly number of ladies were present but they felt ashamed of the treatment that the Torontos received.

Eight Montrealers tried to raise a row with some Torontos as the latter left the Academy of Music at night. They tried it again at the Windsor. The Torontos knew enough to behave.

Some of the Montreal club and their sympathisers were at the station as the Torontos were leaving. They weren't there for any good purpose but they kept quiet when they saw that the Torontos had friends.

Mr. Carruthers had a big job on hand in refereeing, but his decisions were fair and he gave every satisfaction.

It is whispered that a big bruiser is to be hired to lay for Ross Mackenzie. Ross isn't nervous over it.

Sam Martin wired from Toronto: "Well done; one more try and we'll lick them. Congratulations to the boys."

Wire from Nettie Bingo, alias Charlie Nelson and Jack Henderson: "Congratulations on your gallant stand. Sorry for the wounded. Victory next time."

Telegraphed by W. Logan: "Never say die. We'll down them yet."

When the boys reached Toronto yesterday morning a number of their friends met them and gave a hearty cheer.

"We're hissers and howlers;
And groaners and growlers!
We are!
We're bangers and bumpers
And thugsers and thumpers!
By gar!

—New Montreal Song.

Football on the 'Varsity Lawn.

The University College lawn Saturday afternoon was the scene of two interesting football matches, one Rugby and the other Association. The games were played simultaneously and were witnessed by some 400 or 500 spectators, among whom was a large number of ladies.

The Rugby game was between the Torontos and 'Varsity for the Kerr medal, which, it will be remembered, was won last year by 'Varsity. Both clubs put their best teams in the field and both played to win. Mr. Gibb Gordon, of Upper Canada College, refereed, and Messrs. E. Bayly, of 'Varsity, and Alex. Boyd, of the Torontos, umpired. The ground was so soft as to make really first-class play impossible and the players' features in some cases indistinguishable. The scrimmages were ragged. The Torontos on the whole played a much better forward game than 'Varsity, the town men being right on the ball all the time. Fine individual running gained 'Varsity most of their points. During the first half the play was unmistakably in Toronto's favor and resulted in their scoring five points. A try and a rouge. In the second half 'Varsity, as is their custom, displayed more staying power and scored a neat fourteen. Three tries and two rouges. Win for 'Varsity by 14 points to 5.

The Association match was the long deferred one between 'Varsity and the Victorias for the championship of the Central Association. The teams:

Varsity.		Victoria.
Garrett	goal	Milne
Wright	back	Wood
Jackson		Gordon
Silter	half	Parkes
Malcolm	back	Anderson
McLeay	right	McKinley
J. Elliott		J. Meldrum
Chrystal	centre	A. Thomson
W. Thomson		G. Meldrum
Palmer	left	C. Elliott
Lamport		Laidlaw

The play was sharp and scientific throughout, advantages being pretty equally divided. 'Varsity claimed to have scored two goals, which were disallowed as off side. The match will probably be played off this week.

'Varsity Cross Country Run.

The students of University College run a five mile cross country race this afternoon. The start will be in Rosedale at 3 o'clock. The ground will be the same as that traversed in the recent Canadian Amateur Athletic Association run. A dinner at Oulcott's, at Eglinton, will wind up the affair.

General Notes.

William McGrady of Buffalo is fitting Oak Tan to trot in Canadian ice races.

"Con" Murphy, the heavy-hitting pitcher of the Haverhills, has signed with Syracuse.

All the men for the Pittsburg team of next summer have been signed, and $1,500 is the highest salary paid.

It is thought probable the police will stop the fight between Burke and Dempsey at San Francisco to-night. Dempsey is the favorite in betting.

Jake Kilrain met Denny Killian at Philadelphia Friday night and bested him although he did not knock him out. The fight was awarded to Kilrain.

Charles Lee, a California walker of note, has come to try conclusions with Driscoll, Meagher, or any other eastern pedestrian who will meet him on the cinder path.

A fight for £100 a side was proceeding at West Auckland Saturday when the police who had been lying in ambush interfered and arrested a score of persons.

W. T. Jenkinson of Tilsonburg has Pericles, a full brother to Patron, the sensational 3-year-old of 1885, and McBain, by Royal Fearnaught, in his training stable this winter.

George Engeman, formerly of Brighton Beach, now proprietor of the Clifton race track, and nine of his assistants have been arrested for selling pools and keeping a disorderly place.

The value of tried stallions in England is enormous. Hermit stands at 250 guineas ($1250), Petrach and Galopin at 150 guineas each, and Robert the Devil at 100 guineas. Fifty guineas is a common fee.

A game of football was played on the Jarvis-street grounds Saturday between John Macdonald & Company's team and the combined teams of Caldicott, Burton and Goulding & Company. It resulted in an easy victory for the former by 6 goals to 0.

The London Sporting Life says that W. G. George, the one and ten-mile champion of the world, is about to sail for New York. He proposes to visit California and Australia. Myers will be apt to dispute George's claim again as to the one-mile championship.

The Commercial League championship is still unsettled, the game between the John Macdonald & Sons' and the Insurance teams on Saturday, resulting in a tie. Eight innings were played and both teams scored eight runs. Charley Maddock umpired and, it is alleged, favored the insurance nine.

The directors of the Detroit baseball club will stand no nonsense from the National League and have instructed Manager Watkins to go to Cincinnati and attend the American Association meeting which is to be held there to-night. Mr. Watkins is authorized to receive any proposition the association may make regarding the entry of the Detroits into that organization.

The greatest Irish writer since the days of young Ireland lectures to-night at the Pavilion on "English Statesmen, Orators and Parties."

AMUSEMENTS.

Attractions at the Grand and Toronto Houses—Justin McCarthy's Lecture.

The Australian Novelty Company opens a week's engagement to-night at the Grand Opera House. The entertainment opens with a laughable sketch entitled "Baffled," in which Miss Jennie Lynn takes the part of Little Joe. Then follows a burlesque, performances on the double horizontal bars, German comedy, songs and duets. The feature of the evening, however, will be the performance of Mlle. Alice, the human fly. Speaking of her a Montreal paper says: "She held the audience in breathless suspense while she performed her wonderful feat of walking on the ceiling, head downwards, and when she concluded she received quite an ovation." The entertainment concludes with a farcical absurdity called "Hot Rolls, or Puck in a Pottery."

The presentation of "The Danites" by McKee Rankin and a strong company will doubtless fill the Toronto Opera House every evening this week. Mr. Rankin has appeared in this play over 1000 times in England and America, and always with acceptance. He opens out to-night.

Mr. Justin McCarthy's lecture in the Pavilion to-night on "English Statesmen, Orators and Parties" promises to be well patronized. Lieut.-Gov. Robinson will preside.

Mr. Torrington's Amateur orchestra now numbers over forty members. The rehearsals will be held on Thursday evenings in Philharmonic Hall.

Goldmark's New Opera.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—"Merlin," the new grand opera by Goldmark, the author of "Queen of Sheba," was brought out at Vienna last night before a brilliant audience, Winkleman and Materna taking leading parts. The story of the libretto is founded on the romantic legend of "Merlin and Vivian" in connection with King Arthur and the round table. The libretto, by Lipiner, adheres faithfully to the legend and poems on the subject, full scope being given to phantasy only in the second act, which represents Merlin's magic garden. In this act Vivian enters the garden and steals the magic veil, which she throws in the air, thus summoning a legion of nymphs, who fill the scene. Vivian then throws the veil over Merlin's head and the magician is delivered over to the demons who chain him to a rock. In the third act Merlin and the demons make a contract that he is set free in time to save Arthur's kingdom. At Merlin's last hour the demon waits for his soul, but Vivian, dying for him and covering his body with hers, saves it by her true love.

Violet Cameron on the Cause of Her Failure.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Violet Cameron, the British burlesque actress, closed her engagement in Brooklyn to-night. When asked for her opinion as to the cause of her disastrous failure in America, the actress answered with an impatient gesture: "There is no use in rehearsing those frightful episodes that every one knows. But let me say this: I am perfectly innocent of any deliberate intention to make capital of my marital misfortunes. I protest that the charge that it was all deliberately arranged for advertising purposes is false and unjust. I have been the victim of disagreeable circumstances, and that's all there is to it. I blame no one, but I think it is generally acknowledged that I was not treated fairly."

Amusement Notes.

While in the city last week Mr. Robert Mantell was asked if it were true that he received numerous admiring letters from unknown ladies. He answered "No, sir! no, sir! During the past five years I have never received more than five or six gushing letters, and I cannot say that they were from ladies. Of course, I receive letters from both ladies and gentlemen asking for my autograph, as nearly all actors do at times, but such requests are above suspicion. I have heard a great many stories about such actors as Montague and Rignold receiving so many letters from admiring women that big mail bags were required to carry their mail from the theatre to the hotel. It is my belief that they are all lies. A great fault of certain members of the profession is to magnify their own importance by such despicable means."

Watches and Watchmakers.

To own a first-class watch is great satisfaction to every business man, but when it gets out of repair the question arises, where can it be skilfully and properly adjusted, as so few watchmakers understand putting a watch in first-class order, especially after it has been improperly done, or accidentally broken, or for want of cleaning. Woltz Bros. & Co., 5 Leader-lane, stand at the head of this department, as many will attest. x

Conservative Attack on Churchill.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—On the text of his speech to the London corporation showing Radical tendencies on the question of local coal and wine duties, the Standard bitterly attacks Lord Randolph Churchill for doing what he can to discredit the Conservatives, especially in casting imputations on the property-owning classes distinct from the working classes. The impression created by his latest effusion, it says, must be undone speedily, and the Conservatives will expect their leader to take the needful steps to disown in the name of the Cabinet the mischievous note promulgated by Churchill. The Pall Mall Gazette admires Lord Randolph's pluck in reproving friends as well as foes.

The Transatlantic Mails.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Government has arranged with the Inman Steamship Company to take Tuesday's American mails; with the North German Lloyd Steamship Line to take Thursday's, and with the Guion Line to take Saturday's. The German steamers are to wait at Southampton until Thursday night for the arrival of the mails for America. The vessels of the first and third named companies are to stop at Queenstown, and the Guion Line to use the Alaska and Arizona in carrying the mails under the new arrangement. These arrangements are experimental and made for a period of three months only.

The Irish Nationalist newspapers denounce the decision of the Government on the question of the mail service. The Freeman says "the so-called Unionist Ministry is bent upon destroying whatever remains of Irish commerce."

Knocked Senseless by an Ostrich Egg.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—Dr. George Baur, assistant professor at the Peabody Museum, Yale College, was knocked senseless to-day by the explosion of an ostrich egg. Scientists at Yale say it is the most remarkable explosion on record. One of the eggs had fermented, generating a gas inside which caused an explosion.

Four Miners Frightfully Burned.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Nov. 20.—A terrible explosion occurred in a burning Standard coal mine this morning. The explosion occurred in what is called the "gas heading," and has been feared ever since the mine took fire. The miners all got out without injury except four, who were frightfully burned.

Three Cuban Outlaws Killed.

HAVANA, Nov. 20.—Last night a body of police surprised the notorious outlaw Jiminiz and two other bandits. Jiminiz made a stout resistance, wounding five of the police before he was killed. His two companions were also killed.

The author of the famous "Cable Letters," Justin McCarthy, who is one of the most finished speakers of the day—lect Ures this evening at the Pavilion. An evening of rare literary interest is promised.

CAUSE OF THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

A Secret K. of L. Committee to Investigate—Suffering Families.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—It was reported yesterday, and the report seemed well founded, that a secret committee will be sent here early next week by General Master Workman Powderly to investigate the causes of the last strike at the Union stock yards. The action, it is said was taken at the earnest request of many Knights of Labor, who have been unable to learn why the men were called out after having been ordered back by Committeeman Barry.

To the order generally the cause of this second strike has remained as much of a mystery as to the general public, and the belief that it was a political move on the part of District Master Workman Butler is growing. Mr. Carlton, before his return to Philadelphia, is said to have pronounced the strike the "dirtiest piece of business" he had ever encountered. It has become so evident that Butler and the crowd about him made a tremendous mistake from which thousands of families in the yards will suffer the coming winter, that the most strenuous efforts are to be made to fix the responsibility somewhere; and it is said by those who ought to know that no one is more anxious to do this than Powderly himself.

The Dunn-Brown Perjury Case.

BUFFALO, Nov. 20.—The evidence in the famous perjury case of Mrs. Julia Dunn against Daniel J. Brown, whose evidence in a previous trial secured the acquittal of Ezra Cooper, the Union City millionaire, under a charge of criminal assault upon Mrs. Dunn, ended yesterday at Erie, Pa., in a verdict of guilty. The prosecution proved by their witnesses that Brown's evidence on the trial of Cooper was defective in material points and established the fact that Brown had been paid to flee to Canada. A new trial will be asked for and probably be granted. The trial has become famous on account of the interstate complication over his extradition from New York to Pennsylvania. The Dominion Government also interested itself in the matter, as it was claimed that Brown was decoyed from Canada by Mrs. Dunn.

How Maine Poachers Amuse Themselves.

SURRY, Me., Nov. 20.—While Walker Young, a boy of 17, was cutting hoop-poles near the foot of Patton's Pond his attention was attracted by the report of guns. Just across the hills, some fifty yards distant, he saw three men with guns. He heard one say, pointing at him, "There's a good mark to shoot at," and in a moment one of them raised his gun, and Young dodged behind a rock. Instantly a bullet whizzed over his head. Then bullet after bullet followed. Finding himself in a tight place he crawled back and ran across a clearing, when another shot just cleared his hood. He dropped to the ground, cutting an ugly gash across his stomach. About fifteen bullets were fired. The parties are known and will probably be arrested.

Telephone Strike at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 20.—The strike which the Rochester telephone subscribers have inaugurated against the Bell Telephone Company, which controls the system in this city began here at noon to-day. The opposition is to the change in the tariff of rentals which the telephone company wishes to introduce. The old rate was from $30 to $60 per year for the use of each instrument. The new tariff charges at the rate of $50 for 500 messages and a proportionate rate for each additional message. The only business places using the telephones to-night are one or two hotels, the telegraph offices and the cab office.

Sale of the Steamer Spinner.

BUFFALO, Nov. 20.—The steamer F. E. Spinner, which was libeled for claims aggregating over $20,000, was sold by Deputy-Marshal Condonohue. Most of the local ship-owners were present, including John Charlton, M.P., of Lyndoch, Ont., and S. A. Murphy of Detroit. The boat was finally knocked down to Mr. Murphy for $35,200. The Spinner was formerly the Quebec of the Northwestern Transportation Company's line, which was sunk in Canadian waters.
